Nine Injured in Head-On Crash at St. Philippe

GRENVL. LADY SUFFERED WORST INJURIES

IN HAWKESBY HOSPITAL

At 5.30 o'clock Sunday evening a head-on collision occurred between two cars just west of St. Philippe on the Grenville-Lachute highway. Of the eleven people involved 9 were injured, some seriously.

Traffic Constable A. Leger, who investigated, stated that eight passengers occupied a car returning from Brownsburg to Grenville, and according to D. Clement, the driver, they met a car heading eastward shortly after joining the highway. Dust was thick and there was poor visibility, he said.

Mrs. Hughes Clement, 51, mother of the driver, had a broken jaw and all her teeth knocked out in the crash. Damien Clement, aged 24, suffered facial and internal injuries, while his brother, Hughes, was knocked unconscious and had severe internal injuries.

Mrs. Emilie Lemay, 28, had severe head and body injuries; Yolande Lemay, her 2-year-old daughter, had a double fracture of the right leg; Louise Lemay, her 3-year-old daughter, shock and cuts about face. The injured received first aid from Dr. F. McMartin of Lachute, and were later removed to Notre Dame Hospital, Hawkesbury. Pierrette Lemay and an infant, after being treated for minor cuts, were released. All occupants of the car are residents of Grenville.

The east-bound car was a machine rented from Camille Paquette, Gouin Blvd., and driven by Jos. Thibeau of Pont Viau. Thibeau and two other male occupants received minor injuries. Both cars were badly smashed.

County Women's Institutes Slow-Down Their Activities During Month of August

A number of the Institute branches took a holiday or merely held picnics for their August gatherings, but with a few it was "business as usual".

Brownsburg branch held a special business meeting and went on a jaunt to the Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Frontier had an interesting talk in the interests of Canadian Health from Dr. E. Lalonde, who spoke of the benefits derived from the operation of a County Health Unit. An afternoon tea and sale of home-cooking, also a cookie and health contest, were held the same day, which added much to the enjoyment and to the Institute funds.

Jerusalem - Bethany enjoyed an interesting talk by Mrs. L. Wilson of Brownsburg, on her visit to England and the Coronation, also about an Institute meeting she had attended in Frome, England. Their roll call was "Facts about Canada." Current Events were read by Mrs. W. Hume, and a basket of cheer was sent to a needy person.

Lakefield made plans for a picnic which was held successfully later.

Upper Lachute - East End had 18 members to enjoy their visit to Avers Mills, along their theme of Canadian Industries. A short business meeting preceded this visit and the party returned to Mrs. Stanley Smith's for refreshments.

Lachute, Morin Heights and Pioneer did not hold August meetings.

Miss Ellery a Winner at Ottawa Horse Show

The recent Central Canadian Exhibition at Ottawa was well attended by local horse fanciers. Among horse owners from Lachute was Miss C. M. Ellery, who was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. P. Ellery of San Francisco, California. Miss Ellery was fortunate in capturing several ribbons in the various Hackney events and crowned her efforts by winning first in the ladies' driving exhibition on Friday evening, with her fine Hackney, Miss Dainty.

NEW SWITCHBOARD WILL ELIMINATE HAND-CRANK MAGNETO IN LOCAL TELEPHONE EQUIPMENT

COMPANY MANAGER ANNOUNCES CHANGE TO BE COMPLETED EARLY NEXT YEAR

Announcement is made by Manager J. J. Morin of the Bell Telephone Company that early next year the local telephone system will be changed to common battery switchboard operation.

Interviewed this week, Mr. Morrin said, "The new switchboard, designed to replace the existing magneto equipment in the telephone exchange on Water Street, Lachute, is one of the latest products of the telephone laboratories, and has been found very efficient for towns of this size. It is large enough to take care of Lachute's normal telephone development for many years to come, and will provide speedy, dependable service under all operating conditions."

"With the common battery type of switchboard the battery supply, necessary to the operation of a telephone, is centralized in the telephone exchange, thereby eliminating the necessity for individual batteries in each telephone set. Thus smaller and improved telephone instruments are made possible. Lifting the receiver automatically signals the operator that a subscriber wishes to place a call, and a corresponding disconnect signal is given when the conversation is ended and the receiver replaced on the hook."

"This improvement over the old type of crank signal will, we feel, be greatly appreciated."

—In the items reprinted this week from 50 years ago, The Watchman records that the Bell Telephone Company were surveying this field in August 1887 with a view to establishing a local telephone exchange, the initial requirement being 25 subscribers. In the half-century that has elapsed since that time, the service has made great strides and improvements, and subscribers will welcome this further step in modernization announced by Mr. J. J. Morrin.

Laurentian Garageman Dead, Broke Neck Diving in Lac Ouimet, St. Jovite

Well known in the Laurentian section adjoining this county, Paul E. Grenon, proprietor of the Grenon Automobile Reg'd, St. Jovite and Ste. Agathe, died in Montreal on Monday from a broken neck, suffered when he hit bottom while diving in four feet of water at Lake Ouimet on Sunday afternoon.

Grenon, who had lived in the district all his life, was with a large number of swimmers at Bellevue Villa. At 5.30 o'clock he dived off a raft into four feet of water in a spot he knew very well. He hit bottom and broke his neck. He was partly paralyzed but managed to crawl out of the water alone.

Assistance was given him and he was taken home to St. Jovite, later being removed to the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Montreal, where he died.

Grenon was widely known to Montrealers who stopped at his garage and gas stations at Ste. Agathe or at St. Jovite. He was born in St. Faustin but had lived in St. Jovite for many years. He was 42 years of age.

EXTERNAL TRADE PROMISES BEST RECORD IN HISTORY --- REACTION, REAL DOMESTIC PROSPERITY

"The Ottawa Spotlight" By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, August 31—Canada's trade with other nations is rising to levels that compare with the best years in her history. It has always been observed that when Canada's external trade is active, domestic prosperity is most apparent. Hence it is a most encouraging sign to see the figures rise, month by month, promising at an early date, if all goes well, to set some new records in Canadian trade history. The figures just released show that we have recovered all the ground lost since the depression began, have now risen again to 1930 levels, and need only another ten per cent or so of further gain to top the best figures ever before recorded (say in 1921 and 1928-9).

The figures needed to describe Canada's external trade are of the astronomical order, and do not mean much to the layman. But for purposes of the record it may be said here that for the 12 months ended July 31st, the value of Canadian produce exported to other countries amounted to $1,128,507,860. For the previous 12 months exports had been $918,751,327. If you go back to the depth of the depression, say the fiscal year ended March 31st, 1933, you have domestic exports of about $475,000,000. Thus our sales abroad are running about 2½ times the value of four years ago.

Minister of Highways With Newspapermen Visited Road in North of Argenteuil

ACHIEVEMENTS SHOWN AND PLANS DISCUSSED

Although this year's North Shore works are only part of a five-year program, the Provincial Roads Department will have spent about $2,500,000 on road improvements in the Montreal district and in Argenteuil, Tererbonne, L'Assomption and Montcalm counties by the end of this year, according to Hon. F. J. Leduc, Minister of Roads, who inspected several projects under way with newspaper representatives last week.

ITINERARY INCLUDED MORIN HEIGHTS

The day's trip included a visit to outstanding improvements which have already been completed or will soon be terminated by the department.

Comprising a 250-mile trip, the inspection led the visitors to Cartierville, Roxboro, St. Jerome, Morin Heights, Ste. Marguerite, St. Sauveur, St. Donat, Rawdon, L'Epiphanie, L'Assomption, Repentigny, Pointe-aux-Trembles and Montreal.

"Notwithstanding improvements under completion, the Provincial Roads Department has more elaborate schemes for the next two or three years providing Premier Duplessis gives his approval," said Mr. Leduc.

PLANS FOR ROAD AT CARTIERVILLE

The inspection began with the short road between Decarie boulevard and Montee Cartierville, a section which has been a torment to motorists. The project calls for the building of

Town Employee Killed When Touched by Wire

A jury under Coroner Latour of St. Jerome returned a verdict of accidental death last Thursday in the case of Albert Tougas, 38, who was electrocuted when touched on the cheek by the end of a 2,200-volt wire. Tougas had been employed as an electrician by the town of Ste. Agathe for the last 10 years.

The accident happened while Tougas and Adelard Marier were working on a line near the top of a pole. When the tip of the wire touched Tougas, he slumped in his safety belt and remained suspended against the pole. Marier cried to two companions on the ground to have the power cut off and as soon as this was done he carried Tougas down the pole. Artificial respiration was practised for two hours, at the end of which time he was pronounced dead.

Body of Visiting Montrealese Is Recovered at Oka, Que.

A verdict of accidental death was rendered by Coroner Pare, of Oka, in the death of Wilfred Lauzon, young Montrealese, from drowning while swimming in the Lake of Two Mountains last Wednesday.

An uncle, Leon Lauzon, whom the victim was visiting at Oka, stated that the youth went for a swim, leaving in a rowboat which was later found adrift in the lake.

Beauty of Person and Soul

A beautiful person is the natural form of a beautiful soul. The mind builds its own house. The soul takes precedence of the body, and shapes the body to its own likeness. A vacant mind takes all the meaning out of the fairest face. A cold, selfish heart shrivels and distorts the best looks. A grovelling spirit takes all the dignity out of the figure and all the character out of the countenance. A cherished hatred transforms the most beautiful lineaments into an image of ugliness.

VILLAGE CHRONICLES -- EVENTS WHICH OCCURRED IN L'ORIGINAL DURING THE MIDDLE NINETIES

OUR HISTORICAL CONTRIBUTOR CROSSES THE OTTAWA TO PIONEER FIELDS

In response to a request from the editor, who has been very kind in printing my writings although at times they do not just coincide with his views on affairs generally—but who, like the late Lord Northcliffe, believes in the freedom of his columns to all contributors, whether he agrees with their articles or not—in return for these many kindnesses, I am giving the following sketch that happened so very long ago there are but few now living that can ratify my statements. I can think of but two who can, at the moment, viz. Mrs. Duffie of Calumet, Que., and Dr. C. M. Higginson of Hawkesbury, Ont. The rest have mostly gone on before and paid the bill we all owe, and must sooner or later pay, to Old Mother Nature.

The Macdonald government had been defeated, and the Hon. Alex. MacKenzie had become Premier of Canada. The Pacific Scandal had ceased to be a nine days' wonder, and the villagers of L'Original had become alive to the fact that they, with folks of other villages along the Ottawa, had been duped with mining and other shares. Their properties were actually mortgaged, and there was nothing left to do but settle down with hard work as soon as possible and redeem them from the different snarls into which they had fallen.

In consequence the community in general took on a somewhat busier appearance. New sawmills were built near the village, and the wheels of old mills began to revolve once more. Young lawyers opened offices and the signs of both the village newspapers were repainted. There was talk of a new storekeeper coming to town, while the old established merchants repaired and enlarged their granaries, for the new country promised a much increased crop in the future. The lumber trade, too, was commencing to move, and cordwood was in great demand—to fire the steamers that plied up and down the river and to feed the craft that carried lumber to Quebec and other ports for market. Montreal in those days was mostly heated with wood, so it was much in demand. A new Registry had been built, and the Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and Occidental Railway had been laid as far as Calumet, and from there was linked to L'Original by a small steamer called "The Cultivator", owned by Messrs. Lafabre and Clement Seguin.

On the wings of all this possible prosperity, a former Lachute boy, John Miller, for some years established as a merchant in L'Original village, made general repairs and put plate glass windows in the front of his store, much to its improvement and the general admiration of all, particularly to the bands of roving Indians who plied their flotillas of canoes up and down the river seeking the best markets for their furs. These dressed themselves in their blankets and feathers and came and stood before the large plate windows in order to see themselves in their beauty. Life size, as it was reflected at mid-day.

About this time, in company with a number of others, came a very nice, well educated family by the name of Burgen. The father and oldest brother were lawyers. They had passed at the bar in the Old Country and to comply with Canadian regulations they entered the office of one Butterfield, to fulfill their term of articles before entering into business for themselves. Meanwhile George, a younger member of the family (and like the rest of them a great favorite) and clever, took a position in Miller's store, and he was said to be a great drawing card in attracting new customers, French as well as English. So things went well with him there.

Meilleure, the hotel-keeper, had a sickly daughter, and the village doctor ordered goats' milk, in her diet, and forthwith her father bought a pair of goats. Billy and Nannie contended that goats in those days had the right of way of the village, and as they walked past Miller's store one day Billy saw his likeness in the plate glass window and, not liking it, instantly charged it and landed into the store, to the great dismay of all the clerks!—"What would Mr. Miller say when he returned from his dinner?" was the question on everybody's lips. But when the merchant returned he took the matter quite coolly, and remarking that this might as easily have happened to anybody else, he walked into his office. In a few minutes however he summoned George Burgen, who, by the way had proven himself an apt writer in letters to the local newspaper. "George", said Mr. Miller, "it is just too bad about my fine window—but can't you write something about it to the newspaper—something that will advertise the store and thus help defray the expense of replacing it." And forthwith the proprietor ordered another window, and George wrote the article for the newspaper—an article which proved such a success that the editor was asked to print it again in the next issue and 200 extra copies were struck. Mr. Miller, hearing of the extra copies, bought every one of them and mailed them far and near to folks he knew as an advertisement for Miller's Store; and nobody else could get a single copy.

Burgen became most popular. The family had taken up residence in the old stone house on the mile-square farm, a sort of hobgoblin hall and a spookie old place which was the scene of many tragedies in the way of seizures by the sheriff... But the worst was yet to come... The father and brother not doing so well in Butterfield's office, became discouraged and hanged themselves, the father on the old mile-square farm and the brother, reported to have been disappointed in love, hanging himself in one of the village out-buildings. The kindly village folk took up a subscription to transport the rest of the family back to the Old Country. And George went with them, to continue his writing there, until today he is quite a well-known English author. He has written several books about the Ottawa Valley, two of which I have read myself, namely "The Man from the Four Corners" and "The Shutters of Silence". It is said that, to spend a holiday, there is no place he likes better than old L'Original.

Leprosy Known in Egypt

as Early as in 4000 B. C.

Leprosy, curiously enough, to the Israelites, was more a moral than a physical affliction. Segregation was purely ceremonial. If the leper was fortunate enough to have his symptoms disappear a "sin offering" was prescribed by the Book for atonement. For a poor man, the holocaust usually consisted of two pigeons—one pigeon being killed over running water. Then, according to the law the sick man was sprinkled with the blood of the victim before he was allowed admittance into communion with the Children of the Promise.

Historically, states a writer in the Washington Post, leprosy was known to the Egyptians as early as 4000 B. C. In fact many authorities agree that it made its first dread appearance in the land of the Pharaohs. Pliny, the younger, writing of the spread of the disease in ancient Rome emphatically states that leprosy was unknown to the empire until the era of Pompey the Great, when it was imported from Egypt. Herodotus had another version linking leprosy with Peralia where, he writes, a popular belief was given wide credence linking the afflicted with those who had "sinned" against the sun.

Few countries have been free from the ravages of this ghastly disease. America is not an exception. According to well-known authorities leprosy predated the arrival of Columbus, its existence being proved by pieces of ancient pottery representing deformities suggestive of the disease.

AIR CHIEF MEETS TRANS-ATLANTIC PILOT

Captain A. S. Wilcockson, pilot of the Caledonia, the big Imperial Airways flying boat which made the initial trans-Atlantic survey flight, tells Philip G. Johnson, Vice-President in Charge of Operations, Trans-Canada Air Lines, how to fly the Atlantic. The famous pilot and the operating head of Canada's new air transport organization met recently at the Boucherville base, Montreal, on the occasion of the Caledonia's second test flight. Former President of United Air Lines, and one of the leaders in the development of aviation on the North American continent, Mr. Johnson was keenly interested in the mechanical details of the big flying boat. He went through the Caledonia under the guidance of its Captain.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 5th, is "Man." The Golden Text is:—"God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them." (Genesis 1: 27).

The following passages are selected from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—
"Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works."

and glorify your Father which is in heaven." (Matthew 5: 14-16).

"Man is the idea of Spirit; he reflects the beatific presence, illumining the universe with light. Man is deathless, spiritual. He is above sin or frailty. He does not cross the barriers of time into the vast forever of Life, but he coexists with God and the universe." (Science and Health, page 266).

PREMIER KING LAYS CORNER STONE OF NEW BANK OF CANADA BUILDING

The Right Hon. W. L. WAR . . . without declaration

There has never been a time when so many people, of all nations, have been so earnestly trying to prevent war. Yet as I write this there are two important wars now in progress, and the threat of war is far from menacing, all over the world, than it was on the very eve of the World War which started 23 years ago with Germany's invasion of Belgium.

In Spain the bloodiest, most bitter war of all time has been raging now for more than a year. Within the limited area of a single nation, more people have been killed in proportion to the population and the number of troops engaged, than in any war in all history. When the whole, true story of the Spanish war is told it will shock the world.

Japan and China are at war. There has been no formal declaration of war, but when one nation invades another's territory and is met with armed resistance, that looks like a real war. And the other nations are trying to find ways to keep from being dragged into these wars.

SPAIN . . . democracy

In Spain, the underlying cause of the war is a conflict of ideas. It has been breeding for years, since the Spanish people, led by part of the army, rose against the King and undertook to set up a republic. Then began a struggle for control of the government between the Communists and the advocates of a less radical concept of democracy.

The Communists got control of the government, and the anti-Communists started a rebellion. They got sympathy and material aid from other nations which wanted, at any price, to keep Communism out of Western Europe. The Fascist government of Italy and the Hitler government of Germany which is about the same sort of thing as Fascism, have lent soldiers and equipment to the revolutionists, while Communist Russia is giving similar aid to the Loyalists.

Each side claims to be fighting for democracy and the rights of man. I cannot see how any observer can reconcile the claims of either to democracy as we understand it, yet many eager, adventurous young Americans are fighting on the Communist side, and many have been killed.

CHINA . . . outside aid

Japan's excuse for occupying China is the danger of the spread of Communism from Russia into China. Back of that, however, is Japan's desire to find room for its surplus population, and its need of the resources of Chinese territory.

This war, too, has been breeding for years. It is giving the rest of the world even more concern than the affair in Spain. The Chinese outnumber the Japanese more than five to one, but they are badly organized and have not the fighting resources of the Japs. Some European nations and even America has been helping China reorganize her finances and obtain foreign credits. Their fear is that Russia may take a hand against Japan, which would give Germany a chance to attack Russia from the other side, and that would start another European war.

Germany wants to crush Communism, but she wants more to obtain land and resources for her excess population, and Russia has those.

SECURITY . . . British Empire

No nation is justified in feeling itself secure against war, in the present stage of civilization. We have not succeeded very well in bringing up our boys to abhor war. Young Americans are fighting in Spain for an idea which appeals to them, or for the excitement of fighting. I hear of hundreds of American boys going to China to get in on the war against Japan.

The League of Nations has proved ineffective in averting war. It did nothing to stop one of its members, Italy, from gobbling up another member, Ethiopia. What with Italy trying to rebuild the old Roman Empire, Germany and Japan trying to gain more territory, Russia seeking to impose its Communist philosophy on the rest of the world, and a dozen smaller nations ready to fly at each others' throats, I can't believe that any country will be able to stand aloof when serious trouble starts.

My own personal notion is

IMPORTS RISING ALSO

Imports are, of course, keeping pace pretty well with exports. In the early days of recovery, there was a tendency of imports to lag behind exports, adding to the "favorable balance", but from now on the opposite can be expected for a while.

Also for the record, it may be mentioned that export trade in July 1937 was over $100,000,000 as compared with $85,000,000 in the same month of 1936; that trade with the United States for the first half of the year stood at $475,000,000 as compared with $349,500,000; and with the United Kingdom at $246,000,000 as compared with $216,000,000—the former figure being the best since 1929.

If you examine the reasons for this remarkable upturn in Canadian external trade—the most remarkable in history, if you except the abnormal early war years, when prices skyrocketed, and raw materials were in desperate demand by Europe—you find that there are four main reasons for it:

1. The revival of prosperity among Canada's best customers, and consequently an improvement in demand for Canadian exports.
2. The improvement in prices which has resulted from this improved demand.
3. The beneficial effect of a series of recent trade agreements and negotiations conducted by the Dominion Government.
4. The re-armament of a number of leading nations, and the consequent demand for raw materials and foods.

It is not easy to arrange these four causes in their order of importance; they have all contributed largely. The first three give promise of continuing; the fourth is not so easily appraised. When re-armament programs are complete (if that that the future of the world depends upon the English speaking nations, and that the tighter America ties the bonds of friendship with the British Empire, the better off she and the world will be.

What's Goin' On

Many papers and magazines collect unusual "doings" in the news. Some good ones appeared in The Digest last week. We quote with Maywood Syndicate permission:

Two tons of cement blocks, bearing the foot and hand prints of movie stars, were insured for $10,000 and shipped from Hollywood to Chicago to decorate a theatre.

Young business men in Little Rock, Arkansas, formed a Society for the Booming of Commercial Advertisements in Motion Picture Theatres.

A six-car traffic accident occurred near Akron, Ohio, when a passenger car collided with a transport truck bearing four new automobiles to dealers.

A Detroit newspaper carried word of a beach where swimmers who disregard life-guards' warnings are given "tickets."

And thieves, smashing the show window of a New York bank, stole a teapot full of pennies, displayed to advertise thrift and the safety of banks.

rise to high levels again for another year or 18 months. In the current crop year, one month of which has gone, it is improbable that Canada will export more than 75 million bushels of wheat. She has shipped over 350 million in a year.

"Safest Country in the World"?

"I can't recall once in my life having read an article or heard a speech that criticized Canada," said Dr. W. T. Ellis of Philadelphia, in addressing the Gananoque, Ontario, Rotary Club last week.

The speaker also affirmed, according to the Gananoque Reporter, that Canada has no defense problem. He stated it as his belief that "The U. S., to say nothing of Great Britain, would not permit any enemy over-running the country because of their interest in Canada's well-being as well as their own. The U.S. would block an enemy to her fullest extent. Canada has the unique distinction of being the safest country in the world."

Labor Day, 1937

The importance of Labor is recognized now as never before.

Man has always known that it took two things to produce goods; money for buildings, equipment, and raw materials; and labor to turn out a finished product.

Fifty-years ago, if a man decided to manufacture a certain article, he took money that he had for years been saving from his own labor, procured a building and equipment, and got a few neighbors to help him manufacture a product. It was his enterprise. If his business grew he would attract laborers from far and wide. If he wanted to, he could fire one of "his men" on slight provocation, regardless of how far he had journeyed to work for him.

The butcher, the baker, the clothier and landlord held the bag for the living expenses of this cast-away—or he could go to the poor house. It was just his hard luck—and theirs.

Of late the situation has been a little different. A man may decide to start a manufacturing business. He may incorporate and sell stock to get capital, for buildings, equipment and raw materials. This money comes from a thousand people's savings. They will not run the business, but executives and legal talent represent their interests. Again, men are gathered for their experience, ability and energy. These elements are just as necessary to the finished product as the dollars of the thousand stockholders. But their interests would not necessarily be represented by clever "executives" or legal talent.

Out of this unfair situation unions were born.

Since industries have tended to link up in trusts and chains, unions have done likewise, until there is actually some danger to the public welfare of there being a super-union-trust, so to speak.

Some say that we have little to fear along this line, that union officials like good pay and know they can't get it unless men of brains, who can command good salaries, should continue to operate. Enlightened self-interest should deter them from harassing industry to the point where manufacturers can no longer operate successfully and employ dues-paying members. In other words, Unionism will not kill the ganders that fertilize the golden eggs.

—Labor Day, 1937, finds the more intelligent representatives of both capital and labor appreciating each others' rights and importance as never before. It remains now for both factions to keep in mind — that the public also has its rights.

Papers Should Be Appreciated

"I have seen several of your newspapers in Alberta, and they are of a very high standard." The author of these words should know, as he is himself the editor of a paper in Boone, Iowa. He also said, "The room for improvement that I can see in the Alberta press, is a recognition by the public of its vital importance to the community, and the necessity for its maintenance."

—This need is not confined to Alberta. Many an editor in Eastern Canada shares the conviction that his paper might be better appreciated as a community medium . . . and this quite apart from the publisher's pocketbook.

No Puddle-Jumpers in Moscow

Old cars are being banished from the streets of Moscow, Russia. The latest model automobiles manufactured in government plants are rapidly replacing them on newly widened boulevards.

Certain early models, including open American flivvers, will not be allowed on the streets of the Soviet capital, according to a decree recently issued. Cars turned in by private owners are officially appraised to determine the difference in cost between them and the new M-I model, and the municipal bank then advances the owner State credit, extended for one or two years, to cover payment of this difference. At the same time the State Insurance Trust insures the new car.

and comfortable roads will have been built, he stated.

COSTS LOW

While resurfacing has been completed in the vicinity of St. Sauveur at an approximate cost of $35,000, the St. Donat district highway is being improved at the low cost of $15,000. "This is another example where less money is spent but better work is done", Mr. Leduc said.

"Of course, the population of the province must realize that we have been in office for just one year and that, although we have worked practically night and day, we have been unable to meet with all demands. But just give us three or four more years and the job will be well done", Mr. Leduc stated as he turned to take another photograph of what his Department is doing this year.

of collapse when he reached them. He assisted them to safety.

SUFFERED FROM SMOKE

Although they escaped burns and other injury, the Champagne family suffered considerably from the effects of the smoke, and were given assistance by neighbors whom Larose summoned after he had seen them to safety.

The fire is believed to have started from spontaneous combustion in a mow of 30 tons of hay which had been stored away in a barn partly damp on account of the prolonged wet weather during the haying season. From this building the fire spread to the house.

Unaware of their danger, Mrs. Champagne and her four children were still sleeping in an upstairs room long after the fire was well under way. Discovery of the fire and Larose's prompt action was effected none too soon, for only a few minutes later the flames had spread throughout the house.

BUCKET BRIGADE FORMED

The scene being outside the reach of Grenville water works, the only source of water was a well near the scene of the fire. Neighbors formed a bucket brigade but so intense was the heat that the planking over the well caught fire, the pump falling into the water. Nothing then prevented the fire from spreading to another barn, destroying it completely with all its contents. A dairy house with all separating equipment also fell a prey to the flames.

The only things saved were a few kitchen chairs from the house. A strong west wind for a time threatened the outbuildings of Athur Larose, but the fire burned itself out before any further damage was done.

were Mrs. Lecorre, Paul Richer of St. Michel, driver of the car, and a brother of Mrs. Lecorre, Joseph Malackiet of Brownsburg, and two other Lecorre children. Richer suffered fractured ribs, and the others cuts and bruises.

Traffic Officer Albert Leger of Brownsburg was a witness of the accident. He said that he had pursued Richer in another car, and had just passed the auto when it appeared as if the driver applied the brakes suddenly, causing the car to leave the road. It crashed into a tree stump and was wrecked, the occupants being piled up in the debris. Leger himself narrowly escaped injury; while passing the car, he said, he saw another auto approaching around the bend of the road, and he swerved into the ditch to avoid further accident.

The officer and other motorists freed the victims from the

Young County Couple Wedded Saturday Evening

HARTLEY — ARMSTRONG

The marriage of Doris Lila, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Armstrong, of Lachute Road, to Mr. William Ernest Hartley, son of the late Sidney O. Hartley, and of Mrs. S. O. Hartley, of Cushing, was solemnized on Saturday evening, at seven o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiating. Baskets of asters, gladioli, phlox, and zinnias and other summer flowers were arranged in decoration of the house. The wedding music was played by the bride's youngest sister, Miss Ruth Armstrong. Both bride and groom were unattended.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a gown of navy blue sheer crepe over satin with a hat of a matching shade in fur felt, with white kid gloves and navy blue gabardine shoes, and a corsage bouquet of white gardenias. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Hartley and his bride left later by motor for Toronto, Niagara and other points, the latter wearing for travelling a navy blue Poiret twill coat over her bridal costume and carrying a navy blue gabardine purse. They will reside in Cushing. The out-of-town guests included Mrs. H. G. Young, of Quebec; Miss Eileen Morrow of Grenville, and Mr. Allister Innis of Montreal.

Married Recently in Montreal

DONALDSON — SMITH

A very pretty and quiet wedding took place Thursday evening, Aug. 26, at 8 p.m., when Dorothy Kathy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smith, of 2174 St. Luke Street, Montreal, was united in marriage to Mr. Stanley Allen Donaldson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Donaldson of Chateaubeno, Que.

The wedding took place in the large living room, which was decorated with gladioli and zinnias. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a gown of forget-me-not blue taffeta made in graceful Princess lines with large puff sleeves extending to the elbow and then tapering to the wrist in tight fitting lines. She wore a Colonial bonnet to match, and carried a large bouquet of Tullipman roses. The bride's attendant was Mrs. Robert Gibbs as matron of honour, who wore a blue organza dress with corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Smith, the bride's mother, was gowned in navy blue crepe-de-chine with overjacket of cut velvet, wearing a corsage of pink gladioli. Mr. Robert Gibbs acted as best man.

The bride's costume for travelling was of brown woolen crepe with a fawn cape. Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson left by train for Ottawa.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. Gwynne of Hawkesbury, Ont., and Mr. John Douglas of Chateaubeno, Que.

Former Lachute Lady Dead

MRS. PETER REID

The death of Mrs. Peter Reid, formerly Isabelle Loynachan, a native of this town, occurred at the home of her son, J. Harold Reid, in Montreal last Sunday.

Mrs. Reid had spent the greater part of her life in Montreal, and was deeply interested in church, missionary, temperance and social work.

Funeral service was held on Tuesday afternoon in the D. A. Collins chapel, the remains being taken to Ormstown for interment.

Mrs. J. B. Taylor of St. Andrews East is a surviving sister.

Richer admitted to the jury empanelled by Dr. Mason that he was travelling between 60 and 65 miles an hour, but had slowed down to 45 at the time of the accident when requested by Jos. Malackiet, one of his passengers.

The jury's verdict read: "Louise Lecorre came to her death in a motor accident on the Brownsburg road near Lachute on the evening of August 26th, and we feel that there is no criminal intent although the driver was driving at an excessive speed, and losing control of his car, ran off the road into a stump, in which accident the child Louise Lecorre had her skull broken."

Hilarious Scenes at Exhibition Grounds When Lions Club Beat Ayers Limited at "Donkey Baseball"

DETERMINATION WINS THE DAY—ATHLETIC SKILL MINOR FACTOR IN UNIQUE SET-TO

The proverbial stubbornness of a donkey became forcibly apparent to the participants in the Donkey Baseball Match played at Lachute Exhibition Grounds, last evening.

Notwithstanding the rain which fell about 7 o'clock, and heavy threatening clouds, the players, headed by the Lachute Band, formed up at Blair's Garage and the procession started down Main Street with a good natured crowd following the donkey parade, the players being mounted on their steeds in readiness for the fray.

The game was sponsored by members of the Lachute Lions Club—who take this opportunity of expressing hearty thanks to all who contributed so generously to the success of their venture.

The ticket-sellers reported

1027 sales, aggregating $222, which was remarkably good in consideration of the break in the weather.

As promised by the representative of the Baseball Company the game afforded lots of fun, and the crowd was kept in high spirits as the players went seriously to work, the result being 5 games to 2 in favor of the Lions Club against Ayers Ltd.

With few exceptions the animals proved adept in unseating their riders, but the honors for firm tenacity were accorded to Ald. K. McQuat, Bobby Miller, J. Rist and G. Valois.

It is reported today the pharmacies are doing a rush business in air cushions and rubbing alcohol!

Mayor Dr. Alex. Rodrigue pitched the first ball, and the two teams comprised the following players:

"Please Yourself" Club Play Home and Visiting Games

ST. CANUT AND LACHINE PLAYERS VISIT HERE

A full week of activities is reported at the "Please Yourself" tennis courts as the season draws to its closing stages.

On Wednesday evening of last week the St. Canut tennis club were visitors here, when the home players were victorious in 3 sets to 2.

The annual "Crazy Match" was a feature of last Friday's program, when the doubles, comprising Bill McFaul, Harold Damant vs. Dan Tremblay, Jos. Dumais, also the referee, Romeo Legault, appeared on the courts in costume and played a brand of tennis in keeping with the theme of the event. As a preliminary, a very fine exhibition game was put on by the Pitcairn brothers, of St. Andrews, playing against Jno. Cheley and Dr. F. McMartin of the local club.

On Tuesday evening the Dixie Club of Lachine paid a visit here, and were victors in 3 sets to 2. Mr. Basham opposed Jno. Cheley in a fine singles contest, Mr. Cheley losing his first game this season in a 5-7 count. . . . Dr. McMartin won against his visiting opponent, Mr. Smith. . . . An excellent ladies' doubles, engagement was witnessed, Misses Margo Cheley and Peggy Beveridge contesting against Mrs. Basham and Mrs. Wood; the Lachute players took the honors with 6 sets to 3.

Last evening the Lachute players visited Riordon Tennis Club at Hawkesbury, the score being even, 3 sets to 3.

a highway starting from Decarie boulevard and passing west of Ville St. Laurent, which will avoid two tramway tracks and eliminate two acute angles.

As to the Cartierville stretch between the present modern route and Gouin boulevard, the Provincial Government is waiting for Montreal's decision. Mr. Leduc has agreed to build the road on condition that the City expropriates the land.

PLESSIS-BELAIR BRIDGE, TO STE. THERESE AND ST. JEROME

Newspapermen then viewed the $300,000 improvement undertaken in Terrebonne. This money will provide for a 15-mile stretch between Plessis-Belair Bridge and St. Jerome, the new highway to avoid Ste. Therese and several bad curves. The new speedway will also eliminate two railway level crossings, as two new viaducts are to be built at an approximate cost of $200,000.

Another improvement sought for years, but constantly refused by the former administration, in Mr. Leduc's opinion, is the Morin Heights - 16 Island Lake project. The present work is conducted along a distance of 12 miles and will cost about $100,000. In the Minister's opinion, this cost is extremely low and compares favorably with similar construction in Canada or the United States.

LAURENTIAN STRETCH TO STE. MARGUERITE

Mr. Leduc was proud to show to newspapermen the St. Jerome - Ste. Marguerite highway, about 15 miles. "This is just one instance where we will link all more important centres to one another. Long detours had to be followed by motorists to travel from one municipality to another in the Laurentians. In a few years from now, pleasant

Canadian Pacific New Freight Service

Montreal freight shippers are enjoying the fastest pick-up and delivery service in Canada since the inauguration of the Canadian Pacific Railway's new Cartage Department for the pick-up and delivery of railway freight.

Ninety-two brand new trucks, of a heavy type, from two to five tons, were bought especially for this new Canadian experiment, which is designed to handle freight with all the speed and efficiency of express shipments. Built for local delivery and pick-up of freight, in carload lots or less, the 92 trucks form a rapid and steady stream of communication between the Canadian Pacific freight sheds in Montreal and the city's shippers. By eliminating much of the handling of freight and installing the Canadian Pacific motto for fast service into this end of freight traffic, the new trucks are speeding up the service to a degree previously unknown. Although this service has also been introduced to Ottawa and Sherbrooke, Montreal will be the main testing grounds.

Illustrations above show a section of the line of trucks at Place Viger freight sheds in Montreal, two of the trucks being loaded from the warehouse, and a loaded truck on its way to the door of some business house.

Grants for Colonization Roads in Argentine Decided Upon

During the past week Mr. J. Rindeau, C.E., from the Department of Colonization, made a tour of inspection over all the roads of this constituency on which grants had been solicited, and the recommendations have now been made as to amounts.

We are informed by Mr. Geo. Héon, who accompanied Mr. Rindeau on his tour, that the grants now total $42,700.00, an amount unprecedented in the history of Argentine.

A list of the grants and roads

High School Opening

Lachute High School will reopen on Tuesday, September 7. The closing exercises and prize giving will be held in the Lachute United Church in the evening at 8 p.m. It is hoped that all parents will attend and thus show a co-operative spirit, invaluable in the efforts of the school staff and in a wholesome relationship between teacher and pupil.

Editor, The Watchman

Dear Sir:

May I crave the expression of a word in your valuable paper. Having lost my daughter in the motor accident recently, it did my heart good to receive letters of sympathy from Sir Geo. Perley, Mr. Geo. Héon and other government representatives in this county—but it is keenly disappointing to note that the political parties and factions which I have so loyally supported in the past completely ignored my loss.

Thanking you, sir, and all who sympathized in my bereavement,
Henri Lecorre.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SELF-TIMERS

You can take a picture of the family picnic and be in it yourself by using a self timer.

THE question is often asked, "Is there any way that I can take a snapshot of my friends and include myself in the picture?"

There certainly is a way and a simple one. Use a self timer.

A self timer is a most fascinating little gadget and almost human in its operation. It is an inexpensive accessory that fits over the metal button, or plunger, at the end of the cable release, and when you press to take a snapshot with a folding camera. It cannot, however, be used unless the camera is fitted with a cable release.

Here is how it works. First you locate your subject in the finder and at the same time plan the space you will occupy when you step into the picture.

Suppose you want to take a picture of a group on a picnic or at the beach. You will have to have the camera on a tripod, table or something solid. Locate the group in the finder—and be sure you can see the spot you will occupy or you may be among those missing when the prints are returned.

When the lens aperture is set at the proper opening with the correct shutter speed, the same as if you were going to snap the picture yourself, set the self timer for the length of time it would take you to get to your place in the group. Slip the self timer over the button at the end of the cable release and press the little release lever on the timer. It starts buzzing away, you rejoin the group and then—click—it has taken the picture and you're in it.

You can purchase a self timer attachment from almost any store that sells photographic supplies. They are not expensive and last a lifetime.

Some cameras have self timers incorporated in the shutter construction, so if you have this type of camera and have never used the self timer you have missed a lot of fun and picture taking opportunities.

The difficulty of feeding hot or warm liquids to invalids in a sickroom can easily be overcome by using transparent drinking straws which will not collapse in hot fluids. These same straws, brightly colored, will tempt any child to drink his milk without a murmur of protest.

A salesman taking his bride South on their honeymoon, visited an hotel where they boasted of their fine honey.

"Sambo," he asked the colored waiter, "where's my honey?"

LAZY CHILD'S COMPLAINT

We have a new, new teacher, And I dislike her so Because she makes us stand each day in a straight and solemn row. Then she inspects our fingers To see if they are clean, And if they're not she makes us wash. I think she's dreadful mean! She makes us bend and touch our toes And she's forever teaching diet, This living right is such a task it's worse than keeping quiet!

UNDER AN UMBRELLA

As Captain Rolfe finished telling his story of the great storm Ted looked thoughtfully at the sea, then said, "After hearing your story, Captain Rolfe, I do not wonder that you said this morning the sea was only shaking its whiskers at us, but I think I should find it rough enough for me if I were out in a boat."

"That reminds me!" said Captain Rolfe. "You told me this morning that you had never had a sail in a boat. How about your aunt and yourself coming for one now?"

"But-but," said Ted, a little fearfully, "the boat is out of water, Captain Rolfe."

"Not now, laddie. See, the tide is creeping in, and it is just about the right time to go. We can sail around where the water is not too deep for a while, and yet be back as the tide is turning again."

Ted felt quite shivery at the thought of going on the sea in a small boat, yet pleasantly excited about it as well, and was glad to hear his aunt say that she would be pleased to go.

The Captain produced a pair of light rubber boots for her to wear to the boat, as of course she was not wearing beach sandals like Ted.

What an enjoyable boat ride they had. The Captain took them to the Cave of the Winds as he called it, and they stayed for some time listening to the queer sounds which were caused by the echoing of the wind through wide passages in the rocks. The queer, creepy sounds made Ted's skin prickle, but his Aunt Effie seemed to enjoy listening to them.

From there they went to Sunset Point, where the sun appeared to be sitting on a huge grey rock that jutted out into the sea.

"The sun is resting! The sun is resting!" Ted called excitedly, but almost before he had finished speaking it dropped from sight behind the rock, leaving behind it streamers of crimson and gold light.

"How beautiful," said Miss Elliott. "Captain Rolfe, that sight alone is worth coming all this way to see. I shall never forget it, I am sure."

"It is beautiful, Miss," replied the Captain. "I often come out here in the evening all by myself, just to look at it. It reminds me," the Captain said rather shyly, "of a something I used to hear my mother sing when I was a little shaver."

"Won't you tell us what it was your mother sang?" asked Miss Elliott softly, as she saw the Captain hesitate and grow rather red-faced.

"I have never mentioned this to anyone before, Miss, but all my life when I saw anything very beautiful in nature I thought of my mother's song, and I like to think that those words kept me from doing wrong when I was tempted to do as others were doing. I don't mean that I have been that good, Miss, but there are lots of evil things in this world that I never had anything to do with, all on account of my mother."

"Did you ever see her again, Captain Rolfe, after you ran away?" asked Ted.

"I am glad to say that I did, Ted, two or three times. But not until after I got grown up and big enough not to be afraid to go home. When I grew up I realized that, no matter how bad a lad I had been my mother would always be glad to see me."

"And your father too?" Ted asked, for he loved his father dearly and wanted to feel that mothers and fathers were alike in their love for their children.

Helping Miss Elliott back to shore from where they had left the boat, Captain Rolfe was too busy to answer at first, and when he did he simply said "Fathers love us little lads just as much as our mothers do, Ted, but they like to see us prove ourselves before they show it too much."

"Captain Rolfe," Miss Elliott said softly, "Won't you tell us what your mother sang that was a memory to you all through the years?"

Rather gruffly Captain Rolfe repeated the words—
"If God has made this world so fair
Where sin and death abound,
How beautiful beyond compare
Will Paradise be found."

Stitching a Heart

The following account of advanced surgery is reported in the British News Review:

Almost a year ago 23-year-old Harold Aldridge was rushed to St. James' Hospital, Balham, London, in a state of collapse. Some 20 minutes earlier he had been involved in a fight and stabbed. Diagnosing a perforated wound of the heart, surgeons decided to operate without delay.

Opening the lung covering they found a wound in the envelope which encloses the heart. When this was opened, it was found to be so full of blood that the heart itself could not be seen.

Inserting his hand in the cavity one surgeon placed it under the heart and without interrupting its beating, gently levered it out. While he held the still-pulsing organ in his hand, the other deftly sewed up a three-quarter inch wound, preventing further loss of blood. Dropping the heart back into its envelope the surgeons were dismayed to see it again fill up with blood.

Once more the heart was hooked out, another wound discovered and repaired. A blood transfusion was then given, and though for some weeks Aldridge's condition was critical, he finally rallied and made a complete recovery.

In his observations on the operation, Dr. Gissane remarked that Aldridge's heart had felt similar to a lively fish being played at the end of a line. Proudly he drove his remarkable patient about with him, exhibited him in nearly every London hospital.

Two months ago Aldridge decided to marry, was once more carefully examined and found 100 percent fit.

For his presentation tonight, Mr. McCowan will enter a hitherto unexplored realm of Nature—that of criminology, and will tell, under the title of "Pickpockets", a story of noxious and bothersome weeds which rob Canadian farmers of many a dollar and filch numerous leisure hours from the suburban gardener.

HE ATE ALL-BRAN AND IMPROVED WONDERFULLY

Read this voluntary letter: "In regard to your ALL-BRAN, it is marked on the package 'best as a cereal, best for cooking,' and, as far as I am concerned, you might add 'best for health.' Since I have begun to eat it, I have improved wonderfully."—Mr. H. E. Poole (address on request).

ALL-BRAN corrects common constipation, due to meals low in "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs water, and forms a soft mass, gently sponging out the system.

ALL-BRAN also supplies Vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Isn't this food better than taking weakening pills and drugs?

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily, either as a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes. In chronic cases, with each meal. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London.

SEPTEMBER

September is a grand month. Warm sunny days and cool nights. The Spring season is a lovely one but as a rule energy is at a low ebb and it is more difficult to accomplish things. When September comes we are refreshed after the summer season and are full of energy and ambition. At least, I am. I always want to start things in the Fall. Even the smells in September are good. Do you know anything that smells better than hot chili-sauce? As you go along the streets you can almost tell the kind of pickles the women are making by the whiffs you get in passing. And the smell of burning leaves. Maybe it is a hang-over from childhood but to me that is one of the very best of smells. Somewhere or other I read of a woman who said if she ever had money she would want to hire some one to have bonfires of burning leaves outside her bedroom window so that she could wake up to it every morning. A few fires in the Fall are enough, but don't you agree with me, isn't it a grand smell?

ROAMING AMONG BIOGRAPHIES

One of the pleasantest ways of learning history is by reading biography. After all, people are history. Biography is written now in such a way that it is often more fascinating than fiction. Do not lay out a course of reading but travel where your fancy takes you. Start on one book in whatever period you like, and then read about some person who has appeared in that book. It is surprising where it will lead you. One year we started with Ivan the Terrible and before we realized it, we had roamed through Russia and across Europe until we had arrived at Empress Eugenie.

There are more interesting books centering around the Elizabethan period than one can read. Start with Elizabeth or with Mary Queen of Scots, and first thing you know you are reading of Froisher, Hawkins, Essex, Raleigh and others, which may interest you more. Pick your own; and never was a period when there were more outstanding men. Perhaps more modern times appeal to you.

Then start with the Strachey books 'Queen Victoria', and 'Eminent Victorians'. You will want to read Maurois' Disraeli. Read about the people who appeal to you or who interest you. Probably you will be led into Germany by way of the Kaiser and that takes you back to Bismarck. Just start on one book and then roam where fancy takes you. Soon you will have a real knowledge, as you will meet the same people in book after book and you will feel you know them intimately. Your library probably will procure some of the books you want, as they usually are glad to have suggestions, particularly non-fiction books.

BACK AT SCHOOL

The wise mother shuts her eyes and her ears to a good many things in her children the first week or two of school. Most children are not on their best behaviour at that time. The process of re-adjusting themselves is not an easy one. Even to get used to sitting still takes some doing. Many children are over-stimulated by the new teacher, the new studies and sometimes different classmates.

Often there is an underlying fear of the new conditions in even the child who appears most pliant. This strain comes out in children in different ways. Sometimes it is by loss of appetite, sometimes by irritability. Recognize it and its cause, say nothing about it, but make things as easy for the child as possible.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING

When you are doing up your jams and jellies, have a thought to Christmas and put aside some for Christmas giving. Nothing is more welcome to the person who has a home and works too, and even the full-time housekeeper enjoys a change of food. Look around and buy some unusual containers. A pretty little flower-pot, just large enough to hold a pot of ivy, filled with jelly, is an unusual gift. Pitchers, vases, little earthenware dishes, may be filled for Christmas giving. It is surprising how many containers may be found if you just look for them.

PEACH CONSERVE

6 lbs. peaches, 6 lbs. sugar,

2 oranges put through grinder, 1 small bottle marachino cherries cut in pieces.

Slice peaches, add remaining ingredients and cook until thick, stirring frequently. Bottle in sterilized jars and seal with paraffin.

GINGER PEAR MARMALADE

4 lbs. pears cut in pieces, 4 lbs. sugar, 2 lemons, 4 ozs. candied ginger.

Put lemons and ginger through the chopper and add to pears and sugar, boil until thick, stirring frequently. Bottle in sterilized jars and seal with paraffin.

Pantry Innovation

The house that boasts a pantry may greatly facilitate the business of serving by taking a tip from a housekeeper who had shelves built against the wall between the kitchen and pantry. In the centre of this wall an opening was made providing for a turntable on which food could be placed. Dishes were placed on the table in the kitchen and served from the pantry. This table can be completely shut off from view when not in use.

If the housewife desires a really elaborate type of revolving server, a heating unit may be installed below it in one of the cabinets. In this case dishes could be served and kept hot until the guests were ready to use them.

Such an improvement to the home is eligible under the Dominion Government Home Improvement Plan.

All women who are making their own jams and jellies will be interested in the new way to cover their open jars. Circles of "Cellophane", together with elastic bands and gummed labels, are available in packages at most stores. It is a simple matter to dip a circle in cold water, smooth it tightly over the jar, and slip on the elastic band. When dry this material contracts, thus making a tough air-tight protector.

It was during the impaneling of a jury that the following colloquy occurred:

"You are a property holder?"
"Yes, Your Honor."
"Married or single?"
"I have been married for five years, Your Honor."
"Have you formed or expressed an opinion?"
"Not for five years, Your Honor."

CHILDREN'S LUNCHEONS

The windows of the corner drug stores are full of gay pencils, sober note-books and important-looking pads, because children of all ages will soon be trudging back to school. Neat lunch kits cleverly equipped with thermos bottles fill a corner of the window too, since many children carry their lunch with them.

Of course there are thousands of schools throughout the country which provide cafeterias directed by women especially trained in nutrition and lunch room management where healthful lunches, carefully planned and prepared, may be purchased for a small sum. These cafeterias relieve the mother from the actual work of preparing her child's meal but the responsibility is still hers for the luncheon must supplement the other two family meals and make a perfect whole.

When a lunch box must be packed every morning the menu should be planned the day before in order to avoid a mad scramble at the last minute. Keep heavy wax-paper, paraffin cups with covers and paper napkins in a convenient place so the packing will be as easy as possible. Sandwiches, a hot soup or drink, raw vegetables such as celery and radishes, fresh fruit, cookies, cup cakes, dates, a piece of milk chocolate—these foods are easy to pack and stay attractive under trying conditions.

One hot food should always be included in a child's luncheon so that easy and rapid digestion will take place. This is very simple to manage when the meal is eaten at home and quite as easy to accomplish with the aid of a vacuum bottle when the lunch is carried to school. Of course the choice is limited to cream soups and hot milk drinks when the thermos bottle is used.

The home luncheon should consist of a warm dish such as a vegetable casserole or a vegetable cream soup, bread-stuff and butter, either raw vegetable or fresh fruit, or a salad, a simple dessert and milk to drink.

Here are some sandwich fillings for the lunch box:

Combine equal parts of chopped dates and nut meats with enough salad dressing to make moist.

Combine crisp cooked bacon with cream cheese made moist with chili sauce. Good with rye bread.

Combine chopped hard cooked eggs with the same quantity of shredded lettuce and add mayonnaise to make moist.

Mix grated cheese with grated raw carrot and chopped hard cooked eggs. Add salad dressing to make moist.

When you launder your glass curtains this fall put a little starch in them to restore their new crispness. Have the starch perfectly smooth and quite thin and just as hot as you can put your hand in it. Run the curtains through the wringer rather than wringing them by hand.

If you would have soft, young-looking hands in spite of dusting, dish-washing and gardening, keep your hand lotions in convenient places and then use them. Get in the habit of using a good hand softener every time you wash your hands. It just takes a few seconds to smooth a few drops of lotion or a dab of cream over your hands and you can massage your hands as you go on to the next task. Cultivate the habit of wearing gloves when you dust. Nothing is harder on hands than dust and furniture polish. A pair of well-fitting rubber gloves are not bunglesome and will last a long time. Soft leather gloves that are treated inside are comfortable for gardening.

Autumn is a splendid time to plant bulbs for spring flowering. You can plant until the ground freezes, although it is advisable to prepare the soil well in advance, digging it deep, pulverizing finely and enriching well with bone meal and wood ashes or potash.

If you are planning to renovate last year's clothes by dyeing them before making over, be sure that the fabric is thoroughly cleansed before trying to change its color. Dye will not cover dust or grease spots. Carbon tetrachloride is an effective agent for removing grease from silk and woolen materials.

Make a practice of pushing the flesh back from the nails every time you wipe your hands after dish-washing. This will do much toward keeping the tiny half-moons at the base of the nail in evidence and will make the manicuring of your nails much easier.

If many tubbings have taken the new look and luster from your silk things this summer add one tablespoonful of white vinegar to each gallon of the last rinse water. This will tend to restore their sheen and crispness.

What's Wrong With Husbands

For some time now, one of the big broadcasting circuits of the U.S.A. has been running a feature called "Husbands and Wives." Mr. Brown and Mrs. Miles, who manage the performance, invite men and women who find the marriage bond chafing to write to them and "tell all."

In the course of time, Mr. Brown and Mrs. Miles have come to know what personal faults are most likely to break up homes. One would imagine that lying, infidelity, and drinking would be near the top of the list of husbands' delinquencies. But not so. The ten most annoying marital habits of the modern husband are as follows:

- (1) Being tied to Mama's apron strings—discussing his home and his wife with his mother.
- (2) Snoring.
- (3) Staying out late without explaining where or with whom.
- (4) Showing off before young girls.
- (5) Reading the paper at breakfast.
- (6) Criticizing the wife's meals.
- (7) Pulling the covers off the bed.
- (8) Dropping his clothes on the floor.
- (9) Being always grouchy in the morning.
- (10) Not giving his wife house-money.

For all these shortcomings the competent radiators have discovered cures. The solutions that have worked best are as follows:

- (1) Have a showdown. The wife goes home to her mother but offers to come back as soon as the family organization is confined to her husband and herself—as soon as his mother is, by agreement, left to play her appropriate role. If the husband is in love with his wife this will work. Otherwise, the marriage is heading for the rocks anyway.
- (2) The wife is advised to sew a spoon into the rear of hubby's pajamas. This will make him sleep on his side and he will stop snoring.
- (3) Stay out late once or twice yourself and ask for money the next day. This will waken him to the unfairness of his habit.
- (4) Invite one of the girls to visit. Let her see the husband in his let-down moments. The girl will be cured of any possible infatuation and the husband will learn a lesson.
- (5) One wife tore a big hole right through her husband's paper. When he expostulated she replied, "I only wanted to look at you and talk to you at breakfast."
- (6) Prepare a menu a day ahead and ask your husband to check off the dishes he does not like. Then he will have no comeback.
- (7) One wife, annoyed by the cover-pulling habit, got up in the middle of the night and put on her fur coat. In the morning the husband thought he had been sleeping with something supplied by Frank Buck and was badly frightened. But he learned his lesson.
- (8) Sweep the clothes into an old barrel or basket and put them out of sight like that.
- (9) Make your husband stop eating just before bedtime and try to be bright and cheerful in the morning yourself.
- (10) One wife presented her husband with a bill each week—"If you don't pay, you don't eat." He paid.

No guarantee goes with any of these solutions. And we do not subscribe to the belief that the ten faults listed are unquestionably the most serious that a husband can commit. We rather think that each wife can draw up an imposing list of her own. But 25,000 women can't be entirely wrong. —Exchange.

FOR BETTER HEALTH BY DR. J. ROSSLYN EARP

FOOLS RUSH IN

I have never seen any statistics on the number of automobile fatalities that are due to amateur first aid; I mean the number of injured who might have got well if they had been left alone but were killed by good but ignorant Samaritans who jogged them around driving the sharp edges of bones into blood vessels or nerve tissue. These figures should be collected.

When dealing with broken bones (unless you are an expert) try to get a doctor to the patient before you try to get the patient to a doctor.

Most dangerous fractures are those of the spine and skull. Then very small movements may cause fatal injury to the spinal cord or brain. When the legs are paralyzed the back has been broken. When the arms and legs are paralyzed the neck has been broken. Bleeding from the nose or ears suggests at once a fractured skull. Any person who lies unconscious may have a broken neck or a fractured skull. Do beware!

Safest way to move people so injured, if they must be moved without a doctor's supervision: Fractured limbs should be splinted.

A man with a broken back should be laid on his face in a blanket so that his spine curves towards his front.

A man with a broken neck should be edged very gently onto a door face upwards and carried, as the army men carry a stretcher, with the man in front and the man behind carefully and deliberately out of step.

GOOD COOKING

Gold Discovery in Alaska

Gold was first discovered in Alaska in 1848 in the gravels of Kenal river by P. P. Doroshin, a Russian mining engineer, who was then making an examination of the mineral resources of the district for the Russian-American company. In 1850 and 1851 Doroshin, with a working force of 14 men, prospected the gravels of two streams entering Kenal river between Kenal and Skilak lakes and those of a third stream tributary to the latter lake. Gold was found nearly everywhere in the gravels examined, but not in commercial quantities.

The Great Dismal Swamp

The Great Dismal swamp, a unique natural feature located near Portsmouth and Norfolk, is one of the attractive spots of Virginia. Once the rendezvous of pirates, highwaymen and runaway slaves, and later infested by moonshiners, the swamp has much of interest. One of its canals was dug by order of George Washington, who planned development of the area. It is a wild morass, the home of deer and bears, and there is virgin timber still standing.

We Don't Know All!

To assume the pose that we are above mistakes is absurd; better far admit most frankly if we occupy a prominent position before the public, that we make mistakes, many of them, and we expect to go on making them so long as we live. This will dispose of any claim to infallibility, but it will place us on much firmer ground, and help men to realize that we are just as human as they. This, in itself, does not alienate men, but rather draws them to us.

Early Transatlantic Travel

Early transatlantic fares did not include food at all but simply transportation and water. In those times passengers had to bring their own supplies, usually consisting of crackers, ham and similar nonperishables. In 1790, a 270-ton ship carrying 400 transatlantic passengers, only two kettles, each containing three gallons, comprised the total cooking equipment for passengers.

Presentation to Rector's Wife at Grenville

Grenville — A presentation was made to Mrs. Brueton on Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 31st, when members of Trinity and St. Matthew's W. A. met at the Rectory here. A steamer rug and a fountain pen were tokens of friendship given, prior to Mrs. Brueton's departure to England. After the presentation, made by the Grenville President, Mrs. R. B. White, a social time followed, during which tea was served to 28 guests. Mrs. R. B. White and Mrs. Wm. Bridgen poured tea. The tables were beautifully decorated with gladioli and summer flowers. Mrs. Brueton is accompanied by the good wishes of her wide circle of friends in the parish.

Horse Show to Be Annual Event at St. Andrews

The promise of an annual horse show at St. Andrews East is of interest to the increasing number of horse fanciers in this county, and the success of last Saturday's show augurs well for the outcome of this idea.

More than 200 spectators witnessed a program featuring expert horsemanship and many novel riding events. Spectators included many from the Seignior Club, Ottawa and Montreal.

In the nature of a gymkhana, it was more the rider than the horse and, while 22 horses participated, more than 30 riders entered for the many ribbons this new riding club put up for competition.

Perfect weather prevailed. The various contests featured some difficult jumping hazards and somewhat complicated manoeuvres. Unusual and exciting events were included on the program, such as pig sticking, ice cream race and potato race. Pipe Major Williamson and Pte. Laurie of the Black Watch, Montreal, entertained the guests with popular Scottish tunes, and also assisted in the musical chairs' event.

With a view to making the show an annual affair a committee was named consisting of President, J. Irwin; vice-pres., L. T. Porter; committee, John Allan, Melvin Ballantyne, R. Fred Porter, William Simpson, sr., Air Vice-marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C.; ring committee, Major D. J. Corrigan, D.S.O., M.C. Dave Trotter, Col. W. B. Evans.

Winners in the various events on Saturday were:

Half mile trotting race, under saddles, Robert Lovell, 1; John Bradley, 2; Rhoda Simpson, 3; Robert Allan, 4.

Stake race, Robert Allan, 1; Fred Porter, 2; George Ford, 3.

Potato race, Robert Allan, 1; Robt. Lovell, 2; John Bradley, 3.

Handy horse course against time, P. Lanctôt, 1; Fred Porter, 2; Robt. Allan, 3; Alison Chown, 4; Irene Irwin, 5.

Pig sticking contest, P. Lanctôt, 1; Fred Porter, 2; Robert Allan, 3.

Trotting race to carts, one mile, Larry Porter, 1; Fred Porter, 2; P. Lanctôt, 3.

Musical chairs, Mary Porters, 1; Rhoda Simpson, 2; Phillip Lovell, 3; John Porter, 4; Alison Chown, 5.

Potato race, Robert Allan, 1; P. Lanctôt, 2; John Porter, 3.

Ladies Entertained Aged Party from Tyndale Camp

St. Andrews East — A committee of ladies under the convensorship of Miss Tina Walsh gave a most enjoyable outing to the last party of the season from Tyndale Camp, on Tuesday afternoon last. Automobiles were kindly provided for a drive through the countryside on to Lachute, then back to the church hall where refreshments were served to the party by the ladies of the church. Needless to say this group of 22 old people, all of them over 80 years of age, and coming from the poor, congested parts of the city, enjoyed the outing to the fullest extent and it will mark a very bright spot in their lives.

HOUSING PROBLEM FOR FULLER DISCUSSION IN APPROACHING SESSION OF FEDERAL PARLIAMENT

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, Sept. 7th.—An attack on the housing problem of the Dominion will be a leading feature of the next session of parliament. Four angles must be considered, in the following order of importance:

1. Industrial low-rental housing.
2. Rural housing.
3. Encouraging of the small home-owner.
4. Home Improvement and Rehabilitation.

There is a general recognition that this program is at least overdue, but various factors, including the short session, and the constitutional tangle, prevented the government from proceeding with it in full last session, as strongly urged by the National Employment Commission.

Night-time Blaze Swept Hay-Barn in Centre Town

A sudden glare in the sky was the first intimation of the fire which destroyed a barn near the Barron home just after 11 p.m. last Friday, spreading rapidly through the building and razing it to the foundation. Stored in this building, on the Barron property in centre town, was the season's crop of hay from Mr. Lemuel Barron's farm, and also some old machinery, all of which was consumed. Spontaneous combustion was generally believed to have caused the fire, for flames spread throughout the building with the suddenness of an explosion. The proprietor, however, had a suspicion that tramps had been smoking in the barn, for he had evicted unwelcome visitors on previous nights.

Lachute Fire Brigade responded to the call and promptly had four hose lines in action with a good pressure of water from the hydrants. Sparks and flying embers roared skyward from the blaze, but fortunately there was no wind at the time and neighboring buildings were not ignited. Fire-

Pontifical Order Conferred on Two Parish Benefactors

An occasion of gratitude and solemnity in the Parish of St. Julien was the blessing of the three bells which are to call the faithful to worship in the beautiful new edifice, erected by Messrs. W. H. and E. F. Ayers—which is now nearing completion. The ceremony was held on Sunday afternoon.

A sermon befitting the occasion was given by Rev. Louis Joseph Rodrigue, and following the benediction ceremony Archbishop Geo. Gauthier of Montreal conferred upon Messrs. W. H. and E. F. Ayers a decoration from the Pope as Commanders of the Pontifical Order of St. Gregoire. Among those present were members of the surrounding clergy.

A pleasing feature of the event was the ringing of the three bells, in which all were allowed to participate. The receptacle for the donations was an old locomotive bell which had been donated to the church many years ago.

men played water on a wooden shed between the barn and the Barron home, checking any possible spread of fire to this fine old Lachute landmark.

A large crowd of townspeople hurried to witness the scene. Firemen remained on the spot Friday night and during Saturday, while the smouldering hay was spread apart and all further danger averted.

The barns, which were valued at $3,000, will not be rebuilt. The loss was only partly covered by insurance.

Labor Week-End Closed Lakefield Holiday Season

Lakefield — Labor week-end witnessed the exodus of the few remaining summer visitors in Lakefield. There was a fair crowd in the village on Saturday night for the last big dance of the season in Ralph's Hall.

On Sunday evening Holy Trinity Church was crowded to capacity for the evening service, Rev. C. W. P. Baugh officiating. On Labor Day peace and quietness reigned supreme once again, after a summer that has proved not only beneficial to the holiday-seekers from a standpoint of health and enjoyment, but also in financial returns to the business people of this community.

School Closing Exercises Held on Tuesday Evening

Filled to capacity the Lachute United Church presented, on Tuesday evening, a very mixed but representative gathering of parents and children attending the annual High School closing exercises.

Dr. J. H. Mason, who for many years has acted as chairman of the School Board, spoke on the many advantages which school consolidation has afforded; he encouraged the pupils to work hard and the parents to assist in every way possible. Together with his colleagues on the School Board, Dr. Mason has devoted much time to the progress of education in this community and merits congratulation and hearty thanks for the position Lachute High School has attained.

The new chairman, Mr. Geo. V. Deacon, is also a busy man, but is prepared to sacrifice his time to further this worthy cause, and with members of the Board is looking forward to the sympathetic support of the parents and to another year of marked progress.

Short addresses were given by Mayor Dr. A. Rodrigue, chairman of the Catholic School Board, Rev. H. Cousens, Rev. W. LeCras, and Principal Brownlee of St. Andrews East Consolidated School.

Principal C. L. Hall of the local High School was loudly applauded when he rose to present his report, the audience manifesting their keen appreciation of his efforts in the past. He spoke favorably of the school standing and of the work achieved by both pupils and staff. While regretting the departure of Miss Labelle and Mr. Drysdale, good wishes were extended them in their new sphere of labor and a welcome given the new teachers, Miss Millar and Miss Pritchard, who will replace them.

Distribution of prizes then took place, with the exception of several Perley Scholarships. These could not be awarded as the secretaries of certain school municipalities had failed to send in their reports of the winning pupils. This is regrettable as a number of the scholars were present and were naturally disappointed; it is hoped that in future all reports will be forwarded in good time. The awards were made as follows:

Golf Club Activities As Season Nears Close

Labor Day activities at the Lachute Golf Club included a 36-hole final for the Ayers Cup. Mr. G. J. Cheley and Mr. C. Rogers were finalists, the former winning by a close margin of two up and one to go.

At 2.30 a mixed four-ball foursome was played; Miss M. Cheley and Mr. Sidney Drew were the winners. Prizes were donated by Mr. L. L. Legault, and refreshments were served afterwards.

Saturday, Sept. 11th, is closing day, when all members are requested to be present. At 2.30 p.m. an 18-hole president's and vice-presidents' competition will be played, followed by refreshments and the presentation of prizes.

Plowing Match This Fall

The officers of the Argenteuil Plowmen's Association are busy making plans for the annual plowing match, which will be held in the month of October in the vicinity of Lachute. Mr. George Hay of Lachute is President, and Mr. Alex. Bothwell, Secretary.

Fire Last Night Caused Through Defective Chimney

Continuing the run of fire calls which have kept the brigade in action of late, a summons was received at 9.45 last night from the summer home of J. W. Horsey on Main Street, east ward. This property is the site of the old Banford home.

A fireplace chimney, constructed only two months ago, proved to have developed a defect; a blaze had started in the upstairs wall and spread in the attic. After cutting their way into the attic, the firemen applied a small stream of water from their booster tank and subdued the blaze.

Damage was estimated in the neighborhood of $200, fully covered by insurance.

By way of diversion yesterday afternoon, the fire brigade gave their attention to a blazing tree in the vacant lots between Bedford Blvd. and Grace Street. Children has apparently been lighting a fire, and a hollow elm tree was burning fiercely.

The outbreak presented no serious problem to Lachute's efficient fire force.

Town Where You Cannot Be Run Over -- In Year 1950

London—A town of the future where children can walk to school without crossing a road has been planned by eighteen senior students of the Architectural Association School of Planning and Research in London.

A model has been built to scale of a town with 50,000 inhabitants.

The centre strip of the town is occupied by administrative buildings, one big store, a commercial building housing all banks and insurance offices, a civic theatre, cinemas and two concert halls.

Every building has flower beds and green patches.

On either side of the centre strip are ten or fourteen-storey blocks of flats with balconies. Underneath raised roads are pedestrian footpaths and cycle tracks.

A man could walk from one end of the town to the other without crossing a busy road.

Flanking the flats on either side and further out towards the country are housing centres, accommodating mostly families of four to six people. There are some detached houses.

Each row of forty-two houses has a service road for cars, a communal playing field besides their own gardens.

Industries are kept apart, near to the residential centres.

A main road runs round the town—but not through it—on which all heavy transport for the factories is carried.

There are comparatively few roads in this town. Pedestrians never walk across a motor road, only an occasional cycle track.

Mr. A. E. Rowse, principal of the school, said: "I think there may be such towns as this one in 1950, or at any rate work in that direction should have been started by then."

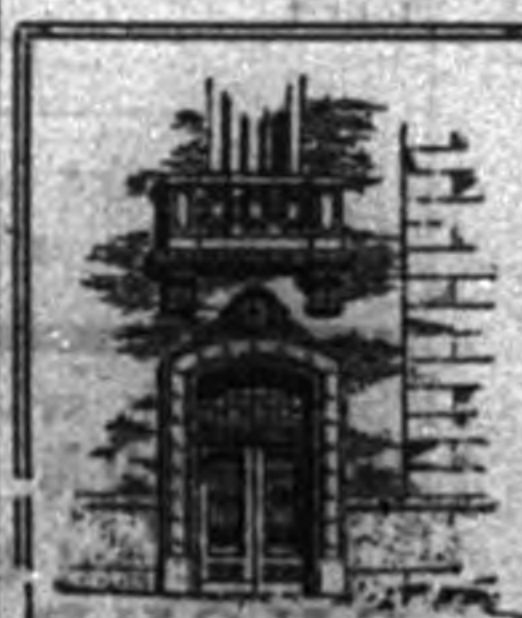

Minister Takes Pastoral Charge in England

Morin Heights — A farewell party was held at the home of Mrs. R. McCullough recently in honour of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Dobson, who are leaving this community to sail to England, where Mr. Dobson has a pastoral charge awaiting him. They were each presented with a purse, and after the expression of good wishes from their many friends refreshments were served, concluding an enjoyable evening.

Road and Bridge Construction Prime Matters Before Parish Council Session

The regular monthly assembly of St. Jerusalem Parish Council was held on Tuesday afternoon, J. E. Walker presiding in the presence of Councilors Simon Wilson, J. S. Pollock, L. J. Boa, Jas. Clarke, Alex. Doig and the Secretary, Jas. W. Gall.

It was moved by Coun. Boa, seconded by Coun. Wilson, that the parish accept the offer made by the Provincial Highways Department on the con-

NEWS BULLETIN

Until the attitude of the Government in relation to the Barracks-Museum project is learned, the canvass for life members and the larger contributions will be delayed.

In the meantime there is every reason why interested members should continue their good work in winning recruits for the membership roll, now nearing its half-way goal.

They are reminded of the facility with which members are won by personal contacts and the use of the literature of the Society.

Readers of "The Watchman" could render a signal service to the varied interests of the Society by saving clippings from this column for future reference and instruction.

The museum manuals have further lessons of weighty consequence not yet considered, and one stressing the importance of building from the bottom on a modest scale, rather than starting from the top on an ambitious scale and inviting the danger of regrettable mistakes.

struction of Lake Sir John bridge, the parish sharing in the cost of the extent of $600.

Coun. Pollock, seconded by Coun. Wilson, moved that the council proceed with construction of the unfinished stretch of road on the north side of the river, on a 50 percent basis as offered by Provincial Government.

It was moved by Coun. Clarke, seconded by Coun. Doig, that the Mayor and Secretary be authorized to borrow $3,000 as needed in the making of the road and bridge, as outlined.

Some minor changes were made in the valuation rolls, and bills were presented, approved, and payment duly ordered.

C. N. Moore, of the Seignior, was appointed to finish the term of Cecil Pollock as road and rural inspector.

It was also moved by Coun. Wilson, seconded by Coun. Boa, that W. J. Boyd be appointed as foreman of the new work and Councilor Pollock be in charge.

Exhibition Features New Organ Using Electrical Impulses

One of the notable features of this year's Canadian National Exhibition—a new Northern-Hammond Organ—is operated entirely by electrical impulses, using no pipes or reeds.

The organ consists of a small console—no larger than a small parlor piano—and a tone cabinet in which is located the electrical equipment of vacuum tubes, oscillators and amplifying equipment. Any number of these tone chambers may be used in conjunction with the one console so that this organ, which conveniently meets the requirements of the home, may also be used with equal efficiency in so large an area as the open air band-stand auditorium of the Canadian National Exhibition.

The unusual tonal range of this new organ has amazed experienced organists throughout Canada in the past six months, during which it has been offered to the Canadian public. The Northern-Hammond Organ is manufactured in Montreal by the Northern Electric Company Limited, and sold to the public only through authorized music dealers.

A number of churches are already using this instrument, as well as a number of private owners in their own houses. Three thousand of these organs are in use in the United States, a good record for the two years since they were first brought out.

The installation in the Canadian National Exhibition, however, constituted a unique demonstration of the organ's extreme versatility and quality, features which decided the management upon its use during this year's Exhibition.

"THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT"

Weekly Review of National Affairs
Specially written for The Lachute Watchman
By Wilfrid Eggleston

"On the basis of the average volume of residential building during the eleven years 1921 to 1931, a back-log had accumulated by the close of 1934 which amounted to perhaps $200 millions. In view of the low level of such building this year and last, this estimate of the back-log—postponed work that will in time need to be done—would now be substantially larger. Such a calculation assumes that the average volume of building during those eleven years was normal, and that the same normal will be the standard for the future. This assumption may or may not be correct. Certain it is, however, that the Canadian people are now less adequately housed than they were in the late 'twenties'; that many houses need repair; and that few dwellings are entirely up-to-date."

Nothing has happened since that was written to change the picture materially. The year 1936 was again far below normal levels, but even this year the figure for the first six months showed only 35 per cent of the 1926 level, which is taken as normal. Last year at the same time residential building stood at only 23 per cent of normal, and in 1933, the worst year, it was only 13 per cent. Looking back to such years as 1928 and 1929, when well over a hundred million dollars of residential building was undertaken in the first half of the year, it is clear that as soon as a building program can be started, two or three extremely active years in house construction will be inevitable.

What is holding back building now? Admitted high taxes are a serious factor. The industrial worker is not building a home, because in most cases he has not the capital, nor can he afford to pay sufficiently high rents to encourage someone else with the capital to construct modern homes for him, and rent them to him. The farmer has had to let building slide because of poor crops or prices or both.

Even without government assistance, a vast forward move in residential building and repair would seem to be inevitable, if times improve. Farm revenues, except in the drought areas, are going to be higher, and that means more money for buildings. Industrial wages are on the mend, which will encourage residential building in cities and other industrial areas.

The proposal held over last winter by the federal government called for a grant of five million a year for two years toward the building of low-rental housing in industrial regions. The provinces were to put up dollar for dollar, and the subsidy was to bridge the gap between what such houses would cost and what the worker could afford to pay. Some similar scheme for cheap money for farm building is also under consideration. Building costs are rising, but they are still below the 1926 level, and over 40 per cent below the post-war peak.

WOMEN... common-sense dress

Women have gone farther than men in setting themselves free from the restrictions which fashion and "good form" used to place on their clothing. I often think that women are more logical than men in the matter of dress. At least, I think so until some change of fashion starts them all to wearing furs in midsummer and woolen coats and skirts for outdoor sports.

This summer I have noticed more women wearing thin cotton prints than ever before. That is a step in the right direction. And one does not have to look very far, anywhere in America, to see girls and women going about in what their grandmothers would have called "next to nothing." Backless blouses, or whatever the word is for the upper works of feminine attire, with abbreviated "shorts" or flimsy skirts are no longer confined to the bathing beaches.

This movement toward getting rid of superfluous clothes shocks many conservative-minded oldsters. I think it is a step in the direction of common-sense.

INDIANS... climatic conditions

It is not only logical but inevitable that the people of any country should, sooner or later, adapt their costumes to the climate of the country in which they live. The white folks who live in America are not as logical as the Indians were. This is a land of climatic extremes, from torrid heat in summer to bitter cold in winter, over most of the nation. When the white men came to America they found the Indians going almost naked in summer, from Maine to Florida, and wrapping themselves in skins and blankets only when the winter weather made it necessary.

The settlers from Europe, however, brought their European fashions in clothing with them. We still dress by the standards of Europe where there are no such extremes of temperatures as we experience here. Over a large part of Europe one has to dress warmly even in summer.

I see in the American tendency to discard superfluous clothes in summer the beginning of a new western independence. I hope to live to see all Americans, men and women, freed from the chains of fashion and custom and dressing to suit the climate at all times of the year.

MORALS... dress

Many good people still think it is immoral for anyone, women particularly, to go about in public, even at the beaches or "the old swimming hole" without being clothed entirely from neck to knees. In their minds there is some relation between clothing and morals. The first thing the early missionaries to the South Sea Islands did was to put clothes on their converts. In a climate where clothing was unnecessary, this not only made the converted savages uncomfortable but made it harder to get new converts.

A wise philosopher once said morals are a matter of latitude. They are also a matter of chronology. Many things regarded as good morals in Queen Elizabeth's time are frowned on by the accepted moral standards of today, and we approve, or at least tolerate, many kinds of conduct today which were regarded as highly immoral by our grandparents.

While I do not believe there is any necessary relation between dress and morals, I realize that each community makes its own moral standards, and until they change it is immoral, in the broad sense, to ignore those standards publicly.

HONESTY... appearances

Far more important than the outward observance of prevailing moral standards is the personal character of the individual. I think we are living in an age of honesty, that there is much less pretence among the younger people of today than there used to be when I was young.

I do not believe that there is any great difference in personal, private morals from one generation to another. I think it is a decided improvement in public morals when people no longer think it necessary to conform to artificial standards of attire to prove their "goodness" to the world. The young folk of today hate hypocrisy worse than anything else. They no longer believe that a bad complexion, an unbecoming dress or a black tie is proof of good character. They rather suspect the opposite. Nor do they hold that rouge and lipstick, gay clothing and reasonable, sensible comfort betoken a moral laxity.

It is not safe to judge people by outward appearances alone. I am inclined to be suspicious of men or women who exaggerate the customs of their communities in clothing or manners, but I am equally chary of those who ignore them entirely. And I am wrong in my judgments, probably, as often as I am right.

Robert Adam Styles

Among the most distinguished designers during the latter part of the Eighteenth century was Robert Adam, favorite of George III, bachelor king of England. Son of an architect, he and his brother James gained considerable fame as architects under the partnership legend of the "Adelphi." Most of Adam's furniture shows his architectural leanings, the pieces being well balanced and comparatively severe in outline. Some of the loveliest furniture Adam made was of mahogany with delicate carvings and dainty inlays. He originally introduced the shield back chair, but abandoned it in favor of the wheel back chair.

Skunk Tales No Longer Funny to Leith Tourist

"Skunk" stories used to amuse T. A. Fleming, of Cleveland, Ohio, a regular summer visitor at Leith, a few miles from Owen Sound, but not any more.

Troubled with porcupines nesting beneath his summer cottage, Mr. Fleming decided to set traps recently on his back verandah. Hardly had he retired for the night when things began to happen. Thinking his troubles over, he went to the verandah in his night attire, but he was astonished and dismayed to find he had trapped one of the detestable black and white animals by its tail and hind leg.

He raced into the cottage and sat down to decide what course to take. Would he shoot it? No, he decided that would never do. He might miss and then— He hoped to spend the remainder of the summer in the cottage. Horrible thoughts raced through his mind the better part of the night, and then he came to the conclusion that he would have to act boldly.

Equipped with a long pair of pliers, he crawled out on the verandah still in his night attire. Proceeding cautiously toward the trap and passing in all probability the longest few minutes in his lifetime, he reached over opened the trap, and Mr. Skunk sauntered off the porch on his best behaviour.

Mr. Fleming feels sure that a world cruise is about the only thing that will bring him back to normal after the most harrowing episode of his life. Campers are already addressing the hero as the "Goliath of Leith."

"Are You There?"

In August, 1879, the first telephone exchange in England was opened at 36 Coleman St., London—states The Bluebell. There were seven trustful subscribers and the one-telephone operator was a boy.

Quickly the unbelievers were converted, the telephone service of seven subscribers—then a precarious private venture—soon grew to dozens and then hundreds; and young ladies in bustles and with their hair in "buns" were the successors of the lone small boy. These telephone girls, we are told, "at first startled the city," but their success was immediate and they were worthy pioneers of a new order. "Telephonists" they are called, in England. "Operators" to you.

In November, 1936, the one millionth telephone was installed in London.

St. Andrews or St. Andre?

We recently published a remark by Mr. John Irwin — who is recognized as a public-spirited citizen — deploring the translation of English-named towns on the highway maps of Quebec. An instance he cited was one of particular interest to this county — namely, St. Andrews, which appears no longer as such on our official highway markings and maps, but is called St. Andre.

A similar complaint is noted from a correspondent to the Montreal Gazette, who says in part:

"I had long since come to regard St. Andrews as one of the oldest English settlements in the Province of Quebec, but I recently had occasion to consult the official road maps of the Provincial Government, and was amazed that one will search in vain for such a place as 'St. Andrews.' By whose authority, I can't tell, but the old town is now 'St. Andre' . . . I am a believer and admirer of bilingualism for our Province, and feel that the marvellous intermixture of French and English villages and towns only emphasizes its beauty and uniqueness, but I regret profoundly the all too prevalent habit of dropping entirely old historical English names both of streets in our city and of towns in the province and supplanting them by French names. Would someone tell me, is there such a place as St. Andrews, Que?"

It is somewhat ironical to find that, while the Argenteuil Historical Society is endeavoring to perpetuate traditions and records around this old English settlement, Quebec officialdom is actually obliterating its identity . . .

We respect the patriotism of those who would have French first, last and at any price, but we would remind our French-Canadian friends, our roads department topographers in particular, that the countryside is rich in sentiment and community pride — a spirit which is deeper seated even than their overwrought patriotism.

Real Social Security

With all the talk about "security" which is finding expression in new laws and in the efforts of the trade unions to obtain for their members the exclusive right to work in many industries, we hear very little about the only way in which a man can insure his own security in his employment and for old age. So-called security which rests upon the changing vagaries of politics, or for which its beneficiary has to pay by surrendering his personal liberty and freedom of choice to labor leaders or others, is pretty sure to turn out to be insecurity in the long run.

The one way in which any young man can insure his own future security is to master some trade, craft or profession so completely that his services will always be in demand. The highly-skilled worker is seldom out of a job except by his own choice. In the very depths of the depression few first-rate men were unemployed. It was the second-raters, the ones who had never developed their skill to the utmost of their ability, who were dropped from the payrolls.

Too much attention and effort has been directed toward getting more pay for less work for the less competent, and not enough to training young men in the arts and crafts to become really skilled workers. As a result, the nation's industries are complaining that there are not enough skilled workers available to fill the jobs which are waiting for them.

Germany Bans Rotary

Rotary has been frowned upon by Nazi officialdom. It won't be long now before the 43 clubs in Germany will be a thing of the past.

It would be a little different if Rotary was a secret organization or pro-American. Rotarians meet once a week around luncheon tables to hear an inspirational, informative or community-booster talk, and informally discuss business interests.

The Nazis may consider Rotary to be controlled by Masonry, or too favorable to Jews. The former is certainly not true, as observation of its mixed membership will show.

There are German clubs in America which hoist the Nazi flag on top and smile at those who would prevent them.

But German officials continue policies of isolation. An individual who will not mingle with his fellows is considered neurotic.

However, regardless of this latest move, the world still believes in the German people as people. What kind of beings the present system is making of German youth, it would be hard to judge from this distance in time and space.

The Courageous Do Not Worry

How many people we all know who spend their lives in worrying about things that never happen. Worrying is the most fruitless of all human occupations. Worrying about something which has already occurred cures nothing. Worrying about something which has not yet happened will avert it, and nine times out of ten the things we are worrying about never come off.

Worrying has its roots in fear. Really courageous people do not give way to worry. Most worrying is due to too lively an imagination. Those who indulge in worrying are usually soft-hearted, sentimental folk who do not have a realistic outlook on life.

Most worriers have an overly strong sense of personal responsibility for other people. Their high sense of duty leads them to fear that they have in some way been remiss in their obligations to others.

Most chronic worriers are concerned about their personal health. Many have worried themselves into premature graves. Whatever is wrong with the bodily machinery is made worse by worrying about it.

There are very few things which can happen to anyone that are worth worrying about. To advise people to stop worrying is not to advise them to take no precautions against the future. Careful, foresighted people are seldom worriers. They face the present with a stout heart and the future with the calm assurance that all the world expects of anyone is to do the best he can. And they let the dead past bury its dead.

JOUSSE — CANN

The marriage took place on Friday, August 27, at Lachine, of Mavis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. G. Cann, of Westmount, to Eugene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Jousse. The Rev. Roy P. Stafford of the St. James United Church officiated. The bride wore a gown of navy blue net over tulle with a corsage bouquet of orchids, and was attended by Miss Evelyn Martinson. Mr. Jeffrey Charlton, of Lachine, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Jousse left immediately after the ceremony for La Tuque, where they will reside.

Pretty House Wedding

HURDMAN — ROGERS

The marriage of Maria Anna Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rogers, of Lachute, to Mr. Russel Thomas Hurdman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hurdman of Breckenridge, Que., took place at half-past four on Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. H. Cousens, officiated, and the wedding music was played by Miss Ethel McQuat of Montreal. Quantities of late summer flowers, gladioli, asters and ferns were used to decorate the house. Miss Gladys Hyde of St. Andrews East was bridesmaid and Mr. Lloyd Rolston of Ottawa acted as best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white rose-point lace over taffeta fashioned on fitting lines with a short train. She wore a finger-tip length veil of tulle illusion arranged with a crown of the same material and carried a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and Briar-cliff roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of tea rose taffeta made with short puffed sleeves and full skirt with hat and shoes in contrasting blue, and carried a colonial bouquet of Talisman roses and sweet peas.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Hurdman and his bride left later on a motor trip through the White Mountains. The latter wore for travelling a hand-knitted Hindon red suit with black accessories and a silver fox fur, the gift of the groom. On their return they will reside in Breckenridge, Que.

$5 Reduction in Ontario Passenger Automobile Fees

A straight reduction of $5 in all passenger automobile fees, effective October 1, was announced by Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario at a Liberal convention in Dundas last week. He said that it would bring a direct annual saving to Ontario motorists of about $2,500,000.

Mr. Hepburn said that his Government was moving toward a nominal license fee, regardless of the horse-power or number of cylinders. The gasoline tax would be depended upon chiefly for highways operating revenues.

(Present license fees for passenger cars are: Four cylinder, $7; six's up to and including 28 horse-power, $12; over 28, $16; eight's up to and including 35 horse-power, $15; over 35, $20; twelve's, $30; sixteens, $40.)

Not Election Move

In no way, said the Premier, could the announcement be viewed as an election "bid for votes" as Conservative Leader Earl Rowe was inclined to term it, because it had been forecast March 9 in the budget address. He had announced reduced fees for commercial vehicles and forecast that, in the event of departmental revenues remaining up, a similar treatment of passenger vehicle fees could be expected November 1.

Argenteuil County Council Held Quarterly Session

The regular quarterly session of County Council was held on Wednesday afternoon, there being present R. B. Owen, County Warden, Councillors R. Legault, A. Bertrand, A. Dawson, D. MacTavish, C. J. Staniforth, J. E. Walker, W. Desjardins, L. Adamson, W. X. Beauchamp, C. Roy, A. Rochon, Jos. Seale, A. E. Ladouceur and Secretary James W. Gall.

The Warden and Secretary were authorized to borrow a sum of $2,000 to pay current expenses.

A resolution was passed asking the Department of Highways to construct the road between Calumet and Kilmar, Mines, as promised.

The Secretary was instructed by resolution of council, to write the Government urging enforcement of the law recently passed forbidding trucks either loaded or empty to travel the highways on Sundays.

Father (to young son sucking thumb): "Hey, boy, don't bite that thumb off. You may need it when you get old enough to travel."

THE TRADING CAPITAL

Norway House, Manitoba

Norway House, on little Playgreen Lake, an enlargement of the Nelson river just north of Lake Winnipeg, was one of the most important of the early inland posts of the Hudson's Bay Company. Also known at one time as Jack River House, the original post stood a little to the south of Mossy Point, which extends into Lake Winnipeg itself. Burned to the ground in 1826 it was rebuilt on the present location and completed in 1828. The name Norway House is thought to have originated in the fact that a party of Scandinavians were employed in building the old fort.

Norway House was the center of a vast trade as it stood on the main waterway from the prairies to the Bay. It was the half-way house between York Factory and the Red River settlement. Lord Selkirk's colonists paused here on their first trek to wilderness homes in 1812. Twice, in 1815 and 1816, they took refuge at Norway House when driven from Fort Garry by the Nor'westers. Brought back to the Red River in 1817 when Selkirk himself visited the colony, their community faced further years of hardship but endured as a real beginning for the settlement of what is now Manitoba.

In the days of the "Little Emperor", Governor Sir George Simpson, the northern council of the Company met frequently at Norway House which then became the capital of half a continent. Bearded factors from the Saskatchewan, Athabasca, Peace, Mackenzie and Churchill posts met behind closed doors to settle the affairs of their empire. The last great council met in 1870, the year that the rule of the territories passed to Canada. But trade continued, and Norway House endured as an important hub of northern commerce.

Cuckoo Clock First Made by Black Forest Pioneer

No hanging clock has ever attained the popularity of the cuckoo clock among the people of every land. It is the clock of children, as "grandfather" is of their elders. The latter is more inclined to prove a melancholy companion.

There is nothing melancholy about the cuckoo. When this sprightly bird pops out from his little chalet, not only do the youngsters get a thrill, but even the elders take notice of it. There is a fleeting vision of Alpine peaks, lordly pines and babbling mountain rivulets.

The first cuckoo clock, according to a writer in the Montreal Herald, was made more than 200 years ago by a village clockmaker in the Black Forest. He was Anton Ketterer, and he was one of the pioneers who started the manufacture in that region. The clockmaker worked at his own bench, then in his own cottage, and produced everything by hand.

There are varieties of bird clocks produced in the Black Forest, from blackbirds which whistle realistically, to nightingales, which keep up a sustained trill. But none has rivalled the cuckoo in popularity.

Young People's Society Meeting at Grenville

Grenville—On Tuesday evening, August 31st, the Sunbeam Young People's Society of the Baptist Church held, as its final meeting of the season, a banquet at the home of Miss Vera Gaulley. There were present 17 members of the group, Rev. E. H. Young and two visitors.

The table decorations were carried out in orange and brown with green accents. After supper the young people joined in a sing-song, singing first secular songs, followed by sacred choruses and the group's theme hymn, "Come let us Sing of a Wonderful Love".

Rev. E. H. Young, pastor of Grenville Baptist Church, was the guest speaker. Mr. Young brought to the young people a very challenging message, the memory of which should long continue as an inspiration to nobler living and as a reminder of Paul's words, "Ye are not your own for ye are bought with a price."

STORIED SPOTS FROM SEA TO SEA

By W. J. Banks, B.A.

Norway House, Manitoba

Norway House, on little Playgreen Lake, an enlargement of the Nelson river just north of Lake Winnipeg, was one of the most important of the early inland posts of the Hudson's Bay Company. Also known at one time as Jack River House, the original post stood a little to the south of Mossy Point, which extends into Lake Winnipeg itself. Burned to the ground in 1826 it was rebuilt on the present location and completed in 1828. The name Norway House is thought to have originated in the fact that a party of Scandinavians were employed in building the old fort.

Norway House was the center of a vast trade as it stood on the main waterway from the prairies to the Bay. It was the half-way house between York Factory and the Red River settlement. Lord Selkirk's colonists paused here on their first trek to wilderness homes in 1812. Twice, in 1815 and 1816, they took refuge at Norway House when driven from Fort Garry by the Nor'westers. Brought back to the Red River in 1817 when Selkirk himself visited the colony, their community faced further years of hardship but endured as a real beginning for the settlement of what is now Manitoba.

At the annual Convention of the Poultry Science Association of North America held recently at Madison, Wis., W. A. A novel dual ceremony was that by which Charles W. Froschel of New York was made a Justice of the City Court and at the same time a formally qualified member of the Boy Scouts of America. At the close of the induction of Judge Froschel into his office on the bench, an Eagle Scout (equivalent of a Canadian King's Scout) came forward and administered the oath of the American Scouts. The added ceremony was carried out at the request of Judge Froschel, who had been for 16 years associated with Scouting in New York City, although not officially invested as a Scout.

SCOUTING FOR BRAZIL

A law was recently enacted in Brazil under which the Scout Movement has been introduced into the elementary and secondary schools of the Republic. The new law, passed by the Legislature, and sanctioned by the President, provides that

"SUFFERED SIX
CONSTIPATION"

"For six years I suffered with constipation, and I decided to try ALL-BRAN. I have been eating it once a day for about four years, and it has certainly done the work." —Mrs. Herman Futrell (address on request).

Tests prove that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is safe and effective for correcting common constipation.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, and gently exercises and cleanses the intestines. It also furnishes vitamin B to tone the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily, either as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. Three times daily in severe cases. You'll find this food far better than habit-forming pills and drugs. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London.

THE SCOUTS AND THE "BLACK MARIA"

The following amusing "unofficial" experience of a group of Canadian Boy Scouts at the National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America in Washington was related by the Scout-published "Jamboree Journal":

Ten Canadian Scouts were unsuccessful in their attempt to get a ride in a police wagon. When the New Brunswick delegation arrived at Union Station they discovered that there were ten more Scouts in their party than the bus could carry in one load. Just as the bus was leaving, a police patrol wagon backed up to where they stood, the officers jumped out, opened the back door, and walked on into the station. Promptly the ten Canadian Scouts piled themselves and equipment into the wagon, and were all set to go when the officers returned with another type of passenger. Needless to say, the Scouts hastily piled out.

Fernosa Famous for Fence
Ceded to Japan by China in 1895, Fernosa is famous for one of the most unusual fences in the world. Called the Ayu-Sen, or guard line, it extends for more than 360 miles, of which 230 are electrified. Its purpose is to keep back the Chin-hwan, or "wild savages," who live in the interior and raid the civilized communities which cling precariously to a narrow belt of coastline. The savages number more than 100,000 and are divided into 146 tribes. They practice head-hunting. For currency, salt is used. Instead of priests they have priestesses. These women act as "rain destroyers." It rains so much in Fernosa that "rain-making," practiced among primitives of dry climates, gives way to savage incantations to prevent rainfall.—Washington Post.

WHO WILL BE CAPTAIN?

The boys were assembled in the Ball Park for the first time since the holidays, swapping tales of their summer experiences, which were many and varied. Their merry laughter and gay voices floated back to a house nearby where the man who was responsible for the Ball Park sat in a wheel chair by an open window enjoying the perfume of roses that had climbed up to the sill and swayed in all their glorious, flaming beauty before his longing eyes.

As their laughter floated up to him his face lighted up with a smile of contentment as the thought came into his mind that, though he had been laid aside from active service, he was still able to be of service to the boys in providing them with a place for their amusements where they could not be in anyone's way or damage anyone's homes with stray balls.

As the laughter died away, to be replaced by the murmur of voices, he realized that they were making plans for the season and wondered who they would choose for their captain, as Phil Grant had moved away and some one must be chosen to fill his place. He could tell by the rise and fall of their voices that all was not in accord, and sighed deeply. "Boys will be boys," he murmured, "but I do hope they will make a wise choice and there will be no hard feeling."

Down in the park, Bob Seely was saying, "Aw shucks, who wants Bill Brown for a captain! He'll be such a boss that there will be mutiny before many months."

"The boys need a real boss," said Fred Dey. "Phil Grant was too easy with them last year. They did not do half as well as when he—(with a jerk of his thumb towards the house where a man sat in a wheel chair) was their captain."

"Mr. Armitage was not bossy," Fred, said Bob.

"No! but he had a way with him, and the boys all worshipped him. What he said was law with them."

"How about yourself, Fred? You'd make a swell captain, you're so tall."

"I am tall all right, but I'd have about as much influence over that bunch as I would have over the wind. Anyway, I think Bill wants the position and I say, as far as I am concerned, he can have it."

A voice behind the two boys suddenly said, "I have been wondering what about that new boy. He looks like an athlete, he does not smoke, and always wears such a pleasant smile. I'll bet he'd be the right one; but there seems to be a bit of a row going on, let's go over and see what they are scrapping about."

"Here, Here! None of that," he cried, as he wrenched two lads apart who were locked in an angry-looking clinch. "Leave fighting for henthens and swelled heads who like to show off. We can settle this business without hard feelings. What is the row anyway?"

"Both of them want to be captain of the ball team," tittered a small lad from somewhere in the background.

"Too fiery tempered to serve as captains," Fred commented, good naturedly. "Only those who can control their own tempers will make good controllers of others. What about nominating two or three and having a vote by ballot?"

"Hip, hip, hurrah! That's an idea worth mentioning," cried Bill Dexter. "I have a pad in my pocket, and say, why not go quietly up to Armitage's and let Mr. Armitage be our scrutineer."

With one accord the boys trooped off to the Armitage house, lined up opposite the window and saluted Mr. Armitage. "Come up lads," he said, "and tell me all the news."

After the boys had introduced the new boy, Mr. Armitage said, "Danby! Danby! Not Buzz Danby's son! Buzz Danby of my old base-ball team back home, and the best base-ball coach that I know of!"

The new boy's eyes lighted up with pride as he said, "I am Buzz Danby's boy all right, although I do not remember ever hearing my dad called by that name, but I have often heard my mother speaking of 'the old bunch' who seldom called him anything else. You must be one of his old pals, sir?"

"I am, my boy, and I am so glad to know that he is somewhere near, as he must be if you are going to be one of our boys."

"We are right across from here on the opposite side of the park. How glad Dad will be to meet you again."

"Not more so than I, Keith. What a grand time we will have talking about old times. But you boys wanted to consult me about something, did you not?"

"We were thinking of voting for a captain to fill Grant's place, Mr. Armitage," said Fred Dey, "but after what we have just heard, I think we can choose one without. I think Keith Danby would just fill the bill. What do you say, lads?"

"Danby! Keith Danby!" came from each boyish throat, while Keith stood twirling his cap in pleased excitement.

"That seems to settle the matter," said Mr. Armitage with a smile, "and if he is anything like his father, boys, you have chosen well."

That they had chosen well Mr. Armitage realized all through the fall season by the shouts of "Keith Danby! Keith Danby! Hurrah for old Keith" which floated up to him from the Ball Park.

FATAL ACCIDENT WHEN 3 MEN DRIVING TO WORK HERE MONDAY

AUTO SWERVED AND CRASHED INTO TREE

ONE KILLED INSTANTLY

Three Montreal pipe-fitters, engaged by R. McArthur & Son on building projects here in Lachute, were in a 1928 Pontiac car which crashed into a tree 1½ miles east of Belle Rivière at 7.40 o'clock Monday morning. The driver of the car, Leo Desjardins, aged 28, was killed instantly, while René Normand, a fellow-worker, 23 years of age, who was seated beside him in the front seat, suffered a broken leg and severe injuries about the head. L. A. Clermont, 46, who occupied the rear seat, was badly shaken and bruised, but escaped serious injury. Normand was taken to Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal, by ambulance.

A preliminary inquest was held at the home of J. P. Gratton nearby, where the victim's body was carried. Dr. Antonio Pagé of St. Heras presided as district coroner. Walker K. McArthur, by whom Desjardins had been engaged on several local plumbing contracts, identified the body, which was

Interesting Program For Golf Club Closing Day

The official closing of the Lachute Golf Club took place Saturday afternoon, Sept. 11th. The occasion was favoured with ideal weather for playing and a large number of the members attended.

At 2.30 p.m. six foursomes teed off. An 18-hole mixed four-ball foursome competition was played. The players were divided into two teams, namely the President's and the Vice-President's. The former team won by the large margin of 10 up. At the end of the first nine holes the players all gathered at the club house for a tea which the ladies had prepared. Then the second nine holes were played, after which the presentation of prizes took place.

Captain Rev. Henry Cousens announced that Miss Pauline Paquette and Mr. T. K. Haller had the best net score for the President's team and Mrs. Cousens and Mr. John Galbraith Jr. the best net score on the Vice-President's. Mr. Cousens then called on the President, Mr. R. C. Rogers, to present the prizes—which were donated by himself and the Vice-President, Mr. T. Milnes. After congratulations had been extended to the winners of the day's play the ladies' President, Mrs. G. J. Cheley, presented Mrs. Haller with the beautiful club trophy donated by Mrs. E. F. Ayers and which goes annually to the best lady player. Mrs. Cheley then presented Miss Agnes McDougall, winner of the President's competition, with a silver cup, and Mr. Rogers presented Mr. G. J. Cheley with the club trophy donated by Mr. E. F. Ayers to winner of the club championship. Mr. E. M. Jones was then called upon to present his cup, given annually to the winner of the club handicap competition. Mr. Sydney Drew was the recipient. Rev. H. Cousens was the winner of the ringer competition.

Regulations for the Handling and Storage of Gasoline

New regulations governing the handling and storage of gasoline are effective in Ontario, as stated in Municipal World, St. Thomas. The Act, passed at the recent session of the legislature, comes under the Fire Marshal's department.

Regulations require handlers of the gasoline not to smoke; tanks of more than fifty gallons capacity used for the transporting of gasoline must be permanently attached to the truck chassis; trucks used for the transportation of gasoline must carry fire extinguishers; special types of valves and non-leak tanks must be used.

Service stations are warned against the use of visible type of pumps where gasoline is displayed in a glass container of more than one gallon capacity. None of these shall be installed after January, 1942, and every such pump must be taken out of service by 1947. Pumps now installed on public streets, lanes or highways must be out of service also by 1947. And no pump shall henceforth be installed in such a way that a vehicle stands upon the street or highway while being served.

Owners of automobiles must turn off the engine when having gasoline tank filled.

No petroleum products, such as the crank case oil, shall be allowed to enter a sewer or subsurface drainage system. Officials of the Department may limit the number of empty gasoline drums stored in any one place.

Long, Dry Inquiry Ahead of Rowell Commission; Laymen Puzzled, But Groundwork Essential to Clarify Dominion-Provincial Relations and Finances

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, Sept. 14th.—The royal commission on Dominion-Provincial relations has held its preliminary organization meetings here, and now waits on the provinces to complete their representations. It will sit in every provincial capital, and in Ottawa as well. It will hear the cases of the governments, and also of all bodies of public opinion, but will not be able to hear individuals. The work is of great magnitude and will take much time. The commission, of which the chairman is Hon. N. W. Rowell, chief justice of the province of Ontario, will appoint experts and delegates of its own to inquire into special technical aspects, and these may even go to other countries for some of their data.

It appears likely that the western provinces will have their cases ready first. It has been suggested that the first meetings will be held in November. It is the general desire of all parties to have the recommendations of the commission ready for the coming session of parliament, and yet there seems very little likelihood of this. The issues are too important, and, in some respects, too controversial.

Beyond the fact that it is to study economic and financial relationships of the Dominion and the provinces—abstract words that may mean much or little—many people seem to be puzzled just what is hoped to accomplish by means of this commission. One hears, also, considerable criticism that any more commissions are being appointed.

HEPBURN PROMISES EMPLOYMENT INSURANCE AT NEXT SESSION

GOVERNMENT PREPARING

CAMPAIGN SPEECH

Unemployment insurance will be enacted by the Ontario Legislature at the 1938 session if the Liberal party is returned to power, Premier Mitchell Hepburn told an audience at Peterborough on Monday.

Earlier in the election campaign the Premier intimated the Government was preparing an unemployment insurance plan, but this was the first announcement that it would be proceeded with at next session.

The Government was seeking to work out solutions for the labor and social problems of the province in an orderly and constructive way. It was eliminating sweatshops, moving steadily towards higher living standards for the laboring people without disrupting industry and destroying jobs.

His proposed unemployment insurance scheme, he said, would provide security for labor against the curse of unemployment.

Radio Contact Stirrs Old Memories of Lachute

Mr. Ted Hammond of Lachute Mills has narrated many refreshing sidelights of his radio contacts with short wave operators across the continent and abroad. A conversation with a Rhode Island station this week was picked up by a former resident of this town, who subsequently wrote to Mr. Hammond in a reminiscent vein as follows:

Providence, R. I. Sept 10, 1937
VE2GH, Lachute, Que.

Dear Sir: While visiting my neighbor last night, WICBX of North Providence, we heard you calling CQ on the 75 metre band. I asked WICBX to answer you because I once lived in Lachute, oh, about 19 or 20 years ago, when I was a youngster. If our transmission had been clear I would have liked to ask you some questions about my old stamping ground.

As I remember, it was a small village, with about one main street, a railroad track and Ayers Ltd., where my Dad used to work. The millinery store was a room in somebody's house. I believe there were movies once a week, presumably on Saturday nights. Most of my playmates were little French children who barely spoke English, and as I knew very little French, we had a gay time. Our family lived in one half of a double house, our neighbors on the other side being a French family by the name of Mason.

I remember a big lumber company just down the street, which burned down in a blaze of glory. The fire department turned out, bucket brigade and everything. That was the day the pond ran dry. My mother thought the firemen weren't putting the fire out fast enough, and ran into the thick of things to help. Due to the combined efforts of the firemen and the fire, she soon retreated to our side of the street, albeit very much excited. Boy, that was a honey of a fire, best one I ever watched!

Another memory brings back a lovely autumn day. I was walking along the railroad tracks with a girl of my own age named Myrtle Something-or-other, and spying what I thought was a rusty, three-sided file about twelve inches long—just as I stooped over to pick it up, the file came to life and wiggled off into the grass. I was still running away from that snake half an hour later.

These are my memories of Lachute. I wonder what the passing years have achieved. Perhaps you can call Frank some other night, and give me a word picture of the Lachute of 1937.

Sincerely, Doris Sweet.

We like to buy at home, and we like to advise others to do the same thing. We had hoped that all the merchants and business people would reciprocate by purchasing their printing and stationery from us. We are glad to report that most of them do come to us put a few hand everything to the Toronto salesmen who call.

Accident Victims Treated at Ste. Agathe Sanatorium

FATHER KILLED, 2 SONS CRITICALLY INJURED

One man was killed and seven other persons injured—two critically—in a head-on collision between an automobile and a truck on the Laurentian highway at Val Morin Sunday night. The dead man and the seven injured persons, members of two families, were all occupants of the automobile and were returning to Montreal from a week-end holiday at Ste. Agathe. The truck was travelling toward Ste. Agathe. The dead man is Joseph Grenier, of Montreal, who died after being removed to the Montreal General Hospital. Grenier's two sons were unconscious, suffering from fractures of the skull. All eight victims were taken to the Montreal General Hospital in an ambulance and a Ste. Agathe taxi after the injured had received first aid treatment by Dr. F. L. Phelps and Dr. Kenneth Brown at Ste. Agathe Sanatorium.

PATIENCE, MEN, PATIENCE!

(An editorial from the Rotarian Magazine)

It would be a great and valuable experience if every man, once during his lifetime, could sit over there on Mars for half an hour and get perspective on this world's workaday affairs.

But probably that will be impossible for a few years at least. The next best thing is to sit at the feet of Sir James Jeans, the English scientist.

He suggests in "The Universe Around Us", as you may recall, that to see ourselves and our generation in proper relation to the past and the future, we should lick a postage stamp and stick it on a penny. Then climb either of Cleopatra's Needles (one and each is about 70 feet high) and place thereon the penny, stamp side up. If the height of the whole structure be taken as a scale to represent the time elapsed since the earth became the earth, the thickness of the penny and the stamp represents the time that man has lived on the earth, and the thickness of the stamp the time that man has been civilized.

Now, suggests Sir James, stick on another stamp; it corresponds to 5,000 years. Then another stamp, another, and another, until you have a stamp column as high as Mont Blanc, France, which is 14,782 feet high.

"Even now", Sir James will tell you, "the pile forms an inadequate representation of the length of the future which, so far as astronomy can see, probably stretches before civilized humanity unless an accident cuts us short. The first postage stamp was the past of civilization. The column higher than Mont Blanc is the future. The first stamp represents what man has already achieved—the pile which outtops Mont Blanc represents what he may achieve if his future achievement is proportional to his time on earth."

Parking Meters Considered Unsuitable for Montreal Streets

Little likelihood exists that Montreal's streets will be lined with parking meters in the immediate future. Various aldermen have become interested in the scheme, employed in many U.S. cities, as a means to ending the constant stream of constituents that flock to them for ticket fixing, but there is no decided lobby for its adoption as yet, and Executive Committee members denied having considered it, according to a City Hall commentator.

The greatest stumbling block to adoption of the parking meter, whereby the motorist pays pro rata for his parking time, lies in the fact that charter amendment would be necessary before the city would be empowered to rent, lease or sell property for parking. Another hindrance to the use of the parking meter in downtown Montreal, where the problem is most acute, is the narrowness of the streets. Use of the meter, which is set on the curb every few feet or so, with room for one automobile in front of each, necessitates parking at right angles to the sidewalk. This practice is impossible in many streets.

Covers are disappearing from the manholes in Houston, Texas, causing police to wonder. They shouldn't. The manhole is the last refuge of the pedestrian. —San Francisco Chronicle.

'Twas Ever Thus

Last week a salesman for a Toronto printing firm spent a couple of days in the village, and obtained a number of orders from local business men—the same business men whom each week, this paper advises local buyers to patronize. There isn't a reason in the world why that Toronto firm should obtain a single order here. This newspaper is equipped to do any sort of printing that may be required locally. When the editor requires a pound of nails, or a quart of paint, he deals with local firms; our bread comes from the local bakery, our butter from the local creamery; our groceries, clothing, shoes, gasoline, are obtained from local retailers.

Cat Scatting

There are two ways to run a telephone cable through a subterranean pipe. One is the hard way and the other is the way the United States' Navy did it recently. Instead of ripping up the linoleum, wood and cement floor of the Naval Air Reserve base at Floyd Bennett Field, Chief Radio Man Harold A. Williams and Ralph Cabanillas, Jr., recruited a cat. To the cat they attached a gauze harness, hooked the harness to a line, put the cat at the mouth of the tunnel and said: "Scat!" The cat didn't scat. So, a police dog was called, and the cat went scat.

As soon as cornstalks and other vegetable plants become dry they should be pulled up and burned, thereby destroying possible insect pests and leaving the ground clear and ready for next spring's digging.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Chambers, of St. Philippe, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Graham.

Miss Helen Maclean, R.N., of Montreal, is spending a few days with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Maclean.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Chambers motored to Covey Hill and visited friends for several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Beecher and family, of Montreal, accompanied by Miss Helen Maw, motored from Montreal and spent the week-end at Lilac Lodge.

A pleasant afternoon was spent last Saturday at the home of Miss Mary Hill, Chabro, who entertained at an afternoon tea in honor of her niece, Mrs. Stanley Donaldson, who is one of the recent brides and who received along with the good wishes of the party a number of pretty and useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Canning and daughter, Margaret, also Miss Grace Hartley, R.N., and

Mr. Christopher Hartley, were among the guests at the marriage of Miss Doris Robinson to Mr. Florus D. Aitken, which took place on Saturday in the quaint little Anglican church in Dorval. A reception was held after the wedding at the summer home of the bride's parents on Dorval Island, the guests being conveyed there by motor launch. The bride has many connections in Cushing, her grandmother being a former Miss Canning, aunt of Mr. W. H. Canning of this place. She has also many intimate friends, having spent several summers in Cushing with her family in the years gone by. All join in wishing her every happiness in her new life.

GRENVILLE

Delousing Dog, Cat and Canary

David Harum's opinion that "a reasonable amount of fleas is good for a dog, keeps him from brooding on being a dog maybe", is not shared by those who consider the comfort of their domestic pets and their own self-respect. How important one lady regarded her doggie's cleanliness is revealed in a recent news dispatch from Shanghai. This lady, the wife of a newspaper correspondent, described graphically her experience in one of the terrifying air raids. "I had stopped", she said, "to buy some flea soap for our dog, Scottie", when suddenly the sky was dotted with aeroplanes, making puffs of black smoke as each bomb dropped. After it was all over, this brave lady—"the bravest of the tenderest"—analysed her feelings and commented: "I didn't faint, I didn't become hysterical, nor heroic—I just went on and bought flea soap for our dog." Lucky dog, if he still lives to wag his tail!

A gentleman in Vancouver refers to the well-known merits of nicotine sulphate in killing lice and fleas on plants and poultry and expresses surprise that he has not seen the substance recommended for the delousing of pet stock. He relates how he tried it on the cat whose persistent scratching annoyed him. Failing to obtain results with flea soap and other mild powder remedies, he decided on an experiment. He made a solution of one ounce of nicotine sulphate in five gallons of warm water and, much to her discomfort, immersed puss completely therein. The experimenter may have calculated that a cat has nine lives and could take at least eight chances! Be that as it may, the fact is recorded that she survived the ordeal by water, while the parasite pests died. Whether, like Thomas Gray's favourite cat which drowned in a tub of gold fishes, "she mewed to every watery god some speedy aid to send", is not recorded, but puss no doubt resented the dipping more than a dog would have. The results of the bath were amazing. Not a single insect remained. But after five days the egg state of the cycle was reached, and another bath was necessary. Thereafter the cat had immunity, and the narrator states that, over a long period, he finds a treatment once in three months all that is necessary. Others have taken his advice and corroborated his experience.

It may be a long jump from a cat to a canary, but these little feathered friends repay with melodious song the sanitary care bestowed upon them, and in several bird stores, as well as in the gilded cages of private houses, nicotine sulphate (40% nicotine) is brushed occasionally on the roosts, just before nightfall. The heat of the birds' bodies releases the nicotine fumes which penetrate among the feathers and kill the lice, just in the same way as with barnyard fowl.

There is no reason, remarks B. Leslie Ennals, writing our regular "Farm News Letter", why nicotine sulphate should not be used more extensively than it is in ridding pets of insect pests. In the United Kingdom the dipping of sheep, to destroy keds and ticks and to prevent skin diseases, is compulsory and must be performed twice a year in the presence of an officer of the law. Surely lovers of domestic pets need no coercion in providing for their well-being.

"THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT" Weekly Review of National Affairs Specially written for The Lachute Watchman By Wilfrid Eggleston

'Government by royal commission' is being held up to scorn in some quarters. Actually, it consists merely of the sensible practice of getting an expert report on an intricate problem. The real attack on the problem comes later, and must be made by the governments in power. Before it acts, the Dominion desires to have the advice of the most enlightened public-spirited citizens, and it uses the Rowell commission as a means of getting this. The commission is mainly to collect and transmit — not to originate its own ideas on the subject.

The commission part of the work may take a year, and in some respects it is the simplest phase. The commission will make recommendations for changes in the British North America Act. The Dominion and the nine provinces will meet to discuss these proposals. It is then that the real difficulties will be met. It is not impossible that a general election may be fought out on the issues that come to front.

TWO MAIN INQUIRIES

The commission will, it is expected, keep two questions to the front of their inquiries:

1. Which governments—Dominion or provincial—are best fitted and most willing to bear the new burdens of social legislation and unemployment relief?
2. How can the tax sources of the Dominion be fairly divided between the governments, in view of the above division of responsibilities?

At present the provinces complain that whereas they are, as the constitution is now interpreted, responsible almost completely for social legislation, they cannot finance such a burden. The cure might be to take away some of their responsibilities, or give them new tax sources, or a little of both.

No doubt the provinces will have their own views on that, and will express them. The difficulty will be, undoubtedly, that they will have nine different views on the subject, while the Dominion will have a tenth. It will be the reconciling and adjusting of these variant points of view that will be the heavy task of a Dominion Provincial convention later on.

If the commission does nothing more than provide Canada with a more scientific taxation system, it will have accomplished a useful purpose. At present the test of any tax is: will it raise the necessary money, easily and quickly? There is little regard for the fairness of the tax, its effect on industry and employment, or anything of that sort. The provinces have been collecting taxes which obviously would be much more fairly and much more cheaply collected by the Dominion. Also, they have been compelled, because of the B.N.A. act, to collect taxes in the most laborious and expensive method. All of these things will be examined.

MAKES HURRIED TRIP
Hon. R. W. Bingham, U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain, who made a hurried trip across the Atlantic on the Empress of Britain to see the President of the United States. He denied there was any special significance to his visit and praised highly the kindly and queenly qualities of King George and Queen Elizabeth.

Our New Canadians Need Recognition

In the opinion of those who have made a study of immigration problems, it is not that new settlers in Canada, coming from Central Europe and the British Isles, are in need of actual practical assistance, or even of advice as to methods of working and living in Canada, so much as they need recognition of their institutions and standards. Once this recognition is granted them it is believed that they will the more readily absorb the ideals of citizenship in their new home, and become more kindly disposed toward neighbors who are as strange to them in all their ways as they are to Canadians.

It would not be in accordance with the nature of human beings that these new peoples should all become readily Canadianized. Some of them will never be, chiefly the older generation, who cannot take kindly to a life so different from their own. But there is every reason to believe that the younger people will, in language, dress and habits of thought and living, conform very readily to Canadian life.

Dies of Modesty in a Nudist Age

Nudism, absolute and slightly incomplete, is practised in summertime on a scale which should make our Puritan forefathers squirm in their graves.

And yet 17-year-old John Johnson drowned himself near Gransboro, N.C., recently rather than let some girls see that he was bathing in the raw.

He and some other boys were swimming in a spot where they did not expect any visitors.

When some girls drove up in their car he ducked under the water hoping they'd drive on without discovering him.

Three hours later his body was discovered.

POSTAGE fluctuations

When Benjamin Franklin was Postmaster General of the United States it cost a shilling, about 25 cents, to send a letter from Philadelphia to Boston, by a mail messenger riding horseback. The rate came down to ten cents about 100 years ago. Then, as steamboat and stage lines increased it was reduced to five cents. The first postage stamps, issued in the 1840's, were five cents. By the 1850's, the letter rate came down to three cents, and there it stood for 30 years. I can well remember when letter postage was reduced to two cents, in 1883. It climbed to three cents again in the Spanish war and the World War, and then a few years ago when the depression hit us.

Now there is a strong movement to put letter postage back to two cents. Why not? It is not the object of the Post Office to earn a profit or even to cover expenses. It exists to give the people the best possible service at the least possible cost.

FREEDOM . . . press and speech

The greatest danger to human liberty comes when obstacles are put in the way of the free expression of truth or of opinion. We have taken the constitutional guaranty of freedom of speech and of the press for granted for so many years that we have been slow to see the signs of attempts to muzzle the press and to prevent people from saying in public what they believe.

I see signs all around me of efforts to suppress the free expression of opinion. It has always seemed to me that any principle, policy or program, whether political or otherwise, which cannot stand up under free discussion, is not very soundly based. But I see even newspaper men allying themselves with institutions which put loyalty to the organization ahead of loyalty to truth and free speech.

Those are danger signs. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." One of the first lessons I learned as a young newspaper man was to beware of the man or group who wanted to "keep something out of the paper."

COCKATOO humans

My wife and I were awakened before sun-up a few days ago by a cry of "Hello!" which seemed to come from the sky, followed by a raucous screech which sounded like a child in pain. We rushed to the window. The screeching continued. It came from the top of a tall ash tree close to the house. Perched on an upper branch was one of the most beautiful birds I have ever seen; pure white, with a crest of feathers tinged with pale yellow. It was bigger than a Leghorn pullet. It screamed "Hello!" at us again, and flew to another tree, emitting loud cries as it flew.

Soon there was quite a gathering of neighbors on our front lawn, gazing up at the strange bird. One of them was its owner. It was a trained Australian sulphur-crested cockatoo, he said, which he uses in a theatrical act, and had escaped when he was cleaning its cage.

The bird stayed in our trees for two days and nights, refusing to be coaxed back to captivity. He was beautiful to look at, but every time he screeched he reminded me of many people I have met, who are attractive until they open their mouths.

Outside Looking In

Did you ever look at your house as you approached it and think it looked dispirited and dejected? Remember how a facial or a shave will raise your own morale—and let the house profit accordingly.

You may obtain modernization funds from any Canadian bank under the Home Improvement Plan for the necessary beauty treatment for your house. Credit may be obtained in any amount up to $2,000 for the repair, improvement, alteration or addition to private homes.

The entrance to a house may often change the entire character of the building. A sheltered entrance is a convenience in bad weather for the guest who is waiting for the door to be opened, and it also prevents the rain from beating in.

The Junior League

The Junior League originated among a small group of young women in New York city who in 1900 sent a large number of roses from a party to a hospital. Later they and others banded together "for mutual benefit and the good of the community." From giving entertainments for the benefit of a college settlement they extended their activities to many other forms of social aid. Similar organizations of young women were formed in other cities out of which grew a national association of leagues, each interested in its particular ways in the educational, cultural and civic conditions of its community and in volunteer charitable and other service.

Sentiments Mellowed
in a Long Association

Sir George Perley, loved and esteemed in this county which he first represented in the Federal Parliament in 1904, celebrated his 80th birthday on Sunday, September 12. He is now one of the most distinguished figures in Canadian public life, yet even to the most humble of his friends in the old constituency his handshake is genuine and sincere, his sentiments ring true with neighborly sympathy.

His full title today is — Right Hon. Sir George H. Perley, K.C.M.G., P.C., M.P. Many tributes in the press make mention of his services to the Dominion and the Empire, and to the honors bestowed in recognition of these services. But to the farmer of Argenteuil and the man on Main Street, regardless of his political hue, Sir George's human qualities stamp him with the distinction of manhood which commands a far more touching respect.

From the broad expanse of the Ottawa to the sparsely settled north of Argenteuil, this county echoes the good wishes which have been expressed, for his continued health and many more years of useful service to Canada.

What of it?

For years I have been able to save myself a lot of frothing at the mouth by pausing long enough to say, "What of it?" when something has come up to bother me. Just try this yourself the next time you are inclined to get excited or irritated over things, and you will see how effectively it will work. Please do not think that I am attempting to give you an easy-going formula for shrugging your troubles away. It is not as simple as all that. Troubles, like seed time and harvest, will always be with us. But a change of attitude toward them will make a world of difference in their effect upon us.

—September Rotarian Magazine.

Impressions on Visit of British Local Government Officials

The recent visit of the National Association of Local Government Officers of Great Britain to Canada, though short, cannot help but have excellent results, particularly in bringing home to the authorities of the various municipalities visited not only the importance of the municipal officer in England and Scotland, but of the permanence of his position. In the party were town clerks, treasurers, accountants, medical officers, architects and relief officials, all part of an organization which while protecting its 90,000 members from political interference, is particularly keen in maintaining amongst them a high standard of efficiency through an educational policy which embraces summer schools at the universities of Oxford, Cambridge and Paris, a correspondence institute and a lending library of municipal literature. With such educational facilities at the command of its members—which they are expected to take up with "something approaching religious zeal"—there is no wonder that the British local government service stands high as the administrative unit in municipal matters. Municipal Canada, with a few notable exceptions, has not yet reached the stage where the actual administration is in the hands of permanent officials. Perhaps that day is not far off, and it behooves all civic officers to fit themselves for such responsibility. They can take a lesson from their British colleagues.

Aside from providing educational facilities the N.A.L.G.O. encourages thrift among its members by issuing insurance policies. It also controls a building society through which members are enabled to build or buy their own homes; and although members' fees are very small the funds of the organization exceed $15,000,000. Evidently the management of the N.A.L.G.O. is carried on with the same thoroughness as the British local government service itself.

Co-operating for Safety

An innovation to safety-campaigning has been introduced in Ontario, where motorists may report to the Department of Highways instances of reckless driving observed on the roads. Sound judgment is urged upon those lodging complaints, and their information as to time, place and the offender's licence number is followed up and investigated by departmental officials.

A well conducted business can still operate without advertising, but it stands to reason that, by more people knowing it is well conducted, it will do more business.

UPHOLD CONVENTION GRANTS

A motion to halt civic grants to visiting conventions was defeated in the Toronto city council. Alderman William Croft, sponsoring the motion, charged the annual custom of voting $20,000 for such purposes had become "a practice of cheap chiselling."

ONE GOOD OUTCOME OF DEPRESSION

One of the most valuable results of measures adopted to meet the economic depression was the construction of a series of 100 emergency landing fields across Canada, declared Transport Minister C. D. Howe, addressing a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Medical Association. The minister doubted if such a gigantic task would have been attempted by any government under ordinary circumstances. The result was that landing fields were now available at intervals of not more than 50 miles between Vancouver and Halifax and would be completely ready for use by autumn.

EXCEPTIONS TO VENDING MACHINE TAX

The Ottawa Board of Control has pointed out that its by-law calling for a fee of $250 a year on vending machines, which is now being prepared by the City Solicitor, will not include such machines as paper cups and sanitary articles, etc., mostly sold at one cent each.

This was made known upon receipt of a letter from J. M. Montgomery, manager of the cup department, the Continental Paper Products, Limited, who emphasized the fact that cups were being sold for convenience and sanitary protection.

FIREMEN NEED BULLET-PROOF VESTS

Politics are so "corrupt" in Kansas City the fire chief and his assistant must wear bullet proof vests, Fred Baer, president of the International Firefighters' Association, told the Federation of Ontario Firefighters recently at Kingston, according to a Canadian Press dispatch.

Baer said back pay of $15,000 had been deducted illegally from firemen's salaries and was being sought through the courts. He had investigated conditions there and slept in 125 different rooms on as many nights in a 200-room hotel, changing from one to the other for safety. His car was wrecked and he had a bodyguard with a shotgun to accompany him.

"All cities in the United States are not like Kansas City, but it shows you some of the things the International is up against," Baer stated.

Canadian Passenger and Ticket Agents Hold
51st. Convention on S.S. Tadoussac to the Saguenay

When it became known that the Executive of the Ticket Agents Association had arranged a boat trip for their 51st annual convention this year there was a ready response to the invitation, and 130 members shared the opportunity to enjoy the charms of the Upper and Lower St. Lawrence on their trip from Toronto to the Saguenay, on the Canadian Steamship Lines' commodious vessel, Tadoussac.

Leaving Toronto on Thursday afternoon last the party made an enjoyable run through the Thousand Islands down to Montreal, where they were joined by the Quebec members of the Association Friday evening. It was a re-union of old friends, with a number of new members added, and many happy experiences were exchanged.

On Saturday the members were in session to discuss the affairs of the Association and matters pertaining to transportation. These gatherings are most helpful and educative, the purpose being that agents shall have first-hand knowledge to pass along to the buyers of transportation.

The Saguenay trip was one that will long be remembered. There is much one could say but space forbids elaborating upon the picturesque scenery and little villages dotting the shore line until reaching the Saguenay, and as the steamer swings into the natural bay at the foot of Cape Eternity, the fog-horn sounds a mournful wail which rends the silence and later taken by relatives for burial in Montreal. The funeral was held this morning. Desjardins was unmarried.

Fatal Accident When Men

Provincial traffic officers investigated the accident. Observers stated that Desjardins, who was driving, appeared to have difficulty with his car. Swaying of the machine indicated a soft tire. Melvin Griffin of Montreal had passed him on his way to Lachute. Marks on the car showed that the cars had touched slightly. Griffin, looking backward through his mirror, noticed that Desjardins swerved to the left and apparently lost control, the car swinging again to the right of the road and crashing into a tree about 175 feet from where the autos had passed. Griffin stopped immediately and, with the passengers he was conveying to Lachute, summoned the assistance of neighbors. The side of the car had been torn off by the impact, Desjardins being hurled through the windshield into the ditch.

The inquest was postponed until such time as Normand and Clermont could appear to give evidence.

DEATH
HODGE — At Lakefield, Que., on Sept. 15th, Thomas Hodge, in his 92nd year. Funeral from his late residence, to Trinity Church, Lakefield, at 2 o'clock (Standard Time) Friday, Sept. 17th.

IN MEMORIAM
LAURIN — In loving memory of a dear brother, Albert Thomas, who passed away Sept. 14th, 1936.

Deep in our heart lies a picture,
Of a loved one we laid to rest,
In memory's frame we will keep it,
For he was one of the best.
A face is ever before us,
A voice that we cannot forget,
A smile that will linger forever—
In memory we see him yet.

Ever remembered by his brother Ernest, wife and family.

McINTOSH — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George McIntosh, who passed away Sept. 13th, 1923.

Memory's lane is a dear little path
Where hearts are ever true,
A path we travel again and again,
Because it leads to you.

Ever remembered by his wife and daughter, Audrey.

LAURIN — In loving memory of Albert Laurin, who passed away on Sept. 14th, 1936.

No one knows the silent heartaches
Only those who have loved can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one we loved so well.

Ever remembered by Mother, Father and family.

strikes every ledge and cranny, the echo being carried from cliff to cliff. Cape Eternity is the highest peak, being 1800 ft. above sea level, and on this promontory stands the famous statue of Our Lady of the Saguenay which was erected in 1881.

The Saguenay Power Company, one of the most important the great hydro companies, has already invested many millions in the development of the Lake St. John region with its pulp and paper industry. New towns and cities have grown around the mills, which would never had come into existence but for the pulp and paper industry. The Lake St. John region is more than a new industrial district; it has also its romantic atmosphere, being the land of "Maria Chapdelaine", heroine of Louis Hemon's classic novel of that name.

"That's The Life"
A transient in town was asked if he never looked for a job. Yes, and he had a job last spring with a farmer. He worked at it for two days, then he heard the train whistle at the nearby station and he left without saying goodbye, swung on to the train, and was away again. As he says: "That is the life." There's no work to be done; he sees the country; and he gets fed with no questions asked, and no work to do so long as he stays away from those places which demand something in return for their money. —Fergus News-Record.

Further appointments, as recommended to the government within this constituency, will be made in due course.

Fishermen Hope To Beat Shipworm With Tar-Copper

Farmers are not the only ones who have to worry over bugs, worms and such like. Down by the sea the teredo is the bane of the fisherman, this shipworm eating its way into the planking of ships, and the wood of lobster traps, according to the Natural Resources Department of the C. N. Rlys. Wharves also suffer from their attacks, particularly piling. At the Prince Edward Island Biological Station experiments have been underway in an endeavour to secure a fairly cheap preservative. A mixture of copper oleate, benzol and tar, costing about 44 cents a gallon, was developed, which promises well from tests made last year. Further tests are being conducted this season and it looks as if this tar-copper mixture will turn the trick.

Of Course we buy goods

-BUY RIGHT HERE IN THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

Too many people think of chain stores as interested only in selling goods. To sell them, we have to buy them first and in so doing, we create jobs and wages for thousands of Quebec workmen and a market for hundreds of Quebec farmers.

Chain store purchases from Quebec manufacturing plants and farmers aggregate the huge sum of $30,000,000.00 annually, in many cases taking the entire output of considerable plants. These purchases have to be transported to our warehouses and individual stores, an aggregate volume of traffic that means much to Quebec's transportation systems and transport workers.

NIGHT IN THE COUNTRY

The wind goes hushing softly
By the rooms where the children sleep.
And down in the sun-burned meadows
Crouch the timid, restless sheep.
With rustling steps the cattle go,
Amongst dew-drenched clover sweet,
And the plaintive chirp from the hedgerow
Marks a bird, disturbed in sleep.

The lake is clothed in shadow
Where in daytime, minnows swim,
And the loon's wild, lonely laughter
Re-echoes from rim to rim.

The moon breaks cloudy bondage,
And the brook like a ribbon of gold
Meanders a-down the mountain,
Right through the Fairies' Hold.

The Fairies gather round it
To lave their dainty feet,
Then dance 'till the sun grows bold again

NOISES IN THE NIGHT

Mollie was tossing restlessly in her small white bed. She had a slight cold, from staying too long in the water one windy day, and was a bit feverish. Her mother, being worried in case the cold might develop into that dread disease from which so many children were suffering in the big city where they lived in winter, was sleeping on a couch in her little girl's room.

"Mother," Mollie called softly, so as not to wake the other members of the household who were asleep in nearby rooms. "Mother! What makes the night so noisy? May Barker used to recite a poem at school which had a verse about the 'silent darkness of the night,' and while it is dark enough, too dark for me, it is real noisy! Why, even the clock downstairs ticks loudly enough to be heard up here. . . I have been saying one-two, one-two to myself, as it ticked, hoping to make myself sleepy, but the night is too noisy to let me sleep."

"I don't think the night is any noisier than usual, dear," it is just that you are not well and had a sleep this afternoon — which is something you are not accustomed to. Shall I come and talk to you while you are awake?"

"Please do, Mother," replied Mollie happily, coming over close to the edge of the bed, so that she might be able to reach out and clasp her mother's hand as she sat in the big blue chair wrapped in a heavy dressing gown and with a warm cushion under her feet.

"Now then, Mollie Girl. What about these dreadful noises that are bothering you?"

"I say, What about them, too, Mother," said Mollie with a giggle. "Oh, there is one of them right now. I have been hearing noises like that all night. It sounds just as if someone outside my window were saying 'Squawk, squawk, squawk!' Some of the voices are soft, so soft that I can scarcely hear them, others are quite harsh. Do you suppose, Mother, it's fairies who know that my head aches and think it would feel better if I should cry about it. When the pain in my head is bad, I do feel like squawking alright."

"The fairies you hear are wild ducks flying South for the winter. They call to each other in the darkness as they fly along."

"Wild ducks, Mother!" cried Mollie, sitting up in bed with excitement. "Oh, how I wish I could see them."

"Perhaps you shall, dear, some morning when you are better and you can go down to the pond with Grandpa, when he brings the cows."

"But, Mother, those wild ducks that I hear now—they will not be

Never Guess!

By Beulah Frances Holland

"Happiness is like a fawn that hears
Your foot upon a twig, pricks up its ears,
And looks at you with startled, fearful eyes,
Then leaps away beyond your reach. Who tries
To capture happiness with grasping hands
Will never know content. He better plans
Who offers thanks for sunshine after rain,
Rapture after grief, peace after pain,
And work to do; who never risks a guess
Whether what he has is happiness."

Vacation's Over

(He also serves who only wags and waits)

I think I sniff excitement in the air;
Perhaps he's coming home! If I could know.
But up and down the street and everywhere
I've watched about a hundred years or so;
But somehow I expect him any day
With cheery shout, as when he went away.

And when I hear that whistle! and you see
A streak of dog, in frantic happiness—
You'll understand; He'll pat my head and say:
"Hello, old Scout! You missed me some, I guess."
I leap to kiss his hand—and then—Oh boy—
I wonder if a dog can die of joy!

Colleen Moore at Vancouver

Declaring she had no regrets in leaving the films, Colleen Moore was enthusiastically greeted by a host of friends upon her arrival recently in Vancouver by Trans-Canada Air Lines. She told reporters who met her at the plane that she was supremely happy with the exhibitions of her famed doll's house, the proceeds of which go to aid crippled children.

Rules for Falling in Love

Seven rules to guide young people in the selection of a mate are set forth in September Good Housekeeping by Dr. Ernest R. Groves, who fourteen years ago introduced the first college course in marriage relations at the University of North Carolina. These rules are:

Don't let yourself fall in love with the first person who comes along. Meet as many young people as you can of the opposite sex.

Don't judge by party manners and dress; everyday life is different.

Study your own emotional reactions as you go along; your mate should bring out the best in you.

Does he or she wear well? If you are bored now, think of what you may have to endure later.

Will he, or she, grow with you—in mind and in character? If not, your own growth will make you unhappy.

Will he, or she, put father or mother ahead of wife or husband? Look out for apron strings.

Can he, or she, "take it"? You know what they call it in the army.

Realizing that young people today seriously hope to make a success of their marriages, and want scientific advice in sex matters, Dr. Groves states that many modern doctors have met this need by developing a counseling service and will give premarital examinations to those about to wed.

Baby Rides Running Board

20-months-old Odette Letourman of Cacouna, Que., rode eight miles on the running board of her daddy's car unknown to him. As soon as her mother discovered what had happened she started after them in another machine. Farmers, gaping in speechless wonder, watched the cars go by.

If they have female firemen when Odette grows up she will have no difficulty in proving her truck-clinging qualifications.

MORE FOG

There is a great difference between fog and mist. The fog has a lovely soft, pleasant feel. It has such infinite variety. Often we go down to the harbour on a foggy evening. Sometimes the whole harbour is wrapped in the enveloping fog and one can barely see the outlines of the yachts riding at anchor. Other times the water will be perfectly clear and the fog will drop as if it were a curtain, a short distance out at sea. Again on a perfectly clear day you can see the fog rolling in. Sometimes it does not come inland and other times it rolls in and blankets everything, but it is a beautiful sight to see it rolling along.

TEACH THE OLD DOG NEW TRICKS

Apparently "you can't teach an old dog new tricks" is another old saying gone wrong. Scientists tell us that you can not learn as speedily when you grow older but you can learn as easily and as well. Anything you can learn at twenty you can learn at sixty or more. Don't let your mind grow rusty from lack of use. Adult education is one of the most interesting of modern development. The Women's Institutes, the Home and School Associations, the University Clubs and others are sponsoring adult education classes. But you do not have to wait for them. Start something yourself. There are people in your own community ready and able to teach you some of the things you want to know. The trouble is that you do not always realize you want to know them. Literature, history, economics, nutrition, nursing, first-aid, current events, knitting, weaving, cooking, gardening; all of these and more are being studied some place in the Dominion. The Universities are conducting classes and help is no farther away than your nearest University. The cost is so little and the returns so great. I have taken lessons in a number of different things, even to attending regular University classes, and I can assure you I have had a lot more enjoyment out of my classes as a grown-up than I ever did in my school-days. And I always did like school. Don't go along in the same old rut. Give your mind some exercise and feel years younger.

TO CAN OR NOT TO CAN

Whether it is advisable to can your own tomato juice is a doubtful question. Tomatoes are a valuable source of vitamin C, but this vitamin is destroyed by cooking. In the case of tomatoes, it is not completely destroyed but is lessened. If the tomatoes can be cooked without contact with the air, very little is destroyed, and for that reason commercially canned tomatoes and tomato juice are better than the home-canned. THE WOMAN'S PAGE

Nancy Hart's HOME NEWS

When the sweet corn gets down to the nubbins and there are only fragments of this and that vegetable left in the garden, it's time to can soup and salad mixtures for winter use.

Salad mixtures are best canned in a slightly sweetened vinegar solution. The vinegar aids in the preservation of the vegetables as well as making them pleasantly tart for salads. Lima beans, tiny flowerettes of cauliflower, neat cubes of new turnip, slices of baby carrot, green pepper threads, whole kernels of sweet corn and late peas make a colorful mixture. However, you can, of course, concoct any mixture you may fancy—or have in your garden.

Speaking of salads, if you haven't put up a few jars of pickled beets, try and do it now. There's no garnish more attractive in winter than slices of crimson beets. Vegetable fish and meat salads gain immeasurably from this simple accessory. They're good for the Christmas holidays and work in beautifully again in February for St. Valentine's parties.

Fruit mixtures are good to can for salads and fruit cups. A combination of peaches and pears and cantaloupe balls is good to use, just as is, or you can add fresh fruits such as oranges and bananas when you make your salad or fruit cup.

When you come to soup mixtures the combinations are innumerable. Everything including onion goes into a vegetable soup. Celery is good in the soup concoction but fresh celery is better in the salad. The same way with onion. Add minced onion or a few drops of onion juice to the salad when you mix it for serving.

If you can soup and salad mixtures by the hot-pack or pressure cooker methods, process the mixture for the length of time required by the vegetable needing the longest processing period.

A delicious way to serve a mixture of vegetables is in a rich cream sauce in a crisp cheese tart. This makes a delectable luncheon dish to serve with broiled bacon and a fresh vegetable salad for this time of year.

Vegetable Cheese Tarts

One-third cup grated cheese, 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening, 1 cup flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/16 teaspoon of powdered mustard.

Use a cheese that is readily meltable and cooks without toughening. Add cheese to the shortening and mix until it is creamy. Cut flour, salt and mustard—sifted—into the first mixture. If necessary add a few drops of water to make a dough. Chill several hours in refrigerator. Roll on a slightly floured moulding board and cut in rounds to fit over the outside of muffin tins. Prick with a fork. Put tins on a cooky sheet, pastry side up, and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees to 450 degrees F.) until crisp, about 12 minutes.

Fill with a mixture of vegetables and serve.

One-half cup cooked corn cut from cob, 1/4 cup cooked lima beans, 1 sweet green pepper, 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms, 4 whole mushrooms, 4 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 3 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Melt butter in a smooth flat bottomed sauce pan. Add mushrooms, sprinkle with part of the salt and cook for five minutes. Remove whole mushrooms and keep hot. Stir flour into butter and mushrooms in sauce pan; cook and stir until thoroughly blended. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until the mixture boils. Add vegetables and heat five or ten minutes. Turn into tarts and drop a whole mushroom on top of each. The pepper is shredded and can be cooked with the mushrooms or merely heated with the vegetables.

An easy way to moisten the rim of the under crust of a two-crust pie is to rub an ice-cube lightly around the dough.

Protection Through Sealing

By Betty Barclay

Glass packed foods have assumed a trimmer beauty and a greater practical and economic value. A new process technically known as vapor-vacuum sealing which hermetically seals foods packed in glass has accomplished this triple feat.

But what does this process do for Mrs. Consumer? This, after all, is the important thing. First of all, foods packed in glass under this process are definitely more attractive, for this type of seal permits the use of a cap with a baked enamel lining that gives a neat tailored appearance to the bottle. And the cap, because of its particular kind of lining, imparts no foreign odor to the food it protects. These caps, unlike other caps, can be removed easily. Lifting with the flat side of a table knife does the trick. No damage is done the cap when it is removed, which means that the efficiency of the lid is not impaired and it serves as an adequate covering until the contents of the jar have been used.

More important than beauty of package, however, is the protection this type of seal affords all foods that come under the magic of its seal. Let's consider what it does for mayonnaise which is one of the most perishable products packed in glass.

Under this hermetic seal all air from the headspace of the jar is removed, and a vacuum is created which takes effect when the cap is applied. Both headspace and cap have been made sterile. Naturally without air in the headspace and a sterile closure rancidity and discoloration of the mayonnaise are prevented. Possibility of separation of the product does not become old, and old products separate more easily than fresh. The fresh home-made flavors are retained.

All foods packed in glass under the vapor-vacuum seal attain the same kind of protection as does mayonnaise—in other words this hermetic seal insures the freshness of the product.

changed by cooking and the home-canned tomatoes have these, but if you want the vitamin C, it is advisable to use commercially canned tomatoes. If you do them at home fill your kettle and keep it covered during the process of cooking. Contact with the air, or oxidation, will be lessened and some of the vitamin C may be retained. I have not canned tomatoes nor tomato juice for some years, as commercially canned are a cheap source of vitamin C, which is so necessary for good health.

GREEN PEPPERS

Have you explored the versatility of the sweet green pepper? It gives a zip to much of our fall cooking. It blends well with most salads. Try a salmon salad with chopped celery and a little shredded green pepper. A little added to a cabbage salad is a pleasant change. Serve a ring of green pepper on some of your tomato slices. Looks good and tastes better. It has an entirely different flavour when cooked and is a tasty addition to stews and hash or any similar meat mixture. I like to cook the onion and pepper in bacon dripping until browned, before adding to the meat.

CREAMED POTATOES

2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 2 cups diced cooked potatoes, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons of chopped onion.

Make a cream sauce with flour, milk and butter, add remaining ingredient and bake for twenty minutes

GREEN PEPPER JELLY

Remove seeds from about a dozen medium sweet green peppers. Put through food chopper and drain in sieve. Measure 2 cups, packing solidly. To the green pepper add 1 1/2 cups vinegar and 7 cups sugar. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over the hottest fire. Boil hard for 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from the fire and stir in a bottle of pectin. Stir and skim in turns for five minutes to cool slightly and to prevent the pepper from floating. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin. This jelly is specially good with cold chicken or veal and is, I think, the most popular relish I make, with my guests.

Canadian Women to Exhibit at 1938 Glasgow Exhibition

Advance material concerning the Empire Exhibition to be held in Glasgow, Scotland, from May to October, is making its appearance. A prominent feature of the Exhibition is a section which is being organized by the Women's Committee, of which Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, is patron. The Countess of Elgin and Kincardine is convener of the committee.

An urgent invitation to attend the Exhibition and participate in the work of making it a success has been received by the Women's Institutes of Canada.

The Countess of Elgin, from whom the invitation comes, states that the exhibit of work from the women of Canada is being arranged in co-operation with the Canadian Handicrafts Guild.

Men Get Married Too!

Mr. John Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones, of Pleasant Villa, became the bridegroom of Miss Elizabeth Smith at high noon to-day. The ceremony took place at the home of the groom's parents and a full house was counted.

Mr. Jones was attended by Mr. Brown as groomsmen. As the groom approached the altar, he was the cynosure of all eyes. Blushing prettily, he replied to the questions of the clergyman in low tones, but firm.

He was charmingly clad in a three-piece suit, consisting of a coat, vest and pants. The coat, of dark material, was draped about his shoulders, and tastefully gathered under the arms. A pretty story was current among the wedding guests that the coat was the same worn by his father and grandfather on their wedding days. Mr. Jones does not deny the truth of the sentimental touch. The vest was sleeveless, and met in the front. It was gracefully fashioned with pockets and at the back held together with a strap and buckle. Conspicuous on the front of the vest was the groom's favorite piece of jewelry, a fraternity pin, and from the upper left hand pocket was suspended a large lingersoll watch, the bride's gift to the groom, which flashed and gave the needed touch of brilliance to a costume in perfect taste and harmony.

The groom's pants were of dark worsted and were suspended from the waist, falling in a straight line almost to the floor. The severe simplicity of the garment was relieved by the right pantalo which was caught up about four inches by a Boston garter worn underneath, revealing just the artistic glimpse of brown holeproof above the genuine leather shoes, laced with strings of the same color. The effect was rather chic.

Beneath the vest the groom wore blue galuses, attached fore and aft to the pants and passing in a graceful curve over each shoulder. This pretty and useful part of the costume would have passed unnoticed had not the groom muffed the ring when the groomsmen passed it to him. When he stooped to recover the errant ringlet, the delicate blue of the galuses was prettily revealed.

His neck was encircled with a collar characterized by a delicate pearl tint of old fashioned celluloid and around the collar a cravat was loosely knotted exposing a collar button of bright metal.

The cravat extended up and under the left ear with that studied carelessness which makes supreme artistry in dress. Mr. Brown's costume was essentially like the groom's and as the two stood at the altar a hush of admiration enveloped the audience at the complete and wonderful harmony of the raiment. Actually you could hardly have told one from the other had it not been for a patch of court plaster worn by the groom over the nick in his chin made by a safety razor. Neither Mr. Jones nor Mr. Brown wore a hat at the ceremony.

As Miss Elizabeth Smith led the groom from the nuptials, it was noted that she wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms.

CANCER OF THE MOUTH

The mouth is one part of the body where a cancer cannot easily hide. Sores on the lips are obvious not only to the patient but to his friends. The growths inside the mouth can be felt with the tongue at a very early stage. And yet there is an average delay of ten months between the appearance of a growth and the first visit to a doctor's office.

When the growth first appears it has nothing horrifying about it. The patient feels perhaps a little roughness in the mouth. He may think he has a small wart. Very often he will say there is a "canker sore." There is no pain, no real discomfort. Time passes. The sore on the lip does not heal; or the wart in the mouth gets a little larger; or the lump on the tongue begins to get in the way.

But there is no pain. Time still passes. Now there is sometimes a little bleeding but still nothing has begun to hurt. The patient is a little anxious but would rather not see a doctor in case he should suggest an operation. And anyhow this is a busy time; in a month or so it would be more convenient to go to the hospital. Time still passes. At last there is an ache and the lump is tender to the touch. Little lumps have begun to grow in the neck. Pain drives the patient to the doctor in the end. But by that time it is too late.

Treated early, no less than 95 per cent of cancers of the lip can be permanently cured. Cancers of the tongue are more rapidly dangerous but at least half of them can be completely cured if only they are taken in time.

Over Hundred Ladies from County Parishes Attended Annual W. A. Conference of St. Andrews Deanery

SPECIAL SPEAKERS FROM MONTREAL
ADDRESSED GATHERING

St. Andrews E. — The annual meeting of the St. Andrews Deanery of the Women's Auxiliary took place here on Sept. 17th. The devotions opened with a celebration of Holy Communion at Christ Church, conducted by Rural Dean Booy assisted by the Rev. W. LeCras — Mr. Booy preaching from the words found in St. Mark 5, 19. Mrs. W. Windsor presided over the afternoon meeting, after which Mrs. Harold Laws of Westmount led a conference on the theme, "The Family of God", in a most efficient and helpful manner. Special speakers during the afternoon were Mrs. E. J. Loiselle, Diocesan President, Mrs. H. Laws, Mrs. J. Heald and Mrs. A. E. Warner of Montreal. Lunch and afternoon tea were served in the Town Hall, over one hundred being present — and all dispersed feeling that it had been good to be there at the gathering.

Consider Organizing a Boys' Brigade Group

Brownburg — The junior choir of the United Church, under leadership of Mrs. J. Thompson and Miss N. Hansen, made their first appearance last Sunday morning at the Rally Service of the Sunday School in a combined service with the congregation. They acquitted themselves well, giving two special numbers during the service. Mr. J. Murray Richardson was the speaker, who presented the four-fold program of Youth Service in the Church — physical, mental, social and religious. Mr. Richardson also spoke on the Boys' Brigade movement and met with a number after the service to consider further plans for organization. The coming Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock, Mr. Richardson will present a motion picture in the church basement on the Boys' Brigade work, to which all boys and others are cordially invited.

Suicide Pact Enacted in Taxi at St. Jovite

HOSE CONNECTED TO EXHAUST OF CAR

Suicide was the verdict returned by a St. Jovite jury last Thursday afternoon in the case of two Montreal taxi drivers, Gerald Decelles, 33 years of age, and William Seivewright, 40, who were found dead in a taxicab between St. Jovite and Lac Ouimet overcome by carbon monoxide. A rubber hose had been attached to the exhaust pipe of the car and brought up through the floor into the cab by the battery trap. The doors and windows were closed. In the car was found a letter, written by Seivewright, in which he told his employer of his intention to do away with himself. Information given the jury was that the two men had quarrelled, one with his wife and the other with his girl friend. The two men were employed by the LaSalle Taxicab Company in Montreal and were old friends. The pair had driven to St. Jovite in the car on which Decelles was employed, the men having met at Pointe-aux-Trembles early Wednesday night where Seivewright left the taxi he worked with and it was later recovered. They drove to a hotel in St. Jovite and left again early Thursday morning. Agathe Cadieux, employed in the vicinity, saw the automobile parked at the side of the road with the parking lights still on. She saw the two men, sitting in

LACHUTE HUNDRED CLUB HELD LADIES' NIGHT AT MacDONALD LAKE

OPENING GATHERING OF 1937-8 SEASON

Activities of the Hundred Club were resumed after the summer months in a Ladies' Night supper at MacDonald Lake House last evening. The excellent fare of this hostelry was enjoyed by a happy gathering numbering between 40 and 50 persons.

President Centurion Héon occupied the chair, welcoming the ladies and guests of the evening. Reading of the minutes of previous meeting was followed by a brief mention of the Club's aims and activities, for the benefit of those unfamiliar with the organization.

A session of community singing, popular and old-time dancing, to the accompaniment of Mr. Dick Sancton of Kilmar, completed an evening in the most sociable atmosphere. Other pianists and soloists contributed to the entertainment, which concluded soon after midnight with the singing of the National Anthem. The event was voted an entire success by all present.

New Ontario Licence Plates Orange and Peacock Blue

Ontario's 1938 licence plates are the most vivid yet to be issued in the province, the figures appearing in gay orange on a background of peacock blue. The markers were due to be offered for sale on Tuesday, and are effective until March 31, 1939.

The crown motif of coronation year is retained, a large crown appearing at top center of the plate and the year 1938 split on left and right.

"There was some paint trouble at the Guelph Reformatory where the markers were made last year", said J. P. Bickell, Ontario Registrar of Motor Vehicles, referring to the faded appearance of the 1937 plates.

Dr. A. Pagé of St. Hermas Coroner on Oka Drowning

Jean Guy Drolet, 27 years of age, of Laval des Rapides, lost his life at Oka Sunday afternoon when the motorboat in which he and his brother and a friend were cruising struck a hidden rock and the bottom was torn out.

The young men hung onto the wreck for two hours until the wind finally blew the craft close enough for them to reach safety. But Jean Guy Drolet was exhausted, and died after reaching shore.

The mishap was reported to Coroner Antoine Pagé, M.D., of St. Hermas, who disposed of the case with a verdict of accidental death. The boat belonged to J. R. Booth Jr., of Ottawa, and was being taken to Montreal for an overhauling.

the front seat, apparently asleep and leaning against one another. She thought it queer as the engine was still running. She reported the incident later and at 8.30 o'clock her employer decided to investigate. She went to the car and realized that the men were dead. She notified her husband, who called a local doctor. The latter found death was due to carbon monoxide poisoning. The engine had stopped, and it was found that the gasoline tank was empty.

Conducting Research for Quebec Market Gardening

In an effort to give market gardening a stimulus in this province, the Ministry of Agriculture is studying ways and means of developing this type of culture among farmers, it is announced from the department. It is the intention of the Minister to put market gardens in Quebec on a par with those of France and Belgium where they are worked on a large scale by farmers.

Standard Time in Effect from Midnight Next Saturday

Lachute will revert to Standard Time next week-end, and folks are again reminded to note changes in the time of church services and other Sunday activities. Clocks should be set back one hour next Saturday night, September 25th, in order to benefit by additional sleep on this annual occasion.

By doing nothing you can only be good for nothing.

BROKEN FRAGMENTS

BY M. V. TRAYERS

"God be with the Good Old Times!"

Grandfather sitting in the corner tells his little grandchildren of the "good old times."

There was no talk of unemployment; none of those new fangled diseases; surgical operations were almost unknown; and men were men. Those were the days.

But were they? We have heard about the good old times so often that we never stop to question their goodness. There were more jobs. — Sure there were more jobs. Hundreds of thousands behind spades, at fifty cents a day.

Oh yes; but a dollar at that time would buy a week's supply for a home. Let's see. Twenty years ago the average wage-rate was 70% lower than it is today. Furthermore the purchasing power of money is 40% greater today than it was twenty years ago. In another way work is worth more, money and goods worth less. This is a machine age and that's why we have so much unemployment. Don't fool yourself. This is a machine age all right, but in spite of the fact that we are using eighteen times as much machinery as we were forty years ago, there are three times as many jobs for twice as many people.

The "Good Old Times" are bunk!

There is a terrible, devastating war at present going on in Spain. That's not news; you know all about it. There is just as devastating a war being enacted in China. And you know all about that, too.

Do you know that every man, woman and child in Canada paid

$7 each this year to foot the bill for property damage caused by automobiles along our national highways? . . . In the midst of life there is death. 24,000 Canadians found that out since last Christmas. Five hundred of them were swept into sudden death and the other 23,500 will carry blisters, scars, disabilities and disfigurements along their weary road to the grave.

Somewhere in Canada over sixty times a day an automobile accident causes injury to a Canadian citizen. Every twenty five minutes injury strikes some perfectly happy, sound-limbed citizen, and another unfortunate body drags its maimed member to the grave. At the present rate one out of every three Canadians will be either killed or injured in an automobile accident.

If you didn't know that, you should; and remember — it's far better to drive slowly in your own car than be driven fast in an ambulance.

Canada has the longest unfortified border in the world. This border is defended by the faith and sanity of our people. Behind it lies the richest undeveloped area on earth.

If we were to defend that line on the same scale that Europe's swash-buckling, wheat-field powers are doing, we would have to put up a "For Sale" sign.

Every time you draw your breath the great god Mars collects $120 from his war-lords in Europe — and by present indications is likely to continue doing so for some time yet.

Further Improvements to Hotel Property

With commendable zeal our esteemed citizen, H. E. Desjardins, is making further moves to improve his hotel property. The changes he has effected during the past few years have been a source of real benefit to the travelling public, and evidence the fact that he is striving to keep a jump ahead of the changing times, so as to measure up with the best in the province. Lately Mr. Desjardins has turned his attention to the outside of his property, and the old barns and sheds that served their time in the horse-and-buggy days have been torn down for the erection of a modern, fire-proof garage. The old buildings have long been an eyesore, but the proprietor is now converting the adjacent grounds into an attractive little park.

People who have half an hour to spend usually spend it with somebody who hasn't.

Historical Society of Argenteuil County

NEWS BULLETIN

Old Carillon has set a fine standard to the countryside, in organizing a branch of the Historical Society of Argenteuil County under the leadership of Mr. Derrick, superintendent of the Carillon and Grenville Canals, and his secretary, Dr. Halsey.

The following are its definite purposes:

I. To assist as far as possible the Central Executive in the various activities of the Society.

II. To win new members by systematic canvass, personal contacts and the use of the Society's literature.

III. To encourage members to keep paid up their annual fees ($50) without the labor and expense of solicitation on the part of the Society's Secretary-Treasurer.

IV. To locate, catalogue, and report to the Executive what they find, after combing their district for the various antiquarian treasures enumerated in the circulars of the Society.

The organization consists simply of a President and Secretary. No Treasurer is needed as all collections and contributions will be forwarded at once to the Executive's Treasurer, Mrs. Walter Windsor, St. Andrews East.

Their neighbors across the Ottawa have taken up the challenge and are organizing a Pointe Fortune branch under the leadership of Mr. Pearson, the Mayor, with Mr. Alex. Barclay as Secretary, and with a similar program. They have made a fine start, with 20 members.

Should the majority of the towns and villages of the Ottawa Valley adopt similar action, assurance would be doubly sure that the three-fold objective of the Society would be reached at an early date. Who will be the next to follow?

The latest gift to the Historical Society is an old fashioned writing machine called the "Calligraph". This old-timer, though not so large or noisy as a threshing machine, can rival it in comparative strength, and though in the sixth decade of its long and useful career, it can still serve the interests of the Historical Society in writing, and in telling the story of the evolution of the type-writer of today. Its last home and resting place will be the Museum.

LOCAL W.I. BRANCH IN MONTREAL YESTERDAY FOR A DAY'S OUTING

LADIES VISITED SIGHTS OF INTEREST

A day of rare interest and pleasure was spent by members of Lachute Women's Institute yesterday as they journeyed to Montreal for what is now recognized as their annual outing.

It was a glorious day and the motor drive was uneventful save for the thrill experienced when being met at Pont Viau by a Provincial Traffic Officer on motorcycle, who escorted the party through the city to the Wm. Lowney establishment on Inspector St. Here they were given an insight into the manufacture of the varied and delicious confections, which proved Injured in Airplane Accident Near Baie Comeau, Que.

Grenville — This village was deeply stirred upon hearing of the serious injuries sustained by Mr. Edwin Pridham in an airplane accident. The sympathy of all goes to him and his family, and hopes for his speedy recovery are everywhere expressed.

Condition Pertains Doctor

Rimouski, Que., Sept. 21. C.P. — Injured when the airplane, piloted by Bruce Watt of Toronto, crashed Saturday night near Baie Comeau, Ed. Pridham and M. Dube were reported improving tonight.

Dr. Adrien Gagne, however, feared complications might aggravate Pridham's condition. The Montrealer suffered a cerebral congestion and was still unconscious when the three men were flown from Baie Comeau, on the north shore of the St. Lawrence 200 miles below Quebec, to Rimouski early Sunday.

The machine crashed into the river when Watt attempted a forced landing shortly after setting out from Baie Comeau for New Brunswick.

Golden Wedding Anniversary of Former Brownsb'g Couple

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cameron, former residents of Brownburg over a period of 33 years, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, September 26, at Lakeside, Que. Mrs. Cameron, formerly Mary Gilbert, was born in North Gower, Ont., on Sept. 6th, 1862; Mr. Cameron was born in Cote du Midi, Que., on March 15th, 1860. They were married in Crested Butte, Colorado, on September 26th, 1887.

After three years' residence in the United States they returned to Canada, where they first settled in Lakefield. In 1901 they removed to Brownburg, and remained there until 1934, where Mr. Cameron was employed by the Dominion Cartilage Company and subsequently by Canadian Industries Ltd. After more than 30 years of continuous employment by this company, Mr. Cameron was pensioned at the age of 73, and soon after he disposed of his place in Brownburg and moved to Lakeside.

In celebrating this happy occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will be joined by their four children — Mrs. C. J. Kendall and Capt. H. L. Cameron of Ottawa; Mrs. T. F. Donald of Montreal, and Mr. W. T. Cameron of Lakeside; also their two grandchildren — Miss Margaret Kendall and Mr. Ashley Cameron of Ottawa.

Ottawa, Sept. 21. — Wheat cuts such a large figure in the economy of Canada that every province is interested, directly or indirectly, in what happens to the crop. The buying power of the prairies is reflected in every economic area; the transportation and port facilities of B.C. and the Maritimes, as well as Ontario and Quebec, are affected by the size and character of the crop.

The first official estimate of the yield has been made, and it is now possible to summarize the situation:

1. The total wheat crop this year, east and west, spring wheat and fall, runs to about 188 million bushels. Back in 1928 the wheat crop was 566 million bushels. That was a record; the average over the past ten years is perhaps 350 million. There is then roughly a half-crop for the Dominion as a whole.

2. The prairie wheat crop is estimated at 164 million bushels. This is the lowest figure since 1914, when about the same amount was raised on about 40% of the 1937 acreage.

Lad Injured When Kicked by a Horse at Cushing

Kicked by a horse at his parents' home in Cushing recently, Dorima Lemay, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorima Lemay, suffered painful injuries to the head and was taken to hospital in Hawkesbury for treatment. Dr. L. P. Beaudoin attended the young lad, who had a severe gash near the left temple. Young Lemay's nose was broken as well. He was taken home after receiving medical treatment.

It was reported the boy had taken three horses from the stable to the watering trough and was walking around behind them when one kicked him.

Observe 105th. Anniversary of Grenville Church

Grenville — Last Tuesday being St. Matthew's Day, the combined patronal festival and anniversary of St. Matthew's Church was held here — the church being now 105 years old. There was a celebration of the Holy Communion in the morning, at which the Rector officiated. At night Evening Prayer was said by the Rev. W. J. Ellis, a former Rector, and Canon Garrett of Hawkesbury. The Rev. M. I. Lidstone of Granby, and the Rector, also assisted. The anniversary sermon was preached by Canon J. F. Morris of the Church of the Ascension, Montreal, Dean Carlsle being unable to attend on account of illness. Canon Morris preached a very fine sermon, calling upon the congregation to measure themselves by a worthy standard instead of measuring everything by themselves. He urged particularly that the standards of Worship, Work and Witness should be applied. It was one of the most striking sermons heard in this church in recent years. The service concluded with the hymn, "For All the Saints", in memory of members and workers in the congregation during the century of the church's existence in Grenville.

FALL FERTILIZING WINS ON PASTURES

The growing practice of applying fertilizers for pastures in fall was given by Professor L. C. Raymond, of Macdonald College, as the reason for holding the conference of the Quebec Provincial Pasture Committee earlier this year. The committee, of which Professor Raymond is chairman and Mr. Roland Lesperance secretary, met in the Palais de Justice, Montreal, recently, to discuss the fertilizing and grazing management of pastures and to review the results obtained from further experimental work. These justified unmistakably the application of mineral fertilizers for pastures in the fall.

The committee considered that on the heavier soils 20% superphosphate alone, at the rate of from 400 to 500 lbs. per acre, is adequate, while on the medium or light soils 600 lbs. of 0-16-6 fertilizer should be used. This treatment would suffice for a period of from 2 to 4 years, depending on soil fertility and other conditions. Where wild white clover is present in the herbage, or where other legumes occur in considerable quantity, the application of a nitrogen fertilizer in spring is not desirable; but where the herbage consists almost entirely of grasses a supplemental early spring dressing of about 100 lbs. of sulphate of ammonia per acre may be advisable.

Grazing Control Important

Grazing management of fertilized pastures is exceedingly important, and it is better to fertilize a small area amply than a large area too lightly. The earlier spring growth promoted by the fertilizing of the previous fall means grazing must start earlier, and the area should be stocked with a number of cattle sufficient to keep the growth of herbage under control, so as to prevent the grasses developing tall, fibrous stems which are neither palatable nor nutritious and interfere with the process of grazing. When this occurs the mower should be run over the field to cut down the tall growth and give the undergrowth a chance to develop the tasty, nutritious, rich-protein stuff on which the animals can then take their fill without waste of time and energy. Strangely enough, although the cattle refuse to eat the tall growing grasses, they will consume them readily when cut. Remarkable perversity!

In order to make the most of fertilized pastures, says B. Leslie Emalie, it is advisable to have two areas which may be grazed alternately, allowing each an occasional brief period of rest for recuperation. The farmer must bear in mind, too, that fertilized pastures, besides being more productive and nutritious, are much more palatable than unfertilized, and stout fences are needed to keep the cattle from breaking into the fertilized field, so tempting and satisfying is the better herbage.

BEAUTY skin deep

Coming up the path after a long rainy spell my wife saw two beautiful objects on the lawn which had not been there the night before. They were globular mushrooms, one as big as a baby's head. She picked them and brought them to the house, where we all admired their beautiful skins, mottled like a leopard's, pale brown and white. A couple of mornings later, after they had laid out on the front porch rail in the sun, I found the mushrooms had turned black and their insides were a slimy, stinking mess.

They were a perfect example of the truth of the old adage, "Beauty is only skin deep."

I sometimes wonder at the effort and expense to which so many girls and women go to make themselves beautiful. I never see one whose face and hair have obviously been fixed at a "beauty parlor" without wondering what there is behind the artificial beauty. I like to look at a beautiful woman, as every man does, but for steady companionship I think most men prefer the ones who do not make the pursuit of beauty their main object in life.

STANDARDS . beauty measure

Men's standards of feminine beauty vary from country to country and from time to time. Almost from man to man. It is a good thing for the great majority of young women that this is so, and that men seldom pick their wives for their beauty alone.

One of the reasons why Shakespeare is the universal and everlasting poet is that he does not describe his heroines except to tell us they were beautiful. Every man can apply his own standard of beauty to Juliet, of whom Shakespeare wrote only that she was young and beautiful. To the Scandinavian reader that makes Juliet a blonde; to the Italian she is a brunette; to Turks, who admire feminine plumpness, Juliet was fat; a Chinese Juliet would be slant-eyed, and if the beauty standards of the African jungle are those of the savage belles we see in the circus and the movie travel pictures, with huge, distended lips, or necks stretched to incredible lengths by encircling brass rings, one can imagine how the African beaux would visualize Juliet if they ever read Shakespeare.

"Beauty is in the eye of the beholder", an ancient philosopher wrote. No truer words were ever spoken.

TALENT without beauty

Most of the girls who try to make themselves more beautiful than Nature made them attempt, consciously or unconsciously, to look like some popular star of the stage or screen, usually the screen. Many think these actresses are popular because they are beautiful, while usually the contrary is true. They become popular stars because they have talent as actors, and most of them have to be artificially beautified for their public appearances. Most of them make an effort to look beautiful when not on the job of entertaining.

Almost without exception, however, the ones I have known have been delightful companions. Their charm came from their wit, vivacity, their voices and their intelligence, rather than from being pleasing to look at.

The greatest professional beauty of my time was Lillian Russell. When I first saw her she was in her sixties and still retained the classical loveliness which made her famous. But Lillian Russell was born beautiful.

VANITY . . . artificial beauty

After all, the desire to look prettier than the way one was created is one of the most natural and ancient of human ambitions. There were barber-shops and hairdressers in ancient Babylon. Men as well as women are vain about their personal appearance. If that were not so there would be no profit to the advertisers of cures for baldness. Few men are as free from this sort of vanity as was Oliver Cromwell, who insisted that the painter of his portrait should depict the warts which disfigured his face.

Recently an English newspaper criticized the current fashion of colored fingernails, saying that it originated among American women trying to conceal evidences of Negro blood. A historian contradicted this, pointing out that Cleopatra dyed not only her fingernails but her toenails. Among the commonest of relics of early civilization dug up by antiquarians in the ruins of ancient cities are the cosmetic jars used by prehistoric belles.

I have no desire to change human nature. I couldn't if I wanted to. The girls can change from redheads to platinum blondes, from boyish bobs to pigtailed and back again, so far as I care. It's all right with me until they begin dyeing their hair green.

3. Domestic requirements of one sort or another — call it 'Apparent Home Consumption' if you will—usually run to 100 millions or better. The average of the past ten years is somewhat higher. Canadians eat, as flour, from 45 to 50 million bushels; farmers plant 35 to 40 millions; several millions go for chicken feed, hog feed, etc. Deduct this from the current crop, and you have only about 80 millions available for export.

4. Canada thus tumbles sharply from her usual place as the leading wheat exporter of the world. She has exported, in a single year, as high as 354 millions (1928-29).

5. Transportation and storage companies, with an abnormally small crop to hold and move, will naturally suffer in the current twelve months.

6. The net return to the wheat farmer of Canada, of the wheat which he will have to sell, may be somewhat higher than last year. In 1936, when the total yield was 229 millions, he sold or fed (allowing 40 millions for his own seed) 189 millions, at an average price of 89 cents, or $168,210,000. This year, with 148,000,000 bushels to sell, either in domestic markets or abroad, he will have to average $1.14 a bushel to obtain as much. So far he has done, perhaps, a trifle better than that.

7. The wheat failure — for that matter the failure in all grain crops—fell with very unequal incidence on the four main wheat provinces, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario:

(a) Alberta will harvest 76 millions, it is calculated, as compared with 67 last year. With the higher price prevailing, this means between 35 and 40 per cent gain in the purchasing power of the Alberta wheat farmer.

(b) Saskatchewan bore the full brunt of the drought. As compared with last year's light crop, of 117 millions, this year the estimate is only 35 millions. It should be remembered that Saskatchewan probably sowed 17 million bushels last spring, and thus only got its seed back, plus enough seed for next spring. The greatest wheat province in Canada — perhaps in the world — having perhaps, to import wheat! The idea is almost fantastic.

(c) Manitoba has a crop of 53 millions, as compared with 28 millions in 1936 and 23 millions in 1935. With current prices, the Manitoba wheat farmer will make more money from his crop than for many years.

(d) Ontario had a heavy fall-wheat crop. As compared with 12½ million last year and about the same in 1935, this year the yield is over 20 millions. With current high prices the Ontario farmer will make a lot more on wheat than he has done for a number of years.

8. There is no longer any 'glut' or excessive 'carry-over'. The stocks at the end of the last crop year (July 31st) were down to about 30 millions,—about as low as it is practicable to cut them. There is every prospect that at the end of the present year the bins will again be scraped. That disposes of any 'surplus bogey' for 1938. Moreover, there are signs that the long drought is breaking at last.

Thefts From Automobiles Parked in St. Jerome

One automobile was stolen while two other parked cars were burglarized last Wednesday night at St. Jerome. Local police also recovered a fourth machine which had been stolen in Montreal.

Camille L. De Martigny and Mathieu Binette of St. Jerome, were at the St. Antoine Club during the evening and when they were leaving they discovered that someone had entered their cars and taken several articles. During the night Philippe Senecal, of Ste. Therese, had left his auto opposite the Lapointe Hotel and it was stolen.

Love Amid Blue-Prints Is Theme of New Home Movie Appearing Here

Young love that blooms amid blue-prints and plans for remodeling the old home despite opposition by the heroine's mother—provides the story on which one of the most unusual talking pictures of the year is based. The film, "The House That Ann Built", will have a special free showing in Lachute at the Rex Theatre, Saturday evening, Sept. 25th, and at the Capitol Theatre, Brownsburg, tomorrow evening. Both showings will take place immediately after the regular evening performance.

The picture, which is shown through the courtesy of the Cottingham Supply Company, has been brought here in collaboration with the Canadian Johns-Manville Co. Limited at Montreal. While admission is open to the general public, those interested in remodeling or building a home are specially urged to attend, as it is towards the national drive for better and more modern homes that the theme of the picture is directed.

The film has an outstanding cast of Broadway and Hollywood actors, including Beverley Bayne, James Spottswood, Nell O'Day and Richard Bond, and is full of action and human interest. It was produced and directed by Luther Reed, who directed such hit movies as "Rio Rita" and "Hell's Angels", and was sponsored by Johns-Manville.

The plot involves a family divided as to whether they should build a new house or remodel father's old homestead. After much argument the parents decide on a new home and take a vacation in the South while it is being built. During their absence, the daughter arranges to have the old house modernized also, and at the same time falls in love with the young architect who designs both jobs. The family's problem of having two houses on their hands is thus happily solved at the fade-out.

Features of the production are the remarkable transformation of a dilapidated, run-down house into a handsome home, and the striking interior scenes designed by Lurelle Guild, leading New York industrial designer. These highlights make the film a real treasure-chest of ideas on the use of modern building materials.

Another Quebec Musical Competition Festival, 1938

The Executive of the Quebec Musical Competition Festival Incorporated announce that the syllabus for the 1938 Festival is shortly to be issued. Owing to a considerable number of requests being received by the Executive for certain additional items, the number of classes in the new syllabus has been extensively increased. Therefore, in spite of the 1937 event being the largest first Festival to be held in the British Empire with 5634 entries, it is anticipated that considerably greater number of competitors will participate in the coming Festival, which will last from ten to twelve days and will be held during the third and fourth weeks of March 1938.

Highway Worker Buried in Fall of Gravel

Buried beneath a pile of gravel as he was working in a trench on the short cut of the Montreal - St. Jerome highway near Lachapelle, Emanuel Gagnon, 38, of St. Jerome, suffered severe internal injuries and a fractured collar bone. He was taken to his home in a serious condition.

The man was at work in the bottom of a trench which had been dug in preparing the ground for the construction of the road, when gravel suddenly began to slide and he was buried up to the neck. He was held a prisoner for half an hour before the other workmen could extricate him.

Mr. Thomas McQuat has just returned from a trip to Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and other points.

Death — Fuller; at his residence, Brook Farm, Chatham, on the 19th inst., Ivory Fuller, in his 83rd year.

Serious fires have been raging around this district during the past few days. Last Monday a fire originated on the property of Mr. J. White, Upper Lachute, and swept across the farms of Mr. Doig and Mr. W. Hills, burning fences and stubble ground.

Mr. William Owen, M.P.P., left this week for a trip through Manitoba and the Northwest.

Mr. F. C. Ireland has gone to Toronto.

Mr. John Menzies, father of Dr. Menzies and Registrar of North Lanark, visited his son in Lachute last week.

Arundel — Messrs. W. G. and A. D. Stewart left last week to attend McGill Medical College.

The residents of Vide Sac, Genoa, Jerusalem and Bethany are now in the full enjoyment of a postal delivery. Mr. H. Sutton started the round on Monday last.

Mr. Wm. Murray left on Friday for a few weeks' visit with friends in Nevada, Calif., and will return by Vancouver B.C.

Wedding — Gall - Wilson; on Wednesday, September 25, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, Gould, Que., by Rev. Mr. McLeod, of Scotstown, Miss Flora Wilson to Mr. H. Mossman Gall, of Lachute.

On Monday last the young son of Mr. Alex. Larocque, Lachute Mills, fell under the C.P.R. freight train, the cars passing over his foot and crushing his leg so badly that Dr. Mason found it necessary to amputate the limb, taking it off above the knee.

Mr. John Hay arrived home from the Old Country on Saturday on board the S. S. Gramscian, and reports a fine trip.

Mr. J. T. Robbins, of Brownsburg, has been appointed lay-reader and catechist by the Bishop of Montreal.

A Welcome to Autumn

Autumn is considered by many to be the pleasantest season of the whole year. Nothing like the North American autumn is known to the people of Europe. Over there the spring is the pleasant time of long drawn out mildness between the chill of winter and the heat of summer. In this country, seasons break abruptly in the spring. Summer temperatures succeed winter so swiftly that the interval is hardly noticed. But at the end of summer we are not plunged at once into winter. Instead, we have the long autumn, weeks and sometimes months in which it is still enjoyable to remain outdoors before we look for snow and ice.

For country folk in the North, especially, autumn is the best season of all. The hard work of the farm is over, the crops have been harvested and stored or sold, and there is a breathing-spell in which the farmer and his household can relax and "go visiting", attend to a hundred things for which time could not be spared in summer, perhaps take a long motor trip.

The shooting season is open. Whether one brings back any game or not, there are few things more relaxing and invigorating than a day in the woods with gun and dog. Nowhere is the air so clean, nowhere does Nature make such a powerful appeal to the nomadic spirit which is in all of us, as in the woods when the leaves have begun to turn from summer green to their autumn brilliance of red, yellow and brown. No wonder many folks think that this is the best of all times in the year.

People of the world have forgotten the cartoon of Mussolini standing with outstretched arms before a huge audience, crying—"Peace! Peace!—give me a piece of Ethiopia."

Shady Stories in Public Places

In the monthly magazine of the Rotary Clubs—says an editorial in the Financial Post—we find a stimulating letter from a Rotarian out in California. He objects to those occasional speakers who seek to give their remarks a little extra punch by telling stories that are slightly off-color. He says:—"A Rotarian wants his club sessions to be of a tone that his wife or daughter would enjoy."

There is good advice here that a great many after-luncheon and after-dinner speakers could take to heart. One man, who recently told a great many shady stories at a men's banquet, was embarrassed to find later that there was a group of women in the balcony. But he should have been equally embarrassed by realizing that even in the 100 per cent male audience there were those who preferred their humor clean.

Recent Marriage at Weir

GAY — OWEN

Weir — A very pretty wedding took place in the Church of the Redeemer on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 11, at 3 p.m., when Annie Laura, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Owen, was united in marriage to Mr. Ronald Thomas Gay, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gay of Buckingham. Rev. W. LeCras of Lachute officiated.

The church was effectively decorated for the occasion with autumn flowers. Mrs. O. Purcell presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register the choir sang "O Perfect Love". Messrs. Wm. and David Owen, brothers of the bride, acted as ushers.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty dressed in white satin made on long graceful lines. Her veil of tulle illusion fell in a train and orange blossoms formed a coronet. She carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Owen, who also was dressed in white. Mr. W. Waterson, of Buckingham, acted as best man.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served to immediate friends and relatives at the bride's home, where the decorations were carried out with phlox and hydrangeas. Mr. and Mrs. Gay left later for a short honeymoon motoring to Grand Ligne. They will reside in Buckingham.

Among those from a distance who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Gay, Misses Evelyn and Irene Gay, Mr. Chas. Gay, Mr. and

Government and the Farmer

How far should Government subsidize agriculture? How hard should farmers lean on Government? Those are questions which have an important bearing on the future of the country, and on which there is no general agreement.

In New York State, where agricultural conditions are back more nearly to normal than in many other states, Governor Lehmann the other day defined his concept of the duty of the State to the farmer. He said:

"The State must of course give certain protection to farm products, and to consumers by passing laws to insure purity, grade standardization of products, and protection against diseases and insects. These are basic and must always continue. But what in addition to these? Each year I am more and more convinced that the greatest aid a State can give to the people of the open country is through an adequate support for education and agricultural research."

That is a pretty clear statement of the case against direct farm subsidies. If farming is regarded as a mode of living rather than primarily a commercial industry, there will be widespread agreement with Governor Lehmann's position.

Elephant in the Wastes

Grand advertising our fair country's getting all over the States just now—writes Ashley Cooper in "Frankly Speaking" (The Montreal Gazette). Our fifth-in-the-world exports? Our wheat? Forget 'em! "Churchill—Canada's greatest frozen asset." From the Dakotas to New Mexico, they're chuckling over how we dish out $73,000,000 for the Hudson's Bay Railroad, and how Churchill had a 1937 grain rush—two ships! Tragedy is that we've no come-back. Both of our Grand Old Parties sold out to grab the prairie vote!

Less Thrilling. More Inspiring

In commenting on the usefulness of the home-town newspaper, the Boston Monitor recently said:

"Turning from the city newspapers to the small town press exchanges that come to the editor's desk is like stepping from the slums, full of vice, into an old-fashioned garden sweet with lavender and thyme, and the scent of perennial flowers. The pages of the big dailies are so full of murder, thievery, immorality and selfishness that the better news is obscured by glaring shatterings of the Decalogue. One puts the papers aside with a feeling of depression and heartache that the world is full of terrible and unhappy things."

By way of contrast the Monitor then pointed out that the home-town paper features the wholesome activities of local individuals and groups—business, lodge, school, club and church groups.

It might also have said that the average home-town editor endeavors to help his readers get the most out of life by investing in human service. This he does, not by decrying human weakness so much as by reporting activities worth emulating, and by presenting worthy ideas and ideals.

In conclusion the Monitor said: "Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but it is one of the most potent and uplifting factors in our natural existence."

The only smooth-going life or business we ever knew of was slipping down-hill and hadn't yet hit the bumps.

Gatineau Lady, Deceased, Was Formerly of Lachute

MRS. MOISE LEBLANC

The death of Mrs. Moise LeBlanc of Gatineau, Que., formerly Mrs. C. B. Marchand of this town, occurred on Thursday, September 16th, at the General Hospital, Ottawa, after a short illness. The deceased was in her 64th year.

The funeral was held on Saturday morning last at Gatineau, burial taking place in the Papineauville cemetery.

Mrs. LeBlanc is survived by her husband, Moise LeBlanc, one son, Valerien Marchand of Lachute, six grandchildren and seven stepchildren.

MRS. DANIEL A. MCINTYRE

The death occurred on Monday, September 20th, at Mrs. McColl's Convalescent Home, Hudson, Que., of Mrs. Daniel A. McIntyre, formerly Miss Agnes L. Simpson of St. Andrews E., and well known in later years as a frequent summer visitor to Lachute.

Her husband, Mr. Daniel McIntyre, predeceased her 38 years ago. In failing health she moved from New York to Hudson about seven years ago, but was unable to make a recovery. Her daughter Doris, now Mrs. Kiesling of New York, who was a former student at Lachute Academy, is left to mourn her loss, together with four of her brothers, William, Thomas and George, of Montreal, and Bernard of Toronto.

Funeral service was held at Hudson prior to burial at St. Andrews East, where Rev. Rural Dean Booy officiated.

a revelation to the visitors. Between 600 and 800 employees are engaged in the handling, and the mechanism and intricacies of every stage of production are the outcome of half-a-century's progress. On leaving, each member was presented with a nice box of chocolates as a souvenir of the visit, and thanks were extended to Mr. Edmund Littler and to Mr. Roberts for their very cordial welcome.

The ladies then proceeded to Cordner's on Phillips Square, where they enjoyed a hearty luncheon. Afterwards a tour of the shops was made until 2 o'clock, when a visit was paid to the harbor sheds. Here the party were met by Mr. R. Panet Raymond, of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, who escorted them on to the S.S. Duchess of Athol, one of the popular boats of the Company's fleet.

SOUNDS IN THE NIGHT

Mollie lay quietly in her bed for a few moments, deeply thinking, and her mother was hoping that she had gone to sleep—when she sat up suddenly, crying out, "Oh Mummie, that old fox will get my Barney tonight. I was not outside today at all, so could not shut the hen-house door. He'll get in and kill Barney. He will, Mummie. Won't you take Ted's flashlight, and go and shut the door? Please do, Mummie!" Her little voice was shaking with fear, her eyes tear-filled.

"Lie down, darling. The hen-house door is shut. Grandpa shut it himself."

"You're sure, sure, Mummie?" Mollie pleaded, as she lay back on her pillow and let her mother tuck her in.

"I am quite sure, darling. I was standing at the window when Grandpa was shutting the door. I know Barney is quite safe tonight. You see, other nights Grandpa depends on you to shut the door, and when people depend on you you should never fail them. When you promise to do something, always do it. But tonight Grandpa knew the door would not be shut unless he attended to it himself. So try and sleep and not worry any more about the noises of the night."

"But they won't stop, Mummie."

There's another one, an' a dreadful, squeaky one. Do you think that old fox is stealing Grandpa's pigs?"

Her mother laughed softly before saying, "What fancies you do have, Mollie. Grandpa's pigs are much too large for a poor little fox to steal. That was just old Nellie calling her colt and asking where it had hidden itself in the dark. Old Nellie worries about her baby just as I worry about my little girl. Listen, dear, don't you hear its tiny answering squeal down by the brook, and the pounding of old Nellie's hoofs as she gallops closer to it? She is galloping over the big flat rock now, by the sound which comes back to us."

"Sounds in the night are real interesting, when we know what they are, aren't they, Mummie?" said Mollie.

"Quite interesting, dear. But I wish you would stop thinking about them and go to sleep. You will be all tired out tomorrow."

"I'll try, Mummie, if you will hold my hand again." For some time there was nothing to be heard in the quiet room but the soft hushing sound made by the old pine tree outside the window—the tree whose soft whisperings had hushed Mollie's mother to sleep many nights, long ago, when she was as small as Mollie, and slept in the same little bed.

"Asleep at last," she murmured softly, as Mollie's little hand went limp in her own. Drawing her own hand quietly away she was about to tip-toe back to her couch, when a long, drawn-out "Ah-h-h" came floating in through the open window. It seemed quite close to the house, and Mollie's mother was startled to see the little girl throw off the covers and hop out of bed before she could reach her. She would have run right out of the room if her mother had not stepped into the open doorway and caught her up in her arms. Sitting down in the big blue chair she held her closely, "Mollie, darling!" she exclaimed, "What is making you so nervous?"

"The noises of the night!" Mollie sobbed, clinging to her mother.

"That was the worst one yet. What was it? Oh, there it is again!" The child shivered and hid her face against her mother's shoulder, as the moon popped from behind a cloud and lighted up the room.

"Come and see what it is, Mollie," her mother said, as she got up and went over to the window.

Flag Symbols

A blood-red flag has always been a symbol of mutiny or revolution. A black flag was the symbol of the pirate. Now flown only after an execution to show the law has been carried out. All over the world a yellow flag signals infectious disease, and a white flag is universally a flag of truce. At sea, striking of the flag means surrender. When the flag of one country is placed over that of another the victory of the former is denoted. In time of peace, this would be an insult and if done, even by mistake, an apology would have to be made. In the old days, it was customary to trail the flag of a vanquished foe behind the ship.

Word "Drug" Defined

A "drug" is any substance used as a medicine, or in making medicines, for internal or external use; also, formerly, any stuff used in dyeing or in chemical operations. According to the pure food and drug act the term "drug" includes "all medicines and preparations recognized in the United States Pharmacopoeia and National Formulary for internal or external use, and any substance or mixture of substances intended to be used for the cure, mitigation, or prevention of disease of either man or other animals."

Duping the Ducks

Each season an elder duck will produce about half a pound of elder down, but it must be tricked into doing so, says Samuel J. Beckett in "A Wayfarer in Norway." Artificial nests are placed in the rocks in the haunts of the bird, and there the ducks lay their eggs. As the eggs are systematically taken away, the bird continues to sit for long periods, all the time plucking the valuable down from her breast for the nest. Lokta is one of the centers for the elder down industry.

SCOUT MEALS FOR ALL RELIGIONS

The international and undenominational character of the recent world gathering of Boy Scouts in Holland was reflected in the camp menus, which included special fare for Jewish Scouts, Moslems, Hindus and others.

A STONE AGE DAGGER FOR BADEN-POWELL

Probably few world figures receive such a wide variety of birthday gifts as does Lord Baden-Powell each year from Boy Scout admirers in every part of the globe. One of the oddities added to his collection on his 80th birthday was a beautifully made Stone Age dagger, a gift of the Boy Scouts of Denmark.

A LONDON HOLIDAY FOR UNEMPLOYED

Twenty unemployed men from the distressed area of Tow Law, Durham, were given an August week's holiday in London by Rover Scouts of the city. Tow Law was "adopted" by the London Rovers two years ago, and a handicraft and social centre developed for the unemployed there, as a community good turn.

APPEAL FOR WORLD GOODWILL

A call to Scouts to "spread friendship and brotherhood throughout the world" was the closing appeal of a moving address by Lord Baden-Powell, World Chief Scout, to the 28,000 boys of all nations about to separate at the close of the 5th World Scout Jamboree in Holland this summer.

"The time has now come for me to say good-bye," said the 80 year old father of Scouting. "I want you to lead happy lives. You know that many of us will never meet again in this world. I am in my 81st year, and am nearing the end of my life. Most of you are at the beginning, and I do want your lives to be happy and successful. You can attain it by doing your best to carry out the Scout Law all your days, whatever your station and wherever you are."

"I want you to preserve this badge of the Jamboree on your uniform. I suggest that you keep it and treasure it, and try to remember what it stands for. It will be a reminder and an inspiration of the happy times together in camp, and by observing the significance of the totem it will aid you in your quest to help bring about God's reign of peace and goodwill."

"It will always remind you of Holland." It will help you to be equipped to carry out the Scout Law all your days and to spread even farther our Scout ideals of goodwill and of the helping hand of fellowship to all we meet. My message to you is to spread friendship and brotherhood throughout the world. Good-bye and God bless you all."

To each of the leaders of the various contingents the Chief Scout presented the Jamboree totem, a Jacob's Staff, an instrument used by early Dutch navigators, to take home "as an emblem of goodwill."

World's Largest Accordion

The largest accordion in the world, it is claimed, has been made by a firm of organ and mouth organ manufacturers at Klingenthal, in the mountains of Saxony. The instrument is six feet high and six feet long. It will be played simultaneously by six music-hall artists, for whom it has been constructed.

Crow Steals Golf Ball

In the middle of a game at Petersburg, South Africa, a crow intercepted a golf ball on the fairway, picking it up in spite of the shouts of players and caddies. Mrs. Max Maryus, owner of the ball, set out in pursuit with her husband and caddie. The bird dropped the ball in the rough. Mrs. Maryus recovered it, paid a penalty and continued the game.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Sept. 26th, is "Reality." The Golden Text is: "For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven." (Psalms 119: 89).

The following passages are selected from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God." (Isaiah 44: 6).

"The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas. The Scriptures also declare that God is Spirit. He is all-inclusive, and is reflected by all that is real and eternal and by nothing else." (Science and Health, page 331).

Beeswax

Beeswax, widely used in arts and industries, is little produced by American hive-keepers. Bees consume ten pounds of honey to manufacture a pound of wax. Consequently, beekeepers strain out the honey and return the comb to the hive for refilling. The United States imports 700,000 pounds of beeswax annually, says Literary Digest, mostly from Brazil, Portugal, Chile, Cuba, Egypt, the Dominican Republic, Uruguay and Ethiopia.

Persimmons Don't Need Frost

One of the most prevalent of erroneous beliefs about the persimmon is that frost must fall on it before it is really good to eat. This old saw is not only inaccurate, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times, but is a direct contravention of the truth, which is that otherwise perfect fruit is not only not helped, but seriously injured by frost or freezing, just as is the case with other fruits.

Hints for Homebodies

Specially Written for Readers of The Watchman
By JESSIE ALLEN BROWN

SATURDAY NIGHT

A Saturday night in an Ontario town is something to see. They are all the same wherever you go. Crowds of people on the Main Street. I never have had as much difficulty walking on Yonge St. as I have had on a Saturday night in several Ontario towns. Parking space is at a premium. Quebec seems to be the same. We spent a Saturday night in Lachute and everyone in the neighborhood for miles around was on Main Street. The first Saturday night we were down town in Halifax we got such a surprise. There was no crowd. Not a dozen persons to a block. The stores were open but they might as well have been closed for all the business they were doing. Even the neighborhood grocery stores were empty. We find that Friday is the big shopping day here. You will meet almost everyone you know down town Friday afternoon either in the stores or at the market. We went blithely down to the market in the middle of a Saturday afternoon and it was closed. Market was over. Friday is the big day there. It is difficult for me to get the habit of buying for the week-end on Friday but I will have to learn as I have missed getting what I wanted several times on Saturday. Too late, all sold out.

PUNCTUAL MEETINGS

Now that meetings are starting again, we are back to the old way of wasting time waiting for them to begin. Choir practices, bridge games, concerts, and meetings of every description, they are all alike. Seldom start on time. You who are responsible for the conduct of these meetings could change all that. You say, you can't start when there's nobody there. If there is no one there at the appointed time, start with the first person who comes. I guarantee it will only take three meetings to get people there on time. The first, few may be on time; the second, several more will be there, and by the third, you will have few late comers. Your meetings will be disturbed with those late-comers but isn't it worth while to put up with it for a couple of meetings for the sake of getting started on time? Of course, Madam President, to start on time, you and your officers must be there yourselves. We all know how it goes. We are late when we could just as well be on time, but we think, what is the use, they never start on time anyhow. If we knew the meeting would start to the moment, we would be there. Try it and see if three meetings started on time will not bring results.

HAPPINESS IN ACTIVITY

Haven't you heard women say that the happiest time of their lives was when their children were small, and they were busy every minute? To be happy we must be active. Active, not only physically but mentally. Keep alive by learning something. Learn something more about your work, your hobbies or your recreation. If you are one of those who learn best with company, form a group of your friends and study something which will keep you alive mentally. You will be better company for yourself, your family and your friends.

TRICKS WITH DRESSING

Are you one of those who are partial to dressed meats? If you would like to have dressing but are not using a cut of meat that lends itself to it, try making your favorite dressing. (don't be stingy with the butter), then fill muffin pans with the mixture and bake for about a half hour. If your oven is at roasting temperature the dressing will be slightly crisped on the surface and comes out of the pans easily. Try serving a duck dressing with roast beef instead of potatoes. Do not always use the same herbs. Sometimes use sage, other times use thyme, then for variety add a little marjoram to the thyme, or maybe you are one of those who like summer savoury.

Mix and use for stuffing duck or goose. If served with roast beef put in casserole and bake a half hour.

TOMATO JAM

3 cups cooked tomato, juice 1 lemon and grated rind, 6 cups white sugar, 1 bottle commercial pectin, 1/2 teaspoon each ground cloves and cinnamon.

Scald and peel about 2 1/2 lbs. ripe tomatoes. Boil hard for ten minutes, then measure 3 cups. Add remaining ingredients, boil hard for 2 minutes. Remove from fire and add 1 bottle liquid pectin. Skim and pour into sterilized glasses. Seal with paraffin. This may be used as a marmalade or as a relish with cold meats.

How to Get the Best in Life

Dorothea Brande, who wrote the best seller, "Wake Up and Live", has come forth with new ideas for women who are bored and dissatisfied.

What such women need, she says in October "Fictorial Review - Delinquent", is not a change of surroundings but a change of viewpoint, and she tells how to get it.

"Keep a diary for a week, entering every activity and, if you like, every mood and thought", she advises. "The entries can be as prosaic as this: 'Saw the children off to school and realized that Jack is outgrowing his coat.' At the end of a week go through the diary. Change every 'I' to 'She' or to another woman's name. Then copy the changed diary, on a typewriter if possible.

"Look it up for a week and forget it. Then take it out and read it as though it were someone else's story. What does the woman need to make her life more interesting and effective? Is she up to the elbows in suds responsibilities? Does she fly from bridge party to bridge party with tiresome monotony? Does she spend the long days over books without putting her nose outdoors? Does she need more activity or less, more reading or a week's truce to the lending library, more friends and less dreammaking? If you were writing a story about her how would you go about putting things—and so balance and harmony—into her life?"

"Draw up a list of the things you need to make your life what you would like to have it. And now comes the rub. How many of the things listed depend on others? How many can you do for yourself? The infantile adult will always believe that he or she could be happy if someone else would contribute this or that: money or affection, time, attention. Maybe you can get these things from those around you, but what you can be sure of is what you can get from yourself. Change your perspective, change your tone, reassign your energy and time—and see a good life begin to develop."

Infantile Paralysis and Flies

There was a time when cash rewards were given for dead flies by the quart during an epidemic of infantile paralysis in Toronto, but the Health Department of that city now holds that flies have very little to do with the spread of the disease. Medical advice is that its spread is through nose and mouth excretion, but the symptoms remain the same—headache and sore back as well as general weakness. Barrie Examiner.

Fan Mail for Dead

Although Jean Harlow, noted movie actress of Hollywood, died nearly two months ago, more fan mail has come addressed to her than during any like period of her lifetime.

The average married man doesn't have a great deal of trouble keeping the Ten Commandments, but he does wish someone would tell his wife there are only ten.

WHO OWNS THE BORDEN COMPANY?

No one person or small group owns The Borden Company. Borden stock is owned by the public, 40,000 individual stockholders—many of them your neighbors—men and women living in towns, in cities and on farms located in every province of Canada and in every state of the United States.

This widespread public ownership of Borden is important to dairy farmers. It is one measure of the people's confidence in the name Borden. On such confidence Borden builds its everlasting advertising and selling efforts to create larger markets for milk and milk products, and a more stable income for dairy farmers.

HEARTY SUPPER DISHES

September noons may be hot but many evenings are cool and most of us like a savory hot dish to serve with the good chilled foods we'll continue to enjoy until snow flies.

The best of these hot dishes are quick and easy to make and need only a salad, beverage and dessert to complete the meal. You can serve your beverage hot or iced as the weather demands. If you do this you'll discover that even on hot nights the savory hot dish is thoroughly relished.

Noodles, spaghetti, macaroni and rice are especially good to use in combination dishes. The dishes made with rice usually are baked for the entire cooking period, while the noodle, macaroni and spaghetti mixtures are prepared separately and require but a short sojourn in the oven.

Concordia Rice

One pound round steak, ground, 1 large Spanish onion, 1 cup uncooked rice, 2 cups corn cut from cob, 4 cups tomatoes peeled and diced, 2 sweet green peppers, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon white pepper, 1 cup water, 2 tablespoons butter or other fat.

Melt butter in frying pan. Add meat and onion finely minced and cook until brown. Add remaining ingredients, cover and cook in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) for 2 hours.

Another good savory is Noodles Supreme. This dish would be splendid to serve to your bridge club for luncheon some nippy fall day.

Noodles Supreme

One package noodles, 1/2 lb. ground veal, 1/2 lb. ground lean pork, 1/2 lb. mushrooms, 1 small bottle stuffed olives, 2 cans tomato soup, 1 large onion, 2 tablespoons grated Italian cheese, 1/2 cup grated hard cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, ripe olives.

Cook noodles in boiling salted water for 10 minutes and drain.

ACHING HEADS AND SPOTTY EYES

Don't let constipation ruin your health. Read Mr. Davidson's message of cheer: "Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has sure been a godsend to me. This is the first relief I have ever had. Believe me, I will be a booster for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as long as I live!"—C. T. Davidson (address on request).

Common constipation may lead to many diseases. Unpleasant breath, blotchy complexion, spots before the eyes—are only forerunners of worse to come.

Conquer constipation with a delicious, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Simply eat two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Serve it with milk or fruit. Cook into appetizing muffins, breads, etc.

You'll prefer this delightful natural way instead of the artificial action of pills and drugs. Buy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London.

Melt butter and add onion finely minced. Cook five minutes and add mushrooms cleaned and sliced. Cover and cook five minutes longer. Add meat, mix thoroughly and cook twenty minutes over a low fire. Add noodles and soup and bring to the boiling point. Add stuffed olives and grated hard cheese and turn into a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with Italian cheese and bake in a moderately hot oven for thirty minutes. Sprinkle ripe olives over top just before serving.

Busy women are inclined to be a bit careless about choosing face powder, not realizing how important it is to use a becoming shade. Now the House of Lanvin makes it easy for the busiest as well as the most fastidious to indulge in a powder to exactly match her skin tone and give it a charming, youthful glow. There are nine shades so well graduated in tone that it is possible to find a perfect match for your own natural coloring, and the powder itself is so finely milled and expertly blended that it goes on with a petal-smooth effect, thus avoiding that harsh artificial look.

Accessories are an important fashion point this fall. Gloves, hats, bags and shoes not only match in color but frequently are made of the same material. If these are the same color predominating in the whole costume, one must rely on a gay flower, hankie and compact to furnish the necessary note of contrast. Compacts in catalin, cork flowers and hankies in sheer fabrics from linen to chiffon are fascinating and make it possible to vary the color scheme at will.

FOR BETTER HEALTH BY DR. J. ROSSLYN EARP

PERIODIC PAIN

Pain is an advertiser who shouts louder the more you listen to him. To those who take no notice of him he speaks in little more than a whisper. But if you hang upon his words he urges you to distraction.

I know a young woman who is subject to periodic cramps. Her mother is very fond of her and very sympathetic. She always knows when the advertiser is due to arrive and in one way or another is sure to ask her daughter, can you hear anything? Last week when the girl was invited to a picnic mother declined the invitation because she knew that picnic day would also be cramp day. But daughter learned about the invitation and wanted very much to go. She went; and that day she knew no pain. Among the voices of the woods and the laughter of her friends, she forgot to expect the advertisement of pain.

The distraction was fortunate because this girl's pain was a useless one. But while picnics may be recommended with confidence for this periodic pain it must be remembered that at other times it is important to pay attention. I know another girl who nearly bled to death from a ruptured ovarian cyst because she was so eagerly devoted to her studies that she refused to heed the warning. Pain that is unexpected and unexplained should be told to your friend the doctor, who will interpret it.

Vimy Pilgrimage Film Showing Here Next Week

Those who did not take part in the Vimy Pilgrimage last year have perhaps never realized what a tremendous undertaking it was, or what a profound significance it possessed for all who attended. It is impossible, however, to witness the pictorial record as presented in the film, "Salute to Valour", without recognizing that this event was one of the most memorable in which any mass of Canada's war heroes have taken part in time of peace.

The picture deals with the departure of the Pilgrims from Montreal, their voyage down the St. Lawrence and across the Atlantic, their arrival in London and in France; the ceremonies connected with the unveiling of the magnificent Canadian war memorial on Vimy Ridge itself; and the tour of the Pilgrims in Paris, England and Scotland before they returned home.

The foregoing comment by S. Morgan Powell, on the first appearance of this picture in Montreal, adequately stresses the interest and significance of the film—which is being featured here at the Rex Theatre in support of the local Legion funds next Wednesday, Sept. 29.

MORIN HEIGHTS

LOCAL EFFORT FOR WESTERN RELIEF IS SOUNDLY ORGANIZED

COMMITTEE ISSUES APPEAL

Through the medium of the churches and service clubs of Lachute a district canvass will be made to collect a carload of vegetables and canned goods for shipment to the dried-out areas of the West. Neighboring communities are also collaborating with this effort, or undertaking individual shipments.

A committee from Lachute churches and clubs met Tuesday evening under chairmanship of Rev. W. LeCras at the Town Hall, and apportioned routes for the canvass. Trucks will be enlisted to collect supplies from the farms on these routes, for loading on October 12-14 inclusive at the C. P. R. yards.

Townfolk may also contribute in money for the purchase of vegetables, or in donations of canned foods — same to be handed to ministers or priests of their congregations, or to The Watchman which is appointed a central agency to receive such gifts. Money should be handed in before next Thursday, Oct. 7.

For the information of our country readers, their respective districts will be canvassed as follows:

Route 8 to Cleland's—Wm. Murray. Copeland's to Thos. Gore and North River Road past Hammond's—Albt. Scott.

Dunany Road—Matthew Elder.

Vide Sac to Highway—Dave Black. Centreville and Lachute Road—Robt. Hamilton.

Beech Ridge—Gaetan Valois. Upper Lachute from Miller's to G. Walker's—Alex. Bothwell.

Brownburg Road and Jas. Hay's section—Mr. Gordon.

Tannery montée and section to the Ottawa River front—Amedée Maisonneuve.

There is little need to stress the worthiness of this effort. A similar loading, under supervision of Mr. A. A. McQuat, met with ready support last autumn. It was learned, from various sources, how Westerners appreciated this assistance from the East, organized by the Toronto Central Committee and aided by the railways with free transportation. The Lachute committee is therefore confident of a willing response to this year's appeal.

First Victim of Hunting Mishap in Laurentians

Shot through the neck in a hunting accident near St. Jerome late Sunday afternoon, Constantin Bohacz, 48-year-old Montrealer, was taken to the Montreal General Hospital after being carried by four companions through six miles of bush and field before medical aid could be reached.

The accident happened in a field along the shore of the Gagnon River, six miles from St. Jerome. Bohacz and his four companions were deer hunting. The five men were separated at the time of the shooting. They had sighted a deer and had decided to circle it. One of the men fired his gun when he saw a movement ahead of him. When the object of his aim fell, he rushed to the scene and found his companion on the ground, unconscious and bleeding from a bullet wound in the neck.

Hospital authorities say the victim is expected to recover.

ODDFELLOWS' SERVICE HELD AT BROWNSB'G

A goodly number attended the Oddfellows' service at the Brownsburg United Church last Sunday afternoon. The service was held at 2.30 o'clock to accommodate the delegation from Montreal, which included Past Grand Bro. Decarie, who represented the Grand Master, Bro. E. Tyler, in responding to the message of welcome given by District Deputy Bro. W. K. McArthur. The service was under the auspices of Laurentian Lodge, No. 14, Lachute, of which Bro. J. A. Campbell is Noble Grand.

Bro. Rev. S. J. Pike, P.G., conducted the service. Speaking on the "Larger Christian Fellowship" in Friendship, Love, and Truth, the tenets of Oddfellowship were particularly dealt with. Laurentian Lodge is especially favored with frequent visitations from the Montreal lodges.

Lachute Brigade Activities for Fire Prevention Week

In connection with the fire prevention campaign next week Lachute Fire Department will call for fire drill in the town schools and will make inspection of local business and store premises. In place of their monthly practice Monday evening the brigade will have their truck decorated with appropriate banners and will tour the streets to impress the theme of fire prevention.

Statistics received by Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon show the lowest per capita loss in Canada last year, at $1.95, as compared with the high figure of $3.15 in 1927. This gives evidence of improved fire protection systems in our towns. The rate of fire deaths, however, was high in 1936, at 347—attributable to modern hazards involving explosions, etc.

Reports on Fire Prevention Week campaigns show that Quebec Province has made exceptionally fine efforts toward public education during this annual period.

If motorists will turn "thumbs down" on the thumbers who are trying to bum rides on the highways, they will save themselves a lot of trouble.

Popular St. Andrews Visitor Feted as Hero in Montreal Just Twenty Years Ago

The following item appeared on Monday in the Montreal Star's column of happenings Twenty Years Ago:

Montreal — Popular conceptions of heroes and the heroic were shattered at the Bonaventure station this morning by an abashed, ruddy-complexioned, smiling young man in the early twenties. The cynosure of all eyes — Major W. A. Bishop, who is the only man in the world with such top-heavy affixes to his name as "V.C.", "M.C.", and "D.S.O.", with two bars — was without doubt the most uncomfortable man of the vast throng awaiting the departure of the International Limited for Toronto. As he embarked on the waiting train, he was greeted with a round of cheers by the guard of honour led by Captain Chouinard. Officers and men stood at the salute as the train pulled out.

—Our correspondent adds that "this is the same man who is now Air Vice-Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., and who does quite a bit of flying over St. Andrews East, trying to knock down the chimney pots from Mr. Irwin's country home."

Insist upon the right-of-way. It makes a nice thought to take along to the hospital.

Stock Market Break Gives No Cause for Panic; Picture of Conditions Bright for Immediate Future

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—The sharp however, is dependent on forces break in the stock market has of such magnitude and unpredictability as to make it obscure back to a re-examination of basic conditions in Canada. Has the long upward advance ended? Are we faced in the early future by another serious depression?

It will be a wise man who will give an accurate answer to these questions. But anyone may look over the field and see certain forces making for further improvement, as well as others which are not so encouraging. On the whole, the picture is fairly rosy, so far as the immediate future is concerned. The long-term trend,

FLOW ASSISTS RADIO ENGINEERS

Even in these days of advanced science the radio engineer turns to the humble plow — perhaps man's first mechanical achievement — to assist him in the construction of an ultra-modern high-powered broadcasting station. Here we see the plow, specially designed by the engineer in charge of installing the two 50 kilowatt stations, at Hornby, Ontario, and Vercheres, Quebec, which are being built for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation by the Northern Electric of Montreal.

The plow is used for the burying of 15 miles of copper wire in the form of a huge wheel at the base of the 650 ft. radiating tower, at the top of which, as shown in our sketch, is an aerial beacon. This mass of wire forms a perfect ground system and is as wide as the tower is high. These two stations, the most powerful in Canada, will be on the air this fall.

Fire Prevention Week — October 3rd to 9th

By Royal Proclamation, His Excellency the Governor-General has designated October 3rd to 9th as Fire Prevention Week. The following simple suggestions are listed: if followed by everyone in the family they will make YOUR home safe from fire.

Put lighted matches and smokes out before you throw them away. Keep matches where small children cannot reach them. Never smoke in the garage, barn, or attic, nor in bed.

Remove rubbish, waste papers and all unnecessary combustible materials. Provide metal ash and trash cans. Burn rubbish only in a safely covered brick or metal incinerator. Watch the fire.

Examine all stoves, furnaces, and smoke pipes to make sure they are safe and well away from woodwork or other burnable materials. Have needed repairs made at once.

Value the advice of your fire chief, who says that many fires are caused by dirty or defective chimneys. Have the chimney cleaned regularly, and have all defects repaired.

Escape the danger of flammable liquid fires and explosions by keeping no gasoline in the house. Do dry cleaning with safe liquids or send the work to the cleaner. Never start fires with kerosene.

Notify the electric company of electrical trouble. Always replace "blown" fuses with new ones — not pennies. Avoid home-made wiring jobs.

Teach everyone in the family to be careful of fire, to watch stoves, fireplaces, electric irons and all other possible fire causes, and every day to remove old rags, papers and other rubbish.

Fireproof your home as far as possible by fire-safe roofing, fire stopping in hollow walls and partitions to stop the spread of flame, and a non-combustible basement ceiling.

Inquire of your fire chief, when buying a fire extinguisher, to be sure of getting the right kind. Don't hesitate to ask your firemen whenever you have questions on fire prevention.

If telephoning a fire-alarm, be sure the address is clearly understood. Use a neighbour's phone rather than one in the burning building.

Explain to everyone in the house what to do in case of fire, how to put out fire in clothing by wrapping in a rug or blanket, what to do when grease catches fire in the kitchen.

Save life and property from needless destruction by fire by keeping the principles of fire prevention always in mind and never taking a chance with fire.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME AT ST. JERUSALEM

A severe loss was suffered on Monday by Seymour Cox of St. Jerusalem when fire of unknown origin destroyed his farm dwelling and adjoining shed. No one was in the house at the time; Mr. Cox was assisting neighbors with their silo-filling. The fire broke out at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon. Neighbors rushed to the scene and, forming a bucket brigade, succeeded in saving the barn buildings. Water was drawn from nearby farms. Lachute firemen were summoned and gave assistance with hand fire-extinguishers. The shed contained the winter's supply of wood. This, with the house and contents, was a total loss, which it would take an estimated $3,000 to replace. There was a small coverage of $300 insurance.

Fatally Injured in Highway Mishap West of Lachute

Antoine Lavergne, 34-year-old resident of Lachute Mills, was the victim of a fatal accident which occurred at 6.45 o'clock Monday morning just west of Lachute on the Grenville highway.

Lavergne succumbed late last night at the Sacre Coeur Hospital, Cartierville, where he was taken unconscious in an ambulance, having sustained a fracture of the skull.

The mishap occurred at Simon's Crossing where the road traverses the C. P. R. track. Lavergne was one of a party of men going to work on the highway; he and a friend had been picked up on the road by a truck owned by Rodolph Beaulne and driven by G. Beauchamp. As the truck took the curve at Simon's it hit soft ground at the roadside, and when the driver turned back to the centre of the road, the vehicle skidded and struck a tree. Lavergne was thrown out, striking his head on an old sleigh at the side of the road. He was brought unconscious to Lachute and, after receiving first aid from Dr. J. H. Mason, was taken to hospital by ambulance. An inquest is being held this afternoon in Lachute Town Hall.

Life Membership Presented to Lady Perley at Semi-Annual Gathering of W.I.

An interesting meeting of the County Women's Institutes was held in Lachute High School on Saturday afternoon last, when the presentation of a county life membership was made to Lady Perley, who has been interested in Women's Institute work and a member of Upper Lachute - East End Branch for many years. Mrs. Robt. Bradley of Pioneer Branch, a former County President, pinned on the life membership pin, and Mrs. A. Graham, County President now in office, presented the life membership certificate with a few well-chosen words as to the fitness of this presentation. Lady Perley in reply said:—"I cannot tell you how deeply honored I feel to be made a life member of your county. I feel as though I really belong to you now, and I thank you for the great honor which you have done me here today."

The meeting had been previously opened with the singing

GROUP OF PROMINENT ANTIQUARIANS INSPECT CARILLON MUSEUM SITE

J. P. LANCTOT, K.C., WAS HOST TO PARTY AT ST. ANDREWS

ANNOUNCE SOCIETY'S ANNUAL MEETING

A group of eminent French-Canadian historians (better known to antiquarian circles as the committee of ten), paid an informal visit to St. Andrews East last Sunday afternoon and were entertained at luncheon by J. P. Lanctot, K.C. Knowing the interest manifest by the people of this county in things historical and the founding of the Historical Society of Argenteuil, and also having heard of the generous gesture by Mr. Felix Hungerbuhler in donating the old barracks at Carillon for the establishment of a museum, this group took the opportunity of meeting the Society executive and of discussing their future program for the preservation of local records and perpetuating old landmarks.

Among those present were Mons. Olivier Maurcault, rector of the University of Montreal, Notary Victor Morin, LL.D., Agidius Fauteaux, A. Beaugrand Champagne, Monteville B. de la Bruere, Gerard Melchiosse, Emile Vaillancourt and J. B. Legace. Professor Nobbs of Montreal was also present. Having visited the barracks and the Dollard monument at Carillon the party were entertained by Dr. Maud E. Abbott at her home.

The Society's annual meeting will take place in the Town Hall in St. Andrews East at 8 o'clock p.m., Saturday, Oct. 9. Following the business of the meeting an address will be given by Victor Morin, LL.D., Vice-President of the Royal Society of Canada and President of the Archaeological Society of Montreal. Among other important features will be the presenting of new donations to the Society's museum, which will include a contribution of four illuminated scrolls presenting the coats of arms of old French nobility, painted by Father Lachance from the originals at Versailles. These are the gift of Miss Alice Lee, of Westport, N.Y., and presented by Miss Mary Lee of Chestnut Hill, Boston.

Prizes will be awarded at this meeting for the best essay on local historical subjects by French and English school children.

Installation of Governor-General to Ancient Order

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—His Excellency, Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, became the first Grand Master of Nova Scotia's ancient and colorful "Order of the Good Times" since Champlain, Poirinecourt and Lescarbot held that honor in 1607 when, in a ceremony typical of the pomp and pageantry identified with the original functions of this Order, he donned the great cloak, the jeweled chain and was duly installed to office today.

This historic ceremony, which for 300 years has rested unused, was brought to Canadians over the national network of the CBC in a program broadcast from 11.00 a.m. to 12.00 noon, direct from Annapolis, N.S., where the first Grand Master was installed. Listeners followed the routine of the ceremony as it was originally set forth.

The "Order of the Good Times" has been revived by the government of Nova Scotia in the belief that there is much in the aims and objects of the Order, as well as in the spirit and purpose which motivated its formation, to warrant its perpetuation.

QUEBEC PASTURE CONTESTS

The Department of Agriculture of Quebec has done much to encourage the economic use of fertilizers in the province and has organized, under the direction of the regional and district agronomists, pasture improvement contests in every county. These are conducted according to different plans, varied to suit conditions. The farmer and district agronomist together select the area to be fertilized, observing the percentage of good pasture plants, especially native wild white clover, in the herbage. Alongside and separated by a fence from the area to be fertilized another similar area is reserved untreated, as a check. The farmer agrees to use a pasture fertilizer recommended by the provincial council and to manage the grazing according to the advice of the department. Further, he undertakes to note the effect of the fertilizing and the number of pasture days on each area and to cut down any tall grasses which may get out of control.

At the Deschambault Agricultural School Farm, too, S. J. Chagnon is showing the way in pasture fertilizing, and a huge gathering of farmers, headed by the Hon. Bona Dussault, Minister of Agriculture, met there in August to see the results. At Deschambault the fertilizing of pastures has been practised for the past six years, and the stock-carrying capacity has been vastly increased. In a recent report Mr. S. J. Chagnon stated that he had 63 acres of fertilized permanent pasture carrying over 90 head of cattle. The pastures, he said, give an abundance of luscious food, rich in minerals and vitamins, during the summer, and enable the dairy cows to produce a large quantity of milk economically and without injury to their health. Besides, said Mr. Chagnon, these nutritive pastures improve the quality of the young livestock, without using any supplementary concentrates. Another advantage, which he emphasizes, is the saving in stable feeding by reason of the earlier grazing in spring.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING

The story of Romeo Pelouquin's experience provides an example of what the farmer can do to improve his pastures and increase his profits. Mr. Pelouquin had a pasture field, near St. Hyacinthe, on which he applied a 2-12-6 fertilizer in 1932. In the fall of 1935 he announced his intention to plough the pasture field but yielded to better counsel and, instead, applied 0-16-6 fertilizer in the fall. In the spring of 1937 he applied to the pasture 100 lbs. of sulphate of ammonia per acre. The growth was amazing, and the cows were unable to cope with it, so Mr. Pelouquin divided the 7½ acre field into three sections. One of 2½ acres he set aside for hay, and from this he harvested 9 double loads. The 5 acres remaining for pasture gave grazing to 14 cows for 8 days in spring and has carried 11 cows since then. Mr. Pelouquin is satisfied with the results from the fall fertilizing with 0-16-6, and who would not be?

For pastures, on all but the very heavy soils where 20% superphosphate alone may suffice, the fall application should be of 0-16-6 phosphate-potash fertilizer. This should be put on in September, or not later than mid-October, at the rate of from 400 to 600 lbs. per acre.

Laurentian Contractor Admits Having Falsified Payroll

Arthur Cyr, general contractor of Ste. Agathe, pleaded guilty before District Magistrate Donat Lalande at St. Jerome, to a charge of "having between May 15 and August 24, 1937, falsified his records and payroll". He was sentenced to a fine of $200 and costs or one month in jail.

Isidore Guindon, another general contractor of Ste. Agathe, also pleaded guilty to a charge of "having on August 24, 1937, refused to allow officials of the Joint Committee of the Building Trades to examine his records." He was fined $25 and costs or one month in jail.

Both men paid the fines. They had been summoned to appear in court on complaints laid by officers of the Building Trades' Joint Committee.

Body Awaited Burial Through Six Years of Litigation in Courts

The story of one of the most unusual cases in the annals of the civil courts of the Province of Quebec, that of Joseph Guibord, who died in 1869, but who was only buried in 1875, was the subject of an interesting address by Senior Justice Archambault of the Circuit Court before the St. Lawrence Kiwanis Club last week.

Guibord, Mr. Justice Archambault related, was at the time of his death a member of the Institut Canadien, which at that time held radical ideas on matters of religion, and had been excommunicated by the Roman Catholic Church. The cure of Notre Dame refused to allow the body of Guibord to be buried in consecrated ground and this was the subject of the long legal battle which ended finally before the Privy Council.

Guibord's widow, he continued, got an order from the Superior Court to oblige the cure of Notre Dame to allow the body to be buried in consecrated ground. His Lordship described the various stages of the litigation, which he declared had caused widespread interest. Mrs. Guibord died in 1873, but her attorneys continued to press the suit until finally they decided that the church in Canada was a voluntary society and that the civil court had jurisdiction if one of the members of the society wished to complain of what he believed was an injustice. The Privy Council maintained the action and an order was given to the cure of Notre Dame to allow the body to be buried in consecrated ground.

Mr. Justice Archambault described an attempt made by members of the Institut Canadien to remove the man's body from the vault at Mount Royal to bury it in Cote des Neiges Cemetery, when a crowd of several hundred people prevented them from entering the grounds.

"Several days later, however, accompanied by a squad of 100 policemen and 1,000 soldiers, the cortege made its way into the cemetery and Guibord was finally laid to rest, his coffin resting on that of his wife, who died four years after he did, but who was buried two years before him," said His Lordship.

"The long legal struggle resulted in Guibord's attorneys winning on principle, but their fight did not do much good as some time later the Bishop of Montreal ordered that section of the cemetery in which Guibord's body rested be removed from the consecrated part," he concluded.

For Lack of a Word

When a body, with whom you were once quite familiar, assumes a formal, cold attitude after the first goal of his ambition has been achieved, you may think that he has a "swelled head". But it may not be so much a swollen head as it is an unconscious form of revenge, ignoring in the present those who ignored him in the past. And it marks one of the first important disillusionments of youth. Doubtless many a Michelangelo, a Faraday, and an Edison have been lost to the world because someone was too stingy to utter one or two words of encouragement.

Road Workers Warned on Irregular Parking

Orders have been issued to all men employed by the Province of Quebec Roads Department on repairs or upkeep of the highways not to park their autos or trucks on curves or on hills. The instructions had been given early in the season but it was deemed advisable to renew them.

Officials of the Province of Quebec Safety League recently had written to the authorities of the department pointing out that complaints had reached them that the dangerous practice was being indulged in by the employees.

Men of the department have been told to park at the right side of the road some hundred feet from the arc of the curve so that they can be well seen. The same ruling has been issued regarding hills, and employees have been notified never to park their cars at the top of a hill but to leave it rather at the bottom some distance away from the incline so as to offer no danger.

CHAIN STORE PURCHASES

Chain Store purchases in the Province of Quebec total over $30,000,000 a year — or the equivalent of $10.00 for every man, woman and child in the Province.

This money is spent in communities from the Ontario border to the Gaspé Coast and represents work and wages for thousands of Quebec Province workmen and a dependable source of revenue to farmers, fishermen and individual craftsmen.

Some of this money goes into their savings; some is spent with the chain stores themselves; but the bulk is spent with other merchants and individuals for goods and services.

Farm prices have, in recent months, maintained a parity with wholesale and manufacturers' prices generally, thus providing a basis for even exchange of products. This helpful condition was seriously lacking in the worst years of the depression.

There is still a very big backlog in building, both residential and factory. One authority says that 225 million dollars of residential building is required to give Canada reasonably adequate housing.

External trade is flourishing. There is no sign yet of an early recession. This condition usually goes with domestic activity, and good times.

Revenues of the Dominion and most provinces are better. A balanced budget will be approached, or actually achieved, at Ottawa for the first time since 1930.

The debt burden is being slowly relieved, by re-funding and by higher prices, rather than by much re-payment so far.

The pulp and paper industry, for long depressed and over-expanded, has been enjoying much better days. It begins to look as though production is again getting out of line with consumption, however.

The textile industry, generally, in spite of lower tariffs, is doing very nicely, and with greater buying power within the country, should have a good winter.

The relief load, still very at prices at least equivalent to cost of production.

The rapid reduction of unemployment relief costs.

Reduction of the present burden of taxation.

The extent to which Canadian external trade is now depending on the artificial demand due to armament programs is a debatable point.

Unquestionably, should there be an immediate major shift in European countries from armament building to other types of national activity, it would have profound repercussions on Canada's trade. But observers claim that in the first place there is little immediate prospect of that, and in the second, expansion in other fields, such as housing, would equally stimulate international trade.

EDITORIAL

Chateauguy Contemporary
Is a Community-Builder

Our Chateauguy Valley contemporary, Mr. Adam Sellar, recalls how he entered the Huntingdon Gleaner office 20 years ago as a "printer's devil", and reviews the progress made by that paper as it now enters its 75th year of publication. It is a record of "father and sons operating one weekly newspaper for nigh three-quarters of a century—a record almost unique in all Canada."

The day is past when the weekly newspaper was regarded as a one horse affair, with one man as editor, one printer and a devil to make up the staff—remarks Mr. Sellar. We may add that, in this transition, the present editor has proven himself a worthy successor to a worthy parent. The merit is reflected not merely in the Gleaner's mechanical and editorial advancement—which alone might be viewed as the realization of a family ideal—but also in the community enterprises which are supported, and often sponsored, by this newspaper and its editor. In this manner the Gleaner is grasping an opportunity and filling a role which is the heritage of country journals.

The late Robert Sellar published his first news-sheet in Huntingdon on September 18th, 1863. A collection of historical annals and pioneer tales was his bequest to the country beyond his own immediate community; Mr. Sellar was a noted historian. It is worthy of note that, while having given much to their town, his remaining sons are also giving service in a wider sense.—Our wishes are for a continuance of this progress and fine achievement.

Fires Are Preventable

The week of October 3rd to 9th is Fire Prevention Week. But it is not implied that citizens should confine their efforts and precautions to this one official week. This is the time when we can expect an outbreak of fires. Stoves and furnaces which have not been used all summer are being started up to take off the autumn chill, usually with little or no loose bricks to let the fire get access to the woodwork. A very high proportion of fatal fires in homes are due to defective chimney flues.

Homes which are equipped with electric wiring have an ever-present fire menace if there are defects in the wires and connections, either because they were installed by amateur electricians or because rats have gnawed the insulation. A first step in fire prevention should be to have all electric wires and equipment thoroughly inspected and put into good repair.

Tens of thousands of disastrous fires every year start in accumulations of rubbish and waste. Old newspapers stored in the attic or cellar, old clothes put away in closets, are fire hazards familiar to every insurance man. Clean out the attic, the basement, and every closet that is not constantly in use, if you want to minimize your chance of having your house burn down some cold night, and perhaps cause the death of some of your family, or yourself.

The property loss from fires, tremendous as it is, is as nothing compared with the thousands of lives needlessly sacrificed because somebody was careless.

A Texas Legionnaire rode his horse into a New York hotel and registered.—You can register with your public by riding your business hobby in the pages of this newspaper.

Seasoned Drivers Over-Confident

It is not always the young, inexperienced driver who is responsible for motor car accidents. A recent study by safety experts seems to indicate that nearly three-quarters of all highway accidents are due to carelessness by drivers who have had eight years or more of experience and have never been in an accident before. They get careless because of a false sense of security.

Anyone who was driving a car eight years ago, when modern, smooth roads were fewer and only daredevils pushed their speed above 40 miles an hour, often fails to realize the danger in high speeds on perfect roads. He experiences none of the discomforts which a 60-mile speed would have caused in his earlier motoring days, so he often does not realize how much faster he is going—and the other fellow, too—and how much greater the need for caution. The very perfection of car and roadbed lulls him into a false sense of security.

A blowout at 60 miles an hour is not only more likely to occur than at a lower speed, but it is many times more serious in its consequences. Speeding around a blind curve is one of the commonest causes of automobile accidents. It is hard to realize that if there is the slightest obstruction ahead the driver has not time enough to stop.

These are some of the reasons why experienced motorists are no safer drivers than those just past the beginner stage, unless they recognize the fact that every new device to make motoring easier puts a new burden of responsibility on the driver.

To Correct Juvenile Miscreants

A school board in a British Columbia city is arranging with the police for a better system of "follow up work" in respect to thefts.

Heretofore, experts in thief detection have not been brought into these petty misdemeanors, probably on account of the small value of articles stolen.

We believe the above move is a good one. A future citizen is important if a small theft isn't. Apprehension and proper treatment of petty thieves may save many later heartaches and much expense. Here is a conservation move of high order.

out the year. The scholars then formed a procession through the gates as the choir sang appropriate music. It was an interesting service, made all the more impressive by the baptismal ceremony in which the Rev. W. B. Rosborough christened the infant sons of Dr. and Mrs. F. McMartin and Mr. and Mrs. L. Armstrong, which were named respectively William Peter McMartin and John Linton Ronald Armstrong.

Be tolerant with the pedestrian. He has his faults, but they are not crimes punishable by death.

Harvest Home at Lakefield

Lakefield — The annual Harvest Home of Holy Trinity Church was held on Thursday morning. The church was beautifully decorated with a varied assortment of fruits and vegetables, an arch of cedar and flowers forming the entrance to the church, and a profusion of gladioli appearing on the altar. Special preacher for the occasion was Rev. R. G. Fiander, B.A., L.Th., of Trinity Memorial Church, Montreal. The service of thanksgiving was conducted by Rev. C. W. P. Baugh of Lakefield, assisted by Canon W. Garrett of Hawkesbury, and Horace G. Baugh, of Cedars, Que.

The choir, with Rev. A. E. Mount as organist, sang "O Lord, how manifold are Thy works", and led the singing of the harvest hymns.

After the service members of Lakefield W.A. served a bountiful dinner in the Gibb Parish Hall to over 100 persons.

Retired Anglican Clergymen

RECEIVES RECOGNITION FROM PASTORATE IN NEW GLASGOW

New Glasgow — Members of this community gathered recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brophy to honor Rev. Thomas Ball on termination of his pastorate in this parish of the Anglican Church, and also on the conclusion of his active service as a clergyman. He had completed 11 years at New Glasgow and 44 years as a minister of the Church of England.

Supper was served by the ladies of St. John's Anglican Church, after which Gordon Whitehorse, student of the United Church, expressed on behalf of those present and the community sincere appreciation for the faithful services Mr. Ball had rendered and for his active interest in the welfare of the locality. He also expressed the hope that Mr. and Mrs. Ball would still enjoy many years of health and happiness in their new home.

Mr. Ball replied appropriately, reminiscing briefly on his years in the ministry and thanking those concerned for their expression of appreciation.

Mrs. T. Lewis, president of the Women's Guild, thanked those who provided the refreshments and all who contributed to the success of the evening.

NEWS BULLETIN

Lachute is the next to follow! Interested members assembled at the office of Mr. Héon, K.C., a life member of the Society, and organized the Lachute Branch of the Historical Society of Argenteuil under its appointed President, J. S. Giles, Editor of the Lachute Watchman, and its appointed Secretary, Mr. Clifton Hall, Principal of the High School.

The program of these local organizations was announced in this column last week, and we can well believe that our County Town will make this Lachute Branch, in its numerical strength and varied activities connected with the Barracks-Museum project, the banner for the whole valley.

In accord with the request of the Executive, the President will continue his conferences with members at important centres, with a view to starting similar branches to share in the work.

The annual meeting of the Society will be held in the Town Hall, St. Andrews, on Saturday, Oct. 9th, full particulars of which will be duly announced. A program of unusual interest may be expected.

While a loan collection exhibition on the lines of that held last year has been cancelled for this season, members are invited, if they have antiquarian treasures of outstanding interest intended as gifts, to exhibit them on this occasion, but to take them back and hold possession of them till the museum is ready for their reception. The distinction between gifts and loans should be kept clearly understood.

New 1938 Studebakers Appear in this District

The Studebaker automobiles for 1938, presented to the public here for the first time, came as a surprise to motorists who keep watch of new models each year. The new Studebakers are new in the most literal interpretation of the word. They have been built without compromise to tool-and-die amortizing budgets or other previous model hang-over handicaps. The frames are new. The chassis are new. The bodies are new. J. P. MacKimmie & Sons of Lachute, local dealers, have already secured models of this new 1938 car.

The 1938 Studebakers are offered in three lines; the President, the Commander and the Six. . . . The President models are powered with 110 horsepower eight cylinder engines. The Commander and the Six have 90 horsepower six cylinder engines. The President wheel base is 122 inches, the other two models have 116.5 inch wheelbase. In each group of cars there are coupes, club sedans, cruising sedans and convertible sedans.

News-worthy features of the new models include new frames, bodies that are 6 inches wider than previous models and the availability of a vacuum-actuated shifting mechanism which is located on the instrument panel. There are many other chassis and engine refinements. General improvements have been made in strengthening the bodies by skilful welding and ingenious shaping of steel.

Brownburg Baptist Minister Resigns; Presentation Made

Brownburg — It was with deep regret that the Maple Ave. Baptist Church accepted the resignation of their pastor, the Rev. Elmore H. Young, B.Th.

On Sunday last Mr. Young preached his farewell services, which were largely attended. Guest soloist was Mrs. Wm. King, who sang "The Beautiful City".

During his short pastorate here the congregation have learned to love and respect Mr. Young, and his absence will be felt not only by his own people but by those of other denominations, for by his friendly, Christian personality he has made friends among all classes and creeds.

A farewell party was given by the church for Mr. Young on Wednesday evening. He was presented with a beautiful reading lamp, a brief case and money. Mr. Robert MacKimmie, assistant pastor, was presented with a brief case as a parting gift from the church. He leaves next week to resume his studies at MacMaster University.

"Salute to Valour" Now Appearing at Brownburg

Following the presentation of "Salute to Valour" last evening at Rex Theatre on behalf of local Legion funds, Brownburg Branch No. 71 of the Canadian Legion are now sponsoring the showing of this film at the Capitol Theatre. The picture will appear tonight, Friday and Saturday, with a matinee at reduced admission on Saturday afternoon.

Patrons at the Rex were deeply impressed by the first local showing of "Salute to Valour", which depicts the Vimy Pilgrimage of Canadian veterans and their families last year. The theatre was well filled, and interest was attracted by the lobby exhibits of war souvenirs. Argenteuil Branch No. 70 benefitted by appreciable proceeds toward their funds, and it is hoped the Brownburg patronage will prove equally generous in its support.

NUBELL GOLD MINES LIMITED

215 ST. JAMES ST. WEST,
Montreal

September 20, 1937

TO OUR SHAREHOLDERS:

On August 3rd we wrote you a letter in regard to a matter of extreme importance to you as a Shareholder in this Company. This letter you will remember, referred to the free gold strike made on the McDonough property just two miles due East of our property. This McDonough strike is considered by competent geologists and mining engineers as the most outstanding strike of surface free gold ever discovered in Northwestern Quebec. As evidence of this, a Toronto group recently paid three hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($325,000) for four hundred thousand (400,000) shares (better than eighty cents, 80c., per share) in a Company to be formed to take over the McDonough interests. Subsequently, this Company known as the "Maniwaki Gold" was incorporated—the McDonough interests receiving one million two hundred thousand shares for their claims.

On September 16th the first public offering of the shares of this Company was made in Toronto—the shares selling up to $1.54. We quote as follows from the "Toronto Star" of that date in regard to the reception they received:—"Maniwaki Gold, the new Company formed to develop the rich finds located by Mine-Finder McDonough, was causing quite a stir on the street market to-day. The stock coming out for the first time was being traded at the opening around $1.50 to $1.53. At noon it had moved ahead in good trading to close at $1.52 to $1.54".

Additional evidence of the value of this recent discovery lies in the fact that the adjoining property still nearer to our own, was sold for one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00) cash and three hundred thousand (300,000) shares in a new Company to develop the property.

It will interest you to know that since our last writing you, our engineer has traced this important strike right on to and through our property and is now engaged in exploring its possibilities by stripping, trenching, pit sinking and sampling. Preliminary surface sampling has given very encouraging results.

In addition to our engineer's considered opinion that the McDonough strike runs through our property, three independent, outstanding geologists, representing some of Canada's leading mining Companies, who have examined our property, declare positively that our formation is identical with that of the McDonough.

Another matter of great importance to you as a Shareholder, is a deal that was recently consummated in connection with our property in Clericy. This copper-gold property, as you are no doubt aware, lies just eight miles from Noranda. It so happened that a development and mining company owned four hundred acres adjoining our property. We amalgamated the two properties and put them into a new company known as "The Roybell" capitalized at three million dollars, from which the Nubell Shareholders receive five hundred thousand shares, with an agreement that financing of the treasury would be provided by a local firm and a majority of the Board of five directors would be selected by us. In consequence, Colonel Gear, J. Arthur Perodeau, and Curzon Dobell, all Nubell officers and directors, were elected to the Board.

In view of all the above facts, we have received tentative offers from large concerns to assist in financing Nubell, but this procedure does not appeal to our directors, some of whom think we should not sell any more stock to anyone at this time, being satisfied that with further developments we could get much higher prices, which would result in our Company being financed with less stock being issued. Therefore, after due deliberation, it has been decided to sell no more stock at the present selling price of fifteen cents per share after October 9th, 1937.

The price thereafter will be twenty-five cents (25c) per share and speaking in your own interests, in view of what we know of the future possibilities of our property, we cannot too strongly urge you to take advantage of the fifteen-cent price and secure all the stock you possibly can, up to and including October 9th, after which date, we repeat, the company will offer no further stock at present prices.

In conclusion, the writer wishes to say that in order to be able to give you first hand and reliable information, he visited the McDonough showing and found it much better than he had anticipated, and at the same time visited our property—saw the McDonough strike for himself, running through our claims and was more than satisfied with all the developments that are taking place.

Yours very truly,

THE BALL PLAYER

Little Cornelius Helpenny Crooks Didn't like teachers and didn't like books, at all—He didn't like school days or lessons All that he liked was just to play ball!

He played ball in the morning, At noon-day, at night, He railed at the darkness And wanted moonlight.

Through fences and railings To ball-games he'd creep, 'Twas all he could think of... Till it made him so nervous, That he counted scores in his sleep.

As Mollie's mother started towards the window to let her little girl see what had made the last queer noise, the harsh, raggedy-sounding "Ah-a-a-a" came in through the window. Mollie clung to her mother in fear crying, "No! no! Mummie, I don't want to see that noise. It's too dreadful."

Before Mother had time to reply, Jack's fretful face peeked at them down through a stove-pipe hole in the ceiling. "Mother!" he cried, "What are you and Lollipop making so much noise for? Why can't you let a fellow sleep?" His mother paused on her way to the window to say, "Why, Jackie, we have been rather quiet I think. We have been talking quite softly."

"Softly!" It may have seemed softly to you, but every sound you make comes up through that pipe-hole. "Well, what of it?" a sleepy voice chimed in. "I have slept through everything, and I sleep in the same room, remember. Mother and Sis have not been noisy enough to keep me awake. It took that dratted old sheep to waken me. Seat, you!" he whispered fiercely, "or I'll throw grandpa's bootjack at you!"—this as the sheep, waiting impatiently at the gate through which she had come several times a day the summer before to be fed, as a motherless lamb, suddenly pleaded for attention again. "Ted says that's a sheep, Mummie," said Mollie. "I did not know Grandpa had the sheep here. I thought they were out on the mountain pasture."

"So, they were, dear, but they were being chased by dogs so Grandpa had them brought home; and that terrible noise, as you call it, is being made by your old playmate, Buntie." "That can't be Buntie, Mother, Buntie had a whimpering kind of voice something like this," and Mollie mocked Buntie's cry as a lamb, so cleverly that her grandfather hearing it turned over in bed and muttered, "I should get up and put those lambs in; they will be getting chilled outside."

Mollie and her mother heard the muttered words. "Poor Grandpa," Mollie giggled, hiding her face on her mother's shoulder so that her grandpa would not hear her laugh. She need not have worried though, for he had gone to sleep again.

"Yes, poor Grandpa," her mother said, "and we thought that we were being so quiet!"

"I thought that we were, Mummie—but all the time we were making noises in the night too."

"We were, dear—and there is another noise. Toby hears Buntie calling outside, and he is trotting around the verandah to see what it is all about. Buntie will likely go away from the gate when she sees him coming along in the moonlight. Having been chased by strange dogs so recently will make her afraid of Toby. See, she is running away." Mollie crept out of her mother's arms onto the broad window-sill and looked out. "I see her, Mummie. My, but she's big! Her voice is awfully queer too, isn't it. It's not like my Buntie's voice at all."

"Buntie is a big sheep now, darling, and has baby lambs of her own. Don't you hear them calling to her?" "Oh, can I see them in the morning, Mummie?"

"If you are better, dear. But you won't be better if you do not sleep. You will be very tired, and no doubt have more fever again. Let mother tuck you into bed now, girlie."

So once more Mollie was tucked into bed, in the hope that she might sleep.

To be continued. —AUNT JEAN (Copyright)

A Thing They Miss

There are children living in villages today who have never seen a horse being shod. They have never stood in wonder while the smith heated a shoe, then proceeded to put the hot shoe on the hoof and apply his knife to do the trimming, nor have they seen the operation where the same man deftly tucked the horse's hoof in between his knees through his split apron and finally brought the operation to completion.

The young folk never seemed to tire of standing about the door of the village blacksmith shop. Today the door is for the most part closed, but they are missing a good deal.

Is There a Fire-bug in Your Home?

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK. OCTOBER 3rd to 9th

The great fire loss in Canada last year, over $2,700,000, was caused by 4,700 fires traced to defective or carelessly handled stoves, furnaces, boilers and pipes.

Disastrous fires from cook-stoves and heating stoves come from many causes, the most common one being turning on the draft and leaving the room. If the stove for either cooking or heating is too small it is dangerous because, by forcing the fire the stove overheats, with grave risk of setting fire to wood partitions or the soot in the pipes or flues. If large stoves are used, the fire will not have to be forced, thereby eliminating this hazard.

The floor should be protected from coals or sparks by a sheet of metal or asbestos cloth placed under the stove. A stove should not be placed nearer than 18" from walls or partitions of either wood or plaster and the wall should be protected by a sheet of tin, zinc or sheet iron hung loosely on hooks allowing space for the air to pass between the wall and its metal protector. It should extend from a few inches above the floor to at least a yard above the stove or range.

All lath and plaster or wood ceiling over a large range should be guarded by a metal hood or ventilating pipes. Many fires result from grease or fat boiling over on the cooking stove. Throwing water on the stove only makes the blaze more dangerous as it causes the flame to spread. Ashes, baking soda, flour or salt should be used to smother the flames.

Stove-pipes should be cleaned every autumn and where the pipes become thin or perforated, which condition is caused by the steam from sulphur-salt fumes from coal, the affected pipes should be replaced. See that pipes passing through a roof, wall, floor or ceiling are protected by a metal collar surrounding them, in which there is at least one inch of air space.

BOY SCOUTS THE WORLD OVER

A MODERN DAVID

A Rumanian Boy Scout, Constantine Varaticeanu, watching his father's sheep, emulated David's battle with the lion when an eagle swooped down to carry off a lamb. As the great bird rose with the lamb, the Scout threw himself upon it, and after a terrific struggle had the eagle securely tied with good Scout knots. In recognition of his bravery Scout Varaticeanu received a medal from the King of Rumania.

BOY SCOUTS' "PERPETUAL FIRE OF FRIENDSHIP"

A thought-provoking feature at the recent National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America at Washington, attended by Scouts from 27 foreign countries, was a "Perpetual Fire of Friendship". The fire, which symbolized the unity, peace and goodwill existing among Boy Scouts throughout the world, was lighted with an impressive ceremony at the opening of the Jamboree, and was kept burning brightly day and night until the close of the camp. Ashes from the fire were then collected and taken by the American Scout contingent to the World Scout Jamboree in Holland, where the fire was rekindled.

BOY SCOUTS ON POSTAGE STAMPS

in connection with international Scout gatherings held in those countries. Rumania has issued four series, the first in 1931. Of these the 3 leu stamp pictures the investiture of a Tenderfoot Scout. Scouts in camp appear on another, and on another a Scout bringing food to a starving mother and baby. The Rumanian Chief Scout, Prince Nicholas, and King Carol in Scout uniform appear on two high value stamps. Another series show a Wolf Cub signalling the letter "X" in semaphore, two Scouts cooking over a camp fire, and a Scout with pack and staff on the trail. The same series was overprinted in 1934, the surtax going toward the upkeep of the Rumanian Scout Jamboree of that year. The last series, of 1935, show a Sea Scout, a land Scout and a Girl Guide on the 10 leu stamp; Sea Scouts and bugler on the 1 leu, and a saluting Sea Scout on the 1/2 leu.
