OUR COUNTY EXHIBITION.

The attendance and number of exhibits exceeded former years, which fact speaks well for our County. The day was all that could have been desired, and every thing passed off pleasantly. The speeches of our members of Parliament, the Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, and Wm. Oakes, Esq., were appropriate and designed to encourage all classes of exhibitors. As also was the speech of Richard Byrnes, Esq., from Manitoba, who was formerly an active member of the Society in this County. We regard it as a pity that more people are not favored by listening to the speeches at these Agricultural Shows. If there could be some change made so that all the farmers, with their wives and young people who attend the Exhibition, could listen to the speeches, it would extend the interest very materially. Another suggestion which we would make for the general welfare of the Society is, that exhibitors should be obliged to have their exhibits in and ready for the judges by 10 o'clock in the forenoon, so that the business of a very busy day would not be detained, waiting for the judges to pass round to allot the awards. Those who were not ready by that hour to be excluded from having their articles compete. This would soon bring them to time. As it is now some have their cattle and other exhibits in place by nine o'clock, while others, and some prominent members too, allow mid-day to come before their articles are ready for the judges. This is not just, practical, nor in the interest of the exhibition. The Montreal Committee have seen this to their loss and chagrin, and no doubt will learn a lesson from its practice this year. The judges of course cannot please every body, but we believe their awards were generally satisfactory this year. The prize list will be found in another column, for which we are indebted to G. J. Walker, Esq., the obliging Secretary, and will be looked at with great interest. Judging from the long and continuous procession of people that passed through Lachute on the morning of the exhibition, we think the majority of the people had to travel several miles out of the way to reach the place of exhibition, and wonder why the Society does not secure a permanent place for their County Agricultural Show. This being a delicate point, however, we will not say further upon it now.

THE HARVEST OF 1882.

We are indebted to the Grand Trunk Railway Co. for a complete list of the Harvest of 1882, showing the quantities of various grains, fruits and vegetables grown at over 300 different points along their line of road. A synopsis of these returns, compared with those of the three preceding years, gives the following results:

HEROES OF THE PLAINS.

In American history there are no more interesting figures than the Heroes of the border. Bold, dashing, adventurous and patriotic; loyal to friends, to country and to the interests of society, their work was singularly effective in the advancement of western civilization. With seeming recklessness, their efforts were in the interest of law and order, and the people owe them a debt of gratitude they do not soon forget. Their page in history is as fascinating as it is heroic, and there is a peculiar pleasure in reading the narrative of their wonderful exploits. Among those whose careers were singularly adventurous, are Kit Carson, Wild Bill, Buffalo Bill, Capt. Jack, Texas Jack, California Joe, Capt. Jack and others, whose achievements have made them justly and widely famous. They have a warm place in the hearts of the people, and a prominent one in their admiration. It is appropriate that their achievements should be recorded, and we unite with pleasure the forwarding of a new book from the press of N. D. Thompson & Co., New York and St. Louis, called "The Heroes of the Plains," covering the ground of border history. It is profusely illustrated with 100 engravings and 10 colored lithographs plates, and is sold by subscription through canvassing agents, and presents an opportunity to agents to make money especially inviting. We advertise it in another column.

ST. ANDREWS CONCERT AND BALL.

(Reported for THE WATCHMAN.)

The inauguration of the new Town Hall at St. Andrews was celebrated last Friday evening by a Grand Promenade Concert. The Hall was brilliantly illuminated by a magnificent chandelier of twelve lights, manufactured specially for the Hall by Mr. F. R. Cole of Notre Dame St., Montreal. It is a beautiful specimen of handy-craft and does great credit to the manufacturer, both in design and finish. The audience was large and appreciative, the programme was carefully selected, and the entertainment was of a high order, and was fully enjoyed by all who were fortunate enough to be present. The performance was commenced by a Piano Duet from the opera of Lucia di Lammermoor, performed with fine effect by Miss E. Robertson and Miss Simpson. Then followed the song of "Auld Robin Gray," by Miss Barron of Lachute, who was received with great applause. Miss Barron has a fine well cultivated voice, coupled with a modest and refined manner which wins the regard of an audience at once. Mr. Dwyer then sang a comic song, "From his self possession and style of acting, no one would have looked upon his performance as that of an amateur, but rather as the overflowing humor of one familiar with the histrionic boards. Mr. Dwyer possesses many qualifications which will make him an attractive actor on the stage, at any time he may think "there is money in it." George Bury, of Montreal, executed on the Flutina a variety of Scotch airs. Mr. Bury is a perfect master of this instrument; his manipulation is fine, of wide range, and as will be made manifest by the most eloquent music. Mr. J. B. Abbott was on the bill for the song of "The Queen's Letter," as he did not appear it was stated that the gentleman had been detained in Montreal by an imperative professional engagement; his place was however well filled by Mr. Coulson of the city, who much delighted the assembly by the artistic manner he sang the song. The first part of the programme was concluded by Mr. Smith, who sang several Plantation songs, accompanying himself on the banjo. Mr. Smith's rendition of Negro peculiarities was very natural, and kept the audience convulsed with laughter during the whole of his performance. An intermission then took place.

The second part of the programme was opened by Miss L. Harrington reciting a Piano Solo with much finish of execution, indicating the great care she has taken to become an accomplished performer on this instrument. "Deep in my heart," was sung by Miss O'Brien, of Montreal, most sweetly, and was encored. Miss O'Brien is a possessor of a sweet, clear, bright soprano voice. She was dressed with great taste and charm all by her exquisite manner and fine vocal powers. Mr. Henry Beattie then sang, "Alone where art thou," in true art style. Mr. Beattie has a fine voice, which he has cultivated with care, and which is entirely under his control; he is undoubtedly one of the finest amateur vocalists in Montreal. Mr. McIntyre accompanied him on the Piano. In the accompaniment, and also in the Scotch airs which she played during the evening, Mrs. McIntyre fully demonstrated that she is a highly educated musician, and thoroughly acquainted with this grand instrument. Mr. Herbert Simpson, who is a great favorite in St. Andrews, sang the song of the "King and Beggar Maid." Mr. Simpson has a very promising voice for one of his age, and with cultivation he can make it capable of rendering any music with excellent effect. His sister played the accompaniment on the Piano in her usual graceful and finished manner. Miss O'Brien and Miss Barron, each sang another song, and were much applauded. Mr. Smith gave further evidence of his ability to amuse the audience by Negro melody and Banjo playing; while Mr. Dwyer recited with good comic effect, the story of Sour Krout manufacturing. During the evening Miss M. Robertson and Mr. Coulson sang a duet; one was also sang by Miss M. and E. Robertson, both were fully appreciated by the audience, for they were well rendered. The Concert was concluded by the singing, with hearty enthusiasm, of God save the Queen. The seats were then renewed, and dancing was commenced and continued till the early hours of the morning. There were present amongst others, at the Concert, Mr. E. Jones, chairman of the committee of arrangements, Mr. Geo. Simpson and family, Mr. Barron and family, Mr. and Mrs. St. Denis, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Beattie, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Wales, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. E. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barclay, Mrs. J. A. N. McKay, Mrs. Dr. L'Oiseau, Dr. Robertson, Mr. Daniel McMartin, Mr. Davis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wanless and daughter, Mrs. McIntosh, Mrs. McIntyre and two daughters, Mr. J. D. Armstrong of Montreal, Miss Wall, Mr. Edward Brossin, Miss Wells, Misses Meikles and Mr. Brophy of Lachute, Mr. Wm. Cushing of Montreal. Much credit is due to the committee of arrangements for the feast with which the Hall was decorated, and the systematic regularity with which the whole affair was conducted. The Piano, a very fine one, was kindly loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Abbott.

Narcise Bonenfant, foreman of the G. T. R. of St. Michael ballast pit, St. Remi, Que., counted sodas on the morning of the 25th by taking strychnine when going to his work. He died in about forty-five minutes after he took the dose. He was a young man about 24 years of age and in pretty good circumstances. No cause can be attributed to his making an end to himself. He leaves a wife and two children.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

Following up our article of last week on Forestry we would now draw attention to horticulture and fruit growing in this section, with a view of encouraging those who have taken some pains in planting, and whose efforts have, we believe, been more successful during the past year than ever before. We have written several articles on this subject, and published them in hopes they would lead to the formation of a Horticultural Society in this country. We know several persons who are anxious to give a helping hand if others would join in the undertaking. We have just received from the Montreal Horticultural Society their seventh annual report, together with an elaborate map of the Dominion, showing the northern limit of forest trees, as far west as the Rockies. As tree planting is becoming a very important industry, we would call the attention of all persons, whether young or old, to the admirable report, which any one can get by applying to H. S. Evans, Esq., the secretary of the society, Montreal. Our country, of course, comes within the limit, not only of the varied forest trees, but also of fruit trees, and if a country horticultural society were formed in connection with which a fruit growers' association was combined, it would be the means of an intelligent commingling of ideas and experiences, which would be found exceedingly interesting and profitable. We were much pleased at the speech made at our Agricultural show at St. Philippe by W. Owens, Esq., M. P., on this subject, and hope to see the hints he threw out on that occasion carried out by a large number of our people. Trees, fruits and flowers ought to be attractive to all. Their culture would be found a most healthy occupation, and it would be telling a great many delicate people, both men and women, better health, livelier spirits and longer life, if they were not so much afraid of sowing their hands in the primitive and paradisaical work of the garden. If we glance at city suburban residences, what charming gardens do we behold, while in the country, where every facility is offered for such work, there is scarcely to be found a garden worth looking at, except it may be a little plot in front of a few residences. Fruits can be raised in abundance with but little attention, provided that attention is given at the right time. We enjoyed ripe grapes this year at the table of Mr. Lachute on the 16th of September, taken from his own garden at Lachute. They were the Beaconsfield variety, and from what we hear many others have had plenty of grapes and other small fruits during the last few years. It will repay any one to pursue the seventh report of the Montreal Horticultural Society, and witness the rapid progress that is being made in this province in fruits, trees and flowers.

To the Editor of THE WATCHMAN.

DEAR SIR:—Your article on "Forestry" last week was very opportune. There are three things which you should urge upon the Government. First, the surveying and setting out of tracts of timbered lands, next to be reserved for settlement, second, the reservation of a certain portion of every hundred acres conceded to settlers, to be retained and kept forever in timber; and thirdly, the imposition of an export duty on all squared and sided timber.

I enclose for the information of your readers the Constitution of the "Forestry Association of the Province of Quebec," and the names of the officers for 1882-3.

Yours truly,
 L. LACHUTE.

Calumet, 17th Oct. 1882.

THE CONSTITUTION.

1st. The name of this Association is the Forestry Association of the Province of Quebec, Canada.

2nd. The object of this Association is to secure the efficient protection and proper management of our standing forests, to promote the re-wooding of denuded districts, and to encourage the selection and cultivation of the most valuable kinds of forest trees that will suit our climate and circumstances.

3rd. Every member of this Association who owns land fit for the purpose must undertake, as his contribution, to sow or plant, or get planted, annually at least 25 forest trees, to give them proper care and to send at the time appointed a report of the operations to the Secretary.

4th. The contribution of members who are not so circumstanced as to be able to cultivate forest trees, will be $2 a year, to be applied to the purpose of the Association.

5th. It shall be the object of the Association to have representative members or branch societies in every municipality in the Province.

6th. The officers and delegates of the American Forestry Congress shall be ex-officio members of this Association.

7th. The direction of the Association is entrusted to a Council composed as follows: Honorary President, President, two Vice-Presidents, a Recording Secretary, a Treasurer, and sixteen members. The Council will appoint a General Committee, whose duty it shall be to make the Forests of the Province a model of forestry, and to take the lead in Forestry, who will be notified of the meetings of the Council, will have the right of attending them, and to take part in all the proceedings.

9th. Apart from the general meetings which may be summoned from time to time by the Council, there will be an annual meeting at such time and place as the General Council may decide, and the results of the operations of the year will be laid before that meeting and a new Council elected.

OUR EUROPEAN LETTER.

[From our regular Correspondent]

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 2, 1882.

Another theatre has been destroyed by fire, but fortunately, without loss of life, the Philharmonic not having caught fire until some time after the audience had departed. Since fires in theatres have become so much discredited, our readers will be pleased to hear that three wise men of Vienna claim to have invented a theatre absolutely proof against fire. These gentlemen are Franz Roth, architect, Hans Kautsky, theatrical decorator, and Robert Gevinner, engineer. Their plans are now being exhibited in Vienna, and great interest is taken in them by the Viennese, a decidedly play-going people. The plan adopted is to erect the theatre entirely with stone and iron; no wood at all is to enter into the construction except for the lining of the stage. The scenery is to be set beforehand, and is to be raised to its place when required by hydraulic power. The exits are to be so numerous as to prevent all chance of a panic or crush, and in the event of an escape of gas, should gas be used, there are methods of giving instant ventilation. No gas, however, is to be used for footlights or stage. The electric light is employed for those purposes. Four staircases are to give means of exit directly to the street. The name to the theatre is already given, it is the "Asphaleia."

There is a hope at last that the stern voice of justice will at length be heard even in Ireland. The ten men accused of the wholesale murder of the Joyce family were on Wednesday committed for trial. A special commission will be held on the 27th inst. to try the case, and it is anticipated that the crime inspired in the wild districts where the case was committed will lead to some important revelations.

Cetewayo is making rapid progress in his journey homeward. He was last heard of at Madeira in a robust state of health, consuming beef with an appetite worthy of a lion, and his native land is not altogether a satisfactory one. There are rumors of a possible revolt, but Cetewayo himself appears quite hopeful as to his restoration. He believes he has only to show himself to the Zulus to be again welcomed with open arms.

The town of Preston has been wonderfully gay this week celebrating the festival of the Guild. Nearly two hundred thousand visitors came into the town on Thursday. The streets were gaily illuminated, and there was a splendid costume ball attended by no less than fifteen hundred guests. The cost of the fest was so great that it is anticipated other manufacturing centres will follow the example of Preston, and introduce trade processions. If so it will be another revival of a medieval custom.

If for some little time we have been in the "dead" season, we are now entering upon those months of the year when much talk is wont to be made. We are quietly drifting into the "congress" and "autumnal" meetings and conferences, annual meetings and such like agreeable and not altogether useless occasions for much talking, dining, and general jollification, as each week becoming more numerous. Of these, the greatest—the annual meeting of the British Association—opened at Southampton last week, when Dr. Siemens, the President, delivered the inaugural address. But the British Association is only one among many. We have had the meetings of, amongst others, the British Medical Association, the Institution of Mechanical Engineers, the Pharmaceutical Society, and the British Archaeological Society, and there are very many important gatherings yet to come; the Trades' Union Congress, the Social Science Congress, and the annual meeting of the association of Chambers of Commerce, for instance. While it may be open to question whether much real benefit to the community accrues from such meetings, except perhaps in the case of the last named body, it may be ungenerously said of them, that they afford in most cases agreeable opportunities for interchange of cultivated opinion and for mutual observance of the courtesies of refined and intellectual life.

There is to be another Electric Exhibition in London next winter. An exhibition for the purpose of developing the economic and general application of electricity for daily requirements is to be held at the Royal Aquarium, Westminster, from the 1st of November to the 1st of March. The space allotted to each exhibitor will be so limited as to admit of a large number being represented.

PARIS LETTER.

Regular Correspondence.

PARIS, Oct. 2nd, 1882.

Mr. Stanley's passage through Paris, on his way to Brussels, has suddenly assumed the proportions of an event which is exciting the deepest interest in this country. You may remember that some years ago the eminent traveller discovered in the immediate vicinity of the Congo a well-watered and densely populated district, about one-third the size of France, and containing natural resources which rendered its acquisition extremely desirable. Mr. Stanley was greatly struck with the importance of this discovery, and he was eventually successful in eliciting the sympathies of the King of the Belgians in an enterprise which promised to prove exceedingly profitable. The International African Association was formed, a credit of several millions of francs was placed with a small band of Belgian officers at Mr. Stanley's disposal, and the party, after much preparation, set out for the new El Dorado. Meanwhile M. De Brazza, a gentleman of Italian origin, who, curious to relate, was naturalized a Frenchman in 1872, and, on the strength of a small grant of 100,000 francs allowed him by the French Parliament, already started with a few blacks for Stanley Pool, at the point where the Congo basin to be navigable is called.

De Brazza took the Congo route, which turned out to be the better and shorter one of the two, so that when Mr. Stanley arrived at Stanley Pool, he found, to his infinite disgust, that he had been forestalled, and that the conquests De Brazza had made, by virtue of his treaty with the local king, by virtue of which he claimed the territory, were claimed by the French, and the remainder placed under their protection. It is affirmed here that Mr. Stanley attempted to overawe the natives by a military demonstration, but that they remained firm, hoisted the tricolor, and ordered him off the ground. Some time after the occurrence of this episode, M. De Brazza returned to France for the purpose of obtaining the ratification of his treaty with the king of the Batekes, which, I may add, was signed on Oct. 3rd, 1880. He made his appearance in June, but nothing has yet been settled. On the other hand, although definitely known here respecting the precise object of Mr. Stanley's journey to Brussels, the suspicion is entertained that he may leave no stone unturned in the effort to secure this debatable land for the company which he represents. The Ducleux Cabinet is, therefore, urged to ratify the treaty without a moment's delay. Whether it will adopt this step or disavow M. De Brazza is not yet known, but public opinion seems to be almost unanimous in favor of the former course. The press waxes eloquent on the subject of the preponderant role which France will play in the future on the African continent, and the Gambetiste Paris exclaims this evening:

"The question now is whether we shall once again allow a territory, or rather a vast empire, which has freely yielded itself to us to pass into the hands of our rivals. We are the key to the Congo, and the wealth of equatorial Africa is in our hands. M. De Brazza gives it to us. If we allow it to escape, Mr. Stanley will seize it and make it over to others." This is a question which is still unsettled, and in reference to which Mr. Stanley will on his side have something to say. His story has not yet been heard. Meanwhile there seems to be no doubt that the whole matter will have to be thoroughly sifted ere any definite opinion can be expressed. History has never recorded a more self-denying act than the accession, by the king of the Batekes of his densely populated country and its stores of wealth to M. De Brazza and his ten blacks.

OTTAWA VALLEY NEWS.

Shrewsbury.

On Thursday evening, the 5th inst., a Concert was given in the new Opera Hall at Shrewsbury, in aid of the building fund. The local talent was assisted by Messrs. Fish, Hope, Swales and Stevenson from Lachute. The attendance was good and the room comfortably filled, but many who intended coming were deterred by the fact of diphtheria being in the neighborhood.

The concert was opened by Mr. Stevenson, with a solo on a fine organ kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. D. Christie. Mr. Hope then sang "Canada our Home," followed by a duet from the Misses Chambers, and a reading by Mr. Hope. Mr. Swales then sang a comic song "Are you there Moriarty," which was loudly enjoyed. A clarinet solo by Mr. Fish, and a song, "The Only Show in the Fair," by Mr. Hope, closed the first part of the programme. After an interval, during which refreshments were served in the school-house, Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Fish played a piece for organ and clarinet. Mr. Hope gave a reading, and Miss Lister and the Misses Morrison sang solos. Mr. Swales sang "The Lachute Canal," and was again greeted with an encore. Mr. Rathwell sang in a very animated style "The Battle of Ross," and Mr. Conley, who has a very good voice, "Somebody Waiting," and was followed by Mr. Hope in his favorite character song of "The Royal Lorne." Mr. Chambers then made a very excellent speech, concluding with moving a vote of thanks to the gentlemen from Lachute; and with a few remarks from the chairman (Mr. Fish) the entertainment was concluded. Brothers Pollock and Simpson accompanied the singers from Lachute. The roads were very bad and the night was dark, and many laughable mishaps occurred on the drive home, which, though necessarily slow on account of the state of the roads, was enlivened by songs and good stories—and all from Lachute reached their homes safely soon after midnight.

St. Scholastique.

We had a great oratorical fight on nomination day, the 14th inst. Many orators were present and spoke. Mr. Champagne had to help him the first Minister, Messrs. Duhamel, M. P. for Ottawa County, L. Begerin, M. P. for Beauharnois, Hurteau, M. P. for L'Assomption, Curran, C. M. P. for Montreal Centre, J. Bte. Duvallet, M. P. for Two Mountains, etc. Mr. Beauchamp had only Mr. Pagnuelo, C. M. P. from Montreal; nevertheless he succeeded in carrying the meeting by a large majority. The people were disgusted to see so many orators (big bugs) speak against Mr. Beauchamp, who was near alone. Yesterday (last Sunday) all these orators, but Mr. Pagnuelo, were in each parish of this county to speak on Mr. Champagne's behalf. I heard that altogether they had a very bad hearing. It is what Mr. Champagne deserved. As Mr. Beauchamp had no representatives, the people could not suffer to hear speakers on one side only. It was just. Mr. Beauchamp is sure of his election.

AFFAIRS IN EGYPT.

Sir Garnet Wolsey has been ordered home and leaves on Thursday. The Egyptian Government objects to foreign counsel defending Arabi. Sir Garnet Wolsey has ordered the gaming houses in Cairo to be closed. The preliminary trial of Arabi is said to have resulted unfavorably to the rebel leader. A document signed by Arabi and his Ministers, proclaiming the deposition of the Khedive, has been discovered. The Khedive's decree granting three months' grace on commercial bills has been agreed to by all the Powers, except Denmark, Portugal, and the United States. England's answer to the Porte's note respecting the evacuation of Egypt by the British has caused great exasperation at Constantinople. The British Government has been accused of having aided Pasha with being the cause of the loss of Egypt, and has demanded his exile. Victor Hugo has published an appeal against the execution of Arabi Pasha. Sir Edward Malet, the British Consul-General, announces that Arabi's trial will not proceed without English counsel. The Times sees a good prospect of a friendly understanding being reached between England and France on the Egyptian question. Arabi's counsel is anxious to learn the whereabouts of Sir Garnet Wolsey, and has asked a British officer, who can prove that at Arabi's orders many Bedouins were shot for looting. The Sultan's acceptance of Said Pasha's conditions of remaining in office appears to have been a success. A Constantinople correspondent declares that the Sultan really desires to frustrate the Premier's plans. The Egyptian authorities are said to have notified the British Consul-General that they would sooner hand Arabi and his associates back to the English than allow foreign counsel to act in his trial. The native Egyptian who wounded Mr. Cookson, the British Consul at Alexandria, during the June massacre, has been arrested.

The Suez Canal authorities have prohibited the employment on the canal of any one who assisted the British forces during the campaign.

Aleko Pasha, Governor-General of Eastern Roumelia, is making active resistance to the efforts of the Russian Government to control the command of the Roumelian militia.
