Chicoutimi Contract Move for Inquiry Defeated in House

OPPOSITION CHARGED WITH 'OBSTRUCTION' IN QUEBEC ROADS BUDGET DEBATE

THE WEEK AT QUEBEC
By WILLIAM STEWART

Quebec, March 30 (CP) — Already beyond the Easter deadline fixed for prorogation when the session started January 14, the Quebec Legislature, locked in debate on the budget estimates may continue its sittings for another two weeks.

Last week the Legislative Assembly sat every day but Good Friday to get through debate on the budget items for various government departments. But when the House rose for the week-end Saturday evening, discussion still revolved around a $12,590,000 amount for road maintenance.

The Assembly spent three days talking about roads contracts, road repairs and winter road maintenance.

Thursday, after a series of Opposition questions about government contracts for a road between Quebec and Chicoutimi started in 1945, Liberal members presented a motion calling for a Royal Commission investigation into the project. The motion was defeated on a vote and Premier Duplessis then invoked Assembly rules to close debate about the road.

Rules to limit speeches on individual budget items to an hour were also applied. Four Liberal members will not be able to speak about the Roads Department budget until discussion shifts to a new item in the department estimates.

During the week there were frequent charges by Premier Duplessis that Liberal members were purposely carrying out "obstruction" and delaying prorogation.

Led by Adelard Godbout, Liberals replied they wanted to question the government about expenditures, and indicated they intended to continue the estimates discussions.

The Legislative Assembly was adjourned for the week-end and resumed its sittings Easter Monday morning.

Colorful Story Of Wolf Hunt

The rotogravure section of the Montreal Standard, current issue, has a colorful photo-story of a wolf hunting expedition to Lac La Carpe, 82 miles by plane from St. Jovite. Star guests in the party were three feminine celebrities of stage and sport, from across the border. Others with Glay Sperling, news photographer, included figures more familiar around the northern limits of this county — Game Warden Gordon Cooke and Alfred Morrison, of Arundel, and Stuart Forbell, of St. Jovite, being prominent in the pictures.

Special Music for Easter Devotions At Brownsburg

Brownsburg — Good Friday service at Brownsburg United Church was a fitting preparatory to the Easter gatherings, which were exceptionally well atended. The Rev. G. A. Norman, of Ste. Therese, was guest preacher on Good Friday and delivered a stirring message on "The Way of the Cross" by which we may continue and complete the Master's sacrifice. A full choir was present and rendered appropriate music.

The Easter services conducted by the minister, the Rev. S. J. Pike, were again characterized with special music by an augmented choir, which had been under direction of Mr. Warner Norman, of St. James United Church, Montreal, for some time. The anthems, "The Joyous Easter Song" and "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Him", together with the specially arranged selections, "The Strife is O'er" and "This Joyful Eastertide", were sung with an impressive accompaniment — as was the "Passion Chorale" in "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded" on Good Friday morning. The accompaniments were combined piano and organ music executed by Mr. Earl Morrison and Mrs. C. J. Wheeler, organist, in the morning, and Mr. Sam Rose at the piano for the evening devotions. Mr. Pike took occasion to thank those who had assisted the regular choir in the special music at these services.

The communion and reception service will be held next Sunday at 11 a.m. This arrangement of services is a slight departure from other years, in order that the significance of the Easter message in music and story, as well as the Communion, might both receive adequate emphasis.

F. E. Earle Heads Curling Club

COMMITTEES NAMED AND PRIZES AWARDED

There was a large turn-out for the turkey supper and annual business meeting of the Lachute Curling Club last evening — this marking the closing of a very successful season.

First order of business was a vote of thanks to the refreshments committee, who, under supervision of L. Cruise, have catered most willingly and satisfactorily during the past season.

President Fernand Legault was in the chair, and after the reading of the financial statement and other reports, the matter of a new design for the Club badge was briefly discussed and adopted.

Prizes were presented as follows:

President F. Legault's Prize — F. A. Brennian (skip), J. A. MacKimmie, H. McFaul, L. Bedard.

Vice-President F. E. Earle's Prize — H. Morrison (skip), J. McOuat, A. Rochon, T. McMahon.

Match Committee Prize — G. Muir (skip), A. Scott, H. Scott, D. D. Mitchell.

Stackhouse Cup — J. Falconer (skip), D. McGibbon, L. Armstrong, J. McMahon.

Dunany Cup — Geo. Brennian (skip), J. McGibbon, L. Armstrong, W. G. Watson.

Officers Elected

Nominations were then called for the various offices, with the following results:

President, F. E. Earle; vice-president, R. Todd; treasurer, J. R. Charron; secretary, H. McFaul.

Board, Geo. Muir, H. Scott, C. E. Richardson, John MacKimmie.

Auditors, F. A. Brennian, G. Valois.

Representatives to Centre, J. R. Charron, Geo. Muir.

Refreshments Committee, Lawrence Cruise, chairman.

Reception Committee, C. E. Richardson, D. Mitchell, J. R. Charron, Jos. Belanger, J. W. Gall.

Mr. Legault, before handing over the presidency, thanked the members for their co-operation during his term of office, which had been a very pleasant one.

Mr. Earle then took over the chairmanship, and in briefly outlining the work of rebuilding, which is to take place with the installation of two sheets of artificial ice, asked that the members lend their assistance and feel free to offer suggestions for the welfare of the Club.

Both Mr. Earle and Mr. Todd expressed their thanks for the confidence placed in them in their election to office, after which the meeting was adjourned.

Trouble teaches us two things: Who our friends really are, and who have been waiting to catch us bent at the right angle.

Dedication of New Anglican Church Next Thursday

Next Thursday, April 8, will be an occasion of special interest to members and friends of St. Simeon's Church, Lachute. On that evening, the new church will be dedicated by the Right Rev. J. Dixon, M.A., D.D., LL.D., D.C.L., Bishop of Montreal. The preacher will be the Venerable A. P. Gower-Rees, M.A., D.C.L., M.C., rector of St. George's Church, Montreal, and Archdeacon of Clarendon.

The new building replaces the first St. Simeon's Church which was built in Lachute 66 years ago. Since that time the Anglican population has grown slowly but steadily, and today numbers just over 400 persons.

The new church is a decided improvement on the old, in many ways. It is somewhat larger, with ample space for choir, sanctuary and vestry room. There is a full-size basement with stage, kitchen and a modern heating unit. This basement, although not finished, is at present usable.

The church proper is finished in a cool grey, which, with proper lighting, gives a pleasing tone to the interior. Most of the furnishings are from the old church, although several new articles have been donated. The seating capacity is approximately 160. . Any visitors who wish to see the church are most welcome to the regular services.

The rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang, and the congregation of St. Simeon's deeply appreciate the help of many kind friends who have aided in the building of this church. Although not elaborate, it is confidently felt this new edifice will help to improve the moral and material aspect of the town.

Oka Singer Bids For Metropolitan

Montreal — Denis Harbour, part-Iroquois Indian bass baritone from Oka, switched from the bars of justice to bars of music. Holder of an LL.B. degree from the University of Montreal, he abandoned the law in favor of a career in music, and made his bid for a Metropolitan Opera contract on Easter Sunday, on the ABC Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air.

Mr. Harbour, who first sang as a boy soprano in an Oka church, made his operatic debut while attending college, and had his own radio program, called Romance, in Montreal for four years.

Rally at Arundel Ends Season for Farm Forums

Arundel—The last Farm Forum Rally of the season was held Monday evening last in the church hall. Owing to poor condition of the roads, there was not as large a gathering as usual. About 45 members were present.

After listening to the broadcast, Stuart Cooke called the meeting to order. A report on the campaign against the Warble Fly revealed that farmers were availing themselves of the insecticide powder and each was doing his bit to fight this pest. Mr. Cooke has charge of distributing the powder, and he stated that, while it was not plentiful, he would be able to get more, so those needing same are to get in touch with him. Mrs. R. B. Henry reported interesting items contained in "The Green Leaf". A motion of sympathy was passed and a letter of condolence was to be sent to Mr. H. Ronalds in the passing of his wife.

The dusty condition of the roads in summertime was then discussed, and it was left with Council of the Forum to take the matter up with the proper authorities to procure calcium chloride this spring, as the crops suffer from the dust in the dry weather, to say nothing of the condition of the homes when the windows are left open.

Mr. Melvin Graham showed two pictures on the Banff Jasper Highway and Dutch Traditions, which were thoroughly enjoyed. Refreshments and the national anthem brought the meeting to a close.

Steps to Organize Rover Crew, Senior Branch of Scouts

On Tuesday evening several young men met to discuss the organization of a Rover Scout Crew, a senior branch of the Boy Scouts, in Lachute. A short outline of plans and objectives for the future was presented by Quentin James, who is expected to assume leadership of the crew at the next meeting.

At present, plans are to solicit former Boy Scouts and other young men between the ages of 17 and 21 years who have a feeling that Rover Scouting will benefit them.

All recruits and interested parties are asked to contact Mr. James before the next meeting, slated for 8.15 p.m., Tuesday, April 6, at 246 Main Street.

The following aims and ideals of Rover Scouting were brought out in the discussion, and should be of interest to those anticipating affiliation with this group:

Aims of Rover Training

The term Rover Scout stands for a true man and a good citizen. The "law" for Rovers is the same as for Scouts, in both wording and principle, but has to be viewed from a new standpoint, that is, from that of a man. In both cases the principle underlying the Scout Law "knocks out Self and shoves in Good-Will and Helpfulness to others".

Rovers are a brotherhood of the Open Air and Service. They are hikers on the open road and campers of the woods, able to shift for themselves, but equally able and ready to be of some service to others.

The four chief aims of the Scout training in Woodcraft are to develop these points — Character and Intelligence; Handcraft and Skill; Health and Strength; Service for Others and Citizenship.

Rules

The Rover section of the Scout brotherhood is a cheery and happy one, but it has now grown so big as to require rules for its organization and conduct. These rules are "rules" — not regulations. That is to say, they are like the rules of the playing field, only necessary to make it a fair game for everybody.

The object of the Rover training is to enable young men to develop themselves as happy, healthy and useful citizens, and to give each his chance of making a useful career for himself. This is accomplished by outdoor life plus public service — for example, in auxiliary service corps and civilian protection committees. The motto of the Boy Scouts, "Be prepared", is brought out in this specialized training.

ALPINE CLUB INVITES BOY SCOUTS

Older Boy Scouts from British Columbia and Alberta have been invited to take part in the climbing camp of the Alpine Club of Canada next July at Peyto Lake, about 25 miles north of Lake Louise. Scouts from 16 to 18 years old will be selected for the two-week camp.

Marking the first time Boy Scouts will be mountain climbing under the direction of the Alpine Club, the venture will be one of a series of exploration trips now being planned for older Canadian Scouts this summer.

This invitation is also being extended to Saskatchewan Scouts.

Demonstrator Hints Adaptability of 'Microwaves' in Voice Transmission

Lions Club Hears Illuminating Topic; "Talk Tracks That Turn", Title of Address

Radio waves little more than an inch in length, which made our wartime radar possible, are today revolutionizing some of the methods used in radio and telephone transmission, Paul Robert, representative of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, told the Lachute Lions Club at a lecture-demonstration, held in the Household Science room of the Lachute High School on Tuesday evening.

The speaker was introduced by Lion Ian Gordon. . . Mr. Robert, Customer Relations Representative of the Company, is a graduate of the Laval University of Quebec, where he obtained his Master of Law, and is a member of the Bar Association of the Province of Quebec. Having been with the Bell Telephone Company since 1927, he has had a wide experience in the telephone business and ample opportunity to study development in the telephone field. He proved himself well qualified to talk on the subject of the evening.

With the aid of a complete transmitting and receiving apparatus set up in the auditorium, Mr. Robert showed the audience some of the remarkable properties of these "microwaves", which are approximately 1/12000th the length of waves used on normal radio stations.

Holding an aluminum plate in the path of the waves, the speaker showed how music that was being transmitted was stopped, while a plywood board had no effect on the passage of the radio waves.

This property of the waves is important both in radar and in communications, Mr. Robert said, because the waves can be "channelled" and sent from point to point in one specific direction. The waves can also be twisted and focused like light waves, hence the title of this lecture, "Talk Tracks That Turn".

The speaker then held a plate at an angle to the waves coming from the transmitter, and showed how the beam could be turned towards the receiver when it was out of direct line. Using a long flexible "Wave Guide", which was simply a metal tube, he showed how the waves can be twisted in any direction.

A further characteristic of the microwaves which the audience were able to see by visual demonstration, is that they are "polarized". If the receiver is turned on its side, it will not pick up the waves, and the music ceases. If a metal prism is held in the beam, however, the waves can be turned on their sides in mid-air, causing the music to become audible once more.

In telephony, these microwaves are used for transmitting many conversations simultaneously from point to point, without the aid of wires.

The transmitters and receivers are placed on hilltops and towers, as the range of microwaves will travel only as far as the visible horizon.

It is not known yet to what extent microwave transmission will be used in telephony, but engineers are experimenting with it all the time. Where wires prove useful, they will be used, and where microwave transmission is more useful, it will be installed.

One thing is certain, however, Mr. Robert concluded: telephone engineers will continue to develop these new discoveries for peace time use, just as they were developed for war time radar, so that telephone users all over the world will have the benefit of the best technical equipment that can be devised.

Harrington Branch Fish-Game Assoc'n Meets at Kilmar

A meeting of Harrington Branch of the Argenteuil Fish and Game Protective Association was held in the communitty hall at Kilmar last Thursday evening. The chairman, R. Todd, outlined the activities of the branch during the past year and announced that a meeting would be held in the near future to elect officers for the present year.

Moving pictures on wildlife were presented including "Rocky Mountain Trout" and "Thrill River", the latter showing game in Central Africa.

The door prize, which consisted of a fishing rod and reel, was won by one of the junior sportsmen, Gaetan Charbonneau.

Hawkesbury Has Fire Dept. Problem

Hawkesbury — At town council meeting in Hawkesbury, problems confronting the fire brigade were aired before members of the council.

Ald. Alex Lacelle, chairman of the committee, said it was getting increasingly difficult to keep good firefighters, due to the fact that most of the men were employees of the local mill of the C-I-P Co., and while full cooperation is given by the manager of the mill in allowing the men to leave their work to answer an alarm, if the blaze is of large proportions these men are replaced at their work, with the firemen getting less pay than if they were at their work. Mr. Lacelle also stated that he felt the need of more firefighting apparatus and provision in the budget has been made for another fire truck fully equipped. Provisions were also made for the purchase of a police car. The need is great, stated the Chief of Police, J. Honore Giroux. These purchases will necessitate the construction of a municipal garage much larger than the town has at present. Henry Timbers had officially been acting fire chief since the death of the late fire chief Albert Cayen, who lost his life in the Omer Laurin store blaze some weeks ago.

Another Hotel Fire In Laurentians

Total destruction last Saturday morning of the $275,000 Maple Leaf Hotel at Shawbridge, which forced the evacuation of close to 100 Easter holiday guests and employees, raised to five the number of major fires in Laurentian resorts this winter and placed damage estimates at $2,000,000.

Although no one was reported injured, over 60 guests narrowly escaped being trapped as flames spread rapidly through the three-storey wooden structure and employees raced through the building giving the alarm. Majority of the guests were forced to flee clad only in night attire and lost all their personal belongings.

Situated on the old Laurentian highway, the 50-room Maple Leaf Hotel was destroyed within two hours.

Fire officials claimed the past season to be the worst for major fires. The Pinehurst Inn at Val Morin was the first resort in the Laurentians to be destroyed. A short time later, the Roney Terrace at Ste. Marguerite, a $600,000 property, was razed soon after it was renovated. Flames raged unchecked through Val Morin Lodge leaving the building in ruins and, two weeks ago, the Hotel Lapointe at St. Jerome was gutted by fire. . The Maple Leaf Hotel fire was the fifth conflagration this season.

On Parliament Hill

— By M. V. Trayers —

Communism Flayed by Traditional Parties

St. Patrick's Day, 1948, will long be remembered as the day that many of the world's leaders stood before the bar of world opinion and delivered a concerted attack on Communism and all its works and pomps.

Why this day was selected, only history can reveal. The fire that St. Patrick lighted on the Hill of Slane still blazes brightly and strongly, and amidst the welter and chaos of all the bright hopes which we cherished just a short time ago, stands as a beacon on the ramparts against the scourge threatened by the revolutionary cult of international Communism. The common action demanded by all the leaders was to drive from their countries that "diabolically ingenious machine of which each separate tiny part is a complete whole able to function by itself", as finally and as completely as Patrick drove the snakes out of Ireland.

"This very day that we are gathered here", said Mr. John Bracken, "President Truman spoke to the American people . . and Mr. Bevin spoke to the world . . . indicating how five nations in western Europe had agreed to stand together for half a century to face the future. Only two days ago, on the 15th of this month, the Prime Minister of Great Britain announced to the House of Commons the cabinet's decision to transfer Communists, fellow travellers and fascists in any government work vital to the national security". Mr. Bracken quoted from the "Windsor Star": "Public apathy is the most valuable asset the Communist conspirators have. More desirable for their treacherous purposes than soap-box orators or drawing-room radicals, are the plain people who shrug their shoulders by the hundreds of thousands and say to one another, half believing and half wishful, 'it can't happen here'. " The speaker continued: "Communist agents are boring into the labor organizations of this country with a view to wrecking recognized labor unions and undermining industrial peace, crippling the productive capacity of the country, not only in peacetime but particularly in the event of war. Perhaps that is the most dangerous thing that is facing the internal peace of Canada, a danger that is facing the whole future of this country, the infiltration of Communists into the organized labor groups of this country".

Mr. Mackenzie King said he would like to indicate how completely he was in accord with the statements of the leader of the opposition upon Communism as a menace. The premier quoted: "Canada is regarded by the Communists as of supreme strategic importance in the Communist bid for global domination. Communist agents, some of them under diplomatic immunity, some of them Canadian citizens, have succeeeded in corrupting officials of the public service of this country". The prime minister continued: "Ours was the first government in the world to expose the activities of Communists in the public service, and I may add I was the first to stand up in this parliament and indicate how appallingly dangerous the possibilities were".

Mr. Daniel McIvor (Fort William), who closed the debate, said that the cure for anything which may tend to destroy our Canadian civilization was enunciated every day by the Speaker when he said, "Thy Kingdom come". "The reason I do not support Communism", said Mr. McIvor; "is that it leaves God out; and any nation or any movement that leaves God out is sure to some to naught. Look at Germany today. Where is she, and why? Because she crucified those who believed in God and drove out those who believed in the Christian faith. Throughout the length and breadth of Canada we have churches, Protestant and Roman Catholic, which have the cure for Communism. That cure can be heard any Sunday. It is the principle that is practiced every day. If that principle is practiced every day, it will do what great St. Patrick did for Ireland: it will revolutionize the country and send its missionaries across to convert Scotland into the bargain."

Britain Exports Coal Again

To the Scottish division of the National Coal Board went the honor of opening a regular coal export program recently. December 1947 saw the first shipments to Sweden by the S.S. Vestra, closely followed by two other Swedish colliers. Now this Swedish trade is taking on aspects of regularity. In return for coal the ships are bringing cargoes of pit props and timber for housing. . . S.S. Arabritt is here seen taking on her load of 2,500 tons of coal at Methil, on the Firth of Forth.

Seasonal

FARM TOPICS

Edited by E. H. PETERS, B.S.A.

Early Seeding for Best Grain Crops

It is well known that grain sown early will produce the largest yields. Oats, for example, may be sown as early in the spring as the soil will permit and demonstrations have shown yields amount to 10 to 15 bushels more per acre when sown early as compared with that sown late.

Barley should not be sown when there is danger of heavy frost as it comes up but it should be sown as soon as the soil is warm enough and the weather is such that it is unreasonable to expect frost.

In sowing barley early about the same results may be expected in increased yields as from sowing oats early.

Feed Requirements For Producing Cow

In order to properly appreciate the feed requirements of the producing cow, it is well to keep in mind the composition of cow's milk, which is as follows: Water, 87 percent.; mineral matter, 7 percent.; protein, 3.5 percent.; sugar, 4.9 percent.; fat, 3.7 percent. A good average cow should produce 8,000 lbs. of milk in a year, and in so doing would yield 272 lbs. of protein, 296 lbs. of fat, 382 lbs. of milk sugar, and 56 lbs. of mineral matter.

The carcass of a two-year-old steer finished for market, and weighing 1,300 lbs., would contain 192 lbs. of protein, 44 lbs. of mineral matter, and 387 lbs. of fat. Thus the cow yields more protein and mineral matter each year than has been built up in the body of the steer during his entire life. Further, the pregnant cow is storing considerable protein and mineral matter in developing the unborn calf. To yield large quantities of milk the cow requires large quantities of feed, particularly those rich in protein and mineral matter.

About half of a liberal ration fed a cow is used up in body maintenance (digestion, respiration and circulation) while the remaining half is used for milk production. If insufficient rations are fed the milk supply will go down, which may in many cases be responsible for farmers not getting a good yield of milk from their cows.

— Ottawa Farm Journal

Reflected in Cow's Milk Production

A dairy cow is possessed of a highly nervous temperament. Rough treatment or worrying of any sort is reflected in the milk flow and consequently in the dairyman's income. A good herdsman does not need to be reminded of such things but among barn help, as it comes and goes, there will be found men who are themselves temperamental and who, when anything goes wrong, are apt to vent their feelings on the animals under their charge. "Treat a cow as you would a lady" is practical advice that may well be handed out freely to all such workers.

Canada Helps With Fertilizer Exports

Canada's present production of nitrogen chemicals for fertilizer purposes is approximately 100,000 tons of cyanamid, 180,000 tons of sulphate of ammonia, 250,000 tons of ammonium nitrate, 100,000 tons of 16-20 ammonium phosphate, and 75,000 tons of 11-48 ammonium phosphate. The domestic requirement is only about 12,500 tons of cyanamid, 50,000 tons of sulphate of ammonia, 30,000 tons of ammonium nitrate, 12,000 tons of 16-20 ammonium phosphate, and 55,000 tons of 11-48 ammonium phosphate. The large production in excess of domestic requirements is exported under allocation of the International Emergency Food Council of the United Nations. Canada is therefore helping considerably in supplying hungry countries with nitrogen fertilizers for producing food crops. Furthermore, Canada is one of the few countries in the world now with ample nitrogen fertilizer for domestic requirements.

Fortunately, Canada's production of nitrogen fertilizer is of the three forms needed for agricultural purposes—nitrate, ammoniacal and organic. The cyanamid provides synthetic organic nitrogen; the sulphate of ammonia, ammonium phosphate; and ammonium nitrate, ammoniacal nitrogen; and the nitrate in ammonium nitrate, nitrate nitrogen.

The best way to bring barren land into fertility is to manure the land and cultivate it with a short rotation of crops using suitable fertilizers, using clovers in the hay and pasture years.

Seek Corn Tolerant To Low Temperature

Manitoba Scientists Aim at Variety Maturing Between May 15 and Sept. 15

Winnipeg (CP) — Eight acres of the University of Manitoba's experimental station are being devoted to attempts to breed varieties of corn which will be tolerant to the province's relatively low temperatures.

If the experiment, first started 10 years ago, succeeds it may provide the West with a crop which can ease the droughts which plague Prairie farmers.

"From the point of acreage wheat is the most important crop in the West", says Prof. S. B. Helgason, director of the project. "But in world crops it does not equal corn, rice or even oats. Corn is one of the surest sources of feed when drought strikes".

Corn produces greater amounts of feed in proportion to water required and has been a life-saver to farmers in dry areas, he explained. "The difficulty with corn in Manitoba is that it tends to be a heat-loving crop. We are aiming for a variety which will mature between May 15 and September 15, although corn is grown successfully in some parts of southern Manitoba".

Self-Pollination

The plant science department is tackling the problem by forcing the corn to self-pollinate instead of cross-pollinate as normally happens. The structure of corn varies sharply from that of other cereal like wheat, oats, barley and flax. In the latter grains where the pollen and the ovary are tucked into the one flower, self-pollination is the normal function.

In corn, however, pollination usually occurs when the pollen from the tassel at the top of one corn plant blows across a field to the ear of another plant.

"We're interfering with this. A far different result is reached when corn plants are not allowed to propagate in the usual manner."

The experiments have reached a point where two hybrids are being tested throughout the province. It will be at least a year before results are known.

MORE MOOSE IN N.B.

Fredericton (CP) — New Brunswick's moose situation continues to improve, with an increase especially evident in the central and northern counties, Lands Minister R. J. Gill reported recently.

NOTICE TO FARMERS IN THE PARISH OF ST. JERUSALEM

Outline of Municipal Regulation Regarding Corn Borer Control

WHEREAS a very injurious insect, known as the European Corn Borer has invaded the province of Quebec and has become last year a formidable foe; -

WHEREAS it is of public interest and urgent to stop the spread of this pest and that the collaboration of all concerned is essential to reach that end;

Be it resolved that the Municipal Council of the Parish of St. Jerusalem, by authority of the Municipal Law, article 404, paragraph 4, as amended in 1929, enacts as follows;

1. The week of May 24th to 29th shall be devoted to the cleaning up of corn fields with a view to exterminate the Corn Borer.

2. During said week, it is compulsory for any person within the limits of this municipality, who has grown any kind of corn in the previous year, to;
(a) Carefully gather and burn any part or whatsoever of corn plants which may be left in fields, around buildings, manure piles or anywhere else;
(b) Destroy in the same way all weeds which have grown in or around any corn fields (as they also may be attacked by the Corn Borer);
(c) Plow under all the corn remnants that might not have been destroyed and in such a way as to leave the surface of the soil prefectly clean.

3. The council have appointed Mr. Erskine Rodger as inspector to supervise the carrying out of the present regulation. This inspector shall have the right to enter upon any property whatever in the exercise of his duties.

Former St. Andrews Man Became Rancher in State of California

From the Ventura (Calif.) Free Press

Frederic William Hooker, Sr., 70, prominent pioneer rancher and resident of Ventura County for the past 50 years, died recently in his ranch home near Oxnard.

He was born in St. Andrews, Quebec, in 1878 and came to California 20 years later. He worked for his brother, the late Harry G. Hooker, in Somis. While there, he married Polly Ann Bell.

During his years in Ventura County, Mr. Hooker worked for the Calumet and Oak Ridge Oil companies and on ranches in the Somis area. In 1926 he bought a lemon ranch and has been farming since in the Ocean View district of Oxnard.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Polly Bell Hooker, three daughters, Mrs. Frances McElhinney of San Luis Obispo, Mrs. Eleanor Case of Ventura, Miss Ruth Hooker of Oxnard; three sons, Robert B. Hooker, of Ventura, Frederic W. Hooker, Jr., of Oxnard, and Thomas B. Hooker, of Ventura.

He leaves seven grandchildren, his sister, Mrs. Max A. Plumb of Oakland, and a niece, Mrs. Paul O. Brewster, of Beverly Hills.

The funeral was held at the Oxnard chapel of Reardon's mortuary, with Rev. Patrick officiating. Burial was made at Ivy Lawn cemetery.

Poultrymen would be well advised to exercise caution before taking steps to reduce or even eliminate their flocks. In most businesses, the keen man can survive; so long as there is a critical world shortage, there will be a demand for his products.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER
Announces
New McCormick-Deering MILK COOLERS
The Only Coolers with Pneumatic Water Agitation

The New McCormick-Deering Milk Cooler. Note how the compressor unit is mounted integrally with the box.

Cross section of the McCormick-Deering Milk Cooler showing how the ice-cold water circulates all around the cans.

A COMPACT, simple, fast-cooling milk cooler, manufactured, assembled, and tested complete (including both box and compressor unit) at the factory. That's the brand-new McCormick-Deering, another product of International Harvester designed to aid the dairy farmer in keeping down the bacteria count in milk.

The McCormick-Deering Milk Cooler cools milk to a temperature of 50 degrees or lower in an hour or less twice every 24 hours, and automatically maintains the temperature regardless of the weather. The pneumatic water agitater, an exclusive McCormick-Deering feature, makes this rapid cooling possible. It forces the air into the water from the bottom of the box and the constantly rising bubbles agitate the water near the ice bank, thoroughly chilling the water and keeping it circulating all around the cans, from the bottom up to and over the milk level.

Many other features of design and construction contribute to the high efficiency of the McCormick-Deering. Ask us to tell you all about this advanced method of cooling milk.

Balanced Fare

RADIO'S critics are legion, but only a die-hard would deny the versatility of Canada's broadcasting activities. In these days of soaring living costs, dollar shortages and political complexities an hour with radio is both refreshing and relaxing — an escape into the less tense realms of entertainment or culture, as we choose.

To say that radio's function is to educate, inform and entertain is a big mouthful. Long-hairs may argue its standards are below par on each of these counts, while shorter crops wise-crack at sugar-coated doses of culture. But, by and large, the threefold program is acceptable to the average listener.

How often does the dial twiddler stop to consider the planning that makes radio a mighty important factor in modern life? It puts lessons in the schoolroom, interprets Canada to millions in other lands, presents the news of the day for the city dweller and the Arctic trapper and offers the noon-hour farm broadcast, weekly gardening hints, an operatic half-hour, for listeners' diversified interests. And all for the cost of a radio license and the turn of a dial.

Programs that bring wails from one section of the populace are acclaimed in other quarters. If Saturday night was not hockey night there would be a roar from one end of the Dominion to the other, and who will say that hockey interest — and gate receipts too — has not been stimulated by the weekly winter program.

Radio's efforts to present a balanced fare for listeners were evidenced the other night when the CBC devoted three hours to a program that must have thrilled even the most discriminating music critic. Not so long ago "St. Matthew Passion" might have attracted a few hundreds to a church or concert hall, but thousands listened to Johann Sebastian Bach's great oratorio over the air, and we venture a guess that many of these had acquired a love of music on the grand scale through the medium of radio.

Versatile is the word for radio.

Ultimate End of Education

THE SCENE and circumstance escape our memory, but it was a leader in the Montreal teaching profession who just recently voiced a public criticism of the school examination system. At the time—viewing its source and the occasion of its pronouncement — this seemed a courageous stand, even though it but crystallized a sentiment so often spoken among parents, employers and the lay public.

Examinations have their value, no doubt, but the ultimate purpose of education should not be fogged by marks and percentages. — Relevant to this opinion is a thought directed on another angle. We quote a paragraph from a recent article by Professor John Hughes, chairman of the McGill University's department of education:

"Much time and thought and energy and money are being spent on the improvement of public education. This is at it should be. The machinery canot be too good for this highly important job. Yet the importance of the machinery should not becloud the even more important consideration of the nature and aims of education itself. When thoughtful parents scan and study their youngsters' reports, they are interested in the score in the various subjects, naturally. But the best parents, like the best teachers, are really more concerned with matters of deeper moment. They rightly pay much attention to that column dealing with 'conduct', or 'personality development' or 'character', or 'contribution to the school community life'. In other words, they want to see the youngsters 'grow in wisdom and in stature, and in favor with God and man'. They want to see them responsive to the claims of goodness, truth and beauty; to see them developing high standards and values, and an ever widening sense of community, of obligation, of service, of stewardship, of democratic responsibility, of racial equality, of social tolerance. Wisdom and vision in these matters are even more significant than learning and erudition. The child has a right to an education that interprets and illumines religious and democratic values.

A Gift of Books

FOLLOWING the library report of one of the London boroughs in which was emphasized the difficulty of obtaining suitable books for the children's library, the chief librarian of the City of Toronto, C. R. Saunderson, and his assistant, Miss Lillian Smith, determined to do something about it. Through the Toronto Globe and Mail and by radio broadcasts they made a public appeal to the young people of the city, with the result that 1,500 worthwhile books were shipped to Bethnal Green for the children's library. Such a good deed, so successfully carried out, honors both giver and receiver; and the fact that it was the library of one Dominion helping the library of the Mother Country that had lost its books through enemy action, makes it an outstanding event. That the splendid gift from Toronto is appreciated is shown from the wording on a large panel prominently placed in the Bethnal Green library: "The people of Canada have generously given 1,500 books to this library for the use of the boys and girls of Bethnal Green. Many have personal messages in them, and if any boy or girl would like to send a letter of thanks they should give it to the librarian, who will forward it to Canada". . . Surely this is building up the Commonwealth spirit.

Subsidies A Net Loss

JOHN ATKINS, who pens those illuminating columns in "The Scene from Shingwauk Farm", throws an analytical spotlight on government subsidies. . . When the price of food is subsidized (he writes), the cost of the subsidy must be spread over the cost of all the food and goods produced in Canada. To the extent that he buys goods the farmer will bear the cost of the subsidy, just as the industrial worker, the teacher, the preacher, the pensioner, and the business man will bear it. And when everybody has taken out and paid back his share of the subsidy, everyone will be out the cost of his share of the bookkeeping which will be a dead loss.

Business Over the Border

IT IS interesting to note that in spite of our new and so-called "austerity" regulations January saw more Canadian motor vehicles crossing into the United States over the Cornwall bridge than in January of last year, and more American cars coming to Canada. The increase in Candian cars was from 2,484 to 3,525, and in American cars from 3,029 to 3,917.

Mr. Abbott's rules and restrictions limit sharply the amount of money a Canadian may take across the border, and make it virtually impossible for a Canadian to do any shopping in the United States, but still our people go back and forth as our American friends come and go.

This is a natural traffic among friends, and it is a great pity the Canadian Government has been obliged to try to curtail it. Both countries would be the better for it if the exchange of visitors and tourists could be encouraged on both sides.

— Ottawa Farm Journal

A KETTLE never seems to boil when we are waiting for it. A letter never comes if we have really banked upon it. The telephone's engaged when we most urgently require it. . . And so it is far better to get on with the day's routine without much senseless ruing.

"MY WEEK"

By R. J. DEACHMAN

The man who appears frequently on a public platform runs into strange experiences. Bits of luck enable him to answer a question at the moment, and bits of ill-luck may seem at times to make him profoundly stupid when, under ordinary circumstances, he would be reasonably bright.

An unusual experience happened to me at a campaign meeting some years ago in Western Ontario. There were four speakers on the platform. There was one man in the audience who was a bit of a crank. He was either then a candidate on an independent platform, or had been an independent candidate.

He had a series of 13 questions which be presented to every speaker on the platform. By common consent it was arranged among the four speakers that night that I would speak last and answer these questions.

The first twelve were not particularly difficult and would have been answered just as well by any other person with a reasonable knowledge of political and economic fact. The last question was rather difficult, it dealt with the railways and put forward the contention that the railways would be wiped out of business by growing competition of automobiles and trucks.

I answered the first 12 questions and then turned to this one. I threw everything I had into it. I gave him figures which proved, at that particular time, that despite increase in automobile registrations the total volume of railway traffic was increasing and increasing rapidly. I stated it to them in ton miles and passenger miles. I made a combined unit out of the two and expressed the volume of traffic in terms of passenger units.

If I do say so myself, it was very impressive. I got tremendous applause and I was asked again and again how I managed to have all the facts at my finger tips. I took evasive action, explained that it was all very easy. On the way home my friend who was driving, asked me if I had pulled the figures straight out of my hat and if they had any relationship whatever to the actual facts. "It is a secret", I said, "I am not going to tell you — not yet". We were both silent as we drove out of town. Again my friend said, "Come through — give me the low-down — tell me how it was done". So I did. A month before that meeting I had been thinking of this very problem. One day, in cold detachment, I assembled the facts, wrote down a story on the subject and sent it to a Canadian farm publication, The Canadian Countryman.

Less than an hour before I left my office that night I received a copy of the paper which contained my story. I didn't even think that subject was likely to turn up but I cut the article out and put it in my pocket, and there right before me when I spoke was the whole argument. I couldn't have been better prepared to answer that question if I had spent weeks of study on it. There was no miracle, no genius as far as I was concerned. I was loaded for bear that night, and the bear walked under my guns. My friend listened to my story. "What were the chances of that happening", he said. "Not one in a million", I answered, "it has never happened before or since, so far as I am concerned. I have seen conditions when I prayed that it might!"

A MATTER OF SHARING

Natural gas is a heritage for all Alberta people . . (but) there doesn't seem to be any good reason why Alberta should not become a fuel reservoir for at least two, and perhaps four, provinces. There is no reason why Alberta should be dog-in-the-mangerish about it.

THE LAST STRAW

It is interesting to reflect that people have put up with taxes and privations just so long, before finally rebelling, and that in a great many cases the last straw is some trivial matter. A classic example is the case of the tax on tea which caused the American rebellion. — Granby Leader-Mail

TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY

From Vancouver to Ottawa come demands these days for a paved trans-Canada highway. And the route to be followed, if the demands are agreed to, may develop into a controversy as great as the one when the Canadian Pacific was built — or even the Emerson highway.

"AUDIENCE ETIQUETTE"

Have you been annoyed when people come in late for a theatre or concert performance? Have you been irritated when someone in the row behind you talks in a loud whisper during the program? Such breaches of "audience etiquette" offend both the artists and the audience. It's worth while occasionally to take stock of one's own little lapses in this regard. Good manners in public places are sure proof of "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Past N.H.L. Season Reviewed by Observer

By BRIAN SWARBRICK

With the end of the 1947-48 National Hockey League hostilities comes at least temporary end to one of the most colorful aspects — for Canadians anyway — of an N.H.L. season, namely the Montreal-Toronto feud.

It may be some time before fans of Maple Leafs and Canadiens go to their respective ice arenas just to enjoy such hectic battles as those of the last few years.

For Montreal, which placed fifth at season-end, there may very well be a period of quiet building. For Toronto, a new feud shapes between the Leafs and Detroit Red Wings.

On Sunday, March 22, the 1947-48 season closed and the Leafs with 77 points topped the Wings by five points — just 2½ games ahead after a 60-game schedule. That was how close the fight was.

To point up the fact it was only a two-team fight, a check with the schedule shows the other four teams—Boston, New York, Montreal and Chicago — separated top from bottom by only three victories, Boston having 23 while Chicago and Montreal had 20.

Statistics tell the tale. Generally speaking, the other four teams were icing veterans, while Detroit and Toronto banked on youth.

Youngsters Tops

The season previous, Toronto had banked on youth and surprised the league by becoming Stanley Cup champions. This year, Detroit adopted Toronto's idea, with gratifying results.

Only youth could have kept up with the terrific pace set by Leafs and Wings in their efforts to hold top place. They fought tooth-and-nail for league leadership all the way, while the other four teams, after occasional flurries, settled down to the task of seeking playoff positions.

It was fitting that the two important season-ending games should have the principals playing against each other. Toronto and Detroit finished off the season by a home-and-home series, with Leafs wining both games.

The first game, a 5-3 Toronto victory, gave Leafs the league championship and their first Prince of Wales Trophy. Leafs last won the loop crown in 1938, and the trophy became emblematic of that triumph in 1939.

The second game, a 5-2 Toronto victory, gave fat man Turk Broda the Vezina Trophy as the goalkeeper with the lowest goals-against record. There again, the schedule played along with the contest. Leafs' Broda and Wings' Harry Lumley were the two principals for the Vezina, and when the 60-minute bell rang, Lumley skated down the ice to congratulate a grinning Broda.

That season-ending game in Detroit was also career-ending for Toronto captain Syl Apps. He has said he'll hang up his skates when the playoffs are over. And right on the eve of his N.H.L. career, with only minutes left of his presence in N.H.L. play, Sylvanus Apps reached the 200-goal mark. Team-mate Harry Watson had Detroit's Lumley at his mercy; to slip the puck past him would have been easy. But he chose to pass to Apps, who banged in his 200th goal with might and main.

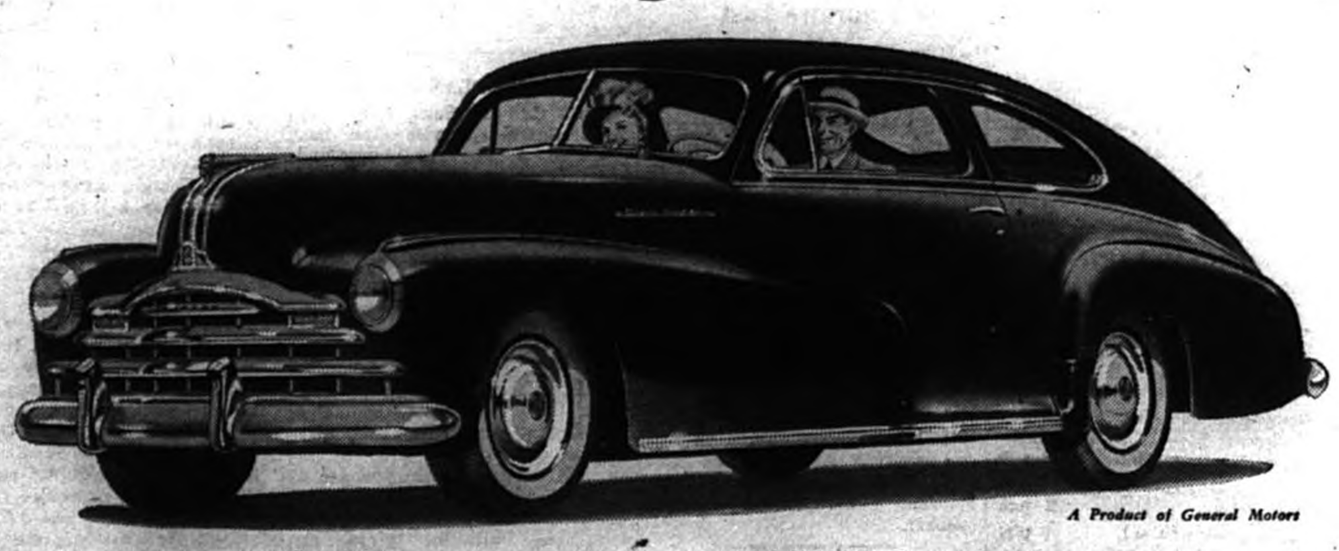

Anti-climatically, he scored No. 201 a few minutes later.

MOVIE GETS TOP RATING

Montreal—"The Emperor Waltz", technicolor picture starring Bing Crosby and Joan Fontaine, has been named as eligible for top honors among the movies of 1948. The movie features the music of Johann Straus, and was filmed amid the mountain scenery of Jasper National Park in the Canadian Rockies.

Fine Yesterday — Finer Today!

For years, Pontiac has led its field in many of the basic aspects of motor car character.

It has been outstanding in appearance — with its distinctive Silver Streak styling and beautiful bodies by Fisher. It has been consistently praised for its performance — based on smooth, powerful six and eight cylinder engines. It has a record for long life and dependability unsurpassed in the automotive industry.

And now, in the 1948 Pontiac, comes revealing proof of Pontiac's continuing leadership. Not only is the new Pontiac far more beautiful and luxurious — but it offers, as optional equipment on all models, the famous GM Hydra-Matic Drive*! This mechanical masterpiece, which eliminates the clutch pedal and makes shifting entirely automatic, is one of the greatest contributions to driving ease and safety in the history of the motor car.

And Pontiac is the world's lowest-priced car to make it available to the motoring public. There's a wide range of body styles and striking colors — each more beautiful and more luxurious than ever — and each an outstanding value. at additional cost*

ON GUARD

Day and night, more dependable than ever

TODAY, telephones are four times as free from "trouble" as twenty years ago, and there are twice as many of them!

Each month 10,000 are being added so that soon all may have dependable telephone service and the security that goes with it.

This is being done in spite of rising costs, yet up to now there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 21 years ago.

For you, this means greater value than ever before; for us, the satisfaction of providing "the best telephone service at the lowest cost".

Speaking of Muffins

Muffins, fresh from the oven are a treat for any meal. Muffins were so called because they resembled little soft muffs. That was back in the days when muffs were very small and round. Through the years muffs changed from miniature to the very large flat rug type and many other shapes and sizes but the muffin has remained true to the original idea. It is a small, light, warm cake.

Good muffins should be very light in proportion to size, symmetrical in shape and with no tendency to peak at the top. They should be cooked to a light golden brown shade, somewhat pebbled in appearance. When broken the inside is full of uniform round holes but no long narow tunnels.

The home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa say that in order to attain this perfection the rules should be followed exactly. The manipulation of ingredients varies slightly from that of cake mixtures. The difference between success and failure is often a matter of a few seconds because batters with low sugar and fat content do not retain gas well. Speed is essential after the baking powder or soda is added until the batter is in the pans but standing in the pans from fifteen minutes to half an hour does no harm.

Standard Muffins

2 Cups pastry flour (or 1¾ cups all-purpose flour), 3 teaspoons baking powder, 3 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons shortening, melted.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Beat egg and add milk. Make a depression in the flour, pour in egg and milk mixture, then melted shortening. Stir as little as possible in mixing only enough to moisten flour. Fill well greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in a hot oven 400°F., for 20 - 25 minutes. Makes 1 dozen medium-sized muffins.

Variation . . .

Whole Wheat Muffins

Use brown instead of granulated sugar, and 1 cup of unsifted whole wheat or graham flour for 1 cup of white flour, adding it to the sifted dry ingredients.

Cheese Muffins

2 Cups pastry (or 1¾ cups all-purpose flour), 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅔ cup grated cheese, dash of paprika, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons shortening, melted.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add cheese and paprika. Beat egg, and add milk. Make a depression in the flour mixture, pour in the egg and milk mixture. Then melted shortening. Stir as little as possible in mixing. Fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full. Sprinkle with additional grated cheese. Bake in a hot oven, 400°F., 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 1 dozen medium-sized muffins.

Jam Pockets

2 Cups sifted all-pupose flour (or 2¼ cups pastry flour), 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons shortening melted, jam.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Beat egg, add milk. Make a depression in the flour mixture, pour in egg and milk, then melted fat. Stir as little as possible in mixing. Turn half the mixture into well greased muffin tins, add 1 teaspoon jam to each muffin and cover with remaining batter. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., for 25 minutes. Makes 1 dozen medium-sized muffins.

Fund to Aid Widow Of Arctic Missionary

Rebecca, the 15-year-old Eskimo girl who accompanied Mrs. Turner, wife of the Arctic missionary, the late Canon John Turner, to England last year, is returning to her far northern home because she does not like the English climate, or rather, the English climate does not like her. It will be a sad parting for Mrs. Turner and Rebecca who have been together for over seven years, but the change in diet and climate is more than the young girl's constitution can stand. She will be among the first passengers to arrive by Canadian Pacific steamship in Montreal this season.

It was Rebecca who cared for Mrs. Turner, the two young children, and the mortally wounded missionary at Moffet Inlet, Baffin Island, last September while waiting for rescue by the R.C.A.F. When, later, Canon Turner died in a Winnipeg hospital, the faithful Rebecca decided to go with Mrs. Turner to England.

Before leaving for the far north, Rebecca will stay with Dr. and Mrs. Bildfell, of Lachine, who were friends of the late Canon Turner. Mrs. Bildfell is vice-president of the Montreal branch of the Fellowship of the Arctic, and is assisting in the raising of $20,000 to provide a pension for the gallant Mrs. Turner and her three children. (The third child was born in England after her return from the Arctic).

This fund closes on April 30, but unfortunately is far short of its objective. It is fervently hoped that many sympathetic people will recognize the years of tireless and unselfish missionary work of the late Canon Turner and his wife among the Eskimo people by sending contributions to the "Turner of Moffet Inlet Fund".

The fund, established with the consent of the Rt. Rev. A. L. Fleming, Bishop of the Arctic, is a worthy one, and the need is urgent. In Montreal and district, contributions should be sent either to Mrs. Bildfell, 3780 St. Joseph St., Lachine, or to Mrs. J. C. Loiselle, President, Fellowship of the Arctic (Montreal Branch), 20 Finchley Road, Hampstead, Montreal.

Canadian Radio Star Appearing on Local Stage

A performance at the Rio Theatre next Monday featuring Alys Robi, popular CBC radio singer, is the first venture sponsored by the newly formed Lachute Recreative Society — a group fostered by Roger Fauteux, impresario, with the purpose of bringing radio talent to this community in regular scheduled entertainments next fall. . . In conection with Miss Robi's performance, it is stated she will appear in person at the Bedard Ltée store after 5 p.m. the same day (Monday, April 5) to autograph records featuring her songs. . . Alys Robi's program will hold equal appeal for both French and English listeners.

A Canadian-born artist, Miss Robi (abbreviation of Robitaille) started her career very early. At the age of four, she made her first appearance on the stage as a dancer and singer. Overcoming many difficulties, she became Canada's top songstress.

Miss Robi never had time to go to school; she gained all her education at the hands of private tutors.

At 12 years of age, she had an engagement at the National Theatre in Montreal as a dancer and singer, and the people liked her so much that the management kept her for 75 weeks.

In 1942, she got her big break. She was singing in a club in Montreal and her act impressed Rusty Davis, a radio producer, who arranged an audition with Lucio Agostini. She clicked at once and earned a spot on a Sunday night CBC show. Later, when she moved to Toronto for an engagement, she was heard by Dick Gluns and the result was her first appearance on "Latin American Serenade".

During the war, she sang in many military camps, in Europe, in Canada and the United States.

Between cabaret appearances, trips to England, Mexico (where they called her "Miss Canada Dry"), New York, and Hollywood — between guest appearances and screen tests — Alys Robi has managed to become Canada's top female recording artist. She finds time in her crowded days to appear on at least three Canadian radio programs a week, one of which is carried on the Mutual Network in the United States.

Gardeners Find Use for Sawdust

Sawdust has been put to many useful purposes in recent years. It has been pressed into insulating board and made into nuggets for fuel. But perhaps one of the most unusual suggestions has come from a western horticulturist. He says that sawdust can be used with excellent results in a berry patch of the kitchen garden. It keeps down weeds, he says, and acts as a mulch over the ground to keep it from drying out and baking hard.

"Be sure the weeds and grass are thoroughly cultivated out before you put on the sawdust", he advises. "Cultivate this spring and put on the mulch when the garden is quite clean. Put about four inches of the sawdust over the ground and try to make it uniform in depth throughout the patch".

He further advises, in the case of gardens with irrigation that the sawdust will have to be piled next to the berry plants, rather than spread out toward the centre of the row. Otherwise it will wash away with the irrigation water.

Cub-Scout Group

Instead of the regular meeting on Tuesday an inspection tour was arranged for the local Cub Scouts, who on this occasion visited the Dominion Shuttle Company Ltd. With 19 Cubs and seven Scouts, who acted as a protection group, the party met at the factory and were shown the manufacture of veneer, plywood and shuttles. The latter was of interest to the boys as they had, on a previous visit to Ayers Limited, seen the shuttles in operation on the looms.

Cubmaster Quentin James has to date escorted the Cubs on three such inspection tours — first to Ayers Ltd. on November 11 last, second to J. C. Wilson Co. Ltd., during the Christmas vacation, and on this last visit to Dominion Shuttle Co. It is hoped to take the boys to several other points of interest during the present year.

The next meeting for the Cub Scouts will be on Tuesday, April 6, at 6.30 p.m. in the basement of the Auditorium. This change has been made due to insufficient space in the High School basement.

Pupils Excel In Lions Club Speaking Contest

$50 Awarded by Club in Prize Money

High School and College orators were guests of the Lions Club on Tuesday evening, in the Domestic Science room of Lachute High School, where the highlight of the meeting was a public speaking contest on the prescribed topic, "The Value of Education in Modern Life".

Three scholars, chosen from the High School grades by process of elimination, represented the Protestant school — all three being young ladies, Marjorie Morrison (Brownsburg), Marjorie Cottingham (Lachute) and Jean Genest (Grece's Point). They spoke on the broader aspects of education as applied to modern living.

Three boys — Jean-Paul Raymond, Jean-M. Grondin and Marcel Grondin — were chosen as speakers from the St. Viateur College. Their discourses stressed more particularly the value of academic instruction.

The speeches were so thoughtfully prepared and well delivered that the judges had difficulty in appraising their merits. Prizes of $12, $8 and $5 were awarded to each group in the order cited above Marjorie Morrison and Jean-Paul Raymond winning in their respective groups.

Adjudicators for the English speakers were Dr. F. W. Fitz-Gerald, Mr. W. M. Steeves and Major G. G. Mitchell; while Messrs. Gaetan Valois, Fernand Legault and Horace Lamarche judged the orations in French.

Program committeeman was Lion W. M. Steeves, who arranged the event in a highly creditable manner. Lion Dr. F. W. Fitz-Gerald was chairman, in the absence of President Dr. R. Dumais.

Following the regular business and supper a number of guests — including parents and School Board members — joined the gathering to witness this interesting contest.

Farm Forum Urges Reflectors Installed On Freight Cars

Ottawa (CP) — Glass reflectors on the sides of railway freight cars as a safety measure is suggested to the Board of Transport Commissioners in a resolution forwarded by the Gloucester Farm Forum and endorsed by the Gloucester Town Council.

The decision to ask the Commissioners to install reflectors arose out of a recent accident in which an Ottawa district couple escaped death when their automobile crashed into the side of a moving freight train at suburban Billings Bridge.

Buys Large Store Business at Grenv'l

One of Lachute's younger businessmen, Roland Lamarche — who has been actively associated with the H. M. Lavigne departmental store — is now extending his interests, having just acquired the Morrow Bros. store and properties at Grenville.

The Morrow Bros. store, a large general business establishment, has been owned for the past two years by Jean Desforges. Mr. Desforges, while giving up the store for reasons of ill health, is retaining the undertaking business, and will continue to operate his well appointed funeral parlors in the Morrow block. . . Mr. Lamarche intends to reside at Grenville, in the apartment above his store, and will manage the business personally.

The transaction was effected during the past week through J. R. Charron, local realtor.

Much Travelled Speaker Heard by Ch. of Commerce

Stuart Richardson, Representative of N-E Company, Speaks on "Symbols of Freedom"

Mr. Stuart Richardson, Public Relations Officer for the Northern Electric Company, was the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held in Desjardins Hotel last evening. An excellent crowd enjoyed the speech delivered by this much-travelled and well known lecturer.

The speaker was introduced by Linton W. Armstrong, who stated he had learned that Mr. Richardson had arrived from Britain 20 years ago "with three ambitions — namely to get a job, to marry a Canadian girl, and to raise a family". While he had been successful in all three, it appeared he now had another ambition, which was to be constantly aware of the privileges of Canadian citizens and the duties which go with that privilege.

Subject of the speech was "The Symbols of Freedom". The speaker explained how these symbols meant to him the Thistle for Scotland, the Shamrock for Ireland, the Rose for England, the Fleur de Lis of France, and the Maple Leaf of Canada. He showed how these great peoples had each made their particular contribution to Canada and that, despite differences in politics, religion, language and customs in the Old Country, they had become welded together in the New World to make one of the

Lachute, April 2, 1948

Rotary Club, Brownsburg.

Dear Sirs :

This letter, although somewhat overdue, will express some measure of my appreciation for the aid extended to us following a fire at Lowe Bros' Dairy last February. As a result of this fire our pasteurization plant was put out of commission for 10 days, and we were faced with the problem of supplying pasteurized milk to our customers over a wide territory.

At this critical time three district dairymen — one a direct local competitor — came to our assistance and enabled us to carry on. George Graham, of Lachute, Adrien Lacasse and Alfred Lemay, of Brownsburg, handled our milk in their respective plants, using their own equipment and men, with very little assistance on our part, to pasteurize our milk supply — for which services they have submitted no charge or intimated no obligation.

It is needless to state how deeply we appreciated this aid, and I feel the experience is one which deserves some publicity and public expression of our thanks.

Yours truly,

Lowe Bros'. Dairy

Gt. War Veterans Attend Reunions of Two Battalions

Saturday evening was the occasion of two reunions of 1st Great War veterans, at which a number of local boys were present.

Messrs. Edward M. Jones and R. P. Fraser, members of the 73rd Battalion, attended their annual get-together which was held at the Queen's Hotel. This was their 25th successive reunion.

Pipe Major Allan Saunders, of Ottawa, now aged 70, who accompanied the battalion overseas in 1916, piped in the head table guests. G. Anderson, president of the group, recalled the history of the association and expressed the hope that it would retain its character to the end.

The other reunion was that of the former 148th Battalion, which was held in the Victoria Armoury on Cathcart Street. It is quite a long time since these old-timers had gathered together, and it was interesting to note the difficulty experienced by different ones in trying to place faces and remember names, some not having met in almost 30 years.

Lt.-Col. A. A. Magee, commanding officer of the regiment, spoke briefly and welcomed the boys. Regret was expressed at the recent passing, in England, of Major Eve, a former active member, and all present stood for a moment's silence in his memory.

Groups of a half dozen or more could be seen reminiscing, while others gathered around the piano and joined in singing the old familiar songs.

Among those attending from this district were — Messrs. L. M. Hooker, Geo. V. Graham, G. Hampton, F. Touchette, D. Davis, H. Mason, J. Maher, Wm. Cook and R. A. Giles. Another member originally from Lakefield, Clarence Sherritt, motored from Meaford, near Boston, and was accompanied by his son Murray. Edgar Stowe, while not originally from these parts, was a popular member of "C" Company, and came from Toronto for the occasion. W. Fowler, of Iroquois, and F. Brodeur, of Morrisburg, Ont., also attended.

The evening was declared so successful that many have asked that it now be held as an anual affair — a matter on which the committee will decide.

Gas Pump Afire At Brownsburg

A mishap causing excitement occurred Wednesday at Brownsburg, when a car driver approaching the gasoline pumps at Gordon's Garage over-rode the aisle and knocked down two of the pumps. The car, straddling the damaged pumps, started a fire — which also caught the wiring, causing much smoke. The blaze from the gasoline pipe was subdued with a fire extinguisher; the fire brigade and equipment had meanwhile been called to the scene.

Quebec Provincial Election Date Likely Between June and Autumn

House Prorogued — 22nd Parliament Session Produced Interesting Bills of Legislation

By WILLIAM STEWART

Quebec, April 5 (CP) — Quebec Province awaits announcement of the date for provincial general elections now that the Legislature session has ended.

The fourth session of the 22nd Quebec Legislature was prorogued last Thursday a few minutes after Premier Duplessis told the Legislative Assembly electors will be given a chance to "pass their sentence".

The election date remains a secret and is not expected to be announced by the Premier for a few weeks yet. Speculation favors a date between June and autumn.

During the last days of the 12-week session, Opposition members tried to draw out the Premier on the date but his replies to their questions gave them no hint.

While the bulk of the government's legislative program was submitted to the House early, the session which lasted through 111 sittings of the Legislative Assembly, provincial lower house, was arduous.

The fact that it was generally recognized as a pre-election meeting of the provincial parliament sharpened up the debate, which occasionally was carried on in an electric atmosphere.

The Union Nationale's 51 supporters, apart from the speaker, permitted the government to win all house votes by a comfortable margin.

Opposition Leader Adelard Godbout headed a group of 33 Liberals. Five of the Assembly's 91 seats were held by independent members and one, Montreal St. Louis, remained vacant.

The most important legislation approved both by the Legislative Assembly and the Legislative Council, provincial upper house, was four housing bills.

They authorized the government to pay a share of interest on private housing loans, permitted municipalities to make easy property and taxation conditions for home builders and provided a commission inquiry into the housing problem. Companies were authorized to grant housing loans to employees.

There were grants of $5,000,000 for farm loans, $5,000,000 for bridge improvement and $3,000,000 for land draining credits. Nearly $7,000,000 in government subscriptions to Laval University, the University of Montreal and the University of Bishop's College at Lennoxville were approved.

A labor bill to speed up arbitration proceedings and a special bill for investigation of fish and game conservation were among other measures.

The Legislature debated vigorously a bill to extend for a year the term of existing legislation permitting a taxation agreement between the Federal and Quebec governments.

Another strongly-worded discussion dealt with Provincial government action in taking custody of Polish treasures which had been hidden at the Hotel Dieu in Quebec City.

On the eve of prorogation, Premier Duplessis announced that the government will send expeditions to northeastern Quebec to survey the boundary line between the Quebec territory and Labrador territory given to Newfoundland by a 20-year-old Privy Council judgment.

Two Autos Stolen Quickly Recovered

Police Chief Warns Against Leaving Keys in Car

With the arrival of spring, seasonal marauders appear to be already active — following the usual experience of this centre and other towns similarly situated. . . Two automobiles have been stolen during the past week. Dr. L. P. Sauvé's car, stolen from the private garage beside his home on Foundry Street during Friday night, was recovered in Montreal on one of the city thoroughfares at 4.20 o'clock Saturday morning. Geo. Y. Deacon's car, left outside the High School while Mr. Deacon was attending a meeting Tuesday evening, was taken, and at 1.30 a.m. was discovered unharmed on Barron Avenue near the police offices.

In view of these experiences, the Chief of Police reiterates a warning to all motorists to remove their keys when parking an automobile on the town streets. This precaution will make car thefts more difficult and save the owners much inconvenience and anxiety.

Three Rescued From Ice Floes On Ottawa River

L. D. Masson, a 47-year-old employee of the Montreal Post Office, related to the Montreal Gazette on Monday how he and two other men were saved from what appeared to be certain death Saturday in the rushing, ice-filled waters of the Ottawa River, through the efforts of a 30-year-old Pointe Fortune restaurant keeper.

"It was an experience I shall never forget as long as I live, and I owe my life to the courage of Paul Desjardins", the Montrealer told a Gazette reporter.

The other two rescued men William McLean, 75 and James Crosby, 73, both of Pointe Fortune, lost their outboard motor boat in the grinding ice floe as they attempted to go to Masson's rescue.

"I was on a week-end holiday and took a rowboat onto the river Saturday afternoon", Mr. Masson related. "A heavy wind forced my boat into the tapering channel of the rapids opposite Pointe Fortune. Huge ice floes lined each side and a large ice jam lay at the foot of the white water. It was impossible to make the nearest shore, 1,000 feet away, by crossing the ice on foot.

"The rowboat swirled broadside into the jam and started filling with water. I was numb and nearly exhausted, but continued to cry for help. Luckily, Desjardins heard me and rowed downstream to the jam, managed to get me aboard and my boat onto the ice, then rowed back against the wind and current into clear water and the shore.

"It was just as Desjardins assisted me ashore that we heard calls for help from McLean and Crosby, who apparently started out to rescue me in their rowboat equipped with an outboard motor. Their boat was caught the same as mine had been and had already gone under the ice floe throwing Crosby, who weighs 200 pounds, into the water.

"Meanwhile McLean had managed to get on a nearby cake of ice and was keeping the struggling man's head above water by holding desperately to a gaff hook which Crosby was gripping with both hands.

"Desjardins repeated his perilous trip once again, rowing the distance downstream to the jam, getting both men aboard and rowing back up the narrow channel to shore".

Earle T. Moore Elected to Council Town of Mt. Royal

Earle T. Moore, who is linked with this county both through parentage and recreational interests, recently received an acclamation to the council of his home city, the Town of Mount Royal. This elevation to the aldermanic ranks indicates the recognition of fellow citizens for Mr. Moore's civic interests, which have engaged considerable of his time and effort.

Earle T. Moore is a grandson of the late Tom Moore, and son of the late Chas. Moore, both of whom were well known residents of Lachute. His leisure-time interests still attract him to these parts, for Alderman Moore maintains a summer cottage at Lake Macdonald.

In business he has been associated for the past 21 years with Moore Brothers Machinery Co. Ltd., in which company he is a director and vice-president. He is a Rotarian, director of Dominion Commercial Travellers Association and vice-president of the Boy Scouts Association; in the Town of Mount Royal he has been a member of the Citizens Association for several years.

District Governor on Official Visit Heard at Brownsb'g Rotary Meeting

District Governor Bill Amery paid an official visit to the Brownsburg Rotary Club last Thursday, and gave a sincere address stressing the four-fold ideals of the Rotary movement — Club Service, Vocational Service, Community Service and International Service.

The District Governor, having visited this club on two previous occasions, was cordially greeted among old friends. He was introduced to the audience by President Wes Freeland, and thanked by Rotarian Linton W. Armstrong.

Title of the speaker's address was "Horizons", and the following brief extracts indicate the portent of his message on this occasion.

"What a thing is acquaintance—friendship. In the long inventory of Rotary's gifts to man, it is, I confidently believe, the item of greatest value. It would head my list. It is friendship that brings to us an understanding appreciation of our fellowman, a much better thing than just knowing him. It is friendship — fellowship — which governs all that Rotary is and does.

"Take a look at the world. Look realistically. Here are the millions who through the fearful years, dreamed hopefully of the dawn of an era of freedom and peace and security. Now, beset by hunger, homelessness, inflation, civil war and fears of yet another war, they grow discouraged. Was their vision only a mirage? Of all the dangers about us today, one of the gravest, I believe, is that the long suffering peoples of earth may lose faith. What a need then, is for men of all nations to bolster that faith, to revive ebbing hope.

"Of far greater importance than material things is the production of ideas and ideals.

"Our ideas and ideals must be manifested in a high code of business and social ethics.

"Through education the world can gain the knowledge that breeds understanding, good judgment, confidence, generosity, abundance and their by-product — peace.

"Rotary's answer to this challenge is the two million dollars Foundation Fund being subscribed this year by Rotarians all over the world as a memorial to Paul Harris, and which will be used primarily to provide fellowships for advanced study to selected prospective leaders.

"Community service is the flower of Rotary.

"Rotary's method is not to seek out the individual able and willing to emulate the glorious contributions of George Peabody and Florence Nightingale, but to accomplish insofar as it can, 'the acceptance by everyone of the ideal of service'. Two thousand years ago, the Great Master said, 'He who would be great among you, let him be a good servant'.

"Rotary International is tremendously interested in the United Nations Organization and our San Francisco convention unanimously approved full support to UNO by Rotary.

"The success of the United Nations depends upon the intelligence of men, and no one in all the world is great enough or has the right to underrate this intelligence.

"Today, opportunities are constantly increasing for more men to develop the kind of intelligent thinking needed for the continuation and advancement of our cultural civilization.

"Thoughts are weapons. They are powers for good and evil, both in the life of a nation and in the life of an individual. Your thoughts and mine can make of your life and mine, a thing of radiant beauty, of fascinating interest, of eternal inspiration for those who are to follow after us. . These are not just words; they are proved truths."

"From a small beginning, a few years ago, in the centre of the new world, the assembly lines of Rotary, powered by a passionate desire for universal friendship and understanding, will one day soon, reach into every hamlet and village on earth. When this is accomplished and Rotary has placed its clubs into all the organized communities of the world and welded its bonds of fellowship across every national boundary and into the life of every member, it will then be ready for its ultimate destiny".

Scalded to Death At Hawkesbury

Hawkesbury — Falling into a tub of hot water in her home near Hawkesbury recently, three-year-old Germaine Françoise Desjardins suffered severe scalding which resulted in her death, in the Notre Dame Hospital.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Desjardins was putting some paper into the stove and allowed the child to put some in too. Stepping backward from the stove, the little girl stumbled and fell into the tub of hot water that had been placed on the floor for a moment. Dr. R. Laviolette of l'Orignal attended the child.

3 Arrested, Alleged Hold-Up Planned St. Andrews Bank

Between St. Andrews and St. Placide yesterday afternoon Traffic Officer Léon Laframboise arrested three Montrealers who had allegedly visited St. Andrews with intention of staging a hold-up at the Bank of Nova Scotia.

According to police report, the trio arrived just after closing time, 3.05 p.m., and knocked at the door for admittance. The bank manager, however, refused to open the door, and the three men sped away in their car. It appears that their haste brought them to grief, for they crashed into a power pole half a mile from the village along the river road and plunged into the river 300 yards farther on.

Officer Laframboise, who patrols the St. Andrews-St. Placide section, arrived at the scene, and shortly after, at 4.15 p.m., arrested the trio two miles along the highway. One of the men, he stated last night, carried a loaded revolver. He confiscated the gun and drove his captives to Lachute. He sounded his horn outside the police station, and the town officers relieved him of his charges, lodging them in the local jail. At this point Detective Leopold Dauphin took over, and the men were removed to Montreal for custody.

It is alleged the trio had been driving a stolen automobile.

A Trinity of Turmoil

— By M. V. Trayers —

Palestine is a small country which is facing the world with an enormous problem. Until a generation ago, this narrow strip of land was a political and economic backwater, almost untouched by the surging movements of modern times. Today, a baffling tangle of rival claims and bitterly opposing interests has made it the scene of violence and terror — "a small green land charged with hatred". Acute as the local situation may be, the issue of Palestine is not simply a question of the rights of Jews and Arabs within the confines of that country. The policy for Jewish immigration is involved with politics and strategy in the whole area of the middle East.

Palestine, itself, is essential to the control of the Suez Canal. And the Arab territories, of which Palestine forms only a small part, possess the world's richest oil resources, and lie in a key position on the routes between Europe and Asia. Great Britain, because of her stake in the Far Eastern Empire, has traditionally sought to preserve an ascendancy in this area. But, with the shift of world balance, other great powers, notably the Soviet Union and the United States, are showing increasing concern in these Arab countries which form a bridge to the Orient and to Africa.

Italy looks like making a huge profit out of the differences between West and East. The United States, Britain and France have made a joint proposal that Trieste should be returned to Italian sovereignty. On grounds of justice and high policy there is a convincing case to be made for this proposal, which has been acclaimed with enthusiasm by Italy; but there has been no disguise of the fact that the proposal has been made at a time when it must influence the result of the general election in Italy and it must by very damaging to the prospects of the Communist Party. Yugoslavia is as furious as Italy is delighted, and Russia deeply resents the Western manoeuvre because of her interests in both Yugoslavia and the Communist Party in Italy. We must await the result of the Italian elections on April 18 to appraise the worth of this return to Italy.

Berlin is supposed to be governed by an Allied Control Council formed by Russia and the Western Allies. Actually the two sides are not on speaking terms with each other. When they did have meetings together they never agreed about anything, and it settled down to each making their own decisions for their respective zones of occupation. Recently the Russians asserted they had a right to search all passengers going over their occupation zone between American and British occupation zones. Armed guards were placed at points over which the traffic had to go, and searches were instituted. The British and Americans were taken aback, and it was some time before they recovered their poise. The Americans were the first to retaliate by preventing Russian nationals going over their zone, and caught several high ranking Russian officers in this net. The Russians withdrew their guards and informed the Allies they were willing to "talk Turkey" — and there the Gilbert and Sullivan situation remains.

FARM LAND

London, Ont. (CP) — A method of evaluating farm land by its productivity over a long period will be explored by a committee here with the object of eventually applying it to real estate purchases in Western Ontario, R. W. Pawley, district representative of Veterans' Land Act, said recently.

Gatineau LINES

On farms, in cities, towns and villages throughout the section of Quebec Province north of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers from Campbell's Bay to Rawdon live more than 45,000 people and their families who use electricity supplied by the Gatineau Power Company.

There is a close community of interest between these people and the Gatineau Power Company. The Company develops natural resources to provide a service which adds comfort, convenience, health and pleasure to the lives of its 45,000 customers and their families. In turn, our customers make the existence of the Company possible.

Because the Company has such an important interest in its customers—and because the customers in turn have some interest in Gatineau — we have always tried by one means or another to keep you informed about what the Company is doing, what its plans are, and how they affect the people in the area. For this purpose, we have used advertisements, pamphlets and other channels of information.

Now we are undertaking a new experiment in this field. We are launching this weekly column in which we will chat about ourselves, about our plans, about electricity in general, or about anything else which may come to mind. In this way we want:—

To let you know what is going on in your electricity Company;

To let you know what we are thinking about;

To let you know what is happening in the fast-moving world of electricity.

The idea of writing a column for customers is somewhat new in the electrical world — but then Gatineau has introduced new ideas before. We were, for example, one of the first companies, in Quebec, to use the one-meter system, and the promotional stepdown rates for electricity which encouraged the use of household appliances, and helped to reduce the average charge for electric service.

Since we are experimenting with this column, we will naturally welcome any suggestions you care to send along.

Cause and Prevention Of Calf Scours

(Experimental Farm News)

During the late winter and early spring months many farmers and breeders have trouble with white scours in new-born calves. The calf may be born apparently healthy or it may be noticeably weak at birth. The first sign of white scours usually appears on the first or second day of life, with loss of appetite, dullness and fever. The calf will be weak, and stand with arched back ad hanging ears. Scours develop, weight is lost, eyes become sunken and coat stary. The lungs become overloaded with the poisonous by-products of the bacteria, and pneumonia often develops as a secondary condition causing death. Microbes are the actual cause of the disease and most calves either carry the infection at birth or pick it up after birth. It is those that lack resistance which succumb to the infection, says George W. Muir, Dominion Animal Husbandman at Ottawa.

Prevention through building up resistance involves proper care and feeding of the dam during pregnancy. A cow on good green pasture gets plenty of carotene containing Vitamin A, the disease-resisting vitamin. She is able to store the surplus of this vitamin in her liver and carry it over for a period. Towards the end of the winter feeding, however, the stored supply dwindles, particularly if the cow is on a diet lacking green-colored feed, such as well-cured green-colored hay. This means that a calf born on pasture or early in the winter season is usually well fortified through its dam with Vitamin A, while a calf born in the late winter or early spring months is not so well fortified. It also explains why there is more scours in the early spring months than at other seasons.

Another consideration in prevention of calf scours is that the first milk or "colostrum" of the dam is more strongly fortified with Vitamin A and antibodies to fight microbes than is the milk from later milkings.

It is important that the calf get a big feed of this first milk or colostrum. It should then be allowed time to digest and assimilate this first protective feed, for 24 hours or more. Subsequent feeding should consist of comparatively small amounts of its own dam's milk given at frequent intervals, say three times per day, until the calf gets going strong.

Good management of the calves plays an important part. Allowing the dam to lick her calf helps as it dries it off quickly with a stimulating friction. The calf should then have a warm stall with a dry bed.

If in spite of the foregoing preventive measures scours develop, the infected animal should be isolated, all milk withheld from diet, and a mild laxative, such as mineral oil or a small dose of castor oil, given. This should be followed by very small quantities of milk containing up to 25 per cent of lime water. Return to a full diet of milk should be very gradual.

For more detailed information on calf scours, write to Dominion Department of Agriculture and ask for Publication W.P.S. 35.

Ontario Amendment Curbs Autoists Under License Suspension

Toronto (CP) — A person caught driving his own motor vehicle while his license is either suspended or cancelled will forfeit the machine to the Crown under an amendment to the Highway Traffic Act introduced in the Ontario Legislature just recently.

Under the amendment, introduced by Hon. George Doucett, Minister of Highways, the same penalty will be imposed if a person whose driving permit is under suspension or has been cancelled, applies for or obtains a new permit before the suspension is lifted or the permit has officially been restored.

There is also a provision for fines ranging from $25 to $100 and a jail term not exceeding 30 days in addition to the confiscation.

Difficulties which have arisen since establishment of the unsatisfied judgment fund last July are overcome by other amendments. One enables a person injured by a car which has been stolen to sue for damages against the fund if the thief is not apprehended but the ownership of the car is known.

Foreword to Clean-Up

URGING co-operation with the spring Beautification Campaign, Hon. Paul Martin, Minister of National Health and Welfare, has issued the following statement:

"Appreciating the importance of sanitary environment, Canadian health authorities endorse wholeheartedly the clean-up drives which have been carried out during the past few years in connection with the Canadian Beautification campaign.

"Health and comfort depend in large measure on cleanliness and tidiness of conditions among which we live and labor. Any movement aimed at making surroundings more pleasant and orderly — and hence, safer and more sanitary — is thus decidedly worthwhile".

The sponsors of the Campaign, the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada, have established dates of May 17 to May 29, and it is understood that close to 400 communities will take part.

Housing Blues

BACK in the plushy pre-war days when bricks were plentiful and "To Let" signs came a dime a dozen, tenants occupied the driver's seat and house-hunters took choice for granted. But housing shortages have made even Hobson's choice a race for the tape and spiralling living costs have exploded personal budgets into ribbons long since.

Give a thought to the city-dweller trying to get even a room within a salary buffeted on one side by higher food costs and slammed on another by stiff increases in clothing prices, with take-home pay reduced by deductions never heard of before the war. Picture him ferreting out a place to live when what he occupies has been sold over his head and the good old squeeze play for owner-occupancy begins.

Several techniques bring results if pursued long and hard enough. Beating the next home-hunter to the telephone after the first edition of the paper has come out will resurrect a house next the gas works, or a room on the third floor back on a street long past its years of Victorian gentility. Picking a district and running the gamut of dogs and "no pedlars or agents" signs may produce the answer, but more than likely sprouts the bitter reflection that people who have a decent place to live don't know how lucky they are and care less.

In the end one has to choose between the park bench and ostracism. The grapevine is the only communications system that can smell out vacancies. Pestering one's friends and relatives, quizzing meal companions, stopping people on the street, wailing like a banshee may turn the trick for the sake of peace and quiet, but does nothing for one's popularity.

The city room-renter can't even go native and set up a teepee on the back forty. Short of winning a sweepstake and buying a mansion for single occupancy, the old shoe-horn method puts a roof over his head until the next turn of fortune's wheel brings round the same old problem.

Should Give Them This

OUR FEDERAL Government has quite properly warned the Russian Embassy that it would demand the immediate recall of any diplomatic official making offensive speeches like that made by one I. O. Scherbatiuk at St. Vital, Manitoba, last July.

This Soviet employee had the outrageous insolence to lecture Canadian Ukrainians who welcomed displaced persons to this country. "They believe in all the lies of displaced persons", he was quoted by Ottawa as saying in his speech "because they themselves have long ago lost all sense of truth and honor. . . The Ukrainian people do not pay the slightest attention to this twaddle of the nationalists. The Ukrainian people are preoccupied with their own great and noble business of improving the material welfare of the working masses. . ."

Just how far this "noble business" has progressed in the Soviet paradise, alongside the notorious accumulation of wealth and privileged by Communism's imperial bureaucrats, can be fairly well gauged by a report made by the American Federation of Labor on living standards in Soviet Russia. The A.F. of L., as a result of first-hand investigations, estimates the real wages of the average Russian and compares them to the real wages of the average American in this graphic table:

To Buy	In the United States You Work	In Russia They Work
Daily Food	3 hours	9 hours
Cotton Stockings	1 hour	24 hours
Cotton Shirt	3 hours	320 hours
Woollen Gloves	2 hours	100 hours
Alarm Clock	4 hours	160 hours
Lady's Coat	75 hours	1000 hours
Bottle of Beer	10 minutes	8 hours

U.S.A. FARMERS HARD HIT BY DOLLAR SHORTAGE

Europe Hoards Money, Buying Machinery and Cutting Food Purchases

By SIGRID ARNE

Washington (CP) — The record of the things that Americans sold to Europe last year shows that when other nations have to hoard their money it is the United States farmer who suffers.

Early last year American dollars began to be short over most of the world, but particularly in the European nations which had fought the war. They were forced to figure how their dollars could help them the most.

They chose to tighten their belts and use their dollars for the machines which they hope will increase their income in the long run.

You can trace the story through figures on American exports gathered by the department of commerce.

They show many things:

1. That the Europeans who were in the war have already started hoarding their dollars as the Marshall planners would like —that is, spending for the sort of essentials that will bring Europe back to earning its own way.

2. That American farmers were losing sales in 1947, as compared with 1946, at the same time that American makers of machines were doubling their sales.

3. That American sales have been dropping in almost every part of the world since early summer last year. How much farther they will fall no one knows. But if the Marshall plan is adopted, those who are backing it say they expect Europe to buy at about the 1947 rate.

Good Home Market

In normal times the loss of sales abroad through the last part of last year should have begun to show up at home in lower prices. That hasn't happened noticeably. America still needs plenty and has the money to buy whatever farms and factories turn out. When some of that need and money dries up, prices should start down.

Here are some of the things that happened to American sales abroad last year:

For the year as a whole, the dollar volume of sales jumped, and plenty. They went from $9,700,000,000 in 1946 to $14,400,000,000 in 1947.

But the peak was early last summer. Since then sales have dropped in all important markets except South America. They kept at an even keel in some of the smaller markets such as New Zealand, Australia, Algeria and South Africa. But they dropped off in Europe, Canada, Asia and Africa.

The drops in sales came in meat, dairy products, eggs, vegetable preparations, sugar, tobacco, manufactured leather and raw cotton.

But they increased, even in Europe, in coal, oil, metals, machines and vehicles.

France, of all Europe, spent the most money on American machines and vehicles last year. She bought up to $242,471,000 worth. Britain, which produces machinery herself, bought $99,723,000 worth. Portugal, Netherlands, and the Belgium-Luxembourg area bought almost as much as the British.

Careless Smokers Cause Many Fires

Alarmed by the many disastrous fires which have occurred recently in Montreal and throughout the province, the Quebec Safety League points out that a goodly number of these fires have been created by tossing away lighted matches, cigars or cigarettes.

Smokers should make certain matches and cigarette butts are out before being tossed away. If smokers would only think for one moment the disastrous consequences which may result through such negligence which causes most of the destructive fires each year, they undoubtedly would be more careful, added the League.

The League also reminds mothers that matches should be placed in a tin box and well out of reach of children, who should be taught the dangers of playing with matches.

CHANGE POISON LAWS?

Montreal (CP)—Greater uniformity of provincial laws regulating the sale of poisons is urged by the Canadian Medical Association Journal. Some provinces label certain drugs poisons which in other provinces are sold without regulation.

WALK ON THE RIGHT SIDE OF SIDEWALKS

Busy sidewalks, like busy highways, become congested and hard to travel unless there is some control of traffic. To eliminate accidents and to make travel more orderly, automotive vehicles must stay on the right side of the road. If everyone kept to the right side of the sidewalk, fewer collisions would result. Traffic would speed up and walking would be easier. That's "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

great nations. He said that there was a tendency to take freedom for granted in Canada, and told how on a recent visit overseas he had learned that the people envied us our good fortune on this side of the ocean. He maintained that it was necessary for Canadians to be reminded from time to time that they were the most privileged people on this earth, in order that they might be on guard against those who would change their way of life.

Dr. R. Dumais expressed the thanks of the meeting, and said that he hoped Mr. Richardson would attend another such gathering at a future date.

President Bertrand L'Heureux invited Georges H. Héon, M.P., to address the meeting. Mr. Héon endorsed the sentiments of the guest speaker and extended an invitation to the members of the Chamber of Commerce to ettend an afternoon session of parliament in the near future. It is expected a large number will take advantage of this invitation within the next two weeks.

Elementary School "Spins Time Away"

No Shortage of Carpets As Kids Learn ABC of Rug Making

Hope, B.C., April 5 (CP) — A unique subject has been introduced into the elementary school here — the teaching of weaving.

Thirty pupils ranging in ages from six to 10 literally spin the time away.

School hours are not wasted, however, for under the tuition of Mrs. Peggy Maxwell the youngsters are making rugs out of wool straight from the sheeps' backs.

They do all their own carding, spinning and weaving and also draw and work out designs in wool for the hooked rugs. The classroom has a centuries-old spinning wheel, a loom, a frame for hooked rugs and carding tools.

The results of all this activity is that no homes around this district are short of rugs.

ARE YOU GETTING THE TAX DEDUCTIONS YOU ARE ENTITLED TO?

The Farm Account Book and Income Tax Guide shows you how!

How much can you deduct for depreciation on your tractor? Your automobile? A shed? What expenses can you deduct? There are 75 articles in common farm use plus a wide variety of deductible expenses for which depreciation can be charged—all listed in the new Farm Account Book. These legal deductions from your income are a big question at Income Tax Time and the answers to them and to dozens of other questions are in this new Farm Account Book.

A Record of Your Transactions and a Guide to Your Income Tax Return

WHAT IT DOES—Keeps a clean record, helps you budget—and shows you whether you have made or lost money on your operations. Shows you, too, what your best lines are and where you may be farming at a loss. Saves you hours of time from book keeping. First ten pages are for your receipts—from sales of crops, seeds, livestock, poultry, dairy products and all other produce. Then come twelve pages of all farm expenses—you are reminded of items you might otherwise forget. Establish a basic herd, apply for the three-year-average plan, calculate your depreciation item by item. These are money-savers for every farmer. They're all in the new Farm Account Book.

DEDUCTIONS—Every farmer is entitled to deductions and he is expected by the department to take full advantage of his rights. The Farm Account Book tells you about many items in easy question-and-answer form. For instance—"What can I claim as expenses for repairs?" The answer is "any expense to keep a machine or a building in working order can be claimed." Altogether there are answers to over 60 questions. No one is required to pay more than his fair share of tax. Comments from Letters on the New Farm Account Book and Income Tax Guide: "A long awaited step for the benefit and progress of our Canadian farmers" . . . "Takes the kinks out of keeping farm records" . . . "Pleased to recommend this Account Book for farm people" . . . "Record keeping in its simplest form—a real help" . . . "Something we have been needing for a long time".

What's the unusual feature of the family income plan

The Family Income Plan is a life insurance policy specially designed for the man with a family.
A small additional cost to the ordinary life premium provides a $10 or $15 monthly income for each $1000 of protection. In the event of death before a specified age, this income is paid regularly to his family until this age would have been reached. At the end of that time his family receives the full face value of the policy in addition.
This plan is particularly valuable before the time children become self-supporting.

Rotary Will Join In Tri-District 3-Day Conference

Three New Governors to Be Nominated

Montreal — The Westward, Verdun, Westmount and Brownsburg Rotary Clubs have signified full interest in the Tri-District Conference of the 170th, 171st and 172nd Districts of Rotary International, to be held in Montreal on April 25, 26 and 27, as announced by President E. Campbell Budge, of the Rotary Club of Montreal, sponsoring the Convention. Representatives from all Rotary Clubs which comprise these Districts will participate in the Conference to discuss ways of increasing the effectiveness of their Rotary service activities.

Principal speakers at the Conference will be Rotary International President Kendrick Guernsey and Rotary International Representative Carl E. Bolte.

Mr. Guernsey has been active in boys' work for many years and has been secretary of the National Boys' and Girls' Week Committee for the United States since 1933. He is also Florida State President of the United Service Organization.

Carl Bolte has served Rotary International as vice-president, director, District Governor and committeeman.

Nomination of Governors

One of the important matters to come before the meeting will be the nomination of the three District Governors for the Rotary year 1948-49, which begins July 1.

According to President E. Campbell Budge, who is in charge of arrangements for the conference, the highlight of the three day session will be at the Montreal Forum when the Mendelssohn Choir of Toronto, under the direction of Sir Ernest MacMillan, will present a particularly fine program. This internationally famous choir comes to Montreal especially for the Rotary Conference.

The annual meeting of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts Association will take place in Ottawa on April 16, when the report of the Executive Committee on the work of the past year will be presented. Following the election of officers a meeting of the new Executive Committee will be held.

Badminton Tourney April 24th For Tip-Top Trophy

On April 24 the Lachute Auditorium will again echo to the smashing and batting of shuttlecocks, at the annual round robin tournament for the Tip-Top badminton trophy. Four clubs have submitted their entries; Calumet, Kilmar, Lachute and Brownsburg are now in the process of arranging their teams, with a minimum of 12 players each — six men and six ladies. Singles matches will be played only in the A Class, whereas men's doubles, ladies' doubles and mixed doubles will be played in the three classes respectively.

During the season these clubs have visited each other on different occasions, and judging by the scores attained the Lachute Club ranks high. Ian Gordon, member of the Lachute Match Committee, is confident his club will win the trophy this year, as they have a large and active group. On the other hand, President Russ Summers of Brownsburg intends to put up a good fight with his crew, to retain the trophy which the Brownsburg Club has won since its advent in the Lower Ottawa Valley Badminton League — and who knows, Kilmar or Calumet may give them both a surprise.

Grenville, unfortunately, will not be able to enter this season, due to the disbanding of their club after their hall burned down last winter.

Central Board Considers Needs of District Schools

Local School Hours to be Extended to 4 p.m.

The regular meeting of the Central School Board was held in Lachute High School last Thursday evening.

A delegation of French-speaking ratepayers from St. Andrews East, headed by the secretary-treasurer of that municipality, attended the meeting for the purpose of discussing combined bus routes in Isle aux Chats and Lachute Road, in order to avoid duplication.

It was reported that a petition had been circulated in Cote St. Gabriel for the purpose of establishing definite boundaries for that municipality, and that a majority of the electors had signed. The original school municipality of Cote St. Gabriel consisted of various lots scattered throughout four different ranges in St. Sauveur. The result was that, over a period of many years, there was considerable confusion with the neighboring municipality of Shawbridge.

A report was also presented concerning the overcrowded condition of the Intermediate School at Morin Heights. Representatives had attended a meeting of that Board the previous day, when it was learned that even with an additional classroom and a fourth teacher, conditions would not be greatly improved if all school children from Mille Isles attended this school next year. It is expected that, if present arrangements prove satisfactory, the enrolment will have increased to such an extent it will be possible to provide better educational facilities in that area than ever before.

A report on the proposed extension to the Arundel school revealed that the detailed plans and specifications are now being prepared, and that it was expected work would begin early this summer.

A notification from the local Board announced that the school day at Lachute High School would be extended to 4 p.m. beginning the first week in May.

Temperance Theme Stressed at Union Protestant Service

In the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church last Sunday, Dr. John Coburn, D.D., secretary of the Canadian Temperance Federation, spoke at a combined meeting of the Protestant congregations of this town. The church was filled to capacity.

Dr. Coburn's splendid address was illustrated with motion pictures. The speaker traced the tremendous increase in the consumption of alcoholic beverages during the past 20 years, and showed the distressing effects it is having upon our modern Canadian living, in the break-up of homes, in an increased number of motor accidents and crimes, and most alarming of all, in the increase of juvenile delinquency.

The problem which the rising consumption of liquor has created for the young people of this land cannot be over-emphasized, Dr. Coburn thought. Today, as never before, social pressure is urging young people to drink, and until our younger generation can be convinced of the folly of such action, there is danger ahead.

The speaker remarked with gratification upon revival of the Temperance Federation all over Canada in the past few years, until it now forms an active group in every province. He stressed the great need of spreading information of a constructive nature. The progress of this cause required financial aid and the support of all right-thinking people.

A token of the favor and interest evidenced in this work of the Temperance Federation, was evidenced in the generous offering, which amounted to over $150.

Q.W.I. to Take Part In Provincial Contest

Quebec Department of Agriculture has announced that Quebec will take part in the nation-wide contest sponsored by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Full details of the contest are not known as yet, but a $400 prize is being offered for the best lay-out of a farm home. Quebec Women's Institutes, representing the English-speaking farm women, will enter this competition. Keen interest has been shown in rural housing in recent years, and it is hoped that all rural people will take advantage of this opportunity being offered them.

Warns Fishermen, Permits Required

That all fisherman enjoying this sport in Quebec Province—whether resident or non-resident — require a license to ply the rod and troll, is a fact not universally understood. With the opening of the trout season it is stressed by Leslie Bates, game warden in Argenteuil, that sportsmen require licenses for fishing in lakes or streams — these certificates ($1.10 for Quebec residents and $5 for non-residents) being obtainable from agents located throughout the district. Ignorance of the law, says Mr. Bates, is no excuse for non-possession of a permit.

Couple Honored at Anniversary Tea

Montreal — Mrs. W. H. Barnes, of Notre Dame de Grace, entertained at a tea in honor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Staniforth, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary recently. The decorations were gold and white, with roses and daffodils on the tea table.

Mr. and Mrs. Staniforth were presented with a gold bedroom clock from the family. They also received many congratulatory cards, letters and telegrams.

Celebrate Their Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Staniforth, of Arundel, Que., who celebrated their golden wedding on April 6. Both were born here in Lachute, and were married at the old Mackie Presbyterian Church. . . They have three sons, Percy, of Arundel, Perley, of Whiterock, B.C., and Haig Staniforth, of Ottawa; two daughters, Mrs. C. J. Baugh, of Joliette, and Mrs. W. H. Barnes, of N.D.G., and 10 grandchildren. Mr. Staniforth was Mayor of Arundel for many years and a prominent county figure.

Less Emotional Oratory, A Keener Responsibility

Gen. Crerar, Guest Speaker, Discusses Citizenship at Montreal Rotary Club

Speaker at the Montreal Rotary recently was General H. D. G. Crerar. General Crerar, speaking on "Democracy and Citizenship" said that democracy as a system of government is only capable of functioning if selflessness or public welfare is held of more importance by the great majority of the population than selfishness or personal gain.

Stressing the need in Canada for a wider and deeper understanding of citizenship if this country under the democratic system is to develop into a great and powerful country, General Crerar noted that the term "freedom" was a much abused word, and in spite of all the eloquence on the subject, he did not consider that democracy implied personal or group freedom unless very important qualifications were well understood to apply. In practice, democracy only meant freedom to the quite limited extent that the self-determination of the individual or group was not exploited to the disadvantage or injustice of others.

"I deeply believe that no system of government offers higher possibilities to the human race than does the democratic", said Gen. Crerar. "I would emphasize however that there is also none which places higher demands on the virtue, the understanding, the energy and the time of those who desire to maintain it. In my opinion", he continued, "we have definite need in this country for less emotional oratory on freedom and self-determination, and a lot more consideration and development of that essential requirement in a democracy — a sense of general communal responsibility".

"AN EXACT REPORT"

(London Free Press)

Hansard is supposed to be a verbatim report of parliamentary proceedings and members should not be permitted to delete whole debates or to eliminate statements of which they are ashamed or to alter the meaning. There have been a number of instances of this character in recent years. If Hansard is to be of any value to the public or to history then it should be an exact report of proceedings.

K. of C. Conference Topics -- Health And Education

A series of constructive conferences presented before the local Knights of Columbus council is proving popular among the membership.

Dr. Gerald Leclaire, physician of the Department of Health's anti-tuberculoscis clinics in Montreal, gave an enlightening lecture last week on sources of infection, symptoms and treatment of this disease. The speaker was presented by Dr. L. Turcotte, Argenteuil County health officer, and thanks of the gathering were voiced by Dr. Jules Lafleur.

On Tuesday of this week Dr. Roger Lavigne, local practitioner, gave a discourse on the social diseases, illustrated with films. Introduced by ex-Grand Knight J. E. Dumais, the speaker was thanked by Dr. L. Turcotte.

The Grand Knight of the local council, J. G. Lamontagne, presided at both sessions, and luncheon was served to the assembly.

A mixed party for members and their wives, with a program of entertainment, is arranged for this evening. . . On Sunday next the members will attend communion in a body, at the parish church, and in the afternoon will be addressed by M. Joseph Dansereau, professor of the Social Sciences at U. of M., who is also director of studies for Grades X, XI and XII under the Montreal Catholic School Commission. Subject of his talk will be "Responsibility of the Individual" — the speaker being introduced by Georges Beaulieu, of the Lachute School Commission, and thanked by Georges H. Héon, K.C., M.P., who is also a former Grand Knight here. A distinguished guest on this occasion will be L'Abbé Deschambault, chancellor of St. Boniface, who is prominently active in Franch-speaking radio of the West.

Marshall Plan Discussed by Rotary Speaker

The Rotary Club of Brownsburg, at their meeting last Thursday, had as guest speaker Col. Kurt Swinton, who gave an outstanding address on "Implications of the Marshall Plan". Col. Swinton was introduced by Rotarian "Ted" Harrison, of the Westmount Club, who was a guest of this club for the occasion.

Col. Swinton gave a complete and concise explanation of the Marshall Plan, with possible resulting economic and political effects on the world. The Marshall Plan is not a continuing relief plan from the U.S.A. Financial aid is necessary, but Europe cannot be saved on this alone. Increased production efforts by Europe itself are necessary. Reconstruction stressed more than the rehabilitation angle. Politically, communistic work in Europe has swept the country like a vacuum. The Marshall Plan differs from the Truman Doctrine. The Marshall Plan is open to the Russians to join, but as the Russians declined to do so, it makes the Plan a primary weapon against communism. The paramount objective of the plan is to put Europe financially on its feet, and in this way give encouragement to 16 countries with a population of 300 million people, who are at a loss as to how they are going to live at present, world commerce being affected by communistic disruption. It is almost a necessity for Germany to become a self-supporting country again for economical reasons. Economic unstability causes lack of faith and confidence in people. Under conditions of this nature, communism thrives. It is hoped that once countries in Europe are made self-supporting, the world will progress, rather than fall behind the "iron curtain". As to the expense of the Marshall Plan, it has been proven it will be infinitely cheaper than three weeks of war.

The Plan is for peace and reconstruction, rather than for war and destruction. If the Plan succeeds, the Russians will be checked in that both sides will meet and talk. If the Plan fails, Europe will undoubtedly fall into the hands of Russia. . . There should be sufficient proof within two years to know whether the Plan is going to work. Col. Swinton stressed the importance of the voting to take place in Italy shortly. The outcome will considerably sway the world towards success or failure.

The speaker was thanked by Rotarian John Chalmers.

Bereavement to Business Family

Late Mme Honoré Tessier

The death of a resident well known among the French-speaking community, Mme Honoré Tessier, occurred last Friday at the age of 65. She leaves a large family, her sons being widely known through their retail store enterprises — and there was a very large attendance of sympathizing friends at the funeral Tuesday morning, held at the St. Julien Parish Church, Lachute Mills.

Surviving are five sons, Alderic, Laurent, Omer, Leo and Claude; and seven daughters, Dorina, Valeda, Claire, Simone, Aurore, Georgette and Jeannine.

A great amount of time is consumed in talking nothing, doing nothing, and indecision as to what one should do. —Mary Baker Eddy

To Enlarge Exhibition Grounds at Vankleek Hill

Vankleek Hill — At the monthly meeting of the Vankleek Hill Agricultural Society it was decided that, if possible, additional land would be bought to enlarge the present exhibition grounds and enlarge the race track.

Council Affairs At Brownsburg

Brownsburg — At the last meeting of the Corporation the secretary-treasurer, Emile Hebert, read a communication from the County Council assessing the taxable estimate of the Corporation at $1,964,115 — which the secretary said was some ten thousand above the actual estimate arrived at by the council.

Messrs. D. Lepine, S. J. Thompson and M. Lafleur were reappointed valuators for the coming period, on a motion moved by Councillors Wilson and Moseley.

Several taxpayers appeared before the council requesting assistance in providing an adequate water and sewerage system in parts of the village outside the service of the present utility. The chairman, Mayor O. Legault, stated that as soon as the proposed extension got under way the council would have new estimates prepared of those outlying additions, and consideration would be given to have them incorporated with the present system. He hoped the council would not have to go to the extreme of having to expropriate facilities to make those extensions possible. It was a public utility, and would serve the benefit of the whole of the village and the people.

The council's proposal to borrow $40,000 for the purpose of installing waterworks at Chenierville had been referred back by the municipal department of the Provincial Government for amendments — minor changes as to terms of repayment and interest charges — which the council so amended.

It was decided to allow Mrs. Kelly, the widow of the council's late contractor W. H. Kelly, of Ottawa, time to April 15th to decide whether the company is to undertake the work of the contract, which has to be finished by August of this year.

In the Dark about Lights

Quite a long discussion took place on the position of some of the lighting standards and applications for additional lights. The mayor remarked that a plenitude of light was the right of every citizen, but that consideration should be given to the fact that every additional light imposed a burden of $18 a year on the municipality. Councillor Somers was of the opinion that the position of street lights was a municipal responsibility and should be decided on the basis of the greatest good to the greatest number, but that unreasonable people thought that the best position of some of the standards was from the point of view of their particular verandahs. Councillor Wilson had particular reference to one standard which stood at the end of a blind street fifty per cent of whose light was directed into the bush . . . It was suggested that from a moral standpoint its position might be justified!

Impressive Scene, Bishop Conducts Dedication of New Anglican Church

Auspicious Occasion at St. Simeon's, Lachute

In quiet humility and jubilation, the congregation of St. Simeon's Church was joined by numerous friends to celebrate the official opening of the new church building last Thursday evening. The Rt. Rev. John Dixon, Lord Bishop of Montreal, conducted the dedication ceremony, in the presence of clergymen prominent in the diocese, past rectors of the parish and ministers from the immediate district. The event presented a spectacle of all ranks — the clergy and congregation, with a representative cross-section of the community — rejoicing together on this happy occasion which symbolized a stride in the spiritual life and prestige of Lachute Town.

The Lord Bishop dedicated certain gifts donated by members and adherents, in memory of loved ones; these included specific furnishings and appointments which graced the simple but dignified building. The surpliced clergy and choir filled the chancel, presenting an impressive scene.

The rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang, spoke a word of welcome and of sincere thanks to those who had contributed towards completion of the building. The Rev. A. E. Hawes of Grenville read the scripture lesson, and the Ven. F. J. Morris, Archdeacon of the Deanery of St. Andrews, led in special prayers. During the offertory a solo was sung by Mr. H. Dapp, of Montreal. Special preacher for the occasion was the Ven. A. P. Gower-Rees, rector of St. George's, Montreal, and Archdeacon of Clarendon, whose theme did full justice to the time and occasion.

The new church edifice was filled to capacity, and following the ceremonies the gathering adjourned to the basement (as yet uncompleted), where the ladies of St. Simeon's Guild served refreshments. A social hour was enjoyed and the Bishop in conclusion expressed his keen personal pleasure in sharing the joy of this auspicious event.

The visiting clergymen included the Rt. Rev. John Dixon, M.A., D.D., LL.D., D.C.L., Bishop of Montreal; Ven. A. P. Gower-Rees, M.A., D.C.L., M.C., rector of St. George's Church, Montreal; Ven. F. J. Morris, B.A., B.D., Archdeacon of St. Andrews; the Rev. R. Bodger, L.Th., St. Cuthbert's Church, Montreal; the Rev. E. G. May, M.A., Ste. Agathe, Que.; the Rev. A. E. Hawes, R.D., Grenville; the Rev. Canon J. D. Ellis, rector of St. Luke's Church, Montreal; the Rev. B. J. Thorpe, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, Montreal; the Rev. W. LeCras, rector of St. Paul's Church, Montreal; the Rev. S. L. Pollard, M.A., L.Th., Ahuntsic, Que.; the Rev. S. Andrews, Montreal; and the Rev. G. T. Spriggs, of Lachute.

"The Church", said the Ven. A. P. Gower-Rees in his sermon, "is the only institution in the world that has for its purpose the culture of the soul, the only lasting thing, the one thing immortal. . . But the Church is not the building. . ."

Before Christ, he recalled, there was the Church — the "ecclesia", meaning the public gathering or civic conclave. But it was St. Paul who, during his ministry, gave to "ecclesia" the meaning of the assembly of God, the Church of God.

Ch. of Commerce Members Guests of M.P. at Capital

Over 30 members of the Lachute Chamber of Commerce took advantage of an invitation extended by Georges H. Héon, K.C., M.P., to attend a sitting of Parliament at Ottawa yesterday afternoon.

Arriving in the Capital shortly after noon, the members were met by this County's Federal representative, who acted as host for luncheon in a private room adjoining the cafeteria in the Parliament Buildings.

Mr. Hansell, a member of Parliament from Alberta, and Mr. Dorion, representing a constituency in this province, were guest speakers, touching upon problems in each of these widely separated areas.

Luncheon was followed by a specially arranged tour of the Parliament Buildings. This had to be interrupted in order that the members might be present when Parliament convened at 3 p.m. Of local interest during the afternoon session was Mr. Héon's question concerning postage rates within the town of Lachute. Several weeks ago, the Chamber of Commerce addressed a letter to the Postmaster General asking why a four-cent stamp was required for Lachute Mills when a three-cent stamp was all that was necessary to send a letter from one end of Montreal to the other. The Government replied to Mr. Héon's question that an inquiry would be made immediately.

Later in the afternoon a brief visit was made to the National Art Gallery and Museum.

At dinner in the evening the group was unanimous in commending Mr. Héon for having made such an instructive and entertaining day's outing possible. Regardless of political affiliations, each member affirmed that the visit had been an outstanding success, especially as it had created a new interest in Canada's Capital and its Parliament.

Arundel Townsman Dies in Montreal

The Late Leonard Graham

The funeral of the late Leonard Graham, who died last week in Montreal, was held Wednesday afternoon from the Arundel United Church — the Rev. L. Temple-Hill, assisted by the Rev. Sterling Graham officiating. Mrs. Melvin Graham played the organ and during the service a solo was rendered by Miss Alice Campbell of Montreal, entitled "He Shall Feed His Flock". The floral tributes were both numerous and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which the departed was held in the hearts of all. A large gathering of friends and relatives from the entire community attended the funeral.

Mr. Graham was born in Arundel, the son of the late W. D. Graham and his wife the late Effie McVicar. Wedding Dress — And Electric Motors

Wedding dresses may seem to be far removed from electric motors, but it is an historic fact that a wedding dress had a lot to do with the development of the motor which makes life so much easier in the home, farm or factory today.

The first practical electric motor was made by an American blacksmith, Mr. Thomas Davenport, more than a century ago. Mr. Davenport had the theory of it worked out perfectly, but he ran into difficulties with short circuits. Since insulated wire was unknown at that time, the problem was quite troublesome until his wife donated her wedding dress which proved to be thoroughly good insulating material. The result was the end of short circuits and the beginning of the electric motor, which, after being refined and improved over the years, is in constant use throughout the world.

Washing Machines for Locomotives

While a great number of housewives served by Gatineau Power can tackle a formidable pile of washing with their electrically-operated machines, most of them would hesitate to try a Monday morning wash-job on one of the locomotives that pull Canada's trans - continental trains. But there is actually in existence a washing machine for just this purpose. It is a semi-automatic bath-tub, electrically operated, in which giant locomotives can be scrubbed, rinsed and polished within 15 minutes. Before the development of this device, the job took almost three hours.

A Lot of Money

In the past half century, electricity has come to be used for a vast number of purposes, and is now so widely employed that it is generally taken for granted. The people of the Province of Quebec use more electricity per person than any other people in the world, seldom stopping to think that a company like Gatineau Power Company has properties, developments and other assets totalling nearly $150,000,000. on the job of giving good electrical service at the most economical cost.

Worthwhile Hints On Home Gardening

Adapted from "Home Gardens in Wartime" — by George Rush, Ont. Dept. of Agriculture

Vegetables produced in spare time will help reduce the present high cost of living. Health is of first importance, and vegetables that are easily grown may furnish the necessary vitamins and minerals. Nutrition experts advise it is preferable to obtain vitamins from fresh fruits and vegetables, rather than resort to the indiscriminate use of synthetic preparations.

This information is intended primarily for amateurs desiring to grow vegetables in their small back yards.

Soil Preparation

All plants thrive best in full sunshine, so avoid planting under trees. Spread rotted barnyard manure over the soil, and dig thoroughly. Rake down until a good tilth is obtained. Do not sow seeds or set out plants till the soil is free. Use a bright hoe or spade, and when the soil leaves the hoe freely, then plant early crops.

Follow the direction laid down for each crop; this will prevent waste. Spacing of plants is stated for each variety. To save seed, empty package into a saucer and sow by hand.

Cultivation

In cultivating the garden, a fork, hoe, and a five-tooth hand cultivator are the most suitable tools to use. Cultivate often to destroy weeds, maintain moisture, and allow air circulation to the root system. Use care when cultivating, so as not to cause injury to the plants, as injury often produces diseases.

Tomatoes, celery, cauliflower, cabbage, onions and squash do not require hoeing when near maturity, as roots may be injured. Remove any weeds by hand-pulling.

Individual Crops

Cabbage. — Space plants for early crop 15" apart in the row, and 24" between rows.

Late varieties — Penn State Ball Head, Danish Ball Head. Late planting — July 1 to July 12. Space late varieties 20" apart by 24" between rows.

Lettuce. — Sow seed thinly, in rows 15" apart, for head lettuce; make a shallow hole ¼" deep and cover over and firm soil on the seeds. When 2" high, remove all but one plant; this enables the plant to obtain food to make a proper head.

Variety of Head Lettuce — New York 12. Sow when soil is ready in spring, and at intervals of 30 days until August 20.

Variety of Leaf Lettuce—Grand Rapids. In using leaf lettuce, sow every 3" as above.

Home grown leaf lettuce provides more minerals and vitamins than imported head lettuce.

Onions. — Sow early, seeds 1" deep in rows, and thin to 2", Use all surplus onions for table use as salads. Clay or black loams are best suited for onion culture. Sow seeds from April 25 to May 5. Space rows 15" to 18" apart. ½ ounce of seed will plant 100 ft. . . Plant early green sets closely spaced.

For early use—sow Silver King.

For late crop or winter use — sow Yellow Globe Danvers.

Peas. — Peas prefer cooler conditions. May be sown very early, in rows 1-1½" and the rows 15" apart, or use double rows 4" apart — 2 ft. cultivation space.

Early varieties — Little Gem, Little Marvel.

Peas may be sown every month until August 5.

Late varieties — Laxtonia, Little Laxtonia, Peter Pan, Telephone.

Radish. — Sow in rows, or broadcast, 1" deep, and firm the soil after planting. Sow every two weeks for sweet and tender radishes.

Varieties — Scarlet White Tip, French Breakfast, Scarlet Globe, White Icicle.

Instructions for Operating the Farm Fanning Mill

Any fanning mill, regardless of age, should do fairly good work providing the fans are in good working condition, and that a reasonable number of screens are available.

The mill should be operated where there is an abundance of light. It should be level and solid, and should be fed evenly and turned with a uniform motion. It is wise to work for efficiency rather than speed in cleaning seeds. The operating speed of a fanning mill is around 40 r.p.m. A small motor is a very satisfactory source of power.

To determine the size of pulley to use on the fanning mill, multiply the diameter of the pulley on the engine or motor by the r.p.m. of the driving force, and divide by 40.

The following is a list of screens that have been found satisfactory for the type of grain mentioned — listing (first) the top sieve, and (second) the bottom sieve:

OATS

For small grained varieties as Alaska or Ajax — 7/64 x ¾ zinc oblong — 1/13 x ½ zinc oblong.

Hulled Varieties

For large grained varieties as Victory, Erban or Beaver — 8/64 x ¾ zinc oblong — 1/13 x ½ zinc oblong.

Hulless Varieties

Large seeded — 8/64 x ½ zinc oblong — 1/14 x ½ zinc oblong.

BARLEY

Small grained varieties as Velvet or Nobarb — No. 13 or 14 round zinc — No. 8 round zinc.

Large grained varieties as Byng — No. 13 or 14 round zinc — No. 9 round zinc.

WHEAT

Medium grained varieties — No. 11 round zinc — No. 6 or 7 round zinc.

Large grained varieties — No. 12 round zinc — No. 8 round zinc.

BUCKWHEAT

Rough hulled varieties — 13/64 or 14/64 zinc oblong — 10/64 triangular zinc.

Smooth hulled varieties — 13/64 or 14/64 zinc oblong — 12/64 triangular zinc.

CORN

11/64 x ¾ zinc oblong — 18/64 zinc round.

7/32 x ¾ zinc oblong — 20/64 zinc round.

13/64 x ¾ zinc oblong — 22/64 zinc round.

MILLET

1/12 zinc round — 1/15 zinc round.

Proso

1/14 zinc round — 1/16 or 1/18 zinc round.

1/16 zinc round — 1/18 zinc round.

Foxtail

Bottom sieve 1/20 or 1/22 zinc round.

RED CLOVER, ALFALFA AND SWEET CLOVER

1/14 zinc round — 22 x 22 wire mesh.

1/15 zinc round — 6 x 24 wire mesh.

1/16 zinc round — 6 x 21 wire mesh.

3/64 x 5/16 zinc — 1/20 or 1/22 zinc round.

ALSIKE

1/18 zinc round — 24 x 24 wire mesh.

1/19 zinc round — 26 x 26 wire mesh.

1/20 zinc round — 6 x 30 wire mesh.

1/21 zinc round.

TIMOTHY

1/19 zinc round — 26 x 26 wire mesh.

1/20 zinc round — 28 x 28 wire mesh.

1/21 zinc round — 6 x 30 wire mesh.

1/22 zinc round.

6 x 21 wire mesh.

The following are firms who manufacture or distribute fanning mill screen material:

B. Greening Wire Co., Hamilton; Donald Rope & Wire Cloth Co., Hamilton; Chatham Fanning Mill Supply Co., Hamilton; Plessisville Foundry, Plessiville, Que.,

THE BIG MOMENT—the body drop! The shining, neatly-trimmed Plymouth body is about to be lowered and securely fastened to its sturdy chassis with rubber-cushioned mountings. This is one of the most spectacular sights in the automobile plant of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited, at Windsor.

Earlier, on the production line, the sturdy chassis has been fitted with Plymouth value features, such as—Front-end Sway Eliminator—Amola Steel Springs—famous Plymouth Safety-Rim Wheels and Super Cushion tires for blowout protection and Plymouth's big, 95 horsepower, floating-power engine. When the handsome Plymouth comes off the assembly line, lubricants are added and it is ready for a final thorough check and road test. After being put through its paces by expert Chrysler inspectors, the necessary adjustments are made and another fine Canadian-built Plymouth rolls out of the busy plant ready to give reliable performance, greater safety and increased economy to its new Canadian owner.

Seed Magic

ONE OF nature's miracles that has mankind lost in wonderment as springtime clothes the earth in green, is the mystery of the seed. A man may hold in his hand a collection of the tiny, fragile things. Yet locked in each is the secret of life.

Here are flower seeds, seemingly insignificant and valueless, enfolding beauty like hidden jewels, whose maturity will be more beautifully arrayed than Solomon in all his glory.

Here is an apple seed in which the imagination can build a complex, many-grained tree, sweet-smelling apple blossoms and whatever fruit the magic seed happens to hold captive in its tiny envelope.

That is just part of the wonder of a seed. Not only can a maple bud grow into a huge shade-bestowing tree — but it can grow into any one of many different kinds of maple.

How does nature do it? How does she lock into these tiny capsules their surging life that can soar into a stately elm; that can pour out in vine and tree the abundance of nut, fruit and berry; that can bejewel the dark earth with the miraculous loveliness that we call a flower? Why even the perfume of a flower is tightly held in its seed!

Scientists may talk learnedly of mutations and genes and other characteristics of seed; but when they come down to explaining growth, we are reminded of the little boy who asked his mother why tomato seeds grew tomato worms as well as tomatoes. Their bewilderment, though different, is at least equal to his.

As for ourselves, we prefer just to let our sense of wonder shake us as we inhale the fragrance of a flower. It is good for a man to recapture occasionally that sense of the magic of life which is the heritage of childhood.

Oleomargarine

THE HON. J. G. Gardiner stated last week in Calgary that the use of oleomargarine "would be bad for the health of the people of Canada", according to a press report.

Advocates for removal of the ban on margarine on the other hand, quote medical opinion to assert that margarine provides all the health-giving qualities of butter at a cost within the budget of low-income families, and arguing therefore that legalizing margarine would improve the health of the country.

The Minister of Agriculture thus steps out of character to dispute the public conviction that margarine is wholesome and nutritive, and to discredit the evidence that people abroad, with butter quotas over the past years largely replaced by margarine, show no ill effects.

Duly respecting its sphere and coverage, this journal has no voice in the pros and cons of margarine. But a statement such as this, from the Dominion's chief spokesman for Agriculture, would seem to inject a note of insincerity in all the dairy producers' arguments professing solicitude for the broader interests and welfare of the public.

Vainly We Strive

A TRADE JOURNAL notes that electrical manufacturers are fully conscious of the cramped living quarters in which most young married couples find themselves today. The manufacturers are producing appliances that save — a washer and refrigerator that do double duty as kitchen counters; tiny apartment record players; table-type television; and refrigerators that give 10 cu. ft. of refrigeration and fill the space of an 8-ft. model.

— These observations are interesting. But some will hesitate and ponder on the future. It seems that modern nutrition in the pre-natal, infant and adolescent stages is developing a generation of heavier physique than the last. The trend is apparent in several families of slightly-built parents, even within our own acquaintance. But at maturity these adults of the future will be confronted with confinements of space and all the adaptations which would cramp them to Lilliputian proportions. . . Only time will tell the outcome of this inconsistency.

Do They Want to Be Like Us?

A CREEPING barrage of tragedy still moves across the world. "Why can't they be like us?" we ask, and read the papers with a feeling of aggrievement rather than of guilt.

The fact is that, if the rest of the world WANTED to be like us they would be. If, by our fruit, we had impressed all other people with the benefits of freedom there would be no menace of totalitarian dictatorship to aggravate world distress, retard world recovery and jeopardise world peace.

George Washington prayed that new-won freedom would be held and used in a way to win admiration. But, until we correct its abuses and win friends for freedom, we will create its enemies and go on having to combat them.

There is no use being free, for instance, if that does not make us free to give our best. Many men in the free countries are so tied up by personal fear, greed or hate that they cannot give their best to their own families, let alone to their community, or work, or nation.

Were you free at breakfast this morning? Free from engrossment in the paper? Free from blaming others as you read the sobering news? Free from preoccupation with your own day's work ahead? Free to think of others in the family and of THEIR work and hopes and fears? Free to think how your business could become a national force?

When citizens of the free countries find freedom in all spheres themselves, on that day political, economic and military attacks on freedom will end.

Bonus on Gold Mining

GOLD MINING — an industry which "has made an important contribution to our national life" and is "a great dynamic factor in economic development" — found members from all sides of the Commons last week sanctioning government action on its behalf.

The government's measure, a bill to provide subsidization payment to mines for increased production and to new mines on opening production, was given final approval.

The gold mining industry occupied a strategic place in the country's economy — said Finance Minister Abbott, sponsor of the bill—particularly in the development of the social and economic structure in the northern areas. The mineral-bearing area where gold was found was one of the greatest in the world. It stretched across the Cambrian Shield in northern Quebec and Ontario, through northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan, up into the Northwest Territories and down through the mountain area of British Columbia.

It was the search for gold that led to the discovery of other minerals. Moreover, during the depression years gold mining was a powerful factor in supporting employment, business activity and the soundness of our international position.

"In these and many other ways", the minister said, "the industry has made an important contribution to our national life and has been a great dynamic factor in our economic development".

Criticism was made by Alan Cockeram (PC—York South) who said the gold mining industry is opposed to bonusing as it makes it the creature of the government "and allows the government possibly in days to come to interfere with the management and with the manner in which the business is carried on".

By BRIAN SWARBRICK

A little less than three months ago, New York tennis fans were pulling on goloshes to trudge through the worst snowstorm in the city's history to see the most eagerly-awaited net match since before the war.

John Kramer, world's amateur king, was starting on a campaign to dethrone Bobby Riggs, world's pro champion — and to collect a guaranteed $50,000 for the months-long tour which would take them through much of the world.

Riggs was the undisputed professional champion for two years. He'd been a very big name for another eight years and Kramer was just a big Californian as far as Riggs fans were concerned.

Little Bobby, himself his most ardent suporter and loudest publicity man, was inclined to look down his nose — figuratively speaking — at big Jake. The little man with the funny walk was willing to pick Jake above Don Budge, who had succumbed to Riggs' skill the year before, but not for an instant did Riggs' faith in Riggs falter.

Kramer remained relatively silent.

When the first match ended, Riggs-men I-told-you-so'd: Kramer lost, and looked not impressive in doing so. He kept on that way for several set-tos, slowly growing accustomed to the hard surface, the crowd roar and the blinding overhead lights.

That first match was last December 26, in New York City.

Fifty meetings later, on March 18, 1948, in Atlanta, Ga., Kramer stepped off the court with his 34th victory over Riggs, the ninth straight, which left little Bobby with 16 wins, less than half Kramer's record.

World's Best Amateur

Kramer has been called the world's best amateur tennis player. He was named America's No. 1 two years in a row, and both United States and Wimbledon championships have been won by him. That he can triumph in the professional world is a distinct possibility.

He now wins over Riggs, rated possibly the greatest defensive player in the game, with sufficient regularity to at least assure him financial success in the net world. Don Budge, who by Riggs' admission will never be the player Kramer was on his pro debut, toured the circuit two years as the only contender to Riggs' supremacy.

Riggs gave the Californian top-seeding over Budge several days before he met him last December at the start of the 1948 pro campaign. At the end of their 50th meeting Riggs could hardly give him a less flattering rating. Not with Kramer's victory string.

There was one gnawing doubt among amateur circles backing Jake that he might never reach his peak under indoor pro conditions. At first that was certainly the bugbear in Kramer's game, along with a bit of trouble in getting his big game under control.

He has undoubtedly licked the first obstacle, and has come a long way towards giving the second the same treatment: he'd have to, playing a smoothie like Riggs.

But impartial observers will probably admit that Kramer has not reached his peak yet. These same sources, who often as not reiterate that Kramer is no Tilden, are probably awed to think what may still be seen of the Californian flash, once that peak is reached.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

TAKE AN INTEREST IN YOUR LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Under our democratic system each citizen has a right to take part in the government of his community. It is his privilege to voice his opinions on all matters concerning the community's welfare. It is his duty to vote . . . to elect the best representatives to his government. It is his opportunity to be of service to his fellow-citizens—to make his community a better place in which to live. To take an active interest in your local government is "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Spring Thank-Offering Lachute United W.M.S.

The Spring Thank-Offering meeting of the Lachute United Church W.M.S. was held Thursday, April 8, with Mrs. A. McK. Poirritt, first vice-president of the Montreal Presbyterial, as guest speaker. In introducing the speaker, the president of the auxiliary, Mrs. F. S. McGibbon, spoke highly of the valuable work which Mrs. Poirritt had rendered to the church through her missionary activities both in Montreal and Toronto. Mrs. Poirritt took as her subject, "Tomorrow Is Here", stating that she had been influenced to speak on that subject through the challenging words of Dr. Francis Stifler in his book, "The Bible Speaks".

Mrs. Poirritt then gave a glimpse of the work that is being done by the women of the W.M.S. here in Canada as well as in the overseas missions. In doing this she brought out very clearly the fact that our own churches and all our church organizations are the direct result of the church in the Old Land doing foreign mission work. They sent us the preachers — and these first workers were saddle-bag preachers who journeyed about the country on horseback telling "the Story" and encouraging little settlements to build churches for themselves. So the work grew, until some 60 or 70 years ago, Canada in turn began to send out foreign missionaries.

"People often ask the question today", said Mrs. Poirritt, "Do we still need to send missionaries?" and the answer is very definitely, "Yes". The people of India, of China, of Africa, of Korea and of Japan are all deeply interested and want to know about our religion, about our God. "Let us not fail them, but give of our best".

"And", said Mrs. Poirritt, in referring to the work done here in the homeland, "the organizations of the church are carrying on one of the biggest pieces of social work that is being done in our country. They do everything any social agency does, plus — and the plus is the big thing — the story of the Saviour's love and redeeming grace". Mrs. Poirritt brought her talk to a close by repeating the challenging words, "Tomorrow is here; what are we doing about it?"

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. R. Bradford, after which a quartet comprising Mrs. R. A. Giles, Mrs. A. Taylor, Mrs. K. McOuat and Mrs. C. L. Duncan rendered Steiner's beautiful composition, "For God So Loved the World". Mrs. S. S. Campbell was at the organ. The meeting closed with prayer by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. Tea was then served in the church hall to the large number of members and friends present.

Church Bowling League Concludes Next Monday

The play-offs of the Lachute United Church bowling league started last Monday, and four teams were eliminated from the tournament.

The S.S. Teachers' team, skipped by Mrs. H. MacNeill, claimed two easy victories over the "Raps", led by Chas. Rapson, 5-2 and 7-2. A close fight was staged between the Ladies' Aid and W.M.S. Blues — the former headed by Mrs. H. Scott, coming through with 1-12, 5-1 and 5-4. Allan Hammond's Y.P.U. team defeated Grace Rosser's W.M.S. squad by 7-1 and 10-4. The league champion Y.P.U. team (Clarence McNaughton) had a close contest with Mrs. E. Morrin's Red Cross team, with scores of 6-7, 6-3 and 9-7.

The semi-finals and finals will be played next Monday — the S.S. team vs. Y.P.U. Blues, and Ladies' Aid vs. Y.P.U. Reds, at 7.15 p.m. The finals will start at 8.30 o'clock.

Refreshments will be served and presentations made.

Lachute Baptist Y.P. Hold Taffy Party

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wert, of Ogdensburg, entertained the young people of the Lachute Baptist Church at a "taffy party" Tuesday evening.

After a hearty gospel singsong which included solos, duets, quartets and group numbers, taffy pulling was the order of the day, followed by several games. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Sybil Plummer of Brownsburg. Miss Muriel Boyd, Y.P. president, thanked the host and hostess for the happy evening on behalf of the young people.

Next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock the Young People's Societies of Dalesville and Brownsburg Regular Baptist Churches will be in charge of the program. All young people are cordially invited to attend.

An interesting program is planned for this week's Saturday Night Rally in the Lachute Baptist Church.

Weekly Newspapermen Visit Brewery Plant

Publishers View Workings of Long-Operated Institution

An invitation to lunch at Molson's Brewery recently was gladly accepted by several of Quebec's weekly newspapermen, some of whom had never had the privilege of being shown the inner workings of this large manufacturing plant.

Continuously operated by the Molson family for 160 years on the same location, the huge stone building on Notre Dame Street, Montreal, was erected in 1786.

Our hosts were Col. Stewart Molson and Mr. C. L. Smart, and additional pleasure was added to our visit by the fact that a member of The Watchman staff, J. A. Pillage, served in the recent war with the former, and the writer R. A. Giles had served in the first great war with the latter.

Our stay, while not as long as we would have wished, was filled with interesting features and in the large reception room where we lunched were numerous paintings and old maps showing Montreal and its division into lots during the early stages of its development.

A short tour through the brewery, where we were shown the process of manufacture from start to finish, emphasized the fact that everything was spotlessly clean, and the brass finishing surrounding the huge tanks of some 20,000 gallon capacity shine with a glitter. The last process, that of bottling, was also interesting and showed the empties being placed in the huge washing machine where they are scrubbed, thoroughly washed and sterilized before being filled and capped. Labelling then completes the operation and the bottles are cased.

While in the present site everything is up to date, we were informed that a complete new plant is being erected in close proximity to the present building, which will be the last word in perfection.

Representative Here for Gallup Poll of Canada

Bernard L. Gosselin has been appointed Lachute representative for the famous Gallup Poll. The Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, or Gallup Poll of Canada, is a purely fact-finding organization, whose only purpose is to measure and report, through its member newspapers, public sentiment on issues of the day. It has no connection with governments or political parties.

To measure public opinion, the Institute applies the sampling process, all types and groups of the population being represented in its sample in their true proportions. The process is much the same as that used by a doctor, in seeking to ascertain the condition of a person's blood. By taking a few drops of blood, in which all the component parts of the bloodstream are represented in their true proportion, he is able to tell the condition throughout the entire system.

That this principle works when applied to public opinion, has been proven by the experience of affiliated Institutes in the United States, Great Britain, Australia, France and Sweden in forecasting close to 200 elections, with a margin of error well under four per cent. Affiliated polls are now operating in twelve countries of the world.

To maintain this sample, the Canadian Institute has a staff of 335 interviewers located in strategic cities, towns and villages, and farm areas from Halifax to Victoria. These "Gallup Reporters" interview on the same issue simultaneously. When pieced together at the Institute's head office, the results of these personal interviews make up a picture of opinion throughout all parts of Canada.

Thus, if one-third of the population of Canada are farmers, one-third of the total interviewed must be farmers; if 51 per cent voted Liberal in the 1945 elections, 51 per cent of those interviewed must come from those ranks—and so on.

Veteran Employees and Pensioners of C-I-L Meet To Organize 25-Year Club

Brownsburg — More than 60 employees and pensioners of Brownsburg Ammunition Works with service records exceeding 25 years, thronged into the Flamingo Club at Longtin's Grill recently to attend a turkey dinner and to discuss plans for inaugurating a 25-Year Club.

The prospective members were accompanied by their wives, while several out-of-town guests were present at the head table, including — Messrs. T. W. Smith, Division Manager's Committee Chairman; D. G. Rae, Production Manager; F. L. Barlow, General Purchasing Agent; and S. J. Smart, Division Manager, of Montreal; also Mr. H. M. Sherwood, Works Manager, and Mrs. Sherwood, the Rev. S. J. Pike, the Rev. Father Manseau, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Richardson, Mr. F. Hosgood, host, and Misses Antoinette Carrier and Annie Petley, hostesses.

The tables were decorated with fresh cut tulips and the menu cards were souveniers of the occasion. During the dinner soft music was played by Gerry Collins and Leonard Lupien. The friendly atmosphere which prevailed throughout, indicated that all thoroughly enjoyed this get-together.

After dinner Fred Hosgood, acting as chairman, introduced the guests and a solo followed, rendered by Tom Pasco, accompanied by Mrs. C. J. Wheeler at the piano; Omer Danis and Tom Pasco then conducted a community singsong.

Mr. Hosgood read a letter from Mr. Haslett, Explosives and Ammunition Group Manager, Montreal, who stated his regret at being unable to attend; he then presented Miss Carrier with a corsage of red roses in appreciation of her work in organizing the club. Her response was a hearty welcome to everyone.

Mr. Sherwood addressed the chairman and gathering, and introduced the guest speaker, Mr. T. W. Smith. Mr. Smith gave a short informal talk on different occurrences within the past 25 years. He stated that the combined service of the employees having a record of 25 years or more with the company is 2,758 years, and that during their service they have had only 17 lost-time accidents. He also reminded them that they have witnessed the growth of C-I-L. In reminiscing, he stated that a name that always occurred to him with regard to bowling in Brownsburg was Harry Gardiner; and he remarked that "Harry" always seemed to be on the winning team. Mr. Smith was gratified to see the enthusiasm put forth in forming a 25-Year Club, and congratulated Miss Carrier on her efforts to make it a success. He suggested methods through which the club could be carried on, including speakers from different cities, and the showing of movies. To achieve such an objective he stressed that cooperation and fellowship were essential. In closing, he wished the venture every possible success.

Mr. A. J. Quinn thanked Mr. Smith for the advice he had given; he also thanked Mr. Hosgood and Mr. F. C. Burnet for their wholehearted support in getting the 25-year employees together.

Mr. Hosgood asked all present to give their earnest consideration to organizing the club, and to elect a committee.

Photographs were taken of the gathering, and dancing followed.

Handling money

costs* money

It costs you more to live these days.

And it costs your bank more to provide efficient banking service.

Bank staffs are more than half as large again as before the war; payrolls have nearly doubled. Taxes are up. So is the cost of everything banks buy.

Yet you pay no more for banking service than you did ten years ago. Today 7,000,000 Canadians are bank customers—striking evidence of the ever-widening usefulness of competitive banking in our national life.

Dedication of New St. Simeon's Church Impressive Occasion

"Why have you built this church?", the speaker asked. "Because you believe in what it stands for. . . And the Church represents four salient ideals".

Firstly, he said, it stands for Sincerity of Worship, and secondly for Freedom of Thought. — Yes, church membership provides freedom of thought. Undue emphasis may be laid on various creeds, forms and interpretations, but the one essential thing required is a belief in Jesus Christ. For Christianity is essentially the gospel of a person.

Thirdly, the Church stands for Catholicity of Faith — literally, a universality of belief, which indeed is just what the world needs at this moment.

Fourthly, the Fellowship of Service—that community of effort through which all worthwhile things are achieved.

St. Paul, in the dark days of trial and persecution, proclaimed the "Glorious Church". Today by contrast, enjoying the freedom and ascendancy of the faith, we falter; we apologize for our declining cau . Indeed, Christianity brings to the world a glorious message. It has a glorious ministry. It honors and worships a glorious Master.

The preacher dealt in realistic terms with the many who profess to "have no use for religion". We must be tolerant, we must be patient with these. Although voiced sometimes in all sincerity, their profession of indifference fails to stand the test. To the questions, "Would you wish the Church to be abolished and blotted out? Do you deny the Church as a power for good and uplift in the community?" — their answers are negative. A community without religion, even to these who have no time or taste for its expression, is utterly unthinkable; they recognize the power of communal faith. . . The sequence of questions then suggests a conclusion: "If you agree that religion has a value to the community, to the nation, and to the world, how then can you exempt yourself and leave to others the fostering of its great purpose?".

Viewing again the four keystones of church worship, the Ven. Gower-Rees rejoiced in its fellowship as "true family life with Christ" — the joyful foundation of the great community of religion.

Argenteuil M.P. in Commons Debate On Freight Rates

Opposed Amendments Which Became Virtually Motions of Non-Confidence

The following, slightly abridged from the text in Hansard of April 13, are views expressed by Georges H. Héon, K.C., member for Argenteuil, in the House of Commons debate on authorization of freight rate increases:

Mr. Héon: On March 30 last, the board of transport commissioners rendered judgment on an application of the Railway Association . . for authority to make a general increase of 30 per cent in freight rates and of a specified amount per ton on coal and coke. The judgment authorizes a general advance of 21 per cent and an increase of 25 cents per ton throughout on coal and coke. The government has refused to interfere with the judgment rendered, whilst the amendment proposed by the hon. member for Rosetown-Biggar (Mr. Coldwell) is being offered to prevent or rather to defer the increase which the judgment of the board has allowed after a prolonged and exhaustive inquiry.

The press of Canada has given much attention to the government's decision to respect the board's ruling, and to the amendment which it is alleged may put some hon. members on the hot spot if they dared vote against it, because of the political dynamite therein contained. The whole problem, as I see it, is not one which should be approached with the view of winning impending by-elections, provincial general elections or a threatened general federal election; but rather it should be considered on its merits. . .

To start with, it is evident that the board of transport commissioners was not asked to equalize freight rates, nor did any eminent counsel for the provinces suggest that the issue of equalization of rates be joined to the demand for a general increase in rates. The board, therefore, could not in my opinion, without exposing itself to ridicule and violating all rules of law and evidence, rule on an issue which was not contained in the application.

To Raise Unemployment Insurance Benefits

Higher unemployment insurance benefits to workers will be provided in legislation to be introduced shortly in the Commons by Labor Minister Mitchell, it was learned recently.

The legislation also will provide for increases in the contributions to the unemployment insurance fund paid by employers and employees, and in the matching contributions of the Dominion government.

Alderman Elected By Acclamation

Last Monday afternoon nominations were filed with the town secretary for a new alderman to replace Lucien Lacoste, who recently resigned as representative in west ward. There was only one nomination, and the nominee, Fortunat Deslauriers of Princess Street, was therefore elected by acclamation for west ward seat No. 3.

Juveniles Face Charges of Theft

Three juveniles from Montreal — one of whom is related here and familiar with the district — will appear before the St. Jerome Court next Monday on charges of theft. The trio were traced to Montreal by Provincial Detective L. Dauphin, following theft of money from purses left in the cloak room at Lachute High School during a recent school dance. The boys allegedly entered the building and took sums amounting to $7 from several ladies' purses. . . Later that night, April 9, five bicycles were stolen from premises in the mill area of Lachute Mills. Two of the bicycles were recovered in the district, two more were found in the station shed at Staynerville, where the miscreants had apparently boarded the train for Montreal. The remaining bicycle, the pick of the haul, was checked to the city by railway baggage and was ultimately recovered by the detective at one of the boys' homes.

The three juveniles, aged 14, 15 and 16, were placed under arrest and lodged for one night in jail pending arraignment.

Another Crash At Barron's Bridge

An automobile crash on Barron's Bridge — with slight variation from the numerous previous accidents at this spot — happened at 4.30 o'clock last Saturday morning. Fernand Paquette, from the district of St. Hermas, with three passengers in his car descending from Brownsburg, successfully navigated the curve on the bridge, but at a point less than half way across his car plowed into the guard rail, and the front end hung perilously over the edge. The automobile, a 1930- model Lasalle, was damaged but all four occupants escaped injury.

Hit-Run Collision On Lachute Road

Gaston Charbonneau, St. Andrews taxi operator, driving homeward late Saturday night, was sideswiped by a car proceeding in the opposite direction, his taxi was damaged about the running board and rear fender. The other driver failed to stop at the scene of the mishap, according to Charbonneau's statement to the police.

Cst. Albert Legault, of Brownsburg, investigated both accidents.

Glues, Adhesives Described in Talk Before Lions Club

Mr. John Poulson, assistant Canadian manager of LePage's Inc., gave an instructive address on "Adhesives" before members of the Lachute Lions Club on Tuesday evening. Following are brief extracts from his address:

Everyone is dependent on glue, in some form or another, in modern everyday life. For instance, glues have their place in such common commodities as chairs and cigarettes. Most people think of glue as derived from dead horses, or of a very sticky, smelly mess which generally clings to one's fingers in a disagreeable manner. However, there are various types of glues and adhesives, and I will briefly outline some of these types and their ingredients. LePage's have the largest plants in the world, and are the largest producers.

Fish glue is one of the oldest of glues. The art of making fish glues, developed by the Greeks and Romans, was lost for centuries until the year 1873, when Isaac Stanwood of Gloucester, Mass., developed a crude process of manufacture. In 1876 Wm. LePage bought the Stanwood process rights, and the trade-mark LePage was first used in 1880. Fish glue is obtained from the skins and sounds (swim bladder) of cod and hake, which makes the best glue and capable of withstanding 3,000 lbs. per square inch shear test. The bones, heads, fins and tails make an inferior glue of lower strength. (The process of fish glue manufacture was here described, indicating that the raw materials, chemical knowledge and considerable technical skill are necessary for the production of high grade glue.)

Animal glue is made from parts of dead horses. There are two main classes of animal glues — hide glue and bone glue. . . Hide glue is derived from trimmings and fleshings from hides of various animals. The manufacturing process includes washing, liming, cooking, evaporation, and dehydration after gelling. The product is marketed in various forms, such as cake, sheets, flakes or ground . . . . Bone glues are made from cattle bones, which are crushed, treated with several changes of dilute acid, covered with water and cooked in open kettles. . . Animal glues are used in the wood working industries, paper making and paper

Weekly Publishers Meet in Halifax

— By R. A. Giles —

As president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association it was my pleasure to attend the semi-annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Division which was held on Friday last in Halifax.

A compartment on the C.N.R. Ocean Limited shared with our Association Secretary - Manager, gave us comfort throughout the trip, while meals on board were all that could be desired. We arrived at 7.50 p.m. right on time.

There was almost 100 per cent attendance and many points of interest relative to the printing of the home town weekly paper were discussed.

That is the idea of these gatherings — to get together and discuss various problems, combining their business with a little pleasure. Thus they are better able to improve their papers and to serve the public.

Mr. James J. Wallis of the Digby Courier, occupied the chair and round table sessions were heard during the afternoon and evening.

At the dinner Mr. R. Fraser outlined briefly the program of the Bi-centennial Celebration which starts in June 1949. Great preparations are being made and the famous eastern part of Canada will be the scene of many varied events of interest.

Our friends from the Leader Mail in Granby, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Legge were also at the dinner, as they were sailing by the Ascania for a six weeks' trip to England. Mr. Wallis presented Mrs. Legge with flowers and wished them "Bon Voyage".

No matter whence they come, visitors refer to the Maritimes and particularly Nova Scotia as "Down East", and the inhabitants who have assumed the name of "Bluenoses" will extend a welcome to Canada's most storied province, which will be unsurpassed.

Triple Tragedy in Train-Automobile Collision

Accident at Hazardous Crossing Occurs During Heavy Rainstorm

Accident Verdict, Jurors Attach No Blame

Swift tragedy claimed a triple toll Tuesday evening at Simon's Crossing, just west of Lachute, when an automobile was struck by the eastbound C.P.R. train around 8 p.m. and three of the six occupants, all residents of St. Philippe, were killed, two of them instantly.

At the inquest, held yesterday afternoon at Lachute Town Hall, a verdict of accidental death was rendered in the case of the three victims — Aimé Robillard, 40 (driver), his son Jean-Réal Robillard, 14, and Russell Morissette, 16, who died soon after being placed in an ambulance.

A fourth victim of the mishap, Mrs. William Morissette, 58, is in the Providence Hospital, suffering concussion and fractures. Up to last evening she had not regained consciousness. Two other occupants of the car, Bernard and Benoit, 17-year-old twin sons of the injured woman, escaped with severe cuts and shock. From the condition of the automobile following the impact, it is considered miraculous that any of the six riders escaped fatal injury; the automobile, which had all but cleared the track when hit by the locomotive, was literally torn to shreds.

Jurors at the inquest, presided over by Dr. Jules Lafleur, district coroner, heard evidence which showed that the Morissette boys had just taken possession of the car, and with the former owner Robillard, his son, and others of the Morissette family, were proceeding to the license registry in Lachute to transfer the license. There was a heavy downpour of rain at the time of the accident. According to the evidence of Bernard Morissette, who showed visible signs of shock, three trucks had just passed over the crossing travelling westward. Robillard senior slowed down as the third truck passed them on the curve, then accelerated, driving immediately in the path of the train. . . It appeared evident the driver and occupants were confused by the lights of the trucks and the train in the blinding rain.

Aimé Robillard and the twin brothers had occupied the front seat of the car. They had been proceeding at 20 - 25 miles an hour at the approach to the crossing.

Evidence of A. L. Boyer of Montreal, conductor of the train, and Chas. McCurrie of Ottawa, the engineer, showed that the evening local had been two minutes late at Staynerville, and they had been proceeding at 65-70 miles an hour. There had been thunder and lightning. The engineer had sounded his whistle and set the bell in operation before approaching the crossing. He applied the emergency brake on seeing the car. . . A physician and priest aboard the train had administered to the accident victims after the crash, it was testified. Robillard and his son were found dead in the ditch.

Dr. Roger Lavigne, of Lachute Mills, was summoned to the scene of the accident. All three victims died of skull fractures, and the driver had multiple fractures throughout his body. Detective Léopold Dauphin inquired into the circumstances of the crash, and placed his evidence before the jury.

The jurymen, headed by Albini Lamarche, exonerated the driver, the railway company and employees, of all blame. A rider to the verdict, however, recommended to the Attorney General's Department and to the Railway Commission that "supplementary measures" be taken for adequate assurance of the public safety at this dangerous crossing.

Advanced Time at Saturday Midnight

Longer evenings will give an (apparent) impetus to Spring, commencing next Sunday with the change of time. Following annual custom, Lachute Town will adopt Daylight Saving Time, and clocks should be advanced accordingly at midnight Saturday. Rail schedules will be changed on the local line, while autobus timetables, and church services in Lachute, will be on Advanced Time.

"Canada Selling Vacations", But Human Values Are the Basis of Tourist Trade

TREMENDOUS POSSIBILITIES IN TOURISM THIS SEASON

Canada's tourist industry can be the most financially profitable branch of our export trade — says a Government Travel Bureau release, stressing the tremendous possibilities of the tourist business. No less important than the financial benefit of this trade is the great stimulus to international understanding and goodwill developed by travel. There is a tremendous incentive, both economic and cultural, for the development of increased tourism.

The great value of the visitor trade is not only in the impressive dollar total, but in the fact that the tourist dollar has such widespread distribution in the nation. The typical dollar from tourism has primary distribution in this fashion:

Retail merchants, 30 cents; theatres and restaurants, 22 cents; amusements, 9 cents; accommodation, 17 cents; transportation, 7 cents; gasoline stations, 12 cents; incidentals, 3 cents.

And then this income is redistributed through all channels of commerce and taxation.

Every individual in the nation benefits directly or indirectly from the tourist trade. And every individual should contribute to the development of the tourist trade. Only with the active support and assistance of the Canadian people can there be growth in this vital industry.

With the increasing trend to vacation with pay, more people than ever will be travelling in 1948. And competition for tourist business will be more intense, from Latin America, from Europe and from within the United States.

Canada has enjoyed two boom tourist years as a result of the post-war travel spree. These are indications that holidayers this year will be more discriminating in their selection of vacation areas. These people concerned with travel promotion in federal and provincial governments, the transportation interests and regional agencies, are cooperating in a strenuous program to develop the Canadian tourist industry, but the final responsibility lies with the community and the individual.

More and better accommodation is our greatest need. Since 85% of United States tourists travel by car, there is special demand for new cabins and motor courts and for improved quality in existing accommodations, Tourists insist that facilities be clean and comfortable. Good accommodation at fair prices is available in most United States tourist regions, and tourists have every right to expect comparable treatment here.

In order that a high standard of service be maintained in tourist accommodation, legislation respecting licensing and regulation of this type of accommodation has been passed in some provinces.

Development of more facilities for the amusement and entertainment of the visitor is another important requirement.

Canadians are naturally a happy and friendly people. Perhaps more important than all her topographical and physical attractions, Canada must offer courtesy and friendliness, cheerful hospitality and fair dealing. Human values are the basis of a successful visitor trade.

Total Subscriptions Amount to $3,051.95

Exceeding its quota of $2,500, Lachute district in the Red Cross 1948 campaign for funds rolled up a total of $3,051.95, with a few returns still outstanding. Death Summons Lifelong Citizens

Spent Lifetime in Farm Commmunity

Funeral Rites of the Late William Morrison

The funeral of the late Wm. Morrison, one of the oldest and most esteemed citizens of this community, took place from his residence last Thursday, April 15. Mr. Morrison passed away following a short illness in his 87th year.

He was pre-deceased by his wife, the former Margaret Mitchell, three years ago. Born in Lachute, he spent his entire lifetime farming in the community.

The funeral was conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. He leaves to mourn his loss one daughter, Mrs. Roy Elliott, of Lachute; one son, George; two sisters, Mrs. Jos. Lucas and Mary, of St. Lambert; also two grandchildren, Mrs. Keith Nairn and Howard Morrison, of Terrace Bay, Ont., and two great grandchildren.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. John Nichol, Ross Muir, Allen McLean, Alex Pollock, Wm. Jackson and G. Townsend.

Lachute Townsman Fatally Stricken

Late Albert James Scott Was in His 80th Year

Stricken with a heart seizure, Albert James Scott, a well known townsman, died suddenly at his home on Bethany Street last Monday morning. Mr. Scott, who was in his 80th year, had been in good health up to the time of his death, and had attended church the previous day.

Born at the Seigniory just north of this town, in 1868, he was the eldest son of the late John Scott and his wife Elizabeth Armstrong. He farmed on the home property during his lifetime, until coming to Lachute to retire 19 years ago. He was a staunch member of the United Church and had served for a number of years on the Board of Stewards.

Mr. Scott was twice married, first to Anna Nicoll, of Lachute, then to his present wife Margaret Pollock, also of this community, who survives him. He is mourned also by three brothers, John and George Scott, of Hill Foot, and William Scott, of Lachute, and by a wide circle of relatives in this district and elsewhere.

The funeral, held Wednesday at Lachute United Church, was largely attended, and a profusion of flowers bore tribute to his memory. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough paid fitting tribute to his citizenship and service to the church life of his community. The remains were laid in the family plot at Lachute Cemetery. Pall-bearers were his nephews — John Black, Allan Graham, Leonard Scott, Edward Armstrong, Arnold Scott and Walker Scott.

G. F. W. Kuhring Again President of U.N. Ass'n Branch at Westmount

Montreal —

G. F. W. Kuhring (formerly of Long Lake, Lakefield) was re-elected president of the Westmount Branch of the United Nations Association of Canada, at the annual meeting last week.

In his address, Mr. Kuhring deplored the partition of Palestine which he said, "bids fair to contribute to the partition of the world".

However, in his report for the past year, the president referred to the successful intervention of the United Nations in Indonesia urging a common action toward world peace.

Returning to the Palestine crisis, he added, "What was hailed as a major triumph of the organization, now seems to be its point of greatest divergence".

"During the past year the United Nations have been working under extreme difficulties and the apparent co-operation of early days has changed to distrust".

Among the other officers elected, Mrs. G. F. W. Kuhring was named convener of study groups.

Thrilling Films in Wildlife Program

Wildlife films shown by the Rev. Roger Lafleur, o.m.i., (a former Lachute townsman), with talks and demonstrations by sports authorities on angling and outdoor life, attracted a gathering of 400 persons to Lachute Auditorium last evening. The program was sponsored by the Argenteuil Fish and Game Protective Association. Norm Somers, the president, gave a brief review of the aims and progress of this organization.

Father Lafleur introduced his film presentation with a brief talk. His color reels of fishing and wildlife scenes in Northern Quebec, and of life on an Indian reservation, proved highly interesting and instructive.

Other highlights of the program were a fly-casting demonstration by Brian Gulline, manager of Fur, Fin and Feather Sports Shop, and a talk by A. T. Stikeman, president of the Anglers Association. Sterling Pollock and Gaston Benoit, journalist, both associated with the Anglers Association, were also present to give their support.

Son and Daughter Event, Outcome of Youngster's Query

Happy Event Staged by Rotary Club

The Rotary Club of Brownsburg enjoyed a happy evening at their regular meeting last Thursday, when the members entertained their sons and daughters to dinner and a showing of comedy films.

A hit of the evening was Rotarian Norm Somers, who cleverly entertained with sleight-of-hand tricks. The children were impressed, as were also the adults.

However, the Rotarians were in turn entertained by some of the talented young visitors, who sang and recited several successful numbers.

It is reported this unique evening was brought about by a little daughter of one of the Rotarians, who had asked her daddy what Rotary was — and "why she couldn't go". It was a good question and one which prompted some constructive action — the result of which was this happy evening for young and old, and another successful event in the Rotary program.

Gatineau LINES

Many of us have been using electricity so long that we are inclined to think of it as something that was always a part of life in Canada. Actually, electricity is quite a new thing in our lives. Fifty years ago, cities and towns were getting their first electric lighting. About twenty-five years ago, electricity began to be used by farms and rural communities. Many people have had electric service for only a very short time — and for them, electricity is indeed young.

All this means that the power companies which harness the falling water in our rivers are still growing. New customers are getting service (Gatineau Power alone added 4,500 new customers last year) and old customers are steadily finding new uses for electricity. More and more electric power is needed in more and more places.

Power companies try to put new equipment into service fast enough to keep ahead of the growing demand. That means more dams and power stations, more poles, more lines, more transformers to "cut" the high voltage of the main power line down to the right strength for use on the farm and in the home. In normal times, it means a constant program of buying and building by the power companies.

Unfortunately, times are not always normal. During the war years and after, for instance, companies like Gatineau Power just couldn't buy the equipment they needed — but during those same years more and more people wanted more and more electricity. Companies like Gatineau had to do the best they could to meet the increased demand with the equipment they had.

Now Gatineau is going all-out to catch up. We are in the midst of an expansion program costing more than $5,000,000 — a program which means better service to a fast-growing area of Canada. Already, a good portion of the program has been completed. The remainer will be cleaned up as fast as the materials we need, ordered as much as two years ago, can be delivered to us.

From time to time we would like to use this column to tell you the details of our building program and keep you up-to-date on just how it is progressing in every part of the territory we serve.

Worthwhile Hints On Home Gardening

Late Varieties — Bountiful, Refugee. Sow June, July, August.

Beets. — Sow seeds 1" deep and 1" apart for early crop. Rows 15" apart.

Late Variety — Detroit Dark Red. Sow, for late crop, June 25 to July 5.

If preferred, Detroit Dark Red may be used for early sowing.

Carrots. — Sow seeds 1" deep, using seeds carefully. When plants are 1" high, for early crop, thin to ½" apart.

Early crop, sow in late April or early May.

For late crop, and for winter use, sow from June 25 to July 5.

Varieties — Scarlet Nantes, Coreless Chautenay, Danvers Half Long. Any of these varieties may be planted for early or late crop.

Corn. — Plant in hills 2' by 2' apart, and place seed 2" deep; 6 seeds to a hill, thin to 3 plants per hill.

Early Varieties—Golden Bantam, Golden Sunshine. For early crop, sow seed May 5 to May 24.

Late Varieties — Evergreen Bantam, Joana Hybrid. For late sowing, sow not later than June 15.

Cucumber. — On light sand soil, plant seed on the level of the ground. On heavy soils, it is advisable to raise the seed bed a few inches above the level. This allows drainage and warms the earth quicker in spring. Space hills 5' apart, and when plants are 3" high remove the weakest, leaving 3 plants to a hill. Sow 6 seeds to a hill, allowing for poor germination.

Varieties—White Spine, Straight 8, Early Fortune.

Late Varieties — Chippewa, Katahdin, Dooley. Plant not later than June 15.

Tomatoes. — Secure plants from grower or the store when possible. When planting, make a hole deep enough to cover the roots. Do not plant deep.

If tomatoes are grown on stakes, use a stake 1¼" diameter, 5½' long. Drive in ground 10", and space 2' by 2' apart.

Pruning — Tie plants to stake, which will require attention every seven days. Cut or pinch off all side shoots, leaving only the main stem. When 5 sets of fruit are on the plant cut off the terminal bud, but do not cut off the leaves. This advances maturity.

Plant June 1 to 5.

Choice Varieties for Staking — Sutton's Best of All, Harkness, Bonnie Best.

For Trailing — Bonnie Best, John Baer, Pritchard.

Sweet Peas. — These require deep cool soil, fertilized and mixed thoroughly. Plant in rows 4 to 5 inches apart, or in double row system 3 to 4" apart, spacing sufficiently. Sweet peas require adequate supports.

Spinach. — Sow early; several sowings are advised instead of one. Sow thinly 3 to 4" apart in the row, and space 15" apart.

Varieties—Denmark, Kingsdale.

N.Z. Spinach is not a true spinach; it will do well in hot weather. Plant 6 to 8" apart in May. Thin rows 18 to 24".

Swiss Chard. — Sow seeds in May, 10" apart in the row and 1" deep. When leaves are ready for use, they are available until late fall.

Varieties — Silver, Lucullus.

Watering the Garden

If required, water during the evening; this allows the plants to drain and absorb the moisture before the sun can burn or cause scalding of the leaves.

For lettuce, pour the water direct on the soil around the plant, but not on the leaves.

Transplanting

When transplanting cabbage, cauliflower and tomatoes, be sure they are made firm before leaving. Loose planting often means loss.

Do not plant too deep, and when making a hole, make it wide and spread the roots, as this enables the plant to obtain moisture and food quickly. If soil is dry, water around the plant when set out.

Insects and Diseases

There are many brands and formulas sold by all seed firms to control insects and diseases, with full directions for use on each packet or bottle.

1947 Report Shows One of Every Five Canadians A Metropolitan Policyholder

Ottawa, April 20 — New high marks in the number of policyholders, amount of life insurance in force, and payments to policyholders were attained by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Canada during 1947, Glen J. Spahn, in charge of the company's Canadian operations, announced concurrently with the publishing of Metropolitan's annual statement.

The number of policyholders in Canada at the end of 1947 was 2,340,000, showing that approximately one out of five Canadians is a Metropolitan policyholder. The amount of life insurance that they held was $2,083,391,707 compared with $1,937,785,490 in 1946. The 1947 statement shows that 58% of this total is owned by Ordinary policyholders, 31% by Industrial policyholders and 11% by Group policyholders.

The amount of paid-for life insurance issued during 1947 was $209,634,649, a figure which carried Metropolitan's Canadian business in force beyond the two-billion mark for the first time in its 75 years of operating in Canada.

Payments to Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries last year amounted to $36,222,913 in death claims, matured policies, dividends and other payments. Payments were made at the rate of $343.61 a minute of each business day, and of the total amount 69% was paid to living policyholders.

In this connection, Mr. Spahn pointed out that the total amount that Metropolitan has paid to Canadians since it entered Canada in 1872, plus the amount now invested in Canada, exceeds the total premiums received from Canadians by more than $306,000,000.

Metropolitan's total investments in Canada at the end of 1947 amounted to $480,303,977. Of this amount, 51% is in Dominion of Canada Bonds. Since the close of the war Metropolitan's new investments have gone increasingly to help meet the needs of industry and the community, just as they were doing before the war.

At the end of 1947, Metropolitan's assets for its entire operations in Canada and the United States stood at $8,548,422,601. These assets, of which $3,876,921,624 were in Canadian and United States government bonds, were held to assure fulfilment of obligations to policyholders, beneficiaries, and others amounting to $8,048,865,245, with general surplus funds amounting to $499,557,356 which represented about six percent of the company's obligations.

Chiefly because of the decline in the rate of interest earned on investments, Metropolitan is revising dividend scales for Ordinary and Industrial policies. This involves a reduction in dividends in many cases. In spite of this, however, the amount reserved for dividends to policyholders payable in 1948 was $141,215,117 which is a new high total for the company. This is due mainly to the increase in the amount of business in force. Of this amount, Ordinary policyholders will receive $64,907,117, Industrial policyholders $45,655,000, Group policyholders (excluding accident and health) $22,725,000, and Accident and Health policyholders $7,928,000. Including the declaration for 1948, Metropolitan will have paid to policyholders in the form of dividends a total of $2,544,945,636.

As Metropolitan's business in Canada, as well as in the United States, has touched new high points, so the company's efforts to improve health have continued at their peak. In Canada during 1947, a total of 234,835 nursing visits was made to those insured under Metropolitan Industrial, Intermediate and Group policies. In addition, the company took part in 54 Canadian health campaigns, and over 1,500,000 pamphlets on health and safety were distributed.

GLEN J. SPAHN

Second Vice-President in charge of the Canadian Head Office, who reports that the total amount the Metropolitan Life has paid to Canadians since it entered Canada in 1872, plus the amount now invested in Canada, exceeds the total premiums received from Canadians by more than $306,000,000.

Hay-Pasture Mixtures

A large number of eastern farers interested in beef and dairy production have a well planned crop rotation. Any use of the land which upsets this system is disturbing to the farm program. One becomes very hesitant about removing the best land from this rotation to place in a long term pasture. If these fields are not removed from the rotation we still are using our best land in growing our most economical crop. Experimental work has demonstrated the desirability of including legumes in pasture mixtures. Here is provided an opportunity to combine our hay and pasture requirements, and include the most productive grass and legume varieties without disturbing our crop planning. It also provides the best arrangement for soil improvement, and allows for frequent alternation of different crops.

Hay-Pasture Mixture for Well Drained Clay Loam and Clay Soils of Average Fertility —

Alfalfa	6 pounds
Red Clover	4 "
*Ladino or White Dutch Clover	2 "
Timothy	5 "
Brome Grass	5 "
Orchard Grass	4 "
Total	26 pounds per acre.

*For heavy clay soil not well drained, decrease Alfalfa and include Alsike in place of Ladino or White Dutch Clover.

Hay-Pasture Mixture for Light Sandy and Gravelly Soil —

Alfalfa	4 pounds
Sweet Clover	4 "
Timothy	3 "
Brome Grass	6 "
Orchard Grass	3 "
Total	20 pounds per acre.

The above mixtures differ according to the response of the grasses and legumes to these two major soil types. Red Clover, Alfalfa, and Ladino or White Dutch Clover are used on the heavier soils, while Alfalfa and Sweet Clover are used on the lighter soils. The rate of Brome is increased on the lighter soils, while the amount of Orchard Grass and Timothy is decreased. A lower rate of seeding is used on the lighter soils.

Going Modern

LUMBERJACK living has always symbolized, to us, the survival of the pioneering spirit. Working conditions in the woods have been re-ordered by government health and industrial regulations; but still the woodsman's hardy role stood dramatically alone — the lumber camp a backwash into which modern comforts and conveniences could never effectively penetrate.

But the scene changes. . . The Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, convening recently in Montreal, was told how new mechanical devices are improving living conditions and saving some of the back-breaking labor; how artificial refrigeration, central depot butcher shops, bread mixers, meat slicers and dish washers have reduced food wastage and improved kitchen conditions. Modern lumber camps have even demountable bunkhouses which can be moved from one site to another.

In the woods the snowmobile has become an essential part of logging equipment, hauling twice the load of a horse and doing it 5½ times as fast. And the snowmobile is replacing the horse in carrying supplies to camps, hauling out pulpwood, rendering quick medical aid, and even bringing the bushman his mail and daily paper.

More power to the modernization of lumbering. But the lumberjack shall remain, rugged and reliable, a type symbolic of our forbears.

Nothing Achieved

THE PARLIAMENTARY Committee on Prices has found nothing very sensational, to date. The public are becoming somewhat sceptical of the whole performance. Indeed, it might be an excellent thing if the Committee now stopped its work and reported that what this country is suffering from is not profiteering but a price rise caused, as the Socialist Government has said about Britain, by too much money chasing too few goods.

The answer to the high prices is not a Committee looking for elusive stories, but hard work and production, with good enough prices to keep farmers and other producers at work.

Breeding Moral Fibre

EVENTS in a child's life that cause separation from his parents, and an environment lacking the quota of normal affection, do far more damage to growth that does disease. This opinion by Dr. Griffith Binning, stated in the current issue of "Health", deserves more than a passing thought.

Dr. Binning, Director of Schools in Saskatoon, reveals findings from a study on some 800 school children through use of the Wetzel Grid, a relatively new method of appraising infant and child growth and development. The investigators learned that where parents possessed the ability to meet the crises of life calmly and efficiently alone — where parents possessed a large share of emotional maturity — then neither growth disturbance nor other symptoms apparently occurred so easily.

The writer defines emotional security as consisting of "the possession of those strong moral virtues that all great religions have lauded for so many years — courage, reliability, selflessness, tolerance for honest opinions, persistence in defending one's ideals, ability to harmonize with others in one's daily tasks, etc." Where children possess these virtues as the result of parental example, the only way in which they can achieve them, then tensions cannot become great enough to disturb growth no matter what home catastrophe occurs.

A portion of the children included in the study at least partly suffered thinness or lack of adequate gain in development and "other symptoms" not from disease nor from emotional tensions in the home. There were cases where neither existed — cases that could be labelled "No Disease, Physical or Mental", cases which the R.C.A.F. used to label "L.M.F." — lack of moral fibre.

Butter

FIRST INDIGNATION over the butter shortage has now somewhat reconciled itself to less serious causes. There may have been underlying instances of profiteering, black marketing, the cow's off-season, and lesser felonies on the distribution calendar — but we are promised the situation will very soon rectify itself.

There is another angle, in a Canadian Press story cited by our Ottawa contributor, R. J. Deachman. The real cause of the butter shortage, the story claims, is due to the fact that housewives — this may include some members of the Consumers' League — have been buying a few extra pounds when the opportunity offered. They expected a scarcity and good housewives naturally try to make provision for a rainy day. If for a rainy one, why not for a butterless one, and the good ladies — bless their hearts — dreamed not for a moment that they were doing anything wrong or felt that they were hoarders of butter.

This may be a cover-up version — an alibi — but it happens we heard the same opinion ourselves, expressed by an M.P.

Saga of the Sea

OUT ON the grey Atlantic the other day a United States Coast Guard cutter stopped her engines, dipped her flag, and the captain dropped a wreath upon the water. It was the approximate spot where the liner Titanic sank 36 years ago.

Apart from the wars, the sinking of the Titanic was, we think, the greatest news story of this century and one of the great news stories of all times. It had literally everything. Here was a luxury liner fully described as "unsinkable", sailing proudly from her British port on her maiden voyage, equipped with every device then known for swift and safe navigation, carrying many hundreds of passengers including notable figures from Britain, the United States and Canada. It was a merry voyage and no thought of danger came to anyone. Then, without warning, the Titanic struck the cutting edge of an iceberg, suffering irreparable harm below the water line, and began to sink, her bulkheads all torn open. The new wireless carried her message of alarm to other ships and to shore, and the news was hard to believe — this mighty ship stricken and sinking!

Then came hours and days of terrific suspense. Some survivors had been picked up in the icy sea—who, and how many, were questions only settled as the rescue ships reached New York and Halifax. The stories of survivors, the episodes of high courage, of incidents touching and tragic, of the playing by the ship's orchestra of "Nearer My God to Thee", of human nature at its best—and in a very few cases at its worst—gave the long-sustained story a degree of fascination hardly ever matched.

It is hard to realize that all this happened 36 years ago, but nobody old enough then to be reading the newspapers ever will forget the story of the Titanic. For those who survived the disaster, its date and circumstances must be written in their minds in imperishable colors.

M.P. in Commons Debate On Freight Rate Increase

This house, then, is called upon to decide only whether the increase of 21 per cent decreed by the board is justified, at least in principle.

It is generally agreed that our railways have felt the pinch of increased costs of maintenance, construction, operation and extension of services. Then again, the travelling public is constantly asking for more speed and comfort, with air-conditioned cars, de luxe parlor and sleeper cars and coaches, exclusive cuisine, expert personnel, while it continually complains of bumpy roadbeds, outmoded and dilapidated passenger cars and day coaches, lack of snow-removal and repair equipment, trains running behind schedule, delays in freight and express deliveries.

To do all these things the railways have offered before the board conclusive evidence that they need more money to operate. This money cannot be obtained without an increase in rates. . .

Further, the Canadian National Railways, owned, operated and financed by the Canadian people, is one of the applicants and has lately announced a deficit of $23,000,000. We cannot hope to erase this deficit, even partly and thereby lessen our financial burden arising therefrom, unless relief is provided through increases in rates.

As to the Canadian Pacific, which is privately owned and therefore taxed to help balance the deficit of its chief competitor, it also has construction and operation problems which can be solved only by increased rates. As a matter of fact, the Canadian Pacific could not successfully compete or even attempt to compete with the Canadian National Railways unless it enjoyed the same increases, because it cannot delve into the Dominion treasury to recoup its operating losses.

For these reasons alone, Mr. Speaker, I would vote against the amendment of the hon. member for Rosetown-Biggar. But there are two other more important reasons which will motivate my vote, and which I wish to put on Hansard.

First, today's newspapers carry the announcement that conciliation in railway wage negotiations has collapsed. My sympathy is with the railway workers, who are entitled to a fair and reasonable increase in wages; and I do not want, by voting in favor of the amendment, to give a further excuse to the railway companies, if the increase in rates they seek is denied, for not meeting the motivated wage increases of their employees.

Second, I went on record in this house last year as stating that I was unwilling to vote for any issue which would precipitate a general election in the midst of the constitutional term of this parliament; and I am not changing my mind, particularly at this time when the dangers of the international situation are too great to afford the risks of a general election.

I would, Mr. Speaker, vote for a measure or a resolution tending to a fair equalization of freight rates for every province, but not at the cost of an immediate general election.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

DO TO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD . . .
Did it ever occur to you that having good neighbors is one of the joys of life? And that to enjoy the friendship of good neighbors, you, too, must be one? Living in close contact with our fellow men, we must take a friendly interest in them if we are to be happy. Neighborliness is simply treating the other fellow as you would have him treat you. And good neighbors make "Good Citizenship".
You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

THE FARM ACCOUNT BOOK AND INCOME TAX GUIDE SAVES FARMERS TIME, TROUBLE AND MONEY

SAVES YOU TIME—You will find that a few minutes a week keeps your Farm Account Book up-to-date. The first 15 pages of your new Farm Account Book tell a straight story about what is required from farmers. Your problems are dealt with in question and answer form and an index refers you quickly to the section you want. The pages and columns for accounts are numbered to correspond with the items on the Income Tax Return form itself. You can make an accurate record of all farm dealings as you go along.

If You Haven't Received Your Copy, Get It Now— FREE AT YOUR POST OFFICE

SAVES MONEY BY SHOWING YOU HOW—Every farmer legally is entitled to deductions for a wide variety of expenses. Your Farm Account Book has 12 pages devoted to columns for these. You are reminded of items which otherwise you might forget. Depreciation, a big factor, is covered on 75 named articles in common farm use.

You are shown how to establish claims for a Basic Herd and make a Three-Year-Average of your returns. This latter gives you the advantage of the lowest possible tax and it may be dated back to 1946. These are direct money-saving advantages entirely to your benefit.

THE THREE YEAR AVERAGE

You can't lose if you take advantage of this. Two things are necessary to average your income over the three year period ending December 31, 1948. First your 1947 return MUST BE FILED ON TIME—that is, by April 30, 1948. Then when you file your 1948 return in 1949 you may make application to average your income for 1946-1947-1948. This averaging of income continues yearly so that in each year you are taxed only on the average of each three year period.

REMEMBER — HALF CULTIVATED LAND YIELDS A POOR CROP—HALF KEPT ACCOUNTS GIVE POOR RESULTS TOO

Last year Canadian farmers—and there are nearly a million of them—produced over $2,000,000,000 in farm produce of all kinds. No other single industry approaches agriculture in volume of production. And as in every other business—even the smallest—every farmer must file an account of his transactions with the Department of National Revenue to qualify for the many tax exemptions which are allowed.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL REVENUE
(Taxation Division)

TODAY, Canada's merchant navy ranks fourth in the world—next to those of the United States, Britain and Norway. Our ocean-going tonnage is now four times as great as before the war. In 1939 we had only 35 regular ocean-going ships on our register. Now there are 153. The total of all our ships of over 1600 gross tons (including upper lakers, canal freighters and coastal passenger vessels) is now 386—representing over a million and a half gross registered tons of merchant shipping! That maritime achievement is typical of the tremendous industrial and commercial developments which have created new and greater opportunities for all Canadians right here at home in our own country today.

G. H. WOOD raised sufficient money in 1923 to buy a tiny Toronto soap plant employing two workers. Since then his energy, industry and consistent emphasis on salesmanship have built his company into the biggest sanitation products organization in Canada, manufacturing 176 separate items.

Mr. WOOD says: "I've always felt that business success comes from a combination of initiative salesmanship and harmony between labour and management; and nowhere is that combination more certain of achieving results than right here at home in our own country now".

Between the wars, Canada built no sea-going ships of any size. Today we have 17 major, fully equipped yards, with over 100,000 tons of shipping under construction, including vessels for European and South American countries.

Only one-eighth of the total cargo entered and cleared at Canadian ports was being carried by Canadian ships before the war. Last year our own ships were handling well over half of this tonnage.

— By M. V. Trayers —

Veterans' Allowances

The 9th of April was marked by the debate on the increase in Veterans' Allowances, during which almost every member who took part expressed disapproval of the niggardly manner in which the Government was treating the veterans. I do not know whether it occurred to those members taking part in the debate — if it did, no mention was made of the fact — that on the 9th of April 31 years ago the Canadians stormed the heights of Vimy Ridge and etched for themselves a glorious name on the scroll of history which shall never be effaced. It was for the survivors of that old corps that a fair deal was now being asked. There was indicated by the speeches a generous feeling towards the men who fought that day so that those speeches could now be made, so that Canada could live; but the government whose peace and security was thus guaranteed could only spare "ten bucks" to augment the meagre allowance at present granted to those veterans. Mr. A. M. Nicholson had some very pertinent things to say on this point. He is reported as follows: "I find that the Department of National Defence was able to get $28,000,000 for capital expenditures on construction, purchase repairs, and operating expenses of properties just four years ago—$51,000,000 for repairs, etc.; $182,000,000 for ammunition and bombs; $104,000,000 for armament, including rifles, machine guns and mortars; $274,000,000 for motor transport vehicles, etc.; $30,000,000 for operating cost of mechanical transport. Now the minister comes to parliament and asks for only $14,000,000 odd for the 12-month period to discharge our responsibility to veterans of World Wars I and II. Mr. Speaker, that is just not good enough".

Mention was also made of the fact that the board which considered the question of Veterans' Allowances to take care of the increased cost-of-living were by this very same bill to receive an increase of salary from $541.66 a month to $583.33 because of the increased cost-of-living for each of its members; but the veteran who gets an allowance of $30.41 has to get along with an extra ten dollars a month.

Mr. Hansell told a story to illustrated his description of the policy of the government in holding the allowance down to a mere pittance. He said he was reminded of a gentleman, not a war pensioner, who died not long ago. He was a millionaire who had been one of the leading restauranteurs in the United States. He made so much money in the restaurant business that he went insane, and he died in an insane asylum. He died crying out, "Cut the ham thinner boys; cut the ham thinner". He thought the government was on its last legs, facing the insane asylum, and now by this bill, crying out, "Cut the ham thinner boys; cut the ham thinner". . . .

Increase in Freight Rates

The C.N.R. and C.P.R. recently asked for a 30% increase in rates to enable them to meet the increased cost of upkeep and wages. The government referred the matter to the Transport Board, which after deliberating for some time handed down an order to increase freight rates by 21%. Mr. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F., proposed an amendment which would have the effect of delaying the increases till the matter was appealed by the provinces, seven of which entered objections to the increase.

This amendment became one of the hottest political issues the government has been called upon to face. Government members and followers handled the debate knowing it was political dynamite, and the opposition were almost unanimous in support of the amendment and against the increase.

The leaders of the Liberal party were very perturbed by the course the debate was taking, and at one time it was freely forecast that the government would be defeated. A caucus of the party was called and recalcitrant members were whipped into line, and the effect was noticeable when the debate continued. Next the Minister of Transport, Mr. Chevrier, was put on the stand and claimed that if the increase were rejected, an amalagamation of the two railways would surely take place. The C.P.R. would be placed in a deficit position and would eventually go into liquidation.

The leader of the opposition, Mr. Bracken, in a well reasoned resume of the question, placed the Conservative party in complete opposition to amalgamation or any condition which would lead up to it. In 1940 the combined gross revenue of the two railways was $384-million, from which a net revenue of $80-million was obtained. Seven years later, 1947, a gross revenue of $693-million was obtained, but the net was only $71-million. Ultimately the C.N.R. showed a loss of $15.8-million and the C.P.R. showed a gain of $23-million, which would have been a loss except for the very successful operation of other activities. It is expected that with the proposed 21% increase in freight rates the C.P.R. will have an increase in revenue of $30-million and the C.N.R. about $40-million. Mr. Bracken asked the government to get off the backs of the people and reduce taxation, particularly indirect taxation. If this were done the railways would soon be out of the red and showing substantial profits without any increase in rates. Mr. Bracken then proposed an amendment to the amendment of the C.C.F., which regretted the government's failure to remove inequalities in the freight rates and also the refusal of the government to accede to the request of the seven provinces which asked for a delay in putting the new rates into operation.

Mr. Héon's contribution to the debate took note of the fact that the C.P.R. had not the Dominion treasury to delve into to recoup its losses as the C.N.R. had; it therefore could not compete with the C.N.R. To give the public increased speed and comfort and provide all the modern improvements which characterize railway service today, costs money, and this money cannot be obtained without increasing rates. His sympathy was with the railway workers, who are entitled to a fair and reasonable increase in wages, and he did not want by voting for the amendment to give the railways an excuse to deny increases which were justly earned. Mr. Héon announced his intention of voting against the amendment.

What we do for each other is the measure of what we do for the nation.

The NEW TYPE FLOW SELECTOR, featured on the 1948 F & L Fertilizer Distributor, introduces a brand new feature to spreader design.

By means of an adjustable screw, flow can be regulated within the closest limits. Flow can be stopped and started by a touch of the control at the tractor seat. And when you start the flow again, the FLOW SELECTOR automatically restores the flow to its original setting . . . it's quick, convenient, positive, and there is no guess work.

THE "BLUE" BOOK OF FAMOUS CANADIAN TRAINS

Serving all Canada

Across the Dominion, even as you read this, thousands of travellers are speeding to their destinations on board trains of the Canadian National. Famous trains, such as The Continental Limited and The Ocean Limited, are spanning the distances from the Pacific and the Prairie Provinces to Eastern Canada and the Atlantic. The International Limited, The Inter-City Limited, The Washingtonian and The Montrealer, are typifying Canadian National's importance as an International carrier. Dependable "locals" are performing the undramatic but essential job of serving the "in between" points, and providing branch line connections with the fast Express trains. These are the trains, covering more than two million miles each month, that make up the Railway "Blue Book" of Canada — The System Time Tables of the C.N.R. The "Blue Book" is your "passport" to everywhere in Canada, or across the Border be your journey for business or pleasure, for an hour, a day, overnight or longer.

COURTESY AND SERVICE

The Woodland Swamp . . .

Cool woodland swamps and open sunny marshes provide homes for waterfowl, beavers and muskrats. They help maintain the underground water-level, assisting the farmer through the dry summer months. The diagrams below show how the draining of swamps often causes wells to dry up, destroys vegetation, paves the way for spring floods. A soil expert should be consulted before a marsh or swamp is drained, to make sure that the project will serve a worthwhile purpose; drained land is sometimes useless for agriculture.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA

An Outstanding Year in Metropolitan's History

"1947 was one of the best years in the history of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

"The Company's financial position was excellent. In Canada and the United States more Metropolitan policyholders than ever before enjoyed the blessings of life insurance. Through investments, the Company played a bigger role than in any preceding year in helping to keep the wheels of industry turning . . . to provide jobs and homes . . . and to maintain high standards of living.

"However, the year was not without its problems. Insurance costs were higher because of lower interest rates, and because of the prevalent increase in the cost of goods and services."

President Leroy A. Lincoln reported these facts in his account of the Company's 1947 activities in a motion picture entitled "Pages From An Open Book." Here are some other important facts about 1947 presented by Mr. Lincoln:

—Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries totalled $671,000,000 — topping all records.

—At the year-end, policyholders owned a total of $37,250,000,000 of Metropolitan protection — the greatest amount in the Company's history.

—Metropolitan will pay in 1948 somewhat more in dividends to policyholders than in 1947, although there will be downward adjustments for certain classes of business.

Mr. Lincoln also reported that last year a committee representing all State Insurance Departments completed, as required by law, a periodic examination of Metropolitan. In their conclusions, the examiners reported:

"The examination of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company indicates that it is in a sound financial condition."

"Policy claims are paid promptly, and fair and equitable treatment has been accorded the policyholders."

Metropolitan's Annual Report for 1947, which is entitled "Pages From An Open Book," contains much additional information about the Company's operations. If you would like to have this booklet, fill in and mail the coupon below. A copy will be sent to you without charge.

SOME FACTS ABOUT METROPOLITAN'S OPERATIONS IN CANADA

These highlights of the Company's business in the Dominion during 1947, our 75th year in Canada, will be of particular interest to Metropolitan's Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries.

Life Insurance in Force

In 1947, Canadians bought $209,634,649 of new Life insurance protection in the Metropolitan, bringing the total of the Company's Life insurance in force in Canada to over 2 billion dollars at the year-end. This amount — $2,083,391,707 — is made up of 58% Ordinary, 31% Industrial and 11% Group.

Payments to Policyholders and Beneficiaries

Metropolitan paid in 1947 to its Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries $36,222,913 in death claims, matured endowments, dividends and other payments. Of this, 69% was paid to living policyholders.

The total amount the Metropolitan has paid to Canadians since it entered Canada in 1872, plus the amount now invested in Canada, exceeds the total premiums received from Canadians by more than $306,000,000.

Total Investments in Canada

The Company's total investments in Canada amounted to $480,303,977 at the end of 1947. Of this amount, 51% is in Dominion of Canada Bonds. Since the close of the war Metropolitan's new investments have gone increasingly to help meet the needs of industry and the community, just as they were doing before the war.

Health and Welfare Work

During 1947, a total of 234,835 nursing visits was made to those insured under Metropolitan Industrial, Intermediate, and Group policies in Canada; over 1½ million pamphlets on health and safety were distributed, and the Company took part in 54 Canadian health campaigns.

Church Bowling League Concludes Season

On Monday the semi-finals and finals of the Lachute United Church bowling league were played before about 60 spectators. The Ladies' Aid team (Mrs. H. Scott) gave the Y.P.U. foursome (Allan Hammond) quite a battle, as the latter came through with 8 to 7. The other semi-final was also keen, Mrs. H. MacNeill's S.S. Team losing to Y.P.U., skipped by Clarence McNaughton, 10 to 5.

The two Y.P.U. teams entered the final; Hammond's squad went into an early lead of 2 to 0, and the opponents soon evened the count. This game became a real donnebrook, as both teams ran neck-to-neck right to the final ball, the score finishing 8 to 7 for Hammond.

The refreshment committee — Mrs. H. MacNeill, Mrs. H. Riddell and Miss G. McMahon — had prepared an excellent lunch, which the group thoroughly enjoyed.

The president of the Bowling League, Jack Gorman, expressed appreciation of the Society to Mr. Bert Mitchell for his co-operation, and asked Mr. Mitchell to accept a small gift from the league. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough was then asked to present prizes to the wining team, composed of Miss Gladys Styles, Miss Florence Pollock, Earl Morrison and Allan Hammond (skip). Prizes were also awarded to the runners-up, Miss Florence Black, Miss Mary Jacobsen, Grant Riddell and C. McNaughton.

The prize committee consisted of Mrs. Geo. Deacon, Mrs. J. G. Lamontagne and Miss Grace Rosser.

Mr. Rosborough then presented the president with a token from the league members, and expressed appreciation for the work accomplished during the year. Jack Gorman replied appropriately, and thanked the skips, officers and members for their assistance in making the season such a success.

Churches at St. Andrews

St. Andrews East — The W.M.S. of the United Church met at Miss Lamb's home on Tuesday afternoon, April 13. Another chapter of the study book was presented by the president. Plans were made for entertaining the sectional gathering of auxiliaries.

The spring thank-offering service of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church was held at the church Friday evening, April 9. Guest speaker was the Rev. Chas. Maclean, of Lachute. Mrs. Jos. Bradley thanked the speaker on behalf of the auxiliary. Miss Elizabeth Walsh presided and Mrs. Howard McOuat conducted the devotional period. Mrs. J. P. Bradley's vocal solo was greatly appreciated.

The Way of the Spirit

For some centuries after the beginning of the Christian era, the life of the land we now call England was a wild and troubled one, for the most part pagan and often cruel.

But slowly, surely, inexorably, the Holy Spirit spread the good work of conversion . . . this is the theme of "The Way of the Spirit" on April 25, another in the CBC Biblical series heard on Sundays at 1.30 p.m.

To Attend Auspicious Event At Montreal Church

The many friends of the Westmount Baptist Church in Montreal will rejoice with them on Friday evening of this week when, at a supper meeting of the congregation, the mortgage against the church property will be burned, thus making the complete liquidation of the congregation's debt.

Lachute Boy Scouts

Now that the Lachute Troop of Boy Scouts is holding its meetings in the Auditorium basement, there is room to carry on work and instruction properly, and better progress is being made. All the boys have now passed their Tenderfoot tests and are working hard for 2nd Class standing. Four former Scouts have re-joined the Troop. A senior First Aid class is being started under the direction of Mr. Thos. Dwyer, St. John Ambulance Brigade instructor at C-I-L, Brownsburg. This gives the boys not only First Class Scouting first aid but also Junior St. John Ambulance standing.

Recent promotions include Joe Lamontagne P/L and Billy Steeves 2nd of the Fox Patrol; Willie McKenzie P/L of the Crow Patrol; Maynard MacKiddie P/L of the Eagle Patrol, Bain Beers 2nd of the Wolf Patrol, and Don Barbour promoted to Quartermaster with P/L rank. P/L Grant Riddell has been appointed Scribe and Treasurer, taking the place of Victor Shearsmith, whose work keeps him out of town.

The Bulldog Patrol leads in the patrol competition which has been running since last September, with the Lion, Crow, Fox, Wolf and Eagle Patrols following in that order.

Last night's instruction period was omitted and the Scouts attended the meeting of the Argenteuil Fish & Game Protective Association, where they learned something of wildlife conservation and saw moving pictures of fishing, hunting and Indian life in the northern part of our province. This was real Scout stuff, and was enjoyed by the whole Troop.

Scouts Collect Paper Salvage at Brownsb'g

Brownsburg — A salvage paper collection was made in Brownsburg last Saturday, April 17, by the Boy Scouts Committee. A large amount of paper was collected and in most cases it was well tied or placed in paper cartons. While the exact amount of paper received has not been ascertained, it is believed to be better than previous collections. The Group Committee wishes to express sincere appreciation to all who co-operated in making the canvass such a success.

Proceeds from the sale of the paper will be used to further the work of the 1st Brownsburg Boy Scout Troop and Wolf Cub Pack.

Weekly Newspaper Publishers at Halifax

It is interesting to note that in Nova Scotia there are five distinct white races represented: English, Scottish, French, Irish and Hanovarians, with four different languages, although all speak English. There are still Micmac Indians to be found at several reservations, also numerous settlements of negroes, whose forefathers were brought in by the early settlers.

Famed throughout the world for its splendid growth of apples the Nova Scotia Apple Blossom Festival draws yearly large and enthusiastic crowds for this event. Mr. F. J. Burns, a director of the C.W.N.A., and publisher of the Kentville Advertiser, takes active part in the promotion of this annual celebration and with his newspaper contributes largely to its success.

Starting in early spring with the mayflower, the emblem of the province, there is a continuity of wild and cultivated flowers, fragrant with scent and exquisite in color.

Particularly important however, especially during the war, was the city of Halifax which in two years doubled its population and was considered the front line of the battle of the Atlantic. Surprising as it may be, ships were sunk at the rate of one or two a day and treacherous undersea raiders were a menace. Ten thousand survivors of torpedoed merchant ships were brought into the city and cared for; torpedoed tankers burned with flaming intensity and ships were sunk within a few miles from the harbour mouth. Even closer, the approaches to the harbour were mined, but the sweepers worked incessantly and not a single ship was lost. A ship loaded with explosives, caught fire and had to be abandoned. Volunteers however, headed her towards the harbour mouth, where she was sunk. A freighter, loaded with ammunition and explosives caught fire in the main harbour. After an unsuccessful attempt to extinguish the flames, gun crews took careful aim at compartments, empty of explosives, blasting the doomed freighter at the water line and sinking her, thus averting what would certainly have been catastrophe. Some shells overshot or passed through the blazing vessel and splintered docks on the water front less than 50 yards from where people were standing.

Throughout five years of war, despite so many narrow escapes, Halifax came through without a scratch, only to be disgraced by thoughtless hoodlums, who in celebration of victory caused endless destruction and havoc.

Two months later, disaster again came, when without warning a terrific blast rent the air and threatened the city. A seemingly endless series of terrific explosions continued all night and next morning scores of thousands of citizens streamed from their homes to seek safety wherever they could.

Such were the trials and discomforts experienced by the citizens of Halifax, while we in our local districts were safe and sound, free from bodily harm and attack.

We mention the above facts, not with the idea of bringing back unhappy memories, but rather to impress in our minds the fact that we must not forget the wonderful part played by the "Down East" people, and also that we play our part in seeing that similar destruction of life and property caused through needless war, shall never happen again. Our hats come off to them and may they continue to prosper.

Leaving Saturday morning, again by the Ocean Limited, we arrived home in time to hear our minister, who, by the way, came from "Down East".

If we don't build a new world ourselves, someone else will do it for us, and it won't be one we like.

Among the world's minor coincidences is the number of sons-in-law who choose to follow their father-in-law's line of business.

OBITUARY

The Late Archie Warwick

Evincing the large measure of esteem in which the deceased gentlemen had been held throughout his long lifetime, a capacity gathering of relatives and friends assembled in Lachute Baptist Church last Sunday afternoon to pay tribute to the memory of the late Mr. Archie Warwick, whose death occurred two days previously at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Stanley Goldsworthy, 43 Grace Street, following a lingering illness.

The service was conducted by Rev. W. Hartley Britton, and the message was delivered by Rev. George B. Hicks. Many beautiful floral offerings were in evidence.

Pall-bearers were a cousin, Mr. James H. Murdoch; a nephew, Mr. Lorne Tomalty; and four sons-in-law, Messrs. John L. Caverhill, Eric L. Finch, Frank Greenwood and S. Goldsworthy. Interment was in Lachute Cemetery.

Born December 11, 1863, the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. John Warwick of Chatham Township, Mr. Warwick had spent the greater part of his life in this district, but latterly had lived at Ashton, Ontario, until rapidly failing health necessitated his return to be with his children. He married Catherine Tomalty, who predeceased him in 1919. Of their union there were born 11 children, one of whom, Nelson, met accidental death in 1928. There remain seven daughters, Mrs. Stanley Goldsworthy, Lachute; Mrs. Eric L. Finch, Montreal; Mrs. Katherine Themens, Philadelphia; Mrs. A. Cromp, Montreal; Mrs. J. L. Caverhill, Montreal; Mrs. Charles Sauer, Philadelphia; Mrs. Frank Greenwood, Montreal; and three sons, William, of Regina, Russell, of Brownsburg, and George, of Ashton. He leaves also 21 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Funeral of the Late Mrs. John MacKimmie At Aurora, Illinois

Messrs. John and James MacKimmie, of Lachute, attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. John MacKimmie, at Aurora, Ill., last Thursday.

The late Mrs. John MacKimmie, whose death occurred April 13, in her 88th year, was a native of the Ottawa Valley and had often revisited these parts in her earlier married years. She is survived by her husband, also 88 years of age, who is a brother of the late James P. MacKimmie of this town. John and the late Mrs. MacKimmie were married in Thurso, Que., over 66 years ago.

Nutriment in Potatoes

The homely potato is one of the greatest gifts of the Indians to the world. The potato is not Irish, except by adoption, although it was received with enthusiasm as soon as it reached the Emerald Isle. It was recognized as an alternative for the staple oatmeal.

There are several obvious and interesting reasons why the potato gained and retained its popularity in so many lands. Its mildness does not tire the appetite and this reason also makes it an ideal accompaniment for more flavourful foods. Canada's Food Rules recommend "two vegetables besides potatoes every day" thus emphasizing the value of potatoes in the diet.

There are numerous ways of serving potatoes as a vegetable but it also moves into the dessert or confection class occasionally. Many old cook-books suggest that mashed potatoes may replace one third of the flour in making biscuits or scones. Potatoes have been used successfully in bread for many years and appreciated for the quality of holding moisture and keeping the bread fresh.

The home economists at Ottawa recommend mashed potatoes as an ingredient in chocolate cake to keep it rich and moist.

Potato Biscuits

2 Cups hot diced potatoes, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour (or 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted pastry flour), 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt.

To the potatoes add the grated cheese, chopped parsley and the well-beaten eggs. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Blend thoroughly with first mixture. Shape into rounds like a biscuit and bake in a very hot oven, 425°F., for 15 to 20 minutes. These biscuits are good served with jam or jelly and require no butter. Yield: 18 2-inch biscuits.

Chocolate Potato Cake

1 Square (1 oz.) chocolate, ¼ cup shortening, ½ cup brown sugar, ¾ cup riced potatoes, 1 egg, ½ cup sifted all-purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup milk.

Melt chocolate over hot water, add shortening and sugar, beat well, then add potatoes. Beat egg well and add to potato mixture. Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Add to the first mixture alternately with the milk. Bake in a loaf pan 8" x 4" x 3", 35 minutes in a moderate oven 350°F.

Potato Dumplings

2 Tablespoons fat, ½ cup small bread cubes, 2 cups riced potatoes, 2 eggs beaten, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, ½ cup sifted pastry flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 2 cups canned tomatoes or tomato juice.

Melt fat in frying pan, add bread cubes and brown, stirring frequently. To the riced potatoes add the beaten eggs, salt, onion, parsley and toasted bread cubes. Sift together the flour and baking powder and add to potato mixture. Blend well. Drop by spoonfuls in boiling tomato juice or tomatoes. Cover tightly and steam 25 minutes. Serve immediately. Six servings.

Prize Winners at Store Opening

At the opening of Lachute's newest business building, the D. G. Simon feed store on Foundry Street East, a large turn-out from the farming community was present last Thursday afternoon.

Winners of two Presto cookers donated as door prizes by the Quaker Oats Co. Ltd., were Alton Boyd and Mrs. John Drennan, both of the Lachute district. A 100-lb. bag of King Bug-Killer donated by the makers, and a cash award of $5 donated by a friend, were won by John and Howard Dixon, respectively, both Dalesville residents.

Casein glue is a by-product of milk, developed in the first Great War for airplane manufacture. Casein is obtained from skim milk, treated with lactic or sulphuric acid, or rennet, into curds and whey. The curds are washed, placed in presses, ground and dried — chemicals are added to give this glue length of life and fluidity. They are not waterproof but are water resistant, and are used extensively in the manufacture of plywoods, wood veneers, and for exterior woodwork. They form an extremely tough bond which dulls tools rapidly, and have a tendency to stain, especially thin veneers.

The Mosquito bombers produced in great numbers in Canada for the invasion of Europe, were held together with glue. Plastic resin glues fall into two main classes, phenol formaldehyde resin glue, and urea formaldehyde resin glue. These "urea" glues are absolutely waterproof, durable and strong; they mix with cold water, set in the same time as fish glues, but are slower than animal glues. Heat must be applied to ensure chemical action between the phenol (carbolic acid) and formaldehyde; 300°F. produces a bond of high strength and water resistance, while urea formaldehyde joints can be worked from 4 to 6 hours after gluing at 70°F. and in one minute if set under pressure at 190°F.

Vegetable gums and dextrins are used in large quantities by many types of industrial plants, and are the ones which play such a large part in our everyday lives. They are made from starch and flour from the root of the cassava or tapioca plant, from corn, potato, wheat and sago. . . Dextrin gums are used in the manufacture of paper boxes, paper bags, envelopes, stamps, paper tubes, gummed tapes and hundreds of other items in general use.

Other examples of glues and adhesives, such as mucilages, waterproof china cements, library pastes, emulsions and liquid plastics, were then mentioned, giving an impartial consideration of their good points and their disadvantages.

The speaker was introduced by Lion E. H. Peters and thanked by Lion Phil Roy.

Lion Roy reported on the recent bingo party, which will probably net $420 - $430 after expenses are met. Lion George Davis reported that the sale of tickets for the drawing of a Dodge car, refrigerator, etc., had reached $400; he emphasized that an all-out effort was required by all members for this major activity, from which the proceeds are used exclusively for welfare work in this town.

Three Districts of Oddfellows Here For Annual Meeting Last Week-End

Grand Lodge and Rebekah Officers Present; Divine Service Held Sunday at United Church

Oddfellowship has been long established in this district and has carried on its purposes during past years in a quiet, unobtrusive way. Last week-end, however, evidenced to the citizens of Lachute the strength of this Independent Order, when a joint meeting of Districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3 was held here at Laurentian Lodge headquarters, the Oddfellows' Hall.

The sessions, largely attended, opened on Saturday evening with a banquet in the Auditorium, after which the brethren retired to the Laurentian Lodge hall, where business of importance to the various districts was transacted.

D.D.G.M. Bro. C. Vidito was in charge of the meeting with D.D.G.M. Bro. G. Hinchcliff and D.D.G.M. Bro. Morency assisting.

Representatives were present from Mount Royal Lodge, No. 1, Mizpah Lodge No. 3, Beaver No. 6, Lansdowne No. 9, Excelsior No. 12, Wellington No. 20, Fraternity No. 21, all of Montreal; Dominion No. 49, Lachine; Carleton No. 240, Ottawa; Danville, Quebec, Valleyfield, also from Canton No. 4 Granby, and from Laurentian Lodge No. 14, Lachute.

Grand Lodge officers present were: Grand Master Bro. W. K. McArthur; D.G.M. Bro. J. Batstone; Chief Patriarch, Bro. W. McBain; G.H.P. Bro. W. Sadler; G. Sec. Bro. Geo. Laing; G. Scribe, Bro. H. Wilson; G. Rep. Bro. R. Walker; G. Rep. J. Dever; P.G.M. Bro. H. Dodderidge; P.G.M. Bro. R. Hare; P.G.M. Bro. R. McKee, P.G.M. Bro. H. McFayden; P.G.M. Bro. A. Decarie.

A veteran's jewel, for 25 years' membership in Laurentian Lodge No. 14, was presented to Bro. R. Lorne McArthur, by his brother Grand Master Bro. W. K. McArthur, using the jewel worn by his late father P.G.M. Bro. Robt. McArthur. He was escorted by two cousins, P. G. Bro. W. J. Deacon and P.G. Bro. G. Brennian.

P.G. Bro. Percy Gordon was the recipient of the second jewel, which was presented by Chief Patriarch Bro. W. McBain.

Sunday afternoon, headed by Vimy Branch No. 13 Legion Band, and the Legion color party, with the Maple Leaf Canton No. 4 and the Subordinate members, Rebekahs and Oddfellows formed a lengthy parade, marching to the United Church, where service was conducted by Bro. Rev. W. B. Rosborough, assisted by Bro. Rev. S. J. Pike. A new Oddfellows' flag was dedicated at this service.

Among the Rebekah officers at the Sunday ceremonies were P.Pres, Mrs. Jordan, P.Pres. Mrs. Johanson, P.Pres. Mrs. J. Devers and D.D.Pres. Mrs. L. Jordan.

On returning to the hall, the gathering were guests of G.M. Bro. McArthur and Mrs. McArthur for refreshments before leaving for their various centres.

Local Citizen is Que. Grand Master

Walker K. McArthur, Lachute business man, who is Provincial Grand Master of the I.O.O.F. . Following the week-end activities of Oddfellows and Rebekahs, the G.M. and Mrs. McArthur were hosts to the visiting brethren, at their home and at the hall of Laurentian Lodge.

Decorated by Greek Ambassador at Ottawa

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel —

Friends were pleased to welcome on a visit to his home-town Sgt. C. T. Craig, who had the honor of being decorated by the Greek Ambassador in Ottawa on Friday, with the award of the Greek Military Cross. It is a pleasing honor to Arundel, and the community is duly proud. . . Carl Craig has bought a farm in Orangeville, Ont., to which he returned Sunday.

Fourth Victim Dies After Crash At Rail Crossing

Mrs. William Morissette, 58-year-old St. Philippe resident who was critically injured in the train-auto crash at Simon's Crossing on Tuesday evening, April 20, died of her injuries Friday night at the Neurological Institute in Montreal.

Her death raises the accident toll to four fatalities — Aime Robillard and his son Jean-Real having died instantly, and Mrs. Morissette's son Russell succumbing to his injuries before reaching hospital. Mrs. Morissette suffered a fractured diaphragm, besides contusions about the head. Internal injuries, however, were given as the cause of her death. The "accidental" verdict, given at the three-fold inquest, applied similarly to her death.

Bernard and Benoit, twin sons of Mrs. Morissette, who were two of the six occupants of the death car, suffered only minor injuries and were in attendance at the burial rites of their brother and their mother. The funeral of Mrs. Morissette, held Monday morning at the St. Philippe parish church, was very largely attended by grief-stricken friends and villagers.

Award for Local Efforts Promoting Fire Prevention

A Certificate of Merit in recognition of activities promoting Fire Prevention Week, has been awarded to this town and was received recently by Mayor Alex Bothwell. The following letter accompanied the award:

Quebec City, Que.

Dear Mr. Bothwell:

I enclose a Certificate of Merit from the National Fire Protection Association which states that the town of Lachute has won an Honorable Mention, class "D" (5,000 - 10,000 population), in the Province of Quebec, for educational activities conducted during the 1947 Fire Prevention Week Campaign.

I join with Honorable Mr. Lorrain, Minister of Public Works, and with the Fire Commissioner, Ernest Lavigne, in congratulating the municipal authorities, and specially Chief Deacon and his staff, as well as all those who contributed to the success of the Fire Prevention Week Campaign.

Yours very truly,
— L. X. Ahern,
Deputy Fire Commissioner

Observes 88th Birthday

Mr. Archie D. McGibbon, a patriarch of west-end citizens and veteran lumberman of this county, celebrated his 88th birthday last Sunday. A family dinner was held at his home on this occasion, and Mr. McGibbon, convalescing from a recent spell of ill health, was able to leave his room and join the party.

Award Won by Engineering Student

The Engineering Institute of Canada recently announced that Russell B. Todd, of Montreal (formerly of Brownsburg), had been presented with the Phelps Johnson Award for 1947. This award is given for the best Engineering essay submitted from the Province of Quebec. . . Mr. Todd is at present in 3rd year Engineering at McGill University.

B'burg Numbers Fire Hydrants to Facilitate Calls

Population Pledges $16,000 in Ottawa University Drive

Brownsburg — At a recent meeting of the corporation it was revealed that, during the period when frozen water pipes were the rule rather than the exception and when the water supply in the village had reached a critical point, the cost to the council of thawing out 106 "freeze-ups" was $511, of which $467 was repaid for the service. In other words the cost to the council for keeping the water service flowing was only $44.

Passing on the Red

There are still a number of car drivers who pay a blissful disregard to traffic regulations, and who in consequence have enriched the coffers of the municipal council by a considerable amount — about $150 to date. Passing the traffic light seems to be a favorite pastime of a number of these delinquents but the council has expressed determination that this form of defiance will be curbed. Steps have been taken to provide almost constant surveillance by the police, so that beating the light may become an expensive hobby.

Tax Payments

Tax defaulters in Brownsburg are few, but there are some who resent business taxes as a curse to be avoided. Outside firms are particularly prone to pass-up applications for payment of legally due demands, but firm action has usually compelled them to meet payments. At last meeting, the council handed to its legal representative a demand against a carrying company for collection.

Numbering Fire Hydrants

On the suggestion of Fire Chief A. Robbins it was decided to have all fire hydrants numbered with a large white number, so that residents could place the position of a fire by referring to the hydrant number. There are several other changes affecting the fire department which are in course of being carried out. At a later date we expect to deal more fully with these changes and endeavor to interpret them with a view of assisting their smooth operation.

The Ottawa University

The campaign conducted by the Ottawa University authorities through the office of His Excellency Archbishop Vachon was a great financial success in the parish of Brownsburg. The sum of $16,000 was subscribed by the Catholic population of the parish. This amount is payable over a period of two years, and two offices have been opened in the village where subscriptions may be handed in. Mr. Hebert on Main and Mrs. Giroux on St. Joseph Street have been authorized to accept payments and issue official receipts.

First Meeting of New Central School Board

Last Saturday evening Inspector L. J. King and Mr. Geo. Y. Deacon attended the first meeting of the new Macdonald Protestant Central School Board, held in the Macdonald College High School at Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

Together with the Pontiac Central School Board formed in March, this makes nine such central school areas established in the province to date.

County Residents And Visitors Among Train-Crash Injured

When a Montreal-Hawkesbury passenger train at the C.N.R. station at St. Eustache-sur-la-Lac was struck from the rear by the Montreal-St. Remi train on Saturday afternoon, numerous residents and visitors en route to points in this county were severely bruised and shaken.

District correspondents to The Watchman report several who were aboard these trains and escaped what might have been disastrous effects in the collision. Only two are reported to have required hospital treatment — Ernest J. Stonebridge, 77, of Morin Heights, who was treated for a broken nose at the Montreal General Hospital, and Mrs. W. J. King, of Cushing, who on reaching her home entered Dr. Smith's Hospital at Hawkesbury, suffering from shock and scalp wounds.

The accident occurred when the Laurentian-bound train ploughed headlong into the rear of the stationary train in front of the St. Eustache station. The impact smashed the entire rear half of the last coach on the standing train, tearing out seats and flooring and ripping the wooden coach's sides. Debris littered the tracks over a large area.

The smashed coach of the Hawkesbury train was empty at the time. A few minutes earlier, however, it had been crowded with passengers who disembarked at St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac.

POOR MUNICIPALITIES !

The Dominion government budgets regularly for surpluses. . . Some of the provinces are also showing surpluses in revenue, and are able to face their plans with confidence. Unfortunately municipalities usually struggle along with deficit, debt and neglect.

Physician Paints Grim Picture of Life and Outlook in St. Remi Area

Silicosis Peril to Industrial Workers

Criticism from various sources, on conditions experienced among workers in the silica mine at St. Remi, came to a head last week in two somewhat divergent spheres— in the diocesan Anglican Synod sessions held in Montreal, and from the Minister of Labor at Quebec, Hon. Antonio Barrette.

A veteran campaigner for more healthful conditions, and for more humane consideration under the industrial laws, is Dr. R. B. Henry, of Arundel, Que., who has treated numerous workers at St. Remi for silicosis and seen the disastrous effects of this disease. Dr. Henry, a lay delegate to the Synod from Arundel parish, put forward the following resolution, which was approved and adopted by the assembly:

"That this Synod strongly urges the Workmen's Compensation Board and the Quebec Safety League to impose more stringent regulations over the control of any mine or work in which employees are exposed to the hazards of silicosis".

Elaborating on this resolution, which was seconded by the Rev. E. C. Royle, former rector at Arundel, Dr. Henry stated as follows:

"I can speak in favor of this motion with a great deal of feeling, and with an experience which I trust in future years members of my profession will never again be called upon to face. During the past 12 years I have treated and come in contact with about 50 men suffering with silicosis and its ally tuberculosis. I have seen men working for low wages, exposed to dangerous dust and allowed to die, without proper protection from our Workmen's Compensation laws. I have made personal attempts to have these wrongs corrected, and changes have been made. But one small voice cannot succeed alone.

"Recently a very courageous attempt has been made by the Roman Catholic Church to have these conditions remedied, and I plead here tonight that this Synod add their voice to those who place human lives above personal gain.

Hog Weight Believed All-Time Local Record

Porkers come plump and plenty at the agricultural fairs . . but a bacon hog delivered to Montreal packers from Dalesville last week is believed the largest on record from this countryside. The shipper was Leslie Tomalty, who received from the buyer an authentic weigh-bill showing 853 lbs. of porker, dressed weight. The girth of the pig, according to Mr. Tomalty, was from 6 ft. 9 ins. to 7 ft.

Museum Re-Opens Saturday, May 1

The Carillon Museum, a centre of interest to this section of the Ottawa Valley, will be reopened to the public on Saturday, May 1.

Headquarters of the Argenteuil Historical Society, the Museum has now become a treasure-house of the written and pictorial records of this county. It presents to the sightseer an accumulation of antiques representing the primitive tools of various trades, the early implements of agriculture, and furnishings from pioneer households linked with the first settlement of this countryside.

The Museum is therefore measured with some degree of pride among families rooted in the local soil, and it is a show-spot rich in interest to the visitors who patronize this district each summer.

Norm Somers to Head Rotary Club

At the last meeting of the Brownsburg Rotary Club the election of officers took place. Norm Somers, vice-president of the club and carnival chairman, was named as president-elect for 1948-49, succeeding Wes Freeland. Linton W. Armstrong was elected to the office of vice-president, while Harold Barrie and Harold Dando were re-elected to the posts of secretary and treasurer, respectively.

The board of directors for 1948-49 will include the above mentioned officers as well as the following elected members: John Chalmers, Herbert Graves and Arthur McOuat. In addition, the immediate past-president is automatically a member of the board. These members will take office at the beginning of the new Rotary year, July 1.

Old Citizen and Tradesman Dies at St. Andrews East

Late Wilfrid Giroux Was Blacksmith for 38 Years

St. Andrews East — On April 22, after long years of suffering borne with admirable patience, Wilfrid Giroux passed peacefully away at his home here. Born at Rivière Rouge 63 years ago, the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Giroux, he was blacksmith of St. Andrews village for the past 38 years.

A large gathering of friends and relatives assembled to pay their last tribute, and beautiful tokens of flowers and mass offerings bespoke the esteem in which Mr. Giroux was held. The funeral was held in St. Andrews East Catholic Church at 9.30 a.m. on Monday, the service being conducted by Rev. Father Dulude, assisted by Rev. Father Beaulieu and Rev. Father Décarie. The pall-bearers were his nephews — René Giroux, Claude Giroux, Raymond Giroux, of St. Andrews East, Roland Giroux, of St. Jerome, Patrick Giroux, of Brownsburg, and Lucien Giroux, of St. Eustache. The remains were laid in the family plot at the village cemetery.

He is mourned by his wife, the former Marie-Anne Pilon of St. Hermas, seven children, Mrs. Albert Bédard, Montreal, Mrs. René Robillard, Montreal, Mrs. Alfred Larocque, St. Andrews East, Mrs. Ernie Woods, St. Andrews East, Mrs. Roger Adam, Joliette, Marie-Paule, Montreal, and his son, Louis-George, of Montreal. He also leaves 13 grandchildren, besides his two brothers, Moise and Ovilda, both of St. Andrews East.

News Stories Give Fresh Sidelights On Williamson Diamond Enterprise

Claim Millions Lost Through Smuggling

The London Daily Mail has new stories to tell about the fabulous diamond properties in Tanganyika discovered by Dr. J. T. Williamson, who was born and raised in this County of Argenteuil. Following are two first-hand glimpses by Daily Mail correspondents; the reports appeared in recent issues. . .

(By Graham Stanford)

Fortunes Made in Diamond Smuggling

Britain is losing millions of dollars in exports through diamond thefts in Tanganyika, East Africa.

Police inquiries are being made in London and Amsterdam with the object of intercepting gems smuggled out of East Africa.

Some are industrial diamonds invaluable to Britain's production drive; others are jewellers' pieces of enormous value.

Investigations I have made throughout East Africa have shown that fortunes are being made by certain European and Indian operators. New industries are being launched in India on the proceeds of diamond smuggling.

Some European "refugees" to East Africa have made sufficient out of the racket to give exorbitant prices for land which British firms cannot possibly pay.

It is estimated that the country's "diamond king", Dr. J. T. Williamson, is losing 30 per cent of his production at the mine he started in Shinyanga.

This mine has been in continuous production since 1941, and promises to be one of the richest in the world.

"Send us wire . . "

The East Africa Mining Association contends that all that is needed to curb the thefts is about 10,000 rolls of barbed wire to guard the mines, and some X-ray apparatus to detect the thieves.

The British Government have been asked to give priority for these supplies, but this has not been granted.

African workers swallow the diamonds and sell them to agents, who smuggle them out of Tanganyika to the world's markets.

European staffs at the workings are so small that it is almost impossible to make a proper search of the workers.

Police in Tanganyika admit that there is little they can do to stop what is going on. They have neither the men nor the material.

Representatives of mining associations in East Africa urge that there should be a tightening-up of legislation dealing with illicit diamond buying. In Tanganyika 15 years is the maximum penalty, but in adjoining Kenya the police have no power to apply for search warrants.

Man With £35,000 Job to Offer

Mr. I. C. Chopra, diplomatic and legal adviser to the Williamson Diamonds, Ltd., Tanganyika, is in London looking for the services of a qualified diamond valuer.

And the salary he is prepared to pay may reach £35,000 a year.

The mine is at Mwadui where, when it rains, you can shuffle through diamonds worth thousands of pounds.

In seven years the main pipe has not even been touched, but £1,000,000 worth of diamonds were picked up last year.

This year between £3,000,000 and £4,000,000 worth of stones will be lifted.

With proper machinery, which is now a Government top priority, about £8,000,000 a year could be found.

By a contract delivered to Mr. Chopra recently, every one will be sold by the Diamond Corporation of London, and the products of the Mwadui Mine will be the biggest dollar-earning concern in the Empire. A 14,000,000 dollar sale is expected.

But the crooks of the world have found in Mwadui a happy hunting ground. It is estimated that last year at least £1,000,000 worth of gems were smuggled out of the mine and sold illicitly.

Footnote

The mine, founded by Dr. J. Thoburn Williamson, 41-year-old Canadian, about 12 years ago, produced the 54½-carat rose-pink diamond which had been given by Dr. Williamson to Princess Elizabeth as a wedding present.

Where Four Died at Rail Crossing

This twisted heap of metal is all that remained of the automobile struck by a train at Simon's Crossing, west of Lachute, on Tuesday evening, April 20. Four St. Philippe residents lost their lives in the tragedy — two being instantly killed, one dying in an ambulance shortly after the crash, and the fourth in a Montreal hospital last Friday.

MOUNTIES AS "BAIT"?

Vancouver (CP) — Use of the R.C.M.P. officers at "tourist bait" has been recommended by Vancouver Association to federal authorities. It recommended placing mounties at six Pacific entry ports.

Gatineau LINES

"Horsepower" and "kilowatt" are fairly big words. Most people have heard them—but except for those intimately acquainted with electricity, their exact meaning may not be too clear. Since people all over the Gatineau territory meet them from time to time and, since they are really fairly simple words, we will take a few minutes here to explain what they mean.

As might be expected the term "horsepower" is related to the strength of a horse, and the word goes back into history for its beginning. Before the days of the steam engine horses were used extensively for lifting and drawing heavy loads. In the coal mines, for example, a horse would be hitched to a windlass attached to the cage which lifted the coal out of the mines. By walking around in a circle, the horse would lift and lower the hoist. Over the years it was found that an average horse could hoist 550 pounds of coal one foot in one second. If the shaft were 60 feet deep the horse could lift the 550 pounds of coal to the surface in one minute.

When the steam engine came along it quickly replaced the horse as a means of lifting coal out of the mine. But, remembering the performance of the horses, those using the engine decided—quite naturally — that an engine which could lift as much as a horse should be rated as "one horse" power. If an engine could lift 1100 pounds of coal one foot in one second it was rated at "two horse" power. The more it could lift, the greater the horsepower rating. The same idea was applied to electrical motors when they came into existence.

For practical purposes the kilowatt means just a stronger horse — one-third stronger to be exact. Where the horsepower (or the horse) will lift 550 pounds one foot in one second the kilowatt will lift 733⅓ pounds one foot in one second.

The difference, of course, is that a horsepower and a kilowatt do not have to be stabled, fed, watered and shod. Just turn the switch and they go to work — at much less cost in time, effort and money than old dobbin ever could.

Farm Practices

Use of Nurse Crops

Short term hay-pasture mixtures are usually seeded with a nurse crop of oats or barley, seeded at approximately half the regular rate of seeding. Early oats have proven very satisfactory when used in this way. The nurse crop may be pastured, removed as hay or harvested as grain.

Long term mixtures may be seeded either with or without a nurse crop. A light seeding of oats has been found to be satisfactory in this connection. This may be pastured, removed as hay, or harvested for grain. When either of the last two methods is used care must be taken to prevent the killing of the newly seeded grasses and legumes by stocks or coils left in one place too long.

If immediate pasture is desired perennial ryegrass at six to eight pounds per acre may be added to the mixture, and will function as a nurse crop. Where this method is used it is desired to clip the mixture with sufficient frequency to prevent weeds going to seed.

Methods of Seeding

Short term mixtures are usually seeded through the grass seeding attachment of a seeder while the regular crop is planted by means of the grain box. In the case of long term mixtures every care should be taken to give the seeding all the advantages possible. One of the recommended methods of seeding such mixtures is to sow the nurse crop and fertilizer first at the regular depth. The field should then be cultivated or rolled, and the mixture seeded through the grain box on the wheat side with the indicator set at around four pecks per acre. If perennial ryegrass is included the indicator should be moved up to six pecks per acre. The grain spouts should be removed from the drill.

Another method of seeding that has been rather widely used, and which has proven satisfactory in most instances is to seed the grasses and legumes with the exception of the Brome grass through the grass seed attachment of the drill. The Brome may be broadcast alone before the other seeds are planted, or if a nurse crop is used the Brome may be mixed with it and both seeded shallow. The depth of seeding Brome grass should not exceed ¾" on average soils and not more than 1" on lighter, sandy soils, when sown with the grain drill.

Under special conditions the cyclone hand seeder has proven useful in seeding grass and legume mixtures. This is where it has been difficult to plough the land and prepare a proper seed bed. Care should be taken to prevent as much as possible the unequal distribution of seeds on the area by this method due to the great difference in size and weight of the various grass and legume varieties.

Because grass and legume seeds are very small, and the young plants delicate the depth of seeding is an important factor in establinshing a good stand. Under average conditions seeding should not be at a greater depth than from a half to one inch.

After Seeding Management

The following suggestions refer to the management of the long term mixtures:

1. After Seeding Management.—It is essential that grazing of seeded pastures should commence early in the spring so that the tall growing grasses and legumes do not smoother the bottom grasses and small clovers. In order to keep the pasture short it is often necessary to carry more stock early in the spring or part of the field may be cut for hay, thereby reducing the acreage for pasture. In midsummer the entire field may be used as pasture.
2. It is a good policy to clip the pasture with a mower the cutting bar of which has been raised. This helps control the weeds, and encourages a more even stand of plants of the various species included in the mixtures.
3. Top dressing pastures in the fall with barnyard manure and with commercial fertilizers has proven a very desirable practice.
4. The spreading of droppings by means of a drag harrow is desirable in the maintaining of a uniform turf.
5. Rotational grazing has proven an excellent aid to maintaining a continuous supply of short, young grass.
6. Pastures should not be grazed late in the fall so that a fair top growth is obtained, and consequently the stand would be less subject to winter killing.

The use of an electric fence provides an easy means of dividing pastures into small lots for the type of grazing mentioned.

Crop Rotations

A suitable crop rotation should (1) maintain the organic matter supply, (2) restore nitrogen, (3) alternate crops having different root systems and habits of growth, (4) help control weeds, plant diseases and insects, (5) aid in distributing the labor requirements throughout the growing season.

A rotation cannot be counted on to keep up the general mineral content of a soil, consequently it may be found necessary to add some minerals in the form of commercial fertilizers. The best fertilizer to use under any particular circumstances can be determined by a soil test.

Under eastern conditions a rotation seldom requires less than three years, and should seldom take more than five years to complete the cropping cycle. A few typical rotations are suggested:

Three Year Rotation — 1st year, Spring grain; 2nd year, Legumes; 3rd year, Potatoes.

Four Year Rotation — 1st year, Fall wheat; 2nd year, Grasses and legumes; 3rd year, Hay or pasture; 4th year, Beans.

Five Year Rotation—1st year, Spring grain; 2nd year, Grasses and legumes; 3rd year, Hay or pasture; 4th year, Spring grain; 5th year, Corn or roots.

Four Year Rotation—1st year, Spring grain; 2nd year, Hay, clover and timothy; 3rd year, Hay or pasture; 4th year, Corn or roots.

Four Year Rotation — 1st year, Fall wheat; 2nd year, Spring grain; 3rd year, Hay; 4th year, Hay or pasture.

Five Year Rotation — 1st year, Intertilled crop; 2nd year, Spring grain; 3rd year, Alfalfa and clover hay; 4th year, Hay; 5th year, Pasture.

Today we Live in a Greater Canada

The Barren Lands Produce New Wealth

NEW MINES, new power dams — whole new communities — are rising where only yesterday was nothing but a waste of rocks, water and trees and frozen tundra. Today Canada has a new empire in the wilderness.

The development of our one-time wastelands is one of the most significant phases of Canada's modern advance. Every Canadian is benefitting from that expansion. Today we live in a greater Canada — far greater than we ever knew before — a land of new and exciting opportunities for those commencing their careers today.

AT STEEP ROCK the wartime development of one of the richest bodies of iron ore on the continent has given us a new, long-sought primary industry . . . Today under the caribou moss of Ungava vast new areas of high-grade iron ore are now being actively explored.

WHERE BEFORE the war was a roadless Quebec wilderness, Shipshaw is now producing more than a million horsepower of electrical energy . . . At Yellowknife on Great Slave Lake, rich gold-bearing ores are being developed . . . From Great Bear Lake near the Arctic Circle comes precious radium . . .

WAR-CREATED transportation facilities — by road and air — have opened up a hundred thousand square miles of the northwest, making accessible, for the first time, vast resources of farmland, forests, coal and power sites.

NEW . . . OPPORTUNITIES

JOHN ADASKIN, son of an immigrant woodworker, developed his talents as a musician to win a distinguished place in Canadian radio. He became CBC's senior program producer; now has his own Productions company in Toronto; has produced over 4,000 radio shows, including some of the most popular on the Canadian air; is Master of Ceremonies and musical conductor on the national talent show "Opportunity Knocks".

JOHN ADASKIN says: "I have never regretted a career in Canada. Today — more than ever before — new fields and opportunities are opening up for young Canadians. As business in general expands, as the arts gain wider recognition, it's certain that opportunity will continue to knock harder and more often for the talent of this country."

To Avert Drowning Accidents

BEFORE drowning tragedies cause unnecessary grief and toll this season, here are a few hints for amateur swimmers:

Don't swim on a full stomach. Keep busy in cold water; don't swim in deep water unless you are a good swimmer (speed does not necessarily mean strength or manoeuvrability in emergencies); never swim to a rescue if you can get there by boat or can reach with a pole or throw a rope (swimming rescues are spectacular, but seldom successful); don't swim in crowds unless you're really expert (you may drown and never be missed); shake or press water from your eyes — don't rub them; learners should be thoroughly at home in and under the water before they attempt a stroke; never throw a beginner into the water (you may give him a lifetime of water-fear); remember nature is with you — your body tends to float about 10 per cent above water anyway — it's up to you to control the position; don't hurry — swim like you walk; take your time and save your breath.

The above hints are listed by the Red Cross in connection with the organization's water-safety program. Quebec has the highest drowning rate per capita of the nine provinces, according to Donald Rose and Lucien Pilon, joint provincial directors of Red Cross water-safety courses, which are being conducted to benefit particularly the smaller towns and rural centres of the province.

The Good Old Names

A CHANGE seldom is an improvement when it concerns the traditional name of a community, a locality, a road or a body of water.

Call the defenders of the old names sentimentalists if you like, but generally they can make a good case. This country still is young enough that many of its place names are rooted in its earliest history. If those names are changed now, their historical associations will be lost forever.

True, many communities miss the opportunity to make the most of local place names. Too few towns and villages take the trouble to put up directional signs to point visitors to interesting landmarks or historic sites or to remind them of the communities' past. Both the towns and the tourists are the poorer for the neglect.

More lively interest in a locality's links with history might go far in checking the name-changing mania. In many cases names are changed because the present generation is unaware of the circumstances under which they were conferred.

Just now there is a controversy in south-western Ontario about a move to re-christen as Sunset Drive, a thoroughfare known for more than a century as The Old Gravel Road. Champions of the old name have put their case before a county judge, who will be called on to decide the issue.

Away with this business of changing good, descriptive place names to such slick and meaningless commonplaces as Lakeview Crescent, Pleasant Drive, Carefree Downs or Blue Sky Valley! Too often they merely insult the intelligence.

Let's stick to names such as Grand Pré, Lachine, Lundy's Lane, Copper Cliff, Medicine Hat, Kicking Horse Pass, and to the long list of Indian names scattered across the land. They are part of the country's story and, unlike many modern substitutes, they have a sense of really belonging.

Large-Scale Immigration

CANADA'S population will be boosted by 10,000 British settlers. These are to be flown over the Atlantic in 253 flights by Canadian-built North Star transports during the next 11 months. This project would seem to speak well for the record of British stock in the picture of Canada's progress, otherwise British immigration — long and strenuously urged by its advocates — would not be so extensively re-adopted at this time.

The greatest air migration scheme in the Dominion's history is to be the umbrella under which another 15,000 homeless Europeans will travel to Canada by sea.

This announcement by Acting Resources Minister MacKinnon caused a flurry of excitement in the Commons last week. It will mean extension of Canadian immigration staffs in the United Kingdom and establishment of new offices in Glasgow and Liverpool. Another office will be opened in Belfast for Irish settlers.

Hundreds of the Britons will find their way to Canadian farms to fill much-needed labor requirements. Others will be employed in mining, fishing and lumber industries.

As for the homeless Europeans, they will be part of 30,000 displaced persons to be moved to Canada by the end of the year. Originally the government planned to bring only 20,000. About 15,000 of these have already arrived. The boost to 30,000 reflects the government's apparent satisfaction with the way DP immigration has worked so far.

Something for Nothing

MORE companies are returning to the pre-war practice of offering "free" goods to purchasers, and at least a part of the gullible public will fall for these offers, observes Hardware and Metal & Electrical Dealer. It doesn't occur to some customers to question how a business firm can offer goods for nothing.

"If a company has to use 'free' goods or premiums to secure sales of its own goods there would seem to be something wrong with the merchandising program or the quality of its products", says the trade journal. "No company can afford to give away something for nothing if its goods are priced right and are good value for the price asked. 'Free' goods are paid for by the customer in one way or another".

THE PROPOSAL to ban communists from entering Canada has the support of the Hanna, Alta., Herald, which calls it welcome news. "The tactics of the Communists are well known, and from what has happened in Europe, Canadians must be on the alert more than ever before".

CANADA is the only country in the world in which the sale, importation and manufacture of oleomargarine are not permitted. . . . We have not heard that the sale of margarine has hurt the dairyman of the United States, or those of New Zealand or Denmark. Why then should the Canadian dairyman and farmers be so fearful?

Silicosis Peril to Workers

"There has been in the little town of St. Remi a tragic picture of untold suffering, of broken homes, of human beings existing on meagre pensions if not bordering on starvation. The mine that caused this desolation has been destroyed, but there are other mines in various parts of the province which are causing similar cases. . . I plead that justice might be accorded to the widows and orphans of these men who are still dying from these hazardous industrial occupations. . . . I plead also for a revision of the Quebec Workmen's Compensation Act which will afford greater protection to those engaged in industry— so that those men who have died will not have died in vain".

Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, a lay delegate from this parish, also spoke with some feeling in support of the motion.

A somewhat sensational denouement of these injustices has appeared in recent issues of two journals. To these the Minister of Labor, Hon. Antonio Barrette, made reference last week at Quebec.

The plant of the Canada China Clay and Silica Ltd. at St. Remi d'Amherst was condemned by his Department, he stated.

Serious outbreaks of silicosis among workers in the silica mine there have been reported in recent weeks. Deaths from the disease were said to be numerous.

The Minister said in an interview that the plant had been condemned last August after an inspection of the property. He said the Company had been instructed to prepare plans for the construction of a new plant, and that these plans now were in the hands of the Labor Department.

A full report will be given by his Department in a week, he added.

The silicosis threat at St. Remi was the subject of an inquiry by Burton Ledoux, later reported in the March issue of "Relations", published by the Jesuit Fathers of "Ecole Sociale Populaire", Montreal, and also by a correspondent to "The Canadian Register" Quebec edition.

The April issue of Canada's Health & Welfare, a publication published by the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa, contains the following:

"Another great stride has been made in the Department of National Health and Welfare's campaign to improve industrial health, with the installation of the department's laboratory of industrial health of a Geiger-counter X-ray spectrometer. This instrument will detect the presence and measure the amount of silicosis-producing dust in the air from Canadian mines, factories and mills. The new spectrometer completes an analysis of dust in a fraction of the time required by older methods and permits the departmental scientists to test a great many more samples than they have previously been able to handle.

"Although four other similar spectrometers are in operation in Canada at the present time, the machine installed in the Ottawa laboratory is the first in the Dominion to be set up exclusively for industrial health purposes. The others are being used mainly for research and commercial purposes. The department's spectrometer is available for use by industry throughout Canada, through provincial health departments.

"In order to test industrial air for silicosis-producing material, a sample of dust is taken at the mine or factory by passing air through a filter at a position near the mouth of the employee at work. The sample is then shipped to Ottawa, where analysis can be completed and a report prepared within 24 hours if necessary. The spectrometer completes the detection and measuring process in as little as ten minutes, compared to two hours for earlier methods".

ARMS NEEDED

We were strong once, not so long ago; now we are so weak in a military sense that we are almost decrepit. We are talking ourselves into another war. If war must come, are we going to talk our way through it to victory?

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

RETURN BORROWED ARTICLES PROMPTLY
To be able to borrow some wanted article is a privilege of friendship. And failing to return it promptly not only endangers the privilege but the friendship as well. You expect—and rightly so—that your friends will bring back the things they borrow in good condition and in good time. If we are to look for such consideration in others, we should set the example. That's "Good Citizenship".
You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Observer Deplores Driving Practices

TO THE EDITOR

On a Sunday afternoon just a few years ago, an automobile raced speedily into a flaming sunset along the road from Lachute to Brownsburg. Hurtling from the roadway it crashed into a tree; then silence. Travellers approaching the spot saw the wrecked car and carefully removed four broken bodies and lay them side by side upon the grass. After some time signs of life became apparent as consciousness returned and shattered limbs forced agonizing moans from the four men. . . The writer came along about this time, and in common with a large number of others present was badly shaken by the dreadful sight. Three of the men died later in a Montreal hospital.

On Tuesday evening last, under somewhat similar conditions, a bus chased a '29 Ford into a flaming sunset, down the descent and up the hill entering Brownsburg. Both vehicles flashed through the school zone past the sign denoting this fact, and crashed — the bus into the rear of the car, which was endeavoring to swerve into Oak Street but which was instead spun completely around and crashed backwards into the ditch beside the pedestrians' right-of-way or sidewalk.

Fortunately none of the occupants of either vehicle were injured. Fortunately also, there were no children in this usually much frequented zone. No thanks for this fortuitous circumstance is due to either of the drivers, who discussed the occurrence with complete amity and disregard of the serious possibilities which such conduct might have entailed.

First Wedding Solemnized in New St. Simeon's Church

Montgomery - Leggett

In the new St. Simeon's Church at Lachute, the marriage of Marjorie Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Leggett, of Lachute Mills, and Mr. Herbert Charles Montgomery, son of the late A. E. Montgomery and of Mrs. Montgomery, of Outremont, was solemnized at 2.30 o'clock last Saturday afternoon. The Rev. C. R. Lang officiated and Mrs. J. Pollock played the wedding music, while Miss Lois Kirlin sang "O Promise Me". White tulips, carnations and snapdragons formed the decorations. . . The ceremony was the first marriage to be celebrated in the new St. Simeon's Church building, just recently completed.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Shirley Leggett, as maid of honor, with Miss Doreen Stanford, of the Town of Mount Royal, and Miss Doris Mitchell, as bridesmaids. The best man was Mr. Leland Montgomery, brother of the bridegroom, the ushers being Mr. J. L. Reade, of Brownsburg, Que.; Mr. W. Dowbiggin and Mr. G. Goodall, of Montreal, and Mr. M. Tylee, of Rosemere, Que.

The bride wore a long-sleeved Period gown of white satin with Chantilly lace over dress, the skirt flowing into a slight train. A close fitting pearl trimmed cap of white satin with halo of lace held in place her mother's shoulder length wedding veil and she wore pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, while she carried calla lilies.

The attendants wore Period-style frocks of taffeta with bustle backs extending into slight trains. Their headdresses were of matching fluted ribbon and flowers and they carried nosegays of sweet peas. The maid of honor was in Queen's blue, and the bridesmaids in American Beauty shade.

Mrs. Leggett, mother of the bride, was gowned in powder blue tissue faille with navy blue model hat, toning accessories and a corsage spray of Joanna Hill roses. Mrs. Montgomery, the bridegroom's mother, wore pearl grey crepe with black accessories, a grey felt flowered hat and a spray of red roses as the corsage.

The reception was held at the Golf Club chalet, where baskets and standards of white tulips and snapdragons were arranged. For the wedding trip by motor to Lake Placid, N.Y., the bride wore a turquoise suit, a grey Baku hat and a deep red overcoat, with grey suede accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The couple will reside in Lachute.

Sudden Death At Lake Hughes

Hans Eric Larsen, a 45-year-old resident of Ville St. Laurent, died suddenly of a heart seizure at Lake Hughes on Sunday morning. It is reported Larsen had just recently purchased a camp at the lake, some distance north of Lakefield village, and was spending the week-end there accompanied by his wife and relatives. He was taken suddenly ill while at a neighbor's home on Sunday. Dr. F. W. FitzGerald was summoned by telephone from Kerr's Farm, but before his arrival from Lachute the victim had succumbed.

Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur, on investigation, pronounced death due to natural causes.

It is good for us to keep some account of our prayers, that we may not unsay them in our practice. — Matthew Henry Lakefield. — Owing to bad road conditions, no meeting of this branch was held during April.

Morin Heights had 32 members and four guests present. The roll-call was, "Name a person in the public eye". Letters of thanks were read from members who had been ill in hospital; another member who is more or less a "shut-in" was remembered with a small gift. A "military whist" was planned for the last week in April. Blue Cross fees were paid. Mrs. R. J. Seale, Publicity convener, read two clippings, "Meet the Family" and "Twelve Good Resolutions". Many helpful hints were also read, dealing with house-cleaning and how to avoid accidents in the home.

Pioneer branch had 16 members in attendance. The roll-call was an exchange of recipes. The county scholarship was discussed. Home Economics was the subject of the meeting, and an item read on uses of salt and of lemons.

Since the end of the war the Canadian Legion has added 838 branches and 369 ladies' auxiliaries, bringing the total paid-up members to well over 300,000.

Rhubarb Dishes

Each family has favorite rhubarb recipes and the home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, have theirs. They recommend several with a difference. Following are some suggested recipes:

Rhubarb Oatmeal Pudding

4 Cups diced raw rhubarb (1 lb.), ½ cup water, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Wash and dice rhubarb. Cover with boiling water and let stand 5 minutes; drain. Add the ½ cup water and boil 2 minutes. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt and stir into rhubarb. Bring to a boil.

Topping

1 Cup sifted pastry flour (or ⅞ cup sifted all-purpose flour), 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ cup rolled oats, 1 egg, ½ cup milk or water, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup melted shortening, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, ¼ teaspoon grated nutmeg.

Mix and sift flour and baking powder, add rolled oats. Combine egg, milk or water, sugar and melted shortening. Mix lightly into dry ingredients. Add flavoring. Spread this mixture over the boiling rhubarb, cover closely and continue cooking over a low flame for 30 minutes without lifting the cover. Turn upside down onto a dish and serve hot. Separate with two forks rather than cut as the mixture is very light and delicate in texture. Yield: Six servings.

Rhubarb Charlotte

6 Slices lightly buttered bread ¼ inch thick, 4 cups diced raw rhubarb, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Use five slices of the bread to line a greased mould. Fill centre with rhubarb. Add sugar and salt. Place reserved slice of bread on top. Bake 35 minutes in a moderately hot oven 375°F. Turn out to serve. Yield: Six servings.

Rhubarb Sherbet

1 Tablespoon gelatine, 2 cups cold water, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 2 cups stewed, unsweetened rhubarb, 1 egg white.

Soak gelatine in ½ cup of the cold water. Make a syrup of sugar and boiling water and dissolve in the hot syrup. Add the remaining cold water and the rhubarb which should be cooked till very soft. Freeze to a mush. Remove from the freezer, beat well and fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Return to freezer and finish freezing. Yield: Eight to ten servings.

Novels Come First With Boys and Girls

Montreal (CP) — A library for boys and girls, sponsored by the National Council of Jewish Women, has blossomed into a full-grown concern with 550 members and newcomers joining daily.

The library, already cramped for quarters since its opening last May, has more than 2,000 books and more on order.

Mrs. Joseph Levitt, chairman of the Jewish Child Welfare, said novels rank first in popularity with the boys and girls. Books on music and composers are also popular and there is a surprising demand for books of poetry. Older children take out books on crafts and bring along their younger brothers and sisters who revel in Mother Goose and picture books.

Although there are few French-speaking members, the library has a well-stocked French section.

"Some of the youngsters have developed an interest in reading French and we are trying to encourage them", said Mrs. Levitt.

GARDEN-GRAPH

Released by Central Press Canadian

Squashes have stepped out with that new look and taste and are gaining in popularity among gardeners.

There has been a pronounced improvement in flavor and texture of the flesh of many new varities. New methods of cooking also result in squash appearing on the table with the taste unimpaired.

Many gardeners still shy away from squashes if their planting area is small, for the reason that it requires considerable room. Nevertheless it is one of the best vegetables to grow for winter use as it can be stored in a warm cellar, canned or frozen.

For summer use, bush squash and vegetable marrows are best suited. The new winter varieties, Buttercup and Butternut, have quickly become rivals of the older types in popularity.

A recommended winter variety is called "Sweet Potato Improved", which produces fruit eight to nine inches long and three and a half to four inches in diameter. The cream skin is marked by green stripes. The vines are resistant to mosaic disease.

Golden Delicious is another popular fall and winter variety. It is top-shaped, with reddish orange skin. The flesh is orange, sweet, thick and fine-grained. Its moderately dry flesh makes it excellent for canning and freezing.

Sandy loam is best for squashes, as they make their best growth in a warm soil. But they can be grown in almost any ground that is not too heavy. Since they are gross feeders, they must be well fertilized. Two shovelful of manure to a hill is recommended, but this should be well covered with soil before the seeds are planted.
