Quebec Director of Protestant Education Here to Discuss Central School Board Plan

Representative County Gathering Addressed by Dr. W. P. Percival

Criticism for Action of Local Board

A public meeting called by the Lachute Protestant School Commissioners to give taxpayers all the required information on the Central School Board system, was well attended last Friday night in the High School. Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Protestant Education for the Province of Quebec, was the main speaker.

After his opening remarks, the chairman, Mr. E. K. Wilson, introduced Dr. Percival to the gathering. The speaker expressed pleasure at being present, and said that he was pleased that a public meeting had been called for the purpose of explaining the benefits of the Act.

"Let me say at the outset, the kernel of the act is to improve educational conditions", said Dr. Percival. "I am not here to argue in favor of the Act, but to give information", he added. Asking the questions . . . Is the Central School Board system for the benefit of education? . . . Will the child receive better education? . . the speaker said the answer, in his opinion, was emphatically, Yes.

He went on to describe the present condition in this county with 22 separate school boards, each one a law unto itself, and of the problem of parents with limited means to send their child to the nearest school though it may be in another school district. Dr. Percival expressed his philosophy regarding education, "Education is not for the rich alone, and no child in this country should be denied his right of education because of the inability to pay".

Stating that the elementary schools were only equipped to teach to grade VII, and the intermediate schools to grade IX, Dr. Percival claimed that pupils reaching this standard had just received the tools for learning, and that not enough of them were going on to grades XI and XII.

Comparing the progress that Protestant education has made in 15 years, Dr. Percival said that in 1930, only 701 grade XI students wrote June examinations, while in 1945 over 2,000 had sent in papers. "But", added the speaker, "to keep up with many school districts in the U.S.A., we should have at least 5,000. . . What are the reasons; are the pupils not as clever as those to the south? . . . are they not wealthy enough?", asked the director.

A challenge was thrown to those present when Dr. Percival asked, "Are you willing to have your children stop where you stopped in your education, or are you wanting them to go on to higher things?"

The director then said that the course of study was better than 15 years ago, that 11 subjects had been added, that text books were better, and thought had been given to having paper and type that is easier on pupils' eyes. Speaking on the extra courses available, the director mentioned the values of household science, manual training, music, shorthand and typing, but said that it was impossible to give these courses unless there were at least 45 pupils in the graduating class and more teachers available.

Stating that the Central Board system would help to remedy this deficit, Dr. Percival said he did not care "whether the centre was in Lachute, Brownsburg or elsewhere, but I would like to see it in the County of Argenteuil".

Lost Airman Now Presumed Dead

F/O. Geo. D. Boyd

Flying Officer George D. Boyd, who was reported missing while flying with the Ferry Command last November, is now for official purposes "presumed dead". Notice to this effect was received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin G. Boyd, on June 23.

George Boyd trained with the R.C.A.F. at the Montreal Wireless School and received his wings as Wireless Air-Gunner at Jarvis, Ont. He was later transferred to the R.A.F., doing ferry service with No. 45 Atlantic Transport Group. Taking the navigator's course, he was promoted to Warrant Officer. Later he became Flying Officer, receiving this promotion shortly before he and other members of an air-crew were reported missing off the coast of Newfoundland, November 12, 1944. During his service with the ferry command he was stationed for several months in the Bahamas.

F/O Boyd was 22 years of age. Before enlisting, in July 1941, he attended the Brownsburg Consolidated School and later was employed at the C-I-L. Besides his parents he leaves two sisters and two brothers — one of whom, Ernest, is now serving in Holland.

NUMISMATIC NUISANCE

One of the minor benefits of V-Day is that we may hope soon to see the last of the "black nickel" . . . and a return to the regular nickel whose pristine whiteness is easily distinguishable.

Home Destroyed by Fire Last Night

At 11.15 o'clock last night Lachute Fire Brigade was summoned to a blaze near the exhibition grounds, where a frame dwelling beyond the town limits, situated in Chatham, was burning fiercely by the time the firemen arrived. The house was the property of Joseph Duval, an employee of Dominion Shuttle Company. Mr. Duval was absent from his home when the outbreak occurred, and the cause of the fire was not known. The dwelling was completely gutted, nothing being saved from the contents.

The firefighters laid 800 feet of hose, and averted a spread of the fire to nearby houses.

A previous out-of-town call was received Sunday evening from St. Hermas, where Lachute fire equipment was rushed to assist at a fire which consumed two dwellings, one of which was the site of the village post office. Both properties were burned to the ground, but the firemen, although handicapped by a poor water supply, saved neighboring buildings from damage.

John A. Stiles, Chief Executive Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association, sailed recently for Great Britain for the first conference with Imperial Headquarters of the Movement since the outbreak of the war.

A Mystery Solved

Law officers scratched their heads last week — over the mystery of the missing begonias. (or were they African marigolds?)

Emerging from the musty recesses of the Court House, the County Registrar raised a baffled eyebrow. Some tender plants had been removed from the flowerbed in front of the county building. The loss was disconcerting — for these had been rare and promising begonias. . . With some reluctance, the case was confided to the police. Agreed on the gravity of the case, Chief Donat Villeneuve forthwith toured the town, intent to identify the county begonias in some miscreant's garden. Even Detective Paul Dauphin of the Provincial Police was called for consultation; together the officers returned to the scene of the crime, to lay some plan of action. Here in the Court House grounds they were joined by the Registrar, who meanwhile gazed dejectedly over the despoiled landscape. . . It was thus he discerned something vaguely familiar in a not-far-distant rubbish heap. There, it transpired, among the trash and vegetation, were the missing plants. . . . .

The caretaker, it seems, had labored with more enthusiasm than discrimination in his job of weeding the flowerbed!

Cd'n Refractories' Kilmar Mine Under New Ownership

Montreal — Announceent of the transfer of control of Canadian Refractories Limited from the Kilburn Company of Owen Sound, Ontario, to Harbison Walker Refractories Company of Pittsburgh, was made at Kilmar recently by Mr. N. P. Pitt, vice-president and managing director of C.R.L., and a statement appeared in United States and Canadian newspapers.

In a meeting at Kilmar, Mr. Pitt reviewed the history of the company from its early days of simple operations to the present production of clinker, cements and brick for both domestic and export markets. He pointed out that despite C.R.L.'s large wartime expansion, future needs would require further expansion and more modern equipment for economical production at Kilmar. Such capital expenditures require adequate financing and Mr. Pitt annuonced that the control of the Company, after a recent investigation, had been acquired by Harbison Walker Refractories Company of Pittsburg, Pa.

While the controlling interest in C.R.L. in the past had little experience in the manufacture of refractories, Harbison-Walker have been in this type of business since 1865 and are the largest producers of refractories in the world. At the present time they operate some 24 plants and supply about one third of the refractory requirements of the U.S.A.

The present Board of Directors consists of the following:

F. B. Kilbourn, President, Montreal; N. P. Pitt, Vice-President and Managing Director, Montreal; Raymond Willey, Pitsburg; James E. McCloskey, Jr., Pittsburg; H. S. Robertson (Sales Mgr. H-W), Pittsburg; F. E. Brydon (Sales Mgr. C.R.L.), Montreal; P. H. Atwood, Pittsburg; G. G. Ryan, Montreal.

The new owners have indicated that they do not intend to disturb the management, operation or major sales activities of the Company, and their principal interest is further modernization of Kilmar.

IN ESCORT FOR ROYAL VISITOR

Traffic Officer Howard Jones, of Calumet, was assigned with two other provincial officers to form an escort for the Prince Regent of Iraq, now touring Canada and the United States following the San Francisco Conference. The royal visitor and his party were travelling from the capital to Montreal on Monday morning in three automobiles. Proceeding by the south shore highway they were escorted as far as Pointe Fortune by Ontario traffic police, and thence to Montreal by the Quebec squad.

Car Overturned At Dalesville

Shortly after three o'clock Saturday afternoon a highway crash occurred on the curve opposite George Kennedy's farm at Dalesville. Proceeding southward, Narcisse Philippe of St. Michel, owner and driver of the damaged car, claimed he was crowded off the highway by a Montreal car going north. Philippe's sedan left the road, hit a telephone pole and overturned.

Passengers in the car were Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Farmer, of Brownsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Andre Richer, of St. Michel. Mr. Farmer was the only occupant who suffered injury. Brought to Lachute, he was treated by Dr. L. P. Sauve for a fractured shoulder.

Officer H. Jones, provincial traffic police, investigated the accident.

Thieves Remove Tractor Plow

The unusual appearance of some new farm machinery, displayed by the Farmer Brown Motor Sales, proved a temptation which brought robbers to the scene in the early hours of Monday morning. A two-furrow tractor plow in front of the premises was fastened behind a car or light vehicle and towed away. The thieves, however, met with disaster, for as they proceeded east along Main Street, less than half a mile from the Farmer Brown establishment the plow became unhooked and crashed into the sidewalk, badly damaging the wheels. The crash occurred near the town office and police station at an hour estimated around 3.30 am. The plow and evidence of the accident was discovered 10 minutes later by Traffic Officer Albert Legault, of Brownsburg, passing through from St. Jerome.

The case is under investigation by Provincial Police.

Rotary Club Hears Vivid Record Of the Netherlands Underground

OF ALL THE ALLIED TROOPS WHO HAVE BEEN IN NETHERLANDS, CANADIANS ARE MOST POPULAR, SAYS DUTCH OFFICIAL

Brownsburg — The Rotary Club, at their meeting held at Carrière's Hotel on June 26, had as their guest speaker for the evening Mr. J. J. Poelhekke, Director of the Netherlands Government Information Bureau in Montreal for the whole of Canada. He was introduced by Rotarian Dennis Staniforth. Mr. Poelhekke was born in Utrecht and received his Doctor's degree in History from Leyden University. He has done research work in the Netherlands Historical Institute in Rome and the Spanish State Archives. Since the war he has been attached to the Netherlands Government Legations in Lisbon, London and Canada . . . The subject of his address was "Dutch Underground Resistance".

Mr. Poelhekke conveyed to the meeting in both French and English the fact that "every Dutchman pays warmest tribute and most sincere thanks to all Canadians who in any way helped to liberate Holland from German tyranny". While Canada and Holland have been on the most friendly terms, it took a war for the two nations to really understand one another. Of all the Allied soldiers who have been on Holland soil, the Canadians are the most popular.

Canadian soldiers entering Holland with the Allied armies found a people who had been stripped of all luxuries, practically all essentials; they found starvation, very pronounced, but behind it all an unbeaten people and a fighting spirit second to none. This will-to-resist was due in no small way to the "Underground". The information given here is meagre to say the least, chiefly because the Underground leaders and people themselves are so modest as to believe their individual part in the movement isn't worth recounting. The story can only be put together like a jig-saw puzzle from scraps of information from many sources, and eye witnesses.

The Dutch underground started the day the Germans crossed the border to include Holland in the German sphere of a "Greater Europe". Holland is a dense country by Canadian standards, being about half the size of the province of New Brunswick, which has approximately 400,000 people, whereas Holland has 9,000,000 people in the same area. It was extremely difficult to hide people in such a densely populated area, yet by conservative estimates, over 200,000 people spread through this area were at one time concealed from the Germans. These "wanted" people could be protected by the loyal population only by adhering to the rigid rules of the Underground Army.

The Germans thoroughly disliked the democratic way of life developed by Holland and went to great pains through their propaganda, to convey to the German people and the world at large that the Germans had been received with open arms in Holland. This, as we all know, was a complete failure. The German propaganda minister, Goebbels, finally had to admit that the Dutch internal resistance had beaten him and could not be conquered. All radios were confiscated and made illegal, to endeavor to cut the people off from Allied information sources.

Bull Imported Here First Shipment of Cattle Since War

J. H. Black, widely known cattle expert and president of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, is consignee for one of three animals in the first Ayrshire shipment from the British Isles since the war in Europe. The shipment comes from A. W. Montgomerie and Sons, of Lessnessock, Scotland. The remaining two animals — all of which are pure bred bulls — are consigned to Col. W. E. Phillips, of Oriole, Ontario, and to a New Zealand breeder. The latter animal will be quarantined in Canada for three months before being re-shipped.

The bull purchased by J. H. Black is Smithston Ivanhoe, a son of the noted cow Netherton Eliza Young, which has three records averaging over 11,000 lbs. milk and a fourth record of 13,920 lbs. milk at 4.64 per cent. The dam's dam also has records of which the average butterfat tests run from 4.45 per cent to 4.82 per cent.

In sending the report of the present shipment, Hugh Bone, secretary, Ayrshire Herd Book Society of Great Britain, wrote: "Now that exporting has commenced, it is expected that further consignments will follow. Enquiries are being made from different parts of the world."

16-YEAR-OLD MONTREALER IS VICTIM OF N. RIVER DROWNING

Local Swimmers Save Would-Be Rescuer

The first drowning tragedy here this season swelled the toll of holiday accidents in the Montreal area last week-end. Pierre Bedard, 16-year-old Montrealer, visiting in this town over Sunday, lost his life in the North River above White's Bridge, east of Lachute, shortly after four o'clock that afternoon. The body was recovered around 7.10 p.m., and Dr. Jules Lafleur, joint district coroner, after holding an investigation at the Menard undertaking parlors, pronounced death accidental.

Eyewitness of the drowning was the youth's elder brother, Andre, aged 18. Together they had been visiting at the home of Real Urbain, Lachute. There was a crowd bathing at the spot near White's bridge, but none except his brother noticed when the victim got into difficulties. Andre quickly swam to his side, and as his brother went down he clutched him with his feet, but soon became exhausted and unable to hold him, for the drowning boy was a six-footer and weighed 160 pounds. At this stage Andre Bedard was himself in a desperate plight, and other swimmers — Louis Lefebvre, Fernando Carriere and John Mallette — with difficulty brought him to shore. It was several minutes before Andre recovered sufficiently to raise the alarm concerning his brother, and a search was started around the fatal spot.

Soon after 7 p.m. Sidney Thorburn and Melvin Wilson found and recovered the body. The lad's father, Harvey Bedard, 1014 Sherbrooke Street, who received news of the tragedy while attending a ball game, arrived by automobile with a friend, and the body was released following the inquest.

Young Bedard, it was stated, was a keen swimmer and all round athlete.

Officer Howard Jones, Detective Paul Dauphin, and Det. Leon Pronovost from the Montreal homocide squad, investigated the mishap.

Col. Jekill Ends Military Career, to Study in England

Lt. Col. V. H. T. Jekill

Closing a war service record of 8½ years, Lt. Col. V. H. T. Jekill is soon to be retired from active service, at his own request.

This officer, better known about Montreal as Dr. Victor Jekill, entered the army at the age of 12, in the cook-house of the 11th Argenteuil Rangers, the unit of his grandfather and then commanded by his father.

In the last war, the call to arms came to High School pupil Jekill in his final year. He served on 18-pounders as a gunner with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in each battle of the 3rd Division, including Vimy Ridge and Passchendale; from the end of 1918 till Amiens, when he was wounded. Gunner Jekill's assignment in this last battle was "over the top" with an infantry battalion to reverse the enemy's guns on themselves.

After discharge in 1916, Jekill totally severed his association with the Army and made a firm resolution to end his career as a soldier. This was nevertheless shattered at the outbreak of the present war.

A call to Ottawa, where along with four others he was required to complete the Headquarters staff of the newly formed C.D.C., decided him to close out his dental practice. On October 4, 1939, he was appointed Records Officer, C.D.C., N.D.H.Q., with the rank of Lieutenant. In this post he contributed liberally to the development of the Corps documentation system and equipment.

A fondness for clinical pursuits made "behind a desk" seem of secondary importance in winning a war. Soon the mobilization of No. 1 Neurological Hospital collected numerous of Lieut. Jekill's former associates, and he was urged to join. In February he was released from Headquarters with the rank of Captain, and became Dental Surgeon to No. 1 Neuro.

Lions Vote Aid For Playground At Catholic School

Lachute Lions Club held their closing meeting for the season, and for the current term, at the Golf Club premises Tuesday evening. Past President Lion Walter FitzGerald took the opportunity of thanking the members for the fine co-operation extended him during his tenure of office. His term had been a most enjoyable one, and in turning over the books to the new officers, he did so with all accounts settled and money in the treasury in which to carry on the Club's service work.

On taking the chair, President Lion Leopold Carrière expressed appreciation of the honor conferred upon him as presiding officer, and urged for faithful attendance at the meetings as there was much good work to be done.

A request was presented for assistance towards the playgrounds of the Catholic School, and the amount of $300 was voted for this purpose.

The suggestion of Lion George Y. Deacon that the Club should furnish a boat with grappling irons and other equipment, which could be held in readiness at the fire station in case of drowning accidents, met with general approval.

District Governor Lion J. S. Giles gave a brief report upon the district meeting held at Quebec last week.

The next regular meeting will be held at the Golf Club, September 4.

ACQUITTED IN DEATH OF LACHUTE WOMAN IN HIGHWAY MISHAP

Hawkesbury — At the local assizes Leo Ouimet of Hawkesbury West was acquitted of a charge of dangerous driving arising out of a fatal mishap on the highway north of Vankleek Hill in May, 1944. Victim of the accident was a Lachute Mills resident, Mrs. Joseph Duval, who with her husband was visiting the latter's brother at Vankleek Hill. The woman, 54, years of age, was struck by an automobile driven by Ouimet, at a point about one mile north of the village. Mr. Duval was hurled into the ditch when his wife's body struck him after the impact. At the trial, the Crown announced they had no evidence to offer against the accused.

* * *

Armand Brisebois of East Hawkesbury was sentenced to three months in jail when convicted at local assizes on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident last December when four persons were injured.

The jury disagreed on a charge of dangerous driving and this count was transferred to the December session.

Does 'R.O.P.' Pay Dairy Farmer in Dollars and Cents?

Specially Contributed by Felix A. Hungerbuhler

To every farmer who keeps pure-bred dairy cows, the Dept. of Agriculture at Ottawa furnishes the means to ascertain the production of his individual cows. Unfortunately this control system, known among breeders as R.O.P (Record of Performance), is not yet fully appreciated by many farmers; they do not realize that this R.O.P. control not only helps them to check the production of the herd as to quantity and butter-fat production, but that the individual price their animals fetch is enhanced by a good margin over non-R.O.P. cows.

Generally speaking, our Canadian farmers see advantages in dollars and cents immediately, and always want a fair return for their labors; they work hard and dislike loafing. Yet, among their cows they hate to weed out the loafers, the cows with a low production total or a low butter-fat test. Today all milk sold is paid for on a butter-fat basis, be it shipped to a large centre as liquid milk, or to a cheese or butter factory. Many a cow produces only an average quantity of milk, yet her test is low; she might have a good flow in the spring and then fall off too soon — that is the cow the R.O.P. Inspector catches "loafing".

Only recently we had an even more apparent example, measurable in dollars and cents, of animals from R.O.P. herds getting a premium against cows that came possibly from just as good herds. When the Laurentian Ayrshire Breeders Club held their Heifer Calf Sale last May, the writer was able to make up some statistics as to prices paid for heifer calves with an R.O.P. cow as their dam, against those from a non-qualified dam.

Twenty-one heifer calves with qualified dam on this occasion fetched an average price of $100.70, against 16 heifer calves without R.O.P. dam, $84.50, — the total average for the 37 head being $94.

The annual cost or actual cash outlay to have a pure-bred animal tested by the Federal Department of Agriculture is $5 per herd. The other costs are — room and board for the Inspector, who calls at the individual farm about eight times a year for a period of two days each, and his transportation to the next farmer.

The figures given above should be enough proof that over half of the total costs gave immediate returns to the farmer that kept R.O.P. records, not counting the advantages should he want to sell mature cows, as with these animals the difference is generally larger.

The farmer with only a grade herd has the same opportunity to have his cows tested under a plan sponsored by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, that works fundamentally on the same principles as the Federal Government control.

FARM TOPICS

New Food Element For Dairy Cows

London — A new feeding substance, which will increase milk yields throughout the world, has been developed by United Kingdom research scientists. This substance, which is an iodinated protein, has been the subject of five years' experiments by scientists working for the United Kingdom Agricultural Research Council. Since 1940 careful tests on the possibilities and risks of using this product in commercial practice have been carried out. It is now established that cows fed with the protein will give greatly increased milk yield even when past the peak of lactation.

Water Versus Air In Cooling Milk

If a can of warm milk is placed in a refrigerated room where the air temperature is at freezing point, it will take 12 hours before the temperature of the milk has fallen to 50 degrees F. That is because air absorbs heat very slowly. Water absorbs heat much more quickly than air. Because in cooling milk with water, the larger the volume of water and the lower its temperature, the more quickly the milk will be cooled. Cooling is more rapid when either the milk or the water or both are kept in motion. The value of stirring the milk is a matter of commonplace knowledge on the farm, but the idea that equally good results may be obtained by stirring the water is not so well known. In stirring milk, however, there is a risk of adding bacteria if the stirring rods are not thoroughly washed and sterilized. The better method, therefore, is to stir the water by means of a propellor driven by a small windmill or by an electric motor.

The task of feeding the millions of inhabitants of London (England) is equivalent to provisioning nearly 500 army divisions. Every day 3,000,000 gallons of milk and about 1,500,000 loaves of bread are used.

Roost perches for chickens should not be narrower than two inches and each roost must be level. Sloping perches may aid in producing crooked breast bones.

When a man starts off with "Here's what I would do," you can be pretty sure he hasn't done it.

Nail Polish for Picking Tomatoes

"New Agriculture" published in the United States tells a story of how a farmer's wife solved a tomato picking problem that arose on her husband's truck farm. The women tomato pickers hired by the farmer were certainly energetic enough but their poor judgment was ruining half the crop, because the tomatoes they picked were either too ripe or too green. The farmer was at his wit's end. He did not know what to do, but his wife did.

She called in an acquaintance of hers, a professor of the Faculty of Agriculture at Purdue University, Indiana. After several hours' observation, the professor decided that the cause of the trouble was the women's inability to remember the exact shade of red for picking. As he watched, an idea struck him. Why not mix a shade of nail polish the color of ripe tomatoes so that the women could have a standard guide at their finger-tips all the time? It worked, and sure enough whenever a woman reached for the tomatoes, she picked only the ripe ones.

Colorado Beetle European Plague

Berne (CP) — Europe is still fighting the Colorado potato beetle, which has attacked potato fields in Alsace and Northwestern Switzerland. From time to time the infestation has spread over France, Holland, Belgium and Germany.

If general infestation should occur this year it would be a blow to one of the principal food crops of the continent, where a bread shortage makes the potato crop a vital one.

Agriculturalists say the beetle came to this continent with the American Expeditionary Force in 1918.

WOMEN HARVESTERS

Hanley, B.C. (CP)—Two hundred prairie women are being brought into the Fraser Valley to help harvest the berry crop.

TOURIST REVIVAL

Easing of gasoline restrictions will enable many people to make a holiday trip this year if they have any tires to ride on. . . . This brings to mind the necessity of taking steps to prepare ourselves for a revival of tourist traffic.

Col. Jekill Ends Military Career, to Study in England

The special facilities of this hospital for handling head injuries made the development of Maxillo facial service both desirable and necessary.

In preparation for the task of managing the jaw injuries in this department, Capt. Jekill carried out investigation and study under Canada's eminent specialist, Dr. Fulton Risdon, and in England under the famous Sir Harold Gillies.

On arrival overseas, while a suitable location to set up the hospital was being sought, Captain Jekill opened and operated the Acton Clinic for the staff of the Canadian Military Headquarters in London.

By October 1940, No. 1 Neuro was operating. Routine dentistry was in popular demand, and in addition, cases of jaw fractures were arriving and the need for splints and other fixation appliances, existed from the outset. The potentialities of the Neuro Dental Department were early appreciated at Headquarters and together with added staff and authority to design and construct accommodation adequate to provide essential facilities, arrangements were made for training officers at this hospital, in the dental treatment of jaw injuries.

In June 1942, following another promotion, Major Jekill was called to Canadian Military Headquarters to fill the newly created staff appointment of Consultant- in-Dentistry to the Canadian Overseas Forces. The design and supervision of the construction of the Dental Clinic for the London Headquarters Staff of the R.C.A.F. was one of his first tasks.

With the transformation of No. 1 Neuro. into its present personality as the Basingstoke Neurological and Plastic Surgery Hospital, the fusion of the dental services, both of the hospital and the Plastics and Jaw Surgery Unit, became necessary. Therefore, during the summer of 1943, when this was completed, Major Jekill returned to Basingstoke to supervise treatment in the dental department, to instruct in and direct the Jaw Surgery School, and to set up a reference and consultation service in the treatment of jaw injuries, for operating dental clinics in other Canadian Hospitals overseas.

In November 1943, he was promoted to the rank of Lt. Colonel, and as D-Day approached, he intensified his activities towards the clarification of dentistry's interest in the jaw wounded, and the necessity for due consideration of the inestimable value of modern dental concepts in all phases of their treatment. Lectures and demonstrations on the early management of jaw and facial injuries were given as part of the campaign, to the surgical and dental staffs of each Casualty Clearing Station and Hospital in the invasion force before they started, and great emphasis was laid upon the importance of early, speedy and intelligent evacuation to the principal Canadian Centre at Basingstoke, of all such casualties.

It was a great disappointment to Col. Jekill when his recall to Canada prevented him from reaping the harvest of his labors, and only a short tour in France was allowed him. He was returned by air to conduct instruction in the Dental Corps School in Toronto. In February he carried on an observation survey of the U.S. Army, Navy and Public Health Dental Services, visiting in all 18 dental installations including New York, Washington, Atlanta, Ga., and Chicago.

Since then he was called to Ottawa, and has been engaged as a Staff Officer in the technical research section of Corps Headquarters.

Col. Jekill was a scholarship boy in the Montreal High School. He gained his matric after the last war by attending a returned soldiers' class in the McGill Arts Faculty. As an undergraduate in McGill, he was three years president of his year and dental representative on the Union House Committee and the Undergraduate Society. He is an honor graduate of Dentistry '25.

For 15 years, Col. Jekill operated a general practice in Montreal's Medical Arts Building. He is on the staff of the Royal Victoria Hospital.

He left a post on the executive of the Graduates Society to go overseas. He was a member of St. James the Apostle Church and Royal Albert Lodge. He is a past president of the Montreal Kinsmen Club. He was founder of the Morin Heights Municipal Association and Alouette Ski Club, in which he served as vice president and president, respectively.

His father is the late Colonel the Rev. Henry Jekill, B.A., L.Th., of Morin Heights and Montreal, and his mother is Mary Louise Sexton, of Birmingham, Alabama. His only sister is in London, England, serving in the American Red Cross. His wife and two sons reside in Westmount.

Colonel Jekill will sail for England immediately to study, particularly Oral Pathology and Dental Medicine, from the abundance of clinical material offered in the London clinics.

You must measure the strength of a man by the power of the feelings which he subdues, not by the power of those which subdue him.

A New Farm Era

THE WARTIME population shift from rural to industrial areas in Canada has wrought great changes in farming methods, particularly in Ontario and other eastern provinces where farm mechanization has been spurred by the demands for increased production in the face of labor shortage.

Tractors now are in use on almost all farms. Combines — once almost exclusive to the vast wheatlands of the prairies — are replacing the binder and the threshing machine in the east. The buck rake — a recent mechanical development — is supplanting the hay-loader in haying operations and is being widely used in harvesting of such crops as beans and peas. Many of the buck rakes are made by a handyman, using an old truck and some lumber.

This trend to mechanization has brought about striking changes in the economic size of the farm. Once it was possible for a good farmer to make a comfortable livelihood on a 100-acre farm or less. Now many of the leading farmers in the east believe that the minimum economic size for a farm is 250 to 300 acres. A farmer with one man to help him can operate a 300- acre farm without difficulty if he has one team of horses to supplement his mechanical equipment.

In some farming areas plans are afoot for community ownership of mechanized equipment with the thought that on that basis the small landholder can continue to earn a livelihood in competition with his neighbor with three times the land.

Paradoxically, increasing mechanization of agriculture will bring still further farm-to-city population shifts in the near future and at a time when more of the city's conveniences and comforts which the experts always said were necessary to keep people on the land, will be gracing the farm home.

What the general effect will be on the overall economic, cultural and social pattern of Canadian life, time alone will tell.

Impression of a Distinguished Visitor, Field Marshal Smuts

TALL, SOLDIERLY Field Marshal Smuts was in Ottawa for a brief visit en route from San Francisco Conference — a guest at Rideau Hall of his old friend and one-time foe, the Earl of Athlone. They were officers on opposing sides in the South African War.

With a word and a smile Premier Smutts literally captured the city when he laid a wreath on Canada's war memorial, inspected and shook hands with South African War vets he once fought, and decorated Canadian nurses who served in the Union. Thousands turned out to see him at the ceremonies in Confederation Square, and Prime Minister King led three cheers for him.

He held a press conference, made a radio address and left some clear messages for the Canadian people. They should know that preparedness is necessary for peace, that spiritual values must be revived, particularly in Europe, and that all young men should receive training, not necessarily military.

Before he left Ottawa by plane Saturday for England en route back to Capetown, the 75-year-old prime minister was queried about a report he might be Canada's next governor-general. To the reporter who asked the question he quipped: "You would not want a Methuselah."

Industry's Opportunity

"ARE YOU THERE where your country needs you, keeping the wheels a-turning?" This fragment from a patriotic song points the way to the spirit industry needs to make reconstruction a success. But there are many ways in which our own selfish interests can make the task difficult.

Some will say, "Why don't the bosses give us a square deal? We're just cogs in a wheel — nobody appreciates us."

Others will say, "Go easy, the more we give the men, the more they want. Where would they be without our brains and the money we put into the business?"

To build the new world men have died for, all of us, both labor and management will have to meet above our differences, with a greater common objective. We can learn to see the other fellow's point of view on a basis of 'what's right, not who's right.' To win wars, when we all remember we are Canadians first and foremost, our volume of production is a decisive factor in victory. Everybody works hard and pulls together. To win the peace we need to remember the same thing. We must keep our sights up — look beyond our own borders and see the needs of others. In peace, as in war, leadership of Canadian industry can be the decisive factor in victory. Our fortunate position in the world calls for full responsibility.

Surely this is motive enough to stir our enthusiasm. Industry's true destiny of making the work and wealth of the world available for all, and for the exploitation of none, can grip our minds and muscles. In pioneer days all worked together to fill the daily needs of the community; latterly the battle for the lion's share of the profits has raged so fiercely that we have lost the unselfish spirit of the pioneers. This spirit cannot be bought with dollars — it lies deep in our heart's desire to work for the good of humanity.

Only a new spirit in men can bring a new spirit in industry. As teamwork is pioneered by Canadian industry, so it will start to grow between the nations. International conferences can become, not battles for markets, but an alliance for service. When all plan for everyone to be adequately warmed, fed and clothed, trade will cease to divide the United Nations, and instead will unite the world.

With this spirit in Canada lies our one hope of winning the peace, and securing it for ourselves and for our children.

The Senate

SOME FLIPPANCIES about the Senate in these pages . . . need to be revised — says a comment in "The Printed Word" of current issue. It is noted that in Quebec (which alone among the provinces has retained its second chamber) the Legislative Council tossed out the luxury tax law which had been passed by the Assembly. This law was greeted with howls of disaproval from all quarters and there is no doubt that what the upper house did was not only popular but sound, and in accord with the Council's constitutional prerogative. Even Mr. Duplesis, who sponsored the measure, may have been glad that a second chamber existed to undo a bad day's work on his part

Ordinarily, however, what an upper chamber can do under British practice depends on whether the Government of the day desires it to function as was intended. In other words, it rests with the prime minister to give it work to do. Mr. King's practice generally is to keep the Senate idle, with the result that the public is inclined to conclude that it serves no purpose. A minor politician with an Irish turn of phrase once said that our Senate was a fifth wheel on the ship of state. To Mr. King its existence in innocuous desuetude may be a spare political chariot. Constitutionally, it was designed to serve as a brake on political band wagons.

Eventful Year

IT IS ONLY a year ago since the British, Canadian and American armies landed on the Normandy beaches, remarks the Chatham, N.B., Gazette. But it has been a highly concentrated year. When it began the British people knew nothing about robot bombs, V-2's, Mulberry harbors and Operations Pluto and Fido . . . . Victory in Europe was something one hardly dared think about at all.

Confederation

Love was the motive force — love of the soil,
Love of the ensign, love of human kind.
Urged on by faith and hope, with endless toil,
Our fathers yielding to an instinct blind
They could not analyze nor could withstand,
Weak, weary, oftimes fainting, never failed
'Til they the spirit's Peak of Pisgah scaled
And viewed exultantly their Promised Land.

A million lakes they visioned as their dower;
Mountains upthrusting to the heavenly host;
Long rampant river limitless in power;
Forests that march abreast to either coast.
They saw great plains with fruits of earth in store,
They sensed the dizzying hints of fabled mines,
Of wealth in fisheries and furs, the signs.
They heard the city's manufacturing roar.

Stirred by the utter prodigality
Of God's free gift, by its sheer loveliness
Constrained to serve and worship loyally,
They brought their offering to the Lord to bless.
Who may that great achievement truly gauge?
A body fitly framed, in every part
Effectually working, mind and heart.
Write we their names in fire on history's page.

Road De-Icer

● A British chemical engineering firm has devised a liquid solution for de-icing roads. The solution can be sprayed on roads by a machine not unlike a street cleaning water cart, and the effect is immediate. Roads treated with this solution remain free of ice for several days despite freezes.

Diet in the Pacific

● For some time little groups of Canadian Army medical personnel have been in the Far East engaged in research on dietary problems connected with military operations in the Pacific. The Canadians assigned to this important work have been provided with the most modern equipment for doing nutritional studies in the field. The results obtained from their studies will be put to good use when Canadian fighting men come up against the Japanese enemy.

Job Safety

● One of the hazards of industrialization is the amount of lost time due to accidents. Recently the Department of Labour tried something new. It is a program of job safety training, and the first place in Canada to see it put into action is Kimberley, B.C., one of the largest lead and zinc centres in the world.

This has been done before in the States, but not in Canada. Where it has been tried, accidents decreased by as much as 75 per cent and some industries became practically non-existent.

B.C. Soil Surveys

● Four soil surveys in British Columbia have been carried out jointly by provincial and federal departments of agriculture. The object of the surveys was to furnish detailed information for the use of returned men who wish to settle on the land. Over 2,600,000 acres have been surveyed, of which 1,100,000 have been found arable land, with 750,000 acres grazing land and the remainder forest land.

Army Invests $28 Million

Germans Had Tide Tables

● The U-889, first German submarine to surrender in North American waters, contained a lot of very interesting items. One was a set of tide tables for the St. Lawrence River mouth and the Bay of Fundy. Printed on blue cardboard, the German charts were marked "Addendum to Naval Atlas 299".

Naval officials pointed to this discovery as an example of the thoroughness of German intelligence surveys, and stressed the need for continued observance of security regulations.

Blow-Out Danger

To get maximum service from their tires this summer, truck and auto drivers are warned by the Department of Munitions and Supply to check and correct inflations at regular intervals. This is especially important with the approach of hot summer weather, when the tread and casing become much hotter in use and are thus more vulnerable to abuse. The strength of the casing is greatly reduced when continuously overheated, and even a short period of overheating may cause a blow-out. Car owners who do not take proper care of their tires will only aggravate the tire shortage.

Tiny Village Slated For Invasion Centre

French Hamlet Prepared for Nazi Headquarters But Never Used

Vregny, France (CP) — This quiet farming village, a tiny speck on the map, was destined for an important place in the world history the Axis was making — Supreme Headquarters for Germany's invasion of Britain.

Millions of marks and the work of thousands of slave laborers were poured into the construction of one of the most elaborate, heavily fortified and adroitly camouflaged areas — 35 by 45 miles — in all of Hitler's conquered territory. But it never was used. Abandoned before the advancing U.S. armies last year, the German crew had time only to burst the breeches of the guns, and rip out the power installations.

An old chateau was set up as Heinrich Himmler's headquarters, and the Germans utilized the surrounding pastoral scene, which was left untouched. But they reinforced the chateau, modernized the interior, and built and camouflaged a huge air raid shelter nearby.

Barracks, shelters, pillboxes, fox holes, car parks and gun positions are covered with chicken-wire hung with plastic leaves and plastic flowers. Some of the leaves also were made from squares of French newspapers, compressed, cut and then painted the color of natural scenery.

TRAVEL DIFFICULTIES

The difficulty in obtaining car reservations has been growing greater and greater, and now the sleeping cars and dining cars have been requisitioned by the government for the transportation of servicemen. . . A man from a small town attending a convention in a big city, took in a show which featured the display of the maidenly form to a greater extent than that to which he was accustomed, and the next day he was obliged to go to an oculist to have his eyes examined.

The oculist examined his eyes, thought a moment and then remarked. "After this, try blinking your eyes once or twice during the show; you won't miss much."

Reconstructing Russia

"The reconstruction of Russia will be one of the most gigantic undertakings any of the post-war governments will have to face," states Henry Kahn, in an article in The Municipal Journal (England). Mr. Kahn goes on to say: "The Soviet Government has rolled up its sleeves and is grappling hard with the problem.

"In the first place plans for the reconstruction of destroyed towns is the job of the Academy of Architecture. Its work is to create plans for the reconstruction not only of destroyed towns but of backward towns, according to 'Socialist realism.' This means that Russian traditionalism plays a very minor or no part at all in the planning of Russian towns.

Academy's Task

"The Academy is by no means new to this exacting work. Over the past 10 years it has labored and, when the war started, it was given the leviathan task of rehousing hundreds of thousands of workers transported to the East, where the industries of the West were transferred. Simplified types of dwelling houses as well as furniture had to be rapidly designed to enable new towns to mushroom-up over night as it were. Several systems were used, and the experience gained will prove very useful in Russian reconstruction.

"But the Academy is moved by something more than the necessity of building houses, serious as this is. At a recently held meeting to discuss the vital problem it was decided that all future Russian towns must be 'even more beautiful than before. It is not a matter of simple reconstruction, copying the historic plan of the town. . . . The towns must be made more beautiful and majestic.'

"Stalingrad, for exaxmple, is already under reconstruction. The Academy is responsible for the plan, which does not resemble the old town but, in the words of the Academy, 'pays great attention to the relation of streets to the Volga.'

Destruction

"The extent of the destruction in Russia is almost impossible to realize. It is vast and horrible. Recently Ponocharenko, Chairman of the People's Commissars of the Byelorussian Republic, wrote a comprehensive article detailing some of the horrors which descended upon White Russia during its occupation by the Germans. There is no necessity to detail the bloody murders and their terribly impressive total. The wanton destruction of houses gives an all too clear picture of the colossal task facing the authorities. In the Lelchitsy district of the Polesye Province, only 32 houses remain standing out of a total of 7,562. In the first 40 districts liberated by the Red Army 209,000 dwellings were burned to the ground as well as municipal buildings, hospitals, theatres, etc. First, in this area, war industries are being established. Then houses will be rebuilt, temporary dwellings first, and later fine new towns.

Health Services

"But before even all this can be undertaken, all important health services must get under way, and here the municipalities which have been immediately set up after the liberation play an important part.

"Some 500,000 metres of sheeting have been distributed between the various municipalities, as well as 3,000 sets of underwear. Three hundred and fifty doctors were immediately sent to the towns, and over 60 municipal hospitals were set up with surprising speed.

"The overall question of reorganization and reconstruction of all Russian towns, including those which have not been devastated, is claiming close attention. In spite of difficulties the government wants building and improvements to go on, and local newspapers spare municipal authorities neither praise nor criticism.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

SPIRIT OF UNITY, TOLERANCE AMONG CANADIANS NEEDED

Dominion Day Sermon Stresses Ideals for Better Canada

"A goodly heritage", from Psalm 16, was the basis of the sermon delivered by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough at the Lachute United Church on Dominion Day.

"No one", said Mr. Rosborough, "can take a trip across Canada, or study the history of the development of this great country, and not be impressed with the fact that ours is a land of tremendous possibilities, and one that is worthy of the best we can do for it or give to it".

Speaking of the great resources of the Dominion, Mr. Rosborough made mention that Canada led the world in production of newsprint, nickel, asbestos and cobalt, that she occupied second place in wheat production, and third place in gold and lead development. "It has been estimated", claimed Mr. Rosborough, "that the available water-power in Canada is 33,617,200 horse power, of which approximately 6,000,000 have already been developed".

"But it seems to me", continued the speaker, "there are certain conditions which will have to be fulfilled if our country is to attain the high and noble destiny of which we often fondly dream. For one thing, there will have to be a stronger sense of partnership than now exists, between the different and, in some cases, widely separated sections of this great land".

Asking for a better understanding between French and English Canadians, Mr. Rosborough said, "I should say it is specially important that there shall be a spirit of unity and co-operation between the French-speaking and the English-speaking people, who constitute the major part of the population of our fair Dominion. . . . What Canada will always need, is a high degree of tolerance and understanding. This is essential, if the two peoples that form its main streams of life are to flow together in peace and harmony".

Speaking of the ideal of social betterment for Canadians, Mr. Rosborough quoted an Attorney General of one of our self-governing Dominions, who urged—"access to opportunity; access to the land as the source of wealth; access to education, both free and efficient, as essential to the right use of opportunity; access to wholesome conditions of labor and just rewards; access to justice, such as gives the poorest seamstress as fair a chance before the court as the wealthiest corporation". . .

"And it seems to me", added Mr. Rosborough, "that this is also one of the ideals which we shall have to set before ourselves in this great Dominion, if we are ever to become a nation which I believe God, in His providence, intended we should become".

"While, therefore, we labor to increase the material strength and stability of our great and growing land, let us always remember that these things alone are a very doubtful boon unless, along with them, we develop its moral and spiritual strength and resourcefulness as well", added the preacher.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Elmert Berry, of Lachute, Que., announce the engagement of their only daughter, Gwenyth Thelma, to Mr. William Edgar Hamilton, son of Mrs. Margaret Hamilton and the late Joseph Hamilton, of Brownsburg, Que. The marriage has been arranged to take place early in August.

DUAL CELEBRATION, SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARIES

On Saturday evening, June 30, a surprise party was held at the L.O.B.A. Hall at Lachute, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Elmert T. Berry, and Mr. and Mrs. Sydney R. Berry, who recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversaries.

Mr. James Berry spoke on behalf of the families and friends, wishing them much happiness and prosperity. Presentations of silver from the families and a sum of money from friends and relatives were made by Master Wayne and Miss Elaine Berry.

Following the presentations, dancing was enjoyed by the gathering.

Supper was served later, the tables being decorated with summer flowers and centred with a three-tier wedding cake, which was cut by each couple in turn.

On behalf of the honored couples, Sydney R. Berry then thanked the many friends and relatives who had participated in the celebration.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Tomalty, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Paterson, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Paterson and Mr. and Mrs. George Silverman, all of Montreal.

Since you don't learn much listening to yourself, it pays to let others do a little of the talking.

Added Duties for Banks in Handling Allowance Cheques

CO-OPERATION ASKED OF NEARLY 1½-MILLION RECIPIENTS

Toronto, July 2—"Starting sometime this month the banks, through their branches all over Canada, are called upon to perform still another service to the public They will be ready to negotiate the new Family Allowances cheques," said S. M. Wedd, President of the Canadian Bankers' Association. "Official estimate is that 1,466,000 individual cheques will be issued by the government each month," he continued. "Most of these cheques will be presented at the branch banks for encashment or deposit.

"All government cheques are cashed by the banks without charge . . . We shall aim to cash Family Allowance cheques with speed and efficiency. At the same time it is my duty to stress the need of the banks for co-operation on the part of all who receive cheques.

"Recipients of Family Allowance cheques can help themselves and the banks by remembering four simple requirements :

1. The need for proper identification at the bank.
2. The need to make sure that cheque is correctly endorsed.
3. The need to guard against losing cheque after endorsing and before cashing it.
4. The importance of going to the bank in the morning hours if possible.

"First of all, of course, is identification — a bank must be sure that the person presenting the cheque is the right person; therefore, if the holder of a Family Allowance cheque is not known in the local bank, he or she should take into the bank when presenting it, somebody who is known in the branch. This will help to obviate delay and misunderstanding.

"Next is the endorsement on a cheque — it must be endorsed exactly as it is made out to the payee; after it is endorsed the payee should take no chances of losing it or having it stolen before it is cashed.

"Recipients can help very greatly also by using the banks during the easier hours of the day rather than during their busiest hours.

"No doubt many cheques will reach the banks through merchants who cash them for their customers. Merchants and storekeepers would be well advised to make sure of the identification of any person offering a cheque and to make sure also that the cheque is endorsed exactly as it is made out."

Dental Health

Child Breaks Tooth

Q: My son, aged 8, has broken off one of his front teeth. What should be done to repair the damage?

A: First of all, of course, your son should be taken to a dentist as quickly as possible. He will probably X-ray the tooth and make temporary repair by placing medicated cement over the sensitive part of the fractured tooth. Immediate dental attention is imperative, for if a broken tooth is neglected, the pulp may die and the tooth may have to be extracted. If only the tip end of the tooth is broken it may be necessary merely that the dentist smooth off the rough edges. However, when the fracture is more extensive, it is usually necessary to make a band similar to those used to straighten teeth and cement it over the broken edge of the tooth in order to protect the pulp of the tooth from further injury. When the child is older, a more permanent restoration can be made.

Vivid Story of The 'Underground' In Netherlands

The underground movement made every effort to prevent natural and physical resources and man power from either falling into German hands or being used by them. At the end of the German occupation hardly a person in Holland had an unguilty conscience, from a German point of view. The most common saying among Dutchmen was, "Have you been in jail?" If the answer was "No", it was followed by a further question, "Why not?" . . . This was the spirit of real resistance.

The underground had a highly trained staff to forge passports, transportation permits, ration cards, etc., so their people could move around and also change their identity if being hunted by the Nazi. Underground newspapers were a highly valued source of courage, inspiration and news to the public at large. These papers were operated at great hazard and considerable loss of life to those involved. In large cities an ordinary citizen might get as many as three or four copies of a different paper every day. These same papers are now the daily papers of the nation — taking the place of the former pre-war papers. They are also the historical record of Holland during the period of occupation and are now being collected as the official history is being pieced together. The papers were a means of warning people about the rigid rules of the underground. For instance, people were warned not to greet a friend loudly by name on the street because the person might be going under an assumed name to avoid the Gestapo. German patrols were not to be ambushed, communication lines were not to be cut, and many other jobs must be withheld —until the right moment. Every effort was made to save the people from as much investigation and reprisals by the Germans as was possible.

All this required organization to a very fine degree. The underground was organized like an army, and eventually developed and controlled a complete telephone and telegraph system all over Holland. They even tapped German communication lines and listened in to their conversations. A message system of women on bicycles was also developed, some of the trips being in excess of 100 miles.

When the Allied armies were approaching Holland, a well planned sabotage system was set into operation. This accounted for tons of supplies lacking, and hundreds of annoyances and inconveniences to the Germans. A railway strike was declared in September 1944 and all Dutchmen left the railways and hid. From that date forward the railroads ceased to operate unless the Germans ran them themselves. Even though the Dutch railroad men were hunted down and killed, and reprisals were taken against their families, the strike held. Other men charted hidden V-bomb launching sites, storage depots, radio stations, and gun emplacements and got these through to the Allied forces and the R.A.F., who later sent planes over to destroy these important bases. Many of these men never lived to know the results of their noble efforts. The underground were in constant touch with the Allied forces at all times, and received considerable help in the form of sub-machine guns, grenades, medical supplies and explosives dropped to them by parachute. The Netherlands Government is recognizing every certified member of the underground as a regular soldier in the Army.

The war, for Holland, will not be an easy one to forget. Today, in the city of Amsterdam alone there are over 10,000 registered cases of people suffering from extreme starvation, many of whom cannot live, even though aid is at hand. This condition is the same all over the country. Much of the good farm land has been inundated with salt water by the opening of the dykes in the sea walls, and will not be fit for cultivation for several years.

Another very critical item is the fact that registration and birth certificate records were nearly all destroyed or stolen by the Germans, and it is not possible to know at present who is Dutch or otherwise. This means that a free general election cannot be held until new records are made of all those eligible to vote.

In conclusion, the words of a Dutch clergyman are quoted as the best summation of the resistance movement: "The illegal movement was, during the time of occupation, the only actual legal symbol in the Netherlands, and the Church during the same period of occupation was the only public organization that has been permanently illegal. The Church and the illegal movement in the Netherlands were the two symbols of resistance against National Socialism."

The speaker was ably thanked by Rotarian Lomer Carrière, in French and English — both for his very kind message from the Dutch people and for a very interesting and informative talk on the Dutch Underground.

KNOW QUEBEC BETTER...

Do you know Quebec? For example, do you know that the annual cash income to the Province from agriculture amounts to somewhere around $150,000,000? More than 150,000 farms raise a wide range of field crops including, in order of importance, hay, clover, oats, potatoes, mixed grains and fodder corn. Dairy products have become a major industry with cheese reaching a one year record output of 62,000,000 pounds, and concentrated and evaporated milks amounting to 25% of the all-Canadian total. As many as 350,000 hogs have been shipped to the packers in a twelve-month period. Canning factories are kept busy annually, preserving a large and varied fruit harvest. Sugar beets are quickly becoming a big item and 30,000 acres devoted to flax make Quebec top producer in Canada of flax fibre.

About one third of Quebec's population is rural, the love of the soil ingrained in their hearts. At one time, of course, every settler made his living from the land, but the gradual growth of trade and commerce attracted many to the villages and towns which have now become great, bustling cities. Yet, no matter where their homes may be today, the people of Quebec retain a traditional love of outdoors, an appreciation of beauty and a self reliance born of centuries of association with Nature. To these admirable qualities, add ingenuity, happy dispositions and unfailing optimism; temper them with the strain, toil and sacrifice of years of war—and it can be seen that Quebec has a firm foundation on which to plan for tomorrow . . . it can readily be understood why Quebec, with her sister provinces, is destined to have a leading share in the developments and opportunities that await Canada in the days to come.

QUEBEC PRODUCES FOR WAR

To Quebec's already glorious history has been added her wonderful contribution to Canada's war effort. Pulp, paper, native ores and manufactured metals, clothing, chemicals, textiles, ships, foods, petroleum, electrical supplies, to mention only a few products of her mines, mills and factories: $2,703,357,600.00 subscribed by her people in eight Victory Loans: thousands of men in the navy, army and air force who have distinguished themselves on global battlefronts. Thus have her sons and daughters recorded Quebec's part on Canada's wartime honor roll.

Maybe, now, you'd like a Tractor...

Queenie and Dobbin have done a fine job and their useful day is not yet past.

But maybe you want to speed up your farm operations with tractor ploughing, cultivating, seeding and harvesting.

Maybe you want to do many things for the improvement of your farm . . . repair your barn or build a new one, fix up the fencing or drainage, buy a new bull to build up the quality of your herd, install an electric system or improve the present one.

And what about seed, feed and fertilizer? What about your livestock? All these things need money—more money, probably, than your bank balance will allow. If that's the case with you, call on the manager of our local office and discuss, in confidence, your financial needs. You will like the kind of consideration he will give your plans and problems.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

FIREFLIES

The fireflies around here are bigger and brighter than any I have ever seen. There is a field just below us and there are simply thousands of them in it. One time when we were having blackouts that were real and earnest, we had a particularly long one, and it was amusing because there were so many fireflies the place was lighted up almost like daylight. One night one of the boys caught some in a bottle and the way three or four of them lighted up the darkened room was simply amazing. Life in the country in the winter can be pretty grim, but when we have such lovely things as the fireflies it more than compensates.

SWAT THAT FLY

Flies are not only a nuisance, they are a menace. Many diseases are spread by flies and it has been found that Polio is one of them. They proved this at Toronto University. They caught flies from the home of a patient with Iinfantile Paralysis, kept them bottled for six months, then ground them and fed them to six monkeys. Five out of the six monkeys died of the disease. Flies are very prolific and it is estmated will have 250 descendants from April to September. It is wise precaution to slay all flies possible in the Spring. Food should be protected at all times from contact with flies.

WE CAN CHOOSE

One woman was very indignant about another who used her canning sugar for jam. She thought fruit should be canned and more of it used. After all we still have freedom of choice. Some families do not like canned fruit, some have no proper place to store it, and some women have not learned to can successfully. If it suits them better to make jam, then that is their own affair. This column will continue to give both directions for canning and recipes for jam, so you can take your choice.

GOOSEBERRY PRESERVES

2 Pounds gooseberries, 2 cups water, 3 cups sugar.

Stem the gooseberries and wash them. Add the sugar and water and cook until the syrup is thick and the gooseberries tender.

FRUIT CONSERVE

1 Pint raspberries, 1 lb. raisins, 1 pint red currants, grated rind and juice 2 oranges, 1 quart rhubarb, coarsely chopped, grated rind and juice 2 lemons, sugar.

Combine the three fruits and weigh and allow three-quarters of a pound of sugar to each pound of fruit. Cook the fruits until soft, then add sugar, orange and lemon rind and juice, and the raisins. Cook slowly until thick. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

CANNED RASPBERRIES

Make a sugar syrup in whatever proportion desired and boil for three minutes. Skim and pour over the prepared fruit. Cover and let stand 10 minutes. Put the berries in the bottles up to within ¾ inch of the top, then fill with syrup to 1½ inches from the top. Process in a water bath with water 2 inches over the tops of the jars for 15 minutes for pints and 20 minutes for quarts, timing from the time the water begins to boil. Remove from water and tighten the bottles. Berries may be processed very successfully in an automotic oven, at a temperature of 275 degrees for 40 minutes for pints and 1 hour for quarts. My last year canning notes tell me I had 10 pints of canned berries from 8 pint boxes.

CANNING WITHOUT SUGAR

Fruits may be canned successfully with very little sugar or no sugar at all. The flavor and the color will not be quite as good as if sugar was used but they will keep and will have many uses. Crush some of the fruit to the bottom of the kettle to extract the juice, add the remaining fruit, bring to a boil, then fill jars and process as usual. Fruit juices may be canned without sugar in the same way. Many women can currant and raspberry juice to have on hand when making jelly.

MOLASSES DROP COOKIES

½ Cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup molasses, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ cup sour milk, 1½ teaspoons cinnamon, ½ teaspoon ginger, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup chopped raisins, 2½ cups flour.

Cream together shortening and sugar; add molasses and beaten egg, add sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Stir in raisins and mix well. Drop from a teaspoon on a buttered pan and bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees for 12 minutes.

FRENCH LASSIES MERRY COMRADES, BUT LOVE PARIS

Many Friendships Are Made by Servicemen in Capital, But Few Blossom Into Romance

Paris (CP) — When boy meets girl in Paris it doesn't always end in a life-long romance. Most of the meetings which taken place when a serviceman gets a few days' leave in the gay city are fleeting incidents and few broken hearts are left behind.

The various hospitality centres, which provide a whole series of dazzling blondes and alluring brunettes to order, are not in the marriage market.

"French girls like a good time," they explained at Canada Corner, the hospitality centre run by the Knights of Columbus war services in the Avenue de l'Opera, "but to marry and go right away to Canada or the United States — oh dear me, no! The poor little things are scared at the thought of going so far and want to stay right here in Paris. They'll marry Frenchmen in the end.

Lasting Friendships

"But though we get few real romances, there are many lasting friendships made. Many a British Tommy and Canadian will return some day, perhaps with his wife and all the children, and seek out again the girl he used to take around on Paris leave."

They showed how they keep a register of all the girls who help to entertain the troops. They range from daughters of bakers to daughters of ambassadors. Many belong to top-notch families in French society and not a few names of the famous "Two Hundred Families" of France are listed there.

Against each girl's name are listed all the facts concerning her — notes on her age, personal appearance and qualities as hostess. The notes are coolly business-like (if sometimes cruel) but the book containing them is carefully locked away. One I saw listed as "not pretty but very gay and talkative."

ROUND AND ROUND

Someone has said that it is a strange thing to see women complaining that they cannot have sugar to have tea parties to raise money to buy wool to knit sweaters for the poor sailors whose lives they risk in bringing the sugar and the tea.

PARIS SHOWS FULL SKIRTS FOR SUMMER

Bright Colors and Broad Stripes Features of French Styles; Simpler Hats the Vogue

Paris (CP) — Brilliant colors and broad peppermint stripes are the keynote of midsummer fashions shown by Jacques Fath, young couturier who formerly designed all his models for his beautiful blonde wife.

A highlight of his collection is a striking costume of red and white striped linen with a skirt and tight-fitting bodice blouse, under which is worn a two-piece halter type bathing suit of the same material.

Fath shows a new version of the old basic dress with several types of blouses. Skirts are full, with no change in length.

A practical bicycling costume—everybody cycles here — is a rust brown skirt and knee length slacks worn with suspenders and a white blouse.

A sunback dress in multicolor printed silk has full gathered skirt, draped bodice and deep, plunging neckline front and back.

The action back, copied from United States Army uniforms, is still important, with a shoulder pleat from the armhole. This is seen on many navy and black afternoon dresses.

Trend To Straw

There is a movement away from high, elaborate hats in Fath's collection, which concentrates on light straws in moderate shapes and sizes. Most smart women seen on the streets, however, are still wearing the large, elaborate style of headgear.

Box-pleated skirts make their appearance in the summer collection of the House of Carven. Most striking costume in the group is a brown linen suit with box-pleated skirt and a cream-colored shantung blouse printed in small green leaves. The jacket has huge, fancy pockets.

Box pleats also appear in flannel skirts worn with linen coats. Carven is a young woman whose youthful style is meeting with much success, and if she favors box pleats, they may well be coming back.

Among other models well received is a big blue and white coolie hat worn with a smart beach dress of the same material. Another beach frock has a bare midriff, bra top and full skirt with matching shorts.

Carven also shows a sun-bathing suit which is a girlish bloomer dress of blue and white striped fabric, worn with a huge straw picture hat.

SIMPLICITY NOTE

London (CP) — People will look for the simplest effects and will not want anything aggressive on the wall, Queen Elizabeth said during a visit to an exhibition of British and historical wall papers in London. "Imagine you planning all this when the flying bombs were coming over," the Queen said after inspecting the displays. "That's the way to get things done."

OLD FURNISHINGS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

London (CP) — British antique dealers, once patronized only by the wealthy, have a new class of client — young people — who are helping stimulate a boom in the business, London dealers report.

Frank Partridge, veteran London and New York dealer, attributed the increased antique business to three factors.

These, he said, are an increased appreciation of old furniture by young and old, stimulated by war's destruction, the fact that the price of second hand or utility furniture is out of proportion and the belief that antiques are an investment.

"Prices have gone up 18 per cent in the last 18 months," Partridge said, asserting that English silver and china had risen especially.

Other antique dealers along New Bond Street and in the St. James Square area, where show windows gleam with fine old furniture and silver, say they notice demand for walnut. All tell of an increased interest in tapestry.

None of London's larger antique showrooms has been missed by American soldiers, WAC's or Red Cross girls, dealers say.

"But," says one, "they can only buy small pieces. The girls always ask for Wedgewood china."

Mothers

They do the best they know how, our mothers. They are tender toward us when they ought to slap us down. They sacrifice for us, wait on us, sit up for us, forgive us, encourage us, guard us from harm, teach us, try to civilize us. They are the closest to being saints of all people we know. And then a psychologist comes along and declares that such mothers are a peril to the nation. Says they make us neurotics, malingerers, hypoch ondriacs, draft dodgers and what not, unfit for adult responsibilities. What we think of psychologists!

New Gossamer Cloth

London — The finest cloth of its kind — a gossamer woollen, weighing only 1½ ounces to the square yard — has been produced by the Leeds, England, textile industry.

It is the outcome of a new process invented by Leeds research workers.

The new cloth is based on alignite, the filament rayon yarn recently produced from seaweed by Leeds University. The alignite is employed to carry single worsted and woollen yarns, so fine that they could not stand weaving by standard processes.

The process, which represents an outstanding advance in the production of lightweight woollen and worsted cloth, is to be made available without restriction to all United Kingdom textile manufacturers for home and overseas markets.

HANDY GADGETS, TELEPHONES!

"Your Life" Magazine

When subscribers on a party line at North Bay, Ont., complained to the telephone company that somebody was constantly listening in, it didn't take a trouble shooter long to discover what the difficulty was. In one home on the line an elderly woman was using the phone receiver as a darning egg to mend stockings.

London — The County Council of Essex, a county in Southern England, have inaugurated a scheme whereby each child in one of the Council's homes shall be unofficially adopted by an adult, who will visit his "adopted" child and arrange outings, holidays and gifts. Discussion Held On County Central School Board

Advocating a longer term at school for teachers and pupils, Dr. Percival said that students would learn how to play, how to win, how to lose graciously, and how to get along with other children, and that the longer term was necessary to develop these characteristics. He also spoke of the importance of medical supervision and the value of preventive medicine among school children.

"Education", continued Dr. Percival, "centres around what you do now . . . not 50 years from now", and he pleaded for a greater interest in its development. For the operation of the County Board, Dr. Percival said that the best five men or women in the County are required to act on the board; it might be necessary to look beyond Lachute, Brownsburg or elsewhere —and to look the whole county over, for ability and guidance to assure the best education in Argenteuil.

Open Discussion Stirs Warm Interest

The meeting was thrown open for discussion by the chairman, and one questioner wondered what authority the central board and the local boards would have, and the respective sections from the Act were read by Dr. FitzGerald.

There was concern in some quarters that the Superintendent of Education would control the destinies of various schools, especially those who had declined to enter the County Unit, and they felt the government grants would be withheld from them; but the Director explained that the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education had full control as to how finances were to be used.

A great deal of criticism was levelled at the Lachute Protestant School Board, by certain individuals who felt that the County Board idea had been railroaded through without sufficient time for discussion by the taxpayers; they felt that the commission should not have agreed to this plan without consent of the taxpayers. It was, however pointed out that by law, the local board was within its rights in accepting the central board plan without calling a public meeting, as some other localities had done.

There was fear in some quarters that taxes would be raised . . . . that the autonomy of local boards would be lost . . . . that the Superintendent of Education would have too much control . . . . and other technical phases of the Act. But in all the criticism aimed at the local Board, there was none that contended the Central School Board would not be of benefit in the education of Argenteuil children.

A hearty vote of thanks was given Dr. Percival.

Fields of Taxation Seen In Debate At Coming Dom.-Prov'l Conf'ce

Announcement Looked For on Housing Aid

By H. L. JONES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, July 10 (CP) — In this quiet between-session period the capital is as usual occupying itself with speculation, this time on what changes will come from the Dominion-provincial conference set for August 6. And the concensus seems to be that there will be widespread shifts of authority between the Dominion and the provinces, especially in the field of finances.

The present system by which the Dominion occupies the entire income tax field automatically ends a year after the war is over. Whether the provinces will be prepared to leave this entire field to the federal government and receive annual grants from the Dominion treasury in return, will be one of the big questions of the conference.

It is expected that provinces will contend their field of taxation is too limited and that it is impossible for the poorer provinces to provide the services the richer provinces are able to extend their people, and that the revenue should be so distributed that no such discrimination would exist.

Many of the provinces have claimed for a long time that adjustments were needed in financial relations with the Dominion. And this conference may bring them about.

Under present plans, the Dominion and the provinces will submit their proposals when they get together August 6 and then will adjourn to give all parties an opportunity to study the various suggestions. It is not expected that the first meetings will last more than a week, after which the work will be given into the hands of committees. It may be some time before the committees report back and the parties meet again in full session to begin actual negotiations.

Canadian Housing

The big post-war problem of housing in Canada comes in for national attention at Ottawa this week. A special housing committee of nine Canadian mayors is meeting Finance Minister Ilsley to discuss the housing situation across the Dominion, which has been considerably sharpened of late by the great number of veterans returning from overseas.

It is predicted that the conference may produce an important announcement on federal assistance in the housing problem, but just what form this assistance will take was not disclosed.

To Release Labor for Construction Trades

Ottawa, July 10 (CP) — Labor Minister Mitchell outlined plans for releasing from the armed forces workers needed for housing construction and the production of building materials.

"Canada's program calls for the building of 50,000 homes immediately and continuing labor shortages are seriously hampering the project," Mr. Mitchell said in a press statement.

The minister urged building contractors who want to build houses and employers producing materials needed for home construction, to make immediate application to the nearest industrial selection and release committee to obtain speedy discharge of any man experienced in these trades. Trade unions may also file applications.

In addition to applications for skilled tradesmen, requests for experienced unskilled or semi-skilled workers will be entertained where there is indication that labor shortages are interfering with home building. Civilian construction workers now engaged in other work are also being sought by employment offices for house building.

"All classes of construction tradesmen are needed but the men whose services are most in demand by contractors are carpenters, plasterers, bricklayers, plumbers and electricians," Mr. Mitchell said. "Any men who have experience at these trades on home building will be given their release from any designated industry by employment officers upon application."

Ayrshire Men Plan Field Day and Promotion Sale

At a recent directors' meeting of the Laurentian Ayrshire Breeders' Club, it was decided to hold a Red and White field day September 1 at Ste. Scholastique. Sponsors of this event anticipate an entry list as good as last year, and it was arranged that the selection committee call on different breeders during next month, in preparation for the event.

Encouraged by the success of its recent calf sale, the Club is trying another new venture, an auction sale of pure bred cows and bred heifers. This event is arranged for October 6, at the Lachute exhibition grounds. Enthusiasts of the Ayrshire breed see in this a rare opportunity for new breeders to acquire choice foundation animals at reasonable prices.

Both the field day and the sale are being staged jointly between the local Ayrshire group and the North of Montreal Ayrshire Breeders' Club.

HOLSTEIN-AYRSHIRE JOINT FIELD DAY, VANKLEEK HILL

Vankleek Hill — A crowd of 500 Holstein and Ayrshire breeders were present at a successful joint field day held June 28 at "Norda" Farm, Agricultural Representative F. Larose was in charge of the program and the gathering was welcomed by J. Opitz, manager of Norda, and Mrs. Opitz.

M. C. McPhail, principal of the Kemptville Agricultural School, was the main speaker. He challenged Ontario farmers to produce more crops, thus foregoing the necessity of buying mill feeds.

Demonstrations of bred cattle were conducted by Holstein fieldman R. Grant Smith, Brockville, and by Gilbert McMillan, Huntingdon, for the Ayrshires. This was followed by an exhibitioin of Selective Registration grading by Mr. Langton, after which a Judging Competition was held, in which Holsteins from the Norda herd, and Ayrshires from the herds of John Campbell and Dr. Smith, Vankleek Hill, were used. The classes were placed by A. V. Langton, R. G. Smith and Gilbert McMillan. A feature of these competitions was the showing made by the Junior Calf Club members who took part.

The modern barn and dairy recently erected at Norda were inspected with a great deal of interest by the visitors.

Contest Monday For Two Vacancies, Prot. School Board

The two-year terms of E. K. Wilson, chairman, and J. W. Gall, commissioner, having expired in the Lachute Protestant School Board, nomination proceedings on Monday brought forth four candidates for the two seats.

The four contenders are — E. K. Wilson, Geo. F. Calder, Stuart McFaul and W. Erskine Rodger.

Voting will take place at Lachute High School between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. next Monday. Those eligible to vote are ratepayers in good standing in the school district, which comprises Lachute, the Parish of St. Jerusalem and a small part of Chatham.

• • •

CARRIER PIGEON ON FARM VACATION

A tired carrier pigeon — perhaps envying those fowl of the air which do not work for a living — settled down yesterday at the Jas. MacKenzie farm, Lachute Road, deciding to stay for a rest and a bite to eat.

The brown-feathered bird, tame enough to strut with the farm poultry and to eat out of the human hand, seems content to cast aside its responsibilities, if any, and spend a day or two on the farm.

A band on the pigeon's leg bears the following ciphers — 45 — EI 0054-G.W.

If you would travel to prosperity you cannot thumb a ride.

Son Wins D.S.O., Posthumous, for Bravery Under Fire

MOTHER WITNESSES INVESTITURE

Mrs. D. E. Cooke, of this town, accompanied Mrs. D. H. McCallum, of Montreal, to attend the investiture held at Government House on June 27 by the Governor General the Earl of Athlone, when Mrs. McCallum was presented with the Distinguished Service Order posthumously awarded to her husband, the late Major Douglas Harvey McCallum, Royal Canadian Engineers. The decoration was presented in recognition of "gallant leadership and bravery under enemy shell fire."

Major McCallum was the only son of Mrs. D.E.Cooke. He went overseas in November 1939, and was killed in Normandy on July 25, 1944, while bridging the river Orne.

Two Weeks' Camp For Boys' Brigade Starts Saturday

St. Andrews E. — The 1st Montreal Company will open their camp on the farm of Albert Dorion on Saturday afternoon; it is expected some 30 campers will remain for the next two weeks. The camp will again be under the command of Capt. J. Howard Richardson, assisted by Lieuts. Alex G. Upham, Alex G. Anderson, Arthur Hadley and Capt. Jos. Proctor of the 2nd Company. This year the 1st have invited 10 boys of the 2nd Company to camp with them, and look forward to some keen intercompany competition.

The advance guard have already planned for many improvements this session. The first to receive their attention is that of constructing a new swimming dock and diving platform. This will be carried out under direction of Lieut. Art. Hadley, who is on furlough at present from the Navy . . . The Company are deeply grateful to Mr. Dorion for the extension to the dining pavilion, which now can seat 40 very comfortably. This will also be a great asset in the event of wet weather.

Tent leaders for the period will be — Cpl. Ian Campbell and Cpl. Jimmy Dugan, L/Cpls. Alistair Riddell, George Smith, Jordon Durocher and Gordon McCrady As almost every camper will have a bicycle, some very interesting trips have been planned and a series of manoeuvres will be carried out under guidance of Capt. J. Proctor. The band, both bugle and drums, and brass quartet, will again be active this year and are planning to hold a benefit concert during their stay.

Two of the old boys are expected to attend the camp for a few days, both having served overseas for five years and returned during the past week. Clifton Blair, a soldier who rose from the ranks to a Lieutenant, will spend a part of the period, while Ross Way will spend at least a day at camp; Ross has been in the R.C.A.F. It is also hoped that Jack Jeffrey, first boy to join the 1st Company when it was formed, will be back from overseas in time to attend.

The opening campfire will be held Saturday evening and will be presided over by Capt. Richardson. On Sunday morning the boys will attend service at the Presbyterian Church, where the Rev. Dr. W. MacMillan will preach.

Tapping Hitler's Line

(Chicago Daily News)

Among all the secret weapons listed as "now it can be told", none enlivens the imagination more than hard-headed John Bull's use of astrology.

The story is that, aware of Hitler's faith in such readings, the British had the Fuehrer's horoscope cast every day, just as he did. Thus they knew as soon as he what hints he would get from the stars and regularly stole his famous intuition.

The plan worked, too, according to the report. They were able to forestall several of his moves.

A reputation can be either something to live up to or live down.

Ask Lower Rents, Soldiers' Families In B'burg Homes

An open letter protesting rentals charged to servicemen's families now installed in Wartime Housing dwellings at Brownsburg, has been addressed to the president of Wartime Housing Limited at Toronto. The letter is a joint communication endorsed by the presidents of eight community clubs and groups in Brownsburg — including the Canadian Legion and Women's Auxiliary, Rotary Club, Women's Institute, Rehabilitation Committee, Red Cross, Knights of Columbus and Brownsburg Discussion Group.

The letter says in part :

Dear Sir :

The incident of a recent illness has brought home to this community the desperate plight of a number of service men's families who were moved to Brownsburg recently due to the acute housing shortage in Montreal and district. In all, we believe that 17 families have come to Brownsburg in the last month or two, and we understand that the arrangements were made through the Quebec Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion at Montreal and that, in some instances at least, this organization arranged for the payment of the first month's rent.

The houses were built in Brownsburg to fill urgent wartime needs, and their construction is such as to require considerable improvement to ensure permanency. It is also assumed that rents were established on a fairly high basis to ensure a substantial return of the cost of investment on these comparatively low-life houses. The present rent to these families and to employee-occupants is $32.75, including water tax an stove rental.

We are not questioning the ability of employee-occupants to pay such a rent, but we most emphatically point out that it is beyond the capacity of many of the service men's families to pay such a rent and maintain a minimum standard of living. Before food enters into the picture, provision has to be made for fuel and light and garbage removal. Thus expenditures on these items alone (rent, fuel, etc.,) would be from $42 to $45 per month.

The ordinary serviceman's wife receives an allowance of $55 per month, $12 for the first child and additional allowances for other children. Thus a minimum for a wife and say one child would be $67. When one deducts the lower figure of $42, it will be seen that the mother has $24 to feed and clothe herself and child, an obviously impossible performance in this community. In addition, some provision must be made for medical and dental care.

Brownsburg is not a rural community, but an industrial one with a population of approximately 3,000. . . . Food prices are higher than in Montreal, for the reason that practically all meats and foods have to be transported from Montreal.

According to the laws of the Province these people cannot become a charge upon the community for some time, although the local people will endeavor, no doubt, to alleviate any suffering to an extent. The crux of the situation appears to be the rents, which are far beyond the capacity of the families to pay. If it is possible to have the rents reduced to say $15 for these people, which is about the amount they would normally pay in the cheaper residential quarters in Montreal and district, the situation will be relieved.

London (CP) — In the five years and eight months of war, lifeboats of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution around Great Britain and Ireland put out to distressed ships and planes 3,760 times and rescued 6,373 people, an average of 21 a week. The total is greater than that for the last 18 years of peace.

There's nothing like a good laugh to frighten off trouble.

Liquor By-Laws Before Electors In Two Argenteuil Municipalities

'Playground' Resorts Affected by Outcome

A public referendum announced in the Township of Arundel for approval of a liquor by-law, is to be followed by another vote called in the Township of Wentworth, for repeal of the existing prohibition by-law in that municipality.

At a meeting of the Wentworth municipal council on June 2 last, notice of motion was given for passage of the by-law, and at a subsequent meeting held last Saturday the by-law was adopted by council pending approval of the electorate.

The vote in Wentworth, called for August 18 next, arises out of a petition signed by 41 electors in the Montfort area on behalf of J. R. Hoyle, who proposes to build a hotel on the site of the Monfort Club property.

Wentworth has had prohibition since May 1935. The by-law now before the electors is to repeal the ordinance of that date. The councillors voted in favor of repeal last Satuday, with one exception —Coun. Wilfred J. Morrison dissenting.

Voting will be held on the date mentioned between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. at four polls — the Montfort Catholic School, the Laurel Protestant School, the St. Michel School and the Louisa Orange Hall.

In the Township of Arundel voting takes place July 23, from 10 to 5 o'clock, at Staniforth's Hall.

In the advocating of liquor sales in these two municipalities, widespread interest is seen in consideration of the summer vacation resorts included in the two areas. Of particular concern to Lachute residents, no doubt, is the fact that Lake Louisa will be governed by decision of the public ballot in Wentworth.

Arundel Greets Veterans Home From Europe

Arundel — Four soldiers enlisted from this community, all veterans of the European front, were welcomed among friends here on their recent arrival home.

Pte. John Dubeau, R.C.A.S.C., the 1st Canadian Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dubeau, arrived home on the Aquitania last week. Pte. Dubeau spent five years overseas and saw service in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany.

Pte. Kenneth Ronalds, of the Carleton and Yorks, also returned on the same vessel, after spending three years overseas. Pte. Ronalds, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ronalds, served in the Mediterranean area and spent 1½ years in prison camp.

Cpl. Tom Bishop, R.C.A., son of Mrs. John Bishop, arrived home this week.

Sgt. Stanley Cooke, R.C.A.M.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cooke, who was overseas for four years and served in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany, is also among those to have arrived home.

Home from O'seas

Cpl. Victor Noble, of Mille Isles, Que., who arrived home from overseas recently. Cpl. Noble, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Noble, went overseas with the Canadian Forestry Corps in March, 1941.

SUFFERED INJURIES AND WOUNDS, NOW HOME FROM O'SEAS

St. Andrews East — Pte. Daniel Bryson, Hastings and Sussex Reg't, returned home recently from service overseas. Pte. Bryson was one of the first St. Andrews boys to go overseas. He enlisted in the Black Watch, but after an accident in England, resulting in injuries which kept him in hospital for several months, he was transferred to the Hastings and Sussex Regt. With this unit he saw service in Holland which resulted in further wounds. . . . Mrs. Daniel Bryson, who remained in England with their infant child, will follow as soon as transportation facilities permit.

ARRIVING TODAY

Cpl. Gaetan Belanger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Belanger, is expected to arrive in Montreal this afternoon with troops repatriated from overseas. Cpl. Belanger has latterly seen service in Holland. His father and other members of the family are in Montreal to meet him.

SOUVENIRS POSE CUSTOMS PROBLEM

London (CP) — Hidden in a garage "somewhere in England," is a high-powered German car which a Royal Air Force ace hopes to drive when pleasure motoring is permitted in this country.

Worth at least $4,500, the car was "liberated" on the continent and brought here aboard a landing craft. It is proving a headache to customs officers who are facing many smuggling posers as hundreds of servicemen return from the continent each day.

Several months ago a Dakota transport plane arrived from Belgium with two racehorses. A cruiser which put in at a British port from Italy unloaded a quantity of fine furniture.

German Civilians See Atrocity Movie

Because the great majority of German civilians pooh-pooh Allied stories of German atrocities as so much propaganda, military government authorities are forcing them to see actual motion pictures of the horrors of Belsen and Buchenwald. Above the audience of a movie house at Burgsetinfurt, Germany, is seen leaving the show. Some were weeping. All seemed horrified by what they had seen.

Locating Damage to Undersea Pipes

London — A simple and highly effective method of locating damage to undersea pipelines has been invented by English scientists. The development came as a sequel to "Pluto" — the 20 oil pipelines in the English Channel constructed by British engineers for the supply of petrol to the Allied armies. These pipelines, although of strong construction, were nevertheless susceptible to damage from such objects as ships' anchors. Towards the end of 1944 a number of lines had begun to leak or had suffered actual fractures. The precise location of the damage was not known and no method was available for accurate detection, such as would enable divers to be sent down to effect repairs. The problem, however, was solved. A fluid known as "Fluorescein L.T.", pumped through the damaged pipe, emerged on the sea surface and revealed the exact location of the fractures.

FARM TOPICS

Silage Information

This is the time when farmers must decide what crops to ensile and what methods to use in ensiling these crops. Many questions are asked on this subject and experiments have been conducted at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, over a period of years in order to secure reliable information on the best methods of ensiling various crops. A special bulletin on "Silage Production" has been issued on the subject covering the results of these experiments.

While few difficulties are experienced in ensiling corn, more care must be taken with other crops, especially legumes. As the spring of 1945 has been unfavorable for seeding, it is possible that more late seeded crops as well as legumes and grass may be ensiled this year. Corn and sun flowers also may be seeded late with good results, but these crops offer no special difficulties in ensiling. A copy of "Silage Production" may be obtained by writing to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Warble Fly Control

A practical example of warble fly control comes from British Columbia. As reported by the Division of Illustrations Stations, Dominion Experimental Farms Service, Mr. Pryce, the farmer operator of the Wawota Illustration Station, and five other farmers purchased a power sprayer and have treated all their cattle for warble fly control for this year (1945). They also treated the cattle on all the farms in their immediate district, with the exception of those owned by two farmers who did not want the work done. The complete control of warble flies in any area is possible only when all cattle in a community are treated.

"Hardware Disease" Common in Cattle

Besides the danger of poisoning cattle through old bones being left around pastures and live stock lots, there is another disease which occurs almost entirely in cattle as a result of untidy surroundings. This is known as "Hardware disease" and is occasioned by the common habit of cattle eating nails, staples, pieces of wire, and other sharp metal objects which they find in pastures and elsewhere around the farm. This assorted hardware often penetrates vital organs, sometimes with fatal effect.

Though not contagious in the usual sense of the word, "Hardware disease" is transmitted through carelessness, according to many veterinarians. They state also that in dairy cattle the losses from "Hardware disease" exceed those from any one contagious disease. Prevention consists in keeping pastures, feedlots, fence corners, and all other parts of the premises free from small pieces of sharp metal, nails and other pieces of hardware that might cause injury to cattle or other stock.

1,200 Farm Workers Come East from Sask.

Regina — Saskatchewan farm workers have made a splendid response to the Ontario appeal for help, approximately 1,200 having for the eastern province before the end of June, according to M. E. Hartnett, farm labor supervisor for the provincial department of agriculture. They have also met the need for help across the international border, some 150 combines and crews having crossed to the midwest states to assist American farmers with their grain crops.

Under the farm labor plan, an agreement on which was signed with the Dominion Government, Saskatchewan was called on to supply Ontario with 1,000 farm workers. The province exceeded the required number by 200, while several hundreds more went from the other two western provinces. The Saskatchewan workers must work on Ontario farms while in the east, and are to return to the west between August 15 and 31. Their train fare was paid east, while return tickets will cost $5. It is expected that a number of Ontario farm workers will travel to Saskatchewan and the other western provinces for the harvest season.

New York (CP) — Buttercups have been found to yield a juice which inactivates the germs of tuberculosis and some other microbes, but which is too poisonous for use as medicine.

DECEMBER CHERRIES FOR CANADA MARKET

Australian Suggests Fruit Exports from Down Under During Winter

Canberra (CP) — The fact that the world is round and divided into two hemispheres, northern and southern, with reversed seasons, plays a large part in the private post-war planning of D. W. Shand of Armidale, New South Wales, Australia, who has been having a look at soya bean culture and other rural matters in Canada.

He sees no reason why, with modern refrigeration, Australia should not send the finest black-heart cherries to North America in December and grapes a little later in the winter. When he took a look at the New York fruit market, he found that Argentina is already doing this with grapes, and Argentina is quite as far from New York as Australia is from San Francisco.

Mr. Shand has already tried soya beans on his Armidale farm and they did well. He wants Australia to have a million acres of them after the war.

He has already pioneered successfully the production in Australia of pyrethrum, opium poppies and navy beans. Pyrethrum, a daisy-like plant, is used in the making of insecticide. Australia's supplies used to come from Kenya, East Africa, until war cut them off.

The war also cut off supplies of opium for medical use. Mr. Shand put in 30 acres of poppies for a start. The plants ran up to six feet, with blooms 10 inches round. Navy beans were grown in great quantities to supply the U.S. troops. Australians liked them as they grew used to them.

Another of Mr. Shand's ideas is to have an interchange of personnel, as well as practices, in farming between Australia and America. He wants to see 200 Canadian youths and 200 United States youths spending a year or two farming under the best conditions in Australia.

IRRITATING TOLL

From all quarters in the province come demands for removal of the toll charge on the Fraser Canyon at Yale. . . . A toll on any highway does not fit into our scheme of things and the one at Yale is a particularly deep irritant. . . . In its own small way it constitutes a barrier between the coast and the interior, a discrimination against this part of British Columbia.

Big Plans for Extension Rural Telephone Service

TO REVAMP FARMERS' PARTY LINES

Within three to five years after men and materials again become available, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada plans to spend almost $10,000,000 to extend rural telephone service to some 20,000 more rural dwellings in Ontario and Quebec, according to an article in the current issue of "The Blue Bell", monthly magazine for Bell employees.

This sum covers reconstruction, the provision of facilities to serve those whose applications have had to be deferred because of wartime shortages and unexpressed demand, and new construction to take care of expected growth beyond present pole lines. It will involve the erection of some 2,600 miles of new pole line and 20,000 additional miles of circuit.

It does not cover the cost of converting rural exchanges to the same system as that in larger cities, and other service improvements which will help the company make its contribution to the post-war objective of full employment.

Further studies are still being made to find out what people in rural areas think about telephone service and what they want. On this sound basis of fact, still more extensive plans may be developed.

Providing high quality telephone service at a cost the farmer is able to pay is by no means an easy task, the article states. It is estimated that about 80 per cent of all rural families in the Bell Company's territory are located either along existing lines or near enough to them so that service can be provided without a special construction charge. Yet at the present time only 38 per cent of rural dwellings have service. Full advantage is being taken of economical methods of construction introduced before the war, and study is being made of other developments brought to the fore in recent years.

"The remarkable accomplishments of radio telephony in the war have produced many fanciful pictures of the peacetime uses of radio communication," the Blue Bell article says. "However, experiments are now under way to determine the feasibility of providing this type of service to farms located many miles away from the nearest telephone exchange."

In addition to extending the scope of rural service, the Bell Company plans to continue its policy of continued improvement in quality. In the 10 years following the war, it is expected that more than 100 rural exchanges will be converted to dial operation. This will permit the installation of the latest and most efficient types of telephone sets, which will be more convenient to use than the present ones and will afford clearer transmission.

As materials become available the number of parties per rural line will be steadily reduced, and the type of ringing provided whereby a subscriber hears the ring for only half of the other parties on his line.

"The Bell Company has long given advice as to the operation of lines maintained by the farmers themselves," the article concludes. "Such help will be increased after the war, ranging from advice on how such a group should handle collections, financing and other management problems, to the very important item of how to give desirable service."

If everyone fights to make democracy free for all, there will be fewer free-for-all fights in democracy.

HAWKESBURY MAN IS ROTARY INTERN'L DISTRICT GOVERNOR

Chicago, Ill. — Douglas Silverston, of Hawkesbury, Ont., assumes office as a district Governor of Rotary International, it was announced at Rotary headquarters in Chicago. He is a member and Past President of the Rotary Club at Hawkesbury.

As an officer of Rotary International during the fiscal year 1945-46, he will visit 35 of the Rotary Clubs in New York, Ontario and Quebec, which comprise the 170th Rotary District. For the next 12 months, he will advise and assist the officers of these Rotary Clubs on matters pertaining to Rotary service activities and Club administration.

Fought Malaria With A Bag of Mosquitoes

Epsom (CP) — P. G. Shute is a man who, in his job as assistant malaria officer for the Ministry of Health, fought this war with a bag of 1,000 mosquitoes.

During the Italian campaign the German "flood and infect" method of warfare was downing thousands of Allied soldiers with malaria and the situation became so serious that the progress of the war was affected. Shute gathered 1,000 non-infected, British-reared mosquitoes, put them in a canvas bag, and flew to Italy, to carry out experiments in malaria cures.

In army hospitals he asked the malaria-infected men if they would let the mosquitoes bite them and sick as they were, they volunteered. Back in England, Shute had healthy British soldiers, all volunteers, bitten by the now-infected mosquitoes and when the men contracted the disease, he tried out his new drugs.

One of these was Mepacrine, but the others still are secret. The experiment was highly successful and the malaria rate in Italy was reduced.

FARMER SOLDIERS

It would seem that the first men to be released from the armed forces should be those with farming experience so that sufficient help can be obtained by farmers needing it. Food of all kinds is going to be an important part of the post-war construction, and the producers must be given the help they need in order to bring about the increased production desired.

On to Berlin !

THE MARCH to Berlin — regarded through the war years as the Allies' final coup of triumph — never materialized as part of the hostilities, at least as far as Canada and the western Allies were concerned. For the taking of Berlin was left to the Russians; and as we recall it, they made a notably good job of the assignment. The march to Berlin, through those long, gruelling years, was but a battle slogan, a fiery incentive, which spurred righteous fury into many an onslaught — from Alemein to Sicily to Rome — from the southern shores of England to Falaise and Carpiquet, to the mud of Holland and the flooded Rhine. . . Still there were few, perhaps, who believed the dreamed-of entry into Berlin would ever be clothed in reality.

Yet, somewhat inconspicuous in the news last week, was that long awaited story. The army of occupation moved in. It was the symbolic consummation of victory — victory at a heavy price. As one observer reported the historic scene : "The highway from Magdeburg to Berlin was crowded with long convoys of trucks, carrying poilus from France, tommies from England, doughboys from America, and soldiers from every part of Canada on their way to the German capital. Representing Canada were 800 veterans of Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. The Canadians were assembled from the Army's Provost Corps, the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders of Hamilton, Ont., Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal, and the Loyal Edmonton Regiment".

Another reporter writes: "While German adults and children lining the streets through which the Canadians passed surprised the troops by waving and even throwing flowers into the vehicles, the long convoy followed a pilot jeep to the Wilmersdorf area". . . . Another states : "Only a few thousand Berliners saw the Britons and Canadians go by and it was an unsmiling and non-cheering crowd of Germans who watched their conquerors."

Beyond Imagination

SINCE THE bars of censorship have been relaxed, many ingenious tricks of the trade have come to light, each having contributed to the Allied triumph over Germany, in a war which was a battle of wits as notably as a conflict of brute strength. And again, many of these tricks reveal commonplace materials and everyday devices applied to strange ends, and their wartime uses explain the shortage of certain civilian items which had no apparent relation to the war effort.

Here for instance is the newest story from London :

Twenty-three million tennis balls — the United Kingdom's wartime output — were used by British industry in a brilliant plan to defeat the German magnetic mine. Early in the war experts were asked to solve a major problem which was threatening the success of Britain's new mine-sweeping technique. This technique involved the use of mine-sweepers which towed behind them each about 500 yards of electric cable. Powerful electric current generated inside the ships, was to be passed through the cables into the sea, and thus explode all mines in the area by the electric discharge. But the cables had to be made to float. This was the stumbling block which the scientists had to overcome. They soon hit upon a simple solution; it was to carry the electric wire on a cable made of tennis balls, pressed and packed tightly, one after the other to form one long self-buoyant cable. The plan was entirely successful. Since then United Kingdom manufacturers have used a total of 23 million tennis balls to make hundreds of buoyant sets, involving over one million yards of cable.

The Why of Meat Rationing

MEAT RATIONING will be back soon in Canada. Predicted for some time since it was suspended last year, return of coupon purchase of meat in the Dominion was confirmed during the week in an announcement by Prime Minsiter Mackenzie King, who said it would be re-introduced shortly "to reduce consumption."

Behind the decision to re-impose meat rationing is the difficulty of finding enough meat to feed Europe. Immense contributions of food have been made by the United Kingdom, which in turn looks to Canada as a major supplier of bacon and beef. On top of this increased demand abroad has been an increased demand at home. Within the last few weeks the home demand for beef has been so great that the Canadian Meat Board has been unable to secure supplies for shipments to the United Kingdom. This undoubtedly hastened the return of meat rationing for Canadians.

The Dignified Calling

FARMS ARE THE backbone of the nation! Think of what Canadian farms have done during the war, feeding millions at home and abroad, despite lack of help and equipment. Our farms too, have always been the cradle of our national leadership. Children reared there have the daily responsibilities of farm life which develop men of character and initiative.

A Saskatchewan farmer, outlining the part of Agriculture in the task of reconstruction said: "The run-down condition of many of our farms, the strained and dissatisfied condition of many of our farmers in the past, speak eloquently of of the way merely materialistic objectives sabotage and undercut a sound Agriculture.

"A brand new avenue of creative action will open up when farmers begin to see clearly their true place in national and international life. . .

"Today we farmers are on the verge of a great renaissance. We are beginning to realize that we have a calling, and that this calling is to hold the land as a precious trust in order that it will feed the generation of today and future generations yet unborn. We are beginning to know that it is more important than dollars or comfort, that men and women and little children everywhere should be fed and clothed. With this conviction and this passion, Agriculture will realize afresh the true dignity of its calling and will once again become the backbone of Canadian life. Each farm will become a precious trust under God, to be tended and cared for so that it will produce at its highest and yet maintain its fertility for the future."

Pioneer Travel

ANNOUNCEMENT by the Transit Controller that sleeping and dining cars are being cancelled or reduced in number on many regular trains is not a great surprise. For those who have sons in the armed forces, it is a hopeful indication that the authorities are doing something to expedite their return and that the peak of military transportation is expected to coincide with what would normally be the peak of civilian travel. . . .

One could wish that the Transit Controller had called into consultation some of his fellow-controllers before adding to the discomforts of civilian travel. Doubtless the Tire Controller would have been sternly against helping motorists get their cars back on the road, but did the Transit Controller think of asking the Administrator of Packages and Converted Paper Products to help out in the crisis? If we have to carry hard-boiled eggs and tomato sandwiches with us on our journeys, the traditional container is the shoe-box. Old shoe-boxes have long since vanished from our cellars in response to salvage-drive appeals, and retailers now deliver new shoes wrapped in paper.

Under the new order, sales of the railway news boys should boom, but there is still a shortage of soft drinks and candy bars, with no relief from the Sugar Controller in sight. The shoe box looks like the best bet for the hungry civilian traveller, but where is it?

—The Printed Word

CANADIANS generally will be glad to see the speedy demobilization of the many boards that have been set up as wartime bodies to administer affairs on the home front. Many of them were necessary and on the whole have done a good job in spite of lack of any experience, but maintaining them or setting up any new boards and regulations will not find favor in any quarter. — Acton (Ont.) GLEANINGS FROM OTTAWA

By FRANK MORRISS

Introducing Frank Morriss

Pressure of other duties has made it impossible for Helen Marsh to continue her weekly cofumn, "Gleanings From Ottawa." The column's new editor is Frank Morriss.

Veteran newspaperman, Frank Morris recently joined the staff W.I.B's news section after an association of 17 years with the Winnipeg Free Press, during which time he served in all departments of the paper.

War-Born Changes

● There's one thing about war, it does bring sweeping changes in our economic lives. New demands for increased production come thick and fast, and we're expected to put our shoulder to the wheel and carry on with fewer people to help us. In other words we have to produce more with less.

But back of us we have the scientists and experts in various fields. They are constantly on the job, finding out easier ways of doing things, and developing new processes. Take dehydration for instance. It was pretty much of a side issue before 1939. I know my own conception of dried food was all tied up with restaurant apple pie that had been made with leathery bits of apple soaked in water, sweetened, and then placed in a pie. Today's dehydrated apples can't be told from the fresh. Well . . . hardly. That goes for other fruits and vegetables too.

You Buy It In Bricks

● Research workers at Pennsylvania State College come out with the interesting statement that perhaps in the future we'll be able to buy our concentrated frozen milks in bricks similar to the ice cream bricks we buy at the present time.

Two experts of the Pennsylvania College say that the frozen concentrated milk, when thawed and properly diluted with water, can hardly be distinguished from fresh milk.

I don't know how they make the frozen brick of concentrated milk in the first place. But provided you could get one, here's what you would do. You'd merely place the brick into hot water, and presto, there's your milk.

If you used an equal amount of water, the result would be a product resembling coffee cream. If you want milk, just double the amount of water.

Sounds simple, doesn't it?

The United States armed forces are interested in the frozen concentrated milk. They view it as a possible source of fluid milk on hospital ships.

What will they think of next!

Public Spirited Women

● The Federated Women's Institutes of Canada have been doing a fine work these past few years. These loyal, public-spirited women have been behind so many community enterprises, and since the war they have redoubled their efforts.

I was interested in reading the report of Mrs. E. E. Morton of Vegreville, Alberta, as given at the recent 14th biennial meeting of the Institutes. Mrs. Morton is convenor of war services. She tells of the Women's Institutes co-operating with the Canadian Red Cross, assisting at blood donor clinics and in many different ways.

And the various members in the different provinces have all done their bit to help the people of Britain. The Prince Edward Island Institutes made hundreds of tins of apple jelly. In Quebec and Ontario they made large donations of maple sugar. Alberta donated money for fruit-growing provinces to convert into jam. And there were other ways of helping, too numerous to mention. Ontario institutes donated $6,262 to the Department of Munitions and Supplies for two mobile kitchens while P.E.I. Institutes specialized in making clothing for four-year-old British children.

One of the memorable scenes in Germany's final defeat. . . Airborne British troops on Churchill tanks advancing unchallenged through Billerock, between Coesfeld and Munster. Bedsheets, serving as white flags, signify the surrender of the population.

BRITISH TO THE CORE

We must frankly confess our surprise at the reappearance of Australian apples on the home market after a lapse of five years. Only last week we hazarded a guess that Australian shipments could hardly be anticipated before the conclusion of the war with Japan. . . . It is a matter for extreme satisfaction to know that Australian apples — once widely publicized as being "British to the core" — are over here from over there.

Banks: "Yes, I saw you with her."

A hard-boiled Sergeant was having trouble putting his recruits through their parade paces. Thoroughly exasperated he at last said sweetly, "When I was a little boy my mother told me not to cry when I lost my wooden soldiers. 'Some day' she said, 'You'll get those wooden soldiers back.' Then with a full parade-ground roar he bellowed, "And believe me, you wooden-headed scarecrows, that day has come!"

John: "I hear your dad's ill in the hospital."
Jim: "Yeah, he's been there for nine weeks."
John: "Pretty sick!"
Jim: "Naw, pretty nurse."

The camp had been under quarantine for some time when the guard caught Mose sneaking out one night. "What's the idea?" asked the guard. "You know you are not allowed to leave camp." Mose was desperate. "Buddy," he said, "I'se got a mean old uncle down below, a grand old mammy up above, and a gal in Alabamy and I'se gwine to see one of dem tonight."

A General returning to his quarters one night, found a Private crawling under a lamp post. "What are you looking for?" asked the General. "I lost a half-half-dollar a couple of blocks down the street," answered the Private with a suspicious hic in his voice. "Well, if you lost it two blocks away, why are you looking for it here?" asked the General. "The light's better here," explained the Private.

They stood on the porch at midnight.
Their lips were tightly pressed,
The old man gave the signal
And the bulldog did the rest.

Hospitals, Past and Present

● By JOHN T. BARNES

The seed of hospitalization rooted itself, we read, in the very early pagan days. Records fail to show what advancements were made, but the very fact that they did exist means much to us today. Credit is due them for laying the corner stone of the world's largest humanitarian institution — namely the modern hospital.

With the coming of Christianity the monastic and ascetic organizations developed a more systematic method of caring for the sick. These religious orders were formed by a very devout people who had as their motto — Poverty, Chastity and Obedience. Although self-denial was uppermost in their mind, they could choose between the solitary life of a hermit or the more social existence of the monastery. As an example of their Christian obedience and spirit of self sacrifice, it is said that the Apostle St. James, the first Bishop of Jerusalem, knelt so much in prayer that his knees became caloused as those of the camel. It is from the wise men of those ancient days that the elaborate hospital system of today had its origin.

The Crusades which took place in the 11th, 12th and 13th centuries and consisted of eight expeditions helped the cause of hospitalization and produced the "Hospitallers", who were knights devoting themselves to the serving of the sick. Similar organizations also began at this time such as the Sisters of Mercy, Sisters of Charity and other kindred bodies. When the infidels had been dispersed many famous hospitals were built. The more notable ones were erected at Alexandria, Ephesus, Constantinople, and at Caesarea where St. Basil founded a great establishment with special provisions for lepers.

Working our way westward from the Holy Land, we find another very notable hospital, Hotel Dieu, Paris, France. This hospital was built in the early 6th century and is still in existence today. Three centuries later the Archbishop of Canterbury founded a hospital in England. In 1123, the famous "London" Hospital of St. Bartholomew's had its beginning and that of St. Thomas in 1215. Other renowned English institutions did not appear till the 18th century. Westminster in 1719, Guys in 1725, and the Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh in 1730. The growth of Universities developed the study of medicine and many hospitals became identified as departments with schools of learning. The great hospitals in Italy, France, England and Scotland thus became medical schools.

American hospitals were naturally founded upon European methods and began with the Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, in 1730.

Hospitals are either charitable institutions, wholly or semi-charitable, receiving both free and pay patients, or receive pay patients only. They may be supported wholly or in part by Federal, State or Municipal funds or maintained by religious or other organizations or by private endowment. Among those under Municipal control and reserved solely for the city poor are the St. John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, the Bellevue Hospital, New York City, the General and the Boston City Hospital in Boston and the Cook County Hospital in Chicago.

Many hospitals are founded by private gifts and sectarian societies. Some hospitals specialize in treatment of special disorders such as ailments of the eye, ear, nose and throat, cancer, tuberculosis, and contagious skin disorders, while other hospitals are maintained for children and women, also the incurable and the insane. Therefore, out of the past most hospitals can truthfully say that they have inherited a proud and honorable record of services rendered on behalf of suffering humanity, even under the handicap of over-crowded conditions and limited nursing help.

Whether the public have been aware of it or not, during the past few years their hospitals have become a more important influence in the life of their community than they have ever been before. Perhaps without the public's knowledge their hospitals have become a more important factor in the production of the public's health, also that of the individual family.

During the past few years many doctors and nurses have left their communities to join the armed forces of the nation. Those doctors who remain to serve the public at home, and perhaps some people have had occasion to find this out, have had to change the routines of their practice to make extra "check-up" visits to make certain that their patients are following orders. The diminishing volume of available medical service in every community has left the public with a new responsibility — to conserve that service by

Comment On School Meeting

Lachute, Que.
Editor, The Watchman

Sir: In your issue of the 5th of July, 1945, there appears in large type "Quebec Director of Protestant Education Here to Discuss Central School Board Plan".

The first part of your article is a fairly accurate report of the remarks made by Dr. W. P. Percival. However, the latter part is neither accurate nor does it give a true picture of the happenings at that meeting. This meeting was called by the Lachute Protestant School Commission to explain and give the reasons why they had reversed their decision passed the 4th of November 1944, to refuse to enter such a Central School Board and which decision had been communicated, discussed and approved at a public meeting held in December, 1944.

A number of the rate payers insisted they were justified in knowing why. None of the local Board appeared willing to give any reason. When it was suggested that at least some of the commissioners had said they were under pressure, a number of the rate payers wanted to know what the pressure was and who applied it. Dr. Percival declared that no pressure of any kind had been applied. However, when asked to assure those school boards which might remain out that their grants would remain and not be encroached upon, he declined, saying that all grants were annual and he could not assure that they would continue. After further discussion Dr. Percival stated that there was a large grant voted for the advancement of Protestant Education in this province, and if this district did not comply with the wishes of his Department and enter the Central School Board, he would do all in his power to see that this district did not participate in these new grants, but it would go to those who did comply.

It is for these reasons that a group of rate payers have presented the names of George Calder and Stuart McFaul, as candidates for School Commissioners.

We trust you will give this the same prominence as your former article.

Interested Rate-payer

Candidate For School Board

The Watchman,
Lachute, Que.

I have been nominated as a candidate for Protestant School Commissioner. I would state clearly that this nomination is not of my seeking. Under the School Code, the consent of a candidate is not required, nor can he retire after nomination; he could resign after election. However, having been one of those who criticized the School Board, I do not feel I would be consistent in refusing to offer my services if they are acceptable.

For private and personal reasons, I shall not be in Lachute on voting day, nor do I intend to canvass votes. If the rate payers wish to make use of my humble service, I am prepared to offer it, but I have no wish to serve if I am not wanted. I am not opposed to the idea of a Central School Board. I am opposed to the present Bill creating such School Board, and I am opposed to the manner in which we have been forced into it. If and when it is erected, should I be elected I will loyally try to make it work.

— G. F. Calder

Sees Hydro in Ten Years on All Farms

Within ten years every farm house in the province may have electricity if the demand for electrical co-operatives continues at its present pace, Hon. Romeo Lorrain, Quebec Minister of Public Works, stated this week. The law passed by the Duplessis Government at the last session enables co-operative societies to borrow from the Rural Electrification Commission to build power houses and transmission lines. The interest is fixed at three per cent over a 30-year period.

Town Lady Dies Suddenly in M'tl

Late Miss Katie Read

The death of Miss Katie Read, resident of Main Street, Lachute, occurred suddenly in Montreal on Monday morning, July 9, and occasioned a deep shock among residents of this town, where she was well and favorably known. Miss Read had been visiting relatives during Sunday, and suffered a stroke at seven o'clock that evening. Taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital, she succumbed 12 hours later.

The late Katie Read was a foster daughter of Mrs. J. D. Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell, with whom she had made her home in the past 38 years since coming to this country from England. She was active here in the Red Cross and in young people's enterprises of the church, both the Methodist and later the United. Of a friendly and lovable disposition, she will be missed by all who knew her.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Theodore Hammond, whom she had been visiting Sunday in Montreal, another sister at Mille Roches, Ont., and a brother with the armed forces serving in Bermuda.

The funeral, largely attended, was held Wednesday afternoon at Lachute United Church, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiating. Interment took place at Lachute Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Harry Scott, Clarence Rodgers, Jas. Paul, Gilbert Scott, Walker Scott and Stanley Boyd.

Christian Endeavor Hears Impression of Knowlton Conference

An enjoyable meeting of the Christian Endeavor group was held in the hall of the Margaret Rodger Church on Monday.

The meeting, presided over by Bob Cairns, proceeded smoothly through the appropriate hymn selections, lesson reading and sentence prayers to the topic of the evening. This was presented by Miss Ruth Orsborn, who covered the C-E Summer Conference at Knowlton, from which she has recently returned. The group listened with keen interest to Miss Orsborn's account of a typical day of sporting activity, prayer, Bible study and religious discussion at Knowlton. The theme of the conference, namely "Unconditional Surrender to Christ", impressed the group as being particularly appropriate at this time of world strife and uncertainty.

All concerned, please note that no further C-E meetings will be held until Monday, September 10. It is hoped the Rev. Richie Bell, of McVicar Memorial Presbyterian Church, Montreal, will be able to preside at the induction of the officers recently elected for the local group.

Memorial Chapel, Montreal, on Thursday, June 28, at 4.30 o'clock, the Rev. Major R. DeWitt Scott officiating. Pink and white sweet peas, carnations and snapdragons formed the floral decorations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of white figured sheer. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a coronet of white sweet peas and she carried a cascade bouquet of pastel sweet peas and bouvardia. Her only ornament was a necklet of pearls which had been worn by her mother on her wedding day.

Mrs. Curll, mother of the bride, wore a pastel blue suit, a pink and blue flower hat, with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

ELECTRIC GADGETS HELPED AGENTS IN OCCUP'D COUNTRIES

Mysterious Sets Guided Planes to Secret Service Men Working in Europe

London (CP) — British-trained secret service men dropped in occupied Europe were provided with an "electrical gadget" which guided Allied planes, it has been disclosed here.

The gadget was a kind of cumbersome radio set which when switched on — and even without the aid of lights — guided liaison planes towards the agents from as much as 20 miles away, an unidentified secret agent-saboteur said in a BBC broadcast.

"The plane would swoop over our upturned faces, uncannily guided by some sort of wireless rays that were transmitted from our gadget on the ground to an instrument in the aircraft," he explained.

"Later still, in France, we had similar sets, which we could use to telephone to the pilot or to anyone in the plane who might fly out from our London office to give us direct instructions."

The agent described special schools in Britain where men employed on this dangerous work of sabotage learned their business. One was in the wilds of Scotland—a desolate shooting lodge in a glen.

Instruction was given in radio, the use of codes, guises and secret inks, how to pick locks and how to live off the land like a poacher.

observing proper methods of personal hygiene, by eliminating unnecessary demands for medical service and by planning as far as possible to call for and accept the doctor's services at his convenience. This is in the best interest of all the sick people in every community.

In the discharge of these new responsibilities the public have an important ally, the hospital. With their help, hospitals will make certain that the medical services which remain in their community will be sufficient to meet the community's needs. To them and to their doctors, the hospital offers assurance that the care they or some member of their family may require will always be forthcoming when they require it. At most hospitals are assembled all the equipment and supplies, instruments and machines, drugs, solutions, dressings, bandages that their doctor needs. Here are the trained assistants, nurses, technicians, who can manage the details of their care. Here their doctors can see and care for the greatest number of patients in the briefest possible time. Here, all patients are given an equal opportunity of recovery through the common use of modern surgical and medical equipment, which nullifies and explodes the opinion of some that all hospitals are operated as "glorified workshops" for doctors and not maintained for the benefit and common good of the patient. Therefore every person who becomes a hospital patient today is the beneficiary of a priceless heritage bequeathed by the men and women who have made scientific contributions to the advancement of medical knowledge and by those who have helped to make possible the spreading and use of this knowledge through the establishment and maintenance of hospitals.

1. Looking to the future, hospitals will be expected to take a more active part in the life of every community. It is visualized that the use of the x-ray will be put into more universal practice. All hospital patients and industrial workers will be having their whole anatomy x-rayed. These pictures will be filed in a manner similar to finger-printing and will be at the service of the doctors so that they can check up on any change that might occur in the human body from time to time.

2. All hospitals will be divided into sections with each section specializing in different ailments and diseases. The patient may have a choice of rooms in the section allotted to his or her ailment, but not a choice of rooms in any other department.

3. Wonder drugs like Penicillin will be used extensively.

4. All hospitals will be lighted by fluorescent lights.

5. Electronic lamps, generally referred to as "black light lamps", will sterilize the air in hospital operating rooms with their invisible bombardment of bacteria destroying ultra-violet rays. The electron microscope will be called into service to probe far beyond eyesight into the world of the infinitely small to discover the habitat and root out the cause of life-destroying organisms.

6. Cancer therapy and research will also occupy a prominent position.

7. Increased government and municipal aid is expected for the care of indigents which will include the cost of special drugs, such as Penicillin, sulfa drugs, x-ray, operating room charges, etc.

8. Wages and hours of labor to be standardized on a scale parallel to those prevailing in industry.

9. Employee cafeterias will be established in the hospitals and greater attention will be paid to employee comforts in general.

10. Patients might be equipped with frequency modulation radio sets with which to call nurses or orderlies; likewise hospital physicians will be summoned when needed, by tuning-in to proper wave-length on a miniature radio attached to the doctor's coat lapel.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

An Eastern Canadian Port has been an interesting place to live near during war-time. When those words were used most people jumped to the conclusion Halifax was the Port in question, and although it was the one meant most frequently, yet other Eastern Ports were often meant. Ships are always interesting, and we saw all kinds of them in Saint John, but the railway traffic has had its moments of interest, too. There were so many very long freight trains and we saw such a variety of freight. There seemed to be a never-ending stream of crated motor equipment. We saw such things as landing boats, and even an airplane carried on flat cars. We knew when a convoy was going out because of the number of special passenger trains. We have seen the hospital trains go by. Right now there are more special trains than ever. We are situated on a hill facing the Kennebecasis River and the tracks are near the river. Even the river has had its moments. Last November a freighter struck a reef in the Harbor and was sunk. It is still there and has changed the currents to such an extent that navigation is difficult. Corvettes have been fitted out and because of this navigation hazard they have made their trial runs up the river instead of out of the harbor. It is quite a thrill to look out your window and see these boats slip by. The rivers of New Brunswick are really rivers. Not far above us the Kennebecasis is almost 200 feet deep.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS

For some reason or other people never seem to buy books for children except at Christmas. I cannot think of a better time than during the Summer holidays. A child must own a book to know it thoroughly and the books they love best are the ones they own themselves or at least are in the family.. Children like repetition and they like to read the same book over and over. We enjoy meeting people we know well and children feel the same way about the people in their books—they become old friends. There are many good new books being written for children, but there are many classics which children should be privileged to know. Here are some which may serve as suggestions for buying or for their use at the library — Alice in Wonderland and Alice Through the Looking-Glass; The Wind in the Willows; Hans Anderson's and Grimm's Fairy Tales; Swiss Family Robinson; Little Men; Jungle Books; Helen's Babies; The Silver Skates; Treasure Island; Little Lord Fauntleroy; The Secret Garden; A Christmas Carol; The Little Lame Prince; The Wizard of Oz; Tanglewood Tales; Black Beauty; Moby Dick.

TWO PAIRS A SAVING

Maybe it is difficult in your part of the country, but down here we can buy only one pair of stockings at a time. You can see the reason for it as they figure on distributing the available ones to as many as possible. It is a short-sighted policy as it means more stockings will be required than if people were allowed to have two pairs of the same kind. Usually one stocking goes before the other and with a good one from two pairs you can still have one good pair, but with one pair, when one of them is gone you are sunk. More than once I have had to wear odd stockings. One way to avoid this is to tint the good stockings the same color, first using the preparation which removes the color. It is a good plan if you have a number of good old stckings. Down here the stocking situation is really grim because in a Port city there are so many sailors, and it is unusual to go to a stocking counter and not find some sailors buying stockings to take home. That is alright by me because, bad off as we are, the women in the Old Country are much worse. If the weather ever gets really warm we can go in for socks and there seems to be no scarcity of them.

EGG AND ONION

Eggs and onions seem to have an affinity and that little bit of onion makes a big difference to many egg dishes. When it comes to egg sandwiches I like more than just a suspicion of onion. Scraped onion added to the yolk for devilled eggs adds to the flavor. Have you ever tried onion with scrambled eggs? Fry a little finely chopped onion in butter and cook slowly until golden in color and tender but not browned. Add the beaten eggs and cook slowly until firm. This is good with a vegetable dinner. Try it sometime when you come in at the last moment and have to get supper in a hurry and serve your scrambled eggs and onion with toast and chili-sauce. Scramble eggs over a slow heat and don't stir them vigorously but just stir from the bottom and fold over slowly.

CHERRY OLIVES

Wash firm, ripe cherries, either red or white, leaving them unpitted with stems attached. Pack in sterilized bottles. Make a vinegar mixture of 1 cup cider vinegar, 1 cup cold water, 3 tablespoons of brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ oz. stick cinnamon, 2 tablespoons whole cloves. Tie spices in a bag and boil 5 minutes. Cool, remove spices, and pour over cherries. Seal.

10,000th CONDUCTRESS

London (CP) — The London Passenger Transport Board has engaged its 10,000th woman bus conductress.

Planning Steps Up Kitchen Comfort

Men must work and women must cook, even on hottest days. Getting "all steamed up" over this state of affairs won't help at all. What will help is planning meals and cooking so as to create a minimum of kitchen heat.

The coolest hours of the day can be set aside for most of the baking and as much advance preparation of meals as possible. One-dish casserole meals can often be prepared ahead of time and can be reheated over hot water to save a special heating of the oven.

The tea kettle is often a source of unnecessary kitchen heat. Left boiling on the back of the stove, it radiates heat and its steam doesn' do anything to keep the kitchen cool.

With stoves other than coal or wood, making fullest use of one burner, good housekeeping practice at any time, will help keep the kitchen cool. Upper and lower parts of the double boiler may be used for simultaneous cooking and two or more vegetables can often be cooked together in one pot just as satisfactorily as they can be cooked separately.

CANNED HORSES FOR BELGIUM

By H. L. Jones,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa — A contract was signed at Ottawa recently for the supply of 10,000 tons of pickled horse meat to the Belgian Government, through the Saskatchewan Horse Co-operative Marketing Association. Authorities for some time have been attempting to find a means of disposing of thousands of head of horses running on community pastures and elsewhere throughout Saskatchewan and in some parts of Alberta, and the contract, helped along by the Dominion Department of Trade and Commerce, is the result.

The contract involves the movement of more than 100,000 of the surplus horses and these will be processed at plants in Edmonton and Swift Current, Sask.

The Co-operative Association including some 600 livestock producers of southern Saskatchewan, are to purchase a plant in Edmonton and will also erect the plant at Swift Current. The Saskatchewan government has agreed to underwrite a bank loan for $50,000 and the co-operative plans to raise $100,000 more to finance the project. The Belgian contract will expire by January, 1947.

SHOPPING SPREE IN NEW YORK FOR BRITISH ACTRESS

Says Blondes Few in Bleachless Britain But Nylons Aplenty. Gifts of Boyfriends in U.S. Services

New York (CP) — Blondes are scarce in England since the war, but British girls have more nylons than Americans.

So says Pat Kirkwood, brunette London musical-comedy star who has arrived in America to co-star with Van Johnson in a Hollywood production.

The blonde shortage is caused by the disappearance of hair bleaches from the market, explains the sparkling Pat. The nylons are gifts of American soldiers.

Pat's first act on arriving in New York was to go on a gleeful shopping spree. Chattering enthusiastically of the wonders of American shops, she said:

"It's simply marvelous, you know, to be able to buy as many dresses as you want without a ration coupon. And the clothes fit so well! And they're so pretty and so inexpensive.

"Thank goodness, you don't have utility clothing here. That's about all you can get in England, now, and one does get tired of going about in a sort of civilian uniform."

Short on Lipstick

Another shortage which has worried British girls, says Pat, is lipstick. She says:

"You can't get any good lipsticks at all really. The ones they do have are simply horrid, spread all over your face, sort of. I've bought a lot of American lipsticks since I arrived, too. I've been splurging on all kinds of cosmetics, as a matter of fact. They're all so bad in England that it's a treat to be able to find things that really make you look glamorous."

There could be no criticism of Miss Kirkwood's glamor, with or without lipstick.

Known in London as "England's first wartime star," Pat won fame on the British musical comedy stage in four hit shows, all of wartime vintage. The first, "Black Velvet," ran 18 months during the early part of the war. The second, "Lady Behave," ran for 10 months. Her next starring vehicle, "Top of the World," opened with the blitz, and closed four days later when a bomb struck the theatre.

She is the first of Britain's exchange stars to reach this country, and Hollywood has big plans for her.

Pat, too, has big plans for Hollywood. She says:

"I've seen pictures of Hollywood swimming pools, and those beautiful beaches. It all sounds like wonderland. And I'm a very happy Alice, who has come out of the rabbit hole of London air raid shelters."

B-Boosters

There is a danger that hot weather meals may be short on vitamin B, says Grace Duggan, Chief Nutritionist of the Division of Nutrition, Ottawa. This, she explains, is because so many people skip their morning cereal and generally tend to eat less whole grain cereal foods in summer time.

Ready-to-eat whole grain cereals help keep up the vitamin B level and Miss Duggan states that the shredded varieties are preferable.

Other B-Boosters are pork and liver, pork being particularly good as one serving will provide four-fifths of the day's requirement. Other meats make smaller but worthwhile contributions. A serving of fresh green peas gives more than one-fourth of the daily quota and spinach, watercress, cauliflower and fresh corn in generous servings add fair amounts. Using whole wheat, rye or Canada Approved bread with the other B-Boosters mentioned, the daily requirement of Vitamin B can be met at times when the morning porridge is missed, Miss Duggan states.

Old Fashioned Girl

A complaint was lodged against Alice by some of the other employees in the department where she works at Ottawa. Before the war Alice used to work in the office of a Calgary firm. She left there in 1938, when she got married. Her husband enlisted early in the war, but he went overseas only this Spring. When he left the country, Alice got this job in Ottawa. She had been away from office work for over six years, but she remembered the way things had been done in the Calgary establishment and she did her best to get back to that pace. Apparently this was where she made her mistake, for the complaint of the others is that, when Alice walks along between the desks, the breeze of her passing lifts up their papers and scatters them around.

The case has not been settled yet, as no precedent has been found for any such kind of trouble in that department.

Children Enjoy Brief Frolic -- Till Leak Develops in New Brownsburg Swimming Pool

Brownsburg — The Brownsburg Committee for Youth Welfare received a set-back when their new swimming pool developed a leak in the concrete tank and had to be emptied for repairs. The damage is, however, small, and the pool should soon be in operation again.

It appears that enthusiasm overcame better judgment, and before the concrete was sufficiently "cured" the water was poured in. During the few days the pool was in operation some idea could be gleaned of the enjoyment of which the children are now deprived.

Great praise is due the promoters of this venture, which was purely a co-operative effort, without financial resources or deep commitments, but wholeheartedly supported none the less. The Rev. Fr. Monseau, who conceived and carried out the project, was untiring in his efforts, and to him is due the major commendation. His committee worked long and hard, without thought of gain or praise, and deserve credit for their successful accomplishment.

Although the Youth Welfare Committee is under the direction of the Catholic Church, no restrictions are placed on any children enjoying the facilities thus offered. It is provided that all the people of Brownsburg are welcome to partake in the pool and other recreational adjuncts, and no distinctions are made in class or religion.

Community Centre

The larger plan of a Community Centre is going on apace. With the survey completed, preparations are in hand to have the plans approved by government engineers. At a meeting of the directors of the Community Council held last week — with Norman Somers, joint chairman, presiding — it was decided to register the Council as a charitable organization, so that an appeal for funds to start the work could be made. Everything is now in readiness for presentation of the Council's plans to the authorities, and within a few days it is expected that their acceptance will be marked. Some difficulty is anticipated in obtaining a building permit at the present time, owing to lack of materials and the great need of dwelling houses. The Council believe, however, in being prepared to meet the undertaking when permission is obtained.

A delegation to Georges H. Héon, for assistance in submitting plans and obtaining technical advice, reported very favorably on the outcome of their visit.

Struck by Car at Grenville, Sailor Critically Injured

A young navy man holidaying at Grenville was struck by a car at 12.30 o'clock Sunday morning, and is now in a critical condition with a fractured skull. According to reports late yesterday afternoon, he was still unconscious. The victim, Harold Laviolette, R.C.N., aged 20, whose home is at Harwood Ave., N.D.G., was walking with a young lady companion from Hawkesbury, when a Montrealer, Louis Houle, driving eastward, was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and failed to see the couple at the side of the road. His automobile struck the young sailor at a point on No. 8 Highway about 200 yards west of the McIntyre dance hall.

Laviolette, who had been staying at a cottage on the Scotch Road occupied by his family, was treated by Dr. C. Lafrance of Hawkesbury and later taken to the Notre Dame Hospital in that town. Tuesday night, still in an unconscious condition, he was conveyed by naval ambulance to a Montreal hospital.

Traffic Officer H. Jones of Calumet investigated the accident.

Former M.D. Here Rumored Opponent To Mackenzie King

A stranger giving his name as Dr. Richard Monahan, of Sharbot Lake, Frontenac County, a suburb of greater Kingston, visited Alexandria Tuesday afternoon and inserted advertisements in the local weekly newspapers announcing he would run as an Independent Liberal in the Glengarry federal by-election August 6.

Who he is nobody knows — states the Ottawa Citizen, imparting this information yesterday. . . In Lachute, however, residents have authority to believe the rumored candidate is the Dr. Richard Monahan who came east to succeed to the practice vacated here by Dr. Finlay McMartin. He conducted his office on Main Street for a short time before going to Hudson Heights. The Watchman is informed he latterly moved to Sharbot Lake.

Dr. Monahan (continues The Citizen) visited Alexandria about three weeks ago, and interviewed the returning officer to learn the particulars as to how he would get his name on the nomination papers. At that time he gave his address as being at one of the large hotels in Montreal

J. L. Shaw, defeated Social Credit candidate in Nipissing recently, announced Monday that the provincial Social Credit party should run a candidate against Mr. King to show him "that a lot of people don't approve of him".

Donald Scott, provincial organizer for the Social Credit party, of Toronto, visited Alexandria to address a meeting. About 20 people turned out to hear him.

Man Killed by Train, Child Unhurt

Joseph Campeau, 58-year-old employee of Dominion Shuttle Company, Lachute Mills, was instantly killed when struck by the east bound passenger train shortly after 8 o'clock Sunday evening, on the C.P.R. level crossing at Hamford Street. A little girl who was walking with the victim escaped unhurt.

An inquest was held the following morning at the Menard funeral parlors, with Dr. Jules Lafleur, joint district coroner, presiding. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict of accidental death, attaching no blame to the railway company or train crew.

Testimony was given by the railway engineer, James McCleary, of Ottawa, who stated he had sounded the whistle of his locomotive about ¼ mile west of the crossing. The train was about 75 feet from the man and child when he saw them in the centre of the track. The girl was holding the victim's hand, and they were heading northward. They had ample time to pass clear of the track, and the engineer was under the impression they had done so.

Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, of Lachute, told how he had been summoned by telephone to the scene of the accident, and found the man dead about 50 or 60 feet from the crossing. The extent of his injuries indicated death had been instantaneous.

A nearby resident, Mme H. Bilodeau, identified the victim's body. She stated Joseph Campeau had boarded at her home for the past two months. Sunday evening, at the request of another member of the household, he had gone out to purchase cigarettes at a store on Chatham Street across the C.P.R. right-of-way. He had asked the girl, a daughter of Paul Gagné, to accompany him. Witness stated she then heard the whistle of the train, and saw the pair reach the track, when the child ran ahead clear of the oncoming engine. Witness had not seen the victim as the train passed, but afterwards saw the girl running toward the man where he had fallen.

Evidence was heard also from Mme Marie Hamel, who was seated on her gallery on Chatham Street and witnessed the entire incident. Campeau and the girl had reached and crossed the railway track, she said. Then as the train passed the man had disappeared and the girl was in the grass beside the track.

Ernest Robertson, Gatineau Company line foreman, and his wife, were also witnesses of the tragedy. They had halted on Milway Street as the evening train passed by, and had seen the man struck by the left cylinder of the locomotive.

Det. Leopold Dauphin of the Provincial Police investigated and prepared the case for the coroner's hearing; he was assisted by Chief Villeneuve of Lachute.

Dr. W. FitzGerald New Chairman of School Commission

As the result of an enthusiastic contest for two School Board vacancies, held Monday, July 16, at Lachute High School, Geo. F. Calder and Stuart McFaul were elected to replace Jas. W. Gall and E. K. Wilson, chairman.

Besides the two successful candidates, W. Erskine Rodger was also a new contender, while Mr. Wilson stood again for re-election — thus making a four-sided contest. According to Dr. G. A. Clunie, the vote was the highest in his long experience as secretary — 324 Protestant ratepayers turning out to cast their ballots.

Results of the contest were — Calder 184, McFaul 158, Rodger 149, Wilson 147.

Elect Chairman

With Mr. Wilson, who succeeded Geo. Y. Deacon as president, thus defeated — the commissioners were called upon to name a new chairman. A special meeting for this purpose was held last evening, and Dr. F. W. FitzGerald received the appointment.

Members of the current Board are Dr. FitzGerald, chairman, S. S. Campbell, W. M. Cottingham, Geo. F. Calder, S. McFaul.

Red Cross Dance Notable Success

A large gathering of the Golf Club members and their friends patronized the Club's annual Red Cross dance on Saturday, July 21. Music was provided by Donnie Reid and his High School Orchestra, which proved very popular with their entertaining and modern style.

As a result of this dance, a substantial sum will be handed over to the Red Cross, to assist this worthy cause. Financial details will be made known when all returns are completed.

Local Newspaper Crime Preventive

A story which appeared recently in this paper — concerning a racketeer who victimized housewives with the story of a winning sweepstake ticket — may have been a link in the dragnet which brought him to justice. A law officer in Morrisburg, Ont., where the man was arrested, communicated with Donat Villeneuve, chief of police here, stating he had read the report in The Watchman and recognized the similarities in the visitor's tactics.

It is understood the prisoner's portrait, appearing in a Montreal newspaper, drew response from a number of towns and communities, in which the racketeer had mulcted householders of hundreds of dollars.

How's The Heat!

These scenes from last winter may reconcile you to the summer's heat. . . . A blizzard near the end of the season trapped many motorists on Lachute Road, only two or three miles out of town. Top picture shows a gang digging out the snowbound car of Dr. L. P. Sauvé, Lachute; automobiles in the lower picture are those of Gordon Smith and Don Bradley, farmers of the district. The snapshots were taken near the farm home of Mrs. Geo. Armstrong, which provided shelter for 10 extra guests that night.

SUDDEN DEATH AT MORIN HEIGHTS

The death of James Anderson Christie, a resident of Verdun, occurred suddenly at Morin Heights, where he was visiting his son-in-law last week-end at the Mont Hurtubise cottages. Mr. Christie, 62 years of age, went fishing at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, and on returning had to walk up a steep incline to reach the automobile in which he had driven to the spot. He took a heart seizure and died within five minutes, at around 9 p.m.

Dr. Jules Lafleur of Lachute, investigating in his capacity as district coroner, pronounced death due to natural causes.

Hotel Shortage Acute in London

London (CP) — Shortage of hotel accommodation in London is more acute this summer than at any time during the war. Some hotels are fully booked for several months.

Thousands of servicemen on leave, repatriated prisoners of war, and civilians visiting the capital now that bombing has ended are crowding every available sleeping space and officials of the Hotels and Restaurants Association say the present position likely will continue for some time.

HELPFUL GATHERINGS

The action of the reception comtee on plans for holding a series of "welcome home" social gatherings periodically as the young people return home is to be commended and should receive generous support from all citizens in the community.

Many Business and Residential Changes Noted; Season Fraught With Post-War Anticipations

A number of changes are evident this season in business and residential holdings about town. Following is a check-up of recent developments, including new firms and changes of ownership in the business field:

NEW STORES READY FOR OPENING

An attractive storefront and interior are in readiness for opening of the new store, Bédard Ltée, at 218 Main Street, which will take place early next month.

Prime interest in this concern is held by Leonard Bédard, who has conducted a retail store here successfully for many years. The new property — formerly the residence of the late Mrs. H. Giles — is being leased by Mr. Bédard from Gilbert E. Ayers, who bought and re-modelled the premises. The spacious intrior, with terazzo floor and cleancut lines, is well lighted. Office quarters at the rear are faced with a log-cabin frontage, and the modern display counters, in plywood, are a credit to the local cabinet-making and finishing crafts.

The store will handle gifts and sport goods, select hardware and electrical equipment, also an agency for gramophone records. Paul Courville is appointed manager, and Ernest Léonard secretary.

• • •

Another well-appointed store will be ready August 1 for removal of the C. T. Fauteux ladies' wear business, generally known as the "girls' shop", now located opposite the post office. The new premises are those which have been acquired and renovated by Martin Niederkorn, near the memorial park; and the addition of another store to this section stresses the further encroachment of business on a stretch of Main Street which has remained largely residential.

A craftsman in this line of work, Mr. Neiderkorn has made an excellent job of both the exterior and interior of the store, which he has modernized in a big way. A departure in finishing of the storefront is the use of color-stained wood squares in place of the usual tile panels.

It is understood the proprietor, who has occupied the premises as a wood-working shop, will build quarters for his own use at the rear of the lot.

BUILDING LOT

A desirable building lot on Grace Street owned by Mr. A. Middleton and facing his residence, between Mary Street and Barron Ave., was recently purchased by Hervé Filfe, Main Street business man. Mr. Filfe is non-commital on his intentions regarding this property.

EXTENSIONS

Work is nearing completion on extensions to the Farmer Brown service station, Brownsburg Road. The proprietor, Gordon Brown, is now featuring farm machinery, and — having lately registered under the title of Farmer Brown's Motor Sales — indications suggest he is anticipating big business when the output of automobiles is resumed.

RESTAURANT UNDER NEW CONTROL

The Lido Restaurant, a thriving establishment in the new Malacket Block, Main Street, has been taken over by John Hadley, ex-mayor of St. Jerusalem Parish. The concern is under management of his son, Bob Hadley, who has been employed in munitions at Ste. Therese during the war. . . . The Lido Restaurant was opened by the late Spiro Adams in 1941, and since his death has been carried on by his daughter, Miss Lily Adams, and and other members of the family. The Provincial Transport Co. agency is a part of this business.

DEMOLITION

Demolition is now under way at the old Crozier dwelling, a landmark next to the United Church. This site was purchased last November by Edgar Pollock and H. Graves, of Brownsburg.

The Miller store property, east on Main Street, was purchased by Don MacRae for business purposes some time ago, and the building was similarly torn down. . . . With these lots vacant, and Main Street primed for a business boom, the public are now keen with speculation as to buildings planned for the two sites.

THE BLACK MARKET

The greatest menace the people of Canada have to guard against at this time is the terrible consequence of inflation. Inflation can come upon us so quickly that we find it here before we realize it. One of the greatest contributors to inflation is the black market. . . . It spreads like a plague. . . . For your own protection stamp out the black market.

Death of P. Dobbie Former Mayor of Two Municipalities

The death of Peter Dobbie, a well known resident of this county, occurred Saturday at his home on Main Street, Lachute, following two weeks of illness. Mr. Dobbie was 77 years of age. He was born at Harrington East in 1868, the second son of John Bilsland Dobbie and his wife Jean McOuat.

Married to Sarah Jane McGallard in 1899, he moved to Lachute 26 years ago. He was a member of the United Church, and both in Harrington and Lachute, played an active part in the affairs of the community. He was for many years chairman of the Harrington School Board, councillor and mayor of the Township of Grenville and Augmentation, and a councillor of this town, where he occupied the mayoralty for one term.

The late Mr. Dobbie is survived by his wife, two daughters and two sons — Mrs. J. N. Gillies (Grace), of New Carlisle, Que., and Maud, of Lachute, John, of Harrington, and Gordon, of Lachute; five grandchildren, Anne Gillies, Robert and Mary Fay Dobbie at Harrington, Bruce and Hugh Dobbie at Lachute; also his three sisters, Mrs. Wm. Fraser, of Huntingdon, B.C., Mrs. Jean Fraser, of Abbotsford, B.C., and Mrs. Ellen Marshall, of Harrington.

The funeral, held Monday afternoon at Lachute United Church, was attended by a gathering of relatives and sympathizing friends from the entire countryside. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. S. J. Pike, and interment was made at the local cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. D. J. Shaw, Neil McCallum and Roderick McTavish, of Harrington, Roy Dobbie, of Cushing, J. A. Bradley, of Carillon, and Albert Cleland, of St. Hermas.

Magazines Will Be Appreciated For Camps Here

Returned men of the Canadian Forestry Corps are now established in two camps adjacent to No. 31 Highway, at Green Lake and at Lost River, where the personnel of 80 soldiers in charge of Lieut. Lang are busy with woodcutting operations.

Building units, arriving here by rail from parts unknown, have been loaded onto trucks and, escorted by local traffic police, transported to the site of the camps.

On the instigation of Traffic Officer Howard Jones, of Calumet — who draws attention to the fact there is so far no amusement furnished for these men in camp — an appeal is made for magazines, either English or French, to contribute to their comfort. Any gifts of reading matter left at the North River Motors premises, Main Street, will be handed over to the Forestry unit for use in these camps.

What the modern couple want to do is marry in haste and pay rent at leisure.

FARM TOPICS

Orchards Threatened

The apple crop, already compromised by late frosts and the cool weather conditions which prevailed during May and June, is also being threatened by fire blight, which causes leaves to suddenly turn yellowish brown; and it is found to be developing to an alarming degree. Trees must be treated before greater harm is done and a circular prescribing treatment is now being sent to all apple growers. Copies may be had by writing to the Plant Protection Bureau, Department of Agriculture, Quebec.

In the Lower Quebec district, apple scab is becoming widespread and severe. Mr. Caron, Provincial Botanist, recommends that apart from the four regular sprayings two to three supplementary sprays be given. In this way, part of the present crop may be saved, and next year's harvest will be safeguarded.

Electric Fences Control Livestock

Livestock as a rule need little training to keep away from electric fences. Observations at the Dominion Experimental Station at Swift Current, Sask., show that the animals learn very quickly and do not approach a fence even when it it is not charged. At Swift Current, a 13-plate wet battery was used on an electric fence that was used throughout the summer months last year for pasturing cattle. The cattle were well controlled, no harm was done to the cattle or the attendant, and the battery was still charged at the end of the season.

The use of electric fences is gradually becoming more widely adopted for pastures. These fences have many advantages but care is necessary in establishing the equipment. Among the advantages are reduction of cost in erecting temporary fences, reduction of expenditure for wire, posts, and gates, reduction of injury to live stock; the adaption in the west to winding coulees or temporary pasture areas otherwise impractical to fence, and the enclosure in the fields of untillable lands that otherwise might be wasted. As a rule, one or two wires are sufficient to carry the electric current. One wire is sufficient for horses and cattle. Two wires are considered preferable for pigs and sheep. The wire can be supported by porcelain insulators on 2" by 2" stakes set in the ground 30 to 40 feet apart.

Exercise kills germs but the trouble is to get the darned things to exercise.

Canadian Horses For B.W.I. Police

Eighteen police horses are on their way from Canada to do constabulary duty in the British West Indies islands of Trinidad and Barbados. All half-breeds, they were selected by the Dominion Department of Agriculture from Breeding Stations at Brampton and Ailsa Craig, Ontario.

Of this shipment, the six horses going to Barbados average 15 hands 1½ inches in height and range in age from 4 to 7 years; the twelve horses for Trinidad average 15 hands 3 inches, with an age range of 3 to 6 years. Since 1933, both Trinidad and Barbados have obtained all their police horses from Canada.

Army Helps Solve The Tire Problem

The army came to the rescue. This time it was no beachhead won but a problem of every car-owner solved — how to make tires last longer.

In co-operation with the Rubber Industry, the Department of Munitions and Supply and the National Research Council, the army brought to a high degree of perfection the system of retreading tires. The worn tread is cut off evenly all around down to the fabric of the tire. Then the carcass, as the tire is called, is placed in a moulding machine. In it a new tread is "welded" on to the tire so that the two fuse together. Amazing results are now obtained even with tires that have been retreaded three times. This procedure is now available to motorists in the majority of the larger centres.

Nothing cooks your goose quicker than a boiling temper.

Premier's Holstein Cow Makes World Record

Premier J. Walter Jones of P.E.I. is the proud owner of a Holstein cow that has just broken the official World Record for butterfat production in the 305 day (10 months) class, over all breeds and regardless of age or number of times milked daily. She is Abegweit Milady, who starting as a junior four-year-old, gave 1,085 lbs. butterfat from 24,939 lbs milk, average test 4.35 per cent in 305 days, and calved 398 days after the start of her record-breaking lactation, to officially qualify for the 305 day division.

The former World Champion in the 305 day division was Canary Korndyke Alcartra, another Canadian Holstein who made her record of 1,080 lbs butterfat from 26,396 lbs. milk back in 1928 in the herd of B. H. Thomson, Moose Jaw, Sask.

A year ago "Milady" was in the limelight when she made a World Record for butterfat in the junior three-year-old class of the 305 day division, giving 816 lbs. butterfat from 19,743 lbs. milk.

Zebra Caterpillar Threatens Hoe-Crops

The insect known as the Zebra Caterpillar is again threatening certain hoed crops. In 1944, the Quebec Department of Agriculture issued warnings to all regarding this insect, which caused great havoc in that year.

Dr. Georges Gauthier, Chief of the Plant Protection Bureau, stresses the importance of destroying this caterpillar at the very outset of its appearance and gives the following instructions for so doing:

Zebra caterpillars feed on the leaves of cabbage, turnip and cauliflower. When numerous, they cause serious damage in a short time. It is black and yellow and sometimes attains two inches in length. On the back and sides it has two longitudinal yellow stripes. There are two generations each year. The first appears around the end of June and at the beginning of July; the second, which is always the most destructive, appears around the middle of August and the beginning of September.

This caterpillar may be destroyed by using one part Paris Green with two parts hydrated lime. Arsenate of lime or lead mixed with 5 or 6 parts of hydrated lime is also recommendable. One of these mixtures is sifted or dusted onto the plants in the morning or evening while they are still wet with dew.

Plants may also be sprayed with arsenate by using two pounds per 40 gallons of water. Add 2 to 3 pounds of laundry soap to this solution so that it will adhere to the waxy leaves of turnips, cabbages and beets.

Jap Balloon Over This Continent

Here is the only picture of a Japanese balloon in the air over North America. It carries a charge of explosive, without a pilot, and in this respect is similar to the Nazi robomb.

OBITUARY

Centreville Native Dies in the U.S.

Late Robert W. Veitch

Robert Wellington Veitch passed away recently at the community Hospital, Winthrop, Mass., after a brief illness.

Mr. Veitch, born April 9, 1875, in Centreville, Argenteuil County, moved to Maynard, Mass., in 1902, where he was employed by the American Woolen Co. for the past 43 years. He and his family have been residents of Winthrop since 1928.

He is survived by his widow, Eunice E., two daughters, Mrs. Elmer H. Grose, Mrs. Daniel J. Connell, and two grandchildren, Ann and Robert Connell, all of Winthrop, two brothers and one sister in California, and another sister in Milwaukee.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, July 10, at Winthrop, the Rev. Ralph M. Harper officiating. Interment was made in the Winthrop Cemetery.

Former Resident of County Dies in B.C.

The Late William Bigelow

Grenville — News has been received of the passing of William Bigelow, at his residence, Florence Lake, Victoria, B.C., on July 10.

Mr. Bigelow was born here in Quebec 82 years ago. He had spent several years in Stayner-ville, Pine Hill and St. Andrews East, before moving to Saskatchewan and then to Victoria. When in St. Andrews, he lived on the Martin Albright farm, the Bay Road, and was with Mrs. Bigelow highly esteemed and counted among the kindest of neighbors.

Members of the immediate family left to mourn his passing, are Mrs. Bigelow, Roy and Frank, Mrs. J. Whiteley (Myrtle), and Mrs. J Thomson (Blanche). To them the deepest sympathy is extended in their bereavement.

The news was received by Mrs. Walter Gauley, the former Doris Perks, who visited them at their homes in Victoria nine years ago. Mr. Bigelow's youngest son, Lorne, predeceased him last November.

TREAT 'EM ROUGH

It is a well established custom, and a good one, that ordinary people charged with criminal offences are held incommunicado to the press. Why should not Nazi criminals be locked up in solitary confinement until their trials? The impatience of our Russian Allies with our handling of these gentry is well founded.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR CAMP MACDONALD COMMUNITY SCHOOL

Scholarships to adult students will be awarded by Camp Macdonald, which holds its fifth annual session on Lake Memphramagog, August 26 to September 3. This announcement was issued by R. Alex Sim, director of the camp, which is now known as a School of Community Programs.

A special effort will be made to see that representatives of Argenteuil County are enabled to take advantage of this interesting course. Every year more students are attracted from outside of Quebec — Ontario, the Maritimes, the United States and Newfoundland. One student has registered this year from California. Nevertheless the management of the camp is desirous of maintaining a large group of leaders from the Quebec adult education movement.

With the coming of peace, people everywhere are anxious to find ways of increasing their knowledge of world affairs, and at the same time of building communities that will be attractive to young people as well as adults. There is an awakened interest today in community centres, radio listening groups, film circuits, libraries and recreation. To train leaders for these activities is the purpose of the School of Community Programs. Courses in Program Planning, Group Work, and Community Organization will be offered along with Skill Sessions in discussion leadership, procedure of meetings, recreation, community singing, dramatics, posters and display work, and public writing. The staff will include Dr. W. C. Hallenbeck, Dr. Lois Timmins, both of New York, Paul Simon, of Pittsburgh, H.R.C. Avison of Macdonald College and Morley Toombs of the National Film Board.

Those who are interested in applying for scholarship to the School of Community Programs are urged to consult their county representative on the Quebec Council of Farm Forums, or write R. Alex Sim at Macdonald College Post Office, Quebec.

Railways and War

TWENTY-SIX Pullman or hospital-car trains, which, if lined up, would extend a distance of nine miles, were required to move homeward more than 10,000 veterans who arrived in Halifax recently aboard the troopship Ile de France and the hospital ship Letitia.

This particular instance of coping with a huge transportation problem, well publicized with the relaxation of wartime news restrictions regarding troop movements, is a striking example of the tremendous wartime tasks executed by Canadian railways.

Working against time, congestion, drastically increased loads of freight and passengers without corresponding increases in equipment, Canadian railways moved construction materials, machinery, raw materials, munitions, troops, supplies to the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and to army camps and air training depots in the Dominion with increasing efficiency.

Highly intricate problems arose in transporting equipment. Among other things, the movement of landing barges required railway tracks to be depressed to permit loads to pass under bridges; giant boilers constituting loads too wide for clearance had to be loaded on two flat cars and routed over single track branch lines.

The greatest share of war railway work was carried by two major railways, the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific. Since these two companies make up the largest single industry in Canada, the largest employer of labor and the largest user of materials, their post-war plans are vitally important.

The end of the war in Europe involves virtually no easing of the burden carried by the great transportation systems. Huge food shipments must be transported to the Atlantic seaboard for Europe's starving millions to say nothing of machinery for industrial rehabilitation.

Throughout the war the railways have suffered by loss of personnel to the armed forces and their backlog of deferred maintenance grows daily. Some idea of the task ahead is shown by the fact that up to July 1944 the railways had accumulated more than $50,000,000 for deferred maintenance work, representing between 25,000 and 30,000 man-years of work, in addition to ordinary maintenance work.

Two Pressing Problems

DOWN-TO-EARTH problems of food and shelter have been occupying the Government at Ottawa — food for hungry people in Europe, and shelter for Canadians.

Prices Board statements indicated the stern application of the new meat rationing system effective in a few weeks, with 1½ pounds of actual meat allowed each week for the individual consumer. But with fish and poultry unrationed, and with adequate supplies of other foods in Canada, there is no danger of the average family falling below desirable nutritional standards.

In contrast to the food picture, made bright by the efforts of Canadian farmers, the housing situation is less cheerful. Anxious Canadian mayors conferred recently with Finance Minister Ilsley, pointing to their concern over accommodation, not only for men and women now in Canada, but for the tens of thousands of servicemen returning from overseas.

Mr. Ilsley said that the government would give high labor and materials priorities to facilitate the construction of homes. He said, too, that he had been in consultation with representatives of insurance companies in respect to the financing of low-cost housing units. There was the expectation that announcements from these and similar organizations would indicate sums available to provide for increased accommodation. Whether a building program, needed across the Dominion, can be carried forward far enough to relieve severe housing shortages in prospect next winter, is a question still to be answered.

IT WOULD BE no exaggeration to say that some of the rural centres in the country have literally taken a new lease on life as a result of co-operative projects developed from listening group discussions. Perhaps the most outstanding achievement is the establishment of a veterinary service, one of the first and also one of the most efficiently operated projects of its kind in the Dominion.

Vacation Land

CANADA'S attractions are being pointed up with the return of peace in Europe and pre-war figures regarding the tourist trade give some idea of its great potentialities for the future.

Reports published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show the estimated income derived from tourist trade to have steadily increased from $173,002,000 in 1924 to 294,771,000 in 1939. This increase was maintained, despite the economic depression of the 30s, until the onset of war reduced tourists to a mere trickle.

In 1939 it was estimated that tourists coming in from ocean ports spent $12,413,000 in this country. United States tourists coming by auto-000; by rail or boat, $72,751,000 and by airplane mobile were estimated to have spent $168,607,- and other means of travel, $21,000,000.

Once gasoline and tire restrictions are lifted it is anticipated that the influx of American visitors will dwarf all pre-war "invasions". Higher wartime wages and the surplus cash available when war bonds are cashed will probably be a major factor in this swelling of tourist trade. In some quarters it is believed there will be an increase in the number of Americans purchasing homes in Canadian vacation resorts.

Canada has always been a favorite spot for United States tourists, but there are many indications that the Dominion will lure British and European visitors with the development of fast air transportation.

British tourists are likely to pass up the war ravaged Continent in favor of the Dominion that gave the Mother Country so much aid during the war. Glowing reports from fellow Britons, who as war guests or servicemen experienced Canadian hospitality and enjoyed the climate and scenery, may well effect a change in the accustomed vacation plans of British families.

Giant air-liners spanning the Atlantic will make the Dominion only a few hours distant from Europe and the prospect of lowered passenger rates in the post-war competitive period could mean the addition of thousands to Canada's vacation guests.

"EDITING a newspaper is a nice thing. If we publish jokes, people say we are rattle-brained. If we don't, we are fossils. If we publish original matter, they say we don't give them enough selections. If we give them enough selections, they say we are too lazy to write. If we remain at the office, we ought to be out looking for news items. If we go out, then we are not attending to business."

Time for A Change

APROPOS public hopes for lower taxes, the Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Gazette writes :

"Just how much tax relief is to be afforded the people when Mr. Ilsley presents his budget in September or October cannot now be guessed. It is a good guess, though, that it won't be as substantial as many might hope, for Mr. Ilsley will be able to present to Parliament abundant reasons why Federal revenue must be kept at a high level for another year or two."

Mr. Ilsley, we fear, will be able to give reasons for higher Federal revenues (and taxes) for more than a year or two; will be able to give them so long as this country goes in for expensive social security policies, the while seemingly lost to the idea that expenditure anywhere can be cut.

At the risk of seeming terribly old-fashioned, we suggest that the time has come to cut down on much of our wartime expenditure, certainly to review a lot of it. Do we, today, really need all of those boards and bureaus and committees which we set up while we were at war with Germany, and all or most of which are costing a deal of money? Do we still require big public relations staffs for the Army, Air Force and Navy? Are all those officials one finds traveling here, there and everywhere at public expense still required to travel? Are we, in a word, seeing to it that a great deal of the money being put up in loans and high taxes isn't diverted from its proper channels?

For Education of Blind and Poor-Sighted Children

CORRESPONDENCE

Attention of our readers is directed to the following letter, which has been received for publication:

Montreal Association
for the Blind (Inc.)

7010 Sherbrooke St. W.
Montreal 28.
July 23, 1945.

Dear Sir:

If you know of any English-speaking child who is absenting himself or herself from school on account of impaired vision, will you please send the name and address to our Institution? It is very important that all blind and partially blind children should be educated, and the school of the Montreal Association for the Blind is well equipped for this purpose. The children are taught to read and write by means of the Braille system, and in addition to the subjects taught in the ordinary public schools, the pupils are trained to become self-supporting citizens.

Frequently by placing children with weak eyes in Sight-Saving classes such as are operated by our school, present vision is preserved for many more years than would be the case if the pupils stayed in regular classes with consequent eyestrain.

Extensive grounds are attached to the school building, with suitable apparatus for recreation. Only those parents who are in a position to do so are expected to contribute towards their child's maintenance.

Your co-operation in the work of locating the English-speaking blind and partially blind children will be very greatly appreciated.

Yours faithfully,

J. T. Heggie,
Principal.

The woman called to the stand was handsome but no longer young. The judge gallantly instructed: "Let the witness state her age, after which she may be sworn."

After giving the private a dressing down for being so late in returning with the supplies, the sergeant demanded: "Okay, let's hear how it happened, Miller."

"Well, I picked up a chaplain along the road," explained the woebegone rookie, "and from then on the mules couldn't understand a word I said."

MONEY ON THE LOOSE

Farmers of Canada are asked to produce 8½ million pounds of pork this year and as a demonstration of what is needed a 300-pound porker promenaded the main street in Elmira. On the loose, 300 pounds of pork is too valuable to lose track of very long. A district farmer soon claimed the animal and retrieved it from the local pound. — Elmira (Ont.) Signet

The Implications of Meat Rationing

● Canadians have never been noted as a people of limited horizons. We have seen the implications of events taking place outside our own country, and we know that when freedom is threatened beyond our own borders it can threaten Canada, too. That is the reason that we jumped into this war with such wholehearted zeal, and that is the reason we are going to see it through until the last shot has been fired in Japan.

And that is why we are going to meet the meat rationing situation in a spirit of co-operation. It has been brought home to us, and very forcibly, too, that the people in Europe are desperately in need of all the meat we can spare.

• • •

The Lowly Spud

● And, while on the subject of rationing, it's funny, isn't it, how we can take the ordinary things of life in such a casual fashion. And then, when one of these ordinary things of life is removed, they become pretty important.

At the moment I'm thinking of the lowly spud. I thought that I could take it, or leave it. But the potato shortage has developed, and I find that I prize potatoes highly.

I went home the other night, and without thinking of it, suggested to my wife that she make a dish of potato soup.

She glared at me as if I'd suggested truffles in cream, with a side dish of lark's tongues. "Do you realize," she said, "that that would take six large potatoes. We haven't even six small potatoes."

PS.: I settled for a dish of macaroni and cheese. And very good it was too.

• • •

Standards of Furniture

● It's always interesting to find out what our sister members of the Commonwealth are doing to meet everyday problems. I noticed the other day that the New Zealand Standards Institute recently issued a standard specification for household furniture.

Now this doesn't mean that furniture manufacturers in New Zealand will have to turn out furniture in a monotonous array that will discourage citizens who want to have individuality in the furnishing of their homes. It simply means that the specification sets minimum standards for the class and grade of timber used, for upholstery and other materials, for basic construction such as timber dimensions and methods of jointing, and for workmanship and finish.

"These are the points which the customer cannot check by ordinary inspection, and on which he will be reassured when he buys furniture bearing the Standard Mark", says the New Zealand Consumer News.

• • •

They Shall Have Music

● The end of the war doesn't mean that the demand by troops for entertainment has diminished. As a matter of fact, it has increased. And that is why eight civilian army show units are now overseas entertaining the Canadian troops in England and also the army of occupation.

The talented entertainers come from Toronto, Montreal and Halifax. Each unit has a mixed cast of about 20.

While overseas, the entertainers are provided with army clothing. The men wear battle dress and the women CWAC uniforms, but without the brown shoulder straps.

Advancement in Plastic Surgery

London — A plastic surgeon of the R.A.F. has developed a method by which skin can be stored and used later to repair wounds. Outstanding advantage of the new method is that it reduces the number of operations and the pain, both physical and mental, undergone by patients from major facial and body injuries.

Hitherto the time factor involved in skin grafting on to a number of areas necessitated a series of operations. Under the skin storage method, however, the only operation necessary is the short one needed to cut the skin. Later the skin can be applied at the bedside without using an anaesthetic, since it is "glued" instead of being stitched, reports the medical journal, "Lancet".

Pointing out that the "donor" area — the place from which good skin is cut — often causes more pain afterwards than the actual field of operation, it is stated the storage method will cut down the number of donor areas needed. It will also provide spare skin in case the graft partially fails to "take". The skin is preserved in sterile airtight bottles placed in a refrigerator.

Rate of Exchange

How long the powers that be can manage to hold the United States dollar at a premium of 10% is hard to say, but the strain must be getting heavy.

Actually in terms of value the United States dollar is now a long way below the Canadian one as anyone who has had occasion to visit the United States recently can testify.

Meat is not the only thing that Americans are flocking to Canada to buy, for practically everything is much cheaper up here, and they get a premium of ten per cent on their money as well.

An actual example might be quoted. One article was purchased in Granby this week for forty-nine cents which is being sold in Vermont for $1.98. The better price control in Canada is largely responsible for this condition, although one storekeeper in Vermont explained it by saying that the people there are willing to pay any price for anything offered.

There seems to be little sense in retaining the rate of exchange at a figure which actually only acts as a further inducement to Americans to come up and buy articles badly needed here.

— Granby Leader-Mail

Today it's the storekeeper — tomorrow the customer, who'll be the big toad in the business puddle. Merchants who believe in wide-awake advertising already have a flying start in post-war competition. It's a good investment for the future. . . Advertise in The Watchman.

A suburban drugstore had been advertising its patent insect powder far and wide. One day a man dashed into the shop and said, excitedly: "Give me another half a pound of your powder, quick, please."

"Oh," remarked the proprietor as he proceeded to execute the order, "I'm glad you like the powder. Good, isn't it?"

"Yes," replied the customer, "I have one cockroach very ill and I think if I give him another half a pound he'll die."

MEN FOR HOME BUILDING MUST BE SECURED

Home building is highly essential to overcome pressing housing shortages, and to provide dwellings for the Forces as discharged.

Shortages of workers for building homes and for producing the building materials are threatening to impede Canada's program for the construction of 50,000 homes as soon as possible.

All men experienced in home building or in producing building materials, who are not now working in either of these industries, are urged to apply to the nearest office of the National Employment Service immediately.

Men experienced at home building or producing supplies, if now in other essential work, will be given permits to work at jobs which will assist the house building program.

All men, not now at house building nor producing supplies, who can fill a job in this program, are urged to answer this call.

Apply at once at the nearest office of the National Employment Service.

Rationing helps the FARMER

HERE'S HOW!

- Rationing assures everyone a fair share of scarce foods. Without rationing, farmers might get all the butter they need; they might not get sugar. City dwellers might get sugar but no butter.
- Rationing helps to keep prices steady.
- Rationing has assured farmers sufficient ammunition to protect their crops and livestock.
- Rationing makes it possible for farmers to get coupons to feed harvesters and other transient farm workers.

The FARMER helps Rationing

HERE'S HOW!

- By collecting and turning in the coupons acquired against the use and sale of butter and the sale of honey and rationed maple products.
- By writing to the Local Ration Boards for application form RB 77 as SOON as they know definitely that transient labour rations will be needed to feed extra help hired for periods of less than two weeks.

Rationing is not intended to add unnecessarily to the burden of Canadian farmers who, faced with shortages of labour, materials and machinery, have continued to respond to repeated calls for greater production.

It is a protection against waste . . . shortages . . . inflation.

Changing the Bait

(London Daily Mail)

Girls in Brisbane, Australia, have abandoned glamor for homeliness since British naval men replaced Americans there. They have lengthened their skirts and taken the dazzle from their make-up.

Miss Betty Gleeson, one of them, was asked why girls were looking so homely these days. She said:

"Girls realise that the British haven't so much money as the Americans, and they have modified their dress and make-up so that the British Navy men won't be scared to ask them out.

"The girls want to give the British their company. The British's one fault is that he is not as quick to ask a girl out as the Americans were."

A Brisbane hairdresser said that fewer blondes were now seen. This she believed is in deference to the British sailors' preference for homely quiet brunettes.

A Chinese visitor says, "Funny people, you Canadians. You take a glass. You put in sugar to make it sweet. You put in lemon to make is sour. You put in gin to warm it up. You put in ice to make it cold. You say 'Here's to you,' then you drink it yourself."

Grenville North

Mrs. Douglas Johnstone and the Misses Beverly and Irma, of Montreal, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. James Stewart. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, of Bronte, Ont., were also visitors at the Stewart home en route to Montreal.

Former Resident Dies

Mr. Jack Cooke, of Netherhill, Sask., was a recent visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hoare. Mr. Cooke was unexpectedly called to Athelstan, owing to the death of his brother, Mr. Corl Cooke. Corl was well known in this part of the country, having been born here over 70 years ago, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cooke, Scotch Road. He leaves his wife, the former Ruby Poole, of Athelstan, and two sons, Shirley, at home, and Sgt. Clive Cooke, of the R.C.A.F., and his only brother, Mr. Jack Cooke. To them we extend our deepest sympathy.

Bisected Stamps Used in Guernsey

St. Peter Port, Guernsey (CP)—Because of a shortage of postage stamps in Guernsey shortly after the German occupation of the Channel Islands in mid-year of 1940, the Germans ordered that two-penny stamps be cut in half and each half used separately. These halves, franked in the island, are now being sold for £2 ($9) each.

Earlier issues bring higher prices. For instance the rare King George V 1912-1924 issue is listed in one dealer's catalogue as a value of $24.75 for each "bisect."

Raspberries —Good Crop

Raspberries—those pebbly mouth-watering fruits! There is a happy prospect for a good crop this year. Fortunately they are not on the food allergy lists, glad news for all people who would like, but are unable to eat strawberries.

Eating raspberries fresh is recommended by the nutritionists of the Department of National Health and Welfare, because they are a good source of the perishable vitamin A which luckily is not lost in canning.

Vitamins are the spark that fires the engine. Without this spark all the food in the world will not make the human machine run. In the summer it is simple to get enough vitamins by eating the fresh seasonal fruits and vegetables.

KNOW QUEBEC BETTER...

Montmorency Falls, Scenic Highlight of Old Quebec. Canadian National Railways Photograph

Do you know Quebec? For example, do you know that it would be impossible to surpass the splendid and varied beauty of landscape of the Laurentians the St. Lawrence Valley, the Gaspe, the Saguenay, the Gatineau, the St. Maurice Valley, Abitibi and Temiscamingue. Lofty mountains, lush lowlands, deep forests, sparkling lakes and laughing rivers . . . these are natural color highlights that stand out from the quieter-toned background of history-steeped sites and ancient buildings haunted by the romantic spirits of Cartier, Champlain, Frontenac, Talon, de Laval, Montcalm. And to frame this lovely picture, there still remain the Old World grace and hospitality, the unspoiled way of life so typical of Quebec.

And in sharp contrast is the functional beauty of Quebec's great cities with towering skyscrapers, huge stores and every modern attraction; complete, comfortable transportation facilities by road, rail, air and water; tremendous industrial expansion, scientific development of natural resources, notable progress in the arts, education and living conditions. This is the new Quebec—the Quebec of today, wrested from the virgin wilderness, cultivated, over a period of more than three centuries by the dogged determination of a race of pioneers and bequeathed by them to their descendants whom environment and upbringing have qualified for the task of carrying on a great tradition.

To know Quebec, then, is to realize how capably her people have borne their trust. To Quebec's long, proud history they have added new pages . . . heroic records of men in the armed forces . . . mighty contributions to the war effort . . . profound consideration of post-war problems. Thus Quebec, through blood, sweat, and tears bound closer to her sister provinces, calmly faces the future ready for the matchless opportunity that lies ahead for Canada.

QUEBEC PRODUCES FOR WAR

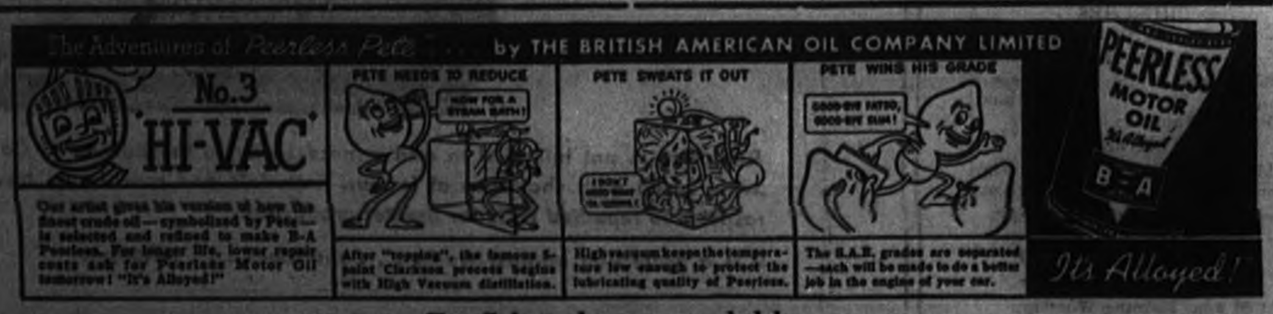

To Quebec's already glorious history has been added her wonderful contribution to Canada's war effort. Pulp, paper, native ores and manufactured metals, clothing, chemicals, textiles, ships, foods, petroleum, electrical supplies, to mention only a few products of her mines, mills and factories: $2,703,357,600.00 subscribed by her people in eight Victory Loans: thousands of men in the navy, army and air force who have distinguished themselves on global battlefronts. Thus have her sons and daughters recorded Quebec's part on Canada's wartime honor roll.

BE PROUD OF YOUR QUEBEC—IT IS PART OF YOUR CANADA

This message is one of a series being published so that you may know and appreciate the greatness of Quebec and its important role in Canada's wonderful destiny.

Another Policy-holder Reports...

"MY HUSBAND owns three policies in The Mutual Life of Canada, which he has taken out at various times for my protection and our retirement. Two are Ordinary Life and one is Family Income.

"If anything happens to him and I am left alone to bring up the children, I shall have an income from the insurance, and some cash to pay the bills and a reserve for emergencies. And if he lives to retirement age the cash values will give us an income.

"But I also have a policy on my own life, because I want him to be able to provide proper care for the children if anything happens to me. Our Mutual Life representative pointed out that Canadian government figures prove that in one case out of every three the wife dies before the husband.

"We chose The Mutual Life in which to insure because of the good reputation of the Company for fair dealing and low cost insurance."

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Hints for Homebodies

By Jessie Allen Brown

AT LAST I SEE A DEER

In the six years we have lived in the country I have never seen a deer. They have often been around and sometimes were within a few yards of the house, but trees cut off the view. My neighbor would phone me that deer were in the backyard but to see them I had to open the door and the noise would scare them and they would be out of sight. This morning I was at my neighbor's and we were standing chatting in her kitchen when we looked out the window and there was a young deer quite close to the house. It would eat a little, play around, eat some more, and gradually but slowly made its way to the woods up the hill. It was so graceful to watch and really quite a thrilling sight.

TWO WASHES

There is always more washing to do during the summer months. When buying clothing for big and little, ease of laundering should be considered. Seersucker things are a great help as they are so easy to do. I find it a great help to wash twice a week. Towards the end of the week, usually Thursday, I change the beds and do the sheets, the bath towels, the sport shirts which require little or no ironing. Then that leaves for the Monday wash just the things which require ironing. With a smaller wash it is a help if you can do most of the ironing that same day, as many things are much easier ironed as they come off the clothes-line. Shirts, linens, and dresses need to be well dampened and left for a while. The bath towels alone make quite a wash in our house as they do in any home where the family does much swimming. The river is right in front of our house and that means there are plenty of towels extra for guests. Two washes a week are a help for me, that I know.

HARD COOKED EGGS

Hard cooked eggs and summer seem to go together as it is a time for sandwiches and salads and they are useful and appetising in both. Eggs should never be cooked at high temperature as it toughens them. Here is the best way to hard cook eggs and to have them tender. Bring water to the boil and put in the eggs, bring the water again to the boil, cover the saucepan and turn off the heat. Let the eggs stand for forty minutes and they will be cooked just right at the end of that time. Cover them with cold water when cooked and they will peel readily.

A BARGAIN IN FOOD

Milk is said to be a bargain in foods because you get more food for your money in milk than in other foods. It is estimated that a good milk cow returns in the form of milk 20% of the energy of the food it eats, whereas a steer will return 6% of the energy of the food consumed, in meat. Milk is the most digestible of all foods because of the ease of its digestion and because it is more completely digested. The use of dried skim milk for cooking is one good way of cutting down the cost. A pint of milk for an adult and a quart for each child a day is the amount recommended. That does not mean that all the milk must be drunk, as much of it can be included in cooking different foods. Most people want less meat in summer so it is wise to use plenty of milk to provide protein. Milk is rich in vitamins and minerals. Check up on the amount of milk you are using and if it is not enough devise ways to increase it. Milk is even more easily digested in adults if something to eat is taken with it, such as as a graham cracker.

FOOD AND DRINK

Sometimes when appetites are lagging, or when there is a necessity for extra calories, or even just to make a variety in summer good choice. Here are a few recipes.

½ Glass orange juice, ½ glass rich milk, 1 egg, 2 teaspoons of honey or sugar. Mix the ingredients and shake well.

EGG MILK PUNCH

1 Quart milk, 4 eggs, 2 tablespoons sugar or honey, 1 teaspoon vanilla, dash of nutmeg.

Beat the egg yolks, add the sugar, milk, and vanilla. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold into the milk mixture. Sprinkle lightly with nutmeg.

"Wrins" from India

Three officers of the Women's Royal Indian Naval Service recently visited England to study the training and administration of the Women's Royal Naval Service. The three, photographed above, were — Second-officer Cunningham, New Delhi; Chief Officer Cooper and Second Officer Sen, Calcutta, whose husband is a colonel in the Indian Army.

"Kitchens Need Overhauling"

"Canadian Homes" Survey

The kitchen is the centre of family activity in Canadian homes, although 95% of them have living rooms. Canadian families not only cook in the kitchen but most of them eat there and many wash, launder and take baths in the kitchen. Some of them even sleep there!

"If the Canadian housewife is to have her work load eased, kitchens need overhauling", said C. A. Massey, president of Lever Brothers Limited, in connection with a housing survey conducted by his firm. "Industry has arranged its layout to save needless work. If the same technique were applied to the kitchen — the workshop of the home — many extra steps and much carrying and lifting could be eliminated."

Researchers visited several thousand homes throughout Canada and interviewed housewives in one of the most intensive studies of household working conditions ever undertaken.

The difficulties of doing housework, hampered at every turn by lack of proper equipment, especially in farm homes, are pictured vividly in the following findings.

About one farmhouse in every six (18%) has no sink. The shortage is half that total in small towns and villages. And one-tenth of farm sinks are in some room other than the kitchen. Almost one-third of them have no drains, while 38% of them have no taps. That means water has to be lifted into the sink by bucket or teakettle and dirty water ladled or siphoned out. The village drain shortage is 16% while 15% lack taps. Three per cent of the farm sinks are too high for the women who use them, while 17% of farm women say their sinks are too low and would like them raised to ease back fatigue. In village and small town homes there are even more "too low" sinks.

Only 10% of farm women have electric refrigerators and in villages and small towns the total is only 19%. Yet electric power is available in 94% of the villages and on 51% of the farms in the survey. National average of rural electrification is only 20.2% when all farms, including the bigger ones and those remotely located, are counted. Almost one farm in four, and two-fifths of village homes, have ice boxes. On farms the cold storage field is led by box-shelves in basements, on window-ledges or in porches or sheds. Forty-eight per cent of farm women depend on these home-made devices for food storage. So do 20% of villagers and 10% of people in cities and larger towns. These are summer figures.

One tenth of farm women want running water more than any other kitchen improvement. A pump would meet this problem for many of them. One in 50 wants her kitchen modernized and another one in 50 asks that the stove, sink and other working units be rearranged to cut down work.

Six per cent call for sinks in kitchens and four per cent want modern sinks.

Five per cent on farms ask for water heaters as their number one kitchen improvement. Numbers are smaller in urban centres, already better supplied.

Pantries are the immediate postwar preference of 3% of farm wives, one in 5 village women and one in 25 in bigger places.

Two farm women in 50 are weary of trying to keep kitchen floors clean that are worn, heaving, cracked and past their prime. They want new floors. So does a like percent of women in city, town and village.

Re-decorating is number one on the list of 3% of farm women, 4% of those in villages and 5% in bigger centres.

One farm woman in 25 wants electric refrigeration more than any other kitchen improvement. In cities, towns and villages nearly one kitchen in 14 has a corner reserved for postwar electric refrigerators.

There is a high demand for bigger kitchens in all areas. One reason is that so many meals are eaten there.

Farewell to Juliana

Ottawa—It was with a touch of sentimentality that the capital said good-bye to Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, the cheerful democratic daughter of the House of Orange who came to Canada after her native land was occupied by the Germans in 1940.

Her two eldest daughters went to Ottawa schools from their suburban home and spoke English more than Dutch. Her third daughter, now two, was born in Ottawa. On the day when she was born the flag of the Netherlands flew on Parliament Hill instead of the Union Jack, a courtesy that Princess Juliana said she would not forget.

Madame Hamel, née Bird Lacoste, has just resigned her position as coordinator of Consumers Branch of W.P.T.B. for the Province of Quebec. She is a widow and mother of six children, one of whom was killed overseas while serving with the R.C.A.F.

Madame Hamel is one of the Lacoste family, among the oldest pioneer families of Montreal, and granddaughter of Sir Alexandre Lacoste, former Chief Justice of the Province of Quebec and Speaker of the Senate.

The new Director has had vast experience in health and welfare organizations.

Q.W.I. Urge Equal Pay for Equal Work

At the recent annual convention of the Quebec Women's Institutes a resolution was passed urging the Dominion and Provincial Governments to take steps to enforce the payment of equal wages to men and women for work requiring equal skill and effort.

Their recommendation was based on the grounds that if this principle were not enforced it would seriously affect our whole wage scale and place women in an unfair economic position. At the same time it would overlook one of our great democratic principles — Equal Pay for Equal Work.

Versatile

Lou Snider, since his discharge from the R.C.A.F., has made up for time away from CBC studios by turning in his most versatile performances. He arranges and directs "Contrasts in Rhythm," Sundays at 8.30 p.m. for CBC listeners, and gives Saturday night audiences a fast and tuneful half hour at 8.00 p.m. with "Pop Session." Next week Lou adds comedy drama to his bill-of-fare, with a keyboard performance in "Hometown," Monday, July 30, at 19.30 p.m.
