SWEDISH LINER BRINGS LONG AWAITED NEWS FROM CANADIAN PRISONERS AT HONG KONG

Repatriated Civilians Arrive Aboard the "Gripsholm", Home from the Far East By Exchange Agreement with Japan

Labor Disagreements Cause Concern

By ALLAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Sept. 2 (CP)—For some civilians now in Canada, war at first hand is no new experience. These are the 60-odd men, women and children repatriated from the Far East under an exchange agreement with Japan. They reached Canada after travelling more than half way round the world on the Swedish liner Gripsholm, and they spoke restrainedly, if at all, of their war experiences. But their thin bodies and shadowed eyes told plainly of war's burden on civilians.

The same ship brought letters from Canadian prisoners at Hong Kong, heavily censored by the Japanese but still the first direct word from fighting men who survived the battle. Some indication of conditions they face on the island was given in a statement by Paul V. McLane, former trade commissioner at Hong Kong, that "it seems pretty definite conditions are hard" in the prison camps.

Selective Service Regulations

Orders providing for compulsory employment of all persons capable of working were issued jointly by Labor Minister Mitchell and E. M. Little, Director of National Selective Service, Aug. 31. The new regulatons became effective immediately and call-up quotas are already being determined by the two departments concerned.

Selective service officials at employment offices have been authorized to summon anyone for interview and to point out more essential work than that in which he or she is now engaged. None can be hired, or interviewed by an employer, without holding a permit to seek a job.

Labor Disputes

The month opens with disturbing factors on the home front. Some observers see in the labor disputes at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Sydney, N.S., a real test of the government's wartime wages control policy.

That the first great clash of labor and management in recent months should occur in the vital steel industry only adds to the gravity of the situation. Prime Minister Mackenzie King emphasized this when he told the national director of the union involved that the possibility of a work stoppage was "so very serious in its possible consequences" to the war effort that "I feel you cannot consider the possible consequence too carefully."

C. H. Millard, the national director, recognized it when he said a stoppage would be a "national-calamity—a catastrophe."

Official Counsel

Responsible officials in other fields have felt it necessary to check the public in some of its ways of speaking. Finance Minister Ilsley has warned against spreading "silly mischievous rumors" about the financial program—including reports that war saving certificates would not be redeemed after September 1.

In still another field, Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, found it necessary to chide civilians for spreading false rumors of prospective rationing and promised that action would be taken in future against individuals found guilty of doing so.

Several steps are being taken in other spheres to smooth rough spots in the war program. Organization of a new federal agency known as the Wartime Information Board, dedicated to the proposition that information services are an "essential activity of war," is in progress.

To ease the harvest help shortage in the prairie provinces, an agreement is being negotiated to provide Alberta with financial assistance from the federal treasury and similar payments may be made to the other two provinces.

New regulations are expected to be announced shortly lowering the gasoline ration for those who use their cars for "pleasure" driving only. A home extension plan designed to create new housing accommodation in congested areas goes into effect this month.

Morin Hts. Man Is Safe and Well In Hong Kong

Among anxious families in this country who have received heartening letters that their sons and husbands were safe and well at Hong Kong, similar word has been received by relatives of a former Morin Heights man, Floyd Colin Cameron, who served as a Corporal in the Royal Rifles Regt.

Cpl. Floyd Colin Cameron, son of the late Capt. Robert Cameron, a Great War veteran, and the late Mrs. Cameron, was born in Sawyerville, Que., in 1920. A brother L.-Cpl. Grant Cameron died while on service overseas. Educated at the Cookshire High School, Cpl. Cameron was employed by his uncle Joseph Seale, Morin Heights, prior to enlisting. Other members of the family include a sister, Miss Shirley Cameron, and a brother, Gordon Cameron, of Montreal.

COUNCIL TAKES STEPS TO CURB TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS IN TOWN

Attorney General Says Onus Falls on Town Authorities

The regular monthly meeting of Lachute Town Council was held in the town hall last evening, with Mayor H. Lamarche presiding. Aldermen S. Holt, A. Bothwell, W. Morrisette, A. Guenette, S. McFaul and A. Rochon were in attendance.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved on motion of Ald. Holt, seconded by Ald. Morrisette.

The secretary, Germain Filion, reported having received a letter from the Attorney-General of Quebec requesting assistance in curbing the abuse of traffic laws in Lachute, and the town was notified this was the obligation of the local authorities. In consequence strict measures are now to be adopted and those exceeding the speed limit will be subject to arrest and prosecution. The speed regulation within the town limits is 20 miles an hour.

Henri Prevost was appointed to take charge of the systematic chimney sweeping of the town properties and the public are asked to co-operate. This action of the council last year was responsible in large measure for a great reduction in chimney fires, as well as conforming to the request of the Provincial Fire Commissioner.

75,000 In Closing Parade, Hawksb'y Eucharistic Meet

A midnight mass with an attendance of 12,000 people marked the formal opening of a five-day Regional Eucharistic Congress at Hawkesbury, Wednesday night of last week. The ceremonies closed on Monday with a candle-light procession in which an estimated 75,000 persons from the surrounding countryside paraded through the town.

Benediction was pronounced by Msgr. Alexandre Vachon, Archbishop of Ottawa.

Earlier, more than 50,000 attended the pontifical mass, celebrated by Msgr. Vachon. The sermon was read by Msgr. Hildebrando Antaniutti, Apostolic Delegate to Canada. Afternoon sermons were delivered by Msgr. Joseph Bonhomme, Apostolic Vicar of Basutoland, South Africa, and Msgr. J. H. Chartrand, director of Catholic Action for Ottawa diocese.

On Saturday, Msgr. Antoniutti was welcomed to the Congress by Msgr. Vachon, who spoke in French and English before a crowd of 25,000. Rev. Gabriel Chaput of Montreal read the sermon at devotional services preceding the midnight mass.

More than 40,000 people, from as far east as the Gaspe and the northern United States to Oshawa and Cochrane, Ont., attended the midnight mass which was celebrated by Msgr. Albani Leblac, Bishop of Hearst, Ont.

The various ceremonies were in charge of the Rev. Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament of Montreal.

A detachment of nine Ontario Provincial Police constables and 100 special constables were stationed in Hawkesbury for the duration of the congress.

Special constables were sworn in by Senior Magistrate Raoul Labrosse of Vankleek Hill for various duties.

Local Serviceman Casualty O'seas, Dies of Illness

TROOPER HOWARD L. DOIG SUCCUMBS TO SICKNESS SUFFERED FIVE WEEKS

MEMORIAL SERVICE HERE ON DAY OF BURIAL

Tpr. Howard Lawrence Doig, whose death overseas was reported Monday in the Defence Department's 14th official casualty list of the war, died after an illness of five weeks and was buried in England last Sunday, according to advices received at Ottawa.

Tpr. H. Doig was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doig, of this community. Born and educated here in Lachute, he worked for some time with the C-I-L at Brownsburg before enlisting with the 6th Hussars, Montreal, in April, 1941.

Funeral arrangements were made by Maj. Robert Thompson of Montreal, a brother-in-law, who was with Tpr. Doig constantly during his illness.

An impressive memorial service was held here at the Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon, the day of his burial. The ceremony was conducted by the pastor of the church, Mr. H. Charlton, in the presence of many friends and relatives. A large Union Jack and tributes of beautiful flowers formed an appropriate setting for the service.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doig of Lachute, three sisters, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Montreal, Mrs. E. Rose, Ottawa, and Mrs. Albert Leishman, Lachute; and two brothers, Stanley and Wilbur, of Montreal.

Modern table manners, says Dr. D. H. S. Granage, Dean of Norwich, are derived from rules of eating laid down for the Century Benedictine Monks by their founder, St. Benedict.

Lachute Man Wins Highest Award at M'tl Flower Show

STAYS WITH HIS MEN

London (CP) — Lt.-Col. A. C. Newman, Commando leader taken prisoner in the St. Nazaire raid, has advised his wife that he refused to be transferred to an officers' camp preferring to stay with the 123 men captured with him.

NOTABLE SUCCESS WITH GLADIOLUS BLOOMS GROWN HERE

PRIZE FOR BEST SHOW BY PROFESSIONAL GROWERS

At what was possibly the largest flower show ever staged in Montreal, Albert B. Ogilvie, exhibiting his gladiolus blooms grown here at Lachute, took the highest award, the President's Trophy for highest points in the open classes. The William Ewing Trophy, for best in the amateur classes, was won by Tom Patterson, of Verdun. The winners of these coveted prizes appear in a picture on this page, photographed in front of Mr. Ogilvie's display.

The Tercentenary Flower Show was held in the Forum last Thursday and Friday. The building presented a vast garden scene, complete with rock gardens, flagged walks and colorful flowers. In addition to the baskets of flowers entered in competition, there were elaborate displays by seed firms, florists and flower associations.

Two features of the show were the education display of the Montreal Botanical Garden, and an arrangement of the "Elizabeth the Queen" variety of gladiolus, originated by D. W. White, of Verdun.

The proceeds from the show, will be devoted to the Navy League of Canada. Music was supplied by the band of the R.C.N.V.R. and the Lavalee-Smith Choir. The Tercentenary Show was sponsored by the Horticultural Federation of Quebec, the Province of Quebec Gladiolus Society, the City Improvement League, and the Tercentenary Commission.

Besides the President's trophy, Albert Ogilvie also brought home the Royal Bank of Canada Silver Challenge Cup, awarded to the exhibitor obtaining most points in the open division, decorative arrangement classes. He also won other prizes.

With a long experience in the cultivation of gladioli and many credits for his distinction in this work, Mr. Ogilvie and his family came to Lachute last January from Nantel, Que. In partnership with A. Paulsen, landscape gardener, he conducts a nursery situated on the Montreal highway opposite Lachute Golf Club.

School Opening Next Tues., with New Principal

School "closing", or "opening", exercises (as they are variously termed) will take place Tuesday evening, September 8, in Lachute Auditorium. Scholars commence their new school year Tuesday morning, and for many of the pupils and their parents this will be their first opportunity to make acquaintance with Howard Bradford, B.A., who succeeds Clifton L. Hall as High School principal.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradford, now living in Lachute, have been residing in the Eastern Townships and, Mr. Bradford was formerly principal of the Scotstown High School.

At Tuesday evening's function, with Geo. Y. Deacon presiding as chairman of the school board, a review of the past year's progress will be given, and such plans and aspirations as the commissioners have in mind for the coming year. Awards will be presented to pupils having excelled in their studies during the past year, and the occasion is one which all parents should attend, to lend encouragement and display their interest in the school's activities.

Minister of Highways Inspects Work on the Laurentian Routes

Hon. T. D. Bouchard, Quebec Minister of Roads, spent the week-end in the mountains inspecting the progress of the work on the new Laurentian highway, which is ultimately to be a four-lane road from Montreal through the mountains.

The plans for the section from St. Jerome to Ste. Agathe have all been approved as laid out, and work is proceeding rapidly in the part to the east and beyond Shawbridge. The work on the bridge over the North River is moving forward so rapidly that the Minister expects it to be completed this fall. A stretch of two and a half miles of asphalt has been almost finished between Mont Rolland and Ste. Agathe and, if weather conditions are good, will be completed by the end of this week.

Boys' Brigade Is Oldest Unit, Has Colors of 1897

CO'Y UNIT TO HOLD CAMP IN ST. ANDREWS, WEEK-END OF LABOR DAY

DOMINION PRESIDENT VISITS CAMP SITE

Montreal, Sept. 2—The 1st Montreal Company will hold a week-end camp for their N.C.O.'s at Riverview Dairy, St. Andrews East, commencing this Saturday. The boys have been looking forward to this occasion with keen anticipation and it is hoped the weather will remain warm enough to enjoy swiming to the fullest.

The Company have been honored this week to have as their guest their Dominion President, the Rev. C. A. Selby, who visited the camp-site on Sunday, accompanied by Capt. J. Howard Richardson, Lieut. Alex Upham and Sergeant Edwin Goring. Mr. Selby has been spending a week with Capt. Richardson, discussing plans for the observance of the Brigade's Diamond Jubilee, which will commence in October.

The Boys' Brigade, founded in in Glasgow, Scotland, in the year 1883, came to Canada as early as 1887, when the 1st Montreal Company was formed, later to be followed by many more units in that city as well as throughout Canada. The 1st Company still hold in their possession the original Company Colors, presented to the original unit in 1897. During the last war, many of the thriving companies lapsed when their leadership responded to the country's call and for a time the Brigade's lamp shone rather dimly. However, during the past two decades a steady increase has been shown and at the present time, even though many of the leaders have entered the armed forces, very few units have been forced to cease operation. This, of course, is due to the Canadian Dominion Council's ability to secure new leadership to carry on. The Rev. Selby's moto for this year is "Building boys is better than mending men."

Power Sites Exchanged But the Development at Carillon Seems Unlikely

Toronto, Aug. 27 (CP) — The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission will start development of power sites on the Upper Ottawa river immediately, with the completion of negotiations with the Province of Quebec, it was learned at Queen's Park.

In the interest of economy and convenience Ontario is granting Quebec the right to develop power in the Carillon and Rocher Fondu sites on the South Ottawa, and a similar extension is granted Ontario for development of power north of Pembroke, Ont., it was said.

By this exchange of power rights, unique in interprovincial associations, both provinces eliminate difficulties attending the joint construction of power works upon the boundary waters.

It is estimated that Ontario has secured sole rights of at least 400,000 h.p. in the transfer. Under the development plan the Ontario Hydro plans to bring in the power under a several-stage building program, in order to gain power at the earliest possible moment.

* * *

Montreal, Sept 1 — There is no shortage of electric power in the Province of Quebec and given at least average water levels, and no unusually large demands for power, it is not expected that a shortage will develop in the near future, according to information obtained from Olivier Lefebvre, vice-president of the Quebec Streams Commission. Mr. Lefebvre said that the capacity of the existing plants is not such as would enable an increase as heavy as that of 1941 to be met, but in the meantime there is no question of a power shortage.

Finance Minister To Confer With Local Organizers

Hon. J. L. Ilsley to Speak At St. Jerome Next Tuesday, Sept. 8

At the request of the Minister of Finance, Hon. J. L. Ilsley, the joint chairmen of the National War Finance Committee for Argenteuil County—Clement Tremblay and W. M. Scott—announce a meeting to be held at St. Jerome on Tuesday morning, September 8, at 11 o'clock.

The Minister will be pleased to meet all members of the last Victory Loan committee and the various assistants in the industrial drives who are in a position to attend.

New Principal to Assume Duties at High School

Mr. Howard Bradford and Mrs. Bradford, latterly of the Eastern Townships, now residing on Grace Street, Lachute.

GIRL SERGEANT DRILLS BUDDIES

U.S. Troops Impressed by A.T.S. Footwork and Asked for Some of It

Somewhere in England (CP) — When the first contingent of United States troops arrived here they were much struck by the smart drill of girl N.C.O.'s belonging to the Auxiliary Territorial Service (Women's Army Corps), who were attending an instruction course at the barracks. Two days after their arrival 12 United States enlisted men were drilled at their own request by an A.T.S. sergeant.

TRUCK GONE TOO

London (CP) — Police were puzzled over the disappearance of three tons of shaving cream and toothpaste until they discovered a big truck was missing too.

114623 TONS OF SCRAP

London (CP) — London has contributed 114,623 tons of iron gates and railings to munitions manufacturers.

Cape Town (CP) — Vegetable dehydration is scheduled to begin in South Africa sometime during September. The process is to be carried out on a large scale and will continue throughout the whole year.

Cape Town (CP)—An Ordinance has been gazetted calling for the postponement of the Transvaal municipal elections for another year — it's the war.

CAN'T DEPEND ON BOBBY

London (CP) — Since London policemen have stopped wearing gasmasks Londoners complain they have to listen themselves for air-raid sirens. In the old days they simply waited till the policemen hoisted their respirators to the "alert."

Too often it's in at one ear and out at the mouth.

London (CP) — Somebody left a studio door open at the BBC when the eight o'clock news was due. This is what listeners heard: "I don't want any sugar in it." And another voice replied, "Right ho."

Firemen Respond To Two Alarms

Two calls were answered this week by Lachute Fire Brigade and, in one case particularly where surroundings created the danger of an extensive blaze, quick and effective work averted heavy loses.

Shortly after the noon hour on Monday an alarm was turned in by a resident, Mrs. Hugh Martin, who noticed smoke emerging from the windows of the next-door residence. The dwelling, on the corner of Foundry and Bethany Streets, is occupied by Robt. McGoldrick, but the occupants had gone out a short time previously. The firemen therefore broke into the house, where they found a studio couch ablaze. The flames, probably caused by a smouldering cigarette butt, were quickly extinguished.

At 9 a.m. on Wednesday fire occurred in the wall of a boiler room at Lachute Lumber Company Ltd., Chatham Street. Bringing their equipment promptly to the scene, the Fire Brigade, under Chief Geo. Y. Deacon, subdued the fire with little trouble before it had spread to inflammable surroundings in the extensive lumber yards and premises. The firemen, however, were required to lay 500 feet of hose to reach the spot. This fire was presumably caused by overheating from the boiler.

FUNERAL OF WELL KNOWN RESIDENT OF ST. ANDREWS E.

Late Horace Davis

St. Andrews E. — The funeral service of the late Horace Davis was held at Christ Church on Thursday afternoon, August 27, conducted by the Rev. Thos. Bell.

Mr. Davis, who died suddenly at his home here on August 25, was the husband of the late Elizabeth Caldwell Smyth by his first marriage and of the late Jenny Simpson by his second marriage. He was 75 years of age.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. G. J. Gary, of Montreal, and Mrs. Frank Major, of North Conway, N.H., also one son, Sydney J. Davis, of Philadelphia, now of Pearl Harbour.

Interment took place at St. Andrews East Protestant Cemetery.

CHURCH MEMORIALS, MEMORY OF OFFICER KILLED ON SERVICE

Morin Heights—At the regular morning service at Holy Trinity Church on Sunday, two new memorials were dedicated. A beautiful brass Alms Basin and book-rest were donated in memory of Alexander Russel Millard, 2nd Lieutenant in the Canadian Infantry Corps, who was killed on duty August 29, 1940. The memorials, gifts of his mother, were dedicated by the Rev. Harold Laws, rector of St. Stephen's Church, Westmount.

The sermon, which was delivered by the incumbent, Mr. H. G. Baugh, was based on the text "Demas hath forsaken me," stressing the necessity of continued service in the Church of God. Tribute was also paid to the late Alexander Millard in his remarks.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE AXIS

—Montreal Herald

BRAZIL EXPECTED TO GIVE BIG AID TO ALLIED CAUSE

Population About Four Times Canada's, Includes Strong Axis Nationalist Groups

Rio De Janeiro, Sept. 1 (CP)—Brazil, the first South American country to declare war on the Axis (Japan excluded) is expected to lend material and moral aid of definite proportions to the Allied lineup.

This huge Portugese speaking nation, biggest of the South American republics is approximately 3,022,387 square miles in area, has a population of about 45,000,000, borders on every South American country but Chile and Ecuador and has a coast line of almost 5,000 miles to guard.

Brazil's army consists of 100,000 regulars, with 300,000 in reserve. Navy has two battleships, two cruisers, 11 destroyers and four submarines in addition to several smaller craft. Brazil had a peacetime air force of 3,500 men, is rapidly expanding that force.

In 1914-18

Brazil entered the First Great War (only South American nation to do so) for the same reason it came into the present conflict: ruthless German submarine attacks on Brazilian vessels. Brazil's contribution consisted of a fleet detachment sent to European waters, a medical mission and a number of aviators. Biggest part was played on the food front.

Top Brazilian is President Getulio Vargas, definitely anti-Axis. Brazil's immediate problem is to keep a wary eye on strong Axis nationalist groups who have settled there. Brazil has about 4,000,000 residents of German or Italian extraction, 300,000 Japanese. The latter represent the largest Japanese minority planted anywhere in the world.

First Horse in Canada Was Landed in 1647

Quebec—Now that the horse is regaining his place of honor in the world of locomotion, it is worth noting that the first horse to set hoof in Canada disembarked at Quebec in June of 1647, says the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Ernest Gagnon, noted French-Canadian author and historian, says that the first Canadian horse was brought from France by La Compagnie des Habitants as a gift for the Governor, the Chevalier de Montmagny. There is probably no direct line between the first engine to reach Canada and the sinewy steeds which now pull tourists-ladden "caleches" about Quebec's winding streets. Governor de Montmagny left Quebec a year after he received the "gift horse" and records shed no further light upon its ultimate fate. As the first "oat-burner" was also minus a mate, it seems improbable that any offspring were left to carry on the line.

In July, 1665, the horse really became established in Canada, with the arrival from overseas of twelve animals sent by the King of France from the royal stables.

The date of the caleche's first appearance in Quebec is not known, but the letters of an Army officer during the French Regime, tell of a certain day in 1697, when the Governor of Montreal, Monsieur de Callieres, arrived at the Place d'Armes of Quebec, in a caleche to review the troops.

At any rate, Quebec's cabbies regard gasoline rationing with a kindly eye, for they see a new period of usefulness for their faithful "oat sniffers" as well as a new era of communal importance for themselves.

NO MORE FREE ASHTRAYS EXCEPT FOR SERVICE MEN

One of the latest regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board prohibits brewers from distributing any articles which advertise their names or products or supplying equipment to beverage rooms without charge.

This regulation took effect September 1st., with the exception that any provincial association or organization of brewers may supply equipment, furnishings, fixtures, electrical apparatus, glasses or other beverage room accessories to any wet canteen operated by unit of the armed forces if it is so desired.

EXTRA FOR AIR SOLDIERS

London (CP) — The War Office has announced that airborne troops, distinct from parachute troops, have had their pay increased about the equivalent of 25 cents daily. They previously had been receiving ordinary army rates.

Promoted

R. W. Scott, who succeeds J. K. Savage, as General Superintendent, Quebec District, Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Scott has been with the Canadian Pacific Railway for 43 years and brings to his new position a wide experience in railway work. The announcement of the retirement of Mr. Savage and the promotion of Mr. Scott was made by Norman McMillan, Assistant General Manager, Eastern Lines.

PADDY FINUCANE'S OWN LAST LETTER A FIGHTING EPIC

Gallant British Air Ace Had Visions of Business Career But Now — To Battle!

Flt.-Lt. Brendan "Paddy" Finucane, of the Royal Air Force, gay and dauntless victor over 33 of Hitler's Luftwaffe, flew across the English Channel July 14. A "million-to-one chance" bullet from a German machine-gun post struck his radiator, and he never got home. This story, condensed by The Associated Press is believed to be the last bit of writing he did before his death.)

By Flt.-Lt. Brendan Finucane, Royal Air Force

I have been on about 50 sweeps and most of my victories have been over France. I've got my bag because I've been blessed with a pair of good eyes and have learned to shoot straight.

I've not been shot down—knock on wood—and I've only once been badly shot up. (I hope that doesn't sound too Irish.) And for all that I've got a lot to thank the pilots in my section. They are Australians and I've never met a more loyal or gamer crowd of chaps.

I'm sure that Australia must be a grand country if it's anything like its pilots, and after the war I'm going to see it. No, not flying — accounting or auditing.

Pilots Are Normal

Perhaps that doesn't sound much like a fighter pilot. But pilots are perfectly normal people.

Our chaps sometimes find they can't sleep. What happens is this. You come back from a show and find it very hard to remember what happened. Later, when sleep is stealing over you, some tiny link in the forgotten chain of events comes back. Instantly you are fully awake and then the whole story pieces itself together and you lie there sleep driven away, re-living the combat. You suffer from mental indigestion.

The first necessity in combat is to see the other fellow before he sees you, or at least before he gets the tactical advantage of you. The second is to hit him when you fire. You mightn't have a second chance.

Story of a Flight

After a dog-fight your section gets split, and you must get together again, or tack on to others. The straggler is easy meat for a bunch of Jerries. Luckily, the chaps in my flight keep with me very well, and we owe a lot to it. On one occasion recently I saw an Me. dive on to one of my flight. As I went in after him, another Me. tailed in behind to attack me, but one of my flight went in after him. Soon half a dozen of us were flying at 400 m.p.h. in line astern, everybody except the leader firing at the chap in front of him.

I got my Hun just as my nearest pal got the Hun on my tail, and we were then three spitfires in the lead. when we turned to face the other Mes. we found that several others had joined in, but as we faced them they turned and fled.

Previous Escape

The nearest I've been to being shot down was when another pilot and I attacked a Ju. 88. The bomber went down to sea level so that we could only attack from above in face of the fire of the Ju's. rear guns. We put that Ju into the sea alright, but I had to struggle home with my aircraft riddled with bullets and the under-carriage shot away.

I forced-landed without the undercarriage, and was none the worse for it. But it wasn't very nice at the time.

Well, as I said just now, one day I'm planning to go to Australia—and audit books.

* * *

(But he'll never see Australia. That bullet in his radiator dropped his Spitfire into the Channel. "This is it, chaps," he said. Then his radio was silent.)

GOVM'T SUBSIDY ON FERTILIZERS FOR USE OF FARMERS

Nearly 45,000 Quebec farmers took advantage of the subvention granted by the Federal Government, in the spring of 1942, to encourage fertilizing crops used for livestock and poultry feeding.

The joint requirements of the English and Canadian markets, for bacon, cheese, butter, eggs, etc., are still considerable and it is more than even essential to maintain the highest yield of field crops necessary for production of these commodities.

Subventions are therefore offered in the fall of 1942 to encourage the use of chemical fertilizers on pastures and meadows, on fall wheat and fall rye. These subventions apply to the following mixed fertilizers: 0 16 6, 2 12 6, 4 12 6, and all available fertilizer materials. Certain formulas especially recommended for soils poor in potash, such as 0 12 10 and 2 12 10, are also eligible to subventions.

For the best possible use of available fertilizer supplies, the Fertilizers Administrator, in agreement with the National Advisory Board, recommends, this fall, for Quebec, 20% superphosphate and 0 16 6 fertilizer on pastures and meadows. For fall cereals, wheat and rye, superphosphate and 0 16 6 are recommended on rather fertile soils and 2 12 6 on less fertile soils and soils receiving no manure.

The subvention applies to all fertilizer formulas above enumerated.

The amount of the subvention will be calculated as follows: 30c per unit of nitrogen and 15c per unit of phosphoric acid and water soluble potash, contained in the fertilizer. Thus 0 16 6 and 2 12 6 will be subventioned on a basis of $3.30 per ton and 2 12 10 and 4 12 6 on a basis of $3.90 per ton.

The amount of the subvention shall be deducted from the price of the fertilizer at the time of sale, The farmer will be asked to sign a declaration to the effect that he is to employ the fertilizer on the above-mentioned crops only. After submitting their declarations for verification to the Provincial Supervisor, the vendors will be reimbursed by the Federal Government.

The total amount any farmer may receive is $25 and the total quantity of fertilizers on which the subvention may be granted is five tons.

This offer to encourage fall fertilizing applies to all fertilizers bought between July 1 and November 15, 1942.

Further information may be obtained from the Provincial Supervisor of the Dominion Fertilizer Subvention, Department of Agriculture, Quebec.

PRODUCTION OF WOOL INCREASING IN EAST

Moncton, N.B.—Increasing wool production in Eastern Canada is reported by J. E. McIntyre, agricultural agent of the C.N. Rlys., who anticipates an even better record in 1943. Recently 250,000 pounds of wool passed through Government grading centres at Truro, Antigonish and Mabu on which the farmers realized $85,000. The grading was high, about 85 per cent being up to military standards and equal to the best produced elsewhere in Canada.

Follow the Leaders

One who did not mean to disparage the efforts of men and women in Canada now giving leadership in this country during wartime, declared recently, "Canada's true leaders are the boys in uniform who are fighting on the seas and overseas."

Few will argue against that opinion. Good leadership embraces the ability to inspire a people to higher achievement, and there is nothing so inspirational as a good example.

In all the self-denial and hard work required from us at home, we are inspired by our gallant leaders who scour the ocean to protect our troops and war materials, who sweep the skies to shelter our homes and industries, and those who dash into enemy territory to crush the heartless wretches who plunged the world into war.

Each of those Canadian leaders overseas has voluntarily offered to stop living, if necessary, that we may live. Each has turned his back on chesterfields and pillows and the joy of doing what he likes. Each has forgotten the ease of an eight or ten hour day and the weekly pay envelope that permitted him to buy a new suit or a shirt, or to take the girl out to a dance. Each will work twenty-four hours at a stretch when called to do so.

No Canadian soldier puts a limitation on the extent of his service. He is truly going all out for victory.

With such leaders, Canadians will not fail in any task ahead. What Canadian father would drop his tools and slow up war production needed by his fighting son overseas? How many Canadians will deliberately spend money for comfort and amusement, when that money is needed so desperately to give our soldier leaders overseas the last bit of equipment they need to conquer the enemy?

As we read the names of scores of young men who suffered and died on the beaches of Dieppe, how few of us will want to withdraw our money from the war chest in order to have a good time with it or to spend it on goods that will make our own lives more comfortable!

Note on Patriotism

With the introduction of a 40-mile-an-hour speed limit, we began to commend ourselves on the patriotism with which motorists entered into the spirit of the thing — generally observing the law to the letter and thereby promoting its purpose, namely to save gasoline. But now, as the season wears on we note the speed of many drivers has increased on stretches where enforcement officers are least in evidence. Maybe they found the gasoline quota more than ample for their needs, and are making certain their coupons will be used within the year . . . This is one way, at least, to ensure that next year the authorities will cut down on full allowances. To paraphrase a hoary proverb, you cannot burn your gasoline and have it.

"Sally" Appeals

The Salvation Army, known in older military circles as "Sally", is issuing a call for help in its appeal for funds for the home front. Canada is at war, but through the mazes of work to be done in far fronts must be remembered the work that is vitally necessary at home.

For sixty years the Salvation Army in Canada has helped unfortunates from coast to coast. This work cannot be dropped because a country is at war; a nation cannot throw aside a responsibility to take up another. Somehow the old and the new responsibilities must be co-ordinated. This the Salvation Army is attempting to do in its Home Front Appeal.

To simplify understanding of its great task, the branches of the work of the Salvation Army are enumerated here: Homes for Children, Homes for Unmarried Mothers, Fresh Air Camps, Hostels for Men, Prison and Police Court work, Reclamation of Materials, Sunset Lodges for Old Ladies, Eventide Homes for Old Men, Evangelical Work, Hospitals, League of Mercy, Missing Friends, Women's Social Service, Benefits to Canadians which do not fall within these classifications (an estimated 1,366,421 last year).

It is obvious that these groups must continue to need support, and many new sufferers will need aid under wartime conditions.

Newspapers, radio broadcasts, and motion picture shorts are collaborating in a nation-wide effort to publicize and gain recognition of the Salvation Army's activities. Only in such a way can a full account of its needs be placed before the public and following such a united campaign there can be no excuse for ignorance of its Christian work. Every thinking being is thus urged by these three mediums to support the Salvation Army's vitally necessary drive for funds.

He Rants Again

The electors of the Province of Quebec have been deprived of the oratory of Maurice Duplessis, leader of the Opposition in the Quebec Legislature and former Premier of the Province, for some months, the gentleman having been confined to hospital. But now he is out again and is stumping the Province, starting with his home town of Three Rivers. The hospital treatment may have materially improved his physical well-being but it certainly failed to change his mental attitude insofar as Canadian participation in the war is concerned. —Sherbrooke Daily Record

All In It Together

The Dominion Government's move toward national selective service is a move toward putting "us all in it together" — both in our feeling and in the hard reality. In a sentence, it means in the end "everybody for a war job — and a war job for everybody." —Winnipeg Tribune

WAR -- TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

By H. H. GORDON Canadian Press Staff Writer

GERMANS STARTED NIGHT AIR ATTACKS IN FIRST GREAT WAR; RAIDS ON LONDON AND EAST ENGLAND

London and England's eastern counties experienced night air raids as long ago as 1917. Germany's moonlight stabs at the Empire's capital in the First Great War were trifling compared to the mammoth attacks of 1940, but produced results by no means negligible.

German air raids on Britain 25 years ago in some respects set the pattern for the modern blitz. Airships, used extensively soon after the outbreak of the First Great War, became easy prey and daylight raids by heavier-than-air craft followed until defence efficiency caused the enemy to abandon this form of attack.

Night raiding was not unusual over the battlefields of France and Flanders, but its terrors first became known to civilian England on Sept. 3, 1917. Sweeping in over the North Foreland at 10.30 p.m., the raiders followed the Thames estuary and dropped their bombs on Chatham.

Delay in Warnings

There was a central control in those days and warnings were sent out immediately the Germans' course was determined. But there was a serious delay in issuing the warning at Chatham and a bomb fell on a drill hall where hundreds of sailors were sleeping. No fewer than 130 persons were killed and 88 wounded in this raid.

The following night between 20 and 30 raiders crossed the English coast. Of these 10 managed to get as far as London's metropolitan area. Bombs were dropped in Paddington, Stratford, Hornsey, Holloway and Regent's Park as well as in the heart of the city. One bomb fell near Cleopatra's Needle on the Thames Embankment. Nine persons were killed, but considering the scale of the raid, property damage was small.

Raids in favorable moon periods continued until May, 1918, when defence measures became so efficient that London was saved from further bombing. In the last raid from 30 to 40 planes of Germany's 3rd Bombing Squadron took part. The attackers lost three machines in air combat, three were downed by gunfire and one crashed through engine trouble.

Total Casualties

German day and night raids on England during the First Great War brought death to 1,413 persons and injuries to 3,407. Night raids frequently stopped work over wide areas, but defence measures held men and material from the battlefront in France. Two hundred pilots and as many airplanes were kept in London at a time when they were badly needed on the Western Front.

"Aprons" were devised as a means of defence after 1917 raids. These were screens of wire that could be raised to 10,000 feet by Caquot balloons. The anti-aircraft barrage described by one cabinet minister as "self-bombardment," proved increasingly effective and night-fighters in fast scout planes met with a measure of success.

SPITFIRES FORM LORRAINE CROSS

Free French Fly Formation to Show British Good Faith

London, Sept. 1 (CP) — Spitfire squadrons, heading out across the channel towards France, are flying in a new formation, six in line astern, two forming on either side of the second aircraft and four more on the fourth in line.

It looks like this:

```

These Spitfires make up the Cross of Lorraine, symbol of the Fighting French. A French Leader explained the formation this way: "The flying arrangement was chosen as our sign to the British people, that we, Fighting French, are taking our daily part in the liberation attack, even on targets in our own country. Our people welcome us because they know it is the only way to rid them of the Boche."

But once over enemy territory the formation changes. It is designed solely for British view because once across the channel the R.A.F. has its special attacking formations.

China -- World's Largest Nation Now Fighting for Democracy

Concluding Article contributed to the Watchman By Miss Mary L. Lamb, St. Andrews East

"After the war" is an expression frequently on our lips these days — and many people of ability are expressing their ideas as to what kind of a "New World" will emerge from the awful conditions that prevail everywhere at present.

What kind of a country will China be after the war?

Economically, Socially, Politically, Educationally — what are some of the changes that will come to that great country when she has defeated the Fascist forces of Japan? As the writer is not an economist, it is not possible to give a satisfactory answer or prophecy in the field of economy, but even in that line, there are certain things that are very patent, even to the ordinary people. Some one has said that the present Government of China is approximately one third Nationalist, one third Communist, and one third Christian. Many of the third group are also Nationalists, probably most of them. The present "Communists" are of a much paler "pink" than their "comrades" in Russia. The Nationalists are followers of the teachings of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the great revolutionist, whose picture hangs in all schools and public buildings, and whose "Three Principles of the People" (1) People's Livelihood, (2) People's Rights, (3) People's Nationalism— are studied by every school child over eight years of age.

To offset the Communist principles, the Nationalists have been working on the New Life Movement with its broad program, and in this connection is the scheme of Co-operatives that has spread like wild fire all across the country. "Indusco" is a word frequently seen in articles about China, and means "Industrial Co-operatives"— a scheme whose chief promoter was the brilliant indefatigable New Zealander, Rewi Alley, working in collaberation with the Chiang Kai Sheks in the New Life Movement.

The social changes during the past few years have been very rapid and radical. War conditions, and the consequent trek of millions of people across country have meant a mingling of the peoples of the different provinces that would have seemed impossible a few years ago. Old customs are passing away, the people are becoming better educated and more enlightened — it is the great opportunity for the younger generation, and there never was a time when the doors were thrown so widely open for all sorts of new ideas. Nor was there ever a time when the country as a whole was so awake to the need of progress along all lines. Perhaps this can best be illustrated by a couple of snap-shots taken by the writer in Chungking in 1938. The first shows a party of missionaries alighting from sedan chairs that took an hour and a half to carry them from the centre of the city to the airport, a distance of about five or six miles. The second picture shows the same people embarking in the bi-weekly plane for Chengtu, three hundred miles away, where they would arrive in a little over an hour. China has leaped from the sedan chair to the airplane, and much of her progress during the past twenty years has been at that ratio—which is tremendous, when one pauses to think of all the changes that are involved. To any one as if this was a wonderful seem as if this was a wonderful challenge to the youth of our western countries — To be in on the "ground floor" of the reconstruction of a country where lives a quarter of the world's population — to be able to lend a hand to them in re-building their nation educationally, socially, religiously, and economically would seem to be a life-work that was worth while for courageous young people such as we see offering their lives and services for the present conflict with evil.

"After the war" can China count on the assistance of earnest, clear-thinking, courageous young people from Canada to help her in her many problems?

— The End —

With the R.C.A.F.

By Flt.-Lieut. T. C. McCall, R.C.A.F.

Sports enthusiasts from one end of Canada to the other were interested to learn that Lionel Conacher—"the Big Train" of other years—had joined the Royal Canadian Air Force and is to take full charge of sports organization within the service. For many years Conacher was by far Canada's outstanding athlete, excelling at hockey, baseball and football, and since his retirement from active sport he has been chairman of the Ontario Athletic Commission. His organizing genius and thorough knowledge of athletics will be put to good use in the service in which physical fitness, keenness and alertness are number one requisites. He joins an ever-growing band of Canada's athletic heroes in donning Air Force blue.

Canada's Minister of National Defence for Air, Major the Honorable C. G. Power, M.C., is now a Pilot of the Polish Air Force. Recently the strikingly-designed "Wings" which adorn Poland's fliers were pinned on him in recognition of the services he has rendered Poland in the training of her airmen in this country. Also to receive the badges were Air Marshal L. S. Breadner, D.S.C., Chief of the Air Staff, Air Vice Marshal J. A. Sully, D.F.C., and Air Vice Marshal G. O. Johnson, M.C. Speaking in halting English, Group Captain Stefan Sznuk, head of the Polish Air Mission here who single-handed was responsible for the escape of the Polish Air Force to Rumania in September 1939, observed: "Only in one instance does a Polish airman speak English distinctly and with the proper accent. It is when he speaks to the enemy, using the eloquent language of the English-made machine-guns of his fighter plane."

Grimly determined to do their share, a large contingent of Canadian airwomen—members of the R.C.A.F. Women's Division—recently landed at an R.C.A.F. station in Newfoundland. They are the first group of Canadian airwomen to move into a theatre of war overseas, and as such are proud of the "Canada" badges which they are now permitted to wear on their shoulders. Stationed at a remote outpost, they will replace men in a number of important ground tasks necessary to "keep 'em flying."

Flight Sergeant Harry Hamilton, of Beamsville, Ont., is pretty keen about his big Wellington bomber. Three times it has brought him back safely to his base in Great Britain with only one motor functioning. The last time it happened, the ship fought along on one motor for more than two hours after the other had been disabled by enemy action. In the same squadron is Flight Sergeant Neil Erskine of Monkton, Ont., a navigator, who has 20 trips over enemy territory to his credit, his crew mate being Flight Sergeant B. L. Schauenburg, of Assiniboia, Sask., who, as an air gunner has more than 30 sorties chalked up. Both fliers have been on all the big raids. Other Canadians with the squadron are: Flight Sergeant Jim Francis, Windsor, Ont.; Sgt. Allan Gibson, St. Catharines, Ont.; and Sgt. Wilf Peacock, Everett, Sask. Francis recently made his 13th. trip as a pilot with the German U-boat plant at Duisburg as the main objective. With the squadron are also Flight Sergeant George Allan, of Imperial, Sask., and Flight Sergeant Bill Crimmins, of Guelph.

Brighter Advertising

An advertiser in a recent issue of a Toronto evening newspaper seemed to express his wishes clearly, if briefly. His advertisement read "Bookkeeper, 'experienced, size 16 or 18 figure."

One's first shock at this lack of reticence was dispelled when one noticed that the advertiser was a manufacturer of women's garments. Evidently the bookkeeper is expected to double as a model. No stylish stouts need apply.

Yet the classified advertising columns would be brighter and perhaps more useful to employers if all advertisers used a few more words to describe the non-essential qualities desired from job-seekers. In the good old days when an advertisement for a housemaid would produce results, advertisers were always plagued by a host of applicants from girls who had nothing in the way of looks to recommend them. The harassed housewife would accept one of these on the theory that, having no looks, she must be a good worker.

One husband, becoming satiated with a constant procession of inefficient domestics through his home, finally persuaded his wife to let him choose the next maid. He judged the applicants by eye and gave the job to the best-looking. She turned out to be the best the family had ever had, and remained with them until the competition of munition-makers for her services could no longer be met.

—The Printed Word

An American had an invitation to a private shoot. Addressing the old gamekeeper, he said: "I'm one of the crack shots in the States. Tomorrow you will be loading for me, and for every bird I miss I'll give you a shilling."

The following evening the gamekeeper met a friend and told him the story.

"If I'd had another blank cartridge," he said, "I'd have made just a pound."

"I want to bet on the horse that always has its picture taken with flowers around its neck."

Laugh 'n Like It!

A Chinese student at a university who memorized phrases from an etiquette book had first opportunity to try them out at a reception by the dean. When a cup of tea was handed to him he solemnly responded: "Thank you, sir or madam, as the case may be."

* * *

Officer: What's the big idea? What are you men doing climbing trees and crawling through the bushes?

Private: Well sir, we camouflaged the gun before lunch and now we can't find it.

* * *

The mouth organ was claimed by three soldiers, and the sergeant decided to arbitrate.

"I'll play a tune on it," he said. "You tell me what the tune is, and the one who's right gets the mouth organ."

A weird medley of sounds followed and guesses were made.

"I think Alf's won," said the sergeant. "He was nearest with 'Roll Out the Barrel.' What I was playin' was "As Pants the 'Art for Coolin' Streams'."

After much thought, an Aberdeen couple decided to adopt an orphan boy.

"I wonder, Mrs. McFie," remarked a neighbor, "that ye didna choose a lassie. Now you're up in years she would have been helpful tae ye."

"Maybe," replied Mrs. McFie, "but, ye see, we had a guid Glengarry bonnet in the hoose."

Former Minister Is Preacher

A large congregation gathered in the Church of the Redeemer Sunday morning to welcome the Rev. Harry Naylor, who preached an interesting sermon on the text, "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof . . . " The Rev. H. Naylor was a minister here some years ago and it was during his ministry that the Church of the Redeemer was built. He congratulated the people on the many improvements made in and around the church since that time, and expressed his wish that the church would make even much greater progress in the future.

ARUNDEL

Miss Muriel Graham entertained at a tea on Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Thelma Mitchell, of Montreal, whose wedding to Mr. Gavin Graham takes place shortly.

Miss Ethel Cooke has returned to Montreal after spending the past month at her home here.

A meeting of the Girls' Guild met at the home of Mrs. Roy Cooke on Friday, August 28.

Mr. Percy Staniforth, Windsor Mills, Que., is spending this week at his home here.

Mrs. W. D. Graham spent a few days in Montreal last week.

The annual meeting of the Ladies Aid was held in the church hall on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. C. J. Staniforth and Mrs. T. Evans were the hostesses.

Miss Lizzie Loughren spent a week's vacation visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Loughren.

2nd. Lieut. T. Sevigny, R.C.C.S., was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Cooke.

C.G.I.T. Corn Roast

The C.G.I.T. held a corn roast at Carillon, on Wednesday evening, August 19, organized by the director, Miss Mary Lamb, and her assistant, Miss Betty Dorion. A singsong and story-telling made up a happy program. Several visitors of 'teen age, who were summering here, were present on invitation. The C.G.I.T. are grateful to Mr. Felix Hungerbuhler for the use of this fine picnic site on the Ottawa River.

Visits Oxford University

It is learned that Jack Geoffreys, now serving overseas—who in the past has spent his summer seasons in St. Andrews—was among a group of Canadian soldiers entertained at Oxford University, under a scheme for the benefit of Dominion servicemen on leave from their stations in England.

Died Suddenly in Montreal

The death occurred, accidently, of Frederick Charles Wilkins, on August 14, at Montreal. Mr. Wilkins was in his 55th year. He is survived by his wife, Harriet Ann Smith. Funeral service was held at Christ Church on Monday, August 17, at 2.30 p.m. Interment took place at St. Andrews Protestant Cemetery.

AVOCA

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Kelly, of Wendover, Ont., spent the week-end with the latter's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Karr, also Mr. and Mrs. Thos. J. Young were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Jay at "Dunwurkin", Barkmere, on Sunday last.

"The Rumor Clinic"

— Prepared by The Canadian Column —

CITIZENS AID FIGHT AGAINST VICIOUS RUMORS

Letters received in response to the request carried in this Column indicate an increasing awareness of the dangerous part played in this war by enemy inspired rumor campaigns.

There is a real job to be done in killing these rumors—a job in which every citizen can help. Here are a few of the stories as reported to the Canadian Column:

An Old Axis favorite that has been peddled in the U.S.A. and Canada (and in reverse — "the U.S. will fight to the last Englishman"—in England) is still being shouted by Nazi short-wave broadcasts and whispered by their stooges:

Rumor: "That the fighting in Egypt, Hong Kong, Singapore, etc., has been carried out largely by colonial or Dominion troops and the soldiers from the British Isles are kept out of actual engagements."

Fact: A U.S. Government publication issued early this year by the U.S. Office of Facts and figures, Washington, D.C., states in part: "In this connection, it is significant that to December 31, 1941, 71.3 per cent of British Commonwealth casualties (both dead and wounded) were United Kingdom troops from England, Scotland, and North Ireland; 18.2 per cent were Dominion troops (Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa); 5.5 per cent were from India (including many United Kingdom troops); 5 per cent were Colonials."

Rumor: "In other parts of Canada the Red Cross Society is paying blood donors $40 each."

Fact: W. J. Cairns, Assistant, National Commissioner, Canadian Red Cross Society, Toronto: "The Red Cross Society requests citizens to donate their blood to save the lives of men in the fighting services. No payment is made by the Red Cross in any part of Canada."

(Note: Citizens are asked to volunteer a little of their blood for the benefit of our men overseas and thousands have responded to the call. Thousands more are needed. Rumors, such as the above, are viciously aimed at interfering with the splendid and essential services of the Red Cross Society of Canada.)

Rumor: "That the S.S.——has been seized by the authorities for having supplied oil to enemy submarines in the Gulf of St. Lawrence."

Fact: Officer Commanding, R.C.M.P., Montreal: "This story has been reported to this Force and thoroughly investigated. The vessel in question—the name of which I am omitting for obvious reasons has not been anywhere near Canadian waters since December 1941."

(Note: It would be harmful to quote the name, or details of the movements of this vessel. Persons who have listened to this lie, will recognize the rumor and be interested in the facts.)

Rumor: "That in the recent closing of a number of gasoline service stations, most independently owned stations were closed by the authorities under pressure from the big interests in the gasoline business, for the purpose of getting control of the entire industry."

Fact: The Oil Comptroller's Office states: "Investigations and subsequent actions were not limited to any individual companies, but were conducted in a general way. As a matter of fact every brand of gasoline and large as well as small operators were affected."

(Note: Following the closing of these stations the newspapers carried complete lists of the stations padlocked by the R.C.M. Police at the request of the Oil Comptroller. A study of this list reveals the following figures:

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Congregations to Join For Day of Prayer At St. Andrews E.

St. Andrews E. — Sunday, September 6, having been appointed as a day of special prayer, the congregation of the United Church will attend a joint service in the morning at the Presbyterian Church. An evening service will be held at the United Church, when the Rev. Dr. Wm. MacMillan will be the preacher.

Sixteen Island Lake Church 40 Years Old

Those who have summer cottages at Sixteen Island Lake, or who week-end there, need not deprive themselves of public worship on Sundays, as in the old chapel at Ludington Point religious services of an interdenominational character have been held for the past forty years.

Preachers this season have been Rev. John Burgess, Rev. S. F. Newton, Rev. Emile Masse, Walter Lebrecq, H. E. Hinds, Rev. R. De Pirro, Rev. W. P. Warnell, Rev. R. G. Burgoyne, and Rev. Prof. C. Bieler. The services, which are generally well attended, are under the auspices of a Ladies' Committee and a Men's Committee.

The Men's Committee is at present endeavoring to provide for substantial improvements to the church building. Members are as follows: W. S. Leslie, J. Rowe Jeffrey, Walter Lebrecq, W. G. Dalpe, M.D., H. E. Hinds, William Copeland, W. H. McManus, E. S. Cushing and W. R. Henry.

Members of the Ladies' Committee meet regularly for Red Cross sewing and other activities. Originator of the religious services there and honorary president is Mrs. Mary Ludington. Mrs. W. D. Reid is president and Mrs. Lockhart, secretary-treasurer.

The income, both from Sunday offerings and individual donations, allows the committee to do extensive benevolent work. Last year $150 was donated to the Old Brewery Mission Camp, $25 to the Grace Dart Home Hospital, and $25 to the Children's Memorial Hospital. Donations were given to other agencies and the Victorian Order of Nurses received clothing for needy families.

Annual Bazaar Held At Morin Heights

Morin Heights — The annual bazaar held under auspices of the Trinity Church Ladies' Guild on Saturday afternoon was a great success. Well-laden tables were placed on the lawn of Minto House, and beautiful summer weather added to the success of the event. The general direction of the bazaar was under Mrs. H. Gillingham, president of the Guild.

Variety of Talent in Women's Guild Concert At. St. Andrews E.

St. Andrews East—The first concert for many moons, was held in the town hall on Saturday evening, August 29. It was sponsored by the Women's Guild of the United Church and was largely attended. Much credit is due to the energetic president, Mrs. Thos. A. MacAdam, and the generous support of members of other churches, for the array of talent.

Classical numbers were given by Miss Betty Albright, in piano solos, and by Master Laurie Gagnon, in violin solos. Cowboy songs with guitar accompaniment proved very popular, as sung by John Heatlie, of Lachute. Folk-lore dances in costumes by the Jacobsen sisters and friends, were a colorful spot. Vocal solos were sung by Mrs. Fred Robertson and Mrs. Thos. Hindel, of Montreal. The playlet presented by Jean MacAdam and Patsy Cole, of Toronto, was very realistic, also most delightful were the song dialogues of little Elizabeth Robertson and Murray Bryson. The Morrison Trio (Isabel, Geraldine and Kenneth) were accompanied on the guitar by the Misses Hadley, who also sang duets to their own accompaniment.

The highlight of the entertainment was a skit (original), "Mrs. Dolittle's Rooming House", with local setting and many references to places and people of this village. "Gay 90" costumes and dances provoked much mirth. A sentimental note was struck in the singing of old time melodies, Those taking part were Mrs. M. M. Yale, Mrs. David Morrison, Mrs. R. W. Burry, Mrs. L. H. Bezanson, Mrs. Thos. Webster and Mr. M. M. Yale.

Christian Science Sunday Services

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 6.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Lo, this only have I found, that God hath made man upright: but they have sought out many inventions." (Ecclesiastes 7: 29).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Human belief has sought out many inventions, but not one of them can solve the problem of being without the divine Principle of divine Science. Deductions from material hypotheses are not scientific . . . The harmony and immortality of man are intact. We should look away from the opposite supposition that man is created materially, and turn our gaze to the spiritual record of creation, to that which should be engraved on the understanding and heart "with the point of a diamond" and the pen of an angel." (pp. 273, 521).

Married at Shrewsbury, Couple to Reside in Mabel Community

Murdoch - Boyd

Shrewsbury — St. John's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, August 29, at 3.30 o'clock, when Lila Audrey, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Boyd, and Walter Franklin, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Murdoch, of Mabel, were united in marriage by the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield.

The church was prettily decorated; the altar being banked with white and pink gladioli.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh.

The groom was attended by Mr. Morris Davis. Mr. Lorne Boyd and Mr. Thomson were ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white crepe mousseleine with embroidered top, and a shoulder-length veil with lilies of the valley, and carried a bouquet of pink baby roses and baby's breath with clusters of sweet peas.

She was attended by Miss Gladys McMeekin as bridesmaid, who wore a long dress of heavenly blue crepe with turban and matching veil, and carried red roses.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece dress of grey crepe with blue accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses. The groom's mother wore a redingote of black over pale green, with black accessories and yellow roses.

A reception was held at the bride's home, where supper was served to 60 guests. The young couple left by motor for Ottawa and other parts. They will reside in Mabel on their return.

Married at Verdun

Wiliskey - Taylor

At Chalmers United Church, Verdun, on Monday August 23, the marriage of Miss Margaret Dorothy Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, of Brownsburg, Que., and Mr. Charles F. Wiliskey, of Montreal, was solemnized. The Rev. Donald McVicar officiated at the ceremony. The church organist played the wedding music, and Mrs. Humphrys sang a solo.

Miss Lilian Taylor, the bride's sister, and Miss Marjorie Churchill, cousin of the bride, acted as attendants and the bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Robert Taylor.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dolf, of Crawford Park, Verdun. Later the bride and groom left by motor for the Laurentians and Niagara Falls.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts, Brownsburg.

Pretty Wedding at Seigniory Club Chapel

Provencal - MacLean

Avoca — At Christ Church Chapel, Seigniory Club, Que., with the Rev. Bernard Harrison as officiating clergyman, the marriage took place at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon of Mrs. Katherine MacLean to Mr. Jos. J. Provencal, both of Avoca, Que.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. David MacLean, wore a street-length dress in a shade of light blue with white accessories and was attended by her nieces, Mrs. Walter Kelly, in pale blue, as matron of honor, and Miss Della MacLean, in a dress of dusty rose, acting as bridesmaid. The two daughters of Mrs. Kelly, Freda and Lorna, were flower girls, dressed alike in pale blue. The bride carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley, while her attendants carried bouquets of autumn flowers.

Mr. Walter Kelly, nephew of the bride, was best man for the bridegroom. Mr. Thos. J. Young acted as usher.

Mrs. Allan MacPhee played the wedding music and during the signing of the register the choir rendered "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

The guests all returned to Mr. Walter Kelly's for the wedding breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Provencal left by the evening train for Welland, Ont., and other points, the bride travelling in a brown ensemble. On their return, a reception will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kelly, Friday evening, September 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Provencal will reside in Avoca, on the estate of the late James McMichael, which was bequeathed to Mr. Provencal.

Wedding at Avoca

McCallum - Campbell

A quiet but pretty wedding took place Saturday afternoon at Avoca when Miss Beulah Margaret Gilda, daughter of Mr. William Campbell, of Harrington, and the late Mrs. Campbell, became the bride of Mr. Elmer Arthurs McCallum, son of the late Neil McCallum and Mrs. McCallum, of Avoca. The Rev. S. J. Pike of Brownsburg, officiated.

The bride, dressed in Alice Blue sheer, was attended by her sister, Mrs. H. Beauchamp.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Lester McCallum.

Following the ceremony the wedding party, immediate relatives of the bride and groom, sat down to luncheon served at the home of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. McCallum left later for Montreal and other points. On their return, they will reside at Avoca. The community wishes them many years of happiness.

FREE-WILL HELP BRINGS ONTARIO CROPS CLEAN-UP

Organized Aid of City Men, Women and Children Assist Farmers to Harvest Crops

By W. J. Armstrong
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, Sept. 1 (CP)—Old Man Ontario is managing to harvest that bumper crop despite labor shortage. "The rural folk have accomplished wonders," said W. R. Reek, provincial deputy minister of agriculture.

"Considering that the average age of the Ontario farmer on the job today, is 50 years, he has done remarkably well," Mr. Reek went on. "He and his family have gone out with the aid of townfolk and villagers, and are cleaning up everything."

The Ontario government's experiment in providing farm help has been tremendously successful, and experience gained this year will facilitate a similar undertaking next year when the labor shortage is expected to be worse than this season.

The Ontario Farm Service Force reached more than its objective of sending 40,000 to help farmers. The greatest percentage of this number was enrolled in the Farm Cadet and Farmerette Brigades, Holiday Service Brigade and the Farm Commando Brigade.

Variety in Age.

Ages of those sent out ranges from 10 to 82. The minimum ages in the Farmerette and Farm Cadet Brigades is 16 and 14 respectively, but younger children could be registered if their parents placed them. The cadets and farmerettes enlisted for a period ranging upward from three weeks. Those who had good marks in last year high school and left before writing examinations, automatically received their senior matriculation on completing 13 weeks of farming.

Farm Commandos are mainly townfolk who go out for a day or half-day at a time and the Holiday Service Brigade signs up for two or three weeks. Mr. A. MacLaren, Director of the Ontario Farm Service Force, said results had been splendid. "A number of novel suggestions have been put forward, and in one case we had a whole club volunteer," he said.

Many Camps

Twenty-eight government camps under the supervision of the Y.M.C.A. were set up accommodating 40 to 100 workers each. Thirty other camps of 10 to 40 helpers were established privately under government supervision.

Minimum wages were 20 to 22½ cents an hour, and in cases where piecework was done, the pay was set to average 20 cents except for the younger workers.

The Department of Agriculture is co-operating with the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in helping smash the labor bottleneck in the canning business. A big pack of fruit and vegetables maturing earlier than expected has caught the canneries understaffed. Women are wanted now who can give five to eight weeks. During the week in which the first call went out, 500 applications were turned in.

Four-engined Avro-Lancaster bomber at Dorval headquarters of the Ferry Command. The Lancaster is going into production in Canada, and the above machine was flown across last week for study by aircraft specialists. It carries eight tons of bombs at 300 miles an hour, and is armed with 10 machine gunes in four turrets.

DETAILS OF 'AVRO-LANCASTER', WORLD'S LARGEST BOMBING PLANE, ARE MADE PUBLIC

A giant British bomber, pictured above, arrived last week at the Dorval airport for study and inspection by aircraft specialists in Canada, where this plane is to go into production. Details concerning this biggest and fastest bomber in the world have been made public. It is called the Avro Lancaster and weighs 30 tons. It has a wing spread of 102 feet and a 33-foot bomb compartment which carries a bomb load of 8 tons. The newly unveiled giant has a speed of 300 miles and up, and a maximum range of 3,000 miles — 1,000 miles more than the famous Stirling. In July several Lancaster Squadrons made the longest daylight flight of the European war, 1,750 miles through bad weather to bomb the Danzig submarine yards. It is a favorite of R.A.F. crews because of its exceptional speed and manoeuvrability.

The first of these mighty bombers arrived in Canada on August 24. Fresh from the production lines and carrying a special freight load of 60,000 lbs., it was flown from England for demonstration in Canada where the latest edition of this multi-motored bomber will soon be built in quantity for the R.A.F.

The Lancaster is armed with ten .303 calibre machine guns mounted in four power turrets. This constitutes the most powerful armament yet fitted in any bomber and capable of dealing with at least two enemy fighters attacking simultaneously.

When it came to arming this formidable bomber, the very latest triumph of aeronautical engineers, nothing more effective could be found than .303 machine guns. They are indeed the real go-getters of this war; they have put teeth in our great Hurricanes and Spitfires and countless Messerschmidts, Heinkels and Junkers have perished from their bite.

LAST 30 FEET WORST

London (CP) — Sgt. Observer Alex Fulce, 25, writing to his mother from a German hospital, described how he baled out of his plane at 10,000 feet. He landed in the top branches of a tree, safe and sound and — then he fell 30 feet to the ground and broke his foot.

THERE ARE ONLY A FEW PEOPLE WHO WILL BE INTERESTED IN THIS ADVERTISEMENT

DON'T BE A WELSHER

LET'S be brutally frank. The man or woman who buys a Victory Bond or Certificate to save face, then sells it—except in case of dire necessity—is a welsher.

True, there is no law which says you cannot sell your Victory Bonds or Certificates. It is not a legal obligation that you keep them for the duration. But there is a moral promise to make a loan to your Country for the War period. To evade that undertaking through sale, at this time of great need, is to welsh—it is the denial of an obligation which you admitted and accepted by your act of purchase.

Your Country does not ask you to deny yourself those necessary things which make for decent living, that you may buy Victory Bonds and Certificates. But the voice of Public Opinion does say that those persons who now insist on the unnecessary luxuries of life are not themselves decent.

Of course—you have no immediate cause for worry. No one will ask you to cross the beach and climb the cliffs of Dieppe. You are not in a slit trench with Stuka Dive-Bombers showering death about you. The blazing sun of Africa—the wind-driven sands—will never cut and blister your skin until every exposed part of your body becomes a festering sore. No—you will never feel the vibrant crash of a torpedo—the tilt of a ship's deck under your feet as it slides to Davey Jones. No one is asking you to leave your favorite chair tonight and fly over Germany. None of these things is asked of you.

All you are asked to do is to lend to your Country—Canada—lend at interest all the money you can possibly spare to provide the tools for those men who are fighting your fight. You are not expected to deprive yourself to the extent that you must live below the level of ordinary decency.

But if you think you are doing your part by buying Victory Bonds only to sell them—then, you had better take yourself into a dark room and ask yourself some soul-searching questions. Ask yourself what you are doing to protect your loved ones, your Country, and your way of life.

If you do this we know what the answer will be. We know because the men and women of Canada are inherently decent people. They value the good opinion and respect of friends and neighbors. But most important is the fact that we Canadians value our own self-respect. We ask charity from none—we assume our obligation to work and lend. So there can only be one answer—you will hold your Victory Bonds and Certificates for the duration except in cases of extreme necessity.

INFORMATIVE ADVERTISING

Probably, we are going to see some changes in food advertising. There should be an increased amount of informative advertising. Recently one of the large cereal manufacturers had a two-page spread in some of the magazines. It told us that those products which did not have vitamins had had them added. It did not tell which ones contained the natural vitamins, nor did it tell how much any of them contained, nor how much had been added, nor what. To a great many people that advertisement was just so much waste paper. There are so many people studying nutrition now, both men and women, that they want definite information, and not a lot of generalities. To my mind, one of our oldest breakfast food companies has missed out in its advertising. In the Dietetic and Home Economic magazines it does definite advertising and tells exact quantities of vitamins and minerals contained in its product. In its general advertising and on the packages, it continues with the same general statements that it made before any one heard of a vitamin. It is one of the most valuable of the breakfast foods but it has neglected to tell the world why. I have never done any advertising work but it interests me intensely. There are times I wish I were doing it so I could tell you exactly which products I have found are best for certain results.

A SIMPLE PARTY

Food for parties need not be elaborate to be enjoyable. A party I was at last August stands out as one of the nicest in a long time. A friend invited about ten guests, so that made a party of twelve with our host and hostess. We were to have eaten in the garden but the weather was not kind so we gathered round the dining-room table instead. This was the menu. Plenty of good, hot, boiled corn for the first course. And there were extra plates for the empty cobs so one did not feel embarassed by the number piled up on one's plate. A thoughtful touch. For dessert we had nothing but hot rolls and an assortment of home-made jams and jellies. It was just the perfect dessert after the hot corn. Most of us are guilty of too much fussing over company.

JAM MAKING

Making small quantities of jam at a time, I have been experimenting with the various ways of making it and using three-quarters of a pound of sugar to a pound of prepared fruit. The method that has been most successful is to mash the fruit somewhat, then add the sugar and let stand long enough to partly dissolve the sugar and extract some of the juice, giving it an occasional stir to help things along. Then I bring it to a boil and boil hard for ten minutes. Each batch of jam I have made in this way has been perfect consistency.

DRESSED ROAST VEAL

Veal is at its best now, and at present prices is one of the cheapest meats. Dressing and veal seem to go together—just a natural. You may stuff a veal shoulder or the more expensive leg roast, the fillet. Have the roast boned, and don't neglect to get the bones to use for soup. Take a sharp knife and cut into the meat, following the natural divisions. This opens the meat up and allows the stuffing to be put in much deeper. I like to use dried currants in a dressing for veal. Make your usual poultry dressing, but use a little less onion, and add a handful of currants. If I want the meat to slice well when cold I add a beaten egg to the dressing, mixing it in lightly. This holds the dressing together and it slices well. Fasten the roast in shape with skewers, or tie it if you must. A set of kitchen skewers should be a part of your equipment. Roast the meat uncovered at 375 degrees, 35 minutes to the pound, and do not add water. Put the bones in the roaster until they are browned. After the gravy is made, rinse the pan with water, and pour this over the bones for soup. Add any left-over gravy. Simmer slowly, then add vegetables. This makes a good meaty tasting soup.

CABBAGE SALADS

There are so many appetising variations of cabbage salad that there is no need to go on serving the same old kind. Perhaps you have not tried some of these.

Cabbage, chopped cucumber, and green pepper.

Cabbage, raisins, and oranges.

Cabbage, corn cut from the cob or canned whole-kernel, and onion.

CHOCOLATE PIN-WHEELS

1½ Cups sifted flour, ½ cup butter, 3 tablespoons milk, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ cup sugar, 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 egg yolk, well beaten.

Sift the flour, measure, add baking powder and salt. Cream the butter then add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. Add beaten egg yolk, then add flour alternately with the milk. Divide the dough in two parts, and add the chocolate to one part. Chill, roll each half into a rectangular sheet about ⅛ inch thick. Place the chocolate one on top and roll up like a jelly roll. Chill over night. Cut the slices about ⅛ inch thick. Bake in a hot oven of 425 degrees for about five minutes. Makes about 40 pin wheels.

WOMEN DENTISTS R.A.F. OFFICERS

Before Going Into Practice Take Usual Military Training

(CP) — The R.A.F., alone among the fighting service now, is commissioning women dentists. They take the same preliminary training course on joining and learn their marching, saluting and R.A.F. etiquette before settling down to chairs and drills and the thing of dentistry. Women accepted for this service get the "relative" rank of flying officer. This means they are addressed as "Miss" but for purposes of administration and discipline the rank defines their status.

WRITE HIM LOTS BUT DON'T LOOK FOR LONG REPLY

Service men Cannot Tell Much; That's Why You Haven't Heard from Johnnie in Navy for Long Time

By FRANK LOWE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Halifax, Sept. 1 (CP) — Wives, mothers, sweethearts — if that boy of yours in the Royal Canadian Navy hasn't written home for some time, or if you think his letters are too short, don't imagine he is forgetting you. And the same may apply to your lad in the Army or the Air Force.

Just sit down and think out what you generally say in a letter, and then check what he can say.

You start perhaps, with your address, then go on to talk about what a fine day it is. After that you say the boy next door is now working in a munitions factory in the next town and probably spend a few paragraphs telling how mean somebody was to you yesterday.

Then there might be a bit about clothes you have bought and, the big part, about the excitement that came your way recently, described in minute detail, complete with "he saids" and "she saids."

After that a lot of miscellaneous chit chat of the town you will fill another page until you tail off with a signature. Then you remember something, and along comes a page-long postscript, maybe about a new job you are getting.

He's Restricted

It's all great from the "Dearest Johnnie" to the "all my love," but it isn't permitted for Johnnie in the navy. When he sits down to take his pen in hand he cannot put down his address and must not mention anything about the weather, even if he has just lost both ears from frostbite. And his pal might be slated for a draft to Timbuctoo, but he can't say so in a letter.

About his boss being sore, well, his boss, the captain or an officer, censors the mail before it leaves the ship, so it maybe wouldn't be wise to rake the chap over the coals too severely. As for clothes and the buying of new ones, he knows too well just what he is wearing a year from today, so he can't whip out any impasssioned prose on that theme.

Excitement he has in plenty, that's true, but it wouldn't be wise to tell too much of it. That is, unless he likes to get in wrong. And even his miscellaneous chit chat must be edited with care.

A lot of the stuff he might pick up from his buddies in the mess decks would be cut out of a letter — and a lot of it he would rather not send home to a fond relative.

And as far as the P.S. is concerned, about the new job, Johnnie has a job, a big one, for the duration and that's what he is thinking about.

The whole thing is — he likes to get all the news from home but isn't able to write much to you.

Out for Duration

Advice from Miss Alice Stevens, Convenor of Home Economics for British Columbia Women's Institutes, is that all sales of iced cakes, sweet cookies and candies be "out for the duration." At club teas, private parties and in all home-cooking, salads, sandwiches, muffins and fruits should replace sugar, which is one of the "sinews of war." Miss Stevens states that it is not likely that any concessions to organizations raising funds for charity, or even for war work, will be made.

"ALL OUT" FAMILY

London (CP) Mrs. Nielsen-Jones underwent six weeks' training to become an A.T.S. officer. She has four sisters, two daughters and a niece in the A.T.S. while her husband, son and brother are in the R.A.F.

WARTIME LOVES TURNING GIRLS TO LANGUAGES

With Boy Friends from Allied Fighting Forces, Lassies Become Linguists

By ALAN RANDAL

London (CP) — True love is turning British girls into expert linguists. The reason is that their boy friends are in one or another of the foreign forces training in Britain for the day when a land attack on Europe is opened.

Cockney waitresses from London's West End, office girls from the city and factory girls from the Midlands are learning foreign languages with a speed which is astonishing their teachers.

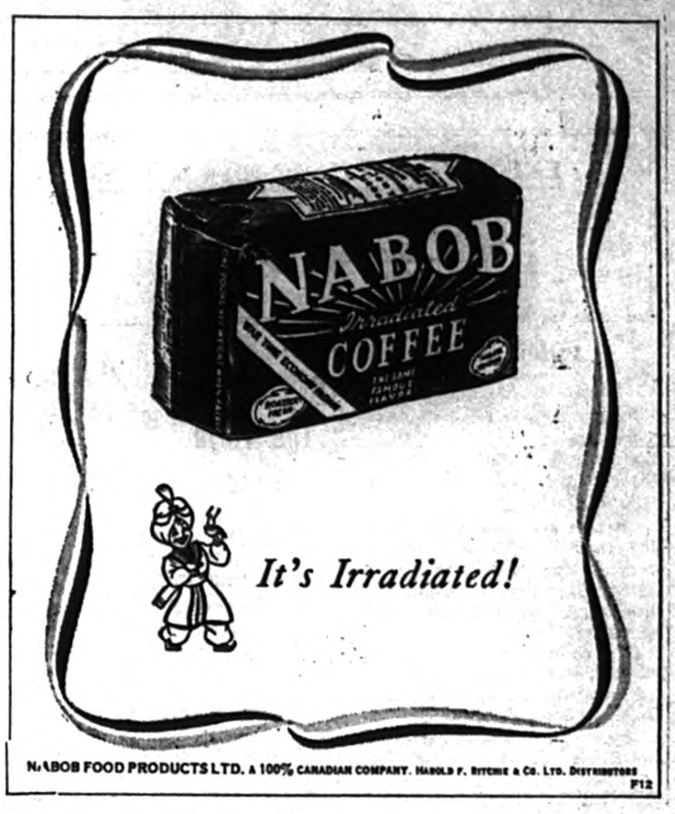

"We have been struck by the increase in the number of young women who come to us to learn foreign languages," a representative of one of London's schools of languages said. "The reason, they tell us, is because they have become engaged or are "walking out' with one of the thousands of foreign soldiers now over here.

"Many of these girls have not had an expensive education and they probably never would have found the courage, or desire, to come to us for tuition were it not for love. We find that the girls who are in love make much more rapid progress than other pupils because they are so eager to be able to talk to their young men in their own language."

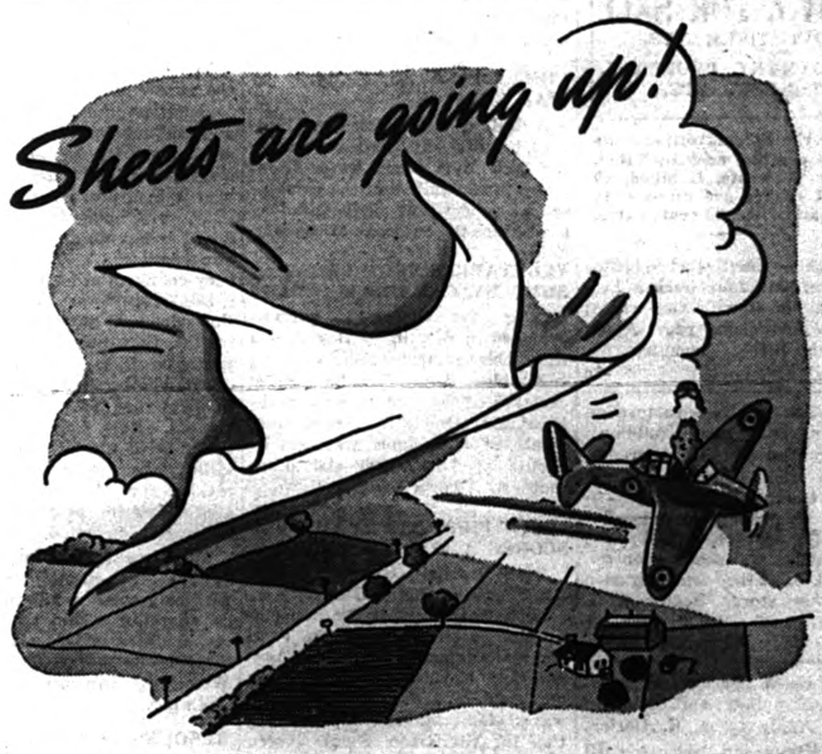

Also, it is reported, if something goes flooey with the love affair these girls immediately lose all interest in learning a foreign language.

Year's Service, Though Just 16

Winnipeg, Sept. 1 (CP) — Just before his 16th birthday in Jan., 1941, Tommy McQueen of Winnipeg convinced a recruiting sergeant he was 18 and enlisted with the Royal Canadian Engineers. Tommy went overseas in July and stayed there 11 months before his real age was determined. He was sent home and discharged from the army. With a year to go before he can join again, he is looking for a civilian job. His father is Petty Offcer W. McQueen, on active service with the navy.

Boy Scouts The World Over

A MOTHER'S REASON FOR VISITING A BOY SCOUT HALL

A Scoutmaster, walking down a ruined street in Bath, England, noticed a woman endeavoring to open the door of a still standing Boy Scout headquarters. To his question, she explained that her son, a former Scout of the troop, had been lost at sea, and that his photograph hung in an honoured place on the troop room wall. "I go in to look at Bob whenever I pass," she said.

"WINGS" FOR FIVE ST. STEPHEN SCOUTS

Presentation of the Boy Scouts "Red Wings," representing completion of the first section of the Scout Flying Lions course in the principles of aviation, was made to five Scouts at St. Stephen, N.B. The award was made at Memorial School auditorium on Sunday morning, following a parade of Scouts, Wolf Cubs and Girl Guides. After the ceremony the boys and girls marched to their various churches for divine worship.

VEGETABLES FROM SEEDS SENT BY CANADIAN SCOUTS

"Dig for Victory" gardens operated in Britain by Boy Scouts have this summer been growing vegetables from Canadian seeds contributed by Scouts across the Dominion. One of the largest shipments, of 450 pounds, was sent by Scouts of Lethbridge and other southern Alberta towns.

SCOUT FIRST AID TEAM SCORES A 99

In a first aid competition for Boy Scouts of Pictou County, N.S., held at New Glasgow by Superintendent James White of the First Aid and Draeger Team of the Acadia Coal Coy., the unusual score of 99 out of a possible 100 points was made by the team representing the 1st Stellarton Scout Troop. The 2nd Pictou team scored 91 points.

Watch Out for These:—Believe it or not, the rumor mongers are already spreading "inside" information as to the details of the recent talks between Prime Minister Churchill and Joseph Stalin.

Attempts to spread rumors, in connection with these meetings, can be anticipated, but they surely should not achieve very wide circulation. The average citizen will at once realize that by no stretch of the imagination could the self-styled "insiders" be in possession of the slightest information. It is obvious that only a hand full of the leaders of the allied nations are in possession of the facts and that elaborate precautions must have been taken to prevent any leakages of information.

In good time the facts will be known. Until then we must content ourselves with the certainty that the meetings bode no good for the Axis. Little Goebbels knows that too. He can be expected to start rumors—rumors aimed at creating disunity, rumors aimed at forcing the release of information. The public will know how to treat these fairy tales.

Don't repeat rumors — report them.

You know the usual approach of the rumor mongers. In an effort to build up their own importance and without considering that they are doing a job for the Nazis, they start off with "A friend of mine who is in a position to know says . . .", or "I have connections and I heard today that . . .", or "Have you heard this? I got it from a very confidential source . . .".

Don't repeat such rumors. Write them down at once and send them to the Canadian Column, Transportation Bldg., Montreal. Every effort will be made to secure and publish the facts to refute the rumors. By dragging these whispered tales out into the open and killing them with facts, we are making sure that the lies will not accomplish the purpose for which they were invented.

The Canadian Column is a non-political non-profit organization, with only one aim and purpose—to do anything within the power of its members to help Canada.

SIX-MAN FOOTBALL NOW INAUGURATED IN BROWNSBURG

Brownsburg — A departure in local sports commences Thursday when the first football game of the season will be played. This year the Brownsburg plant workers are going to try out a new game—six-man football. This game is more fascinating from the spectator point of view and offers more thrills and spills. It became popular in the United States about four years ago and since then has spread like wildfire throughout the States and Canada.

Originally it was substituted for eleven man football in some of the High Schools which could not afford the expenses of rugby equipment. Special cleat shoes cannot be worn but only running shoes. Shoulder pads are the one thing which many players seem to like and a few, especially those doing any plunging, like to have a helmet. Outside of these, there is no regulation equipment unless the Club financing the team can pay for them.

Another advantage which increased the game's popularity is that fewer accidents are encountered. There is less physical contact — no piling on "after a scrimmage and no clipping or changing at the line."

The rules of the game are simple. The following is a list of the Rules which will be enforced in Brownsburg:

1. Each team will consist of 6 men. At least 3 men must be on the line of scrimmage, a snap and two linesmen.

The other three men may play any positions as chosen by the team captain. Usually quarterback, and two halfbacks are played.

2. With the team in possession of the ball, the man directly receiving the ball from the snap cannot advance it over the line of scrimmage but must pass it to a teammate.

The man directly receiving the ball from snap can receive a pass back again from a teammate so long as that teammate holds the ball for more than 10 seconds.

3. On forward passing plays the ball has to be thrown 5 yards behind the line of scrimmage and caught beyond the line of scrimmage. All teammates may receive a forward pass.

4. 10 Yards interference is allowed on the line of scrimmage.

5. Running interference is permissible only within this 10 yard limit.

6. 3 Downs are allowed to advance the ball 10 yards.

7. On running back kicks, no running interference is permissible. Teammates can aid in advancing the ball only by lateral passings.

8. The regulation time will consist of 2 twenty minute periods with a 10 minute rest period between halves.

9. All other rules are similar to Canadian Rugby Union Rules.

10. Playing fields are 80 yards x 60 yards.

INTER-DEPARTMENT SOFTBALL NARROWS DOWN TO FINALS; ENTHUSIASM IN 'BURG

Brownsburg—Departmental softball is coming to a glorious finish. The semi finals were decided on a two out of three games series, while the finals will be in a three out of five games series.

In a ding dong struggle Metallics league leaders just nosed out Plastics. It took three full games to decide the issue. The Office were more successful in disposing of the Laboratory. They made it two straight.

This left the main shop and the pen pushers for the finals. Already two games have been played with each team claiming a win. The remaining games are scheduled for this week.

A critical situation arose when Len Winchester the Office's ace pitcher, and the one who has been carrying their hurling load all season, was called out of town on business all last week. However, long John Duncan and his boys rose to the occasion. John unearthed W. Racine from one of his warehouses, and the boys have rallied behind his twirling arm.

The five playoff games attracted about 1,400 with the third game between the main shop and the across the river boys drawing the record night crowd of 400.

Generous support behind the catcher and between the bases by C. Harding, O. Doner, D. Smith, R. Charlebois, T. Campbell, C. Brissette and Doug Wallace is appreciated.

Scores for the series were 5-4, 5-4, 7-5, indicative of the excellent pitching given by lefty Racine and Bill Hewitt of Metallics. They received encouraging support afield.

MARINERS ARE GUESTS OF RAILWAY AUXILIARY

Montreal — In former times it was said that a sailor had a sweetheart in every port. The wartime mariner may not run to romance but he has friends wherever he lands. In Montreal there is a big manning pool where merchant seamen gather awaiting assignment. They are comfortably sheltered and considerable entertainment has been provided by local seamen's organizations and this has been augumented by the Ladies Auxiliary of the C.N. Rlys. Employees War Services Association by dances and picnics. A recent outing was held on C.N.R. recreation property at Lachine on the Toronto mainline. The big events were a barn dance and a bonfire with a weiner roast. It is hoped to organize similar events during the open season.

40 CANADIAN SQUADRONS IS AIR STRENGTH OBJECTIVE

170 Known Dead in Canadian Casualties At Dieppe; 625 Wounded, and "Much Larger Numbers" Missing, Fate Unknown

Permanent Policy Designed to Control The Wartime Price and Export of Beef

By ALLAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Sept. 9 (CP) — Among the important moves of the government wartime control authorities on the domestic front, in the present parliamentary recess, is the announcement of a new Prices and Trade Board "permanent policy" on beef to encourage the farmer to sell his cattle and maintain supplies without disturbing the price ceiling now benefiting the consumer.

The benefits from the policy of enlarging beef supplies on Canadian markets are expected within the next week or so. Under the new arrangement — aimed at ending the recurring shortages of beef in Canada — Wartime Food Corporation Limited, a crown company set up by the board, will be the sole exporter of beef cattle and will, when necessary, buy cattle in the domestic market to support cattle prices in Canada.

Producers are assured that they will not receive less than specified prices for their cattle. This alone is expected to remove any incentive to hold back cattle at one period and press sales in another. The seasonal prices to be paid farmers will be announced shortly and will be in line with the wholesale beef price ceilings already announced and in effect throughout the Dominion.

Expanding Air Force

The men behind Canada's part in the air war are shooting at an objective which a few years ago would have seemed a far-sighted dream — an objective which will help bring closer the day of victory.

That aim is a sky-darkening fleet of 40 Canadian squadrons, both fighters and bombers, to strike out on the air fronts with the rapidly-expanding air forces of the other United Nations.

The objective was disclosed by Air Minister Power, who has returned from a visit to the United Kingdom "more convinced than ever that air power is vital in winning this war." And to back up that conviction, he told a press conference here of some of the things Canada plans for her valiant airmen fighting freedom's battle overseas.

The air minister told of plans to form a Canadian bomber group of from 10 to 20 squadrons in Britain before the end of this year and added that the formation of a Canadian fighter group would come later with the prospect of about 40 Canadian squadrons operating eventually in co-operation with Britain's Royal Air Force. That, he went on with understandable pride, is "something to shoot at in the way of an objective."

At present about 25 R.C.A.F. squadrons are in the United Kingdom, either organized or in operation.

Airmen in East

Maj. Power had a word of praise also for the 2,000 Canadian airmen who play their part by fighting the air war in the Middle East — scattered throughout R.A.F. establishments or in the R.C.A.F. fighter squadrons there.

For them, too, the Dominion has plans. A liaison office will be established to maintain contact with them and to facilitate the movement of their mail and do similar services for their welfare. Some auxiliary services might also be established.

Summarizing the casualties at Dieppe an announcement by Maj.-Gen. H. F. G. Letson, Army Adjutant-General, said the total number of Canadian troops known to have died on the fire-raked beaches of France was 170. Another 625 men were wounded, said Gen. Letson, adding that "much larger numbers" were listed as missing and that some of those would be presumed to have been killed or wounded.

The figures Gen. Letson made public already had come out gradually through the casualty lists of the active army.

Watchman Still Goes Overseas To Servicemen

PURPOSE OF NEW RULING TO FORBID CIVILIANS SENDING PAPERS

Enquiring at Ottawa on the new ruling which forbids mailing of newspapers, The Watchman has been advised this regulation does not apply to publishers mailing papers to names already on their subscription list. Therefore, until further notice, the service-men from this county now receiving The Watchman overseas, will continue to do so until further notice.

Issues of the past two or three weeks, however, have been withheld from the mails. Although the ruling was clearly defined to prohibit sending of papers by civilians, its application to the publishers was not directly mentioned. This prompted our enquiry on the subject—with the result that our 50-odd readers among local men abroad will receive the home-town paper as usual.

Lachute High School Exercises Mark Close of Successful Year

CONTROL OF COMMUNICABLE DISEASES STRESSED AT MEETING

HOWARD BRADFORD, B.A., NEW PRINCIPAL, APPEALS FOR CO-OPERATION

One of the most interesting 'school closing ' exercises in the history of the Lachute High School was held in the Auditorium on Tuesday evening.

The Commissioners are to be congratulated upon introducing the subject of 'Public Health' as it pertains to the school life and indicating the responsibility of the parent.

Chairman Geo. Y. Deacon said, in his remarks, that in the past, whenever there was an epidemic of measles, mumps or other disease, the school board was faced by many parents with the question, "What are you going to do about it?" With this in mind, the Board asked Dr. L. Turcotte and Linton W. Armstrong, of the local Health Unit, to be present at this meeting.

Dr. Turcotte gave a brief, straight-from-the-shoulder talk on "Communicable Diseases", and what he expects from the parent in the way of cooperation in controlling sickness in the school. He described smallpox and diphtheria inoculation, and asked that every child be inoculated in each five year period for the latter disease, as a means of increasing immunity. Inoculatoin for whooping cough was also recommended by Dr. Turcotte, and he claimed that 75% of immunity would be gained by this method. These injections, he added, would have to be made by the family physician.

He then dealt with the diseases of scarlet fever, mumps, measles and influenza, where inoculations cannot be made use of. Every precaution must be taken to protect other children, he stressed, and appealed that all children so infected be kept at home, and not allowed to run in the playgrounds, and that the parent must have a letter from the doctor stating that there be no danger of infection to others before allowing children to return to school.

Another fallacy was dealt with by the speaker, and that is for parents to permit all children in the household to have the disease at the same time; he strongly spoke against this foolish practice.

Dr. Turcotte appealed to the parents and teachers for co-operation in this problem, and said that if co-operation was lacking, he would use the means within the 'Public Health' Act for the enforcing measures for disease control.

At this point Mr. Armstrong read Article 81 of the Public Health Act, to the effect that the head of every household and every physician must report to the Health Unit cases of communicable diseases, under penalty of a severe fine. Mr. Armstrong also appeal for co-operation in this matter.

Howard Bradford, B.A., the new principal, was called upon by the chairman, and he thanked the board and many friends, on behalf of his wife and himself, for the pleasant reception that they have been accorded. Mr. Bradford asked for the co-operation of the parents in helping the progress of the school; he claimed that parents are not told of the aims of the teachers, or what is going on in the school, and he hoped that parents and teachers would be able to share their views.

The example of English Literature was used by Mr. Bradford. The idea behind the studying of English literature, was "to provide profitable use of leisure", so that the habit of reading of good books and listening to good commentators and speakers on the radio would be encouraged at home. "We try and bring in current affairs at the school", he said, and asked that parents would help in creating this idea. In closing, Mr. Bradford expressed the hope that in future the teachers would have the opportunity of meeting the parents, so that their aims would be known.

Doctors of Two Counties Gather Here for Conf'ce

CHILD AND MATERNITY HYGIENE SPECIALIST GIVES ADDRESS

ARRANGED BY LOCAL HEALTH UNIT

Dr. Ernest Couture, Director of the Child and Maternal Hygiene Division of the Department of Pensions and National Health, Ottawa, and author of the well-known book entitled "The Canadian Mother and Child", visited Lachute on Wednesday of last week.

The physicians of Argenteuil and Two Mountains were called in to hear Dr. Couture at a meeting arranged by Dr. L. Turcotte, Health Officer, held at the Health Unit here. Whereas every doctor in the two counties had expected to attend, a few were unable to do so on account of professional duties.

Among those present were Drs. A. Rodrigue, L. P. Sauvé, J. Lafleur, W. F. McMartin, of Lachute, Dr. A. R. Coté, of Brownsburg, Dr. R. B. Henry, of Arundel, Dr. D. Beaulieu, Health Officer for the County of Two Mountains, Dr. A. Thibaudeau, Dr. Y. Corriveau, of St. Eustache, and Dr. P. Quidoz, of Ste. Scholastique.

Dr. Turcotte in his opening remarks as chairman stated that the infantile mortality in this county has decreased approximately 35% in the last 10 years.

Dr. Couture then gave a brief address on maternal and infantile hygiene in Canada. He stated that the infantile mortality in any locality was in exact proportion to the hygienic standards of that locality. Statistics show that this mortality rate throughout Canada had decreased 45.1% from 1926 to 1940. However, this is still not good enough, as there remain a considerable percentage of children who could be saved.

Dr. Couture went on to say that he hoped before long there would be a service established to make incubators available in any home for premature babies, and thereby save many lives.

The speaker stated that about 70% of maternal mortality was attributable to three chief causes, all of which could be prevented. Surveys have revealed that 75% of expectant mothers do not consult a physician, and of the remaining 25% a considerable number do not go regularly. In other words, if all expectant mothers would consult their doctors regularly, it would be logical to hope that the present maternal death rate would be cut in half.

Dr. Couture praised the work being done by the Health Units and congratulated the physicians for their co-operation with this organization which is considered one of the most efficient public health systems to be found anywhere.

Dr. A. Rodrigue thanked the speaker, and also congratulated him on his well-known book, "The Canadian Mother and Child."

Following the meeting the physicians retired to the home of Dr. Turcotte, where the ladies served a buffet luncheon.

Watch Dates for Duck Hunting

SEASONS DIFFER IN THE SAME TOWNSHIP

It Depends Which Side of The Road You're Shooting

Standing on Barron's Bridge, Lachute, you may shoot ducks next Saturday—providing you do not point your gun southeast, for that would be hunting out of season. And also providing (1) that there are ducks to shoot, (2) that you would be permitted to shoot from the thoroughfare, and (3) that you did not run foul of the town's by-laws.

As far as provincial game regulations are concerned, duck hunting opens September 12 in all points of the compass from this spot except those between east and south. In the latter quarter the season begins September 26.

It is a quirk of regulations under the Migratory Birds Act that the two divisions of this province, with different dates set for bird hunting, divide the municipalities of St. Jerusalem and Chatham, also the Parish of St. Andrews—the dividing line being Route 8 westward to Lachute, then following the North River. Consequently a hunter may be shooting in season, while across the highway a few yards distant, another may be hunting out of season.

The season in Quebec Southern District is from September 26 to December 12, inclusive; for the remainder of the province, from September 12 to November 20. And the Southern District, as it affects this section, is described as follows:

"Westerly along the central line of Route 8 to its intersection with the middle thread of North River at Lachute; thence following the middle thread of the North River downstream to its intersection with the middle thread of the Ottawa River to Pointe Fortune . . . "

If you're anywhere north of this line, you may shoot on Saturday. For readers otherwise interested the regulations are outlined more fully under the Sports heading on page eight.

Mayor of Arundel For Thirty Years

Congratulations are in order to Chas. J. Staniforth, of Arundel, Que., who on Wednesday celebrated his 71st birthday. Still young in spirit and active in his interests, Mr. Staniforth has led a busy life. For over 30 consecutive years he has been mayor of the Municipality of Arundel, which honor he still holds, having been continually re-elected by acclamation.

A Past Master of Laurentian Masonic Lodge, he helped to start this branch in Arundel. He is also a Justice of the Peace, and has always taken a keen interest in elections.

Apart from these duties and diversions, until his retirement some years ago a general-store business kept him much occupied, for the Arundel district has been a large area to serve.

Best wishes are extended to Mr. Staniforth for many more birthdays!

BRIDGE SITE NOW CENTRE OF LACHUTE WAS FIRST KNOWN AS HIGHLAND OF CHATHAM

Geo. Hardie, 54 Years Connected with Brownsburg Industry, Was Born There And Has Interesting Recollections

Pensioner Returned to Work When Europe Plunged Again into War

Brownsburg — A link with the early history of Brownsburg is George Hardie who, save for a short period around the turn of the century, has been connected with the Brownsburg Works since 1888. A pensioner, George reported back to work immediately Germany invaded Poland three years ago. He is now in the Tool Shop working with the consummate skill that is begot of experience, believing what he is doing to be a vital part of the war effort.

He knew and met many of the people identified with the plant at its inception. For instance, he recalls how "Gat" Howard returned from the Northwest Rebellion with a few guns as souvenirs, one of which stands on the property hard by the office building He is the selfsame man who built a home that is now the Social and Athletic Club

There were about 100 employees in the plant that stood where the Plastics building is today, when George reported for work on a bleak November morning in '88 The manager then who comes to his mind was Mr. Worthen If his memory is grateful to him there followed, in the order named: Messrs Verity, Simpson, Kelly and Bett Bremmer, whose father owned the Hamilton Powder Company. Later came, under the new ownership, E. J. Johnson, who presided over the destinies of the plant longer than any.

His first job was in the 22 Priming department. In due course he passed through the Loading Room, Shot Shell and Metallic Shops and in 1902 began to serve his time as a machinist, becoming a journeyman following a thorough apprenticeship. For the past 35 years, however, he has been making plates and tools for the primers, something in which he is considered a skilled artisan. The thorough knowledge he acquired of precision in work has served him well.

In his long career he has never suffered an accident. How is that? "On account of being perfect and watching myself", he explained

Life has had its compensations. A number of years back he was granted a three months' leave of absence to take a trip to the British Isles. He visited Scotland where his wife, the former Elizabeth Atwater Kilgour, was born, and from where his own forbears came. For he recalls how they decided to settle in the highland of Chatham Township, which is about where the bridge at Lachute was built. It was here he was born, on the banks of the river, 68 years ago. The school he attended was a little red one and he supplemented this by having a turn at one of the Montreal schools during the short period the family lived there.

It was following their return to Lachute that he came to work in Brownsburg. He lived for a while with his uncle, Tom Hamilton, along the Brownsburg Road. The latter was foreman carpenter in the plant. It was his Uncle Tom, who today lives somewhere in Alberta, that he took the trip to Europe.

A year after he commenced to work here, his mother came up to operate the boarding house on the hill. It was the only place where lodging could be obtained in those days and he has seen the time when it was bulging with boarders, more than 200 of them, male and female. The village boasted only a handful of houses.

George's father worked in the plant and one day when felling trees one accidentally fell on him and the mishap proved fatal. He has two sons — Kilgour has been attending McGill University and is now in E.B. Cap timekeeping; his other son, Andrew, also worked here until he joined the Army. He is now stationed at Hamilton, Ontario, in the Ordnance Corps.

He recalls the stories his mother and grandmother told him of Brownsburg and Chatham, of the days when the only communication to the outside world was through a bridle path that went toward the Ottawa River, where the people obtained their supplies from the barges that came down from the capital. His family came of Loyal Empire stock, for when his great grandfather, James Carpenter, died in 1872 at the ripe age of 94 it was noted that he served in the American war of 1812 and that he came to Chatham in 1832; as the death notice in the newspaper of the day described it, "he had 17 children, 83 grandchildren and 33 great grandchildren. He left to mourn his loss his wife who shouldered with him all the hardships of his military life"

Break in Water System Disrupts Salvage Routine

COLLECTION IN LACHUTE MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14

Regular collection of the salvage in Lachute was to have taken place last Saturday, but due to a leak at the main dam of the water system, all available town trucks and men were needed at that site for repair work.

Germain Filion, town secretary, announces that salvage collection will be made next Monday, September 14.

Most important items needed by the government at this time are steel and rubber. It is now a criminal offence to hoard steel scrap of 500 pounds or over. The current rubber drive has not been a success in these regions, and few people seem to realize the urgency of the need.

Delegates from Lachute and B'bg Confer With Minister of Finance

HON. J. L. ILSLEY DISCUSSES FINANCIAL ANGLES OF THE WAR

MEETING HELD TUESDAY WITH DISTRICT WORKERS AT ST. JEROME

By Watchman Staff Reporter

Delegates from Lachute, Brownsburg, St. Jerome, Joliette, St. Eustache and other neighboring communities gathered in the town hall at St. Jerome on Tuesday morning for the purpose of hearing the Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, discuss the problems of financing the war and relative questions pertaining to the coming Victory Loan and the new method of taxation the government has adopted.

The Lachute joint chairmen, Clement Tremblay and W. M. Scott, with district organizer, Bruce Taylor, Jas. A. McGibbon, M.P., and Mayor Hector Lamarche headed the Lachute delegation, with E. L. Johnson, A. J. Quinn and D. R. Brown representing the Brownsburg community.

Chairman of the meeting was Jean Paul Rolland, who introduced the Finance Minister. The Hon. Mr. Ilsley first expressed the appreciation of the government to those who were voluntarily giving their time and energy to promotion of the Victory Loan, and said that it would be extremely difficult to put over the loan without their help.

Mr. Ilsley then reviewed the general make-up of pre-war Canada, with industry running along the smooth lines of business as usual, when guns, tanks and planes were unthought of in "production Canada", while Germany was geared to full wartime efficiency for making of these weapons. He described the change-over from peace to war in Canada, where industry was producing at greater speed, and agriculture was developng continually to supply the needs of this country and the British Isles, while 500,000 men were serving the war services.

Discussing his own particular branch of service, Mr. Ilsley claimed that expenditures had jumped from $500,000,000 before the war to the enormous sum of $3,900,000,000 this year, with the prospect of becoming even greater.

Government Relies on Voluntary Workers for Success Of Loan Campaign

"We have only three methods of securing this money, and they are by taxation, by borrowing and by printing money", the Minister said, "and the last is out, because of the danger of disastrous results of inflation", when the working man's dollar might become 50c. of purchasing power, and the injurious effect it would have on the war effort.

Approximately four billion dollars were needed this year, continued Mr. Ilsley, one half of that sum was to be supplied by taxation, and the other half by borrowing. He then described the new method the government had adopted of compulsory savings, but warned that the $100,000,000 raised by this method would represent only 10 per cent of the money needed; the other 90 per cent had to be raised by borrowing from the worker, the farmer and the wealthy, through Victory Bonds and War Certificates. And in this borrowing, Mr. Ilsley said, "we need the voluntary army of workers from coast to coast, to sell bonds."

The speaker then focussed the attention of the delegates to the danger of rumors that are being circulated. One of these he had met with in Ontario, when it was claimed that the financial corporations and 'big shots' were not receiving their share of the taxation burden. This he strongly denied, and claimed that the taxes were very steep for the trusts and corporations, and that they were only allowed to have money in their tills equal to 70% of pre-war capital.

A New Zealander Tells Impressions On Visit to Town

AIR FORCE SERGEANT FINDS CANADIANS KNOW LITTLE OF HIS COUNTRY

LIKES OUR SPORTS, BUT WINTER TOO COLD

An unusual visitor to this town recently was Sgt. W/AG. Frost, of the Royal New Zealand Air Force, who was quizzed on his impressions of Canada by one of our wide-awake contributors. The trend of the conversation has been interestingly written and is reproduced here for our readers:

"Canada is a wonderful country, but I hope I'm transferred to a milder climate before another winter comes". So said Sgt. W/AG Frost of the Royal New Zealand Air Force in an interview during his few days vacation leave in Lachute. "It did not seem to matter what clothes we put on, we could not keep warm. In fact, a number of us were troubled with nose-bleeds from time to time. Of course I was out West last winter, but if it's anything like that around here, I'm sure I could never get used to so much cold."

"What do you think of our winter sports?"

"Hockey? Boy, you've certainly got something there. I had thought that our Rugby football was fast but it can't compare with hockey. We attended every hockey game we could possibly get to. They're great. I tried skiing and I think with a little more practice that I could make a go of it. I got along not too bad tobogganing too, but as for skating — you know it doesn't make sense to expect a man to stand up on a steel blade about an eighth of an inch thick. I know it's done, but I can't see how. I know I certainly couldn't do it, no matter how much I tried."

"What are your winters like in New Zealand?"

"Well, I never saw snow until I came to Canada. They do have a little snow in the very southern part of New Zealand but never in the northern parts. During our winter months it never becomes any colder than it is here now. It rains considerably, but not as much as one might expect."

"How do you get along with the Canadians?"

"Couldn't be better. I have been all acress Canada and it is the same everywhere. People all over try to do everything they can to make us feel at home and go out of their way to do things for us.

Credit Charges Feature Price Board Cases

Montreal — Violations of the consumer credit regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board which govern down payments and the period over which instalments may be charged, resulted in convictions and fines for three Montreal stores during the past week. The fines totalled $525 and in addition the firms were mulcted costs.

These cases were against the Hartney Co., Ltd., convicted of 8 offences; National House Furniture Co., 6 offences and La Liberte, 2 offences.

The total number of convictions for infractions of the price ceiling regulations was 57 across Canada; 38 of these were rental prosecutions, 2 in British Columbia, 17 in Ontario, 9 in Montreal, 5 in Chicoutimi and 5 others in Jonquière.

Rationing cases during the week included two residents of Plessville who each paid $15, and two owners of a grocery store in St. John, N.B., who were each fined $12.50 for accepting temporary sugar ration coupons before they become valid.

An indication that the order limiting taxi operations to designated areas will be enforced was the conviction of an Alberta Taxi operator on a charge of exceeding the distance from his base of operations which is allowed.

A.T.S. Might Quit But Still Liable

Not Many Expected to Resign; Would Have to Register again

London (CP)—Members of the Auxiliary Territorial Service who enlisted when the force was sanctioned in September, 1938, can resign from the service and no questions asked. The reason is that original recruits were required to sign for four years only and not for the duration. It is expected that only a few will ask for their freedom as they would have to register again for war service.

Handle Firearms With Care — Advice of Hunting Expert

Montreal, Sept. 8 — With the hunting season under way in most Canadian provinces, eternal vigilance is the price of safety, so far as the handling of firearms is concerned. The recurring reports of accidents, many of them fatal, due to careless or inexperienced persons handling guns, led E. G. Poole, Fish and Game authority of the C.N. Rlys., to suggest the need of safety.

"Safe carrying of guns must become a definite habit," said Mr. Poole in making his suggestions. The muzzle of a carried gun must never sweep the horizon. If an accidental discharge takes place it should send the shot into ground before the feet of the person carrying the gun, or into the air.

These suggestions are: Hold the gun in the hollow of the arm, (preferably the left) across the front of the person, with hand on grip and muzzle of gun elevated about forty-five degrees; hang gun by trigger guard hitched over forearm brought round to breast the stock passing behind the upper arm, muzzle of gun pointing a pace or so in front of bearer; shoulder the gun, with hand on grip of heel-plate, muzzle pointing upwards at least forty-five degrees.

The gun may also be carried, shouldered in reverse position, the hand grasping the barrels about the middle and the muzzle pointing forward and down. This method is admissible, but is awkward for recovery purposes.

A loaded gun should always be carried at halfcock, Mr. Poole emphasized, unless the person carrying it is about to shoot. The muzzle of a gun should never be allowed to point towards the person carrying it, nor towards any other person. Guns being taken into boats and vehicles or over fences should precede the person carrying them. Cartridges should be removed on entering camp or house and loaded guns should never be aimed at anything unless the holder intends to press the trigger. No loaded gun should be placed where it may be knocked down by a child or dog.

Perhaps the most frequent cause of shooting accidents is the dangerous habit of some hunters who shoot "at something moving in the bushes", without first making certain that the moving object is the game they seek.

"Few accidents happen to people who are careful of their guns" Mr. Poole stated. "The precepts of safety are simple. If they are generally observed lives can be saved during each hunting season. The hunter must never forget that the man who 'didn't know it was loaded' is always with us."

300 GIRL RECRUITS COMPLETE TRAINING, OFFICERS GRADUATE

Montreal — Graduation for 57 officer cadets of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, and inspection of 300 girl recruits, who last week completed their basic training, took place on Friday afternoon in an impressive outdoor ceremony at the C.W.A.C. Training Centre in Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

Major-General H. F. G. Letson, Adjutant General of the Canadian Army headed the Inspection Party which was composed of Brig.-General E. deB. Panet, District Officer Commanding M.D. 4, (Montreal); Lt.-Col. Joan Kennedy, Officer Administering the Canadian Women's Army Corps; Brigadier A. W. Beament, Deputy Adjutant General at Canadian Military Headquarters, London, Eng.; Maj. Mary Dover, Commandant of the Ste. Anne de Bellevue Training Centre; Major James Weir, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General at Ottawa.

On the arrival of the Adjutant General the Corps, drawn up for review across the sunlit lawn-covered quadrangle, snapped at attention with all the zip of a crack regiment of guards. The General Salute was sounded, the flag unfurled, the parade handed over by the Adjutant, Lieutenant Eve Davis, and the inspection proceeded between the long lines of smartly uniformed girls to music by the District Depot Band.

After the inspection, the reviewing party returned to the Saluting Base, the cadet officers formed single file, right turned and left wheeled like veterans to march slowly past and receive their badges and rank from the Adjutnat General.

Following the presentation, an order to "sit down" was barked—as nearly as a feminine voice can bark—and the entire parade dropped as one woman to the greensward, turning eager, listening faces toward the Saluting Base from which Major-General Letson made his address. Not with a prepared speech, but in an impromtu, inspiring talk, the Adjutant General spoke to his women soldiers.

"The Canadian Women's Army Corps" said Major-General Letson "is not only part of the Army, but as important as the army itself", and went on to list the important characteristics of a good soldier as "Truth, Loyalty and Courage", characteristics as necessary to the woman soldier as to the man in the fighting lines, whom she was replacing. The Adjutant General told the recruits that they would be the officers of tomorrow, while the newly commissioned officers would become high ranking officers, that their "job of learning their job was now only beginning" and that the tradition behind the uniform they wore, the tradition of "Service without thought of self" was one they must constantly uphold.

At the conclusion of the Adjutant General's address top flight demonstrations and clockwork timing were given by P.T. and Precision Squads, after which the March Past was held, the Adjutant General taking the salute, and parade then dismissed. Hardly a few minutes later, the newly commissioned officers, brighteyed, attractive girls, returned proudly wearing their shoulder "pips" insignia of their rank, for tea which was served to guests and officers on the lawn of the golf Course.

SCRAP METAL IS NEEDED TO MEET CRISIS IN STEEL

Ottawa, September — Half a million tons of scrap iron and steel must be added to the stockpiles throughout Canada before the winter freeze-up the Department of Munitions and Supply has announced.

"Canada faces a steel crisis which can be solved only by the active co-operation of every farmer, every manufacturer, and every other owner of machinery," said F. B. Kilbourn, Steel Controller. "If our steel mills are to keep up maximum production all winter, every last item of scrap iron and steel must be sold to a collection agent or given to a National Salvage committee within the next few weeks."

The Controller added that a recent order makes it illegal to retain, except by permit, any obsolete machine which is not now serving a useful purpose. Such machines, and scrap iron and steel in all other forms weighing a total of 500 pounds or more, must be disposed of before September 15, or otherwise must be reported to the Used Goods Administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

"The order does not mean that seasonal machinery which will be used again next year should be scrapped," said Mr. Kilbourn. "On the contrary, it is essential that the fullest possible essential use be made of all existing equipment so that new steel need not be used in the manufacture of additional equipment."

The Controller added that the successful outcome of the war hinges on the ability of the United Nations to gather sufficient scrap iron and steel to keep the mills in full operation. "We need the scrap today," he said. "Tomorrow might be too late."

GOVERNMENT INSURANCE IN CASE OF WAR DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

OWNERS OF PROPERTY ARE URGED TO INSURE AGAINST LOSS BY ENEMY ACTION

The Government of Canada, by Act of Parliament, has set up a Plan of War Risk Insurance against damage to property caused by enemy action—by countermeasures taken against the enemy—by explosions of war munitions handled by third parties.

In terms of general information, it may be stated that the Plan provides a certain limited FREE COMPENSATION for damage to owner-occupied homes and to chattels, but the main feature of the Plan is that owners of most types of property can protect their property by PURCHASE of GOVERNMENT WAR RISK INSURANCE at very moderate rates.

This type of War Risk Insurance is not being sold today by private insurance companies, because of the risk involved. Consequently, the Government has established a national scheme to make it possible for each citizen in Canada to purchase the sense of security that comes from knowing that if his property does suffer war damage (and the war has come much closer to Canada in the last twelve months) he can call on the resources of Canada to help him make good his property loss.

HOW TO OBTAIN GOVERNMENT WAR RISK INSURANCE

The Fire Insurance Agents and Companies of Canada have volunteered to the Government the services of their extensive facilities and personnel, on a non-profit basis, thus avoiding the setting up of the large organization that otherwise would be needed to handle details of this nation-wide Government War Risk Insurance scheme.

YOUR FIRE INSURANCE AGENT OR COMPANY WILL GLADLY SUPPLY COMPLETE DETAILS OF THIS GOVERNMENT INSURANCE PLAN.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT IS PUBLISHED so that the public may have notice of the Government War Risk Insurance Scheme. The information given above is not intended to be a complete resumé of the Scheme. Full information regarding conditions, exclusions, etc., is available elsewhere.

TO HOME OWNERS HOUSEHOLDERS and OTHERS

Limited free compensation is provided under the Act for War Damage by enemy action to owner-occupied homes up to $3,000. Damage to Householder's Chattels, up to $800—for those of his wife, up to $400—for each child under 16, up to $100—for others, not householders, up to $200.

No policies are needed in this classification but insurance additional to the above amounts may be purchased.

Ask any Fire Insurance Agent or Company for complete details.

Freedom of the Press

Samson strains at the pillars of democracy—or more specifically, it is Uncle Sam now shaking the foundations, as he threatens the freedom of the press.

We have read many disserting views on the lawsuit which is an attempt to wrest discrimination from the Associated Press is selection of its membership. Their salient points have found mention in this column, logically because we are in agreement with the dessenters. This in spite of the fact that these views — in what may be considered a test case — favor the Chicago Tribune, which is violently anti-British and so invites our reciprocal scorn.

Here are a few facts on the case and, following, three pointed opinions from the American press:

The Associated Press, world's greatest news-gathering organization founded in 1900 as a non-profit co-operative corporation, is sued by the U.S. Government as a "monopoly", although hundreds of newspapers are served by other news-gathering agencies.

The Government demands that the AP enroll as a member any newspaper willing to pay its proportionate membership fee.

Marshall Field, Chicago department store heir who last fall founded the pro-Administration Chicago Sun, filed complaint against the AP, his newspaper's application for AP membership having been denied by vote of the members. Expressing the sentiment of outsiders-looking-in, Field said the suit, if successful, would "prove to be one of the most important strokes for freedom of the press in the history of American journalism."

But following are the editorial comments of Associated Press newspapers throughout the United States:

Washington, D.C., Evening Star: The United States Government is suing the Associated Press in an effort to obtain an AP membership for the Chicago Sun. The Sun has convinced a friendly administration that this membership will be competitively advantageous in the Sun's (and the administration's) fight against the Chicago Tribune. That is the motive behind the suit. The tall talk by Government lawyers concerning freedom of the press is so much window dressing.

The Associated Press, in the Government's opinion, has attained a degree of excellence which makes the possession of an Associated Press membership in effect essential to the success of a newspaper.

This contention belies the successful operation of such non-member papers as the Pittsburg Press, the Cleveland Press and the Cincinnati Post. The Washington Times-Herald, which claims the largest circulation of any Washington newspaper despite the lack of an AP membership, is another case in point . . .

Under this (the Government's) theory, the Associated Press could be obtained by anybody with the money to buy its services. Under it, the members of the "vermin" press, so recently dealt with by the Department of Justice, could claim membership in the AP . . .

This suit, which is brought in the name of free competition, could actually destroy the incentive of competition which has helped to give the Associated Press supremacy in its field and perhaps destroy the AP along with it in order to improve the competitive position of the Chicago Sun.

That is not merely curious. It smells.

Cincinnati Enquirer: To see the grave danger in the Government's position, one should consider what the outcome would be if the Associated Press would be open to all papers. It soon would completely dominate news-gathering, for its competitors could not survive if all papers could buy AP news. We quickly would find only one news agency in existence in America. That is what they have in Germany and Japan, Italy and Vichy, France.

Denver Post: The Associated Press is strictly a co-operative enterprise. The Government is taking the position that its members shall have nothing to say about who is associated with them. Having made a success of their business, they must now take in as partners and share their success with everybody who wants to come in. That is absurd on its face.

Under the Government's theory, no newspaper would be allowed to have any exclusive feature. Any news service or photo service it had, which any competitor wanted, would have to be shared with that competitor. If this policy can be applied to newspapers, it can be applied to everything else.

The Hills of Home

On viewing the scenes of some of Canada's war industries, there is something which strikes us in marked contrast to the munitions plant in this particular community—that is, the number of workers leaving their shifts on bicycles. It is perhaps fortunate for our neighboring village in which the munitions plant is situated, that its heart straining contours and street surfaces forbid this form of locomotion; otherwise bicycles might complicate the already acute congestion caused there by pedestrian and motor traffic.

One Man's Impression —How About You?

An old man shaking grains out of his straw hat for a flock of kowtowing pigeons . . . a stout middle-aged woman in black, reclining comfortably on a bench in the sun, with her bulging shopping bag on the ground beside her . . . a group of young airmen, laughing and looking over the passers-by . . .

The spirit of contentment lay deep over King Square, wrapping shoppers, loungers, pigeons, flowers and the waters of the fountain in a sleepy golden mist of sun.

Farther along down the walk a plump, taffy-colored cocker spaniel puppy was making friends with a soldier while his young master floated a match-box boat in the fountain.

Benevolently watching the scene sat a group of matrons. One of them sighed to the others:

"Peaceful, isn't it?"

" 'Mmm," agreed her neighbor, perhaps thinking of a similar once-peaceful spot in Czecho-Slovakia. "Makes a person glad to be here instead of in Europe. Not like that Lidishy place . . . "

No, not at all like devastated Lidice, the observer thought, by now approaching the flower-surrounded Young Monument at the east side of the square. Crimson, orange, yellow and mauve, the blaze of flowers moved gently in the light breeze.

On the benches around the memorial, a few placid citizens sat sunning. Above in the sky a cruising plane zoomed distantly, but the only dive bomber was a fat yellow bee executing manoeuvers in the flower bed.

Very far from crucified Europe, thought the observer, blessedly far. And fervently he hoped that he would never have cause to change that thought.

It was not altogether by mere chance that he, a few minutes later, cashing his pay check at a nearby bank, set aside enough "to get by on" for the present month's needs, and bought war savings certificates with what was left.

"Fixing Bayonets" Out

Every once in a while someone has a disarmingly simple idea that contains the seeds of revolution. The world hadn't thought of it before. Its utter simplicity, the sheer common sense of it, astonish. Even in the military field this sort of thing happens every once in a while, and it has happened recently.

Time was, and not so long ago (to use the story teller's formula), when in some regiment a soldier's smartness was judged by his ability to fix and unfix bayonets as a drill movement without dropping either rifle or bayonet or stabbing a comrade in a sensitive place. Soldiers who drop things are responsible for the kind of voices sergeant-majors have, and for that withering look that sergeant-majors seem to be born with.

But to watch a well-trained batallion fix and unfix bayonets in drill order was something; and to hear an instructor telling the awkward squad how to do it was something else again. Every old soldier will remember the Imperial sergeant-major instructor as he taught the squad:

"When I says 'Fix,' you don't fix.

"But when I says 'Bynits,' you whips 'em out and you whops 'em on.

"Naouw then . . ."

But that day is over. Recently there appeared in orders this phrase: "Men will learn to fix bayonets in their own time and not as drill movements". At long last someone has discovered that a soldier should put the bayonet on the rifle when he needs it. It's as simple as that, but it is perhaps the most revolutionary thing the military mind has ever thought of. —Montreal Star

WAR -- TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

SOVIET MOVEMENT GAINED MOMENTUM IN RUSSIA; KERENSKY-KORNILOV QUARREL OVER DICTATORSHIP

The political struggle in Russia during the summer preceding the great revolution of November 1917, saw the rapid disintegregation of the provisional government formed after the abdication of Czar Nicholas II and the crumbling of the army as a fighting force.

Riddled through by subversive propaganda, the army on the Eastern Front became virtually a clamoring mob after the fall of Riga early in September. In Petrograd, Alexander Kerensky who had become prime minister, sought to establish order, but found his power weakening rapidly against the growing force of Bolshevism.

On Sept. 8, 1917, the army's strong man, Gen. L. G. Kornilov, ordered some cavalry divisions on which he could rely to march on Petrograd while he began negotiations with Kerensky with the idea of creating a military dictatorship.

Keronsky at first appeared to support Kornilov. Later, suspecting the general aspired to become dictator, Kerensky denounced him as a traitor and an enemy to the Revolution. The prime minister then assumed the position of commander-in-chief and placed himself at the head of the troops in Petrograd.

Sent to Prison

Kornilov's cavalry never reached the capital and the general and some of his associates were thrown into prison. One committed suicide.

But Kerensky's motives were questioned by some members of the provisional government, and they subsequently resigned. A new Council of Five replaced the former government.

At this stage the soviet movement made great strides. Kerensky, turning his back on the moderate Rightists, appealed to the executive committee of the soviet to fight the movement started by Kornilov.

Kerensky's power declined rapidly. Although continuing ostensibly to support him, the executive committee made widespread preparation for the revolution and proceeded to arm the workers.

After the revolution Kerensky made a thrilling escape from Russia and about a year later turned up at a labor congress in London.

Corner of Canada In London

(From BBC's "London Calling")

One series of rooms in the BBC offices in London has its doors decorated with the Maple Leaf. You virtually cross the Atlantic when you go through one of these doors, for this is the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's radio outpost in Britain. The frame of Canadian cigarettes and the sound of Canadian voices passing easily from England to French greets you; photos of Canadian celebrities eye you from the walls; the microphones bear the initials CBC. For the Canadian Unit is an independent organization working directly to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, co-operating with the BBC and using BBC facilities and machinery.

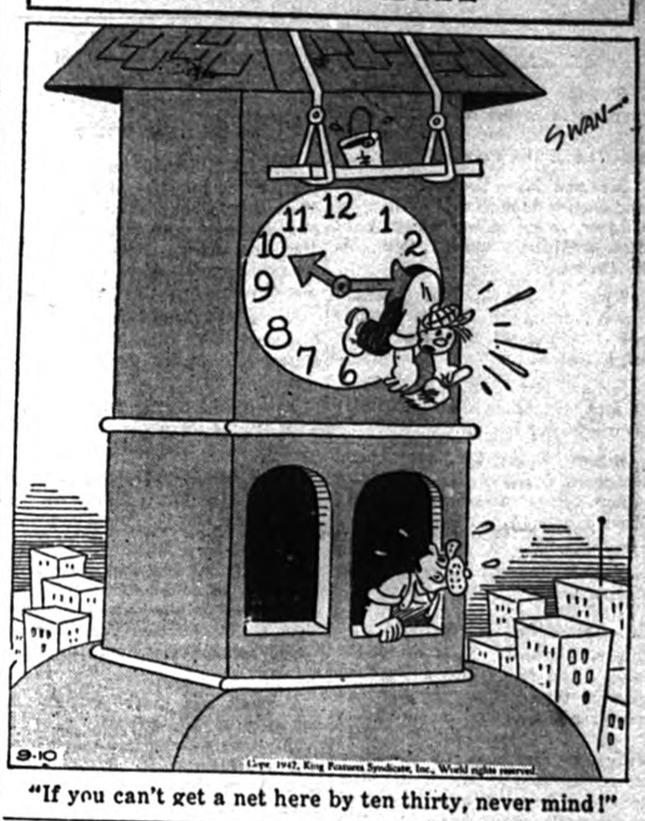

Since the beginning of the war, the CBC has had representatives over here whose job was to keep Canadians at home and Canadians serving in the Forces overseas in touch with each other. This simple theme of "keeping in touch" has developed all kinds of interesting variations. Bob Bowman and H. Pelletier organize and direct these varied activities with the assistance of Gerry Wilmot, Eddy Baudry, and Flying Officer Jack Peach, each of whom specializes in a particular type of program.

The work of the Canadian Unit has two main aspects. One of its "faces" looks back to Canada, telling their people at home news of Canadians serving with the Forces of the Empire; the other looks towards Canadians here and on the high seas, and brings them news of home.

Many programs go out every week to Canada in the BBC's short-wave services and are picked up and rebroadcast by the CBC. There are the three "men in uniform" features—Khaki Scrapbook, Gentlemen With Wings, and Wings Abroad—dealing with the activities of Canadians in the Army and the Air Force. Khaki Scrapbook has its own sports reporter, a Captain in the Canadian Army who collects sports news from all units serving over here. Each regiment has its special unit reporter. In Gentlemen with Wings picked Canadian flying men nirrate their vivid stories in their own way so that Canadians at home can get a living week-to-week picture of the great part Canada is playing in the air. Then there are two weekly half-hours of "messages" in which Canadians in the Forces can actually "talk back" to their families. Any Canadian on leave can go to the Beaver Club or to the CBC radio unit's centre and send a "live" or record message home. The third aspect of "telling Canadians about Canadians" is the interesting weekly program written and produced by Pelletier — "Canadian Calendar". This feature not only presents high spots of the service life of Canadians, but gives impressions of Britain as seen through Canadian eyes.

The CBC unit also has its special allocation in the BBC Forces Program in which it provides entertainment for Canadian troops over here. The Canadian Calendar is a review of the week's news as seen through the eyes of Canadians in London. Besides this, Newsletters and Sports Letters are regularly cabled from Canada and broadcast to the Canadian soldier in Britain. Just as the British soldier far from home pines for cricket and football news, so does the Canadian over here long to hear the latest from his home about ice-hockey and baseball. The third feature provides for British-based Canadian troops—a variety entertainment for Canadian soldiers by Canadian soldiers, entertainment that reveals plenty of humor and talent.

Grocer: "Why?

Housewife: They're sky-high.

NO DIFFERENCE BETWEEN RAILROAD AND RAILWAY

Toronto, September 9 — There is a tendency to think that railway is a distinctive British term, while railroad is definitely American. An official of the C.N.R. whose duties bring him in contact with every system on this continent, reports that of the Class 1 lines in the United States, 64 use railway and 68 use railroad in their corporate names. In the British Empire railway is used in preference to railroad.

Fill your time with positive service and good. Do not drift. Have definite things on hand to do.

The case was one of assault. The magistrate eyed the prisoner sternly.

"You maintain that you threw your wife out of the second-story window through forgetfulness?" he stated.

"That's right, your worship," returned the prisoner. "We used to live on the ground floor, and I forgot we'd moved up."

It is now ILLEGAL to HOARD scrap steel or UNUSABLE machinery

The Steel Controller has ordered that, after September 15, 1942, no person may retain in his possession scrap iron or steel weighing a total of 500 pounds or more unless he has a permit.

(For the purposes of the new regulations, scrap metal includes machinery, structural steel, or any other article or commodity containing iron or steel, which is not serving an immediate vital purpose.)

The order also provides:

That anyone, coming into possession after September 15 of scrap iron or steel weighing 500 pounds or more, must dispose of it within 20 days.

That any person having a valid reason for not disposing of scrap metal as scrap metal or who believes that it can serve some essential purpose, must send in a report by September 15 to the Used Goods Administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Lumsden Building, Toronto. His report must reveal the exact description, quantity, and location of his scrap metal.

The provisions of the order do not apply to scrap dealers who are already subject to previous orders; nor do they affect metal fabricators and processors who are in legal possession of metal to be used in manufacturing.

A copy of the order, S.C. 16, may be obtained from the Steel Controller, Department of Munitions and Supply, Ottawa.

Infractions of the new regulations are subject to a fine of up to $5,000, or imprisonment of up to five years, or both fine and imprisonment.

"My house will be 20 years younger"

Take years off the age of your home with the aid of Donnacona Insulating Board. Its new rough-cast texture brings youth to an old house, gives ceilings and walls that modern finish which is so popular today, makes the whole home look younger, brighter, more cheerful. Donnacona Board insulates as it beautifies—it makes homes warmer in winter, cooler in summer, and more—with Donnacona Board you can make new rooms, easily and quickly, in the attic or basement.

An attic guest room 12' x 18' can be completely installed for as little as $70.00 for material and labour.

Ask your own Donnacona Dealer for an estimate of the cost and for details of the proper Donnacona materials to use.

DONNACONA

Wartime HOME CONSERVATION Plan

1. CONSERVATION OF FUEL: Coal and oil must be conserved today to make more fuel available for urgent war needs. Proper home insulation, such as provided by Donnacona, conserves fuel—for insulation checks heat waste, cuts fuel consumption. Donnacona insulates as it builds or renovates. It is decorative too.
2. CONSERVATION OF FUNDS: When you insulate with Donnacona, fuel savings quickly repay the small initial cost of insulation. You permanently reduce your overhead; more money is available for War Savings and other necessities.
3. CONSERVATION OF SPACE: Today the nation is fighting waste, and this includes waste space. Idle space can be converted simply and inexpensively, through the use of Donnacona Board, into useful rooms for the family or for paying guests. You can help your budget and help relieve an acute housing shortage at one blow.
4. CONSERVATION OF HEALTH: A healthy nation works and fights better, and good health begins at home. Elimination of drafts, through the use of Donnacona Board, an even warmth in winter and coolness in summer, all help to promote better health at home and added comfort.
5. CONSERVATION OF VALUES: Today values are liable to rapid change, but a house will always be the best and safest investment in times of economic stress. That investment can be protected and enhanced through remodelling and renovation with Donnacona Board.
6. CONSERVATION OF EFFICIENCY: It is at home that we gather strength for tomorrow's job—and that job may be of vital importance to Canada. Donnacona will make your home more comfortable—a real haven of peace in which everyone, including the night shift worker, can sleep undisturbed, thanks to the sound-deadening properties of Donnacona.

...And put your home on a WARTIME FOOTING

Small home construction and renovation is not only permitted — it is vitally necessary to help relieve acute housing shortages. Materials are available for this essential purpose. Ask your Donnacona dealer for a free copy of the booklet describing the DONNACONA Wartime Home Conservation Plan. He is your Authorized Consultant under this plan. See him now. Discuss with him how you can obtain better insulation, new year-round comfort, added economy . . . how old rooms can be remodelled easily and inexpensively through the use of Donnacona Insulating and other Murray products.

MURRAY Products for New Building or Renovating Include:

Donnacona Roughcast Insulating Board — Veelap Board and Plaster Base — Donnacona Hardboard — Donnacona Modernite (Hardboard, prefinished in colour) — Insulated Brick Siding — Asphalt Shingles — Roll Roofing — Sheathings and Felts — Fibreen (the wind and waterproof reinforced building paper) —Waterproofing and Preserving Coatings, Paints and Stains, etc.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Church Activities at St. Andrews East

St. Andrews E. — The Day of Prayer, Sunday, September 6, was observed here in a joint service at the Presbyterian Chuch in the morning, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Wm. MacMillan and the Rev. J. A. Mowatt. An evening service was held in the United Church, conducted by Rev. Dr. MacMillan, assisted by Rev. J. Rushton Heyworth, of Chicago, who gave a talk on the attitude of the American Republic to the menace to its freedom. They now were fully aware of the reality of the threat, and were determined to combat it by every effort possible. The preacher exhorted the combined congregations to co-operate fully so the influence of Christianity and democracy might thus be strengthened in the community. Both services were fully attended.

* * * *

Service at Christ Church last Sunday was conducted by Mr. Walter Bockus, lay preacher, of Montreal, and the previous Sunday Mr. Hardwick, also a layman, of Montreal West, occupied the pulpit.

* * * *

The Women's Guild of the United Church met at the manse on Wednesday afternoon, September 2. After a business session, presided over by Mrs. T. A. MacAdam refreshments were served on the lawn by Mrs. K. de la Ronde, and Mrs. J. DeWitt.

Ladies' Guild at Morin Heights

Morin Heights —

The Ladies' Guild of Trinity Church met at the home of Mrs. W. Watchorn on Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. H. Gillingham as chairman of the business meeting. Mr. H. G. Baugh gave the ladies a description of the financial situation in the church, and praised them for their efforts. The sum of $100. was voted towards the "Basement Debt," and it was agreed that an endeavor would be made to wipe it out completely. Mr. C. Baugh also reported that, apart from this debt, the finances of the church were in a very sound condition.

Plans were completed for the Harvest Supper on September 26, and the meeting came to a close with refreshments being served by the hostess.

* * *

Trinity Anglican Church was filled to capacity for the "Day of Prayer" Service on Sunday. The service was conducted by H. G. Baugh, M.L.R., who stressed the necessity of a universal "Return to God" movement.

Harvest Thanksgiving At Mille Isles

Mille Isles —

On Sunday evening, Christ Church, Mille Isles, was beautifully decorated with an array of flowers and vegetables for the Harvest Thanksgiving Service.

Over one hundred persons were in the congregation. Mr. Baugh, preaching on the text, "Come Ye, and Let Us Walk in the Light of the Lord," emphasized the reliance of mankind upon Almighty God, "Without Whom We Are As Nothing."

It was announced at the service that an "Honor Roll" was being secured for the church, to honor all the young men serving from Mille Isles.

Christian Science Sunday Services

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, September 13.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Many, O Lord my God, are thy wonderful works which thou hast done, and thy thoughts which are to us-ward: they cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: if I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered." (Psalms 40 :5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "God's thoughts are perfect and eternal, are substance and Life. Material and temporal thoughts are human, involving error, and since God, Spirit, is the only cause, they lack a divine cause. The temporal and material are not then creations of Spirit." (Page 286).

Marriage in Manse At Brownsburg

Bates - McRae

Brownsburg — The marriage of Mr. Charles Newton Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Bates, of Avoca, and Miss Levita McRae, daughter of Mr. Windson McRae, of Calumet, and the late Mrs. MacRae, took place on Wednesday afternoon at the United Church manse in Brownsburg, the Rev. S. J. Pike officiating.

The bride, dressed in white satin with veil to match, and carrying a bouquet of white gladioli, was attended by her sister, Miss Viola McRae, who was dressed in pink satin and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli.

The groom was supported by Mr. Vernon Campbell.

Following the ceremony the happy couple proceeded to the bride's home for luncheon, after which they left for Montreal and other parts. On their return they will reside in Avoca.

The community extends best wishes for many years of happy wedded life.

Calgary Wedding Of Local Interest

Featherstone - Pollock

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in Knox United Church, Calgary, on Saturday, August 8, at 5 o'clock, when Frances Mildred Beckham, daughter of Mrs. Robert Pollock and the late Robert Pollock, of Pollockville, was united in marriage to Mr. Wilmer Hodgin Featherstone, of Hamilton, Ont. The Rev. Allan Hubard performed the ceremony.

The altar was decorated with ferns and sweet peas, and Mr. Clifford Higgin, organist of the church, played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Freeman Pollock, wore a floor-length gown of white sheer, with embroidered bodice. Her floor-length veil was held in place with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of roses, baby's breath and maiden hair fern.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Myrtle McBride, of Calgary, wore a gown of pink net with blue accessories and carried a bouquet of white carnations, sweet peas and blue delphinium.

Lieutenant J. N. Featherstone, of Prince George, B.C., (Woodstock, Ont.) brother of the groom, was best man.

Mrs. Pollock, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue redingote with navy accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the York Hotel. The table was centered by a three-tier wedding cake and decorated with summer flowers.

The bride and groom left for a short honeymoon in Banff. For travelling, the bride wore a navy blue tailored suit with accessories to match. On their return they will make their home at Pollockville.

Joy does not happen. It is the inevitable result of certain lines followed and laws obeyed, and so a matter of character.

OBITUARY

Death of Dalesville Resident Occurs at Advanced Age of 92

The Late Mrs. Hugh Morrow

Death has removed one of the oldest inhabitants of this district, Mrs. Hugh Morrow, who resided with her son, Austin, in Dalesville. She had reached the ripe old age of 92 years, and although doing considerable travelling in her younger days, had lived in Dalesville since he marriage in 1876. She was a member of the Baptist church there since the age of thirteen. Her husband predeceased her 27 years ago.

Mrs. Morrow was the second daughter of James McFaul, one of the early pioneers of this place. She was a true friend and a good neighbor, and one of the most public-spirited, charitable women of her generation, never allowing herself to be swayed by "doctrines" fashioned to the varying hour.

She always had a soothing word for the sorrowing, a quiet and kindly deed for the needy, and a pleasant welcome for all.

During her declining years she loved to receive visitors, and was interested in all the passing events of the day, especially anything connected with the church or missionary work.

Many were those who assembled in the old stone church to pay a last tribute to their old friend, lying in state, surrounded by beautiful flowers. Thence she was quietly conveyed to the Dalesville Cometery.

To mourn her passing are children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Leader of Armies! Israel's God!
Thy soldier's fight is won.
Master! whose lonely path she trod,
Thy servant's work is done.

Couple Married in Catholic Church

Baugie - Lefebvre

Calumet — At 9 o'clock Sunday morning in St. Ludger Catholic Church, the marriage was solemnized of Miss Denise Lefebvre and Mr. Lionel Baugie.

The bride dressed in white tulle, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played at the organ by Mrs. J. Pager, Mr. Arthur Lalond, of Hull, Que., accompanying with the violin.

After the wedding ceremony, wine was served at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Arthur Lefebvre, and at 7.30 o'clock in the evening the newly-wed couple took the train for Montreal.

A traditional custom was observed during the social gathering, when three brothers of the groom, Philippe, Rene and Paul, and also a sister, Ange Aimée Bougie danced in their stockined feet—a rite they were called on to fulfil since they were older than the groom and still unmarried.

Among the guests were Mr. J. A. Tessier and family, of Lachute, brother-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Carpentier of Drummondville: J. J. Carpentier, of Ste. Therese, and Mrs. J. Desforges, of Hawkesbury.

Music was provided by Phillippe Boyer, violin, Arthur Laronde, violin, Lionel Boyer, guitar, B. Joly, mandolin, R. Desjardins, saxophone, and Miss Therese Bougie, piano.

Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.

THE NEW INCOME TAX

PART I - As it Affects

SALARY AND WAGE EARNERS

1. Question: WHO MUST PAY?

Answer: All persons in receipt of incomes over $660 single—or $1200 married.

2. Question: WHAT FORMS DO YOU HAVE TO FILL OUT?

Answer: Unless you are single, without dependents, and not making payments for allowable personal savings (Item 5D), you should file Form TD-1 with your employer. Otherwise he must deduct the amounts provided by the Table of Tax Deductions for a single person without dependents or personal savings.

If ¾ or more of your income comes from salary or wages, you must file your 1942 Income Return by 30th September 1943. If your income is not over $5,000, including not over $100 from investments, you will use Form T1-Special; otherwise you will use Form T.1.

3. Question: WHEN AND HOW IS YOUR TAX COLLECTED?

Answer: Your employer is required by law to make deductions from your salary or wages on account of your 1942 tax during the period September 1942 to August 1943. Each deduction must be the amount provided by the official Table of Tax Deductions for your current rate of pay, and family status and personal savings as declared on Form TD-1 (Item 2 above).

The Table is designed to collect about 90% of the tax on your salary or wages, leaving a balance of not more than 10%, in most cases, (plus tax on your other income, if any) to be paid with your Income Return to be filed in September 1943.

If your salary or wages are less than ¾ of your income, you must pay tax on your other income by compulsory instalments. (See Part II below).

4. Question: WHAT CONSTITUTES TAXABLE INCOME?

Answer: Your income is made up of your full salary or wages before any deductions whatsoever, plus living allowances, gratuities or bonuses (including cost of living bonus) and the value of any board, living quarters or supplies, etc., given you by your employer. It also includes such receipts as interest and dividends, rents (after taxes, repairs, etc.), royalties and annuities. From your total income you deduct payments (up to $300) into certain types of employees' superannuation or pension funds, charitable donations up to 10% of your income, and medical expenses over 5% of your income (maximum—$400 single, $600 married, plus $100 for each dependent up to four), to find the amount of your taxable income.

5. Question: HOW MUCH DO YOU PAY?

Answer: (A) Normal Tax—(whichever rate is applicable is applied to the full amount of your taxable income from the first to the last dollar).

(1) Single—with taxable income between $660 and $1800—7%
with taxable income between $1800 and $3000—8%
with taxable income over $3000—9%

(2) Married (or equivalent status)—
with taxable income over $1200—7%

(3) Dependents—tax credit for each—$28

(B) Graduated Tax—

(1) On first $660 of taxable income—No Tax.

30% on next	$ 500	55% on next	$ 5,000
33% on next	500	60% on next	7,000
37% on next	1000	65% on next	10,000
41% on next	1500	70% on next	20,000
45% on next	1500	75% on next	20,000
50% on next	3000	80% on next	30,000

85% on excess over $100,000

(2) Married (or equivalent status)—tax credit—$150

(3) Dependents—tax credit for each—up to $80

(C) Surtax—4% on investment income over $1500 without exemptions.

NOTES

(1) In no case are you required to pay a net tax (i.e., after credit for dependents) which would reduce your taxable income below $660 single or $1200 married.

(2) If a wife has unearned income over $660, then both she and her husband are taxable as single persons, but any amount a wife earns does not affect her husband's right to be taxed as a married person. A married woman is taxed as a single person under all circumstances except only when her husband's income is less than $660.

A booklet entitled "YOUR 1942 INCOME TAX" will be available shortly at offices of Inspectors of Income Tax.

(D) Tax Credit for Personal Savings—
You may deduct from the savings portion of your tax (Item 6) 1942 payments on account of—
(1) an approved employees' (or trade union) superannuation, retirement or pension fund;
(2) premiums on life insurance policies issued prior to 23rd June 1942 (if issued after that date ask your insurance company or Inspector of Income Tax);
(3) annuity or savings policies not postponable without substantial loss or forfeiture; and
(4) principal payments on a mortgage or agreement of sale, existing prior to 23rd June, 1942, on one residential property; provided (a) they do not exceed the savings portion and (b) receipts are produced for the payments when filing your Income Return.

(E) National Defence Tax—
This tax does not apply after 31st August, 1942. The deductions made during January to August 1942 apply as a payment on account of your 1942 tax.

6. Question: HOW MUCH OF YOUR TAX IS SAVINGS?

Answer:

(1) Single—the lesser of
(a) ½ the total of your Normal Tax, Graduated Tax and Surtax; or
(b) 8% of your taxable income (maximum $800) plus 1% for each dependent (maximum $100 for each).

(2) Married (or equivalent status)—the lesser of
(a) ½ the total of your Normal Tax, Graduated Tax and Surtax; or
(b) 10% of your taxable income (maximum $1000) plus 1% for each dependent (maximum $100 for each).

You will get back the savings portion of your tax which you actually pay, plus 2% interest, after the war.

THE DIEPPE BROADCASTS

The marvels of radio have never been so apparent than in the Dieppe broadcasts. It seemed almost unbelievable to be hearing the eye-witness accounts so short a time after the raid. Incidentally Bob Bowman is one of my favorite broadcasters. For one thing, he is so natural. The broadcasts had another not so pleasant side to them. When the Regiments taking part were named, what anxiety the relatives of the men in those Regiment must have had until they heard more definite news. Alas, then, in many cases it was turned into sorrow. It must be a difficult thing for the authorities to decide how much information should be given and when. We are all clamoring for news immediately and yet this immediate news adds greatly to the anxiety of the soldier's families.

MEATS FOR ONE OR TWO

There are so many more homes than there used to be. It is not so long ago that if a person was not married they lived or boarded in some one else's home. Now most of them men and women both, have homes of their own—even though it be only a room. They have cooking problems and one of them is meat. It is easy enough to get chops for one or two people but it is harder to manage a roast. But even a roast can be had by proper buying. A roast of pork, or lamb, or veal, is easy. You can buy a loin roast of any size you want, even the size of three or four chops uncut. A roast of beef is more difficult. Perhaps a wing roast is best. Have the butcher cut from the wing but not separate it into steaks. In the days when we could get beef tenderloin, a piece of it roasted was a real luxury. Actually it was not as expensive as it seemed from its initial cost, as there was no waste at all, no bone, no gristle. Pork tenderloin makes a good roast. A slice of ham rubbed with brown sugar, and a few cloves stuck in for flavor, then baked is a tasty meal. I like to cut off the ham fat, snip it into little pieces ad sprinkle it over the ham before baking. We should use liver and kidneys frequently. Sliced liver is an easy meat for the small family to handle. Lamb kidneys are delicious, and one lamb kidney is about a meal for one person. Slice the kidney and cook in a little fat in the frying pan, with or without a slice of bacon. A kidney or two may be kept in the top tray of the refrigerator and kept for several days. Freezing it doesn't hurt the flavor at all. A pound of lean back bacon boiled gives you cold ham to slice. I like to rub in the brown sugar and the cloves and brown it in the oven after boiling just as I do a baked ham. Meats for one or two take careful planning but it is possible to get variety. It is not only the people living in the batchelor apartments who are cooking for one or two these days as so many families have shrunk to that size.

FIVE MINUTES WORK

Every minute saved in housemost of us have many more demands on our time. Five minutes more spent in hanging the washing out will save considerable time in ironing. Straighten out the edge of sheets, and tablecloths; shake bath-towels and straighten them; hang table-linen and sheets so they will be ready for easy folding. None of these things amount to much in themselves but taken in the aggregate they mount up to considerable ironing time. Do you ever use the wringer of your washing-machine to wring out articles washed by hand? Sometimes it is more work to fill the washing machine than it is to wash articles by hand. Just today I washed sheets, towels, and tablenapkins that guests had used in an over-night stay. They were not really dirty and required little washing, and by using the wringer of the washing-machine it was no trick at all to wash these things out, and thus lesson the weekly wash.

CANNED PEACHES

Peel the peaches. If they do not peel easily drop in to boiling water for a minute or two, then put into cold water. Make a syrup of one cup sugar to two cups water and boil for five minutes. Pour this over the peaches, which have been halved or sliced, and boil for five minutes. Pack the peaches into sterilized jars, adjust the covers, screw tight, then loosen a half turn. Put a couple of layers of brown paper in a baking pan or sheet, put the jars on this and place in an oven of 300 degrees for 40 minutes for pints and an hour for quarts. Tighten the jars while hot. Do not invert as this destroys the vacuum which helps seal the fruit.

PEACH MARMALADE

6 Lbs. peaches, 4½ lbs. sugar, 2 oranges, 1 small bottle marachino cherries.

Peel the peaches and put them and the oranges, rind and all through the grinder. Add the sugar and boil until thick, about an hour. Add the cherries cut in pieces, and the juice, and boil for ten minutes longer. Bottle in sterilized jars and seal. This recipe was requested. It uses considerable sugar but a little of it goes a long way. I like it to serve with crackers and cheese, or to fill small tarts.

Price Control Notes Interest Housewife And Business Woman

Extra Sugar Allowed For Cooking Apples

Apples pies and apple sauce need not disappear entirely from Canadian menus, according to the latest ruling of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board which now permits housewives to buy, in addition to their coupon ration of sugar, one pound of sugar for each eight pounds of early apples now on the market.

The sugar is obtained by means of a purchase voucher similar to that used to get sugar for preserving or jam making.

Office Workers Safe under Bobby Pins Order

Canadian girls, whether they work in offices or elsewhere, will find less snap in bobby pins and hair pins manufactured now, — in fact, according to information from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board — metal hair pins and bobby pins will be more like paper clips in the future.

This seems like a break for stenographersographers and other ofographers and other office workers whose desks usually contain enough paper clips to protect their curls for a year to come.

The order covering beauty aids to "woman's crowning glory" has been made to conserve vital metal needed for war purposes and from now on low carbon steel wire will take the place of high carbon steel wire in the manufacture of hair pins.

In addition, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has restricted the manufacture of metal hair pins for twelve months commencing July 1st. 1942 or any subsequent twelve months period, to 50% of the tonnage manufactured in the calendar year 1941.

Another feature of the order, which presumably will be welcomed by the owners of boyish bobs, is that no manufacturer may produce any metal hair pins more than 2" in length.

London, (CP) — Miss Phyllis Harrop, 38-year-old Lancashire civil servant, who witnessed the Hong Kong atrocities and reported to the British government, has returned to Britain.

FEW HERO NAMES FOR WAR BABIES

British Parents Not Abiding by Old Custom of Other Wartimes

Edmonton, Eng. (CP) — Few Winstons, few Franklin Delanos, no Stalins nor Temoshenkos—how styles do change where baby-naming is concerned, says Walter Grimaldi who ought to know.

As registrar for Edmonton. Grimaldi keeps a record of the names of new babies in one of Britain's largest registration districts. This war is not like others, says he recalling the fancy handles that once befell unwitting babes when wars put names into the news and lent them high distinction. This time parents seem to have forgotten that good old wartime custom of picking names for their kiddies from the headlines.

Now, during the South African war, says Grimaldi, it was almost an affront to patriotism not to perpetuate through bestowal upon members of the bawling generation the names of such as Sir Redvers Buller and Lord Roberts. Youngsters by the dozens grew up answering to Redvers and Bobs. And in the First Great War, fond, patriotic parents called their babies Douglas Haig and Joffre.

But somehow English mothers now, despite the war and the constant reminders of the names of its great and famous, christen in terms of Hollywood. Grimaldi's records are scribbled all over with Marlenes, Gretas, Clarks, Tyrones and Judys.

He approves . . . at least he thinks it's better not to give a baby girl a name that war made famous. "It dates her," he declares. Anyway, Timoshenko Brown would sound funny for a girl.

Try Special Diets For Women Workers

British Food Scientists Work To Improve Wartime Meals

London (CP)—Special diets to maintain the health of women engaged in dangerous work in Britain's war factories are being worked out by food scientists. When experiments have been completed it is expected the Ministry of Food will grant additional rations to thousands of women. At present extra milk is supplied women engaged in certain industries and it is likely further concessions will include meat, to provide more protein.

Quick Potatoes For Complexion

British Food Ministry Gives Some Pointers on Bright Eyes

London (CP)—Health tip from Dr. Charles Hill, Ministry of Food Expert: "A clear complexion, a bright eye and glowing appearance are maintained by eating potatoes."

Another of Dr. Hill's points was; "Middle-aged spread is due to an excess of input over output and I need not tell you where nature stores its surpluses. Now, when I speak of potatoes containing Vitamin C, I mean fresh, quickly-cooked potatoes, not the murderous concoction known as 'bubble-and-squeak' (fried with other vegetables)."

Here's what he told women about cooking cabbage which during the winter months is Britain's main vegetable dish: "Give it 10 minutes. Don't keep cooking it until you hear the old man's key in the door."

WOMEN ARE AGREED MANY THINGS WRONG

Witham, England, (CP) — The Women's Institute of this Essex village organized a "quick fire" debate and it has unanimously agreed that: Magistrates are generally too old; everyone should retire from public life at 65; the food controller should have women to advise him; "make-up" should be allowed but scarlet nails are abominable.

No Prescriptions for Rationed Products

Contrary to the idea that has become current, doctor's prescriptions do not authorize ration officials to increase amounts of tea and coffee, it was stated in Montreal last week.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board in reaching this decision first consulted the Department of National Health at Ottawa which stated that since tea and coffee have no nutritional value they could not be considered necessary. If patients need caffeine, one of therapeutic agents in tea and coffee, it can be prescribed for them in tablet form.

Get away from the crowd when you can. Keep yourself to yourself, if only for a few hours daily. — Arthur Brisbane

TOUGH FOR GIRLS TO SALUTE RIGHT WITHOUT SMILING

An Impish Look in their Eyes, Says an Officer in Western Training Camp

Vermilion, Alta., Sept. 8 (CP)—Capt. Renee Haweis of Victoria, officer commanding the Canadian Women's Army Corps' new training centre here, describes life in the army "glorious but it isn't all beer and skittles."

"We liken our organization to a machine with each girl as one of the component parts," she said. "All must conform to the rules to make the machine run properly."

"They give up an awful lot to come into the army but we feel they gain a great deal more," said Capt. E. L. Moilliet of Calgary, one of the staff. "They aren't in the service long before they realize they are being educated to a wider outlook in a vital defence measure. But, I've never yet found a woman who could salute without smiling. Her face may be a graven image but there's an impish light in her eyes."

The centre is staffed by 150 officers, non-commissioned officers and privates, responsible for the maintenance of each class of 350 trainees who spend four weeks learning the fundamentals of army routine. The first class of girls came from cities and towns and villages of the west and started training early in August. At the end of four weeks they are sent back to their military districts for more advanced training before being posted to military depots to release men for other duties.

In Agriculture School

The centre is located at the former Alberta school of agriculture in this town, 100 miles east of Edmonton. On arrival at the centre each recruit is given a complete examination by a military physician and is then fitted with uniforms and accessories valued at more than $125.

Squad drill is conducted daily by Sgt.-Maj. F. N. Purkis, formerly of Edmonton, who confided, "These gals are all right. I can get more honest willing work out of women on the parade ground in half an hour than out of men in half a day."

For the trainee showing the greatest efficiency and best grooming, a proficiency prize is given at the end of her training. Eight silver cups have been presented to the commandant by Vermilion merchants for inter-company and inter-platoon competition as well as for personal neatness on parade.

The girls take 10 and 12 mile route marches, come home, shower, have lunch and set out for another couple of hours drill to be followed by lectures. The training puts weight on the thin ones and slims down the plump ones.

On fine days the girls have lectures under the trees on the lawns. Drill and lectures are usually over at 4 p.m. A 36 hour leave is granted once a month. Sunday is a day of rest and the girls are free after church parade. A Y.W.C.A. War Services canteen can serve 500 women. A spacious and comfortable lounge is furnished with chesterfields, chairs and maple tables and equipment for table tennis and other sports.

TOO TIRED TO SHOP

Manchester (CP)—Home Secretary Morrison says never mind extending shopping hours for working women, rather give them time off to shop, because, mostly they're too tired to shop when their work day is done.

NO BAYONETS FOR WOMEN

Nottingham, Eng. (CP) — After a see-saw debate Auxiliary Territorial Service officers agreed that women should not be expected to use bayonets in warfare but should be shown how to use light weapons, in event of invasion.

BOY BABIES IN WARTIME

Stockholm (CP) — Latest birth statistics from several countries indicate an exceptional surplus of boys born during the past year, which is corroborated by the reports of all maternity hospitals in the Swedish capital.

Duck Hunting Season Dates

Dates for the hunting of ducks and geese are announced by the Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, as follows:

Ducks (other than Eiders), geese (other than Brant), Rails or boots.

In Quebec (Southern District as defined below), September 26 to December 4, inclusive.

Throughout the remainder of the Province, September 12 to November 20, inclusive.

The Southern District of Quebec is that part of the Province lying between the International Boundary and the line described as follows (pertaining to this area): . . . From Montreal westerly, along the central line of Route 8 to its intersection with the middle thread of North River at Lachute; thence following the middle thread of North River downstream to its intersection with the thread of Ottawa River; thence upstream along the middle thread of Ottawa River to the Interprovincial Boundary opposite Pte. Fortune; thence southerly along the Interprovincial Boundary to its intersection with the International Boundary.

The possession of migratory game birds killed during the open season is allowed in Quebec until March 31 following open season.

Bag Limits

Ducks, 12 in any day; Geese, 5 in any day.

The penalty for violation of the migratory bird laws is a fine of not more than three hundred dollars and not less than ten dollars, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or both fine and imprisonment.

A NEW ZEALANDER TELLS IMPRESSIONS

One thing that always surprises us is how little you people know about my country. I have seen people stand and look at me in amazement when they realized that I spoke English!"

"What are some of the chief differences that you notice between your country and Canada?"

"Well, for one thing, you people all drive on the wrong side of the road! That is awfully hard to get used to. Then, your streets and foot-paths are, for the most part narrower. Of course your Main Street here in Lachute and the Main Street in Winnipeg are exceptions. (Further questioning revealed that 'foot-paths' are sidewalks.) Another thing that gets us is the size of your country. I got on the train out West and went to bed and got up several times and still I had not arrived in the East! Incidentally, our railroads are all owned by our Government and our coaches are somewhat more luxurious than yours. We also have the narrow gage tracks. They are about six inches narrower than around here. Another thing we are quite proud of is that we have State medicine. We have free medical care, free hospitals and free dentists. Every child is taken care of in the schools, in so far as their teeth are concerned. These services are paid for by a special Security Tax. We seem to be a sort of 'guinea pig nation' experimenting with some of these more or less new ideas. I must say, though, that they certainly seem to work very well."

"I suppose that you people drive the same automobiles as we do?"

"Yes, we have all the American-made cars, radios, refrigerators and other such things you have here. There was one thing, though, that was new to me here, and that is Coco-Cola. I had never tasted it before. It is not made in New Zealand, although I hear it is becoming known down there since the arrival of American troops. The same thing applies to hot-dogs and hamburgers. I know of one man who tried to introduce hamburgers in my home city but they didn't seem to go over, and he didn't last three months."

Sgt. Frost was conducted through the various industries in this town and showed keen interest in all that he saw. He was particularly interested when he happened to see a bag of wool at Ayers Limited that came from a town he knew in New Zealand.

He: Darling, please say the word that will make me happy for the rest of my life.
She: Okay, I won't marry you.

LACH. HIGH SCHOOL CLOSING EXERCISES

Short addresses were given by Inspector L. J. King, Jas. W. McGibbon, M.P., the Rev. W. B. Rosborough and the Rev. B. J. Thorpe.

Gratification was felt in the success of the graduation class during the past year, when 17 out of 23 students graduated, while three failed in only one subject. The outstanding student of the year was Miss Beryl Underhill, who ranked eleventh in the whole of the province, with 873 marks out of 1,000. She was awarded the E. H. Wilson prize for highest percentage; the George Héon prize for qualities of leadership; the J. S. Giles prize for mathematics; the W. H. Ayers prize for Oral French; S. S. Campbell's prize for English Literature; W. S. MacKimmie's prize for English Composition, and the McBurney Latin prize.

Miss Yvonne Bedard, Grade X student, won the following honors: The Bellingham Scholarship; Commissioner's prize for the highest mark; W. S. MacKimmie prize for English Composition; J. S. Giles Mathematics prize; S. S. Campbell English Literature prize, Jas. McGibbon Science prize; the McBurney Latin prize and the E. K. Wilson Chemistry prize.

Miss Lorna MacDonald of Grade IX, received the Chairman's Prize for the highest marks in Grades IX, X and XI.

The national anthem concluded the meeting.

Those on the platform were: Commissioners Wilson, Campbell and Jackson; (Commissioner J. W. Gall was unable to be present); Jas. W. McGibbon, M.P., Rev. W. B. Rosborough, Rev. B. J. Thorpe, Dr. L. MORE CAMPS FOR BRITISH BOY SCOUTS DESPITE WAR

Notwithstanding the war Great Britain continues plans for increased outdoor activities for Boy Scouts. A new camp site, Bradley Wood, of 44 acres near Huddersfield, was recently opened by Sir Percy Everett, the Deputy Chief Scout, in the presence of the Mayor of Huddersfield and 2,000 Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs. The site will provide camping facilities for some 15,000 Scouts in the area.

DELEGATES CONFER WITH FIN. MINISTER

Another rumor was adequately dealt with by the Minister; a story was circulating to the effect that the government was contemplating freezing of War Bonds and Certificates, so that people could not sell them — which had resulted in many people selling their bonds. "This rumor did much harm, "the Hon Minister said, "and no government can afford to default its obligations, when there are over 1,500,000 purchasers of these bonds who are voters."

Mr. Ilsley opened his remarks with a brief talk in French.

Questions were fired at the Finance Minister by delegates at the meeting; these were mostly to do with the new compulsory savings plan. One question was: "When will these savings be redeemed . . . when the firing ceases or when the armistice is signed?" Answer: "These 1942 savings will be returned two years after the official end of the war, while savings for 1943 and 1944 will follow in consecutive years."

Another question of interest was: "How will the government keep check of and receipt these savings?" Answer: "In September 1943, the government will issue a receipt or certificate to each saver, stating they have a certain amount to their credit, and that 2% will be given for interest."

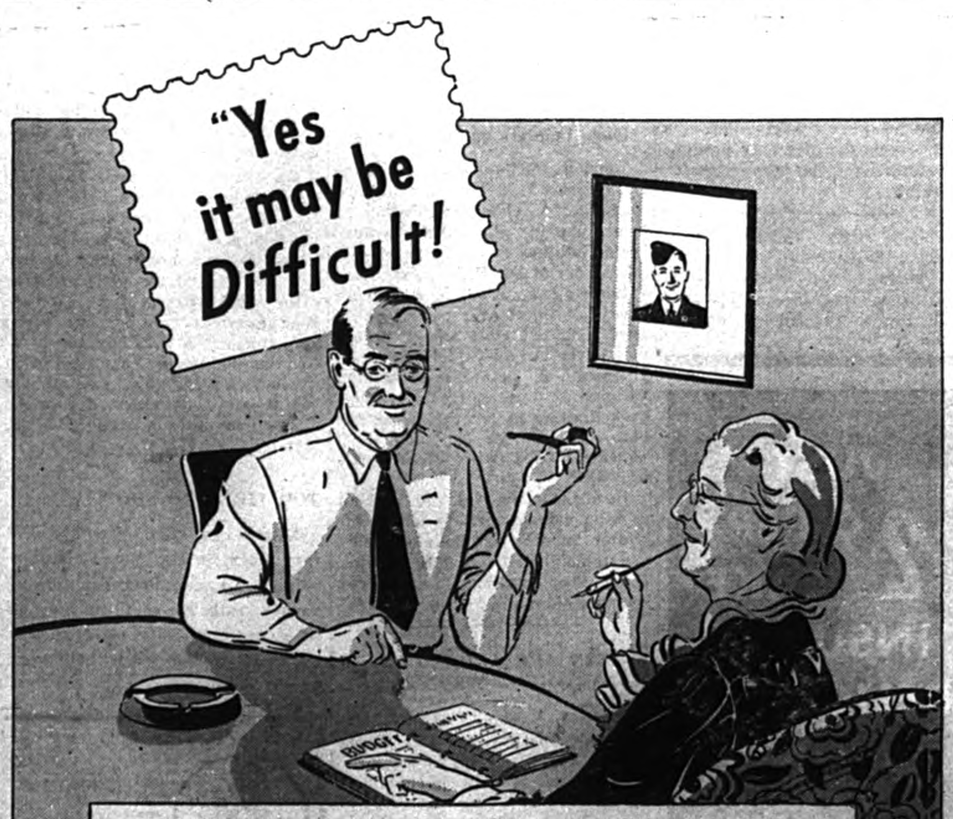

During the discussion, Mr. Tremblay suggested that the Canadian Government follow the idea of the United States, in selling "Baby" Bonds for $18.75, which will be redeemed at $25. at maturity. He also advocated the necessity of making a patriotic appeal, possibly with the term "Commando Bond", for the selling arguments were getting more difficult as the years go by. Mr. Ilsley accepted the suggestion and promised that in future this may be made use of.

Others attending from Lachute included Messrs. Germain Filion, Alex Bothwell, A. Guenette, Thos. Milnes, Chas. L. Duncan, George Héon, Jack Gorman, Jacques Beaudoin, H. M. Lavigne, Thos. Ayers and A. Rochon.

Philippe Brais, K.C., of Montreal, made an appeal in French, in which he described the sufferings of the people in Europe under the power of Nazi Germany. He asked for more sacrifice on the part of Canadians, and said that no sacrifice that we could make was comparable to the horror and disasters suffered in the Rotterdam bombing, and to the thousands in Britain mercilessly attacked in air bombardments.

Mayor Cherrier, of St. Jerome, thanked the Hon. Minister on behalf of the City of St. Jerome for the honor of this visit, and hoped that he would again be in their midst.

"Yes it may be Difficult!"

But let's keep on buying
WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES"

With higher income taxes and compulsory savings, every Canadian will be called upon to give up something. But these sacrifices will be small compared with those the boys are making overseas. So let's keep up our purchases of War Savings Certificates. Remember — one certificate a month from every worker in Canada's pulp and paper mills means over four hundred thousand certificates a year.

NEW LOSSES AT SEA AND FULL DIEPPE CASUALTY LIST POSTED

Heavy Toll on Canadian Troops as Dead, Wounded and Missing Total 3,350

Price Ceilings in Effect One Year; New Regulations Come Day by Day

By ALLAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Sept. 16 (CP)—Naval Service headquarters at Ottawa announced Monday that the Canadian patrol vessel "Raccoon" was lost and its entire complement of four officers and 34 ratings listed as "Missing, Believed Lost at Sea." The "Raccoon" was one of a number of vessels escorting a convoy, but neither the place nor details of the sinking were given.

The loss of four merchant ships with 10 members of their crews was also reported.

Canadian casualties in the Dieppe attack aggregate 3,350 dead, wounded and missing, the Department of National Defence announced Tuesday. The announcement was made along with a list of the men officially reported missing whose names have been held from publication until now for security reasons. Together with casualties previously reported, the list brings the total number of known dead to 170, including 40 officers. Wounded number 633, including 41 officers, and missing total 2,547, including 130 officers.

Home-Front Restrictions

Marching with full strides as they begin their fourth year of war, Canadians are braced for new restrictions on the things they may buy and the services they may enjoy.

A forerunner of the new and inescapable controls which will curtail civilian privileges common in peacetime was the appointment of Robert F. Chisholm of Toronto as head of a new section of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to administer the government policy of curtailing or eliminating non-essential civilian activity.

This policy will release manpower and material resources for wartime needs and co-ordinate the program of curtailment undertaken by Ottawa.

Facing Canadians is the prospect that before the war is done practically everything they buy, except perhaps grain and field products such as wheat, of which there is an abundance, will be under strict control with a limitation of the quantities the individual may purchase.

One Year in Review

This week, Canada reaches an anniversary in price control regulations. Unknown to the public at the time, the framers of price control legislation used the period from Sept. 15 to Oct. 11 last year as the basis for the establishment of price ceilings. Under regulations effective on Dec. 1, those selling to consumers could charge no more than the rates of the basic period.

With a few exceptions due to unusual circumstances, that ceiling has held, and the majority of products bought by Canadians on Sept. 15 this year will show no change from the price of a year ago.

With the price ceiling holding, Prices Board officials say frankly that the problem now is supply, not price. In association with defence and other government departments, the Prices Board has cut down supplies of non-essentials and even the abundant stores of essentials are no longer available even to the man or woman with a full pocketbook.

Some New Orders

The supply restrictions do not come in bulk, but they come almost day by day and they will continue to come. In the second week in September — for example — there were orders placing restrictions on the sale of railway watches, requiring that an old tube be turned in before a new tube of tooth paste or shaving soap could be obtained, revising sugar rationing prices for processors of frozen salmon and certain other fish, and giving the government complete control over the sale of new typewriters.

In seeking to curtail or cut down non-essential civilian activity, the industrial division of the Prices Board will give first consideration to the type of manpower and other facilities which can most readily be transferred to the war effort.

Beavers Build Dam On Half Moon Lake

Brownsburg, Sept. 15 —

Albert Blute reports the discovery of a beaver dam on the inlet of Half Moon Lake. He saw the dam recently on a Sunday outing, but did not see the animals themselves, probably because of their nocturnal habits.

The dam is about 100 feet long and four feet high, built of mud and branches to form a job as solid as concrete. Beaver breed during the winter so there should be quite a large colony there in the spring.

This is said to be the first time in about half a century that beaver has been found in this region, once considered excellent trapping grounds for this species of animal.

Stores Here Will Be Closed On Wed. Afternoons

MERCHANTS GATHER TO AGREE ON SCHEDULE OF BUSINESS HOURS

DECISION ON PUBLIC AND BANK HOLIDAYS TO BE OBSERVED

A large assembly of Lachute retailers met at the town hall Tuesday evening to agree upon store closing hours for this town, so that business concerns dealing directly with the public shall be governed by uniform regulation. The merchants, numbering around 60, appointed Stuart McFaul as chairman and decided upon the following schedule of business hours for local storekeepers:

Monday	9 a.m.	to	6 p.m.
Tuesday	9 a.m.	to	6 p.m.
Wednesday	9 a.m.	to	12 noon
Thursday	9 a.m.	to	6 p.m.
Friday	9 a.m.	to	10 p.m.
Saturday	9 a.m.	to	10 p.m.

This schedule—drawn up for Lachute in accordance with a widespread move to curtail shopping hours out of consideration for employees and to save electric power consumption — provides for a 56-hour week. A special schedule applies to butchers, on account of earlier delivery requirements, as follows:

Monday	8.30 a.m.	to	5.30 p.m.
Tuesday	8.30 a.m.	to	5.30 p.m.
Wednesday	8.30 a.m.	to	12.00 noon
Thursday	8.30 a.m.	to	5.30 p.m.
Friday	8.30 a.m.	to	9.00 p.m.
Saturday	7.00 a.m.	to	10.00 p.m.

The agreement in the above instance is that no butchers' clerks shall be retained on business between 12 noon and 1 p.m.

An exception to the Wednesday afternoon closing is provided for dealers in builders' supplies, tools and construction hardware. These items may be sold to war industries and to contractors on war work, on early closing days.

Public Holidays

A debate followed on the observance of public holidays, and by a large majority the merchants voted to close on all public and bank holidays.

While these matters were agreed upon by the businessmen, they will not become effective until passed by council.

Similar Move in Brownsburg

On Thursday evening of last week, a meeting under the chairmanship of H. Pariseau was held at Brownsburg. It is understood the schedule for that village does not conform exactly with the business hours recommended for Lachute. However, before these measures are adopted, it is expected changes may be made to keep them uniform in both centres.

Teachers Welcomed by Women's Institute

The Lachute W.I. held their fall opening meeting on Tuesday, when a full report of the convention at Macdonald College was heard. After completion of the business session a reception was held for the teaching staff of Lachute High School. The guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, and thanks to the Institute members were extended by the principal, Mr. H. Bradford. Refreshments were served during this pleasant social hour.

High Ranking Pro's Booked for Invitation Tournament Sunday

SECOND ANNUAL EVENT OF ITS KIND ARRANGED BY LACHUTE GOLF CLUB

Lachute Golf Club is holding its second annual Invitation Tournament next Sunday, September 20. Games will commence at 9 o'clock in the morning, and purses of $75, $50 and $25, making a total of $150, will be awarded to the winning professionals, while a $50 war bond and other valuable prizes will be awarded to the successful amateurs.

The tournament will consist of 18 holes. For the amateurs the Quebec Provincial handicap or a handicap signed by a Club professional will be accepted.

Stanley Horne, of Islesmere, visited Lachute Golf Club on Monday, and appeared well pleased with the improvements that had been made and the excellent condition of the course.

Entries for the tournament have already been received from Stanley Horne, of Islesmere; Arthur McPherson, of Marlborough; Jerry Proulx, of Montreal Fairway; Buddy Clark, of Hampstead; Diamond Gauthier, of St. Jerome; Charlie de Bryne, of Laval; and Jack Archer, of Municipal. Frank Grant, of the Country Club, Charlie Murray, of Beaconsfield, and Jimmy Patterson, of Kanawaki, may also attend.

With so many of the top-notch professionals from Montreal and district taking part in this golf meet, the play should be interesting to watch and competition keen.

Local Drive In Salvation Army Appeal for Funds

In the Salvation Army 'home front' appeal, Lachute and vicinity have been allotted what appears an easy objective, namely $400; it is confidently hoped subscriptions here for this worthy cause will far exceed the stipulated quota.

The local drive has been entrusted to W. M. Cottingham, Lachute businessman, who undertook a similar job for the Army's 'war services' appeal two years ago. The drive commences on Monday, September 21, to continue through next week. Canvassers are now being approached, but any who can assist in this voluntary work are meanwhile asked to notify Mr. Cottingham.

The scope of the Salvation Army's efforts in the cities and communities of Canada is generally known. In peace-time it is a widespread factor, bringing aid and relief to thousands in distress; now, in war-time, there is an added demand on these services, to maintain the morale, comfort and decency of the underprivileged at home.

The Army's appeal is the subject of an editorial on page 3. Our readers' attention is directed to this paragraph, and their generous response is solicited in the contribution of funds.

Low Water Level In Ottawa River

Official reading at the Carillon Canal office last week was 10 feet 5 inches where the river enters the canal, a matter of 9 inches below normal for this time of year, according to A. M. Derrick, superintendent of the canal. Mr. Derrick attributed the drop to an unusually dry summer season.

On the subject of water levels, Oliver Lefebvre, vice-chairman of the Quebec Streams Commission—when asked if there had been any diversions of water from the Ottawa which might have contributed to the unusual drop—replied in the negative.

In the Lake of Two Mountains and other parts of the lower Ottawa, fishermen frequenting those waters are finding "islands" they never saw before. The few people who are still running outboard motors are breaking shearpins and even propellers on barely submerged rocks at spots over which they have driven merrily and safely for years. In many places with gently shelving shores the water has receded to an extent that makes existing wharfing fasilities useless. Many summer residents, hustling to get their boats made fast prior to leaving their cottages for the winter, found the task unusually difficult with twice as much beach as usual to negotiate. Many of these residents declared the water to be at its lowest level in recent years.

BRITISH ANTI-AIRCRAFT CREW IN ACTION AT MALTA, MOST BOMBED ISLAND

The resistance of anti-aircraft defenders to the incessant raids to which the island of Malta is subjected, has earned them world admiration. They scored over a century during the month of April — a record. Such is their deadly accuracy that enemy airmen declare that "the only way to subdue Malta is to sink it". A Scottish Bofors crew stripped to the waist and ready to "hand it out" to raiders over Malta.

West End Store Robbed During Saturday Night

GOODS VALUED AT $500 REMOVED FROM PREMISES OF H. M. LAVIGNE

Taking advantage of a heavy fog in the west end of Lachute late Saturday night and early Sunday morning thieves broke into the general store of H. M. Lavigne and made off with goods to the value of $500.

The robbery was discovered Sunday morning by the proprietor who immediately got in touch with the Lachute police. Provincial police were also called in on the case.

The robbers broke a padlock on a pair of steel gates in front of the store, then with a glass-cutter made a large hole in the glass door through which they entered. They broke upen the safe to find $20 and also took with them the entire stock of silk stockings and several men's winter coats.

From the safe they took war bonds and insurance policies, which were found by police on the office desk. It is believed that the thieves were studying these documents, deciding which to take and which to leave, when a falling tie-rack disturbed them and they fled.

No New Developments Reported Since Bank Hold-up at St. Hermas

$3,000 TAKEN IN ARMED ROBBERY AT BANK SUB-BRANCH

Investigation into the $3,000 armed robbery of the Banque Canadienne Nationale at St. Hermas has revealed no clues as to the culprits — according to information available here. Provincial Police have questioned residents of the village concerning two strangers who committed the holdup on Wednesday night of last week.

According to Arthur Guilbault, manager of the sub-branch, he returned to his home at about 10 p.m. on Wednesday. Due to train schedules and the number of local farmers who do business with the bank, the office is opened after the supper hour for their convenience.

When he returned, Guilbault told the police, he found his wife lying apparently lifeless and bound in front of the open office safe. When he bent down to see what was the matter with her, one of two men he had not noticed in the office pointed a gun at him and ordered him to the cellar, Guilbault said. He was bound and gagged, his wife carried down beside him and the door to the cellar-way locked. He told police that one of the armed men spoke in a gutteral voice. It was his impression he said, that the safe had already been looted when he reached the house.

Guilbault claimed he was in a position to recognize the men if he should see them again.

After fighting his bonds for about an hour, Guilbault freed himself. A call to a physician to attend his unconscious wife and to the Provincial Police followed.

Mrs. Guilbault, middle-aged wife of the bank manager, suffered a serious case of shock and was unable to give any vital information. When the police arrived at the scene the woman was still unconscious, although she had not apparently been struck by the bandits.

ASHLEY COOPER RESIGNS

P. Ashley Cooper, director-general in the Ministry of Supply, has resigned for health reasons. During Their Majesties' visit to Winnipeg in 1939, Ashley Cooper, as governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, presented the King with skins and elks' heads, the company's traditional tribute to a visiting monarch.

Registration of Women Reported As Satisfactory

A report from the National Selective Service officer in Lachute, J. Romeo Charron, indicates that the registration of women in accordance with government order is proceeding satisfactorily. The office, situated in the Court House building here, is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. this week for the registration of all women, married or single, between the ages of 20 and 24 inclusive (i.e., those born between Jan. 1, 1918, and Dec. 31, 1922). The registration as applying to Lachute, Lachute Mills and Brownsburg residents, is not ordered according to alphabetical arrangement; women may register any day of this week.

Early registrations were slow, according to Mr. Charron, but doubtless as the ladies became aware it was compulsory and that there was no drastic inquistion connected with the interview, many more have come forward and a fair number of registrations were reported yesterday.

Exceptions to this order are women who are members of religious orders or the active service forces, inmates of hospitals, mental or penal institutions, or who are now employed and in possession of Unemployment Insurance Commission registration cards. All others whether married or single, must register.

Lt. G. Drysdale Officially Missing

Following the official release of Canadian casualties in the Dieppe raid, the fate of Lt. Gordon L. Drysdale, Canadian Armored Corps, is somewhat more definite, but no more reassuring than was previously implied. Drysdale, a Lachute boy and former teacher at the local High School, was reported missing in a communication from one of his friends who took part in the action. A cablegram received here by his relatives was followed by a letter, in which his chum described how Drysdale had been heard over the wireless, directing operations from a tank; the wireless messages, according to the writer, continued for two hours and then ceased.

The official lists of missing men were withheld, pending possibility that some of the Canadians might make their way to safety in unoccupied country. Then the complete casualties were subsequently released by Ottawa, on Tuesday last, and Lt. Drysdale's name was included among the missing men.

Mayor Joins Army

One of the youngest mayors in this province, a resident of St. Sauveur, has just joined the Canadian Active Army. Eleven years ago this young man, Armand Leduc, qualified as cadet instructor under Lieut.-Col. E. Mackay-Papineau, at St. Johns, Que., and this time he will again be under same officer at the district recruiting centre of the Army, in Montreal. Mr. Leduc is also qualified with the St. Johns Ambulance Corps, and in joining the Active Army he stated that he hopes his fellow citizens will follow his example in serving their country.

FIRST NARRATIVE IS RECEIVED FROM EDITORS NOW OVERSEAS

The Bomber Press Visits England

By Walter R. Legge, Editor of the Granby Leader-Mail, in collaboration with C. V. Charters, Sec'y of the C.W.N.A.

First of a series of articles on the Canadian Forces in England, written especially for the weekly newspapers by their two representatives now on tour in England.

To pay a visit to England under present day conditions, it is first necessary to have government permission or invitation. In the case of the recent visit by Canadian editors the trip was the result of a suggestion by General McNaughton that a party of Canadian Editors should be given an opportunity to see just how the Canadian forces were living and training overseas.

Two weekly editors were asked to become members of the party and the choice fell to C. V. Charters, managing director of the C.W.N.A., and Walter R. Legge, immediate past president of the association.

After brief preparation, the party assembled in Montreal, and prepared to leave for England by Bomber Ferry Command.

Preparation for the trip gives the first definite feeling that one is entering the war zone when the "briefing" takes place. This is a long and serious procedure involving a very complete check of your passports, life details and credentials. Following the clerical details, the prospective voyager is fitted with parachute harness.

This is a heavy and cumbersome affair which has to be fitted quite tightly and leaves the victim feeling that he is something like a trussed ox. After receiving full instructions on how to operate the parachute, measurements are taken for the flying suit which is necessary in most flights which are made at varying heights from 10,000 to 25,000 feet.

Next comes fitting and instructions in the use of an oxygen mask, also necessary at these great heights.

Baggage, which is limited to 40 pounds, is weighed in, and after some further details, the passengers are sent back to the hotel with instructions to await a call.

On comparing notes after this routine, we found that nearly every member of the party was told a different story as to when we might start. Some were told that there was no plane available while others were told to be ready at 8.30 the next morning, and others were instructed to expect a call sometime in the middle of the night.

This is probably part of the plan to keep movements as secret as possible. Actually the cars called for us at the hotel early next morning.

The plane arranged for us was a large four-motored Liberator, which had been fitted with two long benches for us to sit on. Seven of our party had left a couple of days before, but other passengers with us made the party up to 13, a fact which did not seem to bother anyone.

Several in the party were going into the air for the first time and could not escape a feeling of trepidation. Those big machines give a feeling of tremendous power and it did not seem strange to be far above the clouds in a few minutes.

The amount of room in the plane was surprising, and while there was not enough space for everyone to lie down, it was not really crowded. The noise is deafening, and prevents any lengthy conversation. There is really nothing to do but read, but it did not seem a long time before we were over Newfoundland. This is the real way to see just what the country is like, and the plane coming down to about 5,000 feet, we had a fine view of the country, and could really appreciate the amount of water in this island.

It is a country of inlets, bays, lakes and trees, making a beautiful sight from that height. Settlements are few and far between.

Four hours and a half after leaving Montreal, we were gently set down at a huge airport in Newfoundland. Here we were given a pass and taken to Eastbound Inn for dinner.

A New Angle to Rentals Applied In Local Lawsuit

JUDGE UPBRAIDS LANDLORD, "GOOD FAITH" CLAUSE IS INVOKED IN HEARING

JUDGMENT BY MAGISTRATE IN LACHUTE CASE CREATES JURISPRUDENCE

The district Commissioner of Rentals, Magistrate Donat Lalande, has handed down a decision which may have an important bearing in all future petitions by landlords to oust tenants under the provisions of Ordinance 108 of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, as regards termination of leases.

Briefly, the judgment is to the effect that no landlord in bad faith can seek the ouster of a tenant under the provisions of Ordinance 108. The particular clause in the General Provisions of this Act states that "No person shall make any false or misleading statement or representation in or in respect of any notice, demand, application, return, statement, undertaking or any other document required or permitted by or under this Order to be given, made, or filed; and no person shall dispossess or evict a tenant under any false or misleading representation or pretence whatsoever."

On June 3, 1942, James Colford, the landlord, sought a writ to expel Robt. McGoldrick, his tenant, alleging that although the tenant had, on April 20 last, been served with a notice to vacate on June 1, he had failed to give a subsequent notice of renewal, and therefore could not invoke the provisions of the Ordinance.

Plaintiff, the landlord, further alleged that the premises were "needed" in good faith and would be used as a residence for his daughter and her husband.

Defendant pleaded that he had given written notice previous to the landlord's notice to vacate; that the landlord was manifestly in bad faith since, previous to the writ for ejectment, he had verbally invoked three different motives, in three different notices at three various dates, to force the tenant to vacate—and that moreover the proceedings were irregular.

At the hearing three witnesses were heard on behalf of the plaintiff, including plaintiff's wife and son-in-law, Rene Dion. In his judgment the judge castigated the latter two witnesses, adding that the major part of their evidence "did not make sense." It was evident, he said, that their one purpose was to eject the tenant, and to attain this end they had advanced several arguments in succession, most of which had not been proved by the evidence. And because plaintiff and his wife had not shown good faith, because the reasons invoked in plaintiff's notice of April 20, 1942, had not been proved, and the major portion of the motives alleged by plaintiff did not "hold together", the judge dismissed Colford's demand for ejectment, with costs.

Georges H. Heon appeared for McGoldrick, the tenant.

Fatally Injured on Laurentian Highway Near Ste. Therese

Hit-and-Run Victim Found Unconscious at Roadside

Believed victim of a hit-and-run automobile, Adjutor Marcotte, 51, of Ste. Therese, died at Ste. Jeanne d'Arc Hospital, Montreal, on Sunday afternoon less than 20 hours after the accident had occurred.

According to information given by relatives of the victim, Marcotte was found mortally injured on the Laurentian highway, about 9.30 o'clock Saturday night.

He had apparently been walking along the highway, holding an umbrella over his head to protect him from the rain, when he was knocked down by a passing automobile. Taken to the Montreal hospital, he died without regaining consciousness.

Govt. Departments to Encourage Raising of Sheep on Farms

The Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture have decided to assist farmers in establishing new flocks of sheep.

Where a farmer who has not been keeping sheep, but decides to establish a new flock of at least 15 ewes, the Federal Department of Agriculture will loan this farmer a registered ram for a period of two years.

Where a group of farmers will purchase 50 or more breeding ewes, the Federal Department of Agriculture will pay the transportation charges provided the distance is not over 200 miles.

In districts where a group of farmers decide to purchase ewe lambs the Provincial Department will supply lambs at $8 each, but each farmer must purchase not less than five nor more than 15 lambs. Payment must accompany the order.

When a farmer can locate good ewe lambs in his community and purchases not less than five nor more than 15 lambs, the Provincial Department will allow a bonus of $2 per head for such lambs purchased.

It must be clearly understood that these policies of the two Departments apply only to farmers who have not been keeping sheep on their farms. All applications must be made before September 30.

Further particulars may be obtained from the local Agronomist.

E. Howard Smith Is President of Canadian Pulp and Paper Assn.

E. Howard Smith

C. R. Whitehead Now Special Senior Vice-President

Following the resignation of R. L. Weldon as President of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, on assuming the duties of Newsprint Administrator by appointment of the Canadian Government, E. Howard Smith, Vice-President of Howard Smith Paper Mills Limited, has been elected President of the Association. Mr. Weldon automatically becomes Senior Vice-President on leave of absence, and during the period he is Newsprint Administrator he will take no part in the activities of the Association.

C. R. Whitehead, Vice-President, Consolidated Paper Corporation Limited, has been elected Special Senior Vice-President to perform the functions that normally would have been those of Mr. Weldon.

F. G. Robinson, Vice-President, Canadian International Paper Company, a past President of the Association, continues as one of its Vice-Presidents.

There is a special appropriateness in the election of Mr. Smith, whose father, the late Howard Smith, founder of Howard Smith Paper Mills Limited, was one of the originators of the Association and was one of its early Presidents.

"Paratroops" in Training in India

Somewhere in India British and Indian soldiers are undergoing an intensive course of training which will turn them into hardened and efficient "paratroops" . . . Indian troops watching the instructor during a "dragging" demonstration with a parachute.

SHE COMES ROUND YUKON MOUNTAINS "WHEN SHE COMES"

Built in Gold-Rush Days, Difficult Yukon Narrow-Gauge Railroad Revamped for Wartime Service

Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, (CP)—The White Pass and Yukon railroad, started in the gold rush days of 1898 and since then almost forgotten, is experiencing an overnight comeback.

Mind you, there's no set time schedule for the W.P. and Y. trains right now but there's plenty traffic. A heavy mixed train in this war effort will take 19 to 20 hours making the 110 mile trip from Skagway to Whitehorse. The best answer to the question of when a train will arrive is: "She'll be coming 'round the mountain when she comes."

Construction of this three-foot narrow- gauge railroad was completed in 1901. The line twists and climbs through scenes of unsurpassed rugged grandeur from Skagway, Alaska, to Whitehorse, the Canadian Yukon Territory.

Built in Mines Rush

Mining was the life blood of the White Pass and Yukon for many years, but in the days of the depression the general slump reached out to the far north and the historic road felt the pinch. Business fell off and just before the United States entered the present war, traffic was so light that one Airlines airplane, operating once or twice a week, between Whitehorse and Skagway could handle nearly all the traffic, except for heavy freight.

But then came Pearl Harbor. Alaska and the great north-west became advanced battle areas. The governments of Canada and United States perceived that communications to and from Alaska must be improved. The Alaska highway was started and the W.P. and Y. made an overnight comeback.

Rolling Stock Scarce

Rolling stock was at a premium as long wartime trains rolled through lofty canyons from skagway to Whitehorse. The traffic was just too heavy. Officials of the road scurried about the entire continent to obtain additional equipment. Finally they succeeded in obtaining a few box cars and flat cars from some narrow gauge lines in northwestern United States. A locomotive works agreed to construct a limited number of small width engines.

Literally swamped with traffic, the road is experiencing a difficulty common in many parts of Canada and the United States at the present time — lack of trained personnel. The line has never had a very large permanent staff and the new rush has brought on a serious labor shortage crisis.

So steep are the grades, sometimes five locomotives puff and pant up over the lofty passes with 19 cars. Occasionally, locomotives are dropped when approaching the summit of White Pass. Then one remaining engine has to take one car at a time over the hump. Because of extreme temperatures it is necessary to leave wide spaces between the joints of the rails to take care of expansion and contraction in sudden weather changes.

NAVY GUNNERS ON FREIGHTERS

20,000 of Them; Some Are on Every Corner of the Seas, in Defence Work

London (CP) — In a big map-decorated office in London's busy West End, theatre and night club district, British naval officers keep tab on the movements of navy and arm gunnery experts attached to merchant ships sailing on the seven seas.

Naval officers and ratings, some of them from the Royal Canadian Navy Volunteer reserve, and Royal Marines — 10,000 strong — are members of the D.E.M.S. — Defensively - Equipped Merchant Ships. Serving with them are 10,000 soldier-sailors, members of the Maritime Regiment. They are at sea months on end, sometimes touching scores of ports. A rash of red dots over a world map in the London Bureau indicates ports at which officers have been stationed to visit merchant vessels when they dock, obtain reports from the masters, inspect the ships' guns and the men who man them.

Not Telling

The number of gunners attached to merchant ships varies according to the size of the vessel. There are many aboard troopships, the exact number a secret for security reasons. Coasters which sail the Straits of Dover under the chalk cliffs with muzzles of German coastal guns also carry gunners.

R.N.V.R. gunnery officers have been placed in command of gun crews on larger vessels. Ratings attached to smaller craft work alone, but are subject to the orders of merchant navy masters. "Most of the boys like this life," said a staff officer. "Only rarely is an application made for transfer back to general service. With the freighters they have freedom and they have proved they can be relied upon when an emergency arises."

Thirsty Sailors Call for Water

East Coast City Supply Is Cut Off and Canteen Left High and Dry

Halifax, Sept 15 (CP) — It will probably never be duplicated, so the Crow's News, publication of H.M.C.S. Cornwallis here, had to tell the story of how 200 husky and thirsty sailors sat around in a service canteen and begged for a drink — of water.

The North End Services Canteen here was the scene and recent failure of the city water supply the cause when for days faucets turned on in the North End of Halifax refused to yield even a trickle.

Two hundred sailors eat in the canteen regularly, three times a day and for two such days they existed on water rations that rivalled those of the Ancient Mariner. A dairy finally solved the problem, lugging water from wells to the canteen in milk containers until city pipes once more gushed water.

STE. AGATHE FARMER BURNED TO DEATH IN AN AUTOMOBILE

'Brother Witnesses Tragedy, But Unable to Assist Trapped Victim

Ste. Agathe, Sept. 13 — Albert Viau, 27-year-old farmer, was burned to death here Saturday night before the eyes of his brother, Gerard, 29, who stood helpless to aid him only a few feet away.

The tragedy occurred in a shed at the rear of the Viau home. The brothers were attempting to repair their automobile when an oil lamp held by Albert ignited his clothes. His brother was unable to get to him although he suffered burns on his hands in vain attempts to rescue the victim. Both the auto and the shed were destroyed by the fire.

Although the shed was used as a garage, it was not large enough for the auto, with the result that a few feet of the front of the car protruded from the entrance of the shed. The entrance was so narrow that once the car was in the shed there was just enough room for one person to squeeze through between the side of the auto and the doorway.

The younger of the two brothers was half-in the auto, his feet on the ground and his body leaning into the front section of the vehicle, under the steering wheel, when the lamp which he was holding tipped and drenched him with flaming oil.

As the fire broke out Albert started to scream for help. Gerard, who had been standing outside the shed, tried vainly to squeeze through the narrow opening to get to his brother. Giving this up, he climbed aboard the engine hood and broke the windshield of the auto with the hope of hoisting his brother out of the flaming car, but the heat drove him back.

Ste. Agathe firemen arrived on the scene a few minutes later, but were unable to do anything to save the victim. The shed and auto were a mass of flames. Viau's charred body was found in the wreckage after the fire had been extinguished.

Dr. J. R. Brais, of St. Jerome, district coroner, held a brief inquest which resulted in a verdict of accidental death.

With the R.C.A.F.

By Flt.-Lieut. T. C. McCall, R.C.A.F.

One of the features of the R.C.A.F. display at the Quebec Exhibition was the appearance of two outstanding French Canadian airmen, Squadron Leader Jean-Paul Desloges and Pilot Officer Joseph-Aurele Pilon. Both wounded in action overseas, the two fliers explained the workings of four planes—a Fleet Finch, a Harvard, a Kitty Hawk and an Avro Anson—to crowds who found the Air Force exhibition highly interesting.

Recruiting for the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F. continues at No. 14 Recruiting Centre, Quebec, with many points in the province represented in the latest group of "rookies" to be sent to Rockcliffe and Toronto for training. Among the recruits were M. F. Y. Begin, Quebec; H. A. Daigle, Ste. Julie; M. I. R. Rioux, Three Rivers; M. R. Dumont, Tourville; A. M. Taylor, Chaleurs; I. E. McFall, Lachute Mills; A. A. Hodgins, Shawville; M. J. A. Hamel, Murray Bay; M. L. J. Bouliane, Chicoutimi; and G. Y. J. Turgeon, Quebec.

Onetime Davis-cupper and now a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, Flying Officer Walter Martin failed to show much more than lack of practice when he participated in a Red Cross charity match at the swanky Queen's Club in London recently. The 200-pound former Canadian doubles king, at present attached to R.C.A.F. Headquarters overseas, teamed with Flight Lieutenant Dan MacPhail, Scottish R.A.F. titleist, but the pair were ousted from the meet by Lieut. A. G. N. Lee and Flt.-Lieut. A. Wittman, Polish Davis Cup performer. Scores were 7-5 and 6-2.

It was the Torontonian's first tourney appearance in Britain, and, although his service still packed much of its old zing, his timing and manoeuverability were away below par.

"Semmingly the most peaceful man on earth", is the description of Sergeant-pilot George F. "Buzz" Beurling by a British United Press correspondent who interviewed the young Verdun air ace at his Maltese base recently. This "peaceful" R.C.A.F. pilot was last week awarded a bar to the Distinguished Flying Medal, which he won a short time ago, and the citation noted that he had brought down "nine more enemy planes since he was awarded the D.F.M. in July, 1942." Mr. A. Hitler no doubt wonders now whether young men like Beurling, who now has 18 Nazi ships to his credit, mightn't be of more use to him than some of his bloodthirsty supermen who've spent their lives scorning the "soft and peaceful" citizens of the Democracies.

Rare Sugar Found

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 9 (AP)—A rare sugar, which until recently cost $18,000 a pound and is needed to make vitamin B-2, now can be had in almost unlimited quantities from the liquor waste of paper mills.

The sugar is D-Ribose. The waste is sulfite liquor. Just a small fraction of the liquor now poured into streams will supply the world with all of this sugar it needs for all now-known purposes.

The report was made to the American Chemical Society today by Dr. Jonas Kamlet of the Miles Laboratories, New York.

A Voice That Shouts

The majority of Canadian citizens are on the march again. With heads erect, eyes front, their ranks are skirting past luxuries and non-essentials, on their way to purchase the new Victory Bonds.

Every man and woman in that parade is performing an extra war service for his country. He is setting a powerful example that will attract other citizens into the ranks of the majority.

In these war days, we can no longer afford to spend any more than is absolutely necessary for good health. Our sailors, soldiers and airmen are crying for every penny of our earnings to make their striking power more and more potent. Every time any one citizen answers that cry — resolutely turning his back on the temptation to buy something he doesn't really need — his example helps materially to create solid public opinion.

When we shut out our short-sighted, selfish inclinations so that we can buy Victory Bonds, we not only take a direct part in the war — we perform an invaluable service in crystallizing a strong united Canadian voice that shouts,

"Nothing matters but Victory!"

Salvation Army on the Home Front

The splendid war work of the Salvation Army is known so well as to need no eulogy in these columns. In common with other war relief agencies, the Army has brought comforts to both our fighting forces and civilians wherever these services have been needed. The welfare work in Canada is less well known to the public, but the Army has for the past 60 years been working among the sick and needy.

The war has not lessened the need for the Salvation Army on the home front. If anything the need has increased. While each branch of the Army work is worth special commendation, just to list the different undertakings will give the public a general idea of the worthwhileness of these items. The Army operates Homes for Unmarried Mothers, (last year it cared for 1,567 mothers and 1,042 babies), Homes for Children, Fresh Air Camps, Hostels for Men, Prison and Police Court Work, Reclamation of Materials, Homes for Aged Women and Children, Evangelical Work, Hospitals, League of Mercy, etc.

These are some of the specific things the Salvation Army does on the home front. But they do not include the countless personal services of the Army of Mercy to thousands by the wayside. For example, it has been estimated that last year 1,366,421 Canadians materially benefited from this Christian service work in addition to the multitudes given spiritual help and inspiration. That is the Army's work — now as ever, it must go on. With YOUR help, it will.

While the Government of Canada has assumed the cost of financing the direct war work of the several agencies operating in and out of Canada, the funds to carry on the civilian work here in Canada must come largely from public subscriptions. You will have an opportunity to show your interest in the coming Salvation Army drive.

The Sphinx Smiles

The reception prepared by the British for Marshal Rommel and tendered him when he launched his latest attack is the right sort of compliment to pay so wily and well equipped a desert fighter, says the Christian Science Monitor. It shows that the British now have a true measure of their opponent, that they know what it takes to beat him, and that on this occasion they had what it takes.

The news from Egypt is encouraging but it does not tell the whole story of the battle there. That battle is being fought not only on the desert, but on the sea routes over which both participants must bring up supplies and reinforcements. The Nazis are still advantaged by routes shorter than the British or American. Moreover, the fighting in Russia is part of the story, since any major development in the Nazi favor on that front might release planes Rommel needs so badly.

For the present the news is as good as we had any right to expect it to be. Recollection of other chapters in the battle for North Africa, however, will prevent prognosticaters from finishing Mr. Rommel on paper before he has been finished in the field.

Hazards of Prairie Farming

Give thought to the heartbreaking experience which many Saskatchewan farmers must have suffered when they went out to inspect crop damage from Thursday night's cyclonic storm— says a recent editorial in the Regina Leader-Post.

Imagine their feelings when they found fields of grain flattened and battered irreparably into the ground, which only a few hours before had bid fair to yield 20, 30, 40 or more bushels to the acre at a price more favorable than at any time since the war began.

For months these farmers had been watching their grain come steadily on toward maturity. In many instances, it was the first big crop prospect in years. For weeks they must have been thinking about the long-needed things which could be bought after the harvest, debts liquidated, taxes paid, some money left over for Victory Bonds and a nest-egg in the bank. It must have been a warming prospect for them . . . And then, bang out of the blue came Thursday's storm, rending everything before it, sweeping all those roseate plans into the discard almost in the twinkling of an eye.

There was plenty of damage in the city, too, but the demolition in Regina was a different sort. Buildings were smashed and services were upset. These things can be repaired. But the crops which were devastated are gone for good, with only the hope for better luck next year remaining.

Rendering the farm experience all the more anguishing was the proximity to harvesting operations . . . so near and yet so far! Seldom has there been a more discouraging example of the extreme hazards of prairie farming.

Fortunately the storm was not general. There will still be plenty of grain in total yield. But hundreds of farmers will have suffered severe loss.

Can't Canada Use Bennett?

Viscount Bennett, one of the most distinguished of our exiles, of which we have perhaps too many, is back among us. And it is illustrative of our Canadian inability to use the best weapons which democracy provides for us that no one as much as suggests that he should remain among us.

Mr. Bennett, despite certain temperamental defects, was a great Prime Minister; is a great Canadian. Yet at a time when we talk of "total war", when there is mortal challenge to our existence, when we speak of using all our intellectual, spiritual and physical resources to meet the common foe, no one suggests using him. He belongs to the wrong party.

Mr. Churchill belonged to the wrong party; was practically orphaned of all parties. He was the guerilla warrior, the stern critic of Baldwin and Chamberlain. Yet when war came Mr. Chamberlain's first act was to call on Mr. Churchill, and when still deeper crisis came the whole British nation took him gratefully as Prime Minister.

In the United States Mr. Wendell Wilkie belongs to the wrong party; was two years ago the antagonist of Mr. Roosevelt for the presidency. Today Mr. Roosevelt is using Mr. Wilkie, calls him to his side, sends him abroad on a great, vital mission for the common good of the Republic.

Is it only in Canada that we refuse to use the greatest among our sons; that, war or no war, we must play the party game straight across the board?

WAR -- TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

By H. H. GORDON Canadian Press Staff Writer

THIRD BATTLE OF YPRES CONTINUED WITH SUCCESSFUL BRITISH ATTACK ALONG THE MENIN ROAD

Battling against terrific opposition and hampered by wretched weather conditions, British troops made important, though slight, gains in the Third Battle of Ypres 25 years ago. Smashing along the Menin Road Sept. 29, 1917, Allied soldiers after a dawn attack reached their objectives by midday and then repulsed German counter-attacks.

Subsequent operations resulted in the British obtaining command of the crest of a long belt of high ground overlooking the Flanders plain as the result of four months' fighting.

It was at this stage that the Canadian Corps under Sir Arthur Currie was moved to the Ypres Salient from the Arras sector to prepare for the great battle of Passchendaele. There on Oct. 26, 1917, they added to the laurels gained at Vimy Ridge earlier in the year and by their victory stabilized the Western Front for the ensuing winter.

The Third Battle of Ypres, started with the aim of laying the foundation for subsequent advances on Ostend and the great plains north of the Lys River, was only partially successful and gains were made at heavy cost. But the Ypres Salient, hitherto a weak sector of the Allies front, was extended to a point where it became a serious danger to the enemy.

Helped The French

The campaign, following that in the Arras sector, also brought relief to the hard-pressed French army in Champagne which appeared on the point of collapsing as a fighting force after the failure of its offensive on the Aisne earlier in the year.

After a 10-day artillery bombardment the Third Battle of Ypres started July 31 when substantial progress was made. Bixschoote, St. Julien and Pilchem Ridge were captured, but the more vital sector round Menin Road was repulsed. Two weeks later the second big thrust of the battle resulted in the capture of Langemarck.

Bad weather and the need for preparation delayed resumption of the attack on the Menin Road sector until Sept. 20. Then the Allied soldiers achieved success in a drive on a four-mile front, wiping the sheet clean after the initial failure on July 31.

Further thrusts on Sept. 26 and Oct. 4 were carried out over a battlefield that was virtually a morass. In these actions the main ridge east of Ypres was captured with Gheluvelt, Polygon Wood and Broodseinde. Minor attacks early in October were followed by the great victory of the Canadians at Passchendaele.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Suggests Further Savings Possible

Sir:—Much public apprehension on the subject of the new tax and savings plan has been allayed by explanations in the press, and there is now every prospect the people of Canada will give whole-hearted co-operation towards the objectives the government has in view for the warfront, and the common welfare of the homefront. We are a free people; free people are an understanding people. As such, within the bounds of constituted law and order, we are at liberty to control our own destiny.

Also, we are obliged and can afford, even at extreme sacrifice to ourselves, to give collaboration to the prescribed policies instituted for our welfare by our elected rulers. To a great extent we are doing so. In many respects we are impatient at the government's lack of understanding that we can take it, whatever is required of us. We are even wishfully ahead of present government policy: viz—we favor the three-point rulings by Mr. Little, covering Selective Service; we favor the impending total ban from sectional strikes, lockouts, mallingering, and favor further tempo, of present personnel. We, unionized and ununionized workers, male and female, "can" take it!

We are expectant of and anticipating further compulsory savings features to comply with Mr. Ilsley's theory, that by nationwide restrictions on unessential spending, and public curtailment of the bare necessities of life, we shall at least stabilize, and probably reduce the cost of living.

Obviously the intentioned purpose of Mr. Ilsley's plan is to divert the excessive bulk of wartime earnings into tax savings and War Loan, and so more closely equalize "available" incomes for hitherto "available" necessities, and thus promote better balanced purchasing opportunity within the means of all classes.

Suppose that for the duration, either by voluntary or compulsory savings methods, pre-war basic "ratios" of relative incomes were re-established throughout industry: viz—(unskilled and semi-skilled wage rates approximately 50 per cent to 75 per cent of skilled rates). Also that for piecework and overtime, for all classes so employed, the weekly "available" income, be confined to a prevailing standard weekly rate, plus one-third maximum (pre-war basis). Any additional earnings above that maximum to be credited to worker, in war loan, deducted at source.

Such reasonable employee co-operative measures would go far towards attaining the objectives desired by Mr. Ilsley, and more nearly produce a common level purchasing power, and to the advantage of those not so well benefited in their respective vocations.

This month has enough household budget readjustments, with buying power over a wide field greatly reduced. Selective Service will necessitate manpower readjustments, closing down of unessential industries; and further government restriction on goods purchasable.

Based on pre-war C.O.L. index, most wage earners are now bonused 17 per cent or pre-war equality, to present "statistical" C.O.L. increase. The "actual" higher C.O.L. increase, is somewhat compensated for by increased industrial basic rates, above pre-war figures. Thus, those workers confined to the normal work week (50 hrs. no piecework or overtime) are living at relatively pre-war status, and little penalized by the new taxes (Savings portion deducted).

In many skilled trades, most intricate processings are not adaptable to piece work methods, and most fully skilled tradesmen, through shortage, are thus confined to intricate work, and subject to excess overtime, to the point of fatigue. This class of high earnings workmen have heavy, increased tax. T. Union and home obligations, and are habitually conservative with expenditure, and a great portion of their wartime excess overtime earnings is not of much material advantage to them.

It is the mass production field, of the "repetitional processes," via newly trained unskilled labor, that expansive piecework procedure and highest earnings are attained, out of all proportion to normal incomes. Piecework process, time and cost settings are arbitrary factors. In early war stages, learners are process time and cost based, within reason, to a full working day duty. Experience and adaptability, quickens this output, with consequent either excessively high daily earnings, or malingering over part of the workday. This fault possibly lies with the shop foreman, and process time setters, allowing and retaining too liberal a time factor and cost unit, for the respective repetitional processes, where learners' adaptability has speeded up to possible greater output. Shop foremen and process setters are usually equally high salaried, by percentage bonuses on production output. Possibly Mr. Little's third point of stepping up present personnel efficiency, means drastic revision of these mass, high cost repetitional parts assuring still reasonable wage rates, for a full time working day, and greater output.

By far the largest amount of the estimated 66 per cent augmented earnings to Canadian workmen, as quoted by Mr. Ilsley, is earned and distributed within this piecework field of labor. Drastic revision, would probably cut costs to government, and vastly increase output.

The writer, employed by huge ordanance works over the Great War years, had opportunity of wide observation among tens of thousands of war workers, and the experienced the beneficial results of such periodical revisions, towards greater production, at lesser costs to government.

With this class of income controlled, despite lower incomes, our revised household budgets will provide the essential necessities of life, and provide a well protected savings account, and above all, an active partnership, in line with our wonderful fighting boys, smiling through on the road to victory. What more could we wish for?

DEATH

DAVIS—At her residence, Hatley, Que., on Sept. 4, 1942, Christina Adam, beloved wife of the late Joseph A. Davis, of St. Scholastique, Que. Interment made at Lachute, Sunday, Sept. 6.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

McCREA—The family of the late Atcheson McCrea wish to express their heartfelt thanks to all kind friends and relatives for the beautiful floral offerings, acts of kindness and sympathy in the loss of their father.

IN MEMORIAM

CLARK—In loving memory of a dear wife, Jennie Grace Marshall, who passed away September 18, 1941.—Ever remembered by Salter.
"Forever in my thoughts"

CLARK—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away September 18, 1941. — Remembered by Bella, Percy and grandchildren, Joan and Jean.

"This day brings back sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest,
For those who think of you today
Are those who loved you best."

McINTOSH—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George McIntosh, who passed away Sept. 13, 1923.—Ever remembered by his wife and daughter, Audrey.

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall,
You had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.

The voice is mute and still the heart
That loved us well and true,
How bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more;
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

ST. ANDREWS EAST

Interesting Speaker at W.M.S. Gathering

The W.M.S. of the United Church met at the home of Miss Mary Pitcairn on Tuesday afternoon, September 15. Miss M. L. Lamb, the president, led the devotions. After a short business session Miss Lamb introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. John Batchelor, O.B.E., who spoke of his experiences among the Ainu folk who dwell in remote hill villages of Western Japan and are forbidden to speak or learn the Japanese language, upon pain of death. The gospel truths were accepted and had brought happiness to many, who are not without understanding. According to the speaker, their superstitious beliefs centered around the bear . . . There were five visitors present at the meeting.

Attends Sessions In Montreal

Mrs. Archie Graham spent several days in the city last week. As vice-president of the Ottawa Valley W.M.S. of the United Church, she attended an executive meeting of that body on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Graham's years of service in that capacity will end with the annual meeting in February, when it is expected that the nominee, Miss M. L. Lamb, of St. Andrews East, will take over the office.

Mrs. Graham also attended some of the sessions of the Canadian Authors' Convention, including the dinner given the authors at the "Cercle Université" by the Quebec Government on Saturday noon, also the annual banquet in the Windsor Hotel Saturday night, and the Themis Club luncheon on Friday.

It is interesting to note that the new Dominion president of the Canadian Authors Society, Dr. Watson Kirkconnel, has family connections in this district — his grandparents at one time having lived in Grenville and moving later to Hawkesbury; a number of his cousins are found among the Allison and Higginson families around Hawkesbury, and Vankleek Hill.

PEACE IN STAMPS IN LONDON GROUP AS DIEPPE RAGED

Canada's History from Viking Days Traced in Philately in Empire's Bombed Metropolis

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Sept 15 (CP) — The sands of Dieppe churned up in battle and in a Piccadilly Circus hotel a select group talked of history-making stamps and things.

Come hell or high water, the War-Time Stamp Club holds its bi-monthly meeting. And the night that Canadians were coming back from Dieppe, as crowds outside queued up in a drizzle of rain to buy newspapers with the latest news of the biggest raid of the war, a group of 12 sat in a darkened room and heard a lecture on Canada and stamps, illustrated with lantern slides.

Nugent M. Clougher, native of Toronto, a consulting engineer resident in London, spoke of Canada from the days of the Vikings and took his audience, including two women, through the years by projecting copies of various issues of stamps on a screen.

Stamps as Usual

There was no talk of war. It was the relaxation hour for the stamp lovers. The club's concession to war is in its name plus the fact that philatelic members of the armed forces of the United Nations are invited to attend meetings and discuss their hobby. "There must be lots of stamp collectors in the forces," said Mr. Clougher. "We want to make them feel at home!"

A stamp expert, Mr. Clougher said the lecture came about after he pondered how far a talk on a country could be illustrated exclusively by postage stamps, which bear such facings as maps, outstanding events in history, and likewise of the country builders.

He added that although it was an experiment as regards the philatelic background, the lecture was intended as a contribution to the knowledge of Canada. In addition it was designed for "the spreading of a better understanding of its history and growth culminating in the enormous war effort now being exerted . . . "

HARRINGTON

Mrs. D. Clarke, of Mabel, spent part of last week visiting Mrs. L. M. Marshall and Mrs. R. Swail.

Mrs. George Paul, of Lachute, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. McNeil, last week.

Mr. Russell Gauley, of the R.C.A.F., visited at the home of Mrs. M. McCulloch on Tuesday of this week, on his way from Toronto to Nova Scotia.

Miss Isobel Fraser, of Lachute, visited with her sister, Mrs. J. D. Shaw, over the week-end.

The monthly meeting of the United Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Murray McCulloch on Tuesday.

Mrs. D. McNeil and Mrs. H. McCutcheon left on Saturday evening to join their husbands in Welland. They were accompanied by Miss S. Young, the former's sister.

Farm Sale Draws Crowd, Good Prices

As many as 2,000 people attended a farm sale at Keswick, Ont., reports a recent issue of the Newmarket Era. North Gwillimbury Red Cross ladies sold refreshments and boosted their funds nicely.

Sale proceeds were in the neighborhood of $5,400. Grade Holstein cows sold as high as $145, and averaged $118 to $120. Horses were a little slow moving. A colt sold for $110. Sheep were as high as $19 each.

Implements brought good prices. A binder, bought three years ago for $300, sold for $295. A rebuilt tractor sold for $395.

Government Bonuses to Encourage Sheep Raising

(Additional provisions in the government measures to encourage sheep raising, as outlined on page two, have been forwarded by the district agronomist since the printing of this article. The additions are noted hereunder).

The Quebec Department will pay the following bonuses on rams purchased by farmers:

A registered ram aged 2 or 3 years and classified XXX in 1942, $8.00.

A registered ram lamb or yearling, classiifed XXX in 1942, $6.00.

A registered ram lamb, classified XX in 1942, $3.00.

Applications for these bonuses must be sent to the local Agronomist before the end of December, 1942.

Mouse's Dinner One Pound Note

And Rodent Mailed from Malta to Britain as a Post Office Problem

London (CP) — Packed in a tin box, a dead mouse came from the George Cross island of Malta to the General Post Office in London with a note reading "inside this animal are the remains of a 1£ Bank of England note. Will you please send me another in its place."

The sender meant another bank note, of course (not a mouse), and it was just another problem for the post office which, as agent for the Bank of England, undertakes preliminary inquiries into cases of mutilated currency. Every year it pays out approximately £500,000 ($2,250,000) to replace such notes.

One man sent along some small fragments with the explanation he had left a note on a table for the insurance collector. The house parrot escaped from its cage and had a real money meal, he explained. A London woman sent in half a note and asked that it be replaced. Records showed, however, that someone had sent in the other half 22 years ago and that the claim had been met at that time.

In a recent raid on a South Anglican town a woman had several £1 notes all but destroyed by fire. Charred fragments were forwarded to the General Post Office. After examination it was confirmed they represented the amount claimed and the money was replaced.

Lifetime Resident of St. Jerusalem Survived By His Six Sons

The Late Atcheson McCrea

After an illness of four months, the death of Atcheson McCrea occurred at his home in St. Jerusalem on September 8. He was born on October 26, 1854, in St. Jerusalem, where he had spent his entire life farming, until the time of his death. Mr. McCrea was married to Alice Eva Dorion, who predeceased him 14 years ago.

Left to mourn his loss are his six sons — Edward, Hector and George, of St. Jerusalem, Robert and Norman, of Lachute and Raymond, now with the Canadian Army overseas.

The funeral was held last Thursday. The service, conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, was very largely attended. Pall-bearers were Messrs. Edward, Stanley and Norman Boyd, Felix Dorion, William Walker and William Todd. The remains were laid to rest in Lachute Cemetery.

Thought must be made better, and human life more fruitful, for the divine energy to move it onward and upward.

Save Electricity!
With war putting a heavy extra load on our electric power supply, we all have a double reason to save electricity. So here are three economy tips on utensils that you will find useful in your electric cooking:
Use pots and pans that fit your heating units.
Use utensils with straight sides.
Use covers for surface cooking and be sure they fit properly.
You'll find these rules make a difference in your bills. And by saving electricity you help to keep our war plants working at top speed, too.

United C.G.I.T. Officers Elected

On Monday, the C.G.I.T. held their opening meeting in the United Church hall. Recital of the C.G.I.T. "Purpose" was followed by the singing of a hymn, a scripture reading and prayer.

Mrs. H. Jacobsen introduced the new Junior leader, Mrs. R. Percival. Election of officers for both Senior and Junior groups then took place, with the following appointments.

Senior Group—President, Hazel Ogilvie; secretary, Kathryn Langille; treasurer, Isabel MacVicar; social committee, Freda MacVicar, Helen Stewart; dramatic leaders, Lorna Giles, Marjorie Leggett; games leaders, Elizabeth Campbell, Helen Martin; handicraft leaders, Gloria Gillings, Mildred Townsend.

Junior Group — President Elsie Jacobsen; secretary, Joan McMahon; treasurer, Glenys Bradford; social committee, Gwen Clarke, Joan MacMartin; dramatic leader, Glenys Bradford; games leader, Evelyn Sly; handicraft leaders, Else and Marie Jacobsen; Pianist, Elizabeth Albright; cheer leader, Yvonne Bedard; librarian, Geraldine Noble.

The meeting closed with the singing of "Taps."

Rector to Assist in "Missionary Caravan"

Arundel — The annual harvest services in the Parish of Arundel will be held on Sunday, September 20. The minister, the Rev. E. Cecil Royle, will be in charge at all services.

* * * *

The. Rev. Mr. Royle, of Arundel, has been invited by the Anglican Diocesan Missionary Committee to assist in the work of a "Missionary Caravan" which will tour three city churches at the end of the month. Montreal at the end of the month. This caravan will be led by the Rev. Percy Powles, formerly of Japan, and will visit the churches in various towns. The members of the caravan will visit schools and organizations, giving lectures and showing slides and moving pictures on the missionary work of the Church in this time of war. Mr. Royle expects to be away from September 21 to September 25.

Harvest Thanksgiving At Morin Heights

Morin Heights — The harvest thanksgiving service at Holy Trinity Church was very well attended on Sunday evening. Donations of flowers, grain and vegetables from Montreal friends and local members were tastefullly arranged, and a real harvest spirit was in evidence.

The service was conducted by H. G. Baugh, M.L.R., who preached on "Thankfulness." Mrs. R. Seale was at the organ.

Christian Science Sunday Services

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 20.

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians 6: 16. "What agreement hath the temple of God with idols?"

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble . . . The heathen raged, the kingdoms were moved, he uttered his voice, the earth melted." (Psalms 46: 1, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The broadest facts array the most falsities against themselves, for they bring error from under cover. It requires courage to utter truth; for the higher Truth lifts her voice, the louder will error scream, until its inarticulate sound is forever silenced in oblivion. "He uttered His voice, the earth melted." This Scripture indicates that all matter will disappear before the supremacy of Spirit." (Page 97).

Application is the price to be paid for mental acquisition. To have the harvest we must sow the seed. —Gamaliel Bailey

Lachute Girl Is Bride In Ceremony at the Dalesville Bap. Church

Witham - Burke

At two-thirty o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Baptist Church at Dalesville, Que., the marriage took place of Alida Ernestine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Burke, to Mr. George William Witham, so of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Witham, Brownsburg, Que., the Rev. C. Hardie officiating. The church decorations were of ferns, gladioli and white asters. Mrs. C. Hardie was at the organ, and Mr. F. Hosgood sang "O Promise Me".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of pale pink made on simple lines, with a shoulder veil to match, and carried a cascade bouquet of gladioli.

Miss Elizabeth Burke, who was her sister's only attendant, wore a dress of pale blue, and a hat to match trimmed with pink roses. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and asters with maiden hair fern.

Mr. F. T. Witham, brother of the groom, was best man, the ushers being Ernest Witham and Harold Hewitt.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Lachute.

Newlywed Couple Reside in St. Andrews

Hyde - Hamilton

St. Andrews E. — On Friday evening, September 11, the marriage took place quietly of Miss Margaret Clare Hamilton, second daughter of Mr. Gilbert R. Hamilton and the late Mrs. Hamilton, to Mr. Ross Charles Hyde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hyde, at the Presbyterian Church — of which they, and their parents, are members.

The Rev. Dr. Wm. MacMillan officiated at the ceremony. Only the immediate relatives were present. The church was decorated with autumn flowers and ferns.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was unattended. She wore a gown of Alice blue crêpe with navy accessories, and a corsage of pink roses and bouvardia.

After a short honeymoon in the Laurentians, Mr. and Mrs. Hyde have taken possession of their home, which was purchased some time ago from the estate of the late Mrs. Alex Leroy and has been undergoing repairs and re-decoration.

A Pretty Wedding at Calumet Residence

Racine - Brigden

In the bay-window of the living-room, at the residence of her father, the marriage of Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Brigden, Calumet, Que., to Mr. Ernest Racine, son of the late E. Racine, of Calumet, was quietly solemnized on Saturday last, September 12, at 10 o'clock — the Rev. A. Hawes officiating. The house was decorated with white satin streamers, white dahlias and pink gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mildred Brigden, of Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. H. Racine was best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. W. S. Brigden, of Cobden, Ont., and Mr. R. Brigden, brothers of the bride.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of sheer in pale blue over taffeta, with bodice of lace, a shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion with coronet of pale pink flowers. Her bouquet was of pink roses and baby's breath.

The bridesmaid was similarly gowned in pale blue pointe d'esprit net over taffeta, with shoulder-length veil, and carried Picardy roses.

Mrs. Brigden, the bride's mother, wore a dusky rose printed ensemble with bronze corsage.

After the reception, the bridal couple left for a trip to the Laurentians.

When a young man vainly boasted, "I am wise, for I have conversed with many wise men," Epictetus made answer, "And I with many rich men, but I am not rich." The richest blessings are obtained by labor. —Mary Eddy Baker

Time Bombs

By "Vic"

We judge ourselves by the virtues we like best in ourselves—others by their most annoying faults.

* * *

We must change ahead of the times or we'll be changed by the times.

* * *

Morale will be measured by the speed with which we win the war and the depth of the foundations that we lay for peace.

* * *

An "ism" is a point of view
That gives a lot of trouble.
That simply means, for me and you,
Our efforts must redouble.

All of us must work to bring
An answer to the beastly thing.
Then we'll see its final spasm:—
The "ism" will become a "was'm"!

* * *

A nation blinded by its own materialism is easily seduced by the "isms" of our lands.

* * *

What are we fighting for?

The right to be able to do what we please? Or the pleasure of being able to do right?

* * *

Individual dispepsia soon becomes a national disease.

* * *

BUSINESS AS USUAL

London (CP) — Two societies, members of which have been out of an active job since war started, held their annual meetings this year as usual. They were the Royal Cumberland Youths and the Ancient Society of College Youths, bellringer associations. Members reported they were keeping in trim by ringing the bells with clappers tied.

Surgeon Operates Tied to Ship's Table

Took Out A Sailor's Appendix On Destroyer Lurching In Heavy Gale

London (CP) — Temporary Surgeon-Lt. Jack Houghton who, with his legs lashed against a table to keep him steady, performed an emergency appendectomy on a member of a British destroyer's crew as the craft lurched and plunged in a gale, has been mentioned in dispatches for distinguished service.

The operation lasted 90 minutes and the patient, a 21-year-old signalman, made a complete recovery. So fierce was the gale that none aboard the destroyer could keep his feet. The operation was performed in the captain's cabin and a signalling lamp provided the illumination.

ROLL OF WORLD'S FIRST BOY SCOUT TROOP

Following is the roll of the world's first Boy Scout Troop, organized at a camp on Brownsea Island, Dorset, on July 25th, 1907, by Lt.-Gen. R. Baden-Powell, for the world's first Boy Scout camp.

Scoutmaster, Lt.-Gen. R. Baden-Powell.

Helpers (today known as Assistant Scoutmasters), G. W. Green, H. Robson, P. W. Everett.

Orderly, Donald Baden-Powell.

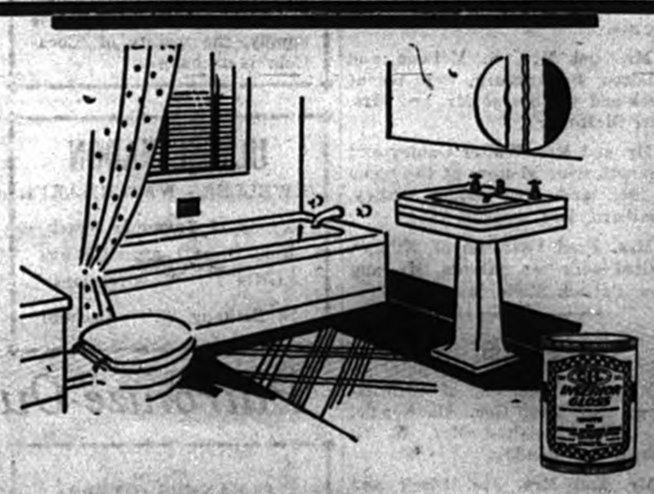

Wolves Patrol — R. Wroughton, Cedric I Curteis, John M. Evans-Lombe, Percy Medway, Reginald Giles.

Curlew Patrol—Hon. G. Rodney, Bertie Watts, A. Vivian, T. E. Bonfield, R. Grant.

Raven Patrol — Thomas B. A. Evans-Lombe, Arthur Primmer, B. Blandford, Hon. James Rodney, M. Noble.

Bull Patrol — H. Emley, B. Tarrant, Hon. W. Rodney, B. Collingbourne, Humphrey Noble.

The sole surviving member of the camp staff, "P. W. Everett," now Sir Percy Everett, and still active in Scouting as Deputy Chief Scout, paid a visit to Canada shortly before the war. The camp lasted from July 25th to August 7th, which is still the average length of Boy Scout camps.

OUR FAMILY went through hard times once. It taught us that you can't keep your independence without foresight and sacrifice. We learned what we could do without when we had to. So we know that a real nest-egg means more than just compulsory savings. It means all the War Savings Stamps and Certificates we can lay our hands on.

They're safe. And they're an investment every Canadian should make. Why? Because they help equip our fighting men to protect everything we've got. And because, too, they pay back $5.00 for every $4.00 we put aside now. We've got to win this war no matter what it costs — and we've got to prepare against the time when the boys come home.

Buy War Savings Stamps from druggists, banks, post offices, telephone offices, department stores, grocers, tobacconists and other retail stores. Certificates may be purchased for immediate delivery in denominations of $5, $10, $25 from Banks, Trust Companies and Post Offices.

(Intended for last issue)

Frontier W.I. Meeting

At the recent Frontier W. I. meeting, Nutrition and Health was the theme of the occasion. An interesting article was read from a copy of the Reader's Digest on the remarkable cure of infantile paralysis by the continuous use of hot-packs, by Nursing Sister Kenny, who has devoted her life to the work of demonstrating this method of treatment, which it is learned, leaves no crippled muscles in the wake of this dread disease. Articles on nutrition were also read, followed by a missing word contest and an old-time singsong. Mrs. G. Dugan and Mrs. R. Dobbie tied for first place, with Mrs. J. Black second, and Mrs. Beecher and Mrs. Maw a close third. Mrs. Maw and Miss Cleland favored with several songs in duet.

Community Field Day

The young men who usually attended the community field day were greatly missed. Some of them are in the Navy, some are Airmen, and others are in the Army in different divisions. But sports for the children were carried on, much to their delight.

The prize-winners were as follows:

Girls, 7 and under: Betty Girling, Myrtle Gaston.

Boys, 7 to 9: Donald Fuller.

Girls, 7 to 9: Eileen O'Brien, Carol Wishart.

Boys, 10 to 12: James Dorion, Maynard McKiddie.

Girls, 10 to 12: Mona McGain, Audrey Winslade.

Boys, 13 to 15: Robert Maw, Kenneth McKiddie.

Girls, 13 to 15: Betty McRae, Marjorie Dorion.

Married Ladies: Mrs. I. Fuller, Mrs. R. Gaston.

Married Men: S. H. Beecher, R. Gaston (tied)

Wheelbarrow Race: Maynard & Kenneth McKiddie; Marjorie & James Dorion.

Potato Race: Elspeth Wishart, Marjorie Dorion.

Three-legged Race (Girls): Betty McRae & Jean Dugan, partners.

Three-legged Race (Boys): Jas. Dorion & Maynard McKiddie, partners.

ARUNDEL

Mrs. Millage Mosher has returned to Halifax after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Percy Staniforth, for the summer.

Mr. Bulley, of Montreal, spent the week-end at his cottage here.

Mr. Percy Staniforth, of Windsor Mills, spent the week-end with his family here.

Mrs. Alfred Staniforth has returned home after visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. Miller, in Lachute.

This community heard with deep regret of the death, on Sunday evening, of Mr. Melvin Cooke, who had been ill for some time. Sympathy is extended to the family.

GRENVILLE NORTH

Mrs. T. H. Grey, of Montreal, called on her brother, Mr. Wm. Cousins, on Saturday. Mrs. Grey was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Brechin, Grenville Bay.

Mrs. Bernard McCart was in Montreal last week, accompanied by Mrs. Jim Derouin, of St. Philippe.

Miss Lilly Melter, of Brownsburg, spent the week-end at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. Stewart.

Mrs. I. Simpson, of Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wilson and Mr. Walter Wilson, of Montreal, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gauley on Sunday.

SCOUTS OF SMALL ALBERTA TOWN OFFER EXAMPLE IN SALVAGE

One of the outstanding examples of Boy Scout salvage work is that offered by the Scouts of Warner, Alta., with the help of members of the Group Committee. They gathered 36 tons of metal and two carloads of mixed salvage, for which $497.44 was received. Of this amount $225 was sent the Lethbridge Kinsmen's Club for its Milk for Britain fund, and $180 to the Y.M.C.A. for its overseas service.

CAMP CHIEF OF GREATEST ASSEMBLY OF BOYS, DEAD

The Camp Chief of the world's greatest gathering of boyhood, the Coming-of-Age International Jamboree of the Boy Scouts, held at Birkenhead in 1929, is dead. He was Brig.-General Godfrey-Faussett, C.B., C.M.G., F.S.A. The camp brought together 53,000 Boy Scouts from over 70 different countries and parts of the British Empire to mark the 21st birthday of Scouting and honor its founder Lord Baden-Powell.

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

SEPTEMBER

Thirty days hath September and they are not nearly enough. Isn't it a grand month? Usually we have good weather and the chilly evenings make us realize we must make the most of the sunny days. The food is good, with so many fruits and vegetables in season. Cooler weather whets our appetites and makes good things taste better. It is perhaps the busiest time of the year. The children have to be ready for the new school year and then there is all that pickling and preserving and jelly-making to do That pickling was a slip of the typewriter, alas, no pickling this year, unless we can manage to squeeze a little bit of sugar out of our ration. That is one thing we can do without. We may have to work hard in September, but what satisfactory work it is. I don't know of anything that gives a woman more pride and pleasure than to see her shelves filled up with good things preserved for future use. How thankful we ought to be to live in a country where we can have plenty to eat. Make the most of the September days of sunshine and do not let it be all work.

MARITIME PRICES

Prices for fruit and vegetables in the Maritimes are discouraging. In the last week of August here are some of the prices in the Saint John Market: Melons, not exactly small and yet not a medium size were 35 cents each; blackberries were 20 cents a pint box; apples were two lbs. for a quarter; carrots 8 cents a bunch; peaches were not to be had at all. The day before I paid 69 cents for a six quart basket of seconds. They were very small and about as much flavor as a piece of blotting paper. That same day firsts were 59 cents in Ottawa, which is at least 200 miles distant from the peach-growing district. The blackberries, carrots and probably the apples were home-grown. The spread between the price to the growers and the consumer is terrific. I don't know who gets it but certainly even in case of fruits and vegetables imported from Ontario, the freight does not begin to equal the difference in price.

THE NEW SCHOOL YEAR

Children need special consideration the first few weeks of the school year. This is specially true if they are going to a new school or having a new teacher. If any of you mothers worked before you married, look back and remember how you felt before you went to a new position. Sure, you were nervous, and a bit upset. Well the probabilities are that your children feel the same way, only they are not experienced enough to know what is wrong with themselves. Appetites are apt to be a bit fickle. Don't worry about it, and don't worry the child. That is one time when a little spoiling won't do any harm. Try to give the worried youngster things that he likes. Have a glass of milk and some cookies or a sandwich ready after school. If the child is a bit irritable, just shut your eyes and ears, and overlook a lot. It will soon be straightened out and come back to normal. A regular routine of sleep should be established, and this is not always easy after the greater freedom of the holidays. The excitement, and thrills, and pride of a child who is starting to High School are something to treasure. They have a similar thrill when they enter University, but I honestly do not think it is as great. And aren't they blase when they start the second year. How they look down from their superior heights on their friends who are just starting the first year. The ability to see the funny side of youngsters helps a lot to counterbalance the work and worry that even the best of them give.

GINGER PEARS

4 Lbs. pears, 3 lbs. sugar, 2 lemons, 4 ozs. candied ginger.

Pare and core the pears and put them through the grinder with the lemons and ginger. Add the sugar and boil until thick, about an hour. Stir frequently. Bottle in sterilized jars and seal.

PLUM JAM

Wash plums and put in kettle, then add water until it can just be seen. Boil for twenty minutes. Measure and add three-quarters as much sugar as you have plums. Bring to the boil for five minutes. After the sugar is added the pits will come to the top. Skim these out. Pour into sterilized jars and seal. This is really a plum jelly with the pulp left in and makes a delicious jam.

ICE-BOX GINGER SNAPS

2 Cups molasses, 1 cup shortening 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ginger, ½ teaspoon each cinnamon and cloves, 2 teaspoons (scant) soda, 4 cups flour.

Boil the first five ingredients for two minutes. Cool, then stir in the flour and soda sifted together. mix well and press in to a bread tin and leave in the refrigerator or other cold place until the next day. Slice thinly and bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees. This is a large recipe and half the quantity makes a good batch of gingersnaps.

NOW HOW IS IT MEATS ON HOOF NONE IN SHOPS

Farmer, Housewife, Packer and Butcher in A Four-Sided Argument on Wartime Lack

Toronto, Sept. 15 (CP)—There are cattle—and sheep—on a thousand hills throughout the land but the housewife calls a dozen butcher shops and the same general apology from all of them, "Sorry, Ma'am, we haven't a bit of fresh meat in the place but we can give you some bacon or cooked ham or sausages"—or something of a similar line.

Where's the beef, veal or lamb—or even the mutton of the good old days? The butcher points to the meat packers, the packers say the farmers aren't sending their livestock in. All three interests in the meat production industry say it's the war, the feeding of the fighting men, the food for Britain business and so on. Meanwhile the Canadian prairies boast the biggest boost in livestock growing for many years.

The butcher calls attention to the number of cattle bought at ceiling prices and sent back for fattening and hints at a "black market." Some packers accuse the farmers of holding back their cattle for a higher price, while farmers argue that government regulations leave them an insufficient margin of profit and threaten next year's production of beef cattle.

Case For Farmer

Dominion Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the emphasis being placed on shortages of beef experienced in city areas was not fair to the farmer who was holding his own and buying more cattle to supply a larger market next spring. That meant less beef now and more next year—a policy that had been advocated to prevent a repetition of shortage. Mr. Gardiner pointed out that if more beef was required any time in the next two years, it could be secured only by feeding cattle until they are six months or a year older.

Mr. Gardiner declared the Canadian farmer had done a good war job and had received less financial consideration than others. It was time the insinuations that he was getting too much for his produce ceased, the minister said. If farmers had to rush their cattle to market at low weights when feed was plentiful they would suffer financially.

Butchers Have Say

A. M. Murdoch, president of the local Retail Butchers' Association said some definite provision should be made to regulate the flow of cattle to market. "The authorities have been saying there is plenty of beef in the country," Mr. Murdoch said. "The only difficulty has been in marketing."

On the other hand, spokesmen for the producer-processing industries claim there is a shortage in Canada of cattle ready for market. They were of the opinion that breaking the price ceiling and raising the price might bring out some western cattle but would cause no heavy onrush to Ontario abattoirs because of insufficient heavy stock. Their reasons for the shortage were the strong exportation of feeder stock to the United States in the first two periods of the year, coupled with the lack of inducement for farmers to sell.

Stewart Brown, chairman of the Ontario section of the Beef Advisory Board said the Ontario members of the Board were not in accord with the principle of the government's Wartime Food Corporation's new plan to encourage sales of beef cattle. This plan provides that the corporation will be the only cattle exporter and will buy only when Canadian prices fall below certain levels. Meanwhile the newly-launched program to increase sheep-holdings in Ontario and elsewhere has resulted in the holding back for breeding stock of lambs ordinarily marketed.

British Women Play Vital Part in Shipbuilding Industry

Thousands of women workers are taking the place of men in Britain's vast shipyards on this most vital job of the war. They help to build ships to bring food to Britain and to carry supplies and weapons of war to the various battle zones . . . Picture shows a British woman shipbuilder, Miss Betty Crawford, cutting steel plates with an oxygen and gas cutter.

Boom in Babies Taxes Hospital

Los Angeles, Sept. 14 (CP) — Hospitals have had to reduce the period of residence in maternity cases because of crowding due to a "baby boom." With the influx of war workers and service men, plus an accelerated marriage rate, births so far this year are 14,750 against 9,737 for the comparable period in 1941.

Fairbanks, Alaska, (CP) — Up this way where they once used gold dust for currency, coppers are so scarce the price controller has ruled that maximum price means "adjusted to the nearest nickel."

"God's greatest gift to women," says a writer, "is economic independence, and the second is rouge." . . . and she usually uses the second before setting out after the first.

SHE LIKES HORSES MORE THAN PEOPLE

16-Year-Old Girl is Trainer's Best Help and She'll Be A Veterinary

Camden, N.J., Sept. 14 (CP) — A 16-year-old high school girl who prefers horses to people "because they never let you down and they don't answer back," is one of the better exercise "boys" at Garden State Park race-track.

She's Shirleye Rose Stanley, of Bristol, Pa., owner of a thoroughbred herself and protege of John Slavin, who has been a trainer for 22 years and has horses from a half-dozen stables in his charge.

A remarkable pair of legs, stronger than those of most boys gave Shirleye her chance to get into the work she loves. She developed them by toe dancing and ice skating while recovering from the effects of asthmatic croup in childhood.

Her first job daily is a gallop on Steel Ship, her brown mare and one of her two constant companions at the track. The other member of the triumvirate is Fellow, a brown collie-like mongrel. Shirleye says there's complete understanding among the three of them. She calls Steel Ship Mommie.

"She was born with something in her hands, her touch, I guess," says Trainer Slavin. "It makes her a success with horses. You either have it or you haven't."

Shirleye will follow in the footsteps of the man who introduced her to horses, Dr. Edward J. Laing, Bristol veterinarian, and study veterinary medicine in college after she completes her high school studies in another year.

EVEN GOLDFISH NEED VITAMINS

Boston, Sept. 14 (CP)—You've heard a lot about vitamin deficiencies lately. But did you know that all living things need vitamins? When your azalea plant withers and dies, it's probably because of a vitamin deficiency. If you see a fox with a bad case of jitters, or one that is losing its fine pelt, it's because he isn't getting all the vitamins he needs. And goldfish suffer nervous breakdowns. At least, so they say.

DELVING DEEPLY FOR WOMANPOWER IN OLD BRITAIN

Possibly 100,000 Civil Servants May be Released for More Essential Military Service and War Work

By Foster Barclay, Canadian Press Staff Writer

London (CP)—The Government, faced with a pressing need for woman-power has decided to dig deeply into less essential services and the Civil Service to bolster the fighting services and war factory personnels.

The Ministry of Labor, announcing steps to mobilize thousands of young girls, declared that no further deferments would be granted or continued in the 20-22 age classes. The only exemptions include persons employed on productive work in reserved industries and "key" women whose withdrawal would result in the closing down of business establishments of national importance.

Women engaged on productive work, however, will be permitted to volunteer with their employers' sanction and in future there will be no bar to the acceptance of other women as volunteers. The combout also will be applied to the army and air force where every ablebodied man now doing clerical, administrative or similar work will be placed on more active service. Their ranks will be filled by newly called-up women.

Temporary Workers

Although the Civil Service has not been affected by the ministry's ruling, the government has established a committee to examine employment. This move followed suggestions that any civil servants, especially those who joined as "temporaries" when war started, should be released for more vital work. The Civil Service Clerical Association, for instance, has estimated that about 100,000 younger workers could be released without weakening government departments.

Strangely, the Government's manpower problem has reached a stage where it is harder to find women than men. That sounds paradoxical when there are so many millions of women, but this is explained by the terms of the National Service Act which prevents the Minister of Labor calling up married women without children.

Matter of Sexes

The Daily Sketch, commenting on the latest call on womanpower, said: "Totalitarian war is no respecter of persons or services and munitions grow increasingly imperative. The men who could be spared from civilian life have already been taken. Any deficiencies may be filled by women from now on."

The Financial News said: "With the growing stringency of the men and woman power positions the whole question of administration of the comb-out is causing some concern in industrial circles. It is known that although many authorities considered that the reservoir of labor for the war effort was virtually exhausted many months ago, quite a substantial flow has continued. It is felt that possibly more can still be done if the job is scientifically and wisely handled."

RAGWEED RABIES

Chanute, Kas. (CP) — Editor Charley Jones wants to know why it's called "hay fever" when hay has nothing to do with it and neither has fever. A more descriptive name would be something like "ragweed rabies."

Model, Aged Six, Has False Teeth

Has to Have Them to Hold Her Public, but It's A Nice Job

New York, Sept. 15 (CP)—Without her false teeth, six-year-old Barbara Clarke might not be the "working woman" she is today.

A veteran among models, she's had a social security card since she was two and does from five to eight modeling jobs a week. She has appeared in almost every mail order catalogue in the country and on several magazine covers. She has posed for all kinds of advertising — from insurance to medicine—and parades in numerous fashion shows.

Recently, like all little girls, Barbara lost her front baby teeth. It seemed her career might be doomed, as some clients objected to her toothless smile. The prospects of stopping her work didn't please Barbara so she agreed to go to the dentist. Now she snaps her teeth in and out with the flick of a finger — and no pain. When a client wants a "toothy" smile, she gives it to him.

KEPT 40 DEAD CATS

Bristol, Eng. (CP) — Forty dead cats were found in a house occupied by a 38-year-old woman. They were entombed in boxes, trunks, portmanteaux and wardrobe drawers, all packed in quicklime and each in a separate box which bore the name of the cat.

W.I's of Canada Celebrate Their 45th Anniversary

During the present year the Women's Institutes of Canada are celebrating the 45th anniversary of the organization of the first Branch, by Mrs. Hoodless at Stoney Creek, Ont. While the woman in whose brain the scheme for the organization of rural women for human service originated has passed away, yet of the original 101 charter members of this first Branch, 26 are still living and taking an active interest in the work.

These pioneers of a rural women's movement have been privileged to see the work extend itself into every country in the world, and to know that the governments of the countries have not only given it recognition, but have also handed over to it some very difficult and important tasks.

Beginning with the building of the home, the Women's Institutes have laid the foundation of higher standards of living for communities, and through these are making a valuable contribution to the establishment of a greater and more enduring national life.

Man: "When I had the money to pay, my wife wanted a new hat."

Clerk: "And you gave her the money for the new hat?"

Man: "Yes, I thought you would be more lenient than she would be if a refused."

Bear and 3 Cubs Shot at Maniwaki

Wandered Into Gatineau Valley Town

Maniwaki, Que., Sept. 14 (CP) — A mother bear and three cubs wandered into this Gatineau valley town 80 miles north of Ottawa on Sunday in search of food.

Arthur Pelletier, who saw one of the cubs while he was returning home from mass, got his rifle, tracked the cub and another one to a field amongst cattle and sheep and shot the cubs.

Later a group of Maniwaki men tracked down the mother and the other cub and shot them.

Errors in Printing

Having established, I hope, that printers' errors are rarely the printers' fault, we may now proceed to a few choice examples.

By misplacing a letter, a machine operated by a compositor of outstanding accuracy once obliged a politician to say what he probably had in mind but did not intend to reveal. Instead of "the masses" it produced "them asses".

A letter's failure to emerge has been known to amend the first line of the Old Hundredth so that it read: "All people that on earth do well." —Leeds Yorkshire Post

Life of Schubert Is Portrayed in French Film

Brownsburg, Sept. 15 —

The French-speaking movie to be shown at the Recreation Hall this Thursday afternoon and evening is entitled "Serenade", a musical comedy with Bernard Lancret, Liliane Harvey and Louis Jouvet.

The story is based on the life of the immortal composer, Schubert. He is living at this time in obscurity in Vienna when he meets with Margaret Benson, an attractive English artist who has been able to paint the town upside down with her eccentricities. This she can do with impunity for she enjoys the protection of the chief of police.

It is love at first sight between the composer and the artist. They are seen everywhere together, by all save the police chief who is bedevilled into financing a ballet that Schubert will compose and in which Margaret will play the leading part. Far from being acclaimed their work receives such a cool reception that the whole show folds up. Margaret holds herself responsible and disappears. Beethoven enters the picture and encourages the composers in his climb to fame. The actors in this picture are the best in French filmdom and they give a marvellous portrayal of the parts they have to play.

OFFICE TEAM WINS TITLE IN CLOSING GAME OF BROWNSB'G INTER-DEPARTMENT FINALS

Brownsburg, Sept. 15 —

Victors for the 1942 softball season, the Office came from behind to win the trophy from the Main Shop. Metallics, league leaders, had them 2-1 in games going into the fourth contest of the five game series. But the pen-pushers came back to shade the Main Shop in the fourth, and cash in on a bad break in the fifth and deciding one.

Both teams had a fair number of supporters, with general interest in high gear. About 500 fans saw the deciding game.

The cup and crests will be presented to the winners at the banquet to be held on Saturday, September 19.

OFFICE WINS THE FOURTH GAME

By winning the fourth game in the best three out of five the Office evened the score with Metallics, each having won two. This forced the series to the limit, the fifth and deciding game being played on Friday, September 4th. Danis very ably handled the chores behind the plate, assisted by two base umpires, C. Brissette and M. Hays. T. Winchester pitching for Office and Wm. Hewitt for Metallics were both in rare form and were given good fielding support. Winchester was in trouble in the second inning with the bases loaded and only one out. However, with the runner forced out at home and one strike out he was able to escape from a tough spot.

On the fourth inning A. Leroux hit a liner which he was able to extend to a home run to start off the scoring for Metallics. Russ Summers hit a two bagger in the fifth and two runs were scored before the side was retired. Office opened their scoring in the fifth when J. Murdoch hit a two bagger scoring Martin. The sixth inning was a big one for office when Hewitt walked St. Onge and W. Seale in turn. L. Winchester came through with a home run which gave the office a 1 lead. Darkness was setting in so R. Martin, K. Simpson and J. Duncan struck out to end the game. Wm. Hewitt had nine strike outs and four bases on balls while L. Winchester had 5 strike outs and only one base on balls.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	Total
Metallics	0	0	0	1	2	0	3
Office	0	0	0	0	1	3	4

METALLICS LOSE TO OFFICE IN FINAL

Both teams were on hand at 6.15 p.m. Sept. 4 for this final contest of a five game series between Metallics and Office for the C-I-L — D.I.L. cup.

Office got away to a good start when they picked up a run in the second innings to lead 1-0. In the first half of the third they pushed four more across the plate. Two of these runs were unearned due to an error at third base. Metallics got 2 tallies in their half of this innings due to right field errors. This made it 5-2 for the pen pushers.

The pitchers, L. Winchester for the Office and Bill Hewitt for the main shop were hurling their best brand of ball, and these evenly matched teams knew it was the breaks that would decide the issue.

After scoreless fourth and fifth innings the office picked up a run in the sixth and seventh to win the game 7-2, and annex the cup.

The pen handlers were not the favorites at the beginning of the series. In the first two games they had to use a substitute pitcher, W. Racine, who by winning and losing one helped them considerably in their quest.

All the players of both teams are to be congratulated for the fine brand of ball. For the winners, John Duncan, their manager, and L. Winchester, pitcher, are particularly deserving of mention. For the runners-up and league leaders, Wes Mason, manager, and Bill Hewitt, their pitcher, receive three star awards.

The umpires, R. Charlebois behind the plate, M. Hays and C. Paquet on bases did an excellent job.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	Total
Office	1	1	4	0	0	1	1	7

The Bomber Press Visits England

One interesting thing about Newfoundland is that it seems to be impossible to get anything but tinned milk.

The airport is so large that transportation is necessary to move around it very much, so that we really did not see much of it.

A railway train attracted our attention and the engine carried a message painted on its sides, "Britain Delivers the Goods."

After a stop of about four hours, the party embarked again, this with only eleven passengers, as two who left Montreal were bound only for Newfoundland.

We settled as well as we could for a long tedious night as the plane steadily forged ahead at high speed. Looking through the small windows we could see a breath-taking vista of a fleecy floor of clouds brilliantly illuminated by the moon.

The longest night comes to an end, and soon after a wonderful sunrise, views of Northern Ireland could be obtained through breaks in the clouds. The views of the Irish countryside, which looked like an old fashioned patchwork quilt will always remain as one of the most beautiful sights we have ever seen.

Soon we approached our destination and the pilot set the huge plane down with hardly a tremor.

Our formalities with the customs and immigration were expedited, and after breakfast that we had not enough time to finish, we started on the train journey to London, a journey which took longer than the trip from America. Everyone has to look after his own baggage these days on the English railroads, and space on the trains is at a premium. The first group of our party were forced to stand up for hours on this long trip, but we were more fortunate in that respect, although we had nothing to eat all day until late at night at London.

We have described the trip across the Atlantic in some detail, but until after our return to Canada, when we can write at leisure, only the outline of our activities will be given.

It had been announced that we would have four days to rest up after our arrival, but we soon wondered just what they meant by "rest". Every moment seemed to be crowded with some appointment.

Saturday was taken up with registration for ration cards, photos for our passes of which there were so many that Mr. Napier Moore claimed that he had to buy a duffle bag to hold them.

Just before noon, we had a conference with the Canadian High Commissioner, the Hon. Vincent Massey, at which he welcomed the editors. In the course of this informal discussion Mr. Massey remarked that there were too few Canadian resident correspondents, against 15 Australian and about 200 American.

For lunch we were taken to the Canadian Officers Club, which is near Canada House, and found Mrs. Vincent Massey behind a counter serving the meal.

The program for Sunday was a full one. Starting out, the two representatives of the weekly press attended early service at St. Martin-in-the-Fields. Then after a hurried breakfast, the whole party started off in cars to visit a farm which had won many medals as the best farm in Berkshire. This will be described in more detail in subsequent articles.

After a close study of this farm, we went on to Maidenhead, on the banks of the Thames for luncheon.

Windsor Castle was the objective for the afternoon, and a couple of hours were spent in this historical place.

After the long journey back, some of the party were not too tired to go and listen to the orators in Hyde Park.

Monday was an even more exciting day. Lengthy visits were paid to Canadian Red Cross Headquarters, a Canadian Legion Hostel, the Salvation Army Hostel on Southampton Row, the Y.M.C.A. hostel on Leinster Court Road, the Knights of Columbus hostel in the same street, the Maple Leaf Club, the Union Jack Club, and the Beaver Club. Then we visited the Daily Telegraph, the Reuters Building, and ended up late at night at the Daily Telegraph. In each of these places we went up and down stairs and through room after room so that most of us welcomed our beds.

On Tuesday, the High Commissioner gave a luncheon for the members of the party which was a notable affair in that much valuable information was secured. After visits to various places in the afternoon, the day concluded with a visit to the Daily Express.

Wednesday morning was spent at the British Ministry of Information, and at noon we met Major General the Hon. P. J. Montague, who is senior officer of the Canadian Military Headquarters.

This conference lasted some time, after which detailed instructions concerning the forthcoming trip were given and we prepared to really start work the next day.

The summary of our activities will continue in the next article and more detailed accounts of the various phases of our activities will follow later.

NO.1 UTILITY MAN, FARMER IS URGED TO TURN ATTENTIONS TO LUMBERING NEXT WINTER

Meanwhile, Seasonal Labor Shortage Is Most Acute for Fruit Canning And Western Grain Harvest

Prairie Has Twice Crop of Last Year, But Cool Weather Delays Harvesting

By DENT HODGSON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Sept. 23 (CP) — New requests for recognition of labor in framing war policies which affect industrial workers will soon be placed before the government by officers of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Congress officials this week are studying a lengthy list of resolutions which received endorsation of more than 400 delegates at the annual Congress convention held at the capital.

Keynote of the convention was an all-out war effort with strikes and disputes which might hamper war production outlawed for the duration of the war; but there was no uncertainty about the convention's demands for greater recognition of labor.

The convention asked immediate action for compulsory collective bargaining and representation on industrial councils which were proposed for all key industries. Control of Canada's industrial war effort should come under a ministry of production in which labor would given representation equal to that of management, it was suggested.

The convention also had a political aspect, passing with a lone dissenting vote a resolution calling on affiliated locals to study the program of the C.C.F. Unanimous support was given a resolution seeking the opening of a second front as quickly as possible.

Where Farmer Tops

Meanwhile the manpower problem remained one of the most difficult confronting federal authorities — and the farmer moved into the picture as Canada's number one utility man.

Elliott M. Little, director of national selective service, has announced that Canada needs 110,000 men in the lumber camps by November—to help meet commitments to supply 1,040,000,000 feet of lumber for war purposes in the United States and Britain before the year-end. He appealed to farmers and farm hands to go into the lumber camps as soon as harvesting was completed and pressure of work on the land slackened.

The farmer, however, has his own problems in getting in the largest grain crop in Canada's history. Difficulties the prairie farmer faces were outlined last week when Premier Bracken of Manitoba and his agriculture minister, Hon. D. L. Campbell, visited Ottawa.

They came to re-stress to the government the vexed question of harvest help which has plagued farmers throughout the country all summer. Cool western weather has long delayed harvesting of prairie grain, which as Mr. Bracken told federal leaders, is twice the crop it was last year. And the question of who is going to harvest this late crop remains unsolved.

The manpower situation in Ontario was underlined when Mr. Little appealed for help in the canning factories. Unless response is immediate, he said, there will be great wastage of valuable fruit and vegetable stocks already garnered.

Produce More

Despite the many-directional demands on the farmer, Agriculture Minister Gardiner told of broadened plans to produce more and more grain and animal products for the United Kingdom. A two-year production program, including increased shipments to Britain of 675,000,000 pounds of bacon compared with 600,000,000 last year is being arranged.

Canada's role in the war was emphasized in statements from National Defence headquarters on the Dieppe attack and on the grimly-waged battle of the Atlantic.

GERMANS IN LONDON

London (CP) — Addressed to "herren and damen" of St. Pancras, London, where many of German birth live, the municipal authorities exhort them in their own language to save their waste for the British war effort.

The careless pedestrian and the careless autoist would think the same of each other — if either ever stopped to think.

Geneva (CP) — Waffen S.S. (Hitler's police army) is asking for recruits in Germany from the age of 17 for its infantry, cavalry, artillery, tank and motorized units.

A "Seed Catalog Optimist" Tells Autumn Sequel

WRITER BREEZILY DESCRIBES HIS VALIANT FIGHT FOR A VICTORY GARDEN

By John Grover, of the Canadian Press

This is the bountiful harvest season, but what I started as a Victory garden last April is flat on its back hollering for a negotiated peace.

What apprentice gardeners need at this time of year is a revised cookbook that deals in realities. It should tell what to do with marble-sized potatoes, three-inch ears of corn and carrots that look like a stunted ice-pick.

The first symptom of gardening usually appears in February. It's known to patient wives as "that seed catalog look". The victim sits around dreamily looking at the color plates of cabbages that wouldn't go in a washtub, beets as big as an indoor baseball and lush, exotic vegetables.

In normal years this phase passes off harmlessly like hayfever and the sufferer goes back to golf or fishing and his general job. This year, however, there was so much talk about growing your own groceries a lot of us passed from mental gardening to the business end of a hoe almost before we knew it.

Then Wake Up

What it takes to get the plot in planting order isn't in the back of the catalogs. Even a first offender, though, usually persists through the blister harvest, which is always a bumper.

It seems worth it when the first green lines put bravely forth. Then the weeds put forth, not in lines, but everywhere. Then the bugs put forth, ignoring the weeds for the vegetable plant. Then also put forth the cunning little bunny rabbits, various rodents, chickens and all manner of other fauna, tucking in their napkins as they run.

Weeds are particularly subtle. They seem so insignificant at first. "Aw, you can see we aren't big enough to do any harm yet," the baby weeds say, "come on, play golf this week-end and tend to us next week." Don't fall for that line brother. It took me all next week-end to find where my garden was.

Battle Strategy

The net result of the summer-long campaign General Grover conducted against weather, wind, weeds and wee beasties:

A battalion of beans fought the good fight and completed their mission. (P.S.—The neighbors say anybody can grow beans.)

A little company of tomatoes besieged on all sides by ragweed and burdock still carries on gallantly. The beets, kale and swiss chard were annihilated in a series of swift flanking movements by a family of portly groundhogs with the innocent air of benevolent bankers and the black souls of pirates.

The cabbages are seriously wounded, riddled as if with machine gun fire by some particularly repulsive green worms. The potatoes are missing in action. They ran into a vastly superior force of weeds and were engulfed. And so it goes.

It's all going to be different next year, though. I've about decided livestock is my field, instead of vegetables. Narrowing the livestock field down to a practical basis it appears that rabbits are the crop I've been looking for. I am reliably informed that rabbits attend to the rabbit crop with a minimum of supervision.

Opening Exercises of Consolidated School At Grenville Village

Grenville—Opening exercises of the Grenville Consolidated School were held in the school assembly hall on Friday evening, September 18.

Mr. H. G. Brannan occupied the chair, and after a few preliminary remarks introduced the guests of the evening. Among those present were Inspector L. J. King, who addressed the parents of the district on the importance of the school to the community at large; and Rev. A. E. Hawes who voiced a few well chosen remarks.

After a short talk by the principal, Ronald Brigden, prizes were distributed to the pupils—as listed elsewhere in this issue of The Watchman.

To Entertain Troops at St. Jerome Training Camp

PROGRAM BILLED TONIGHT, BY FAMED BLUE BELL BULLETS' REVUE

Appearing at St. Jerome tonight, Thursday, directors, performers and technicians of The Blue Bell Bullets' Revue will provide a complete evening's entertainment for the officers and men of all ranks stationed at the St. Jerome Militia Training Centre.

Sponsored by the Auxiliary Aid Assocn., Telephone Employees of Montreal fund, The Bullets themselves are all telephone workers representing many departments of the Bell Company at Montreal. The troupe has already played to an aggregate audience of more than 52,500 persons, mainly on the Military District No. 4 circuit, and every member is on the alert to give a good account of himself and herself in their variety concert party offerings. The Bullets carry their own electrical lighting, loudspeaker and other staging effects, and the show is tastefully costumed throughout.

Lachute Family in Collision at C.N. Crossing in Mont'l

LADY RESIDENT CONFINED TO HOSPITAL WITH HEAD INJURIES

Mrs. Jos. B. Dion, of Lachute, wife of J. B. Dion, plumber and tinsmith, suffered severe head injuries when their car was struck by a C.N.R. locomotive at the Viau Street crossing in Montreal last Sunday night. The mishap occurred at 10 o'clock p.m. Mrs. Dion was taken to the Notre Dame Hospital where she is reported still suffering from head injuries and shock.

Another victim of the crash, Arthur Turcotte, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Dion, was also taken to hospital, but was discharged after receiving treatment.

Other occupants of the car—Shirley Dion, of Lachute, Mrs. A. Turcotte and daughter, of Montreal, also Jos. B. Dion, who was driving — escaped unhurt.

The locomotive of the passenger train was proceeding at a slow speed. The car was wrecked in the crash.

Gathering to Celebrate The Silver Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Boyd

On Saturday evening, September 19, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Boyd was the scene of a happy event, when many friends and neighbors gathered to celebrate their silver wedding. The observance of their anniversary, which falls on September 25, was held on the earlier date so that all members of the family could be present.

The happy couple were the recipients of many lovely gifts of silver, also a sum of money.

After a very pleasant evening occupied with card games, music and dancing, the guests took their departure extending wishes to the honored couple for many more years of health and prosperity.

Among the 65 who were present, the out-of-town guests included Mrs. John Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Boyd, Misses Doris, Margaret and Leona Boyd and Mrs. D. MacCallum, all of Montreal.

Prices Board Warns Meat Wholesalers

A stern warning that prosecution will follow further infractions of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board order No. 149 respecting beef has been uttered by L. C. Robitaille, Prices and Supply Representative for the Montreal Region.

"I would strongly advise wholesalers of meat to pay attention to the order respecting beef, particularly sub-section (a) of section 6, which requires every processor and wholesaler of beef to furnish each buyer with an invoice which shows accurately the name and address of the consignee, the weight and price per pound of the beef and accurate specifications of the quality and class of beef—that is steer, heifer, yearling, baby beef, cow or bull. The invoice also must specify whether it is for carcass, side, fore-quarter, hindquarter or the type of cut.

"This order was issued for the protection of both the public and the meat industry, and it is imperative that its provisions shall be fully complied with.

"The Board has no alternative but prosecution."

"The Rumor Clinic"

— Prepared by The Canadian Column —

GOEBBELS—STOOGE OF A MASTER LIAR

Little Goebbels overlooks nothing in his desperate attempt to obstruct the war progress of the United Nations. He knows too well that our growing power will inevitably lead to the defeat of Germany and her "nasty" pals.

By every foul means, he attacks with lies and rumors every aspect of our national war effort. His master has trained him well. Hitler in "Mein Kampf" made an enlightening confession of how he makes use of lies. This is what Paperhanger Adolph says: "The greatness of the lie is always a certain factor in being believed . . . some part of even the boldest lie is sure to stick."

Remember those words of Hitler, the next time someone whispers a damaging story concerning Canada's war effort.

A number of rumors are circulating in connection with the collection and disposal of Salvage. A thorough investigation of this very vital and important part of our war effort, reveals that these rumors are unfounded and are but another attempt to discourage and obstruct.

Here are some typical rumors and the facts as stated by Roger Charbonneau, Provincial Supervisor, National Salvage, Department of National War Services, Montreal.

Rumor: "The various types of Salvage collected are not turned over to the Government but are sold to the Government after the value has been established".

Fact: "This appears to be a deliberate attempt to mislead the public who have responded so splendidly to our appeal for Salvage.

"The Government itself does not collect Salvage materials except in certain areas where no other facilities exist. Salvage can be collected by anyone — the more people who collect, the better . . . "However, in order to avoid confusion, it is desirable that the work be organized and directed, and this is done by the National Salvage Campaign who set up Salvage Committees of volunteer workers in every possible town, municipality or section of the Dominion . . . The Salvage, when collected is sold to dealers who have the necessary facilities for sorting, grading, packing and accumulating in lots large enough to ship efficiently to consuming mills. Only the dealers have the experience and equipment necessary to do this, and industrial plants using these waste materials have always depended upon dealers for this important precessing.

The proceeds from the sale of salvage by the Salvage Committee to the dealers are devoted exclusively to war charity organizations to be used by them for Canada's Armed Forces".

Plan Demonstration Parade In Fire Prevention Week

Lachute Fire Brigade, under Chief Geo. Y. Deacon, will collaborate in the national program for Fire Prevention Week, to be observed from October 4 to October 10. On the Monday night of this special week, the usual parade of local fire fighters with their equipment, bearing appropriate signs, will be staged in town.

A decision on these and other efforts in connection with the campaign, was reached at the regular meeting and practice of the Brigade held Monday evening.

A Home Nursing Course for French Speaking Women

86 LADIES ENROLLED AT OPENING SESSION HELD THIS WEEK

The Home Nursing courses in the French language, sponsored by the Red Cross, were inaugurated Monday evening in the Knights of Columbus hall, Foundry Street, Lachute, with 86 enrolments.

The first lecture was delivered by Dr. L. Turcotte, of the County Health Unit, on "Hygiene in the Home". Subsequent lectures and demonstrations will be given every Monday evening for the next 14 weeks. Mrs. Geo. H. Heon, R.N., and Miss Mariette Guilbault, R.N., are in charge of these courses, while Miss Françoise Valois will act as secretary.

At this inaugural session, Mrs. Gordon Wyness, Mrs. George F. Calder and Miss L. Harrison, R.N., in charge of the English courses, were guests of honor.

Two Ladies, 90 and 82, Among Workers in the Shawbridge Red Cross

The following is the report of the Shawbridge Red Cross Group (working under Morin Heights Branch) from January 1 to September 1, 1942:

1190 Finished articles have been sent to Red Cross Branch at Morin Heights, which included 682 knitted articles, 485 sewn articles, 17 donations, also 6 afghans consisting of 324 squares.

Three truck-loads of salvage have been shipped to St. Jerome, including considerable rubber. Five boxes of medicine bottles were sent to Montreal and 12 boxes of books were sent to the Sun Life Building.

The summer people have raised $26.25. The sum of $13 was raised at Riverside House with a corn-roast, also $8.25 through a series of sales at Dagenais Farm by the Country Leisure Girls' Club, and $5 was made by Clair and Dora Brawer of Monette's Farm.

Members of this Branch are pleased to have with them again this summer Mrs. A. Harris, 90 years old, who has knitted 22 articles, and Mrs. Hicks, 82 years old, who has knit afghans, making a total of five afghans.

Two quilts were donated by Mrs. Elder and one by Mrs. Silverson.

One member of this group has received a card from a Prisoner of War in Germany thanking her for socks which she had made for the Red Cross.

Not Possible

It may be assumed that under the new form of social regimentation, some lawyers will still be needed, if only to advise their clients that they might as well submit gracefully to any arbitrary action that may be undertaken by the Government. Selective Service officers, however, are going to need the wisdom of Solomon and the lungs of the bull of Bashan to convince members of the legal firm of Black, White and Gray that they should enter a munitions plant and leave the firm of Smith, Jones and Robinson to attend to their clients. —The Printed Word

JOHN G. HADLEY COUNTY WARDEN FOR TERM 1942-3

A. O. Kerr Terminates Year

QUARTERLY SESSION HELD AT COURT HOUSE

At the quarterly meeting of Argenteuil County Council, held in the Court House at Lachute, John G. Hadley, Mayor of the Parish of St. Jerusalem, was elected County Warden for the ensuing term of 1942-43. There were no other nominations. The new warden thanked his fellow council members for the honor thus accorded to him. Councillor H. Barlow and Councillor A. Rochon, together with the new Warden, were appointed as the board of delegates.

Mayor A. O. Kerr, under whose presidency the meeting opened, relinquished the Warden's chair to Mayor Hadley on his being elected and sworn to office.

The assembly dealt with the payment of various accounts. Agreement was passed on lease of a room in the Court House to the Provincial Forestry Department for a four-year period.

It was moved by Councillor H. Barlow, seconded by Councillor R. B. Owen, that a vote of appreciation be accorded to Councillor the Hon. G. E. Dansereau for his having secured establishment of a Forestry branch here in the interests of Argenteuil and surrounding districts.

The Council agreed on the appointment of D. Ouimet as janitor of the Court House for $25 a month —three tenders for this position having been duly considered.

Notary G. Valois appeared with a proposition for the purchase or trade of a strip of land at rear of the Court House property. Following a discussion a resolution came before the Council, moved by Councillor Kerr and seconded by Councillor Barlow, that Mr. Valois be requested to submit his proposition in writing, as to price and all particulars as to liability for special tax on sewers, etc.

At this point, however, an amendment was moved by Councillor Staniforth, seconded by Councillor Owen, that any proposition submitted as to trading, selling or buying any part of the Court House property be not entertained at the present time. The amendment was carried.

Mayors attending the meeting included:

A. O. Kerr (Gore), J. G. Hadley (St. Jerusalem), H. Barlow (Wentworth), C. J. Staniforth (Arundel), D. McTavish (Harrington), R. B. Owen (Montcalm), Wm. Watchorn (Morin), A. Fournier (St. Andrews), A. Rochon (Chatham), J. Prophet (Grenville & Augmentation), A. Dawson (Mille Isles), Hon. G. Dansereau (Grenville Village), Ralph Robinson (Calumet), and the secretary, Jas. W. Gall.

Ruling on Tea, Coffee And Sugar Purchases

MAY NOW LAY-IN FOUR WEEKS' SUPPLY, SAYS PRICES BOARD

Announcement that purchase of four weeks' supply of tea, coffee and sugar can be made at a time was given last week by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Apart from giving housewives the comforting feeling engendered by a better stocked larder the new provision simplifies many little problems that arose with regard to the purchase of small quantities of tea.

* * *

Store Has Own Ceiling

A number of complaints received recently by the Women's Regional Advisory Committee, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, indicate that many housewives are unfamiliar with the basis upon which ceiling prices are set.

Many of those complaining say: "Such and such a commodity costs 10 cents at my grocer's, but so and so's store sells the same thing at two for 19 cents."

The highest price at which a product was sold during the basic period — September 15 to October 11, 1941 — sets the ceiling, it is pointed out. If grocer "A" sold at 10 cents during the basic period—10 cents is his ceiling now. Grocer "B" on the other hand, may sell at 11 cents now if the highest price he charged during the basic period was 11 cents.

WAR -- TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

By H. H. GORDON Canadian Press Staff Writer

GERMAN EAST AFRICA CLEARED OF ENEMY TROOPS WHO CROSSED INTO PORTUGUESE COLONIAL TERRITORY

Cat-and-mouse operations in German East Africa in which British troops sought to bring Gen. Paul von Lettow-Vorbeck's German forces to book were resumed with increased vigor in the autumn of 1917. The new campaign sent the Germans scampering into Portuguese territory where they defied all attempts at capture and finally surrendered on the signing of the Armistice in 1918.

For three years von Lettow had conducted an "offensive-defensive" campaign in East Africa. During the summer of 1917 he managed to bring his forces together in the southeastern corner of the territory on the northern border of Portuguese East Africa. By this time the army of more than 20,000 native and European troops with which he had started operations had been whittled to about 2,000 with 150 Europeans, including officers and some 3,000 non-combatant natives.

Lt.-Gen. Sir J. L. Van Deventer, a South African assumed command of the British forces in 1917 and the operations of the autumn were marked by the hardest fighting of the whole campaign. By Sept. 21, 1917, a column under Brig.-Gen. J. L. Hannyngton had driven the main enemy forces from the coastal region near Kilwa to a point some 40 miles south on the Mbemkuru River.

Von Lettow made a stand at this point, defeating a force under Brig.-Gen. P. S. Beves in a four day battle beginning Oct. 15 and it was ten days before the force was able to resume the offensive. From then on the Germans were kept on the run.

Crossed Ruvuma River

Near the end of November the German commander crossed the Ruvuma River into Portuguese territory. They were few Portuguese white troops in the area and native soldiers were not sufficiently trained. In addition military posts were widely scattered.

Until the armistice, Von Lettow, adopting guerilla tactics, moved as the circumstances of his position, without bases and short of ammunition, dictated. Two British columns operated against him.

Von Lettow was the one German soldier who earned a high reputation in Germany's colonial campaign. Through four years of steadily declining fortune he kept his command efficient and formidable. The German commander surmounted geographical and physical obstacles and managed to move his men and elude British troops, tropical jungles and regions which had been only partially explored.

East African natives made up the main body of troops under von Lettow's command. Against them were British, Indian, South African and African troops. Thousands of white soldiers were invalided through sickness and the closing stages of the campaign were carried out almost entirely by native troops. Practically every animal imported into East Africa for the use of the British succumbed to the tsetse fly.

SEQUEL TO BATTLE OF BRITAIN: R.A.F. TO "SCOURGE REICH FROM END TO END"

In the Battle of Britain, beginning on August 8, 1940, the R.A.F. hurled back the full might of the German Air Force, strewing the English countryside with wrecks of German bombers in hundreds. Now Fighter and Bomber Command are carrying the offensive across the Channel deep into industrial Germany. British bombers have dealt a series of smashing blows at great centres of production for the "Wehrmacht". Cologne, Essen and Bremen have been devastated by forces of over a thousand bombers. Boston bombers are hitting the enemy hard by daylight and fighters are making daring offensive sweeps on targets in enemy-occupied France. In the words of Britain's Bomber Command chief, "We are going to scourge the Third Reich from end to end". Picture shows the fast, hard-hitting Bristol Beaufort which serves Britain's R.A.F. as a good torpedo-bomber-reconnaissance aircraft —one of the thousand and over that hit Cologne, Bremen and Essen.

CORVETTES GIVE SWELL HUNTING FOR NAZI PESTS

Canada's Smaller Navy Craft Well Equipped for Fighting and Living in, Says Observer

By Frank Lowe
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Halifax, Sept. 22 (CP) — Men who go down to the sea in Royal Canadian Navy corvettes know they are sailing the best sub-hunting ships yet designed by any nation at war.

From the steel crow's nest to the big engines; from the depth-charge-laden stern to the fluting bow, especially reinforced for ramming, these tubby bantamweights of the Dominion's fighting fleet are equipped with every known device to make it tough on U-boats.

This doesn't mean that the men who take these craft on long, hazardous patrols have an easy berth. They haven't. But as far as is humanly possible, everything has been done to simplify their task of clearing the salt water highways of German hi-jackers.

Most important, in the opinion of the officers, is keeping the men happy. This is done by supplying them with quarters as comfortable and as ample as possible. All mess decks are planned with the idea of giving each man plenty of room in which to eat, sleep and stow his gear without inconvenience to himself or his buddies. In fact, many of the sailors claim corvette accommodations are superior to those provided on bigger destroyers.

Big Blow-Ups

Fighting equipment given the corvettes is of the best and latest. Depth charges, naturally, are the number one items in sub-busting, so every ship carries plenty. Capable of blowing U-boats to bits with a single explosion, these "ash cans" are placed on racks or catapults to make easy the task of dumping or throwing them into the water. They are safe to handle, too. Water pressure explodes their deadly contents, and as long as they stay on deck they are safe, serving as pillows, impromptu benches or seats for the sailors.

However, no corvette depends upon depth charges alone. Danger threatens them from the air as well as from the sea, so anti-aircraft guns are placed at strategic points in the ship.

Aft, a pom pom pokes its funnel shaped nozzle skywards, ready to spray an explosive blast into the clouds. On the bridge, two sets of machine guns are kept oiled and loaded for the same purpose.

Forward there is the "big-bertha" of the little ship, a rapid-firing gun that needs only to see a submarine surface to send its shells screaming across the seas.

Of course, these corvettes are not perfect. Daily the work of improving them goes on, and new gadgets appear regularly. Speed of the ships is being upped, their construction bettered, and naval authorities claim the day is coming when corvettes, tiny though they might me, will be even more potent fighting ships than they are today.

WOULD RESTOCK EUROPE'S HERDS WHEN WAR OVER

New Jersey Stock Man Develops Small Family Type of Cow Expected To Be Popular

Blairstown, N.J., Sept. 22 (CP) — When the Nazi invaders are driven out of Norway, a sturdy little cattle born and bred in America may be sent to restock the herds slaughtered for the German troops or shipped to Germany to bolster the dwindling food supply in the Reich.

That is the relief of dairymen who have watched the experiment of a New York shipping magnate in New Jersey with a penchant for livestock farming. He hopes to develop a "truly American" breed with the help of Norway's famous Telemark cattle.

Reilly, and the project is being conducted at his farm near here.

Study of Breeds

For two years Reilly studied various breeds of cattle here and abroad and then, in 1939, decided on the Telemarks for crossbreeding experiments with stock on this side of the Atlantic.

In September of that year he assembled the original herd of 12 cows and one bull. At present, Reilly is devoting his efforts to building up the Telemark herd by inbreeding. In Norway, the stock goes back hundreds of years and the difficulties of service in that mountainous country necessitated much inbreeding — not only of father and daughter, but often of father and granddaughter.

In the present breeding program, 15 cows and 18 bulls have been born.

Praises Program

The suggestion that the New Jersey herd might be used for restocking purposes in Norway was advanced recently by Professor William C. Skelley of the College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, who said:

"Reilly's herd might be more significant than we realize, for if the Germans have ravaged the Telemarks in Norway for food, there is a possibility they might become extinct before the war is over. Then, this American herd might be needed for rehabilitation purposes."

Reilly says, "the average American cow is too large, demands too great investment in upkeep, and yields too much milk" for the needs of the average rural family.

Rugged Type

The Telemark cattle are small, short-legged and rugged animals, red and white-in color and further identified by a broad white stripe along the spine and croup. Their home is in the mountainous valleys in the Telemark region along the fjords north of Bergen.

"It is an animal which is accustomed to 'rustling' much of its own feed on the mountainsides," said Reilly, "and it will withstand climatic changes in this country."

Economically, the Telemarks are profitable. Comparatively light eaters, their milk production also stacks up favorably with other breeds. The average milk production per cow is 20 to 27 pounds per day, with a butterfat content of approximately four per cent.

TEN INJURED AS CAR OVERTURNS NEAR ST. HERMAS

Car Hits Puddle, Then Overturns in Ditch

St. Hermas — Ten persons, including a month-old baby, were injured two miles east of St. Hermas around Sunday noon. Two of the victims were seriously hurt.

Gerard Laframboise, Montreal, was reported to have lost control of his vehicle when he ran through a deep puddle on the highway. His car crashed into a pole and overturned in the ditch with the wires draped across it.

Seriously injured and transferred to the St. Jeanne d'Arc hospital were Mrs. Gerard Laframboise, wife of the driver, and Mrs. George Bastien, also of Montreal.

All occupants of the car including the driver's son, Yvon, three years of age, Yvon Godin, Miss A. Vermette, Mme J. Paiement, Pierrette Bastien, three years of age, Andre Bastien, 18 months, and Jacques Bastien, one month, were treated by local physicians.

Traffic Officer Danot Guindon and Det. Sgt. R. Danis investigated the crash.

The cause of the accident was ascribed to a deep water-filled hole in the highway which caused the driver to lose control of the steering wheel.

SAME AS QUISLINGS

Wath-on-Dearn, Eng. (CP) — Declaring Britain was facing the gravest coal crisis in history, J. A. Ball, president of the Yorkshire Miners' Association, said that miners who deliberately remained away from work were the same as Quislings.

30 Bags of Mail For Men Overseas Destroyed by Fire

Ottawa — Matches enclosed in gifts to soldiers could destroy an entire ship, the Quartermaster General of the Canadian army warned today.

Thirty bags of mail for Canadian soldiers overseas were destroyed by a fire which broke out in a railway van in England.

The fire was caused by "safety" matches which had been included in a parcel to a soldier.

In spite of the fact that it is against postal regulations to send matches in the mail, the cause of the fire has been definitely traced. All ranks of the Canadian Army have been requested to instruct their friends not to enclose matches, lighter fluid, or other highly inflammable material in mail to them. The fire which destroyed the thirty mail bags deprived hundreds of men overseas of letters, newspapers and articles of comfort from home.

Several fires have broken out in the past and destroyed mail for the Canadian Army. Almost all have been directly traced to matches.

So far fortune has been on the side of the convoy; the fires have occurred on land. Authorities point out, however, that the fires might as easily have broken out aboard ship causing loss of life and much needed equipment.

Don't forget, officials declare, carelessness of this type is tantamount to sabotage. Don't help the enemy.

"I vote for Insulation and lower fuel bills"

It's the man who pays—but he pays much less in hard-earned dollars and hours of furnace stoking when his home is insulated with Donnacona Board. Fuel savings offset the modest cost of the installation in a surprisingly short time. The increased comfort of your home, both Summer and Winter, cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Ask your Donnacona Dealer for an estimate of the cost of this necessary improvement. He can also supply you with all other necessary construction materials.

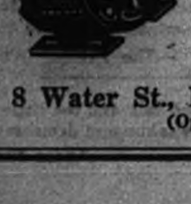

Donnacona Attic Insulation can be installed completely in a 25' square attic for as little as $143.00.

Here is the DONNACONA Wartime HOME CONSERVATION Plan

1. CONSERVATION OF FUEL: Coal and oil must be conserved today to make more fuel available for urgent war needs. Proper home insulation, such as provided by Donnacona, conserves fuel—for insulation checks heat waste, cuts fuel consumption. Donnacona insulates as it builds or renovates. It is decorative, too.
2. CONSERVATION OF FUNDS: When you insulate with Donnacona, fuel savings quickly repay the small initial cost of insulation. You permanently reduce your overhead; more money is available for War Savings and other necessities.
3. CONSERVATION OF SPACE: Today the nation is fighting waste, and this includes waste space. Idle space can be converted simply and inexpensively, through the use of Donnacona Board, into useful rooms for the family or for paying guests. You can help your budget and help relieve an acute housing shortage at one blow.
4. CONSERVATION OF HEALTH: A healthy nation works and fights better, and good health begins at home. Elimination of drafts, through the use of Donnacona Board, an even warmth in winter and coolness in summer, all help to promote better health at home and added comfort.
5. CONSERVATION OF VALUES: Today values are liable to rapid change, but a house will always be the best and safest investment in times of economic stress. That investment can be protected and enhanced through remodelling and renovation with Donnacona Board.
6. CONSERVATION OF EFFICIENCY: It is at home that we gather strength for tomorrow's job—and that job may be of vital importance to Canada. Donnacona will make your home more comfortable —a real haven of peace in which everyone, including the night shift worker, can sleep undisturbed, thanks to the sound-deadening properties of Donnacona.

CAN WE BUILD OR RENOVATE?

YES! There are no restrictions on the building of homes costing up to $5,000 or on renovations up to that amount and no special permit is needed. Small home construction and renovation are rated as wartime essentials and are badly needed to relieve housing congestion.

ARE MATERIALS AVAILABLE?

YES! While no one can accurately predict future supplies, the necessary materials for most forms of construction and modernization are readily obtainable. This applies to the many Donnacona and Murray products listed at the right.

For further information, get your free copy of the Booklet describing the Donnacona Plan in detail. Your Donnacona dealer has it. It tells you how you can obtain the maximum of economy, efficiency and comfort in your home — easily and inexpensively.

Assess your home on these six points

. . . THEN CALL YOUR DONNACONA DEALER!

Murray Products for new building or renovating include:

Donnacona Roughcast Insulating Board — Veelap Board and Plaster Base — Donnacona Hardboard — Donnacona Modernite (Hardboard, prefinished in colour) — Insulated Brick Siding — Asphalt Shingles — Roll Roofing — Sheathings and Felts — Fibreen (the wind and waterproof reinforced building paper) — Waterproofing and Preserving Coatings, Paints and Stains, etc.

56-Hour Shopping Week

Inasmuch as many small merchants depend mainly on evening trade, it is felt that the limitation of retail stores to a 56-hour week may create hardship for many independent retailers.

This opinion, expressed by the Canadian Council of Distribution, may be well founded. However, it seems the shoe would be on the other foot — that the hardship would fall rather on the purchaser than on the retailer. The shopping public — a large percentage of whom are otherwise engaged from early morning till dusk — will suffer mostly, when stores are closed every evening of the week save Friday and Saturday . . . It is unlikely that this early closing will cut retail sales; the public will buy, somehow, some time — even those non-essential commodities which still cross the retail counter. Nor will reduced hours discriminate against one merchant in favor of another, or benefit one community at the expense of another. This is seen in the case of Lachute and Brownsburg, two nearby centres, where regulations will be more or less uniform, affecting all retailers in the same way.

The nation's shopping habits may be changed materially as the result of restricted use of electric power which eliminates electric sign and window lighting. Until the full effect of these changes can be studied and necessary adjustments made by the retail trade, the new order limiting store hours may upset the routine, and even impose some degree of hardship on small retailers. But the merchant is a versatile citizen. He has already revolutionized his business to meet innumerable restrictions. He can do it again — and doubtless will do, with good cheer and patriotic grace.

The Second Front

Uninformed people might well think, before they renew their demands for a second front, on the story they were told last week by Defence Minister Ralston.

Col. Ralston, who has been Canada's defence minister twice when he was needed, revealed that losses among Canadians at Dieppe were 3,350, roughly two-thirds of the 5,000 men who went against the Nazi-occupied French port in what Prime Minister Churchill described as a "reconnaissance in force."

The penalty the Canadians paid for their experiment was a large one. The cost, however, is considered to have been balanced by the information which was gained on the strength of the German continental defences.

A second front to be successful must be a permanent and winning front established in western Europe from the British Isles. It must be established by an allied command which is certain it will work. An unsuccessful second front would result in a replica of Dunkerque; and another Dunkerque, in the light of knowledge gained by the Germans from the first one, might well mean an allied loss of the war.

The Germans, it is generally conceded, could have taken Britain after Dunkerque, because they would have been faced by only a few thousand Canadians and other troops who were fully armed but only partly trained.

They apparently were fogged off by the ferocity of the "few" R.A.F. defenders of Britain who flew so savagely 15 hours a day for so many days when the Nazis were trying to soften up the country.

They presumably over-estimated the strength of Britain's Home Defences and hesitated long enough to lose their chance. Next time, however — if the allies had another Dunkerque — Germany probably would be smart enough not to lose another chance; and Russia and every allied country might be out of luck for a long time.

Newspaper Commemorates A Great Occasion

The first bridge in the immediate proximity of Niagara Falls was constructed in 1868. Of all pioneering ventures of that time, three quarters of a century past, the building of this bridge must have ranked among the most daring feats. Engineering has advanced far, and the contrast in appearance, between the original structure and the spectacular new Rainbow Bridge, is readily imagined. This contrast is, in fact, shown by actual pictures in a special edition of the Niagara Falls Evening Review—an attractive issue commemorating the dedication of the new Rainbow Bridge, "a link in international friendship". The edition, full of pictures and historical matter, is a delight to the reader and a creditable memento of this triumph in human progress.

Returning to that original span across the Niagara River — it was "a suspension bridge, only ten feet wide. Carriage traffic could proceed only one way at a time. The wooden towers consisted of 12 x 12 inch pine timbers". Of the collapse of the Falls View Bridge, in January 1938, we would like to quote more exciting recollections; and to enlarge upon the grandeur of the new Rainbow Bridge, which is the subject of this volume. But time forbids, and to any of our readers connected with the city or its surroundings, we warmly recommend a perusal of this Niagara Falls Evening Review special volume. There is much of friendly, community interest, and its rotogravure sections contain photographs of rare artistic quality.

The edition is available from the publishers at Niagara Falls, Ont., at 30 cents a copy, postpaid.

War on Contagious Diseases

In public addresses around the vicinity, Argenteuil Health Unit officials have recently emphasized the fact that any citizen faced with a case of contagious disease is in duty bound to report it, immediately.

This is most important when one realizes that during the months of January, February and March, 1942, 5,391 persons succumbed to infectious diseases in this province. The report of the Health Units of this Province for July states that 543 cases of contagious disease were reported and 858 were traced by the health officers.

These figures should incite people to take all the precautionary measures advised by our hygienists to prevent epidemics. As soon as a child, or an adult in the neighborhood, shows symptoms of ailing, precautions should be redoubled and the sick person isolated.

During the month of July, 182 epidemiological investigations were carried out in our health units and sanitary districts; 1,277 contact and suspected cases were examined; 849 houses were visited and 63 were placarded.

In giving out these figures to the press, the Minister of Health and Social Welfare, the Hon. Henri Groulx, gave the following warning: "It should not be forgotten that children living in the same home with one who has a contagious disease are barred from attending school for as long as the quarantine lasts and sometimes for a longer period, which may be determined by the health authorities."

Bible Study Course for High School Grades

Though for many years past the reading of selections from the Bible has been part of the curriculum for elementary grades in Protestant schools of this Province, no such work has been prescribed for high school grades. As an innovation in the current year, however Bible Study will form a part of the high school course in English and will be required of pupils in Grades VIII to XI. The decision to make Bible Study compulsory is in keeping with the thoughts of many people that a study of the Scriptures is fundamental in the life of man.

It is probable that the reading and study of the English Bible have declined during the past fifty years. Modern life has become so filled with distracting interests that even ordinary reading other than newspapers, is often relegated to a secondary place. In the Newbolt report on the Teaching of English in England, the opinion is expressed that "at the present time the Bible is probably less widely read and is less directly influential in our life and literature than it has been at any time since the Reformation — we are continually less and less familiar with the one great piece of literature which for centuries gave something of a common form, a common dignity, to the thought and speech of our people."

It is partly to meet the situation revealed in the above statement that pupils in the Protestant schools of Quebec are being given some knowledge of the contents of the English Bible — writes Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Protestant Education for this Province.

Sound Advice to Teachers

In a pamphlet of rules and regulations directed to Public School teachers, W. J. Stewart, B.A., an Ontario school inspector, has given some sound advice which should be digested by the teaching profession. Here is what he says:

"The chief business of every teacher is to direct the activities of her pupils so that they will grow into good, useful citizens. It is a mistake to think that this can be done merely by amusing the pupils. We often hear it said that the pupils should like and enjoy their work, and for the most part, this is true. However, I am firmly convinced that, educationally at least, we have been stressing this aspect of the problem to too great an extent. Our aim should be to instil in the minds of the pupils the attitude that whether a task is pleasant or unpleasant matters very little in the manner in which it should be performed. Pleasant or unpleasant, if it lies in the path of duty it should be done in the best manner possible. How can we expect to develop out of the pupils under our charge citizens who will sink their personal inclinations in the interests of service to others and the development of their own characters, if we do not lead them as children, to do unpleasant tasks? The wisest teacher is the one who comes nearest to instilling such an attitude in the minds of her pupils.

"As a second point, I would suggest special stress on the matter of respect for authority. I doubt if there was ever an age within the memory of the oldest members of our people when respect for authority seemed at so low an ebb. Pupils should be taught to think for themselves, but not to the extent that they flout constituted authority.

"In conclusion, may I wish every teacher a very pleasant and profitable school year. These are critical times in which none of us dares to give less than his best."

Don't Leave This to "George"

It is so easy to assume that someone else is writing letters to our Canadian lads overseas. When too many people do that, however, it simply means that our soldiers, sailors and airmen are forgotten altogether. They quite properly do not like it.

The other day a Canadian airman made this little speech over the radio: "To all the people who have written me letters I say 'Thanks!' — those who promised and have not written — 'Shame!' " and he said it with considerable snap.

In these days when mails do not arrive as regularly as formerly the brave boys in khaki are feeling more than a little lonely, and a letter even from a casual friend, is heartily welcomed. Now that the raiding season has opened in earnest any one of these gallant defenders of ours may be alive and well today and gone tomorrow. A bright, breezy letter from someone at home will be a godsend and will relieve in part the nervous strain they are under as they await the word of attack.

Do your bit towards keeping up the morale of our fighting men by writing at least one letter a week to someone or other, who is overseas.

"The Rumor Clinic"

Rumor: "Junk dealers are withholding scrap in order to get higher prices."

Fact: "The junk dealers cannot get higher prices by holding, because the Government has fixed ceiling prices, regulating sales to consuming mills by grades and classifications for all important waste materials."

Rumor: "Many discarded and worn out automobiles are permitted to lie in so-called Automobile Graveyards, when we need the scrap metals and rubber".

Fact: "Because everyday cars are normally sold to graveyards for junking, it is desirable to keep these yards operating as producers of scrap. It is obvious that every car cannot be scrapped as soon as it is turned in; however, it is the aim of the Salvage Campaign to speed up the process, so that every car sold to these yards will be completely dismantled and disposed of within 60 days".

Rumor: "There is a lot of unnecessary 'red tape' in the collection and disposal of Salvage".

Fact: "The collection and disposal of Salvage is a big job and it is necessary that instructions given to the public should be followed, such as bagging rags, flattening cardboard, etc. If these instructions are not followed, a bottleneck may be created at some central collection place . . . The collection of Salvage on the present scale imposes a great strain on all facilities — volunteer workers and dealers alike; therefore, public co-operation is essential to the successful operation of the campaign".

Here is a story which was obviously started in an attempt to cause resentment and dissatisfaction and undoubtedly aimed at interfering with registration of women under National Selective Service.

Rumor: "That girls and married women between 20 and 25 years and going to be conscripted for service in the army".

Fact: The National Selective Service, Ottawa, states that the above rumor is absolutely false.

(Note: Officials of National Selective Service have frequently pointed out the purpose of registration of women. Because of the heavy call upon our manpower, it is intended that many women, not employed or not usefully employed, will be offered employment in essential jobs. In order to ascertain how many may be available, registration is necessary. In this connection, it must be realized that while registration is compulsory — no compulsion will be used to force women to accept jobs offered to them.)

Rumor: "That the new Canadian five-cent coin is a forerunner of a complete new issue of Canadian currency. That when the new currency gets in general use, the old will be recalled. That, in order to redeem old currency, the owner will have to fill out a form at the bank — giving his name and address. That in this way the Government hopes to find out who has been slacking in war savings or income tax".

Fact: Mr. H. E. Ewart, Master of the Royal Mint, Ottawa, states: "This is the first I have heard of any such story, and on the face of it, it is impossible. The reason for the new coin is simply to save nickel, as the U.S.A. has done. We expect that it will save about 50 tons of nickel per year. As far as recalling old currency is concerned, that is out of the question as we cannot supply the demand now, though we are working 24 hours a day and 7 days a week. There are 90 million five-cent pieces in circulation in this country at the moment, and other denominations in proportion. To recall them would be entirely impossible".

Rumor: "170,000 Shells and fillers at a local munition plant were scrapped upon arrival at an Eastern Canadian port".

Fact: An Officer of the Department of Munitions and Supply, Ottawa, states: "This rumor is absolutely false. Loaded ammunition shipped to Canadian Ports from Canadian loading plants is all inspected, proved and accepted by the Canadian, British or U.S. Inspection Department. These Inspection Departments are headed by Military, Naval and Air Force Officials from the respective countries. At times, loaded ammunition is and will be returned from ports for re-shipping to other ports or for rectification due to improvement in design of some of the components, which is almost continuous".

You, too, can help in Canada's war effort. Don't repeat rumors — Report them! Write to The Canadian Column, Transportation Building, Montreal.

With the R.C.A.F.

By Flt.-Lieut. T. C. McCall, R.C.A.F.

Two outstanding sports leaders who have donned the uniform of their country to aid in this the greatest of all fights seem to differ on the procedure which leaders of military sporting activities should take. Squadron Leader Lionel Conacher, "Big Train" of Canada's great sporting family, is now on the road organizing Air Force hockey squads to play against civilian teams, and reports a potentially great club in the Toronto district. But this is not what Major Connie Smythe, erstwhile manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, feels should be done with military athletics. He is all for inter-camp competitions. But the "Big Train" says that playing civilian teams will enable R.C.A.F. squads to carry the banner of the service into the public spotlight, at the same time giving members of the service a strong rooting interest. But it's a theory that can be proved or disproved only when the puck season gets under way.

Sgt. Ben Gazelle, stationed with the R.C.A.F. at Aylmer, Ont., set a mark for commandoes to shoot at the other day. The former marathon swim star from Toronto was a passenger of a plane which developed engine trouble while flying 200 feet over a lake. Mistaking the pilot's "don't bail out" order, Ben quit the craft and parachuted into the water. Then he swam, fully clothed, to the shore, a distance of about 150 yards, climbed a steep 200-foot cliff and ran a mile and a half to the point where the plane had crashed. The pilot was uninjured, but considerably worried about the man who had just made one of the lowest leaps on record. "I had lot's of luck, that's all," was Ben's only comment.

Leading Airwoman Noreen Cambon, of Quebec City, now serving overseas with the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F., is a member of a service-minded family. A sister, Nursing Sister Margaret Cambon, was the first English nurse from Quebec City to go overseas, while her brother Kenneth was taken prisoner at Hong Kong, where he served with the Royal Rifles.

Unable, because of his youthfulness and the limited training facilities of his own country, to get into the Mexican Air Force, Luis Perez-Gomez travelled all the way to Ottawa to enlist in the R.C.A.F. It was just over three months ago when the Mexican youth explained to an interpreter in the Dominion's capital what he wished to do. Now he's in the precision squadron at No. 5 Manning Depot, Lachine, with a thorough working knowledge of the English language and the honor of having placed first in his pre-enlistment course. He learned English while taking the course.

Captain of the Stanstead College football team which won the Eastern Townships senior championship in 1938, Flt.-Sgt. F.D. Schofield was recently announced wounded in action in the Middle East. Flt.-Sgt. Schofield went overseas in April, 1941, and served there under Wing Commander Paddy Finucane before going to the Middle East via Malta.

"I'll say he's cheap. Expected me to go dutch treat when he was fined for speeding!"

Hard-Boiled Does It!

Robert E. Harvey, Denver's liaison agent with the growing Colorado military establishment, recently gave a little demonstration of one way to handle a slow-down.

Some 49 truckdrivers employed on a runway at Lowry Field, the Air Force's important technical school, became disgruntled and started driving at from two to five miles an hour. (There wasn't a strike.)

Mr. Harvey demanded that all automobile tires issued to the slow-downers be recalled, on the ground that they had been obtained for war production purposes only, and that the men's names be removed from all lists for future war jobs. The slowdowners ended —fast.

Pickling Is Preserving

Polish pilots who lay injured in hospitals were feted by English friends. Books — English, alas — were showered on them and they spent their convalescence struggling once again with a more elusive foe, English pronunciations, and all the queer vagaries of English spelling. It is worth recording that the squadron leader had studied the dictionary rather ponderously for a suitable word to express and appropriate sentiment on the departure of a Canadian squadron on operation. His parting words were "May God pickle you, gentlemen".

STORIED SPOTS FROM SEA TO SEA

By W. J. Banks, B.A.

New Johnstown

Post Office, Cornwall, Ont.

On the post office building at Cornwall, the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada has placed a tablet commemorating the courage and fidelity of the pioneer Loyalists who subdued the wilderness and laid the foundations of the present province of Ontario. A few settlers were to be found at this spot as early as 1776. New Johnstown, as the place was called at first, became the chief government depot for the entire region comprising what are now Ontario's lower St. Lawrence counties when the great migration of fugees began in earnest a few years later.

English, Irish, Lowland Scots and German settlers were numbered among the first homesteaders of Stormont county. Their descendants now live in amity with the large proportion of French Canadians who have moved into the district more recently. By the end of the eighteenth century a few stores, a smithy, windmills and residences had been joined in Cornwall by a courthouse and jail which added dignity to the settlement as the judicial centre for a large district.

In 1803 John Strachan, afterwards Toronto's first bishop, came to Cornwall and soon opened the upper province's pioneer grammar school. The town gained prominence as an educational centre, and there were educated many who became prominent in the public affairs of early Ontario. Among them was Chief Justice Robinson who, in 1834, cut the first sod for the great Cornwall canal. The progress of Cornwall, now an important industrial centre, has been steady ever since that time.

OBITUARY

Well Known Citizen Of Arundel Is Called by Death

Late Melvin C. Cooke

Arundel, Que.—This community has lost one of its most widely known citizens in the person of Melvin Coral Cooke, who died at his home in Arundel on September 13. He was the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Cooke.

He leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife, formerly Miriam F.E. Patton; four sisters—Mrs. C. S. Fosberg of Bournemouth, England; Mrs. W. T. Lins, of Belmar, New Jersey; Miss Ethel B., of Montreal; and Miss Winnifred M., of Ottawa; also three brothers — Roy G., of Montreal; Sgt. Leslie J., of Three Rivers; and Homer E., of Arundel.

The funeral was held in the United Church on September 15, conducted by the Rev. Chas. Cushing.

The pall-bearers were Herbert Cooke, Hugh Cooke, Arthur Graham, Roy G. Cooke, Sgt. Leslie J. Cooke and Homer E. Cooke.

The beautiful flowers and the large cortege of friends and neighbors, which accompanied the remains to the family burial plot, attested to the high regard in which he was held and the deep sympathy felt for his family.

Tribute at Funeral of Mille Isles Resident

Late Thomas J. Dawson

Mille Isles—This community has sustained a loss in the passing of one of its respected and life-long citizens, when, after several years of failing health, the death occurred on Friday, September 11, of Thomas James Dawson.

Mr. Dawson was in his 76th year, and was the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dawson, of Mille Isles.

The funeral service was held on Monday, September 14, at Christ Church, of which the deceased had been a life-long member, and was conducted by the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, assisted by the Mr. Horace G. Baugh.

There were many beautiful floral tributes, with a large attendance of sympathizing friends and relatives.

Those left to mourn his passing are his wife, the former Isabell Parker, of Lakefield; one daughter, (Hattie) Mrs. Henry Wood; a sister, Mrs. George Scott, also Miss Louise Dawson, Montreal, and two grandchildren.

Interment was made in Mille Isles cemetery. Those acting as pall-bearers were Edgar Strong, James A. Dawson, Lawrence Hodge, Wesley Dawson, John Noble and Henry Dawson.

Special Thanksgiving Services Held in the Parish of Grenville

Grenville — Harvest Thanksgiving in the congregations of Holy Trinity and St. Matthew's Churches next Sunday morning, and Evensong at 7.30 p.m., will conclude a week of special services, September 20-27, in thanksgiving for the blessings bestowed upon the Anglican parish of Grenville.

Other outstanding observances of this special week have been a thanksgiving for the restoration of the church and removal of the debt, at last Sunday's morning service with the Ven. J. F. Morris, Archdeacon of Clarendon and St. Andrew's, as guest preacher; the Pastoral Festival on St. Matthew's Day, last Monday; and on Wednesday a gathering of Women's Auxiliary from all parishes of the St. Andrew's Deanery for their annual conference. In the afternoon Mrs. A. S. Dewdney spoke on mission work in the northern part of the Dominion. Mrs. Dewdney is the wife of the Rev. A. S. Dewdney, missionary among the Eskimos and Indians in the vicinity of Fort Macpherson, N.W.T.

This Week of Thanksgiving will close with the Harvest Festival next Sunday.

A letter addressed by the rector, Rev. A. E. Hawes, to the parishioners of Grenville, contains the following reference to these observances: "The interest that all have shown in the work that has been done to make our Parish Church a Temple of God is apparent. What has been done and is planned for the future will remain for many years as a witness before man of the love and devotion the people of this community have for their Lord . . . Besides the prayerful interest of everyone, almost every wage-earner in the parish has helped to bear the cost of the work that has been done . . . The restoration of the churches and the removal of the debt has been a Parish effort, and we would like it to be a Parish Thanksgiving."

A letter of acknowledgement to distant friends, and an invitation to attend the services, was also sent by the rector to members who have left the Parish and vicinity of Grenville.

Christian Science Sunday Services

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 27.

The Golden Text is from Lamentations 5: 19. "Thou, O Lord, remainest for ever; thy throne from generation to generation."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor anything taken from it: and God doeth it, that man should fear before him." (Ecclesiastes 3: 14).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science reveals incontrovertibly that Mind is All-in-all, that the only realities are the divine Mind and idea. This great fact is not, however, seen to be sensible evidence, until its divine Principle is demonstrated by healing the sick and thus proved absolute and divine. This proof once seen, no other conclusion can be reached." (Page 109).

Wedding Solemnized In City Chapel

Baxter - Bulloch

The marriage of Janet Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ross Bulloch, of Upper Lachute and Montreal, to Second Officer Alexander Stewart Baxter, Merchant Marine, son of the late Robt. P. Baxter and of Mrs. Baxter, of Kirkcaldy, Fife, Scotland, took place Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in Divinity Hall Chapel, Montreal, Captain the Rev. T. W. Jones officiating. Mrs. W. M. Cottingham played the wedding music. Standards of white gladioli were used as decorations in the chapel.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of ice-blue satin, having a fitted basque bodice with sweetheart neckline embroidered in pearls and long sleeves ending in points over her wrists. Her halo of matching satin was worn with a face veil and long veil extending in the back to form a train and she carried a bouquet of Pink Delight roses and baby's breath with a sprig of heather sent from Dunoon, Scotland.

Mrs. F. W. FitzGerald, the bride's sister, as matron of honor, wore a full-length frock of American Beauty shade having a shirred velvet bodice and full taffeta skirt. She wore a velvet halo to match with a short veil and carried a cascade bouquet of matching cosmos.

Miss Isabel Jean Bulloch, another sister, as bridesmaid, wore a gown similar to that of the matron of honor in deep purple velvet and taffeta, with a matching halo hat and carried a bouquet of purple and mauve cosmos.

Dr. F. W. FitzGerald acted as best man for Mr. Baxter, and the ushers were Mr. George Young, Mr. Ralph FitzGerald, and Dr. Robert S. Mumford.

Mrs. Bulloch, the bride's mother, wore a gown of rose crepe with a hat of Alice blue ostrich feathers and a corsage bouquet of Sweetheart roses and larkspur.

Mrs. C. Cumming, grandmother of the bride, was in a gown of black silk crepe, and wore a hat to match, fox furs, and a corsage bouquet of roses.

Mrs. H. N. Carr, aunt of the bride, wore a gown of wine color lace, a hat to match and a corsage bouquet of roses.

Miss Claire and Miss Isabel FitzGerald, nieces of the bride, were dressed alike in frocks of peacock blue taffeta with matching hats.

The reception was held in the Prince of Wales Salon of the Windsor Hotel. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter left for the Laurentians, the bride travelling in a blue wool dress with matching hat and navy blue accessories, a blue coat trimmed with grey fox and a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

Guests attending from this vicinity included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. George Tattersfield, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Milnes, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. MacKimmie, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gordon, Miss Jean Gordon, Miss Anne Lessard, Mr. Roger Gravel of Lachute; and Mr. Alex Holden, of Brownsburg.

Avoca United Church Scene of Pretty Wedding

Bates - Smith

Avoca, Que.—A very pretty wedding took place in St. Andrews United Church, Avoca, on Thursday afternoon, September 17, between Gladys Helen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smith, and LAC. Elden Douglas Bates, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Bates, of Avoca. The Rev. S. J. Pike, of Brownsburg, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length dress of ivory flowered Swiss organdy, with a slight train, over satin. Her finger-tip veil fell from a wreath of rosebuds, and she was carrying an arm bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath. Her only adornment was a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom.

The bride's only attendant was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Howard Smith, who wore a dress of Alice blue with navy accessories, and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli and ferns.

Mr. Evan Bates, Jr., attended his brother as best man.

Mrs. Smith wore a navy blue dress with navy accessories, and a corsage. Mrs. Bates, mother of the groom, wore a wine-colored dress with navy accessories.

Mrs. James Bates played the wedding music. The church was prettily decorated with autumn flowers and ferns for the occasion.

Following the ceremony, close relatives of the two families were received at the home of the bride for the wedding breakfast, after which the happy couple left on a short trip to Montreal. For travelling, the bride wore a beige ensemble with brown accessories.

Upon their return, a reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Smith.

LAC. and Mrs. Bates will reside in Vulcan, Alta., where the groom is now stationed.

Autumn Wedding at St. Simeon's Church

Scott - Lavis

On Saturday afternoon at three-thirty o'clock in the St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, the marriage took place of Miss Agnes Lavis, daughter of Mr. W. R. Lavis, of the Merchant Marine, and of Mrs. Lavis, of Port Talbot, Wales, to Mr. Melvin G. Scott, son of the late Walter Scott and of Mrs. Scott, Lachute. The Rev. B. J. Thorpe performed the ceremony.

The church was decorated with gladioli and ferns and the guest pews were marked with pink and white flowers tied with white ribbon. Mrs. Herbert Cowan played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. A. J. Lavis, was gowned in floor-length white brocaded taffeta with hip-length veil of white tulle illusion, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Lloyd Cruise, cousin of the bride, was matron-of-honor; she wore a floor-length gown of pink brocaded taffeta with shoulder-length veil of pink illusion, and carried a bouquet of pink roses, forget-me-nots and baby's breath.

Miss Jean Lavis, cousin of the bride, and Miss Vera Scott, niece of the groom, acted as flower girls, Miss Lavis wore blue taffeta and Miss Scott pink organdy; both wore hats to match and carried nosegays of assorted flowers.

Mr. Scott was supported by Mr. Lloyd Cruise as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Norman Lavis and Mr. Sydney Shepherd.

Mrs. Lavis, aunt of the bride, wore a gown of Piccadilly blue with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Scott, mother of the groom, was in a gown of black and white, with a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lavis, where about 50 guests were present. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake and the house was decorated with gladioli. Later the happy couple left for a motor trip to Quebec City. The bride travelled in a two-piece suit of wool in Military blue with navy accessories. On their return they will reside in Lachute.

Flt.-Lieut. Wilson Gall, of the R.C.A.F., Trenton, Ont., and LAC. V. Pope, of the R.C.A.F., Victoriaville, were week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gall.

Mr. George Deacon, Jr., left on Sunday to attend the Montreal Technical School; he passed third in the entrance examinations, for which there were 246 French and 112 English students.

Approaching Marriage

The marriage of Stella Gladys, daughter of Mrs. Richard Brown and of the late Mr. Brown, to George Curtis Gain, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gain, of Lakefield, will take place on Saturday, September 26, at four o'clock, in the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, Lachute.

Sewing Machines Are Needed by Red Cross

Lachute Unit of the Red Cross is appealing for several sewing machines to be used in the local work-rooms. Any lady having a machine not presently in use, or willing to loan same for war work, is asked to communicate with the branch president, Mrs. Geo. Y. Deacon.

DOES YOUR NOSE FILL UP, SPOIL SLEEP?

3-PURPOSE MEDICINE

If your nose fills up, makes breathing difficult, spoils sleep — put 3-purpose Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril.

Va-tro-nol does 3 important things for you: (1) shrinks swollen membranes; (2) soothes irritation; (3) helps flush out nasal passages, clearing clogging mucus, relieving transient congestion. It brings more comfort, makes breathing easier, invites sleep.

When a Cold Threatens, use Va-tro-nol at first sniffle or sneeze. Helps to prevent colds developing.

Clear telephone lines for
ALL-OUT PRODUCTION

Your telephone is part of a vast interlocking system now carrying an abnormal wartime load. Don't let needless delays hold up messages on which production efficiency may depend.

OTHER "WARTIME TELEPHONE TACTICS"

1. SPEAK distinctly, directly into the mouthpiece.
2. ANSWER promptly when the bell rings.
3. BE BRIEF. Clear your line for the next call.
4. USE OFF-PEAK hours for your Long Distance Calls.

These things may look trifling, but on 6,500,000 daily telephone calls, they are very important.

On Active Service — Giving Wings to Words

— THE INCOME TAX IS NOT TOUGH

Fighting Canadians are making sacrifices every day which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. They are risking their lives and compared to their contributions the income tax is not tough. It's a fair tax, because this is our war, too. Everybody has to pay — men and women workers, and companies as well. To ease the burden, the Government has instructed employers to deduct a portion of the tax every pay day so that you avoid having to pay one large lump sum at the end of the year.

Think of our fighting men — and you'll agree, the income tax is not tough!

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

GRAND MANAN

We have just had a most interesting trip to Grand Manan (pronounced like the first two syllables of banana), an island just about five miles off the coast of Maine, but a New Brunswick island. The boat trip from Saint Andrews is appealing as one is in sight of shore most of the time, New Brunswick, Maine, or one of the numerous islands dotting Passamoquoddy Bay. The boat touches at various parts, depending on the freight or passengers aboard. This trip we stopped at Eastport, Maine, and at Campobello and saw the Roosevelt residences through the trees. Grand Manan is about 15 miles long and six miles wide at its widest point. The people have settled along one coast and there is only one road across the island. It is a beautiful spot and has so many attractive homes, well kept-up. There are many good summer homes there as the place has a fascination all its own. It was pleasant to find a fishing settlement that looked prosperous. Grand Manan is the centre of the herring fishing. There have been poor times the last few years but good times are here again, as the U.S. market is good.

WEIRS

Around Grand Manan the herring fishing is mostly done by weirs. These are large enclosures made from poles about sapling size. They are heart shaped and when the herring go in they stay there as they swim in a straight line and cannot find the entrance. The weirs are lined with a net, a seine, and when they gather the net in, the fish are inside it. They are dumped into dorys and are taken ashore for processing into sardines pickled, or smoked herring. There are numerous smoke-houses scattered all along the shore at the various harbors. We watched them stringing the herring. They first salt them for two or three days, then they put them on a stick thrust through the gills. At a guess, I would say there are about 36 herring on each stick or string, then these are suspended from racks in the smoke house and smoked. Men and women were working side by side stringing the fish and the speed at which some of them worked was amazing. It looked as if the women were the fastest stringers, and some of them will string over 700 strings a day — and that ain't hay. They loaded empty hogsheads at Eastport on the trip over and great quantities were taken off there on the return trip. There are about 85 weirs and they are all named. Some have people's names, and here are a few of the others Brown bread or Mystery, Hardtack, Try Again, Bluebell, Envy, Northstar. They had to think up plenty of names. We did not see them seining herring but we did see them seine a lobster pound. The lobsters are caught during the season and kept in the pound and then taken out when the market is right.

THE LOBSTER SHEDS ITS SHELL

Did you know that a lobster sheds its shell? I never heard of it but when we saw them seining the pound for lobsters, there was one which had just cast its shell and the shell was there beside it as clean as a whistle. They pull, those wide claws through the narrow elbows somehow. The lobster itself felt like a very stiff jelly. The fisherman showed us one with a shell about two weeks old. It was thin but quite firm. They told us that the lobsters grew only after they cast their shells, and they would grow from an inch-and-a-quarter, to an inch-and-a half during the time they were without the shell. Some of the lobsters in the pound had their backs covered with seaweed which had grown right on them. Near-by we saw a leaf of kelp. It was about fourteen feet long and perhaps a foot-and-a-half wide. The stem is like a piece of rubber hose and some of the stems were as long as eighteen feet. They are not as big as a garden hose but maybe an inch across. Dark Harbor, on Grand Manan, is the place where the best dulse is supposed to come from. There is a natural sea-wall there and the dulse is gathered and dried on it. If it hasn't dried the day it is spread they have to throw it out. So you see it is a chancy business. Dulse is one of those things you either like very much or not at all. It tastes like smoked herring and smells like wet leather drying. After you have chewed it a little it feels as if you were chewing a rubber band. Yet to most Maritimers some good dulse is a real treat. I am Maritimer enough to like Steamed Clams, Salt Cod and Pork Scraps, Blueberry Muffins, Baked Beans for Saturday night supper, even doughnuts for breakfast, but when it comes to dulse I can very well do without it.

SWEET RED PEPPERS

Wash peppers and wipe dry. Cut a slice from the stem end and remove seeds. Cut into thin strips with the scissors. Scald well in boiling water, then drop into ice water to crisp them. Drain well. Make a syrup using proportion of 1 cup of sugar to 2 cups vinegar, Put peppers into sterilized jars and pour syrup over them. Seal. This is one of the most useful things I make. It gives color and flavor to sandwiches and salads all through the winter. Sometimes instead of putting the peppers in the sandwiches I put a small piece on top of each sandwich as a garnish and my guests usually exclaim over the attractive looking plate. There is nothing like a bit of red to take the eye in food.

WOMEN INCREASE IN FISH CRAFTS

Making Fine Contribution to Industry this Wartime, Experts Say

Ottawa, Sept. 22 (CP)—Women are playing an increasingly important part in Canadian fish canneries and "Doing a surprisingly good job," the Fisheries Department said in a report quoting a prominent cannery operator.

Almost 45 per cent of the workers employed in fish canneries and other fish processing plants last year were women, the department said. Before long more than half would be women it was estimated.

An increase of 800 women employees last year brought the total of women employed in the industry to 7,100. British Columbia employs the largest number — 3,917 and New Brunswick the next largest group — 1,432.

Suggestions for the School Lunch Box

By Betty Barclay

It is important for mothers to see that the contents of their children's lunch boxes are nutritious.

Since sandwiches form a main part of the school lunch, their preparation is most important. Wholesome breads should be used for sandwiches. Graham, whole wheat, oatmeal, brown, raisin, and nut bread are excellent. Cold bran or whole wheat muffins or filled rolls are also tempting.

Fillings of the sandwiches require special preparation. Cheese, meat, eggs, nuts, dried fruits or vegetables should be put through the food chopper. Cream cheese, peanut butter and other compact substances should be thinned with cream. Ground meats, eggs, and vegetables should be moistened with a small amount of salad dressing or cream and vinegar. Vegetables should be provided, if possible. Finely chopped celery, lettuce, or sliced tomato may be used alone or with cottage cheese.

Jellies, jams and conserves make sweet sandwiches or a tiny jar of the fruited sweet may be tucked into the lunch box.

And please don't forget to include a thermos container of milk, and some kind of fresh fruit — such as an apple, pear, orange, banana, etc.

Care should be taken in the packing of the lunch. Wrapped articles should be placed, so far as is possible, in the order in which the food will be eaten.

The heaviest foods, however, should be placed at the bottom.

Select a lunch box that can be kept clean. Lunch boxes should be scalded and aired daily. Those made of light-weight metal are best. Many attractive boxes are now made with a vacuum bottle which fits the box. A lunch box should not be air-tight, as a circulation of air prevents the mingling of odors.

Paper napkins and cups are essential lunch box accessories.

Cheese Sauce

4 Tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 3 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, dash of paprika, ½ pound American cheese, cut in small pieces.

Melt butter in saucepan. Add flour and stir to a smooth paste. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly, and continue stirring and cooking until thickened. Season with salt, pepper, and paprika. Add cheese and stir until cheese is melted.

COLLEGE CAREER IN "PIGGY BANK"

Two Baby Hogs Started Girl's Schooling Dowry of $5,000 In Four Years

Crown Point, Ind. (CP) —Rosy-cheeked Dorothy Jean Homfeld has amassed $5,000 from the hog business and she's retiring at 17. Her goal—to save enough for four years at Purdue University — achieved, Dorothy's selling out.

Four years ago Dorothy Jean bought two baby pigs, great-granddaughters of "Blue Boy," the big pig made famous by the late Will Rogers in the movie "State Fair." She still has those two pigs — named Dew Drop and Blue Belle, and both have become champions.

The sun-tanned farmerette during her years of hog-raising rose daily at 6.30 and kept going until 10 or 11 at night. Yet she insists:

"I don't think it's so unusual. A farm girl likes to have many interests and none of mine are especially unusual."

Musician Too

Meanwhile, her "many interests" included learning to play the piano, flute and piccolo, in 1941 being acclaimed the most outstanding 4-H Club girl in Lake County, sewing her own clothing for daily and formal wear and typing her father's business letters. And she never missed a day of high school.

A single episode that shows Dorothy Jean's keenness as a hog-raiser occurred last spring when a terrific midwest blizzard halted many producers from getting through to the Chicago market. Visualizing a resulting high market, she persuaded two neighbor boys to help her with offers of "a good cash bonus," and loaded a dozen 300-pound hogs onto a wagon.

She drove the small tractor through sub-freezing temperatures and over 50 miles of hazardous roads, finally arriving at the stockyards. As she anticipated, she scored "a hit" on an extremely high hog market. Next morning she showed worried parents a check for $1,500.

Price Board Hints For Home Dressmakers

By Marjorie Minnes

Montreal — The Fall shopping season is in full swing and women are choosing yard goods, which either they or their pet dressmaker will fashion into practical yet becoming wartime creations.

Most fashion-conscious women are aware that Autumn clothes will conform with the styles dictated by the eliminations and restrictions introduced by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. A survey indicates that there are still some dressmakers who do not realize that they must abide by the new regulations as well as the manufacturer.

In many homes there is a pattern drawer, where year after year the paper envelopes filled with flimsy tissue patterns are allowed to accumulate on the off-chance that some day one of them might be pressed into service again. Often they are used for a jacket, a skirt or an unusual hood neckline.

In making these composite frocks, dressmakers are advised by J. A. Klein, administrator of women's, misses' and children's clothing, to make sure that the adopted feature conforms with the regulations. Hoods are no more permissible than jackets or even peplums for they violate the ruling forbidding any cloth over cloth.

Swinglines are restricted. In woolen frocks the sweep must not exceed 68 inches and in frocks of rayon and cotton an 80 inch sweep is allowed. Hems vary from two inches on a straight-cut dress to one half inch on a flared cotton dress.

Dressmakers, whose stock-in-trade is their well-turned-out customers, would hesitate to dress their clientele in anything but the most up-to-date attire. To follow the style trend, they are obliged to familiarize themselves with the new regulations obtainable in any office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

HER SILVER STRIPES

London (CP) — Mrs. Cynthia Jones, 22-year-old native of Eastleigh, Hants., claims the distinction of being the first Merchant Navy woman wireless operator. She started out as a stewardess aboard a troopship when war started and later qualified to "put up" silver stripes, the emblem wireless operators wear aboard ship.

Men workers lose time, says the boss of an airplane factory, in smiling at women workers. Love, in fact, laughs at lady locksmiths, tinsmiths, welders and machinists.

WINTER'S HATS SPROUT WINGS

Skyways the Theme for Headgear and Actress Shows Lead on N. Y. Stage

New Nork, Sept. 21 (CP)—"All God's chillun got wings" . . .

It's the theme of the day, from the world's skyways to the hit parade, from the Kleig lights of Hollywood to the dimmed lights of New York.

Even hats take wings this season and the fall openings herald the return of the ostrich plume, the pheasant wing, the hackle quill and the coq feather.

Helene Garnell has designed a group of hats for Anna Neagle to wear in her new film, "Wing and the Woman," based on the life of the late Amy Mollison, whose silver wings blazed new flying trails for women and added a gallant page to the history of British aviation.

In the morning in the show, Anna Neagle wears silver wings on a blue felt turban. At noon she will wear dark blue velours — with wings — to lunch; and at night to dinner pale blue felt hat with matching feather trim.

TAILORS DEPLORE AUSTERITY DRESS

Eve Was The First Tailoress, They Say, but Men May Have To Carry Handbags

London (CP)—More than 300 of London's best tailors attended a meeting to discuss the present state of the trade and, said a local newspaper, "they were the saddest group of tailors who have ever come together since the creditors of Beau Brummel met."

Indeed it was a sad meeting as these members of the world's oldest trade — "for Eve was the first tailoress when she made Adam's fig-leaf suit," they were told — lamented the passing of the trouser turn-up, the reduction from four waistcoat pockets to two and the end of the double-breasted coat.

"Men are afraid of the austerity suit," it was claimed. "They think they look like marked men in them." One tailor argued that the suit, which saves 1½ per cent material, was imposed for political and not economic reasons.

"Where are men going to keep their glasses, tobacco pouch, pens, pencils, cigarets, money (if any), watch and papers?" asked another. "where does Mr. Churchill keep his cigars?"

Possibly, it was suggested, they should carry a flat handbag as women did when pockets went out of fashion. Truly life is hard these days for the solons of Saville Row.

MAKING ANOTHER PRODUCTION MARK

(CP)—Evelyn Duncan, 22-year-old London war worker, who set everybody in Britain talking a year ago by creating a world production record, has done it again. On September 20, 1941, she finished a week in which she made 6,150 anti-aircraft shell components. A year later she broke a record for any one night shift by making 1,700 shell components.

Balanced Meals Rank High in Importance

Balanced meals are just as important as balanced budgets, according to Miss Marion Harlow, of the Federal Nutrition Services. A well-balanced diet means better health for everyone and a more efficient war effort.

It is not so much what people eat for a particular meal that counts; it is what they eat during an entire day. Dinner or supper, or perhaps an evening snack, can round out the essential food requirements that may have been missed at other meals. One or two changes in a menu can often make it balance with other meals and conform to the rules for healthful eating.

Prunes are very good for breakfast, and rich in iron. But remember that they do not contain the Vitamin C found in tomatoes and citrus fruits. Fresh or canned tomatoes included in the menu for lunch will supply this.

Conscientious Objector: I'd lay three to one on mum.

Here Are Women Who Kept Secret

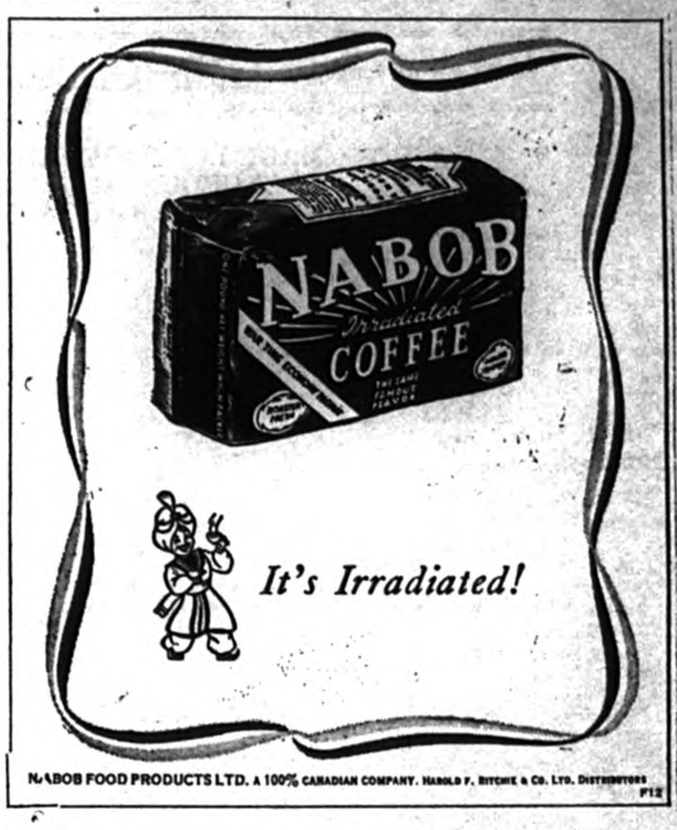

London (CP) — Britain's young women know how to keep a secret, too.

For weeks before the story of the new mass-produced $8 Sten sub-machine gun was made public, Auxiliary Territorial Service Privates Margaret Richings and Violet Clark, both 19, were engaged in packing the guns at an ordnance depot.

They handled thousands of them. They were told they were engaged in secret work. They never blabbed.

It's strange how moths will seldom feast
On garments which you like the least.
But on the raiment dear to you
The little pests will chew and chew!
Old cast-off models, quite passé,
They'll never touch. But once you lay
Your favorite outfit by, beware!
The moths' next banquet will be there!

MAGICIAN PROVIDES BACKGROUND FOR LAUREL-HARDY GAGS

How much is a movie laugh worth to Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy? They say it is worth as much to them and their producers as they have to pay for it. They will wreck furniture, throw a thousand pies, undergo any kind of physical pain to get those explosive laughs in the theatre.

In their new picture A-Haunting We Will Go — which appears at the Rex September 27-28 and the Capitol September 29-30 — 20th Century-Fox has laid out many dollars for the services of Dante, the famous magician, so that the comedians could become involved in some of his stunts with hilarious results.

Studios have spent thousands of dollars to get a few laughs, only to snip them out of the picture altogether after the gags didn't quite measure up at sneak previews. On the other hand, however, many a Laurel and Hardy gag has cost the studio nothing. For most of their basis mannerisms are simply envolved. Laurel's famous crying expression and Hardy's exasperation, which, through the years have become almost their trade marks, were mere improvisations.

Sydney Greenstreet Is Fat Man in 'Across the Pacific'

"Motion pictures," said Sydney Greenstreet, "are extraordinary things. I make one picture and find that more people know about me than during my 37 years on the stage. Remarkable how many spectators they reach.

Greenstreet is the "fat man" of The Maltese Falcon. That was his first motion picture. At the moment he is featured in his third film, Across the Pacific (showing in next program at the Capitol) with Humphrey Bogart and Mary Astor.

It took Hollywood a long time to lure Greenstreet away from the theatre, and then it won only half the battle. After his first two pictures he returned to Broadway, where he rejoined Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontain—he'd been with them seven years—in There Shall Be No Night, which only closed because of the war. Then he returned to Hollywood for Across the Pacific. "The business fascinates me," he explains. "It's a tremendous medium. You know a camera lens is the greatest critic in the world. It picks up every flaw, every mistake. One must be on his guard every moment."

Greenstreet was both pleased and amazed by the critical and public acclaim he received for The Maltese Falcon. With the exception of a brief period when he attempted to become a tea planter in Ceylon, Greenstreet hasn't stopped acting since he broke into amateur theatricals when he was 21. He got into his first professional opportunity in England and made his American bow some 25 years ago.

GOLF PRO'S TIE IN INVITATION EVENT HELD SUNDAY ON THE LOCAL COURSE

Stan Horne, Ernie Wakelam Card 70's to Split Prize

Special to The Watchman
By Jim Tattersall

Stan Horne and Ernie Wakelam of Montreal Islesmere and Royal Ottawa respectively, sped twice around the nine-hole course on Sunday here carding two-under par 70's and tying for first money in the Lachute Open.

Seventy-five competed, before a large gallery.

Wakelam owed his triumph to superb putting, sinking several eight-footers and canning a chip shot on the sixth.

Horne's finish was dramatic. He came to the last hole, a 355-yarder, with 67. He knew Wakelam had 70. "I'll birdie this one," he said, getting off a drive of 290.

His reliable dynamiter caught the green eight feet from the flag and after scrutinizing the lie, he sank his putt. Horne played the second nine holes in 32 — four under par.

Wakelam took 34 first time around, 36 second. Horne lost a ball on the fifth and was docked two strokes.

Third money was assigned to Jack Archer, Montreal Municipal pro, with 72. Gerry Proulx, Fairway driving range, Montreal, had 73. He startled the spectators by overshooting a 450-yard green on his second shot, using a No. 8 iron.

M. Kerr was low amateur with 82. Then Harry Joy of Islesmere with 84. F. D. Brault had 67, low net, and Y. St. Germain 69.

Local amateur wins were as follows:

Low gross for Lachute, George Tattersfield.

Paul Pelletier, sealed hole.

Special prizes, Gavin Walker, Oswald Carrière, Philippe Valois.

'CROSSROADS', STORY OF MIXED IDENTITY

William Powell and Hedy Lamarr are together for the first time in Crossroads, the film to be shown at the Capitol tomorrow night and Saturday.

Excitement and romance vie with one another, with Powell in the dramatic role of a man who finds himself struggling against malevolent odds to maintain the life he has built for himself, and Miss Lamarr as his helpmate.

Not a mystery, but a drama which is said to combine all the elements of suspense, intrigue, romance and thrills, the M-G-M melodrama gives both Powell and Miss Lamarr opportunity for intensely stirring and emotional display of their individual talents.

The supporting cast is headed by Basil Rathbone and Claire Trevor.

Jack Conway, responsible for Boom Town and Honky Tonk, directs from a screenplay.

Playing the role of a French diplomat, Powell is catapulted into a life of intrigue when Rathbone accuses him of once being a noted underworld character. With the help of his accomplice, Miss Trevor, Rathbone baffles Powell to such an extent that he doesn't know which is the true identity.

His role of David Talbot, is a decided departure from Powell's debonair Nick Charles of Thin Man fame.

Following her portrayal of a New York business executive in H. M. Pulham, Esquire, and the Mexican Spitfire in Tortilla Flat, Miss Lamarr has a further opportunity in Crossroads.

Rathbone's Sarrou continued his screen villainies. Another and vivid "wicked woman" role falls to Miss Trevor as Michele, Paris night club singer. She sings "Till You Return, an original number by Arthur Schwartz and Howard Dietz.

B'BG MAN HAS BRED COCKER SPANIELS FOR TWENTY YEARS

Dog Breeding and Partridge Hunting Are His Hobbies

Brownsburg —

Perhaps it was his love for hunting that impelled Charley Vary to come and work in a cartridge factory. His knowledge of rifles, cartridges, partridge and bird dogs, extensive from a sportman's viewpoint, played a part.

He had this knowledge instilled into him in his tender youth, for his father was one of the few trappers in the district. His interest always focussed on the reloading operations that went on in their own home, for at that time it was common practice for a trapper to buy the primers and do his own reloading.

Charley grew up with a love for hunting and at this season he will be off each week-end to shoot partridge. It was this same love for hunting that caused him to develop a hobby into one of the first class kennels in Eastern Canada. He has been breeding dogs for 20 years, always cocker spaniels, and they are known from coast to coast. In some years he has disposed of as many as 200 pups. The kennel has become quite a business, but Charley still considers this a hobby.

He never advertises his kennel, claiming that the dogs sell themselves. He always has a waiting list stretching from here to the Atlantic coast and all the way round to New York state. He seldom enters them in dog shows because he has not got the time. He knows they are good dogs anyway for any time he did show them they were among the winners. There is one of his spaniels particularly that stands out in his admiration and affection. She is now 11 years old and he refuses to believe there is another dog in the domaine that has been instrumental in getting so many partridges. "That dog has been particularly good to me," he comments.

He figures that a good cocker spaniel is essential to good partridge hunting. It enables a man to cover a far greater distance. But while the dog plays an important part in this work he figures the sportsman must know what he is about. He usually takes his holidays in the Fall and goes on partridge hunting expeditions, as his father did years ago to supply the needs of the district for this game. He had his customers and in the Fall he was able to keep them supplied.

Untimely Death of 'Nice Gentle Horse'

Charlotte, N.C. Sept. 20 (AP)—To the classified advertisement department of the News on Saturday came this notice:

"For sale: Nice gentle horse with reconditioned buggy and bridle. Owned called to army."

An hour before deadline for the afternoon final Classified Advertisment Manager T. K. Moore rushed into the composing room, grabbed the ad from the page form, and scribbled out this version.

"For sale: Reconditioned buggy, harness and bridle practically new. Owner called to army."

The horse had dropped dead.

Fifteen minutes later, Moore dashed in again. This time he took the whole thing out.

For when the horse died, it fell over on the buggy shafts and broke them.

The owner hadn't made up his mind about the bridle.
