Reminiscences of Railroading in the Eighties

FARMERS SOLD WOOD AT STAYNERVILLE STATION —FUEL FOR ENGINES

A former resident and C.P.R. employee in this section communicates to The Watchman some early impressions of these parts, and of his experiences in railroading. Our correspondent is Mr. H. E. Thompson, now resident in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. Thompson was C.P.R. station agent at Staynerville in 1881 — an office wherein one looks for strange recollections of over half a century ago. In the following paragraphs one finds amusing references and the writer doubtless has many more such reminiscences equally interesting, which it is hoped he may recount in these columns when time permits.

Mr. H. E. Thompson is a regular reader of this newspaper. He was married during his residence here, to Miss Nichols, youngest daughter of Margaret Nichols of Staynerville. We leave the chronicle, at this point, to our contributor's own words:

"Having seen the first shovel of earth turned in the construction of The Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and Occidental Railway at Hochelaga, and witnessing the first engine, Number One, starting from that point with Bob Whitehead at the throttle and Conductor Kerney, I was appointed later as a night telegrapher at St. Augustin. It is amusing (at this date), to recall that I stayed there only for two weeks, as I was driven out by the mosquitoes!

"Then I took my next stand at Staynerville, Argenteuil Co., as night telegrapher, until the Canadian Pacific Railway later took over the system. I was then elevated to station agent, in 1881, and held this position for ten years. During that time engines were wood burners, only later advancing to the use of coal as fuel. The station where I was engaged supplied the engines with wood fuel, which was abundant at that time. The farmers delivered the wood to the railroad and received cash for it, enabling them to clear off heavy debts on their farms.

"Railroading was a hard life in those days, as employees were paid very small wages.

ONTARIO'S LONDON OFFICE IS CLOSED

The office of Ontario's Agent-General in London, abolished by the new Liberal Government of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, has been closed in the interests of economy. Agent-General Noxon and his staff of eight are no longer on the province's payroll.

The office building on the Strand will be either leased or sold. Apparently no decision had been reached as to its disposal. It was thought the furniture would be sold.

The Ontario office was established 25 years ago. Quebec is now the only Canadian province maintaining an agent-general in London, although British Columbia retains a skeleton staff.

WOLF SHOT AT HARRINGTON EAST

An unusually large wolf met its fate last Sunday evening, in a well aimed shot by Mr. Stanley MacTavish, of Harrington East, who killed the animal not far from his home. It is reported the wolf had been preying on farm animals in the district, several of which had been found dead in the pastures.

Agents received $35. per month and trainmen did not receive very high salaries. During the winter, trains were often tied up for three or four days, some of them being completely (Continued on Page 4)

CORNWALL EXHIBITION THIS WEEK

The Cornwall Agricultural Society's Fall Fair opened yesterday for its four day session. The large entry list received by E. E. McCracken, secretary, indicates a fine showing of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, roots, vegetables, fruit, flowers, ladies' work and dairy produce.

An unusual feature of the show is a grandstand presentation by real Indians; appearing in full regalia, they illustrate war dances, marriage dances, and many other tribal customs of bygone days, to the accompaniment of weird music. A baby show and a milking contest are other items on the four-day program.

HAND CAUGHT IN GEARS

Painful Mishap to Mill Mechanic

A painful accident occurred to Mr. Arthur Cooke at one o'clock Tuesday, while engaged at his work in the Ayers Woolen Mills. Mr. Cooke is machinist on the mill looms, and it was while making an adjustment on one of these machines that his hand became caught in the revolving gears. Four fingers of his right hand were taken off and the hand badly lacerated. Mr. Cooke was rushed immediately to Dr. Mason's office, where he received attention, and is since reported making satisfactory progress.

ST. ANDREWS C.G.I.T. CAMP AT OJIBWAY

Program Suited to Needs and Ideals of Group

On August 15th, twelve C.G.I.T. girls of St. Andrews set off for their second camping trip to "Ojibway", the camp by the Bay. As in the previous year, it was arranged that, upon their leaving camp, the Boy Scouts should leave everything ready for the girls. Transportation to the camp was afforded through the kindness of Col. Hooker, and on Wednesday morning the C. G. I. T. girls took possession of Camp Ojibway.

The camp consisted of four tents and a small cabin, against which rested a lean-to forming the kitchen. The cabin served two purposes—being used as a store-house, and also containing the cots of the two leaders.

The group was not accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Macaskill, owing to her illness. The leaders were Miss Mae Stutt and Miss Alice Hooker, the assistant leader of the group. The girls were fortunate in having Miss Stutt who is one of the leaders at Cedar Lodge, official C.G.I.T. camp of the province. Miss Hooker directed with great ability the buying of supplies and the preparation of the meals, while Miss Stutt arranged the camp programme.

This consisted as follows: The rising whistle blew at 7.00 a.m., at the sound of which the girls dragged themselves out of bed in time for "Jerks" or a cold morning dip. At 7.45 Morning Watch was held, conducted by Miss Stutt. Flag-raising was at eight o'clock, (Continued on Page 6)

ARM CRUSHED IN THRESHING MILL

Young Man Caught in Machinery

A young man named Guay, 20 years of age, was the victim of a mishap at the farm of James Edwards, south of St. Philippe, where he was engaged with Romeo Foucault and his threshing outfit. His left arm became caught in the machinery and was severely crushed. Medical assistance was called and the young man was later removed to St. Luke's hospital, Montreal, where his arm was amputated. The accident occurred at 11.30 a.m. last Thursday.

INTERESTING DEBATE AT FRONTIER W. I.

On Tuesday evening last the Frontier Women's Institute held its regular meeting. This was an educational meeting in which the principal event of the evening was a debate "Resolved that Montcalm was a better General than Wolfe". This question is being seriously considered in the Canadian histories of today, and made quite an interesting debate. The affirmative side, taken by Miss Mary Starnes and Keith Canning, were considered the winning team by Mrs. G. F. Kuhring, of Lakefield, Provincial Convenor of Education and Better Schools, (who also gave a short talk on that subject during the course of the evening) and Miss Olive Hartley of Montreal W., who assisted her in judging. Miss Sybil Wert and her brother Carl were on the negative side, giving many good points in favor of Wolfe's generalship. The debate will be reported in further detail in next issue of The Watchman.

DROWNING FATALITY IN ROUGE RIVER

Young Man Engaged in Logging Operations

A spot on the River Rouge, six miles north of Calumet, Que., was the scene of a tragic accident when Norman Young, an employee of the Canadian International Paper Co., was accidentally drowned on Tuesday afternoon, August 28th. Although the body was recovered approximately fifteen minutes after the accident and artificial respiration applied by the employees who were assisting him in bringing down the logs, death is believed to have been almost instantaneous. After an inquest the body was conveyed to his home in Pte-au-Chêne, Que.

The victim of this tragic circumstance was a young man in his thirty-third year, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. David Young, of Pte-au-Chêne. Besides his parents he leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife and seven small children; there remain also five sisters, Mrs. Jas. Bonfield, Hoquiam, Wash.; Mrs. Jack McKale, McBride, B. C.; Mrs. C. Moller, Vancouver, B.C.; Mrs. Edgar Crawford, of Pte-au-Chêne, and Mrs. Douglas Trineer, of Calumet; and four brothers, Alex. Shody, of Pte-au-Chêne; Evan, of Calumet, and George, of Avonika, Sask.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place at his home last Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and was conducted by the Rev. Wm. Simms. Interment followed in the Avoca Cemetery. The floral tributes were both numerous and beautiful. The pall bearers were the three brothers of the deceased who were able to be present, namely Alex. Shody and Evan, and three nephews, Stanley, Wyman and Herman (sons of Shody Young). —"God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform."

HUNTING MISHAP AT 16 ISLAND LAKE

A shooting accident, the first reported in the County this season, occurred at Sixteen Island Lake under most tragic circumstances last week-end. While praying over the grave of her mother, Mrs. Aime Peras, a resident of Sixteen Island Lake, was seriously injured when she was struck in the stomach by a bullet.

The woman was rushed to Montreal, where she was placed in the Notre Dame Hospital.

Inhabitants of Sixteen Island Lake attributed the gunshot wound to youths who were apparently hunting across the lake and one of whom accidentally fired his gun in the direction of the graveyard.

FIRE SWEEPS BARNS AT OKA MONASTERY

500 Tons of Hay Burned in Early Morning Fire

For the second time in the last few years, outbuildings of the Trappist Fathers' Monastery at Oka were destroyed by fire in the early hours of Tuesday morning. The entire crop of hay and grain, nearly five hundred tons, was destroyed in the spectacular blaze. The destroyed buildings, unique in design and construction and among the most modern outbuildings in the entire Dominion of Canada, represent a severe loss, said to be in the neighborhood of $40,000, partly covered by insurance.

The fire, of undetermined cause, was fought by the Trappist Fathers themselves, assisted by residents of the village.

The destroyed building, measuring 260 feet in length, with a fifty-foot height, had been constructed in 1916, following the destruction by fire of previous buildings on May 20 of the same year. The cattle were saved, together with other nearby buildings housing a forge and carpenter shops, and the garage.

PRETTY WEDDING AT LACHUTE

Duncan — Cottingham

The marriage of Christina Alison, daughter of the late James W. Cottingham and of Mrs. Cottingham, of Lachute, to Mr. Charles Low Duncan, of Lachute, son of the late Alexander Duncan, and of Mrs. Duncan, of Aberdeen, Scotland, took place quietly on Saturday afternoon at half-past five o'clock, at the residence of the bride's mother here in Lachute, the Reverend W. B. Rosborough officiating. Autumn flowers were used as decorations throughout the house.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. William M. Cottingham, wore a gown of brown imported heavy sheer crepe appliqued in gold lame and embroidered with a scattered pattern in gold seed beads, a brown felt hat, and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and white heather. Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, sister-in-law of the bride, played the wedding music.

A reception followed the ceremony. Later Mr. and Mrs. Duncan left on a motor trip to the Maritime Provinces and the Gaspé Peninsula, the bride wearing a coat of suede diagonal duvetyne over her gown, and silver fox furs, the gift of the bridegroom. On their return they will reside in Lachute. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McQuat, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, Master James McQuat, Master Colin McQuat, of Ormstown, Que., and Miss Sadie Reaper, of Montreal.

St. Jerome Celebrated Hundredth Anniversary

COMMEMORATED CENTENARY LAST WEEK-END —PAGEANTS HELD

The neighboring town of St. Jerome, termed the "Queen of the North," commemorated 100 years of civic and religious life with spectacular pageants, religious ceremonies, unveiling of commemorative plaques and banquets last week-end.

Terrebonne County, with its farmers from distant villages and parishes, attended to live in two days a century of eventful activities, untold hardships and successes, but particularly the triumph of Cure Labelle, known as the apostle of colonization, through whose zeal and untiring efforts the district became one of the most prosperous in the province.

The three-day celebrations opened Saturday evening with the firing of the historic St. Jerome cannon, dating back to

HATS OFF TO SEPTUAGENARIAN HIKERS

An outstanding achievement is recorded this week to the credit of Mrs. Jason Stewart, 75 years of age, and Mrs. Lily Robinson, 73, of Brownsburg, who walked together to Louisa on Wednesday of last week. This is a hike which many folks of younger years would hesitate to venture upon, but these two old friends gave every evidence of a cheerful endurance, which terminated in their renewal of acquaintances around the old settlement of Louisa, which is Mrs. Stewart's birthplace. They also made the return trip on foot, on Friday last.

PROMINENT CLERGY TO FILL ANGLICAN PULPITS

The General Synod of the Church of England in Canada will meet in Montreal this week. This body, which meets every three years, is composed of two "Houses", the House of Bishops, consisting of the 27 Bishops of the Church in Canada, and the "Lower House" consisting of a chosen number of clergy and laity elected by their respective Diocesan Synods. These Diocesan Synods, in turn, are composed of the clergy and elected representatives from every congregation. Thus the general Synod represents, in a very practical way, the whole Church from the Atlantic to the Pacific—and up to the Arctic, for Bishop Fleming will be there.

The Synod opens with a celebration of Holy Communion in the Cathedral at 10.30 a.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 12th. At 3 o'clock the Synod assembles for organization. In the evening a great Mass Meeting will be held in the Forum Building. The singing will be led by massed choirs and a regimental band and the speakers will be Bishop Manning, of New York, and Bishop Sherman, of Calgary. It is hoped that as many as possible from this district will attend.

Co-incident with this gathering a number of prominent clergy will occupy local pulpits on Sunday, Sept. 16th. We are especially fortunate in this district. At Lachute and Brownsburg the preacher will be Canon J. I. Strong, Chaplain of Stoney Mountain Penitentiary, Man.; he is also a native of Argenteuil County. At Grenville and Calumet the special preacher will be Dean Riley, of Hamilton, Ont. Further particulars of these services will be found in the Church Notices column. This General Synod has not met in Montreal for 32 years and it is hoped that all who can will avail themselves of the opportunities presented.

1854, continuing Sunday with a solemn pontifical high mass at the parish church and a banquet at St. Ann Convent and brought to a close on Labor Day with a solemn mass at the cemetery. The demonstrations brought back to light the civic history of St. Jerome and its commercial and industrial development. They recalled 100 years of the civic history of the municipality. Solemn mass at the cemetery was conducted by Msgr. J. E. Limoges, bishop of Mont-Laurier, and included a "souvenir promenade," presenting outstanding events in the annals of St. Jerome since its foundation.

Sixteen floats took part in the parade in addition to representatives of various societies and organizations constituting a procession one mile in length. "La Jeromienne" marked the typical native of St. Jerome, who although a resident of another city or town, always remains faithful to the town. "The first church and its pastor" pictured the admirable work of Rev. Father Labelle, who contributed to such an extent to the development of the district. "The daily bread," a (French-Canadian sketch, represented the housewife cooking the loaves of bread for her family. Another attractive float was "The windmill", so well known in the Province of Quebec.

Witnesses of the parade went back almost 100 years as they saw "An old couple in a wagon in 1840" as they viewed the participants garbed in styles of 90 years ago. The "Christopher Columbus" float drew no less applause, while the "Tea-time of yesterday" was far from being the least attractive float. Other floats in the parade included "Weaving," "Let us hold our land," "Colonization," and "Sugar bush."

Notable speakers were present, discoursing in the religious vein of the observances and dealing with the highly interesting history of the settlement, which after 100 years has culminated in this advanced stage of development.

WINTER ROADS COMMITTEE HELD MEETING

Plan to Ensure Year-Round Transport to Montreal

On Tuesday evening a number of business men and others interested met in the Victoria Hall to discuss the possibility of keeping open the road from Brownsburg to La Chapelle, a point on the outskirts of St. Jerome, and thus maintaining through-traffic to the city during the winter months.

Mr. Geo. Y. Deacon was appointed President, with Mr. L. E. Dumais as Secretary-Treasurer, and activities are being carried on under the name of the Winter Roads Committee.

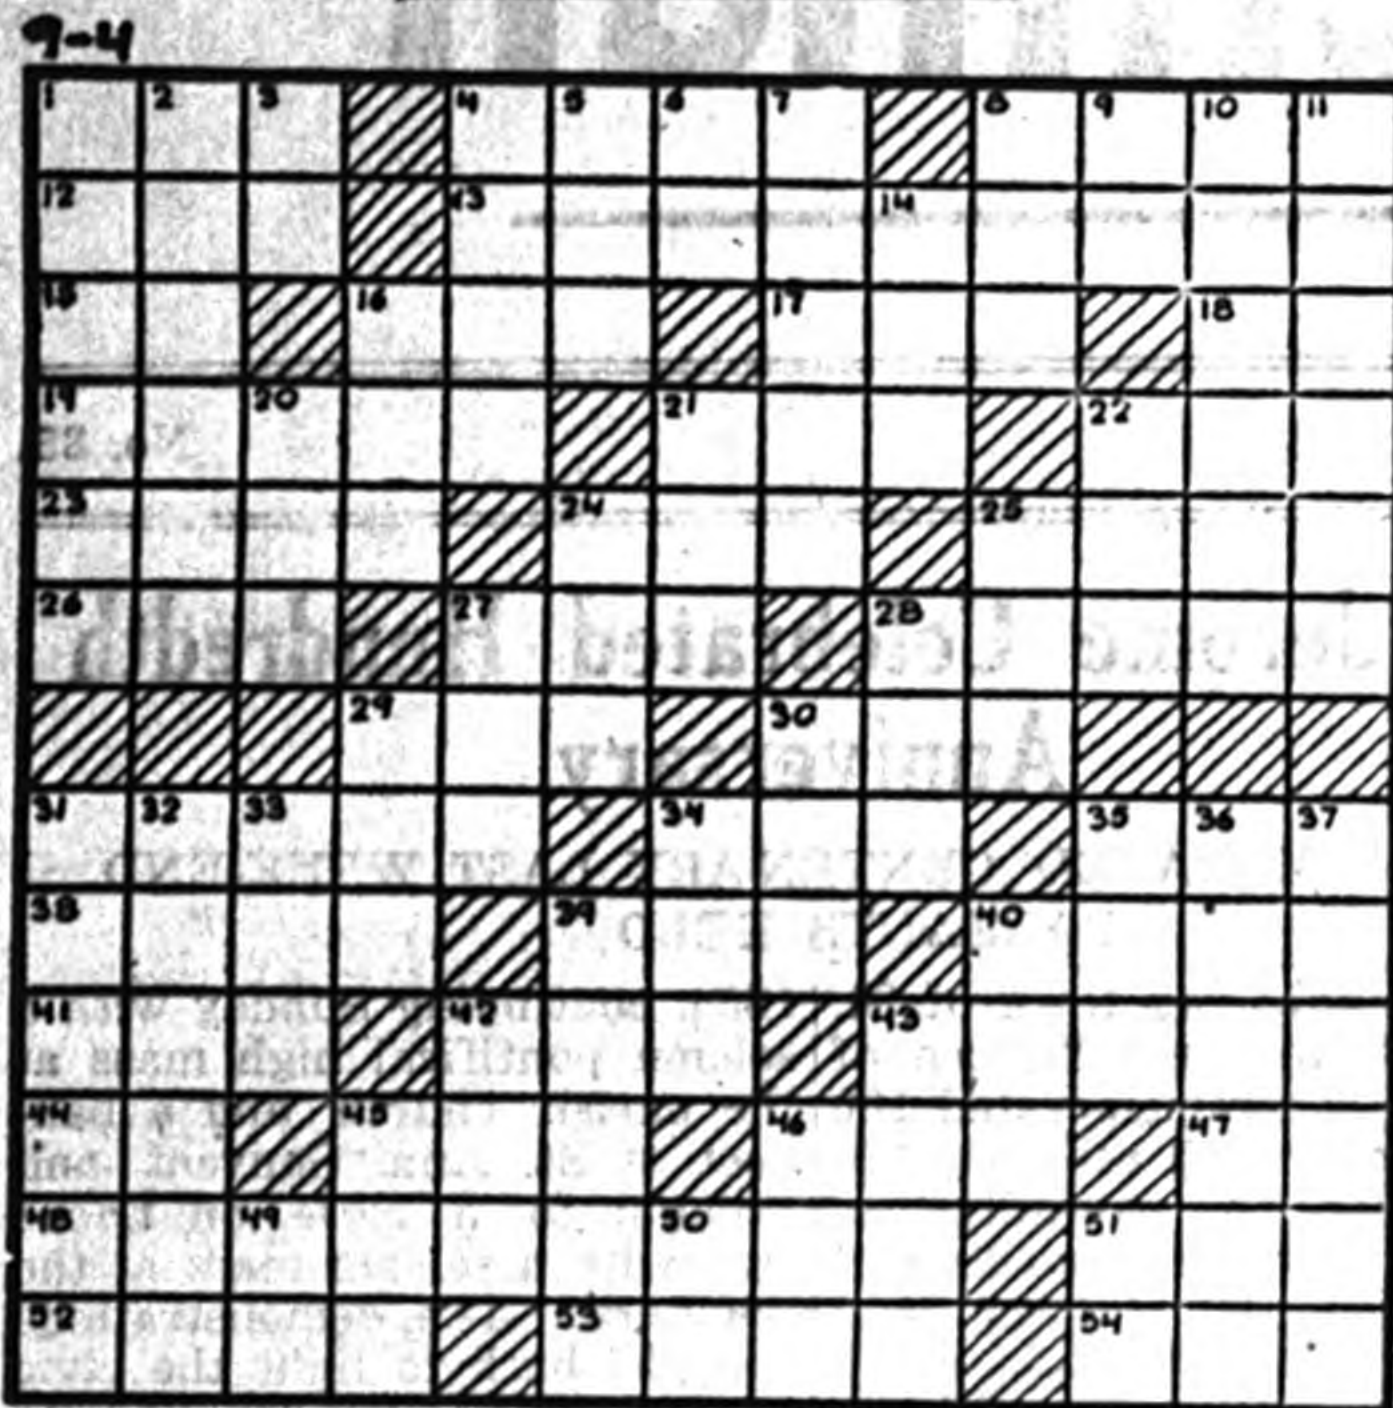

It was decided that all interested municipalities be asked to forward a request to the Hon. Mr. Perrault, asking that the St. Canut road be straightened at that point where two right-angle turns now exist.

The Secretary was instructed to write the Provincial Department at Quebec, to enquire if they will keep Route 41 open from Brownsburg to La Chapelle, providing the necessary funds are forthcoming, at $100 per mile.

The total cost would be over $2,000, of which a considerable amount is already pledged.

Collectors are now busy and anyone wishing to contribute or receive further information may communicate with the Secretary, Mr. Dumais.

CREDIT TO BRITISHER
(R. M. Harrison, in the Border Cities Star)

You will read in despatches from Hamilton, Bermuda, how Dr. William Beebe and Otis Barton descended 2,510 feet below the ocean's surface, thus establishing a new world's record. But you won't see it mentioned in these despatches that the new world's record would not have been possible without a shy young British technician, who is, after all, the brains behind these "bathysphere" explorations.

Captain John H. J. Butler designed Doc Beebe's diving bell, which has gone down 2,510 feet and come up as dry inside as Hansard. He was at work with a marine engineering company in New York when Mr. Barton came in one day and wanted some sort of diving rig that would take him and the scientist on a safe round trip to Davy Jones' locker. The company couldn't help him, but Capt. Butler, slight in stature, modest and self-effacing, got quite excited about it. Presto! —the diving bell.

Late in the war there was an exciting story about a fragile-looking little English airman who took on a whole flock of German planes single-handed and sent most of 'em down in flames before he himself went into a crashing nose-dive. That was Butler.

AUNT JEAN'S RIDDLE
NO. 12

Something followed Little Ted
One gloomy, dark, dark, night,
As he came running up the lane,

And gave him such a fright.
He hollered loudly for his Ma
And for his sister Jean,
Who ran down the lane to meet him

When she heard his frightened scream.

"It was a bear, I know it was,"
His eyes with fear were wide,
"It came quite close beside me
And I touched its rough-haired side."

—What followed Ted?

ON THE BEACH

"How can I be telling a lie right now?" asked Carl, his teeth chattering with fear and chill.

"By pretending that you are away somewhere, so far away that you could not hear your Auntie May when she called you," replied the fairy, in a very severe voice.

"That was just pretending," said Carl, rather sulkily. He did not like to be told the plain truth about his bad behaviour, even by a fairy. "Besides, everybody does it," he growled. "Everybody doesn't," snapped the fairy, "not good little boys and girls, and pretending in that way is just one way of telling lies. What would you do if your mother and Auntie May and all of them moved away while you were hiding here and you could not find them?"

That was a terrible thought to bring to Carl's mind and it frightened him greatly. "Oh!" he gasped in fear, "Oh!" and struggled to get to his feet and run away, but he could not move. Six little Seaweed Fairies had wound themselves around him and would not let him go.

"Hold him tightly!" said one little Seaweed Fairy to the other, "he is a bad boy and deserves a real punishment, and he is going to get it too before he leaves our cave."

The word cave made Carl look around him in surprise. There had been no cave there when he had lain down. To his amazement he saw that there was a cave there now, and he was lying on his back near the doorway.

Seeing his look of surprise the blue-eyed fairy chuckled. "Surprised you, did it not, to find yourself in a strange cave? Stranger things than that happen to boys who are mean and tell lies, and to little girls too. I should not be surprised myself if Whipper-Whisper, the punishment fairy, came along before very long. She can think of the most dreadful punishments," said the blue-eyed fairy with another chuckle, as she saw the look of fear that leaped into Carl's eyes. Carl made another desperate attempt to rise and flee, but the Seaweed Fairies wound themselves still tighter around him.

"If he does not keep still," one whispered to the other, "we will pack his ears full, full of mud and sand beetles." She whispered this quite low, but Carl heard her and shrieked aloud in fear. "What's all this about?" asked someone he could not see, with a sharp angry voice.

"Oh, nothing much," the blue-eyed fairy said, "just another bad boy who has put himself in our power by hiding from his good kind aunt and pretending that he did not hear her when she called." Carl wished that he could shrink out of sight of the sharp-eyed witch-like fairy who stepped inside the cave and stood looking down at him, her upraised hand holding a whip made of plaited seaweed, which wriggled and twisted like a snake when she moved her hands. As the faint beams of sunlight caught it, it lighted the end nearest him until it appeared to have eyes. Perhaps it was a real living snake! Carl shuddered and crouched lower.

The blue-eyed fairy had told the truth when she said that the Punishment Fairy could think of dreadful punishments. It was a dreadful punishment for Carl to have to lie still and watch that twisting, curling whip and not be sure just what it was. He wondered if the punishment that little cousin Dickie got, because his mother thought he had eaten the tarts which she had so carefully put away for tea, was as hard on him as this was. He hoped not, for Dickie had been punished instead of him. Dickie's handkerchief had been found on the pantry floor and all of the others had denied being inside the pantry at all. He had not denied, oh no! he had just sat with a very innocent, bored look on his face and said nothing. Aunt Francis had never even suspected him. He had not to deny being in the pantry, so he had not really told a lie about it.

"But," said Whipper-Snapper, the Punishment Fairy "you acted one and that was just as bad as telling one."

"How did you know about it?" Carl asked in fear.

"I can read your thoughts," snapped the fairy, "and I think that you should be punished for that too, as well as making your aunt believe that you did not hear her."

As she spoke she came closer to him.

—To be continued.

Lovingly,

Aunt Jean

Combination of Brains and Milk Saved "Bossy"

A friend of the A. A. living in western New York, sends in the following story which he said a friend of his, long since dead, used to be fond of telling. I have heard a good many stories about good cows, but this one pretty nearly "takes the cake." Here it is:

A certain farmer, whose real name we will not mention but whom we will call "Jim," owned a herd of pure-bred Holsteins and never missed an opportunity to picture their good qualities.

"One day," said Jim, "I was coming home to dinner from the harvest field when I discovered that one of my best producers had fallen into an old well just back of the barn. I ran for help, but all of my neighbors had gone to the county fair, so it was up to me to get her out."

"Returning to the edge of the well, I glanced down at the helpless creature at the bottom and made a quick decision. Throwing off my hat and rolling up my sleeves, I lowered myself quickly into the well beside the cow and started milking."

"Rosy was always an easy milker, and I milked and milked until finally I floated the 'old rip' right out the top of the well!"—American Agriculturist.

British Army Surgeon
"Yankee Doodle" Author?

Although the origin of our first national air is regarded by some authorities as uncertain, a tradition has it that "Yankee Doodle" was written in 1755 by Dr. Richard Shuckburgh, a British army surgeon at the old Van Rensselaer manor near Rensselaer, N. Y., according to the Detroit Free Press. Anyway it is this old Dutch house for the rehabilitation and preservation of which an appropriation was obtained from the New York legislature.

The Shuckburgh legend states that the doctor was standing by the old stone well on the Van Rensselaer property when a detachment of Colonial troops marched back from the French and Indian war. Their ragged condition inspired in the doctor the words of "Yankee Doodle," which were written in derision. The original name of the song was "The Yankees' Return From Camp." Several versions have developed in the course of time. The melody was suited to the fifes and drums of the Continental army; and during the Revolutionary war Washington's troops picked it up and popularized it.

A Correct Report—"Among the prettiest girls present was Brigadier-General Blazer," wrote a young reporter in his account of a garden party.

The next day he was called to the editor's room.

"What do you mean by writing stuff like that?" demanded the editor.

"Well," explained the reporter, "that's where he was."

PRETTY WEDDING AT BROWNSBURG UNITED CHURCH

Wilson — Williams

A pretty wedding took place on Saturday, Aug. 25th., when Ethel Margaret Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Williams, of Brownsburg, became the bride of Wallace Leonard Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wilson, also of Brownsburg. The ceremony was held at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, in Brownsburg United Church, and Rev. Creighton T. Cassidy officiated. The bride wore a gown of white satin, made on long lines. The bodice was finished with a cowl collar and a long row of buttons on the sleeves. She carried a sheaf of lilies, and wore a long veil to the bottom of dress, trimmed with a wreath of orange blossoms. The bride was given away by her father, and attended by her sister Anne Williams, as bridesmaid; the latter was dressed in mauve silk organdie over mauve taffeta with a mauve hat to match. She carried a sheaf of assorted sweet peas.

Mansiel Wilson, of Maniwaki, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Arvon Williams, brother of the bride, Russell Martin and Arthur Bourne, cousins of the groom.

Mrs. Williams, mother of the bride, was gowned in yellow sheer pointed georgette, a white crepe hat, and a corsage bouquet of mauve sweet peas. Mrs. Wilson, mother of the groom, was gowned in blue printed georgette with hat to match and a stone marten fur, and wore a corsage bouquet of orchid sweet peas.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a Sterling silver vanity set; to the bridesmaid a silver necklet with cameo; to the ushers, green gold cuff links and tie clip, and to the best man Sterling silver cuff links.

Prior to the ceremony the congregation sang a hymn, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Jas. Thompson sang "O Perfect Love."

A reception was held at the bride's home, where decorations were carried out in mauve and white. Later the couple left for a trip, by train and boat, to Toronto and Niagara. Going away the bride wore a smart navy blue suit, white satin crepe blouse, a grey felt hat and grey accessories to match.

BRITISH TOUR TO AID CANADIAN INDUSTRY

Kellogg Company of Canada
Entertains Important Visitors from Old Country

Eighty leading buyers and industrialists from the British Isles who are at present touring Eastern Canada, with a view to increasing trade between the Dominion and the Mother Country, were recently the guests of the Kellogg Company of Canada at a delightful dinner in the Hotel London, London, Ontario.

This visit, known as the "Maple Leaf Tour" was arranged by the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, High Commissioner to Great Britain. The visitors include men and women from practically every industry in the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State. It is stated reliably that the aggregate buying power represented by the group runs into several millions of pounds sterling annually. The dinner sparkled with geniality and goodwill. W. P. Butler, Manager, and C. Garfield McCormick, Sales Manager of Kellogg's, extended warm greetings to the visitors.

A GLIMPSE AT THE LONDON, ENG., TELEPHONE SERVICE

By Alan Easton in the The Blue Bell

In the British Isles, the telephone system is controlled and operated by the Post Office, of which it forms one of the several departments.

The London Telephone Service, which is a part of the Department, operates within a radius of roughly 17 miles of the centre of the City. This area contains 840,000 telephones connected through 242 central offices. The most intricate part of this network is to be found within the 5-mile radius of Oxford Circus which has no less than 69 Central Offices. It becomes, perhaps, easier to visualize this density when one takes into consideration the fact that one-fifth of the population of the country—approximately 9 millions—is located in London.

The telephone rates for individual service are approximately $3.00 per month for business subscribers and $2.00 for residence, but this does not provide for unlimited free calls; in fact, there is a charge of 2 cents for each local call. These are recorded at the Central Office by means of a register or meter. The cost of installing a telephone is about $4.00 for either business or residence, and the subscriber is recommended to insure each instrument against fire, etc., as he is held responsible for its safety.

All long distance connections are established in one building in the City, two different rooms taking care of inland traffic. Another large room is equipped for handling all traffic, through submarine cables, between Great Britain and the principal cities in European countries, and is also equipped with a panel serving Sydney, Cape Town, Buenos Aires, Rio, New York, Montreal and other places, by means of radio beam transmission and reception. Here, of course, each operator speaks a number of languages. The general method of operation is very similar to that in use here.

The rates applicable to Long Distance Service are perhaps a little less than those in force in this country. The grade of service, however, appears to be inferior, for it seems to take a very considerable time to establish a connection. It is interesting to note that the cheap rates apply from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. at a discount of 25% and from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. at 50%.

There are no public contact offices, and a person wishing to apply for telephone service must do so either by telephone or in writing. A salesman then interviews the prospective subscriber and obtains a signed application form which is forwarded to the Accounting Department. A contract for service is taken out for a minimum period of one year and notice of disconnection must be given three months in advance.

It has been generally accepted that Great Britain has always been far behind the American Continent in regard to telephone facilities and methods; conditions, however, are assuming a progressive trend. Confirmation of this may be found in the rather startling fact that, for the year 1933, a net gain of 33,400 stations was obtained in the London Area, which goes to show that they have become aware of the existence of a comparatively unexplored market. This may be chiefly due to the aggressiveness of the present Postmaster-General who has conducted a sales and publicity campaign during the past four years which has been responsible for much of the recent development.

A NEW DEPARTMENT

The trend of contact between provincial and municipal governments is indicated in Ontario's establishment of a new department. Hon. David Croll, Minister of Public Welfare, has been sworn in as Minister of Municipal Affairs, heading this new department. Provincial and municipal bodies have been more closely related since the financing of cities involved public funds from wider sources. A Department of Municipal Affairs has operated successfully for many years in Quebec, affording the medium of supervision for all things municipal within the province. Ontario has created a similar system which should now facilitate the procedures of government, insofar as the municipalities are affected.

Mayor Wenige and Frank White, M.P., were the other local speakers, while the spokesmen for the Britishers were: James Walker, head of James Walker & Sons, grocers of Bathgate, Scotland, and William Collier, J.P., Managing Director of William Collier Ltd., Duva Bakery, Lancashire and of Ford & Sons, of Oldham. Mr. Walker pointed out that in Scotland the traditional dish was oatmeal and "Our forefathers built up strong constitutions on it. Yet an excellent substitute, I am sure, has been found in Kellogg's Corn Flakes." Mr. Collier expressed the warm thanks of the party to the Kellogg Company for their hospitality and spoke of the deep impression made on the visitors by the Kellogg factory and other industrial establishments they had seen. Mr. Butler introduced the famous girls' Softball Teams of the United States and Canadian Kellogg Plants, who later competed in a game at which the Britishers were guests—many of them seeing this popular Canadian sport for the first time.

LAWS IN CONTEMPT

(Letter in New York Herald-Tribune)

The man who throws trash into the streets, smokes in the subway, parks his car all day or all night in a public street, runs through red lights, turns full power on his radio set and then opens his windows, is not so far removed as it would seem to him from the fellow who robs a bank and shoots down citizens and police who obstruct his path. Both classes are results of disregard of the law, failure by the police to enforce it, and the corrupt selfishness that prevents enforcement.

The magistrate who discharges an arrested offender against ordinary regulations, with a reproof to the officer for making the arrest, is just as unfit and dangerous an official as the prosecutor who allowed himself to be photographed in Dillinger's embrace or as any one of those elected to public office who accept pay from criminals for protection.

The business men, community leaders, politicians and elected officers in town, city, state and nation who tolerate systematic violations of the law, and encourage abuses that may protect their own privileges and exemptions and inure to their personal benefit at the community's expense, are morally, legally and criminally responsible for the lawlessness that menaces our country.

SCHOOLS NEED MONEY

More pupils, fewer teachers, poor pay, fewer schools, larger classes, less money for all purposes—these are high points in the plight of American public schools. Money—or rather lack of it—is the root of school deterioration and difficulties.

Why have the schools suffered so grievously from lack of funds? The answer is simple. Schools are the most completely local of American public services. To support them the most completely local source of income—real estate (farms, homes, stores, factories, etc.)—has been taxed.

Depression crushed local estate values, in turn crushing education. Many citizens have been unable to pay their taxes; delinquencies in taxes for schools run as high as $100,000,000 in a single state. Closing of banks was an added blow. School funds frozen in banks in one state totaled $15,000,000. Decrease of real estate values brings a decrease in assessed values for taxing purposes, which brings a decrease in the amount which a given tax rate will provide for schools. Differences in wealth are another factor. A tax of $10 on every $1000 of property for school support would produce $58 per child in one state, $475 in another. Thus states stagger under unequal burdens in trying to maintain equality of educational opportunity.

Yet the depression must not be blamed for all that has happened to the schools. The cost of education has been found to be a small part of the total debt of cities. William H. Allen, director of the Institute of Public Service, says that public debts incurred for educational purposes "are far smaller than generally is believed and implied by critics of school spending." Mr. Allen, reporting an analysis of 240 cities, showed "school debts are 22.4 per cent of the total net bonded debt in cities of more than 500,000; 34.6 per cent in cities of 300,000 to 500,000; 37.7 per cent in all cities of 100,000 to 300,000 and 34 per cent in all cities under 100,000."

For the twenty-four largest cities, having populations of 500,000 to 7,000,000 the average per capita debt for schools is under $34. That means an interest charge of considerably under $2 per capita a year and a family charge under $10 a year for interest on school plants that make all other property more valuable. Schools have an economic value to any community. An educated community is one with more wants to supply.

The problem of restoring the schools is in large part a question of sounder tax and appropriation policies on the part of local and state governments. —Christian Science Monitor.

"Relief to workers, nothing to shirkers," is the slogan behind a new unemployment relief scheme announced for Ontario municipalities.

PROSPECTIVE HOME FOR FEEBLE-MINDED

The Women's Institutes of New Brunswick are well to the front in the modern movement for special care of the feeble-minded. They have for some time been setting aside contributions for a "feeble-minded fund", to be held as a nucleus, awaiting government action to establish a home for those who are mentally defective. This is no thoughtless action, for the Institutes have for years been making a special study of this subject, and feel that the time is now ripe for action.

PLEA FOR PUBLIC UNDERSTANDING

A plea for more kindly consideration "for those charged with management of public affairs, federal, provincial and municipal", was made recently to 2,000 delegates attending the 79th. communication of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario, by Grand Master Frank W. Copus, of Stratford.

"Our public men of all shades of political opinion," he said, "are carrying a crushing load. Almost without exception they are endeavoring to deal fairly with all and to assist the ship of state to ride out the storm in safety. Is it too much to ask that these men should be credited with at least an average amount of honesty and a desire to do right? Shall factious criticism be replaced by a reasonable display of constructive co-operation?"

Freemasonry, he added, should above all else be a training ground for citizenship.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN

By William B. Munro, Chairman of the Faculty, California Institute of Technology, in "Public Management"

He never appears before committees of the city council at public hearings, telling the aldermen what the people want. Nor does he write letters to the newspapers. He doesn't even read the letters that other people write. The chamber of commerce, the taxpayers' association and the good government league do not count him among their members. He hasn't signed a petition for or against anything for a dozen years. He isn't organized, can't be mobilized, and won't be hypnotized by the palaver of politicians. Because he makes no noise we call him the silent voter; between elections his interests and desires are crowded out of the way by his more vociferous fellow citizens; he is the forgotten man of municipal politics.

Yet when the polls are opened he is often the most influential factor in the whole electorate. When the ballots are counted it frequently appears that he has turned the trick. Indeed, when upsets and surprises come on election day it is usually because somebody has failed to reckon with the potential sovereignty of the forgotten man. With a ballot in his hand he has become articulate, and as a rule he votes his resentment rather than his appreciation. He resents the fact that no one, in the seats of the mighty, has regarded his interests or paid heed to his unuttered opinions.

The forgotten man does not know much about the principles of political science. He has never heard of Aristotle, Locke and Montesquieu. He would be stumped if you asked him about segregated budgets or excess condemnation. But somewhere on one of the uptown side streets he owns a little home, or at least the equity in it. This ownership has not failed to teach him something about assessors and tax bills, about water rates and street paving assessments. Consequently he doesn't swallow the alibis which flow so freely from the city hall about inevitably higher public expenditures and uncontrollable outlays. No one need tell him that the city administration is flawless if the garbage collectors come irregularly or if the sewage backs up into his cellar, or if he can't locate a policeman when he wants one. Moreover, he rides the street cars to work and back again at peak hours—which makes him an expert on transportation and traffic congestion if anything will. He has as much right as any other man to form opinions on these matters and he does it. The city government may forget him, but he does not overlook the sins of omission when the time comes.

Pressure-groups and propagandists obtain too much solicitude, day in and day out, from our public officials. Someone should make it his business to look out for the silent multitudes whose opinions can not be ascertained except by being sought. For they also are of the kingdom of democracy.

—Western Municipal News.

buried in snow drifts. During those days they would send out rotary snow-ploughs, with two and three engines, these too being oftentimes completely buried in the snow drifts.

"Leaving Canada later, I secured a position with The Long Island Railway for three years. After this term had expired, I was offered a position with the Brooklyn Elevated Railway for a few years. I was then made a good offer by the Manhattan and Interborough Railways and accepted, continuing with this company for ten years, until 1910, when I left railroading for a position in the U. S. Government, as Customs Officer, I was assigned to the Law Division, continuing there until I retired on pension in June 1933.

The Ottawa Spotlight

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, September 4.—The 'tree fruit' growers of the interior of British Columbia have the honor of leading the parade of 'regulated producers' in Canada under the Natural Products Marketing Act. An extra of the 'Canada Gazette' was printed last Tuesday giving full particulars of the event. The growers themselves, who were probably more responsible for the enactment of the Marketing Act than any other body in Canada, had done a lot of work on the scheme before submitting it for the approval of the new board, and had secured the support of growers producing 65% of the tonnage of tree fruits grown in the area regulated. The line which divides the regulated from the unregulated farmer runs just west of Kamloops, and the area embraces all the province east of that line, from the Washington State boundary north to about Revelstoke. The head office of the new company is at Kelowna. All fruit growers in the area will be registered at an early date, whether they approve of the scheme or not, and in a few weeks the 'local board' operative under the jurisdiction of the Dominion Marketing Board, will have 100 per cent control over the distribution and sale of fruit in that area, subject, of course, to such outside competition as is deemed to be in the best interests of the fruit farmers themselves and of the consumer.

The provinces of Ontario and Quebec have made a rather notable advance in the direction of cheaper money. Whereas the western provinces have been paying as much as 5 per cent on short term loans, even those obtained from the federal treasury, these two older provinces were able to go out and sell securities to the public at rates which, in Quebec, run to 3.05 per cent, and for the province of Ontario are as low as 2.97 per cent. One reflex of the tendency toward cheaper interest was immediately enjoyed by Alberta, which secured a cut to 4½ per cent on its loans from Ottawa. But after the success displayed by Ontario and Quebec there will be renewed demands for still lower rates from other provinces. A report was in circulation here that the federal government was considering assisting the provinces in carrying out large refunding operations on their funded debt, enabling them to cut their interest costs. It seems now that the extent to which the federal government will contribute will be its moral support and little more. The suggestion that the federal government lend its guarantee to provincial securities was frowned upon at Ottawa, and no wonder. The federal government has a lot of borrowing itself to do soon. Happily the high grade bond market has recently reached a new high since the war, and it should be possible to convert that issue of 5½ per cent bonds due Nov. 1 at a rate more nearly 3½ per cent. If so, the savings to the national treasury, which means my pocket and yours, would be five millions or so a year on that one transaction alone. And while five millions may not seem to be a lot of money when you say it fast, it would pay federal relief costs (direct relief) for three months, and that's something.

So far from Mr. Stevens showing signs of leaving the price spreads commission it seems more likely that Mr. Bennett is being converted to his minister's point of view. Anyway, at Saint John he predicted that there would be further interference in business, which looks like a modified NRA for Canada. One hopes we won't be starting an NRA here just as it is being ditched in the United States.

Mr. Stevens' inquiries into Canadian business activity will be resumed it is said, about the 20th. of the month, with fish as the first item on the list.

It seems to have missed the daily papers pretty well, but the government is pumping a little new money into circulation, as it was empowered to do by the amendment to the Dominion Notes Act last session. In July, without any new gold to support it, some 18 millions in new crisp Dominion notes were issued for general circulation. The treasury has the power and right to carry this on to the tune of 53 millions, and if there are signs of business recession, the whole sum may be circulated.

In this last connection, we seem at last to be slowing down with our recovery. That drop of employment on August 1st. was unexpected and was a mite ominous. Normally the fall and winter decline doesn't set in until later. Still, some recessions are to be expected in any broad program of recovery, according to the economic experts. An unofficial report just issued says revenues in August were again away up over last year.

"There have been quite a few changes in the last fifty years, as I recollect them; Argenteuil has perhaps witnessed as many transformations as other parts. "I was honored by the Argenteuil Lodge, A.F. & A.M. at Lachute, in appointment as Master for six months on account of the death of Bro. Geo. McCoy. I was then elected to that office for the two succeeding years, and I recall that a very pleasant evening was spent at the Lodge rooms once a month".

The Seignior Club's Horse Show grounds, which are half a mile north of the Village of Montebello have been improved for this event, which is the Third Annual Show of the Club and which promises to be one of the most important meets in Eastern Canada. New stabling arrangements have just been completed and a flat track for trotting and pacing races and a larger track for steeplechasing, have been laid out over the area once occupied by the Seignior Club's temporary nine hole golf course.

The Show is under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada, and a distinguished group of Canadian Horsemen are associated with the Show in an honorary or active capacity.

Almost Brake Up the Show

A theatrical star is still wondering why, in a certain city, he got a lot of laughs in the wrong place. It was this way: In one of the acts of his play there was a character seated at a telegraph instrument who was supposed to send an important message. All the star, who didn't know telegraphy, heard was a series of meaningless clicks. But the actor who took the part of the operator had been in the signal corps. When he got to his home town, he figured that there would be some of his old outfit in the audience. He therefore started with the old call, and then began to tap out certain recollections of a humorous nature. It almost broke up the show.

TAKING STOCK

It is customary to take stock in a business and to find out just exactly how the business stands. Being a wife and a mother is pretty much of a business and it might be a good thing to take stock of ourselves with an impartial mind and see exactly how we stand. This is the beginning of the year's activities and it is wise to plan what we want most to do and not to drift along and get into more than we intend to do.eldom does any one organization take up too much time but sometimes when there are too many it is hard to find time to be at home. No mother should "always be home after four", but after all our children are our chief business and any woman who is out every day when the children get home from school is not attending to her business properly. Do the thing you want most to do but do not try to do them all in one year. There is the other side of the picture. There is the woman who is always at home and who never takes a part in anything outside of the home. It is good for the mother and because of that good for the family for the mother to have some outside interests and to go out and bring something fresh home to her family. If nothing else she brings home rested nerves from a change of scenery. If children come home and find their mother always in a work-dress they will unconsciously look on her as a drudge. She may have considerable drudgery but that should not be all in life. Sometimes it is the Bridge and the teas that take too much time. We hear of the gay life in the cities but I believe the small town is even gayer when it comes to parties. For one thing it is harder to refuse invitations—and one never wants to, but sometimes there are so many. People so often say to me that they do not see how I manage to do all that I do. One of the answers to that is, that I have only played Bridge once in the afternoon, in the last two years. And I love a game of Bridge. We should retain for ourselves the liberty of choosing our activities. So take stock.

MERINGUES FOR PIES

A successful meringue is really not hard to make but there are a good many who do not know the tricks, judging from the results one sometimes sees. Beat the egg until stiff, then add two tablespoons of sugar for each egg white, adding one tablespoon at a time and beating well after each addition. Some people like to spread their meringue on smoothly but to my way of thinking that does not make as attractive looking a meringue as one put on with peaks and hollows. Curves are more attractive to the eye than straight lines and there are slight gradations in colour as the peaks are more intense a brown than the hollows. A meringue requires a slow oven and if you have been having tough meringues it is because your oven is too hot. Cook in a slow oven of 300 degrees for 15 minutes. A meringue which is cooled too quickly will be watery. So make your pie early enough to allow for a slow oven to bake the meringue and time to cool gradually.

TOMATO JUICE

When tomatoes are heated in the presence of air the oxidation destroys the vitamin C. Home canned tomatoes and tomato juice frequently lose the vitamin C in the process of canning. If it is carefully done most of it may be retained. Cut the tomatoes in pieces, cover and heat gently without cooking until the juice may be expressed. Put through a sieve. Fill sterilized bottles and add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart of juice. Seal and put in a slow oven of 250 degrees for 40 minutes for pints and 60 minutes for quarts. If corked bottles are used sterilize the corks and after removing from the oven dip the neck of the bottle in melted wax. If sealers are used do not screw tight until after removing from the oven and do not take off the top to fill if the bottle is not quite full.

PEACH AND PEPPER JELLY

4 sweet red peppers
8 hot red peppers
8 peaches
2 lemons cut in slices
1½ lbs. white sugar

Remove seeds and put peppers through the chopper. Cover with cold water, let come to a boil and drain. Cover with vinegar and add lemon slices. Boil ½ hour. Lift out lemon. Add peaches cut in small pieces and sugar. Boil 10 minutes or until thick. Pour into sterilized jars and seal. Serve with meat. I have not tried this recipe but it comes from a friend whose judgment and taste I have great faith in.

JUST DOGS

Dogs are so possessive. One Sunday morning we were in Tobermory and as it is all rock there we drove a short distance to Dunk's Bay to enjoy the sand and beach. Some people had pitched a tent there and their dog, a little terrier, came to meet us and was very friendly with Con, our Irish terrier, until we went near his tent, then he growled at Con until we were at a safe distance from it. We pre-empted a spot beneath a tree on the beach and spread our rugs and cushions. The dogs played about together every once in a while, and were quite friendly until the strange dog came over to pay us a visit. That was too much for Con. Would he allow that dog on his territory? He would not. He soon sent him out of that. But as long as we stayed the dogs played very amicably in the no-man's-land in the centre. When we left, the same performance was gone through. The terrier growled us on our way until we were safely past his tent.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Sept. 9th. is "Man".

The Golden Text is:—"As many as are fed by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God." (Romans 8:14).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God:—"Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is."

(Romans 8:16 and 1 John 3:2).

"The Scriptures inform us that man is made in the image and likeness of God: Man is idea, the image of Love; God expresses in man the infinite idea forever developing itself, broadening and rising higher and higher from a boundless basis. Man reflects infinite Truth, Life, and Love." (Science and Health pages 475, 258,94).

A unique camp "toggle"—a slide for wearing on a Scout neckerchief—was presented by the Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests to boys attending this year's Scout Reforestation Camp at Angus. The toggle comprises three pieces of wood—white pine, representing Ontario lumbering, Scotch pine for reforestation and spruce for pulp and paper—all strung on a buckskin thong, symbolic of Ontario wild life.

Sept. 12, 1884.

On Friday last the Methodist parsonage took fire. There being no fire engine and scarcity of water the buildings, house, stables, etc. were speedily consumed. The Rev. Mr. Knowles had no insurance on his property although there was $800 on the parsonage.

There has never been a season at Lachute when so many buildings are seen going up. They are of a superior class which adds greatly to the wealth and appearance of the place. Lachute is to be a large place before long and is to be congratulated upon its splendid progress.

Mr. W. H. Chisholm and family have removed temporarily from Lachute to Bathurst, N.B.

Very warm weather has prevailed this week the thermometer ranging around 80 degrees.

Hon. Jno. Ross has set aside the action of the members of Agricultural Society and of County Council in reference to the erection of permanent buildings for the Society. In future the annual show meeting, we presume, will be held alternately in the usual places of holding them.

and immediately after, breakfast was served, for which the girls showed no mean appetites. The "palliassees" had to be rolled up and tents tidied before nine o'clock, when Bible Study period was announced. In this period of one hour, the girls studied Basil Matthew's "Life of Jesus", and also gave some time to the study of important Bible characters and the working together of the Book. At 10.15, Interest groups were held in which various things were made. Each girl put together little books entitled "Camp", in which they wrote songs and poetry that they had learned or copied from Miss Stut's large supply of books; some made paper hats from crepe paper; some framed beautiful pictures on such subjects as "Sir Galahad", and "The Princess in the Tower". After this period was the morning swim. Dinner whistle at 12.30 and none too soon for the hungry girls. After the meal was over, the girls—except those appointed to the task of clearing up—went to their tents or under the trees for Rest Hour. At three o'clock, a campcraft was held, led by Alice Hooker, at which time totem-poles were erected in front of each tent, with their names, made of twigs lashed together by cord, upon the poles. The afternoon swim was followed by supper at 5.30. Afterwards the girls learned fascinating folk-dances, or singing-games, among which were the Swedish "Wad Mal" and Sir Roger de Coverley. Then followed a strenuous hour of baseball. At eight o'clock, as the sun was setting, "Vespers" were held on the shore or under the trees. This little service was always very impressive, and Miss Stut's few words each time were really inspiring. Flag-lowering followed Vespers. At 8.30 the campfire was lighted. A small ritual made the scene very beautiful. The girls knelt around while Miss Stut lit the fire as she repeated the words: "Kneel always when you light a fire, kneel reverently and thankful for God's unfailing charity."

The Tug-of-War Contest held in Dominion Park proved somewhat of a fizzle. The team composed of W. G. Rogers, H. W. Neill, Walter Wert, P. Funcheon, J. Moore, S. Clifford, George and Robert Silverson, W. J. Rogers and O. Lefebvre with Robt. Todd as captain went to test their strength with the Montreal Highlanders at Dominion Park. There was a drizzling rain and Argenteuil's opponents who had issued the challenge for a pull in Dominion Park, failed to turn up. Mr. Cooper, manager of the Park, suggested a lay over till Sunday at 4 o'clock but our team were opposed and demanded the cup and medals be handed over in default. So the cup was brought home.

Mr. J. D. Campbell has just installed a Fairbanks Weighing Machine in connection with his flour and feed mill on Main St.

Miss Marion Slater left on Tuesday for the ladies' college in Dunham.

Around the camp-fire, the girls sang old songs and learned new ones, and Miss Stut read or told stories. At 9.30 the circle broke up after singing Taps. At ten o'clock, the whistle blew for "Lights Out."

There were a few variations to this programme, for the different activities had to be suited to the state of the weather, also when special features were introduced. Saturday and Tuesday nights were visitors' nights. On another evening each tent put on an impromptu play or charade at the campfire. Friday night a masquerade was held, a prize being offered for the best and most original costume. A grotesque group of characters, taken from story books or fertile imaginations, gathered about the camp-fire that night. On Saturday morning the girls hiked to St. Andrews, and on Tuesday the seniors went for a hike across country.

Sunday afternoon visitors came to camp to join in a service held by the girls. In the service Miss Stut gave a short address telling about the work and ideals of the C.G.I.T. movement, which was greatly interesting and enlightening.

On the final night, the campfire closed with a beautiful candle-light ceremony. Each girl was given a candle which was lit from that of Miss Stut, and when all the candles were lit, the girls dispersed to their tents and stood before them, with the lighted candle in their hands and singing the heart-pleasing "Glean". The sight of the tiny flickering lights in front of the tents gave each heart a warm, friendly glow and in this spirit the last night at

Famous Waterloo Bridge Giving Way to Modern Six Lane Structure

By P. W. Wilson in the New York Times

For thirty years Britain has been fighting the Battle of Waterloo Bridge. The struggle is over. Under the blows of the wreckers this great landmark in London is rapidly crumbling, and already it is a memory.

The House of Commons decided by 194 votes to 159 that the bridge ought to be retained. Such a vote is usually final. But the London County Council is today controlled by combative Labor. The Council defied the Commons and voted by a majority of 76 to 47 that the bridge be destroyed.

This means that, without a Parliamentary grant to aid her finances, London will build a new bridge. It will cost her $6,500,000.

There are two reasons for the change. First, the boats along the Thames are said to have been impaired by the old bridge. Secondly, it is stated that six lanes are needed for traffic across the river instead of four lanes. These considerations have gained the day, and according to a multitude of sorrowful admirers of the bridge, the proud sweep of London's curving Embankment will never be the same.

The design of the new bridge has been entrusted to an architect, Sir Giles Gilbert Scott, in whose genius Britain takes especial pride. It was he who, when barely 21 years of age, beat all competitors by his design of Liverpool Cathedral, which is regarded in England as a triumph of ecclesiastical majesty.

About Waterloo Bridge there was a peculiar dignity that has fascinated the world. Canova, the Italian sculptor, said of its nine granite arches and intervening pillars so perfect in their proportions, that here was the finest bridge in Europe, and many an architect has echoed this verdict.

It was John Rennie, a Scottish engineer, who, in 1817, completed Waterloo Bridge. Also, he designed the present London Bridge. Side by side with Sir Christopher Wren, he was buried under the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral.

An Old Dispute.

There is, however, a story, mentioned by Sir Reginald Blomfield, the British architect, that Rennie was only the engineer responsible for the construction of the bridge. According to this legend, which is among the traditions of the Temple, where lawyers congregate, Rennie derived the design, admittedly superb, from a broken-down architect in prison.

The bridge was named after Wellington's victory at Waterloo and its opening was a great affair. There were the horse-guards in all their glory. There were the royal barges bearing the Prince Regent, afterward King George IV, to the scene. Above all, there was the Duke of Wellington. At the toll gate he was granted the honor of paying the first halfpenny charged to pedestrians who wished to cross the bridge. The halfpenny was carefully preserved.

Over her bridges, London has always been solicitous. It was standing on old Westminster Bridge and gazing at the curving skyline of the city that Wordsworth wrote his incomparable sonnet beginning, "Earth has not anything to show more fair", and continuing:

*This city now doth like a garment wear
The beauty of the morning; silent, bare,
Ships, towers, domes, theatres and temples lie . . .
Dear God! the very houses seem asleep;
And all that mighty heart is lying still!*

MONTREAL TO PURCHASE MOTOR-CYCLES

Ald. J. M. Savignac is advocating more and better machines, to make the metropolitan motorcycle squad as efficient as possible. The need for faster cycles is noted from police reports and an effort will be made to stock the department with better machines so that speeding motorists will not out-speed the law, as has been the case in many recent instances.

CONSIDERING AERODROME IN CENTRE OF CITY

London is considering building an aerodrome in the heart of the city, according to reports. Experts have been asked to submit plans. The idea was said to have been favorably received as sure to favor the trade of the city.

Necessary capital for the construction of the airport was not expected to present an obstacle to the plan.

Of Waterloo Bridge, another poet, Thomas Hood, wrote what is perhaps the most pathetic of all poems in the language. It was entitled "The Bridge of Sighs" and tells of a girl, who, in despair, had thrown herself into the water below:

*Take her up tenderly,
Lift her with care,
Fashioned so slenderly,
Young, and so fair.
Alas! for the rarity
Of Christian charity
Under the sun!
Oh, it was pitiful.
Near a whole city full,
Home she had none!*

By the dark shadows of Waterloo Bridge at night, the luxuriant imagination of Charles Dickens was no less stirred. It was to him, as to Hood, a place where, in days before electric light, tragedy was possible.

The labor leader, John Burns, was once showing a party of Americans over the Houses of Parliament. They stood on the terrace and looked at the river. "You have a Mississippi in America," he said, "and a St. Lawrence, and they are bigger than this little stream. But let me tell you—the Thames is not a river. It is liquid history."

Of all the bridges in London that span the "liquid history," the most venerable is still called London Bridge. Wooden piles, tiles and coins indicate that it was first built by the Romans. For centuries it has been built and rebuilt.

A Span of History.

Under the bridge Anne Boleyn passed in her barge to the Tower of London and the block. Her daughter, Elizabeth, also made that journey and narrowly escaped the same fate. James II fled under the bridge into exile and, hoping to bring the government to a standstill, dropped his Great Seal of the Realm into the river, where it has remained to this day.

Here rose those medieval houses on the bridge itself that made it, like the Ponte Vecchio in Florence, not only a bridge but a street. There were fortified gates at the bridge and above them rose spikes of iron on which the heads of decapitated traitors were duly impaled—an inspiring sight for the watermen who filled the river with traffic.

Here, for 240 years, the tides were ingeniously used to furnish power for pumps which supplied the people with water from the Thames—a system more convenient than hygienic, which was only ended by act of Parliament in 1822.

It was to "a broken arch of London Bridge" that Macaulay issued his famous invitation to "some traveler from New Zealand." There, in days to come, let him "take his stand," and "in the midst of a vast solitude" let him "sketch the ruins of St. Paul's."

Macaulay did not realize that in 1894 there would be built the Tower Bridge with twin bascules to admit ships carrying visitors from New Zealand, or that, in order to preserve the ruins of St. Paul's, Dean Inge would raise a subscription to which New Zealanders of artistic temperament were cordially invited to contribute.

PROTECTING EX-SERVICE MEN

Successful tenderers for government contracts under the $40,000,000 program now being undertaken (notes the Amherstburg Echo) will be required to employ a quota of ex-service men on their work. Following a conference with Hon. H. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, it was decided that a clause would be inserted in each contract setting forth this obligation.

FREE PORT TEST CASE

An investigation is expected shortly into the legality of B. C. port charges and the argument that Victoria and Esquimalt are free port areas proclaimed in 1860 by an Imperial Order-in-Council which has never been rescinded.

One member of the Pattullo Government has averred that when British Columbia accepted the terms of Confederation she accepted the conditions of the British North America Act conferring Federal right of collection of customs and excise. A test case in the matter is considered probable.

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING IS LARGELY LIVER

Wake up your Liver Bile
—Without Calomel

You are "feeling punk" simply because your liver isn't pouring its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels. Digestion and elimination are both hampered, and your entire system is being poisoned.
What you need is a liver stimulant. Something that goes farther than salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum or roughage which only move the bowels—ignoring the real cause of trouble, your liver.
Take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Purely vegetable. No harsh calomel (mercury). Safe, sure. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. 25c. at all druggists.

DURING 30 YEARS

(Kitchener Record)

What were you doing thirty years ago, provided you were doing anything at all? Those of us who are enjoying a fairly successful life were probably doing something then which helped to advance us as the years went along. Had we been bootblacks thirty years ago, we might today be fairly prosperous businessmen.

But in rare cases do thirty years work such a transformation as has occurred with David Croll, the penniless immigrant bootblack of thirty years ago. Evidently he was a good bootblack until finally he became Mayor of Windsor, and now a member of the Ontario Cabinet.

If any bootblacks of today feel like grumbling, let them think of the meteoric career of David Croll.

Reads Handshake

London, England, has a resident, G. Brook, who claims to be able to read character infallibly from a handshake. "There are, roughly, seven different handshakes," he said—"the tepid, the too eager, the too firm, the hesitant, the unnatural, the too prolonged, and the fingertip handshake." Mr. Brook has found jobs for 10,000 men in all branches of business in the last few years, all by shaking hands with them. And he himself is as romantic as his system. He was once a newsboy; then he became a packer in a margarine factory, a shop assistant, and a sales manager with a salary of $10,000 a year.

Biblical Manna

The Hebrew university at Jerusalem has made a careful study of manna, the mysterious food product with which the Israelites were sustained while wandering in the desert. Scientists at the university concluded that manna contained sugar, glucose, fructose and saccharose and came from the sap of a species of tamarisk tree. The manna is formed when a tiny insect pierces the bark and causes the sap to exude and crystallize in white grains.

Co-Operation Necessary

Today success comes only to those who can co-operate. Getting along with others is the very essence of getting ahead in these times.—Feather

IN PREPARATION FOR ELECTIONS

Forecasts on the date of federal elections would suggest there will be no appeal to the voters until next spring. It is noted, however, that a step in preparation for the event has been made, in the appointment of Returning Officers for all federal constituencies. Mr. Gaetan Valois will fill the office again in this County.

W.A. CONFERENCE HELD AT GRENVILLE

The Annual Conference of St. Andrew's Deanery W. A. was held at Grenville on Tuesday of this week. A large number of delegates was present from Buckingham, Arundel, Weir, The Glen, Lakefield, Morin Heights, Rockway and St. Andrews East, the Calumet and Grenville branches being joint hostesses. There were also many delegates from parishes in which there is no W. A. branch.

The proceedings opened with a celebration of the Holy Communion in historic old St. Matthew's Church. The Rev. K. N. Brouton was the celebrant, and Rev. R. S. Booy, Rural Dean, preached an effective sermon from the words in St. John's Second Epistle, "The elect lady and her children." Miss Pearl Dawson was the organist.

Lunch was served by the joint hostesses in the Masons' Hall, after which the conference was resumed in the Church. Mrs. R. B. White, President of the Grenville Branch, was in the chair. Addresses were given by Mrs. Strachen, President of the Diocesan W.A., Mrs. G. S. Leigh, Treasurer, and Mrs. Loisele, Acting Secretary of the Diocesan W.A. Following the addresses a "Question Box" period was observed, during which many points in connection with W.A. work were cleaned up.

Before the delegates dispersed, a supper was served in the Masonic Hall. Canon Garret, of Hawkesbury, on behalf of the visitors, thanked the ladies for their lavish hospitality, and Mrs. W. E. Bridgen, President of Calumet W.A. made a suitable response.

On the invitation of Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, the Conference will be held at Papineauville next year.

WILL ROGERS THINKS ENGLISH ARE SMART

"The English are the smartest white people there is", was Will Rogers' comment on a Hyde Park session he witnessed, in which 5,000 Fascists demonstrated and 5,000 Anti-Fascists counter-demonstrated with 6,000 police to keep order. "They will never have Communism, Fascism, Hitlerism, or Nudism," the United States cowboy-showman declared. STE. THERESE MINISTER KILLED ON HUNTING TRIP

Rifle Bullet Penetrated Temple Was Successor to Rev. Strange, Now Residing in Lachute

Widely felt sorrow followed the tragic death of a young minister, Rev. E. Baskin Froats, of the United Church at Ste. Therese, who entered his first charge at that town succeeding Rev. Mr. Strange, who resigned on account of ill health and has since been residing in Lachute.

The mishap occurred Monday afternoon at St. Henri de Mascouche, where Rev. Froats, 24-year-old minister, was visiting his wife's home. The young man, who was married only three weeks ago and ordained minister one month ago, was hunting with his brother-in-law. Both were walking through the woods, when they saw a partridge a short distance away. In order not to scare the bird both hunters tried to hide themselves in the bushes. Mr. Froats was in the act of climbing a wire fence when he suddenly lost his balance and fell to the ground. There was a shot and the minister lay still.

The brother-in-law rushed to Mr. Froats' assistance and found that he was shot through the right temple. Dr. Gerard Mathieu, the district coroner, was immediately summoned. He examined the body and pronounced the Rev. Froats dead, stating that he had been killed by the bullet which had discharged from his .22 calibre rifle.

Examination of the scene revealed that when Mr. Froats was climbing the fence his foot became caught in the wire and he fell. He landed on top of his gun and a twig apparently became caught in the trigger of the weapon, discharging it with the weight of the falling body.

Rev. Mr. Froats was well-liked by the residents of Ste. Therese de Blainville, where he lived. News of his death soon reached his home town and his bride of three weeks was notified by a minister of St. Henri de Mascouche.

Born in Ottawa in 1910, E. Baskin Froats studied theology at the United Theological College, Montreal, where he distinguished himself both scholastically and in extra-curricular activities. Graduating with honors last spring, he was ordained in June and accepted a call to the United Church of Ste. Therese de Blainville, where he took up his duties July 1.

On August 20 last, he was married to Sadie Mabel Orr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Orr, St. Henri de Mascouche. The young couple were visiting Mrs. Froats' parents when the fatal accident occurred.

At an inquest held under Dr. Gerard Mathieu, coroner of the district, a verdict of accidental death was returned.

STE. ADELE AUTO ACCIDENT TAKES TOLL

Mrs. Hugh Brown, 36-year-old resident of Montreal, succumbed last week to injuries sustained in an automobile accident on the Mont Laurier Highway between Piedmont and Ste. Adele.

Montreal General Hospital authorities were informed that the victim was in an automobile travelling northwards on Aug. 26, when halfway between Piedmont and Ste. Adele, another automobile struck it in the rear and the driver lost control, with the result that his vehicle crashed through a fence and went into a fifteen-foot ditch. The auto turned over and caught fire.

The occupants managed to get out, but three of them, including Mrs. Brown, were injured.

HOUSE WEDDING AT BROWNSBURG

Gardiner — Thibeault

The marriage of Blanche Bertha, daughter of Mrs. J. Simard, of Moonbeam, Ont., to Mr. H. Manly Gardiner, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gardiner, of Brownsburg, Que., took place quietly at the home of Mrs. Jas. Reid, at Brownsburg, the Rev. Henry Cousens officiating.

The house was prettily decorated in yellow and white, and the cut flowers were gladioli and asters. The wedding march was played by Mr. Alex. McCulloch.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Jas. Reid, was unattended. She wore a gown of heavy brown crepe, a brown felt hat and carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner left on a motor trip to Sherbrooke and other points, the bride travelling in a heavy brown cloth suit trimmed with fur, brown felt hat and accessories. On their return they will reside in Brownsburg.

ST. ANDREWS SCOUTS HAD ACTIVE SUMMER

The officers of the St. Andrews Boy Scout Troop report that the summer season of 1934 has been the most strenuous, and at the same time the most successful, since the formation of the troop in 1931. A summer program was planned in the spring, and this was carried out with remarkable success. There are three officers in the troop—Mr. Alner Snowden, S.M., John H. DeWitt, A.S.M., Harry K. Kay, chaplain—known collectively as the Scout Officers' Club.

At the unveiling of the Cairn to commemorate the establishing, in St. Andrews one hundred years ago, of the first paper mill in Canada, the officers were able to co-operate with the local branch of the Quebec Women's Institute. The troop paraded in full uniform and supplied the Guard of Honour for Sir George Perley, who was a guest speaker at the function. Sir George, on inspecting the troop, gave an address of appreciation to the boys, congratulating them on their smartness and encouraging their endeavours.

In July the principal of a Montreal school made a plea on behalf of boys of unemployed parents who were unable to afford a holiday for their children, and asked that some assistance be offered to give a number of boys a holiday in the country. The matter was taken up by the Scout Officers' Club and a plan was formulated and carried to a successful conclusion. The chaplain outlined the scheme to

OCTOGENARIAN PASSED AT CUSHING

The Late John Graham

The death of Mr. John Graham of Cushing is recorded, on Tuesday, 11th. inst., at the home of his sister, Miss C. Graham. He had resided at this spot for the last few years; although a native of Cushing he had spent much of his life in California. At the time of his death Mr. Graham was in his 83rd year.

He is survived by three sisters, Misses Christie and Margaret Graham at home, and Mrs. W. Candlish, of Verdun. Mr. Graham was a son of the late Archibald Graham and Janet Black; he was a bachelor.

The funeral will be held tomorrow, Friday, at the residence, interment following in the St. Andrews East cemetery. Rev. J. W. Maclean will officiate, and the pall-bearers will include five nephews of the deceased—William, Andrew, Richard, Archie and Fred (sons of the late Andrew Graham), and D. W. Candlish, of Montreal.

JUST GOSSIP --- OR COULD IT BE TRUE?

Among rumors to reach the editorial ear is one concerning a certain local citizen. It is related that, when his cat retired to a neighbor's cellar and gave birth to five kittens, the owner received a bill from the proprietor of the cellar. The amount was five dollars "for confinement" — presumably at one dollar per kitten.

The congregation of the St. Andrews United Church and asked them to subscribe a sum of money sufficient to finance a seven day camp for eight school boys. The scheme was so enthusiastically received that within fifteen minutes of the appeal being made the members of the congregation had subscribed sufficient capital to make possible a seven day camp for eleven boys.

The St. Andrews troop offered all of its camp equipment for use in carrying out the scheme, and the chairman of the local Group Committee put at the officers' disposal an excellent camp site and offered free transportation of all the equipment. A local merchant, a member of the Group Committee, offered the transportation of provisions at intervals of three days during the camp period. The Officers' Club carried out the whole of the detail work and organizing of the camp and spent the seven days under canvas with the boys, supervising camp routine, swimming, sports, pastimes, and devotional exercises.

The Montreal school boys left camp for their homes on Saturday, August 4th., after having what they described as "a great time." On the following Monday, August 6th., the St. Andrews troop moved into camp for their third annual camp of ten days. There were eleven boys and three officers in camp, the weather was ideal, the cook was in excellent form, and it was unanimously agreed that the 1934 camp was better than ever and that the ten days passed all too quickly. Mr. F. G. Hicks, the Provincial Field Secretary, paid a visit to the camp and expressed himself as being well pleased with the general lay-out, sanitary arrangements, and the care taken of the boys.

The next venture of these energetic officers was a departure from the usual. They secured the loan of a motion picture projector and a number of films, and sponsored a motion picture show in the Presbyterian Church Hall. The

RAILWAYS TO HOLD A MAPLE LEAF CONTEST

Chance for Local Entries

Leaves Must Be Found Within Two Miles of Station

It is believed that nowhere in Canada is there more beautiful coloring at this time of year than in the woods of the Laurentians throughout this and adjoining counties. Local inhabitants have opportunity to select choice specimens of maple leaves and submit them for competition.

The sheer beauty of autumn foliage in the Canadian forests is again being emphasized by the Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian National Railways according to their statement announcing a nation-wide Maple Leaf Contest. This competition, designed to encourage a greater interest in the Canadian autumn scene, offers an opportunity for Canadians to combine their knowledge of their national emblem with their appreciation of the magnificent coloring which makes a visit to the autumn countryside so attractive. The competition is divided into two phases, first for the most beautiful leaf, and secondly, for the largest leaf, and is being conducted on a wider and more comprehensive scale than the first competition which was held last year, when the public submitted more than ten thousand leaves for the consideration of the judges elected from the Royal Canadian Academy.

GAME WARDENS DEPLORE DUCK-HUNTING RUSE

Unsporting Practice on Quebec Lakes

Duck hunters using motorboats to dash into a duck cove in a swampy part of a lake, scare into the air a large flock, and then fell them speedily through shot from double-barrelled shotguns, commit a serious offence, and if caught by Quebec's Fish and Game Wardens face a fine of $50 and costs, also confiscation of all hunting equipment, including the motorboats. A warning to this effect has been issued by K. A. Barbeau, chief fish and game inspector of the District of Montreal.

He added that hunters may proceed to the scene of a duck cove in a motorboat, but that they must do their hunting from rowboats if on water—"this in order to give the game a chance, and, at the same time, to maintain the spirit of true sportsmanship in the province of Quebec."

LACHUTE -- ST. ANDREWS POOR MAIL SERVICE

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor, The Watchman,

For several years I have observed a method of carrying mail which, from the viewpoint of efficiency, I have difficulty in understanding why it was adopted and why it has continued so long without protest.

Lachute is a town of over four thousand population, St. Andrews is a village of about eight hundred population. These two centers are only a little over six miles apart. A considerable quantity of mail matter passes between the two places in question.

In Lachute there is published a popular Weekly, in the columns of which the various churches and other institutions in St. Andrews advertise extensively. There is much inconvenience caused by having to send mail by way of Montreal, which is between forty-five and fifty miles from the communities referred to. In order to get news and advertising matter inserted in the "Watchman" it must be mailed at St. Andrews East on Monday, three or four days before the paper is published. This is because letters going by Montreal take from two to three days to reach Lachute.

Why this annoying delay? For years mail has been carried between Lachute and a point approximately one mile and a half from St. Andrews East. This is still going on. Surely it would not cost much more to come to St. Andrews and thus greatly increase facilities for the transit of mail between the points referred to above. Perhaps someone can give an adequate explanation for the present arrangement that does not appear to be very economical, and certainly not practicable.

—J. Macaskill.

APPRECIATION FOR FLOWERS

CORRESPONDENCE

Montreal, August 31st., 1934.

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Flower Committee of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies I wish to take this opportunity of thanking, through the columns of your paper, the people of Lachute who have done so much to bring a note of brightness and cheer into the lives of thousands of Montreal's sick and unfortunate.

A large majority of the children frequenting our playgrounds have never been away to the country for even a brief holiday and they can only visualize its beauties through those little bouquets which they receive from the kind people who live outside of Montreal and share with them each week some of the flowers from their gardens. They were also a source of great comfort to many people confined to their beds through illness, or tired and discouraged by the struggle of life in these troublesome times.

The little potted plants were received again with much pleasure and will be tended with loving hands throughout the long winter.

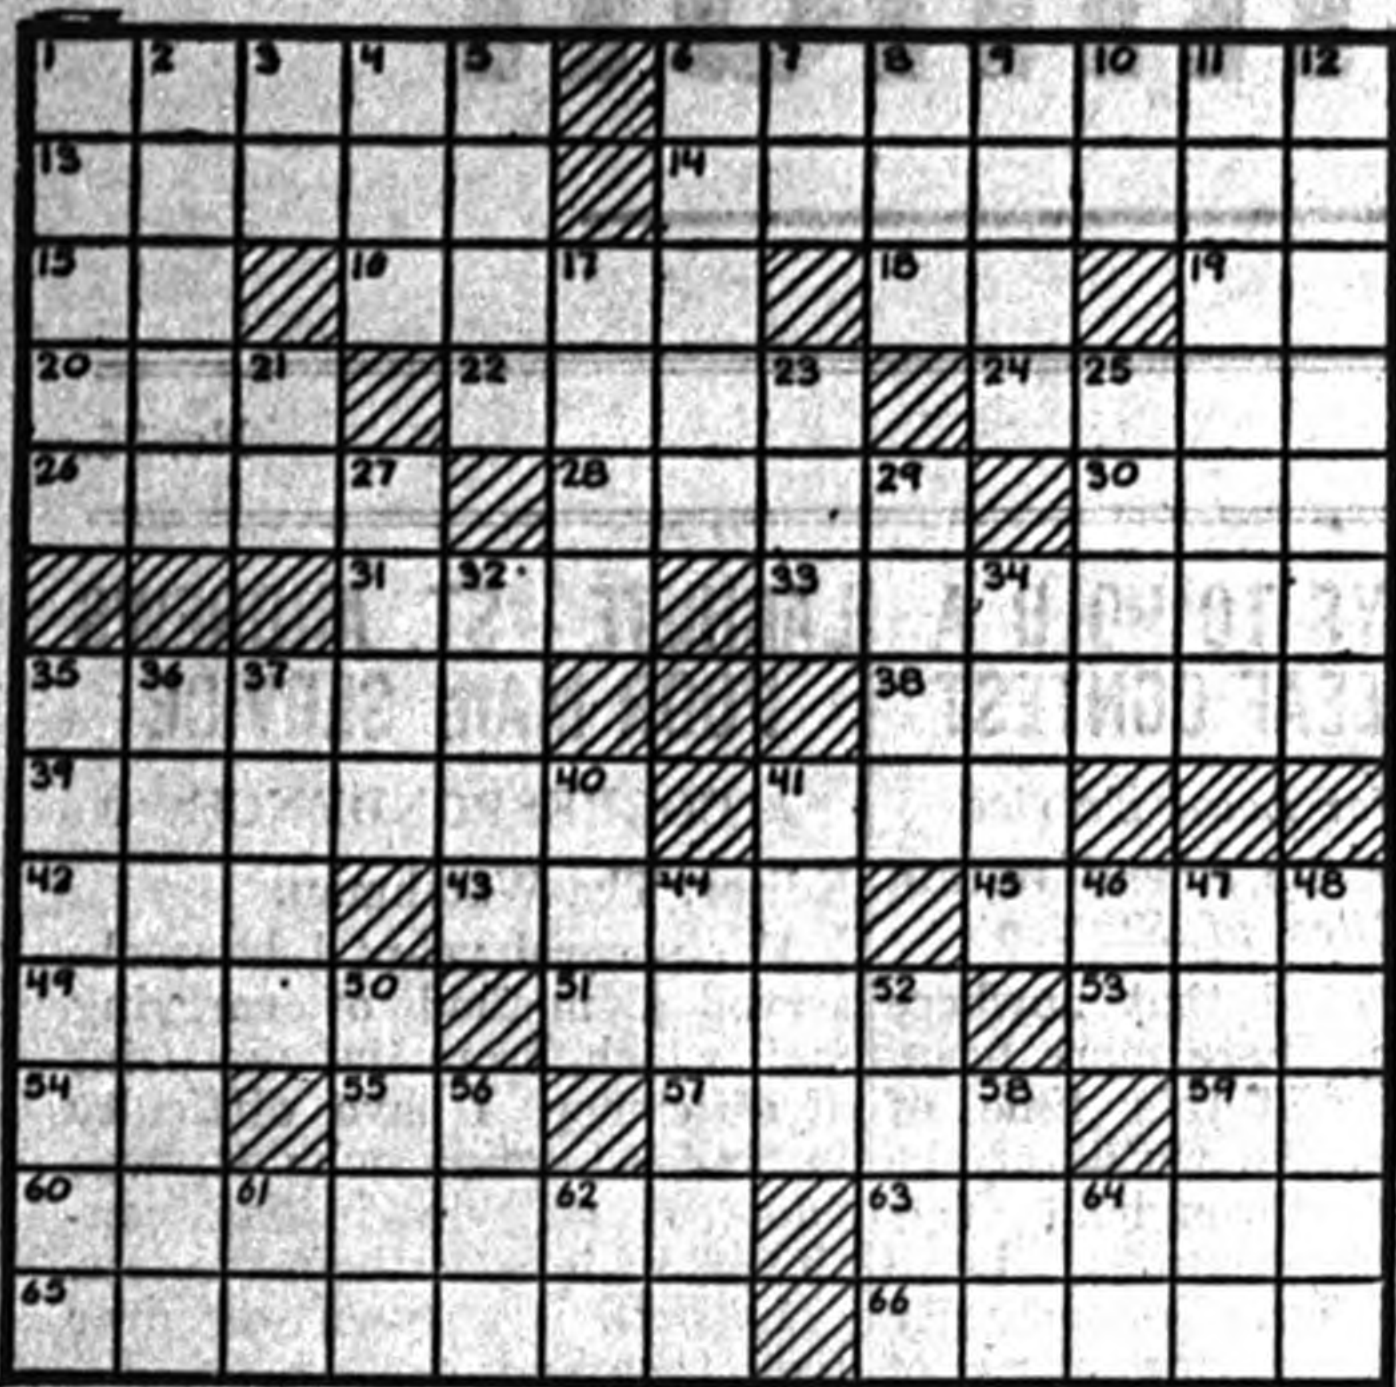

I wish to express therefore, the sincerest thanks of the Committee to all those who helped in any way in this most worthy work and hope that we may continue to have your co-operation another year.

(Signed)

Hazel S. Bishop, Secretary, Flower Committee.

BARGAIN HUNTERS

A celebrated speaker from the Maritime Provinces, in an address this week, condemned the modern age as being "bargain hunters". We can remember another speaker who frequently brought into his remarks the fact that every bargain is purchased at the expense of someone.

Just how much misery and trouble today can be traced directly to the mad scramble to get something for little or nothing cannot be estimated. There is one thing, however, that should be remembered and that is that the big stores who forced down the workmen's wages should not bear all the blame. The buyer who was always on the lookout for cheaper goods also contributed his share to the trouble, for he created the incentive to the stores to drive down prices.

However, it is not always the storekeeper, manufacturer or manufacturers' employees who pay for the privilege of giving a bargain to the ultimate consumer. Sometimes and frequently it is the consumer himself who pays dearly for his bargain. In a local factory recently we were shown an article which was being made, and the foreman showed us how it could be well and strongly made or else slapped together for a cheap price and the difference could only be found by taking the article to pieces, and even then the ordinary purchaser might not know why there was a difference. In this case the bargain hunter would pay for his bargain.

Surely Easy for Jury to Believe One Story

Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway at a dinner in Little Rock laughed about the manifold defenses set up by a politician who had gone back on the farmer.

"All these defenses," Senator Caraway said, "remind me of Lawyer Isaacs and the hog-stealing case. To defend this case wasn't easy, for the fool who was accused of stealing the hog had told a dozen different stories about the way the hog came into his possession, and of course, the other side showed that this was a very ridiculous action on his part."

"Isaacs, a funny little chap, wound up his speech for the defense with the words: "Gentlemen of the jury, it has been proved that my unfortunate client has told no less than 11 stories to account for his possession of the hog. The hog followed him home, a policeman sneaked it into his hog pen as a frameup, he bought it for $19.75, it was given him by his deceased uncle, he found it on the high road, and so forth and so on."

"Now, gentlemen of the jury, I don't ask you to believe all these stories, plausible as they are. No, that would be too great a tax on your credulity. But I do ask you to believe one of them. One, just one, gentlemen—anyone you choose—believe just one out of the eleven, and I am positive my unfortunate client will be acquitted."—Springfield Union.

Sometimes I am soft, sometimes I am hard, Sometimes I am rather cold. I am found on lakes, on mountain streams,

When the year is growing old. I am found in many, many lands

But not quite in them all, I am found on fields, on back door steps

I am small, oh, very small!

"No! no!" shrieked Carl, as Whipper-Snapper came so near to him that the end of the wiggling thing she carried in her hand was almost touching his face. "Don't touch me, don't let that thing bite me!—I'll be good . . . I promise you I will". Something sharp and stinging struck him in the face; his eyes flew open. There was no cave there. Just salty water all around him, and the wind was dashing it into his face. The tide had come and surrounded him, as he had slept. It was not very deep as yet, but was getting deeper all the time. He looked wildly around. "Aunt May! Aunt May!" he shouted, but the splash of the waves drowned the sound of his voice. No-one heard him, besides the picnic was over and Aunt May and his cousins were listening to Aunt Jean's little pupils giving their recitations over the radio, quite sure that he was safe with his mother—if they thought about him at all.

A big wave swept him off his feet, carried him out a bit, then swept him towards the shore again. He started to swim. He had never done it without his mother's rope fastened to his waist, but he would just keep going and make believe that Mummie was holding him. In a very short time he was out of the water and running ahead of the waves that seemed to be reaching out to grasp him, their slap-slap-slap on the beach sounding just like Whipper-Snapper's whip; but there was no sign of Whipper-Snapper, or the blue-eyed fairy anywhere. Some bunch of seaweed swayed and tossed with the wind, but he was out of their reach.

Wet and breathless, he dashed into the room where Auntie May and his cousins were. "Why, child, where have you been? and what has happened to make you so wet?"

For a moment his old blustering spirit took possession of him and he was just starting to say boastfully, "Oh, I was away out in the ocean, and just got back"—when he remembered Whipper-Snapper and his promise to her; so he stuttered instead, "I-I-I fell asleep by the big rock and the silly old tide came in and wet me." "You poor child," said his Auntie May, "you might have been carried out to sea, and we would never have known where you had gone to. I thought you had gone with your mother when you did not answer my call—but of course you did not hear me if you were asleep." Carl was tempted to let Auntie still think that he did not hear her, but he had promised to be good, and he supposed he would have to begin right away; so with a little sigh, he said, "I did hear you, Auntie May, but I was just sulky and cross and did not answer, and—and I also ate the tarts that Dickie got punished for, and I guess I am just a real bad boy." As he said this his voice broke; he ran and hid his face on Auntie May's shoulder. "You have been a bad boy, Carl, but you are sorry, I can see, and you are going to be good from this on, are you not?"

Carl could not trust himself to speak, but nodded his head vigorously, then ran out of the room to change his wet clothing, before his mother would come and worry in case he might have caught cold. Next morning Carl ran down to the big rock and stood looking at the water. There was no blue-eyed fairy this morning, but he knew quite well that he had seen one the day before, who must be hiding somewhere around. Stooping down he caught some water in his hands and let it trickle slowly through his fingers. "I am not going to be afraid of you any more," he said to it softly, "I know that I can swim, and I am not going to tell lies any more, or act them either. I am just going to be a real happy little boy from now on." Drooping to his hands and knees he turned somersaults up the beach to the cottage, while the waves made a lapping sound very much like the soft pleased laughter of fairies, and a little bird sang sweetly on a syringa bush near by.

C-I-L ERECTING NEW PLANT

Shawinigan Falls—Construction of the first hydrogen peroxide plant in Canada has been commenced here as an extension to the factory where Canadian Industries Limited manufacturers "Cellophane" under contract with the Du Pont Cellophane Company, Inc. The work is being carried out by Fraser, Brace Ltd. who were responsible for the erection of the rest of the factory, and the cost is estimated to be around $250,000.

C-I-L officials state that the hydrogen peroxide, which is widely used for bleaching in the textile trade and as an oxidizing agent in dyeing, will be manufactured in Canada by special arrangement with B. Laporte Ltd., of Luton, England, who have been producing it since 1888.

The raw materials for the hydrogen peroxide will be ammonia made synthetically at Sandwich, Ont., and sulphuric acid made at Copper Cliff, Ont., while the power which is necessary for the process will be supplied by the Shawinigan Water & Power Co.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 16th., is "Substance." The Golden Text is: "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus." (Philippians 4: 19).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy:—

" Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? . . . for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matthew 6: 31-33)

"In divine Science, man is sustained by God, the divine Principle of being. The earth, at God's command, brings forth food for man's use. Knowing, this Jesus once said, "Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink,"—presuming not on the prerogative of his creator, but recognizing God, the Father and Mother of all, as able to feed and clothe man as He doth the lilies." Among the Ottawa contingent for the Nile expedition are two young men, formerly of Lachute, Wm. Hay Jr. and Wm. McRae, the former son of Wm. Hay and the latter of Jno. McRae. We trust for their return home after settlement of the Nile difficulties and of the Mahdi also.

At the meeting of Lachute Council held on the 16th., R. G. Meikle presented a petition asking the Council to pass a by-law granting him the privilege to erect suitable buildings in this parish for the storage of gun-powder and other explosives. Same was granted on motion of councillor Dunderidge, seconded by councillor Fish.

After a protracted illness, and at the age of 73 years, the inhabitant of the now lifeless form of Mr. Matthew Rodgers sr. of this township, has fled to that unknown region from whence there is no return. His body was exorted to Trinity Church, Lakefield, and the sermon was given by Rev. C. Boyde who took his text from 2nd. Cor. Chapter 5, verse 6.

A DUMB CLUCK

Mrs. Jones was spending a day in bed with a severe cough, and her husband was working in the back yard, and hammering nails into some boards. Presently his neighbor came over.

UNPAID TAXES BUILD A CITY HALL

The Rotarian Magazine tells how unpaid taxes amounting to $36,000 in Brawley, a California city of 10,000 population, have been converted to a civic asset.

Men delinquent in taxes were given the chance to help make adobe brick, haul materials and otherwise do their bit in building a new city hall. More than five hundred men responded—and a fine building, replacing the one burned in 1929, is the result. It was first necessary to finance the unemployed men eager to have their tax bills struck off the list. Some tax delinquent merchants, for example, furnished them with food. In one instance, the owner of a store building owed a big tax bill, the man who rented the store owed his landlord six months' rent, and twenty laborers owed the store-keeper. Some arithmetical gymnastics cleaned up all accounts—and everyone involved in the transaction was satisfied.

SUBURB OF OTTAWA CUT WATER SUPPLY

Due to their failure to meet payment of water rates, a large number of residents of the town of Eastview, a suburb of Ottawa, who were on relief, were without water recently when the town's authorities ordered the service discontinued to all those in arrears.

LONDON CRIPPLED BY POWER FAILURE

One of the most extensive electrical power failures in the city's history plunged Greater London recently into considerable confusion. The break affected places as far as Croydon, Cambridge and Southend.

Thousands of homes and public institutions were deprived of light and heat for cooking and other uses. Many parts of North London were without tram services, and traffic lights were out over a wide area. Failure of the lights disorganized traffic for about one hour when service in almost all sections was restored.

VANCOUVER EXPERIMENTS WITH NEW TYPE LIGHTING

For the past few months the City of Vancouver has been experimenting with an entirely new light source—one never before used in this country, but a lamp which has met with considerable success in England. This is the General Electric high efficiency or high-pressure mercury vapour lamp. The City of Vancouver has been trying out a number of these new lamps to ascertain their suitability for street lighting.

The mercury vapour lamps, supplied by the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., consume 400 watts which is equal in efficiency to about a 50-watt mazda lamp. The light emitted is bluish in colour, giving an acuity of vision said to be unequalled by incandescent filament lamps.

The increased efficiency of these new lamps has made it possible to illuminate city streets with a brilliancy and economy of current consumption unapproached by the older system. Glare has been reduced to a minimum and an additional feature is that these new lamps are less susceptible to vibration than the ordinary gas filled lamps owing to the fact that they carry no filament.

SHOULD STUDY CHEMISTRY

City officials (and press reporters) at Pasadena, Cal., were considerably alarmed when a workman accidentally created 100 gallons of nitroglycerine. Professor W. N. Lacey, explosive expert of the California Institute of Technology, saved the day.

Officials of the Crown City Plating Works, two blocks from the city's principal intersection, informed police a workman had accidentally poured three gallons of nitric acid into a tank of glycerine and sulphuric acid.

Police and firemen roped off two city blocks and rushed Prof. Lacey to the plant. He quickly selected a number of chemicals from shelves and poured them into the batch of nitroglycerine, neutralizing the explosive.

McLaughlin of Oshawa for competition among members of The Seignior Club. Class 11 scheduled for Friday afternoon, September 14, covers the requirements for

LONG SERVICE RECORDS IN PERSONNEL OF STANDARD BRANDS

Coming forward with a unique claim for longevity among employees, Standard Brands Limited has published in its monthly house organ, "The Bulletin", a list of 32 men and women who have been in their employ for 25 years or more. They total 1025 years of service. Four of the list have been employed by the company for 40 years or more.

Veteran among the men is John Anderson, Vice-president, who has been identified with the Chase & Sanborn division of the Company for 48 years. Another Vice-president, W. C. Lecke is included in the honor list, while Charles E. Moyle, General Sales Manager, has 32 years of steady service to his credit. The remainder of the list is composed chiefly of department heads, assistants to the trophy. It is for saddle horses owned by Seignior Club members, the trophy to be in the possession of the winner for a year and to be competed for here annually.

The trot and pace races offer $200.00 prizes and call for three out of five heats. The trot and pace races and flat racing will be held on Sunday, the final day of the Show, with a steeplechase as an added attraction. Show ring events occupy the spotlight for the first three days of the Seignior Show.

As the Seignior Club Show is one of the most important in Eastern Canada, the show grounds and the Log Chateau will be open to the public during the four days, September 13 to 16. Refreshments and light lunches will be served at the show grounds to accommodate spectators and exhibitors.

The small exhibitor has been taken care of in the catalogue by the inclusion of classes in all branches of the Show specially designed to encourage the owner of one or two horses. Local exhibitors living in Montreal and Ottawa will enter special classes arranged for exhibitors living within a radius of 125 miles of Montebello, P. Q., which is the railway station of the Seignior Club.

officers, superintendents, plant managers and foremen, most of whom joined the company as boys and have grown up with the organization.

THE TOWN CLERK

(By Luz, in "Local Authority")

It is doubtful whether any attempt has yet been made to clearly define the status of the town clerk in the community. Indubitably, it is a responsible one. As the executive officer of the council, and the medium through which councillors control and maintain the varied activities of the municipality, he occupies a position which is clothed with dignity.

Amongst the uninformed, or unthinking, there is an erroneous impression that the prime office of the town clerk is merely to supervise the smooth functioning of the corporation activities. While necessarily he must maintain close touch with every department of the communal enterprise of which he is in charge, this represents but a tithe of the work which falls to his lot; indeed, to determine where his duties end would tax the wisdom of Solomon, for the reason that anything which concerns the ratepayers is, directly or indirectly, his concern. He is the link between the council and the people, the advisor and mentor of inexperienced councillors, the right hand of the mayor, and the nominal custodian of the ratepayers' interests and property.

In many ways the town clerk shapes the destiny of a town or city, while upon his clear reasoning and sound knowledge depends, to a large extent, the elucidation of many knotty problems which constantly confront councillors. A faulty decision on the part of the town clerk may quite possibly mulct the corporation in considerable loss, or involve it in expenditure in wasteful or unproductive directions.

The office of town clerk calls for the possession of tact in the handling of men and situations, courtesy, and administrative ability to a degree not requisite in most other walks of life. It demands enthusiasm of a high order, the capacity to meet and overcome any difficulties or exigencies which may arise, and an abundance of energy. All these qualities are part and parcel of the town clerk's equipment and he finds constant employment for each. The success of civic functions rests largely upon the organization and discrimination of the town clerk, while he relieves the mayor of a host of petty details and vexations, and this materially influences the pleasure of the latter's term of office.

In private life the town clerk is a potent factor in the social affairs of the community. It is contended in some quarters that a town clerk has no private life, but that, like our worthy friend the policeman, he is always on duty. Be that as it may, he is always ready to associate himself with any movement to promote the interests of his town or state, and in this domain his wide knowledge is of special value.

It can be said without fear of contradiction that many of our town clerks are possessed of outstanding qualifications which would enable them to command highly remunerative and less exacting positions in the commercial sphere. Such is their enthusiasm for, and whole hearted interest in local government work, however, that they have deliberately sacrificed opportunities for such preferment.

Because of the position of responsibility and trust he occupies, and the special and lengthy training he must undergo to fit himself for the efficient performance of the duties attached to his office, the town clerk deserves well at the hands of ratepayers.

ST. ANDREWS BOY SCOUTS REPORT ACTIVE SUMMER

Films were obtained from various departments of the Dominion government, and were of an unusually interesting nature in addition to being instructive. A crowded house of Scouts, their parents, and friends enjoyed every moment of this program, and a silver collection brought in a substantial sum for the benefit of the Troop funds.

As a conclusion to their busy season the officers organized the Annual Church Parade of the Boy Scout Troops of Argenteuil County. This annual event had never before been held in St. Andrews, and the officers deserve special praise for the able manner in which they prepared and carried out the arrangements. The day will long be remembered, not only by Scouts but by the citizens, as one of the "red letter" days in the records of the St. Andrews Troop. Considering that the troop has been in existence for only three and a half years the officers are to be congratulated on their achievements. In that short time, through their energy and devotion, they have built up a strong troop which owns much camp equipment, have successfully organized four camps, and can boast of a balanced budget.

The Ottawa Spotlight

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, September 11.—Another drive for National government has been launched from Montreal to Toronto, but it made little or no impression on the capital. That is the odd feature of all these 'National Government' crusades which have been in evidence the past two or three years. One would think that the logical place for national government sentiment to sprout would be among the various political parties. But certain interests, chiefly financial, appear to feel that only with a coalition government representing all parties, can the federal budget be balanced or the grave railway problem ever be solved. At the depth of the depression it was at least conceivable that a drive to drop all party politics and unite on a common front to defeat the depression would have met with some success. It was, as a matter of fact, never considered by the government of the day, and the whole political pattern has changed so much since then that it is now practically unthinkable.

Hardly Worth Debating

The reasons why we shall not have a National Government are so obvious and so potent that it is hardly worth while laboring the point. The hour-glass of the present administration is about run. Its days are numbered. The result of recent elections have given the Liberals the expectation that when the next appeal to the public is made, they will be given the job of running the country. To invite Mr. Mackenzie King now, to join in a National Government is equivalent to asking him to exchange a virtually certain premiership—as he sees it—for a secondary cabinet seat (what would they make him, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Railways, or Labor?) in a coalition government. Nothing doing, says Mr. King. And it is hardly fair to the present Conservative government to suggest this kind of thing. To their credit, I think, it must be said that they are taking the stand that according to their lights they have served the country well, and will go to the next poll with a clear conscience and sincerely hopeful of being endorsed for a second term.

Not C. C. F. Either

If National Government would not attract the Liberals, how could it succeed? It would not even entice the C.C.F., judging by the expressed sentiments of the C. C. F. leaders. Indeed, any kind of coalition between Liberals and Conservatives would be held up by the C. C. F. as proving their contention that there is little to choose between the two parties, and that they both represent a similar system and political philosophy. The C. C. F. is claimed to stand for the eliminating of private profit and the operation of all basic industry for the common good of the country. Both Liberals and Conservatives are still pledged to support a measure of private ownership and operation for private gain.

No Fall Session?

The prospects of a fall session of parliament, which seemed likely when the last session prorogued, are fading. It now seems more probable that it will not begin until late in January.

The factors making for a fall session are, perhaps, as potent as ever, but intervening events make it difficult to work out a schedule which would permit of a beginning before the first of December. This would be of little value, because the Christmas adjournment invariably lasts three or four weeks, and the experience of the past is that little business is accomplished in brief pre-Christmas sittings. Members spend the whole time talking politics, and the same issues have to be threshed out all over again the following year.

The appointment of a 37 year old economist to be the first governor of the Bank of Canada will appeal to the monetary reformers. It looks as though the new institution should be vigorous and forward-looking. The Royal Bank is good training for that sort of thing.

Typewriter History

The first typewriter was introduced into England by Sir Alfred Yarrow, the famous ship builder. He bought the first dozen that came to this country from America 64 years ago. No one in his firm could use them, so he had to advertise for a typist. But as no one in England knew what a typist was, he had to advertise for "A short-hand writer who can play the piano!" Eventually he found a young man who quickly mastered the new instrument that is nowadays as commonplace an object as a fountain pen.—London Mail.

Real Old World Fete

At Tarascon, in France, we think of Tartarin, the hero of Daudet's romance, and of Klag Rene, whose castle is now a prison. The festival of the Tarasque, the cruel monster of nearly 2,000 years ago, at Whit-tide, when St. Martha of Bethany, dressed as a beautiful girl, leads the Tarasque by a silk cord is a great merry-making. It is attended by people from all the neighboring towns, and the finery of the girls, with the fantastic costumes of the men, reward witnesses of this real old world fete.

Boston Scene of First Conversation by Phone

It was on October 9, 1876, that the first conversation ever held over a telephone line took place between the Boston and Cambridge offices of the Walworth Manufacturing company. Professor Bell was at the Boston end of the line and Mr. Watson was at the Cambridge end, the distance apart being about two miles. In the early days they used to say, instead of "Hello," "Ahoy," doubtless a relic of New England's familiarity with shipping. The first telephone exchange was opened by Edward T. Holmes. The first woman telephone operator was named Miss Emma Nutt. A year after the discovery of the telephone practically all the telephones in the world were in Boston and immediately surrounding cities and towns.

The New England Telephone company was organized in February, 1878, and was followed in July of that year by the incorporation of the Bell Telephone company, which was the predecessor to the American Telephone & Telegraph company, at present with its associated concerns the largest company from the standpoint of assets in the world.—Boston Herald.

Billfish a Fighter

Of the men who set out from Boston, Gloucester and Portland to catch swordfish, perhaps six during the entire season are fortunate enough to land billfishes. The billfish is rated more belligerent than the swordfish and can be landed only at great risk, yet swordfishermen think it all kinds of good luck to catch one.

The billfish is one of the foremost of the round-sworded spearfishes. Ordinarily it is an inhabitant of southern waters, but occasionally it accompanies a school of swordfish as far north as Georges bank. It varies from 6 to 20 feet in length and from 100 to 1,000 pounds in weight. In New England it is called the "skilbagee."

When harpooned, it will make spectacular charges at its attackers.

TO MUCH WEATHER

Someone, (was it Mark Twain?) said that everyone talks about the weather but no one does anything about it. We certainly seem to have too much weather. If it is hot it is too hot, if it is cold it is too cold. There will be no rain for weeks then. It will rain every day.—No moderation at all. We have had so few really nice days this summer. The heat has been terrific and then perhaps for one of the hottest of days the next day would be so cold that you could see your breath. A matter of fact we had a small fire in the furnace two evenings in the first week in August. And yet shortly before and directly after the heat was appalling. July was the only month this year that the furnace was not going. To make the matter worse I caught the worst cold I ever had on one of the hottest days of the summer. As to the cold last winter—let's not even think of it.

SCHOOL CHILDREN NEED PLENTY OF SLEEP

Isn't it a good thing that the evenings are getting dark early when school starts, as it makes the task of getting the children in on time a little easier. Plenty of sleep is one of the most important things in a child's life and yet there are too many mothers who neglect their children when it comes to looking after their sleep. Any excuse or none is enough to keep them out of bed. If your child is not doing as well at school as you think it should be you are sure that you yourself are not to blame? A child needs eleven hours in bed through most of its public school life and ten hours most nights while going to High School. It is up to the parents to see that he gets it as few children go to bed voluntarily. Children who do not get sufficient sleep cannot do good work at school.

PLAY

Do you think of play as just a means of putting in time or do you realize that it is a mental, moral and physical education? Children from the small baby, who plays with his toes and learns to use his hands and feet, to the teen-age, are constantly learning through play. When we grow up we are apt to forget the advantages of play. Women especially. They take themselves so seriously, whether it is their homes, their families or their outside activities. Most men never completely lose their desire to play. We have more facilities for creating leisure and we should learn how to use it, just as we have learned how to use the conveniences which provide that leisure. True, there are more women playing golf and bowling each year but the proportion of women who play is not nearly high enough. It would be good for us physically, but that is only a part of the benefit. To play properly we must feel light-hearted and can you tell me anything that is better for us or our families than to feel gay and happy? If you are one of those women who do not know how to play, change your ways and learn. You will find that your work will not suffer because we are like the children, if there is play in the offing our work will get finished in shorter time.

TWO FAVORITE RECIPES

Most of us have favorite recipes that we enjoy using because they make a hit with our guests. I am going to give you two green pepper recipes which my guests usually exclaim over. The Pepper Jelly is specially popular but most people seem to like the Pepper Pickle too.

PEPPER JELLY

2 cups ground sweet green peppers
6 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups vinegar
1 bottle pectin

Remove the seeds from the peppers and put through the grinder twice. Measure and pack solidly with peppers and just enough juice to flood the cups level. Add sugar and vinegar. Bring to a full rolling boil and set aside, uncovered for twenty minutes, stirring occasionally. Bring back again to a full rolling boil stirring constantly. Boil hard for two minutes. Remove from the fire and stir in pectin. Stir and skim in turns for just eight minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating. Pour into glasses and cover with a film of hot paraffin, adding a further layer of wax when the jelly is cold. Serve with meats or chicken.

PEPPER PICKLE

1 large cabbage
9 hot green peppers
9 hot red peppers
6 onions

Chop rather fine, sprinkle with 1/2 cup salt and let stand overnight. In the morning drain well and add 3/4 cup white mustard seed, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 4 cups white sugar. Cover with white wine vinegar, and stand on the stove until the sugar is melted but do not boil. Seal well and keep in a cool place. This keeps well although not cooked. Note: These two recipes require different peppers. The Jelly is made from sweet peppers and the Pepper Pickle from hot peppers.

GRAPE JUICE

10 pounds grapes
6 cups sugar
1 cup water

Wash the grapes and remove the stems. Add the water and cook until skins and pulp separate, stirring frequently. Drain in a jelly bag over night. In the morning add the sugar and bring to the boiling point. Pour in sterilized bottles and cork with sterilized corks. Dip the neck of the bottle in melted wax. To serve, add the desired amount of water.

WINNING ARGUMENTS IN SCHOLARS' DEBATE AT FRONTIER W. I.

Resolution Won by Affirmative Team in Interesting Issue

An interesting debate was held under auspices of the Frontier Women's Institute, at which scholars ably upheld both sides of a discussion, "Resolved that Montcalm was a better General than Wolfe." As reported in a brief paragraph last week, judgment was awarded in favor of the affirmative team, who, in support of the resolution, advanced the following arguments.

PART FIRST

"Resolved that Montcalm was a Better General Than Wolfe"

—We, the affirmative in this debate, side with Chavalier de Johnstone, author of one of the most valuable volumes of history given to the Canadian Archives in recent years, when we state that Montcalm was a better general than Wolfe.

Wolfe, this volume tells us, was just another bull in the empire China Shop, while Montcalm got a raw deal from his own people and from posterity. If Montcalm had had his own way Canada would still be part of France.

To prove these statements, we have referred not only to de Johnstone's book but have taken many points from "Canada's Story", by D. J. Dickie and Helen Palk, which is the new authorized history for use in our public schools. We have also referred to facts issued by the General Research Foundation Department of The Palmer Company of Toronto, all of which support our statement when we say that, we are resolved that Montcalm was a better general than Wolfe.

Point 1. Montcalm was an older and more experienced man than Wolfe. He was very clever in school and excelled in all his subjects while Wolfe had little schooling. Added to Montcalm's superior education was fourteen more years of fighting and commanding of men than Wolfe had.

Point 2. Montcalm was handicapped. —First, because at this time Vaudreuil was Governor and Bigot was Intendant. Both were unscrupulous officials who lived in great state in Quebec and cared little whether the country was lost or saved, so long as they gained their ends.

Second: Montcalm on his arrival found that he was to have command only over the regular soldiers who had come from France and fought for pay, while the Canadian Militia, a strong, brave and determined force who were fighting for their home and country, was under the command of Vaudreuil, the Governor, who as we have already stated was interested solely in himself, not so much interested in saving Canada. Montcalm himself was under the command of Vaudreuil.

Third: At first Vaudreuil and Bigot were very friendly towards Montcalm, but on finding that he was an honourable man, caring only to save the colony, they changed towards him and hampered him in every way possible.

Fourth: Vaudreuil divided and wasted the troops. A divided army is always in danger. Fifth: Bigot wasted the food and stores.

Sixth: Montcalm had no power to stop them. Vaudreuil, Bigot and their followers seemed bent on destruction. They hindered Montcalm at every point.

Point 3. In spite of these handicaps which made it difficult for him to feed his soldiers properly and keep up their morale, Montcalm in each of these three summers went out against the British and won brilliant victories at Oswego, William Henry and Ticonderoga.

Point 4. Wolfe seemed to have been smiled on by Fortune: first he was given command of the whole army; second Amherst, the British general before the coming of Wolfe, gave Wolfe his support in all things.

Point 5. Let us compare the circumstances in which Wolfe and Montcalm were placed. Montcalm in a country governed by unscrupulous rascals, hampered in every way possible, dealing with a divided army, weary and discouraged: Wolfe, young, full of life and having undisputed command of his troops and the co-operation of their leaders. Which one of these men had the better opportunity?

Point 6. We will now consider the battle at Quebec, where these two generals met. Montcalm deliberately declined to give the British general any satisfaction. His position was well-nigh impregnable and he feared to pit the Canadian Militia against regulars in the open field, being too good a general not to see that his best policy was to stand strictly on the defensive.

Point 7. For eleven weeks Montcalm guarded the Northern shore so well that nowhere could Wolfe effect a landing.

Point 8. Montcalm considered it better tactics to remain in fortified Quebec and refuse to fight, for the following reasons: First, the weeks of waiting would weaken the morale of the British soldiers. Second: Wolfe's forces would be steadily reduced through illness and disease born of the siege. Third: the coming of winter would eventually defeat the British by forcing them to withdraw.

Point 9. Dickie and Palk's History states that on the very night preceding the battle of The Plains of Abraham, Montcalm had ordered soldiers to be stationed where they would guard the cliff, but Governor Vaudreuil countermanded the order, telling the men to stay where they were. By this we see that Wolfe's attempt would have been a failure but for Vaudreuil. Montcalm being the better general foresaw every possibility.

At this point the first speaker left her fellow-debator to deal with Wolfe's failings, which he did in the following manner.

PART SECOND

Point 10.

Wolfe failed to observe even the primary principles of military art. He divided his army into three camps; one he placed at Point Levis, another upon the Isle of Orleans, and the third at Montmorency Falls, in such a manner that communication between the camps was cut off by two arms of the St. Lawrence.

Point 11.

If Vaudreuil had allowed Montcalm to fortify Cape Tormetno and to place a battery on the highest peak opposite the Isle of Conde as he wished to do, the British vessels would have been raked fore and aft and many of the troops in them would never have reached these positions to which they were mento and to place a battery on

Point 12.

It is singular that for two months, Wolfe remained inactive, when, being master of the river St. Lawrence by his ships of war which had passed in front of Quebec, he would have been able to send a detachment below the city to effect a landing wherever he pleased without finding the least opposition.

Point 13.

He limited himself to staging one single landing, at the village of Chambeaux, about thirteen leagues from Quebec, with a detachment of 200 men, but was no sooner on land than at the sight of the French Cavalry, which consisted of 200 Canadians which Chevalier Rochebeaucourt had drilled to form, rank and march together, they re-embarked at once, with precipitation and all the disorder possible, having remained scarcely three hours on the land.

Point 14.

Wolfe was desperate as time went on, and took chances that only a man would take. From a military standpoint his attack was foolhardy, but fortune favored him and he won. His landing at the foot of the Plains of Abraham was a rashness beyond imagination as a handful of men on the crest of the mountain would have been sufficient to repulse the British with only sticks and stones, and had not Montcalm's orders been countermanded by Vaudreuil sufficient men would have been there to have defeated Wolfe's attack.

Point 15.

De Johnstone tells us that even the landing of troops there on September 13th., was not thought of or planned by Wolfe himself. Two deserters from the French regiment had come to Wolfe and told him that Bougainville with a detachment at Cap Rouge had planned to bring down during the following night some ships laden with provisions. Thus encouraged, Wolfe commenced his landing at eleven o'clock, having passed two of the sentinal posts and replied to their challenge "Who goes there?" with "French ships with provisions." Finding no sentinal at the third post, Wolfe's troops were soon on their way to the Heights of the Plains of Abraham quite unmolested; but what would have become of Wolfe and his troops if Montcalm had not been prevented by Gov. Vaudreuil from placing men at that point? Can we wonder then, that this attack was outside considered foolhardy from a military standpoint.

Point 16.

In the morning when the British were marching across the plains of Abraham, Montcalm was further handicapped by having only three guns sent him to repulse them with, instead of the 25 he needed and asked for.

Point 17.

He had only eight small battalions of regulars to lead against the advancing enemy. These were soon swept away and Montcalm himself mortally wounded.

Point 18.

With Montcalm wounded there was no one to rally the French.

Point 19.

Wolfe's victory was the result of a daring but foolhardy gamble.

Point 20.

That Montcalm was correct from a military standpoint in his method of defending the besieged city proves that he was the better general.

Point 21.

The fact that this question is being raised in our public schools, in our newspapers, such as the Daily Star of May 19th., also goes to prove that Montcalm was unlucky although the better general.

Point 22.

We must not be carried away by prejudice or let our reasoning be "that Wolfe was British, therefore must be the better general." The British Empire has always stood for justice and we as Canadians should follow their example and concede that Montcalm was a military genius whose capacity was dwarfed by the opposition of others, who cared not for the welfare of their country but for their own gain. To do this we must admit that Montcalm was a better general than Wolfe.

HELP FROM LIFE INSURANCE

(From the Hamilton Spectator)

Few people appreciate the amount of money that is laid away in life insurance daily. It can be better estimated by the payments made by the insurance companies when it is known that these huge sums had been paid out of the savings of the policyholders throughout the nation. In 1933 these payments ran to the enormous sum of $3,465,224,187. Part of this was in endowment payment, but the greater part in beneficiary payments to relatives of deceased persons.

The sum thus paid out is nearly a billion greater than the net debt of Canada. It is more than the combined investments in the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. It is almost as great as Britain's debt to the United States. In Toronto alone insurance payments were made by the companies to the amount of $13,310,000. Montreal received more than six millions.

For many families it is the only resource they have. During the depression the insurance companies advanced vast sums to the unemployed and others in loans on their policies. This, of course, reduces the eventual liability, but it has often been a most welcome relief to many who had nowhere else to turn in the circumstances of the last four years.

A great deal is being said about insurance as a sheet anchor and a rock of refuge, and it is perhaps easy to overstate the advantages, but undoubtedly for the average family it provides a means of saving superior to any other.

Seeds Retain Vitality for Hundreds of Years

When buildings are demolished, city dwellers are astonished at the wonderful crops of grass and wild flowers that appear.

On a large piece of ground behind the buildings on the west side of London's Russell square, which has been boarded in for some years, one can find over a dozen species of wild flowers. These appeared in the spring and summer immediately after the old buildings had been cleared away.

We are told by some that the seeds are carried by birds, but it seems more than strange that such a profusion of wild flowers could burst into life by the agency of the London sparrows and pigeons.

The true explanation, says a writer in London Tit-Bits, is that the seeds have been lying dormant in the ground for hundreds of years, and these flowers are the descendants of those that were picked by the people in the Middle Ages.

Proof of this is found in an instance which occurred recently in the Strand. A building many hundreds of years old was demolished, and soon afterwards the green rosettes of the willow herb appeared. The seeds could not have been transported there by the wind, for when the willow herb was seedling in the country outside London, the building was still standing.

Supply Eastern Idols With Artificial Eyes

One of the queerest trades in this country is that of artificial eye maker. There is in New Oxford street, London, a firm which has been carried on by the same family for over 150 years, the present manager being the great-grandson of the founder.

Artificial eyes made by this firm are so wonderful in their naturalness that even in a photograph no difference can be detected. The artificial eye must be perfectly matched, the tiny veins all appearing in it. It is possible even to make the pupil enlarge and contract.

Some strange orders are received. Business is done with Africa and with eastern countries in the manufacture of eyes for idols. The eyes of a temple god must, of course, be of a very special kind.

The fierce, warlike gods need piercing, flashing eyes, whilst those of the gentler kind require eyes that are liquid pools of sympathy.—London Mail.

Why Foreigners Shudder

An English publication prints the following list of words ending in "ough," and adds the pronunciation of the more obscure words, some of which are seldom used in this country.

Messrs. Gough (goff), Hough (huff), and Clough (cluff), though tough enough, thought through the day that they would visit Mr. Brough (bruff), who, having a hicough (hiccup) and a cough, lived in a clough (cluff or clou) with plenty of dough and a tame cough (chuff) kept near a plough in a rough trough, hung to a bough over a lough (loch). A slough (sluff) of the bank into the slough (sloo) injured his thoroughbred's hough (hock).
No wonder the foreigner shudders at those four terrible letters!

WHEN YOU'RE HEALTHY YOU'RE HAPPY!

True blame for "blue" days can be laid often to common constipation.
It may bring loss of appetite and energy, sallow and pimply skins, even serious illness. Correct it by eating a delicious cereal.

Research shows Kellogg's All-
BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin
B to relieve common constipation.
Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this better than taking patent medicines—so often harmful?

Two tablespoonfuls of All-Bran daily, relieve most types of constipation. With each meal, in chronic cases.

If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Get the

ELOQUENT TRIBUTE TO BROWNSBURG D. C. CO.

The new Canadian journal, "Protection", issued in the interests of Fish and Game preservation, makes an editorial plea for carefulness in the handling of firearms. Nothing could be more opportune to season than this emphatic warning, which may well be heeded by all who carry a gun into the woods at this time of year.

Of particular interest is the fact that "Protection" cites as an example of precaution an enviable safety record in the Dominion Ammunition shops at Brownsburg. Here, where the high explosives are handled and shells turned out in quantities every day, the number of mishaps is notably small. Few large factories get along without some employee sustaining injury at a more or less frequent interval, but nearly a thousand calendar days have passed since one of the four hundred odd employees of the Dominion Ammunition Factory was hurt at work.

BUSY SESSION OF TOWN COUNCIL

A special meeting of the Lachute Town Council was called on Tuesday evening, at which were present—Mayor A. Larocque and Aldermen C. Durocher, Legault, J. A. Rice, K. McOuat, H. Lamarche, O. Laurin, G. Raymond and J. McGibson.

On motion of K. McOuat, seconded by O. Laurin, the application of S. Campbell, representing the British American Oil Co'y., for the erection of another tank in the C.P.R. yards for storage of fuel oil, was duly granted.

It was moved by Alderman Lamarche, Ald. Durocher seconding, that the secretary be authorized to make alterations and revision of certain lots on the valuation roll to be sold for taxes.

The Mayor and Alderman K. McOuat were appointed to confer with Mayor and Councillor of the Parish of St. Jerusalem, to agree upon a land surveyor to ascertain and establish the Stanforth town line, and it was agreed that the expenses be shared equally with the Parish.

The request of Dr. Clunie for use of the Auditorium on Thursday, Sept. 27th., for distribution of prizes to the pupils of Lachute High School, was granted.

Owing to the inauguration of a new system at the Dominion Shuttle Company, the Council have had under recent discussion the question of placing a meter at the end of the town's 8-inch main on Milway Street to check the quantity of water used and thus establish an equitable rate. The council are undecided as to size of meter required.

A representative of the Bell Telephone Company was present at this meeting and suggested removal of the large pole at the post-office corner on Bethany Street, promising to place a smaller pole on a line with the rear of post-office. It was thought by the Mayor that the Company, while they were submerging some of their lines, might just as readily extend this improvement by starting south of the C.P.R. track, and put the cables all underground. It was argued against this suggestion that there were a number of services in this section of the town, and the expense entailed would prove excessive.

"Partisan controversy today is not unlike two men angrily debating about a heavy dew in the path of the Johnstown flood." —Harry Elmer Barnes.

CHANGE OF VENUE AGAIN SOUGHT

Lachute Murder Case May Be Removed from St. Jerome Court

Defence Counsel Seeks Trial in Montreal for Mde. Dagenais

Notice has been served on the Attorney-General of the Province of Quebec, the Crown Office, Montreal, and the Clerk of the Court in St. Jerome, of a motion for change of venue to Montreal, for the trial of Mrs. Aurore Dagenais, charged with the murder of the two little sons of Gregoire Raymond, local butcher and alderman, last winter.

It is recalled, the accused went through the preliminary machinery of the law at St. Jerome during last spring and application for a special term of the Court of King's Bench there and also for change of venue was refused. Since then, however, Oscar Gagnon, K.C., defence counsel, has been in touch with the Attorney-General and considerable correspondence has developed in the matter, as the result of which the new move is now being made.

Mr. Gagnon signified his intention to present his motion for argument, in person, before Chief Justice Greenfield, in Montreal.

LACHUTE AYRSHIRES AT VANKLEEK HILL

Mr. J. P. Bradley, of Lachute Road, came out literally with flying colors at the Vankleek Hill Exhibition last week. His fine Ayrshire cattle secured enviable credits. Mr. Bradley reports the following successes, totaling in all 25 first prizes, three seconds and three thirds:—Champion bull; Junior Champion heifer and Reserve Senior Champion cow; First in Senior, Junior and Grade herds. Mr. Bradley received a handsome marble clock on his exhibit of three dairy cows, a silver cup for best pure-bred Ayrshire herd, and special prize for best exhibit of Ayrshires at the Fair.

FEWER BUT HIGH QUALITY ENTRIES AT FAIR

Argenteuil Well Represented with Woodlea Farm Ayrshires

Ste. Scholastique Exhibition

The Ste. Scholastique Annual Show was held during the first part of last week. The weather being favorable, there was a good attendance, but the entries were fewer than last year's due to new rulings and fewer classes of exhibits.

However, the quality of the livestock and other exhibits was not impaired.

The race track followers were amply rewarded in excitement. There were a number of good races, and the track was in fine shape for the occasion.

The building housed a good display, including everything in produce and products of the farm. The splendid display of clothing and blankets made by housewives of the district, deserve special mention, being a marked credit to the exhibitors. The poultry, sheep and swine classes showed a fair entry list. The annual exhibit of Holsteins by Hervé Huserau of Oka was missing, due to his recent loss of young stock in a fire, reported in these columns about a month ago. Sympathy was felt for him in this material loss. Ste. Therese Seminary showed a fine display of Holsteins, taking a share of the prizes, along with Legault Bros. and Albert Daoust of St. Hermas.

Other good herds were seen among the cattle. Legault Bros.

PROBING MYSTERIOUS DEATH AT GRENVILLE

Man Found Unconscious at Roadside

Investigation is proceeding into the death of John McAndrew, a farmer of Grenville and Augmentation, who succumbed at Hawkesbury, Tuesday, in the Notre Dame Hospital after having been unconscious for 13 days. McAndrew, 68 years of age, was found lying in a ditch at Grenville Village on the night of the 4th. inst. He was picked up unconscious and medical assistance was called from the neighboring town of Hawkesbury. Dr. Lafrance, the attending physician, ordered the man removed to hospital next morning, where he died Tuesday evening without regaining consciousness.

Dr. Rosario Fontaine, provincial medico-legal expert, and city detectives, were present at the Gaston undertaking parlors at Grenville, where an opening inquiry was held yesterday by Dr. Leroux, of Grenville, coroner of the district. Dr. Fontaine also performing an autopsy. The dead man was a widower, having no family surviving in this district, and the body was identified by Robert Ellis, of Harrington East, a nephew of the deceased.

External indications were not considered enough to warrant suspicion of foul play, as far as can be ascertained, but further examination by Dr. Fontaine will be followed next Tuesday by an inquest, when announcement will be made known of the medical findings.

DEAN RILEY OF HAMILTON PREACHED AT GRENVILLE

The Very Rev. C. E. Riley, Dean of Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton, was the special preacher at St. Matthew's Church, Grenville, on Sunday last. He took his text from the Book of Daniel, urging his listeners to remember that it was written during the troublous times of the Maccabees and that its message of the sufficiency of God and the ultimate triumph of righteousness was especially applicable to times like the present.

The Dean also preached at Calumet and at Hawkesbury, Ont.

won the Male Grand Championship, while Albert Daoust won the female Grand Championship.

Five herds of Ayrshires were out from the County of Two Mountains, and one from Argenteuil, this being W. Erskine Rodger's exhibits from Woodlea Farm, numbering thirteen head. He won the male Senior and Grand championship with "Alta Crest Gold Tip", and the female Senior and Grand Championship with "Woodlea Tootsie Girl." This young cow has been sold to the J. J. Joubert Farm of Montreal. Other prizes won by Mr. Rodger included thirteen firsts, two seconds and one third.

A. Neveu followed next with two firsts, one Junior Championship, six seconds and one third. This breeder is setting the pace for stock raising in Two Mountains.

Romeo Laurin, of St. Hermas, followed close with two firsts, five seconds and one fourth.

Ed. Godin showed a nice display of young cattle, winning the first prize in Yearling Bull class, Junior and Reserve Grand Championship, and also two other firsts.

A. Belanger and A. Belisle, of St. Eustache, were other exhibitors, and A. Leduc, of St. Hermas had a good display of Grade Holsteins and Purebreds.

In horses, special mention is

LATE MISS E. MOORE LAID TO REST

Eighteen Years Resident of Lachute

The death of Miss Elizabeth Moore, who has resided in Lachute for the past eighteen years, occurred on Sunday last, after a lengthy illness.

The late Miss Moore was born on the 9th. of October, 1861. During residence in this town she had been a member of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, of which she was an active participant in both the Ladies' Aid and the Missionary Society.

She is survived by three brothers, C. J. Moore, on the farm, Levi, of Montreal, William of Morris, Manitoba, also a sister Mrs. Thos. Stevenson, of Cowansville, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jas. Moore, of Lachute, with whom she had made her home.

The funeral was held at the residence last Tuesday afternoon, Rev. H. Cousens officiating, and the remains were laid to rest in Lachute Cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. John Miller, Wm. Scott, Ben Rodgers, Wm. Murray, Albert Scott, and Arch. D. McAllister.

ST. COLUMBAN COUNCIL MEETING

St. Columban Municipal Council met on September 14th., and the members were in full attendance. It was a meeting of considerable importance as there had been no assembly held in August.

Mr. H. Joly, the secretary treasurer, was authorized to send tax accounts to all parties having arrears of taxes, and hand in for collection those not paid within ten days.

It is expected that the school in the Village of St. Columban will open on October the first, with Miss J. A. Phalan in charge as teacher for the term.

made of the Belgian exhibits. The County of Two Mountains has a Belgian Syndicate; this aggregation put on a fine display and meeting competition with E. C. Budge of Ste Genevieve, with two imported mares, they won in their respective classes and also the Grand Championship. E. J. Thompson, Jersey Health Farm, Isle Bizard, also had two very nice exhibits.

Other classes of horses were not heavy, with exception of the famous exhibit of Dawes' "Black Horses." These were looking at their best. A. T. Cleland won the Clydesdale Championship with his imported filly.

The poultry, sheep and swine classes showed a fair entry list.

Y. P. S. FORMED AT ARUNDEL

Last Friday evening the young people of the United Church met in Arundel for the purpose of forming a Young People's Society. Nineteen of the young people were present and all were anxious to do their part in seeing it progress.

Those elected to office are: President, Mr. Stanley Cooke; Vice-President, Mr. Melvin Graham; Sec.-Treasurer, Miss Lila Swail; Refreshment Committee, Mrs. R. G. Cooke, and Miss Lillian Bennett; Mrs. C. Cushing and Miss Dorothy Kerr were also elected to the Executive.

The meetings will be held fortnightly and will be of a varying nature. At the close of the evening a corn boil was held.

ONTARIO WILL BEAR FULL EXPENSE OF ROADS

Entire cost of provincial highway construction will be borne by the Ontario government after the next session of the legislature, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn has announced.

This action, he said, would relieve the municipalities of the highway taxation levy and would free the counties from the present system whereby they are called upon to pay 20 per cent. of capital expenditure and 20 per cent. of maintenance costs on highways.

The new arrangement can be accomplished only by legislation, the premier declared, and thus must wait until the provincial legislature assembles.

Once again, wide interest is being centred on the thrilling yacht races, now being run for the coveted cup which America has held for many successive years.

From present indications, with two wins in the lead and, at the time of going to press a pretty sure prospect of winning today's race, it is hoped that in this, her fifteenth attempt, Britain will at last take home the Cup.

PENITENTIARY CHAPLAIN HEARD AT ST. SIMEON'S

Inspiring Sermon
Rev. Canon Strong Returns to His Native Haunts

It was with an expression of gratitude that the Rev. Canon Strong of Stony Mountain Penitentiary, Saskatchewan, back once more in the land of his birth among many of his old friends, officiated once again in the pulpit of St. Simeon's Church last Sunday, 16 years having elapsed since his last visit.

In retrospect, he told of his student days 50 years ago, when as a boy he attended the old Academy in Lachute East Ward. He was much pleased at the splendid and healthy progress the town had made since that time.

The speaker told most interestingly of his busy life in Western Canada, where he has been rector for 16 years in Prince Albert. Much of his time has been spent in ministering to men "behind the bars." Saskatchewan had been terribly stricken during these years of depression. The Province is now divided into two distinct dioceses, north and south. It is a huge territory, in which 40,000 families are reported to be dependent on relief. There are only two churches that are self supporting, with 50 real parishes and 200 outside stations, and an appeal goes out for continued support to carry on the work in this great Western field.

A very comforting message was delivered from the 33rd. chapter of Deuteronomy, 27th. verse, — especially comforting to those moving along to the western horizon of life. In these days of anxiety and strife, the speaker claimed, humanity is but weak to maintain itself against temptations; it is a wondrous feeling to know that eternal God is our refuge, and underneath us are the "everlasting arms".

The address was one of a most interesting and inspiring nature, and the visit of Rev. Canon Strong was a delight to be remembered by the congregation of St. Simeon's.

"It is uneconomic to build factories and buy machinery and raw materials unless adequate financial provision is also made to meet the cost of advertising the goods produced."

MARRIED IN LACHUTE

De Conde-Cruise

The marriage of Evelyn Emma Joy, daughter of the late Peter Cruise and Mrs. Cruise, to Kent Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. De Conde, Montreal, took place on Saturday, Sept. 15th., at the home of the bride's mother, Lachute. Autumn flowers were used as decorations throughout the home. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Cousens.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Gordon Cruise, wore a Cavallera blue French velvet gown, velvet hat with face veil, and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. She was attended by her little niece, Joyce Cruise, gowned in baby blue and shell pink crepe, wearing a colonial bonnet, and carrying a basket of pastel shade singles and cornflowers. Mr. Roy Cruise acted as usher.

Mr. Basil De Conde, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The wedding music was played by Miss Ivy Nowell. During the signing of the register Miss Nowell sang "For you alone". After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. De Conde left by motor for New York, the bride travelling in a blue swaggar suit with hat and accessories to match. On their return they will reside in Outremont.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. De Conde, Mr. and Mrs. B. De Conde, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Browne, Mrs. MacIntosh, Mrs. Payne, Misses Simpson, Lois Kennedy, Albina McCullough, Nellie and Florence Wallace, Ida Dooley, Messrs. Robson, and G. Tait.

AUNT JEAN'S RIDDLE
NO. 14.

I am all dressed up in green and tan,
My name is very old.
My fruit is good for all to eat,
It's color is of gold.
Jack Frost is not a friend of mine,
He bleaches me grey-brown,
But I am loved by little folks
In country and in town.
—What am I?

WHEN JACK FROST WAS A FRIEND

Our story this week was to have been about "Nuts to Crack", but because of Jack Frost's early visit I thought that I would tell you how he once was a friend—so I will leave the other story until next week, and tell you instead that, once when some Sun Fairies were hiding in a tall pine tree watching for little Dickie to pass by carrying lunch to his father in the field, they saw a sight which did not please them.

These same Sun Fairies had hidden in that same pine tree and watched Mr. Bluebird pass, and Sir Robin Red Breast and his lady, and oh! ever so many other birds who passed by, bringing summer with them. They had watched Dickie's father sowing his corn and oats, and the little lambs skipping about, and had teased Dickie ever so often by dancing about his feet and making it hard for him to see where to walk on the narrow plank that crossed the tiny creek; their bright beams had danced on the water and dazzled his eyes. They were waiting for him at this moment.

"Isn't it almost time for Dickie to come?" the first little fairy was just saying to the other—when he saw something which, Sun Fairy though he was, chilled him to the bone. "Oh look!" he said to his chum, "Isn't that a wicked sight?"

A poor little doggie was coming, running as fast as his tired legs could bring him, right towards the tall pine tree—with a horrid rattling tin can tied to his tail.

"How can human children be so wicked and unkind to a poor little doggie,—man's best friend?" the little Sun Fairy wailed.

The little doggie sank down under the tall pine tree and with his little pink tongue lapped the water from the creek as it sped softly by. Quite exhausted, he turned away from the creek and lay stretched out with his little sore tail lying in a small pool of water.

The water made it feel less painful—and so cool.

The Sun Fairies wanted to help in some way, but realized that the wee doggie had no need of their warm rays. He was much too warm now.

"Let's go for help", they said to each other, and sped away. They had not gone very far until they met Mrs. West Wind as she came humming along.

Telling her the story of the little doggie and getting her to promise that she would go and fan him gently, they sped away in search of someone else. They searched and searched until nightfall, but could not find anyone who could help them.

Borrowing some dull grey cloaks and bonnets from the Dusk Fairies to hide their brightness, they sped back to the tall pine tree to see what had become of the wee doggie.

Much too tired to fly up into the pine tree, they dropped to the ground quite close to the little doggie. He was still there, lying so quietly that at first the Sun Fairies thought he was dead.

"Oh! oh!" they started to sob gently, but they stopped quickly as they saw that the little doggie's paws were twitching, just as if he were still running. "Even in your sleep you cannot rest, poor thing," said one little Fairy too the other, and crept away farther into the shade of the pine tree. This little Fairy was not used to being out at night on this side of the world, and felt very strange indeed. Suddenly she saw something glittering on the ground beside her. "Jack Frost!" she hissed in a loud whisper. "What are you doing around here so early, you cold, cruel thing? Up to some mischief, I suppose!"

"Hush! hush!" Jack Frost whispered in an icy tone. "Hush, you silly thing, you'll wake him before I get my work done, and I won't be able to help him after all. Get back out of the way. You are too warm for me, even with your cloaks on. Can't you see that I am only trying to help this dog?"

The two little fairies crept away—away back, quite close to the trunk of the tree, quite decided that if Jack Frost was telling the truth they would not hinder him in any way.

Everything was still as still could be, then Mother West Wind came softly along and parted the pine tree branches so that she could peek through and see what was happening.

Inquisitive Old Mr. North Wind had tried to get Mother West Wind to tell him what was happening, but she had said she had "No time", and sped on. Quite angry, Mr. North Wind had followed her to spy on her, but she had moved so quickly that he lost sight of her. This made him angrier than ever, and he seized the dry dead top of a huge tamarac tree, and hurled it to the ground.

Crash, crash, crash! it went, right beside the little doggie, who jumped up in fright and dashed off, quite sure that those wicked children were after him again.—But the tin can did not bother him any more!

—Jack Frost had frozen the string that held it right into the ice of the little pool, which gripped it so fast that the string snapped and the little dog's tail was loosed from the rattling can — Jack Frost had helped. He helps in lots of ways, but we seldom stop to find them out.

Lovingly,

Aunt Jean

WHO PAYS THE TAXES?

An article in the August number of "Canadian Business", shows exactly the unfair way in which motorists in Quebec are taxed. The percentage of the population of Quebec owning automobiles is only 5.8%, which is the lowest of any province in Canada. Yet, this very small percentage of the population contributes in taxes on the cars and gasoline 32.0% of the total revenue of the province, which is the highest percentage of any province except Ontario. However, the increase in Ontario is due to the gasoline tax which accounts for 24.57% of the total Ontario revenue, against 15.8% from the same source in Quebec. Actually, the licenses and registrations in Quebec amount to 16.2% of the total revenue of the province which is the highest from this source of any province. These figures clearly show that the motorists of Quebec are justified in their complaints that they are shouldering an unfair percentage of the taxes of the province.

DISCUSSION OVER AUTHORSHIP OF THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

From time to time discussions arise as to the authorship of the British National Anthem, so it may prove interesting to make a general survey of the claims. Generally the words and music are attributed to Dr. John Bull, who, it is claimed, composed it for King James I, (VI of Scotland) in 1607. Among the many theories advanced is one that Bull composed the music to words by Ben Johnson. Claim has also been made that it was composed by Lully, the French composer, for Louis XIV of France, and that it was stolen by Dr. Bull. Rimbault affirmed that the music was sixteenth century and in all essentials could be found in a manuscript of Dr. John Bull. Lully's claim must fall, as Bull died several years before Lully's birth.

Dr. John Bull was born in Somersetshire about 1563 and died in Antwerp March, 1638. He was organist successively of Hereford Cathedral and Chapel Royal. In 1586 he obtained his degree of Bachelor of Music at Oxford and in 1590 he graduated as Doctor of Music at both universities. The year 1596 witnessed his appointment to the Professorship of Music at Gresham College, and we find he was permitted to deliver his bi-weekly lecture in English instead of Latin, as was the rule. When King James I and Prince Henry dined at the Merchant Tailors' Hall in 1607, he entertained the royal guests by playing on "a small payre of organs." In 1613 he went abroad and in 1617 he was appointed organist of Antwerp Cathedral. At Oxford there has been preserved a curious inscription round the frame:

The bull by force in field doth rayne,
But Bull by skill goodwill doth gayne.

In the Memoirs of Madame de Greghy it is stated that God Save the King is almost a literal translation of the Cantique sung by the young ladies of St. Cyr, when Louis XIV entered the chapel. The words were attributed to M. de Brinon and the music to Lully—

Grand Dieu, sauve le Roi,
Grand Dieu, venge le Roi, vive le Roi!
Que toujours glorieux,
Louis vitorieux,
Voye ses ennemis,
Toujours soumis!
Grand Dieu, sauve le Roi,
Grand Dieu, venge le Roi, vive le Roi!

In 1796 George Savile Carey advanced the claim of his father, Henry Carey, as the author of the anthem and journeyed to Windsor in the hope of obtaining some pecuniary recompense. Henry Carey died 1742. This claim was acquiesced to by Archdeacon Cox in his Memoirs of I. C. Smith, the amanuensis of Handel; also by Jones in his "Biographia Dramatica". George Carey did not mention that the anthem had been written for King James I. Chappell in his notes to his collection of Old English Airs states that Henry Carey sang it in public as his own composition five years before the date of its publication. If it was composed by John Bull why did it take 130 years to come before the public? It is quite in order to give Chappell's consideration, as he was strongly pro-Carey.

1. The favorable testimony of I. C. Smith and Dr. Harrington.

2. The strong internal evidence in both word and music.
3. The accounts of D. Burney and Dr. Cooke of its having been sung God Save Great James.
4. Failure of all attempts to prove a copy before Carey's time.
5. The fact that Carey sang it in public, as his own production, five years before its first publication.

6. Carey's death in 1742, as a reason for not having claimed, as it attained its great popularity in 1745.

Claims have also been advanced on behalf of Henry Purcell, the great English composer, and Handel, but they have never been substantiated in any (Continued on Page 3)

way. It is generally conceded, if not established, that it only became popular in 1745, the year of the "Rebellion", and that it was adopted by the Jacobites. Dr. Cummings, principal of the Guild Hall School of Music, after careful investigation, states that the earliest known copy was contained in "Harmonica Anglicana," published in 1742-3, but no authorship was given. This reference to the Jacobite cause gives ground for a Scottish claim. Dr. Mackay, in 1877, claimed that it was written to give expression to the hopes of the Jacobites and their hopes for the restoration of James VIII of Scotland. In support of his contention he quotes verses that Sir James Sinclair had copied from an old drinking cup found

God Save the King, I pray,
God bless the King, I pray,
God save the King,
Send him victorious,
Happy and glorious,
Soon to reign over us,
God save the King.
God bless the Prince of Wales,
The true-born Prince of Wales,
Sent us by Thee.
Grant us one favor more
The King for to restore
As Thou hast done before the familie.
When we sing the National

Antem, we usually omit the second verse. The Jacobite claim might be further advanced if we take the following quotations: "Send him Victorious, Confound their politics, Frustrate their knavish tricks" Another claim that has been advanced, is that it contains the exact words and music of an old anthem sung at St. James Chapel, London, for King James II. If that had been so, is it likely that any anthem would be sung in a Roman Catholic Church at that time, in any other language than Latin? In answer to that question, Mr. F. S. Boas, along with others, claims that it was actually sung first in Latin, probably in the seventeenth century, and that it was Anglicised by the Jacobites after James II. had fled to France. We are really getting too deep into controversial matters, so let us ask the question: Have the original words come down to us? I'm afraid not. There have been so many verses written to it and adaptations that it must have undergone some change. When the Hanoverians were victorious in 1745, there was a version of four verses; the last verse is quoted: Lord, grant that Marshall Wade May by Thy mighty aid, Victory bring; May he sedition hush, And like a torrent rush, Rebellious Scots to crush. God Save the King.

led. The Anthem, as The Times has written — "Like a rural gentleman of ancient lineage, may not be very smart or polished, but there it is. It began as a treasonable Jacobite ditty; and it has so quietly and firmly established itself in the very voice of patriotism that the latest attempt, (made only a year ago) to alter it, came, like all the others, to nothing." FULL PARTICULARS OF RAILWAYS' MAPLE LEAF CONTEST

The Maple Leaf Contest instituted by Canada's two railways is designed to encourage a greater interest in the Canadian Autumn scene, offering opportunity for all Canadians to combine their knowledge of their National Emblem with their appreciation of the magnificent coloring which makes a visit to the autumn countryside so attractive. The competition is divided into two phases, first for the most beautiful leaf, and secondly for the largest leaf, and is being conducted on a wider and more comprehensive scale than the first competition which was held last year, when the public submitted more than ten thousand leaves for the consideration of the judges elected from the Royal Canadian Academy.

The two railways are this year offering $100 in prizes. The first prize for the most beautiful maple leaf will be $50, the second prize $20, and the third prize $10. The first prize for the largest maple leaf is $15, and the second prize $5. Judges in the largest leaf phase of the competition will be C. B. Brown, Chief Engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Simple regulations govern the competition. All leaves entered must be gathered within two miles of a station of either railway, and each leaf must be mounted on a separate card with gummed paper to hold the stalk in place. Each entry must be forwarded packed flat between two pieces of stiff cardboard and accompanied by a sheet of paper five inches by seven inches on which must be written the name and address of the sender, the date of gathering, and the name of the railway station near which the leaves are gathered. Contestants must not write their names on the card on which the leaves are mounted. No entry is to contain more than five leaves, though the contestant may forward as many entries as desired.

In view of the fact that it is the intention of the Railways to arrange a coast to coast exhibition for the most beautiful leaves, the regulations provide that all leaves submitted are to become the property of the railways. The contest is not open to employees of either railway, but in view of the wide interest being taken by the children throughout Canada, is open to members of their families.

The decision selecting the most beautiful maple leaf will be based on color as well as shape while the decision on the largest leaf will be guided by surface area.

Complete information can be obtained from any Canadian National or Canadian Pacific agent, and all entries must be addressed to Post Office Box 1500, Montreal, Quebec.

Judging from the many magnificent specimens of autumn colored leaves which poured in last year, the entries will, it is expected, reach a truly tremendous total. The first prize last year was won by Mrs. C. McConnell of Fredericton, with a leaf from a Red Maple, while special awards were won by enthusiastic nature lovers in Ontario and Quebec. The largest leaf awarded went to British Columbia when youthful Bobby Hume surprised the pundits of the railroad engineering world by submitting a leaf containing 222 square inches.

CANADIAN RAILWAY SITUATION "NOTHING SHORT OF DISASTROUS"

Road, Rail and Air Services as Viewed by a Visitor from Abroad

Transport problems in the United States and Canada were reviewed by Sir James Gunn, a member of the New Zealand Railways Board, who returned to New Zealand by the Niagara after a business trip to America.

As in New Zealand, Sir James said, the railways were faced with the intensive development of road transport. An additional factor that had not become apparent to the same extent in New Zealand was the advance in air services.

Legislation Not Advanced

"In the matter of transport control, for the removal of wasteful and uneconomic competition, legislative measures in the United States and Canada are not as far advanced as they are in New Zealand," Sir James said. "In both American countries a difficult situation obtains—fortunately absent in New Zealand—in competitive railway systems and the overlapping of services. In the United States particularly air services have eaten into rail passenger traffic with a fare schedule practically the same as the railway rates."

Canadian Position

In Canada, the railway position was nothing short of disastrous, Sir James continued. Here was considerable overlapping of the two main systems, and at the end of 1933 the public funds invested and the Government guarantees in the State-owned system amounted to $724,000,000, with the figures increasing annually. That sum was paying no interest and was practically double the amount of the entire Government debt in New Zealand for all purposes. The nation was thoroughly alarmed, and conversations were tending in the direction of a merger of the two systems.

The National Railways administration during the last four years had built a large hotel in Vancouver, a centre already provided with ample hotel accommodation. More than $1,000,000 had been spent already, and the interior was not complete. Another $1,000,000 would be required to finish and equip the building, and the money was not available. This was a striking lesson against wasteful expenditure and needless duplication of services.

PUBLIC OPERATION OF UTILITIES CONDEMNED BY C.P.R. PRESIDENT

E. W. Beatty Says Civic Utilities Not Owned by Public but by Bondholders Who Earn Profits Through the Protection Given by the Taxpayers — Government Interference Unwarranted.

E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, addressed the ninth annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at Winnipeg this month, urging maintenance of high business ethics to make state regulations which would curtail freedom of individual effort and paralyze industry unwarranted.

Honest business had nothing to fear from government regulations, he declared, although he warned state interference crippled business by curbing freedom of business endeavor.

Mr Beatty assailed publicly-owned utilities, which he declared were in fact not owned by the public but by those who held the bonds and earned profits through the protection given by the taxpayers. He urged honest effort to earn profits and warned that greed brought in its wake injury to all within the nation.

"If the people of this country wish to concentrate all the handling of any commodity in the control of Government officials, that is their right," said Mr. Beatty, K.C.

"If the citizens wish to have a public service conducted by the public authorities, that is their right. But there exists a series of simple but vital tests which should be applied to every project of the Government in business: Is the project economically sound? Is it the wish of the citizens? Will it conserve the property through efficient and non-political administration, and is it honest?"

A few cogent words uttered by Mr. Beatty in this connection were: "The publicly owned public utilities are not, in any economic sense, owned by the state at all. They are owned by private investors who are, by the state and at the expense of the public, protected against the ordinary risks of investment. It is useless to say that the public owns a public utility which is mortgaged to private capitalists far beyond its earning power. It would be as sensible to say that a man with a five thousand dollar house with a ten thousand dollar mortgage on it owns the house in any real sense. If the state were to come to the assistance of such a man we should know at once that it was using its power, not to aid him, but to aid the mortgagee."

Mr. Beatty declared the commercial outlook today was far brighter than for many a year. Yet Canada was suffering from a surplus of natural wealth for its present population. One cure was increased population.

Profit was still the incentive to business, but the success in reaping profit would be the direct result of the intelligence with which profit was sought. Greed was degrading the individuals composing the nation and harming the nation's welfare. Honesty and fairness were still the best principles of business, and he believed these predominated in the business life of Canada.

MARRIAGE OF INTEREST HERE

The marriage of Gertrude Lillian Brown, only daughter of Mrs. M. J. Brown and the late Paul Brown, of Westboro, to George Russell Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Payne, of Manotick, took place quietly at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon at the home of the Rev. William Patterson, minister of the Presbyterian Church in Westboro. Rev. Mr. Patterson officiated.

Cut flowers were used to adorn the rooms. The bride was attended by Miss Grace Hager, while Mr. W. Payne, brother of the groom, was the best man. The bride was charmingly gowned in royal blue velvet trimmed with silver beading and brilliant ornaments. Her hat was of royal blue velvet and her shoes of the same tone. She carried a bouquet of mixed early autumn flowers. Miss Hager was gowned in maroon velvet with silver trimming, and she wore a hat and shoes of the same shade. She wore a shoulder knot of sweet peas and roses.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Payne left on a motor trip to St. Andrews East, Quebec. On their return, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, James St., Westboro, for the immediate relatives.

Troubles Enough

When Dante Gabriel Rossetti was painting the now famous reredos at Llandaff cathedral, he took so long over them that the dean and chapter asked the bishop of Llandaff, who was going to London, to call at Rossetti's rooms in Blackfriars and try to discover what was the cause of the delay. A maid opened the door to the bishop, at once informed him that Rossetti was absent, and on learning what he had come about, exclaimed: "Oh, lor! sir, Mr. Rossetti don't paint now—he's married!"—Kansas City Times.

Railroad Gages

Stephenson, inventor of the steam locomotive, is said to have adopted the gage of his engine from that of his arm wagon wheels. Horse-drawn wheeled vehicles had been of approximately that gage since the days of Roman chariots. Various gages, ranging from 3 feet in the East to 5 feet in California, were employed in the United States for 50 years, but now all save industrial short lines are 4 feet 8 1/2 inches. This is standard over most of the world, but India has a gage of 5 1/2 feet, Russia 5 feet and Japan 3 feet.

"Tin Can" Island

The island of Niuafoou, in the Pacific ocean, about 300 miles from Fiji, is but three miles in diameter and is shaped like a ring. Outside the ring the water is, of course, salt, but within it lies a lake which is only slightly brackish. No doubt the island is the crater of a volcano—a mountain which rises almost straight up from the deep ocean bed. Similar volcanic craters lie upon islands within the island itself, and these become active every 15 or 20 years. Strangely enough, this queer island has quite a large population. Its inhabitants number nearly 1,500 Tongans and a sprinkling of Europeans. In rough weather no ship can reach Niuafoou, but as a strong current sets toward the shore the mails are placed in a soldered tin box and thrown overboard, to be retrieved by native swimmers. This queer kind of postal delivery has provided Niuafoou with a second name. It is known familiarly as Tin Can Island.

Mystery of the Sun-Cure

Hippocrates was one of the first to recognize the powerful antiseptic and healing properties of light. He treated various diseases successfully by exposing the patients to sunlight, but the mystery of exactly how sunlight accomplishes marvelous cures has not been solved fully even today. From then until now as the employment of sunlight as a healer has increased, the use of the surgical knife has decreased in countries such as Switzerland, where sun cures and sunlight treatments have been practiced for many years.

A TRUE STORY

This depression has had some queer results as it has affected people in such different ways. I have just heard of a young woman whose outlook on life has been completely changed. As a girl she never worked. She knew not the meaning of dishes and she had nothing to do but have a good time. When she married she continued in the same way and did not at any time do any housework and her life was one continual round of gaiety. When the crash came they lost literally everything. Now she is living in Northern Ontario in a log cabin, has a baby and does all her own work. She says she never was as happy in her life and never spent as comfortable a winter as last one, with three stoves and ankle length underwear. She loves the North and says that when they get a million maybe they will come out for the winters, but not before. The North certainly gets people. It is like a disease, and if once they become infected they never completely recover.

YOUR BEST FRIEND WON'T TELL YOU

The advertisements have done one thing at least. They have drawn attention to the prevalence of halitosis or bad breath, but they do not tell all the story. To read the advertisements you would think that all you need do is to use one of these remedies and the trouble is banished forever. It has just about as much sense to it as using powder and perfume if you need a bath. Certainly these remedies help disguise the trouble for the time being, which is of course a good thing, but they do not cure the trouble, which is what is required. If a person has a bad breath, there is some reason for it. It may be in the mouth itself, caused by the teeth or infected tonsils; or it may be caused from putrefaction in the intestinal tract. Plenty of water to drink, especially, remember, two glasses an hour before breakfast as this will act as an intestinal stimulant, plenty of cooked fruits and vegetables, with the addition of fresh fruits and salads will usually overcome this difficulty. If you know that your breath is sometimes unpleasant do not just use a temporary remedy but look to the trouble that is causing it and remove it permanently.

CHILDREN AND MONEY

The question frequently arises should children get paid for the work they do around the home? Ask anyone who does, and if they give the matter any thought they will realize that it is not a satisfactory method. One reason is that the children will be ever increasing their demands. Another is that as they get a little older they will decide that they would rather do without the money than do the work. And what are you going to do when that happens? Children should be taught a spirit of co-operation in the home and not expect to be paid for the work that they do. Children should get some money but it should be in the form of an allowance and not pay for work done.

SOAP FOR SHAMPOOING DRY HAIR

When the hair is dry a strong alkaline soap should not be used. The preparation given here is a good soap to use for dry hair. Shave 8 ounces of good castile soap, add 10 ounces of water (1 1/4 cups) and 2 ounces of soda bicarbonate (baking soda). Bring to a boil and stir until the soap is dissolved. Keep in a covered jar. This will form a soft jelly.

BORDEAUX SAUCE

1 quart cabbage
1 pint green tomatoes
1 quart red peppers
1 pint green peppers
1 quart onions
1/2 tablespoon tumeric
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup salt
1 quart vinegar
1 tablespoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon celery seed

Chop the vegetables finely, drain off all liquid, then measure. Mix all ingredients and let simmer gently over a slow fire for two hours. Use an asbestos mat and stir frequently to prevent scorching. The sauce is cooked when you can see the bottom of the pan after a stir with the spoon. Pour into sterilized bottles and seal.

GRAPE ORANGE CONSERVE

6 lbs. grapes
6 oranges
6 cups sugar
1 lb. raisins
1 cup water

Wash the grapes, remove from the stems and press the pulp from the skins. Cook the pulp until soft and remove the seeds by pressing through a sieve. Put the orange through the food grinder and cook with the skins and water until soft (about thirty minutes). Add the raisins, grape pulp and sugar. Cook slowly until thick, stirring frequently. Pour in sterilized glasses and cover with wax.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Sept. 23rd, is "Matter".

The Golden Text is:—"Tremble, thou earth, at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob." (Psalms 114: 7).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will we not fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea". (Psalms 46: 1, 2)

"As mortals gain more correct views of God and man, multitudinous objects of creation, which before were invisible, will become visible. When we realize that Life is Spirit, never in nor of matter, this understanding will expand into self-completeness, finding all in God, good, and needing no other consciousness. Spirit and its formations are the only realities of being. Matter disappears under the microscope of Spirit". (Science and Health page 264).

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES COMMITTEE MAKES IMMIGRATION PLANS

The habits of living of newcomers to Canada will form a study of the subject of immigration as outlined by the Convenor of this Committee for the Quebec Women's Institutes for the next few months. The arts, crafts, folk lore, music and national costumes are all to be studied, in the efforts to understand the essential characteristics of the nations represented among the strangers within the Canadian borders.

Among the suggestions offered by the convenor, Mrs. J. Brian Ashworth, is that interested parties may become more in touch with the work of welcoming these new people by accompanying the women officers at Quebec and Montreal as they meet the incoming boats. Visits and an attitude of friendliness and kindly interest are recommended as a means of cheering those who are veritably "strangers in a strange land."

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned LANDS and TENEMENTS have been seized, and will be sold at the restetive times and places mentioned below.

REPLACE THE APPLE ORCHARDS

The scarcity of apples in the Eastern Townships confirms the fears entertained during the early months of the year that the apple orchards were seriously injured by the past winter's severity. The theory is held by many that it may not have been the intense cold or mid-winter, but the late October snow storm and heavy frost, coming while there was still sap in the trees, which caused the mischief. Which ever it was, certain it is that many trees are entirely dead, while others show only slight leafage, which may be only the slowly dying process, which may result ultimately in dead trees next year.

Apple orchards are slow in coming into bearing in this part of the country, and if the next generation is to know what a Quebec apple is like, the trees must be replaced without delay. While the task of planting trees, the fruit of which the planter may not live to see, is rather a discouraging one, yet the fact that future generations will appreciate the delicious product of his labour, should nerve the planter's arm to carry out this task in the name of posterity.

"It's scandalous to charge us $10 for towing the car only three or four miles," protested the motorist's wife.
"Never mind, dear," replied hubby, "he's earning it; I've got my brakes on."

YOUR GROCER WILL HELP YOU KEEP HEALTHY AND HAPPY

Delicious Cereal Promotes Regular Habits

The right kinds of foods form the very basis of health. You need nourishment for strength and energy. And you need "bulk" to prevent common constipation.

Otherwise, this ailment may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. You can correct it, usually, by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN adds generous "bulk" to your daily menu. Tests show this "bulk" is similar to that found in leafy vegetables.

Inside the body, the fiber of ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

ALL-BRAN is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

Isn't it safer—and pleasanter—to enjoy this food in place of taking patent medicines?

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will overcome most types of common constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into fluffy muffins and breads.

Remember, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is all bran with only necessary flavoring added. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

BOUILLON, MUSIC, SONG, TRUE CANADIAN STYLE

Camp Gathering
St. Andrews

Last Wednesday evening, the mouth of the North River at St. Andrews East saw a large gathering of Ex-Mayor A. Euclide Ladouceur's friends, invited to the opening of his new camp, "La Douce Heure."

On arriving at the camp, situated on one of the islands, the odour of a most delicious bouillon greeted the guests and many compliments were paid the veteran camp chef, Adelard Paquet.

During the evening many vocal and musical numbers were given and Commodore Horace Davis voiced the sentiments of all present in favor of "mine host Ladouceur", and he hoped next year all would attend the re-union.

The guests were—J. S. Drouin, Horace Davis, G. Lalonde, M.D., Eliser Robillard, P. Bour-gana, Stuart W. Todd, W. Giroux, R. Roy, R. Lalonde, J. H. Leblond, P. J. Fournier, A. Lalonde, Louis Beaulieu, John Muir, Herbert Woods, J. E. Lin-court, David Larocque, Damase Rochon, Octave Giroux, Arthur Campeau, Thomas Raymond, Adelard Paquet, R. Todd, and Albert Gain.

AUTO FATALITY ON MONT LAURIER HIGHWAY

Pinned beneath the wreck-age of his overturned automo-bile at the bottom of a ten-foot embankment near St. Jovite, on the highway between Concep-tion and Breboeuf, Wilfrid For-est, thirty year old Conception garage keeper, was found dead late last Wednesday night.

The accident is thought to have occurred about 9 o'clock but the body of Forest was not discovered until two and a half hours later. Meanwhile motor cars passed by on the highway ten feet from the spot where the man lay dead or dying. J. O. Perreault, of Breboeuf, driving slowly towards St. Jovite, first saw the wreckage of the automobile when he glanced over the embankment. Stop-ping his car, he scrambled down the edge of the road and found the body of the garage keeper, whom he immediately recognized as Wilfrid Forest.

Aid was summoned and the remains were removed to Con-ception where, the following day, a jury under Dr. J. R. Brais, of St. Jerome, returned a verdict of accidental death.

The coroner expressed the opinion that Forest had lost control of his automobile at a dark point on the highway and careened over the embankment.

BEAR SHOT NEAR AVOCA WEIGHED 225 LBS.

While hunting in the prox-imity of Avoca last Sunday, Messrs. Ben and Harold Maid-en and Fred Stansfield had a few thrilling moments when they came face to face with a large black bear. The hunt-ers lost no time in discharging their rifles, and the bear had little opportunity to make battle. The animal weighed 225 lbs. when put on the scales.

DOESN'T ALWAYS PAY

Trying to play the role of the Samaritan proved costly to Mr. Begnoche, an undertaker of St. Johns, Que., when he stopped his car on the highway, three miles south of Iberville to aid four motorists who seemed to be in trouble. Two men jump-ed into his car, tied a rope a-round his neck, and then escap-ed with the money. Provin-cial Police are investigating.

CATHOLIC CEMETERY IN PERFECT ORDER

Service of Commemoration

The Catholic Cemetery in the West End, upon which much work has been performed dur-ing the past two years in lay-ing out and beautifying the grounds, was the scene of a large gathering on Sunday af-ternoon, when citizens assem-bled for the annual dedicatory service for the dead, in which the Rev. Father Marsolais, of St. Anastasie parish, and Rev. Father Cloutier, of St. Julien, officiated.

Both the Protestant and Catholic cemeteries, situate re-spectively in the East and the West End of Lachute, are now lovingly cared for; and recog-nition is due from this com-munity to those who have been instrumental in affecting such welcome improvements. Their sacrifice of time and display of public spirit merit a deep sense of gratitude.

EDUCATIONAL RECORD OF RURAL SCHOOLS

The Educational Record for July-August-September recent-ly issued contains the reports of several of the inspectors of elementary schools. The fol-lowing items will interest peo-ple in this section of the Pro-vince.

The average salary of rural teachers in this district of in-spection, was reduced from $440 in 1932-33 to $383 in 1933-34.

Forty schools are open ten months of the year, 16 are open 9 months, 14 for 8 months and 2 for 5 months.

Two new buildings were open-ed, one in Thomas' Gore, and the other in Valcartier Village. Both are reported as excellent. Miss R. L. B. Perks of Rad-don municipality, but whose home is St. Andrews East, is given special mention because of her success in making her school grounds and out-build-ings attractive.

Four schools will receive beau-tiful prizes of books from the Strathcona Trust. Two of these are in Argenteuil County, viz. Stonefield, taught by Miss Doris Armstrong, of Lachute Road, and Long Lake, taught by Mr. D. F. Alger. A third is St. Gabriel West, taught by Mr. Stuart Jones of Lachute.

Ste. Therese, Lachute and Shawbridge are among the mu-nicipalities classified as excel-lent. Chatham No. 2, Dunany, Terrebonne, Grenville No. 2, Mascouche and Grenville No. 3 are among the good. Grenville No. 1, St. Angeline, Chatham No. 1, Mille Isles No. 2, Har-rington No. 1, Wentworth, Mille Isles No. 1, St. Remi d'Amherst, Scotland, Gore and Lochaber are fair. Several are poor and Carillon and Center-ville are among the unranked.

The classification is made by taking into consideration the length of term, salary paid, condition of the buildings and equipment as well as the work of the teacher.

LIGHTNING KILLS DIVER WORKING UNDER WATER

William Currie, a diver work-ing off Bamford Island, near Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was killed when lightning, which struck the scow above him, ran down the connecting wires and exploded six sticks of dynamite he was using to prepare a blast. His helmet was crushed by the force of the explosion and Cur-rie died when taken to hospital.

LACHUTE MURDER TRIAL AT HULL NOV. 2

Mrs. Dagenais Will Face
Charge

Mrs. Aurore Dagenais, charg-ed with the murder of the two Raymond boys at Lachute Mills, will definitely stand trial on November 2 before Mr. Jus-tice Cousineau at Hull.

This decision was taken by Chief Justice Greenshields in Superior Court following a re-quest for a change in venue from Terrebonne to Montreal or to any other judicial district of the province.

Oscar Gagnon, K.C. repres-enting the defendant, informed the court that he had seen the Attorney-General about the re-quest, but that so much opposi-tion had been voiced from Terrebonne that he thought it was practically impossible to accede to the demand.

He added that Mrs. Dagenais had been in jail for more than nine months. "It is high time for the trial to take place", he said. "I have written to the Attorney-General and was told that permission had been granted late spring", Mr. Gagnon stated.

Chief Justice Greenshields added that he had promised the colleague of Ernest Bertrand, K.C., that he would not hear the application in the latter's absence. It was, however, de-cided to grant Mr. Gagnon's request and the date for the trial was set for November 2 before Mr. Justice Cousineau in Hull.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE J. B. RAYMOND

The somewhat sudden death of one of Lachute's respected citizens, Mr. J. B. Raymond, who passed away in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Montreal, on Friday last following an opera-tion, came as a great shock to his many friends in this community.

Mr. J. B. Raymond was born in the neighboring settlement of St. Hermas 65 years ago, com-ing to Lachute in his early twenties and afterwards mov-ing to Valleyfield, where he married Avelina Fortier. She, with their only daughter Ger-trude, and remaining brother, Adolphe, are left to mourn their deep loss.

An enterprising business man, Mr. Raymond had spent the greater part of his life in but-chering and droving, conduct-ing business at Valleyfield, Brownsburg and Lachute. He was an ex-alderman of the town, always progressive and zealous for the town's welfare.

The funeral was unusually large, the Church of St. Anas-tasie, of which he was a faith-ful and devoted member, being filled to overflowing. The Knights of Columbus headed the cortege, with Messrs. A. Larocque, G. Valois, H. M. Lavigne, H. Lamarche, Dr. Todchette and D. Lepine as pall-bearers. The service was conducted by Father Romeo Raymond, with Revd. Father Bergeron of St. Therese and Rev. Father Bealeu of Lachute assisting. The ushers were Mr. G. Desjardins and Mr. J. F. Lavigne.

LAWYER LOSES RIGHT TO PRACTISE

The discipline committee of the Law Society of Upper Can-ada has disbarred from practise George Gillespie Dunlop, of Hawkesbury, Ont., and also Hugh John Harkins, of Tor-onto. The men were accused of acting in a way "unbesom-ing a barrister and solicitor", in financial transactions involv-ing clients' moneys.

RENOVATIONS COMPLETE AT AUDITORIUM

The renovation of Lachute Auditorium is now completed. The re-construction of the burned building was entrusted to one of our local contractors, Mr. Alcidas Laurin, at a much lower figure than that of com-peting bidders.

That the Council were wise in this choice is demonstrated by the execution of the work, and Mr. Laurin is to be congratulat-ed upon turning over to the Town such a fine building; many improvements, both in heating and ventilation, will be a great advantage over the old system and installations.

This work has been prompt-ly executed, with little import-ation of outside labor, so that the town has benefited in every way. Lachute will now be in a position to better entertain the public, in a building that may rightly be considered the envy of many towns of much larger size.

SOPWITH LOSES TO VANDERBILT

An Editorial Comment

America retains the New York Yacht Club's trophy after a thrilling, if disappointing, series of races between the British yacht Endeavour and the American Rainbow.

With due credit to the sea-manship of the Vanderbilt crew, it is generally felt that the triumph stands, like the Harmsworth Speedboat Trophy, as evidence of smart work rather than of sportsmanship and skill. The skill of the American crew remains undisputed, but it is regrettable that, with both trophies, there must long remain the association of unsporting tactics.

Pride in Britain's perennial return to these contests should be tinged with a certain re-proval for her folly. The shade of difference between the British and the American sporting code becomes increasingly evident, and we contend they can never be matched with mutual satisfaction. The sooner Eng-land decides to try her skill in an arena of similar ideals and standards, greater will be the enjoyment of the contests. British sportsmen were ever "good losers", but the onlooking world is loath to experience this repeated "distaste" in her de-feats.

ANNIVERSARY OF PATRON SAINT

Archdeacon Gower-Rees at Special Service
St. Matthew's Grenville

St. Matthew's Church, Gren-ville, was filled on Friday last, 21st. inst. The occasion, being St. Matthew's Day, was the anniversary and patronal feast of the Church. The Rector and the Rev. E. G. May, of Ste. Agathe, read the prayers, and Rev. W. LeCras of Lachute, read the lesson. Canon Gar-rett, of Hawkesbury, and the Rev. W. MacMorrin, of Vank-leek Hill, were also present.

The preacher was Arch-deacon Gower-Rees, Rector of St. George's Church in Mont-real. He spoke of the manner in which St. Matthew respond-ed to the call of Our Lord and stressed upon his listeners that they too were being called by Him.

Previous to the service a splendid supper was served in the Masonic Hall, and great credit is due to the ladies, who provided so bountifully and worked so faithfully toward the success of this observance.

REV. W. B. ROSBOROUGH GIVES IMPRESSIONS OF CHURCH COUNCIL

Describes Inspiring Sessions at Kingston

Strides in Progress of United Church of Canada

An attentive congregation at the Lachute United Church on Sunday morning heard, with unusual interest, their minis-ter's impressions following his attendance at the annual as-ssembly of the Church Council. "Instead of preaching a formal sermon, this morning," said Rev. Mr. Rosborough, "I am going to try to give you some of my impressions of the Sixth General Council of our Church, which has so recently conclud-ed its sessions, and which it was my great privilege to at-tend."

"The meetings of the Coun-cil were held in the beautiful and spacious auditorium of Sydenham St. United Church, Kingston, on September 12th. and the subsequent nine days.

"The meetings opened very appropriately, on that memor-able Wednesday afternoon, with a very impressive and in-spiring Communion Service. At this service a very helpful and challenging sermon was preach-ed by the retiring Moderator, Dr. T. Albert Moore, on "A New Heaven and A New Earth", in which he envisaged the new and better day into which God is willing and an-xious to lead His beloved Church.

"The election of the Moder-ator is always a matter of great interest in a deliberative as-ssembly of this kind, and this took place at the evening sitting of that first eventful day, when Rev. Richard Roberts, D.D., Minister of Sherbourne United Church, Toronto, be-came the unanimous choice of the Council for this high and responsible position, and we feel quite sure that Dr. Rob-

ARGENTEUIL WOMEN'S INSTITUTE ACTIVITIES

Chatham served lunch at a Tennis Tournament on the C.I.L. grounds, Brownsburg, profiting by the sum of eight dollars for Institute work. The branch had twelve members and six visitors attend their meeting, which took the form of a picnic and was much en-joyed.

Frontier held an educational meeting, open to the public, which was very well attended by ladies, gentlemen and chil-dren. The speaker was Mrs. G. W. Kuhring, the soloist Mrs. L. Maw, of Montreal. The principal event of the evening was an historical debate be-tween school children, the high-lights of which have already been reported on these pages.

Lachute's meeting included a pleasant drive in connection with a gathering at Mrs. R. McFaul's country home in Og-densburg, where the County President, Mrs. G. W. Kuhring, addressed the meeting. Her subject was "Dickens", giving a resume of the "Pickwick Pa-pers". A decision was reached at this meeting to form a Read-ing Club in connection with their branch. The roll-call was "Apple Recipes".

Lakefield has presented no report of its activities this month.

Jerusalem-Bethany had six-teen members and one visitor at an interesting meeting on Immigration. Mrs. N. Boyd gave a splendid paper on "Early Immigrants of Our Dis-trict". A dance was planned to raise W. I. Funds, and a de-cision reached to continue send-ing boxes to a needy family for another month.

Upper Lachute - East End have no report.

INQUEST IN GRENVILLE FATALITY

Verdict of Accidental Death

An inquest held last Friday into the death of John W. McAndrew, who died from a frac-tured skull in the Notre Dame Hospital at Hawkesbury on September 18, resulted in the liberation of Thomas Brazeau, 38-year-old farmer, of Gren-ville, who had been held as a material witness. A verdict of accidental death was render-ed.

It was indicated during the inquest, under Coroner Olivier Leroux, that McAndrew called on the Brazeau family late in the evening of September 4, and mistaking the couple for people who had previously oc-cupied the house, the old gentle-man is alleged to have tried to enter the house. Follow-ing a blow given by Brazeu, McAndrew fell to the ground, receiving a fractured skull, never regaining consciousness until his death two weeks later.

OTTAWA VALLEY MINIS- TERIAL ASSOCIATION

The Ottawa Valley Minister-ial Association met in Kirk Hill (Ont.) United Church, on Tues-day, Sept. 4th. The following members were present, Revs. D. H. McFarlane and N. Mc-Causland, Vankleek Hill, A. E. Hagar, E. G. Baxter, and J. J. Poitras, Brownsburg, J. Macas-kill, St. Andrews East, J. W. McLean, Cushing, R. H. Mc-Kelvy, Brodie, Dr. Holden, L'Orignal, C. K. Mathewson, Kirk Hill; Dr. B. N. Wales and Mr. Harry Kay, of St. Andrews East.

It is understood the next meeting of the Association will be held here in Lachute on Oc-tober 1st.

erts, who is so well and favor-ably known in this section of our land, because of his minis-try in the American Presby-terian Church in Montreal, will maintain the splendid tradition which his predecessors have so firmly established.

"As I sat in the meetings of the Council I was impressed by the fact that we have a great Church — one that should inspire our best service, and of whose achievements and spirit we have every reason to be justly proud.

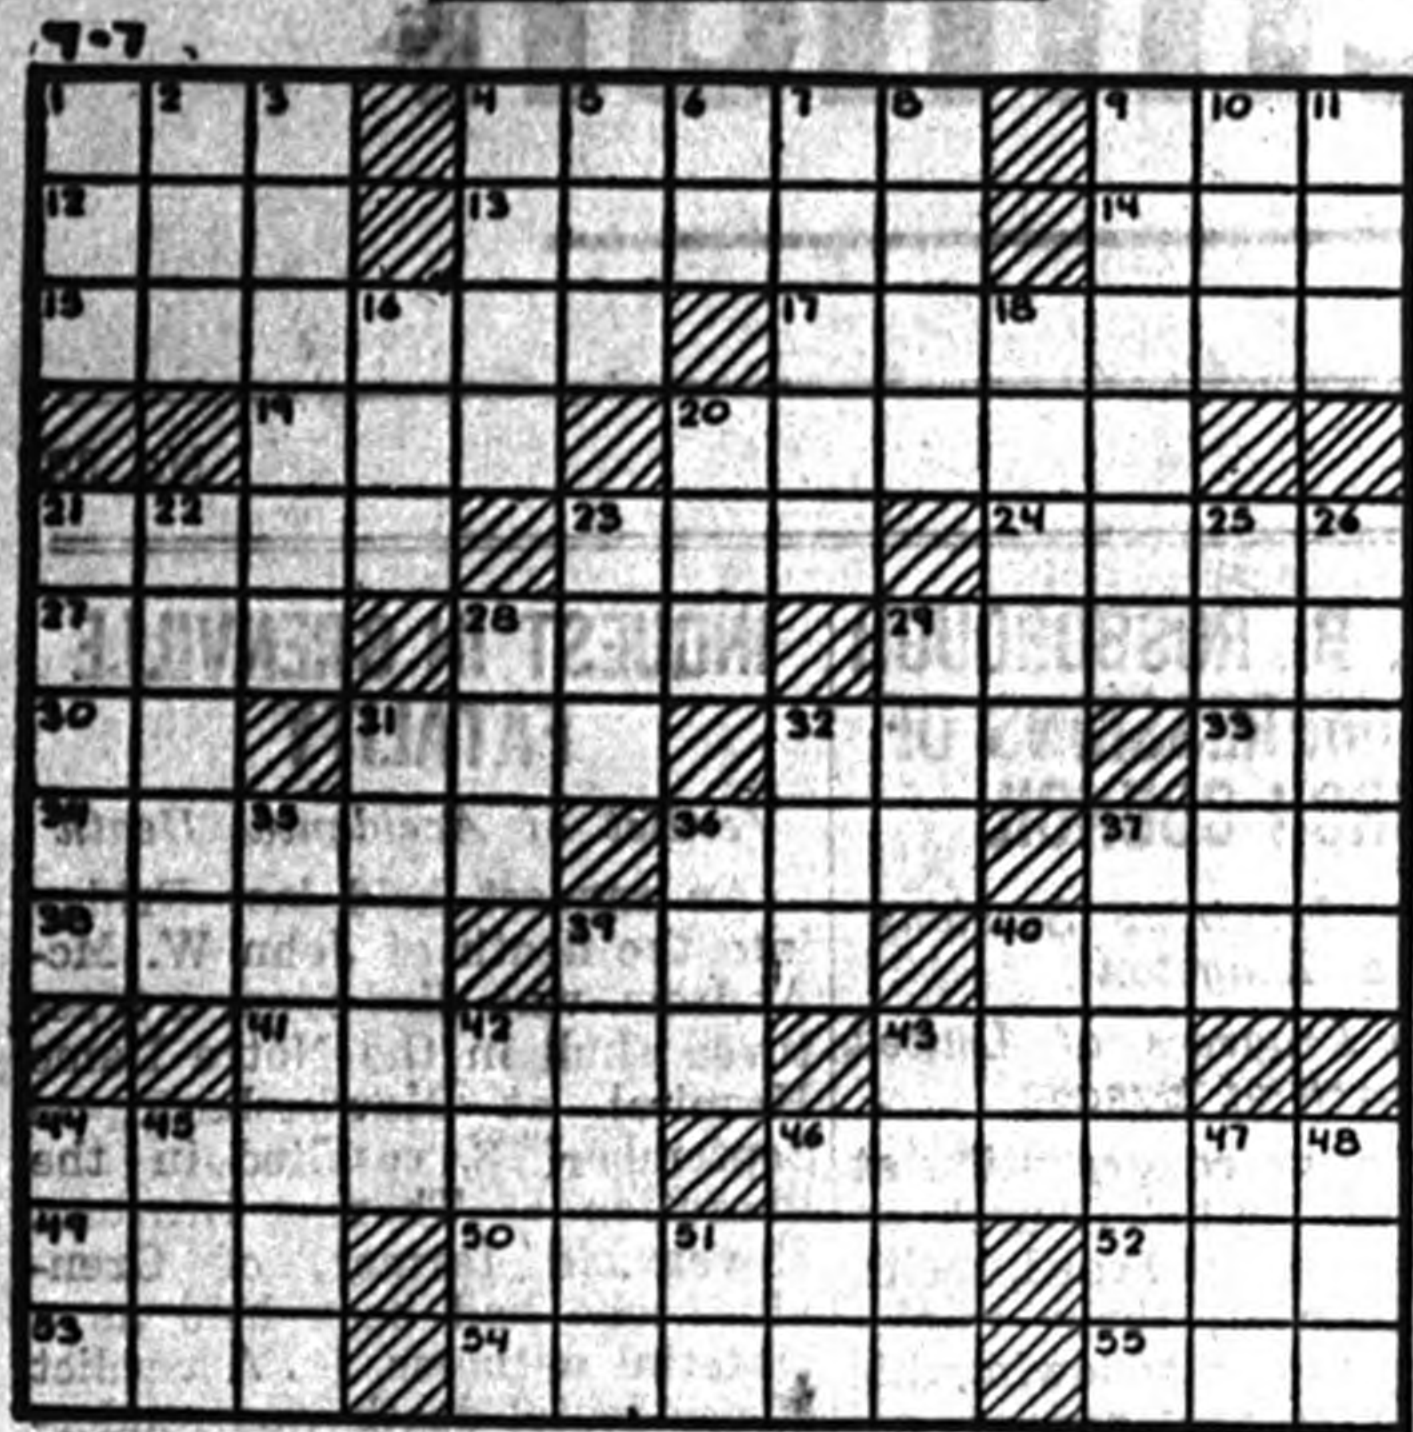

"I. It is great, for example, because of its wealth of effi-cient and consecrated leadership. Drs. Roberts, Moore, Laird, Bryce, Pidgeon, MacGregor, Dean, Oliver, Falconer, and many others that might be men-tioned from the ranks of the ministry, and men like Presi-dent W. C. Murray, N. W. Powell, President Trueman, Premier Gardiner, and others of a similar calibre among the laymen, indicate a wealth of leadership of which we need never be ashamed.

"II. Our Church is also great in point of numbers. This is a thing on which it would be a mistake to dilate too much and yet I feel that it is only right that we should be informed as to the numerical strength of our great United Church. There are 2,916 churches in our Church, duly organized, and in them a total of 7,295 preaching places. We have 5,967 Sunday Schools, with an enrollment of 647,793. At the close of the year 1933, the reported mem-bership of the Church stood at 686,492, representing a net gain of 35,970 since the Union in 1925.

"III. Then our Church is also great in its temper and spirit. There is a sense in which the General Council, representing as it does, every section of our land, might well be regarded as the Barometer of the Church. And the spirit which

Curse of Fire Spirit Is Still Experienced

A legend is told about how fire was introduced to the tribes of North America thousands, perhaps millions, of years ago. According to the story, the people of North America suffered much during the winter months because they had no fire. Tales reached their ears of a spirit who lived far away in the woods in an almost inaccessible place, surrounded by a thousand lakes. This spirit could melt the snow and warm even frozen meats. Hundreds of brave warriors dared to intrude into the domain of the spirit to obtain some of the fire, but they never returned to their people. Finally Manabozho, a courageous chief, brought fire to his people. Almost immediately these tribes learned the curse of fire—its utter destructiveness. This constituted "The Curse of the Fire Spirit," the title which a writer gives to an article in Hygeia, the health magazine.

The curse of the fire spirit has persisted. In the United States it is greater than in other countries. No fewer than 1,500 lives were lost in a forest fire in Wisconsin many years ago. The Chicago fire killed 200 persons and destroyed more than 17,000 buildings. The chief delight of the Fire Spirit is in burning people's homes; and fires of this kind cause more death, suffering and property destruction in the United States than do fires of any other kind. Rubbish, defective chimneys, combustible roofs, defective heating apparatus, matches, cigarette and cigar stubs, gasoline and kerosene, defective electrical equipment and hot ashes are responsible.

All Galaxies Like One Billions of Years Ago

All the galaxies were together a few billion years ago in a space no larger than is now occupied by one, but they began to separate and thus started the expansion of the universe. This theory, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, has been advanced by a famous Dutch astronomer, who believes that the universe contracted to a point at some definite epoch of time, the galaxies passing simultaneously through this point with the velocity of light.

The galaxies, he pointed out, can easily penetrate each other. If you put a million galaxies in the space now occupied by one, the stars would still have plenty of elbow room, for their mutual distances will still be of the order of 100,000 times their diameter. The theory is supported by several indications of a serious crisis three to five billion years ago, which is about the age of the planetary system, according to modern ideas. It is believed some very critical event in the history of the galaxies at about that time subjected them to perturbations which were responsible for their rotation, their spiral structure and the distribution of matter in them.

NUTS TO CRACK

"Hey, Ned! Come on over to Bellevue Woods and gather nuts."

Ned, busy getting beets for his mother to make beet relish, rose to his feet in quick surprise. He had not heard their footsteps on the dry, brown grass just behind him.

"I'd love to go, Dick, but I can't until I finish my work for Mother. It will take me almost three quarters of an hour yet, to do all my little chores."

"What's t' hinder you from leaving them, Ned? Won't they keep until you get back?"

"They'll keep all right, Dick, that's the worst of chores. If you don't do them when they should be done you always find them waiting for you, and it is much harder to pitch in and do them after you've had a bit of fun. I like to get the chores done first, then play."

"That's an old-fashioned idea, Ned", said Dick, "Besides if you leave them, someone else will most likely have them done when you get back."

"I'll do my own chores, thank you," replied Ned, with a bright smile. "I'd much rather do them than have my mother do them. I can do that much for her at least, and I'd rather not go nutting than leave any of my work for her." He knelt down and started cutting the tops off the beets he had already pulled from the ground.

The other boys looked at each other in an uneasy way, until Bob Boa said suddenly, "I say, fellows, let's all go and do something for our mothers before we go. Mothers always have something that a fellow can do—at least mine has."

"Okay, Bob!" shouted Bill Painter, "Let's all meet here again in an hour!"

The result was that some surprised mothers saw their small sons filling long forgotten wood boxes and water tanks, doing it willingly too, just as if they were enjoying the work and trying to see just how much they could do in an hour.

One or two guarded conversations over the telephone brought the fact to the notice of each mother, that every boy in the neighborhood was doing the same thing, and still further results were that every boy was given a little surprise package from his mother as he started for the woods, and told not to open it until he got there! "Aw, say, Mother, that's mean, mayn't we peek now?" Bill Painter asked. Before his mother had time to reply all the other lads shouted in chorus, "No! no! Bill, let's wait until we get to the woods. We can guess as we go along and that will be ever so much fun."

So the packages were not opened until they got to the woods, and almost every boy had guessed just what was in his parcel by feeling it very carefully and smelling it too. They recognized their mothers' cookies and doughnuts. Bill's box rattled so much that they all said "Candy", and they were right.

"Some feast!" chuckled Dick. "It sure paid to do up the chores first." "It always does" Ned said, his mouth half full of fresh ginger bread "even if you don't have a feast, you have satisfaction, and that means a lot".

"O, Ned, quit preaching. You sound just like Miss Moffat. We hear enough of that in school. This is Saturday; let's just gather nuts and play. Here's where the first nut goes into my basket."

For a time all that could be heard was the noise of nuts dropping into pails and baskets and angry excited squirrel voices chattering overhead as they watched those terrible boys picking up all the nuts which they had planned to carry off and hide in hollow stumps.

"Stop your scolding" Dick shouted at the squirrels. "If you had not been so lazy you might have had these nuts hidden. You don't have to go to school five days out of seven like we do. You're lucky, but you don't seem to know it." He tossed a huge chip in the direction of the squirrels, which only made them scold more excitedly.

"I don't think a squirrel is so very lucky", remarked Bob, "he can't warm his toes by the furnace register like we do, when it is cold, and he's not always sure of his meals either, poor old top."

Just then Bill cried out, "Oh! there's old Moll. Watch me scare her." Jumping from the big stone on which he sat, on to Old Moll's back, he clasped his arms around her neck and clung tightly. With a frightened snort the old black cow tossed her head around for a moment to stare at the creature on her back, then dashed off up the mountain side. It was Bill's turn to be scared now. Moll was heading directly for a patch of dense underbrush, and if he did not jump off before she reached it he would be swept off, or have his eyes torn out perhaps! Unclassing his arms Bill threw himself sideways, just as Moll, with an angry bellow, lowered her head to charge in amongst the brush.

"Ouch, ouch!" shouted Bill as his elbow came in contact with a stone. He sat up to rub it, and to get the sea-sick feeling out of his stomach if he could. Suddenly a queer, booming noise started up quite close to him. He had never heard anything like it before. Jumping to his feet he ran down to the others as fast as he could, not realizing that the noise was made by several partridges who had been even more scared than he was, to have Black Moll suddenly dart in amongst them in her wild attempt to brush Bill from her back.

When Bill reached the foot of the mountain he found that the girls had arrived and were laughing heartily at Ned's description of the way Bill went up the mountain on Old Moll's back. Midge made up a rhyme for the occasion and the others joined in heartily singing it over and over again to the tune of Yankee Doodle. It was something like this—

Naughty Bill went up the hill
Upon Old Mollie's back,
Mollie did not like it much
And made her tail go Whack,
Right across poor Billie's face
And right across his toes;
Billy fell from Mollie's back
And almost broke his nose!

With the girls to help, every basket was soon filled and the young folk carried them home, quite pleased that through the winter they would have so many nuts to crack.

SLOW WORKING BUT EFFECTIVE

As the Lindbergh kidnapping case is pushed steadily toward full disclosures, Washington points to the effectiveness of its new anti-crime machinery. In the Lindbergh base the Department of Justice has run down 5000 "leads" in two years and finally caught Bruno Richard Hauptmann with the ransom money. There are 50,000 index cards classifying clues and persons involved in the search.

Some 6000 American gangsters remain in hiding, but Dillinger, the foremost, has fallen and his empire dwindles. New interstate powers, new agencies, close co-operation between federal and state forces, are factors that are bringing light and hope for a safer civilization.

Many educated persons seem to take curious pride in the difficulty of their handwriting. They ascribe to personality the twists and twirls which are a fatal barrier to the stranger who seeks to read. BEGGING BANNED IN CHINESE CITY

In an attempt to end beggary in Tientsin and to rid the streets of all mendicants, the Chinese police have received orders to arrest all beggars on sight. On the day following receipt of the order 450 beggars were arrested.

All arrested beggars have been installed in a large workhouse where shelter, food and some clothing are to be provided, and where they will be taught some trade.

MANITOBA STUDIES TAX EXEMPTIONS

Members of a special committee of the Manitoba Legislature delving into tax exemptions of the Province totalling more than $156,200,000 raised the questions of taxing all church property, as well as wiping out exemptions enjoyed by railways.

S. J. Farmer, (Ind-Labor, Winnipeg), and W. C. McKinnell, (Lib-Prog, Rockwood) advocated church taxation. They believed that exemption of more than $6,700,000 accredited to properties of religious organizations should be abolished. Investigation by the committee was authorized by the Legislature.

The committee decided to make a thorough study of exemptions on railway property, totalling well over $25,500,000 and will ask railway companies to send representatives to the next sitting of the committee Sept. 28, to explain the basis of exemptions whether Federal, Provincial and municipal, and the amount of property involved.

Tax exemption figures supplied the committee showed exemptions of nearly $2,000,000 under the heading of educational institutions, of $221,000 under the University Act, $11,600 under public schools and $163,000 under the Public School Act.

SARNIA WANTS SHARE OF MOTOR AND GAS TAX

Sarnia, (Ont.) City Council has passed a resolution in favor of a recommendation by the Ottawa Board of Control, urging the Ontario Government to pass legislation enabling municipalities to receive a share of revenue from motor registration fees and gasoline tax.

The text of the Board's resolution sets out that the City of Ottawa has incurred heavy outlay in building roads, improving streets, and keeping streets open in winter and this expenditure is a heavy drain on the civic finances.

THE AXE STILL FALLS
(London Free Press.)

The Hepburn Government is growing bolder in its dismissals. First the dismissals were all on the ground of economy. With a great flourish came daily announcements of officials let out and an estimation of the money saved the Treasury. There was a suspicion the axe-swinging was not all pure economy. This was confirmed when a little later there were quiet announcements that the president of this or that Liberal Association or some prominent party worker was entering the service in a re-organization.

But now come daily stories in the press, of officials being dismissed and at the same time announcement of Liberal appointees to take their place. No plea for economy, just plain spoils system. A few days ago there was an announcement in London that the head of the bailiff had been cut off. A good Liberal has taken his place. The same news comes from Huron County.

The facts are, that never in the history of Canada has there been such cold-blooded and cruel swinging of the axe as on the part of the Hepburn Government. No administration, Liberal or Conservative, Federal or provincial, has so deliberately and so systematically set about inaugurating the spoils system.

In the case of real economy Mr. Hepburn will have the country behind him. There may have been unnecessary Government officials. Where there has been he will have support in cleaning up the barnacles. But Mr. Hepburn did not have a mandate from thousands of Conservatives and Independents in Ontario, who voted for him at the last election, to launch the spoils system on the present scale.

Great Bankers Evolved
From Merchant Princes

Most of our great financial leaders emerged from the dry goods or clothing business. Forerunners of our present big private bankers were the merchant princes. Even today in England the Rothschilds, the Barings and the Morgans are called merchants rather than bankers. One section of the United States was particularly prolific in developing a type of international merchant. The Yankee of New England was a born trader. From earliest Colonial days New England owned ships that scoured the seven seas in search of merchandise and trade.

George Peabody from Boston was the great seller of American securities to English investors during the Civil war. Junius S. Morgan, who carried on his business after his death, also came from Boston. The son of Junius S. Morgan, John Pierpont Morgan, lived in Boston as a boy and went to the English high school. The names of the great merchant princes of New England, the Lowells, the Lawrences, the Cabots, the Appletons, the Lees, the Higginsons, and many others are freely interspersed through the early history of the beginning of New England banking.

World Slow to Adopt
Idea of Christian Era

It was the custom of ancient peoples to reckon their chronological eras from some great historical event, for example, the Romans from the foundation of Rome, the Greeks from the establishment of the Olympic games, the Babylonians from accession of Nabonassar, etc. Consequently when Christianity became the established religion of the Roman empire, it was natural that the supposed date of the birth of Christ should replace that of the founding of Rome as a means of reckoning dates. A Roman abbot, Dionysius Exiguus, introduced this method into Italy in 533 A. D., fixing the birth of Christ in the year 754 of the Roman era, though he began the year 1 with the Annunciation, March 25 of the previous year. The use of the new Christian era was introduced into France and England in the Eighth century, but it was slow in receiving official recognition. Charlemagne appears to have been the first secular authority to use it.

EDMONTON MARRIAGE OF INTEREST HERE

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Green, formerly of Brownsburg and Lachute, will be interested in the following report concerning the wedding of their daughter in Edmonton this month. The clipping is from the Edmonton Journal, which comments as follows—

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Aird have just returned from their wedding trip and will be at home shortly at their flat in the west end.

Mrs. Aird, before her marriage in September, was Miss Dorothy Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Green, the Highlands. Her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander D. Aird, also of Edmonton.

Their wedding which took place at First Presbyterian Church manse on September 1, was a very simple one. Dr. Andrew Osborn officiated. It was followed by a reception at the Corona to relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

They spent their honeymoon at Banff, Lake Louise and other mountain resorts.

REVISING THE CALENDAR

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor, The Watchman,

The writer of the following article has, for several years, been interested in attempts to introduce an improved calendar in place of the present one. The leading European countries as well as Canada and the United States seem to be deeply interested in the question; and it has been debated upon in the British Parliament and in the League of Nations.

A most interesting article on the subject has just appeared in the September number of the McGill News by Professor Douglas of McGill University, and to this the writer is indebted for part of the information given here.

Doubtless most of us could get along with the present calendar for the rest of our lives; nevertheless it is interesting to note some of the suggested improvements.

With regard to a fixed or invariable calendar there are two plans that have specially commended themselves and have been voted on by the League of Nations. One of these proposes to divide the year into thirteen months of twenty-eight days. The first day of each month is Sunday and the last, Saturday. One day would be left over, making an extra Saturday at the end of December. In each Leap-Year there would be another extra Saturday at the end of the sixth month or at the middle of the seventh month.

By this plan the days of the week would always fall on the same dates of the month. For example, Mondays would fall on the 2nd, 9th, 16th, and 23rd. of every month. One objection to this is that a thirteen month year cannot be divided into half and quarter years.

The other plan divides the 364 days into four, equal quarters. The first month of each quarter has 31 days, the second 30 and the third 30. January, April, July and October would have 31 days and would begin on a Sunday; February, May, August and November would have 30 days and would begin on a Wednesday always; March, June, September and December would have 29 days and begin on a Friday. The day over at the end of the year would be named Year Day and would fall between Saturday, Dec. 30 and Sunday, Jan. 1st. In Leap Years another extra Saturday would follow Saturday, June 30, and precede Sunday, July 1st.

By this plan each month would have the same number of work days. Easter Sunday would always fall on April 8th. and Christmas Day always on a Monday.

Forty-one nations voted on the question in 1931 at the League of Nations. Thirty-nine voted for the twelve-month plan. Canada and Jugo-Slavia voted for the thirteen-month plan. It is hoped by many that Canada will withdraw her vote upholding the thirteen-month plan.

A suitable date for the change to be made to the twelve-month plan would be January 1st., 1939; because this date in our present calendar falls on Sunday and so does January 1st. of the new calendar. In this way the old calendar would slide into the new one without any confusion.

A Canadian Calendar Association has been organized for the purpose of interesting the Canadian people in the Twelve-month-equal-quarter plan. The leading European countries and the United States have similar associations working along the same lines.

Lachute, Sept. 25, 1934.

CITY NAMES PURCHASING AGENT

In an effort to effect further economies, Charles Noel, former buyer in the engineer's office of the City of Verdun, Que., has also been appointed purchasing agent for the city. Formerly each civic department bought its supplies independently, but under the new system all purchasing has been consolidated, and the agent is required to report periodically to the city's director of finance.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT HONORS QUEBEC MAYOR

Mayor J. E. Gregoire of Quebec, it is stated, will be created a chevalier of the Legion of Honor in recognition of his efforts in connection with the Jacques Cartier celebrations.

The city's chief magistrate was one of the three representatives of Canada who went to France to attend the celebrations in that country, and also to Gaspe for the events there, afterwards accompanying the French delegation to Quebec.

BRITISH COLUMBIA MUNICIPAL DEBTS TO BE SCALED DOWN

The British Columbia Government has directed three towns, Burnaby, North Vancouver City, and North Vancouver District, to default their high bond interest. Interest rates on all British Columbia municipalities will be scaled down immediately on a compulsory basis in the most drastic municipal refinancing scheme ever undertaken in Canada.

MONTREAL STILL GROWING

Despite the long period of depression the population of Montreal has continued to rise steadily. This is not due to any migratory influx of people from outside, as the census taken by Lovell's Directory, which affords the figures showing the increase, does not include any casuals, but only residents. There has been an actual increase during the past twelve months of 14,399 people, carrying the grand total for Greater Montreal to 1,347,905, an increase of a little over 1 per cent.

Wedding Anniversaries

The custom of celebrating silver and gold wedding anniversaries originated in Germany many years ago. When a couple had been married for twenty-five years, friends and neighbors joined in presenting a silver wreath. On the fiftieth anniversary a gold wreath was presented. In each case the wife was the recipient, partly in congratulation that her husband had been spared to her, and partly in accordance with the idea that the harmony of the home depended mainly on the wife and therefore she was more entitled to the reward! China, tin, and such like anniversaries are comparatively recent introductions, adopted in imitation of the older custom.

Cattle Graze on Asparagus

Asparagus, the highly prized vegetable for which Americans at times are forced to pay high prices, grows so freely in the wild state in Russia the cattle graze on it. The plant also grows wild on the southern coast of England. There are some 150 known varieties of asparagus, the most common being the so-called asparagus, which is used for table purposes. It has been under cultivation for more than 2,000 years. The usual practice is to grow it for two years in the nursery bed before setting it out and then no shoots are cut off at least for two years.

"Oxford Accent" Least Favored

What is called the Oxford accent is probably the most unpopular version of English in the world today. It is, however, unjust to attribute it to Oxford. A good deal of it comes from the clergy and is forced upon them by the fact that they have to monotonize the prayers, and it is impossible to monotonize a prayer in which, for example, the word father occurs without making it "fath-ah."—London Observer.

Poetical Warship Names

The Japanese people bestow poetical names upon their warships, particularly destroyers. The translations of some of them sound strange to Yankee ears. For instance, "Ahikanami" means "waves chasing each other"; "Hatsuyuki," "first snow of winter"; and "Matsukaze," "wind in the pine trees." About 30 destroyers have names with a suffix "Kaze" which means "wind."

PIANO TUNING

—He broke the sword of Napoleon with a stroke of his pen—that a father's dying wish, a mother's trust, four brothers' loyalty, might be fulfilled. See George Arliss in the leading role of House of Rothschild. (Rex Program on Page 5.)

MENAGE OF THE UNLOADED GUN (Cornwall Freeholder.)

"I didn't know it was loaded!"

Again that pitiful, useless cry comes, from near Belleville this time, where a boy, nine years old, killed his sister, six, with a bullet from his father's rifle.

In spite of repeated warnings, every once in a while someone is killed or injured when someone else points an "unloaded weapon" and pulls the trigger. It is usually "in fun" or "playfully"; but the damage is no less serious on that account.

We Canadians are prone to hold up our hands in holy horror over the custom of gun-carrying in the United States, but when we get right down to "brass tacks," we ourselves are none too careful. The record of damage done by firearms not supposed to be loaded proves that.

There is only one safe rule to follow in regard to firearms—always to take it for granted that the weapon is loaded until you have made absolutely sure that it is not.

A FURTHER STEP on the Road to Recovery

A Statement by the Prime Minister of Canada

THE Dominion of Canada will offer for public subscription within the next few days the 1934 Refunding Loan. It is an undertaking of such significance to every citizen that I think it fitting to present this brief explanation of its close relation to the welfare and continued progress of our country.

The 1934 Loan is not an incidental effort. It is a part—and an essential part—of the great debt conversion programme in which Canada has been engaged since 1931, and by which we are refunding at maturity the large sums borrowed for wartime purposes. The national importance of this programme—and of the 1934 Loan as part of it—cannot be over-emphasized. It is important from three aspects: 1—National Credit; 2—National Economy; 3—National Recovery. I shall deal with each of these in turn.

1. National Credit

National credit means to a nation what an honest reputation means to a man. Its maintenance is a primary essential and necessitates that each obligation be met, fully and promptly, as it comes due. Our debt conversion programme is then, in the first instance, our method of meeting our obligations and thus maintaining our credit.

By this programme Canada has already refunded $358,000,000 of maturing wartime debt, and completion of the 1934 Loan will bring the refunded total to over one billion dollars. As a result, Canada's credit stands notably high, both at home and in the great money markets of the world.

Striking evidence of our high credit standing was given within the last few months when Canada secured immediate over-subscription of a long-term loan in London at a price to yield the investor less than 3½% and, in New York, obtained a one-year Loan of $50,000,000 bearing interest at 2 per cent. And there is equally striking evidence at the present moment in the fact that every internal issue of Dominion of Canada Bonds now outstanding is selling today at substantially above its issue price. The twelve-year 4½ Bonds of the 1933 Refunding Loan, issued at 96½, are now selling at 104 to yield approximately 3½%.

2. National Economy

The debt conversion programme, in the second place, is providing substantial savings in public interest charges. The debt which we are refunding was incurred with interest rates at artificially high wartime peaks. Refunding is now being accomplished with interest rates throughout the world moving steadily downward toward more normal levels—an encouraging world movement which is essential to business recovery. By refunding under these conditions Canada has already obtained a reduction of the previous interest charges amounting to more than $9,000,000 per annum, and completion of the 1934 Loan will provide a further saving of over $5,000,000 per annum.

The annual saving of over $14,000,000 thus secured has a direct cash benefit to every tax-payer. This saving has much more than offset the interest charges on the debt which has been incurred to meet the extraordinary burden of unemployment relief. It has, to a considerable extent, offset the heavy burdens which the depression period has imposed with respect to railway and other current requirements. It will also pave the way to tax reductions with the return to better times.

3. National Recovery

The debt conversion which Canada has achieved since 1931, by thus maintaining national credit and securing national economy, has been a major factor in our progress toward business recovery.

A year ago, preliminary to the 1933 Refunding Loan, I took occasion to express the belief that Canada had passed the low point of depression and was definitely upon the road to recovery. Today, our progress toward recovery is a matter of established fact. Since the low point of February 1933, the trend of business has been moving steadily upward in an improvement so marked and so consistently sustained that we need no longer doubt its reality.

The facts of business recovery are written beyond dispute in our statistical records. The most significant indices relate to physical volume of business, industrial production, carloadings, electric power production, employment and prices. Here is the record in each case:

	During Past Year*	Since Low Point of Depression February 1933
Physical volume of business....	13.8%	42.8%
Industrial Production.....	15.7%	56.9%
Carloadings.....	10.3%	29.4%
Electric Power Production....	12.4%	32.7%
Employment.....	14.7%	17.1%
Wholesale Prices.....	4.0%	13.7%
Farm Products Prices.....	7.7%	43.3%

*In the case of carloadings, employment and prices, the latest figures available are those for August; in other cases, those for July.

Our external trade figures are equally encouraging. During the first eight months of the present year, exports of Canadian products increased approximately $99,000,000, or 32.7% over the same period last year. The corresponding increase for imports has been slightly under $93,000,000, or 38.2%.

A Further Step

Anyone who reflects upon these three aspects of credit, economy and recovery will at once appreciate that the debt conversion programme is vitally important to every Canadian and that, consequently, the success of the 1934 Loan is the personal concern of every man and woman in the Dominion.

The 1934 Loan is a further step in a great national undertaking; its success means a further step on the road to recovery. I know that I need not stress the attractiveness of the Loan as the soundest possible investment, for that will be universally recognized. I do, however, earnestly call upon my fellow Canadians to support this Loan to the limit of their abilities as an opportunity to promote our national welfare. I know of no way in which the individual citizen can render greater service to himself and to his country.

HARVEST HOME SUPPER

The "Harvest Home Supper" passed off with splendid success on Friday last at the Lachute United Church, which had been prettily decked out by the male members of the congregation with sheaves of wheat, vegetables and fruits. About 250 friends gathered to enjoy the good things provided both a splendid meal and a real good programme, in which the violin selections from Mr. Fassio were greatly appreciated as also were the vocal selections and monologues by Mr. Allan Murray, the popular entertainer and one time member of the celebrated Dumbells Troupe.

A pleasing feature of the evening was a brief address of Archdeacon Parker who, while attending the Anglican Synod as representative of Fort Garry, Winnipeg, took the opportunity of slipping off to visit his old home and friends in Lakefield.

Mr. J. D. Miller, who for the past few weeks has been visiting his old time friends and relatives in Huntingdon and Lachute, returned to his home in Winnipeg on Thursday last. Mr. Miller, in noting the progress and general activity of this County, thinks we are very fortunate, and that we know little of the extreme hardships encountered in the Western Provinces.

PARACHUTIST DESCENDS AMONG LIONS

Escapes in Unique Landing

A rare experience befell an English parachutist jumping from a plane over Chessington, Surrey. The wind carried him too near town and he descended into the lions' cage at the local zoo.

He descended into the cage almost, but not quite. He was caught on the pronged bars just out of reach of two lions of the jungle who did their best to jump up to him. They couldn't quite reach.

Firemen were called and valiantly played a hose on the lions, who were really hungry by this time. While they were kept at bay at spectator climbed the bars and gathered the helpless aeronaut in his arms, pulling him to safety. The Unwilling Daniel was uninjured.

POSTAL ORGANIZATION IN CANADA ONE OF THE BEST

Hon. Arthur Sauve Lauds Co-operation

Canada has one of the foremost postal organizations in the world, Hon. Arthur Sauve, postmaster-general, said at the annual banquet of the Association of Postmasters of the Province of Quebec, meeting in convention recently.

The country owed her position in the postal world to the co-operation of her postmasters, he told his listeners. "You are in an ideal position", he declared, "to prevent in most cases inefficiency, to reduce unnecessary work and to eliminate errors. In doing these things, you not only do your duty as postmasters but you render a service to the public. Courtesy, education—that is what counts in a ministry where employees are constantly in contact with the public."

He insisted on co-operation among all employees of the Postal Department declaring this was the only way the department could keep up its record.

Our Eyesight

The development of sight is gauged by the skill and mental development of each individual. Thus to one person a passing auto may be a dark closed car, while a fleeting glimpse enables another, educated in such things, to describe it as a four door blue sedan of a certain manufacture and certain year's model and other distinguishing features. So writes an expert in Hygeia, the health magazine. But eye hygiene depends on other physical facts. For example, the eye, like an arm, would atrophy from non-use. This is one of the not uncommon conditions of the eye. When this condition is caught early enough, the poor eye is put to work, while the patient is wearing glasses, to the exclusion of the good eye. Crossed eyes are usually found in children who are farsighted.

Hints for Homebodies

Specially written for Readers of the Watchman.
By JESSIE ALLEN BROWN

THREE BOOKS BY UNDERSTANDING WOMEN

It seems reasonable that women writers should be able to portray women very clearly. I have lately read three books, each written by a woman, which gave clever characterizations of women and of their viewpoint on women's different difficulties. The first was Her Son's Wife by that clever psychologist Dorothy Canfield Fisher; the next Humdrum House by Jeanette Phillips Gibbs; and the last The Godfather, by Nalbro Bartley. The title of Her Son's Wife tells the subject of the book and tells of the mis-handling of a son and his wife by an otherwise very clever woman. Humdrum House tells of the boredom which so many married women develop when they have too little mental exercise, and after near disaster the heroine finds way to overcome her problem. The Godfather tells of the bachelor who after many love-affairs finally becomes engaged — one of those long engagements where no mention of marriage is made. None of these books could be called great books but they are all very readable and treat of different problems, against which woman have had to struggle, in a very discerning manner.

OVERHEARD AT THE MOVIES

It was one of those screen songs where you are supposed to sing with the bouncing ball. The woman behind said 'I like these screen songs. In Michigan we always sing them'. Her friend said, 'We always sing in the Old Country but in Canada they think you are crazy 'if you sing'. It is true. We Canadians are not much given to bursting into song. Are we not fond of singing or are we overwhelmingly self-conscious?

REGULAR HABITS

A mother who runs her baby by the clock will find that she will have an easier time eventually than the mother who feeds and sleeps her baby at any old time that it may prove convenient. The child's health will benefit by the regularity and as habit is the first step in discipline, the mother will find life will be easier for her and her child if she sticks to a regular time for all the baby's physical needs.

DRINK PLENTY OF WATER

Water is one of the good things of life that we just take for granted. Most of us do not drink as much water as we should to keep our body machinery in the best of condition.

QUEBEC WOMEN'S INSTITUTES OFFER SCHOLARSHIP

In memory of the first Superintendent of the Quebec Women's Institutes a scholarship of $50.00 is annually offered to rural girls only. This scholarship is known as the Frederica Campbell Macfarlane Scholarship, and is offered by Quebec Women's Institutes for highest standing in the under graduate years of the four year Bachelor of Household Science at Macdonald College, and also in the junior year of the course in Institution Administration. No restrictions are placed on this scholarship as to the number of times it may be won by one student.

We would not think of letting the car go without water but forget its importance in the body. All food has to be dissolved in water before it can be absorbed, and it is very necessary to carry off the waste products. There are a good many people who feel that they should not drink with their meals. If they use a liquid to wash down their food it is very wrong but otherwise it is an aid to digestion. There are some people who would get no liquids at all if it were not for the tea and coffee that they drink with their meals. Too much strong tea or coffee is not good but a properly made cup of either acts as a mild stimulant and an aid to digestion. Temperance is required with tea and coffee because undoubtedly harm can be done by the use of too much of them. Try to drink two glasses of water in the middle of the morning and another two in the middle of the afternoon. You had better start this very minute.

TOMATO CATSUP

1/2 bushel ripe tomatoes
1 cup sugar
1 quart vinegar
1 teaspoon cayenne pepper
2 tablespoons each celery seed and ground mace
1/2 cup salt
1 tablespoon cinnamon

Peel tomatoes and cook slowly until they are reduced to half their bulk. Put through a sieve. Add the remaining ingredients and cook slowly until quite thick. Pour into bottles and cork. Wax the neck of the bottles.

MUSHROOM CATSUP

Wash and drain 1 peck of mushrooms. Slice and cook with 1 cup of water until the mushrooms are soft, stirring frequently. Press through a sieve and add 1 pint of vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon of cayenne, 2 tablespoons mustard, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, half a teaspoon mace and half a tablespoon of cloves. Cook about half hour, and bottle.

BAKER STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS

4 sweet green peppers
1/2 cup bread crumbs
1/2 cup chopped cooked meat
2 tablespoons chopped celery
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon melted butter
Cut off the stem end of the peppers and remove the pulp and seeds. Mix the remaining ingredients, stuff the peppers with the mixture and bake in a covered pan, adding a half inch of water. Bake for 30 minutes, basting frequently. Remove the lid for the last five minutes to brown.

"The more modern poets are quite capable of keeping the commas and leaving out the words." —G. K. Chesterton.

"There are those who tell me that the physical world is the only world. As a proposition in metaphysics, I do not see that there is much to be said in favor of this, but for practical purposes I unhesitatingly reject it. There is a large part of my experience which I do not even begin to understand by trying to think of it in terms of atoms and electrons." —Professor Geo. B. Jeffrey.

They have under their supervision, 1,763 farms, covering 602,382 acres. NOVEL STREET LIGHTING CONTROL IN INDIANAPOLIS

Street lights will be turned on and off in Indianapolis, beginning April 1, 1935, with a photo-electric eye instead of by hand, according to a provision in the specifications of the city's new lighting contract. This new device operates according to the amount of light in the air. For instance, if the weather is cloudy and daylight fades earlier than usual, the lights are automatically turned on when the lack of visibility reaches a certain point.

OUTSIDERS' INCOME TAX SUGGESTED

Proposal that the City of Montreal should seek an income tax on all people who earn their money in the metropolis but live outside, has been suggested by a resident who would make the taxation start at $25 a month.

In the suggestion for an outsiders' income tax, is the argument that people ought not to be able to take money out of Montreal without paying something for the privilege. Hundreds of people working in the metropolis do nothing for the Montreal City Hall, it is claimed, and the suggestion is made that an income tax on them, collected at the source through the employers, would bring a respectable sum to the city's coffers.

50 Years Ago.

October 3, 1884

The exhibition this year was a long way in advance of previous ones and the exhibits were of great variety. In the display of fancy work there were two cases of wax, shell and flower work that proved a great attraction, first prize going to Mr. Wm. McCulough of Isle-aux-chaits, the 2nd. by Mrs. Duncan McGregor, of River Rouge, composed by feathers artistically colored and blended. Among the principal exhibitors were Thos. Burwash, St. Andrews; Jno. Hay, Chatham; Thos. Marshall, Dalesville; Malcolm Smith, Beech Ridge; Thos. Morin, of Jerusalem; Duddridge & Mitchell, Hamelin & Ayers of Lachute; McOuat & McRae, Harry Larmonth. At the close of the exhibition Mr. G. J. Walker, secretary, read in a clear voice the names of the winners from the upper window of the Victoria Hall where they had assembled to hear results.

The large quantity of dynamite stored on the Chatham road near Lachute is unquestionably a dangerous article. The fact of the owners having to send it out of the way proves this and the people in the vicinity where it is stored are in terror of their lives.

CONTRACTOR LOSES FOR MISCALCULATION IN TENDERING

A misplaced decimal point resulted in loss to a Montreal contractor, when a judgment was handed down by Mr. Justice Philippe Demers in Superior Court dismissing his claim for $6,232 which, he alleged, was due him, but which he did not collect because of a misplaced decimal point.

The contractor, Joseph Loranger, took action against the Corporation of the Village of Chambly Canton and explained to the court that in 1929 the corporation called for bids for construction work on sewers of the municipality. The bids were to be made in lump sum, and he tendered a bid for the work at $51,398. But by an error due to an elusive decimal point, he found out that he had bid on one item in his lump sum tender for 91 manholes — 277 linear yards at $25, for $692.50—when the total should have been $6,925.

In rendering judgment refusing to do so, His Lordship held that in accepting the bid the town could not be held to verify any possible error on the part of the bidder.

BRITISH PILINGS IMPORTED FOR PUBLIC WORKS

900 Tons of Larssen sheet steel pilings rolled in Great Britain from British steel, arrived in a recent cargo to Montreal, to be used in the course of construction being carried out under the Public Works Act passed during the last session at Ottawa.

The Canadian Sheet Piling Company, Ltd., who are bringing out this large consignment of British products, explained that this would be followed by another shipment later. The present lot would be used in connection with several substantial public undertakings planned for the immediate future. One of these is the construction of wharves and piers in Port Daniels East, Baie de Chaleurs. Another work in which the pilings are to be used is that of the port at Oshawa, Ontario. Under the Toronto Harbor Commission construction has been planned which comes under the general federal scheme of public works and some of the consignment of steel is destined for that enterprise. Other construction is that of Port Stanley, a Lake Erie port, and at Kincardine, on Lake Huron.

THAT "LIKE THE DICKENS" FEELING IS LIVER

Wake Up Your Liver Bile.
Feel Fit. You Needn't use
Calomel To Do It.

It's your liver, failing to pour out the vital two pounds of bile, daily, into your bowels, that makes you feel so off-colour. Lack of bile means poor digestion. Food stays too long in your bowels and decays. Your system is poisoned. You go through the misery of gas, bloating, pain, heartburn. You have a dark brown abdominal taste in your mouth and bad breath. Your skin's unhealthy and often your head aches. Your whole system seems out of kilter. How can you reasonably expect to clear up a condition like this by merely taking salts, mineral water, oil, laxative sandy or chewing gum, or roughage? These only move the bowels, and that's not enough. You must wake up your liver bile. Avoid calomel (mercury). Take Carter's Little Liver Pills. They're purely vegetable, gentle, sure and safe. They'll make you feel a hundred per cent better in a very short time. Don't waste your money on substitutes. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name—and get them! Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label. 25c. at all druggists.

The Handicrafts Exhibition in the United Church School Room, on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 29th., promises to be an interesting event.—Come along and meet your friends. Admission free.

REV. W. B. ROSBOROUGH GIVES IMPRESSIONS OF CHURCH COUNCIL

animated and pervaded the meetings of the Council indicated a wonderful spirit of unity and enthusiastic devotion to the cause of the Kingdom on the part of our Ministers and people.

"IV As I listened to the deliberations of the General Council I was also impressed by the fact that ours is not only a 'United' but also a 'Uniting' Church. I felt this to be the case as I witnessed the remarkable cordiality with which the delegates from other Churches were received. This was signally apparent in the applause which greeted the assertion of Canon Heeney, of Winnipeg, a representative of the Synod of the Anglican Church, that he hoped the day was not far distant when we would all be gathered into one great Church, presenting a united front to those forces which are menacing the very existence of a free and evangelical Christianity in the world to-day. I sensed this also when that distinguished lawyer, Mr. N. W. Powell, in reporting for the delegation which carried our greetings to the Anglican Synod, deprecated the spirit of narrow sectarianism which some would apparently still like to foster, and quoted with approval that great statement of John Wesley: 'If your heart is as my heart, give me your hand.' This was further apparent in the gratification expressed concerning the promising negotiations toward Union, which are now going on between our Church and the appointed representatives of the Canada Conference of the Evangelical Church.

"V. But I think that the thing which impressed me most forcibly, as a Commissioner to the General Council, was the greatness of the task by which our Church and all other Christian Churches are confronted at the present time. One could not listen to the splendid addresses that were delivered on Home Mission Night, telling of the Home Missionary activities of our Church, from Newfoundland to British Columbia, without realizing that we have on our hands a Home Mission Problem of the very first magnitude. Then, in addition to our task in the Homeland, we have been made responsible for the evangelization of thirty-two millions of men and women, and boys and girls, in Non-Christian lands. We must never lose sight of the fact that large sections of the people of China, Japan, Korea, India, Africa and Trinidad, are looking to our church for the message that will lead them into a fuller and a larger life, and that there is small chance of their ever receiving that message through any other Church than ours.

"It was also emphasized at the Council that our Church must take a worthy part in seeking to promote the outlawry of war as an instrument of national purpose, and in seeking to eliminate those gigantic evils which are eating like a canker into the very heart and vitals of our Social Order.

"If, moreover, we are to keep pace with the needs of the work in our own land, and meet the challenge which the Foreign Field and the urgent needs of mankind are presenting to us, it stands to reason that we must see that the work of Evangelism, the Religious Education of the young, and the work of training young men for the Ministry are kept at a high state of health and efficiency.

"We are engaged in a great crusade as members of the United Church of Canada, and we must continually remember the Church and its work in our prayers. We must also seek opportunities to do our bit, through personal service, to help make the Church a more perfect representation of the mind and spirit of Jesus Christ. And, through our monetary gifts, we must do what we can to see that our Church is adequate for the permanence of the great task to which, in God's providence, she has been called.

"I was much impressed by a story related by Rev. H. E. D. Ashford, one of our young missionaries from Central India. He told of sailing one day at noon on the Red Sea. It was blazing hot, and the sea was running high. Suddenly the ship, in whose wake they were following, sent out a shrill blast, and signalled that there was a man overboard. The two ships were brought to a stop, and boats were sent out to look for and, if possible, to rescue the unfortunate man. An S.O.S. was then sent out, and, before long, five Men-of-War appeared on the horizon in answer to the call. Naturally all the passengers rushed to side of the boat to see what was the cause of all this furor and excitement. And the Missionary, as he stood by the rail, happened to get a glimpse of the man, and he saw that it was a black man, an Indian whose life was in jeopardy. It was a race between the boats and the sharks, and, after a time, the boats came back, empty, for the sharks had won. When it was all over, the Missionary asked one of the officers how much that delay had cost, and the answer was that it had undoubtedly cost several thousands of pounds. Here were shipping companies—companies, that were operating for dividends, for profits, foregoing thousands of pounds in the attempt to save one black man from a watery grave. How much more, then, should we be ready to invest some of the returns of our daily labors in the great efforts which are being put forth by our Church to save countless numbers of men and women and boys and girls from physical, moral and spiritual deterioration — and death!

"As a result of my attendance at the General Council my conviction has been deepened and strengthened that the work in which we are engaged is supremely worth-while. And I come back to my work in this congregation with a renewed determination to try harder than ever before to make a success of the work in this corner of the vineyard, so that we might make a worthy contribution to the great crusade in which our Church is so busily and energetically engaged. And I appeal to you to join me in this determination, so that, through our hearty and enthusiastic co-operation, we may do our part toward making our Dominion His Dominion, and toward hastening the coming of the day when the Kingdoms of this world shall have become the Kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Sept. 30th. is "Reality."

The Golden Text is:—"Whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things". (Philippians 4: 8).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, that dwellest between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth: thou hast made heaven and earth". (Isaiah 37: 16).

"All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal. That which He created is good, and He makes all that is made. Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal." (Science and Health pages 472 and 355).

LONDON BANS MOTOR HORNS AT NIGHT EDMONTON TO STUDY TAX PROBLEMS

Along the line of the campaign to lessen noise in London, an order forbidding the sounding of motor horns in most parts of the Metropolis during the night has been issued by Major Hore-Belisha, Minister for Transport. The period of silence will last from 11 p.m. until 6 or 7 o'clock in the morning.

In Paris whistling for taxis in the night has long been forbidden. Blowing of horns after 11 p.m. is also taboo in the French capital.

NOW USE ELECTRICITY TO STERILIZE WATER

A new electrical process for sterilizing water in swimming pools described in the Lancet, and quoted by the London Daily Mail.

The method is of special interest because it depends on the sterilizing action of minute quantities of silver which are liberated into the water.

As the water flows to the pool from the filtration plant, it is explained, a portion of it is passed through a small electric current between two silver plates. Traces of silver leave the surface of the plate which carries a positive electrical charge.

At intervals determined by an electric clock the direction of the current is reversed so that silver is liberated from the opposite plate. In this way the silver wasted is distributed equally.

For some chemical reason by no means understood, the silver introduced into the water in this way possesses a remarkably high sterilizing power provided that the water is fairly free from organic matter other than bacteria.

A particular advantage is that no smell is imparted to the water, which retains this sterilizing power for some time and exerts a powerful inhibitive effect on the green growth which so often spoils the appearance of swimming pool water.

ONEROUS DUTIES UNPAID

Both the chairman and the leader of the London County Council are unpaid, although the duties occupy most of their time. The chairman has the use of a car if required, an office, and a secretary.

HISTORIC TADOUSSAC

It seems a pity, says the Toronto Globe, that in all the Cartier celebrations in Quebec ancient Tadoussac was overlooked. Four centuries ago the great Jacques officially opened the place which has become a delightful summer resort, and there should have been some kind of celebration there this year. However, Tadoussac folk are too easy-going to bother about making a fuss over anything—and that is why the village at the confluence of the Saguenay and the St. Lawrence has so many warm admirers.

NEW RELIEF RENT FRAUD

A new kind of fraud in connection with the payment of unemployment relief has been uncovered in Montreal. Two persons are under arrest and four other persons are still being sought.

According to the investigators for the Unemployment Relief Commission the practice is to have a person sign a bogus lease so that the "supposed landlord" collects the rent. At the same time the signer of the lease is said to be paid a percentage on this collection. Then the names of boarders, also on relief, are given, and these are found to be either false or the person named to be employed.
