Sound System for Lachute Arena This Winter

HOCKEY ARRANGEMENTS DEPEND ON MAINTENANCE OF ROADS

Skaters and hockey fans of Lachute will be interested in an addition to the Arena now being installed in the form of two large amplifiers. Through this means recorded music and radio numbers may be provided for continuous entertainment of the patrons. The sound system will also serve for announcements, the amplification being adequate for all purposes. Messrs. Ted Hammond and Harold Beveridge, of Lachute, have attended to the installations.

No forecast of hockey league arrangements is available as yet. The member teams will depend largely on the maintaining of roads in this district, and to date there is no certainty regarding these plans.

AN INNOVATION IN AGRICULTURAL SHOWS

SOIL TESTING SERVICE GIVEN AT GUELPH WINTER FAIR

Through the courtesy of the Ontario Agricultural College, farmers may take samples of their soils to the Guelph Winter Fair this year and have them tested free of charge. A knowledge of the lime, phosphorus and potash requirements of their soil will enable farmers to purchase their fertilizer requirements on an economical basis.

This is only one of several features of the seed department at the Provincial Winter Fair which will make it of unusual interest to farmer visitors. The College will also have an attractive educational exhibit, including a display of some of the newer varieties of grain, such as the Erban Oat and the No-barb Barley.

With the co-operation of the Ontario Corn Growers' Association a special display of commercial and seed grades of corn will be featured, as well as information as to varieties, culture and uses of this important crop.

A man can hate militarism and work for peace, yet not inconsistently fight for his country when war is forced upon her.

Lachute Family Suffers Bereavement

MISS M. G. MEAGHER HAD RESIDED SOME TIME IN THIS TOWN

After a lingering illness of nearly three years there passed away on Sunday, Nov. 1st., Margaret Gorman Meagher, daughter of the late John Meagher of Smith's Falls and of Mrs. Meagher of Toronto, and dearly beloved sister of Mrs. Garnet Cheley of this town.

Possessing a lovable disposition, Miss Meagher endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact, and all through her illness she accepted her lot with true Christian fortitude.

The funeral was conducted from the home of one of her close friends, Mrs. (Dr.) J. T. Hogan, at Smith's Falls, to St. Francis de Sales Church, where Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock on Tuesday, Nov. 3rd. Interment took place in St. Francis de Sales cemetery.

INTERESTING TOPICS HEARD AT UNITED MEN'S SUPPER

About 90 members of the Lachute and surrounding congregations gathered Tuesday evening for the Men's Supper in the United Church hall and, besides a hearty meal provided by the ladies of the church, were treated to illuminating talks by speakers in the interests of more effective campaigning in missionary and maintenance work. Following a period of community singing, accompanied by Miss Ruth Todd and conducted by Mr. Owen Todd, who also sang a solo in the Irish vein—Rev. W. B. Rosborough, as chairman, introduced the guest speakers, namely Rev. Dr. Munro, Secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance Board and of the Conference of Montreal Presbytery, and Rev. C. H. Dickinson, associate minister of Erskine-American United Church.

Stressing the importance of the church while chaos and distress prevailed the world over and nationalism and militarism were enlisting the youth of many countries, Dr. Munro stated that the great concern of Canadian people today is not material development, but the evangelization of Canadian life. His attitude was one of optimism. The United Church, with

Unique Drivers' Test at Montreal Motor Show

SHOWS YOUR RATE OF EFFICIENCY AS A MOTORIST

An item of special interest at the Montreal Motor Show, to be held in the Sun Life Building November 21-23, is the Highway Safety Demonstration put on by the Imperial Oil Limited.

This demonstration is presented in co-operation with the Quebec Highways Department as part of a country-wide effort to bring about greater safety on the highways.

"Everyone likes to consider himself a good driver," writes Mr. P. O. Messier, Director of the Show. "There are few drivers, however, who invariably exercise good judgment at the wheel. Good judgment is the result of knowing what you can and cannot do under the varying conditions met with in driving an automobile. The various tests of driving skill presented in the Imperial Oil Highway demonstration are valuable as they afford insight into those mental and physical characteristics entering into motor car operation."

Autumn Thank-Offering Held by Missionary Society

The Autumn Thank-Offering meeting of the Lachute Missionary Society, held in the United Church, was largely attended. This was an inter-mural exchange of program and was in charge of Mrs. Maclean, of St. Mungo's, Cushing, who with her helpers gave the meeting many new helpful ideas. Mrs. Cushing told of the recent convention she had attended, of the W.C.T.U., and a circle of prayer was given. Mrs. Maw of Montreal, sang "The Stranger of Galilee", and at the close

TOWN VOTES LOAN FOR IMPROVEMENTS

BUCKINGHAM WILL BORROW $43,000

Property owners of Buckingham have voted in favor of a by-law to authorize the town to borrow $43,000. This sum is to cover expenditures for the past five years and includes payment for a new fire truck, purchased a year ago, also the erecting of electric light poles and a lighting system throughout the town; and a sewerage system on the outskirts of the town. The results of the voting were: For 129; against 7; majority in favor, 122.

"THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa and Alberta Disagree on Financing... Unemployment of Women Presents Difficult Problem... Conference Held to Arrange Uniform Companies Acts.

Ottawa, November 2.—Manufacturing is the industry which has so far shown the largest gains in employment in 1936, according to a survey published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Those who fear that freer trade policies damage domestic industry should take heart from the fact that on January 1st the United States was admitted to the intermediate tariff rate—a move characterized by one Ottawa expert as the greatest single reduction ever made in the Canadian tariff, that important tariff reductions to Japan were also made on the same day, and that on May 1st the duties on British textiles was cut. Also on gasoline, farm implements and other commodities.

Yet the index of employment in Canadian manufacturing since January 1st has steadily improved. There were, on October 1st, 62,800 more persons employed in Canadian factories than at the first of the year. Some improvement is usual, but in the year 1936 the gains have been notably large. General employment in Canadian industries on October 1st was 47,161 larger than on the same date in 1935. The survey, maintained by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, does not include agriculture, but it reflects what is going on in agriculture, because when the farmer has money to buy things, all other industries show an improvement.

"REMEMBRANCE DAY" NEXT WEDNESDAY

AS THE time approaches for the annual Armistice celebration on November 11th., now known as "Remembrance Day", one wonders just how much this event means to the general public, and especially to those of the younger generation who, at the time peace was declared after the Great War, knew little of what had previously transpired.

While it is not the desire of those who sponsor the Poppy Day campaign to re-emphasize the horrors through which so many of our brave soldiers passed, yet it would seem that many are prone to forget the sacrifices made by those who fought and died in Flanders Fields.

Many of our soldiers were fortunate enough to return home in their normal health and strength. Thousands were disabled and are now unfit to carry on with their former occupations. Thousands more paid the supreme sacrifice in order that we in Canada and other parts of the world might live. Surely we are not going to forget these brave lads who have done their utmost to bring peace!

Loyal support has been given the campaign on previous occasions, but a special effort is being put forth this year to make Poppy Day more real than ever before. It is hoped that everyone, both young and old, will be wearing the emblem of respect, and by its purchase extend help to these veterans who are disabled and unemployed.

The regular service will be held in Lachute Auditorium at 10.45 a.m. on Wednesday, November 11th., when both French and English speakers will give short addresses. It is requested that those attending will be sharp on time, so that the usual two minutes' silence may be observed at 11 o'clock. At the close of the service the gathering will assemble at the Cenotaph, where four veterans in uniform will be on guard, with two buglers to sound the Last Post. At this time the various churches and organizations will place their wreaths of remembrance.

The local branch of the Legion is gratified with the ready response given in the advance sale of wreaths and large poppies, and earnestly requests loyal support to the ladies who have kindly consented to canvass on Tuesday and Wednesday. The outlying districts, Grenville, Calumet, Morin Heights, St. Andrews, Arundel, Lakefield and others, are all lending hearty support.—Will you help too, and let everyone wear a Poppy!

Any desirous of obtaining a wreath may phone 27 or call at the Watchman Office, Lachute.

Spacious Building Donated for Historical Museum

SOVEREIGN HOTEL AT CARILLON WILL SERVE A NOBLE PURPOSE

Members of the Argenteuil Historical Society are gratified with the latest development in their enterprise to establish a museum in this county. It is learned that a building has now been donated for their use, this generous gesture having been made by Mr. Felix B. Hungerbuhler, who recently purchased the Bellevue estate at Carillon. Mr. Hungerbuhler, when approached by the president of the Society, Dr. B. N. Wales, to enlist his interest in the museum enterprise, agreed to donate the now vacant Sovereign Hotel free of all encumbrances, as a building in which to house the Society's exhibits and valuable records.

Situated at the foot of Carillon Hill on the banks of the Ottawa River, the hotel is a large stone building itself rich in historic associations. This was formerly the barracks of the Royal Engineers, stationed there during the rebellion of 1837. Nearby are the ruins of the powder magazine, and almost at its door is the one-time junction of the navigation service and the Carillon and Grenville railroad. Its precincts have been trod by royalty, and nearby is the Dollard Monument commemorating the hostilities of an earlier generation.

J.P. Lanctot, K.C., Gives Trophy for Dramatic Contest

CENTRAL COMMITTEE ASSURES INTEREST IN DRAMATIC FESTIVAL

In order that the Dramatic Festival idea should not die out after this year's competition, the central committee decided to approach some generous citizen of the county with the view of securing a trophy which should be placed in annual competition until won a certain number of times by one group.

Mr. J. P. Lanctot, K.C., has graciously offered such a trophy and has promised to attend on the night of the contest, to present it in person. It is eminently appropriate that he should be the donor of this award, as he was, in his youth, identified to a very great extent with amateur dramatics and has always retained his interest in this form of recreation.

Mr. D. M. Legate, perhaps better known as "D.M.L.," the dramatic critic of the Montreal Daily Star, has kindly consented to act as judge for this year's Festival. Officers of the Argenteuil Dramatic Society are—President, G. F. W. Kuhring, Lakefield; Vice-President, Mrs. Lemuel Wilson, Brownsburg; Sec.-Treas., Stuart Armstrong, Lachute.

Italy Produces Alcohol as Substitute for Gasoline

In order to make herself less dependent on foreign supplies of gasoline, Italy has gone in for a policy of producing alcohol for fuel from her large sugar and beet industry. Approximately $3,000,000 is said to have been expended in the last seven months on plants for the production of fuel alcohol from this means, according to the Industrial Department of the C. N. Rlys.

Man Held Up and Robbed at the Thurso Bridge

LACHUTE MOTORIST IS VICTIM OF ATTACK AND THEFT

A grim experience fell to the lot of a young Lachute man, Paul Lemay, 22 years of age, when he was held up and robbed last Saturday at the covered bridge at Thurso, while driving home from Buckingham at around 5 p.m. A car was parked on the road in front of the bridge, and two men signaled to Lemay to stop, saying that the bridge was in an unsafe condition. They then attempted to drag the motorist from his car and seize his keys, and when Lemay resisted, they struck him unconscious with a club. When he regained his senses he found himself tied to the bridge and the sum of $78. missing from his pockets. Other loose change to the amount of

OF 400 ON TOWN ROLL, ONLY 14 MEN WOULD ACCEPT JOBS

Fifty men have been removed from the relief rolls of Hawkesbury for what Hon. David Croll termed "one of the most deliberate cases of work refusal we have ever encountered."

"What are we coming to in such municipalities," he said. "Four hundred able-bodied men on relief in Hawkesbury and we can't raise more than 14 when jobs are offered at prevailing wages."

The cut in relief lists in the town was ordered by the Dept. of Public Welfare when it was reported men failed to show up to take lumber camp jobs opened to the town's jobless on Monday.

Mr. Croll charged that "apparently L. M. Auger, (Hawkesbury's Mayor) held a meeting at which a decision was reached to reject the work. Sixty-one relief recipients were notified Monday night to report at the relief office next day for camp clothing and transportation to Northern Ontario camps. "Of the 61, only 10 showed up", said Mr. Croll, "and these 10 came only to announce they would not take the jobs. By dint of personal persuasion our officials managed to convince 14 men they should make an effort to help themselves. These will go to camp. The rest will be cut from the relief rolls."

Women's Franchise Aired at Quebec

Perennial subject of debate in the Quebec Legislature — a franchise for the women of the province — was raised before the Quebec public bills committee last week when a delegation of women headed by Mrs. Pierre F. Casgrain of Montreal urged the committee to amend the Electoral Act so as to give women the right to vote.

Auguste Boyer, chairman, promised Mrs. Casgrain and the delegates his committee would report their request to the legislature.

"That is the answer we receive every year", replied the leader of the delegation. "What we would like to know is under what principle the House continues to refuse women the right to vote in Quebec province?"

"Under the principle that only men are allowed to vote in Quebec", answered Mr. Boyer.

McIntosh at the farm $3.25—$4.00 per barrel tree run, barrels supplied.

The Quebec City apple crop has been smaller than estimated. The same applies to many districts in Western Quebec where the most of the crop is now sold. The Montreal market opened brisk this morning (Monday), and colder weather will improve the demand.

POTATO NEWS

The heavy supplies on track have resulted in a weaker market. Many cars have been sold below actual cost to clear the track and escape demurrage charges. Some cars have been refused due to rot and frost. A schooner of potatoes from l'île aux Coudres arrived yesterday. The Gaspesia is loading about 10,000 bags of P.E.I. and is due the end of next week. The market will continue at the present prices until the frozen and blighted stock is cleaned up and sound stock will be shipped. Loading Horses

When horses are loaded cross-wise into an open motor-truck, they are safer if their heads are towards the outside of the road. Reports tell of horses seriously injured by passing traffic—often another truck—when the horses had their heads towards the centre of the road. The danger is greatest at night.

SCOTLAND SUGGESTS ROUNDING-UP OF 6,000 VAGRANTS IN COUNTRY

Edinburgh—Drastic proposals for the reduction of vagrancy in Scotland, including the compulsory detention in national institutions of aged and habitual "tramps" and those addicted to methylated and other spirit drinking, are contained in the Report of the Departmental Committee on Vagrancy in Scotland, published recently.

The doctrine of the liberty of the subject, the Committee states, should be modified in relation to certain classes of the 6,000 or more vagrants estimated to be in the country.

"It is, to say the least, discreditable that in Scotland broken-down and derelict human beings, avoided by their fellows if not indeed actual objects of repulsion, should be allowed to move about without let or hindrance. Too often they wander to their own hurt. Frequently they are a nuisance, if not a danger, to their neighbors. The dictates of common humanity would seem to require that restrictions be put on their right to wander.

"Similarly we are convinced that steps should be taken to restrict the right of the able-bodied habitual vagrant to wander, by removing him from the road and so preventing him from begging indiscriminately and repeatedly applying for poor relief."

Referring to the methylated spirits or "red biddy" drinkers, the Committee states:

"Addicts display marked ingenuity in using or concocting a variety of vile beverages that induce speedy and prolonged intoxication. These beverages have as a base a cheap wine or aerated water. To the base is added such intoxicants as methylated spirit, surgical spirit, or eau-de-Cologne. The deplorable effects of such drinking and the degeneracy brought about need not be stressed."

The Committee states with regard to compulsory detention that the National Institutions would be of two types—hospitals for the aged and infirm, and training and work centres for habitual vagrants.

For those who remain "on the road", including those who are anxious for work and unable to get it, the Committee recommends the establishment of shelter houses every twenty miles on certain main roads, periodical medical examination, and bathing facilities. A system of registration is suggested.

Among the tendencies the Committee condemns is the growth of the camping habit among town dwellers. "The camping habit, once begun, is not easily broken", it is stated. "The women find themselves with the minimum of household duties to perform, and easily fall into the happy-go-lucky, slovenly ways of vagrancy."

RADIO PATROL MUST OBSERVE TRAFFIC REGULATIONS

Drivers of police radio patrol cars in Montreal have been instructed to obey all city traffic regulations, themselves. The head of the detective office has warned all car constables that even when answering emergency calls they must observe traffic rules. While no explanation of the order was given, one phrase in the regulation made it appear that headquarters are anxious to safeguard the lives of citizens, even if a thief or two should get away.

capable domestic and who as a result will probably be able to command better wages and working conditions.

A conference was held at Ottawa this week by officials from the nine provinces and Dominion authorities regarding Companies Acts in Canada. There are ten different acts, and it is confusing for the investment brokers and the company promoters and dangerous sometimes for the investor. It would be much more satisfactory if the nine provinces and the Dominion could agree on reasonably uniform laws and regulations, and set up machinery which would protect the investor against unscrupulous and reckless salesmen and promoters.

ALBERTA VERSUS OTTAWA

Alberta has again appealed in vain to Ottawa and the Bank of Canada for assistance. Views on the matter are sharply divided. Here at Ottawa there is a tendency to ask whether any other reply could be expected, in view of what has been done to past loans. Some western people take quite the opposite view and regard the whole business as a conspiracy on the part of the "Big Interests" to undermine Social Credit. You pay your money and you take your choice. The federal government has no authority to loan money, but with conditions different it is quite conceivable that they might be prepared to advance the money without authority and take a chance on parliament confirming it. You will recall they were able to launch a big drought relief scheme without any legislative authority. Also a nation wide house repair scheme. But Premier Aberhart made a good deal out of the statement that banks created money by a stroke of the pen, and some of the sceptics in the East are asking now why he doesn't employ a similar method to meet his maturing loans. It is a rather sorry spectacle all around and one doubts whether it is doing either the federal or the provincial government any good. The tough part that it is the innocent bystander in most cases who pays the rap for these economic and political 'contre-temps'.

Unique Drivers' Test at Motor Show This Year

HOW GOOD ARE YOU?

"No one acts instantly. It takes a certain amount of time after an emergency arises for even the most experienced driver to perceive the danger and transmit the impulse to stop to the braking mechanism of his car", says Mr. Messier. "The time required varies with the driver, and ranges from three-eighths of a second to a second or more. The average reaction time is five-eighths of a second, as recorded on the reactometer. By testing yourself on the Etna reactometer you can determine the time it takes for your brain and muscles to respond to an emergency."

"If your reaction-time is slow-

TRAFFIC LIGHT COLOR TEST

"One or two men out of a hundred cannot distinguish the colors of traffic lights. To make matters worse, some individuals are not even aware of this handicap. Even though nothing can be done to improve color blindness, it is important that every driver should recognize a defect of this sort so that he can guide his actions at intersections by learning the positions of the stop-and-go lights and by watching the movements of other cars."

GLARE TEST

"The glare of approaching headlights adds to the dangers of night driving. Glaring headlights affect some persons to a greater degree than others, the result in many cases amounting to almost total blindness. By taking the glare test at the Imperial Oil Highway Safety Demonstration, you can determine your own resistance

SHOWED CONFIDENCE IN ADVERTISING

Last summer when the drought was drying farms to a crisp up North Dakota way, a farmer believing in the effectiveness of advertisements in the Farmer Globe, of Richland County, inserted the following ad. in the issue for July 10th.:

"Wanted—One good shower of rain, followed by three or four others."

AN EXPERIENCE IN UNPLANNED ADVERTISING

A grand piano in the centre of Main Street would attract more attention than a flock of pianos in a dealer's show-room. Merchants sometimes hit on new ideas for advertising, and occasionally they make a publicity scoop by pure accident.

A letter from England relates a humorous incident along this line of thought. A furniture store in the sea-coast town of Eastbourne celebrated its birthday with a huge cake, to be cut and served to visitors and customers in the store. It was displayed in the show-window, on a handsome dining table surrounded by an oak suite in tasteful home surroundings. It had aroused indifferent attention among the passers-by, until one evening after closing time a record crowd was seen gazing in the window. With curiosity aroused, our correspondent crossed the street to investigate, and witnessed an ingenious performance by two mice, who had taken charge of the dining room and were disporting themselves gaily on the polished table, sampling the birthday cake and frolicking up and down the chair-legs. Oblivious to the crowd and the chuckles outside the plate glass window, their performance proved an effective drawing card and fine advertising for the proprietor.

ARE YOU A SITTER?

Fable: There was once a young man who boasted his village, encouraged its wee sma' industries, and aided its enterprises. He watched his village grow, until his little corner became alive with noise and bustle—and alas, in his old age, he had to move out in search of quieter and happier surroundings.

Some folks sit back and meditate. If they, and their neighbors likewise, boasted with every ounce of their surplus energy—in time (they consider), there would be no place in their town for the home-life for which they mostly live and labor. Trucks would rattle past their doors. Freight trains would mar their slumbers. Peddlers and tramps would bother them incessantly.

There may be logic in this reasoning. But a community cannot stand still. It will throb with life and go ahead; or it will stagnate and fall into disrepute. . . . A dead town is a place of hanging shutters, unpainted fences, dilapidated public buildings, and roadsides overgrown with weeds. . . . Of the two, we prefer the prosperous-looking township, the community of bright stores, attractive homes and smiling faces.

The secret of successful progress lies in combining cultural and esthetic advancement with the growth of material amenities. It is true that libraries, churches and hospitals flourish best in centres rich with industry and production. But it is a poor citizen, and a poor city, that clamors for material things while neglecting the finer attainments of gregarious living.

The man who sits and dreads the day when he must quit the frenzy of his own town—may better employ his active years in filling its cultural needs, improving its residential attractiveness and making his community a home in the truer sense. Town planning is a sort of assurance for old-age comfort; it provides for that air-space which insulates the fireside from the factory. But there is an aspect of planning which needs broader vision and a finer perspective. The folks who sit may fill a more constructive role in councils, churches and clubs, which are the instruments of sound community advancement.

ON REMEMBRANCE DAY

We are remembering the roll of drums,
The haunting whine of shell,
The thunderous roar of army guns
That made of life a hell—

For men, knee-deep in muddy trench,
And for little hamlets, where
The noise of strife and conflict
Disturbed the hour of prayer.

We are remembering, that Thou, Oh Lord,
Hast given us command
To love our neighbors as ourselves
In this, and other lands.

Help us, Oh God, Thou Mighty One
On this Remembrance Day,
To keep thine order in our minds:
The plague of war, Lord, stay.

PUT JOBLESS ON FARMS

As part of a Dominion-wide farm-improvement program, 3,300 jobless men will be placed on Manitoba farms, following a decision between Humphrey Mitchell, member of the Federal Employment Commission, and provincial government officials.

Cost of the farm-placements will be borne equally by the Dominion and Manitoba Governments, it was announced. The plan was put into operation October 1, Mr. Mitchell said. Each man will receive $5 monthly and each farmer taking a man a similar amount.

Mr. Mitchell said the Commission hopes to take 50,000 men from urban centres across Canada and place them on farms as a permanent arrangement.

RELIEF PLAN IN ORILLIA

Town Councillors of Orillia are preparing a plan for relief scrip vouchers as proposed by Reeve Wilbur Cramp and Mayor J. B. Johnston. A motion provided that scrip purchasing vouchers of 25 cents, 50 cents and $1 be issued. The vouchers were to be distributed to relief recipients in lieu of cash and were to be redeemed by the town December 15 at a discount.

"The proposition is," said Mayor Johnston, "we give the relief recipient one dollar in scrip. The merchant who accepts the scrip gives goods to the value of one dollar but when he redeems it he gets only 95 cents. That is the merchant's contribution to relief."

regard for religion. Through circumstances, Communism had become actually anti-religious, although it had not been primarily so. . . . A more ominous example of the newer movements was Fascism, which had nothing whatever in sympathy with religion and was irreconcilable with the Christian cause. . . . The Church stands as a lasting protest against these secularisms, and needs the utmost support within its ranks.

Thanks of the gathering were tendered to the speakers by Rev. S. J. Pike of Brownsburg, seconded by Rev. Mr. Smith of St. Andrews East. Rev. Mr. Maclean of Cushing pronounced the benediction.

Squirrels Bear Few Young
Squirrels, when overtaken by civilization, bear comparatively few young. When babies do make their appearance, rarely do the parents display any desire to show them off. Not until they are large enough to defend themselves do they gain freedom, at which time none but an authority on squirrels can distinguish the youngsters from their parents.

Paper Money Once Worthless
For several years before the Civil war, about two-thirds of all the paper money in circulation in this country was worthless, one-third was counterfeited and the other third had been issued under loose laws, by impoverished and irresponsible banks. Supper Held By Newly Organized Men's League

SUCCESSFUL EVENT AT BROWNSBURG

Brownsburg—A supper served by the Men's League in the United Church last Thursday evening was a great success. It was the first public function of this newly formed organization and much credit is due the committee, comprising Messrs L. Wilson, T. Anderson and F. Hazel, who made the arrangements.

The Men's League was organized Oct. 20, 1936, with the following officers: Hon. President, Rev. S. J. Pike; President, Mr. Wallace Wilson; Vice-President Mr. Cedric Wheeler. Its purpose is to unite all efforts seeking the welfare and improvement of life among its members, to develop a high character of citizenship in the community; to render practical assistance to every effort for social uplift; to consider questions of practical value to Church, State and Nation; to furnish and take advantage of opportunities for individual and combined services for the establishment of the kingdom of Christ among men.

Its membership includes all who seek its fellowship and abide by its purposes and principles.

The occasion of the supper was enhanced by the visit of Rev. T. W. Jones of Montreal, who delivered an illustrated lecture on Oberammergau's Passion Play, with a travelogue through France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. Depicting the Passion of our Lord in beautifully colored slides, Mr. Jones gave a description of each scene, including pictures of the leading characters in the role. Opening with Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem the lecture closed with His Ascension and the singing of the old familiar yet impressive hymn, "When I survey the wondrous Cross." Rev. E. H. Young pronounced the benediction. The lecturer of the evening was introduced by Rev. S. J. Pike, and the thanks of the Men's League were extended to Mr. Jones by the President, Mr. Wallace Wilson.

Sticking to Principle

Without a heroism that will risk everything, even life itself, rather than retract, no great principle could ever be established in the face of the powerful opposition that so often battles against it. Convictions without the courage to live up to them are worse than useless—they make a traitor of their possessor and benefit no one else. One is no worse than other men so long as he knows no more, but the first clear call of duty that reaches his soul sets him apart; he must thenceforth be a leader or a coward.

Make Known Your Faith

If you have faith, preach it; if you have doubts, bury them; if you have joy, share it; if you have sorrow, bear it. Excellent rules for everyday practice. Too many reverse them and preach their doubts while they bury their faith in silence, sharing their sorrows with anyone whom they can induce to listen to them, and accepting their joys as a matter of course, or even bearing them with resignation.

Morro Castle in Cuba

The real name of Morro Castle in Cuba is Castillo de los Tres Reyes, or Castle of the Three Kings. It was designed from Moorish plans in 1585 by Don Juan Bautista Antonelli, and was completed in 1597. It was defended by Captain Velasco, who was in command when Lord Albemarle and his forces attacked it in 1762. At the present time the fortress is used for training military officers. It lies across the harbor from Havana.

Miss Edith Morrison, of Mattawa, Ont., arrived on Wednesday and will spend some time with her aunt, Mrs. J. A. McGibbon.

Miss Dorothy Smith returned last Monday to her home in Wolesley, Sask., after visiting her sister, Mrs. Linton Armstrong, for the past month.

Mrs. Dunn and daughters have returned home to Miami, Man., after visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Mount, at Rosemount, Lakefield.

Returning from a visit to New Brunswick on Friday, Mrs. T. D. Titman was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. A. Draper, who is now making her home in Lachute.

Mr. Geo. Y. Deacon left by train on Wednesday for a conference of Ford dealers in Detroit and Windsor. A feature of the convention will be a banquet today, at which the members will be guests of Mr. Henry Ford in person.

FURTHER DISCUSSION ON WATERWORKS

The Town Council met in regular session last evening and the question of waterworks improvement was the main topic of the evening's deliberations. It was decided, however, to secure the services of an engineer to further assist in preparing the plans.

First Overnight Motorcoach Express Operating in Canadian Territory

A new overnight express motorcoach service, saving several hours in running time, is being inaugurated between Montreal and New York, according to Mr. R. G. Perry, Passenger Traffic Manager of the Provincial Transport Company of Montreal. The new service, which goes into effect tomorrow Nov. 6th., will be the first overnight motorcoach express service ever to operate in Canadian territory.

According to Mr. Perry, the new streamlined equipment to be used on this service will embody luxurious arm-chair seats, a regulated ventilating system and greater head and leg room interiors. The services of a highly trained uniformed steward will also be at the disposal of passengers throughout the journey.

This new service, which eliminates stops for local passengers, will make a direct connection in New York with the Miami Express, and will make possible a running time of only 51 hours between Montreal and Miami.

No man's days can end in rusted wreckage who has invested some of his time in making someone else happier, healthier or more successful.

English in the Schools

(Ottawa Journal)

It should be the primary purpose of the schools to turn out students able to write and speak English without glaring errors, imbued with some understanding of the language and some appreciation of its literary triumphs—said Inspector Putman of the Ottawa Public School Board recently. All of this cannot be accomplished in the public schools, it is needless to say, but the foundation should be laid there, and we agree with Dr. Putman that no other subject exceeds English in importance.

The ability to write good English in which words are never wasted and the meaning of the writer never is obscured, is a rarer accomplishment than one might expect. Apparently we have not been overly successful in teaching this subject, and the schools continue to turn out young people whose sentences are muggy, who are verbose where they should be concise, take far too long to pass a given point, have no conception of proper punctuation. If Dr. Putman can do something in the situation he will have established another claim to public appreciation.

Bells on Gobblers Scare off Foxes

Foxes have become so numerous and troublesome in some sections of Leeds County, Ontario, that farmers have attached bells to leaders of their flocks of turkeys, so that inroads of the animals may be prevented. The bells are said to be effective in frustrating attacks by foxes.

Campaigns of Whispering Old Custom in Britain

Whispering campaigns are not new, says the Manchester Guardian. One of the stories against the duke of Newcastle was that he ran to George II, crying out that Pitt's favorite general was quite mad. "Mad, is he?" replied the king. "Then I hope he will bite some others of my generals."

A famous case nearer our own time was that of William Ewart Gladstone. It was not enough for the torments of the seventies and eighties that Gladstone should be bad; he must be mad, too. A Tory member was said to have remarked to a Liberal: "We are much better off than you for a leader; ours is only an unprincipled scoundrel, but yours is a dangerous lunatic."

There were all kinds of stories about Gladstone's "madness," generally associated with his collecting habits. Not only were extravagant things said about his china collections but it was reported quite gravely that he had been to a toy shop and had ordered the entire contents to be sent to his house.

A VOICE IN THE NIGHT

Wee Teddy covered his head all over And cried "Boo-hoo, boo-hoo". Because outside something had called "Who-hoo, who-hoo are you." "I'm only Ted", the wee lad cried, And dashed across the hall And cuddled down at his mother's side. Where he wasn't afraid at all! For mother's arms held him so close And mother's laughing voice Said, "Poor wee Ted, you must not fear. It's an owl that makes that noise."

CORDELIA'S ADVENTURES IN JETTYLAND

Cordelia was amazed to hear Judge Justice say that she must be a bad character because she did not work. Why, when she wanted to help the cook in the kitchen or the housemaid make the beds, she had always been told that she was "too small", so when Judge Justice asked her in a loud, shrill voice why she did not work, she replied "Please, your honor, I am too small." "Too small!" he cried in great surprise, "too small! The idea! You are much larger than any mouse in Jettyland, and we all work." Poor Cordelia did not know what to say; she had made that reply because she herself had been made to believe it by the repeated assertions of the maids. While she stood hesitating and afraid, Mr. Soft-Fur said "Cordelia means that she is so much smaller than others of her kind, that she is too small to do the sort of work they do upstairs."

"You were not asked to speak, Soft-Fur", growled Silly Curly, who had placed himself opposite Cordelia, so that she could not look up without encountering his cruel eyes. Cordelia knew that he was there and kept her head lowered. This, of course, gave her a guilty look—which was exactly what Silly Curly wished.

After a lot of questions, many of which Cordelia did not understand, and to which, of course, she could not give satisfactory replies—the general decision had been reached by the majority of the mice that Cordelia was, as Judge Justice had said—"a real bad character", and that she was in Jettyland for no good purpose. What was to become of her Cordelia did not know; she might have been overcome with terror but for the encouraging looks of the Soft-Fur family and the friendly-looking mouse whom they called Uncle Silver; he was edging his way closer to Cordelia and Judge Justice.

The judge's gavel was raised in the air to come down with a bang when he should give his decision, but at this point Uncle Silver held up his paw for silence, and said very respectfully—"Your Honor, may I speak?"

"No! no!" screamed Silly Curly.

"You are not running this court, Curly", the Judge said crossly, "and just because of your interference I shall allow my friend Sir Silver to speak. Yes, Sir Silver, you may speak if you do not take too long. My supper-hour is very close and I smell the cheese which my wife is toasting."

Curly was very angry when he saw that he had helped instead of injured Cordelia—so angry that he moved out of her sight, but Cordelia did not see him go for she was listening eagerly to the words of this silvery mouse with the white breast. "Your Honor", he said, "I ask that the prisoner be set free and that she be escorted to her home by the one who was responsible for her being here, our friend Soft-Fur, who we know has never been guilty of doing anything to harm his friends in Jettyland before, and I am quite sure that he has not done so in this case either."

"I know all about Soft-Fur", said the judge, "and if you can talk only of him, then I refuse to hear you. It is of this Cordelia with the bad name that I would hear. If you cannot tell us anything about her, then I consider this case closed", and again his gavel was raised high in the air, while Cordelia stood shivering with fear and wishing that the silvery mouse would hurry if he had anything good to say about her. What possible help he could be she did not know, but she longed to hear what he had to say; she felt that, whatever it was, it would not harm her because she had seen him whispering together with the Soft-Fur family, and they had all looked so pleased and happy about what he had told them.

AUTUMN BEAUTY

For years I have been hearing about the beauties of Nova Scotia in the Fall. That although Ontario was beautiful yet the colours could not compare with those of Nova Scotia. Frankly, I thought this was just another case of natural bias for home things, for I did not see how anything could be more beautiful than the Ontario woods in the Fall. I have to confess that I was mistaken. I never imagined there could be such colours. The shades are more intense. There are more solid colours and not as many shading from the yellows to the orange. The contrasts are greater. There will be patches of solid yellow, others of orange, and the shaded ones, then there will be trees of solid red standing out in sharp contrast. I thought the red trees must be sumach but much to my surprise found that they were maple. I have heard of the scarlet maple but never saw any like these before. Every leaf on the tree will be a bright scarlet, other trees will have every leaf a much darker red, but all will be maples. The woods are mixed and in all this blazing riot of colour will be the green of the evergreen trees. The hillsides may be covered with underbrush, shrubs, and vines which at a distance form a mosaic of brilliant colours. Probably the greater quantity of bush makes it more effective.

BUY GOOD TOOLS

A year or two ago I promised myself that anything I bought for my kitchen was to be the best I could get, as a workman should use good tools. I needed some new saucepans. The last ones were passably good but certainly not the best. One of them was burned while cooking carrots. I wish someone could tell me why it is that carrots seem to burn easier than any other vegetable. Another had lost its handle and the third one was bent and generally dilapidated. When I went to buy new ones they showed me a set that was on sale for 69 cents. They were good value for 69 cents, but they were not good saucepans. I was so tired that I couldn't bear the thought of having to trudge further in search of others and I almost took them when I thought of the scathing remarks that would be directed at me and the saucepans if I took them home, and I decided that I could exist another day or so without new pans. The next time that I went down town I found exactly what I wanted. They cost $1.98 but they were worth it in comparison, as they are thick aluminum with a heavy edge which will not bend. They stand firmly without toppling. When I think of the hundreds of times I have balanced a spoon opposite the handle of the old ones to prevent them from overbalancing, I wonder why I put up with them so long. Now I have good pans that I can use with satisfaction and view with pride. I expect that they will prove to be cheaper in the end as they will last for years. It is an unfortunate thing that the people who can least afford it pay the highest for their commodities. They buy the cheapest and have to pay a high price for replacements. Usually, we get what we pay for. When it comes to the tools of our trade we should buy the best.

BAKED OYSTERS

Arrange large oysters in a baking dish, if possible one from which the oysters may be served. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderately hot oven until the crumbs are slightly browned. To butter crumbs, melt the butter and stir in dry crumbs. This gives a better flavour than covering with crumbs and dotting with butter. Baked oysters done in this manner are much more digestible than fried oysters.

CORNWALL SQUARES

1/2 cup butter
1 1/4 cups brown sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten.
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 tablespoons cocoa
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup broken walnuts
Cream butter and sugar, add eggs one at a time and beat after each addition. Sift in dry ingredients and add vanilla and nuts. Spread in a pan about 10" by 12" and bake in moderate oven of 325 degrees for 45 minutes. Cut in squares. This is another recipe made by way of accident. I started to make a chocolate cake and wherever my mind was, it was not on my work and I forgot the milk. The result was a mixture of the type of a fudge square. We like it so much that I made it again in my right mind.

Badminton Will Keep You Fit and Youthful

There are few games of vigorous, worth-while type which can be played all through the winter regardless of weather. Among them badminton ranks perhaps highest. Its popularity has spread amazingly during its half-century of life, and now it is played all over the world. Badminton has a superficial resemblance to tennis in that it is a net and racket game which can give exercise and enjoyment to players of any age, from 10 upwards.

The Common Cold

We will have advanced a long step when the day comes that we will not mingle with others when we have a cold. Parents should not allow children to go to school with a cold and teachers should be able to send a child home who shows the least sign of a cold. One famous doctor says that we would never catch cold if we did not get over-tired. Since hearing that I have checked up on the family colds and have found it true each time. If we could prevent our children getting too tired we would avoid a good many colds. When you see that your child is getting too tired, and you can always tell from the temper and the peevishness, put her to bed. Perhaps tucking them in after four and giving them supper in bed will be enough, but even if you have to keep them home from school it is better to miss a day or a half-day of school and to prevent a cold than to do nothing at all about the tiredness. I have tried this out and a cold is a rare thing in our family.

Three Needs for the Complexion

THE BEAUTY BOX
By Helen Follett

Claire Trevor
Her lovely complexion is the result of constant care.

THERE ARE THREE needs for any complexion; extreme cleanliness, stimulating treatments to keep the skin functioning in a normal manner, and nightly applications for the sake of smoothness of surface. These attentions are rightful prerequisites.

There's nothing equal to friction with soap and water. Don't be casual about it. The sweetest, prettiest face in the world will gather oily films and atmospheric dust within three or four hours, and careless treatment will not dislodge this combination. Use a clean wash cloth every day. Rinse away the suds first with warm water, then with cold. Soap deposits make the skin appear oily.

Have two creams, a light one for cleansing before dinner and a heavy one for manipulations at night. The delicate fibres of the face get almost no exercise, so a bit of massage will tone the tissues and keep them from going soft and saggy. Let some of the cream remain on. The epidermal coat will lap it up, and thrive on it.

MEALS OFTEN FAIL TO GIVE NEEDED INTERNAL EXERCISE

ALL-BRAN Relieves Common Constipation*

Meals that are low in "bulk" are a common failing of the average American diet. Frequently, these meals result in irregular habits.

Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" is often a consequence. This condition causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches and loss of appetite. Even serious disease may develop.

Banish the danger of a diet low in "bulk" by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. This delicious cereal is an abundant source of gentle "bulk."

Within the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which exercises and strengthens intestinal muscles, and cleanses the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and contains iron.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

How much pleasanter to enjoy this natural food in place of pills and drugs. Serve ALL-BRAN either as a cereal, or cooked into muffins, breads, etc. Eat it regularly for regular habits.

ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

Livers Not Sluggish on the Pacific Coast

An active liver is the sign of a good disposition. It seems to work that way with halibut men on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. A few years ago science made the discovery that halibut livers are a potent source of vitamins and other elements good for the body. Large medicinal and drug organizations immediately began to buy up all the halibut livers in sight. Back in 1934 they paid 23 cents a pound out at the Pacific and only slightly lower than that for the Atlantic product. Then demand increased, promoted a scarcity, and the price went to 36.5 cents a pound in 1935. Now the offers are around 45 cents a pound.

Last year 10,192,000 pounds of halibut were produced on the Pacific Coast and the quantity of black cod was not far short of 1,000,000 pounds while there were fine landings also of ling cod, red cod and cod. With a continuation of the 1935 standard this year, the medicinal activity in halibut livers should add much additional revenue not only to jubilant Pacific cod and halibut men, but to their brothers on the Atlantic as well.

Fashion Flashes

By Alice Alden

(Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE CUNNING FOX is the dominant fur of the season. Paris is showing afternoon and evening suits with fur pelumps that flare far out in back. Then there are coats with whole sleeves of silver fox, except for a narrow strip of fabric under the arm.

BACK TALK emanates from the dressmaking salons this season. A green velvet afternoon coat has the flare in back, starting from the shoulder blades. A good future, too, is predicted for dinner suits with tailcoats, while evening frocks and wraps show flares and drapery in back.

IT WON'T BE DIFFICULT to keep warm when wearing evening frocks this winter, for wool evening dresses are definitely part of the mode. One of the smartest dresses is in very thin, very supple black broadcloth. The deep decolletage is heart-shaped; straps and hem border are of velvet.

COOL DAYS in the country will be just right when you don a new suit made of heather mixture tweed in brown and purple tones, the jacket flecked with yellow. The blouse, which has large saddle stitching, is of chamois leather.

STAY HOME long enough to do yourself proud in one of the new hostess gowns. A dignified beauty is in black velvet, the skirt with a train, the loose sleeves gathered at the wrist. Huge white beaded stars are widely spaced from collarless neckline to the hem. It closes with velvet buttons and a scalloped border, all the way down.

A DASH OF SCOTCH streaks through the mode this year. A charming hat for a young girl is a tam-o-shanter in bright wool. Plaid in gay colors, it has a bright red pompon on top and a pheasant feather stuck through in front at a pert angle.

LEISURE IS A LUXURY at any time but more so when one wears a lovely hostess gown. A new model, in white velvet, buttons all the way down, has a trained skirt and clusters of velvet violets appliqued here and there. There is a wide self-girdle; the wide sleeves are shirred.

A LOAN from the fashions of Napoleonic days results in handsome new modes. Creed does a Robespierre suit of black wool with typical chopped-off tailcoat, a high stand-up collar, and a yellow and black striped satin waistcoat.

Visitor Surprised that Quebec Children Barred from Movies

A correspondent to the Montreal Star wrote recently as follows:

I am a stranger here, and a very bewildered one.—Why?

Last week "Mickey Mouse" celebrated his 8th. birthday, bringing joy and laughter to the world via the movies. But to my surprise children in Montreal know nothing of Mickey or his confreres, Donald Duck, etc., which seems pathetic. No town, city or hamlet in the United States, or for that matter in any other part of the world, deprives its children of the modern and educational form of entertainment known as the movies.

I have been told of the tragedy of a Saturday morning matinee, where children were huddled together in a decrepit building, of the fire, the panic, the stampede. But that was 10 years ago! Montreal has since built new picture houses which are second to none for size, safety, with numerous exits, all brightly lighted, and outside fire escapes, and still the children are forbidden to enjoy Mickey Mouse.

Why not allow children to go to a picture theatre accompanied by adults? If the pictures are unsuitable for them a notice outside suggesting for adults only would help. But after 10 years — why not cut out this fanatical arrangement? Don't punish the children for what was not their fault. Give them a break.

—Candide.

Painted Nails Under Ban

Girls who paint their finger nails are "high-steppers" that are not wanted as stenographers or secretaries by business concerns of Johannesburg, South Africa. This was the opinion expressed to a newspaper reporter who visited several offices following an advertisement in a paper for a secretary, stipulating that "no painted fingernails need apply." One woman whose work is devoted to interviewing girls in order to find them employment said: "There can be no doubt that there is a definite prejudice among employers when it comes to painted nails. The motion pictures are responsible for the cheap and over-made-up appearance of many applicants for positions."

MORIN HEIGHTS

The Fifth Anniversary Supper of the United Church was held in the basement on Saturday, Oct. 24th. The supper was followed by an entertainment, in which the C.G.I.T. and others took part. On Sunday the special preacher was Rev. W. Wilkinson of Montreal.

There was also a special preacher in Trinity Church, an exchange of speakers having been arranged throughout the Deanery of St. Andrews. Rev. K. Bructon of Grenville took charge here, Rev. J. W. Dobson going to St. Agathe.

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 27, the Rustic Bridge Club entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Campbell, at the home of Mrs. H. Gilby. During the course of the evening they were presented with a silver cheese and cracker dish.

Arundel Masons Attend
Divine Service at Morin

Although the weather was anything but favorable a goodly number of the members of Laurentian Masonic Lodge, Arundel, motored over to Morin Heights, where they attended Divine Worship in the United Church last Sunday.

The minister, Rev. Bro. Perriard, cordially welcomed the visitors, and handed over the service to Rev. Bro. Cushing of Arundel, who gave a stirring address, a synopsis of which follows.

A quotation from Dr. James Gordon Gilkey illustrated the fact of the decline of the Greek Catholic Church in Russia. An old religion dying because vulnerable to communist attacks; compromised by superstitious practices and allied with Czarist authorities.

The same attacks will be directed against our western churches. In fact, right now in our province—we see Bishop Gauthier, of the Roman Catholic churches in Montreal, addressing a huge meeting a week ago, and urging them to rally to the defence of their church, now assailed by Communist propaganda.

Unfortunately Bishop Gauthier calls upon the secular authority to deal with this danger. He urges the Government to use its power to stamp out the activities of Communists.

It is a mistaken method. The ideas of Communism will now be destroyed by force. The use of force leads to just such abuses of authority as the refusal of the City Council a week ago in Montreal to allow representatives of the Spanish Government to state their case at a public meeting. The right of free speech and free assembly—a cherished British right—is violated.

The only way to combat Communism is to deal with the conditions that cause its growth, the injustices and inhumanities of our present economic order. To this task our religion challenges us, for Christianity is the religion of humanity, not of any one section or class within society.

After the service the ladies of the congregation graciously served refreshments and expressions of appreciation were extended to the speaker, Rev. Cushing, for his splendid discourse and also to all who had assisted in any way.

Several brethren from Montreal and Lachute were also present.

to headlight glare. This test measures your ability to see a pedestrian on the road at night when the glare of an approaching car shines in your eyes, by indicating the number of units of light required before you can see the outlines of the person on the road. If your score is around 9 or 10, it shows that glare seriously affects your eyes and that you need to be extra careful and to proceed at a moderate rate of speed at night.

"Errors of judgment in estimating the relative speeds of moving vehicles account for many accidents. Ability to judge speed is important when making your decision as to whether you have sufficient time and space in which to pass another car before an approaching vehicle reaches you. The Speed Estimation Test presented in this demonstration indicates your average error in judging the point at which two moving objects meet. If your error is more than two units, you need to allow for this deficiency by increasing your time and distance in passing other cars."

"Proper steering depends upon the correct co-ordination of eyes and hands. The Steering Test included in this Safety Demonstration indicates your ability to keep your car within the proper limits on the highway. The average score for this test is 65%. The higher the percentage scored the better your co-ordination."

YOUR SCORE

"Your scores on the tests included in the Imperial Oil Highway Safety Demonstration", concludes Mr. Messier, "are useful in showing how you compare with the average person in driving skill. A low score on any test should be taken to mean that you ought to try to improve that particular phase of your driving, and to try to compensate for it by avoiding situations involving that factor. This is only one of the highly interesting exhibits of the coming Motor Show."

CLUB GATHERING PAID A SILENT TRIBUTE

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF CENTURIONS
LAST EVENING

Over twenty members and guests assembled last evening for the regular Hundred Club supper at Desjardins Hotel. This being Armistice Day, it was a pleasing feature of the occasion that several ex-service men were in attendance, and a brief tribute was paid as the members stood in silence to honor fallen Canadian soldiers.

President J. E. Dumais occupied the chair. Two impromptu contests were held to enliven the evening and to augment the Club's charity funds. The program was handled by Centurion G. McOuat, and entertainment was afforded by Mr. Roland Paquette, vocalist, and Mr. Aimé Trudel with his musical saw.

A report by Secretary L. Armstrong on the service activities of the Club proved satisfactory, and altogether a keen social spirit and enthusiasm prevailed.

Osbert Sitwell has discovered that the Chinese do eat dogs—but only dogs killed under certain circumstances, he explains in the current Harper's Bazaar. The beast must have fur of a certain special color, must be fed on aromatic herbs for 48 hours previously and, above all, must meet his death by drowning in wine.

IMPRESSIVE OBSERVANCE IN AUDITORIUM AND
AT CENOTAPH

November Eleventh, generally known as Armistice Day, is also the day of remembrance to ex-service men, and it is gratifying that a branch of the Canadian Legion has now been established here, and is undertaking to organize this observance every year in the district.

Following the custom of past years, the memorial service was held in the Auditorium at Lachute. Mayor Dr. J. H. Mason, occupied the chair, and with him on the platform were the Revs. Henry Cousens, W. B. Rosborough, W. LeCras, and Major Harold Laws of Montreal, Chaplain of the 14th. Regiment, who gave a most inspiring address. He referred to the men who gave their lives in the cause that war might end wars. "But now we find," he said, "the world is in a state of re-armament. The war of Ethiopia was a disgrace to humanity. We find anti-Christian movements abroad today. The world needs not more wealth, comforts or pleasure, but it needs God. We must seek the good of humanity, forgetting race and creed. Think in terms of doing good; that is our task. Those of the 60,000 for whom the Vimy monument was erected, plead with us to

AWARDED TO LAKE-

Lakefield Dramatic Club are the proud possessors of a beautiful silver cup donated by Mr. J. P. Lantot, K.C., which they won at the Dramatic Festival held in Lachute Auditorium on Tuesday evening. Three groups comprising Lakefield, Brownsburg and Lachute players took part in the contest, and Mr. D. M. Legate, dramatic critic of the Montreal Star, officiated as judge, being formally introduced by Mayor Dr. J. H. Mason.

In summing up and making his award, Mr. Legate said he based his decision upon points allocated for play production, direction, individual performance and audience appeal. The Lachute group took 27 points out of a possible 40 and while individually good, with special mention of Mrs. L. Morris, their

Mont Rolland Man Lost in Bush

Becoming separated from his companions on Sunday morning while on a hunting trip in the woods, near St. Hippolyte, Hector Menard of Mont Rolland was missing for 24 hours before returning home at six o'clock Monday morning. A search party had been organized by local residents.

Menard, accompanied by two friends, left Ste. Adele early Sunday morning. They were tramping through the woods several hundred feet apart and Menard apparently lost his direction. His two companions fired rifle shots to attract his attention, but these were of no avail. After searching for several hours they returned and organized a search party.

Some 50 men and boys started the search. All night they tramped through the woods firing shots at intervals, but in vain. Menard, his clothing soaked to the skin, found his way home next morning.

Major Laws denounced as cowards some of our Canadian leaders who claim this Dominion is self-sufficient under protection of her neighbors. They do not deserve to be in the Commonwealth of Empire, he said, referring to their attitude to the Motherland. We need the youth of today, to launch a great crusade for God and humanity.

Following the service in the Auditorium, adjournment was made to the Memorial Park. Here the scholars from the High School assembled, and with the veterans and Boy Scouts, surrounded the monument. Principal C. L. Hall delivered a brief but fitting address to the children.

Wreaths were then deposited on behalf of the Legion, Women's Institute, Lions Club, Lachute Town Council, Ayers Limited, St. Simeon's Church, Gatineau Power Company, One Hundred Club, and the Masonic Fraternity, after which the National Anthem was sung.

HEARD REPORT AND PLANS FOR CLUB
WELFARE WORK

The regular meeting of the Lachute Lions Club was held on Thursday evening, Nov. 5th., in the Auditorium basement, with an attendance of over forty members and guests. After the usual business meeting was concluded, the balance of the evening was devoted to community singing, followed by an oyster party.

Oysters were in abundance and anyone who was unable to open them fast enough for his needs was always able to find an accommodating "neighbor" who would help him out.

Mr. Owen Todd gave several vocal selections during the evening, which were appropriate to the occasion and thoroughly enjoyed.

Lion Clement Tremblay, Chairman of the Welfare Committee, gave a brief report of the Club's accomplishments in welfare work up to the present and outlined plans for the future. One of the outstanding items of this report was the contribution of sixty bags of potatoes and other vegetables shipped to the drought areas of the West in the recent consignment from this district.

The meeting closed with the Rene Menard, of Fasset, was acquitted at the Hull assizes on a charge of manslaughter. The jurors deliberated only 20 minutes before rendering their verdict.

The charge against the accused was laid following an accident which occurred at Montebello on September 10, 1935, in which Ernest Sinclair, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sinclair, was instantly killed. Evidence showed the young man was standing on the running board of the car driven by Menard. The car collided with the automobile driven by Rev. C. H. By Wilfrid Eggleston Roosevelt Triumph Good Omen for Canadian Agriculture... Low Cost Loans and Expert Advice in Housing Service... Surveys Made by Board of Radio Governors.

Ottawa, November 9th.—The re-election of President Roosevelt was hailed as a good omen for the Canadian farmer. Not only does it assure the continuation of the present low rates on cattle, horses, poultry, cream, turnips, hay, potatoes, maple sugar etc.—but there is a prospect of still further reductions. When he sees how little progress the opponents of the treaty were able to make even in those areas presumably most affected by the increase in Canadian shipments, the President is likely to entertain favorably such additional suggestions as the Canadian government may make.

The assurance that both Canada and the United States will enjoy reasonably low-tariff policies for the next four years is expected to have an enheartening effect on Canadian agriculture. Factors making for lower tariffs and more abundant trade may be found in other circumstances also. The British are in a position to insist on considerable reductions on iron and steel and textile items in return for a continuation of present free entry into the British market for Canadian farm produce, lumber, minerals, etc. So long as these freer trade policies continue to be associated with more active employment and better prices for agricultural products, they will continue to be applauded by the Canadian voter, according to the Ottawa view.

Hawkesbury Mayor Will Not Give Up Official Seal

MOVE TO OBSTRUCT
BY-LAW FOR LEVY
ON TAXPAYERS

The special by-law passed in Hawkesbury last week by R. J. Moore, supervisor of municipal affairs for the province, to raise $11,515 from the taxpayers of the town, which the government claims was used for relief purposes not according to regulations, has not yet received confirmation, since Mayor Louis M. Auger retains possession of the official town seal and despite a request by Mr. Moore, has refused to give it up. So the by-law was not officially sealed. It is reported Mr. Moore informed the Mayor he was liable to a fine of from $25 to $500 if he did not turn over the seal.

"They are now making a seal of their own," said the Mayor, "but it will not be official as it is a new seal and I have in my possession the one that has been used on town business here for years." Mayor Auger explained that the government passed a by-law authorizing municipalities to borrow money from banks and the council of Hawkesbury has taken advantage of this to the amount of $24,000. He said the banks would be repaid when the government pays its share of the relief money owing to the town.

MANAGER AND WIFE
FOILED ATTEMPT BY ARMED THUGS

The timely arrival of the manager's wife who heard her husband's shouts for help, prevented a hold-up in the Ste. Adele branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale Tuesday evening. The two bandits, armed with revolvers and their faces masked, escaped in an auto without robbing the bank. Police of Ste. Agathe and St. Jerome kept a watch on all highways for the automobile allegedly used by the bandits and which, according to witnesses, bore Ontario licence plates.

J. H. Legault, manager of the local bank branch, stated that two men presented themselves at his home which adjoins the bank. His wife answered their knocks and they asked to see the manager. The pair were ushered into his office.

When Legault entered his office, he said, the men closed the door and locked it with a key

League for Health Insurance and Medical Care Started in Arundel

VILLAGE EXTENDS ROYAL WELCOME TO ITS NEW DOCTOR

Arundel—An event of great interest to the citizens of this district took place on Saturday evening, November 7th., when Dr. R. B. Henry, newly arrived physician, was given a neighborhood welcome by a crowd that filled Stanforth's Hall. It was an event that may well prove of interest to the whole Province of Quebec as well, for there was launched at that meeting a scheme which represents a pioneering venture in the field of medicine, though similar ventures have been made in Western Canada and in the United States, and their number is steadily increasing.

Briefly, a society is being formed, called the "Arundel League for Health Insurance and Medical Care." Those who join the Society—either as individuals, at $5.00 per year, or families, at $15.00—are guaranteed free medical service by the doctor throughout the year. Other expenses may be involved—medicines will have to be paid for, a special fee of $10.00 in maternity cases is stipulated, and the person who calls the doctor out into the country for any distance will be expected to pay his traveling expenses—but otherwise the doctor's ser-

Old Age Pension Rights Assured to Quebec Citizens

TREATMENT

Third reading, on division, was given by the Quebec Legislative Assembly Tuesday to Labor Minister Tremblay's bill to promote impartial and rapid payment of old age pensions.

The House spent almost the entire afternoon discussing the measure, which the Premier said would do away with the Government's present discretionary powers and make payment of pensions obligatory to all Quebec citizens eligible to receive them.

Under the bill citizens will apply directly to revisers or to the Pensions Commission rather than to municipal councils. Those having applications refused will be able to appeal to a judge of the Superior Court, without charge, for reconsideration.

In the event of unwarranted delay, pensioners will be authorized to appeal to the magistrates' court which following investigation, will have the powers to authorize payment if necessary.

Ottawa has the highest infant mortality rate of any of the large centers in Canada.

Asks Grant to Develop Peat Bogs in Quebec

Possibilities of the development of the peat bog industry in the Province of Quebec are to be explored, explained Hon. Jos. Bilodeau, Minister of Municipal Affairs, Trade and Commerce, in Quebec Legislative Assembly when he asked for a grant of $5,000 for this study.

The Minister explained that it was in the public interest to promote the turning into account of this natural resource since the peat bogs adequately developed would mean much to fuel consumers.

The bill asks that the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may confer upon the Minister powers to ascertain and exploit the peat deposits in this province.

DR. GRANT FLEMING AMONG SPEAKERS

The scheme was launched with a good deal of enthusiasm. Not only were the local clergy—Revs. C. Cushing and G. H. Wolfendale—actively on the program, the latter serving as chairman of the meeting, but a formal welcome was extended to the new doctor by the Mayor of Arundel Municipality, Mr. C. J. Stanforth, and—most significant of all—the event was graced by the presence of Dr. Grant Fleming, recently appointed Dean of the Faculty of Medicine of McGill University, who spoke of the possibilities of such an organization in maintaining the health of the people of the community and made a number of helpful suggestions to those who should have a part in its direction.

Dr. Henry, who will naturally be the central figure in this venture of the people of Arundel, has a very good record of training and experience. Born in Halifax, N.S., and receiving his later education from the Montreal High School, Dr. Henry went overseas during the

New 1937 Ford V-8s Announced

Two of the most popular body types in the entire Ford V-8 line are the de luxe Fordor touring sedan (above) and the Tudor sedan (below). The new 1937 editions are shown. The smart new front end, new headlamps, V-type windshield and use of the "tear drop" form wherever practicable, combine to give what those who previewed it declare to be the most beautiful Ford yet produced. The Fordor touring sedan is a family car especially suitable for touring. It boasts a roomy built-in trunk. The Tudor sedan has a new full-width front seat, with divided tilting seat back. Two engine sizes are available, the famous 85 horsepower V-8 engine and a new 60 horsepower V-8 engine. Mechanical improvements include new all-steel body, with steel top; "easy-action safety" brakes and new "finger-tip" steering.

It Happened In -

(Quoted with permission from "Liberty")

New York, N.Y.—An involved situation developed when a policeman tried to hand a summons to Harold W. Spindell for blowing too loudly the horn of his automobile. Mr. Spindell tore up the summons and informed the policeman that his automobile had no horn. The policeman then gave him two more summonses — one for littering the street with the first summons, and the other for failing to have a horn on his car.

Shrewsbury, Ia. — Justice of the Peace W. R. Sann, of a local suburb, married a couple who said they had wedded each other four times in the last two years, without a single divorce. "I'm gonna marry her again six months from now", the oft-wed bridegroom E. L. Heacock, declared. "I just believe in honeymoons—lots of them."

Torington, Conn.—Clarence E. Risley, beginning his fortieth year as a postal employee, took a day off "to get away from it all." He spent the day riding with the parcel postman.

Winona, Minn.—"Some men are scampering around in the streets out here", a woman telephoned to the police. "Either they're crazy with the heat, or I am."

The police assured her neither was the case. The men were Soil Conservation Service nursery experts harvesting tree seed.

No Cannon Ball Wasted in Napoleon's War Days

To the soldier of the cannon ball era the modern system of battering the enemy with high explosive shell would seem wasteful, observes a writer in "Pearson's Weekly."

When Napoleon was besieging the castle of Acre, the British fleet at Alexandria, and a replenishment of supplies was badly needed.

A party of troops was sent down to the beach to build a fortified sand castle. The British admiral, Sir Sydney Smith, thinking that a new battery was being built, closed in with his ships and poured broadside after broadside of cannon balls onto the beach. Napoleon paid five francs for each one retrieved and deposited at his ordnance dump.

On other days, false movements of troops were made along the beach when the British fleet was near enough to watch them, and the "fielding" gave splendid results. Some of the balls were looted over the citadel wall, on to the Turkish troops. Other cannon balls were returned (with compliments and thanks) to the British ships which had just fired them.

ation varying between 250 and 500 pounds per acre. It was noticeable that those who used the heavier rate obtained generally the most pronounced results. This was to be expected, since half measures are seldom successful, and one must satisfy the plant food needs of the grasses and clover in order to ensure that conditions favourable to the quick establishment of a vigorous, thrifty herbage be provided at the outset.

Remember that good pastures provide more and cheaper feed than any other crop of the farm and that it would cost annually over $30.00 per cow to furnish her with dry feed equivalent in value to the pasture she consumes.

"Thanks for your Advertisement
... now I can go to sleep!"

A recent telephone advertisement began: "Somewhere, someone would be happy to hear your voice. Perhaps it's a boy at school, a convalescent friend, a husband travelling, or a mother back home and lonely." A few days after its publication a letter reached the Telephone Company:

"Alone in my room tonight," it read, "in this 'little mountain town, thinking of my little 'red-headed boy at home, sick, I saw your advertisement and called home. 'Now I can go to sleep. Thank you 'for your advertisement.'"

Rotation of The Earth

The rotation of the earth once in the course of a day may not at first sight seem rapid. Yet the rotation causes every point on the equator to travel at a speed exceeding 1,000 miles an hour, or through a distance of one mile in every 3 1/2 seconds. It is therefore not surprising that the rotation has an important influence on the great circulatory movements in the atmosphere and in the oceans.

Farm Stock and Crop Reports

POTATO NEWS

The demand has remained steady with little change in prices except for No. 2's and frosted or blighted lots. These are becoming difficult to move even at low prices through the peddlers. The market will not change until the United-States crop report is issued Nov. 10th. Dealers will not buy until the total crop is known and sound stock can be shipped. Many farmers are losing heavily with rot and this has been increased by the frost which caught many still in the field or in sheds. This market is overloaded with low grade potatoes at present.

FERTILIZING PASTURES

Authorities on pasture improvement emphasize the primary need for phosphate fertilizers. Both Dr. L. E. Kirk of the Experimental Farm at Ottawa, and Professor Johnstone-Wallace of Cornell, advocate superphosphate in fall for pastures on the heavier soils, but favour the addition of potash for sandy and gravelly soils. For these Professor Johnstone-Wallace recommends from 600 to 800 pounds of 0-16-6 fertilizer per acre, applied in fall, and repeated at intervals of from three to five years. This is in accord with the recommendations of the Federal Provincial Pasture Committee.

FERTILIZING IN FALL

Some 800 farmers in the Maritime Provinces, Quebec and Ontario used 0-16-6 fertilizer on pasture and hay land last fall, the rate of applic-

LEARN THE FACTS

The new Board of Radio Governors and the new managers have begun their work with a wealth of new ideas. But before they try anything startling they are going to know the facts.

Two surveys will be conducted as rapidly as possible.

The first will survey technical coverage. It will discover what stations can be heard readily in each town, and in the country between. What Canadian stations, and what U. S. and other foreign stations. This information will provide the basis for an increase in present output of stations and for new stations when the time comes around.

The second will find out what the Canadian public wants, and, if possible, what it doesn't want. It will be a census of tastes and aversions. Gladstone Murray discovered over in England that there is no such thing as a universally acceptable program, that the same people like one kind of program at one time of the day and another at another. The best you can hope to do is to please some of the people some of the time.

The return of the prime minister will step up activity at the capital considerably. He faces a rather imposing array of proposed bills, the legislative program of the coming session. It is important to get them under way, because the session promises to start early and to be fairly brief. A defence policy, a trans-Canada aviation program, a low-cost housing scheme, perhaps a constitutional amendment, uniform companies laws, preparation for the renewal of the Ottawa agreements, revision of the Combines laws,—such are some of the more obvious measures to be worked upon.

HOUSE BUILDING PROGRAM

Some people appear to expect that the government plans to build a lot of houses for workers itself, in blocks, as it might go out and build a new dock, post-office, or canal. There is no such intention. House-building is for the individual, the private company, or the municipality, according to the federal view. It would be unwieldy and hazardous for the government to go into that field, they think. The part Ottawa will play in the proposal will be the provision of money at low cost—at less than cost, probably—for the encouragement of house-building. It will also provide expert advice and assistance.

Provinces and the Dominion gather early in December for another conference. Unfortunately there is no loan guarantee scheme in sight any longer, because the Senate killed the resolution last session, and then the opposition of some of the provinces made the prospect of early change unlikely. But Ottawa thinks that some financial fields can be studied together profitably, provinces and the Dominion helping one another in the timing of loans and in agreement about taxation powers.

May Revive Bear Bounty

Because of complaints from farmers and livestock raisers in many sections of the province, the bounty of $10 a head on bears may be revived by the Quebec Government. The bounty was abolished four years ago, and if it is renewed, it is said, the conditions under which it will be paid will likely be made quite strict so as to curb abuses.

Brilliant Concert Singer on Firestone Program

Fresh from a concert tour of Australia, where he gave fifty concerts in three weeks to capacity audiences, described as the most successful of any singer since the great Nellie Melba, Richard Crooks arrived in New York just a few days before the opening of his winter program on the Voice of Firestone radio hour, Monday evening, Nov. 9.

In Melbourne 40,000 persons attended Mr. Crooks' 12 concerts, a record for the city. They came so early many of them brought lunches along; the aisles were crowded with patrons sitting on camp stools and one concert was delayed more than fifteen minutes because Mr. Crooks was unable to reach the platform on time.

Also appearing on the winter series of the "Voice of Firestone" concerts will be Margaret Speaks, soprano, the Firestone Choral Symphony and Wm. Daly's orchestra.

LOST or found—the Want Ad. column will usually restore treasured belongings to their rightful owners.

LEADER OF BRITISH FASCISTS

Sir Oswald Mosley inspecting his "troops" just prior to the Blackshirt "birthday march" in London, which led to many clashes with Communists and arrests by the police. The British Cabinet is understood to be considering the advisability of banning "political uniforms", which, as will be noted, have a decidedly military appearance.

Lost Cow Found Lodged in Stack

A white cow disappeared on the farm of Mr. Wallace Timmons at Banda. After a thorough search it was concluded she had wandered away. A lost advt. was published in the paper but without result, remarks the Creemore Star.

The cow was found on the evening of Sept. 30th., well lodged in a straw stack at least ten feet from where she had burrowed in. The fact that the straw had fallen down behind the animal and blocked the passage prevented her discovery sooner. Mr. Timmons had seen the hole in the straw stack but did not investigate thoroughly enough.

Following her discovery, still alive, the animal was pulled out with ropes and given water in moderate amounts and, although evidently very weak, she regained her feet and to all appearances she will survive her ten-day fast without water.

Hats Off to New Quebec Government

Liberals may criticize the Duplessis accounts probe as a vindictive melodrama, staged in the guise of public economy. Truth to tell, we have heard little at all from the Taschereau loyalists about the revelations of this probe, which only confirm the suspicions of dishonesty and extravagance held by Quebec taxpayers for many years.

Looking at the matter squarely, however, none can doubt the sincerity of the new Premier when, in his drive for economy, he deducts $2,000 a year from his own salary. Theories and ideals are intangible things, but when one actually delves into the pocket book, it is a demonstration of principle quite beyond dispute.

Mr. T. D. Bouchard, Leader of the Opposition, terms this merely a camouflage to blind the people of Quebec. Mr. Bouchard has held a reputation for clear thinking and public spirit. But unfortunately he is now in the position of a conscientious objector; as leader of the minority party he simply has to object, ignoring the merits of anything Duplessis may say or do. Mr. Bouchard's salary, incidentally, was left untouched. But when the Premier, his Ministers and Members, voluntarily reduce their indemnities to the tune of thousands of dollars, we take off our hats—for this is a personal sacrifice in the interests of the province.

"Keep My Name Out of the Paper"

As the town merchant cherishes a good customer, so ye editor appreciates a townsman who does not shun constructive publicity. They are both helpful in these respective spheres of business—keeping a store and publishing a newspaper.

How often we hear the command, "Keep my name out of the paper", and how often the small-town newspaper is deprived of timely news because—someone objects! This is the lot of the country publisher. City editors have less sentiment; they care little for the whims of Miss X, who won a trip to Hollywood but doesn't want it mentioned—or for the threats of her arrogant parent, who will cancel his subscription if the news is printed.

—Which is all much a matter of course; we have grown accustomed to the objectors, and have compromised or (more often) gone around them, collecting our news from another source.

But it is a happy occasion when folks, without clamoring for publicity, go out of their way to co-operate. Two such incidents occurred here during the past week. The first was a word of thanks from a reader confined in hospital—who was glad we had mentioned the fact, for our news item brought him lots of visitors from the old town. The second instance was a visit from a district reader, who called purposely to discuss the news in his territory and to offer helpful ideas.

These gestures of goodwill are perhaps less frequent than the criticisms, but they surely help to compensate for the obstacles that beset our path.

"Opportunity may be the ticket for a long journey, but it usually is available only on the day of issue."—Hugh Redwood, the English evangelist-editor, speaking at the Salvation Army Citadel in Montreal.

Acting Collectively

If a fisherman wished to enter a bay in which the water depth was two feet and his boat drew three feet of water, it would be of no encouragement to him to be told that the fishing was exceptionally good—especially if he could not afford a new boat. He might get a number of his friends together and still their combined finances might not be able to dredge the bay. However, if all the fishermen who would ever use the bay in fifty years put their money together they could afford to have the machinery come and deepen the bay. That in brief is what is being done in Picton, Ontario. The two foot bay is being deepened with clams and dredgers at collective expense—government expense. The world has awakened to the fact that governments can be more than ruling powers. They can be collective clearing houses for getting things done for the benefit of the people. Today something is done which especially helps you and your fellow tradesmen. Tomorrow it may be my turn.

This Was War!

On dark nights before one of the great "pushes" along the Western Front men were sent to set out row upon row of round, white-painted posts across the shell-torn wastes of No Man's Land. These posts were put there to guide the walking wounded back to their own lines. After a push started you could see them slippery with gore as shattered men struggled painfully from one post to another, often dragging mangled limbs behind them. At the end of each line of posts Red Cross outfits gathered their pathetic human cargo and trucked it off to the stinking, overburdened base hospitals.—Physical Culture.

Mayor Will Not Give Up Official Seal

HAWKESBURY MEN REMANDED FOR WEEK

The three Hawkesbury men arrested Saturday on charges of obtaining relief money by false pretences, appeared before Senior Magistrate Raoul Labrosse in the county court at L'Orignal and were remanded one week.

The charges against the trio were laid by O. L. Lafreniere, inspector for the department of welfare for the counties of Prescott, Russell, Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry.

UNDERNOURISHMENT CLAIMED NOT CAUSE OF INFANT DEATHS

Many instances of persons on relief being in need of essential living requirements were cited by Mayor Auger. Three infant deaths in the town were mentioned, "lack of vitality" being stated as the cause of these deaths. However, Provincial Secretary Harry Nixon later gave out medical evidence which he said showed undernourishment was not a factor in the death of these Hawkesbury babies.

The minister said: "The sworn affidavit of three doctors proved the cause of death in each case to be something entirely different, having nothing to do with undernourishment."

REFUSE BUSH JOBS

Thirty-four relief recipients from Hawkesbury were given pulpwood cutting jobs in the Kapuskasing district of Ontario. Eighteen of the group have complained that conditions in the camps were not as they had been described to them before they left their homes. Some claimed they had had no experience in cutting pulpwood, were unable to earn a living wage, and refused the work.

Mr. Paquette said he instructed the relief officer at Kapuskasing to provide shelter for the men, but he saw no likelihood that railway fares would be provided to bring them home.

E. S. Noble, general manager of the Spruce Falls Power & Paper Co., said the men had been given jobs cutting pulpwood on a piece-work basis at $1.85 a cord. Several men had looked over the camp and then headed for Kapuskasing without doing any work, Mr. Noble said.

ROBBERS FOILED AT STE. ADELE BANK

which was in the keyhole. They had covered the lower part of their faces with handkerchiefs and each held a revolver in his hand.

The taller of the two, Legault said, "told me it was the bank's money or my life." He then ordered the manager to open the bank safe. Legault refused to do so and the two men punched him several times in the stomach. Despite the two weapons which were levelled at him Legault started shouting for help.
His shouts attracted the attention of his wife who hurried to the office. She found the door locked and opened it with a duplicate key. As the door swung open the two intruders pushed Mrs. Legault aside almost knocking her down and ran out.

A call was sent to the telephone exchange and the operator summoned aid from local residents. A posse was formed and a search for the bandits started. Meanwhile, however, police on the highway between Ste. Adele and Montreal were notified and asked to be on the lookout for the two men. A description of the car and the two occupants was also given.
Provincial police in Montreal were also notified of the attempted hold-up.

KING EDWARD TO VISIT CANADA, SAYS PRIME MINISTER

King Edward VIII is planning a visit to Canada soon after his coronation next May.
Prime Minister King stated on his recent return from Europe.
The Prime Minister said the King was looking forward to a visit to Canada as soon as possible after his trip to India, which is planned for almost immediately after the May coronation.
Mr. King said no more about the monarch's proposed visit to the Dominion. It was the first official indication King Edward expected to visit this country next year.

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

King Edward's trip will mark the first time in history that a reigning British monarch has visited Canada. He has travelled through the Dominion a number of times, but before he came to the throne.

His father, King George V, also visited Canada, but it was prior to his accession.

King Edward's visit to India, preceding the journey to Canada, will be for the purpose of being crowned Emperor of India. A ceremonial Durbar will see him vested as ruler of India's millions.

TALKED WITH RULER

Authoritative quarters, recalling that Prime Minister Mackenzie King had an audience with the King during his visit in London, considered it probable that during the talk a visit by His Majesty to Canada at some future time had been discussed.

It was said if the King came to Canada this necessarily would be followed by visits to each of the other dominions. In such a case, it was said, the King would not make one long tour, which would involve too long an absence from England.

But if plans for a series of Empire visits were made, His Majesty possibly would visit first Canada, then South Africa on a second tour, and thirdly Australia and New Zealand.

HIS FIFTH VISIT

King Edward made an official visit in 1919 when as the Prince of Wales he traveled from coast to coast. He came again in 1923, 1924, and 1927 on unofficial trips.

France's Early Parliament
The parliament of France, from the time of Louis XI to the end of the monarchy, followed a curious procedure when the king was in attendance.
While he reclined on a couch and the princes sat in chairs, the great officials were obliged to stand and the lesser officials had to kneel throughout the entire session.—Collier's Weekly.

Early "Pin Money"

An old English law permitted the sale of pins on only two days in the year. It was then the custom of all womenfolk to buy their pins for the following 12 months. At such times they went to their husbands or their fathers for the money, and this came to be known as "pin money," a term which is still used with reference to any allowance for clothes which is made to a woman.

Hints for Homebodies

Specially Written for Readers of The Watchman
By JESSIE ALLEN BROWN

THE IMPORTANCE OF THINGS

I never knew before how important one's own things were. We were two months without our furniture and although we were comfortable always, to be candid, I believe we missed our things more than our friends. They may not be worth an awful lot but they are fitted to our needs. No other lamp gives just the right light for reading. No other room seems to be equipped for reading in bed. Other chairs do not fit the curve of your back just like our own. Nothing is quite right for comfort. That must be one of the reasons why older people are not altogether happy when they live in some one else's home. They must miss their own things. One way to help remedy this would be to see that they had as many of their own possessions as possible to make them comfortable. It may seem like only a shapeless old chair to us but to them it is the one that the curves of their back have been shaped to fit.

RADIO RECEPTION

The radio reception down in Halifax is very disappointing. During the day we can only get the local station and like most other small stations the calibre of the day-time programs is not of the highest. At night the reception is very erratic. Sometimes we can get practically any station on the dial, many stations that we were never able to get in Ontario. Other nights we can get nothing clearly. Conditions are not the same always for the duration of the evening. It may start out fine and then later on be very poor. Some nights it is so poor that we turn it off in disgust, then perhaps later on in the evening try again and it is as clear as a bell. A friend was here from Ottawa and he said that radio reception there was very poor in comparison to what it was in Western Ontario.

FOOD FOR THE MIND

When you have been to a meeting where you had the privilege of hearing a speaker with something interesting to bring to the audience, what do you talk about when you come home? Do you speak of Mrs. A's new hat, or Mrs. B's new dress? Do you wonder where the C's get the money to spend on all the new things they get? Do you criticize the way the president took the meeting or the way Mrs. D. tried to run everything? Do you talk about the food and the way it was served, feeling that you would have made a much better job of it? Or perhaps you are one of those women who never do the work themselves but sit back and let the others do it, then criticize the way it is done. Instead of this inconsequential and often harmful chatter, wouldn't it be a lot better if you tried to bring home to your family some of the interesting things the speaker said? You would remember them better by telling them and would learn to listen more intently because you wanted to remember. You would be a more interesting wife to your husband and might do him good by giving him women's ideas of things. If you have children you can do a great deal for their education by providing food for their minds at meal time as well as food for their bodies.

SHOW THE HOLES

Have you ever had the embarrassing experience of opening up a freshly ironed handkerchief and finding it a holey one? Or perhaps giving a guest a table-napkin or a towel that you discover has a hole in it? To

Brightening Middle Age

Drear is the outlook for many who have left their youth behind and are hastening on to middle and old age. A lost grip on life's manifold interests; apathy as to the world of today; mental and intellectual stagnation—these are the portion of a great part of the adult world.

But to such discouraged, out-distanced men and women, a new day has dawned. Adult education is revealing startling facts concerning adults who have left their school days in the past. Nowadays no one need cease being educated; the adult of forty may memorize as easily or more easily than he could at fifteen; a whole world of knowledge is wide open to adults; and most important of all, it is imperative they should avail themselves of the radio, the press, night schools, public lectures and the careful selection of literature, if they would not be outdistanced in the race of life.

Adult Education has progressed in England for several years. Norway and Sweden ante-dated the movement in Great Britain. About ten years ago the United States organized the Adult Education Association. A little over two years ago Canada fell into line, organized, and received its Charter. The Quebec's Women's Institutes, with their slogan, "For the Education of Rural Women", quickly fell in line with the Canadian movement, and its members are richly profiting thereby.

It needs no prophet's vision to see that this movement is going to elevate the whole standards of living in the countries where it functions. Keener enjoyment of art, music, literature, nature and community life will result; and men and women, as old age draws on, will see with keener eyes the significance of passing events in the world in which they live.

An electric shock from a defective lamp caused a woman to lose her speech completely the other day.—We thought some husbands might like to know.

—Exchange.

avoid this it is a good plan to iron all articles which have holes with the hole showing. Then you know what you are getting. This is especially necessary for the men and boys because you who have done the ironing may recognize its uncertain condition but certainly the men folks will never know one from the other.

BATTER PIE

Slice several apples in a baking dish, add a very little water and cook gently on top of the stove while mixing the batter.

1/2 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1/2 cup milk
1 egg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon butter
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder

Cream butter and sugar, add beaten egg and milk, then sift in dry ingredients. Mix thoroughly and pour over apples. Bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees for about half an hour. Serve with Caramel Sauce. The apples do not require any sugar because of the sweetness of the sauce.

CARAMEL SAUCE

1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 cup butter
3/4 cup hot water

Mix butter, sugar and flour, and cook over a very slow fire until browned, stirring occasionally. When sufficiently caramelized, add hot water and stir over heat until smooth. Save this recipe and use it with your steamed puddings. If you prefer a liquid sauce to a hard sauce with your Christmas Pudding, you may like to try this one.

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

By Alice Alden

(Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW WEALTH of fur marks many of the new models. Most striking, perhaps, is Patou's black broadcloth dinner suit, the jacket with a huge, deep, front-curving peplum entirely of silver fox.

COLOR MOUNTS TO THE HEAD as colorful velvet hats become smart. Agnes blends tones of violet and cyclamen to make a tall-crowned, slanting brimmed hat. The brim is made of several layers of stitched velvet.

A ROYAL NOTE marks the new evening fashions. For "regal" is the only word for a long, slim wrap of deep violet velvet, with wide-trained skirt. The upper half is of mink, the skins arranged in spreading fan style.

A PRACTICAL GIRL will like the ensemble which sports a big, wide, deep cape of ocelot. The cape is lined in green to match the simple green woolen dress.

MAYBE you will want to wear an evening dress or dinner gown from last season. Then top it off with a jacket of glittering sequins and feel part of the new mode. Electric blue is a color that is grand for these pailletted jackets.

A GOOD COPY of the hat worn by the matador is a flat, round hat of black felt. Rings of red and gold braid at either side are looped through by a wide band of black grosgrain ribbon.

YOU WILL WELCOME one of the new dress-with-jacket ensembles, for they are wearable right through the day. A nice model has a loose, interlined jacket of black woolen with loose, rippling tuxedo revers of black Persian. The dress has a bodice top of coronation blue silk jersey.

DON'T FORGET that high style is the main requisite demanded from your best hat. What about a Spanish model in black velours, fashioned on top like a Spanish comb from which is draped, mantilla like, a black chenille-dotted veil. A cluster of deep red velvet roses trims one side.

JUST FIND a comfy, roomy but smart coat and the chances are that you will live in it. Such a model is in deep beige woolen with big button-up shawl collar of beaver and huge beaver patch pockets.

GO FORTH and wear a simple but fine black frock as a background for pearls or glittering accents. Such a model is in dull silk crepe, with a high neckline marked by a self-ruching. A row of self-ruching marks the rippling hemline. The bodice is softly draped into the high neckline.

Fear and the Child

Few adults realize what a large part is played by fear in the life of a child. Some can recall their early days and nights when fear was a very real sensation, and these will look with kindly tolerance upon the child's unreasoning terrors. Fear of the darkness, fear of punishment, fear of failure in physical and mental contests—all influence the lives of many children, capping them in the race of life.

Parents and teachers should seek to avoid awaking this fear in the child. If the baby cries because he is afraid of the dark, by all means let him have a light. The trouble lies farther back in the child's life, and only lenience can correct it. If later he has done wrong, he must be corrected—not made to fear his punishment, but to accept it as his rightful due. If as a pupil he hesitates to enter mental contests, he should be urged to do so, not because of the reward he may win, but because of the good the effort will do him.

Nothing is so beautiful as a fearless child. He will tell the truth, where the timid child will lie to escape punishment. He will escape physical dangers because of his lack of fear, and will use common sense in regard to risks, where the fearful child will fall a victim to his lack of initiative. Fear weakens the body and fuddles the mind. Teach the child courage.

"Where have I come from, where did you pick me up?" the baby asked his mother, according to Rabindranath Tagore.

She answered, half-crying, half laughing, and clasping the baby to her breast:

"You were hidden in my heart as its desire, my darling."

"You were in the dolls of my childhood's games."

"You were enshrined with our household deity; in his worship I worshipped you."

"In all my hopes and my loves, in my life, in the life of my mother, you have lived."

"In the lap of the deathless spirit who rules our home you have been nursed for ages."

—The sum and substance of that beautiful passage is that the child was very much wanted in the household. Although we cannot command the language to say it as impressively, there is something that WE want very much. As a newspaper we want to deserve the goodwill of this community by best serving its highest interests.

If you think of ways in which we can be of greater service, always remember your suggestions are most welcome.

King Edward to Visit Canada

As a quiet young man of 25, he landed at Halifax on his first visit and immediately captured the hearts of the Canadian people.

Representatives of British papers who had been sent with him were instructed to send a brief dispatch daily on the progress of the Prince through the Dominion. By the time the party had reached Toronto the correspondents were sending thousands of words a day. Thousands of persons cheered him everywhere he went.

A strike was in progress in the mining district of Northern Ontario at the time and his staff decided it would be safer for him not to visit certain districts. When the Prince found this out he insisted on touring the Porcupine mining industry.

The result was that the residents gave him a roaring welcome. At Timmins a streamer of bunting straddled a great square outside the station bearing the legend: "This is your town: paint it red or any other color you like."

In hardly less boisterous fashion greeted him everywhere he went. Crowds came to stare at the King's son who was scarcely known to them and remained to cheer him to the echo. Everywhere the Prince danced, played golf and won the devotion of Canadians.

BACK IN 1923

He was in Canada again in 1923 as the Earl of Renfrew to visit his ranch, the EP Ranch in Alberta. In the summer of 1924 he made another unofficial visit to Canada and the United States. The Prince was in Canada again in 1927. That year he accompanied Stanley Baldwin—then, as now, prime minister of the United Kingdom, on part of the prime minister's tour of the Dominion.

TIMELY APPEAL, BOY SCOUTS' BIG CHRISTMAS ENTERPRISE

Local Troop Aims at Higher Achievement in Repairing and Distributing Toys

The Lachute Boy Scouts have rallied man-power and equipment to tackle their biggest children at Christmas. Here Good Turn of the season—the is what the troop did last year:

Offer of Building Gives Impetus to Museum Project

Make Search for Missing Girl In This County

POLICE INVESTIGATE A SUMMER COTTAGE AT CALUMET

From a fruitless task of dragging and dynamiting the Mille Isles River at St. Eustache, the police turned in the direction of Calumet yesterday seeking some clue to the whereabouts of Elianne St. Pierre, missing Montreal girl.

Their attentions centred on a summer cottage at Calumet, said to be the property of Henry Fissault, young commercial traveller held on a kidnapping charge in connection with the girl's disappearance. It was believed a thorough search of the cottage would throw new light on the case.

1937 Auto Plates Ready This Week

QUEBEC MINISTER HINTS AT BENEFITS FOR MOTORISTS

Hon. Martin B. Fisher, Provincial Treasurer, stated at city Government offices that 1937 licence plates would be released on Friday, in readiness for the motor show in Montreal. Early issue of the licences, he said, was decided on in an effort to spur activity in the automobile manufacturing industry during the usually dull winter months. It would have for practical effect, he noted, a bonus of slightly more than four months of free licence to buyers of new cars. (1937 plates do not become obligatory by law until March 31).

Hon. Mr. Fisher intimated, also, that additional benefits would be provided the motoring public by the present Government at the next Legislative session. He would not divulge the nature of these benefits, however, when pressed for details.

DOM. WAR MEMORIAL MAY BE ERECTED IN THE CAPITAL NEXT YEAR

GREAT WAR MONUMENT ALREADY CONSTRUCTED IN ENGLAND

Unless construction obstacles make it impossible, it is the intention of the Dominion Government to have Canada's Great War Memorial set up in the Dominion capital in time for next year's celebration of the armistice, according to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Engineering or other difficulties may prevent the achievement of this objective, but the Government has felt that it would be fitting if the war memorial, now in London, could be placed in position during the coronation year.

Canada's war memorial has been practically completed for some years, but the removal from London where it was sculptured has awaited preparation of the site in Ottawa. The memorial, executed by the March family of Farnborough, Eng., after an open competition for the design, includes a huge archway through which are passing figures symbolic of

CONDITIONS FOR APPLICANTS PUBLISHED IN THIS ISSUE

In a constructive effort to meet the needs of both farmers and unemployed men, the Quebec Department of Agriculture is making known the terms upon which assistance is granted for the placing of men to work on farms during the winter months. Grants of this kind are obviously more beneficial than relief moneys given with no requirement of work or recognition on the part of the jobless. The scheme is put in effect as the result of an agreement between the Dominion and Provincial Governments.

In co-operation with the Quebec Dept. of Agriculture in circulating this scheme, The Watchman publishes the terms and regulations of farm employment, on page two of this issue.

Surgery of the Seas

Dr. Adam N. Beattie, surgeon of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, and his ship's nurse, Miss Margaret Grant Allan, who are shown here, performed two delicate operations during the ship's round trip to the Far East, via Honolulu, just completed in Vancouver. On the outward trip, between Honolulu and Yokohama, the liner's huge turbines were stilled for nearly an hour while Dr. Beattie removed a ruptured duodenal ulcer from a Chinese passenger. On the homeward trip, between Hong Kong and Shanghai, the London, Ont. doctor's skill was again called into play when a Chinese saloon steward was stricken with acute appendicitis. Both patients are recovering well, the physician reported. Dr. Beattie, former house physician at Vancouver's St. Paul's hospital, and graduate of University of Western Ontario's medical school at London, Ont., stated that the Empress of Japan's splendidly equipped operating room made the operations little different in practice from any performed in large hospitals. His assistant, Miss Allan, is a graduate of St. Paul's hospital, Saskatoon. She has been in the Empress of Japan for the past three and a half years and previously was in the Empress of Russia. Dr. Beattie first went to sea in 1933 aboard the Canadian-Australasian liner "Nagara" out of Vancouver.

Provl. Ministers of Agriculture to Confer... Systematic Bid for British and U.S. Markets... Defence Armaments Mostly Gossip, Says Eggleston

Ottawa, November 17. — A port independently on his own suggestions. Later he instructed H. S. Arkell, the former livestock commissioner, to visit the different provinces, and interview livestock organizations and farmers' societies as well as the packers. Mr. Arkell will have his report in the hands of the Minister by the time the Ottawa conference begins.

NEW DRIVE FOR EXPORTS

What the Minister of Agriculture expects all this preparation to lead up to is this: he wants an organization formed in Canada to assist in the exporting of Canadian farm products, to advise farmers what is wanted on the other side, to keep an eye on quality, to watch market changes. It is expected that this body will keep closely in touch with some sort of intelligence service on the other side, which will advise from time to time how the shipments are being received and what can be done to build up the trade still further.

Then Mr. Gardiner asked the deputy minister, Dr. Barton, and Dr. J. H. Grisdale, the former deputy minister, to make some inquiries for him along similar lines when they were in Britain. He asked them to re-

Piedmont Police-man Sentenced on Robbery Charges

INVOLVED IN STE. ADELE HOLD-UP ATTEMPT AND DISTRICT THEFTS

Marcel Aveline, 23-year-old convict on parole, charged with robbery, was arraigned at St. Jerome Saturday, in the court where he had several times this summer stood as complainant—in his capacity as constable for the village of Piedmont.

Aveline, out of the penitentiary on ticket-of-leave, was hired as constable during the past summer by the Council of Piedmont, the members of the council not knowing of course that he had been an offender himself. But last week Aveline was recognized by officials of the court, and he simply smiled as he noted the recognition.

The accused was charged with Philippe Cloutier, 22 years of age, of St. Vincent de Paul, with having stolen ten gallons of gasoline from the Henri Renaud gas station, at St. Jerome, and with "having held at the point of a revolver H. Aubin and his son, with intent of committing theft."

They pleaded guilty to charges of attempted hold-up at the Ste. Adele Bank Canadienne Nationale, attempted burglary of a barber shop at Shawbridge and a recent robbery here at Brownsburg.

The constable was sentenced yesterday to 10 years in the penitentiary, and his companion to three years.

Seignior Club Engineer Died of Heart Ailment

SAW EXTENSIVE NAVAL SERVICE DURING GREAT WAR

George Wheatley, for many years resident engineer at the Seignior Club, died in the Montreal Western Hospital last Friday following an illness resulting from a heart ailment.

Mr. Wheatley's wide experience included service with the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Northern Electric Co'y. and with the Harbour Commission in Quebec City. For the past six years, and until little more than a week before his death, he had been with the Seignior Club Community Association in charge of all equipment serving the huge establishment. Born in Uxbridge, England, in 1879, Mr. Wheatley came to Canada in 1910. He enlisted with the Royal Navy at the commencement of the war and before he returned to this country in 1919 saw service as engineer aboard submarine chasers, submarines, mine sweepers, mystery ships, torpedo boats and almost every other type of war vessel.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters and two sons, one of whom resides in Ottawa.

DEP. OF AGRICULTURE ASSISTANCE IN FARM EMPLOYMENT

Employment Bureau Regulations in the Province of Quebec

In order to provide farmers and stock-men with necessary help, and to encourage unemployed persons to take up farm work for the winter months, a plan has been agreed upon by the Dominion and Provincial Governments, the details of which are outlined hereunder:—

CONDITIONS FOR FARMERS:

1) The farmers will declare that they are not taking advantage of this plan to discharge someone already employed by them or are not accepting help under this plan in order to avoid employing men at regular wages.

2) They will agree that the help employed will receive suitable food and living quarters and will be treated in a decent manner.

3) They will agree to keep the helpers until the 31st of March 1937, always provided that they are honest and show a willingness to work. Furthermore, the farmers agree to endeavour to find their help suitable work after the date specified.

4) Applications must be recommended by three responsible persons who know the applicant and who will agree to take the responsibility of their recommendation. Recommendations will only be accepted from the following responsible persons not related to the Applicant: Parish Priest or Clergyman, Local Bank Manager, Provincial or Municipal Officers, Justice of the Peace, and Provincial Agriculture Representatives.

5) This arrangement is confined to farm work. Farmers must not utilize the services of those engaged under the plan for commercial work other than the general operation of the farm.

6) They shall agree to advise the Department of Agriculture of the departure of their farm helper, as soon as possible.

CONDITIONS FOR FARM HELPERS:

1) It would necessarily follow that these advantages would only apply to those without any resources or any means of livelihood.

2) The young men must be prepared to obey the instructions of the farmers and to show as much good will as possible to compensate for their lack of knowledge.

3) It is necessary that they remain on the farm until the 31st of March, 1937, and at this date, to do all in their power to obtain employment in the neighborhood.

4) It is necessary that these farm helpers follow the rules and regulations of the Department under the provisions of the Farm Help Employment Plan.

5) All applicants must submit to a physical examination by a physician designated by the Department of Agriculture, as it must be understood that only men of excellent health and good physique will be accepted.

6) It is necessary that the requests of applicants on the regular forms provided, shall be recommended by three responsible persons, not related to the applicants. Recommendations will only be accepted from the following responsible persons: Parish Priest or Clergyman, Local Bank Manager, Provincial or Municipal Officers, Justice of the Peace, and Provincial Agriculture Representatives.

PAYMENTS:

1) Transportation and accounts of any kind will be paid by the Department only if previously authorized.

2) A maximum remuneration of $7.50 per month will be paid to each person accepted.

3) No payment will be made for a period of less than 30 days in any one month.

4) First monthly payment will be made approximately six weeks after establishment and the subsequent monthly payments will be made regularly on the 15th of each month.

5) As soon as the Department of Agriculture will be notified by the Form A.C.-7, that the farm helper has arrived at his destination and commenced work, the Agricultural Employment Bureau will send to this farm helper, care of his farmer, a cheque for the amount of $3.00 to be used for clothing.

GENERAL CONDITIONS:

1) Application forms may be obtained by the interested parties from the Agricultural Employment Bureau, Department of Agriculture, Room 403, Quebec City.

2) We ask of all farmers to co-operate with the authorities in order to make this plan a success and to add, if possible, a small monthly salary to the grant the Department is giving.

3) No monthly allowance can be made to young men residing with farmers before acceptance of their application by the Department.

4) Any allowance obtained under false pretences is subject to being reimbursed.

NOTICE TO FARM HELPERS:

On your departure you will be given a postal card which will be marked in the top right hand corner, Form A.C.-7. On arrival at your destination, the aforesaid card must be signed by the farmer with whom you are to reside as well as by yourself and you will then mail it without stamp or envelope. Upon receipt, the Department will register your name as being a beneficiary of all the advantages of the Farm Employment Plan.

On the 20th of each month, up to the 31st of March 1937, another card will be sent marked in the right hand corner, Form A.C.-8. Upon receipt, it must be signed by the farmer with whom you reside as well as by yourself and mailed without stamp or envelope, on or after the date indicated on the card. This last mentioned card, if we have received the first one, will serve to recommend the payment of your monthly allowance. Cheques will be made to your order and forwarded directly to you, care of the farmer with whom you are residing.

If this card (Form A.C.-8) is only received at the Department of Agriculture after the 1st of the month, instead of being paid on the 15th of the month in question, you will only receive your cheque on the 15th of the following month, and no exception will be made under any consideration.

OBSERVANCE AND CELEBRATION AT GRENVILLE

Remembrance Day was fittingly observed at the Public School in Grenville. Miss Armstrong, the teacher, had prepared a program, to which parents and friends were invited. The pupils of Dodd's School, under their teacher, Miss Jeffries, also attended in a body. The choir of St. Matthew's Church sang Kipling's Recessional and recitations were given by two of the pupils, Ethel Oswick and Joyce McCallum. The Rev. K. N. Bructon spoke for a few minutes on the meaning of Armistice Day, and the two minutes' silence was observed. A patriotic poem was recited by the whole school, and the choir sang "Land of Our Birth". The proceedings closed with the National Anthem.

The exercises were well arranged and impressive, and will help to stress the meaning of this day in the minds of the pupils.

The Annual Armistice Day Supper of St. Matthew's W. A. was held in the Masonic Hall, Grenville, on Nov. 11th. It was very well attended and the ladies and their young helpers were kept very busy supplying all who came. After the supper a group of young men from Holy Trinity Church, Hawkesbury, under the direction of Mr. Jacobs, led the audience in a community sing-song, which was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. R. Owens accompanied them on the piano—no small feat considering the rapidity with which Mr. Jacobs would change the time of some of the choruses. Dancing was enjoyed afterwards, to the music of Lowe's Orchestra. This local organization is steadily growing in popularity, and their performance on this occasion ranks with the best. During the evening some cowboy songs were sung by Mr. Cavanagh, of Grenville, and were much appreciated. To the ladies of the W. A., and their helpers, great credit is due for a very happy and successful event.

Fireman Blew Out the Fire

Meriden, Conn.—Answering an alarm, Fire Chief Arthur Harris and four companies of firemen found the owner of an automobile frantically trying to put out a blaze around the carburetor of the car. Harris merely took a deep breath and blew lustily into the flames. That ended the fire.

Nova Scotia's Primarily Scotch

Because of long fellow's "Evangelical" Nova Scotia is popularly supposed to be mainly French and English. But it is primarily Scotch. The opening of its parliament is accompanied by the skirl of bagpipes and several newspapers there are printed partly in Gaelic. In the Nova Scotia county of Inverness 72 per cent of the inhabitants speak Gaelic, while less than half of the people in the similarly named county in Scotland can talk that tongue.

PREMIER'S DEATH REVIVES ROYALIST HOPES

Death of Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary, who thwarted the return to the throne in 1921 of Emperor Charles and Empress Zita, has revived royalist hopes of placing her son, Archduke Otto, in power. Regent Nicholas Horthy, left as sole head of the state, figures importantly in the situation which all Europe is watching with tense interest. Budapest, capital of Hungary, seethes with excitement as the nation's political future hangs in the balance.

Specially written for The Lachute Watchman

The facts and figures for 1936 show that markets for the products of the Canadian farm are growing steadily, but there is still plenty of scope for enlargement. The cattlemen of the Dominion have been urging upon the Minister of Agriculture the need for further emphasis on this matter. An ample market for Canadian live cattle at somewhat better prices than have been prevailing would be of tremendous value to Canadian farmers in every province.

PROFITS IN TEXTILES

Some rather sensational evidence has been brought out by the Turgeon royal commission which is investigating the textile industry in Canada. Eyebrows have been lifted here and there at the profits which have been accumulated by some of the companies, especially when they are set in contrast against the wages paid some classes of employees. The "hidden inventory reserve" of Canadian Cottons, Ltd., has also come in for attention. Though the officers of the company claim that every thing was done to safeguard the company against undue fluctuations, and that in the long run the reserve all came out in the balance sheet and had taxes paid upon it, this view does not coincide with that of the income tax department. The latter has made a tentative assessment of about $383,000 for unpaid income tax between 1920 and the present. This, apparently, does not include penalties, nor does it include anything for the years 1916-20.

The angle which will be followed with especial interest across the country is what effect these disclosures will have on the tariff policy of the Mackenzie King government. Substantial slices have already been cut off the Bennett duties on textiles, and so far the action does not seem to have ruined any of the companies. It has enabled the Canadian consumer to enjoy a bit more choice when the time came to buy cloths and clothing. But anyone who has brought in a shipment of textiles recently knows that the

LIEUT-GOVERNOR TO OPEN MOTOR SHOW ON SATURDAY

Lieutenant-Governor, the Hon. E. L. Patenaude, will preside at the Official Opening of the Montreal Motor Show in the Sun Life Building on Saturday, November 21st. He will be accompanied by the Presidents and General Managers of the most important automobile firms in Canada, by representatives of the Federal, Provincial and Municipal Governments, as well as of the industrial, financial and social life of the Metropolis.

The guests of honour will visit the Motor Show between 8 and 9 p.m. Saturday evening. They will then assemble in the main salon of radio station C.H.L.P., in the Sun Life Building, from which the official speeches will be broadcast through stations C.H.L.P. and C.K.A.C., between 9 and 9.30 p.m.

"Never has a Motor Show aroused such widespread interest as this Montreal Motor Show, which will remain open until Saturday, Nov. 28th," said Mr. T. H. Price, Montreal Branch Manager of General Motor Products. "This is the second time that the Motor Show will be held in the Fall. This will allow thousands of people living outside of the Metropolis to come and admire what this industry has on display. All roads are open to automobiles at this time of the year, making it easy to travel, while this was impossible when the Motor Show was held during January. Moreover, the railways will offer excursion rates from a great many communities and it will be the same with the motor buses of the Provincial Transport Co'."

"Some of the new cars," says Mr. Price, "have been entirely rebuilt from bumper to bumper. Bodies are larger and more luxurious, and mechanical improvements of every description may be seen. There are so many new inventions on display that it has been impossible to sum them up. After having gone through the Motor Show three or four times, one will still be surprised to find new details which he had overlooked previously."

"Some of the smaller cars have now grown into full-size automobiles and at the Motor Show they will stand comparison with what we have been used to term 'luxury cars'. On the other hand, entirely new small models have been created to compete with cars in the lower price market."

Nazis May Remove Moses from Scriptures

NON-ARYANS IN OLD TESTAMENT SUBJECT OF CONTENTION

Nazi parents in Cologne, Germany, are debating the question of whether to strike Moses from the Old Testament because he was a Jew.

The official Nazi organ, Westdeutscher Beobachter, recently published letters from parents complaining their children were puzzled at being taught in religious classes to revere Moses and elsewhere to despise him because he was a Jew.

Some of the parents suggested "cleansing" the Bible of "objectionable" Old Testament characters.

The newspaper agreed editorially that the confusion of youthful minds necessitated a prompt remedy since "many things labelled by Jews as divine laws seem to us Aryans revolting and criminal."

Hints for the Poultryman

In order to have pullets laying at their best in November and December, the months of high priced eggs, the following points should be observed, according to the Dominion Poultry Husbandman:

See that the pullets have dry and bright quarters.

Have the houses clean and sanitary, without draughts.

Give a well balanced ration and be sure to give enough.

Don't forget the green feed, preferably clover or alfalfa.

If you have milk give the pullets what they will take.

Keep the laying pullets or those that are near laying by themselves.

Give these every comfort and attention—they are the money makers.

Your treatment of the pullets now may mean profit or loss for the rest of the year.

Dispose of hens too old or pullets too young; it costs too much to feed them.

The time of scarcity is the time to arrange for your market for the whole year.

Living Up to an Agreement

It is interesting to note that 153,326 cattle have been shipped, under the trade agreement, from Canada to the United States. The notable fact is that this number represents 98.4 per cent of the number the Dominion was allowed to export under this agreement — a little short of the mark maybe, but demonstrating that traders are taking fair advantage of every facility the Government may procure in agricultural markets.

Savagery in Modern Raiment

As the war clouds hover over Madrid, and the Spanish insurgents meet repulses which threaten to block their hitherto triumphant progress, this stage of the hostilities appears to outsiders as the climax in a bloodthirsty settlement of policies and opinions. Nations "watch with interest" — as the commentators so frequently comment.

It is a morbid revelation to think on the horrors of this "civilized" war, of these rebel "triumphs" which, for all their modern objectives, rise no higher than the barbarism of forgotten ages.

"For sheer savagery and cruelty", writes Karl von Wiegand, veteran war correspondent, "it has no comparison in the last hundred years, except in Spain itself. The massacre of the Armenians by the Turks pales into insignificance beside this struggle of extermination in which the horrible deeds committed by both sides go almost beyond description."

"The Ethiopian savages in Abyssinia, whom I watched for several months, were noblemen and knights of chivalry in comparison with some of the Reds as well as Whites in Spain. All the cruelty of Cortes in Mexico and the tortures of the Inquisition under Torquemada come to the surface again."

The cost to Spain of the first two months of civil war he estimates as exceeding the four hundred million dollars gold reserve in the Bank of Spain, and the looting, plundering and destruction in the churches, monasteries, convents and in private homes of the wealthy is enormous.

Analyzing the significance of the revolution, and its effect on the rest of the world, these questions occur to von Wiegand: "In the Middle Ages we had fanatical religious crusades and wars. Then came nationalism and the era of national wars. Is that era passing in Europe and the age of class wars—wars of Bolshevism, Communism, Fascism, Nazi-ism and Democracy—beginning?"

Vermont Sees Hope in Quebec's New Regime

The following paragraph is quoted by the Granby Leader, from the Swanton Courier in Vermont:

Now that the Quebec Government has changed... we hope the members that compose the new House will be sufficiently endowed with practical sense that they will be able to enact legislation to make it compulsory for every person using a horse and wagon on the road after dark to carry a lighted lantern. When meeting another car with bright headlights it is difficult to see a horse and rig until one is almost upon it, and narrowly averted accidents are quite numerous. For their own safety farmers and others who still drive horse-drawn vehicles should be as greatly interested in the passing of such a law as the people who drive automobiles. In the state of Delaware not only must all horse-drawn rigs carry lights, but also pedestrians who use the roads after dark.

Canadian Mining, a World Phenomenon

Whichever way you look at it—says an editorial in the Montreal Herald—the great rise of Canada's mining industry in the past few years presents one of the most remarkable industrial developments in the world.

The progress which has been made, and is now under way, is almost unbelievable.

For instance, Canada in 1931 had 20 gold milling plants in operation. Today it has 121 gold mills running and 10 more under construction.

Within the coming year it is predicted that there will be in operation not less than 146 plants turning out gold bullion.

What is more, quite a number of the new mills are of a magnitude that few appreciate.

Some of the new producers have started off with an initial production at the rate of $1,000,000 a year, and two at least started with an initial mill tonnage greater than that of the whole Porcupine camp in its early years.

The payroll of one gold mine alone for the fiscal year ended June 30 last amounted to $2,500,000; the supplies purchased in the same period to $2,300,000 of which 92% were produced or manufactured in Canada, and the taxes paid in the same year to $1,600,000.

There are, of course, many other metals that are being mined besides gold, including nickel, copper, and zinc.

We have the authority of Mr. H. S. Logan, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, for the statement that the mining industry now places a total fund of more than $200,000,000 annually, directly or indirectly, at the disposal of the Canadian public, most of which shares in it as it flows through every form of activity in which our people are engaged.

Of this $200,000,000, nearly $100,000,000 is represented by salaries and wages and $75,000,000 for supplies and equipment.

Then again the exports of mine products, coin and bullion, at the rate of some $250,000,000 per annum now form the second largest item in Canada's trade, being exceeded only by agricultural and vegetable products, which are only some $20,000,000 higher.

Truly Canada once more is on the march.

erve its historic interest.

Four hundred dollars would make the ground floor beautiful with tinted colors and all that would be needed in the first stage of its museum evolution. This massive structure, built with British gold, with its thick walls, its five chimneys and five fire-places, its level floors and uncracked walls, remains as solid as in the days when the Royal Engineers made its chambers echo with the songs of the Fatherland. Asphalt or asbestos shingles will render the roof fire-proof.

At the midwinter meeting of the Society at Lachute, which will be announced shortly, every member will have a voice and a vote in the decision.

Dear Sir:— Re: Nubell Gold Mines, Limited

Diamond Drill Hole No. 1 has been located at a point 280 feet south of the shaft. This hole will be drilled at an angle of 30°, and should cut the vein at a vertical depth of 75 feet below the surface.

The Diamond Drilling camp has been set up on the Mont Laurier Highway, and the drilling crew are now laying a pipe line to the lake.

It is expected that diamond drilling will start on Monday, November 9th.

With the exceptional surface showing on our property, with assays from $7.00 to $33.00, it is very probable that the results of the Diamond Drilling will be consistent with surface showings, in which case the advance in the price of this stock to a substantial figure will be immediate and inevitable.

the historic heritage of his possession and has determined to preserve as far as possible its old landmarks, even to the walled-in tunnel that connected the castle with the barracks, for the protection of Commissary General Forbes and his household, at the time of the Rebellion of 1837, when its leaders planned to enjoy their Christmas dinners at Bellevue.

The offer, which remains open till March 1st., is conditioned under the following agreements and stipulations:

That the structure must never be diverted to any other purpose than a Historical Museum, that it must never be mortgaged, and that in order to ensure its perpetuity, a persistent effort be made to reach its financial objective in accord with the mandate of the last annual circular of the Society; and furthermore it is urged that the $20 contributions of the life members and the continued revenue from life-memberships be applied to the Endowment account, and invested in Trust Funds. It is further advised that ten per cent of the revenue derived from the endowment fund be each year placed in a contingent account, till the amount is equal to one fifth of the objective endowment of the Society. The grant includes about 400 feet of shore line and all the land between it and the highway, giving ample space for cruiser wharfage, and those attractions which invite the patronage of the tide of tourist travel on both sides of the river, and the pleasure cruises that navigate the waters of the Ottawa. Another source of revenue might be a tea room in connection with the building.

The advisory board was chosen with approval of members of the Executive. Dr. Percival is quite disposed to enlist the teachers and scholars of Argenteuil in the work of the Society, to create in them a love for their native land, and a knowledge of early colonial days. To this end, he has ordered 50 copies of "Memories of Old St. Andrews and Historical Sketches of the Seigneurie of Argenteuil" to be placed in schools of Argenteuil and the Ottawa Valley.

Mr. Judah's long experience in museum administration renders him an ally of great value in this venture. He has made a thorough inspection of the structure, taken its measurements, and pronounced it fit and well adapted to the various requirements of a historical museum, just as it is, without alterations, the better to pre-

Poppy Campaign Most Successful

Results have now been received from the various districts where poppies were sold for Remembrance Day, and we are pleased to give the detailed list as follows:

Lachute	$149.47
St. Andrews	$25.00
Greece's Point	4.69
Lakefield	3.35
Calumet	6.50
Cushing	9.00
Arundel & Weir	16.80
Grenville	18.25
Morin Heights	10.22
Lachute, Wreaths	79.75
Morin Heights, Wreath	7.00

$329.83

Again the thanks of the Argenteuil Branch of the Canadian Legion are expressed to all those who worked so diligently to make this annual Remembrance Day so successful, both from a financial point of view as well as a patriotic aspect; the wearing of a poppy surely helps one to remember, besides paying tribute to those who made the supreme sacrifice.

Some of the wreaths which were placed on the Cenotaph have been temporarily removed on account of the inclement weather, as it was deemed advisable to hold a few in order that they could be brought out fresh for the summer months.

In Defence of the Clergyman

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor, The Watchman

Dear Sir:

It has been my observation that clergymen are all too often placed upon a pedestal and revered as sanctified individuals or else smeared with mud when they fail to rise to the expectations of their congregation. Never, never does a clergyman work. Yet, if a lay member exerted one tenth of the combined physical, mental and emotional effort put forth by the average clergyman in a day, said member would not only be completely exhausted but thankful that he was not one of the "chosen."

Take, for example, the clergyman's visiting—the only means by which he can keep his finger on the pulse of the congregation. Few people realize that this exacting duty occupies approximately three fourths of all his time. Fewer still realize the mental and emotional strain of "being all things to all people". The clergyman who listens so attentively to your troubles or aspirations has had to listen just as attentively to nine or ten similar outpourings that day and, moreover, has had to appear equally interested in them all. Possibly you can remember some particular afternoon when a couple of acquaintances unburdened themselves to you at great length and left you feeling decidedly limp? Then you have some inkling of the constant barrage endured by the clergyman—a barrage which never "lets down."

Consider, too, the numerous church meetings each week: these he is expected to attend (woe betide him if he doesn't) and to be prepared at all times to "say a word"—without dominating the meeting. He must

The Eastern Star

The Order of the Eastern Star, composed of members of Masonic families, apparently originated in France in 1774. It was organized in the United States in 1778 in New York city by French officers. On May 18, 1798, members of various chapters met in Boston, Mass., and formulated a ritual. It is said that General Lafayette was greatly interested in the formation in the United States of the organization.

Memory Pictures of Home

Home "interiors" less photographed than most subjects, become precious in after years. They are easy to make if time exposure is used.

RARE is the person of middle age who retains a good memory-image of the home or homes in which he lived as a child, and who does not wish he could.

How the exterior of the house looked is not so difficult to recall, but once-familiar details of living rooms, how the furniture was arranged, what pictures were on the walls, the appearance of the fireplace, how the stairway looked, how the windows were curtained, grow vague with the passing years—unless photographs of these rooms taken at the time are available to refresh the memory.

Chances are, in the case of most grown-ups of middle age and older, no such pictures were taken. But in these days when there is a camera in almost every household, what a pity, really, to let youngsters grow up and leave home, without any pictures ever being taken of the living rooms and bedrooms in which they spent so many of their childhood hours! It is probably because such pictures can be made at almost any time that we are apt to postpone taking them. Since they can now be made easily with any camera, by artificial light at night, as well as by daylight, why, with all this time available, should we any longer neglect to take them? Here are a few hints on taking views of interiors:

Since no movement of the subject needs to be considered, time exposures are best, whether by daylight or artificial light, the time depending, of course, on the film used, the amount of light and the stop opening in the lens.

A small stop must usually be used in order to obtain sharp images of objects at various distances from the camera.

Leave all the furniture in its usual place, as far as possible, and take pictures from several viewpoints.

Do not crowd a lot of furniture in a small space just to show it off. It will not be the natural arrangement that you want to remember. Leave clear floor space in the foreground. This may require the removal of a nearby piece of furniture for some views. Watch out for distracting reflections from mirrors or pictures.

Have the camera on a tripod or other rigid support, and placed low enough so that more of the floor than the ceiling can be seen in the finder.

If the whole area of the picture is not clear in the finder because of dark tones and walls, have someone hold a light near the wall until you have fixed the view exactly.

For interiors taken by daylight coming from only one window, a reflector (of white cloth or paper the size of a window shade) will increase the illumination of the corners of the room. Floodlight bulbs may also be used in conjunction with daylight to considerable advantage.

Interiors at night may be taken at "time" with the illumination of three or four ordinary electric light bulbs, but the inexpensive floodlight bulbs now available for indoor picture taking will serve the purpose better. Care should be taken with either kind that an unshaded bulb is not included in the picture or "fog" will result.

THE WIND'S PLAYTIME

"Woo-oo—Woo-oo", sang a cool north wind
As I walked on the hills one day,
"Woo-oo—Woo-oo", it shrilled in glee
As it whirled the leaves away.

Over the hill-top, down to the glen,
And piled them in a heap
Where the trilliums and the daffodils
Were dreaming in their sleep.

I knew by the lilt of its happy song
That winter days were near,
For winter days are the wind's gay days—
The play-time of its year.

THE CABBAGE PATCH

It was dark and silent in the Cabbage Patch, so silent that a tiny cabbage split its sides in an effort to peek over the top of one of its larger neighbors. "Who made that noise?" said the Biggest Cabbage, in a hoarse whisper. There was no answer for a moment or two. High up on the pine-tree Hootie the Owl called out. "Who, Who, Who?" The little cabbage shivered and wished that it had not split its sides, for now it would be quite open if Hootie came along looking for supper in the Cabbage Patch. This little cabbage had been afraid of Hootie ever since it could remember.

A queer little whisper sounded above its head. "Silly!" the whisper said, "Hootie likes mice much better than cabbage and he is just broadcasting to the world that he is about to start out in search of one."

With a breath of chill but fragrant air, the whisperer passed on. It was one of the Merry Little Breezes who had come to meet with its fellows in the Cabbage Patch and plan some fun. As it passed over the head of the Biggest Cabbage it shrilled, "Never mind, who made that noise; perhaps I did". Whirling around the Biggest Cabbage it gave it a playful slap on the left side of its head. Now the left side of the Biggest Cabbage was very tender, as some big grown-up had carelessly torn the outer leaves off, to see if the Biggest Cabbage had worms in its heart.

(Some cabbages are just like some little folk, they have bad hearts, and worms gather there and spoil the cabbage, just as the worms of discontent, untruthfulness and a desire to take what does not belong to them spoil the hearts and lives of these little folk if they do not root them out.)

Fearing that she might be slapped again, the Biggest Cabbage did not ask any more questions, but sat and sulked in the darkness until Shuffler, the lazy old toad who had not yet dug himself in for the winter, hopped up and sat right on top of it. This made the Biggest Cabbage cross. "Get off my head at once, you cold, slippery thing. You might give me warts."

Shuffler just sat still and stuck his long hairy tongue out at her. The Biggest Cabbage saw him do it, for just then Mistress Moon suddenly smiled down at the garden, which looked so lonely now, stripped of everything but the cabbage family.

"Cold thing yourself!" squeaked Shuffler, "my feet are colder this minute than they have been all my life, before... Hey there, Mistress Meadow Mouse! Wait a minute," he called, "I have something to tell you." Mistress Meadow Mouse did not wait, but hurried silently to her home under the gooseberry bush, where Sammy had dug a hole and lined it with milk-weed down.

Seeing that she did not stop, Shuffler sprang from the top of the Biggest Cabbage and hopped quickly after her, just as Winking Nose came in at the open garden gate looking for his supper. He passed the Biggest Cabbage with a saucy sniff. "Toad-stool, Toad-stool!" he whispered. Then the Biggest Cabbage felt very thankful to Shuffler for sitting on her. Winking Nose must have seen him there—and evidently he preferred cabbage that had not been sat on by a toad for his supper. Winking Nose heard whispering down near the gooseberry bush, and being a very inquisitive rabbit hopped quite close that he might hear what was being said. But all he heard was Shuffler telling Mistress Meadow Mouse that Hootie the Owl was looking for her for his supper, and Mistress Meadow Mouse, her voice sharp with fear, had snapped back, "D'you think you are the only one that knows that! It is time you were in bed for the winter, Mr. Shuffler. The Merry Little Breezes just whispered to me that the Frost Fairies are freezing the ground up solidly tonight, so you had better hurry."

With a queer little gasp of fear Mrs. Meadow Mouse darted into her nest. Hootie was sailing over the Cabbage Patch, quite too close for her comfort. Winking Nose for once did not bound off in terror, he was too frightened for that. He crouched very low under the gooseberry bush instead, until Hootie's hoarse "Who, Who, Who" could be heard quite far away. Finding himself close to the little cabbage with the split sides, he started nibbling softly, so softly that the little cabbage did not seem to mind. He knew that he must be eaten by someone and he would just as soon be eaten by Winking Nose as anyone he knew. It was much better than being boiled, anyway!

Shuffler started to dig just as soon as Mrs. Meadow Mouse had told him about the Frost Fairies, and it was not long until he had burrowed himself in, not far from the home of the Meadow Mouse.

The Merry Little Breezes whispered the news of Hootie's return to Winking Nose and chuckled to see him hop away to his forest home. After they had blown some sand over the spot where Shuffler had dug himself in, they too hurried home, and all was still once more in the Cabbage Patch.

All Big Apes Intelligent
All members of the large-ape families are intelligent, according to a zoo expert, and all but the baboons are affectionate. The gorilla, for instance, which has been presented in story-book fiction as vicious and untrustworthy, is the most loving of all the tribe of wild animals. The gorilla's great fault is jealousy.

Revive Manx Language
Interest in the Manx language which has been on the verge of extinction, is being revived by the Manx society, composed of ardent nationalists of the Isle of Man. When the last Manx census was taken, four years ago, 521 persons could speak in Manx, about 60 per cent of them were then over sixty-five years of age. A peculiarity of the Manx language is that it contains no swear words.

Checkerboard Cookies

For the Children

By Betty Barclay

The next time you give your youngsters a party you'll make a winning move with a batch of checkerboard cookies. The children will dote on them—and they're not hard to serve. And you know that anything made with chocolate means a gala occasion to the young.

1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or other shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg yolk, beaten
2 tablespoons milk
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg yolk and beat well. Add flour, alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Divide dough in two equal parts. To one part, add chocolate and blend. Chill until firm enough to roll. Roll each half into rectangular sheet, ¼ inch thick and 2 inches wide and place chocolate sheet on top. Cut lengthwise in three equal parts and place one on top of another, making six ¼-inch layers of contrasting colors. Chill thoroughly. Cut in ¼-inch slices. Arrange six slices, one on top of another, alternating chocolate and plain sections, so that the ends show checkerboard design. Roll carefully in waxed paper. Chill overnight, or until firm enough to slice. Cut in ¼-inch slices. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 6 minutes, or until done. Makes 4 dozen cookies.

FEELING VERY NEW

There is such a wealth of old things around here that it makes me feel very new. We have been feeling that anything over fifty years old was almost antique, but down here in Halifax 50 years is a mere nothing. A woman in her eighties putting plants on a bench casually remarks, 'great grandfather made that bench'. Admiring some china, when having a cup of tea, my hostess said that it was rather old. Her aunt had told her when she was a child that it was over ninety years old and that would make it over a hundred and fifty years old now. Looking at books in a bookcase I find several published in the seventeen hundreds; others in the early years of the eighteen hundreds. We call on cousins and see one of the first pianos to come to Halifax. It is somewhat like the old square piano, only it is about two feet wide. It is out of tune but for all that has a very sweet tone. A friend proudly says that he started his son to work at the same age and the same day of the month and at the same job that he started at. His business was started by his great-grandfather, a hundred and twenty-five years ago. No wonder he feels sentimental about it. I have noticed several buildings dated before Confederation and in the Dockyards are buildings dated 1769 and 1778. No wonder I feel new and rather raw.

TOO YOUNG COMPANIONS

If your child persistently seeks companions younger than himself, there is something wrong, unless, of course there are no others available. There is a feeling of inadequateness somewhere, that looks for compensation in younger companions that can be dominated. It may be that the child is not much good at games and so avoids competition by playing with the younger children. He may have been retarded at school, either having had to miss school for some reason or because of being a bit slow mentally. Being with younger children in school he is apt to play with them and dominate because of his age. It is wise to create opportunities to be with children of his own age. Better still is to try to discover the reason for the feeling of inadequateness and to do something about removing it.

THE TUBERCULAR TYPE

Tuberculosis occurs so much more frequently in the long thin person that they are called the tubercular type. This just doesn't happen. There is a reason for it. The thin person has much larger lungs than he has any need for and they are not completely filled with air when he breathes. Any unused portion of the body is apt to be unhealthy and so it is with the unused portion of the lungs. Just because one is the tubercular type does not mean that it will develop. But the chances are greater. Any person who is of this type should recognize the fact and be more careful. If a cold comes, look after it. Never allow yourself to become underweight. A layer of fat is a protection and it can be acquired if you really want it. The lean person need not worry, but he need not take unnecessary risks.

FINNAN HADDIE

Cut finnan haddie or smoked fillets in pieces suitable for serving. Put in a frying pan and cover with hot water. Cover and cook slowly for about ten minutes. If the fish is not completely covered with water, turn once during the cooking. Drain. Add a little milk and a generous piece of butter. Cook for a minute or two longer, basting the fish several times with the milk. The milk may be poured over the fish on the serving plate or may be served separately. If a sauce is desired with the fish. Personally I like chilli-sauce with mine but others prefer the milk. I have learned this method since coming here. I used to cook the smoked fish in milk but it invariably curdled and although it tasted good, the appearance was not attractive. Using the water first prevents this curdled appearance. This is a good supper dish to make when you are in a rush, as it will cook while the kettle is boiling.

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup milk
Add sifted flour, salt and baking powder to the rolled oats and sugar. Melt butter and lard and add to dry ingredients with the milk. Mix well. Chill. Roll on a floured board and cut with a cookie cutter. Put together with a date filler or with jelly. Quince jelly is especially good. It is better to fill the cookies as required, than to let them stand after filling.

Summer Resident Is Seriously Ill in Montreal

Mrs. J. E. Everitt, who has a cottage on Curran's Lake, is in the Royal Victoria Hospital, having undergone an operation for poisoned pancreas and gall bladder trouble. She was operated on six weeks ago, and is very ill and it will be necessary for her to undergo another operation in about four months' time, if her strength returns sufficiently.

Mrs. Everitt returned to Montreal in September in a sick condition and was immediately taken to the hospital.

Her many friends in Lachute and district will be sorry to hear of her condition, and will wish her a speedy recovery.

Possessions

(From the Rotarian Magazine)

But I have seen the sun on fields of snow.
I have no gold, yet none more rich than I
Whose windows open toward a western sky.

I own no land, yet mine are these to see:
A field of wheat, a neighbor's apple tree.
I have no stocks or bonds, but in the end,

KEEP LEGS SLIM WITH EXERCISES

Writer Says Shorter Skirts Inspire Girls to Put Ankles and Calves in Shape

SHORTER SKIRTS are a blessing. They have more style than the longer ones that have been worn. They also inspire a woman to look after her ankles.

Legs that are too thin and legs that are too fat can be brought to normal size by the same exercises: lifting up and down on the toes, jumping rope and doing high kicking.

Another is to sit on a low stool and send the foot in circles, letting it rotate from the ankle.

To develop the chest, make deep breathing a habit. The rest of the way is easy. Take a deep breath, flattening the abdomen and lifting the ribs gradually as the air is forced upward. You can do that any time.

For the girl whose chest is flat and whose bust is under normal size, there is nothing better than air washing the lungs. Ventilate the lowest cells about 20 times a day.

One way to help girls in their teens overcome the natural awkwardness of that period is to have them take dancing lessons. It is during the awkward age that children develop an inferiority complex. They become self-conscious and unhappy, and they grieve over beauty ills that can be observed only by their own eyes.

At the age of six, a little girl is old enough to learn to dance. By cultivating easy, rhythmic movements, the child will acquire poise. This is a good plan to follow if the little girl hangs back when other children play, or does not get enough exercise to promote healthy development.

Mothers must also make every effort to keep the child's hair and scalp in condition by shampooing it every week. A spray should be used, and the soap should be melted. If the soap is left on the strands, the health of the hair is impaired. Teeth must be scoured twice daily, and the child should go to the dentist two or three times a year to have the white pearls examined, cleaned and repaired.

After the birth of the baby, the young mother has many beauty problems. The figure undergoes changes; there may be more breadth amidships.

It is not advisable to start strenuous exercises too soon. The mother should consult her physician, who will suggest easy calisthenics. If she is in perfect health, he may permit her to take up rhythmic dancing, a most excellent form of exercise. If she does not nurse the baby, he will advise her to massage the breasts lightly with coco butter so the tissues will not lose firmness.

Any woman can reduce if she makes up her mind to it and sticks

Illustrated Lecture on Canadian Birds

AT THE COUNTY W. I. SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING

The County Women's Institute semi-annual meeting, which was arranged as a pleasure-sharing gathering, was held on Friday night by the courtesy of the Pastor and Board of Stewards of Lachute United Church in their hall. It was well attended, by adults and children outside the regular members of the W. I., and was very enjoyable.

The Oh's and Ah's of delight heard from the children when their favorite birds were shown on the screen assured the organizers of this entertainment that their efforts were really appreciated. Dr. Harrison Lewis is an authority on Canadian birds and a rare speaker, so that the smallest child could not only understand, but enjoy his talk.

Miss Edna Aitken kindly contributed beautiful piano selections. Mrs. C. Duncan and Mrs. R. A. Giles gave a vocal duet, and Miss Janet McQuat a delightful vocal number about bird-song at eventide.

The thanks of the county to Dr. Lewis and all who helped, was extended by Mrs. G. Deacon and her motion of thanks was seconded by Mrs. McQuat of Brownsburg. Rev. W. Rosborough expressed his pleasure in a short address of welcome.

Dr. Lewis was the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Rosborough while in Lachute.

Fashion Flashes

(Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NOT ALL smart coats are necessarily black. A new model is a redingote of dull sapphire blue broadcloth with wide panner pockets of silver fox and an intricately swirled collar of the same fur.

NOBODY HAS SEEN smarter clothes than those shown this season. A suit in plum-brown woolen has four pouch pockets and collar of silvery Persian lamb, tinted in soft lilac shadowy coloring. It fastens with "coffee bean" buttons.

IT IS NICE to know that some of the new frocks of wool are light in weight yet warm. Such a model is in slick black jersey with gored skirt, double-breasted bodice and white pique gilet collar.

IT IS IN THE STARS that there will be success for a model of black silk crepe with bodice enlivened with rhinestone stars.

CONSTIPATION* MAY BE MORE SERIOUS THAN YOU THINK

It Causes Discomfort, May Even Lead to Disease

Constipation* is not a condition to be treated lightly. Continued neglect of regular habits of elimination tend to lower your resistance. Then there is the actual discomfort. For constipation* is one cause of headaches, poor appetite, listlessness.

Common constipation usually develops when you eat meals that lack sufficient "bulk." Your system fails to get needed internal exercise. Fortunately, today, you have a generous source of effective "bulk" in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass, which gently cleanses the system. This natural laxative food also supplies vitamin B and contains iron.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, etc. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN often. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company as an effective laxative food for constipation.* Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk"

to her routine. The loss in pounds won't be encouraging the first few weeks; it takes time to sliver down. The curved lady must take corrective exercises, such as stretching, bending and twisting movements. She must slow up on fats, sweets and starches from which adipose cells are created. She must live a normal life of regular hours, drink plenty of water, and take no cat naps. She can eat all vegetables and fish, poultry and all fruits except figs, dates and bananas.

The complexion should be a lovely faint, rose petal pink. The texture must be fine. That happy state of affairs can come only through health measures. Lady Hygeia is the best of all cosmeticians. A good digestion means more to the skin surface than all the make-up on the counters.

Keep the epidermis clean and lubricate it every night to combat the effects of strong winds and atmospheric dust. Pat it gently to keep the blood streams moving.

The fastening is formed of a rhinestone crescent moon.

DARINGLY DEMURE is a dinner dress in Parma violet broadcloth. The squared décolletage is very low in front; sleeves are puffed to the elbow and then tight to the wrist. A muff of Parma violets and a pork-pie hat of the broadcloth with pinked edges complete this Robert Piguet model.

IF YOU SEARCH for novelties you will easily find some grand new ideas, including gloves of black suede on which are superimposed red lacquered fingernails.

LUXURIOUS LEISURE is depicted by a hostess gown, done on draped lines, that takes a bolt of silk jersey to give it form. It is clasped at the waist with a jewelled ornament.

JUST A SCRAP of material makes some of the nicest evening hats, designed to accompany smart dinner clothes. This bit of black antelope, worn far back and clasped with a rhinestone ornament, is completed by a flaring, half-moon veil.

WE LIKE APRONS when they are of fur. Some of the newest cloth coats have apron fronts of sleek fur, as exemplified in a model of black woolen which has upstanding collar, sleeves and double-panel apron front all of black caracul.

express an opinion without casting reflections on anyone present and at times he must impress his opinion without appearing to override the majority. Social gatherings extraordinary, in the shape of bazaars and lectures, demand his benign presence even though he may not just feel like Pollyanna-spreading-sunshine.

Only those who have gone through the experience can fully appreciate how little is revealed in the terse "Marriages and Deaths" announcements of the press. At the time, most of us are too immersed in our own joys or sorrows to view the occasion through the clergyman's eyes. To him, marriages are alike in their rather monotonous detail of licence and ceremony. But funerals are often the culminating effort of weeks of ceaseless visiting, weeks during which he has attempted to comfort both the dying and the living, weeks which have taken an incalculable toll of his reserves.

Every six days, Sunday inexorably appears on the horizon. The congregation sees a smoothly-conducted service and is quick to criticize any deficiency therein. Behind the scenes, the clergyman has previously selected the hymns (not as easy as it appears), read over the lesson, arranged the weekly notices which are always (?) handed in punctually, and prepared his sermon. This last item, as all congregations know, is bestowed by divine inspiration on the clergyman just before midnight on Saturday. Logical, inspiring and brilliant, the last word on spiritual matters, it merely waits to be "preached at" the congregation the next day.

This inadequate outline of a clergyman's life does not begin to do him justice, as anyone intimately connected with the profession must know. Not being at all intimately connected with the profession or with anyone in it, the writer has had to rely on frequent observations and personal experiences similar to the clergyman's everyday duties.

BEHIND THE SCENES AT OTTAWA, THE "FIVE-RINGED CIRCUS"

Outlining Program of Session... Senators Are Not So Keen to Hear Divorces

"THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, November 24.—The session, it would appear, is not more than six weeks away. The Capital, which is always a sort of five-ringed circus, with a show going on in one tent or another, seems to be exceptionally busy behind the scenes these days, and as a rule the tempo goes up as the session approaches. Here are the chief matters engaging the government at the moment:

1. Negotiations to form an aviation company to fly the mails, and run a passenger service across the Dominion, linking up with the United States, ultimately with Britain, and with Asia.

2. Preparing for the conference of provincial treasurers and the Minister of Finance, called for December 9th., which is to deal chiefly with two things: (a) the co-ordination of government loans, and (b) co-operation between Dominion and province in regard to taxation.

3. Preparing for the conference of agricultural authorities in the following week, at which a reorganization of the Dominion department of agriculture is to be discussed, and plans laid for stimulating the export sale of live cattle and other farm products.

4. Drafting a modest defence program for the Dominion.

5. Approving the departmental estimates.

6. Drafting legislation for the session. Early reports say that the program is being kept light.

7. Amalgamating the departments of interior, immigration, colonization, mines etc. into the new single department of mines and resources, under Hon. T. A. Crerar.

LOCAL ATTORNEY GETS CROWN APPOINTMENT

STEPS TO CENTRALIZE HEARING OF CASES

Mr. Georges-H. Heon, attorney-at-law, of this town, has just been informed by the Attorney-General's Department of his appointment as Crown Attorney for all cases originating in the constituency of Argenteuil.

The commission also stipulates that: "full authority is hereby given to undertake and conduct all searches or enquiries for and on behalf of the Attorney-General."

This is in line with the new Government's policy to give County Crown Attorneys much more latitude than heretofore, which is more in accordance with modern police methods, and somewhat similar to the duties of district attorneys in the United States.

It is further announced that steps are now being taken to centralize in Lachute the hearing of all criminal cases originating in Argenteuil, except the jury cases, which will as heretofore be heard in St. Jerome.

Concurrent jurisdiction is also being sought for cases in the Superior Court, so that they may be heard in Lachute, and Mr. Heon, after interviewing the acting Attorney-General this week, states there is strong probability of this reform being effected in the near future.

Santa Parade Drew Crowds to Montreal

Excursions by rail and autobus from many district points drew crowds of people to Montreal last Saturday for the Santa Parade and the Motor Show. Many motorists from Lachute braved the icy highways, taking their families to witness the annual parade, a sensation of the season to young folks, who find St. Nicholas and his procession both awesome and exciting.

The influx of visitors was most notable in the streets of Montreal, where traffic and pedestrians were thick. The department stores were likewise crowded, and beyond the satisfaction afforded to the youngsters, older folks found small pleasure in the expedition.

C. P. R. excursionists from Lachute on Saturday numbered around 150.

Brownsburg — Mr. George Gagné Sr. and Mr. John Turney are both suffering from minor injuries received in an accident on Saturday, when the wagon on which they were riding skidded on the French Hill near the C.I.L. offices, causing the horses to run away and throwing both men to the ground. Mr. Gagné was found unconscious by two of the C.I.L. employees, who took him to the first aid room, and summoned Dr. Coté. It was found the injured man was suffering from shock and broken ribs. LACHUTE AUDITORIUM AGAIN DAMAGED BY OUTBREAK OF FIRE

Elusive Blaze Similar to Last, But Firemen Avert Heavy Loss

Lachute's $40,000 Auditorium, public building which is the source of greatest pride among our citizenry, has suffered extensive damage again by fire. A blaze very similar to the disastrous outbreak which gutted this building two winters ago, occurred on Tuesday, originating in the furnace room at the rear of the basement and spreading to the wall around the stage and other points most difficult of access to the firefighters.

The alarm was turned in at one o'clock in the afternoon by Alderman K. McOuat, who was passing by the scene when a young lad drew his attention to smoke issuing from the rear of the building.

The fire brigade arrived promptly and had two streams of water in action, with good pressure, but the dense smoke which filled the basement and concert hall obscured the source of the blaze.

Chief Deacon and his men relied on instinct to direct their forces around the scene of the former outbreak, although smoke was bursting from the roof, the front, and the rear of the building. Onlookers feared the outcome would be as disastrous as in the earlier fire, which completely destroyed the interior.

However, water was poured into the basement, into the wall and the attic, and in two hours the flames were under control. As the smoke cleared away it was found the blaze had been confined to the basement, and except for damage around the stage and a cave-in of the main floor near the stage entrance the public auditorium was little damaged except by water.

Work was started immediately to seal the broken windows and dry out the building. It is estimated it will cost between three and four thousand dollars to repair the damage. The Town holds ample insurance to cover this loss.

Enthusiastic Gathering, Hundred Club Supper

Another successful meeting of the Hundred Club was held last evening in Desjardins' Hotel.

The spirit of community service, which is the prime objective of this organization, formed an undercurrent to the lighter vein of the proceedings. Several guests shared the good fellowship of the occasion. The program included many lively and talented numbers, community singing and impromptu speeches. President J. E. Dumais occupied the chair, and Centurion Jos. Belanger gave a good account of himself as convener of the evening's entertainment.

TRENDS AND FORECASTS IN THE QUEBEC PROVL. LEGISLATURE

Better Prospects, Winter Roads... Possibility of a Hansard Publication Next Session

PATRONAGE SYSTEM BECOMES EMBARRASSING!

HANSARD SYSTEM IS DISCUSSED

The idea of a Hansard in the Quebec Legislature has been toyed with by several Premiers in the past but, for one reason or another, nothing was ever accomplished. A system of publications along this line was promised by Premier Duplessis in his campaign speeches. Now, well-authorized sources believe the Premier intends to inaugurate his Hansard system before the next session, so that henceforth there will be a permanent record of all that is said in the House. Few can be found who do not approve of the Premier's plan. Many think it will not only have the effect of curtailing speeches but will also raise the standard of speeches as members would be apt to think twice before saying anything of which permanent record will be made.

Quebec's lead in regard to introducing the Hansard system in its Legislature may be followed by some other provinces, it has been intimated. At present only the Dominion Parliament of all the governments in Canada is equipped with a skilled staff of stenographers taking note of everything said in the House of Commons and the Senate.

BUCKINGHAM RESIDENT SUCCUMBS TO WOUND

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BELOW KNEE

John Warren, 39-year-old resident of Buckingham, died on Monday following an accidental shooting. The previous day Warren returned from hunting and handed his gun to Vincent Burke, in whose father's home he had been living. As young Burke started to unload the gun, it discharged and Warren was struck below the knee.

The leg was amputated in an effort to save his life, but he had suffered too much from shock and loss of blood. It was decided an inquest was unnecessary.

TRIAL FOR ROBBERY. BELL'S FALLS PLANT

THIEF STOLE FROM HIS ACCOMPLICES

A. Myre, of Hawkesbury, giving evidence before Magistrate Lalande against his confederates, told the St. Jerome Court he was a member of the gang which had broken into the Gatineau Power Coy's stations at Sable Falls and at Bell's Falls on October 12 and stolen some generator parts. He identified as his accomplices three prisoners in the dock—Raoul Paquette, Damase Sauve and A. Gauthier, all of Hawkesbury.

He testified he was to have received "a fair share" of the proceeds realized by the booty and had got only $2, which he considered inadequate. Angered at the lack of faith of his partners, he added, he had in turn stolen some copper plates from the car of one of the accused.

Thomas McMahon, Clarence Bennett and Cecil Gallagher, all officials of the company, testified to the robbery and identified the allegedly stolen objects which were produced in the court.

Rev. Elmore Young, B.Th., at United Young People's

The Young People's Society of Lachute United Church were favored on Monday evening with an address by Rev. E. H. Young of Maple Ave. Baptist Church, Brownsburg, who was special speaker for the occasion. The topic of Mr. Young's discourse was "Christ." Two piano solos were rendered by Miss Ruth LeCras, and at the close of the meeting Miss Helen McFaul sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

MAY CURB TAX EXEMPTIONS MADE BY MUNICIPALITIES

A long overdue protest has been heard on the tax exemptions offered by towns and cities to attract new industries, and it is possible a bill may be introduced to curb this practice in Quebec. In the face of several protests from urban centres such as Montreal, Quebec and Three Rivers, the Quebec Department of Labor may legislate at the February session to control this "abuse". A Montreal delegation communicated with Hon. William Tremblay, Minister of Labor, to complain that the latest offender was the City of Sherbrooke. The Minister was told that the Eastern Townships' city was angling to have the S. Rubin, Limited, clothing factory, move to Sherbrooke from Montreal. The lure, it was said, was a 10-year tax exemption. The Rubin Company is reported to have a weekly payroll of about $5,000 and about 270 workers, excluding the office staff.

Mr. Tremblay informed the delegation that theirs was by no means the only complaint he had received. He remarked that the practice had been going on for many years, with smaller centres having many inducements to offer tax-ridden industries in the city.

The minister promised consideration of the matter and the possible introduction of a measure to prevent the wholesale offers of tax commutation.

Need More Vacancies for Patronage, or Must Abolish It

The fact that members of the Legislative Assembly — not to speak of Ministers — are being hounded day and night by persons seeking positions, is sadly admitted by the members themselves. Some of them have become discouraged at the situation, and even talk of the creation of a Civil Service Commission which would serve at least to educate the people that the members are not so many employment agency officers.

The situation is much worse in some counties than in others, but bad in all counties. In vain members point out to expectant job seekers that the finances of the province do not permit engagement of additional employees, since there is already a deficit for last fiscal year and a healthy prospect of one for the present fiscal year.

When Premier Duplessis returns to Quebec, it is probable that some of the members will suggest more opportunity for patronage in the way of giving jobs, and the matter of a Civil Service Commission may also

CONVICT PLANNING JAIL-BREAK WHEN MOVED

CRIMINAL ASPIRATIONS REMAIN UNCURED

After his removal Saturday to St. Vincent de Paul, it was found that ex-Constable Marcel Aveline of Piedmont had wrenched from his prison bed at St. Jerome a six-foot bar strong enough to force the window of his cell. Aveline, who is serving a 10-year sentence for district robberies and hold-ups, including theft at Brownsburg, had threatened to escape from the jail if he was not removed to St. Vincent de Paul.

Jailer Binette at St. Jerome found the bar suspended outside Aveline's special cell. It was hanging by a woolen rope the prisoner had made by unravelling his socks. The prisoner had already loosened one of the bars in his cell window. He had told the jailer that because he didn't like the jail and was prevented from smoking he wanted to be moved to St. Vincent de Paul.

Convicted with him, Philippe Cloutier is serving a three-year term. Officers took the pair to the penitentiary in the provincial police van.

Flippant Xmas Cards Denounced By Bishop

In a message to Roman Catholic congregations of Saint John, N.B., Bishop P. A. Bray denounced flippant Christmas salutations and asked for more care in selection of greeting cards, that the "Christian concept of Christmas be not entirely lost."

He deprecated the decreasing circulation of cards of a religious nature and substitution of others of "purely profane character—cards of the dog, cat and

Civic Taxis Proposed in Glasgow

Municipally operated taxicabs have been proposed in Glasgow, Scotland. William Reid, deputy chairman of the Glasgow Transport Committee, proposed that the city operate a fleet of 500 cabs, not for profit, but the service to pay its own expenses.

FIND WATER SUPPLY AT 150 FT. DEPTH

Drillers seeking to augment domestic water supply in Guelph, Ont., struck it rich when the drill operating for several months on Metcalf street, dropped into an underground river at a depth of 150 feet. The flow exceeds 900 gallons a minute and the water is of excellent quality.

MOUNTIES HAVE VARIED DUTIES

In the North-West Territories and the Yukon, members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have to be versatile. They are called upon to perform duties policemen in more populous areas would never think of attempting.

The annual report of the force mentions an epidemic of measles at Providence, N.W.T., early this year and says "our detachment at that point was called upon to continuously supervise the native residents and give advice upon the treatment to be followed, there being no medical officer at that place."

As there are no other officers of any kind in the north the Mounties have to act as bailiffs in civil suits, serve writs and court orders and make seizures under judgments, as well as enforce the criminal law. Endless correspondence with litigants arises from the fact that outsiders do not understand conditions in the north and the difficulty of serving papers on, or collecting money from a trapper who rarely is seen by another white man.

Not a penny of taxes will be paid in the next 20 years by new industries in Salta Province, Argentina, provided they are established within three years.

Fined One Cent for Failure to Declare Income Tax Paid

Hans Tretzner of Verdun, Que., was found guilty by the Recorder's Court, in default of appearance, of having failed to make declaration to the City of Montreal of his 1935 income tax paid to the federal government, under By-Law No. 1385.

In virtue of article 12 of the regulation the court is empowered to impose a penalty of five per cent of the levy due the city. In Tretzner's case, this amount came to a fraction of a cent and Recorder Leonce Plante compromised with the one cent fine. The only drawback to the otherwise perfect picture was that costs of the court—amounting to $4.50—were also added to the fine.

FRAUD ALLEGED IN FLOODING CLAIM

A Montreal storekeeper, H. Rudy, has been charged with fraudulently collecting $1,041.92 for water damages from the City of Montreal.

Arthur Sabourin, former store manager for the accused, testified that the defendant had deliberately used a hose to wet merchandise in the basement of one of his stores. Sabourin said that on orders from Rudy a truckload of almost worthless merchandise had been taken from another branch of his store and dumped into the basement of the above mentioned premises.

Then, witness said, the city was notified and a claim entered for $3,000 damages, although settlement was made for $1,041.92. Sabourin said Rudy claimed the goods had been damaged due to flooding from a defective city drain.

Miss E. Audet, a store employee, told the court when she left the building the previous night the basement was comparatively dry, but when she returned the following day it was covered with water.

Judge Jules Desmarais committed the accused for voluntary statement.

Shipping Motor Cars By Rail Is Popular

A large number of tourists during the past summer season took advantage of facilities for the transportation of their automobiles by rail offered by the C.N.R., according to C. W. Johnston, general passenger traffic manager. A uniform rate for car shipments both in Canada or the United States enables tourists to have the use of their cars at various resorts. Under this arrangement, the passenger proceeds by railway and the automobile is shipped in freight service, either in advance or after departure of passengers. The charge for transportation of an automobile is one-way, first class rail passage fare and one-third, provided the car owner also holds two one-way or round-trip first class tickets from departure to destination. If the passengers desire the use of the car at stop-over points en route, this is arranged on the payment of a slight additional charge to cover loading and unloading.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Nov. 29th., is "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism. Denounced." The Golden Text is:—"It is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve." (Matthew 4:10).

"Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand." (Ephesians 6:11-13).

"At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil. Clad in the panoply of Love, human hatred cannot reach you. The cement of a higher humanity will unite all interests in the one divinity." (Science and Health, page 571)

House of Commons Blunder

The British house of commons, house of lords and nearby buildings were destroyed in a great London fire in 1835. The architect of the new Palace of Westminster (as the house of parliament is known) made a big error in his calculations. As a result Britain's is the only parliament in the world where there are no seating accommodations for all the members. Only three-quarters of the number can be seated.

Some Minnows Heavy

Although young game fish are commonly called "minnows," technically speaking they are "fry." Minnows are a distinct kind of fishes with scaleless heads and soft fin rays. Usually minnows are small, but they may weigh as much as 50 pounds. Game fish young are properly called "fry," after the Latin "fricare," meaning a recently hatched brood. One-inch game fish are "fingerlings number one" and so on, depending on size, up to "yearlings."

HITLER YOUTH IN ROME

Five hundred "Hitler Youths" marching past Il Duce in the Piazza Venezia, Rome, whither they went to return a visit of 500 Italian students who visited Berlin recently. The drummer boys put plenty of action into their work as they pass the reviewing stand.

Italy in Ethiopia

The New York Herald Tribune said in a recent issue:

"The Ethiopian conquest has not yielded its fruits as yet. A year ago, Italian troops advanced into the African state, the conquest which has opened a new reservoir of raw materials; but there will hardly be any yield for a long time to come; new land for settlement has been gained but colonization on a large scale will not be possible before next year when the country is pacified and roads are built. The war has cost much. By the end of June, 13,410,000,000 lire has been issued (over one billion dollars). At least 5,000,000,000 lire will be needed for Ethiopia in the current fiscal year. The cost of war has increased the treasury's yearly interest burden by 889,000,000. The budget was balanced last spring but the first two months of the new fiscal year already show a deficit of two billion lire."

New Science To End War

Dr. Charles Francis Potter, who has rated for years as an extremely rationalistic scientific-minded humanist, has taken an interest in a woman whom he calls Evelyn. In Liberty Magazine for November 21st this New York divine describes most interestingly trick-proof tests by which he has proven to his own satisfaction that Evelyn can not only read minds but can describe the contents of a brief case that she has not seen before. He draws attention to the fact that Professor Julian S. Huxley, England's leading scientist, stated on September 10th., 1936, that such extra sensory activities might be developed until they were as commonly distributed as sav. musical or mathematical gifts are today.

Dr. Potter says, "If this power of hers became common, and we learned the law underlying it, and the technique of perfecting it, scientific research would be put on a new basis, many of the mysteries of religion should be explained, prophecy would be established, all our present means of communication, including radio, would be rendered obsolete, and war would be made impossible!"

Councils Encouraging Home Improvements

GRANBY B. OF T. DISCUSSES MOVE IN OTHER TOWNSHIPS

At a meeting of the Granby Board of Trade, the suggestion was made that the board recommend to the City Council that no increase in valuation of property repaired under the federal loan plan should be made until the term allowed to repay the loan should expire—says a report by the Leader Mail. Some controversy developed, and the Board could not agree to make the recommendation. However, many other municipalities have made such conditions (the Leader Mail continues). St. Lambert was one of the first to announce this agreement and one of the latest places to fall in line is Sherbrooke. The city fathers of Sherbrooke have gone a step further in that they have agreed that improvements made through funds obtained elsewhere than through the banks, as well as those made by the government plan, will be exempted from increased valuation. They hope to encourage property owners to beautify their premises and thereby improve the whole city, at the same time giving increased work to local workmen.

The Ottawa Spotlight Weekly Review of National Affairs Specially written for The Lachute Watchman By Wilfrid Eggleston

Meantime on December 1st. the royal commission to inquire into the best method of marketing Canadian wheat is scheduled to begin, although with the textile probe developing so much life at the tail end, Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon (commissioner for both inquiries) may not be ready to start immediately.

NEW PROBLEMS

The textile revelations have given the government another series of problems. What is to be done about companies that hide reserves from the taxing authorities? Should Canada adopt a similar method to that used in Britain and the United States and permit companies to pool their profits—average them—over a period of several years? What can be done about companies which make fat profits but cut wages meanwhile, or even close down at times because they fear future competition? The Liberal philosophy is one of non-intervention except so far as is imperative; on the other hand Mr. Mackenzie King has long held very advanced views about the need of industry taking in the worker as a shareholder and recipient of profits. It will be interesting to see the government's reaction. One probable effect will be a further reduction in textile duties.

When the Agricultural Marketing committee meets at Ottawa on December 14th to discuss sales of Canadian farm products abroad, the Ministers of Agriculture of the three prairie provinces will arrive prepared to discuss also the important matter of drought settlement and re-settlement. Ottawa feels that some areas in the semi-arid drought section of the prairie should be abandoned in a systematic way, the present settlers being assisted to move to more promising areas. But before any state-assisted movement takes place, it is desired to know all the important details about the soil, the local weather conditions, the present ownership of the land, the debts, and so forth.

At the December conference, it is likely that a committee will be struck to prepare information about the worst drought "pockets" in the west so that selective movement to better lands near-by can begin as soon as possible.

NOT KEEN ABOUT DIVORCES

The Senate is reported to be anxious to be excused from the duty of hearing petitions for divorce. All provinces except Quebec and Prince Edward Island—the latter having had only one divorce since Confederation—have divorce courts of their own. Quebec still follows the course of introducing a private bill in the Senate for each divorce petition, and a committee of the Upper Chamber deals with each case individually. The provincial courts are a much more satisfactory tribunal for the purpose, it is claimed.

Announcing THE FORD V-8 FOR 1937. The Quality Car in the Low-price Field

Two Engine Sizes - One Wheelbase
AND A NEW LOW PRICE

THE New Ford V-8 for 1937 is the most beautiful Ford car ever offered. It is built in only one size—with one standard of roomy comfort and modern appearance. But you may have either the improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum performance—or the new 60-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum economy. The smaller engine makes possible a lighter car—a lower priced car, with lower operating costs—and permits still more people to enjoy the smoothness, quietness and reliability of the V-type 8-cylinder engine.

Improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine—Drive it and watch the speedometer!

More than three million owners are now enjoying the superior performance of the Ford V-8 engine on the road. When you drive the 1937 Ford with the 85-horsepower V-8 engine, you are master of a power plant that gives everything you can possibly demand in speed and acceleration. Today it is a better engine than ever—with a better cooling system and new smoothness. Yet improved carburetion enables it to deliver its thrilling performance with unusually low gasoline consumption.

New 60-horsepower V-8 engine—Drive it and watch the fuel gauge! The new 60-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine is almost an exact replica of the 85—except for size, weight and power. It delivers V-8 smoothness and quietness—even at speeds up to 70 miles an hour—with gasoline mileage so high that it creates an entirely new standard of economy in modern motor car operation.

We invite you to see this new Ford car at your Ford dealer's showroom, and arrange to drive one equipped with the engine that fits your own needs.

FEATURES

APPEARANCE—A newly designed car. Head-lamps recessed in fender aprons. Modern lid-type hood hinged at the back. Larger luggage space. Spare tire enclosed within body. Completely new interiors. Slanting V-type windshield opens in all closed cars.

BRAKES—New Easy-Action Safety Brakes, of the cable and conduit control type. "The safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Self-energizing—car momentum is used to help apply the brakes. Tests show that about one-third less pedal pressure is required to stop the car.

BODY—Not an ounce of wood used for structural strength. Frame structure all steel, sheathed with steel panels—top, sides and floor. All are welded into a single steel unit of great strength.

COMFORT AND QUIET—A big, roomy car. Extra space in the body, not taken up by the engine under the hood. Comfort of the Centre-Pulse Ride further increased by smoother action of the long-tapering springs, with new pressure-lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine make this a quieter car.

Sees Repatriation of Wealthy French-Canadians

Clarence Gagnon, distinguished Quebec artist, who has been living in Paris for many years, believes that many French-Canadians will be leaving France and coming home for good, if conditions in that country do not vastly improve. This forecast also coincides with the tendency of wealthy French families to buy estates and properties in this province, which has been remarked in recent years.

Mr. Gagnon, who was born in Montreal, returned to the metropolis this week from Europe. He has done much of his landscape painting in Lapland, where he was fishing when he received the message calling him to Montreal. He was the illustrator of Louis Hémon's "Maria Chapdelaine", and is noted principally for his French-Canadian landscapes. He says that southern Sweden is strongly reminiscent of Quebec below the Ancient Capital. "You find rag rugs and double-decker stoves there, and scenery that is very like the lower St. Lawrence."

Not the least valuable bit of advice given by Leo Dolan, of the Canadian Travel Bureau, is that the distinctively Canadian and British atmosphere should be maintained in appeals to tourists—comments the Sault Ste. Marie Star.

United States visitors who come here on vacation want to see something different. They want to see the Mounted Police and the Union Jack. They can find enough "George Washington" hot dog stands and "Indiana" restaurants at home and would prefer to find here Indian names reminiscent of Hiawatha or of the local life.

They want to see Indian wigwams, birch-bark canoes, lumbermen's shirts and prospector's packs. They want a good place to sleep and good meals to eat and so on. But they want also an "atmosphere."

So Canadian people who cater to American tourists shouldn't ape American names and customs.

World Peace May Depend on Great Britain

There would be no general war in Europe if pugilistic dictators knew of a certainty that Great Britain would be against them. Such is the view of Wickham Steed of London, in an able article in the New York Times Magazine for November 15.

He admits that the present European situation is similar to that of 1914, but insists that it is not identical.

For one thing Germany had, in 1914, made sure that many Britons would be strongly neutral before she started to invade Belgium. That would not be true today.

Furthermore, Russia is more united and far better prepared. Mr. Steed says that German officers today—if not the people—know that they wouldn't begin to be a match for Russia; and Russia is for peace, so that she may go on undisturbed with her plans for the development of her own land.

Common sense would say that Britain and France could take care of Mussolini and his supporters.

Steed claims it was a great stroke for peace when Britain and France and the United States agreed recently on the rating gold should have in international exchange. It took a few bumps of conceit off the dictators' heads to realize that big moves could be made while ignoring dictators.

Russia's "relative invincibility" and Britain's new preparedness augur well for the peace of the world—to say nothing of what is going on to unify the western hemisphere.

Those Costly Canals

(—From the Brandon Daily Sun)

There are ten canals under the jurisdiction of the Dominion Government by means of which a total waterway of 1,846 miles has been opened for navigation, the actual mileage of the canals proper being 10. Expenditures on canals have exceeded 240 million dollars. The annual upkeep is enormous but, to give the farmers cheap grain transportation to the ocean outlets, there are no tolls to shipping. No farmers' political organization yet has passed a vote of thanks to Canadian taxpayers for this huge concession.

Lions Announce Benefit Night at Rex Theatre

Wednesday evening, Dec. 2, is a night which should be set aside for only one purpose—that of attending the Rex Theatre for your own enjoyment, and by so doing lending a helping hand to those in need throughout the community.

With the kind co-operation of Lion Angelo Fassio, manager of the Rex Theatre, the Lachute Lions Club are presenting Joe E. Brown in "Earthworm Tractors" for one night only. Several other features have been added which will make this an evening of "rib-cracking" fun from start to finish. Two complete shows will be given, starting at 7.30 and 9.15 p.m.

The net proceeds from this show will be devoted entirely to welfare work among needy families in the district, and your support will enable the Club to maintain the good work which they have well under way.

Through similar projects, which have received excellent support from the public, the Club has been able to provide hospital treatment for several cases of defective sight, to supply glasses, to distribute some 40 baskets of food to needy families at Christmas time, and to supply over 30 children with clothing to enable them to attend school. Many other emergency cases have been dealt with, and necessities are continually supplied where needed. Much suffering has been alleviated through this welfare work, and the Club wishes to extend hearty thanks to all those who have lent their support.

Tickets are now being sold for the show on Wednesday, Dec. 2nd. Be sure that you get yours, and don't forget the date.

The next regular Club meeting will be held on Thursday, Dec. 3rd., at which several new members will be installed. Further notice of time and place of meeting will be given in the regular Club Bulletin.

Trends, Forecasts in the Quebec Legislature be mooted as an ultimate solution.

Some of the less discouraged members believe that with a general upward trend in business, and money available next spring to lend to farmers under the provincial rural credits system adopted last session, there will be an easing of the tension as regards demands for jobs. These optimists, however, represent counties considerable distances from their own homes and offices. Montreal members who sit for nearby seats are having a specially difficult time with job-seekers.

PROSPECTS IN REGARD TO WINTER HIGHWAYS

Indicating a saner realization of the need for winter road maintenance in Quebec, the Granby Leader Mail presents the following editorial:

The usual anxiety as to whether we shall be shut off from the world by snow is in the air. Today the place which is shut away by blocked roads is under a great handicap. Open winter roads nowadays are an absolute necessity. The new government at Quebec appears to realize this and it is expected that some progress may be made in the future where the former government, to say the least, neglected to do what they should have done to open winter roads.

Three Rivers is hoping that the government will give enough assistance to assure open roads between that place and Montreal. In the event that the highway between Three Rivers and Montreal is kept open it will be the first time that the attempt has been made.

It is a recognized fact that under the previous government the Province of Quebec has lagged far behind all other provinces and states in the matter of winter roads.

European Capital in Quebec Real Estate

French francs, fleeing from war-scarred Europe, are being invested in real estate in Quebec, according to one observer.

Agents for several wealthy French families are in Montreal looking over urban properties with a view to investing funds, and they are also in search of farms that would provide a good place to sink cash. These families are following on the heels of Baron Louis Empain, Belgian multi-millionaire, who has already sunk large sums in the Laurentians and in the Oka district.

Reduced Fares Make Motorcoach Service Widely Popular

Another important rate reduction in motorcoach transportation is announced by Mr. R. E. Perry, Passenger Traffic Manager of the Provincial Transport Company of Montreal. The new round-trip four-day limit fare between Montreal and Boston is now effective and represents a 20 per cent reduction on the previous fares.

Motorcoach travel is continuing to show great increase in passenger carryings, and the Overnight Express Service, inaugurated on November 6th., which makes the run between Montreal and New York in twelve hours, has been booked to capacity daily.

It is stated by Mr. Perry that Quebec is becoming increasingly "Florida Minded", judging by enquiries originating in this Province for particulars of the new Miami Express, which covers the distance between Mont-

Nubell Gold Mines, Limited (No Personal Liability)

If you missed the opportunity offered a very few years ago of buying, for a few cents, shares in Lamaque Gold Mining Company Limited, now selling at eight dollars per share, Siscoe Mining Company now $4.50, Sullivan now $2.25, O'Brien now $9.10, you may still have this opportunity of reaping the profits you would have made by buying shares of the above Companies, by buying the treasury shares of Nubell Gold Mines, Limited, at 12½ cents per share...

WHY !

FIRST—Because Nubell is located on the very same gold belt as the above mentioned companies.

SECOND—Because certified surface assays run from seven to thirty-three dollars per ton.

THIRD—Because the diamond drill is now on the property hourly boring into the quartz veins to ascertain if the surface values continue downward, which would be contrary to Quebec mining experience if they did not, as the general history of mining development in this Province is that values increase at depth.

FOURTH—Because Nubell has for its Officers and Directors well and favorably known men who are making an honest effort to develop a mine and to this end are putting every dollar into the treasury less legitimate expenses which are kept at a minimum. These men have bought and paid for their shares in this Company and through their business experience and knowledge of mining development are eminently qualified to successfully carry on the affairs of the Company.

Remember you cannot buy shares of a producing gold mine for 12½ cents, there is naturally an element of speculation, but we believe on account of the facts cited above that the hazard is reduced to a minimum and the possibility of large profits is very favorable, particularly as our present price of 12½ cents per share is at least one half the price at which most initial offerings are made by Companies who have not reached the advanced diamond drilling stage that we have.

As an advance over this price may soon be made we would advise your acting at once if you desire to participate in this offering.

PROMINENT HOTELMAN DROPPED DEAD TODAY

Sudden death terminated a long, industrious career in the passing of Dolphis Duchesneau, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, Lachute, who dropped dead today shortly after taking his mid-day meal. Born in Fasset, he was 51 years of age, and with his two brothers, Wilfred and Seraphin, and one sister, Emma, all of whom predeceased him, had spent most of his years in the hotel business. Of a quiet and retiring disposition, he was highly respected, and although suffering great misfortune last winter when his hostelry was destroyed by fire, in his newly constructed hotel he was most accommodating and was building up a large clientele. A loving and devoted wife, formerly Miss Antoinette Raymond of Lachute, four boys, the oldest of whom is 17, and four girls, remain to mourn his loss together with two sisters, Mrs. Zoël Carrière of Lachute Mills, and Mrs. Jelifou of Fasset. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MISS JANE H. DUNBAR

The death of Miss Jane H. Dunbar, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Dunbar of Lachute, occurred on Monday, Nov. 16th., after an illness of only five days' duration. She was in her 83rd year.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. W. B. Rosborough at her home in the East Ward and interment was made in Lachute cemetery.

Miss Dunbar was a faithful member of the Lachute United Church and a life member of the Women's Missionary Society.

She leaves to mourn her loss one sister, Mrs. David Morrin, five nieces and three nephews — Mrs. Jones of Hamilton, Mrs. Andrew Forbes and Mrs. Cunningham of Montreal, Mrs. Secord and Mrs. Brisco of New York, George Ewan of Ottawa, Herbert Morrin and George Morrin of Lachute.

Anniversary of the Brownsburg United Church

The anniversary services of Brownsburg United Church will be held next Sunday in the morning and afternoon, with Rev. R. G. Burgoyne of Montreal as the preacher. Mr. Burgoyne is one of Montreal's outstanding clergymen, actively engaged in many fields of service wherein the Church is playing a large part, including that of social reform. His interest also in men's forums is very manifest. The Burgoyne Debating Club of the North End is evidence of that interest. Mr. Burgoyne, in addition to delivering the anniversary message at the morning service, will also address the Rally service in the afternoon, held under auspices of the Men's League. The general public are heartily invited. Owing to the service in the afternoon, the evening service will be withdrawn.

STORIED SPOTS FROM SEA TO SEA

By W. J. Banks, B.A.

Windsor by the Sea

Fort Edward Blockhouse, Windsor

In the early years of the eighteenth century the French settled at the site of historic Windsor, Nova Scotia. The place was called Plisquid, a corruption of an Indian term probably describing the peculiar flow of the tide. This phenomenal harbor could accommodate ocean steamers at flood, but during low tide is almost bare of water. The tide rushes in as a great "bore" or sheet of yellow foam, and the rise sometimes reaches fifty feet. But the hard-working Acadians two centuries ago built dykes to keep the sea from their wheat fields, and even exported grain to Boston.

Plisquid was an important center of activity during the long, unhappy years of struggle in Acadia. In 1747 the force under Coulon de Villiers, after their famous snow-shoe march, rested there on the eve of the surprise and slaughter of Colonel Noble's New Englanders at nearby Grande Pra. In the years following Cornwallis's founding of Halifax, when no British soldier was safe outside the forts, a company of Rangers marching to Plisquid were ambushed with heavy losses. In 1764 the name was changed to Windsor.

Fort Edward had been erected at Plisquid some years before, and remains of it are still visible. A blockhouse dating from 1750 survives as the last of many similar defensive works in the Maritimes. At the fort British officers made plans for the tragic expulsion of the settlers of the Minas district, immortalised in Longfellow's "Evangeline." The lovely town of Windsor has, indeed, other memories than those of war and sorrow. The oldest English college in Canada, King's, was established there in 1790.

HOMEWORK

"I just hate to have to do homework," Said Susie with a sigh. "I just wish there wasn't any But I s'pose I'll have to try . . . And multiply by nine times And divide again by ten, And if the answer is not right, I shall have to try again. I just wish that every teacher Would be given some to do Every night when they are tired —I know they would hate it too!"

THE HOWLER

Mr. Brisk-Wind was tossing the branches of the little white birch trees that stood on guard around Blackberry Hollow. He was trying very hard to stir up the leaves which he had tossed in the hollow earlier in the season and left there until he would feel like another frolic. But Mr. Jack Frost and the King of the Snowflakes had decided that this particular heap of leaves would stay right in the hollow; just the night before they had formed a partnership and sealed the top ones so tightly together that, try as he might, Mr. Brisk-Wind could not move them, although he whined around the heap all day.

As it grew dark Jack Frost clapped his mighty hands together with a smack and chuckled to himself because Mr. Brisk-Wind had not been able to undo his work, and as he clapped a band of Snowflake Fairies came trooping along and settled down on top of the heap to rest. Jack Frost chuckled again. Coming closer, he breathed lightly upon them, and when Mr. Brisk-Wind angrily told them to move on, they found that they could not. The howls of Mr. Brisk-Wind, when he saw what had happened, could be heard quite distinctly up on the hill and inside the house where Dot and Jack were sitting by the fire and tossing peanut shells into the flames. For a minute or two they stopped and listened to the howls of the angry Wind. Dot shivered and drew closer to the fireplace but Jack hurried over to the window and looked out.

"It's as black as ink outside, Uncle Ted," he said, stopping to lay his hand on his uncle's shoulder, "and the wind is a regular howler." His uncle looked up from the newspaper. "A howler is it, Jackie Boy? If you call that howling then you have never heard real howling." "I bet I have," said Jack, with a chuckle. "Where have you heard it?" his uncle questioned.

"I heard the Jones dog howling last night." "So did I," said Dot, "and it was such a horrid sound that I covered my head to stop myself from hearing it."

"You did quite right, Baby," her uncle said, crossing the room to take a chair by the fire. "One should always shut their ears to unpleasant sounds and words—especially if they are unkind. Shut your ears and do not listen."

"But Uncle Ted, how can I shut my ears when I am not in bed with the blankets to cover them?" asked Dot.

"The thing to do, girlie, is to move away from the speaker and not listen, or try to turn the conversation in some way, even if you have to ask them to look at your pretty new frock." There was a twinkle in her uncle's eyes. He had just noticed that Dot had a pretty dress that she had not worn before, and was smoothing it lovingly as she talked.

Dot chuckled. "You teaser, Uncle Ted," she cried. "My new dress is pretty, isn't it? But of course you knew all about it. It was in that parcel you brought me from Auntie Flo."

"Was it though?" her uncle asked, his eyes wide with astonishment. "How wise Auntie Flo was not to tell me it was there, else I might have tried to wear it on the journey."

The children laughed heartily at the thought of Uncle Ted trying to squeeze himself into Dot's dress, for Uncle was a big broad-shouldered man, bigger than their father.

Uncle Ted patted his knee. "Come, sit on my knee, Baby," he said coaxingly to Dot. "I am not a baby any more, Uncle Ted," she said, with a little toss of her head. "I was seven years old yesterday, quite too big to sit on your knee." "What!" cried Uncle Ted, "a birthday, and I was not told about it? I must certainly scold someone about this. Shall it be you, your mother, Jackie here or Auntie Flo?"

"Scold yourself for forgetting," laughed Dot. "Someone left a box of chocolates on the table beside my bed yesterday morning, without any name on the card—and I just guessed it was you, Uncle Ted."

"Now I wonder if I did," he replied, scratching his head as if in deep thought. "Of course you did," laughed Dot, "but Jack here is in a hurry to hear if you know of any other howlers."

"Howlers! Why I should say I do. There's the Calling Hare and the Coyote and the Mountain Lion. All these are howlers where I live, but the Coyote is the loudest howler of them all. In fact he is the King of Howlers. He is a sort of small wolf, a very swift runner, but lacking in the ferocity of the ordinary wolf. He howls all night long. Some Indians have christened the Coyote the Medicine Dog; they believe that he sings a regular song caught from the winds, the frogs, the bark of the prairie dog and the shrill of the cricket. In lonely places it is a terrific noise—but when you are comfortably warm at night seated by the fire, just as you and Jackie are, you do not mind this howler a bit more than you mind the howl of old Mr. Wind down in Blackberry Hollow."

Legend of the Stork

The legend of the stork is supposed to have originated in Germany where the stork is regarded with reverence. On many houses in that country wheels are provided as nesting places for these birds. In all probability the legend of the stork's connection with babies grew out of the sheer helplessness of the parents to explain satisfactorily to their other children where the baby came from, and it seemed quite natural to tell them that the tall white bird on the house, the guardian of the home, brought him.

ABANDONED

By Claude Weimer

You are crying, wee kitty. And only half-grown. Did they throw you away By the roadside alone?

You have nothing to sleep on But sticks and stones, And your lank body feels Like a bagful of bones.

You are hungry and chilly And afraid, little cat. Why did they throw you Away like that?

Do they ever kneel down By the bedside and pray For God not to throw them. Unwanted away?

(—Our Dumb Animals)

PUNCTUATION

Returning from school one afternoon, Bessie informed her mother that she had learned how to "puncshate."

"That is fine, dear," said the mother, "and how is it done?"

FORTUNATE IN OUR FRIENDS

There are two things I have discovered recently. One is that too much physical work and brain work do not go together. I have been doing more work than usual. Moving and settling is hard work and there are so many things that no one can do but yourself. The consequence is that I have been too tired to think and at times there did not seem to be an idea in my head. I found that there were times that I was too tired to read—a thing I did not think possible. Then I found that I needed the stimulation of outside people and affairs. It takes time to meet people and to become adjusted and I found without them I was rather flat. I think it was Bernard Shaw who said that he had no brains himself but he was very fortunate in his friends. Certainly coming in contact with people gives one the germ of an idea to work on. Here's hoping I pick up a few germs. Maybe I will be fortunate in my friends.

DIFFERENT BUSINESS METHODS

We have always had the impression that business in Nova Scotia was rather a slow, leisurely affair, somewhat after the manner of English business. We have lived in several cities but we have never before had people go out after business as they have done in Halifax. There has been no high pressure stuff, we have had every attention and courtesy but more firms have wanted our business and have said so than in any other place. It extends even to the large firms. One transferred our charge account from Toronto and the other offered us credit. Like the English, without appearing to hustle they get the business.

CREAMED FOODS

There is such a slight shade of difference between good cooking and bad. Two women may use the same materials and apparently the same methods but just a little care will make one's food immeasurably better than the other's. Cooking is not always a matter of expense. No place is this better illustrated than in creamed foods. One cook will make the most delectable dishes and the other will turn out a heavy stodgy mess. The cream sauce should be thoroughly cooked. If it is cooked just until the sauce is thickened, there will be a taste of raw starch in the flour, but if the cooking is continued until the starch is well cooked, the taste will be very different. Creamed food should not be served immediately after mixing as the flavours have not had time to blend. They should be cooked in the double boiler or in the oven to allow an opportunity for this blending. Most creamed dishes are improved by being covered with buttered crumbs and baked until the crumbs are browned. A pinch of sugar added to vegetable foods improves the flavour. Meats and fish should be salted before adding to the cream sauce. A dash of lemon juice will improve the meat and fish dishes. Chopped hard-cooked egg blends well with them and changes the flavour slightly. Creamed foods have so many uses that they should be one of the masterpieces in your repertoire.

CREAMED SALMON

1 small can salmon
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 hard cooked eggs
1 cup milk
dash of pepper
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
Make a cream sauce with the milk, butter, flour, salt and pepper. Drain salmon and remove skin and bones, season with salt, pepper and lemon juice. Add salmon and chopped eggs to cream sauce. Mix well, then taste to see if seasoned properly. Put in baking dish and cover with buttered crumbs. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven.

SQUASH PIE

3/4 cup brown sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon ginger
Add sugar and spices to the squash, then add eggs and milk. Pour into an uncooked pie shell and bake in a hot oven of 450 degrees for ten minutes then reduce the heat to 325 degrees and bake for a half hour.

Are You One of Those Women?

Are you one of those who think that to have satisfaction you must buy out of town? Women do most of the buying and they should think farther ahead than just the article in question. Buying at home means more work for somebody and the more work we can provide at home the less relief we will have to give. Buying is like dropping a stone into a pool. The effect gradually widens out over a large area. Women expect the home-town merchants to support everything that is done to make money for their organisations. How can they expect this support if they do not patronize those same merchants. It is not always possible to get what you want in town but usually your merchants can get what you want. It is up to the business man to do his part and get the required things quickly. Most of us who have bought in a small town have had the experience of having to wait endlessly for an article to be delivered. If that is the way business is done then the merchant is to blame and should not expect to get further orders. In these days of rapid communication and transportation, deliveries can be quickly made. If women can't get them from their home town merchants then they will buy some place else. Buy on Main Street. The next time your organization asks your merchants to buy tickets, donate prizes, or lend decorations, ask yourselves first if you are supporting home industries. —Jessie Allen Brown

I hear you are letting your little boy drive your car. Yes; he's still too young to be a trusted as a pedestrian.

ARE YOU ON THE BORDERLINE OF ACTUAL SICKNESS?

Constipation* Causes Discomfort, May Lead to More Serious Troubles

You may have days, perhaps even weeks, when you feel below par. Not sick enough to go to bed, but certainly not at your best. The trouble may be with your diet. Poorly balanced meals can affect your physical condition.

Meals which lack proper "bulk," for instance, may lead to common constipation. Continued neglect of this condition causes discomfort, may lead to headaches, poor appetite, listlessness.

Guard against common constipation.* Make sure the meals you eat contain plenty of "bulk." Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a generous source of effective "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, and gently cleanses the system.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN oftener. Serve ALL-BRAN either as a cereal, or cooked into muffins, breads, etc. Eat it regularly for regular habits.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk"

Eat Fish for Health

HINTS ON COOKING AND SERVING

Swift once wrote: "Fish should swim thrice . . . first it should swim in the seas (do you mind me?) then it should swim in butter, and at last sirrah, it should swim in good claret." Dispense with the claret, for this would not be in keeping with our effort to help the housewives of Canada stretch their food dollar to the limit. It has been our aim, however, to keep you in touch with seasonal foods . . . foods that will give you the biggest return for your dollar in health.

From an economic, as well as from a health standpoint, it is desirable that fish should have an important place on the bill-of-fare. For working people of all classes, those who work with their heads as well as those who work with their hands, fish is an economical source of energy; for children and young people it furnishes the materials that enable them to grow healthy and strong.

Fish is one of the important protein foods. It makes a pleasing variation of the daily diet and should be included at least twice a week in your menu. There is a wide variety to choose from: fresh or frozen, filleted, boneless, dried, canned, pickled, cured and smoked. Fish is very easy to digest.

Large fish are, as a rule, better when steamed or boiled; medium sized ones should be baked, or split open and broiled, and small ones should be fried. Whitefish, trout, mackerel, and small cod should be split down the back and broiled whole. If preferred, cut off the head and tail. Halibut and salmon should be cut into inch slices and turned often while broiling.

To clean fish: wipe with a cloth wet in salt water and dry on a fish towel. Season: oily fish need only salt and pepper, but dry meaty fish should be spread with oil before broiling. Use a double wire broiler greased well with salt pork rind. Put thickest edge of fish next to the middle of broiler and turn often. With split fish, sear the flesh side first and then turn.

The fire should be hot and clear. The time of cooking will vary with the thickness of fish. When ready to serve, loosen the fish from broiler on each side. Open broiler, slide fish on platter, flesh side uppermost. Spread with butter, salt and pepper. Garnish with butter cream and a border of potato balls. There are any number of sauces to be served, too, with scalloped fish, creamed, also baked fish, but these shall be dealt with in another article.

Here is a nice recipe for halibut steaks, Spanish style . . . very timely, don't you think? Choose a steak two inches thick, and weighing from two to four pounds, according to the size of your family. Sprinkle with salt on both sides, and let stand for one-half an hour, then drain and pat dry with absorbent paper. Put into a pan of suitable size, one-fourth of a cup of bacon fat, the juice of a large lemon (the Spanish add a cup of non-alcoholic sherry, but that was in the good old days and Canadian mothers I know would like it much better without). Let all heat together, then lay in the fish steak, cover closely, and allow barely to simmer, for twenty to thirty minutes or until done. The moment a fork can be inserted between flesh and bone, the fish is cooked. Serve with shoestring parsnips and paprika garnish.

QUICK SUPPER DISH

1 lb. can of salmon
1 1/2 cups crackers, crushed
1 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/6 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon butter
Heat milk, add crackers, salt, pepper, and then stir in flaked salmon. The addition of one well beaten egg improves this dish. Serve on toast with a slice of lemon or sprinkle finely chopped parsley over the top as a garnish.

GLANCE ABOUT and see how smart are the new coats of cloth trimmed with fur. A bright purple broadcloth coat has a collar and a gilet of otter, a fur which also makes three panel stoles at the front and sides of the skirt.

AWAY FROM THE FRONT and to the sides goes the trimming of a smart evening gown. It is of supple black velvet with interlaced wide bands of gold lame outlining the armholes and continuing down the sides of the short-trained skirt.

FOLLOWING THROUGH in the new silhouette are many of the new fur wraps. A wrap made of ermine is short and fitted in front and has a long swallow-tail in back. It has a high, upstanding collar and sleeves in one with the yoke.

A NEW NOTE in luxurious elegance is apparent in the alliance of fur and velvet for afternoon things. A suit of very dark crimson velvet has a wide shawl collar of silver fox caught by the belt at the high waistline. Heart shaped pockets of the fur mark the hipline of the jacket.

RIGHT UP marches color, for colorful hats are most important. A brimmed hat of violet-colored felt with a tapering, sectioned crown is trimmed with little violet and green feather lovebirds.

YOU CAN LIVE in a good knit frock right through the day. Light-weight knit in pale beige makes a one-piece frock with gored skirt detail emanating from the pockets. The wide belt is of pigskin.

A SHREWD MOVE is that of Molyneux, who makes an evening gown of lustrous white and then contrasts its sheen with folds of dark brown tulle around the décolletage. The fitted draped bodice is contrasted by a full skirt. A huge white rose is placed at the base of one shoulder strap, which, like the other, is of brown tulle.

MORE COLOR is seen in evening clothes than has been the case for many years. Color and splendor unite to create a gown of cerise and gold-flowered lame with a Tunisian belt of cerise velvet edged with gold embroidery. With it is worn a regal head-dress of cerise ostrich.

JUST RIGHT for a blustery day is a slim suit of fine black woolen over which is worn a short, boxy double-breasted coat of iron gray woolen. It has a notched collar of black astrakhan and fur buttons.

A few years ago all fish livers, except cod livers, were treated as so much waste. Nowadays, however, halibut and swordfish livers as well as those of the cod, find a ready market. The reason for the change? Science has found that all these livers as well as those of some other fish, are rich in vitamin content. The livers are used for making medicinal oil.

Confusion lies ahead for the man who lies.

NOTES AND COMMENT FROM BROWNSBURG

CAR SMASH.

Mr. Wm. McFaul of Lachute had a trying experience on the slippery road at Petrie's Cross on the Brownsburg Road, when his car got out of control early this week. Travelling along the center of the road, Mr. McFaul endeavoured to leave the car track to make way for another auto driven by Mr. John Mason. The slippery condition of the road prevented his control of the car, with the result that a collision became inevitable. Both cars were damaged.

ACCIDENT.

Mr. John Turney met with an unfortunate accident on the French Hill with his team and rig on Tuesday. The rig was turned right round on the slippery surface, throwing Mr. Turney to the ground. He received a severe cut in the head and extensive lacerations of the foot. He is as well as can be expected.

EPIDEMIC OF COLDS.

During the past month a rather severe outbreak of colds, mumps, etc., has been going the rounds and a large number of children have suffered. Schools have a low attendance and numerous older people have become affected.

BOWLING.

The bowling season is in full swing in Brownsburg and both bowling establishments are busy recording the scores. Mr. Donaldson's is well patronized. There are several small local leagues in progress, while at the C. I. L. Club the Telegraphic League is being played off, over a dozen teams being entered. Brownsburg "A" team is ahead over all Canadian entries in the first division, and the Canadian Safety Fuse Company's team is first in the second division. — Quite a good showing for a small community such as Brownsburg.

ROBBERIES.

Several small robberies and house-breakings have been reported of late and other forms of petty theft are becoming prevalent. Citizens have become aroused to the danger in their midst and co-operative action has been established, which should put an end to any further depredations.

MISSION.

A very successful mission has just closed at the Catholic Church, Brownsburg. Large crowds attended the early mass each morning and at night the devotions were densely crowded. The mission lasted one week.

Veterans' Jewels Presented to Local Oddfellows

The Independent Order of Oddfellows, Laurentian Lodge No. 14, held a Roll Call Night and presentation of veterans' jewels to four of their members on Tuesday evening last in McArthur's Hall. Rev. Bro. S. J. Pike, of Brownsburg United Church, gave an address on Oddfellowship.

The jewels were presented as follows: Grand Secretary G. H. Laing of Montreal, made the presentation to Past Grand Bro. F. J. E. Jordan; P. G. Bro. Rev. S. J. Pike, to Past Grand Bro. W. R. McFaul; Past Grand Bro. Lusty of Rodney, Ont., to Past Grand Bro. W. J. Deacon; Past Grand Bro. Rev. W. B. Rosborough to Past Grand Bro. A. A. Hills. These were all 25-year veterans' jewels.

After the ceremony of presentation the visitors and members assembled in the banquet hall where an enjoyable hour was spent, interspersed with short addresses.
