Sunday vote for mayor and council 15 candidates running for office

First constitutionally elected body for new amalgamated municipality

The mayoral office and six council seats in the new City of Lachute are to be contested by no fewer than 15 candidates. Names of the candidates were made public by the municipal secretary-treasurer, Ronald Hebert, at 2 o'clock Monday on the closing of nominations.

Of the 15 contenders, 11 are past office-holders in the Lachute and Ayersville councils seeking a renewal of mandate, either for aldermen or mayor. Following is the list of aspirants:

For Mayor

Dr. Eric Mongeon, dentist in Lachute for the past 13 years.

Dr. Zoël Saindon, physician, retiring mayor of Lachute and M.P.P.-elect for Argenteuil.

North Ward

Seat 1 —

Linton Armstrong, insurance broker; retiring alderman.

Ernest Provost, retired, a former Lachute alderman.

Seat 2 —

Dr. Marcel Coulombe, dentist.

Southeast Ward

Seat 3 —

Rodrigue Labonté, insurance broker.

Dr. L. A. Middleton, surgeon; retiring alderman.

Seat 4 —

François Charlebois, manufacturer; retiring alderman.

Elie Cyr, merchant.

Southwest Ward

Seat 5 —

Bruneau Belanger, stationary engineer; retiring alderman.

Seat 6 —

Réal Morrissette, garageman; former alderman and mayor of Ayersville, also former alderman of Lachute.

Ovila Payer, restaurant-keeper; former alderman of Ayersville.

According to the secretary the electoral list contains 1,950 eligible voters. By wards, these include — North, 748; Southeast, 648; Southwest, 554.

It may be noted the Dr. Saindon is campaigning with a team of his personal endorsement, namely, Messrs. Armstrong, Coulombe, Labonté, Cyr, Bélanger, Morrissette. The other candidates are campaigning under individual colors.

Polling Sites

Voting takes place Sunday next, July 10, from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. (D.S.T.), with polling stations situated at the Auditorium, the Knights of Columbus Hall (Lafleur St.) and St. Julien School (Wilson St.) Each property-holder or registered civic voter will cast a ballot, in his own ward, for two aldermen to represent that ward, and for a mayor.

New chairman, Dollard regional school board

Elected to replace Dr. Roger Lavigne as chairman of the Dollard des Ormeaux regional school board was Claude Hotte, a commissioner from the community of Lesage, Que. Mr. Hotte was appointed at the annual meeting of delegates last Monday evening in St. Jerome.

Dr. Lavigne, the founding president, relinquished this position due to his professional duties. In his role as chairman, he has devoted much time and study to the arduous incidentals of organization in the new school set-up. As chairman of the local Catholic school board he will also continue as representative from Lachute to the regional delegates body, of which he has been elected president.

Mr. Hotte is a former resident of Lachute, having been employed by Dominion Ayers Wood Products. . . The regional board comprises the following commissioners; Claude Hotte (chairman), Ronald Piché, Gaétan Desrosiers, René Gascon, Henri Boivin, Jean-Paul Corbeil, Marcel Lajeunesse, Lucien Durocher and Louis-Joseph Dumais — the latter having been appointed to replace Dr. Lavigne on the regional commissioners.

Centennial Year innovation —

Four recitals planned for next concert season

The season of 1966-67 will be "bonus year" for Community Concert members. Thanks again to good membership enrolment and careful budgeting, the Association directors will be offering four concerts, instead of three, to subscribers next season as a special Centennial "splurge".

It is notable that last season's programs were all-Canadian in their cast. Due to booked-up tour arrangements, it was not found possible to procure all-Canadian artists for the coming year, with one exception — a vocal duo starring latterly in Montreal and with a fine record abroad. But the highest quality is assured for all four programs to be presented for subscribers' enjoyment. The artists and approximate dates are as follows:

October, 1966 — The Marlowes, a two-brother piano team.

April, 1967 — Micheline Tessier and Gaston Germain, of Montreal, soprano and bass-baritone singers.

The membership campaign was reviewed, and the budget prepared, with the above results at a meeting of the directors last week, held at the home of the Association president, Mrs. Jacques Bedard. Present to negotiate details was Mr. Leo Bernache of Ottawa, Canadian manager for the Community Concerts organization.

Any desiring further information may telephone: Mrs. Jacques Bédard (562-2650), Miss Juliette Rodrigue (562-6057), or Mrs. G. R. Rigby (562-5733).

Old St. Andrews citizen descended from nobility

Mr. Kenneth Ronald de la Ronde, an old resident of St. Andrews East who died recently in Montreal, was a descendant of a very old, aristocratic family, dating back to the King of Portugal, also Philip II, the House of Denys, also Sir François Paul Denys, Duc de Thibaudière, and many other aristocrats.

Mr. de la Ronde was the son of the late Ronald Denys Gaspard de la Ronde, K.C. He leaves one son, Ronald Herbert. His wife, the former Mary Mabel Clearihue, died some years ago.

While Mr. de la Ronde was very proud of his being a "Count", he never used this title.

Regional School Board appointment

J. M. A. Turner, M.A., H.Dip.Ed., takes up an appointment as Assistant to the Director General of the Laurentian Regional Board this week.

Mr. Turner has been principal of Grenville High School since 1961; he has taught in Montreal, for the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, and has held teaching positions in Great Britain and Ireland. He has been active in the Argenteuil Teachers' Association, having been president for two years, and in Q.A.P.S.A. and P.A.P.T. affairs. He has been chairman of the Board of Managers of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Hawkesbury since 1964.

Mr. Turner graduated from the University of Dublin (Trinity College), and holds the Higher Diploma in Education from that University.

Sentiments and Sidelights

(Comments on the Local Scene)

It pays to advertise your wants. The Watchman was printed last week, but not yet delivered, before our request for white-line traffic markings was being attended to by the police department.

Also, we reported the last word on council nominations — three papers having been circulated at that time. Before The Watchman was in the mails, there were eleven nomination papers issued.

On Thursday afternoon of this week, the municipal councillors are meeting with Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation officials, also members of its Quebec branch, on the question of a master plan and the urban redevelopment project for Lachute. . . Also, this week the mayor met with the Minister of Public Works and chief engineer at Quebec, relative to the replacement of the Barron and McGibbon bridges.

It is understood that a request by Dominion Ayers Wood Division to the Labor Relations Board, to cancel the CSN's accreditation as bargaining agent, was rejected by the Board. Moreover, the Department of Labor's conciliator has summoned the company and the union to a meeting in Montreal this Thursday, and it is hoped that progress will be made towards an agreement.

C.P.R. denied petition to curtail its service

Ottawa CP — A request by the CPR to reduce its passenger train service between Montreal and Ottawa via Lachute, has been rejected, the Board of Transport Commissioners announced.

The railway's application, which was first made in 1964, asked for permission to eliminate two trains — Nos. 132-133 operating daily in each direction, and Nos. 137-138 operating in each direction on Saturdays only.

At a hearing last winter, the railway said passenger service on the Lachute subdivision lost $102,000 during the year ended Sept. 31, 1965. Elimination of these trains still would leave a daily service and reduce the loss to about $60,000.

The railway was opposed by several organizations and individuals, including three members of Parliament — Alexis Caron (L—Hull), Gaston Clermont (L—Labelle) and Roger Regimbal (PC — for Argenteuil - Deux Montagnes). . . Mr. Regimbal was the key figure in co-ordinating local opinion and in presenting the case for all interests in this area.

Mr. Caron said freight revenue should be taken into consideration in a decision to discontinue service.

The highway linking Lachute to the two cities was in bad condition, Mr. Regimbal added, and was a poor substitute for travelling by railway.

Mr. Clermont pointed out that figures supplied by the CPR showed an increase in the number of passengers in the last nine months, and suggested the increase would be even larger next year during Expo '67.

In its conclusions, the board said it was not satisfied with the financial estimates provided by the railway, and made adjustments in some areas.

As revised by the board, the figures showed the present deficit of the subdivision passenger service to be only $30,200.

Elimination of the trains as requested would provide a saving of $5,400, reducing the deficit $24,800.

Recent increases in the number of passengers and prospective demand for 1967 "are indeed good reasons why the railway's proposal should not be accepted," the board concluded.

Annual meeting, 'Regional Board of Delegates'

The annual meeting of the "Laurentian Regional Board of Delegates" was held at Lachute High School on Monday. Three representatives from each local board within the jurisdiction of the Laurentian Regional School Board are entitled to attend this meeting, to elect any replacements required on the Regional Board and to name the chairman for the ensuing year.

Mr. Willard M. C. Steeves, of Lachute, was elected to replace Mr. Lorne Duncan, and Mr. Frank Knights, of Grenville, was re-elected.

The chairman of the meeting was Mr. Leslie Cooke, of Arundel, and upon calling for nominations for chairman of the Regional Board for 1966-67, Mr. Frank Knights was unanimously re-elected to that office.

Regional Board offices were inspected by the Board of Delegates, and are now open at 65 Harriett Street, in Lachute High School.

B'burg has water shortage in higher residential levels

(By Harry McCosh)

A shortage of water in the higher parts of Brownsburg still pesters the the Town Council. Despite extensive repairs made to the dam in 1965, several citizens complained, during the July Council meeting Monday night, that they were without water at certain times throughout the day.

Municipal foreman Fernand Brisson told Council that the problem seems to lie in the size of the pipe which feeds the reservoir from the dam. He stated that the 10-inch pipe in use was not sufficiently large to keep the 140,000-gallon reservoir filled during the peak hours of consumption.

Secretary Vincent Charbonneau pointed out that many residents were using plastic swimming pools which require several hundred gallons of water to fill. He stated that the town's by-laws stipulate an additional charge of $25 for all swimming pools. He agreed to instruct the police force to make an extensive check of all pools, so that people using them could be charged the additional fees.

In response to a request from a resident that Maple Avenue South be widened and equipped with sidewalks for the protection of the many school children who presently walk on the street, Mayor René Lafleur pointed out that the provincial government under Mr. Lesage had agreed to expropriate the necessary lands along this street and had issued a contract to Riddell Construction for the widening this summer of Maple Avenue South, from the bridge to Maurice Quesnel's property.

In other business, Jacques Hebert, C.A., was hired to audit the books for a fee not to exceed $700; and a water cooler was ordered for the Municipal Hall, for $145.

No action was taken on a request from the Health Unit that garbage be taken away twice weekly during the period between April 15 and October 15 each year. Such a program would cost the municipality an additional $1,071.

Again, no final decision was reached on the purchase of an Underwood calculator for the office of the secretary-treasurer, at a cost of $715.50.

In his report, Police Chief André Roy noted 52 tickets for traffic and parking violations had been issued in June, bringing to 105 the total tickets issued since the crackdown on delinquent motorists was begun on May 1.

Catholic school commissioners take oath

The new City of Lachute Catholic school commission — recently constituted as an amalgamated representation of the Catholic taxpayers — was sworn to office last Friday. At this meeting Dr. Roger Lavigne was re-elected chairman, and the services of Conrad Legault were retained as secretary-treasurer.

It was decided at this session to hold regular meetings on the second Wednesday of each month. —Photo, Syd Drew

Dr. Saindon club speaker discusses city master-plan

As guest speaker at the Richelieu Club, Dr. Zoël Saindon, MPP-elect, spoke strongly as an advocate of town-planning, as a basis of sound economic growth. "The amalgamation of Lachute and Ayersville is an established fact," he said, "and your city council is re-vamping its administrative structure and planning its economic setup."

Dr. Saindon, provisional mayor of the city to this point, is also candidate for re-election to that office in the first duly constituted and publicly elected city council.

Basic essentials of the master plan were enumerated by the speaker as follows: (1) A map of the territory, showing contour variations (5 ft. intervals), water courses, railway tracks, highways, streets and buildings. (2) The limits and boundaries of the territory. (3) Existing water mains, drains and sewers. (4) A town plan specifying zones, including all municipal services necessary or desirable.

These working documents are the best assurance of rational development, and of adequate and economical public services. Municipal planning must embrace everything which affects our daily living; and with this in mind, the Lachute - Ayersville amalgamation is not an end in itself, but a means to develop a better community — said Dr. Saindon.

"For a long time past, our municipal councils have been criticized for lagging. But we must forget the past, profit by our experience, and — once this master plan is completed — lend our common energies to achieve the best permanent results."

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Chas. Roy and thanked by Raymond Beaulieu.

The late Omer Laurin

A building contractor here for many years, and a member of one of Lachute's oldest French-Canadian families, Mr. Omer Laurin died Saturday evening at the Argenteuil Hospital. He was 74 years of age, and is survived by his wife, the former Alice Campeau.

He was an alderman of Lachute for about 15 years, and a trustee of the Parish of Ste. Anastasie.

Besides his wife he leaves two sons and a daughter — Gaétan and Lauréat Laurin, and (Liliane) Mme Léo Bertrand, all of Lachute; also 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Of his immediate family there remain two brothers, Stanislas and Alcidas Laurin, of Lachute; and three sisters, Mme Wilfrid Campeau, Lachute, Mme Armand Campeau, of St. Hermas, and Mme Wilfrid Saint-Vincent, of St. Canut.

Rites were held Tuesday from the Menard parlors to Ste. Anastasie Church, where the funeral mass was chanted by l'Abbé Clément Laurin, nephew of the deceased. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

'A glorious feeling - among people you know and trust'

This was overheard when a Lachute customer returned after a city shopping trip, where she encountered the hustle and bustle and "don't care" attitude of big city clerks.

Recognition, fellowship and trust are basic needs, and you'll find all these attributes in Lachute. You can shop here with confidence, with friends and neighbors to help you find exactly what you need at the price you want to pay.

What Does Lachute Have to Offer?

—A large array of assorted fabrics from all over the world, styled by the finest designers.

—Men's and boys' wear, ladies' wear, and children's shops to dress anyone for any occasion.

—Experienced beauticians and expert hair stylists to care for

Week's Epigram

Worry is something like a rocking chair. It gives you something to do but it won't get you anywhere.

By BOB ATCHISON

For some time past there have been some boys shooting across a lake in the vicinity — according to a lady who lives close by. She was not complaining about the lads shooting, but was worried about the bullets ricocheting across the water. As she has a lad of her own, she seemed to know just how these boys would act. . . This, to some people, does not look like a dangerous practice, and in many cases they might think it's safer than shooting in the bush. However, this is not so; it's far more dangerous to skip a bullet off a hard surface, than it is to shoot at a fixed object. The bullet is never under control, and you cannot possibly tell where it will end up after shooting across water. I know it's fun to watch it skip along the surface, but it certainly is dangerous and should not be done. So how about it, boys? Maybe you can find a sand pit and erect a target range; this way you will be improving your aim, and will not risk blowing a hole in some person in a swimming suit.

With summer vacations once more in mind, how about giving a little thought to the safety rules? First, on your impulse to dive into that nice cool water — think about it first, don't use your head as a rock crusher. Don't be a chump and see how far you can swim; it's better to be a champ, and swim with someone close to you. As for the motorboat set, (and this is the group that sure needs a lot of common sense hammered into them): For you operators of high-powered outfits, don't be a jerk; we know you are good, but you don't have to prove it by seeing how close you can come to that small boat. Another thing, the owners of a power boat are responsible for any mishap, and you as the driver are just as responsible driving a boat as you are with a highway vehicle. You know you need at least two persons in a boat if you are pulling a water skier, so don't take a chance; you can't watch the waters ahead and the skier too. In most cases of accidents that happen in boats, as in highway accidents, the person driving is as a rule not hurt, but some unfortunate person who is behaving normally has to suffer.

So why all this? Well, on the North River last week-end we had a joker with this kind of outfit — plenty of power, but plenty of nothing where his brains should have been. He seems to think the river is for his own use, and no one else. And trying to get the provincial police in order to report this, was an object lesson in futility. After about six tries I just gave up. Just as a thought — I have tried to get these officers of the law many times before for such cases, but I still have never reached them when needed. . . But hope springs eternal.

This is the kind of thing that burns me. . . A visitor from Buffalo was directed to see me; he had a complaint and wished to tell someone. It concerned the operators of some of the fishing camps not too far north. He had made all arrangements early in the year for a fishing trip; his wife was going with him, so naturally he was concerned with accommodation for her too, but he was assured in a letter from the camp operators that he had nothing to worry about. . . Sure there was accommodation, and the lady had not a thing to worry about — except eight men in the same bunkhouse! That was the start. Then he found out that if he didn't speak French, he was just out of luck as far as the fishing guide was concerned. I can sympathize with this fisherman. It does throw you, to find out your money is good enough to accept, but nothing else. This is a sad state of affairs, when this bilingual business has to be flaunted to our neighbors to the south. Especially like this; in the brochure there was nothing of this treatment — and if this is the way it's to be, why not send out the brochures in French? Then I'm sure they would get nothing but French-speaking guests at $200 a week.

With all the shouting about what should be done, etc., why don't they set an example to their province by trying to act like gentlemen, even if they aren't. What are they trying to do to my province, blast it off the map economically? If this is their thought, they are doing a much better job than they realize. Somewhere along the line, the old saying applies: Give a stupid man a little power, and he'll show you just how stupid he is. I've written about this many-times, but don't you think it deserves a blast? Maybe there's one person who will start thinking of the province instead of a party. That sure would be something to cheer about.

Talking to Mr. Brewer of Dunany about birds — he mentioned some black and white warblers. More and more these birds are being seen, and they are a splash of color. He also mentioned the purple finches. A few of these are scrounging, while there are about 20 evening grosbeaks, mooching along the way. You know, trying to feed all these types can set the bank roll back a few layers — especially the grosbeaks, they seem to eat and eat until you think they must be full; but not a chance — what they've just consumed is just the first course. Watching them at times, I begin to think, if you happened to have your arm in the way they would eat it off to the elbow. But just having them around would be worth it, they are beautiful birds. . . As most of you have flowers in the windows these days, it might pay you to watch early in the morning for the humming birds. This is where your sugar and water will come in handy; you will see them drawing the liquid right up without a miss.

Warmer weather has forced the fishing down deep, that is, if you want to catch anything. I used this West River trolling lure some time ago, to find out what action it had, and why so many people wanted it. Now I really know. Feather-light, this lure must be worked, not just dragged along behind your boat; you have to slow down the boat too, every few feet pulling the lure up towards you, then letting it flutter back. What action! If I were a fish, I would sure take a crack at this one. (Do I hear some remarks?)

As could be expected, with the sudden change to excessive heat, the fish would be just as they are when they first see the light of day after the ice disappeared. Only, instead of being bone chilling, it's bone melting. However, they have started to rise to the fly once again, so a few of us are happy. One nice thing about this, you don't have to wear waders, you can just blow along without a care in the world — that is, until you drop into a hole about ten feet deep. I've already had my quota of baths for the year! And it's not much use in trying to smoke a pipe under water; I'll learn yet.

Earlier this evening we were listening to night-hawks, certainly a grand sound on a clear night; and you could see them too. Now we have the whippoorwills; there must be a couple of them, one bird couldn't make that much noise. This is certainly an elusive bird to see. Of course, after sundown, anything is hard to spot, but especially this one, even though you have followed the sound closely. They must be ventriloquists or something; they certainly aren't where you thought they were. . . By the way, if you should hear a slight booming sound in the dark, this is the night-hawk; he dives down with his mouth wide open, scooping up insects, and as he pulls out of the dive, the boom is from his feathers as the flow of air goes over them. You have to listen hard for this, but you can hear it.

You may remember some time ago, I told of seeing a family of young owls as they sat on a limb giving us the once-over. These birds are still in this part of the county; I heard them the other evening while fishing. . . Also, the blackbird with one leg; it's still around I think, but we also have a half-dozen of them in this state! Some of these will not survive. I spotted a couple of lads on the mountain the other day with air guns. I don't think they will be back up this way for some time! . . How about it, parents? Tell your children to give the birds a fair deal.

Fawn taken to zoo

Lachute Motor Sport Club

News, Views, Activities — by Don Smith

Meeting

The last meeting of the Lachute Motor Sport Club was held on Friday, July 1. Awards were presented to the winners of the Rally '66 put on by Lindsay Green and Ron Tilsley. The overall winners were Guy Leger and Bob Guilbert. The special women's prizes were won by Miss G. Proulx and Mrs. D. Castle. Dash plaques were also presented to the members of our club's rally team on behalf of Pierre Parent, of St. Jerome. These were for our victory over a team of cars from the C.A.D.L. Club in the Spring Rally. There is also a trophy involved, which will be presented annually to the winning team in this rally.

After the presentation of these prizes and a short business meeting chaired by Tom Smith, home movies of some of our events were shown. These included films of our stock car in action and also the Mosport Tours of 1965 and 1966. The Shell 4000 checkpoint and also part of the Rally 66 were a highlight.

Drag Racing

I understand that one of our more modest members, who wishes to remain anonymous, entered his vehicle in the races at Napierville three week-ends ago. This person ran seven heats against some wild machinery from Canada and the United States, and won them all. He wound up as class winner. Congratulations, Mr. R.

Future Events

Work is well underway on our Fall Rally, to be sponsored by Molson (Lachute) Limited and held on Sunday, August 21. This will probably be our best event to date. Mark this on your calendar, rallyists, and remember to register early.

Plans are on the board for a Gymkhana to be held around the beginning of August. To enlighten the uninformed, I shall explain that this is a "track meet on wheels". Almost all driving skills are tested in an event of this type. Not only must you know how to drive your car properly frontwards, but backwards as well. It is up to the organizers to test your driving as completely as possible. This is a very interesting spectator event, so if you don't plan on entering, why not drop by for a look? Watch this column for the time and place.

Pit Chatter

Jim Bullock and his wife Carol were presented with a wedding gift on behalf of the club members. . . Jim has now achieved his life's ambition — he's driving a Volvo P1800 as an owner. . . I wouldn't be surprised to see a Honda motorbike in our next rally. There are enough of them around these days. . . Did you hear about the blind carpenter that picked up his hammer and saw? . . Don't forget the big race at Le Circuit in St. Jovite this week-end.

THE ARNOLD Palmer Method

by GOLF'S 4-TIME MASTERS WINNER

'EXPLODE' SHORT SHOTS FROM THE ROUGH

I'm sure that all golfers can recall times when they have hit behind the ball unintentionally. They will recall how the ball sort of floated through the air and then fell short of the target.

This same shot can be made intentionally to good advantage. It should be used when you find yourself near the green with the ball lying low in deep grass.

Merely play this shot as you would an explosion shot from sand. Play the ball forward in your stance as you would on a sand shot (No. 1) and then swing so that the clubhead enters the turf behind the ball (No. 2).

The best club for this shot is a pitching wedge or a 9-iron. Such a club will float the ball out of the rough and onto the green so that it will settle quickly.

Family bereaved at Upper Lachute

The late Harold Silverson

Sympathy is expressed to the wife and four children, also to the parents, two brothers and numerous relatives of the late Harold Silverson, 30-year-old Upper Lachute farm resident, whose death occurred suddenly at his home last Friday evening.

The funeral, largely attended, took place Monday afternoon from the MacKimmie parlors to Dalesville Baptist Church, and thence to Dalesville Cemetery.

Ontario changes, H.S. final exams

Toronto (CP) — Ontario Grade 13 students had some good news just as examination time came round. Starting immediately, they need only seven credits instead of eight to graduate from high school with honors.

This does not affect university entrance qualifications, warned Education Minister William Davis. Admissions registrars at colleges count credit points or courses for themselves, ignoring the department of education's honor graduation certificate.

Nevertheless, the move will allow a few more youngsters this year to display the diploma they earned by working as hard as students in earlier years. The change followed amalgamation of separate Botany and Zoology courses into one, labelled Biology.

Mr. Davis told the legislature that Grade 13 will be abolished in two years anyway, in favor of college entrance examinations, and said the Grade 13 year will introduce specialization of study in major and minor fields.

Water Skiing WITH CLINT WARD

Whenever you find yourself approaching the dock or beach with too much forward speed, try this simple method of controlled deceleration.

Assume a sitting position, moving your weight backward on the skis. Place your hands firmly in the water, palms forward. The deeper the hands are forced into the water the more positive the deceleration.

If you are coming in to the dock or beach too slow, lean forward. This will move your weight to the front of the skis, stretching the glide.

BOATING CLINIC

BY STAN DAVIES

I received a telephone call from a man recently who said that his municipal recreation department was holding boating safety classes. He said he wanted to learn how to handle his boat, but the only classes being held were on something called "seamanship."

He said he wasn't interested in going to sea, just in how to operate his outboard on his own little local lake.

It was difficult to explain to him diplomatically that that's what seamanship is — how to handle an outboard (or any other kind of boat) on a small lake (or any other body of water).

It's boating know-how.

It's something that comes with experience — this is often the hard way, or with reading about others' experiences and by asking questions when something bothers you.

Now here are some of the questions that have been bothering other boaters. Maybe they'll help you:

When I overtake a boat in a channel, can I pass on either side? (Q. H., Bedford)

Answer: Yes. But remember you can't force him over, or endanger him in any way. He's the privileged boat and has the right of way. You must keep clear well past him.

What's broaching? (I. B. V., Queenston)

Answer: It's the action of getting out of control and being caught broadside to the waves — an extremely dangerous situation in rough water. The original expression was "broaching to."

My charts show "flashing" and "occulting" lights. They both flash, what's the difference?

Answer: Flashing lights blink on at intervals (they're off more than they're on) and occulting lights blink off at intervals (they are on more than they are off).

What's a diaphone signal? (T. H. McAdam, N.B.)

Answer: It's the technical word to describe the two-tone foghorn on lighthouses or lightships. It's a mournful sound. The second note is always lower than the first.

I'm taking a long trip through canals (Inland Waterway to Florida). I've never done it before, any special advice? (S. B., Kingston)

Answer: Until you get used to it, watch how you maneuvre in close quarters. Remember a boat doesn't turn like a car. In a boat it's the stern that swings to point the bow in a new direction. It's easy to sideswipe someone. Get practice.

DR. ERIC MONGEON, DENTAL SURGEON

TO ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF LACHUTE

It is time that our municipality had a sound and efficient administration, free of political partisanship and favoritism!

My platform is a program for all right-thinking citizens:

(1) To work for the unanimity and cohesion of our municipal administration.

(2) To direct our efforts for improvement of the tourist trade, thereby contributing to the economy of our community.

(3) To form a working team to develop our industrial life — thereby relieving the burden on the small taxpayer also raising the standard of living for average residents.

(4) To work for the improvement of recreation facilities and youth amenities in this town.

(5) To foster the progressive spirit in all its aspects, under a sincere, honest and devoted government.

'Values' exaggerated

Price-hungry housewives who shop the ads, please take note. . .

One of our Bazaar of Values advertisements shows an error this week in first-run issues, but is corrected in the bulk of the press run. Prices were transposed in two items of food, showing beef at an exaggerated bargain; the correct price is 43c a pound. . . Shoppers please note, if they may have received a Watchman with this error.

APPRECIATION

The undersigned deeply appreciates the concern and assistance of his lake neighbors, in the removal of his wife to the Argenteuil Hospital, also wishes to thank Dr. Jean P. Morin and the staff for their kindly care since her admittance to hospital.

—S. Tilden, Dunany

Friends:

A townsman of Lachute since 1907, I have already served as a member of your civic council for a period of 10 years.

Being now retired, I have ample time available, to devote to the town interests and to the progress of our community, for which my past experience qualifies me.

I am familiar with the needs of our new City of Lachute, and can give honest assurance that I will endeavor to do justice to the task and to all taxpayers.

I therefore solicit your vote next Sunday, July 10, for my candidature to Seat No. 1, North Ward.

—Ernest Provost,
44 Hope Street, Lachute

Citizens:

A native of Lachute, I have served as secretary of this corporation for 10 years (1948-58) — then as secretary of Ayersville Municipality (1959-1963), and finally as councillor (1964) and mayor (1965), up to the amalgamation of the two communities. I therefore feel I have the experience to contribute to the sound, sane administration of our affairs.

The new City of Lachute needs men of such practical experience as I have to offer — a man versed in the prime needs of the taxpayers, and the provision of those needs by economical means.

I ask for your kind support, and pledge my earnest devotion.

—Jacques Poitras
Candidate for Seat 2,
North Ward

How to make money make money

Take a sum you can comfortably afford to invest . . . say $500. Put it in Investors Mutual of Canada Ltd., or Investors Growth Fund of Canada Ltd. Add to your account every month and reinvest all dividends. Your modest investment will have wide diversification and professional management — advantages which only a millionaire could once afford. Wondering about results? An investment in Investors Mutual has more than tripled since 1950. Yes, this is the way to make money make money.

A&P do pennies make a difference in your food bill?

You bet they do.
And we should know.
We built our business by saving pennies for generations of folks like you.

For instance, take our policy on multiple-priced items.

If an item is priced 3 for 25¢,
The price for one is obviously 9¢.
But what happens if you want two ?
Do you pay 2 times 9¢ or 18¢ ?
Not at A&P.
We sell it at 2 for 17¢.
That's the fair way — the A&P way.

Yes, in the food business . . .
in food budgeting, pennies make a difference.
We watch them for you and for us.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P ? It's one of many.

Former resident, well known here, died in Montreal

Late Mrs. George F. Miles

Funeral service was conducted by Archdeacon F. J. Sinnamon last Saturday for Mrs. George F. Miles, who died June 29 at the Grace Dart Hospital following a lengthy illness. A long-time resident of Lachute before moving to Montreal, she was 83 years of age.

Mrs. Miles, the former Laura Emma Palmer, was from Purton, Wiltshire, Eng. She and her husband came to Montreal at the turn of the century. They lived in Lachute from 1919 to 1951 and were members of St. Simeon's Anglican Church.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Miles is survived by two sisters in England, Mrs. Helen Vear and Mrs. Alice Ellison; three sons, George P. Miles of Pointe Claire, Henry J. Miles, of Montreal, and Herbert R. Miles, of Fabreville, and seven grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the D. A. Collins Chapel in Montreal, with interment at Rideau Memorial Gardens.

From Canoga Park, Calif.

News from a former Lachute family in California, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janson (Kirsten Jacobsen) notes that their daughter Karen was among 560 students graduating from Grade 12 at Reseda High School. The graduates, with their beaux and belles, from 33 schools attended an all-night grad party at Disneyland. Karen Janson is now enrolled at Pierce College not far from her home, in Woodland Hills, Calif.

Local Witnesses to assist at big convention

Members of the Jehovah's Witnesses in Lachute are preparing to attend the largest convention of Bible instruction ever held in Quebec, from July 13-17. English sessions will be held in the Montreal Forum, while French ones are going on at the Atwater Market.

Mr. Reginald Hoffmann, presiding minister here, said, "While many local residents are packing their canoes, fishing gear and picnic baskets for their summer cottages, Witnesses are getting Bibles and note books ready in anticipation of this five-day seminar.

"Almost everyone enjoys a new hit tune," added Mr. Hoffmann, "however, we have a new songbook in time for the assembly which contains 80 new tunes and lyrics, written by Witnesses on six continents. An orchestra of about 30 musicians will help us become familiar with these new themes so we can sing them in our own congregation following the convention."

Mr. Hoffmann explained, "Even though the assembly sessions are designed particularly for adults, we make sure that our children listen attentively to all the Bible instruction given. We find they learn quickly and absorb an amazing amount of information.

"Many of us have volunteered our services to work in one of the 21 departments, particularly in the cafeteria and attendants departments. This will permit us to make many new friends since delegates are expected from 39 American states and nine Canadian provinces.

"Lachute Witnesses are especially looking forward to the explanation of current events in the light of Bible prophecy that will be given on Sunday in the public talk, 'What Has God's Kingdom Been Doing Since 1914?'."

Mrs. W. Bolster, of Springfield, Mass., Mrs. W. Tippitt, Miss Barbara Tippitt and Miss Wendy Batchelder, all of Wilbraham, Mass., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Giles last week. Mrs. Bolster is remaining for a further two weeks.

Mrs. H. Miller and daughter, Doreen, of Montreal, have been guests this week at the home of Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Wm Belanger.

Lady resident, of English birth, died Monday

The late Mrs. T. Iddon

Following a heart attack, Mrs T. Iddon passed away on Monday, July 4, at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, where she had been a patient for the past several weeks.

Mrs. Iddon, the former Miss Bessie Wolstenholme, was born in Bury, England, in 1893, one of a family of three — Martha, (the late Mrs. T. Milnes) who predeceased her in 1957, and Bertha (Mrs. W. Atkinson), presently living in Bury. She was married to Mr. Iddon in 1925.

They came to Canada in 1928, and during their residence here have made many friends.

Mrs. Iddon was a loyal and faithful member of St. Simeon's Anglican Church and formerly sang in the choir of that church; she was also a member of the Women's Institute.

The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon from St. Simeon's Church, conducted by the rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang.

Pall bearers were — Messrs. Geo. Leggett, Russell Elliott, R. A. Giles, Fred Stansfield, Jack Lavis and Melvin Scott.

To the Electors

Having agreed to accept renomination for the Council seat, I again offer my services, and trust that my record will deserve the support of voting taxpayers in the Southeast Ward.

I am neither for nor against any past or prospective office-holder. My prime interest is in sound civic government, and against the wastage of public funds.

TRAVEL with Jesus to BIBLE TIMES
Via Harrington V.B.S.
What must it have been like to live day by day with Jesus? The disciples had a wonderful privilege — walking with the Lord, listening to him speak, watching him work, and just chatting with him as together they went about the daily tasks before them.
This year at Harrington Vacation Bible School you will do the next-best thing. You will discover what life was really like in Bible times. You will walk with the men of God through the events recorded in the Bible. You will hear God speak through his Word. You will "TRAVEL TO BIBLE TIMES" in the "Living with Christ" courses.
The Harrington V.B.S. offers interesting Bible courses, and enjoyable classes in handicrafts for young people from ages of 6 through 16.
Everyone welcome!

COMMERCIAL PRINTING — THE WATCHMAN PRESS

THANK YOU!

In the past few weeks I have been approached by several groups who very kindly invited me to accept nomination as a candidate for the mayoralty of Lachute in the forthcoming election.

I was grateful and honored by the confidence thus expressed. On the other hand — when I accepted my mandate as representative to the House of Commons, I pledged my FULL time, energy and effort to the assignment; and I have found that, whether in opposition or in government, it could not be otherwise. I believe the same applies to any elected representative.

For this reason I refused the nomination, as it would have been unfair to the citizens of Lachute to take another course. I have no hesitation, however, in offering my unqualified support to Dr. Eric Mongeon for the mayoral office.

— FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS —

Morin Heights

Pre-nuptial Shower

An event in connection with the approaching marriages of two Morin Heights young ladies — Miss Heather Campbell and Miss Cherrill Kilpatrick — was a community shower held last Monday week, by their many friends and well-wishers. The scene of the gathering was the United Church hall, where refreshments were served and the evening duly climaxed by a presentation to Miss Campbell and Miss Kilpatrick, who each received an electric frypan and an electric coffee maker.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Seale and children journeyed to Kingston for a week-end visit to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fraser and family, who recently took up residence in that city.

We regret to report that Mrs. Emma Watchorn is presently undergoing medical treatment in the Montreal General Hospital. Her many friends hope for her speedy recovery and return.

Mr. Robbie Cameron, of Toronto, is spending a few days renewing old friends and acquaintances in Morin.

Ballet Instruction

If you are between the ages of four and 40 (or over) and interested either as an observer or participant in dancing, drop around to the Morin Heights Protestant School about 9.30 any Saturday morning. There you will see four age-groups of children cheerfully executing the many gyrations involved in the instruction of Ballet.

The week before last, 48 children attended the first assembly of the Morin Heights Ballet Project, which is associated with the Canadian Ballet Association. The project is convened by Mrs. L. Lummis, of St. Sauveur, with Miss Beverley Lummis as teacher and Miss Arlene Lummis as demonstrator. Mrs. Gilbert Wood has been engaged as pianist.

The classes will be in session every Saturday morning until September 3, and will be extended into the winter months if a sufficient number of pupils are available. At present, a few vacancies exist, so — "Pas de Deux" anyone?

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express sincere thanks and appreciation to all my relatives, friends and neighbors who sent cards, flowers and gifts, and those who visited me while I was a patient at the Smith Clinic. Special thanks to the United Church Women, to Dr. Kirby, and the nurses.

—Mrs. Elizabeth MacTavish

N.W.T. IS UPSIDE DOWN

One of the main problems the North faces in its governmental system is that it evolved in a cart-before-the-horse fashion. It started out with government from the top — the federal level — instead of government from the bottom — the local level.

Silver wedding of Grenv'l couple

Grenville — Many relatives and friends congregated at the 'home' of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cooke, on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday, June 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke were married in the St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Montreal, by the Rev. W. J. Ellis. Prior to her marriage Mrs. Cooke was Elsie Trineer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trineer, Sr.

They received many tokens, including a substantial gift of money from the employees of Gatineau Boom Co. and also C.I.P., Hull, Que. The presentation was made by Mr. Don Courchesne, of Hull C.I.P. office. Mr. Cooke has been associated with these companies for the past 35 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke have a family of two, Miss Valerie, employed with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Ottawa, and Lorne Clifford, at home.

Guests from a distance included — Mrs. Ted Murray, Mrs. Emma MacDougall and Mr. Clarence Murray, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Murray MacCullough, of Renfrew, Ont.; Mr. D. Courchesne and son, Michael, of Gatineau, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Zimmerman and daughter, Pamela, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Trineer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Budd Urquhart, and the Rev. and Mrs. G. Long, all of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hinde, Lyanne and Elizabeth, of Pointe Claire; and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Canning, of Cushing, Que.

Induction service at Morin Heights United Church

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — The Montreal Presbytery of the United Church of Canada under chairmanship of the Rev. J. E. Munson, B.A., B.D., of St. Lambert Church conducted the service for induction of the Rev. E. Bruce Copland, M.A., D.D. as minister of the Morin Heights, Shawbridge and St. Jerome pastoral charge, in the United Church on Tuesday evening last week. Assisting the Rev. J. E. Munson were the Rev. J. Ralph Watson, B.Com., B.A., B.D., secretary of the Montreal Presbytery; the Rev. E. Lloyd Ivany, M.A., B.D., Th.M., of Cushing, and Mr. W. S. Earl, member of the Montreal Presbytery.

Some 40 years of the Rev. Copland's ministerial life were spent in Formosa and other parts of Eastern Asia, where he, with Mrs. Copland, carried on the work of missionary and minister of the gospel. He succeeds the Rev. J. Ronald McCullough, who left recently to become senior chaplain of the Kingston, Ont., Penitentiaries.

The induction sermon was given by the Rev. Ivany. A solo was rendered by Mrs. Paul Munger. Mrs. George Watchorn played the organ, with members of the choir leading the singing.

Following the induction service, the congregation retired to the church hall, where refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

Elder Mark Sims, on behalf of the pastoral charge, conveyed thanks and appreciation to the commission of Presbytery for their services, and extended a sincere welcome to the Rev. and Mrs. Copland. Responses were cordially expressed by the Rev. Munson and the Rev. Copland.

IN APPRECIATION

We take this opportunity of thanking our kind relatives, friends and neighbors, for making our 25th wedding anniversary such a happy and memorable occasion.

—Clifford and Elsie Cook

100th Anniversary of Arundel church in August

Arundel — The centennial committee for the coming anniversary observance at Arundel United Church, has prepared its program for that occasion, August 27-28. It is hoped that all persons associated with the church, past or present, will be attending, to help celebrate this 100th anniversary. Following is the program of events:

August 27, Saturday —

Tea in the church hall, 3-5 p.m. (Exhibits).

Dinner in school auditorium, 7-8 p.m.

(b) Slides of Old Arundel.
(c) Musical program, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Davis.
(d) Birthday cake and coffee.

August 28, Sunday —

Church Service 11 a.m., with special speaker the Rev. Norman Slaughter, of Erskine and American United Church, president of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference, United Church of Canada.

Grenville district Bible Society

Annual meeting of the district Bible Society at Grenville was held in St. Matthew's Anglican Church on June 22. The meeting was largely attended and reports were very favorable financially.

At this meeting Mrs. Nolan MacLean was re-elected president. Mrs. Clifford Cooke, a former past-president and vice-president, for several years, was elected as secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Mary Steele, who was made an honorary life member of Montreal district in recognition of her long and faithful services to the Bible Society, was also named "honorary secretary-treasurer" at this meeting. Mrs. Steele is now greatly missed in this work, being confined for many months as a patient in Pleasant Rest Home at Hawkesbury.

The Rev. Dr. Johnson, Montreal district representative, showed a film and gave a lecture on the work being done by this wonderful society throughout the world.

Other clergy participating included — the Rev. Mr. Ivany, United Church, Grenville; the Rev. G. Long, St. Matthew's; and the Rev. Mr. Parks, Pentecostal Church, Grenville.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served in the mission room of the rectory.

Candidate

PHILIPPE MASSON, candidate for alderman, seeks a renewal of mandate for Seat 3, Southeast Ward, on the merit of his two years' service on Town Council. He is a lifelong resident, and a businessman who knows the needs of this municipality.

EDITORIAL PAGE

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Parents and teen-agers

SOME TIME AGO a car laden with six young people went off the road, turned over and stopped, in a small New York State community at the early hour of 2 a.m.

Luckily none of the passengers were killed, but all were either pinned in the wreckage or knocked-out. At 7 a.m. the wreckage was discovered by a passing motorist.

The important point here, is that not one of the parents had notified police authorities by that 7 a.m. hour that their children were missing.

Sounds incredible, doesn't it? And we may say that such an occurrence could never happen here. But disturbing instances of like behaviour on the part of parents are being reported more frequently than thought possible.

We are living in an age that requires great determination on the part of a teen-ager. Determination is also necessary on the part of the parents. They must so influence their children that "right and wrong" still remain uppermost. They must exercise more, not less, guidance in the orderly development of our youth — discipline, love, family, respect for right and wrong.

We hope no parent in this community will ever be guilty of the gross neglect characterized above and cited in the Westfield (N.Y.) newspaper, The Republican.

Splintered Christianity

JIM BROWN, Ed Smith, Bob Jones and Dan Murphy are salesmen for the same company; they are also good friends. They belong to different political parties, and they get involved in friendly arguments over party platforms. But they soft pedal religion. — Why?

They belong to different faiths, that's why. But if one asked them just where their religious convictions differed, they would, apart from Dan Murphy, be hard put to it to find an answer.

Now, for the sake of argument, let's suppose that the company which employs our four salesmen splits up into rival companies, each selling the same product under a different brand name. What happens to its salesmen? . . They become rivals, too, who encroach on each other's territory and steal each other's customers.

Well, that is what happened to Christianity. What were in reality Boards of Directors, made up of rigidly uncompromising theologians, pushed out these reformers who desired to loosen somewhat the straitjacket of conformity, thus forcing them to form rival groups.

Now in the beginning, all Christians from Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, right down the line were salesmen. And what did they sell? The Gospel. But present-day Christians, divided by a common faith, leave salesmanship to the clergy, and smugly go their separate ways, avoiding treading on their neighbors' religious corns, and keeping their own out of harm's way.

Indifferent to the fact that the One Leaven leavens the whole lump of Christianity, and that there can be unity in diversity, we are no longer fellow citizens in each other's churches, but strangers. . . Is not this a tragedy?

Choosing sides

A VIEW HELD by some Canadians is that when our government decides to disagree with the United States in serious matters of foreign policy, all it's doing is twisting the tiger's tail.

They reason that statements from Ottawa are most unlikely to get Washington to alter its stand. And if that's the case, the thinking goes, then why take a position that will only annoy the Americans?

After all, if the U.S. should decide to get nasty some day, it could take action that would give Canada's economy a real jolt.

This point of view doesn't appear to be shared by Prime Minister Pearson. And when he twists the tiger's tail he likes to do it where the Americans will notice — right in the United States.

Delivering an address in Springfield, Ill., Abraham Lincoln's home-town, Mr. Pearson placed a major share of the blame on the U.S. rather than France for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's present predicament.

The U.S., bitter over France's decision to pull out the NATO's integrated defence force, has tried to cast the French in the role of outcasts.

Mr. Pearson says the Johnson administration is wrong in trying to isolate France; that it should instead tackle the basic cause of the malaise.

The Canadian prime minister supported President de Gaulle's contention that Europe should not be forced to rely for its security against Communist attack on nuclear weapons under sole U.S. control.

His point is that NATO should be more of a partnership and less a body dominated by the United States.

Only a few days earlier, at a NATO ministerial meeting in Belgium, External Affairs Minister Martin had worked effectively to head off a U.S. move to withdraw the NATO council headquarters from Paris.

The Canadian approach seems to be based on the hope that France might still agree to remain in the integrated defence force but that in the meantime it's important not to do anything to aggravate the existing breach.

For although Mr. Pearson has sided with the French in many of their arguments, he does not in any way support France's departure from NATO and retreat into nationalism.

As one of the founding fathers of NATO, Mr. Pearson apparently feels a special responsibility for trying to keep it from breaking up. And he evidently thinks the chances of saving it are worth the risk of antagonizing Washington.

For 'Portable' pensions

OFFICIALS from the Canada Pension Plan and the Quebec Pension Plan are due to hold talks soon with their opposite numbers in the U.S., Clive Baxter reports in The Financial Post. Their aim is to explore ways of co-ordinating the three plans to achieve a degree of portability—i.e., provision for an individual to carry his pension credits from country to country. The talks, due to be held either in Washington, or in Baltimore where the U.S. Social Security plan has its headquarters, will be one of a series for the CPP officials. They have already held meetings with British, French and West German pension officials to discuss ways of carrying pensions across borders. It is hoped discussions will lead to a formula which will make it possible to pay into one plan or the other and still collect the full benefits at retirement.

Viewpoints and perspectives

BEAUTY'S NO ACCIDENT. — Time and time again city planners have cursed their predecessors because they overlooked beauty as an integral part of the over-all planning of their cities. Making a city attractive is not something that just happens — it is something that has to be planned.

Centennial Report

Report No. 12

A few weeks ago I wrote about the Confederation Train and the Centennial Caravans which will be criss-crossing Canada during the summer months of 1967 with exhibits of Canadiana.

During the second week of June we had test-run, set-up and dismantling trials for the Caravans at communities in Ottawa area. It was quite an exciting operation — almost like a big army test exercise.

The first eight enormous tractor trailers — the largest vehicles ever to be used extensively on North American roads — travelled all the way to Ottawa from Calgary where the vans were made by the Alberta Trailer Company. The eight 73-foot vehicles represented one of the eight Caravan units which will visit more than 700 Canadian communities in Centennial Year.

While the trailers were not decorated on the outside nor did they contain interior exhibits for the trials, there was much exacting work to be done.

The setting up of a Caravan on site is like putting a giant Mechano set together. First the drivers must be able to bring the huge vehicles to the site, squeezing around tight corners, through underpasses and under wires, move the vans into a quadrangle formation on site and then remove the tractors.

Drivers — there will be 88 of them specially trained and under contract for the eight Caravans in 1967 — must be able to park the vans with the skill of a precision machinist so that matching ramps and bridges can be placed quickly to connect the vans on site. (This ramp arrangement allows Centennial visitors to move easily through the huge trailers and view the exhibits in a complete sequence.)

Outside the trailers, in the quadrangle, large triodesic forms go up next (tubular steel triangle construction) on which will be placed the external exhibits. When the set-up job is done — in about two hours' time — the complete set is on site ready for a colorful Centennial community fair.

On hand for the trials at Ottawa were observing officials of numerous organizations which will be involved with the Caravans — provincial police of several provinces, the RCMP which will have security officers with the units in 1967, fire marshals, members of the Defence Production Department, the Canadian Government Exhibition Commission, the St. John's Ambulance Corps, the Chrysler company which provides the tractors and so on.

On the highways the Caravan units will travel in convoy 200 feet apart to allow traffic to pass easily. In convoy travel they will be under police escort at all times. A convoy will be a mile long. (One tractor alone with trailer is almost equal to eight car-lengths.)

So the arrival of a Centennial Caravan in your community won't go unnoticed very easily. Your local Centennial organization will be announcing the date of arrival well ahead of time anyway.

Be sure to visit the Caravan for a great display of interesting and entertaining exhibits about Canada. There is something for the whole family to see.

A stranger called Summer

In about the last three decades, the face of a Canadian summer has changed almost beyond recognition.

Think back to your summers as a child. The sights and the sounds and the smells have all changed. You'd scarcely know you were in the same country.

Summer itself has not changed. As a nation half-frozen after a long, weary winter and a cold, wet spring, we still greet it with rapture and incredulity. It is the celebration of the season that has been transformed.

Thirty years ago, summer was a quiet time. The pace was leisurely. The mood was one of peace. Today, it's just the opposite. It is the noisiest time of the year, the pace is frantic, and the mood is jazzy.

In those days, summer pleasures, for the working staff, were simple. And for a couple of good reasons. He worked nine or 10 hours a day; and he didn't have any money.

When he got home, he was whacked. After supper, he might water the lawn, or do a little weeding, or just sit on the front porch until dark. Occasionally, he'd take in a ball game, or maybe drive the family around for a while, and buy everybody an ice-cream cone.

When his holidays rolled around, he didn't do much. Puttered around, painting the trim on the house, or worked in the garden. Maybe took the family to visit relatives for a few days.

In those days, summer cottages, and power boats, and resort hotels and golf were for the wealthy.

What a difference today! The working stiff gets home, and his day has just begun. He has a golf date. Or the family wants to go out in the boat. Or the kids demand he drive them for a swim. Or his wife has asked somebody over for drinks and a barbecue and he must don the apron and get to work.

When his holidays come around, the pace triples. No puttering about the house for him. No sitting in the back yard, under a shade tree, and restoring himself.

It doesn't matter what has been planned for his holidays. Whether it's a mad motor trip of 3,000 miles, or a cottage at Crud Lake, or a tenting excursion, he's going to have to be a human dynamo for about 13 hours a day.

What's happened in three decades? Cars, affluence, desire for status, and women.

Cars, and the subsequent highways to accommodate them, have opened up the hinterland. Beach areas that used to be quiet, little summer settlements at the end of a rugged gravel road are now roaring, raucous neon jungles by night, flesh strips and screaming motors by day.

Virgin lakes, not long ago accessible only by canoe and portage, are now laid bare by developers, and the bulldozers are at work, and everybody wants to own his own plot, though prices have sky-rocketed.

Affluence, combined with the never-never-land of the finance company, has made its inroads. Today the working man owns his own cottage, or cruiser, and belongs to the golf club. The big resorts have been taken over by the moderately well-to-do. The rich, in disgust, fly to Europe.

The eternal pursuit of status in our society has played its part. If that crumb next door can afford a cottage for two weeks, Joe can afford a flight to the West Coast. If he has a 50-horse motor, Joe needs a 75-horse. If his kids are going to camp for two weeks, Joe's are going for the whole of August.

And women? Ah, how they have helped change the face of Canada's summer! They used to be content to stay home, look after their gardens and put up preserves in the summer. They used to be happy with a family picnic on Sundays. They used to enjoy making a pitcher of cold lemonade on a hot summer evening, and bringing it out to the porch.

Now they want a cottage for two months, or a new and bigger boat, or a second car, plus a membership at the golf club, plus a new patio, plus a couple of weeks at a swank resort.

It's no wonder poor Joe is a whimpering shell at the end of the summer, exhausted, broke and frazzled.

Wheat: no cold war weapon

Canada's huge new wheat sale to the Soviet Union has renewed the debate on the wisdom of this country's readiness to trade with Communist nations.

There is, of course, no debate among Western farmers who will benefit from the three-year pact which will see the Russians pay $800 million dollars in hard cash for some 336 million bushels.

Coming just a month after completion of a deal with Peking to sell China from 168 to 280 million bushels during the same three years, the Russian trade agreement assures Canadian farmers of a ready export market.

The Russian deal, announced with great fanfare in Moscow by Trade Minister Robert Winters after protracted negotiation by trade department and Wheat Board emissaries, will have other far-reaching effects.

Aside from stimulating consumer buying on the farm, the sale is good news for farm machinery manufacturers. The sales will strengthen Canada's foreign exchange position, reducing Canadian dependence on the U.S. money market.

The sale will also have international repercussions. In the long run, the most important of these will be to encourage Washington to liberalize its trade policies with Communist nations. The New York Times has already berated the American government. "The chances to build bridges with the Russians should not be fumbled again," the Times declared.

In the short run, the sales to China and Russia will push international wheat stocks to a low level. Crop failures in Russia, Argentina, India and Australia will ensure a ready market for U.S. grain. U.S. and Canada had a carry-over of only about 550 million bushels each at the July 1 crop year-end.

The policy of wheat sales to Communist nations, particularly China, was initiated by the Conservative government shortly after John Diefenbaker came to power. Faced with tremendous wheat surpluses, Mr. Diefenbaker may have initially undertaken the sales as a political strategy to maintain his popularity with prairie voters. If so, the strategy worked, but the successful continuance of the policy by the Liberals has not noticably improved Liberal party fortunes in the West.

The Canadian public has indicated quite conclusively, however, that it supports both Conservative and Liberal governments in their attempts to broaden our export markets.

The American public is still far from sympathetic to large scale attempts to trade with Communist states. For one reason, the U.S. is far less dependent on exports for prosperity than is Canada. Its domestic market is 10 times bigger than Canada's. The U.S. also was far more infected by the Cold War virus than Canada, and its current involvement in Vietnam makes it difficult for Washington to undertake an objective appraisal of the problem at this time.

Those who oppose trade with the Communists do so on the grounds that it strengthens nations dedicated to the destruction of our way of life, and that it makes us dependent on Moscow and Peking for our prosperity.

These grossly over-simplified arguments overlook the fact that vested interests work both ways. If the above arguments were valid, it could also be argued that for Russia and China to buy wheat from Canada makes them dependent on us, and strengthens the economy of Canada, a nation they consider to be an adversary of theirs.

There is a little truth in both points of view.

The only logical alternative to the present open-minded trade policy Canada is following would be to cut off all relations with the Communist nations, not just in trade, but in every other field as well.

The consequences of such a policy would inevitably lead to a complete breakdown of international affairs, growing suspicion and hate, and ultimately, war.

Foreign policy has historically been influenced by trade policy, and wars have most often occurred when nations have felt the need to resort to armed force to secure greater trading rights. The current wheat deals must be applauded because they have the opposite effect. Instead of going to war to open a foreign market, we have gone to peace.

Child Visitor

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"I want my child to be a guest, not a pest!" one poor mother exclaimed.

"But I've decided that visiting with a pre-school youngster is too much of a trial on my relatives, my child and on me too. I think I'll wait for him to go visiting until he is older!"

If relatives are understanding, if they like children, it is possible to have a happy visit, but it should be of a definite duration, and preferably a short one. It is always wise to leave when one's host and hostess are sorry to say "good-bye!"

A child's schedule should be observed as far as eating, sleeping and play go, but details can be a bit flexible while visiting. If an aunt or uncle or older friend offer to take a child for a walk, or to visit a park or playground, do accept the offer. A child and an adult who are attracted to each other can have a grand time on 'a spree.' Don't worry about your child's actions — he will likely be on his best behaviour when your watchful eyes are no longer observing his conduct!

It is a real adventure when a boy or girl is old enough to go on a visit all alone. An older child may be a bit homesick. But learning to be happy away from home is a valuable experience in the long, slow process of growing up — of learning to stand on one's own feet.

One small girl, who for her age was a particularly nice guest, when visiting her aunt was asked if she missed her parents. She replied, "I think about them, but I don't fuss about them. Mother doesn't want me to be a "fusser!"

A child on a visit should be encouraged to be a considerate and appreciative guest, fitting in with the family's plans and causing as little trouble as possible. Visitors should be on time for meals and should eat what they are served. They should be thoughtful in using the bathroom, the phone and the radio. Their host and hostess will look to them to join in the conversation without arguing too much or talking all the time.

A boy or girl learns the art of being a good guest — one who is asked back — by having the chance to put into practice his mother's and dad's good advice.

The writing of a little thank you note or "bread and butter letter" by a visitor as soon as he has returned home, expressing appreciation to those who have entertained him, is very important. It is something every visitor who can write should do — no matter how young or old. This little courtesy letter gives real pleasure to those who have gone to the trouble and expense of having a visitor in their home.

STRAWBERRY SOUFFLE

As light as a cloud, this delectable strawberry dessert would be a hit at any dinner party or bridal shower. Strawberries, eggs and whipped cream are combined in a gelatin mixture and then chilled. The recipe is from the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Make the most of strawberries!

2½ Cups strawberries (1-pint box), 1 tablespoon gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 4 eggs yolks, ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, few drops red food coloring, 4 egg whites, dash of salt, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup whipping cream (whipped), ½ cup blanched, chopped toasted almonds.

Save 5 or 6 strawberries for decorating. Blend remainder in electric blender at high speed for about 30 seconds; or crush and press through a sieve. Soak gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes, then melt over hot water.

Beat egg yolks and the ½ cup sugar with a rotary beater until lemon colored. Add lemon juice. Cook over simmering water, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 5 minutes.

Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool and when cold, stir in strawberry purée. Tint a delicate pink with food coloring.

Beat egg whites and salt until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in remaining ½ cup sugar until stiff peaks form. Fold meringue and whipped cream into straw berry mixture.

Pour into a 6-cup soufflé dish with a 3-inch collar made of oiled brown paper and fasten securely with adhesive tape. Chill until firm, about 3 hours. Remove paper. Decorate with whole strawberries, chopped nuts and additional whipped cream before serving. 6 servings.

Many children consider home a 'service station'

What is the best way to fight juvenile delinquency? According to Mr. Reginald Hoffmann, local representative of Jehovah's Witnesses, "The best program to curb this rising plague has to start within the family circle." Bible instruction will be given on this subject at the convention which all local members will attend at the Forum and Atwater Market in Montreal, July 13-17. Mr. Hoffmann stressed that good conduct and example on the part of parents are the big factors in fighting delinquency.

"According to criminologists," he added, "delinquency is now seen among those of the tender age of six, and it constitutes the worst plague of the 20th Century. Among causes for this situation is the fact that so many children lack personal attention from their parents. To many children home has become simply a 'service station' at which they drop in to eat and to sleep."

Mr. Hoffmann continued — "When one considers that in some countries one-half of all births are illegitimate, that in certain Canadian provinces the rate of venereal disease has risen 1,000 percent during the last 10 years, and the rate of delinquency has risen five times faster than the population — it would appear urgent for parents to exercise more control over the activities of their children. The best method to combat delinquency is to prevent it. Happily, juvenile delinquency is practically non-existent among Jehovah's Witnesses." . . The key to their success is to have a weekly schedule of activities based on Bible principles. A program is instituted in each Witness home where there are children to study the Bible with them, at least once during the week. Parents consider it is just as important to teach a child spiritual matters as it is to nourish him physically. Young Witnesses together with their parents attend the five Bible-study meetings arranged each week.

A large part of the program at their coming convention will be discussion of the best ways to protect today's youth and help them avoid the pitfalls of immorality and materialism. For this reason, the children will accompany their parents for the five days of study, taking with them their Bibles and notebooks in order to get the most benefit out of the counsel given.

If a can of your usual brand of tomatoes is marked 5½ ounces instead of six ounces sometime in the next few months, the manufacturer isn't using smaller cans. He is using new labels that give you a clearer indication of the actual contents of the can.

A Consumer Memo from the consumer division of the food and health directorate of the department of national health and welfare says, "Some cans presently on the market are too small, when filled by modern canning techniques, to hold the declared contents.

"When a product is filled hot into a container labelled to contain a specified number of fluid ounces, this number of ounces must be present in the can when the product is at room temperature. The appropriate number of fluid ounces must be added at the time of filling to compensate for the shrinkage due to cooling. This means that products that are filled hot (e.g. tomato juice) should be 'over-filled' at the time of canning."

Imports Change

The consumer memo says imports entering Canada after Jan. 1, 1967, will also carry the new contents declaration.

Another memo says the food and drug directorate will recommend changes in the regulations for meat and meat products dealing with processing methods and conditions of sale.

One regulation would require all hermetically-sealed containers of meat, its by-product or preparations to be "heat processed after sealing at a temperature and for a time that would prevent the survival of any micro-organisms capable of producing toxins."

Check on Cured Meat

A second regulation covering such products if they are not heat processed would require that they be sold under certain conditions and labelled accordingly. For instance, they might be refrigerated or frozen.

The directorate is currently investigating Canadian-cured pork products to find out whether the amount of water in them results in deception of the consumer. If it does, a regulation will be considered to limit the amount of substances, other than lean meat, that may be present in cured meat products.

Investigations are also being carried out on the lean meat content of sausages. Regulations now in force control the filler and water content of sausages. The memo says there is now an apparent wide variation in the meat content. The studies may indicate more controls are needed.

Country Notebook

By WALKER RILEY,
Macdonald College

I didn't make it to the first of the two Q.F.A. twilight pasture meetings at Lachute. Jim Brown, our summer assistant, was at Gerald Dawson's and brought back an enthusiastic report, of an excellent turn-out, of high interest in this lowest-cost crop, of high milk yields per acre of pasture and of a remarkable demonstration by Mr. Thibodeau, Argenteuil County's energetic farm management specialist.

On the second evening, I was late, but I did make it to the farm of Floyd and Douglas Bradford, just west of Lachute on the North River. The group of fifty who toured the farm could not be other than impressed with the pasture and hay crops we saw.

If any lesson stood out, it was that soil fertility was the key to high yields. We saw a 12-year-old pasture as thick and luxurious as the year it was planted, which, divided into four sections with an electric fence, was still providing the summer feed for the entire dairy herd. Someone said there was only twelve acres in it. And across the road we saw two very heavy fields of hay, one alfalfa and Brome, the other trefoil and Brome. The remarkable fact was that the soil in these fields, light sandy loam, is not naturally productive. The high yields, Mr. Thibodeau made it clear, were directly the result of good fertilizer use.

If you can use the extra hay or pasture, fertilizing right after the first cut will pay handsome profits. With several bulk-spreading plants around the country now, it is as easy as dialing a telephone number and signing the cheque.

The main requirement for after-math legumes — Alfalfa, trefoil, ladino — is potash. Every ton of alfalfa hay that left the field took with it 45 lbs. K_2O (equal to a bag of muriate of Potash). And few soils can supply potash from their reserve that fast, so the second crop goes short. You don't need nitrogen for the legumes; they can supply their own, and phosphorous best goes on when seeding down, enough placed in the soil where the roots will find it to last the rotation.

You might need some boron, though. If your second cut alfalfa turns yellow at the top, is stunted and the blossoms fall off without setting seed, it is a good bet you have a boron shortage. Have your fertilizer dealer add two percent boron to your order. Or you can broadcast 25 lbs. borax every two or three years. But don't overdo it. Too much boron is toxic to some crops, like peas.

If your field is mainly grass, and there is sufficient moisture in the soil, it is nitrogen fertilizer that will give you results. One hundred to one hundred and fifty pounds ammonium nitrate is a reasonable amount. Although the potash requirement of grass is only half that of legumes, you may see worth-while results from potash fertilizer along with the nitrogen, expecially if your soil is sandy.

Does it pay? One set of experiments showed that, with hay at $20 a ton and nitrogen at 15c lb. $7.50 spent on fertilizer returned $20 in extra hay per acre.

Side-dressing corn when it is a foot high is a sure way to have nitrogen available to the crop when it is needed most. But, according to Dr. A. F. MacKenzie of the Soils Department, it may pay just as well to put on the extra nitrogen at seeding time. He says you may run a slight risk of losing some by leaching before the crop is ready to use it, but the loss hardly pays for the cost of going over a field a second time, or for the extra equipment.

He agrees that corn is a very heavy feeder of nitrogen. But as long as there is 100 lbs. to 150 lbs. N. available to the crop, it doesn't matter much when it goes on. You can broadcast it and plough it down, or you can place it in bands at planting time, or you can hold part back for side-dressing, or any combination of the three. Nor is it important what form the nitrogen comes in. Some — up to 100 lbs. — might come from a good legume sod ploughed down. The same amount might come from a good coat of barnyard manure. Or it may be in a commercial form, ammonium nitrate, urea, or liquid ammonia, which ever is cheapest.

A good thumb-rule is that, in total, a corn crop must have two pounds nitrogen for every bushel grain it is expected to produce. If it didn't add up to enough at planting time, then there is time before the corn is two feet high to make it up by side-dressing.

Off to Winnipeg this week to have my first look at the Canadian West. Will have an easterner's impression for you in next week's Notebook.

Alain Sabourin, of Lachute, R.R. 2 (left) receives a calf halter as prize at the Eastern Breeders' reception, presented by Raymond Kemp, vice-president of this co-operative enterprise.

Eastern Breeders held 'open house'

Eastern Breeders' gleaming white barns and neat lawns on Highway 16 at Kemptville and at Belleville attracted over 2,600 rural farm business operators, their wives, families and friends, to "open house" held recently on two seperate days.

Visitors are welcome any time, to see the group of some 70 sires, among the best on the continent. Many visiting groups are given conducted tours throughout the year. Recently, a group of students from 19 different countries was conducted through the barns and given information on the type and production of our Canadian cattle. Early in August, a group from the U.S.A. of 160 people interested in the cattle business expect to tour the Kemptville premises.

The directors and management of this farmer-owned cooperative business are proud of the progress made since the establishment of A.I. units in Eastern Ontario. Seventy people are now employed, with 50 of these being technicians, working from 10 branch offices, serving 16 counties in Eastern Ontario, from Oshawa to Hawkesbury, and six counties in Western Quebec. These men inseminated 124,409 cows in 1965, and a total of 1,431,119 since the beginning.

The modern brick offices are equipped with the best mechanical devices available to handle the large volume of paper work and to tabulate information.

A number of competitions were carried out during 'open house' as well as refreshments supplied. Among the winners of calf halters was a young local farmer, Alain Sabourin, of R.R. 2, Lachute. (See picture.)

Hotel, restaurant helpers needed for Expo year

With hotels and restaurants wishing to provide first-class accommodation and hospitality next year — year of Expo 67 — the shortage of trained personnel will not be acutely felt if all persons with skills in the after-mentioned occupations lend assistance. . . Most actively sought will be people as chefs, assistant chefs, cooks, cook helpers, waitresses, barmaids or barmen, pressers, cashiers, hotel clerks, room maids, check girls, bus boys, butchers and sales clerks (souvenirs).

The National Employment Service invites women and men, single or married, retired persons, housewives with such experience, even if limited, to register with their local National Employment Office if they wish to earn extra money during Expo 67. Applications should indicate whether the registrant is available for full-time or part-time work; also, show the hours the applicant can work and at what particular period of the day. To serve alcoholic beverages, applicants must be over 21 years of age.

The National Employment Service believes there are many such persons not presently in the active labor market. They are particularly invited to register now with the nearest local employment office, or fill in the reply coupon appearing in daily newspapers.

Newspapers are the only medium offering the magnetic appeal of classified ads.

TO ELECTORS OF SOUTHEAST WARD
(Seat No. 4)

I humbly solicit a renewal of mandate to the council of the City of Lachute.

A manufacturer in this town for many years, I have already had five years' experience in municipal affairs. I have never been afraid to express my opinions and to uphold my ideas, even if they were not always popular – and this approach is essential, if we are to check that dictatorship which appears to be a threat in our civic government.

I offer my services as a link in continuity between the old and the new administrations – a factor necessary for the smooth progress of our municipal management.

I know from experience, that the mandate is not only an honor but a great responsibility, and I am ready to accept all the duties entailed, as in the past.

My platform is explicit, reasonable and feasible:

MUNICIPALIZED RECREATION
A HEALTHY ADMINISTRATION
COMMUNITY PROGRESS

I am fully conscious of our municipal needs, and I am ready to face the situation with sincerity for our civic welfare.

DR. ZOEL SAINDON RE-ELECTED MAYOR

Six aldermanic seats filled for first constituted 'City' council

The first city council formally elected since the amalgamation of Lachute and Ayersville, came into being last Sunday, when taxpayers turned out with a fair enthusiasm to vote for their favored representatives.

Re-elected as mayor was Dr. Zoël Saindon, M.P.P. for Argenteuil and retiring mayor of the municipality. He polled a comfortable 251-vote majority over his opponent, Dr. Eric Mongeon, who was making his first bid for civic honors.

There were 14 candidates for the seven vacancies, only one seat being filled by acclamation — Seat 1, North Ward, being occupied by Ernest Provost when his adversary, Linton W. Armstrong, withdrew from the field last Friday. The new incumbent was a one-time alderman, while Mr. Armstrong was the retiring alderman for this seat.

In the three polls — situated at St. Julien School, Knights of Columbus Hall and the Auditorium — a total of 1,300 electors voted, out of a possible 1,950, which represented around 66 percent of the electorate. This was not a high percentage compared with previous record votes, but reasonably high in view of the day (Sunday) and absences through week-end and summertime vacations.

Following are the successful candidates and the votes polled in each case:

MAYORALTY

North Ward —
Eric Mongeon	237
Zoël Saindon	202
Southeast Ward —
Eric Mongeon	186
Zoël Saindon	256
Southwest Ward —
Eric Mongeon	92
Zoël Saindon	308
Total —
Eric Mongeon	515
Zoël Saindon	766
Majority for Saindon	251

ALDERMEN

Seat 1, North Ward —
Ernest Provost, by acclamation.

Seat 2, North Ward —

Marcel Coulombe	183
Jacques Poitras	280
Majority, Poitras	97

Seat 3, Southeast —

J.-R. Labonté	156
Philippe Masson	160

Gaston Plamondon	138
Majority, Bélanger	136

Seat 6, Southwest —

Réal Morrisette	309
Ovila Payer	100
Majority, Morrissette	209

The figures above indicate Mr. Morrissette polled the highest plurality, 209, while Mr. Masson gained the lowest, only 4 votes.

Results were reported from the city hall around 8 p.m. by Henri St. Onge, clerk of the election, to a crowd of citizens waiting outside to hear the news.

The election proceedings were orderly and without incident.

'Renewal' plan revived on new city status

The "urban renewal" project for Lachute — suspended last September due to the pending amalgamation with Ayersville — will now be pursued on a larger scale to embrace the extended territory of the "city".

This was the object of a joint meeting at city hall between the municipal authorities, the representatives of Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation, and a member of the Richard firm of consulting engineers. Lachute was represented by Mayor Dr. Z. Saindon, Aldermen Bruno Belanger, Laurent Brasseur, Jacques Poitras, and the civic engineer, Hubert Pilon.

It is recalled that on March 23, 1965, Council authorized an expenditure not exceeding $15,000 to draw up a plan.

Urban renewal, according to Jacques Bernier, one of the government representatives, does not consist only of demolishing old structures. It must take into account broader economic, social and physical needs. As far as Lachute is concerned, the project has been accepted in principle by Central Housing and Mortgage and the National Housing Act authorities, and it remains to study and work out the details.

Any municipality undertaking an urban renewal project must comply with the following orderly procedures — notify the National Housing Act commission; hold consultation with the Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation; work out the sharing of costs; arrange an inspection of the sites and areas involved; confer with town-planning specialists to prepare an outline and estimates of the cost. Following this, the municipal council must adopt a resolution to lay the proposal before the provincial and federal cabinets.

The steps taken before last September were not in accordance with requirements, but nevertheless, though Council had moved too fast, the steps have been accepted and approved. Proceedings are now being resumed, and reports will be forthcoming as the scheme develops.

Election creates Council 'firsts'

The alternating of mayors, English-speaking and French-speaking, has gone by the board. This old, traditional agreement, in practice since 1905, has now been disrupted with the re-election of Dr. Z. Saindon.

The Dr. Saindon "team" was reduced in number to three. Aiming at the mayoralty and six council seats, only the mayor and two of his endorsed candidates were elected.

Dr. Saindon is, incidentally, the 44th mayor elected in Lachute since its incorporation in 1885 — an era of 81 years.

• • •

This is also the first time since that date, that the English-speaking citizenry have no representative of their own language at the council table. The English segment, in the final race, presented only one candidate, who was defeated.

Secret ballot of mill employees

A majority (72 per cent) of textile mill workers at Dominion Ayers Limited voted to reject the company's offers and authorized their Union leaders to call a strike when and if they see fit. The company was given 24 hours to resume negotiations and to prepare a new offer of work rates and conditions. The workers' meeting was held Monday afternoon at St. Julien School, where the above picture was taken; Claude Major is seen casting his ballot, in the presence of Leonard Gagné and Denis Larocque, scrutineers.

Hotel proprietor savagely attacked by undesirables

Rathwell Morrison, 34-year-old proprietor of the Maplewood Inn, Arundel, was taken to St. Jovite hospital, where he received 45 stitches on and about his head following an incident in the hotel late Saturday evening. Also treated in hospital were Glen and Bradley Morrison.

The incident occurred around 11.30 p.m. when three men entered the premises. One of the men was sick, and was told to go to the washroom; and it appears that he and his friends took offence at this request, as one of them went to the car and returned with a baseball bat, with which he attacked Mr. Morrison.

Citizens of the community rallied to the aid of the injured man, and while they succeeded in giving the trio a taste of their own medicine, were unable to hold them for the police.

A general alarm was sent out, and around 2 a.m. Sunday, two of the men were arrested in Pierrefonds, in suburban Montreal. They were taken to Q.P.P. headquarters in Montreal, and later transferred to Lachute for further questioning. They were charged in St. Jerome Tuesday with "assault with bodily harm". A warrant for the arrest of the third man has been issued.

Mr. Morrison is reported to be in satisfactory condition following the incident.

Vote taken at textile workers' meeting, Dominion Ayers labor proposals rejected

A general membership meeting of the employees of Dominion Ayers Ltd. (Textile Division), belonging to Local 348 of the United Textile Workers of America, on Tuesday afternoon rejected the company offers submitted by their negotiations committee at a secret vote held in the St. Julien School. The result of the vote of the 428 employees in attendance was known at 6.30 p.m., indicating that 72 per cent of the employees supported the Union committee's recommendation to reject the offer and voted in favor of strike action. The Union committee found the Company offer definitely unacceptable.

Union representatives immediately informed Company officials of the results of the vote, and offered to resume negotiations as soon as possible. A union official stated the company was to make its position known in 24 hours. Following the vote, the Union negotiations committee is completely free to call a strike if it is deemed necessary, should the Company fail to make proposals that will be judged acceptable to the union members.

Scrutineers for the vote were Mrs. Lise Boyer and Messrs Leonard Gagné, Omer Monette and Denis Larocque. Edgar Seguin acted as chairman.

The following were the company's proposals, rejected by the workers:

1. The Agreement would be for a three-year term.

2. The night premium would be as follows: 15 cents per hour for the employees earning less than 1.49 per hour; 16 cents per hour for the employees earning more than 1.49 per hour; and 13 cents per hour for the employees hired on or transferred to the night shift;

3. Classification adjustments were also offered to approximately 100 employees ranging from 3 cents to 25 cents per hour, totaling the equivalent of a general across the board increase of 2 cents per hour;

4. No offer made by the Company towards improving the employees' Group Insurance Plan;

5. An additional Statutary paid Holiday, to be celebrated before June 1st, 1967, was also offered;

6. Vacation pay for the employees with three to five years service was to be increased by 2%;

The total cost of the above improvements is evaluated at 3 cents per hour across the board increase.

7. Finally, the Company offered a general increase of 22 cents per hour, divided as follows: 7 cents retroactive to June 1st, 1966; 6 cents per hour from June 1st, 1967, and 9 cents, June 1st, 1968.

Honored by scientists of two nations, Dr. G. R. Rigby receives tribute from C.R.L. plant research staff

A surprise homecoming awaited Dr. G. R. Rigby, Research director at the Canadian Refractories Limited, when he returned from his recent continental trip. He was presented with an inscribed desk pen-set and a bottle of champagne from the staff of the Laboratories in honor of the two international ceramic awards which he has received this year. The first award (previously reported in The Watchman) was the John Jeppson Gold Medal, which was presented to him at the American Ceramic Society convention in May. The second award took place in England on June 24, when he was invited to deliver the Mellor Memorial Lecture at the annual banquet of the Institute of Ceramics of Great Britain.

In making the presentation, L. J. Davies, Deputy Director of Research at C.R.L., said that Dr. Rigby had received many scientific awards but none so notable as the two accorded to him recently. These awards could be described as the accolades of the ceramic profession — for they are two of the highest, if not the highest awards, given by the two most prominent ceramic organizations in the world. The staff were proud that Dr. Rigby, as their Director of Research, had won these awards; and also, had thereby raised the status of the Laboratories in international ceramic circles. For these reasons, the staff had unanimously decided to convey their congratulations in the form of a memento.

In replying, Dr. Rigby said that the true measure of a laboratory was not its size, nor the numbers working in it, but the spirit which prevailed among its staff. He believed the spirit which existed in the C.R.L. Laboratories was the finest he had ever known. He appreciated the sincerity with which the gifts were given, and he warmly thanked the members of the staff.

At a ceremony held last week at the laboratories of Canadian Refractories Limited, Dr. G. R. Rigby, Director of Research, was presented with gifts in recognition of the two international ceramic awards which he received recently. Making the presentation on behalf of the staff are L. J. Davies, the Deputy Director, and N. P. Dewar, head of the Pilot Plant section.

Centre d'Art organized to continue activities

The recent annual meeting of the Centre d'Art d'Argenteuil, marking the fifth anniversary of its founding, was a significant milestone. On this occasion, a new structural basis was adopted to ensure the successful continuance of this venture — a move made necessary by the departure of its founders and directors, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Laforest, due to professional obligations which required their departure to Montreal.

After having given, as usual, their report of the year's progress and activities, those two cherished and energetic helmsmen of the Centre d'Art relinquished their duties to the directorate — leaving to the local public a cultural venture in full vitality, second to none in this province of comparable size and resources.

To continue this fine work, the directors have drawn up a program of activities in all branches — literary, dramatic, social and artistic — in charge of various committees from the citizenry and Centre membership.

At the meeting on June 28 last, the administrative board was elected. Included in this executive are — Mme Guy Lavoie, Mme Zoël Saindon; Messrs. Marcel Gionet, Gaston Laroche, G.-H. Desfossés, Marcel Grondin and Laurent Baudry.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors on July 1, the officers elected were — Marcel Gionet, president; Mme Guy Lavoie, vice-president; Mlle Lucie Carrière, secretary; Mme Raymond Beaulieu, treasurer.

Members regret resignation of founder-directors

A financial report presented by Mme Beaulieu up to March 31, 1966, showed that the Centre d'Art had accomplished its varied program in spite of great difficulties, and that its successful continuance will depend on full collaboration of the city and of the population in general. Towards this end an intensive membership campaign will be held to enlist public interest and support.

Among the various committees it was noted those in charge of art exhibitions are M. and Mme Gaston Laroche; receptions at exhibitions, Mme Saindon, Mrs. R. R. Davidson, Mme Jacques Beaudoin; and in charge of art courses, Mme Chas. Roy.

M. Jean Laforest and Mme Armande Lebrun-Laforest were named honorary patrons.

Youth arrested with stolen car

A 14-year-old youth from Montreal was arrested in possession of a stolen car last week-end in the Huberdeau area, following a number of reported break-ins near that community. The youth, who had escaped from a Montreal reform school, was taken to Juvenile Court authorities in the city.

21-Gun salute to farmers and livestock producers

The business and professional people of Lachute give an arousing 21-gun "salute" to the farmers and livestock producers of this area! Your industrious habits and knowledge of agriculture and animal husbandry have made our area one of the most profitable agricultural sections of the district.

The business and professional people of Lachute look with pride on their ability to supply your needs and utilize your diversified products.

Farmers and livestock producers can be assured that they will receive top market value for all their produce, milk, cream, grain and livestock here in Lachute.

Lachute's farm supply houses are always willing and eager to give you professional and scientific assistance in the feeding and care of your land, crops, fowl and livestock.

The Lachute lumber yards and farm supply people are glad to assist your with your feed and shelter problems. You can consult them with confidence at any time for free information and estimates.

We are proud to know that you can shop Lachute for all your farm and family needs.

We urge you to be here this week for the tremendous "Bazaar of Values" from all of these fine firms.

Musical programs at camp centre, Lake Macdonald

Amateur music students from many parts of Canada and the United States are participating in the second week of activities of CAMMAC, situated at Lake Macdonald, Argenteuil County. A well-rounded program of choral, orchestral, voice, harpsichord, strings and wind instruments is planned daily, as well as many related courses given by expert teachers in all phases.

The first concert of the summer program was held last Friday, and many music lovers were in the lounge to hear such artists as Bernard Lagacé at the harpsichord keyboard, Mildred Goodman and Otto Joachim in two-violin compositions, with Mario Duschenes, flutist, and Rutharden Leblanc at the piano.

Next Friday's concert, which is open to the general public, will feature the Montreal Brass Quintet, and the program will have music by Merulo, Scheidt, Hindemith, Tull and LeGrady.

White Forest Lodge is about a 40-minute drive from Lachute, on Highway 31, being 2½ miles north of Lost River; and for those who appreciate good music, the effort will be well rewarded. Starting time 8.30 p.m.

By BOB ATCHISON

At long last the North River is producing large fish. In the past week I have seen a couple that would give any fisherman a thrill. Brent Reilly, of Hill Foot, got himself a 20-lb. musky, and this is the largest so far. A young lad fishing around near Bourbonnière Camps caught the other, a 17-lb. Northern. The musky was certainly a good looking fish, very clean, with markings as clear as if the master painter had done it himself — and he did. In neither case were these young anglers after big fish; I believe they were more interested in the large perch that can be caught in these areas. With this river however, you can expect anything to hit your lures. I prefer this type of fishing. The big ones strike as though they meant to drive your lure right out of the river — talk about your streamlined torpedoes, that describes them, only they have teeth that make you very careful when you are taking them into a boat. As far as I am concerned, these fish should never be lifted into a boat alive, they can do too much damage. Of course, if you intend to release them, that is different; get a mouth spreader gag, then you won't lose any fingers!

The trout men have also been getting their quotas, Lake Louisa is continuing to produce. You know, with the number of fishermen working this lake, you would think it would be depleted. But as I have said before, a lake can never be fished out by the ordinary man, we aren't that smart. After awhile the fish get so used to seeing hardware float by, that they either ignore it, or grab on and tangle you in rocks, logs or whatever is handy. They do make fools of us, and yet we keep right on trying. Some of these trout have been exceptional — one of 17 lbs. and dozens of 3 to 6 lbs. Where the large one was taken, I don't really know — just in the lake, and it's a pretty large lake. I do know the fishing in our County has been extra good so far this year. There have been many reasons given, but when we can understand fish, then maybe we will know. Until then, it's always going to be a hit or miss affair; and after all, there wouldn't be any fun being able to catch them any time you wished.

I don't as a rule rave about a lure, but this West River is tops. A group I was talking to stated it was the best they had ever used. Three boats were out, all trolling; one crewman had this West River troller, while the others had the ordinary gang trolls — you know, cow bells, etc. In three hours the latter lures raised one fish, that was all, while the boat with the West had taken four. Of course, this is often the case, it could have been the other way around too; but from the reports of fish taken, this particular lure is still up near the top. You have to "work" this, therefore your lure is always active, instead of just trailing behind the boat at one consistent speed. The jiggling action pays off.

We were up along the North River Wednesday afternoon, and it was a glorious sight; glamorous birds by the dozen. Baltimore orioles, scarlet tanagers, goldfinches, and a sight I won't forget for a long time; in one of the fields bordering the river, about 50 black-and-whites. Seeing them rise from the land on the approach of our outboard, was a pretty sight. That's a poor way to describe it, but you may know what I mean. . . Not a duck was to be seen though; this surprised me. With all the nestings earlier this spring, I thought we would have seen a few young, and certainly some of the older birds, but not one. Thinking about this after — maybe the joker with the high-powered boat has driven them off; just the type that would take great joy in running down small ducks — that is, judging by the way he acts with humans. . . The great blue herons are no longer in evidence, either. We had dozens of them around last year, and as they are reasonably consistent in their breeding habits and come back to the same area time after time, it's hard to figure out. Possibly the insecticides down south this past winter have taken their toll. More on this in a later column.

Seeing some of the publicity given out for the Expo, makes me wonder. It claims there are campgrounds all over the province, suitable for all types of camps. I know this is not true to fact, and as far as I am concerned, never has been. If they expect to have tourists visiting Expo with the thought they have campgrounds near the fair, then they'll be out of luck. We have nothing of the type suitable. This form of habitation has been sadly neglected by former governments. The actual cost in having good camping areas not too far from the city, (say an hour's drive) would be nothing compared to the money that has been spent on some things less essential. . . Even here in Lachute we've missed the boat. With all kinds of land around suitable for this, that could have been developed with very little cost, we still think of industry as the sole revenue potential. Reading through some of the old Watchmans, this has always been a dream — and I mean a dream. Why not capitalize on a safer bet, and concentrate on the tourist business, then maybe we would be happier. The thought is today, that all campers and tenters are "deadbeats" so what would they do for our town? Well, forget about the deadbeats; in most cases today the modern tenter is a family man, with his kids accompanying him, and they take pride in having a spotless campsite. The old-time camper was a different type from today's enthusiast. I am amazed at the thinking of our local people. With so many attractions in this particular area for campsites, you wonder just what is happening to Lachute, that this matter is neglected.

As usual, the pollution problem is with us in a big way. With the warm weather, lack of rainfall and so on, the river is pretty messy. I mentioned the West River being in bad shape, a couple of weeks ago. I have not seen any more of this yellowish color during the day, maybe it's just a change of time. The Brownsburg industry has introduced no cleaning unit for this effluent, I'm sure. As for our local mills down below the town, all you have to do is sit on the bank to watch the waters flow by, that is, if you can stand the smell. But one of these fine days we are going to wake up to the fact that we have NO pure waters; then what? Certainly our governments don't give much thought to this; they may make the motions of deep concern; but nothing happens. So I've been told this is a long and difficult program. I know this, but back in 1930 they were saying the same thing; and from that time on, nothing worthwhile has been done. Just take the City of Montreal. How many years, and how many commissions have been appointed, to study this? And with what results? Montreal STILL does not have adequate sewage control; and this is 1966, in case you have forgotten. But what can you expect, when a government spokesman will state that a country or its people are "not judged by its sewage problems"! Even the supposed backward countries are working on this situation, and from reading of these matters, they are doing something about it.

Maybe this is a thought: instead of sending so much aid to underdeveloped countries, how about spending some of it on our own underdeveloped regions — and we have plenty! Imagine being able to swim in the St. Lawrence River once more. . . Maybe that's a dream, too.

Racing

If you predicted who was going to win the 210-mile race at Le Circuit last week-end, give yourself ten points. If not, remember the name of Bruce MacLaren, because he may win another race or two before the season is out. Once again he took the lead early in the race and stayed out in front the rest of the way. For the last third of the race he was saving his car by turning laps of about 1:46 compared with his qualifying time, which was five or six seconds faster.

Many of the racing cars are towed through Lachute and Brownsburg on their way to and from the races. When they park somewhere, it provides a good chance to get a look at them.

Coming Events

Sunday, August 21, is the date for the Summer Rally. The organizers have already been over hundreds of miles of roads and have only to choose the best of them (or should I say, worst) for use in the rally. This is to be sponsored by Molson (Lachute) Ltée.

Don't forget the Gymkhana which is on the planning board for some time in the near future.

Safety

Don't forget to give your car a thorough safety check before you start your vacation. Pay special attention to your tires if you are planning a long trip. Remember the last time you had to unload all your camping equipment from the trunk to get at your spare? Annoying, isn't it?

And if you drive a Honda, or a Yamaha, or a Suzuki, or a Jawa, or a Harley, or a Triumph, or a Lambretta, or a Vespa, remember that a hard head isn't good enough. A helmet helps. There have been at least two accidents that I know of in the Lachute area last week which will prove this point.

Pit Chatter

All the club members that worked at the Shell 4000 Checkpoint received personal thank-you letters from Shell. . . That carpenter I was talking about last week has another problem. He chews his nails. . . Did you see the Ford contingent from Lachute at St. Jovite? . . If a bricklayer lays bricks why doesn't a plumber lay plumbs? . . Have a safe holiday!

Next meeting — Friday, July 15, at 8 p.m., in the Masonic Hall.

BOATING CLINIC by Stan Davies

The biggest problem faced by the men who must search for a missing boat, is that they don't know where to start.

Almost invariably people who set out on a cruise, or a boat or canoe trip into wilderness areas, never leave a clear cut plan of their route or objective with any responsible person.

Those who do, stand a much better chance of being found or rescued if they should get lost or in serious difficulties.

Many attempts have been made by public spirited bodies to institute a system much like fliers use. When a pilot takes off on a cross country flight he usually flies a flight plan, with some competent authority. Then if he's forced down and overdue, finding him is reduced to the simple expediency of following his route.

The comparable idea for boats has been called a "float plan" and there are many yacht and boat clubs across Canada which have printed forms available at their headquarters so that when a member takes off on a cruise he can jot down his itinerary, and his estimated time of arrival at various points.

If he doesn't show up at any of these points, a check back to the last point he touched can reduce the area of search by hundreds of square miles.

Anyone venturing into the wilderness on a canoe trip should leave an outline of their proposed route with someone who can relay it to a search and rescue authrity if they are overdue.

Nobody is as aware of Canada's vastness as the RCAF pilots who fly search missions over thousands of square miles of bush, lake and muskeg looking for a pinpoint that could be a lost person or a canoe.

With the tremendous growth in wilderness travel over the past few years new problems have been introduced, as these questions show:

What's the new distress signal I hear about? (J. C. S., Niagara Falls)

Answer: You must mean the one being advocated very strongly by the U.S. Coast Guard across the line. It's made by standing up on the highest point of your boat, (or wherever you are) and slowly raising and lowering the arms at the sides. It's recognized instantly in the U.S. and is spreading to Canada.

What's the international distress signal?

Answer: It's made by displaying a square and circle together in any way, shape or form. The shapes can be flags flying on a mast, a blanket and a ball of clothes laid out on rocks, designs tramped out in the snow . . . or anything similar. Pilots are trained to look for such shapes.

Should I take flares on a canoe trip? (O. S., Nipigon)

Answer: By all means. But make them smoke flares. A fire will do at night, but the red puff of smoke given off by day flares is visible for miles from an airplane or high point of land.

Will radar find you if you are lost?

Answer: Not radar . . . but there is a radio homing system available for boats. It's called SARAH. In an emergency the radio device on the boat sends out a radio signal (on 243 megacycles) on which the RCAF Search and Rescue planes can home in.

Answer: It's quite good, especially at night. But the Very flare pistol is now obsolete. In its place most armed forces use a tiny beacon which works on the principle of a photographer's electronic flash or "strobe" light. The beacon emits 50 flashes a minute, and it can be seen for 20 miles. It costs about $40.

What's the difference between Terylene and Dacron sails? They feel exactly the same. (P. R., Sarnia)

Answer: Terylene is the British name, Dacron, the American name for the same material.

On Tuesday the U.C.W. of Arundel United Church held its monthly meeting, in charge of the president, Mrs. Melvin Graham. After routine business the members proceeded to the manse, where a reception was held to welcome the new acting minister, Mr. Saklekas, to this community. A pantry shower added to the pleasure of the event — Mr. Saklekar accepting this gesture with appropriate thanks. Refreshments rounded off a very pleasant evening.

Women's Institute

The Women's Institute held its monthly meeting on Tuesday evening last. During the absence of the president the first part of the meeting was taken over by 2nd vice-president, Mrs. David Jones, who introduced the County president, Mrs. Hall, as speaker. She reported on the recent provincial convention, and brought interesting highlights to the members. She was thanked by Mrs. Gordon Cooke, 1st vice-president of the County group. Mrs. E. Bulley, who acted as delegate at the Quebec convention, was called upon to give her report. Arrangements were then made for the coming annual bazaar (to be held Saturday in the school auditorium at 8 p.m.). Reports of the various conveners were read. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served downstairs, with a beautiful birthday cake presented to Mrs. Bulley. This was cut by the County president and passed around. The recipient wishes to thank the committee and all the members who thus honored her, and also thanks them for their numerous birthday cards.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. D. Williams, Mrs. Van Wieren and Mrs. Jack Smith.

Thank-You

I extend sincere thanks to my workers, to the voters, and to all who helped in any way to promote my campaign.

It was an appreciable effort regardless of the outcome, and I submit cheerfully to public opinion.

Candidate for the Mayoralty

NO MULLIGANS

Ladies' Section, Lachute Golf Club

Top billing of this season's events is the up-coming "Invitation Tournament" bringing together a possible 144 lady golfers from 20 clubs in the area.

Scheduled for Friday, July 29, the tournament is an "up-to-30" handicap event that promises to be good sport and good fun, with prizes for nearly all.

The tournament will be off with a bang in the true form of a "shotgun start". Less suspicious than the name could imply, the "shotgun" is a start with foursomes teeing off just about simultaneously from every one of the 18 tees, so that the course will be accommodating up to 36 tournament foursomes at one time.

The scoop is that all groups will finish about the same time, thus availing the time for chit-chat and drinks together before the buffet and prize-giving. This will mean a greatly improved social time without the burden of five hour lags between the first and last foursomes in most tournaments.

Under the capable management of Joyce Stephens and her committee, Lachute's first "Invitation Tournament" promises to be a grand success — particularly judging from the number of Lachute players who have signed up, though only eight names will be drawn to compete.

Ringer-conscious ladies have been trying to hole those 30-footers, for a birdie here and there but Marie Stratton has outdone all so far. She is the first lady to score a hole-in-one this year. She did it June 23 on the seventh hole of the new course. That's the side-sloping hole with the magnificent view of the winding North River and the green-billowing Laurentian Shield. And — it's a par four! . . Congratulations!

Fishing-Hunting event this Friday

The Argenteuil Fishing and Hunting Association has another fish contest in progress for the months of July and August.

On Friday of this week at Lachute Auditorium, prizes will be given out for the May-June contest. The soirée, free to all enthusiasts, will also mark the termination of the club's summer drawing, for three attractive prizes — a camping outfit, a portable 19" television, and a 30-30 Winchester rifle. (Tickets on this drawing are still available, from Claude Larocque or any director of the club.)

Walter Safety says, "Be a good swimmer before attempting to canoe. Kneel or sit low and never stand up. If upset, HANG ON to the canoe until help arrives."

Make friends with it!

Country Notebook

By WALKER RILEY,
Macdonald College

If anyone ever tells me again it goes to 49 degrees below zero in Winnipeg I won't believe them. For four days, the thermometer stood at 95 degrees, the wind blew, and it was humid. So to me, seeing Manitoba for the first time, that is typical western weather. Probably then, my other impressions come into the same category — the surprising area covered with trees, the natural grassy parklands on the banks of the Red River, the solitary elevator on an endless horizon, the unlimited miles of deep black, fertile soil, and, above all, the agricultural awareness of every citizen, aware that this is the one real source of his province's livelihood. Noticeable too, was the air of optimism. Never, in many years, had the situation looked so good.

The Red River, brown, tranquil and half a mile wide, flowing almost lazily between its fifty-foot banks, bore little resemblance to the destructive ice-filled sea we saw on television a month ago. But the scars were there. Burr oaks and elm trees had their bark stripped off six feet from the ground. Fences and hydropoles were still lying flat awaiting the claims adjustor. Streets were still covered with dry mud, the residue of emergency dykes. Tourist cabins, in one low area by the river, were piled together like children's blocks. But we heard no one complain. It was an accepted risk. And the hot weather was not only tolerated but welcomed. It spelt new hope for the best grain crop ever, and a chance to plant the petunias for which there was no time in May and June.

Bill Parkinson, the assistant Agricultural Representative at Cornwall, phoned the other day to tell me their plans for a Drainage Field Day. He asked me to pass on the word that Quebec people are more than welcome.

July 20th is the date, on the farm of Harold Brown just north of the city of Cornwall. Take Interchange 124 off Highway 401. Go north about 1 mile on McConnell Avenue to South Branch Road (first intersection). Turn right and go another half mile to the farm.

They are featuring not only tile drainage, but also land levelling, farm pond construction, irrigation systems, brush and stone removal from fencerows, crop improvement demonstrations, free stall housing and milking parlour. Sounds like a lot to see and hear between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The morning, Bill said, will have special attraction for drainage contractors, with a detailed demonstration of equipment. In Quebec, all except one machine is owned and operated by the Government. With a two-year waiting list it is just a thought that there may be room for more private operators in the field.

Actually, public assistance for drainage programs in Quebec is more generous than any other province. The field plan and technical service is free, the use of the ditching machine costs only one cent per foot, and the cost of transporting the tile is paid. The farmer pays for the tile (8c a foot), lays it, and does the back-filling. In Ontario, the farmer pays the whole bill, but can ask for a low-cost loan, repayable with his taxes over ten years.

Bill said that my old friend George Suffel will be one of the afternoon speakers. I remember George draining a twenty-acre field of that wet, sticky clay which Eastern Ontario specializes in. He planted oats the first year, and expected an improvement. But he didn't expect to see his oats six inches before his neighbors were even on the land. And he didn't expect his yield to give from fifty to eighty bushels the first year. But, as George pointed out, the real benefit doesn't come from increasing the yield of the traditional crops, but in being able to grow those crops, like corn, barley, and alfalfa, that can really make use of the better drainage.

Fence-row removal is on the program too. I know of few farm improvements which give more satisfaction for so little cost than ripping out a brush-and-stone fence-row. Our ancestors were not looking forward to three-plow tractors and combines when they were carrying stone of the fields. Two or three hours work with a heavy duty loader and a dump truck sees the last of a lot of fence. But it does annoy the ground-hogs.

Bill says the Junior Farmers are selling lunch and drinks.

See you there.

Rules and regulations for A.A.A. photographic exhibit

The third annual Photographic Exhibition of the Argenteuil Art Association will be held July 23-31 at the municipal hall, St. Andrews East.

Only prints or transparencies which are in accordance with the exhibition rules and standards will be exhibited or projected.

Because of the interest shown last year in the color slides, there will be a showing of the 80 best transparencies submitted. This will take place on Thursday evening, July 28, at 8.30.

Following are the regulations for entries:

(1) Black - and - white prints, color prints (not hand-colored prints) and color transparencies will be accepted.

(2) Minimum size of print, 5 x 7 inches, excluding the mount card.

(3) Acceptable size of color transparencies, 35 mm. only (in 2 x 2 inch mounts) suitable for projection. The lower left-hand corner must be spotted for ease of projection.

(4) Prints must be mounted on suitable card, not framed or covered with glass, signed and titled.

(5) A limit of five prints and five transparencies to any one entrant.

(6) Name and address of owner must be clearly written on back of the mount of print or transparency.

(7) Each entrant's transparencies must be numbered and brief descriptive information supplied.

(8) Every care will be taken, but prints and transparencies are entered at owner's risk as to loss or damage.

(9) Entries for the Exhibition will be selected by the Exhibition Committee.

(10) Entries (well-packed if by mail) to be sent or delivered to Mrs. L. T. Porter, president of the Association, St. Andrews East, Que.

(11) Only members of the A.A.A. are eligible; but $1 1966 membership fee may be enclosed with the entries.

(12) Closing date for entry of photographs and slide transparencies, Wednesday, July 20.

If further information is desired, particulars are available from M. R. Wilson, Cushing (562-4594), T. D. Titman, Lachute (562-2350), Kevin Clarke, Carillon (537-3654) or Miss F. M. Douglas, Cushing (562-2875).

APPRECIATION

I wish to express sincere thanks to relatives and friends who sent cards, gifts and flowers, and who visited me while in hospital. Thanks to the nurses and staff. Special thanks also to the Rev. Mr. Thompson, Rev. Mr. Lang, and Dr. Prevost.

Dow-sponsored tennis tourney in Lachute July 26

The Quebec Tennis Inter-Regional Commission has listed nine cities which will play hosts to the Dow Tennis Tournament. The provincial tournament, which already promises to be a great success, will be held in the main centres of the province. It opened officially in Joliette on July 5. The first nine cities registered are:

Joliette	July 5
Ville St-Laurent	July 12
Lachute	July 26
Chicoutimi	Aug. 13
Grand'Mère	Aug. 14
Victoriaville	Aug. 23
Drummondville	Aug. 31
Rouyn	Sept. 10-11
Shawinigan	Sept. 25

Many other cities which have expressed the wish to receive the Dow Tennis Tournament, will be chosen shortly.

The provincial competition will extend over a period of three months, and will come to a close in Montreal.

Mr. Lucien Laverdure, president of the commission, revealed that this competition has created a great deal of enthusiasm throughout the province.

The Dow Tennis Tournament, the only one of its kind, is sponsored by Dow Brewery Limited and will bring to all amateurs the thrill of seeing some of Canada's outstanding players, such as Robert Bédard, François Godbout, the Carpenter brothers, Roland Godin, Val Harit et Raymond Royer.

NEED POOL PERMITS

Altona, Man. (CP) Town council ordered Constable Joe Villeneuve to crack down on minors shooting pool. A local bylaw requires that players under 18 show a written permit from their parents.

Appointments at Garon Automobiles Inc.

Induction service at Presb'n church set for Sept. 8

The Presbytery of Montreal has arranged for the induction of the Very Rev. C. Ritchie Bell, B.A., B.D., D.D., into the pastoral charge of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church here on Thursday evening, September 8.

The moderator of presbytery, Rev. James Armour, B.A. (former minister here) will preside at the induction service. The Rev. Percy A. Ferguson, B.A., minister of Livingstone Church, Montreal, and Clerk of the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa, will act as clerk (the position presently held by Dr. Bell); the Rev. E. Powell Aikens, B.A., M.Th., B.D., minister of the Presbyterian Church, Town of Mount Royal, and interim moderator of the Lachute congregation, will narrate the steps leading up to the induction; the Rev. Harry Kuntz, B.A., M.Th., B.D., a former student of Dr. Bell's and presently minister of St. Columba by the Lake, will preach the sermon; the Rev. Dr. Sheldon Mackenzie, Ph.D., minister of First Church, Montreal, where for years Dr. Bell was a member of the kirk session, will address the congregation. (Dr. Mackenzie was also a former student of Dr. Bell.) The Rev. W. Harold Reid, M.A., D.D., a former minister of Margaret Rodger Memorial Church, lecturer in Hebrew at the Presbyterian College, will address the minister. The service will be open to the public.

Mrs. Edith Paterson and Mrs. Elmert Berry have returned from California, where they attended the marriage of Patricia Paterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Paterson (formerly of Lachute) to Mr. Daniel Keen, of Canogh Park, California.

Miss May Jackson spent a week recently in Avoca visiting her sister, Mrs. Guy Kelly and Mr. Kelly. Mr. Billy Jackson is spending this week in Avoca.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Frisby, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Paton, of Niagara Falls, spent the week-end in Lachute and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. Elliott and Mrs. G. W. Scott. They attended the Lanfranconi - Campbell wedding in Morin Heights, July 9.

Pioneer Division Girl Guide camp

(Jean Herd Ivall, Commandant)

Holiday Lake, Namur, Que., was the site for the Pioneer Division Girl Guide camp, held from June 25 to July 3. Twenty-nine Guides, two Rangers, two little boys and six leaders attended.

Happy Guides from Brownsburg, Grenville and Lachute companies were ready at all times for fun, work and adventure. Twenty-five Guides were new campers; the four remaining ones did a tremendous job of training and looking after their tents. One new camper also acted as a fifth patrol leader and won a shield for the best new camper of the week.

Can you imagine hearing "Morning dip in five minutes" at 7 a.m. being whistled to new campers? These young ladies responded so well that it wasn't long before the commandant heard "Morning dip, everyone!" long before her alarm had started to ring!

The girls accomplished many new and useful things at camp. Two qualified for their Pioneer Badge; nine passed their Swimmer's Badge; one completed her 1st Class; and many of the new campers passed parts of their 2nd Class work.

A special vote of thanks is due to Mr. Clayton Bigelow, of Calumet, whose property was made available for this year's camp. Mr. Bigelow was most congenial and hospitable at all times.

The camp commandant, Mrs. Lloyd H. Ivall, would like to thank the following ladies who worked with her to make the stay at Holiday Lake a most enjoyable one: Mrs. R. Bourget, Mrs. G. Chalmers, Mrs. R. Graham, Mrs. J. Morris, Mrs. L. Paige, Mrs. R. Sugden and the two most helpful Rangers, Beth and Jane Bourget. A thank-you is also extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. Muir, Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. L. Paige and Mr. Rube, who formed the Camp Committee Group.

How's that for an outrageous claim?
A new VW at around $1798 (depending on accessories) costs less than a 5-year-old Something Else at $900.
We knew you wouldn't believe it. So we proved it.
Let's say you plan to keep your next car 5 years (and drive a total of 75,000 miles). Here's how it might work out.*

	New Volkswagen		Used Something Else
Price	$1,798		$ 900
Gas @ 45¢/gal.	900	(37 mpg)	1,875	(18 mpg)
Tires @ $28 ea.	112	(40,000 mi/set)	336	(20,000 mi/set)
Oil @ 70¢ qt.	43.75	(2½ qts. fills it)	53.20	(4 qts. fills it)
Anti-freeze	0	(air-cooled eng.)	12.00	(water-cooled eng.)
Cost for 5 years	$2,853.75		$3,176.20

So you're at least $180 ahead if you buy the new VW. (We didn't even count the extra $20 it saves on lower insurance and registration fees in many provinces.)
If you buy the new VW, you won't have to worry about why the first owner sold it. (And you won't have to pay for the expensive ailments that can hit an old Something Else.)
Now then. We don't have a crystal ball, but today's market is an interesting clue to the future.
After 5 years, the used car will probably be a 10-year-old candidate for the junk heap. But the VW will probably just be reaching its prime.
(Check the classified ads and you'll find 5-year-old VWs selling for $500 to $800, depending on the shape they're in.)
But you can do much better than that. Don't sell your VW at all.

LACHUTE, QUE., WEDNESDAY, JULY 13, 1966 SECTION 2; PAGES 7 — 10

EDITORIAL PAGE

"In this Parliament are three Estates, the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons, but in the Reporters' Gallery yonder sits a Fourth Estate more important far than all."
— Edmund Burke

Business entitled to argument

"YOU ARE MARRIED to government and you might as well start treating it as a partnership — a partnership in which you are entitled to at least have an occasional argument with your wife (the government) and have some say in her budget".

William H. Cranston, chairman of the Ontario Economic Council, offered this advice recently in an address at the "Canadian Textiles '66" conference of all sections of textile manufacture — an industry in which Lachute as a community has a vital stake.

Canadian business also has a responsibility to speak out in the press, on the platform and, most important, "to your elected representatives".

This speaker (a one-time fellow publisher and an old friend of the weeklies) said that, as an individual, he was concerned "about the degree of inflation in our present economy", and added that some day we must all realize the real facts of inflation. "Under present circumstances, a 1 per cent increase in the cost of living reduces the real wages of the average factory worker in Canada by some 90 cents per week. A 3 per cent increase, which was the actual increase between November, 1964, and November, 1965, is the equivalent of a silent subtraction of about 6 cents per hour work.

"At the end of last year, Canadians held 32 billion dollars in currency, bank deposits and Government of Canada securities. A 1 per cent price rise cuts the buying power of these savings alone by some 317 million dollars. This is one reason why each of us has such a stake in government budgeting — in the dire need to allocate priorities to public investment — in the essentiality of a periodic review of all government activities."

Competition in the main takes care of the unnecessary frills in private overhead, and in government there is a need to put economic plans into proper political perspective. "If we do not take a more active role in the assessment and formulation of governmental programs, we will deserve exactly what we get."

Mr. Cranston, whose home is in Midland, Ontario, and who describes himself as working "on the fringe of government" and as "a shoe manufacturer", was speaking to a joint annual conference of textile industries. He said that, while business had accepted its role as tax collector for government, it had not been nearly as diligent as others in pressing its recommendations.

Hazards with delayed action

YOU'VE HEARD of the "Fastest Gun in the West" . . . Meet the "Slowest Gun in the World" . . . a gun so slow, it took 214 years to fire.

This true story began on the afternoon of May 11, 1745, when a French soldier was loading his musket during the closing moments of the Battle of Fontenoy. Before he could fire again — the battle ended.

During the following two centuries — the Frenchman's musket went from a souvenir of the Battle of Fontenoy to a family relic — then became a collector's item. An armourer in Nimes, France, was selected to remove the rust and restore the musket to its original condition. He worked at the task — sanding the firing mechanism — and cleaning the top aperture for the flint.

Suddenly, as he was trying to free the corroded trigger, it moved all the way. There was a flash of flame and smoke and a muffled shriek of pain. After 214 years the "slowest gun in the world" had fired and found a human target — the armourer's wife working in the room next to his shop. . .

Many of the things we do each day can often be as dangerous as a loaded gun — with a delayed result. Haphazard housekeeping is a tragic example. Lumber with protruding nails, or grease on a floor or walk-way — objects extended from corners without any safety warning are actually "loaded" hazards that can "explode" at any time and cause serious injury to you and others.

No one wants to be responsible for "triggering" an injury to himself or others. . . The moral: Make "good housekeeping" an integral part of your daily safety effort.

This example, cited in the "Safety Counsellor" bulletin, deserves more than passing attention.

For and against

THE CANADIAN government was just recently put in the curious position, of giving vocal support to United States intervention in Viet Nam one day, and indicating dissatisfaction with it the next.

Occasion for the government's approval of the U.S. was an unexpectedly hard-hitting attack on American actions by Dmitri Polyansky, first deputy chairman of the Soviet Union's council of ministers.

Polyansky, visiting Canada with 10 other Soviet parliamentarians, surprised a large gathering of cabinet ministers, government officials and diplomats at an Ottawa dinner with a strong denunciation of the U.S. position.

His speech provoked a sharp reply from External Affairs Minister Martin, who said, to applause from many in the audience, that the U.S. is Canada's "great neighbor" and that it has made an "enormous contribution to resisting aggression".

Mr. Polyansky's strong attack was all the more unexpected in view of the light atmosphere in which the visitors' tour began. The Soviet official joked with Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker about such topics as world hockey championships, vodka and women.

The day after he delivered his blast at the U.S. Mr. Polyansky and his group travelled to Western Canada to look at agricultural problems.

The same day, Mr. Pearson expressed disapproval of the U.S. decision to extend its bombing activities further into North Viet Nam to oil depots near Hanoi and Haiphong. "We have always held—and I think this was made quite clear by me in a statement I made in April last year—that a let-up in the pattern of air strikes against the North seemed likely to be one of the major elements in arranging or approaching a peaceful settlement," he told the Commons.

Vacation season?

A BIRDWATCHER reports he saw tremendous flocks of geese winging their way southward this year when they might have been expected to be going in the opposite direction. You can't fool a goose. He knows a late spring when he sees one.

The way the seasons are becoming mixed, combined with the ease of travel, the harder it is to pick suitable holiday dates — says The Printed Word. Time was when Uncle Harry, the big-city uncle, was quite content to go to the farm homestead in the summer, borrow a straw hat and a tin pail and go off into the bush to pick wild raspberries. He preferred picking berries to fishing because sometimes he caught a berry. Nowadays his family beat down all opposition and he may find himself spending his holidays lounging in a deck chair on the burning sands of some fashionable place in a quite different season.

Viewpoints and perspectives

EMBARRASSMENT OF RICHES — No responsible Canadian will envy the federal cabinet its role during the recent labor disputes in transportation, comments The Financial Post. It was damned if it failed to avert serious bottleneck troubles for the economy and now it's damned for the expensive settlements that resulted. Ottawa's deep plunge into labor relations has, The Financial Post says, plainly turned the whole basis for bargaining in this country upside down. The fat settlements are embarrassing for union leaders. How can they bargain for reasonable settlements when their members see the Prime Minister endorsing settlements that fly in the face of Ottawa's own anti-inflationary moves?

The Catholics of Lachute have been honored with a visit of the Bishop of Montreal, now elevated to the dignity of Archbishop of the same diocese by Pope Leo XIII.

Cities and towns are nobly responding to the call for relief of Vancouver fire sufferers. Lachute should not be backward in coming forward with its cotta (sic) of aid also.

In the Superior Court case at Ste. Scholastique between Messrs. Hamelin & Ayers, woollen manufacturers, and Mr. Robert Bannerman, rope manufacturer, regarding water rights purchased by the latter — judgment was rendered favoring Hamelin & Ayers.

The Grand Trunk Express, with the English mails, made the run between Quebec and Montreal, a distance of 173 miles, in four hours and twenty minutes — an average of about 40 miles an hour.

The village of New Edinburgh has voted for annexation to the City of Ottawa. Rochester, on the west, will soon follow this example, with other suburban villages as a matter of course.

Mount Maple — The usual quietness of this place was disturbed by the marriage of Miss Jennie Warwick and Mr. Alex McGibbon, of Brownsburg, Que. The happy bride received a beautiful bouquet of flowers from her former pupils of Mt. Maple School. The flag was hoisted and everybody appeared pleased and happy.

The 'meddling' Canadian

"That man in Ottawa!"

The British and French were saying this of Lester B. Pearson 10 years ago when as External Affairs Minister, he led the United Nations in censuring the Anglo-French invasion of Suez.

Today, the Americans, notably the short-tempered Lyndon B. Johnson, are similarly exasperated at Mr. Pearson's "meddling" in Vietnam and his ... ed criticisms of U.S. polici... on matters ranging from NATO to economic guidelines.

While U.S.-Canadian relations are a long way from the hysterical tenor of the last days of the Diefenbaker administration, events of recent weeks dampened the usual ardor between Ottawa and Washington.

The current impasse really goes back to last December when Mr. Pearson, in a Philadelphia speech, called on the U.S. to suspend bombing of North Vietnam. When word of the PM's remarks reached the White House, the American president hit the ceiling, taking the Pearson comment as further evidence of Canadian unreliability.

The fact that the U.S. did indeed later temporarily suspend its bombing attacks cannot be credited to the Pearson speech, but the Canadian position, added to appeals from other Western nations, helped nudge Washington toward the move.

The Canadian PM next spoke to an influential group of Americans when he addressed the U.S. Society of Newspaper Editors in Montreal this spring. He ignored Vietnam and dealt mostly with economic matters. I thought his talk was reasoned and fair, but Americans in the audience reacted sharply. They generally regarded his comments as an unfair attack on U.S. economic interests.

Canada next split with Washington over the future of NATO, when the Canadian delegation to Brussels, led by Paul Martin, defied U.S. determination to launch counter-measures against France which is taking its troops out of the Atlantic alliance. Due to Canadian insistence, the U.S. failed to win its way for a joint 14-nation approach against the French, and the door was left open for future French participation, most probably on France's terms.

Mr. Pearson followed up this diplomatic coup with a hard-hitting speech at Springfield, Illinois. He was outspokenly critical of U.S. attempts to dominate NATO and equated the American domination of the Atlantic alliance with the Soviet domination of Eastern Europe's military apparatus.

The significance of this position is that Moscow is having as much trouble keeping its Warsaw Pact countries in line as the U.S. is having with Canada and France.

Again, Mr. Pearson took on Washington over U.S. bombing of Hanoi. He publicly said only that he "regretted" the attack, but it was well known in Ottawa that the PM regarded the latest American escalation as senseless.

According to one Washington observer, Secretary of State Dean Rusk has been feeding President Johnson a wildly inaccurate assessment of why Canada has been behaving in such an unusually independent manner of late.

It is said that Mr. Rusk believes Canadian foreign policy is aimed at winning more Liberal party support in Quebec, and that this is why Canada took a pro-Fench attitude at the NATO foreign ministers' conference.

The major international problem remains Vietnam, despite the NATO side-show in Europe.

Increased bombings have so far brought no significant reduction in North Vietnamese support of the Viet Cong in the south. Each degree of escalation appears to have hardened Hanoi's determination to carry on the fight. And so the American dilemma grows — a nation possessed of the ability to win a crushing military victory, but unable to end a conflict which daily becomes more immoral and barbarous.

The sailors' lot

I was reading the other day an interview with a Canadian seaman. He was telling a reporter why he, and so many other sailors are not happy with their lot.

He mentioned a lot of things that seemed petty at first glance: coarse sheets on the bunks; crowded quarters; not enough showers; cheap soap; scanty recreational facilities.

Not much of the spirit of Drake and Nelson and rounding Cape Horn there? Not much. But then the truth came out. These were only the minor irritants, the little, concrete manifestations of a deeper discontent.

A sailor's pay is good, comparatively. Most boats feed their crews well. What really gets the sailor down are frustration, boredom, monotony and loneliness. They suffer from the modern malaise of the spirit that affects many segments of our society.

As I read the article, I couldn't help comparing the sailor's job today with that of the 1930's, when I spent a spell on the Great Lakes.

Today he works a 40-hour week, has a basic pay of nearly $400 a month, and is protected by a tough union. In those days, he worked a 50 to 60-hour week, picked up a handsome cheque for $40 at the end of the month, and could be fired if he even looked unhappy.

And perhaps that's why, if memory serves, the sailor of those days was a pretty happy character. He did a lot of grousing, as sailors have done since Ulysses and his crew left Troy, but he also did a lot of horsing around, and took life very unseriously.

Not many were married in those days. They couldn't afford it. They'd blow their 40 bucks on beer and girls and poker in a couple of days, and then it was penny-ante and practical jokes and "makings" for the rest of the month.

Today's sailor is a much glummer individual. He's more likely to be married and have children. He has a mortgage and insurance and income tax and dental bills, like all the other suckers in society.

Theoretically, he's 10 times better off than the deck-hand of the 30's. He works a whole lot less and makes a great deal more. He is better fed and quartered. He can watch television. He has 10 months away from the old battleaxe and the kids, two months holidays in winter, during which he is paid unemployment insurance.

What's wrong then? Why is he griping, threatening to strike every so often, wishing he had a shore job? It's simple enough. Sailing is deadly dull. For officers and engineers, it's lively enough. They have delicate machinery, decisions, responsibilities, special skills.

But the deck-hand is the Poor Bloody Infantry of the inland seas. His work is often dirty, nearly always monotonous, occasionally dangerous, but hardly ever heroic.

There's no going aloft to reef the mainsail in the teeth of a gale. He's more likely chipping paint. There's no landing at exotic foreign ports, hiring a rickshaw and heading for the high spots. He's more likely picking his way across the railway tracks in a dirty dock area, heading for a beer parlour.

He spends most of his waking hours with a crowd just as browned off as he. And they curse and play poker and grouse and watch television crud and brag about the shore job they could have had. Not much for the soul there.

And he's lonely. Lonely for his family. And maybe he's guilty, knowing it's not a square deal for the wife, bringing up the kids alone.

And he misses the land. The shady streets of the small town, or the beat and excitement of the city. The green of trees and grass, and the glimmer of brown young limbs on beaches. The smell of lilacs in June, and burning leaves in October.

There's a little of this in the life of the inland sailor. It's clean and fresh out on the lakes. But one Great Lake looks much like another, one canal like the last one, and every grimy dock area exactly like the one you've just come from.

Don't knock the sailor. He has his ghosts, just as you and I.

District NEWS

Morin Heights

Post Office Changes

Early Monday morning of last week, a few minutes after opening time, two men, equipped with tools of their trade, entered the post-office and proceeded, deliberately and systematically, to demolish a portion of the interior. It was all according to plan and in keeping with detailed instructions of the Federal Government. Already the result of the workmen's efforts is taking shape in the form of a revised and much improved layout. New windows, relocated partitions, additional working space and, most important of all, new batteries of modern mail boxes in increased numbers. By the new arrangement the area occupied by the boxes is separated from the wickets, resulting in box holders being able to get their mail at any hour even though the remainder of the office is closed.

Radar Speed Control

The attention of motorists in the area is directed to the fact that a radar speed control unit is now in operation within the boundaries of the municipality. This unit, recently acquired by the Council and operated by Police Chief Morin, is capable of detecting the speed of any vehicle while still some distance away. The actual speed is recorded and can be used as evidence of illegalities.

Mr. John Minshall left on Friday last for an extended trip West, visiting points of interest en route to Vancouver.

Council Meeting Notes

Complaints have been received of the illegal use of B-B air guns by certain juveniles. Police Chief Morin will take necessary and effective action with offenders in the future.

Contract for the rental of trucks and tractors for use on municipal works was awarded to Mr. George Gardner, whose tender was the lowest received. Other tenders were submitted by Ray's Garage and George Riddell & Sons, Ltd.

Arrangements have been made for pressure tests to be carried out in relation to the water system.

Nearing completion is the stone retaining wall on the south side of Millard Ave., extending eastward from St. Adolphe Road — an excellent example of expert workmanship.

Civic elections will be held shortly to fill forthcoming vacancies in the Council. Wednesday, July 13, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 noon, is the date and time set for nomination papers to be filed with the secretary-treasurer.

Grenville

The Rev. and Mrs. P. R. Stote, Mr. Danny Stote and a friend, and Florence Frances and Laurence, of Huntingdon, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Mimee.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smillie, Town of Mount Royal, visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Smillie, last week.

Mrs. W. Tifley, of Harrowsmith, Ont., was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. George MacVicar.

Miss Winona MacAdam has returned to her home in Chapleau, Ont., after visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacAdam, and other relatives and friends in the community.

Miss Myrna Crosby spent the holiday week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Urquhart in Dalkeith, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason Crosby visited the former's mother, Mrs. M. A. Crosby, who is a patient in the Bedford Hospital.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. T. Morrow and Miss C. Murdoch, of Dalesville, whose sister, Mrs. H. Brady (Ettie Murdoch) passed away suddenly at her home in Howick, Que., last week. Her funeral service was held in the Maple Ave. Baptist Church last Saturday, with the pastor, the Rev. G. A. Hunt, officiating. Interment was in the Dalesville Cemetery.

Mr. Ernest Zimmer, Captain Militant of the Canton of the Oddfellows, is spending a few days in Granby, Que.

Miss Joan Zimmer, of Montreal, is spending her holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Zimmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan MacLeod, of Kamloops, B.C., and Mrs. Ed Andrews, of Avoca, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Creswell and other friends here.

Harrington V.B.S., 1966

The Vacation School for 1966 has once again been enjoyed by many boys and girls of the surrounding communities. The closing exercises are planned for Friday evening, at 7.30 in the school.

There will be a short program given by the children, and an invitation is extended to all parents and those interested in the children's work — to come and support the V.B.S. for 1966.

Cushing

Miss Debbie Fuller and Master Danny Fuller spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. J. Berry.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Bailey and Miss Cama Bailey motored to Montreal on Sunday to visit Mrs. A. Holmes, who is a patient in the Julius Richardson Hospital.

63rd Anniversary

130th Milestone At St. Mungo's

St. Mungo's United Church celebrated its 130th anniversary this past week-end. Saturday evening a supper was held in the church hall, followed by a brief program. Sunday morning's worship was conducted by the Rev. E. L. Ivany; the Rev. Ralph Watson was guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bryerton and family, of Rosemere, spent the week-end at their summer home, having as their guests Miss Jean Tremblay, of Rosemere, and Bob Walker, of Lorraine.

Women's Institute

Frontier W.I. meeting was held at the home of Miss Ruby O'Brien, Chatboro, on Tuesday evening, July 5. A report of the recent Q.W.I. convention at Macdonald College was given by Mrs. Nelson Morrison.

Kilmar

Brynn Carson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carson, Kilmar, has been accepted as a Centennial exchange student. She was chosen from 200 applicants in the Laurentian area. Having completed Grade 11 at the Grenville High School, she intends to take Grade XII in Lachute next September. Miss Carson leaves for Rosetown, Sask., August 11, returning August 23. On her return she will play hostess to an exchange student from Pincher Creek, Alberta, from August 25 to September 2.

Thanks of Guides to camp helpers

Lachute, Que.

Editor, Lachute Watchman

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the parents of the Girl Guides who attended guide camp at Holiday Lake in Namur this summer, I would like to thank the camp captain, Mrs. L. Ivall; the commissioner, Mrs. R. Bourget; the nurse, Mrs. R. Sugden; the swimmer, Mrs. A. Morrison; the cook, Mrs. Page; Mrs. J. Chalmers and Mrs. D. Graham — for their time and effort toward making it possible for our daughters to attend pioneer camp.

Special thanks also to Mr. Bigelow, who provided the camp-site free of charge and, last but not least, all those working on the camp committee.

— Mrs. O. Stephens

Ayers sign agreement with union averting strike at textile plant

A large majority of employees of Dominion Ayers Limited (Textile Division), members of the International Union of Textile Workers of America (Q.F.L.) on Friday ratified a new collective agreement for a three year term. A vote of 302 union members in favor and only 37 against approved the company offer which was made following the re-opening of negotiations. It will be recalled that on Monday of last week, 72 per-cent of the voting workers refused to accept the offer at that time but authorized their representatives to re-enter negotiations rather than call an immediate strike.

The new collective labor Agreement brought the following changes; a general wage increase in the rate of nine cents per hour, retroactive to June 1, 1966; five cents the first of June 1967; six cents the first of June 1968; and seven cents the first of December 1968; one additional statutory holiday for a total of nine paid holidays per year. Two percent additional holiday pay for the employees with three years or more service. A day paid in case of the death of father-in-law or mother-in-law of an employee, also more than fifty adjustments of the hourly rates before the application of the general increase. These adjustments vary between three and twenty-four cents an hour which will benefit a hundred and sixty employees and in addition certain technical and mechanical terms were improved.

In commenting on the new contract early this week, a company official reported there had actually been little threat of a strike and that both sides appeared to be well satisfied with the new contract. The Dominion Ayers plant is presently closed for the annual vacation and the mills will be back in full operation August 1. now that agreement has been reached.

Transport driver has miraculous escape

Gilles Laurin, a local transport driver, had a miraculous escape shortly after noon Monday while headed towards Lachute. The mishap occurred on the sharp curve at Silverson's farm, just across the Argenteuil county line on Route 41 and according to reports, it is believed the semi-trailer was meeting a car on the curve when the empty trailer started to sway. In attempting to straighten the vehicle, Laurin lost control and the tractor overturned in the ditch, the trailer coming to rest on top of the wheels. Laurin was pinned with his back against the roof of the upside-down cab, his chest against the seat and the steering wheel. He was in that position for more than an hour before he was released. Laurin, a resident of St. Philippe, was taken to the hospital in St. Jerome where he was kept under observation apparently having suffered no ill effects from the mishap. Above, men are seen working in an attempt to release the driver a short time after the mishap occurred. —Photo, Syd Drew

(Comments on the Local Scene)

With lack of water pressure "up the hill" at Brownsburg, a number of householders were reported much disturbed over apparent failure to cope with this situation, and some uncomplimentary remarks were floating around — specially emphatic during the hot, dry weather last week.

It appears there is no question of a strike at least at present, at the Argenteuil Hospital, according to a spokesman there who reported that all services are functioning as normal. There has been a slight slow-down in various departments resulting from the vacation period but in general, the situation is normal. The local hospital union is not affiliated with the CNTU which is currently conducting a strike among non-professional hospital workers in 139 institutions across the province.

Argenteuil M. P. in bilingualism debate —

'What are we striving to establish?' — Regimbal

Speaking on Bill C-194 in the House of Commons last Wednesday, Roger Regimbal (Prog.-Cons., Argenteuil - Deux Montagnes) proved himself a worthy spokesman for the French-Canadian approach to unity. His address was in opposition to an amendment to the bill for creation of a corporation to administer the National Arts Centre; the specific amendment suggested an addition to clause 4, namely, "In the appointment of members and officers of the corporation, due account will be taken of the linguistic duality of Canada and its cultural plurality . . . It was to this amendment that Mr. Regimbal voiced disapproval.

Following are extracts of broader interest from his address:

Extracts from Address

Let us say, first of all that much more is involved than a mere provision in a piece of legislation designed to set up a National Arts Centre. The very fact of this discussion shows us in a dramatic manner that what is actually involved is the whole essentially Canadian context of bilingualism, of national duality or co-existence, in short, of cultural policy, which our best Canadian minds have been trying so hard to define for a century, but with new vigor and intensity, especially in the last ten years: an attempt at a definition which gave birth to the Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism, which has led others to look forward to a constitutional conference, which has inspired the supporters of separatism, which has brought about the discovery of new stock phrases such as "associate states", "co-operative federalism", etc. Those are so many considerations which show a very keen awareness of this situation, of this experience Canada has gone through in the last century. It is essential that we should endeavour to define it, not so much to explain the last hundred years, but mainly to give direction to the next hundred years.

Generally speaking, I should like to note in passing that the wording of the present amendment is so vague and so watered down that it no longer means anything. So the amendment recommends that "due account will be taken of the linguistic duality and the cultural plurality of Canada".

In all honesty and objectivity I cannot see what this amendment, or any insistance on establishing a percentage of French speaking or bilingual representation on boards, can accomplish besides attempting to reduce this whole problem of national unity to a mathematical formula, which is no solution at all. Because it is restrictive and selective, it is essentially a negative approach.

I now speak as one who has spent more than half of his life as a member of the French speaking minority in Ontario, where I believe a more positive approach, through many years of sacrifice, effort and stubborness as well as patience, perseverance and self-determination has resulted in the French speaking element penetrating more and more into every phase of economic, social, cultural and academic life, and in the English speaking element re-examining its whole conception of Canadianism and learning to seek out the differences in characteristics which explain our reactions and attitudes.

Mind you, I do not mean to suggest that life has always been a bed of roses, nor do I suggest that this battle has been won. We have had to scale some almost insurmountable difficulties, in education particularly, and circumstances still come up when strong stands have to be taken by an alert French speaking group, stands that can be and are debated at their full face value without awakening all kinds of emotional stresses and strains. Personally, I have never felt that anyone was out to get me, so to speak, and I am sure that in those 25 odd years which I spent in Ontario never at any time did we, as a group or as individuals, take a step backward. French minorities

Local worker receives citizenship papers

A Lachute resident of Portuguese nationality, Joao Sabino, received his Canadian citizenship last Wednesday in Ottawa — with the distinction of being the first personally presented by the Hon. Jean Marchand, Minister of Citizenship and Immigration. Sabino is employed as a carpenter on the maintenance staff at Dominion Ayers Limited. Seen above, left to right, are Roger Regimbal, M.P. for this constituency, the Hon. Jean Marchand, and Mr. Sabino receiving his certificate. To advertisers and correspondents

This is the annual notice to correspondents and space users — that staff vacations are coming up and there will be no issue of The Watchman in the week of August 1-6.

For next week's Watchman, in order to expedite press time and allow the newspaper staff a reasonably prompt break-away, correspondents and advertisers are asked to send their material as early as possible.

Lively discussion at council sitting of first "City" assembly

Verbal fireworks illuminated the first formal sitting of the new city council. Engaged in brief skirmishes of opinion were the mayor and a councillor, in one instance, and a councillor and a taxpayer in another. The meeting took place last Wednesday, with Mayor Dr. Z. Saindon presiding.

Another unscheduled incident was a letter to Council from Alderman-elect Réal Morrissette, tendering his resignation (text printed elsewhere on this page). This letter received a treatment familiar to councils in the past; it was "placed on the table" — which is, generally speaking, another term for postponing the issue. This was a spark which aroused objection from J. Arthur Lafrance, a taxpayer, who enquired why the matter should be delayed until another meeting — to which Alderman Jacques Poitras replied heatedly that it was the councillors who were running the show, not the people in the audience (or words to this effect).

Mayor Saindon also spoke sharply in a couple of instances, calling Alderman Ernest Provost to order and indicating unmistakably that decorum must be observed.

Apart from these lively exchanges, the proceedings ran true to form, and routine matters occupied much of the agenda.

The Carrefour du Livre was granted the $3,000 which it had requested a few months ago. This civic subsidy received unanimous endorsement, and Alderman Charlebois was notable for his full approval.

A request was received from the Village of Carillon, for fire protection from Lachute when needed. This form of agreement was held over for study.

Alderman Charlebois was appointed pro-mayor for a three-month period. Mr. Charlebois had proposed Alderman Bruno Belanger for this honor, but was himself appointed by vote from the table.

Another grant was given approval of the Council, namely, to the Canadian Institute for the Blind — the amount being equivalent to the property tax and water tax on the CNIB premises on Drew Street.

Unanimous vote gives $3000 grant to local library

Newly-elected alderman gives his resignation

Lachute Mayor and Council:

This is to advise that I tender my resignation, effective immediately, as alderman of the City of Lachute, and relinquish the seat to which I was elected in the vote of July 10.

I wish to thank the taxpayers, who gave me a comfortable majority, and I regret having to take this course, due to purely personal reasons.

Sincerely,

(Signed) Réal Morrissette

This letter was "tabled" by agreement of the councillors, and no immediate action was taken.

Exchange students visit industry

Two students from British Columbia, one from Saskatchewan and one from Ontario spent two weeks in residence here with French-speaking families, in a student exchange program initiated by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews. The group visited The Watchman printing plant last Wednesday, then called at the city hall where they were invited to sign the Golden Book. It was also arranged for them to visit other industries and interesting spots.

Teachers in R.C. regional jurisdiction presently negotiating new contract

Negotiations are continuing between the Association of Catholic Teachers and their respective school commissions throughout the area in view to renewing the teachers' contract for a two year period.

Three meetings have been held to date with the next session planned for August 13. All meetings have been held in the Msgr. Lacourse school and a cordial atmosphere has prevailed.

The association has been represented at the negotiations by Charles Legris and a number of teachers; Miss Therese Trempe is secretary of the group. On the other hand the Regional board is negotiating for 11 school commissioners from the district including Lachute, Brownsburg, St. Andrews East, Carillon, St. Hermas, St. Philippe, Grenville, St. Michel, Calumet and Pte. au Chene. Heading the school commission committee is Gaetan Lelair who is assisted by Dr. Lavigne and Fernand Berthiaume, both of the Lachute R.C. School Commission; Marc Diotte, representing Brownsburg; Lucien Durocher, for St. Andrews and M. Côté for Grenville.

Any decisions taken have to be ratified by the individual school commissions as well as by the teachers' association.

The four main points over which agreement has not as yet been made include salary scale; bonuses; year's service and the number of students per class. The association made a request as pertaining to the salary which was answered with a counter-proposal by the school commission and this is in the process of being studied.

Election results from district municipalities

Gaston Giroux was re-elected to the Parish of St. Jerusalem municipal council with a majority of 485 votes over his opponent, Paul Emile Audet. Giroux polled a total of 555 votes as compared to only 70 for Audet, and only one ballot was rejected. The election was held Monday in the municipal hall, on Elizabeth Street.

Following the close of nominations, Kenneth Clark was declared elected by acclamation. E. W. Smith was later also declared elected by acclamation following the withdrawal of Antoine Malaket from the contest.

Council is comprised of Mayor Felix Touchette and Councillors J. W. Davis, Lloyd Hume, Conrad Gagné, Gaston Giroux, E. W. Smith and Kenneth Clark. The election was conducted by Douglas Bradford, secretary-treasurer of the municipality.

Morin Heights contest

Election for councillors in the Municipality of Morin Heights were also held on Monday and saw Gordon Conley elected by acclamation for Seat 1. In Seat 3, retiring councillor Gordon Barclay was re-elected with 235 votes in a three way contest between Marc Sims who polled 61 votes and Jack Steele with 118.

Retiring councillor Raymond Meilleur was defeated in his bid for re-election, Donald Steele polling 261 votes to 176 for Mr. Meilleur with Seat 5 contest.

New safety record reached by C-I-L Brownsb'g Works

Brownsburg, — A safety record of more than 1,934,000 accident-free man-hours was established at midnight Monday by Brownsburg Works of Canadian Industries Limited, Works Manager, K. W. MacGibbon announced Tuesday.

The record win for the employees merits the Board of Director's Prize, one of the several awards under C-I-L's no accident record plan. Mr. MacGibbon said the employees have worked 293 days without sustaining a single lost-time injury. The last lost-time accident at the Works occurred on September 28, 1965.

As a reward for their achievement, the 1,220 employees will receive individual prizes following the holiday period.

C-I-L manufactures sporting ammunition and explosives products at Brownsburg.

By BOB ATCHISON

I received a phone call recently from Mrs. Girling, of Mountain View, about a couple of robins that had been pulled out of a nest, and she had adopted them in the hope they would survive. Actually there were three of them, but one was killed in the fall from the nest. However, the two she adopted have certainly come along — so much so, they now follow her everywhere she goes. Anyone seeing these birds will get a surprise for sure; they are just like pets, and as usual with pets, they also are moochers. Running along, as ground-birds do, they keep up with her very well. It seems that they expect to be fed every minute, on the minute, and their guardian has been hard pressed to supply worms for them; with the warm weather and lack of rain (to time of writing) they have been as scarce as million-dollar bills. It's really wonderful to see these birds, which have the utmost trust in her, and seem to enjoy doing every little trick she tries with them. I'm wondering about their trip south when the weather gets cool, I guess they will expect Mom to take off with them. However, they could decide they have never had it so good, and stay right through the winter. It has happened before. It's strange the way a wild creature will trust one person, almost as a matter of course, yet will have nothing to do with others.

This is also a case of trust — and I think it's really a great story: I was told this past week of a couple of youngsters who love ducks. Right near their house they have a small pond, in which a couple of these waterfowl set up housekeeping. Naturally, young came along — seven of them; but (and this is the story) the water started to dry up in the pond, due to warm weather and lack of rain. . . Now, these lads decided to do something about it. They cut a small ditch from their dwelling down to the pond, covering the ditch near the house — then turned on the water to seep into the pothole. This worked well — that is, until the household also started to run short of water. However, everything is fine once more; the ponds gets a certain amount of water every night after the dishes have been cleaned up, so the water is being held at a satisfactory level, thus allowing the ducks to play. I tried, unsuccessfully, to get the names of these boys; this kind of thinking deserves a good word, believe me. And I hope they have the fattest and sassiest ducks in the County.

I know of two young moose around the town. I'm not saying just where — for the obvious reason, they would last about as long as ice cream lasts in this hot weather. For the time being, though, they are well and safe. I travelled in the hopes of seeing them, but noise betrayed me. I heard them plowing along in the water, and could find plenty of signs. However, one of these days! We also have beavers around; I was surprised at the numbers of them that can be heard and seen. One creek which I used to fish quite often (but quit when someone netted it), has a beaver dam that has raised the level at least five feet. Only one thing, the water is brackish, and I don't think there will be too many fish there except the odd sucker or carp. But I intend to try and fish it once more; the dam can be walked on without damaging it, and I think it will be safe enough.

Now for some serious thoughts. . . Watch out for fire just now. With the woods tinder dry, it won't take much to get something going in a hurry, and a blaze just now would be disastrous for everyone. . . So please be careful with that camp fire, match, cigarette butt or pipe ash.

Gabriel Loubier, the minister of Tourism, Fish and Game, has started off on the right foot. At least we can hope for better things later. He stated that about 500 clubs who lease lands from the government have not been living up to their agreements in the protection of fish and game, and that, unless they started doing something about it, they would lose their privileges. This sounds encouraging, and I'm praying that he really intends to do something that has been needed for a long time, namely, get some of these clubs off the free-loader list. Leasing clubs are supposed to have protection services at all times for their lands, but a great many of them have been floating along with no thought of this whatever.

You know of my interest in the North River, and how I would like to see it made into something attractive, a credit to the town and the province. I have heard some talk this past week that makes this all seem possible; and what's more, with the right kind of public-spirited men, this could come about. I haven't got all the figures or information on the planning; this I hope to have within the week though. Believe me, if this could develop, it would make our town a beauty spot on the map. I've often talked of having the tourists come in, to help this town economically. With this kind of improvement it is more than possible. After all, Industry can only do so much; but there is no limit to the potentialities of the tourist business.

Projects are underway all over the country for our 100th Birthday next year. Some towns and cities have very ambitious plans — but what's happened in Lachute? Believe it or not, I love this town, and would like to see something besides a dirty river. Certainly the park next to the town hall has improved the situation a little, but take a walk over the road towards the river, and see the sight that greets you! I repeat, what was good for Grandfather is no longer good for us. We are supposed to be living in the 20th Century, so why don't we act like it? The argument is that taxes will go up; well, hasn't everything — starting with better education for our children, and spiraling services everywhere. So a few more dollars tacked on the taxes shouldn't faze us. If people would think of the benefits they would reap, if only in tourism, then maybe they'd get busy.

All the young birds around are keeping the watchers busy. I spotted a young swallow in the grass the other morning — plus a cat from the farm, who has no benign thoughts towards the birds. But he changed his mind very soon. The swallow, followed by its parent birds, got itself into a nice safe place, at least for awhile. . . I have been told of a cuckoo being seen in the area; now this is not a Canadian bird — at least, the one described to me sounded like the Southern one, with the very long tail, white on the wings, and in fact, predominantly white. Maybe it got lost some way. . . American goldfinches are still around in profusion, and on a nice warm morning, I don't think there is anything more beautiful than their magnificent coloring; and seemingly they are very gentle. There are all types of birds, some certainly strangers to this part of the country — and just in case you forget, if you want to keep them around, feed them. Scratch feed is the thing; after all, they don't want to work any harder than we do.

Lachute Motor Sport Club

History

The original Lachute Motor Sport Club was formed a number of years ago by a small group of enthusiasts with a common interest in motor sport events. This interest, however, was not enough to hold the club together and it soon dissolved.

About two years ago some of the original organizers decided to try again. The Lachute Motor Sport Club was brought to life, destined for bigger and better things. The membership was small and often had to delay a meeting while someone was out trying to round up enough members to form a quorum. Word of our events, both sporting and social, began to spread and correspondingly our list of members grew. In the last year it has increased from about a dozen to thirty-nine. This does not include friends of members who are always welcome at our meetings.

With this rising membership the directors of the club soon realized that they were shouldering a heavy responsibility as far as our liability was concerned. This led to the incorporation of the club which was a financial setback from which we have not yet recovered.

The next step in the life of the new Lachute Motor Sport Club Inc. was to become affiliated with C.A.S.C. This is the ultimate goal of all motor sport clubs. You have to earn a place in this organization by sponsoring events which are flawless in very detail. The club must organize a minimum number of events each year under the rules and regulations of the governing body. To remain a member, the club must maintain the high standard of events which it has had in the past, for it will always be under the watchful eyes of C.A.S.C. Stewards.

This has been a short resumé of the history of the Lachute Motor Sport Club Inc. The future is unknown, however we will continue to exist as long as we feel we are making a useful contribution to this community.

Gymkhana

Lindsay Green has announced that the Gymkhana will be held on Saturday, August 6, at 2.00 p.m. at the C-I-L parking lot in Brownsburg. Why not join us either as a participant or spectator? As usual, there will probably be an informal social gathering after the event.

Pit Chatter

Some of the "fathers" of our club are Bob MacAdam, Fred Rutikofer, Dave Pollock, Rodger MacAdam, Dave Heggie, and Tom Smith. . . Sunday, August 21, is the date for our Summer Rally. Reserve your navigator before it's too late. . . A policeman overtook a car driven by a young lady from Lachute and asked her why she hadn't stopped for his whistle. She replied sweetly, "I would have, but I never flirt while I'm driving." . . The corn is out early this year, isn't it?

Next meeting: July 29 at the Masonic Hall, 8.00 p.m.

Action-packed Slow-pitch event coming in August

For the first time in Lachute, there will be a slow-pitch tournament presented on August 6 and 7 at the Ayers Recreation Center. The tournament will be presented compliments of Gaston "Molson" Laroche. The participants will compete for $150. the winner being awarded $100. along with a trophy and the runner-up taking home $50. as well as a trophy. This tournament is open to all clubs in the district and the entrance fee is $15. per club, with each team being allowed the use of 18 players.

For further information, please contact Jacques Paul, tel. 562-5621 or 562-2411; or Buzz MacRae, tel. 562-2973; 562-2466 or 533-4090.

All applications must be in the hands of the organizers by August 4, 1966.

For those people who are not familiar with the game of Slow-Pitch, it is similar to Fastball except that the pitcher lobs the ball, with the ball not exceeding 10 feet off the ground on its way to the plate, and each team is allowed 10 players rather than the usual 9.

It is a defensive game with a lot of hitting. The game is becoming popular in the Montreal District and we would advise anyone at all interested in sports to get out and see this new spectator sport.

Lachute Golf Club's 17-year-old Constance Ryan entered her first provincial tournament last week and emerged the 1966 Quebec Junior Ladies Champion.

She shot a 93 and 90 for 183 at Wentworth in the two-day event July 14, 15 to edge out Chantal Bonin, of Beldeil, by one stroke.

A 15-handicapper, before coming to Lachute, she played for several years at the Noranda Golf Club before her family moved to Montreal last year.

"I couldn't sleep for three days during the tournament," she said.

But it didn't seem to slow down her game too much. On the first day of play she drove on — to the 190 yard par three 11th hole and stepped up to sink a 60-foot putt for a fine birdie two.

She had been a little nervous two holes before, she said, putting four times on the ninth green while spectators watched. "No one should four-putt in a tournament," she said.

After the first day's round Constance was one stroke behind tournament favorite Jeanie Richardson, of Grand'mere. "Then I just had to win," said Constance.

Her winning 90 (44-46) the following day included a two-stroke penalty when she drove out-of-bounds on the 10th."

Up to now Constance has spent little time on the practise tee. "I'd rather go out and play," she said but confessed to a few practise sessions in the sand traps the day before the tournament.

Along with Chantal Bonin, Constance has won a spot on the Quebec Junior golf team to compete in the Canadian Championships at Halifax August 8.

Water Skiing WITH CLINT WARD

Learning good rope-handling technique will prevent accidents.

Rope Burns Are Painful so treat the tow-line with respect. During dock starts the handle should be held across the fingers of one hand. The tow-line loosely coiled over the extended fingers. As the tow boat moves away let the line play out through the fingers of your other hand. By doing this the line is pulled from the coil at right angles and not across the coil which could cause the tow-rope to tangle.

Throw The Last Two Loops Out And Away from you and then yell, "hit it!" This will ensure that the line does not catch on your skis at the last second. During water starts do not give the "go" signal until the rope is taut and between the tips of your skis which should be out of the water.

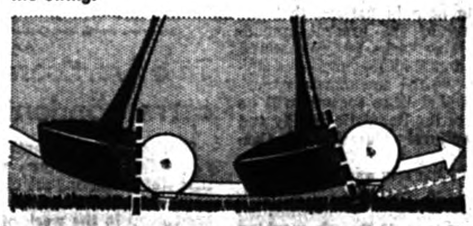
THE ARNOLD Palmer Method

by GOLF'S 4-TIME MASTERS WINNER

SWEEP DRIVES UP AND AWAY

Many golfers fail to achieve proper height on tee shots because they play the ball too far back in their stance.

You will note in the illustration how the club's loft is reduced when the ball is played back in the stance and struck on the downswing, and how its loft is increased by playing the ball farther forward and hitting it later in the swing.



If you have trouble getting your drives off the ground, play the ball farther forward in your stance and tee it a bit higher.

Once this is done, sweep the ball away and up into the air. However, don't try to scoop it up by allowing your weight to remain on your right foot.

Local citizen died suddenly at Buckingham

The community was shocked to hear of the sudden death of Paul Jacobsen, a long-time Lachute resident. Paul, who has a host of both English and French friends, was on duty as usual with Boyd's Express Limited, having been with the company for about 20 years, when he collasped near his truck at Buckingham.

Born in Denmark in 1925, he came with his parents Hans and Mrs. Jacobsen to Lachute in 1927, where he had since resided. His father predeceased him only a few months ago.

He was married to the former Louise Jutras, and with her are three children, Lynn (11), and twin girls Doris and Diane (9), left to mourn his loss in addition to his mother and three sisters, Mrs. Jansen (Kirsten), of Los Angeles; Mrs. Read (Esle), of Mont Albert, Ont.; and Mrs. Jackson (Mary), of Leamington, Ont.

The funeral service was held today (Wednesday) at the MacKimmie Funeral Parlor, conducted by the Rev. C. R. Lang, and interment was solemnized at Dalesville Cemetery.

M'l Brass Quintet featured at CAMMAC

The second summer concert of the CAMMAC Music Centre at White Forest Lodge, was held last Friday evening at this MacDonald Lake resort. Quite a large audience was present for the performance. The artists were members of the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, and the CBC Radio and Television Orchestra, namely, James Ranti and Jean-Louis Chatel (trumpets), William Karstens, (horn), Joseph Zuskin, (trombone) and Robert Ryker, (tuba).

Two lively numbers composed in the seventeenth century were first played by the Quintet, Merula's "La Strada" and Scheidt's "Bergamasca", followed by Ludwig Maurer's (1789-1878) "Vier Stucke". The premiere performance of Thomas LeGrady's "Divertimento for Brass Quintet" was next performed. LeGrady, a professional pianist of Montreal, originally from Hungary, was present for this performance, but this modernistic composition was possibly above the comprehension of the average music lover. The four movements were quite contrasting, and the andante and allegro giusto parts did have a richness closer to the romantique style. During the intermission, Mr. Robert Ryker, of the Quintet, made a presentation to the composer, who accepted with a few gracious words.

Paul Hindemith (1895-1965) was the next composer featured, and his "Morgenmusik", composed for a 1932 music festival in Berlin was well acclaimed. A novelty number, Fisher Tull's "Exhibition for Brass Quintet", composed for the Houston Symphony Brass Quintet, was full of humour, and received a favorable response from the audience. A beautiful arrangement of Bach was the encore from this group.

Next Friday, the concert will feature Jan Simons, (Montreal brass) in Schubert lieder, and he will be accompanied by Rutharden Leblanc, an accomplished pianist, starting at 8.30 p.m.

The final concert of the summer will be on Friday, July 29, and this will be a Handel Night, with arias, sonatas and suites, with Mireille Legace, Otto Armin, Mario Duschenes, Jan Simons and Christine Bogyo.

Correction — Ottawa 'Ex'

There will be no Highland competition at the Central Canada Exhibition this year. . .

In the closing dates for entries, published in The Watchman last week, the management inadvertently included this item in the advertisement. The public are notified, however, that this feature on the program is withdrawn this year due to space changes.

Resignation given by Avoca minister

The Rev. Anthony Reid, of the Parish of Montebello, has tendered his resignation to the Bishop of Montreal much to the regret of the members of St. Mary's Church in Avoca. All the business transactions and care of funds, members, etc., will now be under the Officers of Christ Church, Montebello. The beautiful bible and prayer book which were presented by Queen Ann, will be turned into the Diocesan Archives. Mr. and Mrs. Reid will be missed for their performance of duty, as well as their many acts of kindness, especially to the sick. We all wish them the best of health and enjoyment in their summer home in Chateauguay.

CARD OF THANKS

My sincere thanks and appreciation to all kind friends and relatives, who remembered me in the various ways, when I was confined to the Montreal General Hospital. —Jim Bates

U.C.W. Leadership summer school at Macdonald Coll.

United Church Women will be holding their 25th annual Summer School at Macdonald College from August 16 to 19. Each year this School provides an opportunity for women of the United Church in the Montreal and Ottawa areas to meet for worship, study and fellowship. Friendships are renewed, ideas are exchanged and discussions are held which lead to renewed activity in the many areas of the work done by the women in the congregations.

The theme of the School for 1966 is "The Church, The World, and You". This year the School is privileged to have Miss Helen Turnbull as its theme speaker. She brings with her a wealth of experience in leadership. On the staff of the National Council of Churches, she holds the position of U.C.W. Director of Leadership Education. Prior to her appointment in 1959 she was Associate Secretary of the Department of Cooperation of Men and Women in Church and Society, World Council of Churches, Geneva, Switzerland.

The bible study will be led by Mrs. Ralph Collins who has a gift for bringing the events of the bible into sharp focus. The study will be based on the book entitled, "The Church and The World", by Rev. Gerald Cragg, and which is the third year adult text book of the New Curriculum of the United Church.

Training in Leadership Development will be an important part of the program of the School. This will be under the direction of Miss Gertrude Patmore, who is Research Associate for the Department of Sunday School Publications of the United Church of Canada.

The registrar of the School is Mrs. H. Meadows, 5180 St. Joseph Blvd., Lachine Que. The closing date for registration for women who wish accommodation at Macdonald College is July 25. The School may be attended on a daily basis. These visitors are asked to please notify the registrar 24 hours ahead if meals are required.

Outstanding work done by CAMMAC scholarship fund

CAMMAC, the music centre of Argenteuil, situated in the beautiful highlands of this county, is doing a tremendous job in helping gifted musicians from Montreal and other parts of Canada. This bilingual and multi-cultural centre finished last year's program with a deficit of $1,200. Sometimes a whole family is assisted to attend this camp, but many individuals owe their start to the help given by CAMMAC.

An observer from this paper saw one fine gesture made to a blind French Canadian from New Brunswick last year. Given a scholarship for two weeks, she enjoyed her experience so much, that fellow musicians helped financially, and CAMMAC extended another two week's scholarship to this girl.

Possibly some music lover in Argenteuil, or some of the service clubs would like to assist this fine work. It is money well invested. Cheques should be made out to CAMMAC Scholarship Fund, Montreal — these are deductable for income tax purposes and may be sent to Jack F. Gorman, 110 Cottingham Blvd., Lachute, Que.

Donnan - Hadley

The marriage of Judith Dianne Hadley only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hadley, of Lachute, to Mr. James S. Donnan only son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Stewart Donnan of Montreal, took place on Saturday, July 16 in the Lachute United Church, the Rev. Harold Thompson officiating. Mr. L. B. Hopkins played the wedding music, the church being decorated with standards of gladiolas, carnations and baby's breath.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a two piece faille coat caught with a bow at the empire waistline, with elbow length bell sleeves, and matching bows, the coat falling into a train over a Quipure lace fitted full length dress. A crown of matching lace held her veil of scalloped nylon tulle, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses, and white stephanotis.

Miss Silvia Forbes as maid of honor, the Misses Judy Ann Murdoch and Jane Rice as bridesmaids were similarly attired in full length gowns of robin egg blue grand seigneur crepe, with yellow printed boleros of terylene batiste, they wore matching hats, and carried bouquets of large yellow mums.

Mr. Raymond Jones acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Robert Dyer and Donald W. Hadley, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Hadley, mother of the bride, wore a two piece, street length dress of dusty rose imported french crepe, with matching accessories, and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Donnan, mother of the groom, wore a two piece, street length dress of light blue silk shantung with headed jacket, matching accessories, and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Masonic Hall, after which the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Calgary, Banff, Vancouver and Alaska, the bride travelling in a three piece ensemble of midnight blue silk shantung, black patent accessories, and wearing a corsage of red sweetheart roses.

Out of town guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anick Kendall, from Windsor Mills, Que.

Wedding of local interest held recently in Valois United Church

Steele - Hadley

The marriage of Beverley Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hadley, of Pointe Claire, to Mr. William Gerald Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Steele, of Almonte, Ontario, took place recently in Valois United Church. The Rev. K. Bruce Munro officiated and Mr. Douglas M. Chadwick played the wedding music. Arrangements of white gladioli and pompons and yellow gladioli and pompons were used to decorated the church.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was in a gown of silk organza, styled on empire lines, with a semi-attached bodice of Chantilly lace. A detachable train, with a centre panel of silk organza and hand appliquéd lace, fell from a slightly gathered skirt. Her short veil of silk illusion was held by a matching pill box, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white bridal roses, stephanotis, and ivy.

Mrs. Ian Carlisle of Montreal, as matron of honor; Miss Jessie Steele, sister of the bridegroom, of Hamilton; Mrs. Reg. Laventure of Ottawa, and Mrs. Garth Coffin of Storrs, Connecticut, as attendants, were in floor length gowns of silk organza with sleeveless bodices of periwinkle blue and semi fitted skirts of blue over lime green. The empire waistlines were accentuated by a band of blue and green re-embroidered organza appliqué. They wore matching headresses and carried single topiarys of yellow iceberg pompons.

Mr. John Steele of Almonte, was best man for his brother. The ushers were Mr. Jack Hadley, brother of the bride, Mr. George Casson of Montreal, and Mr. David M. Smith of Truro, Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Hadley, the bride's mother was in a frock of aqua Antron with a semi-attached bodice of nylon Guipure lace. She wore a matching hat of silk organza petals and flowers and carried a white orchid attached to a beaded handbag.

Mrs. Steele, mother of the bridegroom, was in a sheath dress of turquoise and white printed nylon lace, worn with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Aeroport Hilton, where yellow gladioli, yellow pompons, and blue cornflowers were used as decoration.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Steele left for a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, Pennsylvania and the Eastern United States, the bride travelling in a blue silk and linen coat and dress ensemble, matching hat, while accessories, and a shoulder corsage of white orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm Henves and son, visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnston over the week-end.

Guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. Gibbons is Miss Moore, of Port Hope, Ont.

The annual Bazaar of the Arundel Womens Institute took place in the school auditorium on Saturday evening, a good attendance being noted. All the booths were patronized which made for a successful balance at the end of the evening. The quilt was won by Miss Barbara Staniforth; the food Hamper by Mrs. Bains, Bevan Lake. Guessing booth winners were: Cake — Mr. G. Lewis; Rope — Gavin Graham, and Bean — Terry James. The officers and convenors take this opportunity to thank all the friends who helped make the event successful.

Morin Heights

Constable Ned MacBeath, of the RCMP, and Mrs. MacBeath were recent guests of Mr. William Watchorn at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Watchorn.

We are pleased to report that Mr. James Voce recently hospitalized for several weeks has now returned to his home.

The Royal Canadian Legion held a successful Bar-B-Q supper at the Legion Hall last Saturday evening. Many guests from out-of-town were seen among those present.

Recent Wedding

The marriage of Miss Heather E. Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell to Mr. Claude Peter Lanfranconi, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Lanfranconi, of Montreal, took place last week at the United Church in Morin Heights. Rev. J. Ronald McCullough officiated. Music was provided by Mr. Carl Elder. Following a reception Mr. and Mrs. Lanfranconi left for a wedding trip to Prince Edward Island. Upon their return the couple will reside at the Chateau Maisonneuve, Montreal.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Margaret Minee and Miss Evelyn McIver, of Halifax; Mrs. W. M. Campbell, of Larchmont, N.Y.; and Miss Elsie Scott, sister of the bride's mother, of Montreal. The bridal party and friends were entertained by the bride's parents on the Friday evening prior to the wedding.

A large gathering and surprise party was held at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Lewis, in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Mary Court. The event was organized by her sons, daughters and grandchildren and 36 persons attended. Joint hostesses were Mrs. Lorne McKale and Mrs. Lew Lewis. Unfortunately, some members of the family who live a distance away were unable to attend this family reunion.

Mrs. Stevenson, of Ottawa, is spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McKale.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Lewis and Mrs. Mary Courte spent Tuesday in St. Sauveur visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ray Courte.

APPRECIATION

I would like to extend a special "thank you" to Mr. George Gordon, Scout Leader for the use of the Scout Equipment that the Girl Guides used at Pioneer Camp. It was greatly appreciated.

YELLOW PAGES

outside of Quebec have been alert and alive, but throughout the tough moments of their experience they conscientiously exercised the same kind of patience which they expected of others, practised the same kind of understanding which they continually demanded of others, and requested the same kind of respect which they offered to others. They have thus proven to others and to themselves that they belonged to Canada, and that their contribution was an essential asset to Canada in every phase of Canadian life.

Some hon. Members: Hear, hear.

Mr. Régimbal: They were respected not so much for what they could claim, but by what they could do. In business we have the good example of the Robert Campeaus; in finance, the Paul Desmarais; in performing arts, the Leopold Simoneaus; in law, the Leon Lalandes; in politics, many outstanding men, the least of whom is surely not the present Speaker of this house—

Some hon. Members: Hear, hear.

Mr. Régimbal: — and the list could go on and on by the hundreds — in labor, in science, in commerce, in industry, in education, in every field of endeavour, to such a point that at this very moment there is serious talk of establishing a provincially sponsored French culture centre in Northern Ontario, and this has been accomplished without a single piece of legislation guaranteeing them a percentage of representation anywhere.

By following this steady . . . process of improvement, Ontario is creating the kind of atmosphere in which the French speaking Canadian can develop best and contribute best. Mind you, I am sure that Ontario's proximity to Quebec has helped that province to be more awake to the French speaking reality, which only proves that exposure is still the shortest road to understanding. I speak of Ontario because I know it better than I know other provinces, except Quebec, but I understand that New Brunswick has taken great and imaginative steps towards full participation by French speaking Canadians in their way of life. It is to be hoped that all provinces will match these strides.

I must take my hat off to the province of Quebec for showing the way in thorough recognition of minority rights and privileges. In all cases the degree of understanding, the degree of progress towards understanding has been measured, not by legislation, but by full, intelligent knowledge of minority rights, and full confidence in that minority's potential and talents.

What is the basic ingredient in this recognition? What are we all striving to establish; what is typical of our Canadian context? I believe it is equality, not only equality before the law, not only equality before the courts, not only equality of services, but especially and almost exclusively equality of opportunity, whereby no matter which of the founding peoples we belong to, or which of the official languages we adopt, our talents, our character, our mentality will have the greatest possible opportunity to develop, because this is our wealth and our heritage. This is our new Canada which young Canadians will want to conquer.

This is the Canada where bilingualism becomes a challenge rather than a duty, an asset to acquire rather than a cross to bear, in which the presence of different cultural backgrounds and expressions becomes an element of healthy competition and an incentive to greatness — a unique country where more sources of inspiration, of learning, of expression are available to make us more complete and efficient human beings, richer because we have learned to share and to exchange our differences.

I suggest, sir, that none of this can be obtained through narrow legislation such as this, but all of it can be obtained through understanding and knowledge, and through the development of definite cultural policies.

Before I conclude my remarks, I invite all young Canadians, both French and English-speaking, to meet the challenge of our duality of expression, to make it an objective of culture and greatness of soul, thus creating a climate of sound competition, to allow the full development of our Canadian potential, deriving from our cultural differences the inspiration of a more complete education a more universal mentality, where the success of the individual will be dependent on the competence acquired by taking the best out of our two cultures.

BELL LINES

by JIM MENZIES

There is more to making a good telephone pole than just cutting down a tree. Just any old tree standing in a woodlot won't do. For such a special job as helping to speed communications across the country Bell Canada uses only very special trees — usually jack pine, lodge pole pine or red pine which have enough fibre strength for our needs and also have very few knot holes or other defects. If a tree looks promising, it gets a physical examination. It is checked for height, slight taper, good health and posture — sounds like a real "medical." Once it's cut and trimmed, it's shaved, cut to the proper length and then inspected again and seasoned in the sun. Preservative is added under pressure, and it's checked again. A tree that has gone through all this is good for up to half a century of service as a telephone pole. In fact, we have a few in Bell Canada territory well over the 50-year mark and still going strong. Even with our continuing program of placing much of our cable underground the telephone pole is still an important item in our business. Selecting the correct trees for telephone poles is only a very small part of the careful work and precision that help to bring you good telephone service.

Every summer thousands of Canadians are killed or injured in accidents. Each beautiful week-end brings its long list of tragedies that might have been prevented with just a little extra care. Remembering and observing only a few safety rules can help to make this summer a pleasant one for you, your family, and friends.

1—Don't swim alone, in unguarded places, or venture beyond your depth. Life preservers are a MUST in any boat.

2—Watch the sun! A good tan is wonderful but a painful burn is something else. Find a sunburn lotion that works well on your skin and use it while building a tan slowly.

3—Be on the lookout for poison ivy and poison oak. They can turn a holiday into misery for the unwary.

4—If you're planning a trip, take along a first aid kit. If you stock it well, you'll find it invaluable for everything from cut toes to sunburn.

5—Above all, DRIVE CAREFULLY. Take your time, especially when driving on unfamiliar roads. You'll enjoy it more, arrive just as quickly . . . and in one piece.

Emphasis on farm safety

THE CANADIAN farming community will join with the rest of the continent between July 24 and 30 to participate in Farm Safety Week.

The leading cause of death on Canadian farms, according to the National Safety League, has been machinery, and prominent in this category is the tractor. However, the home, chemicals, construction and vehicles play important roles in the drama of death and suffering on the farm.

A plea is issued to the farming community to make Farm Safety Week a time to assess all dangers on the farm, and plan to avoid or eliminate them. Organizations such as 4-H Clubs, agricultural societies and associations and safety councils should concentrate on farm safety during the July campaign, so that Canada's rural community may benefit through the year.

The National Safety League has issued a proposed schedule of themes for each day of Farm Safety Week, as follows:

Sunday — Reverence for Life: take time to care. Recognize moral responsibility in saving life and preventing suffering through mishaps that could be avoided.

Monday — Safety Begins at Home: thorough check-up of the farm home; eliminate hazardous situations. Practice safety while doing housework. Check home appliances for danger spots. Clean out rubbish. Rehearse a family escape routine in case of fire.

Wednesday — Prevent Falls: Repair or replace unsafe ladders, steps, stairs; remove tripping hazards. Clean mud or grease where they appear. Check lighting for stairways and steps. Provide handrails where necessary.

Thursday — Rural Road Safety: practice courtesy and basic rules of safe driving. Check on railroad crossings and unmarked intersections. Clear obstructions at corners for good visibility. Exercise care in turns to driveways and exits.

Friday — Machinery: Check all machinery. See that guards and safety devices are where they should be. Stop machines before unclogging, servicing or adjusting. Refuel only cool engines. Practice safe tractor operation. Keep fire extinguishers and first-aid kits on all self-propelled equipment. Install slow-moving vehicle warnings where required.

Saturday — Recreation Safety: Practice special care in swimming and boating. Teach youngsters how to swim. Safeguard farm ponds from children. Handle and store guns and ammunition properly. Give special attention to safety on hunting, fishing, picnic, and other trips.

It's the customer that counts

THE GOVERNMENT of the Soviet Union seems to be recognizing more and more the value of certain fundamental aspects of the economic system of free enterprise. A few months ago, for example, the Soviet Premier announced the decentralization of government control over industries and the introduction of greater local autonomy over production and marketing decisions. A more recent move, announced by the Soviet Trade Minister to transform the U.S.S.R. into a consumer's market responsive to the laws of supply and demand, is one more indication that the Communist concept of rigid government control and planning doesn't work too well.

Until now, the Soviet government has been relatively unconcerned with the needs and tastes of the consumer. Goods, produced in quantities and qualities decided upon by a central body, have been poor and unattractive, and have tended not to sell. This has been a drain on the Soviet economy, causing it to slump. From now on, hopefully, the Soviet consumer will have a greater role to play in the production and marketing decisions of Soviet industry, just as they do in a free enterprise economy such as ours. Since it is people who create demand for goods and services, the Soviet people cannot help but benefit.

Current standing in CBC split

INTERNAL COMMUNICATION with the CBC has to be improved, and quickly, the government says.

The white paper on broadcasting tabled in the Commons said recent difficulties between CBC management and production staff forcefully underline the necessity for significant improvements in internal communications.

As one way to tighten the organization, the white paper said those in charge of programming should be closer to actual production facilities, and especially the control of programming, should be removed to the main production centres.

However, the first steps of reorganization did not go down well with the staff of "This Hour Has Seven Days" and their key supervisor, Reeves Haggan, chief of the public affairs department. As a result of several events, including the announced arrival in Toronto from Ottawa of their bête noire, manager H. G. "Bud" Walker — the man who fired Laurier LaPierre and Douglas Watson — and disputes over "loyalty declarations," Douglas Leiterman and the cream of the Seven Days staff resigned, and work was stopped on several public affairs programs. Mr. Haggan also left the corporation.

For the summer trip

ON A LONG TRIP this summer, eat a snack before an early start, drive an hour or so, then stop for a good breakfast. The combination of rising early, plenty of food and relatively light traffic, could lull a motorist into dangerous drowsiness or put him to sleep at the wheel. The breakfast stop after driving a while, breaks the monotony and helps wake up the driver.

Other ideas for a safe journey by the Canadian Safety Council include:

—Picking up a hitch-hiker, unless he is known to the motorist, could end in robbery, assault, even murder.

—Have tires checked before leaving. If the load is extra heavy, ask the dealer to recommend proper tires to carry it safely.

—Be sure windshield wipers have "live" blades and work efficiently. Nothing, except failure of headlights at night, is as dangerous and as frightening as wipers that fail to work in a heavy downpour.

—Use turn signals at every opportunity. Don't keep the others guessing. They could guess wrong.

—First drops of rain turn a dry pavement into a menacing oil slick. Heavy rain encourages the car to "water ski" at high speed. Common sense driving will eliminate those risks.

Viewpoints and perspectives

LAND POLICY CHANGES. — Since the end of World War II a "quiet revolution" has been taking place in Ontario, as in many other jurisdictions in free enterprise countries, quite different from that which in the Province of Quebec has been arousing so much turmoil. This has been the interjection by society, through provincial law and local by-laws and instruments, of the social planning and control of land use.

—Cochrane (Ont.) Northland Post

WE'RE AN even younger country than we think, remarks the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. . . One of every three people in Canada today — which means more than six and a half millions — is under 15 years of age, notes DBS, coming up with what must surely be the most startling statistic of the month. . . And yet, when you think about it, you know it just has to be true. After all, who else were all those television programs for this past winter?

OVER THE YEARS with The Lachute Watchman

80 YEARS AGO

July, 1886 —

Mr. P. S. Dunbar and Mr. Andrew McOuat were re-elected as school commissioners by acclamation in the Parish of St. Jerusalem.

Dominion Day was universally celebrated throughout Canada, save in Lachute; here there was no public celebration — the Queen's Birthday being considered sufficient for both.

Winnipeg — Chief Poundmaker died at Crowfoot Camp from the bursting of a blood vessel. He had been despondent ever since his release from prison and brooded much over his connection with the late rebellion.

A Buffalo cooper has just succeeded in navigating the Niagara Rapids in a barrel.

The C.P.R. is unloading timber at Calumet to be rafted to St. Ann's — 250 carloads, much of it from Sudbury. The timber will be used in coffer dams and trestle work.

The streets of our town are lined with weeds and burrs, and no effort is made to destroy them.

The Board of School Commissioners have a large number of applications for the position of headmaster for the Lachute Academy. Mr. Cockfield, who has been principal here for two years, has been engaged to teach in Montreal for $1,000 a year.

50 YEARS AGO

July, 1916 —

Tenders are called by the Commissioners for the erection of an addition to St. Andrews East Model School. — G. R. Dewar, secretary.

Calumet — The North American Magnesite Co. are completing a stable for 100 horses for hauling stone to the C.P.R. A large force of men is building a wagon road from the mine to Calumet.

Mabel — Our enterprising young friend, Mr. James Warwick, has bought out the livery establishment from Mr. Blais, Brownsburg.

Mr. Robert Evans, who for 15 years has been driving the mail between this town and Lakefield, died suddenly on his route.

Joseph Legault, a 21-year-old employee at Dominion Cartridge Company, was fatally shot while working as a marker at the butts, or rifle range.

The bricks are being drawn for the new R.C. chapel in the West End. . . Mr. Harry Ayers has again started his quarry for completion of the road work.

Wednesday was considered a general holiday because everybody around Lachute wanted to take in Latena's Circus, whose arrival and departure here were an example of orderliness and respectability.

25 YEARS AGO

July, 1941 —

Cushing West — James Cagney, popular movie star, was a visitor at the home of Mr. Leonard Young.

Men will wrangle for religion; write for it; fight for it; die for it; anything but live for it. — C. C. Colton.

Watchman subscriptions will be increased from $1.50 to $2 a year, effective this month.

Retiring Commissioners Geo. G. Deacon and Wm. T. Jackson were re-elected to the school board. Opponents for the vacancies were B. M. Hammond and Dr. F. W. FitzGerald.

Lieut. Stuart Jones, Mrs. Jones and daughter, Heather, of Huntingdon, are spending two weeks' vacation at Half Moon Lake.

A 53-year-old farm hand working for Wilbert Sherritt, Lakefield, met his death by drowning, in Long Lake. The victim, Wm. Caddick, had worked on the farm for 15 years.

Opening of a new six-lane toll gate on the Plessis-Belair bridge at Ste. Rose has greatly facilitated the movement of traffic at this former bottleneck.

Drastic regulations, the shorter hours, etc., have been imposed to conserve and reduce sales of gasoline, due to heavy demands for war purposes.

Centennial Report

Report No. 13

Every community big enough to have a weekly newspaper has one or more industrial or commercial plants.

With flags, special decorations and a spruce-up program these plants can go a long way to help give the town a gay atmosphere for the 1967 celebrations.

Such companies are going much beyond a plant beautification program. Take, for example, the Black Diamond Cheese Company at Belleville, Ontario. It has plans for lawn beautification, an in-plant museum, an auditorium and a big community parade.

David Helliwell, editor of a national business magazine called Plant Administration published a special eight-page Centennial feature in his May issue on what factory management can do for 1967. There are many things that can be done without much expense. Helliwell and his editors suggest a clean-up war on ugliness and an in-plant project.

From a cross-Canada mail survey of 1,000 factories Plant Administration found management in general to be slow in planning to celebrate Canada's 100th birthday.

In an editorial which wraps up the situation, David Helliwell writes: "What's needed now is action, not talk. If communities across the country are celebrating Centennial (and most are), industrial plants will look pretty silly not joining in the fun and games.

"And you know that's not likely to happen. Community pressure is very strong. You can almost see the pressure groups being ushered into the president's office at the eleventh hour. Why wait for a last-minute mishmash? Wouldn't it be better to take the initiative, decide now what you're going to do? That way you'll have much more control over plans and costs.

"What to do? There are dozens of ways. . . While it's fine to buy a new flagpole or flower bed, a project that gets employees into the act is obviously much better. They'll feel more a part of the celebrations if they're involved.

"For example, if you decide on a miniature golf course, don't just buy one. Donate the land for $1 a year, let the employees construct the course and run it.

"The main point is to stop procrastinating. Time's running short. 1967 is only seven months away."

Well, my thanks go out to Plant Administration editors for their clarion call. Their comments are representative of a new spirit I've noticed in recent weeks. Other editors and other Canadians are becoming more enthusiastic about 1967. The apathy and the negative attitudes are disappearing. Even the critics are sounding positive and constructive these days.

The spirit of 1967 is growing fast.

THIS WEEK AND NEXT

Canada leaps southward

The 13 sun-splashed island countries which make up the "Commonwealth Caribbean" are today looking more to Ottawa than to London for advice, aid and encouragement in bettering their way of life.

This unusual association, involving peoples separated by race, climate, temperament and skills, was dramatically strengthened by the recent Ottawa conference which saw Canada pledge $76 million in aid over the next five years.

The conference was aimed largely at nailing down increased Canadian aid and building closer trade ties.

There were, to be sure, brief flights of fancy suggesting the talks would result in a new western hemisphere Commonwealth bloc which would act with a single voice at the United Nations and other world agencies.

Any such suggestions can be discounted. The various countries of the Commonwealth, having always rejected British attempts to mold a single foreign policy, are not about to invest Ottawa with this privilege.

Nor are the Commonwealth islands about to become a Canadian province. With the possible exception of Bermuda — which is not part of the Commonwealth Caribbean bloc — none of the islands would be acceptable as provinces as long as they remain under-developed, their people under-educated, and their citizens' color unacceptable to the "white supremacy" policy of the Canadian Immigration department.

Then what was the Conference all about — aside from a fairly successful loosening of Canadian strings on this country's aid funds?

One of the political facts which motivated Caribbean leaders such as Jamaica's prime minister Donald Sangster and Guyana chief minister Forbes Burnham was the realization that when Britain finally enters the European Common Market, it will have to abandon economic support of its former colonies.

The Caribbean islands have thus naturally turned to Canada as a "big brother" which could ease their transition into the modern world.

The main decision to come out of the Ottawa conference was the Canadian move to increase aid by forty per cent.

The $76 million aid bundle will include $5 million to the University of the West Indies, $1 million to the University of Guyana, and most of the $5 million cost of a radio (and perhaps TV) link between Canada and the islands. In terms of strengthening ties between the countries, the broadcasting link could be the most significant.

Increased trade will be sought by rewriting the 41-year-old trade pact which, among other things, could eliminate the import duty on Caribbean sugar. Canada wants to sell more wheat and flour to the Commonwealth Caribbean, while they are anxious to increase sales of sugar, bananas and rum. One of the countries — Trinidad — already has a favorable trade balance with Canada (selling us more than we buy from them) because of their large oil exports to eastern Canada.

As well, Canada is anxious to increase private Canadian enterprise in the area. In this field, there could be trouble. Canadian companies now have investments of some $500 million in the islands. Left-leaning politicians like Cheddi Jagan of Guyana recently called Canadians "little Imperialists" and said this country was treating his nation much the same way as the U.S. has economically dominated Canada.

Some Caribbean leaders would like to see a Caribbean-Canadian free trade area. But with Canada's main interest centred on its trade relations with the U.S., it is not likely this will be realized for many years to come.

For the Caribbean countries, the Ottawa conference may have been a last chance to work out a viable economic policy for their far-flung islands. The ill-fated West Indies Federation floundered in 1952 on the rocks of inter-island jealousies. As I found on my last visit to the Indies, the Federation is not mourned but responsible leaders recognize that economic co-operation is essential even though political union is impossible.

SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley

All agony, no ecstasy

My wife keeps asking me why my hands shake. It would not be polite to respond, "Baby, living with you would make anyone's hands shake."

So I blame it on the war. Some fellows have burned faces, aluminum legs, sleeves pinned up, glass eye. Some have great shrapnel wounds on abdomen or buttocks, which they will happily show you at the Saturday night party. My hands shake.

She doesn't believe the war bit anymore, so I blame it on booze, the tension of teaching, or the pills I take for my bursitis.

But the real reason is that living with her would make anybody's hands shake.

What bring this to mind is that I've just gone through about 48 hours of domestic purgatory. Cowardly husbands go quietly off to mental institutions, or have heart attacks. My hands shake.

The occasion was the reception of our son's marks at the end of first year university and about $1,700. Plus tax.

When the paper arrived with the first-year results, I threw it on the table, ran to the bathroom, locked myself in, and started flushing the toilet at twelve second intervals.

As I suspected, it was futile. The alternative sobs of grief and shrieks of rage penetrated my refuge. I had to come out and be a father.

I know you won't believe it, but that kid's name was not at the head of the first-class honors list. Nor the second-class honors list. Nor the third. (He had told me, just before leaving for the west coast job, to start looking for his name from the bottom of the page up.) At least it was there.

I tried to console the Old Lady with stuff like, "Rome wasn't built in a day, you know," and "You can't grow roses without thorns, you know," and "What the hell, we'll all be dead in fifty years, you know", and similar bits of homespun comfort. It was as useless as trying to hum Flow Gently, Sweet Afton with a Beatles, record going full bore.

Kim was a big help, though. She sat there tossing, "What a lazy bum! Why weren't you tougher with him? How could he be so stupid?", and other bits of oil on the fire.

Frankly, I was relieved that he'd passed. My wife was infuriated alternatively with the Lord, who hadn't caused a miracle to pass, his professors, who had barely allowed the kid to pass, and the kid, who had allowed a year to pass as though he'd been on another planet.

But she couldn't just keep on sobbing and uttering maledictions. We had arranged to go on a picnic with another family and their four little kids.

So we went. And the results proved to me once again that stupid old platitude that "life goes on." It was a wonderful combination: sun and sand; their baby eating algae and ants; their little boys burning themselves as they roasted marshmallows; and a most peculiarly potent potion of Gordon's lemonade I'd mixed.

Under this prescription, my old girl was so relaxed that she burst into tears of shame and rage only four times during the picnic.

Next day she was definitely on the mend. She cried until noon, brooded on her bed until four p.m., but got up and put the chicken legs in the oven for some people we'd invited for dinner.

By great good luck, their kid had failed his year outright and dismally. That cheered things up a bit.

Later in the evening, an old friend, a professor of English, dropped in with his wife. They were on holidays. Their daughter, an extremely brilliant student in high school, had also just completed first-year university. They hadn't yet seen her results.

We had the extreme pleasure of telling them that she, like Hugh, had barely staggered through. They left, looking sick. We went to bed, the boss almost buoyant.

And she wonders why my hands shake.

With abundant supplies of fresh vegetables on the markets, this is the season to enjoy an economical "tossed salad". By using a combination of several types of greens along with a variety of salad vegetables and experimenting with many flavorful dressings, you can have a different salad every day. Vegetables and fruits, especially when eaten raw in salads are important to health because of their minerals and vitamins. Since they are low in calories they are also a boon to weight watchers.

Summer salad selection

Vegetable salads don't have to be made with raw vegetables. In fact for the sake of variety, it's a good idea to combine several cooked vegetables. If you marinate them for an hour or more in French dressing, they're particularly good on a cold meat plate.

A chilled salad of marinated cooked vegetables will be a welcome change in place of the usual hot vegetables at lunch and dinnertime. Marinated vegetables are also good served on a relish tray with pickles and hard-cooked eggs.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture in Ottawa suggest other appetizing ways of serving cooked vegetables in salads. Why not try these recipes soon!

Fresh Bean and Ham Salad

2 Cups cooked green or yellow beans (cut in 1-inch pieces), 2 tablespoons chopped green onions, 1½ cups diced cooked ham (about ½-pound), ½ cup commercial sour cream, 1 tablespoon vinegar, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper.

Mix green beans, onions and ham. Chill. Combine sour cream with remaining ingredients. Add to bean mixture just before serving. Toss lightly and serve in lettuce cups: 6 servings.

Hot Potato Salad

6 Medium potatoes (about 2 lbs.), ½ cup French dressing, ½ cup, finely chopped onion, ½ cup diced celery, ½ cup chopped sweet pickle, 2 hard-cooked, chopped eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup mayonnaise.

Boil potatoes in skins until tender. Peel, dice and combine with French dressing. Add remaining ingredients and toss lightly until mixed. Serve warm. 6 servings.

Green Pea and Carrot Salad

3 Cups shelled peas, ½ cup boiling water, ¾ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons salad oil, 2 tablespoons thinly sliced green onion, 2 tablespoons diced green pepper, 3 stuffed olives, chopped, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar, ½ cup finely shredded raw carrots, head of lettuce.

Combine peas, boiling water and ¾ teaspoon salt in a saucepan, cover and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and cook gently until just tender, 8 to 12 minutes. Drain. Immediately add salad oil and toss well. Add onion, green pepper, olives, salt, pepper and lemon juice or vinegar and toss again. Chill thoroughly, stirring gently once or twice. Just before serving add carrots and toss. Spoon into lettuce cups and serve with mayonnaise if desired. 6 servings.

A ladies' bank

It would seem the top officials of Canada's oldest bank believe women rate special privileges in keeping with their position as the real controllers of the nation's purse strings, according to The Financial Post. In September the Bank of Montreal will open Le Salon on Montreal's Sherbrooke Street W., to provide "complete banking services exclusively for women." It will be completely separate from the old-fashioned co-educational branch in the same building. B of M is definite on one point: male depositors will be refused at Le Salon, no matter how genteel.

Look at the Night Sky

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Very few children study astronomy and so they can have the thrill of learning something quite new and different, when they look at the night sky. How many know that the stars are really suns? Our sun, around which the earth revolves, is only a very minor star. It is similar to the other faint stars in the Milky Way galaxy of which we are a part.

Planets are heavenly bodies revolving around a sun and they shine with a steady, reflected light. Our sun has nine planets. Can you name them? Our moon, which revolves around the earth, is our nearest space neighbor, but even it is 240,000 miles away!

The planets follow a path somewhat similar to the sun. The name planet means wanderer because ancient people observed they wandered among the "fixed" stars and they called this pathyay of the planets, the sodiac. Different planets are located in varying constellations each year. There are five planets which can be seen with the naked eye — Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn, and Mercury (which is always close to the sun and can sometimes be seen in the West immediately after the sunset). A telescope is needed to observe Uranus, Neptune and Pluto, the more distant planets.

Fascinating legends of the stars and they called this pathway race. They have imagined adventures of the giant imaginary figures which march across the heavens. There are eighty-nine constellations and each season there are over two dozen of them which can easily be picked out by even an amateur star gazer.

Ask at the Public Library for books on Astronomy. Take time to see the many attractive boys' and girls' books on the heavens. Purchase the inexpensive paperbacks such as Adventures Beyond our Earth by G. Forler (Whitman), Astronomy Made Simple by M. W. Degani and the Mentor Books, New Handbook of the Heavens by Bershard-Bennet-Rice. These are all readable and packed with information.

There is only one seemingly fixed star, Polaris, the Pole or North Star in our sky in any season. For centuries, sailors have piloted their ships and travellers have plotted their course by its light.

Every child should know how to find the North Star, so called because a straight line drawn from it to the horizon shows the direction north. It is the brightest star in the Little Dipper and is the last star in its handle. Two of the seven stars of the Big Dipper, in the bowl of the Dipper farthest from the handle, seem to point to the North Star.

To draw your own Summer star map you must be able to find the Big and Little Dipper. Then locate, one by one, the other main summer constellations such as Draco, Lyera, Arcturus, Corona, Cassiopeia, Aquila and the first magnitude stars Vega, Arturus, Altair.

A more permanent star map than one drawn on paper can be made by transferring your map once it has been made, onto the top of a large circular tin. Paint it dark blue, punch holes with nails of different sizes to mark the star locations, and then use luminous paint to outline and name the constellations. Place a lighted flashlight inside and you will be proud of your own star map!

Many things affect food prices

Commenting on the current high prices of certain food products, particularly meats, President Thos. G. McCormack, of Dominion Stores Ltd., said that many factors influencing the price of food in Canada originated outside of this country. He said that it is to be hoped that increased production of beef and pork in the United States will soon eliminate the current demand for Canadian meats, resulting in lower meat prices in Canada.

Mr. McCormack pointed out that any substantial increase in labor costs on a large scale, sooner or later is reflected in higher food prices.

Mr. McCormack claimed that there are many ways that smart shoppers can cut family food costs. Among the suggestions he made were: buy company brands, which cost 10% to 15% less than national brands; take advantage of weekly specials; check newspaper food columns for tips on what foods are in big supply; take advantage of newspaper and magazine advice on planning meals ahead; and use more of the cheaper cuts of meat.

Thanks

Sincere thanks to the organizers of my campaign, and to all taxpayers who favored me with their votes.

I am gratified with this result, and give my assurance that my constant interest will be for the advancement and welfare of our municipality.

— François Charlebois
Alderman-elect

IMPORTANT NOTICE

to everyone born in 1898

You should apply for your old age security pension immediately

If you do so you will receive your first payment in January, 1967 when Old Age Security becomes available to persons who have reached the age of 68.

IF YOU WERE BORN IN 1899

You should make application at least six months in advance of your 68th birthday.

Woman killed, several injured near Pte.-au-Chene

One woman was killed and four persons injured in this Friday evening accident which occurred around 8.15 o'clock on Route 8, just three miles east of Pte.-aux-Chene. Dead is Mrs. Edward Ostrout, 44, of Ottawa, who was a passenger in the car at the right of the photograph. According to investigating Q.P.P. officers, it appears as if the car at the left driven by Mrs. Florence Shaar, 43, of Montreal, pulled out to pass by Mr. Ostrout's car and in doing so, struck the rear of the Ostrout car causing it to go out of control and crash into a tree. Mrs. Shaar's vehicle apparently swerved out of control also and hit the rear of the Ostrout car the second time.

Taken to the Smith Clinic, Hawkesbury, were Mr. and Mrs. Ostrout and their two children, William, 20, and Patricia, 17, as well as Mrs. Shaar. Mrs. Ostrout died a short time after being admitted to hospital. No date has been set for the inquest. —Photo, Syd Drew

Mishap on Route 41 leaves four injured

Four persons were injured, none of them seriously, in this mishap on Route 41 at 5.35 p.m. on Wednesday of last week. The accident occurred when Rodolphe Heiss, 42, of Laval des Rapides, swerved in an attempt to avoid an on-coming car passing a third vehicle. Losing control, he careened across the highway into the path of the other vehicle. Injured were Mr. Heiss, Joseph Tooke, 26, of Montreal, Donald Clark, 20, and Donald MacRae, 21, both of Beloeil Station. —Photo Syd Drew

Sentiments and Sidelights

(Comments on the Local Scene)

Municipal Police Director Real Chartrand reports numerous accidents within the town limits and as a deterrent, a large number of speeding tickets having been handed out. Police are also on the watch for muffler violations.

Brownsburg Road, not too far from the intersection of Routes 8 and 31, is the scene of several deep pot-holes which play havoc with automobile tires. Possibly some attention might be given to this situation by the authorities concerned.

QPP Sgt. J. P. Dallaire has seized three B-B guns, resulting from complaints on near injuries and broken windows. The officer reports a number of these guns are in the community and points out that they are dangerous for children.

Some 30 Catholic Scouts from Lachute are presently enjoying summer camp at the Watchorn Farm, Morin Heights, where they will be located until August 6. Visitors will be welcomed on Sunday, July 31.

* * *

Residents are reminded of a Blood Donor Clinic to be held in the Legion Hall, Hawkesbury, on Friday, August 12. Please watch for our August 10 edition for further details.

To advertisers and correspondents

Correspondents and advertisers are requested to take note there will be no edition of The Watchman or L'Argenteuil next week August 3, as staff vacations are due and our plant will be closed from Wednesday, July 27 until Saturday, August 6.

The commercial printing plant will remain open however, and every effort will be made to assist customers with their requirements.

Discussion on better community living topic at recent meeting of Rotary Club

Our town has the widest streets — and clean; the friendliest shopkeepers — with low prices; bright, clean, tastefully appointed stores, outside and in; beautiful parks and playgrounds — with flowers and lots of shade trees; a picturesque river — and sparkling dirty water; good schools and friendly, beautiful churches; attractive entrances, especially from our country's capital.

—or does it?

What have we got to offer?

With the beauty of nature that surrounds us, the intelligence and industry of the people — what should we offer:

The tourist passing through; the visitor for a summer or winter vacation; a couple wishing to retire in our towns; a young person wondering whether to locate in the area, as he completes his schooling; the businessman surveying for a possible factory location?

This was the theme of a discussion among members of the Brownsburg - Lachute Rotary Club at their regular weekly dinner meeting at the La Lorraine Motel recently. It was led by a past-president of the Club, Wes Freeland, who was introduced by Linton Armstrong, himself a past-president, as well as past-governor of a large group of clubs in Ontario, Quebec, and northern New York state.

President, René Dagenais, who enthusiastically leads the new executive that took office July 1, referred to the aspirations of the new International President, Richard L. Evans.

They were set out in a brochure, directed toward Rotarians, but are applicable to every citizen by replacing Rotary with "Your Town". In part, it said, "Enjoy the fellowship and sociability. Enjoy the prestige of Rotary "Your Town" — but also add to it. It is not only necessary to belong — it is necessary to perform. It is not only necessary to be — it is necessary to do. Don't just be proud of "Your Town" — be part of it.

The problems of our communities and the needs of the world are limitless. So are our opportunities. We can't do everything for everyone, but we can do something for someone. Conviction is worthless, unless it is converted into conduct. The world is growing. Help "Your Town" grow with it — not in numbers only, but in spirit and purpose and service — ".

With this idea as a background, discussion began.

What do you remember about towns that you have visited and with which you were impressed — and why — was asked?

No doubt, feeling somewhat guilty, the fact was mentioned that we do have a wide street; a park, and the Rotary Club has helped by presenting 100 Centennial Rose Bushes to our town for the park and our 1967 birthday. (They are now in full bloom. — Do the citizens know that the Rotary Club is responsible for this addition of beauty to Lachute's public park — and that they too could buy some through the Club, for their own garden, and help retarded children's work in the process?)

Oh yes, we do have some fine points — but.

Cleanliness, now there's a problem. Litter on the streets cheapens a town and makes it unattractive, as do weed-filled lots, or rubble, buildings in dis-repair, junky signs or unattractive store fronts. Have you taken the time to really look at your main street, from the viewpoint of the visitor. Have you taken time to do the same to your home street, your business or your house? We need more litter baskets, we need laws (we have them) — well then strict enforcement — $2, yes $5 for littering the street. But wouldn't it be a better town if people were so proud that they wouldn't throw things on the street or sidewalks? But some people just haven't developed to the stage where they appreciate the value of cleanliness. That's where you and I come in. If each of us picked up, just one piece of litter each day — some of those people would learn by example. After all, it's your town too. That doesn't mean that there shouldn't be incentive, or persuasion for the slow learners.

Some travellers have stated that Holland and many parts of Germany, are strikingly clean and litter-free, and, of course, the former is beautiful with flowers. If a whole country can arouse such feelings in a visitor, certainly our towns can do a better job. Flowers will not cover some of the things you will see if you look around you, perhaps pretty close to home.

Flower boxes were mentioned as a source of color and beauty, or dummy flower boxes in which real potted flowers can be set and changed as the weather or blooms dictate.

The small paned windows of some of the specialty and gift shops of England, lend character, variety, friendliness and beauty to a business street.

As the poet said, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever". So, clean up, tidy up — plant a flower, better still plant a tree — and don't forget that little trees, shrubs, can be picturesque. Better still, do all these and plant an idea in the mind of your neighbor, your children or townsfolk — by example, of course.

Yes, we need more beauty, more grass. This means more parks — and bigger ones. Consider too, how some of them are used. Band concerts weekly, on Cape Cod, where the whole family will travel several miles, after a day on the beach, and sit on car rugs or lawn chairs to become an active part of a friendly community. Beaver Lake in Montreal or Hyde Park, London, people picnic in the sun or shade, sail toy boats, or watch the geese or swans.

The North River is a natural parkland and beauty spot.

So you are proud of your fountain? You will be even more proud about something that you do to beautiful your town. Remember your epigram, "Those who really want to do something, find a way, those who don't, find excuses".

And then the visitor — and sometimes you — are interested in better bridges and better parking. Well, we are supposed to get the former, anytime now. Perhaps our new Lachute leaders can give us weekly progress reports so that it isn't forgotten.

Parking — the problem of the age!

The fact was mentioned that IGA started the modern trend locally and with the A & P and Dominion additions, have improved parking facilities immensely. The Bank of Montreal, Bank of Nova Scotia and Beaton's Pharmacy examples should be followed by many more. The fact that

What's in a name ? For Lachute a great deal

— Contributed by Norman Thorburn —

Have you ever wondered how Lachute got its name? Would the English-speaking people call a place, 'The Falls'. No, not likely. So, too, the French-speaking people, would, not likely, call a place La Chute. There are chutes or waterfalls on almost any river in Quebec.

The French would call a place, La Grosse Chute, La Grande Chute, or Chute à Blondeau, but hardly La Chute.

So, too, in English, we have Victoria Falls, Churchill Falls, etc., but not many places called 'The Falls'.

We know, from the research of Mr. Gilbert Arnold, Jr., that the original name of the centre of Lachute, around Wilson's dam was named after the waterfall that existed there, before the dam was built.

When the American settlers came to Lachute in the year 1795 and after that, they probably found the term, La Grosse Chute, too French-sounding. The word chute, however, has been used by the Americans, for, well over a century. An ancient American dictionary I have, has the word chute in it.

Many North American rivers were first explored by the French. The American settlers along the shores of the Mississippi, adopted the word levee, from the French for terre elevée, which means raised ground or dike. The Americans use the word 'bayou' for a small bay on the Gulf of Mexico as well. This word is also from the French.

So, when the Americans, and other English-speaking settlers came to Lachute, they dropped the word 'grosse', and called the place, The Chute, or The Chute Settlement. There are many letters here, to prove that.

But, as early as 1836, the English-speaking inhabitants of Lachute, were calling the place La Chute, as well. We have one letter here to prove that. The whole district, here east of Lachute, was known for a century, I believe, as Au Haut de la Grosse Chute. This too, the English-speaking settlers found too long and perhaps too French and called it simply 'Above the Chute'. This territory included Hill Head, Hill Foot, Upper Lachute and the Vide Sac. The English-speaking people did not mind the word chute but shunned the word grosse.

But there was a Frenchman, I believe, who never forgot that this entire district on both sides of the North River stretching eastward for several miles from Lachute was once known as 'Au Haut de la Grosse Chute'.

Mr. Gaspard de la Ronde, a notary, residing in St. Andrews East for many years, made out several deeds for sales of land and donations of land for Mrs. Asa Stearns, who owned farms, across the river. These deeds are for year 1835 until 1874. In these four deeds he calls this community 'above La Grosse Chute'. He remembered as late as 1874, the old name given to this district, centuries ago, by the voyageurs and the coureurs de bois.

Lions co-sponsor Musicorama '66

On Wednesday, August 10, a "Musicorama '66" will be held in the Brownsburg arena presented by radio station CJMS, Montreal, in co-operation with the Lachute Lions Club.

This tour of several communities in Quebec has brought together such artists as César et ses Romains, les Hou-lops, Norman Knight, Michèle Richard, Gilles Brown and Ria Bartock et les Chantels.

The artists have all signed with the radio station in question and in each community, co-sponsors are a local community-minded organization.

First winners announced for Expo '67 passports in Watchman-sponsored Bazaar of Values contest

The first drawing in the Bazaar of Values contest was held on Friday last and 20 local residents are to be the recipients of two Expo '67 Passports, each good for a day's admission to the world fair to be held in Montreal next year.

The next drawing is to be held in Mid-August and shoppers are reminded to return their sales slips from any of the stores listed below so as to be eligible for these prizes.

Julie is now three years old

It was on July 25, 1963 that the birth of the first baby in the Argenteuil Hospital occurred and photographed above is three year old Julie Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Toussaint Robertson, who celebrated her birthday on Monday. Julie was born less than 12 hours following the official opening of the hospital, at 3.34 a.m. At that time she was awarded a certificate of honor and a lifetime subscription to L'Argenteuil. Four area students visiting on exchange program

Three young Lachute citizens and another from Brownsburg left on July 21 for a two week stay with English-language families in other parts of the country. The trip is under the auspices of the student exchange programme of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

The French-language students who left here Thursday last had been hosts for two weeks to young visitors from the same English families with which they are now staying. The host families in Lachute were Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Gratton, Mr. and Mrs. Réal Allaire, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Valois, and Mr. and Mrs. René Lafleur, of Brownsburg.

During their visit in Lachute, the students toured Ste. Helen's Island, the Ayers and Richelieu Pools, the Cinema Lachute, the Notre - Dame - de - Lourdes Church, Giles Publishing House, the park and City Hall (where they were the object of a reception and where they signed the Golden Book), the Carillon Museum and dam, the Lachute Golf Club, Lowe's Dairy, Lachute's three Catholic churches, the filtration plant, and the Carrefour du Livre.

The students also attended receptions given by the family of Mr. Bernard Trottier in St-Adolphe de Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Charlemagne Turcot in St. Andrews, and in the home of Mr. and Mrs. René Lafleur in Pointe-aux-Chêne.

A visit to the Dominion Ayers plant and an excursion by airplane had to be cancelled due to unforseen circumstances.

The visitors wish to warmly thank all those who made their visit in this region so enjoyable.

By BOB ATCHISON

Campers are sure dotting the open landscape these days. I was along the old road leading toward St. Agathe recently and this certainly seems to be the way most people are taking off for their vacations. Some of these tents were wonderful; I saw one in particular and being nosy had to stop and enquire about it. Perfectly round, it was called an Igloo Tent. It is made in the U.S. and has no inside supports at all; a floor that can be removed easily to be cleaned and circular windows and screens. However there were more trailer tents than anything else. Some of these outfits are tops, but some of them I saw were not too good. Maybe I'm wrong in this, but camping is no longer the carefree outing it once was. After all hauling along behind your car an outfit costing around three thousand dollars kind of keeps you from being carefree. I think the people I saw with tents only, seemed to be having a lot more fun and pleasure.

You know with all the gadjets in some of these outfits, I wonder just why people take off to get into the country. With all the comforts of home living, even to portable T.V. run off storage batteries, it hardly seems like a holiday in the country anymore. Certainly isn't much use in going into the outdoors with all this junk along with you. You certainly can't get into those back woods and hard to get places with outfits like this. Sure its nice to have a few comforts, but this is getting to be ridiculous. One thing I did often notice the lack of a spare tire for these tenting trailers, boy imagine getting a flat on some out of the way road, then trying to fix it, I would say this would cure a lot of people in trailering. Really though I should not have anything to say about this as after all these outfits are getting people out more, and its only in this way that a lot of them will ever learn about nature, and that is the important thing to most.

This little bit of information should make us stop and think a little. The total number of deer shot in the State of New York this past year was 67,073. In the Adirondacks and the Catskills alone the total was 17,819 for the "packs", while the "Cats" gave up 18,838. These two areas gave up more deer in twenty days or less than our whole province did in almost two months of hunting. With many more hunters in New York, why is it that they can produce herds of deer like this, year after year. First and foremost, the laws governing poachers, illegal kills, etc., are strict, and maintained by many wardens who have NO political allegiance to any party. These wardens have one job, and that is to protect the wildlife, and if it means enforcing this law to the limit then this they do. After all there is no fear they will be fired or let out on some trumped-up charge, to satisfy the parties in power. It also appears anyone trying to use influence to protect someone caught in infractions is as guilty as the real offenders, so there is little interference attempted.

Of course we in Quebec used to have wildlife like this, many, many years ago. I know blame is put upon the heavy hunting during the seasons, but this is not and never has been the real reason for our decline of wildlife. Sure is in a small way this has had adverse effects, but the total lack of regard for laws in this province has been the real reason. After all if parties can go out and kill 7 or 8 deers legally, legal that is if they have licenses for the whole family from the babe in arms to the grandfather who hasn't been in the bush for twenty years or so, then that is legal. The selling of all types of game in this province has always and I guess always will be a real lucrative "sport", after all if caught a couple of times, then all they have to do is pay a miserly fine so the culprit still makes money anyway you look at it. So I'm beefing about the wildlife again, well someone has to.

As we all know there never has been any concerted action on the part of government to protect any natural resources, the only thing that has been done is lengthen the seasons for all game. If this is protecting them, then I'm glad I won't be around when they throw everything open to the supposed sportsmen. One of these days, they will do just this, as after all, money appears to be of the utmost importance to government, and to the devil with everything else. I know we have had a change of power in the last couple of months and it is not sportsman like to criticize anyone before they have had a chance, so this I won't do. I only hope the Hon. Gabriel Loubier, Minister of Tourism, Fish and Game has a long hard look at some of the things that have gone on in the last few years. In it's present form, this department is in one awful mess. No department can be merged with another, so far apart as these two can be, and expect good results. Something has to suffer and we all know it has been the fish and game. Maybe if they quit playing at being big businessmen and "know-it-alls", they will settle down to being good politicians. As long as they don't do what the former government did, that is use the Department of Fish and Game as a demotion for ministers on their way out, then maybe things will turn out okay.

A report on the tourist dollars is a eye opener. Ontario has collected millions over Quebec from the begining of the year, so much more it is laughable. Easily understood though, with some of the powerful organizations shooting off their mouths about the French-only highway signs, then we are going to have to do without the tourist. Strange that people can not realize that talk like this hurts the province badly, both in dollars and good will. You know with all this stupid and harmful yapping, it does not look too good for Expo; after all people are not going to come and visit a country if they are going to humiliated and scorned.

A tip on the fishing. Bark lake has been producing good lakers, Grey's to you. I heard of two being taken over the 12 lb. class. Both of these fish were taken trolling, so if you happen to know where the best spots are for this type of fishing, then it would be worthwhile to try it. However Barkmere is a large lake, so if you don't know just where to look for these fish, it will be a waste of time. Naturally fishing in the old spots, Louisa, MacDonald, Silver is good, there does not seem to have been any real let up in the fishing in these waters. Considering the warm weather we have been having this is surprising, but true. Certainly they are not catching them on the top as formerly, but they do come up once in awhile, so the spin fisherman still has a chance of landing some good catches.

I know most of us don't carry baking soda with us when we go fishing, but you know we should, so many times it is really useful to have. For instance if some of your lures have become tarnished in a box, scour them with the soda, and as it is scratchless it won't hurt the finish of the lure. If you have a sun burn, sprinkle soda on, wet your handkerchief and place over the burn, you'll be surprised at how fast the burn and sting go. Then of course there is the old one, good for bee stings, just make a paste and apply. Swelling and burn all gone. Try it.

Have you Bird watchers noticed the numbers of night hawks around just now. They seem to be everywhere these nights. I certainly do like to hear the call of this bird, a close relative of the Whip-poor-will, its much easier to see. These are the greatest insect catchers we have, and seeing them in the dusk banking, diving and sliding through the air after their meals, is a lesson in aerobatics. Of course all the insectivious birds have remarkable flights but the night hawk is tops. I was told of a family of Red-eyed Vireos nearby, so maybe I'll be seeing some of them around. I haven't up to now.

Lachute Motor Sport Club

News, Views, Activities — by Don Smith

The summer rally will be upon us this time next month so remember to register early. Mr. Gaston Laroche, of Molson's Lachute Ltée, has donated an impressive list of prizes and trophies. There will be prizes for the first three crews in the final standings and trophies for the best three car team. As usual there will be a large perpetual trophy for the Lachute Motor Sport Club member finishing highest in the standings.

The team prize is relatively new to our club. The challenge we accepted from the CADL rally team last spring generated a lot of interest and thus it was decided to put up a prize for the best team in our next rally. Incidentally the team does not have to represent a club. Why not form your own private team and give yourself another chance of winning a trophy?

The rally will be more than one hundred miles in length and therefore gives the organizers plenty of room to throw in a variety of instructions. Be on the lookout for a map section, accumulative or non-accumulative mileage sections, a straight-line map section, or even a blind map section. Above all be prepared for at least one dummy checkpoint. I predict that a loss of five points will still leave you in the top three so don't worry about how hard the rally might seem before you enter. Keep that date open — August 21, 1966.

Gymkhana

Are you afraid to enter the family Cadillac in our Gymkhana for fear you will be bested by a Mini or a Sprite? The cars are to be classed according to the size of their wheelbase so this can no longer be used as an excuse. Why not give it a try? It is simply a glorified driving test. The event will be held at two o'clock at the C-I-L parking lot so bring the family bus up and have a look. The "I can do better than that" attitude will lure you into competition even if I can't.

Pit Chatter

Please don't associate all the local hot rodders with LMSC Inc. . . There is going to be another buffet after the summer rally. . . Lindsay Green is organizing a social gathering for his event too. . . Guests are always welcome at our meetings so pay us a visit sometime. . . Is it true that Batman doesn't go out with girls because he has bat breath?

Next Meeting: Friday, July 29 at 8.00 p.m. at the Masonic Hall, Brownsburg Road.

Water Skiing
WITH CLINT WARD

Get the help of an instructor—expetienced water skier or friend. First wet your feet and the bindings. After adjusting the bindings put the skis on. Using a beach or grassy area stand with the skis parallel and about 4 inches apart. Sit down on the back of the skis. The instructor or friend should give you the handle and then stand just in front of the skis holding the tow-line taut.

Lock your knees together with your elbows. The knees should be into your chest and your arms should be straight. This is the same position you should assume just prior to starting from the water. With the instructor applying pressure on the line to simulate the pull of the boat, stand up with your legs. Do not pull up with your arms as this will cause the arms to bend, resulting in a fall.

BOATING CLINIC by Stan Davies

I was in an argument. If a boat is overtaking me, I have the right of way; but do I have any responsibility to the overtaking boat?

Answer: Definitely. Maintain a reasonably constant speed and course until the overtaking boat is past. It boils to this: don't do anything which isn't a reasonable act for the other guy to expect.

At a course of lectures I was taking, the instructor told us always to cut across big waves at an angle. How big an angle?

Answer: About 45 degrees. This is good advice if you are in a small boat and you are crossing the wake of a big one.

In even a mild wind a lot of spray comes over our boat. Anything we can do?

Answer: Try putting spray rails on. They are strips extending back from the bow just above the water line. Another thing, when it's blowing move weight to the back of the boat, keep the bow light, it will rise better and shed spray.

THE ARNOLD Palmer Method

by GOLF'S 4-TIME MASTERS WINNER

HOW TO PRACTICE PUTT BEFORE A ROUND

I think it will help many golfers score much lower if they follow this simple tip: Before each round of golf, spend several minutes practicing straight-in, six-foot putts.

When you practice these putts, concentrate on contacting the ball squarely with your putterface and try to develop a smooth stroke.

Practice the same putt over and over until you are sinking a large percentage.

This type of practice on relatively easy putts will give you confidence. Also, concentrating on hitting the ball squarely will put you in the habit of keeping your head still during your stroke. The smooth stroke you develop in pre-round practice will carry over onto the course. You will achieve better rhythm, not only on your putts, but also on all of your other shots.

Country Notebook

By WALKER RILEY,
Macdonald College

Big news this week is that Galen Driver is back. Galen, of course, was Provincial Farm Forum Secretary until he took off for the west to get his Master's degree. He majored in Agricultural Extension, and additional courses in Resource Development.

Now he is back full time on the College's Extension staff. You will be hearing him in radio (CFCF 6:40 a.m., CKTS 7:05 a.m.), reading his articles in the Macdonald Farm Journal, and seeing him at meetings. Welcome home, Galen.

When I gave up full-time farming eight years ago to go back to school, my inspiration was, in large part, the example of Robert Marshall. Bob was then on the Economics staff of the Ontario Agricultural College. He had given in to his urge for more education, sold his three-hundred acre beef farm, and had successfully finished the four year course at Guelph. He had proved it could be done, and he was happy with his decision.

Now Bob Marshall is known naturally for his shrewd analysis of the livestock. Once a month, I receive a copy of his "Commentary on Livestock Prices and Market Developments."

Regarding the hog situation, he points out that gradings in Canada continue to run well below those of a year ago. But that it is evening out. On the year-to-date, grading has been down 17 percent. But right now, in the east, we are just about even with last year while the west is still behind.

Price-wise, Prof. Marshall says, hogs both in Canada and U.S. continue to run well above those of a year ago. At $38 - $38.50 Grade A, Toronto June prices have been about $3.00 above those a year ago and $9 - 10.00 above summer prices two years ago.

And here is how he sees the hog business in the months ahead. "On the supply side there is still considerable guessing as to exactly when and how much hog marketings will swing up this coming fall and winter. The last estimates we had indicated that although we will probably see hog marketings in both Canada and U.S. turn above year ago levels sometime this summer they still won't recover to pre 1965 levels at least until after the turn of the year.

Pricewise the biggest problem towards the end of this year and first part of 1967 could stem from the demand side. Domestic disappearance of pork has been off sharply this year as a direct result of short supplies and higher prices. The hole left here in total meat supplies has been well plugged with increased supplies of broilers and turkeys. With further increases in these competitive meats still in the offing in both the U.S. and Canada competition for the consumer's meat dollar could be pretty vigorous over coming months. Or in other words, if hog marketings increase substantially it may take a sharp price concession to work increased pork supplies back into the consumers market basket. Certainly this was a major factor in the price slump last March and April and it adds one more element of uncertainty to the hog price picture for the coming year."

While we are still talking about pigs, here is a neat formula I picked up the other day for pricing weaners. It could be the basis of a contract if you regularly buy baby pigs from your neighbor. Price of weaner — three quarters of weanling pig weight x price of grade A plus $7 of Grade A's are between 30c and 35c per pound, or plus $8 if A's are bringing 35c to 40c, and so on.

Ever go to your freezer (if you are lucky enough to have one) to find the thing had been unplugged since goodness knows when?

While there is no rule of thumb, most fruits can be safely refrozen if the breakdown is discovered within 24 - 30 hours. The fruit may lose some odor, and become soggy, but there is little danger of any toxic material being formed in that time. More care though must be taken with low-acid vegetables. In this case, unpleasant odors and off-flavors are useful warning signs.

Lengthly illness claims life-long district resident

Mrs. James A. McKenzie, a life-long resident of this community, passed away at Brownsburg, on Friday, July 22, following a lengthy illness. Born November 12, 1882, she was the daughter of the late John Campbell and Christina Dewar, of Dalesville. She was married to James McKenzie who predeceased her sixteen years ago. She was a member of the Maple Avenue Baptist Church, Brownsburg, Dominion Life Member of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society and a Life Member of the Pioneer Women's Institute.

Left to mourn her passing are two sons, Archie and John, of Toronto, and three daughters, Christina and Janet, (Mrs. Tom Johnston) of Lachute; and Margaret (Mrs. Reese L. Whitby), of Minersville, Pa.; also four grandchildren, and a brother J. A. Campbell, of Dalesville.

The service, which was held on July 25, in the Margaret Roger Memorial Presbyterian Church, was conducted by the Rev. S. Stock, a former pastor of Madison Avenue Baptist Church, Montreal. Members of the Pioneer Women's Institute formed a guard of honor as the cortege left the church. Interment was at Lachute Protestant Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Clinton Murdoch, Bazil Clark, Charles Stephens, Arnold Parker, Stuart Armstrong and Gordon Smith.

Discussion on better community living topic at meeting of Rotary Club

Lachute's 6% sales taxes increased from about $112,000 in 1963 to $165,000 in three years, indicates that business is good, and good parking helps to make it better. Perhaps you can help convince businessmen that if you can't park near their store you will buy at the store near which you can.

And so the discussion went. A suggestion was made that we should have a map printed and publicized of a proposed Lachute and Brownsburg of the future — ten — or twenty years from now, the same as has been done for the Golf Club and the Ski Centre. With an expanded Lachute looking to the future, and a city engineer with training in town and community planning, we can look forward expectantly.

Look forward we must, if we are to take advantage of the natural beauty that surrounds us, and not become hypnotized by canned color, imported by the wonders of our electronic age and so lose our innate creative ability and imagination.

It seemed like a worthwhile discussion, far too short for such a vast subject — but — if it made only one person more aware of our possibilities — better still — if you have read this far and think that something should be done about it — then act. You have ideas, energy, imagination, pride, and it is your town and community.

The Rotary Club's new executive have been busy planning for an active year, even before their term started this month. Improvements are planned for the dam, constructed last year at the park.

President, René Dagenais, is backed up by vice-presidents, John Leggitt and John Giles, secretary, John Hamilton, treasurer, Ray Underhill, and other directors — John Chalmers, Dr. Reg Rigby, George Paul, Bob Johnston, and past-president, Tom Johnston.

Members have been ambassadors from this district, the most notable of course, being affable and erudite Dr. Reg Rigby, welcomed back from Stockholm, Oslo, London and Moscow after contributing in a major way to meetings of Learned Societies, including a memorial lecture in his homeland. Jack MacKimmie and Leona are touring California. Stewart and Agnes Jones are part of a contingent of Canadian Rotarians touring Europe who made an official presentation to the Queen, of 500 Centennial Roses and a life-like oil painting of the flower by a Canadian artist of Beaconsfield, Erna Heidersdorf.

Wes and Eleanor Freeland arrived back from a visit with daughter and friends in England and Wes attended, by chance, a meeting of the Bury Rotary Club, near Manchester, and found that he was among friends and former co-workers of Tom Milnes, it being his "home town", a famous textile centre. They sent warm and enthusiastic greetings to Tom and Lachute, where some of them have visited.

Bill and Jocelyn Steeves have been welcomed back from sunny North Carolina; George and Pearl Paul from equally sunny Cape Cod and Long Island.

Travel or not, we still like Brownsburg and Lachute and think they have much to offer — and a vast potential — don't you?

Lachute residents take pride in home ownership

A special "Salute to the Homeowners of Lachute! Your taste in homemaking would make any community proud. The city and farm homes in the Lachute area would naturally depict the prosperity that Lachute enjoys.

Lachute homes will always stand as a challenge to other communities. You, Mr. and Mrs. Homemaker, are indeed to be congratulated for the way you keep adding to your home's comfort and beauty.

Some of you are fortunate enough to have the ready cash you need to keep your homes the way you want them, while others must operate their homes within a limited budget. But whether you run your home on a budget or with unlimited capital, you can have any type home you desire. The local financial institutions can and will finance most types of home construction or permits for improvements.

If you feel your home is not up to par and in need of repairs or modernization, contact any local contractor or building material firm, interior decorator, paint store, furniture or appliance dealer. Tell them your wishes, and they will supply you with the latest material, dependable labor and the best possible service — all at a price to fit your budget.

You, as a homemaker, should take advantage of these wonderful opportunities while our nation is at peace and enjoying an all-time prosperity.

Now is the time to build that extra room, sun porch, bath, new kitchen, patio, install central heating or air conditioning.

The Lachute merchants are proud of the part they have had in making your homes more enjoyable. Therefore, it is with great pleasure that they honor you this week with a "Bazaar of Values."

Mr. Harold Nowlan, of Richmond, en route from Quyon visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gaston during the week-end.

W.I. activities during July

Branches who held July meetings reported hearing interesting and informative reports from delegates who had attended the Provincial Convention (several branches did not hold July meetings)

Arundel — Mrs. Hall, county president, was guest speaker and reported on county W.I. work. In addition, exhibits were displayed which had been exhibited at the Lachute Spring Fair where eighteen prizes were won.

Members brought in handicrafts for a bazaar which was held July 16. Mrs. Bulley, was guest of honor, celebrating her birthday, and was presented with a beautiful cake and many good wishes.

Dalesville - Louisa — Roll call consisted of naming a Canadian prime minister and telling something about him.

Citizenship convenor read a paper on "Etiquette for Canada's National Flag" — and members also were introduced to the Book "Women's Rights in Quebec" pertaining to Bill 16. A contest was held in the form of a quiz on Expo '67.

Frontier — Roll call told of something interesting seen at the Lachute Spring Fair.

Members not holding offices were in charge of the program. Twenty-five Christmas stockings to the Canadian Save The Children fund were completed and it was announced that three prizes would be given for gardens grown by the 4-H Club. Also discussed were centennial projects. A picnic will be held in August.

Pioneer — Fourteen members, five visitors with children and grandchildren gathered at the Rotary Park near Brownsburg.

A shower of cards was to be sent to a sick member — a potted plant also purchased. A money prize was voted to be given to a 4-H member on Achievement Day.

Upper Lachute - East End — Roll call was an odd or unusual word and its meaning. Members heard reports of the Handicraft exhibit at the Lachute Spring Fair and prizes were distributed.

IN MEMORIAM

BAGINSKI — In loving memory of my dear husband and father, William Baginski, who passed away July 27, 1965. — Missed by his wife Marie and daughters Rose-Marie, Margot, Brigitte.

"Loves greatest gift, remembrance."

"Please God forgive a silent tear
A constant wish that he was here,
Others were taken yes we know
But he was our husband and father
And we loved him so.
He bade no one a last farewell
Nor ever said goodbye,
He was gone before we knew it
And only God knows why.
If all the world was ours to give
We'd give it, yes and more,
To see our husband and father
Come smiling through the door".

McCULLOUGH — In fond remembrance of Florence McCullough, who passed away July 24, 1965. — Ever remembered by Mrs. W. Jackson.

ROBINSON (Edith) — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away July 31, 1962. Always remembered by her daughter Lena, son-in-law Keith and grandchildren.

"Four years have passed but memories stay
As near and dear as yesterday".

TODD — In loving memory of a dear brother, Stuart, who passed away Aug. 4, 1962. — Always remembered by Emma and Ross.

TODD (Stuart) — In loving memory of dear uncle Stuart who passed away Aug. 4, 1962. — Always remembered by Lena and Bob.

"Tenderly, we treasure the past
With memories that will always last".

District resident succumbs recently

The late Mrs. A. S. Gunn

The death of Annie McCullough, wife of the late James Stewart and Walter Gunn, of R.R. 1, Lachute, occurred at St. Jude Hospital, Laval des Rapides, on Saturday, July 16, after a brief illness.

Deceased lady was born at Lost River, in 1889 and lived there until she moved to Mount Maple, where she and her first husband farmed until late years; later she moved to Brownsburg and Lachute.

During her lifetime she had been active in community affairs.

Left to mourn her passing are five children Beryl (Mrs. Louis P. Piché) of St. Jerome; Lorne, of Souville, Ont.; Sydney, Murray and Phyllis, of Lachute; also a sister, Mrs. Merle McCallum, of Vancouver, with several nieces and nephews and four grandchildren.

The funeral service was held on July 19 in the Brownsburg United Church, conducted by the Rev. R. H. Woods, assisted by the Rev. G. B. Hicks.

Favorite hymns of the deceased were sung, "Rock of Ages" and "What a friend we have in Jesus".

Interment took place in Ogdensburg Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Borden McRae, Wesley McAndrew, Roy Dixon, Bazil Jackson, Cecil Clarke and Clinton Murdoch.

Parishioners fete Canon C. Baugh on retirement

The old, grey stone church at Lakefield was the scene last Sunday of one of the more colorful episodes in its history of over a century and a quarter. Parishioners and friends from Lakefield and Shrewsbury assembled to pay honor to the Rev. Canon Baugh and his wife on the occasion of their retirement after thirty years in the parish.

The Venerable Archdeacon Morris, acting for Bishop Maguire, dedicated the carpet, hangings, and prayer book which will through the generations to come remind the people of the parish of one of its rectors. A plaque at the door bears the pertinent information.

The presentation was read by People's Warden, Leonard Legg, supported by the Rector's Warden, Leslie Robinson.

Assisting Archdeacon Morris in the service of Evensong were Rural Dean C. R. Lang, Rev. Horace Baugh, and Mr. Ian Dodd, presently in charge of the parish.

The sermon was based on the words, "Keep that which is committed to thy trust." Archdeacon Morris felt that this injunction did not allow 'sitting on the fence', in matters religious.

Over a hundred guests attended the tea, which followed, in the church hall, where a huge cake was cut to mark the Canon's approaching 94th birthday, July 26.

The Church Wardens of Holy Trinity Church, Lakefield wish to thank all those who contributed to the occasion either by donations, singing in the choir or by assisting with refreshments.

The late L. W. Hammond

Mr. Lemuel W. Hammond, a well-known and life-long citizen of this district passed away suddenly while resting, after tending his garden on Monday morning. He was in his 85th year and until recently had enjoyed good health.

Born in the Seigniory, Mr. Hammond received his early education locally and later carried on the saw mill business owned by his late father Mr. Thomas Hammond, at Hill Foot. He was married to Miss Jeannie A. Pollock in 1909 and on retirement in 1945 they took up residence in Lachute.

Mr. Hammond was an Elder of the United Church and a member of Argenteuil Masonic Lodge No. 67.

He was keenly interested in flowers and his home and garden were always a picture of beauty enjoyed by many passers-by. He also gave generously to many so that they also could enjoy the fruits of his hobby.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife and daughter Grace (Mrs. W. A. Hutcheson) of St. Laurent, Mr. Hutcheson, and many relatives and friends. His only brother Theodore predeceased him a number of years ago.

The funeral was held on Wednesday in the MacKimmie Funeral Parlor, conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. The Masons assembled to pay their last tribute of respect on Tuesday evening.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. James and Edgar Pollock, Norman Hammond and Ross Muir.

Interment took place in the Lachute Protestant Cemetery.

Pretty wedding held recently at Baptist Church

Dunn — Cruise

The marriage of Miss Claire Parker Cruise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cruise, to Mr. Roger John Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn, of Windsor, Ont., took place at Lachute Baptist Church, the Rev. Lorne Hisey officiating. Mr. Nevill Brown was at the organ and Mrs. Leonard Armstrong the soloist. White standards of gladioli, delphinium and peonies decorated the church.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was in a gown of peau de soie with a train trimmed with Chantilly lace; her headpiece was of pearls and Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and stephanitis.

The bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Dunn, sister of the groom, and Miss Helen Clark; they wore pastel printed chiffon over taffeta with head-pieces made of the same material with yellow net. They carried shasta daisies.

Mr. Bob Tuttle was best man. The ushers were Mr. Gary Cruise, brother of the bride, and Mr. Gordon Dunn, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Cruise, mother of the bride, was in a pink linen suit dress with matching hat and accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Dunn, mother of the groom, was in a blue and white dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of red carnations.

Local witnesses attended meeting in Montreal

Members of the Lachute Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses were among some twenty thousand persons attending the "God's Sons of Liberty District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses" in Montreal recently.

"The most significant thing about the assembly program", said local presiding minister, Mr. Reginald Hoffmann, "was the emphasis placed on using the Bible as a guide for every aspect of life."

Delegates from 40 States, nine Canadian Provinces and five foreign countries gathered at the Forum, home of the Montreal Canadien hockey club, to take in a five-day program of Bible talks and authentic dramatizations of Biblical events.

"Local Jehovah's Witnesses attending the conference," said Mr. Hoffmann, "were told of the Christian responsibilities of husbands and fathers in assuming headship of the family. Family Bible study and daily Bible reading were recommended with the father taking the spiritual lead."

It was pointed out that headship of husbands does not mean tyrannical or unreasonable authority but kindness and love in providing for the spiritual needs of the family as well as the material needs, Mr. Hoffmann said.

"It was a family convention," he said, "and it was dominated by the presence of children and youths accompanying their parents. All sat attentively, taking notes and frequently looking up Bible texts referred to by speakers.

"Bible characters were realistically portrayed in dramatic presentations showing how they resisted temptations to immorality. Youths present were admonished to follow these examples of good conduct rather than follow the crowd in this age of deteriorating morals and waning faith."

One of a panel of ministers spoke on, "What Influences Decisions in Your Life?" "The applying of Bible principles," it was pointed out, "can help us avoid making wrong decisions leading to unhappiness, frustration and wrong pursuits."

In a talk entitled, "Reviving the Spirit of Self-Sacrifice," examples of the lives of early Christians were cited to emphasize the "need for unselfishness and willingness to help others as we live lives of dedication to doing the will of God."

Mr. Hoffmann said, "I am certain that delegates from the local congregation benefited by the entire program. The review of doctrinal and prophetic material as well as instruction on teaching techniques will help each one of us to share the comfort and hope offered in the scriptures with our neighbors in the community as we call from door to door in the coming months."

Summer resident new manager of Burroughs office

Mr. Donald Joyce, of Montreal and Shrewsbury, was recently appointed manager of the newly established Mount Royal Laurentide branch of Burroughs Business Machine Ltd. This new branch of Burroughs, serving the western section of Montreal, Laval and the Laurentian districts, reflects the dramatic industrial growth and acceptance of Burroughs products in these areas. This new office provides increased Sales and Service facilities, with Mr. Gilles Beauchemin as sales manager and Mr. Les. Miletics, responsible for field engineering management.

Mr. Donald Joyce

A fully equipped parts and service centre at the new location assures prompt customer service and preventive maintenance attention.

Mr. Joyce was born and educated in Montreal and joined Burroughs after completion of studies at McGill University in 1952.

He has held a number of responsible marketing posts with the company in Montreal, most recently in sales management at the Montreal district office. Mr. Joyce is married, and has been a summer resident at his parent's home in Shrewsbury since 1930.

Two employees of Hydro-Quebec seriously injured

Seven employees of a sub-contractor working for Hydro-Quebec were injured early Tuesday morning, two of them seriously, when a vehicle in which they were driving overturned at the intersection near the Four Season's Motel, Dalesville. The accident occurred at 7.15 a.m. when the truck, owned and operated by Inspiration Ltd., swerved out of control on the slippery highway. According to police, it was raining in the area at the time of the mishap.

The truck was hauling poles and in the extra cab were Alexis Derouin, of Lachute, Guy Bertrand, Nelson Marchand, Charles Germain, Gilles Bedard and Maurice Bergeron, all of St. Jerome and Ghislain Gauthier, of Lafontaine.

Mr. Bedard was reported to have suffered a fractured skull and following treatment in the Argenteuil Hospital, was transported to the Montreal Neurological Institute. Also in serious condition is Mr. Germain and it appears as if both these men were in the main cab of the truck.

The accident was investigated by QPP Agent Guy Lessard.

APPRECIATION

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to all who cheered me with visits, flowers, gifts, cards and good wishes, during my recent stay in hospital.

Beware of burglars while you're away

ANNUAL CRIME STATISTICS indicate that burglary is becoming a booming business in Canada. Property losses reach well into the millions every year. And the summer vacation period is the prime time for house-breaking activities.

Surprisingly enough, a research study unmasked the victim as the burglar's principal ally. Forgetfulness or downright carelessness in failing to properly secure your home before leaving on vacation, or even when out for an evening on the town, can lead to the theft of your prized possessions.

Burglars are often alert to the tell-tale signs that reveal the homeowner's absence. Oversights like neglecting to inform the mail-office, milkman or newsboy that you'll be away . . . an accumulation of these items at your door is an open invitation to unwanted intruders. Or leaving a note in the window, telling prospective guests that you're away and that the key is under the mat. Sound foolish? It is foolish, but this kind of thought-lessness happens often enough to warrant a mention here.

To help you foil would-be thieves, check the following list of precautions you should take to make it more difficult for burglars to guess that you're away:

Securely lock all exterior doors and windows. Pintumbler locks are the most secure key-operated device on the market today. Insure that all basement and second-story windows are locked as securely as those on the first floor. Key-operated window locks are the burglar's latest source of frustration.

Stop delivery of your mail, milk and newspapers.

Notify the police and your neighbors that you'll be away; and be sure to tell them where you can be reached in emergencies. Ask your neighbor to clear your doorway and mailbox of advertising circulars and the like.

Raise the shades or blinds to allow maximum light and visibility to penetrate your home.

If you can, avoid revealing your plans to newspaper editors. Departure stories provide likely leads to the burglary boys.

Another important safeguard to protect your home, even when you stay at home, is to increase the lock security on your exterior doors with an auxilliary chain-guard nightlatch . . . this unique locking device enables one member of your family with a correct key, to disengage the special chain mechanism from the outside, without disturbing the rest of the household. An extension telephone installed in your bedroom is an important aid to summon help in emergencies.

Dishonest attendants have been known to duplicate the whole ring of keys in a car on a public parking lot; and through the License Bureau, learn the home address of the car's owner . . . then choose an appropriate time to gain access into the victim's home. You can easily avoid this danger by using a pull-apart key-chain and leave only your car keys with the parking lot attendant.

Just in case you should slip up on one or more of the above suggestions, be sure to keep a record of the serial numbers and descriptions of your valuables in a separate place. The police have managed to track down many burglars with this kind of information and have returned stolen property to its rightful owners. But you'll be wiser still, if you store your valuable possessions in a safety-deposit box at the bank.

If you remember that most home burglaries are aided by the carelessness of the home owners; and if you take the necessary steps to secure your home before you go away; you can avoid needless heartache and despair . . . and save your police department a lot of grief in the bargain. Lock up tight, leave no clues to your absence . . . and have a happy, carefree holiday.

The automobile — a lethal killer

THE GREATEST LUXURY of the twentieth century has become a lethal killer — maiming, injuring and destroying human life at an alarmingly and ever-increasing rate.

The changes the automobile has brought to our society are huge, and with change comes danger. Not only is the automobile causing carnage on the roads, but it has become the main interest of the teenage boy, offering an unparalleled opportunity for temptation and sexual promiscuity. To deny that these concerns exist or to claim exaggeration is to be unrealistic.

Too often minor traffic violations become the habit of drivers, whose attitude seems to be, "if I go a little over the speed limit, or pass on the right, it's alright if I feel safe." Such small risks are just as dishonest as passing a bad cheque or stealing from a till. For what we really do is rob those driving around us of a certain amount of safety. The chance we take may seem minimal to us but we have no way of estimating the effect of fast driving on a nervous person in the car ahead or beside.

What we do in driving this way is take the law into our own hands. Too many men, normally courteous, lose their manners the minute they get behind a wheel. They must be first away from stoplights, first down an almost empty highway, and too often, first to the morgue.

To say that the problem is not a moral one is wrong. It is the duty of all of us to obey even small road rules to the letter in a continuing effort to curtail the danger to ourselves and our fellows.

During a year there are almost 5,000 fatal highway accidents in Canada, and 150,000 people hurt. The rate of accidents is steadily rising. In the five years between 1958 and 1963 it rose by 20 percent. For moral consideration, the increase need not take into account the greater number of cars, for the deaths are just as real with more vehicles. The Second World War cost us 6,000 fatalities per year compared with the current motor rate of 5,000.

The responsibility as well as the wheel is in the hands of everyone who drives.

What new morality?

SO, WHAT'S NEW about the 'new morality'? Apart from talking more and more openly about it, nothing. We were through all this in the 20's. We hadn't started using the double meaning to sell cars and toothpaste then, but we were in and out of bed in the same way for the same ancient reason. Then we called it defiantly 'free love'. Now we call it 'meaningful relationships.' In a way it's all very funny, but the thing becomes sad when we find ministers who probably mean well, but forget the days of their youth, telling us and our children that in the natural assaults of genital urgency, they have gone ahead of their elders in moral discovery and have discovered the 'primacy of love.' It's bad enough when a minister doesn't know his theology. It's pathetic when he doesn't know his body.

It's all right if you're in love? How many times are we in love when we are young? How many girls would we have married? But this is only part of the folly of the 'new morality.' The worst part of it is that some of our preachers are proving how little they know about the young, or about the essential conditions under which an ordered society can survive. The young need freedom to grow: who ever denied it? But they need also — and they know it and cry for it — the shaping disciplines that will in due time enable them to function as grown men and women. They do not want and it is irresponsible and immoral to make them go on functioning as shapeless messes (not masses) of undirected or undisciplined feelings they have never been required to understand or use properly.

It is not a discovery, it can be a stupid form of cruelty to the young.

Centennial Report

Report No. 14

I wish the Centennial Commission could buy a ticket and the travel fare for every person in Canada to see Expo 67 next year. But I just don't have the budget to do that.

Millions of Canadians won't see Expo but most of those who can't make it to Montreal will be able to see some Centennial spectacular in the nearest city. Canada's leading events are shared by all parts of the country. It could be a performance of the Canadian Armed Forces Tattoo, one of the largest spectacles of its kind ever to be presented in North America. It could be the touring Centennial air show with thrilling flying by the Forces' formation aerobatic team of pilots specially picked for the 1967 celebrations.

Those living on or near the coasts and waterways will be able to see impressive naval assemblies of the majestic ships of Canada's forces and the navies of a number of other countries.

In major cities there will be dazzling performances on stage by top artists from Canada and abroad. There will be art shows and there will be sporting events such as the Pan American games at Winnipeg and the winter games in Quebec.

Proposed international events in Canada next year include: a balloon race across the prairies; world snowshoe championships; a North American ski championship meet and international ski jumping competitions near Ottawa; an international air show at Abbotsford, B.C.; international motorcycle races near Toronto; world hydroplane championship races at Valleyfield, P.Q.; and a water skiing world championship meet at Sherbrooke, P.Q., to mention a few.

The point I make is that no one who can't afford that trip to Montreal should be disappointed about Centennial Year. In the realm of spectacular events there will be something to see in every major Canadian city.

The small towns as well, with visits by the touring Centennial Caravans carrying fascinating exhibits of Canadiana and their own community Centennial events, will be gay attractions during 1967.

For those unable to leave their own homes — even shut-ins — the year 1967 will be a special one. With our coast to coast radio and television communications of today all will be able to witness or listen to the great sporting events, see or hear Centennial performers, follow the 4,000 mile canoe race — in fact, they will be able to enjoy many of the events I mentioned above by electronic means. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has great plans for Centennial coverage and so have the magazines and newspapers of Canada.

It's going to be a big birthday celebration and no one is going to be left out of the party. There will be something for everyone—young or old — to do, to see and to be happy about. Not the least important event to be happy about is that this young, vigorous country is moving into its second century of Confederation with a bright future ahead.

SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley

Summery Promisings

Glorious summer morning, early. Writing this at the picnic table, on back lawn. Feet planted wetly in dewy, three-inch grass.

Yes, the grass needs cutting. The hedge needs trimming. The flower-beds need weeding. The garage is still half-painted from last summer, though the new green is fading nicely into the old blue. Twelve feet of my neighbour's rotten old board fence has fallen on my side, crushing shrubs. The barbecue is broken. The clothes line is sagging. My wife is in a vile temper for all the above reasons. And my daughter is moping because she doesn't have a waitress's job, like all her pals.

In addition, my piles are acting up, my bursitis is trobbing, my golf has gone sour, and I haven't got my snow tires off yet.

In short, it's a typical day of my summer holidays. It's the difference between the beautiful illusion and the sordid reality.

For the few school teachers who are not taking a summer course, or marking papers, the two long, golden months of summer stretch ahead like a glimpse of paradise.

And for a few, they are pretty close to it. These are the unmarried ones who don't have a home to maintain, and have saved all year. They simply close the apartment, pick up their tickets, and head for Utopia.

And even the rest of us make plans. Oh, how we make plans. I did it again this year, and on paper, it's beautiful.

Up early, stroll about the ranch, pulling a weed here and there, listening to the birdies, watching the squirrels at play, smelling the summer morn.

Breakfast. The works. Fresh strawberries, bacon and eggs, pot of coffee.

Then to work. Nine till noon at the typewriter. Lunch. Game of golf. Take family to beach for swim. Home for leisurely drink and barbecued steak. Quiet hour in lawn chair with book. Bed. Then, up and at it again, fresh and fit.

By summer's end, a healthy, clear-eyed constitution, a book ready for the publisher, and the estate looking like something out of a women's magazine.

That's the illusion. It's about as much like the reality as the Venus de Milo is like an orang-outang.

There are several flies in the soup. I won't even mention such things as bone laziness, the heat, and 140 chores a day my wife dreams up.

One of the big ones is the late movie. All winter, there's no time to watch them, I know. It's stupid. You might as well be on junk or booze. But who can pass up Cagney and Cooper and Bogart in their prime?

Result: instead of a clear-eyed attack on breakfast and typewriter at nine, there's a bleary-eyed retreat from both, at eleven.

Second big difficulty is people. Here's a typical day. In fact, it happened this week. Old friends, with children, dropped in at 10 a.m., on their way through town. Stayed for lunch, natch. At 1.15, students arrive for last-minute help with yearbook. Stayed till 3.00. At 4.00, had to sally forth to launching party for new lawn umbrella, in friend's back yard. Home at 6.30. At 8.00, twelve miles to visit friends at beach cottage. Yak, yak. Home at 1.30 a.m.

But I'm not really complaining. I did get up early this morning, for the first time this summer. The birds are singing in the trees, and one flicker is bathing under the sprinkler. The squirrels are frolicking. The oaks and the elms and the maples are looking down at me benevolently. The sun is shining. The sky is blue. And my feet are drying out.

It beats hell out of being dead and buried.

Pensions and Politics

The three most vital pieces of legislation confronting Canada today will not be acted on until the fall because of Parliament's determination to have an 11-week holiday.

The nation's 265 MPs, who are paid $18,000 a year, met for only 117 days, and they won't be back in Ottawa until Oct. 5.

Voters would not have grumbled at a short recess, but the long break parliamentarians have taken has left the country more exasperated than ever.

The Pearson government's decision to close down the House of Commons at this time was particularly galling in view of the stalling on such important matters as the Medicare bill, the new supplementary pensions legislation, and amendments to the Bank Act.

Along with the Munsinger caper, the George Victor Spencer tragedy and the Seven Days squabble, Parliament did give attention to such things as redistribution of House seats and plans to reorganize the federal bureaucracy.

As well, the House approved a $50 million rural development fund, ear-marked a similar sum for development in the Atlantic provinces, set up the Science Council of Canada, launched the Company of Young Canadians and adopted a policy of bilingualism for top civil service jobs.

Parliament also received the government's white paper on broadcasting, strengthening the Board of Broadcast Governors as the controlling body of Canadian radio and TV.

Then, it gave first reading to the Bank Act, Medicare, and heard the government's plans for supplemental old age pensions before running for cover.

Delay on the Medicare bill is understandable in view of federal-provincial cooperation in this sphere. And recent elections — especially the defeat of the Liberals in Quebec — have further muddied the picture. Ottawa insists on universal, compulsory schemes. Alberta objects on principle, and the new Quebec regime says it can't possibly meet the Jan. 1 target date. A new conference of provincial health ministers will have to be held first.

There is less excuse — other than political expediency — for the delay in the Bank Act legislation. Finance minister Sharp is determined to permit the banks to raise their basic interest rates from six to seven per cent. and later, remove the ceiling entirely. In the long run, so the Finance minister reasons, this will make money easier to obtain but both New Democrats and many Liberals oppose the idea.

The worse example of foot-dragging, however, came on supplementary pensions, stalled by procedural haggling during the last few days of the session.

Health minister Allan MacEachen, to his credit, had been anxious to put the plan into the legislative hopper. He blamed delay on the Conservative opposition, but the fact that many Liberals were lukewarm to the scheme also contributed to the delay.

For all that, the plan leaves much to be desired. It avoids a universal boost in the $75 federal pension for those over 69 (the age level drops to 68 next year) by offering assistance to those of the one million pensioners whose incomes are below $105 a month. Presented as a guaranteed minimum annual income, it nevertheless preserves the odious means test which is not only demeaning to pensioners, but costly to administer.

The government's position is that this isn't really a means test; that it is stop-gap legislation to assist those too old to participate in the Canada Pension Plan; and that the minimum income aspect will keep down the cost. It will cost $225 million next year but this will decline as more people come under the CPP.

While it is true that taxes are high and there is a limit to government spending, Canada can afford at this time an adequate pension for those older citizens whose working lives spanned the hard years when the country did not enjoy the private and government security programs available to today's workers.

From the four seasons to church matters with local history and politics added

"Sunnyacres Sketches"

By Margaret Cook

The eternal change of the seasons — how fascinating! I heard a man say not long ago that he could never live where there were no variations of season. Neither could I. Each one has its charm. If one did not have to shovel the stuff, think how magic would be the snow. And those few breath-taking days of spring, with the glory of the daffodils. And of course, the pageant of colors in the autumn. From summer, we salute all these things, while enjoying the present. Up here, while the days may be hot, the nights are always cool, the trees etched against the blue-black sky, and the fire-flies like jewels in motion. No whippoorwills yet around this district, although I note our fellow-columnist hears them.

The flowers are bright and abundant at Sunnyacres, including a Centennial Rose just now fading. Truly a magnificent rose. Several fringed poppies are flaunting, their origin a mystery. We think the seeds must have been lying in the earth for many years and were disinterred by the head of the house with his little spade when he dug up the garden last fall. All the flowers have responded to the newly dug and enriched earth, the fox-glove are over five feet tall, as are the monkshood. The Mexican marigolds would have been, had not a malady overtaken them. Malady is not quite the right word, for the malady undoubtedly has four legs. Our brother-in-law says 'squirrels', but we incline to woodchucks. Anyway, some animal knocks the poor things over, and devours them; very aromatic are those big marigolds. If anyone has an answer to this visitation I wish they would let us know. We have already sprayed with a well-known and generally efficient chemical.

Youth, too, is flaunting. Why is it that the present youth has limbs like those of a young god, and manners like a pig? I'll tell you in one word, "Parents." Most parents find it easier to swim the current than against it, so if friend Ted slouches at table, is pert to his mother, smokes on the sly, swears, refuses to have his hair cut, so must Tom. To be different is to be outcast. Mother (father playing no part in family life except to sign cheques) wrings her hands, figuratively and sighs, "Well what can I do? All the other boys do it." As I have said before, "Wishbones instead of backbones". All this began in the country to the south, but bad manners spread like a stain. Only where the cloth is resistant, does the stain not spread. One piece of resistant fabric is the home-life of a French family of good class. We live in Suburbia next to a French doctor with three children; behind us is an English family with four children. Guess whose children are quiet, well-behaved, and courteous? You're right. The French ones. The others are a nuisance. I omitted to say the English father is attached to the college, so it is not a difference of social level. Perhaps, instead of regarding the French as a menace, we should recognize them as the saviors of North American civilization.

Here, our neighbors are seldom heard, and only occasionally seen, yet we know that did misfortune strike, they would all rally round. It's a wonderful feeling, and one almost totally unknown in the city or Suburbia. And speaking of neighbors, we salute belatedly Mr. Austin Kyle who, in mid-May had his eightieth birthday. What's more, he had a party in his honor. The Kyle family is one of the pioneer ones of the district, and the present head of the house universally liked and respected. With three small grandsons, it looks as if there would be Kyles about for another hundred years.

Although Canon Baugh is not of any pioneer family in this district, yet he has been on the scene for many years, so we are happy to report that on Sunday last a service of dedication was held at Holy Trinity for several bits of furnishings for the church, bought by friends in honor of his service to this parish, and to mark his recent retirement. This is a handsome little church, built I should think by some sacrifice on the part of the original parishioners. I still think it lacks stained glass windows. Anyone care to put one in, BEFORE he dies, instead of after? The church could shine on a sunny day like a box of jewels if it had beautiful windows. Yes, I know, there are other things and people who need our attention. But I have always sympathized with our Roman Catholic brethren who build what they consider beautiful, and imposing churches, so that the people may have some beauty in their lives. I am sure the poor, overworked French women in the country have never resented their ornate churches, but rather have sought them after a hard day, s an island of peace and color in a drab life.

* * *

We were able to read a little family history this past week, put together by the eldest son of a well-known local clan. We commend this to anyone interested in the history of this county. I think it would be fine if others followed the example of this man. We English-speaking people in Quebec are being brain-washed by the more aggressive and more loquacious French-speaking. Yes, of course, the French were in Quebec first, but they were notably bad colonizers. Good explorers, but poor homesteaders. In this district, homes were made, sometimes against almost incredible odds, by the Irish, just as St. Andrew's was made by the Scotch, as was Lachute. Even Montreal owes its growth, not to the French, but to the English-speaking merchant, and organizer. Some separatist has said that it will be easy to make Quebec independent, because the English are weak. Well, we are not, but we are lazy about asserting ourselves. That's why England has always lost battles and won wars. I hope history is not about to repeat itself. Did you ever think why that platitude is true? It's because men tend to stay in a rut, and repeat old mistakes.

* * *

Well, I seem to have wandered from horticulture to church matters, and to have come out in politics thinly disguised as history. As a publisher sturdily said to me this week, "You don't cut deeply enough, but you do show a slice of life." So, here's a slice, and I hope the next one will be thicker.

Nature Lore

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Summer is a comin' in!" so goes the old song — and the holiday season is a wonderful time to encourage a child's interest in nature lore. What mother has not listened to questions like these:

"See the big white clouds like giant cream puffs. What kind are they?" . . "Listen to that bird whistling two long notes and then several short notes. Do you know his name?"

The important thing in a Nature Lore hobby of any kind is for a parent to stop and share a young child's enthusiasm in the discovery of a flower, a butterfly, a frog, or whatever arouses his interest, at the time he comes running to tell of his new "find." A boy or a girl who is "put off" with no response on a parent's part, or with a promise of help at some future time, is disappointed and discouraged. To a child, there is no time like the present! Ignorance need be no hinderance. Parent and child can seek the information they wish together in a good guide or reliable handbook. There are many different types of Nature Lore projects but the following are popular with boys and girls because they are linked with a child's love of activity. Most of them are carried out in the open air, but some of them, such as drawing an animated map, can be fitted into the bedtime hour or into a long rainy day.

A tadpole aquarium is an excellent venture. Use a large glass bowl, a big glass fruit jar, or even a wash tub, and build up a miniature aquarium with sand, stones, and green water plants. Collect some frog eggs and catch a few tiny tadpoles. Put them into their new home, change the water once a week, feed the tadpoles (but don't stuff them). They like oatmeal or cornflakes — and just watch their legs grow and their tails disappear!

Make an animated calendar for either July or August. Get a large sheet of white cardboard. Rule it off like a page of a calendar, placing the name of the month, and the names of the days on the top and small figures of the numbers of the days in the upper right hand corner of each square. Have someone in the family assigned for each day in turn, who will fill in the square for that day with a small drawing, colored with crayon, or some fascinating Nature Lore Discovery which has just been made — a magnificent clump of ostrich fern beside the trail, a pitcher plant near a swamp, a loon's nest on an island. Have the animated Calendar placed back on the wall with its new drawing at bed time each night (with a little praise for the picture drawn by that day's artist!)

Make a special study of the types of clouds and of the weather. Practice forecasting the weather and work out the meaning of such weather signs as a ring around the moon, the sun "drawing water," a mackerel sky, or the wind shifting to the East.

"My heart leaps up when I behold a rainbow in the sky." Who has not echoed Wordsworth's lines? A rainbow is something not to miss! Next time the sun comes out, when it has been raining, turn your back to the sun and look for a rainbow. See if you can distinguish all seven of its colors. Explain to a child how the sun's rays falling on the drops of rain are bent and reflected different degrees and thus produce a rainbow.

An interest in Nature Lore can begin very early and last all through life. Share this happy leisure time activity with your child!

Newspapers are the only medium where people shop the ads.

Consumer Comment

By Betty Lindsay for C.A.C. (Que.)

At times we tend to think that we are brain-washed in the matter of the "complexity" of our society, but after attending three days of meetings and discussions, listening to very knowledgeable speakers from Business, Universities, even the Economic Council of Canada, it does seem that satisfying the needs — or desires — of today's consumer is not a simple matter. This all took place at CAC's National Annual Meeting in Toronto.

The CAC report on Consumer Problems was a particularly good one — given by Miss Glenora Pearce, the new National President. In it she presented a "guideline" for consumers, whether members of CAC or not, in handling their complaints and requests for information, etc., as follows: — "A good consumer will approach the retailer or manufacturer personally or by letter; a good consumer will take his problem to the manager, the buyer, or the person in charge. (CAC enters the picture if the consumer fails to get satisfaction from a personal compaign); a good consumer will not neglect to give a compliment when it is due; a good consumer who finds it necessary to report a problem to CAC will provide the following information: 1. The complete name of the product, manufacturer, and address. 2. The size, price, quality, and/or grade. 3. Store where purchased, address, and date. 4. If canned or packaged, the code number from the can or wrapper. 5. The complaint and how it has been handled thus far.

A good consumer adopts a constructive attitude when registering a problem (manufacturers say this approach is the most effective one).

The Consumers' Association certainly does not know, or pretend to know, all the answers. However, CAC does have, for the asking, information service available from Universities, Government Departments, Research Councils, Better Business Bureaus, Consumer Unions in other countries, and Industry. 'An informed consumer is a protected consumer' — we are all consumers and we can speak in a single voice, even with our diversified needs, by being members of CAC."

To become a member (for one year) and receive "The Canadian Consumer", send $3.00 to Consumers' Association of Canada (Que.), 33 Ballantyne Ave. S., Montreal 28, Que.

Child's pets — and health

A healthy child is a happy one and the pets that make up his world of playmates should also be in good health.

One way for you to make sure that the newly purchased cat or dog you give to your bright-eyed moppet is healthy, is to bring the pet to a veterinarian. His expert eyes can quickly tell if your pet is free from disease, including ringworm.

That solves part of your problems, but not all. Don't forget these animals have their own friends. How clean are those stray pets that mingle with your children? Certainly not as clean as your cute pets. That's for sure. There's always something to worry about!

Put that worry aside. Modern medical research has come up with some simple, and guaranteed effective, remedies. They offer quick protection from the ringworm infections that so often affect animals and which can be transmitted to your children and to you. Consult your doctor.

A housewife's 'exercise in ingenuity'

An exercise in ingenuity is practiced in many home economics courses. It endeavors to show the ability of a student to prepare an appetizing meal from a few seemingly unrelated odds and ends of food in a refrigerator and supply cupboard. . .

"What's so remarkable about that?" some homemakers will immediately ask. "I am frequently faced with that problem." How true! Probably what is now many a family favorite, has been produced under just such circumstances. The following recipe is an example. It has been "husband approved" by the Poultry Products Institute, but was originated when a homemaker found she had some cooked chicken, canned cream style corn and green beans, green pepper strips and half a cup of blue cheese dip all left after a supper party. With the addition of some onion, a very delicious main course (of 3 servings) was evolved, which she called, rather obviously —

After-The-Party Chicken Dish

1½ Cups cooked chicken in good-sized chunks, 1 cup cream style corn, 1 to 2 small onions thinly sliced, ¾ cup ¼" to ½" slices green pepper (about ½ a pepper), 1 cup cooked green beans (frozen, canned or fresh), ½ cup left over blue cheese dip (made from package mix and milk), ½ to 1 tablespoon flour (optional).

Place chicken chunks in bottom of 1 quart casserole or baking dish. Mix corn and flour if corn is very runny. Spread evenly over chicken. Arrange thinly sliced onion, green pepper strips and drained beans in layers over corn. Spead blue cheese mix evenly on top. Cover and bake 30 to 40 minutes in moderate oven 350°F. until bubbling hot. Uncover dish for last 10 minutes if it seems too moist in consistency.

This recipe is easily doubled to 6 to 7 servings. If 20 ounce cans of cream style corn and green beans are used, they will give approximately ½ to ¾ cup more of vegetable than if two 15 ounce cans are used.

A closer look at food prices

Most housewives think food prices are high. But a U.S. study shows that during the past 15 years food prices have risen less than most other consumer items in the cost-of-living index. The average for all items was an increase of 35%. Food moved up 28%, rent increased 50%, and medical care jumped 77%.

"Higher meat prices have been particularly noticeable to the consumer," says the National Live Stock and Meat Board in Chicago, "because they moved up this winter and last fall from a previously extremely low level. Naturally the consumer is going to compare the price of meat this week with last week because meat is something which is purchased regularly, unlike television sets, automobiles, hospital care, etc. It would be unfair to expect consumers to remember that the period of low meat prices was itself preceded by a period of higher prices which were closer to today's price levels."

The Meat Board notes that while meat prices have moved up some 20% since 1950, average weekly earnings have advanced by more than 80%. A small portion of the take-home pay now buys more meat than it used to. To many shoppers, the total food bill sometimes seems higher than it really is because 20% of the average grocery bill is for "non-food" items such as toothpaste, paper products, light bulbs, soap, mops, magazines, cosmetics, razor-blades, tobacco products, even socks and shirts.

Chocolate - Coconut Balls

A cookie worth raiding for — that's an ideal description of these Chocolate-Coconut Cookies. A meld of chocolate and coconut, these little rounds of goodness are ideal with ice cream, milk pudding or fresh fruit cups. But, best of all, they make wonderful loot for cookie jar raids.

A cookie worth raiding for!

The hand that raids the cookie jar can be any age from Junior to Grandpa. Cookie addicts know no age and keep no regular hours for cookies are the one type of sweet beloved by young and old alike.

We never outgrow that yen for a home-made cookie. In all seasons, at all hours of the day, cookies "hit the spot". It's a wise mother who caters to the cookie pangs of her family for the hours spent making cookies are hours which pay future dividends when the family are grown and away and the six-footer son returns to raid again the cookie jar he once had to stand on a chair to reach.

Here's a recipe worthy of the cookie collection of any homemaker. A meld of chocolate and coconut, these rich and tasty cookies are crisp on the outside and temptingly moist in the centre. The dough is shaped into little round balls before baking and after the cookies have cooled, they are rolled in icing sugar.

Serve them with ice-cream, milk pudding or fresh fruit cups for truly scrumptious desserts. But be warned, most of the four dozen yield will disappear in raids on the cookie jar!

Chocolate-coconut Cookies

2 Ounces (2 squares) semi-sweet chocolate; ½ cup butter; ¾ cup granulated sugar; 1½ cups once-sifted all-purpose flour; 1½ teaspoons baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 cup dessicated coconut; 1 egg; ½ teaspoon vanilla and icing sugar. Yield — about 4 dozen.

Preheat oven to (350 deg. F.) moderate. Grease cookies sheets. Melt chocolate and butter together in top of double boiler; add granulated sugar and stir well. Remove from heat.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Mix in coconut. Beat egg until thick and light, add vanilla. Add cooled chocolate mixture part at a time, beating well after each addition. Add dry ingredients and combine well — dough should be stiff. Roll dough into small balls about 1 inch in diameter. Place on cookie sheets. Bake about 12 minutes. Cool on cake racks. Roll cooled cookies in icing sugar, coating them thoroughly.

The Lachute Watchman

Canned fruit can help you make plain and fancy summer desserts that need little cooking and come to the table pleasantly chilled.

One is a variation of English tipsy cake. For it you need one 9-inch sponge cake, prepared pudding mix, lemon, chocolate or butterscotch, 1 cup whipping cream, 3 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon almond flavoring, peach slices, toasted whole and slivered almonds.

Whip the cream, add sugar and almond flavoring. Prepare pudding mix according to package directions. Cut sponge cake in halves and spread the bottom layer with half the pudding mix.

Replace the top half of the cake and frost sides with whipped cream high enough to make a collar around the top. On top, place the remainder of the pudding and garnish with peach slices and whole toasted almonds. Sprinkle the sides with slivered almonds and chill.

With Ice Cream

To make a pear Helene you need two drained, chilled pear halves for each serving. Place them, stem end up, in a sherbet glass or bowl. Put a scoop of vanilla ice cream between the halves and add chocolate syrup.

If you want to make your own chocolate syrup, you do have to do some cooking. For 12 servings you need 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, 1 cup water, 2 cups sugar, dash of salt, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 2 tablespoons butter.

Cut the chocolate into pieces and stir over low heat in water until dissolved thick and smooth. Add sugar and salt. Stir until dissolved. Boil 3 minutes, add vanilla and butter. Serve hot or cold. You may store it in a covered jar in the refrigerator and reheat it.

Quick Melba

A fast version of peach melba can be made by putting a slice of raspberry jelly roll on a plate, topping it with a drained, chilled peach half and then with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

Over that you pour a Melba sauce. For each serving heat ¼ cup raspberry jam, ¼ teaspoon lemon juice and strain to remove the seeds.

For a fruit cocktail mold you need two 15-ounce cans of fruit cocktail, 1½ cups liquid, 1 envelope gelatine, ¼ cup sugar, 2 eggs beaten, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, ¼ cup lemon juice, ½ pint whipping cream.

Drain fruit cocktail. Measure syrup and add water to make 1½ cups. Combine this with gelatine, sugar and beaten eggs. Heat, stirring constantly, until mixture coats a metal spoon. Chill until partially set. Add lemon rind, juice and stiffly beaten whipping cream, blending well. Fold in drained fruit cocktail. Turn into 9 by 5" loaf pan or 5-inch cup-mould. Chill until firm.

Flowering hedges for beautiful gardens

By A. R. Buckley,
Plant Research Institute,
Ottawa

The phrase 'hedge of flowers' conjures up in one's imagination such infinite beauty as to be almost indescribable. Thoughts always turn to lavish illustrations of exquisite well-formed rich red roses in great abundance throughout the entire length of the hedge and extending from the topmost branch to the lowest twig.

In most of Canada such a delightful rose hedge must remain a dream insofar as a lasting abundance of perfectly formed flowers from top to bottom is concerned. We can plant rose hedges that will give a good number of roses at the top or a profusion all over the plants for a week or so but never for an extended period.

There are many other types of flowering hedges, however, that will give at least one good show of flowers each year, and some that have fruits and showy autumn foliage as well as flowers.

To produce hedges that flower we must sacrifice trim, neat hedges for informal spreading types that are allowed to have a wide spread.

Most flowering hedges bear their blossoms on wood produced the previous year. This wood, of course, must not be cut off before flowering commences. Do your trimming after the hedge has flowered. Cut off with pruning shears sufficient wood to prevent the shrub from growing out of bounds and yet at the same time to allow it to grow with a fairly uniform line. The branches should be cut below the laterals that have bloomed but above the point at which the new growth has started for this new wood will produce flowers the next year. The bridal wreath spirea (Spiraea vanhouttei) serves as a good example. As soon as it flowers or just before flowering, it produces new shoots at the base or halfway down the flowering branches. Many of these shoots should be trained to give long cascades of bloom throughout the whole length of the hedge.

Lilacs and shrub roses are best pruned every second year. Pink spirea (Spiraea bumalda froebelii), which makes a good dwarf informal hedge, needs little pruning except for cutting off the dead blooms in June so that a second crop will be produced in September.

An informal hedge is planted in the same way as a formal type except that the plants may be spaced farther apart. The spirea, bush honeysuckle and lilac plants may be spaced three or four feet apart to allow for free spread. Except for early thinning of the wood when planting, no more pruning than that described earlier for mature plants is necessary.

The following plants are the ones I consider to make the best formal flowering hedges in most of Canada. They are not necessarily placed in order of preference.

Bush Honeysuckle (Lonicera tatarica varieties). — In deep rose (Zabel's, Arnold Red, Hack's Red, Crimsonia) or in a range of colors if they are grown from seed. They are easy to grow, even in poor soil.

Common Mock orange (Philadelphus coronarius). — The common mock orange is the best for this purpose since it has arching branches and makes a thick, compact hedge covered in June with sweetly fragrant flowers. The golden mock-orange is similar but has yellow leaves and fewer flowers.

Bridal Wreath Spirea (Spiraea vanhouttei). — The best flowering hedge of all, it is covered in spring with wands of white blossoms that bend and arch to the ground in a graceful fashion. Should be pruned as soon as the flowers fade but not earlier.

Korean Spirea (Spiraea trichocarpa). — Similar to the preceding but hardier in more northerly areas.

Three-lobed Spirea (Spiraea trilobata). — Very much like the bridal wreath spirea but doesn't grow as tall. Swan Lake is a more refined variety of this species.

Pink Spirea (Spiraea bumalda froebelii). — Makes a beautiful informal hedge in very light soils. The only pruning necessary is the removal of the old dead flowers as soon as they turn brownish. If this is done promptly a new crop of flowers will be produced in September. In spring the leaves of this beautiful shrub are a deep rose-pink.

Hungarian Lilac (Syringa josikaea). — Is useful as a large informal hedge or screen, growing ten feet high, with myriads of lavender-lilac flowers produced in May and large leaves that give ample screening. The Japanese tree lilac (Syringa amurensis 'Japonica') gives the same effect and has more interesting cherry-like bark.

Common Snowball (Viburnum opulus 'Roseum'). — Makes a very showy flowering hedge, but spraying must be done when the leaves are the size of a quarter, otherwise the flowers will be malformed by aphis.

Nanking Cherry (Prunus tomentosa). — A superb little cherry that produces pink flowers in profusion and has heavily textured foliage. In fall it has abundant sweet cherrylike fruits.

Shrubby Potentilla (Potentilla fruticosa varieties). — All varieties of this shrub will make neat small informal hedges that bloom from May to September. Gold Dish and Snowflake are two very good varieties of this "buttercup" shrub.

THE TIMID ONE. The world's a strange and frightening place, indeed, if you happen to be a kitten. When this little bundle of fluff saw a grey beastie in the shape of a mouse scurry across the kitchen floor, who could blame it for taking cover behind a broom?

Sudden death of respected resident

The community was shocked to hear of the sudden death on Saturday last of Mr. Amedee Vaillancourt Sr., who passed away quietly while asleep. Mr. Vaillancourt had reached the age of 79 and apart from some occasional indispositions had been active up to the eve of his decease. He was predeceased by his wife, the late Mable Allan, by some four years. Left to mourn his passing are his three sons, Allan, Amedee, Jr., and Marcil, all of Morin Heights.

Mr. Vaillancourt came to Morin in 1939 and during the intervening years had built up a modern grocery business and was highly respected by all who came in contact with him. His three sons now carry on the business, one of the most progressive in the area.

Vacation Bible School held in Arundel, Weir

During the week of July 11 to 15, a Church Vacation School was held in Arundel United Church in a joint effort by the United and Anglican Churches. Classes ran from 9.30 to 11.45 each morning. Approximately forty children attended from Arundel and Weir.

Each day began with a devotional service conducted by Mr. Saklikar. The children were then grouped according to age, and the class teachers took over: — Mrs. Henderson, kindergarten and pro-school; Miss Mary Cooke and Miss Patricia Graham, primary; Mr. Charles Johnston, junior; Mrs. Frank Danis and Mrs. David Jones, music (mainly with the primary and junior classes); Miss Janice Swail and Mrs. Douglas Williams, and the music teachers served light refreshments at recess time.

The Church Vacation School was brought to a happy conclusion by the visit on Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Saklikar, originally of India, who appeared in their native clothes, showed many items from their home country, and in the final devotions, told of the hymn written by a fellow Indian Christian.

"One who is all unfit to count,
As scholar in Thy School;
Thou of Thy love last named a friend,
O Kindness Wonderful!"

Sincere thanks is, hereby, expressed to all who assisted in any way with the Church Vacation School, and particularly to Mr. Warrington who transported all the children attending from Weir village, and to the United Church Board for the use of their hall and facilities.

A larger Church Vacation School, extending into a longer period, is anticipated for 1967, with corporate organization for the same planned early in the year.
