Annual Meeting of Farm Forums Council; Lachute Man Vice-Pres.

Forums Achieve Practical Benefits Both Locally and Nationally

At the fifth annual meeting of the Quebec Council of Farm Forums, held last Saturday at Macdonald College, a farmer from this district, Stuart Armstrong, Lachute Road, was elected second vice-president of this group which has organized the activities of 88 Forums in Quebec Province. Mr. Armstrong has taken active interest in the Forums not only of this district but also in their wider sphere. Alex Bothwell, agronomist of this county, was elected a "member at large" in the Council's organization.

Saturday's conference at Ste. Anne de Bellevue was addressed by A. B. Macdonald, organizer of the Cooperative Union of Canada, and Ralph Staples, national secretary of the National Farm Radio Forum.

Late in the afternoon conducted tours were made of the college grounds, where Forum members inspected animal and poultry husbandry, seed farms, fruit and vegetable gardens and the household science department of the college.

During the business session of the meeting, President Allan Crutchfield outlined the activities of the council during the past year, and R. Alex Sim, secretary-treasurer, revealed that since last October 16,000 persons have attended meetings of 88 separate Forums in the province. Prof. R. Summerby, acting dean of Macdonald College, brought greetings on behalf of the college.

Allan Crutchfield was reelected president. Other officers chosen were: first vice-president, P. D. MacArthur; second vice-president, Stuart Armstrong and secretary-treasurer, R. Alex Sim. . . . Mr. Armstrong was also reappointed as representative for Argenteuil County.

Following are extracts from the president's and the secretary's report to the conference. . . .

Mr. Allan H. Crutchfield:

"A year ago the Council recognized the need for leadership training and voted $150. for scholarships for Camp Macdonald. This was intended to assist Farm Forum members to attend this leadership training course. The same amount has been voted for again this year and it is my sincere hope that there will be enough members of the Farm Forums attending Camp Macdonald this year to use up the entire grant.

"A year ago the question of the price and control of maple products was very much to the fore, and the annual meeting instructed the Council to see what steps could be taken to secure representation on the advisory committee on maple products of the W.P.T.B. Working through the Ottawa office of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture we approached the Board and persuaded them not only to appoint our own representative, Mr. Floyd Stevenson of Franklin Centre, but to name other farmer representatives to this Board.

"The Council is happy to report an increase in its revenue. . . . The Co-opérative Fédérée increased their grant to $1,000. The regular grant of $2,000 from the Department of Agriculture in Quebec was renewed.

"Through our membership in the Canadian Federation of Agriculture we have been able to support the plans that the Federation is making to organize a world conference of agricultural leaders; to support and use the facilities available through its representative on the War Assets Corporation, and to make constant use of the facilities of the Ottawa office of the federation in securing information for our members.

"I think one of the most important meetings of the year was when we met at the Queen's Hotel on February 23 in co-operation with the Annual Meeting of the Co-operative Fédérée, when we were able to discuss problems of interest to the members of the Council with officials of the Fédérée."

"Your president has reported the activities of your Council with the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. I hope we feel that every time the Canadian Federation of Agriculture takes action, that it is action we are taking, that it succeeds or fails to the extent that we support it. For instance, one of the most popular resolutions passed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture — one that attracted headlines in the papers in both the east and west, was our own resolution on housing. The terms of this resolution were delivered to the Dominion cabinet in March.

"But many local problems can be solved by our own efforts in our own communities. We call these action projects. Two new creameries have been established by farmers, instigated largely by Forum members in Quyon and Melbourne Ridge. This brings the total up to five creameries organized by Forum members.

"In Pontiac County, they have organized a Mutual Fire Insurance Company with over $250,000,000 in assurance. This grew out of an action project among the Farm Forums in Pontiac. These three examples of action were chosen to typify work that is going on, perhaps less spectacularly, in almost every neighborhood where Farm Forums are organized.

"We have first of all a farm organization speaking for, and representing farmers. Secondly, we have an ongoing and aggressive adult educational program. Thirdly we have a department in an agricultural college striving to channel out to farmers material and data on production problems that will help farm people to farm better, and to build better communities and a better Canada.

"This three fold program is unique. But the results seem to indicate that we are building something that is useful to us in Quebec."

Appreciation for B'burg Hospitality To Air Trainees

Brownsburg — A highly appreciative letter has been received by the committee here which has arranged entertainment for hundreds of Flying School trainees on leave from St. Eugene, Ont., visiting the Village of Brownsburg. The letter, addressed to Mrs. J. Gordon Todd, reads in part as follows:

Eastern Ontario
Flying School
St. Eugene, Ont.

With this school in the process of closing, and the training of the Fleet Air Arm pilots being transferred to St. Johns, Que., it is improbable that many more of the students will be visiting Brownsburg.

Over the many months and years that the trainees from No. 13 Elementary Flying Training School have spent evenings and week-ends in Brownsburg, they have received warm hospitality and many kindnesses; and on their behalf I should like to express thanks and appreciation.

We would be very grateful if you would be good enough to pass this message along to the several groups in Brownsburg who have entertained the airmen, both for week-ends and for social events, including the Brownsburg Social Club, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, the Brownsburg Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, and the many hostesses who have invited the airmen into their homes.

May I, too, thank you for the assistance which has been given to me personally in the work for the A/LA's of St. Eugene.

Yours very truly,
W. Douglas Scott

EXHIBITING AT ORMSTOWN SHOW

At the livestock show in connection with Ormstown Exhibition, in progress this week, Argenteuil is represented by three exhibitors—E. Kilgour Wilson with light horses, Jas. Mackenzie with Holstein cattle, and J. P. Bradley & Son with Ayrshires.

P-O. N. W. Bradley, 3 Years Prisoner, Returns Home

Reporting a good passage aboard the steamship Aquetania, Pilot Officer Norman W. Bradley arrived last Thursday in Montreal, and was accompanied by his brother Douglas to his home at Carillon.

P/O Bradley reached England a few weeks ago from Germany, where he had been a prisoner-of-war for three long years. From an airmen's prison camp near Breslau, 2,000 prisoners were marched eastward from the line of the Russian advance to a point near Bremen, about 500 miles distant. Bradley was among the Canadians taking part in this long trek.

Now 30 years of age, P/O Bradley is reported in good health and spirits in spite of his experiences. At present he is visiting his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Martin, at St. Sauveur des Monts. He is on 30 days' leave.

Bradley mentioned the fact that the Hon. R. B. Bennett, now of the peerage, was aboard the vessel on which he sailed.

Report to Lions On Achievements Of Past Year

J. S. GILES NAMED DEPUTY DISTRICT GOVERNOR

At the regular meeting of the Lions Club, held at the Golf Club premises Tuesday evening, two candidates, Messrs. Eric Hibbard and Marcel Deschamps, were inducted into the membership. Introduced by Lion F. Legault, the candidates were made acquainted with the Lions' Code of Ethics, by Past President Lion P. H. Roy, whereupon they received their pins and were heartily welcomed as members.

President Lion W. FitzGerald reported on his attendance at the zone meeting — held in Montreal and among other things told of the activities in which the local club had engaged throughout the year, stressing the three blood clinics with 683 volunteer applications and 606 actual donors. The totals to date, since commencement of the campaign, were 1,575 applications with 1,412 actual donors. Over 300,000 cigarettes have been sent to members of the armed forces, making a total to date of over 1,500,000. Two "bingos" were held and a total net profit of $600 was realized.

Lion Gordon McOuat extended an invitation to the Club to hold their next meeting at Cheriotto Farm Inn, Ste. Adele.

Horse Backed Into North River

A horse from the Gavin Walker farm, east of Lachute, narrowly escaped drowning in the North River near Copeland's bridge, late Saturday afternoon.

Earl Duffy, employed on the farm, had been using the horse and cart to clear away rubbish and driftwood which the high water had left scattered about the field. He left the animal for a few minutes, and two children, who had been "assisting", picked up the reins and backed the horse and cart over the steep bank into the water.

The horse was saved only by the timely assistance of Ernest Copeland, who quickly arrived on the scene in a boat. They were obliged to cut away the harness and tow the animal across the river, where it was able to climb to safety.

Mr. Walker hopes to be able to retrieve his harness and cart.

W.I. Fair Work Proceeds Spent In Worthy Causes

In view of the fact that the Lachute Women's Institute is not catering for meals and refreshments at the Lachute Spring Fair this season, the ladies of this group take occasion to thank the public for their patronage in the past. Readers will be interested to know that over a period of five years, the Institute's net proceeds from Fair work amounted to $3,049.27, and the following report will show how this money has been expended:

War Services	$2,244.65
Educational	799.62
Soldiers' Boxes	1,448.65
Red Cross	425.00
Salvation Army	130.00
Spitfire Fund	50.00
Queen's Canadian Fund	52.00
British Children's War Services	16.00
H.M.C.S. "Lachute"	102.00
Canadian Aid to Russia	10.00
Donation to Blood Clinic	10.00
League of Nations	6.00

In addition to the foregoing contribution, hundreds of donated articles have been included in the boxes sent by this branch to soldiers overseas.

Our soldiers still need comforts; and to finance this need, the Institute had hoped to stage a tag day at the coming Fair. However, as permission was not granted, other means will be found to enable the continuance of this work.

The 9th Parkhill Scout Troop at Peterboro, Ont., collected 12 tons of waste paper in a three-week drive.

The annual procession took place on Sunday and a very large turnout left the Catholic Church in colorful regalia and with beautiful banners and flags. The route was along St. Joseph Street, which was gaily decorated for the event.

Fishing

The big ones are still getting away, but some are being caught. If the individual fish are not so big, the catches are larger than usual. A family party of four pulled out 258 nice red and grey trout, during a three-day excursion last week. Two catches of 90 were brought home last week-end, while 50 and 60 in two catches were reported.

Lake Louisa has been better than at any time for the past ten years.

Swimming Pool

There is hardly a place in Canada where so much water is available and where a bathing pool, even the ole swimmin' hole, is unknown. It is surprising no effort has been made down the years to provide even an excuse for a swimming place. Apart from its healthful merit, its advantage as a lifesaver at sea or on a lake, swimming should be taught to every child. Yet, here there is no facility, no means of teaching or enjoying one of the most healthful exercises.

This effort to establish a Community Centre deserves the thought and assistance of everyone, and no place more than Brownsburg needs just such a civic utility.

Frost in July

It is recorded that 100 years ago there was a heavy frost in this county in the month of July. Perhaps the cycle has returned. Judging by the hail this week and the weather in general, it would not be surprising what comes next.

* * *

Election Fever

If there is any quickening of the pulse with election fever in Brownsburg, it is not very noticeable on the surface. There has as yet been no public meeting, and the highlight event of the "good old days" — the joint meeting — has been discarded for the more subtle and possibly more efficacious personal canvass.

Committees are working on lists and polling day arrangements, and by Monday the results of such organizations will be in evidence. The gas shortage seems to have little effect on transport arrangements, as a survey of the various committees reveals that for the eight polls an average of six cars per poll have already been engaged.

It would be foolish at this stage to hazard a guess on the result as so many purely local issues are involved, and such a diversity of opinion on the merit of even those local issues expressed, that support for one candidate or the other varies from day to day.

Judging by the deflections of the out-and-out party man, the Conservative interests have weaned a number of old reliables from their former allegiance. This is especially true of the French element where a strong Conservative sentiment appears to be running.

The English Liberals on the other hand are critical. While admitting the King administration did a good job, it is recognized that the government had the wholehearted support of the other parties and were, in deed if not in fact, a coalition government.

It is generally admitted people vote their resentment, not their appreciation. The average man does not vote for anything, but against something; and although we have our theorists and nationalists and even internationalists in Brownsburg, the majority are critical or otherwise of issues of local application. A discussion on Dumbarton Oaks runs a poor second in general interest to a discussion on, say, "How to improve Brownsburg", and a general dissertation on education fades into insignificance when put beside the amalgamation of the local school with Lachute.

In this respect the Liberals are without visible means of support. The improvement to the streets, the drainage of the surface water, erection of a Community Centre, may or may not have an effect on the Conservative fortunes; but the treatment accorded the Municipal Council, in its just demands that the Federal Government pay compensation towards the loss sustained in supplying the Wartime Houses from the costly waterworks scheme, is something that goes on the "vote against" side of the political ledger.

Here was a utility conceived and paid for by the people of Brownsburg, after much searching of heart and pocketbook, and Brownsburg was rightly proud of the result, which was availed of by the Federal Government without any thought of contributing to the cost. In fact, when the Mayor of Brownsburg went to Ottawa in an endeavor to get the Government to play their part, he was given the well known "run-around", and came back empty-handed but withal a wiser man.

One striking feature of the present campaign is the almost complete absence of interest in the Social Credit nomination. Unless a very deceptive, strong and silent vote is revealed in the last days of the campaign, it looks as if the Social Credit vote will be negligible. At the time of writing Mr. Héon appears to have a distinct edge here over his Liberal opponent. By the end of the week, when the candidates' meetings have taken place, a clearer picture should be revealed.

Lachute Hospital Links Up With 'Blue Cross' Plan

The Providence Hospital, Lachute Mills, has now been added to the long list of "member hospitals" of Blue Cross, otherwise known in this province as the Quebec Hospital Service Association. This Association now counts 44 member hospitals situated in different parts of the province.

Founded in 1942 by a group of public-minded citizens and incorporated by Provincial Act in April of the same year, the Association is protecting today more than 100,000 members and their dependents against unexpected hospital bills.

For the third year in succession, representing the third year of its inception in the province, the Board of Trustees of the American Hospital Association, on recommendation of the Hospital Service Plan Commission, have approved unanimously the Quebec Hospital Service Association as a Blue Cross Plan. This approval is based upon standards of non-profit organization with emphasis on community

Led First Squadron R.C.A.F. Bombers To Return Home

"HAPPY LANDING" FOR RETURNING AIRMEN

With the return of an Air Force bomber squadron from overseas, an exciting saga closes and a thrilling chapter begins. Thirteen Canadian-built Lancasters of the Ghost Squadron were the first to set down at Gander airport, Newfoundland, last night, and were due to land at Dartmouth, N.S., sometime today. These aircraft, which have flown from British bases to wreak havoc on enemy supply lines and keys of industry, have been under leadership of Wing Commander Wilson Gall, of Lachute, son of Postmaster H. M. Gall and Mrs. Gall. The landing concludes a trip from the United Kingdom via the Azores, delayed by bad weather. The flight was not without mishap. Of a total of 15, one plane crashed in mid-ocean and another was held up with engine trouble.

W/C Wilson Gall, in the Air Force since pre-war days, looks back on years of tedious duty during a steady climb to promotion and to operational command overseas. But in this last adventure—leading the first veteran bomber squadron to return home — he has experienced no small honor and distinction.

Sidelights in Canada's Industrial Effort Portrayed at Rotary Club

Versatility of Industry is Demonstrated In Revamped Methods and Rapid Advance In the Output of Small Arms Ammunition

Brownsburg—The regular Tuesday dinner meeting of the Rotary Club was held at Carrière's Hotel. Speaker for the evening was Norman Somers, who has done considerable work on Brownsburg's Community Council as its co-chairman. He spoke on "Highlights of Canada's Military Small Arms Ammunition Industry".

The speaker was introduced by Secretary Wesley Freeland.

Guests included Harold Gee, of Lachute; Ward Moncrieff and Eric Tregoning, of Brownsburg — Ward having recently returned from a long stretch of active service overseas.

The speaker was born in Newcastle, N.B., and studied civil engineering at the University of New Brunswick. Following the heavy construction industry with the Aluminum and Foundation Companies of Canada, he came to Brownsburg 11 years ago as maintenance engineeer for the Dominion Ammunition Division of C-I-L.

He supervised the building of the first Brownsburg D.I.L. plant and installed the equipment. He then did the same for the Verdun D.I.L. plant, which finally had 6,000 employees and 1,200 machines. He carried on for two years as works engineer and technical superintendent.

When a larger plant was needed Mr. Somers was again chosen to help organize it, and carried on as assistant works manager at the "Montreal Works" for two years.

His hobbies cover the seasons and an extra for rainy days; fishing, golfing, duck hunting, skiing and — painting.

In beginning his talk, which consisted of interesting facts gleaned in his travels from New York to Kansas and from Windsor to Quebec, Mr. Somers said that he was pleased and proud to speak of Canada's war effort, and to have taken a part in it.

The outstanding thing about Canada's whole war effort, of course, was the vastness of its output — the total for small arms ammunition being in excess of 3,000,000,000 rounds, two-thirds of which was produced in the Defence Industries Limited plants, with which the speaker was connected. . . . These latter plants turned out a maximum of seven million rounds a day.

Such outstanding results were only possible through the fact that D.I.L. pioneered in the most advanced training methods known to modern industry. These programs are at present sponsored by the Canadian Government Department of Labor.

"Try and picture your wife training five maids simultaneously, none of them with any knowledge of housework, and you have a faint idea of the problem", the speaker said.

Schedules had to be met. Problems had to be solved. In one case it was necessary to move in an air compressor in order to move out tenants of one building required for a war plant. The noise and dust solved the problem and allowed Verdun Works to be producing in less than five months after serving expropriation notices.

Our allies to the south opened their plants to Canadian engineers. Their vast arsenal at Kansas City was the "guinea pig" for the continent — a conveyorized unit which poured in brass at one end and took out loaded and belted ammunition at the other. . . . An odd sight for a Canadian, was to see separate washrooms for negroes at this plant.

Back in Canada, the Valleyfield powder plant took woodpulp from our neighboring town of Hawkesbury — ground it, cooked it, added acids, pressed and extruded it like spaghetti and cut it up in small pieces for rifle ammunition or larger sizes for artillery.

It was also interesting to learn that a Canadian, Bill Reid, had developed an alcohol solvent recovery process, at the Valleyfield plant, which not only saved Canada many thousands of dollars but was copied and used by all our allies, to further our powder manufacture process.

Due to a shortage of copper, attempts had been made to produce ammunition cases from steel, without much success, until an Englishman developed a copper-coated

Exhibition Next Week, High Entry List Maintained

At this date, less than a week from the opening of Lachute Spring Fair, the secretary-manager, Alex Bothwell, reports the entries of exhibitors slightly ahead of last year's; the total now is 113.

The light horse show, which claims stronger support and wider enthusiasm each year, promises a new high in entries for the showring events.

In the harness races there is prospect of a good entry list for the county event, the classic of the program as far as local enthusiasts are concerned.

Developments this past year in the two major cattle breeders' clubs operating in this territory, and pedigreed additions to local herds of other breeds, signify still keener contest in the cattle classes.

Bookings for the industrial building are usually a last minute procedure, but the County Women's Institutes, it is understood, will occupy the entire upper floor with their representative display of handicrafts. Downstairs the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, is booked for a panoramic display along the usual instructive lines.

Wallace Bros.' shows will occupy the midway concessions, and from advance information forwarded by their publicity specialists, there will be a varied and attractive line of amusements. In addition there will be band music and vaudeville.

A bone of contention in the preparations, namely the concession for meals and refreshments, has been let to Roland Paquette, local citizen and alderman of this town. This undertaking for the past five years has been handled by the Lachute Women's Institute, the ladies giving voluntarily their time and effort, and the profits thus made being expended in war service and community welfare.

Blood Clinic Date June 19

Readers are reminded of the approaching Blood Donor Clinic, to be held Tuesday, June 19, at the clinic quarters in Lachute Auditorium.

In its far-flung humanitarian efforts, the Red Cross still needs generous supplies of life-giving blood plasma. And so long as that need continues, civilians in Canada will find a means of expressing their gratitude for the sacrifices which have spelled Victory.

Regular donors and new recruits are asked to see their names are registered with the secretary — now, in order that the day's appointments may be more easily arranged.

PROMOTED O'SEAS TO FLIGHT LIEUTENANT

F/O Stanley Langille, serving with the R.C.A.F. in Britain, has been promoted to the rank of Flight Lieutenant. Word to this effect was received here last week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Langille, Brownsburg Road.

Canadian Potatoes Shipped to France

Two steamer loads of Canadian certified seed potatoes have arrived in France in excellent condition, despite having been packed only in sacks and stowed in ordinary cargo space without forced ventilation or special cooling equipment, states the Dominion Department of Agriculture. This shipment of approximately 280,000 bushels grown in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island will help to relieve the seed potato shortage in France.

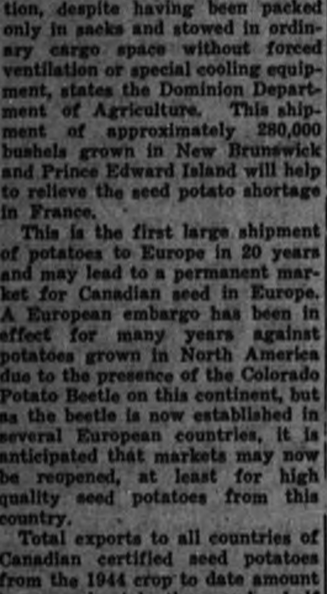

This is the first large shipment of potatoes to Europe in 20 years and may lead to a permanent market for Canadian seed in Europe. A European embargo has been in effect for many years against potatoes grown in North America due to the presence of the Colorado Potato Beetle on this continent, but as the beetle is now established in several European countries, it is anticipated that markets may now be reopened, at least for high quality seed potatoes from this country.

Total exports to all countries of Canadian certified seed potatoes from the 1944 crop to date amount to approximately three and a half million bushels. The best previous record was in 1939 with about a million bushels less than the quantity exported this season.

SEEDING PROGRESS

Round Hill, Alta. (CP) — More than 50 per cent of wheat was seeded in this district by June 1 and some farmers were working overtime seeding at night with tractors equipped with headlights.

Known Hereabouts, 50 Years with Bell

Harold J. Bowen

Marking his retirement after more than 50 years' service with the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, Harold J. Bowen, plant superintendent of the company's provincial district, was feted by his telephone colleagues in Montreal recently. One of the most popular telephone construction men in Quebec province, Mr. Bowen is well known in Lachute. He is a former head of the old Railway-Telephone Hockey League in Montreal and has long been prominent in affairs of the Charles Fleetford Sise Chapter, Telephone Pioneers of America.

Season Two Weeks Later Than Average

Following is the regular crop report for the Ottawa Valley, furnished by the Bank of Montreal in its bulletin dated May 31:

Following an early start in farming operations, little progress has been made with seeding and planting during May, owing to continued wet, cool wether. In some districts re-seeding of low-lying fields will be necessary. Th season generally is about two weeks later than average. Pastures and hay lands show satisfactory growth in most districts. The extent of the damage to fruit trees from frosts and storms cannot yet be determined. Warm dry weather is urgently needed.

Army Worm Threat, Montreal South

One of the most destructive insects known to agriculture has invaded two farming sections of the province, Montreal South and the Quebec region. It is the army worm, which threatened to destroy over 500,000 acres under crop in 1938; 15,000 farmers were then affected. It is therefore incumbent upon farmers to watch out for this insect, and to notify either their agronomist or the Plant Protection Bureau at Quebec of its presence anywhere. All necessary precautions for its destruction should be taken.

Although several species of army worms exist in Quebec, they are readily recognized. The caterpillars are black with one or more narrow white, green or yellow stripes on either side of the body, and they are now feeding on grasses and sprouting vegetables.

Wherever army worms appear in large numbers, one of the following methods should be applied:

1. Poisoned bran spread along invaded areas.
2. Plants should be sprayed with a solution of arsenate of lime, two pounds to 40 gallons of water.

With either of the above two methods, care should be taken that no animals are allowed to enter fields so treated.

3. These insects may be checked in their march by opening a trench several inches deep. The side opposite to their direction of travel should be sufficiently abrupt to prevent them climbing to the top. They may then be crushed in the trench.

PUMPS SAVE GARDENS

Toronto (CP) — Toronto's "market basket," the large vegetable growing area at Holland Marsh, survived the cold, wet spring with little of the extensive damage suffered in other parts of Ontario. The Holland River level was kept near summer normal by pumps installed recently.

RECORD SHIPMENT SENT

Charlottetown (CP)—Ten carloads of dehydrated potatoes, believed the largest shipment to date, were sent overseas from a plant here. A double shift is still working at the plant but the processing of potatoes is expected to be discontinued once the warm weather starts.

SKEETERS TALK, SCIENTISTS SAY

New York (CP) — Discovery of a mosquito language inaudible to humans, by which mosquitoes call to each other, is described in Science, the official journal of American scientists.

Cornell medical scientists made the discovery while seeking sounds which can be used to lure mosquitoes to death traps, particularly malarial mosquitoes.

The mosquito talk includes mating calls, anger noises, warnings of attack and other messages not yet well identified.

The mosquitos cluck, bellow and shriek, in sounds amplified millions of times and played on phonograph records. Clucking or bellowing by the females is a mating call. Both are low toned, all the female sounds being lower than male. The males answer with a shrill sound which, on the phonograph, resembles a dive bomber.

All the sounds are in the range of human voice middle tones. They are made in four ways. One, by flight, which is a sound humans hear. Two, by beating wings when otherwise at rest. Three, by rubbing ankles against wings. Four, by some unidentified mechanism that makes pure, birdlike tones.

"The most astonishing and important observation of this experiment," the report states, "is that the noise of a single female will cause the males of the same species to burst into an answering chorus.

"Moreover when the call of a female is transmitted to two or three males under the circumscribed space of a small test-tube, it has been observed under the microscope that the antennae of the males will turn toward . . . the sound . . ."

Single mosquitoes usually remain silent. Two or more when together start a conversation. When two mosquitoes of the same sex are silent together, the arrival of a third of the opposite sex starts conversation.

Scraps of Old London Fill New Purposes

London — A score of rubble heaps, some of them higher than the neighboring buildings, now dot London. They are the remains of bombed buildings, cleared away and carefully sorted. Every ounce is valuable. There are three categories of wreckage material: wood and metal, which are salvaged to be used again where possible; rubble, which is valuable hard core for constructional work; and debris, the finer grained material and dust, some of which is being used just now to raise the level of a lake in Kent, and for filling in marshes.

The rubble is reserved for work of national importance. It was used in making the Mulberry harbours for the invasion of Normandy. When the defenses of London had to be shifted to meet the menace of the flying bombs, more than a hundred thousand tons of the rubble was carted away in trucks to make the foundations for the new-gunsites.

Rubble makes the best of all bases for runways on aerodromes, and much of it has been taken for this purpose. And when Britain's new housing projects are laid out, the roadways will largely be laid on these scraps of old London.

FULL EMPLOYMENT AT FAIR WAGES
the Foundation of all True Progress

"The people of this nation are tired of the delay in correcting the weaknesses that have developed in our system . . . We must correct these obvious weaknesses in the economy we have, by rationalizing it — not by wrecking it. We must maintain the system which gives full play to individual initiative, and a fair return to all legitimate enterprise which provides employment; and the State, by just laws relating to workers, must see to it that at no time shall there fail to be provided the opportunity for a fair day's pay for a fair day's work for every one of our fellow-citizens in this Dominion who is able and willing to work."

John Bracken

We mean to see that every Canadian citizen able to work has the opportunity to work at fair pay.

- RATIONAL REFORM
- MAXIMUM PRODUCTION THROUGH THE FULL DEVELOPMENT OF OUR NATURAL RESOURCES
- FULL EMPLOYMENT AT FAIR WAGES

These are the pledges of the Progressive Conservative Party.

For full employment embracing all Canadians of every Province,

WE WILL:

- Help individual and co-operative enterprise to increase employment by revising crippling tax systems, by removing controls and regulations which slow down the expansion of legitimate enterprise, and by improving relationships between the Government, Labour and Management;
- Establish a National Development Board responsible for plans for full production and employment, as well as the preservation of our natural resources;
- Increase our trade by establishing an Export Board, by aggressive salesmanship abroad, by continuation of mutual aid until no longer necessary and by provision of trade credits to economically backward countries;
- See that the powers of the Bank of Canada are used to supply ample credit for an expanding economy;
- Undertake a carefully planned programme of socially desirable projects, such as low-cost rural and urban housing, rural electrification, conservation and reforestation, the development of natural resources — all on a national basis.

These Progressive Conservative policies are carefully and confidently pointed at a practical national objective — the realization in our time of an age of plenty.

Only the Progressive Conservative Party, with its far-sighted policies for the co-operative development of every part of Canada to new heights of prosperity — a prosperity in which ALL Canadians shall share fairly and honorably — only this Party faces the challenge of the future with abiding confidence in the ultimate realization of the practical objectives embodied in its practical policies for full employment at fair wages.

But Vote ! !

IF YOU ARE a self-styled free thinker, there will be many considerations, many conflicting thoughts, to sway your vote next Monday. . . . If, on the other hand, you are a dyed-in-the-wool partisan and your political leanings follow a well-trod track, then you will be saved all the mental agony of those who carefully weigh the issues.

Far be it from us to disparage the Liberal "stalwarts" or the old-time "family" Conservatives; they are a factor to be relied upon to make any election interesting. Nor would we insist that all electors have a thoroughly lucid grasp of party performances and policies at stake. To attempt a clear understanding of Canada's affairs in their present upheaval would tax the average intelligence, and prove too severe a strain on everyday Canadianism — too drastic a price for the privilege of citizenship.

All we dare suggest, is that every Argenteuil elector should cast his vote for the candidate he favors. We have our opinions; others have theirs. But if one and all step out to voice those opinions in the coming election, it will be a positive sign that the democracy our heroes died for is treasured here at home.

Canadians have never lost the liberty of self expression. Others in the liberated countries of Europe, who lost this birthright under enemy oppression, need no telling how great a privilege has now been restored to them. . . . Let us, too, measure the ballot at its true worth, not as a mere strip of paper, but as a symbol of free citizenship and the right of democratic government.

New Lyrics, Please

TIMES HAVE changed since Sir William Gilbert wrote the satiric libretto of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta — "Iolanthe" — more than 60 years ago.

Said Sir William:

"I often think it's comical
How nature always does contrive
That every boy and every girl
That's born into this world alive
Is either a little Liberal
Or else a little Conservative."

Such an arbitrary birthright no longer applies in Sir William's Britain — and certainly not in Canada. The boys and gals of 1945 are not nearly so set in their parents' ways. The complexion of parental politics often has little or nothing to do with the ideas to which Junior may subscribe by the time he is of voting age. And with the younger generation's disregard of the political affiliations of its parents, no riding can be designated a "safe seat" for any particular party just because it was such when Father went to the polls smug in the conviction that Mother would vote as he did, and that Junior would follow suit if he knew what was good for him.

Mother's defection may have been the thin edge of the wedge. Verbal battles of varying degrees of heat often mark the occasion when politics are discussed in the bosom of the family prior to this year's trip to the polls.

Along with its general intellectual independence, Canadian youth of today is more interested in politics than youth of a generation or so ago. Widespread discussion of proposals to lower the voting age attests to young Canada's increased interest in political affairs.

Youthful veterans stand on the hustings of each of the Dominion's several political parties. And these youngsters are not always for the parties their respective fathers supported.

Even if he dated himself with the above lyric however, another of Sir William's comments in the same operetta seems to be timely yet :

"When all night long a chap remains
On sentry-go, to chase monotony
He exercises all his brains —
That is, assuming that he's got any."

"Unlaxing" the Controls

AS CANADA reverts to a more normal brand of living, almost every day brings the lifting of certain wartime controls. . . . And according to your politics, so will these benefits find interpretation. With elections in the offing, Tories will brand them as too obvious government strategy; while those of Liberal hue will warmly acclaim the fairness of the present administration.

But however you feel about it, Ottawa spokesmen say that wartime controls will be lifted just as soon as the necessity ends, and here are some of the latest "relaxation" orders:

During the past week Canadians were told they could get more gasoline for their cars and car manufacturers were given permits for 10,000 passenger vehicles this year.

A new Prices Board order said that present indications are for an output of 130 per cent of the 1944-45 farm machinery production in the coming year. In addition all restrictions were lifted in the production of repair parts.

The lifting of restrictions on the use of copper or other non-ferrous metals for rural electrification or other public utility services also came during the week. In the words of the munitions department, that means that public utilities can "purchase without a permit non-ferrous metals for new installations and extension of electric, gas, water, street car, sewer, telephone and telegraph service." . . . Thus the go signal was given to numerous hydro and other utility post-war projects planned by provinces and municipalities across the country.

The labor department has announced it is no longer necessary for a man on postponement from military training to request a renewal of postponement from mobilization registrars. But as yet, no man can leave an essential job.

Possibilities of Penicillin

SIR ALEXANDER Fleming, the British scientist who discovered penicillin, told doctors and surgeons recently that the drug could stop the spread of a carbuncle in two days. He prophesied anyone with a sore throat would just go to a drug store and get a penicillin lozenge and the sore throat would disappear. Enterprising druggists will eventually put a penicillin lipstick on the market. Penicillin is the ideal antiseptic, he said, because it is non-poisonous and because it is impossible to over-dose a patient with it.

The Country Store

MAKING THE rounds of our home-town stores, we still hear the general complaint about lack of goods to sell; but it's rarely now that we hear a merchant with the old hard luck story that people won't buy.

In volume of retail sales, Quebec Province, it seems, has fared pretty well. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which keeps its fingers on the pulse of many things, finds that country general store sales in Canada averaged three per cent higher in April than in the corresponding month of last year. Results of a check on a regional basis show business increases of six per cent in the Maritimes, nine per cent in Quebec, five per cent in Ontario, one per cent in Manitoba and six per cent in British Columbia. Declines of six and four per cent were reported for Saskatchewan and Alberta respectively. During the first four months of 1945, country store sales in Canada as a whole averaged 6.4 per cent more than in the same period a year ago.

Conscientious

A SMALL advertisement in a Brussels newspaper has aroused widespread comment throughout Belgium on British business prestige. The advertisement, by a prominent United Kingdom firm, ran:

> "With a view to settling outstanding claims, all workers employed on May 10, 1940, are requested to inform the company of their present addresses."

The claims referred to are a week's wages. . . . On May 19, 1940, the Germans, invading Belgium, reached Gossalies, where the firm's Belgian factory was situated. It was also the factory's weekly pay-day, and the Germans arrived in time to seize the money.

The British firm has now made arrangements to fulfill the obligation which the German invasion prevented it from fulfilling at the time.

What Will A Nickel Buy?

THERE WAS a time — and not too long ago — when the smallest Canadian coin had a definite value all its own and a nickel was sufficient to satisfy childhood's desires. There was, according to myth and legend, even a five-cent cigar although it was not good.

Now — any fond parent who tries to impress his four-year-old offspring with the value of money can be stumped every time with the question: "What will a nickel buy, Daddy?" There just isn't any answer except to suggest that the nickel will fit in the slot in the mission bank. The penny, the nickel and the dime are no longer a yardstick of value for the child because the things they used to buy have been taxed out of the five-cent class if they are available at all.

Nor is the child the only one affected. Adults still pay three cents for their daily paper but they cannot help but be aware that to the price of many things they must buy, something more has been added — something officially known as an excise tax, inaccurately referred to as a luxury tax and correctly regarded as a nuisance tax.

In recent weeks some of these special wartime nuisance taxes have been removed but many still remain. It will be a big day on the way back to economic normality when the five-cent piece is once again sufficient to buy a bottle of soft drink, a chocolate bar or a package of gum. It would be good finance and good politics to bring the nickel back to par.

The most famous remark of Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall was: "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar." This was later amended by Franklin P. Adams to read: "What this country needs is a good five-cent nickel."

Hymn to Victory

Awaken, ye true sons of glory,
Ring out wildest anthems of joy:
For vict'ry has crowned your devotion
That war should no longer destroy.

So rise up, ye peace loving nations,
That new day has dawned o'er the world,
When high o'er the thunder of battle
The banner of vict'ry's unfurled.

Now praise Him who led you in battle
Who held you through war's darkest hour;
T'was His flaming courage sustained you
And His was your glorious power.

Now arise, ye victorious nations,
Sing loudly your joyful refrain:
The dark night of war has now ended
And peace reigns on earth once again.

Wood is a Weapon, Too

● From Canada's 770,000 square miles of productive forests, 80,000 lumberjacks fell trees that find their way in some form or other into almost every war product Canada turns out. Here are some of the war goods that have come from Canada's forests: Mosquito bombers, motor torpedo boats, invasion barges, parachutes, machine gun drums, sponges, nitrocellulose, insulation, gas mask parts, powder bags, hospital wadding and surgical dressings, alcohol plastics, self-sealing gas-tanks, boxes, barrels and linoleum. Essential to the task of getting war material to the place where it is needed are the paper and wood containers which carry small arms ammunition, gun barrels, aircraft, ordnance parts, blood plasma, food and medical supplies.

V-3 Never Got a Chance

● V-3, the Germans' third vengeance weapon, was a rocket-bomb with a range of many thousands of miles — a big enough range to carry it across the Atlantic. Said John A. Marsh, Special Assistant to the Department of Munitions and Supply, "If the German rocket-bomb plan had been six months further advanced, the British were prepared to admit that the war in Europe would have lasted 11 years."

• • •

Canada Carries On With War Production

● Canada's war job is by no means done. Aircraft and shipbuilding factories will continue their high rate of deliveries indefinitely, the only major change being in the types of craft. Production of trainer planes will be reduced, for instance, and replaced by production of the newest combat aircraft. Railway equipment will be turned out at an even higher rate. Cutbacks will occur in production of gun and small arms ammunition, chemicals and explosives, and armed vehicles. The automotive industry will cut down on war production, but the factories will continue to be fully engaged on civilian as well as military production. In 1945, however, production will include 130,000 military trucks, 25,000 trucks for UNRRA, and 23,000 trucks for essential civilian needs.

• • •

More School Teachers ?

● It looks as if the shortage of school teachers is letting up. The Department of Labor has "unfrozen" them, and next year they will not require special permits to leave their jobs.

• • •

Khaki College

● A program of education and vocational training has been planned for personnel in overseas units, both in Europe and the United Kingdom. Every soldier will be eligible to take part-time courses, and those who can be released can take full time work at a Khaki College, where intensive instruction will be given in all academic subjects up to second year university. There will be refresher courses for teachers, and a variety of other courses including agriculture, forestry and commercial training.

Core of the whole scheme is the compulsory course in "re-orientation". This consists of a series of studies in citizenship designed to bridge the gap between the years of military life and the civilian world.

• • •

War Casualties

● Up to the end of the European war, Canada had suffered a total of 102,845 casualties. Of these 37,206 were dead, 53,066 wounded, 3,769 missing, and 8,834 prisoners or interned.

Total Canadian casualties in the last war up to February, 1921, were 210,096, of whom 56,000 were killed and 150,000 wounded.

Danger Ahead

(Financial Post)

No matter how slow or how fast, no matter how skilfully and with what wisdom industrial reconversion is managed, there well certainly be some confusion, some delay, some hardship. Management and labor leaders have a difficult, critical job that requires the maximum of good sense, understanding and well-thought-out policies. During that period, whenever and wherever pockets of unemployed appear, the cry will be raised that "free enterprise has failed to produce full employment" and the totalitarians among us will promise anything and everything utopian.

THE WEEKLIES SAY...

FOR INTELLLIGENT VOTING

Great sacrifices have been made to maintain freedom and the right of free men to choose their rulers by ballot. We should make a determined effort to learn all we can about each of the parties and and what they stand for, so that the ballot on June 11 can be marked with judgment and conviction.

POST-WAR CHANGE

We would like to see the changed world which we were told would follow. So far it looks exactly the same to us as we had in September 1939. There is one change we want, one of our privileges restored — the privilege of running our own business.—Pembroke Bulletin

PRAISE FOR A.R.P.

The fact that the A.R.P. (Air Raid Protection) was never called to function in the realm for which it was prepared does not in any sense detract from the service they rendered. We tender them our thanks for a job now happily concluded — and at the same time offer a prayer of thanks that their services were never needed.

— Kamloops Sentinel

THOSE WAR BOARDS

Now that the end of the war in Germany has come, many government restrictions are being eased, but so far not one of the boards or commissions has been abolished.

— Granby Leader-Mail.

CLEAN-UP SUGGESTION

The outside of every building is constantly taking a beating in one form or another from the elements —and especially so in winter. Now is the time to get a ladder, making sure that it is soundly constructed and well anchored when you use it — and go over the entire exterior of your house or other buildings. Make a complete inventory of its needs.

— Carleton Place Canadian

CAREFUL SERVICEMEN

When you consider the fact that several thousand servicemen have made use of this club (Canadian Legion Recreation Centre) during the past three years with an average of two hundred always here, and you note the perfect condition of the furniture and other articles in the rooms, one comes to the conclusion that servicemen are not generally destructive, and incidents which happened elsewhere should not be tags attached to all the Navy and other services.

— Lunenburg Progress-Enterprise

Watch for Crooks

(Toronto Financial Post)

One piece of protection the serviceman must give himself.

Keep out of the clutches of cranks, fools, racketeers and every kind of crook.

The crooks are already licking their chops over post-war possibilities for crookedness. The well-meaning crackpots are rubbing their hands at the prospects of partnerships with veterans with their savings and their gratuities.

Some very serious and blatant instances of racketeering, with the war veteran the victim, have come to attention of this journal. Particularly poisonous is the trick of a few so-called "business brokers" who take over a vacant store, install a few dollars' worth of old equipment, then sell "the business" as "a going concern" at a handsome price.

Canada needs more small businesses. Coming up is an unparalleled opportunity for launching them.

Chief Scout's Last Meeting

His Excellency the Governor-General, the Chief Scout for Canada, will preside for the last time as head of the Canadian Boy Scout Movement at the annual meeting of the Association in Ottawa on June 14. His Excellency, who has taken a keen interest in the Movement since coming to Canada was a personal friend of the late Lord Baden-Powell, Founder of Scouting, under whom he served as a Lieutenant in the South African War. A unique feature of His Excellency's term as Chief Scout for Canada was his playing host to several hundred Scouts who camped on the grounds of his official residence, Rideau Hall, for a week-end in 1943.

Farewell Gathering

More than three thousand Boy Scouts and Girl Guides will attend a ceremony at Rideau Hall, on June 9, when they will bid farewell to the Governor-General and to H.R.H. the Princess Alice, who is Honorary President of the Canadian Girl Guides.

Family at Lakefield Suddenly Bereaved

The Late Wm. Dunn, Jr.

Lakefield — On Friday last, word reached Mrs. Wm. Dunn, Jr., of the sudden death of her husband, at the Brantford General Hospital.

Deceased was born in Grindon, Northumberland, Eng., the son of Wm. Dunn and his wife Annie Brodie Carswell, of that place, who left England to settle in Miami, Man., where their son William was educated.

In 1918 he enlisted in the Navy, where he spent one year. After his return home he farmed at the homestead, and in 1931 he married Miss A. Constance Mount, of Lakefield.

In 1940 he enlisted in the R.C.A.F., but was discharged in 1942 on account of ill health. He had been engaged in war work since that time, mostly at Brantford, Ont., his wife and family living in Lakefield on account of war conditions.

Mrs. Harold Maslin accompanied her sister to Brantford where the military funeral was held, burial taking place at the Soldiers' Plot in Mount Hope Cemetery. Pallbearers were members of the Canadian Legion and personnel of the Crown Electrical Manufacturing Company.

Beautiful flowers from relatives and friends brought comfort to the bereaved. No kindly or sympathetic attentions were lacking to soften the shock of their great loss.

Deceased is survived by his father, Wm. Dunn, Sr., his mother, two sisters, and his widow and four daughters at Lakefield.

Corrects Claim Made in Political Campaign Speech

CORRESPONDENCE TO THE EDITOR

Lachute, June 5, 1945

Editor, The Watchman:

On May 17 The Watchman published the 'Nomination Day Speech' by James McGibbon.

It would appear that Mr. McGibbon was searching for things done and improvements made which in the last four years could be construed as having been sponsored by him for the county.

Mr. McGibbon has tried to leave the impression that he was responsible for getting electricity for Hill Head farmers.

In the early spring of 1944, the writer purchased the farm formerly owned by Arthur Pollock at Hill Head. The neighboring farmers and myself got together and through communal enterprise and initiative, we all helped together to build an electrical line as far as Lloyd Hume's farm.

The poles were cut off a local farm and were planted by the interested group. The cross-arms, etc., were picked up locally, and most of the wire came off an abandoned line elsewhere. The balance was supplied by a local electrician. Local electricians strung the wire, and wired the houses with material on hand.

The whole idea was conceived and executed by our own group of farmers in Hill Head, and paid for by us. We got no government assistance, so it is difficult to understand where Mr. McGibbon or the King Government can take credit for this improvement in our district.

Yours truly,
W. M. Cottingham

JUST PLAIN SENSE!

The Canadian people have made a magnificent contribution to the common victory in Europe.

The Liberal administration can say with honesty and justice:

These things are now a matter of record and of common knowledge.

On the basis of its record the choice of Prime Minister King's party to form the next Government of Canada is a matter of just plain sense!

VOTE LIBERAL

PUBLISHED BY THE NATIONAL LIBERAL COMMITTEE

Some Questions Which Mr. McGibbon Should Answer!

1. Why did you vote FOR and AGAINST conscription within twenty minutes ?

2. Why do you publish a manifesto wherein the English text is totally different from the French text ?

3. Why do you mention Borden, Laurier, Chevrier, Fournier, St-Laurent in your French text, and omit their names in the English text ?

4. Why do you mention family allowances in the French version, and omit them in your English one ?

5. Why do you claim that the Canadian war effort is the work of the Liberal party ?

6. Have you ever heard of the little man of no party who stood behind the gun, behind the tools and bought the bonds ?

7. Where do you stand on Canada's manpower policy for the future ?

8. What is your labor policy, particularly as it affects this constituency ?

9. What is your agricultural policy, particularly towards the Argenteuil farmers ?

10. What is your conception of Canada's role in international affairs ?

11. Are you for planned economy and veiled socialism as Mr. King is, or do you favor free enterprise ?

12. What are your policies, if you have any — and for heaven's sake, WHO COOKED UP THAT CHILDISH MANIFESTO of yours, anyway ?

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Bishop of Diocese at St. George's Anglican Church, Brownsburg

The Rt. Rev. John Dixon, Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Montreal, paid his first official visit to St. George's Church, Brownsburg, on Sunday evening and officiated at the confirmation of five candidates — four from Lachute and one from Brownsburg — also receiving two applicants into the membership from another church.

The choir, augmented by members of the St. Simeon's choir, sang the anthem, "Unto the Hills", with Mrs. N. Somers as organist.

The Rev. C. R. Lang, rector, presented the candidates for confirmation, and the Bishop voiced a welcome and exhortation to the newcomers in a very inspiring address. The Rev. J. W. Ball, St. Andrews East, and the Rev. G. T. Spriggs, Lachute, also assisted in the service, which was largely attended.

* * *

Montebello — At the morning service in Christ Church, Seigniory Club, Bishop Dixon officiated at a confirmation service and dedication of a new electric organ. The rector, the Rev. Owen Prichard, had charge of the service.

Skit Presented Before Christian Endeavor

The regular meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society was held Monday evening in the hall of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church.

The meeting was of particular interest in that a skit entitled, "To Go or Not to Go," was presented by an inter-denominational C.E. group from Montreal, by the Quebec C. E. president, Kenneth Hall. The skit had special reference to the C. E. annual summer conference held at Knowlton, Que.

In addition to the regular C. E. Society members, the meeting was attended by both the St. Andrews and Margaret Rodger Memorial Young People's groups, the former being accompanied by the Rev. Dr. Wm. MacMillan.

The evening concluded with the serving of refreshments.

The next regular weekly meeting will be held Monday, June 11, at which the guest speaker, Miss Catherine King, of Cushing, will present an address on her missionary work in the Orient. As this talk should be of particular topical interest, our thoughts being at present centered on the Asiatic war theatre, a cordial invitation is extended to any who may desire to hear it.

The only thing wrong with our democratic system is poor circulation of the unselfish spirit.

OTTAWA VALLEY W.M.S. GATHERING HELD AT CUSHING

The annual sectional meeting of the Ottawa Valley Branch of the W.M.S. of the United Church was held June first in the Stone Hall, Cushing. About 100 members, affiliated members and friends attended.

Miss Mary L. Lamb, of St. Andrews East, Montreal Presbyterial vice-president for this district, presided. A cordial welcome was given by Mrs. Archie Graham, president of Cushing Auxiliary, who were hostesses on this occasion.

Highlights of the day were the addresses of Mrs. Wm. Yeudall, president of Montreal Presbyterial, and of Miss Sybil Courtice, of the Italian Mission, Montreal, who returned about a year ago from Japan.

During the morning session a beautiful solo, "Come Unto Me," was sung by Mrs. A. G. Ingham, accompanied by Mrs. F. A. Sissons, both of Montreal. In the afternoon session, Mrs. Robert A. Ogilvie, recently arrived from Scotland, sang "Rest in the Lord." She was accompanied by Mr. S. S. Campbell, Lachute.

Miss Winifred Parker, Christian Stewardship secretary, and Mrs. E. de Blois Bailey, Associate Members secretary, brought short messages bearing on the work of those departments.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. J. S. Nickerson, of St. Andrews East. Mrs. Izzard, of Brownsburg, led the In Memoriam service, during which a moment of silence was observed in tribute to departed friends. The offering was received by Mrs. Starnes and Mrs. Irvin Fuller, of Cushing, while Miss Davidson favored with pianoforte music. Mrs. Yeudall offered the dedicatory prayer.

At Roll-Call the following auxiliaries responded — Brownsburg, Cushing, St. Andrews East, Lachute; affiliated societies—Shawbridge, Morin Heights, Arundel. Six members of Montreal Presbyterial Executive, and three visitors and five members from Vankleek Hill, Ont., attended.

It was moved by Mrs. A. Graham, seconded by Miss A. L. Wales, that Mrs. Rupert Bradford be vice-president for the next term of office. It was moved by Mrs. S. J. Pike, and seconded by Mrs. Thompson, of Brownsburg, that Mrs. Pasco, of Brownsburg, be the new sectional secretary.

Mrs. Wm. Ussher brought greetings from the Montreal W.C.T.U. and also from the Grenville-Vaudreuil Auxiliary. She, as Temperance Secretary of the Executive of the W.M.S., had a message to deliver on that topic. She stated that the W.C.T.U., started 62 years ago, was the oldest women's organization. Women today had the vote and should use this new privilege. She lauded the efforts of "Alcoholic Anonymous"; but added, "It is better to provide a fence around a precipice than an ambulance at the bottom". She urged for understanding and sympathy for the returned men of the armed forces who have undergone shattering experiences.

Mrs. Rupert Bradford gave the invitation from the Lachute Auxiliary, to hold next year's meeting at Lachute.

Mrs. S. Rowe, of Shawbridge, as spokeswoman for the Courtesy Committee (which included also Mrs. G. A. Clunie, Lachute, and Mrs. Anderson, Morin Heights), thanked the hostesses for the use of the fine building, for the delicious lunch and tea, and lovely floral decorations. She voiced the appreciation of all present at having Mrs. Yeudall and other members of the Board present, and for the wonderful inspiration Mrs. Yeudall and Miss Courtice had given by their addresses. She also thanked the singers.

The meeting closed with the singing of the hymn "O Master of the Waking World" and prayer by the Rev. S. T. Burman, pastor of St. Mungo's Church, Cushing.

MUTUAL TERROR

A CHARTER OF RIGHTS FOR YOUTH

"Youth has spoken for itself in recent years—spoken by deeds, not words, whenever it has been given opportunity."

John Bracken

Yes, and youth is speaking now — speaking as candidates of the Progressive Conservative Party, youth that has won its spurs by heroic deeds in defense of freedom — youth that brought victory to our cause — is now, through the Progressive Conservative Party, given the opportunity to take its place in the government of the nation.

The saddest story of all the centuries is the story of youth in the past two decades . . . of youth made cynical by neglect, embittered by repeated betrayal and disillusioned by the apparent indifference of those to whom they had entrusted their destiny.

Today, with the Youth of Canada at his side, John Bracken says:

"Let us see to it that the State in our time discharges its full obligation to those upon whom society's mantle will shortly fall from our shoulders — the men and women of tomorrow, the boys and girls of today."

John Bracken, father of fighting sons, has defined in precise terms the Progressive Conservative conception of Canada's responsibility to its youth:

- This party regards it as a primary concern of government to establish a basis of equality of opportunity in matters of health, education, training and employment.
- To broaden opportunity, we will encourage through grants the development in our secondary schools of specialized training for primary industries such as agriculture, mining, forestry and fisheries. We will provide financial assistance to enable our young people, according to their abilities, to receive advanced technical or professional training in our universities, at home or abroad.
- We believe in and will encourage a broad system of recreation and cultural centres. These will be extended to the rural areas through assistance in the erection of community centres.
- We will establish a Youth Advisory Council, composed of representatives of youth from all the provinces. Its function will be to consider and make recommendations to the government on matters of policy affecting Canadian youth.
- The Progressive Conservative Party pledges itself to the achievement of these goals by policies which will assure jobs for workers at decent pay, a square deal for farmers, restored confidence to business men and a national development plan for Canada.

Yes, Youth speaks from the platform of the Progressive Conservative Party, the average age of whose candidates is in the early forties. Compare that with the last House of Commons, where the average age was over 60. Look to Youth for action — to the Bracken Team for Youth.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED YOUR CHILDREN FOR FAMILY ALLOWANCES?

1,200,000 FAMILIES have already registered for Family Allowances. Approximately 100,000 families who are entitled to register and who will benefit, have not yet registered.

Family Allowances cheques will be mailed in July.

If you want to receive your first cheque, register now. If you delay your registration any longer, it may not be possible to deal with your application in time to send you the first cheque.

If you have children under 16 and if your income is under $3,000 a year, you will benefit from Family Allowances. If you have not registered, and intend to do so, please act at once! Family Allowances Registration forms have been mailed to every family. They can be obtained at the nearest post office or by writing to the Regional Director of Family Allowances in the capital of your province.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES AND INCOME TAX

When the Family Allowances Act was passed, Parliament approved the principle that there should be no duplication of benefits by way of Family Allowances and Income Tax credits for the same child.

Family Allowances cheques will be paid in full every month. But for the last six months of 1945 an adjustment will be made to avoid duplication of benefits. The table below shows the effect of this adjustment and will enable taxpayers to determine the extent to which they will benefit from Family Allowances.

TABLE SHOWING EFFECT OF ADJUSTMENT FOR 1945

AMOUNT OF TAXABLE INCOME					Percent by which taxpayers will benefit from Family Allowances in addition to present income tax credits, for 1945.
Not over $1200					100%
Over $1200	but not over		1400		90%
" 1400	"	"	1600		80%

" 2000	"	"	2200		50%
" 2200	"	"	2400		40%
" 2400	"	"	2600		30%
" 2600	"	"	2800		20%
" 2800	"	"	3000		10%
" 3000					0%

NOTE:—This table applies to married persons and others having the status of married persons for income tax purposes. For the relatively small number of single persons supporting children and not having married status for income tax purposes, and for members of the Armed Forces, special tables can be obtained from the Regional Director of Family Allowances in each provincial capital.

The BENEFITS: The Family Allowances Act was passed to help equalize opportunities for all children. The monthly allowances will assist in providing medical, dental and nursing services, better food, better clothing and shelter.

Family Allowances are additional to dependents' allowances for servicemen's families and military pensions.

Furthermore, Family Allowances are NOT taxable. You do not add these monthly payments to your total income when computing your income tax.

In the column at left is an explanation of the relationship between Family Allowances and Income Tax deductions for children. From the table given you can determine quickly the extent to which you will benefit.

REGISTER NOW!

If you intend to apply for Family Allowances but have not already done so, please act at once—in the interests of your children. Remember, the first cheques will be mailed in July, but only to to those who have registered and are eligible to receive Family Allowances.

SCALE OF MONTHLY ALLOWANCES FOR THE FIRST FOUR CHILDREN

For each child
Under 6	$5.00
From 6 to 9 (inclusive)	6.00
From 10 to 12 (inclusive)	7.00
From 13 to 15 (inclusive)	8.00

Where there are more than four children under 16 in the family, the monthly allowance for each child after the fourth will be reduced in accordance with the provisions of the Family Allowances Act.

Get Out and Vote

By Jessie Allen Brown

Election time is drawing near and every woman should get out and vote, as it is our duty and our privilege. Many view with alarm the growing number of political parties. Our form of government was designed for two parties, but it is fast getting away from that. The ideal condition is when the Government in power has a clear majority and there is a strong opposition. It is not good for any government to have too large a majority, nor is it good for the country. There has been discussion over lowering the voting age to 18 years. A High School teacher discussed this with her senior girls. They all wanted to vote when the time came, but not one of them wanted to get it at 18. They felt they did not know enough and that by the time they were 21 and out working they should know more and be better prepared.

Suggest A National W.I. Publication

Organized Women's Institutes throughout Canada have been asked to have as a future objective the publishing of a national W.I. organ covering the entire Dominion. Several of the provinces have, or have had, their own provincial paper, and the idea is to merge into one larger publication the entire news of the whole of Canada of special interest to Institute members.

HOSIERY HARVEST

Chilliwack, B.C.(CP)— Grow your own silk stockings, advises Mrs. Peter Giesbrecht, who has been doing just that for the past two years. Mrs. Giesbrecht supplies herself and her family with silk socks and stockings knitted from silk produced by her own silkworms on her own mulberry trees.

WOMEN AND WAGES

Examination of employment insurance figures for 1941-42 period shows that of the 705,000 women then registered, 172,000 were earning less than $12 a week . . . 74,300 girls were under 19. . . . Such low wages make it well-nigh impossible for them to build any security through savings.

CASUALTY LISTS HIGH AT HOME

In the first five years of the war, 74,000 babies died in Canada and all before they were one year old, according to Dr. Ernest Couture, Director of the Maternal and Child Hygiene Division of the Department of National Health and Welfare.

Canada's infant mortality rate of 54 out of every 1,000 live births indicates the need for more prenatal and post-natal care, the doctor points out.

Although the fight against infant deaths is making headway, Canada still lags behind many other countries. These include the United States, which has reduced its infant mortality rate to 40.14 per 1,000 live births; New Zealand, which has a rate of 29 per cent; and England and Wales which has reduced its rate to 49.

The chief cause of infant mortality in Canada is prematurity, according to Dr. Couture. In 1943 alone, 3,470 deaths were due to this cause and 40 per cent of all infant deaths occurred in the first month of life.

Monkey Circus – Midway Attraction

"The Monkey Circus" — home of the performing monkeys, educated ponies and trick dogs — is one of the featured attractions with the Wallace Bros. Shows, coming to Lachute Fair. . . . Prince (right) scampers, climbs and runs to his heart's content; he's mischievous too, but always ready to take a turn in the performance.

Be sure and bring the kiddies to see this show — and give yourself a treat, for you will enjoy it too!

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

TOO MUCH DEFEATS ITS OWN ENDS

Radio gives us many good things, but too often too much of a good thing! Each program initself may be superb, but when they all have the same idea, the cumulative effect adds up to too much. I never thought I could become tired of good music, but when President Roosevelt died, at the end of three days of very beautiful music I would have welcomed some good boogie-woogie! When V-E day came we had some very fine programs, but each program seemed to be imbued with the idea there might be too much joy and not enough realization of what was to come, that finally you began to wonder if we really had won the war. Almost all of Andrew Allan's plays are good, but too many plays with messages leave you bored and with the desire to turn the dials. Occasionally yes, but not weekly. At first I listen with attention and interest to the speeches in an election campaign, but after being assailed at intervals day and night I have had too much and do not want to hear any of it. I am glad I do not live in Ontario now, with two election campaigns on the recent airwaves. Too much defeats its own ends.

LESS SUGAR

The reduced sugar ration will make a difference in our choice of meals, but most of us are willing to give up some of our hitherto generous portion to those who have had so little. We each get the same quantity of sugar but each family uses it differently. If sugar is used in tea and coffee and on cereals there will be that much less for other purposes. People who do do not use sugar these ways will have a little more for cake or desserts. Large families can manage a little better as they can scrounge a little from each portion and thus get enough for a little baking. If I give a recipe requiring what seems to you to be a lot of sugar, it will be for the use of others who can use their sugar for this purpose. However, I will try to find as many sugar saving recipes as possible.

PACKAGED BISCUIT FLOUR

Hot breads use little sugar and as almost everyone likes them, now is a good time to make them frequently. I have never used as much prepared biscuit flour as I have done recently as it requires no butter. Cheese biscuits are great favorites in our family. To make them just add three-quarters cup of grated cheese to two cups of packaged biscuit flour. They are specially good with salads and have the added virtue of supplying more protein. By using this prepared flour I can manage to have strawberry shortcake.

GINGER SNAPS

2½ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1½ teaspoons of ginger, ½ cup shortening, 1 cup of molasses.

Heat the molasses until it bubbles, then add the shortening. Cool slightly, and stir in the sifted dry ingredients. Blend well and chill. Roll ⅛ inch thick on a lightly floured board. Cut with a cookie cutter, and bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees.

FUDGE SAUCE

1 Cup light corn syrup, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate.

Combine the chocolate and the corn syrup and heat in the double boiler until the chocolate is melted. Remove from the heat and beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Add the vanilla. Serve hot with puddings or ice cream. This sauce will keep stored in the refrigerator.

Books and Bugs

(Brantford Expositor)

Despite horribly fascinating thoughts conjured up in macabre imaginations, books and "bugs" don't get along well together. There is hardly a self respecting microbe anywhere that would be found dead in a book. Or, at any rate, if he were found there, he would almost certainly be dead—as dead as a doornail, or whatever it is that a staphylococcus or a streptococcus become as dead as. The literal as well as literary truth is that books are too dry and too cold for these minute organisms to live in.

WOMAN AUTHOR IS COMBINED GENIUS OF TWO PERSONS

Two Writers' Personalities of Peas-in-the-Pod Similarity

Chicago (CP)—Claire Jaynes, the author, leads a singular double life. — In fact, she is two persons; in the fancy of her creators and readers, she is just one.

Four days a week, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mrs. Clara Spiegal and Mrs. Jane Mayer isolate themselves in a secret hideout, merge their thoughts and talents, and effectively imagine they are Clare Jaynes. It's an unusual trick, and they turn it in an unusual way.

The results of their joint endeavors include two novels.— "Instruct My Sorrows," which recently was converted into a movie titled "My Reputation," and "These are The Times" — and a number of short stories. Another book is in prospect.

The secret of their success, very probably, is their peas-in-the-pod similarity. The trim matrons are the same size. They went to Vassar together, married business executives, settled down and and observed the city and suburban life that provided their fundamental material. Ten years ago they were bitten by the literary bug, discovered they were identical "thought twins", and formed a partnership under a nom-de-plume contrived from their given names.

They work in a room that is out of this world indeed. Very few people know where it is. It's bare as a poet's garret. There are no distractions — telephone, radio, pictures or mirrors—and happily, no wolf at the double-locked door. Just a desk, two chairs, a typewriter, several reference volumes, a stack of note books, a coffee pot and a rusty horse shoe.

Character Creation

Either one may contribute a basic story idea. Then they "meditate aloud." As they talk, the characters take shape like Aladdin's jinn. The discuss them in biographical detail until "our people seem real." A plot develops. A full outline of action is drafted, and divided into episodes.

Simultaneously, one writes the first episode and the other the second in longhand. They read each other's copy, make changes, revise the revisions until they are in agreement, and put the instalments through the typewriter. Ultimately, they have a complete manuscript.

Away from the shop they lead prosaic lives. Mrs. Spiegel has two children; Mrs. Mayer has three. They supervise their households, play tennis, ride, often get together for social evenings, and devote two days a week to Red Cross service.

In conversation they refer to Clara Jaynes as 'she". On correspondence Clara signs the "Clare" half of the signature, and Jane writes the complementary "Jaynes"

Local Hospital in 'Blue Cross' Plan

The Plan of Quebec Hospital Service Association is one of the 84 Blue Cross Plans operating in Canada and the United States which are protecting over 17 million people against the cost of hospitalized illness or accident. Quebec Hospital Service Association is a non-profit, community-wide, co-operative, and non-political organization operating on a group basis, whose principle aims and objectives are to impress upon the public the necessity of preparing for illness in time of health and, in so doing, bring to the low salaried people the opportunity of hospital care in case of such illness and accident. After three years' operation in this province, more than 13,000 hospital bills have been paid to the various hospitals, representing an amount of over $650,000.

The Board of Governors give their services without remuneration and Blue Cross Plans do not pay any dividends, commissions or bonuses. Surplus funds are returned to subscribers by way of additional benefits. Thus, after one year's operation, members of the Association who were entitled to 21 days' hospital care during the first contract year, had this benefit increased to 31 days for the second and subsequent years, allowances for laboratory examinations, X-Ray and physical therapy were also increased — thus representing a general increase of 50% in benefits.

According to latest figures, the subscriber's money is used as follows: 70% as payment to hospitals for care given to members, 19% for administrative expenses, and the remaining 11% placed in reserve to secure additional benefits to subscribers.

Blue Cross co-operates with hospitals in all parts of the province and feels proud to have the local "Hôpital de la Providence" as a member institution. Through the Plan, all affiliated hospitals are assured of prompt payment of their bills, thus eliminating bad debts and continued requests for public assistance. Most hospitals, of course, are non- profit organizations whose only purpose is to serve the public.

Through group enrolment with the Association, hospital care is placed within the reach of everyone. The enthusiastic reception given to the Plan by the public, and the continued growth of the Hospital Service movement, are the best assurance that the Plan is a success.

Blue Cross encourages the people not to delay hospital care when it is needed — the knowledge that the hospital bill will be paid constitutes for the patient a feeling of security and contributes to a shorter period of convalescence, thus helping a great deal in raising the health level of the province.

strip by rolling a billet six inches thick on either side of which was a ¼ inch layer of copper This material was used to a limited extent but when it is considered that present supplies of copper will only last for 20 years at present rate of consumption, it can readily be seen that, if we are no more successful than last time in formulating a permanent peace, the next war will have to depend upon steel, aluminum or magnesium to produce its small arms ammunition.

Other items of interest observed during the speaker's travels included the manufacture of variable-pitch propellers, a Canadian invention (Mr. Turnball, of Rothesay, N.B.); four-wheel drives made by McKinnon Industries in St. Catharines, at what originally was the carriage works of McLaughlin, the forerunner of the Buick car; pygmy motor-generator sets for portable radios; and the manufacture at Welland of an ingredient for smokeless powder to make it flash-proof. This latter material made possible one of the Allies' early victories, namely the defeat of the Italian fleet at Taranto.

Seeing a girl, in an armament plant, signal a crane, attach the hooks to a large cannon barrel, then climb aboard and ride down the shop, was an unusual sight to the speaker, but it indicated how women were going "all out" to aid the manpower shortage and deserved much credit.

In closing Mr. Somers paid a tribute to the men who stayed at home, much against their will, to produce "the tools that finished the job". They will get little or no credit but nevertheless played a big part in winning the war.

Dr. Ralph Percival of Lachute, thanked the speaker.

President Sam Ross then announced that Hub Tomalty would be in charge of the co-operative effort on transportation for the next blood clinic June 19. The support of everyone was requested.

The drawing of an electric washing machine to raise funds for community service work, was announced. Since every cent of such moneys will be used for charity work, the full support of local citizens is anticipated.

GEO. H. HEON, IND. PROG.-CONS., WINS FEDERAL SEAT

Former Cons. M.P. Again in Favor, Defeats McGibbon (Lib.) ex-Fed'l Representative; Less Adherence to the Old Party Divisions

Termination of Heated Campaign, Soldiers' Vote Still Pending

The trend which had been noted generally as the election campaign advanced in Argenteuil, materialized in a plurality vote for Georges H. Héon, Independent Progressive-Conservative, against James W. McGibbon, Liberal, and Edouard Gendron, Social Credit.

As the twelve urban polls reflected the sentiment in Lachute, and the heavy lists were reported from Brownsburg, these with a few outside polls at first left little to choose between the two major candidates early Monday night; but as the more distant polls rolled in, Héon's majority became established. At one stage it hovered around 483 votes, but final figures whittled this majority to the 249 mark.

Speculations on the Soldiers' Vote

The influence of the soldiers' vote on these results is open to individual speculation — each according to his political hopes and leanings. The returns from this source will be received by Gaetan Valois, District Returning Officer, on Monday, and final counting and computing of ballots for this constituency will be made the following day.

(In the last federal election, 1940, the vote returned by the servicemen of this county gave a majority of 4 for Jas. McGibbon against Georges H. Héon). According to information available, there are roughly 300 eligible voters among men and women from this constituency in the armed forces.

Scenes of Excitement

Main Street, Lachute, was a scene of tense excitement Monday evening. Crowds gathered soon after the closing of polls at 7 o'clock. The Liberal enthusiasts and others assembled around the town hall to hear the reports as they came through, while Mr. Héon's followers, and the usual flow of townsfolk collecting their evening mail assembled at the candidate's law office on Main Street. There were others who heard the returns through access to the nearby office of Gaetan Valois, to whom the deputies were reporting by phone as votes were counted at the polls.

Altogether the election scene was good humored and orderly. Police officers of the town kept a mass of traffic under control, and public enthusiasm found no hint of expression in bad feeling.

Victor Acclaimed

At a post-election rally in Lachute Auditorium, the successful candidate received a noisy ovation. There was a capacity crowd. With Mr. Héon on the platform was his wife, who was presented with flowers, and many of his campaigners, to whom Mr. Héon gave sincere public recognition. Several of his workers spoke in congratulatory terms, but the keynote of the assembly was a genuine gratitude on the part of the candidate, and the credit which he accorded to his workers for the public verdict in his favor.

He had fought a close battle, said Mr. Héon—but the result, he claimed, was a direct triumph for the free thinking elements of the constituency. He counted his victory also as an eloquent plea and endorsement for inter-racial amity; the generous support he had received from communities of creed and language different from his own, had touchingly demonstrated this fact, he remarked. And to the ideal of inter-racial harmony, he again solemnly pledged his devotion. This platform — stressed once more as it had been stressed many times in his campaign — drew such warm approval from the crowd, it appeared to an observer that French-English understanding — this, and this alone — was the desideratum of Argenteuil County, and perhaps a determining factor in the vote.

Among those who spoke briefly were Lomer Carrière, Stanley Holt, A. Tetreault, Gerald Boyle, J. Fraser, Sr., Godfroy Delorme, P. E. Barre, G. Plamondon, A. E. Ladouceur, and Henri Crepeau. Also on the platform were coworkers from the voting divisions of the county, whom Mr. Héon thanked individually, while the various districts were also represented by groups in the audience.

Further celebrations continued in other spots of the town, while music and dancing concluded the evening at the Auditorium.

GEORGES H. HEON, winner in a three-sided contest here, running on an Independent Progressive-Conservative ticket in Monday's federal election. . . Mr. Héon was first chosen representative for Argenteuil defeating L. L. Legault, K.C. (Liberal) in a by-election February, 1938, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the Rt. Hon. Sir Geo. H. Perley. . . . In a general election and a wintry campaign held in March, 1940, Mr. Héon was defeated by James W. McGibbon (Liberal), making his debut into federal politics. Mr. McGibbon has represented the constituency up till the recent election.

Servicemen Have Learned Tolerance Which the World Badly Needs, Says Rehabilitation Officer, at Rotary

Brownsburg—The regular meeting of the Rotary Club was held at Carrière's Hotel with Sam Ross presiding. Gordon Harrison, who has spent considerable time in Brownsburg on personnel work, spoke on Rehabilitation. Guests included the chairman of the Brownsburg Rehabilitation Committee, Dave Cooper, also the president and secretary of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, Harold Mason and Bill Manson, respectively.

The speaker was introduced by Leo Holt of Lachute. . . Gordon Harrison was born in Cobourg, Ontario, attended school in Toronto, studied business administration at Western University and industrial relations at Queen's University. He worked for George Weston Bakeries Ltd., before coming to the C-I-L. "Dominion" Ammunition Division in 1940 on personnel work. Joining the army in 1943, he took advanced infantry training but was catagoried off overseas draft and entered personnel work in the army. Here he interviewed over 1,000 returned servicemen, followed up the result, and outlined the work to service clubs in the Toronto area.

Mr. Harrison said that civilians should not entertain the popular notion that every serviceman is a problem case.

He did, however, compare their needs to a three-legged stool. Home, social life and employment are the three supports, and without all of them being satisfactorily built up, there is failure.

Sincerity is the most important factor in dealing with the returned men. "You waste your time and the man's, if you are not sincere", the speaker said.

The odd fellow may be restless, upset and "blow off" his feelings occasionally, but they get a little tired, after coming back from a really "big show", to hear people complaining about the rations, minor inconveniences and at the same time bragging about the black market and how they can get commodities which are scarce.

"Emotional instability is much overrated," the speaker stated. He added: "The serviceman usually has better mental health than the general public, because the unsuitable were rejected when they tried to enter the service."

Psychiatrists have found that one third of any ordinary group of people have low mental rating.

Regarding government rehabilitation the speaker advised caution. The act can readily be misinterpreted. "Do not advise unless you know," he said. Men can be misdirected, too, with advice to go to college. Some should go, but those who are not suited for such study become frustrated and unhappy. Mr. Harrison also advised against "making tailored plans for your boy. . . He is fed up with plans and wants to be on his own. Endeavor to keep in the background, encouraging his ideas where they will do the most good. Don't start any assistance that you do not intend to follow through to a definite conclusion," he urged.

Several things that appear of major importance to the general public, do not worry the soldier in the least. They get tired of seeing the bickering between religious groups. They have seen Jew, Catholic and Protestant live together, fight side by side, and die together, and they have learned a tolerance which the world needs badly.

Neither is the reserve army a problem to them. In the Services you obey instructions, and they consider the reserve army members are in that branch for a reason often beyond their control.

Wandering Child Restored to Parents

All unconscious of traffic hazards, a three-year-old child with a comforter in his mouth was wandering toward the town limits one morning recently, until the kindly concern of east end residents halted his venture into the great unknown.

The youngster stopped briefly in his journey when surrounded by a group of English-speaking children playing on the Main Street. One of them drew his father's attention to the stranger in their midst, and the discerning parent soon realized the little fellow had wandered far from home. Enquiries revealed there had been no report to the town authorities concerning a missing child. The chief of police was elsewhere on business, so it remained for the neighbors to continue the search. The child, now tired and hungry, was taken into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Walker and shared the family meal, while another nearby resident, L. W. Armstrong, with a considerable knowledge of the town's population, took up the hunt.

The child appeared to answer almost enthusiastically to the name of "Larocque" This clue, and the abundance of Larocques around Lachute, proved misleading factors. Finally a resident at the west end of Bedard Boulevard, Mrs. J. Pagé, when contacted by telephone offered to make enquiries among her neighbors. Soon after, she reported back, that a Paul family, livat the corner of Bedard and Main Street West, had missed their youngster since 10 o'clock in the morning, and had been combing the river bank with grave premonitions as to his fate.

With the lad little realizing the anxiety he had caused, there was great rejoicing among his family when, at 2 o'clock that afternoon, he was restored to their care.

STE. AGATHE MAN IS ELECTROCUTED, REPAIRING WIRES

St. Agathe — Albert Bilodeau, 41-year-old chief electrician of the Town of St. Agathe, was killed Tuesday afternoon while repairing wires on the same pole where another man was electrocuted seven years ago. The pole is at the corner of Ste. Agathe and Prefontaine streets and supports several high tension transmission lines.

A Plouffe, assistant electrician, who was on the pole with Bilodeau, escaped injury, and was unable to explain how his chief was electrocuted. Coroner A. Duval rendered a verdict of accidental death.

Fredericton (CP) — A record number of anglers, nearly 600, came to New Brunswick from the United States for the spring salmon run, D. W. Griffiths, director of the government's Bureau of Information and Tourist Travel, announced.

Contract Let for Remodelling of St. Simeon's Church

At a well attended meeting Tuesday evening, the congregation of St. Simeon's Anglican Church arrived at decisions which ensure early progress on the remodelling of their church. The plans, prepared by Luke & Little, Montreal architects, which had been suggested, revised and studied by the building committee appointed for that purpose, were explained to the meeting by Dr. W. FitzGerald. These plans were duly approved, and estimates furnished by several building firms were considered. It was decided to entrust the work of construction to Cecil Carpenter & Co. Ltd, contractors, of Montreal, with a heating system installed by Howard Air Conditioning Ltd.

The renovations to St. Simeon's Church — a white-painted frame structure prettily situated in the centre of the town — will include the installation of a basement finished for public use, lowering of the roof interior, extension of the chancel, and a complete remodelling of the end fronting on Main Street. Here the entrance will be set in the centre, the spire completely rebuilt and lower in height than at present, with the font placed beneath it.

The cost of these changes will be in the neighborhood of $22,000. The church has at present $9,000 in hand to commence the work, and it was agreed to accept the offer of a loan of $14,000 from the Montreal Synod. A committee of six were appointed from the congregation, who together with the rector and wardens will devise means of financing. . . . The building fund is open for public contribution, and any support in this effort will be cordially appreciated by the committee.

The rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang, was chairman of the meeting.

LIEUT. G. DRYSDALE RELEASED PRISONER, NOW IN LACHUTE

Lieut. Gordon Drysdale, repatriated prisoner of war, arrived Tuesday evening in Lachute to visit his aunt, Mrs. George Staniforth and Mr. Staniforth.

During a tank assault in the Dieppe raid, he was taken prisoner, and had been in enemy hands until liberated some weeks ago in the Allied advance.

He now appears in good health and spirits. Here in his hometown where he was brought up, educated and later taught school, he finds keen pleasure in renewing friendships after his long absence.

Historical Society Executive Meeting

An executive meeting of the Argenteuil Historical Society was held last Saturday evening at the Carillon Museum, with the president, Dr. H. B. Cushing, in the chair.

The meeting was called largely for the purpose of devising ways and means to replenish funds necessary to carry on the work of the Society. Owing to the greater demands of war work, the executive have been somewhat reticent in their appeal for support, but as the treasury is now at a rather low ebb, they are desirous of procuring new memberships and will welcome any further gifts to the Society.

Lachute Spring Fair in Second Day With Prospect of Fine Weather

EXHIBITION HERE STILL HOLDS QUEBEC SUPREMACY

County Horse-Race Highlight Event This Afternoon

With the heavy horse, cattle, sheep, swine and other agricultural events maintaining their usual high standard in the 1945 edition of the Lachute Fair, the light horse show — and the pacing and trotting events — promise to be of special interest during the three days remaining of the "biggest outdoor show in Eastern Canada".

Manager Alex Bothwell's latest list of entries gave a very sizeable count of the animals in the show. At noon today, there were 175 heavy horses, 158 light horses, 135 Ayrshire cattle, 150 Holstein, 30 Jersey, 50 Shorthorn, 18 Angus, 14 Canadian and 10 Dairy cattle, 100 sheep and 150 swine. There is a surprisingly high standard in practically all entries with judging in every class difficult.

The highlight this afternoon is the opening of the harness events, with the County Race claiming key interest as far as local spectators are concerned. There are six entries, competing for the purse of $200 — steeds owned by Delbert McTavish, M. W. Ballantyne, Paul Joly, Thos. Fournier, P. Malette and E. St. Jacques. . . The two other track events today are 2.18 Pace and Trot ($210) with six entries, and the 2.27 Pace and Trot ($200) with no fewer than 13 entries.

Friday's and Saturday's track program, as announced by racing secretary James McKimmie, includes on Friday the 2.30 trot, 2.25 pace and trot; 2.14 pace and trot, and on Saturday 2.30 pace, 2.22 pace and trot, and the big event, the free for all.

Assisted by J. W. Gall, Col. J. E. Seale and others, the race committee is doing a noteworthy job.

Riverside Home Gutted by Fire

At 5 o'clock Saturday morning the local fire brigade was summoned to a blaze at the Reilly home on Hope Street; but from a shed and garage adjoining at the rear, where the outbreak started, flames spread quickly and soon gutted the entire building. Occupants of the home, William Reilly and his father Henry, now in his 80's, escaped in their night clothes and, with the exception of a fiddle, three trunks, clothes and cutlery, nothing was saved from the contents of the dwelling.

W. Reilly had put his car in the garage at 3 o'clock that morning and retired to his bed. At 4.35 o'clock a neighbor, Roland Paquette, was awakened by the crackling of burning wood and, seeing smoke pouring from the building, immediately turned in the alarm. When the firefighters and equipment arrived, flames were rising from the kitchen and woodshed at the rear of the living quarters. Mr. Paquette and another neighbor, Claude Prevost, assisted the aged Mr. Reilly from the building.

The proprietor had $1,800 insurance coverage on the property, which was considered a complete loss. The Orange hall adjoining, was scorched by the fire. Many early risers flocked to the scene of the blaze, on the bank of the North River.

Minor Blaze in Residence

At 6 p.m. the same day, the fire brigade responded to a call to the home of L. L. Legault, advocate, on Main Street, where curtains ignited in an upstairs sunporch and caused damage to the interior.

Blood Donor Clinic Here Next Week

This week's announcement concerning the Blood Donor Clinic, next Tuesday at Lachute Auditorium, is the last call issued through medium of The Watchman. Lest some, although willing to volunteer, should overlook to inform the committee of that fact, it remains for them to act immediately, so that appointents may be arranged to best advantage for operation of the clinic.

A blood donation, to help maintain the supply still needed by the Red Cross in its many spheres of activity, is one practical means of saying "Thank-you" for the sacrifices which brought us victory in Europe. And with many of our Canadian servicemen enrolled for further duty in the Pacific, it should require no other incentive to boost the list of blood-volunteers.

Charlottetown (CP) — It has been suggested that a fishing pond be built within easy reach of the city for the exclusive use of school boys with no means of transportation to fishing sites a long way from home. The idea was presented before a service club by Dr. Wendel MacDonald.

Seeds of Philosophy In Boyhood Days At St. Andrews E.

An amusing incident is recounted by a fire-watcher in the height of the air-raids over London. . . . "One night I was going up to the roof in a lift with a friend, for our night fire-watching. Everything seemed to be going pop at once, with that filthy drone of Jerry planes overhead. I said rather tersely to my companion, 'Do you believe in prayer?' . . The answer came back even more tersely, 'Shut up, I'm praying right now!' "

The story is told by Surgeon Lt. Geoffrey Simpson, now serving at Durban, S.A., with the British Navy. Dr. Simpson, as many readers will recall, is an old St. Andrews boy. His letter narrating the above anecdote is addressed to "Padre Spriggs" (the Rev. G. T. Spriggs, Lachute), by whose permission we quote two further passages from the doctor's letter:

"I owe much to the four years of my youth I spent in St. Andrews. I learned to be happy by myself, to provide my own amusement. A city provides too many distractions. I only hope that the children raised in the country appreciate their good fortune. There is too much 'sideline sitting' in the city child's life — mostly watching others perform and not doing the things themselves."

"Please commend me kindly to the congregation of Christ Church, St. Andrews. I wonder if I might conclude with a quotation I heard during a sermon in Christ Church about 30 years ago. I think it's the only sermon I ever really remembered, but I believe it covers everything:

'Isn't it strange
That kings and princes
And common folk
Like you and me
Are builders for eternity?
And each is given
A bag of tools,
A lump of clay
And a set of rules;
And each must finish
Ere life is flown
A stumbling block
Or a stepping stone.' "

Serg. Lieut. Simpson was anticipating a transfer to Britain, at the time of writing. His wife and family are at present in S. Africa. His mother is Mrs. R. St. John Simpson, Westmount, Que.

If we all gave our best in good times, there would be no bad times to demand it from us.

Youngsters Cause Power Shut-Off

Between 9 and 10 p.m. last Thursday evening a large section of this town in the centre and east wards was in darkness. A power interruption which twice "blew" the transformers, and gave considerable trouble to Gatineau Power Co. servicemen, was traced to a short circuit on the high tension lines on Robert Street, between Barron and Elizabeth. According to J. A. Gosselin, local manager, a length of hay wire had been thrown across the cables, causing a "jump", and mischievous youngsters were presumed responsible.

DUTCH ORCHARDS ALMOST RUINED, MINES A HAZARD

Beautiful Garden District of Betuwe Either Devastated by Nazis or Wrecked by War

Eindhoven, Holland (CP) — The first farmers are beginning to filter back to Holland's great orchard country, the rich Betuwe district, the "island" of land lying between the lower Rhine and the Waal west from Arnhem, and finding it a very dangerous business.

The orchards which once were famous throughout Holland and attracted thousands of visitors every spring are almost completely ruined. Many were cut down by the Germans, others were severely damaged by water or the heavy tanks, both German and Allied, which churned up almost every yard of ground in the Betuwe during the seven months this district was a battle area.

When the smoke of battle had cleared away, the once luxuriant garden district of the Betuwe was a waste land where weeds were growing up between the stalks of unharvested grain and the air was filled with the pestilential odor of bodies lying unburied in the fields.

Nearly all this country is dead, a no-man's land without people, mines are everywhere. The farmers who have already returned daily risk their lives while uprooting weed-grown fields.

The fruit warehouses that were scattered throughout the district will nearly all have to be rebuilt, virtually every village in the Betuwe is devastated, and there is left hardly one personal possession belonging to the families that lived in the region. The Germans drove away all the cattle and turned the houses into pillbox fortifications.

Some of the farmers who have come back to the Betuwe brought along some cows from the Brabant province, but they were obliged to throw out the milk, because there was nothing to keep it in and no way to transport it to the canneries and creameries.

At the historic old town of Huissen, across the river from Arnhem, which once was a virtual museum of facades, the bodies found buried under the ruins now total 200.

In the little village of Gendt, I found a 67-year-old-man who was one of the first farmers to return to the Betuwe. He has three sons who are prisoners-of-war in the hands of the Japanese. When I got to his farm he was out in the fields, looking for mines with his walking-cane.

He told me much about the privations that will face the people here when they return to find their villages, houses, and churches nearly all destroyed. But, he insisted, nearly all those who had been evacuated have but one thought — to get back to their farms despite the bleak outlook and the poor, hard years they will face.

ITALY MAY IMPOSE SPECIAL TAXES TO RESTORE CHURCHES

Government Seen Faced With Immense Task; 142 Destroyed and 1,605 Damaged in 33 Liberated Provinces

By LOUIS JACCARDI, Associated Press Writer

Vatican City (AP) — War has taken such a heavy toll of Italy's religious buildings that the Italian government may have to enact special tax legislation to further their restoration and reconstruction.

Since churches in Italy are considered public utilities, the Italian government normally would have to meet the expenses on its own, but the critical condition of Italian finances makes this practially impossible.

An idea of the task facing the Italian government is indicated in reports from 33 liberated provinces estimating the churches destroyed at 142 and those damaged at 1,605. To these are added 135 destroyed religious buildings — including numerous monasteries, seminaries and convents — and 954 damaged ones.

The restoration of 822 less severely damaged religious buildings at an expense of 120 million lire, has already begun. Reconstruction of buildings entirely destroyed has been postponed until the end of the war.

The Italian countryside is dotted with famous old churches and many of the towns and cities where they are located have seen bitter fighting.

Known to Tourists

Some of the churches destroyed or damaged are known to tourists and art lovers the world over. In Rome, the 1,500-year-old Basilica of San Lorenzo containing many 13th century frescoes, was severely damaged by a bomb during the first Allied air raid on Rome in July, 1943.

In Naples, the 5th century Church of Santa Chiara, with the mausoleum of Robert the Wise and frescoes by 13th century Italian masters, was also damaged. The Cathedral of Benevento was practically blown to the ground together with its famous 12th century Byzantine door.

The cost of restoration and reconstruction of these properties makes the prospects facing Italian tax-payers in the future anything but bright. It is hoped, however, that due to the artistic and cultural value of Italian religious buildings private contributions may come from Catholics all over the world. Groups of Brazilian Catholics, it is reliably reported, have already expressed their desire to finance the reconstruction of some Italian national monument — presumably having an artistic and religious importance — in a region of Italy where the Brazilian expeditionary corps fought.

LIBERATORS MET BY SMART GUARD AT PRISON CAMP

Grenadier Grds. RSM Establishes Excellent Morale Among Sick and Hungry Heroes of Arnhem Battle

Fallingbostel, Germany (CP) — Regimental Sergeant-Major J. C. Lord of the Grenadier Guards was "king" of 5,000 British and American prisoners-of-war in Stalag XI-B here.

Taken prisoner at Arnhem with several hundred men from the 1st Airborne Division, he spent six months at this camp. The prisoners here when he arrived were in helpless misery.

But when Maj. Ralph Cobbold of the Coldstream Guards brought a party of officers to the camp on the day it was liberated, he found at the gate an impressive guard in maroon berets.

"We thought that the 6th Airborne Division must somehow have got there first," said Maj. Cobbold, "but when I asked the guard commander when he arrived his answer was 'Just after Arnhem.'

"It was faultlessly turned out, that guard. They could have gone on duty at Buckingham Palace and done credit to their corps."

Then the regimental sergeant-major himself appeared. His trousers had razor-edge creases, his boots were dazzling, his brass gleaming and his webbing immaculate. In the office he produced chairs and offered tea. In reply to questions he had a corporal bring in the most complete files of camp personnel.

Touring the camp the Coldstream Guards officers found evidence of excellant morale and firm discipline in place of the confusion of six months earlier. Daily inspections and guard-mounting — unpopular when first introduced — have restored the prisoners' waning self-respect and revived their military bearing.

Yet every man in the camp had been hungry for months, and many were sick. Their daily meat ration was two coal-buckets of horse-flesh.

BANK PREPARED TO CO-OPERATE, FARM IMPROVEM'T LOANS

Recognizing that Canada's prosperity, now that war has stopped in Europe, will depend to a great extent on keeping up the farmer's earning power and buying power, the Bank of Nova Scotia has declared its desire to cooperate with the government in assisting farmers in every possible way. An intensive study has been made over recent months on ways in which money can be put to work on the farm so as to give additional profit to the farmer. Electrification, new and improved buildings, better drainage, better livestock . . . these are a few of many things that have been found to more than pay for themselves, once the problem of first cost is overcome. To this end, the government and the chartered banks are cooperating to advance long-term loans at low interest. Managers of the Bank of Nova Scotia have been specially instructed so that they can advise farmers on the best ways to take advantage of the plan. In whatever town or district a farmer may be situated, he is invited to call at the nearest branch and talk over his improvement plans with the manager.

BERMUDA FIGHTS T.B. IN CATTLE

Hamilton, Bermuda (CP) — Bermuda is making headway in its campaign against tuberculosis among the colony's dairy cattle. A recent agricultural report says that the tuberculosis test was made compulsory for all cattle and in place of the annual test, arrangements were made for the testing of all cattle at six-monthly intervals, and, in herds where disease was found, at three-monthly intervals until two consecutive tests showed no reaction.

TRACTOR FOR SMALL FIELDS

A new pocket tractor, low-priced and with small running costs, which enables even small fields to be mechanized, has been designed and produced by a British manufacturer.

This is a track-laying type tractor, powered by a small 5 h.p. engine. It was specially designed for work in areas of soft or waterlogged ground, or steeply sloping fields — conditions in which the wheeled tractor is not suitable. It is now also being used with great success in small fields and in market gardens, where, owing to its small size, it is able to work nearer the edges of the fields.

London (CP) — Britain's crop prospects for 1945 point to a record year. Fruit will be in short supply, but grain and farm products will be plentiful. Weather conditions have been favorable and farmers made rapid headway with all types of spring sowing.

FARMERS SELL OUT

Coronation, Alta., (CP) — Many district farmers have sold out after decades of farming in this area. Some are retiring and others are going into business in other lines. Some are moving to districts where long-term rainfall is more certain.

New Glass Kills Flies, Experts Can't Explain

Birmingham, Eng. (CP) — By accident, a Birmingham scientist, Dr. W. M. Hampton, has discovered a glass which kills off flies like a death ray and which, it is thought, may become standard equipment in the pest-free pantries of tomorrow.

Dr. Hampton insists that he still does not know exactly why it is that light when filtered through this glass will kill flies. He explained that he started to evolve this particular kind of glass at the request of the Admiralty who required a "non-actinic" substance to protect lighter-than-air observation craft.

The result was what Dr. Hampton termed his "3A anti-fade" — a new form of rolled glass which would absorb heat rays. It had a bluish tinge, and its first test was in the window of an abattoir.

The first hot day people commented on the "eerie" coolness experienced beneath the windows fitted with "3A anti-fade." The next day many dead flies were noticed on the floors beneath the windows.

The new glass is still killing flies in experiments — but none of the scientists who have examined it can explain why.

AUSTRALIA Bound

● WHEN war shut off pulp and paper exports from Scandinavia, the free countries of the world looked to Canada more than ever to fill the gap. And Canada's pulp and paper workers have come through with a great record of wartime production.

Shiploads of newsprint and pulp from Canadian mills have gone to many distant countries around the globe. Above, the roll of newsprint being wrapped is bound for Australia; other shipments have ranged from Iceland to Cape Horn, from Hawaii to Egypt.

Goodwill has been earned for Canada, which it is hoped will lead to good business in peace-time. Thus, the extra war efforts of the industry's workers are laying the foundation for continued steady employment in the post-war.

40 COUNTRIES

Today, Canada is supplying newsprint to sustain a free press in more than 40 countries throughout the world. Our average wartime supply for U.S. has been kept up to the pre-war average or better and we have sent Great Britain 70% of her total (and essential) supply of pulp.

A Job on Our Hands

REMEMBER the quaint toys we used to buy with "Made in Japan" stamped on them? We bought them for Christmas gifts or for pretty, inexpensive bridge prizes.

Now Japan is sending us gadgets that are not quite so harmless or quaint. Explosives in the form of small bombs are arriving in Canada via paper balloons 33 feet in diameter. It is assumed they are set loose somewhere in Japan, and carried by wind currents to this continent. They are meant to start fires in British Columbia forests, to kill livestock, or destroy buildings if they land in populated centres. As instruments of destruction, their power is almost nil, as they are mostly lost in the vast hinterland of the Canadian and American West.

However, these balloon-borne bombs remind us that distance is no longer a guarantee of safety. Canada's west coast is in the front line of battle; her shores are subject to submarine attack. The war in Europe has come to a dramatic and satisfying end, but as far as Canada is concerned the curtain is just rising on the war against Japan.

The Japanese is a wily foe. He can live on a handful of rice a day, and he has been taught that to die for his Emperor assures him a place of honor in the hereafter. He is a pagan and fights like a cornered beast. This enemy must be conquered just as completely as Germany.

Canada will fight in this Pacific war Many of our local boys are going there. Part of the Royal Canadian Navy is already there. The R.C.A.F. is growing steadily. Canadian troops have been in Japanese prison camps since 1941.

But don't get out the Sunday dishes and celebrate yet. We're having a breathing space now, but the boys at Okinawa aren't sitting back resting in their fox-holes. They are grimly aware that the war is still on. They need ammunition, guns, planes, ships . . . all specially treated for war in the Far East. They need food, medicine, cotton clothing. Above all they need a stable economy to come home to.

We can relax when the fighting is really over.

Ideas !

THE TOWN Council of Penticton, B.C., has an idea to help along returning service men and women, adopting the principle they will sell property to them at half price. The purchaser pays the full price to begin with, but at the and of three years he may apply for the 50% rebate, if still holding the property. This applies to any two lots within the municipal zoned area.

From Killarney, Man., comes an example "doing more with less," Farmer-auctioneer Maxwell for a month asked every farmer who came to his office whether he had any farm machinery he wasn't using and didn't intend to use. With a little build-up in the local press he soon had a sizeable list of usable equipment, and held a sale which grossed over $6,000; the farmers who needed odd equipment got it.

Beware Ill-Feeling

POINTING to the hazards of gullible reading, a statement by R. H. Davis, president of the National Council for Canadian Soviet Friendship, suggests that destructive propaganda is still at work among us. The following extracts are given for our readers' earnest perusal. . . .

"An increasing number of articles have appeared recently in which Nazi 'twists' were given to events involving the Soviet Union. Much of the anti-Soviet material published has no foundation in fact, but is based on prejudice tinged with malice.

"Some writers have sneered at the Russians for not having 'good clothes' or not doing this or that the way we do. They have thus obscured these important facts: That the Soviet Union has organized and equipped a powerful army capable of defending themselves — and us — against the mightiest military aggressors in history; that they are a hard working people, capable of the most generous sacrifices for an important cause — the defeat of fascism.

"The aftermath of war will witness many differences between the nations. This is inevitable. But those who magnify these differences, and inflame the minds of people with hatred, are traitors to the millions who made the supreme sacrifice for the cause of freedom.

"The Soviet Union has consistently advocated peace between the nations. The Soviet people have suffered heavy losses in this war— 15,000,000 dead, close to 50,000,000 homeless, their great cities destroyed, thousands of acres of farming land and mines, forests and industrial properties also destroyed by the enemy. They dearly want peace. . . . Let's play the game with the Soviet Union in peace, as we have done in war. If we Canadaians sow seeds of maliciousness and prejudice towards Russia, we sow Nazi seeds for World War III."

Still the Good Neighbor

LEST THE sacrifices of Great Britain be too lightly forgotten, let us remember that even now the Mother Country is bearing a heavier burden than Canada or the United States in curtailment of its foodstuffs, in order to feed the war oppressed peoples of Europe. Of the three countries Britain alone operates rationing programs for eggs, fluid milk, lard and shortening, cereal breakfast foods, citrus fruits, dried fruits, dried beans and peas, rice, tea, chocolate, and candy. Through supplying food to the starving nations of Europe and the curtailment of shipping to bring in its own supplies, Britain has had to make its rationing still more severe with the end of the war in Europe.

Lost Remembrances

ONE OF THE queer tricks of the human mind is that instinctive remembrance we get occasionally of having performed an action in precisely the same circumstances and setting. This vivid sense of recollection, without actual memory, sometimes assaults the mind so strongly that a man will pause in what he is doing to analyse the sensation.

It was never better put into words than by the English poet, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, when he wrote:

"I have been here before
But when or how I cannot tell:
I know the grass beyond the door,
The sweet keen smell,
The sighing sound, the lights around the shore . . . "

There are those who believe that this sense of having lived a similar experience previously may be due to reincarnation — a soul being born over and over again in different bodies at various stages of history. They offer the interesting theory that this might explain why we are drawn to some persons on first sight — we may have unconscious recollection of a similar personality in centuries gone by. It's stretching it far, though, to believe we can remember sights and smells from the days of Julius Caesar !

However, if such things could be, it might explain why travellers — such as the Canadian soldiers in this war — exclaimed on seeing parts of a foreign city for the first time: "Why, I know this place — I've seen it before!".

A more modern explanation is offered by those who say the human mind is a vast unconscious store-house of everything we have seen, heard, read, tasted, smelled and felt. They reason it would be strange indeed if in the repetitive acts of ordinary living we did not hit upon actions that would act like a short circuit to this unconscious storehouse and present in a flash an intangible memory, replete with all the details the senses can provide.

Those Army Patches

NOW THAT our men are coming back from overseas in considerable numbers, people spend a lot of time trying to figure out what their battle patches mean. There are two kinds, rectangular for divisions and diamond-shaped for corps. The rectangular ones are red for the First Canadian Infantry Division; dark blue for the Second, light blue for the Third, and green for the Fourth. The Fifth Canadian Division has maroon patches.

The diamond-shaped patches are black with a horizontal red stripe for the First Canadian Armoured Brigade, and black with a blue stripe for the Second Canadian Armoured Brigade. Canadian military staff personnel in London wear a gold border and a gold maple leaf inset.

Some veterans are wearing British Army patches of the 21st Army Group. One is a red shield with a blue cross inset, and the other the red and blue patch with crossed swords worn by headquarters personnel of the 21st Army Group.

PITHY PROPAGANDA FOR NAZI INVADERS

Pointed Questions Asked in British Pamphlets

London (CP) — Pamphlets asking the Germans "What do you charge for swimming lessons?" were dropped on the continent by the Royal Air Force when Hitler was preparing to invade Britain.

Subject matter of some of the propaganda leaflets dropped on the enemy from the air has been disclosed following the relaxation of censorship regulations. During the European war propaganda material was strict "security."

One pamphlet called "Marching Against England," was divided into three sections, before, during and after invasion. Some typical questions were :

Why does not the Fuehrer come with us? The sea is grey, cold and stormy; how often must we practise landing? What is the state of the sea? We are sea-sick; where is the bucket? Where is our fleet? Where is the Luftwaffe?

We have had enough; we are still in hospital; where did you get that nice cold, lumbago, pneumonia, nerve shock? Please, where can I see the list of fatal casualcasualties?

A postscript offered "a pocket guide to the English language to every German voyager to England on his arrival in an English prisoner-of-war camp."

"We Need a Boatload of Cement"

● Gladys Arnold, former newspaper woman in Paris, now attached to the Information Service of the Fighting French, has just returned from a three-months' visit to France — her first since she had to leave the country in 1940. I listened to her tell her story the other day, and it was a grim one. "The French have lost a million homes, a million children, 75 per cent of their vehicles, 2,000 miles of railway line, and 6,000 bridges. Last winter there was no heat anywhere — in homes, offices or stores. You wore everything you owned all the time, and broke the ice in your ink-well before you started to write. Often there was no heat to cook hot meals. A typical restaurant meal, costing anywhere from a dollar up, consisted of a big bowl of soup, a dish of boiled cauliflower, a dish of mashed potatoes thickened with flour and water, and, if you were lucky, an apple."

One of Miss Arnold's stories brought home one of the daily miseries one doesn't think of over here. That is the dreariness of waking up every day and looking out your window on a mass of rubble. Said the mayor of Caen to Miss Arnold, "We need food, we need clothes, we need medical supplies, yes, all these things, but what we need most is a boatload of cement. Look at all those bricks out there. We could rebuild if we had something to hold them together. Man was not made to live in the midst of ruins."

Pat on the Back for CBC

● Every year the Institute for Education by Radio, of Columbus, Ohio, holds an "exhibition" of educational radio programs and grades them. This year CBC took four first awards, including all the awards given in the cultural programs division and one for a broadcast in the series devoted to programs for use in schools.

Commented the judges, the CBC programs "by far the finest submitted," "represented radio at its best," and displayed "intelligent use of radio."

Revamping Production

● The change-over from the European theatre to the Pacific theatre has already made a great difference to the kind and quantity of Canada's war products. Some goods which were in critically short supply for years will soon be in ample supply; other goods which required thousands of workers to produce will not be needed again.

What all this means is that Canadians as a whole can look forward to a change in the things they can buy for themselves. A few things which have been plentiful may become scarce, but generally it will be the other way about. The government's policy is to relax controls as soon as possible, and it is noted already dozens of restrictions on production and distribution have been lifted. But it is also determined to keep up the fight against inflation—that dread post-war menace—by maintaining controls wherever necessary and for as long as necessary. Already travel restrictions have been eased, special excise taxes on house appliances using gas or electricity have been lifted, permits to buy inner tire tubes are no longer necessary, restrictions on production of certain household goods are no more.

Two repeals are of special interest to the farmer. The first is the lifting of all restrictions on the import and manufacture of repair parts for farm machinery, and the provision of 18,000 tons of farm implements to the Veterans' Land Act. The second is the lifting of restrictions on the schedules and routes of passenger buses.

Why do we ask our statesmen to do all our thinking for us — and still call it a democracy?

Panorama of Italy

Published in "Torch", June 1944, this poem appears without an author. Its verses, ringing with realism, may well become a a classic of the soldier's impression of Italy. The journal "Torch" requested information as to the writer of the poem — which, incidentally, was handed to The Watchman by Pte. Andrew Cleland, who saw service in the thick of these surroundings.

If I were an artist with nothing to do,
I'd paint a picture, a composite view
Of historic Italy, in which I'd show
Visions of contrast, the high and the low.

There'd be towering mountains, a deep blue sea
Filthy brats yelling "Caramella" at me;
High plumed horses and colorful carts

I'd show Napoleon caps "The Carbeniere"
Defected old women with too much to carry,
A dignified gentleman with a Balbo beard,
A bare-bottomed bambino, both ends smeared.

Castle and palace, opera house too,
Hotel on a mountain, a mervelous view;
Homes of bricks, weeds and of mud;
People covered with scabs, scurvy and crud.

Chapels and Churches, great to behold
Each a king's ransom in glittering gold.
Poverty, want, men craving for food,
Picking through garbage, practically nude.

Stately Cathedrals and high-toned bells,
Recovero shelters with horrible smells,
Mouldering catacombs, a place for the dead,
Noisy civilians clamouring for bread.

A stinking hovel, mere hole in the wall
Tree-lined lawns, swept by the breeze,
Goats wading in filth up to their knees.

Revealing statues, all details complete
A sensual lass with sores on her feet,
Big-breasted damsels, but never a bra,
Bumping against you, there should be a law.

Creeping boulevards, a spangled team
Alleys that wind like a dope-fiend's dream,
Flowers blooming on the side of a hill,
A sidewalk latrine with privacy nil!

Two-by-four shops, with shelving all bare,
Gesturing merchants, arms flashing in air;
Narrow gauge sidewalk, more like a shelf;
Bull-puffing youngster scratching himself.

Nondescript truck frequently towed;
Diminutive donkey, loaded for bear
Horse-drawn taxis, seeking a fare.

Determined pedestrians, courting disaster
Walking in gutters, where movement is faster,
Italian driver, all accident bound,
Weaving and twisting to cover the ground.

Home-made brooms, weeds tied to stick,
Used on the street to clean off the brick.
Bicycles and push-carts, blocking your path,
Street corner politicos, needing a bath.

Barbers galore with manner quite mild;
Prolific women, all heavy with child,
Il Duce's secret weapon — kids by the score
Caused by his bonus, which now is no more.

Arrogant wretch, picking up snipes,
Miniature Keats, various types;
Young street-singer, hand organ tune,
Shoe-shining boys — a sidewalk saloon.

A beauteous maiden, a smile on her face
With a breath of garlic fouling the place.
Listless housewife, no shoes on on her feet
Washing and cooking, out on the street.

The family wash of tattle-tale grey,
Hung from the balcony, blocking the way.
Native coffee, gawd what a mixture!
Tiled bathrooms, with one extra fixture.

Next to a fish store, a terrible hole.
Italian Zoot-suiters, flashily dressed,
Bare-footed beggars, looking depressed.

Filling their jugs from a community spout.
A dutiful mother with look of despair

Intricate needlework, out on display,
Surrounded by filth, rot and decay.

Elegant caskets, carved out by hand
Oderous factory, where leather is tanned.
A shoemaker's shop, a black market store,
Crawling with vermin, no screen on the door.

I've tried to describe the things that I've seen.
"Panorama of Italy", the brown and the green;
I've neglected the scars, visible yet,
But these are the things we want to forget !

I'm glad I came, but damned glad to go

THE RHINE MEETS WATERLOO BRIDGE

London (CP) — A bridge used in London for 17 years until the permanent Waterloo bridge was opened in 1942 now spans the Rhine river in Germany.

The bridge was thrown across at Remagen, having been dismantled in London and shipped across the Channel in readiness for an emergency.

The emergency came when the Remagen bridge, then the Allies' only means of crossing the Rhine, collapsed soon after it was captured.

Special trucks rushed the bridge to Remagen, section by section, and army engineers rebuilt it across the Rhine under fire.

Within a week men and equipment were pouring across "Waterloo Bridge" into Germany.

Mustard Plaster For Forest Ills

Washington (CP) — The Forest service of the United States Department of Agriculture uses black mustard seed — the kind that is ground to dress frankfurters — to heal the scars of forest fires in the mountains of California.

Sown from a plane, the extremely light seed takes root quickly under adverse soil conditions and secures the topsoil in burned-over areas of country. Otherwise, with the first heavy rain, top-soil would wash away to the lowlands.

Traffic Officer Gets Promotion

Constable Howard Jones of the Provincial Traffic Police, residing at Calumet, has received a promotion to the rank of sergeant in the force. It is understood this officer, who has served on motorcycle patrol for several years on neighboring highways and in other parts of the Laurentian territory, will now cover his route by automobile furnished by the Police Department. It is not known whether Officer Jones will remain on duty in this section, but his promotion is considered a substantial recognition of good service.

Lachute Fair In Second Day

In the light horse classes the leading stables of Eastern Canada, headed by Mount Vernon Ranch and the stable of Mr. H. J. O'Connell are heading the classes in competition for the ribbons. The show, now an official AHSA show, is, according to expert horse show observers, productive of the highest standard of jumping competition.

One of the smartest turns of the opening night was the victory by McOuat Bros., in the General Purpose class — "June" taking first after a close verdict over Hadley and Stewart's "Lady". E. Kilgour Wilson, whose "hackneys from Lachute" are well known all over Eastern Canada, did not let down his home town in the two major classes of the opening of the show. They captured first and second in both single and harness horse over 15.2 and high stepper over 14.2, with "Whitegate Princess" and "Whitegate Smile".

Vernon G. Cardy's stables came through to four victories in the lightweight, heavyweight, hunter classes, and his three gaited Kentucky mare, champion of the United States and Canada; generally considered the finest of her type in the world, won the saddle class and the combination class. Roxboro Farms, with Mrs. H. F. Staniforth riding "Kirk", won the open jumping. This was most impressive, as she beat a field of outstanding male riders on the finest entries seen in an Open in Lachute.

With cattle judging commencing today, it is too early to list the results.

Rehabilitation of Servicemen Is Rotary Club Topic

Politics, too, is a question to very, very few of the servicemen.

The speaker suggested that a service club could be of assistance to these men. The club should work with the local rehabilitation committee. They should encourage all returned servicemen to go back to their former employer as soon as possible, in order to give the firm or company a fair chance to be of assistance. They also should encourage people not to "sell the service material short". The boys have smartened up since they joined the army, air force or navy. They have gained confidence; learned cooperation; often gained skills — and these facts should be taken into consideration.

Follow-up is an important factor. It is no use giving the man a little boost and then forgetting about him. In one service club, individual members have pledged to sponsor and assist a returned man — not just to get a job — not for a week or a month— but in any way possible for five years.

They provide vocational guidance where required; doctors, lawyers, production men, uniting to be of assistance. A steering committee of three men clears each case, in the organization here mentioned.

For special cases Mr. Harrison recommends the use of professional vocational guidance companies.

As a parting thought, the speaker asked why we should look upon rehabilitation as a temporary necessity for veterans only. Children need it, civilians need it. Why not include it in the post-war plans?

Dennis Staniforth thanked the speaker on behalf of the club.

During the evening it was announced that arrangements had been made to send a local orphan to a summer camp for some weeks, and investigational work is proceeding on several needy medical cases among local children.

Twenty Years of Union Theme of Service At Lachute United

In an address delivered in Lachute United Church last Sunday morning, on the progress made by the United Church of Canada since its formation, on June 10, 1925, the minister, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, had this to say, among other things, in his discourse:

The progress that has been made during the past twenty years is naturally indicated in the numerical strength and potentiality of the Church. In 1925 the three negotiating Churches brought together into one great spiritual fellowship 369,562 families, 600,522 communicant members, and 1,261,778 people. At the close of the first twenty years there are — 487,500 families, an increase of 118,000; 734,000, Communicants, a net increase of 134,000: and people who, according to the 1941 census, claimed the United Church of Canada as their Church, numbered 2,204,875, or one fifth of the entire population of Canada.

Most gratifying and encouraging has been the constant ingathering of new communicants on profession of their faith. These have averaged more than twenty-three thousand for each of the twenty years, and the total number of new members received on profession of faith since 1925 is 477,451.

The financial progress has also been very gratifying in its character. During these two decades the congregations have raised for all Church purposes $264,000,000, of which $40,087,358 was for the Missionary and other general enterprises of the Church, and, in addition, $18,000,000 was contributed for other benevolences. The total invested assets of the Church are now over $10,000,000.

Although the early years of the Church were characterized by severe financial strain, especially during the years of the great depression, the liberality of the people has been well maintained. The first decade closed with a deficit of $1,700,000. At the close of the second decade the accumulated deficit of all previous years has been completely underwritten, and one hundred and twenty-nine thousand dollars has been set aside as the beginning of a stabilization fund to protect the Church against lean years should such ever come upon us again.

Retired Missionary Is Guest Speaker at Christian Endeavor

Again on Monday evening, June 11, at the Margaret Rodger hall, the Christian Endeavor group held a very successful meeting. Mrs. W. Y. King of Cushing gave an address on her missionary experiences in the Orient, and her topic was greatly appreciated by all present.

Next meeting, on Monday, June 18, will feature a debate by four members of the group on the subject: "Resolved, that the Church is to blame for the indifference to its activities."

Marriage Vows At Lakefield

Sheritt - McNamara

Lakefield —

A quiet but pretty wedding took place in historic Holy Trinity Church here on Saturday June 9, at 7.30 p.m., when Miss Valerie Victoria McNamara, of Montreal, and Mr. Wilbert Addley Sherritt, of Lakefield, were united in marriage.

The bride, given in marriage by Mayor Lorne Dawson, of Lakefield, wore an afternoon dress of powder blue with navy blue accessories.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. H. Rowlatt, wife of Sqn. Ldr. J. Hugh Rowlatt, R.C.A.F., as matron of honor, while the bridegroom was assisted by Mr. Percy Tomalty as groomsman.

The officiating clergy were the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh and the Rev. Allan E. Mount, L.Th. Spring flowers were used to decorate the chancel and altar of the church.

A goodly number of friends and well-wishers were in attendance for the happy event.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherritt will reside in Lakefield, where the bride is already proving she will be an acquisition to the community.

Pretty Wedding At United Church

Silverlock-Steeves

In Lachute United Church at half-past four o'clock on Saturday afternoon, the wedding took place of Eileen Hariot, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard M. Steeves, of Lachute, to Lieutenant Richard Greenhill Silverlock, R.C.E., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Silverlock, of Fort Credit, Ont.

An uncle of the bride, the Rev. Arthur Organ, of Trinity United Church, Toronto, conducted the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Lachute.

Mrs. Harold Gee, of Brownsburg, Que., presided at the organ. As a prelude to the ceremony, Mrs. Gee played "Sweet Remembrance" by Mendelssohn, "Erotik" by Greig, and "Felicity" by Sellars. Throughout the ceremony she also played soft strains of Steane's "Intermezzo" and Sheppard's "Cantique d'Amour".

White and mauve iris in ivory standards adorned either side of the chancel. The guest pews were marked by yellow iris knotted with wide, white tulle bows.

Miss Eleanor Hickman, of Oxford, N.S., was the bride's only attendant, and Lieut. Hugh Renaud, of Weston, Ont., acted as best man. The ushers were Lieutenant N. M. Strong, of Brockville, and Mr. M. Oldershaw, of Montreal.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an afternoon gown of lime green crepe, long white gloves, and a small white flower hat with a shoulder-length lime veil, and a corsage of gardenias.

Miss Hickman wore a street-length dress of dusty pink crepe. Her matching headband was caught at the nape with small flowers and ended in a shoulder-length veil. She wore long dusty pink gloves and a corsage of Talisman rose buds.

Mrs. Steeves, the bride's mother, wore an afternoon dress of honey-colored mesh, a small brown sailor trimmed with ribbon flowers, and a corsage of Joanna Hill roses.

Mrs. Silverlock, mother of the groom, was gowned in a street-length dress of aqua crepe and wore a black cartwheel straw hat and a corsage of lilies of the valley and Finch roses.

Mrs. E. W. Steeves, the bride's grandmother, wore a black and white silk print and a corsage of lavender ruffled sweet peas.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The bride's table was decorated with baby's breath, pink and white sweet peas, long white tapers and a three-tier wedding cake.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Silverlock, parents of the groom, of Port Credit, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Steeves and Miss Ruth Steeves, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth McCracken, of North Bay, Ont., Miss Marjorie Hickman, of Oxford, N.S., Mrs. S. E. J. Blake and Miss Diana Blake, of Kingston, Mr. Gordon Simpson, of Montreal, Lieutenant Robert Allen, of Toronto, Ont., Mrs. N. M. Strong, of Brockville, Ont., and Miss Betty McDonald, of Pugwash, N.S.

Brownsburg Girl Bride of Minister

Hicks-Murdoch

On Saturday afternoon, June 9, at half past two o'clock, Margaret Selina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Murdoch, Brownsburg, Que., and the Rev. George Bowerman Hicks, son of Mrs. M. S. Brandon and the late George Hicks, of Toronto, were united in marriage at the Baptist Church in Dalesville, Que., with the Rev. J. R. Armstrong, of Snowdon Baptist Church, Montreal, officiating.

The church was attractively decorated with lilacs and honeysuckle and a background of potted ferns. Miss Ada Morrow presided at the organ, and Mrs. Helen Hardie sang during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white bridal satin made on princess lines with inserts of Chantilly lace, a sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a halo of white gardenias, and she carried an arm bouquet of red carnations.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Thomas McCullough, of Montreal, as matron of honor, and Miss Vera Cunning, of Vankleek Hill, Ont., her cousin, as junior bridesmaid. The matron of honor wore a floor-length frock of turquoise blue sheer over corded taffeta, a small hat of white mohair trimmed with turquoise flowers and shoulder-length veil; she carried white carnations. The junior bridesmaid was gowned in romance pink corded taffeta made with fitted bodice and full skirt, wearing a calot of the same material. She carried a nosegay of variegated sweet peas.

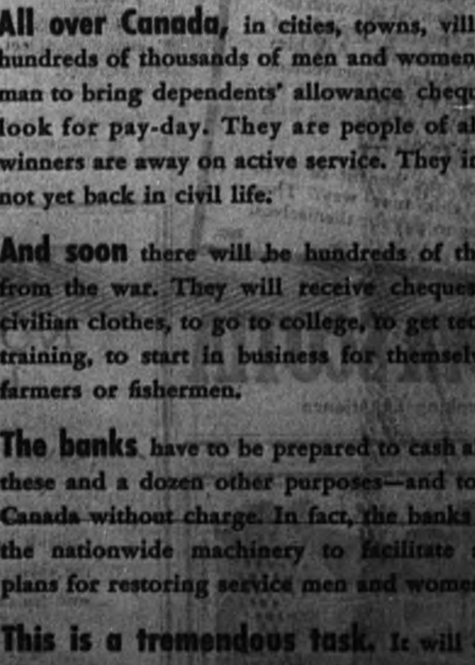

Mrs. Murdoch, the bride's mother, wore black and white printed crepe, a white straw hat trimmed with black, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Brandon, mother of the bridegroom, wore a two-piece dress of orchid crepe, a white hat trimmed with orchid, and a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Earl Hicks of Toronto, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Clinton Murdoch, brother of the bride, and the Rev. Harold Hindry, of Westboro, Ont.

A reception was held in Brownsburg at the home of the bride's parents. Later the Rev. and Mrs. Hicks left by motor for North Bay and other points in Ontario. For travelling, the bride wore a powder blue suit with black accessories, with a corsage of pink carnations. On their return they will reside in Dalesville, the groom being pastor of the Dalesville and Brownsburg Regular Baptist Churches.

All over Canada, in cities, towns, villages and on farms, hundreds of thousands of men and women watch for the postman to bring dependents' allowance cheques as other people look for pay-day. They are people of all ages whose bread-winners are away on active service. They include returned men not yet back in civil life.

And soon there will be hundreds of thousands more back from the war. They will receive cheques to help them buy civilian clothes, to go to college, to get technical or vocational training, to start in business for themselves, or to set up as farmers or fishermen.

The banks have to be prepared to cash all official cheques for these and a dozen other purposes—and to do so anywhere in Canada without charge. In fact, the banks supply Canada with the nationwide machinery to facilitate a grateful country's plans for restoring service men and women to civilian life.

This is a tremendous task. It will entail a vast amount of bookkeeping. But you can be sure that your banks will take it in their stride without impairing regular banking service.

Missionary Speaks Of the Japanese, At W.M.S. Meeting

Following a report of the recent W.M.S. Ottawa Valley sectional meeting at Cushing, which was presented in last issue of The Watchman, the address given by Miss Sybil Courtice on that occasion merits further attention from our readers. Impressions of her talk are given by our correspondent, the sectional secretary. —Ed.

Miss Sybil Courtice went to Japan in 1910 and returned on the repatriation ship "Gripsholm" in September, 1943. She has since been serving on the staff of the Italian Mission in Montreal and giving one day a week to work among Japanese Christians who have been evacuated from the Western Coast. Recently a second worker has been appointed to assist at the Italian Mission, so Miss Courtice is now giving half-time to the Japanese in Montreal.

Miss Courtice witnessed to the courteous treatment she received while interned for a year. One guard asked to be moved to another place of duty, giving as his reason, "These women are always praying, and it makes me afraid." Miss Courtice warned, "Beware of propaganda — do not lose hope for the Japanese Christians." There is intense loyalty to Christ among the Japanese churches, and sincere love for the missionaries and mission-minded people of America who have made these churches possible. God has given wisdom to many church leaders to prepare for the time when they must carry on without foreign leadership. By prayer and sacrificial giving they have brought about great results.

When Miss Courtice returned to Japan in 1940, after a furlough to Canada, the Bishop of Yokohama (now working among Japanese in the United States), said, "You will need great patience." She found, in company with Japanese Christians, that mere patience was not enough, but the work, to make progress, required a sincere and deep love for Christ. On the Day of Prayer held in Tokyo last year, a Japanese woman, returned from Shanghai, said, "In Shanghai, all nations aimed to make money. Now, our governments may be at war, but nothing can break our Christian fellowship." Japanese friends could get a permit to visit the missionaries only if on business; and many pretexts turned up which required a visit. The Union Theological College was giving three years' training to a few girls, but by government decree in April 1943, it was made a four years' course and 90 girls registered.

P.S. These statements should be of interest and encouragement to our Roman Catholic people also.

St. Andrews E. G.A.L.

SINCERITY

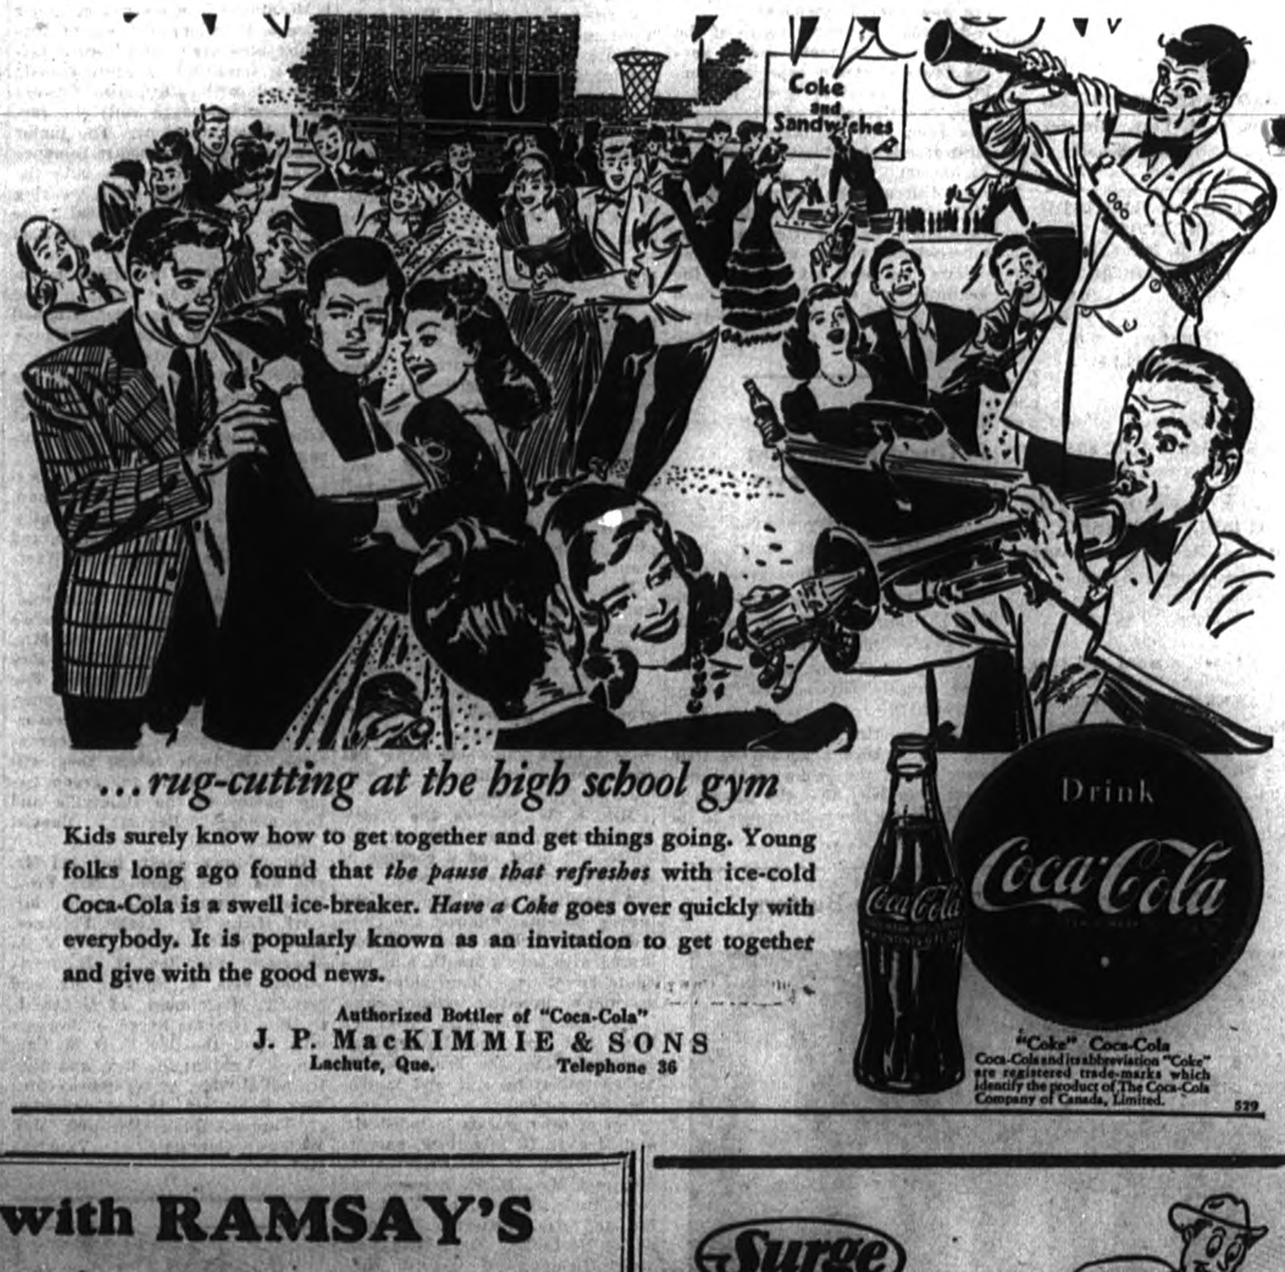

Sincerity does not consist in saying a great deal — but in sayall, and we are sometimes constrained to the belief that one should extend appreciation to one's friends or acquaintances while they still inhabit the earth, rather than leave it until they have left us.

CANADA THEIR NEW HOME: W. Garfield Weston, Canadian-born member of the British House of Commons, who has given up politics to devote all his time to his extensive biscuit and pulp and paper interests in Canada, was enroute to his new home in Vancouver with his wife and five of their nine children on the Canadian Pacific Railway's transcontinental Dominion when this picture was taken. Still in England are the two older boys, one serving on a Canadian Navy corvette and the other at Oxford waiting his call.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

WOMEN SEEKING EMPLOYMENT

"Even though the amended regulations allow women to seek employment without obtaining a permit from a National Selective Service officer, this does not mean that the office of National Selectivetive Service has closed its doors or ceased to operate," states J. G. Lamontagne, in charge of the Selectice Service office in Lachute.

"As a matter of fact, we have not ceased to do business, but we are increasing it. Our employment office maintains complete lists of positions offered by employers, and will be glad to help any woman to find a suitable occupation."

Mr. Lamontagne further states: "This service saves many useless trips back and forth to women in search of employment, for they may apply to this office and obtain the help of a placement officer to assist them in finding a position. . . . We have a list of all vacancies, for employers are still bound to place their orders with our offices. . . . Women will save both time and money by first consulting this office on their employment problems. . . . For instance, a young girl who has never worked, and who has not quite decided what kind of work she would prefer may register at our office, and our employees will explain the positions we have to offer. We have advisers who pay special attention to such cases."

LADY KILLERS

Belleville, Ont. (CP) — Women just aren't as timid as they used to be. When a rat entered a bank here during the morning rush, two girl employees caught and killed it while the male clerks retired from the field.

No Help for Harpists

The manager of a group of lady harpists in western Canada recently approached William Gittes, W.P.T.B. Administrator of women's and children's wear, with a request for special consideration.

As part of the textile conservation program of the Board the manufacture and sale of formal and long dresses except for brides at weddings and for members of religious orders, has been forbidden.

The harpists' manager informed the administrator that his protegees had always worn long dresses for their stage appearances. The trains of the dresses were wound around the bases of the harps.

"The ladies are anxious to get new dresses" explained the manager. "Short dresses would destroy the artistic harmony of the stage setting. Do you think the Board could help us?"

The administrator, who is working full time in the current directives program seeing that all Canadian women, girls and children have an adequate supply of essential garments and at the same time that there will be plenty of clothes for returning servicemen and women, offered little sympathy to the distressed impressario.

"Your ladies will either have to wear old dresses or start playing flutes" said Mr. Gittes.

HELP FOR EUROPE

While the re-introduction of meat rationing is a live subject at Ottawa, there is every reason to believe that the country, generally, will accept, this imposition as a means of relieving the food situation in Great Britain. It will be worthwhile, if only for that reason, aside from the possible relief afforded certain European nations.

DO NOT SLACKEN !

By Jessie Allen Brown

The war with Germany being over, it is natural to feel that now we can have some of the things we need so badly and have been doing without. We need to check that inclination and wait a while longer. Those of you who can remember after the last war will know that the highest prices came a year and a half after the conclusion of the war. I have my account book of those days and it tells me I paid 26 cents a pound for sugar, 90 cents a pound for bacon, and a dollar a dozen for eggs, with other things according. The young people who were married during or after the war had to pay astronomical prices for their furniture and other house-fittings. To keep prices on an even keel we women must watch our buying to help both ourselves and our returned men. Canada has done a good job on Price Control with the help of its women. Do not slacken now.

BLENDED FRUIT JUICE WILL OFFSET SHORTAGE

Limited quantities of blended grapefruit and orange juice will be available in cans to Canadian consumers, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has announced in an order setting the ceiling price for the blend.

Because of poor growing conditions for grapefruit in United States and heavy shipments to the armed services the allotment of pure grapefruit juice has been decreased. To offset this decrease and provide Canada with a sufficient quantity of vitamin C the Prices Board arranged for the import of the blended juice. It will sell at a slightly higher price than the pure grapefruit juice.

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

BOYS LIKE VEGETABLES

The dietitian in charge of the lunch room in a large High School tells me that the boys are as much interested in good nutrition as the girls, if not more. That is something I knew before, because far more boys have asked questions about what they should eat than have girls. The answer to that could be, I have always seen more boys. . . . She also said the boys drank more milk, often two or three glasses at a meal. They eat more vegetables than the girls. She says that when she gives them a choice of vegetables the boys nearly all take both kinds. Wouldn't it be wonderful if all school children could have a good lunch at school? It has been proved that children can be given a lunch which will provide them with practically all the necessary vitamins and minerals for a day's supply. Boys that get two glasses of milk and two vegetables are certainly away to a good start.

SPINACH NOTES

Sand in the spinach is an abomination. The easiest way to wash spinach is to lift the spinach out of the water in which you wash it, as that leaves the sand in the bottom of the dish. Enough water clings to the spinach so that it is not necessary to add any more in which to cook it. Stir the spinach a couple of times so that it cooks evenly, and watch it closely so as not to over-cook it. Very tender leaves will cook in 15 minutes, but if it is older, it may take as long as 25 minutes. I like to use just a pinch of sugar in the seasoning. Did you ever try a dash of nutmeg? If you like onion, you might like to cook a little chopped onion in the butter until it is cooked, but not browned, and season your spinach with this for a change. Eggs and spinach are a natural. Hard cooked egg sprinkled over the spinach before serving is good. Eggs and spinach make a good supper or lunch dish. I often spread seasoned spinach on a flat glass plate, then I put poached eggs on this, sprinkle with grated cheese, and put it in the oven long enough to melt the cheese. By way of variety sometimes I make nests in the spinach and put an egg in each nest, then bake in a moderate oven until the eggs are cooked, around 20 minutes. You can give this the cheese treatment too if you like. I must try using the onion seasoned spinach with eggs. Small tender leaves are good in salads.

STRAWBERRY AND ORANGES

Peel and slice oranges. Cut strawberries in halves, add to the oranges and sweeten to taste. This combination is the result of an emergency. Unexpected company arrived just before dinner and there was not enough strawberries to go around, so I added them to sliced oranges with happy results. Sometimes I use this combination when I have run short of cream.

MINTED STRAWBERRIES

CORNFLAKE PIE CRUST

1 cup fine cornflake crumbs, ¼ cup butter, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Melt the butter in a pie plate, then stir in the crumbs and sugar. When well blended press firmly against the sides and botom of the pie plate. Chill before adding filling.

Home Salvage with Strings Attached

Here's an idea to keep up the duty of paper salvage — now more necessary than ever. When collecting those awkward bits of paper, envelopes and flattened cartons, first lay two lengths of stout string both ways in a large box, and have the strings long enough to come up and hang over the sides and ends. Then line the box with newspapers. When the receptacle has been filled the newspapers can be folded over the top and the strings, already in place, can be pulled up and tied.

When a girl applies for admission to Vassar, a questionnaire is sent to her parents. A father in a Boston suburb, filling out one of these blanks, came to the question, "Is she a leader?" He hesitated, then wrote, "I am not sure about this, but I know she is an excellent follower"

A few days later he received this letter from the president of the college: "As our freshman group next Fall is to contain several hundred leaders, we congratulate ourselves that your daughter will also be a member of the class. We shall thus be assured of one good follower."

Songs for the Troops

Patricia Bailey, who added a couple of years to her age in order to make her CBC network debut in 1935, has since become one of the best-known radio personalities in Canada. Now, because there are thousands of Canadian boys still on duty overseas, she is going over with a concert party to sing for them. She hopes to find one brother in an audience in Holland and another stationed in Germany.

FINDS FEMININE COMPANIONS FOR LONELY SAILORS

London (CP) — The mayor of the borough of Hammersmith has turned his hand to matchmaking.

Some time ago he received letters from 15 sailors aboard H.M.S. Kempenfelt and H.M.S. Daedalus which said the men were lonely and would like some feminine penpals. Some even said they had matrimony in view.

So Mayor Fred Brader coralled 30 girls in his borough, interviewed them personally, and saw to it that each sailor had two girls to write him. And of these 30 girls quite a number said they too had an eye on matrimony.

"I am only too happy to help the boys in any way," said the mayor. But a warning note for the girls might be that Daedalus, in Greek mythology, built wings of feather and wax for his son Icarus. And Icarus flew all right, but when he got too near the sun the wax melted and he came down with quite a bump.

WORTHWHILE INVESTMENT

Canada's future depends on its children. . . Family allowances are a simple, fair and effective way to ensure a greater measure of well-being to Canadian citizens of the future. Family allowances are an instalment in social security.

—Salmon Arm Observer

PLAY HOUSE WITH NEW CUTOUT GAME

New York (CP) — Furniture fidgets — the insatiable desire of every woman to see how the sofa looks on the other side of the room — always has produced scratched floors, strained muscles and a surly spouse.

Now you can avoid all three, and still move the furniture around as much as you like by borrowing a leaf from the kiddies' scrap book. Rearranging the room three or four times an hour is child's play with a new cutouts-for-grownups decorating scheme devised by a rug manufacturer.

A large sheet of heavy paper, ruled off into half-inch blocks, does for your floor. Each half-inch represents one foot of floor space. Paper furniture, cut from magazines or drawn to the same scale, can be shifted around on the "floor" until you hit on an arrangement you like. When the whole family has ratified the new floor plan, you paste the furniture down. You can move each real piece of furniture to its exact location with no wasted effort.

If you're going in for new slipcovers, drapes, rugs, or a whole housepainting job, bits of fabric or colored paper can be pinned on your paper plan to get the over-all effect — and you can switch those around as much as you want without spending a cent.

Innovators of the plan suggest deciding on a centre of interest before starting the furniture arrangement. Then place the main group of furniture first, and build the rest of the room around it, making allowances for conversation groups, reading convenience, and traffic lanes wide enough to get through without bumping your shins.

Comments on the Election Trend

OBSERVATIONS IN THIS CONSTITUENCY

Published elsewhere in this issue are the election results according to muncipalities. They show a total of 248 votes for the Social Credit contender, while, with the majorities for Georges H. Héon and James W. McGibbon, are shown their comparative 1940 majorities in an adjacent column.

(One distinct community which does not appear in the results here published, being included in the Township of Grenville, is the mining settlement of Kilmar. Votes polled at this centre were — Gendron 7, Héon 92, McGibbon 67).

In the last campaign, it is recalled, McGibbon polled a plurality of 1,852 votes, the highest ever recorded in this constituency. The trend this time is more marked on that account. Even in Lachute and Brownsburg, considered safe bets in favor of Mr. McGibbon, his support was whittled this time, by 200 and by almost 300 in his majorities at these respective centres.

St. Andrews East, which in 1940 went 117 votes in favor of McGibbon, this time brought 60 majority to Héon. Grenville Village, Grenville Township, Calumet, Harrington, Huberdeau, Barkmere, Weir and Lakefield also showed a distinct change-over. Wentworth, only "slightly" Conservative in 1940, swung this time most notably in favor of Héon.

Arundel and St. Columban were the only two Liberal strongholds which increased their backing for Mr. McGibbon.

On the Social Credit ledger, Lakefield was the only division strictly negative; there the voters unanimously shunned the cause. However, in all other municipalities there was at least some indication of support. In Carillon, Barkmere, Weir, 16 Island Lake and Mille Isles this amounted to a single vote, in each case; in St. Jerusalem and Arundel, the Social Crediter won 2 votes.

Soldier Vote Favors McGibbon, But G. Héon, Ind.-Prog.Cons., Stands Elected With Majority of 128 Votes

393 SERVICEMEN FROM COUNTY BALLOTED, GIVING LIBERAL CANDIDATE BOOST OF 121

Official announcement of the Argenteuil election results, following final computing of the civilian vote and reporting of the service vote from Ottawa, was given out here Tuesday afternoon by Gaetan Valois, district returning officer. The returns gave a service majority of 121 to James W. McGibbon, but left Georges H. Héon still with an over-all majority of 128 votes.

The service vote was as follows: Gendron (S.C.) 22; Héon (Ind. P.-C.) 125; McGibbon (Lib.) 246.

The total of men and women voting in the armed forces, 393, is considered a creditable proportion for a constituency of this size and population.

The total count for Argenteuil, including both civilian and service polling, is now: Gendron 270; Héon 5,349; McGibbon 5,221. . . There were 121 rejected ballots in the civilian polls, according to the returning officer.

As the servicemen's vote was officially released on Tuesday, there were rumors circulating here that Mr. Héon's majority had been whittled down to a perilous low—some saying to 3 votes, others saying 9. One explanation of this rumor is that it originated in Montreal, where the Press figures stood at results sent in from here early on election night. These were considerably lower than the revised returns computed later that night — which were subsequently found accurate in the final count last Tuesday.

Rumors of Recount

There is talk of proceedings for a recount of ballots — as might well be expected in the case of a slim majority such as appears in this constituency. Grounds for such action, should it occur, would be known only when proceedings were instituted in law; meanwhile any statement on the case is regarded as pure speculation.

Local Holstein Is Gr. Champion Bull At Ormstown Show

Jas. MacKenzie, Lachute Road dairy farmer, was exhibitor of the Grand Champion Holstein Bull at the Ormstown Exhibition last week. The animal is Spring Farm Sensation Pabst, who headed the class for Aged Bulls. Mr. MacKenzie also exhibited first and second prize heifer calf, and the third prize senior get-of-sire.

Fifteen exhibitors showed 88 Holsteins at Ormstown Show, which was held this year for the first time since 1939.

J. P. Bradley & Son, also of Lachute Road, had a creditable showing of Ayrshires at Ormstown, while E. Kilgour Wilson was present with his Registered Hackney horses — each winning merits to reflect credit on this county.

Stormont Farms Sell Whey for Penicillin

Toronto, June 14 (CP) — Whey from Ontario cheese factories is being used in the manuafcture of penicillin in the United States and farmers in Stormont County are receiving an estimated monthly revenue of about $10,000 through its sale, it was learned today. This cheese by-product was formerly used by farmers to feed hogs.

The supply is being purchased by the Western Condensing Co., of Heuvelton, N.Y., which has bought property in Cornwall, Ont., to build a condensing plant. The whey now is being transported in large tank trucks in liquid form to the company's plant in Heuvelton, where it is condensed. At present shipments total about 300,000 pounds.

Visit Rotary Club At Hawkesbury

Some 20 members of the Montreal Rotary made a goodwill and inter-club visit to the Rotary Club at Hawkesbury last Thursday night. Dr. C. T. Martin, Montreal, spoke on Rotary in the post-war era. Members were welcomed and introduced by Douglas Silverston, President of the Hawkesbury Club.

Fewer Volunteers At Blood Clinic Held This Week

Organizers of the Blood Donor Clinic report a discouraging drop in the response at Tuesday's clinic, held in Lachute Auditorium. This was the ninth venture of its kind to be held here, and the high record in Lachute and district seems threatened by a certain apathy which doubtless has followed the termination of warfare in Europe. The assurance of the Canadian Red Cross, however, is that the need for blood plasma will continue for some time. The cost of victory in the Pacific can scarcely be foreseen, but the toll of casualties will not be light; and this great organization must not fail in its commitments for transfusions of life-giving blood.

A total of 203 volunteers responded to the clinic this week, 167 being accepted for blood donations. For the second time, the Rotary Club of Brownsburg gave valuable assistance in the transportation of donors.

Credit to the regular volunteers who have borne the burden of Lachute's good record, is reflected in the number who received lapel buttons in recognition of their repeated services. No fewer than 28 persons received their pins for three donations, and 14 were awarded pins for six donations.

It is stated by the secretary of the committee, Mrs. H. Rigg, that Lachute's next clinic will be held during the month of September.

TRIO CAUGHT NEAR CHUTE-A-BLONDEAU AFTER POLICE CHASE

Hawkesbury, June 19 — Halted in their dash for freedom by Sr. Cst. Alex Ferguson and Cst. J. Ault, of Hawkesbury, three Montrealers, suspected of breaking into the Quebec Liquor Commission store at Rigaud, Que., were returned to the custody of the Quebec authorities early Monday morning.

While removing the glass from the store door in Rigaud, the burglars dropped it, and the noise alarmed the residents, who notified Chief Rolland Rheaume of the Rigaud town police.

With volunteer officers, the chief followed the thieves, who had loaded the safe into the front of their vehicle, and the posse then notified the Ontario police.

Before they were halted at Chute à Blondeau, the three men allegedly cached the safe and their equipment in a field off the highway.

Sgt. Det. M. Valiquet, Det. John Masson and Cst. A. Thibeault recovered the safe, valued at $300, and its contents, valued at $503.

Canadians Can Take More Money to U.S.

Canadian travellers visiting the United States may now obtain American currency up to the amount of $50 without being first obliged to secure a permit from the Foreign Exchange Control Board, Heretofore a permit has been necessary for all sums in excess of $10.

For amounts of over $50 a permit must be secured from the Foreign Exchange Control Board.

Even though the disappearance of this restriction will facilitate Canadian travel to the United States, authorities are hopeful that those planning trips across the border which are not urgent will postpone them to a later date, in order to avoid overcrowding United States transportation systems.

120th ANNUAL EXHIBITION BEATS 1944 ATTENDANCE FIGURES

Actually "Biggest Fair in Canada" Is Present Claim of Promoters

WITH "ROYAL" AND "OTTAWA" STILL CASUALTIES OF WAR, LACHUTE HOLDS NOTABLE PROMINENCE

(Specially contributed to The Watchman)

The 120th Lachute Fair is now history. . . . Founded back in 1826, it has an old and interesting story behind it, one with many names, many interesting incidents, and the 1945 edition of "our biggest fair in Canada" — for that's the fact, right now — added its pages of history.

As usual the backbone of the exhibition was the fine showing of dairy and dual-purpose cattle, the swine, and particularly the heavy horses. The "icing on the cake" was the Horse Show and the Horse Races, and the extra treat was the "fun of the fair" at the Wallace Bros.' Midway.

Anyone who attended the four days of the Lachute Fair couldn't help but say that they enjoyed more than value for their money. Lachute may well be proud of its exhibition and many outsiders commented favorably on the show. There is only one thing better than attending this show, and that's being an exhibitor in it.

"You have a wonderful show in every possible way and the world should know more about it," said Vernon G. Cardy, America's leading hotelman, who participated in many events on the horse show program.

"It is a great all around show. I enjoyed the cattle events and the heavy horse judging as much as the Horse Show", said H. J. O'Connell, who is outstanding in his own field of endeavor, and director of the American Horse Show Association. . . . These were typical of comments on the Lachute Fair.

Looking at the show in review, the Ayrshire classes were really outstanding; the standard could match up with any cattle of this breed anywhere.

The Heavy Horses, as may well be expected with the Arnoldwold Farms in this area, reached a high standard, and the same may be said of the Horse Show, which attracted practically all of the leading exhibitors of this part of the country.

The Mount Vernon Ranch entries of Vernon G. Cardy, the leading stable of the year, were out in full force. They won their full share of victories with "Reine des Coeurs", champion three-gaited saddle-horse of the North American continent, and for that matter of the world, winning six first ribbons. "Reine des Coeurs" was 1944 champion of the American Horse Show Association and is likely to hold the crown on her 1945 showing. She is the best saddle horse ever shown here, according to many experts. . . . Edith Ferguson's winning of the $300 Jumping Stake was another big thrill.

The Hunt Team victory by H. J. O'Connell, the Family Class win for L. M. Hart's family, and Mrs. F. H. Dillingham's triumph with "Missy" in the Jumping, were all popular wins from "outside", but of a great thrill to the crowd were the successes scored by E. Kilgour Wilson, with his hackneys that have made the name of Lachute famous in many cities and also the ribbons won by Hadley-Stewart and McOuat Bros.

Special Presentations

During the horse show, Capt. Graham Mayburry received a token of recognition for his services to the Agricultural Society, being presented with a gift by the president, J. H. Black. The judges of horses, E. S. Mason, and J. Torrance also received suitable tokens. . . In addition, to the winners of five different events special prizes were presented by the Horse Committees of the show.

CATTLE JUDGING

In the Ayrshire judging, presided over by P. D. McArthur of Howick, "Bracheid" was the Grand Champion Bull, owned by W. H. Coverdale of Portsmouth, Ontario. The same breeder took the Reserve Grand Champion, the Junior Champion, the Senior Champion Bull, while C. Oswald of Ste. Scholastique received the Reserve Junior Champion Bull award.

"Glengarry Jeanette" was awarded the Grand Champion Female Ayrshire; she is owned by Cumming Bros. of Russell, Ont. They also won the Reserve Grand Championship, and the Senior Champion Female. J. P. Bradley and Son, Lachute, were awarded the Junior Championship and the Reserve Senior Champion award, while W. H. Coverdale received the Reserve Junior Championship Female ribbon.

In the Holstein Bull judging the Grand Championship went to the entry of James A. McKenzie, of Lachute, with G. B. Gladu of Marieville receiving the Reserve Grand Championship. W. S. Wilson of Lachute won the Junior Champion Holstein Bull also the Reserve Junior; James A. McKenzie the Senior Championship, and George Gladu the Reserve Championship.

In the female Holstein classes, W. S. Wilson and Son won the Grand Championship, the Reserve Grand Championship, the Senior and Reserve Senior Championships, while G. R. Gladu was judged winner of the Junior Champion Female Holstein, and the Reserve Junior Championship went to Goodyear Farms, Glen Roy, Ont.

In the Jersey Bull entry Dr. G. R. McCall, of North River Farm, Lachute, won the class, taking the Grand, Reserve, Junior and Senior Jersey Bull Championships. Dr. McCall took the same awards in the female Jersey classes.

In Canadian Cattle there was a similar "grand sweep", with Donat Roy of St. Jerome taking all the championships in both male and female.

In Dual-Purpose Shorthorn cattle, E. Kilgour Wilson of Lachute won the Grand Champion Bull award with his prize bull, which was also the Senior Champion. A. D. McGibbon & Sons, Lachute, won the Reserve Grand Champion, the Junior and Reserve Junior award in this class.

In the Registered Aberdeen Angus, Herefords and Shorthorn classes, the Grand Champion Bull, Senior Bull, and the Reserve Junior Bull awards went to Mrs. F. C. Stewart of Arundel, and Dr. McCall of Lachute won the Junior Championship, Reserve Grand Championship and the Reserve Senior Championship. In female classes, Dr. G. R. McCall made a clean sweep of five awards, Mrs. T. C. Stewart taking the sixth, the Reserve Junior Champion.

Best Grade and best group of three cows in the Grade Dairy group was won by Cummings Bros., of Lancaster, Ont.

Child Loses Eye In Freak Mishap

Jacques Racine, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rene Racine, Bedard Blvd., was brought home from the Hotel Dieu on Tuesday, following an operation for removal of his eye.

The misfortune was the result of a freak accident four weeks ago, in which his eye was pierced by a fragment of glass. The lad was standing close to some youngsters playing ball near his home. In place of a bat one of the boys picked up a bottle, and when he struck at the ball, the bottle broke and a jagged piece of glass pierced the Racine youngster's eye. He was taken to hospital next day, and the surgeons later found it necessary to remove the eye.

Lions Entertained At Holiday Resort

LEOPOLD CARRIERE ELECTED NEW PRESIDENT OF SERVICE CLUB

Accepting the generous invitation of Lion Gordon McOuat, members of the Lachute Lions Club held their regular meeting at "Cheriotto Farm", Ste. Adele, last evening and spent a most enjoyable session.

Members assembled here at 6 p.m., and after a pleasant drive via St. Jerome and Shawbridge, branched left from the highway for a couple of miles to arrive at the hostelry in which Mr. McOuat has a proprietary interest. The party were unanimous on the charm and attraction of this spot in the Laurentians.

During the business proceedings of the club, the following officers were elected for the year 1945-46:

Past president, Dr. F. W. Fitz-Gerald; president, Leopold Carrière; vice presidents, Gordon McOuat, Lionel Rozon, Geo. Tattersfield; secretary, Horace Lamarche; treasurer, Willard M. Steeves; tail twister, Ralph Fitz-Gerald; lion tamer, Angus Taylor.

Directors, George Muir, E. K. Wilson, Gilbert Ayers, F. Legault.

Next meeting will be held July 3 for installation of officers, after which the Club will adjourn its sessions for the summer months, until September 4.

FAIR ATTRACTIONS; THE ONCE-AROUND

The vaudeville troupe brought by H. Lajoie merited commendation of the public. They performed on a small platform before the grandstand, which at times was packed to capacity.

"The bigger and better" midway drew favorable comment among those who spent much of their time in these quarters of the exhibition grounds. The new and spectacular rides gave Lachute something over the usual in excitement, and the concessions and sideshows seemed to be well conducted.

The considerable job of catering, at the lunch counter and in the dining room, was handled by Roland Paquette, a Lachute citizen, and the general comment was favorable.

The usual band accompaniment was lacking at the Fair this year, but the continuity of attractions around the grand stand and showring made the lack less noticeable. And the bandstand was used to good advantage by spectators, who had a ringside view of the enlarged enclosure.

The industrial building featured one or two of the old reliables — Albert Ogilvie, nurseryman; R. McArthur & Son, heating and plumbing experts; Ogilvie Flour Mills; and the Experimental Farms, Ottawa. In addition there was a display of P. T. Legaré furniture and milk-cooling equipment, featured by Albani Lamarche, local agent; Beauty Counselor cosmetic products, shown by Mrs. Don (Elly) McBride, Lachute; and other stands of varying interest.

The second storey of the industrial building was occupied by the handicrafts display by county branches of the Women's Institute. In addition one of the spaces contained exhibits by the

To Decommission Corvette 'Lachute'

A letter received this week from Lieut. R. G. Hatrick, R.C.N.V.R., commanding officer of the H.M.C.S. "Lachute", states as follows:

"We have just returned to harbour after bringing our last 'westbound convoy of the North Atlantic' and it was quite a sight to see a westbounder loaded with war materials!

"We have just received news that the 'Lachute' is to be decommissioned, as this type of ship is not suitable for tropical weather. In many ways it is discouraging, because the ship looks better now than when she left the shipbuilders. However, I guess it's a sign we are getting near the end of the road.

"Thank you for the generous donation handed in to you by Mr. E. K. Wilson.

"I would like to thank you and our good friends in Lachute for all the kindness you have shown us in the past. Our job in this corvette is done. Now all I can return to you is the good ship's reputation, and believe me we are more than a little proud of her. You need never take second place to any city or town in Canada as far as your ship is concerned."

Tag Days Held For Hospital

Through the sale of tags during three days at Lachute Spring Fair, and also on the main street of the town, an appreciable sum was raised last week in aid of the Providence Hospital, Lachute Mills. The total proceeds amounted to $310.

The auxiliary of the hospital, who were responsible for this effort, express gratitude to the public for their generous support.

Servicemen Home

According to latest information received by The Watchman, the following personnel from this district have arrived in the recent repatriation of troops to Canada:

LAC. William King, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. King, East Ward, arrived at his home Sunday morning after service overseas with a bomber squadron in Britain. LAC. King was mentioned in dispatches for outstanding service, in the 1945 New Year's honors list of His Majesty the King.

Sgt. Paul LaHaye, son of Mrs. Marthe LaHaye, Main Street East, also arrived home, on Tuesday morning, after air combat service in the Mediterranean theatre of war. LaHaye, serving with the American Air Force, is top turret gunner in a B-24 Liberator bomber. He has been overseas since November, 1944, and a few weeks ago was awarded the Air Medal, an American recognition for meritorious service.

Lt. Robt. (Bob) Miller, R.C.E., who has served in the Mediterranean area, arrived in Montreal this week from overseas. Lt. Miller won his promotion from the ranks.

Flt. Sgt Albert McNaughton, who served overseas with the Alouette Squadron, R.C.A.F., arrived in Lachute yesterday, having made the Atlantic crossing by plane . . . In the same flight of this squadron was Flt. Sgt. Marcel D'Aoust, of this town, who is at present in Montreal.

Many others are arriving home in these parts from day to day. Those who have come to the attention of The Watchman include also — Wm. Tessier, R.C.A.F.; Cpl. Fred Stein, R.C.A.F., who has been 2½ years overseas; Pte. Gerald MacKimmie, North River, overseas since 1940, formerly with the Black Watch Reg't.

HAWKESBURY FIRE DESTROYS PLANT

Hawkesbury (CP) — One of Hawkesbury's oldest industries, the Duplantie Sash and Door Factory, was destroyed last week-end by a fire of unknown origin, with an estimated loss placed at $10,000.

Lachute: Beaton's Pharmacy, Lachute Medicine Store.

Lachute Mills: Harbour Drugstore.

School Annual Is Published

The Student Council of Lachute High School has just completed publication of the "Annual", which gives highlights of the year's activities, among the graduating class in particular and the school in general.

This is the first year in which the Council has had the responsibility of gathering material for this publication; in previous years the work has been done by the graduating class.

The Annual is dedicated to the 19 L.H.S. pupils who have given their lives while serving in His Majesty's forces, and the honor roll shows a proud total of 257 men and women who were previously connected with the school.

This 72-page booklet is now on sale. It is the largest edition ever turned out by the school, and includes many interesting pictures showing the extra-curricula activities of the pupils.

To Go Overseas With Entertainers

A former Lachute girl now residing in Montreal, is among the Sun Life Revue entertainment group selected to go overseas shortly. She is Miss Ruth LeCras, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. C. LeCras, who followed her studies as a pianist here and has since been associated in Montreal with the Sun Life Revue, which has played before nearly 100,000 men and women of the armed forces. Next assignment of this civilian troupe will be to entertain troops in Britain awaiting repatriation, and serving with the army of occupation in Europe. Miss LeCras fills the role of second pianist with the troupe.

ST. JEAN BAPTISTE DAY

French Canadians will celebrate their national feast day — St. Jean Baptiste Day — on June 24 and 25 this year, with celebrations all over the province. In all big cities, as well as in many rural centres, there will be religious ceremonies and processions and parades during the two days.

Bear on Rampage Causes Furore; Surprise Factor in Obstacle Race

Amusing Incident During Horse Show

SIDELIGHTS OF THE LACHUTE SPRING FAIR

Someone said: "Here's the Lachute show regular rain storm", the first time the drops started sprinkling. Yes, it was real California weather for awhile with a heavy dew dropping. If it hadn't been for the rain a record might well have been set.

* * *

The obstacle jumping was probably the strangest of all time — for Capt. Shultz' bear got loose and was dashing around in front of the horses, striking not a little terror into the jumpers' hearts. Finally the Captain caught his bear and the announcer recommended that it be removed to give the horses a chance to complete the course. However, Judge E. S. Mason, of Malone, New York, was quick on the uptake and ruled that if the bear was there for the first horses he must remain for the last — and he did, scaring each and every one!

* * *

Incidentally, a behind-the-scenes incident that few people knew of—the bear caught Capt. Shultz between his teeth, and if it had not been for the prompt action of Lajoie, the impressario of the vaudeville, he might have been severely injured.

* * *

Alex Bothwell was just about the busiest man in Canada for four days . . . and no matter what anyone says, you have to sit behind his counter and listen to the string of requests, demands for information, changes, alterations and various unexpected problems, to-preciate what a tough job it really is.

* * *

Yes, pink lemonade was in evidence. The man serving it assured us that the oranges in the big glass jar were on their second trip around the circuit.

* * *

Someone remembered years ago when hamburgers and hot dogs were five cents. Then, of course, for years they were a standard ten cents. This year someone forgot to notice any "ceiling" and the boys charged 15 and 20 cents, as the spirit moved them, for the dogs and burgers.

* * *

The total number of animals in the entire show ran well over the 1,200 mark; this incidentally bested the total of entries in the Ormstown Show, which had such a good entry list the week before.

* * *

The rain came down in bucketfuls right after the show. Thanks, Jupiter Pluvius, for holding off that long anyway. If it had been clear on Saturday the total attendance would have been a record.

* * *

The Provincial Police had a couple of characters to chase away during Friday. Two unidentified ladies of generous physical proportions were selling souvenirs of the fair, without proper authority, and they were whisked out of the vicinity of the fair grounds. They transferred their activities closer to town, and when last seen were accosting every gentleman who passed by.

* * *

Six doctors, police, veterinary surgeons, a motorcycle policeman and a Montreal city detective were all summoned over the loudspeaker. Also a number of lost children were rescued through the fine work of Linton W. Armstrong, who did a magnificent job over the public address system. One of his announcements was to summon a spectator whose car had just caught fire. He got his man — and the car owner extinguished the fire, which had caught inside the locked automobile.

* * *

L. T. Porter gave a wonderful buffet supper at his home at St. Andrews East. All the exhibitors and their friends turned up, and a grand time was "had by all". You should visit Mr. Porter's home sometime, and when you have a fortune, buy a house like that and settle down.

Crop Report For Argenteuil

Following is a provincial report on crop conditions in the counties of Argenteuil, Deux-Montagnes, Labelle and Terrebonne, as at June 9 last:

Seeding 60 per cent completed under improving weather conditions. Meadows and pastures look well and milk production is good. Potato planting very backward and in mediocre condition. Strawberry crop will be a third reduced by frost of June 1.

Regarding agricultural pests, many correspondents are reporting white worms in meadows and pastures. Grey worms in gardens are causing damage but not as badly as usual at this date owing to the backwardness of vegetation. Tent-caterpillars are seen nearly everywhere on fruit and ornamental trees and are threatening for the next fortnight. Strawberry weevils are proving somewhat prejudicial to this crop. Flee beetles are quite abundant on turnips and army worms are causing havoc in parts.

To "Sell" Lachute Exhib'n in Bigger Way Next Year

An expert job of salesmanship will be done on the 121st Lachute Fair next year, as a result of conclusion informally reached through observations of the recent show by the Board of Directors.

In spite of a wet and showery Saturday which hit attendance very hard, the total figures for the show were 5% over last year. and would likely have set a new high record had the weather on the final day been good.

But one of the things the Board of Directors have been studying is the possibility of getting in as exhibitors many breeders and farmers who feel they have "something to show" but lack the necessary encouragement to enter the show. Next year, through the radio, farm press, and the weekly and daily press, efforts will be made to bring out the modest man.

This year's exhibition was noteworthy for the high calibre of Ayrshires, Holsteins, and heavy horses as well as the outstanding Horse Show. There was a heavy list of entries in Jerseys, Canadian Cattle, Poultry, Swine and in Junior Judging.

It was felt that the program was fundamentally excellent, but that the appeal to the public to let them know of "Canada's greatest agricultural fair" should be emphasized next year.

This year the committee responsible for the success of the show consisted of: J. H. Black, President; C. Tremblay, Vice-President; Gilbert Arnold, Stuart Armstrong, A. Maisonneuve, Theo. Murdoch, Ross McAdam, Harvey Barlow, W. M. Cottingham, James McKenzie, James MacKimmie, W. E. Rodger, Albert Stewart, E. Kilgour Wilson, Simon Wilson and Alex Bothwell. . . The majority of these men are well known formers; but next year they are likely to show their friends in industry how salesmanship should be practised in putting over, even bigger and better, a very successful show.

KNOW QUEBEC BETTER...

The Shawinigan Water and Power Co. Plant, Grand'Mere, on the St. Maurice River.

Do you know Quebec? Do you know, for example that light—heat—power were among the most urgent needs of Quebec's early settlers? Light they provided with tallow dips, heat by wood fire, and power by man, horse and, finally, water wheel, source of modern electric power. To this magical factor Quebec today owes the development of her mining, pulp and paper and manufacturing industries . . . her transportation and communication systems. For Quebec is by far Canada's largest producer of electricity . . . 5,700,000 horsepower annually from Shipshaw—one of the largest in the world—Beauharnois, Chats Falls, St. Maurice, the Gatineau and many other stations.

Electric power, the pulsing heart of Quebec is a natural resource—one of many on which the province's steady expansion has been built. Credit for its successful exploitation goes to the shrewd, foresighted, energetic people of Quebec whose ancestors helped found our Nation more than 300 years ago . . . who, themselves, have contributed so much to Quebec's proud history through deed and sacrifice in Canada's hour of need . . . and whose children are privileged to look forward with the hope and optimism that Canada's bright future amply justifies.

QUEBEC PRODUCES FOR WAR

To Quebec's already glorious history is being added her wonderful contribution to Canada's war effort. Pulp, paper, native ores and manufactured metals, clothing, chemicals, textiles, ships, foods, petroleum, electrical supplies, to mention only a few products of her mines, mills and factories: $2,301,522,650.00 subscribed by her people in seven Victory Loans; thousands of men in the navy, army and air force who are distinguishing themselves on global battlefronts. Thus have her sons and daughters recorded Quebec's part on Canada's wartime honor roll.

BE PROUD OF YOUR QUEBEC—IT IS PART OF YOUR CANADA

This message is one of a series being published so that you may know and appreciate the greatness of Quebec and its important role in Canada's wonderful destiny.

Rose Culture And Longevity

London (CP) — Growing roses is the way to live long, according to Courtney Page, secretary of the National Rose Society since 1914 The Royal Horticultural Hall is to have two shows this year, with record crowds expected. Last year it was inactive because of flying bombs.

Mr. Page insists that English roses are far and away the best in the world. "This has little to do with soil and climate; it's the way they're grown." He himself has a three-acre garden at Hayward's Heath.

Hotel Accommodation Increase for Travellers

As a result of the recent agreement between the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and leading hotels in Canada's outstanding cities, travellers will be assured of better hotel service in future, since the hotels have agreed to reserve not more than 10% of available rooms in their establishments for conventions.

The Canadian Government has not deemed it wise to ban the holding of conventions this year, but it has asked all associations that wherever possible and without too great inconvenience, the holding of conventions should be deferred until next year, to avoid traffic and accommodation congestion during the period that Canadian soldiers who have participated in the European war are being brought home.

Wed in Maritimes

Titley - MacAndrew

In New Brunswick recently a quiet wedding was solemnized, when the Rev. D. F. Hoddinott, United Church minister, joined in marriage Miss Helen Marion MacAndrew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacAndrew, of Chatham Head, and Nelson Ward Titley, son of Mrs. Albert Titley and the late Mr. Titley, of Lachute, Que.

The bride was dressed in a pale blue lace dress with pale blue hat and navy blue accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was of roses and baby's breath, and she carried a navy blue purse.

Following the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and had as a centrepiece a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bridal couple. Other decorations throughout the rooms were pink and white streamers, cut flowers and fern.

Marriage Vows at Harrington Church

MacDonald - MacCullough

The marriage of Hilda Christena, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacCullough, of Harrington, to Hubert Keith MacDonald, also of Harrington, was solemnized in Harrington United Church at 2.30 o'clock on June 9, the Rev. S. J. Pike officiating.

Ferns and mixed flowers were used to decorate the church, and the guests seats were marked with white satin bows.

Miss Dorothy MacCullough, of Renfrew, cousin of the bride, was maid-of-honor, and Miss Melba MacLean, of Ottawa, was bridesmaid. The flower girls were little Misses Barbara Poulter and Enid Bates.

Mr. Gerald MacCullough, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Gordon MacCullough and Mr. Lloyd Gauley. Mrs. T. Fox presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Fred Moore sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white satin gown fashioned on princess lines, with sweetheart neckline and sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her veil was held in place by a halo of orange blossoms and she carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom.

The maid-of-honor was gowned in floor-length white sheer, with embroidered sleeves and bodice. The bridesmaid was gowned in white satin, and both carried nosegays of American Beauty roses. The flower girls were dressed alike in Swiss-dotted organdy with shoulder-length veils and carried little white baskets of pansies.

BRITISH INSTITUTES HELPING EUROPE, SAYS W.I. VISITOR

By Marjorie Minnes

Far from taking it easy now that the war in Europe is over, Women's Institutes of Great Britain are knitting four tons of wool a month into garments for liberated peoples. On a recent tour of Canada, Elizabeth Christmas, Institute organizer, described this and other Institute post-war projects.

She reports that V-E day has made little difference to the housewives who have struggled against austere food and clothing rations for the last six years. With a starving ill-clad people facing them across the channel and the North Sea, these British women are putting into tangible form their desire to give all peoples "freedom from want".

As far as they are concerned, rationing can continue as long as large quantities of food are still needed on the continent of Europe. In Britain, the Colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady eat virtually the same food, bought for the same price. Money has made little difference in the diets of the British who give short shift to chisellers.

"In travelling across Canada, I have been amazed at your reasonable prices," said Miss Christmas. "I hope you keep them that way, because price control here is also important to our post-war plans. Through a rural educational program in our country, and soon I hope, to be established in other countries, leading farm women will be chosen for travel scholarships. I can see that high travel costs might make it impossible for Canadian women to participate in the Institute exchange of visits between women of all countries."

A FINE EXAMPLE

Under the supervision of R. J. McAlpine, reeve of the township of Eldon, school children made a splendid contribution of paper and carboard to the Lindsay Salvage Committee. No less than 2,000 tons were collected. A fine example for other school children to follow.

"I HAVE just completed my insurance program in The Mutual Life of Canada. I have a number of policies on my own life which adequately protect my family against unexpected loss of my income, and which will bring me and my wife monthly cheques for life when the time comes to retire.

"But I have gone a little further. We want our son John to have a College education. We have added a Mutual Life Educational Policy to our assets. When John is 18 we shall start to receive a four year monthly income with which to pay his College expenses, and this amount will be guaranteed even though I do not live to pay all the premiums.

When you employ an extra hand you expect to pay him. Money is also a worker which could pay you a good profit when properly used on your farm. For approved farm improvements you may borrow up to $3000 from The Bank of Nova Scotia at a "wage" of only 5%, or $150 a year. It can give you more profit than a hired man, and where can you hire a man for $150 a year?

Suppose you use the money to electrify your farm. Electricity can separate cream, churn, run a hay hoist, milk cooler, grain cleaner, feed grinder . . . milk cows and pump water.

Or maybe you would wish to use the money to repair buildings, or build new ones, improve your livestock, get new machinery, more fencing or better drainage. These are only a few of the ways in which a loan will make more money for you.

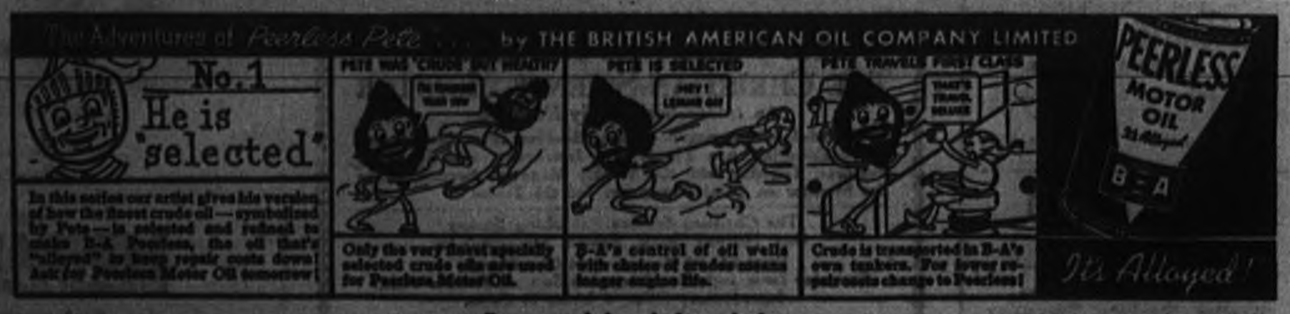

Drop in for a friendly confidential talk with our nearest branch manager. He will give you full information on the new Farm Improvement Loans plan.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

TASTY CREAM PIES USING MINIMUM AMOUNT OF SUGAR

Pies such as these will delight the heart of any man . . . to say nothing of the women who have to figure to make the family sugar ration last the week. For not only are these exceptionally delicious pies, but they use the least possible amount of sugar.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, discovered that sugar could be saved by folding the meringue right into the pie filling so that the sugar used to sweeten the egg whites would contribute its sweetness to the filling too. The saving, of course, is not large but it is by many small savings that the ration can be painlessly stretched.

Chocolate Mint Pie

Taplespoon gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, ½ cup boiling water, 3 egg yolks, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 drops peppermint, 3 egg whites, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 9-inch baked pie shell.

Soak gelatin in cold water. Cook chocolate in boiling water, about 5 minutes, beating until smooth. Remove from heat, add gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Beat yolks slightly, add sugar, salt and gradually add the chocolate mixture. Add peppermint and chill until partially set. Whip the egg whites until stiff and gradually beat in the two tablespoons of sugar. Fold into chocolate mixture, pour into baked pie shell and chill until set. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Rhubarb Cream Pie.

3 Tablespoons flour, ⅛ cup of sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 cups of diced raw rhubarb, 1 tablespoon gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 2 egg yolks, 2 egg whites, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 9-inch baked pie shell.

Combine flour, sugar and salt. Add rhubarb and mix well. Let stand one hour, then cook over boiling water for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile soak gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks until light. Pour rhubarb sauce over egg yolks, stirring well; return to double boiler, stir and cook for 3 minutes. Remove from heat and add gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Fold in meringue made with stiffly beaten egg whites and 2 tablespoons sugar. Pour into baked pie shell and chill. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Cream Pie

⅓ Cup sugar, ⅓ cup flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ cup cold milk, 1½ cups hot milk, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 9-inch pie shell.

Mix sugar, flour and salt. Combine thoroughly with cold milk. Stir in hot milk and cook in top of double boiler about 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Beat egg, combine with a little of hot mixture and add to mixture in double boiler. Cook 3 minutes. Remove from heat and add butter and vanilla. Pour into baked pie shell.

Note: — Well-drained canned fruit or slightly sweetened fresh fruit may be spread in bottom of baked shell before pouring in cream filling, or used as a topping.

Returned Evacuees Cause of Concern

Continued Care Is Urged for British Children Sent Back to Blitzed Areas

London (CP) — Lady Gunston, who four years ago opened nurseries in the provinces for children evacuated from blitzed cities, suggests that welfare workers of the Auxiliary Air Force should be used after the war to keep a watchful eye on the children after they return to their city homes.

"It is just as urgent to resettle the child as it was to uproot it and send it away from the bombs," she said.

Evacuation of children from London and other places caused many headaches. Now that the war in Europe has ended, return of some of these children to their homes and parents is causing just as much concern to women's organizations.

Lady Gunston, wife of Sir Derrick Gunston, Conservative M.P. for Thornbury in Gloucester, with financial aid from the British War Relief Society of America, opened in 1941 five nurseries for evacuated children. The boys and girls, many from London slums, have grown strong and sturdy in the country. They have had individual care in groups of eight or ten, each with its own permanent nurse or foster mother.

Now some of them are being taken back by their parents into mean, dirty, airless homes. Some are going to homes where the parents take no interest in their children, and have not bothered to visit them during the years of their evacuation.

Lady Gunston's suggestion is, that W.A.A.F. and A.T.S. service workers be attached to the civil welfare services to visit the homes of returned children, investigate the conditions under which they are living, and try to instil in recilcitrant parents a sense of duty and responsibility.

SUBWAY PRINTS PROVE POPULAR

New York (CP) — More than 125,000 "subway prints" of art masterpieces, advertised in New York subway posters and sold by the Metropolitan Museum of Art for 10 or 15 cents, have been bought in the three years since the scheme was inaugurated.

Printed in color, they are of a size to fit on 11 by 22-inch posters. The museum has just made frames available for those wishing them, at $7.50 or $8.

Purchasers are more apt to be women than men. They want the prints mostly for themselves, but sometimes as gifts. Some issues have been used to decorate military camp recreation halls.

Among the most popular selections, made monthly in connection with museum exhibitions or on the basis of general appeal, are Sassetta's "Journey of the Magi," Monet's "Sunflowers," Homer's "Northeaster" and Inness' "Peace and Plenty." There are now 19 paintings in the series.

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

NEVER AGAIN

Are you one of those women who are able to get a head-start on the next day's work by doing a bit of baking at night? It is fine if you can, but there seem to be a good many women who say they have no luck baking at night. I am certainly one of them, and have given it up long ago — any brains I may have are addled by the time night comes. One of the young married fry, who is, by the way, an excellent cook, told an amusing tale of her latest experience in baking at night. She made a cake using a new recipe, and put it in jelly tins. There was too much batter and it overflowed and burned on the oven. When she took it out of the tins she broke the cake. She burned the boiled icing, but used it anyhow and managed to patch up the cake. That is not the end of it. She put the cake on the corner of the kitchen table and their red setter, who had never done such a thing before, jumped up and took a piece out of the cake. She says, never again.

EGGS ADD SATIETY VALUE

Hard cooked eggs are a very frequent accompaniment to a salad. They do much more than merely garnish it. Salads made from vegetables lack protein so the eggs supply this and make a balanced meal. They have a further role to play. Satiety value is a two dollar word for a food that sticks to the ribs. The foods that are most satisfying are those that stay longest in the stomach and small intestines. Vegetables move through quickly and we all have had the experience of feeling hungry after a salad or vegetable meal. Eggs digest more slowly and so add to the satiety value of the salad.

STRAWBERRY PRESERVES

Strawberries are one of the most popular preserves. Here are three ways of doing them, all of which I use. The amount of sugar we have will govern our choice, but I am giving you both a preserve and a jam recipe, as some of you may prefer to do a little of these rather than have more canned fruit. The first recipe is for the old-fashiend strawberry preserves.

5 Boxes strawberries, 7 cups of sugar, 1 cup water.

Hull the berries and add the sugar and water, then let stand a little while to draw out the juice. If you like your berries broken up, mash a little with a potato masher. Bring to a boil and stir frequently. Boil until the syrup is slightly thickened. Pour into sterilized bottles, and screw as tightly as possible while hot.

STRAWBERRY JAM

Heat, then simmer slowly for ten minutes. Pour on a large platter and let stand over-night. Bottle in sterilized jars and seal. I hesitated about giving this recipe this year, because of the large amount of sugar it takes, but I have been asked for it a couple of times, so here it is.

CANNED STRAWBERRIES

Make a syrup of the desired richness. Most people prefer a heavy syrup, 1 cup sugar to 1 cup of water for strawberries. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, then bring to the boiling point. Add the berries to the hot syrup, cover, and let stand five minutes. Put the strawberries in the sterilized jars to within ¾ inch of the top, then fill with syrup to within 1½ inches of the top. Put on the rubber ring and partially seal. Process either by putting in boiling water to cover, or by placing in an oven of 275 degrees, 1 hour for quarts, or 40 minutes for pints. Seal while hot and do not tighten the rings when cooled as this may break the seal. Do not invert as this breaks the vacuum which has been formed and which helps to keep the fruit. A heavy syrup made with 2 cups of sugar is enough for three pints of finished fruit.

TO PREVENT SCUM

Scum which rises on boiling fruit is such a waste. It can be prevented by adding a little butter before it starts to boil. A good teaspoonful is enough for the average kettle of jam, but if the kettle is a large one more butter must be used. The only time in years that I have had to skim fruit is when I forgot to add the butter until the jam began to boil, and even then the amount was greatly reduced.

Girl's "This Is It" Announces Surrender

Dundee, Scotland (CP) — Pretty, blond A.T.S. Pte. Sheena Shalvey can claim to have sent the war's two most important messages.

A teleprinter operator, 22-year-old Sheena tapped out the first communique announcing D-Day — and handled the message announcing the German surrender at Reims.

Sheena said: "I didn't know it was the surrender message, but when I got half-way through I realized it was the message we all had been waiting for. Then I screamed, 'this is it'."

She said she made one typing error in the message, but explains "that was after I found out what it was".

She has no ambitions to send out the first message about the Japanese surrender. She wants to get out of the army.

EGGS — ANY STYLE PUT 'BEEF' IN YOU

Many people feel that they cannot face an egg first thing in the morning and the Nutrition Division says that whether you eat eggs in the morning, at noon or at night, matters not at all. The important thing is that you do eat at least the three or four eggs a week recommended by "Canada's Food Rules."

The eggs that ocasionally substitute for the daily serving of meat or fish — there should be two of them — are extras. You cheat yourself if you count them among the three or four a week.

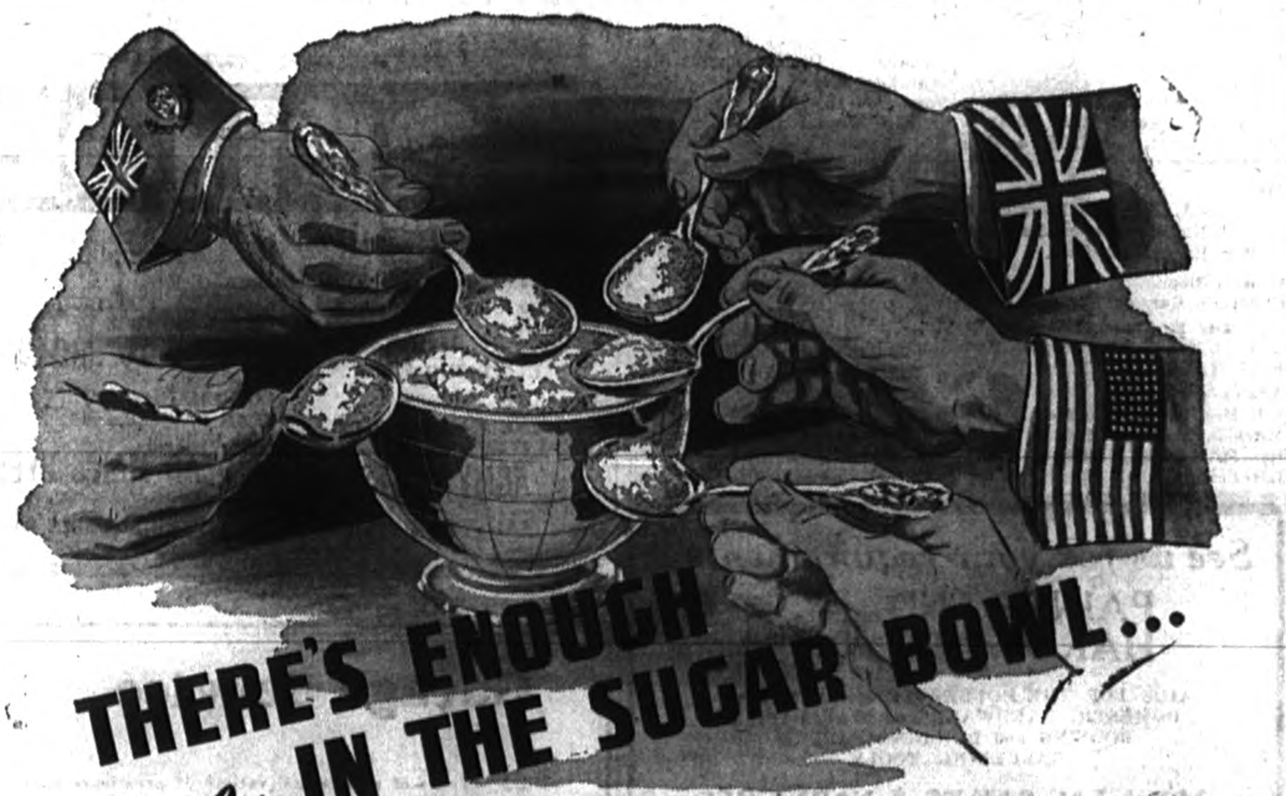

Suppose you have two eggs instead of a serving of roast beef. The eggs will provide as much thiamine and iron, more riboflavin, but only about two-thirds as much protein. However, the eggs add something extra in the form of more than one-third of the day's needs of vitamin A.

Maid — Well, just to make sure I'll go back and ask her if that's what she said.

To meet our own needs and the urgent requirements of our Allies and the liberated countries, our share of the reduction must total nearly 200,000,000 pounds of sugar during the rest of the year.

To assure fair distribution of what is left, the sugar ration is to be cut by five pounds during the next seven months by reducing the monthly allotment to one pound in June, July, August, October and December. In September and November, the allowance will remain unchanged at two pounds.

The ten pound sugar allotment for home canning, represented by twenty extra preserves coupons, remains unchanged. Two regular preserves coupons will continue to become valid each month.

ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT SUGAR

Q. How does Canada get its share of world sugar supplies?

A. World stocks are pooled by the Combined Food Board of the United Nations which allots sugar to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform per capita basis.

Q. Where does the rest of the world sugar supply go?

A. To other claimants, including liberated areas, European neutrals, Russia, the Middle East, New Zealand and other sugar-importing countries. Approximately one-half of this total is destined for liberated areas.

Q. Is there less sugar in the world today?

A. Yes. Because needs are up and production is down, world sugar stocks reached a new low at the beginning of 1945. By the end of the year, they will be down again, this time to a dangerous minimum.

Q. Why is there more demand for sugar?

A. The rising demand largely reflects the needs of liberated areas.

Q. Why is there less production?

A. World sugar output is lower for these reasons:

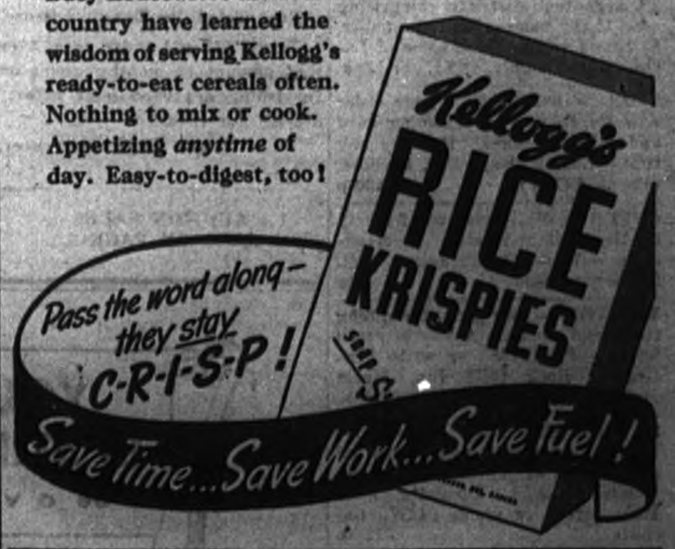

1. Enemy occupation of some sources such as Java and the Philippines. Java, of course, is still in Japanese hands and; although the Philippines are liberated, production is not expected to be restored until late in 1946.
2. Other export countries have experienced serious shortages of labour and fertiliser.
3. Record drought conditions and hurricanes have also cut into production in the important West Indian area.

INDUSTRIAL AND QUOTA USERS WILL ALSO GET LESS

Effective July 1, 1945, sugar made available to industrial users, such as bakers, biscuit and breakfast cereal manufacturers, makers of soft drinks, confectionery and candy, and jam and wine manufacturers, will again be reduced.

A further cut is also being made in the allotment to quota users, such as public eating places, while similar reductions are being made by the Armed Forces in the sugar quotas for service personnel.

Smoke Screen on the Rhine

British armour and infantry moving into the final offensive which overwhelmed Germany, advanced behind the biggest smoke screen in the history of war. Up and down the banks of the Rhine, thousands of troops kept the smoke curtain going, prepared the roads and brought up supplies. In front of the smoke screen, forward observation posts were manned in the flat and dangerous hundred yards between the winter dykes and the Rhine. This picture shows how the smoke curtain is made — by hand canister lit by fuse, and by mechanical smoke generators mounted on special vehicles.

Gov't Departments

By Helen Marsh

Mines and Resources is a department with five special branches: immigration; Indian affairs, surveys and engineering (under which come the Dominion observatories, maps and the International Boundary Commission); lands, parks and forests (under which come administration of our national parks, and of the North-West Territories and the Yukon); and mines and geology (under which comes, besides the Bureaus of Mines and Geology, the National Museum of Canada).

National Defence needs no explanation. Divided into three branches, Navy, Army and Air Force, the Department of National Defence has recruited over a million Canadian men and women into the armed services, has trained them and built up from them a first-class fighting force.

Munitions and Supply was set up to let contracts and allot orders for all the war stores produced in Canada, both for Canadian and Allied use. Canada is the only country of the United Nations handling all war supplies through a single agency. Two branches—Production and Control — work together. The Production branch orders supplies, helps to convert and expand peacetime industries, and has even established, owns and operates 28 Crown companies, including chemicals, explosives and shell-filling plants. The Control branch of M & C is concerned with regulating supplies of raw materials.

Agricultural Exhibit

The exhibit of the Department of Agriculture occupied a 20-foot layout set up by its Publicity and Extension Branch. The display featured three large panels and a set of miniature farm structures. One panel, "Break the Contact," stressed the importance of practicing a rotation system for chicken ranges for the prevention of infectious diseases. A second panel dealt with Bacterial Ring Rot of potatoes, showing photographs of damaged plants and tubers and subsequently giving control measures. The third panel advertised some improved cereal varieties, the result of hybridization. The miniature farm models featured such practical items as a hog self-feeder, a cattle breeding pen, a range watering device, etc. Bulletins on wartime canning, in French and in English, were distributed. Orders were taken for other bulletins to be sent later from the Publicity Branch in Ottawa.

Lachute Man, Rotary Speaker, Has Interesting Story of Rubber, Its Origins, Manufacture and Future

Brownsburg — The Rotary Club of Brownsburg held its regular dinner meeting on Wednesday, June 20, at Carrière's Hotel. Mr. Alex Vessie of Lachute gave a talk on Rubber, its history, characteristics, methods of processing and future possibilities.

Rotarian George Zsomber introduced Mr. Vessie, who was born in Ottawa, where in high school he entered all sports and won the city high school swimming championship. Entering the University of Toronto he claims he was better at athletics than studies, but records show he ended up with a Master of Applied Science degree in Chemical Engineering. On the University gymnastic team he competed against the McGill team, which included our well known Reg Wallace. He spent the summer months on tramp steamers learning to become a sailor, and visited the British Isles, West Indies, Panama, Australia and New Zealand.

After working five years with the Dominion Rubber Company, the speaker came to the "Dominion" Ammunition Division of C-I-L in 1940, where he is at present employed in the engineering department.

A member of the Lachute Lions Club and a leader in young people's church work, Mr. Vessie's athletic activities now are only golf and skiing.

Rubber has four outstanding properties which make it an indispensable material in modern civilization, according to the speaker; its waterproofness, elasticity, nerve (or recovery from stretch) and resistance to abrasion, make it the most versatile material that man has at his disposal.

Excavations in British Honduras show that the Indians used it about 1,000 A.D. Spanish writings tell of Mexicans using it to waterproof clothing in the early 16th century. Due to its thermoplastic characteristic in the natural state (melting in heat and brittle in cold) it was little used up until the discovery of vulcanization in 1840, by Goodyear in America and Hancock in England. Vulcanization, the chemical compounding of sulphur with raw rubber to form the material as we all know it, has revolutionized life by making possible such things as fast motor travel.

In the early days Brazil's wild rubber tires were the only source. Increased demand led to increased prices, with limited supply. This, coupled with the rough treatment of the rubber trees by the natives, indicated a critical situation and in 1876 the British Government commissioned Sir Henry Wickham to collect seeds of the rubber producing tree Heva Basiliensis.

Sir Henry returned to England with 70,000 seeds, of which 2,800 were fertilizable. Seedlings produced from the 2,800 were distributed throughout Java, Malay, Ceylon and India, where they were cultivated under close supervision. From these seedlings grew the widespread rubber plantations of the East and along with them the British monopoly in rubber.

Now, rubber is first obtained from the tree as a sap, known as latex. This latex has a milky color and is composed of from 20 to 45% rubber, 5% resins, and 50 to 75% water, and possesses a consistency anywhere from that of skim milk to that of a heavy cream, depending upon the percentage of rubber in it.

At the plantations, the trees are tapped in rotation so as not to exhaust and hence destroy them, by a method similar to that of maple syrup tapping.

An inclined gouge is cut in the bark with a special knife at an angle of 45 degrees and a spigot is inserted at the lowest point of this gouge. The latex drips from the spigot into a cup placed on the ground below it. As the rubber coagulates in a matter of one to two hours in the gouge, it is necessary to cut again. This second cut is below the first. The process is repeated until the gouging reaches the ground. Then another quarter of the tree is cut.

Rotary Club Held Charity Drawing

Brownsburg — Tuesday evening, in front of Rotarian Bill Graham's store, Harris Sherwood, vice-president of the Rotary Club, made a short speech thanking everyone for their support to the Club's first drive for funds to provide aid to crippled and under-privileged children. He explained that all proceeds from such money-raising schemes would be devoted to this work.

Mayor Jim Donaldson was then called upon to draw the winning ticket for the electric washing machine. . . . The ticket was No. 4246—held by Ross MacAdam, St. Andrews East, Que.

Mr. MacAdam was called by long distance and informed of his good fortune.

Cub Group's Visit To County Museum

(By our Brownsb'g Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The Cubs, under the command of their genial Master, Hugh Morrison, paid a visit to the Argenteuil Museum at Carillon on Saturday and spent an enjoyable and instructive afternoon. The party composed of Cubs and instructors numbered about 40 and were provided with transportation by parents and others, who enjoyed the outing just as much as the Cubs.

W.I. Branch Meetings Reveal Variety of Efforts and Interests

Brownsburg W.I. held their June meeting Thursday evening, June 7. A report of the county convention was given. An interesting account of living conditions in England was given by a war bride. The presentation of a set of pyrex was made to a war bride. Plans were made for a card party to be held on June 22.

Frontier Branch held a reception for grandmothers at their meeting. The roll-call was the naming of an old-time song. All present joined in singing a verse. Interesting talks on old times and grandmothers were given by Mrs. Jas. and Mrs. Archie Murdoch. One decision reached was that, even with the hardships and inconveniences of pioneer days, people were just as happy then, if not moreso, than they are today. . . . . Frontier branch were the prize winners for the number of members attending the annual convention.

Jerusalem-Bethany held their meeting June 1. The proceedings were opened by repeating the Mary Stewart Collect and prayer. It was decided to send for 10 ditty bags. There were 17 members and three visitors present. The roll-call was, "Read a short item of interest."

The Publicity convenor read a paper on the theme, "Women's Institutes of Britain Are Grateful to Canadian Women's Institutes." A contest was also held by the convenor. A Red Cross quilt was pieced at this meeting.

The Mille Isles meeting was held June 5, with seven members and one visitor present. Proceeds from a dime and quarter bank amounted to $21. This had been started by one member and subscribed to by other members and friends. The money is being forwarded to the president of Federated W.I. at Worcester, England, and marked for blinded and maimed children war victims. Letters of thanks were read from shut-ins for chocolates received. . . . Mrs. Smallman's letter was also read. The county convention was reported. War Savings Stamps to the value of $20 were sold.

Morin Heights ladies held their meeting June 5 with 26 members and five visitors present. The roll-call was, "Does it pay to work and leave the child behind?" The Health and Welfare convenor, Mrs. C. Campbell, read a splendid paper, "On the Kitchen Front," and also "The Use of Wild Greens." A "military whist" was held last month. The proceeds

Broncho Kicks, One in Hospital

A western broncho of nervous temperament, owned by Romeo Giroux, west end butcher, brought to grief a neighborly gathering near the owner's home on Monday evening.

Unbroken to the traces, and unpredictable under the saddle, the animal challenges the skill of professed horsemen. On this occasion some of Giroux' friends had been trying to ride the horse. One was safely seated on the animal's back when a spectator, Gregoire Raymond, lightly applied a switch to its rear, to stir it into action. . . The action was swift and unexpected — Mr. Raymond receiving a fierce kick, which broke his front teeth and ripped his chin with an ugly gash.

The victim was knocked unconscious. He was taken by ambulance to the Providence Hospital, Lachute Mills, where he has since been under treatment by Drs. A. Pager and M. Papineau. Examination by X-ray revealed no broken bones.

Veteran Attacked In City Robbery

Bludgeoned by two masked men who broke into the home of Dr. G. R. McCall in Montreal, early Sunday morning, Roddy MacDougald, 23-year-old recently discharged war veteran, suffered a skull fracture and was reported in a serious condition when taken to the Montreal Neurological Hospital. The victim is a resident of Alexandria district, in Ontario.

The theft, in which a microscope, a radio and other articles were taken by the thieves who ransacked the house, was under investigation by Provincial Detectives.

According to a statement made by the victim before he was taken to hospital, the two masked men both dressed in black entered the house with false keys at about 3 a.m. on Sunday. The owner of the house was at his farm here on the North River, east of Lachute.

When MacDougald surprised the two men, they beat him to the floor and tied his hands and feet with wire, he declared. Knocked unconscious, he regained his senses to some extent about an hour later and managed to reach a telephone to dial for the police department.

A number of clues are under investigation by police to uncover the culprits and to ascertain the reason for the brutal assault upon the ex-soldier.

WATCHMAN TO MISS ISSUE FOR JULY 19

Notice is given that, during the week from July 15 to 21, inclusive, The Watchman office will be closed for business, and there will be no issue of this paper on July 19. Correspondents, advertisers and customers for printing are asked to govern themselves accordingly.

The publishers make no apology for this move, which is unprecedented under The Watchman's present management. Due to labor shortages it has, at times, been extremely difficult to meet the publication dates of this newspaper and other editions handled by The Watchman Press. And since the end of war in Europe has not so far eased the tension of labor in the printing trade, the management has no alternative but to close for one week, in order to afford a well-earned holiday for the staff. Readers will kindly regard our issue of July 19 as a war casualty in the literal sense.

Work Started on Swimming Pool At Brownsburg

"In Brownsburg"

By Our Special Contributor

Youth Welfare

The Youth Welfare Committee which has undertaken the work of building a swimming pool, are making very considerable progress in the realization of the project. The forms have been erected and the concrete poured, so that before long the pool should be in operation. Great credit is due to this group of workers who went ahead and provided free labor so that the costs would be kept within their reach and thus quickly provide a much needed adjunct in the health and education of the youth.

Rehabilitation

The usual meeting of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee was held at the Social Club last week. A considerable amount of work was before the meeting, and now that releases are becoming more constant, preparations were made to cope with them.

Education

The Brownsburg School Board has decided to option out of the proposed Central Board. . . .

There are 20,610 existing school administrative units in Canada with more than three times that many school trustees. Of these, 14,692 employ only one teacher each and 1,430 others employ only two teachers each. The present proposal is to increase the number to 20,611. In one province alone there are 101 administrative units with assessment valuations less than $5,000 each. This is equal to the value of only an average house. The mill rate ranges all the way from 3.6 up to 200 mills; in some cases it would require a burden of 4 per cent to pay a teacher $600 a year. . . . . While inequalities and injustices such as these obtain, it is considered here, among opponents of the plan, sheer folly to adopt piecemeal legislation which aggravates rather than mollifies the situation. The Provincial Government has undertaken to inquire into the whole question of financial obligations with regard to education in the province, and we would do well to concentrate our efforts in assisting the administration in providing a just solution, and not dissipate our strength in inter-village rivalry as to who should have what without the necessary means of obtaining it in either place.

Beer Prices

Beer in this 'burg went up five cents a bottle just as soon as the recent 14 cents per gallon by the Provincial Government was announced. Workers are considerably heated over the matter and a strong protest is being circulated to present to the appropriate authorities. Of course, we can always refuse to drink it!

Lachute: Beaton's Pharmacy, Lachute Medicine Store.

Lachute Mills: Harbour Drugstore.

Many at Funeral of Prominent Manufacturer

The Late W. Harry Ayers

Wide-felt Tribute to Industrialist And Citizen, Late W. H. Ayers

Hundreds of relatives, friends and associates gathered here Monday to pay final tribute to the late William Henry Ayers, president of the firm of Ayers Limited, who died Friday, June 22, at his home in the west end.

In addition to his widow, the former Bernadette Carrière, Mr. Ayers is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Deslauriers and Mrs. Roland Lamarche, and three sons, Thomas, Leonard and Richard. There remain also two grandsons, Paul Deslauriers and Philippe Denault Ayers, and two granddaughters, Evelyne Ayers and Estelle Lamarche.

The late Mr. Ayers was the last remaining member of the second generation of the Ayers family. They were a family prominent in the pioneer days of this district — at Hawkesbury, back in 1869, and in this town since 1875, contributing a notable share in the development of the Canadian woollen industry to its present prominence. The imposing mills and hydro-electric developments here are ample evidence of this contribution.

Harry, as he was known to countless friends, was born in Hawkesbury, Ontario, and spent practically all of his 68 years in this community. Under the guidance of his father, the late Thomas Henry Ayers, and in close association with his late brothers, John T. (Jack) and Ernest, he learned the intricacies of wool manufacture in all its departments. Together they embarked on venturesome enterprises, starting with the modest carding mill of the early days; they engaged in the bartering trade with the farmers, when no railway facilities served this district. They not only built up the extensive mills to their present-day size and efficiency, but were among the earlier manufacturers of wood pulp, generated electric power, built transmission lines and so pioneered the electric lighting of Lachute, Brownsburg, Staynerville, St. Philippe and also supplying current to the Carillon and Grenville Canals. In addition there were many other industrial enterprises initiated by the Ayers brothers.

The late Harry Ayers sought no publicity, prominence or the eulogies of his friends. He was, however, a public spirited man, and the people of Lachute and the surrounding countryside are cognizant of his generosity. He was a friend of the churches and of all in need, regardless of their race or creed. Among his many benefactions was the beautiful St. Julien Parish Church; to the deceased, and his late brother Ernest, the parishioners owe the erection of this fine Gothic structure. . . . For their lavish contributions to the faith, the Pope marked his appreciation by making both brothers Knights Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great.

The impressive shrine which nestles in the Laurentian foothills near Lachute, depicting the apparition of the Holy Virgin to St. Bernadette at Lourdes, is also due to Harry Ayers' benefaction. Besides which, he contributed to the advancement of agriculture and education, and extended kindnesses and considerations little known to the general public.

He was active president of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society for a number of years. He engaged in the outdoor sports of hunting and fishing, enjoyed travelling, and derived much pleasure from reading on such subjects as industry, commerce and world developments.

Several large landaus carried floral tributes, preceding the hearse as it bore the remains to the beautiful St. Julien Parish Church, and finally to their last resting place in the family vault at Lachute Catholic Cemetery.

At St. Julien Church the body was received by the parish priest, Rev. Abbé Eugene Cloutier. Service was celebrated and a High Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Father Paul Emile Laframboise, O.M.I. assisted by Rev. Abbé Damase Carrière, parish priest of Newport, Vt., and Rev. Hector Girard, of St. Léonard-Port-Maurice, all relatives of the deceased.

Services were also celebrated at the lateral altars by Rev. Abbé Daniel Routhier, parish priest of Carlsbad Springs, and Rev. Abbé Albert Routhier, parish priest of Calumet, cousins of the late Mr. Ayers.

In the sanctuary of the church were many of the district and visiting clergy, including — Canon Drouin, representing His Excellency the Archbishop of Montreal; Canon Joseph Picotte, of Longueuil; Rev. Father Robert Valois, C.S.V., of the Joliette Seminary; Rev. Abbé Xiste Charlebois, Rev. Abbé V. Bouchard, Rev. Abbé A. Bazinet, Rev. Abbé W. Lacourse, Rev. Abbé Plouffe, parish priests respectively of St. Hermas, Brownsburg, St. Philippe, Ste. Anastasie de Lachute, and Chute à Blondeau; Rev. Abbé Carmel Corbeil, of St. Andrews East; Rev. Abbé Roland Cloutier, chaplain, Providence Convent, St. Andrews; Rev. Abbé Oscar Bélanger, parish priest of L'Orignal; Rev. Father Dieudonné O.F.M., Rev. Brother Jacques, C.S.V., director of St. Anastasie College; Rev. Brother Rondeau, C.S.V., and others.

Reformatory Term For Two Juveniles

One, a 14-year-old boy under suspicion for numerous depredations, was charged with robbery. The instance concerned the theft of fruit from the I. Laurin warehouse. The youth had been pedalling the stolen fruit from door to door at different houses. He admitted the charge, and was committed to four years in the Mont St. Antoine reform school in Montreal East.

The second case involved a 12-year-old girl charged with immoral conduct. The judge gave sentence of a reformatory term, the girl subsequently being sent to the Maison Laurette institution, at Laval des Rapides.

D. Villeneuve, local chief of police, investigated the two cases and brought the children and their parents for hearing.

Organizer Here to Commission Guide, Brownie Troops

On Friday night a joint meeting of the Girl Guides and Brownies was held in the basement of the High School. This was a special occasion when the District Commissioner, Mrs. Earl, of Rosemere, was present to perform the enrolment exercises. A large number of parents and members of the local Association were also present.

The Guides formed a horseshoe and the Brownies skipped in from an adjoining room to make a "fairy ring" in the centre. The Union Jack was raised by the color party, and everyone joined in singing the National Anthem.

The Captain, Mrs. Wade, was presented with the official Guider's pin and warrant as leader of the First Lachute Guide Company. Mrs. R. Muir and Miss A. MacRae were enrolled as assistant leaders of the Guide Company. Mesdames Cruise, Warren and Walker were enrolled as leaders of the First Lachute Brownie Company. Following, 36 guides and 35 Brownies were enrolled as members of the respective companies.

Mrs. Earl spoke a few words in praise of the work accomplished by the two groups, and expressed the hope that this high standard would be continued.

The members of the local Association then served refreshments to the parents, and ice-cream for the Guides and Brownies was donated by Mrs. W. M. Cottingham.

OWNERSHIP CHANGE, SUMMER HOSTELRY

A well known holiday resort in this section of the Laurentians, Macdonald Lake House, changed hands this spring, and work is now in progress on renovations. It is understood the proprietors intend to reopen the establishment to the public this season.

For the past several years Macdonald Lake House has been closed through lack of labor and other restrictions due to the war. In normal times the boarding house accommodating a large number, and happily situated on Macdonald Lake, enjoyed a popular reputation. The owner of the resort, Mr. Sandy McCrimmon, sold out recently to American interests, headed by Mr. A. Crepeau, and it is learned the new management plans to develop the place on more modern and extensive lines.

The only answer to a powerful ideology that's wrong, is a still more powerful ideology that's right.

Double Celebration, Couples Feted on 25th Anniversaries

(By Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — On Saturday evening, June 23, a surprise party was held in Davis' Hall to celebrate the 25th wedding anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. J. Douglas Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Doherty. Presentations of purses of money were made by Col. J. E. Seale, and Mr. Davis and Mr. Doherty thanked the friends present for these gifts. An impromptu concert followed, and Mrs. Hector Paquette, of Montreal, played for the community singing. A solo was sung by Mrs. Wm. J. Deacon of Lachute, and Mr. and Mrs. Carter of Montreal sang duets, accompanied by Miss Carter.

Thise sitting at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Doherty, Mr. and Mrs. J. Douglas Davis, the Rev. Sydney Rowe, Miss Frances Saunders, who is Mr. Davis' aunt, Mrs. T. Buxton, and Col. and Mrs. J. E. Seale.

The table was decorated with summer phlox, briar roses and syringa; it was centred with the wedding cake, which was cut by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Doherty. The Rev. Rowe proposed a toast to the "brides" and the response was made by Mr. J. Douglas Davis, on their behalf.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. H. Paquette, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Miss Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Kendall, of Montreal; Miss Frances Saunders and the Rev. Sydney Rowe, of Shawbridge; Mr. Wallace Watchorn, of Calgary; Miss Milly Davis, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Deacon, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Giles, Mr. and Mrs. Charman Doig, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, of Lachute; and Mrs. W. Hunt, of New York.

HOUSEWIFE VICTIM OF OLD-TIME RACKET

Two housewives in Lachute Mills were approached recently by a slicker with an old-time racket and a glib tongue. Approaching the lady of the house in each case, he enquired for her husband — at an hour when the breadwinner was logically at his work. Making sure of that fact, he then confided the said husband was the holder of a winning ticket, and, for a consideration, the caller would mediate with the organizers of the raffle, drawing or sweepstake and return after 6 p.m. that day with the prize.

In one instance the award was $3,000 cash — for which the solicitor requested $87 to act as arbiter. The lady failed to bite! . . . In the second case the award was $2,600 — and for this the man asked an investment of $71.45, promising to return that evening with the cash prize. The lady bit — line and sinker, paying the money and securing a receipt from the visitor, signed in the name of "Hachè".

Notified of the case, and placing little credence in signatures, the local police — Chief Donat Villeneuve and Cst. A. Page — watched for a suspect boarding the departing trains. He slipped away, however, and the case was reported to Provincial Police.

Chief Villeneuve also notified authorities at Hawkesbury and St. Jerome to look out for callers practising this lucrative craft.

The more we think of ourselves, the less we have to think of.

Local Linotypist Highly Esteemed in 16 Years' Employment at 'Gazette'

Deaf Operator Got First Start on 'Watchman', Now Termed Prototype of Skilled Workers

The O.A.D. News, published by the Ontario Association of the Deaf, tells an interesting story concerning the career of Douglas Bradley. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Bradley, formerly of Lachute Road, and now of Carillon, Douglas is married and resides in Montreal. His record is the story of a handicapped youth who "made good" in a substantial way. It is told by Stanley Walker, as follows:

Very few, if any, of the thousands of enthusiastic readers of Montreal's most popular morning newspaper, "The Gazette," have ever stopped to think that many of its newsy columns were linotyped by a deaf man — considered by his employer as the pick of the type-setting crew. . . . . Yet such is the case of Douglas Bradley, who for so long had shied away from the glare of publicity, but whose prototype of skilled workers is the dream of all good publishers.

No one at the Press is prepared to deny Doug's dexterity in manipulating the ivories of so intricate a machine as the linotype. Newspapers are notorious for their rush, last-minute changes and dizzy situations which tax the ingenuity and patience of operators. Doug has lived through thousands of unusual composing room events while at the helm of the linotype at the Gazette for 16 consecutive years. He had always risen to every occasion, which is the reason for that handsome tribute he got from his employer.

Doug Bradley first saw light in Colton, Calif., on November 23, 1900. His father was born in the county of Argenteuil, while his mother claims California as her birthplace. The Bradley family on both sides of the genealogical tree show a strong strain for farming.

It was while on his father's farm that Doug early manifested his hankering for machinery. Farming receded to distant recesses of his mind while the whir and stir of machines perked up Doug Bradley's interest in them to unusual degree.

Coming to Quebec at an early age, Doug was educated at the MacKay School for the Deaf in Montreal. He became attracted to the success stories of deaf linotypists in the United States. Doug was intrigued by what this lucrative trade had to offer and soon he developed a determination to emulate the feats of his American contemporaries.

He had already arranged to enroll in a linotyping school in Toronto when during an errand to Lachute, Que., he met a friend who tipped him off on a new linotype but recently installed in the composing room of The Lachute Watchman. Doug contacted the publisher of this weekly newspaper, J. S. Giles. At Mr. Giles' suggestion the Toronto course of study was ditched. Instead, Doug was given every chance to master the intricacies of the linotype under Giles' paternal supervision. Before long Doug became sure of himself and blossomed forth into a speedy ivory-pounding merchant.

Doug set out to see a bit of the world and landed his first job with The Daily Record in Long Branch, N.J. He later switched to a bigger newspaper in Middletown, N.J. The wandering bug set him footloose again and he struck out for Montreal, where on February 7, 1929, he walked into a situation with the Gazette, where he has remained for the past 16 years.

Planes of all types fascinate him. He observes closely the different models, their mechanisms, structures, and it said of him that his educated eye can spot any aircraft in the sky and know its make at a glance. Doug still nurses the fiery ambition to become a licensed pilot some day.

Doug owns a Hudson-Terraplane car which has taken him afar to the United States and throughout Canada and Ontario on many different occasions. His record trip was when he drove from New York City to Montreal in ten hours flat, stopping only during the blitz pace for gas and a snack.

Faulty Ignition

London — Finding a defect in your car ignition system — usually a laborious and dirty job — will be as simple in post-war motoring as reading the speedometer, it is stated by London industrialists. . . The feat is to be achieved by a British invention, a simplified testing machine now being used for tracing faults in aero and tank ignition systems, which is to be applied to ordinary motoring. The machine is about the size of a cine-camera, and is plugged into the electrical circuit. Immediately a row of dancing green lights on a tiny viewing screen reveals the nature and situation of the fault.

"We consider it a privilege..."

Extract from the Annual Report of Dominion Textile Co. Limited, presented to Shareholders by G. B. Gordon, President and Managing Director.

ALTOGETHER one thousand and sixty-five men and women left us to join the colours, and of those there remain over eight hundred now in the Services awaiting discharge or transfer to different theatres of operations.

Plans are well under way for the reabsorption of these men and women into the various company occupations. There is, of course, a legal obligation on the part of all employers to reinstate their employees, now veterans, in jobs not less favourable than those they would be holding had they remained in civil employment. Your company's policy in this regard is to go as far as possible beyond the legal requirements. It is from no mere sense of duty that we will take back these men and women into the company's service. It is rather that we consider it a privilege to welcome them back. From this group will emerge those with qualities of courage and leadership who will eventually guide your Company's affairs and help maintain its leading position in the textile field.

We regret very deeply that twenty men will never return, as they laid down their lives in Active Service.

Summer "Gremlins"

IN A WARNING to summer vacationists, the Health League of Canada advises there are many common summer hazards, which could be termed "Summer Gremlins," and which too often are forgotten or overlooked.

"Enjoy yourself this summer,
But watch what you're about;
The 'Gremlins' sure will get you
If you don't watch out!"

Vacation-time should be a period of relaxation, recuperation and restoration. Vacationists should take it easy — enjoy the warm days — but watch out for "Summer Gremlins" — a name that could be applied to the common hazards that all too frequently rob them of needed pleasure and change.

For instance, sunshine, taken in proper doses, improves health. Sun baths should be brief at first — just 10 minutes the first day, 15, the second and so on. Remember, it takes 16 days to safely sun-tan a child. Burns should be treated like burns from any other source.

Steer clear of the plant with three shiny dark green leaves — poison ivy. Those who become exposed should lather their bodies with good soap suds, rinse and repeat. This washes away the oil, forestalling or minimizing irritation. Soothing, protective lotions and hot compresses are standard treatment.

Chances should not be taken with impure water or with unpasturized milk. Impure water should be brought to a boil before it is used, or it can be purified by chlorination. Milk may be easily pasteurized by home methods.

Somewhere in the Pacific

FOR ALMOST six years, Canada has read of the exploits of her fighting sons under varying datelines.

"Somewhere in Britain" was the dateline when the 1st Canadian Division sailed up the Clyde in the morning mist of a mid-December day in 1939. "Somewhere in Southern England" marked the stories as the Canadian army trained for more than three years and waited eagerly for the Second Front.

"Somewhere in Sicily" was the first dateline on a story of invading Canadians — for no dispatch came from the continent when heroic assault brigades were thrown back at bloody Dieppe in 1942. On through 1943 came other datelines of progress from "Somewhere in Italy".

A year ago began the end of the Canadian Army's job and the advance of the datelines rolled — "Somewhere in Normandy," "Somewhere in Belgium," "Somewhere in Germany." Then came victory in Europe and names of censored cities once again made the datelines.

But the Canadian army's war is not over. By September, the Canadian Far East Force will start its training somewhere in the United States. And before 1946 has gone far, Canadian ground forces will be in battle again — "Somewhere in the Pacific".

For the young Canadians who wear the hexagonal, multi-colored battle flash of the Far East Force, it will be a different war. No more snow and sleet, no more and flooded battlefields. But there will be crushing heat, deadly jungle diseases, even more fanatical foes.

It will be a different war — but just as deadly.

The army's war is not over — nor is the Canadian people's. In this lull between two great battles, while the boys come marching home, the country must prepare to support its fighting sons to the utmost as they put the finishing touch to their wartime job "Somewhere in the Pacific."

Rehabilitation

A NEW ANGLE on the rehabilitation of servicewomen appears in the doings at a Montreal C.W.A.C. headquarters. A novel type of army lecture — of a strictly unmilitary nature — has been added to the dischargees' training syllabus. The first in a series of lectures on "Beauty and Good Grooming" was given to the girls at No. 104 depot recently, by an expert in feminine pulchritude. The subject was absorbed with keen attention.

The Old Red Tie

AMONG OUR genial acquaintances of the press is one who has recently attained his 50th anniversary as editor of The Barrie Examiner—James Alexander MacLaren. To those of neighboring newspapermen and members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association — of which Mr. MacLaren is a past-president — The Watchman adds its cordial congratulations.

Mr. MacLaren has happily combined the roles of weekly editor and community builder, and his half century of leadership in journalism was acclaimed not only by fellow members of his profession but also by his own townsmen. Indeed he is an editor "not without honor in his own community".

Long associated with the editor of The Examiner is his red necktie — without which his appearance would be strangely lacking. "The emblem of senatorship in the weekly newspapers of Canada" is how it was described by C. V. Charters, of Brampton. . . . Of this peculiarity, and of his friendship and hospitality, we have pleasant memories, and our good wishes are extended to Mr. MacLaren on this notable anniversary.

Swatting Time

THE GREAT germ carriers of modern times are flies, just as rats and lice were in the Middle Ages. People are far too inclined to take this menace lightly, to regard flies as just a nuisance although these pests breed in astronomical numbers, each newly-batched "flylet" becoming a potential carrier of disease.

It is scientifically established that house flies spread typhoid fever, tuberculosis, dysentery and possibly infantile paralysis. They do this as part of their deadly routine by alighting in outdoor privvies, on manure piles, decaying garbage and on any other sources of filth which are left uncovered. Then, anywhere within a 14-mile radius, they search out human food and crawl over it, leaving a trail of contamination, especially on anything liquid or sweet.

Swat any flies that appear, from spring right on through the summer. Be scrupulously clean in your country house-keeping, including the farmyard and outbuildings. Garbage should be burned or buried in earth or lime every day. Never leave food uncovered, particularly milk, and wash all fruits and vegetables before using them. Be sure your fly screens are worthy of their important task. A banging door or one small hole may do irreparable damage to your family's health.

Premonition

SERGEANT W. J. Maitland, D.F.M., son of B.C.'s Attorney-General, lost his life in action last year in the skies over Germany. His mother, searching through his boyhood scrapbook recently found this poem written by her son when he was twelve years of age, which foretold the war and his death. That was only six years ago. Canadians can well read this and think:

"We are the heroes of the air,
We fight and laugh and die and roar;
To come near us no foe would dare
For such a stream of lead we pour.

Our men fear not the sight of Hell,
Who for their King and Country fell.

"Oh how the dusky tempest blew
And the battle in the sky kept on,
As through the air the bullets flew

IT IS REPORTED that during the war the Chateau Laurier in Ottawa accommodated 873,041 guests. It would be interesting to learn how many of them charged up their bills to government expense accounts.

Belgian Journalists "Will Never Forget Canadians"

● For several weeks now seven Belgian journalists have been visiting Canada to find out about our war effort and the country generally. Said these journalists, most of whom spent the four years of occupation working in the resistance movement. "We will never forget Canadians. Twice in a generation they have come to free us from the Germans. This time the Belgian civilians actually stopped the fighting — by flinging themselves bodily on the Canadian tanks, and crowding around every Canadian they saw !"

They corroborated the stories you hear about inflation in Europe. "The franc has gone wild," one of them said, "and it is possible to buy many essentials only on the black market. We are deeply impressed by Canada's war-time controls and her famous fight against inflation."

Quebec Planting Celebrations

● The Quebec Forestry Association has fixed special dates for arbor day celebrations in the various regions of the province of Quebec, and tree planting celebrations have already been held in dozens of centres. More than 75 4-H Clubs have held special ceremonies and have pledged themselves to preserve Canada's gardens and forests.

• • •

Canadian Prisoners Freed

● By the end of May, three weeks after Germany's unconditional surrender, 5,085 Canadian prisoners of war had been released, leaving only 184 unaccounted for. Most of these were probably prisoners who escaped from the lines of men being marched back from the fronts. The number of prisoners in the Far East remains at 1,504.

Business Increases

● Sales through retail stores gained 11 per cent in the first four months of 1945 over the same period last year, and wholesale business rose by 8.5 per cent.

Fifty Thousand Houses

● In a recent statement, Finance Minister Ilsley outlined measures being taken to promote the construction of at least 50,000 housing units during the next year. The first step is providing more materials, especially critical materials like brick, soil pipe, lumber, bathtubs and furnaces. Then labor must be found, and a senior officer is being appointed in the Department of Labor to devote all his time to the field of construction.

Finally, the National Housing Act helps out on financing new homes, both individually and in groups. Homes for veterans on farms and small holdings can be built under the Veterans' Land Act.

In addition, Wartime Housing Limited, a government organization, has put up 1,123 houses for rent to ex-members of the armed forces or to dependents of those still in the service, and another 1,414 are under way. This is in addition to the more than 17,000 wartime houses built for workers in war plants.

RUBBLE VALUABLE FOR CONSTRUCTION

Planning has long been proceeding quietly for the new and better Britain that is to rise like a phoenix from the ashes of the enemy's bombing raids. Timber for British homes is now being felled in Canadian forests, and other building materials are already being shipped across the Atlantic.

The British themselves are hard at work, as is proved by a score of rubble heaps dotted around London. These heaps are the remains of bombed buildings which have been cleared away and carefully sorted. There are three categories of salvage material: wood and metal which can be used again; rubble which becomes the hard core of construction work; and the finer grained material and dust which is being used for filling in marshes. Rubble makes the best of all bases for runways on aerodromes, but no less important is its use for the roadways which later will link up the new housing projects all over the country.

Poison Ivy May Spoil Your Holiday

Of all skin-irritant plants in North America, poison ivy is one of the worst, and it finds most victims in the summer time. It grows under a variety of conditions, wet or dry; it is seldom found in cultivated land but it is plentiful in unoccupied areas, or in secluded nooks and corners which children love to explore.

When picnickers happen upon what seems to be an ideal spot in an open space by the shores of a wooded lake, their first thought should be of the possible presence of poison ivy. Some people are immune to its poison some of the time, but all people are not exempt from infection all the time. Poisoning is the result of contact with any part of the plant—leaves, flower, and roots — or from clothing, boots and tools that have the oily juice of the ivy on them.

The initial stage of poisoning is a mild itchy sensation, followed by the development of blisters which on breaking become painful oozing sores. The treatment is to wash thoroughly with strong laundry soap in running water as soon as possible after suspected contact. Use plenty of soap. By washing immediately before the oil of the ivy has had time to penetrate the skin, poisoning may be avoided. Otherwise, when the irritation becomes apparent, medical aid should be obtained as soon as possible.

London — For the past five-and-a-half years about 600 Londoners have gone to the National Gallery each lunch hour to hear the series of concerts initiated by the well known British pianist, Dame Myra Hess. The public are urging that these concerts should be continued after the war.

Some Fallacious Ideas Concerning Community Sanitation

● F. B. WELCH, M.D.,
Health Officer of Janesville, Wisconsin

Modern sanitary science is one of the triumphs of the human mind. No story is more fascinating than that of its beginning, its developments and its achievements. "Born in the mystery and superstition of a distant past, its progress a slow and tedious struggle against filth, disease and uncertainty, it has emerged to advance our material welfare to a level far beyond the dreams of former ages."

The science of bacteriology and parasitology completely changed man's concept of environmental sanitation. All filth and dirt did not cause disease. Only the dirt that was contaminated with human secretions could cause disease. Environmental sanitation controlled only those diseases which were due to faulty sanitation (typhoid, cholera, dysentery, etc.). It divided the health programme into two definite parts. First, that of specific disease prevention and second, that of environmental sanitation.

The statement is often made that we have eradicated the diseases caused by faulty sanitation, such as typhoid, cholera, etc. These diseases have not been eradicated, they have simply been held in check by the application of the principles of sanitary engineering. The health and welfare of all large urban communities are entirely dependent upon the proper operation of their water and sewage disposal systems. Let these operations be disrupted or destroyed by such catastrophes as earthquakes, floods, tornadoes or the destruction of war, and these diseases appear in epidemic form. The control of these diseases depends upon eternal vigilance, since perfect past records often engender a smug complacency from which we are sometimes rudely shaken.

Emergency Chlorination

The equipment for the emergency chlorination of all water supplies should always be held in reserve no matter how safe the water supply may be. Communities that fail in this are flirting with danger. Cross connections, back syphonage, sewage leakage and mechanical defects are possibilities of danger. There is always a chance for "a slip between the pump and the lip". Remember, the world is never free from epidemics of typhoid and cholera. Certain global sections act as great reservoirs from which these diseases flow.

Bathing Place Fallacies

While we are on the subject of water it might be well to dispel some of the fallacies that arise in regard to bathing places. Every year "rumor mongers" sing their plaintive songs. It makes no difference whether the municipal bathing beach is located on a river, in a sand pit or on a lake, or whether it is an outdoor swimming pool, the stories start just the same. Skin infections, gastric intestinal upsets and respiratory infections are all blamed to the alleged polluted water. Impetigo, boils, and other skin infections are due to towels, bathing suits, and personal contact — not to the water. The only exception to this is "swimmer's itch" (Schistosome dermatitis) which is caused by certain larval flukes in the water. They penetrate the skin and cause a dermatitis.

During the month of June an epidemic of acute catarrhal jaundice (acute infectious hepatitis) occurred among the children of one of the Janesville schools. This was many weeks before the municipal swimming beach was opened. The epidemic continued until the late fall months. During the summer months many people complained to the health department that their children had contracted the disease at the public swimming beach. The absurdity of this statement is evident. The disease started before the beach was opened, and occurred in many people who never attended the swimming beach. The same statement holds true of the respiratory diseases which occurred in this city during the summer months. These were also caused by personal contacts, not by water.

Quarantine Regulations

The word quarantine dates back to the 14th century and the "Black Death." A certain port on the Mediterranean held certain ships in harbor for 30 days before permitting passengers, crew or goods to land. In the Italian tongue a 30-day period was known as "Trentina." When the period was increased to 40 days it was called

Dies at St. Andrews At Age of 95 Years

Late Mrs. M. McGoldrick

St. Andrews East — The funeral service for the late Margaret Lavina Carkner, widow of Michael McGoldrick, was held at her home on Saturday afternoon, June 23, and was conducted by the Rev. J. S. Nickerson of the United Church.

Mrs. McGoldrick, who celebrated her 95th birthday on February 19, was one of Argenteuil's oldest citizens. She enjoyed remarkably good health until about a fortnight before her passing. She had a good sense of humor and enjoyed visits from neighbors and relatives.

Interment took place in the local Protestant Cemttery.

WAR HERO TO BE GUEST PREACHER FOR ANNIVERSARY

St. Andrews East — For the United Church anniversary services in the St. Andrews East - Pte. Fortune charge, Lieut. Colin D. Nickerson, M.C., will be the guest preacher. The services are announced for July 1 at St. David's, July 8 at Pte. Fortune, and July 15 at St. Andrews East.

Lieut. Nickerson, son of Rev. J. S. Nickerson, pastor of this charge, is a student for the ministry of the United Church. Accompanied by his bride, he is now visiting here from Nova Scotia, after serving with distinction in the Canadian forces. . . . The official citation concerning the award of the Military Cross to Lieut. Nickerson reads as follows:

"Lieut. C. D. Nickerson, The Princess Louise Fusiliers, while on duty as Mortar Position Officer near Aquino on the 24th of May, 1944, this officer's position was subjected to heavy shelling. He was painfully wounded while attempting to render aid to his severely wounded platoon sergeant. Another man with him was killed outright by the continuous shellfire. In spite of his injury he continued to look after his wounded men and refused to be evacuated himself. Still on duty on May 25th, east of Ceprano, this officer was again wounded, this time in two places. Although now unable to walk, he continued to control his platoon, on more than one occasion crawling to and from his wireless to receive and issue fire orders. He would not allow himself to be evacuated until the enemy was out of range. He was then ordered back.

Lieut. Nickerson's courage and devotion to duty was responsible for maintaining his platoon in action thereby contributing to the success of the operation."

Major Minshull, his superior officer, in forwarding the citation, said to Rev. J. S. Nickerson, father of the decorated officer: "All ranks of the P.L.F. are particularly proud of your son, the first officer of this unit to win any decoration in this war."

Recent Wedding At United Church

MacRae - Fox

In Lachute United Church at seven o'clock on Saturday evening, June 16, the marriage was solemnized of Miss Catherine Fox, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Fox, of Calumet, Que., to Mr. Ernest D. MacRae, youngest son of Mr. D. MacRae and the late Mrs. MacRae, also of Calumet. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Fox, the bride wore a gown of white bridal satin made on princess lines with inserts of Chantilly lace, a sweetheart neckline, and long fitted sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her finger-tip veil of tulle fell from a small, white flower hat, and she carried an arm bouquet of white and pink roses with maiden hair fern.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jessie Fox, gowned in a floor-length frock of Queen's chiffon and a small blue flowered hat with a finger-tip veil. She carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses and maiden hair fern.

The groom was attended by Mr. Richard MacTavish.

Later Mr. and Mrs. MacRae left by motor for Ottawa and other Ontario points.

BOMBED CRUISER DOCKLAND THREAT

Glasgow (CP) — A 250-pound German bomb which crashed into the cruiser Sussex and set her aflame during an air raid Sept. 8, 1940, caused 2,000 people along Glasgow's waterfront to be evacuated as it was feared the ammunition might explode.

Had the cruiser, just loaded with shells and torpedoes, exploded it is estimated that an area within a half-mile radius would have been flattened. But after a 12-hour fight firemen succeeded in quenching the blaze and saving the harbor.

BRITAIN'S V-BOMB SHELVED IN 1930

London (CP) — Seventeen years before the flying bomb caused so much death and destruction in London, Britain had her own flying bomb, but halted work on it when it was feared the secret might fall into the hands of enemy agents.

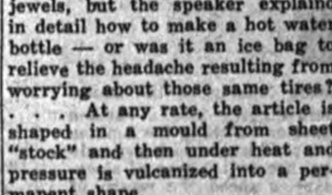

Existence of such a bomb was first mentioned briefly in a debate in the House of Lords, but the full story has only now come out. The British flying bomb, known as "Larynax," was started in 1925 and was operationally a success in 1927.

In 1930, however, Sir Henry Tizzard's Committee for the Scientific Study of Air Defence pointed out that the flying bomb would be more effective against London than against any corresponding area in any enemy country and that there was the danger that an enemy country might get wind of it. The air staff agreed and the project was shelved.

Fish must be plentiful when one can wade out and pick them out by hand. This was done by a Hamilton guest at Sunny Bank, Waupoos. A big pike was seen off the shore, and the visitor waded out and grabbed it. The fish tipped the scales at 12 pounds.

Rotary Speaker in Interesting Story

The latex collected in the cup is emptied into shallow vats, where the addition of acetic acid coagulates the rubber out of the latex. The rubber is removed from the vats, run through mill rolls into sheets and pressed into 200 to 400 lb. bales in which form the rubber manufacturers in America and Europe receive it.

At the factories the bales are cut with hydraulic pressure and sharp knives into pieces small enough to process on large machines. On huge roller presses this raw rubber is mixed with powder-like fillers and chemicals by the frictional heat and mixing action of the equipment. Sulphur is added to cause vulcanizing; materials such as zinc oxide and carbon black, to increase abrasive resistance; ground limestone to cheapen, and many other fillers for specific purposes, such as color. Over 50% fillers can be used, still giving a high quality rubber product. Rubber in this form is called "stock", in the trade, and subsequent kneading, or calendering as it is called, is required to transform it into a tube or sheet from which the many thousands of familiar everyday articles are made.

—Members were hoping to learn how to make some new tires to replace those threadbare pre-war jewels, but the speaker explaind in detail how to make a hot water bottle — or was it an ice bag to relieve the headache resulting from worrying about those same tires? . . . At any rate, the article is shaped in a mould from sheet "stock" and then under heat and pressure is vulcanized into a permanent shape.

When it is considered that one company will have more than 1,000 "stocks", the problems of making the multitude of articles can be realized.

The future for rubber is a bright one, but the speaker felt that synthetics, due to their special characteristics, had displaced natural rubber in many places that it will never regain.

As previouly mentioned, in the properties which have made tree rubber so popular, it has no equal. However, neoprene is more resistant to sunlight; buna to mud and earth; butyl to strong acids and alkalis; and thiokol to oil and organic solvents such as gasoline.

Although synthetic rubber is now more costly than the natural, the speaker believed that the price would be lowered and in the field of their special characteristics each variety would replace rubber. Some compounding of synthetics with rubber was thought to be a possibility and would result in an even better quality product than we know at present.

Time to Shape Garden Shrubs and Hedges

June is the month when all common shrubs used in hedges make rapid growth, and it is the time when hedges and specimen shrubs can best be shaped by clipping. The oftener new growth is clipped back, the denser will the hedge become from flower shoots that have been induced to grow. After mid-July, the sparse, new growth will require slight trimming. Clipping back severely or pruning in autumn should be avoided. This is not the growing season and wounds made at that time do not readily heal. Twigs and branches are therefore likely to die back a distance below the cut during the ensuing winter.

Flowering shrubs such as lilac, early spiraeas, honeysuckle and cotoneaster should not be trimmed to form shape until flowers have faded. Pruning out dead wood and undesirable branches should be done early in the spring but trimming to shape the bush is best done immediately the blossom is past, say the experts at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Brandon, Man. If this work is done later than July 15, the already formed buds that mother the blossoms in the following year are likely to be sheared off.

Safe Milk for Summer Cottages

In districts where commercially pasteurized milk is not available, summer cottagers and other temporary residents are advised, as a health measure, to make the milk safe by home pasteurization. The only utensils necessary are a double-boiler, preferably of aluminum, and a floating dairy thermometer. The latter may be purchased at most hardware stores.

The procedure, as recommended by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, is as follows — half fill the lower part of the double boiler with water, and put the milk in the upper half. A boiler of 2½ quarts capacity will be required to pasteurize two quarts of milk. Place the thermometer in the milk and the double boiler on the stove. Examine the thermometer from time to time until it registers a temperature of 140 degrees F. Then turn down the heat slightly because the water will be hot enough to bring the temperature of the milk up to the desired 150 degrees.

The temperature of 150 degrees should be maintained for 30 minutes. Then the milk should be covered up and cooled to 50 degrees or below. In cold weather this can be done by setting the vessel containing the milk in cold water, but in summer time a mixture of ice and water is necessary. Place the cooled milk in a refrigerator or in a cool cellar or cooling pit. The milk should be used within 24 hours for infant feeding and within 48 hours for adults. Milk to be pasteurized should be fresh, and it is important that care should be taken to clean the utensils thoroughly.

Sleepers and Diners in "Home from the War" Specials

RESERVED FOR HEROES: Nobody looking at the smiles that wouldn't come off on these soldiers digging into a chicken dinner on a Canadian Pacific Railway diner or watching the reunion of this airman with the two-and-a-half-year-old son he had seen only as a new-born infant could complain about the switch-over of sleeping and dining cars from ordinary travel to speed the return of active service personnel from the war. In the two-day period when these pictures were taken (June 16-17), there were 2,000 servicemen handled through Montreal on seven C.P.R. trains.

Fallacious Ideas Concerning Community Sanitation

"Quarantina." The meaning of the word gradually changed to mean any fixed period of detention. Man has always feared pestilence. Pestilence meant suffering and many times death. The man with a contagious disease, such as diphtheria, was feared. Everything that he contacted was feared. Only the people who lived in that period could understand that fear. The death rate from diphtheria in children was often 40% or more before the discovery of antitoxin. Health departments tried to control epidemics by enforcing severe quarantine measures, but these tactics failed.

It remained for the science of bacteriology to show us why these measures failed. Bacteriology revealed that healthy carriers, who are people who are not sick but carriers of the contagious germs, were responsible for the spread of disease. As the knowledge in the field (bacteriology) increased there has been a tendency on the part of progressive health departments toward relaxing the quarantine and isolation restrictions. With the modern concept of contagious disease control, it is difficult to understand the fallacious ideas that still prevail in many localities in regard to quarantine enforcement.

Restriction of the collection of milk bottles from the quarantined home is an outstanding example of this ignorance. It shows a lack of understanding by health authorities of the methods used by milk distributors in the cleaning and sterilization of these bottles before they reach the bottle filler in the milk plant. After the bottles reach the milk plant, they are mechanically washed in a solution containing 70 pounds of pure caustic to 300 gallons of water at a temperature of 140 degrees. They are timed so that a bottle remains in the solution about 12 minutes, during which time it is mechanically brushed inside and outside, then the bottle is rinsed in hot water (about 90 degrees), then rinsed in cold water. They are not touched by human hands from the washer to the bottle filler. This process of washing is controlled by bacteriological examination. Washed bottles should be practically sterile.

Many times in the quarantined home the family washing becomes a real burden. Nursing care of the sick is often a full-time job. There is no scientific reason why commercial laundries cannot handle such washings. They could be properly treated with Lysol or other recognized germicides at the home, or they could be placed in proper containers furnished by the laundry for such purposes. If washings can carry infection the incidence rate for communicable disease should be higher among laundry workers. Enormous quantities of laundry are handled yearly from homes where unrecognized carriers and atypical cases occur. No precautions of sterilization or disinfection are used in the homes, yet the case rates for communicable disease are no higher in these workers than that of those engaged in other occupations in the same community.

What slaves people are to the ignorance of the past. Every single living cell that grows and multiplies is constantly changing. Not only does the unit cell change but characteristics common to the group change. Not a single living form is permanently stabilized in this progressive evolution. The little living units, called germs, that cause communicable disease, have become so closely adapted to the individual host that in many cases they cannot live apart from him and perish when he dies, unless transmitted to another. The elementary forms known as "Richettsiae" (such as cause typhus) have become so adapted that while they still resemble bacteria in many ways they grow and multiply only in living cells. The indefinable agents known as the viruses can only grow in certain tissues of the same animal. Yes, man and his pathogens, and not environment, is the disease producing factor.

During epidemics of measles and whooping cough statements are often made by well meaning but misinformed persons, that these epidemics are due to air-borne infection, that causative agents of these diseases are in the air and that they are carried by the air, that it is impossible for a susceptible child to escape the infection. This spectre of infected air as the cause of disease has pursued the human race from the time of Hippocrates (460 B.C.). Measles and whooping cough are direct contact infections, every case contracted from a previous case by droplet spray from the nose and throat. The virus that causes measles cannot live outside the human body, except in the living tissues of the chick embryo or in living cultures of embryonic cells. The whooping cough germ is a highly adapted cell difficult to culture and quickly destroyed outside the human host. There is no scientific proof that any of the so-called communicable diseases are caused by air-borne infection. As one writer states, the very existence of these pathogens depends upon their exit from a disease host and their entrance into another susceptible host.

At no time in the world's history has there been such a synthesis of scientific achievement. We are just on the threshold of a great scientific age. If we are to maintain a true perspective and retain our intellectual honesty, we must throw away the shackles that bind us to the past and re-evaluate the science of the present. To expect man to ever attain a full benefit from these attainments would, indeed, be "Utopian." Fallacious ideas have in the past, and will in the future hinder such attainment. The education of all that can be educated is necessary if we would decrease the gap between scientific attainment and its practical application.

British Aircraft Factories Will Make Houses

A big aircraft factory in northwest England, which has been making war planes for the R.A.F., is to be switched to the production of prefabricated houses. The aircraft industry has been expanded during the war to Britain's biggest industry. Its output of aircraft, if diverted to civilian types, would be sufficient to supply all the civil airlines in the world many times over with all their requirements. A big proportion of its capacity consists of an automobile plant adapted and expanded, which will resume car production. Other factories, however, are completely new and it is planned to use them for the production of civilian goods, which will have high priority in the first post-war years. Since it is planned to produce half-a-million temporary houses per year as part of a nation-wide scheme to replace 3,000,000 houses destroyed or damaged by air attack, switching to the house construction of part of the modern factories and highly skilled workers, who have given the R.A.F. and the Dominion's air forces the most efficient aircraft in the world, will be an important factor in the post-war reconstruction programme.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

By Jessie Allen Brown

ONE GOOD FOOD

Many people are planning to cater to tourists after the war. It is a sound idea to specialize in some one food that can be made superbly good and build up a reputation for it. I watched a roadside stand between Toronto and Hamilton build up to a thriving business. They did it on buttermilk and pie. The buttermilk was extra good and the farmer's wife made grand pie. At first this was all they served, but as customers began flocking to them they gradually added other foods and built up a real business. I heard an American remark that he had driven fifteen miles to a particular tea-room because a friend who had been there last week told him about the lovely muffins they always served. Another woman had a small city tea-room. She made excellent chocolate cake and the stenographers lunched there each day just to get that cake. Another woman built her reputation around home-made ice-cream with chocolate pepermint sauce. Other places specialize on steaks, or fish, or friend chicken. People for miles around go to another tea-room because of the graham-cracker pie which is a specialty of the house. This is a day of specials and it pays to specialize in one food and it does not have to be something exotic.

KEEP THEM FLUFFY

Summer means plenty of bath towels to wash. We all like to have nice fluffy ones — the better to dry you, my dear. The secret is to shake well before hanging, and I do mean shake. Sometimes even with the best of care towels will get a bit muggy looking, so then is the time to use a good bleach. Use it exactly as the directions on the bottle direct and besides making the white parts whiter, it will brighten the colors. The chief thing to watch in using a bleach is to have it thoroughly mixed with the water before putting in the articles to be bleached, and then to rinse several times until every trace of the alkaline is rinsed out.

LIQUIDS MUST BE LUKEWARM

Hot water kills yeast so all liquids used in a yeast mixture must be lukewarm. The time honored test is to drop a bit on the wrist and if it is the same temperature it is just right — just the way you do to test the baby's bath water. I heard of one bride who poured hot water on the yeast and then added cool water to make it lukewarm. No need to tell you how mistaken she was. Yeast mixtures need to be nice and cosy and warm to do their best. A temperature of from 80 to 90 degrees gives the best results. If you have an electric stove, turn on both elements in the oven and time it for exactly one minute. That gives you just the right temperature and the dough is safe from draughts when tucked away in the oven to raise. Yeast mixtures are not hard to handle if you follow a few elementary rules, and I do not know of anything which brings as much applause for as little work. I heard it said of a woman that she could not cook at all, she could not even make white bread. There is many a woman who considers herself a pretty good cook who has never made bread, but it is worth the doing, at least occasionally.

ORANGE BREAD

Large orange, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup butter, 1¼ teaspoons salt, 1 cake yeast, 1 egg, beaten, about 3 cups bread flour.

Cut the orange in quarters, remove the white core; put through the grinder using the finest blade. There should be 1 cup of juice and pulp. Add the butter, sugar and salt and bring to a boil. Cool until lukewarm. Add the crumbled yeast and beat with a rotary beater until well blended. Add enough flour to make a stiff dough, about 2½ cups. Knead on a floured board for 5 minutes, adding enough flour to keep it from sticking. Cover with a clean towel and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Knead for 1 minute on a floured board. Shape into a loaf and put in greased loaf pan, and cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderately hot oven of 375 degrees for 50 minutes. Brush the crust with butter.

LIME SHERBERT

1½ teaspoons unflavored gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1½ cups water, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup fresh lime juice, ⅓ cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, few grains salt, green coloring, 2 egg whites.

Soak the gelatin in the cold water. Add the sugar to the 1½ cups of water and boil 2 minutes; add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add lime, orange and lemon juices and salt. Cool. Tint a light green. Pour into the tray of the refrigerator and freeze to mush. Place in chilled bowl and beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Return to tray and freeze until firm, stirring several times.
