LOCKE, DIDRICKSON THRILL CROWD AT GOLF TOURNEY

International Stars In Exhibition Play

Bob Gray, of Toronto, Sets New Tournament Record To Win Annual "Open"

— By ORD ANDERSON —

Approximately 3,000 spectators were on hand last Sunday to see two of the world's greatest golfers perform over the local course. Mr. Arthur D'Arcy Locke, who plays out of the Johannesburg Country Club, South Africa, and known to one and all in the golfing world as "Bobby" teamed up in exhibition best ball foursome with Mrs. Mildred Didrickson Zaharias, the one and only "Babe" Didrickson, who is rated the greatest woman athlete of all time. Jack Archer and Stanley Horne, professionals at Lachute and Islesmere respectively, were their opponents in the match, which was played as the feature attraction of this year's Lachute Open Tournament.

Locke flashed that superb form, power and control which have made him the big name among big names during the past two years, and the "Babe" lived up to expectations, hitting her tee shots right up with the menfolk, catching the crowd's fancy with her easy banter and good-natured clowning. It was her called shot on the 155-yard waterhole, when she hit within a whisper of a hole-in-one, that really brought the crowd up cheering. Archer and Horne, off to a somewhat shaky start on the way out, came blazing back to match their mighty opposition shot for shot. Archer's 34 on the back nine was top performance for the match. After eighteen holes it was "Babe" and "Bobby", one up. Each scored 36 and 35 on the first and second rounds, for a total 71.

Bob Gray Takes the Laurels

There was a record entry in the field — 42 pros and 39 amateurs of handicap 6 and under.

While the feature attraction was in progress, a familiar figure around Lachute Open Tournament, Bob Gray of Toronto Scarboro, was busy putting a 32 to his first nine 35, for a new Tournament record of 67 and his second win in three years. Bob posted a 68 in 1946 to win, and "Mickey" McConvey, amateur from Laval-sur-le-Lac, equalled that mark to take the championship last year. Mickey was not on hand to defend his title.

Altogether four of the professionals turned in below-par cards. They were Bob Gray, five under with 67; Arnold MacLean (Whitlock), three under with 69; Nick Besner, former Lachute assistant pro (now with Ottawa Hunt), and Bobby Alston (Ottawa Glenlea), each one under, with 71's.

Guy Rolland, former Quebec Amateur Champion, posted an even par 72 to take the honors in the Amateur division.

Amateur Day

Amateurs with handicaps of seven and over ran into blazing heat for their turn on the course Saturday. Jack Klebnikoff (Mount Royal) was as hot as the day and turned in a fine two over par 74 to win the low gross. Dave Campbell, Jules Lamarche and Leonard Ayers, of Lachute, took the top net with 64 each. . . There were altogether 103 amateurs, Classes A, B and C, entered in these contests.

Joe Demino, long-hitting pro from Watertown, New York, was back again this year and was out on the course Saturday for a practice round with Bus Atkinson, who hails from deep in the heart of Texas. A measure of the terrific temperature that day was Atkinson's admission that his home state had nothing like it — which must be counted as "something" coming from a Texan.

Highlights and Sidelights

There was tense expectation as the time approached for the big exhibition event Sunday afternoon, and it was Bobby Locke who interjected the surprise, appearing in the field with five girls togged to perfection and generously endowed with good looks. The turn-out was staged by Irving, which firm also put up some nice sportswear awards for the day's prize-winners.

Leonard Ayers officiated at the prize presentation for the Saturday events, and Gilbert E. Ayers, the Club president, handed out Sunday's big-time awards at a gals gathering in the clubhouse that evening. Here Bobby Locke sprang another surprise when he proved himself a versatile entertainer, arousing the assembly to an enthusiastic outburst of song and music. Other pro-golfers were inspired to display a talent on the platform second only to their prowess on the greens.

There was keen interest in the ticket drawing, when the big transparent drum was revolved, and two lucky numbers were picked, followed by three more for additional prizes — all of which are published in the list of awards.

Success Crowns Effort

The Lachute Open Golf Tournament has long been pointing toward bigger and better things, and its spectacular success this year speaks worlds for community effort. Such an international sports program is not arranged without keen interest and enthusiastic help being drawn from many sources. Once again merchants, business and professional men of Lachute, Brownsburg and district gave generous support, and Club officers and members worked untiringly to assure a well organized program.

Complete prize lists, including winners in the ticket drawing, appear elsewhere in this issue.

Death Removes Old-Timer at St. Philippe

The Late Jos. Robert

The death of Joseph Robert last Sunday removed from the St. Philippe community one of the best known figures in that section. The funeral rites, held yesterday at the parish church, were attended by a gathering more numerous than has been witnessed for many a year.

The late Joseph Robert was born (December 18, 1865) in the parish, and spent his entire lifetime there. The son of pioneer parents, John Robert and Ann Bryerton, he was one of a family of 14. He conducted business as a flour and feed merchant from 1914 until 1931, in which year his wife, the former Eliza Byrne, predeceased him. For a number of years he served on the Catholic school commission, and was a faithful member of the church. Throughout the countryside he was well and favorably known.

He is survived by two sisters, Miss Mary Robert and Mrs. Sidney Lewis, of Forest Hills, Long Island; also by his three daughters, Mrs. B. McCart, Grenville, Mrs. Irene Dupuis, Westmeath, Ont., and Mrs. Jas. Derouin, St. Philippe.

Prominent in the pioneering days of the district were three names — Brearton, Bryerton (Carillon), and Robert — which families were all connected by marriage. William Bryerton, at Carillon, and the late Joseph Robert, were the only members of this connection surviving in these parts. Mr. Robert's death therefore severs one of the remaining links with the local past.

Pall-bearers at the funeral were four grandsons, Harold and Laurence Derouin, Robert and Hilary McCart, and two cousins, Ned and Jack McMorrow, of Poultney, Vt. A profusion of flowers bore evidence of a wide friendship and esteem. The remains were laid to rest in the St. Philippe Cemetery.

POPULATION GAIN BIGGEST IN HISTORY

Ottawa (CP) — Canada's population, spurred by the greatest immigration in almost 20 years, is expected to pass the 13,000,000 mark in October.

At last June 1 it was estimated by the Bureau of Statistics at 12,883,000. That represented a gain of 301,000 over the 12,582,000 of June 1, 1947. It was the biggest annual increase in the Dominion's history.

Natural increase was, of course, the chief factor in the unprecedented 12-month population jump: the excess of births over deaths, excluding the Yukon and Northwest Territories was 235,252 or 1.9 per cent.

But it was immigration—90,566 immigrants destined for all parts of Canada were admitted during that period—which boosted the increase to record proportions.

"On the basis of bureau estimates derived from current data," said A. H. Leneveu, chief of the bureau's Social Analysis Branch, "it is expected that the population of Canada will exceed the 13,000,000 mark in October."

Election Is Ordered For Maniwaki Council

Maniwaki, Que. (CP) — In what is believed a precedent-setting move, the Quebec Government by order-in-council has ordered an election in Maniwaki, Gatineau district town.

The town has been unable to function for several weeks because its council was nearly depleted by resignations which followed the recent provincial election.

Mayor J. C. Nadon, defeated Liberal candidate in Gatineau riding, resigned and with him went council members Vernon Bratten, Ferdinand Mercier and Dr. R. Leduc. The resignations followed the victory of Gerard Desjardins, National Union candidate.

This left the remaining three, Joseph Patry, Raoul L'Heureux and Raymond Britt, a council without a quorum and municipal matters have been at a standstill since August 4. A $55,000 municipal improvement program was one feature which had to be shelved.

The order-in-council calls for an election September 20.

Forestry Conference at Ste. Agathe This Month

Plans are set to hold the annual convention of the Forestry Association (North of Montreal division) at Ste. Agathe on September 24-25. At this two-day conference the attendance will include representatives of the provincial Lands and Forests Department, the Quebec Forestry Association, members of the Legislature, agronomists, industrialists and Chamber of Commerce officers from this region, accompanied by their lady guests.

Information as to the program may be procured from the regional chairman, Gaston Gibeault, K.C., the secretary, J. B. Lafrenière, N.P., or the organizer, Fernand Ladouceur, all of Ste. Agathe des Monts.

Trio Gag Manager, Make Haul at Golf Club Chalet

A considerable sum of money was taken in a robbery at the Golf Club premises early Monday morning, when three men broke into the manager's quarters and made off with a box containing certain amounts turned in on the Tournament drawing, with papers and slips recording the sales. The cash loss, while not accurately known, is said to be between $500 and $800.

According to report, there was a sensational turn to the robbery. The trio, having entered the bedroom adjoining the office on the ground floor, overpowered Paul Charlebois, the manager, and it is stated they gagged him and strapped him securely with his own belt while they made their exit with the cash.

Investigation is in the hands of the provincial police, who were notified of the hold-up.

Lengthy Business, Council Adjourns For Further Session

The regular session of Lachute Town Council was held last evening under the presidency of Mayor Alex Bothwell. All members of council were in attendance with the exception of Ald. W. S. MacKimmie.

Accounts to the amount of $7,403.49 were approved for payment.

A motion was passed granting a contract to W. M. Scott for the installation of the monument and memorial plaque in front of the Auditorium, under the supervision of the mayor and the park committee.

A motion was approved that the plan of Louis Mignault bearing number 1505 on Frances Street be accepted, and that Mr. Mignault be authorized to set boundary posts of this street according to report and plan of the said number, and to confer with Mme E. Deslauriers to settle location of the street on her property, lot number 332.

Ald. Wilfrid Morrissette was appointed pro-mayor and authorized to sign cheques in the absence of the mayor.

Building permits were granted to Arthur Pariseau and Albini Lépine for construction on Charles Street, Adelard Desjardins on Sydney Street, Clement Desjardins on Gilbert Street, and Roméo Desjardins on Paquin Avenue.

The business of the meeting occupied considerable time, and the session was adjourned past midnight to re-convene on September 16.

Around the Country

Jim Greenblat

The Smith Falls Record News has only one word in capital letters commenting on the CBC turning down a broadcasting license application on the ground "not convinced . . can support a local station giving reasonably good broadcasting service". The one word was "Tommyrot". . . At Port Alberni, B.C., firemen were presented with rings after 20 years service. . . ## Provincial Autonomy Election Issue Re-emphasized by Premier Duplessis

Provincial Treasurer Reveals Net Surplus Of $3,440,757 in Finances for Fiscal Year

Specially Written for The Watchman
By WILIAM STEWART

Quebec, Aug. 31 (CP) Provincial autonomy, Quebec's top July election issue, will not lie forgotten during the new Union Nationale term of government.

Premier Duplessis underlined this at his latest press conference when he drew attention to new evidence of what he felt were centralization trends in Ottawa.

He said he wanted to make it clear that his government will "resist all attempts at centralization and encroachment" by the federal government.

The Union Nationale leader said a bulletin issued by the National Liberal Federation suggested that the Trans-Canada Highway might possibly come under federal jurisdiction as an "interprovincial means of transportation". Premier Duplessis said the bulletin seemed to indicate that the federal authorities wanted to "take control of public transportation and means of communication which are within the provincial field of authority and always have been." His government was determined to maintain "in this domain as in others, the incontestable rights of the province", he said.

He also commented on a recent suggestion by W. P. J. O'Meara, the Assistant Under-secretary of State, that uniformity of legislation among the various parts of Canada would be a method of halt increasing disregard of the law.

"Uniformity of laws could only lead to assimilation of races to which we are irresistibly and definitely opposed," said the Premier. He said Quebec has a "natural and constitutional right" to keep intact its civil code, which is "perfectly suitable to the province."

The Premier announced the appointment of Mr. Justice Bilodeau, 48-year-old Chief Judge of Sessions Court in Quebec City, as Chief Judge of the Magistrate's Court of the province, succeeding the late Judge Ferdinand Roy.

He contradicted reports that an autumn session of the legislature would be held, and said that there would be no swearing-in for cabinet ministers simply because there had been an election.

He indicated that his ministers would remain at their present posts, since the electorate had voted confidence in them by giving all substantial majorities in their ridings in the July 28 voting.

At the same time as the press conference was held, Provincial Treasurer Onesime Gagnon issued the final figures on Quebec's 1947-48 fiscal year.

They revealed a record ordinary surplus of $44,367,887 for the financial term ended March 31, with a record overall surplus of $3,440,757.

Revenues for 1947-48 were at the all-time high level of $167,792,991 and ordinary expenditures at $123,425,104. Capital expenditures amounted to $40,927,129.

Mr. Gagnon's statement reported a reduction of $12,133,872 in the net funded debt, bringing the figure down to $311,172,722.

Rotarian Reviews Int'nl Convention, Rio de Janeiro

Brownsburg — Rotarian Ed Whiting, of the Montreal Rotary Club, was guest speaker before members of the Brownsburg club last Thursday.

Rotarian Whiting, who is general manager of The Montreal Herald, accompanied six other Canadians attending the 39th annual convention of Rotary, held in Rio de Janeiro this spring, and his description of this experience made an interesting discourse. The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Wes Freeland.

Due to money exchange, others who would have enjoyed attending this convention were restrained on this account, remarked the speaker. . . The boat trip to Rio de Janeiro proved all that a travelogue poster said it would be, with moonlight nights, calm seas, comfort and good company. Arriving in Rio de Janeiro's harbour at night, the scene was breathtakingly beautiful. By day, this fabulous metropolis is equally as beautiful, nestled among the hills, its modern architecture in exciting contrast with Old World influence. A large avenue leads from the harbour through the city, terminating at the foot of a huge cross of Christ, looking as though it were enshrined in the heavens. The city is beautiful, and well might be, with 85% of its revenue being spent on its beautification alone. This magnificent extravagance unfortunately exists only in the city, crass poverty being evident throughout the countryside.

Rio is filled with smart little hotels with marvelous service. At night the entrance doors are closed, guests being admitted after being seen through a little lattice opening in the door. The guests are not apt to carry off their keys, the traveller here observed, for such keys are attached to a heavy piece of metal weighing a pound or more.

The Brazilian currency was very difficult to master, and also difficult to handle after understanding it, as the bills are very large and bulky. The black market was quite openly recognized, almost to the extent of being legal.

During the convention, the Rotarians were entertained lavishly—one afternoon being spent at the race track, where it was amusing to see the natives follow the horses by running from one side of the ring to the other.

During the evening, a large aquacade was staged in the harbour, an event that defied description; 200 to 300 illuminated boats of all types, and representing every period, rotated through formations. Unrivalled fireworks formed a background to this scene. Another night, tableaus staged by the Brazilian people to the accompaniment of their national folk-singing, made unusual entertainment.

Held on a bilingual basis, the convention was the largest and most successful one of its type held outside the U.S.A. All routes led to the "House of Friendship" in the Municipal Theatre, where the meetings took place. The keynote of the convention was "Solidarity Through Friendship". It was stressed that Fellowship had unlimited possibilities of expansion, and vocational service could achieve much by way of fostering the friendship of management toward labor operations. It was also shown that in international affairs there are more countries with their countrymen belonging to Rotary Clubs than to any other organization. Rotary even exists behind the Iron Curtain. "We can have the world we want, if we work hard enough for what we want", concluded the speaker, who was thanked by Rotarian George Zsombor.

HAS RARE PIGEON

Swift Current, Sask. (CP) — One of the few stuffed carrier pigeons — extinct birds which once flew in the millions — is in the possession of George C. Warren who has a large collection of Saskatchewan bird life. He says an American once offered him $1,200 for the pigeon.

FUND OVERSUBSCRIBED

Montreal (CP) — The University of Montreal campaign for $11,000,000 was over-subscribed by $1,849,263, it was announced recently. The money will be used to finance a pension fund for retired university personnel, the erection of a students' house and a medical centre, and other projects.

Farm Workers from Ontario and Quebec For Western Harvest

The annual movement of farm workers from Ontario and Quebec to the West to assist in harvesting operations there is now in full swing, it was announced by the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor.

The number of workers required this year in the West has been estimated at approximately 2,000 by the Department of Agriculture of the three Prairie Provinces. This is about the same number as last year. It is understood, of course, in all areas, that men will not be going West unless they can be spared from farm work in their home districts.

Mr. Mitchell stated that the prevailing wages for experienced men on farms in the West will be from $5 to $6 a day, with board.

Eastern farmers are very appreciative of the assistance of the 850 men who came from the Prairies to help with haying and early harvesting. Their services have been of great help to Ontario farmers, many of whom are now ready to offer aid in turn to farmers in the West.

MAKES MILKING HISTORY

Elmira, Ont. (CP) — The third highest three-times-a-day milking record made by a Canadian Holstein was achieved by Seiling Royal Wing, owned by Albert Seiling of Elmira. Under the supervision of the federal department of agriculture, the cow yielded 1,219 pounds of fat from 28,505 pounds of milk in 365 milking days.

Gatineau LINES

As everyone knows, regulations of one kind and another have been playing an increasingly important part in the lives of individuals all over Canada. It is not only individuals however who have regulations to guide their conduct. Business of all kinds is guided to a large degree by regulations.

Power companies in the Province of Quebec, for example, are all subject to regulation by the Provincial Electricity Board. This Board functions under the Provincial Government which is responsible to the people of the province. Here are a few of the ways in which such companies, including Gatineau Power Company, are subject to the authority of the Board.

— The Company must obtain permission from the Board to distribute power.

— The Company must have the authorization and approval of the Board to issue and sell securities.

—The rate to be charged for electricity must be approved by the Board.

— The Company must obtain permission of the Board if it wants to extend its service.

— It has the power to order a company to permit other distributors to use its poles.

— In general, a company must obtain permission from the Board to cease its service, to extend its service, to alter or change the nature of its service or its rates.

These are a few of the ways in which a power company is regulated in its operations by the people of the Province through the Provincial Electricity Board. In addition, another body, the Quebec Streams Commission, is vested with the power to make rules respecting the preservation and management of running waters in the Province. In effect, this means that the power companies must apply to the Streams Commission when they wish water to be released from the reservoirs for use at the generators.

Through such regulations, the people of the Province exercise a large degree of control over the operations of the power company. As far as Gatineau is concerned, of course, it respects and obeys these regulations — but in addition it is governed by an unwritten rule, which is to give the best possible service at the most reasonable cost to its customers.

ENGLISH JOURNEY

By WALTER R. LEGGE

ARTICLE NO. 5

Nothing seems to have such a demoralizing effect on the character of the English people as the gasoline restrictions, and motorists seem to attempt any kind of deception to get around them.

In a desperate effort to enforce the regulations the authorities have set most severe penalties which appear to be out of all proportion to the punishment for much more serious offences. The new regulations in effect from June 1st make it more difficult than ever to catch illegal users. Up to June 1st no car could travel on the road at all except by permit for essential work. However there seemed to be thousands of ways to prove that the driving was essential.

Since June 1st it is not necessary to prove that a car is doing essential work, but the allowance of petrol is so pitifully small that the automobile owner's position is not much improved.

To catch drivers with illegal quantities of gasoline, all used for commercial driving is being colored, and if any of this colored gasoline is found in a private car, the punishment is really fantastically severe.

There is one thought that continually crossed my mind, and that is that the transportation systems, both railways and buses, are now government owned and operated. To cut the use of private cars to a minimum must force people to use the government transportation monopoly.

Everywhere I went, I heard the lament that my hosts could not drive me around as much as they wished on account of the gasoline restrictions.

However, with some little motor driving and by the use of buses I was able to keep continually on the move and see something interesting and unusual every day.

As I mentioned before, by staying at a central place it is possible to get almost everywhere that one would wish to go. It is surprising to find that there is very frequent bus service, usually about every half hour or hour, to almost any place within a reasonable distance.

I shall try to describe a few of the interesting places I visited. Almost every hamlet in England has some ancient shrine, some particularly old or beautiful church, an ancient castle or some association with a famous writer, author, statesman or hero.

One of the first places I visited was Stoke Poges and there are few more beautiful spots in England. To get to that famous churchyard I took a bus from Amersham, a journey of about half an hour, and walked about a quarter of a mile along a tree and hedge bordered road.

Stoke Poges churchyard inspired Thomas Gray, the poet, to write what is considered the most beautiful poem in the English language, the "Elegy in A Country Churchyard," which starts:

"The curfew tolls the knell of parting day,
The lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea,
The ploughman homeward plods his weary way,
And leaves the world to darkness and to me."

There are hundreds of similar churches and churchyards in England, just as old or older, just as pretty, but Gray's poem has made Stoke Poges famous for as long as the English language is spoken. It is recorded that Wolfe on the eve of the capture of Quebec quoted this poem and as he came to the line "The paths of glory lead but to the grave" said with prophetic words that he would rather have been the writer of that poem than the man who would take Quebec.

Gray himself was buried in the same tomb as his mother. His name does not appear on the tomb but a tablet in the church wall nearby records his burial "in the same tomb upon which he has so feelingly inscribed his grief at the loss of a beloved parent." He was buried on August 6, 1771.

Near the south porch still stands the ancient yew tree under which it is said that he sat and penned his famous poem.

About 100 yards away is a stone monument in Gray's memory on which are inscribed some verses from the Elegy.

The church itself dates back to 1230 AD for the south aisle, 1270 for the north aisle but it is known that a church has existed here since before 1107 AD.

An interesting feature of the church is a private entrance from the Manor House which stands a few hundred yards from the church.

The manor goes back to Anglo Saxon times and the present Manor House is chiefly known for having been the home of the Penn family.

William Penn, the founder of the state of Pennsylvania is buried about six miles away at Jordons, a Quaker shrine, which I visited on another day. It is reached by taking a bus to Seer Green and walking about a mile.

The Jordans Meeting House was built in 1688 and was one of the early gathering places for the Quakers or Society of Friends.

The early Quakers were subject to a great deal of persecution and one of their greatest advocates in their time of trial and tribulation was William Penn who in 1681 founded Pennsylvania.

As might be expected the Meeting House is a plain and simple building both inside and out, the exterior looking much like a most unassuming house.

Inside at the rear is a small museum containing many original manuscripts and letters written by William Penn, and other items intimately associated with the Quakers.

Just outside the front door are the graves of Wm. Penn, both his wives and nine children. Penn and his second wife are in one grave at the head of which is a small stone with only the wording "William Penn, 1718, Hannah Penn, 1726."

On the way from Amersham to Seer Green is the cottage at Chalfout St. Giles where Milton wrote "Paradise Lost".

When the Plague was raging in London in 1665, Thomas Ellwood, a Quaker, at the request of Milton located a small cottage at Chalfout St. Giles, where Milton moved to get away from the Plague, and it was here that he wrote most of "Paradise Lost".

The cottage dates from about 1600 and remains much the same as when Milton lived in it. It is now a museum, administered by ten trustees and contains first editions of "Paradise Lost", "Paradise Regained" and numerous other items.

It is a most picturesque spot with a beautiful old garden.

Before leaving Chalfout St. Giles a word should be said about its beautiful old church. The chancel and nave date from the 12th century, the north aisle from 1260, the chancel arch from 1410, and the clock from 1710. In the entry is a list of incumbents unbroken since 1217.

On the walls some very old medieval paintings have recently been discovered and are now being restored. One is a scene of the beheading of John the Baptist showing the executioner and Salome.

Every parish church has some unique feature such as this.

C. P. Air Lines to Fly the Pacific

Canadian Pacific Air Lines has been granted permission for regular passenger and cargo flights on the two trans-Pacific routes shown in the above map, adding a total of 14,420 route miles to Canada's international air services. Now on order for the routes are pressurized four-engined Canadair planes, with a capacity of 40 passengers and three tons of cargo, mail or express. They will be manned by experienced trans-ocean C.P.A. pilots — Canadian Pacific inaugurated wartime trans-Atlantic bomber delivery flights in 1940 and many of its pilots later flew four years with the Ferry Command and have since returned to the company. Operational and servicing headquarters will be at Vancouver, with the C.P.A.'s domestic overhaul work, now being carried out there, being transferred to Edmonton. Canadian Pacific, experienced in trans-Pacific travel since 1886, already has an extensive traffic organization in the countries the new flights will serve, which places it in a position to start operations with a minimum of delay and with no wasteful expenditure of Canadian dollars abroad. Regular flights will probably start by next summer; it is felt that an early start is essential if the Dominion's position in the field of Oriental trade, as well as international air transport, is to be developed and maintained. From Vancouver to Sydney, by way of Honolulu, Canton Island and Fiji is 7,865 miles, and the Great Circle route Vancouver - Kodiak - Shemya Island - Tokyo - Shanghai - Hong Kong is 6,555 miles. New Zealand will be served with a branch service joining the through Vancouver - Sydney route at Fiji.

The agricultural authorities remind us that in 12 months' time the family of one moth can eat 100 pounds of wool.

Autumn Approaches

DUSK comes earlier now, and the fall, with its mellow sights and sounds and smells, will soon envelop a countryside rich in harvest bounty.

For many people, this is the favorite season. The summer's heat has gone, and with it the urgency of tasks accompanying the growing season in rural parts. Gone, too, from towns and cities are summer's special anxieties over vacation arrangements and caring for lawns and gardens.

This in-between season, as late summer melts almost imperceptibly into early autumn, comes as a welcome breather. It affords an opportunity, too, for planning fall and winter activities.

On the farm, the menfolk reckon the profit and loss on the season's operations, sketch out plans for the next year's sowing and try to decide whether the coming spring will be a good time to build that new barn. . . Town folks ponder decisions on taking new responsibilities in church work and community projects, on joining new clubs or taking up additional hobbies.

By the calendar, the new year starts January 1. But in terms of the seasons, the approach of autumn marks the beginning of a new cycle of work and play which will occupy people until vacation time comes around next summer.

The Underground Border

IN OGDENSBURG, N.Y., recently, they piled up new layers of rhetoric about the world's longest undefended border, the Canadian-American frontier. Canada's defence minister, mayors, editors, high soldiers, all took a crack at it. They marvelled at its 3,500 miles without a gun; they drew humor from the skirmishes of 1812; they held it up as an example to the world. They all, essentially, said the same things. . .

And that may be a point.

In gathering volume, with sporadic strength, we have been saying the same things for generations about this unique symbol of peace in a hostile, fractious world. We have been saying exactly what they said at Ogdensburg. . .

And it hasn't been enough.

We have held it up as example, and an unheeding world has torn its cities into shreds. We have affirmed its significance for peace, and sent our sons abroad to other wars. For it and all its fellow symbols of a world fraternity have not been enough to close the gap that sets man at the throats of other men.

So the question arises: are we exploiting these things to their full? Is there no way that we can make the true greatness of this thing an instrument of dynamic force? Must we forever bury its depths in platitudes? Are we incapable, we and the Americans, of stripping and tooling this thing into something stronger than voluble sentiment? Is the technician's generation, is the era of know-how, confounded by the opportunity of something of enormously greater potential than anything they can conceive?

How? Of course, how?

Couldn't we turn our brains and fabulous energies loose? We study together the problems of defence and fisheries and commerce. We have joint boards in profusion. We stride the North together. We do massive things together. We have great brains, great energies. — Let's use them.

Brains might fathom this thing to roots that could give birth to larger things. Brains and energies might envisage and create a true instrument of peace. They might organize and streamline and project this thing we feel and know, into something that others will feel and know and heed and base their actions on.

Brains might unearth a treasure of example, or they might find it's all an empty accident, founded in the fluke that neighbored a huge power and one that was too small to bother it or provoke it or rival it.

Who knows what might happen? But why not try it? . . We have nothing to lose and nothing to win — but peace.

DO HOUSEHOLDERS and business men take all the necessary precautions against the menace of fire or is there an attitude of "it can't happen here" in our town? Every effort should be made immediately to check up the residences and business houses to eliminate fire hazards.

School Bell

IT IS an apt coincidence that, with the reopening of school, the outdoor season becomes a trifle less absorbing to the young. The shorter days, the chill in the air, add new attraction to the indoor occupations — even, perchance, they excite an interest in the grim studies of the classroom!

It is not given to teen-agers to read the newspaper editorials. Even among their parents there must be only a small percentage who look to the editorials for diversion. So it is to these that we direct our thoughts, and hope to share with them our sentiments.

The school, the home and the child are three prime influences in this fleeting process called Education. . . Viewing conditions here, we find the standard of school guidance beyond reproach, the teaching staff excellently qualified, and school facilities the best we can expect, pending improvement and expansion. . . Hence the home and the child remain the foremost factors in our appraisal. But since (as we remarked) an editorial directed to the schoolchild is so much wasted effort, therefore a plea for parental co-operation is addressed to the consideration of our grown-up readers. It may revive the enthusiasm especially of those who daily scrub their junior counterparts, dress them fittingly, and pack them off with their lunches in this earnest venture. — Yes, a thought to the ways and means of co-operation may make these menial tasks more profitable.

School is for academic learning — but more. Parents may encourage their youngsters in their studies, but they can also encourage them in a wholesome attitude toward the school and its activities — an attitude which counts in educational values. It must be realized, also, the school is but a secondary mould of character; the home must always be the cradle of its growth. No teacher can impart to his, or her, youthful charges the virtues of grace, honesty, courtesy and respect while every word and example in the home are contrary to such teaching. These characteristics, if firmly rooted in the child at home, will foster the very ambition for achievement, encourage the desire and nourish the receptivity for learning — which is half the battle, and the bigger half, in building worthwhile citizens.

Parents can achieve great things with vigilance and understanding. So, as the school bell rings again, we wish our parent readers — the gift of discretion, the spirit of co-operation, and an understanding heart. Such attributes will reap a rich reward in the generation now at school.

A Practical Welcome

CANADIANS are ready to extend a hearty welcome to Newfoundlanders as soon as it is possible for the oldest British Colony to become the youngest Canadian Province. Newfoundland is a proud island, rich in tradition, having itself enjoyed dominion status for many years. It will not be easy for its citizens to see their country become the tenth province of a neighboring dominion. However, other provinces of Canada suffered similarly in the past when they sacrificed individual independence for the sake of unity and the privileges of Confederation.

Several hundred thousand Newfoundlanders already live in Canada. For them it will mean a cementing of their loyalties. Thousands of Canadian lads spent the war years in Newfoundland. They will be glad of an opportunity to express gratitude for the hospitality received.

It is good news for the whole world that two Christian democratic countries have been able to set aside their differences and their ancient disputes in favor of unity and to accomplish the same by the use of the free ballot.

The two countries have much in common. By building on what unites instead of emphasizing what divides, they may together be able to set an example for the rest of the world. It is up to individual Canadians to make the welcome real by expressing interest in Newfoundland as they meet her people. The business men will have their part to play in seeing that commercial dealings are on the square, so that the fishing interests of British Columbia do not conflict with those of the fishing fleets of Newfoundland. The pulp and paper mills of Ottawa will undoubtedly give consideration to the pulp mills of Cornerbrook; Halifax harbour will have the role of friendship rather than that of rivalry with the great port of St. John's. These are the things we must work for if we expect our new sister province to help us build the Canada of our hopes where "God shall have dominion from sea to sea".

Describes Visit to Renaissance Studios, Quebec Film Venture

— Specially Contributed —
By Jules E. Godreau,
St. Sauveur des Monts

Of those who witnessed "Le Père Chopin", first Canadian film presented in the French language by Renaissance Films Distribution Inc., none could fail to be impressed by the benefits which this company can bring to Canadians.

Jules E. Godreau, secretary-manager of the St. Sauveur Chamber of Commerce, conceived the idea of interesting this company in visiting St. Sauveur to turn a film on the sport of skiing. In this connection, Miss Gaby Godreau, French correspondent for L'Echo du Nord, with the writer as representing the St. Sauveur Chamber of Commerce, went to Montreal to see Joseph Than, film producer, formerly of Hollywood and now director of Canadian International Screen Productions Ltd., which company is collaborating with Renaissance Studios in the production of films. After having been received by Mr. Than and discussing the purpose of our visit, Mr. Than gave assurance that he would be pleased to consider St. Sauveur as the prospective locale for a future film, and stated he would visit the village personally in the near future.

Mr. Godreau, who has written a story on the ski, will submit his story to Mr. Than for consideration, since most of the scenes he portrays are in the local setting.

After the film story had been discussed, we met Glenn Ireton, general manager of English-speaking operations, and G. F. W. Kuhring (formerly of Lakefield), who spent an hour escorting us through the studio, which is located on Cote des Neiges Road.

This building now occupies a space of 600,000 cubic feet. The company employs 75 people in its various departments, such as offices, technical operations, etc. The company also owns the most modern equipment available to produce movie films.

After having seen these sights, we felt duly impressed by the industry, and by the experience put into this venture by its organizers.

J. A. Deseve, founder of Renaissance Films and former general manager of France Film, has applied his experience to furthering the movie industry in Quebec during the past 15 years. Other officers of the company are — Glenn Ireton, general manager, English section, with 20 years experience in the industry; Paul Pratt, first vice-president, a director of the Quebec Union of Municipalities and of the Canadian Federation of Mayors, also Mayor of Longueuil; Paul Gilbert, M.D., president of Notre Dame de Charny Hospital, and a prominent business man; Leo Choquette, president of Laurentide Theatres Ltd., and owner of several theatres in this province; and Edgar Tessier, formerly assisting director of the "Compagnons de St. Laurent".

The company, which is supposed to turn a film next month, could not give us the name of the story due to a technicality which requires the scenario to be sent to a Hollywood firm for research work.

The company has issued shares for the sum of two million dollars, and expects to reach its objective of three millions before long. Shares are sold for $25 up.

All good Canadians will rejoice in the prospects of this enterprise, which should achieve much in developing Canadian talents.

EXHAUST RESOURCES

It would seem that the underlying cause of many strikes is that everyone is afraid the other fellow is getting more than they are. It would be better if we tried to understand that if we do not moderate our demands we will only hurry the exhaustion of our real resources. — Jarvis (Ont.) Record

Review on Olympics

Specially Written for The Watchman
By DOUGLAS MURRAY

Almost a month and a half ago the Olympic home of Canadian athletes was officially opened, and officials gasped as the Olympic flag fouled on the ropes and ripped at each tug. This seems to have been a fair prophecy of what happened to the Canadian team at the Games.

You can say the team was poor, you can say it was the worst team ever sent by Canada to the Olympics, but if you do, you must also ask why.

The average Canadian with perhaps the exception of servicemen who served overseas, has lived on a healthy diet, hasn't spent his sleeping hours dodging bombs or political persecution, and comes from a good home. The average Canadian also is conceded to be healthy, athletically minded and to have strong competitive spirit. Why then was a group of our finest athletes defeated in every event by the greats from other countries?

If it wasn't the fault of the average athlete, it may be the fault of the Canadian Olympic organization.

One of the big Olympic surprises was the showing of the Canadian basketball team. It was thought to be sure of a winning place but was defeated by two pushover teams — Hungary and Brazil.

Treasurer Makes Plea

An interesting item concerned a speech to the team by Treasurer Ken Farmer of Montreal on the voyage home. He told the team of the aims of the Canadian Olympic Committee and of the food and transportation problems of the British organizers. Team members reported that in the speech Farmer asked them to soft-pedal complaints and grievances on their return home.

Johnny Tutte, of Vancouver, wrestling team coach, protested a decision against one of his boys at the Games and deposited $20 with the jury of honor. He lost the decision and the money.

He's trying to get his deposit from the committee, but they claim protests should be filed by them, not by any individual team member. Johnny's answer is that the money was needed on the spot and there wasn't an official within a 30-minute taxi ride of the event.

The team bought cards from one enterprising team member which are intended to serve as an answer to those who ask why their standing was so poor. On the cards are printed the words of the founder of the modern Olympics, Baron de Coubertin:

"The important thing in the Olympic Games is not winning but taking part. The essential thing in life is not conquering but fighting well."

A Little Leaven From Newfoundland

(The Scene from Shingwauk Farm)

Despite our obvious shortcomings, a majority of the people of Newfoundland have voted to become equal partners with us in a ten-province confederation. Immediately, the economic cost of adding Newfoundland to the Dominion may be considerable to the nine provinces; ultimately, Canada cannot fail to gain from the union.

Aside from the political completion of a natural geographic entity, Canada will benefit from the inclusion of 320,000 people who have learned the hard lessons of adversity, at a time when Canadians have become so soft that they are demanding political protection against healthful work and easily attainable higher standards of production. The people of Newfoundland will be a useful addition to the little leaven in our lump of dough which seems unlikely to rise sufficiently to make good bread.

Sin and Salvation In Evangelist's Theme At Pentecostal Meeting

Local interest in the Pentecostal meetings at Lachute Auditorium is being maintained week by week. At last Sunday night's service the majority of the audience were from Brownsburg. Others came from Lancaster, Dalesville, Montreal, as well as Lachute.

The lively congregational singing of the familiar church hymns was enjoyed with unusual zest. Miss Ethel Snowdon, a radio songstress from Montreal, won the hearts of her audience by singing "A Sinner Like Me" and "Christ Is All I Need". The accompanying pianist was once again Audrey Handy, of Montreal.

The message of the evening dealt with the vital question that grips each soul at some time during his life, "What must I do to be saved, to be certain of heaven?" Evangelist Schlarbaum stated that the only place in the world to find a satisfactory answer to that question is in the Bible, the inspired Word of God. God's plan of salvation was contrasted with Naaman's opinion as to the manner in which God would heal such a great man as himself of his leprosy. Naaman went to the wrong person when he went to the King of Israel for his healing. The evangelist pointed out that Christ and Christ alone can heal a sin-sick soul. Naaman's pride was hurt and he became angry, when Elisha, the prophet of the Lord God, directed him to dip in the muddy Jordan River for deliverance from his plague. When Naaman humbled himself and obeyed, he was made clean. God's only remedy for washing away our sin, the shed blood of His Son, is not popular with men today, but the evangelist declared emphatically that it alone can suffice for a perfect, present cleansing from sin. Evangelist Norman Schlarbaum appealed to those present to believe or trust Christ as their Lord and Saviour, assuring them that God would fulfill His promise, "and thou shalt be saved."

Deplores Condition Of Scottish Manses

Aberdeen, Scotland (CP) — Many Scottish country manses "are a reproach and shame to the church, and are more like medieval keeps than houses", said Rev. J. R. Dey, of Petercultar.

He asked support for a petition from the Drumoak congregation to use £400 ($1,600) of a capital sum of £754 on reconditioning the manse. The capital was obtained from sale of a United Free Church manse after church union.

He described the manse in need of repair as "a three-storeyed building with oil lamps and dingy rooms and few of the things regarded as essential for comfort."

A minister saddled with a vast manse and garden found life almost serfdom for himself and more so for his wife. One minister who had been happy in his parish left "because the manse was killing his wife. . .

"Nowadays, when daily help both inside and outside the house is so difficult to get and so many people are fleeing from big houses to bungalows, many of our county ministers and their wives are saddled with huge unworkable houses and have to carry on at £400 a year."

A Good Start

You parents try to teach your youngsters to be obedient and useful and thrifty, truthful and honest and well-mannered. Do you also try to teach them to be safe? All your other teaching would be wasted, you know, if an accident should take your child away from you.

Back-to-school time is a good time to remind yourself that safety can be and should be taught at home.

This does not mean just warning the kids to look out for cars in the street. With a few pointed words now and then and your own right examples, you can train your youngsters to live with safe habits at home, at school, at play, on the streets, everywhere. It's easier, of course, if you start when they're young.

You can even lay the foundation for safe work. You can teach the kids at home the right ways to use tools, to handle wood and metal, to lift and to climb and to keep things in their proper places.

Young minds are curious. Little hands like to explore. And it's the easy way of human nature for youngsters to grow up being careless — unless the little guys and gals have been guided along the safe way of life by their parents.

That's one thing all parents can do for their children that doesn't cost anything but a little time and thought and patience. It's one thing parents can be proud of. And the kids will grow up to thank mom and dad for starting them out on a long life.

— "The Safe Worker"

AN OUTSTANDING EXAMPLE

Men of Churchill's energy and ability are few and far between but his is an example worth shooting at. The fact remains that in order to keep fit and live longer a man should have something to do. There are exceptions, but it is true that many a man has ceased to be, because of his retirement and lack of work.

SAFETY EDUCATION BEGINS WITH THE VERY YOUNG

Education in safety is a life-long process. It starts with youngsters when they are old enough to play. Wise parents then impress their children with the need to be careful. The first step is teaching them to put away their toys, to keep them off stairs and walks where they might be hazards for others. By training your children in the rules of safety until they become second nature to them, you are teaching them the principles of "Good Citizenship".

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Peaches Are Plentiful

Every year when September rolls around the home economists a Ottawa receive requests for ways of using peaches fresh and methods of storing them away for winter use.

This year is no exception. Nature has provided a bounteous crop to be enjoyed now and later, so every home-maker is "doing-up" peaches.

Peaches require a little extra care in preserving since they discolor very easily when peeled. The moment they are peeled, the halves should be dropped into a cold brine bath, using 1 teaspoon of salt to 1 quart of water. Only enough peaches to fill two or three containers should be put into the bath at one time. If the fruit stands in the brine it will acquire a definitely salty taste.

The hot pack method of canning is considered most satisfactory.

Hot Pack Canning of Peaches

Blanch peaches 15 to 60 seconds, cold dip, remove skins, cut in halves and remove pit. Leave in halves or slice. Drop in brine bath. Drain and bring to boil in thin or moderately thin syrup and simmer 3 minutes. Pack hot, covering the peaches with the syrup. Leave ½ inch headspace in glass sealers and ¼ inch in tin cans. Process pint or quart sealers or 20 and 28 oz. cans 15 minutes in the boiling water bath. Sealers may be processed in a thermostatically controlled oven 275°F., for 25 minutes but tin cans must never be processed in the oven.

Peach Jam

12 Cups peaches (cut in pieces), 6 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice.

Wash, remove skins, pit and cut peaches into pieces before measuring. Add sugar and let stand 1 hour. Add vinegar or lemon juice. Bring to boil and boil, uncovered, for 15 to 20 minutes until it reaches the jam stage. Pour into hot, sterilized glasses, cool slightly then cover with paraffin. When cool, add a second thin layer of paraffin rotating the glass so the wax will adhere to the side of the glass. Cover with paper or metal lid. Yield: about 9 cups.

Peach and Cantaloupe Jam

Peach and Cantaloupe Jam continues to be a favorite in many homes. Here is the recipe:

5 Cups peeled, diced cantaloupe, 5 cups peeled, diced peaches, 3 medium oranges, with grated rind and juice, 5 cups sugar.

Mix all ingredients and let stand until sugar is dissolved, about 1 hour. Bring to boil and boil, uncovered, to jam stage, about 30 minutes. Pour into hot, sterilized jars, cool and seal. Yield: about 6½ cups.

May Add Sex Hygiene To N. S. Curriculum

Halifax (CP) — Social and sex hygiene may be taught in Nova Scotia schools within a year.

Allan B. Morrison, director of curriculum and research for the provincial department, discussed the matter in a letter to the Dartmouth school board.

The Delta Hy-Y club, comprised of Dartmouth high school students, earlier passed a resolution asking for such hygiene instruction in their school.

At present there is no provision in the school curriculum for such instruction but Mr. Morrison said his department may offer methods of teaching social and sex hygiene to schools that make application.

Pickles and Relishes

In the old days, late summer was a period of intense activity, second only to housecleaning time, while fruits and vegetables were "put down" in crocks of pickles ready for winter use. Nowadays there is less fuss when pickling time comes around for modern methods have simplified the process. Also, on account of storage facilities smaller quantities may be made and thus a wider variety is possible.

There are several reasons for failures in pickle making but all can be avoided. The causes of hollow pickles may be improper development of the cucumber while growing or they may have stood too long between pickling and brining. Only firm, solid cucumbers should be used (hollow ones may be made into chopped mixed pickle or relish) and they should be brined within 24 hours of pickling.

Soft or slippery pickles result if the brine is too weak to prevent the action of spoilage bacteria, or if any of the pickles are not covered with brine and exposed to the air. When once soft they cannot be made firm. Do not stir pickles while curing.

Too strong a salt, sugar or vinegar solution will cause shrivelling. Other causes may be cooking too quickly in sugar or vinegar solution.

Poor color results from too much spice or over-cooking. Whole spices give better color. They should be tied loosely in a bag and removed from the pickle mixture before the spice flavor is strong enough to conceal the flavors of the main ingredients. A delicate blend of spice and vegetables is the desired result. Such spices as cloves, allspice and hot peppers should be used sparingly.

Here are two good pickle recipes taken from the newly revised bulletin "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables", which may be obtained, free of charge, by writing the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Bread and Butter Pickles

6 Quarts small cucumbers (1 to 1½ inches in diameter), 1 quart small white onions, 4 green peppers, 1 sweet red pepper, 1 cup table (bag) salt, 9 cups water, 2 quarts vinegar, 4 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon turmeric, 1 teaspoon mustard seed, 1 teaspoon celery seed.

Wash all vegetables. Slice cucumbers and onions thinly. Remove seeds and dice peppers. Make a brine of the salt and water. Cool and pour over vegetables. Let stand overnight. Drain thoroughly. Combine vinegar, sugar and spices. Bring to boil and add vegetables. When thoroughly heated, pack in clean, hot jars and seal. Yield, about 6 quarts.

Chili Sauce

1 Tablespoon whole cloves, 3 tablespoons whole allspice, 1 gallon chopped, skinned, ripe tomatoes (8 lbs.) 2½ cups chopped, peeled onions (6 medium), 2½ cups chopped, seeded green or sweet red peppers (6 medium), 1½ cups sugar, 2 tablespoons salt, 4 cups vinegar.

Tie spices in a cheesecloth bag. Combine with remaining ingredients in saucepan. Cook, uncovered, 2½ to 3 hours or until quite thick, stirring frequently. Remove spice bag. Pour into sterilized sealers or jars and seal. Yield: about 6 pints.

Physician Warns Against Self-Medication For Skin Disorders

"Many fine pairs of shoes have been bought for the dermatologist's baby from the proceeds of the layman's treatment follies." So says Dr. L. P. Ereaux, of Montreal, in "You're Asking For It" in the current issue of "Health" magazine, published by the Health League of Canada. The author is one of Canada's leading skin specialists.

"If you want to play doctor, my counsel is to look before you buy, consult before you try and don't be foolish," Dr. Ereaux says. "As an exterior decorator, I can tell you that the skin game is not so easily played.

"Self-medicators delight to experiment on their own hides and mix up their treatments. What is true for an alcoholiday is equally true of mixed treatment in the care of the skin." The writer instances the case of applying mercury ointment to the skin, previously painted with iodine or, in the reverse process.

"The fireworks set ablaze are wonderful to behold on the epidermis," he states, and adds that "the hot foot of the athlete, with ringworm between his toes, soon becomes a pageant of tropical splendor when an ointment, designed to scale a long-standing case, is applied to an acutely swollen, moist and broken skin."

Dr. Ereaux advises it is not wise to "pass on the remedy to Cousin Jim so successfully used in treating Aunt Matilda's itch, because Jim's skin may burn under its action." He warns against stocking up old remedies in the medicine cupboard, because age may change a concentration of ingredients.

Women daily invite skin irritations by the application of "cosmetic camouflage", the writer warns, while even the miracle drugs of sulpha and penicillin can prove dangerous, and should not be used on the skin without a doctor's order.

He agrees that patent medicines have value, but adds that "one thing the makers do not sell, unfortunately, is the medical common sense required for their administration. Such judgment comes only from long medical experience."

You do not get out of everything just what you put in. There are slot machines and punch boards, for instance. — Exch.

Recent Marriage in Maple Avenue Church

Mullin - MacAdam

The marriage of Miss Marion Enid MacAdam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. MacAdam, of Brownsburg, Que., to Mr. Frederick M. Mullin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullin, of Hawkesbury, Ont., took place at four thirty o'clock on the afternoon of August 21 in the Maple Avenue Baptist Church at Brownsburg. The Rev. Dana Lamb of Montreal officiated and Miss May Petley played the wedding music. Gladioli formed the decorations for the occasion.

Mrs. Wm. Petley, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Elaine MacAdam, sister of the bride, and Miss Rita Duhamel, of Montreal: Donna Graham acted as flower girl.

Mr. Edward Mullin, brother of the groom, was best man; the ushers were Mr. Harold Robinson and Mr. Keith Graham. Master Dale MacAdam acted as page boy.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a gown of brocaded satin, made with a fitted bodice buttoned down the back, and long sleeves falling in points over her hands. The full skirt fell into a fan-shaped train. Her long veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a halo of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The matron of honor was dressed in a floor-length gown of blush pink faconne crepe with matching headdress and mittens. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

The bridesmaids wore similar frocks of nylon over taffeta, Miss MacAdam in heavenly blue and Miss Duhamel in buttercup yellow. They carried colonial bouquets of pink and mauve cornflowers.

Little Donna Graham, as flower girl, wore a floor-length dress of primrose nylon sheer over taffeta with headdress to match, and carried a basket of flowers.

Mrs. MacAdam, mother of the bride, was in a rose crepe dress with black accessories, and wearing a corsage of pink roses.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the church hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Mullin left by motor for Pine Lodge, Toronto, and other points in Western Ontario. For travelling the bride wore a wine-colored wool gabardine suit with grey accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses. The couple will reside in Montreal.

Brownsburg Defeated Hawkesbury 11-2 Last Week-End

Brownsburg — The Brownsburg baseball team settled down to real ball on Sunday last in Hawkesbury, when they evened up the series one game each.

As predicted in this column last week — if they only staged the type of ball they had played all season, they could win easily; and they did. Looks as if they must all read The Watchman, as it was a grand game to watch (for the Brownsburg fans).

Maurie Thompson pitched one of his best games of the season, and only allowed hits in the last two innings.

Gatineau beat Hull last Sunday to even up their play-offs 1 to 1, and Maurice Danis of Brownsburg really has his mind set on a trip to either Hull or Gatineau before the season ends.

The line-up for last Sunday's game was —

Roger Prud'homme C, Maurie Thompson P, F. St. Onge 1B, M. Legault 2B, R. Maude SS, H. King 3B, K. Simpson LF, F. Leroux CF, B. Petley RF.

Subs — R. Summers, W. Tessier, J. Murdoch, P. Hebert.

Premier Discusses Mineral Wealth, Re-affirms Attitude on Communism

"The Week at Quebec"

Specially Written for The Watchman by Alan Randal

Quebec, Sept. 7 (CP) — Quebec's fight against Communism goes on. Premier Maurice Duplessis left no doubt about this when, at his last press conference, he asked Ottawa's co-operation with the Quebec Government in holding Communism at bay.

"The Union Nationale", said the premier, "will never compromise with Communists and their aides, and will continue to fight with all its might against those insidious theories."

Mr. Duplessis charged that the Federal authorities, in admitting displaced persons to come to Canada from Europe had, in the course of things, admitted some "notorious communists". The premier termed this the result of "careless immigration policies."

Then he added: "I hope federal authorities will collaborate with the Quebec Government in its fight against Communism."

The premier, planning to spend a couple of days in Ungava, Quebec's great empire of the north, struck out at the award of Labrador to Newfoundland in 1827 and his words reminded newspapermen that in a map not long since released by the Quebec Government no borderline between Labrador and Quebec was shown.

He spoke of the wealth in the great northern expanses. "It seems to me that the greater part of this natural wealth is in the Province of Quebec. The dividing line between the province and Labrador, fixed by the privy council, appears to me remarkable for its straightness and never will I accept pretensions of Newfoundland with regard to this."

Already industrialists have spent $3,000,000 for preliminary exploration in Ungava and have estimated 250,000,000 tons of minerals lie there.

On housing, the premier said his government would be happy to collaborate with the Federal Government in solving shortages in the least possible time. He thought it possible to establish some system of three-way co-operation involving federal, provincial and municipal government so that housing difficulties may be solved as soon as possible.

Construction Job At Curling Club

Progress in the revamping of Lachute Curling Club these past few weeks, has met with the satisfaction of the building committee — according to a spokesman for the club. This work has entailed the raising of the rink building by six feet, an extension of 12 feet on the rink section, and 10 feet on the club quarters, with the installation of plate glass both downstairs and upstairs. In addition, the entire premises are being redecorated and a larger heating system installed. Contractor for the renovations is Alcidas Laurin.

The Curling Club building is undergoing these changes in preparation for the laying of two artificial ice rinks; it is stated the changes will be complete within a few days in readiness for the refrigeration equipment, and it is expected there will be no undue delay in the delivery of this material.

School Enrolment Near 500 Mark

Lachute High School re-opened on Tuesday with a record attendance of slightly under 500. There are 47 beginners and 36 in the graduating class.

Among new members of the staff are — G. Philip Grant, B.A., from Fredericton, N.B., formerly assistant principal at Harkins High School in Newcastle; Miss Mary K. Baugh, B.A., who has been teaching in La Tuque High School; Murray Templeton, B.Sc. (Agriculture), from Howick, Que., and Leslie Kerr, of Harrington, Que. In all there are 23 teachers on the staff, and with such a large enrolment of pupils, the existing facilities and accommodation are taxed to the utmost.

The opening exercises of the school, and distribution of awards to the prize-winning pupils, takes place tomorrow evening (Friday) at Lachute Auditorium.

G. Davis Presides At Lions Club

Lachute Lions Club held its first supper meeting for the season last evening at the Golf Club chalet, with the new president, Lion George L. Davis, in the chair.

Reports were received from delegates who had attended the district Lions meeting at Timmins, Ontario, and the Lions International Convention at New York, during the summer months. The latter was the largest service club convention ever to be held anywhere, with over 35,000 in attendance.

Plans for club activities during the coming season were discussed, and everything points towards a busy and successful regime for the new president.

A donation of $100 was given towards providing instruments for the high school orchestra, and a similar sum was authorized for purchase of a hearing aid for a local needy person.

The special committee appointed nearly a year ago to consider various major projects on which to devote the club funds, raised by car drawings during the past two years, has just about completed its deliberations. In the near future a public announcement will be made regarding this important subject, and it is expected the projects will be a worthwhile contribution to the betterment of the community.

Five Treated for Injuries as Auto And Transport Crash on Highway

Three-Year-Old Girl Suffers Skull Fracture When Hit by Automobile

Four accidents causing damage and injuries occurred here within a few days — although not wholly attributable to the Labor Day week-end, which evidenced some hazardous driving on the highways of this district.

A Montreal family, returning home early Tuesday morning after spending the summer at their camp near Pte. au Chene, came to grief in an auto collision with a big semi-trailer transport just west of Lachute on Route 8. The accident happened at 5 a.m., before daylight, on a curve beyond Whissell's cement-block plant. The injured, five occupants of the car, were brought here to Dr. E. Christie's office for treatment. They were Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Houde and their three sons, André, 11, Réal, 17, and Guy, 18—most of whom required stitches for facial cuts and lacerations. The youngest, suffering a possible fracture of the nose, was taken to hospital when the family returned to the city. Two other children, Serge, 6, and Renée, 14-year-old girl, escaped unhurt, although the Houde automobile was completely wrecked.

The collision occurred when the auto sideswiped the west-bound transport on the curve. The truck, owned by Ball Bros., Granby, and driven by Laurent Chauvin, of Abbotsford, was heading towards Vankleek Hill loaded with midway properties for the exhibition. In the trailer van several men were sleeping en route, and although the vehicle careened into a deep ditch following the crash, none of the occupants was injured. The tractor was extensively damaged, but the van, undamaged, was later hauled to its destination.

Truck Loaded with Lumber Burns on Highway

Considerable loss was incurred when a truck from Weir, owned and operated by Edouard Labelle, caught fire on Route 31 near Lost River last Friday afternoon, and the vehicle with its load of 3,000-odd feet of lumber, was completely burned. The hardwood lumber, from a yard at Weir, had been consigned to Dominion Shuttle Company, Lachute. Catching fire at 2 p.m., the blaze continued until 10.30 o'clock that night.

It is reported the truck developed trouble while climbing a hill. The driver, who was accompanied by his eight-year-old son Albert, raised the floor-boards to inspect the defective mechanism. It appears that a disconnected battery cable then caused a spark and ignited gasoline which had spilled or leaked from the tank. In the explosion that resulted, both the driver and his son were fortunate in escaping severe burns.

According to report, the loss of the truck is covered by insurance, but there was no insurance on the burned lumber.

Lachute Child Suffers Fractured Skull

At dusk last Thursday evening 3½-year-old Judith Underhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Underhill, was struck by a car while crossing the highway near her home on the Brownsburg Road. She was with her elder sister, Jean, when the accident occurred around 8.30 p.m. Taken to the Providence Hospital, Lachute, the child was treated by Dr. Jules Lafleur and Dr. F. W. FitzGerald; X-ray examination revealed a fracture of the skull. The girl was later removed to her home and is now reported to be progressing favorably.

Driver of the car was Noel Proulx, of Brownsburg, who was proceeding towards Lachute. The car was put under seizure and the driver was subsequently charged with operating a vehicle with defective brakes and defective steering.

Crash Near St. Andrews

Severe injuries were sustained by Mrs. Leopold Proulx, of the St. Andrews district, when the truck in which she was driving home with her husband crashed into the rear of a vehicle parked at a hill on Lachute Road, about one mile north of St. Andrews Village. The latter truck was owned by Jean Gilles Aubin, also of St. Andrews. The crash occurred in the darkness, around 9.45 p.m. Taken to the office of Dr. A. L'Allier, the injured woman was treated for a deep gash in the forehead caused by impact with the windshield.

All four mishaps were investigated by Traffic Officer Howard Jones, of Lachute.

Sudden Death At Hill Head

The Late Chas. Moore

A lifetime resident of Hill Head, Charles Moore, died suddenly at his home on Monday morning, at the age of 57. A son of the late Charles Moore, he was well known in the surrounding farming community. Unmarried, he had resided with his brother Arthur, and is survived also by another brother, Neal, of San Diego, California, who arrived last evening to attend the funeral.

A member of the Orange Lodge, the late Mr. Moore was buried with the last rites of the Order; the funeral, held from his home this afternoon, was conducted by the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield, assisted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Lachute.

Family Bereaved

Late Miss Josephine Dickie

The death of Miss Josephine M. Dickie, sister of Mrs. W. M. Steeves, occurred yesterday at the latter's home on Main St., where Miss Dickie had been seriously ill for the past several weeks. A member of the nursing profession in New York City, she had been brought to the home of her sister, to be cared for following an operation and hospital treatment in New York.

The late Miss Dickie was a graduate of the Toronto General Hospital.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dickie, of Campbellton, N.B., she is mourned by her parents and three sisters, Mrs. Steeves, Mrs. Arthur Organ, of Hamilton, Ont., and Mrs. Gordon Caswell, of Calgary, Alta.

Mr. and Mrs. Steeves left today for Campbellton, accompanying the remains to her former home where the funeral will be held on Saturday. Many friends here, including those who shared Miss Dickie's personal acquaintance, will sympathize with them in their bereavement.

Brantford, Ont. (CP)—Firefighting is a profession, not just a job requiring a strong back, Jack McGratton, fire-prevention officer here, told a Lions Club meeting. Fire now is fought scientifically, and much less water damage is caused than in the old days, he said.

Mechanizing Operations in the Woods

Lucien Savard Grand Knight of Local K. of C.

Chaplain, Rev. Bro. E. Cloutier; Grand Knight, Bro. Lucien Savard; Deputy Grand Knight, Bro. Reg Courtien; Chancellor, Bro. Leopold Dauphin; Recording Secretary, Bro. Raymond Beaulieu; Financial Secretary, Bro. Emile Dumais; Sec.-Treas., Bro. Henri Lefebvre.

Advocate, Bro. R. Lagarde; Master of Ceremonies, Bro. Bernard Gosselin; Int. Guard, Bro. Rosario Lemay; Ext. Guard, Bro. O. Brunet; Syndics, Bros. Philippe Guenette and C. Ambeault; Intendant, Bro. Felix D'Aoust; Physician, Bro. Jules Lafleur, M.D.

According to the newly elected Grand Knight, a full program of activities is planned for the coming year, covering inspirational, social and recreative aspects of club work. Early on the recreative program is a picnic planned for members and their families, to be held September 26 on the Filion farm, east of Grace Street.

The Brownsburg K. of C. Council, newly chartered last year, will stage its first initiation ceremony here next Sunday, at the Auditorium. The second degree will be conferred commencing at 9.30 a.m., and the third degree at 2.30 p.m., to be exemplified by District Deputy Bro. E. Lalande, M.D., a former resident of this town and past-Grand Knight of the local council.

An item of interest to members of the Order is the K. of C. regional congress to be held in Buckingham on the following Sunday, September 19. All local Knights are invited to attend this gathering.

Meetings of the local council this month will be held on the 15th and 28th of September.

Safe Driving Hints By Traffic Officer Speaker at Rotary

Brownsburg — Howard Jones, popular traffic policeman in this district, gave the Rotary Club an interesting and earnest talk on how to abide by the law. The speaker was introduced by Rotarian John Chalmers.

Officer Jones stressed the importance of signals, which all drivers should be familiar with and should recognize. Experience has shown that accidents could be avoided if careless drivers became careful drivers, using the correct arm signals when turning and stopping. Several incidents were recalled by the speaker, in which local accidents have been caused by the driver's neglect to signal his intentions.

Dimming lights is not only a courtesy of the road but it is also the law—and a law which is going to be enforced to the point of a ten dollar fine. Glaring headlights confuse many drivers, causing accidents. All drivers are required to stop at the scene of an accident — accidents can be accidental and excusable, but a hit-and-run driver is inexcusable, and a heavy penalty is imposed when he is caught.

Another rule good drivers should observe, is to keep their eyes always on the road. The car is out of control if the driver is groping around or looking backwards. Accidents happen so quickly, and serious injuries and death may follow.

Headlights and tail lights should always be checked to ascertain they are in proper working order. Both rear and headlights should clear the road for one hundred feet. Accidents occur on highways, but gravel roads are considered more dangerous. Motorists should always read the road signs such as "Keep to the right", and should follow such instructions. Many motorists think they are careful drivers by always applying a brake when startled—but this can be unwise, especially on icy roads, where braking a car is more dangerous than slowing it down. . . All signs are a warning, and should be observed. The law tolerates slowing up rather than a full stop where there is an open view of the road. It is permissible to cross a railway crossing if the car is slowed to 20 m.p.h. In Quebec, the speed limit on a good highway is 50 miles an hour; on gravel roads the limit is 40; when rounding a curve on a gravel road, the car will be in control at 20 m.p.h. If a car is travelling at 40 m.p.h., it has been proven it can only stop in 88 feet when the brake is applied. The decision on braking the car might carry 58 feet farther — and a child may be killed in that distance. Motorists were urged to remember this observation.

Officer Jones gave interesting experiences of escort work in which he had taken part. He was honored in escorting the King and Queen during their visit here. A policeman's job covers a large territory, and it is impossible to be in many places at the same time. Also, their work is dangerous. They are called upon to help control strikes and riots. They have authority to arrest wrongdoers and enforce the law at all times.

The speaker answered many questions asked by his listeners. He was thanked on behalf of the club by Rotarian Russ Graham.

East Ward Neighbors Make Presentation

An enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lowe, East Ward, on Thursday last, when a number of immediate neighbors called to present a wedding gift to the former Miss Mary Lowe, whose marriage to Mr. Dan Hoysted took place on Saturday, August 28.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. John Hadley, Mrs. R. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Armstrong.

Mr. Lowe and several members of the family entertained the guests with musical selections, following which refreshments were served.

Lachute Weddings

Young Lachute Couple Married Saturday

Drew - Hadley

The marriage of Doris Elsie Hadley, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hadley, of Lachute, Que., to Mr. John Sydney Drew, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Drew, of Lachute, took place on Saturday afternoon, September 4, at three o'clock, at the bride's home in the East Ward — the Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiating.

Mrs. Stuart Campbell played the wedding music. The matron of honor, Mrs. Frederick Stein, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. Mr. Hilliard Anderson, of Montreal, was the best man.

Given away by her father, the bride wore an afternoon dress of baby blue crepe and navy blue accessories, and carried a bouquet of deep red roses. The matron of honor wore an afternoon dress of dusty rose crepe and navy accessories, and carried white carnations.

A reception followed, and later the couple left for their wedding trip. The bride wore for travelling a tailored suit of loganberry wine wool gabardine, with navy accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses, and a matching set of pin and earrings in yellow gold, the gift of the groom. On their return they will reside in Lachute.

Marriage Vows at Baptist Church

Titley - Brown

With a background of gladioli and seasonal flowers the marriage of Miss Sybil Helen Elizabeth Brown, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Brown, of Lachute, and Mr. Percy John Titley, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Titley, of Harrowsmith, Ontario (formerly of Lachute), was solemnized in the Lachute Baptist Church on Saturday, September 4, at 4 o'clock, the Rev. W. H. Britton, pastor of the church, officiating.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in floor-length white sheer fashioned with a shirred bodice, long fitted sleeves ending in points over the hands, and a full skirt. Her floor-length veil of silk net was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible with streamers of rosebuds and white satin ribbon — her only jewelry being a brooch with a turquoise stone encased in diamonds, the gift of the groom.

She was attended by Miss Muriel Titley, of Montreal, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, who wore a sweeping floor-length gown in yellow taffeta, with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline, her finger-tip veil of yellow tulle being shaped in star effect. She carried a bouquet of gladioli blooms.

Misses Lily and Roslyn Brown, sisters of the bride, were similarly gowned in pale blue and aqua, and also carried bouquets of gladioli.

The bride's mother wore a gown of grey flowered crepe with fuchsia hat and accessories, and a corsage of gladioli. The groom's mother wore a dress of blue crepe with grey hat and accessories, and a corsage of gladioli.

Mrs. George Helmer played the organ and Mr. Stanley Goldsworthy sang, "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Mr. Lexie Titley acted as best man for the groom, while Messrs. Arthur Brown and Eldon Titley were ushers.

Immediately after the ceremony the wedding supper was served in McArthur's Hall.

The newlyweds later left for a motor trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls. The bride's travelling attire was a dusky rose suit with brown accessories. After their wedding trip they will reside in Harrowsmith, Ont.

Out-of-town guests included Dr. and Mrs. McCall and son, Stores, also Mr. Victor Bailey, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Titley, Mr. Keith Titley and Miss Shirley Burton, of Kingston, Ont.

Married in Montreal

Word is received of the marriage of George Powell — who is remembered by many of the younger townfolk of Lachute, where he attended High School before serving with the forces overseas. Mr. Powell was married last Friday to Miss Lucille Haney, formerly of Oklahoma, the ceremony taking place in Montreal.

There is no policy like politeness, since a good manner often succeeds where the best tongue has failed. — Elias L. Magoon

FRACAS IN THE MIDNIGHT HOURS

Assuming that our town councillors have the welfare of their fellow citizens at heart (and The Watchman files carry several pre-election assurances to this effect) — it seems passing strange that certain abuses suffered by the taxpayers should be so long ignored.

We refer again to the night-time noises in this town.

Last week-end was perhaps a record for the pandemonium on Main Street. Not only around the restaurants, but up and down the street even to the Park, where a carousal in the bandstand disturbed neighboring sleepers until 2 o'clock Monday morning. Several residents are known to have telephoned the police in the meantime — but in vain, for there was no response.

This is not the first complaint aired in The Watchman, nor the second. With rowdiness until 2 a.m., and restaurant music in full blast soon after 6 a.m. — we hesitate to express ourselves on the attitude of administration which permits such disturbances; it makes poor advertising for this town to have the matter publicized. Council is well aware of this condition. What is required? we ask. Does it need a public petition, a taxpayers' delegation, to have the complaint remedied? Or does it rest with citizens to take the law in their own hands — as in the case of one exasperated householder, who dumped water on a drunken disturber from an upstairs window.

At next general meeting of town council, applications are to be considered for an additional police officer. (We hope they'll make it two.) And we recommend that a priority job for the local police be henceforth to maintain peace and quiet in the midnight hours. It is up to the police committee to do something about this annoyance—and now.

Young Lawyer Is Feted by Friends

Roger Lagarde, B.A., LL.B., junior partner in the legal firm of Héon & Lagarde, was feted by his friends last Friday evening at the Laurentian Hotel, Lachute, on the occasion of his approaching marriage. Among the gathering were a number of professional and business men from the town. Good wishes were voiced on their behalf by Mr. Georges H. Héon, M.P., Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., Messrs. Philippe Valois and Jacques E. Beaudoin.

A purse was presented to Mr. Lagarde, who sincerely thanked his many friends. A luncheon followed.

Gatineau LINES

In Canada there are thousands of farmers who buy or rent farms, raise crops, harvest and sell them. Often they sell dairy, poultry or garden products by building up routes on which they sell directly to homes or stores.

While we rarely stop to think about it, this is primarily the same procedure which is followed by a power company. The company buys or leases its power-site from a private owner, or from the government. It clears the land and builds its power plants; the harvest comes in the form of electricity. It sells this electricity to private homes, industries and commercial establishments. To this extent, it is acting in exactly the same manner as the farmer we mentioned.

There is, however, one important difference — while the price of the farmer's goods may vary, he will normally sell them for the best price he can obtain. If the goods are scarce, he receives more than he does if his products are plentiful throughout the country. In other words, he will raise and lower his prices as circumstances suggest. This, the power company simply cannot do.

In the Province of Quebec, power companies are regulated by the Provincial Electricity Board. The rates charged by the company must be approved by the Board. In effect, this means that the Board, which is responsible to the people of the province, tells the producer and the distributor of electricity how much he can charge for his goods.

If the company wishes to raise its rates, it would first be necessary to notify all customers affected by the increase. In addition, the company would have to apply to the Board for permission to increase its rates. To obtain permission it would be necessary to prove absolutely that such an increase was justified on the basis of actual cost of production and distribution.

Meanwhile the customers would be given an opportunity to oppose such an increase. This situation obviously eliminates any possibility of any power company increasing its rates in a manner to be unjust or unfair.

The record of the industry in Canada however, indicates that the public has little reason to be concerned about high rates. While the cost-of-living over the last ten years has increased about 50%, the cost of electricity to the consumer has generally decreased. Electricity is one of the few commodities which decreased in price to the consumer during this period.

ENGLISH JOURNEY

By WALTER R. LEGGE

ARTICLE NO. 6

Within a short bus ride journey from Amersham are two places that should be on the "must see" list of every visitor to England, Windsor Castle and Hampton Court Palace.

One whole day at least should be spent at Windsor for there is so much to see. The town itself is an interesting old place but the Castle is worth the whole journey to England. The usual pictures of Windsor Castle give little indication of the real size and grandeur of the many buildings.

It is known that there was a castle here in the days of William II (1087 to 1100) but the present castle was started by Edward III (1327-1377) and succeeding kings made various additions until about 1820 since which time there have been no changes.

As everyone knows, the Royal Family spend much of their time at Windsor Castle but when they are absent, visitors are shown through the state apartments by expert guides who lecture in each room. These are not the private apartments of the Royal Family, which are in another part of the Castle.

It is impossible in the space available to adequately describe these state apartments but the following is a brief summary in the order visited.

The China Museum contains a valuable collection of services of Worcester, Wedgwood, Minton, Copeland, etc., made for various Kings.

The Grand Staircase has a suit of armour made for Henry VIII, colors of many regiments, arms and armour.

King Charles II Dining Room has a ceiling painting by Verrio of a Banquet of the Gods; Grindly Gibbons carvings, and priceless pictures, furniture and tapestries.

The Rubens Room is so called because of the number of paintings by that artist on the walls. It is used as the principal apartment during State visits. This room also has valuable furniture and porcelains.

The State Bedroom has a State Bedstead made 1774-1793 and the walls are covered with green silk damask. Here also are priceless paintings and furniture.

The King's Closet and the Queen's Closet are two more large rooms with period furniture and magnificent paintings.

The Picture Gallery, used as a Writing Room during state visits is known as the Picture Gallery on account of the number of masterpieces of great value. There are over 40 paintings by such artists as Holbein, Rubens, Rembrandt, etc.

The Van Dyck Room is so called because most of the paintings are by that artist and there are many fine pieces of furniture.

The Queen's Audience Chamber has another fine ceiling painting by Verrio and three magnificent panel tapestries of Gobelin.

The Queen's Presence Chamber also has a ceiling painting by Verrio and wonderful furniture and pictures.

The Guard Chamber has an armour clad equestrian figure, a fine collection of historical swords and batons, as well as busts, tapestries, pictures and furniture.

St. George's Hall, built by Edward III to hold the banquets of the Knights of the Garter, is 185 feet long and 30 feet wide. The decorations include the shields of Arms of all Knights of the Garter from the foundation of the Order in 1344 to the present day, and busts of about 24 kings and members of the Royal Family.

The Grand Reception Room has six huge Gobelin tapestries.

The Throne Room is where many Royal Investitures of the Order of the Garter have taken place. The pictures are of Sovereigns in their Garter robes.

The Ante Throne Room has five paintings by Zuccarelli, busts and Louis XV tables.

The Waterloo Chamber has a mohogany table capable of seating 150 persons. The walls are covered with Heraldic Badges and over 40 paintings of celebrities.

The last room is the Grand Vestibule, filled with cases of souvenirs of historical events, and other objects, forming a museum of great interest.

It would take days to really study the apartments but the visitor must keep up with the guide and party. It was noticeable that the guide never used superlatives such as "the finest in the world" although there is no doubt that many items could be so classed. There were over 5,000 visitors to the apartments on the day we were there.

The Queen's Doll's House is another section open to the public but we did not have time enough to visit it.

Equally interesting is the St. George's Chapel, which is one of the most beautiful and interesting buildings in England.

Here again an expert guide conducts parties of visitors and points out each item of interest and here again, hours could be spent studying the details.

St. George's Chapel is where many kings and queens are buried including Henry VIII and his Queen, Jane Seymour; Edward VII, Queen Alexandra; George III, George IV, Henry VI and many others.

Our guide showed his sense of dramatics as he told of the body of Charles the First being smuggled past sentries into the chapel for burial at the dead of night. For a long time it was doubted if it really was the body of the king and if he really was beheaded. Years later the body was exhumed and found to be really the body of Charles the First and the head was separate from the body.

We were fortunate in seeing the extensive and massive old altar vessels which are not usually on view, but had not been removed after a special service that morning.

Lovers of fine architecture are richly rewarded for a visit to St. George's Chapel for although it

MORE JOBS for Young Canadians

TODAY CANADA'S manufacturing capacity has been increased—and diversified — to an extent never thought possible in pre-war years. Now Canada can do more — can make more — offers far more opportunities to young Canadians commencing their careers today. While established industries have been expanding, new ones have been springing up. Over 200 new products formerly imported are now being made here.

EMPLOYMENT figures, too, tell the story of our emergence as one of the world's great industrial nations; today almost twice as many Canadians are engaged in manufacturing as there were before the war.

CAPACITY for steel production doubled; chemical output more than twice 1939 level; pulp and paper mills operating at 50% above pre-war: everywhere the magnitude of the advance is evident.

DEVELOPMENT continues: on new plant and new equipment nearly four times as much was spent by Canadian industry last year as in 1939.

"... UNTOLD OPPORTUNITIES"
"If one wants to give service and work, Canada is full of untold opportunities — greater than ever. It is well, too, for young Canadians not to overlook small towns and rural parts, because in these places the door is ajar, life can be gloriously free and very full."

... says ROY SHIELDS of Coboconk, Ontario. He and his brother Charles have, by industry and initiative, supported by loyal, hard-working employees, attained a remarkable success as General Merchants in their rural community. Their store has been referred to as the "Biggest Little Department Store" in the country.

Wise Precautions

NEXT WEEK is National Immunization Week in Canada — a period during which it will be emphasized that a major item in any child health conservation program is immunization, the giving of protection against such dangerous but preventable diseases as diphtheria, whooping cough and smallpox.

Observances such as "National Immunization Week" are important and necessary, because it is obvious that conservation of child health is of vital importance to the future of any nation; and Canada is no exception.

Medical science has produced the means to prevent these particular diseases, but, unhappily, the parents of Canada have not made full use of these proven preventives which are so easily obtainable. Toxoid prevents diphtheria, whooping cough vaccine is an effective whooping cough check and, as it is well known, vaccination has practically eliminated smallpox. There is also BCG vaccine against tuberculosis.

A complete immunization job in Canada would eliminate disease dangers which needlessly threaten thousands of children daily.

That these diseases not only threaten but actually take toll is seen in the 1947 vital statistics, which reveal that 360 Canadians, practically all of them children, died from diphtheria and whooping cough in that year — 139 from diphtheria and 221 from whooping cough.

"National Immunization Week" is sponsored annually by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with official departments of health, as a means of emphasizing the value of these proven preventives and in the hope that those Canadian parents who have neglected to have their children immunized will wake up to the fact that they can do something to stop the needless waste of life.

Curb the Noise!

THE CITY policeman who reprimanded a councilor last week for blowing his auto horn unnecessarily, will have the commendation of thousands of long-suffering Montrealers. Every word or example that serves to emphasize this growing evil in the metropolis should find echo in the public press . . . such publicity may even reflect beneficially in such smaller centres as Lachute, where the authorities exert no effort to curb the increasing noise.

Anti-noise by-laws state, among other provisions, that no one is permitted to sound the horn of his car except in an emergency. To consider just two of the most frequent offenders, namely, the taxi-man summoning his fare, and the youth announcing his arrival at the girl-friend's door with ear-splitting squawks on the auto horn — neither of these can be said to be "faced with an emergency".

"Pen Pal Snoopers"

CANADA'S department of external affairs raises a mild alarm concerning a new type of espionage — pen pal snoopers.

A "gentleman from Vienna" has written to a Canadian Arctic post asking for a postcard with "harbor views" in exchange for which he will return Viennese cathedral scenes.

A telephone company has received several requests from persons in the Russian-occupied sector of Germany for copies of Canadian telephone books.

Beware of "pen pals" the departments says in a statement. It labels the practice "sinister" though not "startlingly serious". A spokesman said: "There obviously is something pretty sinister when someone starts asking for harbor views of Arctic posts."

"Killing Time"

A YOUNG gang leader in Toronto, trying to justify the vicious conduct of his hoodlum followers, said recently that they were "just trying to kill time" when they gathered on street corners.

If the authorities can't tie any other crime on this budding Al Capone it would be interesting to charge him with just what he gave as the reason for his gang — killing time. In our opinion there are a lot of offences in the Criminal Code not half as criminal.

That young men still in their teens should gather together in terrorizing gangs because they have nothing better to do is an indictment of the youths themselves and their parents, not of our educational system or recreational facilities.

They've been taught to read and a world of good reading matter is in public libraries everywhere. They've been encouraged to play games and the baseball fields and ice rinks are free to everyone. Yet they have to meet together to "kill time." They bleat that "the guys having nothing better to do than stand around the corner."

Sympathizing with them, some social workers agree the young gangsters are restless, uncertain and insecure, living in a world haunted by fear of another war. "We might all be dead in another five years," weeps one hoodlum. To use out-dated slang rather than something stronger — this is plain baloney!

The trouble with these youths is that they got out of control in early home training. They were given too much of their own way when it was the wrong way. They went beyond the street-corner fun of normal boys and became petty gangsters because they wanted to be petty gangsters. If they're restless and uncertain they themselves are to blame; they, that is, and their parents.

They aren't the sort to take advice, but we'd like to lay them a little wager that in 10 years they'll regret that time they're killing now.

Malpractice at the Wheel

TO MOST people the term "one-arm driving" suggests wooing at the wheel. And from the safety viewpoint at least, the practice doesn't give romance a fair chance to last.

But there's another form of one-arm driving that is also dangerous. We mean the too-common custom of driving with the right hand alone on the wheel, while the left arm rests idly on the ledge of the open window and the left hand dangles uselessly or maybe clutches, for no driving purpose, the top of the window. No romance here — just false confidence, or plain laziness.

Any experienced driver knows that he cannot control his vehicle as well with one hand as with two, and that Trouble can sometimes strike before there is time to get that other hand working. Besides, how does the guy behind know that lazy left hand isn't signaling a stop or turn?

English Journey

is not as old as many other Church buildings it is far richer and the stone vaulting is glorious. It is hard to tear oneself away from this gem of England.

Going out on the north terrace of the Castle a glorious view is obtainable over the countryside and in the foreground are the buildings of Eton, one of England's most famous boys' schools. In the town of Windsor at almost any time can be seen boys with the caps, uniforms, and toppers worn by various groups of students.

The following interesting item about Eton was clipped from a recent daily paper:

"His name went on the general waiting list. This was a mistake. His mother should have made sure it was on a housemaster's list.

"So unless there is a failure among the examinees in September, he stands no chance of going to Eton in the autumn. Hundreds more boys are waiting for such chance vacancies.

"Fees at Eton are now £278 a year. Nevertheless, lists are full until 1960."

Only a half hour's bus ride from Windsor is Hampton Court Palace which I visited on another day. It was built by Cardinal Woolsey when he was the richest and most powerful man in England. His household numbered 500 and 280 guest roms were always ready for guests.

Woolsey presented it to King Henry VIII, who made it one of the most luxurious palaces in the kingdom.

It is now preserved by the Minister of Works as an ancient monument and historic building. Visitors may go through the various apartments, which are full of period furniture, priceless paintings, tapestries, etc.

The gardens at Hampton Court Palace are extensive and very beautiful, and the most widely known feature there, is the famous Maze probably planted in the reign of William III. The hedges which line the paths of the Maze are 6 feet high and two feet thick, but looked to me as if they were dying. Perhaps they will be better later in the summer.

Another feature is the Tiltyard garden where tournaments were held in the days of Henry VIII. It is 7 acres in area, enclosed by high brick walls and five towers provided accommodation for the spectators.

Hampton Court Palace and grounds are on the banks of the Thames and river steamers make frequent trips up and down the Thames carrying passengers to such places as Richmond, Kingston, London, etc., at a small charge.

I went on one of these steamers to Kingston, which is a busy centre with many interesting old buildings among fine modern ones. It was market day and I had a chance to see another of these outdoor markets which are a feature of many towns.

Appeal for Support of Y.M.C.A. World Services

Last year the Y.M.C.A. announced a special appeal through its World Youth Fund to rehabilitate youth in 26 countries after the war. Early this year the Canadian chairman, H. J. Humphrey, Toronto, reported large dividends from the amount already raised and put to work in 19 countries. Here are some of the things accomplished:

482 Secretaries battered by years of over-work and malnutrition back in harness, serving the young people of their countries.

55 Bomb-blasted "Y" buildings and 62 local Y.M.C.A.'s in 11 devastated countries again ringing with youthful voices. Twelve National Y.M.C.A. Movements rehabilitated.

Of the $8,650,000 objective for this great work, only approximately half has been raised.

In addition to this special fund, 60 North American Y.M.C.A. secretaries are now at work in 28 countries helping youth in every way they can.

Then again the home front must be strong to make possible all phases of Y.M.C.A. services in Canada. Altogether, therefore, $5,535,903 is needed this year. This appeal for far flung service of the Young Men's Christian Association is now being brought to the attention of the public — solicitations being addressed to this community by direct mail. There is no greater problem in the world today than the re-education of youth along Christian lines, and there is no youth organization doing more towards it than the "Y".

THE OLYMPIC SPIRIT

Two hundred Boy Scouts from all parts of Great Britain, this summer paid their own fare and expenses to Torquay, and in some cases gave up holidays, to take part in a large-scale "good turn". They helped with the sailing events at the Olympic Games. . . Sea Scouts manned two fast motor launches, one carrying press and newsreel men, the other acting as a tug and fire craft. They also manned 14 dinghies carrying out ferrying and messenger duties. On shore they worked as fire pickets, messengers and guides. Two motor-cycle despatch riders were attached to the Games Headquarters.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

LOCK YOUR CAR WHEN YOU LEAVE IT

Thieves are no respecters of persons. Any car—perhaps yours—may be their next target. An unlocked automobile is an invitation to lawbreakers, whether it is parked on a downtown street or in the driveway at home. It's a good habit to be certain that ignition keys are removed and to lock your car before you leave it. This is a simple and effective way of discouraging would-be thieves . . . it removes temptation. Discouragement of crime in any form is "Good Citizenship".

Potter and the Clay, Practical Theme for Evangelist's Sermon

Despite the fact that it was a holiday week-end, a good number were present for the fifth in the series of old-time Pentecostal meetings at Lachute Auditorium. Next Sunday the service will be held in McArthur's Hall, and the program promises a special treat, as Mr. and Mrs. E. Carter and their daughter, Lois, from Montreal, will render the gospel in song.

After a lively hymn-sing led by Harold Grant, Miss Elsie Snelgrove of Montreal sang Beverly Shea's well known gospel song, "I'd Rather Have Jesus". Norman Schlarbaum, relating the story behind the song, told how King George VI and Queen Elizabeth with the late President Roosevelt visited an Indian reserve in the United States. An Indian chief, White Feather, asked King George if he knew Jesus Christ as his Lord and Savior. The King answered in the affirmative. Chief White Feather turned to the Queen and in reply to the same question she answered, "Yes, I'd rather have Jesus than anything". Beverly Shea, a gospel radio singer of Chicago, took Their Majesties' words and composed them into one of the most popular gospel songs of the present day.

Evangelist Schlarbaum's message on "The Potter and the Clay" was educational as well as inspirational. He described the different processes through which a lump of clay must pass before it comes forth from the poiter's hands as a beautiful finished vase. The potter in the Bible is God, our heavenly Father, while the clay represents mankind, whom God is endeavoring to mould into the image of His son Jesus Christ.

The potter first picks the clay up and then washes and softens it in running water. The speaker likened this to a sinner coming to a mourner's bench and having his sins washed away in the blood of Christ and the water of God's Word. This process changes and transforms mankind, and afterward he is more pliable in God's hands.

Mr. Schlarbaum pictured the clay being pounded by the potter to remove and break the hard lumps that failed to be softened by the water. At times Christians ask the question, "why does God allow all these trying circumstances to come into my life?" The evangelist assured his congregation that "all things work together for good to those that love God". God's testings are not given to grind us down but to polish us up. Job declared, "When He hath tried me, I shall come forth as pure gold."

The preacher sketched briefly how the potter, after choosing the mould for the clay, works it with his fingers. He moulds first on the inside, then adds the finishing touches to the outside. Thus God choses our vocation in life, does a work of grace in our hearts, then friends begin to see the fruit of the Spirit in our lives.

Sometimes when the vase is almost finished, the potter discovers a hidden flaw. In removing it, he must mar the vessel and is forced to re-mould it. Peter, the apostle, appeared to be a finished product after being with Jesus for three years, but he crumbled when a young maid accused him of being one of Jesus' disciples. Peter swore that he had never known Jesus. After His resurrection Jesus tenderly forgave Peter, making him the evangelist of the Day of Pentecost. Thus defeat and despair were turned into service for Christ, by Peter's baptism of fire in the upper room.

Some pieces of clay, like Judas of old, cannot endure the fiery trial; they are rejected by the Potter and thrown into the potter's field. Evangelist Schlarbaum urged his listeners to yield their lives to Christ, letting Him mould and make them after His will.

"Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you".

Lord of the Manor Has A New Domain

By NORA ROUTLEDGE

About two miles from Lachute, at the bend of the North River, is a collection of summer cottages which is the culmination of a dream that began nearly 35 years ago, when the proprietor, then a young man, started the development with much enthusiasm—and a ten dollar bill! The father of a family of six, he wanted to get them out of the city for the summer, and so he set out and found the spot which has grown through the years into a place of serene beauty.

When a certain friend wanted to take his family to the country, the second cottage was built, and so it grew, until now there are 18 little houses built on the two sides of the road.

There are many Montrealers who look back with pleasure to their summers at Camp Bourbonniere, where, for a moderate rent, they and their children spent many safe and happy days. In all the years of its existence, there has never been an accident there.

"The Lord of the Manor" — the promoter of this lovely site, which until this summer bore his name—is a character worthy of the pen of Dickens. A Franco-American, of French-Canadian forebears, he had deep in his blood the old traditional feeling of the seigneur towards his tenants. They were his "people", and he was their guardian—sometimes to the amusement and sometimes, perhaps, to the irritation of the freedom-loving moderns he housed on his estate.

When you rented a cottage at Camp Bourbonniere, you had been visited first by the proprietor, who decided whether you measured up to specifications! You were informed there were certain rules and regulations that you must keep. If you did not like the conditions, you did not get the cottage! You could not, for instance, indulge in a wild party—neither could the menfolk, nor male visitors, bare their manly chests when they went swimming. They might protest that it was impossible to buy a full bathing undershirt with their trunks. The seigneur himself wore a complete and copious bathing suit, and hat; and he smoked his pipe when he went swimming! On occasion, to amuse the younger habitués, he donned an ancient, striped, ultra-modest affair of the Gay Ninety period.

Albeit, the Lord of the Manor was tolerant in the matter of religion, if not in the matter of scanty trunks. One summer, he had "church parade" every Sunday, after he returned from mass himself. It was pretty well a command performance for anyone who hadn't been to church. He turned on the radio church service, and his non-Catholic tenants were expected to attend, which they did. He took up a collection, too, and at the end of the season some happy but surprised clergyman in Montreal found he had a bit more on the credit side of his ledger than he had expected.

The tenants? Take a cross-section of Montreal and environs and you have a fair example: salesmen and technicians, college professors and accountants, you found them all there, with their children — for at Camp Bourbonniere you were always more welcome with children than without.

If you visited the camps, you were invariably taken on a sight-seeing trip, which embraced all the beauty spots — up through the avenue of pines which were planted by the seigneur years ago and which are now sturdy, towering trees. On the top of the hill you paused to do homage to the view below, the panorama of rolling hills, the winding river and farmlands. . .

"I always say, you know," the seigneur's voice was mellow as he rolled the oft-repeated words, "that Canada is the grandest country in the world, and that Quebec is the pick of the provinces; the very best county in Quebec is this one — and before you is the most perfect view in the whole province."

All of which makes the vista pretty special. You may have some mental reservations regarding favorite scenes of your own, but out of respect for the love that glowed in an old man's eyes, you remained silent.

These personally conducted tours usually ended at the pump—for you've walked miles and you're pretty thirsty. The Lord of the Manor pumps a glass of the nectar of the gods, tells you it is the purest and best drink in the world, and presents it with a ceremonious flourish that would do justice to a goblet of champagne.

The Lord of the Manor had quite a system in those days regarding complaints. Nothing was ever refused the tenants for their comfort. Not that their requests were complied with promptly; you were assuaged with a friendly pat on the back, and: "Anything at all — anything at all to keep everyone happy, young lady! I always say we don't need to have much money, just so we're happy! Sure, sure — I'll see that it's done first thing Monday morning." . . But no specific Monday is mentioned. And such was the spell cast by his genial manner, by the fresh air and sunshine, that you found yourself, at the end of the season, running with pans to catch water from the same leak that you mentioned at the beginning of the year. After all, no one can fix a roof while it's raining; and when it's a fine day, there's no need, anyway.

Nearly all the men are away from their families during the week. That leaves the wives and children alone. . . If the young fry awakened, and you got up and put your lights on, worried and lonely — a kindly voice accompanied a knock at the door. "Anything I can do for you?", asked the Lord of the Manor. "Are the children sick — do you want any help?"

You went back to bed, secure in the knowledge that he had your interests at heart and, even if you did not get your leaky roof fixed pronto, you could depend upon him in an emergency; if you needed to rush through the night with a sick child, you had a car and a careful driver there for the asking. . .

Time has passed. We are none of us as young as we once were. The seigneur is beginning to slow up. Shortage of help placed a heavy burden of work on his back the past few years, for the raking and the clipping and the tending must go on, to keep the grounds in their exquisite condition. And so, regretfully, Mr. Bourbonniere sold his beloved campsite. He moved eastward along the highway, and today he surveys another broad domain, whose rare possibilities must surely present a challenge to his flagging zeal.

His old tenants, this summer, have experienced a distinct sense of loss, their season lacked something of its old-time flavor. On the terrace in front of La Grand Maison, the seigneur's vacant chair has recalled past summers and winged their thoughts in kindly recollection, to "The Lord of the Manor".

Lunches to Pack

With the "back to school movement", many homemakers are again confronted with that daily problem of packing the school lunch.

There are several unalterable rules for planning school lunches. The meal should fit in with the other two meals of the day to fill the day's needs completely. Foods should be wrapped separately to keep them fresh and prevent mixing flavors. The lunch box menu should have three groups of food. The first includes meat, eggs, cheese, fish or dried beans. These are usually made into sandwiches or salad. There should also be fruit or vegetables. If packed in a box, fruit may be preferred unpeeled and whole, but occasionally stewed fruit may be put in a small jar with screw top. Raw vegetables in salads or crisp vegetable sticks are good. A thermos bottle of milk or a cream soup will round out the meal. Perhaps the child would rather "eat his milk" in the form of custard or other milk pudding. In addition, a cookie or piece of cake will be popular.

Something different for a sandwich filling is always welcome, particularly if it can be made in quantity, kept for a time and used occasionally. The home economists at Ottawa have recipes for several sandwich fillings that will go over well with the child who carries a lunch. Adults will like them too.

Liver Spread

½ Pound sausage, 1 pound pork liver (sliced), ⅓ cup onion (finely chopped), ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup dry bread crumbs, ⅓ cup water, 1 egg.

Cook sausage in a hot frying pan 15 minutes, add liver and continue cooking 15 minutes. Put meat and onion through the food chopper. Add salt, bread crumbs, which have soaked in the water, and slightly-beaten egg; mix well. (No further cooking is required). Store in a covered container in a cool place. To use as sandwich spread, mix with enough salad dressing to moisten. Yield: about 3 cups.

Cheese Sandwich

1½ Cups or ½ pound grated cheese, 3 tablespoons finely chopped green onions, 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs, ⅛ teaspoon celery salt, 3 tablespoons pickle (chopped), ½ teaspoon spicy meat sauce, 3 tablespoons chili sauce, 1 tablespoon butter, melted.

Combine all ingredients, mixing well. This mixture may be used with bread in sandwiches or spread generously in split buns. Yield: filling for 12 large sandwiches or 6 buns.

Green Tomato—Pepper Sandwich

2 Cups ground green tomatoes, 3 green peppers ground, 3 sweet red peppers ground, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup water, 6 sweet pickles ground, ¾ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons mustard, ½ cup vinegar, 1 cup sour cream, 3 eggs, well-beaten.

Grind enough tomatoes to make 2 cups without the juice. Grind green and red pepper and mix with tomatoes. Sprinkle with salt and let stand 10 minutes. Drain off juice, add water and cook until tender. Add sweet pickles and keep mixture hot while preparing dressing. Mix remaining ingredients in the order listed. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Pour over tomato-pepper mixture, blend well. Pour into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin.

Note: This spread may be kept indefinitely when stored in a covered jar in an electric refrigerator.

Brownsburg Leads for Supremacy in 'B' Section

The Papineau League baseball play-offs, in the semi-final round, are commanding keen interest following the season's well conducted schedule of games.

Brownsburg and Hawkesbury, contenders in B Section, met at the Burg last Sunday for the third of their 3-out-of-5 series. The home team won this encounter 5-4, which makes the standing 2 to 1 for Brownsburg. Next Sunday's game, fourth in the series and possibly the deciding contest, takes place at Hawkesbury.

Meanwhile in the A Section of the league, Hull defeated Gatineau 9-3 last Sunday to establish a 2-1 lead in their third play-off.

Brownsburg is confident of entering the finals for a title series with the winners in A Section.

School Opening Ceremonies Augur Teamwork of Pupils, Staff, Parents For A Successful High School Year

Scholastic Record of 1947-48 Reviewed, Plans for Building Extension Discussed

The large number which gathered with Lachute High School pupils for the opening ceremonies, Friday evening at the Auditorium, points to a live interest in matters of local education — for the audience included not only the parents and friends but many who, although not so intimately concerned, are keenly enthusiastic for the school welfare.

James W. McGibbon, chairman of the Protestant School Commission, proved an able chairman of the evening's program; with him on the platform were fellow commissioners, representatives of other school bodies, of the local clergy, and of the prize donors.

Mr. McGibbon referred briefly to the school's successful record in the past year. Despite overcrowded accommodation there had been no serious epidemic of illness. He expressed appreciation to the teaching staff, which had been one of the best among the schools of the province, and added a word of acknowledgment to the school's two janitors for their conscientious work.

The present enrolment of pupils is approximately 500, the largest to date, said the chairman. To the extension of the school building — a major undertaking which had commanded much study and assiduous work by the Commissioners — Mr. McGibbon bespoke the full co-operation of all citizens to meet the needs of this large and growing enrolment. This was a venture involving a cost of over $400-thousand. Plans had been finally approved by the Department of Education, a large tract of land had been procured to provide for the new school and playground, and the project was about ready to proceed. Parents could rest assured that it would embrace every possible provision for the welfare and progress of the children, the chairman concluded. . Two framed sketches of the school exterior, prepared by the architect, were displayed for the interest of the audience.

During the evening selections were played by the school orchestra, and part songs were rendered by the Glee Club, both under the direction of Earl Morrison, M.Sc., and the performance of these groups drew warm applause. Their progress was also commended by several of the speakers — Principal F. H. J. Royal paying special tribute to the efforts of Mr. Morrison and of Burton Miller, M.A., in training the band, also to the support of the Lions Club, the Legion, and Brownsburg Rotary Club in contributing towards the cost of the instruments.

Mr. Royal gave the audience a more detailed review of the academic year 1947-48. There had been only 25% failures among the pupils, he recalled, and half of these had been promoted on trial to higher grades. This was the best record since 1927. In Grade XI 76% had passed the June examinations. In Grade X there had been only three failures.

For the current year there are 23 teachers; Mr. Royal here referred to the four new members of the staff, giving their academic background. He voiced a word of appreciation for the influence of the student council, both in curricular and extra-curricular activities. He also cordially thanked the parents for their co-operation. "The period of construction will be a difficult time", the Principal added, "but we will do our utmost to minimize the distractions and interruptions. Lachute is to have the largest Protestant high school in rural Quebec, and with this in view, nothing but the best will be sufficient on the part of your staff and all concerned".

Mr. R. Douglas Bradford, commissioner from the Chatham district, ably thanked the prize donors for their generous rewards to scholarly achievement; and on behalf of the donors Mrs. Geo. Y. Deacon, of Lachute Women's Institute, made a fitting reply. She commended the pupils not only on their school work but also on their musical accomplishments, and their self-confidence in social matters, evidenced in several functions during the past year.

Mr. Cottingham, as chairman of the Protestant Central School Board, spoke of the co-operative spirit existing between this body and the local board, and stressed the need of collaboration and understanding from all citizens, so that, together, they might operate in the best interests of the community.

Mr. Royal officiated at the prize presentation, and the winning pupils were warmly applauded.

Seated on the platform were James W. McGibbon, School Board chairman; Mrs. A. G. Leggett, Mrs. Geo. Y. Deacon, Mrs. Ernest McOuat, W.I. officers; the Rev. W. H. Britton, who gave the opening prayer, and the Rev. C. R. Lang; W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. and chairman of the Central Board; Fernand Legault, chairman of the Catholic School Board; Geo. Y. Deacon, member of the Quebec Protestant Committee of Education; Mayor Alex Bothwell; M. P. Reilly, member of the Brownsburg School Board; John McFaul, one of the prize donors; Principal F. H. J. Royal, Commissioners Ross Muir, Geo. F. Calder, Stuart J. McFaul and R. D. Bradford.

Held Criminally Responsible in Auto Fatality

Inquest in the death of Wilfrid Proulx, 38, who was instantly killed in a car accident on the St. Andrews-Lachute Road, was held here at the town hall, and a jury empanelled by Coroner Jules Lafleur, M.D., gave a verdict Tuesday evening holding Roger Giroux, 32-year-old driver of the car, criminally responsible.

The pair, both residents of Lachute, had driven to St. Andrews and Carillon together Friday evening around 9.00 o'clock, had visited hotels in both villages and left Carillon to return home around 1.00 a.m. At a point one mile north of St. Andrews, Giroux lost control of the sedan, which struck a rock and a telephone pole beside the road, and Proulx, seated beside the driver, was hurled out of the door, suffering a broken neck and fracture at the base of the skull, from which he died instantly. His lifeless body was suspended over a wire fence beside the road when other motorists reached the spot.

With Georges H. Héon, K.C., as crown attorney, nine witnesses were called. The jurors heard evidence of the attending physician, of two Lachute taxi-men who had arrived at the scene shortly afterwards, and of the hotel keepers, employees and habitués, some of whom testified they had seen the two men drinking. Traffic Officer H. Jones, of Lachute, described the position of the car, which had only one headlight effective. The driver, he said, claimed he had been blinded by lights from an approaching auto. The officer, believing Giroux to be under the influence of liquor, had placed the man under arrest.

Retiring for 20 minutes the jurors on their return gave a verdict of "involuntary manslaughter". However, when informed by the legal authority that this was ultra vires and their charge was one to be decided by the court, the jury, on further deliberation pronounced a verdict of criminal responsibility against the driver. The verdict carried a rider requesting the Attorney General to have traffic police give closer supervision as to car lights, and also special watch on the competence of auto drivers emerging from drinking-places.

Jurors on the case were Messrs. A. Leonard (chairman), Chas. Bedard, Claude St. Jacques, O. Dussault, P. E. Leger and Réné Matte.

Arundel Women's Inst. To Purchase Siren for Village Fire Protection

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute took place Wednesday evening, September 9, in the church hall, presided over by the president, Mrs. E. A. Bulley. Business was discussed, including a motion to buy a fire siren for Arundel, which was passed and carried. This will be purchased and presented to the municipal council. Final plans were completed for the School Fair, after which the meeting was turned over to the convener for the day, Mrs. Melvin Cooke.

The convener introduced Mrs. McCabe, M.A., who is English Supervisor for the county schools. Mrs. McCabe gave a very interesting address on the teachers' camping vacation at Lake Oolawan, Que., and presented a graphic word picture of experiences on this vacation. . . The speaker was thanked in the name of the Institute by Mrs. Gordon Cooke.

Boy Scout Troop at Brownsburg Visited By Dis. Commissioner

Brownsburg — Commissioner Chas. L. Duncan, of the Laurentian District Council of the Boy Scouts Association, was present for the season's opening meeting of the 1st Brownsburg Troop, held last Tuesday at the Consolidated School. He presented S. M. Arnold Waller with a Scoutmaster's hat plume, and wished him every success in guiding the troop. Mr. R. B. Elliott resigned after acting as Scoutmaster for three years. The Commissioner presented several service pins to Scouts having three and four years' service with the troop, also cheques to members of the Bulldog Patrol for having won the last inter-patrol competition. This patrol consists of Patrol Leader Jim Izzard, Second Dean Prosser, Scouts Paul Ingram, Russ Hazel, Arthur Morrison, Alex Brown and Paul Zsombor.

Reader Adds Voice to Complaints on Noise

TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Watchman.

Dear Sir:

I have read your well justified articles on the noise and traffic confusion on Main Street, and I agree with your criticism. This state of affairs is no credit to our town.

Re "householders taking the law in their own hands" your editorial last week did not mention a neighbor of mine who hurled two good eggs from his refrigerator at disturbers in the street — which is a high price to pay for peace and quiet in the small hours!

The racket is heard summer and winter. Horns tooting at a gas station and taxi stop near my home, are maddening. Added to this the juke boxes and rowdies, and the transports and livestock carriers in the early morning, make the din pretty continuous.

I am told there is at present only one town policeman, on call 24 hours a day. If the city fathers hire an assistant (which you state is their intention), I maintain the police staff will still be too small for the growing needs of this town.

Here's success to your editorials, which have presented the general feeling among taxpayers in the business centre of Main Street.

Sincerely,

Main Street & Sorry

Editor's Note: Thanks for your support. We thought it was going to be a lone campaign.

Overloaded Vehicle On New Road Surface

Carillon—Following complaints received at highway headquarters, that truckloads of granite were being transported from Rawcliffe to the Carillon Dam over new pavement along the riverfront road, and threatening to damage the asphalt surface — a Grenville trucker was stopped last Monday by the local traffic officers, Cst. Albert Legault and Cst. H. Jones. It is stated the truck and granite blocks weighed 26 tons, whereas the limit prescribed by road regulations is only 12 tons.

The truck driver was charged with violating the law and forbidden to haul loads exceeding the legal weight.

First Ceremony of Brownsb'g K. of C.

Brownsburg — The new council of the Knights of Columbus at Brownsburg held an impressive ceremony of initiation on Sunday last. It was the first initiation of the Council of St. Louis de France, No. 3120, and the proceedings were held at the Auditorium in Lachute. The 60 candidates and 100 members, preceded by the cadet corps band, marched from the council hall at 6.45 a.m. to St. Louis de France Church where they received Holy Communion and attended a special Mass celebrated by Brother Rev. Paul Manseau. The sermon was preached by the Council Chaplain, the Rev. V. Bouchard, P.P. Grand Knight Albini Brunelle was in charge of the first and second degrees, assisted by Bro. J. D. Lepine as Deputy Grand Knight. Bro. Richard Neveu was Chancellor; Bro. Ernest Lavoie, Warden; and Bros. Antoine Lepage and Alcide Larose were Inside and Outside Guards. The third degree was under the charge of Bro. Dr. E. Lalande, District Deputy.

When some people go on holidays they really like a complete change. Just like two local men who spent a holiday at the Ohio Club on Lake of the Woods. One was dressed up as Robinson Crusoe and the other like Huckleberry Finn.

Six Stand Trial, Payroll Robbery

Before Justice H. Barrette at St. Jerome last Friday, two men from this district, and four from Montreal, faced charges arising out of the Canadian Refractories Ltd. payroll robbery on February 18 last. The sum of $25,510 was stolen from the safe in the mine office on that date, and the arrests followed a lengthy investigation by provincial police and the R.C.M.P.

Accused are Garnet McRae and Harold McRae, of the Kilmar-Avoca district, charged with conspiring to commit a robbery, and also with breaking and entering; the four with whom they allegedly collaborated — Douglas Ramsay, John White (colored), Bill Morgan and Delphis Hamel — are charged with the payroll robbery. Preliminary hearing is set for October 12.

Property or cash bail was furnished by the accused, pending trial — all with the exception of Hamel, who is under sentence on other counts and is held without bail. Bail in the case of the local men was $950 for Harold McRae and $3,000 for Garnet McRae.

Georges H. Héon, K.C., is prosecuting attorney in this case, while counsel for the defendants are Messrs. Lucien Gendron, Jacques Baudoin and Myer Gross.

Remembering Canadians Who Died at Dieppe

—Central Press Canadian

A one-armed Canadian veteran of World War I is here seen in silent contemplation at the graves of Canadian Commandos who did not come back from the Dieppe raid of August 19, 1942. This mourner was one of a delegation which attended exercises commemorating the ill-fated raid.

First Occasion Here, Jurors and Witnesses To Be Remunerated

First application here of the Quebec law which became effective September 1, to provide recompense for witnesses and jurymen at a coroner's inquest, was the case of a fatal car accident investigated before a jury at the Lachute town hall on Tuesday evening. The six "good men and true", and a total of eight witnesses, will receive remuneration for their time and services.

High Triumphs for Arnoldwold Horses At Toronto Exhib'n

By Colin A. Gravenor

Toronto — The towering figure of Gilbert E. Arnold is traditionally, and literally, outstanding at the Coliseum both for the Canadian National Exhibition and the Royal Winter Fair Horse Show, but no triumph has been more satisfying than his amazing victories in the breeding classes at the 1948 show.

Just back from international judging assignments. Mr. Arnold "cleaned up" in the Standard Bred classes with his "American Hal". The great stud was grand champion and won in every class he was shown in.

Arnoldwold horses also piled up the following record: Belgian classes — Stallion foaled in 1947, first, "Arnoldwold King"; Stallion foaled in 1946, first, "Kemptville Sir Midas"; Stallion foaled 1945; first, "Kemptville S. J. Farceur"; Stallion foaled prior to January 1, 1945, first, "Rock Creek"; champion Senior Stallion, "Rock Creek"; Reserve Sen. Champion, "Kemptville"; Grand Champion stallion, "Rock Creek"; Reserve Champion, "Kemptville A. S. J. Farceur"; Junior Champion Stallion, "Kemptville A. S. Sir Midas".

On the filly side Arnold came second in the Filly foaled 1948, with "Arnoldwold Docina"; first in Filly foaled 1946, with "Arnoldwold Doxiana"; fourth in the Filly foaled 1945, with "Arnoldwold Dolly", and won the Brood Mare with foal at side, with "Arnoldwold Docetta".

To wind up the classes, which attracted 131 entries, he won the two animals progeny of one mare, captured the three animals, and the best string of five, also making a clean sweep in the Belgian Mare events. The Senior Champion mare was his "Arnoldwold Docetta", also Grand Champion; the Junior Champion was "Arnoldwold Doxiana".

The record was overwhelmingly in favor of Arnold, who won 18 out of the 22 Belgian breeding classes, an all-time record for the C.N.E. show.

The only other Quebecer piling up the wins was from Mont Tremblant, James Franceschini winning both "on the line" in saddle and hackney classes. He had captured nine first awards in the early stages of the show.

Auto Collision at Village of Pte. au Chene

In the village of Pte. au Chene at 11 o'clock Friday night, a traffic collision occurred when a party of Air Force officers were proceeding from Lachine to Ottawa and their car crashed into an auto driven by Maurice Joanisse, of Fassett. It is stated by the police that Joanisse, driving eastward, cut across the highway to stop at a restaurant, driving into the path of the westbound car. The six R.C.A.F. officers were in a car owned and operated by F/O Ruggles Barton. Both autos were badly damaged, but no injuries were incurred.

Resort Operator Is Beaten by Thugs

St. Sauveur — N. Nymark, owner of Nymark's Lodge, was struck on the head with the end of a revolver in the early morning as he tangled with thieves who were attempting to carry off the hotel's safe, just recently. The thugs, one a woman, escaped in Nymark's car, which was later recovered by police at Shawbridge.

The robbery attempt was staged at 3.45 a.m. while guests and staff members were asleep. Nymark told the Provincial Police that he heard noises in his office and on investigation saw the gang hauling out the safe by cables.

When the intruders noticed him, he said, one of them hit him over the head with a revolver butt.

Nymark succeeded in giving the alarm through the fire protection system.

In Canadian cities there are about 60 stores of various kinds for each 3,000 people.

Women's Institute Arundel Branch Sponsors Juvenile Fair and Sports

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — The second School Fair in this community was held Saturday, September 11, the weatherman favoring with ideal weather. The fair was under sponsorship of Arundel Women's Institute, and arrangements were in the capable hands of the convener of Education, Mrs. Melvin Cooke, assisted by her committee.

The children began to bring their exhibits around 10 o'clock, and from then on until the time the judging was over, it was a busy session. The judges in the exhibit room were Mrs. G. McGibbon, of Lachute; Mr. Hamilton Marshall, B.S.A., district inspector of the Fruit and Vegetable Division, Federal Department of Agriculture; and Mr. A. Bothwell, Agronome for Argenteuil.

During the morning races were held for the children, and in the afternoon the calf show took place. After the judging of the animals, races were run for married ladies and for men, which provided amusement especially among the young folk.

Covering the Fair as a news feature, Miss Edgar May, CBC commentator for station CBM, gave an excellent broadcast of the event on her Monday morning program, which was heard by numerous interested listeners in this district.

Among special guests was also a delegation of officers from the Morin Heights Women's Institute, who attended to see how the Fair was organized so that they, too, could stage a School Fair at Morin Heights sometime in the future.

Refreshments were sold on the grounds, under the convenership of Mrs. Val Swail, Mrs. Alec Dewar and Mrs. Douglas Cooke.

At the close of the afternoon, the distribution of prizes took place in one of the classrooms, as a heavy rain shower made this necessary. Dr. R. B. Henry, in his capacity as Mayor, addressed the gathering, then distributed the prizes for the exhibits and the races; the president of the W.I., Mrs. E. A. Bulley, thanked the gathering for their support, and the pupils for their work.

The prize list will be published in a later issue.

"In Brownsburg"

(Specially Contributed)

Episcopal Visit

His Lordship Archbishop Vachon paid his triennial visit to St. Louis de France parish on Monday, and administered the sacrament of confirmation to almost 200 children and adults. The visitation was marked by impressive ceremonial rites, of the beautiful pageantry and liturgy associated with the Catholic Church. The ceremonies extended over a period of several hours and were attended by large numbers of the faithful. The children were under the direction of the Sisters of the Holy Cross, whose training was a marvel of order and precision. The Rev. Father Paul Manseau prepared and presented a number of adult converts, and His Lordship expressed pleasure on receiving them into the blessing of "our Holy Mother the Church". Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lacasse were the general sponsors at the reception. The church was beautifully decorated for this pious occasion.

Back to School

Brownsburg children trooped back to school last week in larger numbers than ever before. There was a lighthearted gaiety in the music of their pattering feet, which was not altogether accounted for by the sidewalks which the school board provided for their safety and convenience! There was music in their laughter also, in the chatter from the renewal of lapsed acquaintance, and in the joyous salutations which they exchanged. May it long continue so! Too soon will they have to face the drab, uncertain realities of life, be ushered into the turmoil of regrets and disillusionments which make up the headlines of today, and of which we have no assurance of betterment tomorrow. We of the previous generation are bequeathing a heritage of which we cannot feel much pride.

Fire Protection

Fire Chief A. W. Robbins presented an interesting report to the last meeting of the Municipal Council. During an extensive survey of fire hazards carried out by the chief and his very active brigade, Mr. Robins reported they had found several defective chimneys which were highly dangerous not only to the owners but to the adjoining householders. In one case a new chimney just about to be put into use was of single brick, contrary to all fire regulations and to a by-law of the council. He had perforce to condemn such structures, and had to point out to owners in the case of some new buildings, that a clearance of twice the diameter of the stovepipe must be available over a chimney entrance.

There were several practices held during the period, and three fires were dealt with, from which there was no material damage.

The council commended Chief Robins on his lucid report, and authorized him to act as building inspector for fire prevention purposes, with power to represent the council and authority to prevent the erection, or recommend removal, of dangerous chimneys or other fire hazards.

LEVEL CROSSINGS OBSOLETE

Lamentable though it is, many motorists pay little attention to level crossings, and even a clear view and warning lights and bells do not deter the foolhardy from trying to beat the trains. Eventually, highways must go either over or under the railway tracks, for there seems to be no other way to avoid a continuance of level crossing accidents and fatalities.

Lady Resident Is Widely Mourned

Late Mrs. Peter Dobbie

The death of Mrs. Peter Dobbie, a well known resident of this town, occurred Sunday evening, September 12, at her home, 232 Main Street, following a lengthy illness.

The former Sarah Jane McGalliard, she was born in 1871 at Avoca, the elder daughter of Gideon McGalliard and his wife Jane Craig. She was married September 13, 1899, to the late Peter Dobbie, then of Harrington East, and moved to Lachute in the year 1919. The late Mrs. Dobbie was a member of the United Church. Her kindly sincerity won the friendship of a wide acquaintanceship in this district.

Her husband predeceased her three years ago, and surviving are two daughters and two sons — Mrs. J. N. Gillies (Grace), of New Carlisle, Que., and Maud, of Lachute; John, of Harrington, and Gordon, of Lachute; six grandchildren, Anne Gillies, Robert and Mary Fay Dobbie, of Harrington, Hugh, Bruce and Nancy Dobbie, of Lachute; also her two brothers, Mr. John McGalliard, of Lachute, and Mr. Hugh McGalliard, of North Bay, Ont.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at Lachute United Church, where a large number of residents and sympathizing friends gathered to pay their last tribute. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough conducted the service and interment was made at the local cemetery. A profusion of flowers bore token of the community's esteem.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. D. J. Shaw, of Harrington, Roy Dobbie, of Cushing, Albert Cleland, of St. Hermas, G. A. Brown, A. F. Bothwell and Edward M. Jones, of Lachute.

Prominent Mont'l Lady Was Associated Here

Late Mrs. Lemuel Cushing

Stricken while on vacation at her summer home in Notre Dame du Portage, Mrs. Lemuel Cushing, of Westmount, well known for her community welfare work in Montreal, died last Thursday in hospital. She was in her 74th year.

Mrs. Cushing, the former Florence Grace Davis, was born at St. Andrews East, but spent the greater part of her life in Westmount. However, she was known here as a visitor among relatives in the community which bears her name, and her personality and sphere of endeavors were sincerely appreciated. Prominent in Montreal for her interest in welfare and church work, she was for many years associated with the Welfare Federation and the Canadian Red Cross, and with the ladies' auxiliary of St. Andrew's United Church, Westmount.

She is survived by her husband and two sons, John C. and Gerald K. Cushing; a daughter, Mrs. A. J. D. Wright; a sister, Mrs. R. A. Graham, of Winnipeg; and a brother, Dr. Crosbie Davis, of Pasadena, Cal.

The funeral was held Saturday in Montreal.

PLEA FOR HOUSING

Gatineau LINES

The introduction of a form of electricity rationing in Ontario this week lays emphasis on the fact that the water reserves of all power plants in both Ontario and Quebec are running dangerously low. They will remain low — might even go considerably lower—unless there are exceptionally heavy rains this fall.

Gatineau Power has been able so far to make good use of the storage dams — built years ago to regulate the river flow and to help in maintaining a steady flow of electricity over its lines. The fact remains, however, that even Gatineau is feeling the pinch of falling water levels. As you know, in this country most electricity is generated by harnessing the power of moving water, and if there is no water there isn't any electricity either.

Many people will recall that Gatineau maintained its service throughout last winter when serious power shortages developed elsewhere in the country. What will happen this year depends on how well the autumn rainfall helps refill depleted rivers and lakes. The level of water at the power stations is lower this year than it was last.

Every customer of Gatineau can help avoid the inconvenience of electricity cut-off, by making sure that every bit of power used is employed to good advantage. Power wasted today may lead to a shortage of power later.

The causes of the present growing power shortage are two-fold; failing water supplies and increased demand for electricity. The water supply is shrinking because there was a dry autumn last year, a below-normal amount of snow last winter, and a below-normal fall of rain this summer. At the same time, demand for electricity has been rising steadily because more and more Gatineau customers have been installing heavy appliances in recent months to gain the advantages of electrical living at low rates. To owners of heavy appliances — water heaters, pumps, stoves, etc., — we make a special appeal for cautious use over the next few months.

ENGLISH JOURNEY

By WALTER R. LEGGE

ARTICLE NO. 7

Amersham itself is an interesting old town with many ancient buildings and inns, and the parish church of St. Mary, built of flint and dating from the 14th century, contains many memorials to the Drake family and others.

The old market hall, dating from 1682, stands almost in the centre of High street with an open piazza on the street level, and there are six almshouses dating from 1657. Two of the old coaching inns "Ye Olde Griffin" and "The King's Arms" are well worth visiting.

Less than ten miles away from Amersham is Berkhampstead where the ruins of an old castle can be visited. These are preserved among the Ancient Monuments and Historic Buildings, although little remains of the castle itself which dated from 1066, and was mostly built between then and 1186. It was surrounded by two distinct moats which though now dry, are still there.

At Berkhamstead is part of the canal system leading to the north and it was interesting to watch two of the long narrow canal boats being lifted through the locks there in the same manner as has been done for probably centuries.

One of the most interesting spots in England within easy bus reach from Amersham is the city of St. Albans, where stands the ancient Abbey and Cathedral. For more than 1600 years a church has stood on the site of St. Albans Abbey, now the Cathedral.

A Roman soldier named Alban, who had become a Christian, achieved immortal fame by sheltering Amphibalus, a British priest, for which he was beheaded on the hill where St. Albans Cathedral now stands, thereby becoming Britain's first martyr. Ten years later, the Roman Emperor, Constantine, becoming a Christian, a small church was built on the site. This was succeeded by an Abbey built in the eighth century, and the present church was started in 1077.

Its exterior architecture does not compare with most of the other cathedrals in England, but it is the second longest, being only exceeded by Winchester. Its great length, 550 feet, gives the interior a wonderful aspect of grandeur and many of the features such as the screen have some exquisite carving. This screen is considered one of the best in England.

The original shrine of St. Alban was broken into some two thousand pieces at the Dissolution but has been very cleverly pieced together again. As in all the cathedrals, there is a wealth of ancient memorials of all kinds.

When I visited St. Albans at the end of May, stands were being erected for the celebration in June of the one thousandth anniversary of three other of the city's churches, St. Michael's, St. Peter's and St. Stephen's, all of which were founded in 948 by Abbot Ulsinus. St. Michael's retains much of the original work, but the other two have been largely rebuilt.

Alongside the Cathedral is the Great Gate of the Monastery which was built in 1362. This was also used as a prison and the dungeons in which offenders were confined still exist below the building.

Other interesting buildings in the city are the ancient clock tower dating from 1410 with its bell cast in 1335, and the inn, "Ye Old Fighting Cocks", which was formerly the fishing lodge of the Monastery, and is reputed to be one of the oldest inhabited houses in the country.

At St. Albans are located some of the finest Roman ruins in England, the remains of the ancient city of Verulamium. Julius Caesar in his "De Bello Gallico" told of having to capture this British stronghold during his invasion in 54 B.C. It was later raised to the dignity of a "municipium" an honor that was not reached by any other city in Roman Britain.

It stood on the famous Roman road known as Watling street upon which it was one of the principal places.

Most Roman settlements were more or less obliterated by having later cities built over them, but in this case the city of St. Albans was built nearby instead of on the same site. After the Romans left about 410 A.D. the city fell into decay and gradually was covered with earth. It is said that such ruins become covered by about a foot or earth in each hundred years so that Verulamium is now under about 12 to 15 feet of earth.

About 1930 excavation was started and a wealth of relics were discovered including some of the finest Roman mosaics ever found. Enclosed in a building which preserves it just as it was originally built, is the mosaic floor of the warming room of a Roman bath.

This like the Roman ruins at Bath, proves that the Romans were masters of the art of central heating, something that the modern English people have not yet learned.

There is also a large museum in which are several Roman mosaics and masses of pottery, coins, building materials, lamps, personal ornaments, tools, and other articles recovered from the ruins.

It was in this building that I received the only rebuke I had in England for taking photographs. The curator considered that my camera was "no amateur one" and he was convinced I was taking pictures for commercial purposes. A few words of explanation, however, put everything right.

Near the museum is a Roman theatre, the only one discovered in Britain, which is estimated to have provided accommodation for about 1600 people. It is open for inspection by visitors for a very small fee.

There are many picturesque old buildings on the streets of St. Albans which date back for many centuries. This area is not as well known to Canadians as it should be.

Beaconsfield has a lovely old church and in its churchyard is the tomb of the 17th century poet Edmund Waller. There are old stocks, tombs and memorials and a half timbered Tudor house full of antique furniture which was the Rectory until 1868. It was a nunnery as early as 1270.

G. K. Chesterton is a famous man who is buried at Beaconsfield, and another is Viscount Burnham who was the head of the London Daily Telegraph until his death in 1933.

Not far away is Burnham near where the famous Burnham Beeches are located.

Only three or four miles by a lovely road from Amersham is Chesham. St. Mary's Church there is an interesting link with the past and in the priest's room over the porch was confined the martyr Thomas Harding on the eve of his being burnt at the stake on May 30, 1532. There are small square windows in both the North and South walls with saddlebars and stanchions which possibly were leper windows, where lepers could stand outside the church and follow the services.

In all probability the original of the Mad Hatter of Alice in Wonderland was Roger Crab of Chesham. He was a "haberdasher of hats" at Chesham and showed many signs of madness such as becoming a vegetarian and drinking water, according to local legends.

Marlowe is a very beautiful old town located on the Thames which there forms the boundary between Buckinghamshire and

The Economy of Using the Best

"EVERYTHING TO BUILD ANYTHING"

The economy of using the best possible materials is made apparent in the upkeep problem. A house or business building may be "thrown together" with cheap material, and it may "look all right," but after it has stood the shock of weather, the real test comes.

It is false economy to use poor materials — and we so advise everyone who buys from us. Our success is due to honesty in materials and prices.

An important weight in the balance of nature is the Prairie Chicken. By destroying weed seeds, grasshoppers and other insects, it makes the farmer's work easier and more profitable . . . it helps protect the food you eat.

The Prairie Chicken is a fine game-bird too. Given fair protection, it thrives near farms and towns and can contend with its natural enemies. But bush-fires and over-hunting are two enemies it cannot successfully fight against. The Prairie Chicken needs our help in reducing these threats to its survival.

The Heath Hen, a close relative of the Prairie Chicken, has been extinct since 1933. The forces that exterminated the Heath Hen can destroy the Prairie Chicken unless we act now to protect it.

Schooling in A Bigger Way

SOME realization of the responsibility imposed upon Lachute School Commission, in constructing a school extension to cost over $400,000, was brought home to an audience at the High School opening ceremonies last week. But the need for this extension is undisputed, the project is well in hand, and it behooves us neither to commiserate nor to condone — the commissioners have an imperative job, and they are tackling it well.

It is timely to recall that big decisions have confronted school administrators, here and elsewhere, in the past; and it is only by determined progress, and courage in the face of opposition, that recognition has been won for the demands of education. In local, and in the broader legislative spheres, such recognition is now accorded in a measure more fitting to its merits.

History recalls the growing pains, the first unsteady strides of education. We read, for instance, that in the year 1647 the Massachusetts State Colony passed legislation beginning with the famous words, "It being one chiefe project of ye ould deluder, Satan, to keepe men from the knowledge of ye Scriptures." The law ordered that every town with 50 householders should at once appoint a teacher of reading and writing and provide for his wages, and that every town with 100 householders should provide for a grammar school to prepare youth for the university. Three hundred years ago, there was no precedent for such a piece of legislation, and it was considered as daring as any document of American history.

We have come a long way. . Tommy and Mary, riding to school in a modern bus or snowmobile, give scant thought to the evolution of education; they little realize the changes it has undergone since Granma and Granpa went to school. But the path of progress is marked with milestones of foresight and determination — a spirit which is much alive, and promising a greater future.

"Better Be Safe"

CHILD HEALTH authorities are in accord when it comes to emphasizing the value of immunization in protecting the health and lives of children. The current week is "National Immunization Week", and the theme merits such attention that The Watchman re-echoes the reminder to parents published in its last issue.

Dr. Elizabeth Chant Robertson, of the University of Toronto's Department of Pediatrics, is one child health expert who finds it difficult to believe that "in these enlightened days" there are still people who doubt the value of immunization. In an article "Better Be Safe", in the current issue of "Health", this authority remarks, "it is even harder to believe that there are actually people in Canada who know nothing at all about it, and who don't know what immunization means".

To spread the gospel of immunization and to emphasize to parents of children who have not been protected against such diseases as diphtheria, whooping cough, smallpox and tuberculosis, the Health League of Canada sponsors "National Immunization Week". In co-operation with official health departments, the League is attempting to make Canadians realize that the 360 deaths in Canada last year from diphtheria and whooping cough were needless.

It is known that toxoid prevents diphtheria, that whooping cough vaccine checks whooping cough, and that vaccination has just about wiped out smallpox.

Here is what Dr. Robertson has to say about these three diseases and their preventives:

Diphtheria is extremely dangerous in young children under five years of age. It might be possible to avoid contact with people who have diphtheria and to avoid the germs in milk by pasteurization, but it is impossible, except by use of toxoid, to prevent contracting it from "carriers" — persons who are not ill themselves but who carry the dangerous germs in their noses and throats. Dr. Robertson emphasizes that diphtheria toxoid is absolutely harmless and should be given first to children when they are six months old. She emphasizes the value of "booster" doses later on.

Whooping cough for years has been regarded too lightly, the writer continues. It is serious in children under two years of age. A whooping cough vaccine has been produced which is 80% effective as a complete preventative, while the protection obtained by the other 20%, while not complete, is sufficient to make the disease much less severe. Preparations containing both toxoid and whooping cough vaccine are now available.

Smallpox is rare in Canada because of accination. However, Dr. Robertson warns that chances cannot be taken with the disease. The more unvaccinated people there are, the more chance there is of an epidemic.

An Answer to Communism

PEOPLE are waking up to the fact that Communism is not merely a political or an economic system, but an ideology. You can't shoot an idea, buy it off, or out-manoeuvre it politically. Spy scares, trials and a red rash of hysteria, don't deal with it either.

Too few people see it as part of the deadly cancer of materialism which has thrived on democracy's apathy and softness. Men have sold their souls and their nations to Communism because they have seen no better way to answer the class hatred of our age. In the great democracies of the world that is a strange paradox. Now our statesmen awaken to find themselves on the defensive.

John Foster Dulles put his finger on the answer when he said, "The Communist problem cannot be solved by trying to crush Communism by force. . . The solution is for those who have faith to exert themselves more vigorously to translate their faith into works". Few people realize that moral weakness is the soft underbelly of Communism.

Dr. Chen Li-fu, vice-president of the Chinese Parliament, summed up his observations after a tour of America and Europe interviewing presidents, prime ministers, and cabinet ministers: "The most effective answer to Communism is the moral force of a superior ideology which is the basis of democracy. With this I have seen how Communists can be changed. A moral re-armament of the democracies will be their surest way to answer this danger and win over the Communists."

The vice-president said that he had seen during his tour the need for a number of changes in his government, and in himself, that "would make democracy in China more effective". He also said he hoped the next session of Parliament would initiate new steps in that direction.

Inflationary Prices

DEMANDS are being made that the Government do something drastic to hold down the cost of living, with particular reference to foods.

There are open to the Government two possible courses — says an editorial in The Ottawa Farm Journal. It could subsidize the producers of, say, meat and dairy products; or it could fix prices at what it might consider a fair level without any subsidy.

In the first case the consumer would pay part of the price of goods direct to the retailer and part through his taxes. Only in a technical sense would the cost of living be affected, and it would be a delusion to think otherwise.

In the second case, production would fall off and black markets would flourish. The farmers would refuse to produce goods and sell at a loss, while paying uncontrolled prices for what they must buy. We might have low prices but with them so great a shortage of supplies as to cause hardship and discontent.

High food prices are not a phenomenon peculiar to this country, of course, and there is little we can do to halt this inflationary movement. Subsidies are not the answer.

RIGHT from the shoulder, comes this editorial from the Aylmer Express: Capitalism has given you and everyone here the standard of living that is the envy of the world because Canadians and Americans were willing to work for what they got. They delivered value and then rightfully demanded they be paid for it. We'd better get back to that system quickly — the only one in history that has worked successfully for the betterment of all mankind.

English Journey

Berkshire, and crossed by a beautiful bridge.

In the centre of the town is a memorial to the memory of Charles Frohman the famous American theatrical producer who was drowned when the Lusitania was sunk in 1915.

Close by is a modern war memorial bearing this inscription:

"Sons of this place
Let this of you be said,
That you who live
Are worthy of your dead
These gave their lives
That you who live may reap
A riper harvest,
E're you fall asleep."

Buckinghamshire has no very large places, two of the largest ones being High Wycombe and Aylesbury, both of which are well worth a visit. Both places have interesting markets on market days and I was fortunate in seeing these markets in operation. These open air markets under canvas have stalls selling clothes, jewelry, used postage stamps for collectors, fish, books, kitchenware, vegetables and a wide variety of other articles. Aylesbury has a very large cattle and sheep market also.

At Aylesbury are some delightful ancient inns two of the best being the "King's Head" and the "Bull's Head". The King's Head stands at the top of the market place almost hidden behind other buildings and is so unusual that it is now the property of the National Trust although still used as a hotel. It is a remarkable Tudor building with medieval gateway, rare twenty light wood mullioned windows set with heraldic glass and has wattle and daub walls.

The next village to Aylesbury is Waddesdon where my mother and father, the late Mr. and Mrs. George Legge were married. The church of St. Michael and All Angels dates from 1190 when the nave and south aisle were built until 1340 when the north aisle was completed. It is a splendid old building with a Norman tower which I climbed in order to enjoy the view of the surrounding countryside which includes the Rothschild estate.

At Tring there is a fine large church dating from the 13th century although there was a former stone church on the same site as early as 1100. Many ancient churches have most peculiar carvings and 14 in this church, one on each of the trusses, may be taken as typical examples. These are stone carvings of (1) a monster with a woman's head and dragon's wings (2) a beast swallowing a man (3) a wild boar (4) a wild man (5) an antelope with tusks (6) a dog with a collar (7) an angel with a shield (8) a fox carrying a goose on its back (9) a monkey with a bottle and a book (10) a griffin devouring a man in armour (11) a lion holding a shield (12) a dragon or lizard (13) a bear, chained and muzzled (14) a dog fighting a dragon. Such carvings really had no special meaning but were included as ornaments by workmen.

At Tring we were royally received by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Farguhar at their home "Hawkwell". They are former residents of Canada and although they have been living in England for some thirty years are as refreshingly Canadian as if they had only just arrived. During the war they entertained many Canadians.

Other delightful spots I visited in the neighborhood were Aldbury, Wendover, Chenies, Little Missenden, Great Missenden, Seer Green and many other places.

Space prevents describing more of them in detail and I must move on to Oxfordshire and other places.

Publicizing the Facts About Canada

"One of Canada's chief grouses is that many people in Britain and most Americans are entirely ignorant of her geography and way of life," says Mr. Punch's special correspondent in a recent issue of that publication, under the title, "An Innocent in Canada".

The correspondent goes on to say that the Americans, it seems, "have the most fantastic notions about their northern neighbors, visualize them as a gang of semi-civilized nomads, Red Indians and poor whites, scraping for edible mosses in the perpetual snows of the tundra.

"I am told," the correspondent continues, "that Yankee tourists sometimes arrive in Winnipeg for their mid-summer holidays lavishly equipped with furs and ski-boots and prepared to exist solely on pemmican and old boot-laces."

While we have plenty of American friends who know better, it is a fact that this great country of ours needs a campaign of enlightenment abroad to tell the world what an up-and-coming place Canada really is.

One real effort in this direction to come to our notice is a little publication called "Canada Today", recently published by the Bank of Montreal. It is a pocket-sized brochure of 100 pages, copiously illustrated. It tells, with numerous facts, and not too many figures, the story of Canada, her resources and her people. It is an immensely readable story of Canada which shows this country as living on a standard to all intents and purposes the same as that of the United States — a country which has made major contributions to industrial, scientific and cultural advancement — a country of almost unlimited resources and an industrial output that has trebled in value since 1939.

We understand that thousands of copies of "Canada Today" were distributed to visitors at the recent Canadian International Trade Fair and that additional thousands have been sent to all kinds of business and financial people abroad who may be interested in trading with Canada. It is also receiving some distribution to tourists and prospective emigrants to Canada.

The effort is a commendable one that should help break down the ignorance about Canada abroad. However, it can also serve a real purpose at home, in selling Canada to Canadians, and with this in view, limited quantities are being made available to school libraries and to teachers where class-work includes study of the economic and industrial development of the country.

Poultrymen Hit By B. C. Floods

Chilliwack, B.C. (CP) — The poultrymen of the stricken Fraser Valley sold or lost 40,000 birds during the Fraser River floods, it was reported at a meeting here of the Rehabilitation Commission.

One of the hardest hit was T. H. Lancaster of Matsqui who lost 1,000 birds. There are about 6,200 birds left of the 13,400 in the Matsqui district before the flood.

The Rehabilitation Commission has been asked to grant a four months' feed credit to be used by flooded-out poultrymen when they start rebuilding flocks, probably in January. The aid would amount to approximately $1 for each bird sold or lost during the flood.

Marriage Vows at St. Paul's, Hawkesb'y

Allen - Bates

Multi-colored gladioli decorated St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Hawkesbury, Ontario, on Saturday afternoon, September 11, when Miss Muriel Elsie Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Bates, became the bride of George Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, of Hawkesbury. The Rev. A. R. Hancock officiated. Mr. William Allen was at the organ and Mrs. Keith Rutherford sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of slipper satin. The fitted bodice was fastened down the back with tiny buttons, having a sweetheart neckline, with long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a small poke bonnet of slipper satin, and she carried a bouquet of Better Times roses. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Mary Bates, as maid of honor for her sister, and Miss Audrey McFeeters and Miss Nancy Kerrison, R.N., of Montreal, as bridesmaids, were in gowns of moire taffeta with fitted bodices, fastening down the back with tiny buttons and ending in a small bustle and full skirt—Miss Bates being in yellow, and carrying salmon-colored gladioli, Miss McFeeters in turquoise with peach gladioli, and Miss Kerrison in orchid with fuchsia gladioli. They wore matching headdresses with shoulder-length veils.

Mr. Donald Fletcher acted as best man for his cousin, with Mr. Arthur Bates and Mr. Keith Rutherford as ushers.

Mrs. Bates, the bride's mother, was in a street-length gown of dove grey with black accessories, and wore a corsage of fuchsia gladioli. Mrs. Allen, mother of the bridegroom, wore a street-length dress of Royal blue with maroon accessories, and a corsage of peach gladioli.

The reception was held at the Abenaki Club, where the bride's table, centred with the wedding cake, was arranged with multi-colored gladioli and lighted candles. Later Mr. and Mrs. Allen left for Quebec City and the Eastern Townships — the bride travelling in a mulberry gabardine suit with black accessories. They will reside in Hawkesbury. Many out of town guests were present.

Mrs. Allen is a graduate of the Royal Victoria Hospital school of nursing.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY

A party of tourists were struggling with bad roads just south of Carman and became bogged down. A neighborhood farmer appeared and, for a small consideration of $20 each, he kindly consented to pull the three cars through the tough spot. It is bad enough to travel over the present highway without having robbery added to the discomfort.

Concluding Service in Pentecostal Series Here

Concluding service in the Pentecostal series in Lachute was held Sunday at the McArthur Hall. During the program Evangelist Norman Schlarbaum, in the absence of Evangelist Harold Grant, expressed their gratitude to everyone who had supported the evangelistic effort. He remembered especially the staff of The Watchman for their co-operation in reporting the meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Carter and their daughter, Lois, of Montreal, sang the gospel message, and voluntarily remained after the service for a friendly fireside hour. During this period the Carter family teamed up and sang, "There is No Disappointment in Heaven" and "The Old Rugged Cross". Mr. and Mrs. Carter's duet, "The Sinner and the Song", was unique in that the chorus is composed of the three verses of "Jesus Lover of My Soul." Miss Lois Carter accompanied at the piano throughout the whole service.

The message of the evening was based on Jeremiah's declaration, "The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved". This text was coupled with the parable that the Lord Jesus Christ told in Luke 13: 1-9, of a fig tree owner going at harvest time to gather the figs. When he finds no fruit, only leaves, he orders the tree to be cut down, because for the past three years it has borne no figs. The dresser of the tree pleads with his master to give him another year to cultivate the tree, on the condition that if it still fails to bear any fruit, it shall be cut down.

In interpreting the parable, the speaker told his listeners that they are "the planting of the Lord", and that God expects the fruit of holiness and obedience to His will in their lives; that God expects Christians to manifest the fruit of the Spirit — love, joy, peace — in their lives, "until they bear not only the fruits of righteousness by Christ Jesus, but also more and eventually much fruit".

The only fruit that God expects of the sinner is fruits worthy of repentance. The scriptures abound with preachers of repentance, including Peter, Paul, John the Baptist, and the Lord Jesus Christ who declared, "Repent ye and believe the Gospel". The second fruit expected was the result of the reading of the Bible, God's inspired Word. This statement was based on Jesus' parable of the seed that was sown on thorny, wayside, rocky, and good soil. This seed, the Word of God, in some cases brought forth no fruit to perfection, while in other lives it yielded an hundredfold increase. This heart preparation of repentance and receiving God's Word, brings the sinner to the place called Calvary, where they can be grafted into the true vine, the Lord Jesus Christ.

The sermon had a surprise ending, as the evangelist asked his congregation if the tree in Jesus' parable was ever cut down. The Bible gives no answer to this question. "In like manner, it is up to each one of us to accept Christ as our Saviour, and thus avoid the danger of hearing God's voice in judgment cry out, 'Cut that sinner down, why cumbereth he the earth?' "

Patricia Davis Bride in Ceremony at Morin Hts.

Bickerdike - Davis

The marriage of Miss Frances Patricia Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Douglas Davis, of Montreal and Morin Heights, and Mr. Frank Alfred Bickerdike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Bickerdike, of Montreal, took place at the United Church in Morin Heights last Saturday afternoon at half-past four o'clock, the Rev. Charles Wood officiating. Mrs. Noel Hardy sang two solos, accompanied by Mrs. E. J. Kendall. Autumn flowers adorned the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Edwardian period dress of blush satin, fashioned with tight waist, bustle, and skirt flowing into a slight train. Her finger-tip veil of blush tulle illusion was held by a coronet of satin cords, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with white gladioli blossoms.

The maid of honor, Miss Shirley Cameron, wore a gold moire taffeta dress, having a fitted bodice with winged neckline forming short sleeves, and a bouffant skirt. Her small halo hat was made of gold moire cord. The other attendants, Miss Lorna Campbell and Mrs. Douglas Paterson, the latter a sister of the bridegroom, were similarly attired in autumn green. All three carried bouquets of gladioli blossoms in tones of copper and bronze.

Mr. C. Gordon Bickerdike was his brother's best man, while the ushers were Mr. Baird S. Davis, the bride's brother, and Mr. Chesley Allen, of St. Lambert.

Mrs. Davis, the bride's mother, wore a street-length dress of Indian copper French crepe, with matching hat trimmed with a blue feather, black accessories, and a corsage cluster of cream gladioli. Mrs. Bickerdike, mother of the bridegroom, wore a street-length dress of sky blue crepe with grey sequin trimming, a grey hat and accessories, and a corsage spray of yellow roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Nesbitt, Morin Heights, where the floral decorations were multi-colored gladioli, with Sweetheart roses on the bride's table.

Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Bickerdike left by motor for the Muskoka Lakes and other points in Ontario, the bride wearing for travelling a hunter's green gabardine suit, nymph green wool top coat, a feather trimmed brown felt hat and brown accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Stanstead College. The bridegroom is a student in Engineering at McGill University.

Quiet Summer

During the summer, now fading, many holidaying people were found to be saying shocking things about progress. Discreet investigation invariably traced the trouble to a first exposure to an outboard motor!

Even those mild aesthetes who experience distaste at the sound of a racket in quiet country places, can become colorful indeed in commenting on the useless silence which persists despite careful planning and pulling at the stern.

Outboards are a fine thing, and like horses, need to be treated kindly and with understanding. To fail to master either heralds a stimulating bit of exercise.

One new motor comes with a handy little booklet which can be tucked away neatly in a pocket. That is a good place for it, for, after a few terse instructions on "how to start", is states with a suspicious blend of optimism and defiance that "motor starts".

Motor doesn't start. Instruction booklet has no more to say on the subject, either. From there on, the operator is strictly on his own unless he wants to tear the machine apart and grease it, or put it up for the winter, or happens to be interested in a list of dealers in Latin America.

It is suggested that next summer's booklet be revised so as to include a lively page or two devoted to the charm of silence and benefit of exercise.

Green Tomatoes Can Be A Treat

When the air carries a nip and there is danger of frost, it is improbable that tomatoes will ripen in the short hours of sunshine, then the green fruit may be thoroughly enjoyed, for these green tomatoes may be kept for weeks. The larger ones will ripen but most of them should be used while green. The green tomato can be served in different ways. Pickled green tomatoes are well known but in soup or even salad they are equally good. Green tomatoes may be made into various dishes for the main course, and by adding peppers as the Mexicans and Spanish do they make a delicious spicy sauce which is a bit different but just as good made with green tomatoes. As fruit for dessert the green tomato may be sliced, the seeds removed and then cooked with half its weight in sugar. That is an old, old recipe, so good that it requires no comment. The cooked green tomatoes have an unusual richness.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Ottawa, offer you these delicious recipes:

Baked Green Tomatoes

6 Green tomatoes, 4 medium onions, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, pepper, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon bacon fat.

Wash and slice the tomatoes and slice onions. Place alternate layers of tomatoes, sliced onions and bread crumbs (using 1½ cups of crumbs) in a greased baking dish. Sprinkle each layer with sugar, salt and pepper. Cover and bake in a moderate oven at 350°F., for 45 minutes. Remove cover, top with ½ cup of crumbs, dot with bacon fat. Continue cooking uncovered 15 minutes. Yield, six servings.

Green Tomato Sherbet

3 Cups chopped green tomatoes, 3 cloves, dash of pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 bay leaf, 1 slice onion, 1 teaspoon vinegar, 2 teaspoons gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water.

Mix tomatoes, spices, sugar, salt and onion. Cook for 10 minutes in a covered saucepan. Strain, add vinegar. Soak gelatine in cold water and dissolve over boiling water. Add to the tomato puree. Pour in the refrigerator tray and freeze. Beat several times while freezing. Yield, six servings.

Serve as an appetizer or a salad course.

Men in South Africa Like Scottish Girls

Matrimonial Agent Amazed at Number of Bachelor Farmers

Johannesburg, S. Africa (CP) — Finding so many South African and Rhodesian farmers without wives, an ex-R.A.F. man, who came to South Africa to start a poultry farm, has decided to start a matrimonial agency instead.

He had left for Britain to link up with one of London's biggest matrimonial agencies, where women enrol to find husbands. His task in Durban will be to enrol wife-hunting bachelors. He considers Durban the best place for the couples to meet. It has a holiday atmosphere.

He said that, during a tour of the Union and the Rhodesias, he was amazed at the number of bachelor farmers, most of them "young" middle-aged men, who want to be married.

Some told him they were afraid to marry South African girls because "cinemas, clothes and city life were all the women seemed to think about."

He added: "So many of these farmers told me they would like to marry Scottish girls, especially those who were successful land girls during the war and those happy in farm life, that I decided to 'import' wives through a properly-run matrimonial agency.

"A few said they would like to marry English girls, but the majority hoped for a Scot, chiefly it seems, because of the Scottish women's characteristics of energy, cheerfulness and good cooking.

"Once I have started I shall probably extend my activities to match-making among city people, because never have I seen so many partnerless girls at cinemas, parties and musical functions as in South African cities."

He feels certain that there will be no difficulty in getting Scottish women as brides for farmers. Hundreds of them are clamoring to come to the Union, he said.

FLIGHT OF MERCY

—Central Press Canadian

Suffering from glaucoma, 11-weeks-old Irene McDermot, Victoria, B.C., is seen in the arms of her mother, Mrs. Martin McDermot after their arrival at the Los Angeles Children's Hospital. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind financed the trip for the infant in an attempt to save her life.

Says Home Is First, Church Work Second

London (CP) — Women torn between home and church work should "recognize frankly that their chosen vocation is matrimony", says Miss Cecilia M. Ady, writer and churchwoman, in her book "The Role of Women in the Church", published by the Press and Publications Board of the Church Assembly.

First responsibility of a wife is her husband and children; and "the creation and maintenance of a happy Christian home" is not only her duty but "her best service to the church."

The most successful ministers' wives, she adds, are "those who consider their matrimonial obligations first."

There was a growing recognition that "women have a part to play in the service of the church which is peculiar to themselves, and that their activities are complementary to those of the clergy."

Women's Voice

In a recent letter from Lady Nuttall, representative from the Quebec Women's Institutes to the Associated Countrywomen of the World, she speaks of attending the annual meeting of that organization in London, England. The A.C.W.W., composed of rural women's groups from 22 countries, is the largest women's organization in the world. As such it is more and more being recognized at international conferences as voicing the opinions of the various women's organizations that they represent. One of its most important functions is the representation it has on liaison committees of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations and the Food and Agriculture Organization.

In this connection Lady Nuttall reports the address of the president, Mrs. Sayre of Illinois, was of interest. Pointing out that women greatly outnumber men, making the power of their vote so great, she urged them to exercise that privilege as a creative force for peace.

Commenting on reports given at this meeting by the various committees, Lady Nuttall feels that country women realize this responsibility and are making a real constructive effort in the world today.

Scout Troop Reorganized For Season; Report on Achievements at Camp

The Boy Scouts' first meeting of the season was held Wednesday evening at the Auditorium, with a good turnout. Changes in personnel necessitated some reorganization and the leaders are now Scoutmaster J. N. Robinson, assistants Sam Milnes and Frank Bedard, special instructor Gordon Jamison, Troop Leader Grant Riddell, Quartermaster Tommy Jamison, Wolf Patrol Leader Don Barbour, Bulldog Patrol Leader George Barker, second Ken MacRae, Fox Patrol Leader Bob McMahon, second George Young, Lion Patrol Leader Joe Lamontagne, second Bobby Giles.

Results from the boys' work at Camp Tamaracouta were received and showed that this was one of the most successful camp periods ever held by the local troop. Tommy Jamison and Joe Lamontagne received the Rescuer's badge; George Barker, Garth Boyd, Arvid Nymark and George Young the Swimmer's badge, and Grant Riddell the Tracker's badge. Tommy Jamison passed his Axemanship first class test; George Barker, Joe Lamontagne and George Young their Cooking tests; Bobby Giles and Joe Lamontagne their Estimation tests; George Barker and Bobby Giles their Mapping tests; and Gregor Albright, Garth Boyd, Tommy Jamison, Arvid Nymark, George Young, Buddy Cook and Jimmy Murdoch their Swimming tests. The latter shows the efficiency of the swimming training as most of these lads could not swim upon arrival at the camp. And one of the most important features of the whole camping season was Grant Riddell becoming a "Knight of Tamara", to gain which distinction a boy has really to be a Scout in every sense of the word.

Play-offs Run to Five Games for Supremacy, Brownsburg - Hawkesb'y

Brownsburg — Last Sunday Hawkesbury defeated Brownsburg 8-7 in the hardest fought battle the Papineau Baseball League has witnessed this year. Coming from behind when Brownsburg held a 6-0 lead in the 3rd, they scored four in that inning, and one in the 4th and 5th, to even the score. The Burg scored one in the 5th and Hawkesbury one in the 9th, to again even up the count 7-7. After two keenly fought overtime innings Hawkesbury scored the run to win the game, in the last half of the 11th inning.

It was by far the best game of the year, and pitcher Maurie Thompson, although losing his first game in 14 starts, pitched a fine game. The scattered errors of Brownsburg's infield gave the Hawkesbury boys their chance to "do or die".

The teams now stand two games each in a 3-out-of-5 series, so next Sunday in Brownsburg will decide which club meets Hull, as the latter defeated Gatineau 10-8 to take the championship of "A" Section.

There is a lot at stake for both teams next Sunday, and it promises to be a real good game.

Finals in the Ladies' Ayers Cup were played last Saturday, Bobbie Ogilvie defeating Violet Coté to take the trophy for the 1948 season.

The Men's Ball Sweepstakes event was rained out last Thursday evening.

In the final for "B" Class (Bedard Cup), it was a case of long hitting versus sharp approaching, when Bob Hamilton met Barrie Elliot. Barrie was laying the ball right up to the pin and managed to eke out a hard won victory, one up on the 18th hole. That makes it Jack Ogilvie, Barrie Elliot and Mozart Carriere in "A", "B" and "C" respectively.

The C-I-L contingent followed the district finals in the Purvis Cup match with keen interest. The old perennials, Lapp and Kerr, were at each other again, and as might be expected it was a ding-dong battle. Hugh took it, one up, and is in Toronto for the Eastern finals. Victory there will send him on to Winnipeg and the Dominion finals. His many friends are wishing him success.

Next time you are in the pro shop, have a look at the map of the 18-hole layout. The long awaited and keenly anticipated is fast becoming a reality, with all fairways and nearly all greens seeded. In fact, some of the fairways already show good growth. A beautiful and sporting course should be ready next spring.

Worker Killed in Blast at Ste. Adele

Ste. Adele — Vianny Latour, 35, an employee in the Paul E. Dufresne furniture factory, was killed near Ste. Adele last week in an explosion which was followed by fire in the factory. An adjacent store, a large one-storey building and the entire contents were destroyed in the blaze, with damage estimated at more than $35,000.

Latour was engaged in filling cans from drums of shellac stored in a shed when, it is believed, a cigarette he was smoking, dropped in the inflammable liquid. Flames spread quickly in the shed and adjacent buildings. Firemen were sent to the scene from Ste. Adele. Five hours after the explosion, firemen and volunteers were successful in extinguishing the flames.

A clever mind sees the problem. An understanding heart supplies the answer.

Polish Treasures Again in the News; Ungava Ore-Field 'History Making'

Special to The Watchman, by Pierre Dubois

Quebec, Sept. 21 (CP) — The Polish treasures — secret, priceless and a subject of controversy involving three governments — came into the news again in Quebec. . . And, after much wondering on the part of newspapermen, and much double-talk and secrecy on the part of provincial museum officials, Premier Maurice Duplessis made known that the treasures are still here.

These are the treasures of old Cracow in Poland. They have been valued variously at from $5,000,000 to some figure that is incalculable because they cannot be replaced.

Since the Germans first warred on Poland in 1939, they have been the subject of care. They were spirited from Poland to France for safekeeping. Then when France fell they went to England, then to Canada, where the Canadian Government became involved in their safekeeping and stored them in the government records building at the Dominion Experimental Farm.

That was back in the days when the Poles had a government that sided with the United Nations. As time went by the complexion of the Polish Government changed to favor the Communist Russian Government, and it was when representatives of this new Polish Government asked for restoration of the state treasures that they were found to have been taken from Ottawa.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police tracked them down to Quebec's Hotel Dieu cloister, whence Premier Duplessis ordered their removal to the museum and had them guarded by provincial authorities.

Last week-end came news from Halifax that two chests of Polish treasures had been loaded aboard a Polish ship. They were found to be part of a treasure trove held in an Ottawa bank — but the fact that such secrecy surrounded the treasures in Quebec led to speculation they, too, might have vanished. The Premier's statement to newspaper men ended all that.

Premier Duplessis returned to Quebec greatly impressed with exploration work in the Ungava region, which he visited by aircraft. In the far north of the province lie iron ore bodies only now being surveyed which, experts say, may surpass anything in North America.

Some idea of how the Premier views the Ungava possibilities came from Trade Minister Paul Beaulieu when he addressed the Kiwanis Club in Montreal. He said the find was so great that it made history so far as ore-finding goes. He said development—with the aid of American capital — would be an undertaking of such magnitude that it, single-handed, would end Canada's shortage of United States dollars.

Hawkesbury M.L.A. In Ontario Cabinet

Toronto (CP) — Premier Drew of Ontario last week announced the appointment to the Ontario Cabinet of Louis P. Cecile, Hawkesbury lawyer who represents Prescott constituency in the Ontario Legislature. Mr. Cecile becomes Minister without Portfolio.

The Premier stated that Mr. Cecile had accepted the responsibility of dealing with readjustment problems of municipalities along the Ottawa, St. Lawrence and other rivers developing from construction of power projects. This work was not covered by the authority of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Mr. Cecile was elected in Prescott in the June Ontario election with a margin of 2,193 votes over Simon Bertrand, Liberal. The seat was long held by Aurelien Belanger, a Liberal, who retired this year.

"100 Club" Flourishes At Winchester, Ontario

Members of the old "100 Club", one of the initial service organizations promoted by the men of this town, will be interested to know that the branch in Winchester, Ont., is still active and flourishing. The 100 Club Community Park, with an attractive pavilion, was opened with fitting ceremony in that town last Wednesday, and the club were sponsors of a Peanut Day in support of funds for the project.

Former Lachute members enjoyed many pleasurable exchanges with the Winchester group, during the time the 100 Club existed here several years ago.

Dis. Governor to Visit Rotary Club

Emmett John Roach

Emmett J. Roach, of Plattsburg, N.Y. — Governor of District 170 of Rotary International for the current term — is to visit the Brownsburg club at its meeting next week, September 30.

Rotarian Roach has an interesting record of civic and community service—he has been an alderman of his city; president of the Chamber of Commerce; president of the Champlain Valley Hospital; and a Member of the Assembly of New York State. He is a veteran of the U. S. infantry in World War I, and in the second war served on the selective service board of appeals.

Mr. Roach, trained for a career in chemical engineering, took the degree of Bachelor of Science at Clarkson College. He established himself in the retail milk business and is now president of the Plattsburg Dairy Co. Inc.

Brownsburg Rotarians are keenly looking forward to the District Governor's visit next week.

"Power of Woman" Fitting Theme By Speaker at Rotary Ladies' Night

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL EVENING AT BROWNSBURG

Brownsburg—Another pleasant ladies' night was held by the Rotary Club last Thursday, when the guest speaker, Stuart Richardson, gave an appropriate address entitled, "Never Underestimate the Power of a Woman".

Mr. Richardson, introduced to the audience by Rotarian Wes Freeland, spoke of returning to England after 18 years' absence to see his mother. Shortly after his return to Canada, she died; her doctors marvelled she had lived these many years, but she had said she wanted to see her son once more, and, somehow, some power had sustained her until that time. — "Never underestimate the power of a woman", urged the speaker in the recollection of this experience.

While in England Mr. Richardson had also met his old school teacher who had taught him to write—and writing is his means of livelihood today. In a letter received from her upon his return to Canada she asked him to always "say and write the right words". This remarkable woman, he observed, still could wield an inest mable power over him.

During the war the women of England bravely endured all hardships, side by side with their men, or they faced the terror of war alone. The Queen remained in London with her King and her subjects, giving cheer, courage and sympathy every day and hour through the years of war. History shows that, during the reigns of Elizabeth and Victoria, England prospered; and according to the speaker, in the light of history Britons will not be averse to a woman ruler on their throne.

Crippled and paraplegic men, victims of a cruel war, have hope in the living affection of their mothers, and in the care and courageous devotion of their wives. Many girls have willingly married these men with broken bodies. "There will always be Florence Nightingales".

The speaker remarked, more humorously, that he had always been cautiously aware of women, but his father's stern teaching that "a penny bun cost tuppence" when in the company of a woman, had made him so.

"Never underestimate the power of a woman" proved to be an intensely human theme on this occasion, unfolded equally well with both pathos and wit. . . Rotarian President Norm Somers thanked Mr. Richardson for his address. A pleasurable evening followed, with dancing and entertainment.

Brownsb'g Council Petitioned to Extend Village Limits; Dubious on Procedure

"IN BROWNSBURG" — Specially Contributed

"Change of Government"

At the last meeting of the Brownsburg Council a petition was received from a number of taxpayers in Chatham Municipality requesting transfer to the Municipality of Brownsburg. Mr. Welburn, who presented the petition, said that geographically the petitioners were in the Chatham area, but physically they resided in Brownsburg. They worked in Brownsburg and transacted all their business in Brownsburg. The situation became difficult in the matter of water and sewerage facilities, and as the area in which the petitioners resided indented into the Brownsburg line, the situation became all the more difficult.

The secretary, Emile Herbert, was of the opinion it was not a matter for the council in the first instance, as a directive would have to come from Quebec. The council could not change its boundaries just as it pleased.

Mr. Welburn said he had sought legal advice and was told that the council would have to make the application to have this area included in Brownsburg. He thought that advice made sense.

The secretary was directed to write Mr. Morin, Deputy Minister for Municipal Affairs, and get a ruling in the matter.

Vacant Lots

Application by the contractor, Mr. Kelly, for interim payment of accounts totalling $5,041 in the waterworks extension contract, initiated a discussion on the progress of the work. It was estimated that 64 services would be opened when the work was complete, and that the cost would be self-sustaining. The question of placing entrance valves at the vacant lots, so as to obviate the necessity of breaking the asphalt road surface if additional service was requested, led to the revealing estimate that $900 worth of fittings would thus be buried in the ground without any forthcoming revenue. It was noted that this expenditure of the council would raise the value of the vacant lot as expressed by "water laid on", but in the event of their not being sold the expenditure would be wasted. It was pointed out, on the other hand, that if the connection was not made now much additional expense would be incurred when it became necessary to break into the line at a later date. The council left over for further consideration the question of making a charge for water service available on a vacant property.

Frost Level

A complaint by the Fire Chief Arthur Robbins that some of the water pipes now being laid were not at a depth of 7 feet, as required by act of the municipal code, was carefully considered. The Fire Chief said he measured the depth as a routine fire hazard prevention, and found it only 46 inches. It was, unfortunately, in a place where water pressure was abnormally low owing to the elevation, and in the event of a fire results could be very serious. Council representatives were appointed to view the subject of the complaint on the following day.

Sounds Humorous, But It's Not Funny

Correspondent Describes Racket on Main Street

TO THE EDITOR

The Lachute Watchman.

Dear Editor,

From midnight to six, when gasoline, liquor, red-hots, amateur comedians, and what-have-you mix, the night lifers on our main street do their tricks.

I have seen circuses, both large and small, heard the noise of cannon with the bugle call, visited Niagara and heard the roar of the waterfall, not to mention the tomcats that prowl upon the garden wall, witnessed the excitement of the Indian tribal dance, seen the daredevils tear up Pike's Peak.—But, oh Brother! that is meek when on Main Street a night's sleep you seek! . . I thought I had heard all. Even Hollywood sound experts would die from fright!

If our Town Fathers or the Chamber of Commerce could only find some way to capitalize on this situation, I feel quite sure this town of ours could be made a world-wide attraction — but in the meantime it is driving many of us to distraction.

It must seem very cruel if we recall the many nice families who have suffered serious illnesses in their homes, not to mention those loved ones who have passed away of late, to have had all of this unnecessary, disgusting nuisance added to their burden.

For the gentleman who took the law in his own hands, by serving them eggs in the wee hours, believe me, he certainly was a gentleman in the true sense.

— Down But Not Out

The overburden of taxation should be brought back to pre-war levels. The eight per cent sales tax remains unchanged, yet the cost of goods has increased to double that of pre-war levels.

Council Ruling on Through Streets And Stop-Signs

At an adjourned session of Town Council held last Thursday under chairmanship of Mayor A. Bothwell, ruling was passed on a matter which has been in the spotlight of controversy, namely, the placing of stop-signs on certain thoroughfares. . . It was decided that all streets in Lachute running east and west be declared through streets, with the exception of the intersections on approaches to No. 8 and No. 31 highways; and that stop-signs shall be placed on all streets running north and south.

A motion was passed to provide for five minute parking in front of the Lachute post-office.

A grant of $1,000 towards the Argenteuil Legion Branch 70 building fund, was approved.

Accounts to a total of $2,079 were passed for payment.

Contract for the construction of sidewalk on Bellingham Street, from Main to Meikle, was granted to Ernest Provost at $1.45 a running foot, four feet wide, at a height to be specified by the roads committee.

A vote of confidence in the town corporation employees was carried, with Ald. David Laurin dissenting.

Organize for Fall Plowing Match

The officers elected were: President, Erskin Rodgers; vice-president, Allen Hammond; secretary-treasurer, E. Emmett.

Committees were also formed to select a site and judges for the plowing event. The date, to be definitely announced later, will be on or near October 13.

Class 5 — Men, 2-furrow plows. Director, Ross MacAdam.

Class 6 — Oldsters, 50 years and over. Director, Ross MacAdam.

Egg-And-A-Half Is Conundrum

The hoary riddle concerning an egg-and-a-half and a hen-and-a-half, is recalled by another egg oddity, reported at the farm of O. K. Dorion on the St. Philippe highway. Laid by a Barred Rock hen, the egg is something of a conundrum in itself, being shaped like a pollywog with the semblance of a tail. The larger end is three to four inches in circumference, the length is over five inches, and the egg has a soft shell.

Local poultry yards are strutting queer stuff this season!

Parish Choir on Laurentian Trip

The male choir of Ste. Anastasie Parish Church enjoyed their annual summer outing last Sunday afternoon with a bus trip to the Laurentians. Following the morning devotions and business of the choir, which included election of officers, the party numbering around 25 left on a chartered bus piloted by the genial Mayor of St. Andrews, Georges Duhamel. Proceeding via St. Jerome they had luncheon at Val Morin Lodge, then travelling north to St. Faustin (where they inspected the fish hatchery) and St. Jovite.

Romeo Paquette, oldest member of the choir in years of service (a quarter century), was chosen choir director to succeed Romeo Legault, who had occupied the role for the past 10 years. Bertrand L'Heureux was named president, R. Legault, vice-president, Philippe Guénette, secretary, Roland Rinfret, Paul Lafontaine and Come Bélanger, councillors.

Bridal Scene at United Church

Bradford - Stewart

The marriage of Shirley Hannah, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Stewart, of Lachute, Que., and Mr. John Kenneth Bradford, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert D. Bradford, also of Lachute, was solemnized September 18, at four o'clock, in the United Church, Lachute. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiated at the double ring ceremony, and Mr. J. F. Gorman played the wedding music.

Gladioli and asters in autumn shades decorated the church for the occasion. The altar was adorned with pure white gladioli, while the guest pews were marked with white satin ribbons and gladioli tips.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a period gown of white bridal satin, the fitted bodice having a sweetheart neckline and the sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her veil of tulle illusion, falling from white ostrich plumes, extended beyond her train. She carried a cascade bouquet of blush pink gladioli, Adiantum fern and Statice latifolia.

Mrs. Stuart Wilson, as matron-of-honor, Miss Ruth McMahon and Miss Glenys Bradford, cousin of the groom, as bridesmaids, were dressed alike in floor-length picture gowns of periwinkle blue faille with matching mittens. The fitted bodices, having sweetheart necklines, were fashioned with peplums and the full skirts ended in slight trains. They carried cascade bouquets of golden yellow pompom chrysanthemums, to match the flower bandeaux in their hair. Miss Shirley MacGeorge, as flower girl, wore a floor-length periwinkle blue faille dress, with matching mittens, the dress having a full skirt and puffed sleeves. She carried a nosegay of yellow pompoms to match the flower bandeau in her hair.

Mr. Philip Dalgleish, of Portland, Oregon, acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. Harold Bradford, brother of the groom, and Mr. Gordon Dalgleish, of Montreal.

Mrs. Stewart, the bride's mother, wore a street-length dress of loganberry wine moire taffeta and hat of matching felt with black accessories, her corsage being of Johanna Hill roses.

Mrs. Bradford, mother of the bridegroom, wore a street-length dress of shamrock green crepe with brown hat and accessories, her corsage being yellow Sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Lachute Golf and Country Club, where the floral decorations were composed of multi-colored gladioli.

Later the couple left by motor for Niagara and the Eastern States, the bride travelling in Edwardian green wool gabardine suit with garnet accessories and a shoulder spray of Talisman roses.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Bradford will reside in Montreal. Out-of-town guests included relatives and friends from Ottawa, Montreal and Drummondville.

A Bear Story From Harrington

(Our District Correspondent)

Harrington — Last Wednesday evening about 8.30 o'clock, as Mike McTavish was driving up John Dobbie's road, he literally came in contact with a massive bear. First he struck the animal with his truck, then the bear, with an injured leg, lumbered through the fence into Dobbie's field. McTavish followed in his direction, sounding the horn of his truck so loudly that neighbors heard and hurried to the scene, one of them with a rifle. Mike McTavish shot the bear, which weighed 400 lbs.

Lions and Guests Bid 'Bon Voyage' At Gala Function

The Lions Club supper meeting last Tuesday at Lachute Golf Club took the form of a farewell and presentation to retiring District Governor J. S. Giles, who leaves Saturday for a visit to his native England. To this end a number of townsmen joined with the Lions as guests, and the attendance was in the neighborhood of 50.

With President Lion Geo. Davis in the chair, business of the evening included the presentation of keys to two "key-men", Lion Roger Dumais (ex-president) and Lion Leopold Carriere (ex-president), for their success in enlisting new members, and also the awarding of several attendance pins. One of the club's gestures for the "investment" of accrued funds, was outlined by Secretary Jos. N. Robinson, and by sponsors and supporters of the proposal — namely, to furnish a loan, free of interest, for one year's university tuition and maintenance on behalf of a promising young townsman recently graduated from the high school. This scholarship was unanimously approved. It was also agreed to place the Lions Club personnel and equipment at disposal of Argenteuil Legion 70, to stage a public "bingo" to boost funds for their projected memorial hall.

Lion Angelo Fassio, violinist, accompanied by Mr. Earl Morrison at the piano, entertained with one of his brief but masterly recitals, and also played for the community singing led by Lion Phil Roy.

Lion Horace Lamarche, ex-president, made the presentation of a gold wrist watch to Mr. Giles on behalf of the members and guests of the evening, while Lion Leopold Carriere handed the guest of honor a brief-case from the Lions International, in appreciation of his good service during his term of office as District Governor — both presentations being accompanied by a sincere tribute and good wishes for a pleasant visit overseas. Mr. L. L. Legault, voiced a similar sentiment on behalf of the non-members. Lion "Jack" Giles, in thanking his friends, attested to the satisfaction he had enjoyed in the performance of his club duties.

The national anthem was sung, terminating this very successful and pleasant occasion.

Legion Effort for Building Fund

Argenteuil Legion No. 70, following up the success of their Peanut Day this summer, are planning another effort in their objective of financing a memorial hall. This event will be a public "bingo" at the Auditorium on October 15 next.

At this stage in the Legion's preparations, they take occasion to acknowledge valuable aid from a fellow service group, the Lions Club, which has agreed to conduct the bingo, furnishing both the organizers and equipment as their part in the effort.

A number of local business men have already donated prizes for the event, and the Legion expresses its further appreciation to these citizens. The list of merchants, and value of merchandise contributed, includes:

Rubin's, $5.50; U. Nadon, $6; A. Assad, $5; Bazaar D'Argenteuil, $5; Beamish Store, $5; Royal Store, $5; Wilson & Gordon, $5; Esquire Shop, $5; Bedard Ltée, $5; Geo. Paul, $3; John McFaul & Son, $5; Leonard Store, $2; Food Lockers Ltd., $13.

Cash donations — A. C. McPhee, $1, Albright & McAdam Reg'd, $3.

To Standard Time Saturday Midnight

Lachute Town will conform with the seasonal change, reverting to Standard Time this week-end. Clocks will be set back one hour at midnight, Saturday, September 25.

The perennial reminder is given to church-goers, and those by whom the extra hour of sleep will be appreciated.

Highway Crash At Pte. au Chene

Monday evening in the village of Pte. au Chene an eastbound automobile collided with a transport loaded with 12 tons of cement blocks, travelling in the opposite direction. The owner of the car, Paul Cadieux, of Montreal, received severe facial injuries and possible concussion. He was treated by Dr. Louis Biron, of Montebello, and taken to hospital at Hawkesbury, subsequently being removed by ambulance to the home of his sister in Pte. au Chene.

The passenger car was almost completely wrecked. Owner of the truck was Roger Bibeau, of Montebello, who conducts a transport service between that town and Montreal.

The accident was investigated by Traffic Officer H. Jones.

Ease Restrictions on Immigration from France

Ottawa — At a recent meeting of the Cabinet Committee on Immigration Policy, it was decided to recommend to the Government that citizens of France should be admitted to Canada on the same conditions as now apply in the case of citizens of the United States and British subjects from the United Kingdom, Australia, Ireland, New Zealand and South Africa.

This recommendation was accepted by the Cabinet last week, and the new policy was brought into immediate effect by Order-in-Council.

Industrial Safety Rally Next Week

The Quebec Association for the Prevention of Industrial Accidents has arranged its annual campaign assemblies in Lachute for next Monday and Tuesday, September 27-28. The opening session — for employers, foremen and keymen in the local industries and establishments — will be in the form of a dinner Monday evening at the Golf Club chalet. The safety rally for workers (admission free) will be held Tuesday evening at the Auditorium. Moving pictures will be shown, and authoritative speakers will address both gatherings — all in the interests of safer practices, and fewer accidents, on the industrial balance sheet.

The field organizer, E. E. L'Abbé, is now in Lachute arranging details of this rally, and may be contacted at the Hotel Laurentien.

Police Severe on Traffic Violations

On orders from headquarters the local traffic officers launched a drive this week to curtail the hazards of faulty lights, brakes and other automobile defects — all of which are contributing to the unnecessary toll of accidents. Another offence commanding their particular attention is speeding within the town limits. A number of fines have been imposed, and the officers wish it to be known that motor vehicles are liable to their inspection at any time, and that violations of the traffic laws will be summarily dealt with. . . This strict surveillance is in keeping with a general campaign by the provincial authorities to curb traffic misdemeanors.

One of the local traffic officers reports that at least one accident has occurred in this locality every day for the past week.

It is learned that five provincial officers were also assigned last week-end to watch for disorder and rowdiness neighboring the night spots of Grenville.

BEST DEFENCE

Canada's best defence against war is whole-hearted military co-operation with our good and powerful neighbor and potential ally (the United States), in securing the northern frontier against surprise attack. With that defence goes the necessity for seeing that the wings of the Communist fifth column are clipped.

— Temiskaming Speaker

Gatineau LINES

Difficulties involved in obtaining the 10,000 kilowatt voltage regulator which Gatineau Power Company soon will have in operation to combat fluctuations in voltage over the 26,400-volt power lines serving the Lachute area, are typical of the troubles which beset power companies in these days of acute shortages of heavy electrical equipment.

Installation of the voltage regulator was planned long ago as part of the present $5,000,000 improvement program of Gatineau. Delivery of the regulator from the manufacturer was promised last December, and the whole program of extension and voltage regulation around Lachute was based on that delivery date.

The regulator wasn't ready last December. It wasn't ready in January of this year, nor in the spring, nor in the summer. It still isn't ready — but now it has been definitely promised for September. That means it will be in operation in October — 10 months behind the time we had originally planned. Its function is to keep the voltage steady, and once it is in operation the service in this respect should show a definite improvement throughout the Lachute district.

Annoyed as we have been by the repeated delays in this project, we can't blame anything but circumstances for we know that the manufacturer has done his best all the way to get this regulator to us. The trouble lies in the intricacy of a voltage regulator and in the shortages of the materials which go into it.

Such a regulator has literally thousands of parts, each one of which must be precision built — "tailor-made" for the particular job it has to do. The thousands of parts have to be individually fabricated first, and then assembled. A shortage of material for any one part holds up completion of the job. Steel and porcelain go into the job in large quantities — and steel and porcelain have both been in extremely short supply.

The completion of this important item in our construction program — planned during the war but held up for years until at least some of the equipment we needed could be obtained — will bring an improvement in service to customers in the Lachute area which Gatineau has long sought to provide.

ENGLISH JOURNEY

By WALTER R. LEGGE

ARTICLE NO. 8

Oxford, which was our base for the next week, is a large city known the world over as the centre of learning for the English speaking world. Here are 22 colleges the oldest, University, dating from 1249 (although it may be several hundred years older than that) and the youngest, Keble, started in 1870.

Two things immediately strike the visitor, first the tremendous number of bicycles, for the streets are filled with bicyclists, and every vacant spot seems to be filled with them; and the number and variety of the students, for they come from all over the world, and an Indian maiden, who may be the daughter of a powerful rajah, wearing a distinctive native sari, or Americans, Canadians, or West Indians in gowns are taken as a matter of course.

Some sections of most of the colleges are open to the public at certain hours and every college has a wealth of interesting things, and it would take weeks to even see them all.

In the library of Merton College I saw an original copy of Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" printed by Caxton at Westminister in 1478; some ancient chained books; a book which belonged to Mary Tudor (Bloody Mary); original minutes of a college meeting in 1338; and a hand lettered book of the 9th century. The Bodleian, however, has the greatest university library in the world and is one of the oldest, having been founded 600 years ago.

This illustrates the treasures owned by these colleges; but one of the greatest collections in the world is the Ashmolean Museum. I spent part of two days there and really saw only a little of it. There are always some students or artists making studies or drawings of various statues or other objects.

I was particularly interested in the Egyptian rooms where there are items dating back as far as the year 3100 B.C.

The High is one of the finest and most famous streets in the world, lined with nearly a dozen colleges and churches, including Magdalen, which they pronounce "Maudlen", Queens, All Souls, Brasenose, All Saints, University and Oriel Colleges, the Examination Schools, the Botanic Gardens and St. Mary's Church.

Oxford is a delightful blending of the past and the present, and fine modern stores are often next to centuries-old buildings. Two inns, Chequers Inn and the "Golden Cross" are at least 500 years old, the latter being a delightful place hidden behind some most modern stores.

In Broad Street is a tablet in the pavement marking the spot where the three martyrs, Latimer, Ridley and Cranmer were burned at the stake in 1555. It was then that Latimer spoke those immortal words: "Be of good comfort, Master Ridley, and play the man, for we shall this day light such a candle in England, as I trust by God's grace shall never be put out."

It was interesting to note that a notice in front of the church of St. Mary the Virgin showed that six bishops would be preaching there between May 2 and June 13 and they were all from such distant places as Armidale, Australia; Riverina, Australia; Johannesburg, South Africa; and India.

We were very fortunate in having cousins in Oxford to take us around to the most interesting places.

I could write much more about Oxford but must mention other places visited in the vicinity.

The Shakespeare Festival being under way at Stratford-On-Avon we went with a special coach party one evening and saw "The Taming of the Shrew" presented at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre which was an event I shall always cherish in my memory. These coach parties come for these performances from a great many places within a radius of twenty-five or more miles.

Our party arrived there in the afternoon giving us a chance to look over this unique town before the performance began.

Another day we visited Shifford the present owner being my cousin Arthur Carter. It is a very historic spot on the Thames river, consisting of 400 acres on which is the old home, workmen's cottages, an ancient tithe barn 135 feet long by 48 feet high with walls 48 inches thick and thatched roof, dating from 1600. There is also a small family church near which King Alfred held one of the earliest English parliaments and here is the ford across the Thames the Saxons used. Many relics such as pewter pots, swords, etc., have been dug up here.

Arthur Carter is a very progressive farmer, now having 45 cows being milked and expansive fields of prize winning crops.

On another day I visited Burford and Taynton where my father's family originated.

Both are ancient unspoiled sommunities, Taynton being one of the few English hamlets that is not even on any bus route. It is one of the most peaceful spots I have ever seen, with a 700 year-old church, and thatched cottages and barns, looking as if they were just as old.

Burford is noted for its very beautiful old church, which was a wealth of rare old features including a Jesse Tree, a richly ornamented 15th century pulpit, and 14th century font. There is a row of almshouses founded by Richard, Earl of Warwick in the year 1457.

The long main street of Burford mounts a steep hill and on both sides are ancient houses and inns.

The boundaries of Berkshire are close to Oxford and just across in Berkshire is the little ancient North Hinksey Church, one of the oldest in the district. It is a Norman church and the walls of the tower are four feet thick.

There is a leper window outside, where lepers could stand to hear the services.

In almost every ancient church may be found quaintly worded memorials with remarkable spelling. A good example is found in this church and reads: — "Reader look to thy feet, Honest and loyal men are sleeping under THEM (Names) in ye year of our ld 1646 when loyalty and ye church fainted, lay down and dyed. Their lies Wm. his only child who married, first Katherin Cox, deceased. After a 5 years widdowhood he tooke to wife Martha Mayott, widdow of ye ancient family of Wickhams. He dyed June ye 3, 1677. Reader prepare to follow."

Another of my cousins Leslie Carter, lives at North Hinksey and he took us to Woodstock, Dorchester, Stanford-in-the-Vale and other places.

Woodstock was the birthplace of the Black Prince and is a picturesque, entirely unspoiled village.

Here is located Blenheim, the famous palace given by a grateful naton to the Duke of Marlborough for his valour in war.

The palace is a magnificent show place which must be seen to be appreciated. The house itself covers three acres and is set in a park of 2,500 acres, the grounds having been laid out by that great

The Economy of Using the Best

"EVERYTHING TO BUILD ANYTHING"

The economy of using the best possible materials is made apparent in the upkeep problem. A house or business building may be "thrown together" with cheap material, and it may "look all right," but after it has stood the shock of weather, the real test comes.

It is false economy to use poor materials — and we so advise everyone who buys from us. Our success is due to honesty in materials and prices.

Commandments for Parents

SOME YEARS ago a Youth Congress of 250 delegates, representing 176,000 adolescent school students, approved a "Decalogue for Parents" which is worthy of careful reading. Here are pointers for any thoughtful mother or father—a yardstick to measure one's growth in the kind of parenthood many children desire.

Make a friend of your child; take him into your confidence; be his buddy not his policeman. Remember you were a child yourself. Show your child the right way by example. Make him proud to be your offspring.

Make it your business to know the whereabouts of your child at all times, but don't allow him to feel "haunted".

If a child errs, it is chiefly because he has never been shown the right way; hence, don't punish him to excess, but show him where he has faltered. Show him the right way with kindness.

Disciplinary action should not be shifted from one parent to the other as exemplified by the commonly heard phrase, "Just wait 'til your father comes home." Threats of this nature soon become so weak that they go unheeded. The only accomplishment in making a statement of this sort is the child's loss of affection for his "discipline-parent", and a realization of the weakness of character in the other parent.

Don't give your child the impression that he is a nuisance when adults are present. Make him feel he is a vital member of his family unit and that you are counting on him to fulfill his obligations as such.

Keep the doors of your home open to your child's friends—make his home his castle.

Encourage church attendance. Here he will find many attractions awaiting him, such as clubs, parties—and at the same time he will acquire a code of morals and ethics which are extremely vital in regard to his present and future relations with people.

See that his energies are utilized in projects of high calibre. A busy child has no time for immoral practices.

Forgotten Man

IF THERE is a forgotten man in this country, whom the writers of political platforms have overlooked, he is the man who would like to achieve security through his own efforts.

The political programs are generous in their promises of what the State will do for the individual citizen. The State will offer to care for him, perhaps even from his cradle to his grave. But for the self-reliant person, who would like to have an enlarged opportunity to care for himself by having more of his money left to himself by the government after its spending and taxing activities, little is said.

Indiscriminate offers of security, that neither ask for effort nor encourage it, will depress the whole foundation of security. In the end the State, after the abundance of its own promises, will not be redistributing the wealth that comes from effort, but the short rations that come from indifference.

The forgotten man, who wants security for his self-reliance, is neither an eccentric nor a nuisance. He holds the key to the problem of production. And for every government, party and country, that is the fundamental problem.

— Montreal Gazette

The Lawyer and Democracy

ROUGHLY one out of every three members of the present Canadian House of Commons is a lawyer. Of the 19 members of the federal cabinet, 10 are lawyers — the ratio is usually higher. Of the nine provincial premiers, five are lawyers. Of the nine men nominated for Liberal leadership, seven — including the final choice — were lawyers. Of the men most prominently mentioned as candidates for Progressive Conservative leadership, the leading two are lawyers.

You might read a number of conclusions into those statistics. Some people might contend, in a mild and nettled way, that Canada's chief danger of dictatorship lies not in economic creeds so much as in a dominating profession. Others could accuse the lawyer of an exceptional lust for political power. Others might say he has, rather, an exceptional sense of responsibility.

But isn't there, among others, a strongly valid argument that much of the cause of this lies with the other professions and callings that have largely surrendered the field? Isn't it less the responsibility of the lawyers to move over and make room than for the others to do the things that would justifiably make them do so.

Regardless of the lure that draws the lawyer into politics, he has done great things once there. He has given us Macdonald and Laurier and Borden and Bennett and many others. It would seem to be far better to aim at emulation of his record than to discourage his participation.

It is true that, as a group, lawyers do understand and handle the problems of government quickly and ably. But men like schoolteacher Coldwell and preacher Knowles and, yes, political scientist King, show there is no need for complete capitulation.

What, for instance, becomes of the college men who study political science? Few of them get into Parliament, Mr. King to the contrary. Are school instructions in civics and government dull and uninspiring to the point that they make incipient interest abortive? Are employers doing enough to encourage their help, high and low, to understand let alone engage in politics?

Are we, briefly, in the varied strata of our national life, incapable of infusing the processes of our democracy with a more dynamic enthusiasm and activity among other people than the lawyers, who seem to take to them as a carollary of their business?

Attention by All Means

POSSIBILITIES open to the advertiser are limited only by the extent of the imagination. We do not recommend a free rein to ingenuity, at least in newspaper advertising; we prefer the more conventional approach. However, as an example of what can be achieved in the matter of public attention, the following is clipped from one of our weekly exchanges:

WANTED: MORTICIAN

"Real Live Wire to learn Mortician Trade. Opportunity for ambitious person able to drag in the customers. Pleasant work in cool surroundings.

"It's a whacky ad., BUT it is the kind of business that gets you in the end!

"So, before it's too late why not drop down to — — for a 'life-like' portrait of yourself, that you will be proud to give to posterity?"

English Journey

artist Capability Brown, who is said to have planned the trees and avenues to represent a plan of the Battle of Blenheim. The gardens are some of the finest in England and are visited by thousands, and 60 gardeners were formerly employed to keep them up. The wall around the estate is 20 miles long.

Like most large homes, the government made use of much of it during the war and the Ministry of Works has erected a number of shacks near the palace, which are eyesores.

At Dorchester stands the famous Abbey, an impressive ancient building, in perfect condition, although the walls of the Nave were built about 1150. Before that was a Saxon Cathedral built about 650 and long before that a Roman camp stood on the site.

The Abbey is a long building over 200 feet in length, filled with interesting old features including a Jesse window, the figures of which are sculptured in stone at each intersection of a mullion. It is one of the most interesting abbeys in all England to vsit.

The last place near Oxford which I visited was Stanford-in-the-Vale where an uncle of mine is living. This is another hamlet not touched by any bus route, and nestling almost under the shadows of the Downs.

There is an interesting old church dating from 1586 and many pretty old thatched houses. Here is an example of the vicarages found at many old places in England. It is bigger than the church and in this case is a building of 30 large rooms set in spacious grounds. The vicar rents more than half of the house to other families.

While here I visited Uffington, which is a beautiful village with a famous old church, and also Wpolstone.

The latter was one of the most unique villages I saw in England. Nestling far from any bus or railway route, every thatched house was a perfect picture and there is an inn over 600 years old.

The entire village consisting of an inn, 20 cottages, 3 farms, and a large manor house was recently offered for sale. The price asked for the whole thing was £85,000 but the best offer was only about £50,000 so it was withdrawn.

On our way back to Stanford we stopped at Kingston Loyal to see a unique relic, the Blowing Stone. This huge rock is honeycombed with holes and by blowing in one of them, a note is produced which it is said can be heard for seven miles.

Legend says it was used by the Druids to summon their fighters, and that King Alfred sounded it to call his supporters to repel the invaders. When his followers won the battle the White Horse carved on the Downs by removing the turf and exposing the chalk was cut to commemorate the victory. Some of this is referred to in the book "Tom Brown's School Days" the author of which lived at nearby Uffington.

There are many other places of interest in the vicinity for visitors to see but we had to hurry on to Bournemouth.

An automotive engineer says it will soon be posible to turn corners at 40 miles with an automobile. If so, the extinction of pedestrians is just around the corner.

Anniversary

Editor's Widow Recalls "Brave Old Days"

The "brave old days" are vividly recalled by Mary Watson Sellar, 88, widow of the late Robert Sellar, who founded The Huntingdon Gleaner in 1863, and mother of Adam I. Sellar, president and editor, and of R. Watson Sellar, auditor general of Canada. The Gleaner celebrated its 85th anniversary last week.

Mrs. Sellar, who wrote the guest editorial, recalls the days when "a man's daily wage was $1 and good house servants cost $3 a month or less. Clothes were planned for durability and warmth. Sewing machines were few and it took time to make a garment by hand, but when made it would pass down the line of juniors as it was outgrown.

"Generally the stockings were home knit for everyone, and often the wool came from local sheep. Not always pretty, but warm, and the summer hose were knit from cotton. Fruits and vegetables were not trucked to our door. We grew them in our fields and gardens.

"In summer little fresh meat was used. The pickle barrel was the source of supply and dried meat, smoked hams and bacon, eggs and salt herring and an occasional fowl or fish, were eaten. A treasure to most families was the cow, so much good variety was provided by her milk. Many a lad's pocket-money was made by his driving a string of a neighbor's cows to and from the pasture for 25 cents a month.

"In the olden days when a fire broke out the bucket brigade got lively. The hand engine was a revealer. When a rough and ready swearer found himself next to the parson on the hand rail, he found his limitations. The night Rev. Mr. Wallace was killed he was in the river with the bucket brigade at the mill fire and stepped in the wrong direction.

"The people were poor, but they had the desire for better living. Almost all the early settlers had initiative otherwise they would not have been here. A goodly number of them were educated. As their families increased the push came for churches and schools.

"There was no lack of stone and wood, but architecture and equipment left much to be desired, and qualified teachers and preachers were often lacking."

Mr. Sellar, founder of The Gleaner, died in 1919 after 36 years as publisher of the weekly. A scholarly man, he was the author of several books—"Summer of Sorrow", "Hemlock and Gleaner Tales", "Quebec Minority", "True Makers of Canada", "Tragedy of Quebec", "History of the District of Beauharnois", "Morven", and the play entitled, "The Tragedy of Wallace", as well as several historical pamphlets.

BE PREPARED TO ACT QUICKLY IN AN EMERGENCY

When an emergency arises, and you must think and act quickly, do you know what to do? Do you know the telephone numbers of your nearest fire station, doctor and police station? ## Sister and Brother, Both Ottawa Valley Residents, Died Within Few Days

Late Mrs. Asa Young

Grenville—This community was shocked and saddened by the death of Mrs. Asa W. Young, which occurred suddenly at her home in Grenville Bay, Que., on September 7, in her 63rd year.

The late Mrs. Young was formerly Maggie Waite, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Waite, of Vankleek Hill, Ont. She is mourned by her loving husband and one daughter and son-in-law, Ruby and Wyman Young, also two grandsons, Willis and Carl Young, all of Grenville Bay; two sisters, Mrs. John Sherman, of Ottawa, Ont., and Mrs. Ed Bancroft, and two brothers, John and James, of Vankleek Hill, Ont. — another brother, Chesser Waite, of Pte. au Chene, Que., having died since her passing.

The funeral was conducted by Mr. James Patrick and Mr. John Richards, and two favorite hymns of the deceased were sung, "Jesus, the very thought of thee" and "May thy perfect love". The service was largely attended by friends and relatives from near and far, and a profusion of flowers bore token of the community's esteem.

Pall-bearers were her two brothers, John and James Waite; two brothers-in-law, Harry and Robbie Young; and two cousins, Shoddie and Evan Young.

The Late Chesser Waite

Avoca — The death of Chesser Waite, a resident well known in the communities surrounding Pte. au Chene, occurred Sunday morning, September 12, at Dr. Smith's Clinic, Hawkesbury, Ont., following a short illness.

Funeral service was conducted by the Rev. S. J. Pike on the following Tuesday at his home in Pte. au Chene, and burial was made at Avoca Cemetery.

Born at Vankleek Hill in 1888, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Waite. He was associated with his father in the occupation of farming, later taking over the farm on his father's retirement. He resided there until 16 years ago, then with his wife and family took up residence at Pte. au Chene. He was employed at Canadian Refractories Ltd., Kilmar, up until the time of his death.

Mr. Waite is survived by his wife, the former Nellie MacLeod, of Avoca, Que.; three sons, James, Alexander and Russell, all of Pte. au Chene; two daughters, Vivian, at home, and Mrs. Arthur Chamberlin (Alma), of Poltimore, Que.; four granddaughters, Muriel, Marilyn, Ruth and Linda Chamberlin, also of Poltimore.

Mr. Waite is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. John Sherman (Ida), of Ottawa, and Mrs. Bancroft (Mamie), of Vankleek Hill; and two brothers, John and Jim, of Vankleek Hill.

The large attendance and the many beautiful flowers from relatives, friends and fellow workers, showed the high esteem in which he was held.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Jim and John Waite, of Vankleek Hill, Willie MacLeod, Eddie Andrews and Wm. MacDonald, of Avoca, and Willie MacLean of Pte. au Chene.

Dances Are Success

It is gratifying to note the interest which local residents are taking in the weekly dances at Maplewod Inn. Pleasant surroundings, a good floor and peppy music, are largely credited with the good response to this venture. It is hoped the interest will continue.

Miss N. Corley, of Westmount, and Miss E. Brown, of Cartierville, visited Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Henry recently.

Road Improvement

Work has commenced on the levelling of the township road leading up from the station. This will reduce the slippery condition we have had to contend with in the winter time, and also make conditions much more serviceable and pleasant for those who reside in that vicinity.

Mrs. Roy Cooke and Mrs. T. Sevigny and family have returned to the city for the winter season. On Sunday the children's choir which had been under the direction of Mrs. Sevigny, was taken over by Mrs. Frank Davis.

Mr. Herman Graham spent a few days in Montreal this week.

Most of the residents of Barkmere have closed their cottages for the season, but a few of the residents still feel loath to leave the beautiful lakes and hills until forced to do so. Among those who will be staying till late fall are Mrs. T. Lichty, Mr. C. Moore and daughter, Mrs. West, Dr. and Mrs. Murray and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Jack.

Former Principal at Brownsburg Is Director Of St. Sauveur College

By Jules E. Godreau

St. Sauveur — Cyprien Lacasse formerly of the Lachute district, has been named director of the local 'department of education'—so called because, in the field of education for young boys, St. Sauveur has attained a high level, with the building of a college important enough to have a director. The college is not yet complete, but is expected to be finished by the middle of December. It will consist of four classes for boys.

Mr. Lacasse is, so to speak, a career educationalist, with 26 years of teaching to his credit — three years in the United States, four years at the Business College of Three Rivers, teaching accounting and English, and 19 years in various schools in the province. Before coming to St. Sauveur, he was principal of the boys' school at Brownsburg. He has diplomas from the University of Montreal (Arts and Science); I.C.S. Office Routine, Scranton, Pa.; and Canadian Modern Accounting, Toronto.

There are two other teachers in the St. Sauveur College — Mr. Gerard Deshaies, formerly of Sherbrooke, and Miss Madeleine Pagé of St. Sauveur.

Until the college is ready, classes of the lower grades are continuing in the old school, under instruction of Mr. Deshaies. Miss Pagé is teaching in the convent and Mr. Lacasse has his classroom in a hall hired by the School Commission.

St. Sauveur is growing in population, and progressing accordingly, and these changes in education are generally gratifying to the citizens.

Annual Orange Service Held at Grenville, Que.

(Our District Correspondent)

Grenville — Members of the L.O.B.A. and L.O.L. in Grenville and district, with visitors and juveniles from other parts of Argenteuil County and from Cassburn, Ont., gathered Sunday afternoon for their annual divine service, at St. Matthew's Anglican Church.

The parade was marshalled by the Deputy Grand Master of Quebec, Nelson Morrison. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. E. Hawes, assisted by the Rev. A. G. Moore, of Cushing. The ladies were preceded in the parade by their Provincial Grand Mistress, Mrs. M. G. Ball, of Brownsburg.

After the service the members of the Association gathered in the lodge room, where refreshments were served by the ladies of the Order.

Life Membership Is Presented at W.M.S., Lachute United Church

A very pleasing feature of the Lachute United W.M.S. — which was under the convenership of the associate secretaries, Mrs. Chas. Duncan, Mrs. Wm. Deacon and Mrs. Hugh Martin — was the presentation of a life membership certificate to Mrs. Martin, who for upwards of seven years had been the town associate members' secretary.

Mrs. F. S. McGibbon in presenting the certificate paid a high tribute to Mrs. Martin's fine work during those years, saying in part: "If we should call Mrs. Martin telling her someone was sick in hospital and that maybe a little note would be appreciated, she would invariably reply — 'one already has been sent'."

Mrs. Martin in thanking the members spoke briefly of how she had come to join the society and paid a fine tribute of love and respect to the work done by the late Mrs. J. A. McGibbon, who was untiring in visiting newcomers and urging them to join the church organizations.

The theme of the service was "Friendship", and was beautifully carried in the worship service conducted by Mrs. Deacon and the solo by Mrs. Kenneth McOuat.

Mrs. Duncan gave an enlightening talk on the structure of the W.M.S., from the Dominion board to the local auxiliary.

Tea was served to about 60 active and associate members, and all felt that a worthwhile afternoon had been spent.

Brownsb'g Rally Service With A Missionary Theme and Purpose

Brownsburg — A specially prepared program will be used for the Rally Service next Sunday morning in Brownsburg United Church, in which the Sunday School will participate. It will meet at 10.30 a.m. for attendance record and other items, and join the congregation at 11 o'clock.

A special collection will be devoted to a particular department of missionary endeavor — that of buying station cars for China, Africa and India; $24,000 is the objective for the Sunday School Rally offerings this year. The sum of $22,000 was raised last year in this way and devoted to marine missionary work in the purchase of a new mission boat for the Pacific Coast ministry. The station wagons to be purchased this year will be equipped with sound and motion picture equipment, public address system, first aid post, and in some cases generators for electric power. They will make it more possible for the United Church missionaries to bring preaching, teaching and healing to remote places in overseas mission fields.

At the meeting of the Sunday School management last week the Three-E plan for the year was modified to "Enrolement, Equipment and Enthusiasm" to meet local requirements as the school's aim. The motto adopted is "Every Member Present Every Sunday, On Time, with a Prepared Lesson, a Liberal Offering and a Reverent Attitude".

The committee in charge of arrangements for next Sunday includes Miss Majorie McOuat, Mrs. Howard Elliott, Mrs. R. B. Johnson and Mrs. Jas. Thompson, while the bigger girls are also assisting.

I WANT TO KNOW

Am I too old to buy life insurance?

The middle-aged man who asked this question feared that at his age the cost of life insurance would be prohibitive . . . but even were he much older, Mutual low-cost life insurance would still prove good business.

Unfortunately many people realize the importance of life insurance only when through age or other disability they are no longer able to secure it. A life insurance programme should be started as early in life as possible.

Cleaning Up the Garden

A few short weeks ago gardeners were anxiously watching the rows for tiny shoots, wondering when the first vegetable would be ready for use. Now there is a rush to use or store away the abundance of food before the frost nips the plants.

Harvest season is always a time of thanksgiving, but unfortunately it places a heavy burden on the busy homemaker. The home economists at Ottawa have many recipes for relishes that are delicious and have the added advantage of being quickly made. Here are several good ones:

Raw Carrot Relish

3 Cups chopped carrots (8 large), 2 cups chopped sweet red peppers (6 medium), 2 cups chopped green peppers (4 medium), 4 cups chopped cabbage (1 small head), 2 cups chopped onion, 1 cup sugar, 4 cups cider or blended vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 tablespoons mustard seed, 2 tablespoons celery seed.

Mix all vegetables. Combine sugar, vinegar, salt, mustard seed and celery seed and bring to boiling point. Pack vegetables into sterilized jars, pour boiling vinegar mixture over vegetables to cover. Seal and store in a cool, dry place. Yield: 6 pints.

Pepper Relish

3½ Lbs. (15-18) sweet red peppers, 3 lb. (12-15) green peppers, 3 lb. (12-15) medium onions, 4 cups vinegar, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon mustard seed, 1 tablespoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 2 tablespoons salt.

Wash peppers, remove seed cores. Peel onions. Put vegetables through food chopper, using coarse blade. Place in large preserving kettle, cover with boiling water and let stand 5 minutes. Drain thoroughly. Add vinegar, sugar, spices and salt; cook until vegetables are tender — about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour into hot sterilized jars. Cool and seal. Yield: about 6 pints.

Sweet Cucumber Relish

3 Large cucumbers (ripe or green), 3 medium onions, 6 stalks celery, 1 green pepper, 3 tablespoons salt, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon mustard, 3 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon turmeric, ⅛ teaspon curry powder, ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup vinegar.

Peel cucumbers and remove seeds. Peel onions. Remove seeds from pepper. Put cucumbers, onions, celery and pepper through food chopper, using coarse blade. Sprinkle with salt and let stand 1 hour. Drain thoroughly. Bring drained vegetables to boil. Mix sugar, mustard, flour, turmeric, curry powder with cold water, add vinegar. Mix well with hot vegetables. Cook 10 minutes, stirring often. Bottle while hot. Yield: 2 pints.

Wedding Solemnized At Church in Avoca

Trineer - Kelly

The United Church at Avoca, beautifully decorated for the occasion, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, September 18, at 2.30 p.m., when Dora Ann Edith, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kelly, of Avoca, became the bride of James Ernest Trineer, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Trineer, of Rivington. The Rev. S. J. Pike officiated.

The bride was given away by her father. She was dressed in a fitted floor-length gown of white satin, net trimmed, with full-length sleeves. She wore a full-length veil and silver slippers, carrying a bouquet of American Beauty and pink roses.

The bride was attended by her cousins, Miss Lorna Kelly, of Avoca, and Miss Ramona Farrara, of Calumet, who wore floor-length dresses of similar style in sky blue and tea rose with matching waist-length veils, and with silver and gold slippers. They carried sprays of dusty rose gladioli.

Little Miss Eunice Kelly, sister of the bride, as flower girl, was in a floor-length gown of blue with overskirt of matching net, and carried a bouquet of multi-colored flowers.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Gerald Trineer. The ushers were Mr. Wm. S. Norsnall and Mr. Ronald Kelly, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a dress of French blue crepe and the groom's mother wore Tuxedo blue crepe, with contrasting corsages.

Miss Dora Trineer, of Calumet, played the organ; Mrs. F. Moore, of Kilmar, sang "Oh Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The immediate families of the bride and groom were intertained at a wedding supper at the home of the bride's parents, and a reception was held in the evening at Bell Falls, where a host of friends showered the young couple with gifts and good wishes.

The bride's going-away costume was of dove grey with black accessories. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Trineer will reside in Rivington.

Couple Wed Saturday, To Reside at Morin Hts.

Gardner - Seale

The marriage of Miss Alice Muriel Seale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Seale, of Morin Heights, and Mr. Joseph George Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Gardner, of Montreal and Morin Heights, took place at the United Church in Morin Heights last Saturday afternoon, September 18, at five o'clock, the Rev. C. R. Wood officiating. Mr. Vanderpole played the wedding music and Mrs. B. Light sang "Because" and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register. Multi-coloured gladioli formed the decorations, the guest pews being marked with white satin bows.

Mr. Thomas Seale gave his daughter in marriage. She was attended by Mrs. Lorne Crawford, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, with Miss Doris Watchorn as bridesmaid. Mr. Keith Seale, brother of the bride, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Thomas Robertson and Mr. Colin Cameron.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin, having a fitted bodice with lace and net yoke, long fitted sleeves ending in lace points over the hands, a bustle hip line and full skirt falling into a train. Her floor-length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a coronet of tulle. Her only ornament was a double strand necklace of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and bouvardia.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Lorne Crawford, wore a gown of orchid taffeta having a fitted bodice with sweetheart neckline, and three-quarter length sleeves, a gored skirt, covered by a bouffant skirt of nylon net. Her small halo hat was made of net rosebuds caught at the back by a taffeta bow. Miss Doris Watchorn, bridesmaid, was similarly attired in Nile green. Both attendants carried bouquets of yellow roses and bouvardia.

Mrs. Thomas Seale, mother of the bride, wore a street-length dress of mulberry French crepe, with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. L. Gardner, mother of the groom, wore a street-length dress of black taffeta, with pink and black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Marathon Swimmer Fails in 120-Mile Course

(Our District Correspondent)

Cushing W. — Lockmen on the Grenville Canal received orders to remain on duty last Sunday, to be in readiness for the passing down of the marathon swimmer Lafleche, who started from Ottawa on Saturday in an attempt to swim the distance of 120 miles to Montreal. However, he was hauled out of the water, onto his accompanying yacht at Rockland, 20 miles from his starting point. His failure in this attempt is attributed to the slowness of the river current, which is no doubt due to the low level of the water. Lafleche claims to have made the trip twice before, in 1928 and again in 1929.

B'burg Enters Baseball Finals with High Optimism

Brownsburg — The Brownsburg baseball team won the "B" Section of the Papineau League, beating Hawkesbury last week-end in the fifth and final game 13-8.

It was a very hard fought encounter for both sides, with the more experienced players really showing their mettle. Hawkesbury Club are a keen, hard hitting team; and although they had 15 hits off Maurice Thompson, enough to win any ball game, they made 9 errors in the field; and the Brownsburg boys took advantage of the situation.

It has been a real pleasure for Brownsburg team playing with Hawkesbury, and it is hoped they will be back in again next year, stronger than ever.

The local stars in Sunday's game were outstanding, with the catcher, Roger Prud'homme, scoring four hits, and Jimmy Murdoch, most versatile player, taking a turn at centre field after having filled almost every other position on the team, also making 6 catches and hitting in 2 runs with a well placed ball along right field line to sew up the game. The Burg can always rely upon first baseman Fern St. Onge for a good steady, and errorless game, and he came through again, much to the pleasure of the 1,500 fans who were out to see the game.

Next Sunday, September 26, Hull visits Brownsburg for the first game in the 3-out-of-5 finals, and the fans are all eagerly waiting to see how the local team will stand up to them. Maurice Danis is very optimistic of the outcome. He said, if the Burg got past Hawkesbury, the hardest part of the fight would be over; naturally we hope he is right. The manager and his team have made a good showing so far. –

"ALONG THE FAIRWAYS"

Special Commentary

The Islesmere trip was highly successful, at least insofar as a good time was concerned. The ladies scored 6 points to 5 over their opponents down there, and while the men suffered defeat 9-14, there was much talk of revenge-taking next Sunday, September 26, when Islesmere invades the local course.

All members are adjured to turn out for this second round of the Inter-Club Competition. There is no doubt but that a strong contingent will be on hand from the island club. A major item to remember — we will be on Standard Time next Sunday, and play will necessarily end around six o'clock. The men will tee off between 9 and 10 a.m., the ladies starting to tee off for their nine holes at 10 o'clock. Be there between nine and ten "ack emma" if you intend to play — rain or shine, that is. . . Buffet supper and dance in the evening. . . Hope you plan to attend.

This was the week-end set aside for the Closing Tournament, dinner and presentation of prizes, but that event has of necessity been postponed until Sunday, October 3. There will be moving pictures after the presentation.

During the Closing Tournament, mixed two-ball foursome 18-hole play is scheduled. Hand in your name to the Match Committee not later than Monday, September 27; the draw will be in the local paper. If you haven't won a prize yet, here's your chance. Partners will be drawn.

Did you hear about the new traffic cop down at Plage Laval? House Committee will furnish all details.

Lachute's professional, Jack Archer, is out at the Shaughnessy course at Vancouver to compete in the Canadian Open. Jack waded through rain and a muddy terrain to card three over par 75 in his practice round there on Monday. The chips are down in this derby of golf Wednesday, September 22.

Members can do much to bring new portions of the local course along by carefully avoiding all freshly seeded ground. This ground is being carefully marked out and means are being provided for retrieving balls without walking in after them. Please do not walk on new greens, bunkers, etc.

See you Sunday between nine and ten in the morning. If you arrive too late, don't say we didn't tell you. And before we forget — hand your name in before Saturday, September 25, for next Sunday's play. Islesmere showed us a good time—leave us reciprocate!

Committee Organizing for First Post-War Blood Donor Clinic Here, October 13 Next

Appeal for Voluntary Donors

Blood-Banks in Quebec Hospitals Are Confronted with Critically Short Supply

Lachute Branch of the Red Cross is sponsoring a blood donor clinic, to be held at the Auditorium on Wednesday, October 13, from 2 p.m. to 8.30 p.m. This effort is being organized to meet the acute emergency in the hospitals caused by the shortage of blood donors. All volunteers at the Lachute clinic, and members of their families, are assured of free blood transfusions should the necessity arise.

A committee has been formed by the president of the local branch, Mrs. J. A. Gordon, as follows: Mrs. T. Bishop, chairman; Mrs. H. Rigg, secretary; Mrs. G. H. Héon, nurse in charge; Dr. F. W. FitzGerald.

Authorities Voice Appeal

This clinic has been strongly endorsed by both the Catholic and Protestant clergy of Lachute, St. Julien and St. Andrews East. Mayor A. Bothwell and Mayor Georges Duhamel are right behind this service, and have asked the people of their communities to respond to this appeal. Co-operating wholeheartedly with the Lachute Red Cross are the Lions Club, the Chamber of Commerce and the Women's Institute, who are all canvassing their memberships for donors. The Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce will be responsible for any necessary transportatiion.

Industries Co-operating

Mr. R. Thompson, of St. Andrews Woollen Mills, Mr. R. M. Cairns, of the J. C. Wilson Co. Ltd., and Mr. M. Carriere, of Ayers Ltd., are all drawing up lists of volunteers from among their employees, and hope for excellent results. A special clinic will be held on the morning of the 13th in the Ayers plant, and Mr. Carriere is confident that the men and women of Ayers will rise to the challenge.

The committee in charge is contacting all previous donors, while making every effort to secure as many new donors as possible. Mrs. Herbert Rigg is in charge of all appointments. Mrs. G. H. Héon is enlisting the services of local nurses to assist the mobile team which will be sent from Montreal under direction of Dr. Paul G. Weilde of the Royal Victoria Hospital, and local doctors are co-operating.

Emergency Aspect

This is an emergency clinic to meet a pressing need until the new Blood Transfusion Service of the Canadian Red Cross opens next November in the Province of Quebec. With the new service, the aim of the Society is to provide free blood transfusions to all patients requiring them in military and civilian hospitals. This service is already functioning in British Columbia, Alberta and Nova Scotia, it will open shortly in Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba, and will become Dominion-wide as soon as equipment can be obtained.

Increasing Need for Plasma

The great value of blood transfusion therapy was proved during the war, when thousands of our fighting men owed their lives to the blood donations of volunteers.

The use of blood transfusion therapy among the civilian population has grown steadily since the close of the war. The vital value of blood and plasma in the treatment of haemorrhage in childbirth cannot be exaggerated. Right here in Canada in one year, over 21% of all maternal deaths were due to haemorrhage. It is safe to say that fully three-quarters of these might have been saved, had prompt and adequate transfusion therapy been available. In one year, too, over 6,800 Canadian civilians met violent deaths. Experience in the battlefield has shown that many of these lives could have been saved if adequate transfusion therapy could have been provided. These are only two examples of the need for a Dominion-wide service, and there are many more.

In order to meet this great need, contracts are being drawn up with civilian and military hospitals whereby the Canadian Red Cross undertakes to provide blood and plasma on the understanding that this benefit will be passed on to their patients free of any charge whatever. Laboratories and sub-depots are being set up at key points across Canada for the safe collection and grouping of blood, and a 24-hour service provided. These laboratories will be staffed by medical directors, nurses, technicians, V.A.D.'s and transport drivers.

Volunteers Essential

The second and perhaps the more vital part of the program is the provision of the "raw material" without which the best technical facilities and trained personnel would be of little use. And so the Canadian Red Cross is appealing to the people of Canada to play their part so that blood will be available, free of charge to all who need it. The Society is confident that Canadians everywhere will respond wholeheartedly to this appeal.

Anyone who will give a blood donation at this emergency clinic on October 13, please contact Mrs. H. Rigg (tel. 337-W) as soon as possible, and an appointment will be made at your convenience.

Arundel Gathering, One Of Successful Series Addressed by M.L.A.

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — Quite a large gathering of taxpayers attended a meeting held in the Maplewood Inn last Wednesday evening to hear Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. for Argenteuil, and Mr. G. Munich, Warden for Argenteuil County Council.

The Mayor, Dr. R. B. Henry, occupied the chair and in turn introduced the guest speakers.

Questions were asked and satisfactorily answered, including some from the ladies, of whom there was a good representation. Questions on roads, assessments, fish and game were touched upon, and the audience had the feeling that they had been given a better understanding of the things which concerned the municipality in general.

Mayor Henry thanked the two speakers in the name of the Arundel residents.

Three Killed, Three Injured Here in One of Season's Worst Road Accidents

FUNERAL RITES HELD AT STE. SCHOLASTIQUE

More gruesome that the all-too-common run of traffic accidents was a triple-toll collision Saturday night, on the Montreal highway four miles east of Lachute. Three young men from the neighboring town of Ste. Scholastique lost their lives while heading for Lachute to spend the evening. Their auto collided with a truck while rounding a curve. Two others in the same car are in a critical condition with skull injuries, while the driver of the truck, proceeding from Hull to Montreal, suffered a broken arm.

According to reports from the investigating police officers, Roger Jetté, 23, was driving with four Laurin brothers in his model-T Ford coach, coming westward from Ste. Scholastique, and as the car turned the curve it collided with the eastbound truck. The latter vehicle, loaded with candies and confections from the General Sales Co., Hull, Que., overturned on the roadside. The driver, Philip Delmoss, 25, had his left arm broken and badly torn, while his helper Hector Beauregard, 45, who was asleep beside him in the cab, was unhurt. Delmoss was taken by ambulance later to hospital in Hull.

Jetté was killed instantly. Two others in the car were killed, one instantaneously and the other dying in the ambulance en route to the Providence Hospital here. They were Albert Laurin, 27, and Sylvio Laurin, 25. A third brother, Edmond Laurin, 21, was also taken to hospital, while a fourth member of the Laurin family, Réal, 22, was found four hours after the crash wandering in a dazed condition at a neighbor's farmhouse. Police and passers-by had searched the surrounding fields and bush for his whereabouts. Réal was also taken to the local hospital, and on Monday was removed to the Neurological Institute in Montreal. All five victims suffered terrible head injuries, some with open skull fractures. Jetté also had fractures of both arms and legs.

The scene of the crash was strewn with wreckage. The steering wheel of the passenger car was 55 feet away, and a wrist watch worn by one of the victims was found in a ditch 25 feet from his dead body.

First to arrive on the scene were Albini Richer and Roland Noel, in a transport belonging to Hull-Montreal Express Ltd. It was they who saw the only conscious victim, Réal Laurin, leave the car in a dazed condition and stagger into the bush. Police officers paid deserving tribute to these men, who placed flares from their transport each side of the spot to warn approaching drivers.

Traffic Officer Howard Jones, assisted by Traffic Officer A. Legault, conducted the investigations. Inquest into the three deaths will be held by District Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur as soon as the truck driver, Philip Delmoss, and the two survivors from the death car, can appear to give evidence. The accident, which was the worst witnessed hereabouts this season, occurred between the properties of Marcel Lanctôt and Hector McRae on No. 8 highway.

A pitiable figure in Lachute next morning was Frederic Laurin, of Ste. Scholastique, father of the young men — two of whose sons were dead and two critically hurt.

Crowds at Funeral Rites

The regrets of a wide neighborhood in this triple tragedy were evidenced at the funeral rites in Ste. Scholastique — the funeral of Albert and Sylvio Laurin being held on Tuesday and that of Roger Jetté on Wednesday. Crowds assembled at the parish church to attend the last rites and testify their sympathy with the bereaved families.

County Warden Feted by Mayors

At the St. Andrews Inn last Thursday a pleasant affair was held, in the form of a supper and presentation honoring Mr. Gaston Munich of Weir, Warden of the Argenteuil County Council, on his 67th birthday. Present in the group were fellow mayors of the county municipalities, and parliamentary representatives.

Chairman was Mayor Georges Duhamel of the Parish of St. Andrews. A toast to the King was proposed by Mayor R. Whinfield of the Village of Calumet, and a toast to Canada by Mayor Dr. R. B. Henry of the Township of Arundel, to which Mr. Georges H. Héon, K.C., M.P., suitably replied. A toast to the County was offered by Mayor Chas. Campbell of the Township of Morin, and a fitting reply was given by Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A.

The Hon. G. E. Dansereau, Mayor of the Village of Grenville, presented the honored guest with a brief-case, which Mr. Munich accepted, voicing the pleasure he had experienced in his role as County Warden, and in the collaboration of his fellow mayors.

The party, numbering around 20, were joined by ladies who had accompanied several of the members, and entertainment was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Guimond, talented artists who are summer residents in the district.

Ch. of Commerce Plans Ski-Run For Winter Sport

The sports committee of the Chamber of Commerce has plans for a ski-run in close proximity to Lachute, and will commence work on the clearing next week. Permission has been given by Allen Hay to clear brush and scrub from a hill on his farm property running parallel to the Brownsburg Road.

Members of the committee — André Lefebvre, Keith W. Clarke and Ken Falconer — have looked over the site, and they report Mr. Hay has already cleared a large portion of one of the slopes. The Chamber of Commerce is organizing a group to continue this clearing next Wednesday, October 6, and anyone willing to lend a helping hand is asked to contact Mr. Clarke (tel. 446) and if possible to bring the necessary tools, a saw or an axe, on that day.

The sports committee are launching this project early so that the site will be ready in good time for the winter skiing.

Hunting Season Opens in Quebec

September 25 to November 24 is the deer hunting season for Zone C in Quebec, which includes this part of the province east of the Gatineau River. In Pontiac and sections west of the Gatineau from Hull to Maniwaki, the season is slightly later, from October 1 to November 30.

With the opening of the season here last Saturday, reports from the district indicate hunters have already been active and several deer have been shot.

Supreme Court to Deal With Margarine Issue

Ottawa (CP) — The margarine issue will be the first item on the list when the Supreme Court of Canada starts its autumn term of sittings here October 5.

The high court has been asked by the federal government to determine the legality of legislation banning the importation, manufacture and sale of the butter substitute in Canada.

If the court finds the act ultra vires, the way will be open for the consumption of margarine in Canada.

Argenteuil Women's Institutes Tackle Season's Interests With Renewed Zeal

Members of the Frontier W.I. branch answered the roll-call for September meeting with "A verse I learned at school". Mrs. A. G. Leggett, county president, visited this branch, and gave an inspiring address touching all departments of the work. This branch also heard an address by a former county president, Mrs. N. E. Smillie, who gave an account of her recent visit to England. The sum of $5 was donated to the County Scholarship Fund and a gift of $5 was presented to a member who had become a bride.

Jerusalem-Bethany had Education as the theme for their meeting and answered the roll-call with "What to teach the pre-school child". Two guest speakers, Mrs. C. Baugh and Mrs. W. Fletcher, were present at this meeting. Mrs. Baugh spoke on the leadership course which she had attended at Macdonald College. Mrs. Fletcher gave a talk on flowers and plants, and also a demonstration on the making of leather purses.

Although Lachute branch held no meetings during the summer months, personal parcels were sent overseas as usual. At the close of the September meeting, this branch entertained the High School staff and wives of the School Board. The president, Mrs. Geo. Y. Deacon, welcomed the staff, and Principal F. H. J. Royal thanked the W.I. members for the different donations given to the school during the past year.

Twenty-three members and six visitors attended the Arundel meeting for September. Final plans were made for the School Fair and Calf Club Show, which were held so successfully on September 11. It was also decided to purchase a fire siren for the village of Arundel. Guest speaker at the meeting was Mrs. McCabe, English supervisor for the county schools. An address by her on the teachers' camping vacation at Lake Oolawan proved very interesting.

Industrial Safety Is Theme Stressed At Annual Dinner and Conference

More than 75 industrial men, including officials of companies, superintendents and foremen, were present at a dinner gathering at the Golf Club chalet last Monday, under auspices of the Quebec Association for the Prevention of Industrial Accidents.

The meeting was presided over by Horace J. Lamarche, manager of Lachute Creamery Ltd., and the head-table guests included:

G. A. Clermont, superintendent, Dominion Shuttle Co. Ltd.; A. Gordon McOuat, manager, T. McOuat & Son Ltd.; Hon. C. J. Arcand, former Minister of Labor; Wilfrid Morrissette, pro-mayor of Lachute Town; H. J. Lamarche, manager, Lachute Creamery Ltd.; Paul A. Cooke, principal speaker, from Quebec Association for the Prevention of Industrial Accidents; H. M. Sherwood, manager, C-I-L Ammmunition Division; R. Thomson, manager, St. Andrews Woollen Mills Ltd.

In his opening remarks the chairman said that the population of Lachute was happy to welcome once again the officials of Quebec Accident Prevention Association, and hoped the assembly, and the town at large, would benefit from their experience in accident prevention.

Pro-mayor Wilfrid Morissette welcomed the gathering in a few well chosen words and remarked on the gratifying attendance. He stressed the fact that industrial safety was a matter of primary importance, and urged everyone to take active interest in these efforts.

Paul A. Cooke, associate general manager of the Association, and speaking on behalf of Col. A. Gaboury, who is at present in Europe attending a Tripartite Industrial Conference in Geneva, gave a brief but interesting address, supporting his message with facts and figures.

He noted that in 1945 accidents in this province totalled 82,724; in 1946 they were 90,900; and in 1947, close to 97,000.

"In the Lachute district, you will probably be shocked to learn that the industrial accident situation is far from improving, in spite of the good work done, and threatens to continue in an upward trend unless by concentrated effort, we, who realize that accidents can be prevented, can give even greater power to that knowledge.

"During the past three years you have reported 644 accidents: 209 in 1945, 217 in 1946, and 218 last year.

"Most of the successful safety records obtained in industry have resulted from the proper application of a few simple principles. First of all, every plant, large or small, must have a definite safety program, and someone in authority should be responsible for correcting unsafe conditions and practices which at present exist.

"Accident prevention, on the other hand, is not a one-man job, and no program will be successful unless a force or a group of men is mobilized within the plant, and this is why for many years we have been advocating Safety Committees in industry".

The Hon. C. J. Arcand, former Minister of Labor, emphasized the importance of accident prevention to the family and to society at large. He further told the assembly that educational programs, designed to reach the general public, should be inaugurated to inform them of the havoc caused by industrial accidents — loss of production and efficiency for employers, and worse still, loss of life and limb among the employees.

Mr. R. Thompson, manager of the St. Andrews Woollen Mills Ltd., thanked the speakers.

Workers' Rally

On the following evening an open meeting was held at Lachute Auditorium for plant and industrial workers; appropriate films were shown and the message of safety was forcefully stressed from the platform.

Weekly Newspapermen Attend Annual Convention Held in Niagara Falls, Ont.

PRESENTATION OF SILVER TRAY TO RETIRING PRESIDENT

— By R. A. Giles —

It seems hardly possible that a year has passed since I last wrote telling our readers of our newspaper convention in Victoria, B.C., but such is the case and one which reminds us that the older one gets the quicker time seems to pass. It is customary that our yearly gatherings are held in different cities of Canada in order that we may better become acquainted with our whole Dominion and so be able to pass on to our many readers, its many grandeurs and opportunities.

Last week it was our privilege to attend the convention at Niagara Falls, Ont., where there was an attendance of well over 400.

Leaving home on Saturday we embarked at Montreal for Toronto arriving Sunday morning after a comfortable trip, but was it ever hot. Our western friends and others were really given a warm reception, and arrival at Niagara Falls was surely appreciated.

Perhaps the fact that I was this year president of C.W.N.A. had some influence in getting us a corner room where we had the advantage of a grand view and were able to take in the scenic beauties of the Falls without even leaving the General Brock Hotel.

Most of our members were quartered here but others less fortunate, were accommodated at the Fox Head Inn.

Sessions started on Monday morning with a good attendance, although registrations and allotment to rooms was still being looked after.

Following a busy forenoon, luncheon was served at the Parks Restaurant where Mayor W. L. Houck and others from the Parks Commission extended a cordial welcome.

With 412,000 square miles of territory, the Province of Ontario has ample space for its many lakes teeming with fish, and here both summer and winter sports abound for young and old. Well may it be called Canada's Vacation Province and Niagara is indeed one of its finest beauty spots. Space does not permit going into too much detail, but the galaxy of flowers of so many different colors and arranged in so many fancy designs are a fitting background to the Falls and are greatly admired by the hundreds of thousands who annually vacation there. For over 35 miles there is a frontier of historic interest and natural beauty extending from Old

"In Brownsburg"

(Specially Contributed)

In Appreciation

In appreciation of the magnificent contribution which the parish of St. Louis de France made towards the building fund of the Ottawa University during the campaign last year, His Excellency Archbishop Vachon conferred a special blessing on all the faithful through his representative on Sunday last. The objective of one million dollars was oversubscribed by $200,000. In its area Brownsburg was second only to Hawkesbury, with $16,027. The Ottawa University celebrates its centenary this year with the erection of a faculty of medicine. An enrolment of 50 students can be accepted; the number is limited by facilities in all universities. Laval can accept up to 90 students. McGill, which has an old established faculty, is permitted to accept 110.

Bridge Repaired

The work of repairing the Staynerville bridge has now been completed, and traffic is free to use this route again.

Automobile Lights

An intensive drive on those cyclops of the night which make driving such a dangerous uncertainty (one bright light flashing from the road centre), has resulted in 220 defaulters being brought to justice or to their senses during the past week. We wonder why it requires a "drive" of special intensity to check this menace; the law has always been there!

Another First

The hunting season must be open. We have seen quite a few cars decorated with a disemboweled deer displayed with a pride which would do credit to a nobler deed. Someone got a "first" again, and tradition is left to record the fact.

Human relations will change when human nature does.

Fine Record at Safety Fuse Plant

Brownsburg — Away back on November 22, 1940, the Canadian Safety Fuse Company Ltd. had its last industrial accident. In fact, there were two accidents on the same day, which is something of a record in itself for this company. Whether by virtue of the lapse, or of a grim realization of the fact, there has been no lost-time accident among the employees since that date.

In recognition of the accomplishment, the genial manager of the company assembled the employees on Tuesday last and congratulated them on this worthy record. Mr. Chalmers, while laying stress on the co-operation, foresight and care which made this achievement possible, hoped that no relaxation of the effort would mar a continuation of the fine spirit which produced such fine results. Almost two million man-hours of work went to make up this total of avoidance of accident —2,255 days free from personal injury and from all the suffering, physical and financial, so common in industry in its early period. It is a record to be proud of. It would take one man working 200 hours per month (if his union allowed him) 700 years (if he lived so long) to equal this record.

Philippe Aubin, who had been with the company for a continuous period of 25 years, and whose quota of safe working was included in the mythical 700, was presented with a beautiful gold watch and diamond studded pin. Donat Poulin and S. Seary were also presented with gold pins signifying a service period of 15 years.

All the other workers were presented with suitable selected presents as a token of the company's appreciation of their fine safety effort.

THIEVES DIG UP POTATOES

Edmonton (CP) — Hard-working thieves dug up and removed about 15 or 20 sacks of potatoes from garden lots here recently.

Gatineau LINES

Throughout Ontario and a large portion of Quebec, power companies are watching sinking levels in their water storage reservoirs these days, and urging customers to conserve electricity by eliminating all possible waste. We hope there will be some relief in December of this year, but it will be late in 1949 before all our units, including the new one, are operating at full capacity.

The question the customer is likely to ask in reply is how best can he save power, what appliances can be cut down on, to do the most good? The answer lies in the number of watts at which the appliance is rated, and the wattage of practically all electrical appliances can be found on a small plate attached to it. The greater the wattage, the more urgent it is that the appliance be used sparingly until the power situation becomes more normal.

Take water-heaters for instance. Most such heaters used in the Gatineau territory are 3,000-watts—which means they use three kilowatts of power for every hour of continuous operation. The use of such heaters only when essential would save quite a bit of power. As a 100-watt light bulb uses only 1/10th of a kilowatt per hour, it will be seen that switching off the water heater for one hour would save 30 times as much power as switching off the light bulb for the same length of time.

It all boils down to the fact that, in the home, the way to conserve electricity is not as much a matter of trying to save light as a matter of cutting down on the use of appliances.

For those who use electric pumps, there's another simple way of saving power too — don't waste water. Every time a tap is left running unnecessarily, power is wasted because the pump has to operate that much longer to replace the water used.

ENGLISH JOURNEY

By WALTER R. LEGGE

ARTICLE NO. 9

Bournemouth, which was our next base for a week is one of the finest resorts in England and was very popular with Canadians during the war, especially those in the airforce who spent their first days there after going overseas.

Bournemouth is a delightful modern city of large hotels, parks, and a fine beach, although there are ancient landmarks in the vicinity, and there are daily bus trips to a large number of interest.ng places as well as steamer trips to the Isle of Wight.

Only about five miles away is Christchurch, where there is a famous priory and the remains of a Norman castle.

A great many of the old Abbeys have interesting legends about how the location was chosen or how it was built. Christchurch priory has one of the legends which relates that it was the intention of the early builders to erect the church on a spot at St. Catherine's Hill, north of the town. Each night, however, the materials were mysteriously shifted to the present site, so it was decided to abandon the first chosen spot and build it where the materials were placed. That this was in accordance with God's will was indicated because each day there was an extra workman who was never seen to partake of meals or draw wages. One day some workmen made a mistake and cut a heavy beam too short for its intended purpose, but the next day it was found to have been miraculously lengthened. The builders then realized that the mysterious stranger was none other than the Carpenter of Nazareth.

A huge beam which is claimed to be that which was miraculously lengthened is still displayed in the Retro choir.

However, it is more probable that this site was occupied by a pagan temple and this has been confirmed by excavations. The Doomsday Book (1086) records that there was a church on the site at that time which was destroyed and the present structure commenced in 1093. It was made a priory in 1150 and the present building was completed within the next two hundred years.

It is one of the largest and finest ecclesiastical buildings in England, being of Cathedral proportions and filled with remarkable carvings and memorials.

At the entrance to the Priory is a card bearing the following words: —

and bethink thee
How holy, yet how homelike is this place,
Time that thou spendest humbly
here shall link thee
With men unknown, who once were of thy race,
This is thy Father's House, to Him address thee
Whom here His children worship face to face,
He, at thy coming in, with peace
will bless thee,
Thy going out make joyful with His Grace.

The churchyard is noted for several quaint epitaphs, the most intriguing being one known as the "Puzzle Epitaph" which reads as follows: —

We were not slayne but rays'd
Rays'd not to life
But to be buried twice
By men of strife
What rest could living have
When dead had none
Agree amongst you
Here we ten are one
Hen. Rogers died Apl. 17, 1641.

Among the many outstanding features of Christchurch Priory are the choir stalls, which have some of the finest carved detail in England. Some of them are obviously contemporary caricatures of such personages as Henry VIII, Catherine of Aragon, Anne Boleyn and others.

The guide pointed out some of the arm rests of special interest. One represents a fox preaching in a friar's gown from a pulpit, with a cock serving as clerk, presumably intended to ridicule the mendicant preaching friars of whom the canons were notoriously jealous. Another is a gossiper, with back turned while a dog licks a cauldron clean.

The series of nearly 40 misericords, or miserere seats are also of special interest. One of them is the oldest in the country dating from about 1200 with typical carvings of that period. Others show, an angel being tempted, an emaciated dog gnawing a bone, the Devil on a woolsack, a contortionist, a fish and many such designs.

Close to the priory are the remains of a Norman castle built in 901, with walls 9' 8" thick. The brief history of the castle shows that it was built in 901, King Stephen battled here 1153, King John visited here 1201, Captured by the Roundheads 1645, and ordered demolished 1650.

There are some delightful old buildings in the town of Christchurch, one of the former picturesque being the former Court House, now occupied by a scent shop.

On one day we went by bus to Salisbury which is a very picturesque town and having what is considered the most graceful cathedral in England, with the tallest spire of any in Britain 404 feet high.

Unlike most other cathedrals which were built in different periods with different styles of architecture, Salisbury was completed in one era of one style. It certainly has one of the most beautiful exteriors of them all.

In Salisbury cathedral is an old clock dated 1386, one of the two oldest in England, the other being at Wells.

At Salisbury we had an experience of substitutes for meat. Having lunch at a famous old inn, one of our party ordered what she expected was beef and was served whale meat. While it had the appearance of beef it had such a strong fishy taste that no one of the party could eat, it, although other diners seemed to eat it with enjoyment.

There is another interesting old Abbey in the neighborhood, Beaulieu Abbey locally pronounced "Bu-lee", but unfortunately we did not have time to visit it.

One day we visited Lymington, a beautiful old town where we were given one of the best meals which we had in England. There we met some residents who had been very kind to Canadian airmen during the war.

We left Bournemouth by coach for Bath passing through many interesting towns such as Wilton, Heytesbury, Westbury, Trowbridge and Bradford on Avon, stopping for lunch at Warminister. Bath is a beautiful old city widely known for its medicinal springs, Georgian buildings and Roman ruins. The Roman baths are some of the most complete Roman remains in Britain and plainly show the high state of the civilization of that time.

The Abbey at Bath is very beautiful and has at times shared with Wells the distinction of being a Cathedral. It is 120 feet long and 123 feet across the transepts and parts of it date from Norman times although there has always been a church on the site since 676.

One of the features of the Abbey is the West Front, the main gable being filled with a great window and flanked with large turrets on the face of which are carved ladders with angels ascending and descending.

Bath is worthy of a lengthy visit, but our stay in England was too short to permit and we left Bath for Bristol.

Your banker works
For You

As a depositor or borrower, you value privacy in money matters. Your banker protects that privacy. Your banking transactions are not open to the eyes and ears of your competitor, your neighbor, your community.

In other words, the manager of your branch bank and his whole staff are working for you.

Contrast this Canadian way with conditions in lands where freedom is denied—where every bank is a political tool, every banker a public official working for the State! State monopoly of banking, proposed by Socialists here, would open your banking transactions to political intrusion.

Home Interests First

THE HOME-TOWN weekly has a special job to do and it does it in a special way. Free from the pressure of the deadlines under which daily newspapers labor, the weekly editor can make a more personal study of local problems and improvement possibilities. The result is a viewpoint stemming from deep interest in the community.

Recognition of the unique contribution the weekly newspaper makes to Canadian life was given last week in an address by Premier Drew of Ontario to the 29th annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association in Niagara Falls, Ont.

"The weekly newspapers of this country have a splendid tradition of impartial and fair reporting", he told the 300 weekly newspaper editors from all parts of Canada. "Because they are so close to the people in their own communities, they have at all times maintained the highest principles of a free press.

"While vigorous in their advocacy of what they believe will benefit their own community and the nation as a whole, their advocacy and their criticism is measured by a restraint and fairness which in itself is the thing most likely to protect a free press in the exercise of its great public service."

That's the way every editor likes to think of his paper as he tries to make it the mirror and the record of community.

He likes to feel, too, that each reader makes good use of his home-town weekly in making the community better, that young people are encouraged to read about and appreciate the achievements of their own town, that citizens will write to the editor with suggestions for local improvements.

The weekly provides for its area a service which no other newspaper can render. Its effectiveness often depends on its readers. In a good many cases, the interest and pride which citizens take in their home-town paper is a yardstick by which to measure the spirit of the community.

Major Cause of Fires

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, to be observed between October 3rd and 9th, is well timed to remind people to check and clean their heating equipment before the cold season sets in.

Neglected stoves, furnaces, boilers or chimneys account for about one-third of the fires in Canadian homes, causing $5,000,000 damage every year and taking the lives of 50 or more persons, statistics show. Most frequent causes of these tragedies are reported to be "overheated stove-pipes", "overheated furnace" or "faulty chimney".

Most of these tragedies could be prevented. Proper cleaning of furnaces and chimneys, and repairs to worn out or damaged equipment and cracked chimneys, will do much to prevent fires. These precautions will also help to cut high fuel bills caused by inefficient operation of equipment.

During Fire Prevention Week, next week, everyone should think of the need for greater precautions against fire. Now is the time to prepare heating equipment for winter use

DON'T drive as though a minute of your time is worth more than a schoolchild's life. You know it is not. When you drive near schools, parks, houses, please take it easy. Be prepared for emergency stops. Give the kids a "brake".

Agriculture in Britain

TRACTORS in use in Britain have increased by 40,000 and tractor trailers by 68,000. These figures — while counteracting any impression that Britain is slow in adopting agricultural advancements — show how mechanization is displacing the horse on Britain's farms, which are, in fact, as highly advanced as any in the world. More land is being cultivated in Britain, too. The Ministry of Agriculture's returns disclose that during the last twelve months 263,000 acres have been added to food production. Hundreds of acres of valuable fertile land are also being reclaimed from the sea. The same trend is seen in livestock returns. Over the same period pigs have risen by nearly half a million and cattle by a quarter of a million. Workers on the land increased by 15,000.

Defects of the New Cars

IF THEY have the money to pay for them, most people are so delighted to acquire a new-model automobile that it never occurs to them to consider if it has defects, much less complain about them. The Automobile Club of New York, however, has complaints about the design of the new models, observes The Ottawa Journal in a timely commentary. These complaints are chiefly on the grounds of the very high cost of repairs and upkeep. With increasing traffic on all highways, one would think that the automobile industry would go in for smaller cars, but perversely enough they seem to be building them longer and wider. Says an automobile club executive:

"Among the leading protests are those over the length and width of cars, which are too large to be stored in the average home garage. This has led to extensive rebuilding which in some instances amounted to at least half the cost of the car."

Other faults in the structure of the new machines are that bumpers are too close to the bodies of the cars, repairs to fenders are vastly more expensive than formerly, hoods are too long, seats are too low, and structure of the fenders increases the difficulty of tire-changing.

It is not a new thing for an automobile manufacturer to design and build an automobile in such a way that expert mechanics with special tools are needed to carry out even minor repairs (continues The Journal). A case can be made for this type of designing because the amateur mechanic who may save $2 by tinkering with some part of his car today may have to pay tenfold for his ineptitude tomorrow. But it is undoubtedly against the public interest for automobile manufacturers to build automobiles in which safety factors are reduced and repair charges increased. The motorist is well served by such organizations as the Automobile Club of New York which draws attention to these structural defects and urges a remedy.

RURAL people have crowded into the cities because they can earn more money in half as many hours of work. They have joined unions which prevent them from working long enough to get both food and houses. Their high hourly earnings make the cost of goods they produce too high for farmers. Farmers must get prices for food which are too high for city workers who will not work hard enough or long enough.

— Granby Leader-Mail

ETERNAL VIGILANCE

It should be remembered that the battle against rodent pests is a never-ending one, and it is only by eternal vigilance that they can be kept down. The loss caused by rats in destruction of food runs into millions of dollars annually, and they are among the worst disease carriers known.

CONVENTION HELD AT NIAGARA FALLS

Fort Erie past the Falls to Fort George and Navy Hall. One sight in particular never to be forgotten, is the gorgeous coloring of a full semi circular rainbow which is visible through mist and sun and of course at night the vari-colored lights give the impression of "Fairyland".

Distinguished speakers were in attendance and we were honored with addresses from Hon. George Drew, premier of Ontario, Mr. Parker, of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association, and John Fisher, world famous commentator, whose message was re-broadcast later from coast to coast.

Hosts at some of our meals were Vernon C. Knowles, of the Canadian Bankers Association; Johnston, Everson and Charlesworth; and the officers of the Canadian Insurance Association, all of whom expressed sincere appreciation of the splendid work being accomplished by the weekly newspapers.

At the closing banquet on Wednesday evening, awards were made in the various newspaper competitions, certificates and trophies being presented to winners of different classes, for such contests as "Best Front Page", "Best Editorial Page", and others, all of which encourage papers to become more interesting.

People on the outside frequently wonder what conventions are held for. Well, most attendants look and listen, they horn in on those little gatherings that collect in corners of bedrooms, they give attentive ear to addresses and discussions in order to bring out their own problems and get them tossed around by people who might have solutions to them.

Other things come out of conventions however. There are business sessions where important things are decided. Officers are elected. Old friends are met, new ones made and tepid ones warmed up. But the big accomplishment of any convention is the exchange of ideas and it is only at such a gathering that that can be done, and all with the result that it helps publishers build bigger and better papers.

Wednesday evening was the closing dinner at which Col. J. B. Maclean of The Maclean Publishing Company, Toronto and Dr. S. J. Dornan of Alameda, Sask., were both honored in receiving Life Memberships. A beautiful silver tray, suitably engraved, was presented to the writer on the occasion of his retirement as president, a position which though strenuous, was a distinct honor to fill. The new president is Chas. Allbon, of Springhill, N.S.

Special appreciation was extended to the Railways who have been most generous with their courtesies and the three day gathering was brought to a close by a dance in which most members participated.

To those looking for a beautiful vacation spot, we have no hesitancy in recommending Niagara Falls.

Indians Learn Customs From Hollywood Crew

Calgary — It took Hollywood to bring the Stony Indians up to date on their own customs and to add a few new wrinkles as well. The film company, on location in the Banff district to film the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railroad from Calgary west to Craigellachie, B.C., had to teach the Indians about a new kind of war paint — for the film — and about zippered tepees.

The war paint was used during Indian raids on construction crews and the zippered tepees speeded up erection and striking of the camp. The tepees also allowed camera units to poke their lenses through to get inside shots. Members of the Canadian Legion, all World War I veterans, also were garbed in 1870 clothing to play early citizens. Some half hundred persons, working with the C.P.R., laid a new piece of track for the film, for which an old engine was brought from Montreal. Authentic properties were used on all but the Indians, for whom the company provided war paint and feathers. Director Edwin L. Martin and producer Nat Holt packed up and returned to Hollywood to continue indoor scenes, delighted with the atmospheric shots they obtained in the foothills around Morley.

CAULK YOUR HOME AND SAVE FUEL

Waste in any form is a bad habit . . . this includes the extra fuel you will burn each winter if your home isn't weather tight. Once again winter is just around the corner—now is the time to prepare for it. Weather-strip the doors and windows . . . caulk your house—wherever cold air can get in and heat can get out. Your economy, multiplied by that of your fellow Canadians, will help make it certain that no one runs short. ## Deanery W.A. Meeting Inspiring and Successful Occasion at Lakefield

The annual meeting of the St. Andrews Deanery W.A. branches was held at Holy Trinity Church, Lakefield, on September 23, when nearly 150 members and friends gathered at the stone church for a day of prayer and thanksgiving, and for the interchange and fostering of ideals of Service. The Lakefield branch were happy to welcome such a large gathering, representing every group in the Deanery.

At the Corporate Communion, in which over 100 participated, the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh was celebrant, while the Rev. Harwood Jones, M.A., preached a sermon ably impressing the importance and necessity of work for missions. The Rev. A. E. Mount, at the organ, led the singing of special W. A. hymns. Rural Dean the Rev. A. E. Hawes and the Rev. Selwyn Willis were welcome representatives of the church, and took their places as leaders in the afternoon sessions.

At the close of the service, all adjourned to the Gibb Parish Hall, where the Lakefield W. A. ladies and friends served dinner.

Diocesan officers present were—the Diocesan president, Mrs. Dickerson; Diocesan Dorcas secretary, Mrs. Montgomery; Diocesan Deanery secretary, Mrs. Reilly; Education and Literature secretary, Mrs. Laws; Jr. Branch leader, Mrs. Woolcombe; Little Helpers leader, Mrs. Reynolds; Regional Adviser for the girls' branches, Miss Peggy Neve.

The Rural Dean opened the afternoon meeting with prayer, and various officers spoke on different aspects of the work. Mrs. Gordon read the minutes of the last meeting, and Mrs. Sherritt, of the Lakefield branch, was appointed Deanery secretary for next year. The thank-offering of $40 was apportioned as follows: to Miss Hazel's van work, $10; to Miss Neve's work among the girls, $20; for the hospital at Pangnirtung, $10.

At the roll-call the branches represented were — Arundel, Brownsburg, Calumet, Glen of Harrington, Grenville, Lakefield, Lachute, Rawdon, St. Andrews and Weir. The Ladies' Guild from Morin Heights, as well as many smaller groups of visitors, were also welcomed.

The meeting closed with prayer by the Rev. Selwyn Willis, of Rawdon, after which a social hour was spent over the tea tables.

Everything contributed to make this day a really happy occasion—perfect weather, a record attendance, kindly help of many good friends, and a warm, appreciative attitude on all sides. All are looking forward to a happy reunion at Brownsburg next year, when the branch there have invited the Deanery to be their guests.

55 Snowmobiles Serve Quebec Rural Schools

Quebec (CP) — Fifty-five snowmobilese will take the place of horse-and-sleigh for school children in rural parts of Quebec next winter. Dr. W. P. Percival, director of Protestant education in Quebec, said six new snowmobiles will be in use this year, and the total engaged in the rural school areas of the province will be 55. More than 1,500 children will be transported in this way.

The vehicles have solved the problem of winter transportation for the country children, said Dr. Percival. "They take the place of the horse-and-sleigh and travel at about 30 miles-an-hour through deepest snow. They save much time."

The first snowmobile was used in Gaspé only four years ago.

Being close to the people, the editor of the weekly is considered a friend and the veritable guardian of our democracy. We are happy to render homage to the editors of the Province of Quebec weekly press.

Marriage Vows at B'burg United Church

Donaldson - Moseley

The marriage of Miss Katherine Janet, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Moseley, of Brownsburg, to Mr. Kenneth James Donaldson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Donaldson, also of Brownsburg, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, September 11, at two thirty o'clock in the Brownsburg United Church. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. B. Hicks, assisted by the Rev. S. J. Pike. Mrs. Cedric Wheeler played the wedding music.

Gladioli and asters, in shades of salmon pink and white with fern, formed the decorations in the church.

The bride was attended by Miss Jean Damant as maid of honor and the Misses Rachael Moseley (sister of the bride), Bernice Gordon and Jean Hargraves as bridesmaids, also a flower girl, Miss Janet Bryce, of Bermuda. Mr. Clifton Morrison was best man, while Messrs. Harry Moseley (brother to the bride), Keith Low and Harold Hargraves acted as ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace over satin, having a bertha collar, piped in satin, and puffed sleeves, styled with a satin corset over a fitted bodice. She wore elbow-length satin mitts and her fingertip-length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a padded satin halo with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a round bouquet of American Beauty red roses. Her only ornament was a four-strand pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

The maid of honor wore a gown in apple green taffeta with matching net cape, while the bridesmaids were in salmon pink fashioned on the same lines. They wore matching picture hats and short fingerless gloves, and carried nosegays of Colonial sweet peas. The flower girl, in pink sheer, carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Mrs. Moseley, mother of the bride, was wearing a floor-length dress of baby blue crepe with navy accessories, and a corsage of mixed sweet peas.

Mrs. Donaldson, mother of the groom, wore a floor-length dress of cerise crepe with black accessories, and a corsage of mixed sweet peas.

Afterwards a reception was held in the church hall. The newlywed couple left on a motor trip to New York, the bride travelling in a grey checked gabardine suit with dark green accessories and a corsage bouquet of gladioli. They will reside in Pte. aux Trembles, Montreal.

Given in marriage by her brother Mr. Clarence McTague, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Gladys McTague, as bridesmaid. Mr. Ralph Hughes acted as best man.

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned with a net yoke, fitted bodice and a full skirt; the gown had long fitted sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her finger-tip veil was attached to an off-the-face halo-shaped crown, and she carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

RESIDENT DIES AT NORTH GORE

Late Wm. John Chapman

After a lingering illness, William John Chapman passed peacefully away at his home at North Gore on Wednesday, September 22, in his 46th year. The eldest son of the late Albert Chapman and of Dora Brown, the deceased had been in poor health for some time and confined to his bed for the past six months.

He leaves to mourn his loss his loving mother, a sister and brother in the vicinity, and a nephew and foster-sister, and other relatives.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh on Friday afternoon at St. John's Church, Shrewsbury. Hymns sung were "A few more years shall roll", "I heard the voice of Jesus say", and "Forever with the Lord". Mrs. William Brown, aunt of the deceased, was accompanist for the hymns.

The remains were laid to rest beside his father, who predeceased him a little over five years ago. Pall-bearers were four uncles of the departed—Messrs. Dan, David, Moses and John Brown.

Apology doesn't come easy, but it goes a long way.

ON GUARD

Day and night, more dependable than ever

TODAY, telephones are four times as free from "trouble" as twenty years ago, and there are twice as many of them!

Each month 10,000 are being added so that soon all may have dependable telephone service and the security that goes with it.

This is being done in spite of rising costs, yet up to now there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 21 years ago.

For you, this means greater value than ever before; for us, the satisfaction of providing "the best telephone service at the lowest cost".

Every month the Dominion Bureau of Statistics issues the cost-of-living index. Consumer groups, trade unions, employers, the government and many others know the importance of accurate figures on the cost of living.

To keep the basis of the index up-to-date the Bureau is doing a survey across Canada to find out what percentage of income the average family spent on food, clothing, shelter, recreation, and other items in the past year.

We don't call at all homes. We can get a good picture by questioning a fraction of all families, chosen "out of a hat". If yours is chosen it will represent many other families like it in size, composition or income.

Don't worry if you don't know exactly how much you spent on everything. You will know some of your expenses accurately, but we realize you will have to estimate others. The Bureau representative will gladly help you fill out the questionnaire.

All Bureau representatives carry identification cards. Information you give to the Bureau is strictly confidential. No other source, public or private, can gain access to the information you give about yourself or your family.

If you happen to be in the sample of Canadian families, please give the Bureau representative full co-operation. You will be performing a worthwhile service as a citizen.

Bread and Rolls The Easy Way

There are two trends in today's living. Some people must always have the latest model, whether it is a car, a dress or a kitchen gadget. Others cling to antiques, thinking that because a thing is old it must be good. The same idea applies to food. Many families enjoy the same dishes made in the same way, year after year, while others want variety and are pleased when the cook tries a new recipe.

The good homemaker keeps the best of the old but introduces enough of the new to lend variety.

Bread, the standby in a man's diet, used to be made in every home by laborious over-night methods and baked in out-door ovens built of field stones. This method still has a place as a tourist attraction but there are newer and better ways.

Nothing can exceed the drawing power of the aroma of freshly baked bread in bringing the family to the table, but often that pleasure is denied them because the homemaker considers bread-making too difficult. The home economists at Ottawa have been working on bread-making methods and have recommended the following instructions for making bread at home.

White Bread

4 Cups liquid (water, milk or potato water), 2 cakes compressed yeast OR 2 envelopes (2 tablespons fast-rising dry yeast), 3 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons salt, 12 cups sifted all-purpose OR Canada Approved flour (approx.), 3 tablespoons fat, melted.

Mixing: Scald liquid, cool to lukewarm. Use ½ cup of the lukewarm liquid to dissolve yeast; dissolve sugar and salt in remaining liquid, add yeast mixture. Add 3 cups of flour, beat well; add melted but not hot fat, blending thoroughly. Gradually stir in enough of remaining flour to make a dough that does not cling to the bowl and can be easily handled.

Kneading: Turn out on lightly-floured board. Knead about 10 minutes or until smooth and elastic and small bubbles appear on surface.

First Rising: Form dough into a ball and place in a lightly-greased bowl, turning dough over once or twice in bowl to lightly grease the surface. This prevents a crust from forming on dough. Cover bowl and let stand in a warm place, about 80°F., away from draughts, until dough retains a finger print when pressed lightly or is double in bulk, about 2hours.

Dividing: Turn dough onto board and divide into pieces that will half-fill baking pans. Allow to stand a few minutes before shaping.

Shaping: Knead pieces slightly, shaping into loaves or rolls. Place in greased pans and lightly grease surface of dough.

Rising in pans: Cover and set in warm place to rise until dough retains finger print or is double in bulk, about 1 hour.

Baking: Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., until the loaves or rolls shrink from the sides of the pan and give a hollow sound when tapped, about 1 hour for bread, 25 to 30 minutes for rolls.

Cooling: Remove from pans immediately and place on racks or set crosswise on top of pans. Do not cover while still warm. If a soft tender crust is desired, brush loaves with milk or fat as soon as taken from the oven. Yield: 4 loaves, approximately 1½ lbs. each.

Women's Institute Meetings for September

Lakefield had as their roll-call, "A subject I would like to study". Mrs. Reggler and Mrs. Levitt were to hold a card party to help the funds. The Fair List for 1949 was read and discussed, and prize money for the last Fair exhibits was distributed. The raffling of an afghan realized $30 for the funds. Mrs. Ross Evans was the winner.

Mille Isles held their annual community picnic the latter part of August. Prizes were awarded for the races, in which both old and young participated. A table of home-cooking at this event netted over $26 for the funds; $17.25 was realized from the drawing on an Ayers bedthrow, which was won by Mr. Alex Wilson of Montreal. The September meeting took the form of a social evening at Le Gite, the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. H. Beardmore, when 80 members and guests enjoyed square dancing.

Morin Heights branch reports over $657 raised at a "court whist" to purchase the necessary uniforms for the Morin Heights fire brigade. The last "military whist", held in June netted the funds $9.50. At the September meeting Mrs. John Watchorn, the new president, was in the chair. A personal parcel is to be sent overseas. Members were presented with prize money won at the handicrafts display at Lachute Fair. Mrs. J. W. Green reported on the June convention held at Macdonald College. Reports of the sick committee were also heard. Several members attended the School Fair held at Arundel.

Pioneer branch held a cut-flower show, with prizes. Mrs. C. Baugh was guest speaker at this meeting and gave a talk on the leadership course at Macdonald College. Plans were made to have Miss Guild give a demonstration in November. Prize money won at Lachute Fair was given out. This branch resumed their First Aid class on September 9.

Upper Lachute - East End branch catered to a wedding on September 4. Three new members were welcomed to the branch at their September meeting. Health and Welfare being the topic, pamphlets entitled "Give Your Heart a Chance" were distributed. The sick were also remembered.

Swimming Tests at Camp Ste. Malvina

Approaching the end of the holiday season, a children's fair was held recently at Camp Ste. Malvina (formerly Bourbonnière Camps), from which Lachute branch of the Red Cross benefitted by the proceeds of $34. This successful event was enjoyed with enthusiasm by the children of the camp settlement.

Swimming tests under auspices of the Junior Red Cross were held at the beach. Two entrants, Wally Hoffman and Barry Martin, passed the senior test, while five youngsters passed the intermediate and three the junior tests. The examiner was Keith W. Clarke of Lachute, a veteran swimmer who, at request of the Red Cross, passed the children on the required qualifications.

Other citizens contributed towards the success of the fair — Elmert Berry with a cash donation, T. F. Martin with ice cream, and Bedard Ltée with a motor rug. The latter was raffled and won by Mrs. N. Routledge, who has been active this summer in the interests of the younger element around this camp community.

Navy League Has Fine Record of Service

With Navy Week in the offing, one's thoughts turn, naturally enough, to the work of the Navy League of Canada.

During the past war many of our own lads served in the RCNVR and will recall with pleasurable feelings the hours spent in the numerous hostels operated on both Atlantic and Pacific coasts for the Allied Navies as well as for Merchant Navy personnel. There was a total attendance of 11,438,807 at these hostels during the war years, meals were served to 3,111,360 men, and beds provided for 672,389.

It is interesting to note that most of these establishments are still operating and performing a very welcomed service for members of the permanent forces.

In this part of the Dominion we think of the Navy League chiefly in connection with Sea Cadet Corps located throughout the nine provinces.

In Camp Ewing, for instance, which is operated by the Montreal Division at Choisy, Que., hundreds of boys from points as widely separated as Saint John, N.B., and Timmins, Ont., spent an enjoyable and profitable two weeks each, entirely free of cost to themselves.

This building of better and healthier Canadians is an important phase of Navy League work. No matter where he pursues his career, a lad will bring something more to it for having been a Sea Cadet. . . The Youth of Today is the Man of Tomorrow — and the Navy League intends to see to it that Tomorrow's men shall be "solid citizens" with a wholesome respect for those values which democratic men the world over hold precious.

Brownsburg Confident Though Beaten 3-2 in Outset of League Finals

Brownsburg — Hull visited Brownsburg last Sunday for the first game in the three-out-of-five series for the championship of the Papineau Baseball League, and defeated Brownsburg 3-2.

It was the best game of the year, and although the local team lost, it was nice to know they stacked up even with them in the play. With their opponents' record of 19 wins and one defeat in the season, the Brownsburg boys were a little on edge; but it is confidently felt they have as good a team as Hull, and according to the feeling of the players, the Burg expects to win in Hull next Sunday, October 3.

Maurie Thompson pitched a good game, with 10 strikeouts.

Hull's strength is in the infield; they have the best in the League, fast and smart.

Short-stop Roy Maude suffered a very painful injury in the game when he stopped a batted ball with his head. He was taken to the Providence Hospital in Lachute, but after an examination by Dr. R. Lavigne, he was allowed to go home.

Russ Summers relieved Maude and came very close to winning the ball game with a two-bagger in the ninth to score one run. It is a gratifying feeling for the manager of the club to know he has spares willing to warm the bench, waiting for accidents to happen, and then stepping in to do such a good job — and in this respect Manager Maurice Danis has been very fortunate this season.

Plans are all set for the excursion to Hull this Sunday. This is the first time the Burg ever reached the finals, so the fans are urged to come along and support the home team.

There was an unprecedented turnout for the second round of the Islesmere-Lachute inter-club competition. Lachute men managed to win this one, but lost out by one point on the two-round total-point score. Jim Finlayson's 73 and Dick Richardson's 90 were the highlights of play by the Lachute lads, and these two are certainly to be congratulated for their efforts. Bobbie Ogilvie's 38 on her nine-hole round was plenty good enough, and a splendid performance. We look forward to another year, when we will bring the cup to Lachute for a change. Our good friends from Islesmere may have a thing or two to say about that, of course!

At any rate, last Sunday was a beautiful day, a golfer's dream, and all seemed to enjoy it to the limit.
