Lachute Lions Club Marks Tenth Anniversary With Gala Gathering

Supper and Dance Held at Golf Club, Presentations to 10 Charter Members

Saturday evening was a special occasion in the history of the Lachute Lions Club, when a large number of members and guests assembled at the Golf Club to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the formation of the local branch. A buffet supper and dance was held to mark this notable anniversary.

After an appetizing meal, President Dr. W. F. FitzGerald extented a hearty welcome to friends and members of fellow clubs. In referring to the work of the local Lions since inauguration of their club, he said there had been many ups and downs but the "ups" had prevailed and they had accomplished much. Among other things, help had been given to underprivileged children, and since the outbreak of war 1,120,000 cigarettes had been sent to the county boys overseas at a cost of some $4,000, which had been contributed by the county as a whole. They had also sponsored the Blood Clinic and were proud of the fact that over 975 donations of blood had already been sent to the armed services

Lion Lester Whiting, president of the Montreal Club, sponsors of the Lachute branch, expressed appreciation of the growth and splendid accomplishment of the local club during the past 10 years and hoped that gas rationing would soon be lifted so they might again be able to enjoy a visit on what he termed "Lachute Day".

Lion Bill Stevens, of Ottawa, the District Governor, brought greetings and complimented the club on accomplishments worthy of the highest praise.

Referring to the good work done by the 122 Lions Clubs in District A, he said that over $400,000 had been raised during 1943-44, an average of approximately $350 each. In a membership of 6,000 in District A, 600 were on active service. Despite handicaps there had been an increase of $125,000 over last year's receipts and from the total over $323,000 had been worthily and effectively disbursed. To war services $108,000 had been donated while $78,000 was given to the British Child War Victims Fund.

Speaking of the future, Lion Stevens said there was a tremendous job to be done and grave problems to be faced, particularly in rehabilitation of the service men on their return to civilian life.

He closed his remarks by wishing the Lachute Club continued and increasing success, and appealed to members to back up their president and carry on with the good work.

Presentation of a pen and pencil set was made to 10 charter members — Lion Gaetan Valois, Past Deputy District Governor, and Past President of Lachute Club, also Lions P. Roy, T. K. Haller, H. Johnson, C. Tremblay, A. Fassio, S. S. Campbell, E. Walker, E. Deslauriers and H. Lavigne —with best wishes for many more years of active service.

Lion Valois responded to the presentation and referred to the humble beginning 10 years ago, when the charter members really took Lionism to heart. Although achievements were many there was still room for more, and charity had been added. He compared the Lions Club to a harnessed stream developing power, and as more was needed so this organization was designed an another turbine to advance the good work in our community. "In the inauguration", he said, "I was asked to sow the seed. You can see for yourselves the result. We started slowly and have progressed until we have reached the stage where we are a real success, and Lachute is now on the map in a large way".

The regrets of District Deputy Governor Lion Adams, of Montreal, who was unable to be present, were expressed by Lion W. Bullock, who presented Lions Fernand Legault and George Tattersfield with past president and merit pins, respectively. As chairman of the Rehabilitation Committee he spoke of the challenge which would come to the citizens of Canada to see that lads returning from this war are looked after to the fullest extent, and that the promise made to them when they left our shores be fulfilled. "May your record be as high in the future" he said "as it has been in the past; and if you carry out your end, we will carry out ours".

Also present were Lions W. McKenna, past president of Magog, Henry Larose, secretary of the Hull club, and R. Bennett, president of the Verdun club.

To music provided by a five-piece orchestra, dancing was enjoyed for several hours.

Woman Injured By Automobile

On Chatham Street at 8.30 o'clock Tuesday morning, Miss Beatrice Charlebois, Lachute Mills, suffered a possible fracture of the skull and other injuries in an accident with an automobile driven by Dieudonne Leroux, St. Philippe. The woman was carried to her father's home nearby, and was attended by Dr. Marc Papineau, later being removed to the Providence Hospital, Lachute Mills.

Miss Charlebois was crossing the street and did not notice the car approaching eastward. According to information received, she actually fell forward against the rear end of the moving automobile, striking her head.

Dr. Jules Lafleur Appointed Coroner

Appointment of Dr. Jules Lafleur as joint coroner for this district, is announced by Order-in-Council. Well known as a local physician, Dr. Lafleur has filled the role of coroner on a number of occasions in the absence of Dr. A. R. Cote, Brownsburg — with whom he now officially shares the office for this district.

Criminal Assizes Being Held for This District

A term of the Court of King's Bench (Criminal side) for this judicial district was officially proclaimed opened at the Court House, St. Jerome, on October 3, by Mr. Justice Philemon Cousineau, who will preside at the various jury trials. A substantial number of Argenteuil residents have been ordered to act as jurymen.

Victor Rose, St. Jerome, grievous assault — October 6.

Raymond Ethier, Ste-Therese, grievous assault — October 11.

Willie Tessier, Oka, entering with intent to commit criminal offence — October 12.

Rene Laurin, Lachute, theft of tarpaulin — October 13.

Ernest Brunelle, Lost River, manslaughter — October 18.

Marcel Deslauriers, Ste-Therese, grievous assault — October 23.

Louis Hemond, Ste-Therese, grievous assault — October 24.

Raoul Beliveau, Ste-Therese, grievous assault — October 25.

Josephat Bastien, St. Jerome, manslaughter — October 25.

Joseph Simon and Eddie Okes, Oka, theft of trees—November 20.

Bernard Gabriel, Oka, theft of trees — November 22.

Jean Marcel Aubry, St-Jovite, manslaughter — November 23 and 24.

Georges H. Héon, Lachute attorney, will conduct the cases for the Crown, with Lucien Thinel, of St. Jerome.

Among the attorneys of record for the various accused are the following:—

J. P. Lanctôt for E. Brunelle.

Legault & Legault for René Laurin, Ernest Poirier, Joseph Simon and Eddie Okes.

John G. Ahern for Jean Marcel Aubry.

Camille de Martigny for Josephat Bastien, etc.,

It is expected that the term will extend to the end of November.

Pte. Fortune Lady At 91st Milestone

Pte. Fortune — On Saturday afternoon, celebrating the occasion of her 91st birthday, Mrs. George A. Barclay received congratulations and good wishes from her numerous friends. Among the guests who gathered to greet her were — Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Jackson, Lachute; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jackson, Kemptville, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Barclay, Winchester, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Barclay and Mr. and Mrs. Ross J. Barclay, Pointe Fortune, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Scanlon, Hudson, Que.; and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Knight, of Ottawa; also six grandchildren. Greetings were also received from many other friends.

"Central"

NEWSPAPER WEEK, October 1 to 8, is no imposition on the public — to Buy, Eat, Boost, Observe or Remember. There are many such weeks, and days, some altruistic and genuine, others commercially inspired. . . . Our cartoon depicts the relation of the newspaper to its community. The home-town journal is a medium, a link, between its readers and every sound enterprise on which the community thrives. The analogy with this particular countryside is apparent — impressing the fact that The Watchman, likewise, is filling every worth-while purpose in its appointed role.

Brownsb'g Village Loses Lawsuit to Works Contractor

Judgment of the Superior Court on Friday ordered the Corporation of the Village of Brownsburg to pay to J. A. Auclair, contractor, $5,000 damages suffered through cancellation of a $118,240 contract which the municipal authorities in September, 1940, awarded to Auclair for construction of a waterworks and sewerage system in Brownsburg. Plaintiff sued the corporation for $25,000, representing the profit he said he would have made through execution of the contract.

Mr. Justice Theodule Rheaume, in deciding the case, said the corporation admitted that, after awarding plaintiff the contract, a resolution was adopted authorizing its cancellation; that new tenders were then called for and finally the work was given to another contractor, Napoleon Legace.

The corporation, the Judge said, sought to justify its conduct by invoking Article 627 (a) of the Municipal Code which enacted that no contract could be awarded for the construction of public works by a municipality unless and until an appropriation sufficient to pay construction costs had been voted. But the proof established, His Lordship pointed out, that when plaintiff's tender was accepted funds were available to pay for the work in virtue of a by-law authorizing a special loan. He said if there was a slight difference between the appropriation and plaintiff's tender, the corporation could not validly plead the foregoing clause of the Municipal Code, as its responsibility was limited by the appropriation authorized by special by-law, Judge Rheaume said.

As to damages, he observed that the Court had to consider the fact that plaintiff had opportunity to secure other work during the period that execution of the contract would have occupied. In this circumstance, Judge Rheaume said $5,000 would be fair compensation for plaintiff's loss of the contract. Defendant corporation was ordered to pay costs of the action.

Wounded in Italy

Arundel — Word received by his parents recently states that Drennan McArthur, of the 48th Highlanders, has been wounded while serving in Italy and is now under medical care at No. 1 Canadian General Hospital.

In Brownsburg

Specially contributed to The Watchman

Child Hit by Truck

An unfortunate accident occurred on Tuesday when little Deanna Brown, daughter of Mr. Bill Brown, resident of Oak Street, was injured about the head by a truck. The child, only six years of age, was on her way to school in the morning, when crossing the street at an intersection opposite the school she was knocked down and rendered unconscious. Later in the day she was moved to a Montreal hospital. She was attended here by Dr. A. R. Cote.

Teachers' Convention

School's out again for the children during the period of Teachers' Convention. The convention takes place in Montreal during the week and several important matters are down for discussion. In the light of recent developments in educational matters, compulsory education, free text books, and the importance of preparedness for the post-war struggle, a grave duty has been placed on the school teacher, and the discussion of operational methods and theories is an immediate concern of all those charged with so important a work. The gravity of the moment is lost on the children, who delight in the respite, as a continuation of the summer holidays. —And so it should be.

On Jury Service

The opening of the fall Assizes in St. Jerome has claimed the attendance of several of the residents of Brownsburg. The duty of citizenship has conferred on them the privilege of jury service, which is an essential tenet of the democratic principle.

More About Roads

Notwithstanding all the letters to the Montreal Star, or because of them, the scenic beauties of the Laurentians can within the course of the next week be viewed from the dust-free, rock-covered surface of a smooth asphalt roadway. Of course, we shall always have some dusty roads about which those who are "agin the Government" can vent their spleen in that interesting media of Letters to the Editor, but in this neck of the woods at least we shall have a quite decent highway. Work is now being rushed and the final coat may be completed within the next two weeks.

A feeling of optimism now prevails in the final outcome of the Brownsburg council's interview with Mr. George Héon on the important question of having the streets included in the work now proceeding. It may be described as "too little and too late". Mr. Héon has promised to do his best to rectify the chaotic condition into which the whole question was allowed to deteriorate, but it is a difficult situation with legal questions involved, and will require a lot of effort, and then some. We do not wish to make it more difficult by dealing with the matter now, but by next issue we may be in a position to cover the whole question.

In a recent issue we dealt with the dangerous approach to the village, suggesting that something might be done by the Council to lessen the danger of accidents at this point, as the area is within the corporation limits. We are pleased to note that the Minister of Roads has now altered the contract to give effect to some very distinct improvements as to tiling and widening the road at this place, and without any cost to the municipality.

Arundel Lady Has Claim of Oldest Resident

Arundel — Attaining the advanced age of 98 next Thursday, October 12, Mrs. William Thomson of this community is believed to be the oldest resident now in Argenteuil County.

(Reporting on the 97th birthday of Mrs. Joseph Arthurs, Avoca, on September 14 last, The Watchman erroneously accorded longevity honors to that lady.)

Mrs. William Thomson, formerly Mary Drennan, has been a resident of Arundel for over 68 years. She now resides with her daughter, Mrs. S. K. McArthur, who states that, although having enjoyed good health up till a year ago, her mother has been confined to bed since that time. The community will be wishing Mrs. Thomson a happy birthday next Thursday, while others in the county who do not share her acquaintance pay tribute to her ripe old age.

To Address Ayrshire Club

At the annual assembly of the Laurentian Ayrshire Breeders' Club, announced elsewhere in this issue, the members will be addressed by Dr. H. Barton, Dominion Deputy Minister of Agriculture and an authoritative speaker. The gathering will also hear reports on what has been a successful year of activity in this organization. Inaugurated 23 years ago with 21 members, the club now counts a keen and active membership of between 60 and 70 Ayrshire stock men. The group held their first barn meeting this year, during May, and their first Red and White field day, in September — both events drawing encouraging support.

Impressive Tribute To Black Watch Officer, Lt. Gall

Most impressive was the service held in the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning, in memory of the late Lieut. Hugh Gall, who paid the supreme sacrifice August 22 while fighting in France with his regiment, the Black Watch.

The Rev. E. Orsborn spoke most highly of the late officer, and welcomed representatives of the Black Watch Regiment, who with members of the Masonic Order, veterans of the last war, relatives, friends and former schoolmates, had gathered in loving sympathy as a tribute of honor to a gallant soldier. The church was filled to capacity.

Mrs. W. M. Cottingham presided at the organ and during the offertory Miss Helen McFaul rendered a solo, "The Lord's Prayer."

The Lament was played on the bagpipes by Cpl. Laurie, while Sgt. Barber sounded the Last Post and Reveille. Capt. Smith read the scriptures. —Capt. Smith's presence at the service was more than a gesture of military respect, for his son had been a roommate of the late Lt. Hugh Gall on service overseas.

The minister, basing his sermon on a familiar text, gave the following discourse:

" 'We are more than conquerors, through Him that loved us.' A few weeks ago, these words fell from the lips of a member of the Black Watch. Lieut. Hugh Gall was among those who had paused for a moment amid the battle of Normandy, to hear the reading of the eighth chapter of Romans. He and his comrades were surrounded by abundant evidence that human happiness, the Christian faith, and they themselves, were in grave peril.

Fined for Selling Above Ceiling

A Lachute merchant appeared Tuesday in district court before Justice D. Lalande, charged with selling goods above the ceiling price. The charge, laid by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board through the local administrator, Albani Lamarche, involved two cases. The merchant pleaded guilty on four counts cited by the complainant in these cases. The magistrate, after hearing the charges, imposed a fine of $50 and costs in each instance, making a total penalty of $100 plus costs of the court.

The sales on which the suit was laid involved a safety razor and other items. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board local centre was represented by Fernand Legault as attorney. (— It is hoped this report will serve as a warning to other dealers in the matter of price violations).

Case Involving Fence

Another case before the court concerned a charge by Rene Laurin, Lachute, against Albert Normand, Lachute Mills, who was alleged to have cut a fence on the plaintiff's property causing damage to the extent of $8.50. Normand countered with the argument that he had a right to cut the fence. The case was suspended.

Fernand Legault appeared as counsel for Laurin, while the defendant argued his own case.

Annual Meet of Historical Soc'y, Now in 11th Year

A lively interest was manifest in the annual meeting of the Argenteuil Historical Society as members and friends gathered in the Museum at Carillon last Saturday afternoon to hear reports on the activities and the financial standing of the Society.

The meeting was held under the presidency of Dr. H. B. Cushing, who stated that the Society was now in its 11th year — its headquarters in the past five years being established in the building which has now become one of the finest museums in the country. Dr. Cushing, speaking for Miss Walsh, presented the financial statement which showed a balance of $174 in the current account.

Thanks of the meeting were extended to the Hon. Mr. Crerar, Ottawa, for a special grant to permit necessary painting and repairs to the building. During the summer representatives from the Department of National Parks Bureau, in the persons of W. D. Cromarty and J. D. MacFarlane, had visited the Museum. Both were most enthusiastic as they found the park and building in such fine order, reflecting great credit upon the caretaker, Mr. Robt. Bradley.

Many valuable additions have been made to the Museum during the past year, for which grateful thanks were expressed.

All officers were reappointed for the ensuing year, but owing to the recent illness of Miss Walsh, Miss Edith Simpson consented to fill the office of treasurer.

The restoration of local place names which had been promised by the former Minister of Roads, the Hon. T. D. Bouchard, was, on motion of Notary G. Valois, again submitted to the present government for action.

An interesting address on China was given by Mrs. W. Y. King, returned missionary. She spoke of the Chinese as being honest and trustworthy, and related many experiences from her associations with the people.

Report on Sixth Blood Clinic Shows Highest Number Donations to Date

216 Volunteers Give Blood — Making Total of 975 Since Clinic Organized

The sixth Red Cross blood donor clinic, held September 21 in the basement of Lachute Auditorium, was the largest on record for this district. For the first time, donations passed the 200 mark; to be exact there were 216 donations. The committee were so gratified that they feel all those who took part — as donors, and helpers, including those in different sections who had been instrumental in gathering the names of volunteers —are to be congratulated.

The committee report fewer disappointments and cancellations than usual. In fact toward the end of the evening those in charge were anxiously taking stock of their supply of sterile bottles, to be sure there were enough to go around. A word of explanation here would not be amiss . . . . The bottles to receive the blood are all sealed, sterilized and packed in special containers in Montreal. The rubber tubes and needles, with protecting glass shields, are attached to the bottles. During transportation from Montreal, there is considerable vibration in the large truck which brings these supplies, and sometimes the rubber tube becomes detached from the bottle. This makes the bottle and needle unsterile, or to use the technical term, "contaminated," and therefore unusable. This invariably happens to a certain number of bottles and an extra supply is always brought, to make allowance. An unsterile bottle is never used, under any circumstances. This last clinic was so well attended, the number of unusable bottles became a cause for anxiety. However, after the last donation had been taken there still remained about half a dozen sterile bottles. This margin of safety was very small, and the committee wish to assure all donors that an adequate supply of extra bottles will be ordered for future clinics.

It is interesting to note that, except for the second clinic held here in Lachute, the number of donations has steadily increased. This is a great challenge to the district. Here are the figures:

First	clinic	129	donations
2nd	"	123	"
3rd	"	141	"
4th	"	180	"
5th	"	186	"
6th	"	216	"
Total		975	"

The thanks of the committee go to all who helped in any way to make this sixth local clinic such a success, and it is confidently hoped that the seventh clinic, which will be held in about eight weeks' time, will be larger still.

Need Farm Men In Other Lines

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, October 3 (CP) — Labor Minister Mitchell has announced that 100,000 Canadian farm workers will be asked to accept jobs in essential industries as soon as the fall farm work is completed.

Mr. Mitchell said that some of the workers were required for plants, but the largest group — 60,000 men — were needed in the woods on cutting sawlogs and pulpwood and other forest operations.

Care would be taken not to encourage men to leave dairy or livestock farms where they are needed during the winter. Other workers will be urged to fill vacancies in other types of employment.

Meetings of selective service officers and of provincial officials are being held across Canada to complete arrangements for locating workers and transferring them to jobs. The Dominion-provincial farm labor agreements under which several thousands of men were obtained for the farm industry for seeding and harvesting also provided for the transfer of men from the farms to other essential employment during the slack months.

Recruiting of the men for woods operations will begin in early October in Quebec and Ontario, while in the western provinces the campaign will not be pushed until threshing is nearing completion. In the maritime provinces as soon as the potato and apple crops have been harvested, efforts will be made to obtain the men from the farms.

Meat packing plants, base metal mines, foundries, coal mines, heavy ammunition and shell filling, railway track maintenance work, construction, and feed and flour milling, are all included in the industries requiring men from the farms during the winter time, in addition, of course to the woods work. In Ontario, recruiting of farm workers for the meat packing plants is already under way.

Young farmers on postponement from military training because of their occupation will now have their postponements continued while they are in other essential jobs during the slack season.

Mr. Mitchell recalled that last winter the labor situation was eased considerably by 100,000 farm workers taking other jobs temporarily. This year the need was even greater.

There was no indication of when workers will have completed harvesting in the prairies. Rain has delayed the work considerably.

Legion Seeks 2,000 New Members in Quebec Province

"While not relaxing our war effort, it is appropriate that the Canadian Legion should turn its attention more and more to post-war problems." This is the key-note of a message just issued by Alex Walker, of Ottawa, Dominion President of the Canadian Legion, in support of the drive for new members throughout the Province of Quebec.

The message was sent to K. L. Woolley, General Chairman of the Membership Committee, and is being relayed to all branches of the Legion now engaged in a campaign aiming at two thousand new members in the Province.

Mr. Walker's message continues in part: "As an organization of veterans we must never forget that our primary responsibility is to the dependents of those who have fallen, to those who have suffered injuries as a result of war service, and to the men and women of the Armed Forces who are, or will be, seeking rehabilitation in civil life."

A strong Legion ensures that the interests of veterans shall not be neglected, Mr. Walker asserts, and in conclusion the Dominion President of the Canadian Legion asks: "Let veterans of all services everywhere remember that the Legion's greatest task still lies ahead and that by joining the Legion they will participate in the battle to win the peace, which for the veterans of this war means a proper rehabilitation into civil life, and generous care for dependents and those who have been handicapped and injured while serving their country."

CURRENT FARM TOPICS

Give Definition of Net Farm Income

Net farm income is defined as the net income accruing to farm operators and their families from their own farming operations. Net farm income represents payment for the managerial services of the operator, the labor of himself and his family, together with interest on the capital invested in farm land, buildings and equipment. Net income does not include income to persons on farms from non-farm sources. The net farm income becomes available to the farm family for living expenses, for the payment of income taxes and for investment in the farm or in other investment outlets. An increase in the value of inventory may be regarded as income and a corresponding investment in the farm enterprise.

For net farm income purposes, the definition of a farm is the same as that employed by the census of 1941, namely: a farm is all the land located in one municipality or sub-district which is directly farmed by one person conducting agricultural operations either by his own labor or with the assistance of members of his household or of hired employees. I may consist of a single tract of land, or a number of separate tracts held under different tenures. It must be of one acre or more in extent and have produced in 1940 agricultural products to the value of $50 or more, or be under crops or employed for pasture in 1941.

A well-insulated poultry house for winter is the coolest house for poultry in summer.

Jeeps Not Suitable For Use on Farms

Swords may be beaten into ploughshares but few military vehicles can be converted to farm use, states the National Committee on Agricultural Engineering, which recently met in Ottawa at the invitation of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

E. A. Hardy and R. P. Frey of the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, said that recent experiments they have conducted with the jeep reveal that the transmission of this vehicle will not stand up if burdened with more than a four-horse load. While the jeep's drawbar pull varies with load and terrain, it is not likely to replace that of the tractor. The jeep's speed is too fast for farm work and even when throttled has not sufficient power. Also unsatisfactory is its transmission which like that of most war vehicles is designed for military use and not to run continuously in low gear, they said.

A theory that tanks might be used as bull-dozers was exploded at the meeting when agricultural engineers agreed that tanks are designed to carry their own load only and not to do bull-dozer work. Nor has the universal carrier any possibility for adaptation as a tractor, as some people had believed.

One agricultural engineer pointed to the danger of being unable to obtain repair parts for military vehicles. He said that at present, manufacturing companies own neither military vehicles nor their parts which, on manufacture, become government property.

The committee agreed, however, that military trucks of the standard two-wheel drive design, all types of trailers, component parts and spare wheels in good condition would be of great value to agriculture.

Producing Pure Milk

With the exception of poorly cared for milking machines, there is probably no other utensil which may add so many bacteria to milk as the shipping can. Even where shipping cans are washed and steamed at the plant or factory, some moisture generally remains in the can. When the can is left with the lid on in a warm place, millions of bacteria grow in the moisture and seed the milk at the next milking. Lids should be removed and cans placed upside down on a draining rack as soon as possible, so that they will dry out and bacterial growth will be checked. As a further precaution, the cans should be rinsed with hypochlorite. Cans used to carry skim-milk or whey back to the farm should be emptied and washed without delay.

The chief factors in the production of quality milk and cream are clean, healthy cows and milkers; sound utensils, properly cleaned and sterilized, and prompt and adequate cooling. Attention to these factors will prevent loss due to spoilage and will help raise the quality of Canadian dairy products, states the special pamphlet of the Wartime Production Series on "Producing Pure Milk."

The term "quality milk" or cream includes a number of factors. Milk should be safe for human consumption — free from disease germs; have satisfactory food value as indicated by a proper content of butterfat and other milk constituents; be free from visible dirt, and from unpleasant odours or flavors, and it should keep sweet for a reasonable length of time.

LOTS STILL CHEAP

Yorkton, Sask. (CP) — Council decided to raise the cost of residential property to 20 per cent of its assessed value. The city has been selling the lots at 10 per cent of their assessed value to induce citizens to build homes.

"—It was under very similar circumstances that this letter was read to the Christians of Rome to whom it had been written by the apostle Paul. Nero was the head of the powerful Roman Empire. His lust for blood had already 'liquidated' many of the nation's best, and very soon now the fury of his insane passion would be concentrated on one particular group, the Christian Church. So Paul wrote a letter to the Christians of Rome to inspire them with courage and to strengthen their faith.

"Shall tribulation, or distress, or peril , or sword, separate us from the love of God? Paul knew the answer. All these hardships he had known, but always present with him, under all circumstances, there had remained the assurance of the love of God. 'I am persuaded that neither death nor life, nor things present nor things to come, shall be able to separate us from the love of God'. Death has few terrors for the child of God, but he is greatly concerned with the record of his life. He must plan the story and write each chapter with meticulous care. 'Things present' do not fill us with such paralyzing fear as do the 'things to come'. We know what is required of us at the moment. But what will the future demand? There are so many possibilities. Which of these must I meet and overcome? 'O my God, my soul is cast down within me. Therefor will I remember Thee'. Through Him that loved us, we are conquerors over death and life, over things present, and even over things to come.

"But what does Paul mean when he says that we are 'more than conquerors'? In verse twenty-eight he declares that 'All things work together for good to them that love God'. We all know that life has a certain continuity. Yesterday is the father of today, today the father of tomorrow. All things work together. But, to them that love God, the things of life work together for good. That makes us more than conquerors. Tribulation, distress, peril, death and life, things present and things to come, may be faced with courage and endured. But it is a greater thing by far to so lay hold of these things, that they are compelled to turn from a menace into a blessing. It is this wondrous thing that is wrought for us by the all-prevailing power of Divine love. 'We are more than conquerors through Him that loved us'."

The service closed with the singing of "Oh Valiant Hearts."

London — A Hudson aircraft of the R.A.F. Transport Command has just finished a tour of 30,000 miles. It took 175 flying hours, during which the aircraft made 80 take-offs and landings, visited fourteen countries, flew in temperatures varying from 12 degrees below freezing point to tropical heat. At the end of its journey the plane had only one defect. The tread of the tail-wheel tire had worn thin.

VETERAN ADMIRAL WINS BAR TO D.S.O.

Admiral-Turned-Commando, Aged 73, Honored for Feats in Battle of Italy

London (CP) — A 73-year-old admiral, too old to serve in the Royal Navy this war, joined the Commandos and for his "gallantry, determination and undaunted devotion to duty as a liaison officer" has been awarded a bar to the Distinguished Service Order.

He is Admiral Sir Walter H. Cowan, known as "Tich" when he was in the navy because he is only five feet two inches tall. He gained his first decoration 46 years ago at the Nile.

Britain probably has no more colorful figure than this soldier-sailor who complained when he came home on leave recently that "the war isn't over yet and I should be on the battlefield."

His comment when he learned of his latest decoration was "please forgive me, I don't want to talk, I don't want to be made a hero."

The deeds which won Admiral Cowan his bar were performed at Mount Ornito, Italy, and on the Island of Solta. At Mount Onito he went out on a reconnaissance of forward positions, found a wounded colonel in an exposed position and helped him over 1,000 yards of rocky hillside in full view of enemy observation posts and under heavy artillery fire.

He accompanied the leading assault on Solta, was one of the first two men in the town and showed complete disregard for street fighting, encouraging and inspiring the men by his example and fearlessness. On another occasion when a town being attacked by Commandos was dive-bombed by the enemy, the admiral went out in the midst of bombing to disperse shipping in the port.

Veteran of many campaigns and possessor of five rows of ribbons, Admiral Cowan was taken prisoner at Tobruk in 1943, was repatriated and promptly went back to fighting.

RAMPAGING MOOSE GOT VICTORY CROP

Hamilton, Mont., Sept. 30 (CP)— There was no harvest labor problem for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cash wh n it came to harvesting their victory garden.

Just as the garden reached maturity a young bull moose moved in and ate everything in sight, right down to the roots. The moose stayed for a week. The Cash family couldn't molest it because of the game laws.

AUSSIES MAINTAIN BIG SHEEP FLOCKS

Melbourne, Australia (CP) — In spite of drought and widespread forest fires there are still 19,220,000 sheep on Victorian farms, R. D. Bakewell stated in his presidential address to the annual meeting of the Victorian Graziers Association.

This figure represents an increase of 2,213,000 over 1939 and only 1,378,000 fewer than the record number in 1942. He added that cattle in the state of Victoria numbered 2,013,000 head compared with 1,789,000 in 1939.

Australia has 125,000,000 sheep and between 13,000,000 and 14,000,000 cattle including nearly 3,500,000 dairy cows.

It is easier to criticize our country's leadership than to create it.

FARMERS! WILL YOU HELP THIS WINTER?

If you are not required on the farm this winter you should take other work.

Extra winter workers are needed for woods operations—logging and pulpwood and fuel cutting — base metal mines, coal mines, meat packing and cold storage, grain handling, railway track maintenance, iron foundries and other high priority occupations, varying with the area.

Please offer your services to:

The nearest Employment and Selective Service Office; or

The nearest Provincial Agricultural Representative; or

Your Local Farm Production Committee.

A good response to this appeal is important to Canada's welfare — please act immediately.

Postponement of Military Training continues while in approved essential work off the farm.

Leaves Are Turning !

NATURE'S autumn pageant is a wonderment that bears perennial praise. The reams of verse, the columns of prose and the yards of artist's canvas proclaiming the glories of our Canadian fall, are quite excusable. We too could burst into song over ecstasies far less stirring.

But — in case you want to know — it's largely a matter of chemistry. With no intent to quell the ardor of our would-be poets, here is the way a botany professor, Dr. D. J. MacLachlan of Ontario Agricultural College, explains this annual phenomenon. . . .

Autumn coloring in general, he says, is a result of breakdown processes. In preparation for winter, a small cork layer forms at the base of each leaf, actually healing the wound created by the leaf's separation before it breaks off. This cork slows the natural processes in the leaf. The chlorophyl, or green coloring disappears, and yellows, hidden by the green all summer, come into view. Sugar formed in the leaf is prevented by the cork layer from getting down into the plant, and in conjunction with a cyanide complex forms a brilliant red dye.

Deeper shades of red indicate more sugar in the leaf. As the breakdown process continues and the leaf dies, a brown color is formed.

Wee Bit About Ourselves

LITTLE ADDICTED to the pastime of blowing our own bugle — in loyalty however to the craft and industry we represent, we take time out to herald the observance of Newspaper Week.

Our thoughts at this time turn not to the actual mechanics of journalism, but to the ideals and functions of a newspaper in its community. And these are something! — Something so stupendous that, had we more time to dwell upon them, we the publishers, might stand in awe of the responsibilities our job entails. But editors these days have little time for matters beyond immediate concern. For the most part the responsibilities are taken in their stride, shouldered subconsciously, as a matter of routine.

Thus, while The Watchman aims consistently to perform its allotted task, in promoting all things good for the welfare of the community, and in disseminating news not hurtful to our citizens — we must leave to our readers the verdict on our achievement. They are the judges. Opinions differ; not all are agreed, for instance, on "things good for the community". . . . . But all in all, viewing the number of sound, constructive enterprises which enlist our editorial support, the evidence suggests our policies and influence meet a general, if not unanimous, approval.

Two prime functions we have mentioned in our role — the promotion of progress — the distribution of news. The home-town journal has many other useful purposes. The Watchman strives also to give credit where it is due, to those citizens good and true who contribute constructively to the round of community life. Not flattering those who claim the spotlight, nor lathering the generous hand—but simply according recognition, on the principle that a bouquet in the heyday counts more than a lily on the sleeping breast.

In commending the newspaper as a servant to its town and countryside, The Watchman is deeply conscious that, in order to fill the full purpose of its existence, the public must be as much a participant as a consumer. To those in our particular field who have played the game—notably our correspondents, our advertisers, and those who have collaborated in the wider coverage of interests — this newspaper accords its gratitude. When the story of human progress is written and the merits all apportioned, may they share in the laurels — if any — which adorn the editorial brow.

Every House a Home

ARE YOU LOOKING for a house? — Houses for all — it's a great program. Prefabricated or reconstructed, temporary or luxury-fitted — but they have to wait for men and materials.

But "homes" for all, we need not wait for them. You can build a new home without moving a brick. The people to build them are the ordinary men and women.

The materials for home building cannot be ordered from the contractor. They are stored in the heart. They have made the homes of this country strongholds throughout history. Willing hands, warm hearts, steady tempers and honest minds are the foundations of every true home.

Building must start now if we are to be ready for the men coming back. We must sweep out the ideas that break up homes — ideas of "everyone for himself" and "pleasure at any price". More homes have been destroyed by selfishness than by bombs. They are mere filling stations by day and parking places at night.

The homes of tomorrow can be built now in the places where we live and in the factories and offices where we work. A home begins in any place where someone starts living for others. This is the secret that will guarantee the happiness of our post-war homes and their value to the country.

Those who master the art of home building will be master-builders for the nation. They will see to it that in our reconstruction program every house has a home inside it.

Those Who Err

TIRED OF being ribbed about some trifling errors in his paper a fellow editor once wrote: "We'd be pleased to find a merchant or clerk who never made a mistake in putting up an order, a lawyer who never lost a case through his own errors, a delivery man who never left a parcel at the wrong house, a radio announcer who never mispronounced a word, a singer who never struck a false note, a doctor who never made a mistake, a post office employee who never put mail in the wrong box, a woman who never forgot to put salt in when she was cooking, or to put tea in the tea pot before putting in the water. Bring in some of your paragons who find it so easy to criticize us. We want to see if they're human."

For Sane Rejoicing

A THOUGHTFUL, prayerful observance of V-Day is dictated by consideration for the families of men who have made or are still making every kind of sacrifice to hasten this day. It is dictated by the fact that this will be only VE-Day (Victory in Europe Day), leaving both the war with Japan and the war with war to be won. It is dictated by memories of what happened after 1918 to a victory boisterously celebrated but not consecrated. It is dictated by the nobility of our cause.

—Campbellton (N.B.) Tribune

Time for Action

THERE'S a good deal of talk these days on the question of post-war rehabilitation. The other day we were talking to an R.C.A.F. warrant officer from an embarkation unit. There is no question in his mind that the job has got to be done at home — that the battle for a hate-free, greed-free, fear-free world only gets going when the armistice ink is dry.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By Jim Greenblat

The mushrooming of Canada's chemical research and production, impelled by the needs of war, will make a thrilling chapter in the history of World War II; it will be the story of an astounding job by our scientists and industry. "Canada at War", August issue, lets us get a peek behind the scenes. Starting practically at scratch in 1939, Canada "merely" completed 50 projects for explosive, chemical and shell-filling plants. Only nine of these plants were privately owned, the remainder owned by the people of Canada. The whole program entailed an expenditure of $150,000,000 on properties owned by the Dominion, excluding the $48,000,000 synthetic rubber plant. By the end of 1943 this somewhat small nation of ours contributed to victory by producing some 100,000,000 rounds of gun ammunition, grenades, mines, bombs, etc., and hundreds of millions of small arms ammunition, and our high explosives are used on every fighting front. Some record!

The Canadian Army is being quick to act against a rising incidence of the T.B. rate, and a survey of a 5,000 man "test group", selected from every military district in Canada, is being made. There has been a gradual increase in pulmonary tuberculosis in the army overseas, higher than among active troops in Canada. Only five cases were returned to Canada up to July, 1941. An Officer of the Army Medical Service headquarters said: "Because of bombing damage to hospitals, bombing casualties and subordination of civilian interests to the war effort in Britain, the T.B. rate rose, and unavoidable exposure of the Canadian troops, through contact with civilians, led to increased incidence in our army." This survey should catch many cases in their early stages, provide information for counter-measures. Our medical men are on the job.

Canada's importance both in the war and in the prospective critical post-war period was emphasized in the UNRRA conference held in Montreal. Besides raising a tremendous amount of food for relief of war-torn countries Canada has other commitments, current and for the future. When it came to allocations, for instance, UNRRA's request for 182,000,000 yards of woolen textiles resulted in an allocation of 2,250,000 yards, to be produced in Canada. The Canadian government is discussing with UNRRA the procurement of 300,000 to 500,000 army salvage garments. We've offered to produce 17,500 tons of soap for them in the next year. Out of an estimated need of 186,000 tons of farm machinery for liberated areas we have been asked to supply 24,000 tons. That's only a minute glimpse of the things this Dominion will be asked to do.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has rescinded an order of May, 1942, which prohibited farm implement dealers and manufacturers from exhibiting farm machinery at fairs, exhibitions, conventions, rodeos, etc. There has been an upsurge in interest in the farming industry at fairs of recent years, so this order is an encouraging note. Farmers do like farm exhibits when attending fairs.

Those who have relatives among the 548 Canadians held prisoners in Hong Kong will be glad to hear the report that conditions have been fairly tolerable for them. Red Cross food and clothing parcels have recently arrived and are being distributed. Camps are well organized, and treatment good.

Taxation doesn't sound like a "control" but nevertheless the government's taxation policy is another weapon in the fight to keep down the cost of living. Taxes serve a twofold purpose. First, they provide the money to pay the cost of war, and of ordinary government services. Secondly taxes reduce excess purchasing power, and thus are an important part of the stabilization program. The same is true of savings, and that's where the 7th Victory Loan comes in. They have had the same results as taxes — helped to pay for the war, and curbed excess purchasing power. The government has followed the policy of borrowing as much as possible from the individual Canadian, rather than from banks and financial institutions.

Dieppe Gives Thanks for Liberation, Church where Soldiers Fought Machine-Gun Duel with Nazis

By MAURICE DESJARDINS, Canadian Press War Correspondent

Dieppe, France (CP) — In the Church of Saint Remi inside which Canadians had fought a bitter machine gun duel with the Germans two years ago the people of Dieppe held a thanksgiving service early in September in honor of their liberation.

I was the only Canadian in attendance because the engineers and the recce boys were in another part of the town. I went along with Pierre Biez whom the resistance movement had appointed mayor of Dieppe a few hours before.

The undamaged church was profusely decorated with tricolor flags and fleur-de-lis escutcheons. When the mayor and the members of his committee had taken their places in the front pews the organ started to play and a thousand voices rose to sing the Magnificat.

The abbe gave a sober address and one could see that he fought hard to restrain emotions ready to burst. He simply compared two dates, June 11, 1940 and August 31, 1944, which marked the arrival and departure of the hated Boche. He spoke of the four long, dark years of occupation and of the overflowing joy in the hearts of the people of Dieppe who saw the Canadians — their cousins in a way — enter the town.

He hoped this day of great happiness would be marked by the reconciliation of all Frenchmen split by differences of opinion and that they would all join hands and get to work as soon as possible to rebuild Dieppe and restore it to its former glory.

"Vive Dieppe," he said, "Vive la France, soon fully liberated. Vive le Canada, Vive our liberty".

Sang the Te Deum

Then the crowd loudly and fervently sang the Te Deum and slowly filed out of the church.

Outside Mayor Biez, a 54-year-old lawyer who had headed the underground activities in Dieppe during the occupation was recalling a revolting scene he had witnessed on August 19, the exact spot where we were standing.

"All day", he said, "we helped the Canadians by pointing to them the German nests of resistance and by giving blankets to those of you who had lost your clothes on the beach. Right here I saw four Canadians who were ambushed by Germans inside the church. Two got away, but one was killed on the spot and the other badly injured. We were rushing forward to help him when a German N.C.O. came up and started kicking him in the head with his heavy boot. He also kicked him in the ribs and then he pushed him in the gutter, where the Canadian died a few minutes later.

"There was not much we could do to help the Canadians that day for we were without arms. It made our hearts very sad when we saw your prisoners get in the train that would take them to German prison camps. But it cheered us somewhat to see that they were still smiling and they made the V sign through the windows."

We cannot stop fighting when the guns stop firing. Fear, greed and hate are enemies as dangerous on the homefront as on the battle-front.

Laugh 'n Like It!

"I hadn't been talking to the fellow for more than five minutes when he called me a fool."

"What caused the delay?"

"Is this an up-to-date city?"

"Very. Whenever we have an important place to fill we always go out of town to get the man for the job."

Army Doctor: "Tell me, soldier, how does it feel when you actually kill a man?"

Veteran: "Not so bad, doc; how about you?"

A very large American woman, wearing a brilliant red dress and many diamonds, went to consult a celebrated dress designer. "Mr. Worth," she said, "what colors should I wear?" That connoisseur looked her over a brief moment and then replied; "My dear madame, when the Creator fashioned the hummingbird and the butterfly He made them of brilliant colors; but when He created the elephant He made it taupe!"

A negro preacher concluded his sermon on Wisdom with the following: "It ain't the things you don't know what gets you into trouble, it's the things you know for sure ain't so."

Somebody telephoned the minister and asked to be married the following Sunday after church The minister didn't catch the name. When the time came he said:

"Will those who wish to be united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony please come to the altar?"

There was a stir as 12 women and one man came forward.

Sir Samuel Hicks, the English actor, tells a story about an old Irish peasant who was dying and lay motionless in his bed. Hour after hour passed, and then the kitchen door opened and his wife passed through the room with a very fine boiled ham, which she was taking to the front to cool. Its odor reached the nostrils of the departing man and, he raised his head, looked at it, and exclaimed:

"Shure and that's a foine ham, Mary. Could I have a bit?"

"You could not, Pat," said his wife. "It's for the wake."

Could she carry on ALONE?

YOUR WIFE looks after the house and the chickens, and even helps with your chores when you are rushed with other work. But yours is the real responsibility of managing the farm. And if something happened to you she would need extra cash to keep it going.

Through ordinary saving it would take many years to lay by enough for any eventuality. That is the reason you need Life Insurance protection.

Life insurance guarantees immediate security. And it can be planned to provide a steady income for yourself later on.

Life insurance companies are much alike as to policies and rates, but actual long-term results vary widely. We invite you to compare The Mutual Life of Canada's record with that of any other company. Evidence of the satisfaction of Mutual Life policyholders is furnished by the fact that whole families and succeeding generations have entrusted their life insurance programs exclusively to The Mutual Life, and each year approximately 35% of its new business comes from policyholders.

Have a Mutual Life representative explain the special features of this Company . . . and let him help you select a policy adapted to your particular circumstances. A Free Enterprise
FROM BIBLICAL TIMES

FROM Biblical times men have gone down to the sea in ships, and fished to make a living. The tang of the salt air is in their blood . . . riding out the gale and bringing in the catch is their way of life.

Canadian fishermen are sturdy, self-reliant men, who, through their own efforts have built a great Canadian industry. Some become masters of their own ships . . . thus does initiative find its reward. All are masters of their own destiny. This is Free Enterprise.

A hundred years and more this Bank has afforded the fishing industry essential banking facilities . . . as to all Canadians . . . contributing to the growth of a self-reliant people and a prosperous Canada.

Becomes Army Padre After Year in Ranks

Winnipeg (CP) — Just to prove that anything can happen in the army, here is the case of George Alastair Kemlo, a gunner one day and a captain the next.

Kemlo, a clergyman at Herschel and Bethune, Sask., for four years, enlisted in the army a year ago and had been a gunner in the artillery. Recently he was appointed a captain in the chaplain services of Canada.

A real soldier, the ex-gunner is a qualified signalman in the Royal Canadian Artillery and has been through the mill, from scouring greasy pots to mopping the barrack room floor. He's even been A.W.O.L. — but for a good reason — "The home where I was staying had an alarm clock which didn't bother to ring, so I missed my train."

The day before he received his appointment, Kemlo was called for kitchen fatigue. He explained to the sergeant-major that he did not mind going to the kitchen, but he had to appear at the pay office.

"That's the closest we've ever come to having a captain scrubbing floors or washing pots and pans," the non-com said later.

Capt. Remlo chose the ranks "because I believed it was the fastest way to get overseas." Now he's hoping to get over there as a padre.

His parents are Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Kemlo of Limerick, Sask. Capt. Kemlo graduated in arts at the University of Saskatchewan and took theology for three years at St. Andrews College.

Anyone who has cleaned army webbing and rifle — as Capt. Kemlo did for 12 months — will understand what he means when he says: "I threw them away without a single regret. Overseas here I come."

James W. Gall Is Appointed Loan Sales Supervisor

It was announced from Victory Loan headquarters in Lachute today that Mr. Jas. W. Gall, well known local resident, has been appointed General Sales Supervisor of Argenteuil County for the Seventh Victory Loan campaign.

Mr. Gall has done yeoman service as a Victory Loan salesman, during both the Great War and the present World War. His experience will be invaluable to all salesmen in the county, at whose service he will be at all times.

With the national objective of the Seventh Victory Loan increased over that of the sixth loan, Argenteuil will have a higher objective. While the results of previous loans here have always been exceptionally good, this time they will have to be better.

With more complete coverage attained by all salesmen under Mr. Gall's supervision it is confidently expected by the Argenteuil committee that this county's increased objective can again be met and surpassed.

Town Corporation Disposes of Mill Recently Acquired for Water Rights

APPLICATION FOR NEW BUS ROUTE PERMITS

The regular monthly session of Lachute Town Council was held last evening, with the following members in attendance — Mayor J. S. Giles, Aldermen Alex Bothwell, Wilfrid Morissette, Roger Dumais, J. R. Paquette, Armand Rochon, Arcade Ethier, Henri Trichard, Omer Laurin and Arnold Scott.

The minutes of the September session were read and approved.

Representatives of the Provincial Transport Company, Messrs. Perry and Masse, explained to the Council that their Company intends to operate bus service on two new routes:

1. Hull - Lachute - St. Jerome - Joliette - Berthier, there to connect with the Quebec - Montreal bus.

2. Lachute - Lakefield - Morin Heights - St. Adolphe de Howard - Ste. Agathe.

The new routes would come into operation after the war as soon as equipment is available for the service.

On motion of Alderman Dr. R. A. Dumais, seconded by Alderman Henri Trichard, the Council decided to request the Public Service Board to grant the Provincial Transport Company necessary permits to operate on these proposed routes.

The McColl Frontenac Oil Co. Ltd. applied to the Council for a permit to erect storage tanks and warehouse at the corner of Charles Street West and the street alongside the Ayers siding. Hugh P. Johnson, manager of the ARC Supply Company, appeared before the Council on behalf of the Company to give explanations.

This question of storage tanks for gasoline and fuel oils has been a subject of controversy in the Council for the past three or four years, and before taking any action it was decided to visit the location of the proposed plant this coming Saturday.

The Council received two offers for the Hammond mill previously purchased by the Town, as follows:

Emilien Parent, of St. Ambroise de Joliette, $5,500.

Edwin Robinson, present tenant of the mill, $10,000, payable $3,000 cash and balance $1,000 a year with 3% interest.

Mr. Robinson's offer was accepted — the Town to retain full water power and water rights.

It was decided to build a length of sewer on Wilson Street from Millway Street for a distance of about 180 feet.

Accounts were approved for $6,613.94.

The secretary was instructed to call the attention of the Minister of Roads to the dangerous condition of the sidewalk on the west approach of Barron's bridge.

Applications were asked for the position of Constable, said applications to be opened on November 2.

Sapper at Front Goes Semi-Society

In a Canadian Army photograph published this week in the Montreal press, appears Sapper K. Bigelow, of Calumet. The picture was taken in Italy, where Sapper Bigelow is shown helping to build a road leading to Rimini. Up to this point there is nothing extraordinary about the picture. The incongruous detail is discerned in the soldier's headgear. Seated at the controls of a hefty bulldozer, he is shown wearing a top hat!

Red Cross Sewing — Appeal to Ladies for Assistance

Ladies, the war is far from won! Workers are urgently needed for the local Red Cross. Quantities of knitting and sewing at the community Red Cross rooms are waiting to be finished. With larger casualty lists among our servicemen, the need for more workers is pressing.

Consignments for "Bundles for Britain" are being shipped October 20. All donations should be sent to Mrs. F. A. Brennian, Grace Street, Lachute.

Meeting of Lachute Women's Institute

The monthly meeting of Lachute Women's Institute was held in the High School on Tuesday. Routine business was transacted and letters of thanks were read from men in the services. Delegates were appointed to attend the semi-annual convention. The sum of $23 was collected for the Self Denial Fund. The feature of the afternoon was a talk by Miss K. McLeod on "The Enterprise Method of Teaching."

BENEFIT PROGRAM PLANNED FOR LOCAL VETERANS' GROUP

The added responsibilities of the Canadian Legion, in the present and in the post-war period, need no emphasis to the public. Residents of this community will appreciate another opportunity to support the work of the local branch, No. 70, of this veterans' organization — by attending the benefit performance arranged for Thursday, October 19 at the Rex Theatre. A special selection of films has been secured for this program, and while exercising their patriotic spirit, patrons will also be assured of a full bill of entertainment at this show. Plan to attend!

Former Resident Dies in Hospital

Late Mrs. William Chapman

The death of Edith Coombes, wife of the late William Chapman and a former resident of this town, occurred Saturday, September 30, at the Verdun Protestant Hospital, at the age of almost 58 years.

Funeral rites were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leo. Emond, 6602 Fabre Street, Montreal, on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. W. C. LeCras, former rector of Lachute, officiating. The remains were laid to rest in Mount Royal Cemetery.

The late Mrs. Chapman is survived by four daughters — Mrs. Gilbert Bennett (Margaret), Mrs. Leo Emond (Jennie), Sarah and Charlotte; three sons, Forbes, William Jr., and Albert, all of Montreal; one sister, Mrs. W. J. Beatty (Emma), and two brothers, Charles and George, of Boston. There remain also three grandchildren, Kenneth Bennett, Richard and Beverly Chapman.

British May Resume North Sea Fishing

London (CP) — Now that the submarine menace is being eliminated, the British may be permitted to catch real fish in the North Sea. The London Daily Mail reports that a ban on fishing in those waters, imposed in the first days of the war, may soon be lifted.

Sole, plaice, turbot and other "prime" varieties of fish exist in the sea. Scientific experiments have shown that the fish, untroubled by trawling, have multiplied exceedingly.

MADE IT A PRACTICE

Laurier, Que. (CP) — A grocer in this Lotbiniere county town was fined $5,500 and costs after he pleaded guilty to 5,000 charges of breaches of the Prices Board regulations.

Fire Prevention To Be Stressed Here Next Week

Playing its part in the national observance of Fire Prevention Week, October 8 to 14, the local fire department will conduct demonstrations and tests as in previous years. These gestures will include fire drills instituted in the schools of the town, talks on precautionary practices, and inspections of premises presenting possible fire hazards. Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon has collaborated conscientiously every year in this campaign, and with the approach of the winter season and heating of home and business premises, the co-operation of citizens is urged in seeing that heating units and pipes are in safe order.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

B'burg United Church And Young People's

Brownsburg — At the meeting of the Young People's Union on Monday evening the officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President: Mr. Junior Carpenter; vice-president, Miss Ernestine Cooper; secretary, Miss E. O'Brien; treasurer, Miss Doris King; asst. treasurer, Mr. R. Elliott; pianist, Miss Edna Woods. Committees were left for appointment at the next meeting.

A debate followed the election, as to the form of meetings to be held and subjects considered. It was suggested that a special picture be sponsored at the Capitol Theatre, also an evening to include a "pep talk" on Health. A social was tentatively suggested for Monday evening, October 16.

The Thanksgiving season will be observed at the service next Sunday morning. The display of vegetables, flowers and leaves, etc., will be left until the following week-end, in view of the anniversary gatherings on Saturday and Sunday when the Rev. and Mrs. R. G. Katsunoff, with others from the Church of All Nations, Montreal, will be the artists. An exhibition of crafts from the Church of All Nations will also be on display at the anniversary supper and concert on Saturday evening.

Rev. G. T. Spriggs Heard As Guest Speaker At United Y.P.U.

The regular meeting of Lachute United Church Young People's Union was held Wednesday evening. During the business period it was decided the Society would hold a Hallowe'en party on Monday, October 30, and committees for refreshments and games were appointed.

It was announced that on Saturday and Sunday, October 14-15, the Montreal Presbytery of the Y.P.U. will hold its annual convention at St. Luke's United Church, Montreal, and an invitation was extended to members of the local group to attend.

Three teams will represent the Y.P.U. in the church bowling league this year; the skips will be Harold Deacon, Allan Hammond and Jack Gorman. Bowling enthusiasts were reminded there was a meeting of the league called for Tuesday next.

The Christian Culture convenors, Miss Doris Leroy and Mrs. Jack Gorman, were in charge of the evening's program. Scripture from the Book of Hebrews was read by Mrs. Gorman and the prayer by Miss Helen Martin. The "current events" item was based on the Thanksgiving theme, and the reading was given by Miss Betty Campbell.

The guest speaker, the Rev. G. T. Spriggs, was introduced by Miss Leroy, and his address dwelt upon the Book of Hebrews, which he described as being a very difficult book to interpret for many people. He advised, first of all, that if there is any passage the reader cannot fathom, he should pray about it sincerely, and then give serious study to it word by word.

One of the main thoughts expressed by the speaker was the value of salvation as expressed in the Book of Hebrews. He issued a challenge to those present to use the bible every day and to live a life worthy of a Christian.

Expressions of thanks to the speaker were given by Miss Doris Leroy and the Rev. W. B. Rosborough.

The meeting next week will be under the convenorship of Miss Mae Gordon, on the theme of "Fellowship."

Christian Science Lesson-Sermon

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 8.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 30: 2,3. "Oh Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou hast healed me. O Lord, thou hast brought up my soul from the grave: thou hast kept me alive, that I should not go down to the pit."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" (I Corinthians 15:55).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "The relinquishment of all faith in death and also the fear of its sting would raise the standard of health and morals far beyond its present elevation, and would enable us to hold the banner of Christianity aloft with unflinching faith in God, in Life eternal. Sin brought death, and death will disappear with the disappearance of sin. Man is immortal, and the body cannot die, because matter has no life to surrender. The human concepts named matter, death, disease, sickness, and sin are all that can be destroyed."(Page 426).

God can remake the world if people will let Him remake them.

Approaching Marriage

The marriage of Miss Alberte Raymond, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Raymond, of Lachute, to Mr. Georges Pariseau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Pariseau, of Brownsburg, is taking place at Ste. Anastasie Church, Lachute, on Wednesday morning, October 11, at 9.30 o'clock.

Morin Hts. Church Scene of Wedding

Bamberger - Wilkins

Morin Heights — In Trinity Church at 11.30 o'clock Thursday morning, September 28, the marriage was solemnized of Margaret Salter, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Wilkins, of St. Sauveur des Monts and of the late Frederick Fielding Wilkins, of Montreal, to Mr. Erwin Bamberger, son of Mr. Walter Bamberger, of New York City. The Rev. C. W. P. Baugh officiated at the ceremony and the wedding music was played by the church organist, who also accompanied Mr. Erich Silverstein who played "Arioso", Bach and Schubert's "Adagio" on the viola. White gladioli and cedars formed the decorations.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. William Michael Hennessey, of New York City, as matron of honor. Mr. Martin Huepedan was best man, the ushers being Mr. Gerald Gunther and Mr. Harold Frye.

Dr. Walter A. Wilkins gave his niece in marriage. She wore a street length frock of chartreuse Bianchini crepe, her hat of the same material being trimmed with matching ostrich feathers, and she carried a small bouquet of gardenias and bouvardia.

The matron of honor wore a hunter's green crepe dress with hat of the same material trimmed with toning ostrich plume, while she carried a bouquetof Johanna Hill roses.

Mrs. Wilkins, the bride's mother, was in a street-length dress of amethyst wool with which she wore a hat of the same color and a corsage of two white orchids.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother at St. Sauveur, where the rooms were decorated with multi-colored gladioli and cedar. Mr. and Mrs. Bamberger left later for a wedding trip to Ontario, the bride wearing for travelling a sky-blue suit with nigger brown accessories, and a top coat of the same color. The couple will reside in Montreal.

The bridegroom is a graduate of St. Catharine's College, Cambridge University, England.

WHERE ATMOSPHERE TELLS

It is becoming recognized that to raise morale and lower nervous tension a careful choice of colors in hospital rooms is even more vital than color schemes.

Increase Manufacture Children's Underwear

Procuring underwear for their children's winter needs is again uppermost in the minds of Canadian mothers, and while there is some remaking, the stores are being looked to for a certain amount. The W.P.T.B. Consumers Branch has a special message for women in this connection. The production of children's underwear has been increased while manufacturers are making fewer combinations for grownups. In order to get more yarns for underwear, primary cotton mills, before making fabric, have been required to divert spinning facilites to underwear yarn production. "Buy not two when one will do" is the slogan. In spite of greatly increased production, there is still not enough to supply everybody with all they would like. If they will buy only what they actually need, there should be sufficient for everybody.

Pretty Ceremony At Bride's Home

Armstrong - Gordon

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. John S. Gordon on Saturday afternoon, at 4.30 o'clock, when her daughter, Hannah Marjorie, became the bride of Mr. Edward James Armstrong, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Armstrong, of East Settlement. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, Herbert F. Gordon, the bride wore a floor-length gown of pale blue sheer and a headdress of the same material trimmed with forget-me-nots, and a short veil. She carried a sheaf bouquet of pink gladioli and ferns.

She was attended by Miss Janet Boa as bridesmaid, dressed in a floor-length orchid sheer gown and matching headdress, and wearing a pink and white corsage bouquet of carnations.

Donald Rodger, of Guelph Wireless School, acted as best man.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Clive Sproule sang "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me", accompanied at the piano by her daughter, Miss Shirley Sproule.

The groom's mother was attired in a brown costume and hat to match, with a corsage of pink roses, while the bride's mother wore a wine colored dress of Alpaca-weave rayon and a corsage of red roses.

The house was decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers. Among the guests were Mr. Angus MacPhee, of Quebec City, uncle of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McRae, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Clive J. Sproule and daughters, Shirley and Gwyneth, Misses Mary and Alice C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Robson, Mr. J. Carlyle Gordon and Mrs. Olive St. Pierre and son, Barry, all of Montreal, besides many guests from Lachute and vicinity.

Going away the bride wore a brown wool suit with hat and shoes to match, and carried a beige top coat.

Owing to sudden illness of the groom's father, who has since been removed to hospital, the newly-wed couple had to forego a prolonged honeymoon.

Many gifts were received by the happy couple, and besides these, the bride was entertained at a kitchen shower by Mrs. Walker Dawson, and at a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. E. W. Smith, while Mrs. Leonard Boa was hostess to the ladies of East Settlement who presented the bride with a beautiful cabinet of silverware. She also received a presentation of chinaware from her Sunday School class.

He Just Forgot!

(New York Herald Tribune)

A merchant seaman, a week ashore, who had applied for food ration stamps the day he left his ship, called on his War Price and Ration Board as a last resort and said to the clerk: "You gave me some stamps last week. Could you tell me what address I gave you?"

The clerk looked it up and told him, and the seaman sighed and said: "I haven't seen my wife all week because I'd forgotten where we live. We'd just moved in".

Scalding Advances Vegetable Freezing

Ames, Ia. (CP) — "A little scalding goes a long way" in preparing vegetables for freezing, says H. H. Flagge, horticulturist at Iowa State college.

Scalding, he explains, is simply a method of precooking vegetables to be frozen. All vegetables to be scalded either in boiling water or steam before they are frozen.

He says soybeans can be scalded in the pod for four minutes, cooled, shelled and then packed for freezing.

Sliced green peppers require two minutes scalding; chopped peppers for mixing with corn and other foods need only a one-minute scald. Egg plant in slices one-half inch thick require three minutes.

"Elmer wears his Sunday best to eat this ice cream"

"And why shouldn't I?" rumbled Elmer. "It's so good, I have to celebrate somehow!"

"That's right," smiled Elsie, the Borden Cow. "Borden's Ice Cream is a treat that makes any occasion seem like a party. Every mouthful is so creamy-smoo-o-th, so full of delicious flavor, so refresh - - -"

"Gee, Mamma!" interrupted little Beulah, "what makes it so wonderful?"

"Well, dear," answered Elsie, "Borden's system of Quality Control is applied to making Borden's Ice Cream bricks and Borden's Mel-O-rol, too. Only the purest and best ingredients are used."

Treat your family regularly to Borden's Mel-O-rol or brick Ice Cream . . . in various delicious flavors.

"If it's Borden's, it's GOT to be good!"

IS PRACTICAL PATRIOTISM

How many ways can you save . . . . to LEND TO CANADA?

In the homes, all over Canada, loyal, patriotic women are discovering new ways to economize . . . new ways to save money to lend to their country. A little saved here and a little saved there provides money to lend to Canada to help pay for the war. Small sums from millions of Canadians mount to billions when totalled up.

The amount that you may lend to your country may seem a small sum to you, but pennies make dimes and dimes make dollars, and Canada needs every single dollar that every Canadian can save and lend. Canada's need for borrowing is greater now than ever before. Every Canadian must lend, and lend more than before: Money you save and invest in Victory Bonds will benefit you in a personal way, too. You will have cash, when the war is over, to buy things you want for your home . . . things you are doing without now . . . cash to pay on a new home . . . to pay on a new car.

Hints for Homebodies

LOCOMOTIVES FOR INDIA

Canada is manufacturing a great many things never made here before, besides the actual war materials. The latest one I have read about is that 145 locomotives are being built for the Indian State Railways. Before the war their locomotives were built in Great Britain. I wonder how many of these new things will continue to be exported from Canada after the war. When these locomotives are shipped each locomotive goes into seventeen crates, and they are packed according to plan, so that they can be set up more easily in India. It requires five freight cars to transport each locomotive to the seaboard. The tracks are just below us and the number of freight trains that go by, and the length of them, is simply astonishing. It is impossible to know what most of them are but we have seen plenty of guns, and boats, presumably landing barges of some kind, and even an airplane with its wings off on a flat-car. The amount of crates containing motor equipment is almost endless. Canadians have too little knowledge of what is being built and shipped abroad. If we can manufacture and export in war let us hope we can expand our markets in peace.

PACK A TOY

The magazine Time makes the very excellent suggestion that a toy for a child be packed in each soldier's Christmas box. The poor children in the war-torn areas certainly cannot have much for Christmas these last few years. Most likely your soldier would have more pleasure in giving a toy to some child than he would in getting something for himself. It's an idea. So I just thought I would pass it on for your consideration.

LEARN TO COOK

One thing a war-bride can do in preparation for the home-coming of her husband is to learn to cook. She expects her husband to be able to earn a living for her, and he has every right to expect his wife to know how to make a proper home for him. No home can be a good home without good food. Judging from the letters home good food looms high in the soldier's dreams of home. It is not enough to know how to make food taste good, she should know how to cook it so that all possible food value is retained. Most young women are working, but if they are in a large place there will be night-classes. If not, there are many older women who would be flattered to be asked to teach her how to cook. What better news could a young soldier hear than that his wife is learning to cook in preparation for his home-coming?

BAKED STUFFED TOMATOES

Some of you who have gardens will have tomatoes which have ripened in the house. These are good, but never as good as those ripened on the vines. There are many ways of using them to add to their flavor. Baked stuffed tomatoes is one good dish. Choose tomatoes of equal size, cut off a slice from the stem end, and scoup out, leaving a thick wall of tomato. Season some left-over meat with salt, pepper and onion, then mix with a few bread crumbs, (the meat may be ground or cut cubes). Fill the tomatoes with the meat mixture and cover with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees until the crumbs are browned. Creamed potatoes are good with the tomatoes. These have a better flavor if they are baked to allow the cream sauce to penetrate into the potatoes. Add a little extra milk to your creamed potatoes, and a few scrapings of onion if you like the flavor, as I hope you do. Turn the hot creamed potatoes into a baking dish and put them in the oven for the 20 minutes or so that it takes the tomatoes to cook. To serve, turn the potatoes out on the middle of a platter, and surround with the baked tomatoes. Looks as good as it tastes. This is a good supper to prepare ahead of time for the last minute cooking.

TOMATO CREAM SOUP

Measure tomatoes, either fresh or canned, and take an equal quantity of milk, (this is a good way to use the tomato centres from the above recipe). Season the tomatoes with salt, pepper, a few grains of sugar, and a little butter. Add rolled crackers to thicken, about one large cracker for each cup of soup. Bring both tomatoes and milk to the boiling point, add a little soda to the tomatoes, an eighth of a teaspoon is enough for 4 cups of soup, then add the tomato to the milk slowly and stirring steadily. Taste for further seasoning. This is an old-fashioned recipe and I like it better than a tomato soup made with a cream sauce basis.

Sees First Movie

The "navy is here" for a 77-year old Newfoundland lady, Mrs. Margaret Trice, who just recently saw her very first movie by courtesy of the Royal Canadian Navy. At a rest camp in Newfie, near which she lives, she does a lot of washing and pressing for the lads and was invited to see the picture "Blondie for Victory". She thought it was "just grand", and is sure the invention is here to stay.

WOMEN INVADE NEW SCENE OF ACTIVITY

London — London has a post office which is known to few members of the public. It is in the House of Commons, and is for the exclusive use of Members of Parliament and officials of the Palace of Westminster. For the first time in its sixty years of existence, a tradition has been broken, and there are now women on its staff, replacing nine male clerks who have been called into the services. This office is one of the busiest in London. Letters are delivered to over 100 points throughout the building, and there are 20 posting boxes.

Canadian Embassy In Paris Now A Busy Rendezvous

Temporary Headquarters in Paris in Former Offices of German Luftwaffe

By MARGARET ECKER, Canadian Press War Correspondent

Paris, France (CP) — The Canadian embassy in Paris looks like an oasis at the end of a long desert journey to Canadians stranded in France by the war.

You can hardly fight your way from the elevator to the temporary headquarters in what used to be the Paris offices of the German Luftwaife. The corridors are full of men, of women, hungry for a word from Canada, and in many cases hungry for such material things as food, or a cigarette.

Maj.-Gen. George Vanier, Canada's embassador, and Mrs. Vanier see everyone who calls, hear their stories, give everyone some assistance.

Recently the ambassador inserted an invitation in French newspapers for all Canadians to visit him. That day he himself talked to more than 40 people. Every day when Canadian war correspondents in Paris make their morning call at the embassy the crowd has grown.

Pte. Merton Jodain of Billings Bridge, Ont., had a queue in front of his reception desk while Cpl. Roger Lemay of Montreal and Sgt. Jack Canning of Woodstock and London, Ont., were sorting out the visitors and taking them into the ambassador's office.

The waiting room was full, and in one corner, sitting eagerly forward were two Franciscan fathers and two priests, of the Missionary Company of Mary.

"Freedom is new and dear to us still," Father Henry Lemmens, formerly of Duncan, B.C., said to me.

Robbed of Freedom

"All of us were interned at the camp at St. Denis. For four years, one month and one day we were robbed of our freedom, prevented from carrying on our missionary work." Father Lemmens came to France nine years ago.

Father Jacques Beaulieu of Rimouski, Que., has been in a Franciscan monastery in France for eight years.

"In prison we had to live on cabbage and water — we did not even have soup — if it hadn't been for Red Cross parcels," he said, "we would have died."

"More than 100 ecclesiastics were interned with us at St. Denis," said Father Le Lexier of Dorval, Que. "France was deprived of her religious feeling."

Most fortunate of the four was Father Simone Giroux, who left Montreal six years ago to come to France. He escaped from the prison to carry on his work as a Franciscan missionary underground.

In his office, General Vanier was talking with a French woman seeking news of relatives in Canada, while Mme. Vanier listened. Mme. Vanier in her Canadian Red Cross Corps uniform beat her hands together. "If only I could do something for all the people who come here," she said. "If only the Red Cross supplies would arrive. Everyone we meet is in need of something. Some haven't tasted meat for four years.

"We had a few tins of bully beef which we gave out — they thought it was the most wonderful gift in the world. We've given away all the cigarettes we have to Canadians hungry as wolves for the taste of a Canadian cigarette.

W. Inst. Project for Sailors' Ditty Bags

Quebec Women's Institutes are planning this year to make 433 ditty bags for the Merchant Marine. Mrs. C. E. Dow, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, in referring to the contents of these bags advised the members not to put in articles which are a part of the regular equipment provided for the sailors, such as long scarfs, two-way mitts, etc.

A special white scarf, plenty of socks, "beanies", food in tin cans, soaps (not strong scented kinds), scrap books, games, a strong toy for the sailor's child, and a "ditty" of the kind from which the bags take their names — all of these will be of use to the men who go down to the sea in ships, and will help them to remember that those on shore are thinking of them and their needs.

Provincial W.C.T.U. Conference

The word "Union", forming part of the name of this Christian organization, was never more recognized than at the recent provincial convention of the Women's Christian Temperence Union, held last week in First Baptist Church, Montreal. A real spirit of unity prevailed throughout the entire session as this band of women discussed the evils of the liquor traffic as it affected the youth of our land, the future burden-bearers of our nation—those who need steady hands and in particular steady, sane minds if they are to combat the evils that beset us and to keep the nation's affairs in good order.

All of the key words which the Rev. Nicholson of Temple Baptist Church attributed to the heads of the four gospels in his address to the assembly will be needed in ruling our country. The Rev. Nicholson brought to light the facts that each of the apostles had a special key word. For Paul he listed the word Faith; for Peter Hope, for James, Works; and for John, Love. All of these characteristics are needed in ruling a nation, and it was shown by the spirit of the meetings that these characteristics were very evident there.

Lt. Col. Best, of the Salvation Army, in bringing greetings, said it was a real joy for her to meet people who were working for what is best in life. Col. Best repeated the words of a Jewish Rabbi who had said in the course of an address: "God could not be everyeverywhere, so he made women, and especially mothers".

Greetings were also received from the United, Presbyterian and Anglican churches.

Miss Edna Grant, of Ladner, B.C., travelling field secretary of the W.C.T.U., was present, giving her address and news of some branches, in her especially bright way. She also presented with the aid of some children, a pageant of her own composition, entitled "The Golden Tree of Opportunity", which showed that this tree can only come to real golden fruition through the cross and its services.

This was the sixtieth annual convention of the Provincial W.C.T.U., and a letter was read from Mrs. G. Geggie, of Beauport, Que., herself a little over 90 years of age, yet able to write of, and take interest in, this provincial organization of which she is the only living charter member.

Mrs. A. Graham, editor of Quebec page in "Tidings" — on being presented with a provincial life membership pin (which was pinned on her by Mrs. G. F. W. Kuhring, provincial treasurer and former Argenteuil resident) — made public acknowledgment to the donor of the pin. The pin had been given her by Mrs. Geggie, thus adding much to the interest and honour of the occasion.

Mrs. W. Usher, who had served one year over the usual term as provincial president of the organization, was made Evangelistic Superintendent, replacing Mrs. Wright of Sherbrooke, and she herself being replaced by Mrs. Roy Blair, B.A., of Ormstown, better known to the women of Argenteuil County W.I. as Nellie Grimes Blair, having had connection with that organization in several capacities for many years.

Recommendation was made for the greater use of films in education against the drink evil. Two films dealing with this have already been purchased and are the property of the provincial union, entitled "The Pay Off" and "It's the Brain that Counts."

Mrs. S. Mabon, a former Lachute resident, had the consecration service at opening of the convention, also the honor of voicing the declaration of loyalty that was sent to Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth, from the organization.

Many grateful letters from the Women's Voluntary Service Corps in England were read, telling of bicycles bought for their work and inscribed with "Quebec W.C.T.U."; of going to and fro, wherever they were needed in the alleviation of sufferings in blitzed areas; also for the provision of canteens which were placed at railway stations where servicemen from all parts could be fed and made comfortable in the short stops between stations. The letters expressed gratitude also for much needed articles sent them which could not be purchased in England, bought with funds provided by the Unions all over the Province.

—Thus the world-wide fellowship of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Quebec Province is demonstrated from ocean to ocean.

—J. Graham, Press Supt.

Dental Health

Tooth-Brushing

Q.—Can too much brushing injure the teeth? Would your teeth grow healthy if you brushed them twice a day?

A.—Certainly, too much incorrect brushing can injure the teeth and gums and in all probability even too much correct brushing may be injurious. Just because a little is good is no reason to suppose that more is better. In brushing the teeth as in most everything else, good judgment must be used. Over brushing can irritate the gums, cause them to recede and expose the tooth roots.

Of the various types of tooth brush injury to the gingival (gum) tissues, that which results in the permanent loss of root covering is the most pernicious in its effects because it not only entails an unesthetic appearance, and, not infrequently, mechanical abrasions on the exposed root surfaces, but also, in some instances, cervical hypersensitiveness and eventual caries (decay) occasioning a need for fillings that otherwise might be avoided.

Brushing alone will not prevent decay. It is but one of the procedures necessary for good dental health.

Abnormal Wear of Teeth

Q.—I should like information concerning the prevention of teeth wear. I have taken fairly good care of my teeth and eaten plenteously of calcium foods. I am only 20 but my teeth are abnormally worn.

A.—Abnormal tooth wear is called "abrasion". As individuals grow older, their teeth will naturally show signs of wearing down due to normal use in mastication. Normal wear of teeth, such as is found in most persons at the age of 40, is not considered true abrasion. Many persons in the late twenties and early thirties have teeth so considerably worn that mouth disfigurement results.

Treatment of abrasion is difficult but if taken early, the dentist can render much assistance by placing fillings in certain teeth to relieve the wear on the rest of the teeth. Strict observance of the mouth is then maintained and as the fillings wear down, or the enamel or dentin of other teeth show signs of abrasion, additional fillings are employed.

Eating large amounts of calcium foods, while generally healthful, will have no beneficial effect on this condition.

To My Customers :

It is with deepest regret we must discontinue the business relations which you have made so pleasant for my late father and myself since 1892.

During 42 of these years I have personally sawn 20,000,000 board feet of your lumber, also you trusted me with the grinding of your grain, often reaching 1¼ million pounds a year.

As I peruse old ledgers containing names of customers in Lachute — and see such as Mrs. Brennan, Sr., Mrs. Quinn, Jos. Palliser, W. H. Garretsee, Simon MacKimmie, Sr., T. Jousse, Mrs. Emsley, Jos. Most sincerely I thank you for past patronage and goodwill.

Matthew Halton in Brussels

Outstanding broadcasts have become associated with the name of Matthew Halton. Now making his radio headquarters in Brussels, Halton has recently furnished unique descriptions of his jeep drive into Germany and the Siegfried Line near Aachen, of the opening of the Belgian Parliament, and of the fighting in Holland. Halton is heard in the CBC News Roundup, daily from Monday to Friday, at 7.45 p.m. EDT, over the Trans-Canada Network.

Troop Addressed By Former Scout

At the regular meeting of Lachute Troop Boy Scouts last week, the boys were addressed by a former member of the troop in the person of Major Stuart Jones, who has been on military service stationed on the Pacific Coast for some time.

Major Jones gave an interesting talk, touching upon his experiences in the Army and showing pictures which illustrated certain phases of Army life. He stressed how useful Scout training could prove in the soldier's career.

WELL ! AT LEAST HE HAD THE IDEA

Kitchener, Ont. — A young Kitchener boy without a garden of his own didn't let that deter him from attempting to win a prize in the horticultural contest for school children.

Early on the morning of the contest before his mother was awake, he took a faded bouquet of asters in the living room, stripped off the dead leaves, changed the water, added some newly-scrubbed potatoes — his mother had bought them at the grocer's a few days earlier — and his floral tribute was ready for the exhibit.

Although the judges didn't pick his entry as outstanding, he stoutly averred they would have given him third prize, "if one of my potatoes hadn't been too big."

Ghost Film Has Quota of Humor

"The Canterville Ghost" — on the Rex program this week-end— is a story conjured out of Oscar Wilde's novel on the same theme, but the resemblance is slight. Certain basic facts remain in the plot. The ghost is made unhappy when his castle is invaded by Americans. But now instead of a prosperous bourgeois family, the invaders are soldiers of an American platoon, billeted in the castle during their stay in England.

The poor ghost still has a rough time of it, although the attack is less on his delicate sensibilities as on his spectral eardrums. Here he has been haunting his own home for 300 years, after an unfortunate affair of honor by which he got himself walled up early in his career, and now come these Americans with no healthy respect for the man who is dead but can't lie down!

All this is joyfully and often exhuberantly set forth in the film. All the situations are handled as you would expect, but they also raise the laughs you would expect. The soldiers are disbelieving, terrified, then boisterous. The English characters are refined to a point of transparency. The ghost is a histrionic figure of fun.

Charles Laughton has himself an excellent time as this ghost of Sir Simon de Canterville, and fits his great bulk and equally imposing mannerisms into the doublet and chains of the ghost with ease. He avoids the pathos indicated in the script and makes his ghostly character sorry for himself, and therefore comic.

Little Margaret O'Brien is introduced into the realms of cuteness, and persuaded to venture into jive at one point. But still she emerges unscathed — her own small, sweet and cool self.

Robert Young is the likeable American who turns out to have de Canterville blood in his veins while William Gargan and Rags Ragland are typical as sergeant and low comic of the American platoon, respectively.

Humdrum isn't where you live but what you are.

SCOUTING NO KID'S GAME

"Scouting is no kid's game", says Sgt. C. J. Hurrell of the British Army. Sgt. Hurrell was captured by the enemy in Italy and decided to make a break for liberty. Getting safely from the camp, he had to live for eights weeks in the Apennine Hills in enemy occupied country, living in a shelter, cooking from smokeless fires and generally living off the country. Sgt. Hurrell says he owes his survival and safe arrival in British lines entirely to his training as a Boy Scout.

Brownsburg Council Decides to Appeal Judgment Against Village

Councillors Unanimous in Vote to Contest Damages Awarded Contractor

Brownsburg — The adjourned meeting of Brownsburg Council was held on Tuesday night, at which Mayor J. D. Lepine presided. Messrs. A. Brunelle, H. Pariseau, L. Ouillette, W. Prosser, G. Bourne, and J. Donaldson were also present.

A provisional contract between Mayor Lepine and Mr. H. J. O'Connell for removal of a portion of the boundary wall and back-fill at the C-I-L property (Social Club) at a cost of $350 was made effective. The work had been done during the day and in addition to the advantage of widening the road at this narrow junction, quite an improvement was effected in the Club property.

A number of property owners who had constructed sidewalks along their frontage were present to request the Council to take over the completed work for the purpose of maintenance. This was unanimously agreed to, being in accordance with the usual practice of the Council.

The recent decision of the courts by which the Council was condemned to pay a judgment of $5,000 and costs in the case of Auclair versus Brownsburg Corporation, and reported in "The Watchman", was brought under discussion by the Mayor, who stated that he had asked Mr. L. L. Legault, attorney, to attend the meeting with a view of giving a picture of the possible outcome of appealing this decision.

Mr. Legault in his statement to the meeting was of the opinion that the costs of the present case would be approximately $4,000, making a total liability of the Council $9,000. If the case was taken to appeal and lost there would be an additional cost of about $1,500. His opinion was that the judgment was contrary to provisions of article 627-A of the Municipal Code. He believed the case would be reversed on appeal and that the question at issue — whether the Council could risk overspending their contracted amount as resolved, and whether this particular work would have resulted in overspending the contract price — could bear no other interpretation than nullifying whatever contract did exist and make the issuing of a new contract good in law. The judgment was for damages, without stating how contracted, which in his opinion rendered the decision questionable.

In answer to several questions Mr. Legault admitted that with the entering of an appeal, it was within the right of the defendant Auclair to counter-appeal, and it would therefore be possible in law to have the judgment increased. He had, however, no fear of this. If the appeal were successful it would also be possible for Auclair to bring the case before the Superior Courrt, but the taxed costs would require a large security and there was little danger of this course being pursued. He cited the opinion of Judge Cousineau, as expressed by Mr. Pariseau, that the Council had good grounds for appeal.

He further stated in answer to a question that a verbal contract was perfectly sound in law, and that possibly a verbal contract was entered into with Auclair by the Council at the time the contract was made under resolution; but that a difference existed between a verbal contract entered into by a corporation and a private individual, and in the present instance the first contract was null and void, as he advised the Council at the time.

The Mayor polled the members of the council as to their views on entering an appeal and a unanimous desire to appeal was manifested. A poll of the ratepayers present at the meeting revealed the same unanimity.

Mr. A. Brunelle then proposed, and Mr. H. Pariseau seconded, a motion to appeal, and the resolution was passed.

The correspondence was then read, among which was a letter from Mr. H. J. O'Connell expressing regret for the accident to the little girl Brown, who was crossing the road to school when she was critically hurt by a truck.

Night Robbery at Lachute Creamery

Thieves breaking into Lachute Creamery premises on the bank of the North River during Tuesday night, blasted a safe with nitroglycerine and removed cash to a total of almost $1,200. Entry was made by a rear window, and the marauders broke through interior doors to reach the office safe.

The same night, a sum of $10 was taken from a drawer in the Réal Morisette express warehouse on Robert Street, where the premises were also broken into.

Det. St. Laurent, investigating for Montreal provincial police headquarters, found a trail of depredations indicating the robbers had worked eastward on Route 8, starting at Montebello shortly after midnight. There, at the C.P.R. station they were attempting to open the safe, when they knocked down a telephone instrument. Fearing the phone operator might become alarmed, they made their escape, leaving behind several tools of their trade. At 5 a.m. on Wednesday morning premises were robbed at St. Martin — indicating Lachute had been visited during the period between these two entries.

The war to save the world from Hitler may soon be ending, but the war to save civilization has just begun.

Generous Gift To Promote Cause Of Education

The accumulation of wealth is too often derided by those of lesser means. But to such generous gestures as that of J. W. McConnell, publisher of the Montreal Star, who has created 12 scholarships at McGill University (of which he is a governor) as a stimulus and opportunity to those unable to afford a college education — to this philanthropic service an expression of public gratitude is in order. A pupil of Lachute High School was among the scholars to benefit by this gift, and on behalf of the community The Watchman accords its warm acknowledgment.

The acquisition of worldly goods is worthy only for the good it can accomplish. Dr. James, principal of McGill University, in announcing particulars of the gift, stated: "By this generous creation of 12 scholarships, each of which covers the full cost of board, residence and tuition throughout the student's course, Mr. McConnell has set a splendid example to all Canadian citizens, as well as to the provincial and Dominion governments. There could be no more fitting memorial to the gallant men who have won undying memory on all the battlefields of this war than the provision for young Canadians of an opportunity to qualify themselves for positions of leadership in the future development of this Dominion."

Keen Competition At Calf Show

The local boys' and girls' Calf Show was held at Lachute Exhibition Grounds on Saturday, and proved a successful and well contested event. This club was organized under the direction of Alex Bothwell, county agronomist, and Henri Girard of the Federal Department of Agriculture. Mr. J. P. Fleury of Montreal acted as judge. Following is a list of the prize winners:

Class 1. Registered Ayrshire Calves — 1 Shirley Bradley, 2 John Heatlie, Jr., 3 Keith Pollock, 4 Georges St. Jacques, 5 Donald Bradley.

Class 2. Registered Holstein Calves — 1 Harold Wilson, 2 Mildred Smith, 3 Elinor Wilson, 4 Mildred Wilson, 5 John Meyer.

Local Canine Wins at Show

A wire-haired fox terrier belonging to Lewis Grant, Main Street West, which made its debut in the shows last August and carried off several prizes, added to its credits last week in Simcoe, Ontario, at the Norfolk County Agricultural Society's all-breed dog show.

The animal, "Malabar's Streamline", is a male, still under a year old. He claimed first prize in the senior puppy class, and an award in open dogs reserve winners — a creditable standing, in view of the keen competition at Simcoe.

It is Mr. Grant's intention to show his dog at the Quebec City show this coming Saturday.

Lions Club Holds Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Lachute Lions was held at the Golf Club last Tuesday evening with the president, Lion Dr. W. F. FitzGerald, in the chair.

Reports on the recent "Charter Members' Night" and on the Blood Clinic were given by Lions George Tattersfield and Gordon McOuat, respectively. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a "bingo", in order to secure additional proceeds to replenish the cigarette fund. This function will be held sometime in November.

Lion W. M. Steeves was called upon to introduce a new member, Mr. George Davis, manager of North River Motors Ltd., whose initiation was deferred until next meeting, when other candidates are expected.

Post-War Lachute Topic of Address

Gymnasium, Better Lighting, Housing and Roads Are Advocated by Speaker

In these days when much time is being spent by leading statesmen the world over in discussing "post-war problems" it is refreshing to find that a few individuals are thinking of post-war plans for the immediate neighborhood.

At the Lachute United Y.P.U. meeting Wednesday evening, the guest speaker was Linton W. Armstrong, and his subject was "Post-War Lachute". He referred to conferences of Churchill, Stalin, Roosevelt and other world leaders, designed at making this universe a better place to live in, and he said that "to the ordinary fellow" these discussions seem to be in the abstract and so distant. He suggested that, for a start, we should concentrate on making this a better Canada, a better province, and even a better Lachute Town.

Mr. Armstrong referred to the many Lachute citizens "well represented on all fighting fronts" and of the promises made to them by statesmen, to give the servicemen "a good job at a good wage when they return". He said that some would return with a single ticket but "others would require a double fare", and he asked the question, "Will they find a better Lachute than when they left?"

There were still the "old faults" to be found in Lachute such as the housing problem. The speaker claimed this was not primarily a "war problem"; it had existed for years, and still exists, though the "war is over as far as Lachute is concerned, and has been, since Brownsburg returned to peace-time production."

The speaker claimed that many houses had been condemned by health authorities, but to close these dwellings would increase the difficulties. He described the plight of one family, living in a space of 12 by 14 feet, with no water or modern conveniences, and having another family of four in the same space upstairs.

One reason for the problem was the lack of available land, and cost of building lots too high for the average low-cost dwelling. He

Fire Prevention

This is Fire Prevention Week. This week has been set apart from the other fifty-one, so that Fire Chiefs could gather at a little social conviviality and chin-wag about the fires which they attended during the other fifty-one weeks, and how they were to meet the fires which they would attend during the next fifty-one weeks. It was also expected to remind us that we were to clean up and see that this week at least was without a serious fire. It was particularly selected because at this time of year we are preparing to kindle the fires which will be attended by these same chiefs, and for which we in Canada will contribute twenty million dollars. Twenty million dollars is a lot of money. Premier Drew would have Ontario almost declare war on us here in Quebec because the answer he got to his Family Allowance sum showed Ontario paying us less than twenty million dollars. Even in these days of astronomical billions, twenty million dollars is a lot of money.

Well, the week is almost past, and all we have to do now is start the fires and foot the bill. That's what most of us will do. The old furnace was perfectly safe last year, so why worry about next year? We have an ordinance which demands that we have our chimneys cleaned. We got that done, didn't we? We paid our insurance against fire, so why worry? . . . Or should we? . . . The chimneys were cleaned and the insurance paid on the Convent here last Christmas, yet the whole place burned down. The same ordinance was in force for Main Street, yet sixteen families were left homeless and a prosperous looking street turned into a pile of smoking rubble in twenty-four hours. All these people had insurance paid up. Would they have exchanged their properties for the amounts they received? No, not one of them. One can't buy a home, it has to be cultivated. One hundred thousand dollars' worth of property was burned in two fires in Brownsburg. That's quite an instalment on the twenty million dollars we had a moment ago. What was the cause of this destruction and loss? The newspaper reports stated it was defective heating apparatus. No, no; you can't buy defective heating apparatus. It BECOMES defective through carelessness, and carelessness belongs to us. It's our responsibility.

Furnaces become defective as quickly during the summer months when they are not in operation as they do in winter when they are supplying heat. The heat of summer will damage a chimney just as surely as the cold of winter. Both require periodical inspection and attention, and now before we start fires is the time to see that they are secure and fireproof. No casual glance; have a thorough inspection made by a person capable of making it!

Paradox

The profundity of knowledge displayed by columnists in their advice to the perplexed often caused us to wonder how their own home life was fashioned. Did everything run smoothly like a well oiled machine? Our faith was a little shaken when we listened to a well-known radio oracle judicially deliberate on the ways and means of attaining conjugal bliss — while screaming headlines announced the sordid details of his own divorce; but our naivete has been completely shattered by the details of a divorce carried in an article about the writer of a woman's column avidly read by devotees of glamor and daintiness, in which her husband charged "she never removed the dirt ring she left in her bath."

Town Business

The members of Brownsburg Council were of the opinion that business taxes be remitted to those who suffered the loss of their businesses in the recent fire during the time their business was closed down, and property taxes to those who were not contemplating rebuilding. In the latter catagory there is only one property owner who has not signified his intention of building; he nevertheless refused, according to the Mayor, to grant the Council four feet of frontage for the purpose of widening the main street, although the other property owners along that front were willing to do so.

An order was made by the Council to have the obstructions on the thoroughfare, connected with building operations, removed or protected by lights and guards.

The Provincial Bank has reopened its branch, which was burned out at the time of the fire. It is now operating from St. Louis Street contiguous to the Catholic Church.

The Council meeting was adjourned to Tuesday to allow a discussion on the recent court action by which the people of Brownsburg are decreed to pay $5,000 and costs for the withdrawal of the waterworks contract after it had been awarded.

The Provincial Roads Department has eliminated the bottleneck which marked the entrance of Route 31 to the village. We have often called attention to this dangerous roadway and are now pleased that a good job has been made at this point; when the surfacing is completed we should have an ideal roadway connecting Brownsburg with Lachute.

Today, for the first time, it can truly be said we are fighting a global war. The years of waiting are over, and the culmination of all the plans means attack by the United Nations on every front.

Scouts' Tribute to Empire Chief

The 1st Troop Lachute Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs honored the memory of the late Lord Somers, Chief Scout, by attending the morning devotions at Lachute United Church in a body, last Sunday.

The minister, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, gave an interesting biographical sketch of the late Lord Somers, who was the British Empire Chief Scout after the death of Lord Baden-Powell. He said that Canadians had a particular interest in Lord Somers, for at one time he lived in Pickering, Ontario, where he operated a farm, and as a hobby played the organ in the Anglican Church. A brief survey of the Scout movement was also given, and the minister spoke of the initials of the Scout motto "BP", which, he said were not only the initials of the founder and of the motto, "Be Prepared", but also stood for the maxims "be patient . . . be punctual . . . be pleasant . . . and be pure."

An appropriate hymn was sung in closing, the words of which illustrate the ideals that Scout leaders everywhere hold high for their members.

"I would be true, for there are those that trust me;

I would be pure, for there are those that care;

I would be strong, for there is much to suffer;

I would be brave, for there is much to dare.

"I would be a friend of all — the foe, the friendless,

I would be giving, and forget the gift,

I would be humble, for I know my weakness;

I would look up, and laugh, and love and lift."

GUARD FOREST WEALTH

The time has come for the people to take greater interest in the welfare of the forest. All of us are shareholders in this vast natural wealth. . . It seems apparent that a vast public information program is necessary for sustained flow of educational material to keep a co-operative public informed.

Increase $75,000 over Sixth Loan, in Line with Higher National Objective

Victory Loan Headquarters announced here today that Argenteuil's over-all Seventh Victory Loan objective had been set at $1,270,000. This represents an increase of $75,000 over the Sixth Victory Loan objective, but is well below the objectives set here for the Fourth and Fifth Loans. It is also well below the results of the Sixth Loan, which were $1,363,900.

Of the $1,270,000 objective $850,000 is set for General Sales and Payroll Savings sections, while the Special Names objective remains unchanged at $420,000.

The Argenteuil increase is in line with the national increase. Success or failure is placed squarely into the hands of the general public, since industrial payrolls have declined here since the Sixth Loan. The slack must be taken up by the General Sales section. While this appears a difficult enough task, the cessation of Compulsory Savings enables the majority of wage earners to buy additional bonds. If we all buy ONE MORE BOND, Argenteuil will go over the top.

The following table illustrates the effect cancellation of Compulsory Savings will have on the average individual. It is based on a six months period, since the official monthly instalment plan of purchase is of that duration. The table shows single and married status, with and without dependents.

Weekly Income	Single, No Dep'ts	Married, No Dep'ts	Married, Two Dep'ts
20	41	nil	nil
25	52	15	8
30	62	59	13
35	72	87	33
40	83	103	62
45	93	116	90
50	104	129	119

Victory is not ours yet. We must not become complacent. Everyone must continue to buy Victory Bonds to the limit. We must all INVEST IN VICTORY.

Re-Make Clinics Are Resumed

An encouraging start was reported on the reopening of the remake sewing clinics, Tuesday evening at the W.P.T.B. premises on Main Street. This enterprise, undertaken by the local women's advisory committee to the Prices Board, was started last spring, but too late in the season to make much headway before the summer months. The idea behind the clinics is to promote the conservation of clothing through re-making of outworn or outgrown garments. In view of the continuing scarcity in many lines of clothing, the organizers would like to see more pupils patronizing these classes, and would also welcome those experienced in the craft, to give instruction. Miss Garessiere, supervisor of the work in the Montreal district, comes periodically to give advice, and the classes in Lachute will continue weekly every Tuesday evening from 8 to 9 o'clock.

The re-make clinics are just one constructive activity of the W.P.T.B. regional advisory committee, of whom the chairmen are Mrs. G. McGibbon in the English-speaking and Mrs. G. Heon in the French-speaking section. Ladies interested in attending the sewing classes are asked to contact these chairmen, Mrs. H. Rigg or any member of the liaison group.

October 17 and 18 Ration Book Days In Lachute Town

It is Ration Book time again, and on October 17 and 18 Lachute householders will visit the Auditorium (or St. Julien Church, for west-enders) to procure their Ration Book No. 5, containing coupons for all rationed commodities for 50 weeks to come. — An advertisement in this issue states that, in other communities of this district, times and places of distribution are being announced in the respective centres.

The new book, which will be given to eleven and one half million Canadians, will be distributed locally at a number of convenient points, and may be obtained by the simple procedure of going to the places advertised, with Ration Book 4 in hand.

First, however, you should fill in both the back and front of the stub of the "K" coupon sheet in Book 4, also the age of any member of the family who is under 16 years, but — do not tear the sheet out; that is up to the worker at the distribution centre.

It is convenient, too, that one member of the family may obtain the Ration Books for other members, providing the names have been filled in.

This Ration Book will be good for 50 weeks instead of 36 as in the case of the last book, for, with the end of the war in sight, it was easier to look ahead 18 months. It takes six months to plan and prepare a ration book, and this time it was possible to get a more reliable picture of what commodities would be remaining on ration.

Book No. 5 has a pink cover, and inside it has coupons marked for sugar, preserves, and butter, also other sheets that could be put to immediate use if necessary.

Ration Book No. 4 will be returned to the owner the moment the "K" sheet is removed by the official at the place of distribution, and should be retained until the end of this year at which all coupons in both Book No. 4 and Book No. 3 become invalid.

Three Casualties

Brownsburg — The sympathy of this community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. R. Belanger, who received word last week that their son had been killed overseas.

Word has been received by Mrs. Robert Currie, of Gramont, Que., that her youngest son, L/Cpl. Chester Currie, was wounded on September 27 in Italy. L/Cpl. Currie went overseas in March 1943. A brother, Pte. William Currie, is also serving with the forces.

* * *

Cpl. Emerson Thos. Noble, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. E. Noble, of Thomas' Gore, has been slightly wounded in action. The casualty was communicated to his parents October 10, giving no information however as to the nature of his wound. Cpl. Noble served in Italy with the Perth Regiment for over a year. His brother, Sgt. Russel R. Noble, is in action with the forces in Belgium.

No one can make his greatest contribution who works alone.

Returns to London

A. E. Powley, head of the CBC Overseas News Bureau, has arrived back at his London desk after a month's visit to Ottawa and Toronto, where he conferred with CBC Chief News Editor D. C. McArthur on plans for covering the final stages of the war. Mr. Powley, who has heard many a robomb roar past his window, directs the activities of the CBC war correspondents in the field and supervises the broadcasting of news to Canadians back home.

The Brickbat Remains

(Calgary Herald)

At first the knight was irresistible against the foot soldier. Then the archers with their long bows brought the knight into crashing ruin.

The blunderbuss swept the archer away. And so it went, every weapon producing a more powerful counter-weapon.

The tank itself is moving toward obsolescence. The only weapon that doesn't seem to lose its popularity is the brickbat at thirty paces.

FRENCH WRENS

Halifax (CP) — Feminins de la flotte — 14 of them — arrived here from their homes on Saint Pierre and Miquelon. They are the French equivalent of Canadian Wrens, and wear dark blue uniforms bearing a cross of Lorraine.

CURRENT FARM TOPICS

Use Farm Machinery More Hours per Year

Although the average farm tractor is used less than 350 hours a year, many well-balanced farms operate their tractors more than 800 hours a year. Tillage equipment averages only 300 hours' useful operation a year, but in the hands of some owners is used for as many as 450 hours a year.

The annual use of harvesting equipment is 120 hours a year on the average, but on some farms it is engaged in useful work for 225 hours a year.

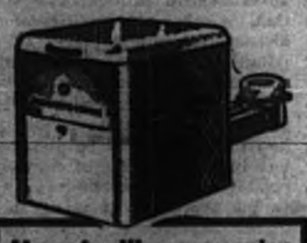

To the Dominion Department of Agriculture, these comparisons indicate that most machinery on Canadian farms can be used more hours per year at greater savings to their owners and reduced costs to the farming community as a whole.

Don't Waste Feeds

In the crop year 1944-45, it is anticipated there will continue to be fairly substantial quantities of by-product feeds available from oil crushers and packing plants but fishmeal production prospects are not encouraging, states the current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada. The Feed Administrator, J. G. Davidson, has indicated that, while the over-all protein feed situation is reasonably satisfactory, it will not permit of any uneconomical waste, and, if any increase in mixed feed output becomes possible, the dairy industry may secure some priority rather than hog producers or poultrymen.

Orchard Protection

A committee organized last spring by the Quebec Plant Protection Board, recently visited orchards affected by attacks of insects and disease. The committee is seeking to suppress plagues peculiar to apple trees and to formulate appropriate recommendations to apple growers.

Many families now enjoy comfortable automatic heating ..and save money..with the FAIRBANKS-MORSE STOKER using economy fuel.

● NO EXTRAS TO BUY—no pumps, no tanks, no special boiler or furnace—no special flue lining. This ONE simple, dependable unit—backed by the century-old reputation of Fairbanks-Morse—gives you the kind of automatic heat that hundreds of people who have tried other kinds believe is the best. Fairbanks-Morse Automatic Coal Burner heat is CLEAN, COMFORTABLE, HEALTHFUL, SAFE, and ECONOMICAL. No loose ashes to carry out. No fire-tending drudgery. No smoke, soot, and dust as in hand firing. Controlled by a thermostat. Get up to warm rooms in the morning. Come home to a warm house in the evening. Many owners report fuel costs less than hand firing.

Come in and see it.

OBITUARY

Funeral of Well-Known Townsman

Late Ernest Lacasse

The death of Ernest Lacasse, a well-known business man of this town, occurred September 30 at his home on Grace Street, at the age of 61 years. The late Mr. Lacasse had been a resident of Lachute for the past 35 years.

The funeral rites took place at Ste. Anastasie Parish Church, the Rev. W. Lacourse, and the Rev. L. J. Rodrigue, of Ste. Therese, officiating, assisted by the Revs. Laplante and Savage. The Revs. Beauregard and Corbeil celebrated Mass at the lateral altars.

The Lachute choir under the direction of Romeo Legault sang the Mass by Yon, with Miss I. Larocque at the organ.

The funeral was attended by a large gathering of sympathizing friends and citizens, and by brother members of the Knights of Columbus.

The late Mr. Lacasse is survived by his wife, the former Rachel Blais, two brothers, Etienne Lacasse, of St. Philippe, and John Lacasse, of Lachute, two sisters, Miss Philomene Lacasse and Mrs. Rasmessen (Leona), three brothers-in-law and a large number of nieces and nephews.

Bereavement to Chatboro Family

Late Gordon Campbell Cox

Chatboro community mourns the passing of Gordon Campbell Cox, who died suddenly October 4, at the Providence Hospital, Lachute Mills, after a short illness. Mr. Cox was in his 56th year, and was the youngest son of the late Wm. R. Cox (former lockmaster at Grece's Point) and his wife Jane Mann.

Mr. Cox was formerly of the C.P.R. Telegraph, with which he served for many years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Violet H. Welden of Grenville, also three children, Clover Eva, aged 18 years, Owen Welden, 16, and Marilyn Alma, three. Five sisters and three brothers also remain to mourn their deep loss. They are —Melvin Wm., of Montreal, James E., of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Ira R., of Vancouver, B.C., Mrs. F. Godel, of Westmount, Mrs. R. Anderson, of Montreal, Miss Elsie Cox, of Westmount, Mrs. S. T. Velie, of Milford, Conn., U.S.A., and Mrs. F. R. Cook, of Outremont. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mann, uncle and aunt, of Stardale, Ont., and a cousin, Clifford Mann, of Toronto, also survive.

Mr. Cox's grandfather came to Canada with the English militia in 1842 and later was a lockmaster at Chute à Blondeau.

The pall-bearers were Mrs. Cox's six brothers, Herbert, Morris, Leonard, Leslie, James and Emerson Welden.

PLANT HARMONES SAVE FRUIT CROP

Washington (CP)—Use of growth-regulating plant hormones to prevent apples and pears from dropping before harvest is increasing rapidly, and similar substances have been successfully used to kill weeds. The United States Department of Agriculture says spraying of apples at harvest time to decrease the drop of fruit from trees began in 1940. Used at the very beginning of the harvest drop, the chemicals have prevented many apples from dropping to the ground and becoming bruised so they would have to be marketed as culls or made into cider.

In a bulletin the department says that nopthaleneacetic acid, napthaleneacetamide, and the sodium salt of napthaleneacetic acid "are equally effective in retarding fruit drop" when properly used at the right time. No direct effect of the sprays on fruit maturity has been reported.

The New York experimental station at Geneva, N.Y., has experimented with killing weeds by using the growth-producing substances in "sufficient concentration."

A spray was used on bindweed. The experimenters said that within 24 hours the leaves were dull green and lying flat on the ground. Within ten days the parts above ground were dead.

Canada's Bright Horizon

THE THANKSGIVING atmosphere this year is different from any preceding war year. That alone is cause for thankfulness.

The successful invasion of Normandy and the sustained offensive ever since D-Day has carried Allied arms into the homeland of Germany. Though Prime Minister Churchill only lately warned against optimism, the end of the war in Europe is in sight.

As we look back over wartime Thanksgivings the pattern for gratitude takes definite and progressive shape. Inspired by the unshaken purpose and confidence of great leaders the liberty-loving nations now reap the victory of dogged persistence. The endurance of the little people of Britain when the threat of invasion was an ever-present fear, the indefatigable courage of airmen who drove the Luftwaffe from the skies, the determined perseverance of merchant seamen who kept the lines of supply intact, the grim steadfastness and energy of soldiers and sailors — such qualities are the foundations of Allied successes.

The future is beginning to brighten and the adjustment of life to the stresses of the post-war era has already begun both at home and in the liberated countries. In the coming years the world will have need of the devotion to duty and high ideals which have enabled the United Nations to win against armed and pitiless oppression.

Canada has made tremendous contributions in men and material toward the winning of the war. Nearly every family group has members in the armed services and many have been touched by the sadness of casualties. Yet our land itself has been unmolested and the hope that has heartened this Thanksgiving will grow and materialize until once more our whole energies can be devoted to development of our Dominion for which such valiant and unselfish sacrifices have been made.

The Fire Toll

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, October 8-14, is designed for the purpose of drawing our attention to the waste of human lives and property caused by fire. During the past ten years 475,000 fires have destroyed Canadian property to the extent of more than 264-million dollars, and during the same period 2,869 lost their lives through fire and it is estimated that at least 10,000 others have been seriously injured as the result of fire.

Further statistics published by the Dominion Fire Commissioner show that in 1943 Canada's losses by fire amounted to $31,464,710 (not including nearly $5,000,000 losses in National Defence properties). The number of lives lost last year by fire was 310, of whom 149 were children.

These figures are appalling, particularly when we consider that easily 80% — or perhaps more nearly 90% — of this loss could have been avoided by greater care and thoughtfulness in our daily lives. Statistics show that we continue to have fires year after year from the same causes and approximately the same number of fires from the various causes. In other words, our attitude toward fire is not showing any improvement.

It should hardly be necessary to point out that every fire is an economic loss regardless of the fact that the property may be insured. Somebody pays for it, and that somebody is you and I. Fire waste, while always local in inception, is national in its effect. It produces four main effects as follows: (1) Upon our natural resources by the destruction of building materials; (2) upon commercial credit by the impairment of security; (3) upon industrial progress by its handicap on production, and (4) upon the people who finally pay the cost of fire.

Canada's enormous fire loss can be curbed, if only citizens would be more careful — (1) in the disposal of cigarettes, cigars, pipe tobacco and matches; (2) in cleaning smoke-pipes and chimneys frequently and in seeing that heating equipment is at a safe distance from combustible material; (3) in not using dangerous flammable liquids for home dry-cleaning or for rekindling fires; (4) in not overloading electrical wiring or making "amateur" extensions to their electrical systems; and (5) in guarding against the dangers of fire in every way.

This week every Canadian citizen will be exhorted by the press, by speakers over the radio, by movies and by other means, to use every care with fire, not only during Fire Prevention Week but every week in the year. Let him take this advice to heart so that the needless tragedies of the past may be avoided.

A Message from Overseas

BRIGADIER Sherwood Lett, D.S.O., of Vancouver, who commanded a Canadian infantry brigade in Normandy before he was wounded, brought back this message on his recent return to Canada.

"Troops have always been prone to be critical of their equipment. You can say that Canadian troops overseas are delighted with the equipment coming from the home front in this war. Vehicles and tanks especially are standing up astonishingly well to the constant punishment of battle conditions.

"If I could say anything to the workers here, it would be 'Thanks for the grand job, and don't let up!' The war isn't over yet and we still need that splendid equipment flowing in."

There's a real message to us on the Home Front from our warriors overseas — "Don't let up!" Buy Victory Bonds to the limit and keep our equipment going over to finish the job.

Directed Energy

THIS WAR has called out the greatest expenditure of energy history has ever known. What will happen to all the energy after the war?

Will it stand in stagnant pools of unemployment? Will it be stored up in giant pressure tanks of discontent that finally burst out in some sort of civil war? Or will it dribble out in thin trickles of competitive effort — every man for himself again, and nobody for the whole?

There is another use for energy. Everybody can pitch in behind a fighting purpose to wage peace, just as we pitched in unitedly to fight the war.

What purpose? Everybody knows we can't build a new world on broken homes, broken hearts or broken trusts. Then what about a fight to build sound homes, a sound family in the nation, and a sound family of nations?

War weddings have jumped our marriage rate to a new high. But there are also sections of the continent where divorces now exceed the marriages. If we can't live together in our own homes, what hope is there that we can live together with the other members of the family of nations?

It may all start with as trivial a matter as the family car. Are we going to fight to see who gets it after supper, or put our heads together to see where it is really needed most?

The way we live at home is a testing ground for how we act in larger situations. There is a dispute down at the factory. Will the other fellows get away with it? Will we get ours? Or will we fight to see that all the men and all the country get what is most needed — just as the boys fought in their planes, or tanks, or foxholes, overseas?

In a still larger situation there may be disagreement between nations. Will we fight to see how much each of us can get out of the settlement, or how much each can give to it? One is energy misused; the other, energy applied to build a decent kind of world.

All this, of course, is quite opposite to the things we used to do in peace. That is what makes it a fight. That is how we can carry on with a fighting purpose in peace long after the guns stop firing. That is how we can enlist the energies of our demobilized millions and rally our civilians too.

Twenty-five Years Since Work Started On Present Magnesite Plant at Kilmar

— S. C. BROWN, in September issue of "C.R.L. News", Journal of Canadian Refractories Limited at Kilmar

The Kilmar Plant passed an anniversary of some portent on May 3, 1944. Twenty-five years ago the first axe bit into a tree to clear the present site of the plant. The man who swung the axe was Jack McRae.

Jack came to these parts 64 years ago, starting life in the house still standing on the McRae homestead. This house is now occupied by Jack's sister and brother.

As a boy, Jack well remembers the tales told by his grandfather and grandmother of having to clear the land of timber, break the land by hand, reap the grain by sickles and thresh with a hand flail. The nearest grist mill was then located below Grenville with only a footpath connecting the latter settlement with the district we now know as Harrington. This path crossed the plant property via the present lake road, and followed the "Back Road" to the plant, going over the hill behind the coal mill to connect with the Scotch Road near Goodland's. Over this trail it was necessary to portage on their backs any goods or food not grown on the land at home. Any grain to be ground into flour had to be carried out to Grenville and back again. Jack recalls the time when his grandfather made this trip in one day flat!

Jack started working on magnesite in 1916, breaking rock in the original pit above the cookery. From swinging a 16-pound hammer Jack went to firing a boiler. In those days the fireman supplied his own wood, which was carried out to the boiler on the fireman's back. Drilling was done by steam hammers in this pit, and the pit gang was composed of 10 to 12 Caughnawaga Indians who were a very swarthy lot.

Then in 1919 the first swing of the axe marked a new era: the construction of first units of the present Kilmar plant. The original posts, many of which can still be seen, were taken from the surrounding hills and snaked by team to the site. Some were towed by rowboat from across the lake and then by team to the plant.

Jack's companion in this timber cutting was Willie Fox, father of Ray, Howard, Tommy and Ernie.

During the 28 years since 1916, Jack McRae has been actively engaged in rock drilling, wood cutting, construction work and mill repairs along with any other job that was required. His favorite job each spring used to be rebuilding the kiln-room roof that had fallen under the weight of the winter snow, until the timber roof was replaced by the present steel building.

MATTER OF CHOICE

We are unable to see why a clergyman should not accept a party nomination and run in an election campaign if he thinks he can accomplish more good as a member of parliament than as a minister of the gospel . . . He will however have to choose between politics and the ministry.

— Bridgetown (N.S.) Monitor

Laugh 'n Like It!

Floorwalker (to impatient customer, leaving) — "Can't you get waited on, Madame?"

Madame — "No, I'm afraid I came at an unfortunate time; your salesladies seem to be in conference."

Then there is the signalman who delights in the story of an aviator, shot down before H-hour and bobbing around in a rubber raft as the first waves of landing craft went in.

The airman, none too well versed in "Blinker", was sending a frantic message with a flashlight.

"There's a guy out there calling for his mother", the signalman told his skipper. "He's sending 'Mom, mom, mom'."

A family with a summer cottage in a Wisconsin wilderness habitually paid a requested price of 50 cents to an Indian for a milk pail brim full of blueberries. But one day last summer he suddenly grunted in protest and upped the price to a dollar.

"Why?" they asked in amazement.

"Hell of a big war some place," was his laconic reply.

An Irishman came across the wooden barricade which is placed around the enclosure where immigrants suspected of suffering from contagious disease are isolated.

"What's this boarding for?" he inquired of a bystander.

"Oh," was the reply, "that's to keep out fever and things like that you know."

"Indeed," said Pat. "I've often heard of the board of health, but it's the first time I've seen it!"

Least We Can Do

Sure, it's hard for us over here, thousands of miles away, to get the picture. We can't see the faces on those kids — our kids—as they push the big bombers through ack-ack. We can't know what's in their heads and in their hearts when a shell cracks through and one of them slumps in his seat. And we never will know. For they'll never be able to tell us all of it. . . . but we can pray . . and hope . . . and help in the small ways we can — like buying Victory Bonds. They ask us, all of us, to buy one more Bond than we bought last time. Will we do it? Can we do anything else and look them in the face on that blessed day of Victory? What do you think?

Volunteer Firemen Aided by Queen's Fund

The Queen's Canadian Fund has made a donation of $500 to Britain's National Fire Service, to be devoted to bombed out and injured London firemen (volunteers) whose misfortunes are due to flying bombs.

The devastation in the London area from flying bombs alone is difficult to imagine and the work of the fire-fighters correspondingly heavy. One London borough lost a greater percentage of its houses destroyed and damaged than did Coventry in the entire Blitz.

Like the rest of London's Civil Defence Services, the auxiliary war-time firemen are from every walk of life; seamen, solicitors, taxi-drivers, motor-car salesmen, bricklayers, warehousemen, hairdressers, mechanics, etc. These part-time firemen do their day's work, have one night in three on duty, another on call and the third free.

ENGLISH YOUNGSTER IS SOLD ON CANADA

Strong for Baseball and Hockey. He Hopes Parents Will Share His Views

Port Arthur (CP) — George Mudd doesn't want to leave Canada — not ever. The little war refugee from Grimsby, Eng., likes baseball and hockey too much.

His filial ties are still as strong as ever. But he hopes that his parents will make a new home here so that he may continue to enjoy the sports he has learned in Canada.

Five years ago, baseball and hockey were just fascinating mysteries to the little Briton. Then along came the war and with it, the battle of Britain, and George, with his younger brother, Tony, was packed off to Canada.

George, keen as mustard for anything athletic, is thoroughly Canadianized now. His enthusiasm for baseball knows no bounds.

As a hockey player, George is "all right", his coach Alex Sim, will tell you. "He took to the game more quickly than a lot of our own boys."

"There's more room to play games here," George says. "And there's more chance for kids to play than back home".

Halifax (CP) — The provincial department of lands and forests paid bounties on 111 bears this year, with the high score, 28, going to Annapolis County. Minimum bounty is $10.

STANDARD TIME

There has been considerable agitation in the west to again return to standard time and we heartily endorse this movement . . . there is no good argument why Manitoba should remain on war time, especially during winter months . . . We are not short of power, neither have we many war industries in the province.

— Altone (Man.) Echo

Labor Situation on British Farms

London — Perhaps the biggest problem that British agriculture has had to meet during the war is that of labor. That it has been solved at all is due to the Women's Land Army and to the great response by voluntary and part-time helpers. Agricultural workers were "frozen" to their jobs in June, 1940. In general, men over 25, if they are bona fide farm workers, are retained on the farms, and men under 25 are deferred if they are key workers. The Women's Land Army, with a membership of 83,000 in July, 1943, has done much to relieve the shortage, and Land Clubs and holiday camps for city dwellers provide additional labor when required. Conscientious objectors, prisoners-of-war, and, for emergencies, some members of the Armed Forces have been other sources of labor supply. Mobile farm labor is available to transfer to areas of acute labor shortages.

FARMERS! WILL YOU HELP THIS WINTER?

If you are not required on the farm this winter you should take other work.

Extra winter workers are needed for woods operations—logging and pulpwood and fuel cutting — base metal mines, coal mines, meat packing and cold storage, grain handling, railway track maintenance, iron foundries and other high priority occupations, varying with the area.

Please offer your services to:

The nearest Employment and Selective Service Office; or

The nearest Provincial Agricultural Representative; or

Your Local Farm Production Committee.

A good response to this appeal is important to Canada's welfare — please act immediately.

Postponement of Military Training continues while in approved essential work off the farm.

PEA-PICKING BEE YIELDS SIX TONS

Sydney, Australia (CP) — Slacks rolled above the knee struck a choice fashion note at a woman's championship meeting in New South Wales. Garments with a number painted on the back added a note of gaiety and some present dispensed with shoes.

The occasion was the Women's Pea-Picking championship of Australia — a food-front effort — and it was held in pouring rain. There were 183 contestants and between them they gathered six tons of peas in two hours. Winner of the championship, with its £100 ($360) prize was Miss Thelma Batchelor. Her bag was 147 pounds.

Funeral of Late B'burg Resident

Late Ellen Jane Martin

Brownsburg — The death of Ellen Jane Martin, wife of Jas. A. Martin, of Brownsburg, occurred here Sunday evening, October 8. Mrs. Martin had been in poor health for some time, although able to carry on her usual home activities up until a couple of weeks ago. About four and a half years ago she, with her husband, came from Thurso, Que., to live in Brownsburg.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon to the United Church. Service was conducted by the minister, the Rev. S. J. Pike. Burial took place in the Brownsburg section of the cemetery in Lachute. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Leonard, Lemuel, Oliver and W. R. Wilson, John Martin and Walter Clausen. The many floral tributes bore testimony to the esteem in which the late Mrs. Martin was held.

The community extends deepest sympathy to her bereaved relatives.

Died at Bell Falls

Late Francis Leslie Provencal

Bell Falls — After a long illness the death of the late Francis Leslie Provencal, husband of Christina Desjardins, of Bell Falls, Township of Grenville, occurred September 21 at his late residence. For some years Mr. Provencal had been ailing, although he carried on his farm work until his son, Fred, took over about three years ago.

The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon, September 23, to the Harrington United Church, the Rev. S. J. Pike, of Brownsburg, officiating. Interment was made in the Shaw cemetery at Harrington.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Evariste Provencal, John Provencal, Alexander Bates, Evan Bates, Sr., George Page and Neil McLeod.

To the large connection of Mr. Provencal's family, the community extends heartfelt sympathy.

suggested that the Town should increase its boundary, survey and lay the necessary piping, and make these lots a reasonable price, as had been done in many other communities.

He also referred to advantages of the Federal Government Housing plan.

Another suggestion for Lachute was for better roads, with paving from sidewalk to sidewalk, so that they may be kept clean the year round.

The speaker stressed the fact that he was not criticizing past or present municipal leaders, but merely offering ideas for a better post-war Lachute. He pictured the obvious weakness of the lighting system of Lachute, and said that all power-poles should be pulled down, and wires placed underground, as in other progressive towns.

The need for a public gymnasium was also stressed, and this idea was applauded by the audience. He said that there was little attraction for the young folk of the community, and the grills, bars and restaurants are in the competition. He also suggested a year-round swimming pool as a requisite for better living, as well as a suitable sports ground. He remarked, this problem of recreation had been dealt with by the Dominion Government during the war; a $40,000 hall had been built in Brownsburg and run by experienced personnel.

He crushed the "financial critics" with the thought that all these improvements could be made all over Canada, with the equivalent outlay of the expense of fighting this war "for one day."

From recreational needs, Mr. Armstrong turned to educational conditions and the present overcrowding — and to hospitalization, specifying the lack of isolation quarters, the lack of sanatorium accommodation for the town's tubercular cases, and the need for a resident surgeon.

Concluding, the speaker said that all these suggestions could be carried out if public-spirited men and women of this town would unite to make Lachute a better place for the returning soldiers after the war, and he pleaded for everyone to invest their efforts and money in making Lachute a better "post-war town".

The speaker was thanked by the Fellowship convenor, Miss Mae Gordon, and by the president.

The meeting next week will be in charge of Mr. Allan Wilson and Mr. Rolland Maxwell, Citizenship convenors.

Organize United Church Bowling League

Members of the various societies of Lachute United Church met on Tuesday evening to select their officers for the coming carpet-bowling season.

Those elected were Allan Wilson, president, Miss Vivian Rick, secretary-treasurer, and Jack Gorman, games convenor. A social committee was appointed as follows — Mrs. Wm. Deacon, Mrs. Chas. Rapson and Mrs. I Jolley.

It was decided that another week would be given to the organizations to select their teams, and that a membership fee would be charged to all players.

Program Arranged For Anniversary of B'burg United Church

Brownsburg — The 103rd anniversary of the United Church in Brownsburg will take place next Sunday, October 15, when the Rev. Dr. R. G. Katsunoff, superintendent of the Church of All Nations in Montreal, will be guest preacher. Dr. Katsunoff will be accompanied by a group from his church who will render special music, with Mrs. Katsunoff as accompanist.

It is interesting to note that Dr. Katsunoff has edited two hymns in the United Church Hymnary, No. 303, "As Light, O Christ, Thou Cam'st to Earth", translated from the Russian, and 492, "Lovingly the Shepherd," a melody translated from the Ukranian. Dr. Katsunoff has gained a high place in the field of music. He and his group will also provide the entertainment on Saturday evening, next, October 14, in connection with the anniversary supper, to be held in the church hall from 5 to 7.30 p.m., under auspices of the Senior and Junior Auxiliaries.

In addition to the harvest decorations by the Young People's, for which committees were appointed at their meeting on Monday evening, there will also be a display of hand and needlecraft from the Church of All Nations

Christian Science

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 15.

The Golden Text is from I Thessalonians 5: 9, 10: "God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ, who died for us, that, whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with him."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christ, Truth, could conciliate no nature above his own, derived from the eternal Love. It was therefore Christ's purpose to reconcile man to God, not God to man. . . Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving man a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin, and death by the law of Spirit, — the law of divine Love." (pp. 18, 19).

Wedding Ceremony At Lost River

Lost River — A pretty wedding took place in the Presbyterian Church at 7 o'clock Saturday evening when Hazel Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dewar, and Douglas MacTavish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick MacTavish, of Harrington East, were united in matrimony, the Rev. S. J. Pike of Brownsburg afficiating. Miss Marjorie Dewar, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid while Mr. Gordon MacTavish, brother, ably supported the groom. The church was decorated for the occasion, and Mr. Walter Jackson officiated at the organ. The bride was given away by her father. Following the ceremony the party drove to Campbell's Hall, Bell Falls, where the reception was held.

You hold the mortgage You collect the interest

A Victory Bond is a mortgage on Canada . . . all of this country's resources guarantee payment of principal and interest. And money you lend to Canada, when you buy Victory Bonds, is the safest investment you can make.

You can borrow on Victory Bonds for seasonal farm requirements or any bank will pay cash for your bonds should you need cash at any time.

Money is a vital war weapon. Canada needs every dollar that every Canadian can save and lend . . . more than ever before. As the war increases in intensity, Canada's need for money increases, too. Our country's all-over borrowing needs are increased by over three hundred and twenty million dollars at this time. We must each be ready to lend again, and to lend more.

Thousands of small grains make a bushel of wheat. So with the money that Canada must borrow, from Canadians, to pay for the war: small sums loaned by individuals mount up to billions. Lend all you can . . . money you have saved and money you can save . . . but do not think that small loans are unimportant. Put your savings into mortgages on Canada—marketable mortgages. You will be doing a worthwhile war job . . . and you will get your money back . . . with interest.

Victory Bonds will provide cash for farm improvements you plan to make when the war ends . . . new buildings . . . new machinery . . . better stock . . . cash to pay on a new car or a new home.

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the first of a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get the full details save and read every advertisement.

For complete information write for the booklet "Back to Civil Life."

The Future After Discharge —
A MESSAGE TO RELATIVES OF THOSE IN THE ARMED FORCES

When your boys and your girls come home, when they lay aside the uniform, when they go out into the world as normal peace-loving Canadians, what lies ahead? Can they pick up their lives as civilians, where they laid them down, months or long years ago? Are there plans to help them do the things they wanted to do before the war? Will they have security? Can they continue education, or receive needed training? Will they be assisted in home owning, or to establish their own business, and will they be enabled to pick up their family life once again?

These are questions which concern all those Canadians who have loved ones in the services. They are questions which this series of advertisements is designed to answer.

OPPORTUNITY IS THE OBJECTIVE

Canada has been making plans for your boy's and your girl's return to civilian life since early in 1940. These plans are in effect and operating now. The aim is that every person who has served shall have opportunity. Thousands, already back in civilian life, have benefitted by training, by maintenance grants, by advice of departmental officials, and by the social security provisions. There is ample help for those men and women who want to help themselves.

ASSISTANCE ON DISCHARGE

When your boys and girls are discharged from the services, they will be given:

1. A clothing allowance of $100.00 (if discharged after August 1, 1944).
2. Their pay to date of discharge.
3. One month's additional pay, if they have 183 days' continuous service, as a rehabilitation grant.
4. A railway warrant home or to the place of enlistment.

Dependents will receive:

1. Their normal dependents' allowance to date of discharge, with assigned pay.
2. An additional month's dependents' allowance, with assigned pay, if there has been 183 days' continuous service.

Your boy or girl will be allowed to retain certain items of uniform. They will be given a complete medical and dental examination and will be eligible for free needed treatment for a year after discharge. Those discharged not physically fit, in need of continuing treatment and unable to work, will have their pay and allowances of rank continued for at least a year if necessary and, if the disability is pensionable, for as long as curative treatment is beneficial. All are interviewed by Veterans' Welfare Officers and told of the re-establishment programme.

WAR SERVICE GRATUITY

On discharge, those enlisted to serve outside Canada, or those who served in the Aleutian Islands, are eligible for a war service gratuity. It provides $7.50 for each thirty days' service in Canada and the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas or in the Aleutian Islands. For those with overseas service or with service in the Aleutian Islands, there is an additional seven days' pay and allowances for each six months of such service. Payments will be made at the end of each month in the months following discharge. Complete details of the war service gratuity will be given in a later advertisement.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT

In addition to the war service gratuity, there is a re-establishment credit of $7.50 for each thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas. This is for things such as the purchase or repair of a home, the buying of furniture, a business, or government life insurance, and for certain other purposes which will assist your boy or your girl in becoming re-established. This credit, which is reduced by grants given for training or education, or under the Veterans' Land Act, is primarily for those who do not wish assistance under these three plans.

RETURN TO FORMER JOBS

If your boy or girl held a civilian position before enlisting, and was not engaged to replace somebody already in the forces, and if the position still exists, and your boy or girl is capable of filling it, it is the employer's duty, under the law of Canada, to reinstate him or her in that position with seniority. Application for reinstatement must be made to the former employer within three months of discharge from the forces or from hospital.

Veterans' Welfare Officers are stationed in key centres throughout Canada. They are the friends of Ex-Service men and women. It is their duty to advise and assist all Ex-Service personnel with their re-establishment problems. If there is anything about the Rehabilitation programme which you do not understand, consult your nearest Veterans' Welfare Officer.

TRAINING AND EDUCATION

The surest way to permanent employment—the thing your boy or girl will want—is a skill to get and to hold a job. Canada's plans give opportunity to acquire needed skill either at university or in preparation for a business or industrial career. Fees are paid by the state, along with living allowances, while training or continuing education.

WHILE ILL OR UNEMPLOYED

There is protection against illness or unemployment by maintenance allowances which can be drawn against in the first eighteen months after discharge. There is also protection under the Unemployment Insurance Act for those who enter insured employment and remain in it fifteen weeks.

HOME OWNING AND FARMING

There is provision to assist city and other workers to have homes of their own, either on small acreages of land outside the high taxation area, or in town, under the National Housing Act. Full-time farmers can be given financial assistance in full-time farming, while commercial fishermen may secure financial help in getting their own homes, on small acreages of land, and in buying needed fishing equipment.

FREE TREATMENT

In the year following discharge, service men and women are eligible for free treatment, hospitalization and allowances for any condition, even if not the result of service. Pensioners are entitled to this for life for their pensioned disability.

THE POLICY ON PENSIONS

Canada's Pension Act is administered by an independent commission, all former members of the services. Any permanent disability suffered overseas, not a result of misconduct, is pensionable. Where service is in Canada only, the disability must be a result of service.

Published under the authority of Hon. Ian A. Mackenzie, Minister of

PENSIONS AND NATIONAL HEALTH

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

INSTINCT WAS RIGHT

Instinct tells us to do many things about our food that science finds to be right. Most of us want heartier meals when the weather is cold and we instinctively want fat meats and richer, sweeter desserts. Because of the varying degrees of heat the Air Force flies in, experiments have been made at the University of Illinois. Men lived in an ice-box for eight hours at a time. It was found that foods that had fats, and sugar and starches, helped to maintain the body temperatures, and reduced the effect of the cold. They found, too, that a small meal at two-hour intervals was better than eating one large meal in the middle of the interval. Most of us have found that a furnace heats a house more effectively if it is stoked with small amounts of fuel regularly, than with filling the furnace up all at once. It appears the body works like the furnace and gives more heat when stoked with smaller meals eaten more frequently. When winter comes and we feel like giving our families heartier foods it is nice to know we are doing the right thing to help keep them warm.

CHUCK IS CHEAPER

Meat costs are high and we are all looking for means to lower them. Do you ever use beef cut from the chuck? It is a well-flavored meat and can replace the more expensive round in many of its uses. Swiss steak is an old reliable, and it may be made from a chuck steak. The less tender cuts need to be braised, that is, they are first browned well to bring out the flavor, and then cooked for a long time, slowly, with liquid, to make them tender. The liquid may be water, tomato juice, canned consomme, or home-made soup stock. A chuck roast will make a good pot-roast. It needs to be tied into shape to make it more compact. Butchers are too busy these days to give us many of the services we have always expected, and many women are finding out they can do considerable in boning and tieing up meats for themselves. So many women buy round steak, and then have it ground to use in the various Hamburg recipes, but chuck steak makes a good meat and costs less. Meat is a good food, and we should study methods of reducing the cost without lessening the amount we eat.

HAMBURG TOAST

Toast bread on one sid only, then cover the untaosted side thickly with seasoned ground steak. Put in a hot oven until the meat is cooked. This makes an easily prepared, tasty supper dish for the cool days. One pound of meat will make from ten to twelve slices.

SPANISH RICE

2 Taplespoons butter or dripping, ½ cup chopped onion, 1 pint stewed or canned tomatoes, 2 green sweet peppers, (if available), 1 cup rice, 2 cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Melt the fat, add the onion and chopped peppers, and cook slowly until they are tender, but not browned. Add the tomatoes, water, and seasonings, and bring to the boiling point, stir in the rice and cook until the rice is tender, about thirty-five minutes.

Too Busy?

By Jessie Allen Brown

Sometimes these women who never have time to do anything make me terribly tired. They can't help with Red Cross work, or any of the various war activities. They never can entertain any of the Armed Forces. They are no help in any community doings — they are too busy. It is a queer thing the amount of time even the busiest person can find for the thing she wants to do. There is no one who cannot find time to help in some way or other. Perhaps the mother of small children has a real excuse, but many of them manage to do things in the evenings. In every community it is the few who bear the greatest burden, and it is time some of the others bestirred themselves and helped more. The busiest woman I know, according to her story, is one whose family is all away and there is just herself and her husband. She has shut up a large part of her house, and uses only those rooms completely necessary. She is absolutely worked to death and never has time to help with anything. Her chief subject of conversation is how busy she is. When women talk so much about how busy they are I wonder if they feel guilty and are trying to justify themselves. There is no doubt there are women who are too busy to take on anything else, but these are not the women I mean, for they are already doing a great deal.

British Women's Inst. Played Important Part in Invasion

The National Federation of Women's Institutes played an important role during the early days of the invasion, in organizing and packing the preparation for transport of 375,000,000 spares for every kind of equipment from radios to tanks. This work was done in odd hours here and there, in homes, barns, village shops and halls, thus making a vital contribution to the work of getting ready for the attack on the enemy strongholds

The regular work of canning, making jam and collecting the materials to be stored for winter needs was not neglected. The harvest crops were also salvaged by these willing workers, whose efforts met with approval from the Controller of Ordnance Services and other officials.

Sure, we're winning — but let's make it a cinch, eh? Buy More Victory Bonds.

HERE A CWAC, THERE A CWAC

Reunited

It was a dramatic day in the life of 2/Lieut. Therese Vanier, C.W.A.C., of Montreal, when she was posted from England to Paris. Not only was she one of the first C.W.A.C. officers to enter the French capital, but the posting brought a reunion with her father, and a return to the city she was forced to flee when the Germans marched in, in 1940. She is the daughter of Major-General George P. Vanier, Canadian Ambassador-Designate to the French Provisional Government. After her escape from France in a cattle boat, Lieut. Vanier enlisted in the Mechanized Transport Corps, a British voluntary organization, and worked with the Fighting French. In June, 1943, she transferred to the C.W.A.C. and served in London as a private and non-commissioned officer. She recently received her commission.

Army Pets

Latest fad in the Dominion of CWACdom is animals — the stuffed variety. A visit to a CWAC barracks in London, Ont., revealed many interesting and ornamental "pets" propped on the beds of the Army girls. For example, there was "Muddles", a slap-happy plush kitten flashily dressed in a blue and white striped sweater, blue trousers and a perky yellow bow under his chin. Next door was "Peachy", a canine species, made entirely of peach colored yarn with shoe-button eyes. Other pets include everything from cuddly teddy bears to naughty-looking pandas. Every morning after smoothing their top blankets to perfection for the critical eye of the orderly officer, the girls place their colorful pets on their bunks and dash off to work.

Paul Robeson

CWACs who formed part of the emergency stenographic squad on duty with the UNRRA Council Second Session put in an exciting — if slightly hectic — two weeks. Although their important duties kept them very busy, it wasn't all work and no play. Many are the treasured momentoes collected at the conference, highlight of which is the much prized autograph which several of the girls obtained from no less a personage than Paul Robeson. Robeson attended a reception, at which service personnel were guests, given by the Canadian Delegation for UNRRA delegates and staff.

Personality

Sgt. Jacqueline Dufresne, who hails from Three Rivers, is in charge of the CWAC Detachment stationed at St. Johns, Que. Member of the CWAC since August, 1942, Sgt. Dufresne cultivates literature as a hobby. Periodically, she edits "Khaki Kaleidoscope", a column in local newspapers telling all about activities of Army men and girls in the camp. Her literary bent, however, does not prevent her from indulging in athletics and belonging to the sporting teams of her unit.

Fire Prevention Starts at Home

These simple suggestions if followed by everyone in the family, will make your home safe from fire. . . .

Extinguish lighted matches and smokes before you throw them away. Keep matches where small children cannot reach them. Never smoke in the garage, barn or attic, nor in bed.

Remove rubbish, waste papers and unnecessary combustible materials from attic and basement. Provide metal ash and garbage cans. Burn rubbish only in a safely covered brick or metal incinerator. Watch the fire.

Examine stoves, furnaces, and smoke-pipes to make sure they are safe and well away from woodwork. Have needed repairs made at once.

Many fires are caused by dirty or defective chimneys. Have the chimney cleaned regularly, and have all defects repaired.

Keep no gasoline or inflammable liquids in the house. Do dry cleaning with safe liquids or send the work to the cleaners. Never start fires with kerosene.

Notify the electric company of electrical trouble. Replace "blown" fuses with new ones — not pennies. Avoid home-made wiring jobs.

Teach the family to be careful of fire, to watch stoves, fireplaces, electric irons and all other possible fire causes.

Inquire of your fire chief, when buying a fire extinguisher, to be sure of getting the right kind.

If telephoning an alarm to the fire department, be sure the address is clearly understood.

Explain to everyone in the house what to do in case of fire, how to put out fire in clothing by wrapping in a rug or blanket; what to do when grease catches fire in the kitchen, by smothering the fire with a metal lid.

Keep the principles of fire prevention always in mind and never take a chance with fire.

Health is the thing that makes you feel that now is the best time of the year.

London — In England and Wales there are now 1,500 wartime day nurseries where babies are cared for while their mothers are busy with various kinds of war work. The Ministry of Health has decided that no further nurseries are needed.

Allocations Set for Canvassing Districts in County's Loan Quota

Salesmen Named for Various Communities, Vice-Chairmen for Payroll Savings

On Monday the Seventh Victory Loan Campaign will officially open. From East to West thousands of Victory Loan salesmen will be busy for three weeks calling from door to door. Employees in industry will all be canvassed by thousands of volunteer War Finance workers. All branches of the Chartered Banks, Trust and Loan Companies will be busy selling Seventh Victory Loan bonds. All Canada will be bond conscious.

Objectives for the canvassing districts of Argenteuil have been set as follows:

Lachute	$325.000
Brownsburg	155,000
Calumet	90,000
Grenville	80,000
St. Andrews East	65,000
Morin Heights	45,000
Arundel	26,000
Weir	20,000
Huberdeau	19,000
Unallocated	25,000
	$850,000
Special Names	420,000
	$1,270,000

The following have been appointed official Victory Loan salesmen for the territories indicated:

Huberdeau — E. F. Brosseau, J. A. McLaughlin, J. P. St. Georges.
Arundel — S. K. MacArthur.
Weir — Edward M. Shippel.
Morin Heights—Chas. D. Campbell.
Avoca — Mrs. Allan MacPhee.
Harrington — Dougald MacTavish.
Calumet — M. R. Robinson.
Grenville — Gilbert E. Arnold.
Cushing — John Innes.
St. Philippe — Fred H. Renaud, Rolland Rinfret.
Brownsburg — John Connelly, John Duncan, John Mason, C. E. Prosser, A. B. Stewart, J. S. Thompson.
Dalesville — J. Arthur Campbell.
St. Jerusalem — Arthur Pollock.
Lachute — Mac E. Walker, Alex Guenette, Harry Scott, Fernand Legault, Maurice Paquin, Arnold Scott, J. R. Charron, Lionel Rozon, J. Angus Taylor, Real Urbain.
[illegible]kefield — A. O. Kerr.
St. Andrews East — Wm. Entwistle, Ernest W. Rodger.

Appointments announced by Victory Loan headquarters during the week include Chas. L. Duncan and Leopold Carriere, of Lachute, and O. A. Petersen, of Brownsburg, as vice-chairmen of the Payroll Savings Committee for the County.

The Victory Loan salesman's job is not an easy one. Each has a large territory to cover. Repeat calls only increase his work. You can help him a lot by being ready when he calls.

The need for money to successfully prosecute the war against Nazi oppression and Japanese barbarism is greater than ever. Finance Minister Ilsley's recent remarks indicate this all too clearly:

"The certainty and possible nearness of German defeat does not mean that we need less money now," said the minister, urging support of the minimum loan of $1,300,000,000 in the campaign starting October 23.

"Even if the European phase of the war should come to an end before next March, which is the end of the fiscal year, our total outlays will not be very much below the $6,000,000,000 level, nor borrowing needs very much below the $3,250,000,000 mark.

"We shall continue to require large sums of money for the Japanese stage of the war. The end of German hostilities will not reduce our war expenditures very much until after several months. We cannot stop the huge war machine and turn it in a new direction overnight."

'PEEPING TOM' ANTICS REPORTED

Earlier this year a number of householders were alarmed by miscreants who practiced the "Peeping Tom" pastime for want of a more wholesome occupation. One arrest was made and there were no further complaints. However, evidence points to another recent outbreak of this habit.

Though the intruders are usually harmless, more to be pitied than punished, it is recommended that complaints of this nature be reported immediately to the police so that the nuisance may be checked.

Chaplin, Sask. (CP) — School teachers took the day off from lessons to help battle a prairie fire which destroyed 20 to 25 acres of crops on the farm of a district farmer.

Permit Granted For Erection of Fuel Oil Tanks

Work will shortly start on the installation of the storage plant of the McColl Frontenac Oil Company on their newly acquired property in the West End. The permit was granted at a special meeting of the council held in the town hall on Saturday evening, following an inspection of the site adjacent to Ayers Limited siding and at the corner of Charles Street West.

Granting of the permit proved a debated issue, and voting among the councillors stood at five to four in favor.

The McColl Frontenac distribution agency for this area is now in the hands of ARC Supply Limited.

Couple Feted on 35th Anniversary

At their home on Bethany Street last Wednesday evening, October 11, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Lafortune were honored by a gathering of numerous friends and relatives, on the occasion of their 35th wedding anniversary. Among visitors at the reception was the Rev. J. A. Piché, cousin of Mr. Lafortune, who had been assistant curé of Ste. Anastasie Parish at the time of their marriage.

Mrs. Lafortune was the former Miss Blanche Paquette. The couple have 16 children, including one son in Newfoundland serving with the Navy.

On this happy occasion Mr. and Mrs. Lafortune were presented with a purse of money from members of their family and other relatives.

Lachute Mills Boy Wounded in France

Pte. William Albert White was wounded last week in action with the Black Watch Regiment in France. According to a telegram sent to his mother, Mrs. Annie White, the young man is in hospital suffering from "slight bomb blast concussion"'. Son of Mrs. White, Lachute Mills, Pte. William White is only 20 years of age and has served two years overseas. He has two younger sisters and a brother at home. Before enlisting in the Army he attended school in Lachute and worked for a while with his late father in the plumbing business.

Verdicts Given at Criminal Assizes

With delays resulting from lengthy proceedings at the St. Jerome court, the schedule of trials in the Criminal Assizes has been set back several days at this stage. Four cases have been heard, with verdicts rendered in three of them.

In the case of the Crown vs. Victor Rose, of St. Jerome, charged with grievous assault, through the absence of a star witness now serving overseas the trial had to be postponed until next term.

Raymond Ethier, Ste. Therese, also charged with grievous assault stood trial on Wednesday, October 11, and was found guilty on the lesser count of "simple assault."

The case of the Crown vs. Willie Tessier, Oka, on a charge of entering with intent to commit criminal offence, was heard on October 12, the accused being acquitted.

Rene Laurin, of Lachute, charged with theft of a tarpaulin from J. L. E. Price Co. Ltd., stood trial on Monday and Tuesday, October 16 and 17, verdict being handed down yesterday noon; the accused was found guilty and remanded in custody for sentence on the 23rd inst.

The case of major interest to this countryside, the trial of Ernest Brunelle, Lost River, for manslaughter, was re-scheduled for Monday next, but now is postponed until the latter weeks of November. This delay is occasioned by two murder trials next week, at Sherbrooke and Joliette, which will command the attendance of all provincial homicide detectives and medical experts concerned with the Brunelle case.

Geo. H. Heon, Lachute attorney, is conducting the cases for the Crown, and in the instance of Brunelle, J. P. Lanctot will act as counsel for the defendant.

Willing Helpers In Distribution Of Ration Books

Tuesday and Wednesday were busy days in the local distribution centres for the new No. 5 Ration Books — at the Auditorium for town residents and at St. Julien Church for Lachute's west-enders. As on previous occasions, volunteers both men and women of the community, lent a hand to accomplish this considerable task. Similar scenes of activity were witnessed at Brownsburg, in the Social Club and the parish hall, and at convenient centres in other villages and districts of the county.

The assistance of volunteer helpers across the Dominion from coast to coast, is a patriotic gesture which has drawn official gratitude and commendation.

Following the last general distribution, Tom Reid, M.P. for New Westminster, stated in the House of Commons: "I rise to express my praise of the great number of citizens . . . the hundreds of men and women who have taken in charge the distribution of the ration books."

Later in the same debate Bruce McNiven, M.P. for Victoria, Ont., said: "I wish to add a word of appreciation . . . respecting the work which has been so well done by those who have volunteered to distribute ration books. This group of unselfish and untiring citizens is deserving of the highest commendation by the government and the people of Canada."

Kentville, N.S. (CP) — Annapolis Valley farmers who lost 175,000 barrels of apples in recent windstorms have received permission to send the windfalls to processing plants, under government contract. Previously processing of windfalls was forbidden.

Mill Superintendent Dies Suddenly at St. Andrews East

Late Robert B. Crosbie

St. Andrews E. — Robert B. Crosbie, 73, superintendent of St. Andrews East Woollen Mill, died suddenly at his work on Tuesday afternoon. Around the mill at 1.30 o'clock he was giving instructions to a crew of laborers, when he fell forward unconscious, and before arrival of the local physician, Dr. A. L'Allier, life was extinct. After inquiry by Dr. A. R. Cote of Brownsburg, district coroner, death was pronounced due to natural causes.

Mr. Crosbie had been in Toronto General Hospital two weeks previously under treatment for diabetes, and cerebral haemorrhage was believed the probable cause of his death.

Born in Jedborough, Scotland, Robert Crosbie had been manager of the woollen mill in St. Andrews for the past few years. He was an elder of the United Church. Surviving are his widow, in St. Andrews, and two daughters in Toronto.

The Rev. D. L. Gordon officiated at the funeral service this afternoon, at St. Andrews East United Church, and was assisted by the Rev. Dr. McMillan and the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. Following the funeral rites the remains were conveyed to Toronto for burial.

H.S. Pupils Donate To Corvette Fund

A substantial gift of $51.12 has been received for the H.M.C.S. "Lachute" comforts fund, from pupils of the High School. The amount is made up from the following collections:

Grade I $1.72, grade II $2.75, grade IIIa $2.90, grade IIIb .55, grade IV $3.20, grade V $1.68, grade VI $4.44, grade VII $4.35, grade VIII $3.30, grade IX $11.00, grade X $6.58, grade XI $7.65.

Grade IX raised their contribution in a novel manner, holding an apple sale during one of their recess periods. Each pupil donated toward the purchase of a basket of apples, which were re-sold to pupils of the school. In other grades the children donated cash which they had either earned or received as pocket money.

In addition, The Watchman acknowledges the following two contributions since last report of gifts to this fund:

James McGibbon, M.P.	$10
Ladies' Orange Lodge	$10
N. W. Boyd	$10
Lachute Women's Inst.	$105

Bridges to City Under Repair, Traffic Delayed

Although no inconvenience has been met by motorists en route to Montreal from these parts, the heavy traffic between the metropolis and the Laurentians last weekend encountered delays on account of two bridges being closed. The Ste. Rose bridge was closed for repairs allegedly without warning, which together with the Viau bridge over the Back River which has been closed for some time, caused a number of motorists to travel miles out of their way.

Waved on to David Bridge, Rosemere, from Ste. Rose, the motorists found Viau bridge blocked and had the choice of retracing their direction to the Cartierville crossing or of proceeding via Pie IX bridge in the east end.

The Ste. Rose bridge over the Mille Isles River, will be re-opened later this week, it is expected. Any further closures as well as reopening dates will be announced, the Public Works Minister, Hon. Romeo Laurin, stated.

'Thoughts Beside a Soldier's Grave' Fittingly Quoted at Memorial Service

A very large congregation at Lachute United Church paid tribute Sunday morning to one who had been a young member and familiar figure in the church, the late Cpl. Gerald Everett Riddell, killed in action on French soil August 24 last.

On every hand there was evidence of deep feeling occasioned by the death of this young soldier, who had intermingled perhaps more closely than others in the community and was regarded as a genial young neighbor.

The minister, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, quoted a newspaper despatch recounting the action in which Cpl. Riddell lost his life. The report read as follows: "A Montreal regiment, the 17th Duke of York's Hussars (7th Reconnaissance Regt.) led the extraordinary Canadian advance around Falaise and the Channel ports between August 23 and September 5 . . . The regiment cut the approaches to Calais and isolated its garrison. The regiment's whole advance was conducted with a dash and efficiency which will make the operation rank as a model of Canadian attacking tradition". In one of its phases, the despatch adds, the advance was so rapid that reconnaissance squadrons " were sometimes 30 or 40 miles ahead of the infantry brigade."

The minister read passages from the boy's letters home, giving glimpses of his fine moral character; also from a letter written by his Colonel and others well acquainted with him, paying sincere tribute to his quality as a soldier and a young Canadian.

Paragraphs from an article entitled "Thoughts Beside a Soldier's Grave", by Sholto Watt, war correspondent, were cited by the Rev. Rosborough . . .

"Now, an extraordinary victory occurs. But let us wait a minute and think. These few sentences that follow should be read aloud, aloud. But they should be read in a quietude, a stillness. This is what I report today.

"A war is very noisy and active. The quiet voices are not often heard. But just lately in a ravaged countryside where the battle has passed there came to me an experience that I must tell.

"There was a soldier's grave by the road. I bent to look at the name on the white cross — I do not know why — and stood waiting. And presently the silence of the battlefield seemed to give way to a multitude of whisperings. So strange, so strong, these whisperings, that I came to believe that the very airs of the sky and the echoes of many an abiding love, were telling me about the dead youth under the ground. This is the obituary of a Canadian soldier.

C.G.I.T. Groups Awarded Chevron

Members of the junior and senior groups of the Lachute C.G.I.T. were notified recently of their awards of certificates recognizing them as Chevron Groups.

This award is made for the year 1943-44, upon the fulfillment of a standard set by the Religious Education Council of the Province of Quebec. Leaders of the local group last year were Mrs. Audrey Robertson and Mrs. R. Percival.

Members of eleven other groups in the province are also entitled to wear the Chevron badge.

Visit from Officers H.M.C.S. "Lachute"

Capt. R. G. Hatrick and 1st Lieut. A. F. Armstrong, of the corvette H.M.C.S. "Lachute", paid a visit here on Sunday. They were afforded the opportunity of meeting a number of townfolk during their brief stay, and also toured the town before returning to their base at Quebec City.

"Thumbs Up" Revue En Route

Interest of Cattle-Men Evidenced In Gatherings of Breeder Clubs

Reports Presented at Annual Meetings of Ayrshire and Holstein Groups

Disregarding the social aspects — which are a wholesome attraction in gatherings which concern the rural countryside — two meetings of cattlemen in this area during the past week evidenced a keen interest in the progress and quality of stock. And, as a telling factor in the dairying industry upon which local agriculture thrives, this indication affirms beyond dispute that farmers of the district are paying close attention to business.

The meetings held were the annual assemblies of the Laurentian Ayrshire Breeders' Club, on Thursday, October 12, and of the Lachute Holstein Club on Monday evening last, both at McArthur's Hall, Lachute.

AYRSHIRE BREEDERS

The Ayrshire Club meeting was attended by the largest gathering since its inauguration in 1921. Under chairmanship of the president, Felix A. Hungerbuhler, the members heard a report of the year's work and finances, by W. E. Rodger, secretary-treasurer. Other business of the evening included the selection of a judge for Ayrshires at the 1945 Lachute Spring Fair. P. D. McArthur of Howick was named for this role, with R. O. Biggs of Dundas, Ont., as reserve. Officers of the club were also elected, as follows:

Hon. president, J. H. Black; president, F. A. Hungerbuhler; vice-president, Ross McAdam; secretary-treasurer, W. E. Rodger — with Erskine McOuat and Melville Smith completing the executive.

Directors: Theodore Murdoch, Gilbert Boyd, Gavin Walker, Wilfred Fournier.

Auditor: Alex Bothwell.

Frank Napier, of Ottawa, president of the parent association, brought greetings and congratulations from the central organization. He discussed the progress of the Ayrshire breed in Canada, and commended the advancement achieved in this particular section. He urged more extensive R.O.P. work among the members; and referring to the successful Red and White field day here, assured the organizers the same cordial support, next year, as the parent group had accorded in this event.

The evening's guest speaker was Dr. H. Barton, deputy minister of agriculture for the Dominion. Dr. Barton commented on the good crop production in this area, from observations made on his visits during the season, and commended the farmers on overcoming labor and transportation problems. He spoke of food production in its broader aspects; how agriculture had exerted such splendid effort, and the UNRRA was tackling export and distribution, to place these products where humanity most needed them. The speaker encouraged further production in poultry and an even greater expansion in farm output, showing how the war had stressed the values of nutrition and assured markets for the produce of agriculture.

J. A. Parenteau, of St. Jerome, chief agronome for this territory, and J. A. Tremblay, secretary of the North of Montreal Ayrshire Club, also addressed the gathering.

By way of entertainment Jack Fraser, Sr., of Lachute Road, gave a number of his ever-popular song selections, while an instrumental trio, Edgar Jackson, Shirley Stewart and Jean Hadley, provided music for a session of dancing.

Refreshments were provided by ladies of the St. Jerusalem-Bethany Women's Institute.

HOLSTEIN CLUB

At the annual meeting of Lachute District Holstein Club, held Monday evening, Simon Wilson occupied the chair as president, and the annual report was presented by F. W. Allmen, secretary.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, Simon Wilson; vice-president, W. H. Robert; secretary-treasurer, F. W. Allmen.

Directors: Jas. McKenzie, Douglas Clark, Lem Boa, Adam Meyers, Norman Boyd and Z. Plouffe.

Hermas Lajoie, provincial field man, addressed the meeting and stressed the importance of junior club work. He also brought before the club members a measure which is under discussion in Holstein clubs throughout Canada, to the effect that a male calf should not be registered unless from a dam which had graded good plus, or better. The club voted in favor of this new regulation.

Following the adjournment of the meeting the members, with their wives and friends, were addressed by A. V. Langton, director of national extension service for the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, who was introduced by the president. Mr. Langton brought greetings from the parent body, and spoke briefly of his tour through the nine provinces of Canada, which he has just completed. The speaker was thanked by Alex Bothwell.

Refreshments were served, after which a pleasant social hour was spent in singing and dancing; among the most appreciated features of the evening were humorous songs contributed by John Fraser, Sr., who is more than "four score years young".

Drain Canal at Grenv'l in Search For Missing Man

Draining of the canal at Grenville yesterday failed to reveal the body of a l'Orignal farmer, Napoleon Lanthier, 57, who is believed to have fallen in the Ottawa River and drowned.

Lanthier arrived in Grenville with his wagon Friday morning to sell vegetables. His team was discovered later tied up on the main street, where he had left the animals after completing his business. The farmer was last seen by a resident of the village, half an hour after midnight. A search, instituted by Provincial Traffic Officer Howard Jones next day, brought to light a pipe and 11 cents from the man's pocket, discovered near an unused wharf west of the village at the entrance to the canal. Dragging was carried on in the vicinity, but without result, and on Wednesday the canal was drained. The belief persists that the man went to sleep near the river bank and rolled into the water.

Pep-Talk, Dinner Held for Victory Loan Salesmen

A meeting of the Argenteuil County Victory Loan salesmen was held at the Lachute Golf Club yesterday.

The meeting was opened by W. H. Price, county organizer, who introduced Mr. Clement Tremblay, joint-chairmen of the Argenteuil unit. After Mr. Tremblay's opening remarks, Mr. Price turned over the meeting to H. N. Moreau, joint divisional organizer.

Throughout the morning salesmen received detailed instruction on sales methods from Messrs. Moreau and Price, and from specially prepared films.

Messrs. J. D. McTaggart and Roger Belanger, joint vice-chairmen of the Northwestern Region, spoke briefly and were followed by Jas. W. Gall, sales supervisor of the County.

The principal speaker was Lieut. Georges Marcil, R.C.N., who gave a very interesting talk on certain operations he was connected with while in the Royal Navy.

After adjournment, dinner was served to the more than 30 people present.

LUMBER SHED IN HAWKESBURY FIRE

Hawkesbury — A fire on Monday night destroyed the storage shed of E. D. Campbell Lumber Co., causing damages estimated at $25,000. High tension power lines were burned down, cutting off the town's electricity supply, and causing a shutdown in local industries.

GIRL 9, KILLED BY TAXI AT ST. JOVITE

St. Jovite — Nine-year-old Lise Dufour was killed by a taxi on Friday as she watched a pile of leaves her father was burning on the side of the highway leading to Mont Tremblant.

Det. Lucien Durocher and Traffic Officer Gustave Richer of Provincial Police said the accident occurred at 7.25 p.m., and that the youngster died less than three hours later at the home of Dr. Charles Beland. She died of multiple fractures. It was reported the girl, watching the fire started by her father, was hidden by smoke from the view of the car-driver, Maurice Prevost, of St. Jovite.

CURRENT FARM TOPICS

East Sent 6,470 Harvest Workers to Western Canada

Latest figures show that 6,470 eastern farm workers — an increase of almost 75 per cent over the number who took part in 1943 — travelled to the Prairie Provinces to help harvest the 1944 crops, according to Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor.

In 1943 about 3,700 men from Ontario took the harvest excursion west to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This year's increase was largely due to the fact that eastern crops were taken in earlier, thus permitting more farmers and farm wokers to go west. Further, the excursion was open to women and urban workers, and in addition to farmers from Western Quebec; farm workers in Eastern Quebec could not be spared from their home districts.

Since August 12, when the excursion was opened, a total of 5,448 harvesters were dispatched from Ontario; from Quebec 1,022 harvesters were supplied. Of the 6,470 total, 1,143 were intended for Manitoba, 3,624 for Saskatchewan and 1,703 for Alberta.

The 538 women who took the excursion were required to be experienced farm workers and in most cases they returned to their homes in the Prairie Provinces where they were required to remain for a period of at least six weeks. Ninety-two women from the Civil Service in Ottawa were supplied for prairie farm jobs.

Harvesters were allowed to go west only if their absence did not handicap farm work in their home districts. Further, quotas were set up for local offices in the recruiting of harvesters.

Sheep Sale at Ottawa

The Sheep Breeders' Association of the Ottawa Valley will hold its seventh sale of purebred rams and ewes at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Tuesday, October 24. More than 100 rams graded 3XA and 3X of the Oxford-Down, Shropshire, Hampshire, Leicester, South-Down, Cheviot, and Suffolk breeds will be on sale.

As the members of the association hail for one part from Western Quebec, and the other part, from Eastern Ontario, an interprovincial note is struck in view of its mixed membership.

Members expect the event to be at least as successful as last year, when 75 rams were sold on an average of $34.13 each.

SHORTSIGHTED FARMERS

All the farmer's difficulties are not due to world market conditions and industrial monopolies. Many of them spring from the farmer's own shortsightedness and unwillingness to co-operate with his neighbors. An example of this is in the tendency of many local farmers to try to short circuit the town market by peddling their produce on Fridays, the day before market day . . . Prerequisites of a sound agriculture are a willingness to grade and standardize, and to co-operate in marketing. —Cochrane (Ont.) Northland Post

"You may be in the right, and I in the wrong," said Oliver Cromwell, "but if we be divided . . . we shall both be in the wrong."

Automatic Hen Not Yet Invented

Mechanization is said to be so complete on some poultry farms that the collection and packing of eggs has become the principal item of labor cost. There are automatic waterers, feed carriers, mass adjustment of ventilation, deep litter, manure pits, all useful in their proper place. But there is a potential snag in the fact that the modern trend to mechanization monopolizes much of the poultryman's time, with the result that he is forced to spend less time with his flock.

Mechanization cannot supplant the art of poultry husbandry. It cannot replace the seeing eye, the feeling hand, the need of daily contact with the birds themselves as the means of judging and correcting the comportment of any flock. The maximum efficiency in production depends upon a happy combination of the art of poultry husbandry which calls for the greatest amount of time to be spent in personal attention to the flock together with the adventitious aid of mechanization as the means of greater efficiency and reduction of costs.

All farm animals need personal care. Tractors may have replaced horses, but no one as yet has invented the automatic hen, so that mechanization should not replace the personal observation to keep the flock in good condition, healthy and contented.

Maple Syrup Crop Most Valuable in Years

Stated in terms of maple syrup, the 1944 maple crop is estimated at 3,090,400 gallons, an increase of 790,600 gallons or 34.3 percent over the 1943 crop. The 1944 crop consisted of 2,869,600 gallons of maple syrup and 2,207,700 pounds of farm-made maple sugar, compared with a production in 1943 of 2,058,200 gallons, and 2,146,000 pounds respectively. The total production in 1944 also exceeds the ten-year average of 2,600,000 gallons by 18.9 per cent.

Supplies were inadequate to meet the heavy demand and the bulk of the crop sold rapidly at ceiling prices for all grades. There was a definite tendency this year for growers to produce syrup at the expense of the sugar crop, the make of syrup showing an increase of 39 per cent over 1943 while sugar production declined 9 per cent.

The total farm value of the combined production of maple syrup and maple sugar is estimated at $9,055,300; the 1943 crop was valued at $5,750,300. The output in Quebec (1944) was $7,335,000 — and in 1943, $4,198,900.

War Prisoners' Gardens

The inspection of prisoner of war gardens in Canada, grown from seed forwarded by the German Red Cross, has been completed at six internment camps by the Plant Protection Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture. No evidence of introduced pests was found and the plants grown from the seed in question appeared healthy and well attended. Camp commanders, interpreters, and Nazi prisoners co-operated with inspectors in facilitating the examination of the garden plots.

'Thoughts Beside A Soldier's Grave'

"He was born in a neighborhood. His childhood was formed by the boys and girls, his neighbors, by his father and mother who loved him, and by other parents who forgave him his high-spirited unruliness because there was no harm in him. He smiled very easily then, and to the end of his life he had a terrifying energy in his play and his experiments and his sports. . . .

"He went to war very young. He had only stumbling phrases to explain himself. He had to go. He wasn't going to miss it. Everybody else was going. But his people sensed the compulsion. He felt the response of young strength to a challenge. The unfolding of a great adventure. The very deep and inexpressible instinct of a man to-fight for his own. For the boy was beginning to be a man.

"In the Army he learned many things. Some of these were the sweetness of companionship in work and in hardship . . . . the meaning of tiredness, the chafe of rough cloth on the skin, the instant reaction to command . . . .

"He saw London and England. He walked along Piccadilly and Regent street and the Strand . . . He saw his first wounded and his first dead when he helped to clear a house hit by a bomb. In the countryside of irregular fields and winding lanes, in the misty air and the rain he was bored. At first he thought the villages were dull and the English odd. They spoke his language but they did not think his thoughts. It was some time before he discovered that they shared his feelings. At the moment of leaving England it came to him that he was leaving home for a second time.

"In France he lived in a few days as many men live in half a century. Danger heightened his perceptions and he had sudden moments of profound questioning. Man's life was too short, death too capricious, what did it mean? He felt the suffering of others in the intensity of his own. Why? He saw courageous daring from the least likely men. Was he brave himself?

"But there was not enough time for thinking. He laughed and grumbled. He ate and slept.

"He had his first taste of battle. Afterwards he was surprised at himself. He seemed to have kept his head. He had done his job and survived. In the midst of a boisterous babble he and his comrades agreed that it hadn't been so tough after all and tomorrow they were going to lick the pants off the Germans. That night they were shelled and mortared and he was very frightened.

"He became a soldier of the line. He did his duty and more because he was young and strong and because his inheritance was sound and he had been reared in love.

"He was killed very suddenly. He had borne himself well."

In his concluding phrases the Rev. Rosborough expressed the sincere sympathy of the congregation — intimating that, with the bereaved relatives, Lachute townfolk shared a genuine loss to the promising young citizenry of this community.

"In one closing word let me express the hope that we, who are still breathing the air of freedom and liberty, may be worthy of the tremendous sacrifices which so many of our best young men are now making on our behalf", said the minister.

Appropriate hymns were sung during the service, and a selection, "The City Four-Square", was rendered by Mr. J. S. Giles, tenor.

Boy Scouts of the Lachute Troop, of which Cpl. Gerald Riddell was a former member, appeared in uniform, and members of Legion Branch No. 70 also attended.

FARMERS & FARM WORKERS

IMPORTANT NEWS

Selective Service Rules Covering Pulpwood Cutting are the same as last year

Pulpwood cutting is still classified as an essential war industry. Selective Service Rules still permit you to keep your status as a farmer provided you already enjoy postponement under wartime laws.

The need for woods workers is as urgent as ever. If you can leave your farm during the winter without causing a reduction in farm production you are urged to take work in the bush.

By doing woods work you will be doing a job for Canada— and you will also increase your own income.

Companies are now signing up workers for this season.

To secure your job

Dangerous Guessing Contest

THE PROBABLE date when cease fire will sound in Europe is important to us because almost everyone in this country has a vital interest in the ending of hostilities. Given the approximate date, families of men overseas can begin to estimate the time which must elapse before they receive their loved ones back home again. Labor has an additional interest in the date, in planning for the transition period overlapping war production and the new production of peacetime goods. Business men, who must plot the future of their establishments with great care are especially keen to have some one give them an approximate date of the conclusion of hostilities in Europe.

Thus, when at various times Mr. Churchill, General Eisenhower, General Montgomery, Admiral Halsey and others have attempted to give the public an idea of the length of time it would take to finish up the military campaign, their words have been read avidly.

But in the wake of such statements there has been a wave of other predictions from ten thousand minor and less informed circles. Especially since "D" Day, almost every man in the street has been taking a guess at the date of "V" Day.

All of this might be harmless, were it not for the psychological effect that the contest has on people at large. For one thing, many are led into the belief that the war is almost over and that the time has come for some relaxation at home. Further, when the war keeps its furious pace for weeks after "V" Day dates previously predicted, the morale of many people is unsettled.

In these crucial days preceding the final knockout, Canadians at home may again take their cue from Canadians at the battle fronts. Over there none marks time, waiting for Germany to collapse. They are all on their toes, fighting as energetically as at any previous period of the war. Over here our duty seems just as clear-cut — a duty which calls us to work as hard as we have ever worked before, and to keep our production lines as vigorous as they have ever been before — through the purchase of Victory Loan bonds.

Nothing New

BRITAIN can claim that it had the first prefabricated housing, and in a big way. A well known commentator states that while America may be the best at present day production, Britain was first with the idea and its use when Henry VIII carried his prefabricated palace to France for his conference with Francis I. He took along 3,000 workmen to set up the palace, which was 128 feet high and composed of four quadrangles, each 312 by 318 feet. It was made of English wood, but covered with painted canvas to resemble encient masonry.

AT THE PRESENT time the majority of car owners are giving attention to rubber, and conservation is the keynote. Therefore a reasonable protest against the use of unscreened gravel is justified. It is in the interest of the highways department to keep as many cars on the road as possible.

— Melita (Man.) New Era.

Can't Count on George

BUSIEST MAN in Canada or any other country should be George, the mythical man whose popularity is responsible for the phrase "Let George do it." Trouble is, George doesn't exist, so a lot of important things never get done.

Most citizens have had to take quite a load off George's shoulders in recent years and do plenty of hustling on their own. When peace comes some of them will want to relax and turn things over once more to the mythical George.

When one man lets George do it, it can mean a personal disaster. When it's multiplied again and again, it can mean disaster on a national scale.

From the comforts of an armchair by the fire it's easy to say: "Politics are rotten" or "The kitchen tap needs fixing" and leave both of them to George. Sometimes it's necessary to call in a plumber to fix the tap, but if national affairs go awry they're not so easily rectified.

The nation is made up of many communities, and its strength depends upon their health, which in turn depends upon every resident. The armchair critic generally gets a gloomy satisfaction out of painting as black a picture as he can of affairs, and his gloom can be realized — unless he gets out of his chair once in a while to take over from George.

The smallest problem affecting the smallest community is actually a matter of national concern, for if neglected and multiplied it can assume great proportions. And George can't be counted on to check it.

Lack of initiative in this respect could be particularly serious in the post-war years, which will require the same sacrifices and careful thought that are being given to the war. Even talking things over intelligently with a neighbor is a step toward meeting these problems, which are certain to be too much for the unreliable George.

Idea !

REMOVAL of rationing restrictions on the use of tea and coffee will be welcomed by thousands of Canadian homes, but it is doubtful whether any benefit will accrue to the travelling public. Even before the war, when there was an unrationed supply of the raw materials, only a few of the better hotels and restaurants betrayed any knowledge of how to brew these beverages. Wartime restrictions have certainly not improved their average quality, but neither have they made it noticeably worse.

Experienced travellers in Canada usually order tea rather than coffee in a strange eating-place. The possible range in quality for a cup of tea seems to be from passable to bad, whereas with coffee the range is from bad to terrible. In the United States, coffee is the safer choice.

One would have more confidence in the visions of our post-war planners if, instead of drawing up detailed and elaborate schemes for handling every phase of Canadian life, they would set to work on the relatively simple project of improving the Canadian cuisine. Provincial and even Federal Ministries of Cooking might well be established, with the purpose of making Canadian meals, in both public and private dining-rooms, the best in the world.

UNIQUE ZOO FACED WITH FOOD PROBLEM

Bears and Deer Attracted by Food Given to Caged Animals in Colorado

Colorado Springs, Colo. (CP) — Cheyenne mountain's unique zoo, perched dizzily at the 7,000-foot point of the rugged slope, has a new claim for distinction — it is probably the only zoo in the United States with as many animals at liberty on the outside as it has restrained in pens of steel and concrete.

The situation is posing something of a problem for Superintendent George E. Manzer, who finds wartime feeding is becoming more serious every day.

By nightfall as many as 100 deer, an occasional black bear family, sometimes a mountain lion or wildcat are observed on the rocky slopes nearby. The animals are attracted by food distributed to their caged-in brethren. Coyotes are abundant.

Manzer, a student of hybrid development with wild animals, is now in the midst of some interesting experiments. He has mated a common garden variety of female dog with a male coyote. Already fully grown and completely oblivious of its progenitors is a brahma steer, whose sire was a purebred brahma, its mother an ordinary Texas longhorn cow.

In a pen nearby is a rugged specimen of Rocky Mountain ram whose sire was a Rocky Mountain sheep. His mother was a Wyoming range ewe.

Manzer's animals know him well and are friendly or vicious by natural instinct. Mabel, an eight-year-old orang-outang, will permit the superintendent inside her cage —providing he has a piece of gum. Hosephine, a 15-year-old baboon, will accept a cigaret from almost anyone, and will enjoy a smoke providing a kitchen match is furnished. She's never learned to handle the folder variety.

A long life may not be good enough, but a good life is long enough.

Hungary Capital Is Immense Nazi Arsenal

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Budapest — upon which Russia's Red Army is advancing — has served Germany as a distribution centre and an arsenal for the Nazi war machine.

Actually merged from four ancient towns — Buda, O-Buda, Pest and Kobanya — on a site once inhabited by the Romans, the capital of Hungary lies on both sides of the Danube at one of the few good approaches to that river across the hills. This is a city of culture and age, with shabby, yellow-plastered houses beside grandiose buildings, crowned by its citadel and 18th century royal palace.

With normal population of over a million, Budapest is the junction of 14 main railways, the hub of a new system of arterial highways and the site of strategic airports. The Nazis long have doubletracked freight to the southeast, adding to a bottleneck at rail crossings over the river.

Teaming industries here have turned out Messerschmitts, varied other war material, alcoholic products, shoes and textiles. Budapest, after Minneapolis, is reported to be the world's largest milling city. Bombings have considerably reduced production, however, and increased the city's acute housing shortage.

DOMINION'S THREE NEW DEPARTMENTS, POST-WAR SET-UP

Ottawa (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced the establishment of three new departments as part of the government's post-war administrative set-up.

A new department of reconstruction will be headed by Munitions Minister Howe who will retain his present portfolios. Pensions Minister Mackenzie will head the new veterans affairs department and Hon. Brooke Claxton, former parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, will be the Dominion's first minister of health and welfare.

The reconstruction department will operate for about four years after the war, but the other departments will be permanent.

UNRRA Shows Early Signs of Action; Enrols Personnel for Overseas Program

—JIM GREENBLAT, "A Weekly Editor Looks at Ottawa"

It is now a month since the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, known as "UNRRA", met in Montreal. During the 10-day Conference plans were clarified for extending aid to the war victims of Europe and the Far East. From now on you'll be hearing more about UNRRA for the keynote of that Conference was — action !

UNRRA is international. Members of 44 Allied and Associated Nations met less than a year ago at Atlantic City, N.J. to establish this humanitarian project. It is designed only to operate in the post-war period — but the scope of its emergency functions are great:

To provide food, clothing and shelter for the starving and homeless; to furnish welfare services for children, nursing and expectant mothers; to prevent the spread of epidemics; to restore to their homelands displaced persons (people who through race, religion, or activities on behalf of the Allies have been moved from their own countries); to help the liberated nations to re-establish their own voluntary and governmental services — these are but some of the tasks UNRRA has assumed.

Sounds fine — but — how's it financed? Well, each uninvaded member nation has pledged itself to contribute one per cent of its gross national income to UNRRA. Canada's contribution is $77,000,000. Of this amount 10% is paid in cash for administrative expenses and the other 90% in supplies and services. Already UNRRA has placed large orders for Canadian woollen garments, soap, fish, farm machinery, wheat — and now, as the practical work of relief is at hand, further orders will be received. Footwear, food, medical supplies, timber, cycles, trucks, tools — the wheels of our Canadian industry will be kept busy!

Where it is possible the liberated countries will pay in part or in whole for the help they receive — but whether the country can pay or not, whether it has its own resources and skilled people, UNRRA's assistance will do much to hasten rehabilitation.

Financial support and supplies are not the only demand that UNRRA makes on the Canadian people. Men and women of outstanding organizing ability and high qualifications are required for the administrative staff in Washington and for service overseas.

Recruiting of Canadian personnel for UNRRA is done through the offices of the Civil Service Commission, with the one exception of appointments to medical personnel which are made by the head office in Washington working through the medical associations. If you live in the East or West and would like to become associated with the UNRRA organization you can send an application to your district Civil Service Commission office.

At the moment UNRRA is looking for 100 to 125 Canadians, mainly for the overseas service. They want men and women, with university or professional training, ranging in age from 30 to 45 years; people with professional experience in welfare work, in the administration of camps, transportation and warehousing officers, rehabilitation specialists in industry and agriculture, and a few, in fact a very, very few, competent secretaries. There is no call for clerical staff. The staff now being organized will form the skeleton of the organization for — as UNRRA commences operating in the liberated territories — supplementary staff will be obtained from the nationals of the country. Therefore, languages, while an asset, are not a necessity since language requirements will largely be taken care of by those nationals who will swell the ranks of the UNRRA staff.

Since UNRRA will operate only in the transitory period it is not expected that the term of employment will be longer than one to two years. The salaries offered are considered quite adequate for the type of service desired, and while on field service overseas the employee will be paid a living and quarters allowance designed to cover the cost of extra living abroad. Provision is also made for medical care and for illness and accident insurance. There is a retirement fund, and the individual may purchase group insurance at a low rate.

Canada has already discharged her financial obligation to UNRRA — the supplies asked for are being provided — but there is still need of the services of these specially qualified men and women. On them, and their associates, will fall the responsibility for the success of this, the greatest venture in mutual aid and service to mankind the world has yet seen.

MULTIPLYING SAFETY

Barney Oldfield, dean of American race drivers, presents the formula for safe driving: When your speedometer goes to 50, think of 55 feet. That is how far the car will travel after you decide to stop, before your foot can touch the brake pedal. When the speedometer says 40, think of 44 feet; if 30, think of 33 feet, and so on. Experts call this the "reaction distance."

To find out how much room you need to stop safely at 40 or 50 miles an hour, Oldfield's formula multiplies the "reaction distance" by three. At 50 miles an hour, you would multiply 55 by three, and know that a distance of 165 feet would be necessary to stop the car.

Appearing in a recent Texas paper was this classified advertisement: "Five dollars reward for furnished house or apartment for officer's family. Have twin boys, age three, but will drown if you insist. Dial 6634."

Friend: "So now you and your son are carrying on the business together?"

Owner: "Not exactly, I run the business, and my son does the carrying on."

IN MEMORIAM

COWAN — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Frank Cowan, who passed away October 18, 1943. — Ever remembered by her two daughters and son.

"You left behind some broken hearts
That loved you most sincere,
We never did, nor ever will,
Forget you, Mother dear."

COWAN — In loving memory of Mrs. Frank Cowan, who passed away October 18, 1943. — Always remembered by her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Zimmer.

"If all the world was ours to give,
We would gladly give and more,
To see the face of one we loved
Come smiling through the door."

KETTYLE — In loving memory of a dear uncle, James Kettyle, who passed away October 20, 1943. — Ever remembered by Doris and Eddie.

"God saw the willing heart was tired,
The hill was hard to climb,
So He gently closed his weary eyes
And whispered 'Peace Be Thine'."

SCOTT — In loving memory of William Henry Scott, who passed away October 17, 1943. — Ever remembered by his wife and family.

"Beautiful memories are all that are left,
Of one whom we loved and will never forget."

The Printed Word

A newspaper is the history — for the period of its publication — of the world in which we live, and with which we are consequently more concerned than with those which have passed away and exist only in remembrance. John Newton said that he read the newspapers to see how God governed the world, and Parton was of the opinion that the newspaper press is the people's university. Half the readers of christendom read little else. The great Disraeli once wrote, "The press is not only free, it is powerful. That power is ours. It is the proudest that man can enjoy. It was not granted by monarchs; it was not gained for us by aristocracies; but it sprang from the people, and with an immortal instinct, it has always worked for the people."

Public men are schooled and educated by the newspaper, insofar as their public utterances are concerned, and the more highly placed and responsible the public man becomes the more careful he becomes in expressing the causes and policies he represents. So great has become the power of the press, and so important is it, that that power (which is really the voice of the people) should not be lessenen or curbed; that statesmen having recognized the possibility of public men being afraid to utter their opinions free and untrammeled, have enacted legislation to protect such statements from legal action rather than curb the right of the press to publish them. How often have we read of speakers inviting other speakers to repeat outside of the legislative chamber some statement which they made in the sanetity and protection of "the House". This privilege of protection for statements made in the public good extends to any representative elected to a position by the votes of the people. It is equally true of our local councillor as it is of Prime Minister Churchill, but in a different proportion, of course. The duty of the press is to convey to its readers, the general public — the electors of our representatives — the statements and findings of our elected representatives, be they councillors or premiers. The responsibility resting on public representatives is heightened by the knowledge that their actions and statements are subject to the right of the press to publish and comment upon them. This right is exercised on behalf of the people whose servant the press is, and whose capacity as a vehicle of expression serves the public weal without fear, favor or affection.

The publication of those statements and actions of our public men serve a dual purpose. They keep the general public informed of the work being done, the mistakes or commitments made, the advantages or benefits gained, or any other business enacted for which in the final analysis this same public must foot the bill. They also provide a brake against profligate, extravagant or unsound administration; against the possession by a clique of the work, or finances, or power, of that administration; or the use of that position as a sounding board to perpetuate their office or use it unduly to the detriment of the public interest . . . . Therefore it behooves public representatives to be careful that their actions are in the interest and for the good of the public whom they represent, and that their statements are true and in accordance with the facts.

Victory Loan

A meeting of the Victory Loan organization was held at the Social Club on Monday night, when arrangements were made to canvass the district as completely and efficiently as on former occasions. Brownsburg has always exceeded its objective, and the people take a pride in holding their record unbroken. This time more than ever, a determination exists to see it through. We feel we have done a good job so far and now is the time to improve upon it.

To Form Bugle Band

The local branch of the Legion is at present engaged in forming a bugle band. The Brownsburg Boys' Band has been a casualty of the war. So many of its members have left for service with the armed forces that, like Little Boy Blue, its instruments are covered with dust and its music is stilled and dead. With a bugle band no extensive training is required, and the training of sufficient members to form a band takes much less time and ability. Nevertheless a bugle band has an inspiration all its own; it is primarily a marching organization, and now that Victory is on the road home, we should prepare to give her a musical reception. Applications for membership or subscriptions should be handed to Mr. Arthur Robbins or any member of the Legion.

OBITUARY

Late Resident Was Master in Photo-Printing Craft

William Augustus Leggo died here on Monday, October 16, in his 86th year, at the residence of his niece, Mrs. O. Bruce. He was an old resident of Lachute, having spent much of his boyhood here.

Born March 19, 1859, he acquired his early education in Quebec City and Montreal. Later, the family moved to Lachute. As a boy, about the year 1875, he was clerk for a number of years in the store operated by Alfred Benn, later known as Mrs. Todd's store.

A little later he went to the United States, where he lived for the greater part of his life in Hartsdale and White Plains, N.Y. He worked there for his uncles, Leggo Brothers and Co., in photo gravure work. They were instrumental in bringing into being the daily illustrated newspapers, and for many years did work for the "Daily Graphic" of New York City, the first illustrated daily. Leggo Brothers developed the photo-lithographic process which revolutionized printing, former illustrations being made from wood-cuts. They also developed the half-tone process, making half-tone screens for commercial photography.

Upon the death of his uncles, Mr. Leggo inherited the business and carried on the traditions of the firm until about six years ago, when he retired from active business. For the past two and a half years he has been residing in Lachute. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. George Nugent.

Wed Saturday at Baptist Church

Hodgson - Titley

The marriage of Velda Florence Titley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Titley, of Lachute, to Harry Hodgson, son of Mr. H. Hodgson and the late Mrs. Hodgson, of Verdun, took place in Lachute Baptist Church Saturday afternoon, October 14, at four o'clock. The Rev. H. Charlton officiated. The wedding music was played by Mrs. C. Wheeler, of Brownsburg.

The church was decorated with autumn ferns and flowers, white bows marking the guest pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sisters, Miss Muriel Titley as bridesmaid and Miss Lillian Titley as maid-of-honor. Her little niece, Ruth Dixon, of Dalesville, was flower girl.

Mr. Bill Ellson, of Montreal, acted as best man. The ushers were Percy and Glenn Titley, brother and cousin of the bride, respectively.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white sheer crepe over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice and full skirt, with a floor-length veil held in place with a halo of roses. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses, her only ornament being a sterling silver heart-shaped brooch, a gift of the groom.

The maid-of-honor wore a floor-length gown of pink sheer, and the bridesmaid wore pink taffeta. Both wore pearls, gifts of the bride. They had shoulder-length veils held in place with carnations, and they also carried bouquets of carnations.

The flower-girl wore a floor-length dress of blue organdy. She carried a basket of mixed flowers and ferns, and wore a silver locket, a gift of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a dress of navy blue crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a supper was held at McArthur's Hall, Lachute.

Later the couple left for a trip to Ottawa and other points, the bride wearing a cocoa-brown coat with brown accessories over a blue wool dress.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. H. Hodgson, father of the groom, Mr. W. Ellson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hodgson and family, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Greenalgh and family, Mrs. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Evans and Mr. Gauthier, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. E. Jolinson, Mrs. K. Johnson, Mrs. C. Ring, of Cowansville.

Quiet Wedding At St. Simeon's

Wade - McFaul

The marriage of Miss Irene McFaul, younger daughter of Mr. Wm. R. McFaul and the late Mrs. McFaul, of Lachute Mills, to Cpl. W. G. Wade, R.C.A.F., Mont Joli, Que., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wade, of Lethbridge, Alberta, took place quietly Saturday afternoon at St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, the Rev. C. R. Lang officiating.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. John MacDonald, as matron-of-honor, and the best man was Mr. John MacDonald, of Richmond, Que.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of powder blue crepe with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses. The matron-of-honor wore a dress of old rose with navy accessories and yellow roses.

The bride and groom left on their honeymoon for Lethbridge, Alberta, and other western points.

Marriage at Avoca

Stringer - Young

The wedding of Violet May, daughter of Alex Young and of the late Mrs. Young, to James Sherwood Stringer, son of the late Richard Stringer and of Mrs. Stringer, all of Avoca, Que., took place at the bride's home Thursday afternoon, September 28, at 3 o'clock. The Rev. Wm. Rourke, of Montreal, a cousin of the bride, officiated. Miss Dora Trineer, of Calumet, a friend of the bride played the wedding music.

The bride wore a pretty blue dress with bracelet-length sleeves and a matching veil, and a corsage of carnations and maiden hair fern.

The maid of honor, Miss Eunice Young, a sister of the bride, wore a rose dress with black accessories and a corsage of carnations and maiden hair fern.

Mr. Douglas Patterson, of Lachute, was best man.

Following the ceremony, a buffet lunch was served and the happy couple left for a trip to Ottawa, Smith Falls and Toronto — the bride wearing a dark rust dress and brown tweed coat, with matching accessories.

The bride's gift from the groom was a yellow-gold lapel watch with bow knot. The couple received many beautiful and useful gifts from friends and relatives.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Anniversary Service of United Church Groups In Harrington District

The Campbell hall at Bell Falls was comfortably filled on Sunday afternoon for the central anniversary service of the Avoca, Harrington and Kilmar United charge.

The Rev. S. J. Pike, of Brownsburg, who conducted the devotions, gave a historical sketch of the work of the church and ministers connected therewith for the past one hundred years.

Mr. Pike was assisted in the service by a talented group from the Church of All Nations, Montreal, under direction of the Rev. Dr. R. G. Katsunoff, superintendent of the church, and Mrs. Katsunoff as accompanist. Dr. Katsunoff was also guest preacher for the occasion. Mr. C. J. Wheeler brought greetings from Brownsburg United Church and introduced Dr. Katsunoff and his group to the audience. Mrs. C. J. Wheeler presided at the piano.

Transportation facilities had been organized both from Avoca and Kilmar, and it was agreed this should be the beginning of other such gatherings, for which Mr Campbell has kindly offered his hall. The meeting on Sunday took on a distinct missionary character, and a liberal offering was taken.

Following the service the artists were graciously entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

The next service will be held in the hall on Sunday afternoon, October 29, when it is expected the Rev. D. N. Keith, a former pastor, will be the preacher, with other special features for the event.

"Canada Tomorrow" Is Guest Speaker's Topic At United Y.P.U.

The Rev. E. Orsborn Outlines Canada's Place in Future

The meeting of Lachute United Young People's Union held on Wednesday evening was under direction of the two new Citizenship convenors, Messrs. Allan Wilson and Roland Maxwell.

The scripture reading was given by Miss Doris Leroy and the prayer by Miss Glenys Bradford. An interesting current event was also read by Miss Mae Gordon. During the business period, it was decided that the Y.P.U. feature a miscellaneous table at the annual bazaar held by the church ladies in November.

A brief summary of the 15th annual convention of the Montreal-Ottawa Young People's Union, held last week-end at the St. Luke's Church, Westmount, was given by the president, and it was announced that the new presbytery president, Miss June Patterson, would like to attend a youth rally of the United Church here in the near future.

A gift that had been purchased for a sick friend was on display for members to see.

The guest speaker of the evening was the Rev. E. Orsborn, of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, and his address was entitled "Canada Tomorrow". After being introduced by Allan Wilson, the speaker said that he had chosen this topic as a follow-up on the address of Mr. Linton Armstrong given last week on "Post-War Lachute", and because it was Christian Citizenship Night at the Y.P.U.

Mr. Orsborn reviewed the changing world, comparing the present-day China, India, Japan, Russia and middle east countries with conditions of these lands 100 years ago. He said that it was a "contracting world", with a speeding up of travel, and communication by radio, and remarked that, a few years ago, people used to read Jules Verne's "Eighty Days Around the World" for amusement, little thinking that in a short span of time this would be more than realized.

The speaker then turned to the changes in the world, in economics, education and religion, and asked "would there ever be a universal religion, and if so, which kind?". He said there was more co-operation now in all lands than there had ever been before, and that Christian missionaries had helped tremendously in the elimination of "canibalism, child-marriage and black magic."

From the world outlook, Mr. Orsborn then turned to Canada. He asked, "What can Canada do?" Canada was unique from a geographical point of view, as it was the centre of the airways of the old Europe, Russia and the Americas, and even now, the City of Edmonton is planning a huge air terminal for the junction of the skies.

The speaker referred to the 150 years of unfortified boundary with the United States, and asserted this was an example to other lands, though he claimed that this peace had been threatened many times, and that the threat had been overcome by diplomacy.

Speaking from a social point of view, Mr. Orsborn felt that Canada had preserved the social and home life far better than our cousins to the south, where there were many evidences that the worship of the almighty dollar, gangster rule and bribing of justice had resulted in destruction of marriage and home stability to a great extent; but, he added, the States had suffered much for this folly, and it was hoped that Christians there would fight for a better world.

As for tomorrow, Mr. Orsborn claimed there was a great opportunity for Canadians to show an example to the many new Canadians who will flock to this land from Europe; that Christians should be on guard for their religion and preserve the Sabbath, and offer no compromise on these ideals, thus helping to build a great nation and make a positive contribution to the Kingdom of God.

The speaker was thanked by Allan Wilson and the president. The meeting next week will be directed by Convenors Vivian Rick and Norma McClenaghan, and the guest speaker will be the Rev. D. L. Gordon, of St. Andrews East, who will also bring slides to illustrate his topic.

Hold 103rd Anniversary At Brownsburg United

The 103rd anniversary of the Brownsburg United Church took place on Sunday. The Sunday service was prefaced by the Senior and Junior Ladies' Auxiliary supper Saturday evening, followed by a concert given by the Church of All Nations group under direction of the Rev. Dr. R. G. Katsunoff, of Montreal, with Mrs. Katsunoff as accompanist. The church was decorated for the occasion by the Young People's group, to which was added a display of exhibits from the Church of All Nations.

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Lachute United Church, conveyed the good wishes of his congregation on this occasion. Mr. Rosborough also introduced the Rev. Dr. Katsunoff to the assembly. Items on the program included a habitant recitation by Cedric Wheeler and a piano solo by Miss Olive Hunt, a visitor in Brownsburg — both of which drew warm applause.

Dr. Katsunoff was guest preacher at the Sunday morning service, which was conducted by the minister, Rev. S. J. Pike. The Church of All Nations quartet also mada a special contribution, and Dr. Katsunoff sang a solo.

'Thumbs-Up' Revue Coming Here to Boost Loan Drive

Argenteuil County Victory Loan committee announces the forthcoming visit of the "Thumbs Up" Revue, of Montreal, to appear at the Recreation Hall, Brownsburg, on Wednesday, October 25, at 7.30 p.m.

The Revue has played in this district previously on behalf of a Victory Loan, and many local residents will remember the sparkling two-hour variety show they presented at that time. The Recreation Hall will be crowded this year by those wishing to see the new edition of the Revue, which is presented in both French and English so that all may enjoy it.

Miss Eleanor Moore, daughter of well-known Ben Moore who hails from this district, is the talented and capable show directress, and Jack Shields is show manager. Bill Roberts is the bilingual master of ceremonies, and music is provided by Marion Velders and Len Jefferies on the piano, with Fred Hoffman at the drums. For further information, call Victory Loan Headquarters.

Refrigeration

The shortage of refrigerated space for storage and transport, together with the shortage of equipment, has demanded the use of emergency measures in the handling of food for shipment overseas, writes Dr. W. H. Cook of the National Research Council, in the current issue of C-I-L Oval. Coolers normally designed for maintaining temperatures in the region of the freezing point, have been used as freezers for providing lower temperatures. Ordinary unrefigerated cargo holds have been converted into refrigerated space to meet emergency requirements. This was made possible through the prewar development of low pressure, "safe" refrigerants requiring compressor equipment.

The War Service Gratuity and Re-establishment Credit—
OTHER ASSISTANCE AFTER DISCHARGE

The Canadian re-establishment program gives discharged members of the services assistance under a wide variety of measures during the period when they are deciding their future as civilians.

THE WAR SERVICE GRATUITY

This became law at the last session of Parliament, and provides, after discharge, monthly payments to those honorably discharged, who enlisted for service anywhere, and to those who saw service in the Aleutian Islands, for their period of service there. It provides a basic gratuity of $7.50 for each 30 days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each 30 days' service overseas. A supplementary gratuity of seven days' pay and allowances, with Canadian subsistence allowance, is paid for each six months' overseas service. Service in Greenland, Iceland, the Aleutian Islands and any other theatre of war is overseas service. Other places in the Western Hemisphere are not. Aircrew, flying outside the Canadian waters, or stationed outside Canada or the United States, and Naval personnel in sea-going ships of war are regarded as on overseas service.

Monthly payments not exceeding monthly pay and allowances last received will start after January 1, 1945, unless the Act is proclaimed earlier.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT

A re-establishment credit, equal to the basic gratuity shown above, and not including the supplementary one is available in the 10 years following discharge for constructive purposes such as purchase of a home, business, furniture or tools, or payment of premiums under Government life insurance. It can also be used for modernizing or repairing a home, for working capital of a business and other similar purposes. The re-establishment credit is reduced by any grants paid while training or continuing education, or by grants paid under the Veterans' Land Act. Training, education and Veterans' Land Act grants cannot be paid if the re-establishment credit is used, unless an adjustment is made.

AT DISCHARGE

At discharge every man and woman is advised of the re-establishment program, is given a complete medical and dental examination, and may receive free treatment for any condition shown by the examination, in the year following discharge. They are allowed to retain one uniform and certain other service clothing. All discharged since August 1, 1944, receive a $100 civilian clothing allowance and if they have 183 days'-service and receive an honorable discharge, a rehabilitation grant of 30 days' pay and one month's dependents allowance. They also receive a railway warrant to their home or place of enlistment.

AFTER DISCHARGE

Service personnel seeking employment apply through Employment and Selective Service, but in many offices they will find Veterans' Welfare Officers and other specially trained staff ready to assist them. Veterans who wish to return to their former civilian positions are entitled to reinstatement in that position, if the job still exists, if they are capable of filling it, and if application is made within three months of discharge. Under the law of Canada every ex-service man or woman with overseas service, or disability pensioners, receive preference in Civil Service appointments if qualified for the position for which they apply.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ADVISE AND ASSIST EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL, AND SHOULD BE CONSULTED ON ALL PROBLEMS.

Hints for Homebodies

MUSIC WHILE YOU WORK

The BBC has an industrial program which it sends to factories to entertain people as they work. It has just celebrated its fourth anniversary with the 3,615th program. There are 8,000 factories, employing 4,500,000 workers now listening to the music, over 1,000 of them have joined up this last year. It is so popular that employers are listing it as an inducement to workers. Music is used some in Canada in factories, but not nearly to the extent it is in England. Workers are not under the same strain and do not need it as much They get their full night's sleep for one thing. Living conditions, transportation and meals are not the problem here that they are in England. War teaches many things and the value of music is one of them.

PLAN YOUR LISTENING

When there are so many good radio programs available it is too bad not to make the most of them. So often the radio is turned on and just tuned in to the same station and we listen haphazardly. Look over the programs on the stations you get the best and take a pencil and paper and jot down the ones you would like to hear. Then you can consult your list and get what you want instead of forgetting about it until it is too late. Don't overlook the school broadcasts as some of them are very interesting — certainly the Maritime ones are. The talks for women in the afternoon is another feature worth listening to. You may not be interested in all of them, but some other woman may like the one you pass up. Down here they are on at five fifteen, but the time will be earlier as you go West.

NO TIME TO READ

Recently I wrote about the women who are too busy to help. The woman who is too busy to read is always with us. You know, she just loves reading but she never has time. Believe me, the woman who really loves to read will always find time for it. Not all the time she wants maybe, but she will read. Why can't they just admit they are not interested in reading and let it go at that? Perhaps it is because they know I write that so many of the non-readers tell me so frequently how much they love to read, but they simply cannot find time, and will I lend them a good book when they get time to come for it. They find time to go to the shows, make the rounds of the stores, visit their friends, and knit and do needlework. I can't find time to do these things very often, but I can find time to read. As I said before you find time to do the thing you want most. I am not quarreling with these women for not reading, but just for blaming their lack of time.

BROCCOLI

Broccoli is one of the vegetables which should be served more often. A half-cup of broccoli will give you almost a day's requirements of vitamin A and more than half the vitamin C, as well as some B1 and valuable minerals. To cook broccoli, tie it in a bunch and place stems down in about three inches of boiling water and cook from fifteen to thirty minutes, until the stems are tender. The double-boiler makes a convenient saucepan to use. Cook in the bottom of the boiler and turn the upper part over to act as a cover. Broccoli may be served with butter, lemon butter, or with cream sauce.

CHOCOLATE SPONGE CAKE

2 Egg yolks, 2 tablespoons cold water 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon corn starch, ½ cup pastry flour, ⅝ teaspoon of baking powder, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons cocoa, 2 egg whites.

Beat the egg yolks and water for three minutes. Add the vanilla and sugar and beat one minute more. Sift in the dry ingredients and mix well. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Fill buttered and floured muffin tins two-thirds full. Bake in a moderate oven of 325 degrees for about twenty minutes. When cool cut a circle from the top of each cake and fill with the following filling. Replace the cut-out circle.

CREAM FILLING

½ Cup cream, whipped, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 4 marshmallows.

Whip the cream and add the sugar gradually. Add the vanilla and fold in the marshmallows cut in small pieces.

SAVES NINE — LOSES BABY

Vancouver (CP) — When fire broke out in her basement suite, Mrs. T. Ryan ran to warn three families living in other parts of the house. Her alarm saved nine people from possible death, but when she returned to her own apartment, flames prevented the rescue of her 13-months-old baby.

Red Cross Girls Fairy Godmothers To Men in France

Hard-Working Hospital Aides Win Praise in Field; Serve Tea, Write Home for Wounded

By MARGARET ECKER, Canadian Press War Correspondent

With A Canadian General Hospital in France (CP) — There's a new kind of fairy godmother in France these days. She's usually a pretty young Canadian girl in khaki battledress with a red cross on her shoulder and though she doesn't appear in a golden carriage, she looks just as good to wounded Canadian soldiers in hospitals over here as if she did.

You have to see the members of the Canadian Red Cross Corps at work at Canadian General Hospitals in France to realize what good little soldiers and what useful people they are.

A few days after I arrived over here I heard the first good words about the Red Cross Corps. Major Mima Maclaren of Ottawa, matron of one Canadian General Hospital, stopped by my tent where I was pounding a typewriter one evening and said:

"I hope you're going to write about the Red Cross Corps. There are two or three girls with every general hospital and here in France they've really convinced us of their value.

"They do all the little things that should be done for wounded men just back from the front lines, important little things like handing out cups of tea, kindly chats, providing reading material and handicrafts, things that nurses couldn't have time to do."

A convoy of ambulances carrying battle shattered men was rolling into the field where the hospital stood. Waiting there, along with the stretcher bearers and the medical officers, were three girls in the same khaki as the nurses with Red Cros on their arms.

Write Home For Boys

As the wonded were being sorted, the girls went to work. Into the emergency tent behind the most seriously wounded went Mary Elizabeth Wright of St. Catharines to distribute cigarettes to the weary men as they waited their turn in the operation room.

Next door in the tent where the walking wounded were being interviewed by a medical officer officer, Dorothy Mudy, of Montreal, was putting steaming mugs of tea into the hands of the men.

In the tent wards, where other wounded were being put to bed, Catherine MacDonald of Sydney, B.C., was passing out more cups of tea and cigarettes.

One boy pulled at her arm as she passed his bed. His right arm was in a cast and so was his leg. "Will you write to my mom and tell her I'm okay," he pleaded.

"I certainly will," said Cathie. "I'll be back in a minute with my writing pad."

In the next few weeks, I saw a lot of these girls, and others like them. They were always busy, always cheerful. From early in the morning until late at night, they were rushing about the hospital.

"I'm kinda hoping they leave me at this hospital until I'm better—it's so pleasant here," said Pte. John Lucki, Hawarden, Sask. "I guess folks at home couldn't realize what it means to a fellow having a place like this," said Ernie Laliberte, Bures, Sask.

TO MAKE VICTORY SURE

At a reorganization meeting of Humbolt sub-unit saleswomen were appointed to canvass the town, making a house to house canvass. These women will call weekly at the same time, rain or shine, in order to make it convenient for householders to buy Victory Stamps. They hope to sell one stamp to each person every week.

Waffle Season

For breakfast or supper — a quickbread that's a year round favorite — waffles! The recipe says "serve six," but if hungry youngsters are around the table, we make no promises. The number of waffles a youngster can stow away is astounding. These corn flake waffles are extra good, so plan early for re-orders!

Cereal Waffles

3 Cups corn flakes, 2 eggs, separated, 1¾ cups milk, 1½ cups of sifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ cup melted shortening.

Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Beat egg yolks well; add milk. Sift flour, baking powder, salt, sugar together; add crumbs. Stir into liquid mixture and when partially mixed in, add shortening; stir only until combined. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on hot waffle iron until crisp and brown, about 7 minutes.

Yield: 7 waffles (6½ inches in diameter).

BEAUTY RECIPE FOR YOUR HANDS

By the Canadian Press

Now, when hands are doing wartime duties — in the kitchen, garden, canteen or factory — they need more care than ever to keep them beautiful.

A good lemon lotion can be made at home in a jiffy with ingredients that may be found in the medicine chest or can be purchased from the corner drugstore.

You can prepare the lotion by combining two parts fresh lemon juice, one part rubbing alcohol, one part glycerine, and perfume as desired.

It can be used on the elbows, too. If they are in bad condition, scrub them first with warm soapy water with a bit of pumice stone; then cut the lemon in half and place an elbow in each half for a few minutes each day.

W.I.'s Support Rural Electrification

The Women's Institutes of Manitoba are solidly behind the movement inaugurated by the Government of Monitoba for extending electric services into the rural areas of the province. Surveys are now being made in all parts of Manitoba, and Women's Institute members are giving valuable co-operation by attending the meetings, by getting others, men and women to attend, by completing the survey forms, and by giving assistance to others in completing these forms.

ESKIMO GIRLS EAT FIRST ICE CREAM

Three Visitors from Northland Wide-Eyed at Civilized Ways

Timmins, Ont. (CP) — Three shy Eskimo girls got their first taste of civilization a few days ago when they arrived here for hospital treatment. Coming all the way from Fort Albany, far-northern fur trading post on the shores of James Bay, they tasted their first ice cream sodas and experienced their first automobile ride before entering the hospital.

The girls — Allo Flore Edwards, 18, Annabella Gillis, 19, and Lotie Paulmarton, 24 — were brought here by train and boat by Rev. Paul Langlois, a Roman Catholic missionary.

They winced at their first taste of a soda and jumped at the glare of a newspaper photographer's flash bulbs. They gazed with amazement at people's clothes and bicycles.

Penicillin

World production of pure penicillin amounts to about nine pounds daily, or sufficient to treat 250,000 serious cases per month, according to Dr. Maurice Panisset, University of Montreal, in an article entitled "Scientific Lifesavers" which appears in the current issue of C-I-L Oval. For a relatively mild infection, one hundred thousand units of penicillin are needed; a severe case may require a million.

Dental Health

Metallic Fillings

Q. — I recently had two upper back molar teeth filled, yet when hot or cold food touches them, they hurt. I understood my dentist to say that the sensitiveness was due to the fact the fillings were very deep and that they were pressing on the nerve, but in a couple of months or so, they won't bother me. Is this true, or should I have those teeth taken out?

A. — Large metallic fillings in deep seated cavities usually act as good conductors of heat and cold. When first inserted, they may cause the teeth to ache momentarily when hot or cold foods are taken into the mouth. Nature usually overcomes this within a few weeks by depositing secondary dentin in the pulp chamber. The secondary dentin protects the pulp from the thermal shock. In all probability, the unpleasantness will soon cease and it will not be necessary to have the teeth removed. If it does not cease soon, your dentist will probably remove the fillings, place a cement base in the cavities and new fillings over the cement.

Activities in W.I. Pioneer Branch

October meeting of the Pioneer W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. G. Armstrong, Lachute Road, on Tuesday, the 3rd. There were 14 members and several visitors present. The roll-call was, "Read or recite four lines of poetry." After routine business was transacted, the president, Mrs. J. Drew, invited Mrs. J. P. Bradley, convenor of Education, to the chair.

Mrs. Bradley in a short address welcomed Mrs. Wilde, Miss Canning, Mrs. Dumouchel and Miss MacMahon, teachers in the St. Andrews East Consolidated School, and also introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. E. Orsborn, who gave an instructive address on the History of the Ideals of Education, dealing with many phases of education. Mrs. Drew thanked the speaker.

Among other guests present were Mrs. Orsborn, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bothwell, from Lachute. Mr. Bothwell gave a short talk. A social hour followed, with a quiz and music, including solos by Mr. J. Fraser. Refreshments were served, and a pleasant evening closed with the singing of the national anthem.

In September this branch sent chocolates to the boys overseas. A paper giving a resumé of W.I. work in the branch during the past 10 years was read by Mrs. J. Fraser, and articles on Penicillin read by Mrs. S. Rodger.

On September 21 a "500" party was held at the Fraser homestead on Lachute Road. Cards were played at 27 tables; the proceeds amounted to $37.50.

An illustrated lecture stressing immunization against diphtheria and describing handicrafts, etc., was held in Geneva Hall, under direction of Linton W. Armstrong, of the County Health Unit.

In August, $5 was donated to the blood donor clinic at Lachute, and several boxes were sent to Montreal for "Bundles for Britain". Also eight ditty bags are being filled.

When it comes to the pattern for a new world, we have to live it before we can give it.

We sit at home

We sit at home
where it's nice and safe while our young men face death hourly.
They fight with their blood, their lives, for every inch they gain
in occupied countries.
Not very fair, is it?

So how about squaring up the score a bit?
How about doing without and making do with what we have to back them with every last dollar.

Let's turn our savings into Victory Bonds today; then buy an extra bond and pay for it by instalments every pay day.
It's little enough to do—
as we sit at home!

CHINESE CWAC IS 59 INCHES TALL

Winnipeg (CP) — A tiny Chinese miss — 59 inches high — has come to Winnipeg and joined the C.W.A.C. Helen Hoe wants to be a soldier for Canada and "I'll do anything," she says.

Helen is the first Chinese girl in M.D. 10 to join the C.W.A.C. She'd like to be a waitress but the 18-year-old, 106-pound recruit won't sulk no matter what she's assigned to do.

She was born in Melita, Man., and took her Grade XI at Manitou, Man., where her father runs a restaurant. She likes to skate and dance and loves serving food. Her own favorite dish is pork chops.

One of a large family, Helen has three brothers and five sisters. Brother Grant Hoe is in his fourth year medicine at the University of Manitoba.

A Fifth Columnist

The woman who walked into one of Montreal's largest departmental stores the other day to exchange 12 sets of children's winter underwear which she had tucked under her arm, would have swooned if anyone had called her a fifth columnist. . . And she would have gone off into a tirade to tell of her work in Red Cross knitting, how she always saved her left-over fats and papers, how she kept sending cigarettes overseas to the soldiers, and so on. Nevertheless, the woman was a fifth columnist of one of the worst types — a hoarder! Enquiries brought to light the fact that the 12 suits of underwear which she wanted to exchange had been purchased last year.

At that time she had bought so many pairs that this particular dozen hadn't even been needed, and now they were too small, and she had the effrontery to come to the store and seek a larger size.

It was pointed out to her that while that dozen sets of underclothing lay idle on her shelves, other children had had to shiver from cold last winter because their mothers could not find underwear in the stores to buy for them.

Unaddressed Letter Finds Jungle G.I.

Mail Signed "Mother" Finds Son in South Pacific War Theatre

Somewhere in Dutch New Guinea (CP) — A V-Mail letter — addressed simply to "My dearest son," bearing no addressee's name and signed only "Mother" — was delivered in the jungles of Dutch New Guinea — and to the right soldier. But it took a bit of doing.

How the letter ever arrived at the Regimental Post Office is a mystery. But when it did it was sent to the Dixie Doodle, New Guinea Infantry Battalion publication, which boasts a circulation of 850 and whose editors began a search for the owner. Only clue was a barely legible "1324 44 Place, Birmingham 6" and the name "Claude" which appeared in the letter.

But the records failed to reveal anything. The editors were just about to give up when the name "Claude" clicked. They knew only one "Claude" — Claude Ryan. Looking up his service record they found the Birmingham address and the mystery was solved.

The letter from home was delivered to the soldier — and needless to say he was glad to get it.

Troop Show Entertains Audience At Loan Rally Staged in Brownsb'g

Ex-Service Personnel Join Speakers to Stress Theme and Need of Financing War

A successful Victory Loan rally was held last evening at the Recreation Hall in Brownsburg. With stirring addresses in the interests of the campaign, and a high standard of entertainment, the event was voted a notable success.

Georges H. Héon, joint-chairman of Public Relations, Argenteuil County Victory Loan Committee, presided at the meeting. He first introduced P/O Jean F. Ricette, D.F.C., who outlined several of his experiences to the gathering.

P/O Ricette was followed by Simon Latour, of Montreal, who gave a very fine speech on the reasons for buying Victory Bonds. He was followed by P/O Jean Aumont, guest speaker at a similar function in Brownsburg during the Sixth Victory Loan, who spoke briefly to the gathering.

The speakers were thanked by Jas. W. McGibbon,M.P.

This was estimated the largest public rally ever held in connection with the Victory Loan campaigns in this county. Over 1,200 people were present, and the enthusiastic attendance is a distinct credit to the organizers, and to Mr. O. A. Petersen and his personnel in the Brownsburg industry.

"Thumbs Up" Revue Proves Tip-Top Entertainment

The "Thumbs Up" Revue appeared at the Brownsburg Recreation Hall last night, in aid of Canada's Seventh Victory Loan. A large and enthusiastic crowd warmly received the Revue, which is Montreal's pioneer Troop Show, having started just after the outbreak of war in 1939.

The show opened with a snappy "Military Salute", showing off precision steps to advantage, and using unique ultra-violet lighting with fluorescent costumes. The "Jungle Drums" number caused considerable comment, being complete with grass skirts and primitive rhythms. One of the production numbers in salute to the Allied Nations followed, "Vive la France", and received a rousing ovation from the audience. This was a most colorful item, with a French mademoiselle, a matelot, and pretty chorines in brilliant red, white and blue costumes, designed to set them off to best advantage.

Other large and sparkling production numbers were "Tropicana", in tribute to our South American Allies, "At the Balalaika", in salute to Russia, and "Hands Across the Border" dedicated to the United States, to bring the show to a dazzling climax — introducing, as it did, Prime Minister Winston Churchill, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, along with "Miss Canada".

Among the featured artists were songstresses Marg Haley, Chris Galloway, Helen Lester, Denise Zakaib; along with "Marjorie and her Accordion", which captivated everyone, young and old; Dennis Keane, golden-voiced young tenor; Harry Moore with comic monologues, and specialty dancers Eileen Epstein and the Findlay Sisters.

Miss Eleanor Moore, directress of the Revue, deserves considerable credit, not only for the hard work she has done in training her young ladies in precision dancing, but also for the designing of the many lovely costumes seen in the Revue, and for the clever staging of the production numbers. Jack Shields, capable show manager, is a hard working man, as evidenced by the complicated equipment he handles for these shows, special lighting effects, sound systems, props, etc. He and his stage crew do an excellent job, which adds considerable to the smooth running performance of the "Thumbs Up" Revue.

The music was very enjoyable all through the program, and pianists Marion Velders and Len Jefferies well deserved the round of applause given them, along with Fred Hoffman on the drums, at the end of the program.

Bill Roberts was most adequate as a lively and likeable master of ceremonies, and his fluent use of both languages was greatly appreciated by the audience, as were his comedy bits.

The show ran for about two hours, and as one enthusiastic person said, "There's never a dull moment!"

It does not take much thought to realize the amount of time and effort which this patriotic group must give, all voluntarily, in order to produce the sparkling entertainment they displayed last evening.

London (CP) — Roman Catholic priests from churches in London and Nottingham exchanged parishes for a few weeks through an arrangement to give London priests a respite from flying bombs.

Sentence Given at St. Jerome Court

Sentence was given this morning in the case of Rene Laurin, Lachute, found guilty last week at St. Jerome on a charge of theft.

The charge concerned the theft of a tarpaulin several months ago from J. L. E. Price Co. Ltd.

The judge gave sentence of one year in jail. It is presumed, however, the verdict and sentence will be appealed — Mr. Laurin's attorneys, L. L. Legault, Lachute, having signified that intention at the trial.

Following the case against Laurin, heard on October 16 and 17, the court heard a similar charge against Ernest Poirier, Lachute, an alleged accomplice in the same offence. Poirier pleaded guilty. The accused is a member of the armed forces, and in veiw of his detention in jail pending trial, it was the recommendation of the Crown that he be released and return immediately to his unit. The court concurred in this suggestion.

The case against Ernest Brunelle, Lost River, charged with manslaughter, is set for the definite dates of November 28, 29 and 30.

Montreal Is Scene Of International Air Conference

By GUY GAGNON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec, Oct. 24 (CP) — Montreal City, once more, is the seat of an international conference, the parleys this time dealing with post-war air routes. The meeting, with representatives of eight countries in attendance will be followed by the united nations air conference in Chicago next week.

Delegations attending the week's meeting are the United Kingdom, South Africa, Southern Rhodesia, India, Australia, New Zealand and Newfoundland as well as Canada. Discussions are largely concerned with technical questions and all the work is being done in committees meeting in camera.

The British Commonwealth Aviation meeting opened Monday with an address of welcome by C. P. Edwards, Canadian deputy minister of transport, representing Munitions Minister Howe, under whose direction comes the civil aviation branch of the government of Canada.

Every step is being taken to emphasize the technical character of the discussions and to distinguish their purpose from those to come at Chicago. One of the main topics was reviewing the resolutions passed at the London meeting of October, 1943.

The London resolutions were never made public, but soon after, the Canadian government prepared and distributed its draft proposals for the creation of an international air transport authority, limited freedom of the air and allocation of international services and frequencies by the authorities.

The British government showed its willingness to accept the Canadian proposals as a basis for discussion but the United States representatives considered them too rigid. On the eve of the present meeting and the Chicago gathering, however, London published a white paper similar to the 1943 Commonwealth resolutions and almost identical in principle to the Canadian proposal.

It is not outlined in a draft agreement but represents the position the British delegation will take at Chicago.

This week's meeting in Montreal does not deal further with the matter of an international authority, but is concerned rather with deciding what air services can and should be established to connect parts of the empire within the framework of whatever international set-up is decided upon.

Listed Wounded

St. Andrews E. — Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bryson, of St. Andrews East, have received word from Ottawa that their son, Pte. Danny Bryson, who is serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Italy, was wounded in action on October 11, but remaining on duty with his unit.

Display of Weapons

In support of the Seventh Victory Loan campaign for this county, an interesting display of war weapons is on view in the east show-window of John McFaul & Son, Main Street. The exhibit includes landmines and infantry field pieces, Bren and Sten guns and hand grenades. There are also enlarged photographs of scenes from the battle-front.

The indicator board showing progress of Argenteuil communities is prominently placed near the post-office on Main Street. Each canvassing district is listed; the percentages in each case, and in the county aggregate, are being marked up as the campaign progresses. It is noted the columns provide for a substantial over-subscription — to the extent of 150% of the quotas.

Central Victory Loan Officials Encouraged

Reporting up to the closing hour Tuesday, a special communication from Ottawa central Victory Loan headquarters gave encouraging returns for the first two days' sales — $145,530,100, as compared with a two-day total of $131,276,000 at the outset of the previous loan.

Returned Veterans Address Meeting Of Lions Club

As guests of the Lions Club at their regular meeting on Tuesday evening were two returned veterans, Warrant Officer J. L. Turner and Pilot Officer Aumont, also Mr. W. H. Price, organizer of the Victory Loan campaign for this district. Lion Dr. W. F. FitzGerald, as president, called upon Mr. Price to introduce the returned men.

No prepared address was given, but rather a running commentary of impressions gained by experiences in the internment camps of Italy during Turner's detention as a prisoner of war from February, 1942, to September, 1943, and after his escape — how he had spent eight or nine months behind the lines with Partisans, finally getting through the German lines in May of 1944 and returning to England last June. . . . Pilot Officer Aumont stressed the value of "smokes" in maintaining the morale of the boys, and said that all cigarette butts were utilized and made over again into smokes.

Wounded over Holland, Aumont was forced to bail out of his plane, then taken prisoner he spent many months in hospital, where his left leg was amputated.

The speakers were thanked by Lion James W. McGibbon, M.P.

President FitzGerald announced a big Bingo, to be held in Lachute Auditorium, Friday, November 3, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the Lions Club cigarette fund.

F/O Doug Gordon in Attack on Enemy Rail Centre

R.C.A.F. Public Relations Release

With Advanced R.C.A.F. Airfield. — Happy Valley remains earth's closest approach to Inferno, according to Typhoon pilots of the R.C.A.F. Wildcat squadron, who recently attacked and cut a railway line near Wesel, in the Ruhr.

Said F/O Harry Upham, Minneapolis, Minn.: "Jerry obviously stations his best flak people in the Ruhr. I don't want to spend much of my time in that neighborhood. There were all kinds of smoke screens on the ground and we nearly ran into a balloon barrage.

The sortie was led by F/L Ross Reid, Toronto, while the C.O., S/L Jack Beirnes, Tofield, Alta., flew in the number three position.

Beirnes reported: "We dropped our bombs on the track, ahead of a train. We cut the line all right, stopped the train and strafed the cars and engine. . . Two of us went back over the line afterwards to check the damage. Ties were messed up and there was a big hole in the ground where our bombs had hit the track."

Another rail target took six "Beaver" squadron Typhoons, led by F/L Donald Jenvey, Ingersoll, Ont., to a junction at Winterswijk, northeast of Nijmegen.

"We went in over the town at a 45-degree angle, following the track," said F/O J.A.D. Gordon, of Lachute, Que. Luckily there was no flak. We came at this intersection in a low dive and cut both branches. On the way back we strafed box-cars and other stuff in the railway yards. It was pretty routine."

Paving Completed On B'burg Road

The new macadam surface on Lachute-Brownsburg highway, and continuing through the latter village one mile toward Dalesville, was completed yesterday by the contractors, H. J. O'Connell Ltd. Motorists using this route pronounce it an excellent highway, in notable contrast to the tortuous and rough-surfaced road which existed before reconstruction was undertaken. Gravelling and levelling of the shoulders still remains to be done before the work is completed.

Kilmar School Resumes Classes

Classes were resumed for Kilmar pupils on Wednesday last in a building which, when completed, will be a well appointed and modernly equipped three-room school. The former structure was destroyed by fire some time ago. Work is still progressing on the new building and, although studies have now been resumed, the official opening it is understood will be observed when the schoolhouse is finished. Kilmar school is under jurisdiction of the Grenville and Augmentation school board.

ARGENTEUIL GIVES ENCOURAGING RESPONSE IN FIRST THREE DAYS OF LOAN CAMPAIGN

Information from Victory Loan Headquarters here today showed that 10% of Argenteuil's $850,000 General Sales and Payroll Savings objective had been reached during the first three days of the campaign. This is the best start of any Victory Loan drive here.

Morin Heights is leading the individual canvassing districts, having attained 25% of its objective. Lachute is next, with 20%, and St. Andrews East third, with 7¼%.

The $85,000 sales to date are all actually from General Sales, since no Payroll Savings company had started to canvass. In this connection the local organization wishes to advise citizens of Argenteuil that two cups are to be presented at the conclusion of the campaign — the first to the Unit showing the greatest percentage increase in number of General Sales applications, and the second to the Unit with the greatest percentage increase in General Sales volume. Argenteuil had 1,428 General Sales applications during the Sixth Victory Loan, totalling $671,850; and it is hoped that these results will be greatly exceeded this time.

Due to the sudden death of his father, Mac. E. Walker of Lachute will not be able to continue as a salesman. He has been replaced by another well known local resident, Don MacRae.

During the week many local citizens were privileged to hear speeches from the armed forces returned from overseas. The Lions Club was addressed by P/O Jean Aumont, who was shot down over Holland. He was taken prisoner of war by the Germans, and lost a leg as a result of wounds. He was later returned to Canada as an exchange prisoner, and has not seen any member of his crew since he was shot down. They are still prisoners of war in Germany.

At the same meeting W/O T. L. Turner told of his experiences as a prisoner of war for 19 months in Italy. He finally escaped, and has been back in Canada for only two months.

Employees of Lachute Lumber Co. Ltd. and T. McOuat & Son Ltd. were addressed by P/O Jean F. Ricette, D.F.C. This young lad has been in Sicily, Africa, Yugoslavia, Egypt and many other countries. He was shot down three times, and each time was the only member of his crew to come out alive. For a while he fought with General Montgomery's 8th Army in the desert. His two wound stripes are mute testimony of his harrowing experiences. P/O Jean Aumont also addressed the employees of the two companies.

These are the boys who are fighting to preserve our way of living. They are among those who fortunately came back. It is up to all of us at home to prove to them, and to their buddies who are still over there, that we are backing them up to the utmost by our purchases of Victory Bonds.

—Invest in Victory, and this time buy one more Bond!

Vancouver (CP)—Rescuing young yachtsmen from English Bay has become a routine job for Frank Fraser, boat-house operator. Frank estimates his rescue list totals "somewhere around 200 persons" in the 18 years he has been running his boat-house.

J. Ernest Walker Well Known Citizen Suddenly Stricken

The death occurred suddenly on Sunday afternoon of J. Ernest Walker, well known farmer and business man of this community. Mr. Walker died at his home, just east of Lachute.

Born in Lachute, Mr. Walker was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gavin J. Walker. At the start of his business career he was associated with Greenshields Co'y, of Montreal, later being transferred to Winnipeg where he acted as their agent. Retiring in 1922, he returned to Lachute where he carried on an extensive insurance business and occupied the old homestead farm.

He was married in 1911 to Miss Gladys Raymond Lloyd, of Detroit, who predeceased him in 1933.

Two sons, Gavin L. and McOuat Ernest, together with two sisters, the Misses Margaret and Jessie Walker, and a granddaughter, Joan Walker, are left to mourn his passing.

Mr. Walker was a member of the Masonic and Oddfellows Orders. For eight years he was mayor of the Parish of St. Jerusalem, and also served as warden of the County of Argenteuil. He showed keen interest as a director of the Argenteuil Historical Society, and was active in the Lions Club, of which he was a charter member.

Numerous friends and relatives attended the funeral, held at his late residence Tuesday to pay final tribute to Mr. Walker. Officiating at the service were the Rev. E. Orsborn, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough and the Rev. Dr. MacMillan. Interment was made at Lachute Cemetery.

Honorary pall-bearers were — Messrs. J. M. Mackie, T. D. Watson, H. M. Gall, T. D. Graham, Dr. A. Rutherford, A. A. McOuat, Gavin Graham, Ernest McOuat, Howard McOuat, J. R. Charron, George Morin and Gordon McOuat.

Among those present from out-of town were — Mr. and Mrs. J. McO. Mackie Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McOuat, Mr. John Gilmour, Mr. T. D. Watson, Mr. Wm. Lamb and Miss Rosamond Lamb, Mr. Adamson, representing the North British and Mercantile Insurance Co., Mr. Belleau, Mrs. Keith Christie, Mrs. Jost, Mr. and Mrs. Clive Kerr, Mrs. Campbell Morris, Mrs. Ernest Mount, Mrs. Joseph Sanders, Mrs. Kenneth Forbes, Mr. Bert Barrow, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Graham, Mr. Gavin Graham, Mr. Melvin Graham, Miss Muriel Graham, Mr. C. J. Staniforth, Mr. P. Staniforth, Miss Cameron Hay, Mr. and Mrs. James Fish, Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lockwood, the Misses Ruby, Flossie and Jessie Goodfellow and others.

Immigration Topic by Speaker at County Women's Inst. Semi-Annual

All Argenteuil Branches Represented at Gathering Held Saturday in Lachute

The Argenteuil County Women's Institutes held their semi-annual convention at Lachute High School premises on Saturday, October 21, with a large attendance, every branch of the organization being represented.

The group hospitalization plan was fully discussed. Miss Fletcher, W.I. provincial demonstrator, led discussion on this topic. Each branch was asked to take the matter under consideration at their November meeting, and to take a vote. Seven provinces already have taken up this hospitalization plan.

Lachute Fair activities in the coming year also merited the attention of the gathering and decision was made on the various articles to be exhibited — a list of which will be submitted later for publication in The Watchman.

Miss Fletcher, who is resigning from her office in December, gave an interesting talk on her trip to Gaspe, where she visited W.I. branches, and she told of their enthusiasm in W.I. work.

Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, on behalf of the members, thanked Miss Fletcher for her address, and also for her valuable work in the past.

Discussion arose as to the manner in which branches would report their news, to cover entire county activities. It was decided to revert to the original procedure, branches reporting to the county publicity convenor, for The Watchman. Local convenors would report direct to Mrs. McCurdy for provincial news purposes.

Guest speaker at the convention was Mrs. Franco Consiglio, of Montreal, who gave an interesting talk on "The If and Must of Immigration".

Mrs. G. F. Kuhring, provincial board member, was also present and brought greetings from the Board.

Community singing was enjoyed by the ladies, led by Mrs. Angus Taylor and accompanied by Mrs. S. Campbell, pianist.

The assembly was closed with the singing of the national anthem, after which a social half-hour was enjoyed while refreshments were served.

The guest speaker, who is prominent both on the platform and on the radio, and is well known as a public-speaking coach, was introduced by Mrs. George McGibbon.

"There is room for many more people in Canada" — Mrs. Franco (Eileen E.) Consiglio told the gathering in her address. "But we must not only open up our land to these people, but our hearts as well," she added.

We should guard against smugness, she warned, and shun the idea that it's our land alone.

She reminded her listeners that in the past, to those who came to Canada, whether it was last year, last century or several hundreds of years ago, this land represented opportunity. Opportunity has different interpretations, she said. "It might have represented freedom from oppression, it might have answered the urge of the wanderlust, it might have presented financial advancement, freedom of religion and many individual interpretations of opportunity.

"Among the post-war problems occupying the minds of Canadians at the present time is the major one of immigration. Granted this step should not be taken until all members of the armed forces and those employed on the home front are rehabilitated into peacetime employment. However, this question will arise if the ambition is to turn Canada's great potentialities into realities. This transition will require the efforts of additional brains and brawn. Much discussion centres around which type of immigrant should be admitted."

It was the opinion of the speaker that immigrant groups should be encouraged to mingle more freely throughout the community and take part in its activities, working for a truer unity in the national life.

Briefly reviewing the example the past holds up to us, she felt that Canada will never have a united nation as long as people insist on using a prefix before the word Canadian. "We should all be Canadians on an equal footing with the same opportunity for advancement.

"One measure that would impress newcomers with the necessity of developing the habits and customs of the land would be the obligation to take out their citizenship papers and pledge allegiance to this country." Mrs. Consiglio concluded. "This procedure would make the rest of us conscious of the fact that these people now are our fellow countrymen and, if we are honest about our democratic prattlings, we will recognize that the first requirement of a democracy is that all of us are equal."

Thanks to the speaker for her highly interesting address were voiced by Mrs. George Armstrong, on behalf of the gathering.

Church Parade for School Cadets

In accordance with an order issued by the Director of Cadet Services for Canada, Sunday, October 29, has been proclaimed as a day on which all Royal Canadian Army Cadet Corps will attend church parade. The local High School Corps will, in keeping with this order, attend the morning service at the Lachute United Church.

The Cadet Service of Canada operates as an independent unit under Government supervision. The origin of Army Cadets was made possible many years ago through the generosity of Lord Strathcona, whose endowment fund makes the equipment and uniforms possible. The principal aim of the service is to help in the production and maintenance of health, in body and mind, through proper physical training. The Government acts as administrator of the Strathcona Trust funds, but the funds used are from the Trust and not government money.

METAL AUTO PLATES TO REAPPEAR IN 1945

Quebec—After one year's somewhat embarrassing experiment with plastic automobile license plates, Quebec will return for 1945 to metal plates, it is learned.

Plastic plates were adopted as a means of saving metal for the 1944 calendar year. The experiment was joyfully greeted by cows and horses throughout the province, which found plastic quite edible. The result was that many motorists found themselves with only half a plate, or no plate at all, and authorities were flooded with requests for new ones, for which no provision had been made. The result was a rash of cardboard and makeshift plates.

As with the plastic plates, only one, to be displayed at the rear of the car, will be used in 1945.

The warning against careless talk in wartime suggested a new method of teasing newlywed couples. On the back of a bridal car in addition to the usual boot, was hung a notice which read: "The result of careless talk."

GIRL KILLED, SIX INJURED IN AUTO CRASH, HAWKESB'Y

Hawkesbury — A 10-year-old girl was killed and six other persons were injured, two seriously, when the auto in which they were riding sideswiped another car and crashed into a tree on Highway 17, a quarter mile west of Hawkesbury, Sunday afternoon.

All seven victims, including Shirley Hurtubise, of Hull, Que., who died on the way to Notre Dame Hospital at Hawkesbury, were in the same auto.

The others hurt and taken to hospital were the driver, J. C. Hurtubise, 18, brother of the dead girl, who had a broken collar bone; his mother, Mrs. Romeo Hurtubise, 59, shock; his sister, Marie Paule, 22, both legs broken; another sister, Fabiana, 15, possible skull fracture; Mrs. Marie Armande Beaulne, 39, Hull, and her sister Rita Beaulne, 18, both suffering from shock.

Occupants of the other car, driven by Ovila Lajeunesse, Montreal, were unhurt.

According to Traffic Officer Geo. Nault, Hurtubise was driving west when his car sideswiped that of Lajeunesse, travelling in the opposite direction. Hurtubise's car then hurtled into the ditch and was wrecked when it struck a tree.

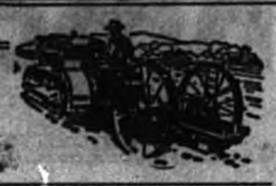

Coroner H. H. Kirby adjourned the inquest into the death of Shirley Hurtubise.

WEEK SEES BABY BOOM

Saint John, N.B. (CP) — More than 20 infants of St. Vincent's Orphans' Home were adopted following "Adopt-A-Baby" Week here. The Home Finding Association of the Knights of Columbus says more adoptions are needed to ease the wartime pressure on the Orphans' Home.

Seasonal

Farm Machinery In Winter Time

Overhauling of farm equipment before being laid aside for the season, and protection from the weather in late fall and winter, are important factors. The life of machinery is often shortened more by rust and exposure than by hard work. Extra care necessary in in finding some efficient means of protection against the weather will add years of usefulness, particularly if the machines are thoroughly cleaned before being stowed away.

Late fall and winter is the most convenient time to adjust and repair agricultural machinery, and much reconditioning can be done with the tools available on the farm. Repairs that cannot be done on the farm should be taken to the blacksmith or other repairman.

In overhauling machinery, all bearings, axles, and similar parts subject to wear should be taken apart and examined carefully. Parts not likely to work well for another season should be replaced, if possible. Other parts should be thoroughly cleaned, care being taken to see that the lubricating parts are working well. Parts that work in the ground, such as cultivator shovels and discs should be checked and those that are cracked or badly worn should be replaced. Other parts may require sharpening to ensure best results for the following season.

After the fall work has been completed, many farmers make a point of drawing up a list of the parts which should be replaced or repaired. Under present conditions it is wise to order the parts that can be ordered well in advance of actual need.

Farm Radio Forums Resumed on Monday

Commencing October 30, Canadian farming people will be tuning in all across the country on CBC's National Farm Radio Forum when the fall and winter series of the program gets underway.

The following topics are contained in this season's series: Land — Foundation of the Community; People — Builders of the Community, Education for Rural Living, Let's Talk About Marketing, The Community Broadens its View.

Study material sent to rural forums is especially prepared by the national office of Farm Radio Forum and is received by all members in advance of the broadcast.

For Quebec and Ontario, the programs will be carried at 8.30 p.m., E.D.T.

City Folks Bitter At French Farmers

Eindhoven, Holland (CP) — From Normandy to Holland bitterness toward farmers exists, and now that even the black market is being denied to hungry city people, their antagonism is greater than ever.

City dwellers say farmers were the only class to prosper during the Nazi occupation. They charge that although the Germans forced farmers to hand over much of their crops they paid good prices in occupation money. In Normandy under German encouragement at liberal prices, agricultural harvests increased more than 35 per cent over pre-war production, according to French government estimates.

An economics expert with the U.S. Embassy in Paris, says French records disclosed that in the earlier days of the occupation there was a great urban trek to rural areas every week-end to stock up on food supplies unavailable in Paris markets.

Ernest Morgan, former program director at Vancouver, has now established offices at Toronto as CBC supervisor of International exchange programs. Mr. Morgan will handle arrangements for all programs brought into or sent from Canada, with the exception of shortwave. Included under his jurisdiction are programs recorded for export and the advance planning for special broadcasts of international significance.

Births in Quebec Hit New Peak

During the first six months of 1944, the vitality of the Quebec population remained at a very favorable level. A summary of demographic statistics shows that during this time there were 49,084 living births, that is, a rate of 28.1 per thousand population. In 1943, the same preliminary calculations gave 47,288 births. On the same basis, over 98,000 births should be registered in the present year, a new increase over 1943. If the birth rate continues on this level the natural increase will show a rate close to 19.0 per thousand, which will constitute a record, since Quebec's population will have increased by 64,000 in a single year.

This natural increase is due not only to the greater number of births, but also to the decrease in the number of deaths. During the first six months of 1944, there were 17,377 deaths, a rate of 10 per thousand. Usually, the first half of the year shows a greater number of deaths, as a consequence of the winter months. Therefore, it may be expected total deaths for the whole year will be less than 35,000, in spite of the fact that a good proportion of deaths in our armed forces are now included in the regular reports.

AIRCRAFT HIS CHILDHOOD HOBBY, FORMER LACHUTE BOY DESIGNS PRIZE-WINNING PLANE

The satisfaction which few youths enjoy — of riding their hobby to a career and therein winning popular acclaim — has come to J. Claude Roby of Montreal. As a boy Claude attended Lachute Academy and awed his young schoolmates with a profound knowledge of aeronautics, aerodynamics and the intricacies of aircraft, which was his all-obsessing interest. While at school here, he conducted an aeronautics column in The Watchman, which many readers will recall.

Son of Melchior Roby, who was C.N.R. agent at Lachute before transferring to St. Jerome, Claude was undeterred by his parents' efforts to discourage his interest in flying. He wanted to fly, to observe the theories of structure and design in actual practice. . .

All that was but a few years ago. — Today Claude Roby is an aircraft designer, in charge of engine installation and design in the St. Laurent plant of Canadian Car Ltd., and a triumph in his advancement came last week, with a press announcement that he was the only Canadian to win one of the prizes offered by Popular Science Monthly in an international contest for light plane designs.

The young designer ranked seventh among amateur and professional plane enthusiasts from 48 states of the U.S. and 10 foreign countries, who submitted 3,345 designs in an effort to determine the taste of post-war personal aircraft owners as to appearance, size and performance of such aircraft. A total of $5,000 in U.S. war bonds was divided among the 40 winners by the Popular Science Monthly. The official judges included some of the most eminent and experienced aircraft engineers in the United States.

After leaving Lachute, his native town, Claude Roby studied at Parks Air College, East St. Louis, and at Spartan Aircraft School, Tulsa, Okla., U.S.A. Unable to secure a formal engineering degree at the time, he followed a curriculum of engineering study based on the conventional aeronautical engineering studies of American universities. Thus he is not a graduate engineer, but the combination of his own systematic study and the practical application he had been able to make in aircraft work has enabled him to design a prize-winning airplane.

Interested in aircraft from earliest childhood, Claude built his first model plane at the age of seven from butter boxes, and ever since, aircraft design has been his hobby. The prize-winning design has been worked over and thought over for many years and incorporates many novel features original with Mr. Roby. He had previously designed a light trainer plane, still on the draughting board.

The Cruisair, as Mr. Roby calls the prize-winning design, is a safe, practical, private plane that would cost approximately $2,000 to build, with a cruising speed of 116 miles per hour, a fuel consumption of 7 gallons per hour, a range of 500 miles, an absolute ceiling of 16,000 feet and a baggage capacity of 70 pounds. It is so designed as to require inspection checks and overhauls only at lengthy intervals.

Wood Treatment

It is probable that the sheer bulk of Canada wood used for war purposes in the past five years would exceed that of all other raw materials put together, says Douglas Walkington in the September issue of C-I-L Oval. The use of chemicals for the modification of wood is of fairly recent origin and the war has given it a great boost. Recent tests have shown that chromated zinc chloride gives excellent fire retardence, and wood for hangars and naval vessels has been so treated. It is to be expected that homes and public buildings of the future will contain greater qualities of fire retardent lumber.

OBITUARY

VANKLEEK CITIZEN DIES AT Pte. FORTUNE

Late Hugh A. MacLachlan

Pte. Fortune — Hugh Alexander MacLachlan, aged 81 years, a native of Vankleek Hill, Ont., of which community he was a highly esteemed citizen, died on Tuesday, October 17, at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Alex M. Barclay, Pointe Fortune, where he had resided for the past five and a half years.

He is survived by one son, Lyman, now serving with the American Air Force overseas, and two daughters — Catherine (Mrs. Geo. Barber), Ottawa, and Grace (Mrs. Alex M. Barclay), Pointe Fortune; also by a brother, William, of Montreal, and a sister, Mrs. Christina Nicholson, of Riceville.

The funeral service was held on Thursday afternoon, October 19, and was conducted at his late residence by the Rev. D. L. Gordon, pastor of St. Andrews East United Church, assisted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Lachute. Interment was made at the MacLachlan Cemetery, Vankleek Hill, with the Rev. E. E. Preston, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Vankleek Hill, officiating at the committal service.

Pall-bearers were R. J. Barclay, Pointe Fortune, Geo. Barton and Edwin Stephens, Vankleek Hill, and Norman Scanlon, Hudson.

THE SCHOOL'S INFLUENCE

Next to the home, the school wields the greatest influence in shaping the life of an individual . . . therefore, in a school it matters a whole lot who the teachers are and what they stand for. They need the understanding of the parents. And teachers should realize the great responsibility placed upon them through their high calling. — Altona (Man.) Echo

CANADA'S VETERANS Their Post-War Opportunities

Training and Education— Doorways to Opportunity

SOCIAL SECURITY MEASURES

In planning Canada's re-establishment program, its framers worked with one principal idea in mind. This was that the only answer to the problem of permanent re-establishment is a job, and that the surest way to get and hold that job is by the skill necessary for it.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Every ex-service man or woman who will be assisted in re-establishment by training is eligible to have it. There is provision for paying fees for all courses and, in addition, the ex-service man or woman may receive maintenance grants up to:

$80 monthly for a man and his wife, together with children's allowances.

This training is available for the period of service to a maximum of one year, but can be extended beyond that period, if necessary, and if service is more than one year.

EDUCATIONAL TRAINING

This is available to all who are admitted to university within 15 months of discharge and, as in vocational training, fees are paid and there are maintenance allowances up to:

$60 monthly for a single man;

$80 monthly for a man and his wife, together with allowances for dependent children.

These allowances will be continued on a month for month basis of the time in the services, providing all examinations are passed. Outstanding students may have assistance continued to completion of the course.

SOCIAL SECURITY MEASURES

Under the re-establishment program Canada's veterans who, within 18 months of discharge from the services, become ill or unemployed may draw maintenance allowances up to $50 if single and $70 for a man and his wife, together with children's allowances. The out-of-work benefits are for those fit and able to work, but for whom there is no work immediately available. In the case of serious illness there is free treatment and hospitalization for any condition in the year following discharge.

As a further security measure, every veteran who enters insurable employment is entitled, after 15 weeks in that employment, to unemployment insurance credit as though the whole period in the services since July 1, 1941, had been spent in the insurable employment.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ADVISE AND ASSIST EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL, AND SHOULD BE CONSULTED ON ALL PROBLEMS.

Issued under the authority of Hon. Ian A. Mackenzie, Minister of Encouraging Postscript

THE NEXT TIME you write to your fighting man or fighting woman tell him or her what you have done about the 7th Victory Loan. You can take the word of General Eisenhower that your man or woman in uniform will be deeply interested.

Your Victory Bond buying is a good tip-off to them about the state of affairs in your home. The headlines in this paper on the progress of the drive, the items about participating individuals, the character of the 7th Victory Loan special events — all these things reflect the morale back home.

Do you like to read a sorry headline about the fighting fronts? Our fighting forces, made up of individuals with the same reactions to good and bad as you, will not be heartened to read: "Seventh Victory Loan Lags."

Your silence in your letter about your part in the 7th Victory Loan will mean non-interest, perhaps non-participation to the recipients. It's up to you to make your letters cheerful. Write today. Write often. Write about your war work, your war support. Double your best previous Victory Bond buying record and then shout it to the housetops — just to that special service man.

For Simpler Living

IN REACTION against the speed of wartime living and the promised acceleration of the pace in post-war years, an increasing tendency to get away from the larger cities to a quieter life in the towns, villages and farms once the war is over is becoming apparent in many parts of Canada.

Property dealers report war workers are their best prospects for small holdings in rural or semi-rural areas where they may expect employment at trades and a chance to work a few acres of their own. Armed services rehabilitation officers say many city-raised returned men are eager to go into business in the towns. Just as war workers want to get away from war-filled cities, servicemen are seeking quiet rural living after years in the services.

Psychologists also say that, while the post-war world may be full of helicopters, teardrop motor cars and week-end trips to Europe, a good many Canadians who have been forced into some measure of similar living during the war have grown to appreciate it.

Wartime restrictions delaying radio repairs have provided many parents with an illustration of the benefit of a holiday from noise. Swing-bereft teen-agers have shown improvement in school work and found more time to help at home. When an opportunity to listen to the radio has presented itself they have shown a greater degree of discrimination. For those homes the days of radios blaring from breakfast until midnight are gone.

Parents who have found their children healthier without a car always at their disposal and happier in simple amusements at home are determined to retain in peacetime the more closely integrated family life wartime restrictions forced on them. Many believe they can best accomplish this away from large cities.

They know rural life is as convenient as city life today but even if this were not so, many would settle for fewer conveniences and more quiet life.

Nutrition An Important Science

IF ALL PERSONS were rational, nutritional education would be very simple. They would learn promptly and would act wisely after observing the ill effects of poor diet and the benefits to health brought about by eating the right kinds of foods.

But in this respect people have not always behaved as rational beings. Many have read about deficiency diseases and the rewards in health and welfare that fall to those who eat balanced meals. But they cannot be bothered to make the effort to break away from their old habits.

Some know the kinds of foods that the diet should contain and yet deliberately persist in eating what they prefer rather than selecting the nutritious foods they need, and finally end up with undermined health.

However, the entire human race is not irrational and stubborn in its food habits, and many are learning by experience and education to change their food habits. Even though most persons show strong resistance to new ideas, many have learned much about nutrition — proper eating habits — in recent years.

For instance, many housewives now know the meaning of food groups. They have learned that starches, fats and proteins are important constituents of daily diets, and know how to use them in cooking. They are well-informed about vitamins, what foods contain certain vitamins and other substances essential to the health of their children.

Also, they know there has been a revolution in kitchen practices. They have learned that fruits and vegetables should not be treated as relishes but as important components of the daily diet. They are conscious of the fact that milk is not merely baby food but should be included in everyone's diet.

It took scientists many years to discover and verify these simple facts, and gradually the world at large is absorbing this New Science which, if allowed full sway by all humans and their economics, would revolutionize a very big part of the art of living.

HOMES AND FAMILIES are the very backbone of our nation. It is in the home that love, goodwill, and the high aspirations of the future men and women of Canada find real birth and are nurtured to fulfilment. Few, if any, families actually attain that goal without mishap or misfortune along the ordinary road of life . . . However, it requires a courageous heart, a strong faith, and a brave character, to sustain the mothers and fathers who contribute the blood of their sons in order that this world will remain free and good — unadulterated by the forces of evil.

— Jarvis (Ont.) Record

EVERY ROUND of .303 ammunition fired from a Canadaian soldier's rifle or machine gun costs four cents. Every $100 Victory Bond you buy in the 7th Loan will provide 2,500 bullets to help finish the war sooner.

The chief post-war problem will be to keep living FOR our country and not ON it.

To solve the problem of disunity, subtract from what divides and add to what unites.

The Second Mile

F. P. Galbraith

F. P. Galbraith, publisher of the Red Deer Advocate and newly elected president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, has despatched the following message to all publishers of weekly newspapers in Canada as the Seventh Victory Loan campaign opens:—

"It is from the rural districts that Canada draws her strength. Again and again governments and businesses draw their leaders from the farms, the villages and the towns and in this war the farms, the villages and the towns have proved their quality. Now the Seventh Victory Loan faces us. Once more the boys overseas are asking for our financial support. This time it is more important than ever for us to give it. The enemy is reeling but not out. We need to put in that knock-out punch that will finish the fight. Buy more this time than you've ever done before, and help finish the job".

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

By Jim Greenblat

The kid from your own neighborhood is in it; the fellow from Sydney, N.S., from Almonte, Ont., from Red Deer, Alberta, also. On October 6th the first official history of this war appeared in bookstores. It's "The R.C.A.F. Overseas. The First Four Years." No fiction about this book: but the names and deeds of our country's flying heroes — the young lads to whom the British Isles, Europe and North Africa were yesterday no more than colored blotches on the map. Recording officers have been busy for a long time compiling the activities of R.C.A.F. units, and for absorbing, interesting reading this book is a "must".

Weekly Consumer Branch item: With rainy weather and colder days now, it is interesting to hear that the use of the new waterproof plastic sole has been extended to adults' shoes. At first "Visole" was confined to manufacture of kiddies' shoes. With so much leather going into boots for the armed forces, and with the heavy demands for every scrap of leather, manufacturers have found it difficult to meet the civilian footwear demands, so it is felt that visole will now help supply the needs. Shoes with the new plastic soles cost only a little more than those with ordinary leather soles and experiments show that they last longer. Material going into the manufacture of viscle is all-Canadian — limestone, coal, salt and water. That ought to recommend it!

Recent appointments to the Bench change the standing somewhat in the House of Commons. The Liberal membership, out of a total of 245 seats in the House, is 161. The Progressive Conservatives — 39; Co-operative Commonwealth Federation — 10; Social Credit — 10; Others — 14; vacancies — 11.

The 7th Victory Loan opened this week. The symbol of this Loan is a replica of the shoulder-sleeve insignia of the Supreme Headquarters Invasion Staff, and shows a flaming sword against a field of heraldic sable (black) representing justice bringing liberation over the darkness of Nazi oppression. At the top of the actual shield is a rainbow emblematic of a state of peace and tranquility, the restoration of which to the enslaved peoples is the objective of the United Nations.

Overseas, our boys are already over-subscribing their objective. That is the spirit which should be reflected here at home. Remember you are lending — not giving, so buy to the fullest extent of your ability.

Do you know that since the war began vegetable seed production in Canada has become a relatively important industry? Prior to 1939 most of the field root and vegetable seeds used in Canada were imported from European countries but when these countries were invaded and occupied by Germany home production became a necessity. With the assistance of the Department of Agriculture Canadian grown seeds are now even a higher quality than those grown previously in Europe and are produced in sufficient quantities to meet all domestic needs.

Speak Up!

(Saint John Telegraph Journal)

It would do a power of good and strengthen Canada's hand when it comes to writing peace terms if a substantial body of Canadians were openly to express their abhorrence of German and Japanese atrocities and then proceed to demand measures of punishment and thereby of prevention. It would be well if many Canadian organizations were to proclaim openly that they will support strong punitive measures and pledge that support to our official delegates at the right time.

We all deplore wrongdoing and a few of us raise our voices against it; but that is not sufficient, and the practical course is to encourage the authorities to put down evil with a firm hand, to promise public support of all measures directed to the punishment and suppression of evil-doers.

The great and the little have need of one another.

WATER BIG PROBLEM IN ITALY INVASION

Allied Engineers Performed Big Feats to Keep Troops and Civilians Supplied

Ottawa (CP) — When Canadians go to their distribution centres during the week of October 14-21, to get their No. 5 ration book, there will be one commodity which they won't find rationed — water. Canadians, in fact, would laugh at the idea, but when the Allied armies entered Italy, water was one of the first things which had to be rationed.

When the army first moved into Naples, the critical shortage of water was the most pressing problem of civilian welfare, according to reports submitted at the recent Montreal conference of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. Thirst had to be satisfied first. The army set up "water points", standpipes that were filled by tank trucks and tapped by faucets. Distilling machinery was set up to convert waters of the bay for drinking. Water was rationed to each person until repairs to the aqueduct and general reconstruction of the water power system made water available in normal quantities.

Food problems in Italy were also difficult for several reasons: grain shipments from the Po Valley in Northern Italy were blocked; the Italian food collecting and food distributing organization collapsed with the overthrow of the Fascist government; transportation facilities were destroyed by the retreating German army; and prices which were on the rise before Allied occupation, continued to rise and thus made certain food items unavailable to the lower income groups.

BIG SCHEMES AFOOT FOR THE HOLY LAND

River Jordan May Become Key To Huge Irrigation Project

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The River Jordan, famous ancient waterway, may become the key to a vast modern irrigation system to make the Holy Land of Palestine more fruitful.

Plans developed by the Commission of Palestine Surveys at the request of Dr. Chaim Weizman, president of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, call for a $200,000,000 project. The original proposal for the Jordan Valley Authority was made by Walter G. Lowdermilk, reclamation expert, assistant chief of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, and author of "Palestine, Land of Promise."

This projected large-scale irrigation and hydro-electric development will transform Palestine's agricultural and industrial economy, the commission believes. A multiple purpose project, it is expected to make room for large numbers of Jewish settlers, raise the level and living standards of the Palestine Arabs, and serve as a model for the whole Near East.

The program calls for diversion of water from the Jordan and other streams, utilization of run-off waters, and a further tapping of ground water by well boring.

The project also proposes replenishing the Dead Sea by diverting salt water from the Mediterranean into it to compensate for waters diverted from the Jordan. The sea water and power plants along the route would produce water power which would make up for the region's deficiency in coal.

Friday, October 27, is the 88th anniversary of the arrival at Toronto of the first through train from Montreal. It ran over the lines of the Grand Trunk Railway, now part of the Canadian National System.

Australia Planning Soldier Settlement

Canberra (CP) — The development of various regions of Australia, according to their own particular resources, will play a big part in Australia's plans for the settlement and rehabilitation of servicemen after the war.

At a conference of state premiers, which Prime Minister John Curtin opened in Canberra, it was proposed to set up regional advisory bodies to give the greatest possible benefit from local experience to federal government. Curtin pointed out that complete surveys of many important areas were still needed. Successful development would be a matter for the Commonwealth and state governments acting in close collaboration.

Three areas particularly important in regional planning would be the Murray River Valley, between the States of Victoria and New South Wales, north of Sydney, and the north of Australia, from Western Australia across the Barkly Tableland to the sea.

STRANGE SEA CREATURE

Vancouver (CP) — A sea elephant was shot by a gill netter near Pine Island recently. The creature, a member of the sea family, weighed 1,200 pounds. It is a stranger to the British Columbia waters, usually keeping to the deep sea of the South Pacific and Arctic.

JUVENILE VANDALISM

Toronto (CP) — Two five-year-old girls swept through Trinity Anglican Church on Thanksgiving Day, ripped down harvest decorations, smashed a communion set of Belgian glass, broke a bronze lecern and tore pages from hymn and prayer books. Damage was estimated at $300 but the youngsters were said to come from a large family who would not likely be able to reimburse the church.

OBITUARY

Lady Resident Dies in Chatham

Late Miss Mary Byrne

Cushing West — A well known and highly esteemed resident of this locality passed away recently, in the person of Miss Mary Byrne, whose death occurred Tuesday evening, October 17, at her home in St. Philippe. She had reached the allotted age of three score years and ten.

Born at Stonefield, the younger daughter of the late Patrick Byrne and his wife Mary McMeekin, pioneer residents of this district, she had inherited the keen sense of honor and wit of her Irish ancestors, and this together with her engaging personality, made her a pleasing companion whose company was sought by old and young. Endowed also with a talent for music, there are many among the younger members of the community who owe the beginning of their musical education to her careful tuition. Miss Byrne had been in poor health for some time and during the last few weeks her suffering was acute, but she never murmured; and fortified by the ministrations of her religion, and the consciousness of a Christian life well spent, she passed to her reward.

She is survived by a sister, Miss Margaret Byrne, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended. Another sister, the late Mrs. Joseph Robert, and a brother, Mr. Michael Byrne, predeceased her some years ago.

The funeral took place Friday morning from her late residence to the parish church of St. Philippe, where service was conducted by the Rev. Fr. Bazinet, and the Rev. Fr. Corbeil recited the prayers of committal. She was buried in the family lot in the adjoining cemetery. The bearers included her six nephews, Mr. Jas. Derouin with his sons Harold and Laurence Derouin, and Mr. Bernard McCart with his sons, Robert and Bernard McCart, Jr. There were a number of floral and spiritual offerings from the family and friends.

Bereavement to Centreville Family

Late Stewart B. Anthony

The death of Stewart B. Anthony occurred Wednesday, October 18, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Billingham, on Centreville Road.

Born at Harbour Grace, Newfoundland, the youngest son of Solomon Anthony and Julia Ash, the late Mr. Anthony was in his 69th year, and had been in failing health for two years prior to his death. He had served 48 years with the Canadian National Railways.

The funeral service was held at the D. A. Collins chapel in Montreal, conducted by the Rev. J. McVicar, of Chalmers United Church, Verdun. Interment was made at the Montreal Memorial Park.

Left to mourn his passing are his loving wife, the former Bessie Horwood; three daughters, Mrs. A. J. Billingham (Gladys), and A. Lemay (Ethel) in Lachute, and Mrs. Jack Rawson (Anne), of Toronto; three sons, Kenneth, of Westmount, Earl and Graham, of Verdun; and 15 grandchildren.

A man's work brings him more credit if he does not care who gets the credit.

C.P.R.'s 50th Marine Engine for Invasion Barge

FOR LANDING CRAFT: The 50th marine engine from the Canadian Pacific Railway's Angus Shops, Montreal, had just been lowered to a special flat car for delivery to a shipyard turning out powered landing craft when this picture was taken. It was completed on a one-a-week schedule for these 70-ton engines in the munitions department which also has produced tanks for Russia and highly specialized naval gunnery devices at Angus and naval guns at Ogden Shops, Calgary, under direction of H. B. Bowen, chief of motive power and rolling stock. Some of the earlier engines went into corvettes and frigates.

Nova Scotia Minister Receives Call to St. Andrews Pastorate

The Rev. D. L. Gordon to Bid Farewell at Services Next Sunday

St. Andrews East — At a well attended congregational meeting held in St. Andrews East United Church on Tuesday, October 17, with the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Lachute, interim chairman, presiding, a unanimous call was extended to the Rev. J. S. Nickerson, B.A., B.D., pastor of Trinity United Church, Mahone Bay, N.S., to become the minister of the pastoral charge of St. Andrews East, Pointe Fortune and St. David's.

The Rev. Mr. Nickerson is well known in the Maritime Provinces as an able and zealous clergyman. He is a veteran of the first great war, and has one son, who, because of distinguished service in the Battle of Italy, has been decorated with the Military Cross.

The Rev. D. L. Gordon, who has been pastor of St. Andrews East United Church since June 1, 1943, and who has accepted a call to be minister-in-charge of The Church of Our Lord, in Victoria, B.C., will conduct his final services at St. Andrews East and Pointe Fortune on Sunday next, October 29.

In the morning at 11 o'clock there will be the sermon and celebration of Holy Communion; in the afternoon at 2.30 o'clock a farewell service for the people of Pointe Fortune United Church. In the evening at 8 o'clock a farewell service will be held in the St. Andrews East United Church. On the latter occasion the Rev. Wm. MacMillan, D.D., of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. T. W. Ball, retired Anglican rector, will assist and members of the three church choirs will lead the praise. A cordial invitation to attend these services is extended to all.

Fall Thank-Offering, Lachute United W.M.S.

The fall thank-offering of the W.M.S. of Lachute United Church was held on Tuesday afternoon, with a large number of members and visitors present.

The president, Mrs. R. Bradford, was in the chair and welcomed the gathering, speaking on the theme of "Advance". The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. E. S. Morrison, and a solo, "Teach Me to Pray", was sung by Mrs. Chas. L. Duncan.

A most stirring address was given by Mrs. Johnstone, of Montreal, conference branch president, who took for her subject "Lamps" . . . "What have lamps meant in your life?" she asked — enumerating certain apt similes: "missionary lamps" in the South Seas, the Hebrides, Burma and China; the "lamp at the end of a long, dark tunnel"; the lamp which we may hold. ("Who holds the lamp? You and I"), and "worth-while lamps." . . . "They need, we give," said the speaker, because, " 'The lamp of God will be shing still, when the lamps of men go out'."

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the speaker by Mrs. John A. MacGibbon.

Afternoon tea was served at the close of the meeting.

Bible Society, Lachute Branch, Annual Meeting Next Sunday Evening

On Sunday evening, October 29, a joint service will be held in Lachute United Church, at 7 o'clock. The occasion is the annual meeting of the Lachute branch, British and Foreign Bible Society, and this great organization is again making its annual appeal for funds with which to carry on the good work of spreading the gospel. An illustrated address will be delivered by the Rev. A. A. Fulton, district secretary.

The Protestant congregations of Lachute will unite for this occasion.

Illustrated Lecture At United Church Young People's Union

The regular meeting of the Young People's Union of Lachute United Church was held Wednesday evening in the church hall. The program was under the convenorship of Miss Vivian Rick, and the guest speaker was the Rev. D. L. Gordon, of St. Andrews East.

It was annquced by the president that plans were complete for the Hallowe'en party for next Monday; a request was made that all those attending would "bring their own sugar". It was also mentioned that a request had been sent to the Ladies' Aid for permission to conduct a table at the annual bazaar.

"The Life of Christ" was the topic of the guest speaker, the Rev. D. L. Gordon, who had a very fine collection of colored slides to illustrate his address. The story commenced with the triumphant entry of Christ into Jerusalem, followed by his experiences in the Temple with the High Priests, his service to his disciples, the betrayal by Judas and the trial and crucifixion of Jesus. The theme then portrayed the resurrection of Christ and the glories of his ministry.

The speaker was introduced and thanked by the president, Jack F. Gorman, and the wish was expressed that Mr. Gordon would have happy and fruitful work in his new parish at Victoria. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough also expressed a hope that the speaker would enjoy his new ministry at the Coast.

There will be no meeting next Wednesday, but the following week the Christian Culture convenors, Miss Doris Leroy and Mrs. Jack Gorman, will be in charge of the program.

Interesting Speaker At Brownsb'g Y.P.U.

Brownsburg — The Y.P.U. meeting on Monday evening not only welcomed an influx of new members but also a special speaker, in the person of Mr. D. Atkins, B.A.

Mr. Atkins spoke on "Chemistry in Modern Uses". The speaker, who is a chemist with the C-I-L, gave a number of illustrations of meeting modern needs, as a war measure — such as synthetic rubber, quinine, magnesium, petroleum, nylon, dehydrated foods and treated woods.

Mr. Atkins' talk was both informative and interesting, and the Y.P.U. will look forward to a return visit.

The minister, the Rev. S. J. Pike, introduced Mr. Atkins, and he was thanked on behalf of the group by the president, T. (Junior) Carpenter.

Mobile Churches for Troops in Europe

London Eng. — Mobile churches mounted on big six-wheel motor trucks are in the European invasion area. They have been changed into small but very handsomely fitted places of worship, lined with polished oak. The altars are movable so that each vehicle can either accommodate a small congregation in itself or, with the altar moved to the open rear end, and the use of a microphone, be made the center of a very large open air service. The trucks carry poles and canvas to form penthouse extensions for the chaplain's use when camps are pitched. The chaplain can thus live in the field for weeks at a time, moving around from group to group.

Vows Solemnized In Ceremony at Suburban Church

Rodger - Flower

Bronze 'mums and autumn foliage with standards of lighted tapers decorated Fairmount - St. Giles United Church for the marriage of Grace Elizabeth (Betty), only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Flower, of Outremont, to Mr. George Montgomery Rodger, son of the late W. George Rodger and of Mrs. Rodger, of St. Andrews East, Que. The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the Rev. Ernest E. Long officiating. The wedding music was played by Miss Doris Killam, and during the signing of the register Miss Dorothy Flower, aunt of the bride, sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

Mr. Flower gave his daughter in marriage. She was attended by Mrs. James Patrick as matron of honor and by little Misses Jean and Carole Yale as flower girls. Mr. Ernest Rodger was best man for his brother, while Mr. Dawson Burwash and Mr. Howard Lalonde were ushers.

The bride wore a long-waisted gown of blush pink bridal satin, buttoning from neck to hem, with three-quarter length sleeves, and a slight train. Her tulle veil fell from a halo headdress and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink Fisher carnations.

The matron of honor wore a floor-length gold jersey frock made on classic lines, with sweetheart neck, and a Dutch cap headdress. She carried an arm bouquet of mauve pink 'mums. The flower girls were dressed alike in long frocks of robin's egg blue taffeta, buttoned to the waist, and having very full skirts. They carried Colonial bouquets.

Mrs. Flower, the bride's mother, wore a draped gown of black crepe, trimmed with lace, with matching accessories and a corsage of Better Times roses Mrs. Rodger, mother of the bridegroom, wore a light blue street-length dress, with black accessories, and a corsage spray of Johanna Hill roses.

The reception took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jeffrey, uncle and aunt of the bride, at Outremont, where pink and white 'mums formed the decorations. The newlywed couple left later for New York on their honeymoon, the bride wearing a two-piece dusty pink wool dress under a box tuxedo black coat trimmed with black lamb, with matching accessories and a corsage of Happy Day roses. The couple will make their home at St. Andrews East.

The bride is a graduate of Macdonald College School for Teachers.

Baines - LeCras

St. Paul's Church, Cote des Neiges, on Saturday afternoon was the scene of the marriage of Leading Wren Hazel Grace LeCras, W.R.C.N.S., daughter of the Rev. Winter C. and Mrs. LeCras, of Montreal, to Prob. Sub-Lieut. Gordon William Baines, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. P. Baines, also of Montreal. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride, former rector of St. Simeon's Church here, and Mr. G. Phillips presided at the organ. Mr. Harry Brown sang "The Lord's Prayer." The church was decorated with autumn flowers for the occasion.

Miss Ruth LeCras was her sister's only attendant. Mr. Cyril Baines was best man for his brother, and Mr. Jack Wyllie and Mr. Stanley Baines were ushers.

Mr. Frank Tozer gave the bride in marriage. She wore a floor-length gown of pale blue, silver shot chiffon velvet, with headdress to match and a shoulder-length veil, while she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white carnations.

The bridesmaid wore a floor-length dress of wine chiffon velvet made on the same lines as the bride's gown, with matching headdress and shoulder-length veil. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of yellow carnations.

Mrs. LeCras, the bride's mother, wore a street-length dress of orchid Stunzi crepe, with black accessories and a corsage of Pinocchio roses. Mrs. Baines, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue crepe dress with white accessories, and carried a bouquet of Better Times roses.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, at 4391 Piedmont Avenue, where autumn flowers decorated the rooms, Prob. Sub. Lieut. and Mrs. Baines left for a wedding trip to the Laurentians, the bride wearing her uniform.

"Never mind, Elmer, we're saving enough for an extra Victory Bond"
"Confound this old sink, anyhow!" complained Elmer. "Why don't we get a new one?"
"That would be nice," answered Elsie, the Borden Cow. "But we can get along with this one if you'll just be patient. Besides, we can use the money to buy a Victory Bond."
"I've already planned for our Victory Bond purchases," announced Elmer.
"Silly!" laughed Elsie. "We can always buy an extra one, can't we? In fact, now is the time when we should give our fighting forces greatest support!"
"But Mamma," said Beulah, "isn't the war nearly over?"
"Things do look bright," replied Elsie. "But we mustn't let down our effort on the home front one little bit!"

Prosecutions Under N.S.S. Regulations

Failure to comply with National Selective Service Civilian Regulations resulted in the prosecution of 121 persons during the month of September, according to A. MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service.

Fifty-three more charges were laid in September than in the previous month, with 31 conscientious objectors — all of whom were convicted — charged with failure to follow a direction to report to an alternative service work camp.

During the month 54 employees were convicted on charges which included quitting "designated" employment without Selective Service permissioin or failing to accept high priority work when referred by a Selective Service Officer. Employers were convicted in seven cases, most of the accused being charged with engaging workers without permits.

At October 1 a total of 364 cases were still pending — 17 being charges against employers, 211 against employees, and 136 against conscientious objectors.

Canadian Army Has Lowest Tb. Rate

The tuberculosis rate in the Canadian Army is lower by a considerable margin than in any other army anywhere, according to a report from National Defence headquarters. The army tuberculosis incidence is less than 20% that of the prevailing civilian rate. There are currently twice as many deaths from tuberculosis among Canadian civilians as there are tuberculosis cases among the Canadian soldiers. That's a challenge to civilians to fight tuberculosis, and remove this menace to the health of our soldiers as they come in contact with civilian carriers of the disease.

BURIED IN OATS

Brownsville, Ont. (CP) — An unusual accident occurred to J. E. Fenn when a mow of oats slipped sideways to the centre of the barn burying him, a team of horses and the wagon. He burrowed out to fresh air, and then helped cut a hole in the barn wall to free the horses.

YOUR Christmas Greeting Cards should be ordered NOW

LAST YEAR, the problem of securing suitable Christmas Cards proved difficult. . . . this year, with the paper supply at an all-time low, while the needs of war increase day by day, we are again faced with this problem and with the possibility that the condition may become even more critical.

At PRESENT, we have an attractive assortment of greeting cards for your inspection, BUT, we don't know how long this opportunity will last.

NOW IS THE TIME to see them . . . . call at THE LACHUTE WATCHMAN Office and choose your personal card and style of type that you like.

Before you blame your telephone... CHECK THIS DISTANCE

Engineers designed the mouthpiece of your telephone to give best results at one-quarter of an inch from the lips. When your lips are farther away than this, your voice is transmitted less strongly . . . less clearly.

Failure to remember these simple facts accounts for the great majority of "trouble" reports.

Help avoid needless service check-ups, and at the same time let those you talk to hear you without strain. Just remember: Talk clearly, normally, directly into the telephone, with your lips just one-quarter of an inch from the mouthpiece.

Our Native Resource Existing Wings to Attack

Smoking while you talk may cause distorted reception. It also prevents your holding the mouthpiece directly in front of the lips.

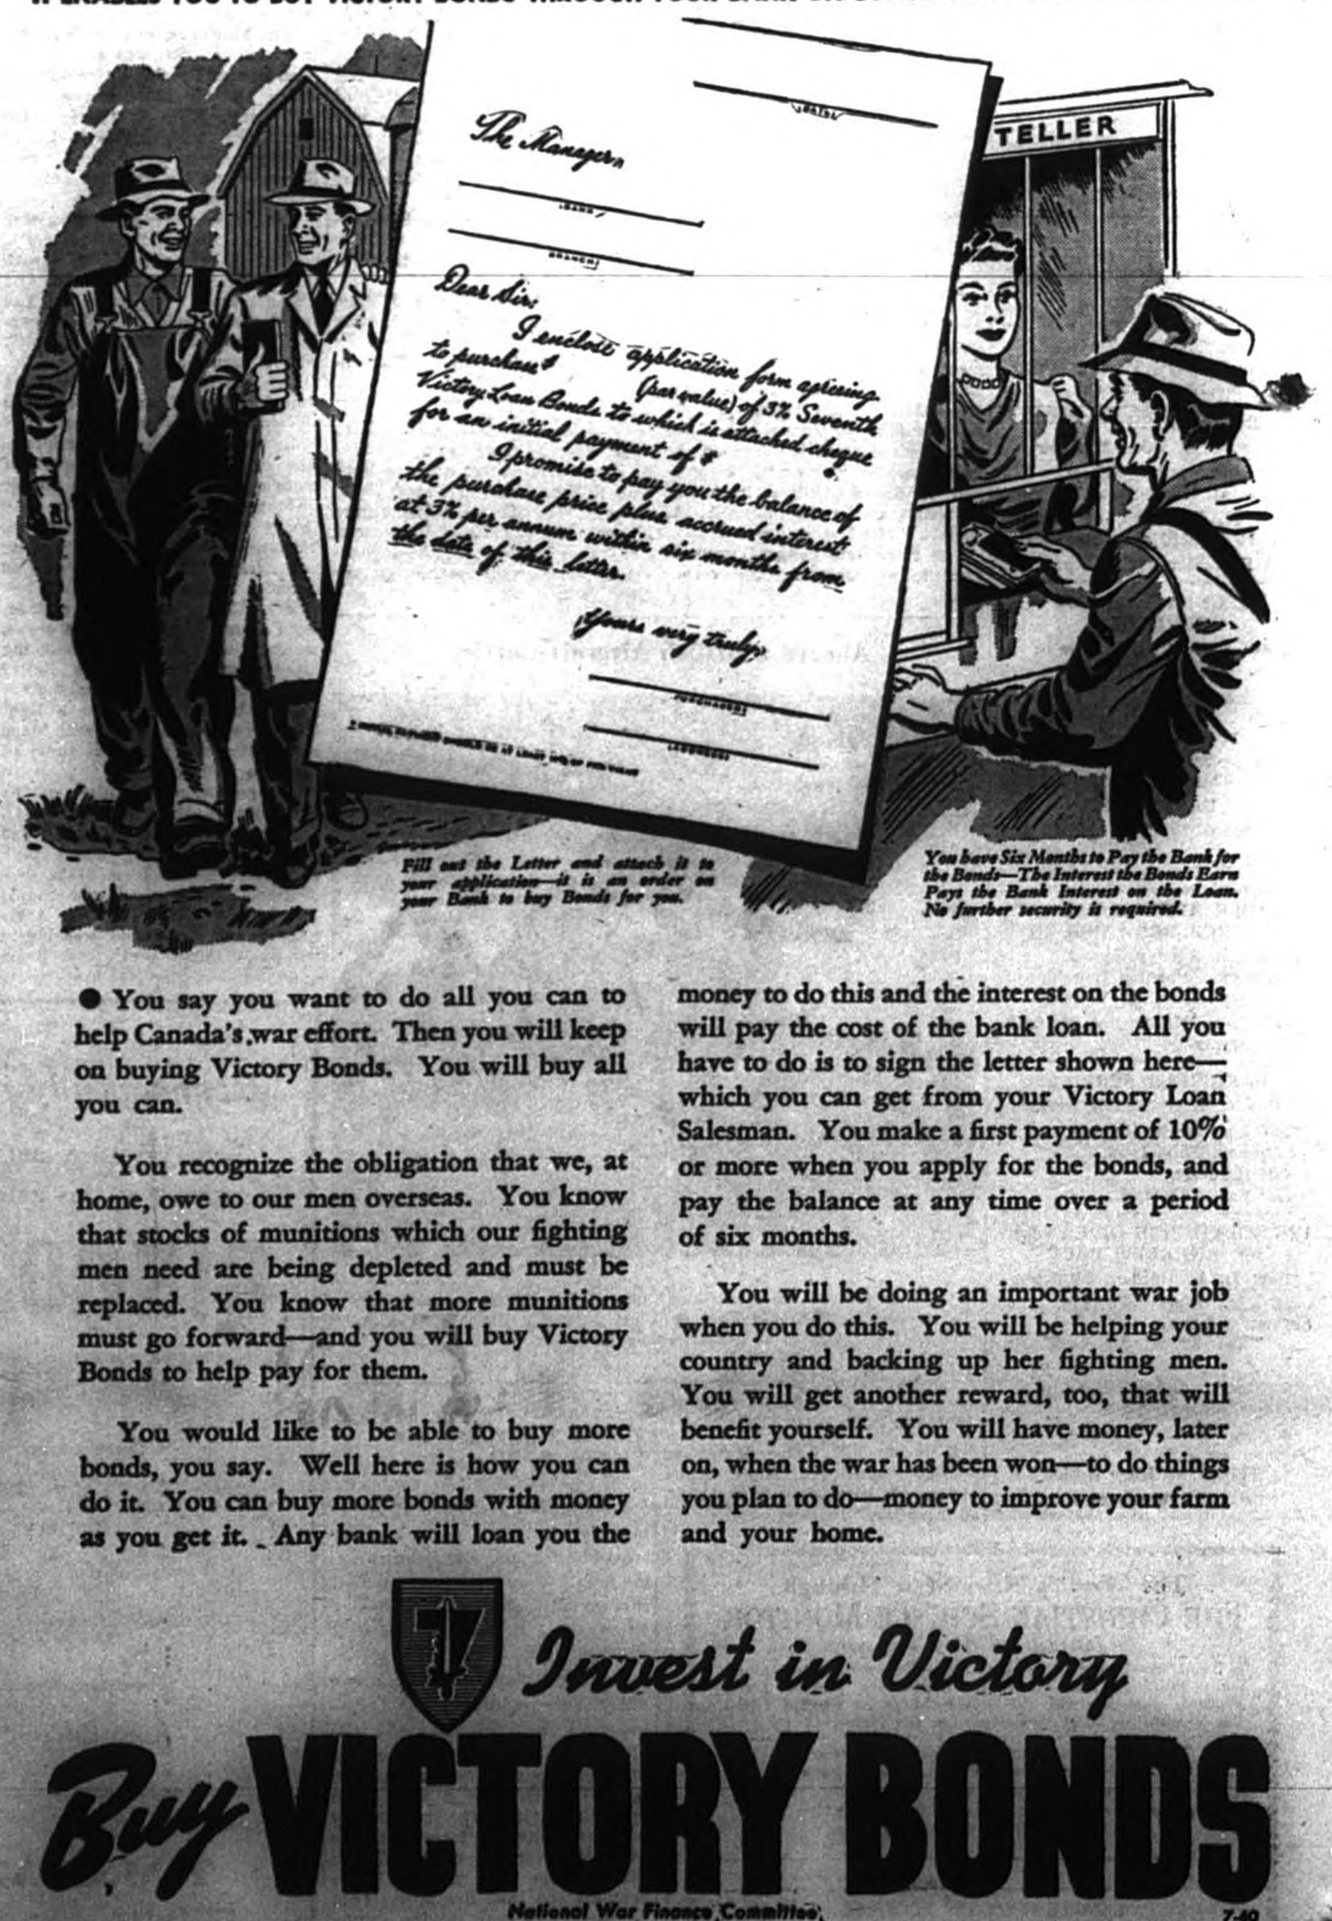

If you need to reach across your desk as you talk, continue to hold the telephone in correct position, close to the lips.

A wall set can't come to you; stand or sit so that your lips are directly in front of and close to the mouthpiece. Don't "talk across" it.

For clear, noise-free transmission, always keep your desk telephone upright — not at or near the horizontal position.

Your Victory Loan Salesman Has This Letter

IT ENABLES YOU TO BUY VICTORY BONDS THROUGH YOUR BANK ON CONVENIENT DEFERRED PAYMENTS

Fill out the Letter and attach it to your application—it is an order on your Bank to buy Bonds for you.

You have Six Months to Pay the Bank for the Bonds—The Interest the Bonds Earn Pays the Bank Interest on the Loan. No further security is required.

● You say you want to do all you can to help Canada's war effort. Then you will keep on buying Victory Bonds. You will buy all you can.

You recognize the obligation that we, at home, owe to our men overseas. You know that stocks of munitions which our fighting men need are being depleted and must be replaced. You know that more munitions must go forward—and you will buy Victory Bonds to help pay for them.

You would like to be able to buy more bonds, you say. Well here is how you can do it. You can buy more bonds with money as you get it. Any bank will loan you the money to do this and the interest on the bonds will pay the cost of the bank loan. All you have to do is to sign the letter shown here—which you can get from your Victory Loan Salesman. You make a first payment of 10% or more when you apply for the bonds, and pay the balance at any time over a period of six months.

You will be doing an important war job when you do this. You will be helping your country and backing up her fighting men. You will get another reward, too, that will benefit yourself. You will have money, later on, when the war has been won—to do things you plan to do—money to improve your farm and your home.

Re-Make Wardrobes To Tour Country

Between now and next spring hundreds of thousands of Canadian girls will have the privilege of viewing complete wardrobes that have been made from old clothing. Composed of 23 items, the wardrobes will tour Canada under auspices of the Consumer Branch of the W.P.T.B. being shown at 212 high schools. Four identical wardrobes will be shown, prepared for the special benefit of teen-age girls in the high schools, who will model the garments as well as viewing them. Teachers and students of Home Economics classes will be given first-hand instruction on how they can utilize cast-off clothing to make stylish garments, thereby performing a patriotic duty by conserving materials, saving manpower and helping materially to win the war.

RATION BOOKS TO EXPIRE AT YEAR END

All coupons in Ration Books 3 and 4 will expire December 31, 1944, it is announced by the ration administration of the W.P.T.B. Coupons expiring at that time include the 10 "F" canning sugar coupons, sugar coupons 14 to 45, "D" coupons 1 to 16 and preserves coupons 17 to 32.

Dental Health

Pyorrhea

Q.—What is pyorrhea and what causes it?

A.—Pyorrhea, as the term is commonly used, covers a multitude of diseases of the supporting tissues of the teeth. Actually, "pyorrhea" means a flow of pus from the bony socket in which the tooth rests, and it is therefore descriptive of only one phase of the disease. Periodontoclasia which means a breaking down or destruction of the tissues around the teeth is a more satisfactory term. The complex causes of periodontoclasia are not all known to dental science. Most authorities divide them into two classes: local and systemic. Some of the local factors are: bad mouth hygiene which permits the accumulation about the teeth of food debris, tartar and bacteria; rough fillings; malocclusion caused by missing and crooked teeth; and the relative disuse of the jaws and teeth in mastication.

The corrections of these conditions require the services of a dentist. Some of the systemic causes are mal-nutrition, blood and glandular disorders. These are medical problems requiring close co-operative treatment by the physician and dentist. It is a curable disease in most instances, provided treatment is not too long deferred.

Tooth Decay

Q.—Does prevalence of tooth decay indicate prior deprivation of factors necessary for tooth building rather than an immediate cause?

A.—Probably, but not necessarily. Improper nutrition, endocrine disturbance, emotional upset or impaired general health, all contribute to improper development of the teeth. This in turn makes the tooth more liable to the action of the exciting cause of dental decay — the bacterial invasion.

Child's Teeth

Q.—What age would you consider the most critical period in a child's dentition. I mean when is tooth decay the most active?

A.—The most critical period is before the teeth erupt, but the time at which we find most caries of the baby teeth is about 6 years of age, and the highest percentage of decay of the permanent teeth from 11 to 14 years — especially in girls.

APPLES VS ORANGES

The Nova Scotia Fruit Growers Association is objecting to the Government subsidy on oranges. They say that besides costing the nation an enormous sum of money, it tends to curtail the demand for apples. Their resolution stated, "the entire basis for this astounding and fantastic government policy is said to be dictated by considerations of public health, which we do not believe to be valid, but to be based rather on long-time skilful propaganda and sales-promotion work put out by the orange growers, and absorbed and swallowed by gullible nutritionists." That is only a part of the resolution. I, too, have a sceptical eye for advertisements, whether they be from the orange growers or the apple growers. It is not that advertisers do not tell the truth; they do, but often only a part of it. Remember when the raisin industry did so much advertising? They told about the iron in raisins, and inferred that a nickel box of raisins a day was all that was required, whereas it would take a dozen such boxes to supply the daily requirements of iron. Nutritionists may be gullible, for after all very few of them have the facilities for laboratory research, and they have to take the word of the scientists. Oranges are used chiefly for their vitamin C, and I cannot believe that all the research workers on this Continent and in Europe are in the pay of the orange growers. The daily requirement of vitamin C for an adult is 1200 International Units; children require from 700 to 1200; adolescents and women during pregnancy and lactation require 2400. An apple gives us 100 units of vitamin C and an orange gives us 900. An orange supplies more of the other vitamins as well as larger quantities of calcium, phosphorous, and iron, than an apple. The minerals and vitamins in the apple are useful but the quantity is small. The Malic acid in the apple is a good aid to digestion. Apple juice was becoming a very popular drink, but in its natural state it cannot replace the citrus fruits or tomato juice in supplying vitamin C. After considerable research a method of fortifying apple juice with vitamin C, so that it will remain for some length of time, has been developed. At present our Armed Forces are getting this valuable juice but this year we may look forward to having apple juice for breakfast. Dried apples lose their vitamin C but retain the other good qualities. Government assistance is provided on processed apples to the extent of nine cents per pound on 15,070,000 lbs, ($135,630,000), and maximum purchase of 9,000,000 lbs, at 19 cents per pound. There is need for both oranges and apples in our diets. Oranges make the better breakfast fruit, but they cannot take the place of apples to be eaten in the hand or in the many delicious apple desserts.

VITAMIN C

This might be a good time to have something on Vitamin C. It is the vitamin found in fresh foods and as it is soluble in water most of it is lost in cooking. Citrus fruits, tomatoes, and leafy vegetables are the best sources. Potatoes are a fair source as a boiled potato supplies us with about 250 units. Vitamin C cannot be stored in the body and we need a fresh supply each day. Children need it to prevent scurvy. Without enough of it growth is retarded, and they lose weight. Teeth and gums are affected and cartilage and bones are weakened. Both children and adults require this vitamin C for the muscles of the heart and the entire muscular system. It is necessary for the capillaries and many doctors believe lack of vitamin C has considerable to do with hardening of the arteries. In some cases greatly increased quantities of this vitamin have had marked results. Foods lose vitamin C in storage and during the winter months the average Canadian diet does not supply sufficient vitamin C to keep us in the best of health.

STIFF BUT NOT DRY

When you beat an egg white it is a temptation to be too enthusiastic and beat it until there is as large a quantity as you can get. This is a mistake if the egg white is to be cooked. Think of the egg white cells as being like small balloons. As they are beaten the cells enclose air and are stretched just as a balloon is when air is blown into it. If you stretch these small balloons to the very limit, then when they are heated and the air expands them still farther there is nothing for them to do but burst. Instead of the beaten egg white making the cake, the souffle, the omelet, the meringue or whatever, as light and fluffy as it should be, it will be sad and heavy because the egg white cells were stretched too far. That is why so many recipes read, beat the egg whites until stiff but not dry. It is really important so that there will be room for the cells to stretch with hot air and not to break down.

STUFFED APPLES

6 Apples, ¾ cup mincemeat, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups water.

Core the apples and place in baking dish. Fill the cavities with the mincemeat. Mix sugar and water and pour into pan. Bake in a slow oven of 300 degrees until the apples are soft, about 1 hour. Serve with the juice.

CODDLED APPLES

Mix 1 cup sugar and 2 cups of water and cook while preparing the apple. Pare and core apples and cut into sixths or eighths. Drop into boiling syrup and simmer until soft but not broken. Pour into serving dish and sprinkle lightly with cinnamon. Chill.

12-YEAR-OLD GIRL BRIDE OF DANCER

Couple Want Stage Career Before Settling Down to Family Life

Sydney, Australia (CP) — A 12-year-old girl left school in Sydney to marry a 25-year-old man. She is now Mrs. Joanne Moores, and her husband is her dancing partner.

The husband explained that he and his young wife hoped to establish themselves as professional dancers before settling down to a domestic life.

"There will not be any children for some years," he said.

One reason for the marriage was to enable him and his wife to go on dancing tours without a chaperon.

I am not in favor of marriage at such a very early age said the minister who married them. "I thought carefully for a week before I agreed to perform this ceremony. I think there are special domestic circumstances in this case, and also I think that the girl is old for her age. The couple appear to be sincerely in love, and I think that they will make a success of their marriage."

The bride's mother said that she herself was married when she was 19, and her husband was 25.

Mrs. Moores is not the first girl of 12 to be married in Australia. In 1941 a girl of 12 married a boy of 14, and since 1901 there have been seven 12-year-old brides.

A statistican said that the average age for marriage in Australia was 27.47 years for men, and 24.52 years for women. In 1943, three girls of 14 were married in New South Wales.

Care of Winter House Plants

One of the secrets of success in keeping house plants in good condition during the winter is to start their care immediately the heat is turned on in the home. One of the most common causes of failure during the winter is that the plants are kept in rooms that are much too warm for them. By the time Christmas has arrived, the plants may be wilted or in poor condition, particularly if they have been near a radiator. More house plants have been killed by heat than by cold. The ideal temperature for house plants is 60 to 65 degrees F., three degrees less than the recommended house temperature.

The various plants have different tolerances to sunlight. Ferns should be placed where there is an abundance of light but not in direct sunlight, while, on the other hand, flowering plants as a rule require all the sunlight they can get, especially in winter time. Foliage plants are more tolerant to insufficient light, but in winter time they may be placed in direct sunlight.

Care should be taken to prevent direct draughts on plants. At the same time, a dry atmosphere is to be avoided because it not only stunts the plants but helps the increase of certain insect pests. Moisture in the air around the plants may be increased by standing the pots in shallow trays filled with pebbles, gravel, or moss and keeping it moist. Drainage in the pots is an important factor. This may best be arranged by using soil in the pot that will allow both air and water to pass through easily. A mixture of two parts good garden loam soil, one part rotted manure, and one part sand will generally fulfil the soil requirements of potted plants. Further drainage may be obtained by placing pebbles at the bottom of the pot.

BRITISH MAKERS PREPARING FOR POTTERY EXPORT

Exotic Designs Feature Dinner, Tea Services for Dominions

London (CP) — British factories have prepared the designs for pottery they intend to sell in the Dominions after the war — exotic designs as a changeover from the wartime utility patterns.

Dinner and tea services from Britain will suggest the luxury of the mandarin's palace and the floral beauty of a richly-embroidered Chinese shawl.

"There are two types ready for export," said one manufacturer. "There are vivid colors with novel effects; and there are traditional designs, influenced by the colorful and delicate floral patterns seen on heavy silks, satins and brocades in the Far East.

"Even motifs and borders of Chinese carpets and rugs, as well as rich silk shawls exquisitely embroidered, have furnished inspiration."

"Canada, Australia and South America want to see as much of our pottery, showing the new form of floral design, as we can let them have when we start exporting — after controls are removed".

One sample plate he demonstrated had scattered groups of delicate flowers in soft rose, vivid blue-green and light yellow. Contrast was a plate decorated with a typical English country scene.

Noisy Scarecrow Frightens Deer

Downieville, Calif. (CP) — Fed up with nightly deer raids upon his victory garden in the High Sierras, Deputy Sheriff Stanley N. McCormick invented an animated scarecrow which flaps its arms wildly, sending the deer fleeing back to the woods.

At two-minute intervals, McCormick's scarecrow cranes its neck and throws its arms into the air, noisily clattering together tin-can lids which are tied to its hands. He says it "works like a charm."

Cutting a five-gallon can diagonally, McCormick attached it to one end of a lever, securing the other end to the operating part of the scarecrow. Water runs from a hose into the can which dumps itself from its own weight, operating the working parts and returning itself to its upright position to be filled and dumped again.

REGINA BOYS HAVE OWL PET

Regina (CP) — "Oily" is a great horned owl. He is quite a temperamental owl but to make up for this failing, he tries to make Regina's young hospital patients happy by visiting them occasionally.

Every so often, his two masters, Bill Martenson, 14, and Dick Borys, 13, both of Regina, take him to the hospital to entertain the youngsters. Although he isn't allowed inside, Oily flies up to the window sill where he can be seen. Once he visited soldiers in the hospital, much to their delight.

Oily first came in contact with civilization when he was hatched this spring. Christened Oily because the name sounded well, he did not take kindly to captivity. He bit the string tied to his left leg and flew to a rooftop. There he did nothing but sit and screech, to the great annoyance of the neighbors. Bill and Dick climbed the roof and got within arm's length of him when he decided to fly to the next roof. This kept up for half a dozen rooftops until Oily either got tired or hungry and let himself be caught.

Now, grown quite big, he lives in a cage and spends most of his time sitting and screeching. His favorite diet is meat and he considers bread and milk "sissy stuff." Bill and Dick have tried to teach him to ride on the handlebars of a bicycle but he gets scared when cars go by.

PRISONERS FORM SCOUT GROUP

When two International Representatives of the Red Cross from Geneva recently visited a British prisoner-of-war camp in Germany, they were amazed to find a fully organized Rover Scout Crew with over 70 members. Fifty of the Crew turned out in full Scout uniform with the exception of the hat.

SCOUT SAVES SCOUTMASTER

Patrol Leader L. A. Laurence, a Scout in Nottinghamshire, England, had the unique experience of rescuing his own Scoutmaster from drowning, when the latter took violent cramps while in swimming. The Scout brought him safely to shore and with the aid of other Scouts, successfully applied artificial respiration which their Scoutmaster had taught them.

TO TOUR CANADA

Mr. J. Harold Williams, one of the outstanding Boy Scout leaders in the United States, is to make a coast to coast tour of Canada in the next few weeks, speaking to service clubs and Scout leaders. He is Scout Executive for the Narragansett Council, Rhode Island.

NAMED FOR SCOUT PALS

When P/O Archie Macdonald, former Fort Erie, Ont., Boy Scout, recently became the father of triplet sons, he promptly named them after himself and two of his pals in the old Scout Troop, P/O William Breckon and Corp. Sanford Randall of the U.S. Army. The triplets were named Archie, William and Sanford. Incidentally, while the first triplet was born on Wednesday, his two brothers were not born until the following Saturday.

FARMERS! WILL YOU HELP THIS WINTER?

If you are not required on the farm this winter you should take other work.

Extra winter workers are needed for woods operations—logging and pulpwood and fuel cutting—base metal mines, coal mines, meat packing and cold storage, grain handling, railway track maintenance, iron foundries and other high priority occupations, varying with the area.

Please offer your services to:

The nearest Employment and Selective Service Office; or

The nearest Provincial Agricultural Representative; or

Your Local Farm Production Committee.

A good response to this appeal is important to Canada's welfare — please act immediately.

Postponement of Military Training continues while in approved essential work off the farm.

THIS KOKOMO BULL REALLY BIG STUFF

And Indian Soldier Proved It to Doubting Thomases In Pacific

Kokomo, Ind. (CP)—Two Kokomo men who bragged to fellow soldiers in the South Pacific about a gargantuan bull which was preserved in a city park back home found themselves virtually razzed off their island by skeptical doughboys.

So they appealed home for help and soon a sworn statement was forthcoming.

An unretouched photograph of the bull backed up the affidavit. Posing with the stuffed bull was Miss Phyllis Hartzell, who the Kokomoans informed soldiers was 22 years old, weighed 114 pounds, was 5 feet 4 inches from the crown of her head to the toes of her feet, and had a girth of 26 inches.

What's more, it was noted, the girl wasn't stuffed.

Positive Proof

The statement read as follows: To Whom It May Concern: Of our own knowledge and belief, we, collectively and individually, do hereby testify that there is situated in a shelter house in Highland Park, Kokomo, Ind., the stuffed hide of a bull that was presented to the city of Kokomo by its former owners, the Murphy brothers of Miami, Ind. This animal at the age of four years weighed 4,720 pounds, was 6 feet 2 inches high, 16 feet 6 inches long (from tip of tail to end of nose) and its girth was 13 feet 4 inches.

Charles V. Orr, Mayor of Kokomo, Ind.; Virgil L. Coffel, judge, Kokomo City Court; W. Lew Stewart, sheriff, Howard County, Ind.; Ed. M. Souder, Editor, Indiana Tribune.

BRIGHTER STATIONS

London (CP) — Railway station lights, five times brighter than anything used since the war began, will be permitted in London and other large termini throughout the country. Train lighting will be improved too as part of the return-to-peace lighting relaxations.
