Council Passes Motion to Purchase Entire Hammond Property, Mill and Water Rights

To Ensure Adequate Water Supply for The Town's Present and Future Needs

Lachute Town Council held its regular session yesterday under presidency of Mayor J. S. Giles. Aldermen W. Morissette, Alex Bothwell, H. Trichard, A. Scott, O. Laurin, A. Ethier, J. R. Paquette and R. Dumais were in attendance.

Discussion took place on the waterworks question. Due to weather conditions the town's reserve at Lake Sir John was very low recently, so much so that a considerable part of the town was deprived of water. It was decided to deepen the channel from Lake Sir John proper, to the outlet dam, the work to be done immediately under supervision of the Water Committee. By so doing it is expected the town will be assured of a good increase in its water reserve.

Besides this matter, another important deal was carried. L. W. Hammond, owner of Hillfoot grist mill and sawmill together with the water rights and water power on Davis creek, on which the town's waterworks intake is located at a certain distance above the Hammond mill site — made the following offers to the town:

1. Sale of his whole establishment complete including all land, buildings and machinery, and the full water power and water rights, for the sum of $14,000;
2. Sale of the full water rights only for $11,000;
3. Sale of 14 h.p. — being the excess now taken by the town over and above 4 h.p. bought in 1911 — for the price of $8,781.25; this latter item being subject however to verification by an engineer.

For those who are not fully acquainted with the situation a few words of explanation may be in order. . . .

The Hammond mill has been in operation for over a century. Some 50 years ago a syndicate installed a waterworks system above the mill to supply the Town of Lachute. As the water diverted into the waterworks pipes does not return into the creek operating the mill, Mr. Hammond had a claim for diversion of water, since he had prior rights.

With the increase of population, the town decided in 1910 to purchase the waterworks system and to install a new 8" pipe besides the then existing 5" pipe. This new pipe meant additional diversion of water from Mr. Hammond's power, and the town then decided to buy from Mr. Hammond four horse-power. No trouble arose until 1937, when the town, facing an increased demand and need for expansion, replaced the 5" pipe by a 14" pipe, which meant considerable additional diversion. At that time Mr. Hammond served the town a protest to protect his rights. The engineer's figures submitted by Mr. Hammond show that the town's 14" and 8" pipes have a diversion capacity of 18 h.p. Since the town owns only four h.p., Mr. Hammond has a claim against the town for 14 h.p. Taking into consideration the fact that further expansion in Lachute may call for additional water in the future, the Council thought it wiser to purchase the whole establishment complete in order to settle fully a problem that might be a source of still further expense.

On motion of Ald. Omer Laurin, seconded by Ald. Alex Bothwell, the Mayor and Secretary were authorized to sign a deed of purchase from L. W. Hammond, at the price of $14,000 cash, of the following:

1. Mr. Hammond's complete industrial establishment en bloc, including all land, house, buildings, mill, machinery and tools, dam, flume, turbine and the full water power and water rights;
2. Mr. Hammond's interests in the outlet of Robinson's Lake, shown on the map as Williams' Lake;
3. Final settlement in full of all possible claim against the town for use of excess water during the past years.

Before being completed, however, the deal has to be approved by the Municipal Commission.

Gaston Ampleman tendered his resignation as Chief of Police.

Immunization Week September 10 to 16

Text of a letter written by His Excellency the Governor General of Canada:

I desire to call the attention of the people of Canada to National Immunization Week, the object of which is to impress on everyone the importance of protecting children from the four menaces which threaten them — diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough and scarlet fever. These diseases are all avoidable. They can all be prevented and they can all be eliminated. Science can, however, make little progress without popular support and popular support will not be forthcoming without popular understanding.

I warmly commend the Health League of Canada in its praiseworthy efforts to provide that understanding whereby thousands of young Canadian boys and girls may be saved from becoming the victims of wholly preventable maladies.

Unveiling of School Honor Roll

Presentation of Prizes at Auditorium Friday

The official opening exercises of the Lachute High School will be held in Lachute Auditorium on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, when successful scholars of last year will receive their awards.

The Lachute High School honor roll, comprising almost 250 names of past students enlisted in the three armed forces, will be unveiled at this ceremony by George Y. Deacon, former chairman of the Protestant School Board.

'Red-White' Show Features Hundred Ayrshire Exhibits

The first Red-and-White Show held jointly by the Laurentian Ayrshire Breeders Club of Lachute and North of Montreal Ayrshire Breeders Club took place Saturday on the old Ste. Scholastique fair grounds. There were one hundred head of fine animals on exhibit to be judged by Jos. Beauchemin from Vercheres, president of the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders Association. Exhibitors came from Lachute, St. Andrews East, Oka, Carillon, Brownsburg, St. Vincent de Paul, St. Eustache and Ste. Scholastique. Considering the changeable and unpromising weather, a good crowd was in attendance to watch and kibitz the judging.

The winning animals for first six placings in each class are listed on page 4 of this issue.

ENROL NOW FOR BLOOD CLINIC

Two weeks from this date the blood donor clinic will again be held, in the clinic premises at Lachute Auditorium. This reminder will stress upon volunteers to enrol well ahead of the appointed day. Prospective donors may contact the secretary of the committee, Mrs. H. Rigg (phone 337-W); in Brownsburg they may register with Mrs. N. Somers (phone 652) or Mr. Frank Hazel.

A full enrolment, representative not only of Lachute and Brownsburg but of all the surrounding communities, is hoped for — in order to fill the day's schedule and to achieve the maximum number of blood donations. The date: Thursday, September 21.

Serious Situation in Milk Products Demand Increases, Output Declines

By GEORGE KITCHEN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Sept. 5 (CP) — a rising demand for dairy products has pointed to the urgent need for conserving Canada's milk supplies.

Federal government charts and figures have stressed the problem of meeting the inereasing demand for dairy products and federal officials have appealed to Canadians to avoid possible waste and over-purchase of milk so the urgent needs of Britain for Canadian cheese and the requirements of the armed forces can be met.

But the situation has become so urgent that the government isn't depending on public co-operation alone. The Prices Board, too, has stepped into the picture with a new order which requires that distributors in about 80 of the main Canadian markets sell no more fluid cream in any month than was sold by them during June.

Total demand for dairy products now exceeds total supply, officials say, and recent reports indicate that butterfat sold as cream in 1944 has increased by more than 20 per cent over the first seven months of 1943. At the same time, butter production and stocks on hand are on the decline.

Partly responsible for the situation has been a drought situation in many parts of Eastern Canada which has resulted in consequent declines in milk production.

The combined output of factory products in July totalled slightly less than 1,400,000,000 pounds of milk, a decrease of about 63,500,000 pounds compared with the combined make in terms of milk for the corresponding month last year. Of the total milk available to the factories in July: creamery butter took 69.4 per cent, cheddar cheese 22.5, ice cream 3.2 and concentrated whole milk 4.9.

New Telephone Directory Issued

A new telephone directory has just made its appearance in Lachute homes and offices, and J. J. Morrin, Bell Telephone manager for this region expressed the hope that subscribers would make full use of their books.

"Consulting the new directory carefully before placing calls will help to eliminate unnecessary calls, and will reduce the wrong number nuisance considerably," he pointed out. "Avoiding unnecessary calls will help to serve you better, despite wartime difficulties.

"In view of the large number of new and changed listings in the latest issue, it is important to discard the old book promptly on receiving the new one, to avoid confusion," Mr. Morrin said.

"Subscribers are being asked to contribute their old directories to the regular salvage collection, for paper is high on the list of badly-needed salvage articles.

Two Lachute Men Paid Tribute in Memorial Service

The National Day of Prayer, generally observed in the churches of Canada last Sunday, coincided fittingly with the memorial theme at the morning service in Lachute United Church, when two fallen service men were remembered in tribute of the congregation. The two thus honored were the late Sgt. Norman Anderson, R.C.A.F., and a more recent victim of the offensive in Europe, Pte. Russell Ward. Both were residents of this community and members of the United Church.

The minister, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, spoke feelingly of their great sacrifice. His message brought inspiration to the relatives present, that their loss was in the Christian cause for which so many have proudly given their all. Such sacrifices are not in vain, he said. Even at this date, the fruits of their devotion to duty are evident in our Allied triumphs. . . . A large congregation attended the memorial service.

Sgt. Norman Anderson, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Y. Deacon, with whom he resided here in Lachute, was 22 years of age when he met his death in aerial activities over Germany. He was reported missing December 4, 1943, later reported through International Red Cross among those believed killed, and officially "presumed dead" by advice from Casualty Headquarters on August 25 last.

Pte. Russell Ward, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ward — who is survived by his wife and two young children, also two sisters and three brothers, two of whom are overseas — was a victim of the Normandy campaign, reported killed in action on July 25 last.

A Blood Donor's Prayer

Grant me no less favor, God, than this.
That by my giving
Some war-spent but courageous eager son
May keep on living.

Grant that the faithful rhythm of my veins
And my heart singing,
May bring an urgent quickening, and stay
His soul's far winging.

Because I have no stalwart lad by birth
To call me mother.
I ask this small maternal share in one
Dear to another.

Then I shall walk a quiet but exalted way
Glad in the knowing
I fed the flame—for some unknown son
Life is still glowing.

Shoots Horned Owl Preying on Farm Poultry Flocks

Mabel — Several flocks of poultry in this district have been noticeably decreasing, and the cause has been attributed to foxes. Such, however, was not the case — for around 2 o'clock one morning last week Douglas Clark, from the peak of his barn roof, shot a grey horned owl with a wing span of 54 inches. Earlier in the morning the bird had been disturbed by shouts from an upstairs window when attempting to make his getaway with a three pound chicken.

Five Previous Duplessis Ministers Take Posts in New Quebec Cabinet

By CHARLES LEOBOLDTI, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec, Sept. 5 (CP) — In a decorous, 70-minute ceremony at the Legislature, the largest provincial cabinet in Quebec's history was sworn in to office August 30.

The swearing-in of the 21 ministers headed by Premier Duplessis took place in the large, red carpeted chamber of the Legislative Council before a large gathering of people.

The Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Eugene Fiset, presided, and he and most of the ministers wore morning coats, many with pink roses in the lapels.

Of the new cabinet, 14 ministers are in charge of departments, including Mr. Duplessis who became Attorney-General, and seven are ministers without portfolio.

Five ministers who sat with Mr. Duplessis in his 1936-39 cabinet are in the new government: Onesime Gagnon, Provincial Treasurer; Col. John Bourque, Lands and Forests; Dr. Albiny Paquette, Health; Bona Dussault, Municipal Affairs; and Sir Thomas Chapais, 86-year-old historian and legislator who becomes minister without portfolio and government leader in the Legislative Council.

Other ministers are: Jonathan Robinson, Mines; Omer Cote, Provincial Secretary; Antonio Barrette, Labor; J. D. Begin, Colonization; Laurent Barre, Agriculture; Paul Beaulieu, Trade and Commerce; Dr. Camille Pouliot, Games and Fisheries; Antonio Talbot, Roads; Romeo Lorrain, Public Works; Antonio Elie, Tancrede Labbe, Dr. Marc Trudel, Patrice Tardif, J. T. Larochelle and J. H. Delisle, ministers without portfolio.

Speakers of both the Legislative Council and Assembly will be chosen when the 22nd Quebec Legislature meets for its first session, but indications are that Hon. Alphonse Raymond will preside over the Council and Alexandre Tache over the Assembly.

It is understood that a minister of Social Welfare, created as a separate department at the last session of the 21st Legislature, will be appointed later.

Following a series of celebrations marking the liberation of Paris, the capital of French-Canada witnessed church parades held in connection with thanksgiving services for the successive Allied victories on the battlefronts of western Europe.

Last Sunday, for more than 15 minutes, bells in churches in Quebec and the district pealed out in celebration of the liberation of the City of Light.

Commissioned As Pilot Officer

Appointment of several R.C.A.F. personnel of No. 3 Training Command to commissions, was announced last week by Air Vice Marshal Adelard Raymond, officer commanding. Among those commissioned as Pilot Officers was Geo. E. S. Leggett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leggett, Lachute Mills.

EARTHQUAKE MAKES HEADLINE TOPIC

The most severe earth shock recalled by local residents occurred shortly before one o'clock Tuesday morning, startling sleepers in their beds. It took front-page priority at the breakfast tables that morning — in the offices and mills as workers gathered together —and crowded the war news momentarily from the conversational headlines.

Apart from the rattling of crockery and household ware, the tremor had no drastic results. Across the Ottawa River, however, dishes were broken and articles were shaken from storekeepers' shelves. And around Cornwall, Ontario — as news-listeners soon were informed—the damage reached its highest peak.

Although no discernable damage was reported in these parts, it is believable that doubtful foundations and plaster walls suffered ill effects from the shaking.

Red Cross Work Shipped to H.Q. During Summer

Ladies of the Red Cross Society, Lachute branch, have been active during the summer months with the shipping of knitted goods to headquarters in Montreal. The shipments from this branch comprised 23 turtle-neck sweaters, gloves, mitts, socks and helmets, also quilts, pyjamas, skirts and blouses, boys' shirts and many other articles.

The ladies' branch of Lachute Golf Club donated $70.25 to the Society's prisoners of war fund. Receipt of this amount is gratefully acknowledged by the Red Cross.

Donations of money towards supper expenses at the blood donor clinic may be handed to the local Red Cross unit. Amounts already received are as follows:

Lakefield	$14
Community Red Cross Group	5
Pioneer Women's Institutes	5
Jerusalem & Bethany W.I.	5

Lachute Lions Resume Sessions Meeting Tuesday

Returning from the lapse of summer vacations, members of Lachute Lions Club resumed their regular fortnightly sessions at the Golf Club premises Tuesday evening under chairmanship of the newly elected president, Lion Dr. W. F. FitzGerald.

A meeting of the executive had recently been held, outlining a future program in post-war work, and Lions Geo. Calder, E. K. Wilson, James McGibbon, M.P., C. Tremblay, Gaeton Valois and L. Carriere were appointed a special committee on these activities.

Arrangements are being made to celebrate the 10th birthday of Lionism in Lachute. Invitations are being extended to the Montreal membership, who were sponsors to the local club ten years ago, and other branches. It is expected that the charter members will be out in full force for this special occasion.

Sugar Situation "Tough" in 1945, Officials Believe

Ration Book No. 5 Ready in October

Canada's fifth ration book will be distributed throughout the country during the week of October 14-21, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board reports, and coupons will be included in the new book to cover emergencies that may arise. It is believed by K. W. Taylor, co-ordinator of the foods administration, that the sugar situation in 1945 is likely to be "tough," although crop prospects for next year cannot be accurately forecast until about the end of the year. Also, Europe is likely to require large allocations of sugar out of the 1945 crop. No improvement in the butter situation is seen by Board officials, either, and a stock-taking of the tea and coffee situation will be made this fall, to determine the rationing.

Limit Sale of Cream

Effective September 1, distributors in approximately 80 of the principal markets of Canada may not sell more fluid cream (in pounds of butterfat) in any month than was sold by such distributors during June, 1944, it is announced by J. H. Olive, administrator of dairy products for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The order was issued because of the necessity of stabilizing the use of butterfat and will help prevent further diversion of milk and cream from the production of butter and cheese.

Soy Beans Under Ceiling

A ceiling price of $2.15 per bushel for No. 1 and No. 2 Canada soy beans, delivered at Toronto, Winnipeg, Lethbridge or Vancouver, has been placed by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The new order is designed, foods officials said, to ensure normal marketing practices. Ceiling price for No. 3 grade is $2.12 per bushel, for No. 4 grade $2.08, and for any other soy beans $2.00 per bushel, all delivered at the four basic points. Prices at other than these centres will vary according to transportation charges.

Historical Society Executive Receives Museum Exhibits

A meeting of the Argenteuil Historical Society executive was held in the Carillon Museum last Saturday evening under presidency of Dr. H. B. Cushing. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Beatrice Robertson.

Thanks were expressed by the meeting to the Hon. Mr. Crerar for his generous grant of money to meet renovation of the building, and the secretary was requested to extend an invitation to the hon. minister to attend the Society's annual meeting which is to be held in the Library Hall on Saturday, September 23. Arrangements for this assembly are now being made.

Mr. H. Barclay has loaned a well preserved birch bark canoe, made by Indians at Lac Barriere and paddled down to Maniwaki, a number of arrows and axe-heads, as well as an old-time wash stand for the Museum exhibits. In addition, he had promised some genuine old Stackhouse chairs.

Mrs. P. J. Armstrong, of Carillon, has donated an antique child's chair and two swords from Bellevue, and Mrs. A. Robertson, of Montreal, has contributed a number of valuable books to the library and some historical pictures. Mrs. John Fair's presentation of duelling pistols and other articles of interest, is also similarly appreciated.

A recital is to be given in the Museum by Miss Juliette Gaultier de la Verendrye on Saturday, September 9, and Sunday, September 10. This program will be highly interesting and instructive. A small fee of 25 cents is being charged for admission, to help defray the expenses.

NASCOPIE CARRIES ARCTIC SURVIVORS

Churchill, Man. (CP) — The first Sunday in August was a red letter day at Manitoba's only seaport. The Hudson's Bay boat, Nascopie, docked. The entire Churchill population, white, Indian and Eskimo, turned out.

Passengers aboard were mainly men, but there were a few women. Included in the list were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Heslop and D'Arcy Munroe, the three white people who were rescued by an American plane from Fort Ross last winter when the Nascopie couldn't get through and post supplies dwindled.

The story of their rescue reads like a piece of adventurous fiction. Isolated at the lonely outpost on Somerset Island, about 2,000 miles north of Winnipeg and 400 miles inside the Arctic circle, they were literally snatched from starvation.

The first flight of the American Douglas C47 made November 1, 1943, failed to locate Fort Ross. On November 4, Mrs. Heslop saw Capt. J. L. Stamwell-Fletcher make a parachute jump followed by dozens of yellow parachutes from the plane, carrying 2,000 pounds of supplies. Three days later the plane returned and took its human cargo aboard.

People wondered at the time if the Heslops would ever risk the north again. "We're ready to go back any time," they said. Now they are headed for another Northern post.

Mineral Needs Of Livestock

By B. Leslie Emslie

Cows and young growing animals are specially susceptible to the effect of phosphorus deficiency in the diet and usually respond remarkably to mineral supplements containing a generous amount of this important element, with calcium, salt, iron, iodine, etc., added for all-round protection. Pigs fed largely on grain are less in need of supplementary phosphorus but require more calcium in their mineral supply, and also more iron for prevention of anaemia, a common complaint of the young.

Fluorine in minute amounts is essential but in excess may cause defective bone and teeth. In these times, when scarcity of raw materials is experienced, it has been difficult to obtain sources of phosphorus sufficiently low in fluorine which occurs in all rock phosphates. A process has now been developed for the removal of excess fluorine and concentration of the phosphorus.

In most of our soils low levels of phosphorus affect the quality of the crops grown thereon; hence the need for furnishing it in mineral supplements for livestock. Many trace elements essential to body growth and health are derived from the soil. Zinc is one but is seldom found lacking. Copper is another which occasionally is in short supply, and sheep sometimes suffer from lack of it. Pining or "wasting" disease of sheep is attributed to lack of cobalt. It is now believed that magnesia is important for teeth, which might indicate the desirability of dolomitic limestone applications to pastures. But there is a danger in over-liming pastures. It may result in reducing the availability of certain useful trace elements.

Gift of Three Holstein Bulls for Overseas

In a "hands across the sea" gesture, three high-class Holstein bulls are being shipped to Britain as a gift from the Canadian breeders to their British colleagues. The donors are Senator Donat Raymond, of Vaudreuil, Que., George C. Jackson, of Downsview, Ont., and R. Ray McLaughlin, of Oshawa, Ont. The shipment was arranged by the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada with the assistance of the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Quite a number of herds of Canadian Holsteins have been established and maintained in the United Kingdom as a result of importations made before the war. With the source of further seed stock cut off by the war, the British breeders have found it difficult to carry on without resort to inbreeding, and at their request, the Ministry of War Transport recently made shipping space available and granted permits for the entry of three bulls from Canada. A shortage of foreign exchange prevented the purchase of these bulls, but the Canadian breeders rose to the occasion and offered to donate them so that the purity of the British herds could be maintained until further importations were possible.

The three bulls are representative of Canada's best breeding and are expected to enhance the splendid reputation now enjoyed by Canadian Holsteins in the United Kingdom.

Not having a bull of suitable age available at Raymondale, Senator Raymond re-purchased and donated a son of Raymondale Educator, carrying 25 per cent blood of Johanna Rag Apple Pabst, from Harold Bingham & Son of Georgetown, Ont.

You can always tell a man by his writing, says a critic. Especially if it is on a check.

Too Many Fires on Canadian Farms

By proclamation published in the Canada Gazette the week of October 8-14 has been appointed "Fire Prevention Week" in Canada. Authoritative statistics made by the Dominion Fire Commissioner show that during the past ten years 470,000 fires in the Dominion have destroyed insurable property valued at more than $264,000,000 and that during the same period 2,869 persons lost their lives, and at least 10,000 others have been seriously injured as the result of fire.

The proclamation recommends that at the same time during the week the following methods of fire prevention should be carried out:

That all residential, assembly, institutional, commercial and industrial buildings be carefully inspected and all conditions likely to cause or promote the spread of fire removed;

That all farm buildings and their surroundings, elevators, and warehouses be carefully inspected and all fire hazards remedied so as to safeguard vital food supplies;

That fire drills be held in all schools, institutions and factories in order that a greater degree of safety be ensured by acquainting the occupants with the best and most expeditious ways of exit in time of danger, and that special instruction on the subject of fire prevention be given by the teachers and by municipal officials in the schools;

That all legislation and regulations enacted or issued by the Dominion, Provincial, or Municipal authorities dealing with fire prevention be given publicity by the municipal officials, and that by public meetings, the press, radio broadcasts, specially - prepared motion pictures, or otherwise as may seem most fit, endeavor be made to impress upon the citizens the national importance of safeguarding life and property from loss by fire.

Now is the time to look around to make certain that not a single preventable cause of fire will be overlooked.

SPEAKS FOR FARM LABOR

We have often wondered why the workmen's compensation act does not cover farm labor. Farm laborers do not receive any consideration whatsoever in this respect. If farming is more hazardous than other occupations, all the more reason why the government should insist on farmers keeping their employees insured against accidents.

Wounded Veterans Staff C.P.R. Hospital Cars

Assigned to regular hospital car service by the Canadian Pacific Railway these four porters, standing in front of the ever-changing map of the Battle of Europe in the Windsor Station at Montreal, have a record of 22 years of service and wounds from seven actions in two wars. Left to right the four who have the bond of a common experience with the wounded servicemen they look after on the coast-to-coast runs of hospital trains are Jean Napoleon Maurice, Montreal, wounded at Dieppe and in Italy; James E. Thompson, Montreal, casualty of the London Blitz; R. Membership Appeal By Canadian Legion

Veterans of the present war are being invited to join with those of the First World War in membership in the Canadian Legion, according to Hugh M. Parry, president of the Provincial Command, in announcing the start of a province-wide campaign for new members. The drive will open in the fall and continue until November 30.

K. L. Woolley, of Montreal, has been appointed general chairman of the membership campaign, with A. B. Smith as montreal chairman, and N. T. Hunter, of Sherbrooke, chairman of the provincial area outside Montreal.

"War work of the Legion overseas and in Canada has greatly developed," said Mr. Parry "and we need the help of every veteran to assist in the extensive program undertaken at home and abroad through the Canadian Legion War Services and the Canadian Legion Educational Services, and in the preparation of an adequate plan of rehabilitation."

Mr. Parry stressed the fact that the Canadian Legion is a national organization with an enrolled membership of over 215,000 organized into more than 1,500 Commands, branches and Auxiliaries located in practically every community in Canada and in many parts of the United States. Men and women who served in the active forces or the Merchant Navy and have been honorably discharged are eligible for membership in the Legion.

$5,000 FOR RED CROSS, SUPERFLUITY SHOP AT HUDSON HTS.

Everything from pianos to peacock feathers and silk hats to moccasins, may be found at one time or another in the "Bird Cage", the superfluity shop which women in the Hudson Heights community run for the benefit of the Red Cross. Since 1941, when the venture was started, over $5,000 has been donated to that organization. For example, last June was considered a record month, the "Bird Cage" having taken in $390 from the sale of a variety of articles their former owners probably considered white elephants cluttering up their cupboards and attics.

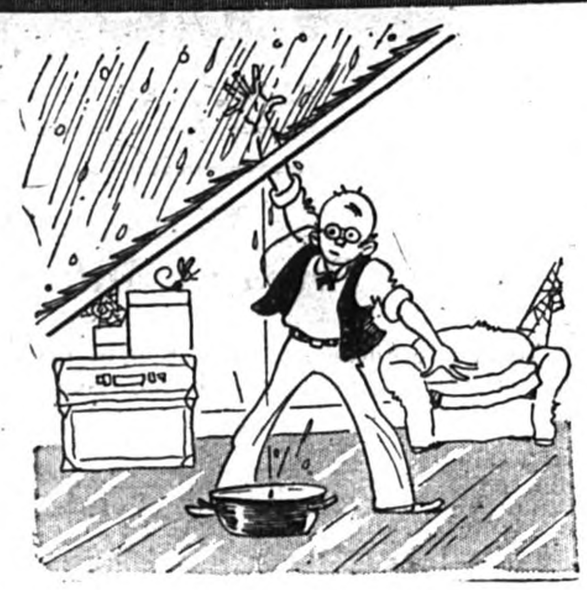

Pictures, statues, beds, rugs and carpets, clothing and household goods have been donated by residents of Vaudreuil County, favorite, tried and proved recipes, collected and published in book form, realized about $150. Shortly after, an exquisite piece of old Chantilly lace, pronounced by connoisseurs to be a museum piece, was raffled thus increasing the funds by $40. A good sum was also acquired by the sale of a rare Chinese lacquer box.

It was early in 1941 that the superfluity shop was started as a means to raise money for the Red Cross. After a few informal meetings an executive committee was appointed with Mrs. R. D. Palmer as the first president.

A suitable site for the shop was discovered in a small cabin originally built for clock golf and called the "Bird Cage", owing to its size. Almost immediately the idea was born and took form, residents of the community responded wholeheartedly to appeals for donations.

The shop depends entirely upon the generosity of the community and friends for its stock, and is entirely a local activity. It functions all the year round one day a week and in the winter months moves to McNaughton Hall in Hudson.

An appeal, written in humorous verse, was sent out last spring just before spring cleaning time, and brought excellent results.

Back to School

TWO MILLION vigorous tanned students are turning in for another year's education as the bells of September ring across the Dominion. The shy little girl of six with an apple for the teacher and the sturdy little chap with a pocket full of treasures who wants to be just like his dad, are starting on a great undertaking that will include some of the happiest days of their lives. At the other end of school careers are young men and women completing their matriculation with serious thoughts of war service, jobs and life work.

It is a world in which education is going to be of greater importance than ever. The intensive instruction and training which the demands of war required cannot be slackened because the pattern of victory is emerging on the world's battlefronts. The re-organization of the world when peace comes is going to need extremely intelligent planning and execution in order to make it a better place to live in. For this the United Nations have fought since September, 1939.

But fortunately for boys and girls the responsibilities of the world are not yet theirs. With a good summer holiday behind them and refreshed physically and mentally they are ready for the challenge of multiplication tables, or chemistry. Field days, rugby games, baseball in the schoolyard help to round out Canadian education. Not the least important side of children's lives is learning to live with their fellows in a happy spirit of give and take, work and play.

So it's back to desks and books in the beauties of the Canadian September, when harvest richness is being stored. Whether they walk the country or the town sidewalk, for boys and girls, September means "school's in."

When Children Die

THE TRAGIC death of children in an English community when a military airplane crashed in their midst aroused widespread pity and sympathy. Ironically, nothing has been said about some 240 children in England and Wales who were choked to death by diphtheria in four weeks ending April 29 last — or the hundreds of other British children who have fallen victims to preventable diseases this year. Are our tears to be confined to those children who die dramatically?

According to statistical reports, there were 2,420 cases of diphtheria in England and Wales during the four weeks mentioned. About 10 per cent of diphtheria cases today are fatal. Many of the patients who recover suffer serious complications.

Thus, like falling aircraft or enemy missiles, infectious diseases take their toll in dead and maimed. The difference is this: All the valor and skill of the armed forces, and all that parents can do, cannot protect all children against the violence of war or accidents associated with warfare. But parents can and should protect their little ones against preventable diseases for which simple, safe immunization procedures are available.

We can protect against diseases which kill and maim just as surely as violent accidents associated with war. This applies in Canada as well as in the British Isles. This is the objective of National Immunization Week, September 10 to 16, sponsored by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with Health Departments throughout Canada.

Nothing New in Gardening

SNAILS in your spinach? Kids in your melon patch? Think nothing of it; that anxiously-nurtured victory garden is nothing new.

People had the same need for cabbages and carrots — and the same problems — some 375 years ago according to a series of tomes on English kitchen garden culture from 1568 to 1771, unearthed recently by librarians in Pasadena, California.

Richard Gardener, an appropriately-named Shrewsbury linen draper with a flair for backyard farming, wrote in the first book ever devoted wholly to vegetable growing, published the year Queen Elizabeth died:

"If any town or city should be besieged by an enemy, what better provision for the greatest number of people can be than every garden be sufficiently planted with carrots?"

Since misery loves company, day off cultivators may find it comforting to learn that Pop had a hard time getting "up at it" 300 years ago, too. William Lawson wrote in 1631: "Your gardener had not need be an idle or lazy lubber."

To the self-appointed experts, the Rev. John Laurence directed these remarks on gardening in 1771:

The Sixth Year

DURING the progress of the German blitz things moved very fast. And thence, through many stages of this war, it has been too hazardous for the average weekly paper to paint the picture up to date. . . . Now, with the tables turned and the Allied armies advancing to — and across — the very borders of Germany, it is still unsafe to appraise a situation which may completely change within a few short hours.

The Second Great War has entered its sixth year, and the complete Axis collapse is no longer the climax we dared to hope for, at times with misgiving and forced optimism. Today, if signs are reasonably accurate, it is a triumph of the early and certain future.

With this expectancy — still however in the heat of the fray — it would be difficult to express the public feeling. For five long years our every thought and action has been attuned to war, until some indeed have almost forgotten the quiet routine of peace. And by contrast with the home-front in Canada, far from the blast of guns and bombs, how radically the viewpoint of Europe's afflicted peoples must have soared in the past week or two.

The Allied drive to hurl the Germans out of France across the Belgian and German frontiers continues with unrelenting fury. . . . Rouen, Amiens, Arras, Reims, Verdun, Argonne Wood, Vimy Ridge, St. Mihiel, Sedan — names that recall other, bloodier fighting — have fallen. Dieppe, Calais, Antwerp and Brussels. Meanwhile the vaunted Gothic Line in Italy is broken. Ploesti and Bucharest have fallen. Other former German strongholds are tottering as we write.

Of these embattled posts, the name that means most to Canadians on the growing list of victories is that of Dieppe — scene of the costly attack more than two years ago which, history may judge, played decisively in ensuring the success of the more recent Allied landings in Normandy. . . . Heavy casualties — a total of 3,384 — were suffered by the 5,000 Canadians that day at Dieppe in August, 1942. Not one Canadian was wounded as the 1st Canadian Army swept into Dieppe last Friday close behind fleeing German rearguards hastening north.

Encirclement of the Reich, feared by German militarists ever since Bismarck's time, is tightening on all sides. It is a cheering outlook — as the war enters its sixth and final year.

There are vacant places in Canadian homes today. Hearts are heavy, with the toll these triumphs have cost to everyday households and peace-loving families. But now, as the shadows begin to lift, the consoling thought is easier to reconcile — that not one of these sacrifices has been in vain. Canada will share, in full measure, the achievement of Hitler's ultimate frustration, the glory of the Nazi menace ingloriously floored.

Neglecting the Important Things

IT IS surprising how often people neglect to obtain and to preserve carefully important documents.

Probably the most important paper is a person's birth certificate, but very few people have one. This has been proved since the start of the war by the innumerable requests for copies of birth certificates.

Everyone should also make a will, but very few do that, although it is a most important duty.

Very few married people could produce a marriage certificate without sending for a copy.

These are just a few of the really important papers that everyone should carefully preserve.

On the other hand people usually have an accumulation of old insurance policies that have long ago expired, old receipts that are of little use except as a record, and clippings of all kinds.

The war has taught some people that birth certificates should be kept as carefully as bearer bonds, and many are renting safety deposit boxes for the first time. —Granby Leader-Mail

COMMENTING on the effects blast precautions have had on English civilian life, a London correspondent writes:

"There can hardly be a home in Southern England which has not recently rearranged its furniture with a view to safety from blast, rather than decorative appearance.

"We also become quite expert at the technique of lying down, wherever we may be, in moments of danger. There is really an art in doing this effectively, as you must lie flat, but supported just off the ground by elbows and knees, lest the blast tremors through the earth do unmentionable things to your interior. Blast is a serious subject of discussion and study."

THANKSGIVING Day has been set officially for Monday, October 9, this year, and it looks right now as if it'll be about the most thankful Thanksgiving in some years.

THE FIGHT AGAINST TB

The British Columbia government has taken another step in improvement of social services — financial assistance will be given to tuberculosis patients and their families. Each case will be considered in the light of the particular circumstances of the individual patient. In recent years new methods and new approaches have been developed, all aimed at the eventual wiping out of the disease. This recent action of the government is yet another step in this direction.

FIRST OMISSION

Chilliwack, B.C. (CP) The Chilliwack Weekly Progress did not publish the first week in August, missing an issue for the first time in 50 years. The staff took a 10-day holiday. Staff shortage and desire to conserve newsprint dictated the action.

HAPPY DAY

I know you would be disappointed and I would not be human if I did not mention in this column a few words about the new junior editor who arrived last week by Stork Express. Just to prove to you that he has the makings of a good newspaperman we might mention that George Stephen Day arrived . . . just two minutes before the deadline for starting the press.

Government injunctions to conserve gasoline by curtailing non-essential driving of motor vehicles is no idle talk as there exists a critical shortage in the light of war necessities. It is well to know that Canada's greatest source of crude oil, the Alberta Turner Valley field, is producing 4,000 barrels less daily than a year ago. Sixty per cent of our imported crude oil has to come by ocean tanker. The needs of aviation gas, for example, jumped from 5.5 million gallons in 1939 to 176 million gallons for the year ending March, 1944. Our Royal Canadian Navy uses two million gallons of oil a week; it takes 10,000 gallons to move an armoured corps five miles, and on top of this, just realize the needs of industry and agriculture; truly a staggering amount when totalled. So plain joy riding is not justified.

To save time, and movement through various channels, an employer, addressing enquiries to the Armed Forces for the services of men and women who are about to be discharged, should know that the enquiry eventually gets to National Selective Service. So it would be better to send it direct in the first instance. At the present time N.S.S. has special officers at the discharge points to facilitate the rehabilitation of men and women being discharged from the Forces.

Here's a word to prospective parents on obtaining a baby's ration book. Time was when a book could not be obtained without presenting the baby's baptismal or birth certificate to the local ration board. Now, according to the latest word from the Consumer Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the signature of the attending physician or the superintendent of the hospital or maternity home on a statutory declaration, is all that is needed. Local Ration Boards will issue the baby's ration book when the declaration is presented. Incidentally, evaporated milk coupons are not included in the new book but will be supplied on special request in areas where coupons are required for this product.

In the urgent appeal to nurses engaged in other occupations to return to nursing in hospitals, where a serious shortage exists, a certain policy has been laid down by National Selective Service. Nurses willing to return to hospitals will be entitled to reinstatement in their present employment when the emergency passes; supplementary allowances in the way of temporary advances for living expenses and uniforms will be granted; transportation to and from position without cost to the nurse, and payment for the time lost in travelling; extra compensation for suffering any loss in earnings in rejoining the profession. Other information can be obtained from Selective Service offices.

There is no scarcity of binder twine, despite manpower problems and increased cost of raw materials, thanks to controls, and farmers are getting it at nine cents a pound, same price since 1940. Contrast that with the fourth year of the last war when the wholesale price of binder twine was 25 cents a pound. In a harvesting season about 65,000,000 pounds of twine are used and an increase of even one cent a pound would run into an increased cost of $650,000 a year to our farmers. Present quality is the best that can be obtained, from wartime materials.

The first intimation relatives get when a Canadian becomes a casualty is the official notification from Ottawa. Communications from the front are necessarily very busy. The Casualty Section of the Directorate of Records at Ottawa now has a new medium to allay anxiety of next-of-kin by the institution of the Canadian Army Casualty Post Card, a personal message from the injured soldier, routed through the Post Office with high priority rating. From wherever Canadians are in action these messages are flown to the Canadian Records Office, London, checked and within a few hours the card is speeding to Canada. Authorities advise that the words "In Hospital" added after the address will speed up a return letter to the soldier, but care should be taken that this coincides with his stay there; otherwise delivery will be delayed.

Six hundred carloads of supplies have been produced in the factories of prisoner-of-war internment camp near Montreal in the past year. The articles produced, including stretcher carriers, hospital chairs, naval lockers, doctors' gowns and masks, hospital pyjamas, etc., are all products not used directly in the prosecution of the war. In the boot repairing shop, shoes are repaired — a quantity of which, ironically enough, will go overseas to countries occupied by the Allies. The internees are chiefly German seamen captured by Canadian naval units.

Paris Dateline

(Toronto Telegram)

For four years the dateline, Paris, has been missing from the pages of our newspapers.

When the German legions tramped down the Champs Elysees in June, 1940, the City of Light suffered a blackout.

Now the lights have been turned on. The Nazis and the Gestapo have gone from Paris — kicked out by the Fighting French patriots. Once more newspaper correspondents are dating their stories from Paris. Once more the world can believe the news from Paris.

Free Enterprise BUILDS CITIES

FROM country cow-paths have grown Canada's paved city streets, in whose high buildings thousands of people earn their living. Whence came the change?

The answer is individual enterprise. Some man, with foresight and courage, recognizes the possibilities of an undeveloped region, invests savings, buys property, starts building. Others follow his lead . . . a city is in the making.

For over a hundred years this Bank has been associated with Canadian building and development projects . . . has afforded essential banking services . . . sharing in the growth of a self-reliant people, a prosperous Canada.

IT'S UP TO THE YOUNG PEOPLE

Perhaps at this season more than any other, parents and children are making plans for future activities, hence this advice is timely and to the point.

Young man or young woman, have you ever figured just how soon it may happen that you will be obliged to take care of yourself, and how you will do it?

Do you know that your school years are the best years of your life in the sense of receiving so much that means capital to you in later years?

If a man should hold out a million dollars' worth of bonds to you and say the Government will present these bonds to you for the asking, you would be mighty foolish if you did not ask forthwith, wouldn't you?

Your education may be worth a million dollars to you if you make your own all the valuable information and fundamental principles which your teachers are paid and ready to impart.

You cannot afford to waste moments because they do mean so much of future capital if used rightly.

It is not so much the exact information you acquire as it is the habit of careful, concentrated study that you form, the habit of thought and reasoning which you cultivate, which will be valuable to you in after life.

Get all the knowledge you can while the getting is good. It will prove a valuable asset all through active life.

Sidelights from The Battle Line

A young Canadian officer is thanking his lucky stars he didn't dive feet first into a slit trench when he heard a mortar bomb coming down near him.

The officer cocked his ear when he heard the whine of the bomb He cocked it just long enough to realize a slit trench was the place for him so he plunged headlong into the nearest one, and just in time — a piece of shrapnel from the exploding mortar removed a big toe.

"It might have been an ear, or worse, had I gone in the other way," he sighed thankfully in hospital.

What's it like to be driving along the front in a jeep? Here's the way one Canadian officer feels:

"It's just like driving three feet in the air, stark naked."

The noise of the engines reduces considerably the chances of hearing anything coming, so the officer just keeps his eye on the foot-sloggers around him. If they remain on their feet, he feels okay, but if they take to the ground he knows it's time for him to think about finding a safer spot than his "three feet up naked" location.

The greatest danger inside our country is not subversive philosophy spread by a minority. It is the lack of any philosophy held by the average man.

Old Tennis Balls in Fracture Treatment

Montreal — A tennis ball has to be in pretty poor shape these days to be cast aside as of no further use, but a new sphere of usefulness is envisioned for real down-and-outers by an appeal received by C. J. Doheny, chairman of the tennis section, C.N. Rlys. Recreation Association. The appeal comes from Capt. J. St.G. Hall, of the Canadia Legion, who points out that while they may have no further usefulness on the courts, discarded balls may come in handy in medical hospitals. Dr. J. P. McGuigan, medical officer in charge of examinations, C.N.R., explains that the grasping of a tennis ball can be of great assistance in the treatment of local fractures of fingers, hands or wrists.

Laugh 'n Like It!

"Now that you are married, you should take out accident insurance."

"Oh my wife isn't that dangerous."

"I've heard you let your maid go and are looking for another."

"Yes, I want one who won't handle china like Japan."

Mother — "Mary, every time you are naughty I get another gray hair."

Mary — "Gee, mom, you must have been a terror when you were young. Just look at grandma."

Sergeant — "How do you like the army?"

Rookie — "I may like it after a while, but right now I think there is too much drilling and fussing around between meals."

The sergeant was equipping a recruit with a uniform. The trousers fitted perfectly, the coat might have been made for him, and the cap was just right.

"Man alive!" cried the sergeant. "You must be deformed!"

Customer — "Good; that's the pair I've been looking for; I'll take those."

Salesman — "Thank you, sir. Will one pair be enough?"

Admiral is Air Line's 500,000th Passenger

VICE-ADMIRAL GEORGE CLARENCE JONES, Ottawa, formerly of Halifax, highest ranking Canadian Naval officer on this side of the Atlantic, is the 500,000th passenger to travel on Trans-Canada Air Lines. In the photograph he is seen chatting with O. T. Larson, vice-president of T.C.A., before his take-off from Winnipeg to Ottawa. The stewardess is Margaret McCartney and the other passenger is Lieut. F. A. Goad.

In 1937, the year of its incorporation, T.C.A. operated over a route 122 miles long. Today, its routes total 5,276 miles and its aircraft fly annually between 9,000,000 and 10,000,000 miles, on regular service between St. John's, Newfoundland and Victoria, B.C., between Toronto and New York, Toronto, London and Windsor, and between Lethbridge, Calgary and Edmonton.

Trans-Canada Air Lines also operates for the Dominion Government a trans-Atlantic air mail service for the troops overseas.

In the first year of daily transcontinental operation, 1939, T.C.A. carried 21,569 passengers. The estimate for this year is 169,734.

B'BURG RESIDENT, 85 YEARS OF AGE, DIES IN LACHUTE

The Late Malcolm McLeod

An old-time resident of Brownsburg, Malcolm McLeod, passed away peacefully at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Gordon Elliott, where he had made his home. Mr. McLeod was born May 18, 1859, and was 85 years old.

Although he had been in failing health for some time, it was only during the last week that he was confined to bed.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon at his daughter's residence, Bethany Street. Service was conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. The hymns, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul", wer sung.

He leaves to mourn his loss a son, Robert, of North Bay, and two daughters (Margaret) Mrs. Wesley Doran, Brownsburg, and (Dorothy) Mrs. Gordon Elliott, Lachute, eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The remains were interred in Lachute Cemetery. Pall-bearers were Messrs. James Gauley, Harry Gardner, William Tomalty, Bert Mitchell, Hugh Martin and Joseph McMahon.

Halifax (CP) — Premier A. S. MacMillan says the provincial government will take steps to improve and develop rural electrification. To ensure lower rates to rural electrical users, it will even take over power developments.

BEREAVEMENT TO ST. ANDREWS FAMILY

The Late Miss M. Hopper

The death of Miss Maude Hopper, lately of 2324 Lincoln Ave., Montreal, occurred on Wednesday, September 6, at her home in St. Andrews East.

Miss Hopper was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hopper, of Moncton, N.B., and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. E. Charman and Miss Ida B. Hopper, also one brother, Clyde Hopper, all of St. Andrews East.

The funeral takes place on Friday afternoon from her late residence. Interment will be made at St. Andrews East.

Former Resident Dies in Seattle

The Late Mrs. Periard

The Vancouver Daily Province of July 12 last conveys news of the death of a former Lachute resident, Susan Ellen Periard, who died in Seattle at the advanced age of 85. The Periard family resided here for many years, moving to Vancouver about 40 years ago.

The late Mrs. Periard is survived by her three daughters — Mrs. Ruth Soul, Mrs. J. A. Corry and Mrs. Al G. Moody, also one son, Herbert M., all residing in Seattle.

CROSS CONTINENT

Vancouver (CP) — Fish, flowers and vegetables from British Columbia were flown east on a United States Air Lines cargo liner, the first full plane load of perishables ever flown from coast to coast.

Observe Day of Prayer At Brownsb'g United

Brownsburg—The National Day of Prayer was observed at the morning service in the United Church last Sunday, in keeping with the request by His Majesty the King, that the entrance into the 6th year of the war be commemorated by prayer. A renewed determination to obtain a lasting peace, and a plea that the greater guidance which has led us through the past five years will watch over our forces in their final drive for victory, was fittingly expressed by the minister, the Rev. S. J. Pike. During the service Mrs. J. Waugh, of Montreal, rendered a solo, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer."

Christian Science Lesson-Sermon

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 10.

The Golden Text is from Proverbs 22: 1. "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, no ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." (I Corinthians 2: 9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christianity causes men to turn naturally from matter to Spirit, as the flower turns from darkness to light. Man then appropriates those things which 'eye hath not seen nor ear heard.' Paul and John had a clear apprehension that, as mortal man achieves no worldly honors except by sacrifice, so he must gain heavenly riches by forsaking all worldliness." (Page 458).

Successful Event In St. Viateur Sports Festival

Sunday was a gala day for the youthful community of Lachute, especially for the pupils and those associated with the St. Viateur College. An elaborate program arranged for the school sports festival, first venture of its kind attempted here, attracted a crowd estimated to the number of 3,000 persons. Besides athletic events for the pupils themselves, there were contests and demonstrations by star athletes of the Dominion, including none less than the N.H.L. and world champion hockey club, the famed Canadiens. . . . The program of events continued all day and until late in the evening.

The Canadiens met an all-star line-up from the local Knights of Columbus in a softball game, winning against the home-towners by a score of 11-7. "Butch" Bouchard, of Canadiens, hit the only home run.

In the bicycle race from Cartierville to Lachute, Jack Eyamie, of Hull, came in first at 1.32 p.m., taking two hours and two minutes. A young Lachute athlete, Bedard, featuring in his first bicycle race, placed 13th, 20 minutes behind the winner. The first six riders placed in the following order: Eyamie, Leo Richer, Bob Lacourse, Tassé, Brisebois, Fecteau. . . . There were 16 contestants in all. Eyamie was awarded a trophy donated by Jos. Belanger, Lachute, to be won two years to become his permanent possession.

The track and field events drew keen competition. Highest aggregate in 100-yards dash, high jump, broad jump and shot put (open) was won by Jacques Marchildon, Dominion 220-yard title holder Highest points in the St. Viateur School senior field events went to Conrad Gagné, who won the trophy donated by Geo. E. Dansereau, M.P.P. In the school intermediates André Dumais took highest points, and in the juniors, Guy Pagé. The 100-yards senior for school pupils was won by M. Poitras.

There were 63 prizes awarded among winners of the events — including 17 cups and four trophies.

OLD SITES GO

Fergus, Ont. (CP) — Fergus' next landmark slated for destruction is the old Gibbons blacksmith shop on the edge of the Grand River. Fred Shewfelt, the present occupant, will move his blacksmithing to Maiden Lane.

Life can be a constant fuss, a constant farce or a constant force. You have the say.

A certain church was in need of a minister, and two candidates, the Rev. Mr. Adam and a Dr. Low, offered to preach. Dr. Low preached in the morning, and took for his text, "Adam, where art thou?" His discourse was pleasing, and the congregation was favorable to him.

In the evening the Rev. Mr. Adam preached, and took for his text, "Lo, here am I!" He won the appointment.

See that G.S. badge on his arm? That means he's volunteered to fight anywhere in the world.

The Army needs more men like him—men who can take it—men with the courage to fight, so that their home, their loved ones—everything they cherish—may be free.

For this War is not over yet—we still have a lot of fighting to do. And our boys who are fighting over there will need the help of every red-blooded Canadian who is fit to fight, and willing to fight.

It will take months of thorough training to make you fighting-fit. That's why Canada's Army needs you NOW—and needs you for overseas service.

about the things you buy in wartime

Milk IS NOT ELASTIC

Milk is our most valuable food. It must provide us with milk to drink, with butter, cheese, evaporated and concentrated milk and a score of other products.

Canadian farmers have done a magnificent job. They have increased milk production in 1943 by more than 540 million quarts over 1938.

They have done this in the face of a 25% reduction in farm help, equipment shortages, and the fact that it takes two to three years to bring a calf into milk production.

The production of milk and milk products in Canada has achieved a notable record. Careful planning makes the best use of every quart. But we must all recognize the conditions imposed by war and realize that in these times we all can't get all we want.

Chairman, Wartime Prices & Trade Board

WHAT HAPPENS TO ALL THIS MILK?

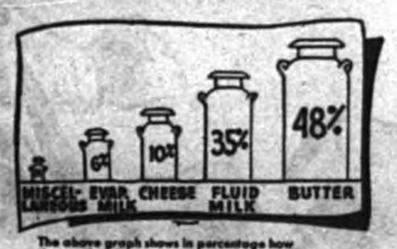

In spite of greater production, the demand for milk and milk products has risen even more, because—

(a) There's more money to spend;

(b) More people are working, with changed food habits and increased food needs;

(c) Our Armed Forces and Allies make heavy demands.

It has therefore been necessary by rationing, by subsidies, by careful planning and by other controls—to divert our milk supply into channels most suited to our various food needs.

The above graph shows in percentage how the total Canadian milk supply is used.

FLUID MILK

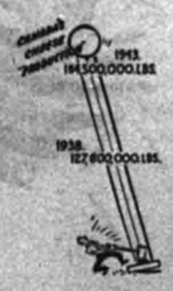

TAKES 35% OF OUR MILK

Because fluid milk is regarded by nutritionists as the most nearly perfect food, nothing has been allowed to interfere with its sale. Today, Canadians are drinking more milk and a greater percentage of our milk supply is being consumed as fluid milk—than ever before. Fluid milk has the right of way, but don't waste a drop of it.

CHEESE

TAKES 10% OF OUR MILK

Canada's annual cheese production has gone up by about 37 million pounds since the war.

Cheese is a concentrated food product—easily shipped and stored. That is one reason why we send large quantities to Great Britain to help meet its pressing food needs. While in the last year we exported four of every five pounds of cheese we made, our production has been so increased that we have left for domestic use about three million pounds a year more than before the war.

BUTTER

TAKES 48% OF OUR MILK

In the first three years of war, our butter consumption increased 10.9%. So, rationing was established to prevent too much milk going into butter, at the expense of other important milk products, and to insure a fair share to everyone.

The rationing of butter was influenced by the fact that it has less nutritive value than some other milk products, and because we get a generous supply of fats or their food equivalent in other forms.

To maintain a proper balance of consumption between various milk products and to ensure that butter is put into storage for winter use—when production drops—it is necessary to reduce the ration from time to time.

The only Canadian-made butter not consumed in Canada is that sent by the Red Cross in prisoner-of-war parcels each of which contains a 1 lb. tin.

EVAPORATED MILK

TAKES 6% OF OUR MILK

More than twice as much (152 million lbs.) was used by Canadians this last year as in 1938 (74 million lbs.). And yet, there has not been enough.

Where has it all gone? It's an important food for babies—and there are 50,000 more of them a year. Larger quantities have gone to areas where fresh milk is not available. Armed Services have added new demands. In spite of this, our exports of evaporated milk to Great Britain, Newfoundland and the West Indies, etc., are maintained at pre-war level.

ICE CREAM AND OTHER MILK PRODUCTS

TAKE ABOUT 1½% OF OUR MILK

The manufacture of ice cream is restricted to the 1941 level because milk is needed for other purposes.

Milk Powder and Condensed Milk are taking more milk. Milk sugar is used in the manufacture of Penicillin and for other wartime purposes. Casein (a milk by-product) is used in making glue for aeroplanes.

90% OF THE MILK PRODUCED IN CANADA IS CONSUMED IN CANADA

Combine Immunization Against Diphtheria And Whooping Cough

Toronto — Studies show that infants can be immunized successfully against diphtheria and whooping cough at the same time, the Health League of Canada reports, quoting an article by three Illinois investigators in The Journal of the American Medical Association.

"Because diphtheria and whooping cough are most prevalent and serious in the first years of life, it seemed logical that immunization against the two diseases should be attempted at the same time. . . ." the investigators are quoted. The report is based on injections given 649 infants averaging eight months in age. Three doses were given each child. Three-week intervals between doses yielded a higher percentage of immunity responses than dosage one week apart. Ninety-seven per cent of the children on the three-week-interval dosage tested immune to diphtheria and 72 per cent had high immunity tests for whooping cough. After a stimulating dose of pertussis vaccine, the whooping cough percentage rose to 95. Reactions were transient and usually mild.

The three investigators said, "No infant so injected during the past five years . . . is known to have contracted either of the diseases."

Dental Health

Q.—What is gingivitis?

A.—Gingivitis is inflammation of the gums and may be the result of any one of a number of conditions. The commonest cause is probably uncleanliness of the teeth, and, in such cases, oral care under the direction of the dentist will effect a cure. Another common cause is a tartar deposit about the neck of the tooth. Deposits of tartar cause irritation, which leads to inflammation and bleeding of the gums. A dentist can remove these deposits with little difficulty and, with good home care, the condition usually clears up readily. Other causes of gingivitis are contacts with chemicals, such as lead, mercury or phosphorus, bacterial infection, dietary deficiencies, systemic disease or malocclusion of the teeth. It frequently occurs in the months of expectant mothers and usually clears up after the birth of the child. Gingivitis may be a simple condition and easily cured, but it may also be the forerunner of serious oral disease.

Q.—Why cannot an abscess be cleared up without pulling a tooth? — S.S.C.

A.—Under ideal circumstances, it is possible to successfully treat and remove a dental abscess without removing the tooth. However, in many cases the circumstances are far from ideal.

Usually the abscessed condition is one of long standing. In chronic cases of this kind the bone about the root end of the tooth becomes permeated with infection. This leads to the breaking down of the bone and formation of cysts. In other instances, the peridontal membrane and the cementum about the root end of the tooth is destroyed. In the event that these tissue changes take place, ordinary treatment of the root canal will not remove the abscess. Surgical removal of the root tip including the complete removal of the cystic material from the infected area is necessary. This is a delicate and often a difficult task, one which as we said before, can only be satisfactorily performed under ideal circumstances.

UTOPIA

If you do not already live in New Brunswick, you had better pack up and come. Never will there be such a place to live. Yes, I have been listening to campaign speeches on the radio — six days a week for weeks on end (this is written just before the elections). Everything in the world will be done for everyone. There may be a few things wrong with life in New Brunswick now, even the party in power acknowledges that, but life will be one long round of benefits conferred, no matter what party comes into power. At least that is what it sounds like listening to the election speeches. I listen to them all, even to the poor ones, because I am frightened I might miss something. There have been some right good speeches, too. Certainly, I have never heard so many speeches on the radio at any previous election, anywhere. I get a lot of good clean fun out of comparing the tactics and the advances and the rebuttals of the various speakers. If my column sounds different after this, you will know it is the effect of living in an earthly Paradise.

CUCUMBERS

Cucumbers are at their best and their cheapest now. Some people find them difficult to digest, but this may be caused by too long soaking in salt water. Cooked cucumbers are easier to digest than raw ones, but some of the vitamins are lost in the cooking. Cucumbers besides having vitamin C, which is found in fresh foods, are an excellent source of vitamin B1. They are a good friend to the reducer as a nine inch cucumber contains only about 40 calories. Try serving them different ways. So often the only ways are in vinegar or in the familiar lettuce, tomato and cucumber salad. If cucumbers are young and tender they need not be pared as the skins are not poisonous and they add to the flavor. Serve them in sticks, either pared or unpared. If the centre is too seedy, cut it out before cutting in sticks. These are a good addition to the lunch box. They give a crispness when thin slices are placed on top of the filling of a sandwich, and are especially good with peanut butter — if you can get the peanut butter. That sandwich would give you a grand lot of B1. I hope you have tried them in a sour cream dressing. To make a cucumber salad pare and cut out the centre portion if very seedy. Dice and mix with a boiled salad dressing, just before using. This is one of the few salads that is good served with hot meats. If you like onion, a bit of finely chopped onion is an improvement. A dash of paprika on top improves the appearance. Diced cooked cucumbers may be served with just butter, pepper and salt, or are delicious in a cream sauce. Cucumbers are a natural served with fish.

EASY TO WASH

Even babies are dressed more sensibly these days. Most of them wear flannelette nighties until they are old enough to go into rompers or knitted suits. These are softer and are not half the work of the old fussy dresses which took so much time to iron. My neighbor's baby has some short flannelette jackets to wear instead of a sweater. The mother says her next baby is going to have more of them and fewer sweaters as they are easier to wash. They are very dainty with the edges done in a fine blanket stitch and little flowers worked in pink and blue.

SPICED GRAPES

3½ Lbs. black grapes, 1¾ lbs. sugar, 1 oz. cinnamon, ½ cup vinegar, ½ oz. cloves.

Wash the grapes in a colender before removing from the stems. Squeeze the pulp into a saucepan, and put skins in another. Tie spices in a bag and drop in the skins. Add sugar and vinegar to the skins and boil gently for 30 minutes. Boil the pulp until the seeds are loosened, then strain. Add the pulp to the skins and cook until thick.

CHOPPED GREEN PICKLES

1 Peck green tomatoes, 2 large cauliflowers, 1 cabbage (medium), 5 large onions, 6 sweet red peppers, 3 lbs. brown sugar, 1 cup salt, ½ oz. each mustard seed, whole cloves, celery seed, 1 dessertspoon ground mace.

Put vegetables through grinder, add other ingredients and cook until tender. Put solids in bottles and add liquid to float. Do not cook until thick.

One of the wonders of the age is how women hide it.

Country Estate Rest Home for Canadian Girls

Alderbrook Park Convalescent Home, Surrey, Given Over to Dominion Servicewomen

By MARGARET ECKER, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Somewhere in England (CP) — Canadian service girls with buzz-bomb nerves can get away from it all at Alderbrook Park Convalescent home at one of the most beautiful country estates in southern England.

This spacious country house, with 300 acres of garden and parkland was opened long before the time of buzz-bombs as a convalescent home for Canadian Cwacs, Wids, Wrens, Red Cross Corps girls and nursing sisters, but recently it has been filled with girls taking a few days off from London and its night and day air raid alerts.

Nursing Sister Dorothy Holland of St. Catharines, Ont., wife of Capt. H. U. C. Holland of Ottawa, and in charge of Alderbrook, welcomes the patients. Lieut. Lois Stitt of Ottawa, is the C.W.A.C. officer in charge and the attractive medical afficer is Capt. H. R. Murphy of Fort William, Ont. On the staff is C.Q.M.S. Mary Walker of Edmonton.

"We encourage the girls to rest as much as possible," explained Mrs. Holland.

"Antiquing is the chief interest outside walking and resting," said Mrs. Walker who was Mary Burness before her marriage to Flt. Lieut. John R. Walker of Vancouver, this spring. "There are two very old historic English villages nearby and the girls explore them."

In an officers' ward that looked out across the Surrey Downs, Jean Defries, of Toronto, was resting and chatting with Nursing Sister Barbara Jennings of Arkona, Ont.

In one room were four bassinets and Mrs. Holland explained that sometimes married Canadian servicewomen remain in England to have their babies. Downstairs is a nursery where they can bathe them and mix formulas. The mothers come to Alderbrook from maternity hospital.

In a ward for other ranks, Pte. Esther Finkbiner of Drumheller, Alta., in slacks, was watching the sunset. "We are allowed to wear civvies here, and it sure is fun," she said.

In the large laundry room, two of the hospital's staff, Pte. Hilda Look of Port Moody, B.C., and Pte. Evelyn Grant of Woodstock, N.B., both drivers, caught up on their ironing. They explained that they have complete care and maintenance of the establishment's four cars. Pte. Jean Knarr of Parkbend, Sask., explained that as a ward orderly she has taken complete courses in bedside nursing.

Besides the officers there are 20 Cwac other ranks on the hospital staff and affairs are administered in the orderly room, under Cpt. Wright of Regina and Vancouver, who was Helen Barnhart before her marriage to L/Cpl. James Wright of London, Ont., assisted by Connie Hartley of Vancouver.

Rural School Lunch Film Strip Topic

Winnipeg — "The Rural School Lunch" is the topic of a film strip by the National Film Board, taken recently in the Municipality of Rosser, Manitoba, at request of the Division of Nutrition, Ottawa. Boys and girls of the municipality "starred" in the film.

The film strip depicts the three different methods by which adequate hot school lunches may be served in any rural school in Canada, as well as the support which the parents of pupils can give such a project.

The film is to be available for showing throughout the rural districts of Canada in about two months, according to Dr. F. W. Jackson, deputy minister of health and welfare for Manitoba.

Romance

"Come to Farnham and find romance" say the C.W.A.C.s who are stationed at the Infantry Training Centre there, and this is no means an empty phrase. Not only does practically every girl have a boy friend in the camp, but they're beginning to lose track of engagements and weddings. Since the detachment's arrival early in 1943, there have been many romances and not a few marriages — including two of the C.W.A.C. lieutenants in command.

"Choir practice was out early last night, wasn't it?"

"Yes."

"What was the trouble?"

"Some one blew an auto horn outside and the male quartet was all that was left."

Hobby Courses Popular With Girls in Uniform

By KATHLEEN REX, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Vancouver (CP) — Long winter evenings can hang heavily on your hands when you're an airman or "W.D." stationed at some lonely post in the heart of British Columbia. You can spend a good deal of the time writing letters and reading books, and sometimes having a hobby helps a lot — at least it keeps you busy and amused.

Royal Canadian Air Force officials at Western Air Command realized this when they asked to have an instructors' school in handicraft opened in Vancouver.

Twenty-eight girls in air force blue and three wearing the khaki of the Canadian Women's Army are taking the 10-day "hobby course" at the University of British Columbia. They're being taught how to make something from nothing — a necklace or an ashtray from a scrap of plastic, an hors d'ouvre dish or coat-hanger from a bit of left-over wood. And they're weaving brilliant scarves and belts on home-made looms.

Girls from military stations throughout the province are attending classes in needlecraft, leatherwork, woodwork and plastics. When school closes they will return to their respective bases to teach the men and women there how to make both useful and frivolous knick-knacks for themselves and for their friends.

The Canadian Legion Educational Services, in co-operation with the Extension Department of U.B.C., instituted the course at the request of Flt. Lieut. W. H. Hardie, command educational officer, Western Air Command. R.C.A.F. headquarters at Ottawa had previously recommended that such instruction schools be opened across Canada.

Learn Three Handicrafts

"Each of the girls is learning three handicrafts," said Miss Hilda L. Cryderman, Education Counsellor to Pacific Command Women's Forces for the C.L.E.S., who is in charge of the school at U.B.C.

Instructors at the school include Mrs. A. Rees, formerly of the Hartman Fashion Academy of New York, who is in charge of needlecraft.

In the woodworking class the girls are making everything from buttons to handles for the shopping bags for which cloth is being woven by those in the weaving class. "I've always found that women are good at light carpentry work and these girls are no exception," said J. E. Ridley, manual training teacher at a Vancouver high school, who is in charge of the woodworking.

The hobby course in plastics is the only one of its kind given by the C.L.E.S., said Miss Cryderman. In this class the girls are shown how to turn bits of discarded plastic — probably from damaged plane parts — into lockets, lapel pins, coat handers, etc.

Unlike the other girls at the school, Irene Fairfield of Winnipeg, hospital assistant at Colwood R.C.A.F. convalescent home near Victoria, will not return to her base merely to teach "hobbies" to her buddies. What she learns of needlework, leatherwork and plastics — the three courses she is taking — she will teach the patients at Colwood, thus helping them on the road to recovery.

NEW RECIPE!

MAKE Your Own CHOCOLATE SYRUP with FRY'S COCOA

EASY ON SUGAR

EASY TO MAKE

Take ½ cup of FRY'S COCOA and ¾ cup of sugar. Mix well together dry. Slowly add ¾ cup of boiling water, stirring meanwhile. Boil for one minute. Then pour into a clean dry glass jar. Cover and let cool. Keep this tasty chocolate syrup handy in the ice box, ready for instant use.

IDEAL FOR CHOCOLATE MILK, ICE CREAM AND DESSERTS.

Many women say this new FRY'S recipe is just the very thing they've been looking for, and you too will be delighted with the many ways you can use it to improve desserts, etc. For instance, you'll find it most appetising as a hot or cold sauce on ice cream and on desserts, and it's specially delicious for making chocolate milk.

Music and Drama Furnish Themes At Local Theatres

"Pardon My Rhythm"

The theme of "Pardon My Rhythm" — a Capitol Theatre booking for next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday — is built around young Mel Torme's ability "to beat the living daylights out of a piece of stretched animal skin."

It seems that there's an amateur band contest about to be decided. The character played by Mr. Torme (Ricky O'Bannon) has his own band and a good chance of winning. There is an effort to get him under contract, for some reason and Bob Crosby sets pretty Marjorie Weaver to lure Mr. Torme into a complacent stupor.

This is where Gloria Jean comes in. Casting her usual singing to the wind, Miss Jean plays a little Miss Fixit. She nominates her handsome playwright father to run against Mr. Torme and Miss Weaver transfers her affections.

The plot grows complex with screen writers, but remains entertaining. The cast finds Patric Knowles with graying temples, playing the paternal role.

"Bridge of San Luis Rey"

On the same date, same screen, — and the following Friday and Saturday at the Rex, Lachute — appears "The Bridge of San Luis Rey", second film production from Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize winner of 1927.

Once again the bridge across a chasm in the Andes gives way, pitching a little group of people to death far below. Once again Brother Juniper sets out for Lima, to discover why these few have been chosen to die at that particular time, in that particular manner. His investigations unfold a story of lives curiously intertwined. — So writes Herbert Whittaker, reviewing the film.

The central figure is La Perichole, the street-singer who became an actress and the favorite of the Viceroy himself. The Viceroy, the twin brothers, Manuel, who loved La Perichole, and Esteban, who hated her; the jealous Marquess and the little girl she took into her household, and sly, beloved Uncle Pio, all are affected by the rise of this colorful woman, and some of them go to their death because of her.

Where the film fails principally — according to the Montreal critic — is in making us care about these people and their fate. They seem little more than puppets, their destinies clear, their deaths leaving us unmoved.

Lynn Bari never makes us fully believe in her street-singer who becomes a great lady, and whose pride leads to her public disgrace. Temperamentally, she seems unsuited to the role and we accept her neither as a woman of the people, as an actress nor as a great lady. Her relation to the Viceroy is undefined, and her ambition all hearsay.

On the other hand, Nazimova as the scheming noblewoman injects real malignant force and no little beauty into her performance, and the few moments in which we are stirred by the film are all hers.

Francis Lederer as the two brothers, Louis Calhern as the Viceroy and even Akim Tamiroff as Uncle Pio are lackadaisical, wearing period costumes but making no attempt at the manners of other days.

Boy Scouts The World Over

APPOINTMENT IS DELAYED

Appointment of a successor to the late Lord Somers as Chief Scout of the British Empire is not likely to be made until more settled times, according to an announcement from Imperial Headquarters of the Boy Scouts in London.

ON RELIEF WORK IN FRANCE

A number of specially trained Scoutmasters landed in France shortly after D-Day to assist in relief work in the liberated areas. The workers wear ordinary battle dress with Boy Scout badges. More will be sent as required, and as more of the country is freed from occupation.

COLLECT MILKWEED FLOSS

Boy Scouts of Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec are to join in a campaign this month, sponsored by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, to collect milkweed floss to be used in place of kapok in filling life preservers for airmen and seamen. The weed grows in sufficient quantities in the other provinces to conduct campaigns.

SERVICE CLUB PAYS TRIBUTE

Tribute to the part played by the Boy Scouts of Canada in the war effort of the Kinsmen Club, was paid at the National Convention of the Clubs in Regina, by the founder, Harold A. Rogers. He mentioned specially, aid given in the collection of magazines for the Merchant Marine, and in the Milk for Britain campaign.

TWO CANADIAN V.C.'s WERE BOY SCOUTS

Two of the five Canadians awarded the Victoria Cross in this war were former Boy Scouts. The first Canadian to win this coveted distinction was Col. C. C. L. Merritt, for his gallantry at Dieppe where he was taken prisoner. He was a Wolf Cub and Scout in the 6th Vancouver Group. The other Scout to win the V.C. was Major Charles Ferguson Hoey, also of British Columbia. He won it while attached to the Lincolnshire Regiment, in the Imperial Forces fighting in Burma. He had previously won the Military Cross and had been Mentioned in Despatches. He was a Scout, Rover Scout and Assistant Scoutmaster of the 1st Quamichan Troop at Duncan, B.C.

Churchill-Roosevelt Quebec Parley Regarded as "Victory Conference"

Warm Welcome to Two Allied Leaders Who Met Monday for Second Momentous Discussion in the Provincial Capital

"The Week at Quebec"

By HAROLD FREEMAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec, Sept. 12 (CP) — Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt are meeting again in Quebec City, 13 months since they last conferred in the provincial capital to plan the invasion of Europe.

The two Allied leaders arrived Monday within a short time of each other on two separate special trains, Prime Minister Churchill from Halifax and President Roosevelt from Washington via Montreal. Both were accompanied by their wives.

The visitors received a hearty informal welcome by residents of Quebec and by high Canadian officials, but ceremony was cut to a minimum to allow the leaders and their staffs to get down to business as quickly as possible.

The meeting was generally regarded as a "victory conference" with the British and American staffs planning to pool their brains and information in the fashioning of plans for total victory and the first stages of peace. It was announced officially that the meeting would be concerned with "purely military" matters; and presumably a large part of the discussions would deal with the war against Japan.

President Roosevelt's train slipped quietly into Quebec, but that of Mr. Churchill was spotted and cheered all along the 660-mile route from Halifax, after arrival of the Prime Minister in Canada had been announced when he landed from a big liner.

The second conference in Canada of the two leaders had been an open secret around Quebec City for some time, with conference-wise Quebecers putting two and two together rapidly when various conventions, scheduled for the Chateau Frontenac were suddenly postponed without any given reason. The same thing happened before last year's gathering.

Meanwhile, Quebec residents, noting that outside Washington Quebec is the only city where the leaders have met twice, are predicting a great future for their city as a conference centre of the future. There is even considerable talk in the city about possibilities of its being chosen for the Peace Conference and for other post-war meetings.

Accident Verdict In Drowning of 17-Year-Old Youth

The body of Hector Archie Boyd, nearly 17 years of age, who was drowned in the North River last Saturday night, was discovered at 9 p.m. Monday from the pier near Dawson's Mill, where he had fallen from logs at the river's edge. The discovery was made by aid of a flashlight, after dragging operations had been carried on unsuccessfully all day around the spot.

Archie Boyd, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Boyd, Lachute, was a pupil at the High School here. According to information gathered by provincial police, the young man had been in company with friends Saturday night sporting on the logs near the sawmill. The friends left him, and returning later found Boyd missing from the spot. When he did not return home on Sunday and enquiries revealed no trace of him, a search was instituted. The river was dragged, but without success, and it was not until Monday evening that the body was found, in seven feet of water.

Dr. Jules Lafleur, coroner "ad hoc" in the absence of Dr. Cote, Brownsburg, after learning results of the police investigation pronounced death due to accidental drowning.

Burial Rites at Mille Isles for Aircraft Victim

The funeral of LAC. Wm. G. M. Strong — who was killed last Wednesday when the plane in which he was flying crashed near Montebello — was held Friday, with service at his home in Montreal and burial rites at Mille Isles.

Only son of Col. Garnet M. Strong, D.S.O., and Mrs. Strong, of Montreal and Mille Isles, LAC. Strong was in his 20th year. Born in Montreal and educated at Selwyn House School and at Trinity College School, Port Hope, he was in his first year of engineering at McGill when he enlisted in February, 1943, in the R.C.A.F. A keen skiing enthusiast, LAC Strong represented Uplands R.C.A.F. Station in the Taschereau Race last February. He was a member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity at McGill University. LAC. Strong took part of his training in Western Canada and in Ontario. He was stationed at Uplands where he was taking his pilot's course and required only a few hours more of flying before receiving his wings.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Leonard Barrett.

The funeral service was held Friday morning at his late residence in Montreal, the remains then being conveyed to Mille Isles, where Col. and Mrs. Strong have their country home. The Rev. C. W. P. Baugh conducted the last rites at Christ Church, and interment was made in the nearby Mille Isles cemetery.

Echoes of the Authors' Convention

— By Janet P. Graham —

At the Dominion convention of Canadian authors held recently in Hamilton, Ont., a sort of "hands across the sea" arrangement was mooted — the idea under discussion being the establishment of contacts between Russian writers and our Canadian writers. This plan was approved by the assembly.

Fraternal greetings were sent the French Writers Group, and a plea sent the Federal Government that royalties on books by Canadian authors be classed as earned income and subject to the same levy as income tax.

A feeling that there should be more co-operation in the matter of copyright between Canada and the United States dominated the meeting, and a request to the U.S.A. authorities will be made for the extension of copyright to include works by Canadian nationals in the United States, to books which are copyright in that country but not in Canada.

Speaking of books reminds one of the sweeping statement made by the Hamilton Librarian who seemed to have a thorough knowledge of "everything under the sun" pertaining to libraries—that Canada's best libraries were equal only to the United States' lowest. — What a blow to our national pride in our libraries; or have we such a thing as national pride regarding the libraries of Canada?

The need for publicity for libraries was stressed by the Hamilton Librarian, who said up until this summer there has not been one person in the whole of Canada whose duty it was to publicize our libraries, but at last, we have a library committee and someone on the job. Her request was for more articles, written by Canadian authors, on libraries and the need of them.

We agree with this estimable lady that proper attention is not being given to libraries in convenient places. Not libraries of light fiction only, but places where books that can be used for research work by students, writers, etc., will be found. We need more education in vital subjects and that can only be obtained through the medium of good books.

One of the guest speakers at the dinner tendered by the City of Hamilton, in conjunction with the Hamilton branch of the Authors' Association whose president is Marjorie Freeman Campbell, also made a request to the authors to be more careful in future in writing of "Thayendangea", the subject of his discourse, but much better known to students of Canadian history as Chief Joseph Brandt of the Mohawk tribe. "This man," Mr. W. J. McCullouch said, "has been much maligned by authors, and depicted in picture and story as a fierce looking chieftain with feathered headdress watching gleefully the murder and torture of women and children." Such had never been his nature, nor was he the illegitimate son of Sir William Johnston, as had been claimed by some writers, but the son of a Mohawk chieftain whom Sir William Johnston liked so much that he paid for his education for a number of years in school.

Chief Brandt had not only been a good man but a member of the Masonic Order and had at one time rescued a brother Mason (a white man) whom he had discovered tied to a stake with the tormenting fires all ready to be lighted that would have eventually consumed him. Chief Brandt had paid his captors to release him, and some

Need for Donors Is Still Urgent

Blood Clinic Next Thursday

There is danger in over-confidence, in slackening of effort or a failing response to our home-front obligations. Least of all should the recent Allied triumphs dull our sense of responsibility in the matter of blood donations. The lengthy casualty lists affirm these victories are not without their human toll — and blood plasma, provided by the Red Cross for transfusions at the battle-front, in field dressing stations and hospitals overseas, is still urgently and pressingly needed.

This is the last advertised appeal for volunteers for Lachute's sixth blood donor clinic — to be held next Thursday, September 21, at the clinic quarters in the Auditorium.

The message is directed to all able-bodied citizens in Lachute, the villages and rural areas of Argenteuil. If you have not already handed in your name, please communicate immediately with one of the following committee workers:

In Lachute — Mrs. H. Rigg (phone 337-W).

In Brownsburg — Mrs. N. Somers (phone 652) or Mr. Frank Hazel.

Authority on Indian And French Lore Heard at Carillon

Years of research in the lore of the Indian and French Canadian people afforded material for a lecture and folk-song recital by Miss Juliette Gaultier de la Verendrye at Carillon Museum last week-end — given in English Saturday afternoon and in French on Sunday.

Miss Gaultier proved herself a fluent speaker and a sympathetic singer in both languages. Garbed in Indian and French peasant costumes she sang many songs to her own accompaniment with drum and autoharp, and told many interesting legends. She also displayed native handiwork — crafts which she has energetically encouraged during her travels among the two races.

The Indian narratives dealt principally with the Algonquins, peace-loving predecessors of the French habitation in these parts, who were later largely displaced by the Iroquois from the south. Around the Oka settlement the speaker had unearthed much valuable data. Her songs swayed with the rhythm of various moods — they were songs as heard at Oka 116 years ago — and numerous specimens of art in birch bark depicted legends of the Two Mountains.

Speaking of the French Canadian tongue and customs, Miss Gaultier said that in the Seigniory of the Little Nation, around and north of Montebello, one might find the essence of Poitu France more authentic today than exists in Brittany, the province of its origin. She spoke with authority on this matter, having made comparisons — for she has delved exhaustively into the folklore of Quebec and Acadia, also of Old France. Her recital of French peasant songs was both touching and stirring; it echoed themes from lullabyes and nursery legends to the rousing shanty songs of the old Ottawa River. Textile weaves and rugs which she exhibited varied from the finery of old Brittany to original habitant designs by the people of Quebec. The Canadian examples showed a remarkable warmth and color harmony, achieved with the use of home-made vegetable dyes.

Miss Gaultier de la Verendrye was introduced to the audience by Dr. H. B. Cushing, president of the Argenteuil Historical Society.

Casualties Include Two More Lachute Soldiers Killed

CPL. GERALD RIDDELL

A wide acquaintance among Lachute citizens and young friends, heard with regret last week of the death of Cpl. Gerald Riddell, news of which was wired to his mother Saturday morning. The young soldier, 22 years of age, was killed in France August 24, while serving with the 17th Duke of York's Hussars, Reconnaissance.

Gerald Everett Riddell attended Lachute High School. He was a member of the United Church, and prior to his enlistment was employed by the McOuat Dairy here. Enlisting in September, 1942, he trained at St. Johns, Que., and Dundurn, Sask. He went overseas in April of last year, and it was during service in the invasion area of France that he was promoted to Corporal.

Eldest son of Mrs. Horace Riddell and the late Mr. Riddell, East Ward, he is mourned by his mother and six brothers — P/O Clayton Riddell, R.C.A.F., in England, Owen, Bazil, Grant, Wayne and one-year-old Peter, all at home.

(Word received by relatives from Pte. Kenneth Chapman, a cousin serving in the same unit, stated that Gerald was killed outright in action with his regiment.)

• • •

CPL. GAETAN BELAIR

(Listed killed last month, but information not received for The Watchman's previous casualty reports).

Gaetan Belair, a Corporal in the Chaudiere Regiment, was killed in action recently at Solaire, France, where he and members of his unit were engaged in clearing enemy snipers from the town. Official news of his death was communicated to his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Zoel Belair.

Before enlisting in the active army Belair was employed at the Ayers woollen mills. He joined the forces in July, 1943, underwent training at Sherbrooke, and went overseas in November last. He was 22 years of age when he met his death.

Surviving are his parents, two brothers, Rolland and Wilfrid, in Lachute, and a sister, Mme. H. Prud'homme (Jeanne), St. Jerome.

Throughout the community, sincere sympathy is felt for the bereaved relatives.

Timely Survey of the Brownsburg Scene
Schools . . Roads . . Wartime Residences

(Specially contributed to The Watchman)

Brownsburg —

School opening exercises were held at the Consolidated School on Thursday night, and a large number of parents and interested persons attended. In this time of dearth of teachers, the school board were very fortunate in obtaining a full quota. Mr. Denis Staniforth, the popular principal, has been retained for the coming year, and expressed himself as quite pleased with the staff which has been assembled to assist him. Compulsory school attendance has increased the roll of pupils, but accommodation is adequate. Free text books was the subject of a discussion at the opening, and it was revealed that almost a thousand books had been turned in to relieve the shortage which war conditions have imposed on the manufacture of new books. These books are of no use to advancing pupils, and are appreciated by the school board in the present contingency.

Pupils of the Catholic School are still without suitable accommodation for classes, and are been housed in several structures awaiting the completion of the convent building. This edifice is well on its way, and contractors are busy within existing limitations in rushing it to completion. The building is of the most modern, fire-proof construction and from present indications bids fair to be the finest building of its kind in the district.

After the hectic influx of the early war days we are now getting back to normalcy, and one can experience a feeling of relief that we can again pursue the even tenor of our way. When there is a job to do, we like to dig right in and do it, and then sit back and contemplate with satisfaction the result of our endeavors. This is a truism which is pretty generally applicable. . . . In the present instance we know the job is not completed but it is in a fair way towards the fruition we do so earnestly desire. . . .

Arrangements are under way to revive the machinery of solicitation for bonds in the coming October War Loan. We can't slacken our effort now that victory is within our grasp. This time Canada requires us to make a greater effort than in any of the preceding loans, and we should respond by girding our loins to a greater personal effort than in any of the previous loans. This may be the last, so let's make it our best!

The streets of Brownsburg are at present in a bad way. In fact, "bad way" is a very mild term to describe them. It is not in Brownsburg alone that we have observed, when a good road surface has been laid some afterthought demands that the sewerage line requires attention, and up comes the road to repair the tile; and after a considerable time the road is again repaired, but never merged into the old work to present a decent surface anything like the first. In some cases this procedure has been repeated so that it is difficult to distinguish the old from the new with the potholes and ditches which remain.

The streets were torn up a short time after their completion to install the water system. Well, this was a very necessary work and although the system has its defects and inconveniences (and what public work hasn't!) it is nonetheless of immense benefit to the people of this village. The repairs done after the water lines were laid seemed satisfactory, but further excavations for repairs to leaking hydrants, and belated householders demanding water connection rendered the road surface a patch-quilt work of hills and hollows.

Nothing has been done during the past five years to recondition the whole street system into a unified whole. True, we have acted with admirable restraint. Our road system leading to and in Brownsburg serves a very important war industry, and we were quite cognizant of the difficulties

Govm't Grant Enables Commission to Launch New Study; Brownsburg and St. Andrews Schools May Be Included

Opening Exercises Held at Auditorium

Lachute High School held its official opening and prize distribution in the Auditorium on Friday evening. The building was well filled by interested parents and friends, and the students themselves.

The meeting was directed by the new school commission chairman, Mr. E. K. Wilson, and among those on the platform were Commissioners J. W. Gall, W. M. Cottingham, S. S. Campbell and Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, also J. W. McGibbon, M.P., W. M. Scott, Dr. G. A. Clunie, the Rev. C. R. Lang, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, the Rev. A. E. Orsborn, Geo. Y. Deacon, Mrs. George Leggett and Mrs. Wm. McFarlane.

During his remarks Mr. Wilson extended a welcome to the new members of the school commission, and expressed the hope they would enjoy working with the other members. A cordial greeting was also given the new school teachers and to those attending the meeting.

Mr. Wilson touched briefly upon the financial difficulties the school board is experiencing, through loss of revenue due to Protestant properties passing into other hands. He said that a special meeting of taxpayers and parents would be called in the near future in order that problems may be discussed.

The chairman also mentioned the new policy of the Provincial Government in providing free text books for Grades I to IX, and he asked parents and pupils for their co-operation in preserving the condition of the books.

That Lachute High School had been chosen by the Provincial Government for the inauguration of an agriculture course, was mentioned by the chairman, and he said that Brownsburg and St. Andrews East schools had been invited to participate in this course.

The principal of the school, Mr. C. Howard Bradford, B.A., then gave his report, showing that the enrolment of pupils this year had reached 410; there were 28 scholars in Grade XI and 36 in Grade X, he stated.

Mr. Bradford asked for the co-operation of the parents during the year, and suggested that if any problems arose between teachers and parents, the best course would be to arrange a meeting and discuss them in a friendly manner.

Sixteen teachers are engaged for this term, the five new members of the staff being Mr. Earl Morrison, M.Sc., for sciences and Grade X, Mr. W. W. McCutcheon, B.A., B.Sc., for the agriculture course, Miss Mary Scott, B.A., Grade IX, Miss M. E. Ness, Grade V, and Miss Dorothea Graham for Grade III.

Other members of the teaching staff this year are C. Howard Bradford, principal, Mrs. R. Fraser, B.A., Mr. Ross Beattie (French specialist), Miss Audrey Robertson, B.Sc. (H.Sc.), Miss Maude Cottingham, Miss Vivian Rick, Mrs. Norma Rogers, Miss Doris Leroy, Mrs. R. Graham, Miss Gertrude McMahon and Miss Norma McClenaghan.

Prizes Awarded

The prizes were then given to the successful pupils. Miss Lorna Macdonald led the graduation class, followed by Miss Elizabeth Albright and Miss Freda McVicar.

Miss Glenys Bradford, Grade X, was successful in winning the Bellingham Scholarship, and was also awarded the Geo. Y. Deacon prize for the pupil having the highest marks in Grades IX, X and XI.

The Geo. H. Héon prize of $25 was won by Miss Maureen Cumbers, for showing qualities in leadership.

The Women's Institute attendance prizes were distributed by Mrs. Geo. Leggett, president of the Lachute branch, and Mrs. William McFarlane, president of Upper Lachute.

(A complete list of these awards is published on page two.)

Unveiling of Honor Roll

The closing feature of the evening was the unveiling of the Lachute High School honor roll by Mr. Geo. Y. Deacon, ex-chairman of the school commission and member of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education. In a brief address Mr. Deacon said he was honored in having the privilege of unveiling the roll, and stated the School might well be proud of its former pupils serving in the armed forces.

The honor roll lists the names of 240 pupils who have answered their country's call; of these 18 have paid the supreme sacrifice.

The principal would be pleased to know of any past student now serving in the forces whose name is not included on the roll, as every effort is being made to keep the record up to date.

Weir Residents Pay Tribute in Memorial Service

Late Pte. Borden Bennett

Weir, Que — On Sunday afternoon, September 10, the Church of the Redeemer, Weir, was filled with friends and relatives gathered together at a memorial service for Pte. Robert Leslie Borden Bennett, who was killed in action while reinforcing the Black Watch in France on July 25.

The Rev. Frank R. Hughes, who conducted the service, took as his text the beautiful words from Rev. VIII: "These are they which come out of great tribulation, and they washed their robes and made them white with the blood of the lamb; And God shall wipe away every tear from their eyes." Mr. Hughes spoke very feelingly on these words, bringing comfort and inspiration to the bereaved family — all of whom were able to be present at this service.

Four impressive hymns were sung during the service, "Alleluia, the strife is o'er, the battle won," "When our heads are bowed with woe," "On the resurrection morning" and "O valiant hearts, who to your glory came." Mrs. Ralph Hurtubise presided at the organ.

Borden was in his 26th year, the only and dearly beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bennett of this village. He is also survived by four sisters: Mary (Mrs. Rollins Sims), Jessie, Lorna and Mildred.

What appears a strange coincidence is the fact that the former minister here, Capt. E C. Royle, who left about 18 months ago to enter the services and went overseas at approximately the same time as Borden Bennett, was the one who picked the young man up from the battlefield; he took him to a beautiful little military cemetery and held a regular burial service for him, with about 20 other soldiers in attendance. These facts come as a great source of comfort to the bereaved family at this time.

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." — This quotation was at the conclusion of Capt. Royle's letter to the bereaved parents.

X-RAYS PHOTOGRAPH PROPULSION POWDER

Perfection Demanded, to Prevent Premature Explosions

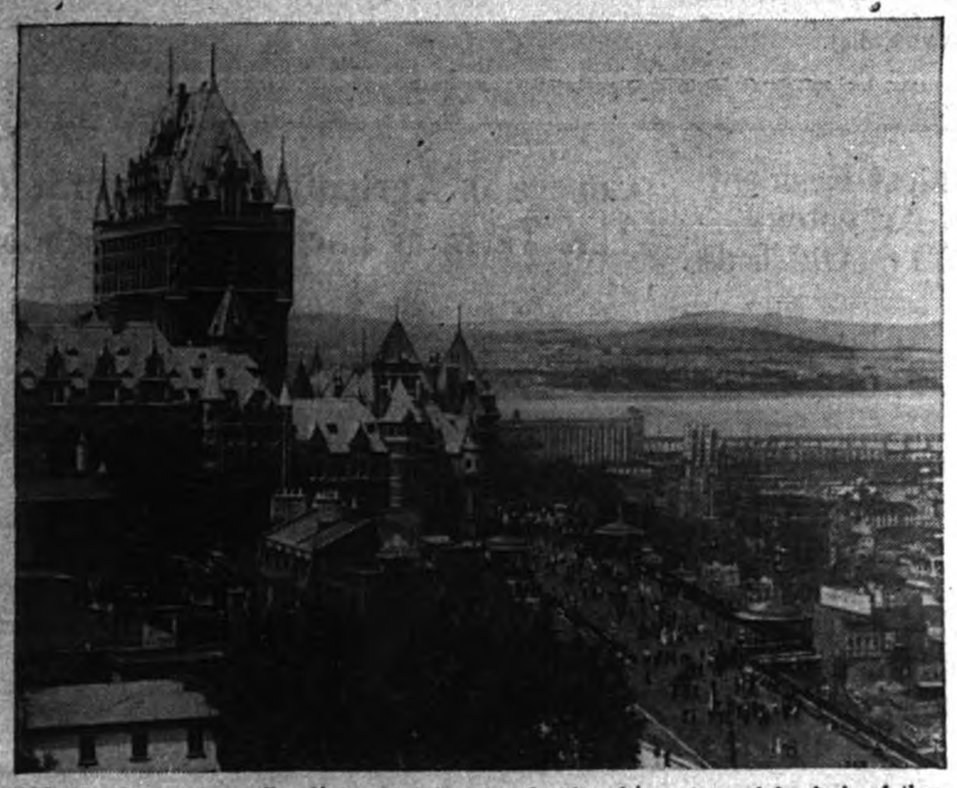

New York (CP) — Women, working in shifts around the clock, are X-raying, separately, each single grain of rocket powder made at the Sunflower Ordnance Works, near Lawrence, Kas., operated by the Hercules Powder Co.

For rocket propulsion, it is declared in a report approved by the United States War Department, every grain has to be perfect. Otherwise there would be uneven burning of the powder, and risk of premature explosions.

Taking a picture of each grain is something unique. The size of the grains, however, is kept as a military secret.

The women take each grain and place an identifying mark on it. Then the grain is placed on a photographic film, and the film is shoved into a lead box, in which X-rays shine through the film and powder grain.

Chateau Frontenac Again World War Center

Within the massive walls of the Chateau Frontenac and nearby Quebec Citadel, plans were laid over a year ago for the events which this year resulted in the invasion of Europe and its subsequent sweeping Victory of France. Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Franklin D. Roosevelt, along with their chiefs of staff both military and political, conferred with such success in Canada's oldest city that now they are meeting again, just a little over a year later. Today's plans have to do with final crushing of Nazi Europe, and the stepping-up of the next great task, elimination of the Japanese Empire as a world force.

During these days, the eyes of the world, United Nations, our enemies, and hundreds of thousands of peoples in still-bondaged Occupied lands, are focussed on Canada and the figures which are shaping the world's destiny. It is a tribute to Canada and its people that this country has been chosen for a second conference, and the civilized world will await with patience and confidence the benefits that must surely accrue.

CURRENT FARM TOPICS

Championship Contests For Junior Farm Clubs

Despite the drain of young people from the farm due to war's exigencies, interest in junior farm club work is being maintained. The annual national championships event for 1944 will be held at Toronto during the week beginning November 19 with contests for dairy and beef cattle, swine, poultry, seed grain and potato projects followed by educational tours ending in Ottawa, Friday, November 24.

Eggs for Market Need Stronger Shells

A call has gone to Canadian agricultural scientists to help the poultry industry in obtaining greater strength in the shells of eggs. There are two special reasons for this: the loss to the industry generally through breakage of shells in transport and handling during the past year has been excessive, and Canadian eggs for export in the shell require strong shells.

Poultry authorities point out that the loss is not alone in the actual breakage but in the smearing of the unbroken eggs. Shortage of help, inexperienced help, and more volume of business than can be properly serviced are all contributory causes. To prevent the breakage, there are two methods of approach — greater care in handling, and a tighter-textured, stronger shell. The latter may be solved by research work.

FACT FINDING STATIONS

The 161 Illustration Stations throughout Canada and the 45 District Sub-Experimental Stations in the Prairie Provinces are essentially experimental units, in that they are fact finding and are the proving grounds for research work done in laboratories and on some of the Experimental Farms, when taken to different soil and climatic conditions in the various Provinces.

PREMIER WINS HONORS

Charlottetown (CP) — In the livestock show at Old Home Week here, Premier J. W. Jones' Bunbury herd walked off with top honors in the Holstein cattle class. Guy Rood, Brackley, had the champion Guernseys.

Chanteclerc Festival Held at Nearby Oka

Twenty-five years ago, the Chanteclerc hen came into being at the Oka Agricultural Institute. The anniversary was celebrated by a gathering of 500 people who came to congratulate the Reverend Brother Wilfrid, o.c.r.

A diagram of the history of the Chanteclerc hen, was exhibited in the entrance hall of the Institute. A study session was held, followed by a banquet. In the absence of Dr. Sylvio Lafortune, the meeting was presided over by Mr. Raoul Dumaine, Provincial Poultry Instructor for the Department of Agriculture.

The Chanteclerc was traced back to its origin, which was the result of cross-breedings attempted from 1908 to 1918, between dark Cornish poultry, Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds and Wyandotte Whites.

In Mexico, there exists the honorary Order of the Eagle and the Condor, and Mgr. Maureault wondered if the University of Montreal could not be induced to create such an Order here entitled the "Order of the Chanteclerc", in memory of this all-Canadian creation.

Will Need Horses For Europe's Farms

Canadian breeding stock may play a large part in re-building the livestock herds of Europe when the war is over. Particularly in the restoration of farm power, the horse will be required, and some idea of the coming demand for horses may be gained from the estimates of the declining numbers of horses in the various countries since the war began. It is estimated that the numbers of horses in Britain, Holland and Belgium have been reduced by half, in Russia by one-third, and that only one-third of the original number of horses has been left in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, and Greece. Germany, by plundering the other nations, is believed to have as many horses, if not more, than when the war began. However, say the authorities, the task of supplying farm power to help in the restoration of agriculture in the devastated countries is going to be a tremendous one

POLICE RECOVER STOLEN AUTO

Montreal, Sept. 8 — Roger Corbeil, 19, of Montreal, was arrested after detectives of the Montreal auto squad had fired two revolver shots in a speedy chase which lasted for several blocks. The car in which the man was riding was identified as the property of Dr. P. E. Labelle of Papineauville. The arrest was made near the corner of St. Antoine Street and Greene Avenue Thursday afternoon.

The suspect was turned over to provincial detectives, and Det.-Capt. Quenneville said he faced two other auto theft counts and two charges of breaking open gasoline tanks at Papineauville.

Only One Used Car Allowed Each Year

Under the new used car order of the Prices Board, only one used car may be bought in any calendar year by an individual. But any person having five or more cars registered in his name during 1943 is allowed to buy one used car in a calendar year for each five owned by him during 1943.

Who's Winning It ?

A CONTEMPORARY tells the incident of a Buffalonion summering along the north shore of Lake Erie, who was unable to receive his daily paper from across the border. A neighbor from Toronto offered to lend him his Globe and Mail, whereupon the American replied: "No, thank you. I don't want to read how the Canadians are winning the war."

It works both ways. . . . A New Brunswick acquaintance recently received, from a Canadian-born friend residing in the States, a request for a copy of the Saint John Telegraph. She just wanted "to see if the Canadians were still in the war."

We all remember the die-hard legend of how America won the last Great War. The claim provoked indignation among many good Britishers. However, our guess is that this time no one cares who is going to get the credit. We will even be prepared to tour our neighbor's territory and listen good naturedly to that foregone conclusion. What matters is that WE, the Allied Nations, are winning in a big way — and one and all are doing a good job of it.

A Family Responsibility

CANADIAN family living has undergone so many changes in the past quarter century that a stranger from another world, comparing domestic life of 25 years ago with that of today, would marvel at the revolution that has taken place.

The patriarchal family of a few years ago has all but disappeared. The family has yielded many of its former functions to the state, the church, the school and other institutions. There are those who believe the family should give up much of the influence it still has over the lives of the young.

All this has been deeply disturbing to parents who have seen the old-established patterns disappear. Under a crossfire of criticisms of family inefficiencies, parents are asking themselves what they can and should do to assure their offspring of a full and rich life.

The primary responsibility for the protection of children against physical and spiritual ills still rests with the family. The obligation of parents to instill sound attitudes in young children is being stressed as part of the campaign against physical diseases which are preventable is now being emphasized by the Health League of Canada, during National Immunization Week (September 10 to 16).

The family may have lost much of its authority, but it has lost nothing which can prevent it from having very young children immunized against such deadly diseases as whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever, and smallpox. Mothers and fathers have an obligation to see that children are protected against these diseases from the sixth month on. Failure to meet that responsibility will strengthen the stand of those who consider that parents should have little or no say about the lives of even very young children.

Avoid Milk Waste

AS A RESULT of the hot summer experienced in Eastern Canada, which caused a falling off in milk production and an increase in fluid milk consumption, Dr. G. S. H. Barton, Chairman, Agricultural Food Board, foresees difficulty in meeting Canada's agreement to supply 125,000,000 pounds of cheese to Britain by March 31, 1945. While the Food Board, he says, does not intend to ask the general public to use milk below essential nutritional requirements, the Board does, however, strongly appeal to everyone to avoid any possible waste or over-purchase of milk. If this is done, he says, it will give greater assurance of increasing cheese production and of maintaining the cheese ration for the British people and the Canadian fighting forces.

IT IS NOT often that a newspaper devotes an editorial to its correspondents, or those writers who send in the local news of their districts from week to week. We believe our correspondents deserve to be congratulated upon the efforts they put forth each week and the co-operation they give their newspaper from week to week, year in and year out.

Tribute to an Editor

IN A RECENT editorial the Belleville Ontario-Intelligencer stated that the Fourth Estate could ill afford to lose the services of men like Harry Moore, editor and publisher of the Trenton Courier-Advocate, whose paper passes to new management October 1.

"He was a man's man, and as such was popular not only with those of the profession, but with all with whom his vocation brought him in contact," said the editorial.

"His was a rare homespun philosophy born of an intimate knowledge of human nature. For Harry knew people. He made that his business. He lived close to nature and his keen mind was always alert for the simple things that go to make the life of the ordinary human being. A keen creative ability, and the rare faculty of being able to put in words the ever changing pictures of life as he saw them, earned for him a high place in the ranks of weekly editors.

"A fine sense of humor and an engaging personality are some of the Moore personal characteristics. He has a great love of sport — and respect for sportsmanship. . . .

"Harry Moore will be missed in the newspaper profession. The weeklies will miss him. And even the dailies will realize that, with his editorial passing, there has been created a vacancy that will be hard to fill."

Northern Potentialities

NO MATTER what shortages develop, Canada always will be assured of one surplus — territory. In her northern reaches lie millions of square miles of unexploited land, alternately condemned as barren or acclaimed as a waiting treasure chest.

In the last 20 years much has been done to develop northern resources. Thanks to the airplane, trappers, surveyors and prospectors have reached hitherto inaccessible areas, villages have sprung up where no human habitation existed, and the earth has given up its riches to newly-developed mines.

The war has sped this progress, with world air routes laid across the wilderness and highways constructed over "impossible" terrain. There have been other projects, notably the Canol pipeline through the Northwest Territories and the Yukon, one of the greatest engineering achievements in history.

Some of these developments would not be economically feasible in peacetime; the urgencies of war made them necessary regardless of expense. Furthermore, potential settlers are inclined to seek farmlands in the more productive — and comfortable — southern zones.

But one country has recognized the importance of developing its sub-arctic regions. That is Soviet Russia, which in the past decade has established whole cities on or near the Arctic Circle and pioneered in the art of northern living.

Proof of the tremendous advances made by the Russians in this respect has been given by the wartime developments in Canada's own northland. Canadian and American engineers, confronted by the difficulties of building roads and airports on frozen muskeg and a score of kindred problems, received invaluable aid from Russian colleagues who had encountered and overcome similar situations.

Canada, with so much of her territory in the north, could well continue a peacetime co-operation along these lines with Soviet Russia.

IT WILL BE interesting to learn in the post-war period what effect new regulations now coming into effect will have on business. By that we mean whether there will be a continued trend toward bigger business getting bigger or more small establishments owner-operated.

SOME RECENT political events in Canada recall an entry that Mark Twain wrote in his notebook in 1898:

"It is by the goodness of God that in our country we have those three unspeakably precious things: freedom of speech, freedom of conscience, and the prudence never to exercise either of them."

The honey season presents a variety of unexpected problems to Canada's rural housewives. The Consumer Branch in Ottawa has had enquiries, for instance: "Do I need to collect preserves coupons at the rate of one for every two pounds when I supply my doctor with honey in lieu of money for his bill?" "Does my feed dealer need to surrender coupons when I send him honey instead of money to settle my account?" The answer is that coupons must be collected from the doctor to cover the amount of honey he takes and the same holds true for the feed dealer. These may be turned in to the Local Ration Board at the end of the month. However, farmers' wives don't surrender coupons for honey consumed in their own homes.

The end of August marked the deadline for release for domestic use of electric refrigerators. A limited number were released last year from stocks built up before manufacture was stopped and since April 1 of 1944, releases have been about 100 a month. At present there are only 225 new domestic-type left in stock in this country, these to be held for hospitals. That is the equivalent of one day's production in normal times.

Books by the thousand have been packed and shipped by Canadian Army personnel in Toronto for Canadian prisoners of war in Germany. The German government, of course, stipulates what they can or cannot read. Many prisoners request books providing "food for thought." Many are meeting Shakespeare and Dickens for the first time. Favorites are the stories of Sabatini, Galsworthy, Buchan, Dumas. Prisoners watch eagerly for Canadian writers and works.

The June report of the Wartime Bureau of Technical Personnel shows there is a continued shortage of technical persons in certain specialized lines. This situation has existed for the past three years. An example of the problems facing the Bureau was the sudden need for scientists and technical workers to produce a large supply of the wonder drug, penicillin. Before these needs were fully met, shell production was unexpectedly stepped up again, resulting in a further search for persons with scientific training. An important factor affecting supply of technical persons is the limited extent to which women are qualified in the required technical knowledge. Among the 350 women who graduate each year and become qualified as technical persons, about one half are in the field of household economics and most of the remainder in rather generalized courses in science. The activities of this Bureau have played an important part in making Canada's high industrial production possible, but it has been a mighty difficult task.

Indications from Ottawa are that the different allied governments will take all the surplus poultry of the higher grades that Canada can offer. The export price is the ceiling price in Canada at point of shipment. Current shipments are going forward in the form of fresh frozen poultry to avoid long holding and conserve storage space. Arrangements are also being made for some of the surplus poultry to be exported as canned poultry. This is all welcome news to farmers and specialized poultry growers, who hope for a continuous and stable industry.

20 YEARS AGO

Friday, September 12, 1924

Our county member, the Hon. Chas. M. Stewart, is to be in Lachute Tuesday to meet his constituents.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Paul and daughter, Stella, who spent the summer at Lake Louisa, have returned home to Saranac Lake.

Mr. J. T. Ayers, president, and Mr. Jas. W. Gall, secretary, report plans are complete to assure the success of Lachute Fair.

During a severe electric storm, the outbuildings, machinery and 75 tons of hay on the model farm of Wm. Nichols, Staynerville, were destroyed by fire.

Dr. Edward Christie and Mr. K. Christie enjoyed a holiday trip to the Saguenay.

Miss Maude Dobbie returned Saturday from a trip to Europe with the "Overseas Educational League."

St. Andrews—The Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Ireland, of Montreal, visited their cottage here.

Cushing — Miss Ruth Dobbie is in charge of Cushing school, while Miss Doris LeRoy is teaching at Stonefield and Miss Lois Keatley at Pointe Fortune.

40 YEARS AGO

Friday, September 9, 1904

Mr. Jos. Paquette, of Lodi, Ohio, eldest brother of Mr. Omer Paquette, was in town for a short visit.

About 30 of our young men left on the western excursion.

Miss McNaughton, of Huntingdon, has taken up her duties as teacher at Lachute Academy.

While driving home from morning service at Grenville Baptist Church, Mrs. James Heatlie of Mabel complained to her husband of feeling ill. She was assisted to the ground, where she immediately expired.

At Inkerman, Ont., Delbert Dawson McOuat, second son of James H. McOuat, was instantly killed by a falling plank.

Cushing — Mr. A. Derrick, of Montreal, is visiting at his home in Stonefield.

MORE THAN 2,000 BLOOD DONATIONS

Montreal — Five hundred and nine employees of the Canadian National Railways stores department and motive and car shops at Point St. Charles, Montreal, have given 2,172 blood donations to the Canadian Red Cross in the past 30 months. Two men have given 14 donations each since February, 1942. Nine others have given 13 each. Twenty-one have each given an even dozen, and 33 have given 11.

A Correction From Overseas

The Watchman appreciates the interest of an overseas reader in the R.C.A.F. who has taken the trouble to correct a mis-statement in these pages. A full-page illustration in "Flight", an English aeronautics journal, shows a Fairey "Barracuda" plane, and on this page our correspondent has written as follows:

"Your issue of July 13 said the above aircraft was a Sea-Fire. Correction, please! . . . This isn't meant as criticism, but a help to keep a straight paper straighter. Keep the presses rolling and we'll try and 'keep 'em flying'."

(Signed) L. Watson,
(Can.) R-56337,
R.C.A.F. Overseas.

Ed. Note — In the identification of aircraft the writer should be better informed than we; the advice is therefore handed on to our readers. The Watchman's information was received from an official news source which supplied the picture, describing the Sea-Fire as a Fleet Air Arm version of the R.A.F. Spitfire.

"We Can Take It"

A wise old philospher once wrote: "I complained that I had no shoes — until I saw a man who had no feet."

Aren't some of us inclined to do just that? We have had everything so easy for so long that it seems a terrific hardship that the war compels us to use less of some of the things we have been wasting. We count it cruel that we may buy only so much sugar, or gas, or other supplies at a time; that we must limit the use of the car; that only so many new cars may be sold, and they only where greatly needed; that travel by train may be restricted; that the things we want are less plentiful than once they were.

We have only to look at other countries to realize how fortunate we have been — France, crushed under the Axis heel, forced to send her food to Germany, and to send French workers into German munition factories in exchange for prisoners of war; Poland, the land of blood and tears and mourning, where thousands starve and freeze; Czechoslovakia, where whole villages have been exterminated, the men shot, the women carried off captive, the children placed in Axis "schools" to be made into Axis soldiers; Coventry and other British towns beaten into the dust by bombers who machined-gunned citizens in the streets, where thousands of little waifs are cared for in country homes, and every article of food is carefully apportioned; at any one of the countries ravished by the German and the Jap.

Look at "the man who has no feet," and be ashamed that we cannot take, without whimpering, the little disruption our lives have suffered.

—The Lion

In an emergency we help our neighbors. But why wait for an emergency?

En passant...

Rubber shortage and lack of replacements is driving cars off the road, forcing them out of circulation. So they say. . . . But what are the figures? Taking Argenteuil as a typical section (the district has no more war industries, no greater transportation needs, no greater or lesser prosperity than others), here are some comparisons: Number of automobiles licensed in —

	1941-2	1943-4
Lachute	1059	1030
St. Andrews	143	140
Weir	19	23
Arundel	42	48
County Total	2532	2754

—Which does not confirm the belief that cars are on the way out for duration.

Kilmar's "Roaring Dinky Trail"

—F. O. GAULEY in the "CRL News", July, 1944
(Bulletin of Canadian Refractories Limited, Kilmar)

We read glowing tales of the romance of the old west; the stage coach, the Pony Express, and the Railroads eventually going through. . . . Such excitement prevailed in this district (though I will admit, on a smaller scale) back in the years 1915-16-17. That, of course, was before the D.B. Plant was erected and when the magnesite was shipped in its raw state. It was hauled by horse and wagon, over the Scotch Road, and loaded into cars for shipment at Grenville.

World War No. 1 created such a demand for the stuff that it was impossible to fill orders by this method of transportation, so the Scottish Canadian Magnesite Company (now Canadian Refractories Limited) decided to build a railroad. Imagine the excitement this news caused, in this quiet farming community.

Survey work commenced in the summer of 1915 by the Bambrick Bros. of Montreal. Rumor has it that these gentlemen found their job fairly well laid out in advance by a series of cattle trails and logging roads, which they apparently followed! In the spring of 1916, work started on the right-of-way and as the road bed was made by one gang, another crew followed up with the steel. A complete narrow gauge railroad was purchased, lock, stock and barrel, from a logging firm in the Fort William district. This included four steam locomotives, a string of flat cars, rails, and even spikes. The locos were little two wheelers weighing about 15 tons with saddle type water tanks on top of the boilers. Each engine hauled two flat cars of rock, and as the road was improved, they sometimes handled three. Each car carried 10 to 12 tons. The cars were equipped with air braking apparatus but the road was so rough and full of kinks that it was impossible to use the air since the hose couplings kept pulling apart. So the trainmen used the hand brakes on all the grades. This little road became so busy that at one time there were four locomotives operating day and night, employing a total of 32 trainmen. A special dining camp and bunkhouse was erected at the siding (now Marelan) to accommodate them.

Four passing tracks were laid between the mine and the C.P.R. with a phone booth at each, where the conductor of each train contacted a dispatcher at the siding who arranged the train "crossings." Once, due to a slip up on the part of the dispatcher, two trains met about half-way between two passing tracks. The driver of each loco dismounted from his cab, and after a heated verbal exchange, were about to engage in a fistic duel, the loser of which would have to back up his train. Other crew members, of less turbulent nature, managed to calm the belligerents, and a crossing was made without resort to assault and battery.

At first there were no fences along the right-of-way, and trains were held up many times, while the crew drove cattle off the tracks. Once a stranger going in to the mine by train asked the brakeman why the train had stopped for no apparent reason. The brakeman replied, "To drive some cows off the track." Half an hour later the train stopped again, and the stranger asked, "What now, more cows?" and the brakeman said, "Nope, same ones."

Seeing a real steam locomotive coming up through these hills, was quite a novelty to some of the folk at first. It was rather amusing to watch the little "Dinky" puffing up the grades, but with the advent of the dry season, it was discovered that these little "snorters" coughed up hot cinders which started many grass and bush fires, ever, heavy wire "bonnets" were and caused the erstwhile friendly natives to become hostile. Howsoon fitted on the smoke stacks, and everybody was happy.

People who have been over this railway will know that the first five miles from Marelan is all upgrade. One day a flat car at the rear of a train, on its way to the Mine, became uncoupled on Kelly's grade in Rawcliffe. No one noticed the incident, so the car started rolling merrily down the grade. Strange as it may seem it stayed on the rails until it arrived at the siding (Marelan), where it crashed through the loading shed, and came to a halt half way through the building. After this incident a brakeman rode at the rear end of the train.

When the D.B. Plant started producing clinker, sides and ends, three feet high, of two inch planking were built on the flat cars to haul the clinker; these were operated continuously until 1931, when it was replaced by a standard gauge road, with gas locomotives.

Quite a number of the old railroad hands are still with us, in different parts of the plant. The only ones still railroading include Dean Moncrieff, mainline engineer; Walter McMeekin, Henry Trineer, engineers; and Donat Louis-Seize, conductor-brakeman on the mine and yard train. Others still with us who are not railroading, are Nat Gowling, Joe Carriere, Fred Carriere, Herby Kirby, Douglas Loughren, Aldege Dumoulin, and yours truly. All of us still have our memories, pleasant and otherwise, of the old "Dinky Trail."

The Women's Institute meeting was held at Lake Anne last Thursday, Mrs. J. E. Seale being the hostess at her lake cottage. An enjoyable day was spent by a large number of the members. It was decided to hold a military whist on Wednesday evening, September 20.

Confirmation Rites

A large class of candidates was confirmed at the Sunday morning service in Trinity Church. The Bishop of Montreal, the Rt. Rev. John Dixon, administered the rites, and the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, incumbent, was in charge. Confirmation services were also held at Shrewsbury and Louisa — a total of 30 persons being confirmed in the three churches.

The home front is a false front unless men are true to each other and Canada's ideals.

Tribute to Soldier, Member of Well Known Family

Many sympathizing friends gathered Sunday afternoon at Lachute Baptist Church, where a simple service of tribute was held in memory of Pte. Lloyd Cruise, who paid the supreme sacrifice in the Black Watch encounter at May-sur-Orne, France, around the 25th of July.

The Rev. H. Charlton spoke impressively of his service in the cause of freedom. During his discourse the minister read a letter of sympathy received by relatives from the soldier's superior officer, Major Larsen. Although Pte. Cruise had been with the unit only a short time, the letter stated, he had won many friends; and through personal contacts with him, the officer attested to his quality of character. Another letter received from his Chaplain gave particulars of his burial, at which he had officiated in a temporary Canadian military cemetery, situated in an orchard near the scene of the action.

Pte. Lloyd Cruise, of the 1st Battn. Black Watch, was 33 years of age, the son of Mrs. John Cruise and the late Mr. Cruise. He is mourned by his wife, the former Grace Lavis, of Lachute, his mother, three sisters and five brothers. Many fellow townsmen who associated with him in the round of business and sports, will retain a cordial memory of his friendship.

Property Changes In St. Andrews E.

The following transfers of property and changes of residence in St. Andrews East will be of special interest to former residents and those who are now less intimately acquainted with the village. Our correspondent has enumerated many changes which have occurred in the community during the past year. . . .

St. Andrews East —

Alfred Carriere, formerly of St. Benoit, Que., has been occupying his comfortable residence on the Main Road for some months. Mr. Carriere was delayed in building the house for a long time because of lack of material.

The Sisters of Providence purchased the house and property formerly the summer home of Mr. Walter Watson, Montreal. This property adjoins that of the convent.

Miss M. L. Lamb bought the cottage on the North River (west bank) from the owner and former occupant, William Ball. After some alterations, it was leased to Clyde Hopper.

Gordon English, of Montreal, has bought the dwelling owned by Frederic J. Guilbault and formerly leased by the Whiteside family, for a summer home. He also purchased the adjoining vacant lot from Z. Guilbault.

Herbert Woods sold his residence on Main Road to Mr. Shepherd, of Carillon, who is now occupying this property.

Mr. Woods also bought and is occupying the pretty cottage on Main Road formerly used as a summer home by F. Powell, of Westmount.

Thos. Fournier, local hotelkeeper, purchased from the estate of the late Mrs. C. W. Lamb her former home in the village, for the sum of $2,500.

Donat Hebert, shoemaker of this village, purchased the former home of C. S. Wales for $2,500. Mr. Wales has moved to the old homestead adjoining the store, formerly occupied by Miss Harriet Wales.

Charles Shaffer, of Montreal, who owns a number of summer cottages on the Ottawa River near the convent, has purchased the vacant land next to the Roman Catholic cemetery on Main Road. This land was bought from George Wightman.

Chester Duffin, of Montreal, owner of the residence on Main Road formerly the home of Charles Pease, occupied it during the summer months.

HONOR DUE SERVICE

A boy comes back from the services in Italy or Normandy bearing the scars and wounds of battle and the only recognition he gets is from his own family, or a few friends. He is left to shift for himself and there is not a public welcome of any sort. No vestige of, or warmth of greeting is extended to him. He comes back minus a limb, an eye, or some other result of injury and no more notice is taken of him than if he had come out of the lumber woods after a winter spent in a camp there.

OBITUARY

LATE JOHN WARWICK WIDELY RELATED IN THESE PARTS

John D. Warwick passed peacefully away on Thursday, September 7, after a few months' illness, at the age of 53.

He was the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Warwick, of Brownsburg, and was married on June 21, 1917, to Edith Plummer.

After several years of service on the hospital staff at Ste. Anne's, he spent some time in Flint, Michigan; and for the past 12 years he was a trusted employee of the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal, where his death occurred.

From the William Wray funeral parlors, where a short service was held on Friday, the remains were brought to Lachute for burial on the Saturday morning train. Funeral service was held here in the Margaret Rodger Presbyterian Church, conducted by the Rev. E. Orsborn.

Besides his loving wife, he leaves to mourn five sisters and five brothers — Mrs. John Heatlie, of Ogdensburg; Mrs. Roy Dobbie, of Hanna, Alberta; Mrs. S. McKiddie, of Vide Sac; Mrs. C. Tomalty and Mrs. L. Griffith, of Brownsburg; Lawrence, of Hanna, Alberta; Gilbert, of Detroit, Michigan; Harlow, of Vide Sac; Raymond, of Brownsburg, and Ross, at present serving with the armed forces in France. One brother, James R., predeceased him in 1937.

Many beautiful tributes showed the esteem in which he was held.

MONTREAL RESIDENT DIES AT BROTHER'S HOME, BEECH RIDGE

Late Arthur David Morrin

The death of Arthur David Morrin, of Montreal, occurred at the home of his brother, Frank, at Beech Ridge on September 7, after an illness of more than a year.

The late Mr. Morrin was educated at Lachute Academy and later attended McGill College, where he graduated as an electrical engineer in 1908.

He is survived by his two sisters, Miss Minnie E. Morrin, of Beech Ridge, Mrs. A. Tolhurst, of Montreal, and two brothers, Edmund R., of Lachute, and Frank L., of Beech Ridge.

The funeral took place from his brother's home on Saturday afternoon, interment following in the family lot at Lachute Cemetery.

Timely Survey of Brownsburg Scene

of obtaining and the shortages of road making materials. But despite war conditions there are public utilities which cannot be allowed to deteriorate for fear of endangering the war effort itself, and in recognition of this fact the Government released asphalt from rationing, or priority, which was thought necessary in the early stages of the war.

It is therefore a surprise to learn that no provision has been made to surface the streets of Brownsburg. Enquiry at the provincial roads department has elicited the information that there was no money appropriated by the outgoing government for this purpose, and it will now be necessary to have any monies, which may be granted, rushed through and voted by the present government if they are to be available this fall.

The Brownsburg Corporation, who have been active in the matter, were either remiss or misled, as evident preparations were made to improve the sideways so as to conform with the new road surfacing. The people of Brownsburg would welcome a statement from one in authority as to what has been done in this respect.

• • •

Work on the Lachute-Brownsburg road is proceeding apace and when completed, if it does not develop into a speedway, we shall have a connecting link worthy of the name and of the communities which it connects. At the Brownsburg end there are some necessary improvements yet to be made. Some provision has to be made to remove the surface water which cannot be connected to the existing water system, and which destroys the road surface at certain points during the spring rains and thaws. There is still a bottleneck just as the road enters the village, and now is the time to do something to have this dangerous defect removed.

• • •

Contractors are removing the living quarters of the wartime employees, which are now largely vacant. These are being taken to other sites where accommodation is urgently needed.

Farm Changes Hands

It is learned that the farm of Jas. Paul on No. 8 highway west of Lachute has been purchased by Thos. Fournier, proprietor of the Riverside Hotel, St. Andrews East.

LIFELONG RESIDENT PASSES IN LACHUTE

The Late Mrs. John McFarlane

After a lengthy illness, the death of Mrs. John McFarlane occurred Monday at the home of her nephew, Gordon Scott, on Bethany Street, Lachute. Mrs. McFarlane was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Rogers. Born in Lakefield, she had spent her entire lifetime in this community. She was in her 69th year at the time of her death. Through her cheerful personality she had won many friends, and the trials of her illness were borne with quiet courage.

Besides her devoted husband, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. James Boyd, Lachute, and Mrs. Albert Rogers, Clearwater, Manitoba.

The funeral, held Wednesday afternoon at the Lachute United Church, was conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. Beautiful flowers bore tribute to her memory. The remains were laid to rest in Lachute Cemetery. Pall-bearers were Messrs. Ross Muir, John McFarlane, Clarence Rogers, Ernest Rogers, Melvin Scott and Hector Boyd.

Lachute Lady Bereaved

The Late Alfred Winter

In Montreal on Sunday, September 3, the death occurred of Mr. Alfred Winter, aged 88, husband of the late Elizabeth Hadaway.

The deceased came to Canada from Yalding, Kent, England, in 1921, and made his home at 32 Belton Avenue, Pointe Claire, Que., with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. Winter.

Besides his son and daughter-in-law, he is survived by his granddaughter, Mrs. Kenneth A. McOuat, and great granddaughters Patricia and Jean McOuat, in Lachute.

Clerics and Laymen Gather at Anglican General Synod Meet

An eight-day gathering of the executive council and departments of General Synod of the Church of England in Canada opens today at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

The house of bishops meets today and Friday under the presidency of the Primate, the Most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen.

Reports from the Missionary Society, the General Board of Religious Education, and the Council for Social Service will be heard by the meeting on Monday. Also on the agenda are a debate on the discussed revision of the Prayer Book, a report from the Pension Board and the Committee on Faith and Order of Life and Work.

The National Laymen's Council will meet Wednesday, September 20, under the chairmanship of Judge G. W. Morley of Owen Sound, Ont.

Other matters up for discussion are: a report from the advisory editorial committee on the Canadian Churchman; a report from the General Synod committee on Evangelism; a report from the committee on Women's Work in the Church; and discussion on the Church of England's participation in the Canadian Council of Churches.

On Sunday, September 17, many Anglican clergy from all parts of Canada will preach in Montreal churches.

Preachers Next Sunday At St. Andrews United

St. Andrews East—The preacher at the morning service in the United Church next Sunday will be the Rev. S. J. Pike, of Brownsburg, who is exchanging pulpits with the Rev. D. L. Gordon.

In the evening at 8 o'clock there will be a special service at which the preacher will be the Rev. C. U. MacNevin, B.A., of Chalmers United Church, Dominion, N.S., one of the leading ministers of the Maritime Conference. He is to be the guest of the Rev. D. L. Gordon over the week-end on his return from London, Ont., where he has been in attendance at the General Council.

The Rev. Mr. MacNevin during his student days was an outstanding Maritime athlete, on more than one occasion being the winner of the marathon against strong competition. He served in the Great War of 1914-1918 with distinction. In addition to being an excellent preacher and pastor, he is an authority on art and a leader in young people's work.

In addition to preaching at St. Andrews East Sunday evening, he will be heard at Lachute United Church in the morning and Pointe Fortune in the afternoon.

Anniversary Services Held at United Church In St. Andrews East

St. Andrews E. — Anniversary services were held in the United Church both morning and evening on Sunday, September 10. The Rev. D. L. Gordon, pastor, conducted the services. The Rev. Dr. Andrew D. Reid was guest preacher. His morning subject was "What Think Ye of God?" His text was John 3, v. 16: "God so loved the world", etc.

Dr. Reid is a forceful gospel preacher who has the happy faculty of drawing illustrations from his experiences as a world traveller, to drive home the truths of life.

An anthem was rendered by the choir.

At the evening service Dr. Reid's subject was, "What Think Ye of Christ?" His text was Matthew 22, v. 42, "What Think Ye of Christ? Whose son is He?" His emphasis was upon the word "think" and his appeal directly to the intellect of his audience. The Rev. Dr. Wm. MacMillan, of the Presbyterian Church and the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, Lachute United Church, offered prayers.

During the offertory Master Laurie Gagnon played a violin solo, accompanied at the organ by Miss G. J. Wales. Mrs. Helen Hindle, of Montreal, was vocal soloist. The choir was augmented by members of the choirs of the other Protestant churches.

The Rev. Dr. Reid also spoke at Pointe Fortune in the afternoon.

A Daring Pilot

(Manchester Guardian)

What seems to have been one of the most daring and adroit exploits of the whole war was achieved the other night by the fighter pilot who "nudged" one of the flying bombs off its course so that it fell and exploded in an area of gardens instead of among crowded dwellings. He flew his own machine alongside the blind missile, touched it with his wing, and so diverted it from its existing path. The risk of exploding the thing in mid-air must have been considerable, so that great courage was involved, but the delicacy of manoeuvre needed in order to bring off this exploit is even more remarkable. To have elbowed a flying bomb off its course without damage to the British machine or its pilot is a feat that deserves to be remembered.

PURPOSE OF WAR

The real reason that we in the British Empire are fighting this war seems to be in danger of being forgotten. We did not enter the war in September, 1939, to create a bright new world. We did not enter the world in order that we might formulate a new economic system. We entered the war to save the world that was ours and the rights and privileges which had been hard won through generation after generation.

—Windsor (N.S.) Tribune

MAKE HOME ATTRACTIVE

Plans being drawn up for post-war reconstruction are taking into consideration a revival of community life in towns and villages. It is such a program that would help the Canadian town's problem of losing its young people because they "go to the big city."

—Fort Frances (Ont.) Times

ADVANTAGEOUS CONNECTION

Scientists and economists have shown considerable interest in the subject of bringing agriculture and industry into close relationship, and we may look for many important developments along these lines in the near future.

Before you blame your telephone...
CHECK THIS DISTANCE

Engineers designed the mouthpiece of your telephone to give best results at one-quarter of an inch from the lips. When your lips are farther away than this, your voice is transmitted less strongly . . . less clearly.

Failure to remember these simple facts accounts for the great majority of "trouble" reports.

Help avoid needless service check-ups, and at the same time let those you talk to hear you without strain. Just remember: Talk clearly, normally, directly into the telephone, with your lips just one-quarter of an inch from the mouthpiece.

On Active Service Giving Wings to Words

Smoking while you talk may cause distorted reception. It also prevents your holding the mouthpiece directly in front of the lips.

If you need to reach across your desk as you talk, continue to hold the telephone in correct position, close to the lips.

A wall set can't come to you; stand or sit so that your lips are directly in front of and close to the mouthpiece. Don't "talk across" it.

For clear, noise-free transmission, always keep your desk telephone upright — not at or near the horizontal position.

Magic's Orange-Raisin Biscuits

2 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
½ tspn. salt
2 tbspn. sugar
4 tbspn. shortening
½ cup raisins
1 tbspn. orange rind
1 egg
½ cup milk

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening until well mixed. Add raisins and orange rind. Beat egg slightly in measuring cup and add milk to make ¾ cup. Add to first mixture. Roll out about ¼-inch thick; cut with floured biscuit cutter. Place on greased pan. Bake in hot oven (475°F.) about 12 minutes. Makes 16.

about the things you buy in wartime

When you go to a store to buy and can't get the things you want, remember that war upsets the whole machinery of production and supply. This is true not only in Canada but throughout the whole world.

As Canada is devoting over half her production making things for war it is inevitable that civilian supply must be reduced.

We just can't produce all the things required to fill the greatly increased civilian demands, but production efforts are being directed to see that the best use is made of materials and labour that are available for the production of civilian goods.

Remember these facts when you have difficulties in your shopping.

THE STORY OF CHILDREN'S UNDERWEAR

OBVIOUSLY babies and children must have underwear. So—the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has given special attention to the production of these garments.

The problem has not been so much one of a lack of raw materials, but of getting the raw materials (wool, cotton, rayon), spun into yarns—and then knit into garments. Canada has never produced all the wool, cotton and rayon yarn she requires. We have always had to get a substantial part of our requirements from other countries, even in peacetime. But since the war, there has been an acute shortage of underwear yarns everywhere.

There has been a greatly increased demand in addition to production difficulties. The efforts of the Board to meet the problem are given below.

THE INCREASED DEMAND RESULTED FROM:

More babies . . . It's apparently always the way in wartime.

Reduced use of second-hand or "hand-me-down" garments.

Increased consumer buying . . . More people with more money.

Less home sewing . . . Mothers have been working outside the home.

Huge demand for underwear by Armed Forces.

MORE UNDERWEAR: but still not enough!

The reason is that it just has not been possible to produce with the skilled workers and machines available to the United Nations enough yarn and garments to meet the increased demands all over the world.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE ABOUT IT

✓First of all the Board found out the kind and quantity of garments Canadian children must have.

✓This showed that the public is asking for more than is actually needed.

✓So plans were made to see, by directing production all down the line, if we could meet the swollen demand as nearly as possible.

✓Each manufacturer was told to produce an increased number of garments.

✓A constant check is kept on mills to see that they are producing the required number.

✓Manufacturers not previously making children's underwear were induced to go into its production. An additional 600,000 garments will be provided this year from these sources.

✓Negotiations were conducted with production authorities in other countries for supplies of yarn to Canadian knitters for use in children's underwear.

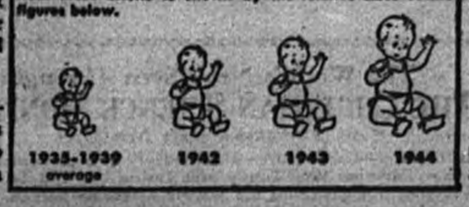

✓Primary cotton mills were required to divert spinning facilities from fabric manufacture to the spinning of underwear yarns.

✓Arrangements were made through National Selective Service to direct more labour to the underwear mills.

✓A special campaign was launched to enlist part time workers.

✓Distribution to retail stores was organized to ensure equitable supply to all areas.

The greatly increased supply of children's underwear resulting from these efforts is shown by the relative sizes of the figures below.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

A DISGRACEFUL SITUATION

Planning to write a letter to a boy overseas, I thought I must listen carefully to the next newscast to see if there were any special Canadian news that might be of interest to him. This is what I heard: Montreal had 400 transportation workers out on strike: There were 3,000 on strike at the shipyards in Halifax; 1,100 mineworkers in Stellarton were out; 450 of the Boilermakers' Union were striking in Prince Rupert; 500 workers in Windsor were striking; Kitchener had 1,100 rubbermakers out; and the taxi-drivers in Quebec were on strike. Did I tell him that in my letter? Would you have?

BUTTER

Having less butter to do with is a nuisance, but after all we are lucky to have so much. What if we lived in England and had only two ounces a week instead of our generous eight. The dairy farmers have done a wonderful work in the way they have increased the output of milk. People are using buying milk as they never have before. For one thing, more are realizing its value as a food. Then there are many families who are buying milk as the ynever have done because they have the money for its purchase. It is better to cut down the ration in the summer so that we will have more in the winter months. Butter is a heat producing food and we need it less in the summer than in the cold winter months. The authorities are doing many wise things, so co-operate and do not grouch.

CANNING DON'TS

After food has been canned there are a few things which should not be done. There will be a space at the top of the bottle and under no circumstances should the bottle be opened and the space filled up with syrup. That space is sterile, if you can say that emptiness is sterile. Anyhow, leave it alone. When the bottle is taken from the water bath or the oven the jars must be tightened. It is a simple matter to tighten the spring type jar. With the screw-top jars, turn the top as tight as you can while hot, then leave it alone. If you attempt to tighten it further after it has cooled, you may break the seal, and your fruit will spoil.

DO NOT INVERT BOTTLES

In the old days of open-kettle canning, it was customary to invert the bottles to see if they leaked. This should not be done in other methods of canning. During processing the syrup expands, and fills the jar, thus driving off the air. When the syrup cools it contracts and forms a vacuum, which helps to make a good seal. If the can is inverted this vacuum is destroyed, and we lose its help and protection.

EASY ON THE BUTTER

CHOCOLATE CAKE

1 Cup granulated sugar, 1½ cups flour, ¼ teaspoon each, cloves, cinnamon, nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar, 1 cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 tablespoon cocoa, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs.

Put the dry ingredients through the sifter, add the beaten eggs and the sour cream and mix well. Pour in a buttered cake pan and bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees. This is a good cake with a different flavor to the usual chocolate cake.

NUT KISSES

3 Egg whites, ¾ cup sugar, ½ cup nuts, chopped, 8 marachino cherries.

Beat the egg whites and when partly beaten add the sugar gradually and beat until stiff but not dry. Add the nuts and the cherries, cut in small pieces. Drop from a teaspoon on a buttered sheet and bake in a moderately slow oven of 275 degrees until they are firm and not sticky to the touch. This is an accommodating recipe as you can use whatever you can get. We have been able to get good walnuts in the shell lately and the cherries, and they make a very good combination. If you cannot get walnuts you may be able to get salted peanuts as they are occasionally to be had now. This makes quite a number of the nut kisses, and if you have fewer egg whites you wish to use up, just use ¼ cup sugar to each egg white. I often use my egg yo'ks for salad dressing and then make the nut kisses to have on hand as they keep a long time in a tin box — if no one finds the box.

You can take it from Lieut. (N/S) Connie Browne of Fort William, Ont., a sister with a Canadian general hospital in France, that experience is a real teacher. Last year when she landed in Sicily with another general hospital she and her companions had to drive over 40 miles of bumpy, dusty roads on hard benches in the back of a lorry. And it wasn't comfortable in a certain spot.

Connie remembered that when she came ashore this time and wasn't going to be caught napping, so she brought her cushion and enjoyed the ride from the beach to the hospital while her less experienced companions were jolted around uncomfortably.

Food and Ration Cards Delight War Brides

British Women Fascinated at Prospect of Buying Clothes Unrationed

Toronto (CP)—British war brides recently arrived in Canada get a great thrill from Canadian ration books. With fewer rationed articles and no restrictions on where they may be bought, cooking will be fun.

In Britain persons must register for each rationed item at a specific shop and that makes food preparation an involved business.

Quantities and prices of fruit in Canadian shops amazed one young bride on her first shopping expedition. Lemons in England if available at all, cost $7.20 a pound and oranges about $4 a pound. She was amazed at the number of eggs for sale. . . . In the old country one person is allowed one egg a week in summer and none in winter.

Shopping for clothes and shoes without coupons is fascinating to women who have to get on with 24 clothing coupons every six months, 18 of which would go for a suit and seven for a pair of shoes. High-heeled and fancy shoes have been out in England for a long time, and nice stockings are things to treasure for special occasions.

Cosmetics, soaps, fresh fruits, milk, meat and clothes — the plenitude in Canadian stores is a delight and an astonishment to English girls coming to make their home in the Dominion.

Pepped-up Apple Juice

Annapolis Valley, N.S. — Members of Canada's armed forces overseas are now getting their apples in the form of apple juice fortified with Vitamin C, according to the agricultural department of the Canadian National Railways. So far this year, 200,000 barrels of Nova Scotia apple juice have been shipped overseas and reports indicate the juice is well liked. None of it is for civilian use; the entire shipment was earmarked for the fighting forces. During World War No. 1, soldiers got their apples by way of "plum 'n apple" jam.

VITAMINS IN WEEDS

Research laboratory tests have shown that the edible wild greens, pokeweed, poverty weed, and tall curly dock, contain double the amount of Vitamin C normally found in spinach. A second group of edible wild greens, including shepherd's purse, lamb's quarter, and wild lettuce, contains as much Vitamin C as spinach does.

Toronto Announcer

English born Nancy Hanbury, of CBC's announce staff, satisfied her taste for the varied life through travel, acting, copywriting, and managing restaurants, until radio beckoned. That was in January, 1944, and since then Mrs. Hanbury has stayed close to the CBL "mike" in Toronto. Currently she is heard announcing "Styled for Swing" on Saturdays, at 9.30 p.m. EDT, the recorded novelty, "Sweet Melody," on Sundays, at 3.15 p.m. and a number of daytime news and music features.

VANCOUVER WOMAN TEA SPECIALIST

Mrs. Violet Lillico Identifies Great Variety of Teas by Taste and Smell

Vancouver (CP) — Here's the story of a woman who sips tea for a living. She's Mrs. Violet Lillico of Vancouver, Canada's only woman tea taster — and as you've probably guessed, she's English.

Since Mrs. Lillico's husband died two years ago she has taken over his job of tea importer and tea salesman, but still prefers the testing profession.

It's nothing for her to sit down of a morning and identify by a sip here and a smell there up to 100 different kinds of Indian and Ceylon teas.

When Mrs. Lillico is tea-tasting she does it with that fond far-away look of a Frenchman sipping a particularly fine old wine.

Before the war little tea-tasting was necessary. Although there were Chinese and Japanese teas to blend as well it was done according to a fixed formula of the company for whom it was packed.

"But the war changed all that," Mrs. Lillico said. "All tea must now be bought from the Canadian government.

"To get that perfect blend you must judge your tea by the twist and smell of the dry leaf, or the size and color of the brewed leaf," she added. "Then you must notice the color, brightness and aroma of the infusion, and the strength, thickness and flavor of the brew."

Since the increased tea rationing Mrs. Lillico has been working overtime, blending, packing and distributing her teas throughout British Columbia and Alberta.

Big Restaurant Keeps Watch On Vitamins

U.S. War Department Keeps an Eye on Food Served to Workers in Washington

Washington (CP) — Mashed potatoes and gravy and "cheese dreams" are the favorite selections of some 30,000 military and civilian personnel in the Pentagon, the War Department's mammoth office building.

Some 55,000 meals are served daily, including breakfast, lunch and dinner, in Pentagon restaurants. The regular lunch or dinner, consisting of two vegetables, meat, or a substitute, bread and butter, dessert and a beverage, cost 35 cents.

Number one dessert, from generals to typists, is ice cream. (On apple pie, another favorite, it's a dime extra.) Coffee is the leading beverage. Incidentally, "cheese dreams" are nothing more than toasted cheese sandwiches fancied-up with a spot of jelly.

Pentagon restaurant officials believe its patrons get the most out of the food they eat. Their aim is to keep the "sparkle in the eye of the Pentagonian, the color in the check, the spring in the step and the zest for the war job at an all-time high." They do this by seeing that the vitamins and minerals in the foods served are retained and as few as possible lost in cooking.

Endless research is conducted in the Pentagon's nutrition laboratory, set up last February. Its findings go to the Pentagon restaurant council thence to the kitchens.

Those potatoes, for example, are analyzed for vitamin and mineral content and then are followed through from their raw state to the steam table and the customer's plate. If their vitamin loss is more than it should be, corrective measures in cooking are observed.

About half a million pounds of foodstuffs, including meat, fish and vegetables are used by the restaurants. In addition to 14,000 three-pound loaves of bread purchased monthly, the Pentagon bakes and serves daily 500 dozen muffins and 2,000 dozen rolls and biscuits.

A barber used electric clippers on Johnny's neck for the first time and the youngster asked:

"Is my neck so dirty you have to use a vaccum cleaner?"

"Of Things to Come"

Quebec Women's Institutes are represented on one of the Commissions called under the above heading in Strathcona Academy, Montreal, by Mrs. Roswell Thomson, of Abbotsford, vice-president of Q.W.I. Mrs. Thomson's Commission consisted of 35 members, and the subjects discussed were Higher Salaries for Teachers, Federal Assistance for Education in Quebec Province, and Library Services.

Should We Eat ?

Toronto — The business of eating, as it affects mankind and nations, will be the theme of an Ottawa address this week by Dr. L. B. Pett, Director of Nutrition, Department of National Health. Dr. Pett's address is to be broadcast over the Trans-Canada Network of the CBC, Saturday, September 16, at 7.45 p.m.

The title of the talk, "Should We Eat?", has been borrowed from the comments of a Chinese philosopher who traced all mankind's troubles to having a mouth and stomach. Reviewing past tragedies that have stemmed from unsolved nutritional problems, Dr. Pett will discuss the growing national and international organizations for implanting a knowledge of nutrition standards. In this respect, particular reference will be made to the UNRRA Conference, opening in Montreal on September 15.

Canada's increasing awareness of the relation of nutrition to national health is demonstrated in the formation of the Division of Nutrition at Ottawa, in 1941, with a trained staff under Dr. Pett's direction.

Wrens Celebrate Their Second Birthday

The now well-known "Wrens" (Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service), celebrated the organization's second birthday last month. Their strength has grown to 5,000 from the first class of 67. They serve in thirty different categories of work from Halifax to Victoria, from Washington to London and Newfoundland. Organized to release men for duty at sea, they work in naval offices, driving cars and trucks, sending signals, plotting convoys, checking supplies, cooking meals, nursing the wounded and ill and on special research duties. In their stride they went through the London blitz and later the rocket bombs, gallant Canadians all.

Johnny: "Well, pass the cake and get out of the way."

ELECTRIC TRAP KILLS BEETLES

Japanese Pest Gathered in Quarts by Electric Power and Commercial Bait

Hershey, Pa. (CP) — Japanese beetles by the quart meet sudden death in Farmer John J. Daniel's ingenious trap. Wires packing a 7,500-volt wallop electrocute the beetles after they are lured against round metal plates covered with commercial beetle bait.

"My trap kills about five quarts of beetles on an ordinary day," explains Daniels, "and when they're plentiful, I sometimes get 15 quarts. I collected 15 bushels with an estimated 80,000 beetles in each during five weeks.

"By rigging an electric light, you could use my trap at night for killing moths that produce the corn borer and cut worms."

Echoes from the Authors' Conf'ce

years later the Chief had been seen attending a Masonic meeting in company with the man he had rescued.

A branch of the Canadian Authors Association is being formed in New York for Canadian writers residing there, by N. A. Benson, formerly of Toronto, who at this meeting was appointed special representative to the U.S.A. of the Canadian authors in Canada. Another learned gentleman, Dr. Morrison, of Windsor, gave a geographical lecture on the formation of land around that portion of Ontario, including Lake St. Clair, with slides, giving causes for some such formations. And we have been wondering since the earthquake — or rather, series of quakes — if he could give any reason for this unusual disturbance of our Canadian calm. 'Twould seem as if some hitherto sleeping giant was voicing protest against some infringement of his rights. Would it be the much talked of St. Lawrence Waterway, for instance; as according to radio and press reports there have been disturbances across the border as well. . . .

To return to convention news — the guest speaker at the closing banquet was Dr. Cyro de Freitas Vaille, Brazilian ambassador to Canada, who outlined the recent improvement in relations between the two countries and approved resolutions aimed at improving the lot of Canadian writers, and cultural matters generally.

"In Brazil today the prestige and popularity of Canada is increasing steadily, as is the interest for everything that is Canadian," he said. "Of particular interest are two recent developments — the formation of the Institute Brazil-Canada, and the promotion of cultural agreement between the two nations. The latter's principal aim is the exchange of students between Canada and Brazil."

As a tribute to this Brazilian gentleman the Brazilian national anthem was played while the assembly stood at attention.

Other musical numbers were "Out of the Night" and the "Victory Recessional," sung by John Rowcroft and accompanied by the author and composer, T. Reg Sloan, who is so certain that victory is "just around the corner" that Dr. Kirkconnel, retiring Dominion president and chairman for the event, stated in announcing the numbers that the Recessional would not be sung again until after victory was assured.

The new Dominion president elected at this convention is none other than our genial editor of the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Roderick S. Kennedy, well known to some Lachute residents and especially to the pupils of Lachute Consolidated School for his visit not so long ago to some of the class rooms, where he photographed them as they sat at their desks, also some of them at work in stable and field at home. These photographs later appeared in connection with his write-up of "How Children are Helping the War Effort," in his weekly paper — copies of which I am sure the children thus advertised have stored away as a momento to read over again when age is creeping upon them.

Among other members of note attending the convention were John Murray Gibbon, honorary president; Chief Justice Fabre Surveyer; Mrs. Kathleen Strange, of Winnipeg, author of "With the West in Her Eyes"; Edna Jacques (Mrs. Jamison) a former westerner, now an Ottawa resident; and last, but not least, our neighbor from Alexandria, Dorothy Dumbrille, whose poems have received much merited approval and appear from time to time in popular magazines — and who gave her latest book of poems the bright title of "Watch the Sunrise". Perhaps there would be less depression and discontentment of spirit in the world if we all took a lesson from that title.

Some pleasurable features of our stay in Hamilton were boat trips in privately owned yachts, around Burlington Bay, a ride around the city with places of note pointed out, a visit to the sunken garden which is Hamilton's special pride, and lastly before being driven to bus and train, a wonderful treat of tea, coffee, sandwiches and cake at McMaster University, of which Dr. Kirkconnel is the head.

The sunken garden deserves special mention because of it being a desolate rugged waste place, an abandoned quarry reclaimed and given over to beauty of blooming flowers and shrubs, water lillies smiling in small ponds, tiny streams wandering hither and yon quite unconcerned about the admiration they are creating in the hearts of onlookers who have stopped for a time to feast their eyes on the scene and go away convinced that life is not all sordid and heart-rending.

This article would not be complete without the true tale of the little American lady, a seemingly recent bride of one of our Canadian army officers, who with her husband attended the closing banquet. Finding out that she had just arrived in Canada the previous day to make her home here, one of the members hoped that she would enjoy her life here. The little lady replied, "Oh I shall, I call Canada 'heaven'." On repeating her words to a member of the association well over 70 years, all of them lived in Canada, this member with grave assurance said "She is right, Canada is heaven."

We Canadians will surely have to set ourselves a high standard of living, to live up to that high title given by both American and Canaian ladies to our homeland.

Hamilton's Mountain at Night Viewed from Hotel Connaught

With gleaming torches here and there,
Its dark-browed gloom is lighted.
And skyline capped by hazy air,
A wavering contour sighted.

The homes upon its sloping side
Leaf-filled trees are hiding
Through travelled paths a lighted car
With solemn purr is gliding.

The far-flung sound of busy street
Re-echoing 'gainst its breast
Denies that Night has claimed its own,
The time when man should rest.

The Mountain's gaze and troubled frown
Is downcast, fearing waste
Of manly strength and simple charm
In life's turmoil and haste.

Golfers Hold Closing Tourney

The closing golf tournament of the season was held last week-end at the local golf club, with a mixed four-ball foursome.

Mrs. H. Rigg won the first prize for the lowest ladies' net. Mrs. George Leggett and Miss Margaret Scott tied for second low net.

Roland Legault placed first in the men's low net, with Eddie Jones second and Leonard Ayers third.

A barn dance is being held at the club house on Saturday, September 16, with costumes optional. Prizes will be given for the best costumes.

Hole in One at Seigniory Course

Seigniory Club, Que. — Jimmy Patton, pro at the Seigniory Club, scored a hole in one Wednesday, September 6, on the 160-yard third hole here. Playing with Rene Gauthier, assistant pro, and Jack Campbell, greenskeeper, Patton accomplished his feat with a No. 5 iron making a perfect shot, landing short on the green, and the ball rolled into the cup. The third hole is a par and being uphill calls for an exact shot or the player finds himself playing out of the traps.

On September 20 and 21 the Seigniory Club's thirteenth annual invitation women's golf tournament will be played on the club course; the thirteenth annual invitation competition for men is September 22 and 23 and a mixed invitation meet is scheduled for Sunday, September 24.

Montreal Takes Spotlight as UNRRA Conference Opens

By HAROLD FREEMAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer
in A Weekly Review of Affairs of This Province

Quebec, Sept. 19 — As the Quebec Conference ended, the world spotlight remained on this province as the giant session of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration opened in Montreal's Windsor Hotel.

The conference, which was scheduled to get under way Friday, was delayed until Saturday when 350 delegates travelling by special train from Washington were held up for more than 12 hours by storms in the United States. Prime Minister Mackenzie King delivered the official Canadian welcome Monday.

Representatives of 44 nations presented a detailed report of the relief requirements of more than a billion people as the conference opened. It is expected to last about two weeks.

Canada was honored right at the start as delegates unanimously chose Hon. L. B. Pearson, Canadian Minister to Washington, as chairman of the conference.

In his welcoming address, the Prime Minister said that the principles of mutual aid — product of the war years — would be carried into the era of peace and be made the foundation of a new world order.

It was a matter of significance, he said, that the Quebec Conference and the Council Meeting of UNRRA should come to Canada at this time for "nothing could more conveniently demonstrate the determination of the free nations to achieve total victory at the earliest possible day than the conference which has just concluded in Quebec."

He paid tribute to the people of the oppressed countries represented by so many of the delegates, and said that Canada, "one of the freest countries in the world today," appreciated the fact that her freedom had been bought partly by the heroism and suffering of these countries. The freedom that Canada had today soon would become the freedom of the world.

Herbert Lehman, director-general of UNRRA, urged all possible speed in the deliberations of the conference, saying that progress in completing arrangements to aid liberated areas had not been as speedy as was necessary.

In normal times, he said, UNRRA might congratulate itself on what had been accomplished since its formation in November, 1943, "but these are times of great stress and urgency, and we must face the fact that we must do more and do it speedily."

An army captain wounded in Italy and saved by blood serum declares that the blood given by patriotic Canadians is saving thousands of lives. Of that there is increasing evidence from day to day. The blood donor is playing an important, inconspicuous but nevertheless vital part in the war.

The Why of "Maquis"

(Winnipeg Tribune)

We are calling them "The Maquis", though, if we wanted to to be fussy, we would have to call them Maquisards — men of the Maquis. Maquis means, roughly, "bush" or "scrub", such as occurs in Corsica. French patriots "took to the bush" and carried on their resistance from inacessible strongholds. In many parts of France there is rough country tangled with gorse and briar, local variations of the Corsican maquis.

The name Maquisard caught on all over France. Bushmen became the symbol of patriotism. Today, with the freeing of Paris and the rapid liberation of France, the men of the Maquis have come into their own.

Epidemic Not Attributed to Water Impurity

Many citizens of Lachute are more than a little concerned about what they believe to be an epidemic of dysentery or some similar malady now affecting many throughout the town, and the general opinion is that the local water supply is the cause.

Upon enquiry at the Argenteuil Health Unit, Dr. L. Turcotte, Health Officer, states that the same condition exists in other parts of the county. There have been a number of cases at Huberdeau, Arundel, Pine Hill and other widely separated points and also in other parts of the province. While it is admitted that the local water supply leaves much to be desired, there seems no justification for believing it contains disease-producing germs at the present time.

Dr. Turcotte further states that the actual germs have been found; they are known as the Sonne dysentery bacillus. These germs are transmitted in much the same manner as those which cause typhoid; they inflict a milder type of infection, although they are spread more rapidly and are more prevalent. From investigations already made, Dr. Turcotte and other Public Health officials are of the opinion that flies are one of the chief agents in the spread of the disease.

The Health Officer recommends that all possible efforts be made to combat the fly menace, which seems particularly severe at the present time, and also to take every possible sanitary precaution around the home.

Another medical man recommends that very young children be kept at home under present circumstances, in order to avoid unnecessary contact with the disease germs.

Club Endorses Resolves Affecting Veterans of War

In addition to the routine business of the Lions Club, which met at the Golf Club premises Tuesday evening, endorsation was given to three resolutions recently passed by Vancouver Central Lions Club, which have been submitted to the Minister of Pensions and National Health.

The resolutions are drafted in the following terms:

Post Discharge Re-establishment Orders — Clothing Allowance

Resolved that the clothing allowance on discharge of members of the armed forces be increased from $65.00 to $125.00, and that this increase be made retroactive to cover all members previously discharged having completed six or more months of service.

Pensions Act

Resolved that for the purpose of fixing pensions, Military Service in Canada shall be treated as service in any theatre of war.

(The effect of this would be to restore to the Pension Act what is known as the insurance principle for those suffering disability or death in Canada. This insurance principle existed till May, 1940, when it was removed by Order in Council.)

War Veterans Allowance Act

Resolved that the restrictive measures of the War Veterans Allowance Act, which at present limit the annual earnings and total revenue of the recipients to inadequate sums, shall be revised and be reconciled with the rates and privileges of exemption from taxation as shall from time to time be in effect in accordance with the Dominion Income Tax laws, thus permitting annual income of $660 for single recipients and $1,200.00 for married recipients.

Lion President Dr. F. W. FitzGerald reported that arrangements have been made for a supper-dance to be held at the Golf Club on Saturday, September 30, to celebrate the 10th anniversary of Lionism in Lachute. District Governor Stevens will be present with representatives from all surrounding districts where Lions Clubs have been organized.

BLAZE OCCURS IN BAKERY AT LACHUTE MILLS

At the Richer bake-shop on Princess Street, near Ayers Limited mills, a fire occurred Monday morning, and flames having spread into the attic of the premises, it was only prompt action on the part of the fire brigade which saved the building from destruction. The outbreak was noticed around 10 a.m., at which hour there was no one working around the bakery. The fire originated over the oven and caught in the structure above. Damage was estimated in the neighborhood of $300.

WAR ON "SPOON-BENDERS"

Red Deer, Alta. (CP) — Restaurateurs here have started a war against "spoon-benders", patrons who wreck or twist all the spoons in sight during a meal. Nearly every restaurant in town has been subjected to the attentions of the benders.

Child, 7, Injured By Automobile

Outside her residence on Main Street East, Frances Hooper, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Willis Hooper, was run over by an automobile Monday during the noon hour as she was arriving home from school. She suffered various cuts and bruises, also chest injuries which however proved not of a serious nature. The child, seven years old, although still confined to bed is making a good recovery.

Frances had been given a drive home from school by Ken McOuat, East Ward. She stepped out from behind his car into the path of another auto coming west, driven by Hugh Cunningham. When the driver came to a sudden stop, the youngster was underneath the car.

Dr. Jules Lafleur and Dr. W. F. FitzGerald attended the girl at her home. The mishap was investigated by Traffic Officer Howard Jones.

Motor Mechanic Suffers Injury

A painful accident occurred last week to Burrill Todd, of Lachute, employed as maintenance mechanic on vehicles at Boyd's Express Ltd. Working in the yard outside a warehouse, with other employees he was tipping the body of a light truck from its chassis. As the body came down he held on in order to ease its descent, but its weight hurled him into the air. He hit the ground with considerable force, landing on his forehead. Severely hurt, Todd was taken to the office of Dr. W. F. FitzGerald, and later removed to the Providence Hospital, Lachute Mills. He suffered a broken clavicle, or collar bone, but reports at this date indicate he is making good progress.

When men speak ill of thee, so live that nobody will believe them.

Three Soldiers in Week's Casualties

GDSMN. CARL WERT

News received September 8 by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wert, Ogdensburg, informed them that their youngest son, Carl, was missing in France, after action which occurred August 23. Gdsmn. Carl Wert, 23, was in the Governor General's Foot Guards. During his period of training he was married overseas, his wife being still in England. Another son of Mr. and Mrs. Wert, Pte. Gerald H. Wert, was killed in action last December while serving with the forces in Italy.

Since the official notice reporting their son a casualty, the parents have had a letter from headquarters assuring them every effort is being made to trace the missing soldier.

PTE. EDGAR CRUISE

Mrs. John Cruise, Lachute Mills, received word on Sunday that her son, Pte. Edgar Cruise, Hastings and Prince Edward Regt., had been taken a prisoner of war in Italy. Pte. Cruise was listed missing in action September 4. A letter from his sergeant written September 12 brought the news that he had fallen into enemy hands.

In this family also, a brother was previously among those killed in action — Pte. Lloyd Cruise having lost his life recently in France.

PTE. HARRY LISTER

Pte. Harry Lister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lister, Lachute, and husband of Thelma Kirkpatrick, now in Mille Isles, has been wounded in action in Italy — according to a letter received by his relatives here. The letter was written by the soldier himself, from a hospital in Italy, stating he had suffered a fracture of the leg.

Pte. Lister was in the Black Watch, but in the course of the Italy campaign was transferred to the Hastings and Prince Edward— the same regiment as that in which Pte. Edgar Cruise was serving.

Laurentian Inter-Scholastic Sports Here on Saturday

Six Schools to Compete in Events at Lachute Exhibition Grounds

The annual sports meet of the Protestant schools of this district has been organized into a permanent venture under the name of the Laurentian Interscholastic Sports, and on Saturday next the event will be held at Lachute Fair Grounds, starting at 10 a.m. and continuing in the afternoon.

Six schools, including Lachute, Brownsburg, St. Andrews East, Grenville, Morin Heights and Ste. Agathe des Monts, have accepted the invitation to compete; Arundel school has also been invited.

The events are divided into four classes, namely, midgets, juniors, intermediates and seniors, for boys and girls. The complete list of events is to be found on page eight.

The public are invited to be present for the occasion, and the organizers hope that every encouragement will be given the school children in this enterprise.

If the weather is unfavorable, arrangements have been made to hold the events the following week.

Former Resident Of Thomas' Gore Killed in Action

Cpl. William David Jones

News was received September 13 of the death of Cpl. William David Jones, who was killed in action presumably in France on September 1, while serving with the Princess Louise Dragoons.

Youngest son of the late Pte. F. L. M. Jones, a Great War victim, and his wife the late Sarah Slade — William D. Jones was known to many in these parts, having spent much time around Lachute and Thomas' Gore. His earlier years were lived in the latter community, for he was the foster son of Mr. and Mrs. David Maxwell of that place.

Pte. Jones was a member of the voluntary forces long before the outbreak of war, and was an employee of the Dominion Oilcloth & Linoleum Co. in Montreal. In 1939 he "went active", in the 17th Duke of York's Hussars. He went overseas in 1940, was later transferred to the 7th Reconnaissance Regiment and then to the Princess Louise Dragoons. He was serving in Italy when last heard from by his relatives. He was 33 years of age when he met his death; and it was a little over 26 years ago that his father was killed in action, serving in France.

The dead soldier is survived by a brother, Albert Jones, in Montreal, and two sisters, Mrs. Amy Evestaff, Montreal, and Mrs. R. Sylvia, Mackayville, Que., besides his foster parents at Thomas' Gore.

London — A Londoner, Mr. A. F. Leslie, has given 100 blood transfusions; 87 pints of his blood have gone to 43 hospitals.

Two Restaurants Change Hands

Two restaurants in the central business section of town have recently changed hands and the new proprietors have taken over. The Rex Cafe, for many years operated by Jos. Raymond, has been purchased by Roger Pagé — who until recently has conducted what was known as the Royal Restaurant in the Bedard block, a few doors down the street. This latter business, meanwhile, has been acquired jointly by Gaston Ampleman, ex-police constable of the town, and Germain Lacoste, barber, from the west end.

There has been magnificent response reported in blood donations at the Canadian Red Cross clinics. In the year 1943 there were 529,635 donations, compared to 5,325 in 1940. But in the first six months of this year 532,992 donations were given, more than for the whole of last year.

Pte. Harold Nicoll Killed in Action

Pte. Harold Muir Nicoll, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nicoll, was officially reported killed in action on August 29.

He enlisted for active service in May, 1941, going overseas in May, 1943, with the 2nd Battn. Black Watch. He went to France in July with the 1st Royal Regiment of Canada.

The late Pte. Nicoll is mourned by five sisters and six brothers — Mrs. R. Millar, of Winnipeg, Mrs. H. Peterson and Miss Anne Nicoll, of Newark, N.J., Mrs. Thos. Davies, of Montreal, and Mrs. Roy Morrison, of Upper Lachute, Thomas, of Port Arthur, Anderson, Will and Albert, of Newark, N.J., Howard, of Montreal, and Andrew, of Upper Lachute.

Business Under New Ownership

After more than 35 years in the blacksmith business here, Ernest Rogers, well-known townsman of Lachute, has sold his establishment at the C.P.R. station yard. The new proprietor is Henri Daigle, who came here from Drummondville a short time ago and started an enterprise registered as Lachute Engineering, in premises north of Main Street toward the river.

Mr. Rogers worked for Andrew Elliott, former owner of the blacksmith establishment, for many years, taking over the enterprise in his own name in 1919. The business was housed in an old frame building until, 12 years ago, it was swept by a fire originating in the Leger Garage next door. Mr. Rogers then built more substantial quarters of cement block, including the destroyed garage. This latter is included in the building now taken over by Mr. Daigle.

—When asked if he was ready for retirement, Mr. Rogers replied with an emphatic "No!"

WORTH PEPPING UP

The agricultural fair in Canada has been a great factor in social and economic progress. After the war it may be a bigger and better influence than ever before. But continuance of the tradition during these difficult years is also important . . . and it is an effort worthy of support.

First Hand Impressions from Conference Scene at Quebec

By D. R. WILSON and R. A. GILES,
Representatives of Canadian Weekly Newspapers

Quebec, Sept. 16 — After a lapse of just over a year, the ancient City of Quebec has once more become the busy hub of the world's revolving wheel — and when we say busy we mean busy. The British Empire, its leader, Hon. Winston Churchill, and the United States of America, its President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, have been in conference to discuss recent developments and the future welfare of the whole nation — yes the whole world. That Russia is not present at this meeting bears no reflection on that country, but on the contrary would suggest that the rapid advance of the Russians requires even that Mr. Stalin, with his great wisdom and strategy, remain on the job that no stone be left unturned for a speedy victory.

Meanwhile we presume there will shortly be a three or four power conference at which Premier Stalin and Chiang Kai Shek will both be present.

Premier Mackenzie King was on hand as host to the visitors and, as was the case a year ago, the Chateau has been a hive of industry.

Accompanying the two great personages were their wives, Mrs. Churchill and Mrs. Roosevelt, who expressed pleasure at again meeting. After attending various dinners and functions in their honor the latter left for New York on Thursday afternoon, after visiting the C.W.A.C. Barracks with Mrs. Churchill, who later paid a call to Red Cross Headquarters.

Hon. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, Sir Edric Steed, Undersecretary of State for War, and Sir Godfroy Quel, Director General of Manpower, were also present, together with Sir Alexander Cadogan, British Permanent Undersecretary of State for Foreign Affairs, assisting in the deliberations.

Naturally there was the odd interlude between sessions for a little relaxation. During one of these Mr. Churchill paid a visit to Sir Eugene Fiset, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, at Spencerwood, where on looking out on the splendor of the St. Lawrence River he pronounced the view as one of the grandest sights in the world.

The newly elected Premier, Hon. Maurice Duplessis, with his Cabinet welcomed him at the provincial legislature buildings. On this visit Mr. Churchill was accompanied by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and attended by Maj.-General Pope, Military Secretary to the Canadian War Cabinet and Military Staff Officer to the Prime Minister, also Commander Thompson, Mr.Churchill's Secretary and Naval Aide.

Due to the recent change in political parties in Quebec's provincial election Mr. Duplessis assumed the honors and it was to be expected that relations both from a war and political attitude would be more or less estranged. However, the jovial nature of Mr. Churchill quickly manifested itself and the ice was soon broken. In bidding farewell to Mr. King, however, Mr. Duplessis said "I wish you good health, but not good luck," at which both laughed.

When we mentioned the word "busy" we really meant it, for there were more than 150 correspondents present — some 70 Americans, 50 Canadian and 30 foreign, including D. R. Wilson, of the Shawinigan Standard, and R. A. Giles, of the Lachute Watchman, representatives of the Canadian Weekly Press.

Deal Completed to Acquire Hammond Mill, Water Rights

The deal for transfer of the Hammond mill and water rights to Lachute Town Corporation has been completed, the deed of purchase from Lemuel Hammond having been signed by Mayor J. S. Giles and Secretary Germain Filion on behalf of the Town. This measure was passed with approval of the town council at its last session, in the interests of safeguarding Lachute's water supply, since growing demands had encroached on the Hammond mill power and future needs might require still further diversion of water for the town system.

Through this deal the Town Corporation has acquired:

1. Mr. Hammond's complete industrial establishment en bloc, including all land, house, buildings, mill, machinery and tools, dam, flume, turbine and the full water power and water rights;

2. Mr. Hammond's interests in the outlet of Robinson's Lake, shown on the map as Williams' Lake;

3. Final settlement in full of all possible claim against the town for use of excess water during the past years.

The purchase, at a cash price of $14,000, after decision of the town council was given the necessary approval of Quebec Municipal Commission. It is stated there appears good prospect of disposing of the mill, machinery and properties in connection with the site.

Most people live the materialistic philosophy without knowing it, and know the Christian philosophy without living it.

SOMETHING TO PIN ON YOUR CONSCIENCE

In the 6th Victory Loan our Armed Forces purchased 47 million dollars of Victory Bonds. That's what the men who are doing the actual fighting in this war think of the importance to Victory and to themselves of buying bonds and more bonds.

Think that one over!

In Brownsburg

Specially contributed to The Watchman

Brownsburg—Two old businesses changed hands recently and improvements are now being carried out in the newly acquired premises.

One, an up-to-date meat market, was really needed and supplies a long felt want. A new general hardware store is also an aquisition and should prove a boon to builders and home improvement workers.

Saturday was kiddies' day in this community, and full advantage was taken of the glorious sunshine to enjoy the numerous attractions provided by the C-I-L picnic committee. Adult attendance was on the small side, but the number of youngsters present was a revelation as to the child population of this district.

The field events, with which the amusements opened, were by no means short of competitors — and no ill-feeling was engendered at the distribution of prizes, as every entrant got one. In the more advanced events some keenly contested races provided thrills for the crowd. The C-I-L service men's race was an outstanding event, with Percy Martin nosing out Herman Zimmer just at the finish line. Bill Hewitt was right there to see who had won, but Bill Brown and Fred Hosgood arrived after the race was run. It was all good fun, and thoroughly enjoyable.

Among the sideshows the bingo set-up was a stellar attraction. Maybe Pat was the lodestone of mirth, but Pun was a spicy addition (no pun intended, of course). Pat's sombrero would have shaded Roy Rogers', while his "copia verborum" would do justice to a Barnum presentation. The prizes were "numerous and beautiful."

Jimmy Murdoch entertained the children with a competence born of long practice — born for the part.

Mr. Harry Gardiner was back in the old stand in charge of the committee tent — reminiscent of old times.

Denis Staniforth, Reg Wallace and Ernie Gagne were among the busiest members of the working committee. Altogether it was a very pleasant afternoon.

* * *

After our note of last week apropos of the non-voting of money to asphalt the streets of Brownsburg, the council held a hurried meeting and decided to take action to have the promised grant implemented by the present government. The mayor was authorized to get in touch with the Hon. Mr. Talbot, minister of roads, but up to the time of writing has not been able to make progress. The whole road question is in a muddled state in this locality, and several important matters are coming up for discussion at the next meeting. In one instance joint property owners disposed of a piece of council property which is now required for road widening purposes and has to be recovered before the surface coats are applied. A new sidewalk along the Pariseau residence has been erected several inches outside the owner's property line, leaving a dangerous channel on the inside of the sidewalk. In the interests of safety to pedestrians and the avoidance of lawsuits, these are matters needing attention.

Flight Strips Along Highways

Interprovincial Roads Conference to Discuss Future Possibilities

New features in the matter of highway development in the future will be discussed at the forthcoming Interprovincial Conference of Highway Ministers, their deputy ministers and engineers, to be held at Kentville, N.S., on September 26 and 27.

A suggestion will be put forward that highway and airway traffic go hand in hand by the construction of "flight strips" or narrow landing fields, adjacent to highways as a solution for the needs of communities with small population in order that they may take advantage of the coming development in air travel. A paper on this will be presented by J. D. Millar, deputy minister of Highways, Province of Ontario.

What highway transportation will be like in Canada after the war, and what will have to be done to effectively regulate it, will be forecast in a paper by W. G. Robertson, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Automobile Association, who has kept close tab on automotive developments during the war period.

The principles of soil mechanics, as applied to highway design and construction, will be explained to the conference by Earl S. Bennett, of the Department of Public Works, New York, one of the outstanding soils engineers of the North American Continent. Their practical application to the design and construction of subgrades, stabilized base courses, underground drainage, frost action prevention and so on, and the importance of a soils laboratory as a service unit in a highway department will be demonstrated.

The conference is being held under the auspices of the Canadian Good Roads Association, in place of their annual convention, with the co-operation of the Canadian provincial governments.

AUSSIES HIT SNAG IN RUBBER SEARCH

Sydney, Australia (CP) — The hunt for rubber raised hopes in Australia that the Madagascar rubber vine which grows freely in northern Queensland could be exploited. In some towns it is used for decorative hedging and in other places it has become a pest because of its rapid growth and extensive root development.

The Department of Organic Chemistry at Sydney University investigated but found the vine too low in rubber content to be a practical proposition under Australian economic conditions of the future and manpower stringency of the present. The department was disappointed because the plant is disease-free, is avoided by livestock and responds quickly to rain.

CHRIST CHURCH, ST. ANDREWS EAST, CELEBRATING 125th ANNIVERSARY

Christ Church, St. Andrews East, will mark the occasion of its 125th anniversary with special observances on Wednesday, September 27. This historic old church dates back to the establishment of the first resident clergyman of the Anglican faith this side of the Ottawa River, and the first stages in erection of a church building, in 1819.

On Wednesday evening the congregation will welcome the Rt. Rev. John H. Dixon, Bishop of Montreal, as guest preacher, and a luncheon will be served afterwards for the parishioners and guests of the occasion. The following Sunday, October 1, Communion will be celebrated at the morning service by the Very Rev. J. F. Morris, Montreal.

The first services of the Church of England for the pioneer settlers of the Ottawa Valley were held in 1805 by the Rev. Richard Bradford, a missionary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, stationed in Chatham. His first services at St. Andrews were in 1811.

In July, 1818, the first resident Anglican clergyman, the Rev. Joseph Abbott, M.A., arrived from England. He and two of his successors were maintained to a great extent by the church in the Old Country through the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel.

His first efforts to establish a parish required the building of a rectory. This was begun in 1818, and completed the following year. Work on the church was begun in 1819, and the main building was completed in 1821. It had no chancel, spire, vestry or gallery. These were added at later dates.

In the year 1829 the parish was elevated to a rectorate by the Lord Bishop of Quebec. At that time the rector of St. Andrews was the only Anglican clergyman living on the east side of the Ottawa River.

In 1818 the morning congregation at Christ Church numbered 300. By 1831 it had increased in numbers to require the erection of a gallery in the church. In 1863 the table of statistics states that the parish had 70 families, 100 communicants and 40 children on the Sunday School roll.

This rapidly growing parish of 100 years ago has decreased considerably in later years due to migration to the west and the influx of the French.

The present congregation is faithfully endeavoring to keep the church in good repair — a church which houses many beautiful memorials to early parishioners and historic personages.

St. Andrews Parish is now under the pastorate of the St. Simeon's rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang, Lachute.

B.C. MAN DEVELOPS HUGE BLUEBERRIES

New Westminster, B.C. (CP) — Blueberries the size of small plums will be available in the future as the result of experiments carried out by E. W. Johnston on his blueberry farm on Lulu Island. He developed two blueberries on one bush this year — each berry measured one inch in diameter.

One of the secrets of successful blueberry cultivation is to grow plants from cuttings instead of seedlings and to prune shortly after the New Year, Mr. Johnston said.

If you live entirely for yourself, your life work is entirely too small.

What Do you Mean — 'Sacrifice'?

We speak of sacrifice here in Canada.

Yet none has the right to unless he has lost an arm or a leg or a life — or a son.

Is rationing a sacrifice?

Not until that day when you must leave the table hungry.

Is leaving your car in the garage a sacrifice?

Not until a bomb drops on it and blows it, and you and your children, to Kingdom Come.

Is buying Victory Bonds a sacrifice?

Not until a gilt-edged security can be called a "sacrifice."

Have you bought all the Victory Bonds you can?

CITIZENSHIP COUNTS

We have been hearing . . . clamor . . . for action in regard . . . to some of our racial minorities, particularly the Doukhobors and Japanese. . . . What is desired is that these people should become good Canadian citizens and fit completely into the pattern of our Canadian life and culture. Canada may be partly to blame for not keeping before them at all times those responsibilities and that they must be undertaken if they are allawed to remain here.

How Egg Powder Is Made for Britain

The drying of eggs for delivery to Britain in the form of powder is an example of the highly developed methods in the production of Canadian food products. The work is carried on under the Special Products Board.

The success of Canadian egg powder really begins with the high quality of the shell eggs used, while the drying plants, of which there are nine at present, are models of sanitation. No detail is overlooked. The lids of all cases of the graded and inspected eggs must be removed outside the breaking room, and the eggs transferred to sanitary buckets. From the buckets they are taken directly to the breaking table and broken by girls in white overalls. A stainless steel knife is used to break the eggs into a stainless steel cup on a tray, and as each egg is cracked and the shell separated, the girls raise it to about chin level, dropping the contents into the cup with a quick expert jerk. This removes the thin albumen which would otherwise stick to the shell.

When two or three eggs have been broken, they are again examined for odours, to avoid a possible undesirable egg contaminating the contents of the cup and consequently of the whole bucket. When the cup is full, the liquid eggs are poured into a bucket; the bucket is emptied into a settling tank equipped with sieves, and from there it is pumped from a line filler to holding vats. From these vats, the melange can either be pumped to the drier or poured into moulds and put into a sharp freezer. The melange arrives at the vats at low temperature around 35 to 40 degrees, and from the vats, high pressure pumps force it directly to the drier.

When the melange comes from the nozzle it resembles a small cloud of mist which is immediately picked up by the inlet air and carried part of the way in the air current before it becomes dry and falls as a powder to the bottom of the chamber. The powder is continually removed by an auger and conveyed to the sifter. As the powder travels, it is cooled to a temperature of at least 80 degrees F., the specified temperature at which powder must be packed. The packaging is a process which requires full supervision, in common with every phase of converting a shell egg into dried egg powder.

Humble By-Product Comes Into Its Own

We hope every cheese producer read the story in our recent edition of how whey, now a despised and useless product in many factories, is being used to such good advantage in the making of the wonder drug penicillin, and also a powder to help treat burns suffered by the men in battle. It is a story we have wanted to tell readers for some months, but for some reason permission to use it was refused, although hundreds of persons must have known the details. Well, that is the way they do things in wartime.

This was actually the story of another great achievement of the dairy industry and an indication of the type of thing science may have in store for agriculture after the war. There is no knowing what may be made from present by-products and trash. Even this use of whey may be increased, in time there may be a real demand for all that our cheese factories can spare. —Ottawa Farm Journal

Depth of Ploughing

(Experimental Farm News)

Experiments have been conducted at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Nappan, N.S., over a period of years, comparing depths of ploughing for oats and swedes. The plots are located on a medium clay loam soil, with a heavy clay subsoil. Timothy sod is ploughed for oats at 3, 6 and 9 inch depths in both fall and spring.

The average yields over a period of 8 years are as follows: Ploughed in fall, 3 inches, 44.9 bushels; 6 inches, 46.2 bushels; 9 inches, 47.7 bushels. Ploughed in spring — 3 inches, 36.2 bushels; 6 inches, 36.3 bushels; 9 inches, 39.4 bushels.

Stubble land ploughed at these depths previous to swedes has given average yields over a 9-year period as follows: Fall ploughed, 3 inches, 8.7 tons; 6 inches, 8.7 tons; 9 inches, 8.8 tons. Spring ploughed, 3 inches, 9.6 tons; 6 inches, 9.3 tons; 9 inches, 9.0 tons.

While the average yields of oats are slightly in favor of deep ploughing, the yields have varied from year to year and the differences to date cannot be considered significant.

Swede yields do not show any significant differences between depths. Ploughing at a 3-inch depth requires more time to plough properly and more cultivation to control grass and weed growth than is necessary on deeper ploughed land. The 9-inch depth requires more power to plough and when the land is dry, it is difficult, with ordinary equipment, to plough this type of soil at that depth. Considering all factors, the data to date indicate that on this soil type, 5 to 7 inches is the most practical depth of ploughing sod land for grain or stubble land for roots.

Intrepid Raiders Outwit Fate to Return with Plane

The following story from the Toronto Telegram concerns W/O Bill McAdam, grandson of W. R. McAdam who, although now resident in Chapleau, Ont., has many interests in these parts. (Mr. McAdam's youngest son, incidentally, is a lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Engineers, now serving in France).

A member of the Snowy Owl Squadron, R.C.A.F. Bomber Group Overseas, W/O McAdam recently logged his 21st mission as a pilot. Part of his training was served at St. Eugene, when he flew many times over Brownsburg and this district. He enlisted at the age of 18. Decorations reported last week list him as winner of the D.F.C. — an award presumably in recognition of the exploit here recounted.

• • •

A wounded Toronto pilot and his air-bomber, who did an emergency job of navigation, teamed up recently to write a dramatic story of a bombing operation successfully completed.

Hit twice by heavy fire from German ground defences, the youthful crew from the Snowy Owls Squadron, making their maiden trip, got through to the target — Stuttgart — and finally landed at an emergency field in England.

"G" for George was about ten minutes from Stuttgart when the first rain of flak tore into the aircraft, damaging the fuselage, the starboard inner engine, starboard tire, domb-doors and hydraulics. Husky 20-year-old Sergeant Bill McAdam, 98 Glendonwynne Road, the skipper, was hit in both legs and wrists, and the navigator was also hit. McAdam told his crew over the inter-com. that he was all right and proceeded to the target. With bombs away, the air-bomber, Sergeant Norman Ranson of Lindsay, took over the job of navigating the ship home.

"G" for George started to lose altitude on three engines and shortly after leaving the target another burst of flak hit the ship, tearing a huge, gaping hole in the tail-plane. The big bomber dropped to 14,000 feet before crossing the German border, 6,000 feet over France and as low as 4,500 feet over the Channel.

McAdam finally brought the ship down at an emergency landing field with wing bomb-doors open, starboard wing peppered and ploughing into grass and gorse bushes 150 yards away from a cliff.

"It wasn't until McAdam crawled out that we knew he had been wounded," said the wireless operator. "He made a wonderful job of landing the ship and we're proud of him."

"You can double that for the navigator, too," exclaimed the rear-gunner. "Ranson brought us all the way home and never got off route. The navigator's compass was shot, and he used the pilot's compass. He had only a bit of navigation at O.T.U. but the way he handled this job you'd think he'd been a navigator all his life."

"Tenting Tonight"

But not by choice! He neglected that leaky roof for so long that he's out in the open spaces right in his own house, every time it rains! That's the worst of worn roofing! You let it go and then pretty soon you discover you need a whole new roof, not to mention repairs to your walls and ceilings as a result of water damage.

Why not re-roof now, with cedar shingles . . . the old reliable type of shingles that will give you economy and years of service. Call today for a free estimate!

GOB STARTS FARM IN THE ALEUTIANS

An Aleutian Island Base (CP) — "Just leave it to 'Red'!" said the mess officers of a Navy unit here as the livestock they had ordered from the States began to arrive. So "Red", erstwhile Ohio farmer whom war has changed to a seaman, returned to his element as the first "farmer" in these northern islands. There's a real barnyard now, with a small Ayrshire dairy cow and two dozen chickens already here, and a sow with a mixed litter en route. "Red" says he's better at his new job than he is swabbing decks.

The happiness of life depends less upon what befalls us than upon the way in which we take it.

Roll Out the Cracker-Barrel

OVER-THE-COUNTER talk at the country store is in for its greatest revival in more than a quarter-century. In not too many months the old standard topics will go by the board as new philosophers straddle the cracker-barrels. The boys in blue and khaki will be coming home.

The weather will go into the discard and that 25-pound muskie will be second-rate stuff when Jim and Joe clomp into the social circle. There may be an election or two left in the politicians' bag but they'll rate as conversational also-rans unless they're hauled out in a hurry.

It's no favor to the lads in the slit-trenches and back of the guns to talk too soon about peace but they realize they're on the last hard lap before the end. Right now they're getting set to tell in person what they couldn't put on paper in the Sally Ann.

They'll have stories of bearded Goums at Algiers and turbaned Sikhs at Rimini and of beautiful girls in a Paris finally free. They'll tell of the shell-lit night at Messina and the Apennines' rain-lashed mud; of Normandy's bullet-clipped hedges and victory-cheered villages of ravaged France.

And always in their tales they'll come back to the unhurried folk of southern England, the thatched roofs and the hop fields and the winding hedge-banked lanes. They'll say that Old Country people know how to live, how to merge themselves into the history they have made. They'll wonder why Canada somehow lacks the easy-going friendliness of the English pub.

Those boys-grown-men who have given their lives' best years to make life at home worth the living, are the hope of a world where hope not long ago was fading. They promise a new broadness of thought to a country sometimes too preoccupied with its own problems. Every village store will be a forum for new ideas.

When the flags break out, the folks who stayed behind must make sure the old home town is as good a place as it seemed to the boys in their lonely days across the seas.

Invasion Costs Big Money

EVEN BEFORE the soldier landed on the beach, expensive equipment had to make way for him. The softening up process by bombers and naval guns meant an initial cost running into millions of dollars. Heavy bombers cost about $300,000, medium bombers about $110,000 and fighter planes about $50,000. To make one medium bomber takes about 13,000 man hours. Food from 20 acres is needed to feed the workers who turn out one bomber. Large bombers take about 27,000 man hours.

The expenditure is not in planes alone. Bombs weighing up to 4,000 pounds cost about $875. Another detail, oxygen masks for the crew of a Lancaster Bomber, cost about $40. To [illegible] mask is attached a regulator costing $60 and a $25 oxygen cylinder from which the flyer draws his breath of life.

In one day of combat, an infantry division can expend 300 tons of ammunition.

Ten .50 caliber machine guns firing at a maximum rate of fire for two hours and five minutes would use one million rounds of ammunition. It takes 1,832 workers to produce this number of rounds in one day.

In one hour of firing, a 75 mm. gun on Canadian Sherman tanks expends 7,250 pounds of copper, 3,000 pounds of zinc and 42,750 pounds of steel.

A 105 mm. cannon can shoot out more than three tons of steel in one hour of firing. The cost of the cannon, without the shells it uses, is about $13,000.

Maintenance alone of a single soldier overseas requires 65 pounds of supplies per man per day. For every 100 men overseas with 100 rifles, 60 more rifles must be shipped each year to replace those that are lost or damaged. For every 100 machine-guns, 85 replacements must be sent.

And now, on the home front comes the command — back up our fighting men with the biggest Victory Loan of all. Our duty is clear.

"Buy extra bonds in this Campaign."

But, whoever you are, wherever you may be, ask yourself this question: "What have I done today that some mother's son should die for me tonight?" Then put your extra $100 — $200 — or $300 into Victory Bonds. It's for Victory!

Future for Lumber Industry

THE CANADIAN lumber industry will be in a favored spot when the war is over. Negotiations have been in process between the British Timber Control Office and eastern and western Canadian lumbermen for the export of 2,400,000,000 feet of lumber in the two years after, and this will involve a transaction of nearly $140,000,000. Canada is expected to become the chief source of lumber for British reconstruction in the immediate post-war years, because of the heavy demands on all the Baltic countries except Sweden for their own domestic reconstruction. Britain's demands for lumber can be gauged by the report that the robot bombs damaged or destroyed a million homes or buildings in their own little "blitz."

Expecting A Mild Winter

FORECASTS point to a mild winter — Not the kind of forecast based on nuts and squirrels, or the thickness of fur on a wild rabbit; but the prediction of no less an authority than Dr. R. E. DeLury, of the Dominion Observatory, Ottawa. And his opinions have warranted the following comment in our contemporary, the Granby Leader. . . .

Dr. DeLury bases his forecast on the sun spots. This year we are in the middle of a sun spot minimum which occurs approximately every 11 years. This means that the temperature for the average day is from one to two degrees higher, which had something to do with the hot summer. It also means clear, frosty days and nights. The nights will be colder because the clearness of the atmosphere allows more heat to escape.

According to the sun spot cycle the nights last winter should have been clear and cold, but a new volcano starting up in a Mexican farmer's field changed all that, says Dr. DeLury. The blanket of volcanic dust that floated as far north as Canada kept heat from escaping and allowed drops of water in the atmosphere to condense around the particles, forming fogs.

Another result was that sunsets last winter were orange-red colors, instead of the steely-green that usually comes with a cool, transparent atmosphere.

Sun spots are large circular disturbances of burning gases, rushing out from the sun's surface in a motion like a whirlwind. Above them are white clouds giving off ultra-violet rays which break up the atoms in our atmosphere. As a result the electrons become nuclei for water vapor to form clouds around.

Rainfall has a definite connection with the sun spot cycle. Near the coast where there is lots of moisture in the atmosphere high rainfall comes at the maximum part of the cycle. But inland, where air currents have a chance to come into effect, heaviest rainfall comes with the minimum part of the cycle.

This had something to do with the ample rain that gave the prairies and Western Ontario their best crop in years but the Eastern dryness has yet to be investigated.

Dr. DeLury is looking forward to the time when records have been kept long enough to enable experts to deduce accurately in advance how much coal should be ordered.

"WHEN ALL other countries had been crushed, England, in her heroic resistance against the tyrant who had enslaved all the European territories, fought in a manner for which we shall ever be thankful. The way for our country to express her gratitude in such circumstances, was to help to the limit of their resources those who had protected them against a tyrant whose victory would have meant enslavement perhaps for centuries." — Vincent Dupuis, M.P. for Chambly-Rouville, in the Canadian House of Commons, July 11, 1944.

CANADA'S wide spaces are yearning for human habitation and husbandry, and we should open our gates. . . . After all it is a people and not a land that make a nation. Canada would be one of the greatest nations in the world if territory were the measure of greatness.

CANADA YEAR BOOK ISSUED FOR 1943-44

The 1943-44 edition of the Canada Year Book is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. On grounds of wartime economy, the 1943 edition of the Year Book was not published and the present volume has therefore been planned to cover developments over a two-year period.

The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.

Special War Articles

The war has now cut deeply into the national economic structure and the statistics of almost every chapter of this edition reflect the extent to which war production and wartime controls have played their parts in maintaining output and supporting the price structure against growing pressures from all sides.

Public Finance is the backbone of the war effort and this chapter has been recast to adequately cover the developments taking place. The all-important subject of National Income receives new and extended treatment in Part I. Part II deals with the subject of Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Finance; a new field is covered in Part III, where outstanding developments in taxation are discussed.

Other New Features

Attention is called to some of the more important features of the present volume that do not relate specifically to the war.

Chapter I — Physiography — contains two feature articles: The Canadian Government's Reindeer Experiment, at pp.17-23, and Meteorology Related to the Science of Aviation, at pp. 24-29.

Chapter III — Constitution and Government — an article on Canada's Present Status in the British Commonwealth of Nations appears at pp. 41-47.

Chapter IV — Population — presents as complete a picture of the 1941 Census as will appear in any one edition of the Year Book.

In Chapter X — Fur Resources and Fur Production — the subject of the Development of Marshlands in Relation to Fur Production and the Rehabilitation of Fur Bearers is dealt with at pp. 267-269.

Recent studies have stimulated the public discussion of questions concerning Social Welfare and the Post-War Rehabilitation of Personnel from the Armed Forces. Two new chapters bring together the work Canada is already doing in these fields.

The Introduction of the Year Book is a wartime feature which gives a detailed account of Canada's war effort and a review of economic conditions at the time of going to press. And the concluding chapter contains information on Dominion legislation of 1942-43, and principal events of the period, official appointments, etc. The volume is carefully indexed, and includes two lithographed maps and many charts and diagrams.

By a special concession, a limited number of paper-bound copies have been set aside for ministers of religion, bona fide students and school teachers, who may obtain such copies at the nominal price of $1 each. Application with remittance for these special copies must be forwarded to the Dominion Statistician, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.

The Soil Decides

(London Free Press)

Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of the Dominion Experimental Farms, recently drew attention to a fact which is easily overlooked in the midst of all our discussions, dissertations, laws, plans and conferences.

Said he: "I cannot too strongly emphasize the fact that, next to our farmers' own ability, the soils of Canada will continue to govern our food production. . . . Legislation and conferences will not do it."

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By Jim Greenblat

Coming up for the week of October 8-14th, Canada will again observe "Fire Prevention Week," deemed so important that it is announced by Proclamation in the Canada Gazette. The Dominion Fire Commissioner flatly states there are too many fires on Canadian farms as well as towns and cities. During the past ten years 470,000 fires in the Dominion have destroyed insurable property valued at more than $264,000,000, and during that period 2,869 persons lost their lives as a result of fires. That's something to think about.

You mightn't think it, but the dian contribute passively to, the ment is another weapon in the fight to keep down the cost of living, and the same is true of "saving", both having the same result, i.e., helping to pay for the war and curbing excess purchasing power. Through supporting price and wage controls Canadians contribute passively to the success of the stabilization policy to keep down the cost of living. Through taxation and increased savings they can make an active contribution, and a very important one. That is something to remember when the War Finance organization starts functioning again for Victory through another loan.

No one envies the work of the Federal Labor Department which has the tough job of having directed toward it most of the labor and industrial disputes which arise. It is encouraging to hear a report from the department, though, that there has been a decided reduction in time lost through strikes in the first six months of 1944, compared with the same period of 1943. Preliminary figures show that 51,000 workers were involved in 110 disputes, with a loss of 330,000 man hours. In last year's 6-month period there were 208 disputes, with 100,000 workers and a loss of nearly 516,000 man-hours.

Venereal disease has been very effectively handled by the Canadian Army authorities. Its campaign against one of the oldest health problems has shown results. From a disease rate in the Canadian Army of 62 per thousand at the beginning of the war, V.D. casualties have now been brought down to 24 per thousand a year, a reduction of nearly two-thirds. No soldier found to be infected will be allowed to return to civilian life until given suitable treatment and receiving a clean bill-of-health.

When the liner "Gripsholm" sailed recently for Sweden to exchange German and Allied prisoners of war, it also carried 1,500 bags of parcels for Canadian prisoners of war in Germany. When the Canadian Post Office department found there would be space for mail, quick arrangements were made to include 1,110 bags of parcel post, on hand in New York. Usually they go through Switzerland, by way of Marseille, but since the latter is now in the battle zone, parcel post had accumulated in New York. New labels were quickly printed in Ottawa, flown to New York and that's the story behind the story.

There's still worry about the coal situation in this country and the Munitions Department advises householders, especially in certain regions, to place orders at once for delivery when the dealer can deliver. Since war started Canadian coal consumption has jumped about 70 per cent from 28,000,000 short tons in 1939-40 to an estimated 47,000,000 short tons for 1944-45. Our imports from the U.S.A. doubled in the last 3½ years, but their own domestic consumption increase makes further importation difficulties for us.

An unheralded new industry in Canada is highlighted by refugees allowed in, and many have come here since 1938 establishing industries of consequence. "Canada at War" reports that nearly 5,000 workers are employed by these industries, 87% of them Canadian with a total annual payroll of $6,727,000. The five biggest industries — producing from $1 million to $9 million worth of goods each a year — are turning out 80 to 100% war materials. The majority of these industries have settled in the east: 26 in Ontario, 17 in Quebec, and one each in Saskatchewan and British Columbia. More than half are introducing new skills, new techniques or new products to Canadian economy. From special curing and canning of hams to the first factory to cut and polish diamonds for tools.

To endeavor to give detail of what has transpired during the week is an absolute impossibility but suffice it to say that there have been continuous sleepless nights, all concerned working strenuously on future plans; presumably these will include ways and means of handling the military situation by the United Nations, as it will exist in Western Europe and Italy, after which will come the speedy transfer of all available power for the crushing of Japan.

As to how this latter can be most speedily accomplished is again a matter of speculation, for Russia, now on fair terms with Japan, may wish to still remain as such and confine her efforts to immediate repair and rehabilitation of her own devastated country.

At any rate every means will be taken by the remaining Allies for Japan's early defeat, and let us hope that Russia will continue with her most valuable aid.

In a nutshell, all the glorious news of the past year gives fair reason to believe that the present Quebec Conference will be followed by similar splendid successes in the Far Eastern theatre of war.

As We See Them

A symbol of Britain, Mr. Churchill stands out as tough and brave in adversity — at all times wise and broad-minded, but implacable when assailed.

Mr. Roosevelt, also a man inspired with courage and determination, protrays his high qualities in his very person, and has won his way into the hearts of the people of many nations.

Together they form a splendid team and may God give them health and strength to continue their arduous and vitally important duties.

Press Conference

These duties were brought forcibly to mind in the Press Conference held Saturday afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock, at the Citadel, when after a long and tiresome wait, due to the Honorary Degree of D.DL. being conferred upon Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, the first occasion in the history of McGill University where convocation has ever taken place outside the campus, the press were finally admitted. Needless to say, it was a mad scramble as to who had preferred positions, but the C.W.N.A. representatives were well to the front and had the honor of greeting the leaders of Great Britain, United States and Canada.

The first speaker, President Roosevelt, expressed pleasure at meeting again in Quebec City and as we have surmised in the above, spoke as follows: "We have made plans, as far as any human being can possibly make plans today. Things are moving very rapidly and we have many thoughts on major operations. We are unable to state a specific date when the European war will end but the sooner the better. When this occurs, Army, Navy and Air Forces will be unitedly used against Japan — a war of quick conclusion.

"It is not a question of one nation running the whole show, or naming a Supreme Command; it is a question of finding room and opportunity of marshalling our entire resources against Japan, the difficulty of which consists in bringing all opportunities of men and munitions together, there being so much sea and so little land space.

In closing his remarks Mr. Roosevelt said, "We are glad to be here again, and we consider Quebec an ideal spot for a conference, with Prime Minister King and the Governor General as our hosts."

Mr. Churchill then spoke for some minutes and sanctioned Mr. Roosevelt's remarks, stating that he had been pressing the United States President for another conference. "While the telegraph is a wonderful medium, it does not take the place of personal contact and I felt a further meeting was long overdue."

Referring to last year's gathering, Mr. Churchill pointed out that the conference was not an idle and useless meeting, but "from it came arrangements by which large armies were hurled across the channel to liberate the beautiful land of France, so long under the heel of Hitler."

Continuing, he said, "While one part of our task is nearing completion, there is another which has to be understood in common — we have need to consider, when after the downfall of Nazi Europe the enormous forces can be applied as quickly as possible to the will of those they have outraged."

"I read", he said, "in papers one inch thick, compared with ours of meagre proportions, that Britain is trying to shirk her duty and wishes to throw the whole burden upon the United States. The only point to be adjusted is that the United States is keeping too much to itself. However, an amicable agreement has been reached and all forces that possibly can be united will be used against Japan. There is no feeling of animosity but all will assert their rights to be in at the kill."

"So what," he continued. "We have not told you of our plans from day to day, as they must of necessity be kept secret." "The enemy will, and have learned the results and what was once a design will become a mortal blow. So let it be with this conference. Just in the same way as we worked out details in the last conference, I cannot doubt but our present plans will also work out; our enemies must be stripped of the powers to molest the world."

"We have conducted a successful war on a scale and with a measure of success you will go far to match. Do not fear about the future. The same progress which has led us in the past will bring us through until the long strain of war is over."

"And so gentlemen," he concluded, "it has been a pleasure meeting with you, and probably at our next conference we will be enabled to unfold to you the plans which we have made on this occasion."

Prime Minister King in a few remarks thanked the speakers for their interview and extended a cordial invitation to attend a dinner at the Chateau that evening.

So ended another vital and important conference of great leaders, who both proclaimed it one of the best and shortest yet on record.

Making History in Argenteuil

Mr. W. A. Houston, of the Molson's Bank, has been transferred to Brockville. His successor as local manager is Mr. Stead, of Ottawa.

About 100 of our citizens took the C.P.R. excursion to attend the Ottawa Fair.

Perley Scholarships entering grade eleven at Lachute Academy were won by Henry Smellie, Arundel, Margaret Cowan, St. Andrews East, and Alma Fletcher, Brownsburg.

Messrs. Lafleur and Lalonde were awarded contract by the Town for repairing and remodelling the town hall for a secretary's office and fire hall. Amount of the tender was $2,795.

The death of Mrs. Lackey, wife of the Rev. J. A. Lackey, Anglican rector, occurred on September 5 at Ottawa.

Considerable damage was caused by a windstorm which swept from the direction of Staynerville across the exhibition grounds and the farms of John Hay and George Staniforth.

IN MEMORIAM

STEWART — In ever loving memory of our dear son, Eden, who passed away September 22, 1943. — Loved and longed for by his mummie and daddy.

"What would we give to clasp your hand,
Your dear, sweet face to see,
To hear your voice, to see your smile —
That meant so much to us.
You left behind two broken hearts
That loved you most sincere,
We never did nor ever will Forget you, Eden dear."

Lieut. E. W. Dowd Dies of Wounds Received in Italy

Cushing West — News was received recently by relatives here of the death of Lieut Elbert Dowd, Royal Canadian Engineers, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman S. Dowd of Ottawa, and a nephew of Mrs. W. Usher and of Mr. C. F. Watson, of this place — his mother being formerly Miss Mary Watson of Cushing.

He was a graduate of Queen's University, where in 1941 he obtained the degree of Bachelor of Science in civil engineering. While at Queen's he was a member of the C.O.T.C., and on graduation he received his commission as lieutenant. After training at Petawawa he went overseas in October, 1941; in 1943 he was sent to Italy as a reconnaissance officer.

During his college days Elbert Dowd was outstanding as an all round athletic, and broke a number of records — notably the record for 120 yards high hurdles, at the McGill interscholastic meet in 1936, a record which still stands.

In addition to his parents he leaves three brothers, Lieut. Norman S. Dowd, Jr., with the Canadian Armored Corps in England, W/O Ainslie H. Dowd, R.C.A.F., attached to the R.A.F. in England, and Emerson C. Dowd, who is studying medicine at Queen's University. His two sisters are Mrs. R. E. Friegler, of Toronto, and Patricia, at home. His father, Norman S. Dowd, is executive secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

The heartfelt sympathy of this community, where Lieut. Dowd and his parents are well known, is tendered to the bereaved family.

BAD CONDITION OF ROUTE 30 PROVOKES MONTREAL MOTORIST

The following letter to the editor of the Montreal Star is reproduced on the suggestion of an Argenteuil resident, in the interests of many more from this vicinity who have suffered through prolonged operations in the road section here mentioned:

That Route 30 Is Still A Scandal

Sir, — Dust! Rocks! and more dust is the order of the day for Montrealers who have occasion to use Route 30, Lachute to Arundel. One wonders how any responsible government road administration in this day and age will allow a road to stay in the condition that this so called highway is in, between Lachute and Dalesville. A contractor has been working on this stretch of seven miles for nearly a year and the destruction of tires due to the sharp rocks and boulders, to say nothing of the harm to both engine and passengers from the blinding dust, is really serious.

A Montrealer pays the highest licenses and insurance for the privilege of operating his automobile, and roads such as this one ruin tires and the engine and mechanical parts, which add further cost. One round trip on this road has finished the tires for hundreds of motorists this year and nothing is done to finish the paving or to reduce the dust.

The question is, have we or have we not a responsible authority in the Quebec department of roads to see that a motorist gets what he pays so high for?

Frank L. Gegrage.

RECORD TAX RESPONSE

Brandon, Man. (CP) — All but $6 of a total Brandon City tax levy of $34,000 has been collected. Alderman James Kircaldy, who has had more than 40 years of experience in municipal affairs, said there has never been a similar response.

Brownsb'g Officer Married in Ontario

Uncle of Groom Officiates at Ceremony

Robbins - MacDonald

Wall Street United Church at Brockville was the scene of a pretty ceremony Wednesday evening, September 13, when Miss Catherine Douglas MacDonald, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Edwin MacDonald, of Brockville, was united in marriage to Lieut. Maurice Arthur Robbins, of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, Vimy Barracks, Kingston, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robbins, of Brownsburg. Major J. T. Robbins, of Toronto, uncle of the groom, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell. The church was decorated with pink and mauve asters and zinnias.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace over satin, with sweetheart neckline, long torso, sleeves ending in points over the hands, and satin bowknots on the front panel. Her only ornament was the groom's gift of single strand pearls. She carried an all white shower bouquet.

Miss Frances Joan Smith, of Collingwood, Ont., was maid-of-honor attired in a floor-length gown of larkspur blue sheer, with long torso, V-neck, and shirring trim. Her head-dress was of pink and blue flowers with blue veiling. She carried a pink and blue nosegay.

Little Miss Julie Woods, Brockville, as flower girl, wore a floor-length dress of pale eyelet with pink sash and head-dress. She carried a miniature pink and blue nosegay.

Lieut. Earl Russell, R.C.C.S., was the groomsman. The ushers were Lieut. Harry Wooten and Lieut. J. J. Chisnall, both of the R.C.C.S. The wedding music was played by Mrs. R. E. Dallyn.

A reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home, where refreshments were served to a large number of guests.

Mrs. MacDonald, mother of the bride, in a dress of amethyst crepe with bead trim, and Mrs. Robbins, the groom's mother, wearing grey crepe with silver bead trim, assisted in receiving the guests.

For travelling on a brief motor honeymoon, the bride chose a paddy green wool suit with brown accessories. The young couple will reside at Kingston while the groom is stationed with the R.C.C.S.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robbins, of Brownsburg, parents of the groom, and Major J. T. Robbins and Mrs. Robbins of Toronto, were among the guests who attended from a distance.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Lachute United Y.P.U. Fall Sessions Commence

The first meeting of the fall season for the Lachute United Church Young People's Union was held last evening with a very encouraging attendance.

The scripture, Psalm 27, was read by Miss Margaret Hammond and the Rev. W. B. Rosborough offered an appropriate prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Harold Deacon, the secretary, and the president, Jack F. Gorman, extended a welcome to the new members present.

The question of submitting a brief from this district to the Canadian Youth Commission on post-war problems in social, religious, health, educational and citizenship matters, was introduced by the president, and it was decided to leave the matter over until next week.

One of the last articles written by the late Stephen Leacock, and reproduced in the Reader's Digest, entitled, "I'm going to be a new man", was read by Miss Mae Gordon, and the short-story classic, "Pigs is Pigs" was read by Mrs. Jack Gorman.

After the meeting the group enjoyed a period of carpet bowling, table-tennis, darts and other games.

The meeting next week will be in charge of the Missionary convenors, Miss Vivian Rick and Miss Norma McClenaghan.

Dates for Anniversary Gatherings of United Church, Brownsburg

Brownsburg — A slight change has been made in the date of the United Church anniversary gatherings — from October 28-29 to October 14-15. The anniversary supper, under the auspices of the Senior and Junior Ladies' Auxiliaries, will take place on Saturday, October 14, commencing at 5 p.m. and followed at 8 p.m. by a grand concert given by the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Katsunoff and group, from the Church of All Nations, Montreal. Dr. Katsunoff will preach on Sunday morning, and the male quartet, accompanied by Mrs. Katsunoff, will render special numbers.

A joint meeting of both Auxiliaries was held Monday evening at the church to make final arrangements for the supper—the proceeds of which will be devoted towards the Overseas Fund, to provide Christmas boxes for boys on service.

Salvation Army Group Heard at Services in Lachute Baptist Church

Sunday last was a red-letter day for the members and friends of Lachute Baptist Church, the occasion being the visit of a party of Salvation Army workers (five of whom are members of one family) from Montreal. The services, conducted by the Rev. Harold Charlton, were well attended, and will not soon be forgotten by those who were present. The evening gathering was particularly large, and the character of the service was most interesting. In addition to the regular congregational singing, the visitors as a group sang two selections, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "I've anchored my soul in the haven of rest"; two young ladies of their number rendered a vocal duet, "Take up thy cross and follow me", and their brother sang, "Take time to be holy". Bible School scholars present among the congregation collectively quoted scripture verses, as did also many other individual members of the congregation, and the Young People's group of the church rendered their theme-song, "Jesus is the joy of living." It was agreed by all present that it was a day long to be remembered.

Local Girl Weds Airman in Rites At United Church

Dance - Ward

A pretty wedding took place at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, September 16, in Lachute United Church, when Miss Mildred Elinora Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Ward, of Lachute, was united in marriage to LAC. Robert Hicks Dance, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dance, of Paris, Ont., the Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiating.

The wedding music was played by Miss Ruth Todd, and during the signing of the register, Miss Mae Gordon sang "Oh Promise Me". White gladioli marked the guest pews and the church altar held gladioli of varied colors.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Miss Velma Ward, as maid-of-honor, by her cousin, Miss Olive Reilly, as bridesmaid, also by her niece, Silvia Ward, and Lucilla Lagasse as flower girls.

LAC. Melvin Johnson acted as groomsman and the ushers were LAC. William Dance, brother of the groom, LAC. Lewis Ballard, Tpr. George Cox and Pte. Donald Reilly.

The bride was dressed in a floor-length gown of white Laconne crepe made on princess lines, with sweetheart neckline and a slight train. Her veil was held in place by a wreath of white roses and she carried a bouquet of tea roses and heather. The bride's only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom.

The maid-of-honor wore a floor-length gown of dusty rose sheer, made on the same lines as the bride's dress, and carried a bouquet of orange gladioli and heather. The bridesmaid wore a floor-length gown of the same style in pale green sheer, and carried a bouquet of orange gladioli and heather. The little flower girls were both gowned in floor-length dresses of yellow taffeta and net, and carried old-fashioned nosegays of mixed flowers. The maid-of-honor and the bridesmaid wore pearls and the flower girls wore silver bracelets, the gifts of the groom.

Both Mrs. Ward, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Dance, mother of the groom, wore black street-length dresses, with black accessories; their corsage bouquets were of white carnations.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at McArthur's Hall, the room being decorated with mixed gladioli and greenery. Later the young couple left on their wedding trip for Toronto, Paris and other Ontario points. The bride travelled in a brown striped suit with brown accessories and beige topcoat, and she wore a corsage of tea roses.

Out-of-town guests included — Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Dance, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dance, Mr. and Mrs. John Dance, LAC. and Mrs. Wm. Dance, all of Paris, Ont.; Mrs. Fred J. Sullivan, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Copping, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Morrisey, Mr. William Snuggs and Miss Olive Coleman, all of Montreal; Mrs. Maude Kilpatrick and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kirkpatrick, of Mille Isles, and Mr. and Mrs. John Ward, of Cambria.

EUROPE'S RECOVERY PROBED BY EXPERTS

"How Can Europe Recover?" is the question asked in the next forum broadcast of the United Nations International Series. The discussion will originate in the BBC program, "Freedom Forum," and will be broadcast to listeners in Great Britain, the United States and Canada, going over the Trans-Canada Network of the CBC, on Saturday, September 23, at 9.00 p.m. EDT.

The Belgian economist and former prime minister, Paul Van Zeeland, is taking part in the debate, together with diplomatic representatives of France and Greece. Sir Frederick Whyte, K.C.S.I., permanent chairman of "Freedom Forum," will direct the discussion.

The program is the third BBC contribution to the United Nations International Series, which is presenting twelve broadcasts through the existing frameworks of the British forum and the CBS "People's Platform," on alternate Saturdays. The series has been arranged by the United Nations Office in New York.

Despite repeated warnings it is surprising to learn that many citizens have not yet procured their radio licenses. Provincial and federal check-up officers are in town this week and quite a number have been caught. This means they will be fined and will possibly have to appear in court, besides losing their day's earnings. In all, this will amount to a considerable sum and several times the price of a license. Is it worth taking the risk? . . . Those who have neglected to procure their licenses would be well advised to do so without delay. — Get in touch with any Canadian Legion member, or apply at the Watchman Office.

Donations Are Asked By Grenfell Mission

The Montreal Branch of the Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission is once more planning a fall shipment to the coast. Warm clothing for men, women and children is urgently needed. Discarded silk stockings and pieces of rayon are also useful to make hooked rugs. Children's toys and books are welcome.

Donations of any of these articles may be left at the Watchman Office. An early response is desired, in order to meet the shipment date from Montreal.

People never improve unless they look to some standard or example higher and better than themselves.

Mrs. W. Villeneuve was called suddenly to New York on Monday on account of the death of her brother-in-law. Mrs. Villeneuve and her sister, Mrs. Poole, of St. Laurent, together were proceeding to New York late Monday night.

Repairs now being made on the front of the Roman Catholic Church will greatly improve this building on the main street.

Cushing

Mrs. N. Bickley, of Montreal, and Mrs. C. H. Greenleaf, of Philadelphia, U.S.A., are guests of Mrs. W. Y. King at "Ingleside". Mrs. Greenleaf has travelled extensively in the South Sea Islands in the interests of the Christian Missionary Alliance.

Mrs. Albert Starnes, of Monalea, is making her home with her daughter, Mrs. H. V. Elliott, for the winter.

Mrs. R. T. Holmes, of Montreal, who has been sharing the home of Miss Alice Davidson for the summer months, left for her city home on Sunday morning.

Miss Annie and Mr. John McDowell occupied their summer home, "Glenifer", over the week-end.

Mrs. Cora Rourke, of Montreal, Mrs. Anchett, from western parts, and Miss Gertrude Bradford, of Chute à Blondeau, Ont., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Bradford and other Cushing friends on Saturday.

W.M.S. Meeting

Miss A. Davidson entertained St. Mungo's W.M.S. on Tuesday, when Mrs. Greenleaf gave a short but interesting talk on the natives of Papua. It was decided that this branch of the Society would shoulder its share of the $5,000 accepted by the Montreal Presbyterial as their allocation of the much-needed fund to assist our missionaries and other workers in war-pressed lands.

A recent report in the Montreal Star stated that Guardsman Archie Thompson had been wounded, and the story claimed him as a Verdun resident. However, the community of Cushing can also claim him, as for many years prior to his enlistment Archie had lived in this vicinity. His parents before moving to Verdun had been Argenteuil residents; his father was the late "Gus" Thompson, and his mother before her marriage was a Dalesville resident.

Lachute High School Has Impressive Honor Roll

Lachute High School honor roll now shows an impressive total of 241 former pupils enlisted in the Canadian armed forces, of whom 18 have paid the supreme sacrifice. The school honor roll was unveiled by the ex-chairman of the school board, George Y. Deacon, during the recent opening and prize distribution ceremony. The complete list, noting a further death reported since compiling of the roll, is given herewith.

Principal C. Howard Bradford solicits information on any former pupil in the services who may be omitted from the following roll, as every effort is being made to keep the record complete and up to date.

Frontier W.I. Holds Speaking Contest For Juveniles

Cushing — Frontier Branch of the W.I. were disappointed in not having Mr. Ross Beattie as guest speaker, on account of the slight illness which prevented him from attending.

The contest in public speaking was conducted, and although an invitation had been issued to children outside the membership, none but children of members contested. The results were as follows:

Junior section — Elaine Dixon, who for one so young gave a very good rendering of an article on "The Art of Public Speaking". The second prize winner, Vivian Heatlie, painted a very vivid picture in verse of "Autumn Flowers."

Intermediate section — Wilfa Murdoch and Donald Fuller tied for first place. Wilfa in her speech erplained why we have so many French laws, and Donald favored with an original tale, of his pet dog "Nipper." Irma Heatlie, third prize winner, recited "Vitai Lampada," a stirring inspiration to "Play up, play up and play the game."

Francis Murdoch had no competition in the senior section, but earned her prize by giving the story, in a very interesting manner, of Louis Hebert, the first French farmer to come to Canada.

An amusing but instructive contest had also been prepared for the adults in the form of sentences with one word missing — said word to spell the same backwards as forwards. First prize winner was Mrs. Alvin Heatlie — while Mrs. Archie Murdoch won the deciding question over Mrs. Walter Murdoch and Mrs. Douglas Clark, who tied with her for second place.

Run your life on honest lines and you won't have to worry about anyone reading between the lines.

We all make footprints in the sands of time. But some leave the imprint of a great soul — others just the marks of a heel.

Voluntary order and agreement here at home are as necessary as obedience to military orders at the front.

ENVIRONMENT COUNTS

The number of young men who have appeared in the local police court recently, when there are so few young men left to get into trouble, draws attention again to the need for a community centre making healthful recreation in a character - building environment available in town to the boys and girls.

IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST

The best possible defence of the newspaper that is charged with overstepping the law in publishing matter that is distasteful to some of its readers is that it was in the public interest that it appear. This seems not unjust, since that its the function of a public journal. Unless that is the aim of the publisher he is missing the point in his mission.

"Help your druggist fill this prescription!"

This month Canadian druggists from coast to coast are out to sell $1,000,000 worth of War Savings Stamps!

They'll need your help to reach that objective. So every time you buy a brick of Borden's Ice Cream—or any other item—at your druggist's, be sure to buy a War Savings Stamp, too. And if you can't get an ice cream brick, buy a War Savings stamp instead!

More than ever, our fighting forces need the supplies that War Savings Stamps will buy. And for you they offer a grand way to save . . . Cost only a quarter—but how they do mount up!

There's ROOM FOR EVERYBODY...

PRODUCTION MEN—keeping in constant touch with sources of raw materials, suppliers of parts, government and military authorities.

THE ARMED FORCES—with responsibility for training and supply, for troop movements, for operations on land, air and ocean battlefronts.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS—in touch with every phase of our production and military program—with foreign governments—with national and international war agencies.

YOU—depending on your telephone for quick, essential communication at work and at home.

But telephone lines can carry this wartime load only if we all use existing facilities sparingly, and keep our calls just as short and business-like as we can.

Additional equipment is severely limited by material shortages; co-operation must take the place of construction if essential calls are to go through promptly.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

DO YOU DESERVE A VOTE?

Honestly, there are plenty of people who do not deserve to have a vote. A woman was given a job as an enumerator for the New Brunswick election. She is a well-educated woman and seems to be intelligent. She was telling a neighbor about it and said they had just phoned to ask what party she belonged to. She told them she didn't care about the parties, she would vote for whichever party gave her the job. She went on to say that her father had always voted Liberal over in Nova Scotia, because they gave him plenty of patronage. She didn't know though, she guessed the Conservatives were all right, too. They had been in power quite a while in New Brunswick and had made a good job of it! Really, it seems incredible that any grown person, or even children for that matter, would not even know which party is in power in their own province. This story happens to be about a woman, but there are plenty of men who do not deserve a vote either. How to educate them is a problem.

A TREAT

This morning I had a treat — just saw a four months old baby get his bath. He enjoyed it thoroughly — and so did I. The babies these days are such good, happy babies. The modern mother knows more about taking proper care of the baby, and it is better fed. There are four neighbors here, in a row, who have infant grandchildren. The grandmothers have a great time comparing notes. They tell about what the baby gets to eat, how much it weighs, and what it has gained. They trade patterns, for most of them knit and sew for the babies, and they pass on information as to where they can get baby wool. But the grandfathers! You never heard such boasting. Absolutely uninhibited. There is something to the old saying that grandchildren are wonderful because you have all the pleasure and none of the responsibility. It is not altogether true these days as there are so many young women with their babies home with mother for the duration and some of the grandmothers are finding it pretty strenuous. Children are given to us when we are young and have the strength and energy to cope with them.

OVEN CANNING

Oven canning apparently is not successful for vegetables, as we are advised from all quarters not to do it. I cannot tell you by experience as I do not can vegetables, but it is wise to profit by the experience of others. I have canned fruit in the oven for the last four years and have yet to lose a bottle. It is so simple and not a bit messy. To can fruit in the oven, you must have an oven in which the heat can be regulated exactly and kept at an even temperature. I use an electric stove. Prepare the fruit, then pour over the hot syrup and allow it to cool. Fill the jars with fruit to within ¾ inch of the top, then add syrup to within 1½ inches of the top. Place on the rubber ring and partially seal. Put a couple of layers of paper on a baking sheet or large pan, and place the jars on this and one inch apart. Heat the oven to 275 degrees and turn the switch to 'bake'. Leave the bottles in the oven for 40 minutes for pint bottles, and 60 minutes for quarts. Seal tightly immediately on removing from the oven and do not tighten further when cold as this breaks the seal.

MUSTARD PICKLES

Mustard pickles are a favorite with most people and here is my best recipe, one I have used for years. Prepare two quarts of small cucumbers, three pints of silver-skinned onions and one cauliflower. I use more cucumbers and no cauliflower, but any proportion of vegetables may be used. Cover these vegetables with a brine made in the proportion of ¾ cup salt to one quart of boiling water. Let stand over night, then drain, and scald in boiling water, and drain. Cover with the following mustard dressing.

2 Cups cider vinegar, 4½ cups brown sugar, ¼ cup salt, ½ cup mustard, 2 tablespoons mustard seed, ½ cup flour, ½ oz. curry powder, 1 tablespoon tumeric powder, 2 tablespoons celery seed.

Mix the dry ingredients and rub to a smooth paste with a little of the vinegar. Add the remaining vinegar and cook until thickened, stirring steadily.

PEACH MARMALADE

6 Pounds of peaches, 2 oranges, 4½ pounds sugar, 1 small bottle of marachino cherries.

Peal and stone the peaches, then weigh them. Put the peaches and the oranges through the grinder, add the sugar, and boil until thick, about an hour. Add the cherries, cut in pieces and the juice, a few minutes before the jam is finished. Bottle in sterilized jars and seal.

First Nurses to Land in France

Personnel of Queen Alexandra's Imperial Military Nursing Service were the first women to arrive on the Normandy beachhead. On June 13th, seven days after the initial landings of the Allied Expeditionary Forces, Lieutenant Colonel Helm, of Colchester, arrived with two sisters, followed three days later by a party of 50 sisters. Their purpose was the setting up of a General Hospital to house 600 patients, and with the assistance of Pioneers and the R.A.M.C. the hospital was quickly established. . . . Picture shows the Matron, Senior Commandant Mellor, addressing the nurses and detailing them for their duties.

Red Cross Workers Needed; Demands Still Pressing

This month the Red Cross in Quebec Province starts its sixth consecutive year of war service, and Red Cross branches throughout the province tried to maintain their efforts during the summer months despite a considerable drop in the number of workroom volunteers owing to the holiday season. As the fall season opens every one of the 194 provincial branches urgently needs more workers.

Phenomenal successes of Allied military forces in Europe have led many people to believe that the end of the war is drawing near. In the light of these victories we may well ask how they affect the work of the Red Cross.

Optimism creates an unfortunate tendency to drop responsibilities, and that tendency is an evil saboteur. We cannot predict the day of victory. But one thing is certain: although the goal may not be far away, the road is still difficult. The Red Cross today faces the most difficult period of its history, and only by an all-out effort can it hope to answer the many calls for help which come from all corners of the globe.

At a moment's notice the Red Cross must be ready to meet any emergency. Whether it be a call for supplies of warm clothing, or comforts for the armed forces; whether the appeal comes from Britain, France, Italy or the Far East, the Red Cross must be prepared to do its part.

That is why we urge every woman worker in the province to give as much time as possible to Red Cross in the coming months. It is in branch workrooms that these supplies must be prepared, and it is these workrooms that are now critically handicapped by a lack of volunteer help.

Casserole Lamb Stew

Everyone will agree that a well prepared, attractively served stew rates well up on the list of flavorsome, savory entrees. The less expensive cuts of meat here are used to their best possible advantage — and in dramatic style.

Economical, savory, with an appetizing aroma to tempt and coax the appetite, the stew is a particularly happy choice these days when menu planners are seeking to provide the most in food value for their families at the least cost.

Countless variations are included in the list of stews, with almost every family cookbook boasting its own special favorite version. One delicious variety uses lamb with an assortment of vegetables and piquant seasonings.

This stew gains an interesting new touch of glamor when served in a casserole topped with oven popped rice cereal, a dot or two of butter, and a dash of paprika.

Lamb Stew en Casserole

2½ Pounds lamb, 1¼ cups diced carrots, 1¼ cups diced turnips, 1¼ cups sliced onions, 1 quart diced potatoes, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup flour, ¼ cup water, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 3 cups oven-popped rice cereal, paprika.

Cut meat into 1½-inch cubes. Cover with boiling water and simmer about 2 hours. One hour before serving add vegetables, salt and pepper. Make a paste of flour and water and thicken stew. Add melted butter to crisp rice cereal and stir until well coated. Pour stew into individual casseroles and cover with cereal. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) about 20 minutes.

Yield: 6 individual casseroles.

Meal-A-Minute Future Possibility For Housewives

Experts Predict New Electronic Process Designed to Make Cooking Easy

New York (CP) — The day may come soon when cooking a roast will be a matter of seconds instead of hours, when potatoes may be popped into an oven and baked instantaneously.

High speed cooking, a war-born electronic process known as "megatherm heating," is still in its experimental phase, but proponents of the idea predict it will be "the next step in the evolution of the culinary art."

Using high frequency as its heating medium, electronic cooking penetrates uniformly and simultaneously all parts of food subjected to it, rather than cooking through application of heat from the outside. The method already is being studied as a means of speeding up the cooking of commercially canned fruits and vegetables.

"We may logically expect to introduce cooking with megatherm heat to the lunch counter, the restaurant, the hotel and even the home kitchen in the post-war era," Vernon W. Sherman, manager of the industrial electronics division of Federal Telephone and Radio Corp., said.

Will Look Different

A certain amount of re-education may be needed before megatherm cooking will be generally accepted, Sherman said, because of the altered appearance of foods cooked by that method.

Bread crust and other crisp food surfaces, searing and caramelizing would be a thing of the past, but the food would remain "nutritious and acceptable to the taste."

Greatest immediate value of the new cooking technique will be in the field of short-order cookery, Sherman predicts. There it can speed up handling of lunch counter customers by as much as 25 per cent because of its ability to heat rapidly cuts of pie, dishes of beans, soup or similar foods.

Sherman said the manufacture of small megatherm oven units was entirely feasible. The device operates on ordinary lighting current and requires no more skill to operate than a toaster or waffle iron.

HERE A CWAC, THERE A CWAC

Narrow Escape

An embarrassing error was narrowly averted the other day when one of the CWAC publicity hounds in search of the name of the Polish Consul in Montreal decided to get the information the easy way — from the door of his office. She copied down the bold black lettering which read "Grodziny Urzedowe" and went gaily off to incorporate it in a line-up of personalities — only to discover that "Grodziny Urzedowe" meant "office hours"!

• • •

Unusual Occupation

Painting stage scenery for the Canadian Army Show is the unusual occupation of CWAC artist L/Cpl. Molly Lamb, of Vancouver, B.C. Twenty-two years old, blonde and attractive, Molly made her mark in Canadian art circles last year when three of her paintings were hung in the Toronto Art Gallery, and two more won prizes in the Canadian Army Art Show held in Ottawa a few months ago.

Furlough Fun

Mecca of the furloughed service girl is the beautiful leave centre recently opened at Banff, Alta., in the heart of the Canadian Rockies. Already scores of Army girls stationed within travelling distance have visited the centre and pronounced it the "finest ever." Operated under the supervision of the Y.W.C.A., the centre offers a wide variety of holiday recreations. Riding stables, tennis courts, golf links and the famous sulphur springs are all within easy walking distance, while nearby are the clear and sparkling waters of Lake Louise and Lake Morraine. Approximately 70 service women a week have been vacationing at this new centre.

Personality

Cpl. Brenda Campbell, with the C.W.A.C. Overseas, and wife of Capt. C. E. Campbell, of Edmonton, Alta., has known war experiences which make her the envy of all the CWAC's in her unit. Previous to her enlistment in the C.W.A.C. in 1942, Brenda was a member of the British Auxiliary Territorial Service. In her work as an ack-ack battery plotter, she was successful in bringing down two German planes. One of these, a Ju-88, she watched fall into the sea.

SWEET CORN STILL AN AMERICAN DISH

Washington (CP) — "Sweet corn — especially on the cob — is the most thoroughly and distinctly American vegetable in the world," says Victor R. Boswell, in charge of vegetable crop investigations for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Although the Americas have contributed several other important vegetables to the world's food supply, these vegetables have become so generally accepted and widely grown in other lands that many persons overlook or are unaware of the American origin of tomatoes, potatoes, our 'common' beans, garden peppers and sweet potatoes. Peoples of other lands, however, have not learned to use corn as human food to any such extent as they have adopted most other American vegetables, or as we use corn. Many Europeans who know anything at all about corn consider it fit only for stock food."

MORE HITCH THAN HIKE

Vancouver (CP) — Helen and Marie Klassen and Margaret Pankratz arrived here on the last lap of their 2,000-mile hitch-hiking trip from Winnipeg. They hitched most of the way, but hiked the last seven miles. The girls say their expenses were about $30 each.

If Your Baby Must Travel in Wartime

At long last, out of the maze of congressional speeches, the countless and endless numbers of pamphlets, booklets, bulletins and even full grown books, the Government Printing Office has turned out a volume that is in demand.

The title of this treatise is "If Your Baby Must Travel in Wartime" and was issued recently by the Children's Bureau, U.S. Department of Labor.

Advance orders for this pamphlet are said to have been enormous. Railroads and other organizations that have baby's welfare at heart when travelling in wartime, have signed up for a record amount of copies.

As well as being highly informative, it is an attractively gotten up job. Illustrated by no less famous artist than Gluyas Williams, the text tells in a snappy, comprehensive manner how to make travelling with the baby as painless as possible to the infant, its mother and the transportation companies.

Last year "Infant Care," from the same source as "If Your Baby Must Travel in Wartime," had a circulation of over a million copies and the present effort toward making for baby happiness is expected to far top that million.

Single copies of this little booklet may be obtained free from the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, Washington.

Red Cross Canning

Canning of jams for the Red Cross was done this year in industrial canning factories to secure uniformity of quality, instead of in rural centres or by individual home canners. Quebec Women's Institutes assisted throughout the season by cash contributions for the purpose of securing sufficient supplies of sugar for the work.

Fourth Invitation Tournament Here This Week-end

Enthusiasm is running high among local golfers with approach of one of the season's highlights—the annual invitation tournament which takes place here Sunday. This is the fourth event of its kind held in Lachute. Invations have been sent to all clubs within a radius of 100 miles, and 25 pros have been invited to participate, including winners in the previous years' tournaments, Stan Horne, Jules Huot and Diamond Gauthier, who are expected to be on hand. Altogether the organizers anticipate a large field and really keen competition.

A substantial prize list has been drawn up — seven for the pros totalling $500, and various awards for amateurs, to the amount of $300.

Starting time on Sunday will be 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., with all post entries, and pairings to be made at the club. The local entrants will play off on Saturday, with a view to clearing the course for outside entries on the following day.

Name Bands in 'Jam Session'

"Jam Session", showing this week at the Brownsburg Capitol, is primarily a show for name band fans. These are the people who listen judiciously to dance orchestras late at night, and who collect records like connoisseurs. These — according to Herbert Whittaker, who should know his fans — are the readers of Down-Beat, the lovers of jive. These are the people who are really happy when film theatres show those short films of dance orchestras, which make the rest of the audience squirm.

Every now and then, Columbia, which has a strange affinity for these people, brings out a picture which is just full of name bands; name bands and Ann Miller, for presumably the same fans who are crazy about name bands also dote on Miss Miller.

This particular example of the type has six of the nation's top bands. It has the musical aggregations of Louis Armstrong, Charlie Barnet, Glen Gray, Jan Garber, Teddy Powell and Alvino Rey. And, of course, it has Miss Miller.

To the knowing, those names will tell whether the picture represents a good collection of name-bands, or not. We wouldn't dare advise the experts.

The plot is about a screen-writer who has to write a story for a film (called Jam Session) which has six name bands. He has to hear them all to know what kind of picture it's going to be. He never finds out, and neither do we. Miss Miller is his secretary.

The young man is played by Jess Barker, who broke into the news recently by marrying Susan Hayward. He is one of the most smoothly self-conscious newcomers of the season.

'Dr. Wassell' Film Dramatizes Story of Heroism in Pacific

Concerning "The Story of Dr. Wassell" — the technicolor film appearing next Tuesday to Thursday at the Rex Theatre — it is stated that Cecil B. DeMille got his inspiration for the colorful adventure-romance straight from the lips of President Roosevelt himself.

The result is a picture worthy of the collaboration of two great and dramatic personalities. You might say that Dr. Wassell had something to do with it, but actually there can't be much of his character and exploits left recognizable.

In life, Dr. Wassell was a plain man of about 50 who did a remarkably difficult job quietly and competently. In the film, that job has given way to motion picture heroics. DeMille has stuck to the general facts of Dr. Wassell's exploits, but has introduced so many little touches that the whole thing seems exactly like an invented scenario — in the view of a discerning critic.

The hospitals wherever Dr. Wassell goes seem to be peopled by Goldwyn girls. One of them is Mr. DeMille's cute little half-caste, called Tremartini. "Me nurse," says Tremartini, and proceeds to amuse the boys with her simple country dances, her sarong pulsating with delight at being able to keep the brave soldiers happy.

Dr. Wassell and his stretcher cases, all in all, are not without feminine company for more than three minutes at a stretch throughout the whole picture, which is very nice, if not the way of war in the Pacific. (So writes Herbert Whittaker, in his description of the film). And Dr. Wassell is no longer plain and 50, but Gary Cooper.

Naturally this Dr. Wassell is not without heart-interest. This is supplied by Laraine Day, all spick and span in nurse's outfit in the jungles of Java, and as pretty as a picture.

Wassell forces his way, with his wounded men, aboard a ship bound for Australia, the last out of Java. He learns that Madeleine (that's Miss Day) is aboard with her husband. But when the husband is wounded he discovers at the bedside that it is not the same Madeleine. But Madeleine, he quickly learns, is drowned.

Australia achieved, Wassell receives a stern summons from Navy headquarters. What has he done wrong now, worries this modest man? Nobody has indicated to him that there is anything commendable to rescuing one's patients from the Japs. He is ushered into a brass-hattery. The President is broadcasting . . . and he's speaking about Dr. Wassell! The movie Dr. Wassell is prettily abashed, and the faces of the brass-hats lose for a moment their accustomed grimness to smile at him. And in a rescue plane somewhere, winging its way to Australia, Madeleine, safe, also hears the President's speech and her heart overflows.

LOCAL BOY SCOUTS RESUME SESSIONS

The Lachute Troop of Boy Scouts started their meetings after the summer vacation on Wednesday evening, September 13, with Scoutmaster Chas. L. Duncan and Assistant Scoutmasters Ross Beattie and John Heatlie.

New Patrol Leaders had been appointed at a previous meeting as follows: Bazil Riddell, Wolf Patrol; James McMahon, Fox Patrol; Jack Steeves, Bull Dog Patrol.

The following tests were passed at Camp Tamaracouta this summer by the Scouts of this troop. These tests will eventually lead to qualification for the First Class Badge.

First Class Swimming — Lawrence Pilon, Victor Shearsmith, Gordon Jamison, Grant Riddell.

First Class Estimations — Lawrence Pilon, Gordon Jamison, Grant Riddell, Victor Shearsmith.

First Class Journey — Donald Hooper.

Marksman and Tracker Badges were presented to Jack Steeves and Frank Bedard.

A WISE SLOGAN

The bush fires which have been raging in our own districts, as well as the smell of wood smoke in the air these days, brings home the wisdom of the old slogan — "One tree can produce millions of matches — one match may destroy millions of trees — break that match."

Lachute's Fourth Annual Invitation Tournament Draws High-Ranking Pro and Amateur Golfers

Stan Horne, Jules Huot Share Open Honors; Poulin, Amateur, 2 Strokes Behind with 72

A fine turn-out crowned the success of Lachute's fourth annual invitation tournament at the Golf Club on Sunday, while the weather — with an autumnal snap in the air and bright sunshine — was perfect for the event.

Pro Games

Stanley Horne, of Islesmere, and Jules Huot, of Royal Quebec, shared top honors with a tie for the professionals. Both registered a score of 70, two under the regulation figures, to split the top money award of $300. The play was witnessed by a keen gathering of spectators.

Horne rounded the turn in one-under par 35 and led his rival by a single stroke. The Montreal player held on to his slim lead with only the 18th hole to be played. However, Huot broke through with a birdie three when he one-putted and thus tied Horne, who had to be content with a par four. Huot played the second nine holes in 34, two under par, while Horne duplicated his first trip around the layout with a 35.

Horne bagged an "eagle" two and four birdies, going over par only four times for his 70, while Huot chalked up three birdies and went over regulation figures on three holes.

Ernie Wakelam, Royal Ottawa pro, finished right on the heels of the tied leaders with a one-under-par 71 and won $75 for his effort. Gerry Proulx, Laval-sur-le-Lac, former Montreal Professional Golfers' Association match play champion, took fourth prize money of $50 with a 73, while Redvers Mackenzie, Elm Ridge, this year's defending medal play M.P.G.A. titleholder, was fifth with a 74 to earn an award of $25. Sam Dempster, Ottawa, with a 77 was a sixth and he also received $25. Albert Murray, unattached pro, was next with a 78. Diamond Gauthier, of Municipal, recent winner of the M.P.G.A. match play title, ended up in a three-way tie with Bob Kerr, Metis Beach, and Nick Besner, unattached.

Amateurs

In the amateur handicap division, Jean Bedard emerged victor with a net 64 to win the $50 War Bond up for competition among the Class "A" players.

N. Pesant won the Class "B" low gross honors.

Mr. O. A. Porritt won the prize for the low scoring senior player in the event.

Other local winners in the open amateur tournament were T. K. Haller, Roger Gravel, Albert and R. Ogilvie, A. St. Onge and C. Tremblay.

All the home club amateurs played on Saturday, thus clearing the course for the visitors on Sunday.

Lightning Struck On Riverfront

(By Our District Correspondent)

Cushing W. — During the storm of last Wednesday night, lightning struck the residence of Capt. T. W. Weir, knocking some bricks off the chimney and splintering some of the roof supports; no other damage was caused. Mrs. Weir, who was alone in the house at the time, suffered a somewhat severe fright. . . . A large tree near the locks at Stonefield was also struck and damaged.

Wins Scholarship McGill University

In the recent awards of bursaries and scholarships announced by McGill University is the name of Lorna Macdonald, a graduate of Lachute High School, who had a first class standing in the High School Leaving examinations last June. This award allows Miss Macdonald to carry on her studies at McGill, and to live in residence at the Royal Victoria College.

Miss Macdonald is a niece of Mrs. Harold McFaul, and has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. McFaul on Grace Street while attending High School here.

In a letter from Royal Victoria College of McGill, announcing this award, Muriel Roscoe, Warden, stated: "I should like to congratulate you on this, and to tell you it is a signal achievement. I hope it is only the beginning of a very successful career."

Hawkesb'y Now Organizing for Corvette Crew

A move on the part of Hawkesbury citizens to get behind the corvette named for that town, follows a period of admitted negligence in the matter. The "H.M.C.S. Hawkesbury Shore Committee" is now getting busy, under sponsorship of the Town Council, the Board of Trade, the Knights of Columbus and the Rotary Club. The organization — according to an appeal voiced before the Rotary Club and reported in the local newspaper — "has secured approval of the work under the terms of the War Charities Act, and official receipts will be given for all monies paid in to it. Within the limits of the Act, contributors are allowed to deduct these payments in calculating their income tax".

District Schools Represented in Laurentian Inter-Scholastic Sports

Lachute Exhibition Grounds Scene of Successful Track Meet Saturday

The third annual Laurentian interscholastic track meet was held Saturday at the Lachute Fair Grounds, with a good crowd in attendance. The schools represented were Brownsburg, Lachute, Morin Heights, St. Andrews and Ste. Agathe. Two other schools in the district, Arundel and Grenville, were unable to enter contestants.

The events were organized in four distinct classes with boys' and girls' events in each class. In the midget boys' class (under 12 years of age), Brownsburg and Ste Agathe tied with 12 points each. MacPherson of Ste. Agathe won nine of his school's points, while the Brownsburg points were won by various contestants. St. Andrews won the midget girls' class with 11 points, Lachute being a close second with 10 credits. Ten of the St. Andrews points were won by J. MacAdam.

In the junior boys' class, competition was very close, St. Andrews winning by one point over Brownsburg with a total of 14. The junior girls' section was also carried away by St. Andrews, the two stars being A. Entwistle and I. McOuat.

Lachute dominated the intermediate boys, with Douglas Bradford winning 16 of the 24 points for his school. Brownsburg placed second in this class with 12 points. St. Andrews won the intermediate girls' events with 15 points, 12 of which were won by I. Morrison, who also helped to win the other three by participating in the relay. Each contestant was allowed to participate in only five events. Morrison and Bradford placed first in all five, in their respective classes.

The final tally showed Lachute the over-all winner with 100 points. However, due to the wide difference in the enrolments of the participating schools, awards were made to the four classes individually— which means that St. Andrews won five of the cups, Lachute two, while Brownsburg and Ste. Agathe tied for the midget boys' section.

R.A.F. Fighters Shoot Down Buzz-bombs

R.A.F. Fighter aircraft have shot down many flying bombs launched against England. This picture shows one of the flying bombs which was shot down over Southern England. Fighter pilots from a nearby airfield are examining the wreckage to discover its vulnerable parts. The tail is in the foreground.

In Brownsburg

Brownsburg —

Beyond the disappearance of flowers that bloom in the spring, the first frost did little damage. Late tomatoes were wilted to some extent, but a goodly crop had been harvested and any loss taken now will be a minor one.

The housing situation, which at one time was very acute, has been eased so much that we can now afford to send some of our wartime houses to relieve the need in other districts. The first to go are the rows of bunk houses which constituted Purvis Avenue. These are at present being dismantled and shipped in sections to other sites where the need for such houses is more urgent. The large dining hall is now under the wrecking bar and its clearance is only a matter of days.

In contrast, building is going on apace on the main street. The lesson of the recent fire has been learned, if one is to judge from the structures now being erected, as the trend is very definitely towards fireproof buildings. Concrete and brick being the main materials, unfortunately the unavailability of iron girders makes the inclusion of a considerable quantity of wood unavoidable. Recent inventions of a scientific nature which make wood as commendable as iron for fireproofing purposes, must still be in the laboratory stage, as no use has been made of the discoveries in this instance. While on the matter of building materials it may be appropriate to inquire who is responsible for half the roadway in an already too narrow street being littered by gravel and bricks? In the event of an accident, which could easily happen at this juncture, who would pay the resulting damages? It might be well for the local council to look into the matter. — An ounce of prevention, etc.

The hunting season opened with a bang on Saturday afternoon. More vivid colors were in evidence than one would witness in an afternoon at Blue Bonnets. The boys hit the trail (in Chryslers and Buicks) for Mont Laurier. Long after they had faded from view the haunting strains of their inspiring music could be heard wafted in the evening air. "A hunting we will go."

The information that a school for civics (the science of citizenship) has been instituted in some parts of Ontario, has exercised the minds of some of our more civic minded citizens to arrange something of a like nature. Municipal affairs, which have always been a burning question in this district and have been discussed pro and con with such thorough if at times ignorant zest, are likely to occupy much of the school work of the proposed project. We have no doubt it is a move in the right direction. At the time of writing the proposed project is "up in the air" but when the movement reaches a more concrete basis, we shall deal more fully with its range and effectiveness in an endeavor to apply its findings within the Municipal Code. Speakers versed in municipal affairs and law are to be engaged to read lectures.

U.N.N.R.A. DELEGATES VISIT ARGENTEUIL

A group of 25 members of the U. N. R. R. A. who were attending the conference in Montreal, paid a short visit to this district last week. These delegates were particularly interested in dairy farming as carried on in Canada. They paid a short visit to the Agricultural College at Oka, then motored to Lachute, calling on a number of dairy farmers in this vicinity, including — Jack Walker, Ben Hammond, J. E. Walker, Armstrong Bros. and James McKenzie.

The arrangements for this visit were carried out by the editor of the Family Herald & Weekly Star, and the local agronomist, Alex Bothwell.

Commander of Corvette 'Lachute' Visits Town

This community was favored last Sunday afternoon with a visit from Lieut. R. G. Hatrick, R.C.N.V.R., who has received his appointment as commanding officer of H.M.C.S. "Lachute" — the vessel which has been sponsored by this community.

The corvette is now being fitted out, and Lieut. Hatrick expects that she will be in readiness for a trial run by the end of this month after which the craft will then be given the finishing touches.

The personnel of this ship will number 90 men divided into six sections of the vessel, and it is the desire that each section may be supplied with comforts provided by the generous gifts of our people. The suggestions include electric coffee percolators, hot plates, waterproof flashlights, toasters, irons, radios, games such as dominoes, cards, checkers, cribbage boards, chess, jig-saw puzzles, also phonograph records, etc.

Health Measure For Employees of Bell Telephone

In co-operation with the provincial department of health and social welfare, telephone employees in Lachute are undergoing X-ray examination of the chest — according to J. J. Morrin, Bell Telephone manager in this vicinity.

Primarily, the X-ray examinations are for the detection of tuberculosis but they also disclose other abnormal conditions of the chest, Mr. Morrin said. He pointed out that participation in the survey is voluntary, and that workers in all departments are being given the privilege. The cost of the examination is being borne jointly by the company and the department of health. These examinations are part of a general plan which is being extended to the majority of the company's employees in Quebec.

Tuberculosis, according to statistics, kills more people than all other contagious diseases, yet it is known that the death rate would drop 75 per cent if all cases could be found before they reached moderately or far advanced stages. The disease may progress through its early stages without obvious symptoms, and a chest X-ray is the only reliable method of detecting the presence of the infection.

Organization Is Ready Here for 7th Victory Loan

Argenteuil County Loan Headquarters has again reopened in the Lachute town hall. Organization work is under way in connection with the launching of Canada's Seventh Victory Loan on October 23.

Clement Tremblay and W. M. Scott will again act as joint-chairmen of the County. They have ably guided the local organization through the six previous loans and are hopeful that the Seventh Victory Loan will prove as successful here as its predecessors.

William H. Price has returned as County Organizer, J. G. Pattee and Mrs. H. S. Peck are back as Payroll Savings Organizer and Unit Secretary, respectively. Miss Yolande Tremblay and Mrs. Marion Smith round out a competent staff which is at the service of the public at all times.

Although the war with Germany is rapidly drawing to a climax the need for raising funds cannot be over-emphasized. After Germany is knocked out the combined strength of the Allies will be turned against Japan. When those little men of Nippon are finally beaten to their knees, we will have a battle to fight on our Home Front. The gallant members of our armed services will have to be rehabilitated into civilian life. Our whole nation-wide industrial production will have to be reconverted from a wartime to a peacetime basis. Everyone must continue to buy Victory Bonds to the limit. There can be no let-down now.

The Seventh Victory Loan slogan is "Invest in Victory". Its insignia will be an adaptation of the official emblem worn by the personnel of the invasion staff of the Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Forces. On a field of black, representing the darkness of Nazi oppression, is shown the flaming sword of liberation. Above the sword is a rainbow emblematic of hope and a field of azure symbolic of the restoration of peace to the enslaved peoples of Europe.

It is not beyond possibility, that Germany will capitulate before the Seventh Victory Loan starts, or during it. This will not affect the holding of the loan, as the need for money will remain as paramount as before. During the 1918 loan, the Armistice was signed, and yet the results of that loan were the best of any loan up to that time, being only surpassed by those of the 1919 loan when we were at peace.

Plan now, to "Invest in Victory." This Seventh Victory Loan must be our greatest success. Canada has led the way in war financing. All eyes will be upon us. And may it again be said of Canada as it was by the National City Bank of New York monthly bulletin after the last loan, "This much is sure, that on the success of the Sixth Victory Loan in surpassing all previous sales records the Canadians have set an example which we may well emulate in our Fifth War Loan."

St. Andrews Boy Veteran of Many Invasion Landings

(By Our District Correspondent)

St. Andrews East — Leading Stoker Wm. Bryson, R.C.N.V.R., who has spent nearly two years in Mediterranean waters and in the invasion area of France, is on a two months' furlough at his home here. Bryson took part in the landings on Sicily and the Italian coast. He is among a number of ratings now enjoying a well earned rest on home soil. Concerning these men, a press report tells that they manned the landing craft flotillas in combined operations during the Allied invasion of Normandy. Their vessels carried thousands of troops onto the beaches. "All veterans of the first waves of craft to reach the beaches, the sailors told of seeing landing craft blown to bits by German mines, of the gunfire from the shore and snipers as the Commandos marched up the beaches and the hail of lead, shrapnel and bombardment from the air during D-Day operations."

Memorial Service Sunday for Late Lieut. Hugh Gall

The service next Sunday morning in the Margaret Rodger Presbyterian Church will take the form of a memorial tribute to the late Lieut. Hugh Gall. The sermon by the Rev. E. Orsborn will be appropriately based upon the theme, "They More Than Conquer."

At this service honoring the late Lieut. Gall, his comrades in the Black Watch Regiment will be represented by their adjutant and others, including a piper and a bugler, who will play the traditional military tribute of respect to the fallen officer.

By being in their places in good time, regular worshippers will assist the ushers in seating the visitors.

The Watchman has endeavored to report accurately on all casualties sustained among servicemen from this county — particularly those who have been killed or died on active service. This effort has been made not only to accord fitting obitual tribute, but also that this newspaper may have a record to which local organizations may turn for reference, should the need arise. With only one or two exceptions where information was not available, we believe we have faithfully chronicled all deaths to date among Argenteuil servicemen. Correspondents and relatives are asked to give co-operation by sending in prompt particulars.

Promoted Captain, Serving in Belgium

Lieut. Dan Tremblay, serving with the Maisonneuve Regiment and now in Belgium, has received a promotion to the rank of Captain — according to word received this week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Tremblay, Lachute Mills.

A BIT OF ENGLAND IN SOUTH AMERICA

Bogota, Colombia (CP) — In the heart of this South American capital there is an acre of ground that is "forever England" — the Protestant cemetery that was deeded over to the British government as a token of Columbian gratitude for the part played by Englishmen in helping them win their independence from Spain.

The British cemetery is located on the fringe of one of Bogota's modern residential districts and adjoins the vastly larger Roman Catholic cemetery. For more than a century the ground has been "foreign territory." Within its walls lie the remains of many British and Americans who have died far from their homelands.

County Boy Killed, Another Wounded

L/SGT. CARL CRAIG

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Craig, of Port Hope, Ont., formerly of Arundel, have received word that their son, L/Sgt. Carl Craig, was wounded September 14 while serving with the forces in Italy.

Carl Craig joined up with the Black Watch at the beginning of the war, and some time after his arrival in England in 1941 was transferred to the 1st Anti-Tank Regt. He was in the Sicily campaign and had taken part in the Italy offensive up till the time he was wounded.

Historic Occasion At Christ Church, St. Andrews East

125th Anniversary Service Well Attended

A special service was conducted Wednesday evening, September 27, in Christ Church, St. Andrews East, in commemoration of the 125th anniversary of this house of worship.

Despite unfavorable weather, a good attendance of parishioners and friends were present. The following clergy participated in the ceremony: Rural Dean the Rev. W. J. Ellis, L.Th., Rawdon; the Rev. E. G. May, M.A., Ste. Agathe des Monts; the Rev. T. W. Ball, M.A., L.Th., St. Andrews East; the Rev. G. T. Spriggs, Lachute; the Rev. A. E. Hawes, B.A., Grenville, and the Rev. C. R. Lang, L.Th., priest in charge of the parish of St. Andrews.

The anniversary service was under the direction of the Rev. C. R. Lang, and the guest preacher was Rural Dean Ellis, who congratulated the congregation upon this historic occasion. His theme was "Time and Love", and he made the comparison of God and man — the ability of man being directed upon one particular matter at a time, while God can see the works of centuries at a glance.

A former rector of Christ Church, the Rev. E. G. May, of Ste. Agathe des Monts, dedicated a beautiful memorial board honoring the name and memory of Sir John Johnson, Seigneur of Argenteuil County from 1814 to 1830, who in the early days gave the site upon which Christ Church now stands. Sir John's son, John Johnson, is also remembered in the memorial, as well as Maria Louise

Montrealers View Homes Pre-Built in Lachute Factory

Advertising sponsored by Henry Morgan and Co. Ltd. in the dailies last week-end, now permits disclosure that this firm has assumed the Montreal distribution for Homasote "Precision-Built" Homes, manufactured here in Lachute by the company under direction of W. M. Cottingham.

Four of these pre-built homes have been erected on the third floor of the Morgan store, and are being viewed with considerable interest. To many Montrealers the prefabrication idea, up to this stage, has been demonstrated only in wartime housing schemes lacking any attempt at individuality or variation of design. The present display, by contrast, shows the factory-built plan applied to a variety of smaller homes and even, to a modest extent, developing distinctive architectural style. The four homes at Morgan's are arranged to depict a Laurentian village community.

In discussing the progress of this venture, Mr. Cottingham states that work is proceeding steadily at the local plant. He is convinced his product is the answer to a public need — for better homes at lower cost, and foresees a demand to ensure the future of this Lachute industry.

Liquor Store Appointment

From painter to manager of a Liquor Commission store is quite a change — but Jos. Belanger, who was candidate for the National Union party in the recent election, has been named to this position, and is receiving the congratulations of his many friends on the appointment.

Slot Machines Confiscated

Last Monday detectives from Provincial Police headquarters in Montreal arrived in town and made a raid on several restaurants. Slot machines and pin tables were confiscated, and warnings issued that gambling will not be tolerated, under penalty of legal prosecution.

Grenville Couple Feted by Friends, 25th Anniversary

(By Our District Correspondent)

Grenville—Mr. and Mrs. Russell Owens were pleasantly surprised when a large number of friends and members of the Ladies' Guild of St. Matthew's Church, of which Mrs. Owens was president, gathered at their home Saturday evening, on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The ladies of the Guild had the rooms decorated with white wedding bells and streamers of pink and white, and there were beautiful flowers everywhere in evidence. Mrs. Owens received a very pretty shoulder bouquet of gladioli.

The Rev. A. E. Hawes, rector of St. Matthew's Church, presented Mr. and Mrs. Owens with a handsome silver tray, a gift from the Ladies' Guild and the friends present. Other gifts were received by the honored couple.

Mrs. Cooke, of Ottawa, and Mrs. Morrow, of Grenville, poured the tea and coffee.

The out-of-town guests included Mrs. A. M. Cooke, of Ottawa, Mrs. Bennett and her little granddaughter, also of Ottawa, Mrs. Hunter, of Coldwater, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Skelcher, of Montreal, and Miss Blake, of Rock Island.

CURRENT FARM TOPICS

USEFUL HINTS ON STORING OF VEGETABLES

Vegetables should be harvested as late in the season as possible for winter use, and when digging the roots care is necessary so as not to damage them as the slightest bruise will cause rot in storage, says J. Gallaher, Head Gardener, Dominion Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S.

The tops should be cut off close to the crown, as the ends of the leaf stalk if left on will also cause rot in storage. Beet tops should be twisted off, not cut. Good housekeepers can the beet roots when small as they become tough if kept in storage any length of time.

Carrots, parsnips and salsify may be stored in boxes, placed in layers with either damp sand, moss, or sawdust. If sawdust is used it should be from hardwood, as soft-wood sawdust may cause rot or fungus. In the fall a few paranips may be buried about one foot deep in a corner of the garden and dug up again in the spring, when the quality of the parsnips will be found to be improved.

Potatoes and turnips do not require packing, but put in boxes or barrels with the top exposed. Potatoes when dug should be left for a short time on the ground so as to allow the outer skin to dry.

The later varieties of cabbage are better for storing, as the earlier varieties do not keep well. A few plants may be pulled with roots intact. All leaves except a few close to the head should be removed and the plant suspended from the roots from the ceiling of the storage room; or the heads may be cut just below the base. Loose leaves should be taken off and the heads placed on a slatted shelf, head down in two or three layers. As the outer leaves decay they should be removed. Heads will keep well in some cellars if rolled in several sheets of paper.

Onions should be pulled and left in the garden for a week or ten days before storing. The tops and roots should then be removed and placed in slatted boxes or spread out on the floor in a dry warm place for a few weeks, then placed in the coolest part of the cellar.

Squash, citron, vegetable marrow and pumpkin, unlike the foregoing, require warmth, and should be stored in the warmest part of the cellar or in the attic, where it is dry and warm. The fruit should be well ripened on the plants and harvested before the cold nights come. Place the fruit on shelves where possible, but never in barrels or boxes. Be very careful not to bruise the outer skin at any time. Examine the fruit often, using the unripened first as they will not keep well.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING

The B.C. Livestock Producers' Co-operative Association . . . organized only last fall, can already point to many accomplishments. . . . The small shipper of one or more head pays the same handling charge, pro rata, as the large shipper. . . . Market flooding is avoided through advising the big shipper when to move his stuff. This causes less fluctuation in prices, to the financial gain of the farmer. Packers have a steady flow of stock instead of peaks of hollows.

An old saw to be remembered next year — "When the oak leaf is as big as a mouse's ear, then thou in safety canst plant thy corn."

CLEAN UP GARDEN TO DESTROY INSECTS

Now is the time to plan the garden clean-up, one of the most important steps in Victory gardening. Keep weeds under control right up until the snow falls, even although the last crop has been removed weeks before. Cleaning up the garden will contribute more than any other single factor in bringing about a reduction in the number of insects which will be lying in wait to attack the plants next year. In turn, the cleaning up will be reflected in increased yields from the garden next year.

In going over the past year's experience, it may be noted that the damage by insects might have been greatly reduced if they had not been allowed to hibernate during the winter beneath garden trash and weeds. Many insects leave the plants upon which they are feeding as soon as the plants lose their succulence and either migrate to other plants or go into hibernation beneath the undestroyed trash in the garden or under debris lying nearby.

So, the gathering up and burning of garden debris as soon as the crop is harvested is important and should not be neglected. The plants and trash should not be allowed to lie about the garden until the freeze-up because by that time the insects will have escaped to some safe place in which to spend the winter, and in the spring they will emerge to prove destructive agents.

Fattening Turkeys for Christmas Market

The management of turkeys with the ultimate view of fattening them for the Christmas market covers a considerable period of time. Most turkey raisers allow their birds free range in the late summer and fall. In this way, the turkeys pick up their own living economically. As fall advocates, a feed of whole grain is usually given in late afternoon. This is supplemented with moist mash feeds as the finishing time commences. Crate feeding and close confinement are not recommended for turkeys. However they should not have unlimited range.

The basis for the fattening ration will be approximately equal parts of wheat, oats, and barley chop. These can be supplemented by cooked small potatoes, table scraps, one per cent salt, and milk in any form. The salt and milk add to the efficiency of the fattening ration. The ground grains are more palatable if soaked for several hours in milk or water before feeding.

For the first two weeks, the turkeys should receive a moist mash in the forenoon and a good feed of whole grain in the evening. For the last two weeks before the birds are killed, two moist mashes per day should be fed — one early in the morning and the other about noon. Following this, the birds should have free access to whole grain until roosting time. The moist mashes should not be left before the turkeys more than 30 minutes.

CARE WITH POTATOES

The potato, like all other vegetable crops, should be handled carefully in harvesting to prevent mechanical injury. Digging by means of a four-tined fork is still done in small areas. One good man can dig about half an acre a day, while the mechanical digger can lift from three to five acres in the same time.

OBITUARY

Lachute Merchant Suddenly Stricken

The Late Issa Assaly

In good health up to week before his death, Issa Assaly, a Lachute merchant, succumbed early Friday morning to a heart attack. He resided with his mother in the former Christie residence, Main Street, and was 45 years of age.

Issa Assaly came to this country from Syria in 1920, starting a drygoods business at Hawkesbury. In 1927 he moved to St. Jerome, and in 1939 to Lachute, continuing the same line of business. He is mourned by his mother and four brothers, M. G. and Joseph Assaly, Lachute, Alec, at Ste. Agathe des Monts, and John, at Cornwall. Joseph, his younger brother, assisted him in the business here. He had many cousins and other relatives in this part of the country.

The funeral service, held Sunday at Ste. Anastasie Parish Church, was conducted by the Bishop of the Oriental Catholic faith, Mgr. Maxime Chatoui, of St. Sauveur Church, Montreal. Burial was made in the family plot at Hawkesbury Catholic Cemetery. Pall-bearers were Joe Assad, William Assaly, D. M. David, Nick Bathe, of Montreal, Theo Barbara, of Alexandria, Ont., and Charles Salhani, of Cornwall, Ont.

Many flowers and messages of sympathy were received by the family.

Good Neighbor Lost To Community Of Rawcliffe

The Late John Cousins

Rawcliffe — The death of John Cousins, at the age of 69 years, occurred suddenly at his home in Rawcliffe on September 1. His death came as a shock to his family and friends.

Mr. Cousins was a kind neighbor, and there were few people in this community who had not received help from him in some sphere of activity. Born in Rawcliffe, he was the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cousins. He had been a successful farmer for many years in this district.

The late Mr. Cousins is mourned by his wife, seven daughters and three sons; also two sisters and one brother.

The funeral was held on the afternoon of September 4 from St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Grenville, interment being made in Calumet Cemetery. The funeral was largely attended by friends and neighbors, by whom he will be greatly missed.

Mrs. Wm. W. Hume Old and Respected Bethany Resident

The death of Mrs. Wm. W. Hume occurred at her home in Bethany on Friday afternoon, September 22, after an extended illness. She was the former Hannah Eliza, eldest daughter of Francis Mitchell and Anna Maria Lawson, born at Beech Ridge on June 13, 1869.

She married William Ward Hume of Bethany on December 30, 1891; her husband predeceased her 30 years ago.

The late Mrs. Hume was a member of Lachute United Church, an associate member of the W.M.S. and a life member of the Jerusalem-Bethany Women's Institute.

Left to mourn her passing are her children, Mrs. A. Thompson (May), Mrs. T. Stewart (Bessie), of Lachute, Lebert and Hilda, at home; 12 grandchildren, one serving with the armed forces in Italy, and one great-grandchild; three brothers and one sister, Hugh of St. Philippe, John, of Wartime, Sask., Harry, of Steep Creek, Sask., Mrs. H. A. O'Brien (Harriet), of Lachute.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon, September 25, conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, assisted by the Rev. S. J. Pike, of Brownsburg, interment being made in Lachute Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were two of her grandsons, Russell Stewart and Percy Thompson, her nephew, Lawson O'Brien, Charles Pollock, Ben Hammond and Ross Boyd.

Those attending from a distance were Chas. Gray, Lawson O'Brien, of Ottawa, Miss Leonora Bond, Mrs. S. Bond, Mrs. I Bond, of Vankleek Hill, and Mrs. A. Cadorette, of Montreal.

Overcrowding and Domestic Noises Bane of Wartime Life in Britain

Another Letter on the Stoic Round of War-Weary Britishers at Home

By MARGARET BUTCHER, Specially written for The Lachute Watchman

Reading, Eng. — I have just met a friend of mine leading her pony along by the roadside for its lunch. She spoke very strongly of the weather; but she has not only the pony and the garden, but rabbits as well.

The Vicar too, was looking very warm, having spent most of his time, he says, in dashing out and throwing water over the hencoops; so we suggested a covering sheet with its ends in basins, and perhaps that will do the trick.

The Vicar is very attached to his hens and he told me a nice little story of one of them — his favorite. Some time ago she brought up a family in a most praiseworthy manner, but last year, apparently, she decided that this mothering business was altogether too wearing, resolving to have nothing to do with it. So this year the Vicar gave her a really good talking to, and his words went home, he says, for a broody look recently came into her eye. At that he fixed a nesting box for her and put two china eggs in it. He sat her on it and then carried out a large, handsome dinner for her. "Here you are, my girl," he said. "Now do your stuff. Your country needs you." In the next box was another hen, already sitting on a couple of honest-to-goodness eggs, and he hoped the example would make its mark.

It did. When he went out the following morning the dinner had gone, and the plate — as he said — was 'as clean as if it had been washed.' But in the middle of it lay the two china eggs. He looked into the box — no hen. She had moved next door and, by some means, had persuaded the other lady to shift along a bit. And there they sat—on one egg apiece! How's that for management?

And talking of notions, somebody has had a really bright one about our shortage of garden help. It was high time too, for jobbing gardeners have shown a tendency to go all grand on us. One woman told me that when she tried to engage a man to come in twice weekly he replied that his conditions were thirty shillings a week whether he came or not. It sounds a fine wheeze for sitting pretty, anyhow. However, when I passed her house the other evening I saw a couple of big boys working hard, and doing a good job of it. Scouts and Youth Movement groups are hiring out lads for evening work; the employer pays what he likes and the money goes to war charities. People pay them, I fancy, more than they would the jobber, but who cares? It's a clever solution, and it's certainly very sporting of the boys.

The difficulty of getting anything done increases, of course, though I did manage to hear of a London store which repairs watches. They have done two for me, but it cost me fifteen dollars — about the original price of one of them! And my removal is held up owing to the fact that the new room is dark and needs a window-platform to hold my table. When you try to buy a bit of timber and get something made — well, let's not talk about that! But I am still wondering why on earth there are any dark rooms in modern houses. (Town planners, please copy!) The architect who sacrificed comfort to "quaintness" must have lived in a mental fog, poor dear. All the doors, too, have fancy latches, and there isn't a lock and key in the place.

In these days, nevertheless, we can't pick and choose. Anything with a roof over it is snapped up. Most vacant places never even get to the advertising stage. When they do you can be pretty sure that the price is fantastic: cottages with four rooms — and not a sign of modern conveniences — offered at the equivalent of $6,000! I got on the track of a caravan, and that was equally strange. The owner was frank enough to tell me that it was home-made, had been standing out for four years and badly needed outside paint. "If I do that", he added, "it will increase the cost considerably. As it stands, it's a hundred and eighty-five pounds."

Probably he has sold it by now — but not to me.

Bees Are Swarming

All our local bees, it seems, have swarmed at once, and there is a great to-do. One wretched woman I met has somebody's swarm in her bedroom chimney, and another has them buzzing in her flue. Our bee expert is frantically cycling around the place gathering them up, and there are screams for him from all quarters. I am wondering how the Gardening Partner is getting along with his, for I am sure he lives in terror of them. They are gifted with low cunning, nestling under his collar and then crawling into bed with him. Just when he is settling down nicely they cause him to leap up with loud howls, I am told, rousing the entire household. Now he is spending his evenings making an elaborate hive for them, though — in his usual fashion — he says that it is completely useless work as they aren't a scrap of good and never give any honey. All the same, he presented me with a good big jar of homegrown product last year; and there has been so much complaint that I shall look for at least double the quantity this year.

We know the Gardening Partner, by now.

During Whitsun I gave myself a wonderful time lolling in the woods near here. All winter I think about just that — the time when I can sprawl under a tree and stare up through the leaves at a summer sky. Sandwiches, a package of smokes; not even a book. But always there is the Revolution? . . . We've Had It!

CANADA has had a revolution. Canada's revolution is not in the future, it is in the past. During the four years of war Canada has undergone an industrial revolution that, but for the vast overshadowing of war news, would have been one of the wonders of our age.

To give it a date, it began shortly after Dunkirk. In that world-astounding feat of arms wherein Britain snatched a great victory out of what appeared at first blush to be a defeat, a tremendous quantity of war material was lost. Then came the blitz — and Churchill's immortal speech declaring that "Britain fights alone." But Britain, although a mighty manufacturing country, was in no position to fight an enemy at her very gates and, at the same time, get the mills turning at sufficient speed to make up for her lost guns, tanks, planes, munitions.

Canada filled the breach. In scant months Canada, hitherto best known as a producer of wheat, furs and lumber, transformed itself into one vast arsenal. As workers in our local war plants know too well, it was a change, not only of industrial set-up, but also of men's and women's outlook. Men who had worked on the farms, or kept country stores — women who had sold over the counter or performed other peacetime tasks — learned, almost overnight it seems, to fill bullets, to shape airplane panels and produce the tools of war.

Canada is today the world's third largest exporting nation. It has the fourth largest navy, and its merchant fleets are ten imes greater than in days of peace.

Translated into post-war terms, this could and must mean that Canada will rank as one of the world's largest producers of manufactured goods. This, coupled with the fact that Canada still is rich in raw materials and foodstuffs — in wheat, lumber, furs, iron, coal, gold, nickel, aluminum, to cite but a short list — makes the outlook for Canada very bright indeed.

Very bright — or very gloomy. That is the challenge. It is a challenge, not to manufacturers and industrialists alone, but to every man, woman and youth. To put it in homely words, Canada has built up to big time stuff. It can, when victory is won, beat its swords into plowshares and stay in big time. But if the heart should fail, if aggressiveness should wane, then we shall be like a strong man who lets his muscles waste. We shall be weak and flabby indeed.

The challenge goes further. We can see victory ahead. We shall not have finished our job in Europe until the treaties have been signed, order restored, the supremacy of righteous might over wicked might set down as a fact, signed, sealed and delivered beyond any man's gainsay. And still there will remain the task of beating Japan.

It all costs money. Money to make arms to win the fight, money to build hospitals and succor the wounded, money to re-tool for peacetime prosperity — for maximum production and maximum employment in the not-too-distant day when there will be no war. It costs billions — and the opportunity for every worker to do his share, and at the same time make himself a nest egg for the future, is provided by Canada's forthcoming Seventh Victory Loan drive.

The Feminine Touch

THIS AUTUMN'S fashion pages and shop windows are an assurance to many an anxious male that after five wartime years of slacks and overalls, the Feminine Touch is coming into its own again. We see a suggestion of Grandma's bustle in new fall dresses. The girls are letting their hair down after five years of "feather cuts." Hats grow fancier and sillier — and it's good to see them that way.

Since 1939 we've watched our womenfolk lay aside glamor to help their men win the war. The best girl donned khaki, airforce or navy blue. Kid sister looked like a boy in farm overalls, and Mom was generally attired in a smock for Red Cross or some other community work.

Five years in the services, on farms and in war plants taught Canadian women to work like men and dress for the job. But a lot of us missed the feminine touch in wartime tailoring. Some got to wondering whether capable wartime clothes would lead our ladies forever away from the apron-frilled prettiness of pre-war life.

After such weighty discussions on the subject of slacks and their probable influence on post-war glamor, it's comforting to know a fantastic bonnet is still a prime drawing card for the woman shopper—be she riveter or Red Cross worker. It's heartening to see a touch of lace and ostrich plume regain their old place of honor in the woman's world.

This 1944 glimpse of post-war fashion can't guarantee whether Miss Canada will sit by a typewriter or the family mending after the war, but according to what we see in the store windows these days, our girls are going to look entirely feminine at either job.

Sickness and Poverty

THE GREATEST single cause of poverty is sickness, and the problems arising from poverty will never be solved until the problems of sickness are solved.

Dr. Gordon Bates, general director of the Health League of Canada, in a recent address in Toronto linked these two evils which beset mankind; and he stressed the invaluable importance of voluntary effort in the health field, in "getting things done."

People must have a clear understanding of their national, provincial and local health problems and the relationship of health to social progress. With such a background of understanding they could influence their governments to push ahead modern health and social programs.

He said that in attempting to solve the problems of disease, human beings are embarrassed by a tradition — to do nothing about sickness until it happens; and when it does happen they haven't enough organization even to meet that problem.

"We must be organized to the end that every individual must have medical, nursing and hospital care whether such care can be paid for or not," Dr. Bates said. "Public health machinery must be the best possible."

In the health field it must be recognized that the position of voluntary agencies is an essential part of disease preventing machinery. Without voluntary agencies there would be no progress. Such agencies provided the energetic assistance of people devoted to a cause. This was the kind of assistance which all progressive governments should welcome.

Example of Parental Neglect

NEGLECTFUL parents, plus beer parlors and a fire in a home, caused the death of four little children in Schumacher, Ontario, recently. Now the father and mother are in penitentiary for three years, having been found guilty of manslaughter — exactly where they should be, if anything, for even a longer term (remarks an exchange, in commenting upon the tragedy).

When sentencing the guilty pair, the judge told them something as to their responsibility which may give cause for some thinking, with probably deserved remorse, if there is anything in their make-up or on their minds above the "joys" of the beverage rooms of which they evidently had been frequenters.

Beyond this there is a warning for parents in general. It is to recognize the responsibility that goes with the rearing of children, the need of their proper care and the exercise of an earnest interest in their welfare, especially in their tender years, when love sympathy and proper home life mean so much.

To neglect little ones, to leave them alone as the pair now in the "pen" did, is about the lowest type of criminality. In this case the lives of the four innocent children have been taken and cannot be restored — but others may be saved by watchfulness and the creation of homes and home life that will build good citizenship.

Three years is a fair term in which to think matters over. When the pair here discussed are again free, the hope is that they may have reached a point where they realize that life is something more than time spent in a beverage room.

TIME AND TIDE wait for no man, they roll on ever and ever without regard. Our contemporary, The Huntingdon Gleaner, has just reached the 82nd milestone of its career. On September 18, to be exact, its 81st year ended and its 82nd year began. Founded by the late Robert Sellar, The Gleaner has been carried on by members of the same family through all these years.

THE MOST democratic institution in town is the Red Cross Blood Donors Clinic. No lines are drawn as to race, color or creed. On the battlefields of France and Italy, while you read these lines, white boys are recovering from horrible wounds because some negro gave his blood at a Red Cross Clinic at home. Skin different, perhaps. But corpuscles absolutely the same.

—Summerside (P.E.I.) Pioneer

IT BECOMES increasingly difficult for the common man in the street to keep pace with the swelling flow of rules and regulations that pour out of the various bureaus set up in Ottawa. . . . Over-lapping requirements that involve two or more governmental departments in a single simple transaction is the rankest kind of inefficiency, and is an imposition on an abused and long-suffering public that borders on the intolerable.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

By Jim Greenblat

In all communities of the Dominion patriotic men and women are now organizing to help put over the Seventh Victory Loan, opening October 23, as announced by Finance Minister Ilsley. The people are being asked to subscribe $1,300,000,000 — by $100,000,000 greater than any previous Loan. And things look rosy in the war now, but it is not over yet. War is eating up more money right now more than ever before. Our total requirements (war and ordinary) will probably reach $6,500,000,000 for the year; just think of that. Our spending, nationally, will be more than $15,000,000 a day. Our individual savings must be thrown into the balance which brings our boys and girls home sooner. After all, we're lending — not giving.

Another reduced rate is announced on overseas mail now. Airgraphs to civilians — "letters on film that travel by air"—may be sent for just 5 cents in areas in which the airgraph service operates as well as to members of the Armed Forces. It is interesting to know these letters are flown to Toronto, photographed on reels of microfilm—1,600 messages being contained on a 3¾ ounce reel of film—over 6,800 messages to the pound. Enlarged prints are made overseas after being flown across the briny. If a reel is lost, a duplicate can always be made and despatched.

Don't worry. The postal department advises that letters from Canadian prisoners of war in Germany, or in the reverse, may cease to arrive altogether for a time because of cut in German mail connection due to the speedy Allied drive. As soon as certain regions are cleared it will be possible for Allied authorities to collect P. of W. mail from Swiss postal people and fly it from there to the country of destination. At the moment mail from Canadian prisoners is still arriving, but it is mail which reached Lisbon before disruption of German connection with Portugal.

The Agricultural Food Board asks people to avoid over purchases of milk or any possible waste. Hot weather in Eastern Canada caused a falling off in milk production and an increase in fluid milk consumption and the difficulty is foreseen of meeting Canada's agreement to supply cheese to Britain. It is our duty to help maintain the cheese ration for the British people and the Canadian fighting forces.

• • •

Don't let them down. Mail your Christmas parcel overseas to the fighting forces at once, because soon closing dates will be past.

At Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the Department of Agriculture reports that success attended the innovation of square quarts and half pint milk bottles, which increases cold storage space as well as truck loads. Grocers and retailers found they could put 36 square quarts on a frig shelf that held only 25 round bottles.

"Canadian Churches and The War", a monthly bulletin of Wartime Information dealing with the incidence of venereal disease, in its August issue takes the stand that the real cure is a matter of moral education, quoting this editorial comment from the United Churchman: "The ultimate cure for our shameful record of degenerative diseases, eating like cancer into our national life, lies not in hygiene and economic measures, although these are indispensable, but in the individual and community ideals we choose to live by. No decent civilization is possible without at least some return to Christian ideals of human intercourse and to the moral law. The Ten Commandments are still the basis of a morally decent civilization."

"Okay son," said the old man, reaching for his coat. "You stay here and take care of things. I'll take it over."

NEW FRIENDSHIPS FORGED IN CANADA WILL OUTLAST WAR

Men from Many Nations Make One Harmonious Force at R.C.A.F. Training Centre in Alberta

By ENID NEMY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

De Winton, Alta. (CP) — The uniforms are those of the Royal Canadian Air Force. The shoulder badges read "Czechoslovakia," "Belgium," "France", "Netherlands," for the men here at De Winton air school, southwest of Calgary, are personnel of the Allied Air Force.

Their stories, they say, are not exciting. Although memories cannot be completely erased they do not like to dwell on them because to these lads the future is of paramount importance.

There is the tall, blond flight lieutenant with the engaging grin whom we shall call just Hendrik because his parents are still in occupied Holland. Hendrik left his homeland in December, 1941, but it was almost a year later that he reached Gibraltar. Two months of that year were spent in a concentration camp and three weeks in jail, but "there's always a way out where there's a way in," he says.

Hendrik's experiences would make an adventure story look pale but to him those days and nights of horror were only part of a pattern to freedom.

It isn't pleasant being hunted. Jan, the heavy set Czech with the eyes of steel, can tell you that. Jan escaped from the tiny republic which was his home, immediately after the Nazi occupation. His trek took him through Poland and France, where he was sent to Africa with the Foreign Legion.

Sent to Tunisia

When France declared war, he was transferred to the colonial air force in Tunisia, then posted to Algiers. A small cargo boat took him to England after the collapse of France. "We had nothing to eat for four days but food then wasn't important."

The friendship that has grown up between these men of different nationalities here in Canada will not be severed when peace is declared. It will be just the beginning. For their commanding officer, Sqdn. Ldr. A. J. Laing is already planning a post-war Allied club.

"The club could play an important part in the cementing of better relationships between European countries," he says. And if Sqdn. Ldr. Laing has his way, it will.

Disarming Our Fighting Men

This is a fanciful little yarn — a fiction. But if it is a joke, it is the grimmest we ever heard.

It concerns a man who cashed a bond. Now, it is every Canadian's right to dispose of one or more bonds if an actual emergency arises. But Jim Smith's reason was a frivolous one.

That night Jim dreamed a dream. His son was with Eisenhower's invasion forces, and Jim dreamed that he saw him holding up the enemy at a salient, spreading death among the Germans with his Canadian-made machine gun and Canadian-made band of cartridges.

A sergeant came and took the band out of the gun. Smith, Jr. was flabbergasted. Helpless he watched the exultant ranks of the enemy swarm forward to capture the salient and wipe out its defenders.

"Sergeant," he gasped, "this is treachery. It's murder!"

"Sorry," replied the sergeant. "Those bullets aren't paid for. The man who bought the bond has just cashed it in."

Strikes in Reverse

(Chicago Daily News)

Strikes are now going into reverse. The boss is beginning to strike. In one way or another this always has happened whenever and wherever unwise labor leadership has asked for more than "the traffic will bear."

As long as Government is paying the bills, there will be no quits by management in war industries, of course. But in non-war industries two worms have already turned in this region. At Sterling, Ill., the management of Lawrence Bros. hardware factory announced after a vote of the employees to join the United Steel Workers (C.I.O.) that they were through, for the time being anyhow. As there is demand for war-plant manpower in that vicinity, the patriotic thing to do, the management intimated, happened also to be the expedient thing to do. As the Government is taking for taxes nine tenths of any money the plant might make, there is no special urge to keep it open.

Conceivably, bosses can be drafted to lose money, and men can be drafted to work even at less than a living wage. Hitler seems to have gotten away with it for a while. But where would labor leaders get off under such a system.

Orders for vast quantities of flags are being given by British business firms, local councils, and private people for the Peace Day which they believe is not far off.

But almost all of the orders have to be refused. The only flags now for sale are from pre-war stocks, which are running low.

First town in Britain to get its flags is Oswestry, Shropshire, which has bought Union Jacks, Dominion and United Nations flags from a local firm.

"Why do I have to use my elbow and my foot?" asked his friend.

"Well, for heaven's sake! exclaimed the Irishman. "You're not coming empty-handed, are you?"

EXPERTS NOW SAY CUT YOUR ROSES LATE IN THE DAY

Increased Sugar Content Lengthens Life of Blooms Cut in Afternoon

Ithaca, N.Y. (CP) — The time-honored, "cut your roses in the morning when the dew is on them," had been disputed through scientific experiment in the floriculture department at Cornell University.

Joseph E. Howland, assistant in the department, has shown that roses cut in the afternoon last longer than those cut in the morning. As much as 10 hours of life is added, his studies indicate.

The reason given is that leaves make sugars when the sun shines. The later in the day the stems are cut, the longer they should keep because of the increased sugar content, which is highest around 4.30 p.m.

Howland discovered also that short-stemmed roses with only a few leaves keep just as long as long-stemmed ones with many leaves — and there goes another old rule.

Sugar Necessary

The history of roses is said to support the new evidence. Howland pointed out that as early as 1908, French investigators discovered that the keeping quality of cut flowers was not improved unless it was used in combination by any chemical used in the water, with sugar. Florists now sell "sugar powder" to prolong the life of roses, without knowing why it worked.

Sugar alone cannot be used in the water because bacterial growth would be increased, the Cornell experiments show, and possibly plug water-onducting elements in the stem of the cut flower. A chemical which prevents bacterial growth in the water must be used with it. A large supply of sugar in the leaves and petals is one factor in preventing premature falling of petals.

Whether other flowers will respond the same as the rose is not known as yet.

One day the telephone in the office of the Rector of President Roosevelt's Washington church rang, and an eager voice said, "Tell me, do you expect the President to be in church this Sunday?"

"That," the Rector explained patiently, "I cannot promise. But we expect God to be there, and we fancy that will be incentive enough for a reasonably large attendance."

— John T. Watson.

Late Mrs. R. Boa Was Lifelong Resident Here

An aged and lifelong resident of this community passed away in the person of Mrs. Robert Boa, widow of the late Robert Boa. Her death occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Chas. S. Pollock, on September 21.

Mrs. Boa was in her 87th year, and was the last remaining child of the late John Smith and Catherine Buchan, of Thomas' Gore.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon from the home of her daughter, service being conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. The hymns, "God Loved the World of Sinners Lost" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul", favorites of the deceased, were sung.

She leaves to mourn her loss one daughter, Mrs. Chas. S. Pollock (Catherine), and one son, Wm. F. Boa, of Lachute.

The remains were interred in Lachute Cemetery. Pall-bearers were Messrs. John Pollock, Alex Smith, Lebert Hume, Murray Lyster, James Stevenson, of Cowansville, and Stanley Sullivan, of Chesterville, Ont.

Panzer Farming

(Christian Science Monitor)

The farm of the future, if we can believe the news these days, is going to be a very different affair from even the semi-bucolic establishment we've been used to. It is going to be fully mechanized, the prognosticators assure us.

It's a good thing we have been warned, for it will take us a little time to get used to the idea. It will seem very strange, for instance, to find the barn redolent more of gasoline than of horses. It will seem even stranger to see loads of hay arriving, not aboard a hayrack, but tightly gripped in what we are told is a buck rake that picks up the hay in the field and transports it as it is to the barn in half-ton lots.

The farmer and his hired hands will probably take on the aspect of a panzer division, speeding out to the field each morning in a cloud of dust, going through the day's plowing or reaping at dizzy pace, and speeding back home again for a dinner of out-of-season delicacies fresh from the deep-freeze unit.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

HISTORIC OCCASION AT CHRIST CHURCH, ST. ANDREWS EAST

De Hertel, John Oscar Dorion and his wife, Lydia Margaret Johnson, and George Walter De Hertel Dorion. This gift to the church was presented by Lily Adrian Dorion.

A congregational supper was held in the town hall following the service, and two former rectors, the Rev. E. G. May and the Rev. T. W. Ball were asked to speak. The former eulogized the enthusiastic workers of the church in days gone by, and said he was glad that the church was still "holding its own."

Next Sunday a Communion service will be held at 11 a.m. and the guest preacher and celebrant will be the Very Rev. J. F. Morris, of Montreal.

The St. Andrews United Church has graciously cancelled its morning devotions, and members of that church will join with the Anglican congregation in commemorating the world-wide Communion Day.

MISSIONARY NIGHT AT UNITED Y. P. U.

The theme for the regular meeting of the Lachute United Church Young People's Union was "Medical Missions". An excellent program was arranged by the missionary convenors, Miss Vivian Rick and Miss Norma McClenaghan.

An appropriate scripture lesson from St. Luke was read by Miss E. Ness, and a suitable reading entitled, "Thy faith hath saved thee", was given by Mrs. G. Fenwick. Miss Margaret Hammond offered the prayer.

An interesting paper was read by Miss Rick on the consciousness of missions in wartime, when so many of our Christian soldiers are serving in foreign fields where missionaries first pioneered for Christ. The article gave an insight into the many phases of missionary work, covering the medical, educational, social and gospel aspects.

A five-way discussion followed, the subject being "Why Medical Missions?", the participants were the Misses Rick, McClenaghan, Leroy and Messrs. Wilson and Hammond. This discussion endeavored to give the answers to many critics of missionary work, and how such leaders as Robert Livingstone, David Moffat, John Thomas and William Carey answered the call, to help in the great work of assisting the distressed people of Africa, India and China.

During the evening, two pianoforte solos were rendered by Mr. Erle Morrison, which were appreciated by the group.

Excerpts were read from a letter received by the president from the Y.P.U. National Director, calling upon the members to take an active interest in social and national problems.

During the business period a committee of three composed of President J. F. Gorman, Secretary Harold Deacon and Mr. Erle Morrison, were appointed to make a study of post-war problems pertaining to health, education, religion, citizenship, working opportunities and social conditions in general, in co-operation with the government - sponsored Canadian Youth Commission, and other church groups in Lachute.

The meeting next week will be in charge of Miss Doris Leroy and Mrs. J. F. Gorman, the Christian Culture convenors, and the Rev. G. T. Spriggs is expected to be the guest speaker.

The Church

I am the best friend you ever had.
I am hung with sweet memories.
Memories of boys and girls —
Memories of the angels as they walk in the shadows.
I am blessed with loving thoughts —crowned by happy hands and hearts. In the minds of the greatest men of earth I find a constant dwelling place.
I lift up the fallen, I strengthen the weak.
I help the distressed, I show mercy, bestow kindness, and offer a friendly hand.
I am good fellowship, friendliness and love.
Sometime — someday in the near future you will yearn for the touch of my friendly hand.
I am your comforter, and your best friend.
I am calling you now to support me. —I am your Church.

Avis au public :

Il y a 35 ans cette année, M. RAOUL JOLY commençait en cette ville la direction de pompes funèbres qu'il a maintenue jusqu'ici grâce à la bienveillance de sa nombreuse clientèle.

C'est à elle surtout qu'il s'adresse par la voie du Watchman, afin de la remercier pour son précieux patronage et l'engager à lui renouveler sa confiance dans l'avenir.

Afin de démentir certaines rumeurs, M. Joly n'a pas vendu sa place d'affaires et demeure entièrement au service du public, à qui il assure le même accueil et la même bonne considération.

Notice to the Public :

Thirty-five years ago Mr. RAOUL JOLY started in this town as funeral director — which profession he has followed to the present time, with the support of his numerous patrons.

It is to these in particular that he wishes to express his gratitude for their valued patronage and to solicit the continuance of their support.

In view of denying certain rumors, Mr. Joly states he has not sold his business to anyone, and still remains entirely at the service of the public — to whom he assures the same courtesy and consideration in the future.

Ready to Tell

Claire Wallace, and her surprising information about people and events, provide the touchstone of the new "They Tell Me" program, which returns to the Trans-Canada Network of the CBC, Wednesday, October 4, at 1.45 p.m. EDT. Pretty Wedding at St. Simeon's Church

Menzies - Dempster

The marriage of Eveline Beatrice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dempster, of Lachute, to Mr. James Menzies, son of the late James Menzies, of St. Andrew's, Scotland, and of Mrs. Menzies, of Outremont, took place at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, September 23, in St. Simeon's Church. The Rev. C. R. Lang officiated at the double ring ceremony. White gladioli were placed on the altar and variegated gladioli in baskets completed the floral decorations. "O Promise Me" was sung by Miss Sheila Langlands, of Montreal, niece of the bridegroom, with Mrs. Frank Graham at the organ.

Miss Margaret Langlands, of Montreal, niece of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, while Miss Ellen Campbell, of Lachine, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, the flower girl being Miss Edith Smith, Lachute. Mr. Harold Trevis, of Montreal, was best man, ushers being Mr. Alexander Campbell, of Lachine, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Arthur Guilbault.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin brocade cut on princess lines with train, the sleeves ending in fish points. Her veil reaching to the floor was caught in a halo effect with orange blossoms and her arm bouquet was of Johanna Hill roses.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaid were in floor-length crepe dresses with which they wore skull caps of the same material trimmed with yellow mums and carried arm bouquets of these flowers. The maid of honor was in American Beauty shade and the bridesmaid in powder blue. The flower girl, in a long peach taffeta dress with skull cap trimmed with flowers, carried a basket of flowers.

Mrs. Dempster, the bride's mother, wore dusty pink with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Menzies, the bridegroom's mother, wore heavenly blue crepe with black accessories, her corsage being of yellow chrysanthemums.

The reception took place at the Lachute Golf Club, where variegated gladioli were arranged. For the wedding trip to Toronto the bride wore a cocoa brown dress, with chocolate brown accessories, a turquoise blue coat with wolf fur collar and corsage of Johanna Hill roses. The couple will later take up residence in Lachute.

Letter from London Arrives in 48 Hours

Though the City of Greater London is still disturbed by an occasional buzz-bomb, the mail service from that source is nevertheless up to par. — So it would seem, from the following experience . . .

A letter was mailed in London September 25, from an English lad who had trained in various places in Canada with the R.A.F., and was received by Mrs. N. E. Smillie of Brownsburg on September 27.

There have been odd instances of letters arriving in this vicinity from England within four days, but as far as is known, this two-day delivery is a record.

MISSIONARY SEES MISERY OF CHINA UNDER JAP FORCE

Starving, Ill-Clothed and Hopeless Chinese Praise Church Work As Japs Ravage Country

By BARBARA WILFORD, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, Sept. 26 (CP) — Never have a downtrodden people had more need of Christ than those of China today, says Miss Greta Clark, an Anglican missionary who is back in Canada after 25 years in the Orient.

Miss Clark, who during her flight from the Japanese passed through miles of country left barren in the wake of the invaders, saw what life was to people with no food, no clothing, and little hope.

"Only the Christians have any hope," she said. "They are the only ones who believe that righteousness will triumph."

Miss Greta Clark was stationed in a Honan province city which was occupied by the Japanese in the fall of 1941, before Britain and the United States declared war on Japan. Since she was a "foreigner," she was treated civilly and was able to continue her work.

"They withdrew at the end of one month without a shot being fired," she said.

"The Japanese are absolutely ruthless. Any village that didn't welcome them with open arms was burned to the ground. There were no young women in the city; all had fled at the first warning of the invasion. Even the old women stayed by the roadside where they were safer than in their own kitchens."

During the winter of 1941 there was scarcely any food. There had been no rain all year and hence no spring or fall crop. Eight ounces of flour a day was considered sufficient for one person — if one could get it.

Wearing Chinese clothes to elude the invaders, Miss Clark travelled on foot throughout ravaged countryside which only a few weeks earlier had shown promise of the best wheat harvest in years. At one house where she asked for food and shelter, she was told the Japanese had taken everything.

One of the few missionaries to pass through Japanese battle lines, she spent hours crouched beside the road waiting for a lull in an apparently endless truck convoy. She found it safer to travel by day, passing as a Chinese woman, than to risk detection by village dogs at night whose barking might have alarmed Japanese guards. It took her more than five months to reach Canada after leaving her mission post.

When she told Chinese en route who she was, they were all eager to help her. One old man said, "Shing shan" — meaning, "You (missionaries) are doing a good work."

BATH-TUB SUSIE A PET HAIR SEAL

Victoria (CP) — Susie may be only a few weeks old but she swims in the bath-tub two hours a day and eats fish — preferably tinned sardine and pilchards. You see, Susie is a young hair seal, pet of Mrs. A. J. Webb of Victoria.

The seal was caught by Capt. Webb while fishing at Deep Bay near Nanaimo. At present only 36 inches in length, Susie drinks her milk from a pop bottle complete with rubber nipple — just like any other baby.

"She's as gentle as a lamb and just like a puppy dog only she hasn't any legs," Mrs. Webb said.

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

CLOTHES MUST CONFORM

Children's clothes are very important, not only in keeping them comfortable, but in their mental attitude. This is especially true of the shy child, or one who lacks confidence. Mothers all try to dress their children well, but sometimes they make the fatal error of dressing them differently than the other children. Now one of he first aims in woman's dress is to be just a bit different from other women — but not children. They are acutely uncomfortable if they are not dressed like the other children. They may be much better dressed but that means nothing, they simply must conform. Even girls who have a natural love for dress rebel against wearing an attractive outfit if it is not the same kind of thing the other girls wear. Boys' lives are sometimes made miserable because their mothers insist on them wearing rubbers or mufflers or some such thing, and many a boy has taken them off and hidden them just as soon as they got out of sight of home. The wise mother will study what the other children wear and will dress her family the same way. Let the children have some say in what they wear, and remember what hurts your pride may boost your children's.

WRITERS' CONFERENCE

The Maritime Writers' Conference was held in Sackville this August. It was a joint effort of the Canadian Women's Press Club, and the Canadian Authors' Association, and was the first joint conference ever held. The rest of Canada sort of lumps the Maritimes together, and rather expects the people to know each other. The Maritimers know the people of their own province surprisingly well. If they don't know them personally, they know who they are and their family ramifications. This is partly because most families have been there a long time and they have not moved around as much they do in newer parts of the country. I have found that the people of one province do not know the people of the others. Actually that is not surprising. Saint John is about 270 miles distant from Halifax. How well do you know the people in a city 270 miles from your home? Charlottetown is off by itself in the third province. One of the best things conventions do is to spread friendship. This one was no exception. The theme running right through the meetings, and this was not planned, was the way in which writers can help Canada both at home and abroad. We were impressed with the contribution we can make, and the fact that only writers can make it. Personally, I have come home inspired with a sizeable list of things about Canada I want to write, and as other writers must feel the same, the worth of the conference should be considerable.

DIET FOR A YEAR OLD

Many mothers in cities or larger towns take their babies to a pediatrician or their family doctor monthly for a check-up, and a diet sheet. There are many mothers who are not close enough to a doctor to make this possible. Here is a pediatrician's diet list for a year old baby. It is a very full one and probably more than most mothers give their babies. Small quantities of each food would be given, but the very varied diet gives the baby the chance of getting all the things he needs for good health and proper development.

Breakfast: Orange juice, cereal, bacon, egg, and ⅓ slice toast.

Dinner: Two vegetables, potato, beef or liver, pudding or fruit, and one slice toast or rusk.

Supper: Cereal, jelly or cottage cheese, fruit, bread or toast. Whole milk at each meal.

SUITABLE PUDDINGS

Just in case some of you may wonder what puddings the baby might have, here are some suggestions. Custards, junket, cornstarch puddings, bread, rice tapioca, sago, souffles and sponges. You will notice those are milk puddings. Frequently the dessert for the family dinner is suitable, but some can be kept in a cool place, well-covered, to use the day the family is having pie or a heavier dessert. Little extra cooking need be done for a baby if the meals are well planned. Grown-ups like their desserts well chilled, but food from the refrigerator should not be given to a baby. It should either be heated or left at room temperature long enough to take the chill off.

BAKED RICE

4 Cups milk, ⅓ cup rice, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, grated rind of ½ lemon, or ½ teaspoon nutmeg.

Wash the rice, then mix the ingredients and pour into a buttered pudding dish, set in a pan of hot water, and bake for three hours in a moderate oven of 300 degrees. Stir frequently during the first hour to prevent the rice from settling.

ORANGE JELLY

1 Tablespoon gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup boiling water, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Soak the gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Pour the boiling water over it, and add the sugar and stir until both are dissolved. Add the fruit juice and stir well. Strain into wet mold and chill until set.

Bane of Wartime Life in Britain

drone of planes, and every now and then a shadow flashes across the sun. There is one other queer reminder too: those strips of metallic paper which, months ago, Jerry dropped on us in such quantities. The morning after that visit we were all kept busy sweeping them off our doorsteps, and there was something novel and rather exciting about them; but now they lurk only in odd spots. All the same, I never catch sight of one of those curly strips in a copse or on a bush without a sudden sense of realization — rather as if one had opened one's own front door to discover a disagreeable stranger seated in the hall. For years to come, I am sure, we shall go on finding such souvenirs in the unlikeliest places.

Noisy Nnghts

Our nights, of course, are noisy with the passing of bombers — our own. So terrific has the sound become that, once or twice, I have given up the notion of sleeping and made myself a pot of tea in the small hours, toying with that till the armada has passed. And it takes a time, believe me. One is conscious of growing and terrific strength; its implications are horrible, I know, but to that I always say: "Well, what's your alternative?" There is no answer. And I don't imagine that anybody from Coventry or Warsaw or Bristol would have many comments to make on the noise — or the implications. The main thing is to get this job done and see that we don't have any more messes. That's the general feeling over here. That rather vague person, "The Man in the Street", is working himself up to a fine sense of determination about it. I hope he stays that way.

Prices Are Rising

It is a long time since I went into the town — for who would want a town after this lovely country? But I hear that prices there have reached quite startling heights in goods that are not controlled. Frocks are not out-of-the-way at 80 shillings, and nothing very special about them.

I have bought nothing this year — and, at that price, I don't intend to. But I have just made myself a rather nifty shirt-waist out of my host's old pyjama coat. The whole family gathered around to exclaim at it, and one or two other women have said: "Now, that is an idea!" We may expect a sharp outburst of pyjama wear after this. Economy, in fact, is now being used by folk who, till the war, never even thought of it. Even where there is plenty of money there is the usual shortage of coupons, so everybody has to think twice before going shopping. The stores, naturally, have to charge big prices for their limited stock, so one cannot grumble at that. Rent and salaries must be paid somehow.

The people I know who pay supper tax are not really much better off than the rest of us, for most of them already have homes that are expensive in themselves and, in order to keep them going at all, the cost of maintenance is high. The day of very big houses, I fancy, is over for good and all. For many years now country cottages — originally built for farm workers — have been bought by fairly wealthy folk for themselves, and now there doesn't seem to be one left for anybody. It has been rough on the farm worker for a long time, so one hopes that postwar arrangements will give him a square deal. Yet it is hardly reasonable to grumble at the wealthier buyers; they too have to live somewhere, and with scant domestic help. Houses and still more houses are our great need, particularly since so many have been lost through enemy action.

My own opinion is that one of the most-needed inventions is cheap and really effective sound insulation. Then numbers of unattached people could live under one roof: say three to a six-roomed house, and manage quite well. The young married couples, naturally, will have first choice, but the rest of us, even with the best will in the world, can't sleep under a hedge! Noises are probably the biggest problems. Eliminate those and folk will settle down close together without much trouble. And after all the row and ratte of war folk will want quiet more than anything. It is the small noises which will worry us then — footsteps overhead, typewriters, other people's clattering dishes. I do hope the inventors will remember this.

Endless domestic noise is one of the great worries of this period over here, I am sure, and something should be done about it when peace comes. It will be a long while before we have enough room to be noisy without driving somebody else to desperation. I do not believe it is a matter of "war nerves" at all. It is just that the majority of people, till recently, never had to endure the sounds of others all round them, day in and day out. We know it is all part of war, but we'd like to feel that it won't be part of peace as well!

Q.W.I. President Visits Eastern Branches

Mrs. C. S. Smallman, president of Quebec Women's Institutes, returned recently to her home in Dundee after visiting the Branch Institutes in the Gaspé and Valcartier. She reports great activity and interest in community work all through this section of the province, and an enjoyable visit and trip.

ANOTHER BIG ONE

Fishing at Mink Lake, Mrs. Joseph Walsh, of Fembroke, caught a bass weighing six and a half pounds. The fish measured 24 inches in length and 14½ inches in girth. The big bass, believed to be the largest reported in this district this season, was hauled in after a struggle of 15 minutes.

ABOUT THE THINGS YOU BUY IN WARTIME...

"I think it can be safely said that the sugar supply position is the most difficult situation we have to face today in any rationed commodity.

You can't get all you want in wartime. If one pound will do, don't buy two."

Gordon

The sugar situation is NOT sweet

FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE SUGAR CANADA CONSUMES HAS TO BE IMPORTED

This map shows where Canada, Great Britain and the United States got their sugar in the good old days of peace. Our three countries take practically all the exportable sugar from these major sugar-exporting areas.

But supplies have either been cut off by enemy occupation of the country—as in the case of Java and the Philippines, or their production radically reduced by shortage of workers, as in the case of Hawaii, Porto Rico, Australia, Trinidad, Fiji.

Even the production of beet sugar in Canada and the United States has been drastically cut by labour shortage. In both countries the '43 sugar beet crop was forty per cent less than in '41. The only country to show an important increase is Cuba, where output had for years been deliberately restricted. But its increase has not been sufficient to offset the losses elsewhere—let alone meet the increased demand.

ROLLING ON SUGAR

The war has brought some unusual demands on the United Nations' sugar pool. Vast quantities have been taken for making industrial alcohol used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber (tires, etc.) as well as T.N.T. and smokeless powder. For instance, the explosive to fill five 16-inch shells requires as much sugar as is produced on an acre of the finest sugar land. This year Cuban sugar alone used for making industrial alcohol will equal Canada's normal sugar imports for more than two years.

THE SUPPLY IS SHARED

All sugar supplies are pooled and under the control of the Combined Food Board of the United Nations, which allots supplies to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform basis.

DO WE NEED MORE SUGAR?

A century ago the whole world didn't consume as much sugar as Canada does today. Our sweet tooth has been acquired in quite recent times. Sugar rates high for its energy value, but starchy food is a good substitute.

WE'RE LIVING ON OUR SUGAR CAPITAL

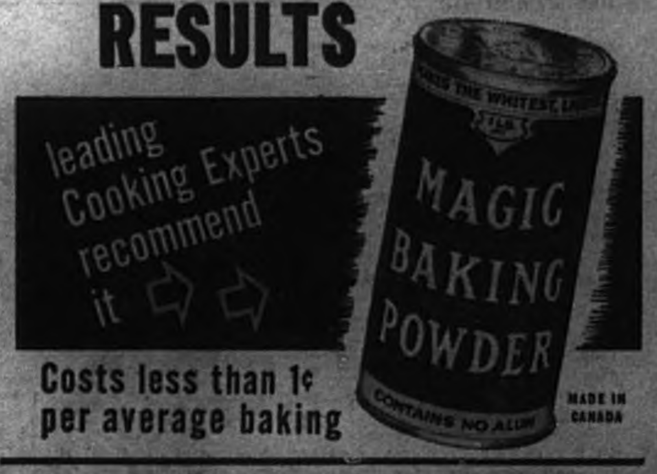

At the time of "Pearl Harbour" the United Nations had a reserve stock-pile of about 3 million tons, but for the last 3 years we've been using more than has been produced—and dipping heavily into "reserve." Liberated nations will have to dip in too. Extra good crops could improve the situation, but greatly increased supplies are not in sight. If current consumption keeps up, we could be very short of sugar next year. We must do the utmost to conserve our supplies.

RATIONING WAS STARTED BECAUSE OF SHORTAGE OF SHIPS. IT MUST BE CONTINUED BECAUSE WORLD STOCKS ARE DEFICIENT

'Battle of Russia' Impressive Record Of Soviet at War

"The Battle of Russia" — billed for tomorrow and Saturday at the Rex — is termed by Herbert Whittaker as "an outstanding documentary film." Its purpose is one of instruction; its success is notable in interpreting the Russian war up to 1943. That instruction is made the more effective because it is able to cut through the intellect deep into the heart — adds Mr. Whittaker's review.

"The Battle of Russia" was not originally made for general distribution. Its first audience consisted only of American soldiers, for whom its explanations were designed. But by calling in Lt.-Col. Anatole Litvak, formerly of Hollywood, to make the picture, the U.S. War Department secured itself an instructional film so well-made that it was decided that the public should see it.

Mr. Litvak has built up a most impressive historical record of Russia's war. The clippings from the epic Soviet films he used for the picture's prologue, show something of the invaders who preceded Hitler, and their subsequent fates. The Huns, the Swedes, the French and now the Huns again have learned the lesson that here is a country which will resist to death and beyond.

Having illustrated this point the picture then goes on to show what kind of people the Russians are The inhabitants of this Soviet Union are shown in all their wide variety.

The film then gives a year by year record of the war. The temporary treaty, the haste to prepare, the first day of invasion — down to the developments of 1943, which we ourselves know to have been heralding complete victory.

The film like most important documents, is long. You might find it too long, to which the proper answer is that the Russians also found their war long. But it does not lack in excitement or emotion. It is a noble addition to the films of Russia's great struggle, perhaps the most completely recorded of all struggles since the beginning of time.

POST-WAR MUSIC CENTRE

Toronto (CP) — A new Massey Hall on the scale of a minature Radio City is being planned as a post-war project. The new building will be situated on Bloor Street opposite Varsity Arena. The Massey Foundation is prepared to subscribe an amount equal to that contributed by the city toward the new building.

BEES CAUGHT OUT

St. Thomas, Ont. (CP) — The weather turned warm last January and fooled the bees. They thought it was summer and ate up a lot of their food supplies. As a result the honey crop in this district is only about one-third of normal this season, with heavy demand reported.

An Irishman and a Scotsman went into a hotel for refreshment and were asked to sign their names and nationality.

The Irishman signed: "Irish — and proud of it."

The Scotsman signed: "Scotch — and fond of it."
