GRAND LODGE ORANGEMEN ASSEMBLE HERE TOMORROW FOR ANNUAL MEET

VISITORS AND COUNTY FOLLOWERS TO JOIN
LARGE GATHERING IN LACHUTE

A large convention of Orange enthusiasts is expected here tomorrow on the occasion of the 87th. annual meet of the R. W. Provincial Grand Orange Lodge of Quebec. Sessions are being held in the Auditorium for the men's lodges, and women of the L.O.B.A. are gathering in McArthur's Hall.

Grand Lodge officials will be on hand for this all-day convocation. Many visitors are assembling in town this evening, ready for an early opening. Interesting speakers will be heard at both the ladies' and the men's assemblies.

The women's Guild of St.

Simeon's Church has undertaken the catering, and a joint banquet is being held at night in the Auditorium basement.

PROMISES BETTER ROADS IN MONTREAL AREA

Hon. E. Côté, new Quebec Minister of Highways, in the Legislative Assembly on April 15th. stated that the problem of the congestion of the main traffic arteries serving the cities of Montreal and Quebec was under study, and that he hoped for an early solution.

Sales Tax Increased.. Gasoline, Farm Implements Reduced.. Tariff Revision Should Improve Clothing Prices... Mines Favored in Corp'n. Income Tax.

"THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, May 5.—Highlights of the budget presented last Friday by Hon. Charles A. Dunning were as follows:

The corporation income tax was increased from 13½ to 15 per cent. Where 'consolidated returns' are made the increase was from 15 to 17 per cent.

A stimulus to mining development was provided by exempting for the first three years of production all metal mines which come into production between now and 1940, from the corporation income tax.

Reduction in the penalties on late payments of income tax. The rate of the sales tax was increased from six per cent to eight per cent.

The excise tax on automobiles, now five and ten per cent, was reduced and simplified. In future it will be five per cent on all value exceeding $650. Tires and tubes when imported as equipment on cars can be imported free if the manufacturers comply with British content regulations.

The excise tax on cigarette tubes is cut from three cents to two cents per hundred.

CHEAPER FARM IMPLEMENTS?

Of special interest to farmers is the effective cut in the duty on gasoline from 2½ cents per gallon to one cent, and a reduction in the duty on farm implements to 7½ per cent.

Excise duty on Canadian brandy is reduced from $4. a gallon to $3. a gallon.

Canadians returning from abroad may now import free of customs duties goods to a value clothes for his wife, a brother and himself.

Dr. Jean Marie Roussel, medico-legal expert of Montreal, testified the analysis of the victims' blood showed they both were dead before the fire occurred.

Hundreds of residents for miles around flocked to the little village to attend the inquest, held in the local hotel, and they crowded the gallery outside in an effort to catch a glimpse of Girard.

Girard formerly lived in Montreal but he settled in Namur six months ago with his wife and resided in her parents' home.

Provincial police are still searching for traces of Mrs. Dudevoir.

Registrations of motor vehicles in Canada during 1935 totalled 1,176,126, as compared with 1,129,532 in 1934.

400 Citizens Attended Meeting Hawkesbury Council

HEAVY ACCOUNTS FOR UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

Whether the gathering comprised tax-paying residents or onlooking "reliefers" is not stated, but the report of a 400 attendance at last meeting of the Hawkesbury Town Council would seem to indicate a keen interest in the civic affairs of that town. The meeting was held April 29th., with the Mayor, Reeve, Town Clerk and five councillors present.

Accounts passed at this meeting totalled $49,350.48, which also included direct relief allowance for January, amounting to $13,662.12; February, $13,622.49, and March, $15,620.49.

Three Persons I'm Sorry For...

John Edwin Price on "Mother's Day"

A six-year-old sat on a big rock in the orphanage yard. He was silently sobbing; the tears rained down on a little finger he had bruised with a stone. He had been attempting to crack an old hickory nut some squirrel had mislaid under forgotten leaves.

Poor little chap! A hurt finger and no mother to take it to. Remembering the comfort that used to flood my being when my own mother kissed my hurts, I felt sorry for little six-year-old.

There is another person for whom I am sorry. I am sorry for that person whose mother wasn't all a mother is supposed to be. Possibly she was ailing physically, and so couldn't measure up. Possibly she could not grasp mentally the joys that would be hers if she would bestir herself. Possibly she was cold and hard. Possibly she was a gadder—one more interested in her social standing than her home standing. Or worst of all she may have been a minus quantity, morally and spiritually. I have known men to whom Mother's Day represents useless and sentimental mush. They missed a lot.

There are physical enjoyments which contribute to our well being. There are mental joys we would not miss. There are successful achievements which yield great satisfaction. But the tender associations of a child and a true mother, and the precious memories of the after years, contribute something wonderful to life which no other thing can give.

I feel sorry for that person who hasn't had a true mother.

Then there is another person for whom I am, at times, sorry. But before I mention him or her, I would remind you of something which the great Macaulay once said:

"Children, look in those eyes, listen to that dear voice, notice the feeling of even a single touch that is bestowed upon you by that gentle hand! Make much of it while yet you have that most precious of all good gifts, a loving mother."

Nothing is too good to say of the sacrificial love of a good mother.

Some of us older ones will admit that our fathers chose mothers on the same principle they chose their buggies—for qualities that would wear well. They were old fashioned. But they got there just the same.

I feel sorry for persons unable to appreciate the good qualities of their mothers. I am therefore sorry for myself and all men, for there is so much that goes to make up a real mother's love that we cannot understand. This would be a "sorry" picture were it not that there is so much in memory to make us glad.

CONVICTED FOR ASSAULT FIRE LOSS VICTIMS PREY GRENVILLE CONSTABLE TO NEW KIND OF RACKET

OFFICER BELIEVES HE IS CRIPPLED FOR LIFE

Appearing in the witness stand on crutches, Police Constable Oslas Pagé, of Grenville, testified at St. Jerome last week that Herby Larose of Grenville has assaulted him in October last. Larose was found guilty and sentenced to a fine of $50 or two months in jail.

Evidence showed that Chief Pagé had arrested Larose's son and another boy in connection with theft made at a church social. He started to take them to the police station, when Mrs. Larose came out and tried to pull the boy away from him. Then, according to evidence, Larose came from the house and attacked the police officer. In the struggle Pagé fell, and when he regained his feet he was pushed down again. In the fall he suffered a broken leg. Larose was accused of jumping on the chief and knocking out several teeth. Pagé said that he was in the hospital for three months, and that he did not think that he will be able to walk again without crutches.

Parents Attend Local Boy Scout Function

Last evening a good number of parents of the local Boy Scouts attended their meeting in Lachute High School, where under the direction of Scoutmaster Chas. Duncan and Asst. Scoutmaster Geo. Leggett the boys demonstrated some of the practical and useful things learned in their training. Games were part of the program, which also included boxing, blind boxing, signalling, and first aid. A number of exercises were also well demonstrated on the parallel bars.

A pleasing event during the evening was the investiture of Mr. Angus Taylor as Assistant Scoutmaster, the presentation of a certificate being made by Mr. H. M. Gall. This also marked the 10th. Anniversary of the Lachute Boy Scout Troop, in which Messrs. Duncan and Leggett have taken such keen interest, and great credit is due them for the splendid work they

WARN PEOPLE AGAINST PSEUDO-BENEFACTORS

A new kind of racket, in which victims of local fires have been "bled" for considerable money, gives rise to a warning by Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon and reputable insurance brokers in this territory. By some uncanny prompting, news of a local fire brings a species of "ambulance chasers" or "settlement workers" post-haste from Montreal. They pose as advocates for the fire victim, to collect heavy compensation from the insurance companies—more than could be claimed by the assured himself in damages. Incidentally, the fire victim having signed on the dotted line, the collectors take a generous slice of his insurance benefit for their trouble.

It is all so feasible, and no doubt quite a legal procedure—but it works out that a considerable portion of the insurance is lost to the man who has paid the premiums. This has been the case in local instances; so that citizens, in case of fire, are warned to do business direct with their company agent. If they cannot make satisfactory settlement in this way, recourse may then be had to these too willing assistants, who are in early evidence around the ruins of every worth-while fire.

Lions Club Plans to Hold Ladies' Night

Members of Lachute Lions' Club avail themselves of this opportunity of expressing thanks to the hearty public support given them in the recent showing of "The Bohemian Girl" at Rex Theatre. The proceeds of this evening, amounting to upwards of $80, will be devoted entirely to local charity. In supporting the Lions Club in their welfare work, citizens have the satisfaction of knowing that one hundred cents of every dollar collected for charity is devoted to that purpose.

Several items of importance were taken up at the regular meeting held last evening, relative to welfare work. Plans

ROUTINE MATTERS BEFORE REGULAR MEETING JERUSALEM PARISH COUNCIL

OFFER 50 P.C. OF GOVERNMENT ESTIMATE TO COMPLETE NORTH RIVER ROAD

The monthly meeting of St. Jerusalem Parish Council was held on Monday. As court was in session at the Court House,

NEW BILL TO ENFORCE LIGHTS ON VEHICLES

Renewed efforts to enact legislation to provide that horse-drawn vehicles shall carry lights after sundown are to be made, but the point of departure this time is the Legislative Council, and not the Legislative Assembly, says the Royal Automobile Club news-letter. Hon. Georges A. Simard, of the Upper Chamber, introduced a bill to this effect on April 15th.

adjournment was made to the Lachute Town Council room, and the meeting was attended by the following members: Mayor J. E. Walker, Councillors L. J. Boa, J. E. Armstrong, Andrew Nicoll, L. Boyd, J. S. Pollock, A. Doig, and the Secretary, Jas. W. Gall.

Minutes of the previous meeting were duly approved. After considerable discussion on the completion of North River road between the two bridges, it was moved by Coun. Pollock, seconded by Coun. Nicoll, and resolved, that the council offer the government 50 p.c. of their estimate of $2307.56 to complete this road.

Inglorious Finale in Ethiopia... Inefficacy of Peace Leagues... Even Neutral Powers Arm for Eventualities... And Mr. Dunning's Budget.

"THE PASSING SCENE"

(Contributed)

MUSSOLINI'S Black Shirts have triumphantly entered the capital of Ethiopia. His mechanized hordes have defeated the spear-throwing savages of Abyssinia. An empire that has preserved its sovereignty down through the ages from the distant past of Sheba, a kingdom that co-existed with the civilization that built the Pyramids, has been baptised by the benign influences of modern civilization, in the shape of aerial bombardment, poison gas, ultra-rapid artillery fire, and tank warfare! The savage inhabitants of this ancient country have been slaughtered in thousands along the rugged passes or marshy fields of their native land, and their wives and children have been visited with the destruction and mutilation of the advancing march of armed men.

Those savage warriors had the temerity to resist the oncoming of our modern march of progress. War was not officially declared upon them—as doubtless Il Duce considered untutored natives were unable to distinguish the ethics of present-day advancement which made such a declaration necessary. Japan had adopted the method as a means of circumventing the laws of the League of Nations. The Ethiopians, like the Chinese, had a child-like faith in the League of Nations, expecting that this inert monster of political periphrasis could assist them in maintaining their independence. Haile Selassie with guileless simplicity trusted the empty platitudes which were erected on the quicksands of deceit and which dubbed this League of Nations one of the flies of innocence duped by the spiders of duplicity.

Their simple faith will now give way to the empty churches of our higher civilization; their system of slavery will be replaced by our more modern unemployment problem; their form of government will be prescribed; their Royal house will be superseded by the beneficent authority of a dictator, and their dusky forms will be clad in the black shirt of a usurping regime... and the metagenesis will be called—freedom.

PRESIDENT WILSON inoculated Europe with the germ of League of Nations and retained the antidote, with the result that the League has been tottering around in crazy circles ever since, and only the few nations who had the good sense to keep out or get out have been able to see things in their true perspective. President Roosevelt is endeavouring to establish a League of American Nations, and already has his hypodermic poised to inject his theories into the fourteen powers who have sent formal acceptances. Ecuador, Paraguay and Bolivia have not submitted themselves to the operation. The U. S. press has been making consistent overtures to this country to enter Mr. Roosevelt's surgery, but their initiation of the European Palladium is sufficient to shake faith in such propaganda.

NO MATTER how you view world affairs today, the sinister shadow of war looms in the background of every outlook. The big nations have ceased to rely on scraps of paper to protect their frontiers; preparations are going on apace and even the few nations who suc-were outlined for the coming District Convention at Ottawa in June, and the International Convention at Providence, R. I., in July.

The Club intend holding their Ladies' Night on Thursday, May 28th., and all arrangements are in the hands of the various committees. One of

Montrealer Faces Murder Charge, Namur Case

HELD CRIMINALLY RESPONSIBLE BY JURY

Omer Girard, a former Montrealer, 34 years of age, is held criminally responsible in the death of Leon Leclair and Joseph Alfred Dudevoir, elderly residents of Namur who were burned in their home on April 7th. Following this verdict of the corner's jury last Thursday the man was arraigned at Hull for trial.

The body of Mrs. Dudevoir, who lived with her husband and Leclair, has never been discovered. Police believe the woman was murdered and her body thrown into a nearby lake.

A blood-stained vest allegedly worn by Girard the night the two men were murdered, and recovery of several $100 bills which witnesses said Girard had in his possession after the crime, were the main links in the chain of police evidence.

Girard's wife testified that her husband, as early as last summer, had mentioned he would like to rob Dudevoir and Leclair, expressing at that time the opinion they had money in the house.

She said both she and her husband had visited Leclair's home often in the past, but recently the visits had become less frequent. Her husband had not quarrelled with either Leclair or Dudevoir, she added.

Sam Gasco, manager of a Montreal drygoods store, testified that on April 8, two days after the bodies were discovered in the razed building at Namur, Girard spent $120 for

ON BOOKS

You've heard it said that 'knowledge is power'. But the question is—how can one acquire such knowledge? By no other way than by the reading of good literature. Good books are the ideal companions; companions who are cheerful or solemn as you wish. They will tell you of the life of other days and the great men that lived then. They will help you in making judgments and decisions for they bring comparisons to the reader by which he is able to tell good from bad, fine from coarse, and quality from syntheticism. Good books are one of the rarest of worldly treasures, for they unlock the gates of other spheres to the average man as well as to the learned. They are as the clay with which we mould our thoughts—but one must take care that the clay is good in order that our thoughts be of the highest standard. Reading good books is an investment no one ever regrets making.

ON LIFE

Some make life a game; others make it a task, and still others—a failure. To make one's life a success one must necessarily be a success, but in what manner? If a man has gold in his coffers it doesn't mean he is a success. Don't, like the fabled king, seek gold to the depletion of all else for even as he, you—will lose the balance of correct living that gold cannot replace. Remember that gold is a metal and is not happiness. Riches are essential to an easy life, but not to a successful life. Live honestly, treat your neighbor as yourself; foster no greed in your heart; strive to serve rather than be served and in this way your time on earth will be a credit to your descendants; an inspiration to your friends; and a joy to yourself.

ON LIVING

We hear the much-talked-of ways to live a long life. Of how this and that man lived to be a centenarian by following a certain mode of living. Of how another lived to be ninety years of age by following a course directly opposite to that suggested by those living to be a hundred. All this is talk—hypothesis—suggestion. To live a long life and a wholesome one we should strive for moderation in living. Be moderate—neither eat nor drink to excess, talk to excess, nor laugh to excess. Live quietly and happily. Do your duties according to the maxims of religion and righteousness. Carry the ensigns of Faith, Hope and Charity not on your sleeves but in your hearts, and you will be making this world a better place to live in.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 10th., is "Adam and Fallen Man".

The Golden Text is: "Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?" (Isaiah 2: 22).

"For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world." (Titus 2: 11, 12).

"In Divine Science, man is the true image of God. The divine nature was best expressed in Christ Jesus, who threw upon mortals the truer reflection of God and lifted their lives higher than their poor thought-models would allow,—thoughts which presented man as fallen, sick, sinning, and dying. The Christlike understanding of scientific being and divine healing includes a perfect Principle and idea,—perfect God and perfect man,—as the basis of thought and demonstration." of $100 provided these are for their personal use. The tourist must have been away at least 48 hours; and the privilege is limited to once every four months.

The reduction in the duties on goods from Britain and other British preference countries, from the United States and about 25 other countries enjoying 'treaty' rates, and on the general tariff also, are numerous and quite important in their sum effect.

Duties are reduced on 104 items of the tariff schedules, and increased in 12, but the increases are of minor importance, while some of the cuts are quite substantial.

CLOTHING COSTS BEING CUT

Textile duties, especially from Britain, but also from the United States, are substantially cut. The specific (so much per pound) duties are completely removed on all yarns or fabrics wholly made of cotton, and also from all yarns and fabrics made from artificial silk, when these are imported from British or Empire countries. There are substantial cuts also in cotton clothing and in artificial silk clothing, not only from Britain but also from the United States. Since these specific duties bear most heavily on the cheaper line of goods, the benefit of these reductions should be felt by the consumer in substantial reductions in clothing prices, especially the cheaper lines.

Free listing of all iron and steel machinery of a class or kind not made in Canada is also included in the reduction from Britain; as is chemical stone-ware and earthenware, fire engines, forgings for surgical instruments, powdered kelp, tea waste, sesame seed oil. There are British empire reductions of a substantial nature on iron or steel machinery of a class or kind made in Canada, various manufactured items of iron or steel.

Reductions in British and United States tariffs are given on heat-resistant glassware, nickel-plated or electro-plated

Tempered Plate Glass

Impervious to Weather

Glass is a fusion of minerals—sand, soda, ash and lime. In the making of plate glass the huge plates are rolled out or automatically drawn through a rolling machine, brought down to normal temperature and then ground and polished so as to present two perfectly parallel surfaces.

Laminated safety glass is really two pieces of thin plate glass, between which are sandwiched a thin sheet of tough transparent cellulose material.

Tempered or heat-strengthened glass is identical in its chemical composition with that of ordinary plate glass, from which it is made.

The difference in the physical properties of tempered glass is characterized by five advantages over ordinary glass. It is approximately five times stronger, asserts a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, it will bend far beyond the breaking point of other glass, it can be twisted to a marked degree, it is impervious to sudden changes of extreme temperatures and if broken under severe strain it crumbles into innumerable pieces, much like rock candy, relatively harmless compared to the sharp, jagged shivers of ordinary glass.

The glass to be tempered is suspended vertically from tongs, the panes moving on conveyors through electric furnaces. The panes are heated to a cherry red, near the malleable stage, and are then suddenly quenched by blasting the surface with jets of cold air, producing a highly but uniformly strained condition in the glass. High compression is developed on the outer surface of the glass, while the interior is under tension of pressure in the opposite direction.

ware certain types of glass-ware, polished seamless steel tubing, veneer-making machinery, oil extractors, cotton lace and embroideries, cotton clothing, hops, porcelain forms.

Reductions in all tariffs are made in materials used in the production of periodicals, safety equipment for use in mines, printing machinery and equipment, highway scrapers, precision tools, draughtsmen's and surveyors' tools and instruments; various requirements of public hospitals; some soya products, chilled steel and forged steel rolls, feeds for fur-bearing animals, photographic supplies, educational silent or sound films; all articles imported for use of the blind.

The old automobile duties of 17½, 22½ and 30 per cent, depending on value, as applied to the intermediate schedules, have been simplified to 17½ per cent right through.

Those Bagpipes

Interesting suggestions on the origin of the bagpipes are given in a letter to the Montreal Daily Star. The correspondent writes as follows:

Sir,—Recently your great journal reproduced a photograph of workmen and bagpipes, beneath which was the statement "the bagpipe is an indigenous Scottish instrument." Am I then all wrong in regard to the teaching inculcated in my youth that the bagpipe originated in Persia and was brought to Wales (probably by some wandering footloose Celt of the old days), but that the Welsh people being musical passed it on to the Irish, who in due course handed it over to the Scotch who, to date, have not seen the joke? XXX High Early Strength CANADA CEMENT

Increased knowledge of the various compounds existing in Portland Cement has led to the development of XXX HIGH EARLY STRENGTH CANADA CEMENT. With its strengths formerly secured in seven days are now obtainable in one, and results formerly requiring twenty-eight days are secured in three.

Full advantage was taken of these facts in pre-casting, handling and driving more than seventy thousand lined feet of concrete piling at Three Rivers, Quebec. Storage space was greatly reduced, investment in molds cut to a minimum and loss due to breakage in handling and driving entirely avoided. Being a true Portland Cement this new product is used in exactly the same way as the standard Canada brand.

EIGHT STORY LIMIT, LONDON BUILDINGS

London now has nine business buildings more than eight stories high, that are classed as "skyscrapers". Until recently a city ordinance forbade occupancy of a floor above eight stories because it was too great a fire hazard. Last month the London council issued a special certificate permitting the ninth floor of a building at No. 55 Broadway to be occupied after all fire restrictions were complied with.

MUNICIPALITIES HELD ALBERTA BOND INVESTMENTS

Alberta's default on provincial issues brought to light the fact that prairie municipalities held heavy investments in Alberta bonds and securities carrying the province's guarantee. Calgary's sinking fund, electric light department and pension funds held a total of $1,286,666. The City of Moose Jaw, Sask., likewise holds $200,000 in defaulted Alberta bonds, and other western municipalities are in a similar position.

MR. DUNNING has brought down his new budget—and he finds this country in the red. No balanced budget can be expected while we have over one-tenth of our population on relief, an uneconomic proposition like our National Railway, and the huge system of roads to be made and maintained. -- And Sudden Suicide

In all this depression the people who were hit the hardest were the pedestrians, and for the most part they invited it—and didn't get over it. If you doubt it then read the following portion of a vivid article by Carl F. Zeigler which we quote with permission from the April Review of Reviews.

"They have been telling you about 'sudden death'.

That will make this a dull story. It lacks the rending crash of twisting metal, the rattle of splintering glass. No bodies are torn, lacerated, harpooned or pulled to pieces. There's no muss, no fuss, and no time for photo-flash pictures.

When a pedestrian gets hit by a motor car the only noise is a sudden grinding of brakes, a quick cry of surprise cut short by a dull thud. The only action is a body hurled, maybe ten feet. Then silence. Fifty yards away no one knows what's happened. Close by, they see a body in one of a variety of fantastic positions, completely relaxed and quiet. Mostly it makes no sound. Sometimes it moans or gurgles. Often there is no blood and no cuts that you can see.

Crowds gather slowly, curiously. Traffic clogs up, horns blow.

What the hell's the matter up there?

People watch. Someone thinks to call an ambulance. It comes. They carefully pick it up.

Pretty limp, ain't he?

... If there was blood somebody remembers to kick a handful of dirt over it. Someone else wipes off a bumper, pulls a fender up from rubbing a tire. A traffic officer asks questions, makes notes.

All right, get going!

Traffic moves; slowly untangles. A few linger around and others come up to see.

What happened here?

I don't know. I just got here myself. Say, mister, what happened?

In ten minutes traffic is normal, moving and stopping with the lights. People move along. In fifteen minutes no one knows that anything ever happened here. No one knows that sixteen minutes ago a man full of life, going somewhere, stopped short—and died.

Where?

It was right here.

Well, around here somewhere.

When a pedestrian gets bashed in by an automobile it's like a heavy-weight boxer beating up on a new-born baby. It's not spectacular. It's not exciting. Bring on a crash—something to hear, something to feel, something to get upset about, something to look at!

If you know anything about traffic accidents, you know that for every person ground up in a first-class collision there are two or three pedestrians bumped-off the quiet, undramatic way."

Are the "Big Interests" to Blame?

—ARTHUR B. WOOD, PRESIDENT, SUN LIFE ASSURANCE OF CANADA, GIVES CLEARER CONCEPTION OF THE ECONOMIC ANGLES OF LIFE INSURANCE

—Extract from an address before Ontario and Quebec Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, March, 1936.

In the effort to find the cause of economic ills from which the country is suffering, there is a tendency, which perhaps is but natural, to criticize in general the large financial institutions of the country and unjustly to place at their door the blame for these troubles. The record of life insurance during the period of the depression has been such that we have not been subject to this form of criticism to the same extent as have other large financial institutions, but nevertheless we have not entirely escaped and our business is frequently classed as one of the big interests in the sinister sense in which the term has come to be used.

I feel that I should take advantage of this opportunity to make a few comments upon the institution of life insurance.

The fundamental character of life insurance is best illustrated by a few figures. The growth of the business and the extension of its benefits are particularly significant. During the last twenty-five years the amount assured by policies in force in Canada has increased from $780,000,000 to $6,221,000,000. The assets of Canadian life insurance companies have increased from $228,000,000 to $1,850,000,000. During this same period the population of Canada increased from 6,800,000 to 10,835,000. Thus, while the population was increasing 60%, the business of life insurance was increased eight times. The total number of policies in force exceeds 6,340,000, and allowing for cases where more than one policy is held by a single individual, it has been estimated that more than 5,000,000 people hold life insurance policies. These policyholders and their beneficiaries constitute vastly more than one-half of the population. The average amount insured by each policy, including industrial policies, is apparently $980, and if the total amount of life insurance in force were evenly distributed over our whole population the average amount of insurance per head of population would be $575. It is thus apparent that it is chiefly people in moderate circumstances who hold life insurance policies and it is to the humble home to which payments on these policies go.

Of the total amount of life insurance in force in Canada, two-thirds is in Canadian companies. These companies have assets of approximately $1,850,000,000. This tremendous fund is the accumulation of the small annual premiums received from the vast army of people of moderate means who are the policyholders of the companies. It represents the accumulation of their savings and must be carefully safeguarded to ensure the payment of the obligations under policy contracts as they become due.

The insurance companies and their officials thus occupy a position of trusteeship. It is their responsibility to invest the funds wisely and at as remunerative rates as are consistent with safety. Profits which arise as the result of careful management are shared with participating policyholders who in reality are partners in the business. The Insurance Law of the Dominion of Canada requires that they shall receive at least 90% of all profits arising from participating business, and in practice they actually receive 95% or more. These profits are directly reflected in a lower cost of insurance to the policyholders.

The institution of life insurance is in fact the greatest co-operative enterprise the world has ever seen. Its object is to provide protection against the hazards of death and old age. It may here be interjected that companies transacting health and accident business provide insurance against other hazards and their services from the standpoint of benefit to the community are of a similar character to those provided by the life insurance companies. It is worthy of note that most of the plans for enhancing social security which are being widely advocated today contemplate benefits similar to those provided by the insurance companies. Furthermore, one of the greatest difficulties to be encountered in the introduction of these plans is the cost which must be met by direct taxation or by government subsidy. Life insurance on the other hand has continued to function as a co-operative enterprise and to provide its benefits without the imposition of any additional tax burden on the country as a whole.

During the last six years payments to policyholders and their beneficiaries in Canada by the life insurance companies have exceeded $900,000,000—an amount considerably in excess of the estimated expenditures for relief by the Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Authorities combined. Bearing in mind that all except a very small proportion of life insurance policyholders are in very moderate circumstances and that in the event of death life insurance represents almost their entire estates, it is apparent that but for the institution of life insurance the demands upon public bodies for relief would have been greatly increased. In this way life insurance companies are rendering a service of inestimable value not only to their policyholders as individuals but to the country as a whole.

Another service of the greatest national importance performed by the life insurance companies arises from the investment of the funds under their control. These funds are the greatest single source of capital for long term investment. They have been of the greatest assistance in the development of our natural resources and our great industries. They have

Huge Statues on Easter Island
Easter Island, some 45 square miles in area, and 2,000 miles off the South American coast, has long intrigued archeologists who have futilely attempted to solve the origin of the hundreds of huge stone statues with which the area is literally covered. Some are upright, imbedded in the scant soil. Others are on stone platforms; others are carved out of the rocks and have not been positioned. They vary in size from a few feet to almost forty feet in height. They show evidence of a high degree of art, but science has yet to discover how they were chiseled or who were the sculptors, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The population of the island, a few hundred of the Polynesian type, has no knowledge of either, as it has been established that those now native to the island are not even of the same race as those who fashioned the statues, no doubt in their own image.

London Ancient Town
London is the oldest town in this country of which there are any authentic records, says Pearson's London Weekly. It is believed that a town was situated here in 1107 B. C.—554 years before the foundation of Rome. We know that when the Romans came to this country they found London already in being. Our oldest village is Avebury, on Salisbury Plain; authorities on antiquity say that there has been a village here from prehistoric times.

American Civic Association
The American Civic Association promotes conservation, improvement and land planning. In order to make the country a better one in which to live, work and play. It conducts a civic information bureau and maintains a watch service on national legislation for the protection of national parks and other scenic assets and for the planned development of the city of Washington.

Eyes in Top of Head
Bottom-feeding salt-water fishes as a rule have eyes high in the head and gaze upward. They may, indeed, be squarely on the crown, as in the ferocious "angler" or goose-fish, in skates and rays, and in the stargazers and their spiny relatives, which almost bury themselves in the sand near shore watching to see and seize any prey that may come near them.

Sense of Smell in Fishes
The sense of smell is highly developed in fishes and it is probably mainly through this sense that they locate their food. Scientists, however, have not been able to determine accurately the relative perceptive powers of the sense organs. "From what is known at present," wrote the United States bureau of fisheries to an inquirer, "it is believed that the sense of smell, along with that of touch, plays a greater role in the life of a fish, as far as obtaining its food is concerned, than that of sight. The sense of sight in fishes seems to be limited more to the perception of changing lights and shadows, since a fish will snap more quickly at a moving object." There is a common but erroneous notion that a fish smells with its gills. The nose is the seat of the smelling sense in all fishes.

Man-Eater Mountain Is One of the Alps' Worst
Height has nothing to do with danger in mountain-climbing. To climb Mont Blanc, highest of Swiss peaks, is child's play compared with scaling some of the knife-like peaks of the Cuchullins in Skye, while Everest itself is nothing like as difficult, from the climber's point of view as the Alpine Dent Blanche, which is less than half its height, states a writer in Answers Magazine.

There are peaks in the Alps which make all but hardened mountaineers shiver. One is the Shreckhorn, which, translated, means "Peak of Terror."

One of the worst of the Alps, from the climber's point of view, is Les Grandes Jorasses. It is known as "The Man Eater," owing to the number of lives lost in attempts to climb it. There is a long traverse over the face of a sheer precipice, where any mistake means a drop of nearly a mile on to a glacier beneath.

Above St. Gingolp on Lake Geneva is a pass known as "The German's Tomb," where a false step means falling 1,000 feet into a torrent that roars at the bottom of a vast gorge.

A mountain named Genal in the Caucasus is known locally as "The Hill of Death." It is notorious for its fearful avalanches from a glacier high in its recesses. On one occasion a mass of ice weighing hundreds of thousands of tons fell a distance of eight miles, killing more than 40 people and completely wiping out a village.

Vancouver's Golden Jubilee

Fifty years ago the first trans-continental Canadian Pacific Railway train from Montreal reached the Pacific Coast. This summer Vancouver, now the Gateway to the Orient and port for ships of the entire world, will celebrate the Golden Jubilee of its founding as the western terminal of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Commencing July 1 with Dominion and International Good Will Week, the programme concludes with the Canada Pacific Exhibition on September 7, and includes land and water sports, several weeks of grand pageantry, musical attractions, visit of American warships, a two-day air show with a solo flight across Canada planned as the highlight. Floral decorations, visit of 15,000 Shriner in mid-July, traditional pageantry of an Alderboro tattoo, frontier week, street dancing and costume balls, and historical exhibits arranged to illustrate Vancouver's steady progress during the first half century of its existence. Even before the beginning of the celebration proper, many colorful events will be given recognition, including Empire Day and horticulture show in May; Pioneers' festival on June 12-14; schools' programme in June; Bicharistic Congress, which will attract thousands, June 11 to 14; golf tournament, King's Birthday, and religious dedicatory services. One of the highlights of Vancouver's celebration will be the re-enacting of the arrival of the first Canadian Pacific train almost half a century ago. The venerable old engine, first to the coast, will be run again, with its original pilot, W. H. Evans, at the throttle. Some of the old-timers who saw the first train arrive will also be present for the ceremony. The Canadian Pacific Railway will run tours at low cost from Eastern Canada to the Pacific Coast for the event, with stop-over privileges at Banff Springs Hotel, Chateau Lake Louise, and other famous Rocky Mountain resorts. Pictures show the old and the new Vancouver, and Sir William Van Horne, second president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who chose the name of Vancouver in 1884 for the western terminal of the first trans-continental railway line.

No News in the Paper!

(Nantucket Inquirer and Mirror)

In spite of the near approach of two meetings and the fact that the finance committee has been in session, it has really been a quiet week on Nantucket. For those who think it is a bed of roses to get out the paper out here in the ocean in midwinter, apart from the rest of the world, and fill its yawning columns with reading matter—whether news or not—it may not be amiss for us to call attention to a few things that have not happened on Nantucket the last week.

There has not been a fire, there has not been a bank robbery, there have been no births, there have been no marriages, there has not been a runaway horse, there has not been a railroad accident, there has not been a shipwreck.

There has not been a murder, no one has fallen overboard, no one has fallen from a roof, no tramps or suspicious-looking characters have been seen hanging around, no airplanes have cracked up, there has not been a holdup, no man has run away with another man's wife, no one has absconded with another person's money, there was no president's birthday ball.

As a matter of fact there has not even been a real good dog fight to liven up Main Street.

Just bear in mind that it is not the newspaper which makes news—it is the people. So don't be too critical when you say "there is nothing in the paper this week".

made possible the building of homes and they have been available in large sums to finance public projects at times when our governments most needed assistance. During the year 1934, the last year for which complete statistics were available, Canadian life insurance companies made new investments amounting to more than $115,000,000 in addition to the amount received on maturing securities.

I am reviewing these features of our business because there exists among the general public a misconception of the part which the institution of life insurance plays in the life of the nation. Life insurance companies are generally regarded as institutions of great wealth and a fertile source of income for the tax gatherer.

Forced reductions of interest or a default in payment on their securities are considered merely as reductions of the great wealth which these institutions supposedly own. The public does not realize that these funds are the savings of more than 5,000,000 Canadian policyholders—almost one-half of our total population—and that every loss of capital, every reduction in interest and every increase in taxation inevitably affects each of these policyholders to the extent of his interest in the total funds. It is not appreciated that this vast section of our population—most of them of very moderate means—who by their thrift, foresight and great personal sacrifice have made provision against the possibility of becoming a public charge, must bear the burden of any discriminatory action affecting the life insurance companies.

Trace Origin of Bricks

Trace to as Far as 1500 B. C.

Bricklayers boast that our bricks are the best perfectly proportioned bricks in the world, but they are wrong. "The perfect brick" existed at least 1500 years before Christ, as has been revealed by excavations at Mohenjo-daro in India, says the Washington Post.

Made by an ancient race which inhabited India long before the Aryans overran the country in 1500 B. C., these bricks were almost exactly like those we use today. The ancients knew how to construct houses of two or more stories with them, too.

Knowing nothing of iron or even bronze, these people made their tools and implements of copper.

Most surprising of all, however, is the fact this ancient race used the decimal system in their weights and measures. This is proved by the discovery of a beam scale and a pile of stone weights made in multiples of two and five.

Use of Word "Presently"

The use of this adverb in the sense of immediately, at once, is now classed by the dictionary as archaic. That is, the term in this sense is antiquated and though still found, is going out of use in literary English. Formerly, until roughly the end of the Seventeenth century, the sense was in general use. Shakespeare wrote ("Two Gentlemen of Verona," act 4, sc. 4):

"He presently said I was not with him." "Presently" in this sense is "immediately" and is this sense in "Tom Jones" (1749) in describing a poor woman who "no sooner looked at the serjeant than she presently recognized him." From this earlier use, coming from the early part of the fifteenth century, the sense gradually became weakened, probably during the Seventeenth century, to its ordinary modern use of by and by, after a little time, shortly. The use of the word in its earlier sense occurs so rarely nowadays as to befog the reader, to give him a feeling of ambiguity.—Literary Digest.

Paganini's Shoe

Paganini, the famous Italian violinist of the early part of the last century, once met a servant girl, Nicette, whose lover had been drawn to the conscription. They had planned to marry, but had no money with which to pay for a substitute. Learning of her trouble, Paganini fashioned a musical instrument from a wooden shoe, and announced a concert at which he promised to play "alternate selections upon the violin and a shoe." A huge audience responded. The entire proceeds he handed over to Nicette. After paying 1,500 francs for a substitute for her lover, she had several hundred francs left. That their marriage might be speedily and happily consummated, Paganini also gave her the shoe which she was able to sell for a goodly sum.

Mrs. D. W. Owens is Mourned in River-Front Community

Cushing — Once more this community mourns the passing of a highly respected resident —Mrs. D. W. Owens of Stone-field Heights, formerly Mary McMurtrie, who passed away at the Western Hospital, Montreal, on Wednesday, April 29, after a brief illness.

Mr. Owens having predeceased her some years ago, she leaves to mourn her loss four daughters, Dr. Margaret Owens, and Miss May, of Winnipeg;
Miss Catherine, of Aldershot,
Ont.; and Miss Eleanor attending McMaster University, Hamilton, Ont.; three sons, George, of Saskatchewan, David of Indian Head, and John at home;
one sister, Mrs. H. Nethercott of Duluth, Minn.; and two brothers, Mr. William McMurtrie also of Duluth, and Mr. Robert McMurtrie of Pying Yang, Korea.

Mrs. Owens was a member of St. Giles Presbyterian Church in Grenville. Her student pastor, Mr. George Porteous of Montreal, held the devotional service at the house,
Rev. J. W. Maclean of St. Mun-go's Church, Cushing, the Bible reading and prayer at St.
Giles Church, and the Rev. Mr.
Back of Hawkesbury Presbyterian Church, a former pastor, gave the address. His hearers felt the truth of his words when he extolled her as a good woman, one who had both a
"Mary and a Martha disposition", also one whose loss would be felt by the entire community.

The remains were interred in the Anglican cemetery which adjoins St. Giles, the committal service being read by the Rev.
K. N. Bructon of the Anglican Church. This mingling of pastors of different denominations seemed very fitting to the onlookers, who had all their lives respected the late Mrs. Owens for her broadmindedness and her willingness to help with good work, irrespective of denomination. For the past few years she had been an active helper in the supply work of the Stonefield United and Anglican Church joint Mission Band. She was also a member of the Frontier Women's Institute, whose members were so pleased to have her with them at their last meeting after her non-attendance during the winter months through illness.

The floral remembrances were many and beautiful. The pall bearers were her nephews
—Mr. Owen Higginson of Hawkesbury, Mr. Lemuel Whinfield of Calumet, and Mr. Cecil Moyle of Hawkesbury, also her neighbors, Mr. Russel Owens, Mr.
Ray Dawson and Mr. John Canning. Among those from a distance attending the funeral were her daughters and her son David, also Mr. and Mrs.
Sandy Cattanaach and daughter,
Mrs. Wm. McGregor of North
Lancaster, Ont., Mr. and Mrs.
Peter Kippin and Mrs. McMillan of Greenfield, Ont., and her niece, Miss Maria Higginson of bereavement.

STORIED SPOTS FROM SEA TO SEA

Modest Parliament Buildings

The memorial tablet between the arched windows of this building on Front Street near Berkeley Street, Toronto, marks a site of first importance in Ontario's history. Here, in 1797, were located Little York's first parliament buildings, and the second legislature of Upper Canada met that year in the new capital. Officially York had been made the seat of government in 1793 though Governor Simcoe himself had preferred "Georgina-upon-Thames", the site of London. So isolated was the little military post on Toronto Bay, however, that the peoples' representatives were not called upon to meet there until after Simcoe's departure.

Site of First Legislative Buildings, Toronto

A traveller of 1798 described York as "a dreary, dismal place, not even possessing the characteristics of a village." No doubt the twenty-odd members and government officials who sailed from Niagara in May 1797 found some difficulty in obtaining suitable lodgings in the new capital. The town consisted of twelve city blocks immediately north of the parliament buildings, and all east of the present center of Toronto. The King and Yonge intersection was not even a cross-road. However, the acting governor and militia contrived a certain pomp and ceremony for the session's opening and the town's scanty civilian population looked on proudly.

The two one-storey government buildings, each twenty-five by forty feet, had been intended originally as wings of a residence for the king's representative. They may have been the only brick structure in the town at that time. In 1813 they were burned during the American occupation. Among the loot was the speaker's wig, described by the victors as a scalp. A second government building on the same site was burned accidentally in 1824. Later, Toronto's third gaol occupied this interesting bit of ground until 1860.

"Lord Baden-Powell, the originator of Scouting, will go down in history as a great educationist, not in so far as the scientific or mathematical field is concerned, perhaps, but in so far as his practicability and usefulness are concerned."—Rt. Rev. Philip Carrington, Lord Bishop of Quebec.

UNIQUE AIRPLANE LANDING GUIDES

Unique landscape features of the 550-acre camp site of the West Cheshire Boy Scouts Association, "Brynbach", in the Welsh hills, are hedge and tree airplane landing guides—a great arrow of golden yew, representing the Golden Arrow of Scout international good will, and a fleur-de-lis in green harch.

THEY STILL STOP RUN-AWAY HORSES

Gallantry awards for stopping runaway horses still are occasionally made to cool-headed and quick acting Boy Scouts. At Cheddington, Buckinghamshire, when a baker's horse frightened by a sanding machine ran madly down High Road, Scout A. Wesley, 13, ran and stopped him, while grown men hung back; and a Certificate of Gallantry was awarded.

SCOUTS SALUTE MANY DIFFERENT FLAGS

In the meeting place of the international Scout troop at the Canadian Academy, at Kobe, Japan, the Scout Law is displayed in English, German, Dutch, Spanish, Danish and Russian. When the boys "salute the flag", no less than twelve different flags are hoisted, so that each Scout can pay respect to his own country's colours.

EARL OF DARTMOUTH PASSES AT 84

A deeply regretted loss to Scouting in Staffordshire was the death of the Earl of Dartmouth, President of the county Scout organization since 1912. Although 84, the Earl had maintained his active interest in the movement, and one of his last acts was to place the grounds of his home, Patshull Park, at the disposal of the Rover Scouts of the Midland Counties for a great senior Scout "moot" in May.

Numbers of Scouts in all parts of Canada are exchanging letters with Scouts in other countries, as qualification for the Scout World Friendship Badge.

THE FROG'S ADVICE

"Oh listen, Ma!" cried Teddy, "To the frog down by the mill, He's talking to our baby; You can hear him if you're still."

"Creep, creep, before you walk—That's what he says to her Creep, creep, before you walk—Then a funny croaking chirr."

"He talks to more than baby", Said Ted's mother with a smile, "That's a lesson for us all, dear, And one that's well worthwhile."

"It means that you must study Your lessons well in school Before you play the Game of Life With all its golden rule."

"The old green frog gives good advice To baby, child, and man; If all of us would follow it 'Twould be a splendid plan!"

Dorothy looked imploringly at her mother, as she begged to be allowed to go with Mrs. Bonner to her home in the country and gather real spring flowers. Her mother did not notice that look, for she was gazing very intently at Mrs. Bonner. Coming closer to the street, she cried, "Sally Hope, is it you?" Mrs. Bonner stared at Dorothy's mother in surprise before tossing the reins over the water hydrant. Climbing down from her express, she held out both hands to Dorothy's mother and exclaimed in return, "Mary Bell is it you?" Dorothy was impatiently waiting for an answer to her question, and after what seemed to her a useless lot of tears, hugging and kissing, her mother turned and said, "Yes Dorothy, you may go to the country to pick real spring flowers where your mother picked them as a child—if Cousin Sally will be kind enough to take you."

"I shall certainly take her, Mary, and you too—so get on your coats and come along. To think that I didn't know you were living so close all these years, and you in trouble, while I have all I need in the way of farm fruits and fresh air. Why didn't you let me know, Mary?" "Because of my pride, I guess; anyway I had not heard that you and Ned had come back to settle on father's old farm. I thought strangers lived there."

"Have you any other children, Mary?" her cousin asked. "Not living, Sally. There's only Dorothy and I, so we shall be glad to put on our coats and ride back with you. Now that I know where you live it seems as if I could not get to my old home quick enough."

Dorothy felt the same about the trip, and while she was enjoying the unaccustomed pleasure of riding behind a horse she wished that he might go a bit faster. She was whispering under her breath, "Hurry along, horsie. I want to see the trilliums beside the brook and the dog-tooth violets in the valley behind the house—oh, and Cousin Ned, and everything!" When at last they turned in at the big green gate and started up the driveway, Dorothy could not wait a minute longer. She bounded from the express, darted to the brook that rippled its way to the river nearby, and stooped to gather great bunches of snowy trilliums. Holding them closely to her, she called, "Mother, oh Mother, look! Did you ever see anything so lovely?"

"Many, many times, dear child", her mother said. Her lips trembled as she stood looking at the old house, which had sheltered her as a child.

"Oh Mother, there's a dog too!" cried Dorothy, dropping her flowers and racing to meet the big yellow collie that came bounding towards them, barking delightedly and wagging his plummy tail at the sight of a small playmate.

"One would think that it was old Shep, Sally", said Dorothy's mother, as she watched the big dog stand up and put his paws on Dorothy's shoulders. "It's Shep's grandson, Mary, and as like him as two peas. Crazy to be where there is a child. But there's Ned coming to take the horse. I wonder if he will know you?" "I am sure he will not know me, but I expect he will know Dorothy." The two women stood and watched and listened as the little girl and the dog ran to the big bronzed man who stood smilingly waiting for them. "Hello, little Mary Bell", he cried, "where did you drop from?"

"From the express there" replied Dorothy, "but I am not Mary Bell. My name's Dorothy Bell Colver, and I've come to pick real spring flowers. Will you let Shep go with me?" "As if I could keep him from going with you, child. When Shep adopts little girls he sticks mighty close to them. They don't dare move without him, let me tell you." Dorothy laughed delightedly and threw herself down on the ground to play with Shep, who had rolled over on his back and was waving his paws as though to say, "Come and shake hands with me."

"I should not be surprised if Dorothy and her mother moved out of the town soon, to a little cottage on the old farm, where they could have all the real flowers they wanted."

Next story, "What was in the Watering Trough".

Year Old Baby Makes Trip of 6,000 Miles

Six thousand miles of travel, part of which included a solo trip across the Atlantic on the liner Andania, left only smiles on the chubby face of one-year-old David Ian Bland, who arrived recently at Vancouver over Canadian National Railways to find a new home in Canada. Grandson of Sir Arnold Rushton, one time Lord Mayor of Liverpool, England, David has been adopted by his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Rushton, of Vancouver. He crossed the ocean unaccompanied, and was a popular passenger. At Halifax he was met by his new mother with whom he made friends immediately. For 3,000 miles across Canada he smiled his way into the hearts of fellow travellers and train crews, and romped home easily a winner.

Car-Driving Course in Secondary Schools?

The management committee of the Toronto Board of Education gave consideration to a request from a trustee, for a report on the advisability of introducing a course of motor car driving into the secondary schools. Courses of a similar nature are now being taught in many schools in the United States.

Fighting Cows

Imagine a cow-fight staged in the interest of honor and prestige! According to the Mid-Week Pictorial, farmers in Southwest Switzerland each year stage such an event 6,500 feet up on the slopes of the Alps near St. Bernard Pass. These cow-fights provide "the most exciting occasion of the springtime" for the people of the village of Bagnes-Chable and surrounding district. "The winner of the tourney is undisputed queen of the village herd and always leads the way as the cattle graze on the mountain slopes."

STUDENTS RIDICULE WAR

Some of the University students in both Canada and the United States have been expressing their opposition to war by heaping ridicule on it. Many people have felt that they were being disrespectful to the veterans. I do not believe that the students meant to be disrespectful nor impertinent. Other methods have not been very successful so they are trying the effect of ridicule. The psychological effect of ridicule is a powerful weapon. Sir Richard Cartright is one of our own statesmen who used it extensively.

He would introduce such ridiculous measures that the original one would be forgotten. Youth to-day has a different attitude towards war than the youth of the pre-war generation. It is not that they are less courageous but they have seen the results of war and its appalling futility and are ready to try any method to avoid war—even trying ridicule.

ACIDS IN MILK

Food prejudices are hard to explode. There are many who still think that one should never eat an acid food and milk at the same time. If they take grapefruit and milk, or cucumber and milk, or any other similar combination they expect to have an upset stomach. And if they expect it they usually get it. It will not be the combination of foods which does it but the fear. One woman I know, would not let her children drink milk because it soured as soon as it reached the stomach and therefore could not be good for them. If the stomach was not acid there would be something seriously wrong. People who live in fear of acid stomach are those who are great believers in taking baking soda. Naturally it forms gas as soon as it reaches the acid in the stomach and because of this gas formation they think they are being cured. A small child asked what made her hair snap and was told that it was electricity. She thought for a minute and then said, "We have all the modern improvements. I have electricity in my hair and Grandma has gas in her stomach." Acids and milk are a harmless combination and will not hurt you unless you are afraid of them. Fear ties up the digestive system and causes much trouble.

THE NEW KITCHENS

Those lovely looking kitchens in the magazines are an aggravation. They look so convenient and so complete that they make me fairly long for one. I said that if we ever moved again I was going to move for a kitchen. But I didn't. A house that had one to please me had so little else. The house we took hadn't much of a kitchen but it did have so many other advantages that I just had to give up my idea of a kitchen. Once I had a kitchen that was a kitchen, but not for very long. We built a house and I had the kitchen the way I wanted it, but shortly after we were moved to another city and that discouraged the building idea. What a fight I had to get things the way I wanted. My back is rather a long one, and I wanted my sink high enough to suit me but I nearly had to fire the plumber to get it. He wasn't going to do it. It was a fool idea. Women had crazy notions and he had never heard of such a thing. Sinks were always installed at such a height and that was the way he was going to do it. That was what he thought. But I had different ideas and I got my sink at the right height. What a comfort it was. The same battle had to be fought over the stationary tubs. These were set on blocks and were a reasonable height instead of a back-breaking one. When the stove was installed I had another battle on my hands. I wanted the stove set out far enough from the wall so that it would be easy to clean behind it. Actually, the workman would not put it in until he saw his boss who gave the order to do what I wanted. New kitchens are being built a reasonable size these days. There was a reaction from the old-fashioned very large kitchen to the very small compact workmanlike room. People with large families found that there was considerable living done in a kitchen as well as work, and mothers decided that a kitchen large enough to move in without falling over a child was best. So the 1936 model has convenient working spaces, compact but not too small. All I hope is that those of you who have old-fashioned kitchens can have them brought up to date. In the meantime probably you will do as I do—look at the pictures and crave. Those done in colours are the most tantalising.

Parcel-Checked Emotions

In private life, women are said to have gained some of their major victories by a few tears placed on the proper shoulder. The right to weep has been one of the special privileges women have claimed—and used. But in business, tears, along with anger, envy, jealousy, grief, hate, and love—all the primary emotions—are taboo. In offices, stores, hospitals—wherever women work, the rule is that they must be strictly impersonal from nine to five.

Of both employer and employee, good business demands: Parcel-check your emotions on the way to work.

Human nature in conflict. Everyone, from the president to the office boy, bothered about something. The "chiefs" worried over making money to pay expenses; the employees fearful for their jobs; all struggling to make ends meet, personally.

"In an important business discussion, no matter what is said, never lose your temper. An angry person is intoxicated—he can't think clearly and, worse still, loses the respect of his opponent."

While it may be a poor substitute for the genuine article, an emotional life can be lived vicariously through the romances and adventures of others. What else keeps the motion picture theatres packed?

Religion, through the beauty of its ritual and architecture, has the effect of sending its devotees back to work on Monday under better nervous control than they were at noon on Saturday.

What New Canadians Have to Offer to Canada

Serious study of what contribution new Canadian settlers are making to Canada, by the members of Quebec Women's Institutes, has elicited many interesting facts concerning these people; it has shown that their contribution to the country is a valuable one. As a case in point may be cited the attitude of the Doukhobor towards war.

The title Doukhobor does not mean as many believe the racial name of this singular people, but is translated into "spirit-wrestler," and is symbolic of a contest with the powers of evil. The outstanding phase of this "wrestling" has been the hatred of the Doukhobors towards war in all its forms, and their determination to have no part in it. For this attitude, they suffered many tribulations in their native country, being shifted about from place to place, in the Old World, the constant prey of the Turk and kindred enemies.

Quaker influence in England and the United States led to the migration of large numbers of Doukhobors to Western Canada. Here they lived in peace, using their opportunities to improve their holdings, and showing great skill in farming.

But their old trouble began again when they were required, after five years in Canada, to take the oath of allegiance to the British crown. This their scruples forbade, and the long trek to Mexico began. The same difficulty arose there, and how many of them are returning to Canada to take up residence under the British flag.

The value of these people as citizens is seen in the sacrifices they have made for peace; it should be a lesson to the whole world.

The Week's Fashion News

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman
By the Montreal "FASHION SCRIBE"

"Cultivate Cotton", says Vogue—and it is very easy advice to follow this year! Cottons with nothing at all to remind you of the ordinary variety of other years; instead, cottons with new life in design, new interest in colour and a new fineness or novelty in weave! Wear them on the beach, at home or in the country; wear them from morn till night and be smartly garbed every single minute. A tour of any one of the big fabric departments in town will give you all sorts of ideas for dresses, blouses, skirts, jackets, culottes, etc.

The trend for tunics is on the up and up. More of them are seen daily in the fashion shops and windows about town; and what's a further indication of their real importance, we've seen smart women wearing them at smart places. They're tunics with flares—most often in print over a slim, straight skirt which repeats the print or prefers a monotone in a shade borrowed from the print of the tunic. Becoming? Definitely so. Look into this fashion at your earliest opportunity.

Thinking up new stunts for making your summer home more attractive? We've a grand idea about oilcloths. On going through a fabric department the other day, we noted that shelfings, borders, table cloths, curtain valances were all displayed in matching designs and colourings. And to make it easier for individual needs they come by the yard. Better get out that measuring stick and see how much you need. The

SCIENCE ADVISES AGAINST MEALS LOW IN NEEDED "BULK"

Reports ALL-BRAN Supplies This Dietary Adjunct

Scientific tests have shown that meals which miss the proper "bulk" tend to cause common constipation. This condition causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches, loss of appetite, even serious disease.

Avoid these faulty meals by adding Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to your menus. It supplies generous "bulk" in convenient form. This absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and contains iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is often more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN may be served as a cereal with milk or cream. Sprinkle over soups, salads or other cereals. Or cook into appetizing muffins, breads, waffles, etc. It adds a delicious nut-sweet flavor to your recipes.

How much better than taking patent medicines—sometimes harmful! ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

A. LAURIN HAS CONTRACT NEW PARISH CHURCH

At a meeting held on Tuesday evening tenders were considered for construction of the new Ste. Anastasie Parish Church, and pleasure is expressed at the news that contract was awarded to a local builder, Mr. Alédas Laurin. Work is expected to commence next Monday on plans prepared by J. Perron, architect, of Montreal. The structure will be built of red granite from quarries at St. Canut.

WINDOW DISPLAY OF UNUSUAL INTEREST

An interesting display featuring the Cunard White Star liner "Queen Mary" is now on view in the show-window of John McFaul & Son, Lachute. This display embraces an attractively coloured background and a sectional view of the ship, giving a comprehensive idea of the immensity of the various public rooms, state-rooms and decks. These two pieces are supplemented by a number of small cards giving pertinent facts regarding the great liner. The display material was secured through the efforts of Messrs. Gall & Jones, local representatives of the Cunard White Star.

Athlete Successful in District Sports Meet

That Lachute is not lacking in athletic prowess was again evidenced at the sports meet in St. Jerome on Sunday, when Stanley Langille of this town brought home several prizes. Among these were two handsome cups, one for first place in the mile race and the other as 5th. prize in the 3-mile race. In the three-legged race Langille and his partner, Gordon Bradley, came second. In all the events there were a large number of amateur contestants.

They visited the plant in Joliette and were given all the facts.

"THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, May 11th.—The debate on the budget is usually one of the full-dress discussions of the year. This session there was a disposition to cut it short for several reasons, and it very nearly died a natural death the very first evening. However, Social Credit and Conservative members kept it going, and C.C.F. members later moved a 'want of confidence' motion which prolonged it a couple of days more. The budget debate usually centres around fiscal policy; and we have already heard a good deal about that on the trade agreement. Another reason why the government is not anxious to prolong the session with a long budget debate is that there is still a very heavy program of legislation.

Last week Mr. Mackenzie King outlined the bills still to come. They include a resolution to amend the B.N.A. Act so as to create a Loan Council; legislation arising out of the elections and franchise committee, the pensions committee, the radio committee, the wheat committee and possibly the rail-

Pioneer School Teacher Laid To Rest

DEATH CALLS AN OLD RESIDENT OF LACHUTE

Once more this community mourns the passing of an old and much respected citizen, Miss Kate McGibbon. Miss McGibbon was born on July 23, 1847, and lived the greater part of her life in Lachute.

In her younger days she was an active little lady, and deeply interested in people and events. She was one of the pioneer school teachers of the county, a devoted church and Sunday School worker in the Baptist Church, and always ready with kindly, capable hands to help any who were sick or in need.

She leaves one brother, John A. MacGibbon, and many nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held from the Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, where many friends and relatives assembled to show the appreciation and the love they held for her during her lifetime. The service was conducted by the Rev. Roy Hissey, assisted at the graveside by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. The pall-bearers were her former scholars, Messrs. A. A. McOuat, Wm. Murray, W. H. Hume, T. B. Morrison, Duncan McDougall and A. D. McGibbon.

The remains were laid in the family plot in Lachute Cemetery. Among those who attended from out of town were—Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Chapman, Miss Mary Palliser, Mrs. Hugh McDonald, Miss Ann Drennan, Miss Shirley McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Morrison, Mr. Howard Morrison and Mr. Russell Morrison.

LOCAL SPEAKER AT THE ONE HUNDRED CLUB

A regular supper meeting of the Lachute One Hundred Club was held last evening at Desjardins Hotel, with President Centurion J. E. Dumais in the chair. A guest of the evening was Mr. Alf. Ecclestone of the Montreal 100 Club, who commented on the enthusiasm apparent in the brief business proceedings of this meeting. A serious effort to start the Club's charity fund was initiated in the opening of a competition, for which tickets are now in circulation.

Substituting in the absence of a visiting speaker, Centurion Linton Armstrong of the local club gave a splendid talk. His subject was the sketch of an illustrious life—that of Louis Pasteur, one of the greatest benefactors of mankind. The story of a young chemist venturing into entirely new fields of research; the discovery of micro-organisms which dealt death to animal and human life; the isolation of bacteria, the development of vaccines and anti-toxins—a long, persevering study hampered by consistent criticism and ridicule; this made an inspiring chapter. But it was the step-by-step conquest—from curing the disease of silk worms which had undermined the industry of Old France—to the conquest of hydrophobia, even of diphtheria (for Pasteur had shown

87th Session Provincial Grand Orange Lodge Held in Lachute

The 87th session of Provincial Grand Orange Lodge of Quebec was called to order last Friday in Lachute Auditorium with over 100 representatives from all district lodges in attendance, under the chairmanship of Deputy Grand Master H. Brady, of Montreal, in the absence of Grand Master Rev. Bro. W. J. H. Lummis, whose illness was deeply regretted. The Ladies' Benevolent Association numbering some 86 delegates conducted their session in McArthur's Hall, and later combined in a joint banquet provided by the ladies of St. Simeon's Church.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

A resolution was passed unanimously "that this Provincial Grand Lodge of Quebec convey to the Grand Lodge of Ireland at this its annual session most cordial greetings with all good wishes for its continued success in standing for the sound principles of loyalty to the Crown and the maintenance of British liberties and the Protestant religion. That the Grand Lodge of Ireland by its faith in God and in righteous living ever retain its leadership in the British Empire for God, for Country, and for King, is the earnest hope and prayer of these your brethren in Quebec."

LIFETIME CANAL EMPLOYEE DIED, GREECE'S PT.

(By Our Cushing West Correspondent)

Cushing W.—We regret to record the death this week of Mr. John Gaston of Greece's Point, who passed away somewhat suddenly at his home in Greece's Point early on Sunday morning. Mr. Gaston, who was in his 78th year, was a son of the late James Gaston of this place, and had been employed on the Grenville Canal almost all his life. His wife, who was formerly Miss Mary Millen of Scotland, passed away six years ago, and he is survived by two sons and two daughters, Mrs. R. Clarke of St. Catharines, Ont., Mrs. J. Gleeson of Fossmill, Mr. J. Gaston and Fred, of Parent, Que.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from St. Mungo's Church, of which Mr. Gaston was a member, and interment was made in the cemetery adjoining.

Spring Spirit Brings Evidence of Notable Improvements Around Town

With the advent of spring and the perennial influx of visitors, the genuine desire to beautify local surroundings finds many of our citizenry busy with paint brushes, hammers and garden tools in the general clean-up.

Some marked improvements have already been made in town, noticeable among which is the Cascade Bottling Works, an institution that is stepping right ahead. The proprietors have renovated their premises, both inside and out, and the change is a marked improvement to that particular section of Foundry Street.

An improved show-window in the premises newly occupied by F. E. Earle, Jeweler, also presents a pleasing appearance, while exterior decorating at Desjardins Hotel and the rebuilding of the Windsor Hotel recently destroyed by fire—these, among the other works undertaken by local proprietors, add materially to the beauty of the town.

The efforts of the town park committee also deserve mention, for work is proceeding on the river bank opposite the Memorial Park; this spot will soon be filled by attractive flower beds.

Fire Commissioner Inspects Business Premises

Mr. Patrick Gauthier, of the Prov. Fire Commissioner's Office at Quebec, has been in town for two days making examination of business premises in company with Constable Gervais. Inspection of local stores was made in the interests of fire prevention, and Mr. Gauthier expressed himself as generally satisfied. Recommendations in certain instances were made by him to Fire Chief Deacon and to the Police Officer.

"THE PASSING SCENE"

(Contributed)

At a recent convention, the Mayor of Montreal suggested lotteries as a means of getting the city out of the red. For many years past, people of the Irish Free State have supported a National Sweepstake that has drawn millions of dollars from other countries and has paid out millions of dollars, as well as providing the Irish Free State with a hospitalization system second to none. Both Mayor Houde's suggestion and the Irish Sweepstake are taboo in Canada. The law says "Thou shalt not," and the law sees to it that thou dost not. In three years the Irish Free State distributed in prize money over $75,000,000. In the year just past Canada paid $90,000,000 to crooks and racketeers for "gold bricks" which were never received. In one form or another, innocent and ignorant people have paid to touts and swindlers more than the Federal and Provincial governments combined have paid for municipal relief. "Worthy charities", fraudulently conceived, have cost the people of Canada more than those same people contributed to all the churches in the country. More than all the currency at present in the country has been paid in one year to glib salesmen on the "something for nothing" routes. What is being done to protect the people against this amazing swindle? The Montreal Better Business Bureau has debunked more fake charity, and saved more dollars for gullible investors, than it could be hoped to obtain by the Mayor's suggested lotteries. In Toronto the Better Business Bureau requires collectors to apply for cards of identification bearing the imprint of the bureau as a guarantee of the soundness of the investment or charity. During 1935 one thousand two hundred applications were received from would-be collectors; after careful investigation the Bureau could only O.K. twenty of the applicants. The moral—Investigate before Investing.

Motor-Cyclists Held Field Day Here

The Sports Motorcycle Club of Montreal held their annual spring trials here on Sunday, with 26 starters in the course regularly selected for this event, via Dunany, Dalesville and Brownsburg. Eight hazards in this itinerary led the riders through mud, rocks and water, and the average speed maintained was 20 m.p.h.

Visitors were present from Montreal Clubs and the Greyhound Cycle Club of Ottawa, members of which joined in the outing both as competitors and spectators. The event was held under auspices of the Auto Cycle Union for the Province of Quebec Centre.

The stewards of the meet were Mr. Lazar of Ottawa, Chairman; C. Painter, Secretary; A. Milken, Treasurer; Messrs. W. Dickie, J. Shipman and J. A. Everest.

Winners in the respective classes were as follows:

J. Bentley, Best performance of the day, 20 points lost.
J. Acland, 2nd. best performance of the day, 35 points lost.

Town Council Discuss Dogs and Housing

The regular meeting of Lachute Town Council was held in the council chamber of the Town Hall on Friday last, with the following members present: Dr. J. H. Mason, Mayor; Aldermen H. Lamarche, W. J. Deacon, Jas. McGibbon, O. Laurin, F. Deslauriers, K. McOuat, C. Durocher, and G. Filion, Secretary-Treasurer.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, also the finance committee's report. Accounts were duly passed and payment authorized.

Several complaints were received of annoyances created by dogs, which gave rise to a discussion which culminated in the council's decision that the dog tax by-law should be rigidly enforced.

Dr. J. O. Touchette, representing the County Health Unit, reported that he had made thorough inspection of the milk supply in this town and found that the dealers were complying in all respects with provincial regulations governing dairies. He brought a report of bad sanitary conditions on Robert St., where 10 properties were found to be housing no less than 135 persons, and suggested the proprietors should now be compelled to connect with the sewer which has recently been laid.

Body of Drowned Line-man is Recovered

The body of Henri Desjardins, Gatineau Power Company lineman who was drowned in the North River flood, between Ste. Adele and Ste. Marguerite on March 20, was recovered at Mont Rolland Sunday afternoon. An inquest was held by Coroner J. R. Brais, of St. Jerome, and a verdict of accidental death was returned.

The body was discovered by residents of Mont Rolland by the bridge which crosses the river at that place.

Evidence heard by the coroner showed that on March 20 following floods in the district trouble had been reported between St. Adele and Ste. Marguerite and Desjardins had been sent by his foreman to ways and shipping committee; amendments to the criminal code, including the cancellation of the famous Section 98 dealing with free speech and assembly; amendment to the customs act. Also, as possibilities, there are amendments to the Combines Act, the Post Office Act, the Relief Act, the Patent Medicines Act, the Dry Dock Subsidies Act, the Carriage of Goods by Water Act, and a bill respecting marketing.

A HEAVY LIST

Even this list does not quite exhaust the program, the premier saying that he wished to reserve the right to introduce one or two other measures should it be found necessary. Unless the House makes better time than it has so far the legislators will be sitting here until July first.

There has been some agitation to revive the cheese bonus. Farmers in Ontario and Quebec are quite keen about it, and the government members for these provinces held a meeting to discuss the matter. One difficulty is that we are now exporting quite large quantities of cheese to the United States, under the trade agreement, and they might not take kindly on that side to a bonus here, the resulting product coming then within the category of dumped exports. Another difficulty is that if the cheese farmers get a bonus, producers of a score of other commodities will want similar treatment, and taxes will go up some more. The Ontario-Quebec members accepted the decision with a pretty good grace, but they did say — some of them — that wheat bonuses ought also to be a thing of the past; that what is sauce for the goose ought to be sauce for the male bird also.

Canada has sold her fleet of merchant vessels, ten in all, for a figure in the neighborhood of $420,000. This does not apply to the West Indies boats, which will be continued in the usual service. The government merchant marine was an unfortunate war and post-war episode which cost the taxpayers of this country over a hundred million dollars in original costs and subsequent operating deficits.

FURTHER CUT ON RELIEF

Parliament voted $26,000,000 during the week for 'grants in aid' to the provinces for direct relief. As they are paying $2,606,000 a month in the early stages of the fiscal year, it is evident that they are anticipating further cuts, which the provinces, it goes without saying, won't like. But summer and autumn costs are usually lighter, and the government is still banking on a substantial upturn in business. There are still thousands of 'drought-area' families on the direct relief list, and good harvest in that part of the west would remove most of them from the rolls almost overnight.

The Senate turned down a bill moved by Senator J. J. Hughes which would have made it illegal for the guilty party in any divorce case to remarry anyone except his former spouse.

The Hudson Bay route once again gets the benefit of reduced insurance rates, those for the coming season being about 25 per cent lower than last year's. The season is also extended eight days, and now lasts, without surcharge of premium, from August 5th. to October 10th. With additional premium the route may be used until October 15th.

Radio, Agricultural, and railway committees were sitting fairly steadily during the week.

Special Trains for Vimy Pilgrims

To facilitate the transportation of the hundreds of pilgrims who will journey to Vimy next July and witness the unveiling of Canada's war memorial on the battlefields, the steamship companies concerned are requesting definite information on the number of advance bookings early in May.

More than 3,000 war veterans and their dependents have made deposits on their passage already. Nearly 350 of these are from British Columbia. Such a mass movement requires considerable advance planning on the part of the transportation agencies.

QUEBEC CITY CONSIDERS SALES TAX

Several aldermen of Quebec City have expressed themselves in favor of a civic sales tax on luxury articles. If the tax is adopted and ratified by the provincial Legislature, Quebec will have an impost similar to that in effect in Montreal. The tax would be two per cent and would be charged in the form of stamps.

It would affect outside as well as local purchasers. At least $500,000 was expected to be raised by this tax.

LONDON FIRE ALARM WHICH ALMOST THINKS

A fire alarm which almost thinks, is to replace the familiar box in the London fire brigade area.

It watches itself, instantly reporting all electrical defects and automatically repairing them.

If a fire alarm box and pillar are accidentally felled the brigade is not turned out, as now. The box reports the injury to the station.

Within three seconds of operation, this is what happens at the fire station:

Box code number punched in a tape, timed and dated.

Location appears in luminous letters on a panel.

All station bells ring, doors open for departure of engines.

Traffic lights, except those on fire engines' route, set at danger.

Stop watch ticks out fractions of seconds till first fire engine to respond stops it.

The group of police recruits were being taught the rudiments of the job. "Now, suppose you wish to disperse a mob", said the superintendent, "what would you do?" "Pass the hat, sir," answered Casey.

TRANS-CANADA NETWORK OF RADIO PATROL ULTIMATE GOAL

A Toronto exchange has the following to say, regarding the development of radio communication for crime prevention purposes:

With suburban municipalities adjacent to Toronto rapidly obtaining short-wave radio equipment to link up with the city's latest aid to crime prevention, the recent prophecy of Chief of Police Draper regarding an ultimate trans-Canada network of radio patrol installations for combatting criminals is already bearing fruit, a survey shows.

Plans are now under way for the blanketing of the province of Quebec by a radio-car system and the eventual establishment of a wireless station at Queen's Park and a fleet of radio-equipped cars to serve the Provincial Police at strategic points throughout Ontario is also being studied by General Victor Williams, commissioner of the provincial force.

Since the Toronto police force was equipped with radio patrol cars some four months ago, many surrounding suburbs and nearby towns now have radio link-ups with the city. These include Forest Hill, North York, Oakville and Port Credit. York township is calling for tenders and Mimico has already erected a station receiver. Active discussion on the establishment of police radio patrol systems is also being undertaken by the reeves and councils of such municipalities as New Toronto, East York, Scarborough, Swansea and Etobicoke.

During a recent visit to New York, Attorney-General Roebuck and General Victor Williams, commissioner of Ontario's provincial police, spent considerable time inspecting that city's cruiser-fleet which includes radio-equipped river-patrol boats as well as police cars. In pointing out the other day that the rapid acquisition and distribution of information is the first requisite in fighting crime, Chief of Police Draper paid tribute to radio as a definite deterrent to crime and referred to the fact that Winnipeg, Montreal, Halifax, Ottawa, St. John and Toronto are the first links in his envisioning of a trans-Canada police radio network with which crime will be fought by such inter-state police radio methods as are now established in the United States. Hamilton is the latest Canadian city to install the system and London, Peterboro, Belleville and Kingston are said to be considering similar action.

ALBERTA TAKES ACTION TO REFUND CITY DEBTS

Wide powers for Alberta cities to refund their public debts under provincial guarantees are given in the Cities Refunding Act introduced in the Alberta Legislature by Provincial Treasurer Cockcroft last month.

Compulsory features in the bill are similar to those in the Act now before the House providing for refunding of the provincial debt. Under one section the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may declare that any holder of a bond issued by an Alberta city before January 1, 1936, shall accept in lieu thereof a bond or debenture issued by the city with a provincial guarantee for the principal sum.

The Act provides the Provincial Treasurer may make a guarantee to the cities upon authority of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Now that the summer months are approaching and the lure of the road is upon us, our thoughts turn to the new car we didn't get round to buying last year. As we go out into the busy streets or along the highways we admire the many new models, and if we are of an inquiring turn of mind we look up the various sale lists and figure out the costs of this or that model.—If we continued our figuring to include every new car purchased in Canada last year, we would find that it is a goodly sum. Yet this enormous sum has to be paid in duplicate, as our payments for automobile accidents are equal to our payments for automobile investments.

"He moves her up to eighty-four, And St. Peter meets him at the door".

A few weeks ago the English Parliament provided an annuity of $200,000 to provide for the contingency of King Edward's marriage. Since then Dame Rumour has been busy selecting a royal consort. Princess Alexandrine Louise of Denmark is the most persistent "selection" for the Queen-to-be. King Edward is a third cousin to Princess Alexandrine, yet the supposed danger from relation-marriages is in this case remote, owing to the many changes in blood strain intervening. Prince Harold, father of the Princess, was a brother of Queen Alexandra, consort of King Edward VII. Queen Alexandra's grandfather and King Edward's grandmother were brother and sister. Their fathers were first cousins. Therefore Alexandrine's father and the present King are second cousins. The Princess' mother was before her marriage Princess Helene of Sleswig-Holstein; she is the youngest of three daughters, and was born Dec. 12th., 1914.

RASHCOVSKY - MARLOW

The marriage of Kate Marlow, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Marlow of Montreal, to Sam Ross Rashcovsky, only son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Rashcovsky of Lachute, took place on Sunday last at 7 o'clock p.m., Rabbi Hershorn officiating.

The bride was gowned in white satin and carried a bouquet of Calais lilies. Her only attendant, the groom's sister, Miss Becky Rashcovsky, was gowned in mauve chiffon and wore a corsage of sweet peas. Mr. Louis Marlow, the bride's brother, was best man. The mother of the bride was gowned in black crepe and wore a corsage of roses. The groom's mother was gowned in crepe romaine and wore a corsage of Talisman roses. Out-of-town guests included the groom's parents, of Lachute, and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. D. Rashcovsky, Miss Becky Rashcovsky, and Miss Eda Rashcovsky, Mr. and Mrs. W. Vender, of Lachute, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Ralph, of Drummondville, Que. The happy couple left Monday on their honeymoon to Ottawa and other points.

ADVISED TO EAT BRAN FOR HER CONSTIPATION*

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Helps Miss Hanson

Read this enthusiastic, voluntary letter: "Just a line to let you know how much I appreciate Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I was troubled with constipation." I asked my doctor what to do. He said to eat bran.

"I tried other brands but they weren't so good, so I tried Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and it is just wonderful. It makes delicious muffins, too." — Miss Agnes Hanson (address upon request).

ALL-BRAN provides mild "bulk" missing in the average meal. This delicious cereal also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system. It is often more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Isn't this natural food pleasanter than patent medicines? Just eat two tablespoons daily. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Sold by all grocers. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than bran products. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Local Masonic Lodge Entertained D.D.G.M.

On Monday evening a large number attended Argenteuil Lodge A.F. & A.M. on occasion of the visit of Rt. Wor. Bro. Henry Cousens, as District Deputy Grand Master. The Lodge is proud of having one of its members to fill this Grand Lodge office and the large turnout gave further evidence of the high esteem in which Rev. H. Cousens is held.

The work of the evening consisted of the exemplification of the First Degree, under the supervision of Wor. Bro. F. A. Brennan, and was carried out in an impressive manner.

The D.D.G.M. expressed satisfaction at the excellent way in which the work had been put on, and gave an impressive address on "The Mason as a Citizen."

Visitors were present from neighboring lodges, and after an appetizing supper the famous Masonic Quartette, under direction of Bro. Stephenson, rendered a lively and enjoyable program.

Toasts, speeches and votes of thanks were given by various gentlemen present, and the singing of Old Lang Syne and the National Anthem brought the happy evening to a close.

CO-OPERATION

—That is the spirit of true success — and in order to attain this end the young people of three Lachute churches—Anglican, Presbyterian and United — are holding a joint entertainment in the Lachute Auditorium, Friday May 22nd. See announcement in "local" column.

Reserve the day, May 22nd., for the three one-act plays to be staged by the young people of the Anglican, Presbyterian and United Churches in Lachute. These presentations are of a humorous nature, and they promise an evening of rare enjoyment. Play-titles—"All Hallows' Eve", "The Dear Departed" and "Sauce for the Gossips" for an admission of only 50c.

Making History in Argenteuil

Extracted from the Files of The Watchman

50 Years Ago

May 14, 1886.

At the annual Vestry Meeting held in St. Simeon's Church on Easter Monday, the pastor, Rev. Wm. Sanders, occupied the chair. The position of the church was shown to be prosperous in all particulars. A resolution was adopted to ask the consent of the Bishop to the purchase of a site for a new parsonage near Clunie's stone house, and to proceed with the building at as early a date as convenient.

Death.—McQuat, on Wednesday, May 5th., James R., eldest son of James McQuat of "Burnside Cottage", Brownsburg, aged 26 years.

The 24th. of May will soon be here. The Town Council has voted $80. to be spent to help make it more interesting.

The Ladies of the First Presbyterian Church (Rev. Mr. Mackie's) will have a sale of useful and fancy articles and refreshments in the Victoria Hall on May 24th.

30 Years Ago

May 11, 1906.

The new train service is now in force and Lachute bids fair to get its share of visitors this summer. A number of boats and gasoline launches are on the river, the stores close two nights a week and we have good accommodation, so that altogether we may look for pleasant times.

A meeting of the Town Council took place on Wednesday, May 9th. Mayor J. E. Valois occupied the chair, and Counsellors Lyster, McGibbon, Hay, McFaul, Raymond, MacKimmie and Tessier were present.

Mr. John McGillivray was appointed as valuator.

A resolution from the Lachute Board of Trade was received, urging the town to improve its roads and sidewalks.

It was moved by Coun. Lyster that sealed tenders be called for the lighting of the town with about 200 16 candle power lights.

Mr. Matthew Scott is Ninety-Five TodayGRAND OLD MAN OF THIS TOWN AND COUNTY

Mr. Matthew Scott, an upright and well known figure in this town, receives congratulations today on the attainment of his 95th. birthday.

Life is still a pleasurable affair to Mr. Scott, who is keenly alert and in full enjoyment of his faculties. Seldom a Sunday passes but he will be found in his customary seat in the Lachute United Church.

Born in the little village of Lakefield on May 14th., 1841, Mr. Scott lived with his parents until he was 26 years of age, when he launched out on his own and purchased a farm in Cambria. He was married to Mary Anne Rogers on Feb. 28, 1867, by the Rev. Mr. McCullough, in the original Methodist Church, which was an old log building long since demolished. Here they lived for fifty-two years, afterwards moving out to Lachute, on Feb. 20, 1923.

Mr. Scott now resides with his son, Harry. He vividly refers to his life in Cambria, where he served for many years in the varied activities of church and as chairman of the School Board. One of his treasured possessions is the Fenian Raid Veteran's medal, for service in 1866. His splendid physique he attributes to true moderation and clean living. He knows only two of his school chums who are still "going strong", namely Dawson Beattie, now of Winchester, who a few months ago celebrated his 96th. birthday, and Thomas Hodge, who is 91 years old. As usual, for this anniversary he is counting on the re-union of his family, a gathering which comprises Mrs. Lusk of Luskville, Que., Mrs. T. Hurdman of Breckenridge, Miss Ida Scott of Calgary, Mrs. Richard Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scott of Lachute.

Miss Betty Clunie, nurse in training at the Montreal General Hospital, spent Sunday with her parents in town.

Mrs. Lindsay Lee, who has spent the past few months in Coaticook, Que., is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. Beers.

Misses Gabrielle and Marjette Joly returned home this evening from a pleasant motor trip to New York City.

Miss Violet Belanger, of Montreal, was the week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Belanger, in town.

Miss M. Walker returned to Harrington on Sunday last, after a pleasant visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Preston, of Montreal, and Mr. W. Preston, of England, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian Hay and Mr. Percy Richards, of Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Richards of Lakefield.

Mrs. Thos. Fraser has returned home to town after having spent the winter months with her daughter, Mrs. Gruer, in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Giles and Miss Kay Giles left on Wednesday of this week by the "Lady Rodney" for a ten-day trip to Bermuda.

On behalf of the company, T. Kerr stated that the Gatinneau had always protected St. Jerome and had not overcharged the customers. Camille de Martigny traced the history of the system in St. Jerome since 1914 and argued that the company had done much good in the city and district.

A Roy told the commission that a system similar to that in use by the company could be installed at a cost of between $118,000 and $120,000, an amount considerably less than that which the company claimed its system cost in St. Jerome. This was based upon a power plant of 2,000 horsepower.

Decision was reserved at the Province of Quebec Electricity Commission sitting, in St. Jerome Monday, to discuss renewal of contract between the town and the Gatinneau Power Company for light and power. St. Jerome was represented by Mayor E. Bertie, City Engineer A. Latour, Alderman L. Girardeau and A. Roy, an expert on electric systems. The Gatinneau Company was represented by E. Marchand, local manager of the company, T. Kerr, Camille de Martigny, J. S. Parker and Alan Deacon.

Mayor Bertie protested against the rates proposed by the company in the new contract and claimed that the city should benefit by the lowest rates in force in other cities or towns. Engineer Latour claimed that the new contract called for a fair decrease in rates for certain small consumers while there was a big increase in rates for the big consumers.

BOY SCOUTS THE WORLD OVER

Records of Scout correspondence at the International Bureau, London, show that 90 Boy Scouts of Nottingham are exchanging letters with 94 Scouts in nine foreign countries.

ANTHONY EDEN THANKS SCOUTS

Appreciation of the punctuality, zeal and intelligence of Scout messengers provided at very short notice for the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations at St. James' Palace, London, was expressed by Anthony Eden.

COULDN'T BUY, SO MADE A SCOUT UNIFORM

A complete Scout uniform made from old sugar bags dyed blue more than won the Scout Tailor's Proficiency Badge for Scout N. Spevak of the University Settlement Troop, Montreal. Inspecting Scout officials declared the suit "equal to any official uniform which less ingenious Scouts purchase."

HOLLAND TO ISSUE BOY SCOUT STAMP

A special postage stamp will be issued by the Netherlands government in 1937 to mark the holding in that country of the 5th. International Boy Scout Jamboree. Special stamps have similarly marked Scout gatherings in Siam, Roumania and Hungary, the latter in connection with the World Jamboree of 1933.

MYSCORE SCOUT LAWS DISREGARD CASTE

That the brotherhood code of the Boy Scouts of India is an active agency in breaking down caste lines is indicated in the phrasing of the 4th. Scout Law for the Scouts of Mysore: "A Scout is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout, no matter to what social class, caste, race or religion the other belongs."

1,000 ENGLISH ROVERS GATHER

An English Midland Counties Rover Scout gathering in May at Patshull Park, home of the late Earl of Dartmouth, will bring together 1,000 of these senior Scouts from Staffordshire, Shropshire, Worcestershire, Warwickshire, Leicestershire, Gloucestershire, Herefordshire, Cheshire, Derbyshire, Nottinghamshire, Oxfordshire and Wales.

Taking a Tip from the Chalk Line Brothers

George Washington Coleman and James Philatus Coleman, the brothers who lived to a ripe old age separated by a chalk line in their cabin at Baker's Gulch near Hornell, New York, were a good example in some respects.

They had evidently had some differences of opinion years ago which caused the chalk line to be drawn across their little cabin, after which, each lived his separate life on his own side of the line.

The art of agreeing to disagree agreeably is one which homes and nations could often acquire to an advantage.

Report has it that they didn't fight with words nor rend each other's flesh. Possibly George and James Coleman got their idea of separate maintenance with only a dividing line between them from the peaceful relations of Canada and the United States. Germany and France might profitably take a tip from the chalk-line brothers.

Train Boys to Raise Quality Produce

"A farmer's usefulness and his own happiness in life are dependent on the quality of his produce." So writes Joe Redfern of Settler, Alberta, in The Rotarian for May. He says further: "The most common causes of farm failure are unskilled and untimely methods of cultivation and the reproduction of nondescript livestock."

Mr. Redfern is a practical dairy farmer himself and is anxious to get this idea across to Canadian farm youth. In this connection he says: "Such organizations as the 4-H clubs of the U.S.A. and the Junior Grain and Livestock Clubs of Canada are the best mediums we have for getting this idea across to farm youths. I would like to assure all Rotarians that sponsorship of this work is distinctly worth while."

Plowman's Dawn

By Cheeta Holt Fulmer
(in Good-Housekeeping for May)

There is a glory of the day
That city dwellers cannot know,
When night, in silence, steals away,
When sunshine comes and shadows go.

The early plowman in the field
Lifts up his eyes to coming morn,
And reverently he stays his task
And watches as the day is born.

DAY-TIME AND NIGHT-TIME PETS

Two little pups in a basket
Are Ruthie's pets all day,
A box of wee yellow chickens
And some kitties plump and gay.

But when the busy sandman
Puts weights upon her eyes,
She cares not then for pups or kits,
But for her dolly's cries.

Her dolly and her Teddy Bear
She takes with her instead,
Because she must have quiet things
To share her little bed.

WHAT WAS IN THE WATERING TROUGH

Betty, Dick and Mabel were spending the week-end with Aunt Edith and Uncle Bob on the farm, and what a happy time they were having, exploring barns and sheds, mimicking the bleat of the little lambs in the sheep-pasture, crowing like Old Nick, the black rooster, and cackling like the hens.

"Just like young colts let loose for the first time", chuckled Grandfather Rayson, as he watched them scurrying from one place to the other, "and only for my old rheumatic legs I'd race around with them. The young things of today certainly do enjoy life."

As he sat in his old rustic chair on the back lawn keeping an eye on Rover—who was not used to children and seemed to think that the rushing youngsters were something that should be chased off the premises—he was surprised to hear Mabel and Betty, who had taken their shoes and stockings off and were paddling in the water trough, scream wildly and jump out. Dick, too, seemed to be standing back from the trough, as if it contained something frightful.

Putting Rover in his kennel and closing the door, Grandfather Rayson picked up his cane and started across the lawn to see what all the commotion was about; but before he reached the trough his youngest son, Hal, the children's uncle, who had also heard the scream, came running to their rescue.

As Grandfather Rayson drew near little Mabel rushed to him clasped him around the waist with her arms. "Oh, Grandfather!" she panted, her face colorless with fear, "there's a Lizzie in the watering trough, and it comed quite close to Betty's toes before we saw it."

"A Lizzie in the watering trough?" Grandfather Rayson said in amazement, as he looked down into her tearful eyes. "Tut, child, you're dreaming. I never heard of Lizzies in watering troughs before, except little Lizzies like you and Betty here." "Well, Uncle Hal said when he saw it 'Gee a Lizzie! where did it come from I wonder?'"

"It's a Lizzie, isn't it Uncle Hal?" she asked, as she and her grandfather came close to the trough. "A Lizzie!" exclaimed Uncle Hal, looking at her for a minute in surprise, then with a big laugh he said, "Why no, Chicken, it's nothing so common as a Lizzie. It's a Lacertilla. See it's coming right up the trough to this end. He lifted Mabel up so that she might see it better, but Mabel was too frightened to look. She hid her face against her uncle's shoulder and shivered.

"Why, you poor little tyke, you," said her uncle, "I do believe you are really terrified of the poor little reptile. It won't hurt you. Trot along to the house and tell Aunt Edith that I said you could have some chocolates out of the big box on the mantle, while I get a new piece of screening to put on the head of the water pipe. The old screening must have worn out. That is where this lizard came from, down the water-pipe, and if I don't hurry and fix it there may be a whole family of lizards sporting around here in the trough."

"Will you come with us, Grandad?" asked Betty, catching her grandfather by the hand. "To the house? Of course I will. Now that I know where Hal's chocolates are, I can't get there quickly enough," said the old gentleman with a merry twinkle in his eye.

"Keep some for me," Dick called back, "I am going with Uncle Hal to put the new screening on the pipe, and help him carry this lizard back to the pond where it belongs."

"Won't it bite you?" asked Betty fearfully.

"Na-h!" said Dick, scornfully, swinging the old pail 'round and 'round that Uncle Hal had put the lizard in. Dick was not afraid now that Uncle Hal was with him.

When Betty and Mabel reached the house they rushed to tell their mother all about the lizard but found that she was not in the least surprised. She drew her girlies close to her, then looked up into Grandfather Rayson's face and smiled. "History repeats itself, eh Father? It's your little grand-daughters now that are scared of a lizard in the watering trough, instead of Maud and I."

"Why, of course it does, Blossom," he said, "I had forgotten that a lizard had appeared in the watering trough years ago and frightened my own wee girls, before I thought to put a wire screen on the end of the pipe."

Next story, "Planting Trees".

Big Returns from a 50cents Investment

Rev. W. F. Hunter, Methodist minister of Waldwick, N. Y., tells how one of his parishioners, Harry Kresmeyer, gave a hobo 50c. last year which has now, in a matter of need, netted him an interest in a Canadian silver mine.

The hobo knew that when Harry did this he was splitting his last dollar. Recently the hobo, whose real name is Jack Fisher, sent Kresmeyer a money order for $300 to join him in working his silver mine near Hazelton, B.C. This generous expression of appreciation came when Kresmeyer was out of work. The Rev. Mr. Hunter and other ministers could use this incident as a concrete illustration of the text, "Cast thy bread upon the waters and it shall return to you after many days."

THE BARE FACTS

It is stated that the pastor of a colored congregation in the South so pestered his bishop with requests for help that it devolved upon the latter to write him a letter stating that in future such appeals would be completely disregarded.

Pretty soon though, another letter came from the minister. The bishop opened it. It read as follows:

"Dear Bishop:
"This here ain't no appeal...
"It's a report...
"I has no pants!"

Choirboys Allowed to Read During Sermon

During the sermon at the evening service at the Church of St. John the Baptist, in the London suburb of Kensington, the choirboys adjourn to an adjoining chapel and read.

The vicar, the Rev. Lester Pinchard, originator of the idea, stated recently: "We thought it was very trying for small boys to sit still and listen to a sermon which was above their heads. At the evening services they are naturally tired, too, and that adds to their discomfort."

"There is a good assortment of books, from Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress to tales by well known authors of boys' books. The whole thing has worked splendidly. The boys are happy and quiet, and the congregation is not disturbed."

Passenger: "What makes this train so late, porter?"

Porter: "Well, yo' see, boss, dey's a train in front da's behind an' we was behind befo' besides."

CO-OPERATION

The advantages of co-operation are so wonderful that the wonder is we do not do more of it. Probably we need inspired leaders. Co-operation in libraries is being tried out to a limited extent in Ontario. At least two groups of neighboring towns are exchanging non-fiction books for a four-month period. They are extending their library facilities without the expenditure of much money by working together. British Columbia is using a van system and is reaching the rural areas. One of the real disadvantages of rural life is the lack of libraries. Books are a part of education as much as schools and by co-operation they could be made available without a large money expenditure. Modern transportation should allow us to be neighborly with those in the next town or country.

GOOD MEALS FOR TOURISTS

Good meals are important at any time and there is something wrong when people do not enjoy their food, but they are even more important when on a holiday. Any country which wants to attract tourists should set about providing good meals. A good meal will be remembered long after scenery is forgotten. Mr. Don Fraser, M.P.P., of New Glasgow, N. S., has suggested that the government take a hand in training those who cater for tourists by providing short courses at the Agricultural Colleges. It is a sound idea. Training alone will not make a good cook but it certainly would help. Eating houses which boasted cooks with this special sign to distinguish them. A place to eat is so much a matter of chance while travelling, that one would welcome a distinguishing mark. The trouble with most small places is that they try to ape the large ones and have a large variety of foods with the result that nothing is particularly good. The most successful small eating places are those which specialize, in one or two foods and always have them on the menu. I have been told before about the tourist place that built itself up successfully on the strength of good muffins. People told their friends and they drove miles to eat the good muffins. Driving through Canada it is so seldom that one gets a really good meal that the few I have had in the last few years and the places I had them stick in my memory. Tourist business is good business but to get it and keep it we need to provide attractive meals.

A TRUE STORY

A university student tells a story about her small brother. There was an Easter show for children at the moving picture theatre, and every child who would sing or dance was presented with a bunny. The little four year old boy watched other children getting bunnies and he stood it as long as he could. Finally he got up on the stage and facing a large audience said, "I can't sing and I can't dance, but does anyone want to fight!" He got his bunny.

FEAR

We are born with just two fears — fear of a sudden loud noise and fear of falling. Any fear which we have later is a learned fear or as the psychologists say, conditioned. Experiments have been made to show a fear can be made and then unmade. Children who had no fear of a furry animal were the subject of the experiment. Each time that a furry animal came in sight, a loud gong was rung close to the child, and soon the fear of the noise was associated with the animal and the child feared the animal. This fear was unlearned by the association of something pleasant with the appearance of the animal. The child was given a meal of food it liked and the animal was brought in and kept at some distance. Gradually over a period of time the distance between the animal and the child was lessened; as the child associated the pleasant meal with the coming of the animal, it lost its fear. This experiment can be of practical use in the home. When a child has a fear, try to find the cause of the fear and then associate it with something pleasant until the fear has been overcome.

PUFFY OMELET

6 eggs
6 tablespoons milk
¾ teaspoon salt
speck of pepper

Beat the egg whites until stiff. Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon coloured, add milk, salt and pepper. Fold in the egg whites. Pour into a well-buttered frying pan and cook over a slow heat until gently browned. Put in a slow oven of 350 degrees until dry. Fold and serve. Too hot a fire will make an omelet tough.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup shortening
1 cup peanut butter
1 egg
2 teaspoons soda dissolved in 1 tablespoon cold water
3¾ cups flour

Cream shortening, peanut butter and sugar. Add beaten egg, soda and flour. Pinch off pieces the size of a walnut, press down with a fork two ways and bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes.

Married at St. Simeon's FOREMAN—FEE

The marriage of Beatrice Pamela, daughter of the Rev. Canon James E. Fee and the late Mrs. Fee, to Mr. Cuthbert George Foreman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Foreman, of Calumet, Que., took place on Saturday afternoon at St. Simeon's Church, the Rev. Winter LeCras and Rev. Kenneth N. Brunton officiating. Spring flowers were used in decoration in the church. Miss Aileen M. Fee was the bride's maid-of-honor and only attendant, and Mr. Ralph Robinson acted as best man for the bridegroom. The ushers were Messrs. Thomas Foreman, Gerald Murphy, Grant Robinson and Harry Brigid.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding gown of white bridal satin; the bodice embroidered with seed pearls, having a yoke of white tucked chiffon, and lace inserted in both back and front. The skirt was made full in the back, falling in soft folds to form the train. She wore her mother's veil of tulle illusion, gathered to form a small cap with a wreath of orange blossoms, and carried pale pink roses and sweet peas. The maid-of-honor wore a frock of pink lace with a short jacket, and a hat of hyacinth blue Milan straw trimmed at the front with a cluster of pink forget-me-nots. She wore pink slippers, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas shading from pale pink to deep mauve. Mrs. Foreman, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in black printed flat crepe, with a black straw hat, accessories to match, and a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses.

A reception followed the cere-

The Week's Fashion News

Written Specially for The Lachute Watchman
By the Montreal "FASHION SCRIBE"

Sheers are the backbone of the women's summer wardrobe... so reads a headline in a recent fashion publication, and with it we agree completely. There's nothing so smart, so cool, so fresh looking, as a well fashioned sheer dress on those days when the sidewalks sizzle. Tailored for shopping and general town wear... a little dressier for teas or club dining... with more feminine detail for informal summer dancing when you don't want to wear evening attire. Dark monotonous or dark grounds with tiny white designs are most popular. May wine, navy, brown and black are all in the running with the May wine and navy definitely in the lead. Cape sleeves are a good feature for coolness, and short sleeves as well. Jackets are often used, and we see them now in the new tunic lines which have become such important fashion.

Shirring is big news in latest reports from Paris. Used to effect the new fullness at centre front, or side, or back (Paris is promoting all three)... Seen also in blouses for fullness over the bust, or from a yoke in the back.

Faunteroy Blue is a lighter-than-navy-tone being featured at leading stores in conjunction with the movie now showing, "Little Lord Faunteroy". It is a becoming shade with a slight purplish cast, and is very good in the sheers mentioned above.

Wide brim hats are continuing to arrive, and are being worn right now in white and the new vegetable tones, including greens, yellows, reds, pinks, etc. Most often decorated with fruit, or simply a tailored ribbon in apt contrast. You'll find them decidedly flattering and an immense protection against summer suns which already are taking their complexion toll.

All ready for sea and sun?... Too early?... not a bit of it. Beach Shops are springing up in the town stores and it's a real treat just to look at them. Colour, and plenty of it, in togs

To Avoid Dying, Diet

So say the rat experimenters in Columbia and Cornell research laboratories. Columbia says to stock up well on vitality giving units. Cornell says an engine burns out quicker the more heat it has to generate, and follows the idea of the old Italian, Cornaro, who lived to be 115 and advised eating less and less—especially after 50. Much can be learned about diet, but it's not the whole story whose happy climax is "long life."

Heredity, environment, habits and mental attitudes play important parts. Much has been done to see to it that babies do not die before getting a start.

The world will watch with interest what the Cornell doctors can find out about diet with the use of $42,500 turned over to them by the Rockefeller foundation.

Peanuts have more carbohydrates than potatoes, more fat than cream, and more protein than meat.

mony at the home of the bride's father, which was decorated with flowers. Mr. Foreman and his bride left later in the day for Lac Simond, Que., the latter travelling in a three-piece suit of soft blue tweed with hat of navy blue cire, with shoes, gloves and purse to match. They will reside at Calumet.

At the banquet, Sandy inadvertently pulled out his handkerchief and a set of false teeth fell out of it.

"Don't tell me you carry a spare set of teeth, Sandy," grinned the man next to him.

G. Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Hartley, of Greenfield Park, Mr. Douglas Hartley and son Kenneth, also Miss Olive Hartley and Mr. W. Walford.

It was with deep regret that the people of this locality heard last week of the death of Mrs. Thomas Parke, who passed away at her home on Hampden Ave., N. D. G., on Saturday, May 2nd.

The remains were conveyed to Grenville by C.P.R. on Tuesday morning, and after an impressive funeral service conducted by the Rev. Fr. Brosseau they were laid to rest in the cemetery at Calumet. Mrs. Parke, whose maiden name was Ruth Sugars, was a native of Grenville and was married to Thomas Parke of Hawkesbury in 1886. They would have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on May 3rd. For a number of years after their marriage they resided in Stonefield, where Mr. Parke was employed in the store of T. Owens and Son, and where they were very popular, their home being always a center of social life in the community. Later they removed to Hawkesbury, where Mr. Parke had charge of the post office for some time, and two years ago they went to reside in Montreal. The esteem in which the deceased lady was held was manifested by the profusion of floral offerings and by the large attendance of friends from Hawkesbury, Pt. Fortune, Grenville, Cushing and Stonefield, at the funeral. Besides her husband she leaves to mourn her loss four daughters, the Misses Florence, Hilda, and Bernice Parke, also Mrs. Carroll of Ottawa, and a son, Mr. Roy Parke of Montreal.

Miss Whelehan was in Montreal last week, where she attended the funeral on Tuesday of her aunt, Mrs. Katherine Haddlesley, who died at her home on Sherbrooke St., Westmount, on May 2nd, at the advanced age of 95 years.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Katherine Dunn, was a sister of the late Mrs. Edward Whelehan, of Cushing, and was a native of Argenteuil, having been born in January 1841, on what was then designated as the 11th Range of Chatham and is now known as Pine Hill. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dunn. Later the family removed to Montreal, where the deceased was married in 1874 to the late Frank Haddlesley, who predeceased her in 1920. She enjoyed excellent health up to a few months before her death. The funeral took

LINING UP THE DETAILS, LACHUTE SPRING FAIR

Generous rainfall in the month of May has inspired confidence in Lachute Fair directors that fine weather will prevail for the exhibition dates, June 17-20. This will be an admirable occasion for home-boasting citizens to invite their friends to town.

The high standard established by exhibitors will prove a drawing card this year to enthusiasts of fine stock, while entertainment will feature the variety to satisfy all tastes. The Fred W. Simms midway has been booked to fill the bill of standing attractions. An interesting line of vaudeville is in view for engagement by the entertainment committee, and a full entry list is anticipated for the livestock and poultry buildings. Catering in the dining and refreshment rooms will be handled by Lachute Women's Institute. Altogether the 1936 Spring Fair should be a really attractive event. — Boost the show, and do your share to make it a success.

S. S. SEASONAL CONVENTION HELD FOR COUNTY

St. Andrews — The County S. S. Convention for this season was held here in the Presbyterian Church recently, and there was a good attendance of ministers and delegates. A very interesting talk was given by the C. G. I. T. leader, Miss Yoemans, along with an exhibit of her work. There were discussions, and a dainty tea was served at the close of the afternoon session. At the evening meeting an interesting address was given by Mr. Forsythe.

Set Closing Event for Carpet Bowlers

The concluding game of the carpet bowling schedule was played at the Presbyterian Church hall on the 8th. inst., in which the home teams were winners — the result, however, making no change in the standing, which leaves Lachute United players to the fore in the season's play. Teams and scores on this occasion were:

Miss A. Paulsen	Mrs. A. Cowan
Miss G. Rosser	A. Walker

The closing night of the 1935-6 season will be observed on Tuesday, May 26th., when members of all the participating teams will be guests of I.O.O.F. at McArthur's Hall. The championship trophy will then be presented to the United bowlers. An orchestra will be in attendance and a dance will conclude the splendid social atmosphere of relationships between the various teams.

The latter part of the week will see him conducting a

TUGS AID NAVIGATION THROUGH SWIFT RAPIDS

OTTAWA RIVER HIGHEST SINCE YEAR 1909

(By Our Cushing W. Correspondent)

Cushing West — The water in the Ottawa reached its highest level during the past week since the "high water" of 1909. The river road at Greece's Pt. is submerged to a depth of several feet in places. Carillon dam was the Mecca of a crowd of sightseers on Sunday, and is indeed a spectacle worth witnessing. The river-boats, too, have great difficulty in ascending the Chute-à-Blondeau rapids and in most cases have to call for assistance from the tugs, which are standing by for the purpose.

NO CANINES MAY BE IMPORTED TO P. E. I.

The importation of dogs into Prince Edward Island is prohibited until January 1 next, the embargo being due to the fear of distemper spreading from any infected dogs among the fox farms. The same embargo was in effect last summer, but this year the prohibition has been made earlier in the season. Special instructions have been issued to 100 baggage agents of the Canadian National Railways that dogs must not be checked to points in Prince Edward Island in line with embargo regulations.

District Communities Well Represented at W. M. S. Sectional Meeting

MISSIONARY TO CHINA WAS AMONG SPEAKERS AT LACHUTE UNITED

The W. M. S. sectional meeting for the Ottawa Valley was held in the Lachute United Church on Friday last.

Delegates from St. Andrews, Cushing, Brownsburg, East Settlement, Ste. Therese, and St. Eustache were present besides several members of the Montreal Presbytery. Mrs. R. Bradford, Sectional President, was in the chair.

The morning devotional exercises were conducted by the East Settlement Auxiliary, and the afternoon worship service by ladies from Ste. Therese.

Mrs. Walter Scott, Presbyterial President, introduced the visitors from Montreal, Mrs. Gordon Miller, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Bruce Johnson, Mrs. Patton, Mrs. Granger, Mrs. Astbury, Miss Mary Thompson, also Miss Lois Russel of West China and Miss Myrtle McGregor of Prince Rupert.

Miss Russel spoke of her work in the girls' schools in Chengtu and told about the large number of girls who belonged to C.G.I.T. groups in spite of much persecution. She said that if the Chinese government forbid the teaching of the Bible in the schools, the missionaries would still have this channel open for instruction. She also stated that one of their most serious difficulties was race hatred.

Mrs. Granger gave some very interesting statistics about the sale of liquor, and Mrs. McLean, of Cushing, stressed the need of temperance education for our young people.

series of three conferences, dealing with different aspects of Sunday School work, for the teachers in the neighborhood of Lachute. The first of these is at Morin Heights on Wednesday, then at Grenville on Thursday, concluding at Lachute on Friday.

RIVERSIDE GARDENS ARE UNDER WATER

St. Andrews E. — The backwater from the Ottawa has caused the North River here to be higher than for years, at this season of the year, and several gardens along the riverfront are flooded.

ANNUAL CEREMONY OF PLANTING MAPLE TREE

Brownsburg — The local branch of the Women's Institute held the annual ceremony here, on Friday evening last, of planting a maple tree in the Consolidated School grounds. The occasion opened with the singing of O Canada, after which the first sod was placed by Mrs. Lemuel Wilson, the local President, assisted by Mrs. Smillie, Secretary, and other members of the Institute. Appropriate messages were given by the Rev. A. E. Hagar, Mr. Stanforth, principal of the school, and Mr. Albert Dixon, chairman of the school board — all stressing the significance of this event and paying tribute to the splendid work upheld by the Women's Institute in their community.

MONTREAL-M. LAURIER TO BE FIRST CLASS ROUTE

Hon. Pierre E. Côté, Provincial Minister of Roads, has revealed plans of his department to convert the existing Montreal-Mont Laurier route into a first-class highway, widening the dangerous curves, cutting down hills and replacing narrow bridges. The dangers of this road are well known to motorists in the Laurentian area, but the intention of the department is rather to create an adequate commercial route from the metropolis into the Abitibi mining section of Quebec.

The Mont Laurier-Senneterre section will be of gravel. Of this distance, 150 miles is already well under construction, and completion of the 400-mile through-thoroughfare, which will be achieved within the next three years, will give direct access to Abitibi, securing for Montreal much of the commerce which now goes to Toronto via Ottawa and North Bay. The two hundred miles from Mont Laurier to Senneterre leads through areas of virgin forest.

Steps to Amend British North America Act. Social Credit Members to the Fore... Lively Discussion Promised Later

"THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, May 19th. — As soon as the budget debate was over, the government proceeded with its address to His Majesty the King asking for an amendment to the British North America Act. The purpose of the amendment, briefly stated, is as follows:

(a) to make it legal for provinces to collect certain types of indirect taxation;

(b) To provide for machinery for a loan council, under which those provinces desiring it may secure a federal guarantee for their loans and re-funding issues.

An unsuccessful attempt was made by J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, to obtain from the government a statement of its policy in regard to the European situation. That is, to Empire defence, to the League of Nations, to sanctions, to the Italo-Ethiopian situation, and

NIGHT INTRUDER IN WEST END HOME

At the early hour of 1.30 Tuesday morning, a Lachute Mills resident had the experience of facing an intruder in his home. Mr. Henri Daoust had left his back door unlocked, (and he gives the information as a warning to other householders, whose doors left unfastened may offer an invitation to prowlers). He was aroused from bed by his wife who had heard footsteps below. Going to the head of the staircase, Mr. Daoust called to his wife for a gun; at this stage he heard a shout, "Don't shoot!" — and a man made a hasty exit through the door, colliding with kitchen furniture as he went out. He was seen by neighbors hurrying away from the scene.

LUMBER COMPANY LOST SUIT, GATINEAU POWER

In Superior Court at Hull last Thursday, Mr. Justice Gibson dismissed suit against the Gatineau Power Company for $83,049 damages allegedly caused to logs owned by Gillies Brothers, Ltd., in passing through the power company's dam on the Ottawa River.

The court found the Gatineau Company could not be held responsible for the splitting up on rocks of logs which had passed through sluices of the dam in their 1933 drive down the river.

Intended for passage through a specially-constructed slide, a large percentage of the 185,000 pieces were assertedly carried out of their course by drift and went through the sluiceways instead, plunging down a 50-foot drop to rocks below.

Gillies Brothers contended the power company was obliged to see to safe passage of the

Mrs. J. C. McQuat Died at St. Andrews East

Agnes J. MacAdam, widow of J. C. McQuat, died Thursday morning, May 14th., in her 76th. year, at her late residence, St. Andrews East. Surviving are three children, L. C. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon from the late residence.

SAYS KING WILL ATTEND VIMY RIDGE UNVEILING

MAY GREET FELLOW EX-SERVICE MEN

A Paris news agency claims it is authoritatively informed that King Edward will go to France on July 26 to attend the unveiling at Vimy of the giant memorial to Canada's war dead. The occasion is regarded in Paris as a significant gesture of Anglo-French friendship.

No official announcement, however, has yet been made.

The King's presence would give him an opportunity of greeting nearly 10,000 of his Canadian subjects, and many of the soldiers with whom he served in France.

MONTREAL SHOCKED, DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

Fifty years ago it appears that Montreal could challenge the supremacy of Chicago for unblushing banditry. An ancient copy of the The Watchman throws light on a daring robbery, which contrasts queerly with modern hold-ups in which walking armories loot untold thousands (fully insured) from our Canadian banks.

"For pure gall," says The Watchman of May 21, 1886, "the thieves of Montreal are unmatched on this continent. The other evening a rough-looking character walked in through the open door of a Mrs. Henault's house on St. Joseph Street, passed through the room in which she sat, into the back yard, stripped the clothesline and coolly walked out again by the same way with his plunder."

ENTHUSIASTIC ATTENDANCE AT GATHERING IN LACHUTE

The sixteenth Annual Convention of the Women's Institutes of Argenteuil County, was held in Lachute Consolidated School on Saturday, May 16th., with an attendance of 104, nine of whom were visitors. The County President, Mrs. G. F. W. Kuhring, occupied the chair.

The convention opened by singing "O Canada", with Mrs. H. R. Ardill at the piano, followed by the Club Woman's Creed.

Mr. Geo. Y. Deacon, a member of the school board, in the absence of Mayor Mason, welcomed the Convention to Lachute. The Women's Institutes were doing good work, he affirmed, and every community was the better for having a Women's Institute in its midst. On behalf of the Women's Institutes Mrs. A. Graham of Cushing thanked Mr. Deacon for his kind welcome.

Mrs. Ardill, County Secretary, in presenting the report for the past year, stated there had been a membership of 230, which was an increase over the previous year; that three life-memberships had been given in the County; also that Miss H. McCain would not be present at the convention owing to ill health. Regret was conveyed in a letter from the Convention, to be sent to Miss McCain.

The President, in tribute to her Secretary, said that all the work had been covered by her in a wonderful way. Among communications received during the year was one of thanks

Friends Do Spring Planting

The spring planting on Walter Warbitton's farm, near Huntingdon, Tenn., was a one day job. Warbitton was sick and in a hospital, so 46 friends using 64 horses and mules, did the ploughing and planting for him.

BUILDERS ARE ACTIVE IN BOTH PARISHES

The Church of St. Julien building, familiar to west-enders of Lachute, has been demolished to make way for the new edifice, which it is rumored will reach a cost of around $100,000 when completed. The parishioners meanwhile are holding their devotions in the mill premises of Ayers Limited. The old church was torn down under supervision of P. Masson, local contractor.

Excavating for the new Ste. Anastasie Catholic Church building has been in progress this week and red granite has been drawn from St. Canut to this site, where Alcidas Laurin and his men are busily occupied, hoping to complete their work before the winter months. Here the new church, in Don-Belo architectural style, will occupy a space 137½ ft x 62 ft, facing on Bethany and backing on the burial ground. The original building will remain intact until the new structure is completed, and services will continue there as usual. It is believed that, complete with interior furnishings, this church will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000.

COMMERCIAL ARTIST IS STUDY GROUP SPEAKER

A wide topic, outlined with clarity and interest, was heard Tuesday evening at the High School by Lachute W. I. Study Group — Mr. C. Brownlee of Morin Heights speaking on the craft of illustrating magazines and newspapers, by methods known to the trade as processing.

Mr. Brownlee visualized the cave man recording his impression of a dinosaur in crude drawings; for art, in some form or other, was an adjunct to man's very existence. The earliest known engraving of woodcuts dated from illustration of the Buddhist scriptures in the year 828. The speaker mentioned exponents of this art through literary classics of the centuries—in brief, a history of the development of press illustrating.

The photo-mechanical methods of modern illustrating made an absorbing study. Mr. Brownlee outlined the procedure of photographing, chemical sensitizing, toning by Ben-Day screens (an invention of Benjamin Day), and the final electro-depositing of zinc or copper on plates to be mounted for the printing press. The color-filtering idea was shown by proofs of different color impressions which made up a complete picture; analysing an artist's work by the photographic filter, it was re-assembled in its true color, through fine craftsmanship in the production of separate plates.

Mr. Brownlee was introduced to the audience by Mr. Clifton Hall. Members of Grade IX and guests of the Study Group shared the unusual interest of this address, and hearty thanks were given to the speaker at the close. The meeting was under the convensorship of Mrs. H. M. Gall.

Lets Students Go Fishing

Superintendent P. M. Vincent, himself an angler, ruled that all his High School students at Stevens Point, Wis., who wanted to go fishing would be excused on the opening day of the season if they had written permission from their parents. There were 1,175 students — and there were 991 excuses.

could have been. Mr. Mackenzie King did promise, however, that when the government considered it seemly and opportune, the subject would be given adequate treatment in the House of Commons. This will probably be on the estimates of the External Affairs department. Whether the government's disclosure will come early or late will depend on developments in Europe. No one can ever charge the present minister with reckless or foolhardy action, and the statement as to our position is not to be looked for until the time is deemed right.

The first comprehensive reply to Social Credit contentions to come from Liberal ranks during the present session was delivered during the budget debate by R. J. Deachman, publisher and economist, and member for North Huron. There was a preponderance of Social Credit speakers on the budget, and although several Liberals had previously spoken, none of them dealt with the arguments of the new group. Nor in earlier debates have the Liberals answered the Social Credit challenge. While to some extent this may have been due to a feeling that it is good tactics to ignore the addresses of one's opponents, I suspect that some of it was due to lack of familiarity with the philosophy preached by Mr. Blackmore and his colleagues, and even in some instances to a feeling that it was dangerous to attack such a powerful new movement.

MR. DEACHMAN'S ARGUMENTS

However that may be, the Liberal member for North Huron dealt with some of the leading doctrines of the newest group. He took Mr. Blackmore to task for asking government help for the sugar beet industry, which, he claimed, meant higher prices for sugar, when one of the points made by the Social Credit leader was that prices should fall as man's inventive genius made cheaper production possible. He assailed the familiar contention that production exceeds consumption, and that a national dividend should be paid to distribute the surplus. He argued that while in some years, usually prosperous ones, production did somewhat exceed consumption, in such years as the last four or five the reverse was true, and consumption exceeded production, reducing surplus stocks. In that event, he claimed, the national dividend would have to be reversed, and paid by the people to the government.

Mr. Deachman agreed that there was a cultural inheritance. But to a large extent this was being distributed now, he said, in the cheaper prices for things. A modern newspaper a few hundred years ago could not have been bought for a prince's fortune: to-day a poor man could buy it for two or three cents. He also attacked the Douglas theory that in the production of, say, a book, insufficient buying power was produced to enable it to be bought by someone.

The Social Credit members were not slow in replying to this challenge and a lively time is promised later. W. F. Kuhl, Social Credit member for Jasper-Edson, told the member for Huron North: "If he has a chip on each shoulder I am going to knock both of them off."

Miss McGregor gave a very interesting account of her work in Prince Rupert. She spoke of the friendly feeling which exists among the different races there, and of the beautiful co-operation of the churches with each other in their different organizations. She said that everyone should take a share in Christianizing the West, and ended her talk with the quotation,

"For so the whole round earth is every way bound by gold chains about the feet of God."

Mrs. John Hay, in a beautiful memorial service, paid loving and reverent tribute to those who had been promoted to higher service during the last year.

Mrs. Usher, of Cushing, spoke on "Prayer and its value in our missionary work." She said prayer could do so much for us, that all our great successes have come through prayer, and that missionaries often experience a wonderful sense of peace and courage in time of danger on account of our earnest, sincere prayers.

Mrs. Astbury gave a talk on Christian Stewardship and Finance, and said that a stewardship is something that has been given to us for a period, for which we are responsible, whether it is time, talents or money. She stated that the Christian faith was founded on giving, just as our Lord's life was one of giving, and she discussed the difference between raising and giving money. She asked her listeners to guard against the method of giving and expecting something in return, as is the case when we raise money through teas, sales, etc.

Mrs. Patton gave a very interesting account of Dr. Kag-awa's recent visit in Montreal, and said that he comes as a challenge to us. He takes Christ seriously and gives not only his money, but himself, down in the slums.

Mrs. C. Duncan, Miss Eira Roberts, and Miss Janet McQuat each contributed a vocal solo during the conference, these being very much appreciated by the audience.

Mrs. Lilly of St. Andrews gave a few closing words in appreciation of the speakers for their splendid addresses. Mrs. Judd of Ste. Therese and Mrs. Jzard of Brownsburg also took part in the programme. Miss Miller of Ste. Therese invited the sectional groups to hold their 1937 meeting at Ste. Therese.

Luncheon and afternoon tea was served to the delegates and visitors by the members of the Lachute Auxiliary.

Following is the text of the address given by Mrs. S. Granger, Presbyterian Temperance Secretary:

"Madam President and Ladies:

I was so pleased when I heard we were coming to your conference, for having been out before, I knew a pleasant day was in store for us.

I would like to give you some statistics showing how the brewers are making millions at the expense of the people. They spent $60,000 on advertising, and promotion of sales, urging young and old to drink, in 1935.

The Board of Trade gave me a list of basic industries, such as flour milling, meat, women's clothing etc., and I found that the brewers use much less material, but they make, on an average, twice the profit, they also employ 1/4 as many people.

In the fourteen years since the Liquor Commission started, they have paid the Government over $112 millions and have kept over $245 millions. They only pay 5% on beer and do not report retail sales at all. Salaries of the Commission are $15,000 for the President and $10,000 for each of the five others.

If we could estimate the tremendous loss of business, the cost of law enforcement, asylums, accidents, we would find that the national liquor forces are largely responsible for the depression.

The President of the Central Y.M.C.A. told me that 90% of men coming there for relief are drinking, also the case, at the old Brewery Mission as well as in St. Columba Mission district, our United Church "hast" which means that our taxes for relief are going largely into the brewer's pockets. They have taverns and hotels on every corner to tempt the poor souls who are out of work.

Let us boycott the brewers, and will you each one write to Premier Taschereau, protesting against advertising promotion, and the numerous taverns and permits. Do you know how many permits you have in Lachute? You have 12.

Let us all stand united against this dreadful traffic and be leaders in this Crusade for Temperance, and last, but not least of all, let us pray for temperance for with God all things are possible."

Russ Gerow Honors Canadian Famous Five

A musical "Silly Symphony" will be played especially in honour of the Misses Dionne from London, Ontario, tomorrow at 7.00 p.m. EST, when Russ Gerow and the "London Revue" salute the Callander beauties. The program will be offered as a birthday party, and Russ will repeat "Koming of the Kwintuplets to Kallander" which scored a hit on his program last spring. "London Revue" will also feature "Quintuplets' Lullaby" written by the well known Canadian song writer, Gordon V. Thompson. The Rhythm Aces will make their gesture with "I'm Gonna Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter" and Larry Wight will serenade the young ladies with "A Melody from the Sky." "Ginger Snaps" as a banjo solo with Horne Hitchens, should please them, and Mickey Francis expects to raise five laughs with his monologue "Custard and Plums." The festivities will conclude with Russ Gerow's own arrangement of "The Bouncing Ball."

Protest Priming of Sheep

Use of cosmetics to prime and beautify livestock at the Western Fair has brought a protest from sheep men, states a London (Ont.) despatch. Colored powder and oils have been used to shade the wool and give the prima donna ewe or supercilious ram a uniformity of color throughout the body. One of the sheep associations in a letter to the board claims it "isn't fair."

HUDSON

AGAINST ANY OTHER EIGHT IN YOUR OWN DRIVING TEST"

This isn't a "chip-on-the-shoulder" challenge, but a friendly invitation. Make this test with a Hudson ... over any route you pick. Make it with any other Eight, regardless of price. And let the best car win!

LOOK!—Let the style of this 1936 Hudson speak for itself.

STRETCH!—You'll have to go $240 above Hudson's price to equal a Hudson in size (wheelbases up to 127 in.) and all-around roominess.

STEER!—Something brand new here ... Tru-Line Steering and Radial Safety Control—patent applied for. Both exclusive on Hudson.

RIDE!—Pick a rough road, and see what smooth going really is. We'll back Hudson's Rhythmic Ride against the ride in any other Eight.

GO!—World's greatest stock car performance. Records prove it. You can't match Hudson's power for nearly double Hudson's price ... or Hudson smoothness at any price.

STOP!—World's safest stopping ... with Hudson's Duo-Automatic Hydraulic Brakes—patent applied for. No other Eight gives you finest hydraulics with a separate safety braking system operating from the same brake pedal if ever needed. And a third braking system from the easy handling parking brake.

CHECK ECONOMY!—See how much you save in a Hudson ... the car that beat all other Eights in the Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run, averaging 22.54 miles per gallon—with no coasting.

CHECK SAFETY!—No other Eight with in $140 of Hudson's price gives you a body all of steel, with solid, seamless steel roof; you can pay $2000 more and not get it.

CHECK LONG LIFE!—We'll show you totals of 150,000, 200,000 miles and up from owner records. Ask other Eights to match them!

Why are we so sure? Because we know how this Hudson is built and what it can do. But don't take our word for it. Come in today for a "Discovery Drive." Judge Hudson by your own test, on any route, against any other Eight.

CANADA—A GOOD PLACE TO STAY

Some people like other places better than they do Canada. But there must be a great many folks here like Stephen Leacock. Having lived here sixty of his sixty-six years, he publicly declined an invitation to return "home" to England. His reasons were set forth in an interesting article in "This Week" published by the New York Herald Tribune.

In the article he recalls the early days with dinky engines spitting hemlock sparks and of a thirty-mile ride in a lumber wagon from the station. He likes the lack of "class" here. The fact that a fishing party made up of a taxi driver, a surgeon, and a man of means can be a very enjoyable one, appeals to him. He likes living near the United States whose colleges and service clubs are like ours. He says that the Americans admire us for the fact that we actually hang our deserving criminals. He says we experience a thrill as an American says: "The proposal is to dam up the Arkansas River and make it run backwards over the Rockies."

He speaks of Canada as a huge canvas on which mines and farms and towns have been filled in by the artist-inhabitants largely within his life-time. He tells of the members of his family who got the call of the West in their blood. The still vast primeval wilderness appeals to him. He even likes our great blizzards with the contrasting thrill of the sense of man-made safety, concluding, "We are sitting pretty here in Canada. East and West are the two oceans far away; we are backed up against the ice cap of the pole; our feet rest on the fender of the American border, warm with a hundred years of friendship. The noise and tumult of Europe we scarcely hear. Our lot lies elsewhere; shoveling up mountains, floating in the sky to look for gold, and finding still the Star of Empire in the West."

There must be a lot of folks who think that Canada is a good place to stay, and would like to say so as well as Leacock; otherwise we would be facing a decreasing population rate.

DICTATORS OF TODAY AND TOMORROW

Dictators do not last. "A successful dictator lasts only till he has served his historical purpose," says John Gunther, authority on European politics, in June Cosmopolitan.

Citing Mussolini with his ambition to expand Italy into a new Mediterranean empire, Mr. Gunther says:

"If a dictator crashes before his job is done, history calls him an upstart and a failure. Sooner or later, dictators are caught in a vicious circle, because people—over a long period—can no more be stopped from thinking than they can be stopped from breathing."

The successful dictator of the future, he predicts, will be a democrat, and work for the mass of his subjects.

"This—each in his different way—is what Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin try to do," he goes on. "The day of lonely potentates is over. The modern dictator is a man of the masses, and a product of mass forces."

"The intelligent dictator of the future will seek not to impose his will on the masses, but to adjust his conduct to what the masses want. He must make himself powerful, and popular, in his own state. He must combine national prestige with considerations of international peace. A dictator of the people is not beyond the bounds of possibility. There is no reason to assume that dictatorship is an evil in itself. It all depends on the dictator."

THE SALVAGE OF QUETTA

Salvage activities by the Baluchistan government have resulted in the exhumation of 8,078 Indians who were buried alive in the recent earthquake at Quetta, which claimed more than 20,000 lives.

During the activities 12,607 houses, shops and other property were recovered, worth $2,500,000.

Plans have been drawn up for an entirely new city on the site of the old capital. Nobody will be allowed to build unless plans are first certified by the government as "earthquake-proof."

LONDON LORD MAYOR WILL ATTEND VANCOUVER JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS

Definite acceptance of an invitation to attend Vancouver's Golden Jubilee celebrations has been received by Mayor G. G. McGeer, from the Lord Mayor of London. Communication was received by cablegram. The Lord Mayor will be accompanied by the Lady Mayoress, two sheriffs, the sword and mace bearers, and servants. Mr. McGeer expressed great pleasure at the Lord Mayor's acceptance and declared Vancouver would be greatly honored. It would be, he thought, the first occasion on which the Lord Mayor of London had ever left England on an official visit during his term of office.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE KILLS BILL TO BAN ONE-MAN CARS

The Ontario Legislature last month considered a bill sponsored by T. A. Murphy (Cons., Toronto-Beaches) designed to bar the use of one-man street cars.

If the bill went through it would mean an increase of more than $500,000 in operating costs of the Toronto Transportation Commission, said Ian Strachan (Liberal, Toronto - St. George), Windsor and Hamilton railways, for instance, neither of which was paying its way, would be affected by the measure.

Welfare Minister Croll said he would offer two amendments if the bill reached the committee stage. One would have it apply only to cities of 200,000 or more population. The other would require approval of the bar by City Council.

Without division, the one-man car bill was defeated.

A.Y.P.A. Local Council Met at Grenville

Grenville — The first regular meeting of the Local Council of the Anglican Young People's Association, St. Andrews Deanery, was held on Monday last in the Mission Room, Grenville. About 20 delegates were present, representing branches at Arundel, Calumet, Lachute and St. Amedee.

The President, Mr. R. Sancton of the Arundel branch, called the meeting to order, and prayers were read by the Chaplain, Rev. W. LeCras. Mr. Sancton then addressed the Council, describing the functions of a Local Council and mentioning the things he hoped to see accomplished. Various items of business were transacted. The President then called for reports from the various branches recounting the season's work.

These were given by Miss J. Valpy for Lachute, Mr. A. Comba for Calumet, and Mr. M. Cochrane for St. Amedee. Owing to the absence of the Branch President, no report was received from Arundel. Mr. Sancton then called for a discussion of the general work of the A. Y. P. A. and of any ideas that might be offered. In the discussion that followed stress was laid upon the value of the A. Y. P. A. as a definite part of the church, and of the help it could render to the church. One speaker remarked how the conduct of the Worship Period had won the admiration of members of other societies.

Following this discussion several important matters of business were settled. Among these was a decision to hold a Rally on June 5, the Calumet branch being the hosts. A pleasant social period then followed, while refreshments were served by the ladies present.

Although this was the first regular meeting of the Council one could not help being struck by the efficient way in which it was led by the President, by the high standard of the speeches made, and the ability and freedom of the speakers. The branch reports indicated both enthusiasm and careful planning. The meeting was a great success and all realized the value and helpfulness of a Local Council. The prospects for its future seem very bright.

Brownsburg readers are reminded of the Spring Opening Sale at Salomon Malack's, offering reductions in all lines and attractive seasonal stock.

Prince Rupert, B. C. Loses Only Horse

Prince Rupert is no longer a "one horse town". In fact, this is a "no horse town", since Lottie doesn't live here any more. Lottie was the last equine left in Prince Rupert. She was a familiar figure for years on local streets, as she trudged along with Valentin's milk delivery. However, the years have been creeping up on good old Lottie, so she was placed aboard a Canadian National train and shipped to Woodcock, where she will spend her declining days doing odd jobs on W. C. Little's farm. Johnny Walker, Prince Rupert's only horseshoer, says he is going out of that kind of business and will have to apply himself to the more up-to-date forms of blacksmithing.

"I don't see why we must ask permission of England to come and die here—do you?"

"Minnie Breezer", Comedy Given at Brownsburg

Brownsburg — On Thursday evening, May 14th., a group of young United Church entertainers put on a play entitled "Minnie Breezer", a comedy in two acts by Reby Edmond, and which proved in the highest sense both amusing and entertaining. The cast was well chosen, and with Wallace Wilson as director, and Cedric Wheeler, Mrs. Grace Stewart, Jack Stewart, Winnifred White, Mildred MacAllister, (as Minnie), Violet Hewitt and Wyman Hazel as characters, the audience was assured of a delightful evening.

The play was of a different type from the dramatic interpretations previously staged by the young people of this congregation, requiring different analysis and character portrayal, but the acting was remarkably well done. The audience received a real treat from beginning to end of the performance.

Frank Steere, with Gordon Anderson at the piano, gave two vocal numbers which were much appreciated. The attendance was better than on similar occasions held here recently. Proceeds were devoted toward the church funds.

timber through its dam at Calumet Falls so that the annual drive of logs would enjoy the same ease of movement as before construction of the dam.

In addition to this invocation of the general law, it was also contended that the Gatineau company undertook contractually in 1923, along with its hydro-electric development, to ensure passage of timber with "ease and despatch", and it was urged men should have been employed to direct the logs through the proper channels.

Of the first contention under the general law, that riparian owners of timber rights higher up stream have the right to pass their wood downstream without being obstructed by dams, Mr. Justice Gibson observed that the Gatineau company did not contest this right. The power company admitted existence of the right, but urged that its corresponding duty had been fulfilled by providing the slide as a facility to pass the dam, and it was not bound to provide labor for the dam part of the drive for the owner of the logs.

The second contention, that the power company undertook by agreement in 1923 to take charge and control of all logs as they reached the dam head and pass them through without delay or damage, at the cost of the Gatineau company, Mr. Justice Gibson also considered unfounded.

Sole effect of the agreement, said the court, was that the whole conduct of the drive through the dam should be done by the driving company, exclusively, at its own expense, the only obligation imposed upon the Gatineau company being that of a passive character, namely, the provision of a slide.

Ever remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cleland.

Not that which goes into the mouth desecrates a man, but that which comes out of it, such as sarcasms, bitter jests, mocks and taunts, and ill-natured observations.

THAT FIXED IT.

Constable (to motorist): "Excuse me sir, but your lights are out."

Motorist: "Oh, thanks, but it doesn't really matter."
"Yes, it does. By the way, have you got your driving licence?"

"Driving licence? Never had one."

"Is that so? And what about your insurance?"

"I never carry that. That's not of much use."

"All right.—That makes three charges."

At this point the motorist's wife leaned across and said, sweetly: "Don't pay too much attention to what he says, constable; he's always like that when he's drunk."

Siam's Idols and Temples
Nothing, it seems, was spared when Siam set out to build idols and temples. The ideas were lavish; so were the results. Outstanding is the Wat Arun, but such idols as adorn the entrance to the Royal Imperial castle are typical of the work which the Siamese undertook to express themselves. Gorgeous coloring and exquisite carving are the chief characteristics.

Anchor Ice
Since water expands on freezing, ice is lighter than water and therefore forms on the surface and floats. Anchor ice, however, is sometimes found at the bottom of the river. It consists of an aggregation of small crystals or needles of ice frozen at the surface of rapid open water and probably carried below by the force of the stream.

CONSTIPATION* MAY LOWER RESISTANCE TO GERMS

Can Be Corrected by Natural Laxative Food

Common constipation is due largely to insufficient "bulk" in meals. It is a condition that should never be treated casually.

Long neglected, it may contribute to a general run-down condition. Your body lacks the strength it needs to fight off infection. You are much more likely to pick up a serious illness.

Guard against common constipation. Make sure the meals you eat contain plenty of "bulk." Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a generous source of effective "bulk."

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, and gently cleanses the system. This delicious cereal also furnishes vitamin B and contains iron.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN oftener. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN in some form each day, either as a cereal, or cooked into muffins, breads, etc. Eat it regularly for regular habits.

Guaranteed by the Kellogg Company. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Agriculture Theme of Branch W.I. Meetings

Brownburg Branch held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Fletcher with sixteen regular members and three new members present. Mrs. Fletcher gave an interesting paper on Agriculture. This Branch planted a tree on the Brownburg School grounds on May 15.

Frontier held a most interesting Agricultural meeting, papers being read on "Planting Trees," "The history and proper ways of growing Alfalfa," and "Floral Emblems of the different sections" — particularly stressing the newest ones, Manitoba, Alberta, Ontario and Nova Scotia — by Mrs. J. Murdoch, A. Graham and T. Murdoch. Great interest was taken in the slip and seed exchange, also in the Vegetable Contest, "The Gardener's Love Letter," Mrs. L. Gaston, Mrs. T. Murdoch, and Mrs. A. Graham being tied as winners. This Branch also donated a spray of flowers for the coffin of one of its members who passed away recently.

Jerusalem - Bethany heard a paper on "The Home Garden" by Mrs. Simon Wilson, and answered their roll call with Garden Hints. Members also exchanged seeds and plants.

Lakefield also stressed Agriculture at their meeting, a paper on the "Raising and Care of Tomatoes" being given by the president, Mrs. W. Shear-smith. They also had a discussion on Garden Pests and how to destroy them. The Branch sent a basket of fruit to a sick member and arranged to hold a dance in Ralph's Hall in May, also to give prizes to two local school children.

Lachute Branch heard a most interesting paper on "Canadian Birds and their Value in the Garden" by Mrs. F. S. McGibbon; also a solo by Miss Janet McQuat, "Bird Song at Eventide." Their Roll Call was the name of a Canadian bird. This branch donated twenty-five cents per member to the Provincial W. I. Jubilee Fund, and arranged to take charge of the kitchen and lunch rooms at Lachute Fair. Thirty-one members attended.

Morin Heights had an April exchange of seeds and slips, and an interesting address on "Silk and its Origin," by Mrs. W. Doherty. Various hints of interest on Spring Cleaning were given, also the report of their very successful Amateur Night. The May meeting included an address by Mrs. W. Doherty.

"The Disadvantages of Insects in the Garden," also the value of birds in a garden. There was also a discussion on the advantage of growing one's own vegetables, as well as a feather-stitching contest, the prize being won by Mrs. Gilbey. Flowers were sent to Mrs. J. D. Davis, who has been ill but is recuperating.

Pioneer Branch meeting was an Agricultural one, their roll call being "Garden Pests and how to destroy them." Mrs. J. Cowan read a very interesting paper entitled, "The Farmer is God's partner on the land." Mrs. J. McKenzie also read interesting items on Seeds and Seeding. This branch held a seed and slip exchange, and planned for a "Hard Time Social" to be held later in the month. Mrs. Parker read a very fitting poem entitled, "A New Member for the Institute."

Upper Lachute - East End held a Canadian Industries meeting. Their paper being on "Goods Manufactured in Argenteuil," facts being given on the manufacture of ammunitions, pyralin, cheese and woolen blankets. Twelve members and one guest were present.

SOMETHING TURBIBLE

Up in the hay loft dim and dark
A mother pussy lay.
With her tiny baby kitties,
Snow-white and pearly-gray.
Up in the hay loft searching
For eggs went tiny May.
She searched beneath the rafters
And tossed up piles of hay—
"Mighty-mother Pussy,
Who stretched her sharp claws out
And saw from my May's wee legs,
As she turned 'round about.
Wee May climbed down the ladder
Ran crying to the house
That something terrible was there,
A lion or a mouse!"

PLANTING A TREE

It was Arbor Day, and the children of Ashburn School were all excited. Someone of their number would be privileged to plant a tree in the hole which the janitor had made ready the night before — but who would it be?

"I'll bet it will be Josie," said Marjorie Black who admired her friend Josie very much and thought all that she did was just right — no matter if it was being saucy to the teacher. If Josie was saucy to the teacher Marjorie was certain the teacher deserved it, so blind was her faith in her friend. — Poor little Marjorie, to have such a foolish thought as that. No child, either boy or girl, should be saucy to their teacher or to persons older than themselves. There is not one person in the world but can learn just a little more, and particularly the young folks who have so many years before them in which to learn things.

But Marjorie was mistaken in thinking that Josie, who prided herself on her pert, smart ways, would be the one chosen to plant the tree. When Miss Malcolm gave out the name, the quietest, shyest little girl in the room grew white-faced, then blushed again in her excitement and embarrassment.

"Ruth Burton," Miss Malcolm said "has the highest number of conduct marks, the highest in regular attendance, and the highest in her grade. Do you not think that Ruth is the most deserving, children?"

Forgetting that they were in school the children shouted, "Hurrah for Ruth!" stamping their feet and beating the desks with their hands, until shy little Ruth wanted to get up and run away. While she was pleased to have been so deserving, she did not care for so much publicity.

Josie held her head very high and looked rather mutinous. She had been so certain that she would be chosen for the honor, but instead it had been Ruth. "That homely little mouse," she muttered under her breath. "The ideal A newcomer, too."

"Miss Malcolm," she called out quite sharply, "I don't think that is fair."
"Why not?" Miss Malcolm's tone was icy.
"Because Ruth is a newcomer. I think it should be someone who has always lived in this village, instead of a stranger."
"Ruth has been with us almost the entire term," said Miss Malcolm. "As far as being a newcomer is concerned, nine months with us makes her an old friend. Besides the decision of the school board was that the honor would go to the one winning the highest marks. Ruth has won it quite fairly, and there is nothing more to be said about the matter. Stand! Face out! Forward march!" The words came from Miss Malcolm's lips quickly and sharply. She was very much annoyed with Josie for daring to question the authority of the school board in the matter.

Once outside Josie started to walk off by herself, followed by Marjorie, Miss Malcolm called to them at once to fall in and keep step with the others until they reached the corner of the school yard, where the ceremony was to take place. Marjorie scuttled hurriedly back in line, but Josie stood defiantly where she was, and did something very naughty that even Marjorie thought it terrible—

Marjorie who adored her friend. In her anger Josie made a nasty face at Miss Malcolm.

"You are expelled from school, Josie," said Miss Malcolm, "until you come and publicly apologize—you must leave at once." A wave of "Ohs" went down the line of children. They thought it a terrible punishment not to be allowed to witness the tree planting, after thinking of practically nothing else for weeks. They realized, though, that Josie deserved to be severely punished for her naughtiness.

To be continued. Aunt Jean.

USING VACANT HOMES

When you drive through the country and see the number of houses that are vacant on farms and in small villages, it makes one wonder if it would not be wise to fill them with families who are on relief in the cities. It would cost a great deal less money as the rents would be much less. They would have a chance to do something for themselves by having a garden and the children would be in healthier surroundings. It might be hard to get city councils to pay for those who are not actually living on the city, but if they would accept that responsibility money could be saved. When there are so many farms vacant in settled territories it has always seemed to me to be a senseless thing to take settlers to new territories, which have to be opened up, during hard times. Schools, churches, roads and other things which cost money are there to be used in the older sections whereas everything has to be provided in new districts.

Galineau Power Company

It has been my feeling that women have not had enough to say about the spending of relief money. Women are accustomed to twisting and turning and getting the last value out of a cent and they do not mind the work necessary to do this. Would you find men willing to spend the long hours over fixing and making clothes for charity purposes, that women do? Not much. They would make the grand gesture and contribute money. Women contribute work and time, and give of themselves freely. Relief is housekeeping on a large scale, and what do men know about housekeeping?

SLEEP OVER IT

The person who has a problem to solve and not knowing just what to do, decides to 'sleep over it', does the wise thing. The subconscious mind, of which we know so little, seems to be able to weigh matters and to come to a decision which usually seems the best solution. So many worries solve themselves if we just wait. Even the clothes problem. One of the best-dressed women I know, says that she always shops first, tries on the clothes, makes her plans, and then goes home and sleeps over it. Her decisions are made for her and she is satisfied with the result. Occasionally someone else has bought the thing she planned to buy, but this has happened so seldom, that the satisfaction she gets out of being sure, overbalances her occasional losses. The old-fashioned idea of sleeping over it, is upheld by the new-fashioned psychologists.

JELLIED VEAL

Cover two shanks of veal with water and cook slowly until very tender. Add salt to taste and an onion during the cooking. Let cool in the water in which it was boiled. Remove the meat from the bones, taking out all fat and gristle. It may be left in small pieces or put through the grinder as desired. Put in a large mould or in individual ones. Strain the liquid and taste, adding salt and pepper if required. Pour sufficient liquid over the meat to cover. Let stand until set. There is sufficient gelatin in the bones to jell the meat. The bones and gristle may be used to make a pot of soup. Cover them with cold water, add an onion and a stalk or two of celery, and cook slowly for a couple of hours. Strain and season. This consommé is one of our favorite soups. Sometimes I add a can of mushroom soup and that makes a good combination.

PINEAPPLE SQUARES

1 lb. vanilla wafers rolled
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups fruit sugar
2 eggs
1 pint whipping cream
1 cup crushed pineapple well drained
Roll wafers. Cream butter well, and add sugar gradually. Beat eggs until light and add to butter and sugar. Line a 10 x 14 pan with waxed paper. Spread half the crumbs on pan. Spread the butter mixture over this. Whip the cream and mix with pineapple and spread this over the butter mixture. Place the remaining crumbs on top.

Chill 24 hours. Unmould, cut in squares and decorate with whipped cream and a cherry. I have not had a chance to try this recipe but am passing it along in case you want to try it for your spring parties, because two of my friends who have made it and others who have eaten it are so enthusiastic. They say it is so quickly made and can be done the day before. Serves sixteen.

Addresses Inspiring and Practical, W.I. Convention

for letters and kind attentions given her by her fellow-members, in verse form, from the late Mrs. Massiah, eulogizing in particular the Lachute Branch for their splendid meals served at Fair time.

The Convention was pleased to have personal greetings at this time from Mrs. J. Boyd, of Montreal, a former County President. The President, in greeting the members, expressed thanks to three delegations who had asked her to reconsider her resignation, and stated that she thought it was best for the organization to have a change of presidents every two years.

A delicious luncheon was served at the noon hour, at which Mrs. J. Boyd, Mrs. R. Bradley and Miss Leblanc of Ottawa were guests of honor — Mrs. J. McQuat, Mrs. J. D. Davis and Mrs. J. Gordon having been invited but being unable to accept.

A beautifully decorated fruit cake, in the form of a basket of roses, the work of Mrs. McCulloch of Brownsburg, convenor of the Refreshment Committee, occupied the centre of the head table in honor of the 25th. year of the W. I.

The afternoon session again honored the Dominion, singing "Oh Canada", with Mrs. Gilbey of Morin Heights at the piano. A letter, received by the President at this time from Mrs. J. Peck, was read aloud to the Convention. This letter stated that a telegram of regret had been received from Mrs. J. B. Peck (the former Miss Hoodlas, whose mother was, so to speak, responsible for the creation of Women's Institutes) in which Mrs. Peck said that owing to her inability to make train connections she was unable to be present as she had planned.

Interesting reports from the County Convenors and Branch Convenors were read, showing that much good work had been done in all departments of work, as well as much enjoyment being given the members through the various social activities, also much benefit through the Adult Study Groups.

The President congratulated the different convenors on their excellent reports, also made it known that the W. I. official organ, "Home and Country" had been self-supporting this past year, and that Argenteuil had been responsible for the largest amount of subscriptions. Argenteuil County she claimed, as well as having the "A" at the beginning of its name, could claim an "A" in its work as well and all members were doing their best to make this County a better place to live in. She also advised gathering our young women into the fold as members.

Mrs. King of Brownsburg, accompanied at the piano by her son Eric, sang very beautifully a favorite song of all present, "Oh Danny Boy". Mr. A.

Lloydminster Should Boom

Business in Lloydminster should boom. It is on the Alberta-Saskatchewan line and is therefore exempt from the new 2% Alberta sales tax. You are not taxed if your purchases do not exceed fifteen cents. Folks are having a lot of fun running here and there making separate purchases so as to dodge the tax.

Fassio, genial owner of the Rex Theatre, accompanied by his daughter on the piano, delighted with three beautiful violin selections. To these musicians the Convention is deeply indebted.

MISS LEBLANC—"WAYS OF COOKING FISH"

The President, introducing Miss Leblanc to the Convention, claimed her as an old friend, whom many local delegates had met at Macdonald College gatherings, who had kindly re-arranged her visiting programme so that she could be present at this time. Miss Leblanc's address was most interesting and amusing. With her bright, pleasing personality she gave her audience an hour's keen enjoyment, while she explained how they might have odorless hands and kitchens, in the cooking of fish. She said there were many arguments against fish, but having been brought up by the sea she contended that arguments against them were ill-founded. One reason for prejudice was that it was difficult to get fresh fish; also—the odor, which could be removed from the hands by washing first with very cold water then applying coarse salt, rubbing it in well, then a final wash with soap and hot water, but the soap must not be used until after the salt has been applied. Dishes touched by fish should be rinsed in a hot salt solution, then washed with hot soapy water. Odorless cooking was accomplished by cooking in waxed paper, the proper kind to use being canaper paper, which might be used repeatedly if it was carefully washed each time. These sheets of paper came ten in an envelope for a quarter, and could be used to advantage, too in cooking watery vegetables such as spinach, etc. Also, cooking after dipping the fish in salted milk was a better way to cook it than the old way—dipping each piece into the milk first then in bread crumbs, prevented it from breaking. "Cook your fish not by the old slow method", said Miss Leblanc, "but with a quick, high temperature, putting it in a hot oven on this canaper paper, first oiled or greased, and sprinkling a bit of fat or butter on top. If fish comes to you frozen do not melt it before cooking, but slice while frozen, and you will have much better success." Miss Leblanc claimed that cod fish, though much despised by some, was a good fish; codfish tongue was a real delicacy. Codfish was not only good from the health viewpoint, but would make some splendid changes for the menu. Miss Leblanc wished that "Fish Days" might be eliminated not only from our calendars but also from our language, as they too helped to make a prejudice, associating fish with penance, when it was not a penance to eat fish but a great benefit, especially now, as people did not work so hard as our pioneer forefathers who needed strong meat to sustain them. This generation, who had learned the meat-eating habit from our ancestors, would be much healthier with lighter, more digestible food, such as fish. Miss Leblanc hoped at an early date to have economical yet tasty recipes for Women's Institutes, also papers dealing with the "Fish Question" which the Institutes may have for the asking.

Mrs. J. W. Maclean of Cushing, in a few very fitting words, thanked the speaker for her interesting address. She considered that this alone was well worth coming to hear.

Flowers that Bloom in the Spring

An older gentleman of my acquaintance is very proud of his garden and his chief pride is to have flowers and vegetables earlier than his neighbors. His wife had some discarded glass tulips, so this spring, long before there was a tulip in bloom, he planted those glass flowers in the tulip bed. From the street or looking out the neighbors' windows you would have sworn that the tulips were in bloom. He has had a lot of fun over his joke. Oh, well! Men never really grow up no matter how old they are.—J.B.

Computing Meal Costs

To know accurately the cost of the different dishes they serve is a thing few women know. Compute the costs of your cooking and you will be due for some surprises. Some of the things that you have been making for years and have not felt to be extravagant, will cost you a lot more than you thought, while others that you felt bordered on the extravagant actually were less expensive. Get the children to work out the costs of some of your recipes. It will not do any harm to either their mathematics or their housekeeping. Housekeeping should be an exact science instead of the hit or miss affair it too often is. J. B.

Spring cleaning is synonymous with the "spring turnover". Chatters to the attic; new furniture in by the front door... Behind many such transactions this season is a little Watchman Want Ad. Try this method of filling your household needs and disposing of unwanted goods.

Miss Meagher to Race in Olympics, Berlin

Eileen Meagher, niece of Mrs. Jos. Berniquier of Lachute, and known in this section, will race this year in the Olympic games at Berlin. C. W. Stanley, president of Dalhousie University, has made clear his edict the University would have nothing to do with sending athletes to the Olympics, according to a press despatch from Halifax.

Mr. Stanley said the University "has no control over graduates" — which left Eileen Meagher, one of Canada's outstanding women athletes, free to compete for the Dominion, since Miss Meagher, has completed her studies at Dalhousie.

The president's edict that Dalhousie "has refused to have anything to do with the sending of athletes to games in Germany" had left Mrs. W. E. Stirling, national president of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation, somewhat perplexed.

"The announcement came as a surprise to me", said Mrs. Stirling, official chaperone for the Canadian women's Olympic team, after Mr. Stanley's convocation address.

THINK SLAIN GANGSTER WAS RING LEADER IN LACHUTE ROBBERY

TORONTO POLICE OFFICERS VISIT SCENE OF LOCAL HOLD-UP

Toronto and Montreal detectives were in Lachute last week-end immediately after the slaying of Red Ryan, paroled convict, in a Sarnia liquor store hold-up. The police were seeking to establish the gangster's connection with the Bank of Nova Scotia hold-up here in April. It is believed that Ryan and Harry Checkley, who was also killed in the Sarnia robbery, were two of the four gunmen who held up the Lachute bank.

A number of photographs were submitted to the local bank manager, Mr. G. J. Cheley, and his staff. Among the criminals three were selected whose portraits resembled the intruders as eye-witnesses recollected them from the day of the hold-up. Ryan was one of these, believed to have been the ring-leader in the Lachute robbery.

The theory that Ryan, on ticket-of-leave from Kingston penitentiary since last summer, may have been involved in robberies at Markham, Ailsa Craig and Collingwood, in Ontario, as well as the Lachute bank robbery, was being thoroughly probed. Police held the belief Ryan was the master mind of a gang that committed these robberies in Ontario recently, taking part in some of them himself.

According to latest press reports there remains no doubt, as far as investigators are concerned, that Ryan, Checkley and Finnessy, another member of the same gang, participated in the Lachute affair, and that the same stolen automobile was used in the recent Sarnia robbery.

Notes and Comment from Brownsburg

It is generally believed that the early bird catches the early worm—but there is no doubt about it, the early gardeners got their plants all frozen last week. Thousands of dollars worth of vegetable plants were burned crisp throughout the district, and the gardening season was set back at least two weeks by the destructive frost.

The long week-end saw holiday-makers enjoying the good weather, and excursion rates were availed of by many residents of this district. A record number of city folk passed through on their way to the various lakes, ushering in what promises to be a busy tourist season.

Preparations are under way to set the sports wheel awhirl and practice games are scheduled, with attendance brisk. The tennis courts are in perfect order; soft-ball votaries are preparing for the coming season, and altogether the attention now being devoted to athletic affairs promises a busy summer.

Two young Brownsburg boys, G. Vowels and G. Witham, journeyed to Montreal to take part in the Dominion and McGill Track Sports and rendered a very good account of themselves. Witham placed second in the High Jump, while Vowels, who came high in his heats, was beaten in the final of the 100 yards.

From the neck down a man is worth $2.50 a day; from the neck up—ah, that's up to you.

PAPAL HONOR FOR STE. AGATHE PRIEST

TOWN IN GALA MOOD LAST WEEK-END

Visitors to Ste. Agathe last week-end proceeded through an imposing evergreen arch, one of which was erected over the highway at each end of the town, and a profusion of flags and decorations contributed to the gala aspect of this Laurentian resort. The occasion was the 25th. anniversary of Abbe Jean Baptiste Bazinet as priest of the parish, and also the 75th. anniversary of the founding of the village. Announcement was made that Rev. Father Bazinet had been created a Roman Prelate by His Holiness the Pope; the post is signified by the title Monsignor. At the same time as this dual celebration, seven new Oblate Fathers were ordained, one of whom is a native of the town.

NEIGHBORING COUNCIL OPPOSES IMMIGRATION

The St. Jerome council has gone on record as being opposed to all immigration during the present crisis in Canada. It was the opinion of the councillors that recent immigration had brought people of all nationalities to the country and that these people have, to some extent, taken positions which Canadians could fill. The council has written to this effect to the Federal Government.

DOLLARD DAY FETE HELD AT ST. JEROME

Celebration of Dollard Day was observed Sunday afternoon by the staging of a historical pageant at St. Jerome.

The pageant portrayed scenes of the enlisting of the brave men who were to go to the Long Sault and stop the invasion of Canada by defending the fort there with their lives. The taking of the oath and the departure followed. Then came the fight at the fort and the finale. One hundred and fifty persons took part in the pageant, which was staged under supervision of Abbe Paul Labelle. The performance was well executed and was attended by a large crowd.

In the evening there was a parade through the city headed by the band, with floats.

Funeral of the Late Michael Byrne

(By Our Cushing W. Correspondent)

Cushing W.—The funeral service of the late Mr. Michael Byrne was held at the church of St. Philippe on Saturday morning last. The bearers, composed of his old friends—Messrs. J. Patton, Edward Byrne, James Johnson, W. H. Robert, Jas. Heatlie and E. Whelehan, carried the casket from the residence to the church, where High Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Bazinet. The handsome draperies of black velvet embroidered in gold, recently purchased for use at funerals, were used for the first time on this occasion. At the close of the service the hymn "Nearer my God to Thee" was beautifully rendered by the Misses Lydia Lowe of Grenville and Margaret Wylie of St. Eugene. The assembly of friends which gathered from far and near to show their respect for the dead and their sympathy for the living, was one of the largest ever seen in this locality. Amongst those who came from a distance were Mr. Byrne's niece, Mrs. McArt and daughter, of Campbell's Bay, Mr. S. Whelehan of Montreal, and Mr. J. Dupuis of Fort Coulonge.

TO BERMUDA WITH THE CANADIAN TICKET AGENTS ASSOCIATION

THE EDITOR RECOUNTS PLEASURES OF RECENT TRIP

To those who have never had the opportunity of boarding an ocean liner to enjoy the privileges of a vacation at sea, one does not know just what a treat is in store. The short cruises are becoming so popular that practically all leading shipping companies now find it worthwhile to take off some of their most up-to-date vessels for the purpose. With the present itineraries offered, the whole world lies at one's door to explore, and travel on these cruises is only limited to what one is able to expend.

It was our pleasure just recently to have joined with the Canadian Ticket Agents Association in celebrating their 50th. Anniversary on board the Lady Rodney and Lady Somers of the Canadian National Steamships on their Bermudan trip. As a group of Ticket Agents, representing varied lines of travel in rail and steamships, with the special advantages which have been accorded us from time to time through the generosity of these lines, we may well feel that we can qualify as seasoned travellers, in that we have been privileged to visit from East to West, North and South of our Dominion, as well as our neighbors to the South, and going further afield we have now added the B.W.I. to our travels.

Leaving Montreal on the Lady Rodney we embarked on Wednesday evening and were escorted to our quarters, which were commodious and most comfortable. The next morning found us wending our way down the St. Lawrence, and as we passed the many buoys marking our course, we remembered reading that this beautiful river oftentimes receives the compliment of being the best lighted and best marked waterway in the world, and it is specially interesting to note it was one of our county boys, Captain J. Davison Weir, "Dave" as he is familiarly known, who was born in Grenville, Que., on the Ottawa river, in March of 1881, where he worked up from deck-hand through the various grades aboard ship until receiving his Master's Passenger Inland Ticket when only 23 years

Drop in Farm Implement Prices... How About Gasoline?... Free Entry for Katzenjammer Kids... and Perennial Grant for Cadets

MIXED FARE IN THE PARLIAMENTARY MENU

"THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, May 26.—The price of farm implements distributed by at least one company has come down from 50 cents to $13. per implement, as a result of the reduction of duty from 12½ per cent to 7½ per cent on May 1st, the agricultural committee of the Commons was advised. The duty on implements coming in from the United States treaty came into effect on January 1st: then it was cut to 12½ per cent. But, to the amazement of all and the exasperation of farmers, the prices of farm implements generally was increased early in the new year. The implement companies justified the step on the ground that they had been losing money. This did not prevent members arising in the House and demanding an inquiry. It was decided to have the agricultural committee look into the matter. Meantime recommendations were made to the Minister of Finance for a further reduction in the tariff. This was done, the rate cut to 7½ per cent. Now we have a general price reduction. Without elaborate comparative price lists I would not like to guess whether the recent reduction offsets the increase at the beginning of the year: but my impression is that it only partly offsets the increase. House Wedding at East Settlement

CLARKE — BLACK

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. David Black on Saturday, May 23rd., at 5 o'clock, when his daughter, Margaret Phoebe Black, was united in marriage to Archibald Basil Clarke, second son of Mr. and the late Mrs. Geo. Clarke, of Mabel, Que. The Rev. H. Cousens performed the ceremony. The room was tastefully decorated in pink and white streamers, narcissus and tulips.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in blue georgette and wore a corsage bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. Her only ornament was a sterling silver bracelet, the gift of the groom. Her sister, Catherine, who attended her as bridesmaid, was gowned in mauve printed chiffon and wore a corsage bouquet of sweet peas. Mr. George Gain was the groomsman. Miss Jean Picken presided at the piano.

After the wedding supper the happy couple left by train for Montreal and other parts. For travelling the bride wore a three piece ensemble of royal blue novelty wool with yellow accessories. They will later reside in Staynerville, Que.

AUDIENCE TREATED TO A FULL-EVENING'S ENTERTAINMENT

Patrons of a dramatic evening at Lachute Auditorium last Friday were treated to a varied fare, in the three one-act comedies staged by Young People's Societies of the Presbyterian, Anglican and United Churches respectively. It was a co-operative entertainment, well attended by the local congregations and friends, which netted proceeds around $150 to augment the funds of the three societies.

The Presbyterian players appeared first on the stage, in The Dear Departed—a comedy which produced a situation of rare humor in the death, "grossly exaggerated", of a cherished relative, whose effects were prematurely apportioned to covetous relatives. The parts were ably upheld. Rev. H. H. Cousens directed the rehearsal and production of the play.

All Hallow's Eve, by the Anglican dramatic group, portrayed a romance of the pirate days enacted, supposedly, by characters in two ancient portraits which came to life on Hallow-e'en. The natural and the supernatural, on this unique occasion, collaborated to relive a legendary scene. The comedy was directed by Mr. C. L. Hall; to him and his versatile cast credit is due for an unusually interesting production.

A more modern situation was developed by the United Young People's actors in Sauce for the Gossips. There was a spice of realism in the slang expressions adopted by youthful members of a family, whose parents undertook to discourage the trait. By use of strategy, they

Rev. H. D. J. Brosseau Was Impressive Speaker at One Hundred Club

The spirit of service, in no wise lacking from the gatherings and activities of Lachute One Hundred Club, received a warm stimulus last evening in the remarks of Rev. H. D. J. Brosseau, Curé of Grenville, who was guest speaker at the club supper in Desjardins Hotel. The attendance of over 20 members was supplemented by several guests. An impromptu competition, brief addresses and business proceedings made up a full program.

Centurion J. E. Dumais, in the chair, introduced Rev. Father Brosseau, whose message dealt simply with the matter of Viaticum. In the Curé's quiet and convincing remarks, the point of view was stressed as an important factor in human relationships. It differentiated between man, the animal, and man, the angel—between the selfish and the altruist, the selfish and the unselfish. The ability to adjust one's viewpoint to the conceptions of his fellow-being was the secret of harmony—in home, in community, in religion, and in every sphere of living. . . . And, actually, the placing of oneself in another's position was the underlying spirit of service—the key-note of the service club movement. . . . A generous spice of humor in Father Brosseau's talk detracted in no way from the sincere theme of his message, which imparted an inspiration to higher ideals, invaluable to this body of men whom he addressed.

Hearty thanks were expressed to the speaker by President J. E. Dumais and Vice-President Dr. J. M. Drew.

W.I. County Convention... Officers Elected... President's Address

Brownburg now being an incorporated town Chatham Branch, of that place, felt that a change of name from Chatham to Brownburg would be more appropriate. The matter was brought before the Convention, who were pleased to accede to this request and advised that proper steps be taken by the Branch to effect this change.

A period of silence, when all stood in reverent attention in memory of members lost by death during the year, was then observed—the names of those honored being—Mrs. Ivall of Morin Heights; Mrs. J. Cook from Pioneer; Mrs. K. S. Massiah of Upper Lachute—

East End; Mrs. W. D. Owens of Frontier, and Mrs. Sherritt of Lakefield Branch.

ADDRESS OF MRS. G. KUHRING, RETIRING PRESIDENT

Dear Fellow Members—Much has happened during the year that has passed since our last Convention. Last year we had just taken part in the celebration of the Silver Jubilee of our late beloved King George V, whose death last January has been an irreparable loss to the world... but we have his son, whom many of us have had the privilege of seeing on his numerous visits to Canada as Prince of Wales. King Edward VIII faces many problems and in his hours of grief he carries on with his arduous tasks as King of this great Empire.

As loyal British subjects and citizens of Canada, it is up to every one of us individually to do our share in this time of trouble and uncertainty to help those who are in power to do the best they know how.

As we heard King Edward in his first radio speech to his subjects I am sure that we all felt that in him we had a King who is a King indeed, and a worthy son of his beloved father. A king who has had a world experience and who has visited all the various parts of the Empire and will do what is best for all because of the knowledge he has thus gained.

Since last we met we have also a new Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, whom we almost felt that we knew because of having read many of his books. His consort the Lady Tweedsmuir, who has been actively engaged in Women's Institute work in England for fifteen years already, has a very warm place in our affections.

There has been war, tragedy, grief and anxiety throughout the world. For many of our members in Argenteuil County the past year has brought trials and sorrows but I feel sure that for all of you, your contacts with your fellow members at our meetings and elsewhere have been a tower of strength from which you have drawn new hope and courage to carry burdens which seem lighter now because of friendly words of cheer spoken and kindnesses done.

To those who have lost dear ones, and to our five sister branches who have each lost a beloved member, we extend our sympathy.

After listening to our Branch reports we cannot but feel that every one of our Branches is taking its place in the community which it represents, and is doing a special work which will make that community a better place in which to live.

Our County Convenors have been doing outstanding work in their various departments and their reports show an increasing amount of useful projects successfully carried out under their leadership.

Mrs. Graham as our Publicity Convenor merits a special vote of thanks for her excellent articles and reports which appear regularly in Home and Country, our own Lachute Watchman and in many other publications throughout Canada. Her work affords our organization increased prestige and gives our members here in this county added interest in our work through being able to have more intimate knowledge of what our sister Branches are doing. To Mrs. Graham we also owe a debt of gratitude for our excellent County Programs, which contain the yearly program of each separate Branch.

I have noticed with gratification that our Convenors have stressed more and more the use of pamphlets which are issued by the Government and other sources and which give authentic information on special subjects in connection with our work.

To Mrs. Ardill, I am most deeply indebted for her excellent work as our Secretary. She has kept me posted on all matters pertaining to secretarial business. Few of our members realize the amount of work, special reports, letters and other duties which fall upon the shoulders of the County Secretary.

In reviewing the work of our County—our meeting of last November with the address by Dr. Mason on Preventative Medicine and his helpful suggestions about pneumonia, common colds and some contagious diseases, also his address on Mental Hygiene at that meeting were very interesting and instructive.

At the same meeting Mr. Clifton Hall, Principal of the Lachute High School spoke on the subject "What is Wrong with Education." Mr. Hall dealt most efficiently with the subject and I feel sure that everyone in attendance felt proud and gratified when they realized that our High School in Lachute had as principal such a capable man and one with such outstanding Christian ideals.

With Mrs. McQuaig and Mrs. Ardill I attended the Memorial Service and placed the wreath on the cenotaph in your behalf. I attended two County Executive Meetings in Lachute and the Convention and Executive Meetings at Macdonald College last June and while I was unable on account of a blizzard to reach the city in time for the semi-annual executive meetings last January I was able to spend an entire evening with the Provincial President on the day after the meeting and perhaps in this way got as much information about the meeting as if I had attended.

All business resulting from the Provincial Board Meeting has been placed before our County Executive. We have been asked to take up the matter of the Silver Jubilee present of 25c. per member to the Provincial Treasury and I have taken this matter up with the Branch Presidents and I understand that every Branch has planned to carry out this request.

Our Branches have presented three Life memberships during the year, Mrs. Ardill, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Home, and you have also supported our organization paper "Home and Country" in a splendid manner, your subscriptions as a County, being second to none.

I have visited all of the Branches during the year and I thank you all most sincerely for your unfailing kindness and hospitality.

We are proud that in our County three active Study Groups under W. I. auspices are being carried on, Lachute Branch having formed the first group followed by two in Brownburg.

In carrying on our various Branches, may I suggest that we encourage our young girls to join as members, and that we endeavour in as far as possible to include something in our program for each meeting that will be of interest to them. It is easy for older people to be impatient with the mistakes of youth and equally easy for the young generation to be impatient with their elders. What we really need everywhere in our churches, in our organizations, in all walks of everyday life, is a bringing together of youth and age. They need each other so much and are so mutually dependent.

If you could temper the cocksureness, the boldness, the initiative of youth with the caution, the wisdom and the experience of age—if you could thus unite power and knowledge, or if we could even get a better basis of mutual understanding between the generations, it would make life simpler, more interesting and more livable for all of us.

In closing may I say, "Thank you" all. It has been a privilege to be associated so intimately with you in your work in this county. Your kindness and your co-operation at all times fills me with a gratitude which it is difficult for me to put into words, for those things which we feel most deeply cannot be spoken.

Reports of the Nominating and Resolution Committees were next brought forward, the following officers and convenors being elected for the year: Hon. President, Mrs. G. Kuhring; President, Mrs. Archie Graham; First & Second Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Frank Brennan, Mrs. George Armstrong; Sec.-Treasurer, Mrs. H. R. Ardill; Convenor of Agriculture, Mrs. James MacKenzie; Can. Industries, Mrs. Charles Duncan; Child Welfare - Public Health, Mrs. Walter Shear-smith; Education and Better Schools, Mrs. C. H. Jackson; Home Economics, Mrs. Rufus McCullough; Immigration, Mrs. Arthur Pollock; Legislation, Mrs. Kenneth Sly; Publicity, Mrs. A. Graham.

Taxing Peddlers

The town of Orillia does not handle its peddlers "with kid gloves." The Orillia council has doubled its rates for non-resident peddlers. The fee for local peddlers remains at $125, covering one truck and one salesman, but for non-residents the fee is now $250. To establish residence under the by-law one must live in Orillia for one year. Peddlers selling wares for 25 cents and under on foot must pay a $25 licence if they live outside town and $5 if they are residents. Other town councils might well take heed of Orillia's example. The peddler problem has become a serious one, especially to local merchants, who deserve every possible protection. The only way to curb this menace is by the imposition and collection of stiff fees. —Simcoe Exchange.

Tip to Industrialists

England is still very much awog over the news that King Edward answered the royal telephone the other day.

It seems that a Britisher called the palace to ascertain the right procedure to follow in contacting the king and to his great amazement, found himself talking to the young monarch. "Oh, yes," said Edward, "I answer the telephone every chance I get."

All of which reminds us that a little of this kindly democracy might be used with great success in America.

What executive of importance is there today who can be reached on his own telephone? Instead, the round of secretaries, appointments, and buck-passing encountered to reach one of these "big shots" is enough to discourage the most redoubtable.

What this country needs, perhaps, is the King Edward telephone system — and the sooner, the better.

IT TAKES GRIT TO DIG OUT THE GRIT THE SIXTH TIME

"If at first you don't succeed, fry, fry again" said the Boy Scout as he repeatedly broke the egg shells—unintentionally.

Mr. Obert Thorsness finally found good water on his farm near Saltcoats, Saskatchewan, when he dug the sixth well. He claims to be the happiest man in the world. Besides getting the needed water he has the satisfaction of conquering the apparently unconquerable—a feeling for which mankind has dared the deeps and the heights, famine, sword and fire.

HUGE RESERVOIR TO COVER DERWENT VALLEY

Work has begun on the construction of the new reservoir in the Derwent Valley in England. The photograph here shows several steam shovels busy excavating near Ashopton. The new reservoir will eventually submerge Ashopton and a considerable area of the surrounding country. It is being constructed to augment the water supplies of Sheffield, Derby, Nottingham and Leicester.

Typewriter with Keys Spanning the Continent

Imagine a typewriter with a keyboard in Halifax and typebars in Vancouver, capable of printing the character in the latter city as the keys are depressed in Halifax. Rather an incongruous machine, you say, but yet in reality that is what practically takes place in telegraph offices every day—state officials of the Canadian National Telegraphs. The machine that performs this apparent miracle is called a simplex printer, and all of the bigger newspaper offices in Canada have such a machine installed for the reception of news telegrams.

It is interesting to note that whereas Russia started out to reward workers according to needs, she is now back on the good old principle of reward in proportion to ability and effort.

THE COST OF GASOLINE

The cost of gasoline and distillate for tractors was again up for discussion. The Minister of Finance told the House and the country that he had instructed the Tariff Board to watch pretty closely the consequences of the recent reduction in duties. The effective duty on refined gasoline was cut from 2 1/2 cents per gallon to one cent; and the impression generally was that this should have the effect of reducing the cost of gasoline in many parts of the country. If prices do not go down, the Tariff Board will ask why, and will satisfy themselves that the reason for rigidity in price structure is not restraint of trade or other monopoly phenomena.

The tax on one grade of crude was raised from free to one-half cent per gallon, and this raised some complaint in the House, by no means wholly from the opposition side.

The Minister of Finance explained that the reason was that bootlegging of gasoline with a small 'shot' of crude to bring it within the specific gravity range off crude had been going on in the West. Skimming plants had been operated both by farmer co-operatives and by private companies. The former had in several cases been picked up by the oil companies. The national revenue department had caught some of the bootleggers, and had made them pay the rate on refined gasoline. But in order to make it easier to administer the law in future, and to stop the practice, the change in tariff had been made.

COMICS AND CHILDREN

Complaint was registered in the House about the free entry

At Ormstown Exhibition

There is nothing unusual in an ordinary acrobatic act, but the Tudor Sisters & Avery are top notch acrobatic contortionists, and their spectators are assured they will see something entirely new and unusual, an act that is worth walking miles to see.

Three attractive young ladies present an artistic performance in their exhibition of ground acrobatics, hand-balancing and tumbling, aided by an agile and athletic young man.

However, the climax of the act is when one of the young ladies in the troupe, wraps her body around the waist of the male member of the troupe, after which he bends his body directly to the floor, and goes through a series of contortions with the younger girl still wrapped around his waist. They then go into a series of tumbling exhibitions that is nothing short of amazing.

For their second offering, Tudor Sisters & Avery at Ormstown Fair will present an absurdly grotesque comedy. Dressed in typical Hoosier costumes, from whence, incidentally, these artists originate, that is the Wabash country, they offer clever slapstick comedy, using tables and chairs in such manner that will evoke hearty laughter and the approbation of the audience.

Tudor Sisters & Avery appeared before Fair audiences for the first time last season, and met with instantaneous success. Many of the Fairs have requested return engagements, and those who have not seen them before will indeed be pleased with the selection of the management of Ormstown Fair, June 9-10-11-12.

Famous Greek Monastery

The famous Greek Orthodox monastery of Valamo, on one of a group of islands in the northern part of Lake Ladoga, Finland, is said to have been founded A. D. 902, and was at its height of fame toward the end of the last century, when pilgrims visited it in enormous numbers. The most noteworthy sight is the magnificently equipped Church of the Transfiguration, which consists of two churches placed one over the other. There are several smaller sanctuaries and hermitages.

Had to Buy Sailors

From the sixteenth to the nineteenth century, England had such a difficult time getting sailors for her navy that she paid gangs and others so much a head for every man that they "pressed," or shanghaied, into the service. One woman found this business so profitable that she opened a saloon and, within a period of twelve years, produced 20,000 recruits—with the aid of knockout drops—for her king and country.—Collier's Weekly.

of comic sections and rotogravure sections, notably the former. These are for inclusion in Canadian papers. The complete American papers enter free under the United States agreement, and it was decided that it was unfair to their competitors in Canada; the Canadian newspaper publishers, to charge them duty on these sections. The complaints in the House were not based on the economic or employment angle so much as the moral and spiritual. Mr. Bennett doubted whether the perusal of the Katzenjammer Kids or Jiggs was suitable Sunday morning reading for Canadian children. Mr. Dunning, the father of a family, observed to Bachelor R. B. Bennett that the prohibition of things was not always the most effective way of minimizing their evil; and that in any event, if these publications were objectionable, they must be attacked in some other way. If they were not imported they would be printed in Canada, and a small change of tariff would not solve the problem. The item was carried and these inserts and supplements will continue to enjoy free entry, as they have since May 1st.

Miss Macphail made her annual drive against the cadet vote, but she was unable to convert the House to her point of view. Since she began her campaign the vote for cadets has, however, fallen from $500,000 to $150,000, the figure this year. The Member for Grey-Bruce moved that the expenditure be reduced to one dollar, but when it came to a vote only the C.C.F. members supported her.

Costly Diversion

(Toronto Daily Star)

In Simcoe, a town of 6,000 people, it is proposed to add more than $2,000 to the municipal revenues by licensing slot machines, bagatelle and pin-ball games. It is said that approximately 35 machines and games are now in operation there, and that if all continue to operate, the revenue will be $2,625. If these games can afford to pay an aggregate license fee of that size, what is the amount of money fed into them in a year?

MARRIAGE

CLARKE - BLACK—On May 23rd., at 5 o'clock at the home of David Black, by Rev. H. Cousens, Margaret Phoebe Black, to Archibald Basil Clarke.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The Misses Margaret and Mary Byrne of St. Philippe desire to express their grateful thanks to their friends and neighbors for kindness and sympathy shown them in their recent bereavement through the death of their brother, Mr. Michael Byrne.

IN MEMORIAM

MOUNTAIN—In loving memory of Arthur, who passed away May 23rd., 1935.

His life a beautiful memory, His death a silent grief, He sleeps in God's beautiful garden In the sunshine of perfect peace.
Ever remembered by Mrs. Mountain and family.

SILVERSON—In loving memory of our dear Jack, who departed this life May 28th., 1935.

We do not forget him, we loved him too dearly
For his memory to fade from our life like a dream,
But lips need not speak when the heart mourns sincerely,
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.

Ever remembered by his Mother and Father.

SILVERSON—In loving memory of our dear brother, Jack.

No one knows the silent heartaches, Only those who have lost can tell Of the grief that's borne in silence For the one we loved so well.

Ever remembered by Lena and Viola.

Next to knowing when to seize an opportunity, the most important thing in life is to know when to forego an advantage.

Great Himalayans Grew

for Millions of Years

A few million years before the North ern hemisphere came into the grip of the ice age, the Himalayan mountains began to rise from a low mountainous land notes a writer in the New York Times. At that time dense jungles covered its southern slope, which was drained by numerous rivers that wound their way to the ancient Ganges plain. These primeval streams washed down the rock waste from the highlands, and their floodwaters carried with them logs of fallen trees, leaves and skeletal remains of forest animals which eventually got embedded in shaly and rocky matrix. This process continued for a long time and thick rock formations began to pile up in the plains, which gradually sank under the load. These formations nowadays form the foot hills of the Himalayas.

It is here that, among numerous other fossils, are found the relics of large apes. These are represented by jaw fragments belonging to certain genera whose evolution developed in several directions, some becoming more like the recent great apes, while others approached man.

Mice Poison Babe

Poisoning by mice which had eaten contaminated food was stated, at a Liverpool inquest, to have caused the death of the eight-month-old son of John James Jones, dock laborer. After the baby's death a post mortem was held and a number of mice caught in the house were analyzed. The same food-poisoning bacilli were found in the child's body and in the mice. A verdict of "misadventure" was recorded.

INDIAN BOYS OF THE BARRENS TO BE TAUGHT GAMES BY BOY SCOUTS

The children of Cree and Ojibway Indian villages sparsely scattered over the great barrens bordering James and Hudson's bays are to be given the opportunity of playing hockey and baseball, and learning about Mickey Mouse and other heroes of the children's world. Ontario Scout Headquarters has invited Scout Groups to "adopt" certain of these isolated wigwam villages, without schools, or any guidance in play, and to send them from time to time picture books, indoor games for the long winter evenings, and equipment for outside games, including hockey pucks and baseballs. Because of transportation problems, pictures only of bats and hockey sticks will be sent, from which these may be made. Former Scouts and other assistants at trading posts will be asked to demonstrate the games.

BIRD THANKS

I love to watch the birdies gay
Swing on our maple tree,
I love to hear them chirp and sing
Their thanks to you and me.

They give us thanks for crumbs of bread,
For all our kinds of trees,
For water-baths where they may drink
And splash about with ease.

They can't say "Thanks", like you and me,
But their soft, shy tweet, tweet,
Translated means just this, you see—
"How swe-e-t, swe-e-t, swe-e-t!"

Josie suddenly realized how much she wanted to see that tree planted, even though it was not going to be done by herself, and being still in a defiant mood, she said, "I won't go home until I am ready." The words were scarcely out of her mouth before her father's hand was laid on her shoulder and she was being propelled towards the gate as he said sternly, "I am ashamed of you, Josie, I have seen and heard all, and I am astonished that my little girl would act in that manner towards her teacher, or anyone. Here, James, take her home at once. I shall deal with her when I come later."

"I am sorry, Miss Malcolm, that Josie was so rude to you. I sincerely hope that scenes like that do not occur often. I know that when Josie has been greatly disappointed she can act very disagreeably, and from what I have just seen, I believe she has been disappointed this morning. She gave me to understand that she would be the one to plant the tree, and I came along like any proud father would do, to see her. More than that, I bought a fancy trowel on purpose for her to pat the earth down, then to have for a keepsake, but I will not withhold it from the child who is to have the honor," said Mr. Harvey, displaying a very pretty bronze trowel with a smooth white handle.

"I am sorry indeed, Mr. Harvey, that Josie had the idea that she would be the honored one. She has not been studying as she should lately, so I cannot conceive how she came to imagine anyone but the one ranking highest should be the one chosen.

"I did not know how the one to accomplish this pleasant task was to be chosen, but I understood from Josie she had been told that she was to have the honor."

"I don't know who could have told her that," Miss Malcolm said, her eyes searching the faces of the pupils standing before her as if seeking the culprit. The children could have told her, for they had heard Marjorie's repeated assertions during the past week, that it would be Josie; she had said it so often that they had almost believed it. Marjorie dared not look Miss Malcolm in the face, but having a bit of Josie's craftiness in her nature, held up her hand suddenly and said, "Miss Malcolm, please I see Mr. Mabon and Mr. Morrison waiting where the tree is to be planted. Shouldn't we be going over there?"

"Thank you, Marjorie," said Miss Malcolm. "Forward march, children," and once more the little procession was on its way to plant a tree, with Miss Malcolm and Mr. Harvey walking behind.

Ruth's hands trembled as the tree was placed in her hands, and again her face went white and red by turns. For a moment her heart seemed to stop. She felt she could not do this thing with all eyes upon her—until far from over the distance there came the eager barking of a dog, "Mother and Toby are starting out for a walk", she whispered to herself. The thought of her mother strengthened her. How pleased she would be. Kneeling down on the soft green grass, she set the little maple down in the bottom of the hole, fairly in the centre, and with the pretty trowel which Mr. Harvey had handed to her she packed the earth firmly around its roots.

"This tree shall henceforth be called 'The Ruth Burton Maple'" said Mr. Mabon, with a twinkle in his eye, "and now I must tell you younger folk, that the tall maple over there in the opposite corner is known to us older folks as 'the Harold Burton Maple'. It was planted by Ruth's father when he was no taller than Ruth here."

"How lovely!" Miss Malcolm exclaimed—then, "The Burton's have lived here before then?"

"All their lives except for the last fifteen years, and now they have come back to be with us once more, and we are so glad about it."

A tree is one of nature's words, a word of peace to man, A word that tells of central strength from whence all things began, A word to teach tranquility to all our restless clan.

At the close of this speech Mr. Harvey spoke. "I too have some verses about planting trees, which I should like to read to you, and I want you to notice how fitting the last verse is for this occasion." Mr. Harvey then read the beautiful poem called, The Tree Planter, by Richard P. Campbell, right down to the last verse, which pleased the children very much.

I love to think that the birds will swing
On the topmost branches and gladly sing,
And happy children will gather here
To play 'neath my trees from year to year:
Then, perchance a pilgrim will pass some day
And find a shade by the bleak highway.

CONSTIPATED* 25 YEARS, ALL-BRAN BROUGHT RELIEF

Delicious Cereal Corrected His Condition

Here is Mr. Johnson's letter: "I got a package (of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN), and before the package was gone I was very much better."

"So I have been eating it for two or three weeks, and my constipation* has gone, and I was constipated* for 25 years or more. Hoping this may help some one to better health. I am a new friend to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."—Mr. J. B. Johnson (address upon request).

Mr. Johnson's letter is one of many. Millions find Kellogg's ALL-BRAN corrects constipation* satisfactorily. It supplies the "bulk" missing in the average meal.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild and effective. It absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the intestines. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Isn't it more sensible to use this natural food instead of taking patent medicines? Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, etc. It is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Historic Building has its "Face Lifted"

One of Canada's historic places, the 93-year-old building of Prince Edward Island's parliament, in Charlottetown, has had its "face lifted", and now presents a rejuvenated appearance. It was in this building that the fathers of Confederation first met to discuss Union, the meeting taking place in September, 1864, and adjourned to Quebec City. The entire west wing had to be practically rebuilt and the whole of the interior has been renovated, but the charm of its architectural design is preserved. In this room a register is kept in which visitors are invited to sign their names and the places from which they came. All the provinces are found to be represented in this register, from Atlantic to Pacific, and even the Far North. There are many names of visitors from the United States and Great Britain, France and other countries. Some illustrious names appear on the pages, eminent statesmen, famous generals and representatives of royalty. At times, humour appears in connection with the entries. A famous Canadian Statesman gave his occupation as "cabinet-maker", and a noted general "warrior."

TIMETABLE FOR VEGETABLE COOKING

The length of time required for cooking a vegetable varies so with the vegetable itself that no definite time can be given. Over-cooking vegetables is one of the most frequent sins in cooking and spinach is one of the most sinned by. Some vegetable cookery timetables tell you to cook spinach 25 minutes. But I have had fresh tender spinach cook in a little less than 15 minutes. Then again it sometimes requires the full 25 minutes. The only way to cook vegetables properly is to keep a watchful eye on them and to taste them frequently during cooking to find the exact moment when they are cooked enough. Asparagus is another vegetable in which the time for cooking varies considerably. The lower part requires longer cooking than the tips, so stand the asparagus upright for the first few minutes then submerge the tips and it will prevent overcooking. Try frequently and do not spoil by cooking too long. Taste for the amount of salt required. Vegetables taste better if salted while cooking and the exact amount can only be arrived at by tasting.

EXACT MEASUREMENTS

Haven't you often wondered how it is that two people can take the same recipe and get two different results? It is largely a matter of inaccurate measuring. If you are one of those who use rounded spoonfuls and butter the size of an egg and so on, go modern and use these inaccurate measurements. Some of the best cooks use these inaccurate measurements, but they are very experienced and can tell just how a thing should look. They could become still better cooks if they would learn to use accurate measurements as they would have the benefit of modern ideas. All good recipes are exact and accurate. Use standard measuring cups and spoons and an oven thermometer and take most of the chance out of cooking. Food costs too much to waste it on poor results.

HATS AND HAIR

My hairdresser says that when spring comes so many women want their hair dressed in some different way. Spring certainly brings the urge to change. My milliner says that you should have your hair done just before buying a new hat, as there are so many hats that look well if the hair is perfection, but are unbecoming at other times. So if you buy a hat that is becoming when your hair is not at its best you will not be disappointed in it later.

CHOCOLATE DESSERT

4 tablespoons cocoa
4 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 pint whipping cream
24 vanilla wafers
Mix cocoa, sugar and water and cook until thick. Cool and add vanilla and cream. Whip until stiff, arrange on individual plates and make alternate layers of wafers and chocolate cream using three layers to a serving. Spread the cream with a knife to cover each wafer completely. Let stand at least an hour before serving. Serves eight.

BANGOR BROWNIES

1/3 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 squares chocolate
3/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup walnuts
Melt chocolate over hot water. Cream butter and sugar and add well beaten eggs. Let chocolate cool, then add to mixture. Sift in flour and baking powder, and salt. Add vanilla and nuts. Put in buttered pan about 8 inches square. Bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees for 35 minutes.

Giving the Children Freedom of Choice

One of the ever-recurring problems of the teen-age is, how much freedom they will have. I believe that this desire for freedom is not so much actually a desire for freedom itself, but a desire for freedom to choose. If parents would allow their children to do their deciding in all the small affairs then the children would be ready to listen to them when it came to things that really matter. The average adolescent child has a feeling that it is constantly being thwarted and refused. Obviously teen-age children are not sufficiently experienced to choose wisely but they can gain this wisdom only by exercising it. If parents would gradually give their children more freedom to choose and more responsibility in smaller things, the children would gain experience in choosing. If they did make mistakes, what real difference would it make? Let it be put down to the price of experience. When they have made a mistake, let them learn their own lessons. If the parent continually harps on the mistake an antagonistic attitude will be set up which will undo all the good. It is a difficult lesson for parents to learn, that their children are growing up and should be allowed to make an increasing number of their own decisions. Some parents go to the other extreme, allowing their teen-age child to assume all responsibility and to do as it likes. This is not fair as children have not had sufficient experience and need some guidance in important matters.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ Scientist, Sunday May 31st., is "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced." The Golden Text is:—"They that observe lying vanities forsake their own mercy." (Jonah 2: 8). "And when Jesus was come into Peter's house he saw his wife's mother laid and sick of a fever. And he touched her and she arose, and ministered unto them. When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick" (Matthew 8: 14-16).

Pillows not Heirlooms

Pillows, like many other household possessions, should be discarded when their lifetime of usefulness is over. We throw away broken dishes, we replace battered cooking utensils, we buy new rugs and upholstery fabrics when the old ones are worn out, we restock our linen supply at necessary intervals; but we seem to believe that a pillow should last through our lifetime—yes, even be handed on to another generation.

Perhaps this idea is an outgrowth of the old days when our great grandmothers laboriously to prepare and cure the feathers for handmade pillows. So much time and labor went into their making that they were looked upon as a heritage to be passed along from mother to daughter to granddaughter.

Or perhaps it is because we don't know how to tell when a pillow has ceased to "live." Try this test on the pillows in your home. Rest the pillow on your arm. If it droops over your arm, its period of usefulness is over. If it holds its shape, it is still capable of serving its purpose — supporting your head while you sleep. A pillow that has "gone flat" is not a good head rest.

Pillows are not eternal, because they are not made of everlasting materials. If they were, they would not give us the luxurious comfort we demand of them. —Demetria M. Taylor of Good Housekeeping Institute.

Wedding Superstitions

(From an old scrapbook)

It is unlucky to wed in harvest time.
It is unlucky to postpone your wedding.
Marry in May, you'll rue the day.
Feed the cat the night before the wedding or it will rain.
It is unlucky to read the marriage service through before the wedding.
It is unlucky to touch rags on your wedding day.
It is unlucky to allow your fiancé to see you in your wedding finery before the wedding.
It is unlucky to trip on your wedding dress or veil.
Keep your wedding veil but throw away the orange blossoms.
If the bride loses the heel of her shoe she will have trouble with her husband's relations.
If she wears pearls they may mean trouble and tears.
If she breaks anything her married life will be quarrelsome.
She must put her right foot over the threshold of the church first, also over the threshold of her new home.
The bride must not look in the mirror after she is completely dressed.
If she sees her bridegroom in the church before he sees her she will be boss all her life.
She must wear something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue, to be happy in her married life.
The choice of a certain day in the week too has a bearing on the future — Monday for wealth.
Tuesday for health.
Wednesday the best day of all.
Thursday for bosses.
Friday for losses.
Saturday no luck at all.

The color of the gown also has a bearing, according to the old superstitious rhyme — "Married in white; you have chosen all right.
Married in gray; you'll go far away.
Married in blue; he'll always be true.
Married in yellow; ashamed of your fellow.
Married in pink; your spirits will sink.
Married in red; you'll wish yourself dead.
Married in brown; you'll live out of town.
Married in green; you'll be ashamed to be seen.
Married in black; you'll wish your self back."

Wedding Invitations and Announcements are a specialty of the Watchman Print. Their quality rivals the work of city engravers. In Old English or Script type. Don't assume that local printing is "not good enough." Call and inspect our samples; we leave them to your own judgment.

Housewife Loses Suit Over P. G. Soap

A Nova Scotia Supreme Court jury exonerated the firm of Proctor and Gamble Company of Canada, Limited, from a $10,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Sadie Hyland, Halifax housewife.

The woman alleged her throat was injured by inhaling fumes rising from a tub of water into which she poured a laundry preparation. The jury returned its verdict after a half hour's deliberation.

A. J. Rymes, assistant manager of the company's factory at Hamilton, Ont., testified the preparation contained nothing of a nature to injure internal membranes or skin tissues. His evidence was corroborated by Arthur Greene, the company's supervisor of chemical control.

To support his claim Mr. Greene inhaled fumes rising from a solution of the product in water heated to 163 degrees Fahrenheit in a demonstration carried out before the witness stand.

"Pa", said Willie, "a man's wife is his better half, isn't she?"
"Well, we are told so, my son," said father noncommittally.
"Well, then," continued Willie, "if a man marries twice, there isn't anything left of him, is there?"

Little Mary: "Let's be pals, Daddy."

Daddy: "Certainly, my dear."

Little Mary: "Well, how about dumping out the cod liver oil, palsy walsy?"
