COUNTY LANDMARK PASSES, IN DEATH OF OLDEST RESIDENT

MRS. WM. DREW DEAD IN HER 99TH. YEAR

Had Rare Recollections of Pioneer Days in Argenteuil

Mrs. William Drew, the oldest resident in Argenteuil and a lady associated with the earliest growth of this section, died last Saturday morning at her home in Lachute. Born in February 1838, she had reached the advanced age of 98 years and six months.

Mrs. Drew was formerly Elizabeth Pollock, daughter of Thomas Pollock and Elizabeth McOuat, who were a pioneer farming couple among the first settlers north of Lachute, in the community of Hill Head.

Receiving her entire education under one schoolmaster, Mr. Emslie, at Hill Head, she later married William Drew of the same community, and together they moved to Beech Ridge, where eight children were born of the union. Her husband predeceased her 30 years ago, and for the past 19 years Mrs. Drew has resided here in Lachute with her two daughters. Though her strength had failed somewhat in recent months, she had enjoyed fair health until two weeks previous to her death, when she fell in her home and suffered a broken leg.

While reminiscing during her latter years, Mrs. Drew recalled that several times before the days of automobiles and good roads she had ridden nearly 50 miles to Montreal in a springless cart or a sleigh. Many were the inventions and developments introduced during her lifetime, and Mrs. Drew evidenced a keen interest in the signs of progress about her. She had even enjoyed a motor drive to the city, an experience which contrasted strangely with her earlier recollections.

Surviving are her two sons, James Drew on the family homestead at Beech Ridge, and Dr. Jno. M. Drew in Lachute, and two daughters, Misses Elizabeth and Janet Drew, also of Lachute.

Funeral service was held on Sunday afternoon in the United Church, Mr. E. C. Kelloway officiating, assisted by Rev. H. H. Cousins. Pall-bearers were her three grandsons, Winston, Cyril and Sidney Drew, and three grand-nephews, Stewart Hume, Harry Pollock and Melville Smith. Interment was made in the family lot at Lachute Cemetery.

Cornwall Plowing Match to Be World's Greatest

THIS YEAR'S MEET TO BE TRULY INTERNATIONAL, OFFICIAL DECLARES

The enthusiasm displayed to date by farmers and agricultural experts of the Province of Quebec and New York State, as well as those in Ontario, promises to make the International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Demonstration to be held from Oct. 6 to 9 at Cornwall, Ont., by far the largest and most international event of its kind in the world, according to J. A. Carroll, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Sec.-Manager of the Ontario Plowmen's Association.

"Many new features will be included on the official program this year," Mr. Carroll announced, "and foremost among these will be the new visitors' class which is open only to residents of the United

PROCEEDS OF SERVICES SENT TO HOSPITAL

A pleasing feature in the season at Lake Louisa concluded on Sunday with the last devotional service conducted by Rev. Dr. L. T. Fisher of Montreal. Rev. Fisher was supplemented on a few of the Sabbath morning services by other ministers vacationing at the Lake. The services were held in the open air at one of the lakeside cottages. The sum of twenty-four dollars raised in collections has been forwarded to the Children's Memorial Hospital.

ORANGE PARADE AND DIVINE SERVICE HELD AT BROWNSBURG

500 ORANGE ENTHUSIASTS TOOK PART

Brownsburg was favored on Sunday in the Church Parade and Divine Service held at the United Church, by members of the Loyal Orange Association, the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association and Orange Young Britons, who turned out about five hundred strong for the occasion. The procession was headed by the Prince of Wales Band of Montreal, both before and after the service, which followed different routes through the beauty spots of the village.

The arrangements were under the auspices of Dalesville Lodge, No. 1453, of which County Master Bro. Stanley A. Holt is the Worshipful Master, who left nothing undone to make the event one of the finest in its history. There were

DEDICATION OF NEW CHURCH IN COUNTY

The opening and dedication service of the Fraser Memorial Presbyterian Church at Lakeview, Lake Macdonald, is taking place on Sunday, September 6th. at 3 p.m. (D.S.T.) The Moderator of the General Assembly, the Right Rev. Malcolm A. Campbell, D.D., will officiate. The church is built in memory of the Fraser family, parents of Mr. "Sandy" Fraser, after whom Fraser Lake was named. It is built to provide religious services for the native and summer residents of that district. The Session, through Mr. W. Sutherland, B.A., student in charge, extend a cordial invitation to all who have interests in that community to attend.

States, Quebec, and the Maritime Provinces. This competition will be held on the closing day of the match and, because of the international aspect of this year's meeting, will probably be watched with the keenest interest by all who attend."

Several groups of farmers across the border are planning to charter buses to bring contestants and visitors to Cornwall.

A strong contingent of skilled plowmen from Quebec, prize winners in many contests in this province, will be on hand. These contestants will also demonstrate the excellent progress made in horse-breeding in Quebec by bringing teams representing the breeds most used in the province. They will include Percheron, Belgian, Clydesdale, and the native French-Canadian breed. The latter was evolved in Quebec and is the only breed of horse originated in Canada.

An old-world touch will be provided by a few yoke of oxen,

SEMI-STREAMLINE TRAIN WILL VISIT LACHUTE

An interesting announcement was made here yesterday by Mr. Paul E. Gingras, District Passenger Agent of the C.P.R., addressing the B. of T. Regional Congress in Lachute. One of the railroad's new semi-streamlined trains, presenting many new features in comfort and efficiency, will visit Lachute on Sunday next at around 11 a.m. The train will stop over for half an hour at the Lachute depot to give the local public an opportunity to make an inspection.

87½ Cents Bushel Unsatisfactory to Farmer... But Stabilization of Wheat Means National Bill of 21-Millions... More Trade with Britain

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, September 1 — The announcement that the Canadian Wheat Board would pay 87½ cents a bushel for the 1936 crop, as a minimum price, and that only in the event that the market price dropped below 90 cents, proved disappointing to many farmers in the west, who had been advocating a minimum price of a dollar or even higher. The Pools circulated widely last week a reprint from a western publication tending to show that the average cost of raising a bushel of wheat on the prairie was $1.03; and it was argued that in view of this year's light harvest the wheat producer should be guaranteed something better than 87½ cents. For years the west has been agitating to be delivered from fluctuating wheat prices, and from private speculation on the Grain Exchange. But the announcement last week indicated that the government sticks to its original idea, to support the market against undue collapse, but not to get involved in the wheat business one whit more than is absolutely necessary.

RESPONSIBLE TO ALL CANADA

The Ottawa government, after all, is responsible to citizens from Charlottetown and Halifax to Victoria and Prince Rupert; and while the wheat growers are a mighty force in the country, their demands must always be weighed with those of the fisherman, the textile worker, the mixed farmer of the east, the fruit grower and miner of B.C. and so on. If the federal government is

Academy Graduate is Deeply Mourned

MRS. EDW. H. R. DAVIES

Many friends and former associates in this town regret the passing of Mrs. Edward H. R. Davies, in Montreal last Sunday, Aug. 30th., at the early age of 27. Born in Montreal, and having resided there since her marriage in July 1932, Mrs. Davies was formerly Anna Mary Miller, daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. Robt. Miller. She spent her girlhood in Lachute, and was educated here in the local Academy. She entered training as a nurse at the Homoeopathic Hospital, Montreal, and after graduation she practised the profession until her marriage.

Besides her husband she is survived by her mother, two brothers, Charles and Robert, and two sisters, Lulu and Catherine, for whom the deepest sympathy is felt in this community.

The funeral service in St. Simeon's Anglican Church last Tuesday was largely attended, and a profusion of flowers bore their mute testimony of sorrow and tribute. Rev. W. LeCras spoke comforting words to the bereaved. Pall-bearers were Messrs. Harvey and William Miller, Jack Wooding, John Campbell, Jas. Beech and Jas. Yelland Jr., all cousins of the deceased. Burial took place in the Lachute Cemetery.

also from this province, which will participate in a special plowing demonstration.

There will be more than 30 competitions on the program, with trophy and cash awards valued at over $4,000.

As the match will be held within 25 miles of the Quebec boundary and just across the Roosevelt Bridge from the international border, it is expected that many thousands of spectators will attend from Quebec and the States.

THIS SHOULD BE A LUCKY FARM!

Mme. H. Joly of Rural Route 3, receiving a letter from Montrealers who recently spent two weeks holidaying at the Joly farm, was told that they had picked 20 four-leaf clovers and three five-leaf clovers during their vacation there. If there is anything in the proverbial luck associated with these "finds", Mr. and Mrs. Joly, who live right among them, should have lots of good fortune in store.

St. Andrews E.—Mr. William Todd of Lachute Road, who recently celebrated his 87th birthday, drove across the river in the first automobile to cross the new bridge on Saturday, Aug. 29th. QUEBEC PREMIER OPENS DRIVE FOR DRASTIC ECONOMY

Putting his pre-election promises into effect, Quebec's provincial premier, Hon. Maurice Duplessis, on taking office declared that all government departments would be organized "on a sound and logical basis."

He announced that the provincial cabinet had approved cancellation of present insurance policies on government buildings because of "flagrant abuses discovered in the system of placing insurance." New methods of placing policies, he said, would save the province a large sum.

Crown prosecutors and all liquor commission attorneys throughout the Province are being replaced, Mr. Duplessis said. At his cabinet meeting he claimed, "We have already taken steps which will result in saving the Province thousands of dollars annually."

TO ORGANIZE COUNTY DRAMATIC FESTIVAL

CORRESPONDENCE

Lakefield, P.Q., Sept. 1 Editor, The Watchman

Some time ago you were kind enough to publish a letter from me, outlining a plan for a County Dramatic Festival. I have had several enquiries since the letter was published and I feel that there is sufficient interest in the plan to go ahead with organization of a County board to handle the affair.

To expedite matters, I am willing to act temporarily as receiver of entries for the festival. Each organization in the county will please send their entry to me together with the name of someone in their group who will represent them on the central board.

Plays to be selected must not be over thirty-five minutes playing time, and no player shall take part with more than one group. Comedies are to be selected for this year's competitions.

I hope that there will be entries from every district of the County so that the interest will be widespread. I have seen several presentations in various sections and I am satisfied that there is plenty of talent to make a keen competition.

I would propose that the competition take place during the last ten days of October and all entries should be in by October 1st.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for giving me space in your paper, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
G. F. W. Kuhring.

Second Regional Congress Reiterates Aims, to Promote General Interests

The second Regional Congress of the Chambers of Commerce for District No. 12, comprising Ste. Therese, Terrebonne, Ste. Agathe, Mont Laurier, St. Jerome, Rigaud, Grenville and Lachute, was held here in the Court House yesterday, with all-day sessions presided over by L. E. Dumais, 2nd, Vice-President of the Lachute branch.

Mayor Dr. J. H. Mason extended a brief but cordial welcome on behalf of the town, and Sheriff J. W. Cyr, Director of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce for the Province, and President of the local branch of St. Jerome, outlined the aims and objects for which the meeting was called, viz. to promote the commercial, manufacturing, agricultural, financial and general interests of the Province of Quebec and the development of its natural resources.

General discussion followed, in which Dr. C. Cartier, President of the L'Annonciation branch, took active part.

The delegates made a tour of inspection at the Ayers properties and the Ayers Limited mills, expressing admiration for the beautiful surroundings and the enterprising aspect of this industrial settlement.

The sessions were brought to a successful close by a banquet served in Desjardins Hotel, at which Rev. Father Brosseau of Grenville was a guest speaker. Mr. P. E. Gingras, District Passenger Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, spoke on "The Railroad, Past, Present and Future." Other speakers were Gaetan Valois, G. E. Danseur M.P.P., Mayor Dr. J. H. Mason, Ald. Jas. McGibbon, L. L. Legault, K.C., Dr. E. Lalonde and Sheriff J. W. Cyr.

Tracing the development of the railway from early days to the present, Mr. Paul Gingras in his address specially emphasized a new peak of attainment in the semi-streamlined trains which the C.P.R. are introducing on the day runs between Toronto and Detroit, Montreal and Quebec, Calgary and Edmonton.

Lady Killed in Auto Accident on Monday

DRIVER ARRAIGNED IN ST. THERESE FATALITY

Gerard Sabourin of Montreal, held on a coroner's warrant charging him with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Fidele Ouellette, of Val Morin, who was killed in an automobile collision at Ste. Therese on Monday, appeared before District Magistrate Donat Lalonde at St. Jerome the following day.

Enquete proceedings were fixed for September 23 and bail was set at $1,000.

The charge arises out of a collision between a motor truck driven by Sabourin and an automobile driven by the victim's husband on Pont David road at Ste. Therese Monday afternoon. Witnesses at the coroner's inquest stated that the truck, in passing another one stopped on the road, had not left sufficient room for Ouellette's auto to pass. As the crash occurred Mrs. Ouellette attempted to jump but her head struck a pole and she was instantly killed. Sabourin was held criminally responsible by the coroner's jury.

Minister Ordained at Brownsburg for Maple Avenue Baptist Pastorate

Wednesday, Aug. 26th., was the occasion of the ordination of Elmore H. Young, B.Th., pastor of the Maple Ave. Baptist Church in Brownsburg. There was a large gathering of ministers and delegates from the different Baptist churches of the Ottawa Association.

The afternoon session was called to order by Deacon C. L. Stephens, Chairman of the ordination committee of Grenville and Maple Ave. Baptist Churches. Mrs. N. E. Smillie, Clerk of the church, read the call extended to Mr. Young by the Grenville and Maple Ave. Baptist Churches, to be their pastor. Letters and documents in connection with Mr. Young's ministerial career were read.

Rev. A. S. McGrath of Westboro, Ont., was elected moderator of the assembly. The clerk of the session was Rev. A. J. Fletcher, pastor of Maxville Baptist Church. Rev. McGrath called upon the candidate to give an account of his conversion, his call to the ministry, and his statement of Christian doctrine. Mr. Young responded with clear, forceful statements, backed by scriptural quotations.

The ladies of Maple Ave., Grenville and Chatham West congregations served supper in the church basement, thanks of the assembly being expressed to them by Rev. C. G. Smith of Temple Baptist Church, Montreal.

Rev. M. Munro, well known evangelist, had charge of the devotional exercises during the evening session. A piano duet was rendered by Donald and George Lowrie, friends of Mr. Young who had motored from Tillsonburg. This was followed by a piano solo by George Lowrie. Later in the service Mr. A. E. White sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought". The ordination sermon was preached by Rev. W. E. Hodgson, B.A., B. Th., pastor of Temple Baptist Church, Toronto; it was an inspiring message and a tribute to the Christian ardor of Mr. Young. An impressive part of the service was the ordination prayer, given by Rev.

Rev. Elmore H. Young, B. Th.

Walter Daniel, B.A., pastor of Mount Dennis Baptist Church, while the ordained Baptist ministers placed their hands on the head of the candidate, thus committing his life to God's service, as a minister of the gospel. The charge to the candidate was given by Rev. L. H. Varl, pastor of Vernon Baptist Church.

The charge to the local church was given by Rev. N. McCausland, pastor of the Vankleek Hill Baptist Church.

After the closing hymn, Rev. Elmore H. Young pronounced the benediction.

Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Mount Are Honored

CHURCH RENOVATIONS A TRIBUTE TO RETIRED LAKEFIELD RECTOR

ARTICLE PUBLISHED IN "MONTREAL CHURCHMAN"

For some years the Rev. A. E. Mount was in charge of the parish of Lakefield. Over twenty-seven years ago he was appointed Rector of Bedford. He was only there a short time when he had a severe injury through a fall. After a short time he was obliged to seek superannuation and went to live in his cottage at Lakefield, amidst his beloved flowers. He has never been strong since his retirement from active work, but whenever there was a student or a deacon in charge, or when the parish was vacant, he was always ready to serve when his health permitted, at times taking complete charge as locum tenens. Thus in his retirement he was ready to the full force of his strength to serve his Lord and His Church, and to do what he could for the people whom he knew and loved so well. When an appointment was made last year some of his friends said, "Would it not be nice to do something for Mr. Mount to show him that we appreciate what he has been to us through these many years? What would he like?" Someone said, "Nothing would please him more than to see the church renovated and re-decorated." So the W.A., and his friends, some of whom were summer people, set to work to carry out the suggestion. They have practically re-made the interior of the church, as described in the "Notes." There are few of our Laurentian churches more completely equipped and decorated. The Tentest with the air space between it and the stone wall (for it was plastered on the stone) has made the church much warmer; and the sexton says it has made a tremendous saving in fuel.

This was done with the hearty co-operation of the incumbent, the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, as a recognition and to commemorate the service of Mr. and Mrs. Mount. A very nice tablet has been erected, and was dedicated by the Bishop. It is as follows: "To the Glory of God and a tribute of affection and respect to the Reverend Allan Edgar Mount, L.Th., and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, in recognition of their Christian kindness to every one in this countryside for many years, the interior of this church was renovated by the Woman's Auxiliary and friends of this parish. Christmastide, 1935."

Such action not only honours the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Mount, but manifests the loving thoughtfulness of those who conceived and carried out the work, which has naturally given joy and satisfaction to those who have served so well.

Ottawa Valley Resident Died Saturday

THE LATE A. PROPHET

One of the oldest and most highly respected of Ottawa Valley residents, Archibald Prophet, died on Saturday at Brockville after an illness of nearly three years. He was 93 years of age. Born at Belfast, Ireland, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Prophet, Archibald Prophet came to Canada with his parents when a young boy.

The family settled at Calumet and there he received his education and lived almost all his life. He was a highly respected farmer of the district and until his illness was a teacher in Sunday School at the Calumet United Church.

Mr. Prophet's wife, formerly Helena McLachlan, died nine years ago. His only survivors are nephews and nieces in the district.

The funeral was held from the residence of his nephew, William Prophet, at Edwards, Ont., on Monday, service following in the Calumet United Church in the afternoon. Interment was made in the Calumet Cemetery.

Facilities of a Modern Seaport

By SIR RICHARD HOLT, authority on harbor and shipping practices—in "The Listener", London radio journal (April, 1936)

Most people who think of a port think, I suppose of some great place such as London, Liverpool, New York, Sydney or Bombay, but there are many ports of very different character. As instances of these latter I would quote Jeddah—the port of Mecca in the Red Sea, and Accra—the port of the Gold Coast. At Jeddah a ship finds her way through the coral reefs to a safe anchorage in sheltered water, and passengers and cargo are landed in open boats at little piers. Nothing of substance is provided, and you pay very little in harbour dues. The ship is guided by an Arab pilot—which is generally an hereditary occupation, and he is quite efficient. At Accra the position is worse, for there are no coral reefs to give shelter and the ship anchors fully exposed to the South Atlantic. Cargo and passengers have to be landed or shipped off in open boats which are put upon the beach. At ports of this character it is impossible to handle any packages weighing more than man-power can manage, but subject to this limitation, a good deal of work is done. There are many ports in regular use of the character of these two, and where there is any protection from the sea or where smooth water is usual, a good deal of simple work can be done cheaply.

No doubt ports in this country five hundred years ago were of this type, but in those days they did not have to deal with a modern ship. I suppose any place at which there are inhabitants who will move goods from ship to shore and vice versa—where the ship can anchor in safety and the Government does not forbid the work—might be regarded as a port.

We will now consider ports at the top of the scale where the greatest facilities are provided, but I would ask you to remember that you will find ports in every state of development between the two ends of the scale.

There are two principal types of port—the port with enclosed docks with gates and the port with open wharves or piers—and as a general rule it is the tide which decides for or against enclosed docks. For instance, in New York, where the tide only rises and falls about 5 feet, the ships go alongside a large pier; but in Liverpool, where the rise and fall is 30 feet, the ships go into an enclosed dock about the time of high water. In the case of the more modern docks there is an entrance lock which vessels can use at or above half tide and those of light draught at almost any time. The water in enclosed docks is kept at a steady level. These docks are more expensive to construct than a pier, but it is obviously impossible to work a ship satisfactorily if the level of the docks as compared with that of the quay to or from which the ship is working may change by 30 feet in 6 hours.

Certain facilities must be given at wharf, pier or dock if the work is to go on speedily, and any ship running a regular service must have facilities in port which enable her managers to calculate with something like certainty the amount of time required for loading and discharging the cargo. In our country and most other countries you cannot afford to be stopped by rain or snow, so a substantial rainproof shed must be erected alongside the ship to receive cargo discharged from the ship, or cargo brought by rail or road to be loaded into the ship. A large proportion of the cargoes carried are more or less damaged if thoroughly wet, though, of course, some articles such as timber can be left in the open. But you would not take wet timber on board your ship without a good deal of hesitation, for the moisture would leave the timber during the voyage in the form of sweat and quite probably damage other goods by condensing upon them. For receiving cargo to be loaded a single-storey shed is normally sufficient, but for discharging cargo a two or even three-storey shed is required. Generally speaking a good modern cargo ship can put cargo out more quickly than the people on shore can take it away so there must be accommodation on the quay where it can accumulate. The Customs may want to examine the goods and the importing merchant often wants to avoid the expense of moving goods from the quay until their final destination is settled; he may not know until a few days after the ship's arrival whether the goods can be sent to a consumer or whether they must be put in warehouse until they are finally disposed of. Cargo for the ground floor of a shed can be landed by the ship's own cranes and derricks—but if there is a second or a third floor cranes must be provided for lifting the goods from the ship's hold. Provision has to be made for special classes of cargo such as liquids in bulk. At first liquids were carried in barrels, then when mineral oils, were handled in large quantities the tanker was evolved and as a consequence tanks had to be provided in the ports into which the oil could be pumped direct from the ship—a speedy and cheap method of handling. going to guarantee cost of production, or even a bit of profit as well, to the wheat producer, all these other people are entitled to come along for some too. The budget of 1936 wrote off 21 million dollars loss incurred through the stabilization of wheat, and the federal government could not have done much more than it has done now, without widespread criticism. For years there have been mumbblings and grumbblings in Ontario and Quebec, in regard to wheat. So that as against the dissatisfaction and loss of votes which the government faces for not having taken a more sturdy stand in support of the present wheat price, it must weigh the the rebellion which would have developed in other parts of the country if it had gone once more wholeheartedly into the wheat business, and had incurred losses again.

It is quite possible that wheat will sell well above the minimum price, support or no support; and on the whole the action of the government is a courageous and correct one in the light of its philosophy and promises. The present wheat act was really the child of the Liberal party, even if introduced by a Conservative government; and their theory of a minimum price was exactly the role which the current price will probably play: support without the need of the government buying and handling the whole crop.

CATTLE FOR EASTERN FEEDING

The eastern farmer is being encouraged to buy western cattle for feeding. At the last minute it was decided to refund half the freight if cattle were retained three months; instead of paying a cash bonus as forecast in my last letter. Also the Red Cross, financed no doubt to some extent by the government, is to see to it that the worn-out kitchen equipment of the farmers in the area afflicted year after year by drought is to be replaced. The usual relief measures do not include such things, but after years of crop-failure, everything in the house needs mending or replacing; pots and pans, kettles, stove grates, and the like.

NEW TRADE AGREEMENTS

Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is back from Europe, where he negotiated several trade agreements. The nature of them may be made public this week. With European conditions so difficult, it is doubtful whether any sweeping arrangements were possible, but the Liberal theory is that there is trade to be secured if it is gone after aggressively enough. After the European agreements are completed, there are new treaties to negotiate with Australia and New Zealand. It will be interesting to see if Mr. Euler succeeded where Messrs. Stevens and Hanson failed, relatively. The Liberals, of course, argue that you can't expect others to buy from you unless you buy from them, and any European agreements inevitably involve some further reduction of the Canadian tariff.

Ice Cream a Delicacy for Russians

Ice cream machinery will soon be producing a new delicacy for Russian workers. This industry, a comparative novelty to the Russians, will be the outcome of A. I. Mikoyen's visit to America. His purchases of food-manufacturing machinery will include ice cream mixers.

Brave Dog Flunks

The latest movie thriller in which Rin-Tin-Tin, Jr., is the hero, shows this famous dog rounding up a whole group of robbers all alone. But on a recent night since this picture was made burglars broke into the home of Rin-Tin-Tin's master and ransacked it while the dog slept through it all!

The editor of a weekly newspaper lost two of his subscribers lately through accidentally departing from the beaten path in his answers to correspondents. Two of his subscribers wrote to ask him his remedy for their respective troubles. No. 1, a happy father of twins, wrote to inquire the best way to get them safely over their teething, and No. 2 wanted to know how to protect his orchard from myriads of grasshoppers. The editor framed his answers upon the orthodox lines, but unfortunately he transposed the two names, with the result that No. 1 who was blessed with twins got the following answer to his query: "Cover them carefully with straw and set fire to them, and the little pests, after jumping about in the flames a few minutes, will be speedily settled. While No. 2 plagued with grasshoppers, was told to "Give them a little castor oil and rub their gums gently with a bone."

"Somebody to See You"

If everybody with something to interest you should come and ring your bell, what a nuisance it would be! Think of the swarming, jostling crowd, the stamping of feet on your porch and carpets!

Every week we know of many callers who come to see you. They never jangle the bell—they don't take up your whole day trying to get your attention. Instead, they do it in a way that is most considerate of your privacy and your convenience. They advertise in your newspaper!

In this way you have only to listen to those you know at a glance have something that interests you. They make it short, too, so you can gather quickly just what you want to know. You can receive and hear them all without noise or confusion in a very few minutes.

In fairness to yourself look over all the advertisements. The smallest and the largest — you never can be sure which one will tell something you really want to know.

If you have a plan in mind the thought of which thrills you—don't tell it to another hoping to add to your enthusiasm, unless he is a real friend. His jealousy or misunderstanding will chill you — not thrill you.

SPECIES NOT EXTINCT

Sidney Whitehead laid a green-back on the office desk of a Rochester, N. Y., newspaper last week. It was in payment of a bill 27 years old. Sidney had been in England that length of time, but had not forgotten his debt.

With all the collection agencies and systems that have sprung up during the past fifteen years, one could be forgiven for wondering if the honest man had become extinct.

Some newspaper editors may now take heart. However, subscribers should have a heart too. Most of us won't last 27 years. In fact we are just average mortals. And like average mortals, we do better work if paid regularly and in full.

BORN OF WRONG PARENTAGE

He committed suicide! Yes, race makes a difference. The man in this case—driven to despair—was none other than Captain Wolfgang Furstner. He, more than any other, made possible the excellent record of young Germans at the recent Olympics.

Despite a good record and the well wishes of fellow officers, he was dismissed from his post. He selected the wrong parents before being born. He was "non-Aryan". He had been subject to attack by Julius Streicher's anti-Jewish paper.

Of all the mistakes made by mortals the need-less crushing of worthy spirits for causes beyond their control seems the most heartless—and hard to understand. What possible good can come?

NO MORATORIUM ON PREACHING

Much has been said and written about the advice of the New York rector, to the effect that America would be better off if preaching were done away with for a time. . . . Preachers and writers—all, in fact, whose penchant or livelihood consist in expounding opinions to the public—are subject to discouraging attacks. Yet both fill an essential role. And, incidentally, many ministers like Lloyd C. Douglas and the late S. Parkes Cadman have proven themselves quite as adept at popular writing as the columnists.

Though the cook doesn't turn out a Christmas dinner every day, we think she had better stick to the job. And the "average man" who wrote to the New York Times that he felt the need of the weekly comfort and inspiration in a fairly good sermon, spoke for millions.

Writers and preachers cannot turn out masterpieces every week, but it's a mighty poor editorial or sermon that hasn't some real food in it for someone.

Vancouver to Have Largest Bridge

Plans for the construction of the largest suspension bridge in the British Empire across the First Narrows between Stanley Park and the North Shore in Vancouver harbor will soon be completed.

Mr. A. J. Taylor, chairman and engineer-in-chief of the First Narrows Bridge Company, Limited, stated in Montreal that orders have been given for completion of plans for the $6,000,000 bridge as soon as possible. He stated at the same time that he expects to let contracts for the construction work in Canada, but nothing will be definitely decided in that regard before the next week or two.

Last fifteen years or so vegetable oils have been coconut oil—soya bean oil—the constituents of soap and margarine. These come in much smaller shipments as part of a general cargo—the ships being fitted with tanks of varying capacities, and tanks must be provided at the place of discharge to receive this cargo or the ship may have to move to the tanks or discharge the oil into a tank lighter which will carry it to its destination. Quite recently latex—which is the juice out of the rubber tree—has been transported in its liquid condition, so as to avoid the operation of turning it into dry rubber and then melting down into a liquid, in which form it is required for some manufacturers. And there must be cold storage warehouses to receive the meat, butter and other articles which are transported in a frozen or chilled condition.

A port must also have equipment for loading heavy pieces of machinery: not many ships can lift more than about 10 tons with their own gear, and 30 tons would be an exceptional weight for a ship to manage, so there must be cranes either fixed to which the ship can move, or floating cranes which can move about the harbour, pick up the heavy package from the railway train or the motor vehicle and carry to the ship and put it on board.

The stowage of a ship with general cargo involves a great deal of knowledge and skill. The cargo must be stowed so that the ship is stable and not liable to capsize: that is, the heavier goods must be at the bottom and, as the ordinary lower hold is at least 20 feet deep, care must be taken that the weight of the goods on the top does not crush the packages at the bottom. And you must be careful that goods are not quite in contact with goods which may damage them: two quite harmless articles if mixed, as they may be through the breaking of their packages, may make in combination a dangerous explosive; if a package containing liquids leaks the liquid may do serious damage to the neighboring goods; an article with a strong smell may damage other goods—as, for instance, oranges and apples will lower the value of meat or wheat flour by their smell. And then if a ship is going to several ports the goods must be put in so that those wanted at the first port of discharge are on top and readily accessible.

You may ask how much work a good modern vessel can do in the day. This depends on circumstances. If you are dealing with a cargo consisting of one article only, such as grain, metallic ore, or coal, which can be handled by mechanical appliances, many thousand tons can be put in or out in a day; but a general cargo in which each package has to be put in its place by hand takes longer. The speed at which you can handle cargo depends on whether both sides of the ship can be used at once, which means that a substantial portion of the cargo must go into or come out of lighters or barges, since only one side of the ship can be against the quay or wharf, but in favourable circumstances in this respect, and assuring that not much of the cargo is of abnormal size or shape, a good modern ship about 480 feet long should easily handle 1,000 tons in a working day, and more with overtime. So the people in charge of the loading of the ship—the superintendents in a home port, or the master and mates in a foreign port—require to know their business properly and give care and thought to it. This is an important matter, as many people like to give their custom to a line which they feel confident will deliver the goods punctually and in good order.

There are many ports at which nothing is done except to put passengers and goods in or out of the ship, but every ship must have a home port at which she can get a periodical clean up and execute any repairs which may become necessary. A ship must go into dry dock about once every six months in order that the hull may be cleaned and painted; after a few months in salt water shellfish and seaweed start growing on the hull, particularly in tropical waters, and if these are not removed the ship's speed is reduced and more fuel has to be used. The bottom, the rudder and the propellers all require periodical inspection to make sure they are right. The home port must be properly equipped with engineering shops: in a modern ship the engines are very elaborate—there is the main engine for propelling the ship; there are subsidiary engines for steering; handling the cargo; electric lighting; wireless telegraphy; and refrigerating—for an up-to-date ship does not carry cargo under refrigeration she has freezing machinery for carrying the provisions for the voyage. Careful attention must be given to make sure that everything is in order—not only the machinery but the hull itself, the boats to be used in case of need, and the hatches which cover the entrance to the holds into which the cargo is put. A hatch is the hole in the deck through which the cargo is put in or out of the ship. Thirty feet long by eighteen feet wide is not an extreme size but this would be a big hole and a lot of water would go down it very quickly. The usual covering consists of a set of steel beams, all of which are removed when cargo is being handled: on these beams a deck of wooden planks is laid and this deck is covered with a strong water-tight tarpaulin securely fastened down. In practice this arrangement works all right, but all the details of the work must be thoroughly carried out or there is real danger. Then the home port must be ready to supply the ship with gear such as ropes, steel or hemp, chains, bedding, crockery, provisions and good fresh water, and—fuel, either oil or coal.

Let us think of the ship loaded up at her home port somewhere in the British Isles with a cargo of miscellaneous British manufactures, ready to sail. The crew come aboard: the pilot arrives and takes charge of the navigation until the open sea is reached, and the ship sails. In some cases she is in the sea almost at once, but in other ports, such as London, Liverpool and Glasgow there is quite a long way to go through a fairly narrow channel before the sea is reached. These channels require constant attention by the harbour authorities in respect of dredging, so as to maintain the depth of water; and buoys and lights to mark the channel. All this means expense; but the only alternative is delay which means more expense, or possibly accidents due to cutting things fine. The pilot is an official licensed by the pilotage authority and it is compulsory to employ him; but in practice at most ports the regular lines have special men assigned to them so that the pilot and navigating officers get to know one another and the pilot knows the ship and exactly what she will do. Every ship does not answer her helm in precisely the same way as another and in narrow channels or when meeting a lot of other vessels it is essential that the navigator should know whether the ship will make a quick or slow response to the order to go to port or starboard. When the ship has discharged the pilot the master is responsible for the navigation, with the assistance of the mates, most of whom are frequently qualified masters.

The safety of the ship depends primarily on proper design and construction and proper maintenance and equipment, all of which it is the duty of the shipowner to provide; and secondly on the care and attention given to navigation by the master and officers. An old friend of mine used to say: "If the ship sinks without hitting anything harder than water the owners are disgraced—if she does hit anything harder than water the master, officers and crew are disgraced." Perhaps this saying is a little extreme and there may be exceptional cases, but it is not far off the truth.

There is no real reason why a ship should be wrecked but mistakes will always be made until we get a different set of human beings and, while some accidents are undoubtedly due to gross carelessness, at other times an almost pardonable error of judgment may result in a serious catastrophe. Actually seafaring is a fairly safe occupation, and the proof of it is that no one who was told that his friend was taking a trip to China, Australia, South America, or any other remote place would think that the friend was risking his life unusually.

Married in Dalesville Baptist Church

SILVERSON — MORROW

The marriage of Miss Annie Gertrude, daughter of Mr. W. H. and the late Mrs. Morrow, to Mr. Robert Norman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Silverson, both of Dalesville, was solemnized last Saturday afternoon by Rev. C. Hardie in the Dalesville Baptist Church, which was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers for the occasion.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of Brussels lace with a veil to match, and carried a bouquet of white lilies and maiden-hair fern. Her only attendant, Miss Bertha MacLean, was attired in blue georgette crepe and carried pink roses.

Mr. Howard Morrow, brother of the bride, acted as best man for the bridegroom, and the ushers were Messrs. Douglas Dixon and Archie Morrow. During the signing of the register Mrs. Hardie sang "Oh Perfect Love."

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride, at which the immediate relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Silverson left for a motor trip through the lower provinces, the bride wearing an imported tailored brown suit with accessories to match and a Russian kolinski fur, the gift of the groom. On their return they will reside in Lachute.

The pastor of the Church, M. V. Bro. Rev. S. J. Pike, P.D.G.C., B.A., delivered the sermon, to an audience which taxed the full capacity of the building, on the theme: "The Verities of Organism." Mr. Pike, citing historical data by which Orangeism became organized, established and maintained, gave a graphic picture of present conditions in which the Order is privileged to propagate its truths, and issued the challenge for the apparent problems which lie ahead in the Society becoming more and more the "Handmaiden of the Church, Defender of the Faith, and Guardian of the Sacred Word." Special music was furnished by the choir and male quartette, who rendered "Quit You Like Men." Hymns included "The Church's One Foundation", "O God of Bethel", "In Christ There is No East Nor West", and "Rise Up, O Men of God". Mr. Pike was assisted in the services by Rev. Chas. Cushing.

The Grand Master brought greetings from the Grand Lodge, and the County Master expressed the appreciation of his Lodge and County to the officials of the church for the use of the building, to the choir for their splendid service, to Mr. Pike for his stirring message, and to the officers and members of the Order for the very fine turn out, intimating that the occasion might be indicative of greater things for the future. Messrs. W. Cooper, D. Steele, W. Hazel and H. Graham acted as ushers.

Local Tourists on Ship Which Rammed Freighter in St. Lawrence

WITNESSED RESCUE SCENES

A party of seven tourists from this district were aboard the liner Lafayette cruising from New York to Quebec when the ship struck the freighter Benmaple in the St. Lawrence channel early Monday morning. The Lafayette was damaged considerably, and the crew from the sinking freighter were taken aboard the liner, tourists and passengers being witnesses to the rescue. The freighter was carrying a cargo of flour when the head-on collision occurred in a dense fog. A wheelman on the freighter was drowned and three others, injured in the wreckage, are now in hospital at Quebec.

The party from this section included Mr. and Mrs. S. Goldsworthy and Mr. Jno. Rogers of Lachute, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Talbot and Mrs. Wm. Fletcher of Brownsburg, and Mrs. I. Arnold of Grenville. They had travelled by bus to New York and embarked on the S. S. Lafayette for Quebec, making a seven-day trip which, apart from the unhappy adventure of Monday morning, afforded an otherwise pleasant experience.

The pastor of Ste. Agathe des Monts is 63 years of age. He was ordained priest on June 12, 1897, and served in his first pastoral role as the cure here at St. Philippe d'Argenteuil.

Guide's Death Probed at St. Jerome

DROWNING ACCIDENT IN NORTHERN LAKE

Coroner J. R. Brais, M.D., of St. Jerome, announced a verdict of accidental death in the case of Thomas Emond of Lac Tremblant, who was drowned at La Lacarpe on Monday afternoon. The inquest was held at St. Jovite, where the body was taken following its recovery.

The coroner was informed that Emond, employed as a guide, had gone to Lac Lacarpe with two tourists from the United States. The lake is 60 miles from Lac Tremblant. The three men were in a canoe on Monday afternoon at 4.30 p.m. when the canoe upset and Emond, though a good swimmer, was drowned despite the efforts of his two companions to save him.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

'Make Your Pictures Say Something'

Always have your subjects doing something

HUNDREDS of thousands of juvenile story books are sold every year and the ones we loved most in our younger years were those translated into pictures, because they had a human appeal. All through our lives we retain our interest in picture stories. It is this appeal that takes us to the movies and causes us to look through the pages of daily newspapers and magazines for pictures that tell stories of human activities.

But when it comes to snapshots, so many seem to forget how much they enjoy looking at story-telling pictures. They pick up their cameras and just shoot, seemingly satisfied to get any pictures at all, as it was in the old days of "You Press the Button and We Do the Rest." There is a better way to take pictures.

If you want to enjoy some good laughs take a look at some of the pictures in the old family album or some of the snapshots you took several years ago. There you will probably find some perfect examples of record pictures—pictures of Uncle Charlie or Aunt Minnie in a stiff pose against the trunk of a tree or with an unattractive garage door as a background. Don't take pictures of your friends just standing looking at the camera. Have them: lighting a cigarette, reading, or doing something to season the picture with that human interest touch that should be in every film you expose.

You go out on a picnic with your friends. What do you do? The chances are that you line up the gang, you snap the camera and again have just another picture when it would be just as easy to have the crowd enjoying the lunch and perhaps one member busily engaged in the act of "exterminating" a luscious ear of corn or doing a "boarding house reach" for the potato salad.

If you were making movies, would you take foot after foot of film with your actors doing nothing? Of course not, and it isn't a bad idea to think of your "still" camera as a movie camera filming a drama. Get action and meaning. This means that you should think before you shoot.

The two pictures above really "say something." Jack's picture with his bicycle tells of "chain trouble" and a delay in meeting the gang at the vacant lot for a game of baseball, while Billie is probably telling his young girl friend about his great adventures as a sailor; of pirate's gold and Pieces of Eight.

In case you have never given much thought to this before, just take a look through a newspaper or magazine and notice which please you more—pictures of people merely looking at the camera or pictures of people doing something humanly interesting and significant. Chances are that the story-telling pictures will be your choice, and you'll make up your mind that hereafter that's the kind you'll aim to take. Good luck!

DREAMY THOUGHTS

"You know," said little Blue Eyes, As she laid her golden head Upon her snowy pillow In her tiny little bed—

"I am glad that I'm a girlie And do not have to fly About out in the darkness, Where the little night-things cry.

"I would not want to be an owl— The poor, dear lonely thing Just sits and hoots beside the swamp Where small, green froggies sing.

"Nor would I want to be a toad, To have to hop and hop Amongst the dark, damp bushes Of the garden near the shop,

"And have to eat such horrid things As insects, bugs and lice, That prey upon the roses— I am sure they can't be nice!

"I'd rather be a girlie Even though my teacher's cross, For I can go to bed at night, And dream that I'm her boss!"

Cordelia hoped that the kind-looking mouse who sat by her at the supper table would tell her why he looked so familiar to her, but he did not. He just looked at her with kind, twinkling eyes. This made her feel that he was indeed her friend and would help the Soft-Fur family to protect her against Silly Curly if he should try to hurt her. She felt quite sure that there was some wicked plan in Silly Curly's mind regarding herself. The thought made her feel rather sober and a look of fear filled her eyes. Little Clip noted her frightened expression and pattered around to the back of her stool, whispering, "Don't mind Silly Curly, Cordelia, we won't let him hurt you. He's just an old Puff Ball anyway—All blow and no go," he chuckled.

Cordelia felt a giggle rising up in her throat, but seeing that Silly Curly was watching her, she put her hand up quickly and smothered the chuckle so that she appeared to be coughing instead. "Clip," his mother said, "Come back and sit down until after dessert is finished. It is not polite to leave the table until our guests have finished, without asking permission." "O! 'Scuse me, Mother Soft-Fur" cried Clip, making her a very elaborate bow before darting back to his seat. He looked so very saucy and mischievous that all of the mouse families chuckled a bit, that is, all but Silly Curly—and Cordelia thought perhaps it was because he had an idea who it was that frightened him a short time before, when they had been playing outside.

Cordelia had not taken time to look carefully at the pudding until this moment when it was being served. What a strange mixture of colors it was, reds, greens, browns and blues. She been made from, but could not guess until she heard Tip's wail of, "Oh Mother! another scrap-book pudding! How could you, when you know that I love so much to look at them, and I did not even see this one!" "Tut tut, child!" his father replied. "They are much better to eat than to keep."

The mutinous expression and the unruly twitching of Tip's small whiskered nose told Cordelia that he did not agree on this subject. Cordelia did not either. She felt that scrap-books were much better to keep, or to send to hospitals, than to eat. This particular scrap-book had been a beauty, too. She remembered it now. She and Ted had made the paste themselves one rainy day when Katie had been in particularly good humour, and had allowed them to play in the kitchen. She had helped them cut pictures to, because it was too wet for her to take her usual afternoon out. They had left the finished scrap-book on top of the kitchen sideboard to dry, and had forgotten about it, because she had taken the measles and Ted had been hurried out to Grandma's in the country. Then in some way the Soft-Fur Family had got hold of it and chewed it into small pieces for the sake of the paste—here it was, greeting her in Jettyland! As she sat wondering if everything that disappeared in their home came down to Jettyland, she did not see Uncle Roughy Longtoes reaching for his harp. The sound of music made her start and turn so sharply that she bumped Silly Curly as he was passing her to ask Aunt Fanny Longtoes to dance with him. "All right", he squeaked shrilly, "If you are so anxious to dance come on." Grasping her by the arm with his sharp claws he attempted to pull her to her feet.

Lovingly, Aunt Jean.

Ducks Are Born Actors

Otis Skinner claims that "the best actors are babies and ducks because they are the most natural in front of the camera." This reminds us—they caught a duck in a Canadian lake the other day going round and round like the music. Somehow it had slit the webbing on one foot.

But while speaking of ducks you possibly recall the farmer who had no truck but needed to get a hundred ducks to a buyer many miles distant. He decided to put shoes on them so they could stand it to walk without injuring their feet.

The first poured a barrel of tar in front of a gate leading to the pen and then said, "Shoo!" He then dumped several bags of fine sand outside the exit, opened it and said "Shoo!" again. That made two shoes for each duck, and they made the journey without getting sore feet.

Hollywood Sights Amaze Tourist Visitors

Beautiful Girls Wear Evening Dresses at High Noon

Strange are the sights one sees in Hollywood.

Indians and cowboys and Hindus roam the streets.

Visitors there recently were amazed when they saw a large company of Indians and British soldiers fraternizing on bicycles on Hollywood boulevard.

It was not until the visitors learned that the cyclists were extras employed in the picturization of an American classic, "Last of the Mohicans", that they would believe their eyes.

The boulevard was startled one day recently when an automobile, with machine guns blazing smoke from the rear window, went whizzing along pursued by a squadron of motorcycle officers, firing in return at the pursued car.

The boulevard first had been cleared of traffic so that no danger was involved to motorists and pedestrians.

The motorcycle officers pursuing the "mysterious black sedan" were followed by an ambulance also travelling at high speed.

It was all for the sake of "Art", the filming of a sequence for a motion picture.

It is a common sight to see scores of beautiful girls cross Hollywood boulevard at high noon in evening dresses and men in evening regalia sitting at soda fountains with shop girls and filling station attendants. The beautifully garbed people are "extras" either on lunch relief from studios, or en route home after finishing work at studios.

Eyes of beholders further were amazed recently to see what appeared to be a large boat being side-paddled along Hollywood boulevard. It was part of a "stage set" being transported to a studio for the shooting of a waterfront scene.

The making of movies ever has been a lure for visitors, who, generally denied admission to studios, nevertheless obtain frequent glimpses of movie people on Hollywood streets.

Why Does a Whip Crack?

At the end of the flick of a lash the point is travelling through the air with extraordinary rapidity.

The crack, which is merely a miniature thunderclap, is caused by the violence with which air rushes to take the place of the air displaced by the movement of the lash.

"Little Emma" Is Problem

When Mrs. E. L. McGarry of Miami, Fla., otherwise known as "Little Emma", ambled into a Sarnia restaurant for breakfast her six-foot, 600-pound frame created a major seating problem. A wooden packing crate placed at the end of the counter was the solution.

NOR HER NUMBER

"Am I the kind of girl you'd give your name to?"
"Yes, but not my real name."

Collie Scorched by Lightning

A white collie owned by Chris Hodgson of Burnt River, Ont., became a "hot dog" during an electrical storm that swept Victoria County the other day. Lightning struck the chimney of the house and followed a wire to the shed where the dog was standing. The collie was struck by the bolt and his fur was scorched to a dark brown.

WE MOVE

We move again. This time not from one house to another but from London to Halifax. It is with mixed feelings of pleasure and regret that we go. It is a wrench to leave our friends in this part of the country but Himself goes back to his boyhood home so that he will have the pleasure of renewing old friendships, and the rest of us can anticipate making new ones. The attitude of people to our move has been a very diverse one. Some have felt very sorry for us in having to move. Some of the died-in-the-wool Londoners have had great sympathy for us in having to leave

London. That has amused us but as a matter of fact, we have thought London a lovely city in which to live, but do not feel that it is the only good city. London and Halifax are somewhat the same size. Just about the right size for comfortable living. Not too large and not too small. Many of our friends have envied us our move. They seemed to think it is a good thing to move occasionally to new or at least different work. It was announced in the local papers that my husband had received a promotion and whether it is unusual these days to get one or not I do not know, but people that we scarcely know and others that we have never met before, have spoken of it. Many envy us the privilege of living in Halifax and the men specially have said that they wished they could move to Nova Scotia to be near the sea. We are all looking forward to our new home. I am hoping to get some new recipes and ideas for my readers. The Maritime women may not all be good cooks, but I have met quite a number of them, and I never have known one yet that was not an excellent cook.

FIRST DAYS AT SCHOOL

It is no unusual thing for a child's appetite to fail when it starts to school. The first few days are full of excitement, whether they are starting for the first time, or whether they are going to a new teacher. This will be specially true of the child who is inclined to be highly strung. Many adults lose their appetite when excited, so it is not surprising that the child does too. If this does happen, never let on you notice it. Do not call attention to it in any way. Very probably the child does not realize that it is not hungry and harm will be done by emphasizing it. Leave it alone for a few days and the appetite will come back much faster if nothing has been said. Tempt by choosing the foods that the child likes specially. Give something extra before bed-time, such as hot cocoa or a malted milk drink of one of the many preparations and some plain cookies or buttered crackers. Serve fruit juices between times and try to give casually more small meals and do not worry about the loss of appetite. Children do love to see their mother worry and fuss over them. So, disappoint them this time.

FED UP WITH FOOD

As a rule, food interests me very much. I like to eat, I enjoy cooking, and am interested in reading or talking about food. That is, most of the time I do. Right now I feel as if I never wanted to get a meal ready again. I guess I have been getting too many meals ready for too many people for too long a time. Thanks be, I am on a holiday and I will not have to do a thing about food for some time, except to eat it. Saturday morning I walked through the market, and did I get a kick out of thinking that I did not have to buy a thing, and Monday a holiday too. The Saturday buying in summer, when Monday is a holiday, is always a problem, because one never knows what may turn up before the stores are open. Visiting and eating at hotels and restaurants should give me a few new ideas on food, and anything that I find specially interesting I will pass on. I did say a minute ago that I wasn't interested in writing about food right now, but maybe I will change my mind. Here are two good things I have had already. The Pear Tartlets I had at a hotel and the Pepper Jelly at a friend's house.

PEAR TARTLETS

Fill baked tart shells with a Cream Filling. Use your regular Cream Pie Filling, place a cooked pear on top and pipe whipped cream around edge. The combination of Cream Filling, pear and whipped cream was specially good. The filling was flavoured with vanilla, but I have an idea that a drop or two of almond flavouring would be worth trying.

RED PEPPER JELLY

Remove seeds from 1 dozen sweet red peppers and put through the chopper. Cover with cold water and bring to a boil. Drain and cover scantily with vinegar. Add 2 lemons cut in quarters. Cook for 30 minutes. Remove the lemons, add 1½ lbs. granulated sugar, and cook until thick. Bottle in sterilized jars and cover with paraffin. This is an especially good relish to serve with turkey. It can, of course, be served with other meats and is a pleasing addition to sandwich fillings.

CANTELOUPE SUNDAY

This seemed to me to be an improvement on the usual one which is ice cream served in a half canteloupe. The canteloupe was diced, sweetened and chilled, and the fruit and juice poured over the ice cream.

Queen Victoria Shocked

Subjects by Ry. Journey

When Queen Victoria, in June, 1842, made her first journey by train from Slough to Paddington, and declared that she had enjoyed it, wide circles in Britain sustained a serious shock. Men and women shook their heads, observed a writer in Pearson's Weekly. According to contemporary records, Queen Victoria "accomplished the journey free from dust and crowd and heat, and was quite charmed with it." The queen's favorite coachman insisted upon accompanying the engine-driver in order to see that nothing was done to endanger her safety. When he descended from the footplate at Paddington station, reliable observers say he resembled a disheveled negro minstrel more than a servant in Royal livery.

A question was afterwards asked in the house of commons by an M. P. who "thought that her majesty's person should not be subjected to the hazards of railway travel." An answer was given stating that two carriages had been interposed between the engine and the carriage occupied by the queen, to obviate risk of collision.

In those days many notable people strongly opposed the new mode of travel. The duke of Cumberland, for instance, in the house of lords, voted against a bill for a new railway because "it would be very disturbing to the Eton boys." He added that "passengers would be shaken to death in these devil's carriages, and all for what?"

DOING WELL

"Oh yes," said the proud matron, "I have six sons." "And what are they doing?" asked her friend. "Well, the eldest is a senator, and the second is also a half-wit. The third has the Croix de Guerre, and the fourth wasn't in France either. The fifth is a banker, and the youngest has the cell right next to him." —Rotary "Fellow"

Colored Woman of Edmonton Remembered Slavery Days

Mrs. Hattie Thompson, colored, who would have been 101 had she lived another week, died at Edmonton, Alta., on Monday. Mrs. Thompson was born into slavery at Louisville, Ky., before the Civil War. Her grandmother, she said, lived to be 124 years old, and only two years ago, Mrs. Thompson, then in splendid health and able to thread a needle without spectacles, declared that "the Good Lord has kept me healthy and saved my wits."

Her earliest memory was of her grandmother and of being sold away from her home plantation to work on an estate at Chillicothe, Mo. The master himself was opposed to beating slaves, and it was the mistress who used to lash them terribly with cat-o-nine-tails.

"We never got nothing but whippings, and it weren't no good to try to get away because they set the bloodhounds after us," she said once.

She well remembered the Civil War, which eventually resulted in her freedom. She used to tell how her master hid in the woods of the plantation to escape the Union soldiers, and how she as a slave girl took food to him to defeat the objects of the northern troops and so deterred the forces which were trying to end slavery.

Hop to it, May!

We have all heard of the man who wasn't afraid of work. He could lie right down beside it and go to sleep. We have also heard of people who would fly at their work. But up at Goldfields, Sask., there is a Miss who flies to work. Having done up the housework for miners at Goldfields the first part of the week she hops in a plane for Warren Camp, thirty-five miles distant, where she cleans up the miners' cabins and clothes. Everything in spick and span shape including the laundry, this ambitious seventeen-year-old then flies back to Goldfields and starts all over again. She gets good pay and has lots of fun. Nevertheless, she is looking forward to someday specializing on one cabin for one miner. At present her name is May Jean Rice.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Sept. 6th, is "Man."

The Golden Text is:—"Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace." (Psalms 37: 37).

The following passages are selected from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them."

"Man reflects infinite Truth, Life, and Love. The nature of man, thus understood, includes all that is implied by the terms 'image' and 'likeness' as used in Scripture." (Science and Health, page 94).

On the Other Side of the World

Contacts established between Quebec Women's Institutes and the sister organizations in New Zealand reveal strange facts. It is difficult to realize that there on the other side of the world, winter is just now waning to its close, and people are planning their vegetable and flower gardens, and deciding which particular plants or seeds must go first into the ground. Here it is the summer that is almost over, with winter just around the corner, and the fruits of the earth must be harvested and preserved for use in the barren months ahead.

Yet, although carried on at opposite sides of the world and of the year, the pursuits of the Women's Institutes are much the same in all countries where they exist and this fact forms a link of friendship between those who in all probability will never see each other's faces.

Artificial Diamonds

Artificial diamonds were made many years ago by a French chemist, Henri Moissan. He got his idea when tiny diamonds were found in fragments of iron meteorites, according to a writer in "Tit-Bits" Magazine. Knowing diamonds were crystallized carbon he attempted to reproduce the conditions which had once existed in the meteorites. Dissolving carbon in molten iron he then suddenly cooled the mass. This caused the outside to harden first forming an outer shell which contracted and exerted a tremendous pressure on the inner substance. When the entire mass had cooled and hardened Moissan dissolved the iron away with hydrochloric acid and found that tiny diamonds had been formed from the carbon.

Movable Freezing Point

Water will freeze when enclosed in a vacuum; it will freeze at a point 1-100 of a degree higher than the ordinary freezing point. To freeze, water must expand. By placing a great pressure upon it and limiting its expansion, it is possible to reduce the freezing point. Experimenters have kept it from freezing, by this method, until it was several degrees below the zero of the Fahrenheit scale. Correspondingly, by reducing the normal pressure on the water expansion is freer and the freezing point is raised. The atmosphere pressure being comparatively slight, the creation of a vacuum serves to raise the freezing point only a small fraction of a degree.

Perry's Cave

Perry's Den, or Perry's Cave, is located about three-fourths of a mile southeast of Put-In-Bay harbor, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The floor of the cave is about 31 feet below the surface. The cave, which is electrically lighted, is oval shaped, the highest point being about nine feet above the floor. Only a few stalagmites are left in place.

OVER 1,000 PEOPLE INSPECTED C. P. R. STREAMLINED TRAIN

Novel Features Drew Admiration of Crowd

Unusual excitement prevailed here last Sunday morning when the Lachute C. P. R. station was crowded with spectators anxiously awaiting arrival of the new semi-streamlined train, which was scheduled to stop at Lachute around the noon-hour for inspection. The train arrived at 12.10 p.m. and presented an interesting sight as it drew up to the platform with an ease which spoke of new grace and efficiency in these specially designed trains, to be used on the day runs between Toronto and Detroit, Montreal and Quebec, Calgary and Edmonton. A general rush was made by the public to board this train and it took the three sturdy constables (among whom was a former Lachute townsman, Sergeant Felix Jolicoeur) all their time to handle the crowd.

The buffet coach, in which refreshments can be served at tables, will be a regular part of each train when placed in service. Here the attendant in charge was kept busy selling souvenir pictorial post-cards of the new streamlined engine. The train is designed for quick travel on comparatively short runs between the above cities. Local patrons entertain the hope that the North Shore route may be favored with one of these services, the Lachute line being one of the important links between Montreal and the Capital.

The spectators took in the details of design, which include such marked improvements as the air-conditioning equipment, the new type of adjustable and rotatable seats, the individual-control lighting system over each seat, and many other features for greater convenience of the travelling public.

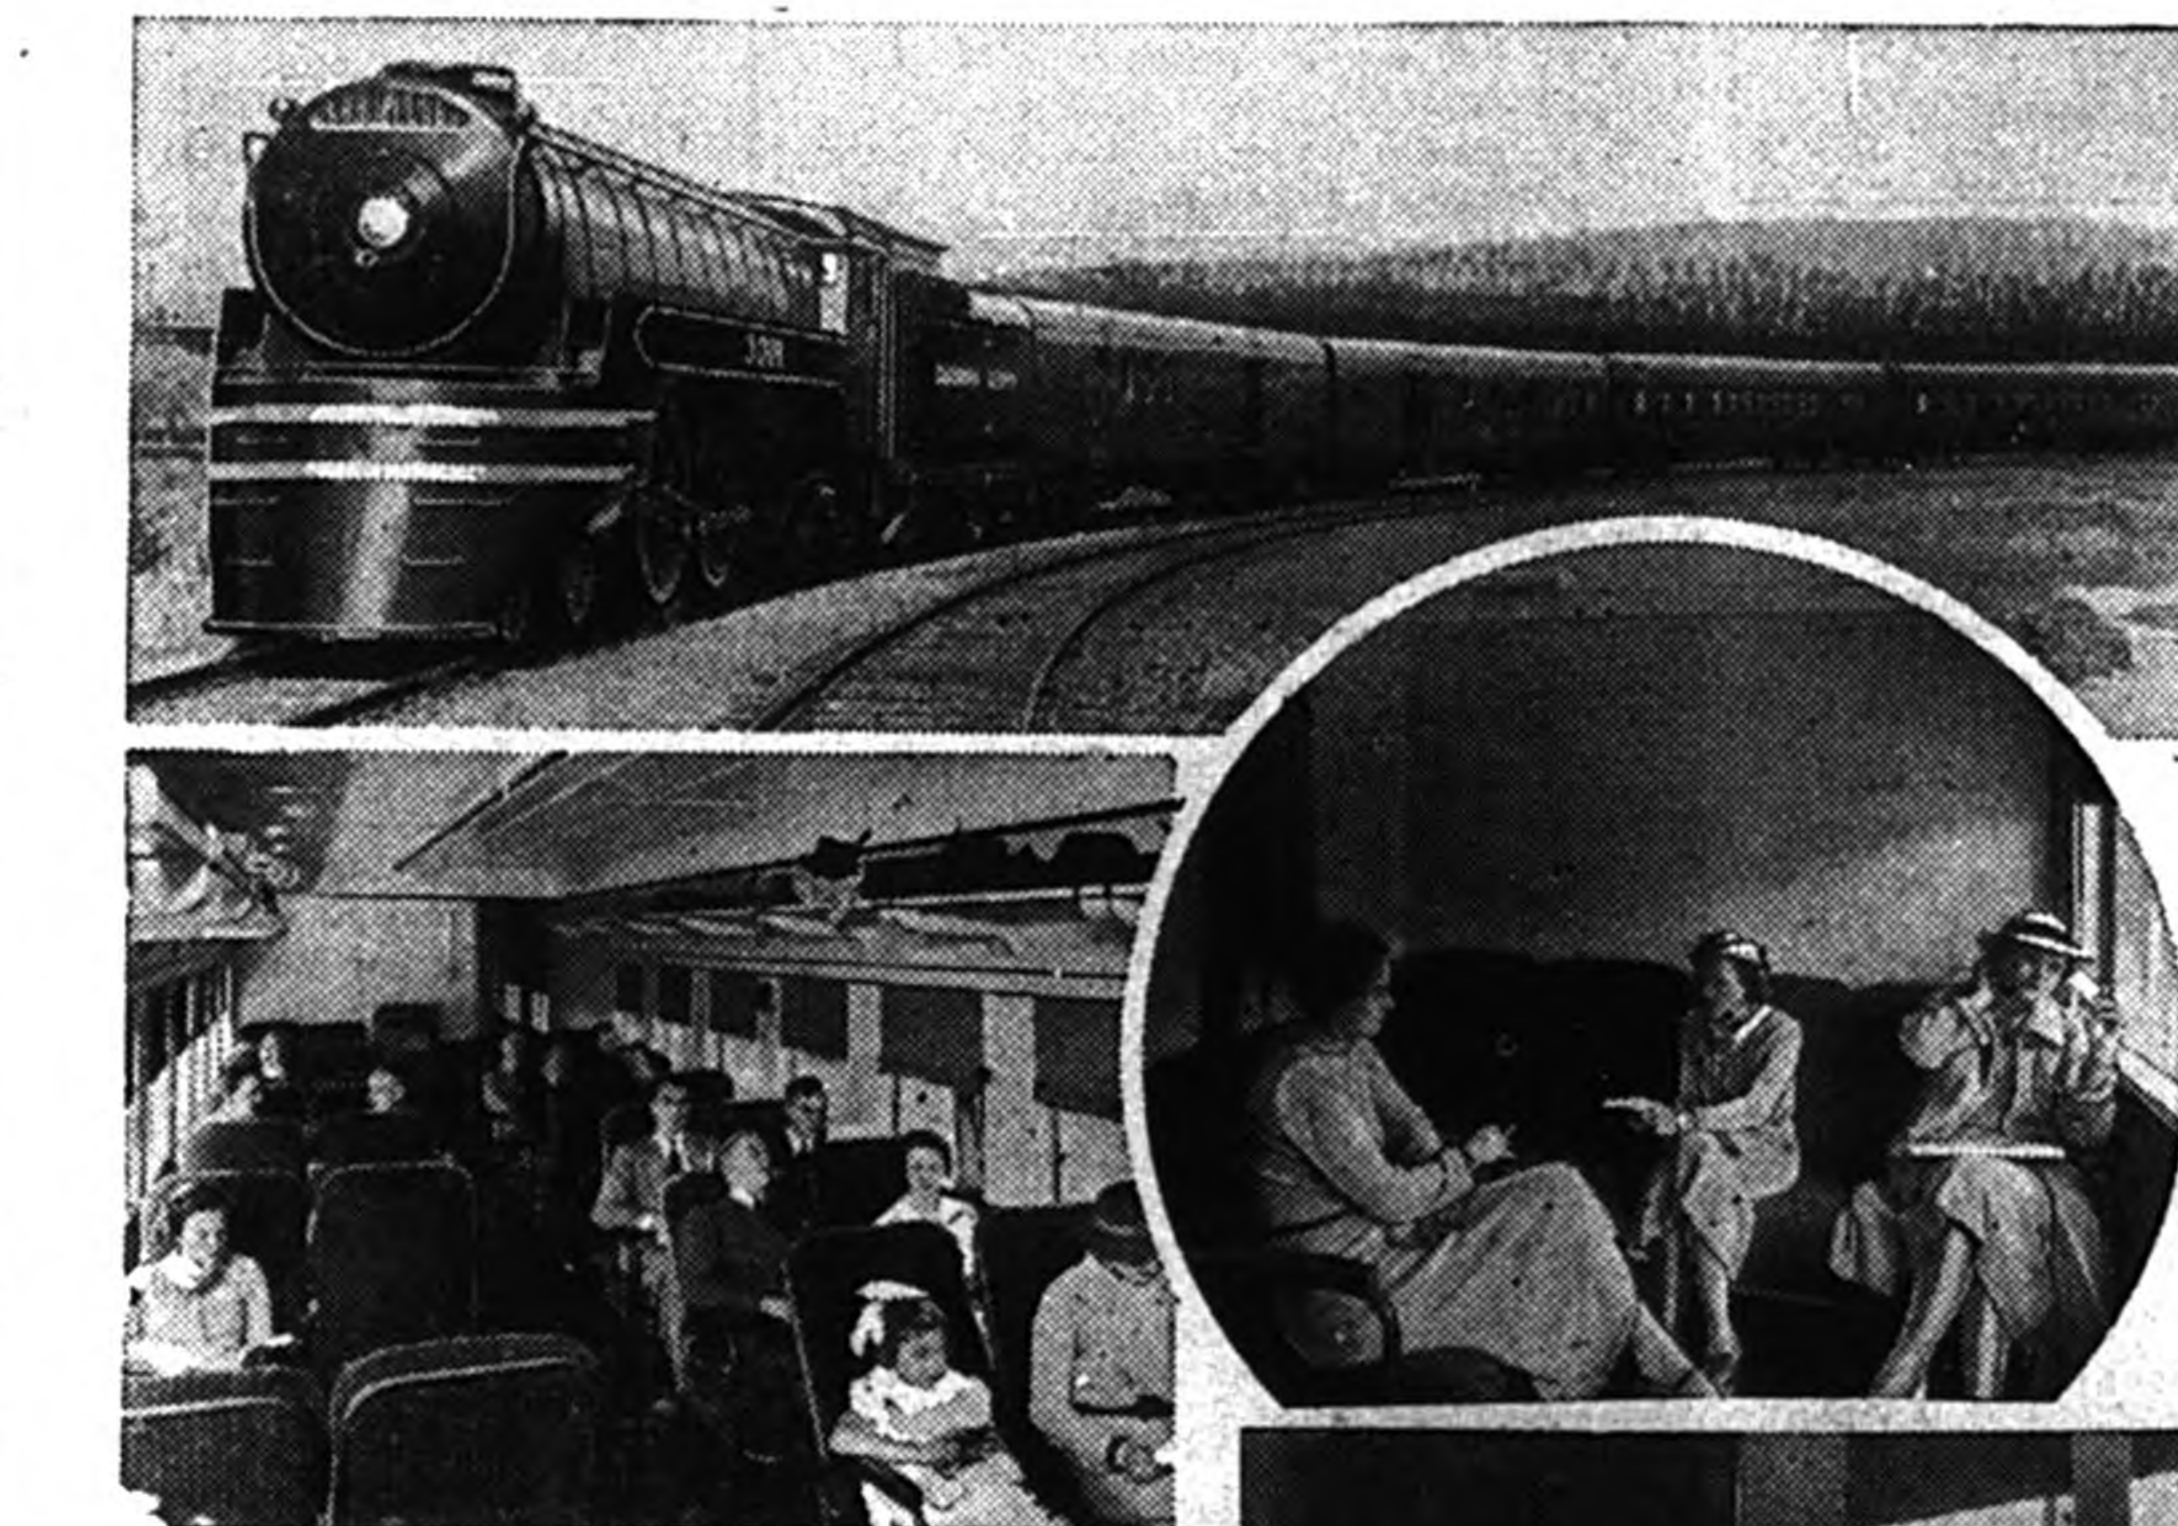

Arnold Percherons Among Winners, Quebec Exhibn.

A car-load of horses from this County were shipped last Saturday to Quebec to be entered in the exhibits by local breeders. John Walker and Son and A. T. Cleland, of Lachute, showed a number of Clydesdales at the Exhibition, while Gilbert Arnold of Grenville entered Percherons. In judging of the latter breed on Tuesday, it is learned that Mr. Arnold took fifth place with "Kardigan" in stallions four years and over; second with "Landair" in three-year-old stallions; third and sixth with "Dean Magnus" and "Arnold Wold Pat" in two-year-olds.

Hawkesbury Has a Housing Shortage

A housing shortage exists in Hawkesbury for the first time in years and as a consequence rents are on the upgrade. In many cases what were formerly old shacks have been rebuilt by their owners and made tenable and are commanding fair rents. Many houses which contained one family or at the most two, are now housing in some cases as many as five. Disused business premises are being renovated and turned into apartments. Only last week a "to let" sign was affixed to a house on a west end street. In less than an hour no less than twelve prospective tenants called at the ience of the travelling public. The comfort of the coaches, especially, drew favorable comment. During the brief visit no fewer than 1,088 people shared the experience of passing through the train. Mr. R. A. Sewell, Superintendent of the C. P. R. Laurentian Division, Mr. J. Gonovan, roadmaster, with other officials were on hand, and the inspection was marked by the courtesy and friendliness which is synonymous with the service of the railroad.

Minor Business at Meeting of Town Council

Lachute Town Council met last Thursday in an adjourned meeting, with the following members present: Mayor Dr. J. H. Mason and Aldermen F. Deslauriers, W. J. Deacon, H. Lamarche, K. McOuat, J. W. MacGibbon, C. Durocher and O. Laurin. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, also the finance committee's report and accounts were duly adopted and payment ordered. It was moved by Ald. J. W. MacGibbon, seconded by Ald. F. Deslauriers, that By-law No. 140 relating to Grace Street sewer be declared read the second time.

On motion of Ald. C. Durocher, seconded by Ald. W. J. Deacon, Monday, Labor Day, was declared a public holiday in Lachute.

It was moved by Ald. J. W. MacGibbon, seconded by Ald. K. McOuat, that Ald. H. Lamarche be authorized to gather photographs of former mayors for general interest and use, should occasion arise.

The Council adjourned until Friday, Sept. 11th.

Safety League Urges Care at Level Crossings

In an effort to reduce further accidents in the province and particularly at railway crossings, the Province of Quebec Safety League is printing 500,000 cards to be distributed to motorists throughout the province, begging them to stop at all crossings as ordered by the law. The card will point out the number of serious accidents that have been caused by failure to obey the law.

These cards will be distributed with the aid of parish priests and the secretaries of the various municipalities. Members of the Courteous Chauffeurs' Club will be asked to co-operate by giving the example and obeying the law. Railways will also be asked to External Markets Command Attention at Ottawa. Results Justify Bennett Trade-Pacts with Britain. Commerce Abroad Shows Encouraging Come-Back.

"The Ottawa Spotlight"
By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, September 8—External markets for Canadian products is a matter about which the present government is giving a great deal of time and attention. One of its first acts was to conclude the trade agreement with the United States. A second was to exchange notes with Japan, bringing a tariff war to an end. Later there were agreements with Haiti, Brazil, Poland, New Zealand, Uruguay.

This summer Canada had three "travelling salesmen" overseas on a similar mission. Now they are back, and the government is discussing the deals they made while they were away, which must, of course, be ratified before they take effect.

Canada and Isolation

(Editorial in St. Thomas Times-Journal)

All sorts of ideas are liable to be expounded when delegates speak at such gatherings as the Institute on Economics and Politics at Geneva Park, Lake Couchiching. A good many of the delegates are theorists, and to their own satisfaction they can always prove their theories.

There was Professor Jean Bruchesi of the University of Montreal, who said that Canada is the only country that has any right to demand that Canadians give their lives for. He said the usual things about not being dragged into Britain's wars, and declared that when a Britisher spoke about the Empire he meant Britain and nothing else, whether his name was Baldwin, help by aiding in the distribution of the cards. Respect of the railway crossing law has been proved to be the best method of eliminating railway crossing accidents.

Messrs. Dunning and Gardiner were exploring the British market, which always ranks first or second (sometimes one, sometimes the other) among Canada's external markets.

OTTAWA AGREEMENT MAY CONTINUE

The Ottawa agreements, which gave Canada free entry plus tariff preferences for many products, were signed in August 1932, and were for five years certain. But they do not automatically terminate in August 1937. There is a provision that if either country gives six months notice they terminate after five years. But if neither country denounces them in this way they continue indefinitely, until six months after a notice is given.

HIGH SCHOOL "CLOSING" AND PRIZE-GIVING WELL ATTENDED

Fete Postponed, Will be Held on Saturday

Unfavorable weather attended the Labor Day fete arranged on behalf of the St. Julien parish funds, and events scheduled for the afternoon program were postponed. The fete will be resumed on Saturday of this week, 12th. inst., when the various sports and horse-racing events will be run off. The program will commence at 2 p.m. Starter for the races will be Mr. M. Lessard, and the judges appointed are Mayor Dr. J. H. Mason, Messrs. C. Tremblay, A. Bothwell and A. Larocque.

A large gathering of High School pupils, parents and friends, attended the closing exercises and prize distribution held Tuesday evening in the Lachute United Church. Comment on the school's progress by the Chairman of the Board, Dr. J. H. Mason, and the report of Principal C. L. Hall, gave indication of a creditable year in the school's history and a scholastic standing which augurs well for the achievements of the approaching year.

The invocation was made by Inspector L. J. King. On the platform were members of the School Board, the prize donors or their representatives. These included prominent citizens of the town, members of the Women's Institute and industrial concerns, who assisted in giving out the prizes. The keen interest and attention of the scholars evidenced the inspiring angle of this annual observance. The success of the prize winners in various grades and subjects, and the optimistic tone of the entire proceedings, left an enthusiastic outlook in commencing the new year's work.

Following is the list of awards and scholarships:

Dedication Service at Lake View on Sunday Last

Rev. Principal F. Scott MacKenzie, of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, officiated at the Dedication Service of the Fraser Memorial Church, Lake View, on Sunday last.

The service was very impressive and the address by Dr. MacKenzie laid emphasis on the first duty of a church being to provide the spiritual Bread of Life. Rev. Henry Cousens, B.D., of Lachute, took part in the service by taking a Scripture Reading. The choir of Knox Presbyterian Church, Crystal Falls, under the direction of Miss Iris Evans, organist, assisted in the singing. The dedication anthem which they gave was appropriate and well received by the large audience, many of whom came long distances to be present at this dedication ceremony. The service was in charge of W. S. Sutherland, B.A., who is concluding his fourth year on this mission field which consists of three points, viz. Lost River, Lake View and Crystal Falls, each of which now has a church building in which to hold services of worship.

Died in Cell, Believed Resident of St. Columban

J. Williams, aged 59, thought to be a resident of St. Columban, died suddenly in the cells at St. Jerome police station on Tuesday night. It was found he had died of acute indigestion and Dr. J. R. Brails, coroner, gave a verdict of death due to natural causes.

Williams was found lying in a vacant lot in St. Jerome by children playing there. They summoned the police, who took the man to the station and laid a charge of being under the influence of liquor. He was put in a cell.

During the early part of the night the police found Williams dead in his cell. A doctor and the coroner were summoned immediately.

First Colonization Project Planned by New Govt.

The first Quebec colonization project under the new Duplessis Government will probably go into its "blueprint" stage next week. But this time, it is stated, the Abitibi district, the northern Quebec "Garden of Eden" planned by the past Liberal Government, will definitely be passed over—"for the present at least."

Site of the newest enterprise is to be the heart of St. Hyacinthe county. In the past week it was learned, a large delegation of unemployed from St. Henry had approached the Ministry of Colonization, and immediate study was planned.

Some 125 families, counting about 700 persons, will be involved, and it is intended to place them on land that will produce a livelihood almost immediately.

Would Form Local Branch, Canadian Legion

As noted previously in The Watchman, a movement is on foot to form a branch of the Canadian Legion here. With this purpose in view all those interested who have seen active service during any of the wars of the Empire, in any of His Majesty's armed or auxiliary forces, are requested to meet in Victoria Hall, Lachute, on Friday, Sept. 11th., at 8.30 pm.

Left hand automobile turns are responsible for twice as many fatal accidents and three times as many injured persons as those to the right, according to statistics just compiled in Europe.

Quebec May "Borrow" Scotland Yard Experts

The Province of Quebec may "borrow" two crime experts from England's famed Scotland Yard and two experts from the Paris Prefecture de la Police to study and report on projected reform of the Provincial Police, and reorganize its crime detecting facilities on a scientific basis.

This plan has been openly discussed in National Union Government circles, the press was advised recently from authoritative sources, and is actually under consideration.

The Provincial Police during campaigns of Premier Maurice Duplessis have been the target for particular criticism for some years; chief pledge of the new Premier during the August campaign was its complete reorganization. He not only flayed its "bare-faced" political activities, but also alleged that it was tainted with third-degree methods which were abhorrent to British traditions of justice.

In asking Scotland Yard and Paris' Police Prefecture to lend Quebec some of their outstanding police officials, the new Government hopes to be able to

Of course there is no likelihood of Canada serving notice next February that she wants the agreements terminated in August. It is true there were features of the agreements which the Liberals denounced. But now it is pretty clear that the Ottawa pact gave Canada a good deal more from Britain than she gave Britain.

Britain is much more likely to give notice next February that she terminates the agreement with Canada. But there is no certainty about this. So far she has not intimated whether she will or not. Canada took the precaution to send Hon. Charles Dunning over to London months before any action was pending, so that if any adjustment Canada can make will prevent the repudiation of the agreement, this can be done in time to keep the agreement alive.

These things are secrets of state. But my own guess is that Canada will be prepared to make fairly extensive concessions to Britain to retain the present free market she enjoys for her major products.

This does not necessarily mean that Britain will maintain her high duties against Canada's competitors. The present government is more inclined to be satisfied with free entry for Canadian goods. So that, by mutual consent, it is possible that the agreements will be varied to allow the Argentine and Denmark to escape some of the present duties against their goods. Britain is concluding a new agreement with the Argentine, and it is quite likely that it will be negotiated with this possibility in mind.

LONGER BREATHING SPACE

If Britain does denounce the agreement, the betting here is that she won't give notice until after the coronation in May. That would give Canada a little longer breathing space in which to come to terms with Britain.

In every budget since the Ottawa conference Canada has lowered duties against Britain. That she will again do so in the 1937 budget is virtually assured. It may be that by giving signs that she is willing to pay a little more for a continuation of the agreement, than she was to get it in the first place, she may be able to retain the benefits of a free market in Britain. This, with a rising tide of agricultural nationalism in Britain, would be a major achievement.

Whatever the explanation, whether it be improving business, increased prices or what, Canada's external trade is

Two Radio Broadcasts of Interest to the Small Home-Builder

—By GORDON S. ADAMSON, M.R.A.I.C.*

There is a desire on the part of most people to live in a single family dwelling, which for the vast majority of us means and will continue to mean the small house. This need not discourage us however, since like the larger ones, the small house should and can express its fitness for a full domestic life. Therefore it follows that a house of any size, from the largest to the smallest, should be planned to provide for all aspects of living.

We are all familiar with the small house whose smallness has been over-emphasized. This need not, and should not be the case. Let us consider now how this fault may be easily remedied.

Since most of our leisure hours are spent in the living room it should be large enough for comfortable living and pleasurable relaxation. This can be accomplished by conserving space in rooms of lesser importance. Why, at the expense of the living room, should we build a large dining room, which probably would be used to its fullest capacity only once or twice a year? Let us be content with a room just large enough to meet every day needs. With present day cupboard arrangements and labour-saving devices the kitchen may be much smaller than formerly.

The well planned small house provides easy circulation through the different rooms, but there is no waste in large and often unsightly halls and useless corners. Well considered closets and built-in equipment fill in these one-time disregarded spaces.

The feeling of added space may be increased by the use of delicate colours in decorating walls and woodwork, with preferably a predominant light colour repeated in several rooms. Incidentally, a wall pattern of hectic design has no place in a good small house.

Another important consideration is the size and arrangement of windows. They should be large enough to flood the rooms with light and where possible should be placed to take advantage of sun and outlook.

It is not necessary to make a dungeon of the living room by building a verandah across the front of the house. A garden, no matter how small, is more beautiful and restful than a busy street. Therefore, let us arrange to have the verandah or terrace overlooking the garden.

Now let us consider the exterior of the house. Here again let simplicity prevail. A small person is conspicuous in loud checks or too many frills and furbelows. The same is true of the house. It is much better not to have fussy ornament, heavy woodwork which is out of scale with the rest of the house, or strong contrasts in either paint or materials. Let us form the habit of using one material only in the exposed faces of the whole house, except the roof. Almost any recognized building material which will withstand the weather, be it stone, brick, wood or stucco, has a charm all its own and need not be embellished with other materials. All sides of the house should present a uniformly pleasing appearance and the so-called back door need never be an eye-sore.

It is well, too, to consider the house in relation to its surroundings and its neighbors. This is essential if we are to have beautiful streets in our residential districts. All too often we see newly developed streets where each house has been conceived with the idea of attracting to itself more attention than those near it.

showing a great 'come-back'. The value of July exports was the best since 1929, and ran at the rate of nearly a billion dollars a year. In fact, in the past twelve months Canada's total trade has been in the neighborhood of $1,500,000,000. That's a big improvement.

New trade agreements with Germany, Russia, Holland, and Switzerland, such as Hon. W. D. Euler is said to have tentatively negotiated, are bound to add a little to this rising trend of Canada's external trade. There are those who belittle the importance of such commerce, but internal prosperity has always coincided pretty closely with a healthy volume of international trade so far.

MANITOBA'S DROUGHT

Manitoba has a drought problem too, though not so extensive. It is meeting with the attention of the federal government also.

New motor vehicle sales in Canada during the first seven months of the current year totalled 83,081 units valued at $84,924,591, an increase of 10 per cent in number and 13 per cent in value over the corresponding period of 1935.

Claims Wolfe Died of Tuberculosis

SNAILS, EARTHWORMS HIS MOTHER'S PET CURE!

James Wolfe, hero of the Plains of Abraham, died of tuberculosis rather than from battle wounds, Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Ontario Minister of Health, told a service club during a recent address on Ontario's fight against the disease.

Wolfe braved the rigors of war rather than the horrors of his mother's pet remedy against tuberculosis, a potion of green garden snails and earthworms, said Dr. Faulkner.

Ontario spends more than $3,000,000 annually in treating the disease, he said. More than $9,000,000 is invested in sanatoria in the province.

Dr. Faulkner emphasized tuberculosis is not hereditary and not incurable. Despite this it is third to heart disease, and cancer in its mortality toll. It takes more lives between the ages of 15 and 60 than any other communicable disease.

Car Courtesy

A motorist who stopped at a Limestone, N.Y., garage for gas became interested in a toy steam engine in the shop. George Pape, owner of the garage, told the motorist he had made it for his son, and took the trouble to explain all its points, showing how it worked and how it was put together. The visitor expressed his appreciation to Pape and left. A few days later an automobile salesman called on Pape, opened a catalogue and invited the garage owner to select any car described there and it would be shipped to him free of cost. The motorist who took such an interest in the little steam engine was Henry Ford, and he expressed his appreciation for the courtesy shown him by the gift of a brand new car.

BACK TO SCHOOL, KIDS!

A thrill of anticipation gripped the youngsters in that last day at school, when the warm summer months lay before them, rich in freedom, frolic and adventure. . . . But now, as they return to school, surrounded by fresh, friendly countenances—familiar chums in new desks and new classrooms, there is another sense of jubilation, a reaction which is somewhat harder to explain.

It is not conceivable that, with grace and good cheer, young hands and hearts should relinquish the revelries of summer and assume the studies which beset them in the school session; it is scarcely natural that unbridled minds could happily submit to discipline, and order, and concentration. . . . But, strangely enough, there is no rebellion, no resentment in this settling down again to routine.

There is, in human beings, that blessed instinct of progress and collective effort. In the child, as in the adult, there burns a certain ardor which leaps with gladness in constructive work. It is the impetus to achievement, the urge to fellowship, and—in the ultimate—that driving spirit which moves us forward in communities and clubs and churches to better things.

In these smiling school-kids, carrying their brand-new text books with a stride and a swing, we recognize the zeal of future citizenship—the same cosy feeling which imbues their fathers and their elder brothers, coming in out of the great outdoors and getting together in the autumn to work, and plan, and "make things hum."

THE POST-ELECTION SWEEP

So often we have witnessed these post-election dismissals. True, under the time-honored Liberal regime in Quebec, there were few changes, for "change begetteth change" and for nearly forty years the Liberals held on. In the federal "privileges", however, this shuffle has been more frequent, for the parties have come and gone with the passing years. Argenteuil has witnessed much bandying of "patronage" (as it is called here—with a tinge of well-earned contempt.)

Now, the provincial scene takes on the hue of a new party. Dismissals in departmental offices have been made on a wholesale scale. They will drift down to the local areas and smaller positions in due course—of this we have no doubt. The small man must suffer.

Always there has been the excuse of extravagance and inefficiency. But in the changes recently instituted by Premier Maurice Duplessis there seems, at last, to be some justification of this cry. The electors hope they are not deceived; that the discontinuing of certain offices, and the replacement of certain officials, may be genuinely prompted by motives of economy. Personally, we believe it, and commend this objection, in the interests of Quebec taxpayers. It is beyond hope that the abused "patronage" system could be set aside for a routine of merit and promotion. But if the National policy in Quebec continues this drive for economy, spending for the advancement of the province and not for the enrichment of its followers, then the people of Quebec will have much to be thankful for.

LANDSCAPE AND ARCHITECTURE

There is nothing new in the idea of combining landscape with architecture. Ever since the hanging gardens of Babylon were at the height of their glory, six hundred years before the birth of Christ, architecture and landscape treatments have come hand in hand down through the ages.

Landscape and architecture embraces all phases of the subject from the broader study of civic art or town planning in which we, as citizens, should be vitally interested, to the tiny cottage garden which has, I think, a distinct appeal to all of us.

Many people think that flowers are the be-all and end-all of the garden and that if the individual plants are beautiful, it follows that the whole garden will be. They fail to take into consideration the necessity for a proper arrangement of plants against a suitable background, and they forget that some very restful gardens haven't a single flower in them.

Too many of our gardens are without design, and without boundaries—just masses of planting which have nothing in common with the house, and no unity with the character of the ground, or even between the different elements that go to make them up. Such problems as the exact colours of blooms, time and duration of blooms, ultimate height and shape of plants and so on, in many cases do not concern the amateur gardener at all, but are always given most careful consideration by the professional. The idea is not to gather together a lot of plants and flowers and then set about to find a suitable place to put them, but to plan the garden scheme and then look for the material which will best serve our purpose. It is a great disappointment to enter a garden which has been a riot of colour when at the height of its period of bloom only to find that it has become just a sea of foliage. Realizing that it is not possible to have flowers all year round in this climate, we should pay particular attention to the skeleton layout of the garden, using evergreens and architectural treatment which may include garden walls, benches, pools, sun dials and walks, to provide permanent beauty and interest in off-seasons.

As the building is the important element in the composition, the landscape development must be in harmony with it. The city house demands a garden of architectural treatment, while the large country estate is usually best served by a formal garden near the house with informal planting on a large scale at some distance from the buildings. It is also important to remember that before a house is built, its size should be carefully considered in relation to the lot on which it is to be placed.

INDIA HAS RURAL DEBT PROBLEM

Rural debt is the real problem of India and it must be solved if social upheaval is to be avoided, D. F. McClelland, acting general secretary of the International Council of Y.M.C.A.'s of India, Burma and Ceylon, said recently in Toronto.

Mr. McClelland has been active in welfare work in India for more than 20 years. Total rural debt in the country is $3,500,000,000, he said.

"The real problem of India is to get these farmers out of debt, to raise their economic status, which is the only way to raise their social status," he declared. "It is essential the problem be attacked along these lines if a social upheaval is to be avoided."

in a conscript army.

The professor's line of argument means each for ourselves but not for each other. Let Britain look after herself and not expect any help from Canada, no matter what other nations do in the way of starting a war; why, then, if Canada should be attacked Britain would be entitled, if she felt that she did not want to be dragged into it, to let Canada defend herself. That is the professor's view, carried to its logical sequence. Mr. Woodsworth apparently would go further and simply surrender. As a matter of fact that is all Canada could do without British help.

Let no economic or political expert delude himself into thinking that if Germany or Italy, or both by making common cause together for economic aggression, believed Britain would not come to the rescue of Canada, they would not wage war on this country tomorrow. It is a ready-made, rich prize in agriculture, raw materials and minerals so large that they could divide it up between them. Mussolini would drop the costly exploitation of Ethiopia like a hot brick if he could take over Canada instead.

The Bruchesian and Woodsworthian views are superficial and unworthy of men who class themselves as thinkers. As The Mail and Empire succinctly expresses it, the Woodsworth policy means reducing the status of Canadians to that of Chinese coolies who simply let the Japanese walk over them without a fight.

Canadian National Veterans Present Their Railway with Loyalty Roll

The veterans of the Canadian National Railways and associated companies, desire to give expression to the good will which we bear to the railroad and its staff.

As it enters upon its Second Century of service to the public, the Canadian National carries with it the sincere good wishes of the great army of veterans—more than 6,000 men and women—who have completed their years of active railroad service but whose hearts remain loyal to their Railway.

To our nation-wide transportation system and to the 80,000 men and women employed upon it, we pledge our loyalty and support, confident that the years ahead will bring to the enterprise full measure of success.

Six thousand, two hundred and seventy names are inscribed on the accompanying roll of Canadian National veterans.

Canadian National veterans from all over Canada and System points in the United States met in the Union Station, Toronto, on August 27th, in a unique ceremony to commemorate their old railway's entrance upon its Second Century of Service to the public. Some hundreds of veterans from all sections of Canada and from the United States attended the event while several hundred telegrams from veterans on every division of the National System, unable to attend the event, were received assuring the railway of their continued interest and support, in spite of the fact that their days of active service have ended.

The presentation took the form of a Loyalty Roll, on which were inscribed the names of 6,270 men and women on the Pension list of the System. Encased in a walnut chest, suitably engraved, and on top of which was a working model, in silver, of a big modern locomotive made by a veteran with 52 years of service to his credit, there was a decorated address which read: "We, the veterans of the Canadian National Railways and associated companies, desire to give expression to the good will which we bear to the railroad and its staff. As it enters upon its Second Century of service to the public, the Canadian National carries with it the sincere good wishes of the great army of veterans—more than 6,000 men and women—who have completed their years of active railroad service but whose hearts remain loyal to their Railway. To our nation-wide transportation system and to the 80,000 men and women employed upon it, we pledge our loyalty and support, confident that the years ahead will bring to the enterprise full measure of success. Six thousand, two hundred and seventy names are inscribed on the accompanying roll of Canadian National veterans."

President S. J. Hungerford, of the Canadian National System, while unable to attend, owing to a recent family bereavement, was represented by E. P. Mallory, Assistant to the President, who received the presentation. Other headquarters officers, and W. A. Kingsland, Vice-President of the Central Region, were present.

President Hungerford, in expressing regret at his inability to attend, said that he was proud the Canadian National System is one of the great enterprises to have a contributory pension plan to enable all members of the staff to join with the Company in a mutual undertaking to provide for old age.

Former County Lady Died in the West

MOURNED BY RELATIVES IN THIS DISTRICT AND IN SASKATCHEWAN

Many friends in the Louisa and Dunany district of this county regret the passing of Mrs. W. M. Conlin, formerly Rachel Neill, which occurred at Tubero, Sask., on September 3rd. She was born at Louisa in 1862, and married Mr. W. M. Conlin in 1881, residing in Dunany for 30 years. Then, upon the death of her husband, Mrs. Conlin moved into Lachute and after a few years went to reside in Saskatchewan among members of her family.

In the West Mrs. Conlin took active part in the community affairs around her new home. She was a life member of the Rosetown, Sask., L.O.B.A., and a member of the Ladies' Aid of Tubero Anglican Church, which incidentally was named in her honor "St. Paul's", after the church which she attended in Dunany.

She is survived by a family of eight—three sons, Mr. C. E. Conlin, of Rosetown, Cecil and Leslie of Gunsforth, Sask.; five daughters, Jennie and Edna (Mrs. E. Kerr and Mrs. C. Clark) of White Bear, Sask., Myra (Mrs. A. Gillanders) of Tubero, Sask.; Lillian (Mrs. T. Evans) of Winnipeg, and Pearl (Mrs. A. Burnett) of Montreal. She is mourned also by one brother, Mr. H. J. Neill, of Louisa.

The funeral was largely attended at Tubero, Sask., on Sept. 5th, burial taking place at Rosetown.

The West Indies

The West Indies are a loose chain of tropical islands expanding in a great curve from Florida south and east to South America. They are otherwise known as the Greater Antilles and Lesser Antilles and include among the larger islands, Cuba, Haiti, Porto Rico, Jamaica and many others. They were called West Indies by the Spaniards who thought them to lie off the coast of India.

Third of Life Passed Asleep

The person who lives to be seventy years old passes 23 years asleep. That is the estimate of a scientific committee set at Nice, France, to inquire how persons occupy their lives. Apart from sleep, the committee's report says, the average person talks for 13 years, eats for six years, passes 23 years in pleasure and wastes for 18 months.

For instance, Hitler and Mussolini are both out for territorial expansion, and if they thought that Great Britain would not raise a finger to protect Canada, or Australia, or if Britain was too weak to do so successfully, either of them, or both together, would send their fleet and their troops overseas and take possession of these countries. Neither Canada nor Australia has defences that would be any match for either Germany or Italy alone and they would be bound to send a hurry call for the British Navy and Air Force, which, by the way, would probably be on the job before the call was received. If Comrade Woodsworth had his way Canadians would simply offer up prayers for British victories, because if Canada came under German or Italian domination, the youth of this country, and those not so youthful would be enrolled

Court House to Have New Heating System

The regular quarterly session of the County Council was held in the Lachute Court House on Wednesday afternoon, Warden Parizeau of Brownsburg presiding.

The question of changing the heating system at the Court House gave rise to a two-hour discussion, in which favor was expressed for oil-burners, and a committee comprising Warden Parizeau, Councillors Danereau and Pitcairn, were appointed to look into the propositions submitted by R. McArthur & Son and T. McOuat & Son, and to make the necessary installation of whichever system they decided upon.

Bundle of Twigs Serves as Calendar for Indians

A quaint system of calendar-making, similar to that employed by the Bible Patriarchs, is practiced by the Sarcee Indians of the Indian reserve outside Calgary, Alberta. It is the medicine man's responsibility, notes a writer in Tribune Magazine, to transfer each morning a twig from a bundle representing the unused part of the month to another bundle that represents the used part. Altogether, he has five bundles, each containing thirty twigs. The third bundle, signifying June in summer and December in winter, is always kept in two equal parts. The divisions denote mid-summer's day in one instance and mid-winter's day in the other. In winter the twigs are kept with their points downwards; in summer the position is reversed. Having only five bundles to tally off six months each half-year, the medicine man always uses the fifth bundle twice. The picturesque names and emblems by which the Indians recognize the months run as follows:

April, Frog Moon, Bull Frog's Croak; May, Sprouting of Green Leaves and Grass; June, Egg (Duck's) Moon; July, Mounting (Duck's) Moon; August, Flying (Duck's) Moon; September, Running of the Deer; October, Fall of Leaves Moon; November, Misty Moon; December, Clear, Frosty Moon; January, Great Moon; February, Eagle Moon, eagles soar; March, Goose Moon, geese come.

A Column for the Kiddies

THE PHANTOM FAIRY

In the quiet hours of morning
When the birds were yet asleep,
I saw a wee grey shadow
Come creeping, creeping, creep.

It floated by my window
Out to the pansy bed,
I'm sure I heard it whispering—
I wonder what it said!

I could not see its figure,
Just softly floating wings
Which hid from sight the asters
And many other things.

I searched in every corner
When the morning sun was bright,
But of that floating figure
I could not catch a sight.

I asked the bent old gardener
With his funny, flop-eared dog
And was really quite indignant,
When he said—"twas only fog!"

CORDELIA'S ADVENTURES IN JETTYLAND

Cordelia clung to the table with her free hand and resisted Silly Curly's efforts to pull her to her feet, as she cried "No, no! I do not want to dance, I do not know how. Please, Mrs. Soft-Fur, please," she pleaded, as she felt herself unable to resist much longer. "Now Curly!" Mrs. Soft-Fur said quite firmly, "let go of Cordelia's arm at once. She shall not be forced to dance unless she wants to, then only with the children." "Whoopie!" squealed Clip, setting down the nut-shell full of water which he had held ready to dash in Silly Curly's eyes. "Whoopie! the first dance is mine," he cried, dashing to Cordelia's side and catching her by the other arm. "Silly Curly," he cried, his voice shrill with excitement, "Cordelia is our guest, not yours, and my mother is boss in her own house!"

By this time all the other mice were chuckling squeaky little chuckles.

"Clip is right, Curly," said the kind-looking mouse, "Hands off Cordelia—besides Aunt Fanny is waiting for you to show her that new step you promised her the first time we had music. Off you go!" Silly Curly went over to Aunt Fanny, but he looked back at Cordelia and the look made her shiver. Turning to Clip, who was impatient to be in the dance, she said "Clip, I can't dance, really I can't." "Not like we mice do I suppose" said Clip, "but you can wiggle about to the music, just as I have watched your mother's guests do, upstairs." "But I have never watched them, Clip. Mother never let us children sit up late enough to watch the dances." "Just see how much nicer it is to live down in Jettyland," Clip giggled, "but come on Cordelia please, Uncle Roughy never plays very long at a time, and they will soon be telling their latest experiences and we won't have a chance to try."

Thus coaxed, Cordelia allowed herself to be led out where the others were dancing and tried to wiggle around to the music as Clip had suggested, but there was such an alarming array of tails about her that she was afraid to move in case she stepped on some of them, which might prove even more disastrous than bumping Silly Curly, especially if it should be his tail she stepped on.

She was very glad indeed when the music stopped and she heard Aunt Fanny Long Toes say, "Tell them about scaring Katie, Roughy." Dropping on to a stool between Mrs. Soft-Fur and Clip, Cordelia felt that surely she might enjoy this tale without any fear, and chuckled with the others, when she heard Uncle Roughy trying to mock Irish Katie, as he told of being upstairs scouting about for something to eat and smelling something particularly nice in an open cupboard in the kitchen. Something that he had often smelled baking, but had never had the opportunity of tasting. By hard work, clinging to the papered wall where Baby May had roughened it by tearing small bits with her tiny fingers, he crept inside and was enjoying a feast of fresh ginger snaps while Katie, the cook, sat rocking and knitting as she hummed soft Irish songs. Suddenly she had stopped working to say, "Blame me! but if that isn't a plague of a mouse that I hear atin' cakes, thin my name isn't Katie O'Flannigan." Uncle Roughy stopped nibbling when Katie came to the cupboard and flattened himself down behind the plate of cookies where she could not see him, so Katie had gone back and started knitting again. After a time he commenced nibbling once more; and Katie heard him and started moving cups and pitchers around so quickly that it had kept Uncle Roughy hopping about to escape being seen. Finding that all this rush was tiring him too much he had decided to frighten Katie by jumping straight out towards her. Katie had screamed and brought the butler in to see what was the trouble. "—And," said Uncle Roughy, "the last I saw of them he was sprinkling her with water from the tap to bring her out of a faint!"

All the mice laughed at Uncle Roughy's story, but Silly Curly laughed louder than the others, and said, "You let her off much too easy, Roughy. Why didn't you bite her as well? I would have bitten her had I been in your place."

Lovingly, Aunt Jean.

This Dog Meets Dining Cars

"Jack," the 12-year-old shepherd dog, who makes his headquarters at the Grand Trunk station in Battle Creek, Michigan, is missing from his unique post of duty—meeting the trains—and dining-car chefs on the Grand Trunk fast trains have been inquiring for him.

Jack is sick in bed with rheumatism.

Probably in a class by himself as a handout specialist, Jack dashes to meet the trains. His 80-yard sprint from the baggage room to the dining-room car is sensational. It's undoubtedly an aggravating cause in his rheumatism.

When a sumptuous train pulls into the station, Jack rushes to the dining-car. He barks fluently at the door to attract the attention of the chef.

Translating freely, he asks, "Brother, have you a bone?" The chef usually has one.

When fare on the trains is slim, Jack eats nobly at the Grand Trunk station restaurant.

He's probably worrying now over the possibility of some other dog finding out about his pet graft.

BOY SCOUTS THE WORLD OVER

IMMUNE SCOUTS GIVE THEIR BLOOD DURING MEASLES EPIDEMIC

Eight Rover Scouts of Heston and Isleworth, London, have been presented certificates with the seal of the Borough Corporation, in recognition of the giving of immunized blood during an epidemic of measles. Serum from the blood was used to protect patients convalescing from diphtheria and scarlet fever, for which cases the after-results of measles are dangerous. The Rovers, all recovered measles cases, offered themselves when the medical authorities were unable to secure the desired blood from the usual transfusion sources.

Paid For Climbing Fences?

When a girls' softball team from Buffalo failed to put in an appearance for a scheduled game with the Twin City girls at Kitchener one night recently those in charge decided that the only fair thing to do was to refund to each patron, as they filed out, the 25c. admission. After the last fan filed out some rapid calculation revealed that they had paid out $25 more than they had taken in. They were not long in reaching a conclusion as to the cause of the shortage — they paid out money to at least a hundred people who had climbed over the fence in the first place.

Jasper Park Bears Turn on Water for Shower

For many years Jasper Park Lodge has been noted for its bears. Throughout the summer they mooch around the "dump" looking for food and many of them gambol around the first fairway on the golf course, wrestling and playing, to the delight of the picture-taking guests. This year, no doubt because of the many weeks of dry weather, the bruin travelling troupe added another act to their varied repertoire. Not finding their usual pools about to quench their thirst, one big playful fellow has discovered how to turn on the big tap valves and let loose the water in a heavy stream. Others have now joined him and each day they can be seen heading for the tan. They play around gleefully in the spray of water until Greens-keeper Bill Brinkworth turns up. Bill and the veteran Professional, Charlie Cameron, make daily enquiries at the reception desk as to whether any animal trainers have registered. They are looking for someone to teach the bears to turn the taps off again, then their troubles will be over.

A HOT STORY

Getting ready to move, I sorted out all the things that were no use to us but might be of use to someone else. To give to the Salvation Army. I told my maid that she might go through them and take anything she wanted for her family. On that very hottest Monday of the hot spell I told her not to wash as our washer and tubs are in the kitchen and I felt it was too hot to ask anyone to do any work that we could do without. So there was no work done Monday morning. In the afternoon I had to go down town immediately after lunch and then went to a show in order to keep cool.

so was out all afternoon. When I came home my maid was ironing. She had done a large washing of the things she had picked out to keep, and had most of it ironed. Our clothes were still dirty—The joke was on me.

THE BABY BROUGHT UP BY A BOOK

I went to the races the other day with an older friend that I have seen very seldom in the last few years. Next year is a banner year for her as she hopes to celebrate her golden wedding; her only daughter, her silver wedding; and her only grandson, his twenty-first birthday. She said, "I often look back and have a laugh over you and your baby and your book. You were so serious about bringing that baby up by that book." Serious! I certainly was serious and weighed down with responsibility. What a pity it is that girls are not taught something about bringing up babies, at school, so that they could have more pleasure and less anxiety with their first babies. I am sure every mother gets more actual enjoyment over her second baby than her first. She knows something about them and is not scared to death every time they sneeze, or think that they are going to have a convulsion or something every time they roll their eyes. To get back to the book. It was Dr. Holt's Care and Feeding of Children and it has been of untold value to many a young mother. The older ones may laugh at bringing a baby up by a book but that same book was the forerunner of the more intelligent care of babies and the saving of the lives of countless babies who in previous years died in their first year. Mothers who live in places large enough to have well-baby clinics are fortunate as they have a sound crutch on which to lean. Surely the day will come when health facilities are provided for all, but that day seems to take a long time to get here. Just in case you are interested this same book baby grew to a couple of inches over six feet and is as husky as he is tall. Incidentally he is away from home or I never would have dared tell that.

AN IVY-CLAD WINDOW

If you have ivy in your window boxes, it might be a good idea to get some potted for winter use. If you are not fortunate enough to have some already you may want to get it started now. I saw a very effective window. There were ferns in a fern stand and ivy was twined over a thin wooden hoop that was fastened at either end of the fern stand. There was a bracket on each side of the window with luxurious pots of ivy and altogether the greenery made a very pleasant bit of brightness during the winter months.

CORN

Corn is one of the delights of fall and it is another of the vegetables that is only too often spoiled by over-cooking. If your corn is young and tender it will cook in from 8 to 10 minutes after the water has started to boil. Add salt when partly cooked and if the corn is not fresh out of the garden, add sugar. Corn loses 50% of its sweetness in 24 hours, and for us unfortunates who have to buy our corn and get it many hours after it has been picked it is wise to add considerable sugar. I have used as much as a half-cup for a pot of corn.

PICKLED PEACHES

6 lbs. peaches
3 lbs. brown sugar
2 cups vinegar
2 cups water
12 cloves
3 pieces stick cinnamon
Make a syrup of sugar, water and vinegar. Tie spices in a bag, add to syrup and boil 10 minutes. Remove spices. Pare peaches and cook a few at a time in the syrup until tender. Put in sterilized jars and fill jars with boiling syrup. If you have never tried them browned with a roast, make some extra to use this way. Cook them with the roast for the last half hour and the spicy flavour adds to the flavour of the roast and makes the grandest gravy.

GRAPE JUICE

Wash grapes, then remove from stems and add 1 pint of water to each quart of grapes. Cook until quite soft, mashing them a little at first. Press through a colander or coarse strainer, lined with a layer of wet cheesecloth. To each quart of juice add 1½ cup sugar, bring to a boil, skim if necessary and bottle immediately in sterilized bottles. Dip the top of the bottle, cork and all, in melted paraffin.

Soviet Student Expelled for Bourgeois Habit

Charged with kissing his sweetheart's hand, Peter Khrepko had to seek the intervention of Moscow to get back into a technical school at Kizil Orda, Kazan republic. He was accused of resurrecting feudal and aristocratic traditions by the director of the school, and expelled. The girl, Serezhechina, was forced to "wash off" all traces of the feudal-aristocratic gesture from her hand.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Sept. 13th., is "Substance."

The Golden Text is:—"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." (Hebrews 1:1).

The following passages are from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for praise is comely for the upright. For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth. By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth." (Psalms 33:1, 4, 6).

"Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay. Truth, Life, and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrews: 'The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.'" (Science and Health, page 468).

Cop—How did you knock this pedestrian down?
Motorist—I didn't knock him down. I just pulled up to him, stopped my car and waited to let him pass. He fainted.

Feminist Leader Hurt in Demonstration

Sylvia Pankhurst, author and Feminist leader, was slightly injured during a stone barrage by black-shirted British Fascists who tried to break up an anti-Fascist demonstration in London's east end.

The Black Shirts, followers of Sir Oswald Mosley, attacked the head of a procession on its way to Victoria Park to stage a demonstration against Fascism. At the head of the parade was a contingent of war veterans wearing medals.

After speeches in the park, the returning procession was again attacked as it was leaving the district, the Black Shirts ambushing the leader in a narrow street. Several arrests were made.

Englishwoman Thinks Canada Has Clean Cities

To Mrs. Robert Bazley, of London, Eng., wife of the noted traveller and big-game hunter and herself a traveller of no mean note, Canada rates top in many ways.

Said Mrs. Bazley last week, as she sailed for England with her husband and two children after a fishing expedition on the Gatineau River: "Canada is the cleanest place I have ever seen. Your streets and shops and especially your railway stations are the cleanest in the world, I think."

Bachelors Fined

Italian bachelors between the ages of 30 and 55 will in future have to pay a tax to the State of 155 lire (about $12.00) for the privilege of remaining single. A decree to this effect was published recently. Younger bachelors—between 25 and 30—will pay $10.00, and those between 55 and 65 a little less than $7.50. Bachelors of over 65 are exempt from the tax. The reason for the difference in the tax is that the Italian Government considers the ages between 30 and 55 the best time to marry.

"Matte" Is Beverage of Some Distant Countries

"Matte" is to Chili, Paraguay, Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina what tea is to European countries, being drunk even more than coffee. The tree or bush grows exclusively in the temperate region, from 1,500 to 3,000 feet above sea level. It is from 12 to 20 feet in height and belongs to the hollies, but is without spinous leaves. In the state of Parana alone, it covers an area of about 140,000 square kilometers.

The leaves are prepared in two distinct ways, according to a writer in the Indianapolis News: (1) Ground into powder to be used in the curl (or gourd) and the decoction, made with boiling water, is sucked up through a perforated tube; (2) prepared as a sort of tea in flasks, with some fine stalks, and taken in cups. The infusion is of a green color. When brewed in a pot, a Brazilian custom is to put a piece of glowing charcoal in it, which turns it to a dark, brownish green, and makes it stronger. It improves also by boiling. Unlike tea, two brewings may be made of the same handful of leaves, with the second often stronger than the first. It is said to have no aftermath, no injurious influence on the digestive organs. It has been reported that, during a Paraguayan war, soldiers marched and fought for days with no other sustenance than matte. Taken in native fashion, without sugar, it is said to be a blood purifier.

Species of Swans

Ornithologists seem to agree that there are but two species of swans native to the states; and both are pure white. One is the whistling swan, the most common and often found in Great Lakes waters. The other is the trumpeter swan, a bird of the west which is almost extinct.

The whooping swan, another great white bird, was formerly abundant north of the Arctic circle and in Greenland but this bird is considered extinct. The Australian black swan is much smaller than these three and is frequently confused with our common black brant. The black swan is found only in swamps and bird sanctuaries in this country, according to a writer in the Detroit News, and many persons when they observe them think they are black brant.

Children Played With Matches, Barn is Burned

FIRE DESTROYED FARM BUILDINGS WHILE PARENTS AWAY

(By Our St. Canut Correspondent)

While Mr. and Mrs. Boucher, residing at St. Canut on the Lachute - St. Jerome highway, were away in Montreal for the day, their children were left alone at the farm and got into mischief which proved costly to the parents and family. Playing with matches in the barn, they started a fire which soon spread and destroyed the entire outbuildings and contents, including horses, cattle, oats, and hay.

It was a sad circumstance for Mr. and Mrs. Boucher, returning home to find their properties destroyed. They had only a small coverage of insurance.

Accountants Group Made Inspection at Oka Farm

The visitors were shown the departments of the college and the chapel, inspecting also the laboratories and animal husbandry section. Then followed visits to the reference library, exhibits of machinery invented by Trappist Fathers, and other items of interest on the estate.

Colonial Home at Carillon Acquired by New Owner

CIRCUMSTANCE PROMPTS RESOLUTION BY ARG. HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The former Col. Armstrong Estate, in a setting of rich historical interest, has been acquired by a new owner—whose identity has not been ascertained at this stage. News of the purchase, at a price reported in the neighborhood of $17,000, is interesting to local residents familiar with this picturesque spot overlooking the Ottawa River. The estate comprises the fine old colonial home known as Bellevue, constructed in 1827, farm lands, orchards, the Sovereign Hotel and summer cottages. On the property are foundations of an old brewery and other buildings, believed to include a powder magazine and structures dating from military activities in the region. The cottages have fallen into a dilapidated condition, and it is hoped the transfer of ownership will result in a restoration of these premises and an air of greater prosperity around the scene.

The purchase of this property has interested executive members of the county Historical Society and prompted an expression of congratulation to the new owner. The Society also passed a resolution urging the preservation of time-honored relics, or steps to retain a record of such, in any county sites similarly acquired. The resolution reads as follows:

Montrealers Hurt in Car Accident Near Calumet

Mr. and Mrs. James McChesnay, Rosemount, were critically injured when an automobile in which they were riding left the highway near Calumet last Sunday, crashed into a telephone pole and turned over several times.

They received severe head injuries, and their son, James McChesnay, Jr., 19, driver of the car, suffered a lacerated face and hands, while two other passengers, Mr. and Mrs. J. Roe, of Rosemount, escaped with a few minor scratches.

The party was returning to Montreal from Papineauville and at a curve where railway tracks cross the highway near Calumet, young McChesnay lost control of the car in the loose gravel. Mr. and Mrs. McChesnay, their daughter and son-in-law, were thrown onto the railroad tracks. The injured persons were picked up by a passing motorist and taken to hospital in Hawkesbury, where their condition was reported as critical.

Hurt in Accident Near Grenville

In a motor accident which occurred early Friday morning about a half mile from Grenville on the Montebello highway, Miss Eva McLaughlin of Hawkesbury suffered head injuries which necessitated four stitches. After being treated at Dr. Kelly's hospital in Hawkesbury she was allowed to go to her home.

According to information, Miss McLaughlin with a companion was travelling towards Grenville when the car swerved to the east side of the road over a small bridge, broke off several wooden and iron poles, and landed in the ditch. The car was badly damaged.

Plans Mature for Dedication of the Abbott Memorial

TABLET IS GIFT OF FRIENDS AND FELLOW-COUNTRYMEN

An event of great historic interest will take place at Christ Church, St. Andrews East, on Saturday afternoon, October 3, when a memorial to Sir J. J. C. Abbott, first Canadian-born Prime Minister of Canada and a native of that village, will be dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Montreal. The dedication service will be conducted by the Rev. Rural Dean R. S. Booy, and the tablet will be unveiled by His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, who has graciously consented to be present and to perform this office.

The memorial is the gift of the friends and fellow-countrymen of the late Prime Minister and consists of a handsome brass tablet with enamel lettering and decorative design suitably inscribed, and mounted on a slab of dark polished marble, and it carries with it a donation of five hundred dollars to the endowment fund of this historic church, which was erected by its founder, the Rev. Joseph Abbott, M.A., in the years 1818-19. Sir John Abbott, eldest son of the latter, was born at St. Andrews in 1821, and died at Montreal in 1893. The movement for the establishment of this memorial was initiated in

SIR GEO PERLEY REACHES 79TH. MILESTONE

The constituency of Argenteuil joins heartily in expressing congratulations to Rt. Hon. Sir George H. Perley, G.C.M.G., who on Saturday last celebrated his 79th birthday. Sir George and Lady Perley returned to Ottawa on Friday from Europe, where Sir George was one of Canada's chief delegates to the unveiling of the Vimy Memorial.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL HONORS CANADIAN WAR DEAD

Honouring the war dead of Bankhead, five miles from Banff Springs, in the Canadian Rockies, His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir bows reverently after placing a wreath on the cenotaph, which is practically the only remaining evidence of the former thriving town of 2,600. The Governor-General drove out to the "ghost" town during his first official visit to the Rockies.

HOSPITALITY IN THE OLD TOWN

A cat in a strange garret has a very uncomfortable feeling—judging from the yowls it usually sets up. However, the most scared feline in the neighbor's plantation can be made to feel at home—with the right treatment.

People away from home, or in a group to whom they are unaccustomed, feel strange whether they yowl or not.

We submit exhibit "A":—

"The other day I dropped in on the club luncheon, in a nearby city. I was received graciously enough. I wandered into the dining room and, to avoid breaking up a possible group, chose a seat at the end of the table. On my right sat the superintendent of the public schools, on my left was a judge of one of the courts. I don't remember a word of their conversation, but I do remember that I had to ask to have the salt passed to me, I had to ask for the sugar, I asked for the cream, I S-O-S'd for the butter. When it came to the rolls, neighboring the judge's left elbow, I took one despairing look at them and muttered 'to heck with 'em!'"

"Maybe it's a good city, possibly it's a lively club, but unfortunately I retain a mental picture of its inhospitable salt, sugar, cream, butter, and rolls. Pity me if you please, but I have no appetite to revisit the club unless to give it a lecture on the subject—'There are 100,000 pennies in $1,000.'"

This is no doubt an extreme case. The "yowler" might have gone back to that same club the next week, sat at a different table and been treated better.

Nevertheless, the fact remains that hospitality is a great quality to cultivate. The old town of Lachute has a good reputation in that regard—let's guard it well and improve upon it in every home, business, club, lodge and church.

Rural Class Considered in New Govt. Housing Scheme . . Outline 50 Million Dollar Rehabilitation Plan . . Hope to Absorb 200,000 Persons in Employment

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—The federal government has decided to launch a drive on unemployment by means of a housing campaign. The National Employment Commission, after considering the various aspects of unemployment in Canada, was much impressed by the fact that about one-half of the unemployed in Canada were connected in some way with the building industry. Some business leaders, in fact, say that only two major obstacles now stand in the way of complete

Mr. Duplessis said his government would do "anything in our power to establish decent living quarters for the unemployed and workmen."

Young Townsman Succumbed to Rare Disease

ALBT. T. LAURIN DIED AT EARLY AGE

Albert Thomas Laurin, a young citizen of this town, passed away at the General Hospital, Montreal, on Monday morning. His death was due to a somewhat rare disease known as streptococcus viridans, an infection of the bloodstream from which few sufferers have ever been known to recover.

Albert was a young man only 26 years of age, the son of Isaac Laurin of Lachute. He had been ill since the early part of June. Ten days ago he was removed to the General Hospital, but medical care failed to effect a cure of this malady this is baffling this medical world. Happily, he suffered little pain; other victims of this illness have been known to endure great suffering. The illness is accompanied by high temperature and progressive weakness.

The funeral was held in the United Church on Wednesday afternoon, and was largely attended by relatives and sympathizing friends. Service was conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, interment taking place in the Lachute Cemetery.

which led the National Employment Commission to stress this possible way out of the depression.

About 60 friends joined in honoring Mr. Taylor, in a well planned program of toasts, music and felicitations. The presentation of an electric mantel clock was made as a slight token of esteem from his many well-wishers. Chairman for the occasion was Mayor Dr. J. H. Mason.

Appreciation is Expressed By Committee

"MANY A SMILE TO SADDENED FACES" (CORRESPONDENCE)

Editor, Lachute Watchman.

Sir:

On behalf of the Flower Committee of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies, I wish to express to the people of Lachute profound gratitude for the splendid way in which they once again supported the work of the Committee. The flowers from Lachute, so fresh and carefully packed, and in such generous quantities, were an inspiration to us, and brought many a smile to saddened faces. The little potted plants, too, were a source of pleasure to many sick and shut-ins, and will be treasured and tenderly cared for throughout the long winter months.

To the people who gave of their flowers, to those who grew and potted the slips, to those who helped in their collection and shipment, and to all others who participated in any way in this work, we wish to express sincerest thanks.

Trusting that we may continue to enjoy the cooperation of the people of Lachute again next year.

Loyal Servant Must Relinquish Job Through Injury

Mr. Henry Sutton, who was for upwards of 27 years a faithful employee of the Dominion Express Co'y., has been compelled to relinquish his duties. The injury which he sustained during the Duscheneau Hotel fire last March, when he fell and fractured his right leg, now prevents his climbing on and off the delivery waggon which he formerly operated around Lachute.

Mr. Sutton wishes to return thanks for the kindly assistance of the public through his years of service, and is now anxiously seeking some position whereby he may earn his living among his fellow-citizens.

Brown's Choir Held Picnic

Brown's United Church choir held an outing on Saturday afternoon last to Dolphin Lake, where games, swimming, boating, etc., were much enjoyed by those who attended. A sumptuous repast was provided for the ladies, to which everyone did justice at the appointed time. Mr. Cedric Wheeler acted as umpire for the ball game, keeping the players in order. Mr. Leonard Wilson kindly opened his cottage to the happy group, where refreshments were served. Rev. Mr. Pike, on behalf of the Choir, thanked Mr. Wilson for the use of his cottage, boat and grounds.

Blowing Holes in Rock Bottom of the St. Lawrence

Less than half a mile away from the financial district of downtown Montreal they are blowing holes in the bottom of the St. Lawrence River, according to a writer in the August issue of "The C-I-L Oval," magazine of Canadian Industries Limited. Under the heading of "Rock Bottom" is described the process of exploding dynamite under water by drilling holes in the river-bed, as the first step in deepening the ship channel. Huge and powerful dredges follow in the wake of the drill boats and are capable of scooping up several tons of blasted rock in a single bucketful.

Relief Deducted in Damage Award

Money received as direct relief by a plaintiff for damages, during a period when he was incapacitated as the result of an automobile accident, was deducted from his claim for loss of wages, in a judgment by Mr. Justice MacKinnon in Superior Court at Montreal. The decision is the first of its kind in which direct relief was pleaded as a partial offset against a claim for damages.

In the action, plaintiff sued for $3,292 for injuries when he was struck by an automobile. Lawyers for the defendants admitted that they were responsible for the accident and the case proceeded only for the purpose of determining the amount of damages.

By the defence, His Lordship noted, the interesting point was raised as to whether an amount received by an injured man as direct relief should be taken into consideration in assessing the damages. In that connection, the defendants argued that if plaintiff were allowed the full amount of his claim for loss of earnings during the period of his temporary incapacity while he was in receipt of direct relief he would get greater compensation than if the accident had not occurred.

His Lordship upheld the argument. While he noted that a wrong-doer would be benefitted, if the damages assessed against him were to be reduced by the amount of relief emanating from public funds, on the other hand there was a fundamental principle of law that reparation is due only for actual damages caused to an injured person. This obligation to indemnify an injured person is in the nature of compensation and not of punishment, he declared, and the actual loss to the injured man was not the loss of his full earning capacity but the difference between that amount and the direct relief he received. For all his damages he was awarded $985.

At 18, the young Athenian of classical days swore in the temple to make his country great and more glorious.

Canada's Time Zones

Canada has no fewer than six standard times—Atlantic, Eastern, Central, Mountain, Pacific, and Yukon.

Atlantic standard time, which is the local time at the 60th. meridian running near Sydney, Nova Scotia, and is four hours behind Greenwich, is used in the Maritime Provinces and those parts of Quebec and the Northwest Territories east of the 68th. meridian of west longitude. Eastern standard time, which is the local time at the 75th. meridian running near Cornwall, Ontario, five hours behind Greenwich, is used in Quebec west of the 68th. meridian and in Ontario east of the 90th. meridian and in the Northwest Territory between the 68th. and 85th. meridians. Central standard time, which is the local time at the 90th. meridian six hours behind Greenwich, is used in Ontario west of the 90th. meridian, in Manitoba, in the Northwest between the 85th. and 102nd. meridians and in the southeasterly part of Saskatchewan. Mountain time, the local time at the 105th. meridian running near Regina, is seven hours behind Greenwich and is used throughout Saskatchewan except in the southeasterly part, throughout Alberta and in that part of the Northwest Territories between the 102nd. and 120th. meridians. Pacific standard time, the local time of the 120th. meridian running near Kamloops, British Columbia, is eight hours behind Greenwich and is used throughout British Columbia and in that part of the Northwest Territories lying west of the 120th. meridian. Yukon standard time, which is the local time at the 135th. meridian, running near Whitehouse, Yukon, is nine hours behind Greenwich and is used throughout the Yukon Territory.

Some municipalities in Canada adopt the time used by the local railways, which in some cases differs from the standard, and there are also villages which adopt such time as seems to best suit their convenience but, in general, the legal boundaries of the different time zones are actually in use. During summer months daylight saving time is used in different sections.

Ireland's Saint Blessed

Downpatrick, in County Down, thinks nothing of the simple statement that it was a place of importance long before the Christian era and the advent of St. Patrick. When the old saint did arrive he found the Wells of Struell near by, which drew sick people every year for a cure. There was no chance of his changing the ancient custom, so he blessed the wells, and instituted a Christian pilgrimage to the spot on St. John's Eve which persists to this day, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

Then there is the mountain Slieve-na-griddle where are remains of a cromlech and a remarkable stone circle. This whole section must have been a center for Druid worship, for another of the finest stone circles in Ireland is west of Ballynoe. St. Patrick combated this paganism by founding a monastery, on the stones of which the great cathedral of Downpatrick now stands. According to tradition, the remains of the Patron Saint lie here, now marked by a huge inscribed monolith.

Queen's Portraits on Stamps

The portrait of Queen Victoria graced all Grenadine postage stamps from 1801 until 1899, when the design was changed for the first time. This British colony in the West Indies lies at the southern tip of the string of islands forming the Windward group. The three important islands are Saint Lucia, Saint Vincent and Grenada and a number of small islands in the Grenadine chain. They really form distinct colonies, since they all maintain their own institutions. They are, however, united under one governor-general who resides at Saint George's, located on Grenada. The name of the group comes from their position, being more exposed to the trade winds of the neighboring seas. Grenada, including all the small islands, has a total area of 133 square miles. The soil and climate are favorable for agriculture, and many tropical products are raised. Sugar, cotton, arrowroot, copra, cocon and spices being the principal crops.

CONSTIPATION* MAY LOWER RESISTANCE TO GERMS

Can Be Corrected by Natural Laxative Food

Common constipation is due largely to insufficient "bulk" in meals. It is a condition that should never be treated casually.

Long neglected, it may contribute to a general run-down condition. Your body lacks the strength it needs to fight off infection. You are much more likely to pick up a serious illness.

Guard against common constipation. Make sure the meals you eat contain plenty of "bulk." Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a generous source of effective "bulk."

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, and gently cleanses the system. This delicious cereal also furnishes vitamin B and contains iron.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN often. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN in some form each day, either as a cereal, or cooked into muffins, breads, etc. Eat it regularly for regular habits.

Guaranteed by the Kellogg Company. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Autos Interfere With Television

Those installing television in England have met a new problem. They have found that as television reception is by very short wave length and sparking of plugs in motor cars is caught up by them, there is a possibility of ruining reception by marrying the screen with a multitude of tiny dots. It has been reported that each impulse from a spark plug can effect a receiver within a radius of ninety feet, a serious interference with sets fixed on the outer limits of reception. Experts believe this can be overcome, but that it will take time to do so.

Strange By-Law on City Books

An old city by-law denied Stratford's public enemies taxicabs or hacks unless they were on the way to the railroad station to leave town. In 1903 it was unlawful for a driver of a public vehicle in this Ontario town to carry in his conveyance "any one of notoriously bad character, excepting to or from the railway station." The law however, applied only in the day time.

A THREE FOLD PLAN

1. To guarantee lending institutions so that loans can be made cheaply to persons wishing to paint, enlarge or rehabilitate their homes. The co-operation of municipalities will be necessary for its success, so will the help of the banks, the construction companies, and the welfare and service clubs of the country. It is hoped to launch a fifty million dollar rehabilitation scheme.

2. A low-cost housing scheme is to be initiated, by co-operation between the Dominion, the provinces and the municipalities. This will call for some government subsidies, as the average worker cannot afford to pay the rent of the kind of house he should have, according to studies made in various centres.

3. An enlargement of the present Dominion Housing Act, so that it will get under way and really accomplish something.

The farmer, at last, is being remembered. Under the first two heads of this program, the rural resident is to be given the same consideration as those who dwell in the cities.

SEVERAL OBSTACLES

There are several "ifs" about the scheme. One question is whether the average homeowner can afford to borrow money, even if he can get it cheap, to improve his present dwelling. If he is already carrying all the load possible, he won't be able to take advantage of the scheme, even with low interest rates.

Another question is: will the municipalities co-operate by exempting such a man from extra taxation for a year or two at least? What holds many people back from improving their property is the knowledge that if they do, taxes, which are high enough already, will rise some more. Still another is: will the dealers in lumber and other raw materials in building, the trades unions and all the other factors entering into the cost of a house, co-operate by render-

The high cost of housing, the high cost of money, and the high level of taxation: these are the three big bogeys which have driven residence building down to such low levels. In the first seven months of 1936 residential construction contracts awarded were valued at $22,300,000. In 1928 and 1929 the totals at that time of the year were $85,600,000 and $81,000,000 respectively.

No wonder there are reported to be 80,000,000 houses short in Canada and at least another quarter of a million not really fit to live in.

These obstacles are met in a small measure by the proposed legislation announced last week. Money rates, at least, will be cheaper. But the municipal and private interests will have to make some contribution toward the other difficulties, it would appear, before a big forward drive can be expected.

The goal, however, seems to be worth working for. If 200,000 persons could be re-absorbed into construction and allied industry, and as many more drawn into other industries to look after the workers' new needs, the employment problem in Canada would have practically disappeared.

Not much can be done till next spring, but a few experimental projects will, here and there, be started.

Heat Set Off Burglar Alarm

It wasn't a prowling thief that set off the burglar alarm in a sporting goods store in Richmond, Va., it was the heat. Twice the shrill bell pealed, bringing the police on the run. The officers discovered, however, that window glass, expanding with the 94 degrees of temperature, had tripped the signal.

Safety League Issues Warning to Hunters

The Province of Quebec Safety League in a recent radio broadcast issued a warning to hunters this season. "Something must be wrong with the perspective of some people who indulge in game hunting as a pastime," said the speaker, "when it develops into a guerrilla warfare in which human beings kill each other from ambush."

Referring to the fatalities and injuries reported each year with the hunting season, the speaker asked: "Who wants to get out into the bush and become a target for bullets from the guns of fellow hunters? You will read in the press, any day now, of persons being accidentally shot by their fellow hunters or even with their own weapons. Such occurrences tend to make us sit up and wonder if the danger hunters are exposed to is really worth the thrill of the sport."

"It is quite evident that some types of hunters are no more fit to hunt than a similar class of motorists to drive cars," he said. "We find that some high-strung temperaments do not respond readily enough to an emergency and invariably step on the gas instead of the brake. In hunting, with the nervous tension keyed up to high pitch, they fail to react quickly enough to make the sport safe. They see something move and immediately fire at the object, whether it be man or beast."

"If the hunter adhered to the real sporting tradition and only took the bird on the wing, fewer casualties would result," declared the Safety League speaker. "Old hunters should help the young hunters in respecting by word and example the high traditions of the sport."

The speaker also mentioned the necessity of taking sufficient first aid requisites and also warned all to make sure that the rifle magazine is clear of shells before cleaning it, and against the danger of pointing in fun supposedly empty guns.

"It is not our idea to throw cold water on your hunting expedition," he said in conclusion. "A gun in itself is not a dangerous weapon, but when put into the hands of a person it takes on new power, and the person behind it must assume all the responsibility for its actions."

Meaning of "Layman"

The first part of the word "layman" is derived from the Greek "laikos," meaning "of or from the people," and "layman" is most generally applied to the people in general who are not members of the clergy; in other words, to members of the laity. Thus in various churches we have lay deacons, lay preachers, lay elders, lay readers, etc., persons who perform such church duties and continue with their outside occupations. In religious orders lay brothers and lay sisters are occupied chiefly with domestic or manual work. Apart from church usage, the term "layman" is applied to outsiders or non-experts in relation to some profession, art or branch of knowledge, especially with reference to law or medicine.

SHORTAGE WILL BE SHORTER, IF—

The reported shortage of English soldiers will be aggravated if things don't quiet down in the land where angelic voices once sounded, "Peace on earth, good will to men." 15,000 of them recently started for Palestine to help quell Arab uprisings against the influx of the Jews.

CHURCH AND THE NICKEL-DROPPERS

The Right Rev. John Lyons, Lord Bishop of Toronto, says that the people's exaggerated idea of the importance of a nickel in church is one of the greatest problems of that organization today. One man said "Money is the last thing I think of—before I go to bed." Another is quoted as saying, "Money is not everything, only about 98%." Both of these must have been nickel-dropping church members. No one can say how much another should give to support the church as a community institution, but certain it is that when he meets his Lord he will feel better if he has the realization that he gave at least as much to the promotion of Christ's work as he did for cosmetics, unnecessary luxuries and amusements.

When youth sees adults supporting the church on a nickel basis how can he think very highly of the principles for which the church stands?

DUTIES OF COMMITTEE UNKNOWN

The tenders committee of Halifax City Council called its first meeting in many years recently, and adjourned because nobody knew what its duties were. After the adjournment Ald. J. MacDonald volunteered to place the problem before the next meeting of the City Council.

A CO-OPERATIVE ENTERPRISE (Municipal World)

It has been said that municipalities may be likened to a joint stock company or a co-operative enterprise, in which every citizen is a shareholder. Its dividends are receivable in improved health, increased comfort, and greater happiness of the community. The members of the council are the directors of this great business; their fees consist in the confidence and gratitude of those amongst whom they live.

TRADITIONAL CUSTOM IS "REFRESHING"

Hundreds of people visited the English village of Ringley recently to watch the incoming "lord mayor" take office in a ceremony which is centuries old.

William Pilkington, who has held the office in past years, came forward again for election. True to tradition, he wore a top-hat, a soldier's ancient coat and spats, and carried a toasting-fork, on which was a piece of toast.

After his health had been drunk at a public-house he was taken to the canal, where he allowed water to be poured over him and so became entitled on each Saturday of his year of office to a "pint of six-penny beer" at each public-house where he appears "shaved, wearing a clean shirt, and in an otherwise respectable condition."

Northern Ireland will build laborers' cottages to rent at 60 cents a week.

Tourists who visit Moscow will no longer be able to complain that the Soviet capital lacks a first-class hotel, for just recently the Moscow Soviet Hotel was opened. It has 1,200 rooms, with radio and private bath in each, and luxurious equipment throughout.

Plans for Dedication of the Abbott Memorial

1922. At the centenary celebration of this church in 1919, a Memorial Endowment Board was inaugurated by the Rev. E. Geoffrey May, which may be said to have supplied the inspiration for the appropriate form of this memorial. The essential steps for its establishment were however taken by W. A. Howard, the then rector of the parish, under whose guidance the greater part of the necessary funds was raised. It has now been brought to completion by spontaneous contributions from various citizens, whose recognition of the immense value of the services rendered by Sir John Abbott to this country during his forty years of legal and parliamentary activity constitutes an impressive feature of this tribute which, erected on consecrated ground within the church of his fathers, records the achievement and the birthplace of a great Canadian statesman.

Resolution Passed by Argenteuil Historical Socy.

Whereas, there are in the County of Argenteuil many old buildings of historic interest, and whereas, even when it is not feasible to retain or restore old buildings falling to decay, it is usually possible by making records and photographs, and by some device of landscaping or architecture (such as utilizing bits of old wall or foundation for summer pavilion, parapet, terrace or sunken garden, etc.) to preserve its associations in some measure at least.

Be it resolved that the Historical Society hereby record its concern and hope that the picturesque and historic values of all old landmarks be conserved to the utmost by those into whose hands they come.

Autumn Weddings

Popular Young Couple Married in Lachute

The marriage of Miss Irene Elizabeth Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Scott, of Lachute, and Mr. Angus Taylor, son of the Rev. James and Mrs. Taylor, of Arnprior, took place on Saturday at half-past two o'clock, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough of Lachute United Church officiating, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Taylor, the bridegroom's father. Owing to the illness of the bride's mother, the wedding was very quiet, taking place at the bride's home in the presence of only the two families. The bride wore a dress of spice-colored tricolored, fashioned on Grecian lines with short train, and a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left for a motor trip to the Maine Coast, the bride wearing for travelling a wine-colored hand-knitted suit with felt hat to match. On their return they will reside in Lachute.

House Wedding at Dunany

The marriage of Marion Isabel Jean, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phineas MacVicar, of Dunany, to Mr. George Allister Connelly, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. John Connelly, was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents at Dunany, at three o'clock, the Rev. Henry Cousens officiating. Mrs. James Hay, cousin of the bride, played the Wedding March and Miss Kathleen MacVicar acted as bridesmaid. The Misses Helen Martin and Isabel MacVicar, both cousins of the bride, acted as flower girls. Mr. Alvin Connelly was best man for the bridegroom.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, and a toque of a corresponding shade, with a shoulder veil. She carried a bouquet of Premier supreme roses with tiny sprigs of white heather. The bridesmaid was gowned in maize taffeta, and carried bouquets of Souvenir roses. The flower girls were in frocks of pale green organdie with matching accessories, and carried bouquets of roses.

Mrs. MacVicar, the bride's mother, wore Alice blue triple sheer with a corsage bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Connelly, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in navy blue georgette, and wore a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses. Mr. and Mrs. Connelly left later on a motor trip to Quebec, the bride travelling in a rust colored wool dress worn under a brown coat, with accessories to match. They will reside in Brownsburg.

Marriage at Grenville

Decorated with a profusion of fall flowers and ferns, the home of Mr. and Mrs. David MacVicar, near Grenville, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, when their eldest daughter, Aletha Caroline, was united in marriage to William Lloyd Barnes, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barnes of Hawkesbury. Rev. E. Young, of Brownsburg Baptist Church, officiated.

The bride, in a gown of white satin, wearing a wreath of orange blossoms and carrying a bouquet of cream roses and lilies-of-the-valley, was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by her sister, Miss Bernice MacVicar, in a gown of jade green silk over taffeta, with a large hat to match, and carrying a spray of yellow gladiolas. Glenna Bennett, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Thos. McMahon of Belle Falls.

Mr. William Garrett, son of Rev. Canon W. P. and Mrs. Garrett, of Hawkesbury, acted as best man.

Following the ceremony over 150 guests sat down to a buffet supper. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Barnes left for Lake Placid, N.Y., the bride wearing a costume of navy blue with accessories to match. On their return they will reside in Hawkesbury.

Meeting Held to Form Branch of Legion

At a meeting of local war veterans held in Victoria Hall last Friday evening, attended by a large number of the "Old Boys", it was decided that a branch of the Legion be formed covering this district and to be known as the Argenteuil Branch. Already over 40 applications have been received showing the keen interest which is being manifested by the veterans in organizing themselves in order that they may lend a helping hand to ex-service men less fortunate than themselves.

Several speakers from Legion Headquarters were present and outlined the objects of the organization.

All those wishing to join or have information relative to the new branch are asked to communicate with H. Carpenter, Lachute, or S. Stilwell, Brownsburg.

California Gold First

Found on Sutter Ranch

It was on the land of John Sutter, a Swiss emigrant to California, that gold was discovered. Sutter had gone there in 1839, and by the time California became United States territory following the Mexican war he was the owner of an immense tract which he called New Helvetia and which, from his "fort" located at the junction of the Sacramento and American rivers on the site of what afterward became Sacramento city, he ruled practically independent of the Mexican authorities. Sutter's fort was a sort of station for the few immigrant trains that had made their way overland to California and about it he had gathered a number of workmen who tilled his fields and cut timber in the hills to the east.

It was in digging a tailrace for a water-power saw mill on the south fork of the American river in January, 1848, that John Marshall, who had charge of the work, discovered the dull yellow particles that in a few months were to make Sutter's land the mecca of fortune seekers the world over. Marshall had tried to keep the discovery quiet, writes R. A. Barry in the New York Herald Tribune, but his workmen, a party of Mormons from the disbanded Mormon battalion that had been a part of the army General Kearny marched overland from Santa Fe, spread the news in San Francisco—and the gold rush was on.

Gold was found not only at "Mormon Island," which had been formed by the construction of the millrace but along both forks of the American river as well as along the streams that paralleled the American to the north and south. That Sutter was the owner of much of the gold-bearing land did not seem to matter. Claims were staked by all comers, and Sutter was left to petition congress for some sort of redress—which was never granted.

Brownsburg Cyclist in 115-Mile Race

CAME SEVENTH AMONG SEVENTY-FIVE STARTERS

It is gratifying to know that 17-year-old Bob Taylor is still keeping up a reputation for Brownsburg among Montreal cyclists.

Last Sunday Bob's father, his trainer, pushed him off with hopes that he would come through—which he did, with creditable courage. The race was staged from Montreal to Berthier and return. The weather was fine but a cold wind was blowing. The first ten starters broke away at the 70-mile mark, but they all hung together, so it was a fight all the way. Bob, however, won a worth-while prize.

The winner was Ritchot of the Sylvester Club, second Gauthier of C.W.A. Three riders from Vermont made a good showing in the runners-up, who arrived at the finishing mark half an hour after the first ten. There were 25 cyclists who finished, out of 75 starters.

—Come and have tea on Saturday afternoon at the United Church Hall, Lachute, and meet your friends at the Women's Institute Food Sale.

—If you are looking for real values and good bargains, call at the Canada Novelty Shop, 198 Main Street, and you will be agreeably surprised. This store relies on small profits and quick turnover. See advertisement.

But the Ford V-8 stands out again this season, supreme in its class and the ideal average-man's car!

If you have not enquired into the fine qualities of the 1936 Ford V-8 — its stability, comfort, performance and economy — call at our show-rooms and ask for a personal demonstration.

IN ADDITION—ask the man who owns one, either this year's model, last year's, or older Fords — and catch the note of satisfaction in that quality which ranks perhaps highest in car records — namely ENDURANCE.

Kindness to Pigeon Brought Farmer $10

Armand Rivard, of Lacolle, who found a tired carrier pigeon in his farmyard and then released it, after giving it feed and water and rest for a night, had the surprise of his life later when he received a personal letter containing a money order for $10.

The letter, signed by R. R. Hollis of Ottawa, thanked Mr. Rivard for his kindness to the pigeon. Mr. Hollis wrote that he was experimenting with several such birds and had been anxious about the success of this young one. Mr. Hollis learned of the pigeon's whereabouts through a friend who showed him the item in the Montreal Gazette about the finding of the bird.

Scribblers are Now Called Work Books

Because the word 'scribblers', applied to notebooks, is said to have a bad psychological effect on primary school pupils, the more modern term of 'work books' has been substituted by educational authorities in London, Ont., in the hope of making the children more ambitious.

Plays Old Violin

A violin 186 years old is still in use in Edmonton, Alta. Owned by Robert Buchanan, it was made at Mittenwald, Germany, by Bartholomew Kramer in 1750. The instrument is valued at more than $1,000. It has carried down the decades a glorious mellow tone.

Aunt Jean Herself

DISCONTENTMENT NEVER PAYS

"Why are you restless, you little red leaf?" The Mother Tree softly said. As she stretched out her arms To shade from the sun A wee baby's uncovered head.

"My dress is too pretty to be hidden here," Said the pert little leaf in reply. "There's no one to see its dainty hue But the same old sun in the sky, The same old house and the same old clouds As they drift so lazily by."

"I wish I could travel to some other place Where all could see my bright gown!" A frisky wind caught her And e'er she could breathe She was carried 'way over the town. And dropped in a puddle where mud-stained and wet, She sighed in deep dismay— "How silly I was to fume and fret. Were I back in my tree-top, I'd stay!"

Editor's Note—

The Watchman regrets that, owing to extra demands on its typesetting machine, Aunt Jean's instalment of "Cordelia's Adventures in Jettyland" is omitted this week. The story will be resumed in next issue.

My Town

I know my town and I love my town
And I want to help it be
As great a town to every one
As it seems to be to me.
I praise my town and I cheer my town,
And I try to spread its fame;
And I know what a splendid thing 'twould be
If you would do the same.
I trust my town and I boost my town,
And I want to do my part
To make it a town that, all may praise
From the depths of every heart!
I like my town and I help my town,
And I want my town to grow;
If I knocked my town or decried my town
That wouldn't be fair, you know,
I think my town is the very best town
In all the world—to me;
Or if it's not, I want to get out
And try to make it be!
I talk my town and I preach my town,
As I think a fellow should
Who has more at stake than to win or make
For the love of the common good.
I bet on my town, and I bank on my town,
And I think it fine to feel—
When you know your town and you love your town—
That it's part of your honest zeal!
I'm proud of my town, I love my town,
And I want to help it rise—
And that's the way to help a town—
Not curse it and despise it!

Commodore Hull's Sword Rests in U. S. Academy

The sword that signalled "Cease Firing" at the end of one of the United States navy's most important victories rests at the United States Naval Academy, at Annapolis, Md., notes a writer in the Washington Post.

The sword was that of Commodore Isaac Hull; and the victory that of the United States frigate Constitution, called Old Ironsides, over the British frigate Guerriere in 1812.

The Constitution encountered the Guerriere off Halifax, Nova Scotia, August 19. In less than an hour, the British man-of-war was a total wreck.

This victory was the first major triumph for the infant United States navy and established our nation as a ranking sea power.

When Commodore Hull, then a captain, returned to shore, his native state, Connecticut, presented him a new sword in token of his achievement.

He gave his old sword to Lieut. Stephen Decatur, Jr., an officer on the Constitution, whose descendants donated it to the Naval Academy.

Origin of Word "Cop"

There have been advanced a number of stories as to the origin of the word "cop," as applied to policemen. The word cop is supposed to be derived from the Old English verb to cop, meaning to catch, to get hold of, to nab. This meaning is retained in the slang expression to cop off, meaning to grab; to make away with something sought by others. In England, a policeman is often called a copper, that is, one who cops or catches offenders. As applied to a policeman, the word cop dates back to 1839. The verb cop, as used in dialect English, has been traced back to the Seventeenth century. There is no evidence that cop was originally the abbreviation of constabulary of police. Another story of the origin of the word is connected with the following: In 1829 Sir Robert Peel organized the first modern police force in London. Members of the police force wore blue uniforms with very large copper buttons. These buttons gave the police the name copper, shortened to cop.—Literary Digest.

Among famous Americans born in February besides Lincoln and Washington, there are Horace Greeley, born on the 3d, in 1811; Aaron Burr, on the 6th in 1756; William T. Sherman, February 8, 1820; William Henry Harrison, ninth President, February 9, 1773; Samuel J. Tilden on the same date in 1814; Thomas A. Edison, February 11, 1847; Daniel Boone, the same date in 1735; Elihu Root, February 15, 1845; Edgar Allan Poe, February 19, 1809; James Russell Lowell, February 22, 1819; "Buffalo Bill" Cody, February 26, 1846, and Longfellow, February 27, 1807.

Home of Mongol Peoples

Mongolia is the home of the Mongol peoples, who have, at various times in history, overrun neighboring territories and established military empires. The largest of these was the Mongol empire, which dominated Asia and part of Europe in the Thirteenth century. Mostly tribesmen, says the Washington Post, they live in felt tents called yurts, depending on vast herds of sheep, horses and camels for their living. Nearly a third of the men are Lama priests.

Saying, "How Do You Do?"

The Anglo-Saxon's "How do you do?" is the German's "Wie geht es Ihnen?" (How does it walk you? How do you progress?) the French equivalent for "How do you carry yourself?" "How do you dress yourself?" and the Latin's "Comme sta?" (How do you stand?) The Arab, whose religion leads to war, will never salute a Christian with "Salaam-Aleikum" (Peace be with you).

Insects on Ocean Surface

Heliozoans, insects that live on the surface of the ocean usually hundreds of miles from land, cannot right themselves after rolling over, an involuntary act that occurs when their backs get wet. Hence scientists wonder how these insects survive after they have been drenched by spray or rain.—Richard Jenks, Utica, N. Y., in Collier's Weekly.

Solar Systems

Our solar system lies near the center of that vast system of suns which lies within the circuit of the "milky way," and some scientists think that this central position is significant—that our sun and its planets occupy a position of greater physical stability than is possessed by other suns and their planets.

Many a man has missed a good goal because he got bogged up a side road.

The Semaphore

In 1793, Claude Chappe, a young French engineer, established between Paris and Lille an experimental line of semaphore telegraph stations. The essential features of his apparatus were an upright post on the top of which was pivoted a movable beam or cross arm carrying, at each end, another movable arm. The apparatus was so arranged that the positions of these three movable units could be changed, as desired, from within the tower on which the semaphore was mounted. Various combinations or sequences of these positions could be used, either for code phrase or alphabetical communication. Carlyle's "The French Revolution" gives a dramatic account of the telegraphing to Paris, by means of a line of Chappe semaphores, of the news of the surrender of the town of Conde. Chappe's system was widely used in France and similar systems were adopted in practically all European countries and in the United States.

Pitcairn Island

Pitcairn island is a solitary island in the Pacific ocean, between Australia and South America. In 25 degrees 3 minutes south latitude and 130 degrees 8 minutes west longitude. It is about 2 miles long and 1 mile broad. It was discovered by Carteret in 1767. In 1790 it was taken possession of by nine of the mutineers of H. M. S. Bounty with six Tahitian men and a dozen women, the ring leader being called Christian. Of nine British sailors, only one, Adams, was left in 1800. The island was annexed to Britain in 1839. Nearly 200 of the islanders were transferred to Norfolk Island in 1856, but a number of them afterward returned.

DOG COMPLICATIONS

When we travel we usually take our dog with us in the car and as he enjoys travelling he is as little trouble as a dog could be. We ran into a new complication this summer. We were in Detroit on a very hot day and we drove all over down town trying to find a place to park where we could leave the dog. The parking stations would not let us park the car with the dog in it as when it was necessary to change the position of the car the drivers would not get in it with the dog present. We found one station where the car would not have to be moved but it was in the blazing sun and was so hot that it would have been too cruel to have left poor Con in the car. After cruising around for what seemed like hours, we finally found a shady spot in a parking lot near the river and he stayed there quite comfortably for the several hours that we left him. Every time I am in a large city I am thankful that I do not have to live in one. It is a treat to go there but a day or two is enough and we leave thankful that our lot is cast in a smaller city.

TOO MANY POSSESSIONS

Honestly, I think it is a good idea to have to move every once in a while. It is an appalling job, but one does get rid of a lot of junk which one collects. This time we moved we threw away more than ever. When you stop to look at the things you collect, you realize that a lot of them are not worth crating and paying the freight for 1300 miles. It is a funny thing how valuable our own possessions become. They are ours and we love them—or perhaps I should say because they are ours we love them. Some of the things that have the least monetary value are the most loved. If you have never moved you have no idea how many useless things you have collected.

CHILDREN ARE CRUEL

Most children have a cruel streak in them. Look at the way they sometimes use other children, inflicting physical and mental cruelty. They will inflict sheer torture on a substitute teacher or on one who has not been able to keep the discipline in hand. They delight in torturing parents, mothers especially, as they show their feelings more. Even very small children get a delight in making their mother suffer. Temper tantrums, refusal to eat, banging heads on the floor, throwing things, holding the breath, and all these other delightful tricks are merely ways of making their mother suffer and are used as a means of getting their own way. The best way to cure them is to appear indifferent and not let them see you suffer. Walk out on them. It is no fun putting on an act if there is no audience. If they hurt no one but themselves they will soon quit.

JELLY MAKING

There are questions which bob up about the same time in each year. One that arises at this time, is, should I use bottled pectin for my jellies? That question does not permit a simple yes or no answer. It depends on circumstances. If you have a quantity of fruit in your own garden, it will be cheaper to make it in the old-fashioned way, but if you have to buy your fruit it is usually cheaper to use pectin. Certainly it is simpler and much less work. Then too you are sure of your results. I don't know

Vernon Women May Contribute Road Taxes

In the city of Vernon, B. C., business and professional women between the ages of 21 and 60 who do not own property may be required to pay a road tax this year. At a recent City Council meeting, an amendment to the road tax by-law, permitting this action, was given its first three readings.

The tax, if it is finally passed, will amount to $2. Under the Municipal Act, it is pointed out, women can only be levied upon for road and not poll tax, as are men who do not own civic property.

New Fashion Colors from Autumn's Palette

The new fashion colors for this season have been taken from Nature's autumn palette. There are September sun colors, reflecting all the warm golden tones that one sees in the leaves. There are deep, rich reds, many of them very purplish in tone, suggesting "black tulip" and corinth shades. Reds, greens, browns, are all fashionable this year, but they must be in intense, warm tones. Blatant colors will have no vogue for the coming season. The woollens that will be used for tailors will have a smooth, velvety surface, or they will be combined with mohair, with the mohair making tiny curls all over the surface of the fabric or in narrow rows.

of anything more exasperating than to make jelly which does not jelly properly. Fruit, to jelly without pectin must not be dead ripe. Grapes, crab-apples and apples all will jelly without the assistance of pectin. One year I got a reddish grape which would not jelly. Since then I have not taken chances and have used pectin. There are people who say that you can taste the pectin in the finished product. I think that is imagination. They expect to, therefore they do. The flavor is better as it is not made strong from long boiling. If you do use pectin follow the directions exactly or you will not have good results.

CRAB-APPLE JELLY

Remove stems and blossom ends from crab-apples, cut in quarters and cover with water until the water can just be seen through the fruit. Boil until soft. Let drip through a jelly bag. Measure the juice and measure an equal quantity of sugar. Put the juice on to boil and boil for twenty minutes. Spread the sugar on an open pan and put in a very slow oven to warm. Add the sugar to the juice and after it has come to a boil, cook for five minutes longer. Bottle in sterilized jars and cover with paraffin.

TOMATO JELLY

2½ lbs. ripe tomatoes; 6½ cups sugar; ¼ cup lemon juice and rind of one lemon; ½ teaspoon each cloves, cinnamon, allspice; 1 bottle pectin.

Scald, peel and crush about 2½ lbs. tomatoes. Boil 4 cups of this for 10 minutes, uncovered, stirring occasionally. Add lemon juice, grated rind, and spices. Measure sugar into large kettle and add tomato, filling up cup with water if necessary to make the 4 cups. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly. Boil hard 2 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Skim and pour into sterilized jars. Seal with paraffin.

Open First Milk Bar in Edinburgh

Mrs. Walter Elliot, wife of the British Minister of Agriculture, recently opened the first milk bar in Edinburgh. Sixty milk bars are now operating in London. One in Leicester Square gets through 7,000 milk shakes daily. Half a dozen are going strong in and around Fleet Street, centre of London newspaperdom.

One family finished their vacation in three states: Mother in a state of relaxation, sister in the state of matrimony and father in the state of bankruptcy.

Haggis Is Not Scotch

Haggis is generally regarded as a delicacy only among the Scots. Most Englishmen have but a vague idea what the fearsome thing is, yet in the Middle Ages it figured largely in the dietary of the workers, says Tit-Bits Magazine. It originated, however, not in England, nor in Provencal France, where a very similar concoction known as "pieds et paquets" is considered a delicacy, but from classic Greece. These refined, artistic, fastidious ancients not only ate it and enjoyed it, but immortalized it in verse. Brought to England by Roman legionnaires, it narrowly escaped becoming the national dish of England. The concoction is made of oatmeal, pepper, salt, the liver, lights, and heart of a sheep; the whole being sewn into the stomach bag of a sheep and hollid.

"Last Aid" Clubs

There are clubs for poor persons in Soda, whose principal purpose is to provide their members with a good "send off" into the next world and to assure that their funerals shall be "successes." The clubs have different names, the most popular being "Last Aid" and "Last Duty." When a member dies, all the other living members subscribe an agreed amount each to cover the funeral expenses and the meal which is offered to the mourners after the ceremony. They also see to the provision of a proper hearse and flowers. All the members are obliged to walk in the funeral procession. In addition, if it is found necessary, the remaining members provide relief for the widow and children of the deceased.

Three Parishes in One Church

The chapel at Tunbridge Wells holds the distinction of being the only church to stand in two counties and three parishes, observes a writer in Pearson's Weekly. It is partly in Kent and partly in Sussex. When the clergyman leaves the vestry he comes out of the parish of Frant, Sussex. If he is going to officiate at the altar, he walks into the parish of Tunbridge, Kent, while in the pulpit he stands in the parish of Speldhurst.

Insects Migrate

Insects apparently possess an extra sense that is not shared by mankind. This is a direction sense similar to, but much more remarkable than, the migratory instinct of birds. Insects migrate with the same infallible directness as birds, but there is this difference, whereas with birds migration means a double journey, the migrants depart and again return, and may contain old birds that know the route; with insects the journey is undertaken only once and by a new generation.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 20th, is "MATTER." The Golden Text is: "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. (John 2:6)" The following passages are selected from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—"For great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised: he also is to be feared above all gods. For all the gods of the people are idols: but the Lord made the heavens. Glory and honour are in his presence; strength and gladness are in his place. Give unto the Lord, ye kindreds of the people, give unto the Lord glory and strength." (1 Chron. 16: 25-28) "A partnership of mind with matter would ignore omnipresent and omnipotent Mind. This shows that matter did not originate in God, Spirit, and is not eternal." (Science and Health, pg. 275.)

Gingerbread Love Test

Is Popular Over Holland

One of the favorite dainties of the Hollanders is gingerbread. It is popular all over the country, and unlucky is the young man who goes courting without a supply of it, says a writer in the Boston Globe.

At the door his sweetheart meets him with the greeting, "Have you any gingerbread?" and if he has none, the atmosphere sometimes becomes decidedly chilly. If, on the other hand, he comes wisely prepared, he is assured of a pleasant evening the minute the gingerbread sack comes in sight.

At last the young man decides to "pop the question." That night he appears with a large cake under his arm, but gives no hint of the reason for his visit. The rest of the family, however, slips off to bed early, leaving him alone with the girl.

This is the fateful time. If she throws more peat on the fire, the young man understands that she loves him; they cut the cake and settle their future happily. Perhaps, though, the girl lets the fire die down; then her suitor realizes that she does not care for him and, bundling up the cake, he departs silently never to return.

Michigan Jack Pine Does

Not Mature for 80 Years

Considerable has been said in the past regarding the large amount of mature jack pine that may be found on state-owned lands, particularly in state forests. Most of those reports emanate from those who would like to see this timber harvested for commercial purposes, writes Albert Stoll Jr., in the Detroit News.

A careful check of the state holdings would reveal that there is very little if any, so-called mature jack pine on these holdings. What undoubtedly is meant is the merchantable jack pine. Under the most favorable growing conditions jack pine matures in Michigan at about eighty to ninety years of age. It is conceded, however, that before this period much of this forest growth becomes merchantable for pulpwood, box wood, railroad ties and the like, but it is by no means mature. Even after reaching maturity, if fire and disease are eliminated from these stands the trees may persist for many years longer without deteriorating.

Reforestation in Michigan did not begin until 1904, and even the oldest of our jack pine plantations are far from being mature today. It is quite true that some of the land which reverted to the state did contain a fair stand of natural jack pine which is approaching close to maturity, but there is so little of this that the state would be unwarranted in attempting to harvest it.

The jack pine tree of northern Michigan, while not as valuable commercially as other species of pines, or hardwood, has gone far in covering the lumbering and fire scars of the past generation and has a distinct recreational value.

Smoke Telegraph

Among slight signals, some of the earliest and most widely employed for communication by day were based on the rising of smoke. Since man, alone of all animals, uses fire, the appearance of smoke was always accepted by primitive man as evidence of the presence of another human being. If not self-explanatory, a column of smoke signified the danger of a potential enemy. If, however, the smoke was seen in some particular place, or appeared in some particular manner, it was a symbol of friendship and, through the use of a prearranged code, could be used for communication. By alternately covering a smoldering fire with a blanket and uncovering it, the North American Indian broke the steady column of smoke, which rose from it, up into a series of puffs or clouds, the sequence or combinations of which could be used, according to prearrangement, to "telegraph" from place to place, either directly or by the use of relays.

How Indians Tanned Hides

One process used by the Indians in tanning deer hides was first to scrape off all fat and flesh adhering to the pelt. Then the fat and brains of the deer would be rubbed into the flesh side and the skin rinsed out in water repeatedly. It was a long and tedious process to create a really fine piece of buckskin, states a writer in the Detroit News, but the Indians didn't mind for they had plenty of time on their hands and, anyway, the squaws did most of the work. Two kinds of buckskin were created; one was white and the other smoke-tanned. The last was repeatedly smoked during the tanning process over a small fire with plenty of smoke. After many weeks of labor the hide would be ready for fashioning in garments.

"Entangling Alliances"

Washington, in his farewell address, published September 17, 1796, said: "Why forego the advantages of so peculiar a situation? Why quit our own to stand upon foreign ground? Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalry, interest, humor, or caprice?" It was Jefferson who said, "Peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations—entangling alliances with none." This was in his first inaugural address, March 4, 1801.

Celsius Thermometer Is Named for Its Inventor

The Celsius thermometer—after its inventor, Anders Celsius, Swedish scientist—is more commonly known as the centigrade. The Reaumur scale is one used to some extent in Europe. Fahrenheit temperature readings may be converted into centigrade by subtracting 32 degrees and multiplying by five-ninths. Thus, states a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, three degrees below zero Fahrenheit, is 19.4 below zero on the centigrade scale. Centigrade becomes Fahrenheit by multiplying by nine-fifths and adding 32. Reaumur readings may be converted into Fahrenheit by multiplying by nine-fourths and adding 32, or into centigrade by multiplying by five-fourths. To convert Fahrenheit into Reaumur subtract 32 and multiply by four-ninths.

The Celsius zero is at the freezing point and its 100 degrees at the boiling point of water (under 760mm. barometric pressure). The Reaumur scale has its zero at the freezing point, and the boiling point at 80 degrees. Fahrenheit placed his zero at the lowest temperature he could produce, achieving it by mixing snow and salt. On his scale the freezing point is at 32 and the boiling point at 212.

KEEN COMPETITION IN SPORTS AT ST. JULIEN PICNIC SATURDAY

Twice Postponed, Event Proves Unqualified Success

The old saying that "Fortune favors the brave" was exemplified in the success last Saturday of the picnic held on Lachute Exhibition Grounds, which had been postponed on two previous dates owing to inclemency of the weather. The committee in charge had been keenly disappointed at these repeated delays, but their patience was rewarded when Saturday last proved ideal for the occasion. There was a good attendance both afternoon and evening to witness the program of sporting events, which were keenly contested.

Mayor Dr. J. H. Mason, ex-Mayor A. Larocque and Mr. A. Bothwell were in the judges' box announcing the winners and presenting the prizes to successful competitors, the hero of the day being a young townsman of Lachute, Stanley Langille, whose popularity was evidenced by the cheering crowd as he captured the three cups, donated respectively by Messrs. N. Boyd, E. Johnston and J. P. MacKimmie & Sons, in the major events of the day. Results of the sports events were as follows:

100 yards dash—K. Falconer, A. Graham, S. Langille.
220 yards—S. Langille, A. Graham, J. Lefebvre.

440 yards—S. Langille, H. Damsant, A. Graham.
Half Mile—S. Langille, Gagnier, Brunelle.
One Mile—S. Langille, Gagnier, O. Gibeault.

Two-mile Bicycle Race—S. Langille, Lavoie, B. Langille.
Robert Taylor, of Brownsburg also participated in the bicycle race, but only for an exhibition spin. He was awarded a prize by the committee.

There was a race for the sports committee, in which Messrs. W. Gougeon, S. Church, F. Desjardins and A. Robert were the winners.

TALK ON PRE-SCHOOL, POST-SCHOOL EDUCN.

COUNTY PRESIDENT ADDRESSED LACHUTE WOMEN'S INST.

A talk given by Mrs. A. Graham, County President, before Lachute branch of the Women's Institute recently, was most timely in its reference to the attitude with which many children, literally fore-warned and fore-armed, are sent to school for the first time or back to the classroom after vacation days. By special request, The Watchman publishes herewith a synopsis of Mrs. Graham's address, entitled "Education, Youthful and Adult":

Education, like Charity, should begin at home and with the child in infancy. Children should be trained at the earliest possible age to respect their parents and others, and in particular to respect other people's property. A child thus trained, on going to school, which should be just a sort of graduation from careful home training to school training, will be a joy to its teacher even though it may not be brilliant in class work. The inability to imbibed education, so to speak, as quickly as other children may be due to the fact that the child's training in respect has not been mixed with

Summer Ended Last Midnight

Rotation of the earth brought the sun directly over the equator at 26 minutes after midnight last night, Eastern Standard Time, and Canada's summer is officially ended. Sept. 21 is usually the autumnal equinox, when day and night are of equal length, but this year it came two days later.

Lakefield Rector Struck Down by Automobile

Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, Incumbent of Lakefield, received minor injuries on Sunday evening when knocked down and run over by a Montreal car. 100 CLUB SUPPER HELD MacDONALD LAKE HOUSE

A diversion from the customary 100 Club gatherings afforded pleasure to 20-odd members and their guests who motored last evening to MacDonald Lake, Arundel. Sharing the hospitality of MacDonald Lake House, a summer hotel in charming surroundings, they enjoyed a supper which may be tritely, though very adequately, described as "sumptuous." A sing-song and impromptu program followed, and there being several born entertainers among the group a pleasant session was enjoyed around the log fire.

Discovered Missing Man in Canal at Grenville

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS THIS MORNING

The disappearance of Osias Brisbois, 31-year-old trucker of Grenville, on Friday last, has caused apprehension, and rumors of foul play have led to a search for his body in the Grenville canal. Detectives of the Provincial Police conducted a search in all likely places but no trace of the missing man was discovered. Then dragging operations were carried on in the two Grenville locks and the detectives finally ordered the locks to be drained—a task which canal employees commenced yesterday afternoon.

Last Seen on Friday

According to statements made by J. R. Bell, brother-in-law of the missing man, Brisbois was last seen coming from the Desforches Hotel, Grenville, on Friday evening last. The hotel is beside No. 1 lock of the canal and the man, accompanied by a woman, was walking towards the canal.

Mr. Bell is reported to have said that last week, when there was a circus staged in Grenville, Brisbois was seen several times in the company of one of the women connected with the show. "My brother-in-law told me that he was warned by sev-

GOVERNMENT CARRYING OUT ELECTION PROMISES. RADIO COMMISSION NEW SET-UP, NEW PROGRAMS. C.N.R. BOARD AND CENTRAL BANK REORGANIZED.

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, Sept. 22—Radio, the Canadian National Railways, and the Bank of Canada are all away to a new start, with new blood in the management of affairs, and some changes in general policy. Broadly speaking, the government is carrying out election pledges, and is seeking to correct some weaknesses which the experience of recent years disclosed.

Take radio, for instance. For three years we have had a commission of three, with the chairman acting as general manager. Many improvements in radio broadcasting have resulted. But a parliamentary committee last session concluded that the three-man commission was a faulty set-up. They recommended a change to the British system.

Returning Officer at St. Jovite is Fined $100.

Mr. Justice Cousineau, in Superior Court at St. Jerome on Monday, delivered judgment in the case of Sylvio Dufour versus Jules and Henri Boivin and sentenced the defendants to a fine of $100 each on two counts, and costs.

The case resulted from election day trouble last year, the plaintiff claiming that Henri Boivin was deputy returning officer in a poll at St. Jovite on November 25, and permitted his father, Jules Boivin, and Alfred Barbe to vote in contravention of article 360 of the Election Act.

It was stated Boivin senior had presented himself at the poll and the representatives of one of the candidates had asked to have him sworn. Jules Boivin refused to take an oath, but the deputy returning officer gave him a ballot paper and allowed him to vote despite the protests of the scrutineer. Later in the same day, evidence showed, Alfred Barbe came to vote. His name was not on the list, but despite the protests of one of the scrutineers the deputy returning officer allowed him to vote.

The case was heard on March 17 last and taken en délibere by Judge Cousineau, who delivered judgment Monday. It was one of the first cases of its kind to be heard in the St. Jerome court.

Plans for Vice-Regal Visit to St. Andrews

LOUD SPEAKERS TO BE INSTALLED

Arrangements are well advanced for the dedication and unveiling of the Sir John Abbott Memorial in Christ Church, St. Andrews East, on Saturday, Oct. 3rd. Owing to the visit of His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, and the fear that the church will not afford adequate accommodation, arrangement has been made for the installation of loud speakers, so that all may be privileged to hear and share the ceremonies honoring the memory of Argenteuil's son, who attained the position of Premier of Canada, and was recognized as the Dominion's leading lawyer.

The Historical Society of Argenteuil, holding its annual meeting in the Town Hall the same evening, is arranging a private view of the Loan Exhibit, for the convenience of His Excellency and the vice-regal party, who are expected to arrive at the hall at 3.30 p.m. and will remain in the precincts about an hour before returning to Ottawa. Further particulars of the ceremonies will appear in next week's Watchman.

Any persons in Lachute having antiques to loan for the exhibition are requested to notify J. S. Giles, Phone 27, Lachute.

Victims Taken to Hospital at Hawkesbury, Ont.

Six persons were injured, including three from Lachute, in a head-on collision between an automobile from Lachute and a car en route from Montreal to Renfrew, on highway No. 8 this side of Grenville, in the early hours of Monday morning. There was fog over this particular section of the road, and it is believed neither of the drivers saw the other until it was too late to avoid the collision.

The injured were taken to Notre Dame Hospital, Hawkesbury, by a passing motorist.

Eugene Theoret, 25, laborer, of Lachute, is suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries. His condition is still critical. His wife, Mrs. Eugene Theoret, 27, employed as a cook here at the Windsor Hotel, suffered lacerations about the face and body, and shock. Her condition is reported much improved.

Miss E. Lemerise, 23, of Grenville, riding as a passenger with the Theorets, suffered a fractured rib, cuts about the face and arms, and severe shock.

Euclid Jolin of Lachute Mills also received slight injuries, but was allowed to leave the hospital.

Riding in the west-bound car, Eugene Valerie of Montreal, had his left knee fractured and J. Messier, also of Montreal, received a cut in the lip.

The Lachute couple and their passengers were driving in a new Plymouth car. Both machines were badly wrecked and a passing motorist picked up the injured persons and took them to the hospital. Mr. Theoret, who was driving one of the cars, is in a critical condition, but hospital authorities are hopeful that he will live. Eugene Valerie was the driver of the second car, a Hupmobile.

REPORTS FROM COUNTY WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

A surprise Spelling Contest was staged by the convenor when papers were distributed and Miss Kathleen Murdoch read out quite a tricky list of spellings, which the members wrote down. Four perfect papers were returned, those of Mrs. L. M. Gaston, Mrs. Theodore Murdoch, Mrs. Alvin Heatlie and Mrs. A. Graham, with quite a number of others falling short of the correct mark by one. County Historical Society Enlists Support for Establishment of Museum at St. Andrews East

Village Council Agrees to Offer Picturesque Site Free of Cost and Exempt from Taxation . . . Society Plans to Include Public Library and Art Gallery in Suitable Museum Building

The following circular issued by the Historical Society of Argenteuil County is addressed to "the inhabitants of Argenteuil and their descendants far and near." It presents an appeal for interest in the work of the Society and sets forth its well considered plans for establishment of a permanent Museum at St. Andrews—a project which has been a prized objective of the membership ever since this organization was formed:

In the light of the widening interest in the Historical Society and the expectation of the attainment of its main objective, an ideal Historical Museum, it now becomes important to present some outline of the scale on which this enterprise should be considered, if a countywide interest and enthusiasm is to be awakened.

The directors and officers of the Society are confronted with the danger of a plan on too restricted a scale that would be inadequate to meet the requirements of the museum they have in mind, and which would result in future regrets.

For this reason a group of some twenty Life Members with paid up subscriptions of $20 and over, have submitted the following stipulations, in addition to the agreements already outlined in the circulars of 1934 and 1935, and these proposals have received the approval and endorsement of the Executive.

- I. That the objective sum for the erection and equipment of the proposed museum be not less than ten thousand dollars ($10,000), that a persistent effort be made to reach this amount, and that the county canvass for this purpose be completed as far as possible during the present year 1936.
- II. That the proposed museum be a fire-proof structure as enduring as Argenteuil granite, with large open fireplace and swinging crane, and interior details to reflect the life and times of our pioneer ancestors, and at the same time consistent with the convenience and adornment of an up-to-date museum.
- III. That in order to avoid future liabilities, it is agreed that no debts be contracted, and that the construction of the museum be delayed till the bank deposit be sufficient to bring to completion the plan adopted.
- IV. That the proposed museum be located on the Ottawa Valley Tourist Highway, and that the St. Andrews Town Council provide a suitable site with sufficient area to give the structure a picturesque setting, free of cost and exempt from future taxation. The said Council by resolutions passed Sept. 8th., 1936, has ratified this agreement.
- V. That the annual circulars and financial statements be printed in both languages French and English.
- VI. That one feature of the museum be an Art Gallery of Engravings, Paintings and Portraits that have historical interest and that one alcove be devoted to the exhibition of Pioneer Handicrafts, with a view to their introduction to the home of Argenteuil.
- VII. That the museum be made the home of the public library, with a reading room open on regular days throughout the year, and that one wing of the structure be made the residence of the custodian if funds permit.
- VIII. That a further objective be the increase of our present membership to 1000, and a further appeal for 100 life members, a reasonable expectation from this rich and populous county and from prosperous kinsmen far and wide.
- IX. That, in order to widen its interest and claim, and on account of the central position of this proposed museum, it be prepared to be the safe and convenient repository for loan collections, and the antiquarian treasures and important historical archives of the four adjoining counties which form the basin of the Lower Ottawa.

This appeal to all classes of our population is made in the firm conviction that the enterprise is certain of accomplishment, if the needed financial foundation can be laid, an enterprise which carries with it a three-fold obligation. One—To honor and preserve the memory of our pioneer ancestors who have bequeathed to us so rich an inheritance. Two—The obligation to educate the youth of the land in the story of the past before this generation passes, and finally to hand on to posterity, an achievement worthy of the heritage of our beloved county.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 27th., is "Reality."

The Golden Text is:—"Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." (I Corinthians 2:9).

The following passages are from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures":

"As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried; he is a buckler to all them that trust in him. For who is God, save the Lord? and who is a rock, save our God? God is my strength and power; and he maketh my way perfect." (I Samuel 22:31-33).

"Perfection underlies reality. Without perfection, nothing is wholly real. All things will continue to disappear, until perfection appears and reality is reached." (Science and Health, page 353).

In dictatorship Europe all men are really equal and alike, serving one sole purpose—that of cannon-fodder. Exchange.

A. Y. P. A. BRANCHES PREPARE PROGRAM FOR COMING WINTER

CONFERENCE IN MONTREAL OCT. 9-10

Many of the branches of the Anglican Young People's Association are being re-organized this month, and plans are being made for the winter program. Much improvement is noted in these programs. The efforts of all A.Y.P.A. members are solicited to make the work of their branch as enjoyable and profitable — both educationally and recreationally — as possible.

The main item in the minds of A.Y.P.A. members at the present time is the approaching Conference, which is being held in Montreal on October 9 and 10. Committee workers in the immediate vicinity making arrangements for the Conference are Gerald Taylor, Lachute, and Horace G. Baugh, Lakefield. John B. Owen, of Weir, will preside at the Conference meetings.

The future Queen of the Netherlands, Juliana Louise Emma Marie Wilhelmina, 27, has decided to marry Prince Bernhard Leopold Frederick Eberhard Jules Curt Charles Godefroi Pierre zu Lippe-Biesterfeld. He may be two years her junior, but the prince certainly goes her two or three better in the matter of names.

incidents. Thirteen members and almost as many visitors were present.

Jerusalem - Bethany reports two meetings. There were Current Events and a roll call, "Your Favorite Pastime", also Canadianization, with a paper by Mrs. D. J. Rodgers on President Roosevelt's visit to Quebec, for August, and a Poultry Demonstration given by Prof.

Maw of Macdonald College as their principal feature for September meeting. Money was donated at this meeting for Regular Attendance prizes for Lachute High School pupils.

Lachute Branch held an extremely interesting business meeting, when letters of request for help of various kinds were read and generously responded to, such as educational loans and scholarships. Inspector King was present and interested his audience with explanations of the Educational Tests used at the present time. The County President, Mrs. A. Graham, was also present, and gave a talk on "Youthful and Adult Education". This branch also held a reception for, and welcomed the teachers of the Consolidated School.

Lakefield's meeting was also along educational lines, the teacher being welcomed and presented to the members. Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, Convenor of Education and Better Schools, gave an interesting paper along that line. The branch was favored with a visit from the County President, who gave a short talk on all the departments of the work, and urged that more attention be paid to the official organ, Home and Country, which is always full of new ideas for those really interested in the W. I. work.

Morin Heights sent flowers to a sick member, Mrs. J. D. Davis, and a letter of sympathy for her indisposition to another, Mrs. R. McCullough. In the absence of their Legislation convenor this branch read and pondered over the article in Home and Country on that subject; they also enjoyed a bonfire at the home of Mrs. Archie Hamilton.

Pioneer heard an Educational talk by Mrs. J. S. Giles, on "A Trip to Bermuda", and visited the home and garden of Rev. Mr. Mount of Lakefield, where they received slips, plants and roots.

Upper Lachute - East End enjoyed an interesting talk on "The Making of Wills" by Notary Valois of Lachute. The thirteen members present answered their roll call by repeating a proverb.

Letters have been received by several of the Branch Secretaries from Miss K. de L. Burland, of the Young Women's Christian Ass'n., Montreal, requesting the co-operation of the W. I. in making known the service extended to our young women and girls by the Association. The Travellers Aid Dept. of that Association will be glad to meet any such visiting the city and also assist them if travelling farther by boat or by making the Y.W.C.A. better place to live, a place to make new friends and church connections, a place to which one may go to meet their friends or to discuss their personal problems with the ladies of the staff. Miss de L. Burland stated that, by making Y.W.C.A. better known, the W. I. will be rendering a service to the girls and young women of this community.

Kangaroo Kitchen
In Australia the natives have been living off kangaroo meat for at least 10,000 years. Parts of kitchens believed to be that old were unearthed near Kingston, South Australia, some time ago. Shape of the ovens leads archeologists to believe they were for roasting kangaroos at ceremonies. So strangely man-like are these animals that it seems almost incredible that they should be eaten, but the fact remains that the Australian aborigines consider them a great delicacy. Vast herds of the beasts formerly roamed the great inland plains of the "island continent," but they have been largely killed off for their hides.

There will be, also, some building of stations and some increases in power of existing stations. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation won't have the money to acquire all private stations, but it will gradually extend public ownership as funds permit. It will try to reach some of the 'dead spots' in regions of Canada which cannot now hear our own programs.

The chairman has a deep faith in the possibilities of radio broadcasting to bring and bind together the diverse far-flung parts of Canada. He is a man of cultured tastes, and will seek to raise the standard of programs to a desirable level. Not too highbrow, of course. But sufficiently high that those people who want something 'a bit better' on the air won't be disappointed.

CHANGES ON C.N.R.

What about the 'new deal' on the Canadian National?

We have had three years of Three-Man Trustee government, with the chairman all powerful. It was to be a sort of receivership for a bankrupt system. The present government doesn't believe that it accomplished any more than a good directorate would have, in concrete results, and that it had a depressing effect on the morale of the employees. So now we go back to a board of directors—but not the board as of Sir Henry Thornton's day. That was a large (17) and scattered directorate, with limited powers of supervision. Now we have a small, efficient (so it is hoped) board of seven, embracing some outstanding lawyers and mining men. The president, S. J. Hungerford, is also the chairman, but before long it is proposed to separate these offices.

Its first job is to make the system pay its bond interest: if that is possible. It will go out after business, maintain economies, restore the morale of the workers, resist political pressure: that is the theory, at any rate. We are all interested financially because it costs the average man, woman and child five dollars a year in taxes to meet the deficits of the railway. Say $25. per year for the head of the typical family. With business rising to better levels, it should be possible to pare down that annual deficit.

PUBLIC-CONTROLLED BANK

The change in the Bank of Canada is not drastic, but in effect it turns a privately owned and controlled institution into one which is potentially under the thumb of the government of the day. The choice of directors suggests that the government is not hide-bound about monetary policy. George Coote is one of the monetary reformers, and Professor McQueen is a young vigorous-minded chap who has little use for stand-pattism. The government purchased a majority of shares last week also, and so the majority ownership is vested in the people now.

The National Employment Commission hopes that 45,000 single men will be taken on to farms under the Farm Improvement scheme, which bonuses the farmer as well as the worker. The Youth Employment Committee is also preparing schemes to absorb smaller numbers of unemployed youth this winter.

Trade and revenue figures continue to rise.

Here and There

Famous officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Sir John A. Macdonald, Prime Minister of Canada, arrived at Revelstoke recently and held a series of historic meetings. Among them were Donald A. Smith, George Stephen, James J. Hill, Van Horne and Shaughnessy, names associated for the past half century with the construction of Canada's first transcontinental railway. The party actually comprised a group of film players portraying the historic characters in the tense board-room sequence of "The Great Barrier", Gaumont British picture depicting the strenuous railway construction days fifty years ago.

Says Gene Sarazen, one time world's champion golfer, writing of the Banff Springs Hotel course at the famous resort in the Rockies:—That course of Banff is everything you as a. Miss Helen Hicks and I played it against two guests at the hotel and we were beaten. With a huge gallery it may seem funny to hear we simply couldn't keep our minds on the game—the scenery was simply too much."

The first 1937 world cruise to set out from New York will be the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain which will sail January 9 for a voyage of 125 days, covering 30,000 miles and visiting 29 ports in 23 different countries. Among these countries are Palestine, Egypt, India, Ceylon, Malay Archipelago, the Philippines, China, Japan, Hawaii and back to New York via California, the Panama Canal and Havana.

Canada's first complete semi-streamlined air-conditioned train, built for the Canadian Pacific Railway, now in operation with four units in different parts of the Dominion, has been placed on inspection at a number of points across the country and has aroused high praise and enthusiasm on the part of the hundreds of thousands of Canadians who have seen it. In Montreal alone 60,000 spectators went through it in the four days it was on inspection at the Windsor station and the same interest was displayed everywhere else. These units will be in operation between Toronto and Detroit, Montreal and Quebec, and Edmonton and Calgary.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and other delegates to the League of Nations Conference at Geneva sailed from Quebec in September in the Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Britain. Accompanying the Premier was Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Government leader in the Senate and Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor.

Captain George Gould, new skipper of the Empress of Russia, made his first trip as master of the vessel early in September. It is his first command of a Pacific Empress, though he has served the fleet in all official capacities from fourth officer to staff-captain during the past 23 years.

Last of three motor parties visiting Canada this year, 14 British automobilists arrived recently at Quebec on the Empress of Britain. The motorcade under the organizer Graham Lyons, drove from Quebec to Montreal and will visit Ottawa, Toronto, London, Detroit, Cleveland, Washington and New York.

LIBERTY AND RECOVERY

Protecting Our Protectors

(Contributed)

It is some time since I have written on anything to The Watchman—not because there was nothing to write about, but rather because both political parties seemed to think I was trying to do them injury. Members of both parties made the same charge—that I was 'taking the mill hands away from them.'

Now I would like to say that, though I voted in the last provincial election on the Conservative ticket, I am as good a Liberal as I ever was. But I would stand alone in the right; I would stand with anyone who would stand with me in the right, as long as they were right, and I would leave them as soon as I thought they were going wrong. For we are free people, we govern ourselves; we choose our own governors, and we tell them how we wish them to govern us. We are a government by the people's rule, though the right seems long to have been denied us. I have been under the impression for a long time that I wrote for liberty and not for party, and when I could not get it from my own I looked for it somewhere else, which no doubt the mill hands have done too, for they are an intelligent lot.

Abe Lincoln said that people liked to be fooled—indeed people would pay to be fooled, and you could fool all the people some of the time . . . etc. etc.

Myself and others thought we had been fooled long enough, and consequently the Taschereau regime of 18 years has fallen, with hardly a corporal's guard left to bury it, and they don't seem to know that tea time is past. Like the mule, they "have no pride of ancestry and no hope of posterity", and we, the people, must be satisfied with the usual soft solder and taxes for there is nothing we can do about it but profit by the experience of our past mistakes, and learn to be wise in time, locking the stable door before the horse has been stolen.

—And now that we are clothed and in our right minds it is up to us to tell our governors how we wish them to govern us.

What the people of Quebec want, indeed, what the people of Canada want, is men that are politicians after elections are over as well as before the elections. The people of Canada demand as their leaders men of intellect and integrity, of well known and political opinion. They demand statesmen, reformers (after as well as before, election); politicians in the highest sense of the word; men acquainted with public affairs, with the wants of the people, not only the requirements of the hour but the demands of the future. They demand men broad enough to comprehend the relations of this government to the other nations of the earth; men well versed in the powers, duties, and prerogatives of every department of government. Canada demands men who will preserve her financial honor, men who know that all the financial theories in the world cannot redeem a single dollar, and that all money must be made, not by law, but by labor; and that Canada has the industry to make the money.

The people of Canada demand men who know that prosperity, and resumption when they come, must come together. They will come hand in hand through the harvest fields; hand in hand, by the whirling spindle and turning wheel, past the open furnace door, by the flaming forges, by the chimneys filled with eager fire—by the hands of countless sons of toil. This money has got to be dug out of the earth. You cannot make it by passing resolutions in political meetings!

This country wants a government that will protect every Canadian citizen at home and abroad. Any government that will defend its defenders and will not protect its protectors is a disgrace to the map of the world; and while I am ashamed to say it, I fear it is too true the government of Canada does not protect its protectors as it should. Only this very morning two poor little girls, daughters of a returned soldier, that should be at school, came to my door begging bread for the breakfast of their mother, themselves, and a large family. The father is out of work, the oldest brother died recently, and another sister has languished with typhoid fever, and now that she has recovered there is no food in the house to strengthen her! When these men enlisted we promised the best that our country could afford would be theirs on their return. But this man and a number of others have been idle a great part of the time since they returned from the war. Though I have been repeatedly promised steady work for them, it has not yet materialized . . .

While this condition is going on, we have another state of affairs—farmers and farmers' sons who did not go to the war at all, who stayed at home and got the benefit of good wages and war prices—yes, and some with money in the bank, are employed on the government works. Indeed, some farmers are employing men to do their labor while they are engaged on government works, and many of our returned soldiers are a great part of the time idle. We have, of late, been making a great fuss about our dead, spending a great deal of money over them that died in battle ("Rest them, God")—while the living who stood with them that fell—we permit these to starve with their families and languish in illness at our doors.

OLD DAGGER SUBJECT OF RADIO DRAMA

"The Dagger of the Feathered Serpent" will be broadcast as the opening program on the second series of "Forgotten Footsteps", the stories of other civilizations, inspired by the rare objects of art to be seen in the Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology at Toronto.

This fantasy, in which a dramatic tale of Indian bravery and tradition will be enacted by a large dramatic cast under the direction of Rupert Lucas, will originate in the Commission's Toronto studios for the national network audience on Sunday, September 27, at 9.00 p.m. EST.

The dagger which suggested the story is on view at the museum in the Mexican Indian display. Don Henshaw's story concerning it introduces two brothers, one a serious, timid sort of fellow, the other a typical young man about town of his day—1000 A.D. How the wastrel steals the sacrificial knife of the "Feathered Serpent" and how his devoted brother tries to shield him from the wrath of the gods, the highly effective conclusion in which the culprit makes an amazing sacrifice; the fine, moving picture of a fine people, are all focused in this exciting drama which re-opens one of the most interesting entertainment features ever undertaken by the program department of the Radio Commission.

JAPANESE IMPORTS BY

UNUSUAL CHANNELS

Tropical moon fish, known as opahs, were recently washed ashore at Kyuquot, B.C., by the Japanese current. People of the section were surprised to see them, but accounted for their arrival by way of the warm ocean current from Japan. Smart people, these Japanese! If they can't get their goods into a country one way they will another.

WHAT THE WORLD NEEDS

Edison, the inventor, said shortly before he died, "This country has gone already too far, technologically. Our next job is to catch up spiritually."

We hear it on all sides, from educators, statesmen, yes, and from scientists, "What the world needs is a revival of religion and loyalty to its institutions." With this thought in mind, we pass along the following which was sent to us by a friend.

One man was heard to say to another, "I can't stand it to go to church and see people there who dodge their bills." The other said, "Probably you don't go to lodge or to an uplifting movie for the same reason. I consider a church to be a training school for character, rather than a domicile for professed saints." Although, by some standard, every man has his faults, generally speaking there are two classes of people: those whom Christ particularly needs to keep His church going, and those who need the church. It is probably true that most of us are in both classes. But then, the final test of any excuse for not attending church is, "How will it sound when, a few days or years hence, I give it to Him who gave His life that this institution might live and prosper."

Men will ever despise hypocrisy, but it should not crowd out their love, or duty to their Maker. Boys don't go to school because they know it all, nor men to church because they consider themselves already perfect. Some boys have played hockey because one boy, well thought of, did so before them. Other folks go completely to the devil for lack of strengthening because they stayed away from church, following in the steps of some "good" community man who wouldn't go to church because some imperfect people did.

One man has said, "The mocker at religion repeats tales of hypocrisy and the weakness of hypocrites, and thus treats logic ill. The fruit of the tree is not to be judged according to the wormy apple on the boughs. To judge by fault alone is the greatest fault. Of many tests of merit, this is best—that if the thing brought forth for judgment never had been, would conditions be better or worse or unchanged? In the measure of this test, religion has been the greatest single boon to mankind."

MEMBER OF PIONEER FAMILY DIED IN B.C.

DANIEL ROBT. CAMPBELL WAS LUMBERMAN AND DAIRY FARMER

Daniel R. Campbell, member of an old Argenteuil County family, passed away early Tuesday morning at his home in Revelstoke, B.C. A son of the late Mr. John Campbell, Dalesville, and of Mrs. Campbell, who has advanced to mellow years among the oldest Argenteuil residents, the deceased gentleman had himself attained the allotted span of three-score-and-ten, being in his 73rd year.

Leaving these parts as a young man 50 years ago, he engaged in lumbering and later took to farming, and for the past quarter century has specialized in dairying in the Revelstoke district of British Columbia. His last visit to his home and birthplace at Dalesville was four years ago.

He was married in Brownsburg, to Miss Margaret McOuat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McOuat. His wife having predeceased him, his four children remain, to mourn the loss of a devoted and industrious parent; they are—Arthur and Leslie at home in Revelstoke, and Percy, C.P.R. brakeman engaged in the same section; and Mr. Campbell's only daughter, Gladys (Mrs. Willard Johnson) of Revelstoke.

Surviving members of his own family, besides his revered mother, are four brothers—Peter Campbell, of Salmon Arm, B.C.; Arthur, on the homestead at Dalesville; William and Stuart, of this town; also three sisters—Jessie (Mrs. Geo. Murdock) at home; Jean (Mrs. Jas. MacKenzie) Lachute Road, and Kate (Mrs. H. R. Fuller), The Pas, Man.

To the bereaved relatives in this district, friends join in expressing deep sympathy.

OLD C.I.L. EMPLOYEE DIED AT BELOEIL

THE LATE A. CHAMBERS

An old county resident died on Tuesday at Beloeil, Que., namely Mr. Alexander Chambers, a former employee with the D. C. Company at Brownsburg, the Wilson Paper Company in Lachute, and latterly with the C.I.L. Beloeil branch. Born and raised at Shrewsbury he was well known in these parts.

His passing is mourned by his wife, in Beloeil, and a family of 8 children, many of whom are residing in this district. They are—four sons, Roy of Brownsburg, Raymond of Hawkesbury, Morris of St. Johns, Que., and Earl of Brownsburg; and four daughters, Mrs. Arthur McAllister and Mrs. W. B. Moseley of Brownsburg, Mrs. G. Davis of Montreal, and Mrs. Comtois of Beloeil.

The funeral is being held in Shrewsbury, his native community, tomorrow (Friday) at 2.30 p.m. D.S.T. To the surviving relatives sympathy is extended in their bereavement.

LIFE-LONG RESIDENT OF EAST SETTLEMENT DIED

THE LATE WM. RODGER

The death of Mr. William Rodger, a life long resident of East Settlement, on Sunday, September 13th, came as a sad surprise to his large circle of friends and acquaintances throughout this district. He was a direct connecting link with the pioneer stage of this community, being the son of Joseph Rodger and Jean McOuat. Mr. Jos. Rodger came to this country from Scotland 1831 and secured the farm where our deceased friend was born and where he died. Mr. William Rodger died in his 87th year, being born on November 1st, 1849. When he was a young man he learned the trade of a stone mason from his father, who was an excellent craftsman. He also demonstrated his courage and patriotism by joining the volunteer forces which were raised at the time of the Fenian Raid. Apart from these activities he devoted himself to farming, in which he was both industrious and enthusiastic.

As a citizen of the community he took a keen interest in its political and social welfare, though he never aspired to public honours and office. He will be long remembered for his activity and interest in matters religious both at home and abroad, as he was a willing and generous supporter of the church in its local and foreign interests.

He leaves to mourn his loss one brother, Mrs. John Rodger, and one sister, Miss Elizabeth Rodger, who reside at the old homestead.

The funeral was held on September 15th, being conducted by the minister, Rev. H. Cousens, of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends.

Sidecar Passenger Killed Near St. Janvier

MOTORCYCLE HIT CALF ON LAURENTIAN ROAD

When their motorcycle struck a calf on the road Berthe Ouellette, 23, a resident of the St. Janvier district, who was riding with her brother, struck her head against a fence picket and suffered a fractured skull which caused her death Saturday night.

An inquest was held by Dr. J. R. Bra's, of St. Jerome, coroner of the district, and the jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Jurors were told that the victim was on her way home at 9 o'clock with her brother, Paul Emile Ouellette. They were driving from St. Janvier towards their home, Ouellette riding the motorcycle and his sister being in the sidecar. Suddenly a calf appeared on the road, and colliding with the animal Ouellette lost control and the cycle turned into the ditch; his sister was tossed against a fence picket. Ouellette escaped uninjured and the calf was only slightly hurt.

Miss Ouellette was taken to a Montreal hospital, but she died before reaching the city.

Dean Carlisle Preaches at Thanksgiving Service

St. Simeon's Church, Lachute, took on a festive appearance last Sunday in celebration of its Harvest Thanksgiving. Preacher for the occasion was the much-loved Dean Arthur Carlisle of Montreal, who gave a stirring message. He took his text from Psalm 136, verse 1, pointing out that the people of the psalmist's day were deeply sensible of God's mercies and gave thanks for His goodness. This song has rolled through the din of every battlefield, crossing the ocean with the pilgrims, and filled untold homes of the world with praise. He contrasted the people of this Dominion, with their millions of bushels of wheat, the wealth of ore from their mines, the lumber of their forests, and fish of the sea, in quantities infinitely greater than God's chosen people ever dreamed of. The wondrous discoveries of science, he remarked, make the science of those early people appear very elementary, and we have good reason for returning thanks. There were three ways in which we can show appreciation of our blessings, he said—by service, loyalty and devotion.

British Programs to be Broadcast in Canada

WILL BE RELAYED DAILY BY CANADIAN RADIO COMMISSION

Desire of many Canadian radio listeners for British programs will be realized with the commencement of the Canadian Radio Commission's fall and winter schedule on September 27. The Commission will broadcast daily from 6.30 to 7.00 p.m. EST, a program brought in by its short wave station at Ottawa and fed directly to the eastern network.

Arrangements made by the Canadian Radio Commission with the British Broadcasting Corp. making possible the daily broadcasting in Canada of a British program at the time it is being produced in London have just been effected. By these arrangements difficulties in the former efforts to bring Old Country programs to Canadian listeners have been overcome. The chief difficulty has been that hitherto suitable programs for broadcasting in Canada were not being produced in London at a time when they could be relayed to the Commission's networks. The British Broadcasting Corporation has now agreed to broadcast by short wave a program every evening suitable for re-broadcasting in this country.

A COSMOPOLITAN KING-TO-BE

Boys, hitch up your chairs. When you are eighteen how would you like to be a king? It is all set for one boy, now 13. And it is hoped that he will be a capable king, duly loved, admired and respected—even in modern times. It is believed that he will be, for this past summer he behaved as a "reg-

This cosmopolitan King-to-be is Peter the Second, of Yugoslavia.

SHOULD HAVE SLEPT IN PULLMAN CARS

Those English boys on an educational trip to America, who were disappointed because their shoes left outside their hotel room doors were unshined the next morning, should have slept on our Pullman cars.

The incident reveals the fact that America's highly advertised hotels do not furnish the guest with all the little attentions afforded in European hostels.

We have often heard of the European lack of comforts, but it seems that in one detail at least they out-shine us.

DUSTY BOOKS ARE FUTILE

The best books are those which contain the records of the history and the wisdom of men. They are the priceless links with past ages and other peoples. They are the keys to the treasure chests of the accumulated thought and experience of races and nations. Good books are the constant companions of the man who would serve his best purpose in life, for they advise him in service, and strengthen his ideals.

RASHNESS

Little Johnnie Puddle Frog Sat upon an old wet log, Called unto his cousin Pete "Do you want a fly to eat?"

"If you do, come over here. There's a dandy one quite near With a brown and yellow gown Busy buzzing all around."

Diving off a lily pad, Cousin Pete seemed very glad, Water rippled o'er his back As he swam to little Jack;

Crept up by him on the log, Such a vain and puffed-up frog, Snatched-out wet, his greedy tongue But alas—poor Pete got stung!

The fly was an angry bumble bee, And not afraid of frogs was he, He showed them he was not asleep, Stung them both e'er they could peep.

Now when these two little frogs, Sitting puffed on old wet logs Hear a bumble bee go past, They dive under, with a splash!

As Silly Curly asked this vicious question he snapped his teeth together and looked at Cordelia, quite as if he would like to use them on herself. Cordelia shivered and drew her stool slightly closer to Mrs. Soft-Fur as she listened for Uncle Roughy's reply.

"I only bite when I have to, Silly Curly," said Uncle Roughy. "Why should I bite Katie because her ears were sharp enough to hear me nibbling her cakes? I would not have frightened her, except that it was my only way to escape. I should have taken warning when she searched for me the first time, and slipped quietly away until there was no one in the kitchen, then I could have gone back and eaten all I wanted. I spoiled my chances by being too eager.—Katie has found out that we mice can climb up into her open cupboard and has taken away all the food that was in it. If I had bitten her, worse things might have happened."

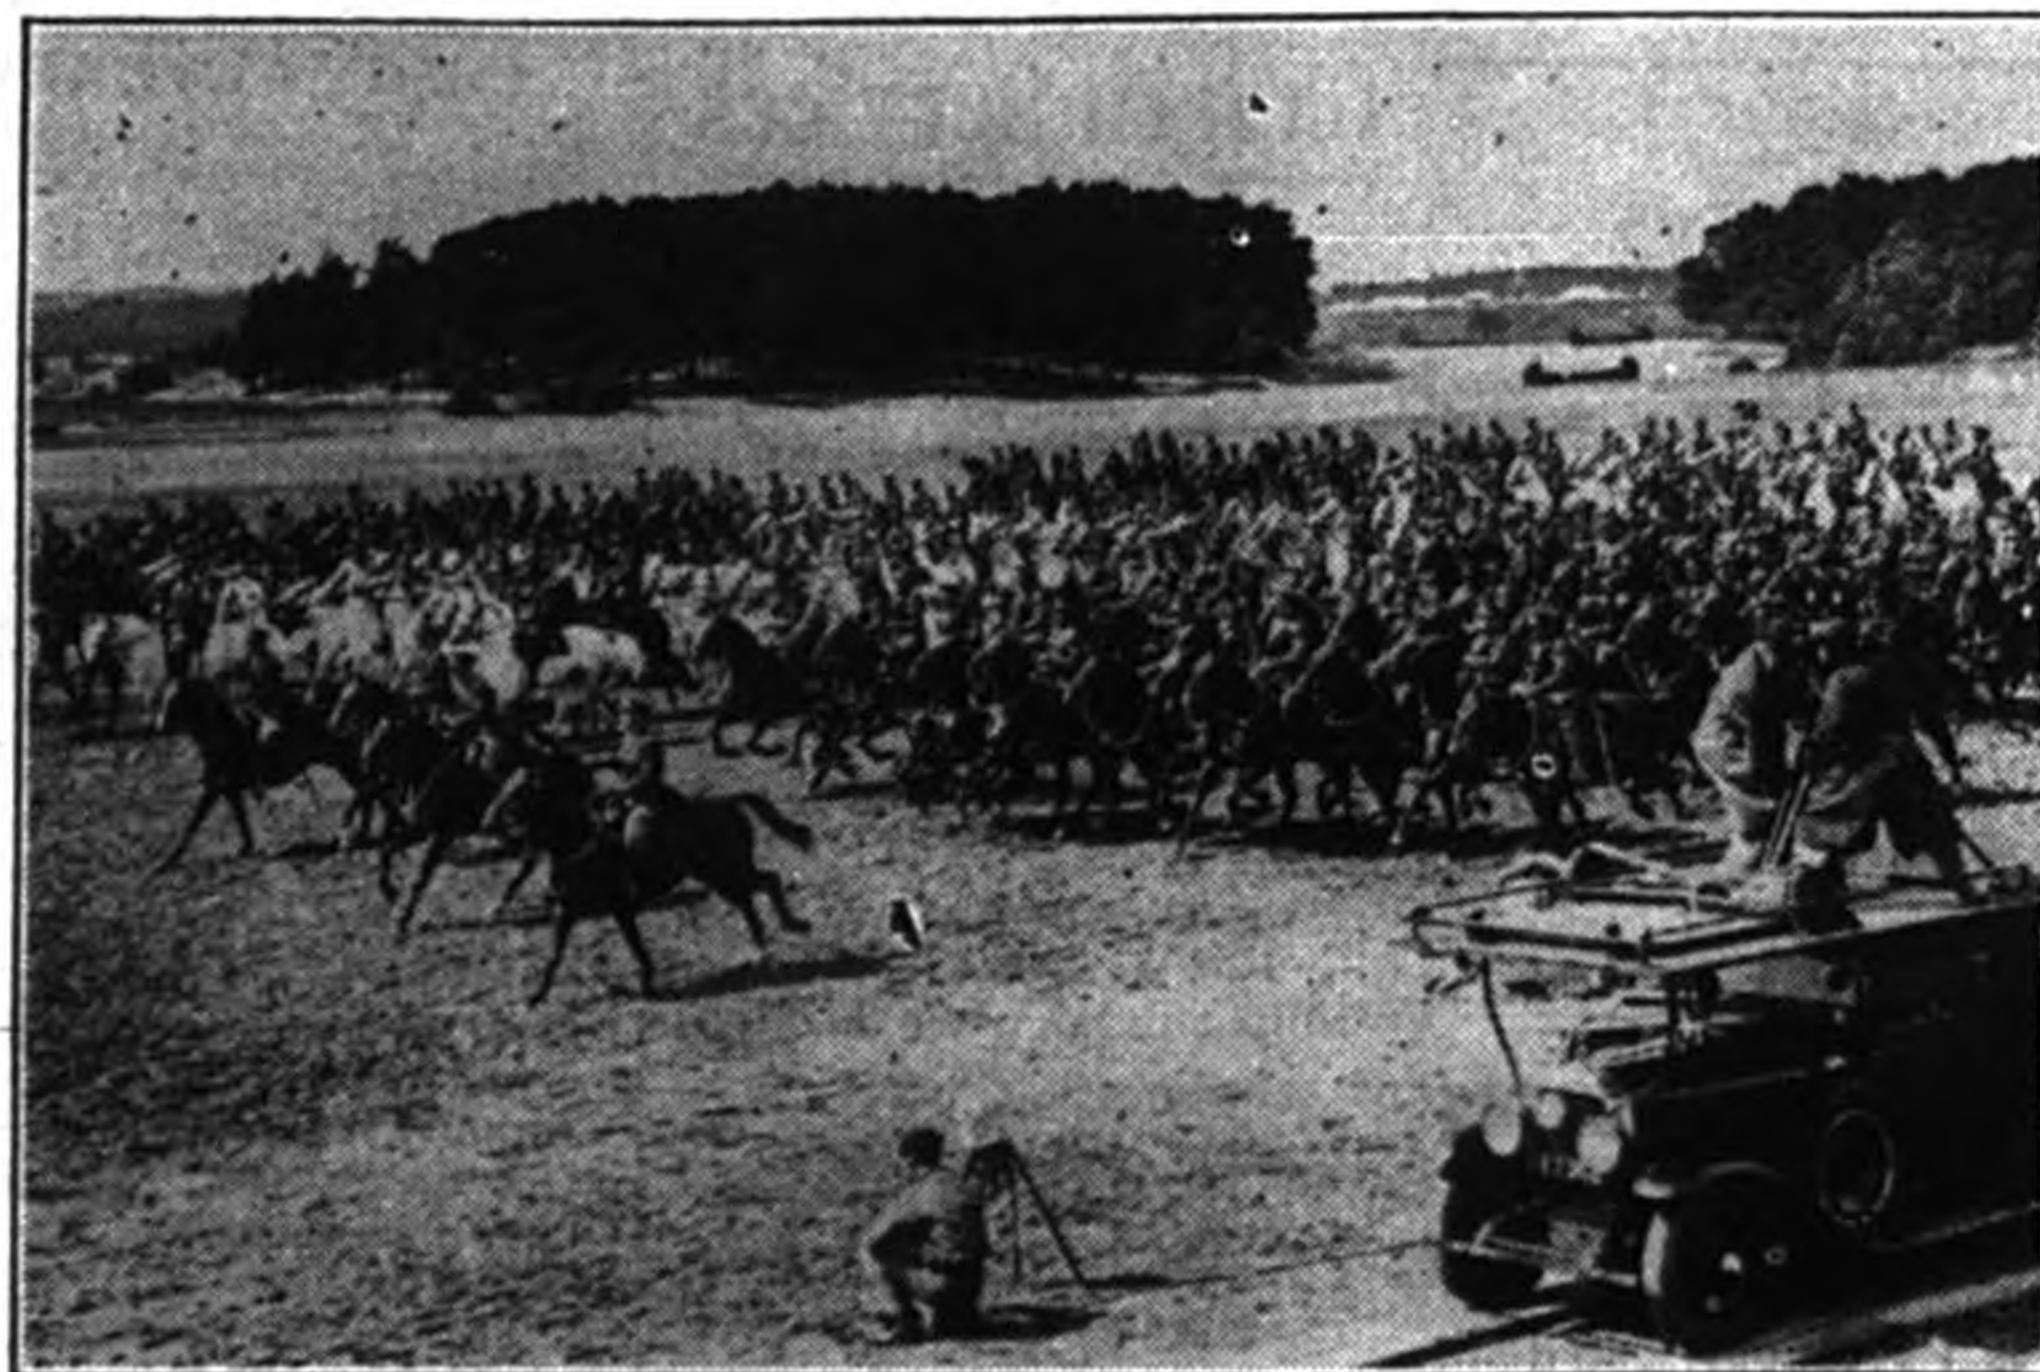

"You are right, Uncle Roughy," said Mr. Soft-Fur, "You are quite right, I believe in living as quietly and peacefully as we can. Avoid making enemies—is my motto. But Aunt Fannie has a story for us, I am sure. Have you not, Aunt Fannie?"

Aunt Fannie straightened herself on her stool, wiped her spectacles, and was just about to begin her latest experience when Silly Curly broke in like an ill-mannered child, with, "I have a story for you, and I'll bet it beats any Aunt Fannie can tell." Mr. Soft-Fur looked at Silly Curly reprovingly, held up his paw in authority and said, "Silly Curly!" very emphatically and severely. But Curly was not to be stopped. In a shrill, squeaky voice he said "They've taken away the Mouse's Gallery." A sudden silence followed his words, and even Aunt Fannie forgot that she had been about to speak, in her horror at Silly Curly's announcement.

Cordelia found herself saying, "The Mouse's Gallery?" "Yes, the Mouse's Gallery," mimicked Silly Curly, looking at her with eyes that seemed to burn her, they were so deliberately accusing—just as if she were responsible for the happening.

"My dear," said Mrs. Soft-Fur, "The Mouse's Gallery as a strip of wall in the kitchen upstairs, from which a part of the plaster had fallen due to dampness. It was such a splendid place for us mice to sit and get warmed from the heat of the stove, and at the same time watch all that went on in the kitchen. We smelled the lovely smells and saw where the cook put all the cake and pies that she made, and knew just where to get them when they were left within our reach. Instead of putting in new plaster the cook just put some pretty paper over the place and left it like that. Just as quickly as it was pasted, we mice would cut holes in it, and had ever so many look-out places. The cook kept papering them over, and we kept cutting them out again. It was quite good fun for us to see who would be first to scamper up there and open up the holes, but if this place has been taken away our fun is ended."

"It's been taken away all right," Silly Curly said, "and that woman upstairs is to blame for it." "You mean the cook," Mrs. Soft-Fur said. "No, her Lady Boss," said Silly Curly with another vicious look at Cordelia. "I was hiding behind the wood-box in the kitchen one day when she and her husband came in, and I heard her say, 'Look, John, at that impudent little mouse peeping out of the wall there at us. Cook tells me that every time she papers over the hole, the mice come and cut it open again. You will just have to do something about it. It's

... they keep in touch with home
by TELEPHONE

At first the Hendersons couldn't bear the thought of being away from the family for any length of time. Then someone suggested leaving an itinerary behind; "You can always depend on Long Distance to find you if anything crops up . . . and you can call home whenever you feel like it yourselves." . . . The telephone is ready everywhere to serve you. Speedy, dependable, inexpensive, it keeps you within reach wherever you go.

Recent reductions, and low night rates after 7 p.m. and all day Sunday, now make Long Distance cost less than ever before.

BRITISH SCOUTS FIGHT FIRE IN FRANCE

SCOUTS QUIET PASSENGERS WITH SING-SONG

A party of Toronto Rover Scouts rose to the occasion when a crowded Lake Ontario excursion steamer ran into a gale which set the decks awash and caused alarm among the passengers. The Rovers took possession of the deserted orchestra stall and with the aid of a volunteer pianist started a lively singsong. The Scouts were returning from a Rover Moot at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

ONE OF FEW GOOD THINGS OF OUR TIME—SAYS BISHOP OF DURHAM

"I look upon the Scout Movement as one of the good things of our time. There are not many good things, I am afraid; fewer than we would like. But among those that are good, I give an important place to the great Scout Movement which the wisdom and enterprise of your Chief Scout Lord Baden-Powell brought into being."—The Bishop of Durham, addressing 10,000 Scouts at the recent English Northern Counties Jamboree.

"Girls were harder to kiss in your day, weren't they, grandpa?"

"Mebbe, mebbe", ventured the old gentleman, "but it wasn't so blame dangerous. The old parlor sofa wouldn't smash into a tree about that time."

THE IDEAL HOUSE

This business of moving about and living in different houses teaches by experience, sometimes sad and sometimes pleasant, what you would like best in a house if you could build an ideal one. It may be said right here that even if you build it is impossible to get exactly what you want due to such things as exposure and shape and size of lot, to say nothing of cost. But there are things that one could have. First and foremost I would have a house insulated to the last degree. The extremes of heat and cold that we have endured this last year emphasize the need of that. So the house would be as nearly like a thermos bottle as possible. It would cost more but the initial cost would soon be balanced by the saving of fuel. I would never have a verandah covering the sitting-room windows, and I would have those same windows ones that would open. We have had several living-rooms with very large unopenable windows and there are times when the air seems dead and one longs for a free movement of air. We have had several dining-rooms that have been passage-ways to the kitchen and it is almost impossible to keep the floor looking as it should. I would have a pantry between the kitchen and dining-room, lined with cupboards for dishes and drawers for table linen and silver. I would have a second sitting-room that could be shut off, because there are times when we want to get rid of the family and they want to get rid of us. We have had an extra room usually but it has not been shut-offable. Then I would have a basin and toilet downstairs and a decent-sized bathroom with a shower, and plumbing with pipes large enough to get more than a trickle of water. In good hotels you can fill your bath in the time it takes to clean your teeth. Not a word have I said about cupboards. Once I knew a woman who said she had more cupboard space than she could use. That is the aim to shoot at. The verandah would be at the back to give more privacy. You will probably have things you would like more, but these are a few of the things we have found desirable.

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING

The mother who has established a very definite routine for her baby has gone a long way in making things easy for herself and her child. Good habits of eating, sleeping, and elimination cannot be established too soon. There are mothers who make a fetish of routine and who become so impressed with its importance that they allow nothing to upset it. This is a mistake because the lives of everyone concerned should not be controlled by a baby's routine and there are times when concessions rightfully can be made. A child must learn to make adjustments in life, so an occasional variation from routine may be looked upon as an experience which is a part of their training. Routine is an aid and not the end to be achieved.

TRICKS WITH MARMALADE

Add 1/3 cup orange marmalade to your favorite pumpkin pie filling before baking. Put a thin circle of orange marmalade around a serving of chocolate ice-cream and cover with chocolate sauce. Scrumptious. Spread orange marmalade between two sheets of pastry. Cut in strips and bake in a hot oven. Serve orange marmalade, crackers and cheese, after your bridge game. Marmalade has an affinity for any variety of cheese.

TOMATO CHUTNEY

4 lbs. ripe tomatoes
1 lb. apples
6 onions
1/2 oz. ginger
1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 lb. sugar
4 oz. salt
1 qt. vinegar
1/4 lb. raisins

Prepare and cut up tomatoes, apples and onions. Put on to cook and when quite soft put through a strainer to keep out seeds. Add the sugar, salt, vinegar and spices and cook until thick. Add raisins and bottle in sterilized jars.

GRAPE PRESERVE

1/2 lb. sugar to 1 lb. grapes. Wash grapes in a colander, then remove them from the stems. Slip the skins from the grape and put the skins in one saucepan and the pulp in another. Cook the pulp slowly, until the seeds will separate, adding a very little water if necessary to keep the fruit from sticking. Put the pulp through a strainer to remove seeds. Put together the skins, pulp and sugar and cook until the skins are tender. Bottle in sterilized jars.

THE QUINTS KNOW THEIR DOCTOR

That fact was demonstrated just five times in almost a single instant last week when Jean Hersholt, who impersonated Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, called on the Quints. Although the two men were dressed alike and appeared together, it didn't take the famous five long to decide which was their real "Doctor."

SWAT YOUR FLIES EARLY

DISEASE CARRIERS—ENDANGER HEALTH OF CANADIAN BABIES

"Swat the fly—and save our babies!"

With this slogan the Health League of Canada fired its first gun in the annual autumn war against one of Canada's most dangerous household pests—the fly.

Declaring that the disease germs carried by the house fly constituted one of the greatest sources of danger to the health of Canadian babies, Dr. Gordon Bates, general director, urged Canadians everywhere to start swatting the autumn flies early.

Contamination of food by flies can be prevented; flies will carry on their feet, legs and body, and in the alimentary canal, the specific germs causing typhoid fever, cholera, infantile diarrhoea, tuberculosis and other diseases.

Sharp rise in the incidence of intestinal trouble among babies in September and October may be attributed, in part at least, to the increased number of flies that gain access to homes at this season, Dr. Bates said. Floors and table tops should be kept entirely free from moisture and crumbs of food. Modern office buildings are comparatively free of flies because there is neither dirt nor food to attract them.

Housewives who empty their dirty dish water into the back-yard were chastized by the Health League of Canada officials, who said that such practice was "unsanitary and filthy." Household refuse should be placed in a covered metal container. Baby-carriages should be covered with netting. Screen doors should not be removed until the first frost has killed off the autumn flies.

It has been established that a pair of flies, if not interfered with, will cause 1,555,200,000 adult flies to be brought into the world from May 1 to August 1. Half of these will be female flies, capable of laying 120 eggs each. "That's the reason why householders start their autumn fly-killing campaign early," Dr. Bates said.

Flies are a menace to public health, owing to their habit of passing directly from filth to human food, carrying bacteria and other organisms and particles of decomposing matter. Fifty percent of the flies could be wiped out, and infant sickness could be reduced fifty-percent, if housewives would take a determined stand to "Swat the fly — and save our babies."

GIVE YOUR NECK A BREAK, FOR BEAUTY

A couple of years ago lips were the center of focus for beauty attention. Now it is the throat, says Dorothy Cooks, beauty editor of Pictorial Review. You must have a good chin and throat line. One way to achieve this, and one which will show immediate results, is to carry your head better, she advises. Many a double chin comes from bad posture more than from fat or local flabbiness. We walk so badly—with forehead thrust forward, chin sunk in throat, the rest of the body following behind as best it can—that it is no wonder the wrong muscles get fat and stringy. Stand tall, and see what a nice chin and throat line it gives you. Let your chest lead as you walk.

LACHUTE W.I. ADDRESSED BY COUNTY PRESIDENT

"WOMAN'S WEAKNESS A MAN-MADE FICTION"

educational training. One celebrated American writer claims that real education, such as a child receives in school, cannot begin too early; that the child's mind retains what it is taught in its very tender years much better than what it is taught after. During those years the mother has an excellent opportunity to start her child's education herself by means of little object lessons and educational games.

Children need to be studied, as well as to study, if they are to be successfully educated, as all have not the same ability to follow the drift of general education and it is quite impossible to govern all children by the same set rule, especially if they come from homes where they have been, figuratively, "dragged up" and allowed to run wild, doing just as they pleased until they were old enough to be packed off to school for some long-suffering teacher to train. No doubt too, they have been told "Just you wait until you go to school; the teacher will make you toe the mark—She'll make you fly around," until the poor child goes to school filled with dread, prejudiced against the teacher, and sometimes determined that the teacher will not make it do anything that it does not want to do. The teacher has assumed in its infant mind the semblance of an ogre, something to be fought against.

The teacher, not understanding this attitude or the cause of it, often gets impatient and remarks to her friends, "I simply can't do anything with that child." Thus valuable time is lost, until eventually the child discovers that its teacher is not such a terrible person after all.

—A teacher's life is not all a bed of roses, we know, but a careful study of the pupil helps to smooth the pathway of education for both.

We all know the old proverb, "Up the hill to learning, there is no royal road; alike the peer and peasant must climb to its abode." But parents can and should co-operate with the teacher in this matter of education. In other parts we hear of Parent-Teacher Associations; functioning properly they must be a wonderful help. We in this County have no organization of that kind, but the Women's Institutes are trying to help, in every way they can.

Teachers should instill into the minds of their pupils the fact that education does not finish with the end of their school days; it can be carried on in a great many ways and in a great measure through good reading. If children are trained to like good reading at an early age, when they leave school they will soon find for themselves the books and magazines most suited to their needs.

In these changing times we older ones need education too, and for us this new department, "Adult Education," has been formed. If we would not have our lives in a rut, and our minds sluggish, we will interest ourselves in Adult Education.

One maxim, often used as a copy line for children in the days of my youth, "Study to improve," should be followed out today as in our school days, we should study to improve ourselves, so that we may become better mothers, better housekeepers, and better friends. Women are needed in the high places of the world — educated women who will prove the truth of the statement made by Dr. Leonard P. Lockhart of the American Research Board, that women's supposed weakness and lack of ability are merely man-made fictions.

WEDDINGS ON INCREASE

Ottawa, Canada.—Reflecting improving conditions in Canada, an increasing number of young people are getting married. During the first half of the year, 15,798 marriages were registered in Canadian cities and towns of 10,000 population and over. This compares with 14,923 in the corresponding period of 1935, and 14,450 in the first half of 1934. These figures represent only urban marriages and do not take into account the large number of young people in rural districts who are getting married. During the month of June alone—the wedding month—4,504 marriages were registered in urban centres as compared with 4,308 in June, 1935, 4,051 in 1934 and 3,230 in 1933.

A "WEE BIT PHILOSOPHY"

Love is the strongest thing in the world and the most fragile. It will endure starvation, neglect, ill treatment, poverty, want, degradation—and it will be killed by as little a thing as an onion scented breath, a three day stubble of beard on a face, cold cream and soiled kimonos, bad table manners or reading aloud.

Furnishings Given for Anglican Devotions at Rawcliffe

The services held in the school house at Rawcliffe by the Rector of Grenville have recently been enriched by two desirable additions in the way of furnishings. On Sunday, 13th. Sept., a new portable altar was set up and used for the first time. There was a celebration of Holy Communion, and the Rector preached on the appropriate text, "We have an altar" (Heb. 13:10).

This altar was made by Mr. Ronald Bridgen of Calumet, in the workshop of Lannigan Bros., who also had a share in it. It is of black walnut. Being made to take apart, it can be set up and removed easily each Sunday, which is very necessary in a school house.

The other addition is that of an organ. This was donated by the Ladies' Guild of the Old People's Home in Montreal, they having two such instruments. It was used for the first time on Sunday, Sept. 20.

Mrs. Bridgen, of Calumet, "opened" the organ, inaugurating its new period of usefulness by playing for the service on that Sunday.

Annual Meeting of W. A. of St. Andrews Deanery

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Andrews' Deanery was held at Brownsburg, Wednesday, Sept. 16th. preceded by a celebration of the Holy Communion in St. George's Church at 10.30 a.m., the celebrant being the Rev. W. LeCras, assisted by the Rural Dean R. S. Booy of St. Andrews East, and the Rev. K. N. Brueton of Grenville. There were 92 communicants.

Luncheon was served at 12.30 to 115 delegates. The business session opened at 2.15 p.m. and was presided over by Mrs. W. LeCras, President, who also gave the address of welcome to the delegates. Mrs. Alex. Strachan brought greetings from the Diocesan Board. Mrs. Gilbert Ferrabee, who had held the office of Dominion President for 11 years, spoke on the opportunities afforded to women for service in the church to-day. Mrs. Ewing-Tait, Sec.-Treas., Girls' Dept., spoke on the work among girls, and illustrated her address with the story of the duke who built a church and left it to each individual to bring their own light. How well would some of our churches be lighted, if such were the case to-day? Mrs. C. F. Dickerson spoke on literature. The offering amounting to $15.00 was designated to work among the white settlers. The 1937 meeting will be held at St. Andrews East. Mrs. Windsor was elected President, and Mrs. Dakin, of Calumet, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

A buffet supper was served at the close of the meeting, and Mrs. Strachan on behalf of the Montreal officers, thanked the ladies and W. A. of St. George's for their kind and generous hospitality, and complimented them on their beautifully finished and equipped hall, this being the first event of its kind to take place at St. George's.

—Two big box-office attractions appear in Rex Theatre announcements this week. Shirley Temple comes to Lachute next Thursday to Saturday (Oct. 1-2-3) in Curly Top, and in the following program (Oct. 4-5-6-7) Clark Gable and Jeanette MacDonald appear in San Francisco. First class productions in all shows at the Rex during the next two weeks.

Historic Old Church

Choir of Trinity Church, Hawkesbury, lent their aid; their musical leadership and singing of the anthem were much appreciated. The Rev. A. J. Love, of St. Alban's Church, Montreal, was the special preacher. He took as his subject the feast made by St. Matthew for Our Lord, and gave a very helpful address on that theme. The Rector took Evening Prayer, the lessons being read by the Revs. W. LeCras and C. H. Stone. Canon Garrett of Hawkesbury also assisted in the service. Miss K. N. Bradley, of Hawkesbury, was the organist.

One special feature of the celebration was the addition of the photograph of the Rev. Charles Forest, M.A., to the gallery of portraits of former Rectors. This photograph is made from one loaned by Miss Louise McMillan, and completes the gallery, except for the portrait of Rev. A. J. Greer (1887-1889). Mr. Forest was Incumbent from 1847 to 1859, and was a man of striking appearance. In those days he covered a large territory, by horse, as missionary for the Ottawa Valley, and his memory is worthy of respect, both as a pioneer and a builder of the parish.

has recently been confined, by well-informed mining-stock investors, to a soundly managed gold mine.

This property is out of the prospect stage; has a mill, and is producing. The stock is still within the penny range and owing to the remarkable developments and the general situation of the mine, we believe that there will be a heavy demand for these shares.
