Period for Recognition of Local Press

A Word on Influence Of the Newspapers

It is unlikely that the vast influence of the newspaper on the life of the community in which it is published it realized by any great number of its readers. They look to it for the news of the community; they consult it for dates and hours of meetings of all kinds—church, business, fraternal organizations, college lectures, school entertainments, agricultural developments, and all gatherings.

They depend upon it to keep them informed of special bargains in the retail stores. They also expect it to give them entertainment and take their minds off the sordid news of the wars.

Subscribers may critize some of the features of their newspapers when they forget that it is printed for the entire public, and not for this group or that, and that its purpose is to give all elements in the community a feeling that it is their newspaper and interested in all of them, or they may laud its broad principles and the services it renders their town or city. But they seldom take time in a busy world to realize fully the enormous influence the newspaper exerts in the lives and on the opinions of its readers who make up the greater part of the population of the region in which it is published.

The newspaper touches all phases of the life of the people in and out of the home. By its frank publication of local news, of all kinds, not white-washing unpleasant facts but stating them clearly that readers may familiarize themselves with them and use the weight of their individual and collective influence in voicing disapproval and effecting reform, it has an untold though often unrecognized part in such reform.

The newspaper upholds all religious and educational causes by giving them much publicity in its columns. It works hard for welfare enterprises and through its news columns and its editorial page is of vast assistance in persuading citizens to lend their support to these important community efforts.

The newspaper seeks to come near to its readers and the place it holds in their estimation is evidenced by the rush to get "the paper" first when the paper comes off the press. Father or mother or children hasten to find that which interests them most, whether it be local or provincial or national political happenings, society notes, information on home-making and housekeeping, agricultural news, or whatever. One paper is scarcely enough for a family of eager readers.

And all the while the newspaper is quietly exerting its influence on the community, boosting what it knows will be for the benefit, present and future; condemning what is bound to work for its decadence. The good newspaper honestly tries to use what it knows must be its power in the community for the continual improvement of that community in all departments of its normal life.

No thoughtful person can deny the power of the press nor the part it plays in making local history, and no one can wisely make light of that power.

Nation-Wide Emphasis on Fire Prevention

Local Brigade to Stage Street Demonstration

Lachute Fire Brigade, under Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon, is participating next week in the national effort to curb fire hazards and dispel public apathy toward the ever present dangers to life and property.

As usual, a street demonstration will be conducted, with the fire truck and equipment decorated to impress the safety theme. Safety talks and inspection of buildings will also be arranged in town.

Meanwhile, the public are asked to give earnest thought during the coming week, to the effect that safety consciousness shall become more inherent in their conduct and affairs all year 'round.

The best place for fire prevention to start is in the home. In order to safeguard the home, inspection should be made, not only Fire Prevention Week but periodically throughout the year. All heating and lighting equipment examined, chimney and pipes kept clean of soot. No smoke pipes permitted through combustible walls; disposition of ashes safeguarded. The fuse cabinet should be of metal or asbestos lined. Fuses in all fuse blocks, none of them bridged, and not over 15 ampere fuses used in branch circuits. All drop cords should be insulated, and not supported on any conductive material. Electric irons always detached when not in use and kept on metal stands.

Matches should be kept out of the reach of children and the children should be regularly taught the danger of fire and not to play with matches. The safest type of match to use is the "Safety Match" which may be lighted only on the box.

Closets should be kept clean and all rubbish removed from the entire premises. Cleanliness is next to Godliness. Perhaps that is the reason it always plays such an important part in fire prevention.

This year again special emphasis is being placed on the inspection of dwellings during Fire Prevention Week.

200,000 FIRMS TO BE LICENSED BY PRICES BOARD FOR SALE OF FOOD AND CLOTHING PRODUCTS

Licensing Plan Effective Early in December To Provide Machinery for Price Control

First Parliamentary Tilts Next Session Will Be Ministers' Reviews of Department War Activities

Ottawa, Oct. 1 (CP) — This week and next the Wartime Prices and Trade Board will be busier than it has ever been since its formation when the war began. Its job is the distribution of license application forms to more than 200,000 persons and firms across the Dominion handling food products, feed, clothing, millinery, footwear and furs.

When that is done the work of issuing licenses and window license transfers will begin — the aim being to get the board's new licensing plan into effect early in December. Any day now the exact date will be made public.

The licensing scheme follows by only a month a wide extension in the Board's price-policing powers, following its transfer from the Labor Department to the Finance where wartime economic functions are pretty well concentrated.

While the licensc plan is intended largely to provide the machinery for closer price control, it will also be used to secure information which would be necessary if rationing has to be introduced because shortages develop under wartime conditions, including curtailment of supplies.

That some such curtailment can be expected in the near future seems certain. Finance Minister Ilsley has told Canadians it would have to come and last week R. C. Berkinshaw, chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board, emphasized that statement with the warning that increasing demands of the war effort mean "that further curtailment of supplies for civilian use is inevitable."

He said after a meeting of his board that Canada is faced with a growing shortage of many essential materials. Limitations of civilian supplies would be necessary but every effort would be made to avoid subjecting business and the public to unnecessary hardships.

One of the shortages is chlorine, used in large quantities by war industries. To make sure that these industries have enough, distribution, consumption and use of chlorine has been put under control — a move affecting primarily the pulp and paper industry, which used the chemical for processing and bleaching purposes.

Lachute W.I. Is Custodian Here For Queen's Fund

BRANCH ACCEPTS ROLE IN ACCORDANCE WITH RECENT FED. W.I. AGREEMENT

TO STIMULATE INTEREST AND RECEIVE DONATIONS

Lachute Women's Institute has agreed to act as custodian in this district for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims. This arrangement is in accordance with a resolution passed at the Federated W.I. Conference at Fredericton, N.B., last June, and insofar as Lachute is affected, the agreement is confirmed by Mr. Sholto Watt, executive director of the Fund, in Montreal.

The function of any W.I. branch "acting as custodian" is to advise headquarters on the granting of permits for benefits or money-raising enterprises in the area concerned; to receive donations from individuals and groups; and to stimulate local interest on behalf of the Fund.

1,000 Visitors at Catholic Congress Held on Sunday

SPECIAL TRAIN BRINGS MEN FOR RELIGIOUS OBSERVANCE

BENEDICTION OF SACRAMENT AT LOCAL SHRINE

Last Sunday Lachute was favored with an additional influx of visitors to our town. They were men who had arrived on a special C.P.R. train from Montreal to attend the 18th Catholic Congress whose annual gatherings are sponsored by the Retreatants Body of St. Martin.

Numbering about 1,000 the visitors were met on arrival by members of the Knights of Columbus and the League of Sacred Heart, of both Ste. Anastasie and St. Julien parishes, and extended a warm welcome by Mayor H. Lamarche.

Parading to the skating rink for their morning session a number of very fine addresses were delivered by Monseigneur C. Chaumont, Auxiliary Bishop of Montreal, Father George Desjardins, S.J., Superior of la Villa St. Martin, and Gaetan Valois, N.P., — all of which bore upon a closer observance of the Lord's Day and the serious responsibilities resting upon parents to train their children in the right way.

In the afternoon, Judge Laramee, Dr. E. Vidal and Fernand de Hearve addressed the gathering. A visit was also paid to the local Notre Dame de Lourdes Shrine where religious service was solemnized by Father Wm. Lacourse, parish priest of Ste. Anastasie, followed by the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Among those on the platform were Mayor A. Raynault, of Montreal, Jos. Hebert, President of the Federation of the League of the Sacred Heart, Dr. Vidal, of Outremont, Judge Laramee, Dr. J. M. A. Valois, J. A. Bernier, J. A. Laforce, Georges H. Heon, Gaetan Valois, Father Larandeau, Father Cloutier, Father Archambeault and Father Gratton, former parish priest of Ste. Anastasie.

Extension of Berry Street Is Held Over

MATTERS BEFORE REGULAR COUNCIL SESSION

The regular monthly meeting of Lachute Town Council was held in the council chamber last evening, at which were present Mayor H. Lamarche and Aldermen F. S. McGibbon, E. Prevost, J. Speight, W. Morrissette, R. Muir and S. Holt.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

At the suggestion of Mayor Lamarche, Ald. McGibbon moved that the secretary send letters of condolence to the families of the late Mrs. G. Dansereau and the late Wm. X. Beauchamp. Ald. Prevost seconded the motion.

The secretary read letters from the Imperial Oil Co., relative to removal of their tanks which are considered by the town as hazardous. No word has yet been received from British American Oil Co., and the secretary was requested to write again for an answer.

Considerable discussion took place in connection with the opening of Berry Street, the secretary reporting that the C.P.R. required $100 for purchase of land and $266 for removal of poles. This was thought to be too high and the council felt justified in leaving the matter in abeyance.

The request of the town for a 50 p.c. grant to pave Milway Street was turned down by the Provincial Roads Department at Quebec.

It was moved by Ald. Prevost, seconded by Ald. Morrissette, that the town proceed with the laying of a sewer on Queen and Hamford Streets as soon as finances could be arranged for; the sewer to be laid on King Street was also ordered.

Many Attend the Funeral of Late Mrs. Dansereau

LAST RITES WITNESSED AT PARISH CHURCH IN GRENVILLE

MANY NOTABLES JOIN WITH COUNTY SYMPATHIZERS

Representatives of the Provincial Government and of the legislature joined with a very large assembly of county residents, to pay tribute at the funeral of Mrs. Georges Dansereau last Thursday in Grenville. Mrs. Dansereau was the widow of the former Liberal member of Argenteuil and mother of Hon. Georges E. Dansereau, present representative at Quebec and Minister without Portfolio in the Godbout Government.

The requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Joseph Larose, a cousin of the late Mrs. Dansereau, assisted by Canon Ludger Archambault and Rev. Armand Bazinet. Masses at the side altars were said also by the Rev. Father Laniel, curé of Alfred, Ont., and the Rev. Father V. Caron of the Ottawa Seminary.

The principal mourners were her sons, Hon. Georges Dansereau, Gaetan and Stanislas Dansereau, her sons-in-law, Dr. P. Joly, J. Paul, of Montreal, and Henri Proulx of l'Orignal, with a number of nephews, cousins and other relatives.

Among Quebec representatives attending the funeral were the Hon. T. D. Bouchard, Minister of Roads and Public Works, Hon. Bernard Bissonette, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, James McGibbon, M.P. for Argenteuil, J. A. Francoeur, M.L.A. for Mercier, Paul Gauthier, M.L.A. for Laurier, Louis Coderre, Deputy-Minister of Municipal Affairs, Trade and Commerce and many others.

A very large attendance at the funeral, and a profuse tribute of flowers, gave evidence of the high esteem and sympathy felt for this well-known Argenteuil family.

Grenv'l Man, 66, Left Unconscious Hit-Run Victim

WAS CROSSING HIGHWAY WHEN KNOCKED DOWN BY VEHICLE

TRUCKMAN BELIEVED RESPONSIBLE

A hit-and-run accident occurred Saturday evening, around half past eight, when Joseph Desforges, 66-year-old resident of Grenville, was struck and left unconscious beside the highway between Grenville village and the interprovincial bridge.

The man was found by Sanford McVicar of Kilmar, who took Mr. Desforges to his home nearby. Dr. Favier was summoned from the village and gave him treatment for bad cuts about the head and a lacerated ear. It was learned the victim had been walking from his home toward the village and in crossing the street had been hit by a vehicle, presumably a truck.

Traffic Officer H. Jones, of Grenville, investigated the accident.

Rent Control Is Extended to Three Argentl. Municipalites

LACHUTE TOWN, MUNICIPALITIES OF CHATHAM AND ST. JERUSALEM ARE DESIGNATED AS RENT-PEGGED AREAS UNDER RULING SIMILAR TO BROWNSBURG

ALSO FOUR TOWNS IN NEIGHBORING COUNTIES

Ottawa — Extension of rent control to the towns of Lachute, St. Jerome, Ste. Therese and Ste. Rose, and the municipalities of Chatham, St. Jerusalem, Ste. Therese and St. Janvier is announced by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

"This new Board Order provides that, effective October 1, 1941, the highest rent that may be charged for housing accommodation in these areas is that which prevailed on January 2, 1941, or, if the accommodation was not rented on that date, the rental payable under the latest lease in 1940," explained Mr. Justice Martin, Rentals Administrator.

"A tenant need not and should not pay more than the maximum rental fixed by this order", he added.

Appeals by landlords for variation of rentals from the fixed maximum are to be made by notice of petition filed with the Clerk of the Magistrate's Court in Lachute, St. Jerome and Ste. Therese-de-Blainville. Landlords are required to complete forms available at the offices of these clerks, outlining the special circumstances on which they base their appeal, and to verify this information by affidavit. Tenants' appeals for a reduction of the fixed rent or for determination of a rental for housing constructed since January 2, 1941, must also be made to the clerks and be supported by a sworn statement.

Applications for variation of the fixed maximum rentals will be received up to and including December 31, 1941.

Times for the hearing of rental applications may be set by the local rental Committee, and where either party wishes to oppose an application for rent variation, he may do so either by sworn statement filed with the clerk, or by oral testimony at the hearing.

District Magistrate Donat Lalande is named the local Rentals Committee for all the added areas and is given the power to secure information about properties in question and to inspect premises if he so wishes. His decision will be final and conclusive when approved by the Rentals Administrator.

Applications for variation of maximum rentals by landlords and tenants in Brownsburg, must henceforth also be made to the Rentals Committee at Lachute. While this latest order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board alters the procedure for making rental applications in Brownsburg, rentals in this municipality, which was brought under rent control in October, 1940, remain pegged at the January 2, 1940, level. The time limit for making application for rent variation in Brownsburg expired on December 31st, 1940, and new applications may only be made in respect of special circumstances arising after that date.

While all formal applications for the variation of the maximum fixed rents are to be considered by the local Rentals Committee, complaints about violations of the rent fixing order, reduction of services, unlawful evictions, or other contraventions of the regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, should be reported by letter directly to the Rentals Administrator at Ottawa where they will receive prompt attention.

Booklets explaining the rental regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board will be available at the offices of the Clerks with whom applications are to be filed in the added areas.

Rector's Wife Is Injured in Fall

Mrs. E. G. May, wife of the rector of the Trinity Anglican Church at Ste. Agathe, fell in her home on Tuesday and suffered a fractured hip. She was treated for the injury at the local sanatorium and later transferred to Central Division of the Montreal General Hospital in Montreal.

Morin Hts. Resident Hurt in Accident

Montreal — Mrs. George Hamilton, of Morin Heights, was admitted to the Montreal General Hospital Monday night suffering from injuries received when a car, driven by her husband, collided with another vehicle on the Laurentian highway near Shawbridge.

Hitler has complained for years about Germany's surplus population, but he seems to be getting rid of that surplus quite satisfactorily in the operations on the eastern front.

Hollyhocks and Pep-Talk to Stir Pride of Old St. Andrews

RESIDENT DEPLORES PASSING OF ANNUAL REGATTAS; URGES REVIVAL OF OLD COMMUNITY SPIRIT, CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS AND HOLDING OF SOCIABLE GATHERINGS

(CORRESPONDENCE TO THE EDITOR)

Thirty-five years ago, I was first privileged to see St. Andrews East, and its beauty has never been obliterated from my mind, notwithstanding my visits to Newfoundland, Bermuda, Cuba, and Kingston, Jamaica, British West Indies, etc.

St. Andrews East has a wonderful future, but there's an old saying, "If you do nothing, you can expect nothing". That phrase is most applicable here today.

There is no community spirit. Years ago activity reigned. The former delightful residents have long since "crossed the bar"; nothing left but memories.

I will recall an incident. . . One day that most genial gentleman, the late Dr. Benjamin Wales, who did much for St. Andrews East, said to me: "Mr. Davis, why don't you repeat those famous regattas on the beautiful North River?"

My answer was: "Dr. Wales, if you have a radio, that popular song, "Those wedding bells have broken up that old gang of mine,' is the answer."

Yes, our regattas held for many years on Dominion Day on the North and Ottawa Rivers are vividly remembered by many who still treasure valuable prizes won at those events. At one regatta on the North River, the Fox Film Company co-operated. The Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club attended with their well known cruisers. The late Sir Chas. Davidson attended, R. J. Tooke, Honorary Commodore of St. Andrews Motor and Boating Club in his famous Doris III from Vaudreuil with a record of 40 miles per hour.

Capt. J. Davidson Weir, of Cushing, rear commodore, cooperated with the Fox Film operators on the "Maggie May", a government boat. He requested the owners of visiting cruisers to assemble above the rocks on the North River and at a given signal, make for the Ottawa at full speed.

The film proved most successful; it was shown all over Canada and the United States, and former natives of St. Andrews East, to my own knowledge, saw the film, "St. Andrews the Beautiful", in San Francisco, Vancouver and other centres. Supplementing the aforementioned, Westmount's Brass Band of 35 pieces came out, plus a well known orchestra for the dance in the Town Hall, when prizes were given for the aquatic events.

Naturally, these regattas put St. Andrews East in the spotlight, and the publicity given enticed

Anxious Citizens Watch All Night As Cyclone Whips Neighboring Bushfire

Garden Hoses in Readiness, Cars Loaded for Hasty Evacuation of Homes on Boulevard

SHORT CIRCUIT CAUSES ANOTHER SCARE

BUSHFIRE AT ST. ADOLPHE

A swamp fire and a 50-mile gale together can present alarming possibilities. While both occurred here almost a week ago, the excitement they caused among Bedard Boulevard residents and nearby farm dwellers is still news to many in Lachute. Although this blaze on the southern outskirts of town, at its worst last Thursday night, was visible for miles around the country — it was not seen from the lower sections of Lachute, and the anxieties of upper-town residents during the night were not generally known until next day.

Gale Estimated at 50-Mile Velocity

A cyclone on the last lap of its cross-continent marathon struck Ottawa that night at a velocity of 68 miles an hour. At Montreal the gale was recorded at a maximum of 37 miles, and in this area it may be estimated at around 50 miles an hour. Bushfires in many places were fanned to dangerous proportions, and a blaze was soon beyond control on the farm lands south of this town. Brush had been burned on two farm properties to the south of Lachute a few days previously, and despite precautions the embers must have ignited brush on one or both of these farms. The fire extended over a mile square before it was finally quenched by rain Tuesday night.

Town in Complete Darkness

The effect Thursday night on Bedard Boulevard residents may be well imagined. Through clouds of smoke sweeping over the thoroughfare, the glare of the fire could be seen behind the southside dwellings. None of the spectators seemed certain of the location or extent of the fire. The gale at times was deafening, and to increase the general confusion, the disrupted power service had thrown streets and homes into complete darkness. On some of the farms which seemed threatened, matters were even worse, for telephone communications were also broken.

As the Boulevard residents gathered in the street, the threat of a conflagration from flying embers appeared exaggerated, perhaps, by the eerie conditions of the night. Automobiles were brought out in readiness for a hasty exodus, and many home-dwellers had their valuables and winter clothing already loaded for transit. Garden hoses were connected ready to spray fences and premises should an outbreak have occurred.

General Confusion

One lighter incident shows the tenseness which prevailed . . . Many of the menfolk had taken to the fields to discern through the smoke the actual site of the blaze. One old gentleman was believed lost at this time; members of his family searched around the home with flashlights, until finally he was found — peacefully sleeping in his bed! The old man had got up and left the house by the front door, but being less disturbed by the excitement than younger members of the family, had returned unseen by the rear door and gone back to bed . . . So through the night, until four o'clock next morning, residents watched until the wind abated and the immediate danger seemed past.

Fire Call to Robert Street

Besides fallen trees and broken power lines the only major scare downtown was a brilliant flare at the lower end of Robert Street, where a broken electric cable caused a short circuit. The fire force was called to the scene, but meanwhile Gatineau Power officials had switched off the power.

Linemen were kept busy through the night with similar breaks, the current being shut off from 8 p.m. Thursday until early morning. The business centre of Lachute presented an unusual sight with restaurants, stores and hotels in darkness.

The bushfire burned until the heavy rains of Tuesday night; it had been checked on the west by the highway to St. Andrews. Precautions had been taken to protect several dwellings in the line of fire, and no appreciable loss occurred. The fire extended onto several farm properties, including those of Ed. Kettyle, Ernest McOuat and P. Gordon on the Montreal highway, Gordon Cruise, Mrs. P. Cruise and A. Bellingham in the Lachute Road community.

Bushfire at St. Adolphe

Another bushfire broke out a mile from the south end of the lake at St. Adolphe de Howard. The village itself was in no danger due to the direction of the wind, villagers reported, but several summer homes had a narrow escape from the blaze. It is understood that in addition to villagers and farmers from the surrounding countryside, fire-fighters from Val Morin aided in quenching the blaze.

There never was a person who did anything worth doing that did not receive more than he gave.

CANADA'S TROOPS HELPING FARMERS

Men From Canadian Corps Get Time Off to Aid in Harvest Work

Somewhere in England, Sept. 20 (CP) — Former farmers in the Canadian Corps are helping British farmers to harvest magnificent crops of wheat and other grains.

Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, officer commanding the corps, told newspapermen he heartily endorsed this practice. "Some 300 Canadian soldiers here helped British farmers," he said. "The farmers put in requests for help and it is provided. Our men live with the farmers for a week or two. I am anxious to encourage this because it builds up friendship between our men and the British farmers. Mass hospitality does not help much but this type of acquaintanceship is immensely valuable."

The Canadian commander explained training schedules had been altered so soldiers would be available to aid the farmers.

COLD WINTER FOR ERIN

Dublin (CP) — The Eire government has ordered communal feeding centres to be built in Dublin to counter a possible shortage of coal, gas and electricity this winter.

Celebrates Birthday

General John J. Pershing, A.E.F. commander, observed his 81st birthday at Walter Reed hospital where friends said he had been undergoing his annual physical checkup. In a message of birthday greeting to the U.S. army, he declared that "There is no nation in the world whose citizenry affords better soldiers than the United States". Pershing told news photographers that "This is the last time I'll pose for the next 50 years."

WANT SOUTH SHORE ROAD KEPT OPEN

Group Sees Bouchard on Link Between Dorion And Pointe Fortune

A delegation from the counties of Vaudreuil-Soulanges interviewed Hon. T. D. Bouchard, Quebec Minister of Roads and Public Works, and asked that the Montreal-Ottawa highway be kept open this winter between Dorion and Pointe Fortune. The delegation based the request on the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway has obtained permission to discontinue its service between Rigaud and Pointe Fortune.

Mr. Bouchard suggested that the districts concerned organize a committee to negotiate with his department on the matter. The Government, he said, is ready to pay its share of the cost under the general regulations adopted last year. Under this plan, the Government pays 50 per cent of the cost up to a fixed amount. The municipalities agree to pay the remainder.

NOW IT'S CORN GIVES ANXIETY IN WHEAT BELT

Prairies Want it Dry and Warm to Ripen Crops for Fodder and Starch Factory

By CHARLES GUNNING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Winnipeg, Sept. 26 (CP) — Farmers in the southern sections of Western Canada's grain belt are watching forecasts for dry spells which will help ripen a promising corn crop.

Cool, damp weather has been the order over many sections of the prairie corn belt since the final days of August and the dearth of sunshine has had a retarding effect on the crop in its final stages of growth.

Early estimates placed the total western corn acreage at about 233,500 acres this year, with Manitoba farmlands in the lead.

Dr. P. J. Olson, plant science expert at the University of Manitoba in Winnipeg, estimated last spring Manitoba farmers planted "not less than 75 per cent" more land to corn than last season when 125,000 acres were sown. Saskatchewan's corn acreage was estimated at 11,000 and Alberta's at 3,900.

Last fall about 27,500 tons of corn were taken from 11,000 acres in Saskatchewan. The crop had a feed value of around $137,000. Alberta's 1940 corn production was 1,000 tons from 2,400 acres and the harvest was valued at $53,000.

Manitoba producers harvested about 1,500,000 bushels of husked corn last autumn and 187,500 tons of fodder sown. No estimate on the value of last year's Manitoba crop was available.

Grain men predicted a price of around 75 cents a bushel will be quoted on new crop Manitoba husked corn when it is ready for market. It was expected, also, that corn not used to feed livestock on the farm on which it is grown would bring about the same price as in Saskatchewan and Alberta — about $5. a ton.

Corn is used chiefly for livestock fodder in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba although a fair proportion of the crop goes into the manufacture of corn starch in the latter province. Dr. Olson described the quality of Manitoba's new crops as "excellent".

H. E. Wood of the Manitoba Department of Agriculture said farmers are learning that corn is a "profitable crop" due to the higher prices received for livestock, and to the Dominion government acreage bonus plan which provides a premium of $2. an acre for former wheatlands sown to corn.

In addition, said Wood, homegrown corn is beginning to replace quantities of grain which formerly came from the United States and the Argentine.

Would Use Same Color Yearly on Auto Plates

Winnipeg — The standing committee of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada has recommended that each province choose a distinctive color for automobile license plates and use the same color each year.

The committee suggested that license plates be larger with bigger numerals.

Allow Gallon of Gas In Can, Legal Hours

Toronto — When automobiles run dry on Canadian highways during legal hours of sale, owners can now obtain delivery of gasoline by the can — but not more than one gallon.

Authorization of the can delivery was given by the office of the federal oil controller.

Rent Control

The rent control order now affecting Lachute, St. Jerusalem and Chatham is received with mixed sentiments — all tenants being in favor and some few landlords being contrary-minded.

As we understand it, the rent pegging ordinance is designed to curb unfair exploitation, just as price control aims to check profiteering on any particular commodity in which there is a scarcity or excessive demand. Proprietors have had their difficult years. But so have tenants; their reasonable requests have so often passed unheeded by the landlords. . . Be that as it may, there is a fair recourse to arbitration, should the new measure cause injustice. The magistrate's clerk at Lachute is intermediary for complaints and appeals; and maybe he's prepared for a rush !

Try This On Yourself

The way you choose friends is a good index to your character. — With this epigram a weekly exchange throws new light on the old adage to the effect one is judged by the friends he keeps.

If you prefer people weaker than yourself, it is observed, this is because you feel weak but want to appear strong. If you like older people, wiser ones or stronger ones best, it is because you think their positive qualities will save you the trouble of cultivating your own. If you choose friends as equals, on a give-and-take basis, you have a healthy, constructive mind.

World Horror No. 1

The latest horror from the Russo-German conflict is a report that Nazi hospitals are quietly killing off those of their wounded soldiers too badly injured to fight again for the Fatherland. . . With the reservation that this may be a falsely circulated rumor, one is nevertheless prepared to believe it, in the light of other proven atrocities.

Captain William Bowie, a Montreal enthusiast for constructive recreation, in a recent radio address gave this first-hand impression of Nazi character in the making :

"It was my privilege to attend a World Conference on Recreation held in Hamburg, Germany, in 1936, and to observe the type of organization and training in the Hitler Youth Movement. It was obvious the free choice of the individual in regard to the form of sport he would participate in was subordinated to the decrees of the State. All forms of exercises and so-called sport were designed to build bodies for the ordeal of battle, under the name of the 'Joy Through Strength' organization. A gigantic street parade intended to interpret to the public the many and varied forms of leisure time activities degenerated into a goose-stepping military parade with Labor Front detachments marching with shiny new shovels carried at the slope in military fashion. Ancient games such as putting the shot and tossing the caber were changed over from a competitive sport to exercises of strength-building en masse. The joyous spirit of team play was absent. I came home from that Congress with the conviction that our Democratic way of life had its faults but was infinitely better than the German idea of State control of the minds and bodies of its people."

It may be supposed that the fanatic patriotism of German youth attains its ultimate ideal in death; to sacrifice itself for the Fuehrer and the Fatherland is the crowning glory for which this psychology has been trained, in the schools and on the athletic fields . . . With this supposition, then, Hitler's treatment of his wounded heroes is just as acceptable to the German mind as it is revolting to us, who are blessed with more human sensibilities.

Tangs of Autumn

Associated with the mellow joys of autumn is "the tang of burning brush" (to quote a local poet contributing in this issue) . . . But when the aroma persists, and the town is enveloped in the smoke of neighboring bush fires, we begin to think this fall "tanging" business is a little overdone.

A Toronto florist is still advertising that he will send flowers to "all parts of the world." We'll just have him send some poison ivy to Benito Mussolini and a bouquet of ragweed to Adolph to help out the hay fever he contracted in Russia.

Chronicling the "Three Great Facts" of Man's Existence

The week of October 1-9 is designated National Newspaper Week, a period in which the good relationships existing between the press and the public are brought to the fore, and in which the sanctity of these relationships, as an instrument in democratic security, is duly emphasized. A little thought will clarify the connection between these two; and the small country weekly, with the precious privilege of "saying what it thinks", will be seen in true light as an asset to be cherished.

We present these timely thoughts, as a monologue from the pages of your home town paper:

I am the Country Weekly.

I am the friend of the family, the bringer of tidings from other friends; I speak to the home in the evening light of summer's vineclad porch or the glow of winter's lamp.

I help to make this evening hour; I record the great and the small, the varied acts of the day and weeks that go to make up life.

I am for and of the home! I follow those who leave humble beginnings; whether they go to greatness or to the gutter, I take to them the thrill of old days, with wholesome messages.

I speak the language of the common man; my words are fitted to his understanding. My congregation is larger than that of any church in my town; my readers are more than those in the school. Young and old alike find in me stimulation, instruction, entertainment, inspiration, solace, comfort. I am the chronicler of birth and love and death — the three great facts of man's existence.

I bring together buyer and seller, to the benefit of both; I am part of the market place of the world. Into the home I carry word of the goods which feed, and clothe, and shelter, and which minister to comfort, ease, health, and happiness.

I am the word of the week, the history of the year, the record of my community in the archives of state and nation.

I am the exponent of the lives of my readers.

I am the Country Weekly.

This Hackneyed Phrase —The Freedom of the Press

The close bond of friendship and confidence that has always existed between Canadian Weekly newspapers and their readers, must continue.

The confidence which readers have placed in newspapers has placed the press in a position to be all the more helpful to communities and to their nation. They have become a large part of every community.

Any attempt to encroach upon the freedom of the press is a direct thrust at the freedom of the people and is to be resented and prevented by those who depend upon newspapers for the truth. Newspapers do not ask for freedom of the press for themselves alone — they ask for it in the name of their readers.

Take a look about in the world. Find a throttled press and you find a nation whose people "goose-step" and who are given no opportunity to learn the truth. In contrast they are given "news" of the type which dictators believe will further their cause.

No, this isn't a false cry of alarm.

No newspaper can be strong without the support of its community.

No community can prosper without a strong, live-wire newspaper.

There is no other way in this land of democracy and free enterprise which both the newspapers and their readers must ever be alert to preserve !

Ontario and Quebec used to constitute the greatest hog-producing area in Canada, but today there are more hogs on the prairies than in the two central provinces. It is apparent that if the west has turned from wheat to some extent, it has very much turned to hogs.
—Brockville Recorder

The Ottawa Citizen asks: "What will we put in the beans, if they ration pork in Canada?" If the editor is referring to canned pork and beans, the pork has been rationed for a long time—the packers couldn't put less pork in the canned beans and still label them "Pork and Beans."

WAR — TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

VENIZELOS ORGANIZED REVOLUTION IN GREECE TO BRING COUNTRY TO SIDE OF THE ENTENTE ALLIES

By H. H. GORDON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Through all the years of the First Great War the Entente Allies had no more loyal friend in the Balkans than Eleutherios Venizelos, great liberal statesman who has been called "the maker of greater Greece."

On two occasions during the first year of the war Venizelos resigned as prime minister when his views ran counter to those of the pro-German King Constantine. And it was to this Cretan-born lawyer that the people again turned in the revolutionary movement organized at Salonika 25 years ago.

Constantine and his German-influenced army leaders time and again thwarted the efforts of Venizelos to put Greece wholeheartedly on the side of the Allies. Throughout the first two years of the war the King contended that in matters of foreign policy he did not consider himself bound to follow the national will, feeling himself "personally responsible to God alone." He declared he would not fight against Germany and decreed a policy of benevolent neutrality toward the Entente.

Influenced by German propaganda the King and his advisers refused aid to their old allies, the Serbs, when the Central Powers invaded the Balkans in the autumn of 1915. The Entente Allies forced the admission of Anglo-French troops to Salonika, but before they could be of real assistance Serbia was overrun and Bulgaria made encroachments on Macedonia.

Made Final Appeal

In the summer of 1916 Serbian, British, French, Italian and a few Russian troops started to throw the Bulgarians back. With the entry of Rumania into the war on Aug. 27 on the side of the Allies, Venizelos, who had resigned as prime minister in October, 1915, made a final appeal to Constantine and the government to take the opportunity of associating Greece with the Allies. The plea went unnoticed.

Thereupon Venizelist supporters started an insurrectionary movement with the object of reinforcing the Allies in the Balkans. On Sept. 29 Venizelos organized a provisional government at Salonika which took on all the functions of a sovereign administration in alliance with the allied forces, raised a Greek "army of national defence" and a month later declared war on the Central Powers.

The revolution was ultimately recognized by the Entente in December and pressure brought to bear on Constantine who still professed to be neutral. An Allied fleet blockaded the Greek coasts, but it was not until June 1917 that Constantine abdicated and Venizelos returned to full power. The reunited Greek government declared war on Germany and her allies June 29, 1917.

REGULATIONS FOR TENANTS

In Tasker Homes, a new Government housing project in Philadelphia, cats and dogs are not permitted. Among other regulations are: Each tenant's belongings must be fumigated before moving in, at a cost to the tenant of three or four dollars. Tenants must make a "security deposit" of $5.00 against damage to premises. Failure to "clean and wash" their premises before moving out will forfeit the deposit. Relatives may crowd in on week-ends or holidays but at other times a maximum of three persons to three rooms or eight persons to six rooms is permitted. An excess of pictures is frowned upon. The suggestion is, "Do not attempt to cover your walls with too many pictures, as it is generally considered more attractive to hang just a few in carefully chosen locations." The tenant must keep his ground free from paper and rubbish.

Another suggestion is "Don't shake your mop out of the window. You don't want anybody else's dirt, and nobody wants yours." "No radio should be kept going at full volume. Parking space is allotted for tenants' automobiles but not for old abandoned cars," and each tenant must remove the oil and grease drippings from his car.

"Your vacation doesn't seem to bother you."

"No. My boss tells me when and my wife where."

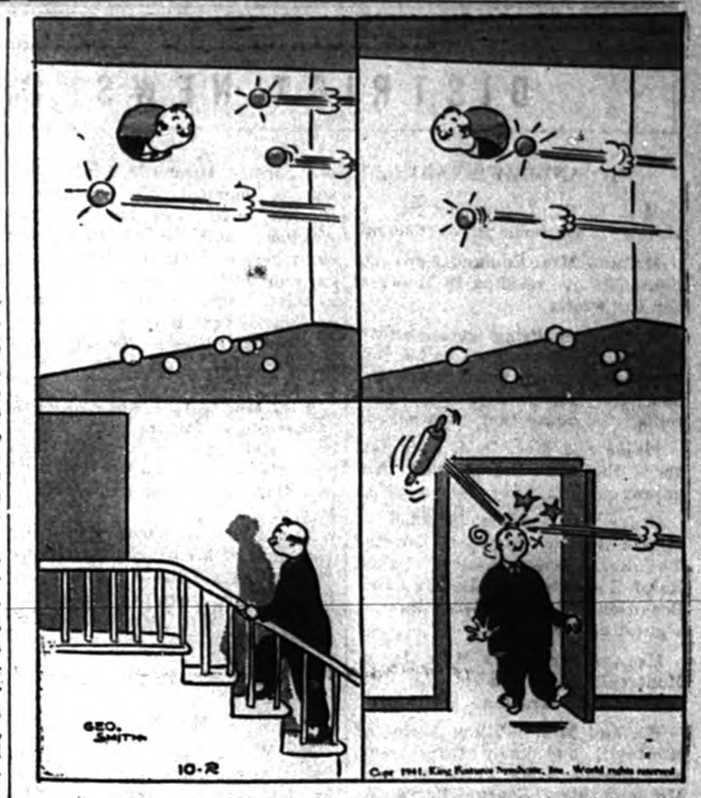

Fines for Profanity Help Queen's Fund

Moncton, N.B., Oct. 1 — Not that railwaymen are any more addicted to profanity than the ordinary run of mortals, but the Queen's Canadian Fund received a rather unexpected contribution recently from a C.N.R. train crew who undertook to fine themselves every time they uttered a swear word. By mutual consent it was agreed that any member of the crew who made use of a profane word while in the van would place a penny in a receptable set aside for the fund. The last week-end on which the crew reached their terminal, the receptacle was full to overflowing — it contained nine dollars and fifty-six cents — which went to aid victims of German bombs in Britain.

"Has your husband taken the medicine I prescribed? A tablet before each meal and a small whisky after?"

History Repeats, In Blitz Rhythm

So the Germans have moved on the Crimea. Eighty-seven years after the last great war in that peninsula, whence came names that ring in history — Sebastopol and Kars, Balaclava and Inkerman. Whence came Tennyson's Charge of the Light Brigade and Florence Nightingale and modern nursing. Incidentally, too, the raglan coat and the reputation of the great Sir Fenwick Williams of Kars, who was a Nova Scotian and who was one of the most intrepid British generals who ever lived. He died, a solitary, eccentric old man, in an old manor house outside Dartmouth, N.S., and by that time everyone had forgotten him, but he was perhaps our first great native-born general.

It will be strange to read the names again we read in the history books, or in the volumes of G. A. Henty, (I wonder if youngsters still read Henty), but when you come to think it over, the battlegrounds of humanity recur constantly over the weaving pattern of the centuries. Some special places seem destined to be battlegrounds, to bring out the cussedness in humanity. Syria and Palestine have been battlegrounds for more than three thousand years, the Low Countries for at least six hundred. The Nile has always flowed placidly through the turbulence of great empires. Poland and the Baltic countries have been periodically torn apart through the centuries.

Now, in the Crimea, history repeats itself, but in blitz rhythm.

— THE WEEK IN OTTAWA —

Trade Minister MacKinnon is in South America, continuing his mission of arranging new trade facilities for Canadian manufacturers and spotting new sources of supply. He will be home soon and it seems probable his northward journey will coincide with a southward voyage by Chief Justice W. A. F. Turgeon, Canada's first minister to the Argentine, whose appointment was announced last week. Chile and Canada are to establish direct diplomatic relations almost immediately.

Parliament Session

Meantime, interest in parliamentary activities is reviving. The session of parliament is only a little more than a month away. It is anticipated that, like last year, reviews of the various ministers of the war activities of their departments will take up a good part of the pre-Christmas sitting, with Mr. King likely to lead off.

Conservative House Leader Mr. Hanson, still in Britain at the week-end, will have a fresh view of the war situation gained from his first-hand survey, to give the House.

When he addresses the House, Finance Minister Ilsley may be able to tell the members that a number of provinces have signed agreements with the Dominion putting into effect his budget proposals of last April that the personal and corporation income tax fields be left to the Dominion for the duration of the war.

Conferences between Mr. Ilsley and his advisers on the one hand and seven of the nine provinces on the other were held last week. Ontario's delegation, headed by Premier Mitchell Hepburn, came to Ottawa this week for similar negotiations and British Columbia will be along after the Oct. 21 provincial elections.

Mr. Ilsley has expressed confidence all the provinces will enter into agreements that will be satisfactory to both sides but no final arrangements are expected for several weeks.

When Fall Comes 'Round

When fall comes 'round
Everywhere does beauty abound;
A carpet of leaves rustles
Like taffeta bustles,
When fall comes 'round.

When fall comes 'round — [husk.
All day long there's the corn to
And then . . . evening . . . and dusk;
There settles a silencing hush
As tang arises of burning brush,
When fall comes 'round.

When fall comes 'round [sound
Stars of windows twinkle, and
Of voices heard from within Unite in one blessing,
"The harvest's in !"
When fall comes 'round.

The bishop was once ordered by his physician to spend the winter in Algiers. The bishop said it was impossible, he had so many engagements.

"Well, my Lord Bishop," said the physician, "it means either Algiers or heaven."

"Well, in that case," said the bishop, "I'll go to Algiers."

The Weekly Newspaper's Prime Function

Is the Presentation Of Local News -- Accurately, Impartially

The Palmers and their family live over on Church Street. They might be people you know, because they're just average folks. They don't play an important part in world affairs themselves, but they're mighty interested in what local people are doing, planning and thinking about. They like to keep themselves informed about what's happening in their home-town and district — and they like to know about the things that happen — WHEN they happen. So — they read their local weekly newspaper.

There's a lot of significance to that. There's a lot of Palmers in the world, and most of them are hungry for news of their own home-town and district. Naturally they turn to the one source they can depend on, that they've ALWAYS depended on, ever since they were kids. Their local weekly newspaper. They KNOW that the prime function of that newspaper is the presentation of the news — accurately and impartially. That's what your weekly newspaper does for you. And it's an important job.

DISTRICT NEWS

FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

ST. ANDREWS EAST

Mrs. R. St. J. Simpson has returned to her home in Westmount.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Neve and household are residing in Montreal for the winter.

Mr. Sydney Pring having enlisted, Mrs. Pring has gone to Lachute to reside with her parents, and Mr. and Mrs. George Lipscombe have rented the house they vacated.

Major and Mrs. D. J. Corrigall, spent the week-end at their bungalow.

Other week-enders included — Misses Beatrice Simpson, Dorothy McCallum, Messrs. Kenneth Baker, Ralph Lalonde, Bill DeWitt, Eric Bezanson and Mr. O'Reilly Hewett, a guest of Mr. Baker's.

Mr. and Mrs. John Muir, Jr., of Montreal were guests for the week-end of Mr. John Muir, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. William Perks, of Montreal, and their three sons, were guests of Mr. Perks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Perks, on Sunday. They were accompanied by Miss Margaret Beatty, of Montreal, a sister of Mrs. Geo. Perks.

Among the hostesses who entertained in honor of Mrs. L. H. Bezanson, prior to her departure for residence in Montreal, were Mrs. C. W. Lamb, Miss Beatrice Robertson, Mrs. W. Burry and Mrs. David Morrison.

The gale of last Thursday night felled a large pine and an elm tree in the Protestant Cemetery, but no damage was done to headstones. A tall spruce tree on Mr. Snowdon's property, that had been a landmark on the River Road, was also broken and fell across the road.

The W.A. of Christ Church met on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 25th, at the home of Mrs. William Entwhistle. Mrs. L. H. Bezanson, the president, was in the chair. Arrangements were made for a Christmas sale on December 11th, to be held in Mrs. W. Burry's house.

Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Wm. Ball who has been ill for three weeks.

Mr. René Giroux, having bought the house and bakery just vacated by Mr. Maurice, has moved there. This property was formerly owned by Mr. Giroux's step-father, Mr. Haspeck. Mr. Giroux will operate the bakery and also continue to act as distributor for Montreal bakeries .... Best wishes for his success are extended to this enterprising young citizen.

Feted by Community Friends On Departure for Montreal

The close of the Red Cross meeting on Friday afternoon was chosen as a fitting occasion for the women of this community to express their appreciation of the services of Mrs. L. H. Bezanson, whose time and talents have been at the disposal of every worthy cause.

Mrs. Bezanson was a member of the former Choral Society, which was conducted by her mother-in-law, Mrs. H. P. Bezanson, also of the former Dramatic Club. She was a member of the United Church choir and later of the Anglican choir. A willing worker at suppers and teas, for the churches and other organizations, her nimble fingers also fabricated costumes for masquerades and Christmas festivals. Troubles and bereavements were borne with gallant fortitude.

Mrs. Milton Yale was chosen as spokeswoman for the many neighbors and friends present, and presented a black leather week-end case lined with blue, also a sum of money.

The guest of honor was quite overcome with emotion, but during the singing of "She's a Jolly Good Fellow," she regained composure and made a very nice "thank-you" speech. Tea and biscuits were served.

MABEL

Mr. Willis Seale, of Morin Hts., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Murdoch on Sunday. Mrs. Seale and daughter, Doreen, returned home after spending the past week here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Heatlie, of Chatboro, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Heatlie.

Miss Catherine Murdoch and Mr. Alvin Connelly, also Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McCulloch, of Montreal, who are vacationing here, spent Sunday in Harrington visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. Bennett.

Mrs. Archie Murdoch entertained the Dalesville Baptist Mission Circle at her home last Wednesday.

Mrs. K. McManus, Mrs. H. Cooper and Mr. Rupert McManus, of Montreal, also Mr. Dave MacAllister, of Seattle, Wash., were guests of Mr. Geo. Clark on Wednesday of last week. Mr. MacAllister saw many changes in this community after having been away for forty years.

Mr. Ross Townsend and Mrs. Raymond Warwick motored to Montreal on Sunday. On their return they were accompanied by Mrs. Townsend and infant son, Carl Blair.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Clark and Mr. James Black, also the Misses J. MacKenzie and E. Davis, were in Montreal on Friday.

Seaman Ken Murdoch, of Montreal, spent the week-end at his home here.

Brownsburg Red Cross Holds "Talent Tea"

Brownsburg — Over 50 guests attended the "talent tea" held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Chalmers on Friday afternoon, September 26th.

Many beautiful and useful articles were offered for sale on a table tastefully decorated in red, white and blue. The gypsy fortune teller was in great demand throughout the afternoon and caused much amusement.

At the close of a very successful afternoon tea was served. The amount realized was $51.05.

The supper held at Laurentian Rest Inn on Saturday, Sept. 27th, under auspices of Trinity Church Guild, was well attended.

The service at Trinity Church will be held at 10 a.m. (D.S.T.) on Sunday. Mr. Horace Baugh has resumed his parochial duties, having made a speedy recovery from his recent throat operation.

Satins Now Rustle in Voluminous Skirts

New York, Oct. 1 (CP) — Fabrics from grandmother's day are woven into the fashion picture this season. Silks of extravagant texture are made into voluminous skirts. There's the rustle of stiff faille taffetas, of slipper satins and taffeta-back velveta. Moires, studied design, appear in every collection, as often in the day-length suit or the frock which edges into the dinner scene. Prim, all-black stiff silks in checks or plaids appear in Victorian silhouettes — playing up peplums and poufs.

RAINS CHECK FIRES ALL OVER PROVINCE

Rain brought welcome relief Sunday evening to thousands of forest rangers and farmers who had been fighting bushfires in many sections of the province for more than a week.

At Terrebonne the most serious blaze of the week had menaced about 350 homes, including farmhouses and summer cottages. The houses had been saved only by the tireless efforts of the large fire-fighting force.

At St. Paul L'Ermite, where bushfires have menaced the munitions plant, the fires were subdued though not completely under control. Though the fires were within a mile of the munition plant it was stated the factory was not in any danger.

Fires were still burning at St. Calixte, St. Eustache, Ste. Therese, St. Canute and St. Scholastique. At the latter village, according to Paul Kieffer, chief of the Forestry Service, nine farmhouses were threatened during Sunday, but pumps were rushed to the scene and the danger was averted.

The Terrebonne area has been badly burned over a sector ten miles long by three miles wide. The rain was in reality a great aid to the firefighters in all areas as trenches and firebreaks built in the path of the fires proved of little value, the wind carrying the flames over them to start new fires.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

DANSEREAU — The Hon. Geo. E. Dansereau and members of the Dansereau family, Grenville, acknowledge with thanks the kindness and sympathy extended in the recent passing of their mother.

IN MEMORIAM

KILPATRICK — In loving memory of my dear father, George Kilpatrick, who passed away Oct. 2, 1939. — Lovingly remembered by his daughter, Phyllis.

Dearest Dad, you are not forgotten
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with me
As you always were before.

KILPATRICK—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George Kilpatrick, who passed away October 2, 1939. — Always remembered by his wife and family.

Not a day do we forget you,
In our hearts you are always near,
For we who loved you — sadly miss you
As it dawns another year.

IVALL — In memory of our dear father, William Ivall, who passed away Sept. 28, 1940. — Ever remembered by his family.

You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be;
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.
Life is eternal, love will remain,
In God's own time we will meet again.

MONCRIEFF — In loving memory of a dear Father, George Moncrieff, who passed away Oct. 1, 1940. — Ever remembered by his daughter, Mrs. M. Boyd.

God saw that his footsteps faltered,
That the road had become too steep,
So he touched his weary eyelids
And gave his loved one sleep.

MONCRIEFF — In loving memory of a dear dad and grandfather, George Moncrieff, who passed away Oct. 1st., 1940. — Ever remembered by his daughter, Carrie, and family.

God saw that he was weary,
And knew he wanted rest,
He folded him in His loving arms,
And took him home to rest.

FIRE AT LAURENTIAN RESORT CLAIMS LIFE OF ONE EMPLOYEE

250-Pound Cook Is Fatally Injured in Fall

Lea Paquette, 33, a 250-pound cook, lost her life early Saturday morning when flames broke her hold on a rope down which she was attempting an escape from the main building of Sun Valley Farm, Val Morin, which was destroyed by fire. She died Sunday at Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal, as the result of burns, a broken leg and internal injuries received in the fall.

The blaze broke out late Friday night in the main building of the farm — winter and summer resort on the Laurentian highway. The victim and another servant, Laurette Fitzgerald, were the only two occupants at the time.

At the window of each room of the three-storey structure there was coiled an inch-thick rope with knots every foot, and it was down one of these from a third-storey window that the cook attempted the descent. The Fitzgerald girl had made good her escape by the stairway.

Apparently flames from the second-storey window lashed out and caused her to lose her hold and fall to the ground. She was taken to Montreal and died shortly after admission to the hospital.

Property of Raoul Cloutier, the Sun Valley Farm project was begun two years ago. The development is to the left of the main Montreal-Ste. Agathe highway. Consisting of main building, outbuildings and stable, the Farm, widely publicized throughout the province, was being developed as a summer and winter resort.

Skeptics may tear the Bible to pieces, but they can make no reply to a consistent Christian life.

TWO AUTO CRASHES BUT NO INJURIES

A highway crash on Route 8 at Chatboro Sunday evening resulted in damage to two Montreal automobiles but no injuries to the occupants. An eastbound car driven by Frank Mills, Verdun, was struck by a machine approaching from the rear and endeavoring to pass. The latter car, driven by Girard Levasseur, Montreal, skidded on the wet pavement and in striking Mills' machine hurled it across a culvert and into the ditch.

An automobile owned by Mayor H. Lamarche and driven by Rodrigue Chevrier, Lachute, was struck by a Lachute Mills car driven by Donia Paul, at 8.10 p.m. on Sunday. The crash occurred on Foundry Street near the junction of Elizabeth, and tracks showed Paul to have been driving westward over to the wrong side of the road, when his machine hit the approaching car.

Provincial Traffic Officers H. Jones and A. Leger, also Constable A. Gervais, were at the scene of the accident. Officer Jones investigated the previous mishap.

"Ad" in Germany Brought Reunion

London, Sept. (CP) — An advertisement in a German newspaper led to the reunion in a Nazi prison camp of two brothers separated for 10 years.

They are Kenneth and Alfred Harvey. Kenneth, 32, was Company Quartermaster-Sergeant of the Hampshire Regiment. Alfred, 27, was a private in the Dorset Regiment.

Kenneth had been in the army of occupation of the Rhine and had served in India before the war broke out. Alfred also had served in India but had not seen Kenneth for 10 years.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Brownsb'g United Church

Brownsburg — The Junior Ladies' Auxiliary held a highly successful harvest supper on Friday of last week. The supper was served from 5 to 8 p.m. The church hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and, with the tables exhibiting a blending of colors and the large variety of seasonable delicacies, showed that great pains had been taken to make the event a success.

The Junior Auxiliary will meet this week in their monthly meeting at home of the Misses McOuat.

Next Sunday morning will mark the Quarterly Communion Service at 11 o'clock. It will be of unusual interest, in that the service will share in the World Wide Communion Fellowship for that day, when Christians of all lands will gather in penitence and faith to participate.

At the evening service the minister, Rev. S. J. Pike, assisted by some of the Young People's group, will inaugurate the resumed activities of the Young People's Union which will begin next Tuesday evening.

Lachute United Y.P.U.

The Lachute United Young People's Union held their first weekly meeting, of the fall and winter term, last evening under the presidency of Miss Beryl Underhill.

The program was taken by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, who gave a paper on St. Paul's Cathedral in London. This wonderful structure has been destroyed many times since it was built in 600 A.D. and each time it was rebuilt more massive and more beautiful than its preceding state. Similarly, said Mr. Rosborough, after this war the Cathedral, and London itself, will stand unshaken in spirit and symbol, as the very heart of Empire faith and confidence in God.

Masonic Divine Service Is Held in Lachute

Officers and members of the Argenteuil Masonic Lodge held their annual church service on Sunday last, at the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, Lachute. The District Deputy Grand Master, Rt. Wor. Bro. M. K. MacCallum of the Buckingham Lodge, was also in attendance.

An expression of welcome to the church was extended to the brethren by the Chaplain of the Argenteuil Lodge, Bro. Rev. E. Orsborn.

During the offertory, a masonic choir sang "Lead me, Lord", by Samuel Sebastian Wesley.

Taking as his text "Thou shalt rear up the tabernacle thereof that was shown thee in the mountains", the Rev. E. Orsborn based his theme upon the sufferings and captivity of the Israelites in Egypt, when the spiritual life of the nation was demoralized. He reviewed the promise of God to Moses, who was commanded to forget the degradation of the past and look to the glory of the future.

Using the Tabernacle of God as an allegory to the theme, the Rev. Orsborn appealed to those present to respond to the call of God, with a determination to do His will and build the tabernacle in one's heart.

United C.G.I.T. Hold Opening Meeting

The C.G.I.T. held their first meeting of the season on Monday, 29th, in the United Church hall. The leaders this year are Mrs. G. Clark, Mrs. W. Freeland and Mrs. Jacobsen.

The meeting was opened by the repeating of the C.G.I.T. purpose. There were 52 girls present. Mrs. Clark explained the aims and purposes of the C.G.I.T. — comparing its members to uniformed soldiers in training.

The four-fold plan for the coming year was then discussed, and it was decided each girl should pay five cents a week towards material for handicrafts:

Officers elected were — President, Betty Morrison; treasurer Leona Boyd; reporter and secretary, Annie MacRae; organist, Beryl Underhill; dramatic committee, Lorna Giles (leader), Marjorie Leggett, Glenice Bradford; cheer leader, Mae Gordon; social committee, Freda MacVicar (leader), Doris Mitchell, Kathryn Langille, Mildred Ward; games leader, Elsie Earle; talk campaigner, Margaret Aitkin; handicraft committee, Kirsten Jacobsen (leader), Else Jacobsen, Yvonne Bedard.

A physical culture period concluded the meeting.

Lachute Presbyt'n Y.P.S.

The regular meeting of the Presbyterian Y.P.S. was held in the church hall last evening with a good attendance.

The following convenors were elected — Program, R. Underhill; entertainment, Eileen Beattie; refreshments, Gertie Wilson; press representative, Cecil McFaul.

In an effort to raise funds for carrying on during the coming season, the Society decided to sponsor a picture show on the evening of October 22nd. More details will be announced at a later date.

Being "social evening", games and bowling were played, followed by refreshments. The program next week will take the form of a "newspaper evening"; and a good attendance is anticipated.

Christian Science Sunday Services

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 5th.

The Golden Text is from I John 2: 16, 17. "All that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me." (Psalm 51: 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Higher enjoyments alone can satisfy the cravings of immortal man. We cannot circumscribe happiness within the limits of personal sense. The senses confer no real enjoyment." (Page 60).

CIGARETTES FROM LIONS CLUB ARE WARMLY RECEIVED

Club Committeeman Heartened By Sincere Appreciation of Boys Overseas

Lachute Lions Club — through Mr. Chas. Walker, committeeman in charge — has received acknowledgment from over a dozen soldiers overseas who received gifts of cigarettes from the club. The cigarettes were sent in cans of 300 to each local service man, and as in the response to previous shipments, the letters received by Mr. Walker again show how keenly the "smokes" are appreciated.

Here are three typical reactions conveyed in these letters and postal cards :

"I recently received another parcel of smokes from the Lions Club . . . I wish you could witness the excitement which occurs when cigarettes arrive, as they are not easily bought here now, and I don't know what we would do if it were not for kind-hearted and patriotic folks like yourselves."

"I have received altogether 1200 cigarettes from you, and mere writing does not seem enough to express my thanks."

"These cigarettes are 'pennies from heaven' and 'Canada in England."

Acknowledgments were received during September from the following soldiers overseas: B. Townsend, Bill Craig, Bob Miller, Ray Craig, J. W. Morrow, Carl Wert, W. J. Attwell, Bob Fulton, Jock Duncan, C. Demerse, L. Craig, Andrew Cleland, W. A. Cooper.

The young man had been in the nursing home for some time and had been extremely well looked after by a pretty young nurse.

"Nurse," said the patient, one morning, "I'm in love with you. I don't want to get well."

"Don't worry," replied the nurse, cheerfully, "you won't. The doctor is in love with me, too, and he saw you kissing me this morning."

Woods - Geroux

St. Andrews E. — A very quiet wedding took place at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, September 27, in St. Andrews Church — when Miss Germaine Geroux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Geroux, became the bride of Mr. Ernest Henry Woods, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Woods, both of St. Andrews. The Rev. Father Dulude officiated.

The bride was dressed in a navy blue gown trimmed with white, navy accessories and an air force blue coat; she wore a corsage of red roses.

Mr. William Woods was witness for his brother.

A reception was held at the bride's home for members of the immediate families. The bride and groom left later for a wedding trip to Ste. Agathe and Ottawa. On their return they will reside in St. Andrews.

Mr. Fred Assaly left this week to attend McGill University, Montreal.

Mr. John A. Durand and Miss Louise Leduc, of Outremont, were recent guests of Mr. Louis Lafleur.

Engagement Announced

Mr. Edward Neilan, of Montreal, announces the engagement of his youngest daughter, Agnes, to Mr. Edgar Armstrong, of Lachute, Que. The marriage will take place in October.

Entertained

Misses Ruth Dawson and Yvonne Aubut were joint hostesses at a pyrex shower on Monday evening, in honor of Miss Doria Dion, whose marriage takes place shortly.

Request Received This Week By Mayor of Town

The following letter, received this week by Mayor H. Lamarche, is published in the belief that certain of our readers will be able to furnish the required information :

912 Maple Ave., Apt. 9,
Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Sir :

I am endeavoring to locate some cousins of ours in your town. Please give me their address if possible. Their names are Ruby and Norah Simpson, daughters of Mrs. Ruby (McMartin) Simpson. They were living there thirty or forty years ago, and their mother's folks were from St. Andrews near there.

It is quite possible that your town clerk or assessor might have some record of their present location. Possibly they are married, but I wouldn't know their married name. Please answer as soon as you can.

Respectfully yours,
F. J. Rainboth.

By purifying human thought, this state of mind permeates with increased harmony all the minutiae of human affairs.

Husband: "I think it's partly because these War Savings Certificates are so simple to buy."

Wife: "You mean the idea of getting the office to deduct a regular amount each week from your salary?"

Husband: "Yes! And how they're mounting up! Quite a nest-egg when you count the interest they're earning."

Wife: "Well the more the merrier, I say! There are lots of things we'll need the money for, as the years roll by!"

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

Students Register for Domestic Science Course

The 1941-42 session of the Faculty of Agriculture, including the School of Household Science at Macdonald College, opened yesterday, October 1st., when students registered for all years of the degree courses in these subjects. The registration in the first year of both courses is larger than for many years, with a notable increase in the numbers of students whose homes are outside of Canada. The increase in the numbers of new students more than off-sets the loss in the upper classes of students who have interrupted their studies to join the armed forces.

Registration in the School for Teachers, which opened a month ago, was less than last year, but the college was obliged to refuse a number of applications for the one-year course in Household Science, the "Homemaker" course, due to lack of Laboratory and class-room space. This course, which began on September 10th, has a record enrollment this year.

3-Purpose Medicine a Success

At first sniffle, sneeze or nasal irritation, put a little Va-tro-nol up each nostril. Its stimulating action aids Nature's defenses against the cold.

. . . And remember — when a head cold makes you suffer, or transient congestion "fills up" nose and spoils sleep, 3-purpose Va-tro-nol gives valuable help as it (1) shrinks swollen membranes, (2) relieves irritation, (3) helps flush out nasal passages, clearing clogging mucus. Enjoy the relief it brings.

17 Easy ways towards a 50 percent Gasoline Saving:

Reduce driving speed from 60 to 40 miles per hour on the open road.
Avoid jack-rabbit starts. Avoid useless or non-essential driving.
Turn motor off when not in use, do not leave idling.
Don't race your engine; let it warm up slowly.
Don't strain your engine; change gears.
Drive in groups to and from work, using cars alternate days.
For golf, picnics and other outings, use one car instead of four.
Take those short shopping trips ON FOOT and carry parcels home.
Walk to and from the movies.

Here's where WE can help:

Keep carburetor creaned and properly adjusted.
Keep spark plugs and valves clean. Tune up motor, timing, etc.
Check cooling system; overheating wastes gasoline.
Maintain tires at right pressure.
Lubricate efficiently; worn engines waste gasoline.

Boat owners, too, can help by reducing speed.

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

WOMEN WANT WORK

The morale of the British women is most wonderful, I wonder if part of it is not due to the fact that they are all at work. They have a job to do and they are kept busy doing it. Most of us have a feeling of futility and restlessness. There are a few women here who are doing splendid work but only a few. There are many more who would be glad to work if there was work to do and they were told just what was wanted. Women in England who have never worked before are doing hard work these days. I met a young English woman who has brought her three children to live in Canada for the duration. Her mother has gone to her country home and has three evacuated women, each with three or four children. The house has twenty-seven rooms and she cannot get a maid — maids will not work in a house with evacuees. The problems and the work that woman has, especially on week-ends when the husbands arrive, are considerable. Women are in so many fields of work never before opened to them. Canadian women are willing to work too, if they get the chance.

A NOVEL RECORD

The young woman mentioned above has a girl, almost two years old, and just as sweet a child as could be found. When she came out here just about a year ago the baby was not able to talk. Now she is chattering away at a great rate and her mother had a record made of the baby talking to send to her husband who is in the army in England. I thought that was a very novel, and a touching thing to do.

REST BY EXERCISING

When you are tired in the morning and just don't seem to be able to get at your work, take some exercise.I know it sounds goofy, as you naturally would think it would make you more tired than ever. But it doesn't. Whether it stirs up your circulation, or whether it uses muscles not usually used and rests the others, but the fact remains it gives you more energy. Five minutes exercise will do it and you can always afford to take five minutes off. Take another ten and read something entertaining and you will go back to work feeling like a new woman. Any of the milder exercises lying flat on the floor are good as they give you a complete change of position. The time-honored touching the toes with the fingers, or as near thereabouts as you can reach, is still a good one.

GOURDS

More people are growing gourds these days. There are so many varieties and their shapes are so different that they are fascinating things to have in the garden. If you are lucky enough to have a bowl of them for decorative use give them a coat of white shellac. They will last much longer and are easier to keep free from dust. When you are ready to discard them, and don't let it be too long, save the seeds for planting.

JELLIED VEAL

Jellied veal is good enough to be considered a treat and yet it is an inexpensive meat. That gives it two strikes to begin with. Cover two meaty shanks of veal with water, it doesn't matter whether the water is hot or cold as all the liquid is used anyhow. Add an onion and a stick or two of celery or some celery leaves for flavor. Simmer until the meat is ready to fall off the bones. Season with salt and pepper when partly cooked. Taste and be sure there is enough salt or your meat will taste flat. When the meat is cooked, let it stand in liquid until it is cool enough to handle. Take the meat off the bones, being careful to discard all gristle and fat. The meat may be pulled into small pieces or it may be put through a grinder, whichever you prefer. Put the meat in a loaf tin, or in individual moulds. Strain the liquid and pour over the meat. Don't pack the meat in too tightly as you want to give the jelly a chance to get between the pieces. Do not worry about it not jellying because there is no danger of that, as veal bones are full of gelatine. Let the meat stand until it is chilled and set, then unmold. Cover the bones and gristle with water, add more onion and celery, and a bay leaf if you have one handy, and cook slowly. Season and strain and you have veal consomme. Even this second boiling will jell and if you want to serve jellied soup, all you have to do is let it cool. I forgot to say that if you want to be fussy you can decorate your moulds before putting in your meat with a strip of pimento, a sliced stuffed olive, or a slice of hard-cooked egg.

PARSLEY DUMPLINGS

2 Cups flour, 4 tablespoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon shortening, 1 cup milk. Sift the dry ingredients, rub in the shortening and add the parsley. Add the milk gradually and stir just enough to moisten the ingredients. Drop by spoonfuls in hot stew being careful to have each dumpling rest on a piece of vegetable or solid meat. Cook for 12 minutes without uncovering.

Puddings, Please

Ask the children what they will have for dessert and the answer is "pudding please!" It's the normal answer, for puddings please the normal child and usually his father and big brothers as well. Many claim pie is a man's dessert, but sometimes we feel pudding is entitled to this crown. Here's a recipe for a Chocolate Chip Cottage Pudding that will be a welcome guest whenever you serve it.

Chocolate Chip Cottage Pudding

1 package semi-sweet chocolate; 2 cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; 3 tablespoons butter or other shortening; 1 cup sugar; 1 cup milk; ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Cut each small square of chocolate in 4 to 6 pieces. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Pour about ⅓ of batter into 8 x 8 2-inch pan which has been greased, lined with waxed paper, and again greased. Sprinkle ⅓ of cut chocolate over batter. Repeat, ending with chocolate. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 to 60 minutes. Serve hot with whipped cream.

SHE FAILED TO PLOW

Carmarthen, Wales (CP) — Although court felt Mrs. Ann Reames, 74-year-old widow, couldn't physically obey a plowing order, she was fined the equivalent of $2.50 for failing to plow one quarter of an acre of land.

BEAUTY

—Helen Jameson, Mme. Qui Vive—

INSURANCE AGAINST WRINKLES

When women realize that there's no such thing as swiftly working beauty magic and that it is wise to fight defects before getting them, there will be no premature wrinkles. She who sticks strictly and faithfully to her beauty chores is not likely to take on facial pleats until she arrives at advanced years. There are women of seventy whose skins show the smooth, unlined surface. They started long ago to keep the flesh oiled and nourished, to give the underlying fibers a certain amount of stimulation by vitalizing massage.

Beauty seekers seldom show much interest in causes, and that's all wrong. They're looking for quick service from cosmetics. The result : they may be tearing down tissues through emotional storms or wrong eating habits and, of course, nothing will help. The cells of the skin and under padding are dependent upon nutrition. Emotional upsets interfere with digestive processes, and there you are. The best insurance against wrinkles is a cheerful, courageous disposition and hygiene living habits.

We might as well get at the root things, while we are about it. What we think, how we act, how we get along with our fellow creatures have much to do with appearance.

Facial furrows are caused by the softening of tissues. The skin then is loose, without proper support, so lines form. Something has happened. If not the result of faulty diet or mental disturbances, not sufficient exercise in the open the cause may be loss of sleep or air. Nervous distress seems to burn up delicate fibers, and ill health is devastating to appearance. Cells must be constantly rebuilt. They are ever in a state of decay and renewal. Hence the need of physical and mental health.

Oily applications have penetrating qualities that act favorably. Medical men used to pooh-pooh the idea that creams were of much benefit, but now some of them acknowledge that the glands will pick up a certain amount. Beauty operators know that the faithful creamer does ward off ravages of the years.

After your face washing at night — and be sure to dry the skin surface well and thoroughly — spread on a massage cream, always with upward, outward movements. Start at the collar bone. Give your neck a square deal; necks always need attention. They become discolored by coat collars and furs.

Place the heels of your palms together at the point of the chin and smooth upward to the ear lobes, then upward to the cheek bones. Follow with brisk slapping and hammering with the finger tips. The purpose is to get the blood streams chasing each other around and to tone the fibers. If you find that frowns are budding, rub them crosswise.

"Our Herbert" Termed A Model Husband

So Dr. Summerskill, Fellow Labor M.P., Tells Married Women

London, Sept. 20 (CP) — Herbert Morrison, Britain's firm, energetic home secretary, is cited as an example of a model husband. He is Labor M.P. for Hackney South.

Dr. Edith Summerskill, who vies with Lady Astor as parliament's most vigorous champion of feminine rights, told the Married Women's Association that when Mr. Morrison was married he arranged with his wife to pool the family income, deduct expenses and divide the remainder equally between them.

"There is at least one minister in the government who understands that married women are suffering from a gross injustice," commented Dr. Summerskill, Labor member for Fulham West, who has campaigned vainly for "wages for wives" and family allowances.

GALLANT NURSE STICKS TO JOB

Doctors Dead, Allied Troops Gone, English Woman Stayed in Crete

London, Sept. 20 (CP) — Miss Joan Stavridi of London refused to leave wounded soldiers she was nursing when British forces evacuated the island of Crete. "Whatever happens I cannot leave my wounded, even if I am taken prisoner," she said.

Months later news of her reached London. A relative said it was believed she was not made prisoner but allowed to continue her hospital work in Athens.

On a visit to Greece to see her sister the 35-year-old Londoner joined the Red Cross. When Italy attacked Greece, she carried out duties aboard hospital trains. When the Nazis drove south to Athens she was evacuated to Crete.

There for 10 days she endured concentrated furious attacks in the paratroop invasion of the island. Her hospital was bombed for two and a half hours, the doctors were killed and she was the only Englishwoman left there.

When the hospital became too dangerous Miss Stavridi ordered all patients to evacuate to caves on the edge of the Aegean Sea. There she fixed up an emergency hospital, operating in the mouths of the caves with stone slabs as operating tables.

The Germans found this out and rained shells onto the caves. When food began to run short she stuck out a German flag and food was quickly dropped. When evacuation of the island became necessary, she refused to go with the troops but stayed behind with the wounded.

Square Dancers, Be Sure Shoes Will Stay Put !

Square Dances Popular This Fall and Here's What —

Toronto, Sept. (CP) — Homespun square-dancing is sweeping the continent this fall. Simplicity is fashion in North America's pastimes, as in everything these days. Lodge halls, college gyms, the Jones' playroom — all resound to the stomp of the modern "caller" with his streamline versions of the pioneer quatrains: "First the oyster, then the clam, open up the sardine can."

Here's Needful

We give you herewith our recipe for maximum of fun in square-dancing :

To one prospective dancer add:

One dress — full of skirt, snug of bodice.

One woolen hug-me-tight shawl — for whimsy and warmth between dances.

One pair flat-heeled, sturdy-soled shoes that won't fly off when your partner swings you off your feet.

Two bright cotton or wool stockings.

One gadget to keep your hair out of your partner's face — flip Dutch cap of the dress fabric, or earmuffs made of woolen loops anchored on a bicycle clip.

And Yet More

Mix well. Then add:

One lively fiddler who knows "Turkey in the Straw".

One caller who knows the dance figures and can improvise calls without respect to persons, parsing or poetic license.

One brawny partner with a sense of rhythm.

"Swing your partners — and all promenade !"

MANY PROBLEMS FOR MOTHERS TO TROOPS

Women Hostesses at Debert Have Varied Activities

Debert, N.S., Oct. 1 (CP) — Mothering a family that can be numbered in five figures — that's the job Mrs. Roy McLenahan of Toronto and Miss Olive Hibbards of Montreal tackled when they followed Canada's fighting sons to this sprawling military camp. Now they help the boys do everything, from entertaining their wives and children to getting married, and are never accused of playing favorites.

First step in their campaign to bring a touch of home to lonesome soldiers here was to take over a rambling farm house in the nearby village and christen it Hostess House. With the aid of army and Y.M.C.A. authorities they revamped the spacious home until it sported recreation rooms, libraries and a canteen, yet retained the charm of country hospitality.

Duties for the two began before the welcome mat had been parked in the porch. A soldier rang the newly-installed bell and asked Mrs. McLenahan if she could lodge his wife and two children for the night. She could and later found a place for them to stay in the war-packed village that boasts a city-size population.

Not All Fun

Headaches came Miss Hibbard's way at the very start, too. She hadn't unpacked when Capt. Rev. D. P. Rowland, chaplain of the Irish Regiment of Canada, asked her to officiate as pianist at a double military wedding. But it is all part of their lives as combined mothers, dieticians, advisers and comforters of Canada's biggest family, and they don't complain.

They see that their comfortable lounges, furnished with easy chairs, chesterfields and fireplaces, are always filled, and that the canteen serves the things the soldiers want. And they even go so far as to remind the boys that maybe the real mothers back home would like a line now and then, and introduce them to their writing room.

Women Are "Manning" Airplane Factories

Somewhere in Eng., Sept 29 (CP) —One-third of the hundreds of workers at a government airplane factory here are women. They play a vital part in the job of transforming raw materials into finished Spitfires.

Immediate aim of the plant management is to raise the ratio of women working in the factory to 60 per cent. They are gradually taking over the most complicated processes of riveting, pressing and assembly work.

At present most of the women are drawn from the immediate locality. Shortage of housing accomodation will be the chief obstacle when the time comes to transfer women from other districts.

Fashions of the Day

By Jean Walsh

Let's take up the subject of the silhouette and the sad, and yet in a way good thing, that is about to happen to the Canadian woman. We say sad because the new trend is such a radical change that we will all look a little ridiculous in it at first, and we say good because it will eminently suit those of us who have been unable to wear the wide-waisted, full-skirted jobs which have been foisted on us for the past few years.

Lets line the fashion models up behind a screen, and see everything in black and white. In the first place, we will notice that things are being done on a rather grand scale, and we do mean hats. Huge sweeping brims, long arrow-pointed plumes, from pheasant or barnyard fowl, snoods or back trimmings that lie along the shoulders . . . the effect is not a clean-cut outline but rather a gracious blur, since we are still in the transition stage between the small and the large chapeau.

We have said so much about the shoulder line that it is superfluous to dwell on it. Let's get down to the waist. Waists are not as clearly defined as formerly. The long torso has a tendency to lengthen the waistline, and the loose coat and jacket doesn't make it as imperative as it was. The sports costume defines it with a narrow belt or a set-in band. It must be slim, yes, but it doesn't have to be minute any more.

Hip interest is paramount. Peplums face us, and those of us who can't afford to accent our hips will have to get used to the peplum, nevertheless. Perhaps it is a blessing in disguise because the narrow shoulder accents the hips anyway, and even the slimmest people will look a bit pear-shaped. Peplums can be pleated or flared, can be attached to the garment or tied around the waist like an apron.

Longer peplums, with straight lines, become the tiered skirt, sad for shorties, we admit, since they cut them off in two places, at waist and hips, but grand for the tall girl. The tunic frock, news in the buyers papers, will give the longer peplum effect. Fish tail peplums and tunics, shorter in the front than the back, give a little relief from the straight-across lines, and introduce a new angle, the fish-tail skirt.

Yes we are back again to the old argument. Women refuse to wear them until the last ditch, and then go over to them, willy-milly. The straight skirt, with the dip up at the front which introduces to us, finally, the longer skirt. And longer skirts we will have, whether we want them or not.

Thirteen inches from the ground is the length prophesied for spring, in slim straight lines, which, alas, show every bulge.

So there we are. Big hats, narrow shoulders, unimportant waists, and longer, tiered skirts, ending in a pencil line much nearer the shoe tops than formerly. It is a vaguely familiar formula, isn't it. It prompted us to get the fashion books for 1914-1918, and see if they compared. You will be surprised at how they do !

Woman Court-Martialled

Corporal McConchie (right) is shown under escort at the Chelsea barracks when she appeared on a charge of being absent without leave from the Auxiliary Territorial Service. She told the court she preferred to lose her stripes by court-martial rather than "to take them down." It's the first time in Britain that a woman has been court-martialled.

BEMA Molasses

A Natural Food Product . . the Pure Juice of the Famous Barbados Sugar Cane

● Yes, that is exactly what BEMA Molasses is. From Barbados comes this delicious food product—as pure and zestful when it reaches you, as when it came from the sugar cane. That is why it has such a distinctive flavor; why so many careful housewives use it as a regular part of their daily menus. Rich in vitamins, BEMA Molasses is also a valuable source of iron—an essential food element. That's why it makes an appetizing, healthful spread on bread—at the table and for between meals. It is also used by many housewives in cooking baked beans, making cookies, gingerbread, cakes, puddings, etc. It's good ALL WAYS! Your grocer sells it.

Be sure to ask for BEMA Molasses, the original product—not a blend.

LACHUTE WINNER IN 2-3 FINALS OF LEAGUE BASEBALL

A close and interesting game at Lachute Mills Sunday afternoon gave Lachute a 2-straight triumph against Brownsburg, in the 2-out-of-3 baseball finals for title of the district league.

A good calibre of baseball was exhibited by both teams but Lachute took the honors with a closing score of 4-3. . . Having won the previous set-to in Brownsburg, the home-team claimed the title in a foursome league which has produced some interesting games this season. Montebello and Buckingham dropped out in the earlier stages of the play.

Romeo Menard, as pitcher, starred for the home-team in Sunday's game, and he was well supported by good play from his team-mates in all quarters.

Argentl. Plowing Match

The Plowing Match committee is working hard to make this annual event a success, and many special prizes have been recently received, including goods to the value of $21.75, from Bell & Sons of Verdun, a walking plow from Lachute Greamery. Several entries have been received by the secretary up to the present time.

JOE LOUIS — who beat Lou Nova in the sixth round Monday night to retain the world's heavyweight title — is supposed to be booked for the army. ANNUAL REGATTA THING OF PAST IN ST. ANDREWS many to spend their vacations here. But today St. Andrews East sadly needs the spirit of revival.

Can it be done? Certainly, provided the personnel of the Town Council could intelligently visualize the situation. I firmly believe the future will see hundreds of families, seeking health and natural environment, locate within 40 miles of the City of Montreal, attracted by lower rents, good schools and reduced living expenses.

Having devoted many years to promotive publicity I must admit that today the radio is a most valuable means of supplementing the use of the press. In all probability — the get-together spirit will rise in St. Andrews East, and a local Board of Trade may yet be responsible for worthwhile development; and by way of suggestion, three minutes on the air weekly could be made a profitable investment — if done at the proper time, keeping in mind that "as we sow, we reap."

I have often thought that the residents of St. Andrews East could enhance its natural beauty by improving their own surroundings. May I suggest hollyhocks, and I'll gladly give anyone sufficient seeds, absolutely free, on application.

To those who read The Watchman and are located in distant parts — St. Andrews East now has three worthwhile improvements: the cement bridges spanning the North River and Riviere Rouge, and our own new Post Office, plus electric clock over the entrance.

The local council would do well by making, some day, a permanent tripod cement base, surmounted with electric globe on the east side of St. Andrews bridge, at the intersection or three-way approach from Grenville, Lachute and St. Placide. This would undoubtedly help to prevent future accidents. St. Andrews is a particularly healthy spot and I have seen many come here, nervous wrecks, and inside of ten weeks have gone home cured. In all probability the future may see a well equipped sanatorium erected on the east side elevation, or on the property, west side of the North River where is situated the St. Andrews golf course.

I had in mind, prior to the present war, to do something for the younger generation of the county, the organization of the "Argenteuil Amateur Athletic Association", and in that way make Dominion Day each year, as we use to do with our regattas, a worthwhile celebration.

We have for the moment a Town Hall, sufficiently spacious to meet the present population, and community meetings held weekly, open to all English and French-speaking citizens, discussing subjects in connection with current events, would prove not only educational but of great social worth for all concerned.

Editor Giles, if your readers appreciate this effort of mine, written for the sole idea of stimulating in St. Andrews East a local pride and individual co-operation, then, like the old saying, "Great oaks from little acorns grow !"

Fish Catches Banded Gull

Ottawa — Banded birds turn up in strange places, but the recovery of a full-grown ring-billed gull from the gullet of a large fish caught off the southern coast of Rhode Island this summer ranks among unusual recoveries recorded by the Department of Mines and Resources.

On the gull's foot was an official numbered metal band, the record of which revealed that the bird was one of a group of 171 young gulls banded in August, 1939, on a small island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, by a migratory bird officer of the Department.

The tagging of birds with official numbered metal bands is carried on by many voluntary qualified operators in Canada and the United States to obtain reliable information about the travels, activities, and ages of birds. Anyone who finds a banded bird can help this important work by reporting same promptly, stating place and date of discovery, to the Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa

What is Golf ?

Golf is a form of work made expensive enough for business men to enjoy. It is what letter-carrying, ditch-digging, and carpet-beating would be if they all had to be performed on the same hot afternoon.

The game is played on carefully manicured grass, with little white balls and as many clubs as the player can afford. A golf course has 18 holes, 17 of which are unnecessary, and are put in to make the game harder. A "hole" is a tin cup in the centre of the "green". A "green" is a small parcel of grass costing about $1.65 a blade, and usually located between a brook and a couple of apple trees, or a lot of "unfinished excavation."

The idea is to get the ball from a given point into each of the 18 tin cups with the fewest number of strokes and the greatest number of words. The ball must not be thrown, pushed or carried. It must be propelled by about $200 worth of curious looking implements, especially designed to provoke the owner. After the final, or 18th hole, the golfer adds up his score and stops when he reaches 87. He then has a shower, a pint of gin, sings "Sweet Adeline" with six or eight other liars and calls it a perfect day.

LEGION PRESIDENT SEES PLANS SUBSTANTIALLY AHEAD OF LAST WAR REHABILITATION IDEAS

DEFINITE CUT OF 25 PER CENT "SMASHING BLOW AT PRODUCTION OF NON-ESSENTIALS"

BELIEVED PROVINCES WILL CEDE INCOME TAX FIELD TO OTTAWA FOR THE DURATION

— THE WEEK IN OTTAWA —

Specially Written for The Watchman
By ALAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Oct. 7 (CP) — The government program for rehabilitating discharged servicemen announced by Pensions Minister Mackenzie apparently is only a small step toward broader plans for the post-war transition period.

In announcing details of the new "post-discharge plan" at a press conference, Mr. Mackenzie said he hoped the program would prove "part of what I hope to be a more comprehensive scheme which will extend in other directions."

And he gave indications what the "other directions" would be. The post-discharge plan applies only to former members of the armed services. Mr. Mackenzie disclosed plans are under consideration for absorbing war workers into peacetime industry.

"We are working along many lines but have not yet reached finality," he said. "I hope before many weeks are passed to be able to present proposals on land settlement."

Briefly, the post-discharge plan calls for placing ex-servicemen who go to insurable employment on a parity with men who do not enlist so far as the unemployment insurance act is concerned. Living allowances will be provided for men resuming or undertaking vocational training or continuing interrupted educational courses after discharge; men awaiting returns from private enterprises such as farming; men receiving reconditioning medical treatment or men awaiting employment opportunities.

The program was authorized by order-in-council and was the result of protracted studies of various

Judgment Rejects Claim for Death Of Young Cyclist

COURT FINDS EVIDENCE EXONERATES DRIVER OF BLAME

SEQUEL TO FATAL CRASH ON LACHUTE ROAD

A judgment of local importance was rendered by Justice Philémon Cousineau of the Superior Court at St. Jerome on October 4th. in the case of Harry Carpenter, formerly of Lachute, versus Gilbert Demerse, of this town.

The tragic circumstance is recalled in which Harry Carpenter, Jr., while riding a bicycle on Lachute Road between St. Andrews and Lachute, met his death in a collision with an automobile driven by Gilbert Demerse of this town in front of Arnold Parker's farm. Young Carpenter, who was 18 years of age, died a few instants after the collision.

Harry Carpenter, Sr., father of the youth, took an action in damages against Gilbert Demerse for the sum of $3,372, claiming that he suffered damages to this amount through the death of his son. The trial took place on September 13th last and Judge Cousineau rendered judgment last Saturday, dismissing Carpenter's action with costs against him.

Article 53 of the Motor Vehicle Act of this province says that: "The owner of a motor vehicle shall be held responsible for any violation of this act committed with such motor vehicle, or of any regulation made thereunder by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

"Whenever loss or damage is sustained by any person by reason of a motor vehicle on a public highway, the burden of proof that such loss or damage did not arise through the negligence or improper conduct of the owner or driver of such motor vehicle shall be upon such owner or driver."

In other words, the law enacts that the owner or driver of a motor vehicle is presumed to be at fault whenever he comes into collision with a pedestrian or a horse-drawn vehicle or a person riding a bicycle. The burden of proof is on the driver of the motor vehicle to show that he is not in any way at fault.

In the present case, Judge Cousineau states that the defendant Gilbert Demerse was not in any way at fault. The judgment states that evidence establishes that Demerse was driving towards St. Andrews accompanied by Robert McArthur, William Fletcher and Chester Fletcher, keeping to his right side of the road and driving at a moderate rate of speed, when young Carpenter, who was riding his bicycle on the left side of the road, without warning or indication that he intended to change his direction, suddenly swerved to the right in front of Demerse's car; the latter, in order to prevent a collision, took the ditch. He was nevertheless unable to avoid the collision; his car struck the cyclist, who died a few seconds after the impact.

The Judge held that Gilbert Demerse, driver of the car, showed that he was neither negligent nor guilty of improper conduct, and that he could not have avoided the collision; the action was therefore dismissed with costs.

Messrs. Claude Demers and Roger Brossard, counsel of the firm of David, Perrier & Brossard, Montreal, acted for the plaintiff, while the firm of Legault & Legault, local attorneys, argued for the defendant, Mr. Demerse.

LOCAL VETERANS VISIT THE LEGION BRANCH AT HULL

District Rally to be Held in Lachute on October 18th

A large number of members of the Brownsburg and Lachute branches of the Canadian Legion were guests of the Hull Veterans on Saturday evening last.

Guest speaker of the evening was Ace Pilot J. P. Desloges who was invalided home this year after taking part in the Battle of London last September when 185 planes were brought down. Comparing the R.A.F. to David and the German force to Goliath, he declared that David is now on the offensive. Last fall the Hun discovered that the small David packed a good punch, and now we are hitting back and pounding at every part of Germany.

Referring to the Blitzkrieg in which over 1,000 planes were involved, the Huns coming over in wave after wave, he stated that the planes were so thick in the sky, that there was great danger of crashing into your own fighters. His squadron accounted for 14 of the enemy raiders.

He praised the organization and instruction given at Canada's flying training schools, and stressed the increasing importance of the Air-Training Plan as a factor of winning the war. He reminded his hearers that Air Minister Power had stated Canada's air force had increased from 4,500 men in September 1939 to 100,000 in September 1941.

At present Canada has 13 fully equipped squadrons overseas, 11 of which are commanded by Canadians. These are constantly increasing and no better are to be found among pilots, observers or mechanics.

The support of every Legionnaire was urged for the Air Cadet League, which at present is in its infancy in Canada. In England there have been splendid results from this great organization and it is hoped that the same results may be obtained in Canada.

A district rally is being held in the Lachute Auditorium on Saturday, Oct. 18th, when officers from the Provincial Command will be present, as well as representatives from Hull, Buckingham, and neighboring communities. Squadron Leader Desloges is also expected to be present and a hearty invitation is extended to all veterans, and men in uniform to attend this general meeting.

NOT A SET-BACK

A fire which broke out under the arch of the U.S. side of the new Rainbow bridge at Niagara Falls will not prevent the huge span from being opened to traffic this week as scheduled, it was announced. The strength of the structure was believed in no way impaired, and damage can be easily repaired. Firemen battled the blaze several hours before bringing it under control.

Dies Suddenly at Summer Cottage

73-YEAR-OLD MONTREALER HAD SPENT SUNDAY AT LAKE DAUPHIN

INQUEST HELD, VERDICT OF NATURAL DEATH

A verdict of natural death was given Sunday evening by a jury enquiring into the death of John Wallace, 73-year-old resident of Clarke Avenue, Montreal, who died suddenly that afternoon in a summer cottage at Lake Dauphin. It was learned the man had accompanied four other Montrealers, arriving at 10.45 o'clock Sunday morning, to spend the day at the cottage a few miles north of Dalesville.

The other visitors, one of whom owned the cottage, were Messrs. Black, McTurk, McKay and Rennie. They testified before the district coroner, Dr. W. F. McMartin of Lachute, that they were all seated in the cottage during the afternoon and at 2.30 the victim had gone into the kitchen. The men heard an unusual noise and went to investigate, finding Wallace stretched on the floor apparently in a serious condition. Dr. F. W. FitzGerald was summoned from Lachute, but the man quickly succumbed.

Information revealed that John Wallace, a painter and decorator by trade, had been in poor health for the past three years. On the day of the trip to Lake Dauphin, however, he had seemed well, his companions remarking nothing unusual in his appearance. Wallace was a married man, and is survived by his wife.

London (CP) — Henry Winch, a conscientious objector who became an air warden, was awarded the George Medal for rescuing several persons, but was killed by explosion of a time bomb.

HIGH INTEREST IN ANNUAL PLOWING MATCH

13 Bears Between Lachute, St. Jerome, North River Area

Bushfires Drive Wild Life to New Feeding Grounds

Confirming the general report that wild game is more plentiful this season in the Laurentian areas directly north of here — it was learned that up till last week-end no fewer than 13 bears had been taken out by hunters in the bush-country contiguous to the North River between Lachute and St. Jerome. This haul, since the opening of the season, indicates a marked increase in wild life for this section. It is stated by residents that foxes and other wild animals are also more numerous than in other years.

Rawdon, Que. Oct. 5 — Bears are fair game in this province and the open season for hunting is now in force. Even allowing for the enthusiastic exaggeration of local scouts, the Bruin family is in plentiful evidence in this section of the Laurentian foothills. Forest fires have driven game animals away from their previous habitat and the bears are making their way to new feeding grounds. Meanwhile they are not above raiding a patch of buckwheat, which greatly reduces their popularity with the farmers. The Quebec Government offers a bounty of $5 for each bear to bite the dust.

Two Argenteuil Women Honored

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS GIVEN AT CONFERENCES HELD RECENTLY

MRS. G. F. W. KUHRING AND MRS. WM. USHER

Mrs. G. F. W. Kuhring, at present residing in Montreal because of her husband's work in the army, was honored at the close of the Regional Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World which was reported in these pages recently — being presented with a life membership by the Federated W. I.

Mrs. Kuhring is first vice-president of the Historical Society of Argenteuil, first vice-president of the Home-Parent Association, also a provincial convenor for Canadianization on the Board of Women's Institutes of Quebec Province.

Mrs. Wm. Usher, of Cushing, who is serving a three-year term of office as provincial president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, was made a life member of the World Women's Christian Temperance Union at the provincial organization's annual convention held last week at North Hatley, and her pin will be presented later. One member of the Provincial Union is thus honored at convention each year; this year the honor went to Mrs. Usher, who is also local president for Argenteuil and Vaudreuil Counties of the W.C.T.U.

Two other Argenteuil ladies attended this latter convention: Mrs. Archie Graham, who has been Quebec Editor of White Ribbon Tidings for almost ten years, and Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield, who went as a delegate from the local Union.

Recover Body of Drowned Man in Ottawa River

L'Orignal, Ont. — The body of a man which was taken from the Ottawa River opposite here last Thursday was identified as that of Horace Perreault, 45, of Tetreaultville, Que., who disappeared about a month ago.

The body was discovered floating amid a boom of logs which had come down from the Gatineau district. It was found by Eugene Lavois, river foreman of the Canadian National Paper Co. of Calumet, who notified Provincial Constables Arthur DeHaitre and Rene Labrosse of the discovery. Dr. H. Kirby, of Hawkesbury, the district coroner, was also called and he disposed of the case as an accidental death.

AXEMEN'S CLEAN-UP

Glasgow (CF) — Reg Grundy, husky New Zealand lumberman, was crowned "World's Champion Axeman" with a clean-up of several classes at the first "Axemen's carnival" held in Britain. Canadians with the Forestry Corps were unable to compete.

Fire Prevention Activities Here

TOWN APPARATUS DECKED WITH FIRE PREVENTION STREAMERS

TIMELY WINDOW DISPLAY AT DEACON MOTORS

On Monday, opening day of the National Fire Prevention Week, Lachute fire-fighters staged an evening parade through the streets of town. Escorted by traffic police, and with sirens wailing, the brigade's several pieces of equipment bearing the Fire Prevention banners attracted public attention.

Fire drill has been practiced in the local schools this week and following a suggestion by F. X. O'Hearn, Deputy Fire Commissioner who was in Lachute this week, an appropriate window display has been arranged at Deacon Motor Sales, virtual headquarters of the Fire Brigade.

As a timely measure in fire prevention, it may be noted a tour of inspection is under way for the examining and cleaning of chimneys in all town properties. This work is undertaken at the town's expense, and the Fire Chief, who is receiving reports on any hazardous conditions, asks that citizens give every co-operation to the officer when he calls at their homes.

Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon, anxious to stress the theme of this special week in every way, has handed in the following article for the attention of local readers :

Do You Do This ?

A careful study of fire records shows that at least 80 per cent of fires are preventable. The following examples are given :

A man dropped a cigarette in a rubbish pile in a rooming house and burned to death eleven people.

A man dropped his cigarette in a couch in the lobby of a hotel. Fire resulted at 3 a.m. and resulted in the death of four people.

A mother in one of our leading college cities, for the five hundredth time perhaps, started a fire with coal oil. The fire she started burned to death three children besides herself.

A man dropped a match on a garage floor, walked out and left it. A six-year old child found it and ignited her clothing which resulted in burns that caused her death a few hours later.

A man attempted to sleep and smoke at the same time; result, he set the bed afire, was overcome with smoke, and removed in an unconscious state. Only the timely arrival of the fire department saved him from being cremated alive.

Some grown-ups placed Strike-Anywhere matches on a kitchen table. Two small children acted upon the implied suggestion and carried some to their playhouse, innocently started a fire. Result, little boy burned fatally.

Do you always think about the safety and welfare of those about you when you discard your match and cigarette stub? Are you mindful of the safety of the children in your home to the extent of providing safety matches, and keeping them out of their reach? Do you have proper respect for the dangerous properties of gasoline and always handle it with care?

SIXTY COMPETITORS VIE FOR HONORS IN VARIOUS CLASSES

A MIDNIGHT RESCUE

Cushing W. — Two lockmen on the second lock at Grece's Point spent a few strenuous hours rescuing a cow which they discovered floating in the canal and about to give up the ghost, when they went on duty at midnight Sunday.

When last heard from, Bossie was apparently recovering from her cold swim.

Fine Plowing Demonstrated; Many Tractors

In the mellow breeze of a typical fall day, the annual plowing match staged by the Argenteuil Plowmen's Association was held yesterday on the farm-land of George Morrison, east of Lachute on the St. Jerome highway.

Attaining a popularity among the local farming community second only to the annual Spring Fair, this event drew a fair crowd of spectators. More noticeable, however, was the keener competition and greater entry list of competitors, especially in the tractor classes. Total entries numbered 60, with 16 tractors entered in the mechanical plowing classes. The addition of several special prizes donated by local and city firms made the prize list more attractive, and many substantial awards were taken by the winners.

The officers of the Association — including Geo, Hay, president, Amedee Maisonneuve, vice-president, and Alex Bothwell, secretary — express keen satisfaction in the outcome of this year's contest.

Acting as judges for the contests were — Donald Cumming, Lancaster, Ont.; Hormidas Charbonneau, St. Hermas; Robert Leishman, Lachute; Prof. Heimpel, Macdonald College; Russell Watson, Hammond, Ont.

The results, released last evening by the secretary, are as follows :

Boys Under 16 yrs. — Joe Maillette, St. Andrews; Best Crown and Best Finish, Joe Maillette.

Boys 16 - 20 yrs. —

1. Jimmy Dorion, Lachute; 2. Maurice Charbonneur, St. Hermas; 3. Howard Boa, Lachute; 4. Marcil Lapierre, St. Hermas; 5. Real Mondou, Lachute; 6. Irving Cleland, St. Hermas; 7. Fred St. Denis, Novan, Ont.; 8. Girard Ethier, Sarsfield, Ont.; 9. Donald Bradley, Lachute; 10. Glen Warwick, Lachute; 11. Angus Pollock, Lachute.

Best Crown, Maurice Charbonneau, Best Finish, Jimmy Dorion.

Men, Plain Plows —

1. Gordon Bradley, Lachute; 2. Edgar St. Denis, Sarsfield; 3. Stuart Armstrong, Lachute; 4. Polydore Guay, St. Philippe, Que.;

Hold 6th Annual Meeting of County Historical Society

REPORT SEVERAL THOUSAND VISITORS THIS SUMMER TO BARRACKS-MUSEUM

ALL OFFICERS RE-ELECTED, DIRECTORS ADDED

The sixth annual meeting of the Argenteuil Historical Society was held in the Town Hall, St. Andrews East, last Saturday afternoon, and its session proved most interesting as the president, Dr. H. B. Cushing recounted the activities of the year. Minutes of meetings were read by the secretary, Miss Beatrice Robertson, and the treasurer, Miss K. E. Walsh, presented the financial statement, showing steady improvement.

Dr. Cushing reported two anonymous gifts, one of $100 and the second for $500, and stated the money had been wisely expended in the purchase of new show-cases, and a bronze tablet in the Abbott Memorial Room in memeory of Dr. Maude E. Abbott, who with Dr. B. N. Wales had largely been responsible for founding the Museum. A large number of different interesting exhibits had been added during the year, for which thanks were due the donors for their generosity. Dr. Cushing also stated that the Museum was growing in interest, as evidenced by the visit of several thousand who had called in during the summer and expressed their appreciation. The officers were re-elected, viz., the president, Dr. H. B. Cushing; the vice-presidents, Mrs. G. F. W. Kuhring, J. S. Giles, E. A. Ladouceur, Felix Hungerbuhler, J. P. Lanctot, K.C., Hon. A. K. Hugessen, K.C.; secretary, Miss Beatrice Robertson; treasurer, Miss K. Elizabeth Walsh; hon. auditor, J. Bridge; directors, Mrs. Archie Graham, Mr. G. F. W. Kuhring, Col. L. Hooker, Mrs. W. J. Pitcairn, Mrs. W. Windsor, Miss A. L. Wales, Mr. Gaetan Valois, Mr. C. Tremblay, Mr. Gilbert Arnold, Mr. Howard Crookes — to which directorate the names of Miss Mildred Douglass and Mr. Ernest Walker were added.

Adjournment was then made to the Museum at Carillon, where tea was served and satisfaction was generally expressed at the marked progress made.

COMMERCIAL SIGNS BANNED ON CERTAIN QUEBEC HIGHWAYS

Blanket prohibition of advertising signs or posters of any kind which would be visible from the road, is contained in an order just issued by Hon. T. D. Bouchard, Minister of Roads, regarding the following highways or sections of highways :

New road with divided highway between Laprairie and New York State, north of Champlain, N.Y. The new highway linking the Laprairie-New York State highway with the Honore Mercier bridge. The new road with divided driveways, between Montreal and Quebec, via St. Hubert, St. Bruno, Beloeil and St. Hyacinthe. The Montreal - Ste Anne de Bellevue-Dorion highway. The Cote de Liesse road between the junction of Graham boulevard at Dorval. The Montreal-Ste. Anne de Bellevue boulevard at Dorval. The Mont Laurier - Louvicourt - Senneterre highway and its junction with Maniwaki.

"THANKS-LIVING"

An exclusive release to members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, by special arrangement with Beaver Feature Services.

—By Leslie Hamilton

A Thanksgiving Article

"Play the Game, Canada, Play the Game !"

A year ago, upon the occasion of our last national holiday before Christmas, I wrote an article entitled 'Thanks-Living' — a word intended to convey the idea of practical Thanksgiving by deed, instead of by smug, meaningless words and phrases which are often so easily forgotten before the festive day is done.

Now, upon the occasion of another Thanksgiving, I trust my reaffirmation of some of the points emphasized in my previous article will not be amiss, if they are stressed once again in the light of events which have occurred during the past twelve months.

Outwardly, of course, our national day of remembrance will run true to form. There will be turkey, goose and chicken on tables plentifully supplied with eatables of all kinds in the homes of the majority in the New World. Entertainment of various sorts will be in full swing throughout the country, while in the churches, many will offer up prayers to a divine providence for our bountiful harvests, and the countless blessings which our people have received and are still receiving in a world of strife and bloodshed, sweating toil and salty tears.

Owing to our terrific losses in the 'Battle of the Atlantic', with cargoes of precious foodstuffs and supplies being sent to the bottom of the seas by a ruthless foe, Canadians are especially able to apply the idea of Thanks-Living under present circumstances to a far greater degree than has ever been the case before.

Now, therefore, is the time for all of us to demonstrate by some form of self-denial, how much we appreciate our favored position in this Western Hemisphere. Now is the time to cut down on the appetizing things we have heretofore enjoyed without restraint or forced control. Instead of bacon or ham for breakfast on seven days a week, let every family in the Dominion voluntarily curtail that privilege to once a week, on Sundays. Instead of calling your grocer, butcher or baker to send over this or that particular delicacy for dinner, now is the time to walk a few blocks and carry home some plain, substantial items for ourselves. Now is the time to reduce all mercantile deliveries as much as possible and conserve gasoline for military purposes. Every parcel carried home these days means another revolution in the 'prop' of a flying fortress, and these small savings multiplied a hundred and a thousand-fold by housewives all over Canada, mean countless miles added to the schedules of our gallant airmen as they take off on

LOOK OUT, HITLER

Well, Mr. Hitler, this will give you a pretty good idea of what the "V" sign means for you.

Two Great Ships of Britain's Navy

The British battle-cruiser H.M.S. Renown, veteran of many sea battles, speeds through a freshening sea followed by the famous aircraft-carrier H.M.S. Ark Royal, so often claimed by German propaganda to have been sunk. Far from being sunk, this fine ship and its torpedo-dropping aircraft had a large part in the action which resulted in the sinking of the Bismarck, 35,000-ton pride of Hitler's Navy.

MILCH COWS NEED ANNUAL VACATION

Bossy Needs Six Weeks "With Pay" These Times, Say the Experts

Columbus, O., Oct. 1 (CP) — North America's dairy cows are in the money again — and Ohio State University specialists recommend that they be given six or eight weeks "vacation with pay" annually to keep them in condition for the production campaign, just now speeded up for "food for Britain."

The dairy husbandry experts explain the need for bovine vacations by saying dairy cows are artificial animals created by man from early models which gave only a few hundred pounds of milk each year. Now, dairymen want cows "that average 10,000 pounds of milk annually."

Milk contains a high percentage of water but it also contains minerals and other food constituents that are manufactured within the cow's body. If this manufacture proceeds continuously from one lactation to the next, the ceaseless drain on physique reduces vigor so the milk production over a period of years will be less than if the cow had rest periods each year.

The "vacation with pay" — in the form of extra feed — permits the cow to build up reserves for the beginning of the next lactation.

OUR FOOD SUPPLY

WRITTEN SPECIALLY FOR C.W.N.A. NEWSPAPERS
By JOHN ATKINS, Farmer-Journalist

No. 1 — FREE FOOD PERIOD ENDS

Every fourth mouthful of food eaten in Canadian towns and cities has been donated to those who ate it by the farmers who grew it, for almost twenty years.

Vast quantities of food, which should have gone to feed the people of Europe, had depressed prices and enabled urban families to feed themselves at less than cost. This surplus food piled up in Canada and other food-producing countries because Hitler had decided that Europe must quit peaceful trading and prepare for war.

While urban Canadians were able to buy their food at less than cost they were indifferent to what was happening to rural Canadians. Although they should have realized that their own well-being and security depended upon a sound Canadian agriculture, they were quite content to let the farmers do all the worrying. Unfair conditions, against which urban people rebel and strike, made a gigantic sweatshop of the agricultural industry.

During this prolonged agricultural depression all Canada suffered, but urban people suffered much less than farm people. For the ten years following 1930 the one-third of Canada's people who live on farms received less than one-tenth of the total income of all Canadians. Farm people could not take proper care of themselves nor of their plant and equipment. When the war broke out farmers as a class had not the health and strength nor the capital that they needed to carry on and produce all the food that we now require.

Now, the farm problem, our food supply problem, has caught up with Canadians and we all must face it.

Our surpluses of food melted away as more and more food was required by Great Britain, by our allies, by our forces, by our own people for harder work, and by the hungry in other lands. Our wheat surplus, which seemed to be a dead weight on our economy, is now a live source of comfort when we are being asked to go easy on the use of pork and cheese and other foods that Great Britain needs. All good Canadians will gladly change their diet for the sake of those who need these foods. It is a little more difficult to make ourselves see the necessity of paying more for our food to ensure the production of it.

After years of getting one-quarter of our food free it is hard to give up the idea that we can continue to live at the expense of farmers. If we are fair and reasonable, as most of us are, we will see that we are insuring our own food supply by giving the food grower a square deal. If we refuse to see the wisdom and justice of paying farmers at least the cost of production, the average farmer will not be able to grow the food we need.

Canada's farmers have filled every British food quota since the war began. They might have produced enough to supply fully Canada's domestic needs as well if their advice had been taken in the first place. But that is another story. The simple hard fact that underlies our whole food supply is that farmers cannot grow food for less than it costs them to grow it.

Prices that will enable the average farm family to carry on, and enough help to grow the food, are the twin solutions of our food supply problem, our farm problem, for the duration of the war.

SNOWBANKS BAD FOR COOLING MILK

With Winter Coming, Government Experts Warn Against an "Old Canadian Custom"

Ottawa, Oct. 1 (CP) — The Agricultural Supplies Board, as part of its campaign for the best possible agricultural production in wartime, has published a warning against cooling milk by setting cans in a snowbank — an old Canadian custom.

The board said that to prevent bacterial growth and subsequent spoilage, milk should be cooled immediately after it is drawn. Milk cooled without delay will keep sweet many hours longer than milk cooled after an hour or two.

"The speed at which milk can be cooled depends upon the rate at which the heat contained in the milk can be passed on to something else which will absorb heat," the board's publication said.

"Air absorbs heat very slowly; consequently, if a can of warm milk is placed in a refrigerated room where the air temperature is at freezing point, it will be about 12 hours before the temperature of the milk has fallen 50 degrees fahrenheit.

"This explains why attempts to cool milk in winter by setting the cans in a snowbank or exposing them to outdoor temperature so often lead to trouble."

Placing cans of warm milk in water in an insulated cooling tank was recommended as a "simple and effective" cooling method.

Flying Beamishes Gain More Honors

London, Sept. (CP) — The "Flying Beamishes", four Royal Air Force brothers, have another decoration to add to the family collection.

Francis Beamish, 38-year-old Acting Group Captain who holds the D.F.C. and A.F.C., has been awarded a bar to the D.S.O. he received for his part in the Battle of Britain. Beamish, who helped organize the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, is credited unofficially with destroying five German planes.

His brothers are Wing Commander Charles Beamish who holds the D.F.C., Wing Commander George Beamish and F. L. Cecil Beamish.

FARMERS TACKLING BIG BACON ORDERS

Farmers and Packers Work Hard to Fill Big British Demand

Ottawa, Oct. 5 (CP) — On an average 100,000 Canadian hogs will be killed every week for the next year in order to assure British people their customary ration of bacon and ham.

Getting the carcasses of those 5,200,000 pigs aboard ship cured, packed and labelled in the right way is the task of the Canadian Bacon Board which handles the export of all Canadian pork products to the United Kingdom.

Hogs come to market in larger numbers during certain seasons of the year than in others. The big marketing times are fall, spring and summer. British authorities want regular shipments and last year they asked an average of 70,000 hogs a week. The Bacon Board must plan a storage program so that a reserve is built up against the periods of light marketing.

The operating plan last year will be followed again this year with such modifications as conditions may warrant. Last year a reserve of 30,000,000 pounds of fresh Wiltshire sides was built up by the end of February by packers putting a certain quantity of their output into freezers.

Some of this reserve was taken out to maintain shipments during the mid-winter and early spring slack season.

The Board called on Canadians to cut down on pork consumption in order to make more available for export and at the same time cut down on the amount it permitted butchers and packers to sell to the home trade.

Smoke Screens Hide Convoys in Danger

Have you ever wondered why ten minutes is enough to let slow merchantmen escape from a fast and powerful German pocket battleship? Or why Hitler has never been able to fulfil his threat to cut the thinly guarded lifeline to Britain? If you have, then this story by Ted Sanderson in the September issue of C-I-L Oval may give you the answer.

Eye-witness accounts of the sinking of the "Jervis Bay" paint a picture of flashing guns, foaming seas and crashing shells. The cool, methodical work of a sailor on the stern of the ship seems to have passed unnoticed, or at least uncomprehended, in the excitement of battle. Let us watch this sailor. It was his work that made the sacrifice of the "Jervis Bay" a victory. At first sight, he seems to be surrounded by oil drums on end. Yet they differ from oil drums. They are about as big around and only half as high. Ignited and rolled overboard, each float hardly rights itself in the water before it starts spurting tremendous volumes of white smoke with amazing, hissing force — white smoke that blends with the sea and sky and wraps about a ship like an impenetrable fog. Caught by a breeze, the smoke from a single naval smoke float can blank out an area a mile long. So did the "Jervis Bay" lay down an obscuring blanket in which her charges scattered and escaped.

Naval smoke floats were developed in England during the last war. That these floats are now made in Canada is one more example of the contribution chemistry has made to the adaptation of Canadian industry to new and unaccustomed demands arising from this war. It means that ships leaving Canada for England can be assured of a supply of smoke floats without having to import them from England. Once again the chemist is on the front line of battle, saving lives.

SUCCESSES IN CALF SHOW AT ARUNDEL

Large Attendance Encourages Lads in Annual Competition

The Arundel Calf Club boys held their annual competition on Saturday, Oct. 4th. The weather was ideal and a large crowd turned out to see the boys exhibiting their calves. A decided improvement was noted in the manner the boys presented their animals in the Showmanship Class; the calves were well fitted and nicely displayed.

Erwin Craig and his brother, Willis, carried off the grand championship and reserve grand prizes.

Following are the prize-winners:

Class 1, Sr. Calves — Elwood Swail, Lloyd Champagne, Reid Marshall, Wm. Swail, James Tomalty

Class 2, Calves born in April — Erwin Craig, Garnet Bennett, Elmer Ronalds, Leonard Craig, Earl Gray, George Hinves.

Class 3, Jr. Calves — Willis Craig, D. Dubeau, John Thompson, Ken Ronalds, Roland Gray.

Class 4, Yearlings — John Thompson, G. Bennett, Wm. Swail, Leonard Craig, Erwin Craig, George Hinves, Willis Craig, Elwood Swail.

Grand Champion female, Erwin Craig.

Reserve Champion female, Willis Craig.

In Showmanship, Willis Craig was first, with Ken Ronalds, second.

The judges were — Alex Bothwell and G. C. Vincent.

LICENSE ON LIVERIES ASKED BY TAXI-MEN AT HAWKESBURY

Hawkesbury — A delegation of Hawkesbury taxi drivers, waiting on the town council recently, asked that body to impose a license on taxis, in order that they would be in a better position to obtain gasoline on Sundays. Local taxis take some 400 war workers to Brownsburg, twice a day. Council decided to obtain further information before dealing with the request.

MONTEBELLO MAN REPORTED MISSING

PO. R. G. Sutherland Went Overseas in February

PO. Richard Gordon Sutherland, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Sutherland, of Montebello, has been listed missing after air operations, according to word received by his parents.

PO. Sutherland received his wings in the Royal Canadian Air Force last January and left for England in February.

STANDARDIZED FOR EFFICIENCY

A car with Nova Scotia license plates limps into a service station in Winnipeg. Steam is spouting from under the hood.

"It's your water pump," says the mechanic. "We can have a new one on in a jiffy—won't hold you up long."

Only a water pump—perhaps assembled in Oshawa or Windsor from parts made in half a dozen different towns, yet it fits to a T when this Manitoba mechanic puts it on a car from Nova Scotia.

Uniformity—standardization—are big factors in telephone service, too. You can talk practically anywhere, any time, for one reason, because telephone equipment made with meticulous care fits to a T in all parts of the system. Operating methods are co-ordinated, too, so that your call is put through quickly and accurately—your voice spans the miles direct to your listener's ear. To a nation at war, such standardization is a great asset.

Feed Your Way to More Profits
by balancing low-protein roughage with Quaker 24% Protein Dairy Ration

QUAKER Dairy Rations are made to keep your cows up to peak production. Dairy cows, just like machines, make more profit and reduce overhead costs when they are working at capacity. When you spend your money and years of effort in breeding producing ability into your herd, it is only logical to feed a ration that contains the necessary ingredients in the proper proportions to permit them to make all the milk they are capable of producing. That is what Quaker Dairy Rations have proven they can do—they are available in 18% and 24% protein content so that you can choose the one that will work best with your home-grown grains and roughage.

Thanksgiving — in Terms of Action

In time of turmoil, more perhaps than in time of peace and plenty, Thanksgiving stirs our earnest meditation. For it is in difficult days that we cherish most the blessings spared for our enjoyment. Taking stock of our estate we find ourselves rich in the material gifts denied to brother men, and richer still in the immeasurable privileges of life and liberty.

In this third year of the world's most devastating war, we in Canada are deeply conscious of our bounties; so conscious, in fact, that some of us might feel happier to share at closer range the burdens borne by our mother country — even her tragedies, if by so doing we could speed the certainty of victory.

Thanksgiving, however, can do more than stir our gratitude and inspire our wishful thinking. The occasion should arouse a keener resolve to be worthy of our gifts. It should stimulate us not only to thought but to action — helping in every way to ease the sufferings of war and hasten the day of liberation for those oppressed. This implies our sweat and toil and sacrifice — our efforts in war service, our devotion in war industry, the lending of our money, and our support in every V-for-Victory project.

Only in this way can we prove ourselves sincerely thankful. Only in this way can we be worthy of our sons and brothers — fighting for the very privileges for which we now profess our thanks.

Who Will Be the Next Victim?

Last year the Fire Demon numbered among his victims in Canada 243 men, women and children. In 1939, 73 children lost their lives by fire, while in 1940, the lives of 102 of our little ones were claimed. This is a staggering admission and the responsibility for such tragedies can in many cases be laid directly to the negligence of parents, who far too often leave their helpless infants alone in the house while they visit neighbors or to go to a show. These holocausts frequently occur in rural districts where neighbors are long distances away and the parents are unable to reach their burning home in time to save their children from a horrible death.

Every parent should realize that it is his duty to teach his children the principles of fire prevention. They should not be allowed to play with fire, matches should be kept out of their reach, and playing with celluloid toys should be discouraged. By a strict adherence to the use of common sense, parents can thus save themselves the bitter anguish and life-long regret which must be ever present when a child perishes by their neglect.

Making History in Quebec

Monday was a big day in Quebec history. The women of this province, repeatedly assured by Premier Godbout during two hard-fought political campaigns that they have a "primordial role" to play in building the province's future, made electoral history by recording their votes and helping select members of the Legislative Assembly.

Signed into the statute book April 25, 1940, women suffrage in provincial elections became operative for the first time in Huntingdon and St. Jean-Naperville by-elections on Monday and it is estimated that more than 10,000 women availed themselves of their new privilege.

For many years women of this province have been received at Dominion election pools on an equal status with their men folk, but they had no voice in provincial electoral matters until Premier Godbout championed their cause during the 1940 session of the Legislature.

In both the Huntingdon and St-Jean-Napierville campaigns, Premier Godbout stressed the view that extension of the suffrage will have a beneficial influence on Quebec politics because women are "an element of order in public affairs."

He said he had sponsored the suffrage bill because "a question of justice" was involved, women now holding an equal footing with men in business and thus being "entitled to a voice in the affairs of their province."

"Women, representing the home, are the base around which preparation for the future can be built," he said at one meeting in St. Johns. "Our province's future depends on our future generations and women have the real voice in preparing these generations."

No Support Where Needed

Last week a collector for the blind institutes of the province was in Granby. He called at the Leader-Mail office, when the staff was busy compiling the reports and making up the amount of percentage to be paid to the Printing Trades Collective Committee. Which leads one to wonder why an industry should have to shoulder a heavy expense which just supports a staff in fancy offices in Montreal while the blind are left begging.

At a time when the country needs men in the army, there are a good many men living at the expense of the Collective Labour Agreements which could be very well spared.

The Hon. J. L. Ralston on Sunday night asked employers to plan replacements and release of non-essential men. The inspectors and staffs of the various Collective Labour Agreements are certainly not essential and we suggest that they can all be taken for the army.

Our Attitude Toward Russia and Communism

Is Communism A Menace?

It is understandable that many people in this country and in Britain should be half-hearted in their sympathy with Russia against Germany. Russia did not come into the war with clean hands, but Russia's aggressions aren't the real quarrel with Russia, for people are broadminded enough to realize that most old world nations have made mistakes of that sort.

The real quarrel with Russia is that she has tried to spread her political philosophy in other countries, and that philosophy includes the upsetting of existing governments by force if necessary. There were many persons in Britain, and probably in Canada, too, who before the war preferred Germany to Russia. These people regarded fascism as an answer to communism, and communism would take their property from them, and their property was the most important thing in the world.

Prime Minister Churchill put the case clearly when he said (in effect): "Those who fight our enemies are our friends and will have our help." Why there has not been more help so far will be answered some day, but we may assume that Mr. Churchill has had a good deal of influential opposition to overcome in giving the help he has already given. Mr. Churchill dislikes communism, but he is clear-eyed enough to hate Naziism even more.

In comparing Naziism and communism we should bear in mind that the first is a fanatical doctrine of race superiority and race expansion, while the second is an economic and political doctrine which all the world is invited to adopt. The first spreads itself by the sword, and the second spreads itself with the pen or the spoken word primarily (and the sword in a pinch).

Russians do not believe that Russians are superior to every other race but they believe that communism is superior to capitalism. They do not seek to set Russians up as governors of other countries, but they seek to set up the common people as the rulers in every country.

In comparing Naziism and communism we should remember that Naziism can and does supplant something better but that communism can only grow where there is economic distress and discontent. Communism gained a foothold in this country in time of depression because we could not solve our economic problem. Communism can only expand if we cannot offer something better. Communism will be no threat in this country when we learn — as we shall learn eventually — how to avoid this new kind of unemployment which results from our ability to produce so much so easily.

Communism started in Russia because Russia was so far behind the times, because the common people were depressed educationally, economically and politically. And communism has done the people of Russia a lot of good. It has proved a useful form of government for them. Like the French revolution it has brought with it a lot of violence and ruthlessness. Like the French revolution it may devolve into something with more room for religion and private property, but like the French revolution it will have done the rest of the world a lot of good, and speeded up our own search for "liberty, equality and fraternity."

—Newmarket Era

Support of Russia Doesn't Mean Approval

In an editorial entitled "Is Communism a Menace?" the Newmarket Era says that it is understandable that some people in this country and in Britain are half-hearted in their sympathy with Russia against Germany . . .

The question of lack of sympathy with Russia is to our mind largely one of that nation's record in the past few years. It is true, as The Era suggests, that Russia has made a lot of enemies because it has sought to spread its political philosophy in other countries, and that that philosophy includes the overthrow of governments by force. The editorial continues by pointing out that the main difference between Naziism and communism is that the former is a fanatical doctrine of racial superiority and expansion while the other is an economic and political doctrine which all the world is invited to adopt.

While what The Era says may be true, we hardly believe that the feeling of most people is based on these premises. Russia crushed the church and tried to make its people atheistic. It has killed millions of its citizens by starvation and by successive purges. Those are the things which most civilized people object to about Russia.

To accept the suggestion of The Era we would have to admit that a gangster was absolutely all right if he committed murders to help his invalid mother or to provide clothing for his children. The fact that some good might result from the commission of a crime, or that some sort of idealism exists behind a system that is rotten, cannot condone the acts of barbarism committed by Russia. True, Russia is now a partner in the great fight against Naziism, and Russia will have every bit of help the democracies can give her, but it would be idle to forget the past entirely and completely trust a nation which has sought to overthrow the governments of the nations who are now standing by her side in her dire peril. Perhaps the happier side of this relationship will be that Russia will see that her only friends are the democracies, and that this detested system of capitalism is not, after all, so bad as it has been painted.

Inconviences of Wartime Remove Barriers Separating English Folk

— By Margaret Butcher —

This letter, which gives an intimate glimpse into the lives of the ordinary, everyday people of old Britain and the way they are standing up to Hitler's bombing, was written specially for The Watchman and the Midland Free Press. Another letter from Miss Butcher, who is a popular British novelist, will appear shortly.

I am just finishing a week's holiday; and holidays — to be comfortably prosy — are not what they were.

Oddly enough, though, they're better. Yet if anybody had told me, three or four years ago, that I should appreciate a week of activities consisting of gardening, mending and visiting the dentist, I should have been highly sceptical. Of course, I must not forget certain inactivities — such as getting up an hour later and having half an hour over a book instead of waiting in a bus-queue. Perhaps they have been nicest of all.

Teeth are horribly unpatriotic things. Not a scrap of consideration for me while I've been hustling round on war-work. Just going on doing all the dire things that teeth can do on the quiet. That's part of our difficulty nowadays: we have no time to look after ourselves. So, at last, with my precious week—just one, we're told, for the year—I've been going into this little matter; sitting up with my mouth open, staring apprehensively at a strange man and wondering (a) how much it is going to hurt and (b) how much it is going to cost.

Happily, neither proved to be excessive.

It's rather strange, the way in which I picked the dentist. It casts a sidelight on these new human relationships which are cropping up all the time now. One so often meets the same folk in the breakfast-bus and one — with whom I occasionally had a few mumbled words — was a quiet little man of indeterminate age. I use the adjective "mumbled" advisedly; and one day he whispered to me: "Can you tell me where I can get some teeth?"

A Kind Face ?

I was immensely flattered — and just a trifle suspicious. Was it possible that I possessed what is sometimes described as a Kind Face? Quite suddenly I feared it. There must be something about me which would account for the unusual confidence. (Incidentally, I have never really discovered what it is?). Anyway, I promised to find out the name of a good man, and I rushed off to my Chief and asked where one could go. I mailed a note to the confiding stranger, and three weeks later I met him again, whereupon he slipped a packet of candy—a truly acceptable gift nowadays — into my hand, what time he flashed a pearly smile at me out of a face that looked at least fifteen years younger. With infinite tact neither of us mentioned Teeth on that occasion; but the next time we met he said they were fine. So this week I have profited by my own advice — a very rare thing to do, believe me. And yesterday, just as I was nearing the dentist's I met a woman I have seen once or twice in the little store on the corner, when I've been collecting my rations. Her husband is another bus-acquaintance and, little as I knew him, they always seemed to me to be an exceptionally nice couple. She stopped me.

"Always Do Anything"

"Are you all right now?" she said. "I heard that you'd been ill." I explained that, some while back, I had influenza, but that was all. Some friends, I added, had been very kind and looked after me.

"I'll always do anything I can for you," she said — and told me her name and address. "Don't be afraid to let me know, any time. I'd nurse you, do your shopping, anything. I'd be glad to." Here she smiled and added the loveliest thing: "I don't like the idea of your being alone and ill. You know, my husband and I always call you 'The cheerful little lady.'"

Am I 'cheerful?' Goodness alone knows! One doesn't always feel it; but how is one to get through without some such effort? After all, foolish and laughable things happen, even in these days, and perhaps the contrast makes them still more so. For my part, I find gloomy people definitely bad for the morale. One comes away from them feeling actually ill — and quite intolerably bored. The strang strange part of it is that they are never, never the people who are suffering loss or privation, but those whose comfort has been disturbed; who can't get servants or the usual things to eat. "It's different for you," they say.

Why on earth is it "different" for me? True, for years I've had no more domestic staff than a dear old visiting charwoman, but do they really suppose that I don't miss her? Do they really think that I like spending my Saturday evenings sweeping and washing, that I enjoy picking at an early self-prepared breakfast and going off to squat in an office all day? Am I reputed to revel in washing my own dishes and scrubbing my own potatoes? Away with such nonsense?

Changed Tires For the Enemy

Two Prisoners Escaped from France After Giving Nazi Officers a Hand

London, Sept. (CP) — Two youths who escaped from occupied France after being captured by the Germans chuckled when they arrived back in Britain and told how they changed a tire on a German car during a 100-mile tramp to safety.

The pair, John Upton and John Dawson, said they dodged German patrols and lived on scraps of food given them by friendly French peasants until they were put in touch with a British ship.

During their escape they bumped into four German officers standing beside a car on the roadside. They posed as peasants, changed a punctured tire and resumed their journey.

"I wish you and dad would bury the hatchet. I have to do the dishes all alone now!"

WAR — TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

By H. H. GORDON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

No little stir was caused 25 years ago in the First Great War when a German submarine popped up in the waters of Hampton Roads and made its way to Newport News, Va. It was the U-53, commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. Hans Rose, and the undersea craft's subsequent brief campaign against Allied shipping off the New England coast had a good deal to do with Germany's resumption of unrestricted submarine warfare in 1917.

Rose brought the U-boat into Newport News on Oct. 6, 1916. Going ashore, he paid his respects to United States naval authorities, some of whom later inspected the boat, and within three hours put to sea and disappeared.

Two days later SOS calls sizzled around the New England coast. Adhering to the rules prescribed by prize law, Rose sank six Allied merchant ships after stopping the vessels and allowing the crews to take the boats.

The ruthless sinking of the Lusitania and other vessels in 1915 had resulted in President Woodrow Wilson of the United States making a threat to break off diplomatic relations. On April 25, 1916, the German government issued an order precluding submarine commanders from sinking any merchant ship at sight.

Demand Renewed

The success of U-53 and German submarines operating in Mediterranean and other waters brought about a demand for the revival of the "sink on sight" policy. German Chancellor Bethmann Hollweg had stood against the naval staff on this issue for a year.

During the autumn of 1916 Admiral Reinold Scheer and the naval staff found powerful allies in the German generals Hindenburg and Ludendorff. The die was cast on Jan. 9, 1917. The Reichtag listened in silence while the Chancellor announced that orders had been given to resume unrestricted warfare on Feb. 1. Two days later United States Ambassador James W. Gerard left Berlin and the United States entered the war in April.

Bethmann Hollweg in the meantime divested himself of personal responsibility for unrestricted submarine warfare. It is said he declared to the Kaiser early in 1917: "I can give your Majesty neither my assent to the unrestricted U-boat warfare nor my refusal. I submit to your Majesty's decision".

DISTRICT NEWS FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

ST. ANDREWS EAST

Air Cadet Brian Simpson, of the Belleville, Ont., Air School, spent the week-end with his father, Mr. Geo. Simpson, at their home here.

Miss Ida Hopper, of Montreal, Miss Maude Hopper and Mr. Clyde Hopper, of Moncton, N.B., returned to Montreal on Sunday after two weeks' stay with their sister, Mrs. E. Charman.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon A. Steeves were at their summer cottage for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolduc have returned from their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. T. Pringle have closed their summer home and taken up residence at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Montreal, for the autumn.

On Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 8th, a trousseau tea was held at the Presbyterian manse by Mrs. Wm. MacMillan in honor of her daughter, Miss Jean MacMillan.

St. Andrews Red Cross

St. Andrews branch of the Red Cross sent a large bail to Montreal headquarters, including both sewing and knitting done by the River Rouge, Cushing and Carillon groups. Especial mention is deserved for the donation of three skilfully composed quilts from Cushing.

Cablegrams from Overseas

Cables have been received here announcing the safe arrival in Britain of the Anti-Aircraft Unit trained at Petawawa, which included Gunners Ronald de la Ronde, Roy and George DeWitt, Raymond Blair, Leslie Gates, and Bombadier Charles DeWitt. News received from radio and newspapers was reassuring to the families concerned, but the cables have removed all anxiety.

MILLE ISLES

Improvements to Christ Church, Mille Isles, have now been completed. On Sunday evening a beautiful altar cross was used for the first time. Brass vases and alms basins have also been donated to the church. The regular Sunday service on October 12th will be held at 8 p.m., instead of in the afternoon.

There is something wrong with the man who goes home from church mad whenever the preaching is aimed squarely at the face.

MABEL

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Maddon, of Kilmar, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Murdoch.

Miss Katherine Clark is spending this week in Montreal visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thos. MacCulloch.

The heartfelt sympathy of this community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murdoch in the loss of their little son.

Mrs. Walter Murray is spending this week at Kilmar with her daughter, Mrs. E. Matthew and Mr. Matthew.

Mr. and Mrs. Coral Gauley and family, with Mrs. T. H. Gauley, have moved into the village and are living in the house known as the Wilson home, which Mr. Gauley purchased some time ago.

Mrs. Lorne Cooke is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bowden, and other relatives in Montreal.

Miss Lois Cooke is now at Paugan Falls with her father.

Mrs. Isaac Arnold has returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. Goldsworthy in Lachute.

Rent Control

With reference to the order for rent control in this district it is advised that the Magistrate will be at Lachute Court House on Nov. 4th and 5th, when complaints which have been filed by either lessee or lessor will be heard.

Home Guard on the Look-Out

Britain's Home Guard reserves after being brought up to their strategic points by bus, advance to the attack under cover of the roadside hedge. They were taking part in Southern Command exercises in which they were guarding an aerodrome.

KILMAR

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parkes and daughter, Pamela, are leaving Kilmar this week for Sorel, Que., where Mr. Parkes has secured a position.

A farewell bridge party was held this week for Mrs. Parkes at the home of Mrs. E. G. Baker, and the ladies of the Bridge Club attended. Mrs. Baker presented to Mrs. Parkes, on behalf of her friends present, a lovely table lamp, with every good wish for the future.

The ladies' Red Cross work meeting will be held this Thursday at the home of Mrs. H. Robertson.

Miss Muriel Kenny, of Kilmar, is spending the week in Montreal, and is expected to return home Friday.

BROWNSBURG

Miss Marion Birch spent the week-end in Montreal visiting her brother, who is a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Mr. George Prosser, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, is visiting his family here.

The Junior Mission Circle of Maple Avenue Baptist Church held their October meeting at Mrs. Foster Campbell's on Tuesday evening. The topic, "Mission Work in India" was given by Mrs. E. Morrow.

Miss Gladys McAdam is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. R. Graham in Verdun.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Morrison and the Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Simpson spent Thursday last in Montreal.

Correction

In last week's issue, an item in the Brownsburg news gave an impression that the Red Cross Society had held a "talent tea". It should, however, have been reported that Mrs. J. Suthern and Mrs. J. B. Chalmers sponsored the tea in aid of the Red Cross; the amount of $51.05 was realized.

Brownsburg Red Cross

During the months of July, August and September the following articles were completed and shipped to Montreal headquarters: 7 prs. socks, 47 prs. mitts, 17 prs. two-way mitts, 3 prs. gloves, 30 caps, 46 scarves, 12 sweaters, 13 W.A.S. sweaters, 40 prs. seaboot stockings, 6 helmets, 1 pr. wristlets, 7 prs. flying mitts, 4 body belts, 1 dressing gown, 9 shirts, 84 towels, 71 sheets, 13 kits for boys 12 years — 130 articles, 132 handkerchiefs; total, 660 articles.

Women's Institute

The monthly W.I. meeting was held at the Social Club-room on Thursday evening, Oct. 2nd. Mrs. C. L. Stephens and Mrs. N. E. Smellie gave very interesting papers. The roll-call was answered to by "Ways and means of using up left-overs", and it was interesting to note how beneficially these ideas could be put to use during war days. Plans were made for a cooking contest to be held shortly. The meeting closed with the national anthem.

HARRINGTON

Mrs. Wm. Swail, Mr. Sidney and Willie Swail, of Arundel, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Dixon and children, of Dalesville, were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Swail.

IN MEMORIAM

BENNETT — In loving memory of dear Erma, who died Oct. 5th, 1940. — Ever remembered by Thorl and Freda.

In the graveyard softly sleeping
Where the rosebush gently waves
Lies the one who loved so dearly,
Tried so hard, but could not save.

LANGILLE — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Melvin, who passed away October 12, 1934. — Ever in our memory; Mother, Dad, sisters and brothers.

[falling
When the evening shades are
And we are sitting all alone,
In our hearts there comes a longing
If only you could come home.
Oftentimes our thoughts do wonder
To the grave not far away,
Where we laid our son and brother
Just seven years ago today.

WEEK AT OTTAWA

committees set up under Mr. Mackenzie, who is chairman of the cabinet rehabilitation committee.

It has been endorsed by Alex. Walker, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, in a statement issued here as "incorporating substantial advances in principle compared with the last war."

Manufacturing Restrictions

Meanwhile production by Canadian manufacturers of radios, refrigerators, stoves, vacuum cleaners and electric washing machines was restricted to 75 per cent of 1940 output, under a government order effective Oct. 1.

The Munitions and Supply Department described the curtailment order as a "smashing blow at production and sale of non-essential consumer goods in wartime" and said it would serve a two-fold purpose. It would conserve steel, metals and other materials for war purposes, and curb the trend toward increasing consumer purchasing in Canada.

At the same time, Munitions Minister Howe warned there could be no guarantee, even with the 25-per cent "preliminary" curtailment order, that materials would be available for production of the regulated goods.

To effect the order the merchandise goods affected were termed "supplies" under the Munitions and Supply Act, thereby placing them under jurisdiction of Supplies Controller Alan H. Williamson, who previously controlled only silk, cork and rubber supplies.

Provincial Relations

Negotiations between the Federal government and the provinces on Finance Minister Ilsley's budget proposal that the provinces vacate the corporation and personal income tax fields for the duration of the war in return for Dominion compensation moved a step nearer finality.

Leaders of eight provinces — British Columbia will not send a delegation until after the elections in that province Oct. 21 — already have conferred with Mr. Ilsley. After his interview last week with Premier Hepburn of Ontario, the Finance Minister said he felt hopeful that all the provinces would ultimately conclude agreements on the proposal. But, he added that he would not consider any province is committed until a later stage than this.

Following his meeting with Mr. Hepburn the question of legislative sanction of any possible agreements was raised for the first time when Mr. Ilsley said he would think "most, if not all, of the agreements would have to go to the legislatures."

LOST IN BUSH, BOY DIES OF EXPOSURE NEAR MT. LAURIER

Mont Laurier, Oct. 2 — Missing for five days in the vicinity of Notre Dame du Pontmain, 25 miles south of here, eight-year-old Edmond Gougeon, son of a colonist, was found dead of exposure at the foot of a tree today.

Provincial and Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers with dogs had sought the boy since Tuesday. Neighbors advised detectives that they had found the body at the foot of a tree "not far from his home".

Inclement weather and cold settled on the region after Sunday when the small boy left home to go into the bush. When he failed to return, neighbors took up the search at night and the next day. Two days later, the Provincial Police were notified and the R.C.M.P. requested to help with trained dogs.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Lachute United Y.P.U.

At the weekly meeting of the Lachute United Young People's Union, held last evening, Principal C. L. Hall was the guest speaker. Mr. Hall gave a talk, with illustrated pictures, on the State of New Hampshire, U.S.A. These pictures, most of them photographed by himself, showed the beautiful lakes, mountains and valleys of this picturesque state, and also the typical New England churches and landmarks.

The program was under the convenorship of Miss Rodeen Hadley.

Dedication Ceremony By Lachute C.G.I.T.

The C.G.I.T. held a dedication ceremony on Monday in the United Church. There were 53 girls present, who entered the church singing "Follow the Gleam".

Mrs. H. Jacobsen and Mrs. W. Freeland read the scripture readings. "I would Be True" was sung by Yvonne Bedard, Mae Gordon, Margaret Aitkin and Lorna Giles. Mrs. G. Clark read a very interesting story, "The Ideal Girl". Betty Morrison then led in prayer.

The ceremony then took place. Each girl, kneeling before the leaders in the chancel of the church, repeated the oath, swearing to be loyal to their C.G.I.T. Purpose.

The leaders and girls rose and repeated together their C.G.I.T. Purpose, after which the group adjourned downstairs where they spent the remaining time as handicrafts.

The meeting was closed by the singing of "Taps".

Christian Science Sunday Services

"Are sin, disease, and death real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Oct. 12th.

The Golden Text is from Jeremiah 17: 14. "Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved; for thou art my praise."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions." (Psalms 107: 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We are sometimes led to believe that darkness is as real as light; but science afirms darkness to be only a mortal sense of the absence of light, at coming of which darkness loses the appearance of reality. So sin and sorrow, disease and death, are the suppositional absence of Life, God, and flee as phantoms of error before truth and love." (Page 215).

Presbyterian Y.P.S.

The regular meeting of the Presbyterian Y.P.S. was held last evening with about 15 members present.

Following the devotional period, the main topic of business was the forthcoming presentation of "Major Barbara" on October 22nd., with stress on the distribution and sale of tickets.

With the approach of Thanksgiving, the Society voted the sum of $5, being the usual contribution to the Thank-Offering.

Following the business the program took the form of a newspaper — current events, sports, Margaret Currie and Passing Hour being duly represented. An item of interest was a copy of the "Argenteuil County News" dated June 6th, 1896, which was eagerly inspected.

Next week the program will be an illustrated lecture, the subject "From Ocean to Ocean". All members are requested to make efforts to attend this meeting. Business pertaining to the picture show will be discussed.

Brownsb'g United Church

At the meeting of the Young People's on Tuesday evening the officers for the ensuing year were elected — with Clifford C. Loutitt as president; Claude Renaud, vice-president; Miss Margaret Gordon, 2nd vice-president; Stephen Pike, secretary-treasurer; Miss Edna Woods, pianist. The appointment of committees was left until next meeting.

A social gathering will follow the devotional period next Tuesday evening, when the topic "Thanksgiving" will be taken by the minister, Rev. S. J. Pike. A program of games, etc., will precede the refreshments.

At the meeting of the Official Board this week arrangements were taken up for the church anniversary, which will be held on Sunday, Oct. 26th; Rev. W. I. Tucker, of Montreal, will be the preacher. It may be remembered that Mr. Tucker preached here as a student and has been looking forward to this visit. A successful event is anticipated.

Montreal Presbytery Y.P.U. Convention

The Montreal Presbytery Y.P.U. of the United Church of Canada is holding its annual Fall Convention in Ormstown, Que., during the week-end of October 18-19. The guest speaker is to be the Rev. Wm. Berry of Lachine, who gave a series of lectures at the Illinois Youth Conference in Eureka, Ill., this past summer. The theme of the Convention is, "A Living Faith".

Mayor La Guardia at Legion Convention

"THANKS-LIVING"

their well-merited mission of retribution upon a Godless Germany.

Instead of going for that usual Sunday afternoon drive in the family car, let us reduce this hitherto pleasurable pastime to once a month. Let us pause for a moment, before indulging in those things for our own enjoyment which curtail in any way our support of the army and our kith and kin across the water. Let us go to church on this Thanksgiving and, besides listening to a sermon about our many blessings for which we should truly be thankful, let us resolve — deep down within our hearts — to show our appreciation in the shape of living-thanks; thanks which are more to the point than mere church attendance and forgetting of the minister's message before the week is over. Let us determine to leave with not only a message from the pulpit, but a firm resolve to practise Thanks-Living in our every day life as well, for by our deeds shall we prove the sincerity of our thanks and demonstrate our appreciation of our unscathed homes and well-filled refrigerators.

Our British cousins have a saying about 'Playing the Game', a saying which brings to mind a motto I learned at school, a motto which teaches that when the Great Scorer comes to write against our names, it will matter not whether we have won or lost the battle of life, but how we played the game ! It is a motto which — during the past and current year — has been lived up to upon our behalf by every British man, woman and child in the United Kingdom, as they stood firmly and courageously to their tasks throughout the terrible struggle which has raged unceasingly over their unbowed heads; and while to the individual — as the words of the motto so truly state—it matters not whether he, or she, has won or lost in a personal sense; to a nation in the throes of a desperate struggle for its very existence, it matters a great deal; for defeat would spell the end of all that we hold dear, while victory spells renewed hope for another forward turn in the wheel of world affairs.

In playing the game, therefore, from a National standpoint, the individual is entreated not to cheat, or in devious ways escape his or her proportionate self-denial or contribution to the cause. From a personal standpoint, it is true that individuals can, and may evade the issue, but while those individuals are perhaps the only persons who will ever know about it, their own conscience will forever remind them of it, and although such persons may perform lip-service on this Thanksgiving Day, in the words of that old motto, it will not matter to the nation as a whole in the final analysis so much whether those individuals stole a few more joy-rides, ate more bacon than they needed to, or hid their money in old socks instead of buying War Savings Stamps or Victory Bonds, but it will matter much to the individuals concerned, for they are the unfortunates who will have lost their self-respect — if not their souls — on that final day of accounting when we render unto God the things that are God's, and unto Hitler the things that are Hitler's.

Let us, therefore, play the game wholeheartedly. Let us adopt in addition to the sign of V for Victory, the letter T for Thanks-Living. As more and more of our people turn to the Almighty and thank Him for the blessings bestowed upon us, so will the answer of providence become more and more apparent, and the tide of victory over the foul, slimy beast of Berechtesgaden rise proportionately higher and higher in the months of deadly combat still to come.

For the duration of the struggle then, let Thanks-Living be our motto; it is in the little things that we count individually, in the pints of gas we save, in the pounds of butter we conserve for England's fighting men who are slowly but surely whipping the tyrant to his knees, in the pennies we give to succour little helpless children bombed out of their homes by the vultures of the skies, in the unstinted day of work we give to produce supplies, in the smile with which we accept hardships and deny ourselves the luxuries to which we have been accustomed heretofore. Singly, our puny individual efforts do not seem to matter very much, but added together it can become a united effort which will hasten that Thanksgiving Day when we can give thanks not only for the daily food we eat, or for the untroubled nights of sleep we have been permitted to enjoy, but for the return of peace — a lasting peace — and the right to live our normal lives again.

Canada is calling — and in you and you alone — lies the answer ! U for Unity — T for Thanks-Living — and V for Victory. Play the Game, Canada, Play the Game !

Miss Eileen Paul and Mr. Leslie Powell, of Notre Dame de Grace, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Titman.

Marriage at Morin Hts.

Hulley - Goldthorpe

Morin Heights — The United Church here was the scene of a marriage on Saturday afternoon, September 27th, when Elma Alvira, daughter of Mrs. Frank Goldthorpe and the late Mr. Goldthorpe, Morin Heights, Que., became the bride of Mr. Ronald Hulley, son of Mrs. Arthur Hulley and the late Mr. Hulley, Verdun, Que.

The Rev. S. Rowe performed the ceremony. Mrs. W. Rogers presided at the organ. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with bronze and yellow flowers and ferns.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Amos Kerr, of Lakefield, Que., was gowned in a street length dress of Victory blue wool jersey, a navy blue velour hat, with matching accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses, her only ornament being a gold locket, the gift of the groom.

She was attended by Miss Irene Hulley, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid. Miss Hulley wore a street length dress of rose wool crepe, a grey velour hat and matching accessories; she carried an arm bouquet of peach roses.

Mr. Curtis Kerr was best man.

Mrs. Goldthorpe, mother of the bride, wore a plum sand crepe dress with black accessories, and a corsage of white baby asters.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Hulley, was gowned in green sand crepe with black accessories and a corsage of white baby asters.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother. The house was tastefully decorated with autumn flowers. Later the bridal couple left by motor for Niagara Falls.

For travelling the bride donned a top coat of navy blue wool crepe over the wedding gown, navy accessories and a silver fox fur.

On their return they will reside in Verdun, Que.

ENTERTAINED

Miss Grace Lavis, whose marriage to Mr. Lloyd Cruise takes place on Saturday, was guest of honor at a crystal shower, given by Mrs. Laurence Cruise at her home on Saturday afternoon.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mrs. John Gordon wishes to announce the engagement of her daughter, Janet Clarice, to Roderick Sylvester, son of the late William T. Robson and of Mrs. Robson, of Westmount. — The wedding to take place on October 31st.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. William MacMillan, of St. Andrews East, Que., announce the engagement of their only daughter, Jean Isabel, to Mr. Ernest Warren Rodger, son of Mrs. Rodger and the late W. George Rodger, of Rodgerdale. The wedding will take place some time in October.

"Jim's letter was censored" . . .

● Things are happening where Jim is . . . in the navy . . . things Jim is not allowed to write about. If Jim could write what he would like to write, we at home might be more concerned about the war. Jim says "everything's O.K." and that's what we expect from fellows like Jim . . . but things aren't O.K. or Jim would be back home at his regular job. We've got to do our part, too. One thing we can do is lend our money to pay for the war. We've got to see to it that the men in the services get the ships and guns and tanks and planes they need to do their job. War Savings Certificates help to provide that money. We must all buy more War Savings Certificates.

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless, selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

Mr. Grant Staniforth is visiting his mother, Mrs. Alfred Staniforth.

CUSHING WEST

Mrs. T. W. Weir is spending the week with friends in the city.

Mrs. Usher has been absent during the past week attending the annual conference of the W.C.T.U., which was held this year at North Hatley.

Mrs. Frank Gaston is visiting friends in Brownsburg at present.

Mrs. M. Grace and daughters, Madeleine and Dorothy, of Montreal, also Mr. and Mrs. Roy Trenholme, and Major Brennan of the C.O.T.C., were guests of Mrs. S. Whelehan recently.

Mr. C. F. Watson motored from Sorel for the week-end.

Mr. Eddie Whelehan, of Montreal, and little son, Edward, also Miss K. Whelehan, spent Sunday here.

Mrs. Brodie McMeekin, of Saskatchewan, and daughter, Kathleen, arrived last week and is a guest at the home of her brother, Mr. C. J. Hartley. Her daughter, Miss Grace McMeekin, who is in training at Dr. Smith's Hospital, Hawkesbury, was also here for the week-end.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Harbert, of Montreal, were guests of Mrs. Harbert's father, Dr. H. B. Cushing, for the week-end . . . Dr. Cushing's guests also included his sisters-in-law, Mrs. Turbayne and Miss Barnard of Niagara, who are en route to Bermuda to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Pryor spent Saturday at their cottage on Sandy Bay Road which is now closed for the season.

Mrs. S. O. Hartley has closed her residence here and, with her daughter-in-law Mrs. Lawrence Hartley, who also spent the summer here, returned to take up residence in the city for the winter months.

Mr. Douglas Hartley is having his cottage enlarged by an addition which will make it suitable for occupation during cold weather.

Miss Mary Byrne, of Montreal, has spent the past two weeks at her home, owing to the illness of her mother, Mrs. D. J. Byrne.

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION ANNUAL CONVENT'N

This convention was held in North Hatley, where the beauty of the surroundings proclaimed the handiwork of a Master Creator. The lake smiling in the sun, or in evening a mirror of beautiful sunsets, and again a sheet of molten gold at night, surrounded by mountains covered with foliage of the most gorgeous coloring — filled one with a sense as of hearing a voice saying "Be still and know that I am God" . . .

Mrs. W. Usher, of Cushing, Provincial President, presided but the opening devotionals were led by Mrs. J. Mabon, a former provincial president and also a former Lachute resident. This was the usual consecration service. "Prayer as a Battlefield" was the theme of this service; Mrs. Mabon presented it in a masterly manner, also expressed for the Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union of Quebec an expression of loyalty to our beloved sovereigns, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. This message would be sent on to them by the Secretary of State at Ottawa. A reply message from Buckingham Palace, to a former expression sent from last convention, was read, stating Their Majesties' gratitude at the continuance of loyalty shown them at this time. An expression of Queen Elizabeth on "cocktail parties" was given us by Rev. Norman McLeod, recently of Alberta, now stationed in Lennoxville; during the course of his address, claiming that Her Majesty had said "My daughter does not attend cocktail parties, they are not good for girls", he added, our mothers would follow our gracious Queen's example in that way — feeling that they were not good for themselves as well as girls. The liquor traffic, said Rev. McLeod, is striking right at the heart of our country in seducing our youth and making them men and women incapable of fighting our battles when needed... Marshall Petain is quoted in The Coronet as saying that it was the liquor consumed by the French soldiers during the long waiting of eight months for the German attack that caused the downfall of France. The men had become incapable of clear thinking and yet our soldiers are allowed to drink, as far as we can see, all they want to, and have it furnished to them also. If our lads fail us upon whom shall we lay the blame?

In the hope of offsetting some of the temptations to liquor that is continually before our boys, also to help in bombed out areas, the Women's Christian Temperance Union of this province have sent to Lady Reading of England $500 for the purchase of a canteen which will be inscribed with the white ribbon bow, also the letters "W.C.T.U. of Quebec". This money has been personally subscribed by the members.

Amongst the list of names honored in death by a memorial service was, that of Mrs. J. W. MacLean, the wife of a former pastor of St. Mungo's Church, Cushing. Fall flowers, used in the service, were later sent on to invalids, members who were not able to attend.

One of the speakers who gave an address on short notice, replacing someone else who at the last moment was called elsewhere, was the Rev. C. F. Gorman of the Baptist Church. He said he was going to follow the advice given by an old minister to his son on entering the ministry, which was "My son, never preach about something of which you know nothing. It takes too long". Rev. Gorman also asked his hearers to teach temperance to the children in their own homes. "Do not", he said "leave this most important work to school teachers. Sunday School teachers and the W.C.T.U. Stand up for need of temperance in our land, before your neighbors." Mr. Gorman, recently from Ontario, claimed that the people of Ontario did not get a square deal in temperance matters. They were not given a chance. Temperance was just kicked out of Ontario by politicians and the beer parlors substituted in their place. Rev. Gorman could not understand any government that had not backbone enough to throw out something that was robbing us of the best that we have — our youth ! — "Christ", said Rev. Gorman, "had a great appreciation of youth and its spirit of adventure and must feel most of all its destruction".

An effective tool in combatting the liquor traffic was education. This the local Union, along with other Unions, are striving to accomplish in continuing educational compaigns in schools and Sunday schools.

Mrs. A. W. Reese of Athelstan, Dominion Superintendent of Laval Temperance Legion work, entertained the school children one afternoon by means of a crossword puzzle, which was an instructive questionnaire on Temperance work, closing the session with community singing of Temperance verses and jingles set to familiar tunes. Mrs. Reese in her address used a sort of responsive service which was most interesting. It was of the questionnaire type, with replies from the Bible.

LIVING IN THE MARITIMES

Life in the Maritimes is different. Make no mistake about that. It goes at a more leisureiy pace. Time is like manna from heaven — there is always more to come. They can find time down here to take a day off fishing or shooting, or come a day when the wind is to their liking they go for a sail. Their ways of doing business take a bit of getting used to and there are times you will be so steamed up you feel you must burst. When you go into a store two or three clerks may be gathered together having a pleasant little conversation and when they have finished, but not before, will they bother about waiting on you. Business is on a more personal relation. The clerks know their customers perhaps personally, or maybe just from always shopping at the same store. They chat about their families and their friends. All the time you are standing by feeling and looking very much like Patience on a monument. When all the news has been told you will get waited on just as pleasantly and just as unhurriedly. After you have had time to get used to this you begin to think maybe they have the right idea. They get more out of life and their business gets done in the end probably just as well as in the parts of the country where there is more hustle and bustle. Rivers and lakes and the sea — are close at hand for everyone to enjoy. The sea is timeless and perhaps it has imbued its people with this same quality. Life in the Maritimes is infectious and most people, once they are exposed to it, are content never to recover.

GOOD FROM EVIL

The British Army established a Physical Development Depot for 834 would-be recruits who did not reach the physical requirements. They were given a regime of rest, work, and proper food, and the result was that 83% of them were able to meet army tests. If that can be done for the army what a pity it cannot be done for the world at large. If good can come from evil, then the greater attention that it being paid to nutrition is one benefit we may get from this war.

THE INTERESTED GROWN-UP

An article on the Quiz Kids tells us that every unusually bright child has had an unusually interested grown-up. Usually a parent but not always. They have helped them when very young to develop an interest and to acquire a knowledge in some special thing. It is worth nothing that several of them have read two newspapers daily. The little six-year old boy next door sometimes reminds me of the Quiz Kids in his extensive knowledge of flowers and plant-life generally. There too an adult is in the back-ground. Their house was built when he was about a year old and so he was about when the grounds were fixed up and planted. There are no small children near and he has been with his mother more than most children are. He has a naturally inquiring mind and has asked questions of his mother and the various men who have worked on the place. There are a great number of wild flowers growing around here (I counted seven varieties in bloom at one time within a few yards of our house), and the woods is just up the hill behind us. The consequence is that this small boys knows the name of all the flowers and shrubs in the garden; he is familiar with all wild flowers and weeds; and he knows the trees and the native shrubs. Yesterday I found a shrub not far from the house, just loaded with bright red berries. I wanted to know what they were so took them over to Raymond to ask him. This was the answer I got. "They are Snake-berries. Don't eat them. They are poison. They are only good for ornaments because they are pretty to look at." He likes to come over to see me but never wants to barge in without an excuse, so he usually brings me a flower or a nice bit of foliage. I have had endless bouquets of wild flowers and weeds. What is the difference I wonder? Yesterday he brought me some Lily-of-the-Valley seeds he had picked with the comment that he did not know what season they should be planted. How many youngsters that age would know there is a different and proper season for planting things. The lad is bright but he is no genius. Parents can do so much in arousing interests in their children, if they will only take the trouble and start early enough.

ICING HINTS

Boiled icing is good, but to tell the truth, sometimes it is too sweet and a bit insipid. Try baking your cake in a shallow pan and before icing it spread a layer of jelly on it. Any jelly will do but a tart one like currant jelly is best. Break the jelly up with a fork and stir it until it will spread easily. Spread on the jelly, cover with boiled icing, and top this with cocoanut if you like.

Another way to add interest to a white icing is to cut a banana in thick slices and dip in melted sweet chocolate then put the slices where they will do the most good. This would make an interesting topping for dessert, too.

HIGH POSSIBILITIES IN FRUIT POWDERS

Experts of Canada and Old Land Deep in Juice Research

Ottawa, Oct. 4 (CP) — The black currant, high in Vitamin C content, will make an increasingly important contribution to the maintainance of Canadian health, officials say in commenting on reports of successful fruit juice experiments in England.

Development of a black currant syrup in England has been matched by scientists in Canada, but the black currant crop in the Dominion seldom shows a surplus and only through increased production now encouraged will substantial syrup supplies become available.

Already produced on a commercial basis in England, black currant syrup is used widely by medical specialists in hospitals and clinics because of the anti-scurvy qualities of the Vitamin C. Because of the success of the syrup in the treatment of illness, doctors have asked that a black currant juice be developed having a higher vitamin content than either the syrup or the black currant beverage obtained by diluting the syrup with water.

Use of fruit powders is being examined both in Canada and the United Kingdom. High in pectin, fruit powders are looked upon as the best way of storing fruit supplies for as long as two years.

When the fruit powder is to be used water is added in the desired quantity and the pectin content is sufficient to form a jelly. At present, large quantities of Canadian apples are exported dried, but development of fruit powder manufacture would represent a further economy in shipping space and weight.

Young Woman Expert On Trade Relations

London, Oct. 1 (CP) — Trade experts who gathered at the Ministry of Economic Warfare to hear an exposition of the ministry's policy on trade with neutral European countries had a surprise when an attractive, dark-haired young woman addressed them. She was 28-year-old Miss Diana Hambro, who, as a senior assistant principal at the ministry, holds a position of considerable responsibility. It covers trade relations with Spain Turkey, Portugal and Iceland.

When war began Miss Hambro determined to get on the ministry staff. Direct application brought no results so she obtained a job as typist through an employment exchange. Subsequent promotion came rapidly.

Montreal, Sept. 15 — Railway redcaps are not as a rule listed among the humans who receive fan mail; in fact, if it were actually known, the number of these useful adjuncts of railway travel who receive letters from appreciative customers, are very few. Tips, yes ! They are hoped for — and looked for. But letters, seldom.

Louis Johnson — Redcap No. 21 of the C. N. R. — is an exception to the rule. He boasts a letter from two ladies residing in New York. Addressed to him as Porter No. 21, Bonaventure Station, Montreal, P. Q., Canada, the letter said: "Many thanks from the two American ladies whose bags you put on the New York train on Saturday night, August 23. We expected to see you on the train, but didn't. Thank you for your courtesy." An enclosure of two twenty-five cent pieces was the tangible backing of the two grateful travellers.

What happened was that Redcap 21 was asked to put the ladies' luggage on the New York train. This he did, but before the ladies arrived he had a rush call to another train and was unable to report for his reward. Hence the fan mail.

Reward

H. B. Clifford, owner of a short order stand in Hollywood, gets a kiss from glamor girl Paulette Goddard as reward for bringing her 365 pieces of aluminum, more than any other man who took part in the star's private pot and pan derby for U.S. defence. Paulette promised to make the kiss "as good" as the one she gives her leading man, Ray Milland, in her latest picture. That kiss lasts 45 seconds on the screen, and just to make sure Paulette gave Clifford his aluminum's worth, De Mille himself held a stop watch on the kiss.

LAND GIRL'S ROMANCE

Middleton, England (CP) — Corp. A. S. Platt, on seven days leave, carried the luggage of Molly Walton, 25-year-old land army girl, to the station, and before the train left they were engaged. Pictures in the papers show Molly admiring her diamond ring.

INCONVENIENCES OF WAR-TIME REMOVE BARRIERS SEPARATING ENGLISH FOLK

Little Stella-Anne

The other evening I called on the friends who nursed me through the 'flu, and I was introduced to "the family". The family consists of a mother and baby and a grandmother, all living in a nicely fitted-up shack in the garden. They are strangers, refugees from the London blitz, and as cheery a party as you could wish to find, though they've lost everything. Yesterday they saw me in the bus and waved with burbles of delight, and wee Stella-Anne gurgled at me over the back of the seat. She is the dearest mite with an oval, rosy face, fluffy hair and round, bright eyes, and that is the baby who at five weeks old, was literally buried under the ruins of an Anderson shelter ! The mother was stunned and remembers very little of it; the father, who wasn't hurt, groped his way out of the ruins and began to hunt madly for the vanished Stella-Anne. And presently he saw, peeping out from a pile of rubble, a tiny heel.

She was unhurt, by a miracle. It quite touched me when she gave me that little gurgle of greeting yesterday. The sheer drama of the thing came to me so sharply. What a story she will have to tell in years to come !

And that wasn't her only adventure, bless her heart. A few weeks later the house was hit by blast; Stella-Anne was being carried across the room in a shawl when it happened — and the mother, straggering against the wall, suddenly realized that she was holding an empty shawl. The baby had been blown clean out of it and was lying in a corner. Well, I hope she'll be safe here. The poor young mother, of course, is still suffering from shock and finds it difficult to sleep, but she says: "I'll get over it all right." No moaning and grumbling there. Wonderful people.

Emergency Operation

My kind friends too have distinguished themselves in yet another way. One day I turned up at the store and saw a strange face on the other side of the counter. Anxious inquiries elicited the fact that the proprietor's sister — a dear soul — had been whisked off to hospital, dangerously ill, for an emergency operation. The brave creature had been struggling on for months, but it had got her down at last. I snatched a bit of time in my lunch-hour, when she was off the danger list, and rushed round to the hospital. She was almost tearfully pleased to see me, but I guessed that she was worried about her convalescence. After all, when you run a little store, with the shop door-bell ringing every two-minutes, what are you to do for rest? Where can you go? I mentioned it to my friends the next time I saw them, and they said: "Oh, that's all fixed up. She's coming here." The next time I saw her she was tucked up in bed in the pretty little room I had, and being looked after as if she were an Empress.

How can one shout loudly enough, the praises of such kind and lovely folk? They are not people, either, who might be supposed to understand the inner meaning of hardship. It is just that they are the salt of the earth — people with enough imagination to put themselves in the other fellow's shoes.

Round the Piano

I have been sampling a new delight during the past week. There is on ex-restaurant near here (I say "ex" because lunches and dinners are now "off") where they have an excellent piano; and the proprietor allowed me to try it out the other night. It's years since I had a piano of my own, and my fingers were about as responsive as a pound of sausages. . . but it comes back gradually. And one by one people drifted in and we sat around, playing the old songs and the old classics, and one woman with a very fine voice sang. There is something about a good piano which is a magnet: the wrong sort of people drift off because they don't fancy anything outside the "hot-cha" category; the others look at each other with friendly eyes and make suggestions that call up lovely memories—and so the time races on, and when one next looks at the clock it is some awful hour and one really ought to be in bed. Then we part promising to meet again and feeling that life has allowed us, for once in a while, to pull something good out of the bag.

The same sort of thing happened to me in New York. I was alone in that hotel, and one day I heard somebody downstairs playing really well on a first-rate grand. I drifted nearer and nearer — and the friendly look passed. After that three of us met regularly and "swopped" musical remembrances, and it made all the difference. Music means a lot to us in these times, you know, and I suppose I shall always remember these evenings at the local piano. I have a feeling that they are going to stand out as something fresh and bright and companionable in a bad patch.

Exiles in France

And that reminds me of a queer little memory I have of a walking-tour in France, before all these horrid things happened to that unhappy land. I was right in the heart of Normandy one day, and I dropped into a tiny wayside inn. It was a low-roofed, bare place with a stone floor; the sun shone through on a row of tables, and in one corner sat a party of four men. Madame la Patronne brought me an omelette and a hunk of new bread, and while I was lingering over it the four men in the corner — there was nobody else in the place — began to sing. It was a wild, strange song in a language I did not understand, and their four-part harmony was fine. The whole thing had a queer, haunting quality and I knew then that there was something I shouldn't forget. The little Patronne slipped over to me and whispered in French: "These gentlemen are Russians. Exiles. They are singing the songs of their country.

I wonder how many people, in these days, are singing such songs, beating time and looking into the past with that very expression in their eyes? Whenever I hear a Polish choir on the radio I think of that little sunny room in Normandy. In this little Island there must be thousands of such people, finding comfort in the music of their country. I hope we shall never make them too shy for that. We don't mean to make people shy; it is, I think, just that we are a trifle shy ourselves. But we're coming on. Oh yes ! we're coming on. When comparative strangers stop you in the street and offer to nurse you and do your shopping for you. . . Indeed, we've gone a long way. And what more can one want?

The Budgeteer

By Lois Moore

Recently we discussed budget buying in relation to clothes. This week we'd like to go a step farther and discuss with housewives, actual and prospective, what they would watch for when they are shopping for staples.

In the first place, in regard to all staples, we should take into consideration the linen shortage. It is very difficult to get linen at all in this country today, and it is very likely that when the present stock is exhausted that there will be little if any more. Consequently, the merchant that advertises part linen, part cotton, should be queried as to linen percentage. It may be the border of tea towel, or the hem of a sheet, no more. Naturally, we cannot avoid the shortage, but don't be overcharged for something you are not getting.

For table linen, this applies doubly. However, excellent substitutes for linen are mercerized cotton damasks, or cotton and rayon fabrics. The cotton damasks are better wearing, but the blends have a very attractive appearance. All rayon table linen will wear out quicker than the others, and should be watched for color-fastness. Some artificial silks take dyes much better than others, and the cheaper ones are liable to fade quickly. If you get proper washing directions, however, this can be avoided.

Always, when buying table linen, have on hand the exact measurements of your table. So much money is wasted on bargains which never look right on a too-small table or too-large table. Find out the exact size of the cloth, and napkins, too.

Bed linen is more difficult to buy. Beware of bargains in sheets and pillow cases, since, if they are shoddy fabrics, they won't stand the strain of weekly washing. Dampen the fingers and rub the article to see if it has much filling. If it appears very starched, beware. Find out exact sheet sizes before you buy. Short sheets are worse than a bad buy, and small pillow cases will rip if you stuff a big pillow in them. You might check on the size of your own cases before you start out.

If you are buying your first linens, buy hemstiched sheets for the top sheets, and hemmed sheets at a less cost for the under sheets. Check on borders, and see that they have a good salvage. Find out if the sheets are torn or cut. Torn sheets will keep their shape . . . cut sheets will pull and wear faster.

The difference between bleached and unbleached sheeting is just what the name describes. It is better to buy a good unbleached than a cheap bleached, since they will whiten considerably with washing, anyway.

Our enterprising cousins to the south have a sheet with a heavy band woven right down the centre at the chief point of strain, like a middle salvage. We haven't seen them here, as yet, but if enough people were to ask for them, who knows?

St. Lawrence Ducks Are Busy for Eiderdowns

Ottawa, Oct. 1 (CP) — Eider ducks on the Gulf of St. Lawrence's northern shore had a productive breeding season this year and the eiderdown industry benefitted accordingly, the Department of Mines and Resources reports. Eiderdown is regarded as a high-class insulating commodity for manufacture of comforters and quilts, interlining of coats and other domestic uses.

Judge W. T. Horton, of Jackson, Mississippi, rapped out "one dollar fine" to a motorist accused of violating the traffic laws, without looking up from his desk.

A few minutes later he had to dive into his pocket to produce the dollar fine. The motorist was his wife.

RESORTS PLAN A 70-MILE TRAIL IN THE LAURENTIANS

St. Jerome to Mont Tremblant, Over Old Lumber Roads Now in Existence

A 70-mile bridle path, from St. Jerome to Mont Tremblant, will be ready for use by next summer, according to W. Harrison, president of the Laurentian Resorts Association.

Undertaken by the association as a new departure in tourist attractions, the bridle path will be laid out in such a way as to take advantage of as much of the scenic beauty of the Laurentians as possible, it was stated. By using a number of old lumber roads and trails now in existence, very little actual cutting is expected to be necessary.

Members of the Resorts Association are planning to make a trial ride over the projected trail-site sometime towards the end of the month. Several sportsmen of the district have already subscribed $300 towards the plan and Jean Paul Rolland has offered to lay out and complete the part of the trail between St. Jerome and Ste. Adele.

Present plans call for hotel and stabling accommodation to be arranged so that a day's ride need not be more than 15 or 20 miles.

CURB ON INSTALMENTS TO INCREASE PRIVATE SAVINGS, CONSERVE LABOR, MATERIALS

IMPETUS TO SHIPBUILDING, LAUNCHING OF LARGEST VESSEL EVER BUILT IN CANADA FIRST OF 150 FREIGHTERS FOR GT. BRITAIN

— THE WEEK IN OTTAWA —

Specially Written for The Watchman

By ALAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Oct. 13 (CP) — Tighter controls over the pocketbooks of Canadian citizens have been taken by the government through new restrictions curbing instalment buying and borrowing.

The government's agent in putting these curbs into effect was the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, senior price-policing agency which has authority over terms and conditions under which goods may be sold in the Dominion.

To the average Canadians, the two most important regulations of the 14 made public at the week-end were the following :-

The down payment on any of the goods affected by the regulations must be at least a third of the cash price, and in no case less than $10. The balance must be paid in full within a year, and no monthly payment may be less than $5.

The minimum down payment on automobiles must be 50 per cent of the cash price, the balance to be paid in full within a year or 18 months depending on the purchasing price.

Purpose of Regulations

The new regulations were described as having a dual purpose—to increase the savings of the Canadian people and thus make more of the National income available for the war effort and to increase the quantities of materials and labor available to war industry.

Finance Minister Ilsley said the restrictions would mean that civilian purchases would be "postponed rather than prevented," and it was obvious he meant the aim was to postpone them until after the war.

The intimation was strong in Mr. Ilsley's statement that more moves with similar aims could be expected for he said :

"The restriction on instalment buying and borrowing is one of a series of steps to combat the inflationary tendencies arising from the competition between civilian demands and war equipment for available supplies of materials."

Shipbuilding Impetus

During the week Munitions Minister Howe announced that Canada will make an effort to produce 100 cruiser and infantry tanks for shipment to Russia before the end of the year. The tanks would be manufactured in the Angus shops at Montreal, and the Montreal Locomotive Works and would be "over and above" Canada's ordinary production schedule.

The largest ship ever built in Canada — the 9,300-ton Fort Ville Marie — was formally launched at Montreal in a ceremony attended by the munitions minister and Mrs. Howe and H. R. MacMillan, president of Wartime Merchant Shipping Ltd. It is the first of 150 freighters which Canada will build to supplement Britain's merchant beet.

Mrs. Howe christened the Fort Ville Marie, and Mr. Howe said Canada's program is expected to duplicate Britain's 1942 output of cargo ships. He added that since the wartime shipbuilding program was started, "not one hour of time has been lost in any shipyard through industrial dispute between employers and workmen."

Earlier in the week Prime Minister Mackenzie King visited the Dominion arsenal's great new cartridge-making plant in Quebec where he watched highly-skilled workers preparing powerful explosive charges in one of the continent's greatest small arms ammunition plants.

Balancing Manpower

Amendments to national war services regulations containing positive directions for balancing the manpower needs of industry and the armed forces were annouced. A new regulation directs boards to consider the supply of available labor and the importance of the applicant's occupation to the national economy in deciding on applications for postponements of compulsory military training for men in seasonal occupations or occupations deemed essential to the successful prosecution of the war.

Previously the boards could grant postponements only in industries of declared seasonal character, such as farming and lumbering. This power is now extended to cases fo men deemed essential for the "successful prosecution of the war or in the national interest."

HUNTER GETS LOST, SPENDS NIGHT IN BUSH

MAN STARTS DEER-CHASE AT ST. COLUMBAN, EMERGES NEAR LAKEFIELD

TRAMPED TEN HOURS IN BUSH COUNTRY

Losing his bearings in pursuit of a deer which he had wounded, Louis Mongeau, a Montrealer, gave four hunting companions an anxious 24 hours while he plodded his way through the woods between Lakefield and St. Columban on Sunday.

Mongeau, an employee at Montreal's Fire Headquarters, left on the hunting trip early Sunday morning. Near St. Columban, he and his four companions separated and took to the woods, agreeing to meet on the road again for lunch in a few hours.

Catching sight of a deer at about 11.30 a.m., Mongeau fired and apparently wounding the animal, started chasing it. A half hour later, having lost sight of the deer, he suddenly realized that he had also lost his way.

"I wasn't worried, though," he said later. "I had plenty of cigarettes and matches, and enough cookies in my pockets to last me some time, and I knew I could find a trail and find my way out."

This he did, but only after some 10 hours' walking and spending the night in an old shack which he found along a forsaken trail. While his friends searched for him in the vicinity of St. Columban, Mongeau emerged from the woods at Lakefield, about 10 miles farther west, early Monday morning and, making his way to the village, hired an auto which took him back to his friends.

DIES AT ADVANCED AGE OF 96 YEARS

St. Andrews E. — The funeral of Mme Treffé Charlebois was held on Saturday morning, Oct. 11th, from St. Andrews Church. Mme Charlebois, who had attained the advanced age of 96 years last August, passed away very peacefully at the home of her daughter, Mme Jos. Moderie, with whom she had been living, at River Rouge.

FOUR INJURED AT RAILWAY CROSSING

On their way to work in Ste. Therese early Tuesday morning, four Montrealers escaped serious injury when the car in which they were riding crashed into the side of a freight engine at the first crossing east of St. Martin's Junction.

According to reports of the accident, the driver of the car, who was said to be Guillaume Latour, 45, saw the train coming but was unable to stop the car, which slid into the side of the C.P.R. engine. The crossing is equipped with the wig-wag warning system accompanied by a bell, which was reported in operation at the time.

The four victims were taken to Montreal hospitals suffering a variety of injuries. Latour sustained a probable fracture of the right knee. With him was Miss Leonida Leclair, 22, who received cuts on the head and a bruised right ankle.

The third victim, Mrs. A. Bergeron, 38, suffered severe head injuries.

The fourth occupant of the car, Miss Marguerite Cantin, is under observation to determine the extent of her injuries.

COSTLY IRRIGATION

Los Angeles (CP — The Central Valley irrigation and flood control project now under way in California will cost $264,000,000.

95 YEARS OLD, ARUNDEL LADY KNITS 24 PAIRS SOCKS IN THREE MONTHS

Arundel — Mrs. Wm. Thomson celebrated her 95th birthday here on Sunday, Oct. 12th, when many kind friends called on her to offer their good wishes for a happy birthday.

In the last three months, Mrs. Thomson has knitted 24 pairs of socks for the Red Cross Society.

CHURCHILL THANKS CANADIAN RED CROSS

The heavy programme of duties which rests on the broad shoulders of the Prime Minister Winston Churchill as the war-time leader of the British people has not prevented him taking notice of the important work which the Canadian Red Cross Society is doing in Great Britain.

A recent communication, in which he paid tribute to "the high quality of the clothing sent" and to "the energy and devotion with which it has worked on behalf of the many thousands of people in Great Britain", has been received by the Canadian Red Cross Society.

The Prime Minister's message reads as follows: "The Canadian Red Cross Society has won the gratitude of many thousands of people in Great Britain for the energy and devotion with which it has worked on their behalf. The quality of the clothing sent from Canada has been universally admired; its quantity has been as remarkable. Civil defence workers and fire fighting services have shared with innumerable air - raid victims welcome supplies of clothing, blankets, food and medical equipment that have reached these shores.

"In their name I thank all those who have contributed with such tireless generosity to this humane work."

Psychology Vetoed

Mount Holly, Pa. (UP) — At a board meeting held to discuss means of slowing traffic and reducing accidents in Burling County, Free-holder LeRoy Church produced a bit of real, aged-in-the-wood down-to-earth psychology. Church recommended the posting of signs reading "Free Beer, Stop Here" at dangerous intersections. An unappreciative board settled for the usual "Dangerous Crossing" legend.

ILLITERACY DEPLORED BY LOCAL AUTHORITY IN "Y.W." DISCUSSION

SERIOUS SITUATION IN SOME AREAS OF QUEBEC NOTED BY MRS. G. F. W. KUHRING

DISCUSSION IN Y.W.C.A. MEMBERSHIP

Evidence of a disturbing state of illiteracy in certain rural areas of the province was cited Tuesday night by Mrs. G. F. Kuhring — until recently a resident of Lakefield and for years educational convenor of the Quebec Women's Institute. Mrs. Kuhring spoke on the topic of compulsory education at a meeting of the Y.W.C.A. membership.

Sharing leadership in the discussion, were Mrs. Stalker, member of the Protestant Committee, and Miss Beryl Truax, president of the Montreal Women Teachers' Federation, under the chairmanship of Mrs. T. B. Hughes, convenor of the Y.W.C.A. Educational Committee.

Mrs. Kuhring cited instances of munition factory employers being unable to hire much local labor because of the inability of the applicants to read signs or printed instructions; and of the necessity to revamp a whole six-weeks farm boys' course, so that it might be given along oral lines, because the candidates were unable to read printed instructions and literature intelligently.

"The situation is much more serious than would appear on the surface," Mrs. Kuhring stated, as she told of results of her experience in Women's Institute work throughout 25 Quebec counties. In five districts where the speaker investigated more thoroughly a typical finding was the case of one school where the enrolment was 17, and in a careful study of the locality it was found that with attendance of every child of school age, the enrolment would have been 31. Such a condition does not take into account, it was pointed out, the irregular attendance of those enrolled.

In introducing the question, Mrs. Hughes said that "as long as we do not have compulsory education we are denying that equality of education to our children, at least to a certain age, without which it is impossible to have that trained and reasoned judgment necessary in a democracy."

Federation of Mayors Studies Allowances for Soldiers' Dependents

Ottawa, Oct. 7 (CP) — Views of leaders in the Canadian Federation of Mayors on the adequacy of allowances paid soldiers' dependents will be obtained, with a submission to the Federal Government as a possible sequence, according to Mayor Stanley Lewis, Federation president.

Mayor Lewis said he had asked a Toronto City Council committee group studying alleged inadequacy of allowances for soldiers' dependents to send him their brief, which will be transmitted to the executive of the Mayors' Federation.

Mayor Lewis said that, if the executive agrees, he is willing to take the matter of soldiers' dependents' allowances to the Federal Government. Mayor William Morrison, of Hamilton, has already expressed the view that the matter is one for federal authorities.

TO CO-OPERATE WITH GOVT. IN AVERTING UNNECESSARY RISE IN COST OF LIVING

ALL BUSINESSES HANDLING FOODSTUFFS OR CLOTHING NEEDS MUST APPLY FOR LICENSE

Ottawa — Departmental and country general stores, large hotels and soda bars, manufacturers and auctioneers, every person and firm in Canada manufacturing or dealing in food, feeds, livestock, poultry, yarn, cloth, clothing or footwear must secure a license from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board by December 1st of this year.

After that time, no unlicensed person or firm may buy for resale, handle, or sell any of those commodities.

More than 200,000 businesses are affected by this vast plan to set up the machinery necessary for policing prices and for securing speedy reports on available supplies in the event of wartime shortages. In the Lachute area, it is expected that over 100 persons and firms will soon be displaying on the door or window of their place of business the gold and blue certificate which shows the public that they have obtained their wartime license.

There is no license fee. License application forms will be distributed through the mail late this month and any businessman who is subject to the licensing order and does not receive an application form should apply for one at his post office.

Firms who, after consulting the licensing order, are still not certain on all points, should communicate directly with their Regional Licensing Director.

License application forms are easy to complete. All the applicant need do is place a check mark beside his type of business and the kinds of commodities he buys for resale, handles or sells.

Applications of persons conducting more than one place of business must be accompanied by a list showing the address of each establishment. If these places of business carry different legal names, separate applications must be made out.

"License cards and window transfers will be supplied to all whose applications are received and accepted," said Mr. Morphy, who is National Licensing Director, "and the display of this transfer on the window of an establishment will not only serve as an indication that the firm is licensed, but will also show the public that the licensee is co-operating with the government in its effort to avoid unnecessary increases in the cost of living."

A license identification card will be mailed to each licensee along with his window certificate.

Each license will receive a number, and after December 1, when any of the commodities named in the Licensing Order are bought for resale, both the seller's and the buyer's license numbers must be marked on the sales slip or other document which records the sale.

Under the Board's Licensing Order the following classes of persons, firms and corporations are required to secure a license by December 1, 1941 :

"Every manfacturer, processer, blender, packer, importer, exporter, wholesaler, jobber, retailer, manufacturer's agent, broker, commission merchant, auctioneer, warehouse operator, cold storage plant operator, co-operative buying organization, co-operative marketing or selling organization, producer who buys and sells the products of others, drover, huckster, or other person who buys the products of agriculture for re-sale, custom tailor, shoe-repair shop operator, public eating place operator, or other dealer who buys, sells, stores, ships, transports, distributes or otherwise deals in food products, aerated or mineral waters, mill feeds, feeds for livestock or poultry, clothing, headwear, yarn or cloth of cotton, linen, wool, silk, artificial silk or rayon, wool or cotton blankets, fur goods, hosiery, footwear, or boot and shoe findings."

License holders will be required to make reports if and when required by the Board. They must also notify the Director of Licensing in writing of any change in name, address, ownership, or character of the business within 10 days of the change. Failure to do this, will result in the suspension of the license.

The term "public eating place operator" applies not only to restaurant keepers, but also to railways, steamships, drug store and hotel proprietors if food is served in their places of business. Any person or firm who sells food, even if it is only chocolate bars, is subject to license.

Only group exempt from the far-reaching plan are those who serve as fountain-head for the nation's eating and clothing needs — the producers themselves. A farmer may sell his own eggs or butter or vegetables without a license and a sheep rancher may sell his wool.

While an individual farmer, gardener, livestock or poultry producer, or fisherman is not required to secure a license unless he buys for resale, all co-operative buying, selling, or marketing organizations and hucksters or drovers, who, on their own account, buy for resale or handle the produce of any primary producer, must obtain a Wartime Prices and Trade Board license.

"These licensing requirements are not designed to curtail business operations", pointed out C. R. Morphy, Director of Licensing. "By having every person who in any way handles the commodities named in the Order under the license, the board will have the machinery with which to make speedy checks on available stocks and to police more effectively any price fixing order which may be instituted."

Individual persons storing small quantities of the commodities named in the licensing order strictly for their own use, are not required to obtain a license. If these stored goods are, however, being kept for resale, their owner must secure a license.

GERMANY FALLS BEHIND

Stockholm (CP) — German trade deliveries to Sweden have fallen rapidly since 1939, making a rapid increasing deficit of the equivalent of $12,500,000 in the "trade clearing account" between the two countries.

MORE REPORTS, BEAR AND DEER PLENTIFUL IN LAURENTIANS THIS YEAR

Ste. Agathe — With bear and deer roaming to within shooting range of villages, visiting hunters and natives have been finding trophies easy to get since the start of the current hunting season.

According to reports gathered from various sections of the Laurentians during the past week, residents of outlying villages such as St. Adolphe and Ste. Lucie, as well as of Ste. Agathe, have been seeing more bear and deer than in previous seasons.

Recent forest and bush fires in many parts of the Laurentians are believed to have sent the animals towards populated areas in search of food, with the result that there have been many "bags" lately. One local resident has already got himself three bears and several others have bagged either a deer or a bear in the past week.

Lions to Enlist Public Support In Their Patriotic Undertaking -- Smokes For Soldiers Overseas

DANCE AND DRAWING TO FURNISH THE FUNDS NECESSARY

RELATIVES ASKED TO KEEP LIST COMPLETE

For almost a year now the Lachute Lions Club has been performing a worthy task in supplying cigarettes to Argenteuil boys serving with the forces overseas. Many acknowledgments have come, by letters and postcards, appreciating these gifts, and the general reaction among the boys is such that the Club intends to carry on this good work and send monthly shipments for the duration of the war.

The Club's treasury, however, boasts only a sufficient amount to cover the next two months' supply. The committeemen in charge have therefore planned means of raising more funds to fill the need. They have arranged a dance to be held at the Lachute Golf Club premises on November 21st, and are also staging a public drawing, to be county-wide, in which substantial prizes are offered including a divan couch, an electric clock, Ayers blankets and war savings stamps. The booklets of five 25-cents tickets will be circulated shortly; selling by the book, they will be priced $1 each.

By these means the Lions hope to raise a $1,000 objective in order to carry on the shipments of cigarettes to which the Club has committed itself.

The list of servicemen overseas has been previously published in these pages. These men, numbering 59, are all receiving the Lions Club gifts; but the committee wishes to have the name and address of any man who has been overlooked. In order that the list may be complete, relatives here are asked to forward this information either to The Watchman or to Mr. Chas. Walker, Lachute Mills.

It may be further noted that, as The Watchman is represented in the Lions Club membership, the same men are receiving regular copies of this newspaper as a goodwill gesture from the publishers.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS OBSERVE INITIATION TO DEGREES OF ORDER

H. LAVIGNE, GRAND KNIGHT OF LOCAL COUNCIL, PRESIDES

MEMBERS OF SHERKROOKE COUNCIL ATTEND

The local Council of the Knights of Columbus held initiation ceremonies last Sunday under the direction of the Grand Knight, H. M. Lavigne.

A parade was held in the morning to St. Julien Church, where service was held and the sermon was given by Father A. Hébert, professor at the University of Ottawa.

The first degree was conferred at the Auditorium in the early afternoon by the local Council under the direction of Fast District Deputy J. E. Dumais; the second degree was conferred by Georges H. Héon; and the conferring of the third degree was conducted by Dr. J. E. Laurence, assisted by members of the Sherbrooke Council.

After these rites of the Order, a banquet was held in the Auditorium.

Most of the K. of C. Councils of the Montreal, Ottawa and Sherbrooke districts were represented, and there was a large attendance of the members.

2 TOWNSMEN FETED ON EVE OF MARRIAGE

Two popular young citizens were honored last week by their friends, prior to entering the benedict ranks. Georges Lefebvre was guest of honor at a soiree in Lachute Auditorium on the evening of October 7th, and Lloyd Cruise was similarly feted by his friends at a chicken supper on October 9th at Fournier Hotel, St. Andrews. The former was presented with a chest of silver, and Mr. Cruise received three handsome Ayers blankets. These functions were largely attended.

Both have taken part in the youthful enterprises of this town, and in past years have played on the same hockey team.

Georges was married last Thursday to Miss Doria Dion, Lachute, while Lloyd Cruise was wed Saturday afternoon to Miss Grace Lavia, also of this town.

5-MTHS. BABY IS SUFFOCATED IN ITS SLEEP

ACCIDENTAL DEATH IS CORONER'S VERDICT IN WEIR CASE

CHILD IS SMOTHERED, ALONE IN BEDROOM

Death was pronounced accidental in the case of Laurier Valois, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Valois, Weir, Que., who was found suffocated in his bed on Wednesday morning. The discovery was made by his mother, who went to the child's room at 9 o'clock, but indications were that he had died in the earlier hours. Lying partly on his face the baby, only five months of age, had evidently been smothered by the bedclothes with which its head had become covered. Dr. Turcotte was summoned from the village, but the infant was pronounced dead.

Enquiring into the fatality, Dr. W. F. McMartin, of Lachute, district coroner, learned that, although it had not been customary for the child to sleep alone, on the night of the tragedy there had been no one else in the bedroom. The little victim was in his usual good health when put to bed Tuesday night, the mother stated.

Besides the dead boy there were a number of children in the Valois family.

Saskatchewan Town Believed Unique

Saskatoon, Oct. 2 — Melville, in eastern Saskatchewan, is the first town in Canada, and probably the first in the world, where the entire population has been examined for tuberculosis.

Using new photographic equipment, by which images shown in fluoroscopic examination are recorded on moving picture film, a clinic of the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League has now finished examining more than 4,000 residents of the town.

The "pictures" will be projected on a screen for detailed study later.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD BUDGETS REDUCED

No Banquets These Days for Guests, And Personal Expenses Kept Down

London, Oct. 1 (CP) — Wartime economies applied in the Royal Household reduced expenses during last year by the equivalent of $100,000.

Staffs have been reduced at Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle and ration allowances are observed just as in the homes of all Britons. The simplest meals are observed. Even when the Royal family entertains important guests, there are no banquets nor elaborate food displays.

The king and Queen have bought few new clothes since the start of the war either for themselves or the Princesses.

During the First Great War, the late King George V gave the equivalent of at least $450,000 to war charities from savings on his privy purse. The present King receives no great expense allowance for his privy purse and the Queen has no separate State allowance.

Princess Elizabeth whose income represents the equivalent of about $27,000 a year gets only $1.25 weekly for pocket money and contributes from it regularly to War Savings.

Autumn Planting for Early Spring Blooms

It's Nature Own System and Pays in Results Next Year

Ottawa, Oct. 13 (CP) — A time to reap and not to sow. As reasons go, that has been the traditional concept of autumn.

But the canny Canadian gardener who would team up with Dame Nature and steal a march on his neighbor's flower bed will sow seeds and plant bulbs this fall — and fall planting means October and November.

Here are some gardening hints :

Plant as many hardy bulbs as the pocketbook will allow.

Set out hardy, deciduous shrubs, trees and vines.

Cover late outdoor flowers to protect from frost.

Burn tops of plants that may carry over disease or insects.

Stake all newly planted trees to prevent heaving or blowing over.

Clean up the garden.

Oh, yes, and did we say plant grass now? Certainly, grass likes cool weather and weeds don't.

1942 GARDEN PESTS SHOULD BE BLITZED IN FALL CLEAN-UP

Flower and Vegetable Gardens Should Be Cleaned Out

Ottawa, Oct. 14 (CP) — Horticulture and agriculture experts warn that gardens should be cleaned up in the autumn as an insect-control measure.

"Clean-up has come to be looked upon as an annual activity by most growers, although the temptation is to put off this chore until spring," the department said in a recent statement. "This delay is a mistake for many reasons but chiefly because it favors survival of different species of destructive insects which normally would be destroyed if crop remnants had been gathered up and burned in the previous autumn."

Many insects in different stages of development hibernate in, or under debris lying on the ground surface in the garden, it said.

In Ontario and Quebec this year the hot, dry summer experienced was "very favorable" to rapid growth and development of insects. "As a result, populations have built up to a point far in excess of the normal year," the department said. "Clean-up is, if possible, more important than is usually the case and should receive special attention."

Annuals should be pulled up by the roots, perennials cut as low to the ground as may be done with safety, all dead leaves raked up and dead limbs and twigs removed from trees and shrubs.

"Disposal of plant waste in autumn is good garden practice, assists materially in reducing insect populations, and should under no circumstances be neglected," the department added.

WHAT'S "WILTSHIRES" THAT BRITAIN ASKS?

Ottawa, Oct. 14 (CP) — The Bacon Board points out that the standard and preferred form of preparing pork for the British market is in the form of Wiltshire sides and all packers have precise and detailed instruction on how to prepare them. A Wiltshire side is more than the side of a pig. It is a practically whole half pig. It is made by splitting the carcass down the back, cutting off the head just back of the ears and cutting off the feet about the knees.

Sheet Glass Now Made in Canada

When the German hammer smashed at the Lowlands, the glass industry — like many others — became a refugee. The glass-makers sailed to Canada, bringing with them their ancient heritage, and European skill was wedded to the Dominion's resources to create a new industry in this country. Early this summer the only glass factory in the Dominion at present producing window and heavy drawn glass in sheet form was opened by the Industrial Glass Works Company Limited in the Town of St. Laurent on the outskirts of Montreal.

The actual process of manufacturing glass is as strange and wonderful as any tale of mediaeval alchemists searching for gold in bubbling cauldrons. A group of raw materials, such as silica sand, salt cake, soda ash, limestone and cullet (broken or waste glass), is transformed from a molten mass into a thin, transparent sheet which withstands the corrosive effects of the elements and at the same time permits the passage of light. Patient research and chemical analysis in the control of processes and raw materials have made possible the mass production of modern window glass, virtually free from flaws and distortion, according to an article by Vic Baker in the September of C-I-L Oval.

In view of the fact that before the war Canada imported more than seventy per cent of its glass from Belgium, the transfer of this industry is a distinct gain for Canadian industry as a whole. Two hundred Canadian workers — all trained in the past few months by skilled Belgian craftsmen — will contribute much in their production output to the wartime domestic needs of Canadian homes, factories and the construction trade in general.

Insulation Seen As Modern Factor in Home Comfort

From earliest times, people in all parts of the world have sought to build their dwellings in such a fashion as to protect themselves against heat and cold and to improve the comfort of the occupants. Householders today attain comfort against the elements through the use of scientific insulating materials, rather than the crude methods of long ago.

Dwelling insulation has been instinctively practised by many different primitive peoples. South Sea Islanders keep cool in thatched huts constructed of dried sea grass. The home of the peasant of northern Europe, too, has a thatched roof, two feet thick, of woven and plaited straw, and as a further protection, had heavy walls made from clay and straw. In the Southwest desert, the Spanish missionaries learned to protect themselves from intense heat and cold by building their houses with adobe clay and straw walls and roofs of brush and clay."

Commenting on modern forms of insulation, Mr. W. M. Cottingham, distributor for Johns-Manville products in this area, stated: "Today science and research have come to the aid of the home owner in the insulation of his dwelling. Rock wool, one of the most efficient insulating materials known to the building industry, can be 'blown' with pneumatic machinery into the hollow walls and the ceiling of a home with little inconvenience to the occupants of the house, and at very moderate cost."

Mr. Cottingham reports that the year round comfort achieved with efficient insulation is one of the chief factors in the decision of householders to have their homes insulated. "Rock wool insulation, installed by the modern pneumatic method, makes the home warm and comfortable during the cold winter months, and keeps rooms up to 15 degrees cooler on the hottest summer days. Experience has shown, too, that up to 30 per cent can be saved on the winter's fuel bills by this efficient insulation."

Seeing's Believing To Wartime Girls

London, Oct. 7 (CP) — Sergt. A. E. Buffin, formerly of the Grenadier Guards, didn't take long to persuade 68 girls who refused to engage in war work to change their minds. He pointed to his shoulder and said: "I have a life pension. A Prussian Guard was coming at me. I had not a bullet left in my rifle. He got me here. You wouldn't want your husband or your sweetheart to face a German without a bullet in his rifle."

The girls signed up.

WRITTEN SPECIALLY FOR C.W.N.A NEWSPAPERS
By JOHN ATKINS, Farmer-Journalist

No. 2 — EVERYONE'S PROBLEM

Every Canadian has a farm problem. "My farm problem?" the town Canadian asks. "Yes farm problem." You may not know farming. You may not know how to milk a cow or harness a horse. You may think that a double-tree is a lawn shrub. But you have a farm problem nevertheless.

You and your family need food. Your armed forces need food. Your British kin need food. The world needs food. Food will buy and keep the peace in the end. Your farm problem is the need for food.

How can town people deal with the farm problem? They can deal with it by understanding it — by aiding all those who are working toward the solution of it.

There was a time in Canada when there was no economic farm problem like that of today. Before the first Great War there was a good balance between urban and rural life in Canada. It was a time of easy understanding and good understanding. Cities and towns were relatively small. Every Canadian knew and understood urban life and farm life.

It was a time when people chose to live on farms or in towns because of their personal tastes. The same amount of money and equal industry and skill would produce similar returns in the towns and on the farms.

It was not a time when city people got two or three times as much for their work and for their capital as they do in cities today. While the ten hour day has changed to the eight hour day, and the sixty hour week has shortened to the forty-eight or the forty or the thirty-six hour week in cities, the twelve to sixteen hour day and the seven day week have remained in full effect on the farm the year round.

Then why do people stay on farms? The answer is that they don't and they won't when work is available in the cities as it is now. The young people leave the farms when they can lead an easier, better-paid life in the city. A food supply problem that has been acute since early summer is the lack of farm help. Every day appeals were issued for more help to save the crops. Thousands of town young people across Canada have learned something of the farm problem at first hand by doing farm work in their holidays.

This casual labor has been of great value to the war effort and the farmers are grateful for every hour of the work done, but farm production cannot be maintained with casual or unskilled labor. It must be worth while for farm boys and girls and skilled farm workers to stay on the farms and produce food if we are to keep production abreast of need.

The cost-of-living bonus which is being paid by order of the government to industrial workers is based on the highest wages paid from 1926—1940. Thus urban workers are receiving the highest wage rates ever paid to them and with full time employment and much overtime their pay envelopes are fatter than they have ever been before.

No such condition exists for farmers. The higher urban wages have increased the cost of what farmers buy and, despite increases in the prices of food, farmers are still receiving less net income than they received in 1926-1929.

The immediate food supply problem is to restore the balance between urban and farm incomes.

Challenge to Workers

In a broadcast to the U.S., Ernest Bevin, British Minister of Labor, who has so vigorously co-operated with Winston Churchill in combating Nazi aggression, discussed some of the reasons why labor is going all-out to beat Hitler. Bevin's remarks should not be lightly forgotten; The Watchman gives space to their repetition . . .

"We, as you know, have been resisting a brutal military machine for two years. The Nazis have been plotting to get us down, simultaneously pretending that all they wanted was peace. I do not need to tell you how long it takes to manufacture the colossal number of war machines Germany has used and is using in this war.

"British Labor is fully conscious of the issues involved and we have set about the task, together with your help, of beating Hitler in the production field. We have set aside our usual methods involving strikes and so forth and found ways of settling our differences, because we are determined that production shall not be interrupted. This acceptance of responsibility through better industrial relations has resulted in disputes being at their lowest, and now while I am speaking to you there is not a dispute worth mentioning in Britain. Yet not only are the great trade unions intact but they are stronger than they ever were.

"You have had enough evidence of our determination to stick it out. Thousands of our people had scarcely a night in their beds for months. They are just ordinary folk who desire nothing better than to live in peace with others.

"Labor's aims are similar the world over. Not only the British Commonwealth and our Allies are involved in this war. You are making planes and munitions to rescue the peoples of the conquered countries from the clutches of the tyrant and prevent him from spreading his power over you as well as them.

"British Labor would not fight an imperialist war. Mussolini began the game of destroying trades unions, then he made Austria do the same. Hitler followed suit and smashed unions in each invaded country and then marked us down for destruction in turn. Well, we are not going down. We helped our brothers in Europe to resist and maintain intact their unions. But the storm broke in all its fury and took the course which the enemy now admits had been planned.

"We have had our bitter struggles but believe that the ultimate emancipation of the people depends on their right to work out their own destiny, stage by stage. Working people can never rise to their full stature under a system dependent upon autocracy or dictatorship. They must win it through a labor movement organized and united under a free democratic system. We all have our national characteristics but a great force unites us. The trade unions cut right across the factors that divide humanity. They unite all peoples irrespective of race, color or religion.

"Therefore, I put this challenge to all my fellow workers the world over: Can you leave one section of the great working classes to fight this battle alone? You know in your hearts that your future also depends upon a victory over Nazism. It is acknowledged that that victory depends on overwhelming supplies of all forms of war material. Surely the working people will not allow any disunity in their own ranks to hinder final victory over this monster who would destroy them. There must be united effort, mutual sacrifice and unremitting production if we are to share in victory and then join in the great task of world reconstruction. Again then, greeting, my friends, and an assurance that I have an enduring faith in your willingness to share the risks and to participate in the glory of what I believe will be the final triumph of democracy in the world."

Thanks to the C.C.F.

Many people who wouldn't like to admit that they were indebted to the C.C.F. assert that they believe in the conscription of manpower and wealth. It shows that ideas do get around. That particular idea was espoused and publicized by C.C.F. orators a few years ago. Now there is no one who will not agree with its soundness. The only hitch is that there is a little disagreement about the meaning of conscription of wealth. Some people contend that taxation now amounts to conscription of wealth, just as some people contend that the trainee scheme for men 21 to 24 years of age amounts to conscription of men for overseas service.

To our mind the idea is sound only as an argument against the conscription of manpower. It isn't fair to conscript men to risk their lives and not at same time conscript the capital of others who cannot fight, but it isn't practical to do that either. The idea is all right, but, unless unfairly restricted to idle money, it would mean the government assuming ownership of homes and businesses and all sorts of things that wouldn't be much help in winning the war.

Nationalization of industry to attain greater war efficiency or as a peace-time social program would be a very different thing from the "conscription of wealth." Real conscription of wealth as an immediate war measure is impractical and without it the conscription of men is unfair.

Not His Profession

The Canadian army has decided to make its own soap from the refuse at the various military camps. And apparently the plan is working out, but we remember one newspaperman who did not make much of a success at soap-making.

The way we heard the story was something like this: This publisher lived on the farm near the village where he published his newspaper, and one day he went to his mother and said: "Soap is costing us altogether too much; I believe we should make our own."

Of course, mother knew something about making soap — mothers know a lot about everything — so just to humor him she said: "That's a good idea, let me see what you can do."

And so the publisher went to town and gathered a lot of ashes which he put in barrels, and he poured water over the ashes to make the necessary lye. Then he got a big iron cooler somewhere and he dumped the fats from the family table into the cooler, poured in the lye and built himself a big fire under the cooler.

For several days and nights he kept that fire going and when he was just about fagged out, he was no nearer soap than when he started.

You see, he had collected "coal" ashes, instead of wood ashes, and lye made from coal ashes is not lye at all. And soap cannot be made without lye.

And so the publisher went to his mother, who could barely keep her face straight, and admitted that buying soap was much cheaper than making it.

The only difference between this story and the one about the Canadian army is that in the army there is an experienced soap maker.

By the way, soap-making is something that has become a lost art in this country since the pioneers have passed on. We remember when Canadians made their own soap and it was good soap too.

THIS RUSSIAN LED WORLD IN MODERN BLOOD TRANSFUSION

By PHILIP JORDAN, Moscow Correspondent to London News-Chronicle

Ten years ago in Moscow a dark young man with eyes like ripe Victoria plums and long thin fingers, ideal for a surgeon, began to experiment on the conservation of liquid blood for the purpose of transfusion. His name is Andre Bogdasarov.

Today he is the head of Russia's Central Institute of Blood Transfusion, the headquarters of a sort of gigantic trust with several head offices in the larger cities and more than 1,500 smaller branch offices scattered throughout the Soviet Union.

Since he first made available to the medical world the results of his primary researches — it was at the International Medical Congress in Italy — Russia has led the world in the science of blood transfusion, and he and his staff have consistently progressed in their attempts to save damaged lives by the introduction of new blood into the system.

Until the Russo-German war broke out seven complete research staffs were working at the Central Institute in Moscow, and because of them, many who might have died in Britain during the heavy air raids are now alive. The same is probably true of Germany also, for medicine knows no frontiers.

In those remote days of 1931 Bogdasarov presented six blood conservation recipes to the world, the first of which, he says, was used by Franco during the Spanish Civil War : Republicans used a more up-to-date method.

In this war the Soviet Union, where more is known about blood transfusion than in any other country in the world, the method of conservation preserves blood taken from the donor for between 30 and 35 days, provided that the conditions in which it is stored are ideal.

Ideal conditions mean a constant temperature of four degress centigrade and no shaking. Under conditions less ideal blood can be kept from 15 to 20 days. This is a great advance over the Spanish Civil War when, if memory serves me correctly, the Canadian Blood Transfusion Unit did well if they used blood ten days from the time it was drawn from the donor. The problem, to quote Lakin, was then only partially solved. Blood is now conserved with sodium and glucose.

Professor Bogdasarov's Institute began to experiment with plasma or dried blood two years ago. It looks like heavy demerara sugar, but it is not much more than featherweight. It is "undried" by the addition of distilled water.

In an emergency, plasma made 18 months ago is being used in this war, but Bogdasarov does not like to use it if he can help it, for plasma is not 100 per cent as good as newly drawn liquid blood.

The Central Institute has also experimented with the use of cadaver blood, that is to say, blood drawn from a dead person. It is not yet a satisfactory method of saving life and can only be used in an emergency, when conditions are "ideal." For a dead man's blood to be useful to the living it must be drawn off within 20 minutes of death and only from bodies which have not suffered externally.

If a doctor could ever get a supply of plasma or liquid blood drawn from living donors he would always use it in preference to cadaver blood, but conditions can easily be imagined in which the latter might save life.

It is always dangerous for a layman to write about medical subjects, but what I have written is substantially what Bogdasarov told me during a two hours tour of the Institute, through the mouth of his official interpreter.

When voluntary donors arrive at the Institute — and the main difficulty is not to find them but to regulate the traffic according to needs — they are given a cup of the sweetest tea and taken off to the operating rooms. Their health and blood groups have already been tested at stations either in their factories, clubs, institutes or homes, and they arrive with full particulars of themselves attached. These are re-checked. The blood is drawn in the spotless wards of the old house in the Novinsky Boulevard, re-checked again and the donor is given an extra dinner ticket on the way out.

Most donors are women and some of them seem to make a hobby of it. One strapping girl I saw was just arriving for the third time.

There is a daily dispatch of blood to the front. It is packed in shock-absorbing ice-boxes and carried by aeroplane to the front line distributing stations. This method of transport ensures conditions as ideal for conservation as it is possible to procure. It has already saved thousands of valuable lives in this war.

Baby Parking Stations

"Baby parking stations" are the latest innovation in war-time Britain, enabling married women with children to report for duty in factories and work-shops. The Queen's Canadian Fund's representative in London reports that the stations are being opened throughout industrial districts. Mothers who wish to sign up for factory work may register in their local districts and government representatives will select competent and registered persons to mind the children.

The plan is attracting hundreds of patriotic British mothers to war industries, releasing men to military tasks.

"The seats don't have to be together. We're not on speaking terms right now."

GERMAN-LED AUSTRIAN AND BULGARIAN ARMIES TOO STRONG FOR RUMANIANS IN TRANSYLVANIA

By H. H. GORDON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Rumania's entry into the war in August 1916 caused much apprehension in official circles of the Entente Allies with whom the little Balkan country threw in her lot. The misgivings were justified and by the middle of October the Rumanians were retreating in Transylvania and the Dobrudja before Austrian and Bulgarian armies.

When Rumania made the plunge the government's chief objective was to obtain Transylvania, then part of Hungary although its population was prodominantly Rumanian. The allies held the view that if Rumania expended her force on this purpose, her participation in the war might prove an embarrassment rather than a help.

While Rumania brought an additional 1,000,000 men to the Allied forces, trained leaders were lacking and the army had very little modern equipment. The Rumanians counted on the help of the Russian campaign in the Carpathians to the north to distract the Austrians and it was expected the advancing Allied expedition in Macedonia would hold the Bulgarians to the south.

At first all went well. The Rumanians overran southeastern Transylvania, but while this was going on Gen. Erich Von Falkenhayn, noted German militarist, was preparing the new Austrian 9th Army with the intention of driving their invaders back through the mountains into the Wallachian plains.

Force in Dobrudja

In Bulgaria, another German general, August Von Mackensen, was building up another army to operate south of the Danube and in the Dobrudja in the Black Sea area. The two armies were to converge on Bucharest, Rumanian capital.

Rumania's widely-scattered forces melted before Von Falkenhayn's drive and announcement was made Oct. 16, 1916, that the Austrians were in full control in Transylvania. At this stage the mountains and the wintry weather held up Von Falkenhayn for a time.

Meanwhile in the Dobrudja Von Mackensen's army smashed through to force the capitulation of Cernavoda and Constanta, Rumania's Black Sea port. Here the Bulgarians were held when strong Russian reinforcements were rushed to Rumania's assistance.

The Rumanians fought well, but their courage was no match for German strategy and the vastly superior equipment of the Austrian and Bulgarian armies. Later in the year Von Falkenhayn broke through the Vulcan Pass in the Transylvanian Alps and entered Craiova on the main Rumanian railway. The Bulgarians drove across the Danube and effected a junction with their Austrian Allies.

Bucharest fell on Dec. 5, 1916, and ultimately the Rumanian army made a stand in the northeastern province of Moldavia where it was reorganized under the protection of the Russian army.

SUCCESS AMUSING TO NEW "BEST SELLER"

Writes Big Volumes but Prefers to Read the "Small and Perfect Thing."

New York, Oct. 14 (CP) — Success makes stuffed shirts of some writers, and merely amuses others. Margaret Leech, who is also Mrs. Ralph Pulitzer, is one of the second kind. She wrote "Reveille in Washington" and fell into immediate success.

She is medium tall and of medium weight, but a few minutes with her sharply pointed conversation, and nobody would call hers a medium mind.

At her Grace Square home she had one more bath tub than she needs — she used it to hold her notes while writing. She wrote a big, thick book but her personal preference is for short, beautifully done books — "the small and perfect thing," as she expresses it.

Miss Leech has travelled a lot. She lives, as it were, in two worlds at once — New York and Washington. She has commuted between the two for five years.

To attend your own centenary, "Watch the road, not the scenery."

ENGLISH FOLK LEAD NEW KIND OF FREE-EASY LIFE; AUNTIE GETS KNOCKED DOWN

— By Margaret Butcher —

Here is another of those inimitable letters from Margaret Butcher, English novelist, which tells of the way in which ordinary, every day folks of the British Isles are accommodating themselves to the exigencies of war time. This letter was written specially for The Midland Free Press and The Lachute Watchman.

Reading, England — Yesterday I met a very charming old lady — though the manner of our meeting was not as fortunate as it might have been. In fact, her arrival at her niece's home caused us quite a bit of consternation. There was I, walking round the garden with my host, admiring the kale, commiserating about the onions, when out came his wife and whispered: "Auntie's come back. She's had an accident. She's been knocked down by a bicycle."

It is ludicrous that, with so much happening, people can still be knocked down by bicycles. It seems to be the fate of poor old ladies. We hurried into the lounge — I was expecting I hardly know what: a battered and slightly hysterical victim, I think. But not a bit. There she sat in the most comfortable chair: a very frail old lady, pale and sweet, her black frock newly brushed, her thin hands quietly folded in her lap.

"Don't worry, please," she said. "It hasn't given me concussion or anything." All the same, there was a grim-looking bruise on her temple, and I couldn't help feeling been bawling about it quite considerably.

I left my host agitatedly dialing for a doctor, and when I called later Auntie was tucked up in bed, despite her protests.

Climbed Down Ladder

"She's brave, isn't she?" I remarked; and then they told me something else. Quite a lot of disagreeable things have happened to that old lady just lately. She has come from London where, on a certain dreadful night, she sat up listening to the sounds of the worst of blitzes. And then, when it seemed to be over . . . a direct hit, right on the block of flats where she lived. She had to climb down a ladder from the burning building and just got away with her life.

"The next day," said my hostess, "we looked out of the window and saw her walking up the path here, carrying a little handbag. It was all she had left in the world. She's hung on to that bag all through, with her bankbook and a few papers in it. And she's been with us ever since.

Several times lately I have seen her passing, pushing the baby in its perambulator, and looking as if nothing in the least alarming had ever happened to her. We had a little chat one afternoon, but it was all about the baby, I remember. There wasn't one single word about blitzes. So today, as a gesture of friendship, I ran round with my butter ration. It was very hard work to make her take it, but I won. Isn't it odd? There was a time when one would have popped in with a bunch of flowers, perhaps, or a magazine, but this coupon business has made all the difference. Now a ration of butter ranks as a handsome gift; and you can't tell me that it doesn't simplify like quite a lot !

Broken Biscuits

We are still a wee bit fussy at times, of course. Bersonally, I go on turning up my foolish nose at beef, parsnips and herrings in tomato sauce; yet who knows? I may be smacking my lips over all of it before we're through. There is the little matter of "broken biscuits," for example. There was a time when one regarded them as something the juveniles bought with that twopence; now we say to each other, in confidence: "My dear, I know where one can buy broken biscuits," and off we rush, hot-foot. And what's the matter with broken biscuits, anyway? At least they are perfectly fresh, and they'd be broken, anyway, as soon as one set teeth to them. Yes, we're shedding quite a lot of nonsense where food is concerned.

(Incidentally, where do the unbroken biscuits go? You can search me).

During our chat I discovered an affinity with my host and hostess. At his office, it appears, there are men with big gardens and all kinds of things to spare. Almost any morning somebody may say : "Could you do with a few carrots, old man?"

"So," explained my host, "I said, 'Don't bother to ask me, old chap. As long as it isn't parsnips bring it along.'"

Only this morning, for instance, I traded half a marrow for a little pot of home-made jam. And so we rub along, comfortably enough. This new free-and-easy business is working wonderfully. You don't have to be introduced any more : I don't anyhow. If I see somebody I like the look of — well, that's good enough. There is a word or two over a garden-fence, or in the local store, or in the bus, and from that moment it's plain sailing. At about the third meeting, possibly, one remembers to ask the person's name, but it's not important. Frankly, that suits me, and it's beginning to suit quite a lot of folk who, till now, had no idea what fun it is. Most of us have no spare cash, in these days, for amusements that must be bought. We get our amusement out of a talk and a cup of tea; we chuckle over our makeshift

Oil for Britain via Norway's Tankers

In this picture, the pipe lines are bringing precious oil ashore from a Norwegian tanker. The Norwegian merchant fleet, fourth largest in the world, is ranged on the side of the Allies. Norway's tankers, the finest and most up-to-date that sail the seas, bring nearly 50 per cent of the oil brought to Britain and other war zones — an enormous contribution to the war effort.

CANNED POULTRY FOR NEW EXPORT

Research Experts Develop Quality and Uniformity in Product

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Ottawa, Oct. 4 (CP) — Improved methods for canning poultry have been under investigation in the laboratories of the National Research Council for the past year. Developments have been made in packaging, handling of raw product, pre-cooking, handling and controlling strength of broth and jelly, and in the development of uniform product.

It is expected these developments will allow the marketing of superior quality canned product having all the food value and flavor of the original raw material, to meet a consumer demand for this type of product which has been evident for some time.

Program on production of canned poultry and canned poultry products has been in line with considerable work done in the storage, shipment and marketing of dressed poultry for domestic and export consumption.

Replacing Dressed

One purpose in the study of the canned product was to develop a commodity which would compare with fresh dressed poultry for shipment in export trade to replace to some extent the shipment of dressed poultry which is very difficult in some instances under present conditions.

Detailed experiments on the storage of eggs have been conducted recently. It has been possible to introduce a method of preserving eggs which will allow their shipment in non-refrigerated storage with a minimum loss of quality and with the prevention of mould and bacterial growth. Experimental shipments to test the efficiency of this treatment in export trade are now under way.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL IS HEARD AT FRONTIER WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Stresses Theme of Co-operation In Education of Child

Cushing — Frontier branch of the Women's Institute met Tuesday evening, Oct. 7th, at the home of Mrs. James Murdoch. It was Education Night, and a splendid address on "Co-operation in Education" was given by Mr. D. Staniforth, principal of Brownsburg Consolidated School, in which he first stressed co-operation of the school boards. Mr. Staniforth felt that more co-operation from these boards would be decidedly helpful. Visits to the school from members would be appreciated, also enquiries as to the progress of the work, the needs of the school, etc.

Co-operation of the teachers was another important factor. "A teacher", said Mr. Staniforth, "should carry her interest in her pupils beyond the work of the classroom, if she wishes to be a really efficient teacher. The teacher would find it helpful to meet the parents and find out about the child's home environment." Sometimes teachers render judgment too quickly. Mr. Staniforth believed that teachers should inspire personality and thoughtfulness in pupils. "Teachers do not realize the influence they have over the children's future," he said.

Parents also should co-operate with the teachers in sending their children to school properly cared for. Often children attended schools improperly nourished. Cleanliness, too, should be a factor worth considering, also friendly visits to the school. Children like to be noticed by older people. Teachers are pleased, too, with a little appreciation from the parents.

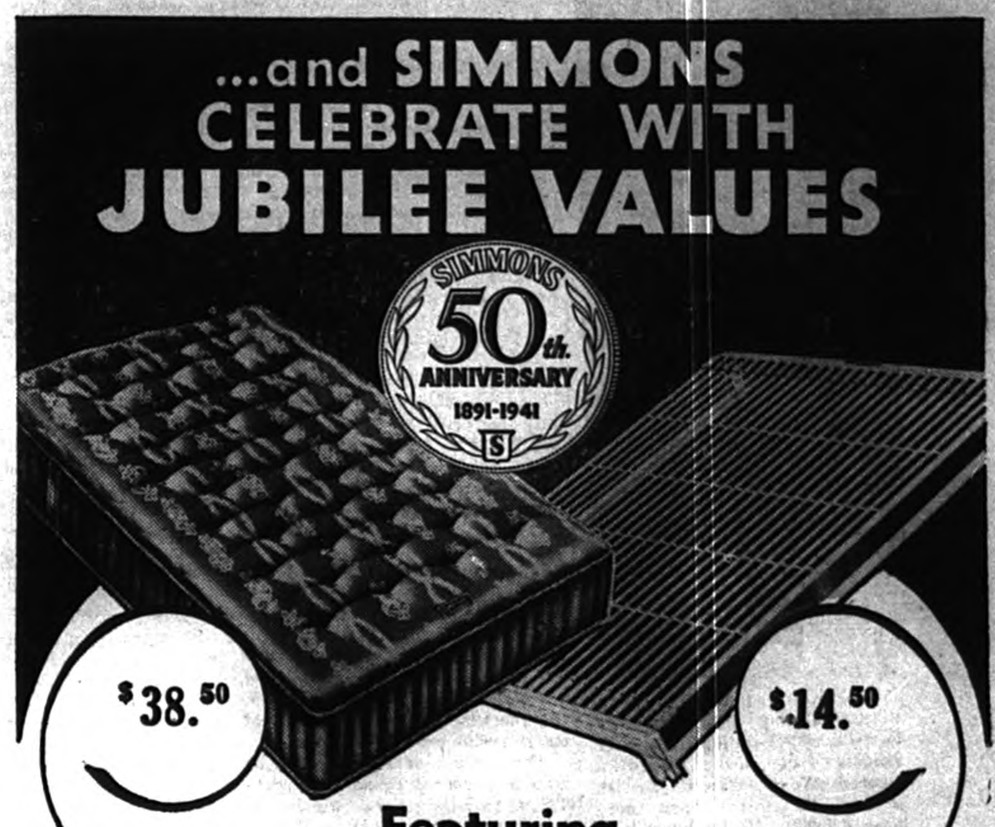

The fourth department in Mr. Staniforth's co-operation scheme was the organizations in connection with the community, and especially the Women's Institutes. They should strive to help the teen-age pupils as they leave school, by providing or helping provide recreation of some sort, to keep them interested and keep them off the streets. Not only by this way could the Women's Institutes help, but by friendly, personal contacts.

An interesting educational questionnaire followed Mr. Staniforth's address. —J. G.

WHEN SCIATICA OCCURS, TAKE DOCTOR'S ADVICE

Do you have shooting pains "running down the back of the leg?" If so, maybe you have one of the most disabling diseases of man — sciatica. This is a pain that attacks the sciatic nerve. When a person who has this trouble takes a well-meaning neighbor's advice and treats himself with pills that are supposed to "cure" the trouble, he ought to know that there is risk in such self-treatment, that there are more than fifty different causes for sciatica, and that treatment should be given only by a physician. The physician will determine just what is producing the trouble.

People with sciatica suffer from the disease because they will not take the necessary time from their work to effect a cure. They go about their duties with pain in the leg, and getting along as best they can.

According to Dr. Bernard J. Alpers of Philadelphia, pain along the sciatic nerve may be due to sciatic neuritis, a condition in which there is actual inflammation of the sciatic nerve, or to sciatic syndrome, a term emphasizing that the pain is actually only a symptom, which has many causes. The area along the sciatic nerve is tender. The person who has sciatica cannot extend his leg and any movement of the leg is painful.

This type of disorder may be produced by infections. It may be the result of a lack of vitamin B1. It may occur because of poisoning with some chemical substance, or it may develop in such conditions as gout or diabetes.

The treatment of sciatica is the same as for any form of neuritis, which is the giving of vitamin B1 in large amounts, either by injection into a muscle or by mouth, rest in bed, or the application of heat by means of electrical treatments, known as diathermy or radiothermy.

The pain of sciatica may be produced by some disturbance of the vertebrae, the small bones of the spine; by arthritis of the joints in the spine or infection of the spine, due to tuberculosis, or to tumors of the spine. Sciatica may also be the result of some disturbance in the hip joints, or of infection of the prostate gland. It may be produced by a hernia or rupture, by cancer of the ovaries or of the uterus or inflammation of the muscles in the buttocks. Poor posture, flat feet, overweight or poor nutrition may contribute to the development of sciatica. Men have this condition more often than women.

The disease usually comes on rather suddenly, the pain beginning in the region of the hip and extending downward into the thigh and knee. As a rule, the pain is constant, and from time to time it becomes more severe. Coughing, sneezing, walking or climginb stairs may all aggravate the pain.

When sciatica occurs it can be seen that a complete study is necessary so that the source of the difficulty may be discovered and the most effective treatment applied. This study should, of course, include X-rays of the spine, the hip joints and the pelvis. Study of the kidneys, prostate gland and the organs in the lower part of the abdomen is also important.

If the cause can be found and eliminated, the symptoms will disappear. However, while the search for the cause is being made, there are measures which can be employed to give relief. One of these is rest in bed. The discomfort is usually worse when the patient is moved about. Some relief may be obtained if the affected leg is kept partly bent on a pillow. Drugs like the salicylates are often given with benefit. A sedative drug, such as phenobarbital may be used, together with the salicylates. Heat applied by an infra-red lamp may be useful, although in some cases the heat may increase the pain. A careful search for infections in the teeth, tonsils, and sinuses should be made and if any are found they should be eliminated wherever possible.

In most instances a number of different forms of treatment are required to give relief. Occasionally, injections along the course of the nerve may be of value. In other cases some form of operative treatment may be required. However, with a careful study of the condition and the use of the many measures available, sciatica can, in most instances, be over-

SUPERFLOUS HAIR

"Has science discovered anything or any way to remove excessive hair so that it will not grow back? . . . Mrs. W."

Answer

The only satisfactory way of getting rid of hair permanently is by means of the electric needle. However, if there is a great deal of excessive hair present this treatment cannot be carried out satisfactorily because each hair root must be treated separately. Temporary removal by means of depilatories, which are chemical substances for removing hair, may be helpful in such instances. X-ray treatments for the removal of hair should not be employed.

Boils

"My twelve-year-old sister has been having one boil after another for about a year. What causes them? . . . L. J. E."

Answer

Boils probably develop because of lowered resistance to a type of germ commonly found in the skin, which is known as staphylococcus. In the treatment the general resistance of the body should be built up, a well-balanced diet should be eaten, and a plentiful amount of water should be drunk daily. The hands and clothes should be kept clean. Covering the boils with an antiseptic ointment such as ammoniated mercury may prevent the development of further boils. Certain drugs taken by mouth may aid in overcoming the infection. Fifty per cent alcohol can be applied over the boils several times daily to prevent infection of the skin around the boils.

Goiter

"What can be done for a goiter? . . . C. A. M."

Answer

Goiter means enlargement of the thyroid gland. Certain types of goiter can be treated satisfactorily by the administration of iodine in the dose prescribed by the doctor. Other types will require X-ray or operation. The doctor will determine which form of treatment would be most suitable for you. Rubbing some substance on the goiter will do no good.

Is House Infected?

"If a person has tuberculoiss and lives in a house for a long or short period does the house become infected with the germs and can the next tenants get it just by living in the same house? . . . Mrs. M. P. T."

Answer

It is probable that if the house is well aired and cleaned following the tenancy by the person with tuberculosis there will be no danger for future tenants living in the same house. I do not believe that you need be concerned about this matter, since the germs which infect the house usually are rapidly destroyed.

LONG LIFE . . . LOW OPERATING COSTS

TWO QUALITIES OF THE NEW 1942 DODGE CARS THAT ARE MORE IMPORTANT TODAY THAN EVER BEFORE!

DODGE nails its Standard to the mast. Dodge Dependability always has been based on honest manufacturing and the very best in materials. The rigid Dodge standards still prevail.

Production for war comes first with all of us, and there will be fewer Dodge passenger cars built this year. But, every civilian buyer of a Dodge car will get for his money . . . the most beautiful car Dodge has ever built . . . a car with longer life and one that will operate at lower costs than ever before.

It is a fact easily proven by a short drive that the buoyancy of the new Full-floating Ride is more remarkable than in any car we have offered before. The pleasure of driving these new cars is enhanced because of a number of new arrangements that make for driver comfort.

Dodge engineers have made numerous unseen mechanical improvements that will save you money, in fuel and in oil, that will lengthen the life of your car and increase your pleasure in owning it. These greater values are not visible, but you may take the word of Dodge that the Dodge owner gets them.

You may approach the purchase of your new Dodge with complete confidence in its enduring value — its ability to serve you extremely well for more years than you would normally choose to drive it.

Won't you accept your Dodge dealer's invitation to a pleasant ride and see these things for yourself?

STATELY ARLISS IN PANGS OF WAR

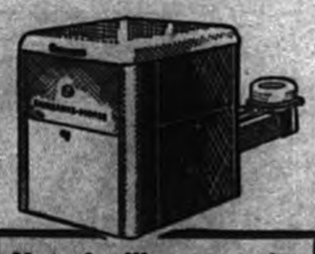

Technically pleading guilty, after claiming mitigating circumstances, of failing to register holdings of U.S. securities, George Arliss, famed British actor, LEFT, was fined more than $20,000. He is shown here leaving a London court with his counsel, G. D. Roberts, Sept. 26 after a hearing.

Jimmy Dale Inspiration Began in Railway Shop

Montreal, Oct. 6 — "Jimmie Dale" is known to a host of readers who like their fiction hot and thrilling, but not many of those readers are aware that Frank L. Packard, creator of this popular hero, is a graduate in engineering of McGill University and began his professional career in the Montreal shops of the C.N.R. Mr. Packard's first effort, a railway story, was rejected but editorial resistance was finally worn down and another railway yarn won a cheque. The Dale stories followed and then the National Railways lost a bright engineer.

SLEEPING EQUIPMENT GIVES THE BRAIN CHANCE TO REST; IMPORTANT FACTOR

BEDDING DISPLAY BY SIMMONS DEALERS HERE MARKS 50 YEARS OF PROGRESS IN THE BUSINESS OF SLEEP

Sleep is the only way in which the brain can rest, and when it does not rest man goes insane and dies. Men have been known to go for 45 days without food but often die before 10 days of sleeplessness, although there is one known case of a Chinese who went sleepless for 19 days. He had been sentenced to die in this manner for murdering his wife. At the beginning of the eighth day his sufferings were so great that he implored his guards to put him to death by hanging, garroting, the guillotine, fire, drowning or any other manner, if they would only let him sleep the night before his execution.

One of the greatest aids to sleep is proper sleeping equipment as manufactured by Simmons Ltd., the Empire's largest bedding firm, which this year is celebrating the 50th anniversary of its foundation. Attractive anniversary specials are being featured locally in honor of the occasion.

The necessity for sleep arises from the fact that the exercise of the body functions is in itself destructive of the body tissues. This waste must be repaired and it is on the nutritive regeneration of the tissues which takes place during the time of healthy sleep that its refreshing powers depend.

The amount of sleep needed by man is governed by so many conditions that no general rule can be laid down on the subject. During the whole period of growth in which it is necessary that the constructive operations of the body should preponderate over the destructive ones, an excess of sleep is required. By the time that adult age is reached and the constructive and destructive processes balance each other, the necessary amount of sleep has gradually fallen to about one-third or less of the diurnal cycle. Again, in extreme old age, in consequence of the deficient energy of the nutritive processes, a greater amount is required.

For the brain, there is no rest but sleep. A great deal of the brain's power is expended in the continuance of functional operations necessary to man's well being. During sleep these are altogether arrested or materially retarded in force and frequency.

A great deal has been accomplished during the last fifty years in the development of sleeping equipment. It is a far cry from the old "gas-pipe" bed with its sagging springs and its bumpy, uncomfortable mattress to the beautiful wood-finish metal beds with scientifically constructed springs and form fitting inner spring mattresses of today.

Much of the credit for these advances is due to the vision of MacIntosh and Williams, two young Canadians who started a feather pillow factory in Montreal in 1891 the nucleus of the Empire's largest bedding manufacturer. They put good materials and fine workmanship into their products. They designed them scientifically, doing away with the lumpy mattress and sagging spring that made for bad posture, restlessness and consequent sleeplessness.

Simmons beds, springs and mattresses as now being displayed by H. M. Lavigne, J. W. Lefevre and other local dealers, do more than induce sleep. They beautify the bedroom. Comfort and beauty in today's bedroom replaces discomfort and ugliness and in consesleeplessness gives way to sleep.

Hand-Made Lace from Villages of England

Helping to Pay for the War

(By Mail)

London — Beautiful hand-made lace from the cottages of England's country villages is the latest fashion among American women.

In the tiny Devonshire village of Beer, where lace-making has been carried on for 400 years, orders from the United States are helping the inhabitants to keep going in wartime.

Many of these lace-makers, as skilful as any in the world, are over 80 years of age. Mrs. Ida Allen, who has been in the craft for 50 years, has made lace for the present Queen, Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra. A forebear of hers made the lace for Queen Victoria's wedding dress. It cost £1,000.

Side by side with the cottage branch of this industry, the great modern lace mills of Nottingham continue despite the war to create new designs for overseas. From the United States and Canada comes a demand for tailored edged, double-border curtains by the pair in small, neat effects and fancy Tuscan grounds.

Fisher nets, in a heavy combination weave, strongly woven, are being made for Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, while the Far East is being sent cheap colored nets by the yard, mainly in cotton.

Mosquito and filet nets are made for Palestine and for Egypt, where there is also a big demand for "tour-de-lits", a cheap form of drapery used by the natives.

since they left home. They were sent to France and posted as missing after the fall.

Kenneth advertised in the hope of finding his brother. A short time ago, a letter from Alfred announced: "I am in the same camp as Ken and we are both very well. Keep your chins up." One from Kenneth said: "Have got Alf up here with me. What a pleasant surprise when we met for the first time in 10 years."

FRENCH REVERED BRITISH TOMMY

Covered his Grave with Flowers till Germans Took Body Away

London, Oct. 1 (CP) — Every day fresh flowers were placed on an empty grave in war-battered Lille.

It was the grave of "Le Tommy Inconnu" (the unknown British soldier) until the Germans removed his body. But the people of Lille still daily place their floral tributes there in memory of his bravery. The story was told here by Mrs. R. Brooke, French wife of an Englishman, who escaped from a German concentration camp.

It was in May, 1940, during the desperate rearguard action fought by French and British troops against the advancing Germans. The unknown Tommy was alone, protected only by blocks of concrete and some sandbags. But he had a rifle and ammunition.

Germans were all around, flinging hand grenades, spraying lead from tommy-guns. But he kept picking them off until he was finally shot and killed. The Germans buried hi min a plain grave. But the French people who had seen or heard of his exploit determined to honor him. Next day flowers were there, some with written tribute "A notre cher Tommy."

They were removed by the Germans. The following day there were more. As often as the Germans took them away French people brought more. In the end the Germans removed the body. But still the flowers were placed on the grave.

Water Is Not Only Antidote for Fire

Civilization, it has been claimed, began when man first learned to employ fire to his advantage. Since then, fire has been one of his most valuable servants, cooking his daily food, keeping him warm and making power to run his industrial works. Since that time, too, man has known fire as one of his most perilous enemies, for when out of control it is quick to ravish his works and threaten or destroy his life. It has been with keen interest, therefore that man has studied fire and developed ways of controlling and fighting it, writes Don Gray in the September issue of the C-I-L Oval.

While water is still the most common weapon for fighting fires because it is cheap, readily available, efficient, safe and easily handled it cannot be used on certain types of fires. For example, any attempt to pour water on a fire involving electrical equipment endangers the operator, because water is a good conductor of electricity. Burning liquids, such as gasoline, cannot be extinguished by water, for the liquid may float on the water, continuing to burn and thus spreading the fire. Carbon dioxide, nitrogen, steam are used to extinguish such fires.

Much of the responsibility for proper fire prevention and handling lies in the hands of the chemist, for it is he who is best suited to study the peculiar characteristics and properties of each material and thus discover the best means for preventing fires and for bringing them under control.

Fishermen Aids For Egg Supply

Canadian Cod Liver Oil Comes Along to Fill Hens' Diet

Ottawa, Sept. (CP) — The farmers and fishermen of Canada have become allies in the campaign to supply Britain with all the eggs she needs, agriculture department officials report. Cod liver oil is an important part of modern poultry diet and is used to give the vitamin content essential in the food of producing stock. With the outbreak of the war, the United Kingdom, Norwegian and other sources of oil supplies were cut off, and Canadian fisheries were called on to supply almost the entire demand. A laboratory for testing fish oils used for livestock feeding has been established by the agriculture department.

Recital Here in Aid Of Organ Fund for Coventry Cathedral

St. Andrews E. — A violin and vocal recital is being given in the Town Hall, St. Andrews East, Saturday night Oct. 25th. at 8.30 p.m. (D.S.T.) by Dr. and Mrs. William Raven who are internationally known musicians, having appeared before royalty. Dr. Raven is a native of Coventry, England, and has been asked by the authorities of that city to help in the raising of funds for the reconstruction of their Cathedral after the war. He has agreed to act under the auspices of Canadian Church choirs holding concerts throughout the Dominion to raise funds sufficient for the erection of a new organ in the Cathedral to be known as the "The Canadian Choristers' War Memorial Organ" in memory of Canadian Choristers serving during the present war.

No admission is being asked, but a silver collection will be taken at the door — the net proceeds going towards this most worthy cause. It is hoped everyone will give as liberally as they can. The patrons of these concerts are the Bishop of Montreal and the Moderators of the United and Presbyterian Churches.

Bishop Carlisle to Visit Parishes

Bishop Arthur Carlisle has recovered sufficiently from his recent illness to visit a few of his country parishes this fall.

On Tuesday, Oct. 21st., at 8 p.m., he will hold a confirmation and dedication service at New Glasgow. On Wednesday, Oct. 22nd., at 3 p.m., he will hold a similar service at Christ Church, Mille Isles, and in the evening at 8 o'clock he will preach in Trinity Church, Morin Heights.

Church Ladies Give New Bulletin Board

Lachute United Church has been given an attractive notice board, by a group of ladies of the church who have been sponsoring rummage sales.

Thanksgiving Sunday was the first occasion on which it was in use, and the appearance of the board, with white letters on a black background, erected on the lawn to the right of the main entrance, drew favorable comment from churchgoers and passers-by.

United W.M.S. Meeting At St. Andrews East

St. Andrews E. — The W.M.S. of the United Church held their Autumn Thank-Offering service at the church on Tuesday evening, Oct. 14th. A short business session was held in the Sunday School hall previous to the general meeting, which was well attended. Mrs. J. Esdon, the president, conducted the devotions; prayer was offered by the Rev. J. A. Mowatt. The speaker was our own Miss Mary Lamb, whose informal talk was illustrated with lantern slides. Mr. George McClintock operated the lantern and Miss Elsie Dorion took up the collection.

Christian Science Sunday Services

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 19th.

The Golden Text is from I Timothy 2: 5, 6. "There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins." (I John 4: 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Was it just for Jesus to suffer? No; but it was inevitable, for not otherwise could he show us the way and the power of Truth. If a career so great and good as that of Jesus could not avert a felon's fate, lesser apostles of Truth may endure human brutality without murmuring, rejoicing to enter into fellowship with him through the triumphal arch of Truth and Love." Diocesan A.Y.P.A. Annual Conference

Montreal — Plans are practically completed for the Eighth Annual Conference of the Montreal Diocesan Council of the Anglican Young People's Association which is to be held at Aylmer, October 25th and 26th.

Young people from points throughout the diocese will arrive in Aylmer late on Friday night, in order that an early start may be made on Saturday morning. The main body will arrive in Ottawa from Montreal at 11.40 p.m. (D.S.T.) where they will be met by a reception committee who will pilot them to Aylmer and assign them to billets.

Saturday's proceedings will begin at 9.15 a.m. with Matins at Christ Church. The Rector, Rev. W. Taylor will conduct the service and the sermon will be preached by Canon H. H. Clark, rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Ottawa.

Other highlights programmed for Saturday include the Annual Business Meeting; lunch, at which the official welcome will be extended to the delegates and guests from the Ottawa Council of the A.Y.P.A.; an address by a Dominion Council Representative and a general discussion on the Conference theme "The Place of the A.Y.P.A. in Wartime"; a model A.Y.P.A. meeting and a banquet followed by a social evening.

On Sunday at 8 a.m. there will be a Corporate Communion followed by the installation of officers. The visiting delegates will spend the remainder of Sunday becoming acquainted with Aylmer and Ottawa.

The Misses Ethel Moore and Dorothy Whyte of Aylmer, who have had previous experience in conference organization have played a big part in the arrangements for this year's gathering.

Nelson Standish, president of the Diocesan Council, will preside at the Conference.

Presbyterian Y.P.S.

With some 20 members attending, the regular meting of the P.Y.P.S. was held last evening in the church hall.

Members report good advance sale of tickets to the Benefit Show on Wednesday next, with an anticipated increase during the next week.

The program was a lantern slide lecture portraying missionary work being done within our own country, from fishing hamlets in the Maritimes to lumbering towns in the Rockies. Following the meeting, bowling and games were enjoyed for a short period.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Boyd of the Glen, Dunany, Que., announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Hazel Lorinda, to Mr. Adam Stewart Walker, of Montreal, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Stewart Walker, of Hamilton, Ont., — the wedding to take place in Lachute on November first.

The engagement is announced by the parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hayes, Kenilworth Avenue, Ottawa, of their daughter, Betty, to Charles Ketchabaw, of St. Thomas, Ont. Both are graduates of the Ontario Western University of London. Mr. Ketchabaw is on the staff of Canadian Industries Limited in Brownsburg.

Marriage Solemnized In Cathedral Chapel

Lefebvre - Dion

On Thursday morning, October 9th, the marriage of Georges A. Lefebvre, son of Mr. and Mrs J. W. Lefebvre, Lachute, to Doria Evelyn Dion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dion, also of Lachute, was solemnized in the chapel of the Cathedral, Dominion Square, Montreal. The chapel was decorated with roses and ferns.

The bride wore a powder blue dress with accessories of a darker shade. Her corsage bouquet was of orange blossoms and red roses.

A reception was held at the "Palm Cafe", after which the happy couple left for a trip to Washington. For travelling, the bride wore a blue coat with Navy accessories.

On their return they will reside in Brownsburg.

Montreal Bride Summer Resident Here

Smith - Brady

In the First Baptist Church, Montreal, on Saturday afternoon, the marriage of Mary Honora, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Homer Brady, to Mr. Eric Ross Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Smith was solemnized by the Rev. Miles F. McCutcheon, D.D. The bridal couple are both members of the church choir and the service was choral, the choir preceding the bridal party to the altar singing "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. Miss Grace Cowan sang during the signing of the register, Mr. Phillips Motley, organist of the church, presided at the organ.

Mrs. Leonard M. Lortie attended the bride as matron of honor; other attendants were Miss Evelyn Heatlie, cousin of the bride; Miss Jean Smith, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Janice Dumaresq.

Dr. Ronald B. Smith was best man for his brother. Ushers were Messrs. Homer M. Brady and Donald P. Brady, brothers of the bride; Cameron Walsh and Douglas Abraham.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony, the bridal couple proceeding later to Toronto and Niagara Falls by motor for their honeymoon . . . They will reside in Chateauguay Basin, Que.

The bride is well known to residents of the Dalesville community here, where her parents have a summer home. Among guests from a distance were many friends from the Dalesville and Mabel district.

Pretty Home Wedding

Black - Black

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, October 11th, at four o'clock, at the bride's home when Eva Catherine, youngest daughter of Mr. David Black, was united in marriage to Mr. James Black, youngest son of Mrs. Robert Black, of Mabel, Que.

The room was decorated with late autumn flowers. The wedding music was played by Miss Joyce McMullen, of St. Lambert. The Rev. E. Orsborn performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in an afternoon frock of toast brown, with dark brown accessories, and wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Mrs. Black, mother of the groom, was gowned in a navy blue crepe dress and wore a corsage of deep red roses.

After the marriage ceremony a buffet supper was served to some 60 guests. The happy couple then left by motor to Southern Ontario. For travelling the bride donned a Harris tweed coat over her wedding dress.

Guests from a distance were — Mrs. Perkins Allen, of Burlington, Vt., Mrs. E. McMullen, Miss H. McMullen, Miss Enid McMullen, Miss Joyce McMullen and Miss Eleanor Brown, of St. Lambert, Mr. Hugh Rhind, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Whone, of Lachine, and Miss Jean Picken, of Montreal.

Pretty Wedding at St. Simeon's Church

Cruise - Lavis

In St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, at half past three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, October 11th, the marriage was solemnized of Grace, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lavis, of Lachute, to Mr. Lloyd Jackson Cruise, son of Mrs. John Cruise and the late Mr. Cruise, of Lachute Mills. The Rev. W. C. LeCras, of Montreal, performed the ceremony.

The church was prettily decorated with yellow 'mums and autumn flowers, and the guest pews were marked with yellow flowers and white ribbon. Mrs. LeCras played the wedding music.

Miss Agnes Lavis, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, Miss Margaret Graham was bridesmaid, and little Miss Jean Lavis, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Mr. Melvin Scott acted as best man for Mr. Cruise, and the ushers were Mr. Norman Lavis, brother of the bride, and Mr. Laurence Cruise, brother of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white sheer, trimmed with silver brocade, shirred at the wrists and waist, with a head-dress and finger-length veil of white tulle, trimmed with lilies of the valley. She wore a double string of Richelieu pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid were gowned alike in floor-length gowns of pink net over satin in redingote style, with shoulder length veils to match and blue accessories; they carried nosegays of assorted flowers. The flower girl wore a floor-length dress of pale blue taffeta trimmed with pink velvet, made in Empire style, with hat to match, she also carried a bouquet of assorted flowers.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece suit of military blue, with black velvet hat and black accessories, Canadian mink furs and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, where the bride's table was decorated with pink roses and baby's breath and a three-tier wedding cake. Toasts were proposed by the Rev. Mr. LeCras and the Rev. J. A. Lackey.

Later the bridal couple left for a motor trip to Virginia, U.S.A., the bride travelling in a brown dress, with beige coat and brown accessories.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hodge, of Welland, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Roland Cruise, of Richmond, Que., Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gunning, of Oshawa, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Ian Hay, of Montreal, and the Rev. J. A. Lackey, of Ottawa.

Former Lachute Couple Wed in Montreal

Doig - Boa

The marriage of Miss Ellen Isabella Janet Boa, of Montreal, daughter of Mr. Andrew Boa and of the late Mrs. Boa, of Lachute, to Mr. Stanley Robert Doig, of the Town of Mount Royal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doig of Lachute, took place Saturday afternoon at Calvary United Church, Westmount, Captain the Rev. T. W. Jones officiating.

Later the bridal couple left for a motor trip to the Laurentians.

A free people must INVEST in its own FREEDOM

A Message FROM THE WAR SAVINGS COMMITTEE, OTTAWA

The people of Canada are the most fortunate in the world.

Fortunate in the great sweep of space that is ours from ocean to ocean.

Fortunate in the vast yield and immense resources of our forests, fields and mines.

Fortunate, too, in our democratic institutions.

In a word, fortunate in our freedom.

This freedom is threatened today as it has never been threatened before.

The fall of the British Empire would mean complete dislocation of our unfettered way of life.

Everyone wants this way of life defended —this freedom saved—for our own future and for posterity. The response to every appeal for our defence has been magnificent—heartening to the whole Empire —alarming to Hitler.

But the need for weapons of war grows ever more urgent, as the Nazi threat spreads wider over the world.

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory.

In these days of war the thoughtless, selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort.

A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

Invest in War Savings Certificates the dollars you don't need to spend. After Victory, they come back to you with interest. Spend less NOW so that you can spend more THEN, when labour and materials will be available for the things you need.

There is no price too high for freedom.

Four Simple Regular Methods of Saving

PAYROLL SAVINGS PLAN—For salary and wage earners. The employee simply signs a Payroll Savings Pledge, turns it in to his pay office, and his employer deducts the pledged amount regularly from his pay.

BANK PLEDGE PLAN—Convenient for business men and women, and others not on a payroll. Simply sign a War Savings Bank Pledge and give it to your bank. The bank will make monthly deductions from your account.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS—A handy instalment plan. Stamp folders may be obtained from Post Offices, Banks and many retail outlets. 16 stamps will buy one $4 Certificate, worth $5 at maturity.

RURAL SAVINGS PLAN—Farmers in receipt of regular payments from co-operatives, creameries, cheese factories, etc., can authorize deductions of any desired amount regularly out of each cheque. Use the Rural Pledge Card.

SUPPORT THE WAR WEAPONS DRIVE IN YOUR COMMUNITY

Every town and city in Canada will soon conduct a War Weapons Drive. You will be asked to put 'all you've got behind the campaign in your community. Canada must provide more planes, more ships, more tanks, more guns, more shells. If you are already buying War Savings Certificates—raise your pledge. If you are not, get your dollars working for Victory.

SPEND LESS—TO BUY MORE WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

FARMERS...AS IMPORTANT AS ARMOURERS

It may not appear so dramatic to operate a dairy farm, to grow grain or raise bacon as to make planes and steel tanks, but the work of the farmer is just as essential to victory as the work of the armament maker.

Always interested in the development of agriculture and practical co-operation with farmers, the Bank of Montreal is especially desirous now of assisting our growers of foodstuffs.

Farmers are cordially invited to talk confidentially with our nearest branch manager respecting their credit needs.

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

A FEELING OF FUTILITY

Someone asked me the other day if I found it difficult to read these days. I hadn't thought about it before but I realized that although it is never hard for me to read, yet, I am not doing nearly as much serious reading as I usually do. There is a feeling of restlessness which none of us escape that makes it hard to settle down to things. Perhaps there is a feeling of futility too. We seem to be doing so little that really matters that it does not make much difference what we do. Most of us like to plan but we feel now that we can only live from one day to the next and that in itself is unsettling. Our homes need to give a feeling of peace and security and in times like these we need to forget minor irritations or worries — or at least say nothing about them.

A short time ago I checked the amount of vitamins we were getting very carefully and I found that although we were getting our complement of all others, we were short of the Vitamin B complexes. Brewer's Yeast and Wheat Germ are the cheapest sources so I decided I had better do something about adding wheat germ to our food. We like whole wheat bread but not as a steady diet. Most of us are accustomed to white bread and prefer it. I tried at grocery store after grocery store to buy wheat germ but none of them had it. Finally one grocer said you could get it at a certain drug store. I found that they had the product of one of our Milling companies, wheat germ with the fat removed, at a dollar a pound. I did not want a drug, I wanted a food, and certainly did not want to pay that much for it. I next tried the local office of a large Milling Company and they had it in cans at a quarter a pound. Because of the high fat content it does not keep well, and they do not seem anxious to push its sale. I bought a pound of it and had no trouble-keeping it. I find that at a local Milling Company it can be bought in bulk at twelve cents a pound, and I will try that next. If you are near a mill you will have no difficulty getting wheat germ, and if not, if enough of you ask for it your grocer will probably get it. In this time of strain we should neglect nothing which may help keep us in good health and have strong nerves.

WAYS OF USING WHEAT GERM

I have been fooling around with the wheat germ and adding it to as many foods as possible. I may say right here that it has improved the flavor of every food I have added it to. First I used it in white bread. I use about 12 cups of flour and I substituted 1 cup of wheat germ, using 11 cups white and 1 1 wheat germ. The bread was still white bread but it was not as snowy white. It had a sweet, nutty flavor and was a much nicer tasting bread. In fact the family voted it the best bread we had ever had. Instead of a cup of white flour in Bran muffins, I used a quarter-cup wheat germ and three quarters cup whiteflour, and had better muffins. I made Graham Biscuits and used a half-cup wheat germ, a half-cup graham flour, and a cup of white. When I have used oatmeal for cookies or squares I have substituted wheat germ for some of the oatmeal. I have added a few tablespoons to a pot of soup, and when we have had a hot cereal I have added the wheat germ. Certainly there has been no difficulty in finding ways to use it. I even sprinkle some over the dog's food, figuring it wouldn't do him any harm either. Investigation has shown that most of us are not getting enough Vitamin B 1 and if we can improve our health by having more of it then it is up to the women who do the cooking to do something about it. In some places you can buy bread made from fortified flour, that is flour with Vitamin B added. The flour that is sent to the Canadian soldiers in England has Vitamin B added and it probably will not be long now until we can buy it here.

OATMEAL COOKIES

1 Cup brown sugar, 1 cup shortening, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoons soda dissolved in 2 tablespoons boiling water, 2 cups oatmeal.

Cream shortening and sugar, add other ingredients. Mix well. Take a piece about the size of a walnut and press down with a fork both ways. Bake in a moderate oven of 375 degrees.

HOT WATER PASTRY

½ Teaspoon salt, ½ cup lard, ¼ cup boiling water, 1½ cups flour.

Put lard, salt and water in a bowl, and sift in the flour gradually, stiring with a fork. Stir until mixed thoroughly and chill until stiff.

It doesn't seem possible that hot water could make good pastry. But it does. I have just eaten an apple pie made from it in my very own kitchen and it was as tender a pie as you would want. Some of my friends who are good cooks say it is the only way they can make a good pie. It is a simple method for the inexperienced cook to use.

OFFERS SERVICES

Mrs. Wallace Cohoe, the 61-year-old flying grandmother from Riverdale-on-the-Hudson, N.Y., is shown at the East River skyport at the foot at Wall St., New York City, after she flew down from Yonkers, N.Y., to offer her aerial services to the civil air guard. The air guard is composed of private fliers who will patrol their home regions in case of emergency. Mrs. Wallace has never been seriously ill and says she has never been in a night club or a beauty shop, never smokes or drinks.

I look on that man as happy who, when there is question of success, looks into his work for a reply.

SURPRISE TREATS IN SCHOOL EATS

Increase the Children's Interest In Three R's by New Eats

By LOUISE WEAVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Fill Johnny's and Mary's lunch boxes with wholesome, taste-teasing foods and an occasional "surprise" treat and watch their interest in the three R's rise.

If milk is not available at the school it should be carried in the lunch box, since milk or cocoa is a children's meal "must".

Here are some lunch "hot spots" that are satisfying, economical and well-stocked with nourishment: Macaroni and cheese, spaghetti and tomato sauce, Spanish rice, vegetable chowder, meat or fish soup, frizzled dried beef and creamed eggs and peas.

When the entire lunch is carried from home, part of the main course from dinner the night before may be used.

Sandwiches are important and afford an excellent way of including minerals and vitamins. Cold sliced meat, chicken, chicken or fish salads, diced eggs and minced celery, sliced or cream cheese, nuts and minced carrots and peanut butter, blended with cream and diced celery, are splendid fillers for whole wheat or graham bread or the new enriched bread slices. Cold cuts, mildly seasoned, are also good.

Like Variety

Some youngsters like several kinds of sandwiches for their lunches, so include one or more of cream or cottage cheese mixed with nuts and cream, along with a meat, fish or chicken sandwich.

Crisp celery sticks, carrot strings, whole tomatoes, olives or cabbage slices carry well in covered glass jars. I always fill the jars at night and keep them in the refrigerator until lunch making time. Then the jar and the contents keep cool for a long time at school.

Apples, pears, grapes, apricots, oranges and plums are healthful desserts and give a refreshing touch to the lunch. And they can be quickly paired off with plain cookies or simple cake. Raisins, dates, figs, or candy bars can be tucked into the box for extra vim and a special treat.

GO TO BARNYARD FOR STYLE TIPS

Steers on Jewelry, Pigs on Hankies Are Some New Features

By HELEN FORRIST HALL

New York, Oct. 14 (CP) — Look to the barnyard for fashion this year ! If you have a farm, a garden or even a tiny penthouse plot, fashion is all about you.

This influence of the animal kingdom is most apparent in exclusive circles. One of the millinery designers opened her show with a hat glorifying the rooster, and quite a hat it is, too.

Tops in the jewelry field, a designer went back to his native Texas for a steer's head — just a little number in gold with real ruby eyes, somewhere under $200, for a best dressed woman to pin on her lapel.

If you like horses, there's a bright green suede bag with wooden horse head and real horse tail that is one to bet on. Another bag, made of alligator, incorporates the head of that animal.

Wild fowl run rampant on the lapel of a lady's full-length dinner suit. Snakes take over her daintiest slipper or twine about her wrist. Spiders spin webs for her fine jewelry. Fish are also being played up in jewelry and gadgets.

Pigs in clover look very cute and gay, printed on colorful hankies at a fair price in linen, more in dinner chiffons.

One pert young bride was seen carrying the porcelain zebra her husband bought for mantel — just because she liked it and it looked smart against her new green outfit.

methods with clothes, our adventures on our allotments, the quaintnesses of landladies. We have even learned how to take bad news, knowing — by now — that it must come sometimes.

A Sketching Party

On my free day last week four of us tripped off in a little sketching party. The Newspaper Man came, taking a well-earned rest from his hectic work in London, and he got so thoroughly tangled up in the matter of perspective that all such things as blitzes were forgotten. We had a grand time, though the Gardening Partner, running true to form, was inclined to pessimism. His own drawing of an elm-tree caused him to anticipate immediate arrest as an enemy taking notes of strategic importance.

"I don't see why," I objected.

"Oh, I don't know!" he said. "I can see one of the Home Guard coming over, taking a look at it and saying, 'That's nowhere near here.' I should be suspected at once."

We dropped in for a cup of tea at a place where the waitress knows me, and we chatted a while. Somebody else, it transpired, who has 'been through it' and had a miraculous escape. Who would think it to look at her? A quiet auburn-haired woman with smiling eyes. One knows these people for a long time before one hears any details. "I'm one of the lucky ones," she said. "We had two direct hits, but we got away—with a bit of scrambling." And then she hurried along to attend to somebody else. Their chief trouble, I think, is broken sleep. It takes a long spell to restore them to normal sleeping hours. "You get so used to going without it in London," she said. "After a time you almost forget how to sleep." Yet you don't hear any of the ordinary peace-time moaning about wakefulness. "It'll be all right in time," they say. There is none of that old-fashioned wailing that "I never closed my eyes all night"—and usually after one has heard the heartiest of snores percolating through the wall for hours on end.

Less Neurasthenia

An American commentator told us, on the radio, that a doctor friend over here had informed him that there is actually less neurasthenia in this country than before the war — and I believe him. There are no imaginary dangers and worries now, I suppose: they are all real ones and, as such, they can be brought into the open. The ordinary citizen hasn't time to fret about unhappy relationships or fancied illnesses. He is on his toes; his to-morrows — if there are any — must take care of themselves. Of course, the malade imaginaire is still with us to some extent; there are still people who regard the upsettings of war-time as a direct affront to their notoriously poor health, but their Public has dwindled to a disheartening extent. Folk have not time now to sit up and listen to symptom-talk. They are far more likely to observe, with astringent briskness, that the invalid would be 'far better doing a little job of some sort.' In some ways, indeed, this old war is filling a long-felt want.

When Will It Come?

I wonder how many of us will ever have real homes again? Here we are, huddled into bed-sitting rooms, sharing other folks' houses, renting spare corners rigged out with alien furniture, having to take turns with kitchens and bathrooms. Some day, we shall be our own masters again, I suppose; we shall be able to use a typewriter or turn on a radio without causing complaints. We shall be able to send our things grandly to a laundry instead of doing a little furtive washing in a basin and hanging it up on a walking-stick suspended in the corner. We shall pull down the placard on 'How To Tackle Fire Bombs' from the wall and take the gas-mask from its nail by the dressing-table; we shall slip cosily into bed without the preliminary laying out — in readiness for emergency — of the coat, the stout shoes, the attache-case of personbelongings. We shall take down those black-out curtains and let some air into our rooms o'nights; we shall scrap our bicycles (not so good, this, maybe!) and hop into cars again. And even if we can do only a few of these things it won't be so bad, will it? Above all, we shall try to get into touch with old friends. Some — alas! won't be there. We shall know some heartaches over that, I have no doubt; but how grand it will be to meet the others !

Perhaps, most important of all, it will be a kinder, more understanding world; a less greedy and self-important and self-centred place. How can it be otherwise?

So—once more—here's hoping.

Personal Problems

By Anne Thompson

Dear Miss Thomson: While I was away on my holidays, my boy friend started to take out another girl. We have been going around together for about two years. He hasn't said anything about this girl to me, but I am sure he is still seeing her. Should I bring the subject up myself? Should I just forget about it and hope that he will? We weren't engaged, but we had an understanding and I am very fond of him. —Worried."

I certainly wouldn't open the subject unless he does. Try to be as charming to him as possible, though, and don't make any scenes. If he does mention her, casually, don't criticise her openly to him, and don't show any jealousy. You might bring in the names of a few people you met when you were away and say what a good time you had. Of course if he begins to make excuses about seeing you, I would take the matter up with him seriously, and find out just where you stand. Don't get dramatic, though. I think that he probably took her out because he was lonely, got interested in her because she was someone new, and is perhaps having trouble breaking off too suddenly with her. Give him a little time, but not enough to get really involved.

Dear Anne: A chap I used to see a lot of has moved to another town, and has gotten married. He still comes back to town on business, and whenever he does, he calls me up and asks me to go out with him? So far I have refused. What would you do? —Mabel."

I would go right on refusing. Any small town is a hot-bed of gossip, and you can't afford to get your name mentioned with a married man's no matter how innocent the connection might be. This is especially true when you used to go out with him. How would you feel if you were married and your husband called up an old flame regularly when he went out of town? You'd try to be a good sport, but I'll bet you wouldn't like it much.

Dear Miss Thomson: My husband and I have been married for twelve years, and we seem to spend all our time together bickering. I am very fond of him, and worry about him when he is away, but we just seem to get on each others nerves. Do you think this is the way most marriages break up?—Mrs. A."

I think this kind of bickering becomes a habit. It comes from making small things more important than they really are. See if this isn't so. Next time you start, listen to yourself. You will probably be ashamed at the petty things you are saying. If married couples could hear themselves in the talking pictures just once, they wouldn't spend their time in petty quarelling. Next time you start, ask yourself if it is really worth an argument, and if it is, try your best, first, to discuss it rationally, and second, not to throw up past misdemeanours, and third, not to resort to smart cracks or feminine wiles to get your point. If you make a determined effort yourself, it may take time, but you will achieve success.

Six Women Over 75 Spin for Red Cross

Glen Park, Alta., Oct. 14 (CP) —Six women, all over 75 years, come to the home of Mrs. J. Friberg in this town 55 miles southwest of Edmonton one day each week to spin for the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Each of the women, the oldest being 80, work from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. They wash and card the wool. Then, when it is fine spun and finished, use it for the making of articles. The group is associated with the nearby Thorsby branch of the Red Cross society and some of the wool is supplied by German families in the district.

Spinning is not just a hobby with these women", Mrs. Friberg said. "For years in their country life it has been their daily task, with children to provide for and warm clothes to be made as protection against the bitter winters."

Japanese Girls Help

Japanese girls in Vancouver have formed a branch of the Canadian Red Cross which turns out large quantities of clothes for British bomb victims each month. The branch has two large workrooms, fitted with sewing machines and cutting tables, in the office building of the Japanese language paper, Continental Times. Here is Myea Okamura at work.

SWISS BLITZ HAIL, TO SAVE THE CROP

Turn Ice Showers to Rain With Modern Cloud Bursters

Berne, Switzerland, Oct. 13 (CP) Swiss farmers who have been taking a beating from hailstorms for a long time recently "shot it out" with a storm that was raging at Spiez.

Using "hail rockets" that burst with loud detonations at about 4,000 feet, passages were opened in the clouds for lower layers of warm air in contact with the earth. This, being lighter, rose and mingled with the colder strata, raising the mean temperature above that at which hailstorms form and causing rain to fall instead.

Each rocket opened an "air-hole" of about a kilometer in width. In nearby districts, outside the range of the hail-rockets, however, heavy hail fell, destroying the crops.

Old Silver, Rare Books Sold to the States from English Country Homes

(By mail)

London — British art dealers did not take their annual holiday this year because they were too busy. Their export business has gone up half since last year.

Eighty per cent of the precious books, rare bindings and old silver sold at London auctions is now bought by America.

At the June sale of the library of the great surgeon Sir D'Arcy Power, which fetched £2,414, no less than £1,388 was spent by a single American buyer. The celebrated Bayley's "Treatise on the Eye" went to the States at £145.

In silver, Americans are out for large Georgian sets of soup and meat plates. They prefer a somewhat florid Georgian style; Elizabethan and Cromwellian silver does not attract so many of them.

The main reason for the present migration of old English silver to the States is the high income tax and death duties which are bringing it into the market from England's historic country homes.

Coconut Shells Will Drive New Locomotive

(By mail)

London — British locomotive engineers have built a locomotive and tender for the Ulu Remis Estate, Malay Peninsula, which will be fuelled with palm fibre and coconut shells instead of coal. It has a chimney specially designed to keep sparks from flying out and setting fire to the plantations through which the engine will run. There is also an elaborate boiler feeding arrangement made necessary because of water conditions on the estate.

TEACHERS' AGES PEGGED AT 29?

Virginia Schoolmams' Have New Rules of Arithmetic

Roanoke, Va., Oct. 14 (CP) — Some of Roanoke's school teachers seem to have mathematical problems outside the classroom. In filing routine forms, one has given five different birth dates since — and has become two years younger each time. Another filed her birth date, later filed another that made her a year younger, then gave still a third date before filing a "corrected" birth date that made her younger than the others.

FIVE SHILLING BOAT SAVED R.A.F. PILOT

Edinburgh, Oct. 1 (CP) — Given five shillings to buy a toy Angus, a thrifty young Scot, invested the money in a second hand boat. A Royal Air Force pilot owes his life to his choice. When Angus and his friend were paddling in their old boat off the east coast of Scotland a plane crashed and the boys hauled the unconscious pilot from the sea and brought him to shore.

A HERO !

Ernie Bonham, the lad who held the Brooklyn Dodgers to only one run and four hits, thereby enabling the Yanks to take the fifth world series games (and the series), just takes his place as the hero of the day. Ernie moves into a niche in baseball-dom's hall of fame. He is surrounded by teammates who are congratulating him at the end of the game.

"How you must love your husband ! Every time I come here you are writing him !"

"Don't distract me or I will get the total wrong !"

DOMESTIC CONTROL MEASURE, DRASTIC BLOW AT INFLATION, IS HEADLINE NEWS THIS WEEK

CEILING ON PRICES OF FINISHED PRODUCTS, COMPULSORY WAGES POLICY, ARE PLANS TO CURB INFLATORY TENDENCIES IN WARTIME

— THE WEEK IN OTTAWA —

Specially Written for The Watchman
By ALAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Oct. 21 (CP) —The far-reaching changes set out for Canada's economic policy in Prime Minister Mackenzie King's week-end statement constitute the headline news of the week on the domestic front.

But the widespread and tightened controls announced by Mr. King were not unexpected. Last week it was learned the government was planning to establish a price-fixing policy which would place a ceiling on virtually every product the average Canadian buys.

At that time it was said the new regulations would apply to processed commodities and manufactured goods alike. Ceilings would be established on finished products rather than raw materials — on flour rather than live animals.

The price control system described by the Prime Minister is only one of a series of measures which Finance Minister Ilsley has said are necessary "to combat the inflatory tendencies arising from competition between civilian needs and war requirements for available supplies of materials.

"Money, materials, manpower," the Finance Minister said, "must be marshalled in the common cause."

Aids to Agriculture

Last week it was learned also that the government would announce steps to aid prairies grain growers and users in Eastern Canada of Western feed grains. This assistance, to agriculture, in the form of bonuses and freight rates assistance on feed grains will probably cost about $110,000,000 in the present crop year.

At the same time, too, there were reports of a more uniform administration of the government's wartime wages policy. These reports followed a one-day conference in Ottawa between Labor Minister McLarty and provincial ministers or their representatives.

From the meeting was expected to emerge a compulsory wages policy "with teeth in it"—a policy following the general provisions set forth in order-in-council P.C. 7440 but applicable to all Canadian industry and applicable to industry coming under provincial — as well as federal — jurisdiction.

In line with P.C. 7440, which recommends cost-of-living bonuses rather than wage increases for employees, the new policy will have the same purpose, that is, to keep salaries and essential expenditures within bounds and thus avoid inflation.

The Royal Commission which conducted an inquiry at Chicoutimi, Que., into a five-day strike at the vast Arvida plant of Aluminum Company of Canada last July presented its report to the Governor-General. It said "rumors of sabotage, foreign agitators and subversive ideas, which appeared at an early stage, have not been justified."

However, the commissioners — Severin Letourneau and W. L. Bond of the Quebec Superior Court — said the strike was illegal and that it might have been averted "had there been better provision against such an emergency."

The Commission began its inquiries Aug. 15 and heard 76 witnesses before it ended hearings Sept. 9.

In response to "numerous requests" the Defence Department announced that civilian badges identifying men discharged from the armed services during the present war and those who have been refused enlistment because they lacked necessary qualifications will be issued shortly.

Badges issued to those honorably discharged will be known as the "War Service Badge, 'General Service' Class" and those who have been refused enlistment will receive "Applicant for Enlistment" badges.

Pins Wings on Son

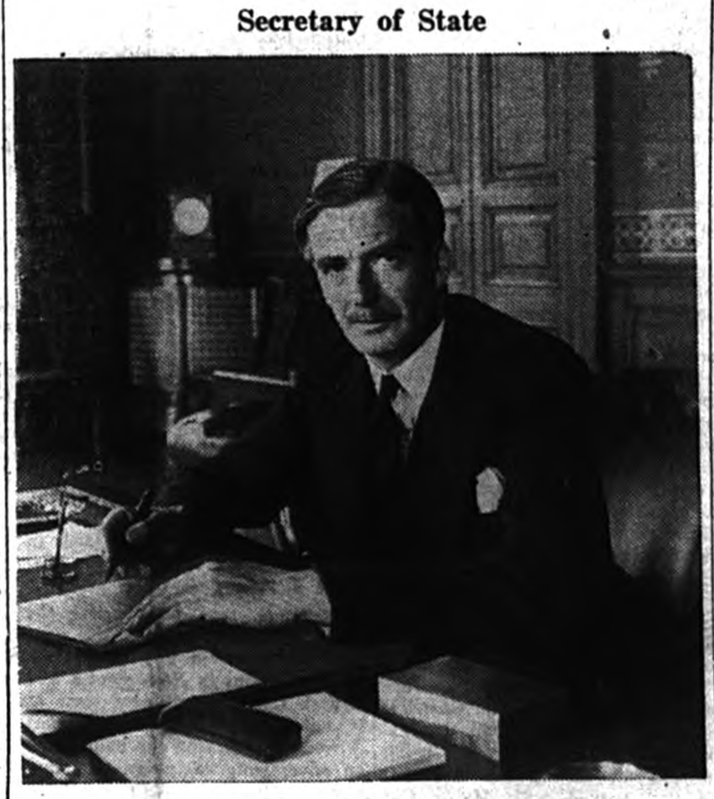

The man who is known to the dirt farmers of Saskatchewan as "Jimmy" Gardiner — ex-school teacher, provincial minister of education, prime minister of the province and now federal minister of agriculture — has had many proud moments in his adopted province. None was closer to his heart, however, than the two minutes when he pinned wings on his own son, "J.E." at No. 11 S.F.T.S., R.C.A.F., Yorkton.

War Savings Now Translated into Local Allotments of Fighting Craft

ARGENTEUIL DIVIDED INTO SECTIONS EACH WITH CANVASSING ORGANIZATION AND ITS DISTINCT LOCAL OBJECTIVE

JAS. W. McGIBBON, M.P., AND GEO. H. HEON ARE JOINT CHAIRMEN FOR THIS COUNTY

This is what Quebec Province is being asked to provide every month for the duration of the war through regular War Savings :

Two corvettes for the Royal Canadian Navy.

Three fighter planes and two bombers for the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Forty-eight universal carriers, eight blitz buggies, one anti-aircraft gun and four machine guns for the Canadian army.

Of Quebec's total war weapons objective Montreal is pledged to provide the two corvettes a month, Sherbrooke, Three Rivers and Chicoutimi County have each undertaken to supply one fighter plane each per month. Quebec and Levis together have two bombers a month as their objective — and so on, covering every populated area.

Lachute, in this list of districts, is apportioned the purchase of a universal carrier regularly every month through War Savings investments — either in pledges or in sales, of both stamps and certificates. The Lachute area includes Lachute Mills and also several communities not embraced in other centres of the county — these being Dalesville, Dunany, Grece's Point, Louisa, St. Michel and St. Philippe.

Every municipality of Argenteuil is similarly apportioned an objective, by provincial headquarters; and to indicate the high standard for this patriotic achievement, it may be noted the aim for Lachute is approximately five times the amount at present invested each month.

This is an aim which will demand the enthusiasm of every citizen and wage earner, for only in this way can every community do its part; and, in the larger analysis, only in this way can the war effort be financed on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Georges H. Héon, who is joint chairman for this county with Jas. W. McGibbon, M.P., stresses the need for support from every community group in the district — women's organizations, service clubs, church unions and juvenile societies. It is suggested that not only might these groups arrange periodical investments of their funds, but canvassers from their ranks can help actively in enrolling pledges and inviting the purchase of War Savings. Employers of labor have also a promising influence in this effort. To all of these potential organizers the chairmen offer personal support, in stressing the theme from public platforms or collaborating in any way within their power. Mr. Héon invites requests for literature, pledge blanks and advertising material; this may be procured at his office, in Lachute.

Local chairmen have been named in all the listed districts for canvassing. It is noted that Mayor H. Lamarche is chairman of what is termed the "Dairies Committee", whose task is to solicit investments from the farmers and dairymen—these constituting a revenue-earning class of importance in every rural section such as the Ottawa Valley.

Geo. F. Calder and Lionel Rozon, both of Lachute, are appointed joint secretaries in this renewed War Savings campaign.

The drive is patterned on the method practiced in Great Britain, where "War Weapons Weeks" have stirred a patriotic fervor and keen rivalry, among cities and country communities alike. The effect of this organization is a steady stream of Savings to finance the production of war materials. It is fully anticipated that Canada will respond with equal zeal, and with results worthy of the sacrifices made by fellow Britishers overseas . . . Let Argenteuil do its share nobly !

W.I. Affairs for Current Month

MEETINGS REPORTED IN COUNTY BRANCHES

The following W.I. branches in this county have reported meetings for October :—

Brownsburg held a farewell party for one of its members, and three small card parties. Arrangements were made to hold a home-cooking sale and cooking contest at the school on Friday evening, Oct. 24th. 19 Members enrolled in the Society of Country Women of the World. Letters were read from boys overseas acknowledging parcels. "Why Study Foods" was the title of a paper read by Mrs. Stephens, and "We Work for Victory in the Kitchen", an address by Mrs. Smillie. Eleven prizes were awarded to pupils of Brownsburg Consolidated School.

Frontier heard an address by Mr. D. Staniforth on Co-operation in Education. Four teachers were present to enjoy this address, as well as a large number of members and their husbands. An educational questionnaire was enjoyed, including historical, humorous and other enlightening questions. Miss M. Whelehan of Cushing was the winner, with Miss E. McCallum of Avoca a close second. The sum of $5. was donated toward prizes in the Scientific Educational Temperance Campaign for school children.

Jerusalem - Bethany had as their roll-call "A law I should like to see enforced". A paper was given on Legislation, and a contest held. A large quilt was quilted at this meeting.

Lachute — Principal C. L. Hall gave an interesting talk on how to start an Adult Education Class. A decision was made to send to Macdonald College for the loan of their travelling library for four months. A budget was made for the coming year, and a donation made to the Allies Air Force. Reports were given by Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Giles, who met the Federated Women in Ottawa and Quebec, and were presented to the Princess Alice and the American Ambassador. Letters were read acknowleging reception of parcels by boys overseas.

Lakefield made arrangements for their annual banquet. Wool for Red Cross work was distributed; $4 was received from members for the Self Denial funds for the Mobile Kitchen. At the September meeting an address of welcome was given to the local school teachers.

Mille Isles made plans for the packing of parcels for boys overseas. Mrs. R. Patterson, Convenor of Education, gave an address entitled "Why Educate?" The roll-call was answered by nine members stating ways to encourage school children. Six visitors were also present.

Upper Lachute - East End. Home Economics was the subject for this meeting, at which 16 members and three guests were present to enjoy a demonstration by Mrs. McCullough, of Brownsburg. Plans were made for a demonstration by the Heinz Company. Boys of this district now overseas are to be remembered with parcels at Christmas. Mrs. G. Armstrong, county president, was also present.

Red Cross Asks More Blankets

THOUSANDS NEEDED FOR BOMB VICTIMS

Thousands of blankets, new or as "good as new", are urgently needed for bombed out victims in Britain, and the people of the Province are asked to "spare a blanket" for the Quebec Provincial Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society, which this week has launched its second big appeal to provide these necessities for raid sufferers.

In the last campaign the Red Cross collected throughout Canada 138,137 blankets and 101,234 quilts. This supply has been distributed to bombed victims, military hospitals, and for the benefit of distressed merchant seamen.

Many expressions of gratitude have been received by the Canadian Red Cross from bombed sufferers in Britain, and many have called the contributions of blankets and quilts a "godsend".

In such centres as Birmingham, Coventry, Plymouth and London thousands of Canadian blankets and quilts were made available to the homeless within a few hours of the raids due to the efficient system of distribution planned by the Canadian Red Cross overseas organization in London.

According to advices from Britain the need for more blankets and quilts is most urgent. But blankets must be woollen and new or as "good as new".

Those unable to provide blankets or quilts may aid the appeal by contributing $2. for the purchase of a single blanket. Donations should be sent to provincial or local headquarters.

War Industrialist Speaker, Accompanied by Member Of Mission from Britain

PLANNED PRODUCTION ON LONG RANGE BASIS, VICTORY AIM ABSORBING EXPERTS IN CANADA

The Lions Club enjoyed an interesting session at their semi-monthly meeting, in Desjardins Hotel on Tuesday evening. Two new candidates were accepted into membership, Messrs. Jas. W. McGibbon, M.P., and Gordon McOuat — charges of initiation being given by Lion President G. Valois.

The guest speaker of the evening Mr. W. F. Drysdale, addressed the gathering on "The Canadian Industrial War Effort". Introduced by Lion President G. Valois, Mr. Drysdale, who has spent much time in the Department of Munitions and Supply, is now leading the new Industrial Planning and Engineering Branch just inaugurated at Ottawa.

Another distinguished visitor to accompany Mr. Drysdale, was a representative of the British mission from London, England, Mr. H. Crone, who has had 47 years in the business and was sent to Canada by Sir Harold Brown to investigate the possibilities of war work. He paid high tribute to the class of work now being turned out, claiming it to be the equal of anything produced in England, and gave distinctive praise to minister C. D. Howe and W. F. Drysdale.

A Battle of Production

"The trend of the war and the recent events on the Russian front have proved clearly that modern warfare is a battle of production" said Mr. Drysdale, in his address.

"Canada has, within the last two years, made a tremendous effort, but it is not only the extent of our effort but how we are utilizing our capacity which counts. More can and must be done to win this war.

"When we first entered on the production of munitions, illogical though this may sound, there was no time for rational planning, but as our production has expanded the necessity for planning has become more and more apparent.

"Every industrial expert knows that it is useless to plan the expanded production of any article unless the 1001 necessary parts arrive on the assembly line at the correct time.

"It is to take care of this most vital problem of our war effort that the Minister has recently decided on the setting up of the new Industrial Planning and Engineering Branch which I have the honor to direct.

"As you are aware, Canada is today supplying the requirements of the army, the navy and the airforce. All these requirements must be co-ordinated as orders cannot be placed solely on the basis of what a single fighting service needs.

"Production must be planned as a whole, relating each individual problem, — the problem of the supply and urgency of orders for the army, or the navy, or the air force, — to that single plan based on the capacity of our national industries.

"The main problem is that of long range planning so that every unit of industry keeps in step with the other. The flow of orders must be rationalized so that work is not duplicated and as I have already said, the problem must be viewed as a whole.

"It will further be the task of the new Branch to watch, not only production, but design. We must constantly bear in mind the dearth in tools and skilled labor and remember that every unnecessary ellaboration of design means so many hours of lost time and so many less guns, shells, fuses or cartridge cases.

"We must watch that wherever there is a bottleneck in obtaining the specified material, some substitute filling the requirements but more readily procurable, be used.

REPRESENTING QUEBEC ON GEN. EXECUTIVE OF CONSERVATIVE ASSOCN.

It is learned that Mr. Georges H. Héon, former M.P. for this constituency, has been requested to sit with the General Executive of the Dominion Conservative Association as representative for the Province of Quebec. The General Executive will meet in Ottawa on Friday, November 7th, to decide the time and place for the Dominion Conservative Convention. Wide interest will be centred on this coming Convention at which delegates will select a permanent Leader of the Party and settle other essential matters pertaining to the Conservative organization.

New War Book Due November 3

"BOMBER COMMAND" TELLS AIR CONFLICT PRIOR TO DUNKERQUE

To Be Published Here in Aid of Queen's Fund

The Queen's Canadian Fund will publish the Canadian edition of "Bomber Command", the British Air Ministry's successor to its best seller, "The Battle of Britain". The publication date is November 3, and the book will be sold for 75 cents. It contains more than 100 pages with numerous striking photographs, many published for the first time.

Profits to Fund

All profits of the publication of "Bomber Command" will be devoted to the fund.

In its issue of October 20, Life magazine gives five pages of pictures from "Bomber Command." In the United States the book is being published by Doubleday & Doran at $1.

"Bomber Command" gives vivid stories of operations still in progress, such as the Atlantic and North Sea campaigns, the attacks on industrial Germany and Italy and the blasting of the invasion ports. It contains notable revelations in the initial inferiority of the British bomber force and of its subsequent advance to its inevitable supremacy.

"The Battle of Britain" was also published in Canada by the Queen's Canadian Fund. Both books are from the pen of the same author, Hilary St. George Saunders, assisted in each case by a corps of experts.

NAZI AIR-FIGHTER

London (CP) —Nazi airplane designers' efforts to find an answer to Britain's air dreadnoughts are said to have resulted in a new Messerschmitt (209) mounting two cannon and two machine guns.

Army Head Bundles For Hop to Britain

Argenteuil Native, Pioneer Homesteader in the West, Meets Death in Toronto

ROBERT POLLOCK, FOUNDER OF POLLOCKVILLE, ALTA., WAS BORN SIXTY-EIGHT YEARS AGO IN MILLE ISLES

(Special to The Watchman)

Pollockville, Alta. — Robert Pollock, one of the oldest and most highly respected pioneers of Pollockville, Alberta, passed away in the Toronto Western Hospital on Thursday, September 25th. He was in his 69th year.

En route to Kitchener, Ontario, with a carload of horses, Mr. Pollock was crossing the Toronto stock yards from his train to the one bound for Kitchener when he was struck by an engine at about 2 a.m. He was taken to the Toronto Western Hospital where it was learned he had received a fractured arm, fractured ribs and head injuries. Later regaining consciousness he gave the attendant his name and address, and also that of his wife, but passed away at six o'clock that evening.

Mr. Pollock was born in Mille Isles, County of Argenteuil, on July 1st, 1873. On October 25, 1907, he married the former Miss Ida Strong of Cambria, Que. In June 1909 he answered the call of the west when he homesteaded 52 miles north of Brooks. Returning East he brought out his wife and infant daughter in October. Living in Brooks the first winter, Mr. Pollock freighted to the homestead, erecting his first buildings. In the early spring he moved his family to the homestead.

In the autumn of 1910 Mr. Pollock opened the Pollockville post office and started the first mail route from Brooks to Pollockville, which he himself drove with horses the first year. The same fall he opened a general store, freighting from Brooks. Many and interesting were the tales he told of the early pioneer days.

When the C.N.R. came through in 1920 the name of Pollockville was transferred to the railway station and adjoining village, and there Mr. Pollock continued to carry on the business he had founded ten years before.

Farming and ranching extensively, Mr. Pollock was most keenly interested in stock, and his herd of registered Percheron horses, which were his pride and joy, speak well for his years of patient labor. He was for many years a director of the Alberta Percheron Breeders' Association and a familiar figure at the Calgary livestock shows. He was also winner of the silver cup from the Pandora Agricultural Fair for the best farm team.

Mr. Pollock was one of the valiant pioneers of the prairie whose splendid courage and fearless spirit helped to carry the torch of civilization to the West. Through poor years as well as good, his faith in his country never wavered and he believed in building strong and well for the future. He was always interested in everything that was for the betterment of the community, and the door of his home was ever open wide to all, rich and poor alike.

The Rev. W. H. McDonald conducted the funeral services from the United Church in Brooks, on Saturday, October 4th, when old-timers from far and near came to pay their last respects to a man who had been friend as well as neighbor. He was laid to rest in the Brooks cemetery. Many beautiful floral tributes were an added word of love and high esteem.

He leaves to mourn his loss his loving wife, a daughter, Frances, of Pollockville, and two sons, Freeman and Earl, of Calgary. Another daughter, Edith, was accidentally drowned when crossing the Red Deer river 13 years ago. There also remain a brother, Samuel, of Red Deer, Alberta; a sister, Mrs. Thomas Riddell, of Montreal, and two brothers, John R., of Lachute, and William Jas., of Mille Isles, Que.

Witnessed Manoeuvres

Canadian troops of the Southern Command staged a massive demonstration of the might of Canadian tanks somewhere in England recently. The manoeuvres were witnessed by Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian forces overseas, and General Sir Allan Brook, commander-in-chief of the home forces. General McNaughton is shown contacting the tanks by field telephone.

War Veterans Hold District Rally

Event Sponsored by Two Local Branches

Officials Attend from Montreal Centres

Veterans from Aylmer, Hull, Buckingham, Brownsburg and Lachute District gathered in large numbers at Lachute Auditorium on Saturday, for a District Rally.

Officers of the Canadian Legion attended, among whom were Comrades James Boyd, Jr., president of the Quebec Provincial Command, E. Struthers, past president, Wm. Carpenter, 1st vice president, J. LeBrun, of the Black Watch, Bert Reid of 6087 Association, Capt. Jamieson, and D. Sinclair, all of Montreal.

The gathering, sponsored by Branches 70 and 71 in Lachute and Brownsburg, was presided over by presidents Stansfield and Cooper as joint chairmen.

Comrade "Jim" Boyd was the principal speaker of the evening and in his address outlined fully the principles of the Association and the good it was accomplishing. He emphasized it as wholly a service organization, bound together by service and sacrifice to those living as well as to those who gave their all in the last war. "We have undertaken the welfare of the present forces also, and after this war there will be an influx of men to this country to whom we must give the benefit of our experience. Up to 200,000 ex-service men from the Atlantic to the Pacific are now members, but many more are still urged to join." "Two problems in particular are now being considered", he said, "Living Bonus and Rehabilitation." "A committee of the Cabinet are at present studying the whole situation."

Reference was made to the recommendation made to the Government after the last Dominion Convention and which had been largely followed as outlined in a radio address by Sir Ian Mackenzie.

In the matter of "Interrupted Courses of Education," under the present program of the government soldiers are able to continue their studies and receive living allowances until completion. Education of children will also be taken care of.

"Re-organization of industry" and "Land Settlement" are two other important factors being dealt with by the Legion and this time it will be seen to that soldiers get good land with a subsidization between sowing and harvesting time.

Other matters claiming Legion backing are the Pension Act, Soldiers' Assistance Act and the Soldiers' Insurance Act, all of which are being satisfactorily worked out by the Government with the help of the Legion, each province having a representative at Ottawa.

In closing Comrade Boyd said "If it had not been for the Canadian Legion, God help the ex-service men. It has done wonders for them."

Past President Ed. Struthers, of the Dominion Council praised the Government for their co-operation emphasizing that Politics does not enter into the deliberations whatever but they have sat with Cabinet and Prime Minister and talked things over together with splendid results.

We know that in our organization we have strength. We must keep it strong so as to help those chaps when they come back.

Membership in the Legion is increasing as evidenced in Drummondville and North Hatley some having already doubled their quota.

The letters B.E.S.L. standing for British Empire Service League, links us up with many organizations.

First vice president "Bill Carpenter" urged all branches to increase their membership. He stated they were out travelling the country to get every returned man wearing a returned button to join the Legion, as we want to do all we can for the boys coming back. In most cases we are fathers of these boys. Get them into the organization as our strength is in membership.

Paul Rodier, as adjustment officer explained many points of interest re pensions and allowances and how claims should be made.

The other guests also gave encouraging remarks and Comrade Sinclair, a South African Vet, expressed appreciation at being present mentioning the fact that he had served with Major Gat Howard, of Brownsburg.

Refreshments were served and music was rendered by the Brownsburg Boys Band.

Ottawa Discards A Few Obsolete By-Laws

Ottawa's pedestrians, controlled by stoplights and beckoned by policemen, need no longer heed an old by-law which states that "a pedestrian on meeting another on any sidewalk or path shall pass to the right, and overtaking another shall pass to the left."

This legislation was approved by the Department of Highways years ago and permission to delete it was given in a letter from the Department of Highways received recently by the City Clerk.

The ancient by-law is only one of the many having to do with pedestrians and horse-drawn traffic which were done away with by Gordon C. Medcalf, assistant City Solicitor, on the recommendation of the City Council and the Traffic Committee. The new simplified by-laws have been approved with only minor qualifications by the Department of Highways.

While few new by-laws have been introduced, one at least should meet with general approval. Business firms and public institutions may apply to the traffic committee for permission to set out private no-parking signs for use at stipulated hours. The signs will be purchased by the users from the City, and a $1,000 bond or insurance indemnity policy filed.

Plans for having the new condensed by-laws printed and distributed to citizens were brought to the attention of the Board of Control.

That some accomplish more than others is not infrequently explained by force of will.

CURB SURPLUS AND CUT SHORTAGE IS SUPPLY BOARD'S AIM

Ottawa Board Makes Sure of Seeds for 1942 and Looks Out for 1943

Ottawa, Oct. (CP) — Avoidance of shortages on the one hand and surpluses on the other is the aim of the Agricultural Supplies Board, the Wartime planning committee setup within the Federal Department of Agriculture, to help keep Canadian agriculture on an even keel and making its maxim contribution to victory.

Many of Canada's root and vegetable seeds were imported from Europe prior to the war. The board made a survey of available supplies and found there were enough for 1941. Arrangements were made for growing larger quantities in Canada of beet, cabbage, cauliflower, parsnip, radish, spinach, turnip, mangel seeds on contracts with seed firms.

Looking ahead the board sees no danger of a shortage of garden seeds for 1942 and is already making plans to avoid a prospective shortage in 1943.

Apples and wheat produced the major agricultural surpluses in the first two years of the war. Overseas markets for wheat were curtailed and the British market, Canada's only export market for apples was practically cut off.

Machinery already existed in the wheat board act for dealing with wheat but the board helped in drafting the acreage reduction program put into effect this year.

To meet the apple crisis the board recommended and the government accepted a plan to buy up the surplus in Nova Scotia and British Columbia, process some of it and sell or give it away for what it would bring. At the same time an advertising campaign was carried on to induce people to eat more apples, better merchandising methods were fostered, the manufacture of apple juice and apple sauce was encouraged.

Surplus for Ireland

Flax and flax seed presented a different type of problem. Great Britain wanted all the flax fibre Canada could produce and Northern Ireland wanted all the fibre flax seed. The board took control of all seed to see that Canadian growers got enough to increase their fibre production and the surplus went to Ireland. It also studied means of getting suitable machinery for the processing of fibre flax and financed the manufacture of certain machinery in Canada.

The cutting off of European sources of potash seemed likely to complicate the fertilizer situation for a time, but arrangements were made to get sufficient in the United States. The board encouraged production in Canada of larger quantities of some kinds of fertilizer.

This summer due to dry weather in Eastern Canada an acute livestock feed situation developed. On the board's recommendation exports of mill feeds and course grains were prohibited in order to conserve supplies. The board arranged with millers for a temporary reduction of $3 per ton in the price of millfeeds in order to enable dairy farmers to get enough feed for their cows during the summer when pastures dried up.

New Safety Devices

Two inventions for the protection of pedestrians are now in use on the streets of Miami, Florida.

One is similar to a window shade, and when pulled down by a simple wrist movement displays a sign reading: "Go ahead", informing the pedestrian the motorist will stand still. It was invented by C. M. Leary, of Cary, Ind.

The other safety device, patented by Mrs. C. A. McKinley, of Miami, is a reflector attached to a rubber band and worn on the shoes of cyclists and pedestrians on the streets after dark.

ARUNDEL MAN DIES IN HIGHWAY CRASH

Another Hurt as Auto Overturns Near St. Jovite

St. Jovite — One man was killed and another seriously injured when an automobile in which they were riding left the road and crashed into a ditch near here on Thursday evening, October 16th.

The dead man is Leo Marion, 30, of Arundel. The other occupant of the auto — Eugene Godin, also of Arundel — was taken to Ste. Jeanne d'Arc Hospital, Montreal, after receiving first aid treatment from a local physician, Dr. C. A. Pelland.

According to information gathered by Det.-Lt. Laurent Forest and Det. R. Paul of Provincial Police Headquarters, Montreal, who investigated the mishap, the two men were travelling north on the Laurentian highway. Godin, who was driving the car, lost control. The auto overturned as it hit the ditch and Marion was killed instantly.

The man who does not work for the love of work, only for money, is not likely to make money nor to find much fun in life.

No. 3 — THEY ARE BOTH WRONG

City people who have never lived on farms, and farm people who have never lived in cities, have queer ideas about each other. Town people are more fortunate. They know farm people and farm people know them. They understand each other. They attend the same churches, belong to the same lodges and meet and work together in the Red Cross and other patriotic and charitable organizations. They live and work together and trade with each other personally.

There would be no farm problem such as we have today if town and country people had been left to solve it. But Canada has grown some big hungry cities and the people in these cities have a lot more to say about national policies than they ought to have. They have organizations for everything and these organizations are so busy promoting their own interests with governments that they carry a great deal more weight than their size and importance warrants. Town and farm people are just waking up to the fact that they need to be heard at Ottawa, too, if everyone is to get a square deal.

"The squeaking wheel gets the most grease" is an old farm axiom that seems to have been adopted by some of those who are heard above the din of war in the offices of government.

Organizations have changed the business of democratic government until the civil services seem to be divided between the takers-in and the givers-out. The duty of the takers-in appears to be to take from those who protest the least and the duty of the givers-out to give to those who yell the loudest.

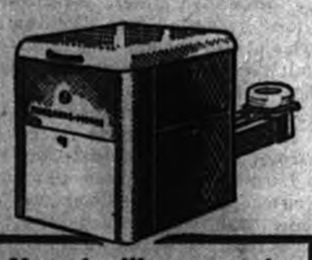

In the past, city people have asked too much from governments and have received too much. Rural people have asked for little, protested too little, and have lost out to the cities. They have both been wrong. All have been harmed. Today farmers are organized across Canada and town people are giving their sympathetic support to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture in the sure knowledge that whatever is done to restore the balance between farm and urban earnings will benefit every town in Canada — every person in Canada.

Even in personal impressions, which make or mar goodwill, city and farm people who do not know each other's problems are growing apart to their common harm.

City people who do not know farm life make farm people mad. They think farm people are to be pitied—that it is too bad that farmers have to work so hard for so little compared with their high city earnings. Something ought to be done about it, they think—something like holding a few bridge parties, or a tag day, to help farmers. They are surprised and hurt when farmers blow up and demand justice and fair play.

All that farm people want is fair prices and they are going to get them because only by paying fair prices for food can city people continue to get it. Farmers must have enough to pay their cost of production and to carry on. They are beginning to get it and when food prices get up in line with city earnings there will be a sound balance between city and country in Canada. Maximum food production will then be attained because agriculture's fair share of war workers will help to produce war food.

It is a mistake to look for war prosperity. There will be shortages of civilian goods, particularly luxuries. There are already shortages of some foods, but we can produce our needs immunitions and foods if a proper balance is struck between urban and farm earnings.

Sidelights on Salvage

When you are approached in the municipal salvage collection, don't say "My little bit won't count". That is what Hitler would like you to feel. The parcels of stuff you collect in your own home may seem of small account to you, but you must realize how your bit will be multiplied if two million homes in Canada contribute a like amount. Your salvage material is wartime treasure, and your effort is worth while.

Here are facts concerning bones — just one item in the list which citizens are asked to contribute to the civic salvage truck . . . In addition to the quantity used for the manufacture of fertilizer, poultry bone meal and glue in Canada, this country sold for export over ten million pounds of bones in the first six months of 1941. Salvaged from communities all over the Dominion, these exported bones provided Canada with over $84,000 of available foreign exchange, for the purchase of munitions. This was more than double the amount of money made available by bone salvage in the first six months of 1940.

Other items which you are invited to hand over to the collectors are paper, rags and metal. Varieties of paper not wanted — waxed or oiled, carbon, tar or wallpaper; kinds of metal not wanted — tin cans, stove pipes, wire or sheet metal.

Put your salvage aside. Have your bundles ready. Not only is this material useful in Canada's industrial effort, but the sale of local collections brings proceeds to some worthy war service.

Facing the Facts at Home

It is inevitable that war should react in our everyday experience, affecting the common civilian in his home and club and office . . . With cheerful acceptance of the growing handicaps, the Bell Telephone Company, through an editorial in its employees' journal, makes reference to the possible slowing of pace and efficiency in its service as these conditions become more exacting . . . We translate this explanation as an advance apology to the public — and a plea in which the public will, we feel sure, exercise its understanding. This company's vast organization has at all times "proved the spirit willing"; and now, should the all-out war effort interrupt its normal standards of service, citizens will still maintain high confidence in this truly Canadian enterprise.

Extracts from the Bell Telephone statement are here reproduced :

". . . Not so well known, even in the telephone family, is the effect the war is exerting on our business. Some of us, perhaps, are unable to see the forest because of the trees — we are so busy doing our day-to-day tasks that we have not observed . . . the repercussions on the telephone industry as a whole.

"What has happened to our business? Briefly, we have been called upon to meet an unprecedented demand for telephone service — to provide more and still more communication facilities for the government, the armed forces, war industries and the general public. Meanwhile, over five hundred telephone workers — among them, many of our most skilled and trained employees — have left their posts to serve King and Country. With the assistance of willing recruits, the rest of us are carrying on.

"No one can foresee clearly the situation which will face us three months, six months or a year hence. There are indications, however, that the strain on our facilities will become even more pronounced — that materials essential to the construction and maintenance of telephone lines and equipment will become increasingly difficult to obtain.

"In Europe and in Japan, all utility services — even telephone conversations — are rationed. Civilians in many countries may not use long distance telephone service between certain hours, and in some areas not at all, without a military permit. No one expects that these things will happen in Canada, but the continuance of the high standard of telephone service to which the Canadian public has become accustomed depends upon the availability of adequate supplies of materials, as well as on a loyal and hard-working staff."

Just Child's Play !

Illustrating how child recreation can be directed to constructive channels, Capt. William Bowie, an authority on this wholesome study, describes in the current Municipal Review a venture tried by trained supervisors in a few city playgrounds during the summer vacation months.

The idea of creating a "town" within a playground was taken up enthusiastically by the city children, and before they knew it they were playing at having a town of their own . . .

The "Playtown" organization was built up step by step (recounts the author of this intriguing article). Voting day was set, candidates for Mayor, Directors of Police, Health, Safety and Recreation were called for and a speech-making campaign outlined. The children went to the polls and the right candidates were elected. The Playtown Mayor, an outstanding boy, solemnly promised to work for the betterment of the playground. The Police Chief promised to see to it that behaviour of the young citizens would leave nothing to be desired. The Director of Health promised to submit a program of Health Education for their approval.

Next day the Playtown Council held its first meeting. Plans were made for the promotion of separate Safety, Health and Athletic Weeks. The Supervisor realized that the "town" was going to be run on model lines. Wise counsel and guidance on his part would be needed. The Director of Safety saw to it that most of the children participated in a Safety Poster Contest. He rounded up those of ten years and over to visit the nearest Fire and Police Station to hear a talk on Safety Education. They got the thrill of inspecting the fire-fighting apparatus; and it was the Playtown Safety Director who courteously thanked the officials for their kindness.

The Director of Health organized for Health Week. Health education was absorbed through a poster competition. A number of the Playtown youngsters trooped off to inspect the City Health Department, and again it was the Playtown Health Director who thanked the city officials for their co-operation.

The Director of Athletics, meanwhile, had his work in hand. The children participated in sports graded to suit their years and ability. Tournaments and leagues were organized. Quiet games were played in the shade during the heat of the day. Throughout the holidays, handicrafts was a daily routine. Community singing, folk dancing, and visits to industrial plants added variety to the constructive program.

—Yes, the kiddies were just "at play". But how different from the aimless, misguided pastimes of the average schoolchild, at a "loose end" from late June till early September. And out of those few weeks of supervised pleasure, we may conclude our young Playtown friends learned more than we, even at voting age, had absorbed on the principles of town government and modern civics.

Spiking the Rumor

Frightful indeed was the rumor current in parts of Quebec towards the end of August. It was to the effect that the Federal Government was about to impose a tax on all future marriages. Some said the tax would be $100, others said it would be $150.

No one seems to know how the rumor started on its rounds, but it became sufficiently widespread for Mr. Charles Parent, M.P. for Quebec South and West, to obtain an official denial from the Minister of Justice and the Prime Minister. Mr. Lapointe is quoted as having said that such a tax would be contrary to state polcy, which is to encourage marriage.

On economic grounds the state policy, as enunciated by Mr. Lapointe, seems wise. Every marriage is a continuing source of increased revenue to the state. On the initial event, the state probably collects as much by indirect taxation as it would derive from a direct tax of the amounts suggested by the rumor-mongers. There are sales taxes on wedding presents and on home furnishings bought by the couple. There are income taxes on the many trades that profit from the wedding. There are taxes on the railway tickets for the honeymoon or on the gasoline used if the newly-weds take a motor trip.

Then, with the assumption of family responsibilities, the young man works harder, earns more and pays more national defence and income taxes. In the course of time, especially in the Province of Quebec, he acquires exemptions from part of these taxes, but the expense of feeding, clothing and educating these exemptions is not tax-free, so they are not a net loss to the state.

While the rumor is now officially dead, it is still permissible to wonder whether there may not have been some basis for it. A direct tax on marriages, low enough so as not to be prohibitory, would bring in extra present revenue without destroying a couple's usefulness as future taxpayers. The tax might also be used as a stimulus to recruiting by making it applicable only to civilian marriages. It might even be a deterrent to divorce, as some prudent couples would hesitate before sacrificing the tax already paid, even though the investment had depreciated.

Nevertheless, to fix the amount of the tax so that it would be productive but not prohibitory is a task that most statesmen would instinctively avoid. Moreover, in addition to the economic considerations, there are such matters as the B.N.A. Act and the solid sixty-five seats in the House of Commons. It is no wonder that the rumor was quickly put to death.

Another Obsolete Law

The number of useless, obsolete and forgotten laws that clutter up the statutes is hard to believe and every now and then another one is dug up to cause trouble.

It is seldom that one affects as many people as the law recently unearthed which has thrown insurance practices in Quebec out of order.

For years people have bought insurance policies with the idea that they are making an investment upon which they could borrow easily in time of need. Some busybody has discovered that away back in the last century there was a law put on the Quebec statute books whereby if a husband has his insurance policies made out in favor of his wife he or she can neither borrow any money on them, nor can the beneficiary be changed except in the case of the wife's death.

On September of this year a court judgment upheld this law and thousands of policy holders find that they are holding policies which are useless to them until they die, and the insurance companies find they have made extensive loans which they had no right to do, and which they will never be able to collect unless the law is changed.

Premier Godbout has stated that the question of repealing this old law will be one of the items to be studied during the next session of the legislature.

In the meantime, it has been suggested that the whole of the Statutes of Quebec might well be gone over and most of them thrown out or amended.

Blessings on Thee, Barefaced Boy

It is not safe to assume that everybody living in a town is interested in improving it. In every community there is a large proportion of bandits, rebels and saboteurs. This latter group are to be found attending our schools by the hundreds. They are just normal healthy boys and girls, but they would as soon destroy as build. They have no compunction about cutting their initials in a new desk, defacing a newly-painted wall or writing their names in the concrete of a new sidewalk. And there's nothing you can do about it — except remember that you were once a barefaced boy (or girl, for we are told that it was girls who made a mess of the new concrete in front of Trinity church). —Newmarket Era

Air Cadet League Has New Periodical

Ottawa — "A new monthly aviation magazine designed to meet the interests of Canadian youth and published by the Air Cadet League of Canada is now being released throughout Canada", states Squadron Leader R. W. Frost, R.C.A.F., who is the League's Acting National Director. "The magazine will be distributed to Air Cadet units by subscription and to the public through newstands", he said. "Its name is 'Canadian Air Cadet' ".

"This first issue of "Canadian Air Cadet" answers the many logical questions that have come up," he said, "It explains why the Air Cadet League was necessary, how it was formed, who is directing it, how individual communities may establish Air Cadet Flights and Squadrons and what form Air Cadet training will take."

"In a letter to the League, appearing on the fly-leaf, H. R. H. The Duke of Kent extends recognition to the Air Cadets and their magazine. His picture and that of the Governor General of Canada, who is the League's patron, appear on adjoining pages."

In special messages both Air Marshal W.A . Bishop, V.C., honorary president of the League, and Ralph P. Bell, Director General of Aircraft Production, suggest to Air Cadets that they make the most of the training offered them, "You will have a unique opportunity for education," Air Marshal Bishop declares in his guest editorial, "and apart from the war-time side of the picture an opportunity of learning much about an industry and a science that will definitely be one of the most important features in post-war life" Mr. Bell says of aircraft production, "Whenever you have a chance, study the industry, study the machines, so you'll be ready when the opportunity comes."

What Britons Are Fighting For

Nazis Cannot Filch Beauty of Present and Glory of Past

London, Oct. 14 (CP) — Thus writes Patience Strong, in The Mirror, of wartime England :

Water-meadows rich and green where herds of cattle graze. An old stone bridge round which there clings a dream of by-gone days . . . Streams where pollard willows stoop and graceful swans glide by. Pools that hold the lights and shadows of the changing sky.

Across the fields the Minster towers rise up as if to crown — the quaint old streets and houses of the little market town . . . This is what we're fighting for ! For this we shall hold fast. The beauty that is England — and the glory of the past.

Opinions from the Press

SOME GARAGEMEN WOULD AGREE

A local garage man suggests that a continuation of compulsory closing of service stations at 7 p.m. after the war would be a desirable move. After all, there is no reason why such places should have to keep open all hours in order to accommodate people who would have no need to be served at late hours if they would exercise a little thoughtfulness.

"Carrying On"

The phrase "Carrying On" is a familiar one these days. Its very sound betokens confidence and determination. To no institution in existence is the phrase more applicable, probably, than to the British and Foreign Bible Society, especially in these days of strife and warfare.

The Bible Society idea of circulating the Holy Scriptures, without note or comment, among all countries and peoples, orginated in London. The Society's headquarters is in London, where it has been carrying on for over 130 years.

The London Bible House has suffered considerably from bombings in its neighborhood, but from here the Scriptures are still sent to many parts of the world. The American Bible Society has taken over some areas where the B. & F. Society cannot operate. During the present war the British Society and its sister societies in Scotland and America have seen to it that Scriptures were provided for the armed forces of friend and foe. New Testaments have been presented to soldiers, sailors and airmen willing to receive them. Scripture portions in various languages have been supplied also to prison and internment camps. The Canadian Branch also has been doing its part, and it appeals for our support in carrying on the work at home, as well as helping the parent society in London.

One of the Society's colporteurs visited a humble home in Eastern Canada. The father was away looking for work, and the mother was out at work or else visiting a neighbor. A little girl of ten or eleven answered his knock. She said they had no Bibles and no money to buy any. The colporteur asked her is she could read, and when assured that she could, he gave her a Gospel of St. Mark, telling her to read it to her little brothers and sisters. On visiting the home a year later he received a joyful greeting from the little girl, and she told him that she had kept her promise to read the little book to her brothers and sisters and that she had memorized the whole Gospel. When satisfied of this he was so pleased that he gave the child a nicely bound Bible. He felt that by so doing he was fulfilling the great purpose of the Society to give to all the boys and girls of the land the privilege of reading and learning the Word of God.

(Lachute branch of the Bible Society will hold its annual meeting in the United Church, on Sunday evening, Nov. 2nd. — See church meetings, page five).

FRENCH IN SURPRISE ATTACK CAPTURED TWO GERMAN STRONGHOLDS NEAR VERDUN

By H. H. GORDON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

In the space of a few days 25 years ago French troops recaptured positions around Verdun that Germany had fought for throughout the spring and summer of 1916 and sacrificed hundreds of thousands of lives.

Earlier in the year when the German Crown Prince hurled his army at the big French fortress on the River Meuse, Gen. Henri Petain's heroic defence saved the city itself, but the enemy remained in possession of forts which formed part of its outer defences.

Relief came when the Allies started their Somme offensive in July, the Germans being forced to withdraw several divisions from the area. Then it was that Gen. Charles Mangin was entrusted with the task of putting an end to the threat to the big fortress.

Throughout the early autumn the French laid careful plans and on Oct. 24, 1916 after intense artillery preparation the attack was launched. In misty weather the French soldiers leaped over the parapets of their trenches for the drive over a front of more than four miles.

Captured Two Forts

Colonial troops from Morroco quickly overwhelmed the Germans occupying Fort Doaumont on the left of the advance after taking the village of the same name which had been evacuated. Other forces on the right found more difficult obstacles and it was not until Nov. 3 that Fort Vaux, another strong point in the enemy line, was overcome.

Recapture of these forts gave the French control of the entire advanced line of defences covering Verdun east of the Meuse. Douaumont, one of the strongest fortified positions in the Verdun defence system had been captured by the Germans on Feb. 25. It was recovered May 22, but two days later the enemy reoccupied it after a violent struggle.

Mangin's recapture of the two forts consecrated the victory of Verdun in the eyes of the whole world. Gen. Von Hindenburg, reporting to the Kaiser at the time admitted that his generals had been outmanoeuvred. "In supending our attacks on Verdun (following the opening of the Allies' Somme offensive) we counted on our adversaries themselves adopting, in this region, a purely defensive attitude; our hope was not realized," the German general said.

Significance In Gort Dispatches

CANADIAN PRESS WRITER SEES HINT ON STATE OF PREPAREDNESS

H. M. Peters — in Weekly War Commentary

The authoritative answer to those critics who have demanded a pell-mell British dash across the North Sea to attempt a diversion while Germany has most of her strength tied up in Russia has become available through publication of Lord Gort's dispatches.

The commander of the British Expeditionary Force in France from September, 1939, to May, 1940, told in simple military language just what happens when a force with major deficiencies in equipment, lacking adequate air strength, meets a better-equipped enemy.

His force, its high hopes shattered but its courage high, had to be evacuated from the crowded, blood-stained beaches of Dunkerque. But the lessons learned then are clear.

Here are Lord Gort's findings: An expeditionary force, if it is to be used in a first-class war, must be equipped on a scale commensurate with the task it is called upon to fulfil.

"The days are past when armies can be hurriedly raised, equipped and placed in the field, for modern war demands the ever-increasing use of complicated material."

The question of whether in the long, busy months since Dunkerque Britain has built or otherwise acquired sufficient material for an attack on the continent, is of course a matter of high strategic policy.

But the fact the government has seen fit to issue Lord Gort's report at this juncture — usually such historic documents await conclusion of a war before being made public — indicates that there is no intention of attempting to force the German position with a partially-prepared army.

A very appreciative letter has been received from a ten-year old London girl. The letter is published herewith :

466 Woolwich Rd., Charleton
London, S. E. 7.
September 13th, 1941.

Dear Ladies :

I am the lucky little girl to receive a lovely outfit for the winter. My name is Doreen Saunders, my age is ten years. I have two sisters, Winnie is twelve, and Iris is six. My dear Mummy died three years ago and we live with our Granny, who is a widow, and she works very hard for us and is very kind to us.

We have been through terrible times with the air raids. My youngest sister gets fits through them. My Granny takes her to the Great Ormond St. Hospital for sick children, and they are doing her a lot of good.

We will be very glad when this terrible war is over and all our dear ones all come home again. I ask God every night in my prayers to bless all them who are fighting for "VICTORY" for us, which I am sure will come in God's good time.

My Granny thanks you for her lovely parcel, I think I have said all.

Again thanking your for all your kindness,

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) Doreen Saunders

God Bless You All !

CAR CRASHES INTO BUCKINGHAM STORE

Ottawa Youth Badly Injured

Buckingham — Rene Goulet, 18, of Ottawa, suffered a possible fractured skull and lacerations about the face and head when an automobile in which he was a passenger crashed into a grocery store on Sunday.

Rosaire Charbonneau, 22, of East Templeton, Que., who was driving the car, was treated for cuts about the head and face but was later allowed to go home.

Police said the car was proceeding south into Buckingham when it crashed through two large windows in the store.

Damage to the store was estimated at about $300. The car was badly wrecked.

DEATH

BROWN — At Lachute Road on Saturday morning, October 18th, 1941, Walter E. Brown, beloved husband of Jeannie Black, in his 72nd. year.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

BROWN — Mrs. Walter E. Brown and family wish to thank all friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy extended them in their recent bereavement.

IN MEMORIAM

MACK — In loving memory of Georgena (née Allard), who passed away suddenly Oct. 29th, 1936, aged 23 years. — Gordon and Kay, Nova Scotia.

Gone from this earth so swiftly,
Plucked like a flower in bloom,
So young, so fair, so happy,
Yet called away so soon.
In the city of light on a hill far away,
Where the sun never sets, nor the flowers decay,
She has gone to her rest, free from sorrow and pain,
Where in God's own time we shall meet her again.

ROGERS — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Samuel T. Rogers, who passed away Oct. 24, 1936. — Ever remembered by her husband and family.

We miss the ever cheerful face,
The voice we loved is stilled,
No other one can take the place
That our departed filled.

STUDY GROUP IS ADDRESSED BY LOCAL CITIZEN

The Study Group of the Lachute W.I. held its October meeting in the High School on Tuesday afternoon, with the convenor, Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, in the chair.

Major G. G. Mitchell gave a most interesting and instructive talk on his recent trip to South America, telling about the habits and manners of the people in the many countries he visited. To travel in any country a passport is needed, also a bill of health from the doctor; in addition to which some republics demand as many as eight photographs. The traveller is advised to avoid all unwashed fruit, unpeeled vegetables and impure drinking water.

Major Mitchell sailed from New York on the "Argentina" — which took three weeks to reach South America. As the vessel moved from the pier the band played "Royal Anchors" and "Roll Out the Barrel". During his trip the speaker visited some of the most beautiful places of the world. Florida, the beauty of which no printed word has ever been able to describe; Brazil, founded in 1500 by the Portugese and which, establishing its independence in 1822, became a republic in 1888 — now with a population of 47 millions and exporting two thirds of the world's coffee; Buenos Aires, with a population of 3½ million and about the size of Chicago; Panama, closely guarded by soldiers and its minefields extending 5 or 6 miles out in the ocean . . .

Argentina, said the speaker, has some of the best dressed people in the world. Rio was described most vividly, with its carnival, its music, and its beautiful costumes.

Major Mitchell exhibited many fine pictures, also a snake-skin.

A vote of thanks was extended by Mrs. Roy Fraser.

Christian Science Sunday Services

"Probation After Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 26th.

The Golden Text is from Hebrews 3: 12, 13. "Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God. But exhort one another daily, while it is called Today."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "If the clouds be full of rain, they empty themselves upon the earth: and if the tree fall toward the south, or toward the north, in the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be." (Ecclesiastes 11: 3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be." So we read in Ecclesiastes. This text has been transformed into the popular proverb 'As the tree falls, so it must lie'. As man falleth asleep, so shall he awake. As death findeth mortal man, so shall he be after death, until probation and growth shall effect the needed change." (Page 291).

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Y.P.U. Convention Held At Ormstown, Que.

The 12th Annual Convention of the Montreal Presbytery Young People's Union of the United Church was held at St. Paul's Church, Ormstown, Saturday and Sunday, October 18th and 19th.

The theme of the Convention was "A Living Faith" and the theme speaker, Rev. W. C. Berry, of Lachine, delivered three addresses entitled, "How can we find God?", "Is the Church necessary to the Good Life?", and "The Faith by which we live." 150 Delegates were registered.

W. J. Hindess, of St. Lambert Y.P.U., was re-elected president, and Miss June Patterson, of Cote des Neiges Y.P.U., was elected vice-president.

Rev. Kenneth Beaton of the United Church Mission Board, Toronto, was present and spoke very urgently on the importance of missions.

A Communion Service, conducted by Rev. C. L. Taylor of Ormstown, and the installation of officers conducted by Rev. K. C. MacMillan, Terminal Park, preceded the evening church service.

Officiates at Christening Of His Own Grandchild

The Rev. James Taylor, of Arnprior, spent the week-end here visiting his son, Mr. Angus Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, and officiated, with the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, at the christening of his granddaughter, the second child of Mr. and Mrs. A. Taylor, at the United Church service Sunday morning.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor, who is in retirement from the United Church ministry after many years of service, gave the sermon and took part in the devotions.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Scott was also christened in the Baptismal ceremony at this service.

Annual Meeting of Bible Society in the United Church, Nov. 2

The annual meeting of the Lachute Branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society will be held in the United Church on Sunday, November 2nd, at 7 p.m.

The District Secretary, the Rev. J. B. M. Armour, M.A., will give an illustrated lecture on "Lands under the Cross of War". Mr. Armour is the Society's General Secretary in Canada.

A cordial invitation is extended to all. The Bible Society is serving nearly every Branch of the Church at home and abroad by providing Scripture translations in over 700 languages. An offering will be taken to assist the Society.

Brownsb'g United Church Anniversary Gatherings

Brownsburg — On Sunday next, Anniversary services of the Brownsburg United Church will be held — with a special gathering on Tuesday evening, the Young People having changed their meetting to Monday evening and invited the Lachute Y.P.U. as their guests — thus falling in line with the Anniversary arrangements.

The preacher for Sunday morning will be the Rev. W. L. Tucker, B.A., of Montreal. Mr. Tucker visited here in his student days and is looking forward to a renewal of acquaintanceship. Mr. Jas. Parkes, also of Montreal, will assist and remain for the evening service. Mr. Frank Steere will render a vocal contribution in addition to the choir.

The Rev. John Pitts will be the special speaker on Tuesday evening, taking as his theme "Thank God for Britain". Other features of the occasion will include vocal numbers and a historical sketch by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, B.A., B.D., of Lachute. Other ministers will be present and bring greetings.

This year marks the 23rd anniversary of the present building, the 87th of the first building, and the 100th of the beginning of the Church in Brownsburg. The cause of the Church was evidently upon the heart of the first settler in this community for the land on which the first building was erected was the gift of Mr. George Brown, whose name Brownsburg bears. As C. Thomas describes him in his History of Argenteuil: "A man of enterprise and great influence, a Magistrate and Captain of Militia later promoted to the rank of Major."

A very cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend these gatherings and hear these special speakers.

United C.G.I.T. Doings

On Saturday, October 18th, the C.G.I.T. members held a weiner roast. Twenty-nine girls hiked up to the mountain with their leaders, Mrs. W. Freeland and Mrs. G. Clark, to attend the outing. A paper-chase across the mountain was an interesting item on the program, and after the meal a singsong was enjoyed, concluding with "Taps".

On Monday, October 20th, the C.G.I.T. held their first dramatics meeting, 55 girls answering the roll-call. Mrs. G. Clark gave some very helpful pointers on the subject, after which Miss Beryl Underhill took charge of the meeting. Piano solos, including Beethoven's Minuet in G, were played by Miss Joan Percival. Mrs. G. Clark gave readings, and Miss Lorna Giles then favored with "Reverie in Church". An amusing skit, "Lovin' Leroy" was put on by Miss Mae Gordon and Miss Marjorie Leggett, and a musical skit, "The Lilac Tree", by Misses Lorna Giles, Elsie Earle and Doris Mitchell.

Brownsburg Y.P.U.

Brownsburg — The Young People's meeting last week took the form of a social gathering following a program of devotional exercises bearing on the season of Thanksgiving.

The minister, Rev. S. J. Pike, gave the topic, citing the origin in a two-fold way — in 1620 when 102 Pilgrims landed on the bleak and rocky coast of Cape Cod Bay with the cherished right to worship God in their own humble manner. Though almost half their number died the first six months, having dug more graves than they had built huts, yet, amidst trials, hardships and privations, they erected the altar of Thanksgiving which we are commemorating today. Then again, from the shores of Newfoundland in 1579, during the Frobisher expedition, weary yet unconquered souls sat down to ponder over the many mysterious visits of Almighty God to this old yet ever new earth.

Following the devotional period games, tests and refreshments afforded an enjoyable social hour, brought to a close by community singing.

Much credit is due the committee, Misses Margaret Gordon, Edna Woods and Muriel Davidson.

This week the meeting was of a missionary character, when Mr. Harold Mullins gave an interesting paper on China and the work of Dr. Hartwell.

Next week the Young People's meeting will be held on Monday evening in co-operation with the Church Anniversary gatherings, when the Lachute United Church Young People's will be the guests of the Society.

EMPIRE SCOUT CREW

Former Boy Scouts from different parts of the Empire and other ports of the world have formed themselves into a Deep Sea Rover Scout Crew, with headquarters at the Tweedsmuir Room, the Scout guest rendez-vous at Halifax.

LAYMEN'S ANNUAL SUPPER GATHERING, LACHUTE UNITED CH.

This year's "men's supper", given last evening in the Lachute United Church, was one of the largest and most successful ever held. The "get-together" comprised delegates from Brownsburg, Cushing, Lachute, St. Andrews, St. Therese, Shawbridge, Morin Hts., and Namur.

A very tasty and hearty turkey supper was provided by the ladies of the church, who were highly complimented on its excellence.

A few remarks of welcome were given by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, after which Dr. Munroe, secretary of Montreal Presbytery, called the roll. Practically all branches had representatives present.

Congratulations were extended Rev. Mr. Rosborough, for the splendid progress that was being made each year and particularly in these meetings which had such a good influence.

"We have much to be thankful for," said Dr. Munroe, "when we consider the Mother Country. Britain has stood four square against all the storms that have raged against her. If any should be inspired, it should be us and among all the things we strive to have preserved, the church must have its place. Any sacrifices we may make for the church that she may meet the hour are small in comparison to those already made."

Dr. Thompson, Minister of St. Luke's United Church, expressed his pleasure at being present. "The world in an awful mess," he said, "was a true wording of present conditions — but we have a Saviour to look to for salvation. Think of Christ as being lifted up before all the world. Wherever we may be, we receive our inspiration from Jesus Christ and it is important that He be held up. I see in Jesus Christ, the Saviour of the world, for after this war those in defeat must look for a new leader."

Regrets at being unable to attend were received from Major Bruce Hunter and Mr. Guy Tombs.

The address of the evening was given by Dr. Endicott, General Secretary of Missionary and Maintenance work for the whole United Church of Canada, who held his audience spell-bound while giving real facts and figures, and in fits of laughter when he related some of the experiences of his ministerial life. Referring firstly to the financial drive he gave a report that showed the church was not dead as some would have us believe. Much has been raised to assist those churches in need and to help the Missionary and Maintenance Fund.

In his remarks he referred to people who, like those shooting arrows, have a sense of direction, who know what should be done, — have the equipment, but fail to do it.

"What are you aiming at?" he asked. "You have all the equipment, a beautiful church and surroundings, which should make all feel better. You have the standard for local work, but what about the outside? I meet people who do not believe in missions. True we have withdrawn from Japan, but Jesus withdrew many times, but will be back again in Japan. You can't withdraw freedom from the world and have it withdrawn for ever. We're coming back. The British troops also withdrew. We all believe freedom is coming and I believe Jesus will reign over China and Japan. There will be only one conqueror and we are his ambassadors."

He spoke of the scarcity of ministers and asked in how many homes the atmosphere was such as to make a boy wish to become a minister. "People talk a great deal of propaganda," he said. "What is the propaganda of the church like? Hitler couldn't get the Britons to believe all he thought of them, but with the Church and its ministers — we are led to believe some of the things we hear which are really detrimental. Many a man loves to boost his lodge or some society he belongs to, yet hates to talk about or be seen attending a prayer meeting".

Likening the Church to the present position the United States find themselves in, he said, "There are a lot of isolationists in the Church who think they can stay at home and let the others do it . . . When we pass a resolution against the Government, that doesn't help any. When we pass a mean remark about the church, that doesn't help any. We must act. We must shoot all our arrows and not cheapen the Church."

"Everything that ought to be done can be done," he said. "We're going to win a great battle. All God's tomorrows will be better and brighter than God's todays."

In closing Dr. Endicott referred to a parade of old veterans, the men of today and the youth, each of which was asked to carry a banner bearing a slogan of their feelings. They read as follows :—

"We have been, in days of old,
True and strong and brave and bold."

"What ye were, in days of yore,
We at present are and more."

"Hereafter at our country's call,
We promise to eclipse you all."

"With appreciation of the past, faith in the present and hope for the future" he said, "I call you to a great task".

Dr. Mowatt, of St. Andrews East, emphasized that the day of opportunity was here, and was assured that after hearing Dr. Endicott we would rise and meet our obligations to the full.

Appreciation was expressed by Jas. W. McGibbon, M.P., after which the meeting closed with the singing of the national anthem.

Marriage of Former St. Andrews Couple

DeWitt - Watson

A wedding of widespread interest was that of two popular young people formerly of St. Andrews East, later of Montreal and Ottawa. The bride, Janet, is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Watson, Lachute Road, and the bridegroom, John Henry, is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob DeWitt, formerly of Montreal. The ceremony, performed by the Rev. Dr. Wm. MacMillan, took place in the Presbyterian Church on Saturday afternoon, October 18th. Ferns and 'mums formed the decorations.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Dorothy Weir, of Cushing. The bride's gown was white silk jersey made with bouffant skirt. She wore a shoulder-length veil of white tulle fastened with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bridesmaid's frock, made in the same style as the bride's, was of dusty pink silk jersey. She had a short veil of matching tulle and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The best man was Robert Watson, only brother of the bride. The ushers were William DeWitt, youngest brother of the groom, and Hugh Robertson, cousin of the bride.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Judd and Miss Muriel Judd, Vaudreuil, Misses A. S. and H. L. DeWitt, Montreal, Mr. Alex Stalker, Montreal, Misses Evelyn Heath and Lois Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Ottawa.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which the bridal pair left for a motor trip in the province of Ontario. . . They will reside in Ottawa. The bride's going away costume was a frock of light blue wool crepe, a black wool coat and accessories of black suede.

Married at Verdun

Murdoch - McDonald

The marriage of Miss Martha McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David McDonald, Verdun, to Mr. Geo. H. Murdoch, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Murdoch, Brownsburg, took place recently in St. Clement's Anglican Church, Verdun.

The Rev. T. W. Norman, pastor of the church, officiated, and Mr. Titt, organist, played the Wedding March.

Miss Mary McDonald, sister of the bride, was her only attendant, while the groom's cousin, Mr. Walter Murdoch, was best man.

Married at St. Andrews E.

Rodger - MacMillan

The marriage of Jean Isabel, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Wm. MacMillan, and Ernest Warren, son of the late George W. and of Mrs. Rodger, of Rodgerdale, River Rouge, took place on Wednesday evening, October 15th, quietly in the Presbyterian Church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Malcolm Campbell, of First Presbyterian Church, Montreal, a college friend of Dr. MacMillan, who had married the parents of the bride.

Mr. C. B. Harrison presided at the organ. The bride was given away by her father and was attended by Miss Agnes Rodger, sister of the groom. Mr. George M. Rodger attended his brother as best man.

The bride's costume was olive green crepe, eyelet-embroidered, with a corsage bouquet of yellow roses and white heather. The bridesmaid wore a frock of black crepe and a corsage of red roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the manse.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. M. A. Courtney, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Malcolm Campbell, and Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Mansfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rodger left for a honeymoon trip to Toronto and the Niagara district. They will reside in Rodgerdale.

Higher Death Rate Among German Babies

Vitality of Infant "Herrenvolk" Is Not Impressive

(By Mail)

London — The death rate of German babies last year was still much higher than the infant mortality rate in England, comparing the figures for 126 English large towns with German towns having a population of over 100,000.

The latter statistics, from the Reich's Journal of Public Health, which have now become available, give an infantile mortality rate during 1940 of 63 per 1,000 as against the English rate of 51. The German rate is the highest for the last four years, for each of which it has been at least 10 per 1,000 higher than the English rate. In no one year since the Nazis bluffed their way to power has the number of the "Herrenvolk's" surviving infants approached the English total.

GRENVILLE NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Matthews and son, Walter, of Kilmar, were week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Murray. Mrs. Fred Cousins and infant son were also recent visitors.

OBITUARY

St. Andrews Resident Is Laid to Rest

THE LATE WALTER E. BROWN

St. Andrews E. — The funeral service for the late Walter Edwin Brown took place on Sunday afternoon, October 19th, at the United Church. The Rev. J. A. Mowatt, the pastor, conducted the service, which was largely attended. The chief mourners are his wife; two sons, W. Rosswell Brown, Lachute and Clarence, at home; two daughters, Mrs. Herbert Coulman, Ottawa and Mrs. Edwin Keatley, Grenville; also three granddaughters, Betty Brown, Heather Coulman and Hannah Keatley. Three brothers survive — Mr. Robert Brown, Applehill, Ont., Mr. David Brown, Los Angeles, Cal., and Mr. Scott Brown, Montreal. One sister, Mrs. William Cleland, Lachute, had predeceased him.

Many beautiful flowers were the gifts of relatives, friends and the congregation.

Mr. Brown, who was in his 72nd year, had borne a long illness with great patience. His parents were late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown of St. Louis de Gonzague, Que. Mr. Brown had been a resident of this community for many years.

The pall-bearers were three brothers-in-law, Messrs. David Black, Alex Doig and Nelson Morrison, a nephew, Mr. Leonard Boyd, and Messrs. W. J. Rodger and J. P. Bradley. One brother, Mr. Scott Brown was present. Interment took place in the local Protestant cemetery.

CAMP LIBRARIES

There is a steady demand for books for our soldiers, sailors, and airmen. If you are sending books do use some discrimination in the books you send. I work at the I.O.D.E.'s Camp's Library in Saint John and we get a great many books but we still get some awful duds sent in. Books unsuitable because of their age — it is not much of a compliment to send out a book that is brown with age. Books do not have to be brand new but do not send the kind of book that you do not want to keep on your own book-shelves. We send boxes of books to the Merchant Navy. These books are not returned to the library but a note is enclosed asking that they may be passed on to some other ship. And it takes a lot of books to keep them supplied in a busy port. There are many ships that have nothing to read on them. The men are always asking for some non-fiction as there are many well-educated men in the Merchant Navy these days. It is sad to think that many of our boxes of books are in Davy Jones' locker now. Many of the Camps for the Army and the Air Force are in isolated places where there is a great need for reading matter, so be generous with it, but do use discrimination in what you send. Magazines ten and fifteen years old have come in and you would be surprised at the number of people who have sent in women's magazines. Keep up the good work of sending reading matter to the Forces.

DITTY BAGS

Ditty bags for the sailors are being filled all over Canada for Christmas presents. Miss Alice Fairweather, Navy League Convenor for the I.O.D.E., in New Brunswick has compiled a list of things suitable for filling them. She sees a great many sailors at the Seamen's Institute and has learned the things they like to get. The ditty-bag is the only present many of the men in the Merchant Navy get. The bag itself is useful as it holds their personal things afterwards. Now for the list. About the most valuable is a housewife (pronounced husif). This is a case with pockets and a flannel leaf for needles. It should have scissors, needles, safety pins, black and white thread, navy blue and grey darning yarn, thimbles, etc., (this is the thing the men mentioned most); small Testament; socks, pair of mittens; handkerchiefs; face cloth and small towel; gum; cigarettes; tooth brush and toothpowder (preferred to paste); writing paper and pencils; playing cards; dominoes; raisins; tin of oxo or bovril; chocolate bars; package or tin of toffee; Digests or other small magazines or story books; tin of adhesive tape; foot bandages or plasters; safety razor blades. I have given this list because it might be helpful in choosing gifts for any of the men in the armed forces.

COMPROMISE ON LIPSTICK

There comes a day in the life of most growing girls when they feel it is time to use make-up. Mother invariably thinks they are too young and the struggle is on, with lipstick usually being the chief bone of contention. Perhaps it is time for compromise. Mother can show them that lipstick and bright finger-nails are not in good taste to wear to school but she can compromise by letting them have them for their parties, dates and social events, generally. Instead of squelching them, let her go along and help her buy the proper shade. If mother is not up in her lipsticks, most sales-girls are equipped to help. There is a lipsalve in tubes like lipsticks, that has been in use as long as I can remember. It comes in both white and red, and the red is so natural that its use is not apparent, but it does keep the lips soft and moist. Probably the girl might not feel so put-upon if she were allowed to use it for school. Liquid nail-polish is so universally used that even young girls feel rather naked without it. Let them have two shades. A natural, unobstructive variety for school use and then a giddier one for occasions. This has been known to cure the girl who bites her nails. Buy small bottles as it gets thick and is harder to use successfully.

CARAMEL PUDDING

1 Cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons corn starch, 2 cups milk, ¼ cup cold water, 1 egg.

Put the sugar in a saucepan and cook slowly until carmelized, stirring frequently. I keep an old saucepan for use in making caramel pudding and sauces. Scald the milk, moisten the cornstarch with cold water and add the beaten egg to it, and mix well. Pour the scalded milk slowly over this mixture, then add the caramel. Cook slowly until the mixture has thickened, then cook for three minutes longer, stirring steadily. Pour into a serving dish and chill thoroughly. Serve with cream.

TOMATO HAMBURG

Brown a pound of Hamburg in a little fat in the frying pan. Stir it gently with a fork to break up the lumps. When it has browned, add a can of condensed soup, either tomato or vegetable, cover and cook slowly for about an hour. If necessary, thicken with flour rubbed smooth with cold water, before serving. Season to taste. Instead of potatoes I sometimes serve this with spaghetti, or hot biscuits. This is a convenient meat dish as it may be prepared ahead of time and re-heated when needed.

It is the quality of human life that counts, not merely its length.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD MAKES THIRD FILM

New glamor girl in Hollywood's younger set is Carolyn Lee, seven-year-old natural-born mimic. Here she whacks a drum—just enjoying herself . . . At present, little Carolyn is making her third picture, "Birth of the Blues."

What little girl doesn't like to dress up in Mother's best dress and jewelry?

Takes A Woman To 'Wangle' Man

Lady Astor Heads Delegation Asking For Women Diplomats

London, Oct. 21 (CP) —Twenty-two women, headed by Miss Thelma Gazalet, M.P., sought at a conference with Anthony Eden, minister for foreign affairs, the appointment of women diplomats.

"A woman is far more skilful than a man at wangling another man around, and that is what you want in a diplomat," said Lady Astor, one of the delegates who represented more than 100,000 other women in nursing, engineering, welfare work, teaching and a score of other jobs.

USUALLY SEEN ON HALLOWE'EN

Are you looking for a novel dish for Hallowe'en? If you are, the recipes below will thrill you :

Lima and Celery Salad

2 Cups cooked, dried Limas, 1 cup diced celery, ½ green pepper, minced, ½ cup French dressing.

Mix ingredients an hour or more before serving. To serve, arrange on lettuce leaves. Place a spoonful of mayonnaise on top and sprinkle mayonnaise with minced green pepper.

Angel Rennet-Custard

1 Package vanilla or orange rennet powder, 1 pint milk (ordinary or homogenized), 1 cup broken angel cake, ½ cup finely cut blanched almonds, ½ cup finely cut blanched almonds, ½ finely cut cream.

Divide the angel cake, almonds and candied fruits among 6 dessert glasses. Make rennet-custards according to directions on package, pouring it over the cake-fruit-nut mixture in each glass. Do not move until firm — about 10 minutes. Chill. When ready to serve top with whipped cream.

Jack-o'-lantern Tarts

2 to 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup water, 6 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 cups milk, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 2 teaspoons butter, 1½ teaspoons vanilla, 6 baked tart shells, 6 baked jack-o'-lantern faces, cut out of pastry.

Combine chocolate, ½ cup sugar, and water in saucepan. Cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Combine flour, remaining sugar, and salt in top of double boiler. Add milk gradually, stirring well; then add chocolate syrup. Place over boiling water and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Then continue cooking 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour small amount of mixture over egg, stirring vigorously; return to double boiler and blend. Remove from boiling water, add butter and vanilla. Cool. Turn into tart shells. Arrange jack-o'-lanteren cut-outs on top of filling.

Party Games

A sure recipe for party morale is to plan easy-to-learn games that every one can take part in. The newest game craze is Bonanza, an ingenious fast-moving blend of Michigan, rummy, etc. with a circular Bonanza cloth that happily eliminates all memory exactions. Dig is another party game favorite that's easy-to-learn; you scramble for letters in a "gold mine" with little miner's picks.

Luscious Sauces Give The Magic Touch

The tang of cool weather is in the air, and appetites are keen. Substantial desserts are in order, and perhaps the most satisfactory are the simple but hearty puddings — cottage and fruit and spice puddings, baked and served hot. The plainest of these is transformed by a good sauce into a highly tempting dish. You can make luscious sauces in five minutes if you use these recipes made with sweetened condensed milk. They are magically failure proof as well as easy to make, and they are real taste teasers.

Chocolate Marshmallow Sauce

2 Squares unsweetened chocolate, 1-1/3 cups (15 oz. can) sweetened condensed milk, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 8 marshmallows, quartered, ½ to ½ cup hot water.

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and stir over boiling water 5 minutes until mixture thickens. Add marshmallows which have been quartered. Stir until they begin to blend but are not fully dissolved. Add salt and hot water, amount depending on the consistency desired. Makes 2 or 2½ cups.

Lemon Cream Sauce

⅔ Cup (7½ oz. can) sweetened condensed milk, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind.

Blend thoroughly sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice and grated lemon rind. Stir until mixture thickens. Makes about 1 cup.

Note: May be thinned with water to any desired consistency.

OLD FURS REVAMPED IN ECONOMY TREND

There Is No Tax on a Person's Ingenuity in Turning Discards Into Useful Pieces

By HELEN FORRIST HALL, Associated Press Staff Writer

New York, Oct. 13 (AP) — All right, all right! We women are foolish. Maybe the men know about it. But we still can save our face and look extravagantly pretty even though we missed the boat on buying those new furs.

The answer is old furs. If cash is low, why not take what you have and put your imagination to work? It's surprising how much chic can be pulled out of a mere scrap of fur. It may be anything from a bracelet to a tippet, a button to a cape, but whatever you have can go to make something in fashion.

In cutting down a large item such as a coat — into a jacket, weskit or capelet — see that as much of the fur as possible is utilized, then hang onto the scraps. Creating unusual gadgets is real fun.

To start with, if the pieces are not too valuable, you even may experiment with color. Fancy colors are smart in small items. A very uptown New York milliner, wanting a certain high shade of pink for a hat and muff, dipped white fox into benzine which was tinted with oil paint and got the desired color.

Picked Up $60

Dried, the furs were spanked into fluffiness, and the result was a swish little hat and gay muff, topped with a rose or two, for which the customer was charged $60 !

Persion lamb sleeves, which slip on the arm and stay firm by means of elastic bands, have been brought out by one designer. They may be worn over coats, suits and streets dresses. You might try the idea with other furs.

Fur bags, purses and muffs have been gaining in popularity and add a rich note to simple costume. Nearly every town affords a shop or artisan who will make them up, or patterns may be found in home sewing magazines. The same is true of gloves made entirely of fur, or fur-trimmed. One designer creates long suede gloves with red fox cuffs which may be turned down into a muff.

Save the Bits

A well known designer creates link chain necklaces and bracelets and cuts out leopard, backed by green felt, for a lily to wear at the lapel. Another designer appliques flat caracul flowers around the hips and at the lapel of simple black afternoon suits and dresses, outlining them with black wool yarn.

Don't overlook the fur bandings, peplum (often detachable), pockets and trims in evidence this season.

SEEDS FOR BRITAIN SHOULD BE SENT IN DECEMBER, JANUARY

Macdonald College—In response to inquiries from Canadian Women's Institutes as to whether England and Wales will again need garden seeds for 1942, such as were sent from the Branches in Canada last year, a letter from Miss Edith Walker, Assistant Secretary of the National Federation of Women's Institutes for England and Wales, has been received. Grateful thanks to the Canadian Institutes is expressed, and a list enclosed of the most needed seeds, with the request that these be sent in December and January at the latest, so that they may be distributed in time for the gardening season, which is much earlier in the British Isles than in Canada.

Following is a list of the most necessary seeds: Onion, leek, carrot, peas, cauliflower, haricot bean, American pea bean, French bean, tomato, Land of America cress, sweet corn, large sunflower. (This last for chicken feed).

NEW PARTY TOGS FOR HALLOWE'EN

What Well-Dressed Witch Will Wear for Oct. 31 Festivities

Toronto, Oct. 21 (CP) — Dress up for Hallowe'en — Friday, Oct. 31st. Have a party. Gay and eery costumes may be made at home for next to nothing. And it's a better break for the neighborhood to bob apples than to celebrate at the expense of a neighbor's backsteps or broken windows.

For as little as 50 cents, scarily spooky regalia may be stitched up in paper muslin fabric. You say you don't sew? Then learn in a hurry. Even an authentic clown costume is an easy assignment for the beginner. The ruffled collar is made in a jiffy from a straight strip, if you use the fool-proof ruffler and hemstitch attachments. A good-looking cornucopia hat and a ruffled witch's collar are just a few of the distinctive costume touches that can be turned out speedily.

A BIT OF HISTORY

Memory is short and most women have forgotten that not until 1914 did they begin to wear silk stockings generally when the slit and hobbled skirt ushered in a new brevity for skirts. The National Geographical Society pointed out this week that at the beginning of the 20th century, only one woman in 2,000 wore silk stockings.

Belanger Business Is Taken Over by New Jeweller and Watchmaker

Watchmaking a Family Tradition

The business of Mrs. M. A. Belanger, Bethany Street, has been sold to Mr. U. Nadon, who comes from Thurso where his father also conducts a jewelry store. Mr Nadon has been in the watchmaking trade for ten years, having had experience in the Lake St. John regions, St. Joseph d'Alma, Gatineau County and Maniwaki. It is interesting to learn that watchmaking has been closely related with the Nadon family for many years; Mr. Nadon's grandfather was in the business, and at the present time no fewer than fifteen members of this family are watchmakers.

BABES IN THE WOODS

While able to find their way about the sea, two crewmen of the Royal Navy who set off on a hiking "voyage" from the sailors' rest camp operated by the Boy Scouts of Halifax, promptly lost themselves among the trees and lakes. One finally came upon a group of Scouts. The other was found by a Scout search party the following evening. They were none the worse for the experience.

PRISONER IN THE CORNER

A young member of the R.C.M.P. at a northern Saskatchewan post, a former Edmonton Scout, is Assistant Scout-master of the local Scout troop. On a recent troop meeting night he found himself encumbered with a young prisoner. What to do? He took the prisoner with him to the Scout meeting and placed him in a chair in a corner. The culprit was a lad of 17, of sullen countenance. As the Scout program progressed he gradually relaxed. A smile appeared on his face, and finally he was enjoying the games as much as the participating Scouts themselves. Which suggests the thought that had he had the opportunity of becoming a Scout he in all probability would not have been on the chair in the corner, awaiting whatever was in store for him.

New "Plane" Cards

Air crew trainees at the initial training schools of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan now play rummy with "plane" cards. The description is no play on words. The traditional pips and faces of regulation playing cards are replaced by unidentified silhouettes of British and enemy aircraft. Hearts become Heinkels, spades are Spitfires, diamonds Stuka dive-bombers and clubs the Caproni bombers of Italy. With these cards the students carry their training into their leisure hours. It increases their ability to recognize the silhouette of an approaching aircraft, an asset which may mean the difference between life and death when they go on active service.

"Snowtime in the Province of Quebec"

Quebec — A new film entitled "Snowtime in the Province of Quebec" was released this week for circulation in some 300 movie theatres in the United States. The film is to be shown in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Portland, Hartford, Newark, Providence, New Haven, Rochester, Albany, Concord and Montpelier. During the week preceding the appearance in each city, the Quebec Tourist Bureau will send an invitation to residents of these cities who have already visited Quebec, and ask them to see the film together with their friends.

The Quebec Tourist Bureau intends profiting by past experience to have the province even better known throughout the United States, by means of selected periodicals. This year regular reports will be published for skiers on weather conditions, meteorological stations having been established for this purpose.

"Before the war the Canadian contractor manufacturing munitions worked either to British or American standards. Since the beginning of this war the production of munitions has expanded so rapidly that it has become absolutely necessary to set up Canadian standards based upon the past experience of other countries but modified by and adopted to Canadian practice and facilities.

"Here again it will be for the new Branch to match requirements with our capacity to meet same and draw up specifications and service manuals based entirely on Canadian practice.

"We must plan a commensurate increase in the supply of the necessary materials. Not only must we tackle shortages of material and plant but expand in every possible way the country's supply of man power and use it to its best purpose.

"It is planning that will win this war, planning on a long range basis the production of those materials on which the weapons of war depend, planning the expansion of our industrial plants and the best use to which they can be put, planning that all available labor is used to the best possible advantage.

"These, briefly, are the problems our newly constituted Branch will have to solve," concluded Mr. Drysdale.

The speakers were extended a vote of thanks by Lion Major G. G. Mitchell on behalf of the club membership.

SECOND 'SPITFIRE' FROM ARGENTEUIL BECOMES REALITY

EXTEND WAGE STABILIZATION AND COST-OF-LIVING PRINCIPLE TO THE NON-WAR INDUSTRIES

CONCILIATION BOARD FUTILE WHEN EMPLOYERS WITHDRAW FROM DISPUTE

CANADA GAINS MOMENTUM IN TANK PRODUCTION; 100 FOR RUSSIA IN 1941

— THE WEEK IN OTTAWA —

Specially Written for The Watchman
By ALAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Oct. 22 (CP)—The new order-in-council regarding compulsory extension of the cost-of-living bonus principal to additional employments specifically exempts employers in the industries of agriculture and fishing; and in hospitals, religious, charitable or educational institutions.

This was made plain by the further detail of the government's new wage stabilization program announced by Labor Minister McLarty. It was also indicated the new order would apply to employers engaged in the building trades, employing ten or more persons and every other private employer employing 50 or more persons with the exceptions noted.

(Order 7440, under which the cost-of-living principle was established a year ago applied only to war industries and other industries normally subject to the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act.)

Bonus Provisions

It was pointed out the order prohibited increases in basic wages. Employers who have paid the bonus under 7440 are required to increase it on Nov. 15 to an amount based on the cost-of-living index as of October. Those who have not been paying the bonus and must do so under the new order are not obliged to start till after Feb. 15, 1942, when it will be computed on the basis of the rise in cost of living from October, 1941, to January, 1942.

The new order provides for the setting up of a National War Labor and regional war labor boards to administer its provisions.

Mine Disputes

A dispute between mine operators (owners) at Kirkland Lake Ont., and more than 4,000 of their employees developed into something of a test case for the effectiveness of conciliation boards in dealing with recognition of labor bargaining agencies.

During the hearings the operators withdrew after their counsel said they were unalterably opposed to recognizing the miner's union —the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union (C.I.O.—Committee for Industrial Organization.)

The conciliation board recommended in its report made public last week that the union be recognized as the bargaining agent, but acknowledged that the operators' withdrawal made the report only a formality since they made use of a technique which "makes completely futile the appointment of conciliation boards to deal with the question of recognition."

An indication that Canada is gathering momentum in manufacturing tanks was seen in Munitions Minister Howe's statement that the first 15 of 100 infantry and cruiser-type tanks scheduled to be produced in Canada for the Soviet Union would be shipped this month. He expressed confidence the Dominion not only would fulfil the goal of producing 100 tanks for Russia by the year-end but would send a limited number to Britain as well.

Feed Grain Rates

An order-in-council setting terms of federal assistance under the new government policy of paying freight rates on feed grains shipped to Eastern Canada was announced. The order recinds a previous one which granted one-third of the freight charges.

It applies to wheat, oats, barley, rye, No. 1 and No. 2 feed screenings, whole or ground, and wheat bran, shorts and middlings. The policy is effective on grain shipped east from Fort William, Port Arthur or Armstrong, Ont., and under its terms the Dominion pays

Argenteuil Cheque Speeds on Its Way

The above group were witnesses to the transfer of a $22,350 cheque from the people of Argenteuil to Prime Minister Churchill, through the "Wings for Britain" Fund. — (Left to right) Lady Marler; Air Commodore G. V. Walsh, M.B.E., Air Officer commanding No. 3 Training Command; Huntley Drummond, vice-chairman of "Wings for Britain"; Miss K. Giles, Lachute, and J. S. Giles, Lachute, chairman of the local committee, who presented the cheque to Mr. Drummond.

Cheque for Churchill Handed To 'Wings for Britain' Fund

Just eight months after launching of the Argenteuil Spitfire Campaign, in February last, the objective has been attained and the proceeds have been handed over to "Wings for Britain" Fund — the official intermediary for public ventures of this kind on behalf of the British Government.

Argenteuil citizens may feel proud of this achievement. The loaning of one's material wealth—in Victory Loan and War Savings—may be considered a patriotic obligation; but the financing of this Spitfire fighting plane has been a purely voluntary enterprise. And local pride is doubly justified, inasmuch as this is the second such gift from Argenteuil — two of the county's leading industrialists, W. H. and E. F. Ayers, having responded to the initial appeal with the personal gift of a Spitfire, in memory of their father, the late Thomas Ayers, who was a native of Devonshire, England.

AIR MINISTER EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

The Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Air for the Dominion, while in Britain last July was advised of the Argenteuil effort and the fact that the second fighting plane from this county was nearing materialization. Mr. Power replied by cablegram as follows:

London, July 15, 1941

J. S. Giles, Lachute — Please convey warmest congratulations to all concerned for splendid effort of County of Argenteuil. The offer of a Spitfire and your message have been communicated through Air Minister. Please advise us how you intend transferring funds.

CHEQUE OF $22,350 TO PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL

As the drive retains a certain momentum, one or two drawings and similar ventures are still under way. The Fund has gone well over its objective — which was reduced from $24,000 to $22,350 with lowered production costs; and the surplus over this latter amount, also returns from efforts still in progress, will be duly turned over to the "Wings for Britain" Fund.

Yesterday, however, witnessed the climax to this long and arduous campaign, when the publisher of The Watchman, who has also acted as chairman of the drive, handed a cheque of $22,350 to Huntley Drummond, vice-president of "Wings for Britain." The cheque was made payable to "The Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, Premier, per Wings for Britain Fund."

BATTLE RECORD OF GIFT PLANE

The "Wings for Britain" Fund, through which the donation is being transferred to Britain, was started last February at the request of the British Ministry of Aircraft Production. The fund has no overhead; 100 per cent of the gifts it receives are placed to the credit of the British Government. The donors, however, in no way lose their identity. In the present case the Spitfire as it leaves the assembly line will be named "Argenteuil," and the donors are kept informed on its battle record from time to time.

A DEMOCRATIC VENTURE

The Argenteuil Spitfire will represent the zeal of rich and poor alike, in the winning of this war. It will embody the generosity of well-to-do folks, the energy and labor of business-men, and the active interest of little children. Into the fund have poured proceeds from the needlecraft of local housewives, profits from entertainments given by district clubs and lodges, receipts from sales, bridge parties and drawings. Municipal councils, societies and organizations have sent in their gifts . . . A review of one or two events in this campaign will reveal the truly democratic nature of the effort.

A little gold ring was sent in anonymously in the early stages of the drive. A well-worn band of plain gold, it was doubtless a treasured wedding ring given by one whose circumstances prevented her sending a cash contribution.

Among the many raffles held throughout the county — and the most ambitious — was the drawing for a Plymouth car. The prize was furnished at cost price by D. MacRae, the local Plymouth and Chrysler dealer, who also undertook details and organization of sales.

Another Lachute garage-man, James Duncan, distributed V-for-Victory stickers to his service station customers, and collected an appreciable sum in nickels and dimes.

A recital was held in a St. Andrews church; amateur shows and afternoon teas were held at different points; kiddies conducted refreshment stands and held parties; the Boy Scouts collected scrap metal; a fine pedigreed dog was the prize given by Mrs. E. K. Wilson in a drawing; Lachute Town Corporation gave the proceeds of its salvage collection — and so on. These efforts represented the active participation of every age and class of citizen, and the outcome is one in which they may all feel equally gratified.

APPRECIATION TO ALL WHO ASSISTED

The appreciative words of Mr. Huntley Drummond, who received the gift, are transmitted in turn to the loyal citizens and organizations of this county who lent support to this great enterprise. To the donors, the canvassers and workers in all sections, The Watchman expresses warm appreciation and thanks. This newspaper counts it a privilege to have shared their collaboration, in so worthy a contribution as this weapon against Hitler and his hordes — the Argenteuil Spitfire.

WAR WEAPONS CAVALCADE TO TOUR QUEBEC

FIRST RESULTS IN THE WAR WEAPONS DRIVES ARE FOUND DISAPPOINTING

WAR SAVINGS CAR TO ACCOMPANY UNIT

A Cavalcade of War Weapons left Montreal this week on the first leg of a provincial tour on behalf of the War Weapons Drive being conducted by the War Savings Committee. Heading the cavalcade is a modern universal carrier, one of the war weapons being manufactured in increasing numbers in Quebec factories.

At each centre visited by the cavalcade a local reception will be held with military units parading and municipal authorities extending a welcome. Accompanying the universal carrier will be representative military forces, a sound truck provided by the Canadian naval services, mechanized transport equipment and a special War Savings committee car.

This week towns and cities throughout Quebec announced the first results on their local objectives. First returns were considered disappointing but with the drive now in full swing the committee is hopeful that figures will show a material increase.

Of special interest to War Savings workers in the province was the record launching and ship christening ceremony held last Saturday at Sorel. A new corvette, "La Malbaie" was launched, three others were christened and four mine sweepers were named after Canadian cities. The ceremony was a dramatic demonstration of the uses to which War Savings are put. All these fighting craft were purchased with the savings of the Canadian people.

Following the launching ceremony Mme. Pierre Casgrain paid tribute to the French and English speaking people of Canada. Three hundred years ago, she said, the people of France, through their savings, bought ships from Spain and came to the new world to found New France. Today French and English Canadians together are using their War Savings to buy these corvettes which will help rescue the old world from Hitler.

Real Estate and Property Changes At St. Andrews E.

Concerning properties in St. Andrews Village and vicinity, the following observations are received this week from our district correspondent:

LeRoy Property Sold

The house in the village formerly occupied by the late Mrs. Alex LeRoy has been purchased from her heirs, by Mr. Ross Hyde.

Buys Farm Land

The St. Andrews Estates have sold the farm lands which were formerly the property of the late Mrs. Alex LeRoy, to Mr. J. P. Lanctot. This includes the house and land which until recently were used by the St. Andrews Fur Farms, Ltd.

New, Modern Residence

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Rodger have returned from their wedding trip to their charming new home recently built on land adjacent to the Rodger homestead at Rodgerdale. The house, finished in white composition shingle, is modernly equipped. The dining room windows frame interesting views of the River Rouge valley, and a fireplace adds comfort to the living room. A convenient office for conducting farm business has a separate entrance

To Occupy Old Manse

Mr. J. O. Bridge has leased the old Presbyterian manse on Main Street recently vacated by his brother-in-law, Mr. René Giroux.

RIVER FRONT RESIDENT DIES 98 YEARS OLD

MRS. GEORGE BRADFORD IS MOURNED IN COMMUNITY OF CUSHING

SPENT HER ENTIRE LIFE IN LOWER OTTAWA VALLEY

Cushing — The community of Cushing has suffered a great loss in the death of its oldest member, Mrs. George Bradford, who passed away on Thursday, October 23rd, after an illness of several weeks, at the home of her son, John.

Funeral service was held on Saturday at the Bradford home, with her pastor, the Rev. W. A. Dempsey, in charge. Mr. Dempsey mentioned the deceased as having lived almost a century and having witnessed many changes during her lifetime, also that her quiet, calm faith in God had been a sustaining power all through the years.

Mrs. Bradford had lived the majority of her 98 years in this vicinity. She was formerly Miss Elizabeth Thompson, and spent her girlhood days just across the Ottawa from Cushing.

For a number of years she and her husband, who predeceased her six years ago, had lived in Ottawa, then returning to Cushing. Later they lived in Grece's Point, then moving across the Ottawa River; but they spent the final years of their life with their son, coming to make their home with him eleven years ago.

Mrs. Bradford had endeared herself to all, in these communities in which she lived, and especially to her neighbors in Cushing where many a young mother and housewife had reason to remember her kindly counsel and help.

Of her immediate family she leaves to mourn her loss — as well as her son and wife already mentioned — three daughters, Mrs. John Nugent, of Finch, Ontario, Mrs. Fred Rogers of Prince Rupert, B.C., and Mrs. Thomas Rourke, of Montreal, who has cared for her mother tenderly all through her weeks of illness; there remain also five grandchildren and several great grandchildren.

The pall-bearers were Thomas and Hanson Bradford, John Nugent, J. McLauchlin, W. H. Canning and Archie Graham. Interment was made in the Chute à Blondeau Cemetery.

Mrs. Bradford retained a keen interest in all the passing events, and looking at her calm, serene face before the flower-laden casket was borne away, one called to mind the following lines from Margaret Sangster's poem, "Folded Hands."

Pale, quiet hands that more than four score years
Have wrought for others — soothed the hurt of tears,
Rocked children's cradles, eased the fever's smart,
Dropped tenderest balm in many an aching heart —
Now stirless, folded, like wan rose-leaves pressed
Above the snow and silence of her breast.
In mute appeal they tell of labors done
And well earned rest that came with set of sun;
From the worn brow the lines of care are swept
As if an angel's kiss the while she slept
Had smoothed the cobweb wrinkles quite away
And given back the peace of childhood's day.
A smile is on her lips as if she said,
"None know life's secret save the happy dead."

NEEDED AFTER WAR

Cardiff, (CP)—William Mabane, Joint Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Home Security, forecast that Britain's civilian defence services would be continued after the war as a "necessary supplement to the armed forces."

P.O. H. PIBUS IS MISSING AFTER AIR ATTACK

PILOT OBSERVER OFFICER IN THE R.C.A.F., WENT OVERSEAS IN JUNE

FORMER ASST. PRINCIPAL, LACHUTE HIGH SCHOOL

Deep concern is felt here over news that Pilot Observer Officer Harry H. Pibus, 27, is among Canadian airmen reported missing on active service. According to official word received by his wife, Pibus was "missing after air operations over Germany on October 21st."

Harry H. Pibus was assistant principal at Lachute High School when he enlisted with the R.C.A.F. in the spring of last year. Graduating from the Air Force pilot-observers' training course, he received his wings and commission and was drafted overseas last June, shortly after his marriage to Miss Phyllis Patterson, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McFaul, of this town.

Coming here from Knowlton, Que., just five years ago. Pibus proved himself popular among the High School pupils and an asset to the staff. His mother resides in Magog, Que., while his wife is on the nursing staff of the Montreal General Hospital.

Building Firm Gets Contract For A Hundred More Houses

25 At Brownsburg To Be Completed This Week

With visual evidence of keen performance, in the 25 homes for munitions workers erected in quick time at Brownsburg, Cottingham Supply Company has now received the contract for a development of 100 Precision-Built houses for the Sorel Control Board, Department of Munitions and Supply.

The contract was awarded in competitive bidding, the Lachute firm being successful over numerous tenderers for conventional-type construction.

The contract will occupy the immediate attention of Cottingham's expert architects and technicians.

Staff-House Now Occupied

In connection with work executed by this firm at Sorel, it is interesting to learn that, only 30 days after erection was started, the occupants moved into their brand-new weather proof, fully equipped and serviced staff-house.

Prefabricating in the Cottingham shops had commenced only one week before erection operations. This record, therefore, is a sound demonstration of the prefabrication idea.

Situation at Brownsburg

The "Wartime Housing" scheme at Brownsburg has been viewed by many interested sightseers from the district. Of the 25 houses now virtually completed, 12 are ready for occupancy at this date and the remainder will be ready within a few days.

PROMINENT ENGINEER OF McGILL FACULTY PLANS HAY SUBDIVISION

MODERN PRINCIPLES WILL BE APPLIED

The "Hay subdivision" adjacent to the Brownsburg Road, which is arousing much speculation among property-minded citizens, is being prepared for actual building by the installation of sewerage and water mains, and the laying of streets and sidewalks.

According to the Cottingham Supply Company, who are undertaking this development, the preparation of a park-site will also be completed this fall if weather permits. The levelling process has included elimination of a grade in the actual highway, at the abandoned C.N.R. crossing — where, incidentally, a Provincial Transport bus became bogged down on Monday evening.

It is interesting to note that this scheme is being laid out on the most modern town-planning principles, by a civil engineer well versed in these practices — Prof. R. De L. French, of Montreal.

Plans for the actual housing construction have not been divulged at this stage. It is understood however, that the development is for privately owned dwellings, and that the first of these is being constructed to the order of Mr. Thos. Newton, who has acquired two lots.

Extending Rural Phones in Lakefield, Dunany District

Telephone construction men are now reconditioning and extending rural lines to Lakefield and Dunany, which are served from Lachute exchange, according to J. J. Morrin, Bell Telephone manager in this office.

The work involves the erection of new cable across the North River, and the re-routing and reconstruction of the line to Lakefield. Additional wires will be erected to provide two new circuits. The line to Dunany will be reconditioned — poles replaced, straightened, or re-set, wires drawn taut, and other minor repairs effected to the lines.

HOG-RAISING BONUS; FARMERS TO APPLY BEFORE NOV. FIRST

Bacon Hogs for Summer Market Must Be Raised During Winter

Between January 1st and September 1st, 1942, in order to encourage an increase in bacon production in the Province of Quebec, the Department of Agriculture will pay the following bonuses to farmers 60% of whose hogs in any one shipment were graded "A" or "B (1)" by a Federal grader.

Bonuses —

A bonus $1. for all hogs graded "A". A bonus .50 for all hogs graded "B (1)).

Regulations —

To obtain the bonuses described above each farmer must :

a. Fill out and sign a form of application for bonus and send it to the County Agronomist before November 1st, 1941.

b. Send his official grading report, bearing the official stamp which he receives from the buyer or shipper of his hogs, to the Sheep and Swine Division, Department of Agriculture, Quebec. Receipt of this will be acknowledged by the Department. If this acknowledgment is not received within 30 days after the report is sent to the Department, enquiries should be made, as no claim will be considered after 60 days.

c. Make sure that name and address as shown on the grading report is the same as on the application form for bonus. Any difference will cause trouble when bonus payments are being made.

d. Breed his sows to a purebred bacon type boar.

e. Not more than $25.00 shall be paid in bonuses to any one farmer.

The following persons are not eligible to receive these bonuses :

a. Hog dealers or truckers;

b. Farmers who do not raise, on their own farm, all the hogs they sell for slaughter;

c. Farmers or breeders who feed their hogs on garbage from a city.

Agronomists for Argenteuil County are — Alex Bothwell and Irenee Pare, Lachute.

Swastika Ships Take Roses to Iceland

London — England's national flower, the rose, will bloom in treeless Iceland on bushes exported by British nurserymen. They have been carried in ships of the Iceland Steamship Company, whose houseflag bears the original swastika — not the twisted form used by the Nazis, which, say heralds, has a tradition of evil centuries old.

Carnation plants grown in Sussex have also gone to Iceland from Britain, as well as clothing, boots and shoes, chemicals, cigars, wireless sets, toothpaste, fishing gear, musical instruments, hair pins, gin, soap, bricks, motor cars, floor polish, and foodstuffs, including thousands of tins of baking powder. Christmas puddings were sent last year, but they did not arrive until January.

Iceland imports nearly all general commodities, having little manufacturing resources of her own. Before the war, Britain supplied only about 20 per cent of these imports, but now that Iceland is cut off from Europe, nearly all her requirement come from Britain.

American troops stationed in Iceland will have no excuse for not writing home, for recently cargoes include large consignments of notepaper, pens, ink and lead pencils from Britain. And they will have to be careful what they write, for blue pencils have also been sent for the censors.

NARROW ESCAPE

When his auto was in collision with the rear of a horse-drawn wagon, Gordon Aylesworth, Brantford, had a narrow escape. A plank projecting from the wagon went through the car windshield to the rear seat. Percy Prine, Echo Place, driver of the wagon, was pinned against the front of his cab and suffered three fractured ribs and other injuries. Passers-by halted his runaway horses.

LICENSING PLAN GETS UNDER WAY

Applications Pouring in at Records Division in Ottawa

Ottawa—Applications for licence under the nation-wide plan to licence all manufacturers and dealers in food, feeds, live-stock, poultry, yarn, cloth, clothing, and footwear have already started to pour into the Licensing Records Division of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa, according to a statement issued by the War-time Prices and Trade Board.

More than 300,000 licence application forms are being distributed to persons and firms affected by the licensing order through the co-operation of the thirteen thousand Canadian Post Offices and their mail carriers, municipal and rural. There is no licence fee.

Several hundred were returned to the Board's licensing division only a few days after distribution. "It would appear that businessmen generally are complying with the Board's request to get licences promptly", commented Director of Licensing C. R. Morphy. "While the deadline for securing a licence is December 1, it would be wise for licensees to apply as quickly as possible as no unlicensed person who is named in the order, can buy for resale, handle or sell any of the listed goods after that date.

"Anyone who doesn't receive a licence application form through the mail, and who is subject to the order, should ask for an application at his nearest post office", Mr. Morphy concluded.

POINTS OF FIRE-HAZARD IN HOME

Should Be Systematically Inspected, Dangers Removed

While the smoke and flame of war hangs over Europe and Asia, a campaign to make Canada safe from fire is gaining momentum in this country. The campaign was intensified during National Fire Prevention Week which was observed early this month, October 5th to 11th.

According to W. M. Cottingham, of Cottingham Supply Company, distributors for Canadian Johns-Manville building materials, added significance is given to the event this year because of the need for extra precaution against fire losses while Canada is engaged in the war effort.

"Precautions against the more common types of fired are easy to make, and no time could be more appropriate for them than the present", Mr. Cottingham said. "It would be an excellent idea for each householder to start in the basement and work up, eliminating each fire hazard as he comes to it.

The heating plant should be gone over to see that it is in efficient working order for the cold winter ahead, and that defective and soot-laden chimneys, sagging smoke pipes and rust-holes and cracked fireboxes in the furnace are repaired.

The removal of papers, old rags, and other rubbish from attics and cellars will remove the hazard of spontaneous combustion or conflagration from sparks and hot ashes. A check of all electrical equipment should be in order too, and it's a good thing to remember not to overload circuits with too many appliances, as this might cause the wiring between partitions to overheat and start a blaze.

On the outside of the home, the roof is considered one of the most dangerous fire hazards, as sparks and burning brands from chimneys or nearby fires falling on an inflammable roof are the third largest cause of residential fires. "Fireproof asbestos shingles on roof and sidewalks protect against this hazard, and at the same time are economical in both installation and first costs, whether applied on new or existing houses," Mr. Cottingham stated. "Furthermore, fireproof asbestos shingles combine beauty of appearance with the ability to withstand the ravages of time and weather."

Many "Blitzed" Houses Already Again Occupied

Out of every ten blitzed homes that are repairable in Britain, nine have already been made habitable, it was announced recently. The result was effected by contractors who registered with the local authorities to do first aid repair as soon as requested, and by 5,000 builders released from the army as mobile gangs sent to the spot immediately in case of concentrated raids. It is stated that London may follow Coventry's example by erecting mushroom shops. Made of asbestos corrugated sheets in a light timber frame, they were run up in a row within a day or two in Coventry's demolished shopping centres.

Goats for the Mayor

Mayor J. T. Horan, zealous custodian of the Queen's Canadian Fund in Prescott, Ont., not only receives cash contributions for the Fund from Prescott citizens, but undertook to sponsor the public auctioning of goods donated in aid of Britain's bomb victims. Soon after he made his offer, an early response was forthcoming in the shape of a fine pair of goats to top the bill at the auction. Mayor Horan was undismayed, and promptly announced he would gladly receive any further donations for the sale.

FERTILIZERS SCARCE IN OCCUPIED FRANCE

When France broke the German monopoly on potash by regaining Alsace and its rich deposits of this important fertilizer substance at the conclusion of the war 1914-18, the country was assured of an ample potash supply at reasonable prices. Now that the Alsatian deposits come again under German control the French farmer has been obliged to pay exhorbitant prices for potash, as well as for nitrogen and phosphate fertilizers. The Nazi government, anxious to secure abundant harvests in Occupied France, heeded the protest of the farmers and reduced the price by one-fifth but leaving it still scandalously high. There are reasons for high prices for phosphate, but potash is the one fertilizer ingredient of which there is an abundance in France and Germany.

Unless the vigilance of the British navy can be circumvented, neither France nor Germany will receive much phosphate from North Africa, and the R.A.F., by bombing docks and loading equipment in North African ports, is taking a hand in frustating attempts at the source. It is said that the loyal French suffer willingly the hardships imposed by lack of phosphate and, indeed, secretly exult at the effectiveness of the Allied blockade.

In the United States are the largest phosphate deposits in the world, and since the war of 1914-18 immense beds of potash salts have been discovered and developed, so that of these two fertilizer materials there is more than enough to supply the needs of the North American continent. In nitrogen too the U.S.A. and Canada are independent of foreign supplies, though still importing nitrate of soda from Chili. Canada is well served by her own domestic sources of nitrogen, chiefly in the form of sulphate of ammonia, both by-products and synthetic. Cyanamid, produced on a large scale at Niagara Falls, Ont., but used to only a small extent as a source of nitrogen in compound fertilizers, is likely to be rationed, since it is now required for war purposes.

Canada faces no dearth of fertilizers, and prices have not advanced to nearly the same extent as have costs of labor, transport, foreign exchange, war taxes and other burdens imposed on and willingly borne by the industry as its added contribution to the war effort.

Modesty seldom resides in a breast that is not enriched with nobler virtues. —Goldsmith.

PASTURE PROGRESS IN THE MARITIMES

A recent inspection of investigational work with fertilizers on Dominion Experimental Stations in the Maritime Provinces revealed remarkable crop increases from the appropriate treatments. But perhaps no feature of the work was more striking than the improvement of pastures, which has followed the use of fertilizers and grazing management.

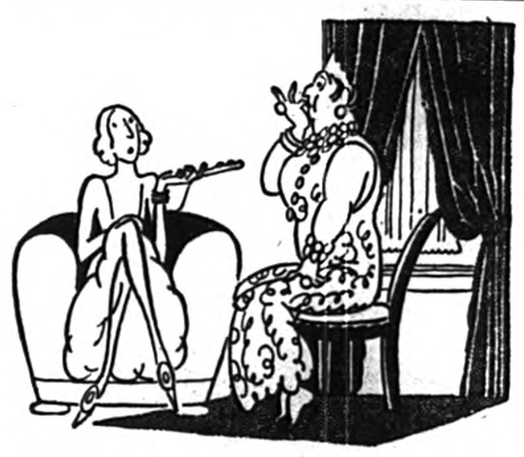

At Fredericton are to be seen the original pasture fields of the first rotational grazing demonstration in Canada, which C. F. Bailey commenced in 1928. The carrying capacity of these pastures was doubled in the first year, an improvement which has been maintained and increased since. This year the cows were turned into the fertilized fields on May 16, whereas the unfertilized area was not ready for grazing until two weeks later. As Mr. Bailey expressed it, the fertilizer was paid for in those two weeks.

A new feature of the pasture work at Fredericton is a comparison of the effects of fertilizers applied annually and every fourth year, the latter at four times the rate of the annual application and corresponding to about 900 lbs. of 0-12-10 per acre. Where clover is abundant Mr. Bailey finds the addition of nitrogen unnecessary, except occasionally in a late spring when it helps to bring the grass on.

Recalling that, several years ago, Fred Trail of Island View had seeded down an area for permanent pasture and fertilized it according to Mr. Bailey's directions, we decided to go and see what had happened in the meantime and were encouraged to find that Mr. Trail had carried on according to plan ever since, for he found it profitable. On August 21 this year's records showed that the fertilized area had carried two cows per acre during the present season. The large field has now a thick growth of the better grasses and clover, an ideal dairy pasture.

On the Experiment Station of Kentville, N.S., is an area of 12 acres in permanent pasture, subdivided for rotational grazing and varied fertilizer treatments. Here the basic fertilizer used corresponds to 750 lbs. of 0-16-6 per acre, applied every third year. Certain variations are represented by supplementing this treatment with nitrate of soda at rates of 100, 200 and 300 lbs. per acre annually in spring. A Kelsall, Superintendent of the Station, says that the application of nitrogen at Kentville gives definitely earlier grazing in spring. It is noticeable that areas receiving the heavier applications of nitrate contain less clover than is present in the herbage of the phosphate-potash (minerals alone) plots. On the unfertilized field one has to search deligently to find a single clover plant.

This year Mr. Kelsall commenced an experiment to compare annual application of fertilizer at the same rate as used normally every third year. The initial results are distinctly in favor of the new test, as measured by the difference in production between the area receiving the additional treatment this year and the half which was fertilized last year according to the three-year plan. Mr. Kelsall believes that the initial application of fertilizer to pasture should be heavy.

Radio in the War

One mellow evening in the fall of 1922, we were spellbound by the manifestation of a miracle. Radio broadcasting — more accurately termed wireless telephone transmission — was then very much in its infancy . . . We vividly recall the scene. Seated in a Main Street restaurant, for once the seven raptures of an ice cream sundae missed their mark — for we were listening into one of those big, plated loudspeakers, the kind onto which earphones were clamped, while a long, seven-tube radio set (there were only three receiving sets in town) produced faint notes and muffled voices. We were fascinated; we dared not speak, lest we should miss the broadcast . . . Pittsburg and La Presse, we remember, were the pioneer stations heard around these parts — but reception was uncertain, sometimes faint, sometimes quite inaudible. . .

Nineteen years have passed. Broadcasting has bounded ahead in ten-league boots. World hook-ups, short wave and trans-Atlantic programs provide interludes in even the humblest homes . . . But let us take a glimpse at the uses to which radio has been applied in the present war. Here, two or three of the latest developments will give sufficient idea of what is happening.

Since the start of the war Britain has made remarkable progress in applying radio to war purposes.

Radio-location is, of course, the outstanding innovation. It can be briefly described as a system for detecting and plotting the position and course of aircraft by multiple radio beams which, when they encounter any object, inform the operator of its presence. The hydrophone, as used by ships, provides a rough analogy. It plots the contours of the ocean bed or detects the existence of submarines in the vicinity.

In radio-location the intersection of the beam by aircraft is recorded in each transmitting station and the position of the intersecting machine is worked out trigonometrically. Ultimately, success depends on covering the entire country with locator stations, thus forming an interconnected network of waves through which no enemy aircraft can pass without betraying its approach.

Dropping the Pilot

But radio helps our own aircraft too.

Every pilot knows the difficulty and danger of a fog landing. Until the development of ultra-short wave transmission fog invariably immobilized aircraft on the ground. Today, blind landing is not merely possible but safe.

Experiments in the radio control of aircraft are also being made in Britain and America. Eventually, we are promised, both pilot and navigator will be superfluous. The bomber will take off, fly at an enormous height to its objective, do its work and return without direct human control. The United States Army Air Corps began experiments of this type more than six years ago.

Tank Control

Modern mechanized warfare has brought another use for radio: the control of advancing tank formations from a central base or from one particular machine. The problems of radio transmission and reception within a noisy, heavy steel shell, packed with machinery, were formidable but they have been solved with complete satisfaction and the units of a mechanized army can now maintain radio contact. New midget valves have made the really portable trans-receiver a fact; and the army is making full use of this recent development. It replaces the field telephone, both in the field and for coastal defence communications.

With each technical advance the uses of radio in war are clearly increasing and in this branch of applied science the British radio industry can justly claim to be well in the forefront.

Lot of Censorship Unnecessary

Canadian newspapers were recently graciously permitted to announce that Queen Mary had inspected a "Central Ontario Regiment" of which she is Colonel-in-Chief. The same day the official Court Circular in London gave out the information to all the world that the unit she had inspected was "the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada." The questions now arise: Will the censor discipline the Royal Household as he might have disciplined Canadian newspapers for divulging the same information? And isn't a whole lot of this censorship business extremely far-fetched and unnecessary?

—Brockville Record-Times

Inconsistent

The Government does some funny things. For instance, it makes it against the law for motorists to travel more than 40 miles an hour yet it lets the bus companies advertise the fact that they break this regulation. If you don't believe this take a time table of any such transportation concern and figure out how it can get from one place to another in the time set forth without breaking the speed limit to a scandalous extent. The same applies to trucks only they have no printed schedules to flaunt in the face of the authorities.

—Almonte Gazette

New Ways, New Pleasures

Though London has had no violent air raids for many weeks, the word is that many people continue to spend their night in the shelters; in some of the better-equipped shelters as much as 35 per cent of their capacity is filled nightly, though there is no danger outside.

During the past year people grew accustomed to this nightly assembly in the underground dungeons.

They learned to amuse one another; there were games organized, and a sort of community life appeared in the better dugouts. When danger temporarily passed, many of them missed their old friends of the dugouts, their old diversions.

So back they went anyway, driven not by danger but by desire of accustomed association. Will it not seem strange to them after the war is over to go each night to their homes and sit quietly alone?

Even in small things like that, the war is changing people. Or is it a small thing, after all?

Say Something Good

Pick out the folks you like the least and watch 'em for a while;
They never waste a kindly word, they never waste a smile;
They criticize their fellowmen at every chance they get,
They never found a human just to suit their fancy yet.
From them I guess you'd learn some things if they were pointed out —
Some things that every one of us should know a lot about —
When some one knocks a brother, pass around the loving cup,
Say something good about him, if you have to make it up.
The eyes that peek and peer to find the worst a brother holds,
The tongue that speaks in bitterness, that frets and fumes and scolds;
The hands that bruise the fallen, though their strength was made to raise
The weaklings who have stumbled at the parting of the ways —
When these folks scourge a wretched one who's drained sin's bitter cup,
Say something good about him, if you have to make it up.

CANADIAN FOURTH DIVN. FOUGHT IN RAIN AND MUD FOR POSSESSION OF REGINA TRENCH

Soldiers of Canada's 4th Division battled in rain and mud 25 years ago on the Somme front with the capture of Regina Trench as their chief objective. From the bitter fighting, carried on in front of a maze of strong German fortifications, the men of the 4th Division emerged with a record of gallantry and initiative equalling that of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Divisions which had preceded them in the same sector.

From Oct. 21 the Canadians were represented in the Somme area only by the 4th Division, commanded by Maj.-Gen. David Watson (afterwards Sir David) of Quebec. The other Divisions had been withdrawn for a brief rest before proceeding to the Lens-Arras front.

Capture of Courcelette, Sept. 15, 1916, put the Canadians north of the Bapaume Road, but ahead of them lay a remarkable trench system which the Germans considered impregnable. Regina Trench was one of the most formidable bastions and men of the Dominions during October had twice obtained a footing in portions of it, only to be withdrawn because the entire position could not be taken.

Weather Handicap

The attack by the 4th Division was preceded by careful preparations. Artillery bombardments smashed much of the elaborate wire defences erected by the enemy and the narrow-gauge supply railways in the rear were also given a hammering. Attacks by the Canadians on Oct. 21 and 25 gained a little ground, but during the following week the weather was so bad that it was impossible to carry on the advance on a large scale.

By the end of the month the weather improved a little and artillery fire became general. The Canadians established two posts close to Regina Trench on Nov. 6 and five days later units of the 10th and 11th Brigades attacked after heavy shelling of the objective.

With bomb and bayonet Canadians leaped over the parapets of their trenches and within an hour the position was gained. The line which they attacked was held partly by troops of the Prussian Guard and partly by Saxons. Under cover of advanced bombing posts the new line was consolidated and held despite the heavy German counter-attacks.

LIMIT CLOTHES-HIRE

London (CP) — To prevent customers obtaining clothes "off the ration" by hiring them at a purchase price and forfeiting the deposit, it is now illegal, under two year penalty, to hire suits for more than 14 days.

Danced and Sang On Rumor of Peace

London, Oct. 20 (CP) — Flags flew from buildings, gallons of beer were drunk and people crowded into streets, singing, dancing and hugging one another when a false report of a general armistice spread through Liege, Belgium.

Reuters News Agency, telling of the celebration, said police let themselves be convinced that the news was true and did nothing to stop it. In the evening, people tore the blackout curtains from windows and lighted up their houses. Then the authorities intervened and the news spread that there was no peace. No one knows where the false report originated.

Rations Agree With Britishers; Garden Vegetables Were Prolific

— By Margaret Butcher —

Here is another of those inimitable letters from Margaret Butcher, English novelist, which tells of the way in which ordinary every day folks of the British Isles are accommodating themselves to the exigencies of war time. This letter was written specially for the Midland Free Press Herald and The Lachute Watchman.

Reading, England — You might think that during one of our periodic lulls there is nothing much to talk about or do these days: but it isn't a bit like that. Even when Fritz's attention seems to be temporarily occupied elsewhere we're pretty busy. The Home Guard, for instance, has been having a grand time of it. Some mornings we are awakened by loud pops, bangs and what not — this time quite harmless in practice, though deadly enough in theory I assure you — to find them hard at it. Then there is a tramp of feet down the avenue, and I scuttle to the window to see lots of them marching by, while somebody plays — and plays really well — on a mouth-organ. There was a time when, if a lull happened, people wagged their heads and said: "Ah ! you may depend THEY are hatching something for us." And, often enough, it was right. Now, with even more truth, we can say that WE are preparing a few surprises for THEM.

These quieter patches, though, do give the ordinary citizen a breathing space. On Sunday I actually "went out to tea" — a function which I had imagined to be quite obsolete. The Gardening Partner (who is nothing if not cautious), advised me to have something to eat before I went. People, he said, couldn't be expected to offer one grub in these rationed days: it wouldn't be fair to expect it.

Fortunately I didn't take his advice, for when I got there the first thing I saw was a real, old-fashioned spread. Two heaped plates of garden-produce sandwiches, and two handsome cakes. There were also some lovely people sitting around: my host — who used to have a fine job in London, but the job 'went west' with the war; his wife, a charming beauty; a smart and amusing girl from the B.B.C. down here for a week-end; the delightful old lady of whom I have already told you — the one who was blitzed and rescued from a blazing building — and the baby.

No Talk of Blitz

My host and Beauty were blitzed out of their flat in London, but there wasn't any talk of that. We had a splendid party; you would never have guessed there was a war on — except for one thing. Along the far side of the room stood a strange contraption: rather like a large piano crate of stout planks with a hinged flap in the front and a mattress and cushions inside. It was the sole reminder of the weird times in which we live. Into this, when there is a blitz, pop Beauty and the baby, while Father goes on fire-duty. It is strong enough, with any luck, to ward off falling beams, so I guess it gives him a certain amount of peace of mind.

Yet how outrageous it all seems, doesn't it? That ominous thing in a quiet little home, mutely hinting at horrors. But only a fool would think its presence odd. All the same, you can guess its effect on anybody with an ounce of imagination; it speaks louder than any grim anecdote. These folk all know what we are up against — and they sit there and enjoy a party, bless their hearts. Their chief complaint is at its hideousness, squatting there and ruining the look of the room.

People Still Game

I have just been talking to a woman who has spent a fortnight's holiday in one of our most punished ports. A great deal of the place — as anybody who has read the news during the past twelve months must know — is flattened out; it just isn't there; but the people are still game enough, anyway, to invite friends on a visit ! Those whose homes haven't been damaged are carrying on much as usual; the others have found homes elsewhere. The shops have staked out their claims on the old spots and have moved further out to do business for the time being.

In one ruined street — certainly not a military objective — a large cinema remains, by some miracle intact, and shows are still running there. This woman and her hostess went there one afternoon, and the place was crammed with folk who had come out to enjoy themselves. During the performance they were notified that an Alert had sounded; but not a soul budged. They just sat tight and the film went on. The moment of real drama came later.

The screen-heroine was singing 'There'll Always be an England'; flags were waving in the scene, and then, right across the screen the words were shown :

RAIDERS PASSED

And if that isn't a touch of real drama I've never known one !

Raiders Passed

A barrister friend who lives around this way has been telling me, too, something quite interesting. I often see him when he has come straight from London, and if he has been bomb-dodging he certainly doesn't look in the least like it. There is a sort of calm about him that makes me feel I'd just hate to be a cross-examined witness. I have told him that if

MISUNDERSTANDING ON RADIO LICENSES

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor.

Dear Sir :—It has been brought to my notice, that a number of people in Lachute who have purchased Radio Licenses from me, have received notice from those in charge of Radio in Ottawa, stating that they had no record of the parties concerned having secured Radio License during the current year.

Regarding this matter, I wish to say that duplicates of all Radio Licenses sold by me have been duly forwarded to the Radio Inspector's Office in Montreal; and I have been informed that all duplicates have been sent on to Ottawa regularly at the end of each week.

I wish also to explain that before those licenses can be obtained by supervisors from the Department in Ottawa, they must be bought and paid for by certified cheque, payable to "The Receiver General" in Ottawa.

Hoping this explanation will remove any misunderstanding that may exist in the minds of some,

Yours truly,
RICHARD MORRISON

LEAVE SCANT MARGIN BUT FEW MISS TRAIN

Montreal, Que., Oct. 21 — John Citizen when travelling seldom misses a train, according to officials of the C.N.R. at Bonaventure Station, even on special rush days when as many as fifteen thousand passengers set off from this station in Montreal. The usual daily average finds eight thousand travellers leaving Bonaventure, and the records show that an infinitesimal fraction of that number fail to reach the station on time. There are many narrow escapes, but all officials from Red Cap to Starter keep an eye open for the flurried dash of the last minute arrival, and rarely does a traveller really miss a train.

Not a Letter Lost

Of 13,500,000 Flown on Lisbon Service

(Air Mail)

London—Not one letter has been lost of the thirteen and a half million flown between England and Lisbon in the last year by the British Overseas Airways Corporation.

Seaplanes and aeroplanes have safely covered 750,000 miles with 4,000 passengers, and neither war nor weather has caused the service to change its time-table since it opened in 1939.

Throughout the Battle of Britain, severe weather and hazards of war, the air link between England and Portugal, and by Clipper on to U.S.A., has remained unbroken.

Mails for prisoners of war are flown to Portugal and letters from them, are flown free of charge, back to Lisbon where the Portuguese Post Office transfers them to British Airways.

In July a special lightweight letter-card was devised for airmails to prisoners of war. It costs only threepence to fly one of these cards to Lisbon and on by neutral plane to Germany.

Four thousand five hundred of the new letter-cards weigh just one pound; the same number of ordinary airmail letters one cwt. and a half.

James Bay Landmark

Fort Albany, Ontario

For nearly two and a half centuries one company has traded continuously at Fort Albany on James Bay. In 1683-84 the Hudson's Bay Company built a post at the mouth of the mighty Albany River, by which travellers reached the northern sea from the Lake Superior region. Here came from time to time many of the earliest pioneers of the fur trade in the far north and west. Henry Kelsey, the adventurous youth who was the first British trader to strike far inland from the Bay and first white man to record the sight of the buffalo on their prairie range, for a time held the post of chief trader at Fort Albany.

Within the short space of ten years Fort Albany changed hands six times between the French and English rivals for northern mastery. It first fell to the famous overland expedition from Canada under the Chevalier de Troyes and his lieutenants, the intrepid brothers d'Iberville, in 1686. Their spectacular surprise assault on Moose Factory is well known to every student of Canadian history. Fort Albany was forewarned, but fell nevertheless to the Canadians. Troyes took formal possession of the whole region and the cry "Vive le Roi" echoed over the chill waters of the Bay. Pierre le Moyne d'Iberville wintered in the far north and in 1687 sailed for France in a fur-laden ship captured from the English.

The English recovered the fort in 1689, and twice more lost it before regaining possession permanently in 1696. For sixteen years, following the Treaty of Ryswick, Fort Albany was the only foothold retained by the British on Hudson Bay.

A Padre and His Men

The following account was written by one of the chaplains with the British troops in the London District in the present war :-

"I received a call for service as Church of Scotland Chaplain to the troops in the London District. The work was not entirely new to me as I had been privileged to minister to Scottish troop in India.

The duties of a padre, as we are affectionately called in the Army, are varied: Parade Services on Sunday, seeing men in hospitals, visiting in barracks and in married quarters, forming a link between officers and all ranks, and, generally, trying to keep these lads, all of whom are away from home, in touch with higher things. If they see that one wishes to be their friend, that the Church is really concerned with their welfare, and that the best soldiers have never been ashamed of their Christian faith, the response is most encouraging. The sympathetic chaplain has the chance of his life among these young fellows at a critical period in their careers.

Parade Services are held in Military Chapels where these exist, or in any available rooms. Sometimes a drum-head service is held in the open. Recently our meeting place for several weeks was a large cellar. The numbers vary from only a few to three or four hundred. Usually the regimental band plays the music. Sometimes an organ, if there is one, is played by a soldier volunteer. Sometimes the padre has to do the best he can himself. If the words are familiar and the tunes well known the singing is always hearty. Wives and families from the barracks and a few civilians are sometimes present, but always the bulk of the congregation consists of men. Often an officer reads the lesson. By their own request collections are taken to help the Bible Society, Red Cross, Benevolent Funds for the Navy, Air Force and Refugees.

Since the war broke out most of my time is devoted to recruits from all over Scotland and some from far beyond there. They belong to all classes, workers, students and professional men. At the first meeting with the chaplain they are asked their names and home addresses. This last often forms a bond on which much can be built, especially when one is asked to write to these homes and receives replies from mothers and wives grateful for kindness shown to their laddies. At certain times I give to each man a copy of St. John's Gospel to slip in his tunic Pocket. These books are provided by the Bible Society, and the gift is much appreciated.

Will the reader spare a thought and a prayer for these lads being trained in spirit as well as body to serve their God, their King and the cause of freedom and righteousness."

Souvenirs of Blitz

London Ships Paper Knives Made From Bomb Fragments

London — Thousands of miles from the war zone, people are now slitting their letters open with paper knives made from bits of bombs rained by the Nazis on London in the blitz.

The larger pieces are melted down and used again by industry, but small fragments have been shaped into blades, leaving the handle in the rough of the original splinter.

The paper knives are from six inches to two feet long and quantities of these souvenirs have already been shipped to the Dominions and U.S.A.

CASH BUSINESS !

After due consideration, the management of this old-established firm have decided to conduct business on a strictly cash basis after December first . . . This change is made necessary by war conditions and government price control.

BROWNSBURG

Letter of Appreciation

A letter has been received by Miss G. L. Vowles from the "Overseas Bundles" division of Women's Volunteer Reserve Corps activities in Montreal. The chairman expresses thanks for shipment of canned goods from Brownsburg, to be consigned to Britain for the relief of distressed war victims . . . The letter is published in part herewith; the local organizers wish, in turn, to thank the ladies and the group of helpers who have aided in this work.

"Overseas Bundles. W.V.R.C."

Montreal, Oct 21, 1941

Dear Miss Vowles:

Your letter received, and I was very happy to read that you had decided to ship your canned goods to me to put into our crates which go to the Daily Sketch War Relief Fund; and I feel sure that those brave people in the Mother Country will appreciate your kindness also, and we know that our crates are getting right to the most deserving people.

I received a cable only this week telling me of the arrival of two more crates, and it does our hearts good when we receive it, for we all feel fully repaid for our work; they are all so very appreciative of all we are doing for them.

Since arriving back at my office your cartons have come safe and in good condition; it is very kind of you to help us like that, and we are all very thrilled that we can now put some of the canned food in every crate; they won't take up so much room as I can put them in amongst the clothing, as I have done with other things. In one of our crates we put in a lot of large bottles of malted milk and some baby food and they wrote telling us what a great number of surprises they got out of our crates, for they never know what is coming out. I am now filling up coffee cans with candy and will put them in the crates, which will be fine for the poor wee tots who are not getting any, just as your canned goods will thrill the grown ups.

We are indeed grateful that you have interested yourself in our good work along with your group. The teas and the selling of the V's is a fine idea to raise money, and it is very nice to see your young generation working hard to help. Any help you can give us in any way will be greatly appreciated. It costs us $15.00 for each crate and it keeps us busy making sure we have enough ahead for shipping. Some of your group might like to make some baby clothes for our crates; they are needed badly and this would be a great help to us. Many of the younger generation like to knit baby things as they are small and nice to knit. I will leave it all to you. I am pleased to read that you will be helping us again shortly. Please convey our grateful thanks to all your members. Your canned goods will soon be on their way; one of these days you will be hearing from me that they have arrived and how grateful the recipients are. I will not forget to forward a copy of the letter, for your group, so again many many thanks.

Yours sincerely,
G. PEILLARD

Describes Churches Ravaged by Bombs

The Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid victims has received an account, in the words of the Catholic Archbishop of Liverpool, of the damage done by German raiders to churches in Merseyside.

Archbishop Downey, speaking for all those who have endured hardships and suffered bereavements in their country's cause, spoke as follows :

"I personnally have been a witness to stirring scenes of heroism in my own archiepiscopal city, which as the Gateway of the Atlantic has been the special object of Nazi fury. Many Catholic Churches in this city alone have been badly damaged, several of them beyond repair, including two of Pugin's masterpieces. Churches of other denominations in this city have suffered similarly. It would almost seem as though the unbalanced or uncivil soul had deliberately sought them out, or at least released his bombs indiscriminately.

"As I stood amidst the debris of one church, the intrepid flock cried out — 'Never mind, we shall build it up again.' They had seen their sanctuary reduced to ruins that the sanctuary of their souls might not be defiled. Our churches, our schools, and our homes have been bombed, but the spirit of our people remains ever constant, an imponderable element, symbolizing serenity at the core of the storm and unshakable confidence in the ultimate victory over the powers of darkness and the spirits of wickedness in high places."

Sending Canadian Tanks

The first 15 of 100 infantry and cruiser tanks scheduled to be produced in Canada for the Soviet Union before the year-end will be shipped to Russia "this month." This was the statement of Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of munitions. Mr. Howe expressed confidence that Canada will be able to deliver the 100 tanks for Russia before the end of the year.

OBITUARY

Late C. Harold Massiah

The late Christopher Harold Massiah, whose death occurred suddenly at Stanstead, Que., on Tuesday, was born in Lachute, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Massiah, and received his education at Lachute Academy. He was a veteran of the last Great War. He held the appointment of asst. paymaster in the Grand Trunk Railway which was later amalgamated with the C.N.R. On his retirement he sold his property in Montreal. He took up intensive farming, and was a livestock fancier, exhibiting high grade cattle.

Left to mourn his loss are two brothers, Hubert, of Montreal, and Wilfred, of Ottawa.

The funeral took place this afternoon, Thursday, from the William Wray Chapel, Montreal, and burial will take place Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Lachute Cemetery.

Mr. Massiah was a widower — his wife, the former Mary Izard, having won fame across Canada as a concert violinist. She had given her talents to worthy causes in this town, and her sudden death several years ago proved a tragic blow to her husband, relatives and friends.

DEATH

MASSIAH — At Stanstead, Que., on Tuesday, October 28th, 1941, Christopher Harold Massiah, husband of the late Mary Izard, in his 59th year. Funeral from the William Wray Chapel, this afternoon (Thursday), burial at Lachute Cemetery on Sunday, November 2nd, at 2 p.m. Please omit flowers.

IN MEMORIAM

MacRAE —In loving memory of Gunner Norman MacRae, R.C.A., who passed away at Petawawa Military Camp, October 28th, 1940 —Fondly remembered by his brother Donald, Grace and family.

MacRae — In loving memory of Gunner Norman MacRae, R.C.A., who passed away at Petawawa Military Camp, October 28th, 1940.— Ever remembered by Mother and Sister Katie.

One year has passed,
Our hearts still sore;
As time goes on
We miss him more.

THOMPSON — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mary Thompson, who passed away October 29, 1938. — Always remembered by her husband, Albert, also Ethel, Melvin, Russell and Grace.

We have only your memory, dear mother,
To remember our whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever
As we treasure the memory of you.

Bishop Consecrates A Chapel and Administers Rites of Confirmation

Morin Heights—Bishop Carlisle, of Montreal, visited the parishes under the supervision of Mr. H. G. Baugh on Tuesday and Wednesday. The Parent's National Educational Union School in St. Sauveur enjoyed a three hour visit with His Lordship on Tuesday afternoon, and in the evening he consecrated St. John's Chapel, New Glasgow. Four girls and six boys were confirmed in the newly decorated chapel. Captain Stanley Andrews and Mr. Baugh assisted.

Wednesday afternoon at Mille Isles he dedicated a large number of beautiful gifts to the church. Six young ladies were confirmed.

In the evening at Morin Heights the Bishop confirmed three girls and two boys. Rev. T. V. Temple and Mr. Baugh assisted in Morin and Mille Isles. All churches were filled to capacity.

On Sunday Archdeacon F. J. Morris, of Montreal, visited the same churches, and preached at all services.

Pastor Will Continue In Northern Parishes

Morin Hts.—Mr. Horace Baugh has been asked to continue his work in the parishes of Morin Heights and New Glasgow during the winter months. Mr. Baugh will reside in New Glasgow, and be in charge of the churches at Mille Isles, Morin Heights, Kilkenny and St. Sauveur.

Concert at St. Andrews In Aid of Organ Fund, For Coventry Cathedral

Memorial to Canadian Choristers

St. Andrews E. — A highlight in the social activities of this community was the concert held on Saturday evening, October 25th, in the Town Hall.

Dr. and Mrs. William Raven, internationally known entertainers, were assisted by their daughter, Mrs. Heimpel, of Westmount, and Miss Mae Gordon, of Lachute, Mrs. Stuart Campbell, of Lachute, accompanied. Dr. Raven's violin solos and Mrs. Raven's vocal solos included classical and popular numbers. They have a wide repertoire and graciously aim to please their audiences. They also sang duets. Miss Gordon's vocal solos were much appreciated — she is an artist new to this village. Mrs. Heimpel's folk dancing received enthusiastic encores. She sang and danced "My Alice Blue Gown" in costume, also an Irish folk dance in appropriate dress.

The plate collection of $25.51 was augmented by the generous contribution of $25 from an appreciative citizen. This money goes to a fund for building an organ in Canada, to be taken to Coventry, England, after the war and placed in the rebuilt Cathedral as a memorial to Canadian choristers who have served overseas in the present war.

Dr. and Mrs. Raven propose repeating concerts all across Canada, giving their time and talents freely for this admirably conceived project. It is sincerely hoped that Dr. Raven's health will permit him to complete his task and that it will be entirely successful.

W.M.S. Sectional Meeting In Presbyterian Church At St. Andrews East

St. Andrews E. — Members of the executive of the Presbyterian Church met with members of the Lachute Auxiliary, in the church Thursday afternoon, Oct. 16th. The meeting was presided over by Miss Elizabeth Walsh, vice-president of the Montreal Presbyterial.

The session opened with the Mission Band singing "God save the King", and two hymns. Much credit is due to Miss Tena Walsh, superintendent, for the splendid training this large class of teenage children are receiving. Miss Walsh was also organist throughout the day's proceedings.

The visiting members conducted the devotional period — reading of Scripture by Miss McLeod and prayer by Mrs. H. M. Gall. Mrs. Geo. Bryson gave the address of welcome, stating the St. Andrews Auxiliary was the second oldest in the Dominion.

Mrs. Chas. Johnson, president of the Presbyterial, gave a general resumé of work done by all branches. Regrets were sent by many who could not attend owing to gasoline restrictions. "Fifty of our pastors have gone away as chaplains, and more work falls on W.M.S. workers to tide over the shortage; we must be willing to conduct Mission Bands and Sunday Schools". Mrs. Johnson encouraged each W.M.S. to be a great part of the whole.

Mrs. Owen Reid Campbell was guest speaker. Of the war she said: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in Thee". If the four million Presbyterian communicants were steadfast in prayer, giving their time to visiting lonely and sorrowful homes and those who know not Christ, "what a power in the world it would be", the speaker exclaimed. Mrs. Campbell's inspiring address closed with these words: "Be ye steadfast, always abounding in the work of the Lord."

Miss Margaret Hamilton sang and was accompanied by Miss Tena Walsh. Dr. W. MacMillan was present. Mrs. Campbell closed the meeting with prayer. A happy and social hour was spent around the tea tables before the visitors departed and it was generally felt that once a year was not often enough for such a gathering.

R.N. Gives Topic for United C.G.I.T. Group

The C.G.I.T. held their weekly meeting last Monday in the United Church hall.

Miss Margaret Aitkin introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Gordon Wyness, B.Sc., R.N., who gave an interesting address on "The Nursing Profession."

Mrs. Wyness compared nursing to a triangle, of which the base is knowledge — using one's head; one side of the triangle is skill — using one's hands; and the other side is interest or understanding— using one's heart.

Mrs. Wyness opened the way for student nurses by explaining the duties and responsibilities of a nurse.

Mrs. G. Clarke thanked the speaker for her interesting address

Anniversary Observances At Brownsburg United

Brownsburg — The Anniversary gatherings of the Brownsburg United Church, which were held on Sunday last and continued to Tuesday, reached a high-water mark in both attendance and spiritual tone, as well as realizing the financial objective with still "more to follow."

The event marked the 100th mile-stone in the life and work of the Church in this community, the 89th anniversary of the first building erected, and the 33rd of the present structure.

The Rev. W. L. Tucker, B.A., of Montreal, was the special preacher on Sunday morning, and brought a very touching and practical message from the parable of the loaves and fishes. In the two-fold application of the parable Mr. Tucker noted that with the great and infinite power of God, to accomplish His purpose in the world He uses human hands and hearts to reach out into the deeps of mortal needs and conditions.

"He gave to His disciples to set before the multitude;" and secondly, God must have worshipful hearts through whom His purpose is to be accomplished, especially in these days of terrible confusion and turmoil." "And He made them to sit down . . . and when He had blessed the loaves and fishes He brake and gave."

The evening service took the form of an evangelistic appeal when Mr. Parkes, also of Montreal, in addition to his contribution of gospel singing, gave incidents out of his own experience of endeavoring after the Christian life. In addition to special music by the junior choir and solos by Mr. Parkes himself, duets with Mrs. Parkes and his little son (Buddie) were also beautifully rendered. The senior choir sang most acceptably at the morning service, rendering as a special anthem, "The Old Church Bell."

On Monday evening the Young People's Rally continued the Anniversary, the Lachute United group being invited as guests.

The closing gathering on Tuesday will long be remembered. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough of Lachute, delivered an excellent historical treatise on the past one hundred years, giving in choice terms the background when early settlers came to these parts and from Lachute and St. Andrews East the radiance and spirit of their Christian lives in outlying districts. Thus Brownsburg became one of the centres of religious life and endeavor.

The Rev. Dr. J. Pitts, of Montreal, also stirred his audience with his message, "Thank God for Britain." Britain standing "on guard" as a fortress set in a silver sea — between freedom, goodwill and the cause of righteousness in the earth, and brutality, slavery and man's inhumanity to man — having traced the history of our empire as compared with other nations even Germany.

The Rev. C. Hardie, of Dalesville, and the Rev. J. Simpson of Brownsburg, brought greetings from their congregations.

The choir again rendered special music. A social hour was spent in the church hall downstairs, the ladies of the church serving refreshments.

This was also a time of Christian fellowship and visitation. The minister, Rev. S. J. Pike conducted proceedings of the evening and expressed the thanks of the congregation to those who took part.

The singing of "There'll always be an England" and "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" concluded the observances.

Annual Meeting of St. Andrews Branch, B. & F. Bible Society

St. Andrews E. — The St. Andrews branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society held its annual meeting on Wednesday evening, October 22nd, in the Anglican Church. The Rev. T. Ball presided. Mrs. W. J. Pitcairn, secretary, gave the report, which showed an increase over last year's givings. Mr. Frank, who spent some years in China as colporteur, showed colored lantern views depicting his itinery through ricefields and over narrow roads, over high mountains and primitive bridges spanning steep gorges, etc.

Mrs. Pitcairn was re-elected as secretary. The Rev. J. A. Mowatt assumes the president's office, with the Rev. T. Ball and the Rev. Dr. MacMillan as vice-presidents, as the custom here is to rotate these offices each year among the clergy.

Lachute United Y.P.U.

On Monday evening the Lachute United Y.P.U. were guests of the Brownsburg group at a social evening.

The weekly meeting of the Lachute society was held last evening. A report of the recent convention, held in Ormstown, was given by the secretary. Miss Beryl Underhill was convenor of the program, which included readings, skits and folk dances given by members of the C.G.I.T.

Christian Science Sunday Services

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 2nd.

The Golden Text is from Proverbs 14:34. "Righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach to any people."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." (Galatians 6:7)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The design of Love is to reform the sinner. If the sinner's punishment here has been sufficient to reform him, the good man's heaven would be a hell to the sinner. They, who know not purity and affection by experience can never find bliss in the blessed company of Truth and Love simply through translation into another sphere. Divine Science reveals the necessity of sufficient suffering, either before or after death, to quench the love of sin." (pp 35, 36).

The modest man has everything to gain, and the arrogant man everything to lose, for modesty has always to deal with generosity, and arrogance with envy. —Rivarol.

Her attendants will be Miss Lorraine Boyd, as bridesmaid, and little Miss Joyce Gordon, her niece, as flower girl. Mr. Boyd Robson will be his brother's best man. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough will perform the ceremony.

Queen's Fund Brings Instant Aid to Victims

A recent dispatch from London enlarges on the assistance which is brought to British bomb victims by donors to the Queen's Canadian Fund. The Lord Mayor's Fund, to which all Queen's Canadian Fund subscriptions are remitted intact, operates throughout the United Kingdom independently of any Government department in bringing immediate aid to victims. Its first rule, circulated to all agents who administer the Fund in the different areas, requires that 'Immediate small cash grants or clothing should be given to tide over hours when victims find themselves in a state of acute distress and emergency."

Though victims of air attacks are advised in their own interest to apply for government compensation from the local Assistance Board, through which all the thousands of claims are made, the Lord Mayor's Fund can bring aid more quickly and can in many instances give help to deserving cases where the Assistance Board is unable to do so.

The lack of formality and the speed with which aid can be brought are the important factors in the operation of the Lord Mayor's Fund. While it is impossible for government compensation to be assessed and allotted within a few hours after an attack, the administrators of the Lord Mayor's Fund are appointed to be on the spot with ready help and sound judgment of needs.

For Red Cross Work

To aid in the activities of the Red Cross, the work convenors announce that quilt pieces will be acceptable. Cloth remnants of any kind can be made use of; they must, however, be new. Similarly, cloth bags are in demand for lining these quilts — rolled oats bags, sugar or flour bags — preferably bleached. Any readers having material of this kind, please communicate with your nearest unit.

Our Town is at War

● Men are drilling in our town . . . our own men . . . men we call by their first names. Some of them quit good jobs to join the army . . . some quit school. When the Empire went to war and Canada went to war . . . this town went to war. Every now and then a few more men from this town leave for active service. We're taking the war more seriously. Are we? Are we all? Are those of us who haven't joined up doing all we can? Are we lending all we can? That's one thing we can all do . . . one thing we must all do. We must all buy more War Savings Certificates.

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless; selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

STABILIZATION OF PRICES AND WAGES

Your Country asks your loyal support of this Wartime Measure

TWO NEW CONTROLS have now become essential in Canada's wartime design for living. These are:

(1) Control of Prices

Commencing November 17, 1941, there may be no increase in the prices of goods and services generally unless absolutely necessary and authorized by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

(2) Control of Wages

No employer, with certain limited exceptions, may increase the basic wage rates paid to his employees unless authorized by a Board on which the Government, employers and employees are represented. But after February 15, 1942, every employer with the same exceptions, will be obliged to pay a cost of living bonus and to adjust this bonus every three months.

Action Necessary to Stop Inflation

This Government action has been taken to prevent the inflation we knew in the last war, and its subsequent depression, unemployment and suffering.

Every housewife knows that prices are rising, and rising prices, unless controlled, will make it more costly and difficult to finance the war. Rising prices, unchecked, will spread confusion in industry and trade; will hinder production and proper distribution of supplies; will make the cost of living rise more rapidly than wages and salaries; will lessen the value of savings; will result in hardship for almost everyone, and especially those with small incomes. And the result of uncontrolled inflation, after the war, when prices drop, will again be depression and unemployment. Prices cannot be controlled without control of wages. Excess profits are, and will continue to be, under rigid control.

Coverage of Wages Stabilization Order

The Order is applicable to the following employers:

1—Every employer normally subject to the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act.

2—Every employer engaged in the manufacture of munitions of war, or war supplies, or the construction of defence projects.

3—Every building trades employer with ten or more employees.

4—Every other private employer with fifty or more employees.

The Order does not apply to employers in agriculture or fishing, or to hospitals, religious, charitable or educational associations operated on a non-profit basis.

Wage Provisions

Except on written permission of the National War Labour Board, no employer may increase his basic wage rates. This permission can only be given in cases where the Board has found the wage rates to be low. Wage rates which are unduly high will not have to be decreased, but in such cases the Board may order the employer to defer the cost of living bonus.

Cost of Living Bonus

Every employer covered by the Order must pay to all his employees except those above the rank of foreman a wartime cost of living bonus.

Effective November 15, each employer already paying a bonus under PC 7440 of December 16, 1940, shall add to such bonus an amount based on the rise in the cost of living index for October 1941, above the index number used to determine the current amount of the bonus.

Effective February 15, 1942, each employer who has not been paying a cost of living bonus must begin to pay a bonus based on the rise in the index between October, 1941, and January, 1942, unless ordered by the Board to base the bonus on the rise in the cost of living over a longer period.

The bonus is calculated on the following basis: For each rise of one point in the cost of living the amount of the bonus shall be 25 cents per week, except for male workers under 21 years of age and female workers, who, if employed at basic rates of less than $25.00 per week, shall receive a bonus of 1 percent of their basic wage rates.

These bonuses will be adjusted regularly every three months.

Administration

The Order will be administered by five regional Boards under the direction of a National War Labour Board. Labour and employers will be represented on each of these Boards. Watch for the announcement of these Boards to which inquiries concerning the application of the Order should be directed.

Whole-Hearted Support Required

Your Government knows that this policy, as it affects labour, industry, commerce, and agriculture, demands a degree of restriction to which Canadians are not accustomed, and is directly a wartime measure. It will demand self-discipline and self-control. It will need the whole-hearted support of everyone who has the well-being of his fellow citizens at heart. But by loyal co-operation, Canadians can have much more assurance that the fears, sense of insecurity, the suffering and profiteering which inflation always brings, will neither interfere now in the winning of this war, nor in the recovery and reconstruction of Canada and the Canadian way of living after the war is over.

Hon. N. A. McLARTY,
Minister of Labour

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

PROPAGANDA

It is unfortunate that the word propaganda spells deceit to so many people. Actually legitimate propaganda is necessary in both Peace and War. We could have a lot more of the proper kind with good results right now. Two nice bits have been in the Press this last month. First there was the announcement that Britain and the United States were going to pile up food stocks to feed the hungry countries of Europe after the war. Any country who can hold out the prospect of food to the hungry world immediately gets a favorable re-action. The next nice bit was when Beaverbrook announced that all tanks made in one week go to Russia. The same number of tanks might be sent anyhow but it has not the same whole-hearted sound as the giving of the entire output. These are good examples of legitimate propaganda.

MAKE MORE AFGHANS

The head of Bundles for Britain in England has asked for more Afghans. She says they are very useful, and popular because they give a bit of color for drab surroundings. She suggested the school children be asked to make them. That seems like a good idea as the small squares would be a good thing for children to learn to knit on and being small they would have the feeling of accomplishment in finishing one before they got tired of it as they sometimes do in the larger articles. This is a thing the teachers could undertake. It is amazing what some school children are accomplishing under the direction of an interested teacher. One of the teachers in the Rothesay Consolidated School has helped the girls in the senior grades and the volume and the quality of the knitting they have done would put to shame many an older worker. I am sure there are many other schools that are doing good work but this is the one I happen to know about. There is an inspiration about working in company and much more will be done by the girls in a group than by working individually.

CEREALS

When the cool weather comes hot cereals are more often used for breakfast. When you use one of the cereals made from the whole grain, such as good old-fashioned oatmeal, or cracked wheat, with sugar and milk you have a nourishing, well-balanced dish. People complain about getting tired of cereals. It is just as easy to have a variety on hand and not cook the same one morning after morning. If you cook your cereal at night, when you take it off the heat, cover the surface with water, and that will prevent it from getting hard. If you have a coal fire, after you have cooked your cereal until it is thick, pour it into a covered casserole and pop it in the oven for a long slow, cooking, over-night. Have you tried cooking cereal in milk? This is specially good with the finely-milled cereals, and is a cracking good way of getting some extra milk into those thin children. Pour off the top of the milk and use the skim milk for cooking the cereal. Start the cereal in about a third of the usual amount of water and cook until the water is taken up, five or ten minutes, then add the other two-thirds liquid, using milk instead of water. Children and grown-ups too, often enjoy dates, raisins, or figs added to the cereal. Instead of always using granulated sugar with cereals try brown sugar for a change, and molasses is even better as it gives you extra minerals. Left-over cereal may be packed into baking powder tins, which have been rinsed with cold water, let them stand over-night, then slice and brown in hot fat in the frying pan. These are good with bacon, fish, or any creamed dish. They brown better if the slices are dipped in flour before frying. Cereals are cheap food and we want to use them often these days.

INDIAN PUDDING

2½ Cups scalded milk, 3 tablespoons cornmeal, ¼ cup molasses, ½ teaspoon ginger, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon.

Pour the milk slowly on the cornmeal and cook in the double boiler for twenty minutes. Add remaining ingredients. Pour into a greased baking-dish, set in a pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees for two hours. Serve with topmilk.

FINGER COOKIES

½ Cup butter, 1½ cups brown sugar, 1 egg, 3 cups flour, ¼ cup hot water, 1 teaspoon soda, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Cream the butter and sugar, add the beaten egg, then the soda dissolved in hot water. Sift in the flour and the salt, add the vanilla and mix well. Roll a piece of dough about the size of a walnut in a ball. Put on a greased pan, and make an indentation with the knuckle of the first finger. Fill this with jelly and bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees.

"I say, Jones, if I were you I wouldn't let your wife go round saying she's made a man of you. You don't hear my wife saying that."

"No," Jones agreed, "but I've heard your wife telling my wife that she's done her best."

LOLLYPOPS LEER, PIES GO CREAMY FOR HALOWE'EN

There's Doughnuts, Too with Swell Trimmings, but Don't Forget the Choc Filled Cake for Kiddies

By Louise Bennett Weaver

Hallowe'en plays hob (goblin) with many favorite autumn foods. Pumpkin pies show up with grinning whipped-cream faces. Meat and chicken dishes have grotesque expressions on their crusty covers and spicy, crunchy doughnuts are festive in nut-brown coatings.

If you are planning a party for little tykes, put a cake together with chocolate icing and spread the icing generously so that the top and sides of the cake are well covered. Top the cake with candles fashioned in jack o'lanterns, witches' hats or black cats. Light the candles when the refreshments are served.

Lollypops, too, are usually found at this season and some have faces painted on them. For another suggestion, frost a chocolate cake with orange icing and stick funny-faced lollypops around the top. All ages will like this fancy cake.

Ritzy Doughnuts

Since doughnuts are a very important part of Hallowe'en festivities, try giving them a different coat. Make up your best doughnuts (I always prefer mine flavored with cinnamon and vanilla but I find some folks must have nutmeg and cloves in theirs). When the doughnuts are cool, dip them in a thin, white frosting. Of course you can merely spread them with the frosting but you will find the dipping is easier and it really does a better job. Roll the frosted doughnuts in sliced or shredded — not finely chopped — nuts. Lay on waxed paper to dry.

Pop corn festoons, too, make timely decorations. Make the balls your usual way, but add some raisins and salted nuts to the pop corn mixture for individual flavor. Wrap the balls in waxed paper and then in red, green and orange papers, attach strings and fasten them to stout cords. The festoons can be placed over the serving table.

LAND GIRLS BARRED

London (CP) — Under a war office decision that the Auxiliary Training Service canteens are for the Waafs, Wrens and other servicewoman only, the Land Army girls "digging for victory" are barred from obtaining food and refreshment at these roadside hostels, and much protest has resulted.

NEW STYLES ARE DEMONSTRATED TO FARM WOMEN

Preaching Rural Life as First Line of Defence

Chicago, Oct. 20 (CP) — While smart shops busily sell silks, laces and fine furs, the university on wheels of Clemson Agricultural School, preaches the utility and beauty of the flour sack. This "school" features a "Livestock and Better Farm Living" train, touring various parts of the United States.

A part of the rolling college's preachment is that self-sufficiency in clothes as well as in food is important — that the farm is a first line of defence.

It would be a great joke if the farm woman, with precious little money to spend on style, came into chic to outdo her city cousin. For these simple togs, designed in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, are becoming and smart. Not every woman wears clothes well, but the average woman shines to better advantage in homely cottons than in gaudy glitter.

Cold weather cottons feature a reversible coat of red corduroy and water repellent gabardine. With khaki overseas cap and red boots the gabardine side makes the perfect costume for rainy days. A dressier hat, plus the corduroy side up, covers other occasions.

For All Weathers

Mix-mingle affairs too are carried out in corduroy — as a green jacket for trips to town or school, green slacks with rust vest, and plaid shirt for work and sports. Jacket, vest and blouse can be mixed up in numerous ways.

And while custom dressmakers in the cities are busily beading simple little frocks from neck to hem, the agriculturalists are having fun dyeing yarns with coffee to trim a two-piece dirndl in the brighest red made from feed sacks, and fastening it with pine cone buttons.

Huge pockets and simple fastenings give a high degree of efficiency and add dash for farming. Gay colors boost the morale.

Inexpensive cottons for the whole family are featured on this Better Living Train. Designs for sleeping, lounging and on around the clock are shown. Whether they are the next move on the clothes line for all of us or not, they are good, resourceful fashions which will bring the farm family new comfort, style and savings. They are something our wisest fashion designers are not overlooking.

REWARDING GIRL DISPATCH RIDER

London, Oct. 20 (CP)—Pamela Betty McGeorge, dispatch rider for the Women's Royal Naval Service, has been awarded the British Empire medal for bravery during an April air raid. A bomb explosion threw the girl from her motorcycle and wrecked it while she was racing to the Admiralty with dispatches. She ran the remaining distance — a mile and a half — then asked for more work.

BEAUTY

—Helen Jameson, Mme. Qui Vive—

MOUTH CONTOUR IS WHAT YOU MAKE IT

Nearly every healthy small child has a mouth of attractive outline and ripe, red fullness. But life does things to these pretty rosebuds. We, ourselves, are often responsible when the lips assume poses that are nothing to brag about. The beauty wrecking, in many cases, is brought about by facial habits — emotional storms, lip biting, pouting and goodness knows what else.

Lips that are soft and relaxed are the property of the selfish, lazy girl. She feels sorry for herself, she hasn't enough gumption to keep the mouth portals closed, so they sag and create an expression of lassitude and discontent.

You are always hearing "she has a hard mouth." That tells a lot. Lips look as if they want to bite nails, above them are snapping eyes. Bossy women and naggers belong in that class. A change of mind and heart will restore good looks to a mouth that hasn't been given a fair break. A radiant smile can take the curse away. For a moment or two, anyhow. But the brittle, bossy girls seldom smile. It is against their principles.

It is a futile project to spend money on cosmetics and beauty treatment if one's soul has gone sour. Frangrant toiletries can't work against the heavy odds of unpleasant emotions.

The fibers around the mouth are tiny and delicate. Pull down the lip ends for a long enough time and the muscles lose resilience and tissues sag. Tiny up and down creases may form a border for the lips. That's bad. They make one look old before one's time. If the lips are always relaxed, they may thicken. Muscles that aren't used soldier on the job. The way to correct such a condition is to cultivate an expression of good nature and animation. A good exercise to strengthen fibers is to smile and unsmile. Do a broad grin, hold it for a second or two, relax and repeat. You'll look pretty silly when you're doing it, so retire to your own room and shut the door. The family will think you are daffy.

If a mouth has been slipping downhill for a number of worrisome years, it can't put itself in form in a hurry. But here is a treatment that will help if you keep at it :

Apply a heavy massage cream to the lips. Tap it in with the finger tips, smooth the flesh from lip centers to the tips. Work around the lip edges with a light, pinching, fluting movement.

Place the thumb at one end of the upper lip, second finger at the other end, first finger in the center. Keep the first finger stationary, draw up the lip ends until you form a Cupid's bow. Keep the flesh relaxed. Massage loses much of its effect if muscles and tissues are tense.

Use a lipstick that is oily, so the lips will look moist.

Maybe You'll Get One for Christmas!

Miss Canada's Vanity Case Carries the Crest of her Sweetheart's Regiment

(By Mail)

London — Special arrangements have been made to allow Canadians on service in Britain to send home to their wives and sweethearts silverware bearing the insignia of their regiments.

Most of these souvenirs are enamel, and silver cigarette cases and vanity cases, ("flapjacks", as they are called in England) carrying regimental crests, with the unit's colors running across diagonally. The authorities have helped by waiving for these gifts the usual requirements of an export license and exchange control forms.

The London silversmiths who make the souvenirs have done similar work for many years past, long before the present war, and make a specialty of badges for all the principal Canadian regiments.

CHEAP BUT CHIC FOR FARMERETTE

Handy Dress Around-the-Clock for Girl Who Works on Farm

Montreal, Oct. 20 (CP) — Up with the cock's crow: Riviera fashions come back to the farm in a terry cloth robe in bright red edged in white and zipped up the front. Worn with stripped terry scuffs.

Must you work? Then you may as well look smart in a sturdy chambry work apron with side pockets that will come in handy and add dash, as does a red bandana shirt.

Off to shop in a mix-mingle, a city slicker's stunt, a two-piece cotton corduroy suit is part of a five-piece set. Corduroy tam, shoes. Cotton shirt, stockings.

And so to bed, in a collegiate version of grandpa's nightshirt, lopped off at the knees, slits and all.

RATIONS AGREEING WITH BRITISHERS; PROLIFIC CROP OF GARDEN VEGETABLES

ever, by some evil chance, I find myself lined up on the other side I shall adopt a certain course which — in my opinion — is most likely to spoil things for him. He inquired, with considerable interest, what such a course might be. "I shall tell the bald, hideous truth," I said; and he certainly looked as if this move might be revolutionary enough to make it awkward.

I always know there is going to be some quiet fun when I use him stroll up, carrying his bulgy red cloth bag with the tassels: the traditional brief-bag which contains his wig and gown. Until you realize what it is, that bag looks a trifle strange, I'll admit: not the sort of thing one might expect a well-dressed man to be humping around. Yet the tradition — like the wig-wearing — is still kept up. Incidentally, in the atmosphere of the courts the wig isn't a scrap ludicrous or remarkable. It is a tight-fitting, rather small affair of white horsehair, with curls placed horizontally at the sides, and a short, thin pigtail which hangs down over the collar. Somehow it bestows on the wearer just the right touch of aloofness and — how shall I put it? — unreality. Its effect is to give him an immediate advantage over the ordinary man.

The dignity of the courts, evidently, isn't easy to break down, for when I last saw him he had just come from a case in the provinces; and during the hearing there was an Alert. The siren, apparently, was practically on the top of the building, and the din quite indescribable.

"What did you all do?" I asked.

It was a silly question; I should have known. The entire court just waited until the awful noise died down . . . and then went on at the exact place where it left off. I had often wondered what happens in court at such times; and now I don't have to wonder any more.

Rations Agree With Us

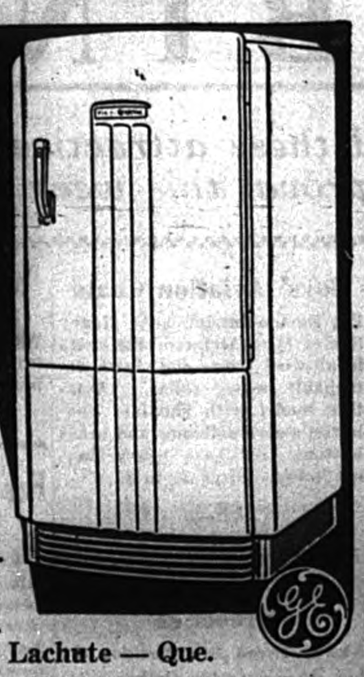

Well, we are still making out pretty well over here. The rations, I really believe, agree with us. Personally, I have discovered, all over again, the value of rice, and —believe it or not — it is putting color back into my hair. I have been staring at myself a little incredulously in the mirror, and now, if you please, I find that there are scientific grounds for my suspicions about that returning tint. I am not a vain woman (knowing only too well that I have no cause to be!) but this rice business just tickles me to death. Then there have been the good things on the allotment — a return, at last, for all that digging and mess and blistered hands. Never did marrows and potatoes and cucumbers taste so good. But the artichokes and the sunflowers . . . the latter reached almost nine feet. The Gardening Partner, at no time a loquacious individual, just stared upwards and murmured "Well, I'll be hanged!"

But it all gives me that wonderful feeling of calm inevitability; the knowledge that, short of blitzing off the whole thing, they can't stop the quiet, busy earth from doing its proper job.

Curious things still happen, of course. A fine batch of young turnips suddenly appeared on the back of the garden-seat which I so carefully made of turf, while the G.P.'s. lovingly-tended carrot-bed shows nothing at all except two sticks and a dandelion. The marrows had to be tactfully dissuaded from crawling through the hedge and into the road, while the cucumbers showed a morbid disposition to climb a tree. But nothing can surprise me; we are all beginning to feel that way.

A Spitfire fighting plane. . . . One of these craft will fly for Britain bearing the name "Argenteuil" — a gift raised by public contributions to follow the similar plane donated last February by two county industrialists, Messrs. W. H. and E. F. Ayers.

Taxes Overpaid, But No Protest

An elderly Elkhart, Ind., woman who received a statement for $2.72 taxes on her radio and refrigerator, forwarded a money order for $272. to the city treasurer. Informed of her mistake, the lady said she hadn't noticed the decimal point. She hadn't thought to protest, either, though she recalled remarking, "It does seem as if the taxes are a little high !"

"Ah, I see you've got a puncture. Have you got a nail in your tire?"

"No—I just ran over a fork in the road."

"German Bands" Return

But Britons are playing in Them

London—Instruments for a complete prison camp band have been despatched by the Red Cross to Stalag XXA, although eight out of ten of the craftsmen who make them are now turning out aeroplane parts and munitions.

Further complete sets are going out to eight or nine of the larger prison camps in Germany to equip one band a week. Each set has 3 violins, 1 viola, 1 concert flute, 1 clarinet, 1 oboe, 1 bassoon, alto and tenor saxophones, 1 guitar, a trumpet, a trombone and a set of drums.

As in the last war, regimental bands are again being restored. In 1914 Lord Kitchener shut down all Army bands, but they were brought back in 1916 to help recruiting and instrument makers found it impossible to supply the demand.

Again in the present war, all regimental bands were shut down, until six months ago when out they came once more. And again British makers of musical instruments are finding it most difficult to cope with the demand for more music.

FLOODED HOMES

Washouts along the C.P.R. from Vermillion Bay to Kenora, in Northwestern Ontario, held up trains every day for several hours, during the early part of this month. ABOVE are flooded homes in the Kenora district.

WOMEN PATROL DRIVERS

London, Oct. 20 (CP)—The city of London is choosing 12 women to drive patrol cars, replacing police drivers who have been called up.

NAZI SLAVE ARMY

London (CP) — Berlin papers report Germany is employing in industry and agriculture 1,400,000 prisoners of war and 1,000,000 foreign civilians.

the entire freight rates by rail or boat on feed grains from head of the lakes eastward.

The aim is to ensure adequate feed supplies to maintain production livestock products at a level sufficient to meet British requirements.

Complete mobilization of Canada's human and other resources with the objective of placing the Dominion on a "total war" footing was urged on Prime Minister Mackenzie King and government officials by the Dominion Executive Council of the Canadian Legion.

The Council submitted a memorandum calling for "immediate, complete and scientific mobilization, organization and utilization of all our resources" so Canada could wage war to her maximum capacity. The memorandum did not mention "conscription" specifically but made clear the Legion's stand that compulsory service for overseas should be instituted.

Boy Scouts The World Over

The Boy Scouts of Scotland have presented a $2,000 ambulance to St. Andrew's Ambulance Association.

Like the Boy Scout organization of other countries over-run by them the Germans now have banned the Boy Scouts of Norway.

WE NEED BOY SCOUTS, SAYS N.B. MAYOR

"Scouting is needed in our city to direct our boys in constructive thinking and action, to prepare them as our future citizens to bear the torch of leadership in a democracy that we are proud of and that is worth fighting for to preserve."

—Mayor Storey, Moncton, N.B.

A BUSY LIONS CLUB

The Lions Club of Seaforth, Ont., has for nine years sponsored the local Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. The club pays the rent, light and heating of a headquarters hall which includes a kitchen, gas burners and a full cupboard of cups and dishes. The club sponsors a number of other activities including an annual Hallowe'en Street Frolic.

ALERT PRAIRIE SCOUT

Although far from war service scenes, Boy Scout Pat Milligan, of Christopher Lake, Sask., was alertly ready for any serious emergency. When a playmate, James Levall, suffered a severed radial artery, Scout Milligan promptly controlled the bleeding by correctly applied pressure. He got the young patient to a house a half mile away, then to a doctor in Prince Albert, 25 miles. He was credited with saving the other boy's life.

GOOD TO SEE PEOPLE WITHOUT TIN HATS

Canadian Boy Scouts are contributing regularly to a fund, the "B.-P. Chins-Up Fund," for the benefit of Scout war sufferers in Britain. In part the money is used to maintain rest camps for Scouts who have been rendering heroic service in the bombed centres. Two of the biggest camps are located in North Wales and Oxfordshire.

One Scout, who had been awarded the Silver Cross for Gallantry in fire-fighting during the London raids, wrote from the camp in the Welsh mountains telling of his enjoyment of sun-bathing in the long grass, swimming twice a day in the pool, boating, hiking over the heather-covered slopes and wooded valleys, meals under the shade of a tree and sleeping under the stars in absolute peace and quiet.

The greatest luxury of the camp was the thought that he could sleep undisturbed throughout each night — not to be wakened with the whisper, "It's your turn for fire-watch," or "Come on, there goes 'Moaning Minnie'." And how good it was to see people walking about without tin hats !

City Purchases Books

The City of Montreal has just acquired for $100 a few hundred books for which several thousand dollars were paid by the Montreal Metropolitan Commission.

When the Commission maintained a town planning department, a consulting library was built up for the information of staff employees. A substantial amount of money was disbursed in the purchase of technical books.

Now the city has acquired the library.
