Closed Good Year at Lachute High School

Annual Distribution of Prizes

Lachute United Church was filled to capacity Thursday last when pupils of Lachute High School gathered "to celebrate", as Principal C. L. Hall remarked, the closing of a very happy year. On the platform were the Chairman of the board, Dr. J. H. Mason, Commissioners Jas. W. Gall, Dr. J. Drew, W. Jackson, and Geo. Y. Deacon, with the secretary, Dr. G. A. Clunie, Revs. W. LeCras, Rosborough and Conn, also Messrs. Pitcairn, J. McFaul, T. Milne, Principal Todd of the Brownsburg Consolidated School, and J. S. Giles — several of whom made brief remarks in connection with this happy assembly.

After complimenting the principal and his staff for the splendid work of the past year, Dr. Mason introduced the new members of the staff, the Misses Webster, Labelle, Bruce and McCoy. On behalf of the board, Dr. Mason said they were not yet content, but were aiming to instal a radio and moving picture machine, not principally for amusement, but for educational work. "Then we want to establish classes of household science and manual training. While yet visionary, they will come", he said.

Principal Hall spoke of the splendid spirit which permeated the classes, resultant largely from the efforts of Sam Milne as captain of the school and Miss Kelly as secretary. With the new building of the school, this office of captaincy was assumed by Lloyd Canning, who proved an able leader, with S. Milne succeeding. For the current year Lloyd Graham has been unanimously appointed to this popular position among the students.

With 400 boys and girls on hand, Principal Hall paid tribute to the certain air of refinement evidenced by the scholars in school and on the campus. He extended a warm invitation to the parents to attend the school at any time and witness for themselves the happy conditions while prevailed in the tuition of their sons and daughters.

Winners in the Perley scholarships were Grace Wales, St. Andrews East; Sterling Noble, Thomas Gore; David Morrison, Dunany; Beryl Stewart, of Brownsburg; Edith McCallum, Harrington East; Amy Kyle, Mille Isles; Curtis Kerr, Lakefield; G. Morrison, Arundel. Those topping the High School

list were Marjorie Walker, Sam Milne, Myrtle Kelly, Phyllis and Kenneth Patterson, Roland Bridgen and Ramsey Shaded. Mrs. D. J. Rodger represented the Women's Institute and distributed many of the prizes.

TOWNS MUST PUBLISH BY-LAWS

In the current issue of the Municipal Bulletin of Quebec, attention is drawn to an omission on the part of many secretary-treasurers, who neglect to have civic by-laws duly published. Articles 391-2 of the Cities and Towns Act (Articles 365-6, Municipal Code) enact that by-laws do not come into force until 15 days after publication.

By-laws must also be published within one month of the passing thereof; such laws come into force only with approval of the electors or of the Lieutenant-Governor, or both; and this formality having been complied with, mention must be made to that effect in publication of the by-law.

A CALL TO NATIONAL SERVICE

The Prime Minister in his radio address from London referred most appropriately to the success that attended the gigantic Conversion Loan which was floated by the British Government in 1932. The British people converted the enormous sum of more than nine billion dollars of War Loan Bonds. Not only did they convert their holdings and enable the country to save millions of pounds a year in debt service charges but they did it with a promptitude and an enthusiasm which commanded respect and admiration throughout the world.

Great Britain's example restored courage and renewed hope amongst all nations. We in Canada have been very successful in previous Conversion Loan campaigns. Had these Loans not been a success our business recovery from the low point in February, 1933, would undoubtedly have been retarded. The Prime Minister pointed out that apart from the fact that there is no better investment for Canadians than Dominion of Canada Bonds, holders of Victory Bonds who convert them, as well as new investors, will render a national service at this time.

The worthy position that our character and financial integrity have gained for us in the eyes of the world will be maintained by a prompt and enthusiastic response to the present Refunding Loan campaign. We must duplicate in Canada the magnificent achievement of the British people. We can. We will.

REMEMBRANCE DAY TO BE OBSERVED NOV. 11

Remembrance Day falling this year on Sunday, (November 11), will be celebrated on that day so far as the Department of Secretary of State is concerned. In the case of statutory holidays falling on Sunday the provision is made that the following Monday will be observed for business purposes. Remembrance Day does not fall into that category.

Celebration of the Armistice ending the Great War is the feature of Remembrance Day and the incidence of its falling on Sunday does not detract but rather adds, in the opinion of State Department officials, to the fitness of the day for such observance. Any departure from the provisions in order to provide a business holiday on the following Monday will be a matter of local ruling.

HANDICRAFT DISPLAY BY COUNTY W. I.

An interesting event sponsored by the Argenteuil Women's Institute took place in the basement of Lachute United Church on Saturday last, and notwithstanding the inclement weather, there was a large turnout from all sections of the county. An interesting display of handicrafts loaned by the Guild of Montreal was on exhibition, and great interest was manifest in the process of carding, by Mrs. Lemuel Barron, who passed the wool to Mrs. H. Filion, which was spun into the yarn for Mrs. Banks, who used it in her weaving demonstration.

Mrs. G. W. Kuhring, county president, and also provincial convener of education and better schools, presided over the meeting and spoke of the influence of women, the homemakers, who, as Rudyard Kipling put it, "in the days of the cave men made curtains of horsehide for the cave doors and mats from the horsehair". And in other skillful and interesting ways, the women of today are still beautifying the home with handicraft. Honorary County President, Mrs. J. H. Davis of Morin Heights, was then called on to formally open the exhibition. Mrs. A. Graham of Cushing gave two selections of her own poems. Mrs. J. Peck of Undermount Farm gave a brief talk on dyeing of flowers, fruits and bark. Mrs. S. Campbell also gave piano selections during the tea hour.

Bad News—Two political candidates were discussing the coming local election. "What did the audience say when you told them you had never paid a farthing for a vote?" queried one.

"A few cheered—but the majority seemed to lose interest at once." —Pathfinder.

MAN KILLED WHILE SAWING WOOD

Fatal Accident at Pine Hill Victim Struck by Broken Fly-wheel

While engaged in sawing wood at Pine Hill on Saturday last Elie Labelle, aged 31 years, was fatally injured by the bursting of a balance wheel from an automobile engine of 1922 model. His head was almost severed from his body. He was working for Polydore Gagne, and the accident occurred about 10.30 a.m. Coroner Dr. J. H. Mason of Lachute attended, and empanelled a jury who brought in a verdict of "accidental death", with no blame attached. Evidence at the inquest showed that a part of the wheel, weighing around 20 pounds, was hurled through the air and landed in the farmyard of Mr. Jos. Kennedy a quarter of a mile distant. This is the second fatality of like kind within two or three years in this district, and suggests the possible danger of adapting automobile engines to machine work for which they are not purposely designed.

MARRIED IN MONTREAL

Rogers—Armstrong

The marriage of Miss Gladys Armstrong, daughter of Mr. James Armstrong and of the late Mrs. Armstrong, of Lachute, Que., to Mr. Robert Clarence Rogers, son of the late William John Rogers and of Mrs. Rogers, of Lachute, took place quietly on Saturday, September 29th., at Wesley United Church, Montreal. The Rev. B. B. Brown officiated.

Mr. Rogers, in token of esteem for his long and responsible service on the Ayers Limited staff, received the presentation of a handsome grandfather clock from employees of the Company, prior to his marriage.

HARVEST HOME AT ST. SIMEON'S

Services of harvest thanksgiving were held in the Lachute Anglican Church last Sunday.

The church was beautifully decorated with products of field and garden, symbolizing the duty of offering thanks for all good gifts of the soil.

Appropriate hymns and lessons were chosen for the service, and the Rev. Winter LeCras gave two very practical sermons for the occasion, emphasizing the need we have in Canada to be thankful for blessings received, in contrast with the suffering, persecution and sorrow prevalent in other countries.

Curfew Ruling to be Adopted in Lachute

Notice of Motion at Town Council

The regular monthly meeting of Lachute Town Council was held on Wednesday evening, there being present Mayor A. Larocque and Aldermen J. A. Rice, C. Durocher, Jas. MacGibbon, G. Raymond, G. Muir, H. Lamarche, H. Legault.

The minutes of previous meetings were read and confirmed. Dr. J. H. Mason, Chairman of Protestant School Board, and P. Chabot of the Catholic Board, also Commissioner Jas. W. Gall, appeared before the Council and reported that, at their meeting held this week, resolutions had been adopted in favor of establishing a curfew in the town, and they urged the Council to put this into operation. Mayor Larocque said he was in hearty accord, as he had endeavored last year to put it in effect. Alderman Rice then gave notice that, at next meeting, he would introduce a By-law by which all children up to 14 years of age must be off the streets at 8 p.m. in winter and 9.30 p.m. in the summer.

Messrs. E. Jones, S. McFaul, and R. Fraser made request for rental of the Auditorium to the Badminton Club, which, after discussion, was referred to the Park Committee.

Alderman Rice was given authority to procure a suitable curtain for the stage of the Auditorium. The scale of rental rates was then taken into consideration, and it was finally decided that a standard price should be set for rental as follows: For churches and schools $15.; for citizens of the town $20., and for non-residents $30. The meeting then adjourned to the call of the chair.

OCT. 15 CLOSES MAPLE LEAF COMPETITION

With Canadians from coast to coast industriously gathering beautiful autumn-tinted maple leaves, and entering them in all their glory in the "Most Beautiful Maple Leaf" Competition being conducted by the Canadian Railways, the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts has agreed to the Academy sponsoring the judging and the final selection of the most beautiful autumn maple leaf for 1934. Outstanding Canadian artists have agreed to serve on the Judging Committee, including F. S. Coburn, of Montreal, C. W. Jeffreys of York Mills, Ont., and W. J. Philips of Winnipeg.

The enthusiasm with which Canadians are showing their appreciation of the fall scene, and the unusual beauty of the autumn countryside in every Province of the Dominion are combining to make the 1934 competition outstanding, both as to the number of entries, and as to the magnificent color combinations with which nature paints the maple leaves during this period of the year.

Thousands of entries are pouring in, and many thousands more are expected before the competition closes on October 15th.

The two railways are this year offering $100 in prizes. The first prize for the most beautiful maple leaf will be $50, the second prize $20, and the third prize $10. The first prize for the largest maple leaf is $15, and the second prize $5. Judges in the largest leaf phase of the competition will be C. B. Brown, Chief Engineer of the Canadian National Railways, and J. M. R. Fairbairn, Chief Engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

All entries must be addressed to P. O. Box 1500, Montreal, Que.

FIRE DESTROYED BARN AT CHUTE-A-BLONDEAU

A sudden fire wiped out the entire barn and machinery of Romeo Lachaine, farmer, situated adjacent to the cemetery at Chute-a-Blondeau. A thrashing mill was at work yesterday (Wednesday) forenoon in the barn, a blower being used to discharge straw into the mow. Flames were noticed at this spot and before anything could be done to subdue the outbreak the entire barn was on fire. The adjacent buildings and contents were also quickly consumed, five pigs and a horse being destroyed in the blaze.

"When the great majority of people are honestly striving to give more than they get, prosperity must abound." —Roger W. Babson.

FORMULATING PLANS FOR HOCKEY SEASON

District League Will Continue

Officers Appointed

A meeting of hockey enthusiasts to discuss plans for the approaching season was held on Tuesday evening in Lachute Town Hall. It was decided to continue the League which so successfully afforded last season's contests between Lachute and Brownsburg teams, and the following officers were elected: Guy Legault, Pres.; M. Navion, Vice-Pres.; A. J. Quinn, Secretary; Jos. Raymond and Ald. Carriere Directors.

One or two measures were adopted, but plans for the season are at present open to speculation and will be further arranged at a League meeting, October 25th., when the member teams will be submitted. It was ruled that no player was eligible unless he had been resident in the district of his team prior to Nov. 1st. of this year.

Mr. L. Laurin, who sponsored a good team in last year's League, has stated he will not participate this season; but there is every prospect of three strong line-ups appearing in Lachute and two in Brownsburg. It was thought the Lachute merchants might consolidate and organize a local team, while L.A.A.A. and Independents were considered likely entrants, Ayers Limited being understood.

ST. JEROME MAYOR LOST IN ELECTION

Dr. Alfred Cherrier, mayor of St. Jerome, was defeated at the polls on Monday when Emmanuel Bertie, his opponent, was returned by a majority of 274. A. C. Huot, Lucien Giraldeau and Antoine Vaillancourt were elected to aldermanic seats. The voting was reported to be heavy.

For the mayoralty honors the former mayor drew only 740 votes while his opponent polled 1,014. Former Mayor Cherrier had been 44 months in office before being defeated. Lucien Giraldeau, who was re-elected, had already served four years as alderman. The terms of office are two years.

WHITE'S BRIDGE DAMAGED BY HEAVY LOAD

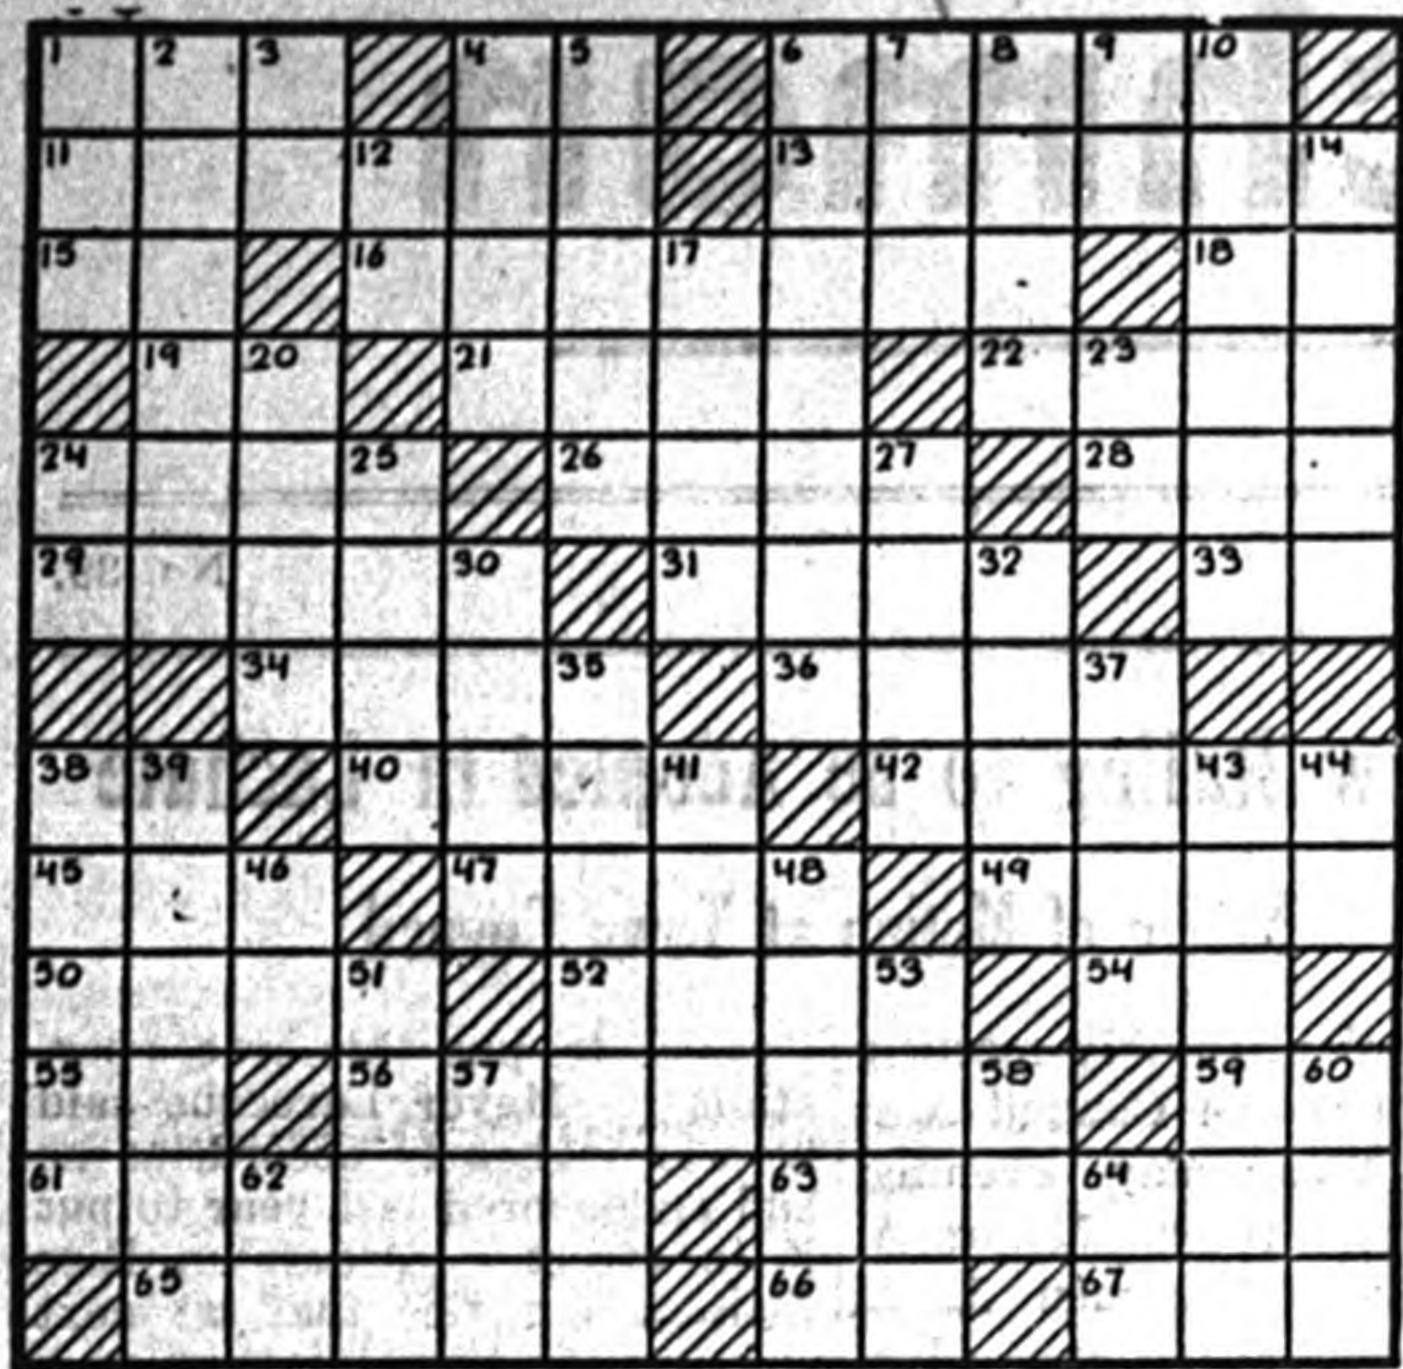

In spite of the public warning posted on both sides of White's Bridge, prohibiting excessive loads, Laurin Express on Tuesday last proceeded to cross with a truck-load of five cord of pulp wood, estimated at 10 tons. The drivers had a narrow escape, fortunately getting across with safety but not without considerable damage to both the bridge and the truck. The bridge is now closed to traffic.

ROAD BUILDING PLANS IN QUEBEC

About 650 Municipalities Plan Work

About 650 municipalities in the province have concluded arrangements with the Quebec Ministry of Roads for the construction of roads in their districts under a Government grant of 50 per cent of the cost, it has been announced from Quebec. The Ministry is discussing plans with 100 other municipalities and is expected to come to agreements soon.

WHY THE SUN COULD NOT STAY UP

Little Tommy went a-fishing. Did not get a bite. Wished the sun would stay up. So he could fish all night.

The sun looked down And laughed—"Guess not! 'Twould spoil the fairies' fun. And make them quite too hot.

"They could not dance In sun-lit meadows green, Around their charmin' Gem-crowned Queen—

If I stayed right up This queer change to make— Oh, foolish, wee Tom, How your poor head would ache."

Children, have you sent in your solutions to Aunt Jean's Riddle Rhymes?—Three more weeks left in which to address your replies to—"Aunt Jean", The Watchman, Lachute.

TOMMY HAWK

The wind was swaying the top of the tall pine tree rather fiercely. At times little Bob—lying on a mossy bank where the autumn sun came pouring down on his bright red hair and a wandering, wind-tossed, yellow leaf or two had settled themselves beside him—looked across at it, and wondered what kept it from snapping off and falling to the ground.

It was quite fortunate for Tommy Hawk that this did not happen, as he was sitting there with his feathers ruffled roughly up around his head. Little Mrs. Tommy wondered what had happened to put him in such bad humor, and by way of getting him to talk, ventured to say—"The wind is raging terribly, Tommy."

"Let it rage!" snapped Tommy. "I am raging too, so there!" "My dear!" said Mrs. Tommy, "but why?"

"Oh, that old sneaking Black Bluffer has been making fun of my name."

"Do you mean Whistler, the Black Bird, or Shiny Coat, the Crow?" asked Mrs. Tommy. "Sneaky, the Crow, you should say," snarled Tommy Hawk, and Mrs. Tommy knew, without further questioning, whom he had meant when he referred to 'that old, sneaking Black Bluffer'.

"What could he say about your name, my dear?" questioned Mrs. Tommy. "I am sure there's nothing the matter with Tommy as a name."

"Oh, no, of course not!" Tommy Hawk snapped, jerking himself around so quickly that he almost lost his balance on the swaying limb. "Tommy's all right, of course it is, but take the two names together, Tommy Hawk—oh, dear, there go two more feathers out of my tail! Shiny Coat will have something more to laugh at now. Why do birds have to change their feathers, I wonder? It seems to me that we have troubles enough without that."

"Of course we have," said Mrs. Tommy, soothingly, "but tell me what Shiny Coat said about your name?"

"He said—he said—" Tommy Hawk hesitated; his head was turned to one side, anxiously watching another of his tail feathers shaking loose with the wind. "He said my name just suited me, because I had a beak just like a tomahawk."

"A tomahawk!" said Mrs. Tommy with a surprised look, "—a tomahawk—whatever is that?"

"A tomahawk is a weapon which the Indians used to kill things with, in the years long past." "I hope they are long past," said Mrs. Tommy—shivering and creeping closer to the trunk of the big pine tree; "I would not care to be killed by a tomahawk, oh, oh, oh dear, what was that?" she shrieked in fear, as a dry branch from a neighboring tree snapped off and came crashing into their tree.

"Only a dead limb," said Tommy, in a scornful voice; but he was a bit nervous too. "This wind is rather bad," he murmured, "but I hate to go outside in case Shiny Coat is around and may laugh at me again."

"Never mind what Shiny Coat says," snapped Mrs. Tommy. "We Red-Shouldered Hawks are better than he is, anyway. We are useful birds. I heard little Bob reading that out of his book just a few minutes before you came home. He said we were the farmer's allies—that we helped keep the mice, moles, gophers, snakes and larger insects in check.—We only eat hens when there is nothing else to eat, and if the silly hens would stay in their yards we would not touch them. We are not to blame if we have wicked cousins like the Cooper Hawks, Goshawks and the Sharp Skinned Hawks—and as for Shiny Coat with his silly, Caw, caw, caw—he eats young birds, chickens and turkeys, to say nothing of the corn he destroys for the farmers. . . I would not mind him if he does laugh about your name.—Look! look! there he goes now. See what a hard time he has trying to fight the wind. Come on out Tommy, and let him see how you and I can sail along. It is our turn to laugh now.—Beak like an Indian weapon, or not—at least we have stronger wings. Cheer up Tommy! Queer names don't hurt anyone, but getting discouraged over nothing, does."

As Mrs. Tommy said this she left her perch and sailed along with the wind, followed by Tommy himself. Right above Shiny Coat they went, away and away, until Shiny Coat cawed in anger and almost wished that he was Tommy Hawk himself, so that he too need not fear the wind but soar along in safety. It is not wise to laugh at others when we have failings of our own.

Chartered Banks Will Assist New Investors in Refunding Loan

For the particular convenience of new investors who wish to subscribe in modest amounts for the bonds of the 1934 Refunding Loan, the chartered banks have agreed with the Dominion Government to loan up to 75% of the par value of bonds purchased by new investors. For example, a $100 bond may be purchased with a deposit of $25; a $500 bond with a deposit of $125, and a $1,000 bond with a deposit of $250. In each case the balance of payments may be spread over periods up to six months, and the banks will carry the bonds at 4% interest.

Calder Party Has Crown Land Plan

Group Hopes to Cancel All Leases on Natural Resources

"If anyone is to make money through speculation in Crown lands of the Province of Quebec containing natural resources, it should be the people of Quebec through their provincial Government." With this assertion, R. L. Calder, K.C. leader of the new "Square Party" has announced that one of the chief aims of this party at Quebec would be the cancellation of leases on Crown lands which contain rich natural resources—forestry areas or potential hydro-electric power sites—which are not being exploited. "Speculators hold them," he charged. "We hope to do away with this."

He outlined the aims of his third party, stressing that during the next provincial elections that party would not be inactive—"You will have four parties appear before you" he stated,—"the Liberals of Mr. Taschereau, those of Mr. Gouin, the Conservatives of Mr. Duplessis, and the Square Party". Justice, equality and fraternity remained the slogan of the latter group, it was emphasized.

Mr. Calder stressed that the new party sought to reconcile several groups in the province, notably agriculture, through the presence of Laurent Barre, M.L.A. for Rouville and a die-hard farmer, and labor, as represented by Aime Guertin, M.L.A. for Hull, a former railway employee. In the past, he charged, the Liberal Government in Quebec had sought to divide both interests by telling

Here and There

What a practical newspaperman finds interesting on a cruise around the world in the Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Britain can be counted upon to capture the imagination of stay-at-homes. Last winter Alan Maurice Irwin, a Montreal writer, made the cruise. He saw intriguing places, outstanding people and strange customs. So he sat down and wrote a book which is illustrated by photographs he made with his own camera, filled with amusing sidelights upon humanity. Now, under the comprehensive title "and ships—and sailing wax," the book is on Macmillan's fall list.

That United States investors' capital would flow into Canada in an even greater volume is the prediction of John R. Hastie, of the Mutual Life of New York office in Chicago, speaking before the Life Underwriters Association of Toronto, at the Royal York Hotel recently.

Ottawa City is to be lit by electric light by the Royal Electric Light Co. of Montreal. There will be 165 lights for 280 days in the year for $13,000 the lights not being used moonlight nights.

A sad accident occurred on the C.P.R. near Sudbury last Saturday resulting in the death of Courtney McIntyre, one of the most popular and trusty engine drivers on this line and son of Mr. W. H. McIntyre, station agent and postmaster of Rockcliffe.

J. A. Stackhouse, formerly of Lachute, but now travelling agent of the Canada Dental Company of Ottawa, acted nobly at the Windsor Hotel fire at Kingston on the 6th where he helped get three women out, two of them by means of a ladder.

Four of the pilots required for the Nile expedition have been examined and passed by the marine department. They are J. A. McIver, of Prescott, J. A. Williamson of Grenville, T. A. Cummings of Grenville, and W. A. Jones of Ottawa. Their pay to be $150 per month.

The Nile is steadily rising, which will be an advantage to the expedition to Khartoum.

The old Methodist Parsonage was bought at Public Auction on Saturday by Mr. H. Hampton for $45.00.

After an exciting debate in the Methodist Church at Brownsburg last Friday on "Women's Rights" the judges decided in favor of the negative, says our Brownsburg correspondent, who cannot see how women could find time to exercise the rights which some of them are fighting for. What sort of time would we men have if our wives spent their time in the political arena and similar places? The motherless child is to be pitied but the child with a man-mother is in the worst position of all. This will mean race degeneration, race suicide and home chaos. They will stand for loveless marriages or no marriages at all. They are an invention of the devil in his efforts to upset the laws of God. The debaters were Mr. Lewis, Methodist student at Lakefield, and Thos. Hamilton, Pastor Brown and Messrs. C. W. Glenn, J. Johnson, S. Campbell and Miss L. Stalker were the judges.

Mrs. A. McKinnon, of Greece's Point was taken down with typhoid fever last week and removed to Royal Victoria Hospital.

New Vice President of Imperial Tobacco Coy.

Lt. Col. H. DesRosiers, D.S.O. President of the B. Houde Company, Limited, Quebec, and director of Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, has been appointed Vice-President of this latter company.

Lt. Col. DesRosiers will move to Montreal to take up his new duties in the very near future, according to an announcement from the Executive Offices of the Company.

Colonel DesRosiers has been associated with the company since 1901. He worked at the head office in connection with the Sales Department, and later took over branch offices in St. John, N.B., Ottawa and Toronto. Later again he was appointed secretary to the board, a position he occupied until the outbreak of the Great War, and which he again assumed on his return from overseas in 1919.

In 1920 Colonel DesRosiers was appointed general manager of the B. Houde Company, Ltd. Quebec, a subsidiary of Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, and in 1929 he was appointed president of this company. In 1929 he was elected director of Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited. He is also president of the Quebec Leaf Tobacco Company, Limited.

Born in Vaudreuil in 1880, Colonel DesRosiers was educated at Vaudreuil, and finished his education at the University of Ottawa.

When war was declared in 1914, Colonel DesRosiers immediately joined the 14th Battalion as lieutenant. Winning his captaincy at the Battle of Ypres, he was recalled to Canada in 1916 to raise the 163rd Battalion. This unit became, in England, a part of the 10th Reserve. Crossing to France in 1918, Colonel DesRosiers took command of the 22nd Battalion which he brought home at the conclusion of hostilities. Colonel DesRosiers was mentioned in despatches and in 1918 won the Distinguished Service Order. He was an honorary aide de camp to Viscount Willingdon during the latter's tenure of office in Canada as Governor General.

Expected—He leaped up the front steps, flowers under one arm, a box of chocolates under the other. At the door he was confronted by her little brother.

"Hullo!"
"Sister expecting me?"
"Yes."
"How do you know?"
"She's gone out."

S. Rousseau Died in Illinois

Formerly Prominent in Argenteuil Co., Superintendent of D. C. Co.

Termed "Inventive Genius," Was Consultant in Western Plant

Stanislas Rousseau, consulting engineer of the Western Cartridge Co. of E. Alton, Illinois, succumbed to heart trouble on Sept. 24th. He formerly served as superintendent of Dominion Cartridge Co. at Brownsburg, and was at one time well known and prominent in this district.

Mr. Rousseau was 69 years old. Since the death of Mrs. Rousseau, in 1930, after they had been married 38 years, his grief had been great and was believed to have impaired his health. A year ago, Mr. Rousseau was struck by an automobile and suffered the fracture of his leg, but later recovered and resumed his duties at the cartridge plant.

Stanislas Rousseau was a man of rare mechanical talent and inventive genius. He was born in these parts in 1864. Orphaned in boyhood, he went to work at 13. A youth of alert mind, he developed unusual ability in mechanics and became a designer of machines. He moved away to Alton in 1905 to take a position at Western Cartridge Co. and had served as superintendent and master mechanic of the East Alton plant. In recent years he had been a consulting engineer, one whose advice was sought and valued.

DEFAULT BY MUNICIPALITIES BLAMED ON MANY CAUSES

Extravagance, Failure to Balance Budgets, Easy Credit, Relief, Etc., Cited by Bradshaw

In explanation of the fact that "both actually and relatively the municipal debt in default in Ontario is greater than in any other province of the Dominion, Thomas A. Bradshaw, president of the North American Life Assurance Company, enumerated the nine principal causes to the Ontario Municipal Association, as reported in a recent daily exchange.

He gave the following as the causes of defaults:

"Extravagant and unwarranted expansion during recent years involving abnormal capital debt, especially costly local improvements and school buildings and equipment, resulting in taxes which could not be met.

"Failure to reduce expenditures in proportion with falling revenue.

"Failure to balance budgets and a refusal to face the facts and to levy deficits.

"Too easy and too generous banking credits.

"Refusal to recognize the simple principle that a municipality should strictly limit its expenditures of the year to the actual revenue of that year.

Says Rolls Not Purged

"Failure to apply efficient business methods to the collection of taxes, resulting in abnormal arrears and heavy bank borrowings.

"Failure to purge assessment rolls yearly of dead assessment, thus continuing to levy on non-revenue producing assessment and take credit as revenue thereof.

"Burden of the relief charges during the last three years through unemployment.

"Failure on the part of councils and officials to honorably and strenuously cope with the affairs of the municipality when the first signs of difficulty made their appearance. It is believed that if there had been more zeal and desire to maintain the integrity, credit and soundness of the municipality, rather than seeking an easy way out, there would have been fewer defaults.

"The effect of bankruptcy to municipalities is an adverse morale of the citizens, mercantile business unduly declines, bankers are more careful of their credit, those who have loaned monies on mortgages are more insistent upon prompt payment. It is difficult, if not impossible, to obtain new monies for the erection of homes, values of real estate decline and new businesses or industries cannot be attracted.

Have Responsibility

"These things are mentioned and emphasized to suggest that before any municipality acknowledges defeat, it—which means not only the administration, but the citizens—should do everything in its power, and make every sacrifice to maintain an unblemished credit position", said Mr. Bradshaw.

"Those who are the ratepayers' elected representatives have an important responsibility resting upon them to see that the affairs of the municipality are conducted so efficiently during their term of office, that they will not damage the municipality's ability to obtain future supplies of money or to carry out such undertakings as may be necessary.

"Not only is it essential to be able to borrow funds, but it is desirable to do so at the lowest possible rate of interest, so that the taxpayer shall not be penalized. This can be done only if municipal credit is honorably maintained. It cannot be done if municipal credit is abused and dishonored.

Will Be Handicapped

"There is no doubt whatever (and it is most unfortunate) that those municipalities which have been obliged to default will be handicapped in the future, both in the obtaining of the volume of capital required, and in the obtaining of it on the best terms. Damaged credit will take years of honorable and efficient dealings to repair and, therefore, everything that it is humanly possible to do should be done to maintain that priceless asset—good credit."

Comparative Figures

Following are the comparative financial positions of the municipalities in the various provinces revealing the amount of debentures in default and the total municipal debt in the hands of the public, as given Mr. Thomas:

	Debentures Defaulted	Total Debentures
Ontario	$97,000,000	$504,750,000
Manitoba	12,000,000	92,500,000
Saskatchewan	4,000,000	46,600,000
British Columbia	10,000,000	129,900,000
Quebec	15,000,000	392,200,000
Alberta	450,000	76,900,000
Maritimes		54,800,000
Total	$188,950,000	1,297,650,000

The Ottawa Spotlight

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, October 3.—It becomes increasingly apparent at Ottawa that the Conservative defeat in the "little general election" on September 24th changed the whole face of affairs at the capital and will have a profound bearing on the attitude and tactics of both major political parties in the next few months. The government is entering the final session with the realization that little short of a miracle can save them from a bad trouncing at the next general election. As the Conservatives grow more depressed, the Liberals get more exuberant and more impatient.

The first effect of the debacle, which from the Conservative view, as expressed by the Montreal Gazette, 'could have been worse, but could not have been much worse', will be to postpone the opening of the session until 1935. There had been some expectation of calling parliament in a few weeks, and officers of the Buildings had been advised to have the House ready for a possible opening on Thursday, November 15. With Mr. Bennett away, the point is not yet settled, but the view of his colleagues and followers on the Hill is that it would be bad policy now to hold a fall session. The atmosphere of the final session is already definitely indicated. It will be stormy and bitter, with more emphasis on party strategy than on useful legislation. Why start the talkfest any sooner than is absolutely necessary?

Will Orangeize Now

Another result of the "Black Monday" will be the early and thorough organization of the Conservative federal forces. In two or three years the magnificent country-wide machine which assisted Mr. Bennett into power in 1930 has been permitted to lapse into inactivity, chiefly because no funds were forthcoming to maintain it. Once parties are elected, they naturally lose a little interest in the machine which helped them to gain power, but there is probably no instance in Canadian political history of so fine an organization being allowed to disappear. The Conservative stalwarts are beginning to use some pretty strong language among themselves about the state of affairs, and even to express in public their discontent with the situation. The Conservative leaders are beginning to be seriously alarmed at the Liberal wave across Canada, and to wonder whether they are not heading for a long session in the political wilderness, unless something is done soon. It is generally admitted that the accomplishments of the government in many directions, especially in the past year, are worthy of broadcasting and elucidating to the voting public. We may well look for a much more active publicity machine from the Conservative party in the early future. Three cabinet ministers were chosen months ago as a committee to study the matter: they have certain proposals ready for Mr. Bennett, and when the prime minister returns that will be one of the first things to be taken up.

Defer the Election

Unless Mr. Mackenzie King and his colleagues can goad Mr. Bennett into casting discretion to the winds and calling a general election shortly after the next session begins, there seems now to be little prospect of a vote before the autumn of 1935. It is quite clear that the present temper of the public would almost annihilate the Conservative party federally, as it did in the province elections. Possibly a year from now the situation may be more enheartening for them. Better times may continue to arrive, and the voting public may become dissatisfied with provincial Liberalism. At least that is the hope of the party leaders.

The leader of the opposition has threatened to attempt a blockade next session, on any effort to pass money bills or to introduce new legislation. Mr. Bennett has still 135 members to Mr. King's 93, and would be able by use of the closure to carry any legislation he wished. At the same time the Liberals are sure to be in fighting mood, and would be quite able to make the Conservatives' lives pretty miserable during the next session.

All in all, the final spasm of the present parliament looks like being a cross between a "Lame Duck" session and a rodeo. The C.C.F. members will be sitting off in the corner watching, with a mixture of disgust and envy, the Battle of the Tongues which is sure to develop as soon as Speaker Black climbs the stairs and sits down in the big oak chair.

ONEROUS DUTIES UNPAID

Both the chairman and the leader of the London County Council are unpaid, although the duties occupy most of their time. The chairman has the use of a car if required, an office, and a secretary.

BRITISH COLUMBIA MUNICIPAL DEBTS TO BE SCALED DOWN

The British Columbia Government has directed three towns, Burnaby, North Vancouver City, and North Vancouver District, to default their high bond interest. Interest rates on all British Columbia municipalities will be scaled down immediately on a compulsory basis in the most drastic municipal refinancing scheme ever undertaken in Canada.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. Jas. MacKimmie Jr., who was rushed to the Royal Victoria Hospital on Monday with acute appendicitis and underwent an operation, is now making satisfactory progress.

Schools in this district are closed today and tomorrow, to enable teachers to attend Convention now being held in Montreal.

Repairs and adjustments to the local electoral machinery are stimulating the discussion of elections and forecasts of the dates. —See what Wilfrid Eggleston has to say, in the "Ottawa Spotlight" (Page 4), on the federal outlook as influenced by the bye-elections.

Bloodhound Traced Back to Early Days of France

The name bloodhound, meaning a hunt of pure blood, was given this breed of dogs in France, where its ancestors have been traced back to the very earliest history of the country.

On St. Hubert's day (November 3) in France, it was the custom to stage a hunt, using large packs of bloodhounds. It was also an old custom for the Abbots of St. Hubert, who bred and maintained these dogs very carefully, to present three couples of hounds to the king of France annually, as a token of their allegiance.

An idea of the great strength of these hounds may be visualized by the report of a later writer, who describes the hounds as dogs of superb qualities: very fast, with grand voices, extraordinary courage and power, even to the extent of throwing down the largest boar.

The bloodhound, formerly used for slave hunting in America, is claimed to be the American foxhound, crossed with the Cuban mastiff, sometimes called the Cuban bloodhound.

Every point and characteristic of dogs which hunt by scent is brought out in bold relief in the pure bloodhound. He is powerful and stands over more ground than is usual with hounds of other breeds. One of the most acute olfactory organs in dogdom is contained in this breed. Temperament is very affectionate, they will not quarrel with humans nor with other dogs; in reality, they are shy in nature and sensitive to kindness or correction.

Trumpets Once Used as Whistles on Sea-Boats

During the Middle Ages, when a ship was ready to leave her moorings, two trumpeters would come hastily aboard and, standing in the bow, would blow two long blasts, a signal that the boat was about to set out to sea. The sailors would then rush to the stern of the boat, and with long poles push out into deep water, where the oarsmen began their work. Later, if the wind were favorable, the square, bright-colored sail in the center of the boat was unfurled, and the rowers were permitted to rest.

The two blasts the trumpeters sounded in the Middle Ages are still blown by our magnificent boats, only they use deep-throated steam whistles and, in place of poles, puffing little tugs pull the boat away from the dock.

Previous to the Middle Ages, no shelters had been erected on the upper decks of ships. However, forecastles and additional structures in the stern of the boat were built, thus giving us our cabins of today. The crow's nest was also developed in the Middle Ages. During naval battles, a man would be sent up to the top of the mast to shoot arrows at the enemy.

The sailors of the Middle Ages taught us also the need of carrying extra sails and supplies. On long voyages they often carried thirteen sails and the same number of steering oars. Sailors of those days were not easily daunted.

MISS JULIETTE RODRIGUE TO GIVE CONCERT

Distinguished Artist Will Give Benefit Recital

Miss Juliette Rodrigue, pianist of this town, will give a piano recital at the New Auditorium, on Thursday evening, 22nd, of November next, with other artists, the net proceeds of which will be used on behalf of poor children in the Town.

After brilliant studies in Quebec and in Montreal Miss Rodrigue won a scholarship last year, to study at the Conservatory of Fontainebleau, France, where she received the Diploma granted by that Institution. During her stay in France, Miss Rodrigue also followed, at Paris, the class given by Alfred Cortot, a world known pianist.

It is believed that every Lachute citizen will take this opportunity of hearing, and applauding, Miss Rodrigue, thus offering encouragement to the work and enterprise of a popular local artist, and also, at the same time, supporting a worthy cause.

Satisfaction—A mild old gentleman reached the depot just as the train was pulling out. He ran down the track after it, and he and the train disappeared around a curve. Ten minutes later he came walking back.

"Didn't catch her, did you, pop?" asked the station agent. "No, I didn't but I made her puff, by crackle!"

FEELING SORRY FOR OURSELVES

It is doubtful if there is a woman in the world who sometime or other does not feel sorry for herself. To enjoy yourself by being miserable once in a while may be all right, but it should not develop into a habit. One of the best ways to overcome this is by thinking of some of the women who are a lot worse off than you are. One woman said that she was feeling very sorry for herself as she started out to visit a sick friend. She passed the home of a woman who had had serious trouble and she thought that she would not like to be in her shoes. This started a train of thought and as she passed several other houses she decided that she was a lot better off than the women who lived in them. When she talked with her friend she found that she too was feeling sorry for herself, so she told her thoughts as she had been walking along. The result was that they both cheered up considerably thinking of the miseries of other women and decided that their own troubles were not nearly as bad as they might be.

A GOOD BREAKFAST

Investigation has shown that one of the most frequent causes of underweight in children is a poor breakfast. Breakfast comes after a long stretch without a meal and the heaviest work of the day is usually done in the morning, so the reason for a good breakfast is not hard to seek. If your children do not eat proper breakfasts, try to find the cause and then remedy it. Rush is one frequent cause. The placid child will not worry so much about being late and will take time but the more nervous type do without rather than take the time, and this state of tension helps to keep them thin. Obviously leaving more time in the morning is the best way to remedy this. So set your alarm clock a little earlier. It is remarkable how much extra time fifteen minutes in the morning will give. To get the child back into the breakfast eating habit will take special care to choose the food that the child enjoys particularly. Preparedness is another help. If the child has its school clothes laid out ready to wear and the required books ready, it saves that awful last minute looking for things. Caps and books and pens and all the school paraphernalia seem to be bewitched in the morning. They fairly hide themselves. After searching for these lost articles the child's nerves are on end and it makes a poor preparation for a successful school day. Help your child along by starting it off to school each morning calm and well fed.

MEASURING SHORTENING

There are tricks in all trades and there are a couple of tricks in measuring shortening that lessen the work. Like most women I am all for anything that lessens work. These short methods are very accurate too. If the shortening is in pound prints, all you have to do is to remember that each pound contains two cups. So if you want a cup of shortening you take a half pound. A half-cup is a quarter-pound and so on. If you are using bulk butter or other shortening you will require another method. If you want to measure a half-cup, fill your measuring cup to the half-mark with water, then add shortening until the cup is full. If you want one-third cup, put two-thirds water in the measuring cup and fill with butter. All you have to do then is to pour off the water. If I am using bulk shortening and wish to measure a cup, I usually measure two half-cups, as it is more accurate, because it is very difficult to pack a cup of shortening so that there are no air-holes. Simple, isn't it? And yet there are a good many women who do not measure their shortening easily or accurately.

SILVER TEA POTS

Now that the chill of Autumn is here we are sure to have more cups of tea, whether it is the large tea-party or that much more enjoyable treat, the friend or two dropping in for a cup of tea. I wonder if there is any one of us who uses a silver tea pot who has not at some time or another found to our consternation that the tea tasted of the pot. Humiliating isn't it? If it is possible, leave the lid of the tea pot open after using and it will stay sweet. In any case be sure to leave it open until it is thoroughly dry. A wise precaution is to scald the pot with boiling water with a little borax added, before using. I was convening a large party and we were having coffee. I am very fussy about coffee and went to all kinds of trouble to have it just right. It tasted as I wanted it in the kitchen and then when I had a cup after in the dining room it was spoilt completely because it tasted of the coffee pot. Some of the ladies had generously brought their silver coffee pots and it never struck me that they should be scalded. There was one Sheffield coffee pot that was a treasure. It is about two hundred years old and is very beautiful. The sugar bowl took over a pound of cubes to fill. The tray was so large and heavy that it was a task to lift. There are not many who own such treasures that are generous enough to share them.

CUCUMBER PICKLE

Cut large cucumbers into pieces of suitable size. Cover with a brine in the proportion of one cup salt to 2 cups boiling water (have the brine boiling hot). Let stand over-night. Drain and cover with boiling hot sweetened vinegar, using 1 cup of sugar to 1 cup of vinegar. These may be bottled or will keep in a crock.

The Wise Lunatic—One of the psychology students visiting at an asylum noticed one of the inmates wheeling a wheelbarrow upside down.

Visitor: "That's not the way to push that thing. You've got it upside down."
Lunatic: "Oh, have I? Well, I used to push it the other way and they put bricks in it."

"Our Heritage"

Report of British and Foreign Bible Society for 1934,
By Rev. John Patten, Literary Superintendent

"The Bible in the mother tongue is the rightful heritage of all men." Around this principle the current Popular Report of the British and Foreign Bible Society centres. Seldom has any report of any Society contained more useful information in regard to its activities, linked as it is with an historical survey of the progress of Bible translation in the English tongue, and the power this Book has had when translated into the mother tongue of many peoples.

The titles of the chapters are indicative of the contents of the report: "The Priceless Heritage of the Bible"; "Sharing the Heritage with the British Commonwealth"; "Sharing the Heritage with the Whole World"; "The Blessing of the Heritage"; "The Heritage in the Mother Tongue"; "The Cost". The booklet is well illustrated and beautifully printed and produced, the frontispiece representing the last moments in the life of the Venerable Bede. A section, short of necessity, is devoted to Canada and the spread of Bible Society activities in the Dominion. Each chapter is prefaced by quotations from leading representatives of the various churches, and some very apt quotations from poets and writers, ancient and modern, as diverse as Aristotle, George Herbert and V. Sackville West.

The cost of this world wide task of publishing and circulating translations of the Scriptures is emphasized, and the need for increased support clearly indicated. In this respect the report concludes with a sentence from the late Sir Henry Jones, "How they are to be envied who, having the ability to do this kind of thing, have also the heart to do it."

This second report from the gifted pen of the Rev. John Patten justifies the favour with which his last year's report, "Tell the World", was received by the general public, and none can rise from reading it without feeling how great has been the influence of the Bible on the British race and all its institutions; how dangerous it will be if that race misuses or neglects that heritage; and how urgent is the call to make this Book the heritage of "all kindreds and peoples and tongues."

—He broke the sword of Napoleon with a stroke of his pen—that a father's dying wish, a mother's trust, four brothers' loyalty, might be fulfilled. See George Arliss in the leading role of House of Rothschild.—This week at Rex Theatre.

YOUR LIVER'S MAKING YOU FEEL OUT OF SORTS

Wake up your Liver Bile

—No Calomel needed

When you feel blue, depressed, sour on the world, that's your liver which isn't pouring its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels. Digestion and elimination are being slowed up, food is accumulating and decaying inside you and making you feel wretched. Here bowel-movers like salts, oil, mineral water, laxative candy or chewing gum, or roughage, don't go far enough. You need a liver stimulant. Carter's Little Liver Pills is the best one. Safe. Purely vegetable. Sure. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. 25c. at all druggists. 53

SCHRISTIAN SCIENCE THANKSGIVING

His Majesty, King George the Fifth, having appointed "Monday the eighth day of October as a day of general thanksgiving to Almighty God", throughout the Dominion of Canada, Thanksgiving Services will be held in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on that day. The subject is: "Thanksgiving."

The Golden Text is: "Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift." (11 Corinthians 9:15).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Unto thee, O God, do we give thanks, unto thee do we give thanks; for that thy name is near thy wondrous works declare." (Psalms 75:1).

"The Christian Science God is universal, divine Love, which changeth not and causeth no evil, disease, nor death. 'God is Love.' More than this we cannot ask, higher we cannot look, farther we cannot go. . . . To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, to-day is big with blessings." (Science and Health, pages 10, 6, and preface VII).

Victoria Falls, Johannesburg, Pretoria, Bulawayo, Kimberley, the diamond mines and goldfields, Pietermaritzburg, the Big Game Reserve and Kruger National Park are some of the highlights of these excursions.

The Western Hemisphere will be reached again on March 28, when the Empress docks at Buenos Aires. Two days will be spent in this gay capital of the Argentine and a day at Montevideo, capital of Uruguay. The coffee port of Santos, Sao Paulo, and beautiful Rio de Janeiro will be the Brazilian place of interest visited, then the final ten days of the cruise will be spent in the Caribbean waters, calling at La Brea and Trinidad, Port of Spain, Kingston, Jamaica, and Havana, Cuba.

CUSHING

Mr. and Mrs. A. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. L. Gaston attended the W.C.T.U. concert in Pt.
Fortune on Wednesday of last week.

St. Mungo's Missionary Society will meet on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 9th., at the home of Miss Annie Weir.

Mr. George Graham of Great Falls, Montana, was the guest of his aunts, the Misses Christie and Margaret Graham, also of Mr. and Mrs. A. Graham, on Monday, as he passed through Cushing on a motor trip.

Miss A. Cleland and Scott

Burton left for their Montreal home early this week.

Mrs. W. Canning and Miss Margaret Canning were in Hawkesbury on Saturday.

Almost every Cushing member attended the County W. I.
Afternoon Tea and Handicraft Exhibition in Lachute last Saturday, and were much pleased with the entertainment.

Mrs. F. Douglas and Miss Mildred were guests of Mr. B.
Noyes this week.

Mrs. J. Bradley, of Carillon, and son, Ian, were guests of Mrs. Archie Graham on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Beecher and family, of Montreal, with Miss Helen and Mr. John Maw as their guests, spent the weekend at The Lilacs.

Capt. and Mrs. J. D. Weir and family were at their summer home here for the weekend.

Mrs. Gaunt and Miss Laura Mary spent a week-end recently with friends in Montreal.

Miss Ruby O'Brien, of Chat-boro, visited her uncle, Mr. J.
McAdam, of Westmount, last week.

Miss Maud McGowan, of Montreal, was the guest last week of her aunt and uncle,

Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas.

A very enjoyable programme was put on by the Lakefield Players in the Stone Hall, Cushing, when the play, "Say it With Taffy", was presented, as well as several other short humorous skits. The entire programme was 'clean fun' all the way through. The actors were
Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Kuhring,
Mr. and Mrs. W. Shearsmith,
Mr. Kerr and Mr. H. Maslin.
The Misses M. Dawson and E.
Reid also favored with several vocal solos to the accompaniment of the guitar.

Guests at the home of Mr.
and Mrs. Archie Graham on Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Kuhr-ing, Mr. and Mrs. Shearsmith and son, Victor, Mrs. Dawson,

Mrs. Percy Stotts, of Montreal.

A Box Social is being held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stewart on Friday evening, Oct. 5th., in aid of St. Matthew's Church, Grenville.

A very successful Social Evening was spent in Grenville on Friday, Sept. 28, at "No Surrender Lodge, 210". Dancing, musical selections and singing formed the evening's entertainment. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the lodge; and the sum of sixteen dollars was realized after expenses being paid.

SIR GEO. PERLEY ISSUED THANKSGIVING MESSAGE

Canadian people have real cause for thanks and hope in the future, Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister, declared in a Thanksgiving Day message. His statement was as follows:

"As we pause to consider our position on the day set apart for our national thanksgiving we are impelled not only to look back on the events of the past, but to take stock of what the future may bring. There is real cause for thanksgiving to be found in the record of Canadian achievement and progress during the past year. Canada has striven manfully to combat the forces of depression and has been successful in so doing. Moreover, there is cheering evidence at hand to support the belief that Canada will continue to win the struggle against adversity.

"Hence it is our right and duty on this national Thanksgiving Day to express to the Creator our sincere gratitude for the fortunes of the past and the promise of the future. If, as Canadians, we display those characteristics of determination, co-operation and unselfishness that are so necessary to a wholesome national life, we may assuredly look for increasing material prosperity and greater spiritual well-being."

A Ford light delivery of early vintage was the cause of considerable anxiety on Wednesday evening, when it took fire in the upholstery, and the fire brigade were called from supper to avert the total loss of the machine. The outbreak was subdued with little trouble, there being no use for the effective devices carried on the new fire truck. The fire broke out on Main Street, near Argenteuil Motor Sales, the truck being the property of Jno. McFaul & Son.

GENEROUS GESTURE OF FORMER RESIDENT

Should Stimulate Local Initiative for Long-Felt Want

The Watchman is in receipt of a communication from a former county resident, now of Carleton Place, who (strangely) appears more ardent for the welfare of Lachute than many who spend their whole lives in the community. The writer is Miss Mary A. Catton, whose contributions have been read in past issues of this paper; she says, in part—

"I have noted with pleasure the initial move made towards establishment of a Library in Lachute, and further note that you are one of the prime movers of this idea. I am therefore writing to ask if a few books from my personal library would be acceptable..."

We voice the appreciation of our citizens for this generous offer, which, we suggest, might well stimulate interested persons to organize a public lending library at an early date. The village of St. Andrews, considerably smaller than Lachute, has for some time conducted a library, which proves popular among the residents and is well patronized. It should be possible to launch a similar venture here in town.

The Watchman columns are open for suggestion, and every co-operation will be extended toward the culmination of this idea.

ST. JEROME PARISH PRIEST IS DEAD

Rev. Joseph Clement Geoffrion, cure of the Parish of St. Jerome for the past six years, and highly regarded as one of the most scholarly students of theology and philosophy, died in Montreal, early last Friday morning. He was suddenly overcome while visiting a friend in St. Jerome and was removed to Hotel Dieu Hospital for treatment but failed to regain consciousness prior to his death. The funeral service was conducted in St. Jerome on Monday morning, and was largely attended. Clergy of the Roman Catholic Church from all parts of the province were present to pay their last tribute of respect.

TEACHERS ATTENDED AT PROVINCIAL CONVENTION

Local Teachers Honored in Appointment of Officers

The Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers held its annual meeting last week, at which many members of the profession attended from this locality. Reports on many subjects were heard.

It was the seventh annual meeting and well over 1,600 teachers from the province registered at the Montreal High School, headquarters of the Association for the two day session.

Among the recommendations of a practical nature was that there should be more extensive representation of the teaching fraternity on administrative boards. G. F. Savage, who gave this suggestion, presented the report of the committee on the status of teachers. It would lead to an improvement in the systems of administration in the province, he thought, and the point of view of the teaching staffs would be felt to great advantage in this way in the handling of the whole problem of education.

Unemployment has had one effect, and that a good one, on the teachers' qualifications in Quebec. The uncertificated teacher has now almost entirely disappeared. This was the statement in a report by the Executive Committee, which also showed that a number of teachers are unemployed owing to the return to the profession of many who had abandoned it. Information on the exact extent of unemployment throughout Quebec was not available.

Most Troubles Rural

During the financial depression urban teachers "have not been very seriously affected". On the Island of Montreal, where the Central Board controls the finances of the eleven municipalities under it, teachers did not receive their annual increases last year, and are having to forgo them this year, besides having to accept a 10 per cent. decrease in their salaries for the present school year. In the rural districts, conditions have been more serious; teachers' salaries have in many places been drastically reduced; salaries were in some cases temporarily withheld; in various other municipalities schools had to be closed for lack of funds.

Revision of the teachers' pension law in Quebec was advocated by Dean Sinclair Laird, of Macdonald College, who stressed the danger in the future of this fund not being able to meet the demands upon it. He held out for an increase in the age limit in length of service required and other changes in the basis of the pension scheme.

LACHUTE TOWN WILL CELEBRATE

Dance at Auditorium. Re-opening Will Be Jubilant Affair
Popular Orchestra Will Attend

Bert Antice's Mountain Boys have been heard for some time over the radio and are in receipt of many letters from appreciative listeners, as their talents cover a wide range, and they are able to put on an evening's entertainment embracing a programme of musical and dramatic material. They excel especially in dance accompaniments.

This assembly will add materially to the success of the Lachute Town Dance, to inaugurate the re-opening of the Auditorium tomorrow, Oct. 12th. It is expected a large gathering will be on hand. This will afford a rare social opportunity to meet old friends from around the countryside. The spacious floor will attract many dancers. Card tables will be available to those so inclined, and as far as the accommodation is concerned, Lachute's "city fathers" are confident that the fine Auditorium, with its renovated interior and many improvements, will meet with popular approval.

THIS IS FIRE PREVENTION WEEK! SIX DAYS WITH A YEAR-ROUND SIGNIFICANCE

"SMALL TOWN STUFF"

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

Actually there is nothing inferior about small towns. During the season of the depression they have had a good showing, having exhibited fewer symptoms of distress than larger centres; they have retained the management of their own financial affairs.

People who live in small towns are thrown more on their own resources than people of large cities; they find they must provide their own entertainment for one thing and they do; they must use boys of their own town to make a hockey team or a baseball team, and they do it. In the larger places all such service is provided by professional means.

There is much to be said for the small town. So much that it might be well to drop that phrase "small town stuff."

LAKEFIELD INACCESSIBLE OVER HIGHWAY

Motorists traveling north were considerably inconvenienced over Thanksgiving weekend by the impassability of Morin Heights highway, No. 30, owing to unsafe condition of the Lake Sir John bridge. White's Bridge over the North River is still blocked, but the short detour necessary to cross the river is no great inconvenience. The Dunany-Shrewsbury detour into Lakefield, however, has met with scant approval from motorists, since the road is long, rough, and tortuous.

It is understood that repair work has been undertaken on Lake Sir John this week, and it is expected the re-opening of this highway will be announced any time now.

honored among appointments in this influential association. Principal Clifton L. Hall is on the executive as representative of high schools of the Island of Montreal, while Mr. J. W. Brunt, former principal of Lachute High School, is honorary treasurer. Miss Ivy Graham, of Cushing, has also been appointed honorary secretary of the association.

PROVINCIAL INCOME TAX PROPOSED

Province Would Assume All Unemployment Aid Costs
May be Election Issue

With provincial elections next year, advisers of Premier Taschereau are urging upon him the course of making his appeal to the electorate with one main issue, states the Montreal Gazette staff correspondent.

This main issue is that the province will relieve all the municipalities in the province, Montreal included, of all responsibility for relief, whether termed direct or indirect.

To raise the money for this additional burden, and also to relieve the province of the $8,000,000 charge which it has been carrying, the Government, under this plan would impose a provincial income tax.

Our attention has been drawn to a reference to Mrs. Banks, as demonstrator of weaving, in last week's report of the W. I. Handicraft Exhibition. This should have been Mrs. Bang, Norwegian instructor of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild School of Weaving, who was present to assist on the occasion.

CANADA PROMINENT IN RUBBER INDUSTRY

Canada occupies a prominent position in the rubber industry. She is Great Britain's chief source of supply for imported rubber footwear, boots, shoes, gaiters and goloshes, and Canada pioneered in the introduction of rubber soles and heels in that market, according to the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. Canada is the chief source of supply of rubber gloves to Australia. In Scotland there has been a falling off in the demand for ladies' "Wellingtons" due to the exceptionally dry weather of the last two seasons and they now appear to be going out of fashion in the larger towns although they are still almost universally worn in the rural districts. The export of India rubber tires and tubes to China has been resumed. Canada supplied 20.4 per cent of the total imports for the first six months of 1934.

PHRENOLOGY CRAZE IS RETURNING TO LONDON

Phrenology is "coming back" in London in a wave that is greater than ever before. Not only laymen are "feeling the bumps" but many industrial concerns are demanding that applicants for positions submit a report from a phrenologist. The most important aspect of the craze is the great number of recruits to the study of the science. People in every walk of life are learning to help them to understand the character, talents and failings of their associates in business. Courses given by the British Phrenological Society are attracting crowds. Many young women are taking it up so as not to make a mistake in marriage.

ARUNDEL MOTORISTS IN ACCIDENT

While out motoring on Monday, Mr. Gavin and Miss Muriel Graham and Mrs. Thos. Graham, of Arundel, met with a serious accident when an oncoming car crowded them into a ditch and they struck a tree. All three were seriously injured, having received many cuts and bruises and Mrs. Graham a broken knee cap. The car was badly damaged and almost beyond repair. Dr. Drew of Lachute was summoned, and aided by three nurses who were available, gave treatment to the injured so that they were saved the inconvenience of going to hospital.

OLD RESIDENT OF STONEFIELD PASSES

The Late Robert Dewar

In the passing of Mr. Robert Dewar at his residence in Stonefield last Saturday morning, Oct. 6th the Front of Chatham has lost another of its esteemed citizens.

The late Mr. Dewar was in his 74th year. He was born in 1860 in the old Dewar homestead in Grenville Township, the second youngest son of the late Alexander Dewar and Agnes Dodd, one of the pioneer families of the district, and had spent all his life in Chatham. In 1889 he married Miss Mary Jane Angell, daughter of the late George Angell and Hannah Hodgson. Had Mr. Dewar lived till the end of the year, they would have spent 45 years of happy married life together.

Mr. Dewar had his ups and downs in life, but took things cheerfully as they came. He was considered a generous host, always extending a welcome in the home, where he and Mrs. Dewar entertained. He was devoted to his home, seldom going away, as he preferred to be with his family.

Nine children were born of his marriage—four girls and five boys—Lillie at home, Annie (Mrs. G. C. Conway), Stella (Mrs. G. C. Hampton), Jemima (Mrs. Ross Mathew); Percy, their oldest son, died in 1912, but there remain George at Long Lake Gold Mines, Stanley, Ernest and Harris at home. The deceased leaves also six grandchildren and one brother, Adam, on the old homestead, the last of a large family.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Dewar and family in the loss of a loving husband and father. Mr. Dewar had suffered intense pain during the last three years, but was a patient and cheerful sufferer.

The funeral, held on Monday, Thanksgiving Day, was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. Those from a distance included: Mr. E. Brayden, Mr. L. R. McGain, Mrs. McGain, Mr. Thos. Park, Mr. Morris, Miss Helen Conway, and Miss Agnes Harvison, from Montreal; Mr. Ernest Hodgson and son, Miss J. Hodgson, from Hudson; Mrs. John Hodgson, Carillon; Mrs. McNeil, Thurso. The service was held in St. Matthew's Anglican Church at Grenville. Burial followed in the family plot adjoining the Church. The pall bearers were Mr. James Stewart, brother-in-law, David Dodd, cousin; G. C. Conway, son-in-law; John Canning, E. Brayden, and L. R. McGain.

niece, who lives in Lewiston. And I wish you would mention in your local column, if it doesn't cost anything, that I have two bull calves for sale. As my subscription is out, please stop the paper, as times are too hard to waste money on newspapers. —Newville Star.

MORIN HEIGHTS PROPRIETORS SHOW PROGRESS

PUBLICITY VENTURE TO BOOST TOURIST PATRONAGE

A commendable spirit has developed this season among hotel and boarding house proprietors in Morin Heights, who have organized a publicity campaign to attract more tourists to their territory. The village and surroundings have a number of excellent establishments, catering to visitors both winter and summer. Jointly they have done much to improve the community as a holiday resort, and considering also the natural attractions of the neighborhood, they deserve a generous share of the tourist business which is slowly increasing with the return of better times.

A tourist booklet has just been published, with a large circulation, setting forth the interesting features of Morin Heights. It touches more briefly on the neighboring spots of importance, St. Jerome, Piedmont, St-Sauveur, Lakefield and Lachute—in all of which places, the venture has found advertising support among merchants and professional men. The booklet is attractively printed and illustrated; altogether it is a credit to the organization by which it is sponsored. The issue, incidentally, a product of The Watchman Presses. Its publication is designed to meet the patronage of hunters this fall, but advertising both the summer and winter facilities of the place, it will doubtless reap the benefits of increased business in the coming seasons.

Morin Heights is now busy constructing a first class ski-jump and picturesque trails. Local proprietors have an eye to the possibilities of their surroundings, and, as conditions permit, are ever alert to introduce new improvements.

MONTREALER SHOT THROUGH FOOT

Mr. Prime, a holiday visitor from the city, was brought to Lachute for medical treatment on Monday suffering with a bullet wound in the right foot. The accident occurred at The Glen, where Mr. Prime was target shooting with his 22-bore rifle. The bullet pierced the top of his foot and emerged through the sole of his boot. He was accompanied by Mr. A. Steere, of Brownsburg, with whom he was visiting at the time.

DRAMA POPULAR IN RADIO

Radio drama is playing a greater part than ever before in radio broadcasts; even most of the large musical shows are featuring at least a brief dramatic sketch. Many of the new shows are entirely dramatic, such as the new feature over CKAC on Mondays at eight o'clock featuring Messrs. Barry and Duquesne of the Stella Theatre.

The Radio Commission has gone in for dramatics in a big way. In addition to the short sketch on "One Hour With You", "Roads that Move", and "Master of Melody", two sketches, one English and the other French, will be heard five nights a week from CRCM. The English sketch, "Billy and Pierre", directed by Rupert Caplan, stars an 11-year old boy, Kenneth Smith.

Another sketch of a more thrilling nature is "Doc Savage" heard from CKAC on Wednesday at seven o'clock. Inspired by the magazine stories of the same name, Doc Savage carries his listeners through one thrilling episode after another.

NOT BEDTIME YET

Mr. Big Wind came shrieking Around the house, Woo-o-o-o.
And called to the maple leaves
"I am coming for you-o-o-o-o".

"Go home Mr. Big Wind", said the leaves,
"You blustering old chap,
We have a few weeks yet
In which to flutter and flap."

From our tree-top home,
All yellow and red,
So you need not think that you Can make us go to bed".

One Saucy little leaf Chuckled out "Te-he-he,
Go home, Mr. Big Wind,
You can't scare me".

TIT FOR TAT

Almost all of the squirrels in Butter Nut Grove felt as if they just hated Chip-a-Ree. He was such a boaster. All he could talk about was the large hoard of nuts he had hidden so very well that he was quite certain no-one could find it but himself.

"I would like to find it and empty it for him too", remarked a new-comer to the grove to the little grey squirrel with the big soft eyes who was sitting next to him.

"I would not dare", the little squirrel said with a shiver.
"Chip-a-Ree is so big and cruel that the nuts you found would never be any use to you. He would kill you if he found out".

"Huh!" said the new-comer.
"I am not afraid. Folks who make a loud noise about what they have done and what they are going to do are usually cowards, I find". As he said this he moved away and the little grey squirrel chattered excitedly. "Oh don't don't go to look for them".

"Don't worry", Frisky Tail chattered back "I am not going to, not just now anyway. I am just going over to talk to that Grandmother Squirrel who is sitting on the flat rock. She sits there so much that I think she must have rheumatism and is sitting in the sun to get warm".

"I don't think Granny will be very pleased to see you. She is so cross lately that I cannot quite make her out." The little grey squirrel chattered softly to himself as he watched Frisky making his way with funny little hops and skips to the flat stone where Grandmother Squirrel sat.

Grandmother turned around fiercely, to face the stranger as he came close to her. "Get back, get back!" she shrieked at him. "This is my stone and I am taking a sun bath."—
"There is room for two on that big stone", said Frisky. "Why can't I have a sun bath too?"
He hopped lightly onto the stone beside her, but hopped off again just as quickly when Grandmother squirrel rushed at him showing all her teeth.
"All right Grandmother" he said. "Keep your stone. I expect I shall be able to find another just as good".

As he started to hop away a familiar scent tickled his nose.
He hesitated a moment, while Grandmother squirrel shrieked and shrieked. With a soft little chuckle that sounded very much like "Tut, tut", Frisky hopped away. "Poor old Grandmother Squirrel" he said to himself.
"I have discovered her secret.
She has her winter store of nuts hidden under that stone.
That is why she is so cross when another squirrel comes around".

As he hurried along he met little Bright Eyes, Chip-a-Ree's mate, coming limping along, one eye almost closed and "I must find Chip-a-Ree", she was moaning softly, and was quite startled to have a strange squirrel tell her to "go over to the pine woods, she would find him there".

At the pine woods she found Chip-a-Ree up in a big tree telling the same old story, "His big supply of nuts". She begged him to come home, that some children were picking up nuts and although she had scolded as loudly as she could, they would not go away, but had thrown stones at her instead. Chip-a-Ree was so sure his nuts could not be found, that he did not hurry. It was quite late in the afternoon when he went to see if all was well, as he usually did. But this time all was not well. Every nut that he had stored away was gone!

The woods rang, even after dark, with Chip-a-Ree's angry scolding. Squirrels came from all corners to listen to him.
They were not at all sorry. It would surely teach him that boasting did not pay.

For several days Chip-a-Ree kept up the scolding while poor little Bright Eyes limned about trying to lay on another store of different kinds of nuts and corn. She had to go all the way to the farm house and one of her trips, bright and early one Sunday morning, she smelled nuts. In great excitement she hurried to tell Chip-a-Ree, who came back with her, crept up the verandah roof, and into the attic by a window that had been left open, there lay a lot of nuts drying on the floor.

Rushing over to them, he sniffed eagerly. "Most of these are my nuts" he said, and started running off with them, one after the other, he and Bright Eyes together. They never rested until they had carried all the nuts away and had hidden them in a safe place.

When the Baxter boys raced upstairs after breakfast to see if their nuts were drying all right, there were no nuts there!
In anger and sorrow they rushed to tell their father, who laughed heartily and said "I expect it serves you right! You told me you had gotten a great many of those from a squirrel's nest, and if he did take more than his own back he was only having Tit-for-Tat. You took all his nuts, now he has taken all yours! I'd call it square if I were you, and forget about it!"
—And they did.

Armadillo Is Defended

A study of the food habits of the armadillo show that it feeds almost entirely on insects, and is therefore beneficial. In fact, scientists say, the individual armadillo is the greatest consumer of insects among all our insectivorous animals, and the occasional slight damage it may do cannot be urged as adequate reason for an eradication campaign. When an armadillo is rummaging about for food, it may occasionally plow through a quail's nest or otherwise leave evidence that it has been digging, and as a result a casual observer is likely to believe that the animals are destructive egg-eaters. Tests conducted with both free and captive animals show, however, that the armadillos do not recognize whole hen eggs as food. In captivity, it is true, the animals do learn to break quail eggs and eat them; but investigators believe that in the wild they do this rarely. Analyses of the contents of stomachs examined reveal no egg material, but show that the armadillo is a voracious consumer of beetles, ants, grasshoppers, termites, caterpillars, and in fact of all the small creatures it finds by its characteristic method of feeding, rooting in the soil.

MAYOR FINED HIMSELF

An editorial from the Roanoke Times entitled "This Mayor Can Take It", shows that in Lexington, Virginia, justice is no respecter of persons.

"His honor, the Mayor of Lexington, can dish it out. And he can also take it. When his car was tagged for improper parking the mayor read his own name out along with others charged with traffic violations and promptly slapped a fine of $2.50 on himself, thus setting a good example for magistrates everywhere. As far as the mayor is concerned, he comes off with flying colors. But what kind of a policeman is it that would tag the mayor's automobile? Was that nice?"

CITY NAMES PURCHASING AGENT

In an effort to effect further economies, Charles Noel, former buyer in the engineer's office of the City of Verdun, Que., has also been appointed purchasing agent for the city. Formerly each civic department bought its supplies independently, but under the new system all purchasing has been consolidated, and the agent is required to report periodically to the city's director of finance.

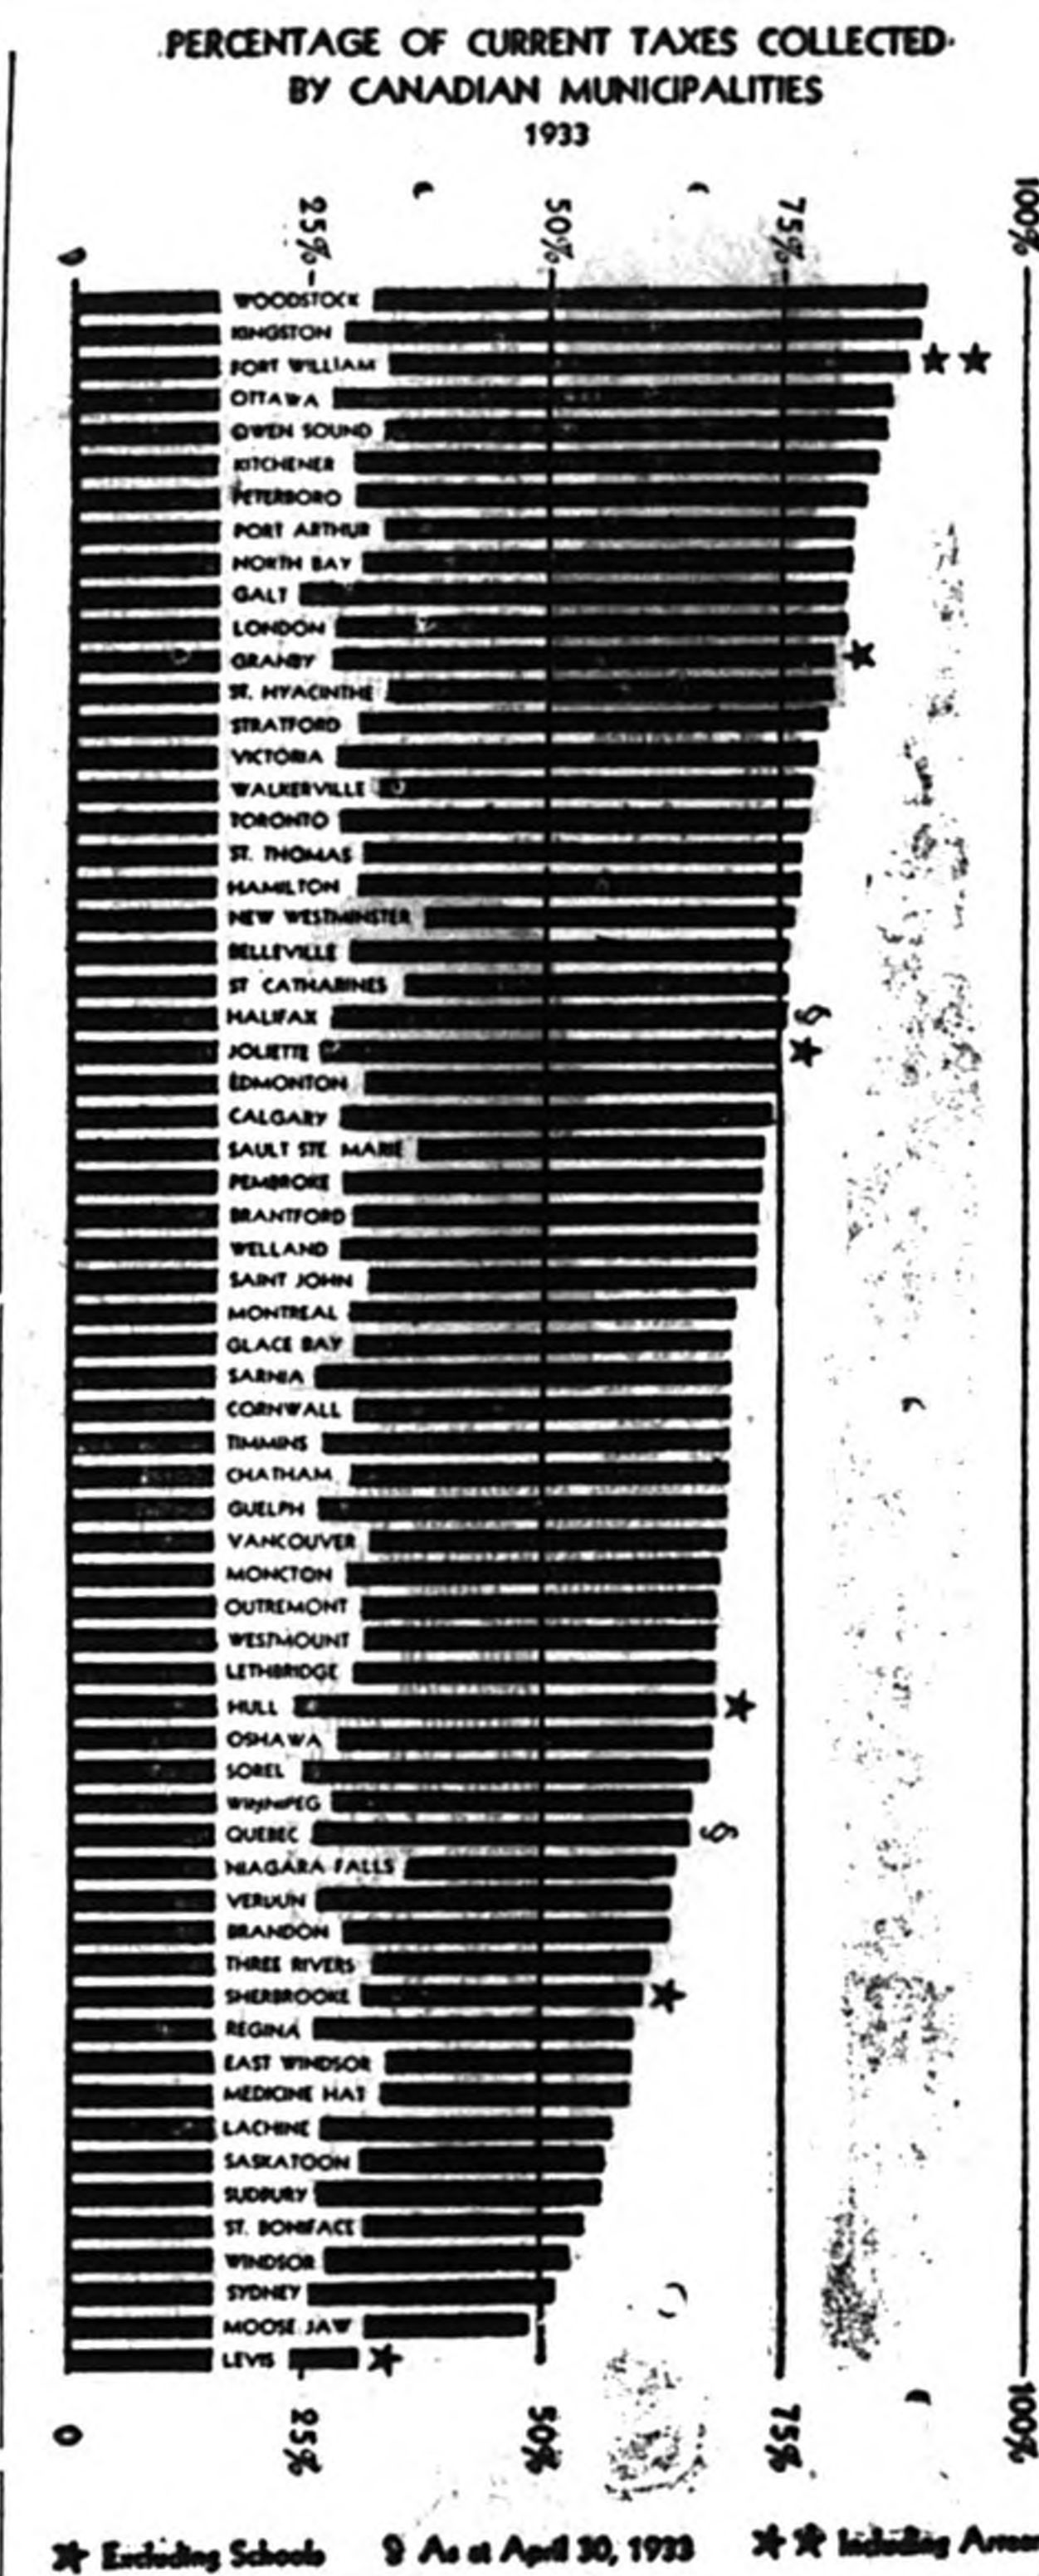

CASH RELIEF OPTION FOR ONTARIO TOWNS

Cash relief instead of the present voucher system may be established in some municipalities in Ontario subject to the approval of the Department of Public Welfare, under the new unemployment relief scheme announced by Hon. David Croll, Minister of Public Welfare.

The scheme calls for a general tightening up in the administration of relief and a warning is sounded that abuses will be harshly dealt with. Re-investigation of all recipients of relief will be undertaken. In the cities of Hamilton, Ottawa and Toronto this will be completed by September 15, and the same process in other municipalities by September 1. Any municipality which has completed this to the satisfaction of the department may get permission to give cash relief.

Cash relief will be given only to recipients who give work in exchange, at prevailing rates of pay. The municipality will be required to provide the work.

Bread and clothing will not be included in cash relief at the present time and the department suggests a six-hour day for relief workers. As measure to provide work "municipal beautification for the next few months" is suggested as a suitable scheme which would call for a minimum of expenditure for materials.

Where rent allowances are applied to municipal taxes, the municipality will make its own arrangements.

PUBLIC CREDIT AND THE CITIZEN

Effect of Loss of Credit Upon Business

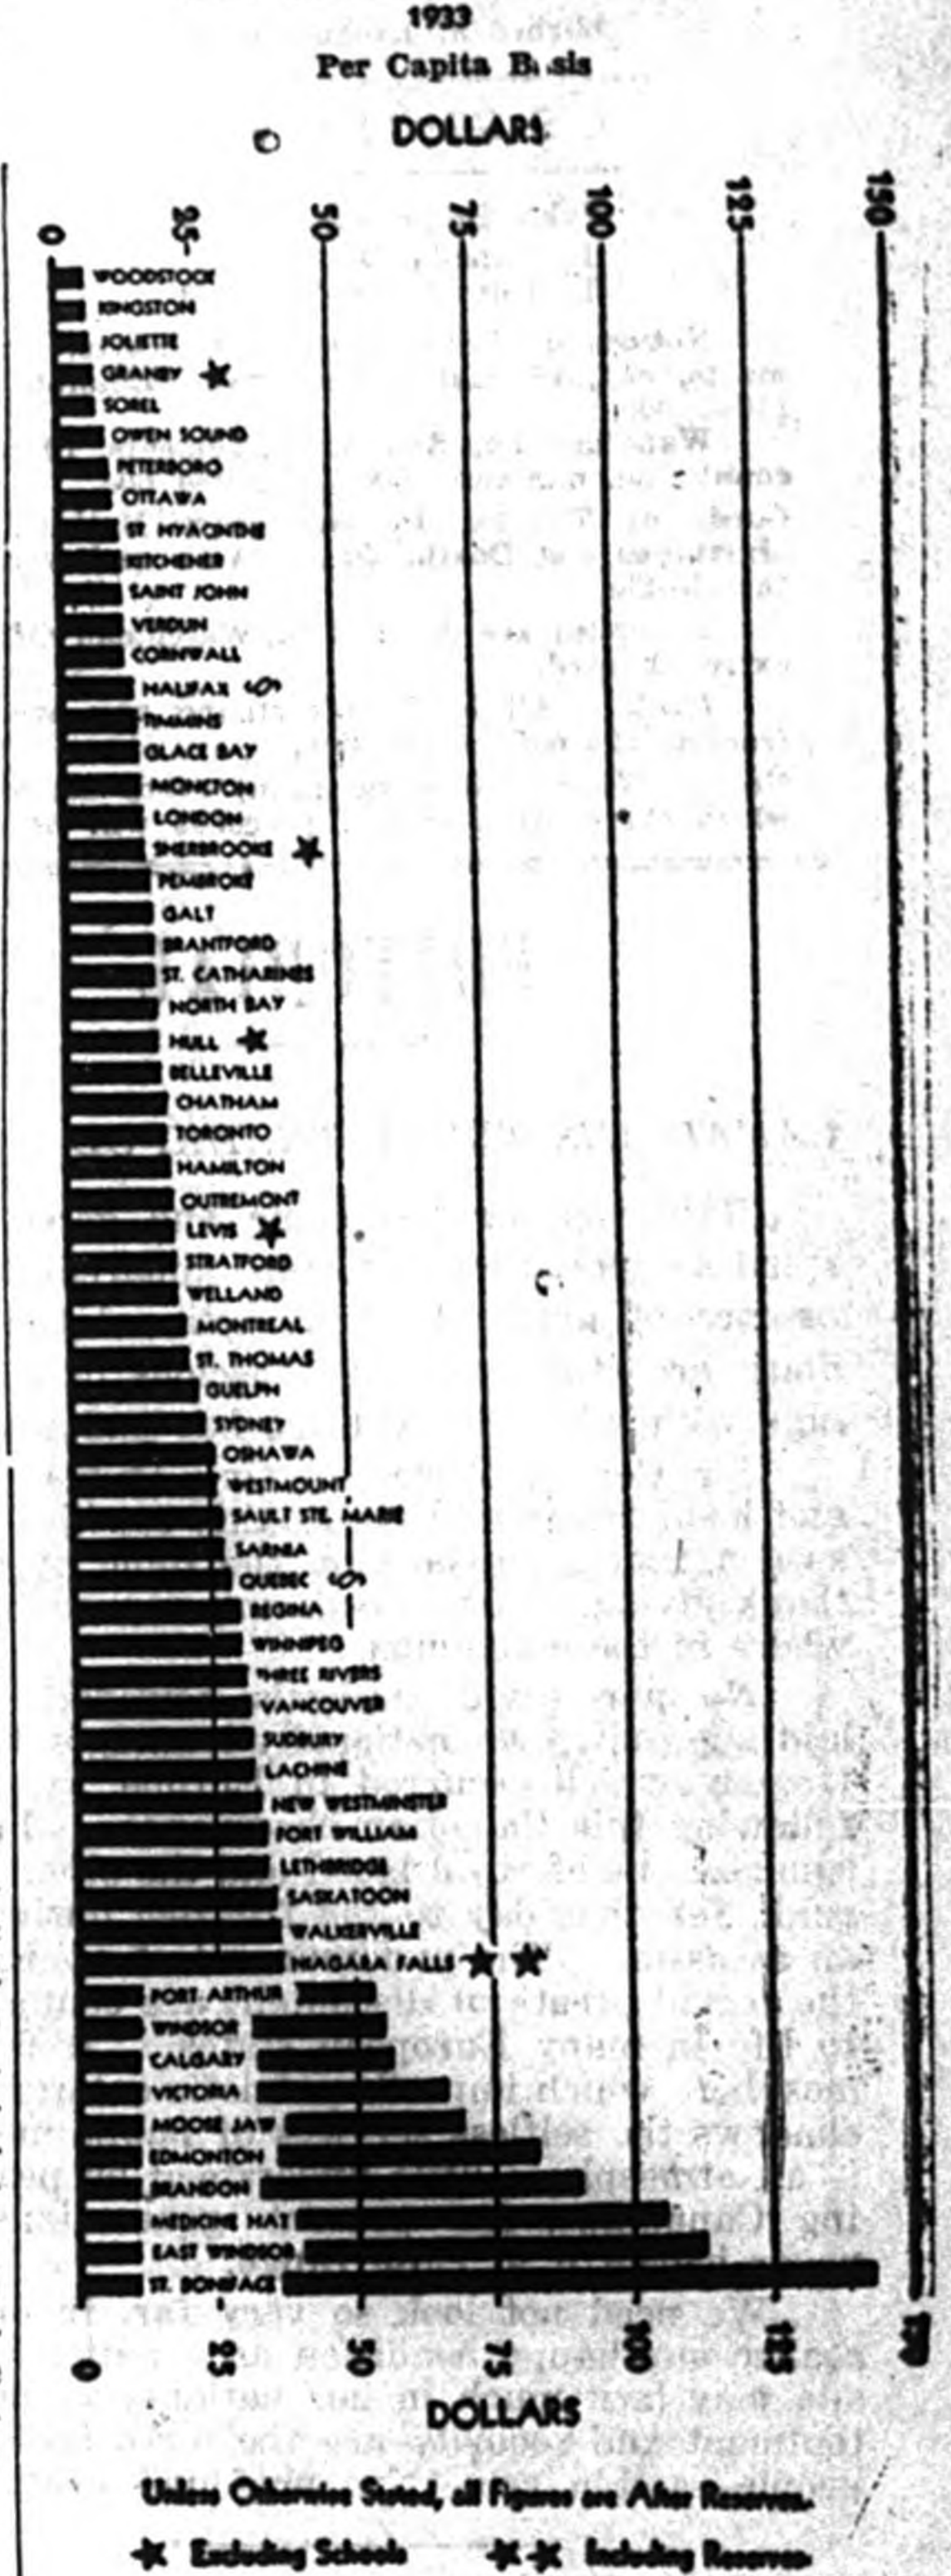

"No section of Canada had, up to four years ago, a finer reputation for municipal credit than the Province of Ontario. To-day no section in Canada has a more serious municipal problem on its doorstep than Ontario. This statement is borne out by the fact that both actually and relatively the municipal debt in default in Ontario is greater than in any other province of the Dominion . . ."

"The natural tendency in private and business life is a preference to deal with those who are known to be reliable, responsible and honourable. The best business is always done through and with those in good financial standing, and who have a reputation of meeting their obligations. The morale of those in a community, or those engaged in an enterprise, is much superior when the credit of that community or business is unimpaired, and when its affairs are known to be in a healthy condition. These observations are so well known that they hardly need repeating, but there is at this time, when dealing with the subject of maintenance of public credit, merit in pointing out what has been experienced in those municipalities which have been obliged to seek relief. The morale of their citizens has been adversely affected; mercantile business has unduly declined; bankers have been more careful of their credit to customers; those who have loaned monies on mortgages have been more insistent upon prompt payment; it has been difficult, if not impossible to obtain new monies for erection of homes; values of real estate have declined; new businesses or industries could not be attracted. These conditions are only natural, because the corporate municipality and its administration reflect to a very large degree the sum total of all that is contained in that municipality. It is an index of the character of its citizens, of their reputation, of their worth, and of the general opinion which outsiders entertain of them and their business dealings.

of Ontario Municipal Association.

TURN TO THE WATCHMAN WANT ADS

CANADA'S BEST LIGHTED HIGHWAY

A new kind of street light—the first radical departure in more than 30 years of conventional arc and incandescent lamps—was recently turned on along a half-mile of highway eight miles west of Three Rivers, Quebec, illuminating it with the characteristic orange-yellow glow of sodium vapor. Installed by the Shawinigan Water and Power Company as an experimental installation, this is the Canadian premiere of the sodium vapor lamp. The sodium lamps were supplied by Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd. and are rated at 10,000 lumens. They are mounted at a height of 25 feet and have a spacing of 250 feet between units.

The lamp itself is a gaseous discharge device, mounted inside a vacuum flask to conserve heat and maintain the sodium at a temperature of about 480 degrees. It is sixteen inches long with a maximum diameter of three inches, and fits closely inside the vacuum flask, which acts as a globe. The arc current is carried through the lamp by the gas itself instead of by a filament. The novel and unusual luminaire consists of both parabolic and plane reflecting surfaces. They are made of aluminum finished by an electro-chemical process that results in durable surfaces of over 80 per cent co-efficient of reflection. Another departure from conventional lighting practice is the horizontal position in which the lamp and flask are supported.

Sodium light is monochromatic in character—that is, it glows in but one color, whereas daylight is made up of all colors. Monochromatic light is valuable in highway lighting, being especially useful in revealing the details of objects at low levels of illumination. Actually, seeing is made easier because of the absence of glare and also due to the fact that the monochromatic light of sodium falls in a region near the maximum sensitivity of the eye.

The most important advantage of sodium vapor lamps is their comparatively high efficiency. Sodium lamps have a luminous efficiency of almost 50 lumens per watt, which means that they give for the same wattage input about two and a half times the light output of the incandescent lamp. This fact, together with the improvement in vision under monochromatic light at low intensities, indicates a very great increase in visual efficiency over the present day highway lighting systems without an increase in current consumption.

Although this is the first installation of sodium-vapor highway lighting in Canada, installations of this type of lighting have been made by the General Electric Company at Rayville, Mass.; Boston-Worcester Turnpike at Newton, Mass.; Hartford-Meriden Road at Wallingford, Conn.; Balltown Road, Schenectady; New York City, Syracuse, N. Y.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Rochester, N. Y.

NEW RELIEF RENT FRAUD

A new kind of fraud in connection with the payment of unemployment relief has been uncovered in Montreal. Two persons are under arrest and four other persons are still being sought.

According to the investigators for the Unemployment Relief Commission the practice is to have a person sign a bogus lease so that the "supposed landlord" collects the rent. At the same time the signer of the lease is said to be paid a percentage on this collection. Then the names of boarders, also on relief, are given, and these are found to be either false or the person named to be employed.

TOLL-FREE CANAL TRAFFIC

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

Freight traffic through Canadian canals in May was 47 per cent greater than for the corresponding month last year, and the Welland reports the heaviest freight business in its history. Probably if the railways were in position to carry traffic over a toll-free right-of-way maintained by public funds they could get a lot more business too.

According to W. C. Perron, of Toronto in a booklet entitled "Canada's Transportation Problem" the Dominion government's expenditure solely upon canals now approximates $350,000,000. Mr. Perron comments:

"The non-assessment of tolls for the use of waterways, which have burdened the taxpayers to the breaking point and adversely and unfairly affected the railways, is one transportation policy that is utterly untenable. This absurd policy is clearly seen in the instance of the free use of the Welland Canal for the transportation of American coal at the expense of the Canadian taxpayer, and thus neutralizing in part at least, the government subvention for the transportation of Maritime and Western Canadian coal. It is difficult to comprehend the failure of the royal commission on railways and transportation to deal adequately with this particular phase."

CANADIANS TRULY THANKFUL

Thanksgiving has come and gone. If the spirit of jubilation was more apparent than the essence of gratitude, it is believed that Canadians are still generally conscious of the blessings with which Providence has endowed them.

Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister and loyal representative of this constituency, issued a timely message on the topic of national thanksgiving. His words are reproduced elsewhere in these columns.

No more vivid emphasis, however, could be laid upon our own national advantages than the tragedy which occurred in Europe, on the day following this Canadian observance. Two personages, one of royal blood and the other of high rank, fell that day to the frenzied onslaught of an assassin. The undercurrent of anarchy and the fervid breath of discontent are commonplace to life in many European states. It is an atmosphere which imperils patriotic enterprise and shadows the selfless services of public men. It is an atmosphere little understood by peace loving Canadians, for present generations have never beheld it at close range.

We need not look so very far, in order to realize our happy condition as a nation. Canada may lack much in her nationhood, but contentment and security are the birthright of her people—and a cause for profound gratitude.

DRASTIC CHANGES

Following the dismissal of "superfluous" judges under the new Hepburn regime in Ontario, the government promises a general overhauling of the offices of sheriffs and registrars throughout the province.

Curtailments of certain administrative functions in the interests of economy have met with public approval; indeed they have been long called for. But the extreme measures adopted in Ontario have progressed so far as to arouse public criticism, on the grounds that efficiency is being imperilled by such liberal application of the axe.

While every genuine move to economize merits credit and approval, the danger referred to is one which deserves equal consideration. This is a period of rehabilitation in which changes and replacements in personnel should be most carefully considered.

TIME TO CALL A HALT!

A recommendation of the St. John's (Que.) Board of Trade during the past week has aroused the ire of many Quebec motorists. An additional tax of two cents per gallon on all gasoline sold in the Province, as a means of paying for the upkeep of the winter highways, has reached the resolution stage and will be asked by the St. John's Board of Trade in a letter to be sent to the provincial Government. Members of the board approved this suggestion when it was stated that if such a tax is imposed, it will exempt the cities, towns and municipalities from paying $100 per mile for the upkeep of the roads during the winter season.

In every field of taxation there is the ultimate "saturation point"; this, we contend, has been reached in the matter of gasoline. Canadian motorists are doing their share, with gas taxes in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island at eight cents; Manitoba and British Columbia seven cents, and the other provinces six cents.

The average motorist is not greatly concerned with the upkeep of winter roads to distant corners of his province. If he is interested in winter travel on highways to his own municipality, he is doubtless ready to contribute to their upkeep through a municipal levy, but not through increased gasoline or licence taxes. These must already have reached the limit.

The Ottawa Spotlight

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, October 9.—What will be the outcome of the Stevens' inquiry? Shall we have a Canadian NRA, or what? In a few days the eleven members will again be in session at Ottawa, continuing their investigations into fish, farm implements, canning, chain stores and textiles. Meantime what is being colloquially termed the "Brain Trust" (actually a small corps of seriously minded university professors) have been mulling over the 3000 sheets of so of evidence collected to date, and making suggestions and recommendations.

My own prediction—and you can paste it in your hat if you like, and read it six months from now—is that out of it all will emerge the legislation for a federal commerce commission, modelled somewhat after the railway board, and given the modest job of acting as "referee" over industry, retail trade and commerce in Canada. Charged with the job of eradicating "sweatshop" practices, excessive hours, miserable pay, the exploitation of the farmer and the fisherman. A third party to whom either side, worker or employer, producer or manufacturer, chain store or retail merchant, can appeal in the event any of them feel they are not getting a square deal.

What a job!

It will be much easier to draft a bill, and nominate a commission, than it will be to live up to the terms of the assignment. It will, I am afraid, take a pretty big army of civil servants to see to it that the game is played fairly from Halifax to Vancouver. This will be one referee with a lot more territory than any football field to supervise.

Will the Provinces Protest?

Of course if the Ottawa government, proposes to set up an impressive body with wide powers over trade and commerce in all parts of the country, there is bound to be a squawk from here and there to the effect that they are exceeding the powers conveyed upon them by the British North America Act. The Dominion body might even have to step in and tell some provincial hydro commission, telephone company, or government pool, that it was defying the law of fair trade, underpaying its employees, or exploiting the consumer. How would the provinces like to be told off in that fashion?

Oh, there are oodles of difficulties in the way of such a commission, but, unless a general election intervenes, or Mr. Bennett finds the Liberals too tough at the next session, it looks very much as though such a commission were coming.

If the Liberals fight it as an infringement of liberty, the government might well decide to make it an election issue.

Wheat Again to the Fore

We had another brief burst of excitement about wheat last week, with some of the newspaper correspondents envisaging government control over the Winnipeg grain exchange. It looks like an investigation of "short selling" but nothing quite so drastic as was reported.

John I. McFarland, the government agent, has been trying to stop the heavy sales which each harvest brings, from battering down prices to ruinous levels again. In this laudable object he will probably have the hearty encouragement of all farmers who have not yet sold their wheat. But other countries are taking advantage of Mr. McFarland's support of prices to unload a lot of their own on him. As the Financial Post says, the Canadian government is holding up a wheat umbrella, and the other grain exporting countries are coming under it for a bit of shelter. The only sad part of it is that so long as Canadian wheat is maintained above the world level, it doesn't get sold.

So what's to do?

A couple of years ago it seemed a mighty heroic but imprudent thing for Mr. McFarland to go on buying wheat and keeping up the price, when there was such a glut of it in the world.

Now there are a lot of hard-headed business men who think that this year he may have what they call "the right dope". In other words, this wheat that he is picking up at 75 and 80 cents may be worth a dollar or more before he has any occasion to sell.

Let's hope so. Once the government is out of this wheat experiment, though, I imagine they will think twice before getting into it again.

WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

Sons of Canadian Pacific Railway employees in Montreal, Winnipeg and Lethbridge have been awarded C. P. R. scholarships entitling them to tuition at McGill University and L'Ecole des Hautes Etudes Commerciales, commencing with the current session at both educational institutions.

The scholarships held at McGill cover one year in the Faculty of Arts and four years in chemical, civil, mechanical or electrical engineering or five years in architecture. That held at L'Ecole des Hautes Etudes Commerciales is for three years.

The winners are Jean Marie Laramée, bachelor of arts of St. Mary's College, and son of M. Laramée, foreman shipper, Stores Department Angus Shops, Montreal who is awarded the three year scholarship. Those going to McGill are Reside McCallum, son of Mrs. Beatrice McCallum, clerk in the auditor of freight and telegraph receipts office, Montreal; David B. W. Reid, son of D. B. Reid, machinist in the Weston Shops, Winnipeg; and Albert Grant Asplin, son of C. P. R. locomotive engineer working out of Lethbridge.

The Annual Meeting of the Lachute Branch of the Bible Society has been arranged for Sunday evening, October 28th., in the United Church, to take the place of the regular service. The other churches have agreed to cancel their services to enable everyone to attend.

Rev. Dr. MacLennan of Montreal, has arranged to be present and give an address on the work of the Bible Society. His address will be illustrated with fine lantern pictures.

Living Upside Down

One animal habitually lives in an upside-down position—the sloth of South American forests. It feeds on leaves, and by means of strong, curved claws hangs below tree branches. The sloth is the worst walker among animals, but one of the finest climbers. It is so much at home in the trees that it sleeps while inverted. One fish, and one only, will swim in an upside-down position, a catfish of the African swamps. Any other fish found floating inverted is either dying or dead. Our little blue titmouse seem to prefer to feed in an upside-down position, and it may be an advantage to the birds to do so, when in danger of being picked off the trees by a hawk. We have one bird which runs along the underside of a branch while upside down—the tree-haunting little tree-creeper.—London Answers Magazine.

Girl Finds Ancient Well

It was mainly through the bravery of a Sudanese girl named Salome that an ancient well was discovered in Palestine. The Garstang expedition found a hole only large enough to hold the form of a slim woman. Salome volunteered to find what lay below. She was lowered by a rope into the hole and dug along its course for 50 feet. Then she was hauled to the surface and men replaced her at the work. When several large boulders were removed a well nearly 250 feet deep was discovered. In it was 18 feet of water, which was quite potable. The find was at Tell-Duweir, and experts believe the well was sunk in the time of the Hyksos, a dynasty of Egyptian rulers often called the "Shepherd Kings."

Wild Duck Hides When Moulting

The wild duck becomes so ashamed of himself during moulting that he goes into complete hiding; you will see him and his male companions in the heart of the reed-beds on the margins of lakes, and they do this for a very good reason. Flight at this time would be impossible, for each bird moults practically the whole of its flight feathers at once. Nature, however, is kind, for if they still wore their brilliant metallic plumage, they would be conspicuous even in the reed-bed, so she clothes them in a subdued "eclipse" dress which is more like the somber colors of the female.

American Language in Need of Equivalents

Some one sends a complaint to the newspapers that there is no shorter and more graphic word than "pedestrian" for the person who uses his legs in walking, says a writer in the Boston Transcript. "Walker" doesn't quite fill the bill; it seems to imply one who makes walking a profession. A "hiker" is one who goes off on holiday rambles. "Footslogger," an English term, is supposed to apply to the infantry branch of the army. Equally unsuitable are "stroller," "footman," "footie," "tramp" and "saunterer." We seem forced to fall back on "pedestrian" to describe the people who go their ways in the city streets and make up the mournful tailies at the weeks' end of those who have suffered in automobile accidents.

So the language has forever lacked a word equivalent to "starve" for those who are undone from thirst. We must always say that one died of thirst, whereas it would be simpler and more direct to say that one "thirsted" or was "thirsty." The Germans have "durstleiden" and perhaps "dursttöten." The French seem no better off than we are unless they use "soifmurt," which it is to be feared would never have the sanction of the academic. Perhaps the Greeks have a word for it. But, so long as we have no way of calling a "pedestrian" something less sequepedallian or explaining that a man perished of thirst in just one word, our language leaves much to be desired.

Nuts of Pinyon Found on Western Pine Trees

Pinyon nuts, the product of several varieties of low-growing western pine trees, constituted a substantial source of the food of Indians of the Southwest before the white man invaded that territory. These nuts have continued to find favor in Mexico and southwestern United States in recent years, according to a ranger naturalist of the office of national parks, who states that at one time they brought as much as 40 cents a pound and represented a total annual market value of $1,000,000.

These highly prized nuts are found in two small cavities at the bases of the pine cones. Nuts are not produced every year, but when they are a single cone averages about 15 nuts though some contain as many as 34.

Pinyon nuts have soft shells which are easily crushed and contain solid kernels of sweet white meat. Among the Haaupals, Hopis, Nevajos and other Indian tribes the nuts are used chiefly in the form of a meal into which they are ground. The Nevajos also make the nuts into a paste which they use much as we use butter.

WOMEN LIKE BLUE

A man who keeps a man's shop says that no matter how many different colours in ties that he shows a woman, almost invariably she will buy a blue one. Apparently they prefer blue for their men because he said that he sold more furnishings to women than to men and whether it was shirts, underwear or pyjamas they nearly always chose blue. What a lot of queer little quirks in human nature, people who serve the public know.

A FEW MINUTES AT NIGHT

Ideally, people should get up in the morning full of energy and happy as a lark. But how many do? If we were to believe the funny papers most men are grouchy at breakfast. I do not think women are grouchy but I do think that too many of them get up tired and are more or less limp until after breakfast. As the day wears on they feel better and when night comes they are going strong. If you are one of those women who find breakfast a trying time, why not acknowledge the fact and use a few minutes at night to save yourself work in the morning. Do something to ward off getting breakfast ready. Set the table, get the food ready as far as possible, even to slicing the bread for the toast. That few minutes at night does make a surprising difference in the morning. Time yourself and see how much tidying up you can do in three minutes. Papers can be folded, books put away, ash trays emptied and so on. You could do just as much tidying in the same length of time in the morning but the affect on the morale of coming to a tidy house is worth a lot.

WHY WE CHEW OUR FOOD

Chewing is the first process of digestion and sometimes it is a very much neglected one. Some people use their mouths like a letter-box. They just drop the food in. Chewing is a mechanical process and has several functions. It divides the food into small particles, and it turns it over so that the food will become mixed with the saliva. The saliva works in two ways—mechanical and chemical. It does its mechanical work by being mixed with the food and making it soft. It acts chemically on the starch in the food and partially digests it. There are no digestive fluids in the stomach which will act on starch, so if the food has been turned over and swallowed without proper chewing and thorough mixing with the saliva, the starch misses out and cannot be digested until it reaches the intestines. That means over-work for the small intestine and is the first step in digestive troubles. The digestion of starchy food is continued in the stomach for a time, sometimes as long as half an hour until the hydrochloric acid which is in the gastric juice neutralizes the alkaline saliva and digestion is stopped for the time being. The more saliva in the food the longer it works on the starch and the easier digestion is. If the food has not been properly chewed and reduced to fine particles, the gastric juice has not a chance to do its best work. When the poorly chewed food arrives in the intestine it has not the same chance of absorption as finely chewed food. People who chew their food very thoroughly seem to require less food than one who bolts. This is because it is divided into such fine particles and so thoroughly mixed with saliva that the body is able to absorb it more completely and get the very most out of the food. The Scotch should be very good chewers! The very act of chewing develops the jaws and helps to give proper space for teeth to develop so it is very important that small children should have food that requires chewing. That is one of the reasons babies are given crusts and zwieback. Beware of too much soft food.

GINGER POUND CAKE

1 cup butter
1 cup sugar yolks 5 eggs whites 5 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 pound preserved ginger
Cream the butter, add sugar gradually and continue beating. Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon coloured. Add this to butter and beat well. Sift in the flour, saving a little to flour the ginger which has been cut into thin strips. Add ginger and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and add vanilla. Pour into a lightly buttered, deep pan and bake at 350 degrees for 1 1/4 hours.

CHINESE CHEWS

Someone asked for this recipe, so I will publish it. It is so old that it may be new to some. Then again it may be one of those recipes you forget you ever made.

1 cup chopped dates
1 cup walnuts
1 cup white sugar
3/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 eggs
Speck of salt.

Mix the dry ingredients. Add dates and nuts and stir in well beaten eggs. Bake in a thin sheet in a moderate oven of 300 degrees. Cut in small squares and roll into balls, while hot. Roll in sugar.

A NEW VARIETY OF BROME GRASS

The most valuable hay and pasture grass in western Canada is Brome grass. It is perfectly winter-hardy, possesses great drought resistance, grows especially well with alfalfa, and is noted for its palatability and nutritive value. Although it is widely adapted to different soil types brome grass has not been grown at all in Ontario or Quebec, the chief reason being that it is difficult to eradicate under more humid conditions because of its strongly spreading habit of growth. In order to overcome this, specialists have attempted, by breeding, to develop a non-creeping variety. This has been accomplished after 12 years' work. A special effort is now being made to increase the seed as fast as possible, and it is hoped that as soon as seed is available, it will prove very useful to farmers in eastern Canada as well as those in the West. Three thousand plants grown this year at the Central Experimental Farm will produce seed in 1935. Interested parties may see these at any time.

Dolls Once Figured as

Objects of Fear, Hate

Dolls, which are today the best-loved toys of little girls, were once objects of fear or hate. They figured in strange rites of black magic and were specially cherished by women. They were used to terrify and cast spells upon rivals, enemies or unfortunate husbands. After certain "magical" ceremonies, it was thought that whatever was then done to the dolls would be felt by the man or woman it resembled. Sometimes the doll was placed before a fire and allowed slowly to melt. As it melted the bewitched person was supposed to die of fear.

According to a distinguished German scholar, during the late Stone Age every family needed these dolls to keep off evils, and manufacturing them became an industry. During excavation work archeologists have found doll-shaped idols made from all sorts of materials, from stone to terra-cotta, tin and bronze. Some were cut out of sheet-iron and look much like modern tin soldiers. In early Asia and Egypt the dolls of important people were filled with quite a population of doll figures. These acted as substitutes for the usual whole-sale human sacrifices. In other places it was the custom for a bride to sacrifice her dolls to the goddess Diana just before the wedding.

Norse Women Wore Bob

In recent years many people have claimed to be the inventor of the shingle, but no one has been able to establish an indisputable title, and it is possible that no one ever will. The Welsh women bobbed their hair 700 years ago, and there are older records even than that of close-cropped feminine fashions. A few years ago archeological excavations near Tilist, in East Prussia, brought to light remains of the Viking civilization which revealed that many a Norse maiden wore her luxurious golden hair clipped short. Thus more than 1,000 years ago shingling was a fashion among women, while the mode for men was flowing locks.

The presentation of the L.O.V.A. Football Cup took place in Brownsburg on Friday evening, Oct. 1st. A most enjoyable time was spent with the fifty odd guests present, the entertainment being opened with a light supper, after which Alex. Dey, President of the local club took the chair and after a few happy remarks Vice-President Roberts presented the Cup to Capt. Frew who returned thanks on behalf of the D. C. Co'y. team. Mr. Johnson, Supt. of the D. C. Co'y, expressed his appreciation of the manner in which the series of games were played. C. Barker, President of Lachute Rovers, spoke in similar manner. Messrs. Savage, McIntyre, Scott, Reid, Whitham and Jones effected the arrangements.

No, Smarty! Knight did not follow Dey when he won the shooting prize, because you see, Twilight came between them.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES STUDY CANADA'S TRADE RELATIONS

An awakening interest in Canada's Trade relations with other parts of the British Empire is discernible among the personnel of the Quebec Women's Institutes. The Provincial convener of Canadian Industries, Miss Maude Lefebvre of Cookshire, Que., has on her outline of work, suggestions for study of the trade relations between Canada and the West Indies, Australia, and South Africa particularly, at the present time. Whether there is an increase of trade between these countries since the holding of the Ottawa Conference, this study will doubtless show.

BETTER MARKET FOR CANADIAN CHARCOAL

It would seem that Canadian charcoal both wood and animal, is finding a better market in the United Kingdom. The United Kingdom imported over 5,000 tons of all types of charcoal during 1932. Germany is the chief source of supply, followed by Belgium, the Netherlands and Empire countries, states the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. Most of the wood charcoal imported from foreign countries is made from European beech which corresponds to Canadian birch and it would appear therefore that Canadian birch or maple should be suitable for the United Kingdom market. It is estimated that domestic production in the United Kingdom amounts to between nine and ten thousand long tons.

* FIJI AFTER WESTERN CANADA BANANA TRADE

There is a movement on foot in the Fiji Islands, in the Southern Pacific, to grow bananas for the Western Canadian market. Fiji is in position to produce large quantities of bananas, 1,715,766 bunches being exported in 1924, the peak year of production. The Fiji Islands supply Australia and New Zealand, but the latter's island territory, including the mandate over Western Samoa, is favorable to the growth of bananas and the growing production of Australia has resulted in falling off in the demand from those two Empire countries. Experimental shipments of bananas have been made from the Fiji Islands to Vancouver and certain plantations have been set aside to insure good quality fruit for the Canadian market. The Fiji Islands also produce and export citrus fruits, oranges and mandarins, and pineapples. The greater quantity of Canada's bananas are at present obtained from the British West Indies, these reaching Canada in specially fitted vessels of the Canadian National Steamships which provide a direct service.

MORIN HEIGHTS

(Intended for Last Issue)

Mr. Cecil McCullough, who has been a patient in St. Luke's Hospital, Montreal, following a serious automobile accident, is progressing favorably.

Mrs. Herbert Lacken spent a few days in Montreal recently.

Mr. Harvey Watson, who has been a patient in the General Hospital for several weeks, is at his father's, Mr. F. J. Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Trites of St. Laurent, spent a recent week-end at the home of Mrs. Rufus McCullough.

The October monthly meeting of the W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Seale on Tuesday evening of last week. The county president, Mrs. G. Kuhring, was present, and a very instructive and pleasant evening was spent.

The monthly meeting of the W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Watchorn, Christieville, on Thursday.

STONEFIELD

Mrs. McKenzie, of Buckingham, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Conway for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McMeekin, of Ottawa, were the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. McMeekin, over the week-end.

Miss Eleanor Owens, of Ottawa, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. M. Owens.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Preston, of Montreal, have closed their cottage for the winter months.

Miss Frances Conway, of the McCoy Institute, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Conway.

The funeral of the late Mr. R. Dewar took place at St. Matthew's Church, Grenville, on Monday, Oct. 8th. Rev. Brueton conducted the service. The very large attendance bore witness to the high esteem in which Mr. Dewar was held. The pall bearers were: Messrs. J. Stewart, G. C. Conway, I. McGane, J. A. Canning, E. Braedon and D. Dodd.

CUSHING

Miss A. Macdowell, also Mr. J. Macdowell Sr. and Jr., spent several days in Montreal this week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. McDermid and son, Billy, spent Thanksgiving Day in Cushing at the Cleland cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Beecher and family occupied their summer home, The Lilacs, the latter part of the week as well as Thanksgiving Day. Their guests were the Misses Margaret and Helen Maw and Bert Sleeth of N. D. G.

Capt. and Mrs. J. D. Weir and family spent the week-end and Thanksgiving at their summer home here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Graham, Mrs. J. W. Maclean, and Mrs. John Canning motored to Buckingham on Friday evening and attended a W.C.T.U. concert put on by members from Thurso and Buckingham. Mrs. Graham's pageant, "The Fiftieth Year" was one of the attractions of the evening.

Cushing residents extend their sympathy to Miss Lorena Howe and family, in the loss of her brother in a drowning accident at Ste. Anne de Bellevue recently. Miss Howe is well known in Cushing, having been the guest of Capt. and Mrs. J. D. Weir for several summers.

Week-end and Thanksgiving guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Graham were their daughters, Ivy and Elsie, of Verdun, also the Misses Irena Swim, of Yarmouth, N.S., and Elva Frost, of Lachine. Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Scott of Lachute. Miss Ivy Graham has just had the honour of being appointed Honorary Secretary of the Provincial Protestant Teachers' Association.

An interesting meeting of Frontiers W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. F. Fuller on Tuesday of last week. Mrs. J. S. Giles favored with an entertaining talk on Immigration.

ST. COLUMBAN

Mrs. Ed. Elliott, who was rushed to hospital with appendicitis, is now making satisfactory progress.

Mr. J. Deslauriers, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, visited recently in this locality where he spent part of his early life some sixty years ago. He had not been in the district since then, and was greatly touched to see the old school he once attended, and also the cemetery where the remains of his parents are laid.

At the Municipal Council meeting held October 1st, the following members were in attendance—Mayor Keyes, Councillors Wm. Carroll, D. Kennedy, and John Kenna.

H. Joly, the secretary, was authorized to notify all parties of division No. 1 to have their front roads repaired within eight days, if not, the Road Inspector is authorized to repair them and charge expenses to respective proprietors.

It appears late in the season to undertake road repairs. But at this time trucks are passing with excessive loads of wood, with risk of damage to both bridges and roads. Fortunately, however, no accidents have happened yet, although the majority of the small bridges within the municipality are not built for these heavy truck loads.

Bird as Cattle Guardian

The long-legged bird which appears on the 1923 postal issue of Uruguay is the teru teru, a native of the pampas. It is a useful creature in a country where grazing is a principal industry. Each bird adopts a cow or steer and appoints itself guardian of the animal. Flies, ticks and other insects, poison to the cattle, are the teru teru's meat. Said to be inordinately jealous, the teru teru will not share its wards with other birds.

Acadian Apple Tree

Only two or three authentic Acadian apple trees still remain in the Annapolis valley, Nova Scotia, where 300 years ago a peasant-colonist from Jorinandy, France, set out the first trees planted in North America. Long-remembered sweet, and poem, "Evangeline," immortalizes the exile of Acadian families in 1755, forty-five years after France lost Acadia to the English.

Among those who were home for Thanksgiving were: Miss Elizabeth Walsh, Miss Alison Rodger, Miss Beatrice Perks, Miss Janet Watson, Miss Bessie Woods, Miss Elizabeth Wales, Mr. Edgar Hooker, Miss Bessie Rodger, Dr. W. Pitcairn and Mr. Keith Pitcairn.

Miss Ida Hopper and Mr. and Mrs. Glendenning, of Montreal, spent the holiday at the home of Mrs. E. Charman.

The death of Miss Alice Abbott of St. Andrews occurred on Tuesday morning, Oct. 9th. The sympathy of the community is extended to Dr. Maude Abbott in her bereavement.

The six Montreal artists billed on the concert program for Oct. 16th., have been highly appreciated by the audiences before whom they have appeared. (See announcement in Coming Event Column.)

MORIN HEIGHTS

Miss Isobel Lummis, who is attending Dunham College, spent Thanksgiving with her parents.

The Board of Trade held another dance in the Davis Hall, on Saturday evening.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Herbie Weeks and Miss Dorothy Aumais, of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lacken and family spent Saturday last in Montreal.

Local school children enjoyed a long holiday owing to the teachers' convention last week and Thanksgiving Day.

Miss Hazel Watson is spending a few days in Montreal.

Mrs. R. Seale and daughter, Joyce, spent the holiday visiting her parents.

Several of the Girl Guides have been at their camp here at Morin Heights.

LAKEFIELD

Miss Chrissie McGregor, of Vancouver, B.C., left for her home last Friday after having spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tomalty.

Little Joyce, June, Melva McDonald are here visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Tomalty and Mr. and Mrs. H. McDonald.

Guests over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Tomalty included the Misses Thelma and Evelyn Hynes, Margaret and Jean Fyfe, Jean and Rita Purvis, Ivy Nowell, Rita Johnson and Freda Lees, all of Montreal.

BROWNSBURG

Mr. and Mrs. J. Maitland were in Montreal on Sunday visiting their little son, David, who is a patient with scarlet fever, in the Alexandra Hospital. Being a mild case they found him comfortable and in good spirits.

Miss Patsy Bloxham and Miss McGill, of Montreal, were guests for the week-end and holiday of Mr. and Mrs. Bloxham.

Mr. J. Murray, of Ottawa, was among those who were here for the holiday and enjoyed fine weather in the beautiful scenery around Lake Louisa.

IMPRESSIVE TRIBUTE TO LATE MELVIN LANGILLE

POPULAR YOUNG CITIZEN LAID TO REST

The funeral of Melvin Ernest Langille, a young Lachute resident well known in sports and athletic circles, whose death occurred in the early hours of Friday morning, October 12th., at his father's residence on the Brownsburg Road, was held on Sunday afternoon at the United Church.

That he was a popular favorite was evidenced by the attendance of the two higher grades of Lachute High School, in which he had proved himself one of its brightest and best students. For the past year he had been engaged with the local firm of Ayers Limited, where he was held in highest esteem, and some fifty floral tributes of wreaths and sheaves carried by his co-workers and former school chums bore silent tribute to the marked affection in which he was held.

Melvin was one of whom everyone had a good word to say. Gentlemanly of demeanor, kindly of spirit, manly of bearing, and forceful as a leader among the young folk, his early demise has cast a deep gloom over the community.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, and the Lachute United Church was taxed to capacity, many being unable to gain admission. The remains were interred in Lachute Cemetery, borne to their last resting place by his close companions, Gordon McFaul, Winston Drew, Stanley Boyd, Theodore Boyd, Roland Cruise, Gordon Drysdale, Joey Berniquier and Garfield Clark.

Among those attending from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Robertson, of Boston, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Winters and family, of Norton, Mass., Miss Margaret Lane, Mr. Allan Langille of the R.C.M.P. stationed in Ontario, and Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Clements of Montreal.

The floral tributes included wreaths from the President and Board of Directors of Ayers Limited, the office staff, his co-workers, Mr. W. H. Ayers, The Tennis, Baseball and Hockey Clubs, Staff and Pupils of Lachute High School and Brownsburg Hockey Team.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Robinson, of Toronto, have just celebrated their golden wedding and are enjoying the felicitations of their many friends on this happy occasion, quite a few of whom have pleasant recollections of earlier days when Mr. Robinson's parents were highly respected residents of this community.

CURFEW BY-LAW NEEDS PARENTS' CO-OPERATION

LITTLE OPPOSITION HEARD TO PROPOSED RULING

A general feeling has been manifest that the Curfew By-law, to be brought forward at next Council meeting, will be a step in the right direction. The proposal was advanced last year by Mayor A. Larocque and Alderman Durocher, but the time was not considered opportune. Now the general attitude seems to warrant this measure and the Council are of one mind for its proper enforcement.

The responsibility will rest largely upon the parents for its success. They can materially help the Council by impressing upon their children the necessity for obedience to the law, and thus save much unpleasantness for all parties concerned.

CHILDREN'S DAY SERVICE AT UNITED CHURCH

Most impressive was the Children's Day Service held in the United Church last Sunday morning, when the scholars participated in the promotion exercises.

A trellised fence entwined with flowers enclosed the platform, with double gates in the centre, which were opened by two girls from each of the classes, the scholars rising in turn with the singing of "Open Wide the Gates." They then marched through and ranged themselves in order until the whole school was assembled. This procedure was followed with such quiet precision, that bespoke much loving care in the handling of the children. To them, also, the influence of these early days, and the lessons learned in Christian atmosphere, will carry sweet memories for many years to come.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MRS. E. MCGREGOR

The death of Mrs. Edward McGregor occurred at her home on Grace Street on Friday last, Oct. 12th., following an illness of several weeks.

The funeral was held in the Lachute United Church on Monday, conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, assisted by Rev. Mr. Macaskill of St. Andrews. There was a large attendance of sympathizing friends, who gathered to pay their tribute of respect to one who was much loved.

Among those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Taylor, of Detroit, and Norman McGregor of Bruce, Wisconsin. The remains were interred in the St. Andrews Cemetery.

DISTRICT BOY SCOUTS HELD RALLY

PLEASING EVENT AT MORIN HEIGHTS

Arundel—Eight Scouts and three officers of the Arundel and Weir Troops motored to Morin Heights last, Saturday, where they were the guests of the local Scout Master, Mr. Brownlee, and his troop, at a Rally conducted by the Laurentian District Scout Master, the Rev. Gordon W. Phillips.

Mr. Veit, S.M., and Leader Earl Morrison, were in charge of the Arundel Troop. Rev. K. N. Brueton and his troop from Grenville, and the Rev. Gordon Addie with the Rawdon Troop, failed to arrive and their absence was very much regretted. A lively Rally with the three troops present, however, was enjoyed by all and the Scoutcraft exhibition in the course of exercises was most gratifying to the officers and a delight to the D.S.M.

After the Rally and before the indoor camp fire was held, the ladies of the Women's Institute provided an excellent repast, to which the Scouts did full justice.

A vote of thanks to the ladies was called for, by the D.S.M., seconded by Mr. Brownlee, S.M. and heartily responded to by the Scouts.

The Rev. James Lummis, president of the Morin Heights group committee, then spoke of his gratitude to the ladies and his pride—quite a justifiable pride at that—in the showing of the Morin Heights Scouts.

BUCKINGHAM EX-MAYOR DIES

Desire Lahaie, M.L.A. for the adjoining constituency of Papineau since 1922, died suddenly at Buckingham last Friday. He was born at Ste. Scholastique in 1868 and had been a storekeeper in Buckingham for many years. He was Mayor of Buckingham eight times and has represented Papineau riding at Quebec as a Liberal for 14 years.

STAR TAXAYER
(Brandon Daily Sun)

Look over Manitoba roads, ride over those you can, and then ponder. Since 1929 the province of Manitoba has collected $68,307,415 in general revenue, according to figures obtained from the provincial public accounts and, of this total, motorists have emptied into the treasury $10,260,743 in two taxes alone—licenses and gasoline tax. In 1933, 9.5 per cent. of the population owned motor vehicles but, in the five years' compilation, these owners gave the province over 15 per cent. of the total general revenue. In addition to this they paid customs duty on new cars to the Dominion Govt.

LACHUTE MEDICAL HALL CHANGES HANDS

The Medical Hall has again changed hands, Dr. E. Christie having sold out the stock and fixtures to Mr. J. G. Charland, who is well-known to this community, having previously been in business as druggist at Lachute Mills for a number of years.

V.O.N. IS A COMMUNITY NEED

COMMENDABLE WORK SHOULD NOT SUFFER THROUGH FAILING SUPPORT

(AN EDITORIAL)

We understand that the local branch of the V.O.N. is being abandoned through lack of funds. This is a serious condition and a direct reflection on the town if the work is allowed to terminate through lack of support.

When information reached The Watchman that Nurse Dixon's services would not be required after the close of this month, enquiries were made into the activities and services performed. Many viewpoints were heard pro and con, but the extent and nature of its activities since the V.O.N. was established in Lachute appear to outrule every other consideration, and point to the necessity of its continuance.

Families of our community unable to afford the necessary attention should illness befall them, have learned to look upon the V.O.N. with a feeling of reverence, and Nurse Dixon has for the past four years brought happiness and cheer into many a home where otherwise they would have been called upon to suffer.

While the local V.O.N. Nurse was reticent in advancing any figures, we find that from Oct. 15, 1930, to Oct. 15, 1934, care has been given to 1126 sick persons, 94 English families and 251 French families having taken advantage of this nursing service.

276 Expectant mothers received advice, and were also given nursing care in confinement. The cases listed include: 104 confinements, 28 pneumonia cases (all of whom recovered), 2 typhoid cases; and 559 bedside nursing visits were given free, also 13 confinements attended free. 425 Night calls were received and attention given.

Of the visits made there were pre-natal 898, obstetrical 1990, new-born babies 1840, nursing visits for other illnesses 3,092; free child welfare and instruction visits 1591; authorities and doctors interviewed on behalf of patients 642; operation visits 9; confinement visits 586, making a total of 10,648.

The above statistics amply

W.M.S. AUXILIARY VISITS ST. ANDREWS EAST

On Wednesday afternoon of last week the W. M. S. Auxiliary of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Church were guests of the ladies of the Presbyterian Church at St. Andrews East and took charge of their regular meeting.

Mrs. John Bradley, President, welcomed the visitors, after which the chair was taken by Mrs. H. M. Gall of Lachute, who opened the meeting with devotional exercises.

The music was in charge of Mrs. J. M. Drew, and the occasion was a service of Thanksgiving. Mrs. Gall gave a short discourse on the "Spirit of Thanksgiving". The principal address was given by Miss Barron, who spoke on Home Missions, reading illustrative passages from the book "His Dominion", by Dr. William Gunn. The meeting was greatly enjoyed by all present. St. Andrews Auxiliary will celebrate its 70th. Anniversary in December.

LACHUTE W.I. FORMS LITERARY GROUP

A study group has been formed in the Lachute branch of the W.I., in connection with the Education and Better Schools program. The first meeting was held on Tuesday when an excellent paper on "Canada" was given by Mrs. A. Middleton. Quite a large number attended.

Miss G. Dumouchel gave selections on the piano, and at the close afternoon tea was served, in which Principal Hall and the High School teachers joined. There is also a library in connection with this society, and any donation of books will be gratefully received by the librarian, Mrs. F. Brennian.

prove the real need for retention of this service, and we trust that our people will rise in response. Thanks is due to those who have sponsored the providing of necessary funds for maintenance of this work; it has meant much of hard work and sacrifice, but the compensation should be seen in the splendid reports of Nurse Dixon, who has been most faithful in the performance of her duties.

While the V.O.N. Nurse collected in cash the sum of $703.80, which has been handed to the committee, the sum of $3,417.95 has also been contributed by the Metropolitan Life, who, we are informed, have nearly 3,000 policy holders in town. The average monthly receipts by the nurse have thus aggregated $85.87, and when one stops to peruse these figures and the work involved, it is truly amazing how one pair of hands could have fulfilled such weighty obligations.

DANCE AT AUDITORIUM RE-OPENING

RADIO ORCHESTRA DREW FAVORABLE COMMENT

The re-opening of the Auditorium, on Friday last, proved a trifle disappointing to the Mayor and Council, since the attendance was much smaller than had been anticipated. In declaring the hall open, Mayor A. Larocque spoke of the disappointments and inconveniences resultant from the fire of January last, which destroyed the original interior of the building. Having obtained from the insurance companies a satisfactory settlement, which enabled them to re-build the hall and give it back to the people in better shape than before, the Town also paid tribute to its local contractor, Alcidas Laurin, who had excelled himself in the work.

As the evening advanced, the friends gathered in greater number, and Bert Anstice's Mountain Boys, the orchestra engaged for the occasion, got busy and kept things lively until the closing hour. They proved an energetic group of first-class musicians, and received much appreciation for their genial willingness. The dancers were also duly appreciative of Mr. Edgar Boyd's work, in calling off the square dances. In this manner, whether tastes ran to the older or more modern trends of dancing, all were able to take a hand and enjoy themselves to the full.

MISHAP TO TALKING MACHINE

Lest the caption should suggest that an accident has befallen our neighbor's wife, this item—we hasten to mention—refers only to a defect in the talking apparatus at Rex Theatre on Tuesday evening. A blown fuse and burnt out tube interrupted the program in its early stages, and a full house were disappointed to miss the good picture. The Rex proprietor cheerfully refunded his customers' fees at the box office, meanwhile ruminating on trials and tribulations of the show business. The trouble was located later in the evening, and with replacements installed the machinery was in perfect operation for the following night's program.

MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER ATTEMPT

ARRAIGNED IN LOCAL COURT

Arrested on a charge of attempted murder, Percy Cleland, a resident in the district of Grenville, was committed to stand his trial at next assizes, when brought before Justices Rodger and Daoust in the Court House on Wednesday last.

The complaint was made by George Janes, of Montreal, who summers at the Scotch Gore Road in the Township of Grenville. From evidence it appears that Cleland had accused Janes of beating his horse, and wishing to clear himself he called upon Cleland, who, without any provocation it is said, ran for his rifle—and Jones for his life!

B. Lawlor, K.C., of Hawkesbury, represented Cleland, and L. L. Legault, K.C., appeared for Janes.

REGISTER! REGISTER! REGISTER!

Editorial in the Montreal Daily Star

The preparation of the new electoral lists for the Federal elections next year is now under way. Every person, male or female, over the age of twenty-one, who is a Canadian citizen, is entitled to a Federal vote. It will therefore be the fault of any such individual if his or her name is not found inscribed on the list after it has been revised and printed.

This year a new system of enumeration is being put into operation. The enumerators are working in pairs, a Liberal and a Conservative, and will carry out a house-to-house canvass to register the names of all householders and tenants and occupants who have a right to a vote. It should be borne in mind that any names omitted from the lists that are to be prepared cannot be added, after the revision has been completed and the lists have been closed, until the time for the routine annual revision next year. In the event of a general election in the near future, those who have omitted to register this time will therefore find themselves unable to exercise the most important elementary duty of citizenship.

It is absolutely essential that there should be the fullest co-operation between voters and enumerators to ensure that every name entitled to a place on the lists finds that place. Some omissions are inevitable; some errors are sure to creep in; but both can be rectified during the revision and before the lists are closed for printing, if only the public will do its duty. Any citizen of this Dominion who does not exercise the franchise is unworthy of enjoying the privilege of citizenship.

Every thinking man and woman who takes an intelligent interest in the government of this country, its present as well as its future, should see to it that their names are inscribed upon the electoral lists, and then that they go to the polls at election time. A citizen dead to his duty is a citizen Canada can well do without.

WHAT THE CLOCK SAYS

"Get up quickly!" it says in the morning
 "Come, hurry to school," at nine.
 "If you want to make Teacher happy You'll always be there on time."
 "Don't linger!" it says at noon-tide,
 "Or by the flowers wait;
 You know that there still are lessons
 For which you must not be late."
 "Come hurry to bed!" it tells you
 "If you would healthy keep;
 There's nothing so good for children,

THE LITTLE BLUE RABBIT

The little folks of Leaf Land were not quite ready to have me tell you stories about them, so I will leave them until next week and tell you about the little blue rabbit instead.

A blue rabbit sounds like a very strange kind of animal, but it was just an ordinary inquisitive young rabbit, except that its fur had a little tinge of blue, almost the same color as a Maltese kitten, or perhaps a trifle more blue.

The other little rabbits where this one came from always laughed at his color. They would sing whenever they saw him hopping along:

"Oh a blue, blue bunny
 Is so very funny,
 That we have to laugh at him,
 Let's chase him back
 To his home 'neath the root,
 And make him change his skin."

Sometimes they did chase him; sometimes they just sang this little teasing threat, but the little blue bunny got quite tired of all this and vowed that if they sang it just once more he would go back to his "home 'neath the root," but would run and run the opposite way. Bright and early next morning the little blue bunny came out of the nest, his little legs trembling with excitement, and sure enough Speckled Tail saw him and started to sing, jumping towards him quickly as he came to that part of the song. "Let's chase him back," Speckled Tail stopped singing in alarm as he saw the little blue bunny continue jumping towards him instead of running away. He was not prepared for that, and was so surprised that, before he knew what had happened, the little blue bunny was going lipperty-lap, lipperty-lap, towards the outer edge of the forest, leaving Speckled Tail rubbing a sore ear with his paw. Little Blue Bunny had had the nerve to kick him, quite fiercely, as he hopped by him. Speckled Tail was quite indignant; he was like a lot of little folks who just love to tease others but think it is a terrible injustice if anyone teases them.

Little Blue Bunny was not worrying about whether he had hurt Speckled Tail's feelings or not; he had himself to worry about, if he had only known it, for Hootie, half-asleep on a big pine tree, had heard him coming and was listening to his pounding footsteps. "Ha," Hootie chuckled to himself, "that is a young rabbit running away from home. I know it by the sound of his running. I'll have him for my supper tonight, as he won't have any hole to crawl into." Hootie chuckled again, then suddenly stopped. He was remembering the hungry old red fox he had seen just at daybreak crawling beneath a brush pile to rest. Little Blue Rabbit's trembling legs took him bounding along, right bang up against that brush pile. His speed checked, he rested a moment until he felt a movement almost beneath him and saw a pair of glaring eyes peering at him from amongst the brush. Away went Little Blue Rabbit, as fast as he could, with the hungry old fox in pursuit.

"This," said Little Blue Rabbit to himself, "is much worse than being laughed at." On and on he went. He was headed for Farmer Green's barnyard, but he did not know that of course, until he found himself among the cows who were lying waiting for Ted to put them in the stable for milking. He saw that the hungry old red fox was too much afraid to come where he was, so he sank down close beside the biggest black cow, who just looked at him in surprise for a moment, then went on chewing her cud. She often went into the forest to eat leaves and knew that this rabbit would not hurt her. The little blue rabbit was just getting nicely rested and wondering where the bed of carrots were that he had heard Tom Partridge telling Mrs. Partridge about. Tom had seen it as he rested on Farmer Green's gatepost the morning before, just at dawn, then suddenly Ted came whistling into the yard to put the cows in. Away went Little Blue Rabbit again, in search of a hiding place. Seeing the ice-house door open, he darted inside and hid in the corner, but Ted's sharp eyes had seen him go and straight to the ice-house he went after him. He caught him too, before Little Blue Rabbit even realized that he had been seen. Oh! how Little Blue Rabbit squealed. "Just like a frightened child," said Ted as he showed him to his mother and dad. "What shall I do with him?" he asked. "I don't want him in my garden," Ted replied his mother emphatically. "You can keep him a day or two to let our visitors see him; then let him go."

Ted put him in a closed-in stall, too high for him to jump out, and gave him some carrots, which the little blue rabbit did not enjoy so very much, being too lonely and afraid.

A few days after, Ted carried him back quite a distance into the pasture, so that Brono would not chase him, and there he let him go. Blue Rabbit darted off in the direction of home, not really knowing that he was bound in that direction until he saw a familiar-looking hole beneath a root, and darted into it, much to the surprise and joy of the other rabbits who were really proud of their little blue friend and so glad to have him back that they did not sing songs about him any more.

A Cat Tale—Nuwedd, a newcomer to the suburb, looked dazed and weary. His neighbor enquired the reason.

"My wife," said Nuwedd hoarsely. "She told me to take our old tomcat and lose it, so I put the beastly thing in a basket and tramped in the country for about six miles." He paused for breath.

"Well," said the neighbor, "did you lose it?"

"Lose it!" gasped Nuwedd, "if I had not followed it I would never have found my way home."

BRITISH SPEED BOAT SETS NEW WORLD'S RECORD AT VENICE

Here we see Miss Britain III speeding along at 111 miles an hour to set a new world's record for single-engined craft, with Hubert Scott-Paine at the controls. In addition to the new world mark, Scott-Paine set new records for the European Sea Mile and the Italian Sea Mile.

Solving South Africa's Race Problem

South Africa's basic problem, the eradication of prejudice between the British and Dutch, and between these races and the native races, was probably being advanced more by the Boy Scout movement than by any other agency, declared the Hon. New Sea Version of Sweetheart in Every Port

The old sea legend that the sailor has a sweetheart in every port has been amended by the Boy Scouts, in the case of Deep Sea Scouts. The Scout version is "Every Deep Sea Scout has a brother sea or land Scout in every port." As elsewhere, Deep Sea Scouts of vessels in Canadian ports are welcomed and frequently entertained by Scouts ashore.

City Leisure—After forty years in a remote country village, a couple sold their farm and decided to live in the city where they could enjoy the comforts of life. So to London they went. They bought a house and set about their life of leisured ease.

On the first morning the wife awoke before sunrise and said: "Isn't it about time you were getting up to light the fire?"

Would Save Waterloo Site
 Champions of things historical are fighting a proposal to remove the legal restrictions which have prevented building on the site of Waterloo, scene of the great battle and one of the world's greatest battlefields. Its nearness to Brussels has made Waterloo a place of pilgrims to many visitors to Belgium. Many people make the trip because they remember Byron's famous lines on the subject in "Childe Harold." Other and more recent battlefields draw larger numbers of tourists, but Waterloo remains the scene of one of the decisive engagements in world history.

Nothing Can Fall to Mine Floor
 Due to the earth's motion, nothing can fall to the bottom of the deepest mine shaft. A wrench dropped from the mouth of the shaft was found lodged against the side of the shaft several hundred feet down. Later, the Michigan College of Mines conducted tests along this line, using a marble suspended by a thread about twelve feet below the mouth. When the marble was motionless, the thread was burned by the flame of a candle. The marble fell, but only to a point 500 feet down, where it stopped on the east wall.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Bread Tree Has Many Uses
 The breadfruit tree of the tropical islands in the Pacific ocean is a tree of many uses. Its fruit, which is globular and about the size of a melon, is used as a vegetable and also, with different seasonings, as a dessert. Flour, made from dried slices of this fruit is sometimes made into bread. The fibrous inner bark of the breadfruit tree is used in the manufacture of cloth. The wood is used for canoes and furniture, and the milky juice which exudes from the stem is the basis of a glue and a caulking material.

Worth Remembering
 What the great author and poet Ruskin once wrote about amusement is well worth remembering—"Never seek for amusement; it, but be always ready to be amused. The least thing has play in it, the slightest word wit, when your hands are busy and your heart is free. But if you make the aim of your life amusement, the day will come when all the absurdities of a pantomime will not bring you an honest laugh."

By J. A. Cowan in the "C-I-L Oval"

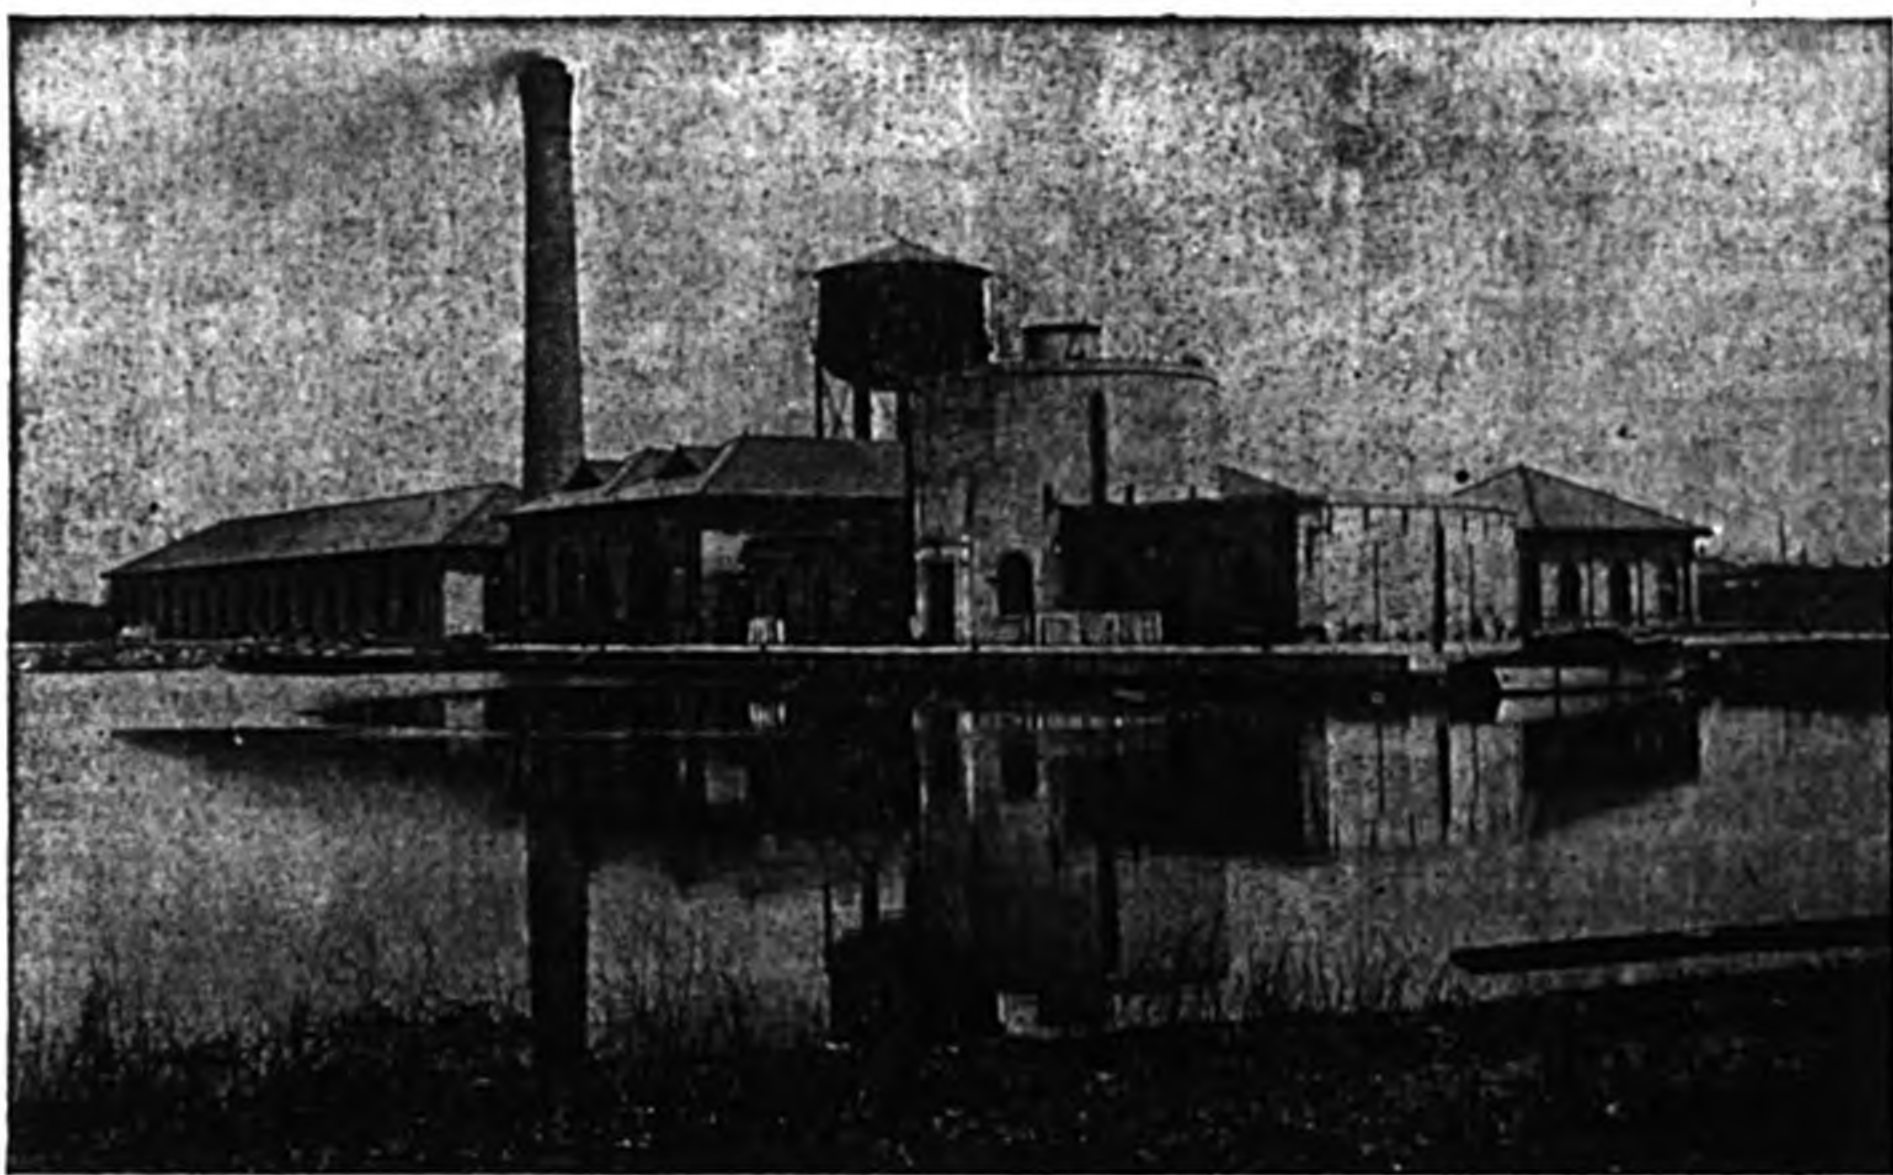

Of all raw materials processed in Canada, which one is regularly handled in such colossal quantities that its production far overtops any other product? Not one out of every hundred persons in that theoretical assemblage known as "the man on the street" will guess this one correctly. It is, of course, water. The product is so commonplace that the answer is too easy, obvious and simple. The processing of water is, by all standards, a front-rank industry.

Checking on the equipment required for processing and distribution produces a crop of staggering figures. In Toronto alone, for instance, steam and electrically-driven pumps with a capacity of 212 million gallons daily, deliver purified and processed water through 720 miles of cast-iron mains and two miles of steel pipe to approximately 710,000 users. The average consumption is in the neighborhood of 73 million gallons daily.

A vast and very necessary programme of expansion which will, literally, require a generation to accomplish, has already involved a $14,000,000 expenditure on plans for a duplicate system. Stretching across the front of the city for 10 miles, a concrete subway, six to seven feet had a discouraging habit of floating up to the surface. In 1898, for instance, they rose from the bottom of the bay in three parts. But it was when a severe typhoid epidemic struck the city like a plague in the closing months of 1909 that agitation for action reached its peak. This, it was believed with what later appeared to be excellent reason, was due largely to bad water.

As the epidemic raged, chlorination loomed up as the most likely measure for stamping out the disease. It was reported that a few British and American cities were using calcium hypochlorite as a purifier and Toronto decided, though not without uncertainty, to see if safety could be secured by means of chemistry. There were signs that the citizens were, in many cases, beginning to feel desperate. But there was no wild outburst of enthusiasm over the plan, the Evening Telegram reporting very modestly that "it is hoped by this means to kill the germs that bring disease and death." The quiet reception was partly due to the very small quantities of the chemical which the city proposed to use—only five pounds to each million gallons of water. To the layman entirely unfamiliar in diameter, has just been cut into bed-rock to a depth of 100 feet below lake level. It will carry a hidden river of filtered water. Concealed beneath a new park, some miles to the north, is an unseen lake where engineers have recently finished a 50-million gallon reinforced concrete reservoir. Looking out over Lake Ontario from the bluffs at Victoria Park, a new filtration plant is nearing completion. Ultimately, it will contain 40 filters capable of delivering 200 million gallons daily. It will have large chemical and bacteriological laboratories, special store-rooms for liquid chlorine and sulphur dioxide and such a facility as a 12-million gallon pure water reservoir.

Raw water can hold an entire great city in the grip of panic. Its potentialities as a destroyer and disease-carrier place it on a par with fire, earthquake and "acts of God." There are, in the history of chemistry, few more dramatic chapters than the story of the conquest of this menace and the rôle played therein by chlorine.

Toronto, to-day, has a plentiful supply of clear, pure water. The research work of its laboratories and investigation into methods of water purification have given the system a world reputation. Members of the American Water Works Association have gathered there from all parts of the continent and studied it, particularly the plans for caring for all future requirements as fast as these arise.

But go back into the pre-chlorination era in that community's history and you will find two grim and tragic phrases: Boil the Water! . . . Bury the Dead!

Toronto, having now conquered the typhoid pestilence which used to lurk in every tap, has not suppressed the details of the battle against conditions which, as late as 1910, resulted in recurring epidemics. Back in 1841, a waterworks system was in operation, pumping lake water from the bay. Drawing its supplies from the immediate vicinity of a growing metropolis, this inevitably meant that citizens drank raw water polluted with waste, and meant, equally inevitably, that there were typhoid fatalities. Countless schemes, including the digging of multitudes of deep wells, were suggested. The early intakes were wooden conduits, and they with chemical control of disease, this did not sound like a very heroic protective measure against a killer which was sweeping across an entire city.

At 9.40 a.m. on March 19th, 1910, the first attempt at chlorination of drinking water in Toronto was made. Judged by modern systems, it was crude, indeed, but the results, to the citizens, were astonishing. The bacterial content of the water, stated to be 5,500 colonies per c.c. on March 19th before chlorination, was announced as only 390 two days later, as 420 on March 22nd and 320 the day following. Though the dangers from impure water had only been partially overcome and such things as breaks in the intake and a water famine a year later still presented problems to the civic authorities, the major epidemic had been brought under control. Never since has the typhoid scourge mowed down citizens with the terrifying regularity of that period of 1910 when the death rate stood at 44 per 100,000 of population.

From that time on, the most interesting aspect of the story is the scientific one. It was

Dr. LOCKE ON SCREEN

Film to be Made at Williamsburg Clinic

Featuring Dr. M. W. Locke, famed pediatrician, a six-reel sound picture is to be produced at Williamsburg, Ont., during the next few months. The film is being sponsored by Mayer Brenner, Toronto steel magnate, who has been interested in Dr. Locke's work for a number of years since his mother was cured of a long standing ailment at Dr. Locke's clinic.

The scenario for the picture, it is understood, is being prepared by Rex Beach, well known American short story writer and novelist, who has several times visited Dr. Locke and written numerous articles for publications in the United States concerning the Canadian doctor. Production will begin shortly, final arrangements having already been completed.

Mr. Jas. Brown, of Point Fortune, has shipped to Montreal two barges, each containing 6000 bushels of peas, and another this week of 8,000 bushels. Some farmers are holding back for higher prices. Peas are commanding 50c. a bushel, rye 45c., and wheat 85c.

In every relation of life we must bear and forbear; we must not expect perfection, and each party should carry the cloak of charity for the other.

We are pleased to observe that Councillor James Fish has made a personal effort toward street improvements. He has greatly improved the road facing the post office and we trust others will follow the good example set.

On Sunday night, one of Mr. Ireland's boys, about 10 years old, was passing over Fish's bridge when he was shot at by a man from the other side of the bridge. Running home the boy reported what had happened, and exhibited a good sized bullet hole in the bridge structure, with bullet embedded, to prove the shooting. The man is known, and it is to be hoped he will be dealt with as he deserves.

SETTLING DOWN MENTALLY

All humanity knows the restlessness that follows Spring . . . the mental wandering that anticipates clear streams and blue mountains . . . and baseball . . . and blowouts. But have you noticed how the cool Fall days usher back the inner contentment . . . the delights of home and friends . . . of good books . . . and warm radiator pipes? It is the time when prodigal spirits come back home, enthused with resolutions to spend the leisure hours constructively, to improve the mind, to cultivate the talents, and in a quiet, recreative way—to do something worthwhile.

It would be well, at this season, to dwell on the benefits one might confer upon the community, through exerting these creative impulses along selfless lines.—To consider how the pleasures of small-town living revolve around the sociable, co-operative efforts of a few energetic citizens.—To realize how the Churches, whose untenanted spaces have echoed all Summer to the rattle of passing automobiles, deserve whole-hearted patronage as Winter settles upon us.

—It is a comfortable season (barring sneezes and wheezes and epidemics of cold), but it is a time when the personal and the communal soul may experience rich benefits in constructive thinking.

MISGUIDED PRAISE

The general manager of tramways for the London Passenger Transport Board—Mr. T. E. Thomas—visited the Montreal Tramways Commission last week at the conclusion of an extensive tour to study street passenger transportation in Canada and the U. S. The visitor saw fit to compliment the Montreal authorities on the efficiency of their service . . . and it is therefore safe to assume the Montreal Tramways did not introduce the visitor to rush hour conditions on many of their metropolitan routes. The spectacle of one of these deplorably overloaded street-cars would dispel any illusions as to the safety and comfort of traveling by tramway in Montreal. The conductors have apparently no restrictions as to the number of passengers carried, so long as the doors will shut . . . a condition very different from the London street cars and buses, which limit their standing passengers to three, or five, as the case may be.

While the railways have given attention to excursion traffic, inducing people to visit the cities at cheap rates and in reasonable comfort—Montreal Tramways have certainly discouraged many visitors to the metropolis . . . and we don't care who knows it!

PERENNIAL PLEA TO HUNTERS

An appeal is being repeated this week by the officials of the Province of Quebec Safety League to its members to guard against hunting accidents. There have been several serious accidents reported this season and the league officers feel that much can be done to reduce the number of these mishaps.

While hunting, care must be taken to see that the rifle or shot gun is carried muzzle down while walking through the woods. The safety catch of the weapon should also be set so that under no circumstances the weapon can discharge itself accidentally.

In addition, when hunters take positions at various spots, care must be taken against mistaking a hunter for an animal. Last week a man killed his nephew by accident thinking he was a deer. The nephew had decided that the other hunters were changing positions and he walked towards the spot where his uncle was. The uncle fired and killed the young man instantly. These accidents should never happen, officers of the league tell the members. A hunter must make certain before firing that it is an animal at which he is aiming. The color of clothing is sometimes blamed for the mistake, but hunters can easily wear a white cap or some other striking colored article of clothing to enable other hunters to distinguish them from animals.

The street car conductor had asked Willie's mother how old he was to be sure he was entitled to a ride free.

"Three and a half," said the mother.
"And mama's thirty-one," added Willie politely.

By Wilfrid Eggleston

INTEREST ON LOANS, MORTGAGES AND BANK DEPOSITS LOWER . . . CONSERVATIVE PARTY TO ORGANIZE . . . B.N.A. ACT UNDER SCRUTINY

Ottawa, October 16.—There is quite a drive on foot to get interest rates down to much lower levels: indeed, a good deal has been accomplished. Like all developments in this complex economic world of ours, one man's meat is another man's poison, but for the most part the farmer, the worker and the householder will benefit from the movement.

This re-funding loan, for instance, was issued at rates lower than any since before the war. Bonds which were formerly costing the federal treasury 5½ per cent have been exchanged in large volume for others which will only cost from three to a little over four per cent. Premier Bennett estimated that the country would save $5,000,000 a year as the result of the loan. Five million less needed to be raised in taxes to meet the interest on the national debt.

Earlier conversions have saved $9,000,000 a year. Unfortunately, as the interest rate has been cut, the amount of borrowing has increased, the one cancelling the other. Cheaper money has at least had this effect: that the per capita interest charge which you and I have to pay to meet the interest on the national debt isn't any higher than it was before the depression started. Perhaps that's small comfort, because most of us have less to pay with it.

Farm Mortgages Down?

Now the government has authorized the purchase of federal farm loan bonds at 4 per cent, instead of five. Just what this will mean has yet to be cleared up, but it might mean that the Farm Loan board is prepared to let out money at 5½ per cent. This would be a good deal better than the rate on most private mortgages. One insurance company has come out with an announcement that on select city mortgages it will loan money for as little as 5½ per cent. The legislation last session, you remember, provided a penalty for mortgages at more than seven per cent: the contract could be broken on submission of the principle plus three months' interest, plus any accumulated interest.

The latest is that the banks will only pay two per cent on savings deposits beginning on November 1st.

Revising the Constitution

Ottawa is beginning to look forward to three early developments: the return of Premier Bennett from Europe, the meeting of the Stevens royal commission, and the holding of the conference between the provinces and the Dominion over the British North America Act.

One of Mr. Bennett's first activities will concern his own party. They are casting about for a Dominion organizer to pick up where General McRae left off. Dr. Manion is sometimes mentioned, and now they are talking of Col. George Drew.

The Stevens commission is to sit about the end of the month. They say October 29th. Textiles are being investigated in a superficial kind of way. A thorough investigation would take many months and cost a lot of money. There have been requests for inquiries into gasoline prices and into the cost of coal, but they will probably not be included, for want of time. As it is there are 4000 pages of evidence and several bushels of exhibits.

The big thing, from a historic view, will be the meeting of the provinces and the Dominion over the British North America Act. A couple of years ago, when most of the provinces were of the same political complexion as the central government, more progress might have been possible. As it is there are grave doubts.

It is really remarkable how much progress, though, has been made of recent years in looking at this problem in a practical and realistic way. There used to be a tendency to worship the "Fathers of Confederation" as though they were supermen, and their work not to be even criticised. Now it is pretty generally realized that countries grow, and the constitutional clothes which fitted them when they were crawling around aren't so good when they are entering high school.

Don't forget to register your vote if you plan to vote in the next general election. The system has all changed, and you have to get your name on the list now.

er must make certain before firing that it is an animal at which he is aiming. The color of clothing is sometimes blamed for the mistake, but hunters can easily wear a white cap or some other striking colored article of clothing to enable other hunters to distinguish them from animals.

OLDEST RESIDENT OF WEIR PASSES

Death has again visited the community of Weir and taken from its midst one of the oldest residents, in the person of John Alexander Bates, who passed away at his home on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 13th.

The deceased was in his 86th year and had been in good health and active right up until the early summer months; since then he had been practically confined to his room, where he bore his sufferings with great patience.

He leaves to mourn his loss, besides his wife, one sister Mrs. Sarah A. Beaven, of Ottawa, four daughters and one son, all of whom were present at his bedside and funeral with the exception of Mrs. W. H. Beaven of Calumet; also thirty-one grandchildren and thirty-one great-grandchildren, besides hosts of relatives and friends.

The funeral was conducted on Monday afternoon by Rev. G. W. Phillips, with a short service at the house; from thence the body was borne to Grace Church, Arundel, where the service was held. Interment took place in the cemetery adjoining the Church.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Homer Woods, Henry Williams, Alex. Williams, Edward Beaven, Roy Staniforth, Wilfred Morrison.

Beautiful flowers bore silent tribute to the deceased. Heartfelt sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

LAST TRIBUTE TO MISS ALICE F. MACD. ABBOTT

The funeral of Alice Frances MacDonald Abbott, sister of Dr. Maude E. Abbott, of McGill University, Montreal, took place at Christ Church, St. Andrews East, on Thursday afternoon, October 11th. last. Miss Abbott was the elder grand-daughter of the late Rev. William Abbott, for thirty-four years Rector of that parish. She was long an invalid and had lived quietly for many years at her old family home in St. Andrews, where she was much beloved, as the many floral tributes testified. She died on Tuesday morning, Oct. 9th., at the Ross Memorial Hospital, Montreal, after a short illness.

The beautiful Anglican burial-service was conducted by the Rev. R. S. Booy of St. Andrews, assisted by the Rev. Canon W. P. Garret of Hawkesbury. The pall-bearers were Martin Albright, Jacob DeWitt, Frederick Robertson, Percy Burwash, Ewan Albright and Kenrick Dorion, and the casket was carried by them direct from the Church to the family lot at the rear of the lovely little churchyard adjacent, where only descendants of the original congregation have rights of interment. The Church was crowded with friends from St. Andrews and elsewhere. Among those from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Abbott of Senneville, Que.; Mrs. John Stairs, Mrs. George F. Shaw, Mrs. F. R. England, Mrs. Arthur Fry, Mrs. W. W. Francis, Dr. Helen R. Y. Reid, Miss Hazel Belknap, Miss Edna Graham, Miss Louisa Fair, Mr. and Mrs. Chapin, and Dr. Florence Pipon, of Montreal; Rev. K. N. Brueton, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crookes, of Grenville; Dr. C. E. Higginson, of Hawkesbury; and Miss Mary Lee of Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts.

CHINESE BRIGANDS AND THE BIBLE

A missionary from China gave an address last winter at the headquarters of the B. & F. Bible Society in London, England. In his address he said, "One night two hundred brigands visited our city. They shot down a number of children playing in the streets—an indication that they were not going to have any nonsense. They pillaged one of the temples next door to our house and proclaimed martial law. My wife and I could not do our evening evangelistic work; we could not go out and no one could come to us. So we opened our chapel and invited the brigands in! We started by playing one or two hymn tunes on a small harmonium and a cornet. In came the ruffians and filled the place; and I then opened one of the Gospels and read the story of the Passion and Death of Our Lord. I just took the Word as it is and read it, and then said, 'If you come back to-morrow night, I will read this again.'"

"The following night the same thing happened, and it went on through the week. Every night the place was full of blood-thirsty brigands. Toward the end of the week I ventured to make an appeal. I said, 'If any of you men want to accept this Christ as your personal Saviour, I ask you to make an open confession by kneeling down right out here. Thirteen came with their eyes streaming with tears. These were men who used to murder their enemies. Before they left, I promised to start a Bible Class the following morning.'"

"Next day I found my Bible class waiting for me, each man holding out his money for his Bible! Not only were the lives of those thirteen changed, but many of the other brigands were also brought to Christ."

"They renounced their lawless ways and joined the army of a Christian general. I received a letter from the general recently, mentioning those men by name, and saying that they were all keen Christians. He wrote, 'We now have over four hundred baptized Christians in this army!'"

"We were beholding afresh," says Mr. Patten, "the power of God's Word over the hearts and lives of men."

Viking Game Board Found

Harvard archeologists found an ancient Viking game in Ireland. It was found in a Tenth century lake dwelling. The game consists of a board about nine inches square, perforated with 49 round holes. The center hole is surrounded by a double ring, cut in the wood. This board is set inside an ornately carved frame with two wood handles. Each handle is rounded like a doorknob, one almost twice the size of the other. Christian crosses of a type found on the Isle of Man are also on the game board.

Foods of Ancient Peoples

The inhabitants of Germany in the Iron Age, about 800 B. C., ate ground grains, milk and butter made of hazelnuts, according to Dr. Johannes Gruss of Berlin-Rahnsdorf, who examined recent archeological finds discovered near Muhlbach, Germany. The relics consisted chiefly of the remains of a man and food urns that had been buried with him. The body had been cremated before burial, and an urn containing hazelnut butter was in the fire. This sterilized the contents, and Doctor Gruss found the butter still in good condition, though 2,700 years old. —Literary Digest.

Balsa Is Found Almost

Everywhere in Tropics

Balsa is the lightest and one of the most remarkable of all woods. Balsa is found almost everywhere in the tropics, but most of that used in this country comes from Ecuador. The trees have a rather smooth bark and large broad leaves, and they grow as high as 80 feet. The trunks are from 30 to 36 inches in diameter. Only trees less than five years old are cut, because in them the honeycomb-like cell structure is still thin and very light.

Floating in the water, balsa can support about ten times its own weight. It is four times as light as pine, yet it is half as strong as good spruce.

Balsa was first used commercially about twenty years ago, and was then very expensive. It was widely used during the World War for life rafts, on army transports, and to make supply cases that would keep their contents afloat when dropped into flooded shell holes.

When airplanes began to carry passengers after the war, balsa proved invaluable. It is used on air transports for interior finishing, for furniture and for many other purposes. As it grew cheaper in price, it was adopted for many other uses, such as for interiors of high-speed yachts, for quieting heavy machinery and for soundproof booths in motion picture studios.

Besides all this, it furnishes the material with which thousands of young aviation enthusiasts experiment in model planes.

Vessel Tonnage Is Not

Same as Cargo Tonnage

Vessel tonnage should not be confused with cargo tonnage. A cargo-weight ton is 2,240 pounds, while a cargo-measurement ton is 40 cubic feet. A vessel-measurement ton is 100 cubic feet. The carrying capacity of ships is limited by the amount of measurement space available within their holds, and by the amount of weight they can safely carry. This is called register or dead-weight tonnage, respectively.

The five kinds of vessel tonnage are as follows:

Gross register tonnage—The total enclosed space of a vessel, expressed in measurement tons of 100 cubic feet, including engine room, bunker (fuel) spaces, crew quarters, storeroom spaces, cargo spaces, etc.

Net register tonnage—The total enclosed spaces of a vessel available for cargo and passengers, in measurement tons of 100 cubic feet.

Total deadweight—The number of weight tons of 2,240 pounds, consisting of cargo, fuel, stores, supplies and fresh water for the boilers, etc., required to put a vessel down to her marks, her maximum load-line.

Deadweight cargo capacity—The number of weight tons of 2,240 pounds, which a vessel can carry as cargo after deducting the weight of fuel, stores, supplies, and fresh water required for the boilers, etc.

Displacement tonnage—The equivalent of the weight of the water displaced by a vessel fully loaded and ready for sea; it is the largest tonnage dimension of a ship, but is not commercially important.

BIRTH

DOIG—At the Royal Columbian Hospital, New Westminster, B.C., on Sept. 26, 1934, to Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Doig, a son.

THERE IS NOTHING NEW

I have been reading Arnold Bennett's delightful Journals, and in them he tells of riding on the top of a London omnibus in 1899. He could not get an inside seat and a gale and driving rain came up. The driver said nothing as they drove on mile after mile, then he suddenly joined in the conversation with, 'I've driven these roads for eight and twenty years, and the only pal I've found is Col Liver Oil. From September to March I takes it, and I never has rheumatism and I never has colds nor nothing o' that sort. It give it to my children ever since they was born, and now I'm blest if they don't cry for it.' We think we are very modern when we give our children Cod Liver Oil to prevent them from getting colds and yet the old London omnibus driver was doing that same thing thirty-five years ago with good results.

PROTEIDS

A reader has asked about proteids. As there may be others who might like to know a little more about them, I will answer that question in this column. First, as to where we find them. Proteids are to be found in meat, fish, eggs, milk, cheese, nuts, legumes (peas, beans and lentils), and in smaller quantities in cereals. Our bodies cannot use the proteids that are obtained from nuts and other vegetable sources as fully as those from animal sources so for that reason animal proteids are more valuable. Now as to the uses of proteids. Food is required to supply heat and energy and also to provide growth and replace waste tissue. Proteids are the only foods that can maintain growth or replace waste tissue. They can also provide heat and energy but as they are more expensive it is wise to supply heat and energy from carbohydrates (starches and sugars) and fats, and save the proteids for the purpose of growth. Children require a relatively larger quantity of proteids than adults do in order that they may grow properly, so it is well to see that they are having meat, fish, eggs, milk, cheese or nuts each day. Needless to say they do not require all of these but at least one of them in addition to milk should be used each day. Older children may have a part of the proteid supplied by such foods as cheese or peanut butter. Each child should have from 1 pint to a quart of milk each day—most authorities think that they should have a quart.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Oct. 21st., is "Doctrine of Atonement."

The Golden Text is: "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto but to minister and to give his life a ransom for many." (Mark 10: 45).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world

A CHANGE FROM SANDWICHES

Entertaining starts again in the Autumn and some of us make so many sandwiches in the summer that we like to have something else by way of a change for our teas. Sometimes I make weeny little cream puffs and fill them with a salad mixture. Chicken or lobster salad seem to taste specially good and whenever I serve them my friends certainly appear to enjoy them. Cream puffs are really not difficult to make. Here is the recipe.

1/2 cup butter
1 cup boiling water
4 eggs
1 cup water

Add the butter to the hot water and bring to the boiling point. Just as soon as it starts to boil, add the flour all at once and stir until the mixture leaves the sides of the saucepan. Remove from the fire and add the eggs one at a time, beating after each addition. Drop by spoonfuls on a buttered pan, making them as circular as possible and piling the mixture slightly in the centre. If I wish to fill them with a salad mixture I make them quite small and use a teaspoon, but for other purposes I make them larger and use a larger spoon. Bake in a fairly hot oven of 450 degrees for 15 minutes, then lower the heat to 350 degrees and bake for 25 minutes. Make a small slit in one of the natural creases and fill shortly before using. If the cream puffs are taken out of the oven before being sufficiently cooked they will fall, so it is wise to test them by removing one before taking the remainder out of the oven.

Fill with lobster, tuna, crab or chicken moistened with salad dressing. Any of the fish mixtures will be improved with a dash of lemon juice.

CHOCOLATE CUSTARD

1 square chocolate
2 cups milk
Speck salt
2 eggs
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Cut chocolate in pieces, add milk and heat gently until the chocolate is melted. Stir until well blended. Beat the eggs slightly, add sugar, salt and vanilla. Pour the chocolate mixture over this slowly while stirring and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Pour into 4 custard cups. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven of 325 degrees for 40 minutes or until a knife comes out clean. Chill.

to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved." (John 3: 16, 17) "That God's wrath should be vented upon His beloved Son, is divinely unnatural. Such a theory is man-made. The atonement is a hard problem in theology, but its scientific explanation is, that suffering is an error of sinful sense which Truth destroys, and that eventually both sin and suffering will fall at the feet of everlasting love." (Science and Health page 23).

WATCH OUT—IT'S AN EPIDEMIC

"HOOKING THE UNWARY" (Granby Leader)

In spite of the many warnings published with a view to protecting the public from smooth-talking strangers with wonderful ideas to sell, there is something put over nearly all the time.

Recently a number of merchants were approached with what was to be a wonderful advertising stunt and several of them fell for the idea which was to give valuable samples. The promoter would sell books containing coupons which would entitle the holder to certain sample privileges. The number of books would be limited, would sell for a certain price which price would be the only fee collected by the promoter.—He must have talked well.

Now these merchants find that there is a regular flood of these books out and some of the advertisers are very busy—working for nothing.

The books were evidently printed in some back room, as no printer could make a job look so bad. The spelling and wording is no more of an advertisement.

Here are some of the gems taken at random:

"This pay for one . . ." (all the coupons start with these words); "Please accept all coupons for which I will pay you"; "Thirsty . . . try it"; "Road and Shockel Bolts"; "This pay service not include"; ". . . for one break adjustments."

The promoter must have had a good laugh when he included these: "Why do you work so hard for a so small amount" and "The firms represented herein will appreciate very much the use of these coupons".

The local firms report that they are unable to find the promoter, who is not known at the address he left with them, and they are advertising a notice to the effect that they will not honor the coupons, and warning people not to buy the books.

Another group in town are beginning to worry about the money they have paid out for an advertising scheme. It is certainly a risky business paying out money in advance to strangers for an advertising scheme which is really sight unseen until delivered.

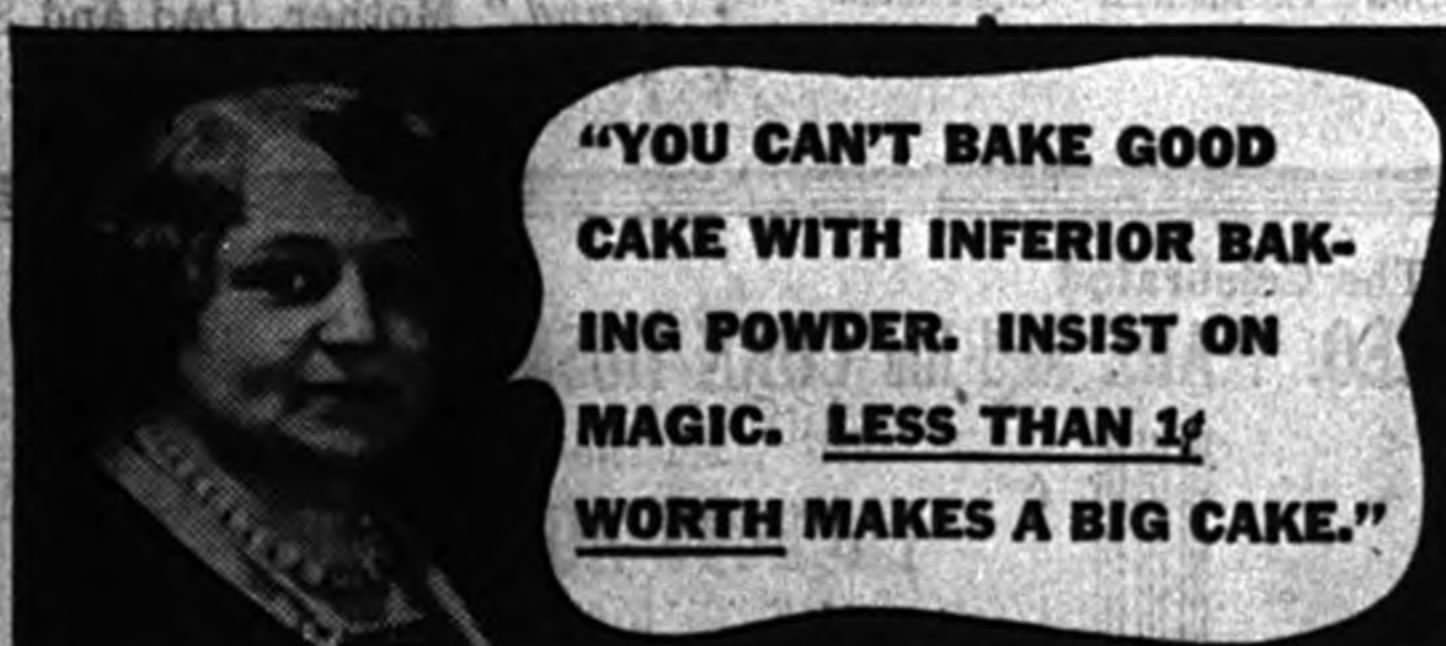

Arctic Patrol

There is no more romantic force in the world than the Canadian Mounted police, at one time known as the North-West Mounted police. From outposts in the Arctic Islands "The Mounties" patrol the "roof of the North American continent" and carry the king's law to within ten degrees of the pole. In 1874, the force, then composed of 300 men of all ranks, made a demonstration from Red River, Manitoba, 2,000 miles across prairies to the foot of the Rockies. Ever since, the Indians have regarded the red coats as their friends. When a treaty between the Blackfoot Indians and the government was under negotiation, their chief said: "They have guarded us as the feathers guard the birds from the snows of winter. I will sign." The force numbers 2,500 officers and men. They watch the international boundaries to protect revenue and prevent the entrance into Canada of undesirable, and they also do excellent service in keeping a watchful eye on drug smugglers.

EVEN YOUR BEST FRIEND ---

An intangible thing is taste. . . Referring to the reputed taste of chlorine in the course of developments to purify Toronto's water supply—a writer makes the following comment on this most illusive of the human senses:

Taste must be an annoying subject to the true scientist. It can't be recorded in degrees on a thermometer, expressed in a mathematical formula or automatically registered on a machine. If a man rises in the morning to state that he has in his mouth a taste like a motor-man's glove, he alone of all the world knows exactly what he is talking about. Taste is exceedingly tough to classify, in water as in anything else, and it is not possible to prepare neat reports saying that the water has a No. 3 taste on the list or that the taste on a given date has increased 14.8 per cent over the same day of a year ago.

AUSTRALIAN TOBACCO CROP 'WAY OFF

There will be a great reduction in the current tobacco crop of Australia as compared with last season when 13,700,000 pounds was produced. The current crop is estimated at only 1,500,000 pounds of leaf, according to the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways. The present tobacco crop has suffered successively from too much rain, blue mould, dry weather and frost, a combination which greatly lowers the quality as well as reducing the yield. The 1931 boom had the effect of causing a great number of unskilled growers to go into the cultivation of tobacco, which had the result of producing a leaf of unsatisfactory quality at uneconomic cost. Prices have not been satisfactory during the past season and a very large percentage of the total output cannot be disposed of. Australian tobacco manufacturers normally absorb about 4,000,000 pounds of Australian grown tobacco.

CHEMICALS THAT MAKE WATER SAFE

at this point that water treatment became an industry and the filtering and purification of it really a manufacturing process. At the moment, the chief centre of manufacture is on Toronto Island where a filtration plant with a normal capacity of 60 million gallons daily has, since 1918, been in steady operation. Essentially, the processing of water can be most simply described as a series of three operations. First, there is the securing of the raw material. It is pumped through huge steel conduits which stretch out to very carefully-selected spots in Lake Ontario. Steadily-flowing, artificially-operated rivers flood into the filtration plant. Actual manufacture to produce a clear, pure, tasteless product to exact specifications involves filtration with drifting sand and mechanical types of filters, super-chlorination and dechlorination with sulphur dioxide. Processing drinking water is an industry which is really as new as automotive manufacture even though the drinking of water is a performance as old as man. Attempts to purify water also outdate even earlier civilizations, but the present is the machine age for this as well as many other things. Now highly industrialized and highly technical, it is a field where new developments are regularly being recorded, where research is of the greatest importance and where much pioneering work has been done during the last twenty years.

The last of the three operations is, naturally, distribution. With a network of feeder mains, pumping stations and what amounts to individual water routes to practically every home in the metropolis, this system must deliver the product, with its quality the same as when it flowed from the filtration plant and in whatever quantities the householder may desire on the spur of the moment.

Since the modern technique of processing pure water is among the latest developments of science and since the technique changes and advances year by year, the filtration plant laboratory is worth the observation of even a layman who would not know a vacuum pedestal type chlorinating machine from a stock ticker, though it might be added, however, that there are certain similarities in appearance between the two.

Chemical, physical, bacteriological and microscopical examinations of raw, filtered and chlorinated water are among the routine daily duties of the waterworks laboratory. But with scientific control of water advancing with rapidity, laboratories have been continuously busy exploring and investigating, with radical changes in operating policy and reduction in maintenance costs among the numerous results.

Chlorine as a purifier has become so famous that chlorinated water as a safe and sure product in which the harmful germ is largely among those absent, is universally accepted by the general public. From the City Treasurer's point of view, economy of operation is one noteworthy advantage; from the viewpoint of the health officer, the guarantee of safety which it provides. Since those panicky days of 1910, chlorination has, consistently, been the method utilized in Toronto to keep typhoid epidemics outside the city limits, but between the pioneer method of pouring calcium hypochlorite out of a barrel and the present-day system, the chief similarity is that chlorine continues to be the chemical which produces the results. The development of chlorination technique, as it has progressed swiftly through the years, is a matter which engineers can and do study for weeks at a time.

With water, the objective in taste is practically no taste at all. So when, after chlorination, people reported that they tasted chlorine and while granting that it indicated health and safety, added that they did not like it, there was no use stating that it was not, strictly speaking, chlorine taste. The only thing for the water purification expert to do was to establish the cause and remove it.

That, these particular Canadian investigators did in their own case. This taste, as it arose in Toronto and caused householders to telephone the city hall and ask questions, was intermittent and erratic in appearance and intensity. It has been described in more technical works as a medical taste and an iodoform taste. It seemed logical to hold it was likely caused by the action of something else, in the water being processed, upon the chlorine with which it was being treated. It would also be something which normal filtering methods did not remove.

But the only why and the wherefore of Toronto's taste having been demonstrated to the satisfaction of Toronto's water scientists, chemical control came next. By adding chlorine three to four times above normal, then removing the excess by means of a suitable dechlorinating re-agent, after a suitable and exactly-calculated rest period which turned out to be a very vital factor, the taste, in effect, disappeared. The suitable, efficient and economical re-agent for use on vast quantities of water proved to be sulphur dioxide. It is now being used in the island filtration plant at Toronto and facilities are being provided for its application in the huge new plant nearly completed.

That, to sum it up, is super-chlorination and de-chlorination and the chemical reason why Toronto's water, clear and pure, tastes so much less, which means so much better, than it did a few years ago.

OBJECTIVE OF MODERN BUSINESS

Speaking before the opening meeting of the Advertising Club of Hamilton recently, Mr. B. W. Keightley, advertising manager of Canadian Industries Limited, said:

"The function of advertising, today and tomorrow, is to provide work. It is the responsibility of business in general, and sales promotion in particular, to see that every effort is bent toward getting the wheels turning and see that idleness is replaced with active, profitable and interesting occupation."

This is sage advice that should be taken well to heart.

WHERE SOME OF THE OLD BARRELS GO

Possibly you have wondered what becomes of all the old empty barrels. Norway uses a considerable quantity in portable storage of whale oil and whale fats when the various whaling vessels return from the Ross Sea. Other oil refineries, soap, margarine and herring oil factories absorb a considerable portion of the supply, states the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. Cuba also absorbs part of the supply of empty barrels in packing of lard, molasses, beers, rum and alcohol. The greater quantity of the empty barrels imported into Cuba come from the United States with smaller quantities from Canada. It is considered there is a possibility of a market for Canadian second hand whiskey barrels.

Sinister-looking Individual—(significantly): "Is yer 'us-band at 'ome, Ma'am?" Lady (resourcefully): "Well, if he's finished his revolver practice, he'll be playing in the back garden with the bloodhounds. Did you want to see him?"—Humorist.

WORK OR STARVE

(Calgary Daily Herald)

"Work on a farm or starve". This is the latest order of the Minister of Labor in Germany. Able-bodied men in cities who are unemployed and who refuse to go to work on farms will be denied unemployment relief.

Proud Dad—Yes, indeed, but his P.A. still supports him.

Mr. E. J. Craig left on Friday last to spend a few months in Noranda.

Messrs. Douglas Williams and J. MacLean have left to spend a few months at Clova.

Woodpecker Easy to Recognize

The woodpecker is the easiest of all birds to recognize. His habits are peculiar and distinctive. He clings to the side of a tree or pole as if thrown there and stuck. True, other birds—chickadees, crested titmice, nuthatches, and brown creepers, to name a few—climb up and down tree-trunks, but these do it with a pleasing grace wholly unlike the woodpecker's clumsy and awkward movements. And, as most of them are much smaller than the woodpecker, there is little danger of making mistakes in recognition. The nuthatches are possibly the only birds likely to be confused with him; but their peculiar habit of travelling down a tree-trunk head foremost distinguishes them from the woodpecker, who always backs up when moving downward.—Our Dumb Animals.

Typewritten Postage Stamp

The first issue of postage stamps made by Uganda, a British protectorate in Africa, were produced on a typewriter. This was in 1895 and while not old as stamps go they enjoy the distinction of being rather scarce. The letters U G stand for Uganda government and the value is expressed in cowrie shells, which passed as currency in Uganda at the rate of about 12 shells for one penny.

Where Stars Originated

The origin of stars is still a matter of speculation, but numerous theories have been advanced. One of the most recently suggested is that by Jeans, who believes that stars originated in the nebulae, which having assumed a rotating movement gradually assumed the form of an oblate spheroid and eventually separated.

"WHERE QUALITY COUNTS"

Healthy . . . Happy . . . Wise!

COUNT those friends of yours who get a lot of happiness out of living. Health helps them see the bright side of things—smooths over the every-day bumps. They're happy because they're healthy.

Downcast days frequently follow common constipation. It may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet it can be overcome usually by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Special processes of cooking and flavoring make Kellogg's ALL-BRAN more palatable than ordinary bran.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

IMPORTANT!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—because it is all bran with only flavor added, gives you the generous amount of "bulk" needed to promote proper elimination. It is recommended as much more efficient in relieving constipation than part-bran products which cannot contain as much "bulk."

News, Views and Developments in Brownsburg

PROSPECTS OF INCORPORATING . . .
NEW POST OFFICE SITE SELECTED . .
SOCIAL CLUB ACTIVITIES

BUILDING IMPROVEMENTS

Several new dwellings have been completed and others are in course of erection which serve very much to enhance the appearance of Brownsburg, whilst at the same time adding considerably to its civic importance. Around the Anglican Church, which has heretofore been a quiet neighbourhood and almost bleak in its drab environment, three new dwelling houses have sprung up. Further up along the main highway, two other houses have been erected. The added colour and life is an asset of considerable moment.

LIGHTS OUT.

The lower part of the residential quarter and some of the stores were suddenly plunged into darkness on Friday night. It appears an automobile dashed into one of the light standards at the new cutting, demolishing the pole and severing the connections. The occupants of the car had a fortunate escape; so far as could be ascertained no one was injured. The previous night two Lachute cars had a head-on collision at a spot nearer the village, beyond whatever damage was suffered by the cars and the partial demolition of another light standard no injuries have been reported.

INCORPORATION

Citizens of the 'Burg have made a determined move recently to have the village incorporated. The advantage both to the manufacturing companies and the people, of an incorporated village, is of very considerable importance. There are numerous public improvements required in Brownsburg, not the least of which is a decent footway for pedestrians. If anything could be advanced as a reflection on the present haphazard system, it is the accordion pleated highways we have at present, with no sense of proportion and no attempt at unification. The lighting system is a monument of utility ineptitude. Sprawling poles, unsightly standards, straggling wires, maximum glare and minimum illumination. The sanitary conveniences are a throwback to the camp system, a germinating bed for disease. More money has been spent by private owners in installing costly single house equipments than would finance a complete system to take care of the whole population. Under incorporation this diversified overlapping could become centralized and a unified system established, whereby the financial burden would become proportioned and imposed within the means of the people.

NEW POST OFFICE

Assistance towards relief of unemployment has prompted the Government to build a new Government Building worthy of the increasing importance of our little village. Last week an inspector visited the various sites offered for sale and after considerable thought and investigation selected one on the side of the public street answering more fully the necessary requirements than any of the other half a dozen sites offered for sale. The sum of $25,000 or thereabouts has been granted for this work. This includes cost of site and equipment. The primary purpose of

SCHOOL BOARD AND H. S. STAFF IN ATTENDANCE

The new school building at Thomas' Gore was the scene of a gratifying event in the opening exercises of the school held on the 11th. inst. Parents of the scholars and residents of the community gathered to witness the prize distribution, together with members of the Consolidated School Board and the High School Staff. Principal C. L. Hall occupied the chair, and Miss Ethel Dixon, the teacher, welcomed the visitors in a brief address.

A program of music, dancing and dialogues by the children gave evidence of marked talent, upon which Dr. J. H. Mason, chairman of the Board, congratulated them in a few apt remarks, also expressing appreciation.

AUTO FATALITY NEAR ST. JEROME

ONE KILLED, 5 INJURED IN WEEK-END AUTO COLLISION

The Montreal - Ste. Agathe highway, which is heavily patronized by week-end traffic and dangerous on certain curves and steep hills, was the scene of another automobile crash on Sunday afternoon between St. Jerome and St. Janvier.

Albert Lemieux, an alderman of Laval des Rapids, succumbed to a fractured skull, and five others were severely injured. They were rushed to Montreal hospitals.

Among the victims were Mrs. Lemieux, wife of the dead alderman, Fire Chief Wm. Legrace and Mrs. Legrace, of the same town, and in another car three residents of St. Jerome—Dr. Chas. Contant, dentist, Miss Madeleine Gagnon and Miss Lea Lebeau.

It is understood the automobile driven by Chief Legrace contained Alderman Lemieux, Mrs. Lemieux, and Mrs. Legrace. They were motoring towards St. Jerome. The other car was driven by Dr. Contant. The accident occurred half a mile from St. Janvier, when the driver of one of the cars lost control and the two crashed head-on.

left for New York and Bermuda, the bride travelling in a brown lapin swagger coat worn over a rust woollen dress and beret to match.

TEA MEETING HAD OLD TIME FLAVOR

GENIAL ATMOSPHERE IN CHURCH EVENT

Friends from far and near gathered in the Auditorium last Friday for the annual Tea Meeting of the Margaret Rodgers Presbyterian Church.

Social activity, even in connection with the churches, has "gone modern" in recent years; but the flavor of old-time hospitality was here apparent around the long tables, which extended the length of the Auditorium basement. The Presbyterian ladies also upheld their reputation for splendid catering and the supper was both tasty and bounteous.

A program followed, in the beautifully redecorated hall, where numbers were given by local and visiting artists, all of which were enjoyed by the large audience. The attendance numbered a large turnout, and the proceeds of the affair, amounting to about $125 net, proved gratifying to those ladies and gentlemen who had made this effort in support of their church.

On Monday, a Thank-Offering meeting under auspices of the same organization, the W. M. S. of the Presbyterian Church, was graced by the presence of Miss Cameron, of Montreal, Provincial President of the Women's Missionary Society. A pleasant and well-attended meeting was reported.

REV. J. PURGESS REVISITS ST. ANDREWS

The W. M. S. of the St. Andrews East United Church held their annual Thank-Offering meeting on Sunday evening. The President, Mrs. V. F. Lilly, led in prayer and introduced the speaker, Rev. John Burgess, formerly pastor of the Church for seven years. Miss Mary Hunter read the Scripture, making a few explanatory remarks.

The choir sang an anthem during the offertory, which was taken by C.G.I.T.

NONAGENARIAN HAS FINE RECORD

A. J. FORTIER WAS 45 YEARS TOWN CLERK OF PEMBROKE

A. J. Fortier, town clerk of Pembroke from 1875 to 1920 and holder of several other municipal offices over a long period of time, celebrated his 90th birthday on Monday. Mr. Fortier was a native of Belle Riviere and received much of his early education here in Lachute.

Few municipal officials can equal Mr. Fortier's record. He still holds the office of secretary-treasurer of the Separate School Board of Pembroke, to which he was appointed in 1874, and he only recently relinquished secretarial duties connected with the police court and board of health, which he continued to perform after being superannuated as town clerk 14 years ago. His intellect is keen and his memory excellent, and he is still remarkably vigorous for his years.

Mr. Fortier left these parts to settle in Pembroke in 1860. He was engaged in business for some years, and in 1874 was appointed tax collector, being made clerk the following year. He continued in this office until 1920, when the offices of clerk and treasurer were amalgamated and he was placed on the retired list with a superannuation allowance. He continued to assist the clerk in attendance at council meetings and as secretary of the board of health and police court clerk

MILITARY MANOEUVRES PRACTISED IN CARILLON SECTION

ARGENTEUIL W. I. ACTIVITIES FOR THE MONTH

Chatham branch had a very interesting address on Immigration by the Rev. W. C. LeCras of Lachute. Twelve members and two visitors attended, and one new member joined the ranks. A barn dance was planned, for an early date.

Frontier had a large attendance this month to welcome Mrs. J. S. Giles, who entertained the audience with interesting facts and figures regarding Immigration, in her usual bright, friendly way. A noted Immigrant was named for the roll-call. Ten dollars was voted to The Children's Memorial Hospital.

Jerusalem-Bethany had thirteen members and two visitors, to be entertained with a very interesting paper by Mrs. L. Boa, on "The Origin of Lachute Academy." The Branch subscribed for "Home and Country", also planned helping a poor family. Their roll-call was "My pet aversion".

Lachute had a very large meeting numbering 26 members and 19 visitors to enjoy Principal Hall's address on Education and Better Schools, the title being "Home and School Co-operation". The roll-call was also in line with the subject, being—"What can be done to help the school". A number of books were donated by friends toward the beginning of a library in connection with this branch.

Lakefield reports a very interesting meeting with subjects along several branches of the work, such as Agriculture (a paper being given by Mrs. (Continued on Page 4)

The Watchman files of 50 years ago reveal the fact the Lachute Fair was dismissed in a report comprising one brief paragraph. Montreal and Ottawa papers, also the farm journals, now consider the event worth columns of space every year — which indicates just how local agriculture has advanced during half a century; it shows also what a few energetic committee-men can do, when they get together to "put a thing over big".

ARGENTEUIL GOES ONE BETTER!

Noting the results of the potato competition in Ontario, many Argenteuil farmers looked on with concern, knowing that they could surpass the prize winners.

In communicating with the county paper our Argenteuil farmers, one in particular, Mr. Arthur Dawson of Mille Isles, said that he had potatoes weighing up to 2 lbs. 9 oz., which is a good record, and far better than the prize winners mentioned. These fine potatoes can be seen at the store of John MacKimmie, West End, Lachute.

During his term of office on the School Board, educational facilities have advanced tremendously in Pembroke. It is understood that he is also the only surviving founder of the St. Vincent de Paul Society in Pembroke, which was organized in 1865. He still takes an active interest in its work.

Possessed of a retentive memory, Mr. Fortier can recount many interesting incidents in the development of Pembroke from a backwoods village to a town of over 10,000 population.

The Canadian Officers' Training Corps (McGill Battalion) under the command of Col. Buchanan, spent the week-end in St. Andrews. The Corps arrived in buses Saturday afternoon and were entertained by the W. A. of Christ Church in the basement of the Town Hall, with an excellent supper. They slept in the Town Hall, and in the morning attended the Anglican and Roman Catholic Churches for Church Parade.

The morning was devoted to a sham battle, and at nine thirty the signal section under Lieut. Massey proceeded to the turn in the Carillon Road. They fought a rearguard action against the remainder of the Corps. The defenders fell back slowly along the road, holding up the attack as much as possible until they reached a close board fence where a resolute stand was made. Unfortunately when the defenders were outflanked a rifle section did not receive the order to retire and was captured. The remainder retreated until they reached the late Col. Armstrong's estate. They then turned away from the river and stood off attack for some time until they were surrounded and overpowered, their ammunition exhausted.

Blank cartridges, firecrackers for bombs, machine gun ammunition, and some mines made from tin cans half full of powder set off by time fuses, made the battle very realistic.

At noon, the men fell in and marched back to the Town Hall. After lunch a baseball game was played and at four o'clock the men embarked in the buses for the return journey.

PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. ANDREWS

Parker — Brown

A very pretty wedding took place at the Presbyterian Church, St. Andrews, on Saturday, October 20th., when Elsie Muriel, only daughter of Mr. W. J. Brown, of Centreville, was united in marriage to Mr. Arnold Parker, of Lachute Road.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Alex. Brown, was gowned in white satin made on long fitted lines, with jacket of lace trimmed with white satin and tulle veil arranged in cap effect, and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern. She was attended by Miss Myrtle Hamilton, of St. Andrews East, who was gowned in wine crepe with large white collar and cuffs and hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Allan Parker of Montreal. The ushers were Mr. Gilbert Parker, of Montreal, and Mr. Cecil Graham, of North River.

After the ceremony a dainty repast was served at the home of Mrs. Jas. Parker, to some fifty guests, after which the happy couple left for a motor trip to Quebec, the bride traveling in a blue tweed swagger suit with grey accessories and a silver fox fur, the gift of the groom.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a white gold necklet, to the best man gold cuff links, and to the ushers belt sets. The wedding gifts were both numerous and costly, testifying to the popularity of the young couple around the entire countryside.

SETH PARKER NIGHT MUCH ENJOYED

Imbued with a spirit of true Christian devotion, seventeen members of Wesley United Church, Montreal, paid Lachute a visit and put on a musical treat for the large gathering, which gave practical demonstration that the Christian life was not one of gloom.

The Rev. B. B. Brown, of Wesley Church, spoke briefly of his four years' former pastorate here and the strong ties of friendship that still bound him to Lachute. He told of the good this group of Christian workers are doing in his church and then introduced the players, the curtains being drawn disclosing Seth Parker and his wife in the sitting room of their home awaiting the gathering of some friends who assembled for their weekly song of praise. A few minutes later the friends made their appearance dressed in the old-time attire and received a real welcome.

As Seth said, one thing about singing these old tunes is they make everybody feel as if they were neighbors. "A neighbor is, you know, one who tries to make living a mite more fun for everybody, and when a man gets feeling that way he's pretty sure to catch religion". One thing to remember was that doesn't make much difference if you're a good neighbor it what color the church is painted that the other neighbor goes to. Here the choir sang, "You go to your church and I'll go to mine, but we'll walk down the road together."

The whole evening was devoted to a real uplift as collectively and individually members of the group expressed their message in song. Possessing really fine voices which harmoniously blended, many encores were demanded, and at the close thanks were extended the players by Mr. Chas. Duncan and the Rev. Mr. Rosborough.

Mr. Edward Pelton, of Montreal, was the originator of this organization and the services were given gratuitously, by members recognizing that the proof of the tree is the taste of the apple.

MARRIAGE OF LOCAL INTEREST

Greenwood—Warwick

An event of local interest occurred on Monday in the marriage of Miss Gladys Irene Warwick, daughter of Mr. A. Warwick and the late Mrs. Warwick formerly of Ogdensburg, to Mr. Frank Greenwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Greenwood of Westmount. The wedding was a fashionable one, held in the First Baptist Church of Montreal, where palms and autumn flowers were used as decorations.

The bride wore a gown of sapphire blue transparent velvet with hat and shoes to match and carried a sheaf of Easter lilies. Miss Elsie Beresford, as maid of honor, wore a frock of American beauty velvet with hat and shoes to match. Her bouquet was of Johanna Hill roses. After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. John L. Caverhill. Later Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood

Bill Jones says that black witches Go riding 'round on sticks,
On Hallo'een night—Oh dear me!
Guess I won't try any tricks.
I'll stay right in the house—
I will.
Beside the kitchen fire—
I'll not go out—You bet I won't.
In case I meet a flier.
An old black witch flying close to me,
Oh! the thought makes me afraid.
I know what I'll do—I'll get Some grinning Jack-o-lanterns made.
I'll set them on the verandah
All lighted up and queer,
Then those nasty old black

Just will not dare come near.

IN LEAFLAND

"Don't stay out late tonight, children" had been Mother Hastings' last words to Ted and Maud as she got into the car to go to town with their father.
"What will you bring us from town if we don't?" Ted had teasingly replied.
"A big stick", their father had called back as the car sputtered and sputtered before finally moving out of the door-yard.
"Okay, Dad", Ted had shouted back, "so long as it is made of candy it will be as welcome as the flowers in May". Turning to Maud he said, "Put on a warm coat and let's go for a good long ride on our Maple Tree steeds. We won't have many more before the leaves fall, and it won't be half so much fun when there are no leaves to rattle and swish about as we ride."

"It will be cool riding, Ted, but I'll get my leather coat and wool tam, so that this cold in my head won't get worse. I would not like to have to miss Jean's Hallo'een party."

In a few moments Maud was back, and the two children were mounted on their prancing steeds, which were two large maple boughs which hung near enough to the ground to be easily reached, and were shaped so that they made seats for the children. As they pranced up and down through the air showers of red and yellow leaves came tumbling down on all sides of them. "I don't think that we should shake the leaves off like this", said the girl "they might cling for some time yet, and you know this tree in Autumn is so beautiful. Mother says she just stands and looks at it every morning before she starts her work, and it just seems to give a beautiful touch to the whole day." "Mother is romantic", laughed Ted.

"Romantic, you silly! Mother is just Mother. Of course, if you think that seeing beauty in everything is being romantic, well then, she's romantic all right. But speaking of beautiful things, Ted, look at that cloud; it seems to be just at the back of this tree, and its colors are just wonderful. I wonder where it came from. It was not there when we came to this place." Maud looked fearfully around. "Ted," she said, "where are we?"

Ted, who had been rather busy buttoning his windbreaker all the way up to his throat to keep the merry little breezes from playing tag across his chest, looked about him in wonder. "A few minutes ago I would have said we were at home. Now I am as greatly puzzled as you are. Let's slide off and run for it."

"Oh no, you won't", chuckled a voice underneath them. "The journey is not finished yet. We are just inside the borders of Leafland and must go to the other side before we stop."

"Leafland!" said both children at the same time. "I never have heard of such a country."

"Then you are going to be taught something!" the voice said, "and it is time too. Children who deliberately destroy such perfect leaves should be taught not to shake them from their stems before it is time, and before plans are made ready as to where they will spend the winter."

"Spend the winter?" Ted echoed stupidly, "why, I thought that leaves just rolled anywhere."

"Then you'll have to be trained to think a little deeper," snapped the voice. "Leaves are not just done with forever when they fall. They go on being useful; but we must hurry along". All at once their steeds started prancing so rapidly that the children could scarcely cling to them, yet no leaves seemed to be falling. But there seemed to be leaves everywhere—all kinds of leaves, and the strange part of it was that they looked alive, just like queer little people.

"Hallo'een witches have come early and bewitched us" said Maud in a frightened whisper.

"No whispering please; it is not polite" called the voice which seemed to be coming closer. All at once a queer, looking face with a long pointed beard came popping up from amongst the leaves beneath them, followed by a strangely shaped body—and before they had time to say "Oh!" this little chap was standing in front of them on a small branch.

Lou Holtz' secret ambition was to play the traps. At a

NEW POST OFFICE (Contd.)

the grant is to help to ease the burden of the unemployed during the winter months. Naturally with this object in view the cost of the site became of vital importance to the progress of the Government's work. Some, perhaps more favourable sites were absolutely precluded from consideration owing to the ex-horbitantly high estimate placed on the site by the owner. Prices as high as a dollar per foot were requested. Such ridiculously costly estimates might be applied to land in New York or London or perhaps Montreal, but in an isolated village in the Laurentians the result couldn't be other than "No Sale". The present Post Office has served its purpose; its facilities are now inadequate to keep pace with the trend of the times. Its situation while not so central for the French element was nevertheless the best available at the time of its installation. There are certain drawbacks associated with such an Office facing the main thoroughfare. Until the present system of sorting and delivering can be replaced by the door to door postman, the dangers of accidents to pedestrians by passing vehicles is of very live concern. In the present instance this danger would become increased with the completion of the highway. The new site does not suffer from this drawback and is more centrally situated to serve the whole population of the village.
Work is expected to start at once and we hope to look forward to the completion by next Spring, with much Civic Pride.

IT'S LIVER THAT MAKES YOU FEEL
SO WRETCHEDWake Up Your Liver Bile and Get A New Lease of Life. No
Calomel Is Necessary.

For you to feel healthy and happy, your liver must pour two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels, every day of your life.

Without that bile, trouble starts promptly.
Your food just won't digest the way it should and your bowels are sluggish. Food decays inside you and your entire system is undermined by this poisonous waste matter. You have indigestion—the discomfort of gas, bloating, heartburn and sourness. You are prey to headaches. Have a tongue like cotton-wool, a nasty taste in your mouth, bad breath and ugly skin. You haven't anything like the pep a healthy person should have. In fact you are generally wretched.

How can you expect to clear up a condition like this completely by taking mere bowel-movers like salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum, or roughage? They can't wake up your liver bile!

Avoid calomel (mercury). Buy yourself a box of old reliable Carter's Little Liver Pills. All vegetable, sure, gentle, safe. They'll wake up your liver without upsetting you. Bring back the glad-to-be-alive feeling, once more.

Don't waste your money on substitutes. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name and get them.
Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label,

Saint's Body Found in Wall

Why nuns of the convent of San Salvatore, in Caltagirone, Sicily, held a mysterious festival every August for 130 years has been revealed by workmen. Each year the church was illuminated and people all over the countryside heard merry bells, but the nuns never divulged the reason for their rejoicing. A chance blow of the workers' pickaxes opened a space in the wall in which was the body of the Roman virgin Gaudenzia who was tortured and martyred during the persecution of the Christians 1,400 years ago. A short time before the French revolution the body of Saint Gaudenzia was taken from Italy to the church. Fearing revolutionists would desecrate the body it was hidden in the walls and the hiding place kept secret. It was in a perfect state of preservation when found.—Montreal

CHILDREN'S DAY SER-VICE AT GRENVILLE

Children's Day was celebrated in St. Matthew's Church on Sunday last. The Sunday School attended Morning Prayer in a body and a Sunday School Choir, under the direction of Miss Kathleen Bradshaw, led the singing. Two small boys, Master Edgar Dawson and Master Oliver Kirkwood, acted as sidesmen. The Rector spoke to the children upon Gideon, a Soldier and Servant of the Lord.

On Saturday the annual Children's Party will be held.

The day was also suitably observed at Rawcliffe, and Trinity Church Calumet. At the latter place special Children's Hymns were sung by the Sunday School under the direction of Mrs. F. Dakin.

SAVE MONEY by buying a new Chevrolet now? Yes...
and in five different ways!

First: Chevrolet offers the lowest prices in Canada. It costs less to own this car from the very outset.

Second: Time-payment prices are lower now than ever—thanks to new, low GMAC rates.

Third: We can allow more in trade for your present car —because we have a waiting market for good used automobiles.

Fourth: Your new Chevrolet will cost you less to run than any other car. Less for gasoline—less for upkeep—as long as you drive it!

Fifth: Chevrolet offers you the five most-talked-about features of the year. You get more for your money in a 1934 Chevrolet!

And think of the time, trouble and worry you'll save—driving a new, safe car with new tires, new brakes, new battery, safety glass, dead-true steering and lots of "pick-up"!

BEGGING BANNED IN CHINESE CITY

In an attempt to end beggary in Tientsin and to rid the streets of all mendicants, the Chinese police have received orders to arrest all beggars on sight. On the day following receipt of the order 450 beggars were arrested. All arrested beggars have been installed in a large workhouse where shelter, food and some clothing are to be provided, and where they will be taught some trade.

PROSPECTS IN PAVING BLOCK TRADE

Deprived of their normal market for some years through slackness in construction work, pavement block cutters in the Gananoque and Escott districts of Ontario are encouraged through interest being displayed in their stocks of granite blocks by representatives of a Montreal firm which anticipates the placing of a large order. It is estimated that half a million blocks have been accumulated near Gananoque and another half a million in the Escott section.

CONTRACTOR LOSES FOR MISALCULATION IN TENDERING

A misplaced decimal point resulted in loss to a Montreal contractor, when a judgment was handed down by Mr. Justice Philippe Demers in Superior Court dismissing his claim for $6,232 which, he alleged, was due him, but which he did not collect because of a misplaced decimal point.

The contractor, Joseph Loranger, took action against the Corporation of the Village of Chambly Canton and explained to the court that in 1929 the corporation called for bids for construction work on sewers of the municipality. The bids were to be made in lump sum, and he tendered a bid for the work at $51,398. But by an error due to an elusive decimal point, he found out that he had bid on one item in his lump sum tender for 91 manholes — 277 linear yards at $25, for $692.50—when the total should have been $6,925.

In rendering judgment refusing to do so, His Lordship held that in accepting the bid the town could not be held to verify any possible error on the part of the bidder.

APARTMENT HOUSE FOR FAMOUS ST. PAUL'S CHURCHYARD

Seemingly the push West of many business houses from the City of London proper, which has been apparent for some time, is to be supplemented by a corresponding inclination for the establishment of places of residence within the city's "one square mile."

Recently a large store moved out of the famous St. Paul's Churchyard. The premises so vacated are to be converted into residential flats. Busy as it is in the working hours St. Paul's Churchyard assumes a truly cathedral-like charm towards evening, when the city workers have betaken themselves to the suburbs. Flat-dwellers in this quarter therefore, may reasonably hope to sleep well of nights, undisturbed by the passing of much traffic.

NAVIGABLE WATERS PROTECTION ACT, R.S.C., CHAPTER 140.

The Shawinigan Water & Power Company, hereby gives notice that it has, in accordance with the said act, deposited with the Minister of Public Affairs at Ottawa, and in the office of the Registrar of Deeds for the Counties of Laval and Two-Mountains, a description of the site and the plans of an overhead transmission line to be built over the Millelles (or Jesus) River, in the parishes of Ste. Rose and St. Eustache, situate in the respective counties of Laval and Two-Mountains, and take notice that after the expiration of one month from the date of the first publication of this notice, the Shawinigan Water & Power Company will, under the act cited above, apply to the Minister of Public Works, at his office, in the City of Ottawa, for approval of the said site and plans and for leave to construct the said overhead transmission line.

SARNIA WANTS SHARE OF MOTOR AND GAS TAX

Sarnia, (Ont.) City Council has passed a resolution in favor of a recommendation by the Ottawa Board of Control, urging the Ontario Government to pass legislation enabling municipalities to receive a share of revenue from motor registration fees and gasoline tax.

The text of the Board's resolution sets out that the City of Ottawa has incurred heavy outlay in building roads, improving streets, and keeping streets open in winter and this expenditure is a heavy drain on the civic finances.

CORPORATION SUPERVISES 1,763 FARMS

This year, the fifth in the company's active operation, the colonization Finance Corporation reports it has 1,763 farms under its supervision in the Prairie Provinces. Beginning in 1930 with 25,000 acres under the supervision of two farm managers the organization has now a field staff of fifteen farm managers and assistants, covering all of Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan. They have under their supervision, 1,763 farms, covering 602,382 acres. About 70 per cent. of these, it was explained by a company representative, are occupied and operated by their farmer owners, the interests of the member companies being represented by mortgage or an agreement of sale.

A VISIT WORTHWHILE

Few persons in this province, apart from those living in the immediate district, realize what Quebec has to offer in the way of a zoological garden, states the new Canadian journal, "Protection".

And so, when you are in Quebec City, be sure and place Charlesbourg on your itinerary if you want to spend a pleasant day. For it is at Charlesbourg that the Quebec Zoological Garden is located and during the last two or three years the authorities in charge have made it what may rightly be called a "show place" in the province. The collection of animals has improved remarkably and the "births in captivity" have served nobly to add to the attractions there. Quebec Zoological Society, of which Mr. Charles Fremont, K.C., is president, has rendered yeoman service in the promotion of this feature, and the Provincial authorities are to be congratulated for their assistance. It looks as though the Garden, as it is best known, will record a bumper list of visitors this fall and is a great favorite with the children. The Garden today stands as a great educational factor and is closely linked with the work of the Association from the standpoint of wild-life conservation. The program is so valuable that it is hoped that before long similar gardens will be established.

vention of the Good Roads Association, said: "The day has gone by when the question was, 'Can we afford winter roads?'... The question now is, 'Can we afford not to have winter roads?'"

Quebec is as antiquated on the question of winter roads as they are on the question of unlighted vehicles.

Quebec is the only province asking a high price from the already overtaxed motorists to keep the roads open. In Ontario they have found the extra revenue from gasoline taxes more than pays for the maintaining of the roads. In an effort to further discourage winter roads our Government has raised the price from $100 a mile to $125 a mile for their maintenance. Although the Government is now collecting higher taxes from the motorists than any other province it apparently will not spend a cent to enable the automobile owner to drive his car or truck for the whole of the year. There is nothing fair whatever in this. If the roads are not kept open the motorists should have a pro rata rebate on their license fees and if the municipalities pay for keeping the roads open they should receive at least half the gasoline tax collected in the winter months.

QUEBEC IS PAID BIG SUM BY AUTOISTS

Provincial Treasury Enriched by $10,044,671 From Registrations and Gas Tax

Revenue derived by Canada's nine provinces from various imports on automobiles last year showed Ontario collecting $20,493,342 from registration and gas tax, with Quebec, the next highest province, drawing $10,044,671 into the provincial treasury, according to figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Ontario's revenue constituted 43 per cent of the total for the Dominion, which was $47,044,157.

From 1928 until 1933, the last year for which statistics are presently available, registrations enriched provincial treasuries by $123,069,603, or an average for the six years of $20,511,600 per annum. In the same period the provinces collected $130,041,466 in gasoline tax, or an annual average of $21,673,577.

In all of the provinces the revenue from registration in past six years has remained fairly constant. With the exception of Saskatchewan, however, which last year dropped about $10,000, gas revenues have soared.

Ontario in 1933 collected $12,852,577, or 178 per cent. more than in 1928. Quebec's gas revenue was $4,952,764 compared with $2,774,401 six years ago; British Columbia's figure for 1933 was $2,023,403 as against $892,141 in 1928. Alberta increased by about 41 per cent. to $1,739,240; Manitoba by 95 per cent. to $1,643,100.

New Brunswick registered the largest percentage increase, her gas revenues bringing in $865,790 in 1933 or 266 per cent. more than in 1928. Nova Scotia's collection was $933,571 against $561,024, while Prince Edward Island took in $166,831 compared with $89,189 in 1928.

WHO LAUGHS LAST—

American money is being discounted and in many cases refused over the counters of Canadian stores, while in every quarter people are slyly "unloading" their U. S. currency.

The inconvenience of this state of affairs is more than outweighed by the pardonable gratification which comes to Canadians—for we were truly incensed when, a brief year or two ago, our money tendered to American tradesmen drew disdain, and in many instances undisguised insult, to Canadians.—So much so that it was the talk of every tourist visiting across the border.

We are not vindictive, but we appreciate a good smile. And if the old adage applies to the case, the last chuckle may yet prove the longest.

IS IT GOING TO RAIN?

Men may slander or applaud—but the weather is always with us. Its benign influence is bespoken for the crops; its ravages on the health of mankind are duly deplored; but one ignores the inestimable value of the weather from social viewpoints.

It may be wet or fine, cold or hot, but it is invariably the first topic of human discourse. Men resort unflinchingly to the weather as the means of expressing friendliness one to another. It is the keynote to commercial compacts and an introduction to the shy advances of romance—which, although trivial by contrast, may be fraught with consequences more serious than a weighty business venture.

In the land of the Mohammedans the weather is never mentioned, under penalty of heavenly disfavor—for the Mohammedans fear to criticize the dispensations of Allah. In our own customs, however, there is no such forbearance. The weather is grand, or swell, or dandy; it is miserable, or ornery, or a plain mess—but, on the whole, we consider it is a real social asset.

POLITICS AND PROFESSIONS

An interesting item for consideration of parliament in its next session will be a petition by the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada. Full freedom for civil servants to participate in politics, even to the extent of being candidates in the federal, provincial or municipal arenas, through leave of absence without pay, will be sought in a request by the association.

A case bearing certain similarity is reported from the Regina School Board, which decided just recently, on the casting vote of its chairman, not to grant a year's leave of absence to a petitioner in order that he might take the full time job of provincial leader of his political party. The incident may now become an issue in the municipal elections.

A UTOPIAN TOWNSHIP

Richard Township, in Lennox and Addington County, has an enviable record. From a tax roll of approximately $38,000, less than $700 is in arrears, and for the current taxes due December 1, about 15 per cent has already been paid, the taxpayer being granted a prepayment discount. The Township is entirely free of indebtedness; during the depression years no funds have been borrowed, and no debenture debt is owing. In addition, its assets include $17,500 in Dominion of Canada Bonds, the interest being used for school maintenance.

Rex Theatre's end-of-the-week program affords another treat for movie lovers. "This Side of Heaven" portrays the experience of an every-day family, with Lionel Barrymore in a masterly role.

Racial Considerations Will Obstruct Amendments to Constitution.

Provinces and Natural Resources. Conservatives Want Publicity.

Ottawa, October 23.—Among the important events listed for this fall is the conference between the provinces and the federal government on the amendment of our constitution. It would be worth a lot more attention than it has received so far, were it not for the fact that the prospect of it getting very far is not, unfortunately, very bright. It is always difficult for a government in its last days to accomplish a major step of this nature, and what makes it the more difficult in this instance, the recent provincial elections have gone to parties in opposition to the government at Ottawa. If anything further were needed, the racial and religious cry has now been sounded in Quebec, and one of the leading Liberals has pledged himself to hold out against any change of the constitution which might be construed as affecting the minority rights of the people of Quebec. On the eve of an election it would be a simple matter to picture Mr. Bennett as seeking under the guise of amendments to the constitution some way of diddling the French Canadians out of their pledged rights, and it is a foregone conclusion that once this cry has been raised, it will be impossible to give it the fair and reasonable discussion which so important a matter deserves.

Rather a Pity

All true lovers of peace and progress in Canada will deplore this tendency to make a bitter political issue out of the situation. The events of the past few years have shown the desirability of some fairly drastic amendments to the constitution, so as to enable dominion and provinces to co-operate toward better times and a higher standard of social and economic legislation. The revelations of the Stevens probe show how easily the exploiters of labor can at present escape penalty under the present system, and there is widespread demand for unemployment insurance and other social legislation, which can hardly be successfully introduced without some amendment of the constitution.

Poultry Producers in Pool

Primary producers in Canada appear to be taking the Natural Products Marketing Act seriously. The latest to enter the fold are the poultry producers of the three prairie provinces. We are told that as a result of the approval of the scheme every producer and distributor of poultry products in the three provinces may be registered, and the market production closely regulated.

Alberta Wants Compensation

Following the example set by Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the province of Alberta is asking for compensation for the administration of their natural resources between the year 1905, when the province was formed, and 1930, the year the natural resources were returned to them. The gist of their case, which is being heard at Ottawa by a royal commission, is that the lands, forest and mines of the province were either given away or otherwise disposed of at prices below their true value, and that as a result when the province came into possession of its resources there wasn't an awful lot left. They would now like the federal government to come through with a substantial payment as compensation. It would be sub judice to say what the commission is likely to do, but I thought Mr. Justice Tweedie of Calgary summed up the case rather neatly when he said: "As I understand your case (the province's) it is difficult to say what you would have done with your resources when you never had any chance to do it." Manitoba got a tidy sum out of the federal treasury on similar grounds, but the situation there was rather different. Manitoba joined the Confederation back in 1870, and the accounting covered the subsequent period.

Mr. Bennett's Tasks

The prime minister returns from Europe to find plenty of work, as usual. Besides the duties which are involved in the premiership of the country, the Conservative party, of which he is the head, are clamoring for action. They want a lot of organization and publicity work done on behalf of the party as soon as possible, having in mind the fact that inside of a year there may be a general election.

G. W. Kuhring on "Winter Care of House Plants", Current Events, also including a paper by Mrs. Kuhring on Canadianization and National Events. Plans were made to help a poor mother in the interests of "Child Welfare". Home Economics had its part in the giving of a paper on "Storing and Care of Winter Vegetables," also in the serving of a dinner to attendants at the local Plowing Match. Eight members were present to answer the roll-call by giving a favorite Bible verse.

Pioneer had a talk on Tuberculosis by Miss Larose, R.N., of the County Health Unit.

Morin Heights had eleven members and seven visitors at their meeting which was also a reception for the teachers. The president welcomed them and a gracious response was given by Mr. Brownlee, the Principal, who thanked the Branch for their kind interest in the school and for donations of school prizes. Two new members were welcomed to the ranks; current events were read and discussed.

The roll-call was "What one may do in the garden this month." Mrs. Kuhring, County President reviewed the minutes of the Board Session at Macdonald College and general work of the County as Prov. Convenor of Education and Better Schools, reading and discussing her outline, favoring also with an interesting address on the Pickwick Papers by Charles Dickens. This Branch is mourning the loss of a beloved and faithful member, their late secretary, Mrs. Thomas McCullough, formerly Miss Ailsa Seale. During the years she had acted as secretary, she had never missed a meeting nor a County Executive Meeting, although the distance to those meetings held at Lachute was twenty-five miles. Her memory, and the memory of her faithful work will live on in this Branch.

Upper Lachute-East End held their meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Wason, having three visitors and sixteen members to enjoy Mrs. Kuhring's interesting address on Canadianization. Mrs. Thos. Hume took the latter part of the subject and gave a wonderful account of National Events. Fruit was sent to a sick member and money donated toward prizes for the Consolidated School at Lachute.

THE LATE CHAS VARY OF DALESVILLE

There passed away at Dalesville, Que., in the early hours of Sunday morning, Oct. 7th., Charles Lockhart Vary, son of the late Charles Vary and Amelia Williams, in his 78th. year.

The deceased had been in failing health for the past seven years. Born in Glengarry, he later moved to Louisa with his parents, where his boyhood days were spent. In the year 1886 he was married to Mary Jane Graham, who survives him.

He leaves to mourn his loss, besides a loving wife, two sisters, Emily and Mary of Brownsburg, and one brother, Alex. of Pine Hill.

The funeral was held from his late residence on Tuesday, Oct. 9th., at 2 p.m., conducted by the Rev. E. G. Baxter, and was largely attended.

LAKEFIELD COUPLE ARE MARRIED IN MONTREAL

Dawson — Sheritt

On Saturday afternoon, Oct. 20th., at St. Stephen's Church, Weredale Park, Montreal, a quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized between two of Lakefield's most popular folk.

The bride, Miss Mildred Sheritt looked charming in a navy blue travelling suit with accessories to match and fox fur. She was attended by Miss Kinsack, of Montreal, and her brother, Mr. Wilbert Sheritt gave the bride in marriage, and also was best man to the bridegroom, Mr. Lorne Dawson. The Rev. Allan E. Mount officiated. The magnificent harvest decorations of this beautiful church made an appropriate setting for the ceremony.

The happy couple left for an extended motor trip, and on their return will reside in Lakefield. All the community unites in congratulations, and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Dawson for many years of health, happiness and prosperity.

SIR GEORGE PERLEY APPLAUDS PEACE EFFORTS

Addressed National Council of Women

Sir George Perley, while acting Prime Minister, addressed the National Council of Women in Ottawa recently, calling upon them to "Stand fast! Keep up your work for peace and disarmament."
"I ask you ladies—I implore you—to go on working for this much desired objective, disarmament," said Sir George who has represented Canada repeatedly at international conferences abroad. Referring to shadow of a great misfortune in the loss of the King of Yugoslavia, he described the late King Alexander as a ruler who was far ahead of his times.

OTTAWA CITIZEN PAYS TRIBUTE

Commenting on Sir George's part in the gathering mentioned above, the Ottawa Citizen pays him a timely tribute in the following words:

Statesmen like Sir George Perley with a lifetime of experience are able to view the world situation with more patience. They have discovered that the millennium cannot be ushered in overnight. Looking back over the road travelled, they can perhaps see a steady gain where milestones have been passed, but the gain has generally been so gradual that it is perceived by comparatively few.

The conventional view is that it is for younger men to press forward toward the scaling of new peaks. In justice to some of the elder statesmen, however, it should be remembered even though they are less adventurous, in this age they are offering no insuperable opposition to forward movement.

Events are driving the world forward at an accelerating pace, irrespective of the desire of people in authority to move with gradualness. Even this Conservative administration at Ottawa has lately been described as socialistic. Without putting Sir George Perley in this class, he does deserve to be honored as a Canadian leader. With the return of Premier Bennett from overseas, Sir George will today step down from the position of acting prime minister which he has again occupied so admirably.

SUCCESSFUL EUCHRE

The Euchre in aid of Lachute Catholic Cemetery, held Tuesday evening in the Auditorium, was pronounced a great success. A large number attended and enjoyed a social evening and card playing. To Messrs. Cyprien Durocher and Godfrey Delorme, prime organizers of the event, much credit is due. The committee wish to thank, in turn, all who assisted toward the success of the event, either in contribution of prizes, cash donations, or in labors devoted to the effort.

The W. M. S. of the United Church held their Thank-Offering Service on Saturday, Miss McKenzie of the Church of All Nations giving a most impressive discourse on the work of the society. . . . On Sunday evening, for a similar gathering at the Pointe Claire United Church, Rev. W. B. Rosborough exchanged pulpits with their minister, Rev. Albt. Hinton, who conducted the evening service here and preached most acceptably.

Mr. Robt. McArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Walker McArthur, accompanied by Miss D. Young, motored to Smith's Falls over the week-end—the latter returning home after a visit with friends here in town.

Misses May and Edith Parker, and Messrs. Allan and Gilbert Parker, of Montreal, were the guests of Mrs. J. D. Campbell, over the week-end. They attended the Parker-Brown wedding which took place on Saturday last.

—Take advantage of the C. P. R. excursion to Ottawa, Oct. 27th., to visit your friends at the Capital for the week-end. For particulars and tickets, see J. S. Giles, Lachute, or C.P.R. Station Agent.

In reference to a report of the recent district Scout Rally and the reason for Grenville Troop having failed to attend, we are notified by the Scout-master, Rev. K. N. Brueton, that this troop received no invitation or details as to time and place of the gathering.

One of the most amusing comedies ever presented by the St. Simeon's Players—"Take My Advice"—All their most popular players in humorous and dramatic characterisations. Jud, the town loafer, who has discovered the secret of how to live without working. Jimmy, the optimistic salesman full of "slogans." Bob, the local editor and his pretty fiancée. Mrs. Nelson Dodd of the Uplift Society—three husbands and still hoping!!! These with other members of the cast help to make an evening of continued enjoyment. (See Coming Events).

Last Sunday a new circle of the Daughters of Isabelle was established in Lachute. Mrs. A. Dupont of Verdun, State Regent, accompanied by a large number of visitors from the city belonging to the Montreal Jeanne d'Arc Circle, were in attendance and initiated 91 new members. Mrs. E. Lacasse was appointed as new Regent; Mrs. Dr. Sauve, Vice-Regent; Financial Secretary, Miss C. Valois; Cor. Secretary, Miss G. Dumais, Sec.-Treas., Miss M. Joly.

A concert by Montreal artists, in which Mrs. F. K. Hind took part, and a banquet in the Auditorium, completed a very pleasing and notable occasion.

LATE JAS. J. STEWART LAID TO REST

At a largely attended funeral at the United Church, Brownsburg, last Friday, friends, neighbors and relatives assembled to pay their tribute of respect to the late James Joseph Stewart. Mr. Stewart was in his 49th. year, and although he had been in failing health for over a year, death came rather unexpectedly last Wednesday at the Royal Victoria Hospital, where he had been taken for medical care.

Mr. Stewart was born at Mount Maple where he spent best part of his life engaged in farming. His wife was formerly Miss Annie McCullough, of Lost River, who survives to mourn his loss, together with five children, Beryl, Phyllis, Lorne, Sidney and Murray, all at home. His mother, Mrs. Joseph Stewart of Brownsburg, also remains, with five sisters, Mrs. Matthew Jones, of Lachute; Mrs. Robert Greeley, of Brownsburg; Mrs. Ernest Thornhill and Miss Helen Stewart of Montreal, and Mrs. C. Randall, of Massachusetts, and two brothers, Mr. Jack Stewart of Staynerville, Mr. Walter Stewart of Brownsburg.

The two latter were pallbearers, together with Mr. Matthew Jones, Mr. Walter Gunn, Mr. Willie Bigelow and Mr. Wm. McCullough. Rev. A. E. Hagar conducted the funeral service and interment was made at Ogdensburg Cemetery.

CHILDREN'S SERVICE AT ST. SIMEON'S

Children's Day was observed very fittingly in St. Simeon's Church on Sunday last by a special service in the morning. The Sunday School scholars, headed by the banner and flag, proceeded up the aisle singing one of their special hymns; and took their places in the choir and front seats of the Church. The lessons were read by two of the older boys and the organ was in charge of one of the junior girls, who performed her task very creditably. The rector preached a sermon befitting the occasion, expressing pleasure to welcome so many of the parents and friends of the children.

MASONS ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

On Sunday morning last a large number of members from Argenteuil Lodge, No. 67, attended Divine Service at the United Church in St. Andrews East. A most inspiring address was given by the Rev. J. A. Macaskill, Chaplain of the Lodge, and a duet was rendered by Messrs. C. Duncan and H. Butler. Some 65 members attended, including several visitors.

Cop: "Say, do you realize you were going 65 miles an hour?"

Sweet Young Thing: "Sixty-five? Don't be silly. I couldn't have been doing over 30 at the most. In fact, I don't believe I was going more than 25 at the outside."

Cop: "Well, maybe you're right. I'll just tear this ticket up and give you one for parking."

EXCURSION TO OTTAWA

The C. P. Rly. announces another cheap excursion to Ottawa on Oct. 27th. Fare from Lachute $1.50 return, from Staynerville $1.45; from Grenville and Calumet $1.25. Full particulars and tickets from J. S. Giles, Town Agent, Lachute.

SHOULD WORK BOTH WAYS

If it is true that the chartered banks will reduce the rate of interest on savings accounts from 2½ to 2 per cent, then the next step might as well be to wipe out interest altogether. A reduction in interest on loans has been long overdue, and there is a striking difference between what the individual pays for money, and what the bank pays.

HEREDITY PLAYS A PART

A mother complained very feelingly the other day because her children were sick so often. They caught any contagious disease that was in the neighborhood, were forever catching colds, and seldom were up to par. She said that she took every care with them. They had cod liver oil, plenty of milk, lots of fruit, vegetables, whole cereals, eggs and so on. There was nothing wrong with their diet; they got plenty of sleep, fresh air and exercise; and yet they were not strong. What more could she do? I am sure there are many mothers who feel like that and who do all the necessary things and yet their children are not as strong as they would like to be. Some children are made delicate by too much coddling but that is not the case with these children. One of the reasons that is frequently overlooked is heredity. Children are born with definite constitutions and all we can do is build on them. If a child is born with its maternal grandmother's nose and its paternal grandfather's stocky shape, it is reasonable to suppose that it may equally well inherit a weakness in some particular organ of the body. It may be very slight but the predisposition to disease may be there.

CHILDREN REQUIRE FAT

The stomach is a very adaptable organ and soon makes a new habit. Now this is all right if it is a good one but not so good when we develop bad habits. The gastric juice is very accommodating and changes itself to fit the food that is being eaten. A diet that is very low in fat will eventually develop a gastric juice that does not digest fats well. Children very often dislike fat meat and refuse to eat it. A child who eats no fat with the meat should get fat in other ways. Butter, cream, cheese, and peanut butter are all useful in supplying fat. Sometimes this same child will not like butter. Considerable butter may be used in the food with a little guile and the child know nothing of it. Sandwiches are an admirable place to tuck in a little extra butter. They will usually tolerate more butter on a crisp cracker than they will on bread. A little more may be added to vegetables or cream soups. It is a healthy food and reasonable amounts should be used. One of the dangers in allowing a child to go without sufficient fat in the diet is in the possibility of tuberculosis. This is a disease which develops easily in young people who have not had sufficient fat.

CORN STARCH PUDDINGS

Most people look forward to the dessert. Pie should be an occasional treat and not a daily food. Milk puddings should be our most frequent dessert. Puddings made with a corn starch basis are a most useful form but you often hear women say, "my family won't eat corn starch puddings". Some of them are such thick, stodgy, tasteless messes that no one is to blame for not liking them. The woman who complains may make a perfect corn starch pudding but may have to suffer from the husband's recollections of awful puddings he has had served to him at other places. Corn starch puddings may be most appetising if they are properly made. They must not be too thick and remember that when they are cold they will be considerably thicker than when hot. So take that into consideration and make your pudding much thinner than you want it to be when chilled. Another frequent mistake is to just cook the pudding until it has thickened and not long enough to take away the taste of the raw starch. Nothing can disguise that awful starchy taste and many an otherwise good pudding is ruined because of it. After the pudding is thickened, cook for another three minutes. Change the texture occasionally by reserving the egg white and folding it in (stiffly beaten) when the pudding has cooled. Here is the recipe for a plain pudding, to serve four. Make it a bit festive by garnishing with bits of bright jelly, cherries or marshmallows.

2 cups milk
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon butter
2 tablespoons corn starch
1/4 cup cold water
1 egg
flavouring
Scald milk, sugar and butter. Mix cornstarch and water. Beat the egg and add corn starch. Pour over the egg and starch mixture a little of the hot milk and stir while pouring. Pour this mixture slowly into the remainder of the hot milk and cook over a slow fire, stirring constantly. Cook until thick, then cook three minutes longer stirring all the while. Add flavouring and chill thoroughly.

COCOANUT PUDDING

Before chilling the above pudding stir in from 1/2 to 1 cup of coconut as desired and flavour with almond flavouring. Or the egg white may be saved and beaten stiff, adding 2 tablespoons of sugar. Pour the coconut mixture into a baking dish, cover with the meringue, sprinkle with coconut and bake in a slow oven of 300 degrees for fifteen minutes.

FRUIT PUDDING

Cover the bottom of the serving dish generously with diced fruit and sprinkle lightly with sugar if required. Cover with the hot cornstarch pudding and chill thoroughly. Oranges, bananas, peaches and pears are all suitable fruits. Diced ripe pears and a little almond flavouring in the pudding make a delicious combination and as pears are in season, try that for to-morrow's dinner.

A tourist walking along a country lane came across a man with a dejected expression on his face gazing up into a large oak tree.

Following his glance, the tourist was astonished to see a baby car wedged among the branches.

"How on earth did that get there?" he enquired.

"Well, as a matter of fact," replied the unhappy owner, "I was trying to crank it up and it flew right off the handle."

RECIPES FOR VEGETABLE DYES

A reader kindly contributes the following recipes for dyes, inexpensive and easy to handle, by anyone who has access to the outdoors. The contributor vouches for their fast colors, having tried them herself.

Black: 2 lbs. inner willow bark, 2 ozs. copperas, 2 gals. water, 1 tablespoon of salt. Boil bark well; strain; immerse wool wrung out in warm water; boil gently for half an hour. Dry in the open air; wash well.

Yellow: One pound of the outer skins of onions, boiled in 8 qts. of water for one hour. Strain and add 1 oz. salt; then boil wool one hour. Green may be obtained by dipping the wool in weak wood ashes lye. Dry in the air, then wash.

Many colours and shades may be obtained from chokecherries. Try them with different mordants. Salt, vitriole, lye, vinegar. Add a few drops of cochineal for lovely shades of pink.

Elderberry will give a very pretty mauve.

Many shades may be obtained from beet-root.

Buckwheat will give several shades of brown and fawn.

For all of these the same recipe as to time will do. One must try the different mordants. No two people will get exactly the same shades. A little longer time for boiling will make darker shades. For lighter shades a shorter boiling.

Dandelion roots give a good gray, and the flowers a fine clear green.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Oct. 28th., is "Probation after Death."

The following correlative passages are selected from many those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time: Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you. Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about seeking whom he may devour: Whom resist steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world. But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you." (11 Peter, 5: 6-10).

"Good demands of man every hour, in which to work out the problem of being. Consecration to good does not lessen man's dependence on God, but heightens it. Neither does consecration diminish man's obligation to God, but shows the paramount necessity of meeting them." (Science and Health, pp. 261, 324).

BROCKVILLE TO HAVE DENTAL CLINIC

Acting in co-operation with the provincial Department of Health, the Brockville Rotary Club is financing the establishment of a dental clinic to serve underprivileged children of the public and separate schools. The club is bearing the expense of equipping the clinic, which will be manned by local dentists, and will also bear the principal cost of operation, 25 per cent. of which will be assumed by the Provincial Government. The clinic will be for the benefit of school children whose parents cannot afford to furnish them with necessary dental attention.

THE FRIENDLY FAIR

Now that we are more or less a neighborhood event, we are looking forward to a real gathering of the Ottawa Valley clan, both exhibitors and spectators, writes H. H. McElroy, Sec. Treas. of the Ottawa Winter Fair. Ottawa being the only city in the valley has a somewhat prominent place in that respect but also being the capital of our great Dominion holds a unique place. It should be the ambition of every valleyite to see their Capital and the time of the Ottawa Winter Fair is most suitable. The fall work should be pretty well finished. The roads ought to be good, unless we get a sudden rush into winter like last year, and all in all the Ottawa Winter Fair is a farmers' show.

The real reason for the existence of the Fair is to be of benefit to the farmers in the region and we can only be that if we receive patronage. It's up to all of us to stand behind "Our Show" and make it worthwhile.

There will be some mighty fine exhibits in all departments and now that it is a regional show we will have a chance of showing just what good live stock, poultry, seeds, fruits and so on, are produced in this area. You know the old biblical saying about "hiding your light under a bushel", well don't let any one accuse us of that. Just two things are needed for a successful show and we can supply both of them—they are—exhibits and attendance.

Remember, entries close November 3rd. If you desire a Prize List write the Secretary-Manager, Ottawa Winter Fair, Journal Building, Ottawa.

ANCIENT RAIL TICKET TURNS UP FOR REFUND

Montreal. — Unused railroad tickets, like chickens, sometimes come home to roost—with requests for refund of fare on their unused portions. However, it is not often that a ticket issued in 1870 comes to the Canadian National Railways with such a request tagged to it. After a lapse of 64 years a ticket issued at Chicago in September 1870 was recently presented to M. O. Dafoe, City Passenger Agent of the Canadian National Railways, with a request for refund on the unused portion. The owner, John Watt, of Auburndale, Mass., said he had been informed when purchasing the ticket that it was good "until used" but he never used it. The ticket, of Grand Trunk issue and in good condition, was accompanied by a slip issued by the Michigan Central and Great Western Railways "the great central route via Niagara Falls to all points east" authorizing unlimited stopovers. The ticket was good for passage between Detroit and Boston.

DOES YOUR CHILD CATCH COLD EASILY?

Children who catch cold easily, who have sore throats or tonsillitis, are usually in a weakened, run-down condition.

Because they do not secure from their food the vitamins necessary for growth, they become weak, thin and pale, they cannot hold their own at school or play, they tire easily and do not have the strength to resist disease.

If your child is facing the winter in a half-sick, run-down condition, start with Father John's Medicine at once. Countless mothers have proved its merit, 184 hospitals and institutions use it regularly.

GLASGOW COMMENTS ON COLONEL BISHOP, V.C.

There is a pleasant tinge of surprise in the report that Colonel W. A. Bishop, the Canadian airman who destroyed a large number of enemy aeroplanes during the war and was awarded the V.C., is now learning to fly at Montreal. Apparently the Colonel was one of those who returned from his victories more or less to his Sabine farm. It is said that he has not taken a machine into the air since 1922, and he feels that somebody had better be looking over his shoulder while he comes to terms with the controls again. Well, it is a wise bird that knows how to return to the nest.

BROWNSBURG

Mr. W. Cuning is in the Montreal General Hospital, suffering with blood poisoning in an injury to his hand.

Miss Winnifred Cuning, of Vankleek Hill, is visiting friends here this week.

Noting the glorious weather this week, it is recalled that a year ago, on Oct. 24th., there was snow in the vicinity, which stayed with us throughout the winter.

ARUNDEL

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cooke spent the week-end in Potsdam, N. Y., the guests of Mrs. Wm. Kidd.

Mr. Thos. Graham spent the week-end in Montreal visiting Mrs. Graham, who is a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Mrs. Wm. Thomson is the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. McAdam, of Lachute, for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brownlee and son, Wesley, also Miss Elizabeth Thomson, of Ottawa, were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. MacArthur.

Rev. and Mrs. Cushing are spending this week in Montreal.

Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Morrison are spending a few days in Montreal this week while their son and daughter, Billy and Mary, are having their tonsils removed.

Mr. Noel Raven, of Montreal, is spending some time as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cooke.

Rev. and Mrs. Phillips are spending a few days in Montreal this week.

A Children's Service was held in Grace Church last Sunday morning and was well attended.

The Maintenance Committee of Grace Church met last week at the Rectory.

The concert held in Stanforth's Hall last Friday, under the auspices of the United the auspices was a huge success. An interesting address with lantern slides was given by Rev. T. W. Jones of Calvary United Church, Montreal, of the Passion Play, which he personally attended a few years ago. The Ministerial Quartette of Montreal was present and rendered several selections. At the close of the programme a vote of thanks was given by Mr. H. C. Cooke to the artists, on behalf of the Choir.

LAKEFIELD

The Lakefield Players visited Morin Heights on Friday, Oct. 19th., and gave a concert in aid of the Women's Institute. The concert was held in the Davis' Hall before an appreciative audience. The program included several short skits, community singing, songs, and a one-act play entitled "Say it with Taffy." The cast of the play included: Mesdames Shearsmith and Kuhring and Messrs. Shearsmith, Kerr, Kuhring, Maslin, and Doody. A delightful evening was concluded with refreshments.

Mr. Cosmo Nicholson and Mr. Winston Kerr, of Montreal, were the guests of Mr. Doody and Mrs. Shearsmith and Mr. Shearsmith last week-end.

Not much like last year, There's no storm to-night, but weather is calm, beautiful and bright.
No wind blowing fiercely from the west
But just charming weather, the kind that we love best.
No snow is falling, no cars in the ditch,
But all homing without e'en a hitch,
No aching fingers, no freezing feet
Alas, we are thankful,
Neither hail or sleet.

When it comes to work, some people turn up their sleeves; others turn their noses.

GRENVILLE

The monthly meeting of the Baptist Mission Circle was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Murray, on Oct. 17th. There was a good attendance of ladies, among whom was Mrs. E. G. Baxter, whose presence was much appreciated. The yearly election of officers was held. Several members and the pastor, Rev. E. G. Baxter, had attended the Ladies' Baptist Convention in Montreal, and the local President, Mrs. Jno. Heatlie, gave some very interesting reports from this Convention. Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Matthew served a bountiful supper to sixteen at the close. Considerable money had been raised and forwarded to the Home and Foreign Missionary Society.

Mrs. A. V. Gaudry enjoyed a visit of five days with Mrs. Walter Murray and Mrs. Eddie Matthew at Kilmar recently.

Mrs. T. Welden of Montreal, was the guest of Mrs. Lorne Cooke for two weeks recently.

The marriage of Miss Rita Dupuis to Mr. Samuel Lewis, of Montreal, was solemnized in the Roman Catholic Church of this village on Monday, 22nd. inst. The couple left for Montreal and Quebec for their wedding trip.

Mrs. A. V. Gaudry spent a recent week-end with Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart.

The death occurred on Oct. 12th. of Marion Robertson, daughter of the late Geo. M. Robertson and Mrs. Robertson, of Westmount, P. Q.

A short funeral service was held at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. E. Cooke, conducted by Rev. A. J. Back, of Hawkesbury, after which the remains were taken by motor to Montreal for interment in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Heartfelt sympathy is extended to Mrs. L. E. Cooke and family, from friends in this community, among whom the late Miss Robertson will be missed for her kind and loving disposition.

MILLE ISLES

Messrs. H. Burns, A. Wood, and V. T. Ward motored to Arundel on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ward and daughter, Vera, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Noble on Sunday. Other guests included Miss B. Draper and Mr. R. Knight, of Montreal.

Mrs. T. Lovett and daughter, Josephine, have returned to Montreal, following a week's visit with Mrs. John E. Ward.

Quite a few people from this vicinity motored to Lake County on Thursday evening to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ward, in order to celebrate the 25th. anniversary of their marriage. A most enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. John E. Ward and sons are preparing for the construction of a new residence for Col. G. M. Strong, on an island at his old homestead.

QUEBEC WOMEN'S INSTITUTES STUDY LEGISLATION

Members of the Quebec Women's Institutes are becoming increasingly interested in the laws by which they are governed, as well as in those which relate to community and national welfare. "The laws of Quebec as they Apply to Women" is a favorite subject for lectures and addresses, several Branches having secured the services of local lawyers for this purpose. Life insurance, banking laws, taxation, Empire trade, tariffs, traffic laws, Child Labour laws and many others, form the nucleus around which are grouped questionnaires, papers and discussions. The study of parliamentary procedure, and the duties of British subjects, with an expressed interest in the duties of parliaments and law-making in general are fitting the women of the country with their rapidly unfolding responsibilities in the citizenship of Canada.

"Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic."

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation."—Mr. L. M. Durigan (address furnished upon request).

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.
