Legislature Appoints Group to Plan for Maximum Post-War Employment in Prov. Quebec

Representatives of All Classes and Interests to Study Future Welfare

By GUY GAGNON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec, Oct. 6 (CP) — Quebec last week was provided with a new post-war body that will study economic needs of the province and draw up a plan for making the best use of labor when the war is over.

Hon. Jules Brillant, of Rimouski, member of the Quebec Legislative Council, will head the new body known as the Provincial Post-war Economic Advisory Council. Mr. Brillant is president of the Lower St. Lawrence Power Company.

The new organization will conduct an inquiry into agricultural, forestry, mineral and industrial resources of the province and will suggest measures to be taken for their fullest development. It will also study the needs of farmers, fishermen, craftsmen, small manufacturers and small dealers.

The legislation creating the council was introduced by Premier Godbout during the last session of the Legislative Assembly. He said at the time that the measure was designed to obtain the best possible study of the economic life of the province with a view to dealing with post-war problems.

The body represents all walks of life, from agriculture to education, with special attention to labor. The vice-president is Henri Sorgius of Grand'Mere, Laviolette County. A civil and forestry engineer, Mr. Sorgius is manager of forestry operations of the Consolidated Paper Corporation.

Education is represented by Rev. Father Georges H. Leveque, director of the School of Social Sciences at Laval University and member of the Superior Council of Labor; Col. Wilfrid Bovey, member of the Legislative Council and in charge of public relations at McGill University; and Esdras Minville, director of the Ecole des Hautes Etudes Commerciales of Montreal.

Hon. Jacob Nicol, K.C., of Sherbrooke, member of the Legislative Council, and J. Edouard Simard, vice-president and administrator of Sorel Industries and Marine Industries at Sorel, will represent the industrial and business side of the council.

Labor is represented by Gerard Picard, general secretary of the Confederation of Catholic Workers of Canada, and Charles Masse, of Montreal, provincial vice-president of the Canadian Legislative Board, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Charles Gagne, professor at the Agricultural School of Laval University and Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, will take care of forests. Mines and other resources will be represented by H. L. Roscoe, of Noranda, Temiscaming County, vice-president of the Quebec Mining Association and of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy; J. O. Wilson, forestry engineer of Quebec and manager of forestry operations of the Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Company; Paul M. Bourget, civil engineer of Thurso, Papineau County, official of the Singer Manufacturing Company.

Other members are Mrs. Henri Vautelet, of Montreal, head of the Federation des Oeuvres de Charite, and Eugene L'Heureux, editor-in-chief of the Quebec daily newspaper, L'Action Catholique.

Members are appointed for a three-year term but they are eligible for re-appointment. The council upon the order of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council or in the manner fixed in its by-laws, will have power to pass by-laws for its internal government, to be approved by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. Powers to hold public inquiries under the Public Enquiry Commission Act are given the council.

Provision is made also for the appointment of associate members of the council, representing the various departments of the provincial government. The associate members may take part in the deliberations of the council but may not vote.

Members of the council will serve without remuneration but will be entitled to indemnities for their expenses in attending meetings.

Meantime, rumors of general provincial elections this fall are dying slowly and although a Montreal morning daily newspaper set November 15 as a likely date, press correspondents at the Quebec Legislature seem to agree that elections are not likely to be held before the spring or early summer of 1944.

HELD SECOND BLOOD CLINIC

200 Volunteers Are Needed for December Clinic

The second clinic conducted here under auspices of the Red Cross Mobile Blood Donor Unit was held in Lachute Auditorium on Monday, and proceeded with a smooth efficiency which attained almost to perfection, thanks to past experience and to good planning.

A total of 141 donors passed through the clinic, and 123 donations were taken. This denotes a high percentage of volunteers qualifying as fit. The local staff of doctors, nurses and helpers were augmented by the mobile unit staff under direction of Mrs. K. E. Hubley, of Montreal.

About two-thirds of the donors were new volunteers, while the other third were previous donors. The local committee are desirous of having 200 volunteers for the next clinic, to be held during December. Though there should not be any difficulty in securing this number of donors, a publicity campaign among factories, businesses and clubs may help in securing a perpetual flow of volunteers for as long as this urgent service is needed.

Some disappointment was felt when a few individuals failed to attend the clinic after all arrangements had been made, as negligence of this kind tends to disrupt the planned schedule.

Noted again among the voluntary donors were many bearing close relationship to men on active service from these parts. From the Brownsburg volunteers one noted Mrs. Wm. Fletcher, mother of the first Nursing Sister to serve from this county, namely Lt. Alma Fletcher, with the 14th Montreal General Hospital Unit in Britain.

Officers of the organizing committee wish to thank all who contributed in any way to the success of this undertaking.

Award for Service To Advancement Of Agriculture

W. H. Ayers Made Commander of "Merite Agricole"

The highest award conferred by the Province of Quebec for service to the interests of agriculture, has been presented to Mr. W. Harry Ayers, industrialist of this town. Mr. Ayers has been made a Commander of l'Ordre du Merite Agricole and has received from the Province a gold medal attesting to this honor.

Mr. Ayers' support to the Argenteuil Agricultural Society and the annual Spring Fair is warmly recognized by the farming community who link these enterprises with local advancement of agriculture and livestock breeding. For the past 15 years since the decease of his brother John T. Ayers, Mr. Harry Ayers has been honorary president of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, of which he is also a life member.

Thanksgiving!

In period of plenty, and in time of peace, when humankind has so much to be thankful for — then, strangely enough, we feel less stirred with gratitude than in darker days, when the fewer blessings are more keenly valued. It takes the grim experience of sorrow and misfortune, to impress the true worth of such blessings as remain.

This year, perhaps as never before, Canada may appraise her fortunes with true appreciation. Havoc and destruction we have seen in other lands; in spirit we have shared the sufferings and humiliation of other peoples. Some of us, indeed, have known the personal grief of war. Yet now the hours of discouragement, which we hesitated to confess, have given way to a surer confidence of Victory.

With this anticipation clearer in our minds, and with the comparative plenty we are privileged to enjoy and to share with those less fortunate — could this Canada of ours find greater cause to justify a real Thanksgiving?

OBJECTIONS TO COUNTY SCHOOL SYSTEM FRANKLY DEALT WITH BY AN AUTHORITY

A. S. Johnson Speaker, Gives Impressions from His Experience in Promoting Advancement of Education

The County School System, or co-operative enterprise in education, was broached as a topic for public study on Tuesday evening in Lachute High School. The meeting was called by Geo. Y. Deacon, as member of the sub-committee of the Department of Education in the Province of Quebec and as organizer for the district. Though the gathering was not large, it was composed of individuals representative of educational matters in almost every municipality in Argenteuil and Two Mountains and of many who are earnestly interested in educational reform.

Guest speaker of the evening was A. S. Johnson, of Thetford Mines, who has organized the County School System in Megantic County.

In opening his address, Mr. Johnson claimed that the topic of larger education was a contentious one and that many difficulties had to be overcome and problems solved. He said he was not representing any particular faction or speaking under any particular auspices, but as an ordinary citizen interested in education and child welfare, as a parent and taxpayer, and as one who "believes in the common good". As to qualifications to address the gathering, Mr. Johnson recalled that he has served as local chairman of the Thetford Mines School Commission for 20 years, as trustee of Bishop's University for 13 years, and four years on the Protestant Committee in Quebec Province; and he was on the rural sub-committee.

Review of Quebec Education

The speaker gave a brief historical survey of education in Quebec, how prior to 1875 the government was not interested in matters of culture and did not contribute financially to schools. This condition was changed after the union of Upper and Lower Canada, and grants were given to schools for grades up to seven.

The next notable transition in Quebec education was the formation of two separate boards, the Catholic and Protestant; and many years of public apathy resulted from this set-up. This dual situation, claimed Mr. Johnson, was unique in the world, where there are two languages and two religions to contend with. Only in South Africa where Boers and English have separate schools is a similar condition found, though the religious aspect is not the same.

Mr. Johnson spoke of the reforms in Quebec education in 1936, which were brought about by the comparison of systems in Ontario, Britain and the United States. It was found that children in Quebec were not getting equal chances with those in other provinces, or countries, and after a concentrated campaign by newspapers and individuals, reform came.

That other reforms were necessary was decided in 1939 by the leading authorities, and the Bill for the County School System was drafted. This Bill was introduced for a means of eliminating waste in expenditure and effort, and for the centralization of accounts and expenses, so children all over the province could have an adequate education and equal chance in life.

The main obstacles in the way of this reform were placed in three categories,— 1, Selfishness; 2, Fear; and 3, Embarrassment. The first of these problems was the desire of many smaller school commissions to hold on to their own schools, and their objection to pooling finances; or of outside influences, though the children may not be getting the desired education.

Secondly the problem of "fear" element was often found among the taxpayers, who believed that reform would send taxes soaring high. But this was untrue, claimed the speaker, though some communities would have to be adjusted due to their very low allocation of money to education.

The third obstacle, "Embarrassment", was primarily a political one, for if the people were divided among themselves as to reform, the government could hardly be expected to pass the necessary legislation.

Example of Alberta

Speaking of the educational advance in Alberta, Mr. Johnson described the pitiful condition of the poor children of that province before reform, where school facilities were appalling, teaching qualifications very low, and children were completely frustrated, with lack of companions, sports and sense of values. Since the establishment of the County System, Alberta has built dormatories for boys and girls so that children may come from the rural areas to the larger centres for an excellent education. Where this is not possible, travelling teachers are engaged to visit rural schools, to teach manual training, physical and health education, sciences and music.

That the County School system was similar to various other co-operative ideas, now proving so useful to society as a whole, was a point the speaker made, for many problems that individual school boards may have are difficult to overcome if left to local handling.

Experience in Megantic County

Mr. Johnson then described his experience introducing the system at Megantic County, where many school boards were prejudiced and selfish for their own interest, and taxpayers were dubious of the change. But after much "missionary" work, the idea was given a

LACHUTE FIRE LOSS IN TEN-YEAR PERIOD HIGH COMPARED WITH AVERAGE FOR RURAL CENTRES

The Quebec Fire Commissioner's Statistics, issued by the Department of Public Works last May, show some interesting facts in regard to fire losses. The current Fire Prevention Campaign is a timely period in which to review the standing of this town, and to compare its record with that of others in the province.

Figures for the past ten years show local fire losses high in comparison with the average in other rural communities. The "per capita loss", which gives clearest indication, shows Lachute with $3.46 a year average, for the decade, while the general average for municipalities of the same class is only $2.19. In 1942 Lachute's per capita loss was $2.11 (below the average); in 1941 it was $2.98.

The following table gives figures for this town for the ten years 1933 to 1942, inclusive. A particularly high loss appears in the two years 1934 and 1939. Many citizens will recall an outstanding blaze in each of these two years, accounting for the high loss-rate. These were the Auditorium fire in January, 1934 ($25,500), and the destructive fire at Lachute United Church in February, 1939 ($30,000). Boosting the loss-rate considerably this year, was the fire in the Assad Block, Main Street, causing damage to the extent of over $12,000.

Argenteuil Victory Loan Quota $1,400,000

It was announced from Victory Loan Headquarters in the town hall today that the total objective for Argenteuil County in Canada's Fifth Victory Loan Campaign will be $1,400,000. This compares with a total objective of $1,460,000 in the Fourth Victory Loan of last spring.

$1,000,000 of the new objective is allocated to General Sales, Payroll Savings, and Group Payroll, leaving $400,000 from Special Names. For comparative purposes, it is interesting to note that subscriptions in Argenteuil during the Fourth Victory Loan totalled $1,123,900 from General Sales, Payroll Savings and Group Payroll and $402,000 from Special Names. Both objectives for the new Loan were thus exceeded here during the last Loan.

County Organizer W. H. Price wishes the public to clearly understand that the new objectives are minimum ones, as is the national objective of $1,200,000,000. The main goal of the Fifth Victory Loan is the same as that of previous Loans — to sell as many Victory Bonds as possible in order to prosecute an all-out war effort.

The national objective of 12 billions does not include expected conversions from holders of the 4% bonds called for redemption October 15, nor from the holders of the 5% bonds maturing on the same date. In the same way, Argenteuil's objective of $1,400,000 does not include conversions. Both objectives are for "new money," but any conversions will be added to the totals.

Holders of either issue mentioned above who do not present their bonds for payment on October 15, at 100, may, while the subscription lists are open, from October 18 until November 6, tender their bonds in lieu of cash on subscriptions for a like or greater par value of the bonds of one or both maturities of the Fifth Victory Loan at the issue price. The surrender value of the 4% and 5% bonds will be 100.125% of their par value, the resulting adjustment to be paid in cash by the bank at which delivery is completed. The 4% bonds surrendered must have attached coupons due April 15, 1944, and subsequently. The 5% bonds must have all coupons detached.

'Thumbs Up' Revue Coming Here to Boost Loan Drive

The Argenteuil County Victory Loan Committee is pleased to announce that it is sponsoring an appearance of the "Thumbs Up" Revue, at Lachute Auditorium on Tuesday, October 19, at 8 p.m.

The "Thumbs Up" Revue is composed of members of the North Branch Y.M.C.A., Montreal. The thirty-five members of its cast are all amateur performers, and offer their services voluntarily. The show is bi-lingual and of two hours' duration.

"Thumbs Up" was the first Canadian Troop Show to perform in the United States. It has given voluntary performances at Malone and Messina and is appearing in Plattsburg in the near future.

Miss Eleanor Moore is directress, Jack Shields manager, and Bill Roberts master of ceremonies.

REPAIRS IN A BIG WAY

Washington (CP) — One United States Army camp's repair shop in a year's time mended 208,476 pairs of shoes, 101,900 canvass and webbing pieces and 593,245 articles of clothing.

WAS HEALTH CENTRE

Algiers (CP) — Salerno, Italian town which was the scene of heavy fighting recently, was renowned throughout Europe for its medical college and health centre from the 10th to the 19th century.

London (CP) — A complaint heard after Dieppe that landing craft did not carry enough rope has been remedied, according to a naval officer who took part in the full scale amphibious exercises in the English Channel.

Urge Local Support To Salvation Army Home Front Appeal

Attention of the citizens of this county is directed by W. M. Cottingham to the Salvation Army Home Front Appeal. Mr. Cottingham is district chairman for this drive, and while no personal canvass is being conducted, it is urged all who are able should remit either to himself or to the Branch of Nova Scotia, Lachute, whose manager, W. M. Steeves, is acting district treasurer. The campaign, as far as this territory is concerned, will close on October 18.

The Dominion-wide chain of social services conducted by the Army, care of the aged, sick and destitute — as well as provision for personnel of this organization working with the Armed Forces — these are efforts deserving of whole-hearted support.

It is hoped Argenteuil County will acquit itself with credit, in a generous return to the finances of this fund. — Do your share before the campaign closes.

Present By-Law On Early Closing Left Unchanged

Lachute Town Council held its regular monthly session last evening in the council room. In attendance were — Mayor J. S. Giles, Aldermen Alexandre Guenette, J. R. Paquette, Armand Rochon, Arcade Ethier, Wilfrid Morissette, Alex Bothwell, Henri Trichard and Arnold Scott.

Minutes of the September meeting were read and approved.

The Mayor and the Secretary were authorized to sign a deed of sale of the Chapman property to Hercula Legault.

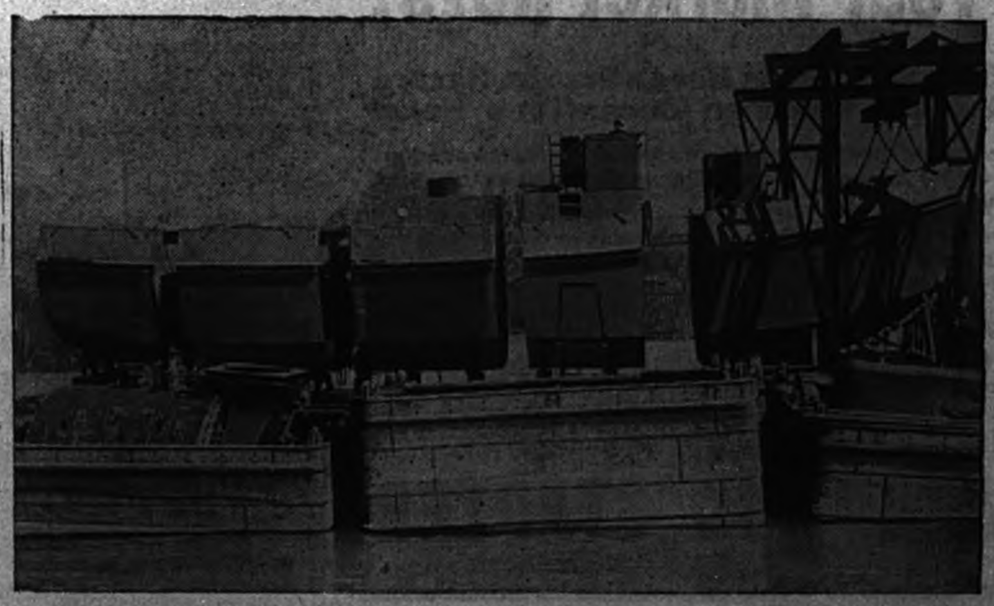

A building permit was granted Linton W. Armstrong for a house to be erected in the East Ward, on the old McOuat property.

Representations were made to Council that, there being two streets in Lachute by the name of "Charles", some confusion may arise. It was decided that Charles Street located in the West Ward shall be called in future Charles Street West, and that Charles Street located in the East Ward be called Charles Street East.

The matter of numbering houses was left in the hand of the Roads Committee.

Considerable discussion took place on the matter of the early closing by-law. A petition signed by a large majority of the merchants of Lachute was tabled in which the petitioners stated that, should the Council amend the present by-law, they would still adhere to the present opening and closing hours until the end of the war. The by-law was left unchanged.

PRE-FABRICATED TUGS ASSEMBLED IN FOUR DAYS IN BRITISH SHIPYARDS

Mass production methods have speeded up the manufacture of tugs in Britain. These little craft — with a big war job to do — are now built in self-contained units in different parts and assembled in the shipyards. By the new method Britain's shipyard workers, men and women, can assemble and launch a new tug in a space of four days. . . . Picture shows the prefabricated sections of a tug in position before being welded together.

USE OF ARTIFICIAL LIGHTING FOR MORE EGGS IN WINTER

(Experimental Farm News)

Scientific breeding has brought about a far greater yield of eggs from the hen today than nature probably ever intended by improved methods of feeding and management, to lay at least as many eggs during her natural dormant, short-day winter period as she lays during the remainder of the year when the days are longer.

Using artificial light to increase egg production in the winter months has long been the practice of progressive poultrymen and it was generally believed that the longer feeding period was responsible for the greater yield, says W. T. Scott, Head Poultryman, Dominion Experimental Station Harrow, Ont. Though the amount of feed consumed may be a considerable factor, research disclosed that the use of artificial light has a stimulating effect in the process of ovulation and might be the principal agent.

By subjecting the birds to all-night lights all the year round the limit of light was tested in an experimental at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Harrow. It was found that by carrying the light to this extreme the results were not so good as they were when the feeding period was kept to fourteen hours, or about equal to the natural spring and early summer period of reproduction.

To some extent the loss in yield was due to increased broodiness and it is within the bounds of possibility that when carried to extremes the action of artificial light may in some way influence this natural function.

The best results will be obtained when the days of fall, winter and early spring are gradually lengthened to fourteen hours without interruption, and for this period a reliable time clock with dimming resistance should be used.

FALL BEST TIME FOR DIGGING OF VICTORY GARDEN

(Experimental Farm News)

It takes a few years to get land into good condition for growing crops. To those who have already tried a "Victory Garden" and may be discouraged, James Gallaher, Head Gardener, Dominion Experimental Station, advises try again.

The fall, he says, is the time to dig the land. Towards the middle of October all late vegetables should be harvested, and the land cleared of all refuse, which should either be burned or put into a rubbish heap.

On no account should leaves or roots of vegetables be dug into the land, for fear of disease being present in them. They can, however, be composted (allowed to rot for a year) and spread over the perennial crops, such as rhubarb or raspberries. The next procedure is to dig with a spade a trench about 18 inches broad, half the length of the garden, 8 inches to 10 inches in depth. Place this soil at the end of the other half nearby (not the far end). Loosen up the subsoil with a fork and place a layer of rotted manure in the bottom. This will be the top spit the next year, or the surface soil for the following year's crop to grow in.

If the land is in sod or full of couch grass place the first spit upside down in the bottom of the trench. It will rot during the year, and be a fine top spit the following year. On this dig over a spit deep from the next trench 18 inches wide then place another layer of manure on this and then clean out the bottom of trench on top of the manure and so on till the other end of the plot is reached. Reverse on the other half of the plot, filling in the last trench of the first half by opening a trench in the second half and when back at the beginning, fill in the last trench with the soil first removed.

Go over the whole plot and ridge it up by making drills as if to plant potatoes and leave it this way all winter. This will hold the snow, which is a good fertilizer, and also gives the frost a better chance to penetrate, which will help to kill off many pests that live in the ground during the winter. If the land is on a slope make these ridges across, not up and down, or the soil will wash away in spring.

Being ridged the land will dry out earlier in spring, allowing seeding and planting to be done much earlier. Towards the end of April or early in May, the land should be forked over, deep enough to mix the manure well with the soil, and leaving it as level as possible. After this give a dressing of commercial fertilizer at the rate of about 3 pounds to 100 square feet of land, and fork over again quite shallow, or rake the fertilizer in.

Building A House Favorite Dream of Investors in Loan

While most people buy Victory Bonds or War Savings Stamps to help win the war, once they own these gilt-edged securities it is only natural that they should begin thinking about what they will do with the money they get when the bonds mature after the war. A quick survey by an inquiring photographer from one newspaper indicated that most bond holders are planning to use their bond money to build themselves a home.

Money in Victory Bonds, unlike money in the bank, is in for the duration — even though it may be withdrawn in case of an emergency. For most people this is a definite advantage since while self-imposed it is nevertheless a form of compulsory saving. And as it accumulates, with new bond and savings purchases, it constantly makes home ownership more possible.

Three out of six people interviewed by the inquiring photographer said they were buying bonds to help win the war and also make a down payment on a house when the fighting is over.

CORNWALL COUNCIL TO RECEIVE PAY, BY-LAW PASSED

Cornwall, Sept. 29 — Cornwall's mayor, reeve, deputy reeve and nine councillors are in future to be paid for their services. A by-law was given three readings and passed without opposition authorizing payment of $600 to the mayor annually and $5 each to the other 11 council members for attendance at regular or special council meetings. The new regulation does not apply to meetings of committees, which are held on many occasions and for various purposes.

The action of council sets a precedent in municipal matters in Cornwall. For some years $500 had been placed at the disposal of the mayor as an honorarium, but in most cases it was never accepted, being allowed to be placed in general funds of the municipality. The action now taken places Cornwall on a like footing with many rural and urban municipalities throughout Ontario.

Corporation officials estimate the new ruling will increase local expenditure by something like $2,000 a year, depending on the number of meetings. Taking the present year as an example, outside of the Mayor, the other 11 members would be entitled to a payment of $990 for the 18 meetings already held.

The finance committee recommended to Council the engagement of two additional desk clerks in the police department. This was one of the recommendations contained in the report of Inspector W. A. Lougheed of the Provincial Police who recently conducted an inquiry into the affairs of the local police department. The additional two now engaged will give the department three clerks, who can be used as special constables if occasion arises.

LLOYD GEORGE AMONG LEADERS ON FARM FRONT

Prime Minister of First Great War Swaps Politics For Agriculture in Present Conflict

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM, Associated Press Writer

London (CP) — Historians of tomorrow will assess David Lloyd George's contributions to the winning of this war as one of the most vital, if among the least spectacular.

A political giant in the First Great War, he has earned a different distinction this time — that of rousing up British farmers to greater productive efforts.

A practical farmer, himself, he has from the outbreak of war impressed upon the government and the people the need of maintaining agriculture on a parity with the armed services, reasoning that a breakdown on food production would be disastrous.

The venerable statesman who will be 81 years old next January 17, has made few speeches in the last couple of years, and he has granted no intervention. It is not that his celebrated polemical wit has lost its sting, nor his tongue its piquant Welsh eloquence, but rather — say some of those who are acquainted with his views — that he simply considers it better to work and reflect than to talk.

The robust man who was Britain's fighting prime minister in the last war now devotes most of his time to the administration of his 800 acres in Surrey where he has put into practice many of the agricultural principals he has recommended for nation-wide adoption. These would include, of course, scientific management, full and intelligent use of the land, and improvement of working conditions for employees.

Farm Interpreter

As one of the foremost members of the National Farmers Union, Lloyd George has been one of the most effective interpreters of farming and farmers to the people of the cities. Agricultural experts give him a large measure of the credit for the fine showing on the farms this year.

When he is not actively supervising the farm in Surrey, Lloyd George usually goes to his place, Brynawelon, at Criccieth, Wales. He still holds the Carnarvon parliaseat which he won in 1890.

His health has been good, though toward the end of the summer he suffered a chill which prevented him from speaking at the annual Eisteddfod in North Wales. These yearly colorful singing festivals are among the few occasions when the white-maned statesman breaks his rule of silence.

When Lloyd George is well he starts his day about 9 o'clock with a light breakfast and a walk. Then he talks with his farm overseers. Frequently he calls round at the farm's canteen to chat with his workers at lunchtime. After a mid-day rest he reads, listens to the radio, perhaps takes another walk. His bed-time is 9 o'clock.

The chief product of his land is fruit. The apple yield alone probably will run to at least 10,000 bushels this year. Besides that, there will be large quantities of other fruit, and hundreds of tons of vegetables.

Occasionally Lloyd George receives a distinguished guest, or is entertained by an old friend. But no word of political discussions reaches the outside.

VICTORY LOAN — A MESSAGE FOR FARMERS

By W. H. Brittain, Principal of Macdonald College

In this terrible conflict in which we are engaged, a heavy burden has fallen upon our farmers — a burden which they have accepted with energy and resourcefulness; for food, which suddenly became a primary munition of war, had to be furnished in ever increasing quantities to meet the needs of a larger and larger proportion of our people withdrawn from ordinary pursuits of peace to fulfil the expanding demands of war; to supply the demands of our growing fighting forces and those of our allies beyond the seas. And it has been done.

For there have been no eight-hour days, no holidays, no slackening of effort and no strikes on the farm.

And not only have they met this challenge in the production line. It will be told when the history of this conflict is written that our rural citizens have given to the armed forces of Canada a proportion of its sons at least equal to that of any other group in this Dominion, and today there comes to us a new call — a call for money to buy the tools that, in the hands of our sons and brothers, will hasten the day of final victory.

Hastily and ill-prepared, we have had to face the fury of the initial onslaught. We have now a chance to help ensure that this great conflict, fast hurrying to a climax, may be terminated speedily and with as little loss of life as is possible to those who fight for us.

In this new effort the farmers of Quebec have the same stake as all other citizens.

We know that farmers as a class are now blessed with sums of ready cash, but, as the largest single class of producers in the country, their combined contributions can total a mighty sum. In this, as in other fields, they shall not fail.

Quaker! For MORE PROFITS on your Market Hogs!

NOTE: Quaker Feeds Have a Proven Record For Growing Canadian Bacon-Type Hogs!

To make real profits from hogs, feed Quaker Pig Starter, and get them ready for market at 200 to 220 pounds weight at the age of about 5 or 6 months.

Quaker Pig Starter is built around oatmeal, and research farms have definitely proved that oatmeal makes pigs grow faster, develops big, strong frames, and increases resistance to disease. Because oatmeal is 94% digestible, there is less waste and pigs convert it into meat far more quickly and economically.

Scientifically correct, Quaker Pig Starter contains all the 13 ingredients required to give best results in developing strong, fast-growing hogs from the third to tenth week period. For finishing, after the tenth week, feed Quaker Pig Grower and the last three weeks put them on Quaker Pig Finisher.

Thanksgiving

For the first time since the war began Canadians approach a Thanksgiving season heartened by the successes of the United Nations on all fronts. The Germans and Italians have been driven out of North Africa, Italy has surrendered unconditionally and the Russians are thrusting town by town toward their western frontier.

Canada's fighting forces take a high place among those of the United Nations and their achievements in Sicily during the past summer qualified them as "veterans" in General Sir Bernard Montgomery's intrepid British 8th Army. In the Dominion, Canadians are making a tremendous effort for victory, an effort of freedom-loving people, in which of its own volition democracy has willed to stand against the assaults of military and moral dictatorships.

Thanksgiving is essentially a home festival when families gather to feast heartily on the fruits of their land and labor. For this happy institution we may be thankful, but most of all for the opportunity for world service in which the pioneer attributes typified in the first Thanksgiving will stand us in good stead.

Thanksgiving ever since its inception in 1621 has been a celebration peculiar to the New World. Fifty-five surviving white men and women at Plymouth invited 90 Indian braves to share in a feast including "as much fowle as with a little helpe, served the company almost a weeke." The colonists gathered to mark with thanksgiving the successes of their labors made possible by their persistence, courage and ingenuity.

Such qualities the inheritors of the truly North American feast of Thanksgiving will have need of in the days ahead, whether for the final stages of the war or for the rehabilitation of the world. Canada, whose growth has fostered and demanded enterprise and adaptability will be ready to take a leading part in creating a post-war world in which we can continue to have reason for thanksgiving.

Contributing to Victory

The Regina Leader-Post in a recent editorial gives some idea of what the daily newspapers — which means the daily readers too — think of the weeklies. . . . As a member of the weekly fraternity we appreciate these observations, drawn to our attention by Jim Greenblat, a regular contributor to this page.

"The weekly newspapers constitute the veritable backbone of public information. They reach a reading group that the dailies barely touch. They enjoy an intimacy of relationship with their subscribers that metropolitan newspapers regard with envy but can scarcely hope to equal because of their much greater and thereby more impersonal circulation.

"When this has been said, let it be quickly added that in this war up to now the weekly newspapers have done a remarkably effective and magnificently unselfish job in supporting the war effort. They have given generously of their time, space and energy and will keep on so doing until the war is won. They are not holding out for more of anything except a greater opportunity of contributing to victory."

Help to Keep the Home Fires Burning

Cold is a fearful enemy in a really bad winter. That's one thing the Nazis learned in Russia. It might quickly deaden our war effort, if we do not prepare to defeat it NOW.

The families of many of those who have gone overseas to fight for us or are producing weapons on the home front, may suffer this coming winter, unless every man who can do so is willing to help right now to pile up adequate reserves of fuel wood. . . . This is well paid work in a high priority rating.

Selective Service officials have already announced special arrangements whereby farm workers can take on this essential job without needless worry as to their agricultural status. Get full details from your nearest Selective Service office, agronomists, or Employment Bureau.

Today's Houses Will Not Be Obsolete

If you're one of those people who think that the post-war house is going to be made out of coal-tar and filled with transparent furniture, then you belong in the comic strip section alongside Flash Gordon and his world of Mars. For, according to practical peerers into the future, it just isn't going to be so.

There will be lots of changes in tomorrow's houses but they will be confined mostly to the gadgets and equipment that service them, tomorrow's world planners say. And most of them are prepared to go way out on a limb to state their beliefs. Dr. Morley Lazier, who has temporarily deserted academic halls of science to help make war-planes, declares that tomorrow's homes will probably look about the same, but will have countless new push-button gadgets to help get around the servant problems, and might be heated by solar heat, electricity or a combination of the two.

In Montreal and Boston a Canadian-controlled company is researching now on a new heating principle; lighting experts are promising all sorts of new developments in their field. But the house itself is going to go on being Georgian, Colonial, Spanish villa or something called modern which looks more like ancient Greek.

As for materials — plastics, Dr. Lazier pointed out, will always be too expensive to compete with other materials. And, anyway, the building industry now has a selection of specially designed materials and finishes that are more practical, more economical and more efficient.

When it comes to housing, the scientists and forecasters are a lot more practical than the public. And they have a kind word for today's home owners: "Your house isn't going to be obselete — as long as you keep up with the gadgets."

We Dare to Change

"Victory in the field is only the beginning for us. It is essential, yet it is nothing in itself." These are the words of Herbert Agar, Lt.-Commander in the United States Navy, taken from his latest publication, "A Time For Greatness". He goes on. "It (victory) can only be made to bear fruit if we can lift ourselves to the practice of the human decencies, those plainest truths of righteousness in action. It cannot be met on the production line of our great factories or by the inventive genius of our great engineers. It can only be met in the quality of our daily lives."

In this book of Lt.-Commander Agar's, who was a former editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is some timely thinking for all those concerned with winning the war and securing the peace. He is right when he points out that one of the causes of this war has been the Democracies' refusal to face facts and to make the changes in our personal and national life that the facing of those facts would have necessitated.

Paradoxically, change has been the one permanent thing in the progress of civilization. The nations that have succeeded have been the ones that have best adapted themselves to change. Yet looking back over the last two decades we seem to have spent a great deal of our time inventing ways of cushioning ourselves against the need of any further change. It took the threat of annihilation to wake us up so that we would change enough to avert the danger. And now that victory seems to be round the corner, what course will we take? Will it be the road back to the "good old days" with all their head-burying-ostrich-tactics or the road to a new world, which will demand of us, both personally and nationally, more change and more sacrifice than these war years?

The Canada of today was built by men who dared the changes that building a nation demanded. The world of tomorrow may well be determined by Canadians who dare the changes involved in building a new world.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By Jim Greenblat

Regina — Taking a week's holiday from this news letter turned out to be a busman's holiday and I wound up in Regina, Sask., Queen City of the Plains, taking in the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

After two days and two nights on the train, Ottawa and its hive of war activity seems a remote place. Out here on the long stretches of flat prairie, with the manpower available, the farmers are garnering a crop which, while is isn't so much compared to last year's record bumper, will contribute greatly to feeding the United Nations.

For miles and miles on end one sees threshing rigs going full blast and numberless straw stacks — golden yellow mounds that tell a story of nature's gift in fruition. On the train, which rumbles ceaselessly on, is found part of the public opinion is moulded and considerable inter-sectional goodwill is cemented. But rumors are also spread, and misformation is spilled around promiscuously. And it is also where political hash is potted.

More people are trevelling than ever before; and more people are learning more about Canada than they ever did before. Good will come of it. I was talking to a western agriculturist who had been down in Quebec taking a looksee. He had probably hated to persuade himself, but he admitted frankly that the Quebec farmer "was doing a good job". . . . that he was in most cases, and in his own way, really farming better than the westerner had given him credit for. I only mention this because it shows what travel and intermingling can do for a people.

You run into interesting things on a train alright. I talked with a diplomat's wife who was just three weeks away from Stockholm with her two small children and a Norwegian nurse. A high priority got her out of Sweden by plane. Some of her observations I think will record here something that I haven't seen suggested anywhere in the press of Canada or the United States. She had spoken to newspaper people in Stockholm, to people from Germany who had been in Sweden on business, to refugees just escaped from occupied Norway, and she said the feeling is growing that Germany will soon quietly move out of Norway and be rid of what's turning out to be a decided pain in the neck to her — economically, military, and otherwise. This is the "something" that I haven't seen even suggested before.

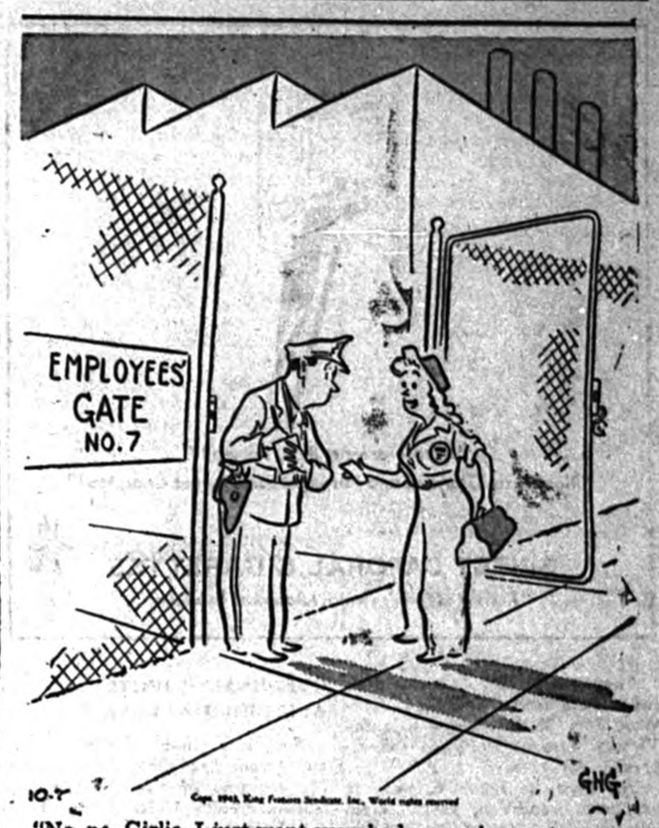

She said conditions in Norway are terrible, worse than what you read about. There is an average of about forty Norwegians getting out every day to Sweden and she has had the opportunity of getting first hand information. She confirmed the reports that no German troops have moved through Sweden for some time, ever since the Swedish government promulgated that edict.

People recently from Germany had told her that the city of Hamburg, for instance, was really totally obliterated. Fires so terrible raged there after the big raids that they didn't even try to stop them, and cement flowed down the streets like lava. Berlin has taken a terrible pasting and is in a bad way, but her information was that the morale of the German people is not yet shaken to the extent where there is liable to be an early collapse.

To get back to this prairie convention, which is thought important enough to be attended by the National President, J. W. Rowe, of Manitou, Manitoba, and the Managing Director, C. V. Charters, of Brampton, Ont., a high note of the convention, as in Toronto, is the contribution weekly papers can make to the winning of victory. Why I mention this is because they merely reflect the opinions and the physical and moral effort of those who read weekly newspapers — the people who live in the areas not classed as urban.

Premier W. J. Patterson in his address to the convention, asked the newspapermen in their various communities to preach the doctrine of hope and optimism, which must, however, be checked by the prospect of the serious problems which are still facing us. He thought it was up to people to retain their true sense of proportion, not to regard the general outlook from any standpoint of our own personal problems; we should take the broader and national view. He meant we should not miss the forest because of the trees.

And that ends a rambling newsletter that had to be, despite the supposed week's holiday.

"No, no, Girlie, I just want your badge number, not your 'phone number!"

The Roman Baths In England

(Granby Leader-Mail)

When in England last year, the Canadian editors were especially pleased to have a chance to visit the city at Bath and inspect the famous Roman Baths there.

Recently the guide at these baths made a broadcast to overseas soldiers in the Mediterranean in the course of which he said:

"Many of you seen the Roman baths during your victorious advance through Lybia and Tunisia, but we have the only Roman bath in the world which is still capable of being used as such."

While he broadcast he was standing near the famous natural hot mineral springs of Bath which supply the famous Roman baths of that city. He declared that the Roman reservoir and drains are functioning today just as they were nearly 2,000 years ago. In this war, as in the last one, the baths are being used in the cause of healing.

The war has suspended the visits of the world's tourists to this noted British spa, who has been associated with these baths for thirty-three years, was sure they would come again. Among his more amusing recollections was that of a little boy who turned to his mother and asked: "Are all the Romans dead except the one who took us round?" He had seen the word Roman on the guide's coat collar, but had missed the word Bath on the other side. And a visitor who said: "I don't believe the springs have been hot for 2,000 years. They would have got cold in that time."

Scotchman — Dear, I don't think I'll be home for dinner tonight.

Wife — No? What will I do?

Scotchman — If I change my mind, I'll call you on the phone at six, but don't answer, then I'll get my nickel back.

"Did you have the car out last night son?"

"Yes dad. I took some of the boys for a run."

"Well, tell the boys I found one of their little lace handkerchiefs."

Customer. — But I can't pay you for this suit for three months.

Tailor. — Oh, that's all right. Don't worry about that.

Customer. — Well, thanks. When will it be ready?

Tailor. — In about three months.

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS

If Your Farm Work has Slackened for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Lack of fuel wood will be serious to our population. A shortage of saw-logs and other necessary forest products would threaten our war effort. Therefore, any man on the farm not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, should offer his services at once for work in the woods until the farm again requires him.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack on the farm.

Not less than 31,870 babies (under one year old) benefitted by the services of the Province of Quebec Health Units during July and August, according to estimates compiled by the Provincial Department of Health and Social Welfare.

"Our infant mortality rate must be lowered and every effort made to assist the doctor in safeguarding mother and child and increasing the strength of both", Honorable Henri Groulx declared in commenting on the work of his department.

"This is a double task which would bring about results of great benefit to society in general."

During July and August, 1943, the fight against diphtheria was actively carried on by provincial health experts. A total of 13-610 completed immunizations were given, 1981 clinics were held and 31,870 babies examined. In addition, 38,352 children under school age were visited in their homes.

Thos. Ball conducted the service. The hymns, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and Lead, Kindly Light," were sung.

Besides her husband the chief mourners are two nieces, Mrs. A. R. Moore and Miss B. Blundell, and two grandnieces, Mrs. Crosbie Baber, of New York, and Mrs. A. E. Stranger, of Montreal.

She was a native of Limerick, Eire, but lived for many years in Montreal before coming to St. Andrews East 15 years ago. ## Discuss County School System . . .

chance on a voluntary basis, and has proved of great benefit to children and teachers alike.

In this county, many schools were found to have only two and three children attending, with unqualified teachers earning poor salaries. Conditions such as this are being eliminated — claimed Mr. Johnson — teachers' salaries having been raised almost 100 per cent in some cases.

In concluding, Mr. Johnson suggested that there was "isolationism" in education, and that it was necessary to do away with personal interest and think of the common good for all. "We have a heritage", he claimed, "to give to each child an equal chance of education."

Questions Answered

During the question period that followed, it was evident that many of the problems Mr. Johnson had spoken might apply to this county, but many revealing facts were made. One community had been trying to secure teachers for months, without success. . . . Another had cancelled taxes for one year because a surplus was shown in the tax records. Then one school commission was compelled, through lack of teachers, to have unqualified grade 10 pupils to teach the children. Some districts were devoting the very low tax of 25 cents per $100 for education, while others were paying as high as $2 — which seemed to suggest that a more equitable system is needed.

Teachers' Salaries

During this period, J. Waddell, chairman of Ste. Rose School Board, gave some startling figures regarding school teachers' salaries in many sections of this county; where some teachers were receiving only $320, $400 and $500 a year — "a condition that must be improved if we want better education for rural children."

It was also pointed out that, in one community, 90 per cent of the taxpayers were protestant, and yet not one cent of taxes went to protestant education. It was suggested that if there was a strong County School System, conditions such as this could be improved.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by pupils of the Household Science Class of the Lachute High School, under the direction of Miss Robertson. For this courtesy, an expression of thanks was voiced by the Rev. E. Orsborn.

A movie showing views of the 40 High Schools in Quebec, their buildings, teaching facilities and opportunities for the students, proved a strong argument for the County School System, and it was felt in conclusion that all town and rural citizens interested in the educational advancement of Argenteuil, should study this matter with an unbiased and open mind.

LET'S ALL DO MORE TO WIN THE WAR

BEFORE THE WAR: George didn't care how much coal he used or wasted—there was plenty of it. He never sifted ashes—always kept his home like a hot-house.

TODAY: Coal is precious. It is needed to keep our war industries working at top speed. George is helping by using less coal at home.

THE MORE WE'RE IN IT THE QUICKER WE'LL WIN IT!

It is our duty to save coal. There are several ways we can do it. Clean stove pipes and furnaces thoroughly—weather-strip windows and doors—sift ashes carefully—keep the house cooler—don't neglect the fire, lighting and relighting wastes coal. Sacrifice a little comfort—our boys overseas are sacrificing plenty. Every shovelful of coal we save makes it hotter for Hitler!

Typhoon: R.A.F.'s New Demon Fighter

The R.A.F.'s Hawker Typhoon, one of the fastest fighter planes ever produced, has proved itself master of any fighter the Luftwaffe can produce, both in attack and defence. Typhoons have taken heavy toll of F.W. 190's attempting "tip and run" raids on Britain and have made many devastating low-level attacks on enemy transports in occupied Europe. Typhoon is a single-seat, low-wing monoplane of all-metal construction powered with a Napier Sabre sleeve-valve engine of 24 cylinders. It has a wing span of 41 ft. 7 ins. and an over-all length of 31 ft. 11 ins. Britain's fighter pilots appreciate the Typhoon's combination of size and strength with speed and manoeuvrability. It is a fine instrument in fine hands.

National Contests Junior Farm Clubs

Boys' and Girls' farm club teams, winners of honors in their respective provinces, under the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work, will assemble from all parts of Canada at Toronto on November 21, 1943, to commence a week's program of the annual national competitions. Because of the farm labor situation and the prospects of a late harvest in some areas, the date set is three weeks later than in 1942. As usual, the contests include judging of live stock and seeds and oral examinations in the six major projects of dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine, poultry, seed grain, and potatoes.

The oral examinations for all six projects will be conducted at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on November 22, but a change has been made with regard to the judging contests. Instead of taking the teams to various farms in the vicinity of Toronto and elsewhere for the judging classes, all the judging work will be done at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. The main reasons for the change are to avoid use of motor transportation in moving the club teams from point to point, and, in view of the lateness of the season, to provide comfortable surroundings for the contests. The teams will travel to Guelph by train. Following the completition of the actual contests on November 23, the remainder of the week will be spent on educational tours with a visit to Ottawa on November 26.

FOOD DIRECTOR PREDICTS VAST U.S. SHORTAGE

Dean Sarah Blanding of Cornell Urges Widespread Canning and Storage of Root Vegetables

By ADELAIDE KERR,
Associated Press Writer

New York, Oct. 2 (CP) — Dean Sarah Blanding says that American housewives face the greatest food shortage they have ever known and that they will have to use a lot of food tricks to feed their families adequately this winter.

Miss Blanding is director of human nutrition for the New York State Emergency Food Commission and dean of the College of Home Economics at Cornell University. Although her work deals only with New York State, she says that shortage conditions exist generally throughout the country.

"Meat, milk, eggs, butter, fresh fruits and vegetables are going to be scarce," said Dean Blanding on a recent New York trip. "There will be plenty of food for nourishment purposes, but not plenty of everything. We have been a nation of meat eaters and we are going to have to adjust ourselves to a cereal diet."

Dean Blanding's dark eyes snapped with intensity. She reached toward a little table and scooped a pile of packaged foods onto the lap of her brown and beige plaid suit.

"We are going to use a lot of this kind of food this winter," she said as she opened a bag that held soy beans, another of soy bean toast and a third of noodles.

Rich in Proteins

"Soy beans are rich in protein content and they have a nutty, meaty flavor," she went on, "We can use them in 'meat' loaves and soups, in soy bean flour for bread and cakes and in many other ways. We have also learned to sprout them and when they are sprouted they have as much vitamin C as tomatoes. In the Cornell laboratory we found it is practical to freeze these sprouted soy beans and now quick-freeze companies are doing it. The sprouted soy beans will be on the market by November 1st.

"We are also going to use a great many cereals — noodles, spaghetti and so on — as extenders of a small amount of meat. We can cook noodles with meat and serve spaghetti with meat sauce.

"Right now housewives should increase their provisions of food by canning tomatoes, apples, grapes and everything else possible. They should also store as many carrots and turnips, as they can procure. And to be prepared in case of further butter shortage, they should prepare a lot of spreads — apple butter, tomato relish and things of that sort.

"It looks as though the protein shortage would last for this year anyway. Next year we must plan a better food supply ahead."

PANEL SCHEME FOR CATTLE

London (CP) — Six thousand farmers are in the national "panel" scheme for their cattle by which nearly 250,000 animals are receiving regular inspection and treatments, states the Ministry of Agriculture.

BARBER SCARCITY

Dagenham, Eng. (CP) — Barbers are so scarce in this Surrey town that boys have a new excuse to stay away from school. Shops are so crowded out of school hours, they say, that they have to miss their lessons or go long-haired.

Materialism, like sleeping sickness, is a disease that eats away your life while you are unaware of it.

Freedom Is A Little Word

Freedom is such a little word. And many people cannot appreciate its value until they've lost their freedom — which is no simple thing at all, but a mass of rights and privileges accumulated over grim centuries by the blood, sweat and tears of their ancestors.

Compare your lot with that of a man or woman of France. In the first place, if you were a man of military age you probably wouldn't be in France at all, but in some German factory, far from your family, living under military discipline. Otherwise you might well be still in your native city. But with many differences.

Your own police and magistracy would still be there — such of them as cared to or were able to remain in office. But over them, the Kreiskommandatur — tne German regional military command. Every day or every week you would go to read the new orders. This or that right would disappear. No talking politics over the back fence. No laughing in public. No gathering of more than three persons — on pain of a charge under the riot act. Very severe rationing of food and clothing, of course. So many restrictions, in fact, that you might easily become a misdemeanant unawares.

The penalty? Well, for a quite insignificant offence you would be sentenced to a jail term. But you would not go immediately. The jails are too full for that. You would continue with your daily work until you received an official notification. Your turn for jail.

And then? Well, any French jailbird, even if he's just a man who chuckled in the wrong place, is automatically a hostage. You know what that means. Somebody — perhaps some group — among your fellow citizens, irked by the growing mass of restrictions and acts of tyranny, expressed resentment in some forcible way. Then the German commander lines up 50 hostages — you among them, maybe — and shoots them.

If all the laws were enforced, half of us would be in jail and the other half on bail, says the London Free Press.

SQUIRRELS GOOD TO EAT, BRITONS TOLD

London — It may be a tough winter for squirrels in England. The ministry of Agriculture announced they are "quite good eating", adding that one can expect to see squirrel pie appearing on hotel menus in the near future — says a cable dispatch to the Montreal Gazette.

Typically English in its approach to this intriguing problem, the ministry gives more detail on how to kill squirrels than on what to do with them thereafter. Two guns and a dog are recommended as the best approach for would-be squirrel hunters. Landowners, incidentally, can be prosecuted for failing to declare war on the beasts, which have been outlawed as a pest this season.

BRITAIN PLANS BIG SCHEME OF REFORESTATION

Commission has 50-Year Program to Put 5,000,000 Acres in Forest Growth

London (CP) — Britain's Forestry Commission, which has reforested 400,000 acres since 1919, has its sights set on a 50-year post-war program that would increase the nation's land in forest to 5,000,000 acres.

A bill that would prepare the legislative way for the scheme is expected to be introduced at the next session of the House of Commons. The cost of the plan for the first 10 years, with a target of 500,000 acres of bare land to be planted and existing woodland to be developed, is estimated at roughly $184,000,000.

The 50-year objective would cover one tenth of Britain with forests and fulfill 35 per cent of the nation's timber needs as compared with the pre-war figure of four per cent.

The project would transform what is now derelict land producing nothing but weeds and rabbits, create steady employment for thousands of men and women, improve the scenic beauties of the country, and aid settlement and development of rural areas.

Permission to carry out the scheme, it is estimated, would employ 30,000 men immediately after the war and ultimately give jobs to 500,000.

Even the final total would leave Britain with as small a proportion of land in forest as any country in Europe.

The Need for Public Co-operation

Interferences with the ordinary routine of life are never pleasant and are apt to breed impatience and irritation. The Quebec Liquor Commission, however, is glad to state that such restrictions as circumstances have rendered it necessary to impose on its customers have been, on the whole, accepted with understanding and good nature.

The best laid plans of the Commission, however, cannot work out successfully unless the public co-operates. Co-operation is essential. The causes of the present shortages of supplies and the need for restrictions on purchases are now well-known. The steps which the Commission has taken to deal with the situation, while apparently drastic, are a practical method by which a worse situation may be averted.

Each user of alcoholic beverages can do his share. Spirits, beers, and wines should be purchased sparingly. Conservation of Commission stocks through voluntary limitations of purchases is the best insurance that later on, stocks will be available.

There are those, however, who not only purchase up to the limit set by the Commission, but contrive to get more than their legitimate share by the device of using permits belonging to others. This procedure is a definite contravention of the Commission's regulations. Apart from this aspect of the matter, however, it is obviously a breach of fair-play and neighborliness, for when one gets more than he is entitled to, some one else gets less.

The Commission urgently requests that no one apply for a permit unless it is desired for the bona-fide sole use of the applicant.

The public can also co-operate by spreading out their purchases over the period covered by the permit coupons instead of using up their coupons in a single purchase. It may not always be convenient to do this, but where it can be done, it will be helpful to do so.

Short of imposing restrictions on the quantity which may be purchased at one time — which the Commission does not wish to do — the matter is in the hands of the customers themselves.

The Commission again gladly acknowledges the co-operation so widely extended by the public. It is confident that this will continue, but it urges that in the interests of even better administration of the difficult duties which it has to discharge, every customer should appreciate that he is only one of a great many others and that his conduct should be based on a neighborly consideration of these others.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD, ST. ANDREWS DEANERY W.A.

St. Andrews East. — The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Andrews Deanery was held here last Wednesday, September 29, with an excellent representation from the various branches of the Deanery.

The day began with a celebration of Holy Communion in Christ Church at 10.30 o'clock, with the Rev. B. J. Thorpe as celebrant, assisted by the Rev. A. E. Hawes, of Grenville. Rural Dean, the Rev. Ellis, of Rawdon, gave the address.

Luncheon was served in the town hall, where later the afternoon meeting was held.

Mrs. W. Entwistle, president of St. Andrews East branch, presided at the meeting. The Diocesan officers present were Mrs. R. C. Lalor, Diocesan president, Mrs. R. G. Foster, united thank-offering secretary, and Mrs. H. C. Reilly, Deanery branch secretary.

Guest speaker, the Rev. S. F. Willis, of the Fellowship of the West at Fort St. John, B.C., gave a very interesting address on work and conditions in the Peace River District, where the building of the Alaska Highway and the arrival of military stations have made drastic changes in recent years.

Christian Science Lesson-Sermon

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday October 10.

The Golden Text is from Jeremiah 30: 17. "I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: Who forgiveth all this iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases;" (Psalm 103: 2, 3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If sickness is real, it belongs to immortality; if true, it is a part of Truth. Would you attempt with drugs, or without, to destroy a quality or condition of Truth? But if sickness and sin are illusions, the awakening from this mortal dream, or illusion, will bring us into health, holiness, and immortality. This awakening is the forever coming of Christ, the advanced appearing of Truth, which casts out error and heals the sick. This is the salvation which comes through God, the divine Principle, Love, as demonstrated by Jesus." (Page 230).

The next regular meeting will be held on October 18.

Churches Asked to Save on Heating, One Ton in Five

Because of unprecendented war demands, the supply of coal in Canada falls short of requirements. The situation is so serious that the Prime Minister has declared it a national emergency.

Recognizing that the churches are the greatest power for good in any community, the Government appeals to clergymen and churchgoers of every denomination to set an example. By adopting a few simple conservation measures, churches can conserve large quantities of fuel. Coal is not the only fuel in short supply. Canada also lacks sufficient firewood and oil. This appeal for conservation applies regardless of what type of fuel is burned.

Heating systems may differ as between various church buildings, but all churches can adopt measures with a view to saving one ton in five. Here are ten suggestions:

1. Hold meetings on consecutive days. — By holding all week-night meetings on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, or on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the temperature in the church buildings can be dropped to just above freezing point during three days of the week. This will result in substantial savings.

2. Hold joint meetings whenever possible. — During the summer many churches hold joint services and joint meetings on a month-about basis. If the same plan were adopted during the autumn, winter and spring, many tons of coal would be conserved. Even if union services on Sunday mornings could not be arranged, such services could be held in the evenings.

3. Have choir practice in smaller room. — If choir practice can be held in a private home, the heating of the church for that purpose can be avoided. But if the practice must be on the church premises, perhaps it can be held in a small room rather than in the church proper.

4. Keep temperatures down. — For the sake of better health as well as a means of saving coal, building temperatures should be kept no higher than 65°. Taking that temperature as the standard, heating engineers estimate that 3% of the consumer's coal is wasted for every increased degree. Thus if the building is kept at 76° the fuel loss is 33%.

5. Shut off heat in all unused rooms. — Some churches equipped with steam systems close valves right at the boiler when the building is not in use. Thus the fire is kept to a minimum, and coal is saved. If the church is heated with hot water, some of the radiators can be turned off. So long as the building is kept above 32° when not in use, the pipes will not freeze.

6. Meet in private homes whenever possible. — During this national emergency, some larger church meetings might be postponed until the warmer weather. Smaller meetings of women's associations. young people's groups, and suchlike, can be held in private homes.

7. Use cheaper grade fuel. — Some churches have used scarce, expensive types of hard coal, when lower grade, cheaper coal could have been used to advantage. A competent coal dealer or heating man can give good advice on how to save at least a percentage of the annual fuel bill by substituting the cheaper for the more expensive grades.

8. Have efficiency of heating-plant checked. — Many churches have as members, heating engineers who would gladly inspect the plant and recommend conservation methods. Otherwise, the services of a competent man could be obtained for only a tiny fraction of the cost of the fuel he would save.

9. Keep windows closed. — In two recent tests conducted in large buildings in Toronto, from 12 to 13 per cent of the annual fuel consumption was saved by keeping windows closed throughout the heating season. The savings in a church building might not be so high, but it would be worthwhile.

10. Make that firing methods are efficient. — The man responsible for the heating plant in the church is in the best position to accomplish substantial fuel savings. In the interests of economy in the management of his church, and in the interests of the war program, no doubt he would welcome the advice of an experienced heating engineer, who would go over the whole heating system with him and suggest the most efficient method of operation.

House Wedding Pretty Event At Dalesville

Crosby - Campbell

The marriage of Sarah Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Campbell, of Dalesville, Que., to Mr. Mason Henry Crosby, son of the late William Crosby and Mrs. Crosby, of Brighton, Que., was solemnized on Saturday, October 2, at four o'clock in the afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents. Against a background of colored maple leaves the ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. J. H. Rich, while Mr. Harold Hodge, of Montreal, who presided at the piano, played softly throughout.

Miss Eleanor Goring, of Montreal, attended the bride as maid-of-honor, and Mr. Ralph Crosby supported his brother.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an afternoon frock of Air Force blue crepe with matching finger-tip veil of net, held in place with a spray of tea roses; she carried a bouquet of tea roses and baby's breath.

The maid-of-honor was similarly attired in Baby blue sheer wool, her veil being held in place with salmon gladioli, and she carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Mrs. Campbell, the bride's mother, wore a two-piece dress of moss green wool, worn with black accessories, and a corsage of pink gladioli. Mrs. Crosby, the bridegroom's mother, wore a two-piece dress of black silk crepe, with black accessories.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Lawrence Giles, of Ottawa, sang "All Joy Be Thine."

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was served to the assembled guests. Later, for travelling, the bride changed to a sheer wool dress of Mexican copper, military coat of nigger brown with matching felt hat, and brown accessories.

Guests from a distance included — Mrs M. A. Crosby and Messrs. Douglas, Ralph and Arnold Crosby, of Brigham, Que., Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pendlebury, of Mystic, Que., and Miss Enid Campbell, Mrs. H. Mowatt and Mrs. C. Murdoch, of Montreal.

A heavy tin of canned heat — a Jap souvenir from Kiska — has been brought back to Elmira, Ontario, by Sgt. Floyd Schmidt, member of the Canadian forces which landed on Kiska.

Sisters Brides in Double Ceremony

North - Boyd
Smith - Boyd

A double wedding was solemnized at the home of the brides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boyd, Lachute, Que., on Friday, October 1, at 2 o'clock by the Rev. B. J. Thorpe, when Elsie Catherine Boyd was united in marriage to Mr. Allen North, of Rawcliffe, Que., and Miss Gwen Elizabeth Boyd to Mr. Russell Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith, of Fort Coulonge, Que.

The Wedding March was played by Mrs. Vincent Elliott and the brides were escorted by their twin brothers, Alton and Heber Boyd, and given away by their father.

Both brides were attired in blue, with hats and accessories to match — Miss Elsie Boyd in navy blue crepe with a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses, and Miss Gwen Boyd in pale blue chiffon with a corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

The brides' mother wore navy blue crepe with white trimming and a corsage of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Smith, mother of Russell Smith, was wearing brown crepe with a corsage of roses.

After a trip by automobile to Quebec City, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in Campbell's Bay, Que., and Mr. and Mrs. North in Rawcliffe, Que.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith, Mr. John Smith and Mr. Bryson Smith of Fort Coulonge, Que., Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Roy, of Napanee, Ont., Miss Reta Boyd and Sgt. E. M. Houston, Mrs. Olive Bebee and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bebee, of Ottawa, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Elliott, of Cushing, Que., and L/Cpl. A. C. Boyd, of Montreal.

NEW ACCOMMODATION —FIXATION OF RENT

Any landlord who lets or has let any housing accommodation for the first time after December 10, 1942, must apply to have the rent fixed by a Rentals Appraiser within 30 days of making the lease, otherwise the tenant may withhold payment of the rent.

REASONS FOR INCREASE OF A MAXIMUM RENT

A landlord may apply to a Rentals Appraiser for an increase of maximum rent on the following grounds:

(a) An increase in municipal taxes or water rates payable by the landlord.

(b) Provision of more space for the tenant or the supplying of furniture or additional services by the landlord.

(c) Renovation of the accommodation at a cost of not less than 10% of the municipal assessed value of the accommodation.

(d) The accommodation is an apartment, duplex or flat and the maximum rental is less than that of other similar units in the same building.

(e) The maximum rental is less than twice the total of the taxes and water rates payable by the landlord.

TEN PER CENT INCREASE FOR SUB-LETTING

Landlords may apply for a ten per cent increase of maximum rental if the tenant is taking in roomers or boarders who are occupying more than two rooms in the accommodation or if the tenant is sub-letting more than two rooms in the accommodation. This increase is not permitted however

(a) if the maximum rental has already been increased on the grounds of added wear and tear caused by taking in boarders or roomers; or

(b) if, on the basic date, more than two rooms in the accommodation were in fact being occupied by boarders or roomers or were otherwise sublet; or

(c) if the landlord has given his consent in writing to the taking in of boarders or roomers or of sub-letting parts of the house.

The increase, if granted, becomes effective from the commencement of the next renewal term. In the case of a lease expiring on May 1, 1944, the increase becomes effective on that date and can then be collected from the tenant if he wishes to remain in occupation and wishes to continue to sub-let more than two rooms.

TENANTS MAY APPLY FOR A DECREASE OF MAXIMUM RENT

(a) if the accommodation was rented for the first time between October 11, 1941, and December 10, 1942, and the landlord himself fixed the maximum rent at a price substantially in excess of the rents generally prevailing in the neighbourhood for similar accommodation; or

(b) if the landlord has lessened the amount of space, furniture, equipment, etc., or has lessened or discontinued any services such as heat or hot water.

A Man's Bond Is His Word

Once upon a time a farmer sowed a field of wheat. He allowed the good grain to sprout. Then he turned his hens loose in the field and they scratched it all up and ate it. That fall the whole district went short of bread.

Once upon a time a young man invested his patrimony in a medical course, because he passionately wanted to become a doctor. But before he was through he gave it all up and used such education as he had got out of it so far to become a bookkeeper. In later years his home town suffered a dearth of physicians, but he could do nothing about it.

Once upon a time a cottager dug to make a cellar, which was to be the foundation of a fine house. But at that stage he sold his tools and went on living in his cottage.

Once upon a time a man bought Victory Bonds, in order to do his bit for the war effort on the home front. But after a few months he sold them — and relied upon others to carry his share of the burden of winning the war.

All these things have happened. Sometimes, alas, there have been attendant circumstances making them unavoidable. But they all add up to frustration — personal defeat.

A man or woman who buys Victory Bonds does so with a definite and heroic purpose. These bonds may, of course, be sold in an emergency. But this is always a sorry admission. It should not be done until other means to raise money have been employed. And the holder of Victory Bonds should never lose sight of the fact that his bonds are excellent collateral for a bank loan.

Buy Victory Bonds! — And hold on to them!

THE CHARTERED BANKS of Canada keep abreast of the Dominion's expanding needs.

Six times since 1870 the Bank Act under which the Chartered Banks operate has been revised by parliament—six times in that period the activities of the banks have been carefully scrutinized by the people's representatives.

Every ten years the Bank Act has been thus revised. Each one of the six decennial revisions has contributed much to the evolution of the banking system to meet the expanding needs of a developing Dominion.

In 1934 the sixth revision of the Bank Act was made. Fifty members of the House of Commons made up the committee, which examined witnesses—among them bank officers, government officials and reformers — and studied exhibits filed by various individuals and organizations. Findings were submitted to the House, and later that year the Bank Act was revised in many important particulars.

Through democratic enquiry and decision, the Canadian banking system has grown and been adjusted to meet the needs of the people, providing a depository for savings and a sound basis for Canada's free economic development.

Notice to LANDLORDS AND TENANTS
WEEKLY TENANCIES

Effective October 1, 1943, a weekly tenant of a house, duplex, flat or apartment is entitled to the same rights of tenure under the Board Orders as a monthly tenant and can only be required to vacate for the same reasons and with the same length of notice as a monthly tenant.

This does not apply to roomers or boarders or to sub-tenants who share the entrance and the toilet with the tenant or principal occupant of the house, flat or apartment as the case may be. These people may be required to vacate on a week's notice if they are paying by the week.

IF A LANDLORD DESIRES TO MOVE INTO HIS OWN HOUSE, APARTMENT, DUPLEX OR FLAT AND WANTS THE TENANT TO VACATE:

Any landlord who desires the tenant to vacate so that the accommodation may be available as a residence for the landlord or his father, or for his mother, son, daughter or daughter-in-law, and declares the accommodation will be occupied by one of them for a period of at least one year, may give the tenant a notice to vacate on a special form provided by the Board.

Length of Notice

In a case of a monthly or weekly lease, the tenant must receive at least six months' notice and must not be required to vacate during the winter, i.e., between September 30th and the following April 30th. In the case of a lease for a fixed term such as one year, the tenant is entitled to a notice of at least six months before the end of the term.

For example in the case of a lease expiring May 1st, 1944, the notice must be given no later than October 31st, 1943.

IF THE LANDLORD DESIRES TO REMODEL OR DIVIDE THE ACCOMMODATION BY MEANS OF STRUCTURAL ALTERATIONS INTO ADDITIONAL FAMILY UNITS SO AS TO MAKE IT ACCOMMODATE MORE PERSONS:

The landlord may give the tenant notice to vacate on a special form provided by the Board.

Length of Notice

In the case of a monthly or weekly lease, the tenant must receive at least three months' notice and must not be required to vacate during the winter, i.e., between September 30th and the following April 30th.

In the case of a lease for a fixed term, such as one year, the tenant is entitled to a notice of at least three months before the end of the term. For example in the case of a lease expiring May 1st, 1944, the notice must be given no later than January 31st, 1944. Moreover, the landlord may not give such a notice unless and until he has secured a permit to do so from a Rentals Appraiser.

A TENANT WHO IS IN DEFAULT OF PAYMENT OF RENT:

After fifteen days of default the tenant may be evicted under provincial law.

A TENANT WHO IS BREAKING ANY MATERIAL PROVISION OF HIS LEASE:

The landlord must inform the tenant in writing of the nature of the alleged breach and may then proceed to evict the tenant under the law of the province.

Communications should be made in writing addressed to the Rentals Appraiser, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, at any of its offices listed below.

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

CONSTRUCTIVE WORK

Money-making projects for women's organizations are not easy to find these days, when suppers and teas are frowned upon. They may still be having them in your neighborhood for all I know, because some places are still having their suppers. There should be other methods of earning money so as not to use extra food. In Woodbridge, Ontario, the women are working part-time in a factory and donating their earnings. In Kitchener a chapter of the I.O.D.E. is doing the same thing. In Saint John another chapter has taken over the ushering in the largest movie theatre. These jobs which require regular attendance are real jobs and make considerable demands on the women undertaking them, but are constructive work. Can your organization take on some extra work of this sort? It eases the labor situation and earns money for necessary war work.

FURNACE BROADCASTS

Men are usually considered to be the practical sex — maybe. Those broadcasts of Ethelwyn Hobbes on Taking Care of the Furnace would be hard to beat for being practical. I have never heard any man give as much down-to-earth information in any broadcast as she gave in a few short minutes. Apparently most of us have wasted fuel prodigously, and we could be much warmer on less fuel if we just followed instructions. There was one thing she said I had proved to my own satisfaction, and that was there is more heat from a thin fire. I found I could be much warmer by putting on a little coal at a time, rather than putting a lot on twice a day. It meant going to the cellar and shoveling coal several times a day, but I figured the extra warmth was well worth the trouble. We burn oil now, and that is ideal.

FOOLISH REGULATIONS

The rule of one pair of pants to a suit was intended to be a saving, but most people feel it has been the very opposite. Most men wear out two pairs of pants to one coat. The lads have got around this by wearing odd pants, and it is seldom you see them wear pants and coat that match. However, older men are more conservative and it has not become the fashion. If the coat outwears the pants they might just as well have the second pair to match. The thrifty man, or perhaps I should say the man with the thrifty wife who could sew, finds the no-cuff pants an extravagance, as when the cuff began to wear, she used to turn it back to front, and thus extend the life of the pants. If these regulations have not been successful, then it is time they were recinded, and it will be hard to make most people think otherwise.

Making jam and jelly and pickles is a satisfaction any year, but this year it has been especially so. With just so much sugar to use for fruit we have had to decide very carefully what we want most. Our desires have been somewhat tempered by what fruit we could get and the cost of it. Right now I have a little sugar left, saved for some jelly. I have not been able to get suitable apples but have hopes of some crabs. I know just how a squirrel must feel storing up food, bit by bit, for the winter. It has been rather fun figuring out desserts to give the family that would be easy on sugar so that I could squeeze out a bit for some pickles. I always leave the Pepper Pickle to the last as the ingredients can be had late in the season. This year I just made half the recipe and I have six bottles of varying size, but mostly eight ounce ones. Fortunately, it does not take much sugar. Here is the recipe, the whole quantity.

PEPPER PICKLE

6 Red peppers, 6 green peppers, 12 medium-sized onions, 1 large cabbage, 3 cups sugar, ½ sup salt, 1 tablespoon mustard seed, 1 tablespoon celery seed, white wine vinegar.

Remove the seeds from the peppers, and put them with the onions and cabbage through the chopper. Add the salt and let stand overnight. Drain well. Add the sugar and mustard and celery seed, and enough vinegar to moisten the mixture. Heat slowly until it is heated, but do not cook. Put in sterilized bottles and seal. Although this pickle is not cooked it will keep indefinitely. By the way, the peppers are sweet ones.

Correct Way to Brush the Teeth

Improper brushing of the teeth may not only fail to clean them, but may actually injure the teeth and the gums.

A side-by-side brushing motion should never be used. This method may push the gums away from the necks of the teeth and expose the teeth roots.

A safe and satisfactory method is to brush the upper and lower teeth separately. The upper teeth can be brushed as follows: Hold the mouth slightly open and place the bristles of the brush on the gums above the necks of the upper molar teeth.

Move the brush downward over the gums and toward the chewing surfaces of the teeth. The movement should be repeated ten times or more to insure the thorough brushing of the cheek surfaces of the upper back teeth.

The brush should then be moved forward and the same action be repeated over the bicuspid and cuspid teeth. The bristles of the brush should next be placed on the gums over the upper front teeth and swept downward with a rolling motion to the biting edges.

The inside surfaces of the teeth should be brushed by placing the bristles of the brush well up on the plates and sweeping them down over the necks of the teeth to the biting surface. The inside surfaces of the upper front teeth can best be cleaned by placing the brush lengthwise in the mouth and drawing the bristles downward and forward.

In brushing the lower teeth the sweeping motion of the bristles should be upward over the necks of the teeth instead of downward.

The mouth should be rinsed thoroughly with warm water after brushing to remove the loose food particles, and to help keep the mouth clean and breath free from odors.

The teeth should be cleaned after each meal. As it is often impossible to brush them after the noonday meal, the general recommendation of dental authorities is to brush them at least twice a day, after breakfast, and before going to bed at night.

Regular brushing helps a great deal in keeping the teeth clean. But even with the best of care, small deposits may collect on surfaces not reached by the brush. Hence, it is important that the teeth be cleaned twice a year by a dentist.

HELP YOUTH OF BRITAIN

Birmingham (CP) — Every county borough in Britain now has a youth committee to promote social and recreative work for young people. The government pays a 50 per cent grant to local authorities for operation of these committees.

Calling All Housewives

By Evelyn Gowan Murphy

I am not of the sex that shoulders arms and rides away to war. I am not employed in essential industry. I don't work in a munitions factory, making bullets to feed the guns, nor on a farm helping to produce the foods needed to stoke the human machine.

I am not included in any of those classes that, to date, have been called up to give their utmost in holding our freedom and other Empire from destruction.

So What?

Well, I am listed in the largest category of all. I'm a housewife — albeit a spinster.

Did you know that seventy-five per cent of the purchasing power of our Dominion rests in the control of her women? I qualify as one of those home-makers through whose hands pass 75 cents out of every dollar of purchases made in this country. That is a pretty tremendous thought!

We, the women of Canada hold the purse-strings that make these vast expenditures, and it brings us smack up against an even bigger responsibility. Are we investing a right porportion of the colossal aggregate we spend for shelter, food, clothing, insurances, household equipment — not to mention hats and cosmetics — in the purchase of Victory Bonds?

Only in this way shall we be doing our share in providing the tools for victory.

Here is where "Ladies First" comes into its own! We are nominated to show the world we can do it. Don't ever smugly pat yourself on the back when you have made three or four of these safe investments with good interest returns, backed by the whole of Canada. It is the soundest kind of good judgment to purchase and to "hang on" to these bonds.

We are no "Women's Auxiliary." The women of Canada from the age of nineteen years upwards to mately ninety years comprise approximately one-quarter of our population, and only a smallish proportion of us are ever intimately acquainted with the wolf on the door-step.

In no other place on earth do women live in such blessed freedom, safety and plenty as in the Land of the Maple.

And now — as the Chairman would say — "Let us resolve ourselves into a ways and means committee."

To many of us it will be a question of the regular saving of small amounts which will keep the steady stream of savings flowing into the war equipment coffers.

In the day-by-day household marketing there is ample scope for saving.

And when you have purchased your Victory Bonds, don't let anyone persuade you to sell them before maturity. Stand pat ! ! ! Don't undo all your good work. That is as unpatriotic and idiotic as knitting socks for soldiers and then unravelling them out again. You're just back where you started, only you have let your Country down by being an "Indian Giver."

Invest in Victory Bonds for a tangible "something" in the future, and stick to it!

AGING FOLKS SAVED FROM LONELINESS

The war has been hard on many old people, separating them from their boys whose call to duty has taken them many hundreds of miles away. The six Salvation Army Eventide homes and Sunset lodges scattered across Canada do much to offer haven and comfort to these aging people who are saved from bewilderment and loneliness by finding shelter under the Army's wing.

Many a young man, when enlisting in the service of his country, has turned to the Salvation Army for a solution of what to do with his aging father or mother. A home awaits them, where freedom from worry and want is happily combined with a subtle and natural home atmosphere.

There is nothing "institutional" about the Salvation Army homes for old people. The daily routine is easy on their nerves and constitutions, many of whom have lived in good circumstances all their lives, and find that it is not necessary to lower their standard of living in an Army home. Doctor, lawyer, minister's wife and all manner of educated and cultured people are received as permanent guests there, living out their days in the serenity of congenial surroundings.

Watching for the postman, daily papers, a weekly visit from a member of the family or a friend, a cosy game of checkers or a fireside chat are looked forward to, and many a man likes to take his turn with a hoe in the spacious grounds which surround these homes. Friendships are formed, and there is a sense of never being alone in the world.

Some guests are bedridden. Arthritic, rheumatic, crippled and ailing folk are given special attention and are treated with the gentle care that would be found in their own families.

Many of the old people, during the depression, found that life demanded more of them than they had left to give, and their financial security dwindled before their eyes. They have re-discovered security within the Army's homes for the aged.

There is no age limit which one must pass before being accepted in a home. Some of the inmates are sickly, or in other cases unemployable for one reason or another. All are welcome, and soon their daily lives are taken up with such activities as knitting, sewing, writing letters, listening to the radio or other diversions.

Old people do not want to be a burden on their families. In many cases, their own children have grown up with families of their own coming along. In order to provide security and satisfaction all around, it is often better to have grandparents take up residence in a Salvation Army home where they can pursue their own life's interests and still maintain a feeling of independence. Visitors come regularly to bring them news of family activities, and there is always a slight ripple of excitement when these visits are expected. Old people have leisure to enjoy their guests, and many of them develop hobbies which the pressure of life has never allowed them to do before.

Altogether there are nearly 400 old people in Salvation Army homes in Canada. Their life's problems solved, they are living out their days in contentment and security. . . . The Salvation Army Appeal asks you to maintain this and other vital home services, by contributing generously and promptly to the Red Shield Home Front Appeal.

CANADIAN WOMEN SET EXAMPLE FOR UNITED STATES

Montreal, Oct. 1 — A plum has been handed Canadian women by Mrs. Philip Crowlie, special assistant to the deputy administrator of O.P. . . . In the United States. Mrs. Crowlie congratulated Canadian women on the effort they have employed to maintain "a sane economic policy."

Mrs. Crowlie said: "Our good neighbors, the Canadian women, are to be congratulated upon the methods they have used to secure compliance with the necessary wartime prices and rationing regulations. The women of the United States feel that you have adopted a sane and sensible system of consumer responsibility for maintaining a sane economic policy."

Mrs. Crowlie was recently appointed by Prentiss M. Brown, administrator, to represent the homemakers of America in the office of Price Administration. Her duty will be much the same as that of the Women's Advisory Committees, Consumer Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. For nearly two years, since it was organized, this group has represented consumer problems to the Prices Board and guarded ceiling prices.

"BABY TALK"

Baby talk seems to be a difficult thing for enchanted mothers to resist when conversing with their two-year-olds, but perental self-discipline on this score is one sure way of preventing serious speech defects from developing in the child later on. Ruth Lewis, one of Canada's leading speech therapists, will discuss "Baby Talk." and its unfortunate effects, in a broadcast over the CBC National Network, on Tuesday, October 12, at 4.18 p.m. EDT.

This will be the first in a series of three talks on "Common Speech Defects," by Miss Lewis. As head of the Speech Pathology Clinic at the Toronto Hospital For Sick Children, she has had wide experience in correcting defects resulting from physical, mental and psychological aberrations. Miss Lewis is a graduate of the University of Toronto, and has done post-graduate work in London, Paris, and at Columbia University, in New York.

In her first address, she will describe the persistent confusion in sound, resulting from the practice of baby talk. The characteristic mispronunciation of consonants and vowels, the transposition of letters, and the means of correcting these ingrained habits, will be discussed. In two later broadcasts, Miss Lewis will examine the disabilities of "Stammering," and "Physical Defects."

In a recent statement made by Col. John A. Cooper, Chairman of the National Jam Committee of the Canadian Red Cross, he said that the Women's Institutes throughout Canada are doing a "magnificent job" in producing jam for overseas.

During the first six months of 1943 a total of 427,000 pounds of Canadian jam were sent to Great Britain and a still greater amount is needed for the last half of the year.

A MOTHER'S PRAYER IN WAR

God gave us grace to love you
Men whom our hearts hold dear.
We, too, have faced the battle,
Striving to hush our fear.
God give us strength to send you,
Courage to let you go.
All that is meant to lose you,
Only our sad hearts know.
Yet by your very manhood
Hold we our honor fast.
God shall give joy to our homeland
When you come home at last.

Ottawa —Mrs. John Wale.

MEND YOUR RAINCOAT

As soon as a tear appears in a rubber raincoat mend it at once with a piece of raincoat material clipped from inside hem or pocket or some other place not essential for the wear of the coat. Hold the patch in place under the tear with rubber cement. It will be hard to replace these garments during wartime, so keep yours in as good repair as possible.

Canada's Friend

Gary Cooper, the distinguished American actor, is speaking over the CBC National Network on behalf of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan. He will be heard during the series, "Interviews With Your Favorite Stars"

London (CP) — Britain's breweries are rolling out beer barrels in increasing numbers to meet big demands. During the first three months of this year production totalled 6,831,000 36-gallon barrels. Duuring 1942 production was 29,170,000 beer barrels and 25,531,000 barrels in 1939. Some of the beer brewed nowadays is "potato beer" because there is not enough malting barley available.

Invitation Tourney Successful Event At Golf Club

Record Number Participate; Some Finish in the Dark

The Lachute Golf Club invitation tournament is becoming one of the major sporting events in the Quebec golfing field, and a record number of contestants, numbering 144 professionals and amateurs, participated in the competitions last Sunday.

Chairman of the event was Gilbert Ayers, and all arrangements were admirably handled.

One of Canada's first-line professionals, Jules Huot, was the winner of the day, with a low gross of 68 for the 18-hole event, which is 4 under par. The runner-up was Diamond Gauthier, of the Municipal Club, who finished with a 71, followed by Len Harman, G. Bain, Stanley Horne, E. Wakelam and S. Dempster. Prizes totalling $300. were awarded the professionals.

In the amateur field, the Royal Ottawa Golf Club member, J. Rogers, led with a 73, only one over par, followed by Guy Rolland, of Lachute, who finished with a 74, a creditable performance.

The course, which is a nine-holer, was in excellent condition, and the day was ideal for the occasion. There was a certain amount of congestion later in the day due to the record entry of contestants, and many had to wait for the second 9 holes. Some of the entrants among the late starters were compelled to finish the course in the dark, and artificial lighting from parked cars helped them at the last green.

Timely War Films at Local Movie Houses

Thrills at Sea In "Crash Dive"

"Crash Dive", one of the current run of war pictures, appears on the Capitol bill for next Sunday and Monday.

Archie Mayo and his script writers set out to tell us something about submarine warfare, and have told it exceedingly well with a maximum of dramatic tension. There are times when "Crash Dive" makes you hold on to the arms of your chair.

It contains two major sequences. In the first an American submarine leaves its base at New London, Connecticut, and, after sailing for days, encounters a Hun Q Ship.

The sub crash dives just in time. Whereupon the Q ship proceeds to litter up the sea with depth charges. This is hair-raising. The audience is shown the sub lying at the bottom of the sea, the charges detonating around it, the crew hanging on, tense, expecting death at any moment.

The second sequence is a raid by the submarines on a hidden German base. It may be far-fetched or it may not. Only a naval expert could give an opinion on its feasibility. But it is certainly one of the most-exciting bits of war filming.

The boys, in black faces, push off from the sub in rubber boats. At a given signal they blow gasoline tanks, oil derricks and munition dumps sky high. There is some pretty quick fighting with rifle, revolver and tommy gun. But the Technicolor display of the havoc should really be seen.

As for the story, Tyrone Power is a lieutenant transferred from the P.T. boats to submarine duty and promptly stealing from his new commander, Dana Andrews, the affections of the latter's girl friend. This , of course, creates the necessary, if somewhat hackneyed rivalry between the two men. The personal beauty of Anne Baxter in Technicolor almost lends novelty to the romance.

Drama of Occupied Europe in Film

"This Land is Mine" an impressive picture of the war, comes to the Rex screen on October 12-13 and 14.

Jean Renoir who directed and Dudley Nichols, who wrote the screen play have attempted to prove that there are forces abroad in Europe today which are greater than either the individuals who invoked them or those who suffer from them.

Thus we have the Nazi commandant of the occupied town wishing to avoid the use of force at all costs, knowing that collaboration is the only way out for the Germans and feeling that it is the only way out for the conquered people. Yet he cannot control that deepest instinct of man from which the film takes its title. He is soon faced with resistance, slight at first, then growing and growing until it bursts out in straight sabotage.

First a trainload of provisions is wrecked. The Nazis try to hush it up as an accident. Then an attempt is made on the life of the commandant and German soldiers are killed. That cannot be hushed up. And so the struggle begins.

There have been few finer scenes than the interview between the Nazi commandant (Slezak) and the timid school master (Laughton) when the latter is in prison on the charge of having murdered a collaborator, a thing he actually set out to do but did not. The German officer volunteers to procure his release. But why? Because he realizes that the intelligence of Albert Lory can be exceedingly valuable to the occupying force. Here is a clash of character that has all the elements of drama.

Some of the matter may seem slightly on the theatrical side, such as the trial scene at which Albert Lory disproves the German evidence in his favor and tells the whole truth of the solution. But although the manner may be so the matter most decidedly is not. What Albert Lory says is magnificent.

Maureen O'Hara is sympathetic as the school mistress whose heart is in the rebellion. George Sanders makes the chief collaborationist believable. Kent Smith is well cast as the saboteur and Una O'Connor, Philip Merivale and Thurston Hall do good work.

The settings are simple and to the point. The language spoken throughout is plain English except for one or two sentences in German.

Quebec Scenes in "Brittany" Picture

"Assignment in Brittany" is timely publicity for this Victory Loan — directed right at the heart of Quebec Province, according to one observer. In addition to good acting, a strong story, and average photography it has more than a score of good talking points that should appeal to the people of this part of the country. . . . "Assignment in Brittany" is booked for the Capitol, Brownsburg, October 12-13-14.

With a fair beginning in which he stabs an Arab taxi-driver, and then shoots a Nazi officer, Pierre, the Free French hero, doffs his beard, dons a disguise and is dropped over Brittany by parachute, equipped with all information necessary to pose as a native son actually held in a prison hospital in Britain.

He steps successfully into the prisoner's shoes at home and with the latter's fiancee, and gets in some neat work with another maiden at the lacol travern who also was on more than speaking terms with the son of Brittany.

Each dawn brings additional friends and foes and in some instances one turns out to be the other and vice versa. There is a near change of pace in the action, a comic-strip exaggeration in the presentation of some of the Nazi characterizations.

The fiancee, the mother, the school teacher, the countrymen are met in the tavern, in the village and along the roadways which are as typical perhaps of Brittany as the dog carts, but they are also typical of rural Quebec and many theatre-goers will recognize them as much.

Nazi brutality is shown in all its gruesome reality when Pierre is caught and imprisoned, beaten into insensibility. His spiriting from the jail by a group of the villagers disguised as priests during a fete is a highlight of the picture.

Pierre is sent to Brittany to find out which of the little fishing villages along the coast harbors a submarine base. He finds out and succeeds in getting his information back to Britain by wireless.

The attack on the port by a flotilla of speed-boats is an epic. Accustomed as theatre-goers are by now to war pictures and the realism that is possible in them through the many tricks of the camera, this bit of action has a certain ring about it that transcends the obvious.

"Thumbs Up" on the Same Program

The scene if this picture is a British aircraft factory. On the stage at one end of the mess-hall appears a gentleman introducing the Lunch-Time Follies, by which factory workers' morale is kept up.

Mobilization Medical Examination System Changed

The procedure followed for medical examination under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations is being changed, so that it will be as follows:—

(a) If a man called lives a reasonable distance from a "Reception Centre", he will be ordered to report at such a Centre for medical examination. In the Province of Quebec there are two Reception Centres—Montreal and Quebec. In any event, immediately after his examination, a man will return to his home.

(b) If a man called lives too far from a "Reception Centre" to have a medical examination there and to return home within a reasonable time, he will be ordered to be examined by one of a panel of physicians near his home, of whom he will be notified.

(c) In a case where a man called lives in a very remote locality where there is no panel of physicians, he will be ordered to be examined by a doctor of his own choice in his locality.

(d) Each man required to be medically examined will be notified by mail, through an "Order—Medical Examination" sent by the Registrar of the Mobilization Division, and this will instruct him specifically on how he is to proceed with his medical examination.

The change of system for medical examinations does not change any man's right to apply for postponement of military training, nor does it change the classes of men liable to call. It is designed to cause the man being examined less inconvenience, for in many cases he will be required to be examined once instead of two or three times as formerly. A man who is able to be examined at a Reception Centre will be relieved of any uncertainty as to what is his medical category, for his category will be finally established after the one examination.

Power Expropriation Bill Next Session Precludes Possibility of Early Election in the Province

Weekly Review of Affairs at Quebec

By GUY GAGNON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec, October 13 (CP) — Announcement in Quebec by Premier Godbout that a bill would be presented at the sext session of the Quebec Legislature to expropriate and nationalize the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Consolidated brought a definite stop to rumors that a general provincial election would be held this fall.

The fact that Mr. Godbout's statement to the press said that "at the forthcoming session" the bill in question would be debated put an end to the much-expected election and it was taken for granted in political circles that Mr. Godbout would call the fifth wartime session of the 21st Legislature early in 1944.

Union Nationale opposition leader Maurice Duplessis, at a meeting at Cape Sante Sunday, said the proposed measures were not so much against the Montreal power firm as on behalf of the "electrical interests of the present ministerial party."

Mr. Duplessis said similar legislation to expropriate the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company was adopted by the Legislature in May, 1941, "but nothing has been done."

National leader M. J. Coldwell of the C.C.F. said that his party was "glad to note the announcement of the intention of the Godbout government to take the necessary steps to end the monopoly known as the Monteral Light, Heat and Power."

Mr. Coldwell said the policy "applies equally well to every other monopoly in Canada" and termed the proposed measures " a straw in the wind."

In this statement, Premier Godbout said the proposed step was designed to give the people of the province cheaper power.

The premier's announcement came after an earlier announcement in Montreal that the Quebec Public Service Commission had established a new formula of rate calculation for the firm which involved a reduction of rates to consumers.

Referring to the Commission's announcement, Mr. Godbout's statement said that the valuation made by the Commission "shows that the rate reduction which it foreshadows will not be a wholly adequate remedy." The Premier added:

"In spite of all due diligence, years have been required to make this valuation and during those years the public has been compelled to pay the rates exacted by the company instead of rates based on the real value of the undertaking. A radical measure has thus become necessary to make electrical services available to the people of this province under conditions similar to those under which such services are supplied in Ontario and in other Canadian provinces."

President John S. Norris, of Montreal Light, Heat and Power said that a full statement of the company's position would be issued shortly for the benefit of shareholders and customers.

He added, however, that in the meantime, "it would be unfortunate if the shareholders of the company became panicky and sacrificed their holdings, as they could rest assured that no stone would be left unturned to protect their interests."

Earlier last week, a delegation representing unions affiliated with the Confederation of Catholic Workers of Canada met members of the provincial cabinet and asked Mr. Godbout to hold a fall session "to settle permanently" labor problems in pulp and paper mills of the province.

The delegation was headed by Alfred Charpentier, President of the C.C.W.C., and Toussaint McNicoll, of Jonquiere, told the cabinet that the situation in pulp and paper mills of the province was so serious that "one cannot hope for even relative peace" unless new labor legislation governing collective bargaining is adopted before the 1944 session.

Premier Godbout said that no permanent legislation could be prepared in a hurry and added that "there will be no delay that will not be necessary, nor any hurry that might be embarrassing for the future."

Presentation to Past Mayor of Gore Township

Lakefield — An enjoyable event took place at Kerr's Farm Wednesday evening, October 6, when Mr. A. O. Kerr was presented with a wrist watch to mark the conclusion of his 22 years as mayor of this municipality. The presentation, made by the present mayor, W. L. Dawson, on behalf of the past and present councillors, came as a complete surprise to Mr. Kerr.

Mayor Dawson, speaking for the donors, said their best wish was that the watch "might serve its purpose as faithfully and exactly as Mayor Kerr had served his municipality." After a suitable reply from Mr. Kerr a friendly time was enjoyed by the gathering.

Later, refreshments were served by Mrs. T. Black, assisted by Mrs. G. L. Rogers and Mrs. L. Dawson.

Work Progressing On B'burg Road

Work is advancing rapidly on reconstruction and widening of the Brownsburg Road. This work, undertaken by the Provincial Roads Department, is being executed by the firm of J. C. O'Connell, contractors. Preliminaries by the surveyors have provided for a substantial widening to 66 feet, and a cut through farm properties to eliminate a sharp curve below the shrine and Ayers Orchards. Actual work on the road to this date has been confined to removal of a number of large trees from the roadside, excavating, filling and grading.

Many machines are vehicles are on the scene of operation.

This Means You!

Finance Minister Hon. J. L. Ilsley, in stressing the importance of the maximum number of individual Canadians buying Fifth Victory Loan Bonds, said in a speech before the Canadian Club of Toronto recently:

"We do not want to have Canada's War debt concentrated in the hands of a small group. The more widely the bonds are distributed, the greater the general ability to meet emergencies in the future — the greater the general ability to finance post-war needs and wants."

In a special appeal to wage earners and farmers, the Finance Minister referred to their support as "the most vital of all." With the money thus saved, these workers and farmers would be better prepared for peace, because after the war they would be able to get more for their money than they can now, and "by saving now and spending later, we shall all be helping to ensure more and better jobs at good wages when the war is over."

"Here, then, the importance of this Victory Loan is plain. We must succeed in it as we have succeeded in past loans. It must be another item in the record achievement of the Canadian people. We must show our boys overseas not only that we are all prepared to support them financially but that we Canadians here at home are keeping up a good record that promises well for the future — that promises to our returning men a country full of life and vigor, ready and able to undertake great tasks and carry them through. The responsibility lies upon each one of us."

Composers Form Branch Group

Formation of a Montreal branch of the Music and Lyric Composers of Canada will be completed at a general meeting tomorrow, October 15, in the Central Branch Y.M.C.A., Drummond Street, at which election of officers will be held. All interested in the group are invited to attend.

In an interview Mrs. Edith Wendham, who started formation of the society this spring at the request of Toronto officials, stated the principal aim of the group is to build a federation of composers which will ultimately become strong enough to gain recognition by the potential users of their work. Membership will be built up to the point where formation of an orchestra will be possible, thus giving members an opportunity to try out their works under ideal conditions.

Outlining the aims of the organization to representatives of this newspaper last week-end, Mrs. Wenham said the association will provide an opportunity for composers and lyricists to collaborate in the creation of complete works, both music and words. Popular music, she stated, would receive as much attention as that of a "classical" nature.

Members will have access to a magazine, "The Composer," published by Toronto headquarters, which covers activities of all branches and, in addition gives information on contests and contains articles of practical interest to composers.

Mrs. Wenham drew attention to the fact that many composers and potential composers were wasting priceless talent merely because there was little opportunity or incentive for them to produce. She said that many pitfalls could be avoided if knowledge such as the club could provide were in the hands of the song writer.

The present membership, the Montreal president stated, was at present actively engaged in composition, several of them having had their efforts broadcast over the radio.

The central branch of the society was formed at Toronto early in 1940 and branches throughout Canada began to appear shortly afterwards. The opinion was expressed that many Montrealers interested in such a group would welcome the chance of becoming affiliated with the Composers of Canada.

Tentative plans are being laid to hold a song-writing contest possibly in December in an effort to give Canadians an opportunity to have their songs published and to awaken interest in the works of Canadians.

Fire Threatens Summer Home

An alarm was raised by residents at Clear Lake, Dunany, at 11 p.m. last Monday when a building was ablaze on the summer property of E. Everson, Montreal. Fire broke out in the power house and tool shed. Mr. Everson had left for the city, after the holiday week-end, and the cause of the outbreak is unknown.

Lachute Fire Department was notified by Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Fish, whose home is across the lake, and firemen here were in readiness lest the residence itself should be in danger. The outbuilding was burned down, but neighbors carrying buckets of water were able to prevent the fire from spreading to the house nearby. Fortunately there was no breeze, else the entire surrounding countryside would have been endangered.

The proprietor, notified by phone, returned immediately from the city. It is understood his loss is covered by insurance.

Bush Fire Threatens

A forest fire several miles east of Weir on Monday morning appeared to be reaching ominous proportions, which might require a general rally of district residents to combat it. However, fire rangers took the matter in hand and by late afternoon the blaze appeared to be subsiding. Appearing in a remote spot, surrounded by bush, it is understood the origin of the fire was a sugar camp in the woods.

Campaign for Farmers to Take Work in Slack Months; Essential Industries Will Need 150,000

Transfer of Workers in Off-Season

Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service, has announced a campaign to secure the services of farm workers for transfer to essential industries, during the slack season on the farm. The campaign will be carried out by the Department of Labor in co-operation with the Provincial Departments of Agriculture.

"To a considerable extent," Mr. MacNamara said, "Fuel wood cutting and other woods operations have always depended upon the assistance of workers from agriculture during the fall and winter months, in order to secure their production. Similarly, in some parts of the country, coal mining, base metal mining and fish packing establishments have also in the past leaned heavily upon the farmer during his slack season. Due to the war, the large numbers of workers available for these seasonal industries — a regular feature of the Canadian employment situation — have virtually disappeared. Many have gone into the Forces, while others are now steadily engaged in essential industries. In view of this fact, we must depend to an even larger extent upon securing men from the land while they are not needed at home. Moreover, due to labor shortages, additional industries now look for men off the land: railway track maintenance and packing plants are among the industries now asking the services of farmers for the fall and winter."

Mr. MacNamara said that it was impossible to form a close estimate of the number of farmers sought by industry, but probably it would exceed 150,000 across Canada.

The Department of Labor points out that workers in agriculture who have secured postponement of military training by reason of their occupation, will be allowed to continue on postponement if they accept approved essential employment during the slack season.

"There is no thought of interfering with farm production," Mr. MacNamara explained. "We do not want men while they are still required on the land for autumn work, nor do we want to take away from the farm any man who is needed there for year round work. Nevertheless, there is a substantial margin of men who may be spared the next few months, and those are the men whose services we wish."

The agreements between the Dominion and the provinces for farm labor recruitment provide that Provincial Field Organizations will assist the Dominion in locating farmers for other essential industries in the off-season, and all the Provincial Field Organizations have been approached to co-operate with Selective Service in the present campaign. Also, several hundred local Farm Production Committees, organized by the provinces, have undertaken to participate in the campaign.

Farm Broadcasters Hold Conference

The third annual CBC farm broadcast conference will be held in Toronto on October 15, 16, 17 and 18, according to O. J. W. Shugg, supervisor of the CBC Farm Broadcast Department.

Subjects for discussion will include regional farm broadcast administration, analysis of program content of agricultural broadcasts to determine its suitability to the region served, plans for National Farm Forum, which begins November 8, and plans for regional presentation of this winter series.

Among those who will attend the sessions at CBC National Program Office, in Toronto, are regional farm commentators Fergus Mutrie, Vancouver, Hugh Boyd and Peter B. Whittall, Winnipeg, A. B. Kemp, Toronto, Lamont Tilden and Armand Berube, Montreal. Other CBC farm broadcast officials attending will be H. J. Boyle, assistant supervisor, and W. J. McPherson, in charge of research. Dean Hughes, author of "The Craigs," dramatic sketch heard daily on the Ontario farm broadcast, will be present.

Colin G. Groff, information officer, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and three representatives of the Dominion Department of Agriculture: Fred James, press and publicity chief, Ralph Marvin, radio editor, and R. M. Scott, chief of markets information, will attend from Ottawa.

Officers of L.O.B.A. Grand Lodge at Rally in Lachute

L.O.B.A. lodge No. 943, held its regular monthly meeting at their hall on Hope Street, Wednesday evening, October 6, with a rally of members from various lodges throughout the district — including Grenville, Cassburn, Ont., and Montreal.

The meeting was honored by the presence of M. W. Sister H. Edgar, of Calgary, Grand Mistress of the Grand Lodge of the L.O.B.A. of British America, also Provincial Grand Mistress Sister C. McHarg, of Kinnear's Mills, Que. Other Provincial Grand Lodge officers present to greet the Grand Mistresses were Past Prov. Grand Mistresses Sister E. Erskine, Sister S. Price, Sister Roberts and Sister N. Helm, of Montreal.

The meeting opened with W.M. Sister Martin in the chair. Grand Honors were given to Grand Lodge officers and other visiting members were welcomed by hearty applause.

M.W. Sister H. Edgar then gave an interesting address, bringing greetings from the Grand Lodges and stressing the need for delinquent work among ladies of the lodges, to make them bigger and better "until our brothers and sisters return from the conflict." . . . "Carry the torch of Light high, maintain the Christian ideal and we will then be upholding our Orange principles which are founded on the Word of God," she urged.

Prov. Grand Mistress Sister McHarg, in her address, expressed the hope that these thoughts conveyed by M.W. Sister Edgar would be an inspiration to all, to carry on the good work of the association, especially in these days of turmoil and bloodshed. "The past four years have been a hardship to many of our lodges," she said, "and we are passing through the most difficult time in our beloved Order. But with a steadfast faith in God's goodness, may He lead us to a final victory in the near future."

Addresses were heard from the other Grand Lodge officers present, from Bro. S. Holt, of Lachute, and Bro. S. Allan, of Cassburn.

The degree team of Laurentian Lodge 943 exemplified its work for the benefit of the visitors. The meeting closed with the national anthem after which refreshments were served to the gathering of over 60 members, and a social time.

Old-Timer Talks Of Pioneer Days in Canadian North

75-Year-Old Claude Irvine Welcomes Alaska Highway As Means of Developing Mining Resources

By STUART UNDERHILL, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Lower Post, B.C., Oct. 11 (CP) — News travels slowly in the north country — always did and still does despite the radio, which has a hard time getting through because of interference.

Consequently Claude A. Irvine, 75, relishes telling of the time he carried news of Woodrow Wilson's election as president of the United States to a camp in the Kuskowin district of Alaska in 1913.

Irvine was running a trapline in those days and hadn't seen another human for nine months. One day he got back from his trapline to find a note pinned to the cabin door. It said: "Me, Henry Peel, looking for short cut to north fork. Woodrow Wilson president U.S.A."

Soon afterwards Irvine hiked out to the nearest trading-post, kept mum when they badgered him for the source of his news. Peel's note was dated the day before his return but it was twenty years later before the two met.

Irvine now is prospecting in the Dease Lake area of northern British Columbia, looking for placer gold. He's a lone wolf and always has been.

"I've never been hurt travelling alone," he said. "When you're by yourself you have to be that much more careful. But I sure wouldn't like to get hurt with wolves around."

One narrow squeak he had was in October, 1933, when he was comind down the Liard River with two other men on a scow. All were thrown into the fast river when the scow hit a rock and broke up, and only Irvine reached shore.

He waited vainly for the others to show up, unable to light a fire because his matches were soaked, then hiked six miles to a trapper's cabin. Here he was able to shelter but was without food for 10 days until the trapper arrived.

Another time while travelling in the river himself he was "swamped" by a cloudburst which sent water rolling down the hillside "like waves." His boat ran on a snag and he lost his outfit, but he walked 30 miles to a cabin where he built a raft and continued down the river.

The Alaska Highway runs close by Lower Post, and thanks to the road "the woods are full of prospectors," Irvine says. He welcomes the highway as a means of developing the mining resources although he feels it will make the country "too thickly populated" for old-timers like himself. He thinks mining prospects in the north barely have been scratched and is anxious to have skilled engineers give them a thorough going over.

Hurricane "Tank Buster" Plays Havoc With Enemy Armour

One of the little surprises in the victorious Allied campaign in Africa was the Hurricane "tank buster" — known to Air Force men as a "can-opener" because that precisely describes the effect it has on enemy armour. The "tank buster" ripped open enemy tanks with its deadly cannon and machine gun fire. Picture shows a "tank buster" attacking two enemy Tiger Mark VI tanks.

Green Fuel Wood Has 25% Water

The best time to cut, haul and prepare wood for fuel for use in the following year is during the winter months. Wood for fuel should be thoroughly dried. When green it contains about 25 per cent of water and the heat to evaporate is lost, therefore the burning of green wood is greatly wasteful.

A log of unseasoned wood weighing, say 100 pounds, will weigh when dry, 66 pounds. What has been lost in the drying has been 34 pounds of water. With water about one-third of the weight of green wood, then there are 1,443 pounds of water in a cord, which has to be made into steam before the wood can be burned. By drying the wood before being used as fuel most of the water is expelled and there is little loss of heat in drying as it burns.

A solid foot of green elm wood weighs 60 to 65 pounds of which 30 to 35 pounds is sap or water. Beech wood loses on-eighth to one-fifth its weight in drying; oak one-quarter to two-fifths. The winter's wood for fuel or kindling should be seasoned as soon as possible so as to avoid a daily tussle with soggy wood.

Town Council

A good way to look at this talk of Socialism, and a Government which runs everything, is to think of how this would work in a Canadian city or town — especially in one of the smaller places.

After all, Canada consists only of communities, and it is quite easy to get an idea of what might happen in Canada as a whole by thinking of what might happen in one community.

The same sort of people are available here to run things as are available to run everything in the country. What the individual citizen might think about is whether he really wants to have a system under which, in his own town, the local factories would be run by the local authorities; in which wages and working conditions would be set by town by-laws; in which the local stores would all be combined into one big store, run by the town; in which the price of everything which comes in from the country on the market and the price of everything which is sold to the farmer in the surrounding countryside would be fixed by the local authorities.

Of course, out on the farms which are tributary to the town, the farmers would have to plant the crops, pay the wages, and do the work which the local authorities instructed them to do.

If the community was to remain a democratic one, then the local authorities would have to be elected by the townspeople and the farmers of the surrounding area.

That is Socialism. It is just as simple as that. The more the individual citizen thinks this over, the less likely it seems that he will really like this system. Under it, of course, no individual would ever start a new factory or business. That would be something to be settled by the authorities. They would have to think of what might be profitable to make in this town, and then tax every one to pay for building the factory in which it was to be made. Of course, if the goods from that factory were to be sold outside a town and its own farm area, the quality and price of these goods would have to be settled by some more important central authority — but that would only be an authority very much like the town council. After all, the same sort of people get elected to Parliament as get elected to town councils; the same sort of people are civil servants at Ottawa as are employed by town authorities.

If the Canadian people could only get accustomed to thinking of Socialism in these terms, they would have a pretty good idea of how it would work — and it does not seem likely that there would be so many people advocating Socialism as there now are.

Ye Utile Hogge

In "Systems Agriculturae, or the Mystery of Husbandry Discovered" by the John Woolidge, Gent., London, 1687, it is written of swine. — "This beast is also of very considerable advantage to the Husbandman, the flesh being a principal support to his family, yielding more than any other beast whatsoever; considering them as pig, pork, bacon, brawn, with the different sorts of offal belonging to them. You may raise a considerable stock of them, to your great gain and profit." What Tusser, the English poet said is still true:

And yet by the year have I proved ere now
As good to the purse is a sow or a cow.

Canadian Indians Prove Themselves Careful Farmers

Cattle Herds Expanded on Many Reserves but General Trend Is Toward Hog Raising

Ottawa, Oct. 12 (CP) — It's a long trail from hunting buffalo to raising hogs but many Canadian Indians have made it — and their bank books show benefit of the change. Indian affairs branch officials said today the 120,000 Canadian Indians never have been so busy and their contributions to the war effort is becoming more and more effective.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 Indians now are serving in the armed forces and are proving themselves to be as efficient as their fathers who went overseas in the First Great War.

Generally, the Indians' health is better as a result of medical services provided by the Indian affairs branch, which is part of the resources department, but some minor epidemics have been reported among Indians in northwestern areas through which the new Alaska highway and pipeline from Fort Norman, N.W.T. to Whitehorse, Y.K. are being built. Indians in these remote areas never built up a resistance to illnesses like influenza which are common among whiteman, and consequently suffer more severely from them.

While the Indian in the distant wilderness has assisted war projects by acting as guide, by hunting for food, and by his knowledge of climatic conditions, the tribesman in agricultural areas has made a notable contribution by enlarging production, said Dr. H. W. McGill, superintendent of Indian affairs.

Likes Ranching

The western Indian, in particular, likes to be a cattle rancher if he had to make his choice of what farming pursuit he will follow. It means he can have horses and a free, wandering life. But, while Indian cattle herds have expanded on many reserves, more and more Indians have taken to raising hogs, in the west as well as in eastern Canada.

"Many Indians now have bank accounts and in every way they are providing themselves careful farmers," said Dr. McGill. Farm instructors stationed on reserves have helped Indians get started on a sound basis as they enter new lines of agricultural activity.

Experienced woodsmen among the tribes have had more work than ever before as the demand for pulpwood, fuelwood and other forest products has reached new heights.

One group of Battleford, Sask., Indians went to Kapuskasing, Ont., to cut pulpwood and returned to their home reserve with about $1,000 cash in their pockets.

FATHER AND SON CALLED SAME DAY

London (CP) — Raymond Hutchinson, 42, who volunteered for the Royal Navy in 1941, and his 18-year-old son, James, received their call-up papers on the same day, and were ordered to report on the same day, at the same time and at the same place.

They didn't ask for the call-up together but both expressed preference for the navy, the father when he volunteered and James when he had his medical examination on reaching 18. They won't be posted together, however, because James is going as a wireless mechanic and the father as a writer.

Something Shot At "Making Noise" May Prove To Be Hunter in Forest

With the hunting season here again, it would seem appropriate at this time to mention a few facts in connection with safety.

Each hunting season brings with it the usual number of accidents involving firearms, most of which can be traced to carelessness in the handling or use of rifles and shotguns.

Accidents of this nature can well be avoided by observing the following rules. . . .

Be sure to unload your gun before entering a car or house. Make sure that all cartridges are out of the magazine.

Always open the action of your rifle or shotgun when climbing a fence or travelling over very rough ground. You may have the safety catch on, but remember that this is only a mechanical contrivance, and should you stumble or fall, a jarring of your gun may cause it to fire accidentally.

Unload if Unattended

Always unload your gun before you leave it unattended. Do not lean it against trees, buildings or automobiles, as it may fall and accidentally discharge.

Do not point your gun at anything that you do not want to shoot. Treat any gun with the same respect whether it is loaded or not. Under no circumstances point your gun at anyone.

Clean Barrel

Be sure that the barrel and action of your gun are clean of any obstructions such as sand, twigs, rags, etc., as these render your gun unsafe for firing. And remember, don't look through the muzzle, use a ramrod to make sure the barrel is clean.

Be very sure before you shoot. A number of people are killed or injured every year from bullets, fired by persons who shot at something "moving" or "making a noise" while in the bush. It is advisable to wear some bright, distinguishing color.

An Appeal Renewed

Nearly a generation ago a Canadian doctor paused amid the desolation of a bloody Flanders battlefield to breathe into burning life the pent-up plea of Canada's fighting sons:

"To you from failing hands we throw
"The torch — be yours to hold it high."

These words, fired with the essence of a Great Cause and pointing like a blazing signpost along Canada's road of destiny, quickened and inspired the Allied peoples of the First Great War. History itself bears witness the appeal was answered in full measure.

Today we stand in the fifth year of an even greater conflict. Today our sons — Canada's sons — march in full battle array against an even stronger and more ruthless enemy. Great victories lie behind us, but our leaders have warned of the immense trials ahead.

The climactic battles of the struggle for freedom are at hand. And as we watch the terrible events unfold — thousands with that prayerful anxiety that comes only to those with dear ones in the heart of the fray — these valiant words of another day hearten us to make ourselves worthy of such sacrifice.

They were written on behalf of our dead in that other war by one who himself laid down his life in the struggle. For those who have fallen they are as applicable now as then.

"We are the dead. Short days ago
"We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset's glow,
"Loved and were loved — and now we lie
"In Flanders fields."

Now as then, men at full grips with the enemy ask us at home to "take up our quarrel with the foe." Our country is in the midst of its greatest appeal for funds to carry on that quarrel.

There can be but one answer.

Bond Buyers Are Builders

Regular readers of the press in Canada will have noted by now that the National War Finance Committee is placing a new emphasis on self-interest in the Fifth Victory Loan campaign. This is being done of course without discounting the importance of public war bond subscriptions in the quest of victory.

Honest judgment reveals that most of the bonds sold since the start of the war have been bought by citizens for reasons dictated by self-interest. There may have been many who were not particularly anxious to secure 3% interest, but it seems fair to say that these bought in the knowledge that they were protecting themselves from the domination of predatory nations on the loose in Europe and the far east. But at this point in the war when victory seems to be so much nearer and peace time conditions are much nearer, more and more of us in Canada are realizing the tightly bound relationship between our savings in war years and our well-being in the months and years which follow the day of peace.

Of course, from the very beginning of Canada's program of public borrowing, the Minister of Finance and his colleagues who have been directing the sale of government securities have pointed to war savings as one of the salvations of post-war prosperity. Our manufacturers and other producers of consumer goods will not be able to build up staffs of employees and big payrolls unless the great mass of consumers shall have ready cash to buy what they need and want.

Happily a very large portion of Canadian people have a backlog of these savings, enough to create a tremendous market for post-war goods of all descriptions. But we should not overlook an obvious truism, that the greater the average war savings in Canada the greater will be the post-war market with all its attendant increase in jobs and wages.

Wise Canadians will put every available dollar into Fifth Victory Loan Bonds, not only for their own immediate post-war benefit, but as a good, country-wide co-operative move to ensure a long term period of maximum employment and maximum prosperity.

Renting Properties

Andy Clark — who voices sentiments from the home-town weeklies each Sunday for C.B.C. listeners in Ontario and Quebec — in one of his recent broadcasts took time out for a personal protest, on the prejudice of landlords against married couples with young children. Mr. Clark, through members of his family, had encountered the problem of such couples seeking to rent apartments or living quarters. It seems, the natural process of reproduction is a condemning factor in the eyes of property owners. The latter constitute an essential class; but, we ask, is the upbringing of families one iota less essential to human progress? The landlords must give way, even if such beneficence entails the fortifying of their premises against scuffing feet and busy childish hands. . . We were glad to hear Mr. Clark publicize this unfair prejudice.

Another Voice

Another weekly editor, we note, takes up the cudgels for parenthood — not to the extent of condoning a social misdemeanor, but in condemning a law which discriminates against those already in unhappy circumstances. The following editorial is from the Midland Free Press Herald:

Should all babies who are born illegitimately be drowned? This question is asked in all seriousness because of the absurdity of Canadian laws which define the rights of children born out of wedlock. The other day a ruling was made by an Income Tax official to the effect that an unmarried mother who is caring for her child cannot claim exemption for him as a dependent. Another woman, however, could adopt the child, and be allowed exemption. In some provinces an unmarried mother cannot even get a mother's allowance. The child is penalized because of its parents' sin. The poor youngster has enough handicaps to face without such ridiculous restrictions being placed upon him by a fat-headed society. Surely it is better, when a mother is ready and willing to care for her own child, to give her every encouragement to do so. The law is still a "hass" and it is time it was changed.

The Right Approach

There is a notable contrast between the ideas of Premier Adelard Godbout and those of his political opponents, in regard to inter-racial understanding. There are rabid nationalists — not a few of them — who persistently call to French-Canadians to assert their rights, at the expense of the other fellow, and who clamor for a fair deal and brotherly understanding from the English-speaking element. Mr. Godbout, however, seizes every opportunity to urge his fellow Quebecers to share Canada's problems, to take the initiative in this "understanding" business. . . . And there is no doubt, the Premier's policy will lead farther toward unity than all the belligerent preaching of the nationalists. . . .

Mutual understanding between all races in Canada's co-operative effort to meet the common problems is essential to the full development of this country, Premier Godbout declared last Sunday at Sherbrooke, in unveiling a plaque commemorating the early history of the city.

Praising the unity and harmony which characterized the citizens of Sherbrooke, the Premier urged that Canadians of English and French descent seek to understand the common points existing between the two major elements of the population rather than play up such basic differences as did exist.

Canadians, he said, were fighting side by side with other members of the United Nations to ensure that every man would have the right to adopt the language and religion of his own choice and it would be only through the growth of inter-racial understanding that this objective could be achieved and Canada could reach its place of destiny.

In addressing a group of school children attending the ceremony, the Premier urged that they learn both languages, which he believed was essential for their future progress.

Prophecies on War's End

Those who are saying the war will be "over by Christmas" — the United States senator, for example, who declares Germany may collapse at any time — should note a careful despatch the Canadian Press has carried from Washington.

This despatch quotes "those in a position to know" as saying a cross-Channel invasion of the Continent is "almost an impossibility" before next April, and that only the complete collapse of Germany can hasten it. There are, in this survey of the situation, not now enough trained troops for the adventure, more time is needed for "softening up" German defences by air bombing, and winter weather over the Channel might be dangerous for the vast body of shipping which would be needed to transport troops and their equipment.

It seems clear to us that all our hopes of a very early victory over Germany rest on the possibility of internal collapse, and it seems equally clear that the chances of this happening in the next few months are extremely remote. Germany is solidly in the hands of Hitler and Himmler, the army remains formidable and faithful, and no successful revolt of the civilian population which might bring about a crash is conceivable — yet. But also there is nothing to indicate that the German people want to revolt, that they have lost confidence in Hitler or are convinced that the war is lost and they had better admit the fact and make the best of it. Not much can be made any more of the old distinction between Nazi and German. All Nazis are Germans, and most Germans are Nazis — at least to the extent of supporting the war and accepting meekly the blood-stained regime of Hitler and his fellow-criminals. The thoughtful among them may know in their hearts that Germany cannot win, but that state of mind can be a long way from unconditional surrender.

If we take our heads out of the clouds we must realize that on the hard facts Germany will not give up in the near future. Magnificent as has been the Russian assault from the East, Stalin's armies still are a long way from the Polish border, much farther from Germany itself. They will need another campaign before they can be expected to smash through the iron ring. The winter undoubtedly will see much progress made, and many sensational events. The conquest of Italy will go on, and invasions may be made at other points — in the Balkans or in Southern France. And meanwhile in factories and training fields preparations will be going ahead for tremendous events — the attack from Britain across the Channel against the hard fortress the Germans have made of Western Europe. If it comes in April and is a complete success, if it is joined with another great sweep forward by the Russians and other invasions through the Balkans, late 1944 could see the end of Germany.

After that we have a final accounting with Japan.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By Jim Greenblat

Highest rating of radio programs in Canada goes to "Soldier's Wife" the serial which by a happy thought emanated from the Information Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Ottawa. It has a rated listening audience of 500,000 and has proven so successful in putting over necessary information, in addition to giving splendid entertainment, that other government departments — I understand — are thinking of something along the same lines. It's a homespun program, which makes it worth while.

Plans are being pushed along for the establishment of five projected health and occupational centres for discharged personnel of the armed forces. According to the Department of Pensions and National Health, these centres will prepare those, who are not fully fit, for employment. Centres may be at or near Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal, London, Ont., and Vancouver. It is hoped to have one ready by next spring. That is planning in the right direction for a problem which must be faced.

What a mess of misunderstanding can belch forth and trouble people and officials alike! That is proven in the recent Rush case at Toronto where a fine of $50 was imposed on an alleged farmer for having had his wife with him as passenger in a farm truck, contrary to Prices Board regulations. The press played it up, people thought that was small potatoes anyway. A statement later issued by Donald Gordon, Board Chairman, indicates that Rush was not a farmer; it wasn't a farm truck; it was transporting no freight or produce; and the magistrate who tried, dubbed it "deliberate waste of gas, tires, etc."

The Board has, however, now clarified the order, which is something that the Rush case helped to do anyway. A new order will allow the cab of a truck, provided it is transporting goods. Exempt from restrictions will be use of truck to carry persons to and from places of worship or a religious ceremony.

"Don't be discouraged if your Victory Garden didn't turn out so hot," in effect says James Gallagher, head gardener of the Dominion Experimental Farm in Ottawa. Which means try again. He points out that fall is the best time to dig the land and by the middle of October all later vegetables should be harvested. Another point he makes is that at this time the land should be cleared of refuge and burned. He warns against digging leaves and roots into the ground because they are disease breeders.

• • •

That some folks don't give a hoot about the equal distribution of foods was shown in a story in the Ottawa Journal, related by a shopkeeper who was blazing mad because a woman came in with a big dog, evidently her pet. She ordered two ice cream cones, one for the dog, the other for her. Refused, she vented her wrath on everything from the government up and down.

• • •

This, I think, needs further publicity: Western Canada farmers wanting to ship feed grain to Eastern Canada for use on their own farms or for sale to relatives on farms can get cars through the Canadian Wheat Board. Freight assistance and other related subsidy plans may be claimed against such shipments by the purchasing farmer who buys feed grain direct from the western grower. Purchaser gets in touch with Feed Administrator, 640 Confederation Building Ottawa (for subsidies); for cars, write Canadian Wheat Board, Winnipeg.

Do you know that Canada is now producing 95 per cent of the combined nickel output of the United Nations, 20 per cent of the zinc, 12½ per cent of the copper, 15 per cent of the lead, 75 per cent of the asbestos and 20 per cent of the mercury. Our aluminum production is now six times that of 1939 and equals the entire world production of that year.

• • •

Where does all Canada's war production go, is something folks might be interested in. Well, about 30 per cent is delivered directly to the Canadian armed forces at home and abroad. The rest goes to Britain, the United States, India, Africa, Russia, China, Australia, New Zealand and to the South Pacific — in short to all the fighting fronts of the United Nations. Canadian workers and producers need not be ashamed of their contribution and will not be when the history of this war is written.

YUKON AIR STATION LIKE SUMMER SPOT

Watson Lake, Y.T., Oct. 10 (CP) — Lone woman among 400 men is the lot of Mrs. Eric Andrew, the former Edith Burton, of Ribstone, Alta., who came to this air station the Northwest Staging Route last July and found it "just like a summer resort."

She shares with her husband a love of the outdoors, and there are several thousand square miles of it immediately around Watson Lake.

Andrew, who formerly worked as a chief in Vancouver, has been here since June, 1941, and now is employed by the Canadian department of transport and cooks for 80 to 90 persons daily. He foresees Watson Lake as a stop-over on a world air route after the war and hopes to remain there. "Two weeks of the city is enough for me," he said. "Everything is phony there. Here it's just what you are yourself that counts, not your money."

Say, caddy, why do you keep looking at your watch?

It isn't a watch, sir, it's a compass.

Lest We Forget!

Why do we buy Victory Bonds? There are several reasons, all quite sound. We do it to keep personal spending from clashing with government spending, and thus we forestall inflation. We do it to have a nest egg after the war, when consumers' goods will be plentiful. We do it for many reasons that boil down to the fact they are a careful, well-backed, productive investment.

But let us not lose sight of the basic reason. We buy Victory Bonds first of all because we democratic, peace-loving Canadians have gone to war, leaders among the United Nations, with the passionate resolve of smashing big bullies and killing a vile spirit that threatened, and still threatens even in this hour of our vastly increased strength, to frustrate the ideals we stand for.

Our Canadian life is built to an heroic design. From small beginnings, against tremendous hardships, we made ourselves into a great nation. But never an aggressive one. And when, in the waning days of peace, we saw Hitler's Germany smash Czechoslovakia, a sort of small Canada in Europe, our blood boiled. We voiced our hot indignation through our newspapers, from our pulpits, and in our neighborly talks over the back fences. Voiced it good and plenty.

But Nazi frightfulness did not stop. War spread. We lined up with the democratic powers. It was democracy versus frightfulness, tolerance versus the appalling bullying of minorities, the will to enslave versus the will to set and keep free. We were utterly sincere in our resolve — and we still are.

How much are we sincere? We on the home front can answer that question concretely by buying Victory Bonds.

RADIO ADVERTISING

There was a time the listener might turn his radio
And have his choice of musical, or play, or favorite show;
But now, to hear something worth while, you patiently must hope
They'll quit this advertising pills and vitamins and soap.

There's super-duper, dazzling suds — so gentle on the hand,
And sparkling suds that multiply to do the dishes grand.
They say use mild complexion soap if you your man would please,
And mother's wash-day cares will end if she'll use anti-sneeze!

There's soap so mild for baby's skin, and soap for bearded man,
And special suds for undies, and for every pot and pan.
There's floating soaps and lightning suds for everything you wear,
And shampoos that will give appeal to wash milady's hair.

Next comes the pills and laxatives for every pain you've felt,
All guaranteed to doctor up those pains below the belt.
They come in tablet, capsule, gum, and some in chocolate cakes
They're sure to fix your ills up quick — a remedy for aches.

They advertise the best of brands, none to harm or hurt you,
And if that's true, then all these ads must surely have some virtue.
But one thing certain, we all know, a fact that can't be wrong;
You're bound to need those headache pills if you listen very long!

THINK ON THESE THINGS

Blessings

— come to those who wait
— often begin in bitter disappointment
— sometimes come upon us unawares
— are beyond measure
— do not always seem as such, at first — come only to the ready.

Sweetest thoughts will always linger
Round the grave were you are laid.

Family Gathers to Celebrate Parents' Golden Wedding

St. Andrews E. — The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. J. Samuel Crevier was celebrated at their home here on October 10.

At 10 a.m. the family and relatives attended mass at the parish church, conducted by Father J. Elias Crevier, assisted by Father Biron, of the White Fathers of Africa, and M. l'Abbé Cloutier, of the Sisters of Providence here. M. l'Abbé Dulude, curé, conveyed the greetings of all his parishioners. During the offering Nurse Clémentine Crevier, youngest daughter, sang a solo.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Crevier were guests of honor in the homestead, at a banquet to which over 60 persons sat down. Prior to the serving of dinner a pretty ceremony took place. The eldest grandchild, Aline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Osée Crevier, recited a greeting to her grandparents, presenting them with a gold lettered scroll. Her sister, Louise, presented them with a "bouquet spirituel." Ghislaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francois Crevier, presented them with a golden sack of money, and little Gilberte, third daughter of Mr. O. Crevier, tendered a beautiful bouquet of roses.

After dinner addresses were given by the eldest son, Father J. Elias Crevier, of Joliette, Que.; Father Dulude, Father Cloutier and Father Biron. The last brought greetings from the only absent member of the family, Marie-Rose (Mother Marie-Samuel, of the White Sisters of Africa) who is Superior of a convent at Ndala, Jabora, Tanganyika. She has been 16 years in Africa. Mr. Samuel Crevier expressed deep gratitude to his family, relatives and friends who had brought gifts and by their presence made this such an auspicious day.

Mrs. Crevier, in a black crêpe dress with shoulder spray of yellow roses, cut the three-tiered, white frosted wedding cake, made and given by Mme Amédée Ménard, of Montreal, a niece.

Later, moving pictures were shown by Father Biron of the life and work of the White Fathers of Africa, of the mission schools conducted by them and by the White Sisters of Africa; of the mode of life in the native villages, and of the wild animals of the jungle. Some were in technicolor.

Besides those mentioned there were also present two daughters, Obeline, Sister Marie Jean de Bréboeuf, (of the order Sisters of Providence), a graduate nurse of the hospital of St. Jean de Dieu, Montreal; Elmina, of Toronto, and two more grandchildren.

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS

If Your Farm Work has Slackened for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Lack of fuel wood will be serious to our population. A shortage of saw-logs and other necessary forest products would threaten our war effort. Therefore, any man on the farm not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, should offer his services at once for work in the woods until the farm again requires him.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack on the farm.

They presented ten shows during the month, travelled over 1,500 miles, to entertain over 1,400 people. The personnel are all members of the North Branch Y.M.C.A., Montreal, and hold full time positions in various business firms in that city, giving their Troop Show services entirely voluntarily. ## BULLETS ARE MADE FROM CHURCH BELLS

London (CP) — Germany's occupation forces, desperate for metal to run the Nazi war machine, now are taking Belgium's church bells.

The massive 15th century bells of the church of St. Michael at Ghent, capital of East Flanders, were taken after a priest barred the doors and ordered the bells rung as the German forces battered at the portals. The bells tolled their own dirge with each stroke of the battering ram. The Germans finally entered, arrested the priest and began to remove the bells.

Underground informants in Belgium managed to get to their friends here the story of how children gathered about the church at Termonde, in Flanders, to sing an old Flemish song forecasting doom to those who touched the bells.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Thanksgiving Services At Brownsburg United

Brownsburg — Thanksgiving Services on Sunday in the United Church were well attended and of a special character. The musical part of the evening service was augmented by members from No. 39 Kiwanis Air Cadet Squadron Band, of Montreal, some 40 in number, under the direction of Bandmaster Capt. Jones. In addition to accompanying the hymns the band rendered other special numbers, including a cornet solo. The male quartet, including Messrs. T. J. Anderson, F. Hazel, T. G. Pasco and F. Hosgood, rendered "What Shall the Harvest Be?", in their usual impressive manner. They were accompanied by the organist, Mrs. C. J. Wheeler. Following the hymn "Abide With Me", in which the band gave exceptional leadership, the national anthem brought this very interesting service to a close.

The minister of the church, the Rev. S. J. Pike, thanked Capt. Jones and his band for their presence and the inspiring numbers rendered.

102nd Anniversary To Be Observed

Arrangements are being completed for the 102nd church anniversary gathering on Sunday and Tuesday, October 24 and 26 next. The Rev. Dr. L. H. Fisher, of Montreal, will be the preacher on Sunday, and the Rev. Donald Morrison, also of Montreal, will be heard on Tuesday evening. Other features will mark this occasion, which will be followed by a social hour in the church hall, assisted by the ladies. The anniversary services on the Sunday will also include special musical items.

Commissioner of the Benjamin Orames, Salvation Army

Throughout a long, progressive career, stone upon stone has been added to the pillar of Christian achievement which exemplifies the life of the Salvation Army Commissioner for all Canada and Newfoundland, Benjamin Orames.

Hailing from "down under," this tall, stately friend of the people won fame in his home sphere of Australia before he came to the North American Continent.

Perhaps his greatest gift is the Commissioner's knowledge of what people are really like. The human equation to him is readily solved by virtue of his colorful and varied background. Born in a hamlet in the state of Victoria, Australia, he started work at the early age of 13, toiling 53 hours a week at 25 cents a day. The beginning of his working days coincided with the bursting of a land boom, bringing depression and poverty in its wake.

Warehouse worker, auctioneer's clerk, miner, baker and other trades were plied until the time when his mission in life became apparent to him. Then he entered The Salvation Army Training School, and later took up the work of an officer. For 44 year, he has served zealously under the Salvation Army flag.

For many years, Commissioner Orames' work with the Salvation Army led him into the depths of Australia and New Zealand, where he pioneered in the development of that humanitarian organization. For four and a half years, he was assistant editor of The War Cry, and also had charge of all Salvation operations in eleven Western States of America and the Hawaian Islands.

For three years during World War I, the Commissioner was an official Chaplain under the direction of the Australian Defence Department. He served in Australia, on the field in Egypt and also in France. He is still on the reserve list of Australian chaplains.

As chairman of the Governing Council of Canada, he controls all Salvation Army property and money in this country. He is a member of the high Council which meets in London, England, from time to time for the purpose of electing new generals.

Christian Science Lesson-Sermon

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 17.

The Golden Text is from John 14: 5, 6. "Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier." (II Timothy 2: 3, 4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christion Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Meekly our Master met the mockery of his unrecognized grandeur. Such indignities as he received, his followers will endure until Christianity's last triumph. He won eternal honors. He overcame the world, the flesh, and all error, thus proving their nothingness. He wrought a full salvation from sin, sickness and death. We need 'Christ, and him crucified.' We must have trials and self-denials, as well as joys and victories, until all error is destroyed." (Page 39).

"Suffer Little Children . . ."

What of the children whose advent into this world is unheralded by joy or love? What of the children whose mothers are ashamed because their children bear no name? Because their emotions have played tricks on them, the fruit of their weakness is the sorrow and bitterness surrounding the birth of an unwanted baby.

Every child has a right to an upright, honorable life in the eyes of the Salvation Army. Their belief is exemplified in a practical way by the establishment of rescue homes for pregnant girls, so that they will have a healthy, quiet prenatal period far from the critical gaze. When their babies are born in one of the Salvation Army maternity hospitals, both mother and baby return to the rescue home, where the mother is taught to care for her young. Many girls, after being under the Army's wing for several months, learn a new sense of responsibility, and make every effort to support their child; others disappear from the scene, leaving their child to be reared by others.

Bright, happy homes are established in various Canadian centres where these children are brought up to live a Christian life. Some children have one parent who contributes toward its support, while others are the waifs and strays of humanity.

A widow who works to make ends meet has no place to leave her small child during the day. Lack of supervision for her young one is driving her to desperation. She takes her child to the Salvation Army home, and her worries are solved. Whenever her circumstances change for the better and she is able to have her daughter home again, she is permitted to do so. Divorsed or separated parents find a ready solution in the gentle atmosphere of an Army home for their child.

The last thing in the world a Mother wants to do it to give up her child, but with the Army, it is not necessarily permanent. They will care for her baby until she is able to look after it herself. A widower, whose hands are clumsy in caring for his motherless brood, comes to the Army for help. They take a big load off his hands — and from his mind too. Many children stay in the homes until they are sixteen, after which they usually want to stand on their own feet. A number are adopted from the children's homes, and start life over again with a real-life mother and father. But none of the children in the homes lack for love and kindliness.

There are 26 boys in the London, Ont., home; 23 girls in "The Nest" in Toronto; 100 boys and girls living in the Salvation Army home in Calgary. . . . more than 150 children who will take their place in life as responsible citizens.

Summer camps from coast to coast give a wonderful holiday to the children of the poor, as well as to many from the children's homes. For some of the children, who have never savoured the sheer joy of playing on a lakeside beach, or swimming in cool, clean water, this holiday leaves a lasting impression. Well over a thousand children were cared for in this way during 1943.

Let your heart carry your hand to your pocket — and give generously to the Salvation Army Red Shield Home Front Appeal.

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

BEAUTY SPOTS

The people of Saint John leave the city almost en masse for the summer. If you could see the spots there are within a few miles, you could understand why they go. Most city people leave the cities in the summer to keep cool, but the reverse is true in Saint John — they go to keep warm. Saint John gets its share of fog and cool breezes from the Bay of Fundy, and it may be foggy and chilly in the city, but if you go just a mile or two out of the city in any direction, the sun will be shining and it is much warmer. The Saint John people move to the rivers and lakes rather than the sea because it is warmer. The Saint John River and the Kennebecasis have innumerable summer cottages on their shores and there are small lakes aplenty, and all this within a few miles of the city. We live the year-round within seven miles of the city, on the Kennebecasis, and many live even a shorter distance. They always speak of 'going to the country' and they always say they have a 'camp', never a 'cottage.' A great number of Saint John people make their summer places their homes and take apartments, or rooms, or board for the winter. Ordinarily the hotels are full of permanent guests in the winter. There are a very few small apartment houses, but not a really large one in the city, but countless large houses have been turned into apartments.

COST OF LIVING INDEX

When women are told that the cost of living index shows only an increase of 11.6, since August 1939, and only 2.2 since the establishment of the ceiling, they find it difficult to believe, and think that the index must be screwy. Women buy food and some of the foods purchased have increased in price tremendously. Some of course have remained the same, and milk has actually been reduced. The increase in foods as a whole has been 31.8% since the war — that is a July statistic, and judging by the high cost of fruit and some vegetables, it has probably increased since then. Most of this increase occurred before the ceiling, and the greatest increases are in those foods which have not been controlled. Living expenses of the families surveyed were: food 31%, light and fuel 6%, housing 19%, clothing 12%, home furnishings and services 9%, miscellaneous items 23%. So you see food is less than a third in computing the cost of living, but we are very conscious of this increase as we spend daily for food. Women, generally, would welcome more control of food prices rather than less.

SKIM MILK

A reader asks if it is all right to give children skim milk. The answer to that one is, yes and no. If whole milk is not available and it is skim milk or nothing, then by all means use the skim milk, as it has lost little besides the butter fat. Children need the butter fat with its protective vitamin A, and the cream should not be skimmed off in the home and the children given the skim milk. It is permissable to skim the cream and make a dessert with the milk, because then the children will get their share of the cream with their dessert. Few children like fat, as for instance in fat meat, and it is a necessary part of their diet, so they need to have whole milk. Where skim milk is available, and there are places where it can be purchased, it can be used to good advantage in cooking sometimes replacing water, which otherwise would be used. The cream I skim from the milk is better than the cream I can buy as cream, so I frequently skim the milk and use it in cooking, adding a little extra butter to make up for the loss of the cream.

SWEET POTATOES

October and November are the months that sweet potatoes are most plentiful and cheapest in price. What that price this year will be is hard to say as most imported foods have been high in price. If they are within reach they are a good food. One medium-sized sweet potato supplies almost a full day's requirement of vitamin A, and considerable amounts of vitamin B1 and iron. They are good almost any way you like to cook them. Have you tried them with molasses? This would be a good recipe to use, serve with other vegetables, for a meatless day.

SOUTHERN SWEET POTATOES

Mash boiled sweet potatoes, season them to taste with salt, pepper, butter, and a little hot milk. Put them in a greased baking dish. Bring two tablespoons of molasses and a teaspoon of butter to the boiling point and pour over the potatoes. Bake in a hot oven of 400 degrees until the top is slightly browned.

JELLY COOKIES

¾ Cup sugar, ¾ cup butter and lard, 1 beaten egg, 1 tablespoon milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon lemon essence, 1½ cups flour, jelly.

Cream the shortening and sugar and add the beaten egg, the milk, and the flavoring. Sift in the flour and mix. Put by teaspoon fulls on a baking sheet, make a dent in the top of each with a floured finger and fill with a little jelly. These cookies run and make a fairly thin cookie. If you want a thicker cookie, put them in small muffin tins. Bake at 350 degrees.

A Hard Struggle for Flannelette Supply

J. H. F. Turner, Cotton Administrator, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, said recently that with the "full and hearty co-operation of the industry", his Administration was doing its utmost to provide larger supplies of flannelette for infants' and children's usage. Shortages of cotton fabrics have been due, he added, to loss of hundreds of thousands of yards at sea, to the essential needs of the armed forces and to labor shortages. Mr. Turner further stated that 180 yards of cotton are required to equip a soldier, whereas only 20 to 25 yards are needed fully to clothe a civilian.

BUTTER-LUCKY

Butter is so scarce in New York City that Mayor LeGuardia proposes an ordnance banning it at noon meals. Canadians are still about the world's most fortunate people. Let that register before the Victory Loan drive starts.

The Room at the Top of the Stairs

— James P. Dunn in the London Free Press

There's an empty room upstairs, but it is empty only to the stranger. For there are pictures on the walls, and pennants and trophies and knicknacks on the bureau, and the memory of his work and his play dwell there. It can never be merely a vacant room any more.

This is where he grew up. This is the record of his life from the time we moved the cradle out of our room, and he was old enough and big enough to demand a room "all my very own."

Within this sanctury he made his lures and his flies. Here he set up the microscope for which he had long saved his pennies. Here he kept his first goldfish. On this old maple bed he read "The Three Musketeers," "Treasure Island," "The Arabian Nights," "Sherlock Holmes," "King Solomon's Mines," "The White Company," and "Sixty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

The record of his day is mirrored on the walls. In the drawers of the bureau — lying as he left them — are baseball gloves and spiked shoes, photos of hunting and fishing trips, shells he found on the lakeshore, his old catapult, a dozen "invitations" he had designed in evening hours.

On the bureau stands the picture of his "best girl," signed and framed. For this was his own special "den". How may anyone say this is an empty room! Very neat and trim it is. His mother has a habit of "tidying" it. It is here her quiet prayers are said. The room has become holy with sacrifice.

Between the boy and us is the span of oceans and the length of far horizons. Yet memory and the companionship wrought in his childhood days bind us in love and communion. So helpless we feel, his mother and I, knowing the little we can now do for him who is our own warm flesh and blood.

Here we are, two people past the crest of the year, whose ambition it has been to watch the boy become a man — a good man — and settle down and be happy in his home. We live in safety and in comfort only because his brave young body and gallant spirit stand between us and the evil things of war. Perhaps he was in our debt because we loved him as a child; now we are in his debt through his love for us.

Yet there is one thing we can do for him. We have bought a bond, a Victory Bond, token of our affection and our loyalty. It shall be his when he returns, a nest egg for his beginning when the storm has passed. If the Spirit of the Good Life has other plans — if we are not to meet again in this world — the bond stands as a mark of our faith in each other which none of us ever for one moment doubted. By this sign he shall know that neither war, nor the far horizon, nor death can destroy our mutual loyalty.

We have bought this bond at some cost. We shall go without comforts and conveniences. We shall buy other bonds. We shall go without more of the satisfaction and privileges that living in Canada has given us. How else could we be worthy of the boy whose little room now stands open to the sunshine and the songs of spring? How else could we prove worthy of the boy whose spirit whispers to us at dawn and at sunset to be strong and loyal and true?

Of course we have bought a bond. — Thank God.

Important Hints on Mailing Christmas Parcels Overseas

It's time to be getting the Christmas parcel ready for the boys and girls serving overseas. The Post Office Department has announced that this year the closing date for delivery to Canadians in Britain and on other parts of the far-flung battle line by Christmas is November 1. This is 10 days earlier than last year. The reason for advancing the deadline is because the range of delivery this year is more extensive. Post Office officials say that it will be helpful to speeding up and assuring prompt delivery if the mailing of parcels is done even earlier than November 1. This year they expect to have to handle much more than 8½ millions pounds of Christmas parcels in 1942, because there are thousands more Canadian boys and girls overseas.

The weight limit for overseas parcels for the armed forces is 11 pounds, but if it can be kept under, so much the better. No inflammable items, such as matches or lighting fluids must be enclosed. Last year several hundred bags of Christmas parcels for Canadians overseas were lost by fire at an Eastern Canadian port, caused by the ignition of inflammable material which had been enclosed. The result was disappointment to thousands of boys and girls overseas, and to the parents and friends who had packed the parcels with such loving care.

Fresh fruits, such as apples or oranges and any other perishable products should not be enclosed. Preserves, jam, pickles or other delicacies in glass bottles or jars are barred.

The contents of parcels should be put in a strong corrugated cardboard or fibre board box, the box wrapped in layers of strong paper and securely tied. Fancy tissue paper should never be used. The name and address should be written plainly in ink.

Observing the Post Office instructions will help to assure delivery of the Christmas parcels, and their arrival overseas will help the boys and girls "over there" to have a happier Christmas.

Cancer of the Mouth

Charged with more than 4,000 of the 145,000 deaths from cancer every year in the United States, cancer of the mouth is no respecter of age, person or creed.

Unfilled, sharp and jagged teeth, which cut and injured the gum, cheeks or tongue, are listed among the most probable predisposing factors in mouth cancer. As cancer seems to be caused by irritation of tissues, loose and ill-fitting dentures and bridgework are considered dangerous. Many cases of lip and mouth cancer have been traced to the irritation caused by chewing tobacco or excessive smoking of pipes, cigars or cigarettes.

A cancer is a malignant tumor, which serves no useful purpose but grows at the expense of the rest of the body. Cancer cells have been described as gangster, or hoodlum, cells that run riot among the orderly cells of the body. They grow and multiply and prey on the normal cells about them.

Every organ in the body is made up of different kinds of cells. A normal cell has a comparatively short life. As it wears out, a new cell is formed to take its place by other cells dividing it in half, each half growing to a complete cell. The process of cell death, replacement and repair is constantly taking place in the body. As long as there is a balance between the deceased and new cells, the organ is normal. But when more cells are formed than are needed, the extra ones perform no useful function, simply living off the other cells.

Although medical science has not as yet discovered the cause or causes of cancer, many authorities believe that some chemical change takes place in the body that causes the cells to become abnormal. Most causes of mouth cancer seem to follow long continued irritation resulting from uncared for teeth and generally unhealthy condition.

Mouth hygiene, to prevent cancer, means more than mere brushing of the teeth. It means keeping the mouth free from constant irritant. It is well to have periodic mouth examination by the family dentist, so that trouble may be prevented.

SOCIAL NEGLECT HELD BIG CAUSE OF DELINQUENCY

United States Authorities Says Great Strides Have Been Made in Dealing With Juvenile Problems

By ARLENE WOLF, Associated Press Writer

New York, Oct. 12 (CP) — Juvenile delinquency figures aren't as alarming as they sound.

That's the thesis of Charles L. Chute, direstor of the National Problem Association, who says (1) that a large percentage of current high figures is due to increased law enforcement; (2) that there is always a normal rise in delinquency in wartime.

Wartime delinquency has its roots in pre-war neglect, Director Chute says, and some of the children pronounced delinquent today may well have been so before the war. They merely were not apprehended.

"There is nothing new about juvenile delinquency," Mr. Chute asserts.

And large cities, generally considered brewing pots for juvenile waywardness, are not the areas reporting the greatest increased, either. Figures compiled by the association in a nation-wide survey show that the real danger spots are the small towns and rural areas with insufficient social agencies which have suddenly become large population or industrial centres.

The most serious thing about the problem, Mr. Chute thinks, is that we had juvenile delinquency before the war, and will continue to have it after. The children are not mere casualties of war, he says, but rather casualties of social neglect.

Still Rising

Figures for 1942 showed 23.4 per cent increase in delinquency among girls, and a 5.5 per cent rise for boys. Incomplete figures indicate that the rise will be even larger this year. But Mr. Chute believes that the post-war period will find the percentage settling back to the low figures for 1940.

Delinquency always increases in wartime, he declares. It did in the last war, too, although precise figures are not available. But once things go back to normal, we can expect that children will be making as many adjustments as the rest of us, and the rate will decline.

"There's every chance that a child who has been pronounced delinquent may turn into a respectable citizen," Director Chute says. "Whenever I speak to men's clubs on delinquency, at least one person says "I did much worse when I was a boy, and look at me now." It's perfectly true that delinquents can, and often do, grow up satisfactorily, particularly if they are given the right sort of understanding treatment."

Great strides have been made in combatting juvenile delinquency, he says, but still there is much to be done by social agencies. Among the cities that have organized special campaigns are Buffalo, N.Y., which managed to keep its juvenile delinquency rate from rising last year, Cleveland, Detroit, Los Angeles, Seattle, San Diego and Newark, N.J.

Old Army Game

Most civilians, unless they enjoy crowded trains, have heeded the official admonition to reduce non-essential travelling. Exceptions are the wives of some servicemen. While their husbands remain in Canada they are devotedly following them from place to place, in accordance with the whims of the Department of National Defence.

Officially, the military authorities have no authority to control the migratory wives, who have only civilian status. Wives may be encouraged to stay at home with their parents, but they cannot be ordered to do so. All that can be done is to shovel a few boulders on the course of true love, in the hope that eventually frustration will win the day.

The game that has developed is evolving its own rules, and there is plenty of variety in it. A usual opening move is made when the Division of Military Clairvoyance learns that Mrs. Blank is planning to join Private Blank in Halifax. Automatically, Private Blank is ordered to Vancouver. The army does not score for this, unless Private Blank's movement order is delayed until Mrs. Blank has boarded a train in Toronto. The Blanks can score if, by telegrams, they can arrange to meet in Montreal, but the army holds most of the cards in the game. It scores a grand slam when Private Blank is moved from Toronto to Halifax, and then back to Toronto again, while Mrs. Blank misses him by a few hours in each city and doesn't see him until she is back in Toronto where she started.

The game at least is a practical, if expensive, method of teaching geography. —The Printed Word

Welsh Male Choir To Entertain At Auditorium

An outstanding event in the local musical season will be the appearance, at Lachute Auditorium on Saturday evening, October 23, of the well known Montreal Welsh Male Voice Choir, under the conductorship of Harry Duckworth, with Thomas Hudson as accompanist.

Composed of over 30 voices, this noted musical organization has thrilled lovers of male choral singing in Montreal and district for the past 15 years, and besides winning the Chopin trophy for male choirs in the Montreal Musical Festival, won high praise from the adjudicator, M. Stanton, from England.

The great Eisteddfods in Wales are recognized to be among the finest demonstration of choral music in the world, and the Montreal Welsh Choir have in their repertoire some of the great chorals sung at these feasts of music.

There is something about Welsh music which endears itself to all music lovers — whether it be the smooth flowing melody of "Ar Hyd Y Nos" (All Through the Night), the littering strains of "The Bells of Aberdovey," the rousing "March of the Men of Harlech," or the stirring chorale, "Comrades in Arms." These are only a few of the numbers to be sung by the choir in their appearance here.

Soloists for the evening will be Edgar Davies, basso, Montreal Festival winner and presently soloist in St. Andrew's Church, Westmount; Richard H. Nanley, tenor soloist in St. Matthias' Church, Westmount; and Arthur Mattinson, Tenor, soloist in St. George's Church, Montreal.

BOW AND ARROW HUNTERS TO EMULATE ROBIN HOOD

Montreal — Observers say that a lot of Army Commando training really gets back to the primitive days and it is probable that citizens generally will be glad to accommodate themselves to pioneer methods before the war ends. Scarcity of sporting ammunition presents a bit of a difficulty to outdoorsmen with a few days time in the autumn period and the desire to take a shot at a deer or a bird. As an example of what this difficulty my lead to, E. G. Poole, who is the out-of-doors expert for the Canadian National Railways, recently received an inquiry for information as to source of supplies for bow and arrow hunting, as well as the names and addresses of individuals capable of providing instruction in the use of these weapons. Mr. Poole furnished the information but, so far, he has not received any news as to the success of the modern bowmen.

CAPT. CLARK GABLE WINS AIR MEDAL

Ex-film Star Honored for Five Combat Missions

London (CP) — Capt. Clark Gable has been awarded the Air Medal for "exceptionally meritorious achievement while participating in five separate bomber combat missions" over enemy territory, United States 8th air force headquarters announced today.

His "courage, coolness and skill" during the five missions "reflect great credit" to him and the armed forces, the citation said.

The former movie star's latest raid was against Nantes, France, on September 23.

It was announced then that he would leave soon for the United States with a gunnery training film he directed.

Gable manned a Flying Fortress nose gun during a part of the flight to Nantes and also took motion pictures for training purposes.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

Mobilization Medical Examination System Changed

The procedure followed for medical examination under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations is being changed, so that it will be as follows:—

(a) If a man called lives a reasonable distance from a "Reception Centre", he will be ordered to report at such a Centre for medical examination. In the Province of Quebec there are two Reception Centres—Montreal and Quebec. In any event, immediately after his examination, a man will return to his home.

(b) If a man called lives too far from a "Reception Centre" to have a medical examination there and to return home within a reasonable time, he will be ordered to be examined by one of a panel of physicians near his home, of whom he will be notified.

(c) In a case where a man called lives in a very remote locality where there is no panel of physicians, he will be ordered to be examined by a doctor of his own choice in his locality.

(d) Each man required to be medically examined will be notified by mail, through an "Order—Medical Examination" sent by the Registrar of the Mobilization Division, and this will instruct him specifically on how he is to proceed with his medical examination.

The change of system for medical examinations does not change any man's right to apply for postponement of military training, nor does it change the classes of men liable to call. It is designed to cause the man being examined less inconvenience, for in many cases he will be required to be examined once instead of two or three times as formerly. A man who is able to be examined at a Reception Centre will be relieved of any uncertainty as to what is his medical category, for his category will be finally established after the one examination.

Godbout Promises Improvements For Farming; Duplessis Attacks Power Co'y Expropriation Scheme

Dissension in "Bloc Populaire"

By D'ARCY O'CONNELL,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec, Oct. 20 (CP) — Reports that all has not been running smoothly in the Bloc Populaire Canadien party have been confirmed by Dr. Philippe Hamel, former member of the Quebec Legislature for Quebec Centre and a supporter of the party.

Dr. Hamel said in a recorded address broadcast over various radio stations in the province this week that he, Rene Chaloult, member of the Quebec Legislature for Lotbinière, and Paul Gouin, former leader of l'Action Liberale Nationale, had abstained from participation in the Bloc Populaire since April because they did not wish to serve under a "politician in whom we cannot place our confidence."

Dr. Hamel said they had submitted willingly to the leadership of Maxime Raymond, "a great man of great worth and great integrity." "Unfortunately," he added, "there came complications, and during the illness of Mr. Raymond we found ourselves under the authority of a politician in whom we cannot place our confidence. To our regret, this situation still exists and many men of good will are trying to remedy it."

Discontent in the party's ranks was reported in political circles several months ago. Mr. Chaloult and Dr. Hamel, who were in the habit of holding weekly rallies in various sections of the province to explain the party platform, suddenly abandoned the practice. They and Mr. Gouin remained away from the hustings while Bloc Populaire candidates sought election in federal by-elections last August 9.

Dr. Hamel stressed that he and Mr. Chaloult and Mr. Gouin were not breaking away from the party, but simply remaining inactive in its ranks until the "situation is remedied."

Mr. Gouin, Mr. Chaloult and Dr. Hamel were elected to the Quebec Legislature in 1935 under the banner of l'Action Liberale Nationale, a party founded by Mr. Gouin in 1934 and which with Maurice Duplessis opposed the Liberal administration. When Mr. Duplessis formed the Union Nationale, Mr. Hamel and Mr. Chaloult followed him.

Later, Mr. Chaloult and Dr. Hamel broke from Mr. Duplessis to form a Nationalist group in the Legislature. When general elections came in 1939, Mr. Chaloult was elected with support of the Liberals. Dr. Hamel was not a candidate.

Mr. Raymond made no immediate comment on Dr. Hamel's statement. He made no reference to the trouble in a radio speech Sunday when he advocated family subsidies.

The party leader said that the rural population of the province in 1870 was 81 per cent of the whole while now it was only 25 per cent. If succeeding Quebec governments had adopted an efficient family allowance plan, he said, the population of the province now could be 6,000,000 instead of only half that figure.

He thought it unfair to pay the father of seven or eight children the same wage as a bachelor, even though both men were engaged in the same type of work.

Godbout at Valleyfield

Premier Godbout also spoke during the week. Addressing a meeting of farmers at Valleyfield Saturday, he said that the Fifth Victory Loan represented a "great opportunity for farmers to prepare for the post-war period of reconstruction."

The premier announced a program of improvement for Quebec agriculture, with systematic drainage, levelling and soil improvements planned, and said the government proposed to rebuild Quebec agriculture to make it the keystone of Quebec industry.

Duplessis on Power Deal

Mr. Duplessis continued his tour of the province and in a speech at La Tuque said that Premier Godbout's announcement that steps would be taken by the Legislature for the expropriation of Montreal Light, Heat and Power Consolidated was merely "a vote-catching scheme."

"The manner in which Mr. Godbout has acted has been to ruin people of moderate means; fathers of families who became panic-stricken at the declaration sold their shares in the company at falling prices, leaving it to political friends of Godbout to make money by buying the sacrificed shares," Mr. Duplessis said. "Already the shares are recovering on the market and Godbout's friends have made their money."

Committee Here To Deal With Fuel Problems

The regional Solid Fuel Representative, Major General E. de B. Panet, located in Montreal, has completed the formation of seven District Fuel Committees throughout the province, and in due course will add a further four or five similar bodies. His selections were made with the sanction of his Advisory Committee composed of three Montreal coal men — Edgar Tolhurst, L. G. Mickles and Andre Latour.

Committees now operating include Lachute, Valleyfield, Sherbrooke, Sorel, Three Rivers, Quebec and St. Hyacinthe.

The committee appointed for Lachute comprises — Fernand Legault, chairman, C. A. Masse and Gordon McOuat.

Montreal also has its own emergency committee known as the Montreal Wartime Fuel Committee Inc.

The primary purpose of these local committes is to decentralize the ever growing volume of woark which recently has devolved upon Ottawa and upon Regional Representatives. In the face of a comparative scarcity of all solid fuel including fuel wood, the new committees are expected to be most valuable in overcoming local difficulties which may arise, and which can best be overcome by prompt action within the community. They will co-operate with local fuel dealers in endeavoring to see that no consumer runs out of fuel, to advise the public what types of fuel are available and how to make use of substitute fuels. All committee members give their services gratuitously in carrying out their respective functions on behalf of the public.

DETONATOR BURSTS IN HOME, BOY HURT AND OTHERS BURNED

Security officers at the Ste. Therese plant of Defence Industries Limited are investigating the reported theft of a detonator-cap which exploded and tore three fingers from the hands of a St. Jerome boy who was playing with it last Sunday.

The victim, 12-year-old Laurier Allard, was taken to Ste. Justine Hospital, Montreal, while his mother and two young members of the family were treated by Dr. Alfred Duval, of St. Jerome, for minor burns. The Allard boy also had burns on the right hand, while tiny metal particles were imbedded in his stomach by the force of the explosion.

It was believed by investigators that the detonator-cap was taken home by a member of the Allard family employed at the plant. The youngster was hacking at it with a saw when the blast occurred.

PROMOTION FOR PRISONER OF WAR

St. Andrews E. — It is learned that Sgt.-WAG. Norman Bradley has been promoted to Warrant Officer. W-O Bradley is still a prisoner of war in Germany.

Foretaste of Winter

Toronto, Oct. 20 (CP) — Ontario Department of Highways reported here today that a section of the Trans-Canada Highway, between Hearst and Longlac, is blocked with two and a half feet of snow. Traffic does not warrant the road being kept open.

WARTIME ODDITY

London (CP) — Such an item would have been published in peacetime, but with matches scarce, the following bit made the front page of a London newspaper: "The proprietor of a Caledonia Road hotel is still providing free matches in his saloon bar."

Among local movie shows advertised to "Eighth Army News" readers, is "Desert Victory" at the Odeon Cinema, Catania, Italy. It sounds like carrying "coals to Newcastle!"

Lachute Reserves In Victory Loan Parade, Hawkesb'y

Approximately 250 men, members of the three armed services, marched to the stirring music of two military bands along the main street of Hawkesbury Monday evening, in an inaugural parade for the community's Fifth Victory Loan campaign.

Hundreds of citizens lined the sidewalks and later crowded into the square at the town hall to listen to addresses from members of the clergy and other prominent speakers.

The parade was led by two flights of the Fleet Air Arm, young men newly arrived from the British Isles and training at Eastern Ontario airports. These were followed by a reserve unit of Le Regiment de Hull consisting of young French-Canadians from Hawkesbury.

Next came the sixteen-member pipe and drum band of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders leading two platoons of reserves of that Regiment. About one half of this contingent, which numbered about 60 men in all, were from Lachute.

There were also the local Air Force Cadets, a smartly turned out unit of young local boys. An Army Brass Band from district depot number 3A at Kingston completed the parade.

Lieutenant-Commander Robertson, Officer Commanding the Fleet Air Arm at a nearby airport, took the salute from a reviewing stand situated opposite the town hall.

Captain H. M. Mooney, local recruiting officer, was in charge of arrangements in connection with the parade.

W. R. Hall and J. O. Gour are joint chairmen of the united counties of Prescott and Russell for the present campaign.

A training plane from one of the airports had been placed in the square, near the street. This added to the spirit of the occasion.

The chairman closed the rally by having the flag raised over the town hall and affirming that it "would not be lowered until the objective had been reached." The Kingston Band played the national anthem.

May Parade Here

It is learned an effort is being made to stage a similar parade of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders here in Lachute on October 29, in the interests of the Victory Loan drive for this county. If these efforts are successful, there is a possibility some armoured vehicles or floats may be procured from Montreal headquarters to take part in the spectacle.

FRIENDS GATHER ON 81st BIRTHDAY OF AVOCA LADY

Avoca — Mrs. Maria Stringer, who celebrated her 81st birthday on October 16 was given a surprise party by 16 friends. Mrs. Harry Young and Mrs. Nelson Young presented her with a birthday cake decorated with 81 candles. Mrs. Stringer enjoys the best of health.

Sure, It Has Started!

Don't make any mistake about it, fellows! It's started alright, but it's the END that counts. Everyone of us will have to dig down deep — right to the very bottom, in fact. We've all got to do our share if that $1,000,000 objective for Argenteuil is to be reached. That's a lot of money, sure enough, but our citizens topped that amount during the last Victory Loan. No reason why we can't put this Fifth Victory Loan over with a BANG. After all, bank deposits are higher than ever, in spite of two War Loans and four Victory Loans. Sure must be a lot of money floating about the country! That's logical, though. More people working. Higher wages. From coast to coast more people have more money than ever before. Guess some of the big fellows haven't as much, though; so it's up to US SMALL GUYS to pitch in.

We've more than two weeks to go yet. During the first three days subscriptions totalled about $140,000. Nothing wrong about that, but it's a long way from that $1,000,000 objective of ours. No use letting George do it. He did it last time, and the time before. We ALL have a little money tucked away somewhere for a possible rainy day. Just as safe in Victory Bonds — and our country benefits besides. Earns 3 per cent interest too! Can always sell the bonds immediately if a big doctor's bill comes along. Think we'd better sink it all in these Fifth Victory Loan Bonds. Might as well each buy one on the instalment plan, too. After all, we get paid regularly every week or so.

Yes, that's the idea, fellows! SURE IT HAS STARTED, but let's see this thing through. Our minds are made up now and we're ready for that Victory Loan salesman. We're going to SPEED THE VICTORY!

Ayrshire Breeders Hold Successful Annual Meeting

The 22nd annual meeting of the Laurentian Ayrshire Breeders' Club was held in McArthur's Hall, Lachute, on the evening of October 14.

After the secretary-treasurer, W. E. Rodger, had read minutes of the last annual meeting and the financial report, the chairman called for election of nine directors, which resulted in the following appointments:

Masonic Brethren At Divine Service

"Strength and Beauty" Is Topic of Sermon by Rev. Rosborough

Members of Argenteuil Lodge, A.F. & A.M., attended worship at the Lachute United Church on Sunday morning.

During the service, Bro. the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, B.A., B.D., minister of the church, extended a cordial welcome to the visiting brethren, and recalled the fact that the last time he had had the pleasure of welcoming Argenteuil Lodge to the church, the late Q. R. McAdam was Worshipful Master; history was repeating itself, he remarked — since Wor. Bro. R. McAdam was the executive officer this year.

An appeal was made to the congregation to give earnest support in the current Victory Loan drive, as portions of a joint letter from the respective leaders of the Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian and United churches were read.

An Inspiring Sermon

Mr. Rosborough took his text from I Kings, 7: 22: "Upon the top of the pillars was lily work." He emphasized the fact that the pillars which Hiram designed for King Solomon's Temple were beautiful as well as strong. In combining strength and beauty in that great Temple the architect merely followed the method that has always been employed by the Supreme Architect of the universe. And these are the elements which should be combined in human life and character.

In speaking about the element of Strength, the speaker mentioned and briefly amplified the following points: first, Hiram placed his pillars upon a solid foundation; second, he set his pillars up plumb; third, he used the right materials; fourth, the pillars were also strong because they had on them a great weight which held them firm, and compacted and consolidated their strength.

He also pointed out that the pillars that were set up by Hiram in King Solomon's Temple were beautiful as well as strong, by reason of the lily-work and other ornamentation at the top. This lily-work at the top might be taken to symbolize truth and purity, patience and unselfishness, gentleness and goodness, kindness and courtesy, and all the other elements of beauty in human personality.

He said that an essential quality of genuine beauty is that it comes from within and is not merely stuck on from without. Hiram did not fashion his set work, lily-work and pomegranates out of wood and plaster, and merely glue them on from the outside — but he wrought them out of the solid brass; they were of the same piece and substance as the pillars themselves. "What we need to make us beautiful is not imitation graces, merely veneered and painted on as from the outside, but simple, genuine manners, truthful, kindly spirit, generous and upright conduct that issue directly from the heart", the speaker claimed.

In closing, he insisted that the possession of a sincere and Christ-like spirit is the one sure and infallible guarantee to a life both of beauty and of strength.

The choir, under direction of C. L. Duncan, sang the anthem "O How Amiable Are Thy Dwellings", with Miss Ruth Todd accompanying at the organ.

Rousing Send-off for Victory Loan Campaign; "Thumbs Up" Revue Presented at Lachute Auditorium

Performance Wins Hearty Acclaim

The Fifth Victory Loan drive got away to a good start as members of the North Branch, Montreal Y.M.C.A. presented their "Thumbs Up" Revue to a capacity audience in Lachute Auditorium Tuesday evening.

Introductions were extended by Geo. H. Héon, public relations chairman, and brief addresses appealing for full support to the Loan were made by C. Tremblay, of Lachute, chairman of the committee, and Dr. R. B. Henry, of Arundel.

The "Thumbs Up" presentation comprised 35 young folk who are giving their services gratuitously for the benefit of the armed services and war work in general, and they well merited the hearty applause handed them by the audience.

The show is built around a series of production numbers, and is a fast moving and colorful extravaganza equally enjoyable to both French and English speaking audiences.

Miss Eleanor Moore, directress, has produced the entire show and stars in several numbers. What made this more appreciable was the fact that she is the daughter of one of Lachute's own townsmen, Ben Moore. Bill Roberts officiated as master of ceremonies and allowed no dull moments during the program, which lasted upwards of two hours.

The show opened with a military salute, in which ultra-violet lighting and fluorescent painted gloves were used, with the popular theme song, "Thumps Up". Special lighting effect was highly effective in the rifle drill, and little Helen Findlay proved a popular favorite in her tap dancing and singing.

The Quebec Barn Dance proved a riotous number, with Jeannine Cote as "Ma", Harry Moore as "Pa", and "Judy" (Eleanor Moore) as the Hillbilly Girl.

A tribute to our Russian allies featured some very excellent dancing. Several members of the local Reserve Unit who were present in uniform assisted greatly in this number.

The program was brought to a spectacular finish with the appearance of John Bull and Uncle Sam shaking hands before a large "Atlantic Charter" banner. The chorus appeared in colorful United Nations costumes and Inga Jewel made a majestic entrance as Miss Canada. Chorines representing the Army, Navy and Air Force carried British and American flags

London (CP) — In order to make the best use of the big crop of blackberries this year in the United Kingdom land owners were asked to admit properly conducted picking parties and to defer hedge-cropping until the fruit was gathered.

PROMOTION FOR SOLDIER OVERSEAS

Although not yet officially announced, news has been received by Mrs. Robt. Miller, Lachute, that her youngest son, Bob, has been commissioned as an officer. Joining as a private with the Engineers, he has taken a number of courses and worked extremely hard to achieve this elevation, and as far as we are aware he is the first county boy to be promoted from the ranks of the army.

A WAR ROMANCE

London (CP) — A proposal sent by mail from a prisoner-of-war camp in Germany culminated in the wedding of Mrs. Emma Coleman, of Gravesend, and George Chase. Picked up by the enemy after a transport was sunk off Narvik in 1940, Chase, also of Gravesend, was recently repatriated.

Girl Guide Unit New Venture by W.Inst. Branch

The following meetings for October are reported by branches of the Women's Institutes. . . .

Frontier held an Educational meeting with guest speakers Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, Mr. H. Bradford and Mr. G. Deacon. The roll-call was "Does education pay a farmer?". A contest — jumbled letters forming names of towns in Canada — was held, Mrs. D. Clark being the winner; Mrs. L. M. Gaston and Mrs. T. Murdoch tied for second place. Eight ditty bags were sent to headquarters.

Jerusalem-Bethany had an attendance of 16. Two ditty bags were filled. A quilt was completed at this meeting; $5 was donated to the Salvation Army. A paper entitled, "Do you really know what you ought to eat?" was read. Boxes are to be sent to boys serving overseas.

Lachute is arranging to send 63 boxes to local boys serving overseas. Six ditty bags have been packed and a supply of new books is to be bought for the library. The inspector of High Schools of Quebec Province, Mr. Ployat, presented very interesting films.

Mille Isles, with 13 members and two visitors present, heard an address by Mrs. Byers, member of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education. War Savings stamps to the value of $4.50 were sold and 15 ditty bags filled.

Morin Heights' attendance was 22 and seven visitors. Mr. Scott, principal of the school, spoke on "The Aim of Education, and Compulsory Education". Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh also spoke briefly on W.I. work and school education. This branch is sponsoring a Girl Guide Unit in the community, under the direction of Mrs. Downie. The sum of $28.05 was realized from a "military whist", to aid the fund for overseas parcels. Mrs. Baugh was the winner of a spelling bee.

Pioneer had 13 members and one visitor present. Plans were made for an amateur program; $2 was donated to the Salvation Army. Chocolate is to be sent to boys in the services and cigarettes to Sgt. N. Bradley, a prisoner of war. A health quiz was held and articles pertaining to poultices and the treatment of inflamation read.

Upper Lachute - East End had 15 members present. Nurse L. Harrison, of the Health Unit, gave an address on Nutrition, stressing the value of different foods in the daily diet. Plans were made for a card party.

TO SHOW FILMS IN BROWNSBURG

Brownsburg — Arrangements have been completed for the showing of special films on Friday, October 22, at 7.30 p.m., in the Consolidated School here.

SCOUTING HELPS A SOLDIER

A former Canadian Scout Troop Leader, now on active service in Africa, wrote to his former Scoutmaster in Canada: "Thanks to Scouting the transformation from civil life to army life was made without the usual discomfort most chaps experience. I have been in the army three years now and I still find my Scouting experience helps me out on many occasions."

The Farmer and the Victory Loan

By W. H. Brittain

It is not necessary to remind Canadian citizens that through no fault of their own, except the common failure to understand and foresee the coming storm, we have been attacked by a mighty and a ruthless force. Our treacherous adversaries have shrunk from no savagery, no cruelty, no horror, destroying one by one their selected victims. Can anyone imagine that our lot would be any better in the event of defeat? Certainly our enemies have not failed to warn us of their intentions. Therefore, we are left no choice but to mobilize all our materials, all our moral and all our spiritual resources to stem the tide that for so long threatened to engulf us.

Today our sons, and those of all the other United Nations, serve on all the fighting fronts of the world. We do not intend that ever again our men shall have to face the mechanized monsters of modern war without the protection that can be bought with money. We who have been free from bombs, who have not been driven into the roads homeless and destitute, who have not had witness the destruction of our property and the slaughter of our families, are asked for money in order that the young lives that stand between us and the fury of the enemy are equipped with tanks and planes and guns that will protect their own lives and bring them early victory.

The vast sum required cannot be left to the great financial and industrial institutions, or to the comparatively few wealthy individuals among us. No one is compelled to give and no one is even asked to lend without interest and without security. But you are asked to lend what you can afford at interest rate that, in these times, is attractive and only on the best security anywhere obtainable. This is no real sacrifice, for not only will the investor be paid a return on his money which will be repaid to him on maturity, but all of it will be spent in Canada to buy supplies, along with ships and shells and machine guns.

It is important to remember that with the loan it is not a question of borrowing at 7% and lending at 3%. The banks will lend the money at the same rate as the bond is carried. Thus, those with a reasonable expectation of securing funds later can make their contribution now.

Good plans don't make people work. It takes good people to work a plan.

Poultry Comfort Has Wide Meaning

Whether the poultry house is permanent or temporary, comfort for poultry is necessary at all times in order that the highest egg production may be obtained. So far as poultry are concerned, the meaning of the word comfort has a wide application and includes many essentials such as housing, insulation, ventilation, feeding, warmth, and the avoidance of overcrowding. In the matter of housing, the first principals are insulation and ventilation — insulation to conserve the natural heat from the birds and ventilation to insure pure air and the removal of excess moisture. A cold house is apt to be a damp house and poultry particularly require a degree of warmth in order to do well. The birds have a high body temperature — 106 degrees — and an accompanying rapid respiration. Much of the water they drink — and clean fresh water is an important item — is exhaled from the lungs.

Overcrowding is a common danger, and in the arrangement of the poultry house yearlings and pullets of different ages should be penned separately. While any room or outbuilding that is dry, tight-walled, and well-lighted can be adapted for poultry, the same care has to be exercised as in any specially designed house. Windows of the house should face south. Pens of good depth are preferable, whether the house is of the two- or three-story type or not.

SCOTS BUILD SHIPS FAR FROM THE SEA

London (CP) — Pre-fabricated escort ships for the Royal Navy are being built at small factories in the heart of the Scottish countryside.

Hulls, stems, sideplates and engine bearers are being built on a sectional plan by firms which previously manufactured nothing but civilian goods. They were converted to shipbuilding at the height of the Battle of the Atlantic when more escort vessels were needed to protect convoys.

Construction methods were broken down to enable the highest proportion of unskilled and semi-skilled labor to be used. Men and women were trained for specialized work. Success of pre-fabricated methods in building escort ships led ship-building experts to predict they will be used to build the great fleet of merchant ships Britain will need after the war.

Don't Dose Horses With Phenothiazine

At the recent meeting of the Central Canada Veterinary Association, an important recommendation was adopted with regard to the use of Phenothiazine, the powerful vermicide or worm killer which has proved useful in the regulated control of certain diseases of live stock. The recommendation was — "While regulated doses of phenothiazine to body weight in cattle, sheep and swine are approved, the drug must be used in horses with the greatest care, and only under veterinary supervision. Its general use should be discouraged absolutely in these animals."

"The Rumor Clinic"

— Prepared by The Canadian Column —

Has the Rumor Menace Declined?

Professor Maurice C. Cross, of Syracuse University, very aptly gives his views as follows. . . . Now that the war seems to be going in favor of the Allies, the question may well arise as to whether or not loose talk, about which the Rumor Clinic has been so concerned, is as dangerous as it has been in the past. In general, the public seems to have let down somewhat in its enthusiasm for the prosecution of the war effort, and to have adopted the idea that "it's in the bag."

It may be true, too, that we will be inclined to become more careless in believing and repeating subversive rumors. Human nature seems to run in this direction. It is the belief of the Clinic, however, that the danger has not passed but may be even more pronounced than formerly. What is the source of this conclusion?

In the first place, Hitler may be convinced that so far as military success is concerned, he has less to hope for from here on. But so far as political activity is concerned, he probably feels that herein lies a chance for victory or at least of better settlement terms. We can be expected to double his efforts to insert wedges among the Allies in order to reduce their war effort, or to cause them to tire of the war and conclude hostilities with a negotiated peace. There are already cracks into which these wedges can be inserted, and rumor and propaganda are effective political weapons for opening wide these cracks. . . . The wedge-drivers are still with us.

We must not become exposed to this plan of attack. Rumors, lies, deceptions are our enemies. Kill them — Now! Get the facts. Here are a few examples of these rumors.

Rumor: "About 200,000 Canadian troops have been recently sent back from Europe and some of them have already arrived in Canada."

Fact: Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence: "Ridiculous! This rumor is completely false. We are still sending men overseas and will continue to do so."

The belief has been expressed in some quarters that this rumor may have resulted from a misunderstanding or deliberate misinterpretation of a statement made on September 2, by Col. Ralston in which he announced plans for the re-organization of the Canadian Army in Canada and the disbanding of the 7th and 8th divisions and the partial disbanding of the 6th division.

As a matter of fact, Col. Ralston in that statement said in respect to overseas requirements: "It must be emphasized that the fact that there is to be a reduction in requirements for operational troops in Canada, does not mean that the demand is reduced for overseas."

The estimate made at the beginning of the fiscal year was that we would require 100,000 men in the year to replace casualties and wastage, that means 8,500 men per month. From these, about 75,000 (6,500 per month) were required for overseas. The number of enlistments for the first five months of the fiscal year has averaged slightly more than 5,000 per month which means that we have had to draw considerable numbers of General Service men from the formations and establishments in Canada to make up the numbers for despatch overseas. Again, in the course of the same statement, the minister said: "The Army feels that it can confidently ask citizens in their turn to encourage and release fit men to enlist so as to ensure to the Canadian Army Overseas, the lacking it deserves and must have for the heavy tasks ahead."

Here is one that is frequently heard, which is calculated to create fear and distrust in the minds of citizens who are heeding the advice to save now against possible future need.

Rumor: "Persons who are buying War Savings Stamps or Certificates through the forms where they work, should buy them with the thought in mind, that they may never receive ultimate repayment. Should their respective company "fold up" or records be lost, the Government would have no proof as to the individual purchasers, because the Government does not receive duplicates of the Company's records — only statements showing Company's Staff contributions."

Fact: The National War Finance Committee, Ottawa, states: "Employers retain the pledge card signed by the employees instructing the employer to make regular deductions from pay for the purchase of War Savings Certificates. This pledge card is the employers' authority for making the deduction and for his continuing to do so until further notice is given by the employee. Experience indicates that employers generally are very careful about the proper recording and retention of these pledge cards.

Employers remit applications to Ottawa on behalf of their employees on remittance form which, in most cases, is made out in duplicate with a copy retained by the remitting employer for his files. For their protection, some companies complete this form in triplicate and request that a copy signed by the Registrar be returned. This practice is becoming more widespread, and , as a matter of fact is encouraged by the registrar. The remittance form contains complete lists of employees applicants' names, and when the certicates have been registered each month, the Registrar files the list in the company's own file. If an employee wishes to obtain information from the Registrar on the particuars of certificates issued to him, he can easily do so by writing direct to Ottawa. The Registrar, when supplied with the approximate date of issue, and the name and location of the employer, can readily furnish full particulars regarding certificate number and amounts issued in the name of any of that company's employees for the period desired. The Registrar has had no difficulty whatsoever under the Payroll Plan and reports in tracing the issue of certificates that the system is functioning very smoothly.

Duplicate List

The Registrar is continually requesting all certificate holders to maintain a duplicate list of all certificates held, one copy of which should be kept with the certificates and the other in a safe place separate from the certificates. In the case of lost certificates, the separate list will assist both the holder and the Registrar in the insurance of duplicate certificates when necessary. Folders for this purpose have been supplied by the Registrar through employers and have also been issued by many companies and financial institutions.

From the above, it will be seen that no employee should be concerned about the completeness of the records maintained by the Registrar in Ottawa. Two years' experience has shown that the payroll plan has operated without any basis for concern being shown by the employees for the correctness of registration made on their behalf by employers.

Wisecracks from people, like cracks in a wall, may indicate insecure foundations.

Self-Inflation Justified

With the launching of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan campaign this week, we are reminded that even the humblest citizen may pride himself on his importance. The "inflated ego" — providing its manifestations are rightly directed — for once comes into its own.

By way of illustrating that the purchase of Victory Bonds is a personal duty that cannot be delegated to others, The Farmer's Advocate relates the following story:

In medieval times a village in France decided to hold a feast. To insure its success a huge cask was built, into which all participating were asked to pour a bottle of wine. "If I fill my bottle with water," thought one "and empty it into the barrel with others, it will not be noticed." The big day arrived, and when all the villagers had assembled, the great cask was tapped, but only water flowed forth. Every one of the villagers had also resolved, "My bit will not be missed."

The objective in the Fifth Victory Loan is a minimum of $1,200,000,000. Beside that total $100 does not seem very important. Yet a $100 Victory Bond will buy a wide variety of articles essential to every fighting man. It will buy a depth charge, or 18 bayonets, or 20 anti-tank mines, or 28 gas masks for commandos, or 44 steel helmets, or 50 hand grenades, or 3,000 bullets. The list is endless. And these items, multiplied countless times, can mean the difference between life and death, between victory and defeat.

Victory Bond investments are not measured by the amounts we subscribe as individuals but by the circumstances governing our subscriptions. A $50 bond, then, may mean everything implied by the word sacrifice as it applies to civilians. And no matter how small it is, if we all put all we have into the Fifth Victory Loan, it need never be said of any of us: "His bit was missed."

"Speed The Victory !"

This Fifth Victory Loan, asking for one billion, two hundred million dollars — just over $100 for every man, woman and child — like the others, will also go over the top.

For this is more than just another bond drive. Every bond we buy is a stake in the future. It is a financial investment, something that will give us the purchasing power to buy that refrigerator we've done without or that washing machine that is getting old. Yes, it is all that, but something more. It is the practical way of saying. "Yes. I want to preserve the Canadian way of life."

As Canadians we fall heir to a great heritage — a wealth that cannot be measured in dollars and cents for it cannot be bought. It is that quality of character that pulled the early explorers through. The rugged outline of the Vimy Memorial stands as immortal testimony, even to those who have conquered the land around it, of the heritage that is Canada's. We have only to look at the mountains, the cities, the woods that have echoed to the pioneer's axe, the "sheer guts" of the early prairie settlers — all this and much more than words can convey are part of the heritage that is ours.

This heritage is threatened today from without. And anyone who says that because victory seems in sight we can start to let up, is sabotaging our united war effort. Any athlete knows that it's the last fifty yards that needs the extra effort. Ball games are won or lost, very often, in that last five minutes, and it's that last quarter acre that is the hardest to stook. And it's the all out effort we put into what we hope are the closing years of the war, that will determine how quickly it ends.

This heritage is also threatened from within. The bonds we buy will help protect us from without, it is the way we live and carry on that will see that this heritage of ours is maintained unsullied by alien philosophies. As well as buying the bonds to provide the physical armaments for war, we must also have that moral unlifting that will speed the victory, secure the peace and build a new world.

Christmas Shopping for the Boys

It may seem early to talk about buying Christmas gifts, but not if you have someone Overseas to shop for. Christmas parcels, to ensure timely delivery, must be on their way by November 1. . . . A number of men who spent last Christmas with the Canadian Army at battle stations say that reading matter comes at the head of their Christmas list. Among other things they listed flash-lights, hard candy gum, small games, shaving articles, stationery, razor blades and sharpeners and hunting knives.

Brief Retrospect

Air attacks now play so normal a part in hostilities, that many have forgotten the earliest manifestations of air warfare in the Battle of Britain. Developments follow fast, new fronts open with surprising suddenness, and not until the history is written will all the vivid phases of this war be accurately appraised.

The Battle of Britain, we recall, began with the Germans attacking British ships from the air. On the 8th of August, 1940, 60 German aircraft attacked a convoy near the Isle of Wight; and a hundred more of the enemy came later in the day. They sank two of the ships. During that day, one hundred and thirty aircraft attacked a convoy near Bournemouth, and broke it up. Many British ships were sunk or damaged that day, but the Germans lost 60 aircraft. The next attacks by masses of planes were on coastal towns, and then aerodromes and, lastly, upon the morale of the British people by deluges of bombs and fire on London. Wherever they attacked, they found Spitfires and Hurricanes more than their match. In less than three months, the Germans had had 2,375 of their aircraft shot down, and many sent limping home; the Royal Air Force had lost 375 pilots killed and 358 pilots wounded.

The Royal Air Force — with airmen from the United Kingdom, the Commonwealth and some occupied countries — had saved England from the invasion for which three thousand barges were ready in the harbors of Europe.

Prayer for Our Navy

God of Love, in Thy tender mercy
Look down on the men who go forth to the sea,
Help them to travel in safety before Thee,
Free from the perils that lurk in life's sea.

Guard them from danger, from sin and oppression,
Watch with Thine eye of mercy, devotion,
Comfort the lonely, the tempted and weak;
Tenderly care for each loved one who'll meet
Peril and pain as they travel out yonder,
Forth to conquer a world full of woe.
Encourage and comfort them, give them Thy blessing —
Protect them from death and destruction and foe.

Give each heart at home solace and comfort
Grant to their parents hearts full of prayer,
Hope, love and cheer, and faith for our victory,
More love to Thee, and praise to Thy name —
God's name, which has stood as a refuge in mercy,
Founded secure while all ages roll.
Merciful Father, in Thy love and keeping
Bring sweet peace and hope to each ocean-bound soul.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By Jim Greenblat

Capital chit-chat: There are 13,125 bicycles licensed in Ottawa and among the riders are Air Marshal "Billy" Bishop, V.C., and members of the Russian Legation. . . . Adding to the Hall of Fame in the main central corridor of the Parliament buildings are new bronze busts of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden. . . . Some of the refunds to persons who have overpaid income tax are already going out, but some will take time, palpably because each one of the 1,500,000 tax forms has to be assessed and that's some job.

Among the famous stars who will be heard via the airwaves during the V-Victory Loan campaign, according to Ottawa headquarters, will be Canadian-born Walter Pigeon, James Cagney and Norma Shearer; also Barbara Stanwyck, Jessica Dragonette, Oscar Levant and others. The St. Croix destroyer disaster brings forcibly to mind that all Canada has got to take realistic view of this war; that the end is a long way off; and that while the boys over there are "giving" we are only asked to "lend." Gosh, our kids over there are giving plenty and not calling it sacrifice, either.

As wages paid to hired farm help goes up, an interesting recap of the Canadian situation comes to us. When the employer provided board for the hired man the average wage for help by the day was $3.51 in 1943 and $2.50 the year before. "No board" in 1943 brought $4.74 as against $3.15 the year before. Wages for day help were highest in Ontario, but all provinces showed an "up". By the month average with board was $61.26 at August 15, 1943 as against $46.82 same date last year. Current rate of wages for farm help more than double that paid in 1940.

Designed to iron out some of the contentions as between landlord and tenant are some new rental regulations recently issued. A quick glance at the order giving "priority to empty coal bins" requires coal supplies dealers to give priority in coal deliveries to consumers who have less than one-quarter of their annual fuel requirements on hand. This is limited to the one-quarter and applies only to consumers who use less than fifty tons a year.

Maybe you don't know how the cost of living bonus is arrived at: 25 cents for each point rise in the cost of living for all adult male employees and for all other employees employed at basic wage rates of $25 or more a week: one per cent of their basic weekly wage rates for male employees under 21 and women workers employed at basic wages rates of less than $25 a week. Every employer, except in a few exempted classes, must pay this.

Keep Down Inflation

There may be faults but in broad terms Canada's control over prices and wages has been eminently successful — Canadians, we believe, are probably better off than citizens of any of the belligerent — or, for that matter, non-belligerent — countries and should pull together as one great team in a united Canadian determination to hold down inflation.

Philosophy of Pants

During the period when men were not allowed to have cuffs on their trousers we noticed one or two interesting things. Many of our acquaintances always seemed to have cuffs on their trousers, and from this we deduced that they had not bought a new suit since the order became effective.

This led us to some reflections on the longevity of men's clothes, and we at last decided that most men keep their suits for about three years, and then wear them for another two as gardening, fishing and lawn-mowing costumes. Of course there were plenty of cuffless trousers to be seen, too, and the interesting thing about them was that they generally looked as though they needed pressing.

The cuff helps to keep the crease in pants. Forty years ago, when people were dressier than they are now, few men wore trouser cuffs; but in those days they pressed their trousers down the sides and had several pairs of them. Modern income tax, figuratively speaking, has run off with our extra pairs of pants. Even if we can get two pairs with a suit now, we shall have no use for the pockets in them. —Peterborough Examiner

CONSTANCY

The British Museum includes among its manuscript treasures a Christmas Greeting of considerable interest. It is a poem, in the author's own handwriting, beginning:

As the ivy groweth green,
And never changeth hue,
So am I, and always have been,
Unto my lady true.

It was written by that pattern of the constant lover, Henry VIII.

After Dunkirk, Britain had only enough ammunition to keep all its forces firing for one minute. That must not and will not happen again if you pledge yourself to buy Victory Bonds.

Instead of having to get a different person for the job, you may find it possible to make the person different.

A traveller seeking advertisements for a local paper called at the village grocer's. "Nothing doing," said the grocer. "Been established eighty years and never advertised."

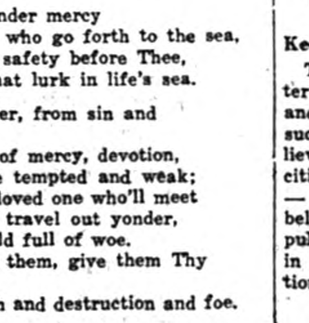

"Excuse me, sir, but what is that building on the hill?" asked the traveller.

"The village church," said the grocer.

"Been there long?" asked the other.

"About three hundred years."

COAST PATROL A 24-HOUR JOB

B.C. Fishermen's Reserve Is Branch of Royal Canadian Navy

Vancouver, Oct. 17 (CP) — Gillnetters, packers, trollers — these are the men who run the 24 former Japanese fishing boats which now form part of the Fishermen's Reserve — a West Coast branch of the Royal Canadian Navy.

The "FR" was organized over four years ago. Its volunteer crews have come from the ranks of the British Columbia fishing industry. Its job is to patrol the Pacific coast day and night. To date the "FR" has patrolled 1,000,000 miles of western waters — the equivalent of 40 times around the world.

Canada's West Coast presents a staggering problem for naval patrol. The deeply indented mainland stretches 1,500 miles and hundreds of islands provide another 4,000 miles of coast. Enemy submarines could lurk in uncharted inlets. Enemy mines planted in West Coast waters could bring disaster to Allied shipping.

The "FR" boats remain at sea for two weeks at a stretch. During that time they co-operate closely with the Canadian Army, Air Force and with the United States Navy and Coast Guard. Men of the Fishermen's Reserve are doing a vital job but they're doing it so quietly that their friends jokingly refer to them as "the silent service within the silent service."

BIBLE CHALLENGES NAVAL PROCEDURE

New York, Oct. 19 (CP) — An American seaman's wife started a minor epidemic of Bible-reading not long ago with a letter to her husband calling his attention to Deuteronomy 24: 5.

He borrowed his chaplain's bible and found:

"When a man taketh a new wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall he be charged with any business: he shall be free at home one year and shall cheer up his wife which he hath taken."

The chaplain, with a smile, wrote a formal memorandum to the ship's executive officer:

"Subject: (the seaman's name, rating and number), marital relations of.

"Reference:( a) Holy Bible, Deuteronomy, Chapter 24, Verse 5.

"1. I thought you might be interested in the subject named man, newly married, having called my attention to reference (a)."

As the memorandum made its way through the official channel, there were many sudden calls for the chaplain's Bible and "reference (a)."

102nd Anniversary Services Next Sunday At Brownsburg United

Musical Contributions last Sunday Appreciated by Congregation

Brownsburg — Evening service in the United Church last Sunday took on an added interest with the participation of several artists from Montreal, namely Misses Lorna McFarlane and Flora Jenkins, Messrs J. J. Russell and Arthur Davidson. Following the responsive selection by the congregation Miss McFarlane rendered "The Lord's Prayer" in a special arrangement by Mr. A. Davidson, who accompanied her together with Miss Jenkins. Mr. Russell sang "In The Garden", accompanied by Mrs. C. J. Wheeler, organist, and later in the service sang "The Old Rugged Cross". During the offertory Mr. Davidson rendered as a violin solo "Traumerei" by Schumann, accompanied by Miss Jenkins, and later he played Schubert's "Serenade".

The Rev. S. J. Pike, minister of the church, on behalf of the congregation thanked the visitors for their inspirational contributions to this service. The hymns, "Onward Christian Soldiers", "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Abide With Me", led by the choir, were appropriate to the occasion.

The 102nd anniversary gatherings of the church will be held next Sunday, October 24, and Tuesday evening, October 26. On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. Dr. L. H. Fisher, of Montreal, ex-chairman of the Montreal Presbytery, will preach. In addition to special music by the choir Mrs. G. W. F. Johnston, of Montreal, will be the soloist. Of unfailing acceptance by her many audiences, Mrs. Johnston comes with a coveted gift of vocal music.

The evening service at 7.30 will be of varied character. The C.G.I.T. will occupy the choir space and render a chorus. The male quartet will also sing.

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock a feature program will be rendered, and the Rev. D. R. Morrison, of Montreal, a former resident here, will be the special speaker. A social hour will follow in the church hall. The public are cordially invited to these gatherings.

District Represented at Convention of Mont'l Presbytery Y.P.U.

The Montreal Presbytery Y.P.U. held their convention in Erskine and American United Church, Montreal, last week-end. A total of 152 delegates of local Unions were present, representing the United Church youth of the Montreal Presbytery, a strong unit in the national body of 60,000 members. At the general business meeting held on Saturday, Miss June Patterson, of Montreal was re-elected to the presidency of the Union, which has a membership of approximately 600.

Group Capt. W. E. Cockram, director of Chaplain Services (P) R.C.A.F., and Capt. the Rev. T. W. Jones gave challenging messages to the youth of today. At an Installation Service held in the church auditorium, the newly-elected officers of the Presbytery stood before the Rev. Thos. Lamont, B.A., assistant minister of Erskine, and verbally promised their utmost in service.

Sunday afternoon discussion hinged upon the main theme of the convention, "Living Today for Tomorrow's World" which stressed the place which Christian Young People must occupy if Canada is to play a prominent part in the development of the much-discussed New World order.

Those present at the convention from this district included Pte. Barbara Cunningham, C.W.A.C., Miss Gertrude McMahon, Miss Mona Bates and Geo. Rothney.

SAYS BRITAIN HUMBLED

Glasgow (CP) — God's purpose has been to humble Britain and to bring it down by a long war almost to the dust, if by that means it could be brought to see the peril of its ways, said Rt. Rev. John Bailie, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland.

How can we fight a common cause if we have a divided mind?

W.M.S. Thank-Offering At St. Andrews East

St. Andrews E. — The thank-offering service of the Presbyterian W.M.S. was held Thursday evening, October 14, in the church. Miss Elizabeth Walsh presided. The guest speaker was the Rev. E. Orsborn, of Lachute. He reviewed in broad outline the history of the missionary enterprise, dealing with three periods: first, the primitive period, about 350 years from Stephen and the apostles' time, to St. Patrick; second, the Celtic missionaries' endeavors covering over 1,000 years to the establishment of the Greek Orthodox Church; and the third period, beginning with the Reformation and continuing to present times. In closing, Mr. Orsborn stressed the plea that evangelization begins at home. We must unify our own views before we can make effective evangelism abroad. A fine example of co-operative living is being put into practice in the Maritimes by François Xavier College. The Church of Christ in China is strong. People are maintaining 104 high schools and colleges, only four less than before the Japanese invasion. They will have able leaders and, if the Christian precepts avail, a Christian nation.

Mrs. Jos. Bradley thanked the speaker and the organist, Mrs. W. A. Fuller.

Christian Science Lesson-Sermon

"Probation After Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 24.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 16: 8. "I have set the Lord always before me; because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death." (Revelation 2: 11).

The Lesson-Sermon includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To the spiritual class, relates the Scriptures: 'On such the second death hath no power.' If the change called death destroyed the belief in sin, sickness, and death, happiness would be won at the moment of dissolution, and be forever permanent; but this is not so. Perfection is gained only by perfection. They who are unrighteous shall be unrighteous still, until in divine Science Christ, Truth, removes all ignorance and sin." (Page 290).

The world needs fighters for the future, not apologists for the present, nor mourners over the past.

Wilson Gall, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gall, of Lachute. The Rev. G. F. Dewey officiated at the ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. W. R. Aird. Miss Ruth Veitch attended her sister as bridesmaid, and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Lieut. Hugh Gall, Black Watch (R.H.R.) of Canada was best man for his brother.

The bride wore a frock of dusty pink crepe, with halo of the same material with shoulder length veil, and brown accessories. She also wore a string of pearls and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Lachute High School and of the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville.

The Spell of the Bible

Many questions may be given to the question, why is it that the Bible exerts an influence upon human life? Some of its books were written thousands of years ago. Some of its authors were not scholars, and there are over a thousand years between its earliest and latest writers. Yet the same purpose runs through all its books. This unity of purpose is one of the strongest proofs of its inspiration. Men wrote the books, but God used these men as instruments to convey His messages to mankind. Some of the writers we know by name, and we know the history of their lives — Moses, Nehemiah, Isaiah, Paul, John, etc.

The strongest proof to a Christian of the divine origin of the Bible is the testimony of Our Lord. Time and time again He appealed to the Scriptures as God's revelation to men. The Bible of Christ's day contained the same books as our Old Testament.

In the four gospels we have vivid portraits of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, the Son of Man, in which the attraction of His personal presence still lingers. We get a glimpse of Him in his gentle youth, silently preparing for His great mission; we see Him in the fullness of His manhood, beginning His public life as prophet, healer, miracle worker; we see Him teaching and preaching the gospel of the Kingdom, healing the sick, helping the poor, opening the door of hope to the outcast and the lost, and we hear His loving words, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest." This is the message needed by a world of sinful, weary, bewildered human beings, lost and groping in spiritual darkness. Our great Redeemer in His compassion for a world of lost, perishing men has given His followers their marching orders, "Give ye them to eat," "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to all creation."

For over a hundred years the British & Foreign Bible Society has been striving to carry out our great Leader's orders.

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

By Jessie Allen Brown

Last winter I gave a series of lectures on Nutrition, which one of my friends attended. After each lecture she would tell her young son that Mrs. Brown says you should eat this or that, or the other. Finally after being told about something he should do, his answer was, 'I wish you had never met that woman.' I don't blame him. Children certainly need to be educated in what they should eat, but how to do it painlessly is a problem. School is another place they should get this education, and it could be started from the very first. To teach it, the teacher must know at least the rudiments of good nutrition. She will be well rewarded, because properly fed children are brighter mentally and have less behavior problems.

INFLATION

The ugly head of inflation is rearing its head too frequently. We are asked to do all that we can to prevent it. Now, what can the average woman do to help? Each of us can do little individually but when each little bit is added together it amounts to considerable. We can buy War bonds to the very limit of our capacity, we can buy nothing that we can get on without, and we can watch prices closely and report any infractions. Many of us have incomes no larger than before the war and these same incomes buy us less and less as prices rise and taxes increase. On the other hand, there are plenty who are making much more money than they ever had before and doubtless ever will again. It is these people who need to watch their spending carefully. There are homes where things have got very run-down through the long depression years and they cannot be blamed for doing some necessary replacing. Instead of the Government telling the people to guard against inflation, how about the people telling the Government to do something about it? As far as can be seen Mr. Ilsley and Donald Gordon are the only ones doing anything. It may be necessary to make some wage adjustments, but even the feeblest intellect can see that if wage increases are general, prices must go up, the increased wages will buy no more than before, and the majority of the people will suffer. The time for us to howl about inflation is before it happens.

WHEAT GERM

All Nutrition surveys have shown that few people get sufficient vitamin B1. This vitamin builds healthy nerves and is good for morale generally. Certainly, we need it at a time like this. One of the best and the cheapest sources is in the whole grains. Cereals such as the oatmeals, and crushed wheat are in this class. Oatmeal can be used in cookies frequently, to increase the amount used. Wheat germ is a very potent source. It has a distinct and not very agreeable flavor but it can be added in small amounts to many dishes. Substitute a quarter cup of it for flour in muffins and spice cookies, and add it to soups, stews, and meat loafs. Sometimes it is difficult to buy wheat germ. The Health Centre in Saint John buys it in quantity and sells it in two-pound bags. This means there is always a place it can be bought and the Centre makes a small profit. If there is difficulty in obtaining it in town some organization might follow this plan.

PEPPER

Pepper is the most generally used of all spices. It is estimated the average American uses seven ounces a year, and presumably Canadians use about the same amount. It needs a hot, humid, climate — jungle in fact. Singapore is the centre of the pepper producing area. To produce black pepper, the berries, somewhat resembling a cluster of red currants, are picked by hand before they are ripe, and are spread out to dry in the sun. They shrival up, and change color, becoming the familiar black pepper. White pepper gets a different treatment. The berries are left on the vines until they become ripe, then the outer hull is removed and the white centre used.

OATMEAL FLAKES

2½ Cups rolled oats, 1 cup flour, ¾ cup melted butter and lard, 2 tablespoons molasses, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg beaten, 1 teaspoon soda.

Sift the flour and the soda. Mix the dry ingredients and stir in the melted shortening and the molasses. Turn out on a floured board, roll thin and cut with a cookie cutter. Bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees. This is our favorite oatmeal cookie. The little bit of molasses seems to add a lot to the flavor. The last time I made them I was in too much of a rush to roll them out as usual, and I sliced them as for an ice-box cookie. They were somewhat thicker and seemed like an entirely different cookie. Either method makes a good cookie.

CODDLED APPLES

5 or 6 Apples, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups water, cinnamon.

Pare and core the apples and cut into eighths. While preparing the apples boil the syrup made from the sugar and water. Drop the apples into the syrup and cook gently until tender but not broken. Pour in to a serving dish and sprinkle lightly with cinnamon. Chill.

TO CONTINUE RATIONING?

Sutton, England (CP) — Rationing will continue in Britain for five years after the war, Cmdr. Sir Archibald Southby, M.P., predicted before a women's meeting in this Surrey town.

COTTON WEAVING INDUSTRY

Bridgetown (CP) — Barbados will soon have a new cottage industry in cotton weaving as a result of a grant of about $15,000 made under the Colonial Development and Welfare Act.

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY

ROYAL GUEST BUSY WORKER

Princess Juliana Shares Problems of Canadian Women as War-time Wife and Mother

Ottawa, Oct. 20 (CP) — Princess Juliana, heir to the throne of the Netherlands, has proved that a wife and mother in a wartime world can live royally and still not cross swords with the Prices Board.

The princess faces the same problems, the same heartbreaks as tens of thousands of Canadian women. Like other lonely hearts from Vancouver to Halifax, her husband, Prince Bernhard, is in uniform, away from home, while she remains with the problems of wartime housekeeping, with three small children to care for, and little domestic help.

But that doesn't put the princess' royal Dutch chin down on her chest. She has a design for living that occupies every minute of the day. Naturally most of her time is spent with her little girls, because she feels that she must make up for two parents, a romping cheery father, as well as a kindly mother.

Goes to Market

Princess Juliana does a great deal of the work in her unpretentious Rockcliffe home herself, and she always does her own marketing, watching prices and quality with real Dutch frugality. She's an everyday shopper in downtown Ottawa, hatless, with her basket on her arm, and dropping into the "Five and Ten" when her marketing is done to buy a toy or two for her tots. The royal mother refuses to allow the little princesses to play with any toys that their little friends at nursery school could not afford, so it's a rare occasion when a plaything costs more than a few cents.

Even a princess has her leisure hours, but Princess Juliana spends most of hers in war work, rolling bandages for the Red Cross, knitting for the men of the Netherlands merchant marine. These men are very close to her heart and each one, as his ship touches dock in eastern Canada and the United States has an opportunity to visit his princess.

"I want them to make my home their home," she once said. "These men can have no waiting wife and children behind the harbor lights. Most of them haven't heard from their families since the Nazis took Holland."

Princess Juliana won't let herself get into a mental rut either. A portion of everyday is spent reading, and studying current events. "Every woman should know all she can about foreign affairs, if she is going to take her rightful place in the post-war world," the princess has said.

Success for W.I. in Stanstead County

For the third consecutive year Stanstead County Women's Institutes catered for three meals a day during the Regional Fair held at Ayer's Cliff, and scored a splendid success, realizing nearly $400 after all expenses were paid. The time, food and money necessary were freely given by members and friends interested in the venture, and the project was under the general supervision of Mrs. M. L. Kezar, Provincial Convener of Home Economics. The funds thus acquired have in former years largely been used in the Institutes' war effort and will doubtless be again devoted to that purpose.

All the scrap that we've sent in
Brings victory to our labors;
But peace will mean that we must scrap
Our scrapping with the neighbors.

POST-WAR NYLON WILL BE SMART

New York, Oct. 18 (CP) — Nylon, that wonder-baby of the textile world, has been growing up during the war — and just wait until you see him in all his post-war glory.

He was a lusty youngster when Uncle Sam interrupted his peace-time career to draft him for the service of his country, but when he comes back he's going to be a superman.

Not only will there be a pair of nylon stockings for every girl in that fabulous post-war world — there will also be nylon shoes, nylon curtains, nylon collars and cuffs that need no ironing, nylon sweaters and evening gowns, nylon swim suits and girdles — even nylon wigs!

Down at the Du Pont laboratories, big things are cooking, and they'll be done to a turn just about the time Hitler and Hirohito cry "Uncle!"

So don't grumble about meatless stews and butterless bread — don't stint on the war bonds — the sooner this thing is over, the sooner Johnny Nylon will come marching home to you.

GIRL MAIL-DRIVER A REAL SOURDOUGH

U.S. Army Postwoman Laughs at Alaskan Snows and Rutted Roads

Juneau, Alaska, Oct. 14 (CP) — An officer at the Alaska Defence Command asked Rusty Dow how she liked handling a jeep and she told him, "It isn't any more exciting than driving a mechanized pup."

She thinks more civilians should come to Alaska for war jobs because — "Of all our free country, this is the free-est with the most peace."

The proudest day of all for the popular red-haired driver of an Army Engineer's mail truck was when the engineers gave her a job three years ago. The only woman driver in Alaska has travelled many a rutted road and fought winter blizzards, with nary an accident. She's taken no working days off.

"I like the engineers because they get lots done, when the going's hardest, pioneering," she said. "I like action. It's hard to remember sometimes now, when we hunted low brush moose and high brush moose." (Low brush moose are rabbits.)

Rusty has had an event-filled life since she came north with her parents in an old-two-ton truck, on the way to Matanuska, back in 1934.

She free-lanced trucking jobs. She ran a laundry and had a mail contract. Three years ago she married Russ Dow, a former Dartmouth ski champion.

Hyde offered prayer on behalf of our soldiers. Mrs. Chas. Fuller was guest organist, assisted by a volunteer choir. The collection was taken by Ian Bradley.

The Rev. E. Orsborn, of Lachute, was guest speaker of the evening and gave a most able and inspiring address on missions, going back to the very beginning and leading up to the present day.

WHITE ROSE SAVIT SERVICE

North River Motors are proud to present White Rose Savit Service

Here's what it's all about!

Drive in your car or truck and we drain out the old motor oil and fill the crank case with White Rose "Solv". The motor is run about 30 minutes, during which time about 8 ounces of White Rose "Tune" is circulated through the carburetor. Now the crank case is drained again and filled to the required level with the proper SAE grade of White Rose Motor Oil.

What does it do?

White Rose "Solv" and White Rose "Tune" cleans motors internally. All gum, sludge, varnish, dirt, carbon and other abrasives are entirely removed. In short, you practically get the same results with Savit Service as you would if the motor were taken down and thoroughly cleaned. White Rose Savit Service will not overcome mechanical defects. If your motor is mechanically o.k., White Rose Tune and Solv will give you increased compression and increased gasoline mileage.

A NEW DRIVING THRILL IN 30 MINUTES

Remember, the cost is reasonable and you'll be switching over to winter oils any time now, so why not have your motor cleaned at the same time!

Remember, Clean Motors Last Longer !

THE "OUT" IN SCOUTING

Boy Scouts of the 2nd Hamilton Troop believe in living in the outdoors. In the past 52 weeks they have spent 47 week-ends at their campsite, including week-ends when the temperature dropped as low as 25 degrees below zero. Due to high water leaving their boathouse stranded, these Sea Scouts had to swim out to get a boat when they planned a boating program.

SOLDIER TO THE RESCUE

Ayrshire Breeders' Annual Meeting

County of Argenteuil and the County of Two Mountains together stage a Red and White Show next year.

The members after some discussion approved of this and recommended that the two clubs get together and lay plans for the event.

Simon Wilson, of the local Holstein Club, as president extended greetings on behalf of that organization.

Guest speaker for the evening was Professor G. Toupin, of Oka Agricultural College. He was introduced by the honorary president, J. H. Black. Prof. Toupin is past president of the Canadian Ayrshire Association. His subject centred around agricultural organizations of the future, especially after the war. He also extended best wishes to this club and commended its activities.

John Fraser, Sr., of Lachute Road, one of the oldest members, now in his 82nd year, gave some interesting stories of old times, recounting how he had helped his father show cattle in his younger days. Mr. Fraser also entertained the audience with a few songs.

The ladies of St. Jerusalem-Bethany Women's Institute served refreshments to some 85 members, ladies and friends.

Junior Heatlie entertained the audience with cowboy selections, and a group comprising Edgar Jackson, Miss Jean Hadley and Shirley Stewart played for old-time square dances, Gilbert Boyd and Keith Gordon calling the routine.

Letters of regret at their inability to be present were read from F. Napier, secretary-treasurer of the parent association, from Brodie Ness, the president, and from Melville Smith, president of the local club.

(W. B. Rodger, secretary, in submitting report of this meeting, expresses sincere thanks to all who helped to make the annual gathering and social hour a success. Although some time has passed since, he also conveys thanks to members of the parent association for the support given last February when he, the secretary, was elected to represent Western Quebec as director to replace J. H. Black, who had been on the directorate for many years).

Victory Loan Headquarters Report $380,300 Invested To Date on Argenteuil's Million-Dollar Objective

Huberdeau First Canvassing District to Go 'Over the Top'

Victory Loan headquarters in Lachute announced yesterday that Huberdeau was the first canvassing district in Argenteuil to exceed its Fifth Victory Loan objective. Before the end of the first week of the campaign, this small municipality had exceeded its $17,000 quota by $400 and thus leads the Argenteuil parade for the second Loan in succession.

Results throughout the county, while generally satisfactory, are not startling. To date Argenteuil citizens have subscribed $380,300 toward a $1,000,000 objective. The pace will have to be stepped up considerably during the short time remaining, if this county is to go over the top.

In addition to the $380,300 "new money," conversion subscriptions now total $67,900. These do not apply toward the county objective, but will be added to it.

After a relatively speedy start, Lachute's performance has become apathetic. Many citizens who have not purchased bonds would be advised to study more carefully the terms of the Instalment Application. Nearly every gainfully employed person is able to buy on the instalment plan if not for cash. "No money in the bank" is the poorest excuse of all. In terms of what our boys are fighting for, and against, that is comparable to the excuse "No ammunition in the magazine."

The Employees' Canvass at Brownsburg is progressing very favorably. Present indications are that this active community will again exceed its objective. Total sales to date, in the town and in the plants, amount to $140,400.

The Grenville district is making a better showing than it did during the Fourth Victory Loan, and should exceed its objective. Sales now total $28,100.

From Calumet and district, returns have been regular and now total $25,650, while St. Andrews East is well on the way with a total of $20,250.

Morin Heights, Arundel and Weir are all lagging somewhat. In Morin the total is now $5,650; in Arundel, $4,150; and in Weir, $3,850.

Salesmen report that they are still being asked to make many repeat calls. . . . The Argenteuil Committee would greatly appreciate it if citizens could give the salesman more consideration. . . . Each has a large territory to cover and having to make repeat calls is a handicap.

There's a long way to go yet! Do your duty now and proudly wear your lapel insignia. Argenteuil has never failed, and must not fail this time. Buy now, and let's see this county one of the first to go over the top. IT'S UP TO YOU! SPEED THE VICTORY!

Successful Dance At Cons. School In Grenville

Grenville — A dance was held in the auditorium of Grenville Consolidated School Friday evening, October 22. The event was sponsored by the Students' Council of the school, a representative body elected from the pupils and responsible for all activities in the school.

The purpose was to raise money for the following additions and improvements: a new Union Jack; a studio couch for the teachers' room — this to be used also as a sick cot for the pupils; roller blinds for the windows of the auditorium, to facilitate the showing of motion pictures; and monthly magazines for the class-rooms.

For the round dances, Lowe's Orchestra supplied exceptionally fine music, and the square dances were a great success due to the remarkable talent of Josephat Quenneville, aided by the orchestra.

Lunch was served to about 250 people. Afterwards, the drawing was made on a raffle for five dollars. Mrs. Carriere, of Grenville, was the winner. Tickets for this drawing had been sold throughout the week by pupils. A Chinese Auction on a hamper of apples was also held, the winner being Mr. McCart, of Rawcliffe.

The auditorium was attractively decorated in the school colors, blue and gold, and evergreen boughs, used in the form of sprays. Highlight of the decorations was a night-sky scene with the predominating feature an illuminated golden moon. The moonlight waltzes added to the enjoyment of those dancing.

The event was a decided success, the objective being more than reached. A profit of $142.51 was realized, and the gratifying result may be attributed to fine co-operation between the community and the pupils.

Dance Operator Is Attacked and Robbed of Cash

Following a dance at McArthur's Hall, Lachute, on Saturday evening, Howard Gauley, sponsor of the dance, returned to his home in an upstairs apartment on Main Street West, and at the door was attacked and knocked unconscious by a man in military uniform. He regained consciousness on the sidewalk at the foot of the stairs and found he had been robbed of his evening's receipts. The victim, painfully hurt, struggled to neighbors' premises. He was carried home, where police and medical assistance was summoned. Treated by Dr. Jules Lafleur for a dislocated shoulder and severe cuts about the head, Gauley was later driven to the Montreal General Hospital by Geo. Y. Deacon, proprietor of the dwelling he occupies.

The attack occurred at 1.30 Sunday morning. A soldier's cap bearing a name and regimental number, R.C.O.C. 166301, led to the identification of Pte. Germain Gagné as the alleged culprit. Gagné is a resident of this town now in training at Farnham Camp, where he was later arrested by Provincial and Military Police. He was taken to St. Jerome jail pending arraignment.

Howard Gauley, victim of this vicious assault, is reported recovering and is expected to return home this week.

ST. ANDREWS MAN RECEIVES WINGS AND COMMISSION

St. Andrews East — Pilot-Officer Hugh W. Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan Robertson, St. Andrews East, recently received his wings and commission at No. 4 S.F.T.S., Saskatoon, Sask. After spending a short leave at his home, he has gone to the West Coast to resume his operational training.

It's only the people who can't get on who tell each other where to get off.

A CALF BORN WITH DOUBLE HEAD HAD SHORT-LIVED GLORY

It is reported from reliable sources that the Armstrong Brothers, Lachute Road, are in the market for a tent and the services of an experienced barker, to capitalize on the freak of nature which arrived at their farm Wednesday morning in the shape of a double-headed calf.

Two distinct heads on the one neck were joined down to the jaw bones and the animal had the use of the two sets of jaws. It appeared to have difficulty in breathing, and the two tongues moved in unison as it did so. The calf had four eyes; one gaping spectator maintained it would have the decided advantage of seeing not only where it was going, but also where it was coming from! The markings on both heads were identical, with a spot of white in the centre of each forehead. It had the usual number of ears, and appeared normal in every other respect.

Ingenious ideas were advanced as to how the animal would be taught the gentle art of eating. Others maintained that it couldn't eat anyway.

Despite the experienced care of its owners, who were nevertheless doubtful whether this bovine specimen would ever be able to hold up its heads, it passed away quietly within a few hours.

Four Injured in Collision With An Army Carrier

Four occupants of a passenger car were injured in a collision with an army vehicle at Brownsburg, around midnight on Monday. The machine, a universal carrier, was one of the units in a military convoy which had visited the town for a Victory Loan demonstration that day. The convoy was heading toward Montreal when one of the conveyances rolled into the ditch at the roadside. The universal carrier was at a standstill behind this truck, unable to proceed. The driver of the passenger car, approaching down St. Onge's hill, apparently failed to notice the carrier, and crashed into it from the rear with considerable force.

The four occupants were taken to a nearby residence, where they were given medical treatment by Dr. A. R. Coté. The driver was taken to Providence Hospital, Lachute, and another member of the foursome was taken to a Hawkesbury institution.

Investigation was made by Provincial Traffic Officer A. Legault.

Origin of 'Poppy Day'

During the Napoleonic Wars, a writer of the period remarked upon the intimate association the scarlet poppy had with the graves of those who had fallen in battle. He remarked that the fields of battle, Waterloo, Dettingen and others — bare wastes before the conflicts — blossomed out after battle and the burying of youth; into vast stretches of scarlet — the scarlet of Flanders poppies.

In the Great War millions observed this same phenomenon. They saw spring from the earth where their comrades lay, great vistas of poppies, waving defiantly amidst the shot and shell and terror of warfare. A Canadian soldier poet saw the poppies, too, and immortalized them in the poem — "In Flanders Fields."

Upon their return from the Great War, disappointment awaited many of the veterans, and soon one saw thousands of ex-service men and their families, through unemployment, living in conditions of distress.

In England, the late Field Marshal Earl Haig led the way in creating means whereby the manufacture and sale of poppies once a year would produce funds to take care of emergency assistance to veterans and their families in need, and from year to year, large sums of money have been raised for this purpose.

In Canada, the first poppies were worn on the third anniversary of Remembrance Day — and last Remembrance Day saw the greatest number sold in the history of Poppy Campaigns in Canada. In addition, post-war graves, memorials and cenotaphs bore the emblems, in wreaths, sprays and individual flowers.

All poppies, wreaths, etc., distributed in Quebec are assembled by disabled Veterans in the "Vetcraft" Shops, and the proceeds, after paying for the supplies, are distributed in the way of relief assistance to needy ex-service men and their dependents.

The poppy is the symbol of sacrifice in the Great War and the present World War, and we must not allow the memory of that sacrifice to perish.

In wearing the poppy, we are doing three things: (1) We keep in remembrance the sacrifice of Canadian manhood and womanhood in the Great War, and the present World War, and help to pass on the memory of both wars to future generations. (2) We provide work for disabled veterans. (3) We are helping to create funds for the assistance of disabled and needy ex-service men and their dependents, and the dependents of the fallen who need help.

The whole-hearted co-operation of every citizen in this community will help needy Veterans. It is hoped that a new poppy sales record will be established this year so that additional funds will be available to help those less fortunate than we are.

"Give freely and wear a poppy on Remembrance Day."

RICHER BROTHERS DISTINGUISHED IN AIR FORCE SERVICE

Baxter Now Commands Famous Alouette Squadron

The two Richer brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Richer, 5854 Durocher Street, Montreal, former residents of this town, have distinguished themselves in the service of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Squadron Leader Baxter Richer, one of the brothers, has been promoted to Commander in charge of the famous Alouette Squadron overseas. Richer replaces Squadron Commander J. W. St. Pierre who has returned to Canada. Paul, the other brother, has just arrived in Canada after serving ten months in Britain.

Glengarrians to Stage Parade Here for Victory Loan Drive

Arrangements have been completed for D Company, comprising Hawkesbury and Lachute members of the Second Batt. (Reserve) Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, to parade in Lachute on Tuesday, November 2, in support of the Fifth Victory Loan campaign.

This Unit rallied at Hawkesbury on October 18 to aid the drive in that community, and the parade was voted a notable success. As a result of this venture efforts were started to bring the same parade to Lachute.

Cornwall Pipe Band, which led the Hawkesbury parade, are not able to participate in Lachute, and the assistance of another military band has been enlisted — the pipe band of the Cameron Highlanders, Ottawa. This gesture is highly appreciated by the local Reserve.

The parade will form at the Auditorium at approximately 8 p.m. and will proceed through various streets of the town.

A reviewing stand is to be erected where it is expected the mayor of the town will take the salute.

W. H. Price, unit organizer for the Victory Loan who has spared no effort to make this parade a success, is endeavoring to secure from Montreal a number of armoured vehicles as an added attraction.

Week at Quebec

By GUY GAGNON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec, Oct. 27 (CP) — Quebec Province will produce beet sugar next year and the government sponsored refinery at St. Hilaire will process beets from about 10,000 acres, Premier Godbout announced here this week.

An announcement from the provincial department of agriculture said that the refinery, which was sanctioned by a bill during the last session of the legislature following a 79-hour marathon debate, will begin operations in September, 1944, and is expected to process beets from about 10,000 acres.

Premier Godbout, who also holds the portfolio of Agriculture, said it was estimated that from 3,000 to 4,000 Quebec farmers will sow from three to four acres of sugar beet each spring in the interested counties. Later Mr. Godbout issued an appeal calling on Quebec farmers to meet the demand of the St. Hilaire refinery.

"We are calling on you to engage yourself by contract to cultivate in 1944 a fixed area of sugar beets," he said, adding that the contract "is without doubt the most advantageous one offered to Canadian farmers."

Results of the Juvenile Agriculture Merit contest this year in the 15 counties of the South Shore of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence rivers and Temiscaming, excluding Montreal region counties, were also announced this week by Premier Godbout.

Maurice Desy, of St. Barthelemy, Berthier, came first in the graduated class and was awarded the provincial trophy, a gold medal and $50, while Antonio Loiselle, of Ville-Marie, Temiscaming, received the award for the non-graduated class and was awarded a two-year scholarship in a provincial agricultural school, a gold medal and $25.

While planes from air search parties, looking for a big R.C.A.F. Liberator, missing since October 19, were taking off or landing at the nearby Ancienne Lorette Airport, Air Minister Power and Air Marshal L. S. Breadner, R.C.A.F. Chief of Staff, were presented with a Belgian Military Cross by Baron Silvercruys, envoy extraordinary and minister plentipotentiary of Belgium to Canada.

Baron Silvercruys told Mr. Power and Air Marshal Breadner that "Belgium will never forget the aid she was given by the Royal Air Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force and that she begins to prove her gratitude by participating in British and Canadian raids over Europe."

Lady Drowned In North River At St. Andrews

St. Andrews East — On Sunday afternoon Mrs. John Paquette met a tragic death by drowning. Her husband was duck hunting by the mouth of the North River and, returning about 4.30 p.m., found his wife's body a short distance from their home, which is situated on the river bank. It is presumed that she went to the river's edge to watch for her husband's return and slipped on some wet stones. She was wearing an overcoat which spread out and kept her body afloat. A doctor was summoned at once but life was extinct.

H. Bradford Speaks At St. Andrews E. School Ceremony

St. Andrews East — The postponed "closing exercises" of the Consolidated School were held Friday evening, October 22, at the town hall. The proceedings opened with the singing of "O Canada," accompanied by Mrs. G. Dawson. The Rev. Wm. MacMillan, D.D., led in prayer.

Mr. W. R. Burry, recently made chairman of the Board of Trustees, replacing Mr. C. S. Wales who has retired from the Board, presided. In his remarks he said 82 pupils were on the roll. He made a plea for the establishment of a scholarship to enable students to take Grade XI. The scholarship given by the late Sir George Perley had lapsed at his death. . . . A roll of honor for former pupils serving overseas is to be placed in the school. . . . Mr. Burry also spoke of the need for some repairs.

Mr. C. S. Wales (in absentia) and Mr. W. J. Pitcairn, who recently retired as secretary-treasurer of the Board, were presented with portraits, which are to be hung in the school. Mr. Burry spoke of the long years of service given by these former members to the Board. Their children had attended the school, and Mr. Wales had himself been a pupil. Mr. Wm. Entwistle has replaced Mr. Pitcairn as secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. G. Dawson, principal, mentioned the work of the Junior Red Cross undertaken by the pupils, for which a collection was received by four of the older pupils on the conclusion of her talk.

Grades I, II and III, under direction of Miss Fleming, sang "Ten Little Nigger Boys", with ten of the boys in costume. Miss Mary Robertson was accompanist.

Prizes were then distributed to the pupils — a list of which will be published in next issue.

The guest speaker, Principal H. Bradford of Lachute High School, dealt at some length with the adjustments which must be made if rural schools are to keep pace with standards of education which prevail in larger centres. Chief improvement would be to consider the whole county as one school municipality with a central board to deal with questions concerning all schools, with pooled finances. Each school could retain its own Board for individual administration as heretofore — but, for teachers of special subjects, etc., could share, in co-operation with schools of larger centres, in their excess tax revenues. Such administration has already been put in operation in the Townships.

After the singing of "God Save the King" the Rev. D. L. Gordon pronounced the benediction.

—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

Semi-Annual Gathering of County Women's Institutes Held in Lachute

Two Argenteuil Ladies Are Speakers

The semi-annual convention of Argenteuil County Women's Institutes was held in Lachute High School on Saturday, October 23, with mostly all branches well represented. Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh presided.

With regard to the annual exhibit of handicraft, home-cooking, etc., at Lachute Fair, it was generally felt that this project was losing interest, on account of war work and the many other fields of activity now being undertaken by the members. However, Mrs. Baugh stressed the importance of carrying on with this important work, and expressed the hope that all branches would bring the matter up for discussion at their next meetings. Mrs. Baugh also said that she hoped the scholarship awarded by the Institutes would be continued, and that more of the branches would help by donating to this constructive cause.

Mrs. E. Smith, county treasurer, showed in her report a balance of $60.48.

During intervals, Mrs. Lavis sang, in Welsh and English, two beautiful numbers, "All Through the Night" and "The Ash Grave", accompanied by Mrs. S. S. Campbell, who also rendered a solo. This musical program was greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Gordon Wyness was then introduced by Mrs. W. Fletcher. Mrs. Wyness is well known in Lachute and Brownsburg for her untiring efforts in promoting courses in Home Nursing and Emergencies in War. Mrs. Wyness' address pertained to the Nation's Health, and how this depended upon the woman in the home. One must think of the home, she said, as an abiding place where the worker comes at the end of the day, for the comfort, relaxation and security never found in any other place. Woman's work in the home, she stressed, was just as important as that of writers, artists, musicians, etc., and said that there was a great difference between housekeeping and homemaking. Mrs. Wyness spoke of the hardships endured by the woman of 100 years ago, and the difference in the life of the woman of today, brought about by the advance of science.

In speaking of the care and health of children, she stressed how much this depended on the influence of the home, and that children should be taught courage, with a certain element of caution, self-control and independence. A mother should live with her children rather than for them. The teaching of sex hygiene was urged, and the importance of providing suitable entertainment and work in the home for the adolescent youth.

Concerning the care of elderly people, these members of our homes, Mrs. Wyness said, should be made happy and content, and wherever possible given a part to play in the home.

In conclusion Mrs. Wyness remarked that health is that quality possessed in mind and body which enables one to enjoy life — mental health being something one must have in order to enjoy physical health. This war will teach the average woman in the home that her work is important, and has a place in the building up of our country.

Mrs. G. Leggett thanked the speaker for her very inspiring address.

Mrs. A. Graham then introduced Mrs. W. Y. King, a missionary recently returned from China, who in her talk presented a clear picture of the Chinese, their lives and their homes. She told of the horrors of the white slave trade and of rescue work being carried out by an organization known as the Door of Hope. Mrs. King also spoke of the part the educated Chinese girls are playing in the teaching of Christianity in China. She urged that after the war the Women's Institutes should do their part in helping to lift the heavy head-tax now levied on Chinese wishing to enter Canada, and she expressed the hope that these people would be allowed to enter the Dominion as freely as Canadians are allowed entry to China.

Mrs. G. McGibbon thanked Mrs. King for her very interesting and instructive address.

—The county president, Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, wishes to thank the guest speakers, the ladies who provided the program, those who served refreshments, and all members who helped to make this meeting a very successful event.

Remembrance Day Observance and Sale of Poppies

Local Branch No. 70 of the Canadian Legion will again handle the Poppy Day campaign, and young ladies will canvass the town on Friday and Saturday, November 5-6, so that all citizens will have an opportunity to purchase their emblem in remembrance of those who have paid the supreme sacrifice. Monies received from this source are used wholly for returned men in distress, and their families, and it is sincerely hoped the public will lend their hearty support to the project.

The usual Remembrance Day service will be held in Lachute Auditorium on Thursday morning, November 11, commencing at 10.45 o'clock.

Red Cross Scarf Goes to French Prisoner of War

Many acknowledgments have been received here by individual workers whose names are attached to articles made for the Red Cross, but the following letter received by Mrs. Geo. V. Graham, Lachute Mills, comes from an unusual source, and shows that work executed by Red Cross voluntary knitters is reaching even the French soldiers still held prisoners in Germany. The acknowledgment reads:

British Committee for the French Red Cross
London, Eng.

September 28, 1943

Dear Mrs. Graham:

We have received from the Canadian Red Cross a beautiful scarf knitted by you and we thought that you would be interested to know that this is sent to a French prisoner of war in Germany.

We send regular weekly consignments of parcels to these prisoners of war and we received such grateful letters from them so may we thank you for your gift on behalf of the French prisoner of war who will receive it?

Yours sincerely,
Francoise de Salis,
President.

Two Accidents To Motorists Last Week-end

Driving towards Lachute shortly before six o'clock Friday evening, Arnold Maxwell of Beech Ridge met with a mishap in which his car completely overturned, severely injuring the driver who is now a patient in Providence Hospital, Lachute. It was believed a blow-out caused the motorist to lose control of his car. Suffering a fractured shoulder and two broken ribs, Mr. Maxwell was taken home by George McGibbon, Lachute, from the Beech Ridge Road where the accident occurred. Dr. W. F. FitzGerald was summoned to give medical aid and the victim was removed to hospital Saturday morning.

On the Main Street of Lachute late Saturday afternoon, a car driven by Herman Zimmer, of Brownsburg, was run into by an automobile approaching from the rear, driven by M. Rousson, Lachute. With Mr. Zimmer were his wife, son and daughter. The son, a young boy, was hurled against the windshield and suffered a severe cut over one eye. He was treated by Dr. W. F. FitzGerald at his office nearby.

It was stated Zimmer was turning across the road from the service station at Harriet Street, when Rousson, driving westward, crashed into the side of the Brownsburg car before he could swing to avoid a collision. Mr. Zimmer's machine suffered considerable damage. Constable R. Nelson, of the Provincial Police, investigated.

Atlantic Plane Losses Half of One Per Cent

London (CP) — The percentage of losses of aircraft making the North Atlantic crossing was less than one-half of one per cent for the year ending September 30, the Air Ministry announced recently. The figures include east-west and west-east crossings by military planes of both the United States and Britain, and crossings by the British Overseas Airways Corporation with civilian traffic.

Bonds Will Mean Flood of Money For Home Building

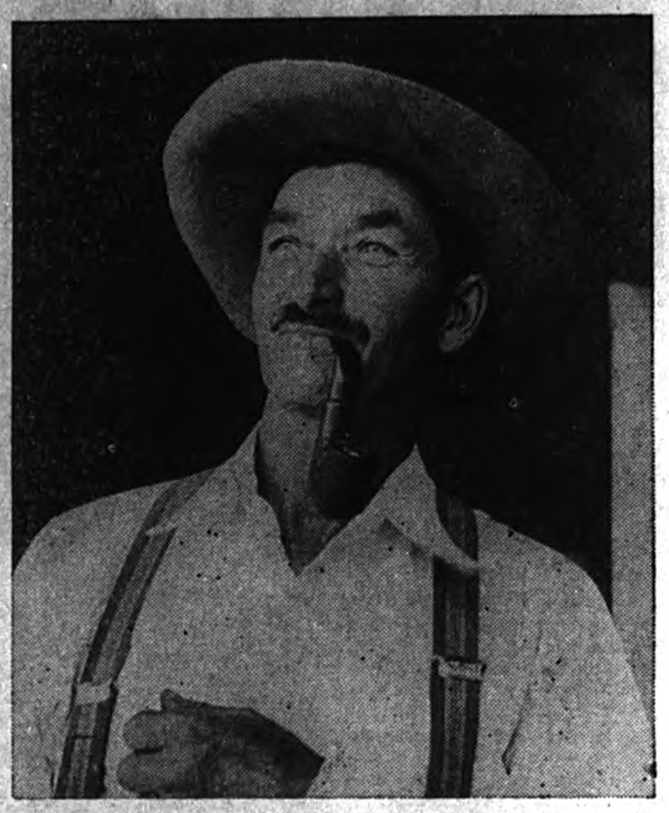

Today across Canada thousands of individual Canadians are digging deep to find the money to buy Victory Bonds — to speed the victory — and to buy homes after the war is over. Home purchasing through the advance saving method is comparatively new in Canada; it is almost as old as the hills in Great Britain and some European countries.

Buying Victory Bonds now, for homes after the war, is simply the Building Society method, with larger individual amounts involved. In Britain, particularly after the last war, literally thousands of homes were built by the building societies. Members of these societies paid in so much a month, or a week, made their deposits regularly until they had sufficient to start building a home. They then borrowed enough from the society to start building, built their homes and repaid their loan as they went along.

In Canada after the war thousands of Canadians who have always wanted to own their own homes but who have never been able to accumulate sufficient savings to make the down payment will have savings on hand and the greatest building boom in all Canadian history is in prospect. Accompanying this vast nation-wide accumulation of savings has been a steady advance in the development not only of building materials but also of building methods. After the war the man with a thousand dollars in bonds will be able to enjoy all the pleasures of home ownership for monthly payments less than he now pays in rent.

That's just some of the prospects for the future offered to those who today buy more and more Victory Bonds.

Guides Governor General

WALTER NIXON, veteran "mountain man", Canadian Rockies guide and rancher, guided the Earl of Athlone and Princess Alice on their hunting trip through the East Koutenay area during which the Governor General brought down a large mountain goat.

Originally from Ontario, Guide Nixon has ranched in the Upper Columbia Valley, B.C., for almost forty years; has been a game warden in that area and in the Koutenay River and Leanchoil districts.

In addition, he was one of the founders and charter members of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, an organization now world-famous, and one which has brought great happiness to hundreds of lovers of the Great Outdoors.

BETTER LIVESTOCK NEED IN BRITAIN

London (CP) — Livestock production must remain the dominant feature of British agriculture, the National Veterinary Association agreed at a conference here.

Britain had many times been referred to as the "stud farm of the world" and this was largely a true description, Prof. Robert Rae, of Reading University, told the delegates. The best herds and stocks of many countries, including the Dominions and America, were found on stock exported from Britain.

Plowing Reports In Military Form

London (CP) — British Field Headquarters on Britain's food said after a plowing competition near Reigate, Surrey: "In plowing operations we made many deep penetrations and our lines were everywhere straightened. Spearhead of attack was carried out by a veteran cavalry unit of the Old Army. In support was a crack combat team of the mechanized Women's Land Army using self-propelled equipment."

St. Andrews Youth Now Oldest Dis. Judge in States

4,000 People Shook Hands With Notable Figure on "Kneeshaw Day"

Few men have been privileged to live 88 active years. Judge W. J. Kneeshaw, of Pembina, North Dakota, is such a man — writes J. M. Snowfield, Region Bar Association president, concerning a figure who lived his early days in St. Andrews East and is related in this district.

Judge Kneeshaw has probably seen more history made in North Dakota than any other living man, and has set an enviable record as a jurist. . . . He was born at Ottawa, and received his early education in Montreal and at the St. Andrews East Academy.

The following extracts from the biographer's article in a Drayton newspaper, throw light on the high-spots of Judge Kneeshaw's career. . . .

"He came West in 1873 to make his fortune and the trip was made partly by boat and partly portage. He arrived in Pembina July 21, 1873, and took a position as manager of a general store. From that day to this he has lived for his community, state and country. He has held many offices, such as Justice of the Peace, Mayor, County Commissioner, and County Treasurer. After coming West he studied law and was admitted to the Bar in 1879, and the following year was elected State Attorney of his county. In 1900 he was elected Judge of the District Court, a position he has held ever since and in spite of his years his mind is as keen and alert as ever.

In 1877 he married Susan Randall, of Paris, Ont., and made a honeymoon trip to Pembina. Four sons and four daughters were born to the Kneeshaws.

A son and daughter served in the first World War and his grandsons and granddaughters are serving in World War II.

Active in civic, church and fraternal organizations, he early became a familar figure in the state and northwest activities. He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He is a charter member of both the Scottish Rite and the Royal Arch Masons of Pembina. He has been Grand Master of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and has been elected to the honorary membership in the Order of the Coif. He possesses a cross given him by Queen Victoria for services in the Fenian Raid.

In 1929 the Pembina County Old Settlers Association at Cavalier, North Dakota, set aside a "Kneeshaw" day and more than 4,000 people shook hands with the Judge.

Three of his portraits have been unveiled and hang in the Court Houses at Grafton, Langdon and Cavalier, so his story will live for ages.

Judge Kneeshaw's 42 years on the bench and his 88 years make him the oldest District Judge in the United States.

Judge W. J. Kneeshaw has seen and watched the development of the telephone, the train, the steamship, the automobile and the aeroplane.

Despite his advanced years he has one of the keenest legal minds in the state.

—Judge Kneeshaw has returned to renew acquaintance with these parts on one or two occasions. Mrs. Ed. Morrin, of Lachute, is among relatives here.

Difference in Law, Ont. and Quebec, Subject of Appeal

Quebec Motorist's Liability in Regard to Passenger

Is an automobile owner resident in the Province of Quebec liable in damage to a guest passenger for injuries received while travelling in Ontario, where the law of that province, different to that of Quebec, does not recognize such liability? The question was argued and judgment reserved thereon in the Court of Appeal last week.

Appeal was from a judgment of the Superior Court which condemned Major H. J. G. McLean, of Westmount, to pay $5,636.18 damages for injuries suffered by Mrs. J. A. Pettigrew, nurse, due to an accident near Rockland, Ontario, July 30, 1940, while travelling as a guest passenger accompanying Mrs. McLean in an automobile owned and driven by Major McLean. The court of first instance held that the right and liabilities of the parties in the instance were governed by the law of the province in which they were domiciled.

John Bumbray, for the appellant, Major McClean, submitted that, in the light of proof that the accident was not due to any fault on the part of the driver of the automobile, Mrs. Pettigrew, the respondent, could not recover damages inasmuch as under the Highway Act of that province, the owner or driver of a motor vehicle is not liable for injuries suffered by a guest passenger.

J. E. Mullaly, for respondent, contended that the case must be decided under the Quebec Civil Code, even more so because appellant contracted to carry respondent safely to Ottawa.

Counsel for appellant replied that respondent could not rely on the contract invoked, inasmuch as there was no consideration and no presumption against the driver as there would be under a contract. By the trip to Ontario, it was maintained, the parties subjected themselves to the Ontario law and respondent could not rely on a contract allegedly made in the province where she is domiciled.

The Tie That Binds

One of the few tangible good effects of the war has been the strengthening of the ties between Canada and the British Isles from the traditional bonds of empire unity to the hard, solid friendship of one man for another. Our soldiers, sailors and airmen fighting in the European theatre of operations are solely responsible.

Of course, all Canadians don't like all Britons — a completely logical fact reflecting on neither the Canadians nor the British, because all Canadians don't like all other Canadians, either. But in the nearly four years Canada's armies have helped guard the mother soil, Canada's air force has struck from Britain blows at the Axis-held continent, and Canada's navy has helped keep the Atlantic sea routes open, every one of those Canadian fighting men has made many sound and lasting friendships among Englishmen, Irishmen, Welshmen and Scots.

Because of the very length of time this war has been in progress, these friendships will last. An association of four years isn't forgotten in the mere span of a few thousand miles of water that will separate the friends when peace comes. And in the future, when some knotty British problem needs understanding in Canada, our veterans of this war will be the ones who will see the British point of view most readily. Similarly, Canadian problems will be better understood by the British, because after this war, Canada, to Britons, won't just be a country in North America, it will be the country where each Briton knows and likes someone. That is the way trust is born.

Even stronger will be the ties between British and Canadian families who have been united in marriage. There are dozens of British girls in Canada now, some with their children, wives of Canadians who married in Britain and brought their wives back to this country. There are thousands to follow when the war is over.

The sum of all these friendships, and the various forms they take, cannot help but be an immense force for good in post-war relations between Canada and her mother country.

Those Auction Sales

In springtime we remarked about the luxury of idling in the sunshine at the afternoon auction sales — but our advertising columns of late have indicated this autumn is a popular season, too, for disposal of farm stock, machinery and household effects. Other rural editors are remarking the same trend in their communities. The high prices bid at such sales may be a certain inducement to sell at this time, but mere conversion of goods into cash will profit no farmer who intends to carry on. The answer is that many agriculturists are curtailing their activities, and still others are giving up completely, and the reason is no mystery.

Here's the way the Peterborough Examiner puts it: "What is behind it all? . . . Our question is wholly rhetorical, for everyone can supply the answer. The farmers are selling out because they cannot go on with their work without proper help. The shortage of manpower for agriculture has been discussed so many times that we do not intend to re-cover the ground; we merely point to these farm sales as alarming symptoms of what is going on, and the direction in which agriculture is headed."

Men of the Canadian Army in the Halifax area showed their ability to tackle a strange job and do it well when they were called in to help during an emergency on the waterfront when 400 freight-handlers went on strike.

It was a case of "combined operations," with Navy and Air Force men also pitching in. Handling the freight like veterans, they kept perishable goods and vital war cargoes moving at a rate exceeding that of the regular stevedores and won the praise of everyone concerned.

The Child Answered

In an industrial town in the Maritimes, a small group of plant workers were in discussion near the public building of a small town. They are good citizens, and good workers. They are earning better wages than ever before, and due to rationing, living cheaply, despite certain inconveniences. They are enjoying freedom from want and fear, the freedom of religion and the right to express their opinions. And they did not look on the Victory Loan with pleasure.

"It's just another scheme to take money out of our pay envelopes. The war is about over. Damned if they are going to pull my leg again," declared one.

"Nor mine, either," interjected a second. "Some fellows, and we know them, are getting rich out of this thing."

It was the third's turn, and he was equally vehement. "Let the government call an election, and we'll show them. I was always a Liberal, but not again."

"I know how you feel," said the fourth. "I object as much as you do to wastefulness, but don't forget the war is not over. I have a boy over there and I'm going to stand behind him."

Just then a fellow worker, holding a very small boy by the hand, halted at the group. They exchanged morning greetings. "Ice-cream, granda?" said the child, tugging at his grandad's hand. "Oh, yes, I forgot, dear," instantly replied the elder, and the pair went towards a store, but there was a noticeable touch of sadness in the grandfather's voice. It lacked the usual cheerfulness, and he seemed anxious to stop and talk with his fellows.

It was the town police officer who then joined the group, and unconsciously gave the explanation. He did not know what the conversation had been, but nodding, he said: "There's a little boy who will never see his father. He was killed in Italy. I took a message up to their home this morning."

That's all.

Surf on the Wheatfields

When agitation for a so-called Second Front was at its height, a member of parliament at Westminster spoke of Britain having a front on every wave. One of the most engaging features of the part Canadian youngsters are taking in this war is their day to day service on the front that has no fixed lines and no battle order, but sweeps round this continent and out to another.

You have to stop to think about it to sense the implications. Only when the war is over will anything like the full story be told of the job Canadians are doing in the Navy and the Merchant Navy; for seamanship in wartime is a matter of secrecy and obscurity. Even when peace comes, the story for the most part will be in general terms only.

But in thousands of homes across this country there will be a fellow whose face is a bit wrinkled around the eyes, who occasionally will be reminded of the sky over Iceland, or the stew dished up by that corvette cook, and he'll say a few words to his kid brother, or his own children, or when he gets together with another like himself. And in the occasional casual recollection of these thousands will be the history of Canada in the War at Sea. This sort of thing will never be written; it will come out in a remark at a crossroads, or behind a stone-boat, or in a prairie kitchen. But the important thing is that in this way it will become part of the living tradition of the country, a part of the flesh and blood rather than its written record.

Every province in Canada has turned out men who want to go to sea. The Navy has no recruiting problem. When it is over many will continue in the naval and mercantile services. But most will come back to the studies or jobs they left in order to ship out.

And that is when we will begin to realize that Canada has become a Maritime Nation, not only from Montreal to Yarmouth and Victoria to Sitka, but from North Bay to Red Deer and Neepawa to Yellowknife.

Where the Gasoline Goes

If any Canadian motorists are still in doubt about the reason for gasoline rationing, he should look at a recent statement by Mr. Geoffrey Lloyd, chairman of the British oil control board, says the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix. Mr. Lloyd gave some interesting information about the amount of gasoline required to conduct one of the big raids which the Royal Air Force, the Royal Canadian Air Force and the United States Air Force have been carrying out regularly against German cities.

One four-motored Lancaster bomber needs close to 2,000 gallons for a single flight to the Ruhr and back. More would be required for an attack on Berlin. When it is remembered that hundreds of these big machines take part in any large operation against the continent, it will be easily seen that more than a million gallons of gasoline may be burned up in one night.

"Non"

Speaking to the National Liberal Federation in Ottawa on September 27, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said: "Le Bloc Populaire is the only party I ever heard of whose platform and policies are contained in the single word 'Non'."

Maxime Raymond, leader of the Bloc Populaire, made a radio speech Sunday evening which confirmed the Prime Minister's summing up. Billed as an outline of the Bloc platform, the Raymond broadcast contained only one positive suggestion — that Canada join the Pan-American Union, a step already suggested by Brooke Claxton, Prime Minister King's parliamentary assistant, for the Liberals, and by Howard Green, Vancouver M.P., for the Progressive Conservatives.

Does Le Bloc want Canada to remain in the British Commonwealth? "Non".

Does Le Bloc want compulsory service? "Non".

Does Le Bloc want us in the war at all? "Non".

Does Le Bloc want a British Governor-General? "Non".

Does Le Bloc like our present Canadian constitution? "Non".

But has Le Bloc any precise suggestions for its improvement? "Non".

Does Le Bloc want immigration to swell our population? "Non".

Does Le Bloc believe it commands the support of Quebec? The plebiscite's 934,999 "Nons" all say "Oui", says Maxime Raymond.

Is Raymond right? Today, no one can say with certainty. But outside this province, Canadians are unanimous in hoping the answer to that question, too, will be "Non".

The Way Berlin Tells It

Says a report by the official German news agency:

> "Parts of the attacking Russian formations were able to penetrate to the rear of German positions, but German tank grenadiers were able to restore the rearward communications by energetically reversing the fighting direction."

This is as neat a job of explaining a reverse as we have seen, even from German propagandists, who have become very adept in trying to make a defeat sound like a victory.

It is possible to reconstruct the incident. A Russian force broke through the enemy lines and got behind certain German positions, attacked the Germans from the rear. The Germans, assaulted from two directions, turned about (this is called "energetically reversing the fighting direction") and fought their way through the Russians who had blocked their escape. Thus "rearward communications" were restored, but from a point nearer Germany than the positions the Germans originally held.

In other words, the enemy had been driven from his position in this sector and another bit of Russian soil had been liberated. For all Berlin's weasel words this is what happened, it is clear — and it is happening everywhere on the East front.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

By Jim Greenblat

Only a couple of local color items from the nation's capital this week: One concerns the fact that at a local liaison officers' meeting (for the Consumer Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, like you have in your own town) the ladies sent in a resolution to the Prices Board asking that boys' pants be manufactured with double seats; and that certainly sounds like an economy idea, because boys don't wear 'em out on the cuffs. . . . After two months' absence from an internment camp a young Luftwaffe Nazi was caught by an alert detective in the Ottawa Union station. Asked what he thought of Hitler now, he replied: "What do you think of Churchill now? That's what I still think of Hitler."

The R.C.A.F. is quite disturbed about some farmers, hunters and gun-toting youngsters taking pot shots at racing pigeons in flight. Please think twice before doing it again. They are either on the fly carrying messages, photographs, etc., for the armed services or being trained by civilian pigeon fanciers for a war job. Right now the R.C.A.F. Signals (Pigeon Division) is out to recruit 1,000 new birds. Incidentally, since April, it is against the law to keep or fly pigeons without authority.

Bet many employers wonder where all that Unemployment Insurance money paid in has wound up at. Well, a recent report by the commission shows they have a balance in the coffers of $143,857,000. Benefits paid out since January, 1942, when they first became payable, total $1,150,714.

A knotty problem has come up for the National Research Council perhaps, or any person with an enquiring mind. It was unearthed by none other than the House of Commons barber who wonders where red-headed males have gone. Twenty years ago they claim one in ten was red-headed; today they've dwindled. Only real red head among the 245 members of the House of Commons is said to be Robt. McCubbin, Liberal of West Middlesex. Now you take a guess.

In these days of rationing when we speak of the "privileged" class, nine times out of ten we're referring to the infant population. When sweetspreads were rationed, Moms were permitted to exchange the baby's sugar coupons for those of corn syrup; using both exchanged and "D" coupons, baby can have 7 lbs. of corn syrup a month. Now comes "G" coupon by which they can get evaporated milk, through their own Local Ration Board. We've got to protect our future citizens.

A little barn talk: How to figure number of tons of hay in a mow, just multiply the length by depth and divide by 450. . . . Best time to cut, haul and prepare wood for fuel for use in the following year is the winter months. Wood should be dried well because when green it contains 25% water. Much of the heat is used in evaporating this and is lost.

Here's co-operation. The Canadian Motion Picture War Services committee has informed the Department of Munitions and Supply of the voluntary decision of 1,100 theatres across Canada to effect a 30% reduction in the use of coal this winter. That answered an appeal to Canadians for help in the conservation and distribution of our fuel supply.

Ladies, the war is pushed back from your dressing-table slowly but surely, as the military situation slowly but surely improves. M. & S. has passed an order, brought about by improved shipping conditions, permitting the us of zinc oxide as an ingredient of talcum powder, face cream and other cosmetics, for the first time since late in 1941. Manufacturers will be allowed an annual quota of one-half of what they used in 1940.

They worried about the possibility of an "inflationary spiral" as the cost-of-living index crept up from 119.2 on August 2 to 119.4 on September 1, for a wartime increase of 18.5 per cent. This was the 7th consecutive month showing a rise in the C. of L. index. Unless there is a decline in the index figure next month, the bonus will have to be adjusted upward. Maximum bonus payable is at the rate of 25 cents for each point rise in the index.

Says Planes Bound For Germany Are 'Great for Morale'

SOLDIER'S LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Watchman is pleased to publish this week a letter received from a town boy and former High School pupil — Cpl. Lloyd G. Creswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Creswell, Lachute:

1 Tele-Op. Sect.,
First Cdn. Army Sigs.,
Overseas

Dear Editor:

Here is a very tardy letter. Ever since I left Lachute, you have regularly sent me The Watchman, and I am truly grateful.

Letters from home tell us all the intimate news of our families and friends, but only the "local newspaper" can keep us in the picture of things — who marries who—who dies—and who is born, etc.; the local new businesses, housing problems, activities of the various clubs and churches — all the little things that don't seem important when you are there, but are so interesting when you are far away.

I took great delight in one article by Ferguson describing his tour in England. He described Army Headquarters beautifully, and I know, because I've been working there for almost three years. It gave me quite a thrill to see it in my own home paper.

I do not see many of the boys over here now. Occasionally I bump into someone from home in London. I met Gerald Taylor who used to be my teacher when I was going to L.H.S. He looked very well. I used to see Bobby Miller accasionally, but not for about a year now when we went to see his sister, Lulu.

It will be great to get home again and meet old friends, but this has been an experience not to be missed. England is a grand country and she has pulled through with flying colors. Three years ago, when the Battle of Britain was at its peak, the roar of a plane spelt the Enemy. Now the air is continuously roaring, and they're all ours — it's a great thrill to see 90 or 100 four-engined bombers flying to raid German-occupied Europe. It's excellent for morale!

This has been a rambling letter. I started out to let you know how much I appreciate The Watchman. When I get back I'll call around to thank you — and renew my subscription, how's that?

Yours sincerely,
Lloyd G. Creswell.

THE WEEKLIES SAY . . .
BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Good Place to Start

Politicians, and statesmen can plan a post-war world around the peace table but it will only work if we know how to bring up around the breakfast table the children who will comprise it. . . . Many of us need to face the fact that probably our biggest contribution to building a new world starts around our own family hearths. —Kamloops Sentinel

P.E.I. Record

Prince Edward Island still holds the Canadian record (at least) for freshman students. The late Mr. Gerald McCarthy, Tignish, matriculated at the age of 11 and entered St. Dunstan's College going through his course with honors to secure his Bachelor of Arts Degree at the early age of 16 years. (A Fredericton despatch said three boys 16 years old and under enrolled at the University of New Brunswick.)

Timely Reminder

When the bells rang and whistles blew to announce the opening of the Fifth Victory Loan there were many inquiries as to the location of the fire. Just imagine how you would like such commotion regularly as a warning of air-raids, and then make your bond purchase and be thankful that is as little as you are asked to do.

Acton (Ont.) Free Press

Hot Dawg!

Public opinion still counts for something in this country, as is shown by the fact that the Prices Board has revoked its ban on hot dog rolls. Such a howl was raised by hot dog lovers and the bakers themselves that the board was forced to back up.

—Hespeler (Ont.) Herald

Annoying People

Maybe we're getting old and don't understand the rising generation but we believe the time has arrived to ask that noisy adolescents, and some who are not adolescents, attending the theatres should be curbed.

Harvest Festivals

Lest we become too optimistic, it may be well to recall that our primitive ancestors, the inventors of these (harvest) celebrations, never let themselves become so cheerful about the good harvest that they forgot to propitiate the gods of the harsh winter still to come. —Carlton Place Canadian

Matter of Education

Saskatchewan today has the most advanced health legislation on the American continent, but there remains the task of educating those who can afford to pay for their services, to do so in their own interests voluntarily. The indigent then would be provided for by the state directly.

OBITUARY

Late Horace Riddell Is Mourned by Many Friends

After an illness of just over one year, Horace Everett Riddell passed away at his home in Lachute East Ward, on Thursday, October 21.

Born in Mille Isles on May 21, 1898, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. John Riddell, and was married in 1921 to Miss Olive Anita Kerr, of Lakefield. After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Riddell spent some time with his brother, Gordon, in Alberta. They then returned east to Dalesville, in 1924, and after two years took up residence in Lachute.

Just previous to his illness Horace had been employed by the C-I-L at Brownsburg.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife and seven boys, Trooper Gerald Riddell, of the Canadian Armoured Corps, Overseas, Clayton Riddell, in the R.C.A.F. at Mossbank, Sask., Owen, Basil, Grant, Wayne, and Peter at home. One infant son, Billy, died in 1930.

Five brothers also are left to mourn his passing — Gordon, of Alberta, Reuben, of Sutton Jct., George, of Mille Isles, Walford and Merele, of Montreal, also three sisters, Myra and Lulu, of Montreal, and Olive (Mrs. Harry O'Neill), of Toronto.

Of a kindly and aimiable disposition, always ready to oblige, Horace will be greatly missed by his family, relatives and many friends.

In sympathy for the bereaved and a testimony of his popularity the United Church was filled to capacity at the funeral service on Sunday afternoon, one of the largest ever conducted here. Floral tributes were beautiful and numerous.

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough conducted the service and spoke most highly of the deceased.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Ken McOuat, Geo. Muir, Ross Muir, Clarence Rodgers, Arnold Scott and Russell Rodgers.

Interment took place in Lachute Cemetery.

Former Lachute Man Rose to High Esteem In Industrial Circles

The Late John Drysdale

The death of John Drysdale occurred suddenly on Friday, October 22, at Westfield, Mass. Born in Lachute, he was among the number who, learning their business at the McOuat foundry and machine shop here, have gone forth to win recognition in the mechanical trades. He was retired manager of the Plainville Casting Company at the time of his death and a figure esteemed in the industry throughout Massachusetts. He retired this year, and his death followed a heart seizure.

He is survived by his wife, the former Christine McGibbon, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. R. McGibbon, and his two daughters. There remain also two sisters, Mrs. Geo. Staniforth, of Lachute, and Mrs. Robt. Gardner in California; and three brothers, Gilbert, of Plainville, Vt., James, of Winnipeg, and Thomas, of Montreal.

The Springfield Daily News in an editorial pays unstinting tribute to his worth. "With the passing of John Drysdale comes the end of a group of practical, experienced foundrymen whose thoroughness and understanding contributed largely in the enviable reputation of the products of the great shops," states the article. "John Drysdale did not hesitate about rolling up his sleeves and getting into the difficult work of the plant when occasion required. He was not given to the role of sitting in the office and leaving everything to the employees under him. There was not much of bossing but an abundance of co-operation in his program.

"Under his leadership labor troubles were almost unknown. The men simply could not strike against John Drysdale, their friend and adviser. When sickness or sorrow came to the families of his employees he was keen to know about it and ready to act.

"He would not let down when his country needed the best that every man in industry had to offer. His advice in business and civic affairs will be much missed."

Times change more easily than people do. That's why many people like to think that the times are out of joint.

Thank-Offering of United Church W.M.S. At St. Andrews East

St. Andrews East — The W.M.S. of the United Church held the autumn thank-offering on Sunday evening, October 24, in the church. The minister, the Rev. D. L. Gordon, conducted the service. Guest speaker was Mr. John Karefus Smart, a native of Sierre Leone, Africa, but presently a student of medicine at McGill University. He gave a very earnest, able plea for more union of purpose for all Christians; for recognition that all "barriers" of suspicion, envy, bitterness and intolerance had no place in Christ's scheme for His kingdom. There was a good attendance of members and friends, also a number from Cushing availed themselves of this unique occasion.

Miss Mary L. Lamb thanked the speaker. Dr. Wm. MacMillan pronounced the benediction, and and Miss H. Wales presided at the organ, as Miss A. L. Wales was absent through illness.

Anniversary Observances At Brownsburg United Stirred High Interest

Brownsburg — The 102nd anniversary gatherings of the Brownsburg United Church, held last Sunday and Tuesday evening, have not only marked another milestone in the church's history but, according their high interest and spiritual tone, will achieve good and permanent results.

The Rev. Dr. L. H. Fisher, of Queen Mary Road United Church, Montreal, was guest preacher Sunday morning. He gave the Church pre-eminence in the community, and in the national and universal, as well as the individual life. Dr. Fisher drew the contrast between the Free Churches of German-occupied Europe, even Germany itself, with the place it is occupying in the life of the oppressed peoples and the Western nations where the Church may not yet be fully appreciated and so well attended.

Mrs. G. W. F. Johnston, of Montreal, was the guest soloist, offering two selections, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked" and "The Stranger of Galilee," with much acceptance.

The evening service took on more of an informal order and included a chorus of the C.G.I.T., who occupied the choir space, a popular number by the male quartette and two solos, "The Holy City" and "My Task", by Mrs. J. C. Gibbons, of Montreal. The minister, the Rev. S. J. Pike, conducted both services and conveyed the thanks of the congregation to those who had taken part.

* * *

The Rev. Donald R. Morrison, of Montreal, was the guest speaker on Tuesday evening and was accompanied by Mr. Andrew Hamilton, a friend of the manse, who also assisted in the evening proceedings. "The Valley of Peace" was rendered by the male quartette and the C.G.I.T. gave as a chorus, "Canada, My Country", composed by Mrs. Mina Webster, Montreal, as a tribute to Canada's contribution to world order and peace. Mrs. C. J. Wheeler, organist of the church, accompanied the various items.

A social hour, arranged by the ladies of the church, was spent in the church hall following this gathering.

The minister received from the Trustee Board a full set of the music edition of the Hymnary, and the pulpit edition, on the occasion of this anniversary.

Christian Science Lesson-Sermon

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 31.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 130: 7. "Let Israel hope in the Lord: for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy." (Proverbs 28: 13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Though error hides behind a lie and excuses gilt, error cannot forever be concealed. Truth, through her eternal laws, unveils error. Truth causes sin to betray itself, and sets upon error the mark of the beast. Even the disposition to excuse guilt or to conceal it is punished. The avoidance of justice and the denial of truth tend to perpetuate sin, invoke crime, jeopardize self-control, and mock divine mercy." (Page 542).

Equipment featured in the parade included two pieces of field artillery, a 26-pounder and a 6-pounder, an anti-aircraft gun and a universal carrier.

The day's activities ended in a rally held at the Recreation Hall in the evening, where the principal speaker was Flight-Sergeant G. Calver, who had both his legs amputated following injuries received by gunfire during a reconnaissance flight over enemy territory.

E. L. Johnson, works manager, also addressed the gathering on behalf of the Loan campaign. Omer Danis spoke to the audience in French. By way of entertainment a successful sketch was staged by a number of artists from Montreal.

Huntingdon County Farmer
—BREEDER OF INTERNATIONAL REPUTATION—
Recommends Victory Bonds

WHEREVER Ayrshire Cattle are bred in Canada and the United States, men recognize Gilbert McMillan of Huntingdon County, Quebec, as an authority on the breed. Mr. McMillan was for many years a director and president of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association and has judged Ayrshires at leading shows in both countries. In addition to his activities in the field of agriculture, Mr. McMillan finds time to devote to the interest of his own community. He has served on the council of the Township of Godmanchester and as school board commissioner, and is now a governor of the Huntingdon County Hospital.

Speaking of Victory Bonds, Mr. McMillan says: "There are for me four very definite reasons why every citizen of Canada should support these loans . . .

"1st. We owe it to the men who on land, and sea, and in the air are risking their lives to protect our way of life.

"2nd. We owe it to ourselves. Nearly every private citizen is today better off financially on account of the war, and it is no sacrifice on our part to contribute our gains.

"3rd. Those that have families or are likely to have, owe it to their children, for if history repeats itself, and it generally does, we will face a time a few years hence, when the money invested in Victory Bonds will save a lot of worry and hardship.

"4th. We owe it to Canada for the opportunity she gives us to live a life of freedom.

"I trust the Loan will prove that the hearts of the Canadian people are sound."

Victory Comes First ...Luxuries Later

No one who purchases alcoholic beverages as a luxury can afford to do so if the purchase interferes in any way with the buying of Victory Bonds.

The customers of the Quebec Liquor Commission, as indeed of similar commissions across the Dominion, represent a section of the community which obviously has more than sufficient money for the essentials of life. The success of previous Victory Loans indicates that they have responded generously to the calls their country has made on them.

The progress of the war has shown the necessity for an ever-increasing amount of personal sacrifice, some of it of a nature which can never be compensated. Merely to curtail expenditures on the ordinary pleasures of life is not nearly sufficient to meet the requirements of Canada at the present time. Much more than that must be done.

It is not suggested that life and living should be reduced to the level of merely subsisting. Let us be grateful that the danger of this has been removed, but at the same time let us remember that this has been accomplished by the heavy burdens of bereavement, pain and deprivation which others have had to bear.

We must also remember that a long and arduous path has still to be travelled. The one desire of all Canadians is to bring the war to a successful conclusion as speedily as possible, and then to return to a fuller enjoyment and appreciation of our system of democratic life. This can only be done by the fullest co-operation of all of us in providing the means to carry on the war in a manner befitting the Dominion. Canada requires not only man-power, but money power to an unlimited extent.

The extent to which each citizen should buy Victory Bonds depends on his financial resources, and on his conscience. Let us be careful to see that no undue personal gratification is allowed to stand in the way of the accomplishment of Victory and Peace.

The Quebec Liquor Commission appeals to every one of its customers to reduce their purchases to a minimum and add the money thus saved to their purchases of Victory Bonds.

Our customers can afford to buy more Bonds. Victory depends on Bond purchases. Our liberties depend on Victory.

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

CHANGED VALUES

How our values have changed in such a short period of time. I was out for lunch the other day and our hostess told us she had a real treat for dessert, something she had been saving for a long time for a special occasion. What do you think it was? A can of peaches! And it was a treat, for none of us had seen a can for probably six months. This same woman is a fussy housekeeper, who likes to do well by her guests, and a few months ago she would never have dreamed of giving them canned peaches. Last week, when I was giving an order, my grocer asked me if I would like a can of crushed pineapple. Would I! He said he was just as surprised as I, but he had found a few cans in the back shop. Now I am in a quandary — I can't make up my mind how best to use the precious pineapple.

CONSISTENCY

Consistency is a much overrated virtue. To always think the same thing and act the same way are signs of a stagnant mind. Conditions change and what was right yesterday may be wrong tomorrow, so why not feel free to change your mind. That was one thing I admired about Mitch Hepburn (I almost said the only thing), he would try some form of action and if it did not work out as he had hoped and planned, he would acknowledge it an scrap it and try something else. The trouble with a good many politicians, once they have said a thing, they feel it must be like the laws of the Medes and Persians — unchangeable.

UNDULANT FEVER

Undulant fever is usually caused by drinking raw milk from cows having Bang's disease, or contagious absortion. That is one of the reasons for pasteurizing milk. Farmers say there is no need to pasteurize their milk as their stables and cows are clean. Pasteurizing does not destroy dirt but it does kill germs. Even handling the cattle or the hide after they are slaughtered may result in the disease. It is called Undulant Fever because it comes in waves. The patient will be very much better and then the fever will recur. Because of this it is sometimes not recognized. Farmers' wives have it more frequently than any other class of people, but it may strike any place. Undulant Fever was the cause of the death of Edsel Ford. Pasteurized milk is safe milk.

HOT BREADS

When you have had a meal at a restaurant or a hotel that has been specially good, "bet you twenty cents" (to quote Claudia), hot rolls or biscuits or muffins, or hot breads of some sort have been a part of the meal. If that is such a good trick for restaurants why not try it for home consumption? Everybody likes them and they really are not very much trouble to make. I like to keep a supply of prepared flour on hand, and I like my own manufacture better than the bought ones, although I used them on occasions too. A basis of 6 cups of flour is a good amount for the average flour. I gave this recipe not so long ago, but if you haven't it, get out you pencil and do a little mathematics on your 2 cup flour biscuit recipe. On a pinch I use this same mixture for muffins, by adding sugar to the dry mixture, and using a beaten egg with the milk. Muffins for breakfast are always something special. I often have them for Sunday breakfast when I have company. Actually they are less work than making toast for a crowd. Instead of the usual muffin method of creaming the butter and sugar, I rub the shortening in the flour as for biscuits. This I do the night before, and butter my muffin tins, then in the morning all I have to do is to beat an egg and add it with the milk to the dry ingredients and you can pop your muffins into the oven in less than no time — much to the mystification of your guests. Hot biscuits or muffins are always appreciated for afternoon tea. They take a small amount of sugar and butter and we would do well to serve them frequently these days. Do you ever split left-over muffins, and toast them?

GRAHAM BISCUITS

1 Cup graham flour, 1 cup flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 to 4 tablespoons butter, 4 teaspoons baking powder, milk.

Sift the white flour, baking powder, and sugar. Stir in the graham flour, and rub in the butter. Add sufficient milk to make a dough as soft as can be handled. Mix and turn out on a floured board, roll and cut into biscuits about a half-inch thick. Bake in a hot over of 450 degrees about fifteen minutes.

MUFFINS

¼ Cup shortening, ¼ cup sugar, 1 egg, ¾ cup milk 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder.

Cream the butter, add the sugar and the well-beaten egg; Sift the dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk, stirring as little as possible. Put in greased muffin tins and bake in a hot oven of 400 degrees for about 25 minutes.

W.M.S. Worker in Mine Areas Heard At Thank-Offering

The W.M.S. of Lachute United Church held their fall thank-offering meeting on Thursday, October 21, with the president, Mrs. Rupert Bradford, in the chair.

Words of welcome were given to the large gathering of ladies by the vice-president, Mrs. John A. MacGibbon, followed by the devotional exercises led by the president. A solo, "O Rest in the Lord," was sung by Mrs. C. L. Duncan, after which the speaker for the afternoon, Miss E. MacIvor, of Westminster Central United Church, Montreal, was introduced.

Miss MacIvor told of her work during the past ten years. In a concise and unassuming manner she described the Girls' School Homes which had been opened in London and New Liskeard, Ont., providing Christian homes for girls and boys away from home — but these, she stated, owing to increasing school facilities in the areas had been closed in 1940. Miss MacIvor gave a graphic account of her work in the Kirkland Lake and Malartic mining areas. "Where there are miners there are people to be looked after," she said. "What a tragedy it would be if the Church laid down her arms!" In her discourse she led her listeners to the district of Drumheller, Alberta, where again she had worked among the coal miners and their families. She told of their many hardships and how the W.M.S. workers imparted the "human touch" by their very presence.

"'Tis the human touch in the world that counts —
The touch of your hand and mine;
It means far more to the fainting heart,
Than shelter or bread or wine.

"For shelter is gone when the night is o'er,
And bread lasts only a day,
But the touch of the hand and the sound of the voice
Ring on in the heart alway."

Miss MacIvor was thanked by Mrs. G. A. Clunie, seconded by Mrs. W. K. McArthur, and the meeting closed with the singing of the national anthem.

Refreshments were served in conclusion.

Bathing Beauty Fears Going Near Water

New Orleans (CP) — Shirley Lange, 18, whose parading in a bathing suit at Lake Ponchartrain beach won her the title of Miss New Orleans, told photographers that she is "deathly afraid" of water.

She refused to enter it, even to ankle depth, for picture purposes.

But Pte. John E. Doughty, now at nearby Keesler Field, doesn't see anything funny about that. A former lifeguard at Atlantic City, N.J., and credited with saving more than 2,000 persons from drowning during 21 years, he spent half his life in a bathing suit but never learned to swim. "I only go swimming once or twice a year," Doughty lamented. "We did our rescue work from a boat."

Women's Contribution to War Effort

In Industry and Armed Services — Canadian Nurses First Women to Reach Sicily after Invasion

The contribution which Canadian women are making in the war effort is an important one. Never have they been called upon to shoulder such a large share of the burden of war. They have always, it is true, had to face the arduous task of waiting — waiting and wondering what is happening to their fighting men; wishing only that they might take a more active part in helping to protect and back them up. In the past they knitted socks and sweaters, they rolled bandages for the Red Cross and collected magazines and did what else they could to help. Many of them, of course, went to the front as nurses.

But that was war 1914-1918 style!

Today, what a different picture unfolds itself! Canadian womanhood takes her place with the active Army, the Navy, the Air Force. She wears a uniform and gives 24-hour service to her country. She serves overseas, in distant theatres of war; and she serves on the home front to an extent which a few years ago would have been considered impossible.

And yet, despite the magnificent part which she is playing in the war effort, there are those who would seek to undermine her work, who would attempt to detract from the importance of her contribution.

All sorts of rumors are set afloat, sometimes by thoughtless people who, perhaps, are reactionary enough to believe that woman's only place is in the kitchen; others by our enemies who in their constant campaign to slow up the war effort of the United Nations, overlook no possible opportunity to get in a telling blow.

For instance, one hears that the number of accidents suffered by women in industry is far greater, in proportion to their number, than that suffered my male workers. . . . One hears that female clerks and stenographers in government offices are being paid salaries far in excess of those they would be able to earn in normal times. . . . Then there is the canard, spread by morons with perverted minds, that the young woman in uniform is merely out to see the world and have a good time at the expense of the country and that she is actually a menace to military efficiency in that her presence is detracting to our fighting men.

What a stupid, morale-shattering lie to spread. The person who talks in such a vein should be confronted with some of the C.W.A.C.'s who have just completed twelve hours behind the wheel of an army truck; with some girl from the R.C.A.F. who has pounded a typewriter for a solid 8 hours getting out a casualty list; with a girl from the W.R.C.N.S. who has been working in a tough shore job so that a sailor could be released for duty at sea! After learning a little of what these fine young women are doing for their country, the morons and the rumor-mongers will be ready to crawl.

Let's face a few facts, in respect to the part which Canadian women are playing in the war effort. . . . These are from official statements and files:

In 1939, some 144,000 women were employed in factory and industrial work in Canada. Today, that number has risen to 419,000, of which 255,000 are engaged directly or indirectly in war industry.

Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service, says: "To those women in wartime industrial plants, we owe in large part the record Canada is making as the fourth largest producer of war supplies among the United Nations. It is amazing to note the type and number of unusual jobs they undertake and perform so well."

Women perform 70 per cent of the operations in the manufacture of machine guns. They inspect, test and assemble.

Women comprise more than 80 per cent of those employed in Canadian instrument factories. They are employed almost exclusively in the manufacture of medical supplies.

Over 27 per cent of the 86,000 workers in aircraft are women. One of the leading designers of airplanes in Canada is a woman!

Women are working at building ships on both the East and West Coast. At one shipbuilding plant, a third of the workers are women.

And so it goes. They work on tanks and heavy assembly jobs, riveting, welding, soldering, electrical work, spray painting and a host of occupations in the iron and steel industry, which were always regarded as the preserve for men.

The age of these women working in industry varies from 17 to 60 years, and frequently over. In one particular plant, there are 287 grandmothers employed.

Now let us answer the rumor that women have more accidents in industry than men. According to the Ontraio Workmen's Compensation Board, women are involved in only 3 per cent of the recorded industrial accidents. Considering the number of women in relation to the number of men, this is a very good showing.

So much for the women in industry. How about the Armed Forces?

The Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, the youngest women's service organized to release men for more active duties, was established in June, 1942. By March of next year the service hopes to have a strength of 5,500. Cooks, laundresses, mess stewards, supply assistants and sick berth attendants are being sought.

The Canadian Women's Army Corps, established in August, 1941, had more than 13,250 enlisted members by August of this year.

The Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) established in July, 1941, had enlisted more than 13,500 by August of this year. Reinforcements are going overseas steadily as increasing numbers are being assigned to R.C.A.F. bomber stations overseas.

Canadian women in nursing services totalled more than 2,600 by the end of August — approximately 1,850 in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, 200 in the Royal Canadian Navy nursing service and 300 nurses in the R. C. A. F.. There are about 250 Canadian nurses serving with the South African military nursing service. The first women of the Allied forces to reach Sicily after the invasion on July 10, were a group of Canadian nursing sisters who have been attending the Canadian wounded behind the front line.

There are 40 women doctors in the armed services; 4 in the Navy, 22 in the R.C.A.M.C. and 14 in the R.C.A.F.

We will say nothing here of the tremendous work which Canadian women are doing in various volunteer services throughout the Dominion, such as the Red Cross, Blood Donor Clincs, etc., except to point out that it is an outstanding contribution to the war effort.

Let us, in summing up, merely say: "Hats off to Canadian women who today are fighting side by side with their men on every front of this great battle for freedom and decency and right!"

Dental Health Article

History of Dentistry

Dentistry as a modern science and profession is only 100 years old. It had its beginning with the forming of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1840, by Dr. Horace A. Hayden and Dr. Chapin A. Harris. This was the first dental college in the world.

Before 1840, "dentistry" at best had been merely a trade or craft, though as far back as history goes there are records of humanity's effort to cope with dental disease.

The peoples of ancient Egypt, Rome and Greece all employed dentistry in varying crude forms. But such attempts as they made to repair the ravages and ease the pain caused by dental decay were enveloped in superstition and myth. Practice was limited almost entirely to extraction, and practitioners had scarcely more equipment or skill than other artisans.

Little or no progress was made until the seventeenth century, when a Frenchman named Pierre Fauchard, wrote books which anticipated modern dentistry in all its phases. This, however, was only a theoretical advance and practice remained primitive.

After the efforts of Dr. Hayden and Dr. Harris had made dentistry a profession by affording a centre for education and experiment, dentistry made rapid strides towards full scientific stature. The discovery of nitrous oxide and ether as anesthetics in the early 1840's was the greatest single contribution not only to dentistry but to medicine as well, for it made possible the whole development of modern surgery.

Both of these discoveries were made by dentists, Dr. William Morton, of Boston, and Horace Wells, of Hartford, Conn. The discovery of the x-ray, the development of technic for restoration of teeth, and newer knowledge of pathology and bacteriology all have enabled the dentist profession steadily to enlarge its service to mankind.

Expert Tells How to Defeat War Shortages

Dr. Dorothy Taylor Had Big Job of Feeding Britain's Small Children During 1940

By ADELAIDE KERR,
Associated Press Writer

New York, Oct. 25 (CP) — What happened at Dunkerque pushed Dr. Dorothy Taylor into one of Engand's toughest war jobs; the feeding of England's future generation in the face of a whopping food shortage and of caring for it, while mothers did war work. It was a job she licked with a woman's ingenuity for finding makeshifts in a crisis.

As a result of her work, the American Public Health Association invited Dr. Taylor to New York, where she gave this country some tips on wartime child care at the association's October conference. Later she will visit other cities to get some new ideas on children's hospitals and baby clinics from this side of the Atlantic.

In 1940, which saw the debacle of Dunkerque and England's consequent shortage of food and war material, Dr. Taylor was made Senior Medical Officer of the British Ministry of Health and tackled the task of feeding England's small children and expectant mothers. Listen to what she told me as she sat by my desk the other day and you will see what her job has to teach us.

"England had been importing about two-thirds of its food," she said, "and after Dunkerque we had a very narrow margin. We had to safeguard the health of the babies and expectant mothers, for the future of the race depended on them. So we gave them priorities on milk, eggs and vitamin preparations and cut down on the rations of adults.

Vitamin C Lack

"But we had a great shortage of fruits and a consequent lack of vitamin C which required some extra attention — especially before your Lease-Lend provided some orange juice. We looked around and found that black currants were the highest source of vitamin C grown in England. So we made a syrup from them for babies under six months and a puree for children under two and fed them that.

"Then we found another source of vitamin C in rose hips — the red fruit left after a wild rose grows in hedges. So we set the children and teachers in the country collecting them. Everybody else who took a week-end walk in the country carried a basket to gather rose hips, and turned them in. There was a big basket in the Ministry of Health where we all dumped our contributions Monday morning."

Using that combined system, Dr. Taylor's department underwrote the food provision for 3,000,000 English youngsters under five and thousands of expectant mothers.

"By the end of the year we shall have 1,660 nurseries providing places for 60,000 children from birth to five," Dr. Taylor said. "They are all subsidized by government. Nursery classes in public schools also have been extended to take care of children from two to five from the hours of eight to five.

"We took care of the problems of mothers with newborn babies by providing them with 'homehelps' — middle aged women who come to the house morning and evening and take care of the household chores and cook the meals. They relieve the mother of worry on that score."

Dr. Taylor, who holds a doctorate of medicine from the University of Edinburgh, talks of her work with typical British understatement. She never says "I" — always says "Such and such was done." Her work seems her whole life. After the Battle of Britain began she dropped the golf, tennis and swimming which were her favorite recreations and worked so hard that she even lived and slept at the Ministry of Health.

CHILD MORTALITY CAUSES CONCERN

Johannesburg (CP) — Grave concern at the infant mortality rate among non-Europeans in South Africa was expressed in a memorandum submitted to the National Health Service Commission here last week. Among recommendations were more hygenic conditions in homes, abolition of slums and an organized campaign against diarrhoea and enteritis which, the report said, were the most common causes of child mortality.

One of the most recent items of training given to all members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps is the intricate business of ironing a shirt!

Keen Competition At Inter-School Field Day Event

After two postponements due to bad weather, the interscholastic sports were held in Lachute on Saturday. The first half of the program, featuring the track races, was held at the Fair Grounds, but inclement the rain again intervened, and the schedule was completed under cover, in the Lachute arena.

The competition was keen, and Brownsburg narrowly edged the local team from first place, with a score of 78 points to 76.

The young athletics from Ste. Agathe were accompanied by Dr. F. L. Phelps, chairman of the school commissioners, and Principal Jacobson, while St. Andrews and Grenville teams were under the direction of Mrs. Dawson and Mr. Upton, respectively.

There is no accurate gauge on the final standing of the various teams, as the schools of Lachute and Brownsburg had many more entries, while Grenville was represented by only three contestants.

Following are the results:

Welsh Singers in Fine Performance

Edgar Davies, Basso, Steals Spotlight

About 400 persons welcomed the Montreal Welsh Male Choir to Lachute Auditorium on Saturday, at a concert under the joint auspices of the Y.P.S. of the Presbyterian and United Churches.

This was the first visit of the choir to Lachute, and the applause they received after every number demonstrated their popular appeal to the audience.

The director, Harry Duckworth, conducted most of the numbers, and was able to bring out rich and balanced qualities, particularly in "Land of My Fathers," "Dear Land of Home" (from Sibelius' Finlandia), "Laudamus" and "Comrades' Song of Hope."

Edgar Davies, basso, gave keen delight in his solos, and his vocal qualities, wide range and sense of ease captivated the audience. The tenor soloist, Bob Sewell, was also much appreciated as he sang a number of old favorites. Hugh Callecott, baritone, who is no stranger in this vicinity, also rendered solos, and his "Friend O' Mine" was particularly pleasing.

The choir sang many numbers in the Welsh tongue, though English and Australian airs were also sung. The modern rhythm of "Dancing Matilda" proved almost too much for the singers, who are no doubt little interested in "swing". The closing Welsh hymn to the tune of Cwm Rhondda, gave good scope to the basso-profundos, and brought a fitting climax to a really enjoyable evening.

Appreciation was expressed to the Welsh Male Choir by the Rev. E. Orsborn and the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. The accompanist for the singers was Thomas Hudson.

Refreshments were served to the visitors in the United Church hall prior to their return to Montreal.

SEEK TOURISTS FOR SCOTLAND

Plans Being Made Ready for A Post-War Influx of Visitors

Edinburgh (CP) — Scotland after the war will have its greatest opportunity yet for building up a vast tourist industry, Allan Chapman, joint under-secretary, stated for Scotland said in an address here.

As soon as things become normal, people, particularly the Americans, "will want to have a look at the people who stood solitary in the breach — the people who could take it," Chapman said. "Our tourist industry must be ready for them."

"That means roads and hotels and international air lines opening up the islands. When we get them to the home of the 51st Division we must make them want to come again and establish a habit."

A WORD OF CAUTION

TO MEN OF MILITARY AGE AND TO THEIR EMPLOYERS

National Selective Service Civilian Regulations authorize the Minister of Labour to require that male employees furnish their employers with evidence that they have not failed to comply with National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations (i.e., the Military Call-Up).

It is intended that an order will be issued shortly, requiring employers to carry out the necessary check on their male employees, and to report any men who do not produce the required evidence of compliance.

The check up will cover every male employee who has reached the age of 18 years and six months and has not reached his 38th birthday. The man will have to show evidence in one of the following forms:—

(a) A man discharged from the Armed Forces following service during the present war should have his discharge certificate. A discharged man who has not a certificate should apply for one in the following manner:—

Navy—Secretary of Naval Board, Ottawa, Ont.

(b) A man who has responded to a direction from a Registrar of a Divisional Mobilization Board, to report for medical examination under Mobilization Regulations, should have either a certificate of unfitness or an order for postponement of military training from the Divisional Registrar. (A man entitled to either document who has lost his copies should immediately apply to the Divisional Registrar who issued the original, for a duplicate.)

(c) A man who has been rejected on application for voluntary enlistment in the Army since the beginning of the war, should have a certificate showing that he was rejected through medical unfitness. (If a man entitled to such a certificate does not possess it, he should apply to the District Military Headquarters of the District in which he applied for enlistment, in order to procure the necessary form.)

(d) A man in the designated classes who has not reached his 38th birthday, who was married as at July 15th, 1940, or who, having been married before that date, is a widower with children, must be prepared to furnish evidence, such as a marriage certificate or birth certificate of a child, to show that he was married before July 15th, 1940, and that he is now either married or is a widower with children.

(e) A man who has reported for enrolment in the Army under an Order—Military Training issued under the Mobilization Regulations and who has been rejected should have a certificate showing he was rejected through medical unfitness. If a man entitled to such certificate does not possess it, he should apply to the District Officer Commanding the Military District in which he was rejected.

(f) (i) A man who is not subject to the Mobilization Regulations because he is an enemy alien who has not made application for naturalization may obtain a certificate from a registrar of his Divisional Mobilization Board indicating that the Mobilization Regulations do not apply to him and such certificates must be obtained by all such enemy aliens:

(ii) A man who is an alien and neither a national of Belgium, Czechoslovakia, The Netherlands, Norway, Poland, the United States nor Yugoslavia and has not applied for naturalization may be relieved of his duty under Mobilization Regulations, but he gives up his right to future Canadian citizenship after the war; where such men have applied for such relief and been granted such status, certificates will be issued by registrars in appropriate cases.

This caution is issued to facilitate compliance with the order which is proposed. A reasonable interval will be allowed to permit men to provide themselves with whatever document, as referred to above, they may be entitled to hold.
