DIVERTING TOPIC BY LIONS' GUEST SPEAKER

LARGE GATHERING AT LADIES' NIGHT OF LOCAL CLUB

Ladies' Night, first occasion of its kind in the activities of Lachute's newest organization, the Lions Club, was a pleasing event attended by many lady guests and friends in the Auditorium basement last Thursday. By collaboration of the Salada Tea Company the room was prettily decorated, and the theme of an illustrated address by Lion Bingham, guest speaker, embraced the fascinating subject of a British Empire possession, Ceylon, and its mainstay, the tea industry. Mr. Bingham is presently in the service of the Ceylon Tea Bureau.

Lion Gaëtan Valois, president, welcomed the ladies and friends, also introducing the speaker as a man of wide travel and experience, and a personality which impressed itself upon his listeners as both versatile and entertaining. Following the address and moving pictures illustrating the topic, Lion H. H. Cousens led a session of community singing, in which all joined in a hearty manner. Lion A. Fassio, accompanied by Miss Berthe Fassio, gave talented violin selections, Mr. Paul Courville playing piano numbers in a lighter vein and with his usual dexterity.

During the singing, the local Lions' Song composed by Mr. Fassio with lyric by Mr. G. Valois, was given its debut. Mr. Valois singing the words for the first time in public. An event of the evening was the drawing for a silver tea service, conducted by the "elimination process" by Lion Bingham — this being his own peculiar method of "prolonging the agony." Mr. Albini Lamarche was the fortunate winner of this set, donated by the Ceylon Tea Bureau.

Tea and refreshments were served to the gathering, and a certain sociable atmosphere stood out as one of the most pleasing aspects of the occasion.

CEYLON AND THE TEA INDUSTRY

Mr. Bingham's address impressed Watchman representatives as a delightfully lazy means of absorbing worthwhile information, for in this entertaining manner one gleaned facts and surveyed scenes which would not ordinarily come within one's intellectual wanderings.

The proximity of India is an important factor in the long history of Ceylon. The most remarkable fact in this history, perhaps, is that it should be on record at all, for there are few countries which can tell with certainty what manner of civilization they had two thousand years ago. The Sinhalese, constituting a larger part of the population of Ceylon, wrote histories in very early times, and these records are preserved today. And their occupation of the island dates back to seven centuries before Christ.

The Roman Empire used to trade with Ceylon, its fleet sailing down the Red Sea and across the Indian Ocean. Since that period, however, the territory lost its commercial identity until recent times, when the tea industry sprang into existence, leading a variety of other tropical exports from the island.

Fascinating discoveries in Ceylon were unfolded by Mr. Bingham in his reference to excavation of large cities presenting architectural feats and devices which were truly astounding. The jungle, he claimed,

QUEBEC ORDERS APPEAL ST. JEROME CASE

The Attorney-General of Quebec has instructed Joseph P. Belair, K.C., to institute appeal against a Superior Court judgment of Mr. Justice Alfred Forest in St. Jerome ordering Sheriff Cyr to pay damages to one Alberic Murray for false arrest arising out of an automobile accident.

In the judgment, His Lordship condemned the practice of the Provincial Police in having charges against persons supposedly guilty of criminal infraction of traffic laws pressed by the sheriffs of the district where the accident occurs, instead of by the victim.

COUNCIL DISCUSS REMODELLING MAIN STREET

Early Closing Bill in Second Reading

The regular session of Lachute Council was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday April 3, at which were present Mayor Dr. J. H. Mason, and Aldermen Jas. MacGibbon, C. Durocher, W. J. Deacon, K. McOuat, H. Lamarche, F. Deslauriers, G. Muir and O. Laurin. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The first and second readings of amended by-law for early closing were passed, adding another day to those already in effect, so that the by-law will now establish Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday as closing days instead of Tuesday and Thursday as before.

The resignation of Alderman P. Chabot from the Council was read by the secretary. Mr. Chabot was chairman of the Finance and Relief Committees, the duties of which have caused him much worry, and on advice of his doctor he has been compelled to relinquish office. The resignation was accepted with regret by the council, and Alderman Jas. MacGibbon was appointed as Chairman of Finance.

Several building requests were granted.

Mr. Gariepy was spokesman for a large gathering of the unemployed who made claims for work, many of whom, he said,

CLEVER COSTUMES AT MASQUERADE

McArthur's Hall last Thursday evening was the scene of a masquerade dance at which many clever costumes were in evidence. Music and dancing filled an evening of rare pleasure for those in attendance. Prizes were awarded for the most striking costumes, Mr. R. McArthur himself being called upon to decide on their particular merits.

Mde. J. Gibeault and Mlle. Juliette Robertson took first prizes, sharing the honors in the ladies' costumes, as "Tip-Top" and "Queen of Hearts" respectively. Mde. G. Poirier was second, as a Colored Lady, and Mlle. Florida Gibeault third, as a Queen. L. Gibeault took fourth prize as a Gentleman from Sunny Climes, Eugel Daoust fifth as a Clown, and Clarence Ambault sixth as a Royal Prince.

Public Holiday May 6, to Celebrate Jubilee

Secretary of State C. H. Cahan, has announced in the House of Commons that celebrations will be held throughout Canada May 6 in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of King George's accession to the Throne. May 6 has been proclaimed a national holiday.

Oxen Transported by Airplane

Ancient and modern transportation met recently, in circumstances far beyond the conception of our Canadian pioneers, for whom a yoke of oxen provided the only motive and traction power. Last month the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company carried two oxen by airplane from Escalene River, on the Transcontinental Railway, to Chibougamau, a distance of 125 miles.

The ice has disappeared in certain stretches of the North River around Lachute. Cellars in the river-bank residences are generally dry, but remembering the floods of last spring, it remains to be seen how coming thaws will raise the river level and flood the nearby basements.

EMPLOYEE REPRESENTATION ADOPTED BY C.I.L.

YOUNG DELINQUENTS LEARN EVIL AT HOME

Careers of young criminals were traced back through the school to the home by F. J. Fyles, principal of Victoria School, Westmount, in a recent address to the Montreal Progress Club.

The three most common forms of delinquency among school children were listed as theft, lying and truancy. "Pilfering," Mr. Fyles stated, "invariably begins at home." The child must be taught, he said, to differentiate between those things which are his and what belongs to others in the home. Failure to do this was followed by petty stealing during the school period with criminal tendencies becoming more marked. Lying and truancy, he pointed out, were often associated with stealing. Here again, the home training was important for "when we find a liar in school we generally find two liars in the home."

FAMILIAR FIGURE CALLED BY DEATH

WILLIAM MILLAR DIED IN HOSPITAL

The death of Mr. William Millar, which occurred at the Homoeopathic Hospital, Montreal, on Friday last following a brief illness, was learned with deep regret by his many friends here. Mr. Millar had resided in Lachute during recent years, and his genial person was familiar to many around town.

He was a native of St. Eustache, where he had spent all his life, up to the time of retirement about four years ago. He sold his farm at this time and after a short sojourn with friends in Vankleek Hill made his home here in town with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. MacKimmie.

Mr. Millar is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Stanley Hamilton, and son, Howard, of St. Eustache.

The funeral was held from Wray's Undertaking Parlors on Monday afternoon, service being conducted by Mr. Millar's former pastor, Rev. Robert Strange, now of Lachute. The remains were interred in Montreal cemetery in the same grave as his wife, who predeceased him 17 years ago.

DRAMATIC PRODUCTION BY ST. SIMEON'S A.Y.P.A.

"MOLLY BAWN" PRESENTED BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCE

An appreciative audience witnessed a 4-act Comedy-Drama in the Auditorium on Saturday last, entitled "Molly Bawn"—a presentation by the St. Simeon's A.Y.P.A.

Although the setting of the story was in the English countryside, some of the characters were of Irish origin, and the humor and wit of the Emerald Isle afforded many a laugh.

Eleanor Masserene, the grand-daughter of Sir William Amherst, is of a sunny disposition, which entitles her to the nickname "Molly Bawn." Her mother had eloped with an Irish gentleman, for which Sir William never forgave her; but after many lonely years he sends his message to Molly, through Captain Shadwell and another grand-daughter Marcia, to invite her to his home at Herst-Royal.

Molly at first refuses, much to the joy of her admirer Ted Luttrell, who is jealous of Shadwell, but her step-brother John persuades her to go. She arrives at Herst-Royal accompanied by Ted and her Irish maid, Sarah. Other visitors to arrive are Lady Cecil, a divorced lady, and Plantagenet Potts, a ne'er-do-well and Sir William is very upset when they all ask after his health, thinking it a conspiracy to make him feel unwell.

He is very much taken with Molly, and admires her aggressiveness, but when two strong-willed persons meet, fireworks are apt to result.

Molly threatens to leave, but accidentally hears her cousin Marcia planning to kill Sir William, so decides to stay to look after her grandfather.

After Molly has been at Herst-Royal for a few weeks, everyone notices a decided improvement in the disposition of Sir William, and the credit is due to Molly. Marcia is very worried, for Captain Shadwell pays great attention to Molly, and Ted Luttrell is jealous indeed — which leads him to break off his engagement with Molly.

Sir William enters the room soon after a heated argument, and Marcia and Shadwell put all the blame on Molly. But Sir William sees through their game, and disowns them both. —But the strain is too much for his feeble heart, and he drops dead.

Weeks pass, and Sir William's solicitor, Mr. Blake, appoints a day for the reading of the will. Marcia is confident she will be the lone heiress, but much to her indignation, it transpires that Sir William has left his entire fortune to Molly.

TENNIS-BADMINTON CLUB FOR ST. ANDREWS

A new Tennis and Badminton Club is being organized at St. Andrews East. It is undenominational, and an enthusiastic interest is foreseen among the young people of the community and neighborhood. A lot adjacent to the Presbyterian Church has been rented for the purpose and the new Club will have its courts and headquarters at this spot. It is understood a concert is being staged in the near future, with Mr. Allan Murray of "Dumbell" fame in charge of the arrangements. It is hoped that this function will give impetus to the Club, under whose auspices it is being held.

Vacations for All Employees

In these arduous times of social and industrial complexities, business is slowly but surely evolving new methods whereby labour is given more and more consideration. Keeping abreast of the times, the Canadian Industries Limited has introduced at all its Plants an Employee Representation Plan, whereby, through the medium of a Works Council, general problems connected with the relationship between employees and the management might be solved. This is a new phase in industrial evolution and places the worker in the unique position of being afforded opportunities to assist the management in dealing with wage questions, working conditions, hours of work, health, and various other problems that, unless satisfactorily adjusted, are likely to cause discontent. The Plan provides an orderly and expeditious procedure for the prevention and adjustment of differences, which allows all subjects to be discussed openly across the table, and to have everybody honestly try and determine what is the fair thing to do. At the Brownsburg Plants of the Canadian Industries Limited, the departments are grouped into sections, and the workers elect one representative for a term of one year, for each section.

ST. ANDREWS GOLFERS ELECT 1935 OFFICERS

W. F. Drysdale was re-elected president of the St. Andrews Golf Club at the annual meeting held last week, along with the following executive: E. C. Richardson, Sec.-Treasurer; E. E. Stuart McDougall, K.C., captain; Hugh Allan, chairman, greens committee; Major D. J. Corrigan, chairman, house committee; C. E. Richardson, chairman, handicap committee; H. R. Ardill, membership, F. W. Case, tournaments; Selwyn Irwin, entertainment, and Leslie Choyce, general committee chairman.

It was announced that the clubhouse would be open on April 27, and that the usual invitation tournament would be held, along with the first mixed 'A' tournament. Saturday dances and week-end competition for the Snyder Trophy will feature the summer program.

A large number of members attended the meeting.

ONLY PRIME MINISTERS SUMMONED TO JUBILEE

Official invitations to the celebrations of the King's Silver Jubilee in London, May 6, will be restricted to Prime Ministers of the Dominions, according to a statement by Sir Geo. H. Perley in the House of Commons.

Sir George read a cablegram from London in which it was stated the wish of His Majesty was that celebrations of the 25th anniversary of his accession should be on a local basis.

While visitors from overseas who happened to be in London at the time would have an opportunity of sharing in the celebrations there, invitations to participate as guests of the United Kingdom Government would be sent only to Dominion Prime Ministers.

Where the British Turned at Bay

In 1813 the British won at Stony Creek, a few miles from Hamilton on the way to Niagara, a most remarkable victory. A large American force, numbering upwards of 3,000, had advanced from the frontier where Fort George had lately fallen to their superior strength. Generals Chandler and Winder, men whose ambition for fame far transcended their military experience, were in charge of the invaders who encamped at Stony Creek. They had become quite confident in their prowess as their overwhelming force drove in tiny British pickets during the advance.

General Vincent commanded the little British army now at Burlington Bay. As soon as the presence of the invaders at Stony Creek was reported, Lieutenant-Colonel Harvey reconnoitered their position. He saw at once that the camp was poorly laid out and negligently guarded, and won Vincent's permission to stage a night attack. With seven hundred men he fell upon the enemy in the pitchy darkness; a flank attack completed the Americans' demoralization and both Winder and Chandler were among the captured. The British loss was considerable, but the daring coup completely changed the complexion of the campaign. The Americans fled in panic towards Fort George, abandoning large quantities of baggage, stores and arms. On the centennial of the Battle of Stony Creek one of the most imposing historical monuments ever erected in Canada was unveiled. Her Majesty the Queen performed the ceremony by electricity from Buckingham Palace, a process far beyond the ken of the heroes whom it honoured. Countess Grey had turned the first sod for the great monument and General French had laid the cornerstone.

UNFINISHED MUSIC

By Mary McPhail
in The Blue Bell

A wag wanted to tease a musician, and planned a trick which succeeded almost too well. Late one night, he sat down and played a familiar air on the piano, all but the final note. Then he fled, not a minute too soon. The pianist came thundering down from his attic two steps at a time, and crashed out the mighty last chord. Otherwise he would have been haunted.

Not-quite-shut doors, undotted f's and dripping taps fret us for the same reason—their incompleteness.

There are subtler torments than these, however, caused by serious incompleteness in our lives—the unfinished harmonies of existence.

Unrendered apologies for discourtesy or injustice, uninvestigated fears (those poor ghosts lurking in the darker corridors of the heart), unmelded friendships, unvanquished jealousies, ungranted forgiveness, undone work—these are the elements of despair. These things are harder to bear than disasters from outside, because we know, deeply, who is to blame.

Sifting finer, and considering even the tiniest incompleteness in our lives we are astonished at their cumulative effect on our peace. Unpaid bills, unfinished scraps of needlework cluttering our baskets, polite unkept promises, unanswered letters stacking up in our consciences, unmounted snapshots cascading from our albums, unreturned books waiting patiently for us to carry them home—these apparent, familiar trifles contribute greatly to the perplexity, if not the misery of life.

And the remedy? Well... we all know (don't we?) the constructive value of ungiven advice!

RIDDLES

Why is a tree like a dog?
Because they both lose their bark when they die.

Why is a watch like a river?
Because it won't run long without winding.

What is it that has eight legs and sings most wonderfully?
A quartette.

What is it you can put in a pig-dish, but cannot take out again?
A crack.

WASN'T IT FUNNY

"Oh Mother dear!" said Olive May.

"I saw such a funny thing!
'Twas a birdie playing tug-of-war
With a piece of string.

The string was frozen in some ice,
The birdie pulled so hard,
It tumbled over on its back,
Here, in our back yard.

Old pussy tried to catch it,
But it flew into a tree,
And chuckled down in pussy's face—

Chee-hee, chee-hee, chee-hee."

A VISIT TO THE SUGAR CAMP

Miss Morrison and her group of pupils were hurrying homeward, Tena Falconer, keeping a sharp lookout for further signs, called suddenly, "Oh Jo-oy! there's another sign and it points to-to—" with that Tena stopped and looked at the others in frank astonishment;—"To the property that has for years been placarded all over with No Trespassing signs"—Bob Clark finished the sentence for her. "What do you suppose it means?" "That ends all the fun for us, I'm afraid," said Len with a very disappointed look on his face. "We wouldn't dare to go where that arrow points."

"Unless the ogre that owns that property has had a change of heart" giggled Lila Bell, "such things happen quite frequently in story books."

"Perhaps the warm spring sun has melted his hard heart," said Len, "I move that we take the risk and go."

"I move instead that we go a little way along this path, as far as the big pine tree, and see if the No Trespassing sign has been taken down. If it has then I should count it safe to accept the invitation, but not unless, I for one am not walking into a trap." Beas Clark's voice was very determined and her head tilted upwards so defiantly that, in Miss Morrison's opinion, she resembled that daring little chick-a-dee on the gnarled apple-tree by the school-room window, which watched every move she made, as she sat at her desk. She was so busy with her own thoughts that the children had to ask permission the second time to go as far as the pine tree to see if the sign was gone.

"If you will come right back, children; you know we must be getting home if we are to be back in time." "Why can't some of us go right to the camp if we find that the sign is gone. I for one am not anxious for supper." Len Harrison's eyes were eager, daring. "Who's game to go right now and surprise old Chief Grey Bat?"

"No-one." Miss Morrison's voice was firm. "We have had the hour set for us, so it would be impossible to go now. Then, children should never go anywhere without telling their parents. I'll give you just three minutes to race to the tree and back. Forward march. Captain Len!" she said, looking into the boy's rebellious face with a smile. Len's face cleared as if by magic. "O.K." he said and raced off, followed by the others, eager to see for themselves.

Their delighted "Whoopie", echoing back to Miss Morrison, who stood watching a squirrel on the fence with a butternut in its mouth, told her that all was well.

"It's gone, it's gone, Miss Morrison, what do you suppose it means?"

"Probably new tenants, children, but the quicker we hurry home now the sooner we will be back—and instead of meeting at the school as I suggested, we will all meet here, now that we know where we are to go."

"Oh, but we can't meet here, Miss Morrison, Ken and Floss and Bruce and Laura May and all of the others would not know where we were," said Lila. "That is true, I had forgotten the children from the other side of the school."

"I have it," cried Tena Falconer of you. I'll hurry back and coner "I live nearer than the meet the others at the school and bring them here. That will save you that much, won't it?"

"A splendid idea—if you are sure you will not be nervous waiting alone." "Nervous, waiting at the school which I have been attending so many years now! I guess not!" "Poor, ancient, old lady", Len chuckled in her ear, "So many years!" He dragged the words out in such a feeble aged-sound—

GOOD-BYE

A minister in a certain town took permanent leave of his congregation in this manner: "Brothers and sisters, I come to say good-bye. I don't think God loves this church, because none of you ever die. I don't think you love each other because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me because you have not paid my salary. Your donations are mouldy fruit, and 'by their fruits ye shall know them.' "Brethren, I am going to a better place. I have been called to be chaplain of a prison. Where I go ye cannot come, but I go to prepare a place for you. Good-bye."

Making History in Argenteuil

Extracted from files of
The Watchman

50 Years Ago.

March 27, 1885.

There is a perfect rush for houses in the West End, and not half of the people who are house hunting can find places to live in.

The contractor for the carpentry work on Mr. J. C. Wilson's new paper mill, has been up, and says his contract is larger than the first mill. Nearly 200 tons of stone has been quarried for this mill during winter, and the quarry men say it will take them till June to finish quarrying enough for the new building.

Our new incorporation bill has been received and we notice it has had its second reading. Mr. Palliser has been highly complimented, on the literary and legal make up of the bill, which is being adopted as a model bill for town incorporations by the Legislature.

The stir and hustle about Lachute Mills has been exceptionally brisk during the week. Fish and Ireland have been going through 100 bushels grain a day for making foods, while the Grist Mill has gone through about 1,000 bushels a day.

25 Years Ago.

March 25, 1910.

We are pleased to state that in the cheese contest for this Province, held recently at St. Hyacinthe, Mr. Peter Garland of Calumet, (a former student of our Academy), was awarded the Medal and Diploma.

Mr. Jos. Berniquier, of Montreal, was in town on Thursday visiting his parents.

Mr. John Neill, who met with a terrible accident at Lachute station in December last, by which both his legs were taken off below the knee joint, has returned home to Louisa.

Mr. H. Hooker left on Thursday to visit friends in New York.

The late Mrs. John Welden, of Grenville, who departed this life on March 10, was the second daughter of Mr. Wm. Kerr, of Cushing, and was in her 27th year.

Our readers will be glad to know that Mr. Perley has exacted a promise from those responsible, for the opening of our new post office.

MR. HEPBURN GIVES THE FIGURES

Apparently goaded by continuous cries of "Spoils system!" from his political opponents, Premier Hepburn of Ontario has tabled a return in the Legislature to show just what he has done in "hiring and firing," or rather firing and hiring, since his return to power inaugurated perhaps the most spectacular series of Civil Service dismissals in Canadian political history. Mr. Hepburn's opponents insist that the whole thing has been a merciless application of the vicious principle, "to the victor belong the spoils," and that all the Hepburn Government has done, after thirty years of Liberal starvation in opposition, has been to fire a multitude of Tory appointees and to make a good start in replacing them with an equal number of Grits.

The return in question does not seem to bear out the charge. It shows an apparent total of 1,149 Government employees who were dismissed, with only 48 staff additions to offset it. Savings thereby affected are shown by Departments and run from four and one-half to 60 per cent. What the total salaries of the decapitated ones amounted to is not given, but the return indicates a saving to the Province of a very large sum—$1,557,664 are the net figures—through the wholesale cutting of personnel in the provincial service.

What will strike the Ontario taxpayer, and the general public elsewhere, is that if the machinery of the Provincial Government can be carried on properly with over eleven hundred less civil servants than it took to do it a year ago there must have been something extravagant—to put it mildly—about the former payroll.

It remains to be seen whether the "additions to the staff" mentioned in the return will remain at the modest 48 now listed, or even approximately at that figure. But if they do, Mr. Hepburn will have set a mark that a great many other heads of governing bodies,

Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton Panel Body

1935 CHEVROLET TRUCKS EMBODY ATTRACTIVE FEATURES

Chevrolet's truck line for 1935 provides their half-ton and one-and-a-half ton models with a more powerful engine developing greater torque. Increasing the horsepower to 70 provides power plant reserve capable of maintaining efficient and prompt delivery service.

The 1935 Maple Leaf two-ton truck in addition to more powerful engine has hydraulic brakes throughout the entire line. A new impressive radiator grill is surmounted by the new Maple Leaf emblem and trade mark. The two wheelbase lengths have been revised to 141 inch and 165 inch. Freedom from rear end strains are offset by the incorporation of a full floating rear axle.

Additional mechanical features include the new improved efficient oiling system; electro plated pistons, a heavier 69 pound crankshaft and an air-cooled generator with automatic voltage regulator permitting higher charging rate without damaging battery or generator.

Six commercial half-ton models are available for 1935 with the Chevrolet sedan delivery on the 107" chassis heading the half-ton commercial division. Five models are available on the Chevrolet chassis with 112" wheelbase. These models include the panel, canopy, screen-side, pick-up, and deluxe panel.

Brakes on the Chevrolet half-ton truck are improved and refined to provide greater deceleration in line with the increased engine performance.

On the half-ton Chevrolet truck, the rear end of the drive pinion is supported by a high grade roller bearing which replaces the ball bearing formerly used at this point.

The Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton chassis on the 131" wheelbase features two panel bodies, two canopy bodies and various stake bodies. The Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton chassis on 157" wheelbase features various stake and farm type bodies. Powered with the six cylinder special truck engine, these units have a four speed transmission, giving a total low speed ratio of 42.8 to 1.

Improvements made in the front springs of the Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton trucks and their connections to the frame provide positive vehicle control and thereby greater safety. The front spring is strengthened and its rate increased by changing the gauge of the main leaf.

The three upper leaves of this spring are more securely fastened together at the rear end of the spring by a bolted rebound clip of the same design as those used on the rear springs. This clip, which takes the place of a clinch type clip, will not come loose due to spring movement.

ing voice that all laughed merrily as they hurried away.

Their mothers were a bit anxious but were all agreeable; if Miss Morrison thought it was all right, then it must be quite safe for their children to accept the invitation. So early dusk found Tena back in the school-yard waiting for the children from the east side. "Why don't they hurry?" she murmured. "It is rather creepy here.. I had no idea the school-house could look so gloomy at dusk. It gives me a queer feeling inside, much the same as when I read Goldsmith's Deserted Village—and that owl hooting in the woods has the most mournful sound. I am beginning to wish I hadn't promised to come alone." Putting her hands over her ears to shut out the hooting of the owl, she turned to look back in the direction from which she had come, to see if anyone had taken pity on her there alone and was coming to keep her company.

Standing in that position she did not hear footsteps, and it was only when a pair of hands descended suddenly and forcefully on her shoulders that she realized she was not alone. She tried to turn around, but the clinging hands held her so that she could not move.

EDITORIAL

THE MAYORAL CONFERENCE

An outstanding impression of the Mayoral Conference was the careful organization and orderly procedure which contributed to its success. These factors are a striking tribute to Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal and his staff, as well as to those representatives from East and West whose co-operation was enlisted in the ground-work and preparation. To assemble so many diversified interests and engage their attention on issues of national moment—to extract from such wide territory opinions representative of a coast to coast administration—and to formulate decisive resolves in so short a time, was no small undertaking. Without careful forethought and planning it could not have been so admirably achieved.

Although the weight of decisions at this conference was general and unquestionable, they were not entirely unanimous. Representing cities and areas in less dire straits than others, certain delegates could not readily adjust their conception to a nation-wide policy on behalf of the municipalities. The very nature of the assembly precluded this possibility; the complaints of some were not experienced by authorities from other quarters; drastic remedies outlined for certain local conditions seemed unjustified to others in the conduct of their own particular affairs. In this way a general conclusion had to be outlined from the whole consensus of experience in Canadian towns and cities. This conclusion, be it noted, was reached in a business-like and expeditious way.

The Mayors' recommendations on relief and bond interests, as presented by them at Ottawa, are now generally known. Among the public they were learned with mingled feelings, and their acceptance is not entirely favorable as they emerge for comment in the press and in higher circles. Even in the opinions of government, the demands of this Conference have been declared impossible—although no collective or official response is forthcoming at this early date.

The outcome of the mayoral resolutions, however, is awaited with a certain confidence. There may have been impetuous side-lights in the views they expounded, but their decisions were made in the light of long-felt difficulties, from the resolutions of other sectional gatherings, and in a sincerity of thought free of all personal motive.

It is the civic administrators who are concerned with these problems—and the administrators have spoken. There can be no question of the extremity to which their difficulties have grown, and with this fact accepted, the petitions of the Conference will merit close consideration of the Government, seeking a remedy compatible with its wider policies and the national welfare which it must uphold.

SILENCE IS GOLDEN

Pittsburgh—In a cocktail bar two loquacious men talked of taxes.

"I've got lots of personal property and never paid a cent of tax on it," vouchsafed one.

"That's a coincidence," came from the companion, "I've got a lot, too, and I never paid and I'm not going to."

Nearby was T. Ralph Barr, who looks after tax assessments. He heard.

The total tax and penalties paid by the gentlemen, Barr told the Royalty Board, was $216,000.

The Ottawa Spotlight

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
Specially written for The Watchman
By Wulfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, April 2.—Politics were more to the fore last week than they have been for some time. The budget gave the Liberals an opportunity of attacking government policy; and the government, in the person of Hon. R. J. Manion and some of his colleagues, came right back with a snappy defensive. The Liberals amended the budget motion, calling for a general election forthwith on the ground that the proposed remedies for the depression were inadequate. The members in the south-east corner agreed that the proposals were inadequate, but wanted to be a little more definite about the remedies. A general election of itself, in their view, was no solution. They wanted measures to relieve the farmer and the unemployed, financed by the social credit of Canada, a means which, they asserted, would avoid an addition to the debt burden of the country.

Government defence of the budget followed conventional lines. Business, members said, was improving. Canada had weathered the world depression storm better than any other country in the world. As a result of the Ottawa agreements, our trade relations with the Empire were more satisfactory. Speakers professed to be cheerful about the return of the present government to office after the election,—an attitude which evoked ironic cheers from members on the opposition benches.

A DISTURBING INTERLUDE

The visit of the mayors was a disturbing interlude. They brought home in a vivid way to the federal government the financial straits in which many Canadian municipalities are finding themselves, because of the depression. The cost of unemployment relief, burdensome at any time, is particularly serious at a time when taxes are high and can hardly be collected.

An attempt to move an adjournment of the House on a matter of urgent public importance, in order to provide a more spectacular means of impressing the government with the plight of the cities, did not succeed in getting past the rules of the House. This was partly due to the ineffective phrasing of the motion. But the mayors did meet a gathering of federal members, and on the following day they presented their problems to Sir George Perley, acting prime minister. The latter received them courteously, but he was unable to give them much encouragement that the federal government would at once take over the entire burden of relief. The taxpayer of the city is a taxpayer also of the federal government. It won't help the individual much to be relieved in one pocket and soaked in another. But, as the mayors point out, the federal government has resources which a city cannot fall back upon. It seems quite evident that some of the cities are nearing the stage where they feel like throwing up the sponge. But the unemployed must be fed, clothed, sheltered, if riots are not to occur, and therein lies the menace of the situation. Even the federal treasury is unable to meet its obligations. Sixty million dollars were disbursed by the Dominion last year on direct relief. Income failed to meet expenses, by a sum of $117,000,000. How then, can the federal government take over a much larger burden of unemployment relief, it is asked.

LOWER HUDSON BAY RATES

The announcement that insurance rates on the Hudson Bay route are being cut 25 per cent comes as welcome news to western farmers, who may expect a considerable increase in the use of the route as a result.

The mass-buying report finally got away to the printers. It will run to 500 pages and has 10 chapters or so. All the government members signed it, and so, with reservations, did all the others (Liberal and U.F.A.) with one exception. E. J. Young of Weyburn was in such violent disagreement with some of the fundamental findings, that he reported separately to the Minister of Trade and Commerce.

The election lists are all printed. There are 5,800,000 names. There is now no mechanical obstacle against the holding of a general election at any time, but the prospects are now for a vote in August or September. It seems probable that the House will adjourn for five weeks at Easter, giving the Prime Minister a further chance to recuperate, and also giving the government a chance to draft legislation based on the mass-buying report.

If Premier Bennett is well enough he will probably go across to London to represent Canada at the Silver Jubilee proceedings.

The announced appointment of John Buchan as next Governor General was well received in the House.

"EMPLOYEE REPRESENTATION" ADOPTED BY C. I. L.

points an equal number of representatives to the Council, who are chosen for the advice they can give and not in any way to oppose the demands or suggestions of the workers. The Ammunition Division Works Council consists of twelve members (six elected and six appointed), and the Pyralin Division of four. In addition, each Council has a Chairman and Secretary, who do not have voting privileges. Important problems are already being dealt with by these Councils, and it is believed that the amicable relations between the management and the worker, which have already existed for so long a time at the Brownsburg factories, will still further be strengthened, and a bond forged of mutual goodwill which will prove beneficial to the continued successful operation of the Company.

In addition to this innovation, all C.I.L. employees having one full year's service prior to April 30, will be entitled to one week's holiday with pay. The energetic and progressive attitude taken by the C.I.L. management in the many welfare plans instituted for the benefit of their employees is greatly appreciated by these contented workers, and ensures the maximum enthusiasm and co-operation so necessary for the future well-being of this Company.

DANGEROUS CROSSINGS ON RAILWAYS DECREASE

Progress made in eliminating dangerous railway crossings was shown in the House of Commons in a report by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways. Since 1930, 469 highway diversions have been made with the help of contributions from the railway grade crossings fund. Highway crossings closed totalled 572.

During the five years, 94 overhead highways, 107 crossing subways, 25 wig-wag signals, 201 bell and wig-wag signals and 39 electric bells were built.

Saskatchewan heads the list in highway diversions, a total of 212. Quebec got 43 of the overhead highways; Ontario, 37; British Columbia, eight; Saskatchewan, three; Manitoba, two, and Alberta, one. Quebec also got most of the crossing subways, 55; Ontario, 42; Saskatchewan, four; Manitoba, three; Alberta, two, and Nova Scotia, one.

HUGE WORKS PLAN FOR SPAIN

The Spanish Government is considering a vast public works programme to help the jobless, which contemplates an outlay of about $135,800,000, the principal enterprise being the construction of a Gibraltar tunnel linking Europe with Africa.

The tunnel under the Straits of Gibraltar is the subject of a special inquiry which has been in progress some time. It is contemplated the subterranean route would be about 20 miles long and would plunge under the Mediterranean to the depth of 1,500 feet. Construction would be by means of a new type compressed-air caisson, permitting the excavation of the sea bottom to a depth of 1,000 feet.

Special Easter week-end fares are announced by C.P.R. on page 3 of this issue.

ed, had literally swallowed up these cities and the population of Ceylon, leaving the remnants of civilization from which certain of its native population is descended in this day.

The "swallowing up" process was vividly described by Mr. Bingham in a manner not touched upon in the approved histories. It was an anecdote from his own experience—one among the many with which he interspersed his talk. The speaker had had occasion to shoot an elephant—a ferocious animal which had done great damage in the vicinity of the tea plantation on which he was an overseer. Alive or dead, an elephant is no small proposition, and this particular carcass presented the appearance of a mountain embodying flesh and hide and animal majesty. Then the jungle and its parasites began their work; the crocodiles gnawed, the jackals, the porcupines, the vultures, and finally the white ants, which he termed the "jungle carpet sweeper" until there was nothing left of the carcass whatever, not even a hair of its tail—and Mr. Bingham volunteered the information that an elephant has 182 hairs on this section of its anatomy. All this transpired with a period of only thirty days. In this manner had the early civilization of Ceylon been obliterated, until explorers unearthed its hidden secrets underneath the vegetation.

The elephant, incidentally, had become a notable servant to mankind in his labors. Pictures illustrating this and other phases of life on the island were shown on the screen, the speaker concluding his discourse on the modern aspects of the tea industry, which is now the mainstay of Ceylon. This description was brimful of interest, stressing the commercial importance of a country and a people living in contentment under Pax Britannica and tropical sunshine.

A vote of thanks was expressed to Mr. Bingham on behalf of the Lions Club and their guests, and the sentiment drew hearty applause from all present.

BRITAIN'S IMPROVED RELIEF SYSTEM (Christian Science Monitor)

The new machinery of unemployment relief which has been created by the British Government is now coming into operation. The able-bodied unemployed henceforward are divided into two classes; those who are in insurance, receiving fixed payments from the fund; and those who are uninsured or have exhausted their rights to insurance benefit. All of the latter class will henceforward be dealt with by the officers of an Unemployment Assistance Board responsible to the central government. Immense powers have been conferred upon this body.

In drawing up its rules the board has sought to standardize the scales of relief so that they will be the same for all unemployed persons everywhere, and to make this standardization compatible with elasticity. Scales of relief are laid down in respect of a man, his wife and his children. But the amount given is to vary according to the rent that he has to pay, his own savings, and the earnings of any member of his household. These considerations are further modified so that saving may not be discouraged and that an earning member of a family may not have a grievance.

An applicant must not under any circumstance receive as much in relief as he would receive in wages were he at work. It will be observed that the hated "means test" does not disappear. But it has been freed from its more objectionable features.

Benevolent bureaucracy is now in charge. It will be efficient and disinterested. Whether it will also be "human" remains to be seen.

"The best years for the teaching of citizenship are between the ages of 16 and 18."

COMMITTEES REPORT AT LIONS CLUB MEETING

The regular meeting of the Lions Club of Lachute was held on Wednesday evening at the Cosy Inn. In the absence of Lion President Valois, the chair was occupied by Lion Rev. H. Cousens, 1st. Vice-President.

Lion Philippe Roy was boosted by Lion Bill Cottingham. The members drawing the winning numbers and receiving Lion Roy's gifts were Lion J. E. Walker and Lion J. D. Lepine.

The balance of the meeting was devoted to receiving the reports and recommendations of the various committees. Perhaps the most outstanding report was that of Lion Clement Tremblay, chairman of the Health and Welfare Committee. Lion Tremblay turned in net proceeds of over $160.00 as the result of the recent Hockey Match and Drawing. These proceeds will be devoted entirely to welfare work and the committee is now giving its attention to several needy cases.

The drawing of the Ayers Travelling Rug, donated by Ayers Ltd., for the benefit of the Welfare Committee, was held at this meeting, Mrs. W. M. Cottingham holding the winning number.

The next regular meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 17th., when all members are expected to be in attendance.

Mr. Howard Doig has taken over Mr. A. C. Bradford's C.C.M. Bicycle Sales and Repairs, and will conduct business at his home, 2 Drew Street.

BUY ON MAIN STREET

Business, like charity, should begin at home. Most people agree with the general principle that buying should be done in one's home town. They think it is a good idea for other people but they do not always do it themselves. Women are responsible for a large part of the household purchasing and in thankfulness for the favours done and in hopes for future help, they should try to buy at home. If your town merchant has not the required article in stock, he can usually get it. At least give him a chance before you go out of town. If you do not buy at home how can you expect the town business people to support your interests. When you are taking up a subscription, where do you go first? To Main Street. When you sell tickets, who do you expect to buy? Main Street. When you want prizes donated, where do you get them? Main Street. When you want to borrow properties for your play or to decorate the town hall where do you get them? Main Street. You expect all these things of your business people so it is only fair to give them your business. Business people should do their part. Sometimes there is such a difference in price that one is tempted to buy out of town, but usually prices are about the same. Promptness in filling orders is something that the town business person sometimes fails in. If a woman has to wait an endless time for her purchases she is apt to be discouraged and next time send herself for merchandise. Certainly the large stores emphasize speed. You may feel that the little bit you buy will make no difference. Every purchase has an effect on business conditions. It is like the pebble which is dropped in the water. It is very small but the water is affected for some distance. Every dollar that is spent at home makes its little ripple in business conditions.

A TEND NAME

The other day a friend introduced me to her small son, aged three. He looked at me and said, "Mrs. Brown! That's not a real name. That's a 'tend name.' It appears that he very often plays that he is not himself, but is somebody else, and the name he always chooses for himself is "Mrs. Brown."

CHILDREN LIKE DISCIPLINE

Parents, teachers and others in authority over children, sometimes do not make children do as they are told because they wish to be liked. Yet children like and respect those who require a reasonable discipline. Look back over your teachers and it is not the teacher who let you do as you liked, that you like best. The growing generation are no different. I was talking to a young lad who is a Cub. He was telling me that they had a new Cub Master. I knew that he liked his former Cub Master so I asked him about the new one. He said, "I like him. I like him better than the last one. He makes us do what he tells us."

PREPAREDNESS

We hear a good deal about preparedness these days and the home is a good place to start. The mother is the lubricating oil which keeps family life running smoothly and she can do even better work if she is prepared. Of course the rest of the family may do their share too. You know how cross you are apt to be when you are tired, or hungry, or worried, or when you are not feeling well. Learn to recognize those symptoms in yourself and be prepared for the fact that you are likely to be cross. When you know it is just a by-product possibly you will be able to prevent it by being forewarned. When you know these symptoms in yourself, learn to recognize them in others and when you know what is causing them, do not let it annoy you as it otherwise would. Very often you can do something about eliminating the cause. Tiredness and loss of sleep is one of the most frequent causes of family crossness. Try to build up reserves of sleep to draw on when necessary, instead of catching up lost sleep. If you cannot avoid the things which have caused irritation, you can do a good bit to lessen its effect by ignoring it. You will feel so superior at recognizing the cause behind, that you will have no difficulty in ignoring the irritation.

BAKING TESTS

A cake is cooked if:

1. It springs back if the surface is touched.
2. It shrinks from the pan.
3. It stops singing.

HEAVENLY FOOD

2 eggs
2/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup dates
1 cup walnuts
Scant 1/2 cup flour

Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon coloured, add sugar gradually and continue beating. Add sifted flour, baking powder, vanilla, dates and nuts, cut in pieces. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a buttered pan 8" square, in a slow oven of 275 degrees for an hour and a quarter. Cut in squares while hot. The only poor thing about this recipe is its name. However, I did not name it so you are at liberty to change it. The slow oven is essential for its success. If you prefer fewer nuts, increase the quantity of dates.

WATCH THE FOOD SUPPLY OF THE BEES

Most bees are given enough food in the fall to carry them through to the following spring, provided the winter is not too severe, and the spring flowers yield early, but many do not live to see the flowers bloom. According to the Dominion Apiarist more colonies of bees are lost during the latter part of March and throughout April than at any other period of the year, simply because of starvation. He advises beekeepers to check up the food supply of the bees and be prepared to supplement it as soon as weather conditions will permit.

ONTARIO PROBING STERILIZATION

The Ontario Government plans a study of the working of sterilization laws in various states of the United States and in the two Canadian provinces, Alberta and British Columbia, where such laws operate, according to a statement by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn.

With the majority of his Cabinet, the Premier heard a proposal from the Eugenics Society of Canada for sterilization of mental defectives in the province. While he promised a study of the question, he said the Government would take no action along these lines at the forthcoming session of the Legislature.

JOBLESS SETTLEMENT GETS GIFT

An unemployed settlement in the City of London, which grows its own food, makes its own clothes and repairs its own shoes, has received $150,000 from Lord Nuffield, formerly Sir William Morris.

The famous motor magnate thus has provided accommodations for 1,250 workless at the Upholland unemployed settlement, which occupies seven acres of land and empty farm buildings.

Launched by the Society of Friends, its activities embrace vegetable growing, livestock, tailoring and carpentry.

POLICE CHIEF PAYS FINE

The Minneapolis police department drive against traffic violators caught up with Chief of Police Michael Johannes himself.

He was taken to a theatre by Luverne Edwards, police driver. When Edwards came back later to pick up the chief he was early and double-parked.

A patrolman tagged his car over his protests that "You can't do that, this is the chief's car."

The patrolman passed off the remark as "another alibi" and the chief paid a $1 fine.

RADIO IN THE HOSPITALS

In a letter received by the Radio Commission the other day it was suggested that the majority of people do not really listen to music from the radio but employ it mainly as a pleasant background to conversation, bridge and other home entertainment. However that may be in the case of people in their own homes, it is not so with the less fortunate and crippled. From Ste. Anne's Military Hospital there comes to the Commission a letter addressed by Guy L. Stebbing to "Billie and Pierre", the characters in the Commission's program originating in the studios of station CRCM, Montreal. "We listen in here, in our ward, at the Military Hospital, to your very delightful sketches and are always very much amused and entertained," writes Mr. Stebbing. "It helps to pass away the time as one cannot be reading all the time. And when 'lights out' time comes we can think about the various entertainments on the radio before going to sleep."

FEEDING THE CHICKS

A good starting mash for baby chicks consists of: middlings, ground yellow corn, ground oat groats, each one part; shorts, alfalfa leaf meal and animal feed mixture, each 1/2 part; bone meal 2 per cent; cod liver oil 1 to 2 per cent, and salt 1/2 per cent. Start feeding as soon as the chicks enter the brooding quarters. Supply water with the chill taken off, charcoal, shell and grit or river sand.

Clergyman, giving out notices: "I wish to say that the collections today will be devoted to the 'arch fund', and not, as inadvertently stated in the local paper, to the 'arch fiend'."

"The typical Canadian look", says an Eastern artist, "has youthfulness, force, and independence." With a touch of oh-yeah.

NEW APPLICATION OF UNEMPLOYED FUNDS

In France, where over $100,000,000 a year is spent to feed those in distress, the number of the unemployed has reached the total of 500,000. As a substitute for the dole, the Government is seeking to increase jobs by diverting part of the unemployed funds to employers who take on extra help.

STUDENT AWARDED DAMAGES FOR POLICE ASSAULT

A student of University of Montreal who was unjustly beaten and arrested by police during a Communist demonstration in Lafontaine Park last July, has been awarded $150 damages by Mr. Justice C. Gordon Mackinnon of the Superior Court.

The student, Yvon Comire, took action for $999 damages against the City of Montreal. The evidence disclosed that there was a large crowd at the park and police were endeavoring to break up the meeting and disperse the people. Comire told the court he had taken no part in the demonstration, but was assaulted and knocked down by a policeman, and was conducted to the police station through a neighborhood where he was well known.

The evidence of the police constables was to the effect that Comire had been told to move on several times and had refused, with the result that he was arrested quietly and taken to the police station. While he was being arrested there was a movement of the crowd, they said, which knocked both the constable and Comire down. If he received any injury, city attorneys said, it was through having been knocked down by the crowd.

In holding the city responsible, the court took into consideration evidence by disinterested witnesses, and the court found "the assault was malicious and the arrest without reasonable or probable cause."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, April 7th., is "Unreality."

The Golden Text is:—"Judge not according to the appearances, but judge righteous judgment." (John 7: 24).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?" (Matthew 7: 15, 16).

"Nature and revelation inform us that like produces like. Divine Science does not gather grapes from thorns nor figs from thistles. Intelligence never produces non-intelligence; but matter is ever non-intelligent and therefore cannot spring from intelligence. To all that is unlike unerring and eternal Mind, this Mind saith, 'Thou shalt surely die;' and elsewhere the Scripture says that dust returns to dust. The non-intelligent relapses into its own unreality." (Science and Health pp. 276, 277).

DOCTOR SAID SHE NEEDED "BULK" FOR HER CONSTIPATION*

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief to Mrs. Manely

Read the following unsolicited letter:

"Up to five years ago, I knew no end of suffering caused by constipation. I used all kinds of laxatives but only found relief till I got used to them. My physician told me to get some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and instructed me how to use it.

"I did just as I was told by my doctor, and today I send my highest praise for what your ALL-BRAN has done for me." —Mrs. Jas. Manely, Jr. Address upon request.

*Due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to help overcome common constipation. It is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN is often more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Isn't this food much pleasanter and safer than risking patent medicines? Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

BUY ON MAIN STREET

Business, like charity, should begin at home. Most people agree with the general principle that buying should be done in one's home town. They think it is a good idea for other people but they do not always do it themselves. Women are responsible for a large part of the household purchasing and in thankfulness for the favours done and in hopes for future help, they should try to buy at home. If your town merchant has not the required article in stock, he can usually get it. At least give him a chance before you go out of town. If you do not buy at home how can you expect the town business people to support your interests. When you are taking up a subscription, where do you go first? To Main Street. When you sell tickets, who do you expect to buy? Main Street. When you want prizes donated, where do you get them? Main Street. When you want to borrow properties for your play or to decorate the town hall where do you get them? Main Street. You expect all these things of your business people so it is only fair to give them your business. Business people should do their part. Sometimes there is such a difference in price that one is tempted to buy out of town, but usually prices are about the same. Promptness in filling orders is something that the town business person sometimes fails in. If a woman has to wait an endless time for her purchases she is apt to be discouraged and next time send herself for merchandise. Certainly the large stores emphasize speed. You may feel that the little bit you buy will make no difference. Every purchase has an effect on business conditions. It is like the pebble which is dropped in the water. It is very small but the water is affected for some distance. Every dollar that is spent at home makes its little ripple in business conditions.

A TEND NAME

The other day a friend introduced me to her small son, aged three. He looked at me and said, "Mrs. Brown! That's not a real name. That's a 'tend name.' It appears that he very often plays that he is not himself, but is somebody else, and the name he always chooses for himself is "Mrs. Brown."

CHILDREN LIKE DISCIPLINE

Parents, teachers and others in authority over children, sometimes do not make children do as they are told because they wish to be liked. Yet children like and respect those who require a reasonable discipline. Look back over your teachers and it is not the teacher who let you do as you liked, that you like best. The growing generation are no different. I was talking to a young lad who is a Cub. He was telling me that they had a new Cub Master. JOBLESS SETTLEMENT GETS GIFT

An unemployed settlement in the City of London, which grows its own food, makes its own clothes and repairs its own shoes, has received $150,000 from Lord Nuffield, formerly Sir William Morris.

The famous motor magnate thus has provided accommodations for 1,250 workless at the Upholland unemployed settlement, which occupies seven acres of land and empty farm buildings.

Launched by the Society of Friends, its activities embrace vegetable growing, livestock, tailoring and carpentry.

POLICE CHIEF PAYS FINE

The Minneapolis police department drive against traffic violators caught up with Chief of Police Michael Johannes himself.

He was taken to a theatre by Luverne Edwards, police driver. When Edwards came back later to pick up the chief he was early and double-parked.

A patrolman tagged his car over his protests that "You can't do that, this is the chief's car."

The patrolman passed off the remark as "another alibi" and the chief paid a $1 fine.

RADIO IN THE HOSPITALS

In a letter received by the Radio Commission the other day it was suggested that the majority of people do not really listen to music from the radio but employ it mainly as a pleasant background to conversation, bridge and other home entertainment. However that may be in the case of people in their own homes, it is not so with the less fortunate and crippled. From Ste. Anne's Military Hospital there comes to the Commission a letter addressed by Guy L. Stebbing to "Billie and Pierre", the characters in the Commission's program originating in the studios of station CRMC, Montreal. "We listen in here, in our ward, at the Military Hospital, to your very delightful sketches and are always very much amused and entertained," writes Mr. Stebbing. "It helps to pass away the time as one cannot be reading all the time. And when 'lights out' time comes we can think about the various entertainments on the radio before going to sleep."

FEEDING THE CHICKS

A good starting mash for baby chicks consists of: middlings, ground yellow corn, ground oat groats, each one part; shorts, alfalfa leaf meal and animal feed mixture, each 1/2 part; bone meal 2 per cent; cod liver oil 1 to 2 per cent, and salt 1/2 per cent. Start feeding as soon as the chicks enter the brooding quarters. Supply water with the chill taken off, charcoal, shell and grit or river sand.

Clergyman, giving out notices: "I wish to say that the collections today will be devoted to the 'arch fund', and not, as inadvertently stated in the local paper, to the 'arch fiend'."

"The typical Canadian look", says an Eastern artist, "has youthfulness, force, and independence." With a touch of oh-yeah.

NEW APPLICATION OF UNEMPLOYED FUNDS

In France, where over $100,000,000 a year is spent to feed those in distress, the number of the unemployed has reached the total of 500,000. As a substitute for the dole, the Government is seeking to increase jobs by diverting part of the unemployed funds to employers who take on extra help.

STUDENT AWARDED DAMAGES FOR POLICE ASSAULT

A student of University of Montreal who was unjustly beaten and arrested by police during a Communist demonstration in Lafontaine Park last July, has been awarded $150 damages by Mr. Justice C. Gordon Mackinnon of the Superior Court.

The student, Yvon Comire, took action for $999 damages against the City of Montreal. The evidence disclosed that there was a large crowd at the park and police were endeavoring to break up the meeting and disperse the people. Comire told the court he had taken no part in the demonstration, but was assaulted and knocked down by a policeman, and was conducted to the police station through a neighborhood where he was well known.

The evidence of the police constables was to the effect that Comire had been told to move on several times and had refused, with the result that he was arrested quietly and taken to the police station. While he was being arrested there was a movement of the crowd, they said, which knocked both the constable and Comire down. If he received any injury, city attorneys said, it was through having been knocked down by the crowd.

In holding the city responsible, the court took into consideration evidence by disinterested witnesses, and the court found "the assault was malicious and the arrest without reasonable or probable cause."

DOCTOR SAID SHE NEEDED "BULK" FOR HER CONSTIPATION*

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief to Mrs. Maneely

Read the following unsolicited letter:

"Up to five years ago, I knew no end of suffering caused by constipation. I used all kinds of laxatives but only found relief till I got used to them. My physician told me to get some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and instructed me how to use it.

"I did just as I was told by my doctor, and today I send my highest praise for what your ALL-BRAN has done for me." —Mrs. Jas. Maneely, Jr. Address upon request.

*Due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to help overcome common constipation. It is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN is often more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Isn't this food much pleasanter and safer than risking patent medicines? Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

A special meeting of the W.M.S. was called last Thursday afternoon, at the United Church, with Pte. Fortune and Cushing Auxiliaries as guests. The heavy rain and bad roads prevented many members and friends from attending, but did not daunt the valiant Field Secretary, Miss Evelyn Mitchell, from keeping her appointment, though suffering from sore throat. This was her last engagement in a Dominion-wide survey of the W.M.S. work.

Before presenting Miss Mitchell, the President, Mrs. Lilly, emphasized the phrase "If the salt have lost it savour" from the scripture read by Mrs. A. Graham. These words, she said, had flashed into her mind upon hearing Miss Mitchell's address at the recent Presbyterian.

With story after story Miss Mitchell demonstrated how small a grain of faith was keeping wholesome the life of some desolate community. Her hearers were impressed with her earnest personality, and her efficiency in linking up the needs of remote sections with the ministry of less handicapped districts.

Regret was expressed at the absence of the District President, Mrs. R. Bradford.

A short conference followed and the meeting was closed with a prayer by Mrs. McLean. A social hour followed.

FOUR STRIKE LEADERS ARRESTED, ARE NOW AWAITING TRIAL

THREATENED CLASH WITH UNEMPLOYED AVERTED AS AGREEMENT IS REACHED WITH COUNCIL

Three provincial constables appeared in town last Friday evening as local unemployed became unruly and threatened to break into stores and help themselves unless the Council agreed to a higher rate of payment for relief work. Four men, alleged ring-leaders in the disturbance, were arrested and taken to St. Jerome Jail on a charge of inciting the workers to strike. They are Rosaire Gariepy, who was spokesman at last week's council meeting to air the relief workers' grievances, Paul Joly, Napoleon Gauthier, and Romeo Chartrand; they were aroused from their beds and arrested by the constables last Friday night, and were taken to St. Jerome on Saturday.

The complaints concerning low wages appeared to follow the ceasing of activities in the town's bush-lot, where the men have been engaged since the beginning of February. On Friday 46 men were put to work cleaning the roads and sidewalks, on relief pay of 15 cents an hour for an eight-hour day. The strike was called for 20 cents, and the men massed around the Town Hall in protest.

The Council went into conference, but the leaders refused to call off the strike. They were taken to St. Jerome, and others of the group were called in to consult with the councillors. Later in the day an agreement was reached whereby the rate of 15 cents an hour should be continued to the relief workers, until such time as construction work could be started in town, when the rate would be increased to 20 cents an hour.

Trial of the four men is expected to take place on Saturday.

"On April 2nd., a great snow storm started, continuing four days, during which several houses were enveloped at Morin Flats"—Old Timers will recall those "good old winters" and other conditions prevailing 50 years ago in these parts. QUEBEC GOVERNMENT PLANS TO AID PROTESTANT COLONISTS

—SETTLEMENT IN GASPE AND TOWNSHIPS LIKELY

Annual grants totalling $16,000 will be made by the Quebec Government to four Protestant colonization societies to be formed in the Province of Quebec, to arrange settlement under the $10,000,000 Vautrin Back-to-the-Land plan.

Ministers of Protestant churches in the province conferred recently at Quebec, according to Hon. Mr. Vautrin, and agreed to form in the near future the four colonization societies and to incorporate them at Quebec. Under these conditions each will receive an annual grant of $4,000 for the promotion of settlement on the land by Protestant families in the province.

Protestant ministers of Montreal, Hon. Mr. Vautrin said, had expressed to him the desire to have colonists and their families of the Protestant faith settled, if possible, on land in the Eastern Townships.

"PAINT UP, CLEAN UP"—BEAUTIFUL HOMES MAKE A BEAUTIFUL TOWN!

Clean-Up Day will be duly proclaimed on the civic calendar, but in the meantime there is much ground work to merit the attention of our citizens. In a short time the snow will have vanished from shaded yards and obscure corners, and it is then that folks can set to and brighten up their premises.

Paints and garden-tools will soon take the headlines; at no great expense a real transformation can imbue this town with beauty and appeal, through the effort of individual residents around their homes.

Jobless men will be glad to earn a few dollars in this way. One's civic pride can find no more concrete evidence than at this season. Let everyone manifest that pride!

This Changing World

We wonder if our wisdom will ever appear so ridiculous! In the year 1828 a request was made of the school board in Lancaster, Ohio, for the use of the school house for the purpose of discussing the possibilities of rail transportation. The school board denied the request in the following letter: "You are welcome to use the school house to debate all proper questions but such things as railroads and telegraphs are impossibilities and rank infidelity. There is nothing in the word of God about them. If God had designed that his creatures should travel at the frightful speed of 15 miles an hour by steam he would have foretold it through his holy prophets. The railroad is a device of Satan to lead immortal souls down to hell." —Exchange.

175,418 GOVERNMENTS IN U. S. (Calgary Herald)

It required two years for an investigator to compile the number of local governments in the United States. The count, just completed by Professor Anderson of the University of Minnesota, provides a total of 175,418. It includes 127,000 school districts, 20,000 townships, 16,000 incorporated cities or villages, 3,000 counties and 8,600 miscellaneous sewer districts, park districts, levee districts, mosquito abatement districts and so forth, each with a payroll and the authority to levy taxes.

ONE OF OLDEST DWELLINGS DISAPPEARING

An old land-mark is being demolished, in the former Ayers home near the Mills offices. First the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ayers, an illustrious couple who pioneered the development of an industry which has since grown to immense proportions, this house was also the birthplace of the Ayers brothers, Messrs. Harry, Ernest, and the late John T. Ayers, and is associated with many early reminiscences of days when the district was sparsely settled and of little commercial importance.

NEW HIGHWAY TO BE BUILT TO HULL

Besides an ambitious scheme to proceed with the Abitibi highway, it is announced from Quebec that the Roads Department program this season also includes a new highway on the west side of the Lievre river from Notre Dame de Laus to Hull, shortening the distance by 24 miles between these two points.

Hon. J. E. Perrault, minister of highways, indicated that departmental engineers of the Quebec government will work at once on the proposal and that construction will start this year.

THE CAPITAL, SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

GREAT CHANGES NOTED IN 40 YEARS BETWEEN ROYAL VISITS

In September, 1860, Ottawa was all astir with excitement in its welcome to Albert Edward, later King and ruler of the British Empire. In 1901, forty-one years later, welcome was being extended to his distinguished son, the Duke of Cornwall and York.

It was a vastly different city in appearance to that which extended warm welcome to the Duke's illustrious father in 1860. It was then an almost backwoods town. Quagmires and muddy streets, with vacant areas and stumps and stones greeted the eye of the then coming King on every side. One distinguished visitor who accompanied the prince in 1860, wrote—

"There has been as yet no time to pave the streets and in bad weather they are in a desperate state; only near the houses, as in most of the youngest towns of Canada, there run what are called plank roads—footpaths made of boards."

"As for gardens, fruit trees or flowers, no one has had time to so much as think of them, and the old rough boulders and masses of rock are lying about still among the groups of houses; and fir and other forest trees are springing up again out of the stumps. Here and there amongst elegant colleges and churches are to be seen fragments of the primeval forest, lofty pines and firs and thick underwood that occasionally may give shelter to a bear."

urer, T. K. Haller; Secretary, H. McFaul.

Board—R. Hamilton, J. W. Gall, W. J. Deacon, J. A. McGibbon.

House and Ice Committee—W. A. MacKimmie, W. J. Deacon, Jos. Berniquier.

Refreshment Committee—W. K. McArthur, W. J. Deacon, R. Vickery, Angus Taylor, Geo. Duhamel, Jas. McGibbon, Gordon McQuat, L. E. McMartin, R. Hamilton, J. Falconer, and H. Scott.

RE-PLANNING OF MAIN STREET MUCH NEEDED IMPROVEMENT

PROJECT WILL PROVIDE EMPLOYMENT AND GREATLY ENHANCE APPEARANCE OF TOWN

The fact that earnest endeavor is now being made toward the remodelling of Main Street, is learned with genuine satisfaction, and the Council is assured of hearty co-operation from all enterprising citizens.

The Watchman has urged the necessity of this improvement on many occasions, but it has always been side-tracked. In consequence the town has suffered the ignominy of slurs from passing tourists and others who come to town in greater numbers year by year. While, by some, any zeal in boosting the town is characterized as waste and extravagance, yet we sincerely believe an expenditure in the proper laying out of Main Street would be money wisely spent, if only from an advertising point of view, for its present condition is anything but conducive to favorable comment.

It is a matter of congratulation that our citizens generally are imbued with civic pride, as evidenced by the well kept homes in our residential centres and the gradual elimination of buildings that were unsightly and detracted from the neat appearance of the community.

In discussing this matter one may be perfectly frank and confess, also, Lachute is not a well-lit town. The street lighting arrangements are not of the best. Greater benefit would be derived from lights placed in the centre of the streets rather than at the sides where much of their effectiveness is lost in overhanging trees.

A move is on foot to reconstruct the town's Main thoroughfare; it is also hoped the question of street lighting may soon command the attention of our Civic Fathers.

DEATH SEVERS LINK WITH PIONEER FAMILIES

Cushing—Word is received of the death of George Smith, at the age of 83, on Mar. 23rd. at his home in Compton, California. Mr. Smith was born in Cushing and lived until manhood at the old Smith homestead, a son of John Smith (Pilot) and his wife Margaret Dale of Dalesville. His death marks the passing of the last of their large family of boys and girls.

Prior to the 27 years spent in California, Mr. Smith had spent some years in South Dakota. He was a life-long member of the Presbyterian Church and is survived by his widow, formerly Florence Hughes, a niece of Mrs. George Bradford of Cushing, also his adopted daughter Mrs. Elizabeth Mayhugh of Los Angeles, Calif., and a large number of nephews and nieces of the Bradford and Graham families, as well as Mr. Bert Smith of Mirabel.

The funeral service was held in Compton, Cal., with Rev. Dr. G. M. Rourke officiating. Interment was made in Woodlawn Cemetery of the same city.

MOST AUTO CRASHES BETWEEN 7 AND 8 P.M.

Seventy-four percent of all motor fatalities in Ontario occur after noon, and from seven to eight o'clock in the evening is the most dangerous hour, twice as dangerous as the noon hour, according to Roy Cadwell in a thesis forming the basis of a report to the Toronto police commission. More than 500 persons were killed, 10,000 injured and $1,000,000 worth of property damaged in Ontario last year through motor accidents.

25 YEAR OLD PLAN TO BEAUTIFY MAIN ST.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor, The Watchman

I see by The Watchman of the 4th. inst. that there is a movement on foot to beautify the town.

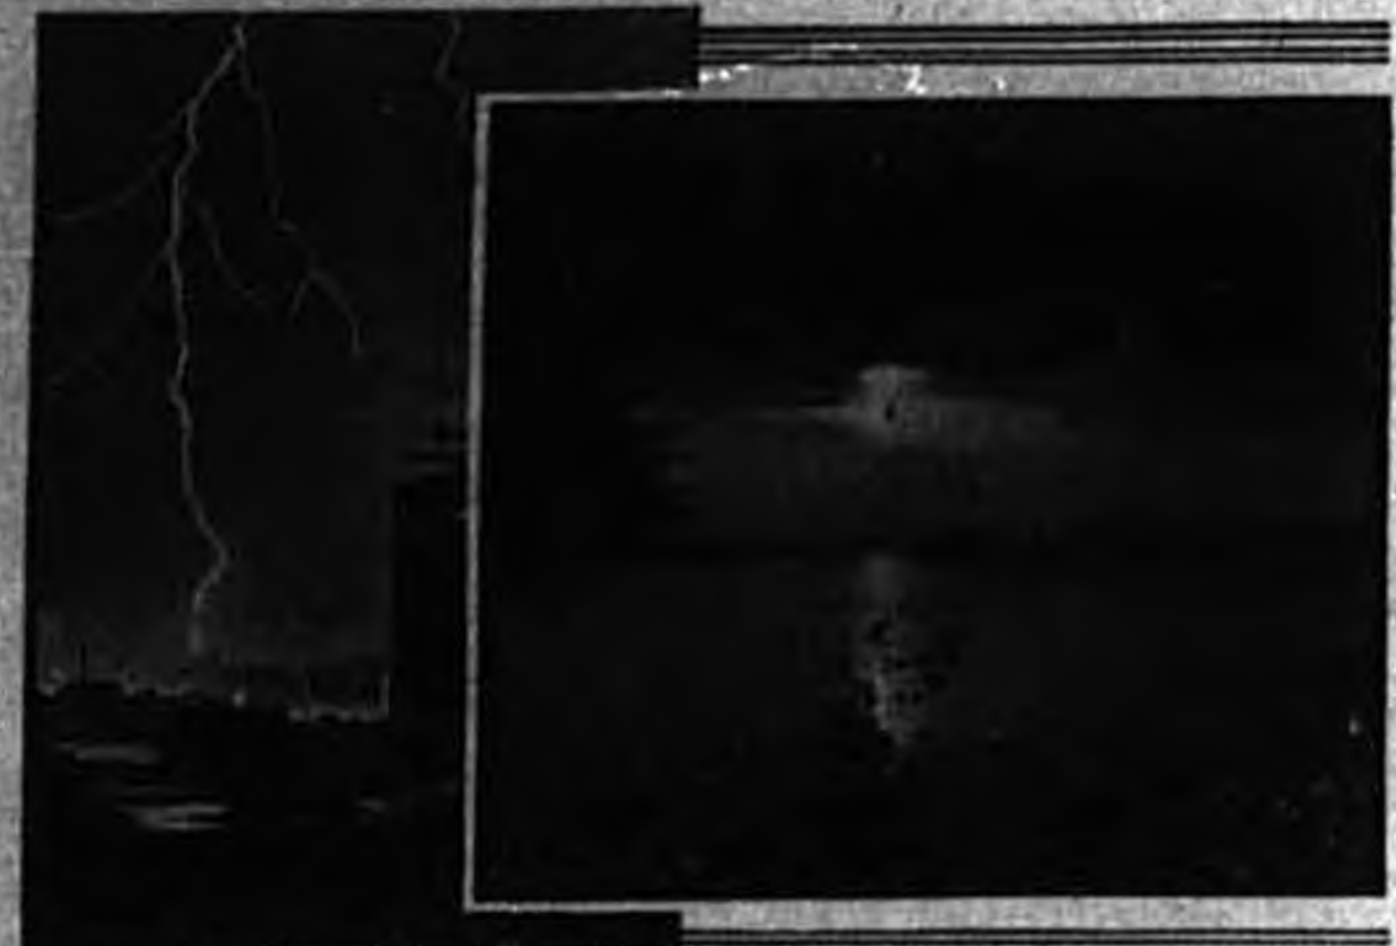

Over a quarter of a century ago I wrote to the Government to give aid towards improving it; and to the Dominion Experimental Farm. After some correspondence, experts were sent down to whom I submitted plans for the Main Street Boulevard. A public meeting was held in Victoria Hall addressed by the Member from Huntingdon, the experts, and others, and the audience expressed enthusiasm, that evidently lasted as far as the Hall door. Since then I have talked to sundry on every occasion, so now I want you to publish some of the features.

The Boulevard was designed from Bethany corner to Barron's Bridge, allowing as now for macadamized roadway for vehicles, and leaving a space wide at the Post Office, and narrowing down to where the Auditorium now stands, leaving

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SPRING LIGHTNING

Lightning and moonlight pictures are unusual and fascinating and you can take them with any kind of a camera.

APRIL showers not only bring May flowers but night-time electrical storms as well. And there's your chance for sensational lightning pictures.

With the dark, clouded skies the sharp ribbons of lightning spread in fantastic, fascinating flashes and when caught by the camera, the resulting picture is really something to talk about and adds variety and interest to your snapshot album.

There is no trick involved in taking lightning pictures. In fact, it's quite simple. If it is raining during the time the lightning is weaving its webs of flashes across the sky, and you don't want to get wet, take your pictures from the inside through an open window. Place the camera on a tripod or something solid at the open window and point it in the direction of the last few flashes. Set your shutter at "time", using the largest diaphragm opening or "stop." You may close the shutter after the first flash or leave it open for the registering of several flashes. Of course, if you leave the shutter open for many flashes, you will get a fantastic conglomeration of ribbons of light but not a true picture of a single flash. However, it will be unusual, to say the least, and well worth adding to your collection of "freaks."

If it is an honest-to-goodness storm, it will pay you in self-satisfaction to take several pictures, for the more brilliant the flashes and the more ribbons of light zigzagging through the dark skies, the greater the chances for a really spectacular picture.

The only form of lightning that does not register satisfactorily is sheet lightning. It merely uniformly illuminates a broad expanse of sky. With this kind of lightning, however, interesting silhouettes of trees and buildings can be secured.

And while discussing Dame Nature's "lighting plant", pictures by moonlight should not be overlooked.

Moonlight will serve to make pictures just as sunlight does, but as it is a great many times weaker than sunlight, exposures must be increased considerably. Perhaps the simplest way to calculate a moonlight exposure is to give 25 minutes for each 1/100 second exposure that would be given the same scene by sunlight.

For example, the exposure in bright sunlight for a landscape with a dark-toned object in the immediate foreground, would be 1/25 of a second with stop f/11 or U.S.8. Then the exposure by the light of a full moon would be 100 minutes with the same stop. This could be cut down to 50 minutes with stop f/8 or U.S.4. For a landscape without a dark-toned object in the immediate foreground about 25 minutes with f/8 or U.S.4 would be ample, and for distant landscapes the exposure can be from 10 to 15 minutes.

If a daylight effect is desired, the exposure must be multiplied by four, and this applies only to nights when the sky is clear and the moon is full.

With a single lens and all fixed focus cameras, use the largest stop and double the exposures given above.

So—let the sky light your way to out-of-the-ordinary pictures.

THE EASTER BUNNY IS RIGHT IN STYLE

The Little Easter Bunny is not feeling funny. He has outgrown his last summer's suit.

His socks are too short for him. And he's needing a new pair of boots.

His trouser seams are bursting. His coat sleeves are too tight. His friends all laugh and tease him.

And say "You look a sight!"

After much thinking and blinking and winking.

A big twinkle appears in his eyes.

He has thought of a plan, and is sure that he can. Just diet and exercise.

A loud Booh sounded in her ear just as she was almost over come with terror. "Joe Bond! You mean creature!" she cried, her voice shaky with emotion. "How dare you scare me like that? I might have known that it was you. No-one else could think up such horrid things to do."

"Thanks, old lady, for the compliment" chuckled Joe, "but where are the others? The East Side Gang are all here." He twisted Tena around as he spoke and she saw for herself that they were. "The others are waiting at the entrance," she giggled mysteriously, "follow me."

"What entrance? The entrance to what?" came from the other children impatiently, but Tena did not tell them. She just ran on, and there was nothing to do but follow her. In a few minutes they too were at the entrance to the path which had been veiled in mystery all these long years. None of the children could ever remember the time when there were not signs up all along that path warning them off, so that it was a feeling of great excitement that they walked two by two behind Miss Morrison and Joe Bond in the dim pine-scented twilight.

"I see a gleaming light!" said Joe suddenly, in such a hollow voice that it sent cold shivers all over them. All except Miss Morrison, whose eyes had been so filled with the glory of the rising moon that she only half-heard Joe's words—and dimly connected them with the moon-rise. Until the excited children crowding eagerly around to see the light which Joe had spoken of, made her realize that it was something more unusual than the moon that was attracting their attention. Suddenly a weird booming sound rose on the air. Tom-tom-tom-tom "My hat!" giggled Lila Bell, "but this is some spooky place." "We are being welcomed in real Indian style," Miss Morrison added softly. "Look children!" Drawing to one side she made room for them at the opening to a clearing in the woods and they all saw a gleaming camp fire with huge iron pots hanging from a stout pole. Steam was rising, filling the place around with such a smell of boiling syrup that they could scarcely keep from announcing their presence with a shout of joy! But sharp eyes had noted their coming. The droning tom-tom suddenly ceased as did the dancing of some Indian maidens who had been circling around the camp fire.

"Welcome to Woonota Camp!" A deep voice startled them, coming from the shadows where no form could be seen. Tena, still a bit shaky from the fright Joe had given her, uttered a little shriek and moved quickly away. But she felt things were no more reassuring when a huge, bat-like form suddenly rose up from the path close beside her. She shrieked again, this time more loudly. "There is nothing to fear at Woonota Camp, little lady"—the bat-like form had a voice too, she realized; and she tried to stop shaking as a big hand clasped hers in the darkness and she was led forward into the light of the fire and found herself looking up into a pair of extremely kind eyes. They looked down at her from a face surmounted with the head-dress of an Indian chief. "Chief Grey Bat bids you welcome," the voice continued, and immediately Tena forgot her fears in the feeling of pride that she was receiving a real personal welcome. By this time the Indian maidens had gathered around, and she found that they were smiling white girls dressed in Indian costume. She did not know why she acted as he did but she found herself stretching out both hands to them and saying impulsively, "I love you." "I am so glad said one of the girls, about her own size—"We are going to be your school mates after Easter. Our dad—this big gloomy grey bat here, has bought this delightful old place and we are going to live here for ever and ever." "Yes," said another of the girls, "we love it here, don't we, father?" "I should say we do," answered Chief Grey Bat, "and we have taken this way to get acquainted with our young neighbors, whom we hope to see much of. But Mom (the Princess Moonbeam) has the taffy all ready, so we must find seats and begin to eat. Where has Miss Morrison gone to?" Looking around, the children were surprised to find her with her arms around the Princess Moonbeam, laughing and crying at the same time. "Bess, oh Bess!" she was saying "why didn't you tell me you were coming here to live?" "We wanted to surprise you, my dear." "You certainly have succeeded—Children," she said, raising her voice slightly, "this is Mrs. Donovan who was once the very dearest school-chum I ever had. I have not seen her for years. I am so delighted."

After they had all had taffy enough, the children were allowed to beat the tom-tom, and what fun it was trying to do it. Some of them managed it very nicely, others only succeeded in making it groan. When they had tired of that sport, Mr. Donovan told them that long years ago the Indians got their supply of sap by cutting gashes in the roots of the trees and catching it in hollow dishes made of curved bark. This they carried to tanks made of clay or heavy bark, and boiled it by throwing red-hot stones into it. "Wow!" said Bob Clark, "I'll bet Miss Morrison would not have eaten their old syrup. She would have wanted something much more sanitary." Bob mimicked Miss Morrison's voice so well that she could scarcely believe it was not herself speaking and she joined heartily in the laughter that followed. Mr. Donovan told so many stories of Indians and the woods, that it was with great reluctance the children rose to go home. But they were happy to have the score of the boys, beating the tom-tom, and the dancing girls, out to the main road.

Next Story "The Blue Bun" takes some exercise."

Lovingly, Aunt Jean.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, April 14th., is "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

The Golden Text is:—"Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved; for thou art my praise." (Jeremiah 17: 14).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me. Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit." (Psalms 51: 10, 12).

"It is sometimes said that Christian Science teaches the nothingness of sin, sickness, and death, and then teaches how this nothingness is to be saved and healed. The nothingness of nothing is plain; but we need to understand that error is nothing, and that its nothingness is not saved, but must be demonstrated in order to prove the somethingness—yea, the allness—of Truth." OTTAWA'S NEW POST OFFICE WILL COST $700,000

Ottawa's new postal terminal will cost in the neighborhood of $700,000, according to tenders opened by the Deputy Minister of Public Works. The lowest bidder was Angus Robertson Co. Ltd., of Toronto, at $605,875 for the building itself. The lowest bidder for the foundation work was the Foundation Co., of Montreal, at $76,714.

It is intended to demolish the present Post Office to make way for the Canadian National War Memorial which, recently erected temporarily in Hyde Park, London, has been in process of construction for the past 12 years.

GROUPS FOR CADETS OPPOSED

The education committee of the London County Council — of which Labor is now in control — has decided to recommend that the council should disband the cadet corps in the secondary schools. The governors of schools which receive aid from the L.C.C. are also to be invited to fall in line.

This step was taken after an intensive debate. The committee held the training of the cadet corps possessed very little educational advantage and was inconsistent with the spirit of peace.

Captain Eric Hall, dissenting, said there was no evidence to show the cadet corps training had no considerable educational advantage, or that on the present voluntary basis it had any militaristic influence. He believed the cadet corps on the other hand was extremely valuable for character building.

"This is not a junior branch of the War Office; it is an education committee," retorted Charles Simpson, the chairman. "We have to consider the matter from the education point of view. Here we have boys who ought to be receiving education in school going out at 9 o'clock in the morning on a field day, and returning at 4 o'clock in the afternoon."

"These boys of 12 to 15, dressed in khaki, carry machine guns borrowed from the territorial units. They are attracted by the sound of bands and uniforms. But the other side of the picture — the beastliness and the horror of war — is overlooked."

Capt. Hall's amendment was lost.

JAILED FOR DAMAGE TO TOWN HALL

Pleading guilty to having caused damage to the extent of $40 to the town hall of Maniwaki, Que., Alfred Lamoureux of that village was sentenced to one month in jail by Magistrate Millar, in Hull police court. It was stated that Lamoureux, after officials of the village refused to pay for the admission of his wife to the hospital, returned to his home and, taking an axe, went to the town hall and broke six windows. He was arrested. The reason for the refusal to pay the hospital costs, it is stated, was that the accused was working and earning $40 a month.

JOHN BUCHAN NOT FIRST COMMONER GOVERNOR

A document put before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council shows that, shortly after Confederation, a commoner was appointed as Governor-General of Canada. Some authorities had believed John Buchan, who will succeed the Earl of Bessborough in that office, was the first commoner.

The document showed that more than 60 years ago Sir John Young held office as a Baronet. He was therefore regarded as a commoner. He was appointed Governor-General in 1868, upon the resignation of Viscount Monck, the Dominion's first Governor-General, who inaugurated the Federation of 1867.

Sir John was created Baron

Lisgar in 1870. He relinquished the office two years later.

Lord Macmillan, who raised the matter in the Judicial Committee, said he had always understood Mr. Buchan was the first commoner to be appointed Governor-General at Ottawa, but the document in question concerning Canada proved otherwise.

MANY INTERESTING FACTS FEATURE STORY OF BERMUDA

Bermuda has not always had its present name. According to old records, it was first called "Sommer Island" in respect of the continual temporal air, and in remembrance of Sir George Sommers who died there.

To modesty Bermuda owes its three types of fireplaces, the ankle, knee and waist high. According to Claudia Darrell, whose three-hundred-year-old home, Waterlot Inn, has many features of early architecture, the hearth was so raised that women would not have to bend over the fire, thus running the risk of showing their petticoats.

Mark Twain was one of the first Americans to "discover" Bermuda. On his first trip there he said to his travelling companion, the Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, "Joe, this place is like Heaven, and I'm going to make the most of it."

"Mark", Twichell replied, "that's right; make the most of a place like Heaven while you have a chance."

POLICE RADIO GIVES SPEEDY SERVICE

A report on the operation of police radio at Austin, State of Texas, showed that the system has been 99.9 per cent mechanically efficient, having been out of order for only twenty minutes in a period of several months. A reduction from twenty minutes to two minutes was remarked in the time taken by officers responding to calls; the improvement had resulted in almost the complete elimination of complaints by citizens of police delay in arriving at the place where they are needed.

QUEBEC CITY WANTS SHARE OF GAS TAX

The City of Quebec will request the Quebec Legislature to divert the gasoline tax collected in the city during the winter months to the civic treasury, according to announcement by Mayor J. E. Gregoire.

In explaining the proposal, Mayor Gregoire stated that the taxpayers of the city spent hundreds of thousands of dollars every year to keep the streets open for automobile traffic and if the proposal was accepted it would greatly aid municipal finances.

UTILITIES SHOW PROFIT OF $22,104

Net profits of $22,104 upon operations in water, electricity and gas were reported for the year 1934 by the Public Utilities Commission at Brockville, Ont., a municipal organization operating these utilities. In addition, rebate of electric rates during the year amounted to $23,496, total rebates during the past eight years amounting to $131,006.

MUNICIPAL OFFICER JAILED FOR THEFT

Thomas H. Rosser, former secretary-treasurer of Shellbrook rural municipality, Saskatchewan, was sentenced to three months in jail on each of eight charges of embezzlement, sentences to run concurrently. Rosser pleaded guilty. He completed restitution last November of the funds, approximating $1,900.

TREATED WOOD FOR HIGHWAYS

Greater use of "treated" timber in highways, bridges and culverts was advocated by W. H. Greene of Calgary, at the convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association in Toronto.

In Germany, he said, timber was being used in bridges up to 1,000-foot span, while railways in Canada were turning to the use of wood, and timber was also being combined with concrete in a composite type structure. Mr. Greene urged greater consideration of this native material which, he said, was about 50 to 55 per cent of the cost of steel.

A COSTLY INQUIRY

The sum of $5,710 was expended in the recent inquiry of purchases for the Quebec City Fire Department, according to an official statement. Several aldermen declared the city should not pay more than the $4,000 voted for the inquiry.

According to the official statement, Paul Drouin, City Lawyer, received $2,200; witnesses and stenography amounted to $1,435; Robert Simon received $75 for the transcription of documents, and Recorder Eugene Desrivieres got $2,000.

SHUT OUT THE TRANSIENT!

It was remarked in these columns that transient beggars are becoming few and far between, but the open weather has evidenced an increase in the number noted recently around town.

There is no law to exclude these mendicants from the town limits; they are not considered in the class of professional beggars, but as transients, who too readily excite pity and levy a hand-out of food, clothing, and often money.

Householders fear to do an injustice by turning these men away. But if they would realize that it is only such generosity which encourages them and makes possible their present mode of living, citizens would harden their hearts. If transients return perennially to this town, it is only because its reputation for "easy pickings" has been noised abroad among the wayfaring brethren. Local householders and merchants can put a stop to this practice by refusing to encourage it.

We have stressed this plea before — at the risk of appearing uncharitable. Municipalities have sought to curtail the habit by demanding six-months' residence before applicants are eligible for relief. But itchy feet find these restrictions irksome. Moreover, on the road they do not have to work for their living. They subsist on charity which might be better applied to local needs. Our own poor have first claim upon the benefits of the community; and, if only to co-operate with civic bodies in the administration of organized relief, citizens should turn a deaf ear to the wanderers.

Many of our local unemployed have family ties; they cannot seek the freedom of the road. And while the chomeurs have to stay home and work for their relief, it is decidedly unfair that outsiders may come in and subsist on the charity of misguided givers.

16.7 PER CENT OF URBAN POPULATION JOBLESS

Although not strictly complete, the document compiled recently by Professor Leonard Marsh of McGill Department of Social Research, for use of the Canadian Mayors in Conference at Montreal, is a concise guide to unemployment conditions in the Dominion.

These statistics reveal that the actual number of wage-earners who were on relief in 90 cities and towns in February was 664,500, which represented 16.7 per cent of the population of 3,970,500 in those 90 towns, and that the annual cost to the municipalities for their share of relief was $19,183,500, which was 10.3 per cent of the annual civic revenue. Among these wage-earners were included 150,000 who were seasonally or temporarily unemployed, while the grand total of wage earners, wives and dependents ran to a total of 1,050,000.

The figures supplied by the different provincial Governments, with the exception of Prince Edward Island, show that while Ontario heads the list with 390,300 persons on direct relief, as compared with 320,600 in the province of Quebec, the percentage in the cities listed shows that the province of Quebec leads with 260,070 as compared with 254,900 in the cities of Ontario. So that in Quebec province 81.1 per cent of the direct relief is being paid out to 25 municipalities, as against 65.3 per cent in 41 of the municipalities tabulated for Ontario.

New Brunswick is at the bottom of the list with only 27.6 per cent of its people on relief being located in cities or towns, while Nova

The Ottawa Spotlight

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
Specially written for The Watchman
By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, April 9.—The budget debate is usually one of the features of the session: this year it was brief and dull. The opposition was conspicuously silent. Of course the budget itself was an inoffensive document; and not, perhaps, particularly vulnerable. But the Liberal members had been instructed to pass it up; so that we had the rare spectacle of government members delaying the passage of one of their own bills. Even at that the debate lasted only a week; and the members of the "south east corner" took nearly half of that. One novel feature was the endorsement of the "social credit" remedy by a Liberal: Dr. F. W. Gershaw of Medicine Hat, one of the two private members in that party to speak of the budget. Whatever one may think about the feasibility of a "National Dividend" it is impossible to escape the fact that the theories of Major Douglas are sweeping portions of the west like a prairie fire, and that we are bound to hear more of them in the House in the future. The simplest—one might almost say crudest—nature of the appeal of social credit to the unfortunate masses at the moment was presented during the budget debate by William Irvine M.P. United Farmer member from central Alberta. There are, he said, goods on the shelves, waiting to be consumed. There are crowds of hungry and shivering people, waiting for the goods. What is needed is an issue of credit to distribute them. This credit comes, it seems, from the difference between national production and national consumption. Those who don't see eye to eye with Major Douglas, contend that if some people are to get something for nothing, others, somewhere else, cannot escape getting nothing for something. Mr. Woodsworth made a similar remark at the conclusion of one of his recent speeches.

VOTES ON THE BUDGET

When the budget with its two amendments came to a vote, the expected happened. The sub-amendment moved by George Coote (U.F.A. Macleod) advocating the use of social credit, was defeated 165 to 12; the amendment of the Liberals, demanding an immediate election, was defeated 104 to 73; whereupon the budget motion itself was adopted by a vote of 98 to 74. The only feature of even mild interest about these figures is the size of the government majority in the main motion (21) which was the lowest, due to deaths and losses of by-elections, of any major vote these five years.

The House of Commons, invited to do so by Henri Bourassa, veteran Nationalist leader from Quebec, re-endorsed Canada's adherence to the treaty for the renunciation of war signed at Paris on August 27th., 1928, following five hours of debate, in which Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Mackenzie King, J. S. Woodsworth and Miss Macphail took part. The mover of the resolution urged the importance of neutrality for Canada, laid stress on the Monroe doctrine as a safeguard for Canada, mildly praised the efforts of the League of Nations, but deeply deplored Canada's vote in favor of inviting Russia to join the League. It was evident from Mr. Bourassa's closing remarks that he regards the Soviet with considerable horror. No doubt Russia's attitude toward the Catholic Church is a factor in his attitude.

EARLY ELECTION PROSPECTS FADE

We have still to hear the details of the political program this summer and fall: but it does not look like an early election now. Premier Bennett's illness delayed the appeal; and members now begin to talk about August or September. Mackenzie King is doing a little research into the question as to how much farther this parliament can go without giving up the ghost. Judging from answers made in the House it positively expires on August 18th. But do new election writs have to be issued before that time? Does, indeed, the election have to be held before parliament collapses? The matter is still quite obscure. I rather fancy that if the legislation implementing the price spreads inquiry contains anything very repugnant to Liberalism we shall have a blockade and a showdown; though whether anything the Liberals could do would speed up an appeal to the people remains to be seen.

A national housing scheme, probably consisting of the loaning of money at low rates, to private companies controlled by a public utility board, looks to be on the way. It should be popular, because the homes are needed, and it would give considerable employment.

25 Year old plan to Beautify Main Street

ing a clear roadway on each side of Main Street.

Down the centre of the middle space there was to be an avenue of trees. Opposite the Post Office a fountain for man and beast. There was planned a vehicular and pedestrian passage across the space, to enable passengers from the C.P.R. Station to come into Main Street without going round by Bethany. Opposite the Methodist Church it was designed to have a band stand (That is not now necessary as we have one in Memorial Park).

At that time there were no autos, and horse vehicles were accommodated in the sheds behind the stores and churches. At this day there is no reason at all why free parking space should be provided by the town on Main Street. It would be just as consistent for me to plant a tent and spend all the time I liked there.

But to return to the plan: At Barron Avenue there was to be another crossing.

In between the north and south sides was to be sodded and here and there flowering shrubs, protected by wire fencing, and a low strong wire fence was to be outside the sodded space. Benches here and there under the trees would provide a welcome shade.

This is Jubilee Year. What more fitting than to call the Boulevard King George—or at least the fountain, which ever since the town was incorporated has been a boon that we all would appreciate.

The unemployed would have work, and I feel sure that if properly approached the Provincial Government would help financially.

Would it be too much to suggest that each tree should have plaque with the name of one of our soldiers who were fated never to return?

Did any one of your readers make a snow ball, others joining and, bit by bit as it rolled, the snow accumulated and there it was!—But do not let this idea melt as the big snow-ball did. As the chorus of the song goes

Together, together, marching a-long,
Shoulder to shoulder, steady and strong,
United and fearless facing each task.

For the good of our town no better we ask.

Kate S. Massiah.

MRS. J. W. SILCOX PASSES IN TORONTO

Many Lachute townspeople will be grieved to learn of the death, on April 2nd., of Mrs. J. W. Silcox, who was well known here at the time the late Rev. J. W. Silcox was pastor of the Lachute Baptist Church.

She was born at Townsend Centre, near Waterford, Ontario, and on the retirement of her husband from active work in the ministry, they resided in Eden, Ontario, where Mr. Silcox died about three years ago. Mrs. Silcox went to spend this winter in Toronto at the home of her son, Roy.

She became ill during March, death following an attack of pneumonia. Those surviving are one son, Roy, and one daughter, Minnie, registered nurse, of New York City, also two sisters. Interment was made in the family plot at Waterford, Ontario.

Lt.-Col. F. A. Gascoigne, recently retired secretary-treasurer, Canadian Pacific Steamships, has been elected president of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association at the annual meeting of the Association held recently, succeeding Lt.-Col. R. C. Crowe, of the Ministry of National Defence.

D. S. Thomson, who has been appointed assistant superintendent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Smiths Falls, was, prior to his promotion, chief clerk in the office of the vice-president and general manager of the railway at Montreal. On leaving to take up his new appointment he was presented with a gold standard railroad watch and a purse of money by his fellow-workers in the office.

Just 150 years ago the first Dalys settled in Napanee and a few nights ago his descendants, Marjorie and John Daly, celebrated the momentous occasion at a supper dance at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto. This makes the sixth generation of the Dalys family continuously resident in Canada.

Sixty-two calls at European ports will be made by the five express "Beaver" class cars steamers of the Canadian Pacific fleet this summer, according to the season's schedule recently issued by Canadian Pacific Steamships. Crossings will take nine and a half days in each direction and will touch at London, Antwerp, and Hamburg.

An appeal to the press to mould public opinion in support of larger grants for medical research, particularly into the cause and control of cancer, was voiced by Lt.-Governor Bruce of Ontario, at the banquet which wound up the seventh annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, Ontario-Quebec Division.

STILL IN A CLASS BY THEMSELVES

Smokers of the early 1900's preferred Sweet Caporal Cigarettes because they were the best Virginias it was possible to manufacture in those days.

To-day, Sweet Caporals are still in a class by themselves. The choicest tobaccos money can buy plus latest improved methods of manufacture have made them outstanding leaders. And the younger set have discovered what their elders long knew—that Sweet Caporals are better cigarettes and milder. You're missing a lot if you're not smoking them.

THE LONG WINTER

Often you hear people say the winter is so long. Perhaps it is, but in some ways it is not long enough. We think that when winter comes we will have time to do so many things, but there never is half time enough to do them all. Spring is such a busy season with its house-cleaning and its gardening. In summer, one begrudges the time spent indoors, and it is difficult to see one's friends because when you are home, they are away. The Autumn is I think the busiest time of all with the pickling and preserving and the getting under way the year's activities. Then comes Christmas. But the winter! That is the time we will see all our old friends, find time to extend hospitality to our new ones, read the books we want to read, make the afghan or quilt that quilt, do some studying, in short, catch up with all the things we have left undone. First thing we know, winter is over and we have accomplished so little. To me, it is not the winter that is long but the Spring. I love the winter but those disagreeable cold days of Spring, of which we seem to have so many, are endless. All ambition is sapped and we seem to waste so much time. They tell us that in the parts of British Columbia that are influenced by the Chinook winds, Spring comes over-night. That sounds almost too perfect to be true—Winter one day and Spring the next.

THE DEPENDABLE WOMAN

Anyone who works on an executive knows how hard it is to get women to accept responsibility and really be able to depend on them doing their job. Some of them are ready promoters but there is always some good reason why the work is not done at the proper time. You soon get to know on whom you can depend. It has been my experience that women who have worked are most dependable, especially those who have worked in offices, teachers, and nurses. They have had to accept responsibility in their work and it has become a habit.

MAYONNAISE

Many people call any kind of salad dressing Mayonnaise, but strictly speaking, only the variet made with egg and oil, thickened by beating, is Mayonnaise. It is surprising the number of people who buy their Mayonnaise because they think it too difficult to make. The prepared dressings are good but it is much cheaper to make your own. Mayonnaise used to be made with Olive Oil but most people prefer now to use a good brand of salad oil because of its flavour. The chief thing to watch in making Mayonnaise is to add your oil slowly. If it is added too rapidly it will separate. I find there is less danger of this happening if I add my seasonings at the very last of the beating. Here is a good recipe:

2 egg yolks or
1 egg
1½ cups salad oil
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon mustard
2 tablespoons lemon juice few grains cayenne
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar

Beat the egg until well mixed with a rotary beater and add the oil a teaspoonful at a time until a quarter-cup is used, beating after each addition. After this the oil may be added a tablespoon or more at a time increasing the quantity slightly as the dressing thickens. When the oil is all used, mix the dry seasonings with the lemon juice and vinegar and rub until smooth, and add this slowly to the first mixture, beating after each addition. If by any chance you have added the oil too rapidly and the dressing has curdled, start again, using one tablespoon of cold water, and add the mixture slowly, beating after each addition and proceeding as before. All ingredients should be cold.

Thin with boiled dressing for potato or cabbage salad.

Mix with Chilli Sauce or Catsup for Thousand Island Dressing.

Add Whipped Cream for a Fruit Salad Dressing.

MAPLE MOUSSE

Heat 1 cup maple syrup. Beat 4 egg yolks, add ¼ cup milk, and mix well. Stir into hot syrup and cook until thick and smooth, stirring steadily. Cool and fold in the 4 stiffly beaten egg whites and 1 pint whipped cream. Pack in refrigerator tray and freeze.

PEANUT COOKIES

2 egg whites
½ cup sugar
½ lb. salted peanuts
2 cups cornflakes
Beat the egg whites stiff and add the sugar gradually. Fold in peanuts and cornflakes. Drop on buttered pan by teaspoonfuls and bake in a slow oven of 300 degrees until a golden brown.

RECOGNITION OF WOMEN

The Women's Institutes of Fraser Valley will press for the appointment of women on the proposed provincial marketing board, on the grounds that women, as convenors and producers, are vitally interested in the marketing of farm products. This was one of the resolutions passed at the recent joint conference of the North and South Fraser Valley Women's Institutes, in Vancouver, and it will be sent to the Minister of Agriculture. Further interest in agricultural pursuits was evidenced by another resolution to Vancouver Exhibition Board, asking that a Women's Institute vegetable exhibit, with prizes for same, be arranged for next year.

The question of mothers, who receive the Mothers' Pension, augmenting their incomes by needlework, taking in boarders, etc., was fully discussed. It appears that this has been severely criticized by the Mothers'

Pensions administrators and in some cases pensioners have been forced to give up these added sources of income or be penalized by the loss of pensions. The discussion culminated in a resolution that Women's Institutes approve of mothers being allowed to supplement Mothers' Pensions by doing any work that will have no immoral influence on or cause any neglect of their children, and that the administrators of the Mothers' Pensions Act, instead of criticizing such mothers, should encourage them with a view to having them become financially independent.

A WORD ABOUT RICE KRISPIES from W. K. KELLOGG

OFTEN the introduction of a new product benefits many phases of Canadian life. This has been our experience with Kellogg's Rice Krispies.

We had a double objective in developing Rice Krispies. First, to create a delicious cereal that would appeal to every one. Second, to help mothers in their task of getting children to take sufficient milk. It was thought that a different type of cereal—one that would snap, crackle, and pop when milk or cream was ready-to-eat cereal has resulted in shorter hours for mothers—less time spent in the kitchen—more moments of leisure.

The success of Rice Krispies has opened a large new market for the Canadian farmer. The Kellogg Company is daily creating a demand for tremendous quantities of milk, to say nothing of fruit and honey. The Kellogg Company also uses many million bushels of corn and wheat every year.

Canadian industry also benefits. Thousands of people are kept busy employed in the manufacture and marketing of Kellogg Cereals.

We are pleased that Rice Krispies have added a tempting new ready-to-eat cereal to the Canadian table, and have delighted millions of mothers and children. We are particularly happy that this has helped thousands of people to have better jobs, and to enjoy life more.

NEW SYSTEM OF LIGHTING IS ENGLISH INVENTION

London, Eng., April 8: The present system of lighting with bulbs, wall brackets and hanging centre fixtures is now old-fashioned. At least, this is the claim of A. F. Chapman, prominent English engineer, whose newest lighting development has been installed in many of England's finest hotels, department stores and homes.

A revolutionary development, tubes from one to four feet in length, glowing with an even, shadowless light, replace the bulbs that up to the present time have been standard equipment in homes all over the world.

"The tube system of lighting came from experiments which I was making with Neon lighting," Mr. Chapman said in a recent interview. "In the first instance I had not planned to use electricity, feeling that the effect I desired could be achieved with Neon. But as I experimented I found it an impossibility to control a certain flicker. It was then that I turned to electricity."

lowed, until finally Mr. Chapman was able to announce that he had perfected his invention. It meant that he had succeeded in banishing dark corners from the home and in evolving a lighting system that gave adequate light no matter where the occupant was.

Adopted by leaders in the shipping industry, the new de luxe liners Queen Mary and Normandy have been equipped with the tube lamps. So also, are many of the newer English trains. The Maison Lyons Corner House at Marble Arch, was one of the first to install the tube style of lighting. Here the tubes are installed in a series all around the room and cornices.

Particularly good-looking is the lighting plan used by the Strand Palace Hotel. Here stepped glass tubes alternate with metal reflectors, giving the effect of rich black and white blocks in series around the whole room.

Bears Are Beggars

There are three stages through which a bear passes, according to an authority. The first is fear of man, from whom he runs when he meets him in the wild. He next learns that man, who is really harmless, has the things he likes to eat. Eventually he learns that man is afraid of him, and will only give him these things when forced to do so. It is then that he becomes dangerous, and must be put out of the way by the proper authorities. Not only that, but he becomes a beggar bear, haunting the highways for passing motorists who will give him the tidbits he loves, and neglecting to fend for the food that builds a bear up for the long hibernating period, preferring the cake and chocolate he is sure to get from the tourists.

TO THE HIGH COURT

A business man, who had to leave on a journey before the end of a case begun against him by a neighbor, gave orders to his lawyer to let him know the result by telegraph. After several days he got the following telegram:

"Right has triumphed."

He at once telegraphed back:

"Appeal immediately."

"For beating your wife, I will fine you $1.10," said the judge.

"I don't object to the dollar", said the prisoner, "but what is the ten cents for?"

"That," said the judge, "is the tax on amusements."

TOWN OF RIGAUD IS WITHOUT A COUNCIL

MAYOR AND FIVE ALDERMEN QUIT

An unusual state of affairs exists in the town of Rigaud, across the Ottawa River, where a mass resignation of the municipal council with exception of one member leaves the community without an administrative body.

Mayor Joseph Lefebvre was the first to resign, and at a meeting on Monday the entire council with one exception relinquished office.

This meeting had been called to consider the acceptance of Mayor Lefebvre's resignation. A member of the council for the past 13 years, the mayor is proprietor of a local foundry where the municipality has purchased its sewer materials for a number of years. Recently the legality of the purchases was questioned before the council. The mayor's resignation followed. After brief discussion five of the six aldermen also announced their resignation, leaving pro-Mayor Chevrier, who occupied the chair, the only elected representative of the people in the municipality.

It is understood that the matter will be taken up with the Lieutenant-Governor in Council in order to arrange a suitable date for an election in Rigaud.

An innovation this year in auto service stations is the "canned" oil with which they lubricate your crank case. This improvement, featured by certain garages in Lachute, means that the customer gets his oil by the quart can, the tin being unsealed only as it is purchased.

TRANSFERABLE BALLOT IS PROPOSED FOR PRAIRIES

Establishment of the transferable voting system in Alberta and Saskatchewan is proposed in a bill of which notice has been given in the House of Commons by W. A. Beynon (Cons., Moose Jaw). It is understood the move will be accepted by the Government and the Dominion's Election Act amended accordingly so far as those two provinces are concerned.

Under the proposed changed system electors would mark their ballots with figures, placing the numeral "one" after the name of their first choice of candidates, and "two" after the name of the second choice and so on according to the number of candidates.

In counting the ballots, if there are more than two candidates and one has not been first choice of a sufficient number of electors to give him a clear majority, the second choices are counted and credited, the candidate receiving the lowest number of first preferences being the one first eliminated from the contest.

At a discussion last week the Quebec Public Utilities Commission declined to make a decision as to what distance should be between power transmission poles and farmers' fences, leaving the question to the new electrical commission which is soon to be established.

AGRICULTURAL DIRECTORS MET TO DISCUSS LACHUTE FAIR

In preparation for the Lachute Fair, which is set for the 12th. to the 15th. of June, the directors of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society met on Monday to arrange their prize list and make necessary arrangements for the coming show. While the present times do not permit any further advance in prize money the directors feel that their list of last year was most favorable in comparison with other shows.

Lachute Fair has now become one of the leading expositions in the Dominion, with grounds and surroundings of which few can boast better, and the directorate are bent on maintaining the standard of excellence to which they have attained.

PROTESTANT CEMETERY DIRECTORS' MEETING

A meeting of the Protestant Cemetery Directors was held in the Court House last Tuesday evening, the chair being occupied by President A. A. McQuat. Business arising from the minutes of last meeting, which had been read and approved, was then dealt with and the election of officers was held as follows:

A. A. McQuat re-elected as President, Dr. G. A. Clunie, Vice-President, Jas. W. Gall, Sec.-Treasurer. Committee on Finance—Messrs. J. A. McGibbon, Dr. Clunie, Geo. Hay, Dr. J. H. Mason and Wm. Murray; Grounds Committee—Thos. Miller, J. S. Giles, H. G. Banford, A. Bothwell, A. A. McQuat and Wm. Miller.

Owing to the splendid financial condition of the Corporation funds, held in trust by the Montreal Trust Company, it was the unanimous opinion of those present that maintenance rates be lowered from $2.00 to $1.00 and the Finance Committee were asked to meet and prepare a revision to submit to a general meeting to be called some time in September.

LOYAL APPLAUSE GREET'S COMMONS' ADDRESS TO KING

A stirring expression of patriotism featured the adoption in the House last Friday of the address to His Majesty the King, expressing the loyal congratulations of his Canadian subjects to His Majesty on the 25th. anniversary of his accession to the Throne. After brief but eloquent remarks from the three House leaders, Felix P. Quinn, (Cons., Halifax) rose in his seat and led in the singing of the National Anthem, all members of the House, the page boys and all the spectators in the galleries rising and joining heartily in the singing.

Sir George Perley, in moving adoption of the address, expressed the deep regret of the House at the absence of the Prime Minister and his consequent inability to move the address. These feelings were echoed cordially by the Liberal leader, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Robert Gardiner, for the C.C.F. group. "I hope there may be some compensation," said Mr. King, "to the Prime Minister in the fact that in all probability he will have an opportunity of personally presenting to His Majesty the address which goes to him from both houses of this Parliament on the occasion of the celebration of the Silver Jubilee."

LOCAL FAMILY BEREAVED

MISS POIRIER SUCCUMBED TO LONG ILLNESS

The sympathy of many friends is extended to Mrs. Felix Poirier in the passing of her daughter, Miss Jeannette, and to the brothers and sisters who remain to mourn the loss of a young and cheerful figure in their family circle. Miss Jeannette Poirier was formerly in business as a hairdresser and was well known around town. Her passing at an early age, followed a prolonged illness which she bore with a cheerfulness refreshing to the friends who visited her. Her death occurred on Sunday last.

Together with their mother, three brothers and three sisters survive, living in Lachute and other points. All were present at the funeral, which was largely attended on Wednesday morning. Interment at the Catholic Cemetery followed an impressive service at St. Anastasie Church.

Mr. Geo. Y. Deacon, and Mr. Richardson of Brownsburg, attended the Police and Fire Chiefs' luncheon on Monday at the St. George's Club, Westmount. The gathering, numbering around 200, were addressed by Mr. John Irwin, president of McColl-Frontenac Oil Company, who stressed the part played by police and fire protection officers in the municipalities.

QUEBEC CITY WILL IMPOSE RADIO TAX

Quebec City has been given the right to impose a $2 tax on every radio within its limits, by the Private Bills Committee of the Legislative Assembly. When the clause dealing with this matter was called, Mayor J. E. Gregoire said he was willing to drop it. It had been included in the bill at a time when it was thought the Dominion Government would abandon its $2 radio tax. "I see now they (the Dominion Government) intend to keep the tax, so I do not think it would be fair to double the taxation," Maurice Duplessis, K.C., Conservative Opposition leader, said as far as he was concerned the clause could stay in the bill and he would vote for it. (The vote was taken with 15 for, including Premier L. A. Taschereau, and five against.

RELIEF STRIKERS ACQUITTED

TRIAL HELD SATURDAY AT ST. JEROME

The case of the Crown vs. Rosaire Garipey, Paul Joly, Napoleon Gauthier and Romeo Chartrand, arrested in Lachute and detained at St. Jerome for a week on charges of creating dissension among local relief workers, was heard last Saturday by Justice Donat Lalande at St. Jerome. Mr. J. P. Belair, K.C., conducted the case for the Crown, Mr. P. A. Fortin, local attorney, appearing for the defendants.

Mayor J. H. Mason was called to the stand, also Councillors K. McQuat, G. Muir, ex-Councillor P. Chabot, and H. Lachance, butcher of Foundry St., into whose store it was alleged the men threatened to enter and take goods when the Town declined to raise the hourly relief wage from 15 cents to 20 cents.

On behalf of the four men, it was contended by their attorney that the Council had failed to investigate cases of dire need which had been drawn to their attention; and evidence was insufficient to prove that the strikers had intended violence.

The prisoners were therefore acquitted with a reprimand from the Judge, who hoped the unemployed would work harmoniously with the Council and relief matters would proceed with more general satisfaction.

GOOD NEWS FOR LISTENERS

Spot radio advertising on Sundays will be eliminated over all Canadian stations beginning May 5, according to a Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission announcement. The ban will not apply to time signals and certain public services.

REV. J. A. MacKENZIE IS HONORED IN SASKATOON

Local friends of Rev. J. A. MacKenzie, who has spent much time in Lachute, will be pleased to learn of his success in having attained the degree of Doctor of Divinity. The honor was conferred recently at the annual convocation of St. Andrews College at Saskatoon, in which city Rev. MacKenzie occupies the pulpit of the Knox United Church.

Professor A. S. Orton of St. Andrews College, in making the award, described Rev. Dr. MacKenzie as a man who had served the church in many fields and as a man who had shown much vigor and brilliance as a minister; he had not spared himself in doing good for his fellow men.

MORE TRIUMPHS FOR BRS'BURG KENNELS

Brokecroff Kennels owned by Mr. Basil Jackson of Brownsburg, have scored more notable triumphs in contest with the finest show animals in Canadian exhibitions. With Brokecroff Golden Nugget Mr. Jackson recently won three first prizes and one second, in Montreal, while at Ottawa on March 22nd., the same animal secured four firsts, and on April 9th. again four first awards.

These recent triumphs, totaling eleven first places and one second, speak very highly for the quality and breeding of dogs maintained by Mr. Jackson at Brownsburg.

Mr. Justice Ives, of Edmonton, pronouncing judgment on a case of relief fraud, stated a fact not generally realized. When people rob the city, he said, they do not rob the mayor, or even the corporation, but actually they rob their neighbors, who have to make it up in taxes.

SCOTLAND AND THOSE WIDE OPEN SPACES

(From the Glasgow Herald)

Recent discussions about national parks (says the Glasgow Herald) have naturally led to comparisons between the facilities available for out-of-door recreation in this country with those in other parts of the world. And as a sort of by-product of the process the curious information has been given circulation that in a corner of West Virginia a high degree of sophistication has been developed for the comfort and convenience of the townsman who does not care to meet nature in the raw. Special parts of parks and woods are allotted to picnickers, where tables, plank seats and stone fireplaces are provided. Nor is this all. Bundles of firewood, dried and fit to burn, are to be had, at a small charge, from the park ranger; there is water on tap, and, delightful refinement, all the tables are numbered and can be booked in advance. A number of possible improvements to enhance comfort will suggest themselves. The townsman is often heard to complain of the maddening noise of the countryside, the interminable bumbling of the bee, and the even more irritating and menacing hum of the mosquito, not to speak of the major bellowings of the animal creation. MUSIC IS THEME OF STUDY GROUP

W. I. LADIES ENJOY PLEASING EVENT

Study groups as a means of bringing out the higher aspirations of a community were exemplified in Tuesday's meeting of Lachute W. I. members in the High School hall. A talented and highly interesting program was arranged and the event, enjoyed by ladies of the group, was a credit to the forethought of Mrs. S. S. Campbell, convenor.

The sequence of the program lent much to its charm, beginning with the history of music outlined by Mrs. Campbell. Schubert's Who is Sylvia was then sung by Mrs. K. McQuat, followed by an outline of the composer's life by Miss G. McQuat and two numbers of his compositions played as a piano solo by Miss Geraldine Dumouchel, talented pianist and niece of Mrs. Campbell.

A brief sketch from the life of Carrie Jacobs Bond was prepared by Mrs. C. Duncan. Two of her songs were sung, Just A-Wearyin' for You, duet by Mrs. K. McQuat and Mrs. R. A. Giles, and I Love You Truly by Mrs. R. A. Giles.

The life of Edward MacDowell, American composer, was reviewed by Mrs. Campbell. Miss Dumouchel gave a skillful piano rendition of three of his numbers, Poem, Alla Tarantella and Shadow Dance.

Canadian composers, reviewed in a paper prepared by Miss Dumouchel and read by Mrs. Bothwell, were the last under discussion and merited honorable recognition.

On behalf of the ladies, Mrs. J. H. Mason as president of the group extended thanks to the convenor and all who had assisted in the program. Rarely had such choice entertainment and so much of instructive value been presented within a brief time.

MONTREAL STATION IS LICENSED FOR TELEVISION

According to a Department of Marine announcement, the Peck Television Company has obtained a licence to operate a micro-wave demonstration station for television. The station is located at Dominion Square in Montreal.

these could be effectually silenced, grass robbed of its rheumatic dampness and the ground of its unyielding hardness, then even the most sybaritic stockbroker might go picnicking with his family on a Saturday afternoon and enjoy himself almost as well as in his own club. Perhaps the proprietors of the parks and woodlands of West Virginia may in the fullness of time apply themselves to making their estates a little more like luxury liners, but nothing of the kind need be anticipated this side the Atlantic. While campers are willing to spend their week-ends out-of-doors on Loch Lomond in the dead of winter there cannot be much demand for kindly park rangers dispensing bundles of firewood and booking reservations. The truth is, of course, that Caledonia is so stern and wild that nothing can be done for those who will only enjoy it benign and tame. Those who would take the fireside with them into the open air had better stay at home.

AUNT JEAN HERSELF

A Column for the Kiddies
(Copyright)PERHAPS HE WAS TOO SHY

"Good morning, Mr. Robin! Pray tell me where you've been just how you spent last winter, and all the things you've seen," I said to Mr. Robin as he sat upon a post just after having breakfast from my table-crums and toast.

Do you know that saucy robin made no answer—not a word, just twitched his tail and flew away. The naughty, selfish bird.

BLUE BUNNIE TRIES SOME EXERCISES

The Blue Bunnie, who had been dozing lazily in the sun outside the doorway of his home, suddenly sat up. He had heard his cousin Flopsy saying that she wished she could find someone to go for coloring for the Easter Eggs, she had not quite enough to finish decorating them.

"Humph!" said the Blue Bunnie, "I shall disappear right now before she discovers me and asks me to go." The Blue Bunnie had grown quite lazy through the winter. He hated the cold weather, so he had not ventured very far away from home. Fortunately there were several nice young apple trees near his home, and the bark had provided him with food during the real cold weather.

He turned to scuttle out of sight down the burrow, but he was too late. Flopsy had seen him, so had Blue Top the Jay, and screamed at him quite loudly.

"Cousin Blue Hair" pleaded Flopsy, hopping after him as fast as she could, "Do go over to Aunt Long Ears and get me some more coloring for the Easter Eggs. If you don't," she said threateningly, "there will be none for you. Not one, sir, as there is no blue at all and you know your Easter Eggs are always blue."

Blue Bunnie wrinkled up his nose at her, but hopped off in search of more coloring matter. "It must be blue, it must be blue, for they're for you," he muttered to himself all the way to Aunt Long Ears. But she did not have any blue, so he had to go still farther to Aunt Short Tail before he got what he wanted.

By the time he got back again he was quite out of breath, and so tired, Cousin Flopsy laughed at him. "You had better keep hopping," she told him "or your last year's Easter suit will not fit, then how about the Parade?"

Blue Bunnie almost stopped breathing; he was so afraid that what she said might be true. Away down the burrow to his private room he went lip-perty, lip, to try it on, and found that it was much too tight. What could he do about it? There was no time to get another before Easter—and he must take part in that Easter Parade. Hopping out into the sun again, he sat a moment or two, blinking and thinking.

All at once a bright idea came to him; he would try some exercises! Quietly he hopped away to a dark place in the pine woods where he was certain no-one would see him. First he tried standing on his head. "Tiring, very tiring!" he said to himself after a few attempts. "Any way it is not my head and neck I want to reduce but my body—my trousers won't meet at the top." Seeing a log some distance away he raced towards it, and started jumping backwards and forwards over it.

He soon grew tired, but after resting for a time started jumping again, counting to himself between each jump—"One, two, three, hop—one, two, three, hop."

He was just beginning to enjoy himself when a loud Haw, haw, haw! above his head caused him to look up in surprise. There was Shiny Coat the crow, sitting up in the pine tree, looking down at him with his black eyes twinkling. Every few moments he would open his beak and Haw, haw, haw again.

Blue Bunnie's eyes snapped. He was just going to say something real cross and horrid, when he remembered that Great-Aunt Silky Fur had told him once that horrid words travelled much faster and farther than kind ones; and he held them back. It was no use to beg Shiny Coat not to tell that he had seen him exercising, as Blue Bunnie had arrived with one of his friends and they were chuckling together. Whether it was because they had caught him, or realized that Shiny Coat had told the world by his laughter that his nest was in that pine tree, Blue Bunnie was not sure. But something must be done to save his pride.

Suddenly he stood up on his hind legs and made a low bow. "Ladies and gentlemen," he said with a chuckle, "the show will continue, and please let us have no more interruptions." Hopping onto the log he stood on his hind legs again, his ears pointing straight up, and twirled his frontpaws over and over each other so rapidly that Shiny Coat and the Blue Jay got quite dizzy watching him.

He kept at it, so long that Blue Cap said to his friend, "I am getting quite ill watching that silly performance. Let's move on. They flew silently away, Shiny Coat following he too was feeling dizzy and ill, then, too proud to admit that Blue Bunnie sat quite still and watched them go, then after a careful look around he started exercising again in the hope of reducing himself until he should fit into his Easter Suit.

Next Story—The Easter Parade.

Lovingly, Aunt Jean.

SMALLEST CANADIAN RAILWAY CELEBRATES
30th. BIRTHDAY

The smallest railway in Canada, the Huntsville and Lake of Bays Railway, will this year celebrate its thirtieth anniversary. March 6th. also marked the 100th. anniversary of the granting of the charter of the London and Gore Railway, which was to be built from London to Burlington Bay and then westward to the navigable waters of Lake Huron. The smallest Canadian railway has few operating problems and no snow blockades. It operates with two engines, as a portage railway between North Portage and South Portage, daily except Sunday, from May to September, carrying passengers between Fairy Lake and Peninsular Lake in the Lake of Bays area. The London and Gore Railway was never built, because in March 1837 the name was changed to the Great Western Railway, this line afterward becoming part of the Canadian National System.

Darkness Makes Plants Groggy

When night comes, plants go to sleep, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. That is, in the sense that during darkness one of the principal life activities of all plants is suspended, that of manufacturing starches and sugars from water and carbon dioxide. All plant life, with the exception of certain lower forms, is dependent upon sunlight for growth. The green coloring matter of the plant, chlorophyll, is able in some mysterious manner to utilize the radiant energy of the sunshine in the formation of raw materials for the plant's growth. The carbon dioxide of the air and the moisture from the soil, plus sunshine, are the basic materials from which all vegetables, trees, fruits and flowers of the world are fabricated. When nature turns off the sunlight each day, the process, called photosynthesis, stops. The sunlight factory closes up. In this respect the plant may be said to sleep, although the substances made during the day are used during the night by various parts of the plant.

Many Countries

In the British Empire and 35 other countries there were at the end of 1934, as reported by the International Scout Bureau, 336,694 Wolf Cubs, that is Junior Boy Scouts. Iceland reported 90, Iraq 2,000, Egypt 1,145, Japan 5,972. The total for the Empire was 264,108.

Woodcraft Calls Replace
Bugles

When Scouting was less well understood bugles were a frequent item of troop equipment. For some years they have been "tabu", as "neighborhood nuisances", and because bird and wild animal calls are more consistent with woodcraft. Which explains why a Fort William man, seeking someone to sound a bugle, could not find a Scout who could blow one.

The Scouts Found Her

It has become almost routine throughout Canada to "call out the Scouts" when persons are lost, and the number found in a year would make a fair-sized group. The latest case was the search by Galt, Ont., Scouts for a four year old girl, when police and neighbours had failed, and her discovery in a remote corner of a large park at 10.30 p.m.

Nearly 25 per cent of property in Lachine, Que., is non-taxable, it was disclosed in a report presented by the finance department. The value of immovable property is fixed at $27,390,665. Of this, $6,554,772 is non-taxable. Some exemptions bring the total taxable value to $20,523,728.

WORE OUT EIGHTY FLAGS

British Columbia's oldest flagpole, which has stood on the Court House grounds at New Westminster for more than 40 years, has worn out its 80th flag. The pole was erected in 1894. It is 108 feet high, and although 80 flags have come fluttering down from it, worn out, the pole is just as strong as it was when first set up.

DISCUSS PROBLEM OF DROWNING

A meeting of the mayors of all municipalities on the south shore of the St. Lawrence in the Montreal District is being called by officials of the St. John Ambulance Association for purpose of discussing ways and means of preventing drowning accidents during the coming summer.

The association, working in conjunction with the Province of Quebec Safety League, desires to reduce to a minimum this year the number of drowning accidents, recent statistics having shown that drownings led all fatalities in the past ten years. Following the organization in the Montreal district the same work will be taken up in various other sections of Quebec.

NO DOGS ALLOWED TO MEN ON RELIEF

The Council of London, Ont., has passed a resolution on which the Relief Board will act, to prevent anyone owning or harboring a dog after April 1 from receiving direct relief or relief work. Action followed many complaints that people on relief were spending money on dogs.

TOWN WILL NOT TAKE PART IN JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS

Not without a struggle, the Corporation of Greenock, Scotland, resolved by a vote of 12-10 not to take part in the celebrations of the silver jubilee of the King's accession.

The resolution explained expenditures would not be fitting "because of the unemployment in the town."

Baillie Mrs. McLeod described the King as "a wee, nice man" who reminded her of her father.

Baillie Scott vigorously objected to "bringing the unemployed into the question." The action would make Greenock the last town where anyone would think of establishing a new industry, he asserted.

THE PERPETUAL LIBERAL COMMITTEE OF THE COUNTY OF ARGENTEUIL

CORRESPONDENCE

Some fifty years ago I read in my school reader the following story of a shoe maker by the name of Partridge, who studied and became an astrologer. He made almanacs, and later became a physician to King Charles the Second, and Dean Swift made great sport of him in 1708. Swift published a burlesque almanac containing predictions for the year, the first of which was about Partridge himself and ran something like this:—

"I have consulted the star of his nativity by my own rules, and find that he will infallibly die on the 29th of March next of a raging fever; therefore I advise him to consider and settle his affairs in time."

After the 29th. of March had passed, Partridge positively assured the public that he was not dead. This he did in his almanac of 1709; whereupon the Dean took the matter up again and tried to show Partridge his error. He was dead, argued Swift, if he did but know it; but there is no accounting for some men's ignorance. He says, "I have in another place and in a paper by itself sufficiently convinced this man that he is dead; I don't doubt that by this time he owns it to all his acquaintances." Not content with this, Swift wrote an elegy on the supposed death of Partridge, the Almanac

Maker, and wound up the business by writing an epitaph too:

The Epitaph
Here, five foot deep, lies on his back
A Cobbler, Starmonger, and Quack
Who to the stars, in pure good-will,
Does to his best look upward still.
Weep, all ye customers, that use
His pills, or almanacs, or shoes,
And you that did your fortunes seek,
Step to his grave but once a week.
This earth, which bears his body's print,
You'll find has so much virtue in't
That I durst pawn my ear 'twill tell
What'er concerns you full as well
In physis, stolen goods, or love,
As he himself could, when above!

The above story can well be applied to our perpetual Liberal Committee of the County of Argenteuil, which have been doing business in a hole and corner fashion behind doors, never calling for an election, or a re-election of officers for over twenty years, and denying to British subjects the rights given them by Magna Carta. Politically these men are dead and going about dodging their funeral expenses.

—And now, we find that there is a sort of a double shuffle for the 27th. inst. to resuscitate these political corpses and make them life honorary members of our society; although during office they have broken every rule the society ever had and every rule on the statutes of democracy to guide public action. And to cap the climax, what is the matter with this meeting to be held on the 27th. inst., that seemingly only a favored few know of it and I have to go ten miles from home to hear about it? Why has there been no announcement of this meeting circulated to the general public?

Furthermore I ask, why are

CIVIC GOVERNMENT COST

The cost of civic government in New York is estimated at $1,200 a minute.

A LASTING OBLIGATION

Municipalities that are wrangling over the providing of funds for relief of unemployed citizens may as well make up their minds that this obligation is to remain for some time, and cut their cloth accordingly. —Exchange.

NO POLICE RADIO CARS FOR TORONTO

The Toronto City Council has eliminated provisions in its budget for police radio cars. This meant a saving of $27,000 in the estimates and was caused by efforts to reduce the proposed 34.5 mill tax rate.

WEBB REPLIES TO CHARGE

Col. Ralph H. Webb, former Mayor of Winnipeg, declared that the city had never paid railway fares of unemployed to the Coast, answering charges in the House of Commons by Thomas Reid, Liberal, New Westminster, who complained that the Prairie cities had moved their unemployed to the Coast where they would have to be maintained at the expense of British Columbia.

ONTARIO TOWNSHIP CLERKS TO TAKE AFFIDAVITS

Members of the legislature and township clerks in Ontario will shortly be appointed commissioners to take affidavits, according to announcement from Queen's Park.

It is understood that Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck had this in mind when he revised the magisterial system, and appointed new justices of the peace. However, some technicality of the law prevented this and an amendment will have to be passed before it can be done.

The Liberals discussed it in caucus recently and were in favor of this change. It is hoped, this will relieve the situation complained of in some sections that J.P.'s were so few and far between that parties often had to travel many miles to find a commissioner with power to take affidavits.

IT WILL BE ASTONISHING (Daily Telegraph)

It will be an astonishing revelation if experience proves to posterity that there are two, and opposite, ways out of the depression—the staid and unimaginative course which has imposed discipline upon the British taxpayer, with balanced budgets and economy; or, on the other hand, determined and wholehearted borrowing to tide over today and leave tomorrow to settle its own problems.

the ladies of our county not considered as possible future members of our Liberal Association of Argenteuil? They are voters now and hold a parity of right with men. Let us take the ladies as our partners. The old adage is still true, "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world"—Always did and always will. —C. F. Kains.

Making History in Argenteuil

Extracted from files of The Watchman

50 Years Ago.

April 17, 1885.

A meeting of the Officers of the 11th. Battalion of the Argenteuil Rangers was held in Curry's Hotel, Lachute, called by Col. J. B. Cushing, to enquire into the efficiency of each company in case they were called into active service. Every company was ready to volunteer if needed.

Frosty nights and warm sunny days are good for syrup making, as the sap will run freely. A large quantity of sugar will likely be made this spring.

It is officially announced that the Toronto train will stop at Lachute every morning.

Proceedings having been taken out by the late Mayor of Montreal, Mr. Beaudry, against the present Mayor, Mr. Beauregard, for the purpose of unseating him, on the grounds that he is an American subject and not British. Mr. Beauregard signed the oath of allegiance, thus frustrating the charge.

25 Years Ago.

April 15, 1910.

Our respected fellow-townsmen, Mr. Omer Paquette, was the recipient of a very handsome Berliner Gramophone, given him together with an address, by a number of his friends on Monday last. The presentation took place at his brother's hotel on Foundry St., and a most enjoyable time was had.

Mr. Jas. C. James is certainly of a very generous and foregoing nature, because he says that the parties who stole the syrup from his camp are quite welcome to it, but he would be glad if the cans were returned.

The Brownsburg Lodge of Good Templars received a fraternal visit from their sister lodges at Mount Maple, Dalesville and Lachute, on Wednesday. The Chief Templar presided over a very interesting programme.

Our young and distinguished professor, Miss Marie Bernier, presented one of her young pupils, Miss Annie E. Miller, at the Dominion College of Music, and Miss Miller obtained her Junior Diploma of Music.

WHEN SIR MALCOLM CAMPBELL SMASHED RECORDS WITH AN EIGHT-CYLINDER MODEL

Aimé Grenier, president of the Hudson-Grenier Motors, Montreal distributors for the Hudson-Terraplane cars, has received further information regarding the speed records achieved by Sir Malcolm Campbell in a Hudson Class C. sedan at Daytona Beach recently. He broke the old flying start records for one mile, five miles, one kilometer and five kilometers. Sir Malcolm averaged better than 80 miles an hour for all distances during the trials, shattering by wide margins, previous marks. In almost every case, he was nearly two full miles per hour faster.

	Previous	Campbell	Records
One mile	88.202	88.295
Five miles	88.051	88.237
One kilometer	88.206	88.068
Five kilometers	88.109	88.057

A kilometer is approximately five-eighths of a mile.

Included in Classification C are fully equipped sedans—stock models having between 185 and 305 cubic inches piston displacement. Campbell's sedan has 257.45 cubic inches displacement in its eight cylinders.

Sir Malcolm was very pleased at the results. "Never have I sat behind a sweeter motor," he told officials at the finish. "The electric hand is a marvel of convenience. It permits a much shorter run for the flying start and, by its improved acceleration, assists in the standing start events."

Following Sir Malcolm's record-breaking performance, Marr set a new mark for stock cars (Hudson) from a standing start and bettering his old mark of 67,969 by doing the mile at 68.188.

In another record run, Marr raised the mileage for second-gear running to 69,224, bettering the previous record of 62,521.

DRAW UP MUNICIPAL PLAN OF BORROWING

Taschereau Scheme Permits Loans to Offset Delays in Tax Collection

Municipalities in Quebec which are unable to collect their taxes from proprietors because of the delay of one year granted by a judge or magistrate are given other means of temporary financing under a bill which Premier Taschereau has laid before the Legislative Assembly. Under legislation of last year, municipalities and school commissioners were forced to offer for sale property in default as to taxation, but the proprietor had the right to apply for a year's delay and prove inability to pay.

Mr. Taschereau now provides that every municipality or school corporation is authorized to contract a loan for a period not exceeding five years, to the extent of the sums for the payment whereof the judge has granted a delay. If the loan in question is for three years or less, it may be contracted by means of a resolution submitted for the approval of the Quebec Municipal Commission. If the loan is for more than three years, there must be a municipal by-law or a resolution in the case of a school corporation, and such by-law or resolution must be submitted to the commission and Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

The proceeds of the loan must be deposited in a special account in a bank in the joint names of the corporation and of the Quebec Municipal Commission, in the proportion determined by the commission. These sums so deposited in such special account must be employed solely for the payment of the loans in question and interest.

The Ottawa Spotlight

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
Specially written for The Watchman
By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, April 16.—A three-fold program for creating employment is being launched by the federal government, part of it immediately, the other part after the Easter adjournment. Plans appear to call for the following:

1. A $50,000,000 national housing scheme, the Ottawa government to supply $10,000,000, loan mortgage and insurance companies most of the rest, with some contributions from private capital. The actual construction will be done by local corporations, supervised by a national housing board. This sum would construct about 17,000 houses of the average type contemplated, taking care of perhaps 90,000 people, and, of course, providing work meantime for a good many thousand people.

2. A guarantee of $15,000,000 to the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, good for two years, to enable the railways to purchase badly-needed railway cars and similar equipment. This would create employment in an industry which has been hard hit for several years.

3. A new public works program, involving further work on the Trans-Canada highway, a million dollar expenditure for grade-crossing elimination, money for harbors, wharves, breakwaters etc. and for such public buildings as post offices.

RUMPUS OVER REPORT

Quite a rumpus was kicked up in the House over the mass-buying report. Fragments of it have been leaking out to the press at intervals for weeks, and the climax was reached by the publication in a Toronto paper of a 5,000 word summary which most of the members of the commission themselves had not yet seen, on the day before the signed report was handed to the Minister of Trade and Commerce. MacKenzie King complained that the privileges of parliament had been violated. The Minister of Justice agreed that the act was most improper. One after another of the members of the commission, rose in their seats and disclaimed any guilt; it so happened that Hon. H. H. Stevens was not in the House at the time. Finally the brief tempest blew over.

The summary which was published contained nothing very sensational, because it had been anticipated with a good deal of accuracy. Some of the major recommendations have already been indicated in these letters. A national trade and industry commission, a fishery board, a livestock board, a branch of the labor department to study social problems, greater stringency in company legislation, a 44 hour basic week, with flexible clauses for special industries, the elimination of certain quantity discounts, the cessation of a number of unfair practices in the marketing of cattle—such are the highlights of the report.

THE OLD MAN WILL FEEL IT, TOO

—The Evening Telegram, Toronto.

How many of these will be incorporated in legislation awaits to be seen. These are recommendations only; the government may implement them all, or, if it chooses, may ignore them all and set up its own remedies. But it is likely that the broad lines of the report will be followed.

RELIEF FOR DROUGHT AREA

The bill to assist the drought areas of the west was speeded through the House. It provided $750,000 in the present year and up to $1,000,000 in each of the subsequent four years, for experimental and demonstration work in the soil drifting and drought areas. The Minister of Agriculture explained that five townships, each containing 23,040 acres, three in Saskatchewan, one in Manitoba, one in Alberta, were to be set aside as illustration areas, the governments working in co-operation with the farmers in those areas. A good deal of attention will be paid to the development of grass seeds, grains and clovers suitable for the drought area. One major objective will be the development of a hardy drought resistant grass which will grow in the heart of the drought area and stop the loose soil from drifting.

Michael Luchkovich, only Ukrainian member of the House, introduced a bill which would make it an offence to defame persons or groups because of their color, race or religion. Continuing his drive for lower interest rates, George Coote, U.F.A. Macleod, succeeded in getting through the banking and commerce committee an amendment to the interest act which would make it illegal for any mortgage holder to collect more than six per cent. One wonders if this will get by the House, the Senate and the Courts. It is generally conceded that the object is a laudable one.

— GOOD FRIDAY —

Good Friday morn . . . a morn of drear,
Christ died for us . . . a Christ so dear,
For self alone, He suffered not,
But for our sins, our own dark blot.

The day was dull, a clouded sky,
Up rugged path came He to die,
A cross to bear, its weight too great,
And all for us, our own sad state.

He stumbled, fell upon the road,
Not cross alone composed His load,
But our misdeeds, temptations sore,
We blasphemed God, and broke His Law.

Seven times to His dear Lord, He cried,
He hung upon the cross, and died,
But through His death, salvation rings
For us . . . He is our King of Kings.

Constipation, Due to Insufficient "Bulk," Relieved by Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

A fine letter from Mrs. Snyder: "I have had trouble" with my bowels for years, taking all kinds of pills and drugs, with no relief.

"One year ago, I saw Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and bought a package. I have good movements every day. I am 73 years old. I am telling my friends what bran has done for me." —Mrs. Sallie Snyder. Address upon request.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to correct common constipation. With each meal, in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the "bulk" in leafy vegetables. How much better to use this food in place of patent medicines.

At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg's, London, Ontario.

Liberal Association of Argenteuil

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor, The Watchman,

Dear Sir,—

May I be permitted to use the columns of your valuable paper, in order to express my personal views, as an old liberal and as one of the directors of the Liberal Association for the county of Argenteuil.

In all sincerity, we all admit in this county that those who were known as the leaders of party's organization for our constituency have now arrived at the last "turn of the road". The facts are there to show that "new blood" has become necessary, unless we are satisfied to see our conservative opponents hold the seats of both Houses as their trophy.

The present Secretary of our Association, Mr. L. L. Legault, has sent notices to the directors that a meeting is to be held at Lachute, on April 27th. next, for the purpose of electing new officers and of adopting a constitution. As there is no written constitution, we always followed the custom established for holding a convention, there to select the "official candidate."

First, the date of the Convention being chosen by the "perpetual" officers and agreed upon by the Montreal Central Committee, we put posters in every locality calling a meeting of the liberals thereof to make the choice and appoint two delegates and substitutes for each poll, who were empowered to go and vote at the convention held at Lachute to select the official candidate. A special representative of the Montreal Central Committee used to be present at the Convention in order to declare the choice made by the delegates as "official". The above having been put as clearly as possible shows in no uncertain way that those who were elected as "directors", last year, were elected as such only, and not as "delegates." No mandate whatever was given them to act as "delegates." Therefore, the directors invited for the 27th will go there to elect new officers, adopt a constitution and decide whatever may come before them in the interest of the Association only; they are not empowered to hold a convention for the choice of a candidate either for Quebec or Ottawa.

It is well known that the liberals are divided into two groups whose leaders are Messrs. L. L. Legault and Gerard Raymond. In the best interests of our party, they should merge, and their leaders should bury the hatchet. April 27th. should be the date when all liberals, irrespective of their past feelings, will get together to show a united front and prepare our party for victory. A good many liberals would see with pleasure the access of Mr. Legault to the joint-presidency of the Association, as a recompense for his many services to the party in Argenteuil.

I have put forward these suggestions as being the solution that will bring harmony and goodwill in our ranks. Let each side do its share, without acrimony, and the liberal flag shall float again over our county. Let us remember always that "United we stand, divided we fall!"

Sincerely Yours,
L. E. Dumais.

STARTING THE DAY RIGHT

The modern young woman is very practical. When she finds something wrong, she is very apt to look for the cause and set about making things right. I have heard a good many women complain about not feeling brisk in the morning and that it took them half the morning to get going, but I never heard of one actually trying to do anything about it, until one of these modern young women came along. When she worked in an office she started briskly to work at nine and did her best work in the morning. But housework seemed to be different. Looking about for the cause, she decided that it might be that she missed the walk and fresh air she used to get while going to work. Now she goes with her husband as far as the store, does her ordering for the day, walks home and starts her housework at nine. She says she feels so much better, goes at her work with a different attitude, and really accomplishes something. It might not work with everyone but certainly it is worth trying.

THE SPRING COMPLEXION

Once upon a time no lady ever ventured out in the Spring sun and wind without wearing a veil to protect her skin from the ravages of the Spring sun and wind. We no longer wear veils but we often find that our skin needs extra care. Those with dry skins suffer most from the wind. All cosmetic advertising to the contrary, it is impossible to feed the skin with cold cream or any other application from without. Certainly, you can lubricate it and soften it with cold cream but you cannot nourish it. Cold cream is useful but do not expect too much of it. Vanishing Cream is not for a dry skin as it is much too alkaline. The effect is like leaving a film of soap on the skin. A film of cold cream acts as a powder base and will protect the skin to a certain extent. Cold cream seems to be most effective if used before a hot bath, as the steam helps the lubricating action.

SHALL WE DISCIPLINE WITH MONEY?

Parents so often try to discipline with money. I wonder if it is ever a success? They will fine a child so much for something displeasing. Possibly they will take ten cents off the allowance if a child is late. Next time the child is apt to figure that it is worth ten cents to do as he likes. Paying for the usual work around the house is not a success as the child is inclined to raise his price or to decide he would rather do without the money than be bothered doing the job. The occasional piece of work for which it might be necessary to hire someone outside to do, may be paid for, but no child should grow up feeling that he must be paid for work done around the home. They should be made to feel that that is their contribution to home life. Parents have tried offering sums of money for improvement in school work. It may work for one report; even that is doubtful but I have never known of a case where it was successful over a period of time. Money does not seem to be successful as a means of discipline.

WHOLE WHEAT MUFFINS

Muffins and Maple Syrup make a very good combination. There is one rule which guides the making of good muffins and that is do not stir them too much. Stir them quickly when the flour has been added and just barely enough to mix in the flour and not one stir more.

- 1 cup flour
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 5 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 well-beaten egg
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 4 tablespoons melted butter
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup whole wheat flour

Mix the dry ingredients and add the raisins. Add milk and melted butter to the beaten egg and stir into the dry mixture quickly. Bake in hot greased muffin tins for 25 minutes at 400 degrees.

FATE OF RESOLUTIONS

Where do all the innumerable resolutions, passed by women's organizations go? Do women ask for the impossible and have they obtained all information on the questions involved before they ask governments to take action? Miss Jean Ross, Ontario's Women's Institute legislation convenor, urges upon all women a thorough study of any question before it is presented in a resolution; also that a resolution contain only one request.

Last fall the Ontario Women's Institutes passed 14 resolutions, in 13 district conventions, these representing the public opinion of 43,000 women. They were presented to the provincial government. They asked for a school for feeble-minded in western Ontario; examination fees of public schools to be abolished; juvenile offenders under the age of 18 years should come under the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court; that singing be a part of the public school curriculum and that the High School curriculum stress the practical rather than the academic subjects; also that health nursing service be restored to Aloma and St. Joseph Counties.

RAILWAY TICKET RECORD OVER TWO YARDS LONG

When the average traveller steps up to a railway ticket counter to purchase a ticket he usually receives a piece of paper of insignificant proportions, just a little slip of a few inches at the most. If, however, you were to receive six and a half feet of railroad ticket you would think that you were really going to do some travelling. It was a ticket of this length, the longest ever issued in Vancouver, that was handed over the counter recently at the ticket office of the Canadian National Railways, when a lecturer stepped up to purchase transportation for a tour throughout the West. The traveller was Edna Jacques, who left on a speaking tour of Western Canada under the auspices of the Associated Canadian Clubs. Her itinerary opens at Pouce Coupe, in the Peace River block, and the tour ends some five weeks later at Fort William, Ont.

ped into cold water or to 238 degrees if using a thermometer. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff. Add the syrup gradually to the egg whites and continue beating. This makes a delicious sauce for Cottage Pudding or hot Ginger Bread.

LEMON PUDDING

- Juice and rind of 1 lemon
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg white
- 2 cups water
- 4 tablespoons corn starch
- 1 tablespoon butter

Bring water, sugar, butter and lemon juice and rind to the boiling point. Mix corn starch with enough cold water to moisten. Add a little of the boiling mixture to the cornstarch, then return to the hot mixture constantly until thick, then cook for three minutes longer to take away the taste of raw starch. Let it get almost cold, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg white. Chill thoroughly and serve with custard sauce.

CUSTARD SAUCE

Beat the egg yolk remaining from the previous recipe until well mixed. Add 3/4 cup milk, and 1 teaspoon sugar. Cook over a very slow fire until the mixture coats the spoon. Add 1/4 teaspoon vanilla and chill.

GRENVILLE DRAMATIC EFFORTS ON MISSIONARY THEME

Two plays, "A Missionary Working Party" and "Strictly Private", were performed last Friday by members of the Girls' Branch of the W.A. of St. Matthew's. Both plays dealt with various aspects of the missionary appeal, and the musical selections, under the direction of Miss Pearl Dawson, were in accord with the general theme.

The girls, assisted by three boys, did exceedingly well, and the audience greatly appreciated their efforts. Where all did their best it is hard to discriminate, but undoubtedly, some of the girls excelled in that factor greatly to be desired in acting—namely, a complete naturalness. The musical features were also very well rendered. The costumes, effects and stage settings were all very good. Much credit is due to Mrs. Ross Matthew, leader of the Branch, for her very effective direction. This is the first effort of the new organization, and it shows that they are both lively and capable.

Largest Dome on Top of West Baden (Ind.) Hotel

The dome of the original capital building of the National Capital was constructed of wood, covered with copper, observes the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. This was replaced by the present structure of cast iron, which was completed in 1865.

But how many Americans are aware that the largest dome in the world is in a small town in the Middle West? This town is not a seat of government. It has a population of only about 2,000, and it has no large cathedral comparable to those in the great cities of the United States and Europe. "It is a safe guess," says the Manchester Guardian, "that few know where the largest dome on earth is now to be found. It is on top of a huge hotel in a smallish town in the Middle West of America—West Baden, Ind." Indeed, few Americans know this.

The span of the dome at West Baden "is twelve feet broader than the dome of St. Peter's. The builders' problem was not the making of a big dome, but the contrivance of adequately strong supports to hold one. It rests on sixteen solid brick piers, inclosed in a thick skin of masonry. The lime binds the masonry into an almost imperishable mass through its ability to absorb carbon dioxide from the air to unite with the sand and bricks."

Investigation discloses there is a hotel in West Baden Spring, Ind., having a dome of steel and over 18,000 square feet of glass skylight, covering 40,000 square feet of floor space, the largest single room in the world.

Fiat Money

During the Civil war the country was unable to find gold or silver to support needed currency issues, or to borrow to defray the expense of war. Secretary of the Treasury Chase suggested an issue of money supported by nothing but the government's promise to pay. This is known as fiat money. Demand notes were issued, and called greenbacks because the back was printed in green ink. The people declined to receive them at full value. They stood at 97 cents in January, 1862, but in 1864, when General Early reached a point within eight miles of Washington, and many despair of Northern victory, their value declined to 35 cents on the dollar. By 1875 their value in the public estimation rose to 87.2. Payment of them in specie was authorized at that time. The government then put $150,000,000 in gold aside for their support and provided later for an additional gold reserve. This brought them to par, and they have since been accepted without question.

The Wedding Ring

When a man puts a ring on his bride's finger at the altar he is doing precisely what his long-dead predecessor did in Anglo-Saxon days. When Anglo-Saxon lovers were betrothed the bridegroom gave a "pledge" which took the form of a ring. This was placed on the maiden's right hand, and was religiously kept there until it was transferred to the other hand at the marriage ceremony. It is interesting to note that this pledge was called a "wed," from which we derive our word "wedding."

When the potatoes are ready for baking, rub them over with lard or dripping. This keeps the skins from getting hard in baking and they are much nicer to handle when they come from the oven.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Apr. 21st., is "Doctrine of Atone-ment."

The Golden Text is: "Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation." (Hebrews 9: 28).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept." (1 Corinthians 15: 19, 20).

"Glory be to God, and peace to the struggling hearts! Christ hath rolled away the stone from the door of human hope and faith, and through the revelation and demonstration of life in God, hath elevated them to possible at-one-ment with the spiritual idea of man and his divine Principle, Love."

WHY HYDRO MUST BUY POWER

The greatest depression which the world has ever seen retarded only for two years the Hydro's need for more and more power, a need which, up to 1929, compounded itself by 11 per cent. annually. In assessing the needs of the future, Hydro engineers purchased from Quebec power which would have provided only for an annual increase in consumption of but 7 per cent. As the chart reveals, the upward trend in consumption was interrupted only for two years and was again resumed in 1932.

If Ontario does not use power from Quebec, the province can only look to three sources for its future requirements: Niagara, the St. Lawrence River and steam. The first two can only be further developed by huge capital expenditures running up to $260 for every single horsepower produced. Further power from these sources can only be obtained at a figure higher than the $15 per horsepower being paid to Quebec. As for steam power, its cost makes it prohibitive as a basic source of supply for Hydro's increasing needs.

That there is room for an ever-increasing growth in consumption may be judged by the use of power in Quebec where the annual per capita consumption is 2,590 kilowatt hours as against 1,620 k.w.h. in Ontario.

OLDSMOBILE MODELS HAVE OUTSTANDING ATTRACTIONS

Many new and better features are incorporated in the 1935 Oldsmobile Six cars, now showing at dealer establishments in the locality.

Built to conform to the public demand for new features of safety, comfort, performance and economy as revealed in replies to the 1934 questionnaire conducted by General Motors Customer Research Branch at Oshawa, the 1935 Oldsmobile lines introduce as an outstanding development the new all-steel "turret-top" roof by Fisher. This not only provides added safety, but lends new strength, rigidity and grace to the already strong and graceful Oldsmobile bodies.

The streamline design of the new Oldsmobile is utilitarian and individualistic, incorporating with all the advantages of wind resistance reduction enhanced beauty of symmetrical lines.

Other new features are: A complete system of sound-proofing of body, chassis and motor; longer wheelbase and roomier interiors; increased economy of operation by means of improved manifold and carburetion systems; increased power achieved through an entirely new design of cylinder head which still permits the use of standard fuel; redistribution of weight to give an even smoother ride by placing seat location between the axles; new design of the car front, with narrow and higher radiator grilles, new radiator ornaments, new fenders and restyled louvers; and the retention of the 1934 advancements, principal of which are knee-action wheels and hydraulic brakes.

Ten models are available in the Oldsmobile Six: The 5-passenger Coach; 5-passenger Coach with trunk; 5-passenger De Luxe Coach with trunk; 2-passenger Coupe; 4-passenger Coupe with rumble seat; 4-passenger De Luxe Coupe with Rumble Seat; 4-passenger De Luxe Convertible Coupe with Rumble Seat; 5-passenger Sedan; 5-passenger Sedan with trunk; and 5-passenger De Luxe Sedan with trunk.

In the new Eight five models are presented: 5-passenger De Luxe Coach with trunk; 4-passenger De Luxe Coupe with Rumble Seat; 4-passenger De Luxe Convertible Coupe with Rumble Seat; 5-passenger Sedan with trunk; and 5-passenger De Luxe Sedan with trunk.

INTEREST CENTRED ON LIBERAL MEETING

Judging from the two open letters which appeared in The Watchman last week, the meeting of the Liberal Association called in the Court House for Saturday, promises to be somewhat out of the ordinary. While the present officials have held office for many years there has been a persistent feeling in certain circles that new blood should be instilled into the organization. This has given rise to the formation of a junior group of young Liberals, who have somewhat taken the bit between their teeth, seeking to dominate rather than to co-operate.

With elections only a few months distant, there will be no lack of candidates to contest this riding. But Saturday's meeting is for the purpose of electing a new executive, after which a public-meeting will be held and prominent speakers will address the gathering.

FUNERAL OF FORMER B'BURG RESIDENT

The funeral of the late Geo. P. Simpson civil consulting engineer of Montreal, and formerly associated with the old Dominion Cartridge Company at Brownsburg where he had many friends, was held on Tuesday afternoon in the funeral chapel of Tees & Company. His death occurred on Saturday last following a brief illness.

Mr. Simpson was in his 66th year. During an active career he was associated with many different engineering enterprises including also the Canadian Pacific Railway, of which he was formerly assistant mechanical engineer; and several American companies. Until his recent illness he was engaged in private practice as a consultant in Montreal.

WELL ORGANIZED FOR ACCIDENT PREVENTION

A two-day safety conference held by the Quebec Association for the Prevention of Industrial Accidents opened yesterday in Montreal. Delegates from industrial firms throughout the province are attending this conference, at which all possible angles of accident prevention work are discussed.

The gathering is the seventh of its kind held in Montreal, the first having been organized by the Province of Quebec Safety League, sister organization of the Quebec Association. But when the Quebec Association was organized to co-operate and aid the Workmen's Compensation Commission, under which it operates, it took over the handling of the safety conference two years ago.

The official program includes 18 business sessions, with the registration and annual dinner. Speakers of note to address the meetings include E. W. Bently, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Beaudry Leman, of Banque Canadienne Nationale.

In connection with the conference an exhibition of safety appliances occupies an entire floor of the Mount Royal Hotel, where all sessions are taking place. Nearly fifty firms are showing the latest in safety devices and appliances.

The inaugural session yesterday was presided over by Allan M. Mitchell, president of the association, and there were in attendance His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, E. L. Patenaude, K.C., Mayor Camillien Houde, C.B.E., of Montreal, Hon. C. J. Arcand, provincial minister of labor, Robert Taschereau K.C., chair-

The Watchman's appeal for Cancer Fund donations has met with a gratifying response, many individuals and organizations having contributed locally through this newspaper. The fund closes on May third, and any desirous of aiding this worthy cause should bring their gifts in time to enable the Editor to remit before that date.

SIR GEORGE PERLEY HEARD IN ENGLAND

MADE RADIO TESTS FOR JUBILEE HOOK-UP

The voice of Sir George Perley was carried across the Atlantic from Ottawa on Tuesday to Broadcasting House in London, as the programme department of the Canadian Radio Commission and the British directors made tests for the trans-Atlantic broadcast which will feature His Majesty's Jubilee Day presentations on May 6. "Thank you, Ottawa — Sir George Perley was heard as clearly as if in England," London reported to the Canadian engineers.

"An interesting experience and one that presages success for a splendid jubilee day programme," Sir George commented at the conclusion of the trans-Atlantic tests.

RELIEF WORKER CAUGHT IN EARTH SLIDE

Prudhomme Paquette of Lachute Mills, a young man engaged on the town's new water-main installation at Brownsburg Road, was caught last Monday afternoon when earth caved in at the excavation where he was working. Fellow workers soon released the man, and examination by a physician revealed that he had sustained no serious injury.

RUSSELL CARPENTER IS INVENTOR OF DEVICE IN PAPER-MAKING

Invention of an intricate device to measure and control pulp stock in paper making machines is credited to Russell Carpenter, a former Lachute townsman who has taken his business seriously and risen to responsibility in the paper making industry. Mr. Carpenter is a master in the mechanical processes of paper manufacture.

Commerce and Industry magazine comments on his invention in details which will interest those concerned locally in the paper business:

Departing from the usual type of basis weight regulators employed on pulp and paper making machines, Russell Carpenter, of Wayagamack Island, Three Rivers, Canada, has developed a device which controls the basis weight without being affected by variation in the freeness or slowness of stock. Attention recently has been called to this development by the issue of Patent No. 1,971,296 to the Canadian inventor, embracing twelve major claims granted by the U. S. Patent Office in recognition of the advances incorporated in the machine.

The unit is described as follows: "The combination with a pulp or paper making machine of a sample sheet forming, drying and weighing apparatus functioning to periodically produce a sample sheet having a bone dry weight bearing a predetermined relation to the bone dry weight of the pulp or paper web forming on said machine, and means whereby said machine and apparatus are both supplied with pulp or paper stock of the same characteristics so that any variation in the weight of the forming web is indicated by a corresponding variation in the weight of the sample sheet."

INTERESTED READER FOR FORTY-FIVE YEARS

From Mr. A. St. Louis, of Dearborn, Mich., the Watchman has received a letter from which we take liberty to publish the following paragraph:

"I still stick to The Watchman, and have done so for the last 45 years, as it brings me each week the fond recollections of early days and the good old town of Lachute — new now, I presume, in many ways."

It is the occasional sentiment of this kind which gladdens the Editor's heart and compensates for many thankless aspects of the publishing business. This paragraph speaks forcibly too of our reader's attachment to the old town, in spite of all the changes it has undergone in nearly half a century.

A BUSY SEASON FOR CAR DEALERS

Plymouth and Chrysler cars were the subject of a movie demonstration arranged by Welden Motor Sales, in the Auditorium last Thursday evening. At Mason Motor Sales on Saturday a demonstration of new Chevrolet models drew an interested crowd. Mr. P. Chabot, local registrar of licences, is busily at work in his office; and from the number of cars in evidence, and general appearances this season, the public is becoming thoroughly auto-conscious.

"CREATING AN ARMY OF BUMS"

ONTARIO COUNCILLOR WOULD AID YOUTH

Councillor P. G. Mitchell, of Toronto Township, in a public address this week declared he would rather see infants killed at birth than raised and educated only to be turned out on the highways because there is no place in life for them.

"Something has to be done," Councillor Mitchell said, in calling attention to the conditions in his municipality, Clarkson, Ont. "All we are doing is creating an army of bums. We have had about 80,000 graduated from our high schools in Ontario during the past four or five years. We send them to school to acquire that education and when they have it, what good is it?"

"Year after year students graduate. Perhaps a Member of Parliament hands them some taffy at commencement and gives them a diploma. The day after, they have nothing. I would rather have the babies knocked on the head at birth than see them turned out to wander after teaching them to feel and suffer," he added.

"They come into my cornfield at night, girls and boys, and tear up corn to cover them, and sleep in the fields. I have hired girls to hoe corn who were walking the highways. Nobody cares about the girls."

Councillor Mitchell said his farm was on the highway, and during each year of the depression he had seen hundreds of young men and women walking along the road, searching almost hopelessly for something to do.

Mr. Mitchell has made a suggestion to Hon. David A. Croll, Ontario Minister of Welfare, that a department be established at an initial cost of about $20,000 to get in touch with people between the ages of 18 to 23, find out what kind of work they are suited for, file their qualifications and try to find work for them by keeping in touch with the employers.

RELIEF CAMP STRIKERS IN VANCOUVER RIOTS

Disturbances forecast by Mayor G. G. McGeer, at the recent Mayors' Conference in Montreal, materialized on Tuesday in Vancouver when relief camp strikers clashed with police in the Hudson's Bay Company store, where thousands of dollars damage was done.

Mayor McGeer read the Riot Act to a mob of two thousand strikers. Several strikers and police were injured.

The rioters disrupted traffic in Vancouver's business section as they paraded about. When they swarmed into the big department store showcases were smashed and fixtures and merchandise damaged.

It was the first time since 1912 the Riot Act has been read in Vancouver.

Parading through the City, men who had walked out of the relief camps attempted to gain entrance to other stores but found most doors barred against them.

GEORGE WADE PROVES POPULAR AS EVER

A record number turned out to hear George Wade and his Corn Huskers at a successful dance in the Auditorium on Monday, under arrangement of Mr. Douglas McQuat. The gathering numbered almost four hundred, and a pleasant evening was reported by those in attendance.

CONVICTED ON LOCAL ROBBERY CHARGE

TRIAL FOR DRUG-STORE BURGLARY

Mr. Edward Beaton, accompanied by Mr. O. Lafortune, attended the Court of Sessions in Montreal on Thursday last, prepared to testify against Harry Burke who was charged with breaking and entering Beaton's Pharmacy last August.

Burke, who is a hardened criminal with a long record of previous convictions, pleaded guilty however, and was remanded for sentence by Judge Morin.

Detective J. A. Robert of the Provincial Police, who had charge of the case, is well known in Lachute and is to be congratulated on the tenacity he displayed in his investigations. Handicapped by the vague description furnished of the suspects, in addition to being unable to procure the serial number of a stolen radio, Detective Robert followed up every available clue and finally apprehended the criminals concerned, as well as recovering Mr. Beaton's radio.

The robbery was well planned. Burk, with two companions, who are now serving terms of imprisonment, drove through Lachute in the early evening of August 7th., and after looking over various possibilities decided on Beaton's Pharmacy. They then drove to Hawkesbury, Ont., and returned about 2.30 a.m. It was but a matter of minutes to open the rear window, pry apart the bars with an auto jack, and secure the merchandise previously "spotted" in the early evening.

Detective Robert was informed that in two hours all the goods taken were disposed of in Montreal.

It is to be hoped that the justice meted out to the culprits in this robbery case may deter others from selecting Lachute as the scene of their operations in future.

ers," he said, "I think that in a few years they would be able to place the young people as they came out of school."

Lachute Town Council having set an example by cleaning up the streets around town, it is to be hoped that citizens will follow suit by seeing that their properties do not harbour a lot of unsightly refuse. Co-operation is the keynote of success, and every citizen within the town limits can do his part in helping to make Lachute a better place in which to live.

FELL FROM OTTAWA-MONTREAL TRAIN

PAPINEAUVILLE MAN INSTANTLY KILLED

Maurice Ouellette, 28 years of age, of Papineauville, lost his life on Monday in a fall from the C. P. R. Montreal-Ottawa train. The fatality occurred near the old Mile End station. The man was standing on the platform of the train and is said to have lost his balance. Death was instantaneous. The body was taken to the morgue in Montreal.

It was learned that Ouellette, at the time of the accident, was accompanied by another resident of Papineauville. Both were on their way to Montreal. Following the accident, the Mont Laurier train conveyed the body to Place Viger station.

SUMMER HOME BURNED AT OKA VILLAGE

An early morning fire last Monday swept through the summer home of Mrs. A. Luke, at Oka. The cottage, leased by Mrs. Luke who is at present in Bermuda, is the property of Leopold Arbie, a butcher in Oka Village. Firemen extinguished the blaze before the entire house was destroyed. The furniture was considerably damaged by fire, smoke and water, the total loss being estimated at $1,000.

MONTH'S ACTIVITIES OF ARGENTEUIL WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

Chatham Branch responded to their roll-call with "Gardening Hints" and the 19 members present heard a most interesting paper on the Making of Maple Syrup, by Mrs. A. Dixon, and also were given instructions in the making of a hotbed. The members planned a birthday tea, which was successfully held on April 13.

Frontier Branch had 14 members in attendance, answering their roll-call with "A good supper dish." They planned their programme for the year, which promises to be quite interesting, and arranged for a contest for the school children, in the form of a paper on "Our Canadian Birds." A Scotch poem on house-cleaning was also read and events touching on Home Economics, Education and Better Schools, Child Welfare and Public Health, and other miscellany.

Lachute Branch had four new members and one guest. Mrs. Leggett, convenor of the subject for the day, Home Economics, had as the roll call "A Nourishing Supper Dish", also a demonstration in cutting a quarter of beef, by Mr. Elliott, who explained the different cuts. A donation was voted to the Cancer Fund.

Lakefield Branch held no meeting this month.

Morin Heights enjoyed an Easter message which was written some time ago by Mrs. Cooke, of Beech Ridge, one of the Institute's oldest members. Their Roll-Call was answered by naming a Canadian mineral

NATIVE OF ST. ANDREWS DIES AT MOUNT FOREST

The recent copy of the Mount Forest Confederate records as follows:

"The very sudden and unexpected death of Dr. T. D. Meikle was a great surprise and shock to this community in which he had been so long and favorably known. Early in the week he had had a cold and had been taking care of himself in bed. On Wednesday he was in his office attending patients, but he was seized with septic sore throat and returned to bed, and his death followed two days later."

Dr. Meikle was born in St. Andrews East in 1857, and was the son of Thomas Meikle. In 1889 he married Helen M. McMartin of St. Andrews, who was a devoted wife. Seven children were born to them, of whom five survive: Ruby at home; Haddo of Edmonton; Margaret of Toronto; Peden, and Tom of Detroit.

and telling where it was mined. Canadian Industries was given special prominence, by a thorough study of the different branches under this company, which very kindly provided maps showing where the various plants were situated, as well as an amount of literature and samples. Interesting current events were read on Canadianization and National Events, some of which covered "Self Government for India", "Noted Persons in Canada", and one concerning the next Governor-General, Mr. Buchan. A competition in composing the final line of a house-cleaning verse, in which many interesting and amusing lines were submitted, resulted in Mrs. Gilby winning the prize, a pretty china dish donated by the president.

Pioneer Branch stressed Home Economics, answering their roll-call with a recipe for a supper dish. They were entertained by talks on Winter Sewing, the Making of Quilts, Afghans and Mats, also a demonstration on patching a suit by means of the sewing-machine.

Upper Lachute - East End had 12 members and three guests. They donated $20. to the Cancer Fund, and heard an interesting paper on Home Economics. The Roll Call was House-cleaning Hints.

Jerusalem & Bethany Women's Institute had a taffy Social in place of regular meeting. At this meeting money was raised by the selling of a quilt.

WHEN THE CROW DID NOT LAUGH

Polly Chuck and Mollie Chuck, And all of the Chucks we know, Were walking in the sunshine, In a ziggy-zaggy row.

A crow sat on a fence post, And haw-hawed at the sight, Until an awful banging noise Gave him a dreadful fright.

He flew right up into the air, His toes with powder burned, Another bang! and his new suit Was ruined as he turned.

With aching head and torn coat, He flew into a tree, "It's not a laughing matter now", Cried a jolly chick-a-dee.

THE EASTER PARADE

"When can we start?" The gay little meadow mouse had asked her mother that question almost a dozen times now, to receive the same reply. "Not before Blue Bunnie gets here, my child. The parade cannot go on without him." "Then I wish he would hurry," squeaked the lively little mouse, darting in and out of the passage that led to their warm soft nest, until he mother became so nervous that she said quite sharply, "Pink Nose, do keep still! If you don't I shall leave you at home and take Stubby Tail instead."

"Oh! oh!" squeaked Pink Nose, "please don't do that. I'll be quiet."

It seemed hours to lively little Pink Nose before Blue Jay signalled that the parade was about to start. Without waiting for her mother's permission, she darted out of the hole. Stumbling over Stubby Tail and Short Ears, scratching them both with her excited little claws as she climbed over them, she was out in the field and over to the parade ground in a very few moments. "That excitable child!" murmured Mrs.

Meadow Mouse as she followed very sedately and took her place in the procession beside Aunt Sniffer, from the other side of the valley. "What has kept the parade from starting, for so long?" she asked Aunt Sniffer. "Oh, that Blue Bunny of course. His clothes did not fit, after all his reducing, and we had to wait until Sniffer, the tailor bird, put a piece in the back of his coat and sewed some frills on the cuffs to make the sleeves long enough." "Frills!" chuckled Mrs. Meadow Mouse. "I am sure he feels quite out of place with frills on his coat sleeves." "On the contrary," said Aunt Sniffer "he is actually proud of them. Look for yourself and you will think so too, I am sure."

Mrs. Meadow Mouse stood up as straight as she could, and sure enough Mr. Blue Bunnie was directing the parade and tossing his front paws around in all directions, with a proud tilt to his head as if to say, "Look at my frills, aren't they stylish!"

Mrs. Meadow Mouse saw more than that too. She saw her lively daughter Pink Nose dancing a jig at the rear of the parade with young Mr. Mole. She was very much displeased, but felt that she could not very well draw attention to the two foolish young things. "Dancing a jig at the Easter Parade!" she murmured under her breath, "how decidedly out of place. I shall have to speak to her father about it when I go home." In this way Mrs. Meadow Mouse shifted the responsibility of her daughter's bad manners to someone else's shoulders (as so many mothers do, when their children are naughty) and proceeded to enjoy the parade. The Hyla family piped the Grand March from the edge of the pond and Grandfather Bull Frog kept time with his big bass drum—chug-a-rum, chug-a-rum—and gaily the little folks marched to the sound.

The Blue Bunnie led the parade and did look so funny, with a piece of blue cloth in his coat and his frills flapping in the wind; but the little folks were so busy keeping step to the music they had not time to see just how funny he looked.

Polly Chuck and Billy Mink, all in their new spring suits, pranced along side by side, although they found it hard to pay attention to what was going on, because of the smell of newly-baked bread that wafted to them from the window of Farmer Jones' kitchen; they both loved it so. Not long ago Billy had stolen up to a bench where the farmer's wife had some fresh bread cooling, and had eaten quite a hole in it! He was longing to go and see if there were not some more nice loaves on the bench, but the parade must go on; beside he wanted Long Tail, the Rat, who was coming behind, to get a good view of his new spring suit. They had had an argument about which had the better suit!

Hippety Hop, the green toad, was having a delightful time hopping along with the others, until he saw Striped Back the snake, pop up from between two stones to see the parade pass by. With a squeal of fear he hopped backwards, upsetting Mrs. Meadow Mouse and Aunt Sniffer in his hurry to hide where Striped Back would not see him.

"Dear, dear," sighed Mrs. Meadow Mouse, "how upsetting things are!" Aunt Sniffer was quite angry, and squealed after the offending toad, "You have ruined my Easter bonnet with

BOY SCOUTS THE WORLD OVER

232 Boy Scout camps were held in Ontario during the summer of 1934, with a total attendance of 5,976 boys.

Says Scouting Saves Windsor $10,000 Annually

That City of Windsor is saved some $10,000 per year by the Boy Scout Movement was a recent declaration of Magistrate Brody, because of Scouting's effectiveness in preventing a certain number of boys annually being added to the roll of police court cases.

A Distinction for Thursday Island

During their present world tour, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell found the greatest number of Scouts and Guides to population in an unexpected place—small Thursday Island, off Queensland. From some 700 inhabitants—400 whites and 300 Malays and Japanese—200 Scouts and Guides greeted the World Chief Scout and Chief Guide.

A Redskin-Paleface Battle, 1935

Here's a modern battle, Redskins vs. Palefaces, Boy Scout Style. And it was the Palefaces "bit the dust"—on the ice. It was a hockey game between Blackfoot Indian boys of the Old Sun School Scout Troop, Gleichen, Alberta, and the 1st. Rockyford Scout team. And the Indian lads won, 6-4. Some of their stars were Wolf Leg, Yellow Fly, Fox, and Waterchief.

100 Old Bowlers, Please!

Old toys, old clothes, old shoes, old furniture are frequently called for by Boy Scouts in their welfare work. It remained for Oxford Scouts to spring a new one. They were asked to be Roman soldiers in a pageant. Having the Scout reputation for resourcefulness, they were requested to provide their own Roman helmets. The answer: 100 old bowler hats, minus rims, plus 1 gal. aluminum paint.

Ski-ing and bear-hunting were combined at the Bates Camps, Metagama, recently, when two women skiers of Toronto, accompanied by a photographer, routed a bear out of his den and stood near while the animal was "shot" by a movie camera.

The Orient with its mystery and its allure, its brilliant colors and picturesque scenes, will form the inspiration for the Beaux Arts Ball, biggest event of the spring season, to be held the week after Easter at the Canadian Pacific Royal York Hotel, Toronto. The historic theme for the ball is the great festival at Samarcand held in 1404 to celebrate the Emperor Tamerlane's conquest of India.

Musical and literary England, and the England of the great cathedrals will be visited this summer by a party under the leadership of Dr. Alfred Whitehead, organist of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal. Itinerary of the tour which will take about a month has been arranged by Guy Tombs, Ltd., in conjunction with the Canadian Pacific Steamships.

Had the same research been put into other industries as has been employed in the automobile business, you would not hear so much to-day about the high cost of living, said Col. Frank Chappell, of General Motors, Ltd., speaking at a lunch at the Lord Nelson Hotel, Halifax, recently.

your horrid feet. Why can't you behave as the others do. We are going forward and not backward, you silly thing."

She had scarcely finished before she was racing backwards too! She had caught sight of Striped Back's ugly head and his eyes seemed to be looking straight at her. Pink Nose saw him too, and squealed in fright, "Mother, mother!" until Mrs. Meadow Mouse dashed back to see what was the trouble. By that time all of the tiny folk had seen him too, and had scurried off, their easter bonnets dragging behind them and their little skirts flying.

By the time the parade got back to the starting point, there was only the Blue Bunnie, the Chucks, the Minks and the Skunk families left. They were not afraid of Striped Back, who they knew was a coward. —Next Story, The Birds' Conference.

The Perpetual Liberal Committee of the County of Argenteuil

CORRESPONDENCE

Freedom under the law is the finest fruit that ever grew on the tree of British Liberty—so I learned at school.

It was a born teacher that instilled the above principle into me, a small boy of nine years old, and not only to me but into young men of twenty-five with bearded chins—and the teacher was but fifteen years old herself. What puzzles me to this day is where she got all the trite paragraphs she wrote on the blackboard for us to memorize in the old log school-house at the crossroads in Ontario, and inculcated in her pupils that spirit of liberty that no political committee can eradicate. She taught us, too, what we in Argenteuil seem to have forgotten, that the people, not the platform, choose the chairman of their public meetings. She impressed on us the sacred principle, that though the will of the majority is in all cases to prevail, that will must be reasonable; that minorities possess equal rights, which laws must protect, and to violate would be oppression.—And any move to establish precedents on a free people, by any committee over a free people, is a violation and an oppression that I for one will not stand for, I will stand alone in the right, or I will stand with anybody in the right, and leave them when they are wrong.

I have said often that I am not for the choice of a candidate for election by convention, because it robs me of individuality and my right. I choose to vote for the candidate myself and not intrust my birthright to another; no committee or no government can deny me that right, any more than they can deny me freedom of speech at any meeting of the people. I have no quarrel with the other fellow; he is at liberty to do as he chooses, but he must not attempt to force me to choose as he does. I am not sure who said it (I got it from the little fifteen-year-old teacher)—"Still one thing more, a wise and frugal government which will restrain from injuring one another and leave them otherwise free."

I was rather pleased to see by The Watchman that someone else has opinions besides myself on this matter, and to note that said opinions do not co-incide with mine; at least I must accord to the writer that he is sincere in what he says, and though we may differ in our opinions I think it was Milton that said "Good argument is knowledge in the making for those that engage in it and instruction for our readers". I have a statement or two to make, as well as a few questions to ask.

In the days when Dr. Christie and his son were our liberal candidates for election, the people's meeting was called and we nominated them from the audience; every man had a vote and no convention controlled it. Will the writer of last issue kindly inform me when we, at a people's meeting, gave over this right to a committee to change that order to a choice of delegates at a convention called by Montreal, or rather agreed upon by Montreal Central Committee? The order of things is so entirely changed that I scarcely know it. In Dr. Christie's day—time and again I have heard him repeat it, and indeed

by CHARLOTTE WEAVER

"Helen, I do wish you would sit upright in your chair," declared Mrs. Blair-Ellis crossly. "That slouching attitude annoys me."

The big, blue eyes of Helen Blair-Ellis had been fixed, dreamily, on the distant chimney of the printing office. Her thoughts were of her father who had edited the weekly Banner as long as she could remember, until his death five years ago.

There had come back to Helen a surging pride of her father, a fragrant memory of his in-born kindness and simple regard for others that had shone warmly like flexible gold against the cold, granite background of her mother's hauteur. Vaguely she recalled the picture of her father leaving their home one Christmas night and returning with three tramps who had sought shelter, in the old tank house near the railway tracks, from a perishing north wind; of her mother's astonishment and indignation; of the three wanderers, having eaten ravenously. Then, when the three had gone, angry words had been spoken by the mother because Helen's father had given the men money. The girl remembered how her father's eyes had glowed at last. He had said to her mother, "That's enough, my dear."

Sometimes Helen's eyes glowed like that, she knew, but she avoided crossing her mother, instinctively avoided clashing heart against cold logic.

As she lay back dreamily and thought of her father a great gladness was flowing in to the girl—the gladness of love. She wondered if her father would know somehow, and share the strange joy which she had found. Fervently she hoped that he—

The complaint of Mrs. Blair-Ellis cut into Helen's meditations like a knife. The girl started, and lifted herself into straight-backed posture at once. "I'm sorry, mother," she apologized, coloring.

Mrs. Blair-Ellis frowned and turned to a smartly-dressed gentleman at her left. The three were sitting on reed chairs about under an elm tree which shaded a corner of the Blair-Ellis garden.

HAVEN'T you noticed that your happiest hours occur on days when you feel your best?

Have more of these happy days. You and all your family. Guard health while you have it. Keep on the sunny side of life.

The greatest enemy of health is common constipation. It may cause loss of appetite and energy. Certainly it kills enthusiasm! Yet it can be banished by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much pleasanter to eat this delicious ready-to-eat cereal than to take patent medicines. Two table-spoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

"As you were saying, Maurice . . ." she resumed.

The gentleman, nearly twice as old as Helen, and obviously acquainted with the world, lifted his gaze from her reluctantly.

"Oh, yes—Willoughby I think his name is; drayman; drives a truck, you know—he came tearing along at a great clip, passed my car, and then swung his machine across the road in front of me. I had to stop."

"He got down from his truck and ordered me out on to the road. When I refused, he became angry, climbed all over me into my car, turned it round and headed back to the spot where I had struck the dog."

"When we reached the spot," the gentleman called Maurice, continued, "This Willoughby chap said, 'See that?'—pointing at the dog."

"Certainly I see it," I said. 'Purely an accident, my dear fellow.' I asked him if the dog was his and he said—I wouldn't like to tell you exactly what he said; he was so furious that his fists were clenched and he was almost crying—he said that it was not his dog. Then I wanted to know what the infernal row was about if the dog wasn't his. He wouldn't say; just trembled, and climbed out of my car and dragged the dog to the side of the road. Then he told me to clear out."

"I replied that when he was through making an ass of himself I would be obliged if he would go back with me and move his truck out of my way."

The story recounted, Maurice flicked some ash from his cigarette and leaned back in his chair comfortably. Mrs. Blair-Ellis smiled.

"Of course, Maurice, he is frightfully common," she pointed out. "Dismiss the unpleasant affair from your mind. After all you were not at fault."

Unnoticed by Mrs. Blair-Ellis and Maurice a red flame of remonstrance flared in Helen's cheeks, which, suddenly and for good reason, developed into a crimson blush. Fred Willoughby, drayman, was at that moment swinging up the Blair-Ellis pathway. Under one arm he carried a parasol.

Mrs. Blair-Ellis watched his entry coldly. Maurice, recognizing his enemy of the morning's encounter on the road, frowned his annoyance and nervously tapped the arm of his chair. But Helen's confusion was clearing. She waited rather shyly until Willoughby stopped before her with the parasol.

"How careless of me, Fred," she declared. "Really, I hadn't missed it. Thank you very much." Impulsively she turned to her mother.

"Mr. Willoughby, this is my mother; mother, Mr. Willoughby," she said.

With much dignity and reserve, Mrs. Blair-Ellis received the young man's polite expression of pleasure.

Helen continued: "Mr. Maurice LeDrew; Mr. Willoughby."

Young Willoughby started as he recognized the older man, and he nodded curtly. As he returned to his truck Helen lowered her eyes and dug the point of the parasol into the turf at her feet. Mrs. Blair-Ellis was frowning.

"My dear Helen," she said, "If you will persist in cultivating such acquaintances you can expect only embarrassment."

Helen's eyes were glowing as her father's would have glowed in like circumstances but she bit her lip, desperately, and said nothing. She excused herself and retired to the house.

At this same Blair-Ellis place ten years before, a tall, freck-

John Parker, B.A., Inspector of Superior Schools, Quebec, made his official visit to Lachute. He reports that the school was never in better condition, and was specially pleased with the high character of the reading. The school was given a special holiday, as a mark of satisfaction.

led-faced school-boy, who delivered parcels after school hours for a grocer, pulled his horse up to the side-walk and jumped down from the rattling gig in which he rode. A girl of twelve, a very pretty girl in her white dress and sky-blue sash, stood, feet astride and hands behind her back, waiting.

Even then this little girl showed the generous qualities of her father. Certainly in her attitude towards the delivery boy she showed nothing of her mother's haughty nature.

The delivery boy doffed his cap and handed over to Helen a pencil box. "It's yours," he explained, "You must have lost it coming from school." He turned the box over and showed Helen her name written on the bottom.

Fred Willoughby was not conscious of anything more than a boyish interest in Helen then, yet from that day he remembered her. But not being a guest at the affairs Helen attended, and never being invited when other young people were "asked" to the Blair-Ellis home, he saw little of her.

include it often his prayers at Sunday School conventions and such places, invoking the Almighty not to permit "the government of the people, by the people, for the people, to perish from the earth." According to last issue of The Watchman on page 5 col. 2, the order is changed to "the government of the people of the county of Argenteuil by the people of Montreal, for the people of Montreal," and in order that our choice may be official we must have it ratified by a Montreal man. The last Montreal man that came to ratify these proceedings went out of his way to ridicule me because I asked for the reading of some back minutes that were purported to be "before the flood". I told him that he had more pepper than brains in his attic; and we have seen on more Montreal men since, and don't want any. We can wear our own clothes and would thank Montreal to stay at home where she has her fingers full without us.

But do not forget, electors of

The Ottawa Spotlight

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
Specially written for The Watchman
By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, April 23.—Combining a hunt for hidden treasure with a modest amount of unemployment relief, the federal government is financing 180 search parties to go north, south, east and west looking for gold. Not far from a million dollars will be spent in outfitting the parties, each of which will consist of five men, a competent geologist heading each group. Most of the assistants will be drawn from the university graduating classes, presumably giving preference to those in geology and related studies. Hon. Wesley A. Gordon, announcing, on the last day before the Easter adjournment, the details of the scheme, said that he believed the northland with its mineral wealth held the economic salvation of Canada—that there was sufficient riches up there ultimately to pay for all the mistakes made since Confederation. Last year Canada produced about $100,000,000 in gold, being second among countries in the world.

PRIME MINISTER'S CONDITION

Before he went away, the prime minister invited members of the press gallery over to a reception at the Chateau Laurier, so that we could see him for ourselves, and be able to report with authority as to his condition. For a man who has been on his back for seven weeks, seriously ill for a portion of the time, he looks pretty well. He was able to stand around and 'take on' the 30 odd members of the Gallery at verbal sparring and chaff without difficulty. He looked thinner, but he stated that even so he was still overweight. Physically there seemed to be no reason why he should not stand the trip to England very well, and with further rest and recreation it is quite possible that he will resume his seat in the Commons on May 20 in much his old vigor. I found that some of the pressmen present came away, however, with the feeling that his old aggressiveness had materially declined, and that, drawing conclusions from what happened between the lines, he himself was a little doubtful of the wisdom of his coming back to the former desperately hard life. He was in especially mellow mood, and more benevolent than I remember having seen him before at these gatherings.

Reciprocity negotiations do not appear to be making much headway, and there are persistent reports that with a general election in Canada drawing close, the administration at Washington would prefer to deal with a party fresh from the people. This will be rather disappointing to those producers and consumers who have been looking forward to mutually advantageous trade agreements in the early future.

HELP FOR MOTORISTS

There may, however, be some relief in other directions. At the present time the Tariff Board is conducting inquiries into the cost of automobiles in Canada and into the duty on refined gasoline. Should their reports be of a nature to justify such action on the part of the government, it is not unlikely that a substantial reduction might be made before the election in the duty on automobiles, as well as on refined gasoline. Motorists across Canada would be pleased at any relief of this kind.

RUSSELL CARPENTER IS INVENTOR OF DEVICE IN PAPER-MAKING

Of additional significance is the issue of Patent Number 1,932,370 to the Canadian inventor covering a stock consistency indicating and regulating apparatus for indicating and correcting undesirable variations in the consistency of the pulp stock supplied to a pulp or paper making machine.

Generally stated, the invention consists in periodically extracting samples of constant volume from the main body of diluted stock; separating the liquid from the fibrous constituents of the samples so that the quantity of liquid thus derived from each sample depends on its total liquid content which is predetermined by the consistency of the stock at the time the sample is taken; delivering liquid from each sample to a weighing apparatus so that the exact quantity of liquid received by the weighing apparatus from any particular sample is a variable factor dependent upon the total quantity of liquid derived from such sample; and counterweighting the weighing apparatus to just balance the weight of the liquid received from a sample taken at a time when the consistency of the main body of stock is at the desired value. These sample extracting, liquid separating, and liquid weighing operations are so carried out that the weight of the liquid from any particular sample as indicated by the weighing apparatus bears a definite relation to the consistency of the stock at the time the sample is taken. The movement of the weighing apparatus, which occurs when the weight of the sample liquid delivered thereto exceeds or is less than the balancing weight, is utilized for regulating the water supply valve to correct the undesirable increase or decrease in the stock consistency indicated by this movement of the weighing apparatus.

IN MEMORIAM

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear Lila who died 5 years ago, April 25, 1930.

The grief that parting caused us,
We feel most keenly today,
For memory recalls that same sad hour,
That called dear Lila away.

The happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still
But death has left a vacant place,
No one can ever fill.

Sadly missed by her sister,
Jessie.

Though your smile is gone forever,
And your hand we cannot touch,
We will never lose sweet memories,
Of the one we loved so much.

FROM A STAFF OF SEVEN TO SIX THOUSAND STRONG

From less than a corporal's guard to the equivalent of six regiments—this graphically illustrates the growth of the Bank of Montreal's staff in 147 years.

On the 23rd of August, 1817, the first four employees of the Bank of Montreal were appointed. They were the cashier, an accountant, a paying teller and a second teller. Shortly afterward a discount clerk, a second bookkeeper and a porter were added.

These seven constituted the original staff when the modest establishment on St. Paul Street in Montreal opened its doors on Monday, November 3rd—an establishment which was destined to play a conspicuous and beneficial part in the development of Canada's resources.

Throughout the many decades that have followed, the Bank of Montreal has made increasing effort to provide a banking service always adequate to meet the requirements of Canada's development.

The original staff of seven has grown to 6,300, loyally serving the public through 300 branches extending from sea to sea—and overseas.

Beauties With Their Beasts

Just another beauty and the beast picture, but the beasts are overshadowed by the beauties in this display of feminine and pachydermic pulchritude. The girls hail from three nations, Canada, the United States and Great Britain, and the handsome elephants were acquired by them during a visit to Ceylon. They are bringing them home in their baggage—pardon us, trunks, but that won't be until their world-cruise in the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain is over in May. The picture was made on the boat-deck of the Empress of Britain at Colombo.

THE SPRING SUN

Is there anything as welcome as the Spring sun? I never can understand those people who pull down the blinds to keep out the sun. What if it might fade the carpets? It is too precious to keep out. Do you remember the ladies in Cranford who moved newspapers about and followed the path of the sun, covering up the new carpet to keep it from fading? They sewed the newspapers together and made paths from the chairs to the doors. Even when they had a few friends to tea they left their paper paths in place. When they wanted to eat an orange they retired to the privacy of their room. What a pity that anything that tastes as good as an orange should be so messy to eat. If they could only develop a cross between an orange and a tangerine. The orange for flavour and the tangerine for ease of handling. I started with the Spring sun and ended with tangerines. McAree said, not so long ago, that the best way to write a column was to get started and once you got going you never knew where you might end. I am frequently surprised and sometimes consternated to find how far I have wandered from my beginning. Some of these days I must read Cranford again. That is a pleasure that takes place at least once a year. I enjoy old friends and some of my book friends are very close.

THE MEASLES OF LYING

At some time or other, most children go through what might be called the measles of lying. If properly handled it will run its course like any other disease and then the child will be through with it. Instead of treating the disease itself, look for the cause and try to remove it. Imagination, which is strongly developed before the age of five, should be distinguished from lying. If you try to trace the cause of the lies that are told you will be surprised to find how often they are the result of fear. It may be fear of punishment, fear of disparagement, fear of loss of affection, fear of lessening prestige, or some other fear. Remove that fear and you will cure the epidemic of lying. Occasionally children—grown-ups too—will tell lies to make themselves important. Every child has a right to feel important about something, so it is up to the mother to see that the child has a feeling of importance. Parents would be shocked if they were told that they were to blame for their children's lying but it is very often the result of wrong handling. If you as a parent are having this problem check up on your own behaviour.

TO FOLD IN

Frequently recipes say 'fold in' the egg-whites. It is an important direction and should be carefully followed. Egg-whites and whipped cream depend on the air which is in the cells to make them light. If they are roughly handled these air-cells are broken and the air escapes and the resulting mixture will not be as light. Egg-whites should not be stirred or beaten into a mixture but folded in gently. To fold in the motion should be, down, across, and up; down, across, and up, and this motion be repeated over and over until the egg-whites are folded in.

SPONGE CAKE

Many people find sponge cakes difficult to make and yet they really are quite simple. There are two things which must be watched carefully. The mixture must be handled gently so that the air-cells in the lightly beaten eggs will not be broken down as in a true sponge cake eggs are the only lightening agent, and the oven must not be too high or the cake will be tough. Eggs will not stand a high temperature. I am giving two recipes, one for a true sponge cake and a smaller one that uses some baking powder.

1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
Grated rind one-half lemon
1 tablespoon lemon juice
6 eggs
1/4 teaspoon salt

Beat the yolks until thick and lemon coloured, add sugar gradually and continue beating. Add lemon juice, and flour, measured after sifting and sifted three times. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake 1 hour or more in a slow oven of 320 degrees.

CHEAP SPONGE CAKE

3 eggs
1 cup flour
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons vinegar or lemon juice
1 tablespoon hot water
1/4 teaspoon salt

The method is the same as for Sponge Cake in the preceding recipe.

LEMON FILLING

1 cup sugar
1/4 cup lemon juice
2 1/2 tablespoons flour
1 egg
Grated rind 1 lemon
1 teaspoon butter

Mix ingredients thoroughly and cook over a slow fire until the boiling point is reached, stirring constantly. Cool before spreading. I frequently split a sponge cake, spread with lemon filling, to use as a dessert. The small sponge cake makes a good one for this purpose. Sometimes I make the larger recipe and bake a part of it in a medium sized tube pan. The remainder makes a large enough cake for the average family to be used with lemon filling as a dessert.

A READY RECKONER

"If there were four flies on a table and I killed one, how many would be left?" inquired the teacher.

"One," answered the bright little girl. "The dead one."

Three years later Fred Willoughby was no longer a delivery boy. He had saved money and had paid down part on a second-hand truck, secured a license and became a drayman. One day he swung his truck off the main street and followed along the avenue, stopping before the big brick house where Helen lived. He was whistling cheerfully as he bounced the knocker.

"Is Miss Helen in?" he asked the maid. Helen was summoned.

"I saw your ad in the Banner about the fountain pen," Fred explained. "Here is one I found. Perhaps it's your, Helen?"

The girl acknowledged it was hers. She thanked him and was on the point of prolonging the conversation when Mrs. Blair-Ellis came to the door. Helen explained about the pen, but Mrs. Blair-Ellis motioned her inside. Then the stately lady thanked Fred stiffly.

When Helen's fifteenth birthday came round she received by local post, a copy of Tennyson, calf bound. The address on the parcel was printed in block letters. On a card enclosed, also printed in block letters, were these words: "To you abundant pleasure, like the brook, go on and on forever."

As no sender's name was to be found, Helen speculated romantically, while her father teased. During the next few years, in one of which her father died, Helen received more presents mysteriously, but best of them all she liked Tennyson. When she had reached her twenty-first birthday she sat alone on the Blair-Ellis veranda one summer night, letting her thoughts have play.

She became aware that someone was turning in at the Blair-Ellis place.

"Hello, Fred," she called, sitting forward in her chair and resting her arms on the railing. "May I come up?" Fred asked. There was a shy tremor in his voice.

"Let's sit on the steps," she said.

When they were seated, he asked: "Think it funny that I came around, Helen?"

"I'm glad you came," the girl said.

"You know, Helen," he explained, "The fellows around town—somehow I can't seem to hit it off with them."

"People are different," Helen

GARDEN REMINDERS

Plant an extra quantity of beets so that you will have plenty to use for greens without robbing your garden of beets. Beet greens are considered by many to be the nicest of all greens. Unfortunately, those of us who have to buy our vegetables, can never get them. If you like spinach, plant Swiss Chard for summer use. Some prefer it to spinach, which is at its best in the spring and fall.

RUNIC STONE ATTRACTS VISITORS TO YARMOUTH

Interest continues to grow in the Yarmouth Stone in the Public Library at Yarmouth, N. S., which bears on its face an inscription carved in runic characters which, according to the latest translation, confirms the Norse discovery of North America. According to this translation it would appear the inscription was made by none other than Lief, son of Eric the Red, about the year 1007 A.D. The stone was discovered at the head of Yarmouth Harbor in 1812. The Lief Ericson Memorial Association of America is planning a visit to see the stone next July, according to information reaching R. J. S. Weatherston, General Freight and Passenger Agent of the Canadian National Railways, and from Yarmouth will proceed along the south shore to St. John's, Nfld., via North Sydney. The Association is made up of Scandinavians from the State of Wisconsin and, on their way to Yarmouth, will stop in Boston to form a branch of the Association there. Plans are being discussed to extend the trip from Newfoundland to Greenland.

agreed. "My father was altogether different from mother. Perhaps you have tastes different from the other boys," she suggested.

"Perhaps I have," said Fred. "For instance," ventured Helen, "Perhaps you like poetry."

"Some," Fred admitted.

"Tennyson?" Helen quizzed. "I have read Tennyson a little," the drayman replied.

"I like that piece about the brook—that forever and forever bit, don't you?" Helen questioned. She smiled at Fred's confusion.

"Yes," he acknowledged guiltily.

Helen was happy, and so quiet for some minutes after Fred's answer that he became uncomfortable, and shortly bade her good-night.

"Goodnight, Fred," she responded, smiling up at him.

Helen said nothing to her mother concerning Fred. Instead, next afternoon, she telephoned Fred's office, and blandly told him of a walk she knew, a cow path which twisted through flowers and trees near the river's edge. That evening they met and walked off together.

They talked of nature and Tennyson: they threw stones in the water and at last rested on a high bank overlooking the river.

"How old are you, Fred?" Helen asked abruptly.

"Twenty-two," Fred told her. "I'm a year younger," she said. She threw another stone into the flowing water. "Fred, don't you think I am too young to marry?" she asked.

He looked at her sharply.

"Why do you ask that?"

"Because mother is determined that I shall marry soon."

Fred stared into the water moodily.

"His name is Maurice LeDrew. He comes here every summer to play in the tennis tournament," Helen remarked. "He isn't very young, but he has stacks of money: drives a big car, and never does any work."

"Do you like him?" Fred asked.

"Not much yet. Perhaps I shall get to like him, though," she glanced at Fred, coyly. "He's expected in town tomorrow," she added.

Next day was Sunday, and that afternoon Fred carried his torturing thoughts to the cow path Helen and he had followed the previous evening. He sat, staring into the water dejectedly and continued so preoccupied that, on starting for home, he nearly trod on Helen's parasol, which lay, forgotten from the previous evening, on the bank of the river. Monday morning, when he swung his truck across the road to block the progress of Maurice LeDrew, the parasol lay, carefully wrapped, under the seat of his machine. That afternoon he returned it to Helen.

With much speculative interest Maurice LeDrew watched Helen as she retired with the restored parasol, to the house. He felt that he understood her confusion, and was proud that in his presence some untapped wells of personality had broken within her. His position in life, his name—what must such things mean to a girl! He became serious, and drew his chair closer to Mrs. Blair-Ellis. "Mrs. Ellis," he said, "I wish to speak to you, now that there is the opportunity, concerning—ah—Helen." The mother leaned forward with interest.

Fred Willoughby, dejected, had returned to his office. The telephone was ringing, but he paid no heed. It continued to ring. Finally he lifted the receiver. "Yes?" he said, with little interest; then amazement showed in his face. "Do you mean that, Helen?" he demanded, incredulously. In another moment Fred was running to his truck, the telephone receiver dangling.

"But you haven't asked Helen, yet," Mrs. Blair-Ellis was saying to Maurice at the conclusion of an hour's comparison of family qualities.

"No, but I expect no difficulty there," Maurice assured the lady confidently.

Then the maid interrupted. "Long distance for you, Madam," she announced.

Mrs. Blair-Ellis went in to the telephone. In a moment she shrieked "Maurice!" so loudly that Mr. LeDrew rushed to the house in alarm, arriving in time to help the excited maid pick up her collapsed mistress. Maurice put the hanging telephone receiver to his ear quickly. "Yes, what is it?" he called into the mouthpiece.

"Is that you, Maurice?" came over the wire.

"Yes, yes," he answered impatiently.

"This is Helen speaking, Maurice. 'Is mother badly cut up?'"

"Where are you, Helen?" Maurice called in bewilderment.

"Eight miles east of town," she told him. "Fred Willoughby and I have just been married!"
