Hon. T. A. Crerar Receives Delegation From the Argenteuil Historical Society

Hope For Favorable Action Concerning Govt. Acquisition of Museum Property

The Argenteuil Historical Society is making gradual headway, and though progress may appear to be somewhat slow there is evidence that it will be duly recognized by the Federal Government and take its place as an important factor in preserving the traditions and relics of early history.

On Monday a delegation comprising Dr. M. E. Abbott, Miss Robertson, Dr. Cushing, J. P. Lanctôt, K.C., Geo. Dansereau, M.L.A., W. Crooks and J. S. Giles represented the Society in a conference with the Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of the Interior, at Ottawa. Owing to pressure of other business, Mr. Geo. Héon, federal member for Argenteuil, was unable to attend, and the Hon. R. C. Bennett kindly introduced the delegation and gave strong endorsement to the Society's proposals.

The situation was outlined by President Dr. Cushing, Dr. M. E. Abbott, Messrs. J. P. Lanctôt and Geo. Dansereau, and as particulars of the Society's museum project were revealed, the Hon. Mr. Crerar showed his keen interest and sympathy with the plans.

The Society has progressed from its modest beginnings to be the sponsor of a small museum at St. Andrews, a project made possible through the gift of Felix Hungerbühler, who donated the old Sovereign Hotel to the Society for that purpose. The stone structure, 40 feet by 70 feet, which served its purpose as headquarters for the Royal Engineers during construction of the canal 120 years ago, was thought to be too expensive an undertaking, as the building was in need of considerable repair. The Society's executive, however, believed that it was of sufficient national importance to approach the Government with a view to the Dominion taking over the property, making the necessary repairs and turning it over to the Society to operate and maintain.

Recommendations from authoritative sources give strength to the belief that favorable action will result from the petition presented last Monday.

Duplessis Defines "Union" and "Unity" -- States His Views

"NATIONAL UNDERSTANDING" IS PREMIER'S IDEAL

Quebec is not in favor of "what is called national unity," it is in favor of "national understanding," Premier Maurice Duplessis declared in Montreal this week.

Though the Premier did not mention the Minister of Justice, his remarks on this subject were interpreted by observers as a reply to Hon. Ernest Lapointe's appeal for such unity when he addressed the recent McGill convocation.

Confederation is not the synonym for "unity," Mr. Duplessis stated, but "Confederation is the symbol for union in diversity."

"Unity," he said, is the assimilation of all in one whole; "union" is the co-operation of all in diversity. This province, he observed, is in favor of "union in diversity" and will always gladly co-operate for its maintenance. It will, however, combat "unity, which is the natural child of assimilation" in conformity with its rights and to prevent impairment of the privileges of minorities anywhere in Canada, and particularly in Quebec Province.

"We are not among those," the Premier added, "who believe that patriotism and sane administration are peculiar to only one of the two great parties, which the Liberals and Conservatives have been called. And because we knew this self-evident truth we formed the National Union, which is a grouping of the best elements of Conservatives, Liberals and Independents who place the interests of the country before those of their party."

JEAN JULES LEFEBVRE, graduate in Applied Science from the Ecole Polytechnique, University of Montreal.

Young Lachute Man Takes U. of M. Degree in Civil Engineering

Jean Jules Lefebvre, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lefebvre, Lachute, received his degree as Bachelor of Applied Science (B.A.Sc.) at the University of Montreal convocation on Friday, thus being the first young man of this town in many years to qualify as a civil engineer. Mr. Lefebvre has already accepted a permanent position with the Canadian Underwriters' Association in Montreal.

At 25 years of age, Jean Jules Lefebvre looks back on an interesting school career. From 1919 to 1925 he attended public school here, and proceeding to Bourget College at Rigaud, took his B.A. degree in 1932. A marked inclination for the mathematical sciences then directed him to the Ecole Polytechnique, University of Montreal, where he secured his engineering degree, the B.A.Sc., this spring.

Through his distinction in athletics and physical training Lefebvre was chosen as a representative of his University C.O.T.C. for a four-year summer course with the Royal Canadian Signals at Camp Borden, Ontario. He served as a commissioned lieutenant and qualified in visual, line and wireless telegraphy. He was appointed officer in charge of sports for one summer, and each season made a fine personal showing against the camp's best athletes. He has several cups and medals won in the sprinting, pole vaulting and shot-put events. Last summer, however, by way of practical preparation for his career, he worked as junior engineer in the asbestos industry at Thetford Mines.

Federal Grant for Park and North River Wall to Be Constructed at St. Jerome

St. Jerome town council was advised last week that the Federal Government had made a grant for the sum of $27,000 for the building of a cement wall on the shore of the North River and to aid in the creation of a public park on the west side of the river, opposite the site of the post-office.

The town had been planning for some time to erect a park and promenade on that spot and had asked for federal aid.

Hepburn to Be Invited to Visit Hawkesbury

At the meeting of Hawkesbury Town Council authorization was given to the Prescott County Liberal Association to extend an invitation to Premier Hepburn, the Ontario minister of welfare, minister of municipal affairs, minister of mines and minister of education, to pay a visit to the town in the near future.

FARM BUILDING BURNED NEAR MORIN HEIGHTS

Fire destroyed the stable and barn of Alderic Forget, farmer, at Christieville, Saturday afternoon. The flames spread so rapidly that most of the implements in the barn were lost. The animals were out in the field at the time. No cause for the fire was discovered.

The flames were seen at 4 o'clock and help was summoned from Morin Heights. The farm house, which was threatened for a time, was saved.

Former Lachute Girl Wins High Award

A Lachute Academy graduate, Miss M. Cameron Hay, B.A., has won honor this year in qualifying for one of the twelve presentations given for outstanding service in Quebec education. Miss Hay receives the second degree award of the Order of Scholastic Merit, given by the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education, Province of Quebec. Four first degrees were given, "For Merit," five second degrees, "For Great Merit," and three third degrees, "For Distinguished Merit."

Miss M. Cameron Hay, mathematics specialist at Strathcona Academy, Outremont, received her education here at Lachute before entering McGill University. She later taught at West Hill High School. Miss Hay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hay, of this town.

The honors will be presented at a meeting of the Board of the Order of Scholastic Merit at the annual teachers' convention in October. The second degree is given to teachers who have attained marked success and in addition have made effort to advance their status or qualifications.

Argenteuil Liberals Hold Rally and Appoint Delegates to Convention at Quebec

At the Court-House here last Saturday, the Liberals of Argenteuil held a meeting which was attended by party followers from all points in the county. Important business was dealt with, and a new board of officers was elected.

David Black, of Lachute, was elected president; Amos Kerr, of Lakefield, and Fred Brunelle, of Brownsburg, vice-presidents; treasurer, Arthur Larocque; French secretary, Philippe Valois; English secretary, Jas. McGibbon; asst. secretary, Guy Legault; directors, B. Brosseau, Calumet, Wilfrid Jolicoeur, Lachute, Gaetan Dansereau, Grenville.

With the new president in the chair the meeting proceeded to the appointment of delegates to the convention at Quebec. The names selected were: David Black, Lachute; Philippe Valois, Lachute; W. J. Rodger, St. Andrews East, B. Brosseau, Huberdeau; Philippe Ouellette, Brownsburg. Substitutes — Amos Kerr, Lakefield; J. A. Gosselin, Lachute; Jas. McGibbon, Lachute.

Georges Dansereau, M.L.A., addressed the gathering, stressing the

Notes and Comment from Brownsburg

Letters to the newspapers have been rather frequent, of late, in calling attention to the state of the roads leading to the Laurentians.

The frost was still coming out of the ground when a motor-cyclist did some acrobatic stunts on the road between Lachute and Brownsburg and forthwith notified the harassed editor that something should be done about it. Later the road from St. Eustache to St. Jerome was the subject of another effusion, following which a sub-leader recommended the Minister of Roads be bumped along the highway so that he become acquainted with its condition. Generally speaking the roads in Quebec have been the butt of every jibe imaginable for many years past.

At the present time a genuine effort is being made to lay the foundation for a system of roads in the province which will be a pleasure to travel on as well as an economic factor of great benefit. Roads have been so "starved" under the past administration that it is not possible to repair them, and nothing short of

NARROWLY ESCAPES EYE INJURY BY DOGBITE

At 8.30 o'clock last Wednesday evening, the 12-year-old son of Léo Pilon, employee at Muir Bros.' Service Station, was bitten by a dog belonging to the Duchesneau Hotel. A gash three inches long narrowly missed the child's eye and, treated by Dr. L. P. Sauvé, the wound required eight or nine stitches. The dog, a Great Dane, was destroyed next day. The lad was in the C.P.R. station yard when the injury occurred.

Pleaded Guilty, Theft From Summer Cottage

Arraigned at St. Jerome Court House early in May, Edmond Massie, 25, of "Laurinville," stood trial yesterday before District Magistrate Donat Lalande on a charge of burglarizing the summer home of Mrs. E. Langevin, a property on the North River opposite the Lamarche Creamery. Effects to the value of $300 had been removed from the cottage in March, 1937, and thefts have occurred there during four successive seasons.

Constable A. Gervais and a Provincial Police officer appeared as witnesses, but Massie pleaded guilty to the charge. Finding the judge in a lenient mood, he was let off with a sentence of 42 days, the period he had spent in St. Jerome jail awaiting trial since his arrest in April last.

Garden Topics Prominent in May Meetings of County Women's Inst. Branches

Brownsburg Branch was entertained by a special speaker from Macdonald College, Mr. Raymond, who talked on "Plant Breeding" and "Rust in Oats." This meeting was under the convener'ship of Mrs. Lemuel Wilson.

Frontier also had a most interesting speaker, in Mr. Goddardham of Ottawa, who told his audience of "The Life and Habits of the Honey Bee," also several legends about beekeepers and bees. Mrs. J. Douglas of Chatham was presented with a Provincial Life Membership and pin, the latter being pinned on her by the past County President, Mrs. A. Graham, and the certificate presented by Mrs. J. Beattie, President of the Branch.

Lakefield had two members join the ranks, made arrangements for holding a dance, and donated two dollars toward school prizes.

Lachute Branch had a most interesting demonstration on interior decorating as a Study Group meeting, also as a regular meeting, a study on "Bulbs, Indoors and Out," by Mrs. C. F. James, Convener of Agriculture, an exchange of seeds and slips, also a musical number by Mrs. S. Campbell. Mrs. James drew the attention of the meeting to the radio broadcasts on gardening, and the possibility of having a flower show in the near future.

Lachute Spring Exhibition County's Big Annual Event, in Three Weeks' Time

The Directors of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society are busy with preparations for the Lachute Fair, the "Model Show of Eastern Canada," to be held on June 15th to 18th. All entries close on June 4th, and according to Alex Bothwell, secretary-manager, indications point to very keen competition in all classes. Owing to the growing popularity of Lachute Fair among exhibitors, the directors have found it necessary to construct two additional barns and make further additions to stabling.

Exhibits of livestock and poultry here measure up to the finest standards of Dominion fairs, and form one of the biggest features of the exhibition. Lachute being also a manufacturing centre, industrial and trade exhibits will be of high appeal.

Trotting races are one of the big drawing cards among the pleasure seekers at the fair, while the midway, band, cattle and horse judging will afford interest for all comers.

High School Annual Is Printed, "Bigger and Better" Publication This Year

The '38 graduating class of Lachute High School brought out the eighth consecutive issue of the High School Magazine this week. A regular annual feature of local school life since 1931, the Magazine provides an outlet for humour, originality and ability among the pupils.

This issue of the Annual is the largest one edited so far, having sixty-four pages. The demand for copies, both inside and outside the school, has increased greatly, probably due to its repute as a bigger and better publication.

The 1938 "grad class" dedicated their Annual to Mr. Geo. Y. Descon, chairman of the School Board, in grateful recognition of his many years' faithful service as member of the Board, and latterly as its chairman.

The editors are:

Editor-in-Chief, Pat Wrath.

Assistant Editors: Ruth Brennan, Shirley Leggett, Geo. Powell, Geo. Frosner, Roy Bedard, Sydney Drew, Gerald Walker and Stephen May (art editor).

"THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT"

Ottawa, May 31st. — Proceedings in Parliament during the past week have been absorbingly interesting. Overshadowing everything else has been the Prime Minister's statement on Canada's foreign policy. There was nothing of the "headline" character in the grave explanation of Canada's position in a restless world. There are no commitments either in regard to this country's participation or neutrality in the event of war. The arbiter would be Parliament. "Parliament will decide upon our course when and if the emergency arises..." In the meantime," said Mr. King, "we should endeavor to keep informed upon the situation, to keep in touch with the United Kingdom and other countries striving for peace, to carry through a reasonable and effective defence programme of our own, to support any constructive program of conciliation and removal of economic barriers to peace."

To those who urge that Canada should take a definite stand now on the course it will pursue in case of war, the Prime Minister said that "to force an issue like this upon the country would bring out fundamental differences of opinion, would lead to a further strain upon the unity of a country already strained by economic depression and other consequences of the last war and its aftermath. To invite this risk on a hypothetical question would be as great a disservice to Canada as any government could render." This policy, he said, was not completely satisfactory or completely logical. "We have worked out a satisfactory and enduring solution of the relations between the several members of the British Commonwealth in peace time; we have not yet worked out a completely logical solution of the situation in war time."

Criminal Code Revisions to Curb Reckless Driving

Four clauses in the Criminal Code amendments bill, introduced this week at Ottawa, deal with offences in respect to motor cars, and are designed to put a curb on reckless driving.

The present section of the Code, dealing with failure to stop at the scene of an accident, makes a driver liable to a $50 fine or 30 days in jail, "if, with intent to escape liability, either civil or criminal, he drives away without tendering assistance and giving his name and address." The revised section proposed in the bill would make the offence one liable either to indictment or summary conviction, would increase the penalties to maximums of $500 or six months, and would make failure to stop evidence of intent to escape liability.

Another amendment would make it an offence to drive recklessly "notwithstanding that no accident occurs or damage is done." Maximum penalties under this section would be $100 or three months, or both, on summary conviction in a police court, and $1,000 and two years, or both, on conviction after indictment in a higher court.

Power to make cancellation of licenses to drive effective in all Canada is included in another amendment. The new sub-section would enable magistrates and judges to make permit cancellation effective in all Canada.

The object of another amendment is to enable juries to convict of reckless or dangerous driving in cases where an accused person is charged with manslaughter. The explanatory note says: "Under the present section the courts in certain provinces have held in effect that the accused must be found guilty or not guilty of manslaughter, with the result that it has been difficult to obtain a conviction, as the juries are disinclined to convict a person in many cases of such a serious offence as manslaughter, whereas they would probably be inclined to convict of a lesser offence."

Summer Lubrication

With the arrival of warm weather, any motorist who has so far neglected to put his automobile in proper shape for late spring and summer driving would be well advised to rectify the omission before serious damage results.

Garage men report that many drivers are still using winter-grade crankcase oil and transmission and rear-end lubricants. The danger of this oversight lies in the fact that engines operate in the summer at much higher temperatures, which tend to break down the thin oils and greases prescribed for winter use.

George Burns, Gracie Allen, Bob Hope and Martha Raye are co-stars in "College Swing." Edward Everett Horton and Jackie Coogan complete the galaxy of fun-makers, to bring you a riot in this one-night show under auspices of Lachute Golf Club. Don't miss it! — Rex Theatre, June 8th.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, June 5. The Golden Text is: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power; for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created." (Revelations 4:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Know ye that the Lord is God: it is he that hath made us and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture." (Psalms 100:3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Immortal spiritual man alone represents the truth of creation." (p.263).

St. Jerome Taxpayers Voted on Market Plan

St. Jerome ratepayers in a referendum last week voted in favor of improving the present local market and backed a plan for the purchase of the C.P.R. park property as an annex to the market. Three different plans had been submitted to the voters. The returning officer reported that 325 ratepayers had voted.

The council will now prepare a by-law authorizing a loan to carry out the work necessary; this by-law will be submitted to the ratepayers for approval in another referendum.

It is noted in the Quebec Official Gazette that tenders have been called, up to June 13, for the purchase of a St. Jerome bond issue of $25,000 bearing interest rate of 3½ per cent, redeemable serially to June 1, 1958. Interest will be payable semi-annually.

Hawkesby Show Proprietor Was Beaten and Robbed

L. Senecal, proprietor of the Ottawa Theatre at Hawkesbury, was attacked and robbed of about $200 near the back door of his home shortly after midnight last Thursday. The theatre proprietor was returning after the show and left his car in the lane near his home. As he was going up the steps leading to the verandah, he was attacked suddenly and dealt a severe blow on the head, rendering him unconscious. Relieving him of his day's takings the thief or thieves made away.

It was not until about 20 minutes later that Mrs. Senecal discovered her husband in a semi-conscious state on the back steps and police were notified.

Judge Upholds Right to Work, Convicts Striker

The law of the Province of Quebec recognizes the right of workers to organize and also the right of labor when organized to strike, but it also recognizes the right of a worker to work as well as to abstain from working. Judge F. T. Enright ruled in Montreal Police Court when he found a lady employee of the International Garment Workers' Union guilty on a charge of intimidation.

"The right of the worker to work," said Judge Enright, "is a fact which organized labor often ignores."

The charge, against Miss Simonne Vandal, was laid by Mrs. Jeannette Boucher, a fore-lady at the Ideal Dress Company, where members of the garment workers union have been on strike for several months. Mrs. Boucher testified that Miss Vandal accompanied by three companions, attempted to intimidate her as she got off a street car.

New Settlements Planned

Approximately 4,000 new settlers from sections of the province will be placed on the land in colonization centres during this year, it is announced from the Colonization Department.

FIGURES IN A BOOK?

What gives rise to a loan?

"Credit can only be issued against real assets... The amount of credit must always be limited to the amount of free money..."

That was written by one of the greatest of Socialists—by the late Viscount Snowden of Ickneshaw, Philip Snowden, in 1935—little more than two years ago.

Few stood so long or so resolutely in the forefront of public controversy, or aroused such fierce opposition by vigour of opinion or severity of tongue—and none passed to his rest having earned greater public respect than Viscount Snowden.

His career was a triumph of sturdy British character. He took an unpopular course during the Great War, but later became one of his country's great figures, standing firmly for his convictions and for soundness in the financial structure of Great Britain.

His words quoted above apply to Canadian banking today with all the force with which he applied them that day to banking in England. The Canadian banking system is a British system, adjusted from time to time to fit the needs of a developing nation in the changing scene of this new world.

Credit can only be issued against actual assets. That is as true today as ever. You cannot create credit by writing figures in a book. You cannot make loans regardless of deposits, collateral or repayment; then write the loans up with a fountain pen as figures in a book labelled "Deposits" and lend them over and over.

If you could, then bankers in any country would need no more than a fountain pen to prevent bank failures.

During the last ten fiscal years Canada's chartered banks have paid more than $397,000,000 in interest on deposits. If they could create deposits by the magic process of writing figures in a book, they could have saved that $397,000,000!

And if banks could lend ten times the amount of their deposits, collecting interest each time, bank profits would become a national scandal, dividends would be paid in astronomical figures, people would be selling all they had to buy bank shares, and there would be a land office rush on at Ottawa for bank charters.

But what are the facts?

Bank profits last year averaged less than half of one per cent. on total assets—a lower margin than that on which any other class of business, corporate or individual, can succeed.

Dividends are less than 4½ per cent. on shareholders' investment; nobody is scrambling to sell all he owns to invest in bank shares, and there is no land office rush at Ottawa for bank charters—though no application has been refused in the last fifteen years.

Banks perform no miracles.

They keep cash reserves more than sufficient to meet the average daily withdrawals. They keep much more in forms readily convertible into cash, should any emergency ever arise.

By reason of their substantial liquid assets Canada's chartered banks have money awaiting demand—just awaiting safe loaning opportunity.

Banks cannot lend money unless people want to borrow it. They have no monopoly of the business of extending credit, for the cash reserves of many other corporations find a useful earning outlet in the same way.

Some loans directly give rise to deposits; but have you ever considered what it is that gives rise to a loan? A man's realizable assets accumulated from his own work, plus his own character, ability and willingness to repay.

All deposits are not the direct result of loans. People do not borrow money and pay interest on it to leave it on deposit at a lower rate or no rate at all.

They borrow money for use. They draw it out promptly and use it in the expectation of making a profit over and above the bank charges.

Let us remind you that deposits of any kind are always payable to the depositor, or to his order, in cash.

"Ottawa Spotlight"

In regard to British policies in these critical years, the Prime Minister said that while there might be differences of opinion as to the wisdom of these policies, "I think there can be little question of the unremitting anxiety which those responsible for the foreign policy of Britain have devoted to their task, or of their strong and determined effort to establish peace."

Mr. King spoke of the failure of the sanctions article of the League of Nations' covenant. The Government, however, was convinced of the value and necessity of the league "as an indispensable agency for organizing and strengthening the forces of good will in the world." We must extend the habit of co-operation, he said, in steadily wider fields. He was equally insistent, however, that "at the present juncture of world affairs it is not possible to make the league an international war office."

Mr. King explained the action taken by Canada in prohibiting the export of munitions from Canada to Spain and in applying the Foreign Enlistment Act to the Spanish conflict. He also recounted the efforts of the signatories of the Nine Power Pact, unfortunately unsuccessful, to bring about peace negotiations in the Orient between China and Japan.

Mr. Bennett, leader of the opposition, following Mr. King, speaking for himself and not for his party which would shortly choose a new leader, agreed with the Prime Minister on some points but differed widely on others. He agreed it "would be an extraordinary situation that would drive this country into the position of having to resort to arms." In relation to Canada's responsibilities to the League of Nations he expressed the conviction that there would have been no league if it had been thought that those responsible for its creation would not have become a continuing member of it. It was not accepted by the United States and "from that refusal consequences have flowed that are of the gravest moment to the world." The withdrawal of Germany and Japan and the virtual withdrawal of Italy has caused the league to cease to function for the purposes for which it was created. Sanctions became valueless when great nations withdrew from the league. Mr. Bennett thought that under present conditions the likelihood of Canada being involved in war through its relationship to the League of Nations was very remote.

The vital point in our foreign policy, Mr. Bennett said, was our position in the British Commonwealth. We were part of the British Empire and that relationship involved responsibilities. These responsibilities were of our own seeking. In the declaration of the Imperial Conference of 1926 the position of the members of the commonwealth was expressed as "though united by a common allegiance to the crown" and "freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations." Association did not mean separation. It means unity of action and purpose. Quoting from a statement of the Minister of National Defence, that the British fleet were our greatest security on the Atlantic, Mr. Bennett said that in that was the application of "free association." He emphasized, with modern death-dealing weapons, the vulnerability of Canada to attack. He was not thinking about Canada's participation in conflict. That was for Parliament to decide. He was thinking of the participation of the enemy. It was not for Parliament to determine whether our shores would be invaded and our own population gassed or bombed.

THE RAILWAY UNIFICATION SUGGESTION

Other proceedings on Parliament Hill have been the hearings on the railway problem before the Senate committee. It would be foolhardy to venture a guess on what action the Canadian Government might ultimately take concerning the railway question. Difficulties stick out from it like quills from a porcupine. On the side of the unification idea Sir Edward Beatty, President of the C.P.R., has given his brief to the committee. The cardinal point he has brought up is that unification would mean a saving of from 60 to 75 million dollars in railway costs. The C.N.R. share in this saving would give considerable relief to the public treasury. There would be no change in ownership of the railways involved and adequate provision would be made to protect the rights of railway workers. This projected saving affords a pleasing prospect, considering the heavy annual deficit of the C.N.R., but the pathway of the unification idea is likely, for all that, to be a thorny one.

Improvements in Plywood

The production of plywood in Canada and the United States has been practically doubled during the past five years as a result of improvements in wood glues and the consequent extension of the uses of plywood. Tests of water-resistant glues carried out at the Forest Products Laboratories of the Department of Mines and Resources at Ottawa reveal that when sections of plywood, assembled with such adhesives, were submerged in cold running water for fourteen hours there was no apparent deterioration of the bond. By using this water-resistant bond, plywood may be used for the construction of walls, houses, railway freight cars, concrete forms or any purpose necessitating exposure to atmospheric conditions.

While science is overcoming many of the difficulties experienced in the use of plywoods in construction and other trades, plywood is by no means a product of our modern age. Centuries ago, in fact, 1,400 years before the Christian era, thin sheets of wood were used for decoration, but how these veneers were held together remains a mystery.

Monday Holidays Would Suit Business People

The recent movement to celebrate Victoria Day on Monday, May 23rd, instead of Tuesday, fell through when the Prime Minister announced that a proclamation to this effect was impossible since the holiday was fixed by statute and could only be changed through parliamentary action. The trend of thought is clearly shown, however, and it is evident that most Canadians would appreciate an effort being made to observe as many of the statutory holidays as possible on Mondays in order that a real holiday might be provided. A holiday in the middle of the week disrupts business and is often about as much of a nuisance as it is worth, but a Monday holiday does not have the same effect. The long week-ends enable people to gain real relaxation, permit visiting and contribute to one of the largest of present day Canadian industries — the tourist trade.

BETTER ROADS NEEDED

Men who have made a study of the highway accident problem are coming to the conclusion that the whole remedy is not to be found in the education of motorists in safe driving and the punishment of those responsible for accidents. Better highways are needed, too.

Highway construction and maintenance has lagged so far behind the increased speed of modern cars that the next big step in the prevention of motor fatalities and maimings must be that of making the roads themselves safer. Straightening out bad curves, widening the roadways, above all evolving an economical system of lighting which will make night driving safer.

Those responsible for highway conditions should take a lesson from industry. For years employers talked "safety first" to the workers in factories, tried by every means of persuasion to make them more careful around machinery. But the universal human attributes of carelessness and the foolish readiness of most to "take a chance" prevented any important decrease in industrial accidents until manufacturers were forced to remodel their plants and machines to make them fool-proof. Since the general introduction of safety devices in factories the number of industrial accidents have been reduced to a small fraction of the former figures.

Make the highways fool-proof, or as nearly so as can humanly be done. Motorists generally pay enough in gas taxes to cover the cost of perfect roads. Don't divert that tax to other purposes, but give us safe roads.

IF GERMANY STRIKES OIL

Unexpected things often change the course of history. History is in the making in Europe today, with Germany playing the role of history-maker. There seems no doubt that the ultimate objective of the Hitler government is to obtain control of all Eastern Europe, clear to the Black Sea. What puzzles many is the motive behind this tremendous drive for more territory.

The answer is — oil! The one essential natural resource which Germany lacks but which Rumania and other Black Sea nations have, is oil.

Now Lord Rothermere, the great English newspaper publisher, returning to London after a visit to the United States, reports in his paper that a great American oil magnate told him that his company had discovered an oil field of vast extent right in western Germany, close to the city of Hamburg. The report is not verified from German sources, but if it is true, as Lord Rothermere believes, it might easily have the effect of checking Hitler's eastward aggressions.

With oil reserves right in their own doorway, and the possibility of supplying not only their own fuel needs but those of their near neighbors, the Germans would have a source of income which would relieve their economic stress, and would lose their last excuse for attempting the conquest of eastern Europe — unless the real excuse is Hitler's lust and ambition for power.

HISTORY ALWAYS REPEATS

The following words were written 81 years ago. They appeared as an editorial in Harper's Weekly of October 10, 1857. They might have been written yesterday. We reprint them to remind our readers that the present is not the first time that people have been beset by grave doubts and fears of what may happen at home and abroad. . . .

"It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years — not in the lifetime of most men who read this — has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time. In our own country there is universal commercial prostration and panic, and thousands of our poorest fellow-citizens are turned out against the approaching winter without employment, and without the prospect of it.

"In France, the political caldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs, as usual, like a cloud, dark and silent, upon the horizon of Europe; while all the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried, more sorely, in coping with the vast and deadly disturbed relations in China.

"It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel an indifference — which, happily, no man pretends to feel — in the issue of events.

"Of our own troubles (in the U.S.A.) no man can see the end. They are, fortunately, as yet mainly commercial; and if we are only to lose money, and by painful poverty to be taught wisdom — the wisdom of honor, of faith, of sympathy and of charity — no man need seriously to despair. And yet the very haste to be rich, which is the occasion of this wide-spread calamity, has also tended to destroy the moral forces with which we are to resist and subdue the calamity."

acquisition to this location as well as eliminating a dangerous curve, while its utility is beyond question.

The question of parking cars on the main street was under discussion at a recent meeting of the Corporation and so far as can be ascertained nothing constructive has been attempted. It is undoubtedly a matter of urgent necessity, and its rectification will have to be attended to unless the council risks becoming involved in accident liability. Parking of cars should be prohibited on the side of the street next the stores, so that free access may be had by pedestrians and motorists alike, to both road and sidewalk.

At a baseball game here on Sunday, the local team defeated Buckingham in a league tie by the narrow margin of one run. Brownsburg have two wins to their credit, by the present standing.

Mr. Georges H. Héon, M.P., started the game rolling by pitching the first ball. Mr. Albani Brunelle was the catcher. During the course of the game, a runner arrived safe at first because the first baseman missed the catch; he got to second just as the second base man dropped the ball; as he arrived at third, the third baseman was fumbling the catch, which he dropped; when he got to the plate, completing the run, he saw the catcher vainly endeavoring to retrieve the leather. Believe-it-or-not!

The inter-departmental soft-ball league is in full swing now with Mr. John Duncan in charge of affairs. Details of the teams' standings will be given in a later edition.

Brownsburg Cons. School Wins Softball Game

BATES COLLAPSE BRINGS DEFEAT, BEDARD ARRIVES TOO LATE

After losing the first game of the season to Lachute High School, the Brownsburg School softballers came back in old style to win the second one by a score of 13-4.

Lachute High School held a record of four straight games; but record of all records is held by the Brownsburg School when they went fifteen games without a defeat. The latter have run up a total of one hundred and five runs to sixty-three.

Bill Hewitt, the Dizzy Dean of Brownsburg, fanned seven leading batters and only allowed eight hits. Smillie, the slugger of the victors, batted one thousand as he had two walks, a single, two doubles and one triple. When the victors were at bat, almost every ball pitched across the plate (the few that went across) was hit.

Brownsburg to Compete in Seignior Club Shoot

Seignior Club, May 30.—More than twenty thousand targets will be shattered here on June 11-12 in the Seignior Club's fifth annual Skeet Tournament. The two-day event will include, for the first time, the Province of Quebec open and closed championships and will attract shotgun experts from clubs in Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Quebec, Brockville and Brownsburg. Individual entries are expected from skeet clubs in the Eastern United States. Nine skeet events are listed for the competition and there will also be trap-shooting on both days as an added attraction.

POST OFFICE CHANGE AT HARRINGTON EAST

Despite petitions, which had been circulated last year against any change in the post-office at Harrington East, a change has just been made. This matter was brought to light by George H. Héon, M.P., in the House of Commons, when he put the following question:

Mr. Héon —

Has a new postmaster been appointed for the post-office at Harrington East, County of Argenteuil, Province of Quebec?

2. If so, who has been appointed, and on whose recommendation?

Hon. Mr. Euler —

1. Yes.

Many Mourners at Funeral of the Late G. C. Conway

Stonefield — This community was gripped by the sudden death of George Crichton Conway, in the early hours of Monday, May 23rd. He retired in his usual good health the previous evening, but was taken suddenly ill about 11 o'clock. Dr. LaFrance, of Hawkesbury, was summoned to his bedside, but he passed away at 12.30 o'clock from heart failure, in spite of all that medical aid could do.

Mr. Conway was a man of upright and sterling character, kind and cheerful, always helping others before himself.

He was the son of the late G. O. S. Conway and Marjory Crichton, born in Ashburn, Ontario, Jan. 15, 1867. He came to Stonefield in 1872 and had resided here ever since. He was married to Miss Annie Dewar on April 25th, 1917, and besides his loving wife he leaves three children — Helen F. M., May B. and George Irving; also three sisters — Jessie, Mrs. (Rev.) John Cain; Beatrice, Mrs. John A. Cass; and Eva, Mrs. Delmar McKenzie.

The funeral service was conducted from his residence on Tuesday, May 24th, by Rev. J. W. McLean, who spoke very highly of Mr. Conway as an elder of St. Mungo's Church. Beautiful flowers bore silent tribute to his memory. Interment took place in Edendale Cemetery, Calumet, and a large cortege showed how highly he was respected in the neighborhood. One of his wishes was that friends and followers should wear no mourning.

Those from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. L. McGain and son, Ashby, Mr. and Mrs. E. Armour and son, Bruce, Mr. Teddy Brayden, of Montreal, and Mr. E. McMeekin, of Ottawa. The pall-bearers were his old friends, A. M. Derrick, Archie Graham, L. Gaston, John Canning, Irving Fuller, and Ross Mathew, his brother-in-law.

Former Centerville Lady Died in Montreal Recently

The death of Henrietta (Della) Matthews occurred at Montreal late on Tuesday evening, May 24th. She was the fourth daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Matthews, of Centerville, where she had resided the greater part of her life.

The funeral was conducted by the Rev. Jos. MacNeil, of Livingston Presbyterian Church, at Armstrong's Chapel, Park Avenue, on Thursday evening. Interment took place at Lachute Cemetery Friday morning.

She is survived by two sisters — Mrs. G. P. Coghill (Emma) and Mrs. Mark (Ethel) of Montreal; also three brothers, John and Gilbert of Centerville, and George of Fort Bragg, California.

Funeral on Saturday of Late Miss Minnie Buchan

The death of a well known and respected citizen, Miss Mary (Minnie) Buchan, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Buchan of Geneva, Que., occurred last Thursday afternoon, May 26th, in her 78th year. Although in failing health for some time, Miss Buchan rose in the morning as usual and assisted with the household duties until shortly after lunch, when she quietly passed away.

The deceased was a staunch member of the Lachute Baptist Church, where she assisted as a member of the choir for many years, and for some time as church treasurer.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon, May 28th, from her late residence in the East Ward, thence to Lachute Cemetery. Service was conducted by the Rev. Roy Hisey, assisted by the Rev. H. Cousens, and was attended by many sorrowing friends and relatives.

Miss Buchan leaves to mourn her death two sisters, Miss Maggie Buchan and Mrs. D. D. MacGibbon, of Lachute; ten nephews, and two nieces, Miss Ruth Todd of Lachute and Mrs. C. E. Richardson of Brownsburg, Que.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral included Mrs. S. Wright, Misses May and Pansy Wright, and Mrs. J. Buchan of L'Orignal, Ont., Mr. Huntly Buchan and Mrs. Geo. Cornell of Montreal, and Messrs. Ross Todd and Wm. MacGibbon of Kiosk, Ont.

L. H. Bezanson, St. Andrews Resident, Succumbed to Brief Illness on Saturday

St. Andrews E. — The community was saddened last week by the death of Mr. L. H. Bezanson, who passed away on Saturday, May 28th, after a short illness.

Leonard Harding Bezanson was the son of the late H. P. and Mrs. Bezanson, of Halifax, N.S. After receiving a thorough training in business he entered into partnership with his father in the men's furnishing business in his home city. Thirteen years ago Mr. Bezanson moved to Lowell, Mass., where he was engaged for six years as the efficient salesman of Stanwood Hillson, a large stationery and office-supply company.

During the seven years of his residence in St. Andrews, Mr. Bezanson had made a place for himself in the regard and esteem of the community. His outstanding qualities of courtesy and neighbourliness won for him many friends among his fellow townsmen, both French and English. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, formerly Miss Mary Bowers of Halifax; one son, Eric, and his mother, Mrs. H. P. Bezanson, who resides with her son-in-law, Rev. John Macaskill, Morewood, Ont.

The funeral service was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in Christ Church, St. Andrews, of which Mr. Bezanson was a member, Rev. Dean Booy officiating.

The deep sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved family in their sorrow.

AMONG THE LOCAL CHURCHES

Brownsburg United Church

Brownsburg — The Young People's Society of the Brownsburg United Church terminated their winter program of events on Saturday afternoon with a supper gathering, to which a number of guest friends were invited.

At 6.30 p.m., the merry group sat down to tastefully decorated and well filled tables. Various speakers of the meetings during the year were among the honored guests, together with the executive of the Maple Avenue Baptist Young People's.

Following the supper, a miscellaneous program was rendered, interspersed with speeches, jokes and interesting stories. The president, Mr. Herbert Graham, acted as chairman, opening the program with a message of welcome to all present and thanking his staff for their loyalty during the year, also the speakers for the helpful contributions they had made.

The guest speaker, Rev. J. R. Simpson, was introduced by the pastor, Rev. S. J. Pike. Mr. Simpson spoke on "Christ, the Master-Servant."

Rev. T. W. Jones, D.D., of Montreal, will deliver another of his popular and instructive illustrated lectures, "A Cavalcade of British History," under the auspices of the Men's League, in the United Church on Monday evening next.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church met last week at the home of Mrs. F. Jordan, with Mrs. S. J. Pike, president, occupying the chair. Included in the routine business was the packing of three missionary boxes, two for Montreal and one for the West. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Rev. W. A. Dempsey to Be New St. Mungo's Pastor

Cushing — A joint congregational meeting from Cushing, Calumet and Grenville was held in St. Mungo's Church Monday evening, for the purpose of choosing a new minister from the four names submitted. The Rev. H. C. Lester having reconsidered his decision to come East again, sent a telegram to the Settlement Board asking to have his name removed from the list of those to be voted for. The choice was almost unanimous for the Rev. W. A. Dempsey, of Augusta, who was given the call. Old St. Mungo's Manse will therefore be occupied by a bride and groom, something that has not happened for many years, if ever at all, and with the introduction of this younger element the three congregations are looking forward to a stirring of new life in the several churches.

Interesting Services at Morin Heights United

Morin Heights — The Sunday School of the United Church here is arranging what should be a beautiful service for next Sunday, June 5th, at 2 o'clock. The scholars will assemble in open session for a flower service, and to this new and interesting hour the parents and friends are cordially invited. The boys and girls attending are asked to bring a bouquet of wild flowers, and these will be placed together in a decorative way at the front of the church when the service opens. The officers, Mr. J. Douglas Davis and Mrs. Bob Seale, are in charge of this service.

The same day, at the evening service, the minister, Rev. David R. Anderson, will discuss the Christian opportunities presented by the current movement to make Morin Heights more attractive to those who seek rest and recreation in this part of the Laurentian Mountains. All who are interested in the welfare of the community are invited to attend.

District Meeting of W.M.S.

The Ottawa Valley Section of the W.M.S., United Church of Canada, will hold its annual meeting on Friday, June 10th, in the St. Eustache United Church at 2 o'clock Daylight Saving Time.

Prominent speakers from Montreal and the district are on the program and many phases of the W.M.S. work will be taken up. Reports of the various activities will be made at this meeting.

A large number is expected from the whole district, which covers the area bounded by Pointe Fortune, Arundel and Ste. Therese. A cordial invitation is given to those interested in missions, especially where no W.M.S. Auxiliary is organized. Tea will be served during the afternoon. The United Church is located on St. Eustache Street.

Young Radio Troupe to Present "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs"

The "Little Players of the Air" are booked to appear in Lachute Auditorium Friday evening, June 10. Many radio listeners have enjoyed this talented group of juveniles on the air, over Station C.F.C.F., every Saturday evening at 5.45, sponsored by the Hartney Company. The Young People's Society of Lachute United Church has secured these players for the evening's entertainment.

In an interview with Miss Moira Sheehy, director of the popular young troupe, it was agreed that the children should play "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." They have been presenting "Snow White" to capacity houses in the United Theatres of Montreal, with such large attendances that in many cases they were obliged to give a return performance.

As an added attraction, the "Little Players" will also offer the "Music Box Revue," a delightful potpourri of musical comedy, novelties, dances and comedy sketches. The curtain rises at 8.15 p.m.

The tall thin man was quarrelling with the undersized little fellow. "Yer lanky strip," yelled the diminutive one, "if yer tied yerself in a knot yer wouldn't be fat!" "And you," retorted the lengthy chap, "if you were to pull your socks up you'd be blindfolded."

Regular Town Council Meeting Held Wednesday

Town Council meeting held in the Town Hall last evening was attended by Mayor Dr. A. Rodrigue, Aldermen J. McGibbon, Jos. Speight, W. J. Deacon, E. Prevost, C. Durocher, F. Delauriers, G. Muir, Omer Laurin, and the secretary, G. Filion.

On motion of Ald. Muir, seconded by Ald. Deslauriers, the question of opening Henry Street was left to the road committee — the mayor and secretary to arrange with Mrs. G. Laurin accordingly.

Building permits were granted to A. Thibeault and Jas. W. Gall for new construction. It was moved by Ald. W. J. Deacon, seconded by Ald. F. Deslauriers, that the road committee be empowered to take any legal action they may deem necessary in connection with alterations now in progress at Robert McFaul's building on Main Street.

Fine Entertainment Given at Cushing Stone Hall

Cushing W. — The concert held at the Stone Hall under auspices of the Ladies' Association of St. Mungo's was an entertainment of outstanding merit. The program was contributed by artists of exceptional ability from Montreal and Ottawa, local talent for the time being allowed the pleasure of looking on and listening, a pleasure which they, as well as others in the audience, enjoyed to the full. The Ottawa performers were — Mrs. Brewer, a singer whose beautiful soprano voice gained her highest honors in the recent Quebec Musical Festival; Miss Jones, a talented performer on the violin; and Miss Kithpetley, a very entertaining elocutionist; and, last but by no means least, Mrs. O. W. Keatley, who, as Miss Muriel Jobb, was a favorite with audiences in this locality a few years ago, and who accompanied the performers in her usual finished style. From Montreal came the Messrs. Kolmar, father and son, who delighted the audience with their performances on the Hawaiian guitar. All the artists were most generous with their contributions, and it was regrettable that the weather prevented a larger attendance. Mr. S. Beecher acted as chairman in his usual genial manner, and Rev. J. W. McLean contributed a humorous address. Mrs. Maw, a singer who is an old favorite here, was unfortunately unable to assist owing to illness.

The Irishman had been describing his travels in the far west, and the virgin forests there. "What is a virgin forest?" asked one of his listeners. "Phwat is a virgin forest is it ye want to know? A virgin forest, sorr, is one place the hand o' man has niver set foot!"

"Oh dear me," said the Robin.
"What a nasty, little worm;
Each time I try to catch it,
It gives a twist and turn."

"I am really very hungry
And in a hurry too —
Because my baby robins
Will be getting chilled right through."

He put both feet upon the worm
And pecked it with his beak.
Then hurried home quite satisfied

As Cora started toward Mary with the big toad on the shingle, the toad began shuffling around in an attempt to escape, but the ground must have looked far away, as it just shifted about uneasily for a moment, then sat still.

Mary did more than shift about uneasily! She ran shrieking towards the house. Cora watched her for a moment before stooping down so that the toad might hop off the shingle, then ran after Mary with the shingle still in her hand. Mary looked around long enough to see that Cora still held the shingle, then continued her mad flight. Around and around the house they went, Cora laughing and Mary screaming, with Rover barking loudly.

"What is all this noise about?" Cora's mother asked, coming to the door. "Cora, what have you got in your hand that is frightening Mary?"

"Nothing but a shingle, mother," the girl replied with a laugh. Mary had reached her aunt by this time, and with her arms around her waist, panted, "The horrid old toad, Aunt Min. Cora is going to put it on me."

"Cora has nothing but a shingle in her hand, Mary."

"But she had a toad, Aunt Min, a big monster of a toad."

"But I left it in the shed, Mary. Come with me and I'll show it to you."

"I don't want to see it!" exclaimed Mary, with a shudder. "I hate toads and snakes and all sorts of slippery, slimy things."

"We shouldn't hate them, dear," her aunt said, "Although sometimes we might shrink from them. They are God's creatures, the same as we are, and he had a purpose in life for them when he created them."

"Why didn't God make them pretty, Aunt Min?" queried Mary. "God made everything suitable for its purpose; and if we loved these things we would think them beautiful."

"Well, I'll never love them, I can tell you," said Mary, while Cora laughed merrily. "I will," she cried. "I just love all the little creeping things and I don't blame them for creeping either. Who wouldn't creep when they have such a lovely soft green carpet as this!" Dropping to the ground she started rolling on the lawn.

"Cora!" her mother cried. "Your dress! You will have it all grass-stained!"

"Oh, Mummy, I always forget that grass can stain. I'll go into the house, after I've had a drink at the spring, and change into something that I can play in without having to be careful all the time."

She disappeared around the house as she was talking, so that her voice floated back to them. For a moment there was silence then "Oh, Mar-ee, come here quickly please."

"Some more toads, I suppose," Mary grumbled, but she went to see what Cora wanted. Once around the corner of the house Cora called, "Look, Mary, at that squirrel you were throwing stones at. What has he got in his mouth?"

"It—it—it looks like a nut," Mary said reluctantly.

"Exactly," Cora crowed, "a nut. Nuts in May, my dear, are quite common as you can plainly see."

"Well, they're not common to me. I never saw a nut in May, so there!" "Mary, Mary, quite contrary! Stop and think before you repeat that," Cora cried, her eyes twinkling.

"I think it is you who are contrary, Cora, and I will repeat that," Mary asserted. Cora was now sitting on the bottom step of the well-house.

"Hold! hold!" cried Cora, extending her hand in a very theatrical way. "Hold, maiden, I say. What did my mother treat us children with this afternoon!"

"Candy," Mary began, then hesitated. "Candy and what else?"

"Nuts, I suppose, Smarty?"

"Nuts, yes," echoed Cora. "Nuts in May."

"Who's talking about nuts?" enquired their Uncle Ted, as he came up the garden walk. "I love nuts, don't you know, and talking about them makes me hungry." As he spoke he sat down on the floor of the verandah, drew a handful of nuts from his pocket and tossed some to the little girls.

"You should not have given Mary any," ventured Cora, "she does not believe in Nuts in May."

MAKING SHADES LAST

If your window shades have become faded and soiled past cleaning you can make them presentable for another season by giving them a coat of kalsomine. There are several kinds of kalsomine that come in powdered form and are very easy to use. Take the shades down and dust them thoroughly. Spread out on a flat surface and paint with the kalsomine which has been mixed according to the manufacturers' directions. When thoroughly dry turn over and paint other side. Of course shades treated this way will water-spot, so insist on having them removed from windows before washing windows or woodwork around them.

Painting Awnings, Rugs

If your awnings have become soiled and faded they can be freshened up by dying them a solid color, preferably the original color of the stripes. Of course, the stripes will show slightly, a "shadow stripe" effect, but the result is generally satisfactory. Or you can give them a thin coat of house paint. The paint should be thinned with turpentine, using about one-part turpentine to four parts of paint. Be sure the cloth has completely absorbed the paint and that the paint is perfectly hard and dry before you attempt to fold the awning.

You can paint your fiber porch rug, too, to give it a fresh look. House paint thinned as for awnings is used. Work the paint well into the fiber of the rug if you want your effort worth while.

Ice Cream Sauce

Here is a quick and easy sauce for ice cream. Melt chocolate peppermint creams over hot water. Since you can get them both at the corner drug store, unexpected guests need cause you no concern.

Meadowsweet is a splendid plant for a spacious perennial border because it will give height, has large leaves and big frothy looking flowers in June and July. The plants spread rapidly and like a rich moist soil. If you have a shady spot, use them as a background for low growing plants.

NEWS BULLETIN

MUSEUM ADMINISTRATION

This question should hold first place in the attention of the executive. This is the outstanding lesson of our museum text books. Herein lies the crux and solution of its important problems, for the museum director holds in his hands its destiny, if given a free hand. Museology is a 20th Century science. It has a technique, a literature and program all its own. Its prophet, priest and presiding genius is the qualified museum director.

When told about the giraffe, the listener remarked "There ain't no such animal." But the antelope kept stretching his neck to reach the foliage of the higher branches, and in time survived to tell the story of the giraffe. — And so in this mysterious cosmos, necessity proves the parent of development in the sphere of nature, as in every department of human endeavor.

Our future museum director will have to be evolved as the understudy of a qualified museist or by knowledge acquired through his own devotion to the study of the subject.

The position offers an attractive career to any B.A. graduate, man or woman, of average ability. In dignity and importance, it ranks with that of the high school principal and should be as well paid. The director should possess the instincts of a teacher and a love for children, a full appreciation of the kindergarten method of teaching and especially of the value of the museum method of teaching history, with its main objective of making history.

It is an all-year vocation, even though the museum functions only in the tourist season and when schools are in session, during the spring and autumn months. The winter months will be fully occupied with clerical work and with inter-mural and extra-mural activities.

The first expenditure on the structure should be the director's residence. It has been already stated that this could be done with very little alteration, the granite frame walls and windows remaining undisturbed. A permanent residence of beauty and convenience will be an important factor in making the position of museum director a desirable one. One of our interested patrons has urged that no alterations be made without competent architectural design, and it might be added, under exacting specifications and competitive contract! In this benevolent enterprise there is no place for graft.

In this period of baffling confusion and the noisy clamour of conflicting propaganda it is refreshing to escape into an area of constructive thought where there is little occasion for conflict of opinion, and where there is general agreement in the conclusion that there is no short cut to a more stable and Christian civilization, and that this must come gradually through the education of the children and youth of the present generation and thus through evolution of a democracy that is worth saving, if we are to avoid the danger of revolution.

Those who heard the radio broadcast on museums last month, may remember the statement of the discoverer, that both the Russians and Germans had made, of the value of national museums for propaganda purposes. This knowledge of the value of museums in this sphere of education, does not seem to have penetrated the Canadian mind. Here is Argenteuil's golden opportunity to lead the way and to create an institution which will be the joy and pride of the Ottawa Valley. And it is not too much to say, that an institution so auspiciously started will attract nation-wide attention.

Our wealthy patrons are justified in withholding their cheques until they are assured that the county at large is endorsing the movement. At the present stage, what is needed is one of them to set a standard of liberality by heading the list. (Paragraph 8, circular 1935).

MUSIC FESTIVALS

Every paper I pick up seems to tell of a Music Festival that is bigger and better than last year's. We Canadians as a people do not know the joy of music. It is not an essential part of our lives. The festivals may play a great part in changing this and music may yet come to mean something to more of us. The attitude of a great many competitors is changing. They are learning that, win or lose, they will gain by competing. It is pleasant to win, but the adjudication and the listening to the other competitors give benefit to all. Many children attend the competitions and they learn to listen and to distinguish the good points from the bad. I had the pleasure of listening to a Ladies' Chorus from Lunenburg sing at a festival and the tone and quality of their voices were extraordinarily beautiful. So beautiful that, although I sang in a competing chorus, I could have no regrets at losing to them. Their voices must be due in part to their music-loving ancestors. As I listened to them, I could not help but hope that we are building up a love of music that will be an inheritance for the generations of Canadians yet unborn.

A PAPER SHOWER

Sometimes the embarrassing occasion arises when one wants to do something for a bride but there already have been so many showers that one hesitates about taxing purses further. A paper shower is a way out of this difficulty, because there are so many useful and engaging trifles to be had for even a few cents. The paper idea might be carried out by using a pretty paper cloth and napkins and perhaps the effective colored-paper plates, and the dessert in paper cases. The hostesses might give a recipe file and have each guest write her pet recipe. There are many paper things available, but I will give you a few suggestions: Muffin cups, dessert cases, cleansing tissues, prepared dusters, shelf-paper, serviettes, jar covers, refrigerator dishes, cellophane picnic food bags, cook books, address books, diaries, labels gummed paper and ever so many others. So you can give an interesting shower that may be very kind to your friends' pockets as well as useful to the bride.

GATHER YE ROSE-BUDS

Rose-jars, once the pride of our grandmothers, are regaining their popularity. They are not difficult to make and their fragrance lasts a long time. The period for gathering the rose petals is a short one, only about three weeks, so do not lose any time when the roses bloom. Gather the petals in the morning after the dew has evaporated and before the sun gets too hot. Spread them on newspapers in a warm place to dry, but out of direct sunlight. An attic is a good place but any warm room may be chosen. Spread the petals thinly and leave until thoroughly dry — two days should be long enough. If the weather is rainy or damp, do not gather the petals, and you had better leave them for a day after the rain to dry out thoroughly. When they are dry, store them in an airtight container. After you have your full crop of rose-petals gathered, add the other ingredients. The rose petals may be kept in a rose-jar or may be put into sachet bags. It is not necessary to use just rose petals, as you may make a potpourri if you like and use any of the fragrant flowers. Here is a satisfactory recipe, but it is one of those things where exact proportions need not be followed:

10 cups dried rose leaves, ¼ lb. groundorris root, 2 oz. sandalwood powder, ¼ lb. salt, ½ oz. cloves, ½ oz. cinnamon, 4 vanilla beans.

STRAWBERRY RIPE

I thought nothing could be better than the Ontario strawberries, but I believe I was mistaken. The Nova Scotia ones are even better. We hear so much about the beautiful English strawberries, and I wonder if the similarity of climate has anything to do with the quality of the berries. The varieties grown is one reason that the Nova Scotia berries are better. In the last few years in Ontario there has been an increasing number of berries with green noses. Down here I did not see any; they were red to the very tip. The all-red ones looked better and certainly are more pleasant to eat than those with the hard green ends. The pity of it is that the season is so short.

STRAWBERRY JAM

Last year my strawberry jam was the best ever, and like many other good results in cooking, was by way of accident. Two of the family bought berries and I had two boxes, more than we could possibly use fresh, so I made jam of them. The jam was such a bright red color, and tasted so good, that I decided it must be because of the short cooking time required to do just the two boxes. Then I decided to experiment and do my jam two boxes at a time. It did not take any longer, as while two boxes were cooking I was preparing the next two. I sterilized all the bottles first. I added the juice of a half-lemon to some of them, and we thought it was a real improvement.

2 boxes strawberries, an equal weight of sugar, juice of a half-lemon. Mash berries, add sugar and boil until thick, add lemon juice and bottle in sterilized jars.

The President of Canada's Federated Women's Inst.

Mrs. M. McGregor, Penticton, B.C., is Canada's President of the Federated Women's Institutes at the present time. Mrs. McGregor has certainly had a good grounding in Institute work, having been active for twenty-five years. She was President of her own branch for nine years, of the district organization for fifteen years, Provincial Vice-President for eight years, Provincial President for two years, and Vice-President of the F.W.I.C. for four years. From this it will be noted that Mrs. McGregor has held several offices in the organization, thereby gaining the experience which makes her so valued a leader of Institute work throughout Canada.

"My wife says that if I were to die she would remain a widow." "Evidently she thinks there's not another man in the world like you." "On the contrary, she's afraid there may be, and that she'd get him."

Morin Heights featured Immigration in their meeting with an interesting paper on the co-operation of the British Government with our Dominion in sending Scottish lads as immigrants to Canadian farms, also other articles written by Sir E. Wrench, a noted English publicist. Their roll-call was "Birthplace of Parents or Grandparents." Flowers and fruit were sent to the sick and an exhibition of articles made in England, Scotland, U.S.A., Japan, China, Italy, Switzerland and Holland was held.

Jerusalem-Bethany held an Amateur Night, with Mr. D. J. Rodger filling the role as Major Bowes. Prizes were given to a number of the contestants, who furnished a variety of fun ranging from a farmer's band to a mock marriage. The County President, Mrs. L. Morris, was a guest for that evening.

Pioneer Branch stressed Agriculture, a paper on this subject being read by Mrs. E. Cooke, another on Gardening by Mrs. James Cowan. Also a discussion on egg production by Mr. Rodger. The latter also favored with a talk on his recent trip to Western Canada, United States and Mexico. Quilt blocks and material were sent to members, and fruit and flowers sent to the sick. Miss Morrin read current events of interest. The meeting was favored with a visit from Mrs. McNeely from Wisconsin.

Upper Lachute-East End had for their meeting on Canadian Industries several papers — on electric power, Canada's part in the Empire Exhibition, and exports and imports of Canada. Their roll-call was recipes using maple syrup. Fourteen members were present to enjoy this meeting. It was agreed that a fine of five cents be imposed on all members not answering the roll-call in the specified manner.

Women's Council Declines to Discuss Feeble-Mindedness

The National Council of Women in convention at Vancouver last week held a closed session after discussion of the problem of the feeble-minded, which drew a presidential rebuke for its originator.

The national president, Mrs. George Spencer, of Moncton, N.B., told Mrs. J. R. Gilley, of New Westminster, B.C., the constitution stated national meetings were no places to bring up contentious subjects.

Mrs. Gilley, national convener of the committee on mental hygiene, declared statistics showed an increase in the number of feeble-minded, and urged the national council to inaugurate a policy to meet the problem.

"We should be sufficiently broad-minded to discuss the subject frankly," said Mrs. Gilley. "If we women are considered intelligent enough to educate and mould the future generation we should face the fact that the increase of the unfit is greater than the fit."

Priest Disapproves Lipstick on Girls Attending Mass

Disapproval of girls going to mass or receiving holy communion with lipstick on their lips, has been voiced by Rev. J. Lanigan, in Melbourne, Australia.

While administering the Sacrament, fingers have become smeared with lipstick and he has been forced to leave the altar and wash his hands.

"How girls can appear in public with faces looking like theirs is beyond me," he said. "Quite a number of girls come in late for mass because they spend too much time making up."

The DOCTOR Tells the Story by W.E. Aughinbaugh, M.D.

WHITE MAN'S CURSE

At last medicine has come to be duly appreciated by the Red Man. The stoic of the forest, impassive, fears nothing — trained from his cradle to his grave to accept extremes of good or evil without evidencing approval or contempt. As a rule, when the white man invades the territories of the primitive men, death follows quickly among the native population, for the simple but very effective reason that the aborigine cannot survive the diseases which follow in the wake of the so-called process of civilization. Tuberculosis, the social diseases, smallpox, influenza, take heavy tolls from these simple souls and in numerous instances entire tribes have been, in a few years, completely eliminated. This is true in the islands which dot the dreamy Pacific Ocean, with the Esquimaux in the frozen north, with the African races and among the original inhabitants of Australia and New Zealand. At one period in our history it seemed as if it would be only a matter of a few years before the Indian would cease to exist, so readily and easily did he succumb to the white man's diseases.

New Indian Medicine

Today, however, the tide has turned and the Indian population of the country is gaining. A recent report shows that seventy-five years ago there were less than 10,000

Is there any bright young thing finding time on her hands, or an average young lad about town lacking occupation? Just join up with the “racquetters,” keep the ball bouncing on the court and the joy of life bubbling in your heart. A cool summer is predicted, so what about entering the county championship? Tennis stars of today were raw recruits once upon a time.

With their usual appreciation of the fine things of life, our folk flocked to Lachute to see the film portrayal of that wonderful person, Queen Victoria. Full justice is done to her beloved consort, Prince Albert. “With malice towards none,” he used his great gifts to serve his adopted country. With what good results, this picture reveals more than history or biography, to the average person.

Rev. John Macaskill, of Morewood, Ont., Miss Mary Macaskill and Mrs. H. P. Bezanon came here early last week on account of the serious illness of Mr. Leonard Bezanon. On Thursday Mr. Bezanon was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, where he passed away early Saturday morning. The sincere sympathy of this community is extended to his wife and young son, Eric, and his mother, who had the grief of losing her daughter, Mrs. John Macaskill, two years and eight months ago.

The participants and promoters of the play, “The Scarecrow Creeps,” were gratified at the full house which greeted them. The evident enjoyment of the audience was both an incentive and a reward for their efforts. The players, all busy people, who sacrificed their leisure hours, and Mrs. Mowatt, who gave unstintingly of her time, feel they were well recompensed. The violin solos contributed by Master Laurie Gagnon during interludes of the play, were a most pleasing feature. At the close of the performance some of the players and a gay coterie of young friends gathered on Mr. Snowden's popular lawn to relax. A bonfire kept the mosquitoes at bay. Coffee was served on the verandah.

Trees, flowers and foliage are appearing in rich profusion in our town and around this community. The fever of planting and arranging is contagious, as neighbor inspires neighbor to cultivate and decorate his grounds — in which Brownsburg is not yet far removed from nature. Let us hope she may retain her kinship.

Last Thursday evening the Anglican Ladies' Guild, with other members of the church, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Wilson to honour Mrs. Wm. Talbot, who leaves shortly to reside in Montreal. Rev. W. LeCras spoke of Mrs. Talbot's efforts in the interest of the church and Guild, stating that she would be greatly missed among the congregation. Miss R. Roberts, president of the Guild, presented the honoured guest with a silver casserole and silver butter dish, as a token of remembrance from the organization. Following these proceedings, the hostess, Mrs. Wilson, entertained at a bridge and “500” and delightful refreshments were served.

Returned Rainbows

An idea which exists in some country districts is that there is an odor attached to a rainbow. The belief is really very ancient and is mentioned by Pliny and Aristotle. Of course there is no smell about a rainbow, and the origin of the belief is probably to be explained in the following way: Everyone is familiar with the increase of scent given off by plants, shrubs, and trees on a warm day after the rain has been newly washed by heavy rain. This state of affairs would often naturally coincide with the appearance of the rainbow. Hence people jumped to the conclusion that the odor which they noted must be caused by the rainbow, when, as a matter of fact, says the Montreal Herald, it had nothing to do with the wonderful arch in the sky.

New Outline of Waterways Treaty; Rowell Commission Making Headway

Increased Penalty for Mining Frauds
In Criminal Code Bill

By "Spectator"

Ottawa, June 7th.—The new set of proposals sent by Washington to Ottawa in relation to the construction of a seaway along the St. Lawrence route brings that vexed question into the limelight again. The memorandum which the Dominion Government has now in its hands for consideration is an astutely drawn document. It seeks to overcome the main arguments that have been advanced by the opponents to the enterprise. By the terms of the proposed treaty, the embargo laid by the United States on the export of electric power from Ontario to New York would be removed. It would acknowledge the ownership by Ontario of the water which would be diverted from the Hudson Bay region to Lake Superior under plans which were suggested by the government of Ontario. In addition, in connection with the development of the international section of the St. Lawrence, the huge power installation on the Canadian side need not be undertaken by the Ontario government until the province needs the power which would be generated there.

The main features of the proposal were that it would be a 27-foot waterway from the head of the lakes to the Gulf of St. Lawrence; that an international commission of ten men would study plans for development and allocate the tasks of construction and that Canada would complete the construction from Cornwall to Montreal while the United States would attend to the international section from Cornwall to Prescott and all works west of Lake Erie.

PROMINENT NAMES ARE AMONG FAIR EXHIBITORS FROM OUTSIDE COUNTY

In a spirit of true loyalty to their town, the citizens of Lachute are requested to co-operate with the Agricultural Society in making Lachute Spring Fair this year one of the best in its history. Thousands of visitors from surrounding districts will mingle with us, and it is up to our citizenry to extend the warmest welcome.

The Fair opens on Wednesday next, with a full program of horse and cattle judging, vaudeville entertainment, horse races, and an enlarged midway with all the Sims' celebrated attractions, affording fun for everyone.

The grounds and buildings are in prime order, and notwithstanding the new stabling and barns, the large entry list will tax their capacity.

For this big annual occasion it is suggested that townsmen display their bunting and flags and thus imbue the town with a real holiday spirit.

OUTSIDE EXHIBITORS

Noted among exhibitors from a distance are the following names: Cecil Acres, Osgoode, Ont.; George Acres, Vernon, Ont.; Robert Agassiz, Fresno, Que.; Mrs. Lucien Bergeron, Outremont; John Bompas & Sons, Bell's Corners, Ont.; Gerald Bruck, Montreal; J. Pointe Fortune Men Fined For Fishing With Nets

Before Magistrate Raoul Labrosse at Hawkesbury police court last Friday, charged by Game Warden W. Robinson with fishing by means of a night line, F. Lanthier and R. Chenier both of North Plantagenet, paid fines of $10 each with costs. For using a dip net L. Roy, of Pointe Fortune, paid a fine of $30 and costs, while for a like offence A. Lemieux, also of Pointe Fortune, was assessed $25 and costs.

Ottawa Paper Decries Illegal Fishing By Quebec and Ontario Offenders

The Ottawa Citizen makes editorial comment on wholesale illegal fishing in the Ottawa River, as follows:

"If such depredations go on unchecked there will be no fish for anybody to catch. The case of the Clarence farmer who received three months at Rockland on Friday for unlawful possession of equipment is interesting."

"The offender's truck was said to have been loaded with a hoop net with wings extending about a hundred feet each side, four gill nets and various other paraphernalia. He held a license from Quebec, but it prescribed night-line fishing only, according to the evidence."

"The situation broadly seems to be that while government and game clubs in Ontario stock the Ottawa River, people mainly from Quebec (but also from Ontario) resort to illegal and wholesale methods to drain the stream of fish. At the meeting the other day of the Ottawa Fish and Game Club it was stated that the club placed 800,000 fry in the river last year and that this year 1,600,000 will be similarly placed. There is little encouragement to carry on this work if fishing of the kind indicated goes on."

"Wayne Robinson, Carleton and Russell game warden, told the meeting of having come upon a store of three tons of fish taken from the Ottawa on a recent occasion. This haul was to be shipped by truck for sale in Montreal. It takes a lot of fish to make three tons, and apparently the case was not an isolated one. Obviously, such things cannot go on, and the time has come when official action is needed."

G. Héon, M.P., Honored With Invitation to Address Gathering

Every year during the month of June, the Business Men's Clubs of Ontario gather at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, for their annual banquet, and at this function an outstanding figure in national affairs is invited to address the gathering.

This year the choice has fallen upon Georges H. Héon, young M.P. from Argenteuil, who has accepted the invitation to speak on "Whither Conservatism?"

The speaker being known for his frank, outspoken statements, and with the National Conservative Convention to be held soon, at which Mr. Héon is expected to play an important part, great importance will be attached to his pronouncements.

The address will be broadcast on an Ontario-Western network of Canadian stations.

Movie Ban on Quebec Youngsters May Be Lifted

Early legal admission of children in Quebec province to motion pictures of "definite educational value" was forecast recently in Montreal, before the annual convention of Quebec Allied Theatrical Industries by Hon. T. J. Coonan, provincial minister without portfolio.

Attendance at films of youngsters under 16 years of age has been banned in Quebec for several years. "If the motion picture industry will recognize the fact there are two main branches of films — entertaining and educational — we are prepared to go the limit with regard to the educational picture," Coonan said.

"The educational film is of vital importance to the province. We feel your theatres cease to be theatres when they become adjuncts to the schools; give us your co-operation and we won't put anything over on you!"

Quebec Birthrate Over Twice That of Deaths

There were 6,297 births in Quebec during the month of March, more than twice the number of deaths, estimated at 2,790, the provincial Health Department reported recently. The department figured the birth rate at 23.3 per 1,000 population, highest yet for the year but lowest for March in 12 years.

Unemployment Situation Easier in Hawkesbury

After being closed down since May 7, the Hawkesbury plant of the Canadian International Paper Company resumed operations last week and over 600 men returned to work.

With the paving of the Ottawa-Montreal Highway several miles east of the town, which is now under way, and with the opening shortly of the cut-up mill of the Canadian International Paper Company, the employment situation in Hawkesbury will be considerably relieved.

BROWNSBURG COUNCIL TO REGULATE BLASTING OPERATIONS; PROGRESS MADE IN SURVEY FOR WATERWORKS INSTALLATION

Pass By-Laws To Prohibit Parking of Cars And Begging Without Permit of Council

Brownsburg—The regular monthly meeting of the Brownsburg Council was held last Monday, Mayor G. Ball occupying the chair. Other councillors present were — Messrs. L. Ouellette, Lem Wilson, H. Pariseau, G. I. McFaul and W. Graham.

BLASTING

The Secretary reported he had received a letter from the C-I-L relative to the practice of blasting without due precautions being observed to prevent accidents from falling debris.

Mr. Wilson: "Open blasting should not be allowed. There should be a cover to prevent stones from flying."

Mayor: "We have the power to prevent it."

Mr. Graham: "Who is responsible for damages? If a man is employed to blast, the employer will shift the responsibility on to the one doing the blasting, as it is usually a contract."

Mr. Wilson: "Blasting at all hours is very unsafe, especially in this place where explosives are stored and handled. It should be governed by allowing it only within certain hours."

Mr. Pariseau: "It is very necessary to have it controlled. Apparently anyone can get a license and needs no bond to indemnify whoever he injures."

Mr. McFaul gave notice of motion to be presented at next meeting, that the Council prohibit blasting except between the hours of 12 noon to 1 o'clock, and after 5.30 p.m.

The Secretary reported that one bulletin board was not sufficient for the Council's notices. He was instructed to have another board erected at the French Hill.

A letter was received from the postal authorities notifying the Council that the Post Office would be closed on Saturday afternoons except for a short time after receipt of the mail at night, and asking the Council to have a resolution passed to give effect to the proposal. Mr. Graham moved the resolution, Mr. Pariseau seconded.

WATERWORKS

The proposal to instal a system of waterworks and sewerage has engaged the attention of the Council on a number of occasions, and at a previous meeting arrangements were made to have an engineer from the Health Department come down and look the location over with a view to selecting a source to give an adequate supply. The engineer's report was left before the Council.

This report dealt with four probable sources of supply —

1. Known as Dixon's Springs. The water was excellent. First class test. Volume 150,000 gallons, which would be inadequate to take care of fire protection and domestic requirements. (Continued on page 4)

MAKING CANADA A Better Place in Which to Live and Work

Letters from Distinguished Canadians on Problems Affecting the Future Welfare of Canada
Specially Written for Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association

LETTER NO. 8

I feel that the publishers of Canada's weekly newspapers can make a lasting and worthwhile contribution towards making Canada a better place in which to live and work by endeavoring in their columns to build up a real appreciation of Canadian industries and resources. I know from practical experience how many men in later life hold prominent positions in the business, financial and professional worlds, who have come from the rural districts. It seems to me that the home newspapers of those districts, among the first periodicals which young people read, can build into the hearts and minds of their younger readers a clear understanding of the worth of our national heritage, and leave with them something which they will never lose in later life. I cannot help but deplore the flood of foreign periodicals, many of them second-rate editorially, which is coming into Canada at this time. It seems to me if we are ever to build Canada into the nation to which we so often refer, we must start by building good Canadian citizens. I cannot think of a better place for this to start in than in the columns of Canada's weekly newspapers. I would enjoy discussing this with you sometime when we can have a chance to sit down together.

Yours very truly,

B. W. KEIGHTLEY,

President, Association of Canadian Advertisers.

Ontario-Quebec Weekly Publishers Visit Mining District For Convention

Insight Into Growth and Progress of Northern Ontario Communities

— By R. A. Giles —

"A dream come true," might well be the title of our story, for we have for years awaited the opportunity to visit the ever developing North Country, and see where and how the precious gold is mined. How was it discovered? Well — less than 30 years ago, a prospector, Preston, poking around the bush, skidded. His hob-nailed heels ripped through a sheath of top soil to the rock. This showed — gold! Thus the great dome mine at Porcupine was discovered. In the same year, in 1909, another prospector, Benny Hollinger, sat on a rock and tore idly at nearby moss. A large piece came away in his hands. Again — gold! — The surface end of a rich vein. Thus was found the great Hollinger. Then came the McIntyre, third of the big Porcupine three. So these mines have been discovered and produced and, while containing money it must not be forgotten that it also takes plenty to run them. Today it takes something like a million dollars to develop, equip and start a property. Yes, it is a gamble, so is practically everything else.

With the development of the mines, came the growth of the towns and Timmins today boasts of almost 25,000 population. It has 600 business places, 3,500 residences, 16 churches, over 200 clubs, societies and organizations, a public library, schools, business colleges, educational institutions, four theatres, 16 dance halls, 4,000 motor cars and trucks, 26 barber shops, 22 beauty parlors, bands, orchestras, dancing schools and choral societies. Now then, isn't it many times larger than you ever thought?

Kirkland Lake, while not quite as large, is developing very rapidly and since 1930 has grown at the rate of almost 2,000 per year. It also boasts of the highest birth rate in Canada at 37 percent.

Yearly, the newspaper men of Ontario and Quebec gather together for the purpose of discussing ways and means of improving their papers, so that their readers may by such interchange of ideas profit and have in their community a paper which is really worth while. This year the convention was held at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto where members were welcomed by Mayor Ralph Day. Adjourning at noon, we were guests of Mr. G. L. McCullagh, President of the Globe and Mail, in their new and spacious Wright Building. To enter into detail as to the grandeur of this new structure would require many pages so that we must simply refer to it as most beautiful, modern and up-to-date. Returning to session, the afternoon was profitably spent by the Editors, and among the officers elected for the coming year I had the honor of being chosen as Vice-President. The Pearce Trophy Contest for the best Editorial Page was won by Mr. Geo. James, Editor of the Bowmanville Statesman, and was presented him by Mr. Clem Pearce.

The day's business finished, the next move was North. Through courtesy of the railways, many members travelled to and from Toronto by Canadian Pacific and Canadian National. At 6.15 p.m. Standard the Canadian National "Northland" pulled out with 5 special cars and a diner carrying the Press Party. Dinner "par excellence" was served aboard and after a good rest in comfortable berths and a hearty breakfast in the morning, Timmins was our first stopping place.

Cowboy Film Favorite Seen in Lachute, Stops Off for Refreshment

Despite his tall Stetson there appears to be nothing high-hat about Ken Maynard, the cowboy favorite of young movie fans. Maynard is starring this week in Cole Brothers' Circus at Ottawa, but over the weekend he travelled through these parts and stopped at Lachute en route to the Seignior Club, Montebello. It was not beneath his dignity to eat at a Main Street refreshment counter, and he is reported to have stopped off at Bill's Lunch Car here, where he made a favorable impression.

QUEBEC LIBERAL RALLY THIS WEEK-END; GODBOUT FAVORED FOR LEADER

Quebec's Liberal party, which supplied the province with governments for almost 40 years before slipping from prominence barely two years ago, will rally its supporters at Quebec this week-end to thrash out plans for rebuilding.

During a convention of all the province's Liberals tomorrow and on Saturday, a leader to direct a campaign of revival will be chosen, lines of the campaign will be mapped out and a new program for the party will be decided upon.

The biggest step of the Liberal meet will be choice of a chief and now the most prominent candidate for the leadership seems to be former Premier Adélard Godbout, the last Liberal government head.

Inspector Sounds False Alarm, Local Firemen Show Efficiency

When Inspector Patrick Gauthier, of the Quebec Fire Commissioners' Bureau at Quebec, paid an unexpected visit to Lachute and turned in a fire call from the town office Monday afternoon, he found the local fire department in efficient order. Just 2½ minutes after receiving the call, the brigade was in action at McRae's Garage, scene of the fictitious fire, with water playing from a 100-foot length of hose. The Inspector expressed satisfaction with the results of this test of the personnel and the equipment of Lachute Fire Department.

LIFE HAZARDS CHANGE

After the recent death of James Higgins at 94, in New York, an old life insurance policy for $10,000 was found among his effects. It was written in 1873 and matured in 1923 after Higgins had paid $9,883 in premiums. The old policy contained provisions no insurance could be collected if the insured were to lose his life "in a duel or insurrection or killed by hostile Indians."

Housekeepers Should See Government Exhibit at Fair

Problems of housekeepers with regard to their dairy and cold storage purchases, particularly in the use of creamery butter, will be dealt with during the three days of Lachute Exhibition at the exhibit of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. At this exhibit an official of the Department will be in attendance to give all information desired and to discuss points dealing mainly with the buying of creamery butter by grade and the various uses to which it can be put. Literature concerning the most important features of dairy products will be distributed free.

The exhibit will emphasize the importance of purchasing creamery butter by grade, and for this purpose it has been divided into three panels, the entire structure covering 30 feet in length. Purchase of creamery butter by grade is stressed in the first panel in which a mechanical pointer is seen picking out the different grades. In the second panel attention is called to the fact that the grading of creamery butter is compulsory, while a large transparency screens a pound of butter properly wrapped and labelled. The third panel displaying a revolving pound of butter impresses on the minds of spectators the old truth that good butter is essential to good cooking. The entire exhibit has been planned and prepared by the Dairy and Cold Storage Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Fighting Game Fish Across Canada

HOLIDAY opportunities in the thousands of lakes, rivers and streams of Canada afford fishing opportunities which are unexcelled anywhere in the world. The wide stretches of the Dominion are liberally supplied with forest and lake-land, abounding with game fish and animals, where lovers of the great outdoors can find a sports district to suit their every whim.

Fishing conditions are so varied in Canada and the species of game fish so numerous that a small booklet is required merely to list all the fish and regulations of the different sections. Deep-sea fishing is found on both ocean coasts, for half-ton tuna off Nova Scotia and equally large sharks near Vancouver Island; five-pound small-mouth black bass at the Devil's Gap Camp, Lake of the Woods district, and in hundreds of lakes in Eastern Canada, via for popularity with 40-pound maskinonge at such favored resorts as the French River Camp in Ontario; fighting trout of several species are found everywhere in Canada, most popular regions among anglers being the Laurentian Mountains, north of Montreal, or the mile-high lakes surrounding Banff and Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies; and mighty salmon bring joy to the hearts of anglers in the Maritimes. These few highlights of Canada's many fishing opportunities illustrate why Canadian sportsmen fishing in their home waters are joined every year by so many thousands of anglers from the United States and overseas. Conditions, possibilities and regulations vary so widely in different sections that anglers planning to visit strange districts would do well to find out all about them in advance from A. O. Seymour, general tourist agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, or from fishing booklets obtainable at all Canadian Pacific offices.

Mr. Geo. Lake, proprietor of the Porcupine Advance, had a splendid program arranged, and we were first taken to the Hollinger Gold Mine. Dressed in rubber boots, coats and hats, we entered what is known as the cage (elevator) and were soon on our way down into the bowels of the earth. At 3,800 feet, we were led through various tunnels from which the gold producing ore is taken, and could see how the various seams of white quartz are traced. In all these passage ways there are about 25 miles of railway track and small cars convey the ore metal to a host which in turn carries it to the top for crushing and processing. The miners must be physically fit, over a certain weight and are subject to frequent examination. Every precaution is taken, however, for their care and protection.

Arriving safely on top again, the ladies were loyally entertained for luncheon and during the afternoon, by Mrs. Geo. Lake, while the men were guests of Mr. Knox at the Mine Lodge.

Hon. Mr. Leduc, Minister of Mines was among our party and assisted in the opening of the new City Hall at Timmins, a building most modern and up-to-date in every respect.

A banquet on Friday evening and entertainment of high order which included the Lake Twins, with short addresses from Mayor Bartleman, Hon. Mr. Leduc and Mr. G. A. MacDonald brought our visit to a fitting climax. Flowers were presented to Mrs. Lake, in appreciation of her kindness, to Mrs. Bartleman and Mr. Langdon, and in the early hours of the morning we boarded our train, reluctant indeed to leave such hospitality.

Saturday morning and we were at Kirkland Lake, another growing town which is finding it difficult to keep up with its rapidly increasing population. Here we were met by Charlie Tresidder of the Northern News, who took us through his new building, modern in every respect.

Dinner at the Curling Rink was greatly enjoyed and hearty welcome extended by Mayor Carter, who has occupied this seat of honor for many years. Presentations of flowers were made to Mrs. Tresidder and to Mrs. Carter in appreciation of their kindness to the ladies.

A visit to Lake Shore and Wright-Hargreaves properties was most interesting in showing how the ore is first crushed, powdered and treated in various processes through vats and presses, at times resembling simple mud, until finally the precious metal is extracted.

A receipt on at the "Chateau" residence of Mr. H. Oakes brought our stay at Kirkland Lake to a climax and as time passed all too quickly, we were soon on our way back, delighted with our trip which although short was most instructive.

When we speak of Timmins and Kirkland Lake, we think of these towns as so far away, but with the up-to-date rail service now available they are comparatively near at hand.

Our trip from Lachute to Toronto was made in excellent time over the Canadian Pacific. Toronto to North Bay was handled by the Canadian National while from North Bay on we were taken in hand by the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. Too much praise cannot be given the several lines for the splendid accommodation and service which makes travelling so pleasurable. Excellent meals, comfortable berths are all that can be desired and we wish to express our hearty thanks to the railways for the many courtesies extended. We were accompanied on the trip by Mr. O'Neil, of North Bay, C.N. District Passenger Agent; Mr. S. F. Baker, North Bay, Travelling Passenger Agent, C.N.; and Mr. C. O. Baker, representing the T. and N. O. Railway, all of whom did their utmost to make our excursion a happy one. And now—back to work again, much the wiser and with fond recollections.

Warning to Nations Sounded at Annual Meeting of First Church of Christ, Scientist

Boston, Mass., June 6.—A warning to nations "whose governments have been conceived largely in selfish ambition and brought forth by human force" was issued here today at the Annual Meeting of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, The Mother Church, by The Christian Science Board of Directors, who declared the lessons of history show such governing bodies to be "of few days and full of trouble."

Reports disclosed continued growth of the Christian Science movement, increasing higher standards for authorized periodicals, and a larger number of requests from groups of non-Scientists for representative Christian Scientists to address them.

Election of Ralph Hastings Knapp, C.S., of Needham, Mass., as President of The Mother Church was announced. He succeeds Judge Clifford P. Smith, of Newton, Massachusetts. Edward L. Ripley of Brookline and Ezra W. Palmer of Marshfield were re-elected Treasurer and Clerk of the Church respectively. The President is elected by The Christian Science Board of Directors to serve for one year. His duty is to be presiding officer at the Annual Meeting.

Mr. Knapp is a son of Ira O. Knapp and Flavia S. Knapp, two of the 12 called upon by Mrs. Eddy to reorganize the Christian Science Church in September, 1892. When a young boy, Mr. Knapp and his mother were healed in Christian Science and through this healing the entire family became interested. He has served First Church of Christ, Scientist, Needham, Mass., as reader, director and president. He is on the teaching faculty of Mechanics Arts, Technical High School in Boston.

Ingredients of Body

(Moose Jaw Times-Herald)
In the average human body, according to a scientific inventory, there's fat enough to produce seven bars of soap; enough lime to whiten a small chicken roost, enough phosphorus to make about 2,000 matches, enough iron to make two small nails, plus about two pounds of sugar, six teaspoonfuls of salt and 10 gallons of water. Melted down, you may still be of some use this spring.

ACTOR IS RANCHER

Now that Edward Everett Horton can relax after his work in "College Swing," he has again retired to his ranch, where he spends his time between pictures. Horton rarely visits Hollywood unless he is working.

There is no means of knowing what will likely be the fate of the suggested treaty. The Canadian Government will study it carefully. There will be discussions about its terms with the governments of provinces vitally interested. Endeavoring to look at the chances from the treaty, observers are mentioning that the 1932 treaty following lines in many respects similar to this one, was refused by the United States Senate. Would it pass this treaty? It is estimated that the cost to Canada of its share of construction would likely be about 40 million dollars. This is a large outlay, and there is always the uncertainty of estimates. It might go considerably higher. There is the power and the railway situation on the one hand and on the other the "enduring benefits to be derived by industrial and agricultural interests" on both sides of the line from the development of their great natural water highway. It is a very complicated issue with much to be said on each side of the question.

LOANS TO MUNICIPALITIES

Very little real opposition has been raised in the House of Commons to the Government bill authorizing the Dominion to lend up to an aggregate of 30 million dollars to municipalities for "self liquidating" enterprises. The loans would bear interest at two per cent per annum. The idea is that this money would be lent to municipalities to renovate and put in better working order their waterworks, gas plants, electric light systems and other enterprises, which yield a revenue. Thus renewed and improved plants would bring higher revenues and costs of maintenance would be reduced. The building trade and employment would be aided. Loans would be made only on enterprises approved by the provinces and the loans would bear the guarantee of the provincial governments. In this way the difficulty about the Dominion infringing provincial jurisdiction by making contributions to the municipalities would be overcome. The Dominion would be making a contribution to the municipalities under this bill, as the Dominion treasury would have to absorb the difference between the two per cent interest rate and the rate at which the Dominion has to borrow its money. The Dominion would also pay for the cost of administering the loan plan. The scheme is based upon the expressed policy of the government to "use the credit of the Dominion to stimulate productive work."

AMENDMENTS TO THE CRIMINAL CODE

A bill introduced to the Commons amending the criminal code will increase the punishment of motor drivers who fail to stop at the scene of an accident. The penalties hereafter will be a maximum fine of $500 or six months and failure to stop will be taken as prima facie evidence of intent to escape liability. Reckless driving whether an accident occurs or not, will be subject to penalties. In addition to these measures for the safety of the highways, the bill deals with frauds in mining. Maximum penalty for the holder of a lease on gold or silver mines attempting to defraud either the owner or the crown will be increased from two to five years. "Salting" of mines will be an express offence.

THE COMMISSION ON DOMINION-PROVINCIAL RELATIONS

The Rowell Commission, which has visited the capitals of the provinces, is again in Ottawa, hearing evidence and recommendations from a number of national organizations which have not previously presented their briefs. The Commission is thus rounding the bend on the last lap of the first stage of its stupendous task, that is the gathering of material on which to formulate their findings. The extent of the hearings makes one think of a vast river gathering flood from a host of tributaries. With the conclusion of the hearings, the next thing will be for the commission to make its report including its recommendations to the Government. Seldom has a group of men in Canada been faced with a more colossal or a more worth-while task. No miracles are expected of them, but it is hoped that they will make a valuable contribution to the general welfare of the Canadian citizen by showing how the federal machine can be lubricated to make it run a little more smoothly and efficiently.

Asked Banning of Nets On Ottawa River

The Conservation Committee of the Ottawa Fish and Game Association recently passed a resolution recommending the closing of the Ottawa River from Lac des Quinze to Pointe Fortune — a distance of 315 miles — to all netting and night lines.

The resolution, which charged that "large quantities of game fish are being taken from the Ottawa River through commercial licenses and illegal methods without benefit to the public," was sent to the Ontario and Quebec governments.

Equipment Worth $1,470 Confiscated, Illegal Fishing Also Draws Jail Term

Sequel to one of the largest seizures of fishing paraphernalia in the Ottawa district, Nelson Paquette, 78-year-old farmer of Clarence, standing trial last week in Rockland Court, was fined $100 and costs or three months in jail on a charge of unlawfully having in his possession four gill nets without a license or permit.

Paquette took the jail term. In addition, the court ordered his truck, valued at $1,400, two rowboats, two tents, four gill nets, one hoop net, two flashlights, 800 hooks and four fish boxes, to the total value of $1,469.50, confiscated.

On another charge of having a revolver in his possession which was not registered, Paquette was fined $5 and costs or five days in jail. On this charge he paid the fine.

Alleged Fishing Racket

The charge was laid by Wayne Robinson, game warden for Carleton and Russell counties, who said he was determined to stamp out illegal fishing and break up an organized gang of fishery racketeers who are dumping tons of game fish caught in the Ottawa River on Montreal and other markets.

FISH for study

As long as men have been catching fish, little really is known about their life and habits. How do they behave under water? We can't see much more than a few inches below the surface of the sea. Who eats who, in the struggle for existence that goes on in the ocean's depths? Nobody knows for sure, but a great scientific laboratory for the study of living fish of all kinds has been established in Florida, and we are on the way toward learning more about the hidden life under water.

At Marineland on Florida's East Coast, half a million dollars has been spent to build a miniature ocean. Two great connected tanks holding nearly a million gallons of filtered sea-water have been built. They have windows along the sides and the bottom, through which the behavior of marine animals can be studied and photographed at close range.

When I visited Marineland in April there were dozens of sharks of different kinds and sizes, a big sawfish, innumerable smaller fish, crabs, shrimps and other crustaceans, seals and porpoises all living together as they do in the sea.

DOPE catches fish

Catching big fish for an aquarium is a good deal like catching big animals for a zoo or a circus. In order to bring 'em in alive and in condition to keep on living, they have to be carefully handled after being trapped, else they will injure themselves in the struggle to get free. Big game hunters for zoos use "mercy bullets," shooting a quick-acting narcotic drug into the animal's hide. On the same principle the Marine Studios use a "hypodermic harpoon" to control big fish after they have been netted or trapped.

Invented by Count Ilia Tolstoy, grandson of the famous Russian novelist, who is in charge of collecting fish for the Marineland aquarium, the hypodermic harpoon injects an anesthetic drug into a fish. Even the largest sharks turn over and play dead when they get this "shot in the arm," but a few hours later they are lively as ever in the "miniature ocean."

I went out with one of the "bring 'em in alive" expeditions early in April. We set a big net a few miles out in the Atlantic and anchored overnight, to haul the net at sunrise, the feeding time for the big ones. But all we got was one five-foot hammerhead shark.

SHARKS soft

Whether sharks actually attack living persons in the water is still a matter of dispute. The fish experts I talked with in Florida said that some of the large sharks will seize an injured person, attracted by the smell of blood. All agreed that a far more dangerous fish is the barracuda, the "tiger of the sea," which comes into shallow waters and frequently bites an arm or a leg off a bather.

Sharks and the shark family, which include sawfish and rays, are the most primitive type of fish. Fossil shark teeth estimated to be 100,000 years old are washed up by every storm on the coasts of the Gulf of Mexico. The shark has no bones. His spine is soft cartilage and he has no ribs at all. The shark does not survive rough handling well.

One of the workers at Marine Studios found a live shark cast up on the beach. He dragged it half a mile by the tail, stowed it in the back of his car, and drove it to the aquarium. The shark survived long enough to give birth to nine baby sharks, but died shortly afterwards from the effects of the rough treatment she had received.

DOLPHINS . . . warm blooded

Everybody who has been around the Atlantic seacoast much, from Nova Scotia to Florida, has seen schools of dolphins, which are usually called porpoises, leaping out of the water in graceful curves. Most folk take them for fish, but they are warm-blooded mammals, little cousins of the whale. They make their brief excursions to the surface to fill their lungs with air, which they can do in a couple of seconds through the single nostril or "blow-hole" in the tops of their heads.

While I was visiting the big aquarium at Marineland, word came that porpoises were feeding in a nearby inlet. Half a dozen fishermen in rowboats went out after them. They set four nets across the mouth of the inlet. The first porpoise broke through all four nets, but her baby got tangled in the first net and the mother came back to the rescue. Mother and baby now live in the aquarium.

I spent an hour or more watching the mother porpoise suckle her baby and teach it how to catch fish on her own account. Nobody had ever before had a chance to study the domestic life of the dolphin at close range.

Idea for Government Spending!

The proposal has been seriously put forth by an automobile manufacturer that the U.S. Government should spend a hundred million dollars to buy the million worst old automobiles now on the roads and destroy them!

On due consideration there might be sounder common sense behind that project than there is in some of the things which have been proposed or actually undertaken in recent years. It was difficult for the average American to see the justification for the wholesale destruction of livestock and produce. These were real wealth.

Many of the old automobiles in use, however, are not only practically valueless but a positive menace to human life and safety. Most of them are beyond repair; their old-fashioned two-wheel brakes cannot be adapted to modern safety requirements.

A hundred million dollars would be a high price to pay for only a million of these cars. There are probably five million outdated cars cluttering the highways across the border which could be junked for that amount.

And after all, if spending of public funds is to continue for the benefit of special groups and classes, why shouldn't automobile manufacturers press their claims! — The taxpayer will pay.

Romance Sails Again

Among the four things which King Solomon listed in the Book of Proverbs as mysteries beyond his understanding were "the way of a ship on the sea" and "the way of an eagle in the air." In this mechanical age it is easy for most to understand how an airplane flies, but the flight of a bird is beyond us. The steamship is a modern marvel, but the sailing ship carries with it a tradition that has its roots back in the beginnings of Man's conquest of Nature, as deep-rooted as the spirit of adventure itself.

So there is something deeply moving to the imagination in the news that the annual race of the grain-ships from Australia around Cape Horn to the market ports of Europe is under way again. Thirteen towering windjammers, their sky-sails set and their holds full of golden grain, are plunging eastward and northward over the courses of Magellan and Drake and Captain Cook and the host of adventurous explorers who sailed those perilous seas when the world was young. It is a pageant which revives the vanished past, of which these ships are almost the sole survivors.

Charity begins at home, but if it stays there it doesn't get much notice. — Hamilton Spectator.

Business Needs Courage

To the oft-heard complaint that business men are timid and unwilling to do their share toward bringing about recovery, a dramatic reply was made a week or two ago by one of America's largest chain-store systems. These merchants did not content themselves with making patriotic speeches or issuing statements to the press saying they were ready to spend money whenever the Government took its hands off business. Instead of making empty gestures, they acted.

In the New York and other newspapers they advertised that they wanted to buy merchandise on an unprecedented scale. Five million dollars of first quality merchandise, and they wanted it that very week. Their ordinary purchases are a million dollars a week. They were confident that they could sell double that amount every week, if manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers were willing to join them in cutting profits and giving the public real savings in their purchases. So they engaged quarters in a big hotel where their whole staff of buyers were ready to meet the people who had their kind of merchandise to sell.

The sellers came in droves, and the merchants bought — five million dollars' worth of goods, largely for cash.

"We thought it was time for business to prime its own pump," said President Woodworth of the United Cigar-Wholen Stores. "We are convinced that the public is buying again, and that business will pick up if business men only believe it and prove their belief by acting on it."

There is something of the old spirit of self-reliance in this incident. If every business concern would go ahead in the same fashion instead of whining about business being hampered by Government, the wheels of industry would quickly speed up and the unemployment problem would be well on its way to solution.

Medical Test For Drunken Drivers

A police regulation which insists that all drivers held on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor be examined by a physician after arrest, is responsible for the higher rate of convictions in Verdun than in any other section of the Montreal metropolitan area, according to A. Dubeau, the city's fire and police director.

He pointed out that under his orders all drivers taken into custody on an accusation of drunken driving are subjected to a medical examination within a few minutes of their arrest. The test immediately proves or disproves the contention of the officers who brought the driver to the police station.

According to the statistics of his police department, Chief Dubeau stated 18 men were arrested in 1937 for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Seven brought before the Recorder's Court there all drew convictions. Three others brought before the Montreal courts were also convicted.

In two other cases the examining physicians reported that the drivers were not sufficiently under the influence of liquor to fall under the provisions of the statute. Six other cases were "quashed" before they reached court. No reason for the failure to proceed is given.

To explain the perfect record of convictions in cases brought to court, Chief Dubeau stated that in every instance the testimony of the examining physician was available to the recorder or to the judge in the Montreal court.

By-Laws Passed by Brownsburg Council

2. Dixon's Creek. Supply inadequate. Three houses at source, making for liability of contamination or impurity. Filtration plant necessary.

3. The Dam. Undesirable owing to necessity of filtration.

The fourth location examined had its source at Riordon's Creek and was admirable in every way except for the possibility of increased cost, owing to the greater distance. No filtration system would be necessary and the Council were advised to avail themselves of this source and have an adequate and satisfactory supply.

Mr. Graham: "Now that we have decided from where we should get the water, our next step is to get an approximate estimate of the cost."

Mr. H. Graham: "Is there any step being taken by the Company (C-I-L) to survey the scheme?"

Mayor: "Yes. An engineer is to start right away, and we have to inform our engineer and Mr. Héon, M.P., of the progress thus far."

Mr. Wilson: "Contamination by house sewage is a vital matter; what will happen when Riordon's Lake becomes built up in later years?"

The Mayor: "Mr. Sears, the engineer, told me that their department controls such sewage disposal and can prohibit building if necessary."

Mr. McFaul: "There are several nicer and more accessible lakes than Riordon's, and they have not been built up."

The Mayor submitted for approval text of a letter addressed to Mr. Héon relative to the scheme.

Mr. Graham: "Is it best to keep Mr. Héon-informed as we go along?"

Mr. Pariseau: "Sure. He may come to our assistance at a later date, and with the federal assistance of money at two per cent we should be successful. I am in favor of water-works with a supply like that, but I could not support a scheme to gather water from all the little creeks in the country."

Rev. Fr. Hebert wrote thanking the Council for their support and contributions in recognition of Rev. Fr. Bouchard's recent anniversary celebration.

Mr. Herbert Graham was appointed to replace Mr. Connolly (who was unable to devote the time at present) as valuator.

The Council's collector of taxes reported a sum of $333.00. He further reported that some people refused to pay the dog tax.

The Secretary (Mr. Hebert): "One of those who refused to take out a tax, but who has a license on his automobile, was reported today for allowing the dog on the street and biting a little child rather severely. The child's parents said they will proceed against the man."

The Council decided to take the necessary steps to recover the tax.

The Secretary also reported that a newcomer to the village had expressed himself as opposed to the business-opening tax and would not pay. It was decided to take strong steps to recover this tax, Mr. Pariseau remarking it would be an injustice to the other merchants if one evaded it.

The Secretary read a list of payments amounting to $88.96 for repairs to the road recently taken over from C-I-L. Previous notice of motion having been given, Bylaws 9 and 10 were unanimously put into effect — one prohibiting begging without Council's authority and the other imposing severe penalties and imprisonment for failure to keep dogs under proper control, and not paying taxes.

PARKING

The Council discussed overcrowding of the streets with parked cars, and decided to prohibit parking on the Main Street except on the north side. A by-law to this effect was moved by Mr. McFaul, seconded by Mr. Pariseau. This includes prohibition of parking outside the Post Office.

A discussion on the Dairy Commission legislation regarding milk will be dealt with in a later issue.

We rather like the one about the Scotch cinema proprietor who put up the sign: "All persons Over 80 Will Be Admitted Free, If Accompanied By Their Parents."

Best for a National Enterprise
Is Best for the Individual . . .

MR. CITIZEN:

The superior quality of British American Lubricants has been confirmed by our obtaining one of the most important lubricating oil contracts that has been let in Canada for a number of years.

The Trans-Canada Airlines — a new organization — closely connected with the Government and the Canadian National Railways — has been organized to carry passengers and mail by air over a large portion of the Dominion: from Quebec in the East to British Columbia in the West.

The safety of the passengers and perfect performance of the aeroplane motors, you will agree, depend very largely on successful lubrication. After exhaustive tests and inquiries, the Trans-Canada Airlines chose British American lubricating oil for their aeroplane motors over the whole of Canada.

Surely — if British American Lubrication has been chosen by the Trans-Canada Airlines to lubricate planes, costing in the neighborhood of $100,000 each, and further to insure the safety of their passengers, then it must be the logical lubrication for the motorist — no matter whether he drives an old car or one of 1938's most expensive models.

Parochial Meeting at Weir

Weir, Que. — An interesting Parochial Meeting of the Women's Auxiliary took place in the hall of the Church of the Redeemer here on Thursday afternoon, June 2nd, when around 48 ladies from the four different branches of the W.A. (Glen, Arundel, Rockway and Weir), were gathered together.

The Diocesan President, Mrs. E. J. Loisele, of Montreal, gave an interesting and instructive talk on the different branches of work in connection with the W.A., and especially the missionary work which is being carried on in China and Japan, and in the northern parts of our Western Provinces here in Canada.

Also welcome among the gathering was Miss Edith Adamson, who with her mother, Mrs. Adamson, and Mrs. Buckingham, drove Mrs. Loisele from the city. Mrs. Adamson, who has spent some time in missionary work through the northern parts of Saskatchewan and Alberta, gave an interesting talk on her work.

Mrs. W. H. Williams, president of the Weir Branch of the W.A., acted as chairman, and Mrs. C. T. Veit, president of the Arundel Branch, introduced the speaker, Mrs. E. J. Loisele. Mrs. Henry Burns, president of the Glen Branch, expressed gratitude on behalf of the visiting groups, to the ladies of Weir, for their kindness in arranging this meeting, and also for the refreshments served at the close.

The Rev. G. H. Wolfendale made a few interesting remarks at the beginning of the assembly, and hoped that a meeting of this kind would be an annual event from now on. Before retiring from the meeting the ladies of Arundel extended an invitation to the other branches to a gathering which will be held in the latter part of May next year.

The meeting was opened by singing the hymn, "The Love of Christ Constrains Us," with Mrs. O. Purcell at the piano.

Rev. G. H. Wolfendale closed the meeting with prayer.

Rev. Dr. T. W. Jones Lectures at Brownsburg United Church

Those who attended the illustrated lecture delivered by Rev. Dr. T. W. Jones, of Montreal, on Monday evening, enjoyed a rare treat indeed. It was another of Dr. Jones' popular topics, "A Cavalcade of British History." The speaker traced, by picture and comment, the history of our great Empire for the past thousand years, interspersed by personal references on his visit to the Old Land and the interesting way in which he secured some of his slides.

Dr. Jones was accompanied by Rev. W. L. Tucker, of Montreal, who preached here twenty years ago as a student at college. The minister, Rev. S. J. Pike, called upon Mr. Tucker to say a few words before the lecture began, and the audience were told some very interesting items of his former visit to Brownsburg, and the pleasure of his recent visit to renew acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. Pike, his former neighbors in Montreal.

The lecture was under the auspices of the Men's League, who have brought many good things before the local public.

50th Anniversary of Calumet Trinity Church To Be Observed Next Sunday

The Anglican Church at Calumet is 50 years old this year. The exact date of the opening of the building for worship is not known, but it was probably either spring or early summer, as the account of money spent in its erection was presented to the Vestry Meeting on July 25th, 1888. The name "Trinity" is another indication. This name was chosen by Mrs. N. J. Whinfield.

As early as 1884 services were held at Calumet by Canon Rollit, in a building erected on land given by Mr. Ward for the use of all denominations. This building is now used solely by the United Church. In 1887 the Rev. A. J. Greer proposed the building of an Anglican Church and this was done the following year. The total cost as reported by Mr. Greer was $722.90, but some further expenditures were made in the years immediately following. This sum probably represents only a portion of the material used. The labour was given voluntarily by the men of the Parish, as well as some of the material. Of those who so generously helped, only Mr. Henry Trineer is now living in the Parish.

In 1893 the interior was varnished, and the windows in the roof added in 1896. A furnace was installed in 1899, which was replaced in 1926 by a pipeless furnace donated by Mr. Brannan, which is still in use.

In 1903 the W.A. placed in the Chancel the beautiful window representing Christ as the Light of the World, based on Holman Hunt's famous picture. It is in memory of the beloved Rector, the Rev. S. A. Malenison, and its dedication in 1905 was the last official act of Archbishop Bond in this Parish. The ladies of the parish put a carpet in the chancel in 1904 and the W.A. paid for a new altar which was dedicated in 1910. In 1916, Mr. G. Higginson installed a new lighting system, which is now being replaced under the direction of his son, Darwin Higginson. The tower was erected in 1924 by the men of the Parish, under the leadership of Messrs Jas. Stewart and Ted. Hoare. A very fine bell, costing $400, was at that time installed. The money for this was raised by the members of the Girls' Club, whose names are on the bell.

In preparation for the 50th Anniversary the members of the congregation, continuing the splendid spirit of their predecessors, are giving of their labour, time and money to renovate the interior. Besides the new lighting system, all the painted work has been renewed and a new carpet bought by the A.Y.P.A.; the font has been greatly improved and a number of other improvements made. The money for the material is being raised by a Special Anniversary Subscription Fund.

A word as to the outstanding personalities of this church may be of interest. Following Mr. Greer, the Rectors have been the Revs. W. Harris, S. H. Mallinson, W. F. Fitzgerald, A. C. Asch, W. P. Baugh, W. J. Ellis, J. Irving and K. N. Bructon. The first Wardens (elected on April 12th, 1888) were Messrs. Alfred Bridden and James Wilson. The first delegates to the Synod were Messrs. N. J. Whinfield and D. Reeves.

In 1888 a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. S. M. Brannan for his liberality in deeding to the Parish for a nominal sum the site of the Calumet church. Mr. A. Bridden was a pillar of strength to the church; at his death in 1918 it was recorded that for 30 years he had been People's Warden, S.S. Superintendent and Choir Leader. Another great name of the early days was that of Nicholas Whinfield, who was Rector's Warden for many years, and one on whom both Rector and congregation could always rely. Since Mr. Bridden's death, the work of the S.S. Superintendent has been ably carried on for the past 20 years by Mrs. F. Dakin, who is also organist, and secretary of the W.A. Messrs. H. G. Brannan and G. Higginson were both Wardens and Delegates to Synod for several years. At present Mr. W. E. Bridden is the Rector's Warden and Mr. T. G. Foreman the People's Warden. Mr. L. G. Martin is not only secretary-treasurer of Trinity Church but of the whole Parish of Grenville. The Service on June 12th will be at 11 a.m. (D.S.T.) and will be a Thanksgiving Celebration of Holy Communion, at which the Very Rev. A. Carlisle, Dean of Montreal, will preach. He will also dedicate the new furnishings.

Lachute Mills post-office will conform with the weekly half-holiday regulation and from this date will be closed on Saturday afternoons from 12.30 o'clock to 6 p.m.

NUTS IN MAY

"Nuts in May — She will believe in them after tonight," exclaimed Uncle Ted with a fond glance at the two girls — not knowing how the truth of his words would be impressed that very night, and not in the way he meant it to be.

After the nuts were finished the girls edged closer to their uncle, to coax him to tell them a story.

"How about a walk in the woods instead?" he asked.

Cora jumped to her feet and clasped her hands. "Lovely, lovely," she cried; but Mary hung back. "Isn't it too late, Uncle Ted. I don't like the woods when it is dark."

"Mary, you certainly are getting to be a great baby!" cried Cora in disgust.

"Remember, Cora, that Mary has not lived in the country all her life as you have; she cannot be expected to love country walks and country things, as you do." To Mary, he said, "It is not too late, dear. Old Man Sun is not a bit sleepy yet. He will stay out of bed for a long time. We will be back in time to see him being escorted to bed by all the Little Sun Fairies, carrying their crimson and gold blankets to cover him with."

"Nonsense!" cried practical Cora. "The sun never goes to bed. It is always busy shining somewhere."

"Now, now, Cora, you've spoiled all my childish faith," her uncle rebuked. "I always thought the sun went to bed, the same as we did, and got covered up nice and snug at night."

"Now, Uncle, you're only teasing," said Cora. "You have learned geography the same as I did, and you know the sun only goes out of our sight."

"Well, I go out of sight, too, when I go to bed!" teased her uncle. "When I go to bed I get under the blankets and cover my head right up, so that not even a fairy could find me."

"Well if you do — you do wrong. You should not cover your head up. People should have lots of fresh air when they are sleeping." Cora clung to his hand, swinging it backwards and forwards as they walked towards the woods at the end of the grass-covered lane.

"I'll have to remember that in future," her uncle said with a chuckle, "but about Old Man Sun, if those golden clouds that we see every night are not his blankets, then what are they?"

"I know!" cried Mary, who had been walking quietly along, not paying attention to what the others were saying. "I know; they are his banners that the little fairy folk are carrying. When a King goes into another country, he goes with all his banners flying. That is the way Old King Sun travels; with all his banners flying."

"You are wrong, Mary!" Cora said with a giggle. "Old Man Sun, as Uncle Ted calls him, gets so tired and slow by the end of the day that he lingers until the shadows fall; then, like you, he's afraid in the dark and has to borrow colored lanterns from the King of the Northern Lights, to keep the Little People that Old Biddy Malone tells us about, from catching him."

"Huh! They couldn't catch him, their legs are not long enough," cried Mary jerking a big bloom from a nearby dogwood bush and tossing it into Cora's face. A merry chase followed and the two girls were deep in the pine woods before they noticed their uncle was nowhere in sight. A loud "Whoop whoop!" startled them. Catching hold of each other's hands they ran breathlessly along the path bordered with wild briar, oxeye daisies and maiden hair fern.

Uncle Ted mischievously stepped behind the trunk of an immense oak and let them race by him. In a few moments they saw that they were beyond the dogwood bush, and knew that they had missed him in some way. The woods rang with shouts of "Uncle Ted — oh, Uncle Ted," until he laughingly approached them from behind the oak.

"Old Meanie, Old Meanie!" Cora cried, running toward him with doubled fists, threatening to punish him severely, "hiding from two poor little girls!"

"Well, said their uncle, pretending to feel rather badly. "When a gentleman asks two young ladies to walk in the woods with him I do not think it is very polite of them to run away and leave him alone."

"We won't do it again, Uncle," Mary cried, thrusting her small hand into his large warm one, — "if you will tell us what you brought us to the woods to see. I'm sure you have something to show us."

Lovingly, Aunt Jean.

Rings Around Moon Myths

Rings around the moon are sometimes used to "forecast" the weather, but only by the superstitious or uninformed. As a matter of fact, these rings simply indicate that in some region of the air above the ground there is a thin layer of mist or cloud, the water drops of which are nearly of equal size, says the Richmond Times-Dispatch. Both water droplets and ice crystals are common to the upper air and are unreliable as weather indicators.

A Man

The man whom I call deserving the name, is one whose thoughts and exertions are for others rather than himself; whose high purpose is adopted on just principles, and never abandoned while heaven and earth afford means of accomplishing it. He is one who will neither seek an indirect advantage by a specious road, nor take an evil path to secure a real good purpose. — Sir Walter Scott.

35 Canadian Boys To Spend Holiday on British Warships This Summer

Thirty-five boys from secondary schools in Canada will arrive in England July 8 to spend a fortnight with the Home Fleet, according to Major Fred J. Ney, executive secretary of the National Council of Education, who has returned to England after completing arrangements here.

The boys, whose average age is 17, will spend four days at sea with warships during the combined army, navy and air force exercises, Major Ney stated.

"Every schoolboy in Canada would give his head to be a member of the party," he declared. "Think of what it will mean to the boys from the prairie provinces who haven't been to sea."

He said a camp is to be organized for boys in the Canadian Rockies where Canadian, British and New Zealand boys will fraternize.

BOY SCOUTS THE WORLD OVER

A troop of Boy Scouts has been formed at St. Mary's River, on the Labrador.

It is estimated that there are three million former Boy Scouts in the British Isles.

A beautifully carved altar table was made and presented by the 1st Ynisymond Boy Scouts to St. Paul's Church, Glais, Wales.

The City Council of Trail, B.C., placed a city owned lot at the disposal of the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides as a site for a meeting hall.

SCOUT CAMP SITES IN BRITISH ISLES

There are over 100 Boy Scout camping grounds in the British Isles, with a total of over 5,000 acres. The latest site, of 24 acres of grassland and woods, was opened in May at Chalfont St. Peter, Buckinghamshire, by Deputy Chief Scout, Lord Somers.

SIR GEORGE BROWN BECOMES A SCOUT

Sir George McLaren Brown, the new President of the Boy Scout Association of Ontario, was invested as a Scout before a large gathering of Patrol Leaders at the annual Empire Day Scout reforestation camp at Angus. He was presented with a gavel made of Scotch pine from a tree planted by Scouts in 1929.

PRACTICAL BOY SCOUT FIRST AID

Boy Scout first aid training again proved its practical value when one of a group of hiking Winnipeg boys cut his knee with an axe. Scouts in the party rendered first aid, and improvised a stretch on which the patient was borne three miles to a street car. Police and hospital staff congratulated the Scouts.

AN INTERNATIONAL SCOUT CIRCUS

Seven hundred Canadian and American Boy Scouts took part in the "International Scout Circus" at Kalispell, Montana. The opening parade, led by two bands, was headed by the grouped Union Jacks and Stars and Stripes of the Canadian and American Scout units. The Canadian boys, from Alberta and British Columbia, were over-night guests in Kalispell homes. The event was backed by the local Rotary and Kiwanis clubs.

Taft Held Many Positions

William Howard Taft had to ask the people for their vote only once before he was elected President despite the public positions he held. Among his positions were assistant prosecutor, collector of internal revenue, judge of the Ohio Superior court, United States solicitor general, judge of the sixth federal Circuit Court of Appeals, chairman of the Philippine Islands commission, secretary of war in Theodore Roosevelt's cabinet, civil governor of Cuba, president and finally chief justice of the Supreme court. And the only election he ever faced, besides that for the presidency, was for judge of the Superior court of Ohio.

MUCH ADD ABOUT LITTLE

— OR —

(DON'T) TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALL GAME

Dear Mr. Editor:

As was so plainly and forcibly explained in last week's edition, we regret to admit that the mighty and previously undefeated L.H.S. softball team has finally eaten of the bitter fruit of adversity, and lost the game played at the Burg last week. Judge Fairplay, of the Superior Board of Sport, sustained the objection put forth by the train of L.H.S. ball victims re the continual victories of the blue and white boys, and rightly enforced the well-known "law of averages." Napoleon had to suffer the inevitable at Waterloo; Scarlett couldn't have Ashley, and Johnny had to take his castor oil, so why should the local boys oppose historical precedent and object to having to swallow the traditional bitter pill?

However, that claim "a record of all records is held by the Brownsburg school when they went fifteen games without a defeat" we most certainly dispute. In complete agreement with the remainder of our great country we attribute that honour to the Victor Recording Co. for that acme of perfection in records, "The Moon of Manakoor," as sung by that acme of perfection in crooners, Professor Crosby.

This same amazing ball team has had a total of one hundred and five runs; this surely could have been prevented if the players had followed the example set by the rest of America and used that popular brand of soap flakes which prevents such sad occurrences.

We were quite unaware that Bill Hewitt had been chosen head of the faculty in our neighbouring town; however, we were quite put out at his being referred to as a "dizzy" Dean, for we know him to be both a healthy and sane chap, and most obliging, too, for 'twas on a stifling hot day that the last game was played, and as was stated, "he fanned seven leading batters." He did add to the general warmth of things nevertheless, by sending real sizzlers over the plate!

Smillie (he bats .1000), whose antics at the home plate made him appear a cross between an optical illusion and a typographical error to those in the outfield, would do well to give a sideshow as contortionist extraordinaire, or perhaps he should just join a sideshow. At any rate, any walks he gets he worked hard for.

That "collapse of Bates" was a sad thing, too. The numerous, successive victories of the season due to Bates' great hurling, have found him a number of protégés; so many, in fact, that he had been obliged to hire a staff to aid him. It is unfortunate that Mr. Bates chose the very day of the game to study the new "Quebec Fair Wage Act" — Better men than Bates have collapsed under a similar strain. (On income tax returns f'rinstance).

One fact seems agreed upon by both sides, and that is that the style of the L.H.S. squad is brisk, modern — new. The Burg boys confess when commenting on their own mode of playing by saying "the Brownsburg school softballers came back to win — in OLD style."

Algernon P. McGinnis.

Mistress: "Just look at the dust on this piano. It's at least six weeks old!"

HANDSOME TROPHY TO GO TO OUTSTANDING ALL-ROUND ATHLETE

Wm. Wrigley Jr. Co., Limited, has again donated a beautiful trophy for amateur competition, for the most outstanding all-round athlete competing in the events to be held at the Montreal School Boys' Carnival Field Day, June 13th.

This company has sponsored some of the major sporting events in Canada, notably the famous Wrigley Swimming Marathon, held every year at the Canadian National Exhibition. This event brought lasting fame to George Young and many other long-distance swimmers.

Amateur swimming has always interested the Wrigley Company, with the idea that if a greater interest in swimming could be created, more of Canada's young people would be attracted to the sport and learn the art of swimming. This policy has resulted in more children each year learning how to swim; sometimes the ability to swim means the difference between life and death.

In Montreal, the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Company officials have been greatly interested in the good work being done by the schools in developing sportsmanship among the students. In the bringing together of all competing students in the Carnival Field Day, which is to be held this year June 13, it seems fitting that the Wrigley Company should again provide an appropriate trophy for presentation to the boy winning the highest number of points in the day's events. The cup is to be held by the winner in perpetuity. The trophy cup is intended by the Wrigley Company to promote that spirit of good sportsmanship so essential in school athletics.

First Movies Shown At Lumière Banquet

When Louis Lumière, one of the inventors of moving pictures, decided to leave Paris and retire to his country place in southern France, some of his friends organized a banquet in his honor. It was given in the Canadian National Railways building in Paris, and one of the guests was Louis Regamey, General agent of the C.N. System in Paris.

It was in the basement of the building occupied by the C.N.R. that the Brothers Lumière gave the first public demonstration of animated pictures. That was in December, 1895. The films shown then were a comic, "The Sprayer Sprayed," and a documentary, "Day's End at the Lumière Plant." These were screened again at the recent banquet.

A NEW TREND IN FICTION

Fiction used to be all about young love, and the story ended when they were married and presumably about to live happily forever after. Have you noticed the increasing number of stories about the romances of people who are at least forty? This is true about short stories and novels. It just happened that I had read several books in succession which were about mature people and had noticed this trend especially. Then looking about for something to read, I started to read Jane Austen's "Sense and Sensibility," an event which happens at least once a year. She has one of her characters say, "A woman of seven-and-twenty can never hope to feel or inspire affection again; if her home be uncomfortable or her fortune small, I can suppose that she might bring herself to submit to the offices of a nurse for the sake of the provision and security of a wife. In his marrying such a woman, therefore, there would be nothing unsuitable. It would be a compact of convenience, and the world would be satisfied. In my eyes it would be no marriage at all, but that would be nothing. To me it would seem only a commercial exchange, in which each wished to be benefitted at the expense of the other." Marianne, the speaker, is at the ripe age of seventeen, and a mature woman! Now we look on a girl of seventeen as a child. One of the best things in this modern life is that people, women especially, stay young for a much longer period of their life.

LIGHT COLORS ARE COOL

When you put on a white dress, or a light colored one, on a hot summer day, people are apt to say how cool you look. You will do more than look cool, you will actually feel cooler in your white dress than if you were wearing a dark colored one. Dark colors absorb the sun's rays and make you feel hotter — whereas white and light colors deflect the rays and actually make you cooler. So it is more than imagination that makes you feel more comfortable in light clothes in hot weather. It is well to remember this when choosing summer apparel.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

A piece of cake with crushed strawberries and whipped cream on it may be a very nice dessert, but it is not honest-to-goodness strawberry shortcake. That must have biscuit dough. Most people like to make the dough a little richer than for biscuits, and some like to add egg. Here is a recipe for a rich, slightly sweetened dough for those of you who like that type in your shortcake.

2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 eggs, 5 tablespoons milk.

Sift the ingredients, rub in the butter, add milk to the beaten egg and mix with dry ingredients. Roll on floured board and shape to either large or individual cakes. Bake in a hot oven of 450 degrees.

A FRUIT BUNNY

Food at children's parties should be simple. A bunny made from fruit is a novelty which will appeal to a child. Arrange each bunny on a plate. First put a half-pear (canned) on a lettuce leaf, putting the flat side down. Make the narrow end the head. Put ears of blanched almonds, eyes of currants and a bit of cherry for the mouth. Make a marshmallow tail. Mould some tiny carrots of cream cheese and there is your rabbit, complete with lettuce and carrots.

Advice to Young Brides : Never Carry a Grudge

June weddings bring plenty of advice to the newly-weds. Here is my five cents' worth. Never carry a grudge. You cannot have a happy home with one member out of humor. Women are most apt to stay that way. A man goes out to work, and work or fresh scenes crowd out the home difficulties. Women stay at home and can brood over affairs while they are working. If you can learn never to carry a grudge over to the next meeting, you have made a long step towards happiness. Your feelings are hurt, your pride touched, and you feel justified in your crossness. If your desire for happiness is greater than your love of self, you can learn to drop your grudge and be good-tempered at your next meeting. That does not mean to make a doormat of yourself, for no one respects or loves a doormat, not even families. Say what needs to be said and be done with it. And usually there is much less need to be said than is said. Treat your mind and feelings as if they were a slate and sponge them clean. Start fresh. That way lies happiness.

Movie Survey Shows Love-Scene Holds Highest Interest

Hollywood's long-standing suspicion that the American moviegoer gets a bigger thrill out of love scenes than anything else on the screen, has received scientific confirmation.

Close on the heels of love interest in the movie fan's favor is comedy, according to a survey made by Director Andrew Stone among university students. Answers to his questionnaire revealed that in the ideal motion picture the appeal elements would be allotted on a percentage basis as follows: Love, 20; comedy, 15; adventure, 12; stars, 11; action, 11; mystery, 9; novelty, 8; beauty, 7; tragedy, 3; music, 2; realism, 1, and technique.

HOUSE AND HOME

PICNIC DRINK

Picnics will soon be in full swing with lemonade in demand. So if you keep a good supply of simple syrup on hand you can make the picnic beverage sweetened to taste without waiting for the sugar to dissolve — a long process in cold water. Boil two parts sugar with one part water for five minutes to make simple syrup. Cool and store in a covered container in refrigerator.

Despite the fact that copper and bronze screening is non-rusting and long-lived, it has the drawback of discoloring painted surfaces when water drips from it. Of course, if your house is painted with a lead paint the stain usually can be washed off with ammonia water. On a paint containing zinc, however, the stain can be removed only by repainting. In order to avoid this unsightly staining, have the screens covered with a thin coating of varnish which has been diluted with an equal amount of linseed oil and turpentine.

To keep a tree even edge, free from weeds or grass, along your walks sprinkle with a strong brine made with rock salt. If grass grows between flagstones pour the brine on in a thin stream.

SUMMER TABLES

Hundreds of ideas are at hand for glamorous summer tables. Girl graduates, brides and summer guests are to be feted and there should be a special table for each occasion. Make the table for the sweet girl graduate youthfully simple but colorful and modern. Use crisp fresh daisies for the flowers, working them into a daisy chain to wreath the center of the table. Choose gay linens in the class colors and for place cards have tiny diplomas tied with narrow white satin ribbon. A lovely table for a bride is arranged on gleaming white damask. A pair of vases holding lilies of the valley flank a tiny prie-dieu placed on a table mirror between tall burning tapers in low holders of silver or crystal. A mid-guest bride's bouquet is put at each guest's place.

Athletic Girls

Guelph Mercury

The athletic girl of today is a delight to the eye. The freedom of movement and grace of carriage are acquired by carefully planned sports, a freedom our grandmothers would have liked to enjoy.

There may be occasions when exercising is overdone, to the detriment of health and home life, but when the happy medium is observed exercise, whether golf, bowling, softball, swimming, tennis and a host of other games all tend to the mental and physical development of the modern girl, who is the equal in every way of the girls of every generation that has passed and gone.

Notes from the Studios

STRIKING PLAID IN LAMOUR'S WARDROBE

Bold plaids are among Hollywood's smartest spring style highlights. Dorothy Lamour, Paramount's star, has a striking daytime outfit in her personal wardrobe. The fabric is a rich, crinkled crepe in the new mustard shade with a large plaid marking of dark green and red. The straight dress has short sleeves, cut severely, and a collarless, high neckline. A seven-eighths length coat of the same material, unlined, hangs loosely from the shoulders with a conspicuous absence of belting. Dorothy's hat is a shallow-crowned, broad-brimmed rough straw of burnt toast color and is held to the head by a chin tie of red veiling.

SWEATER AND SKIRT NOW SOPHISTICATED

PERFECT FIGURE

REDUCING EXERCISE

Dance routines in Paramount's "College Swing" were so strenuous that chorus girls lost from 10 to 15 pounds during the filming of the picture.

One-Hand Speed Typist

An accident three years ago made it necessary to amputate Lena La Commare's right arm, which would discourage most girls from becoming a typist. But Lena, 17 now, and senior in a Chicago high school, has developed a one-hand typewriting system which enables her to keep pace with her classmates.

The DOCTOR Tells the Story

SUPERSTITIONS!

It is strange indeed, what hobgoblins populate the brain of simple individuals. I am certain that the most superstitious person I ever knew was Nora Cavanaugh. She and her husband, a day laborer, came from Ireland and brought with them all the beliefs current there about fairies, elfs, signs, and symbols. According to their stories they had seen and heard the Banshee — that imaginary creature — whose blood curdling howl precedes death — and even met fairies, at night along the roads of the Emerald Isle. Friday was a day of terror for them. To spill salt was a dangerous incident. If a hat, a cloak or coat was left on the bed it doomed the owner to sickness. They worked hard and saved a little money, buying a small house. Nora was perhaps the best washerwoman in the neighborhood and her husband a handy man with a pick and shovel. They had ten children.

Her Old Age Secret

One morning Patrick, the husband, said to me "Doctor, go by the house today. Nora expects a new baby and was complaining this morning." In the afternoon I visited Nora and to my utter surprise found her washing clothes. "I thought you were expecting a new arrival this morning, Nora?" "Sure, he's here!" she nonchalantly remarked — "over there on the bed." And she continued bending over the tub and scrubbing board. Later in the year I was called to their home, because Patrick was ill. I arrived in the midst of a terrific rain storm, accompanied with much lightning and thunder. Opening the door I entered the place but saw no one about. Calling their names, two voices replied: "Here we are, under the bed." I asked "What in the world are you doing there?" "Feather mattresses protect you from lightning. We always crawl under the bed when it is lightning," was their childlike answer. They both lived to be more than 85 years of age and to their dying days clung to the superstitious beliefs they inherited, and always maintained that these beliefs were responsible for their long lives and contentment.

INFLUX OF PATRONS AND EXHIBITORS; ANNUAL COUNTY FAIR NOW IN FULL SWING

Oddfellows Win By Close Margin, Tied for Finals

A closely matched game between the Brownsburg United and I.O.O.F. carpet bowling teams brought the season's schedule to a conclusion Tuesday evening. The engagement was played at the Oddfellows' Hall, Lachute, and after close scoring to the final ends, the home team emerged victors with an aggregate score of 10-8.

Lachute United and I.O.O.F. are now tied in the season's standing, and these two teams will play off for final honors. Players and scores in Tuesday's game appear on page five.

Automobile Burned on Road to Lake Louisa

Motoring to Lake Louisa last Thursday (King's Birthday) Dr. L. P. Ereaux, a regular visitor from Montreal, met misfortune in the last precarious stage of the road, known as Betty's Hill. The steep incline presented no difficulty for his new Dodge car, purchased only a month previously, but fumes of burning rubber caused the driver to stop and investigate, by which time flames were bursting through the floor of the auto. There was no water supply at hand, and although the driver threw sand on the blaze, the car was soon enveloped in flames. Towed to Lachute by a wrecking truck, only the engine, chassis and front tires could be salvaged. Garage attendants believed the outbreak had resulted from damaged or defective wiring. Loss of the auto was covered by fire insurance.

ASSOCIATION OF "ONE HUNDRED" CLUBS HOLDS ANNUAL CONVENTION TODAY AT MacDONALD LAKE

MANY DELEGATES AND VISITORS PRESENT

Realizing a desire expressed at last year's convention in Montreal, Hundred Club delegates from Ontario and Quebec are visiting Lachute during Fair Week and holding their annual conference here, thus achieving two pleasurable purposes in one visit. Scene of the convention is MacDonald Lake House, a hostelry pleasantly situated in one of Argenteuil's beauty spots. Sessions commenced this morning and are continuing all afternoon, the annual election of officers for the Association of One Hundred Clubs being an item of importance in the day's program. Tonight, under arrangement of the Lachute Club a banquet and dance will be held, with visiting performers and other features of entertainment. Representatives are present from the Hundred Clubs in Montreal, Ottawa, Perth, Almonte, Winchester and Carleton Place. Several arrived in Lachute last evening and a number will stay till the closing of the Fair. The gathering at MacDonald Lake for this evening's banquet is expected to number around 150 persons.

Trans-Canada Highway, Lachute to Grenville, Is Delight to Motorists

Brownsburg — So much has been said and written derogatory to the roads in this district that it is a pleasant change to report the progress which has been made on the Trans-Canada Highway on the section outside Lachute to Hawkesbury. This section is a delight to behold and is a telling example of what can be done in highway construction with determined application and, of course, considered expenditure. When this highway was first mooted, someone said "Our country is a nation of separated localities. A road linking them all together more closely would not only be a wonderful bond but think how it would spread the money tourists bring into Canada." A quarter of a billion dollars speeds into Canada every year on wheels. It is distributed only over the sections which have good roads. There are many towns and villages that never see a touring car. With good roads linking them to the big cities, these hamlets would grow

Ontario Viewpoint On Ottawa River Fishing

(Pembroke Standard-Observer)

The Quebec government has never stocked the Ottawa river, this work has been done by the Ontario government by putting in thousands of bass and pickerel, and yet if a resident of Ontario is caught fishing on the Quebec side of the channel in the river he is liable to a fine.

Whose bass and pickerel are these anyway? They were placed in the water by the Ontario government, they may be on the Ontario side of the channel one minute, and on the Quebec side the next. This fool law should be changed, and it is up to those who represent the ridings in Ontario and Quebec, bordering on the river, to take this matter up with the respective governments.

The Argenteuil Agricultural Society is now viewing with confidence the culmination of its 112th exhibition, which opened yesterday with the prospect of fair weather ahead, and continues with bumper performances until its close on Saturday evening. Lachute Fair, among the rural exhibitions in Canada, has no superior in points of equipment, grounds and quality of exhibits, and the large entry list betokens the keenest competition in all lines.

Two large stables providing 80 additional stalls have been erected, yet every stall is filled to capacity. Fine displays of commercial horses are shown by Harrison Bros., Strachan's and Toilet Laundries, from Montreal.

Light horse judging of all grades, Canadian bred, and Coach breeds, occupied last evening's program with Dr. Fowler of Guelph in charge of the judging. On Friday, the Registered Percherons, Clydes and Belgians will contest their merits, and Saturday will be devoted to the special prize list, with free-for-all trotting races. Mr. George Hay is ring-master for the horse entries and assures that all events are being held on time.

As usual, Gilbert Arnold, of Grenville, most prominent horse breeder in this county, is present with a fine showing of 55 Percherons, Belgians, Clydes and French Canadians. The Dawes Black Horses are also on hand, with D. Greig in charge, and in both horse and cattle class entries are booked from the finest farmers and fanciers in the surrounding areas of Ontario and Quebec.

INDUSTRIAL AND TRADE SHOW DRAWS CROWDS TO MAIN BUILDING

In the Main Exhibition Building, the Cottingham Supply Company again exemplifies its slogan, "Everything to Build Anything," and has its space devoted to various products in the building industry — under supervision of Robert Miller.

Albani Lamarche, local furniture dealer, has an interesting display of radios, stoves, washing machines, refrigerators and C.C.M. bicycles.

General Electric Company, in collaboration with the Gathenau Power, with Mr. J. A. Gosselin in charge, has a fine showing of electrical products for lightening the duties of the home-maker.

Important among the educational exhibits upstairs is that of the Dominion Department of Agriculture in which particular reference is made to the grades, and to the importance of grading of creamery butter. This structure is 28 feet long, divided into three sections, each featuring a phase of the general topic.

One of the most interesting exhibits to be seen at the Fair is the display by Canadian Industries Limited, which includes a comprehensive line of fertilizers, seed disinfectants and sprays, together with sporting ammunition — the latter line being the product of the Ammunition Division plant at Brownsburg. The fertilizer display is supervised by Mr. J. McMaster of Montreal.

The Ayers Limited lay-out, which draws admiring comment from visitors every year, is as attractive as ever. On the sidelines, one hears enthusiastic approval as spectators view this colorful display of blankets, overthrows and rugs in various shades and weaves. These goods, built on quality, are a source of local pride, being of home manufacture.

Attractive displays have been arranged by the Ogilvie Flour Mills, represented by Mr. Paul Beauchamp, and Canada Packers, with Messrs. Paul Petersham and J. Levesque in charge, their booths being very tastefully arranged.

Bell & Sons, manufacturers of veterinary medicines, and cattle minerals for all livestock, also have a convincing display, while the De Laval Company features separators and equipment of special interest to the farmer.

New 100 Million Dollar Housing Scheme Is Termed "Challenge to Building Industry"

Govt. to Assist Payment Municipal and School Taxes on New Low-Cost Homes

"The Ottawa Spotlight" By "Spectator".

Ottawa, June 14th. — The new Housing Act, now before the Parliament at Ottawa, aims to promote a building program of 100 million dollars during a three-year period. Of this amount, about 80 million will be paid out in wages, which will aid the unemployment situation very materially. The Government during the three years will advance (with lending companies) 60 million dollars to aid in the construction of low cost housing and 30 million for low rental house construction.

LOW RENTAL HOUSING

The Dominion will lend to municipalities 90 per cent of the amount required for low rental house construction, the municipalities providing the other ten per cent either in land or some other way. The Dominion will charge 2 per cent per annum on these loans to the municipalities. If the municipalities secure the co-operation of corporations (who limit their dividends to five per cent) the Dominion will charge only 1% on their loans, but the corporations will have to subscribe 20 per cent of the cost of the project. If a municipality carries out the project through its own housing commission the Dominion loan will have to be guaranteed by the provincial government. When the municipality is working through a limited dividend corporation, no such guarantee will be required, but the municipality must make provision for the payment of the interest on the Dominion loan. The low rental buildings must be leased to families of small incomes, and the "rental charged must not be more than one-

County Council to Elect Wardens in September

ROUTINE MATTERS BEFORE QUARTERLY SESSION OF COUNCILLORS

The regular meeting of the County Council was held in the Court House here on Wednesday last, June 8th. L. Adamson, Warden and Mayor of the Township of Wentworth, presided.

On a motion of Councillor Walker, seconded by Councillor Roy, it was decided that a grant of $500 be made for the year 1938 to the Agricultural Society.

It was moved by Councillor Stanforth, seconded by Councillor Legault, that the Warden and Secretary be authorized to borrow up to $2,500 to pay accounts due and to become due, at interest not to exceed 5%.

Councillor Seale moved, and Councillor Stanforth seconded, that the election of the Warden be held in September instead of March, the next County Warden to be chosen at the September meeting in 1939.

MORIN HEIGHTS AND ECHO LAKE RESIDENTS MEET TO ORGANIZE MUNICIPAL ASSOCIATION

PURPOSE TO COLLABORATE WITH COUNCILLORS FOR COMMUNITY BETTERMENT

PROF. MCKERGOW OF MCGILL ELECTED PRESIDENT

Morin Heights — On Saturday evening at Davis' Hall, Morin Heights, following an invitation of Major Green, a large gathering of electors of the municipality assembled to learn of the aims and objects and to decide upon the advisability of the organization of a Municipal Association.

Dr. Victor Jekill, a property holder in several sections of the municipality and son of its earliest pioneer family, was chosen on this account to assume the chair.

The chairman stressed the necessity for speedy and comprehensive action to deal with the new problem presented by a steady and rapid increase in the district's population by vacationists from nearby urban centres. Further, that a keener understanding of the requirements and needs of these residents could best be acquired by a close intercourse between the local members and the Echo Lake residents. The fact that the election date for the municipality's councillors has been changed from mid-winter to July, was a definite evidence of the Council's desire to enlist added support for the city residents.

It was felt that the proposed organization could amplify materially any anticipated benefits and provide

COMMUNITY PROBLEMS ARE GENERAL TOPIC IN BROWNSBURG

Brownsburg —

The question of water supply which has been agitating the minds of the Corporation is reflected, as indeed it should be, in the mind of the "man in the street." The scheme has now taken a more concrete form and a definite end looms in view. With the availability of low interest money and the assistance of the Provincial Government the present Corporation are presented with a very favourable set of circumstances to enable them to see the matter through. They are to be congratulated for the expediency and initiative with which they devoted themselves to this very pressing problem, and we trust that their efforts will be crowned with success.

The question of parking cars on the main street of Brownsburg is becoming an ever increasing source of difficulty to merchants and pedestrians alike. With the best of intentions the Council has been slow to move in the matter, but at the last meeting definite steps were taken to remedy the confusion which at times exists. It is proposed to debar car owners from parking on that side of the street adjoining the stores and provide for suitable space on the opposite or north side by continuing the asphalt surface right to the wall of the Club premises. The purpose of the present ditch, which runs alongside this wall, will be taken care of by a depressed channel asphalted over.

bound to keep results a secret until all polls in Canada were closed.

Five time-zones in Canada allow for a difference of four hours between British Columbia and the Maritimes. Voters on the West Coast may go to the polls knowing how some voters in the Maritime Provinces have voted.

Maritime members expressed some doubt that eastern voters would wait four hours to hear results, which would be the case if the present hours of polling remain and secrecy is insisted on.

Would Withhold Election Results Till Returns in From All Provinces

The House of Commons special committee on electoral matters has agreed that it is unfair voters in Western Canada should go to the polls in a general election knowing the general trend of results in the east.

Members believed people like to vote for the winners and that many votes, especially in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, were influenced by reports of voting in the east.

The committee unanimously adopted a resolution opposing the publication of any federal election results until the polls have closed in all parts of Canada. There were three chief suggestions as to how this might be done. The three suggestions were:

That polls should close at the same time in all parts of Canada.
That counting of the ballots should be delayed until the same time.
That election officers should be

Cheese Box Wood Is Used As Brake Lining

An Ontario garage owner tells of an ingenious device of settlers of remote Hastings and Peterborough county districts to replace worn-out motor-car brakes. A strip of wood is taken from a cheese box, soaked in hot water until pliable, then wrapped around the brake drum where it soon fits into shape. The garage man said this "brake lining" is fairly satisfactory, though not completely safe.

At a meeting of the waterworks committee, held on Wednesday, Messrs. Barron and Lafleur were appointed to view land required to be appropriated; Messrs. MacKimmie and Mitchell were to interview owners of the present waterworks and secure analysis of water.

A steam yacht for the North River is being talked of by several of our citizens. It would be a paying investment and decidedly useful for picnics.

Mr. J. C. Wilson does not intend waiting for the waterworks. Last Friday, Mr. Perry, representing C. Buchan & Company, of Montreal, was here taking measurements for the purpose of installing a fire service for the paper mill. Several large pumps have arrived and will throw a strong stream to any part of the building, from three hydrants placed in front of the mill.

Mr. Hamelin is about to build a mill in which to manufacture brown paper. The mill will be managed by Mr. Ford, late of Mr. Wilson's mill. Two water wheels arrived this week.

The many friends of Violet Joss will rejoice with her at the distinctive merit just attained in leading the teachers in training at Macdonald College and receiving the Prince of Wales Gold Medal. Among others who gained diplomas were Lulu Burke, Bessie MacGibbon and Winnifred Banford.

The School Commissioners were pleasantly surprised when Commissioner E. H. Wilson, after making enquiries about the furniture of the school, generously offered $200, with an invitation to call for more if needed, to secure modern, up-to-date desks for one room in which the old desks are still giving service. The expense of the seating of the entire school, with exception of one small room, has been borne by Mr. Wilson and his father, the late J. C. Wilson.

Mr. John Hay has just received a shipment of Clydesdale fillies from Scotland.

Spiritual Salesmanship

Last week, seven mayors of boroughs in the East End of London, England, representatives of one of the most truly working class communities in the world, invited several thousands of their friends to meet a man whose name is known in all corners of the world — writes James Fairlie, overseas correspondent to the Ottawa Citizen.

This man is Dr. Frank Buchman, the founder of the Oxford Group, and the party was held to celebrate his 60th birthday.

One of the most widely travelled of men, he has a chain of friends all round the world. Having no permanent home himself, he is at home with people of all races, classes and countries. All come to him alike, princes and statesmen, old and young, the privileged, the under-privileged and the workless. He has a genius for making friends.

His philosophy is simple but revolutionary. He believes that human nature can be changed.

"Everybody," he says, "wants to see the other fellow changed. Every nation wants to see the other nation changed. But everybody is waiting for the other fellow to begin. The Oxford Group is convinced that if you want an answer to the troubled world, the place to start is with yourself."

Soon there travelled out from Oxford teams of men and women to South Africa, Canada, America, Norway, Denmark and Holland. A new spirit spread like a prairie fire through the life of these nations, bringing new happiness to homes, new co-operation into industry and politics, and a new determination to the man in the street to live and work for the good of his country.

Mr. R. B. Bennett, former prime minister of Canada, said that the influence of the Oxford Group has been felt in every town and village in the Dominion. Frank Buchman toured Canada late in 1932 with a team of 32, mostly from Britain. In March, 1934, he returned with an international team of 100 men and crossed the continent from Halifax to Victoria. Dr. Buchman has friends in every corner of the Dominion and was made a blood brother of the tribe of the Stoney Indians. Mr. Bennett gave a luncheon at Ottawa in 1932 for members of the cabinet to meet him, and again saw him during the visit two years later.

Frank Buchman has given himself tirelessly to bring about the spiritual reawakening of Britain and the Empire. Life for him is made up of people. With letters on his desk from leaders of nations who look to him and his team of "spiritual revolutionaries" to bring hope to their countries, he still has time to make friends of even the humblest workers.

While he is a welcome guest in some of the oldest homes in England

"Frank" is equally at home among his friends in the humdrum streets of East London. He judges men by their ability and readiness to lead others.

Frank Buchman is a statesman who has a strategy for saving the world from collapse. The secret of his strategy is his habit of rising early in the morning to listen to God. In these early moments, God gives him direction for the busy day ahead, and he leaves his whole life in the quiet assurance that God is guiding all his steps.

How to Ruin a Car Radio

The common practice of many motorists of starting their engine while the car radio is operating, is fraught with definite danger to the delicate mechanism of the receiving set.

It is not generally known, according to radio engineers, that the sudden diverting of battery current from the radio to the starting motor may cause fusing of the delicate points of the vibrator, with consequent permanent damage to the set. Many mechanics make a practice of warning all their customers against this common and dangerous error of "starting the car to music."

Mysterious losses of muskrat traps in the marshes near Sapaw, Ont. were explained when trackmen working on the Canadian National Railway spur heard a celestial tinkling, and looking upward they saw a great blue heron flying overhead with a trap and chain dangling from its outstretched legs. It was the second incident of its kind within a few weeks. Evidently the big marsh birds had stumbled into traps set for muskrats.

WEAK IN FAITH

The rector of the parish church was asked to pray for rain. He asked his farmer churchwarden if he thought such a prayer would be fitting.

The answer was: "Well, you can say it if you like, sir, but I tell you it will be no use w' th' wind in this quarter."

The 1904 Pontiac

Very few owners of up-to-date Pontiac motor cars are aware that automobiles bearing the same name were chugging and sputtering up and down the roads of America as far back as 1904 or '05. Although they bore no relation whatever to the present Pontiac cars or organization these ancient vehicles had made automotive history long before the present Pontiac appeared on the market in 1926.

A two-cylinder engine, buggy-type dashboard and steel rimmed wheels were the features of this early one-seater. The pride and joy which the owner may have felt in his Pontiac horseless carriage was tempered however, by this warning note in the manual which went with the car: "Pride means getting chesty, and just because you can drive up a lane without tearing down fences, don't start hunting for hard stunts." The book also warned against fractured arms in cranking and difficulty in climbing hills.

County Museums

(Municipal World, Ontario)

From time to time it has been suggested that each county should have its museum for the housing of local treasures for which there would be no room in our great provincial museum. The opening by His Honor the Lieutenant Governor of a museum at Perth, Ontario, has brought this matter once more to mind. During recent years when the big houses in small towns and villages have been closed because the older people have died off and the younger members of the family have gravitated to the cities, the need for such local museums has increased tenfold. We can think of many valuable things lost to posterity because the inheritors were huddled in a city flat, their possessions reduced, perforce, to a minimum. Priceless documents have been burned, along with spinning wheels and looms; furniture, examples of the art of early craftsmen, have either been broken or, worse fate, have gone into the house of some city millionaire, their story unknown, the tradition of workmanship which they might have kept alive, lost to generations coming on. We congratulate Perth and the county in which it is situated on the vision and the public spirit that have prompted the creation of this storehouse of local history.

"The United States, like the rest of the world, has to face the uncertainties of the future, and they are grave uncertainties." Evangeline Booth.

TOO LATE

"There's a boy named John Simpson working here. I'm his grandfather. May I see him?"

LAST REQUESTS

Timid Little Referee: "Now the last thing I wish is any unpleasantness."

Burly Footballer: "Any more last wishes?"

fifth of the total income of such a family." A low rental house will not be rented to a family whose income is five times as much as the economic rental of the house. There are various other provisions in relation to the low rental housing but these are briefly some of the main features. The interest rate charges cover amortization as well. The payment of interest over a 34 or 35 year period will repay the loan.

LOW COST HOUSES OWNED BY INDIVIDUALS

There has been a housing act in operation since 1935, and under it loans have been made totalling 17 million dollars. The present bill aims at removing certain deficiencies which have become apparent in the 1935 measure. Under the present bill, loans up to 80 per cent will be made on houses costing over $2,500 and up to 90 per cent on houses costing less than $2,500. Of these loans, the Dominion will lend 25 per cent and private lending companies 75 per cent. As in the 1935 act the rate on these loans will be 5 per cent. The Dominion will guarantee private lending companies against losses on their pooled loans of 90 per cent up to 25 per cent and on the pooled loans of 80 per cent up to 20 per cent. The Dominion will also make certain allowances to companies on loans made in remote districts. In the case of houses costing less than $3,000, the Dominion will pay all the first year municipal and school taxes (local improvement taxes not being included), for the second year it will pay 50 per cent of these taxes and for the third 25 per cent. These tax payments, it is estimated, may amount to about 5 million dollars.

This 100 million dollar national housing scheme was called by the Minister of Finance, who is its sponsor, a "challenge" to the building industry. If the aim of this measure is achieved, it may well prove one of the most important pieces of legislation passed in the present session; it may, indeed, be a landmark in the struggle against unemployment and for economic rehabilitation. But to gain its end it needs more than the approval of Parliament. As the Minister stated in the House, it needs the whole-hearted co-operation of provinces and municipalities, of the building industry, and of institutions to whom the people have entrusted their savings. It needs also the co-operation of the people of Canada.

With this housing scheme, coupled with the 30 million dollar loan plan for self liquidating projects in municipalities and the various projects covered in supplementary estimates, the unemployment relief measures of the present session are probably well rounded out. The unemployment insurance measure cannot be put through this session, as some provinces still hesitate about giving the Dominion the constitutional power to pass the legislation. This form of social legislation, which has been in force in Britain for a generation, will have to remain a dead letter until the provinces agree to the needed constitutional amendment. The principles on which the present session's unemployment relief program are based are consistently shown in the various measures which have been presented to Parliament. Through grants or through the extension of the Dominion's credit facilities, it is aimed to give encouragement to projects on which there is a likelihood of a maximum return in the form of employment. Inflationary measures and economic experiments of the kind attempted with such indifferent success in the United States are avoided. In formulating the policy, a wary eye has been kept on the carrying power of that heavily laden beast of burden, the federal treasury. The extent to which the various measures meet with success will largely depend on the sympathetic support and encouragement of the various members of the federal family.

Skull of Franz Haydn to Be Restored to His Burial Place

The skull of Franz Joseph Haydn, 18th century Austrian composer, is to be restored to the rest of the body from which it was separated 129 years ago. Mayor Hermann Neubacher of Vienna has ordered the skull, for years the property of the Vienna Men's Singing Society, returned to the resting place of the body in the Burgenland town of Eisenstadt. Haydn died in 1809 at the age of 77. Two days after his funeral, the skull was stolen from his coffin.

24 Hours on First Job, Half Century on Second

It was in the spring of 1888 that Robert Johnson embarked on his railway career. He lasted 24 hours and was fired. Nothing daunted, the 15-year-old lad was back the next day, this time under a new foreman. He lasted 50 years on his second try. Now he is retiring from the post of roadmaster of the C.N.R. at North Battleford, Sask. Railroaders gathered from all over northern Saskatchewan to pay him tribute.

THE LIBERAL SMOKE-SCREEN

To every unbiased observer, the Quebec Liberals embracing the cause of women's franchise must suggest a flavor of "last straw" tactics. The party which, during its long-unchallenged regime in Quebec, made no gesture to recognize women as voters — and which repaid their pleas with nothing but an idle promise of "consideration" — that party now lifts a banner to the feminine cause!

Surely such concessions must be born of desperation . . . But is it good enough? We believe that Quebec women would prefer to fight on the merits of their case, not as a pretext to win Liberal votes. Let the old party stick to its policies: at least they were genuine.

RELIEF PROBLEM

From a town in northern Saskatchewan comes a story, aptly retold in The Printed Word, which illustrates some of the difficulties of administering unemployment relief. In 1933 a Polish laborer and his family, consisting of a wife and four children, applied for and obtained a relief allowance. The allowance still had to be paid in 1934, at an increased rate, due to the arrival of another little Ivanovski, plus a capital outlay of $120 for the expense of bringing him into the world.

When $120 accounts had again to be paid in 1935 and 1936, the relief administrator decided that the Ivanovski expense was getting beyond the town's resources. After a little detective work he discovered that there was in Winnipeg another Ivanovski who had a small contracting business and could be induced to provide a job for his Saskatchewan brother. Relief funds were drawn upon to pay the railway fare of the father and it was understood that as soon as he got established he would move his wife and seven children to Winnipeg.

Months passed and nothing was heard of Ivanovski senior. The relief administrator made further inquiries in Winnipeg, found that his man was working and earning good wages, and accordingly in March, 1937, Mr. Ivanovski returned to Saskatchewan under escort to face a charge of non-support. The morning after his arrival, the magistrate issued an order that in future he would pay $11 a week to his eight dependents. Next day he returned to his Winnipeg job.

At the date of writing, Mr. Ivanovski, who is evidently a poor correspondent, has neither written to his wife nor sent her money. But the Saskatchewan town is hesitant about taking further legal action. Last December there was another $120 medical account to pay.

THE TEST OF A FISHERMAN

A novel contest to be staged by the Anglers' Club of St. Petersburg, Florida, sets the supreme test of sportsmanship. It's the "one that got away" contest, in which the trophy is given to the angler catching the greatest number of tarpon and immediately releasing the fish unharmed. Each contestant will be taken at his word — a condition which sets a sharp restraint upon the imagination — and a measure on a man's veracity which is not generally displayed in the description of fishing exploits.

ANTIQUATED BY LAWS

Somebody has been unearthing a lot of old by-laws in the City of Chicago and finds that if you rent a livery stable buggy in the Windy City and it breaks down, you don't have to pay for the damage. You can drive cows on Chicago streets between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., but there must not be more than five cows in the herd. Bears may not run at large in Chicago, and women bathers must wear bloomer spits not shorter than four inches above the knee, and the tops must have quarter-arm sleeves or close-fitting armholes. Women also must not wear hat-pins with points exposed while riding on street cars; washing clothes in public places is forbidden, and it is also prohibited to install a hitching post for horses within five feet of a tree.

RESIDENTS MEET TO ORGANIZE MORIN HTS. MUNICIPAL ASSOCIATION

even greater scope for co-operative endeavor. It was emphasized by the chairman that the success of the enterprise depended entirely upon the association's being representative of the combined ideas of the French-Canadian, local and city members, and working for the achievement of each faction's ambitions to the best interests of the community. The fine spirit of confidence which the French-Canadian members had ever displayed toward the council, made the task easier and should be an element greatly cherished and nurtured.

The local residents could not afford to discount the value of the contribution of sports enthusiasts and nature lovers to the progress of the community and the livelihood of its inhabitants. Unemployment and relief is unknown in this municipality, and those who have to live in the midst of its demoralizing influence would shut it out as a plague.

Mayor J. E. Seale expressed his sympathy with the aims of the proposed association and pledged his generous support and co-operation in its development. Words of encouragement were likewise voiced by the four local council men present.

A substantial representation was made of the interests of the people of Echo Lake by a large turn-out of its members. Hugh Miller and W. W. King, of Westmount and Echo Lake, spoke for this delegation and were eager to express to the mayor and council their appreciation for the lively attention they have ever displayed in their interests. Mr. Miller and Mr. King both favoured the organization of the association. They offered their support for whatever might be required of them to advance the aims and ideals of the new organization. At this point Professor McKergow, of McGill University, made a motion that the Morin Heights Municipal Association be formed, and that the officers be elected to lay out its work.

Professor McKergow was elected president; Victor Jekill, vice-president; Major J. W. Green, secretary-treasurer. These men, supported by a committee of three local residents, constituted the executive.

The first item of business was to obtain suitable candidates for nomination at the forthcoming municipal election. A motion was made to have an invitation extended to Mr. Hugh Miller and Mr. W. W. King to run for election as representatives on the council.

The new president then spoke briefly of the future. He invited all electors to a meeting on Saturday, July 2nd, at nine p.m., where free expression to constructive views would be most welcome. The meeting was then adjourned.

DESCRIBED PROCESS OF PLY-WOOD MANUFACTURE AT LACHUTE MILLS PLANT

J. RIST PROVED INTERESTING SPEAKER BEFORE MEMBERS OF HUNDRED CLUB

Members of the One Hundred Club were given a fine insight into one of Lachute's industrial institutions as they gathered at their semi-monthly meeting at Desjardins Hotel and listened to an address by Mr. J. Rist, mechanical superintendent of the veneer plant at the Dominion Shuttle Company, who was guest speaker of the evening.

Mr. Rist graphically explained the process of making wood veneer and ply-wood boxes, illustrating his talk with many photographs and samples. He told of boiling the logs in order to bring them to equal consistency, so that there would be no hard or soft spots, while obtaining equal thickness. The logs went through the "barking" process and from there to the lathe for turning, from seven thousandths to three-eighths of an inch, 60 different thicknesses being obtainable on the two machines.

From the time the veneer comes from the lathe it never touches the floor of the plant, but is carried through on platform skids and jack-lift trucks. From the lathe it goes to the mechanical dryers, one being 18 feet long, the other 24 feet. The veneer enters the "wet end" with a moisture content of 75 to 80 per cent, coming out at the "dry end" with only 5 per cent in the short space of 2 1/2 to 9 minutes, depending upon thickness of the veneer. Here it is ready for the glueing operation. Coarse stock, for centre of the ply-wood, is then fed through a mechanical glue-spreader, which spreads glue on both sides simultaneously. Afterwards it is put between 1/8-inch cauls, 30 pieces between cauls, and 120 pieces to a bale. It then passes to the hydraulic press where it receives pressure of about 100 lbs. to the square inch, afterwards being put in retaining clamps and allowed to set from 8 to 10 hours until dry. Here it is opened and goes to the equalizing source, where it is trimmed to size, and is passed along to a two-color printing machine where various kinds of advertising may be printed upon it. The last stage is the nailing, in which cleats are driven in the ply-wood by the nailing machines, which drive as many as 24 nails in one stroke and clinch them. The plywood cases are then ready for shipment.

In closing, Mr. Rist stated that the Lachute Mills plant is the finest mill of its kind on the North American continent, with the largest lathe in the Dominion, being 128 inches in length. The machinery is all electrically driven, each machine unit carrying its individual motor, and the entire plant is built for mass production. Mr. Rist spoke enthusiastically of the beautiful Canadian white birch and the handsome figuring of its grain; the straight grained and clear white, he said, are varieties selected for use in the construction of airplanes for the export market.

YOUR BANKER CANNOT PERFORM MIRACLES

There would be more banks than grocery stores all over Canada if banks could perform the miracle of "creating" the means of payment out of nothing.

It is easy to confuse these two things:

- (a) The business of commercial banking, and
- (b) Control of a nation's monetary system.

Commercial banking has to do with the safe-keeping and lending of money and credit.

Control of a monetary system is a matter of national, governmental policy.

Chartered banks finance production and commerce.

Monetary policy in any country is a matter for the national government itself, either directly, or through a central bank.

The Dominion Parliament established Canada's central bank in 1934 — the Bank of Canada. Its purpose was declared by Parliament in the very first paragraph of the Act of Incorporation, as follows:

"To regulate credit and currency in the best interests of the economic life of the nation, to control and protect the external value of the national monetary unit and to mitigate by its influence fluctuations in the general level of production, trade, prices and employment so far as may be possible within the scope of monetary action, and generally to promote the economic and financial welfare of the Dominion."

It is for governments alone to determine a nation's monetary policy. Differing conditions of debt and trade may make what is wise for one country unwise for another.

Printing "tickets" — as currency has been called in some sections — entirely out of step with production would make everything you buy cost you more. A Canadian woman living in Germany during that country's inflation in 1923 had to pay 65,000,000 marks for an overcoat, and later 1,000,000,000 marks for a postage stamp!

The business of commercial banking is something to be considered by itself, apart from central banking.

A commercial bank takes deposits. There are two kinds of them. For convenience, call them "savings" and "current". Say you are a workman, or a farmer. After you've paid your living costs out of your wage, or out of the proceeds of your crop, you have some dollars left over. Because you do not want to spend them at once you deposit them in a savings account.

That is a savings deposit. As distinguished from this is the "current" account. Say you are a merchant. You have expenses to meet day by day and therefore always carry a balance in an account against which you issue cheques for your business needs.

That is a current account. Let us say you have $100 in that account and you need $1,000 to meet some bills. You borrow it from the bank.

You give the manager your note and he places $1,000 to your credit as a deposit in your current account. Immediately your balance goes up to $1,100 — $1,000 of it being derived directly from a loan.

It is unlike a savings deposit in this respect: You intend to spend it at once. You immediately issue cheques against it. You borrowed the money for business purposes, prepared to pay interest because the transaction was a profitable one to you. Soon most of the thousand has been paid out.

For most of the rest of the term of the loan your deposit is at its lowest. Then, before your note is due, you gather money to repay. Up goes your deposit to its peak again.

Then you repay. Your deposit abruptly drops back to say your original $100—plus the profit you have made, by the use of the borrowed money.

No matter whether bank deposits are savings or current, your bank must keep on hand cash reserves adequate to meet any demands from day to day.

When its loans are increased, not only is more cash paid out—as was the case with your $1,000 loan; but your bank's cash reserves also become lower in proportion to total deposits.

A bank must not unduly expand its lending operations, for then its cash will fall below the proportion which experience has shown to be necessary to meet the day-to-day demands of depositors. This very fact serves as an automatic check against excessive lending.

Your bank cannot know just when you will walk in to withdraw your deposit—but it must be ready to pay you, in full, in cash, when you do turn up.

THE CHARTERED BANKS OF CANADA

Your local branch bank manager will be glad to talk banking with you. He will be glad to answer your questions from the standpoint of his own experience. The next article in this series will appear in this newspaper. Watch for it.

AMONG THE LOCAL CHURCHES

Presbyterian Churches, Arundel District

Arundel — Religious services have been resumed in the Presbyterian churches at Crystal Falls, Lake View, and Lost River.

(Times of services announced in the above church notes).

The officiating minister is Mr. Jonathan McCullough Fletcher, B.A., a graduate of McGill University and a native of Ballymena, Co. Antrim, N. Ireland. Mr. Fletcher extends a hearty welcome to these services.

Dean Carlisle Preacher at 50th Anniversary Service, Trinity Church, Calumet

Grenville — Trinity Church, Calumet, was filled to capacity last Sunday, when an exceptionally large congregation gathered for observance of the 50th anniversary of that church. The interior looked beautiful with its ivory woodwork against dark stained walls, a new red carpet in the aisle, a white silk curtain behind the altar and the sunlight streaming through the coloured windows. The handsome new lighting fixtures were not used, but they added greatly to the appearance. The people of the church felt richly rewarded for their labor of love in the past few weeks.

The service was conducted by the Rev. K. N. Brunton, rector, assisted by the Rev. G. H. Wolfendale of Arundel. Mr. Brunton reported that he had received from the former ministers felicitations and best wishes to the congregation on this occasion. The sermon was preached by The Very Rev. A. Carlisle, D.D., Dean of Montreal, who congratulated the congregation, and then spoke of the founding and early growth of the Christian Church. He pointed out that no power could finally defeat the church, and urged greater attention to spiritual things. His sermon was listened to with rapt attention.

The Dean also dedicated a new set of bookmarkers (a gift), the new white curtain, and the new electric wiring and fixtures. A solo, "The Lord is Mindful of His Own," was beautifully rendered by Miss Norma Jackson of Hull, Miss Pearl Dawson being the organist. Quite a number of former residents returned for the occasion, old acquaintances were renewed, and the reunion of old friends added to the happiness of an eventful day.

SALVATION ARMY BAND TO PLAY AT LAWN SOCIAL

The Salvation Army Citadel Band, of Montreal, will be in attendance at the Brownsburg United Church lawn social, held under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary, on Tuesday evening next on the manse lawn. Some twenty instruments will comprise the group, which will form a procession to the grounds. It is hoped weather conditions will permit all the outdoor arrangements for the occasion. The band will play from a carefully constructed stand, giving suitable direction to the music.

Ladies' Auxiliary Entertained Visitors at St. Andrews

St. Andrews East —
The Sub Executive of the Montreal Presbyterial of the Presbyterian Church, also members of the Lachute Auxiliary, were guests of the St. Andrews East Auxiliary on June 8, at a luncheon in the church hall. In the absence of the president, Mrs. R. J. Bradley presided. Mrs. Ballantyne extended a very cordial welcome to the visitors. Mrs. Charles Johnson gave a very fine spiritual address, calling for a deeper consecration of all W.M.S. members in the Master's service. The devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. Dickie, and short addresses were given by Mrs. Scott MacKenzie and Mrs. Harding. The solo, "The Lord is My Shepherd," to a very beautiful setting. Mrs. M. Gall, of Lachute, spoke in appreciation of Mrs. Johnson's message, and thanked the St. Andrews church for extending to them the opportunity of listening to it. A vote of thanks was tendered by Miss M. Hamilton, seconded by Mrs. John Bradley to all those taking part. Tea was poured by Miss Mary Walsh and Mrs. R. Martin and members of the C.G.I.T. served. The meeting was not only a pleasant but also a most profitable one.

"Snow White" Presentation Drew Public Applause

The play, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," presented by the "Little Players of the Air" in Lachute Auditorium last Friday evening, was an entertainment of outstanding merit.

Preceding this presentation, the "Little Players," under the able direction of Miss Moira Sheehy, took part in a "Music Box Revue," which consisted of musical comedy, novelties, dances, comedy sketches and songs.

The players were brought to

'BETTER HOMES' LETTER CONTEST SEEN AS AID TO BUILDING HERE

LITERATURE AVAILABLE AT FAIR BOOTH

Bobbie Miller, of the Cottingham Supply Company, Bethany Road, Lachute, announced today that his firm has been made district headquarters for the $15,000 "Better Homes" prize contest recently announced by Johns-Manville.

Stimulation of home building and home improvement is the objective of this national "Better Homes" movement. Mr. Miller stated, pointing out that liberalization of home financing terms under the Dominion Housing Act and the government-sponsored Home Improvement Plan has made it possible for additional thousands to build new homes or modernize existing ones.

"It is hoped that the thought and study that this contest will inspire will better acquaint Argenteuil citizens with the greatly increased values provided in the home of today and will demonstrate the remarkable things that can be done by modernization," Mr. Miller said. "If by this means, interest of Argenteuil residents is stimulated in the home both as an institution and as a haven of security in which to live, then this whole community will benefit greatly."

Although the contest does not close until July 20, he urged Argenteuil residents to secure entry blanks and rules early so that they can prepare prize-winning letters on the subject "What the word 'home' means to me."

Anyone in Argenteuil and surrounding district who is over 21 and owns a house, or is considering building, is eligible to compete for the 110 prizes totalling $15,000; the award for the best letter will be $10,000.

Judges of the contest are such outstanding figures as Mrs. Roberta C. Lawson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Dwight James Baum, well-known home architect; and Frank W. McDonough, editor of Better Homes and Gardens Magazine.

It is not necessary to buy a product or send in labels or box tops to enter this national better homes contest. It is only necessary for a contestant to read the illustrated "Home Idea Book" on home building, modernization and decorating which has just been published by Johns-Manville, and copies of which are available, together with rules of the contest, at the Cottingham Supply Company, Lachute, or at its booth in the Lachute Exhibition Building.

SING INSTEAD OF SULKING

Mr. Robin Red was singing
Upon an apple tree,
While in the house wee Billy
Was cross, as cross could be.

He could not go outside, you know,
To play with Betty Jane,
Because the wind was blowing hard
And filled with naughty rain.

The birdie sang, but Billy sulked
And said he had no fun,
Until the clouds slipped by, and lo —
Out peeped the jolly sun!

NUTS IN MAY

As Mary enquired her uncle's purpose in bringing them to the woods, he sat down on a high mossy ground and began digging around in the moss. "Here they are!" he cried. "Here is what I wanted to find for you."

As he held up his hand Cora cried "Nuts in May! See, Mary! whole lots of them, too."

Mary knelt down on the moss and took several of the nuts in her hands. "They are nuts of some kind, I suppose," she admitted, "but they are not real nuts I guess, for they are split open, and there's funny stuff creeping right out of them."

"That funny stuff is the beginning of an oak tree, Mary. This big tree whose branches hang high above our heads dropped the nuts last fall. They have lain hidden in this moss all winter, and are now trying to grow up into a big, big tree."

Mary's face held a funny look. "This country of yours, Uncle Ted," she said, "is very interesting. Just imagine holding an oak tree in one's hand. I must write to Marjorie Brown and tell her that I have done that. Won't she think I am telling a tall story!"

"Their uncle showed them Jack-in-the-Pulpit and a great many other interesting things before taking them home. They were just at the top of the hill back of the orchard when the sun said Goodnight, and they stood for some time enjoying the beauty of the sunset."

"Look — look, Uncle Ted, at the small crimson banner away back behind the others. I'll bet it's a teeny-weeny fairy that is carrying that one." Mary shaded her eyes with her hand that she might see the colors better.

"Oh tut!" cried Cora, possessed with the spirit of argument. "It is just the sun shining on Aunt Miranda's rose-bush and reflecting on the lake beside her house. It's a — a — what's that name, Uncle Teddie, that you were telling me about the other day. Those things that you used to see when you were out West."

"You mean a mirage."

"Yes, that's the word. That is Mary's teeny-weeny fairy."

But Mary, who was afraid of ugly things such as toads and snakes, was not listening to her. She was too rapt in the beauty of the sunset to pay any attention to Cora. Turning to her uncle as the beautiful crimsons and golds faded to pale pinks and dim yellows, she said, "If I could only paint that sunset I would be happy. Do you suppose anyone ever paints a sunset to look as real as that?"

"They attempt it often, dear," he said softly, "and come quite close to it, but only the hand of God paints pictures like that."

Cora, who had wandered on ahead of the others, called back, "Hurry up, folks, it's time for supper."

"Supper!" said Mary in amazement, "but we had our supper some time ago."

"Oh, that was just cake 'n stuff," said Cora scornfully. "Now we are going to have a real supper. Good old fried potatoes and ham."

"Cora could not have eaten as much as I did," remarked Mary, "or she would not be hungry now. I'm just beginning to feel comfortable again."

When they were seated at the table, Mary politely refused most of the things that were being passed to her, until her Uncle Ned pleaded — "Do try this ham, Mary. It is real good. If you ate more of this kind of thing you might have a bit more color in your cheeks." Mary loved girls with color in their cheeks and felt that if eating ham would make her cheeks rosy, she would eat lots of it. So she took several large slices, as well as some fried potatoes which Cora had mischievously put on her plate, although Mary had said, "No, thank you."

She felt rather uncomfortable again, and was very glad when bedtime came for Cora and herself.

High School Student Has Interesting Correspondence With Youth in Africa

A most interesting correspondence is maintained between Lachute and the town of Accra on the Gold Coast of Africa, and has developed into a helpful friendship. Jack MacKimmie, local High School student, writes at this end of the line, while one Augustus A. Azittez does his part from the western coast of the "Dark Continent."

His friendship started with many others by means of the "International Correspondence" idea which was introduced into the local school last year. These two boys have started off on the right foot by abolishing formalities, and fondly call each other "Mac" and "Gus."

"Gus" has sent "Mac" a portion of a gorilla skin just for a novelty, along with a bracelet woven of hairs from an elephant tail, and has promised to send photos of the surrounding jungles. He asked MacKimmie to send him "some photos of the beautiful Canadian girls, fairer than the word 'fair' due to the coldness of the north climate." Jack complied by sending a few snapshots of the L.H.S. "specimens of pulchritude." MacKimmie also sent his friend a quart of maple syrup ($1.42 postage, moans "Mac") and a few snow scenes. These latter quite bewildered the African boy, who states they put him in mind of white sand.

Having received a copy of the local newspaper, Azittez comments: "The Lachute Watchman is a very interesting paper, also very funny. (The editor is quite puzzled at this!) and I love reading them. I would appreciate your sending me more."

Azittez is an excellent writer, and his expressions are delightful in their quaintness. These letters, as may well be imagined, are extremely interesting, and both boys are consistent correspondents.

Visitor: "Your dog seems to be a very friendly fellow. He keeps grinning at me and wagging his tail."

Bobbie: "Yes, you've got his plate."

MARCONI

They Tried To Shoot Marconi for Inventing Radio

It was my good fortune, before he died, to spend an hour with a man who has had a profound effect on your life. He changed the world in which you live. He made it possible for you to send a message around the earth in one-seventh of a second. He also made it possible for you to sit in your home, turn a dial on your radio and hear the President speak from the White House, or listen to some famous orchestra playing the enchanting strains of the "Blue Danube."

As I sat talking to this soft-spoken, modest, unassuming man, it was hard for me to realize that I was in the presence of one of the most distinguished men on earth.

I asked him how he first came to be interested in experimenting with radio, and he said it was largely because, as a young man, he wanted to do some sort of work that would enable him to travel all over the earth. He told me that he felt, by experimenting with electrical waves and devoting his life to wireless telegraphy, he would have an opportunity to get out under the sky and travel to far off lands. He said he could never have stood the confinement of working in some small shop.

While he was still a very young man, Marconi was able to send wireless messages across the room in his own home; then, finally he sent messages a distance of two miles. He was greatly excited. His father told him he was wasting his time; but a few years later, young Marconi sold some of his patents to the British Government for a quarter of a million dollars and his father was immensely impressed.

In 1901, Marconi believed that the great dream of his life was about to come true; so he rushed across the Atlantic Ocean, confidently expecting that he would be able to receive messages in America from his sending station in England.

Landing in Newfoundland, Marconi sent up a kite to act as an aerial. He listened — listened for hours, waiting breathlessly for the signals that were supposed to come from his station in Cornwall, England. But none came; there wasn't a sound. Tragically disappointed, he believed that his experiment was a failure, that the great dream of his life had been blasted.

Then, suddenly, he heard a faint click. Then another. Then another. Yes, that was true; the signal they had agreed upon. The three dots which stood for the letter S in the alphabet used for telegraph operators. Flushed with excitement, Marconi knew that his achievement was momentous history. He longed to rush out and shout the news from the rooftops. But should he? No. He feared people wouldn't believe him; so for forty-eight hours he shared his secret with no one. Then, gathering courage, he cabled the facts to London. They created a sensation. Newspapers on five continents featured the story; and it set the scientific world seething with excitement.

"And how old was Marconi when he did all this? Only twenty-seven. Immediately, he began getting letters from cranks. These fanatics complained bitterly because they imagined that his electric waves were passing through their bodies, destroying their nerves and making it impossible for them to sleep."

I asked Senator Marconi how long it would be before you and I could have good, practical television sets in our homes. He said probably in about ten years, maybe sooner; so it won't be long before we will be sitting in front of our fireplaces, watching a fashion show in Paris, or a football game in California.

MILLION TREES PLANTED BY SCOUTS

Close to 1,000,000 young trees have now been planted by Ontario Boy Scouts on the reforestation project at Angus. Some 130,000 trees were added during this year's annual camp over the Victoria Day holidays. Twenty thousand trees were planted by Toronto Scouts on the new district camp site at West Hill, and 3,000 trees by Brantford Scouts at Ebor Park.

A NEW SCOUT HIKING TROPHY

A new Hamilton District Boy Scout Trophy, donated by City Controller Andrew E. Frame, will be awarded in a hiking and nature study contest. The Scout hikers, in pairs, must cover a minimum of 20 miles within 24 hours, and spend at least one night in the open. Records are to be kept covering hiking mileages, weather, nature observations, historical data, sketches and photographs, and a list of the equipment carried and menus of the meals prepared.

BOY OF 9 GIVES LIFE FOR BROTHER

The posthumous award of the Scout Bronze Cross, Scouting's highest decoration for bravery, to nine-year-old Wolf Cub John Bunting, of Chesterfield, Derby, disclosed an unusual story of self-sacrifice. With his seven-year-old brother, Leslie, and other small boys, John was playing near a deep pool, when Leslie slipped in. Although unable to swim, John jumped after, managed to splash his way to his brother's side, and pushed him to the pool steps. As Leslie scrambled out, John slipped back into deeper water, and was drowned. The coroner declared it a clear case of the older brother giving his life to save the younger. The boys were sons of an unemployed miner.

HERE'S A JOB: FLYING KITES FOR MOVIE MAKERS

Paramount is hiring a kite flyer. The gentleman who will rank with the guy who makes spider webs and the fellow who blows up toy balloons for those gay night club scenes, will construct and fly kites for "Men With Wings," being produced and directed by William A. Hellman.

His name is Ed Unger, and the kites he will build for "Men With Wings" will be 14 feet high. They will be used to lift little Virginia Weidler into the air in an opening scene.

A young lady stood before the cage for a minute or two but the bank teller kept on with his work. "Why don't you pay attention to me?" she finally said. "Sorry, miss, but we don't pay anything here. Next window, please."

He: "Didn't you say there was something you liked about me?"
She: "Yes, but you spent it all."

Former Lachute Lad Wins Airplane Contest With Gasoline Model

In a model airplane contest sponsored by the T. Eaton Co., Toronto, Cliff O'Reilly, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. O'Reilly and formerly attended Lachute Academy, captured the prize for gasoline models. The Toronto Star of June 6 shows a photograph of O'Reilly with his model, which appears to have a wingspread of about eight feet, and which, when released, faded from sight after five minutes flight. O'Reilly will enter the international contest for plane models at Detroit this summer, receiving a free trip in addition to a handsome cup and cash prize.

Fifty-four gasoline model airplanes took to the air in the power driven class. The flight was viewed by approximately 3,000 people at Armour Heights. Several entries were ruled out when they soared into the sky and were driven off their course by a southwest wind. Lads on bicycles and on foot pursued them and brought back all but three of the missing models. Two boys later found one of the missing ships in the branches of a tree. Its bamboo and silk wings were torn off by the force of the impact.

CRADLED IN THE NORTH-WEST ARM

Many of you are familiar with Halifax and its beautiful North-West Arm, but to you who do not know it, let me explain that "The Arm," as it is affectionately called, is an arm of the sea which runs up for two miles from the harbor and Bedford Basin, forming the peninsula in which Halifax lies. I doubt if there is any other two miles that has cradled so many famous men. On its shores have lived Joseph Howe, and his contemporary, Sir Charles Tupper; Cunard; Sir Sanford Fleming, and Sir Robert Borden. There are other well-known men but these are all nationally known, who have had homes on the beautiful shores of The Arm.

KNITTED TRICKS

A friend who knits herself the loveliest of knitted clothes was washing a dress that had angora collar and cuffs. While they were still wet, she combed the wool thoroughly with a fairly coarse comb (just an ordinary hair comb), and when it dried, it was as fluffy as new. To have good results it must be combed while wet. Another little trick in washing knitted sweaters with button-holes, is to stitch the button-holes together to prevent them stretching. Dry knitted things flat. I like to mark out the outline of the garment on a piece of paper, then fit the new garment to this shape and thus prevent shrinking or stretching. Most things are improved by pressing. Place a damp cloth over them and press lightly with a warm iron. If the stitch is a fancy one, I do not actually press it but just pass the iron close to the wet cloth and the steam raises the stitches. With most of the family wearing sweaters, we need to know all the tricks of the trade.

SERVE SIMPLE MEALS

The talk turned to food and where you could get good meals, as it so often does when tourists meet. One man told of a place where you could get the best corn-beef hash. This woman had built up her reputation and her business by serving perfectly made corn-beef hash. This led others to tell of places where a business had been built up on one food brought to perfection, and in every case it was a plain simple food. Each place was mentioned and here are some of the things that made the tourists remember them: Fresh home-made rolls, hot muffins, fish chowder, home-made sausage and sauerkraut, chocolate cake, Graham wafer cream pie, buttermilk and apple pie, fish cakes. These foods are all simple and yet they have been so good that people remember them, wanted to have them again, and told their friends about them. When tourists want elaborate meals they go to big hotels but when they go to the small places, they want simple meals properly cooked. Usually the smaller places try unsuccessfully to ape the elaborateness of the large hotels, and the result is that one gets a number of courses, and none of them outstanding. Any one running an eating place, who can get fresh fish, would do well to concentrate on it, as tourists do like fish, if it is fresh enough and attractively cooked. There are places in Nova Scotia where you invariably get good fish meals and there are other places with the same opportunities, where the fish is just fish. The same thing occurs near Lake Huron. There are towns where we always ordered fish, as we knew we were sure of getting it especially good, but there were other towns on the Lake where we learned by experience never to order fish. Anyone catering to tourists must not only know how to cook but how to buy. Each year there is an increasing number of places in Canada where one can get a simple meal, well cooked, but the number is still much too few.

LEMON MILK SHERBET

The juice of 1½ lemons, grated rind of 1 lemon, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups milk, ¼ of a teaspoon of lemon extract.

Mix ingredients and stir until dissolved. Pour into a freezing tray and freeze until it is firm around the edges. Beat until well-mixed, and freeze until solid. If you have a family that likes to have a tray of ice cream in the refrigerator, this sherbet is a good one to choose, because even quite small children can make it, and it is not too rich.

COMMANDOS

½ cup shortening, ¼ cup brown sugar, 1 egg yolk, beaten, 1 cup sifted pastry flour, 1 egg white, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/3 teaspoon salt, jam or jelly (raspberry is good), few drops almond extract, 3 tablespoons ground unblanched almonds.

Cream shortening, add sugar, then beaten egg yolk. Sift in dry ingredients and mix well. Roll small pieces of dough into balls, and place on baking sheet. Make a depression with a thimble in centre of each cake. Bake for 10 minutes in a rather slow oven of 325 degrees. Deepen depressions and fill with jam or jelly. Beat egg whites but not dry and gradually beat in sugar, beating until stiff after each addition. Add extract and almonds. Drop meringue over jam and bake at 300 until meringue is brown, about 15 minutes.

MAKING IT CLEAR (Edmonton Journal)

Emily Post has just made everything clear in the use of English. "When the implication is unmistakable that a lady is intended, the word 'woman' is preferred, but when the word 'woman' implies that a lady might not be intended, then the word used is 'lady.'" So if she is a lady, she must be called a woman to denote her place in the species, and if she is a woman, then she must be called a lady to give her social standing. Ah, yes.

HOUSE AND HOME

FLOWERS IN WINDOWS

A most attractive way to take care of windows opening onto the living porch is to do away with porch boxes and tuck a pair of shelves back against the house on either side of the window. Make the shelves large enough to hold one good sized flower pot and in the form of a bracket resembling the shape of an old-fashioned kitchen salt-box. A hole is bored in the top of the back and the bracket is suspended from an iron hook. Since these little shelves are only a few inches wider than the window ledge they are never in the way and take up no valuable porch space.

Another interesting arrangement for potted flowers is a bracket shelf with a scalloped apron. Holes are cut in the shelf large enough to let a flower pot slip through and rest on its collar. The apron is made deep enough to hide the suspended flower pots. This simple flower box is suitable for farm-house and Cape Cod types of houses.

Tall growing flowers such as delphiniums should be supported as they grow. Tie them to strong stakes, using soft twine or raffia. You can get both the twine and raffia dyed an inconspicuous green made especially for that purpose.

Cafeteria meals are popular with my family during the summer months and they save me both time and money. Small amounts of leftovers are heated in individual glass custard cups and each person helps himself to the one he likes best. In this fashion you can use up those cold pieces of cake and pie, too, that you hesitate to serve arbitrarily to members of the family.

When flowering shrubs have ceased their blooming, don't forget to cut off their faded blossoms. This is an important cultural fact too often overlooked by the average gardener. The trimming should be done as soon as the flowers fade, thus sending all the strength of the growth into the plant instead of dissipating it in the formation of seed pods. Give the plants plenty of water at this time, too, to invigorate them after their blooming period.

Ladies' Bathing Suits Shock Old-Time Swimming Star

To readers of less than forty, says a New York writer, the name Annette Kellerman may not mean much. In her day the antics of this swim star were "terrific." Now the "daring" things she did are taken for granted. Womankind owes Annette Kellerman its "freedom of the seas." It was Annette who was daring enough to appear in a one-piece bathing suit when yards of material was the fashion. People were appalled when Annette came out for her act in her black wool suit covering her from neck to toe.

In 1909 this famous swimming star tried to swim the English Channel. She was the first woman to attempt the feat. She stayed in the water for ten and a half hours. Today people who, for some reason, try to swim the Channel instead of going by boat, are attired in a coating of axle grease.

Annette wore a boy's bathing suit and was thought daring. She was commanded to swim before King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra at the exclusive Bath Club. They ordered her to appear completely covered and so she sewed a pair of stockings to the suit. That was how the Annette Kellerman suit was begun.

Today it takes a small piece of fabric and a few inches of tape to make a suit for a lady. It is now Annette Kellerman's turn to be outraged. Says she:

"Big, fat women bulging out of knitted suits disfigure the landscape! . . . The older women who haven't bothered to take care of their figures never looked better than last summer in those dressmaker suits."

UNITED CHURCH W.M.S. DISTRICT MEETING HELD AT ST. EUSTACHE

A splendid gathering of over 100 ladies from the counties of Two Mountains and Argenteuil met in the St. Eustache United Church last Friday, June 10th, for the annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society, United Church of Canada. The Auxiliaries represented were Lachute, Brownsburg, St. Andrews East, East Settlement, Ste. Therese, Cushing and St. Eustache, and visitors interested in the work were present from Morin Heights and Montreal.

Mrs. E. J. Shearman, sectional vice-president, acted as chairman, and called the meeting to order at two o'clock. The opening exercises, being the devotional period, were conducted by several ladies of the St. Andrews East Auxiliary, which was followed by the chairman's report of the year's activities, showing a personal visit by the vice-president to all the Auxiliaries in the district, and she was happy to report the affiliation of a society to the W.M.S. of the Ladies' Union, Arundel United Church. Two new Baby Bands and three new Mission Bands have been organized; there has been increased interest in the work of missions, and the natural sequence, increased givings.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. G. T. Woodward, president of the St. Eustache Auxiliary. This was followed by the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting, and an interesting letter from Miss Mary Lamb, missionary in China, who stated that she had read of the inspirational meetings that had been going on, from The Watchman, which reached her in far-off China. The chairman expressed her appreciation of the splendid co-operation given her by the various officers throughout the district and a vote of thanks was recorded to the editor of The Watchman for kindnesses received in reporting various meetings. The W.C.T.U. brought greetings to the meeting, which were given by Mrs. William Usher of Cushing. Mrs. Harris, Temperance Secretary of the Montreal Presbyterial, being at the meeting, was asked to say a few words. Mrs. W. J. Scott, president of the Montreal Presbyterial, spoke on behalf of the executive, reminding the women of the seriousness of world conditions, and how much depended on the thoughtful attitude women must take in these troubled days. One of the principal speakers of the afternoon was Mrs. James Muir, who addressed the meeting on the recent Dominion Board meetings in Toronto, which she had attended. She expressed her pleasure in the worship services which were conducted by the nine Conference Branch presidents; also the missionaries present all expressed their opinion that the only cure for the present world conditions was the teaching of Christ's message.

The homely tales of the children at the Children's Home, Lachine, told by the Lady Superintendent, Mrs. Jeanne Purdy, were of great interest. Under her care are 35 children, mostly of school age. The Lachine Home is directly under the advisory supervision of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference Branch, of which this section forms an important part. Other interesting addresses were given by Mrs. H. E. Reilley, Presbyterial Secretary for Associate Helpers; Mrs. A. R. Durrell, Presbyterial Secretary for Community Friendship; and Mrs. Gordon Miller, Presbyterial Recording Secretary, who read the address of Mrs. H. V. Driver on intelligent use of the Literature Department, stressing particularly the new text-book, which is entitled "The World in Canada."

The In Memoriam Service was conducted by Mrs. R. J. Cowan of the Ste. Therese Auxiliary, who paid loving tribute to the members of the auxiliaries who had passed away during the year. Several musical numbers were contributed during the afternoon by Miss M. Green and Mrs. M. M. Yale of St. Andrews East and Miss Eira Roberts of Brownsburg.

Afternoon tea was served in the school hall by the ladies of St. Eustache and Ste. Therese Auxiliaries. The next annual meeting will be held in Brownsburg United Church in 1939.

WOMEN'S VOTE IS PLANK OF THE QUEBEC LIBERALS

"Votes for women" was adopted as a plank in the policy of Quebec Liberals, at the party's provincial convention in Quebec last week-end.

The women's franchise was approved amid mild enthusiasm, which brought the thanks of Mrs. Pierre F. Casgrain, president of the Quebec League of Women's Rights and a long time campaigner for women's suffrage, and of Mrs. James Mabon, of Montreal. Both honorary chairmen of the convention, they pledged the "ever ready" support of their sex for the solution of problems facing the party.

How Sandwich Originated

Sandwich, meaning two slices of bread with meat, cheese or other food between them, is derived from the name of the fourth earl of Sandwich, who lived in the time of George III. He was the same nobleman after whom Capt. James Cook named the Sandwich islands, now called the Hawaiian islands. The sandwich was a great favorite with the earl. He was a notorious gambler and often became so engrossed in his cards that he would not stop to eat his meals. Instead he would have an attendant put meat between two pieces of bread, which he ate without leaving the gambling table. Although the earl thus gave his name to the sandwich, he was not the first to eat bread or biscuits and meat so combined. Under different names the sandwich has been popular in several countries since ancient times.

After several unsuccessful attempts to draw her husband into conversation at the restaurant the wife discovered the cause of his abstraction to be a beautiful girl dressed in black and seated at a nearby table.

"An attractive widow," observed the wife coolly.

"Yes, indeed, a very attractive widow," agreed the husband enthusiastically.

"Yes," sighed the wife. "I wish I were one."

Dr. Maude Abbott Honored

Abbott's research work in congenital heart diseases has been made in her appointment as an honorary member of the Canadian Society for the Study of Diseases of Children. The DOCTOR Tells the Story

by W.E. Aughinbaugh, M.D.

TRUE FRIENDSHIP

Benjamin Franklin once said that a man had but three friends — an old wife, an old dog and money. Had he lived in the present age and known the story I am about to tell, I am positive that the philosophical Quaker would have added other names to those he listed as true friends, and it would be old neighbors.

The respiratory system, the chief organs of which are the nose, the lungs, the arteries and the veins, are absolutely essential for existence, and the amount of air which an individual needs varies from time to time and to a great extent is controlled by muscular activity. For example, if we indulge for any length of time in exercise, our bodies require more air or oxygen than if we are reading a book or are sleeping. The heart pumps red blood cells into the tissues of the body and the oxygen in the blood is consumed producing what we term energy. As the blood starts to return to the heart it is blue, because the oxygen has been exhausted, and when it gets back to the lungs it is again filled with oxygen and returns through the arterial system a bright red. The respiratory movements, or breathing, are necessary to obtain this fresh supply of oxygen.

Artificial Respiration

At Chittingwood, England, a man recently died who was kept alive for a little more than four years by artificial respiration — that is, he was made to breathe by other means than normal. In 1931 he found it difficult to breathe, due to a disease which he had contracted, but in experimenting with himself ascertained that he could assist respiration by pressing hard upon his chest. His condition became gradually worse, and due to the progress of his malady, he could not aid himself. Friends and relatives were enlisted to perform artificial respiration in order that he might live. In relays, his fellow-townsmen and members of his family, night and day, for more than four years, performed this service and kept him alive.

I know of no higher expression of sympathy and friendliness than the citizens of this town exhibited toward their unfortunate townsman.

Early Railway Mail Service

On July 7, 1838, congress passed an act providing "that each and every railroad within the limits of the United States which now is or may hereafter be completed, shall be a post route, and the Postmaster General shall cause the mail to be transported thereon." There were then in the United States only 1,913 miles of railroad. The act limited the cost of rail transportation to "not more than twenty-five per cent over and above what similar transportation would cost in post coaches." Mail had been carried by rail as early as 1834, but with the passage of this act, a century ago, began the real history of the railroad as a factor in communication and the development of the railway mail routes which serve the United States.

Paramnesia

People sometimes have the feeling of having been in the same situation before. This is known as paramnesia. It is a common experience, and, briefly explained, the reaction depends upon a little trick of the mind manifested by a momentary loss of a sense of time and space. The individual enters into an experience or a situation, obtains a fleeting impression of this situation, then the attention is momentarily attracted to something else. The period of time may be almost infinitesimal. Then upon the return of the attention to the original situation, this lapse of time is lost to the individual and the period between the two experiences seems occasionally to expand into a long period, even into the remote past.

Outside the buildings, Small Bros. are displaying the Lightning Sap vaporator, in charge of Mr. Selby of Dunham, Que. Threshing machines, mechanical saws and other farm devices are shown by the Toran Plessisville Foundry.

NO LISTLESS MOMENTS FOR GRANDSTAND SPECTATORS

Seven of the finest vaudeville acts, managed by the Norman Shows, have been secured to give their performance before the grandstand, and the band under leadership of Major G. G. Gagné livens up the occasion with choice music. These attractions, together with the horse judging and races, fill every hour with interest for grandstand patrons.

THE MIDWAY AND ITS "TENTED WONDERS"

The midway, with its "tented wonders," merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, swings, and novel rides, offers the usual variety of fun and amusement. The Sims Shows have a reputation to maintain, and the proprietor takes personal concern in giving satisfaction and safe enjoyment to pleasure-seekers.

Bigger and better than ever may be said of the Sims' Midway, which occupies a good portion of the grounds at the Fair. Several new attractions have been added, providing "a barrel of fun" for all. The old reliable merry-go-round, show boat, ferris wheel, merry mix-up, tilt-a-whirl, caterpillar, jungleland with reptiles from every country, and the kiddies' automobile ride for children under 8, are only a few of the entertainment features.

In the side tents one can see Howard, the Lobster Boy, born without hands or feet, but with claws instead; Prof. Burkhart, magician and king of comedy; the Human Dynamo, a realistic reproduction of an electric execution as used at Sing Sing; Elmore, the human volcano; Geraldine, sex mystery; Humpty-Dumpty, the world's smallest entertainers; European Mystery Show, exhibiting Severin Signal, Finland's Houdini, in a flight from a Russian torture chamber and escape from Siberian chain gangs; Miss Helen Slayburn in marvellous feats of strength. — Weighing 148 lbs., she carries the weight of a horse, 1,150 lbs., on her chest and limbs.

There are numerous other attractions to be seen and enjoyed.

MANY NOTABLES VISIT LACHUTE DURING EXHIBITION WEEK

Gratifying Results in All Phases of County's Annual Spring Show

Livestock, Industrial Show and Entertainment Command General Approval

With favorable weather up to the final stages of Lachute Spring Fair, both the gate admissions and the livestock entries measured up to the highest count in the 112 years through which the Argenteuil Agricultural Society has existed and held its shows.

Through three days of fair weather the show maintained its full swing, but rain intervened with a vengeance when a thunder-shower stopped all outside activity at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The parade of all cattle, which some consider the climax of the show, had been witnessed by a large ringside crowd and packed grandstand, and first two heats of the horse racing events had been run. Continuation of the racing and the parade of horses was made impossible by the downpour, but as the weather cleared in the evening, saddle and light horse judging was resumed, the vaudeville acts were staged and the fair went on. The midway was well patronized in the final hours of the exhibition.

Livestock classes, with but few exceptions, were crowded, and the judges in many cases were up against close merits in their decisions. In the rarer breeds and less favored varieties of livestock, single exhibitors claimed all awards; but even in these cases, the representation was good inasmuch as the breeders had stock in almost every class.

Apart from the high quality of horse and cattle entries, a full showing was therefore witnessed by those who visited the stables and pens.

Many additional prizes were donated for special judging this year, which stimulated the competition. Stake awards for harness horses drew an enthusiastic contest, and the judging of light horses — carriage, jumpers and hunter mounts — attracted the usual interest in the ring during each afternoon and evening.

Minister of Agriculture Congratulates Directors

Many visitors of importance in parliamentary, social and agricultural circles were noted on the exhibition grounds. The growing prestige of this show was also evidenced by numerous press representatives from city journals.

Hon. Bona Dussault, Quebec Minister of Agriculture, expressed warm approval for the general quality and outlay of the exhibition. The direct interest of government representatives was gratifying to the directorate. Hon. Antonio Elie, Quebec, Minister without Portfolio, who is also president of the Quebec Holstein Breeders' Association, and Hon. G. A. Auger, Quebec Minister of Colonization, were also among the inspection party.

Other important visitors were — Senator W. A. Griesbach, of Edmonton; Senator Horner, of Saskatchewan; J. F. McCallum, chief of the Federal Department of Agriculture, Ottawa; J. P. Beauchemin, of Vercheres, president of the Quebec Ayrshire Breeders' Association; Adrien Morin, chief of animal husbandry for the Province of Quebec; Stephanie Boiry, of Sherbrooke, Federal animal husbandry official, and J. A. Parenteau, R. P. Charbonneau, and Gerard Tremblay, regional agronomists of St. Jerome, Montreal and St. Eustache, respectively.

HIGH STANDARDS OF ENTERTAINMENT

General satisfaction was expressed for the program of entertainment. The Fred Norman vaudeville show included many skilled and talented acts, while Major G. G. Gagne's band proved versatile in affording music appropriate to every theme commanding attention from the grandstand.

Crowds thronged the midway, which fulfilled its claim as a "bigger and better" show than ever. New attractions had been added and Mr. Sims, the proprietor, is to be personally congratulated on bringing a clean and entertaining presentation of shows. To maintain fine standards in a travelling outfit of such wide variety is no easy task. Mr. Norman and his manager were on the scene continually to assure themselves that every concession was operated in a proper manner.

Reference was made in last issue to the numerous trade exhibits in the exhibition building. Every stand was occupied and attractively arranged. These displays, with others outside the buildings, and independent features to amuse, entertain and solicit custom from the public, provided a full variety of interests conveying the approved impression of a rural fair.

Among factors reflecting local enterprise and initiative, the catering in the dining room and lunch room of the main building was admirably handled by members of the Lachute Women's Institute. The managers report encouraging success in their venture, and their good work merits due recognition from exhibition patrons.

A complete list of awards appears in subsequent pages of this issue.

Auto Crash Victim, High School Student, Removed to Hospital

Miss Katherine Miller, Grade XI pupil of Lachute High School, who was injured last Friday in an automobile collision, was removed to the Royal Victoria Hospital on Monday.

Miss Miller was driving to school from her home in the East Ward Friday morning with Miss Muriel Marshall, teacher. Miss Marshall's new Plymouth coupe was hit by a milk delivery truck driven by Edwin Pollock. Pollock's truck appeared suddenly from behind a big transport vehicle parked on Main Street, near Lachute post office. The automobile was struck on the side and Miss Miller caught the full impact of the crash.

The young lady suffered fracture of two ribs, and when symptoms of internal injury developed later, she was taken to Montreal for hospital treatment.

Miss Marshall escaped unhurt, but her car was badly smashed.

MIRACLES IN RADIO THIS YEAR

A combined dealer and distributor conference of Philco Radio representatives was held last week-end at the Seignior Club, Montebello. Harry Boyd Brown, retail merchandising manager of Philco Corporation of Philadelphia, explained the working of "Mystery Control," Philco's new contribution to the radio industry. "Philco dealers will be seeing miracles this year," stated Mr. Brown, in reference to this invention which without wires or plug connections allows the radio to be controlled from any part of the house. S. L. Capell, Philco managing director for Canada, also spoke.

Boy Died of Injuries When Hit by Truck

Real Groulx, 11-year-old boy of St. Jovite, died Monday morning of a fractured skull, suffered when he was knocked down by a truck near his home.

An inquest was held by Coroner Dr. J. G. Latour, of St. Jerome, who disposed of the case with a verdict of accidental death.

Evidence showed that a truck driven by Ernest Lefebvre, a neighbor, was turning into a yard Sunday evening and at the moment young Groulx suddenly ran out and into the rear left wheel of the truck. He was knocked down and struck his head on the sidewalk.

Lady Golfers Play Contests

On June 14th, the ladies' branch of Lachute Golf Club held their first tournament. A prize donated by Mrs. G. G. Mitchell for a surprise competition was won by Mrs. W. M. Cottingham.

On June 21st, a handicap competition was played; the prize, donated by Mrs. T. K. Haller, being won by Mrs. W. D. Stewart.

Tea was served after the games.

GOVERNOR GENERAL TO VISIT SEIGNIOR CLUB

Seignior Club — His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada has graciously extended his patronage to the Seignior Club's seventh annual horse show to be held on the show grounds at Montebello from July 7th to 10th inclusive.

CALUMET RESIDENT TRAMPLED BY HORSE AND FATALLY INJURED

WAS LEADING A NEWLY-PURCHASED STALLION INTO STABLE

Verdict of accidental death was returned last Thursday morning by a jury inquiring into fatal injuries received by Georges Roy, 67-year-old resident of Calumet, when a newly-purchased stallion trampled on him.

After trading a horse with a nearby dealer Wednesday evening, Roy was placing the stallion in its stall, when the animal reared and trampled on the man, injuring him about the head. Byron Kelly, working at Welden's Garage opposite Roy's stables, heard the disturbance and rushed to the man's assistance. Assisted by Walter Welden, he got the victim out of the stable, and he was examined by Dr. C. E. Lefrance and taken to the Notre Dame Hospital at Hawkesbury, where he died a short time after being admitted.

The jury, under Dr. J. H. Mason, of Lachute, after hearing that Roy was experienced in handling horses and knew the type of animal he had purchased, decided that no blame could be attached to anyone.

The late Mr. Roy had been a resident of Calumet practically all his life and had worked during the summer months at the lumber mills of the Canadian International Paper Co. there.

Argenteuil Has 254 Miles Govt. Maintained Highway

Outside of municipal and parish maintenance, Argenteuil County has the highest mileage of highways under government maintenance of any district in the province. There are 131 miles of highway in this area, and in addition 123 miles of municipal roads, making a total of 254. Three counties, Chateaugay, Huntingdon and Terrebonne, having higher municipal mileage under government upkeep, and thus exceed Argenteuil in total distance of improved highway. The totals are — Chateaugay 289 miles, Huntingdon 362 and Terrebonne 357. Two Mountains has 238 miles of improved highway.

DUNNING FORESEES "MORE VIGOROUS REVIVAL IN CONSTRUCTION AND DEPENDENT INDUSTRIES"

Sales Tax Removed on Construction Materials

Otherwise No Major Changes Expected in Present Tariffs or Taxes

Ottawa, June 21 — The budget, always an interesting feature of the sessions of Parliament, held the centre of interest of a pretty stirring week in Ottawa. It has not been a budget replete with tax changes but it has been one which has given a picture of a pretty healthy condition of the public exchequer. Not for many years have the public accounts come so near to being balanced. A deficit of only $13,775,000 when you are dealing with such large figures as an expenditure of $530,467,000 and a revenue of $516,692,000, loses its practical significance. Expenditures were almost the same as the year before, when the deficit was nearly 78 million, but revenues were at the highest point in history. The receipts under some of the main items, with the corresponding figures for the previous year in brackets, were as follows: Import duties, $93,456,000 ($83,771,000); Excise duties, $52,037,000 ($45,957,000); Income Tax, $120,366,000 ($102,365,000); Sales Tax, $138,054,000 ($112,832,000).

TAX CHANGES

There have been no changes at all in the tariff. The reason for this is that the trade agreement with the United States is still in process of

C.I.L. WILL NOT SELL MUNITIONS ABROAD

A. B. PURVIS, PRESIDENT, SAYS TRADE ENTIRELY CONFINED TO EMPIRE NATIONS

No munitions to other than Empire members is the very definite policy of his company, it was stated recently by Arthur B. Purvis, president of Canadian Industries Limited. And even in such cases the company would first apply to the Canadian Government for permission and approval. "We turn down orders from outside nations," he said; "we decline even to ask governmental approval of such transactions."

"It would be foolish of us to risk public disapproval of such sales when 99.5 per cent of our business is industrial. When the time comes, however, that Britain requires munitions, we will be happy to do our bit. At present the demand for such materials can easily be filled within the United Kingdom."

Families Leave Brownsburg on Colonization Venture, Report Some Dissatisfied

Brownsburg — During the week several families left this community under the colonization scheme, or back-to-the-land movement, sponsored by the Provincial Government. Later one of the migrants returned to report that conditions were very unfavorable. He has been allotted a farm on a bleak, desolate, sandy waste without sufficient timber, either growing or procurable, to build a shack. The land was utterly unfit for cultivation, and the nearest market for supplies was twelve miles away. He stated he was the only one of those who went who had sufficient funds to procure return transport, else the others would also have come back.

$21,000 Concrete Bridge for Mont Rolland, Que.

A new cement bridge will be erected over the North River at Mont Rolland at a cost of $21,000, the work to be carried out by the Quebec Roads Department.

The new bridge, which is on the road connecting Mont Rolland with the Montreal-Mont Laurier highway No 11, will replace an old wooden one which has been condemned for some time and closed to traffic.

Work on the new structure commenced this week.

SPLENDID GATHERING FOR ANNUAL CONVENTION OF HUNDRED CLUBS; MANY DELEGATES AND VISITORS

Geo. Héon, Argenteuil M.P., Heads Association

MacDonald Lake Scene of Happy Assembly; Guests of Lachute Club

Last Thursday was an auspicious day for the Lachute Hundred Club, youngest affiliated group in the International Association of One Hundred Clubs, when they were hosts to the parent organization for its annual convention. The gathering was an all-day affair held at MacDonald Lake House, which was climaxed by a banquet, dance and entertainment attended by upwards of 100 members and friends. Delegates were present from Ottawa, Perth, Winchester, Almonte, Carleton Place, Montreal and Lachute.

REPORTS SATISFACTORY

Business sessions opened in the forenoon, with president Dr. W. E. Meldrum, of Ottawa, in the chair. The secretary, F. W. Cole, of Ottawa, presented the minutes of the preceding meeting, and reports given by representatives of the different clubs showed a fine record of service work and good progress throughout the organization. Report of the International treasurer, J. A. Rowatt, of Winchester, showed a more favorable balance than at the previous annual accounting.

A stirring address on Centurionism was given by Jas. E. Cosgrove, B.A., B.Paed., of Perth. The club's new constitution and by-laws, compiled by Mr. Cosgrove at considerable sacrifice of time and effort, were finally adopted and any measure favoring change in name of the Association was deferred for future decision.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Election of the new officers brought honors to Lachute, in according the presidency to Geo. Héon, B.A., LL.M., who aside from his responsibilities as M.P. for this constituency, is also president of the Lachute Hundred Club. J. E. Cosgrove, of Perth, was elected first vice-president; Harry J. Clark, of Ottawa, second vice-president; F. W. Cole, of Ottawa, re-elected secretary; E. E. Eason, of Lachute, treasurer; Gordon McQuat, of Lachute, Quebec district governor; C. Forbes, of Perth, Ontario district governor; and six

Observed Celebration of "Fête-Dieu" in Lachute

BIG PARADES HELD IN BOTH PARISHES

The Corpus Christi procession in St. Anastasie Parish, Lachute, last Sunday morning, was estimated to include 1,000 children and adults. Preceded by horseback riders, provincial and municipal police and bicycle riders, the marchers followed Grace Street westward to Mary Ann Street, and turned east along Main Street to a shrine erected before the home of Mons. L. E. Dumais. The parade was accompanied by Lachute brass band and various parish organizations were represented — including the convent pupils, Enfants de Marie, Dames de Ste. Anne, the Sacred Heart Association, K. of C., Alliance Nationale, Catholic Foresters, etc.

Rev. E. Labelle, curé of the St. Anastasie, conducted the devotions, and Rev. Savage carried the Host in the procession.

A similar parade was held Sunday evening in the Parish St. Julien, Lachute Mills, a large number participating.

Hawkesbury Man Fined for Trapping "Canaries"

Caught trapping goldfinches, or wild canaries as they are more commonly called, Theodore Myre of Hawkesbury was convicted on two counts before Magistrate Labrosse. On a charge of having goldfinches in his possession he was fined $10 and $3 costs, and on a charge of trapping the birds he also was fined $10 and $3 costs, with the alternative of 10 days in jail in default of payment of fine.

The charges were laid by Game Warden Wayne Robinson, who caught Myre trapping the birds while he was searching for nets along the shores of the Ottawa River. Three birds were found in cages with Myre, and four others were found at his home. The charges were laid under the Ontario provincial act, although the birds come under the Migratory Birds Protection Act.

Corpus Christi in Parish of St. Louis de France

CLOSING EXERCISES OF CATHOLIC SCHOOL AT BROWNSBURG

Brownsburg — A large and spectacular parade marked the celebration of Corpus Christi, or the Fête-Dieu, last Sunday morning in this village. Following low mass at the church at 9:30 o'clock a procession, comprising almost the entire congregation, proceeded by Principal, McMaster and St. Joseph streets, returning to the church by Principal street. Rev. V. Bouchard, parish priest, carried the Host under a canopy borne by Dr. A. R. Coté, Messrs. Eug. Dagenais, Damase Diotte and Emile Hébert. Two imposing altars had been arranged, before the residences of Madame Levert and Mons. Wm. Tassé.

Closing exercises of the Catholic School were held here in the parish hall Monday evening. Curé Father V. Bouchard presided over the assembly, assisted by the school commissioners and the secretary-treasurer, Adrien Lacasse. Distribution of prizes to the pupils was the highlight of an evening which proved of inspiring interest to scholars, parents, teachers and others concerned with the educational life of this parish.

Rev. Curé Bouchard, accompanied by several local citizens, left on Tuesday to attend the National Eucharistic Conference at Quebec City.

Oddfellows Decorated Graves

The annual Decoration Day of the Oddfellows' Order was observed by Laurentian Lodge last Sunday afternoon. Members proceeded to the cemeteries at Lachute, Carleton Place and Dalesville. Thirty-nine graves of departed brethren were solemnly decorated with flowers and memorial flags. Acting N.G. Bro. G. Demers, of Lachute, and the Chaplain, Rev. Bro. S. J. Pike, of Brownsburg, officiated at the memorial ceremonies.

Canoes Found, Hewn Out By Bronze Age Men

Two canoes each hewn out of an oak tree by Bronze Age men three thousand years ago, have been found intact in the bed of the River Trent in England.

They are twenty feet long and two feet wide and were found during dredging at Clifton Grove, two miles up the river from Nottingham.

Mr. C. W. Phillips of Cambridge Prehistoric Society has examined them for the British Museum. "They are in an excellent state after being found under three feet of gravel next to Bronze Age dwellings, which were destroyed, unfortunately, by dredging work several years ago," he said. "They are being preserved in water and the process of drying them out will take months."

Sales Tax Removed on Building Materials, Buyers Reap Immediate Benefit

While taxes and tariffs in the new budget remain generally unchanged, disappearance of the eight per cent sales tax on building supplies will be greeted among a considerable number — not only at the purchasing end, but in the immense field of labor which will benefit by increased building activity. Lower costs for materials are already in effect at the Cottingham Supply Company, Lachute, and the public are urged to take immediate advantage for the extension of their business premises, improvement of homes or the building of new dwellings.

Lachute Dealer Makes Timely Announcement

The Cottingham Supply Company, Lachute, stresses the advantages made possible by removal of the sales tax on building materials — which results in a considerable saving to prospective home-owners and those engaged in new construction. Enterprises of this kind, which have been delayed through the years of depression and higher labor costs, will now be an easier undertaking in view of lower cost of materials. "Cottingham Supply" extends every advantage made possible through this change, and will welcome enquiries on contemplated construction jobs.

BLOOD DONORS' PLEDGE

Appropriate addresses were given by the retiring president, Dr. W. E. Meldrum, and the president-elect, Mr. Geo. Héon. A resolution was passed approving the efforts of the Canadian Red Cross Society in forming a Blood Donors' Association to provide blood transfusions free of cost to needy sufferers, and pledging support of members of the Club, medically fit, to co-operate in this worthy cause.

After conclusion of the discussion, the meeting was adjourned, the delegates deciding that the place of next annual conference should be left to the decision of the executive.

The appealing surroundings of MacDonald Lake provided pleasure until the hour of the evening banquet; many visitors enjoyed swimming, fishing and the hospitality of MacDonald Lake House. Distractions were provided for the lady visitors, through a capable committee. Afternoon tea was served, and meanwhile many newcomers arrived on the scene for the lighter aspects of the gathering.

President Geo. Héon occupied the chair for the banquet, and the dining room was filled to capacity. A toast was drunk to The King, favors were distributed, and the new officers and the retiring president were called upon for brief speeches. Mr. Héon, speaking in French and English, voiced his thanks for the honor conferred in his high appointment, and pledged loyal service to his office. He stressed the high ideals of Centurionism and advocated those ideals for a wider application, as a sure remedy for the ailments of society at large, and a solution to prejudices and disharmony among Canadian classes. Recognition was given to the Montreal unit, which had been instrumental in launching the Hundred Club enterprise in Lachute, and to Mr. A. Ecclestone as president of the Montreal Club at that time.

DANCE AND ENTERTAINMENT

The gathering then adjourned to the dance hall, where music was furnished by Lowe Bros. Orchestra from Grenville. As an interlude to the dancing, entertainment was provided by another talented local group, the Dallaire Brothers, acrobats and contortionists, and by an animal trainer and his performing dogs — two units forming part of the Fred Norman vaudeville troupe.

The party dispersed in the early hours of the morning, many of the visitors staying over for a brief vacation in the Laurentians and a visit to the Exhibition.

Wisp of Nelson's Hair Brings $55 at Auction

A wisp of hair clipped from the head of Admiral Lord Nelson, famous sea dog who gave the signal "England expects that every man will do his duty," at the Battle of Trafalgar, was sold at auction in Dorchester, England, for £11 ($55).

The lock was among heirlooms of the family of Masterman Thomas Hardy, Nelson's flag captain. It was clipped by Lady Emma Hamilton, Nelson's dearest friend and the wife of a British ambassador at Naples.

Up-to-Date Fire Alarm System for Granby, Que.

At a recent meeting of the Granby City Council, it was decided to purchase a modern, up-to-date fire alarm system. The cost is estimated to be $5,000 or more.

The present fire alarm system was installed twenty-five years ago and was designed for a maximum of twenty stations. In recent years it has been heavily overloaded, there now being 28 stations, and there is a need for about eight more stations.

"to every business comes a time to borrow," for instance.....

To Extend Your Local Trade

Business now restricted to very narrow limits may have in it potentialities for wider markets, larger profits. Wise management must determine business limitations.

If your business possibilities, conservatively appraised, warrant extension to a larger field, conservative borrowing may be a wise and businesslike step.

The Bank of Montreal, with branches serving local business in all parts of Canada, stands ready to discuss with you the potentialities of your business and welcomes your application for a loan.

BUDGET FOR COMING YEAR

What of the present year? There are various forces at work, some favorable, some unfavorable. On the unfavorable side, Mr. Dunning pointed out, there are the business depression abroad and the dangers in the international situation which "realism compels us to face frankly." The growth of armaments should give a temporary stimulation to world industry, but its effect on the future cannot be regarded with confidence. In relation to the political situation abroad the finance minister said "We can only hope that the forces who are striving to prevent war, while maintaining freedom, will achieve success."

There has been relatively only a moderate decline in the production of our major industries, and since February there has been an upward trend in Canada. There is the prospect of a good wheat crop, which will exercise a great influence on conditions in Canada. The expansion of the mining industry is an extremely favorable factor. From the Government's program of housing, municipal improvements and national conservation and development generally, Mr. Dunning expects "a more vigorous revival in the construction industry and the many industries which depend upon it." "These are all powerful influences making for recovery" said the Finance Minister "and if backed by the wholehearted co-operation of all elements in our population they should make the current year a reasonably satisfactory one."

As far as the public exchequer is concerned, Mr. Dunning considers that expenditures should not exceed the figure of 524 million appropriated in the main and supplementary estimates. Taking the months that have already gone as a basis of calculation, he thinks revenues should be approximately 501 or 502 million dollars. The estimate is for a deficit of about 23 million dollars. It may be substantially lower than this if there is a good crop in the West, and if business conditions in the United States and other important countries make an early turn for the better, although the full benefit of the improvement in conditions abroad would be fully felt only in the year following.

In view of the current business situation, the Finance Minister pointed out, he did not think it wise to attempt a completely balanced budget through putting further burdens on industry or the people. The tax changes made were to remove anomalies and inequities and "to accelerate the forces making for business recovery."

There is always a tie between father and son, says a Rotarian speaker — and if there is, you can wager the son is wearing it.

A New Stimulus to Home Improvement

In spite of assistance provided by the Home Improvement Loans, many have hesitated on account of "hard times" to execute much-needed repairs on their premises. As a further move in the government's aim to stimulate industry, the sale of building materials is now exempted from tax, and home-owners are urged to take advantage of this savings, approximating 8 per cent. The Cottingham Supply Company, Lachute, has put this reduction into immediate effect, and is ready to co-operate in planning home improvement or other building projects.

Two Minor Outbreaks of Fire in Lachute Town

Lachute fire brigade have responded to two calls during the past week. Last Thursday fire caught in the wall of the Ayers Limited tenement house at the lower end of Wilson Street, causing damage estimated at $600, which was covered by insurance. The flames started from a chimney in the hollow wall. The firemen promptly extinguished the blaze with their "booster" pump.
With the use of extinguishers another small fire was subdued at 12.40 o'clock this afternoon, when the firemen were summoned to R. Paquette's pool room at the rear of Desjardins Hotel. Caused by the burning of rubbish too close to the wall, the exterior of the building was ignited, but only slight damage is reported.

Province of Quebec Year Book Published

The Bureau of Statistics has published the 1937 edition of the "Quebec Statistical Year Book." All statistics of general interest drawn from the reports of the various Federal and Provincial Departments are condensed and classified according to a definite plan in this volume, and a general survey of existing economic conditions is thus provided. On each subject, besides the most recent data, a recapitulation is given, by means of which the advances or retroactions registered over a period of years may be measured. To illustrate these variations, several graphical charts are given.

Amongst the principal additions to this edition, mention must be made of a section classifying, by occupation, the population of 10 years of age and over, gainfully occupied at June 1st, 1931. A table showing registration and the number of votes cast in the 1936 provincial election, a list of the Members of the Legislative Assembly for each electoral district since 1867 and a brief summary of the Old Age Pension Plan complete the chapter devoted to Administration. The system under which the Quebec Farm Credit functions is also described in the Agricultural section.

The price of this publication is $1.00 a copy. All requests should be addressed to the Director, Bureau of Statistics, Parliament Buildings, Quebec.

Mrs. Higgins — "Now, Billy, before you go out let me tell you that, if anyone wants to know where your father is, tell them he has gone away for a fortnight — not 14 days."

Law and Order Regulation Questioned, Upheld by Court

Deciding that the City of St. Jerome had the right to legislate and make by-laws for the keeping of order in its limits, Recorder C. E. Marchand delivered judgment on Monday in the case of Lucien Sicotte, 19, who was found guilty of causing a nuisance.

Sicotte had been arrested with three other young men after they had stretched a cord across the sidewalk and annoyed passers-by. The other three arrested pleaded guilty.

Sicotte, through his lawyer, pleaded not guilty and attacked the validity of the by-law, saying it was ultra vires.

Sicotte was sentenced to a fine of $5 and costs or eight days in jail.

Boyd's Express Announces New Telephone Service

In order to accommodate customers who have missed the morning shipments, Boyd's Lachute Express have arranged with the Bell Telephone Company for the following hours in which they will phone late orders to their Montreal branch:

Monday to Friday inclusive, 3.45 to 4.00 p.m.
Saturday only, 9.50 to 10.05 a.m.

This expense will be borne by Boyd's Express, but customers are requested not to take too liberal advantage of this service as it is intended only for emergent and rush orders. To ensure delivery, such orders should be given at the Express office one hour before calling time.

Floating Steel

A piece of solid iron or steel will sink in water. Shaped into a vessel or container that will hold a large amount of air, it will float on water, just like our great iron ships. Though the steel in the ship is much heavier than the water, it is the weight of the ship as a whole that counts. Provided that this weight, with its cargo and large air space, is less than the weight of an equal volume of water, the ship will float.

VACATIONS AT HOME

There are times when women feel they need vacations but do not see how they can leave home. Here is the way two women of my acquaintance handle the problem. One was an older woman who looked after certain details of her husband's business, and for this reason could not get away for any length of time. She engaged a housekeeper for a month, a woman with a reputation as a good cook. She turned the housekeeping and the meals over to her completely, and the only suggestions she gave were for foods she felt she herself would enjoy. She spent hours on her verandah reading, went to the movies, had a permanent and a manicure, entertained her friends and did just the things she wanted to do most. At the end of the month, she said she was thoroughly rested and had had better food, a better bed, and more conveniences than she had ever had on a holiday away from home. The other woman was younger and had three small children. There was no place within easy reach that sounded enticing and she felt she could not go far away from her children, so she engaged a practical nurse to look after the children and the house, and she went to the best hotel in the city for a week's holiday. She had her breakfast in bed, played golf, went to the movies, and saw her friends. The relief of not having to have one ear listening to the children and to be able to do just as she liked, sent her home rested and happy and with nerves smoothed out, ready to enjoy her children again.

Z AND ZEE

A Canadian lad was in Florida this winter. He had sneaked in without proper papers and when the authorities were questioning him, to find out if it was a case of illegal entry, they asked him to spell Arizona. He spelled it just as you and I would, A-R-I-Z-O-N-A. That proved the case. Americans say ZEE, not Z.

FROZEN FRESH FISH

Last night some friends invited me to stay for dinner. They said if I would stay, they would give me brook trout and lobster. What an inducement! It was two weeks since the fish were caught, but they were as fresh as could be. You may not all have the opportunity of having fresh lobster, but some of you may be glad to know the way they keep the trout. The trout were cleaned and the heads removed, then they were packed in a refrigerator tray like sardines, head and tail alternating, then they were frozen quickly. The lobsters were boiled, then taken from the shell and packed in another tray and frozen. The trout were thawed in cold water but the lobsters were just left at room temperature to thaw. The trout were just as delicious as if they had been caught that very day. The flavor of the lobster was not quite as good as if it had been fresh caught, but it was better than lobster that has been kept a day or two, and very much better than canned lobster. I understand that some canneries are shipping frozen canned lobster. The lobster is boiled, then put in the can and frozen.

It is shipped frozen and must be kept that way until just before using. Ordinary canned lobster is cooked in the can. I had never thought of using the refrigerator tray to keep fish but if we are ever lucky enough to have a surplus, we will know how to keep it perfectly fresh. The secret is, of course, as in the commercially frozen foods, quick freezing.

STRAWBERRY MERINGUE

3 egg whites, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 box of sweetened crushed strawberries, ½ cup whipping cream. Beat the eggs until stiff, add sugar gradually and beat until very stiff. Line a 9-inch layer cake tin with paper and spread the meringue in this. Bake in a slow oven of 300 degrees for 45 minutes. Whip the cream and fold into the crushed berries and pour this over the meringue.

JELLIED VEAL

Cover two shanks of veal with hot water and simmer until tender and meat falls off the bones. Salt when partly cooked. An onion and a stick or two of celery boiled with the meat adds to the flavor. Let meat stand in water until cooked enough to handle. Remove all gristle and cut meat into small pieces or put through grinder. Taste the broth and add salt and pepper if necessary. Put the meat in a loaf tin or in small moulds and cover with the broth, stirring lightly with a fork to get the liquid well mixed with the meat. Chill and unmould. This jellies very easily without adding gelatine. Cover the bones with water and make a clear soup.

Earnings of Children

Public sympathy seems to be unanimously with "Jackie" Coogan in his effort to recover from his mother some of the money, reputed to be anywhere from a million to several millions, which he earned as a child star in the movies. Under the California law, and that of all other states, so far as we know, whatever an infant earns before reaching 21 belongs legally to his or her parents. After the child reaches legal age, the parents are no longer responsible for his or her support.

There should be some provision for exceptions in the case of precocious children whose talents enable them to earn huge sums in infancy, most people will agree. Parental affection and generosity cannot always be relied upon. But it is not always wise to let any young man or woman have unrestricted control of a great fortune, even though they have earned it.

In the case of child movie stars and musical prodigies, their earnings should be placed in trust under the control of an appropriate court, and both children and parents should share in the future incomes.

PRE-WAR STYLES

Here we are doing up shirt waists just as we did in pre-war days! It takes such a short time to launder them yourself that you need not send them out or put them in the family laundry. When you do a georgette blouse keep the suds and rinse waters the same temperature, always lukewarm. Dissolve the soap flakes and whip them into a heavy suds in the wash water. If you have "hard" water use more soap instead of a water softener. If, however, you prefer to use the softener, measure it as carefully as you would baking powder for a cake and follow the manufacturer's directions implicitly. Squeeze the suds through the fabric and squeeze rather than twist when you ring from one water to another. Rinse through at least four waters, using the same squeezing process in rinsing that you did in sudsing. Squeeze out the last rinse water and spread the blouse on a bath towel. Roll up tightly and by the time your iron is hot the blouse will be just right to iron.

When you dig the weeds from your lawn carry a small bag of lawn seed with you and drop a pinch of seed in every hole left by the weed. This will keep your sward even and the grass will crowd out new weeds which might come from a fragment of root left in the ground.

GARDEN FURNITURE

We have found that the furniture we use in the garden needs special attention to prevent decay as well as the usual care given porch furniture to keep it attractive. All the parts that come in contact with the ground should be dipped in creosote. This preserves the wood and will prolong the life of garden furniture for many years.

Even weddings are colorful this year, with brides deserting the traditional white and choosing pale blues for the wedding gown. Tea-rose — a lovely pinkish ivory — is another popular color this season.

Catherine the Great

She Ruled an Empire, Married an Imbecile,
And Had a Score of Lovers

Catherine the Great was the most famous Empress that ever sat upon the glittering throne of Russia.

Yet her real name was not Catherine. And she was not Russian. And some historians don't even think she was great.

When she came to Russia, she was a nobody — a little poverty-stricken German princess who had been reared like a ragmuffin. She arrived in Russia, friendless and penniless, and with only three dresses to her name. Yet she managed to marry the Grand Duke Peter, the heir to the throne of all the Russians. But Peter didn't amount to much. He was a drivelling imbecile. His face was pitted and marked with the ravages of small-pox, and he used to go to bed with his boots on. Even after he became Czar, he got drunk with his own servants, took a whip and beat his soldiers with his own hands, and lay on the floor, for hours at a time, playing with wax dolls dressed in military uniform.

He despised her, and she loathed him. So she staged a revolt, kicked him off the throne, and had one of her lovers put arsenic in his vodka.

But he was so tough that even arsenic couldn't kill him; so Catherine's lover knocked him down and choked him to death by thrusting a napkin down his throat.

Then, for thirty-four years after that, Catherine ruled one of the greatest empires on earth — ruled over a land inhabited by fifty different races, and she called it her "Little Household." She never married again; but she wasn't exactly lonesome. For scores, yea, perhaps hundreds of different lovers, danced in the ballroom of her warm and romantic heart. Yet she was so strict with her grandsons that she made them stop studying botany because they asked questions about the reproduction of plants.

She supported her lovers in regal splendor and squandered on them five hundred million dollars. Even though some of them hadn't the least bit of ability, nevertheless she made them generals in the army. She made them generals and plutocrats and premiers. She conquered Poland and made one of her lovers King of Poland. He didn't want to be a king; but she was tired of him and wanted to get rid of him anyway. Later on, she ruined him, and brought his gilded throne back to Russia and used it in her bathroom.

Then Catherine the Great fell in love with an ugly giant, bearing the name of Potemkin. Potemkin only had one eye. He had lost the other one in a tavern brawl.

Although Potemkin lived in a palace glittering with all the splendour and riches of Asia, he went about with nothing but house slippers on his bare feet. His hair was uncombed; and he always needed a bath. He chewed his finger nails; and he ate raw onions and garlic. But Potemkin was a tornado of physical energy, and the mere touch of his hand filled Catherine with a vast and tender happiness. She called him her "golden pheasant," and her "pigeon," her "bow-wow."

Her "bow-wow" was one of the greatest generals Russia ever had; and yet he was afraid of the noise of guns and trembled like a school girl whenever a cannon was fired.

Although Catherine was the richest woman in the world, she ate only two meals a day; and almost anyone in America of modest income enjoys better cooked food than Catherine the Great often had. She had her dinners served on plates of gold; yet if the cook burned the meat, she merely laughed and ate it just the same.

PRETTY WEDDING AT SUMMER RESIDENCE, MacDONALD LAKE

McCoy-Ayerst

At "Glen Ayerst," Lake MacDonald, the summer home of the bride's father, the marriage of Eileen Florence, daughter of Mr. W. A. S. Ayerst and of the late Mrs. Ayerst, to Mr. George Arnott McCoy, son of the late Edmond H. McCoy and of Mrs. McCoy, of Lachute, was solemnized on Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Burton Robinson, of Fairmount-St. Giles United Church, officiated. The home was decorated with pale pink peonies, the ceremony taking place in front of the fire-place, arranged with peonies and white tapers. An orchestra played the wedding music.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. George Gordon-Tilley, as matron of honor, and by Miss Mildred Brown and Miss Gertrude Cloutier, bridesmaids. Mr. J. F. A. MacIntosh was best man for the bridegroom and the ushers were Mr. J. K. Campbell and Mr. Fred Ayerst, brother of the bride.

Mr. Ayerst gave his daughter in marriage. She was dressed in an original model of white taffeta, having a tight bodice and heart-shaped neckline, the long sleeves finished with a ruffle of Brussels lace over the hands and the very full skirt opening at the waist in redingote style to show a petticoat of Brussels lace ruffles. Her veil of silk net edged in Brussels lace was held in place by a halo of orange blossoms, and her sandals matched her gown. She carried a trailing bouquet of white orchids and lilies-of-the-valley. The matron of honor and bridesmaids were dressed alike in Winter halter gowns of orchid silk net, with deep hems and fichus of orchid lace. Their shoes matched their gowns and they carried trailing bouquets of pale pink wisteria.

At a reception following the ceremony, the dining-room was decorated with pale pink and white carnations and long white tapers. Mrs. J. K. Campbell, sister of the bride, received in a floor-length gown of navy organdy embroidered in white with a deep hemline and yoke of white embroidered organdy and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. McCoy, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of navy blue sheer with a three-quarter length jacket, a navy mohair hat trimmed with green leaves and a corsage of lilies-of-the-valley.

Later, the bridal couple left for a wedding trip through the Adirondacks and the Southern States, the bride travelling in a hand-knitted suit of biscuit boucle with a striped top of rust and turquoise and a bolero to match the skirt, a model hat in biscuit colored felt and accessories to match. Mr. and Mrs. George Arnott McCoy will reside in Montreal upon their return.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. D. A. McAdam, Mrs. F. Stanley and Miss Marion Stanley, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne McCoy and Flight Lieutenant and Mrs. Clive Trecarten, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Dunbar, Mr. Ayerst Dunbar, of Elkton, Maryland; Mrs. Harriet Hunter, of Holyoke, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Todd, of Quebec City.

The DOCTOR Tells the Story by W.E. Aughinbaugh, M.D.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Infantile paralysis is a disease about which the medical man has much to learn. It undoubtedly is spread by direct and indirect contact with people and it happens most frequently in the late summer months and the early part of the fall. If your child complains of headache, pains in the back of the neck and head, vomits a few times, is restless and drowsy — feverish, irritable and does not want to be moved — send for your doctor at once. Often there may be pains in the back, legs and spine, and within twenty-four hours or more, the little one cannot move arms or legs.

Everything depends upon prompt and scientific treatment, otherwise your baby may be deformed for life, if he lives through the nerve wracking days that are ahead. The crippling after effects are the worst features of this disease. I had a mother of a baby, both of whom were taken ill with the disease. The baby has completely recovered and shows no ill effects, while the mother, due to her good constitution, is now walking without help and shows only the slightest traces of the disease in the way in which she uses one arm.

PASSING HEALTH QUARANTINE

At one time towns used to quarantine against other towns where there were epidemics of this illness. Conveyances and trains were stopped and inspected by officials and babies were sent back to their homes. Two of my patients, fearing that their children might contract infantile paralysis, decided to remove their offspring to their country places, several hundred miles distant from New York. I told them that it would be impossible to get past the cordon of police and health officers, but they only laughed at me. Later on I ascertained how they accomplished their purpose. One man placed his two children in large milk cans in an open auto truck and the quarantine officer waved him to pass, while the other rented an auto-hearse from his undertaker friend, placed his three children in it and went through to his destination without being halted.

Notes and Comment from Brownsburg

At a recent meeting of the Brownsburg Council the Mayor, Mr. George Ball, called attention to the legislation which governed the price of milk in the village and the spread between the producer and consumer. It is alleged that this act which is applicable to Brownsburg reacts solely against the consumer in the matter of price and deprives the people of the right of obtaining their supplies in open competitive market. The Council were inclined to view the matter as seriously affecting the welfare of the poorer consumers and were determined to take strong action to have the law repealed. Discussion of the subject was placed on the agenda of next meeting.

Upwards of thirty young men left Brownsburg to undergo two weeks' military training at Valcartier. Dressed in regulation army uniform the boys entrained on Monday, and while regarded by many as an enjoyable holiday, this period nevertheless serves an important economic and military purpose. The C.I.L. made special effort to facilitate any of its employees who desired to partake in this annual training.

LAWN SOCIAL A SUCCESS

The lawn social held by the Brownsburg United Church Ladies' Auxiliary on Tuesday evening was a success in every way. Fine weather prevailed and the large number who attended entered wholeheartedly into the spirit of the occasion. Twenty bandmen of the Montreal Salvation Army Citadel Band furnished the varied program, which consisted of band music, solos, choruses, etc., under direction of the Bandmaster, G. Oudiere. The Band was accompanied by Brigadier and Mrs. Best and other friends. The minister, Rev. S. J. Pike, introduced the Brigadier, who took charge of the program. Rev. J. R. Simpson, of the Maple Ave. Baptist Church, brought greetings.

Once more the ladies are gratified to have brought to this community an event which will not soon be forgotten — a program of fine talent indeed — the "Evangelism" of music; a variety of appetizing fare and the social meeting of friends. The mance lawn was tastefully decorated and illuminated.

Interesting Indians

East of Gallup, N. M., lies fascinating Indian country. No people on this continent are more vigorous, racially pure, or more independent than the nomadic Navajos who roam the mesas around Gallup. These peaceful but self-reliant Indians run millions of head of sheep, ride like Cossacks, make hand-worked silver jewelry with sky-blue turquoise settings, weave colorful rugs from patterns never set to paper, and hold fast to native customs and ceremonials.

Augustus and Julius Caesar

AUGUSTUS Caesar was born September 23, 63 B. C., and was given the name Octavius. Being grand-nephew and favorite of Julius Caesar, he became, through adoption, Caesar Octavianus, and upon becoming ruler of Rome in 27 B. C., took the title of Augustus. Although the title of imperator was conferred upon him by the senate, and he had within his grasp the complete power of a modern dictator, both civil and military, Augustus preferred the title of "principal citizen." He took up the work of Julius Caesar where the daggers of the conspirators led by Brutus and Cassius had stopped it, carefully avoiding Caesar's fatal errors, and created throughout the Roman world a peace and prosperity which lasted for 200 years.

Sincere Tribute Paid to Memory of Late Dr. B.N. Wales, St. Andrews E.

One of Oldest Medical Practitioners in Canada, Succumbed to Heart Ailment on Sunday

WAS PRIME ORGANIZER AND FIRST PRESIDENT OF HISTORICAL SOCIETY

St. Andrews E. — Dr. Benjamin N. Wales died at his home here on Sunday, June 26th. He was a son of Charles Wales, and a grandson of Benjamin Wales, manager of the St. Andrews Paper Mill, built 1803-05, the first paper mill in Canada.

Dr. Wales graduated from McGill in 1874, with the degree of M.D.C.M., and in 1878 settled in Bury, Que., where he practiced medicine for 28 years. While there he was a leader in many efforts for the common good, in church, Bible Society, and the temperance movement; he took a great interest in the school, and in organizing courses of public lectures and a local orchestra.

On leaving Bury, at a farewell banquet he was presented with a gold-headed cane, and an address from which the following is a quotation: "As a physician you have been skillful, kind and courteous, always ready to respond to the call of the suffering, no matter how far away, or how stormy and disagreeable the weather. As a citizen you have always taken an active interest in the welfare of our village. Your life and example have been such as would invite both young and old to more earnest effort in building for themselves lives that endure."

In 1906, Dr. Wales removed to St. Andrews East, the home of his pioneer ancestors, where he continued as a physician until he retired from active practice. He was for 25 years coroner for the district of Terrebonne.

Dr. Wales had many and varied interests. He was an enthusiastic botanist, and while at McGill won a prize of a valuable microscope for his "Canadian Herbarium," the corporation of the St. Andrews Cemetery was due to his initiative and continued effort; he was one of those chiefly instrumental in the organization of the Historical Society of Argenteuil in 1934; he published a series of sketches of local history in (Continued on page 4)

Lions Club to Supervise Boys in Swimming

INSTRUCTION TO BE GIVEN AT WHITE'S BEACH ON WEDNESDAY EVENINGS

The members of Lachute Lions Club have considered for some time what they could do to make it possible for a number of young boys between the ages of 10 and 16 years to enjoy the privileges of a swim during the hot summer months, and at the same time, teach those to swim who at present are unable to. It is recognized that the project of building a swimming pool or beach is a matter for the entire community to foster, but until such time our young lads must grow up without learning to swim or else attempt swimming in places where the water is deep, and thus endanger their lives.

The Lions Club has considered this problem, and has arranged to escort boys between the ages of 10 and 16 to White's Beach on Wednesday evenings during July and August.

Mr. White has generously allowed the Lions Club the use of his beach for these occasions.

INFORMATION FOR LADS WISHING TO PARTICIPATE

The swimming period will be properly supervised by an expert swimmer and assistants. The following rules are to be strictly obeyed, or the boy will not be permitted to swim:

1. The boy must be at least 10 years old.
2. He must have either his father's or mother's written consent.
3. He must be willing to obey the requests of those in charge, in the following points: (a) He must demonstrate his ability to swim before being allowed to swim in the open water. Otherwise he must be confined to the enclosed area staked off for beginners. (b) At no time must he swim beyond the patrol boat. There will be no second chance given to any boy who violates this rule. (c) When the signal for coming out is given, he must immediately head for shore. Each boy must bring his own towel and swimming trunks.

Any boys wishing to join in these periods will meet in front of the Auditorium next Wednesday after-

Girl Hurt in Auto Crash on Brown's Main Street

TWO CARS DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Brownburg — A young girl named Mildred Tilsley was painfully injured on Main Street here during the week, when two cars came into collision, one of which went out of control and dashed into the little girl. She was knocked unconscious on the street, bleeding profusely from a wound on the head. It was subsequently learned that her arm had been broken. The second car was driven by the impact down a flight of steps to the door of Mr. Paquette's barber shop. Both cars were damaged.

Three Families Homeless As Fire Burns Dwelling

MAN TRAPPED UPSTAIRS SUFFERS INJURIES AND BURNS

A frame dwelling adjacent to the C.N.R. on Hope Street was gutted by fire Tuesday evening and three families were left homeless. Fire started at 7.45 o'clock in the downstairs flat occupied by the owner, Phileas Malette. The Malettes have six children. Edgar and Ovila Presseault were occupants of the upper flat; in these families there are three children.

The Malette family had left the house fifteen minutes before the fire started. Children outside gave the alarm as flames broke through the wall downstairs. The fire brigade arriving promptly on the scene, found the blaze spreading rapidly through the house, and almost all the interior was burned. Insurance to the amount of $1,000 was held on the building.

Edgar Presseault, who rushed up the outdoor stairway to save some of his family's effects, was trapped inside and could not reach the doorway. He opened the window to jump, but in doing so caught his foot and fell head foremost to the veranda below. He was treated by Dr. J. H. Mason for severe burns on the left arm and a badly bruised shoulder. The three families took refuge with relatives in town.

LOCAL CLASSES FOR SEIGNIORY CLUB SHOW

The seventh annual Seignior Club Horse Show, scheduled for July 7-10 on the show grounds at Montebello, is attracting increased attention this year. The catalogue of events shows a list of 47 classes, as well as the Hunter Field Classes, always a popular feature with spectators, who come from many parts of the United States and Canada.

Hunter and performer classes include six contests open to exhibitors living and horses stabled permanently within a radius of 150 miles of Montebello.

The harness division is divided into eleven classes, with that for combination harness and saddle horses and the single roadster stake restricted to exhibitors living and horses stabled permanently within a radius of 150 miles of Montebello.

Saddle events also include one class for mare or gelding, open to exhibitors living and horses stabled permanently within 150 miles of Montebello.

Three agricultural classes are to be exhibited, including an event for exhibitors living within a 25 mile radius of Montebello and a class for heavy draught teams for the Booth Challenge trophy.

The Hunter Field Trials will be run on Sunday morning, July 10, over a course of approximately one and one half miles. They are open to horses that have competed in one or more classes of the Seignior show.

noon, July 6th. If the weather is wet and cool, they will meet on Thursday afternoon. The truck will leave sharply at 4.45. Any other information may be obtained from J. S. Giles, at the Watchman Office.

MONTR'L GROUP PROBES AUTO INSURANCE RATES

Expressing pleasure that the Montreal Chambre de Commerce has appointed a committee to study present rates of automobile insurance, directors of the Province of Quebec Safety League have submitted two questions to this committee.

The league has been seeking to obtain the establishment of a merit rating system whereby car owners who do not have accidents should at least reap the benefit of their safe driving by paying lesser rates.

The two questions which the directors of the league have sent to the Chambre de Commerce committee are as follows:

"Why is it that the owner of a light automobile must pay $62.50 for insurance in the Province of Quebec when it costs 40 per cent less, or only $37.50, in the Province of Ontario?"

"How is it that it costs $86.55 to insure an average vehicle in the Province of Quebec, when it costs 34 per cent less, or $57.12, in the Province of Ontario?"

In the letter forwarded to the Chambre de Commerce the officials of the Province of Quebec Safety League express their surprise that motorists pay, year after year, such increases in rates without protest.

Homes Yardstick of Nation, Says Speaker at W.I.

REPORTS AND FORCEFUL TOPIC GIVEN BEFORE LACHUTE LADIES

An interesting meeting of Lachute Women's Institute was held in the lecture room of Lachute High School Tuesday afternoon, and a good number of ladies were present, this being the closing session for the summer. Mrs. G. Leggett, the president, was in the chair, and a report of the catering activities at Lachute Fair was presented by Mrs. G. G. Mitchell, an account of the visit to Ottawa and the Experimental Farm by Mrs. L. Morris, and a report of the delegates to Macdonald College by Mrs. W. LeCras.

These were followed by a well-prepared paper by Mrs. W. F. McMartin entitled "No Nation Can Rise Above the Level of Its Own Homes."

The speaker dealt extensively with the study of poor homes, which she characterized as "a thermometer to express the nation's degree of social temperature — its moral, mental and physical yardstick." Social costs of bad housing could be summed up in terms of sickness, injuries and deaths, delinquency and crime, lowering of the quality of citizenship, and increase of family disintegration and social unrest. "It should be the duty of organizations such as ours, to do everything we possibly can to clean out the disease and filth predominating in these districts. For the most part, it is heartbreaking, uphill work, but the results are more than worth the amount of time, patience and work involved," said the speaker.

As an example of such work, Mrs. McMartin cited the case of Liverpool, England: "Liverpool, a pioneer in municipal slum clearance, as early as 1897, adopted the policy of getting the identical families displaced by clearance, into the new houses provided. As a result, a 50% decrease in all rates for T.B. and infant death resulted in the areas so cleansed and rehabilitated. This work was not accomplished in any short time, but a result like this is well worth the time and thought it took."

Skull Fractured in Fall While Unloading Hay

WELL KNOWN ST. ANDREWS RESIDENT VICTIM OF MISHAP

St. Andrews East — This community is grieved at the serious accident to Mr. Harland MacEwan, which necessitated his removal to Western Hospital in Montreal suffering from a fractured skull. While unloading hay last Friday, Mr. MacEwan slipped and fell to the cement floor of the stable, being rendered unconscious. As he was working alone at the time he was in danger of further injury from the horses' hoofs, but fortunately the animals remained quiet till he was removed. Mr. MacEwan was reported still in an unconscious condition up to Tuesday evening.

Gatineau Point Farmer Finds Cow Slaughtered

When Henri Charette, Gatineau Point farmer, went to his fields Monday morning to bring in the cows for milking he found part of the carcass of one of the animals lying in the grass. During the night the cow had been slaughtered and the best part of the meat removed.

Eugene Decosse, chief of the Quebec provincial police in Hull, expressed the opinion that a person familiar with cutting meat from a cow had committed the crime because only the best quality meat was removed. The farmer valued the animal at $60.

Gov't Missed Opportunity

When Premier King failed to put it up to Parliament to celebrate Victoria Day on Monday, May 23rd, we think he missed an opportunity to do something which would have met with popular approval. It was thought that the governor-in-council had power to make the change, but Mr. King intimated that control of statutory holidays rested with Parliament. Why then was it not put up to Parliament?

It seems that Parliament is not accustomed to making quick decisions and that the proposal to make the change would have to be left over for another year.

This, of course, is "old stuff."

SESSION COMING TO A CLOSE

Ottawa, June 28th. — Spurred to increased activity by the approach of the Conservative convention, which meets on July 5th, and by the sweltering heat, Parliament has been rounding out its legislative program, pushing bills through their final stages and generally cleaning up its work. The indisposition of Mr. Dunning, Finance Minister, caused by overwork on the budget and by the excessive heat, slight though the illness fortunately appears to be, has given a further incentive to parliamentarians to get through with their business as soon as possible. In a very few days now, according to the recent prediction of the Prime Minister, the session will come to a close.

DEBATE ON THE BUDGET

The debate on the budget always gives an opportunity for a general attack on the economic and financial policy of the Government, and for those who have special theories on the solution of present day difficulties to expound their theories to the House. The speeches in the short three-day debate this year have criticized many features of the budget but the attacks have not been bitter. These speeches followed an amendment and a sub-amendment which were introduced, the amendment by the Conservatives criticizing the budget for its failure to lighten the taxation burden of industry and the people, and the sub-amendment from the C.C.F. party which claimed that the Government had not lived up to its pledges made in 1919 to reduce the tariff and so lower the cost of instruments of production. Many speeches have expressed approval of the clarity and comprehensiveness of (Continued on page 3)

'GREY ROCKS' AIR-PILOT TO JOIN EXPEDITION

Lincoln Ellsworth has again selected two Canadian pilots for his forthcoming Antarctic flight expedition. Chosen for the hazardous enterprise, to begin in August, are James H. (Red) Lymburner, of Montreal, a member of the 1935 party, and Burton James Terice, youthful pilot with the Grey Rocks Inn air service at St. Jovite.

Terice, born in Amherst, N.S., learned to fly in Moncton, N.B., with Canadian Airways, Ltd. His ability soon recognized, Terice entered the service of Canadian Airways and has been flying steadily since 1929.

When the Grey Rocks Inn inaugurated its service two years ago, Terice was appointed and has been employed there since doing general transportation work and restocking from the air, the trout lakes of the Laurentians. Terice has obtained leave of absence for the Ellsworth expedition, and sets out next month for New York.

According to present plans, Lymburner will replace Hollick-Kenyon as No. 1 pilot, while Terice will occupy Lymburner's former post in the other plane.

the way governments and politicians have of sidestepping certain issues.

There are other holidays, too, which might permanently be celebrated to advantage on the Monday — Dominion Day and Remembrance Day. Parliament should be given an opportunity during the present session to express itself on these statutory holiday proposals, and it might be just as well if Victoria Day were dealt with at the same time.

Who is there who would not greatly prefer holidays to fall on Monday? Who would object? Labor, we think would greatly favor Monday and we think, too, that business interests generally would favor Monday for economic reasons. Patriotic societies might fear the change, but we think their fears would prove groundless.

Why the Government should fail to heed a popular request is difficult to understand.

MORALS . . . declining
Speaking to a group of California women the other day, Ex-President Hoover said:

"Government in a democracy can afford some inefficiency. That is the price we pay for self-government, for intellectual and spiritual freedom. But government in a democracy cannot be immoral — that saps its very life."

No one who has made it his chief business to observe the political scene and comment on it, as I have been doing for more than forty years, can deny that the state of political morals has been constantly declining in America for many years. The reason, or one of them, seems to be that politics has become a business in itself, a sort of racket in which honest men hesitate because of the dirt with which they are sure to be besmirched if they refuse to wallow in it with the "gang."

EDUCATION . . . management

I sat in front of the youthful president of Harvard the other day while he talked about education. I understood why he was the head of a great university. He emphasized what I have long believed, that the one solid foundation upon which any correct understanding of today's affairs and conditions must be based, is the study of what happened and how people behaved in the past. In other words, history.

I hear youngsters just out of high school or college complaining that they have had a badly-muddled world wished on them to manage and they haven't been taught how to manage it. If they had been taught more history, they would realize that the world is no more muddled than it always has been, and that nobody is expected to manage the world until he has lived in it long enough to find out what makes it go 'round.

The object of education is, or should be, to teach the young how to manage their own individual lives, to get the most satisfaction and contentment out of life. If a boy has learned in college that it does not take wealth to live a happy life, and that the world is likely to go on for some time about as it has always done, he has got an education.

PATENTS . . . limit monopoly

A bill has been introduced in Congress to permit anyone to obtain a license to make and use any patented device which has not been put into use within three years of the granting of the patent. This suggestion is one of many which are frequently made, based upon the common notion that there is something vicious about the monopoly which a patent grants to an inventor for seventeen years.

The principle upon which the U.S. patent law is based is that an inventor who is willing to patent — which means literally to "make public" — his invention is entitled to the exclusive use of it for a limited period in consideration of his having made it public and free to everybody after his brief monopoly expires.

There is no compulsion on any inventor to take out a patent. He can keep his invention secret and enjoy a perpetual monopoly in its use, which he can usually protect under the common law. The patent law, instead of perpetuating monopolies, is designed to limit and eventually abolish them.

GLASS . . . for building

Glass is one of the oldest of all man-made products. The ingredients of which glass is made, principally sand and soda, are found everywhere. Its cost is so small that, now that means have been found to keep it from breaking, it is coming more and more into use as a building material.

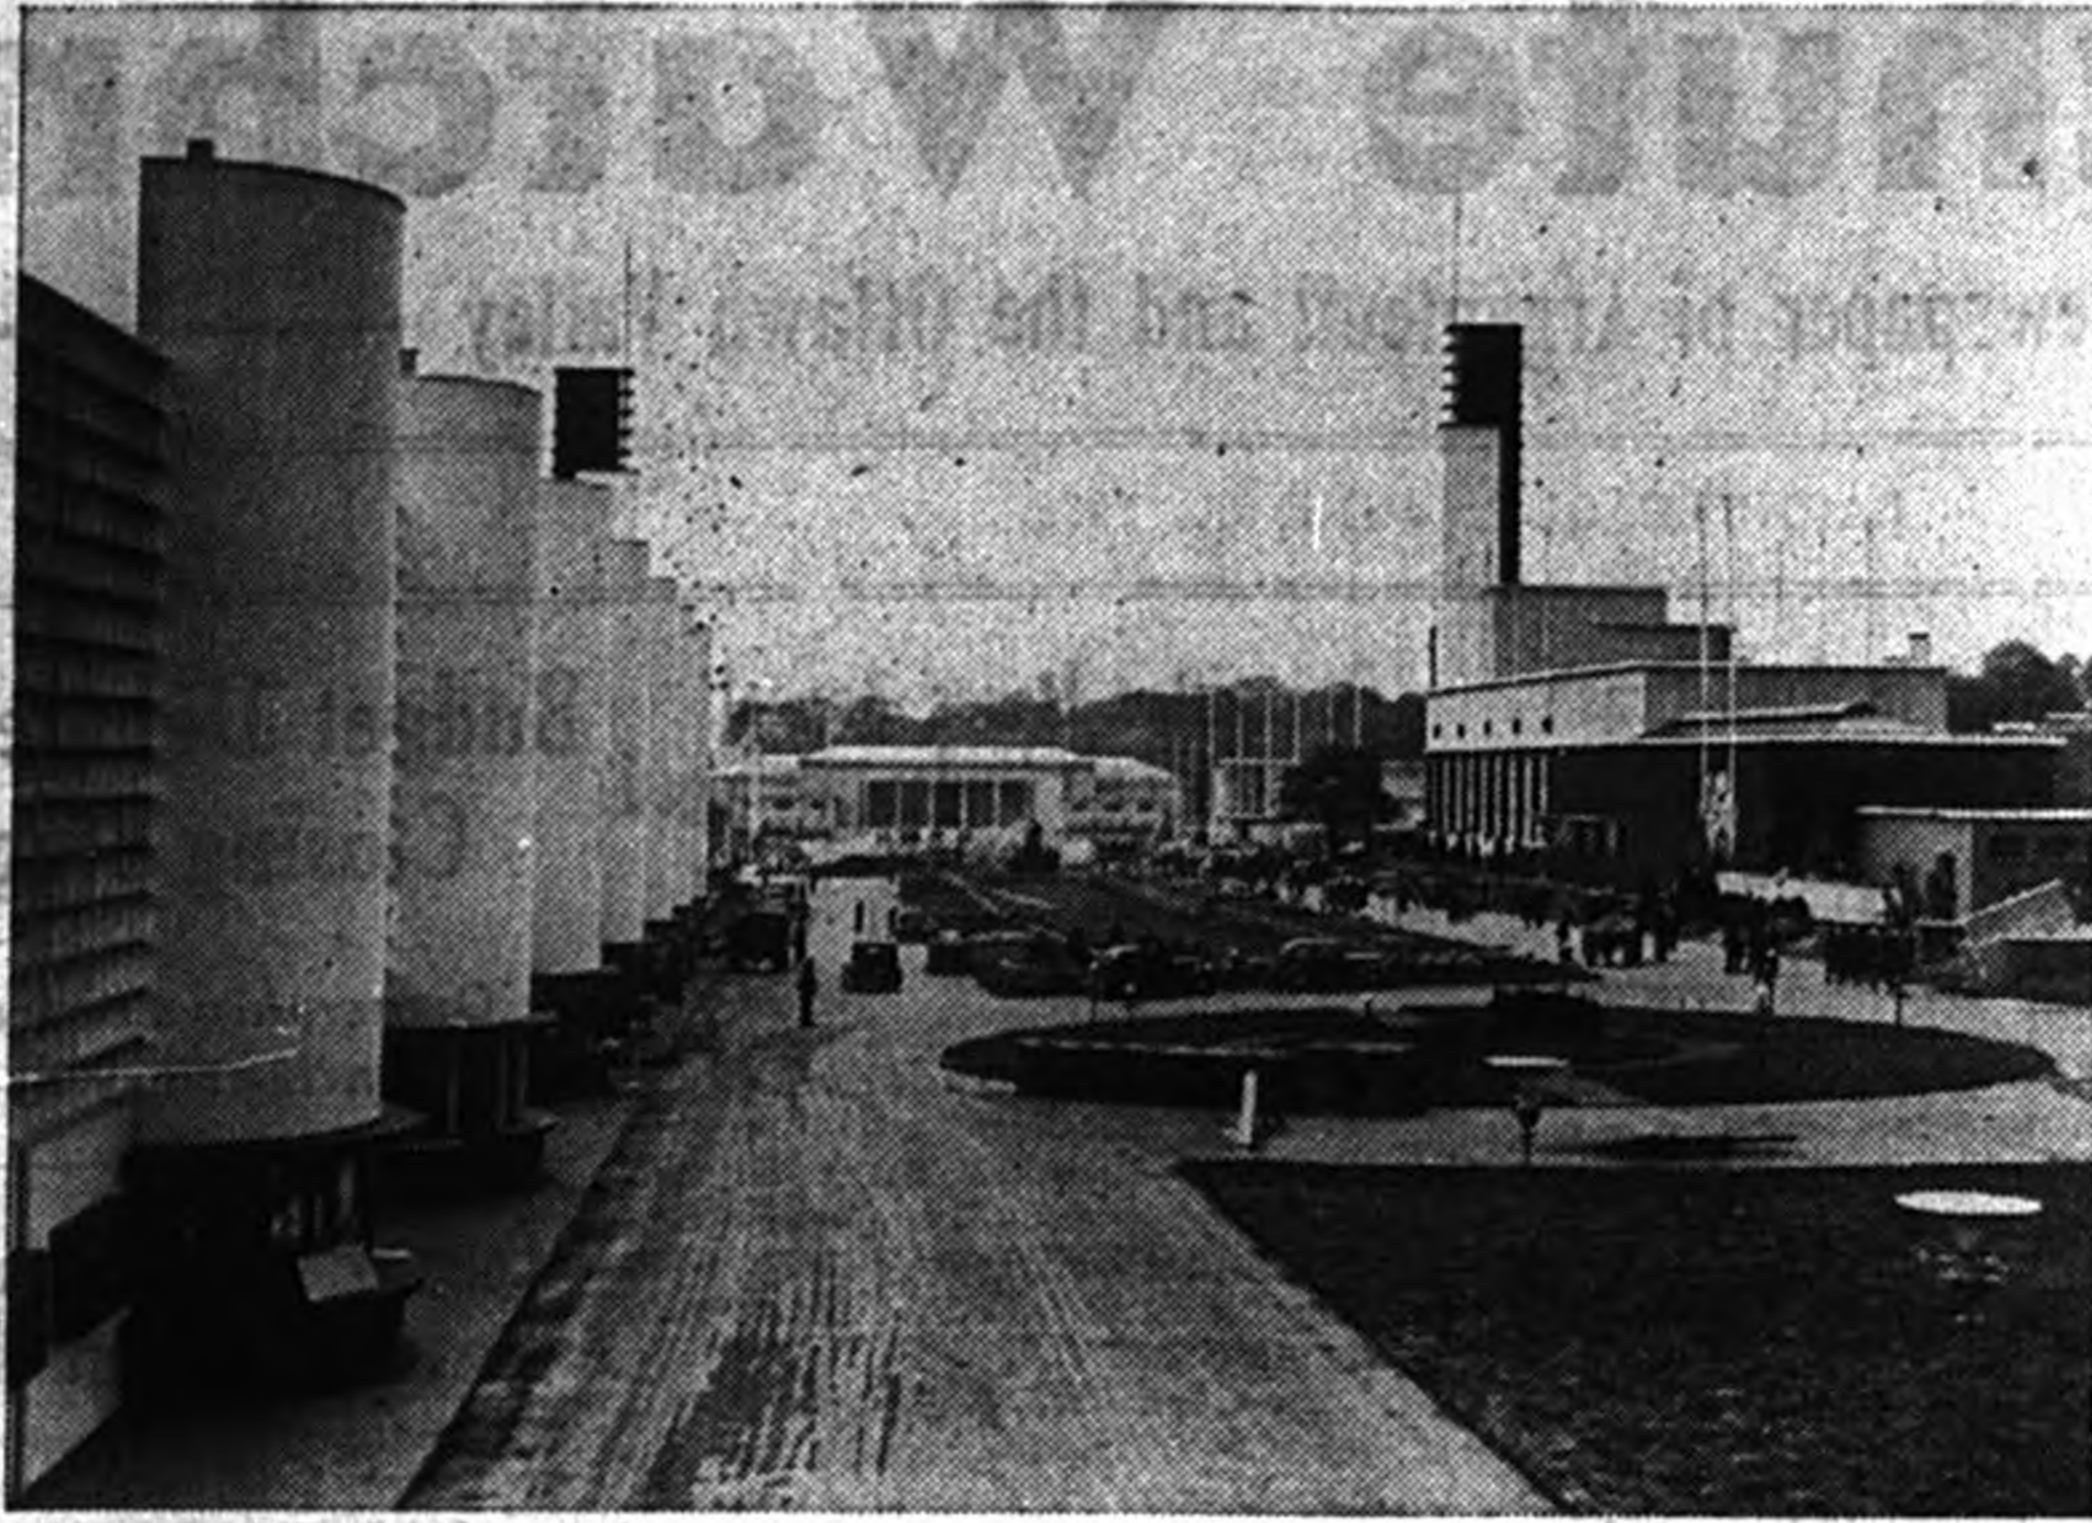

Down in Florida I saw a new kind of flexible glass in use for porches of the gigantic aquarium of the Marine Studios. The glass is 1/2 of an inch thick, and a sheet of it 15 by 30 inches can be bent more than two inches without breaking.

Hardly a week passes that I do not see or hear of some new kind of glass or glass applied to new uses. The latest is "foam" glass, which is a new soundproof building material. It can be moulded into blocks or bricks of any size or color, and when used for the walls of buildings, or for lining the walls, it absorbs all sounds instead of transmitting or echoing them.

Protecting Plants From Damage by Insect Pests

Gardening is an adventure replete with anticipations and surprises, and, like life, with disappointment; yet, says G. R. Snyder, soil chemist, those who work and persist are well rewarded. Each morning one awakens with a desire to see what new bud or blossom has come forth, or what succulent vegetable can be harvested for the table. With the coming of warmer weather, however, a sharp lookout must be maintained for insect pests and fungus diseases, so that control measures may be applied before serious damage occurs.

An examination of the damage done by insects will show that there are two distinct classes — biting insects which defoliate the plants by eating the leaves, and sucking insects which, with long needle-sharp tongues, penetrate the surface of leaves and stems and suck the juices from within.

Biting insects can be controlled by stomach poisons, such as arsenate of lead, sprayed or dusted on the leaves and stems of the plants. For sucking insects thorough and frequent spraying with nicotine sulphate, a substance that kills by contact or smothering, is most effective.

Among the earliest of garden pests are the root maggots that attack all members of the cabbage family, radishes included. These are easily controlled by saturating the soil around the plants, as soon as growth commences, with a solution of corrosive sublimate of the strength of one ounce to one gallon of water. This substance is very poisonous and should be kept out of reach of children and livestock.

Cutworm, that exasperating pest which neatly cuts off newly set out plants, can be poisoned by scattering thinly around the plants a mash composed of one quart of bran, one teaspoonful of paris green and sufficient sweetened water to dampen it.

The damage wrought by insects and plant diseases, whether they be of the vegetable garden, flower garden, shrubs or shade trees, are greatly reduced by increasing the vitality of the host plants; hence the use of fertilizers and good cultural practices are the gardener's most powerful protective weapons.

First Across Old Bridge, Veteran Is First Over New

When the new railway bridge across the Saint John River between Fredericton and 'South' Devon was officially opened, Herbert Belyea rode in the engine cab of the first train across. Now 74 years of age, Belyea drove the first locomotive over the old bridge in June, 1888. He served with the Canadian National Railways 44 years.

The new bridge replaces the structure of half a century ago, which was carried away by flood and ice in 1936.

Summer Health Hints

To the usual run of Summer Health Hints published in newspapers at this season, the Ottawa Citizen adds a few new ones designed to ensure the comfort of holiday trippers. The following tips are given:

Don't try to do 75 miles an hour just to let the children see the speedometer hand go around.

Don't use dried brushwood as an ashtray.

Don't bolt a meal of pop and hot-dogs and then blame the pop and hot-dogs for that uncomfortable feeling below the waist.

Don't argue with the policeman over the traffic rules.

Don't tell the wife how she looks in shorts.

MODESTY'S SAKE

Wife was vigorously powdering her face before going out.

"Why do you go to all that trouble?" asked hubby, who was waiting impatiently.

"Modesty, my dear," was the reply.

"Modesty?"

"Yes, I've no desire to shine in public." — Montreal Herald.

Engineering Marvels at Vancouver

The Empress of Japan, Queen of the Pacific, passing under the splendid new bridge now under construction across the First Narrows, the entrance to Vancouver's landlocked harbor. The mainmast of the vessel is 195 feet above her load line, the bridge being 209 feet above high Spring tides.

The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, in addition to holding all the speed records on her Canada, Hawaii, Orient run is the largest ship entering Vancouver Harbor. The illustration clearly shows the magnitude and the beauty of both ship and bridge.

Rural Audience Has Better Discernment, Says CBC Head

Major Gladstone Murray, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, told members at a meeting of the Canadian Women's Press Club in Winnipeg that plays for the Canadian radio must primarily appeal to rural audiences.

Major Murray said: "The rural audience is the largest, has the best judgment and is more discerning." He hoped the "usual horrible caricature" of the farmer would be erased from all writing, radio and print.

"Least of all try to appeal to a sophisticated audience and remember that Shakespeare is still the most popular radio dramatist," Major Murray advised.

There is much and increasing opportunity for writers in the field of radio, the CBC official stated. "The corporation will shortly offer prizes amounting to perhaps $300 for the best radio scripts."

A Dufferin county farmer was trying to waken his new hired man at 4 a.m.

"What are we going to do today, Boss?" he yawned.

"Harvest oats," the farmer replied. "Are they wild?"

"Nothing wild about 'em that I know of. Why do you ask?"

The hired man was puzzled. "If they're not wild," he enquired, "why do we have to sneak up on 'em in the dark?"

Victor Desjardins, 23-year-old resident of St. Jovite, was struck in the abdomen by the crank handle of a tractor while working on the highway recently. He was taken to hospital in Montreal, suffering from a badly torn abdomen, and his condition was reported as serious.

Mice and Field Crops

Professor Coventry, assistant biologist in the University of Toronto, in a recent address on some of the simpler matters of biology, pointed out the close inter-relationship of vegetable and animal life. This inter-relationship is an essential one. Many animals feed on plants; they in turn form the food of other animals or of man. Mice, for example, live on green stuff such as clover of various kinds. One thousand mice form a season's food for an owl of a half-pound in weight. They also form part of the food of hawks and other carnivora. Mice multiply very rapidly. A pair of mice will, under favorable conditions of food supply, climate, etc., become a million in a single year. Their destructive possibilities are enormous. It is a question if the loss of an odd chicken from the farmer's hen house through the marauding hawk is at all comparable to the losses to field crops from mice.

WHO OWNS CANADA'S BANKS?

Who are the owners and what do they do?

JIM BROWN, carpenter—your next-door neighbor—may be one of the supposed "Big Shots" who own the banks in Canada. He may own a couple of shares, or maybe only one.

Women, executors or trustees of estates, and retired people, comprise about 63 per cent. of the shareholders in one of Canada's banks, taken as an example.

Analysis of this particular bank, which may be regarded as typical, shows that women own nearly half of its shares. Farmers, merchants and professional men are the most numerous of the classes listed.

There are 260 occupations presented among the shareholders. They include:

Accountants, actors, barbers, bankers, bee-keepers, boat-builders, bricklayers, carpenters, cheesemakers, clergymen, dairymen, dentists, doctors, drovers, druggists, farmers, fishermen, forest rangers, funeral directors, grocers, insurance agents, jailers, journalists, linotypists, lobster buyers, miners, oil operators, plumbers, policemen, railway employees, ranchers, sailors, scalers, sheriffs, stenographers, stevedores, timber cruisers, tobacco farmers, trappers, and others.

These are among the folks who own the banks and so must be a part of that bogey with which some people seek to scare you—that fabled "international bankers' ring". They are mostly Canadians—your fellow-citizens—decent people like yourselves.

50,185 people hold the 1,445,000 chartered bank shares issued. Seventy out of every hundred shares are owned in Canada.

The average share-holding is 28.8 shares—but all through the lists of bank shareholders you will find hundreds who own from one to five shares.

There is no concentration of ownership and power in the hands of any small group. These shareholders annually elect directors. There are 172 directors of Canada's chartered banks. Their addresses dot the map of Canada from coast to coast. They are men of proven business ability; their own success has proved their judgment good; that judgment is always alert in safeguarding your money.

Their business experience reinforces the skill and training of the salaried bank executives in conserving the interests of the depositors, note-holders and shareholders.

Loans to bank directors, firms in which they are partners and loans for which they are guarantors, as of February 28th, 1938, did not exceed 1/100th part of the total loans made by the chartered banks. That is about the usual proportion. Monthly returns have to be made to the Government showing these borrowings.

No director may vote, or even be present at a meeting of the board when loans in which he has any interest are under discussion.

The law prevents a bank from doing certain things. A bank is prohibited from lending on mortgages, for loans must be of short term and quickly realizable.

A bank is forbidden to engage in trade. It must not buy, or lend against its own shares or the shares of any other chartered bank. No bank, bank director, or bank employee is allowed to hold shares in the Bank of Canada.

A bank must not let its name appear on certain prospectuses, nor may any of its staff represent insurance companies.

There are heavy penalties laid down for violation of any of these and other provisions of The Bank Act.

Your bank provides machinery for carrying out adequately the most widely varying, day-to-day transactions—financing farmer or factory, merchant or miner; simplifying business, facilitating the exchange of goods and services.

Canada's chartered banks are owned by your fellow-citizens, directed by men known as competent leaders of business and managed by able men risen from the ranks whose whole business life and experience has been in the bank.

They are at your service.

THE CHARTERED BANKS OF CANADA

Your local branch bank manager will be glad to talk banking with you. He will be glad to answer your questions, from the standpoint of his own experience. The next article in this series will appear in this newspaper. Watch for it.

the budget's description of Canada's financial and economic affairs, of the favorable showing of the Dominion exchequer in the past year with a deficit of only from 13 to 14 million dollars, and of the Dominion's avoidance of "pump priming" experiments such as those tried with such questionable success in the United States. But shafts of criticism, bearing in many cases the imprint of the particular economic and financial policies of the party to which the various speakers belonged, have been directed at the need of more effective protection of home markets, at the results of the trade agreement with the United States, at the lack of unity among Canadians, at unemployment measure, at the need of monetary reform, at the huge debt structure in Canada and a number of other questions. Members in many cases have placed before the House the special problems of their constituents, while others have dealt with the general economic questions facing the Dominion. The House has heard of the benefits of trade unencumbered by tariffs, while apostles of monetary reform have hammered home the need of a more generous use of the country's credit to develop our resources or the issuance of credit and currency according to the people's needs. The budget was finally approved by the House by a vote of 135 to 52.

THE BANK OF CANADA

Going through the House and soon to become law is the bill to invest the ownership of the central bank entirely in the hands of the Government. When the bank was created in 1935 the stock of the bank, aggregating 100,000 shares, was sold to the public at fifty dollars a share. In 1936, when the present Government was in power, 102,000 additional shares were issued and these were to be owned by the Government establishing majority ownership in the Government. Now the shares which have been owned by private individuals will be bought at $59.20 a share by the Dominion. The change has been made, as explained by the Minister of Finance, to put an end to continued controversy over the constitution of the bank. There would be no political complexion, he stated, to the bank or its policies. It would be an arm, not a department, of the Government. Manned as it must always be by experts in finance, the bank would build up a tradition of "high-minded independence." Its officials, with independence of judgment, would be able to talk at all times on equal terms to the Government on the bank's affairs.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF PENITENTIARIES

A commission, under the Ministry of Justice, will be appointed by the Government to administer, control and manage the penitentiaries of Canada. The royal commission, under the chairmanship of Judge Archambault, which investigated prison conditions and administration throughout the country, and which brought in a pretty scathing report, recommended the appointment of a commission of administration. The commission was to consist of three men. Their duties were to include certain other branches of administration such as remissions and tickets of leave, not under the control of the present superintendent and his three inspectors, which according to the recommendations are to be superseded. The whole prison system is in for a thorough overhauling, although it will probably take some time to put into force the general plan of reform suggested by the report.

THE RAILWAY PROBLEM

Whatever may be the result of investigation of the railway question by the Senate committee, this inquiry has helped to make the public more fully aware of this vital question. While C.P.R. officials have supported unification as the solution, and C.N.R. officials have opposed unification and suggested compulsory co-operation, the suggestion of organized labor has been to amend the B.N.A. Act to give the Federal Government control of the whole transportation system as in the United Kingdom. The President of the C.P.R. has recommended the appointment of a committee of independent experts to check up on the estimates of prospective savings under unification. The report of the Senate committee will soon be presented to that body.

Misnamed Seas

(Pariser Tageszeitung)

The waters of the Red Sea are a deep blue, while those of the Black Sea are green. Both seas owe their names to a mistake in translation. In the Orient the four directions are named after different colors, red being used to signify the south and black the north. Instead of translating the names according to their meaning, some topographical of the distant past interpreted them literally.

LOUIS-SCHMELING PICTURES

The brief but sensational Louis-Schmeling heavyweight bout will appear at the Rex Theatre, Lachute, tonight (Thursday). The only ring-side pictures taken of this event will be shown several times during the program, thus giving an authentic version for fans who arrived too late at the radio dial and missed the event on account of its brief duration.

Monument to One Man's Enthusiasm

Rare enough, in this day of diverse interests and distractions, are men who set themselves a worthy purpose and give untiring effort to its fulfillment. Such a man was the late Benjamin N. Wales, M.D., who died on Sunday at his home in St. Andrews East. In the years of his retirement one great objective seized his spirit and consumed his energies. It was an altruistic ideal — to preserve for posterity the relics and recollections of his contemporaries; to leave for future generations a legacy of local lore and history — the records of which were readily forgotten save for a few far-seeing citizens like this.

Dr. Wales gathered facts from numerous sources to publish his book, entitled "Memories of Old St. Andrews." But how much farther he pursued his purpose, is shown in the development of the Historical Society of Argenteuil County. He was the prime mover of this organization; through apathy and indifference he urged its formation and in the first years of its existence he acted as its president, imparting enthusiasm to this foundation which might prove the instrument of his ideal. . . . How successfully he strived, perhaps he never knew — for these strenuous labors took toll of his health and when, last week, Government collaboration gave apparent assurance to the Society's museum project, the doctor's physical endurance was ebbing fast.

To many of his village folk, Dr. B. N. Wales will be remembered as one of those well-loved and almost legendary figures — the rural family doctor. His type is fast disappearing. In that exacting role, before the days of easy transit to hospitals and the advance of specialists for every human ailment, he was at the beck and call of a wide clientele. He also served many years as coroner of this district.

Argenteuil Historical Society, with its proposed museum, will stand custodian to the colorful past of this countryside — as Dr. Wales had urged and pleaded. . . . And it will stand, moreover, a monument to this man's enthusiasm, embodying the long-formed hopes and unsparring labors of Argenteuil's greatest antiquarian.

Clothing From Paper

During the World War the Germans developed paper clothing, being unable to obtain enough cotton and wool to make clothes for the civilian population. Those "ersatz" garments proved so unsatisfactory, however, that as soon as the war was over woven fabrics took their place.

In Japan for centuries a considerable portion of the people have worn garments of various kinds, made of lacquered paper. Paper rain-coats are common in Japan, and the Japanese paper umbrellas were once common in America, but only as sunshades, not for protection against rain.

Now a new kind of paper fabric has been developed in the States and is shortly to be placed on the market for clothing of all kinds. It is already in use for other purposes, including pillow-cases. This new material, called Pewel, is made of wood pulp by a special process. It is neither spun nor woven. It is said to be soft, strong, as limp as silk, and has the appearance of percale or cotton broadcloth. It can be dyed in almost any color or printed in patterns like dress fabrics. The inventors say that it can be produced as cheaply as paper, so that soiled clothing and other articles made from it can be thrown in the fire, since there is no way of cleaning them.

This new fabric is in line with the woven glass fabrics which have also been made into dresses and even men's clothes. Like many other modern improvements, such things tend to lessen the demand for the old staples.

The Party System

Few things that can occur in a democracy are so dangerous to human liberties as unrestricted control of government by a single party. That is true, by whatever name the party in control is called.

For examples of what has happened in other nations where one party has succeeded in gaining unrestricted control, we need only look at Russia, where the Communists are alone in the field, at Germany, where the National Socialist Party sits in the saddle, and at Italy, where the Fascists override all opposition.

In Canada, there is no likelihood that any political party could emulate those domineering factions of Europe. But we feel that it is better for government to be faced at all times with a powerful opposition party. It is not only good for the nation in insuring that a one-sided point of view shall not dominate public affairs, but for the party in power itself, to keep it alive to its responsibilities to all citizens alike, regardless of their political affiliations. Self-discipline is the best discipline, but few organizations are capable of it. Faced with a strong opposition, party discipline becomes essential by reason of pressure from outside.

The Undefended Line

The Dominion's undefended border, seen as a supreme hope in an arming world, has inspired Guy Bilsland, a Canadian poet, to sing:

In all the page of history what parallel to this?
In times when warring nations' thoughts are crazed with Hate's hot wine.
How God must look with pleasure down upon that border line!

From Maine it runs through lake and stream to Manitoba's plain,
From Winnipeg to Kootenay — on, on and on again,
Through farms and ranch and forest range, o'er mountain crag and steep
To far Vancouver's garden homes, by broad Pacific's sweep.

Three thousand miles of border line, nor fort nor armed host
On all this frontier neighbor-ground from east to western coast;
A spectacle to conjure with, a thought to stir the blood!
A living proof to all the world of faith in brotherhood!

Three thousand miles of border line! One hundred years of peace!
In all the page of history what parallel to this?
God-speed that surely dawning day — that coming hour divine
When all the nations of the earth shall boast such border line!

Town Ordinance Protects Birds

A by-law compelling cat owners to provide their pets with a collar and bell, which ordinance has been in effect for the past two years at Stavelly, Alberta, has been so successful in protecting birds that other Alberta towns plan to enact a similar law, or to enforce those already enacted.

Stavelly's campaign to protect the birds has received international attention. Bird lovers in the United States, throughout Canada and in the United Kingdom, have sent letters of commendation. Many sought information, planning to seek similar laws for their cities or districts.

Under the law, "Every owner of a cat in the town of Stavelly shall cause the cat to wear around the neck a collar to which shall be fastened a bell and all cats not wearing a collar to which a bell is fastened will be destroyed."

SINCERE TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF THE LATE

the Montreal Gazette and Lachute Watchman, and these were later included in his book, "Memories of Old St. Andrews, and Historical Sketches of the Seigneurie of Argenteuil," published in 1934; he was very fond of music and chess and held some medals from the Correspondence Chess League of America; until the last year of his life he enjoyed riding a bicycle; he was instrumental in founding the St. Andrews East Boy Scout Troop, and for years was a most interested and helpful member of their committee. He was also an elder in the St. Andrews United Church and took a deep interest in all its work.

Dr. Wales married, in 1878, Miss Emma Theodosia Osgood, of Sawyer-ville, Que., who survives him, along with three daughters, Miss Julia Grace Wales, M.A., Ph.D., assistant professor of English at the University of Wisconsin; Miss Margaret Evelyn Wales, R.N., nurse of the Protestant Schools of Verdun, and Miss Anna Letitia Wales of the town.

The funeral service was held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the United Church. It was conducted by the Rev. Joseph Mowatt, assisted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough of Lachute, the Rev. J. R. Heyworth of Chicago, the Rev. Fred Williams of Sherbrooke, nephew of the deceased, the Rev. Dean Booy and the Rev. Mr. Ball of St. Andrews, and the Rev. Dr. Munroe, clerk of the Presbytery of Montreal. There was a large and representative gathering of relatives, neighbours, and friends, both French and English. Many beautiful flowers showed the great affection and esteem in which Dr. Wales was held by everyone in the community. A mixed choir from the three Protestant churches led the singing, and were accompanied on the organ by his grand-niece, Miss Grace B. Wales.

In his address the Rev. Mr. Mowatt stressed the hardships and self-sacrifice in the life of a country doctor. His text was Psalm I, 3 "And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper."

The pall-bearers were Mr. W. J. Rodger, Col. L. Hooker, and Messrs. M. A. Snowden, Ross McAdam, Lawson Taylor and Keith Pitcairn.

Interment took place in the beautiful St. Andrews Cemetery on Carillon Hill with its century-old pines overlooking the Ottawa River.

Among the chief mourners were Mr. Chas. Stowe Wales, Miss H. V. Wales, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cairns, St. Andrews East, and noted among the gathering present were Dr. Cushing of Montreal, Dr. Smith of Hawkesbury, Dr. Mason, Dr. Christie, Dr. Rodrigue, Dr. F. McMartin and Dr. Drew of Lachute; Dr. Guilbault of Oka and Dr. Maude Abbott of St. Andrews and Montreal. The Montreal Presbytery was represented by Dr. Wm. Munroe, the Rev. Mr. Brown of Erskine Church, and Mr. Guy Tombs, of Montreal. The Historical Society of Argenteuil was represented by members of the executive — Dr. Cushing, Dr. Abbott, Mrs. Walter Windsor, Miss Beatrice Robertson and Mr. J. P. Lanctot of St. Andrews East, Mr. Giles (who also represented Mr. Geo. Héon, M.P.) Mrs. Kuhring of Lakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Kains of Ottawa and others. Among those from a distance were Mr. Herbert Osgood of Sawyer-ville and his daughter, Mrs. Fred Williams of Sherbrooke, Mrs. W. J. Kilgour — a sister of Dr. Wales — Mr. Otis Stowe, of Philadelphia; and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kilgour, of Beauharnois; Mrs. J. N. Jordan, Mrs. Wm. Drysdale, Mr. W. F. Drysdale, Miss Helen Morrison and Miss S. Roberts, all of Montreal; Mr. Gerald Taylor, formerly Principal of the St. Andrews School; the Misses Helen and Edith Johnson of Ottawa and Mr. Allan Smith of Montreal, formerly of Bury, Que.

PARTICULARS OF THE CONSERVATIVE MEET,
OTTAWA, JULY 5-6-7

The long-heralded Conservative Convention is being held on July 5-6-7 at the Coliseum on the Ottawa Exhibition grounds. It is advised that the registration booth will be located at the entrance to the grounds and delegates are expected to register between 8 a.m. and 10 p.m. on Tuesday, July 5th. A lodgings committee will arrange for desired billets and accommodation.

Through Georges Héon, M.P. for this constituency, it is advised that guest cards are obtainable at his office in Lachute. Mr. Héon himself will be absent on convention business after tomorrow evening (Friday), as he is chairman of the Quebec Committee and of the Credentials Committee. However, he will be pleased to greet his Argenteuil friends at his office on the convention grounds and assures them of every consideration.

In an interview today, Mr. Héon stressed the importance of this conference. He has expended much personal effort in connection with the Conservative organization, having visited 82 constituencies and held 78 meetings, and the fact that Quebec will be more efficiently and fully represented now reflects direct credit upon this riding.

Several Toronto newspapers have mentioned Mr. Héon's name as prospective Conservative leader, and delegations have come forward with this request. Realizing his brief parliamentary experience, however, Mr. Héon rejects any idea of aspiring to such high honor. He gives assurance that he is willing to serve loyally under any national leader representative of all Canadian interests and elements who may be chosen by the Convention.

"One phase of these conditions concerns us most vitally. That is the question of juvenile delinquency and crime. Remember, these youngsters being brought up in these festering spots of our country, are the men and women of tomorrow, and they, with all our own children will have a great deal to do with whether Canada improves or deteriorates. Too little work has been done, so far, on this question, but what little there has been done, proves conclusively that overcrowding, poverty, bad housing, little sunlight, paucity of opportunity for play, are all factors in producing criminals. Scientists now agree that crime and delinquency are not to be blamed on heredity alone. Environment plays a very large part in determining whether a child is to be a good or bad citizen."

Stressing the personal element and the personal concern in this situation, Mrs. McMartin stated in conclusion, "It is useless to think, just because our children do not have to play with the 'alum kids' that we are safe. Our children must live in a world, the general level of which is lowered; the health risks of which are higher; the economic stability of which is more uneven, than it all should be. They will have to pay in later years for our mistakes and neglect now, will have to realize that, as civilization progresses it leaves in its wake new problems. We cannot solve their problems for them, but we

Lord Bishop of Montreal Visits Anglican Churches Throughout The County

Confirmation Services; Candidates Received and Appointments Dedicated

Lachute — On Tuesday evening, the Lord Bishop of Montreal held a Confirmation service at St. Simeon's Church. The service began at 8 p.m. and eleven candidates received the Order of Confirmation. There were three boys and one man, four girls and three women.

The Bishop's address to the candidates had for its theme, "Seek ye the Kingdom of God first and follow in His righteousness."

The Rev. Canon Garrett of Hawkesbury took part in the service.

This was the Bishop's thirtieth annual visit to this parish.

The following hymns were sung during the service: "My God, accept my heart this day," "Come ever blessed Spirit come," "Come, Holy Ghost our souls inspire," "Oh Jesus, I have promised."

Another Confirmation service was held earlier in the day at Louisia, in which eight candidates were presented — five boys and three girls. Rev. Cyrus Baugh of Lakefield conducted the service, and the Rev. W. LeCras read the appointed lesson.

Grenville — Seven candidates, all adults, were presented to the Bishop of Montreal at St. George's Church, Brownsburg, last Monday. After they had been presented by the rector, the Rev. W. LeCras, the introduction was read by the Rev. K. N. Brueton, and the Scripture passages by Rev. J. Robbins, of Toronto. His Lordship addressed the candidates and then, after prayers had been said, proceeded to the apostolic rite of the Laying of the Hands, or Confirmation. A remarkable feature was that the group of candidates presented included two married couples. The Bishop congratulated the congregation on the re-decoration of the building, and their support of the budget. Just before the close of the service he dedicated a new white linen veil for the communion vessels. The church was filled for the occasion.

Lakefield — On Sunday evening the Lord Bishop of Montreal confirmed six candidates at Holy Trinity. The church was filled to capacity. Rev. C. W. P. Baugh conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Mr. Temple of Morin Heights and H. G. Baugh of Cedars, Que. On Monday morning a Confirmation service was held at St. Paul's, Dunany, when two candidates were confirmed. Monday afternoon, three candidates were presented at St. John's, Shrewsbury, and on Tuesday afternoon, eight candidates were confirmed at St. Aidan's, Louisia.

Grenville — Grace Church, Arundel, was filled to capacity last Thursday night when His Lordship, the Bishop of Montreal, visited that parish.

An imposing procession of Confirmation candidates, vested choir and clergy, preceded the Bishop into the church and, immediately after the opening hymn the Bishop, attended by the clergy, proceeded to the west door to dedicate the new bell. This bell, given in memory of the late Hon. Smeaton White, Senator, was first rung for the Coronation last year. Coming back to the chancel, the Bishop paused on the threshold of the beautiful new Memorial Sanctuary, which he proceeded to dedicate. Other new furnishings were also dedicated,

New Minister Inducted at St. Mungo's, Cushing

Cushing — The induction of Rev. W. A. Dempsey into St. Mungo's Church took place on Monday night, the officiating and visiting ministers being Rev. DeWitt Scott, Rev. Martineau, Rev. W. Rosborough, Rev. J. Mowatt, Rev. Dr. Munroe and Rev. Brown. Rev. W. B. Rosborough of Lachute preached the induction sermon. Visiting elders were Dr. G. A. Clunie and Mr. Arthur McQuat, of Lachute.

A.Y.P.A. Local Council Meets at Grenville

Grenville — The Local Council of the A.Y.P.A. of St. Andrew's Deaneery met here last Friday. Delegates were present from Arundel, Calumet, Lachute and St. Amedee. The Rev. W. LeCras and Mrs. C. J. Foreman (Calumet) were elected, respectively, as temporary chairman and secretary for the meeting. It was decided that a rally would be held on July 29th at Calumet, and the arrangements were discussed.

Election of officers resulted as follows: Patron, the Rev. R. S. Booy, R.D.; president, Mr. Wenville Graham (Arundel); vice-president, Mr. Milton Cochrane (St. Amedee); secretary, Mr. Ronald Bridgen (Calumet); treasurer, Miss J. Valpy (Lachute); chaplain, the Rev. C. W. Earle. It was decided that these, with the clergy of each parish concerned, should form the executive.

including a brass communion rail in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. Morrison, and the new electric fixtures in the sanctuary. A hymn, "For All the Saints," was sung in honour of those in whose memory the sanctuary is built. A class of nine candidates was then presented to the Bishop to receive the rite of Confirmation. The Rev. G. H. Wolfendale, priest of the parish, presented the candidates, and the Rev. W. LeCras acted as the Bishop's chaplain. Other clergy present were the Rev. K. N. Brueton, Grenville; the Rev. C. W. Earle, Montebello, and the Rev. W. McMenine, Vankleek Hill. Mr. Horace Baugh represented his father, the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, who was unable to be present.

The new sanctuary is a great improvement to the building. Being all white, it stands out in splendid contrast with the dark walls, and the altar and its furnishings look very fine in their new setting. The chancel floor has been covered with hardwood and, affording a greater space, now adds to the dignity of the services.

The Adventures of Marco Polo

Fictionized for the Screen Play by Robert E. Sherwood

Gary Cooper in the role of Marco Polo, philandering and battling his way to Golden China.

(Note: Although the characters in this Samuel Goldwyn production, "Adventures of Marco Polo," are real, the story makes no claim to historical accuracy).

— In Four Chapters —

CHAPTER ONE

Behind the grilled doors of a handsome house rising on the banks of the Grand Canal which bore the sign "POLO BROTHERS — Merchants and Importers," five men were seated about a table engaged in serious conversation. At one end sat Maffeo Polo, grey-haired, shrewd and solemn. The others listened in respectful silence to what he was saying.

"We must open up new trade, or as merchants we will perish. The channels of our Mediterranean world have run dry."

One of the men chuckled. "And you have milked them dry, Maffeo Polo!"

"My brother has told you," continued Maffeo without smiling. "The solution lies in the East. To Cathay — to the land of China. It is there we must send an ambassador."

He turned, as if for corroboration, to Nicolo, who was barely listening to the conversation. Younger than Maffeo, Nicolo was also more brilliant and daring. He stood now at the long windows, looking down at the busy scene in the canal below. It was plain that he was bored and impatient, for his foot tapped the marble floor nervously. Below him the canal hustled with traffic, conveying richly-clad citizens of Venice to and from their palaces. Venice was at peace, and it was customary for the Venetians, when they were not at war with their neighbors in Genoa or Florence, to give their time wholeheartedly to dancing, gambling and the pursuits of pleasure. Trade was brisk and the money coffers overflowed, and he, Nicolo Polo, could take personal pride in that fact. Were not he and Maffeo members of the Great Council? Did not every business man in Europe haggle and connive to have dealing with them, in order to bank in reflected glory? Were not the Poles as rich and honored as any in that year of our Lord, 1273? And did not he, Nicolo, have a son, Marco, the most dashing, adventurous and handsome of any in Venice. His pleasant reflections were interrupted by a shrill hallo from a gondola.

"Have you found him, Binguccio?" Nicolo called back eagerly. "No," replied the dejected servant. "And I have called on most of Venice. And half ruined my new clothes." Nicolo cried impatiently, "Then call on the rest of Venice — and ruin the other half!"

One of the business men asked, "Whom shall we send as Ambassador?" "My son," said Nicolo quickly. "Marco Polo."

The other merchants regarded him incredulously. "That is a sound choice, Nicolo," one remarked sarcastically. "He knows nothing of buying or selling, but something of gambling; nothing of commercial treaties, but something of women; he knows nothing of work —"

Nicolo interrupted sharply. "Did you think our transaction in Paris was a good one?"

"The best," laughed the man. "I know. I tried for it!"

"It was Marco who got it for us. Did you like our arrangements with the Greeks?"

On October 17, 1268, the Popham colonists abandoned a settlement they had made on the Sagadahoc river, in what is now Maine, during August, 1607, and sailed away upon the first supply ship sent them from England. Despite the early enthusiasm of their leader, George Popham, the settlers — cut off for more than a year from communication with friends and loved ones — were doubtless disheartened not less by homesickness due to their utter isolation than by danger, by privation and by Popham's death, and gladly accepted the first opportunity to withdraw from the enterprise. Of them a contemporary historian writes: "Discontented persons, suffering while they act, can seldom have good success, and never satisfaction."

"Bill's body has been recovered."

"I didn't know he had drowned."

"He didn't. He bought a new suit."

"Too well."

"It was Marco who made them for us, although you believed he was merely visiting the Greek ladies."

"But Marco is slow," protested the third man. "He travels slowly — he walks slowly, he talks slowly —"

"But he thinks fast. You may talk here for hours — but it is Marco who will go," Nicolo walked to a table upon which were strewn silks, pieces of jade, perfume, porcelain and sculpture. Holding aloft a delicately wrought little vase, he continued: "You may know buying and selling, but you are fat and insensitive. The strange people who made these are neither."

Meanwhile, perspiring and cursing, Binguccio arrived at length at a gambling house, and there his search ended. Marco, a tall, well-built, handsome young man, was amusing himself at dice.

"Marco Polo! Marco Polo!" Binguccio began breathlessly. "Your father summons you. From — from whatever you are doing!"

Marco gathered up a handful of gold coins and deposited them in a small money bag suspended from his belt. He waved a cheerful good-bye to his companions and kissed the hand of a pretty girl.

"On what journey am I about to be sent now?" he asked Binguccio when he had climbed into the gondola.

"To China. It's a dangerous journey. You may never return."

Marco laughed. "Really. Don't enjoy that idea so openly."

Binguccio smoothed his disheveled suit. "I am not a deceiver. I am not a liar. I can no longer hide the truth; frankly, I am tired of chasing you through the back canals of Venice! I shall be glad not to see you for a few years." He paused, savoring the pleasant thought. "Very, very glad."

When Marco arrived home, Nicolo put his arm about his son's shoulders. "The Orientals," he told the assembled group, "are a curious people. They do not trade as we do. I want you back, Marco, with agreements that will enable us to send our ships into the China seas." He turned to Binguccio, hovering in the background. "Get your things ready, Binguccio, you are going with him."

"Who, me?"

"You. As a protector for my son."

Binguccio squirmed. Marco grinned appreciatively.

"But master, my feet have been in bad condition. It is impossible."

Nicolo dismissed him with a wave of the hand. The matter was settled. He turned and regarded his tall son affectionately.

"I have two things for you, Marco. One, a letter to Kublai Khan, the mightiest Emperor on earth. That is where your journey ends — in his incomparable city of Peking. The other is more valuable." He held out a small, common, worn little bag.

"Once, I went away. My father gave this to me — fill it with what you see on your way."

"But it will hold nothing but the smallest things," protested Maffeo.

"The smallest things have changed the world," said Nicolo quietly. "Marco is my son. He understands."

He indicated a map. "Here is your route. You sail first for the Port of Acre — a fortified city on the coast of Asia — now held by the Crusaders."

All heads were bent over the map, as Nicolo's resonant voice filled the room.

"From Acre," he continued, "You go overland by caravan — across the Arabian desert to Persia — to Samarkand — over the boundless plains of Tartary where rode the fierce horsemen of Genghis Khan — and so on into the great land of Cathay — to the incomparable city of Peking — where lives Kublai Khan, ruler of the earth and the sun, the moon and the stars."

Already Marco's eyes were fixed on a distant horizon. Already the pungent spicy smells of the East were in his nostrils and he could almost hear strange, barbaric sounds. He stood, remote and still, as he listened to his father's parting words: "Farewell, my son, Marco Polo! God's benison go with you."

BEWARE POISON IVY

This is the time of the year that people suffer from poison ivy, and the Province of Quebec Safety League, through Dr. J. A. Corrigan, vice-president for hygiene, has issued its annual advice against this danger.

Dr. Corrigan points out that the danger of poisoning is great and that there have been cases of fatal poisoning through plants such as poison ivy. But while generally there is no danger of death, victims often suffer severely and for a long time unless proper care is exercised.

The advice of Dr. Corrigan is to learn to distinguish such plants and to avoid touching any that seem suspicious. If, by accident, a plant that seems poisonous is touched, then the person should wash his or her hands immediately with warm water and strong soap. — Following this a five per cent alcoholic solution of ferric chloride should be obtained from a druggist and used at once. If there is serious irritation, a doctor should be seen without delay.

When it is necessary to touch poison ivy or other such plants, leather gloves or rubber gloves should be worn. But the danger will remain a long time in the gloves or clothing. Dry cleaning and gloves will remove the danger.

Dr. Corrigan also advises people not to eat fruit and plants without being certain of what they are. Mushrooms in the woods can be the death-dealing toadstool. The doctor also urges to be careful about drinking polluted water. He advises to make certain it is safe before drinking it.

RIVERS FLOWING NORTH

The United States Geological Survey bureau says that the Red river of the North, which forms the boundary between Minnesota and North Dakota, flows north for part of its course; the Monongahela flows north from West Virginia to Pennsylvania, where it joins with the Allegheny to form the Ohio river; the Niagara river, connecting Lake Erie and Lake Ontario; the Tennessee river, where it crosses the west end of the state of Tennessee; the Snake river, where it forms the boundary between Oregon and Idaho; John Day, Deschutes and Willamette rivers, tributaries of the Columbia river in Oregon; the Missouri river in the vicinity of Helena, Mont., and a part of the course of the Salmon river in Idaho, all flow north. Others having courses between north and northwest include the San Joaquin and Eel rivers in California, Kootenai river in Idaho, Mouse river in North Dakota, Kentucky and Licking rivers in Kentucky and the New-Kanawha river in Virginia and West Virginia.

SALLY SPLASH, the local swimming star, uses Cress Corn and Union Salves. Remove ugly Warts, Caluses too. Sold by Beaton's Pharmacy in Lachute. Harbour's Pharmacy in Lachute Mills, and all drug counters.

It was breakfast time at the house of the eminent professor, who had spent the major part of the night in his laboratory.

"My dear," he said to his wife. "Congratulations! I have discovered a gas of hitherto unheard-of density and I'm going to name it after you!"

SCHOOLS FOR THE HANDICAPPED

It is a difficult thing for the mother of a handicapped child to see that the child is better in an institution. The more we do for a person the more we love him, and the handicapped child gets the most love. This great love and the desire to compensate makes more mothers do too much and the child is more helpless than it need be. The mother of a child who is mentally deficient was advised by her doctor to send her to an institution, but she felt she could not do that, as no one could love and look after her as she herself could do. This was all right while her other children were young, but as they grew older their sister became an embarrassment to them. For the sake of her other children she finally consented, very unwillingly, to send the child to an institution. She has been there some years and the mother only regrets she delayed so long. The child is much happier as her companions are handicapped too and she is not competing with normal children. She is taught by specially trained teachers and she is able to do many things for herself and has learned to do many things that keep her pleasantly occupied and give her the satisfaction of accomplishment. Her mother goes to see her and says she always finds her happy. Unless a mother is specially trained, she cannot do what the teachers do, and in any case her emotions interfere.

AT THE SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND

I have watched the children at The School for the Blind playing as I passed the school and they always seemed to be very happy, so I thought I would see them at close quarters. I strolled in their playground, which is a large, beautiful garden and I found that many of them could see varying amounts and were in the sight-saving classes. Just a small percentage are totally blind. When I went in, one small group of girls were sitting on a bench and they were singing. Farther along, a number of older girls were sitting in a teeter and they were singing in rhythm with the swinging teeter. At the bottom of the garden some smaller girls were playing a singing game. There was no teacher in sight so they were singing because they wanted to. You do not sing if you are not happy. Several of the girls had lilacs in their hands. One of them said they got them from a tree in the garden and they were not permitted to pick them. Another said with a grin, "It is the last day of school." How normal to take privileges on the last day. One charming quiet-mannered girl became attached to me and graciously played hostess and showed me around. A brash little girl of about five asked me my name and many other questions. The others kept trying to hush her up as they felt I might think her rude. She asked me what color my dress was and when I said "pink," she took hold of it, peering closely. The others said, "there is some yellow, and some red and blue," and one added "it has blue buttons." One little girl was carrying a doll and she said she had knitted the cap, sweater and mittens it wore. The boys are to be seen playing football and the usual boys' games. They always seem to be having such a thoroughly good time. It stands to reason that they could have more fun with others similarly handicapped than with children of normal vision. This is written with the hope that it may give a new view-point to some mother who is puzzled to know what course of action is best for her handicapped child.

TRAVEL TIPS

A duffel-bag is a great convenience when travelling by car. There always seem to be extra shoes, sweaters, bathing-suits, books and so on that the suit-case will never hold. It is very handy to be able to tuck them into one bag and it seems to fit in any place in the car, much easier than an extra suit-case. Mosquito netting has a lot of uses besides its legitimate one, in summer travelling. It makes a good wash-rag as it dries in less than no time. If you are one of the touring trippers who cook their own meals, the same netting makes swiftness dish-cloths. I don't mean the same piece you used for your wash-rag. Just another piece of the same cloth. When there are children along, it is easy to give them a quick polish if you keep a wash-cloth, towel and comb in a small bag in the pocket of the car.

SERVE CHEESE IN SUMMER

Too often people think of cheese as hearty food and only to be served during the cold months. This is a mistake, I think, as cheese provides in a very acceptable form the necessary proteid and fat to balance the salad or vegetable meals we all like in the summer. There is such a variety of cheeses available that there need be no monotony. Put a generous serving of cheese on each salad plate. A cheese sauce is good on most of our vegetables. Have you ever tried serving new potatoes in cheese sauce with a vegetable dinner?

CHEESE AND TOMATO SALAD

We had supper with a couple of bachelor girls in their apartment and had the nicest salad. A tomato was skinned and the blossom end cut out. It was cut in eighths but not cut down far enough for the tomato to fall apart. The top of the tomato was filled with a cheese mixture. Pimento cream cheese was creamed until very fluffy with salad dressing, and enough paprika to color it pink. This mixture was piled on the tomato, topped with salad dressing, and a half-walnut, and served on lettuce. It looked good and tasted better. This should be a useful salad, as it is simple enough to appear at the family lunch or supper and yet attractive enough for Sunday supper or the bridge party.

LIVER SANDWICHES

of pepper, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Mix and spread between slices of bread.

Home Economics Activities Among Women's Institutes During Recent Season

The spring months saw increased activity in all branches of Home Economics. Prizes were given at the completion of one sewing class, also for an exhibit of home-made house dresses, and best article made from one yard of cotton. Spring styles were discussed and aprons cut out to be made for a sale.

Nutrition was a popular subject, and the plea of vegetables, meat, salads and cheese in the diet was studied as well as the correct serving of afternoon teas, and legends regarding plum puddings.

Cooking demonstrations included making fancy cookies, individual salads, angel cake, salad dressing and how to make a quick lunch. A fireless cooker was demonstrated, as well as handy household contrivances. A paper was read on making meringues, and cookie contests were held, for both girls and Women's Institute members. Many recipes were given.

As housecleaning is foremost in everyone's mind at this season, members exchanged housecleaning and labor saving hints, and included "Spring Cleaning Your Mind," "Checking Household Expenses," and "Home Management," as well as stain removal. An Electrolux was demonstrated, and dishpan "do's" and early mistakes in housekeeping discussed. Home decoration was studied; one branch had a paper "Transformation" with exhibit of "Something made from discards." There was a paper on care and arrangement of cut flowers.

Many exhibits were held of quilts, rugs, handicrafts, with emphasis on thrift exhibits and the many uses for old bags. One branch devoted a meeting to various branches of Home Economics, had exhibits, readings and distributed patterns.

Community work included sending of flowers and post cards, shower for bride-to-be, collection of clothing for poor family, socials, serving meals, and co-operation with the Girl Guides in their work.

HOUSE AND HOME

By Mary E. Dague
Author of Sister Mary's Kitchen

This is said to be moth time but it seems to me that moths demand eternal vigilance to prevent their damage. There are many moth preventatives but very few of these actually kill the moth eggs, so if you find you have the moths in a closet, saturate a cloth about a foot square with formaldehyde and put it in the closet. Close the closet up tight and leave it for twelve hours. The fumes will kill moths and eggs. Then immediately use moth preventatives in the closet.

When you put away winter blankets and woolen clothes be sure first of all that they are perfectly clean. Then store them in tight containers, sprinkling moth crystals through the fabrics. Fifty-pound lard cans make splendid cases for storing blankets and other woollens. You can get a pair of blankets in one can. These tin cans are not only moth proof but mice and dust proof as well. They can be covered with cretonne to match your bedrooms if they are to be used in conspicuous places. I always tie a labeled tag on the handle of each can if I'm packing them away in a store room. Then I can read the tag and not have to open several cans before I find what I'm looking for.

Now is the time to begin thinning the flower beds. Sweet peas should be about six inches apart. Sew annual seeds to fill in the perennial border now. Biennials for next year should be started, too.

The other day I saw a really attractive handling of that difficult problem, the double window. A mirror the length of the windows, was fitted between them, completely filling the space from frame to frame. Then the whole thing was treated as one window with draperies hung at either end and a valance, looped or straight, over all. The end draperies reached to the floor.

Let It Rain!

England, which has given the world the umbrella and the macintosh, recently added a new weapon to the battle against rain. Discovered in the research laboratories of Imperial Chemical Industries, the new weapon is described by a writer in the current issue of the C-I-L. Oval as the first finishing agent to make all kinds of textiles durably water-repellent and stain-resistant. When Canadian mills started to use the agent, says the writer, convincing demonstrations of the valuable qualities it imparts to materials were held, in which cups of tea were tossed over flimsy summer dresses, soda siphoned and drinks spilled over shimmering evening gowns, while nearby gold-fish swam around in bowls of gaberdine. Textile and fashion experts who saw the show predicted the wide spread introduction of water-repellent and stain-proof garments.

Author of "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

She Wrote Mystery Stories — So the Ghosts Decided to Move Right In

Millions of people have read the stories of Mary Roberts Rinehart. She has written forty-four books and thousands of pages of magazine fiction; yet she started writing when she was the mother of three babies — not because she cared about fame, but because she was driven frantic by debts.

The first story she ever sold brought thirty-four dollars; but editors are glad to pay thirty-four thousand dollars now for one of her serials. She is one of the most highly paid authors in America and also one of the most prolific; yet she says that "writing is sheer, grinding drudgery."

She once sold big bundles of her stories to the movies for seventy-five dollars a bundle; but later on, she refused an offer of fifty thousand dollars a year to go to Hollywood and write stories for the screen.

Mrs. Rinehart was tortured by an apparently unending siege of operations. But she kept right on writing — in beds and wheel chairs and in hospitals.

Mary Roberts Rinehart has often remarked that, if she hadn't had so much illness to keep her in bed, she would never have written so many works.

Then, suddenly, with the swiftness of a tornado, she was overwhelmed by a financial catastrophe. It was the old, old story. Wall Street! Too many stocks! Thin margins! A panic! Everything lost in a day!

Then, one evening, Doctor Rinehart came home from a sick call and told her a strange story; a patient of his had lost his memory and imagined himself a young man again. He thought his wife was a strange woman and he laughed when he was told that the children running about the house were his own.

The case fascinated Mrs. Rinehart; so she sat down that very night, wrote it into a short story and mailed it to Munsey's Magazine; and, to her surprise, the magazine not only accepted the story and sent her a check for thirty-four dollars, but also a letter asking for more stories.

Yet, one year from the time that Mary Roberts Rinehart started out to write, she had sold forty-five stories and made more than eighteen hundred dollars, a remarkable feat.

Shortly after Boise Penrose died, the Rinehart family moved into his apartment in Washington, and Mrs. Rinehart occupied the room in which he died. Immediately strange things began to happen.

The bell in the bedroom rang repeatedly when no one was near. Doors swung slowly open when no one was behind them. Birds and bats mysteriously appeared in her room when the doors and the windows were locked and there was no chimney through which they could enter.

Mrs. Rinehart was alarmed. She began to sleep fitfully. A friend who was a spiritualist advised her to speak to the spirits when she heard these noises — yes, she was to speak to the spirits and ask what they wanted and what she could do to help them.

The next night, a living room window closed itself, apparently without any earthly aid; so Mrs. Rinehart crept out of bed, edged into the living room with her back against the wall and then spoke in a frightened, trembling voice to the spirits from another world.

Instantly, a bell started ringing down the hall, ringing and clattering like a fire alarm.

She was frightened almost into hysterics until she suddenly realized that she herself was leaning against the bell button on the wall.

Mrs. Rinehart doesn't believe in ghosts. She doesn't believe that the spirit of Boise Penrose was haunting the house. But to use her own words: "There were times, I admit, when I wondered if some small imp from an invisible world was playing and frolicking among us."

When you gather flowering shrubs for the house be sure that you cut the sprays clean and straight from the bush. The shrub may be badly disfigured if you break or pull the sprays from the bush.

FALLACIOUS BELIEFS

Perhaps no physician is better adapted to discuss the erroneous beliefs to which the majority of the laymen subscribe than Dr. Tom A. Williams, of Washington, D.C., — a friend of mine for years and a most experienced doctor.

In a recent talk with him he set forth the popular misconceptions about the human body and they are so worth while and so absolutely true that I take the liberty of telling them here. Eight hours sleep is positively not essential for health. Edison, and thousands of other intellectual men, did with a few hours sleep daily and enjoyed excellent health.

Insomnia never leads to insanity.

One does not need to plan his diet with great care, neither is a variety of food eaten at the same time harmful. Cucumbers and milk, oranges and milk, whiskey and oysters, acids and milk are not in the least incompatible and do not cause sour stomach, neither are they causes for indigestion.

THE AGE OF COMFORTS

There is nothing so strenuous about modern life as to break down our nerves, for we are today living in an age of thousands of comforts our forefathers never dreamed of. Constipation is not the base of all physical ailments, and it positively is not the result of eating the wrong kinds of food. Certain foods, such as fresh vegetables, and special fruits, help in overcoming the condition but there are other factors much more important which bring about this ailment. One's mind has much to do with the physical condition of every individual. Dr. Billings mentions a case of an army officer who suffered a slight wound, which could not have inconvenienced him. He was unusually robust, strong, healthy, but declared he knew he would die on the fourth day as a result of his injury, which he did. An autopsy showed that every organ in his body was exceptionally healthful and that the wound could not possibly have caused his death, but he died nevertheless, because of a mere mental suggestion.

St. Andrews Consolidated School closed a very successful year on June 24th. A new precedent was set by way of celebration. "There was no singin' nor recitin'; but there was much playin' and bitin'" (of sandwiches and cake). The pupils, teachers, parents and friends gathered at the school at 10 a.m. Mr. W. J.
Pitcairn, secretary-treasurer, was present and assisted with the distri-principal, distributed the reports and in a brief speech took farewell till September on behalf of himself and
