Red Cross Hears Outline of V.O.N. Community Service

On invitation of the Lachute Red Cross Unit, Miss Elizabeth Reid, R.N., of Ottawa, district supervisor of the Victorian Order of Nurses, addressed the ladies of the branch at a meeting in the United Church hall Wednesday afternoon. The large gathering of members was joined by representatives of the medical profession and of two local service clubs — the purpose being to view the possibility of establishing a V.O.N. service in Lachute.

Miss Reid outlined the functions and the organization of this service. The V.O.N., she stated, provides skilled nursing service to patients in their own homes. It is available to everyone, regardless of creed, race or financial status. The service meets a particular need for patients who do not require, or cannot afford, full-time nursing care, as well as those in sickness who do not require hospital treatment. All such calls are answered, but the V.O.N. nurse applies treatment from this point only under a physician's supervision.

The fee charged by the visiting nurse is reasonable, virtually "at cost", the speaker added, citing specific examples. In needy cases the schedule of fees was adjustable, and no patient was refused attendance through inability to meet the cost.

In establishing nursing service in any community the V.O.N. organization requires a covering grant of $5,000 from the municipality for the first year — this including cost of an automobile for the attending nurse; and approximately $2,500 for the second and successive years . . . . The V.O.N. has 108 branches established across Canada.

The speaker was thanked for her informative address. No decision was arrived at as regards adopting the project in this community.

Mr. A. Fassio,
Rio Theatre, Lachute.

Dear Sir:

The integrity of your staff is to be highly commended.

On April 21 I rushed down to your Rio Theatre and purchased eight tickets for a party — all anxious to enter since the picture had commenced. . . I stuffed the change in my pocket and entered in a hurry.

Imagine my surprise and pleasure when, leaving after the show, I was handed over one dollar change which I had not received at ticket purchase, due to error.

A check showed the error to be correct and the seven other members of my party, as well as myself, were very favorably impressed.

Kindly convey my thanks to your employees.

Yours very sincerely,
— Theatre-Goer

Farmer Brutally Beaten Near Alexandria, Ont.

Alexandria, Ont.—A Glengarry County farmer was taken to the Cornwall General Hospital in a serious condition last Thursday after he had been torn from his automobile and beaten near Alexandria the previous night.

John D. McCrimmon, 58, of Dalkeith, was found lying unconscious on the road, on Highway 34, by a taxi driver from Alexandria. He appeared to have been savagely beaten about the head and his clothes were torn, but $500 carried on his person was not found by the assailant. McCrimmon when he regained consciousness reported than an unknown number of persons had hailed him to a stop, and pulled him from the car.

Our thanks should be as fervent for mercies received as our petitions for mercies sought.

Stands Trial for Three Auto Thefts

Left unattended on Foundry Street, a car was stolen during Saturday night. The town police, notified by the owner next morning, gave particulars to the traffic authorities, and the automobile was recovered at Ste. Therese on Sunday. The police chief at Ste. Therese accosted the driver, who, according to report, took to his heels across a field. The officer warned him to stop, but when the command was ignored he fired several times with his revolver, one of the bullets piercing the fugitive's hand. The man, Yvon Villeneuve, 23, of this town, was later taken in charge and was arraigned Monday at St. Jerome on three charges of theft involving two automobiles and a truck, all on the streets of Lachute. Villeneuve, who received hospital treatment for his injured hand, was due to appear in court yesterday.

Saturday's incident is another reminder of the folly of leaving keys in an automobile, which practice was the subject of a recent warning issued by the local police.

Film on Weekly Newspaper Goes Into Theatres

"The Home Town Paper", a motion picture produced by the National Film Board on the modern Canadian weekly newspaper, has been released to the theatres of Canada in the Board's "Canada Carries On" series. In this way, it will be shown all across the Dominion to an audience estimated at more than 2,000,000 people. A French-language version, "Courrier de Chez-Nous", will be simultaneously released on the NFB series, "En Avant Canada", French-language counterpart of "Canada Carries On".

Following its theatrical run, "The Home Town Paper" will be released in 16mm, suitable for use in hotels, homes, clubs, schools, any place a 16mm projector may be set up and operated. Further distribution will include bookings on the NFB rural circuits system, and in film libraries and community film councils all over Canada. Then the film will go abroad to be shown in almost 50 countries by the Dominion's high commissioners, ambassadors, foreign ministers, trade commissioners and others. In some cases, versions will be provided with titles and sound track in the languages of the countries the films will go to.

"The Home Town Paper" is a significant screen coverage of a weekly newspaper. It touches lightly on the mechanical side of publishing, emphasizes the vital, intimate relationship between a community and its paper. In doing this, it becomes a thorough coverage of an average small community's everyday life, its people, its thoughts and activities.

On Trial Before King's Bench

A record number of 243 cases were on the docket before Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure when he opened the May term of the Court of King's Bench this week at St. Jerome.

Heading the list are two murder trials, those of Rolland Asselin charged with the murder of a Ste. Dorothee farmer, and Armand Leroux, accused of killing his aunt. Three attempted murder charges involve Remi Degagne, Marcel Fournier and John R. Ross.

Union leaders Kent Rowley and Azellus Beaucage, will face trial on charges resulting from the Ayers Limited strike, and Henri Gagnon, David Durocher and Napoleon Auger will appear in connection with "squatter" activities.

The list includes four manslaughter cases, one of counselling to murder, and two of violations of customs regulations. There are two bigamy charges and eight libel cases arising out of Jehovah Witness activities.

Appointed to New B-A Oil Agency

A familiar figure in the local oil business for the past 21 years, Melvin Wilson, of Lachute, has been appointed to a new distribution centre for British-American Oil Company, to be located in Hawkesbury and covering adjacent areas in Prescott County. Mr. Wilson has been a faithful employee of the local B-A agency (under D. G. MacRae and his predecessor, S. S. Campbell) continuously since starting in the oil business, and he is well versed in this line. Friends wish him success in his new venture.

Pastor Receiving Degree At Seminary Graduation

The Rev. George. B. Hicks, pastor of the Brownsburg and Dalesville Regular Baptist Churches, is in Toronto to attend the graduating exercises of the Toronto Baptist Seminary, and to receive the degree of Licentiate of Theology (L.Th.)—the ceremonies taking place today at Jarvis Street Baptist Church.

Town Alderman Disqualified by Court Ruling

Legal action to unseat Alderman Oscar Hotte — who was named by acclamation as east ward councillor in civic elections last February — was heard before Justice Philemon Cousineau in Superior Court at St. Jerome — the judgment being handed down on Tuesday of this week disqualifying him from office.

Plaintiff against Alderman Hotte was Emile Belanger. . . Section 987 of the Civil Code states that "any person interested may bring a complaint whenever another person usurps, intrudes into, or unlawfully holds or exercises . . any public office". The Quebec Cities and Towns Act, Section 124, moreover requires that "anybody nominated for or elected to the office of mayor or councillor, shall have possessed during the twelve months previously, and still possess as owner, real estate in the municipality of the value . . of at least six hundred dollars".

The petitioner, through his counsel Philippe Valois, of Lachute — invoked the above clauses to prove Mr. Hotte unqualified—the property qualification hinging upon length of time ownership had existed.

Alderman Hotte on Monday filed a "confession of judgment" and ruling was given the following day to declare the defendant unlawfully holding public office.

Hotelman Aids in Identifying Thief

Alert to the propriety of his establishment, the owner of the Windsor Hotel notified police last Thursday of the presence of two suspicious characters — with the result that the room occupants were arrested and $1,000 of negotiable bonds, money orders and cash, allegedly stolen from a man in Ottawa, were recovered. One of the men was placed in custody by Ottawa police; his companion was released.

Police Chief D. Villeneuve was informed by the hotelman that the two men, carrying a valise, had occupied a room during Wednesday night. It was noticed later that an assortment of papers had been torn and thrown out of the window, falling on a lower roof. The name "Switzer" appeared on one of the fragments which was picked up. . . Officer Villeneuve and Cst. A. Pagé investigated, entering the room and later apprehending the pair near the Main Street bus stop, apparently heading for Montreal. The police connected the contents of the valise with effects which, according to a radio description the previous day, had been stolen in Ottawa. They communicated with Ottawa police, by whom one of the men, Jean-Yves Crispin, alias Clement, was placed under arrest and arraigned in court.

An Ottawa press story narrates that Ernest Switzer, arriving in Ottawa from Saskatchewan, stopped over at the Lafayette Hotel. He was approached by young Crispin, 19, who appeared down and out, and the traveller extended the hospitality of his hotel room that night. Switzer went out next morning to look over the sights, but returning to his room, found his guest had disappeared — also the suitcase, containing war bonds, postal notes, and a sum in cash. Switzer notified the police, and particulars of the theft were circulated by radio.

School Consolidation Project for Thurso Area

A school organization meeting at Thurso on Tuesday evening was attended by Messrs. L. J. King, Geo. Y. Deacon and L. W. Armstrong, of Lachute, who were accompanied by Mr. C. E. Ployart from the Education Department at Quebec. The meeting comprised commissioners from the school boards of Papineauville, Thurso and St. Sixte, discussing a project to consolidate these three school areas.

5-Year-Old Boy Killed by Truck At Huberdeau

A five-year-old boy, Jean-Guy Paquette, was the victim of a fatal accident at Huberdeau on Tuesday afternoon, when he was hit and instantly killed by a truck on the main thoroughfare.

Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur and a jury under chairmanship of J. Richer, hotelman, heard evidence of eyewitnesses at an inquest Tuesday evening, held at the child's home. It appeared the youngster was walking with his mother and three other children of the family, and while his mother stopped to converse with an acquaintance, the boy ran from behind a parked car, darting into the path of a truck loaded with sand. The vehicle, driven by Albert Provost of Huberdeau, struck the child, who fell to the road, the front wheel passing over his head. Dr. J. Garon was summoned, but the victim had died almost instantly with a fractured skull.

Det. C. Lanthier, from the homicide squad, Montreal headquarters of the Provincial Police, made the investigation.

Machines Harvest Eastern Forests

Life in the forest is keeping up with the times. Mechanism has increased production and wages; and modern housing provides amenities for the workers. Here are seen some of the completely mechanized pulpwood operations on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river near Forestville, Quebec. In this modern pulpwood camp, the buildings are bright, well insulated, and provided with electricity and other comforts. Camps such as this are portable and are moved as cutting operations progress. Better roads and mobile equipment make for greater forest protection and more efficient harvesting of the wood.

The pulpwood is used to produce pulp and paper which accounts for one sixth of the annual wood consumption in Canada. Half again as much wood is wasted by fire, insects and disease, the ravagers of the forests which the pulp and paper mills fight on their limits. In the operations pictured above, machines lighten much of the men's work. The choppers still fell the trees, but winches drag the logs to the road and massive sulkies pick them up, handling 20 tons of wood at a time. When manufactured into pulp and paper, the pulpwood harvest creates Canada's greatest single export accounting for 44 per cent of all our exports to the United States.

Anti-TB. League Views Progress in Argenteuil and Neighbor Counties

Meeting of Four-County Representatives Notes Achievement, Wider Use of X-Ray, Earlier Detection of Cases in This Area.

The second reunion of the Laurentide Anti-Tuberculosis League took the form of a dinner meeting in Ste. Therese Lodge, Ste. Therese, on Thursday evening last, with President Horace Lamarche in the chair.

Physicians and others interested in tuberculosis work from the four counties of Argenteuil, Two Mountains, Terrebonne and Labelle were present. Among those from this district were Dr. L. Turcotte and most of his Health Unit staff, Paul Carriere, representing Lachute Lumber & Mfg. Co., Marc Carriere, of Ayers Limited, Bertrand L'Heureux of the Chamber of Commerce, Frank Burnett of C-I-L, Dave Schwartz of the Rotary Club, Raymond Beaulieu, J. G. Lamontagne, Dr. and Miss J. Rodrique, Dr. and Mrs. R. Henry, of Arundel. M. Jean-Marie Turgeon, of Quebec City, publicist for the Provincial Committee for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, was also present.

Dr. L. Turcotte, secretary of the local branch, briefly outlined the activities of the League to date. He reported that four X-ray machines had been purchased and placed at the disposal of the Health Units of the four respective counties at the beginning of the year, and that almost 5,000 persons had been X-rayed to date. He stated that, while the treatment of tuberculosis was not usually considered part of the work of the League, Dr. Gerald Leclaire, the tuberculosis specialist and adviser, had convinced them that it was to the general advantage of everyone to prove that steptomycin could be used for treatment in doses from one-quarter to one-half less than what was usually considered sufficient. As the cost of this treatment using the regular dose was almost prohibitive, the results of this work were being followed with particular interest. As far as is known, Dr. Leclaire is the first to use this particular method in Canada. Twelve persons are being treated at the present time and the results so far have been satisfactory. These are all active tuberculous patients, and the responsibility of the choice as to who was to receive the treatment was entirely in the hands of the medical advisor.

A general discussion took place concerning the advisability of the League purchasing a 70mm X-ray machine for use in the four counties. It was pointed out that the cost of the films for these machines was approximately 5 cents as compared with 80 cents for the larger films, and that as many as 500 people could be X-rayed in a single day. While it was generally agreed that this machine would be most useful in the present fight against tuberculosis, it was a question whether the League was financially able to purchase this equipment and to operate it. As the outfits cost $12,000 each, and would require additional personnel at an estimated cost of $3,000 a year, either the work of the League would have to be substantially increased or assistance would have to be sought from other sources.

Civic 'By-Election' Called on Second Council Resignation

Town Council Session for Month of May

Considerable business was dealt with at the regular town council meeting last evening, including the passing of accounts for payment, and other routine matters.

Under chairmanship of Mayor Alex Bothwell, all members of the council were present with exception of Ald. Oscar Hotte, whose resignation was presented by the secretary and duly accepted by the board. The resignation follows a suit for disqualification, which was decided in a court judgment this week. Nominations for the vacancy (Seat No. 2, East Ward) will be held Saturday, May 15, with election contest if necessary on the following Saturday, May 22. . . This is the second vacancy occasioned by resignation of an alderman during the present term.

Mayor Bothwell welcomed into the council a new member, Fortunat Deslauriers, who was elected by acclamation to fill the unexpired term of ex-Alderman Lucien Lacoste, West Ward.

A quotation was received from A. Poulin, civil engineer, of Ste. Agathe, for drawing of a complete blueprint of the town water supply system — which record at present exists largely in the memory of town officers and officials, or has passed on with those deceased since earlier installations. The council, as a whole, felt the engineer's quotation was excessive, and as a solution to the problem the present town officer, Robt. Todd, agreed to undertake the job.

Tenders are being called for bituminous paving of all unimproved thoroughfares in the town limits. . . A petition was received from Clement Tremblay for paving of James Street, West Ward, and a similar request from Arthur Girard for the paving of Berry Street, Centre Ward.

A motion was also passed to call for tenders on redecorating the civic auditorium — both tenders to be considered at the next regular session of council.

Ald. Wilfrid Morrissette was appointed pro-mayor for the ensuing three-month period

Réal Urbain was appointed assessor, replacing Alcidas Laurin on this committee.

* * *

The formal resignation of Ald. Oscar Hotte was submitted to council in the following terms:

Mayor and Aldermen,
Municipal Council,
Town of Lachute.

Gentlemen:

I herewith tender my resignation as alderman for seat No. 2 of the East Ward of the Town of Lachute.

In spite of an election by acclamation, a citizen of the town of Lachute, though not a property owner but evidently having extensive financial means at his disposal, has drawn me for the past two months into costly and lengthy proceedings in order to obtain my disqualification over some apparent but unreal technicalities. I have no doubt that the Courts of our province would have upheld my eligibility, but having neither the time nor the money to spend in order to retain a position which entails more expense than remuneration, I am compelled to tender with regret my resignation.

I wish to thank you all for the courtesy that you have shown me during my stay in the council.

Yours truly,
Oscar Hotte

Blue Cross Example Of World Coverage

Italian Hospital Sends Bill for Services Rendered to Canadian Subscriber

As a member of a religious group, Reverend Lussier availed himself of his privilege to enrol in Blue Cross on an individual basis. At time of his enrolment he did not know, however, that his Blue Cross protection would follow him as far as — Italy.

While in Rome recently to further his theological studies, Reverend Lussier was operated on for appendicitis. Upon learning of his Blue Cross membership, the San Carle Hospital in Rome promptly sent the bill, which amounted to some 55,000 liras, to Quebec Hospital Service Association, which obliged by assuming the total cost of the bill. Under present exchange rates, this meant about $88.

Reverend Lussier's family in Montreal, who could hardly foresee such an eventuality, agreed any service which protects its subscribers wherever they may be certainly deserves a lot of praise.

Ste. Agathe Council Resigns, Election Called For Eight Vacancies

Ste. Agathe, May 3.—Nominations for eight seats in the Ste. Agathe town council will be held May 12 to replace the seats vacated at the last town council meeting, April 23, when the council resigned in a body.

Georges Vanier, town secretary-treasurer, was instructed by Deputy Minister Emile Morin, of the Quebec Department of Municipal Affairs, to hold nominations, and the election, if necessary, will be held May 17.

The walkout occurred when a demand was made by former Alderman Maurice Demers for the councillors to prove their financial qualifications.

Of those elected, four will remain in office until October 1948, while the term of the other four will terminate in one year.

Gatineau LINES

From Campbell's Bay to Rawdon, from Vaudreuil to Ste. Agathe and Nomininigue, construction crews are busy on a $5,000,000 program to bring improved service to more than 45,000 customers of Gatineau Power Company. Part of the work has been completed, some of it has yet to be done. Here are the highlights of the job as they stand at present:

(1) In the region of St. Jerome, Ste. Adele, Ste. Agathe and St. Jovite a number of steps have been taken to provide better service. We have completed construction of a new line capable of carrying 110,000 volts from St. Jerome as far as Ste. Adele, and already this line is operating on 26,000 volts. This doubles the transmission capacity from St. Jerome to Ste. Adele, and we will soon double the capacity of the Ste. Adele-St. Jovite line. Within a year we expect to have the 110,000-volt line operating at full voltage right through from St. Jerome to Ste. Agathe.

(2) In and around Aylmer, new circuits and automatic repeater fuses have been installed to eliminate interruptions in service due to line trouble in this area.

(3) The new 26,000-volt line will run between Rigaud and Dorion, has been completed as far as Hudson and is already in operation to that point, with a new 1,000 kilowatt substation at Hudson and voltage regulators serving Hudson and Hudson Heights. We are continuing the construction of this 26,000-volt line from Hudson to Dorion, and it will be in service this year.

(4) To provide better service between Hull and Aylmer, a new 800 kilowatt substation will, within the next few weeks, be placed in operation at Deschenes. In addition, the substation on Main St. in Hull has been increased in power from 1,600 to 2,500 kilowatts.

(5) Between Point Fortune and Vaudreuil service soon will be improved by the installation of a 10,000 kilowatt voltage regulator at Hawkesbury. Delivery of the regulator is behind schedule, but has been promised for July.

All these things add up to improved service for Gatineau customers everywhere. The whole expansion program would have been completed long ago if the electrical equipment needed had been available. Now the job is being pushed as rapidly as is possible, so that Gatineau can continue to supply good service at low cost.

Range for Poultry Growing Stock

(Experimental Farm News)

Good pasture, properly managed, can be of great value for growing pullets, both for its nutritional value, and as a means of controlling disease. Its chief nutritional value is its vitamin content, the green forage being an excellent source of vitamin A and most of the other necessary vitamins with the exception of "D", which is supplied by sunlight. It is also a good supplementary source of proteins and minerals, and so conserves expensive feeds. It has been suggested that, when growing birds are on range, feed may be restricted by 10 to 15 per cent without retarding the rate of growth or subsequent egg production.

Poultry range, especially if it is part of a crop rotation, helps to promote the health of the birds, but it must be properly managed. It should be well away from the older birds to prevent parasites and disease from passing from the mature hens to the young growing stock. The young birds should never come in contact with the older stock, and therefore it is desirable to have clean brooder houses on the range, ready to move the chicks into as soon as they arrive. When the birds are old enough, range shelters may be provided and these should be moved from time to time to prevent bare areas which are likely to become contaminated. A four or five year rotation for poultry ranges is desirable, as year-to-year grazing on the same area may ultimately result in serious disease and parasitic contamination. Brooder houses and range shelters should always be thoroughly cleaned before moving them onto the following year's range. If this is not done, the filth and dirt will be carried over to the clean ground, which, of course, defeats the main object of range rotation.

Ladino clover provides excellent forage for poultry, although alsike clover has been found very satisfactory at the Prince George Dominion Experimental Station, B.C., says W. J. Cuthbert. One acre of range will provide good pasture for 400 to 700 growing birds, depending upon the growth and succulence of the forage. Where the crop is poor, no more than 400 birds should be allowed per acre. Clipping the forage periodically will maintain it in a succulent, palatable and nutritious condition.

Cultivated plants, such as sunflowers, provide the most desirable shade, as the ground beneath such permanent shade as trees and shrubs will become contaminated, and is difficult to keep clean. Feed hoppers and water fountains should be placed on wire frames to prevent the birds from picking food from the contaminated ground underneath.

Buy Graded Seed And Reduce Weeds

One of the simplest ways of reducing weeds on the farm is not to sow weed seeds. Weeds increase cost of production and cause lower crop yields. In some cases they even destroy the soil and render it worthless until it has been thoroughly cleared of the weeds and has been built up agaian.

Under the Seed Act of the Dominion of Canada, weed seeds are grouped according to their harmfulness, and the percentage of such weed seeds permitted in seed grades offered for sale for seeding in Canada is strictly limited under the Act. The groups are —

Prohibited noxious. — These include weeds which are known to be extremely noxious and which have not become established in this country. They are not allowed in any seed grade and when found in any seed stocks, such stocks are ordered destroyed, or disposed of outside Canada.

Primary noxious. — These weeds include those which are very difficult to eradicate and cause heavy crop losses. Usually they are not widely distributed. No. 1 seed grade must not contain primary noxious weed seeds.

Secondary noxious.—These are the weeds which cause heavy crop losses. They are widely distributed. Seeds of such weeds are allowed in very limited number in the seed grades.

Weeds other than prohibited or noxious.— These are weeds which cause smaller crop yields but which can be easily eliminated by good cultural methods. Seed grades allow for greater tolerence of seeds in this group.

EARLY PLANTING IN 1910

Spring weather has Manitoulin farmers wondering how soon they can begin planting this year. One resident recalls that Henry Shannon of the Rowe Settlement planted wheat on February 28, 1910, and peas May 23 of the same year. On May 24, a four-to-five-inch snowfall blanketed the ground and crops that year were the best in many years.

Young Miscreants Pay for Rowdyism

Three young Montrealers on a fishing expedition last week-end, halted their car on Main Street late Saturday and knocked at the Cosy Inn, seeking accommodation for the night. It happened that the hostelry had been vacated and the visitors, knocking repeatedly, received no answer. Presumably in bad humor, they smashed one window, then another. . . The new proprietor of the building, Notary Jacques Beaudoin, heard the fracas from his residence nearby, and called the police headquarters. Chief D. Villeneuve and Cst. A. Pagé arrived promptly on the scene, and Notary Beaudoin, after collecting for damage to his property, agreed to press no charge. The visitors took their departure in the direction of Montreal.

OUT-SHAWED

(This Week)

A foreign correspondent brought us this G. B. Shaw story, which we never heard before:

The bearded playwright had sent Winston Churchill a pair of tickets to his latest play, enclosing a typical caustic message: "Here are opening-night seats for you and a friend — if you have one".

Churchill replied promptly, returning the tickets. "Sorry I'm unable to use these tickets for the opening-night of your play", he wrote. "But I'd appreciate tickets for the second night — if there is one".

A Crying Need

THERE IS an obvious need in this town for waste-paper containers placed at strategic places on the Main Street, and for a continuous campaign to have them used, instead of indiscriminate throwing of papers on the sidewalks. The Clean-Up theme will be hitting a high note this month — but there is little inducement for property owners to beautify their grounds while Cellopane wrappers and paper boxes flutter at the will of the four winds. With the ascendancy of the chocolate bar, the cup cake and the potato chip, it is imperative that there be a depository for discarded bags and boxes in the proximity of every restaurant in town. The utter disregard of the public in this respect is discouraging to citizens who take pride in their properties.

The need for waste-paper bins has been voiced perennially in this column. True, the wheels of progress move with measured pace, and the enthusiasm of our city fathers stirs but slowly to such minor plaints. But we suggest the Chamber of Commerce might make this matter a strong plank in the springtime Clean-Up platform. It takes community effort to get things done.

What Makes Community Spirit

MEN of high character leave a stamp on their country for generations. It often issues in a seemingly unaccountable sense of local pride and community spirit.

Many a Canadian town got off to a good start in pioneer days because of the influence of a few such citizens. Men who, because their own home life was sound, knew how to care for their neighbors and their town. They were able to judge between right and wrong and were therefore clear-sighted and impartial in the administration of public affairs.

First they banded together for the spiritual weal — building a church by the sweat of their bodies and out of the produce of their own soil. Then they built good schools and good roads. They were leaders because they cared more for the welfare of their community than they did for their own comfort or profit. As the years went by, they pressed to have the village incorporated; they advocated a cummunity hall; they supported a local newspaper and they organized a county fair.

Today we have inherited these advances. Are we living on what we have received, or can we care for our community like our forefathers, building for the future?

In reality, caring for the community means caring for the people in it. For their sakes we patronize the home-town stores, we encourage clean local sport, we turn out to vote, we elect men of integrity and help our police to enforce the law. For their sakes we must be willing to end a family feud, learn to apologize, even to forgive the fellow who has harmed us.

Real community spirit is created by teamwork among citizens who love their neighbors and their town; who give inspired leadership because they themselves are God-led and therefore have the courage to fight for what is right.

THE APPROACH of spring . . the coming of pussy willows, the appearance across the skies of wild bird life in formation to nesting grounds of the north, and the song bird in the trees, is the one time that man's attention is drawn to the beauties of nature more than at any season of the year. — Humboldt (Sask.) Parliament Hot on Communism

ANYONE who wondered whether the spirit of Confederation had died in Canada had only to look upon Parliament last week to find the answer.

Battles continued to rage on concessions to railways and on the ban against oleomargarine, but on Canada's relations with the outside world, there seemed but one voice from the grey-stoned building.

When External Affairs Minister St. Laurent opened the Commons' first full-dress debate on foreign affairs, the temper of argument became stronger but more harmonious. The policy of the country had become clear. "It must be based on a recognition of the fact that totalitarian Communist aggression endangers the freedom and peace of every democratic country, including Canada", Mr. St. Laurent declared. "For us there is no escape, even if we wished to seek one, in isolation or indifference".

Upon this basis all major political parties came to this concerted conclusion: Canada must look to the union of free nations as the best bulwark against war and against the threat of Communist expansion.

However, Mr. St. Laurent did not believe that the United Nations should be entirely sacrificed. Free states may soon find it necessary to consider how best to establish a collective security league. But without sacrificing the universality of the U.N. This could be made possible through closer associations between the freedom-loving nations for collective self-defence under the charter of the U.N. The security league would "create a dynamic counter-attraction to Communism — the dynamic counter-attraction of a free, prosperous and progressive society as opposed to the totalitarian and reactionary society of the Communist world". It would not be a "counsel of despair" but "a message of hope". It would not mean that we regard a Third World War as inevitable but that democracies had decided to prevent such a war, to confront the forces of Communist expansion with an overwhelming preponderance of moral, economic and military force. "No measure less than this will do", said Mr. St. Laurent.

Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel), the deputy Progressive-Conservative leader, called for sharp teeth to halt the greed of Russia. "Canada's position should be made clear and her armed services should bear a reasonable relationship to our population and economic strength". It might be dangerous in the extreme to allow our forces to remain at the low figure of only 35,000".

He called for the outlawing of Communism in Canada and legislation which would permit deportation of Communists. They should be sent, he said, "to that economic and political paradise which they say exists behind the iron curtain". The Soviet had proved an "international porch-climber" and a "diplomatic peeping Tom", he claimed.

Work and Live Long

IT APPEARS from insurance statistics that work isn't as hard on the worker as we are sometimes asked to believe. The life expectancy of the industrial population of the United States, which can't vary much from what we might reasonably expect in Canada, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, in 1947 reached 66½ years. That is a gain of one year's expectancy of life over 1946. It is 20 years more than you would have had a right to expect in 1911-1912. Quite obviously we are not working ourselves to death—says Joseph Lister Rutledge, commenting on these figures.

TAXES AND THE PROVINCES

— By M. V. Trayers —

It is an old truism that there is nothing sure in this life except taxes and death. You may not see the connection, but a little poem by Gertrude A. Brown which I came across the other day keeps intruding itself upon my mind with an examination of the conditions which prevailed at the time of the Dominion-Provincial Conference of 1945 and its abortive result. . .

"My purse is empty for I cannot sell,
I am a beggar with a pack of dreams
Which, through long years I fashioned strong and well,
And guarded trustingly; but now it seems
The glittering markets of the world today
Have mostly brittle, garnish goods displayed.
I must go hungry still, upon my way —
There is no sale for any dreams I've made".

Now and again I hear echoes in the House of Commons of the parting shots from the 1945 conference. Of Premier Drew's haughty withdrawal to Queen's Park; or Premier Duplessis' triumphant return to Three Rivers. Theirs was no Munich. Mr. Duplessis' followers proclaimed him the "Savior of Quebec", and Mr. Drew is now going before the electors of his province appealing for support on the farsightedness and statesmanship of his "tough" stand at that time.

Mr. Duplessis has not yet signified his intention of holding an early election, though forecasts of various dates have been made, but it is clear that the issue will centre around provincial rights or autonomy. If there was any doubt, we have an extract from a speech reported in the Montreal "Gazette" of January 13, which says: "As a defender of provincial rights Premier Duplessis had brought special credit upon himself by resisting Ottawa's attempt to eliminate the provinces and forge them into a single Dominion government under a centralized bureaucracy. Quebec was joined in this fight by Ontario, which is equally jealous of its rights and traditions".

When the two Premiers "took a walk" from the 1945-46 conference they were gambling their political futures against an expected depression. Plans were being made to protect the country against a decline in revenue and employment, which everyone thought would surely follow the end of hostilities — everyone, that is, except Mr. Drew and Mr. Duplessis. Whether from farsightedness or just good luck, the gamble paid off, the recession which was a post-war certainty with its tumbling revenues and queues of unemployed and all its attendant miseries, never came, and the social welfare programs which would create provincial financial burdens were not required. Instead, we have huge surpluses, better employment conditions; and in the case of Quebec, larger road grants, a bridge program second to none, and school grants and expenditures which even the opposition party couldn't cavil at. Mr. Duplessis has maintained even his provincial sovereignty, he has made no tax bargain with Ottawa, he has balanced his budget and after making large expenditures for provincial well-being shows a surplus beyond expectations, and all this without imposing a personal income tax, the bogie which Ottawa held before him and which he refused to barter or rent. Passing events have vindicated this attitude, and again we are forced to wonder, was it statesmanship or plain good luck.

What of the other seven provinces, whose Premiers came to terms with Ottawa and rented their tax fields for a period of five years, and also their right to impose succession duties in return for a specified sum or compensation paid them by the Federal Government?

The answer is contained in a return to a question by Mr. Héon, M.P. for Argenteuil, and also in a reply to Mr. Fair, M.P., set forth in Hansard of April 29. Here are the figures:

Prince Edward Island received from Ottawa	$1,635,189
Ottawa collected from Prince Edward Island	1,306,818
Nova Scotia received	10,033,372
Ottawa collected	29,166,866
New Brunswick received	7,821,817
Ottawa collected	23,087,772
Manitoba received	12,661,301
Ottawa collected	64,778,961
Saskatchewan received	13,681,361
Ottawa collected	33,196,561
Alberta received	13,205,173
Ottawa collected	47,674,232
B.C. received	20,289,281
Ottawa collected	144,396,517

These figures are for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1948. Under the provisions of the agreements entered into with the provinces under the Dominion-Provincial Tax Rental Agreements Act, the provinces which have signed the agreements have rented to the Dominion their right to impose personal income taxes, corporation income taxes and corporation taxes in respect of the five calendar years from January 1947 to December 1951, and have rented their right to impose succession duties in respect of the five fiscal years from April 1, 1947, to March 31, 1952.

Several provincial premiers were faced with the same question that the Ontario and Quebec premiers answered with a thundering No. They knew the political implications of renouncing their provincial rights, but they feared a reduction in the national income levels, so they strung along with Ottawa, in whose favor the cards fell. Today they are being rebuffed in their fight for delay of the imposition of 21% on the railway freight rates — while their two fellow premiers who quit the ship in the troubled waters of Dominion-Provincial Conference, are now sailing under the blue skies of increased revenue on the calm sea of electoral approval.

GUEST'S PRIVILEGE

Woodstock, Ont. (CP) — When Mayor G. A. Wenige, of London, Ont., came out of a Thames Valley Authority meeting here, he found a parking ticket on his car. Woodstock's Mayor D. A. Thomson, shelled out $2. Later he explained, "Mayor Wenige was a guest of Woodstock".

It is not a merit to tolerate, but rather a crime to be intolerant.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

LET'S BE GOOD NEIGHBORS
Few things in life are so deeply appreciated as the friendly spirit that exists among neighbors. It is one of those things that make life happier. And it can work miracles for the stranger in your community . . . it can make him feel at home; glad that he lives there. Extend a welcome to the newcomer . . . see that he meets your friends and becomes one of them. The spirit of neighborliness is one of the true foundations of "Good Citizenship".
You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Mrs. Ed Barron spent the week-end visiting in Montreal.

Mr. Douglas Scharf, of Ottawa, is spending a few days with his wife, at the home of her mother Mrs. G. C. Conway.

Mrs. Norman McCallum, of Lachute, called on old acquaintances here recently.

At 85th Milestone

Mrs. T. H. Gauley, a much respected resident, attained her 85th birthday last Saturday, May 1. . . Mrs. Gauley did a great deal of knitting during wartime; and as long as her health would permit, she was a helpful friend to neighbors in time of trial and sickness. An active churchwoman, she also extended a ready hospitality for meeting and in church interests, at the farmstead where she and her husband formerly resided.

W.A. Meeting

The regular meeting of St. Matthew's W.A. was held in the mission room last Thursday afternoon. Slides showing branches of the church mission work in Canada, were shown by the Rev. A. E. Hawes. Several members of the Calumet branch attended, also visitors from Cushing. Refreshments were served at the close.

The Community Club is holding a social evening on Friday at the Consolidated School.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Goldsworthy, of Lachute, called on friends here recently.

Mr. Ward, who served the Grenville and Ogdensburg Baptist Churches last summer and who has attended MacMaster University during the winter, will be welcomed as student pastor again this season. Mr. Ward will hold the first service in the Grenville Baptist Church next Sunday, May 9, at 11 a.m., preceded by Sunday School at 10 a.m.

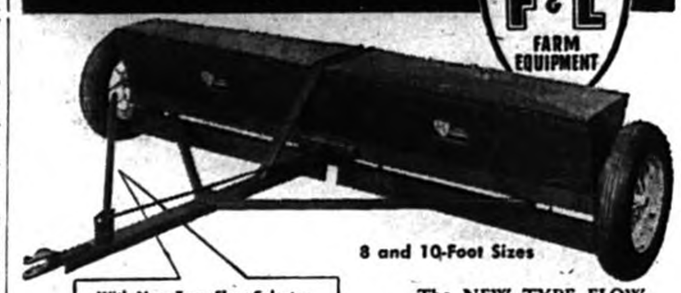

We extend sympathy to the family of the late Mr. A. Warwick, an old county resident, who passed away recently in Lachute.

ENCYCLOPEDIA RACKET

Oshawa, Ont. (CP) — Citizens here report a new racket. Persons who represent themselves as conducting a "survey" telephone a home and gain information about the family income. Apparently acting on this information, a salesman then calls at the house, "checks" on the survey — and tries to sell an encyclopedia at a price of $102.

Another film in the series on the Life of St. Paul will be shown Sunday evening, May 9, at 7.30 o'clock in the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church. The title of this film is "Faith Triumphant".

These films on St. Paul's life tell the story of the apostle's great witness for Christianity, and are well worth seeing, for they make the Bible characters and their times very real to us today.

The film will be preceded by a short devotional service, and everyone is invited to attend.

Special Observance at Bell Falls — Service and Supper for Mother's Day

(Our District Correspondent)

Bell Falls—Mr. John Shearman, student-minister of the Harrington-Kilmar mission field, will lead the congregation of the Harrington United Church in a special worship service around a community supper table in the hall at Bell Falls on Sunday, May 9, at 7.30 p.m. This special service will mark the celebration of Mother's Day and Christian Family Week.

Special music for the occasion will be provided by Mrs. J. D. Shaw, soloist, and by the choir of Bell Falls Sunday School, accompanied by Miss Ella Campbell, pianist.

The evening meal, served by the ladies of the community, will form an integral part of the worship service. A hymn of thanksgiving will be sung as the members of the congregation take their places at the table. After supper, the minister will preach a sermon on the subject "Our Lord's New Family", based on the text Mark 3:34-35.

Several members of the Kilmar United Church were present at a similar service held on Mother's Day last year. An invitation to participate in this annual religious festival has again been extended to the congregation of the Kilmar Church.

Closest Relative to The English Language

Contributed by Norman Thorburn

The question is sometimes asked "What tongue most closely resembles English and where is it spoken?"

After the defeat at the death of King Harold at Hastings, or Senlac, 1066, French was the official language of England for two centuries, and even today French expressions are still used in England.

English law-givers still use, I believe, expressions like "Je vous assure", "Je m'assente", "Oui, s.re", etc. The cry of the English town crier, "Oyez, oyez", is Norman French.

In its simplest form, however, English more closely resembles the Germanic languages.

During the last war, English troops in Reyajavik, the capital of Iceland, saw signs beginning with the words "Stranglega bannadir". At first, these words convey nothing to our minds, but when we find that they mean "Strongly banned", we see the resemblance of English to the old language of the Vikings.

But, of all places I believe, one must go to Roumania, to find what we seek.

In the province of Transylvania, in the basin of the Danube, in what is often called "Mittel Europa" in the shadow of the Caucasus, with Kronstadt as their main seat, dwells an old Saxon race — speaking Saxon in an older and purer form than that spoken in Saxony, I believe.

They were sent here over 800 years ago to act as a spearhead against the Turks, who were threatening all Europe at that time.

Many sentences can be spoken in this tongue, that are readily understood by the astute English listener. The words — winter, wind, wander, wonder — are pronounced and spelled exactly as in English. The letter "w" is pronounced as we pronounce it, and not as "v" as in German.

They call themselves Saxonische folk. The Celtic people have from ages past called the English "Sassenach". These facts make me think that there was once an old English word "Saxonish". It is a rule of philology that double-c can replace x; e.g., Alexander, Italian Alessandro.

Saxon is the parent tongue of English today; no more than three of four million people speak it, whereas English is spoken and understood by probably one quarter of Mother Earth's people.

Twice the Saxons, obeying the command of their Prussian masters, have made war on us. Twice they have known the bitter gall of crushing defeat.

Today, locked behind the Iron Curtain, they are (I have good reason to believe) the unwilling slaves of their ancient enemy, the Slavs. Ground under the jackboot of the Muscovite, they have only their remembrance of the glory of their great past.

Sets Up Business After Varied Career

After a lifetime in the show business Capt. Oscar N. Marchand, born here at Lachute Mills, has returned to his native town to set up a quick-service valet shop. While catering particularly to hotel guests, he has plans for a more extensive service to the local public as business develops.

VALVE-IN-HEAD is far ahead!

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

Here's why "Valve-in-Head Is Far Ahead" in all-round efficiency

1 Valves are in the head of the cylinder, directly over the pistons.

2 Valve-in-Head design provides faster intake of fuel and quicker and more complete exhaust of burned gases for better performance and economy.

3 Valve-in-Head design permits a more compact combustion chamber . . . means more driving power for the pistons — less heat loss — and maximum economy.

4 Valve-in-Head Engines are easier to cool; this prevents waste of power — prolongs engine life.

Valve mechanism is readily accessible — service is extraordinarily easy and economical.

Automotive experts and millions of motorists agree: Valve-in-Head is far ahead because it gives an outstanding combination of performance, endurance, dependability and economy . . . . Chevrolet Valve-in-Head Engines have proved this by delivering more billions of miles of satisfaction, to more owners, over a longer period, than any other power-plant built today! Chevrolet's World's Champion Valve-in-Head Engine is another powerful reason why CHEVROLET AND ONLY CHEVROLET IS FIRST! And Chevrolet offers you these other major advantages of Big-Car Quality at Lowest Cost:

SHADOW OF A DOUBT

How many husbands kiss their wives when reaching home at mealtimes? Recently a brilliant sun was beaming down on the freshly-fallen snow, and we heard of a man, supposedly almost snow-blind on reaching home, kissing the first lady he met — a neighbor. We are still wondering if he was as snow-blind as he professed to be. Rapid City (Man.) Reporter

Materialism is an endless search for something which can never satisfy.

Glamorize Veal Dishes

Veal does not seem to be so popular as other meats, but if well cooked and nicely seasoned it would win a place on both special and everyday menus.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Ottawa, suggest that the reason why veal is not enjoyed more often lies in the cooking. Veal requires longer cooking than beef and is always served well done, so that the person who loves his rare roast beef makes an unfair comparison.

Veal lacks fat in the tissues, so a generous coating of fat over the roast gives it color and flavor as well as keeping it juicy. Low temperature is best for roasting; 325°F for 30 to 35 minutes per pound is recommended. Leg, loin, rib and shoulder cuts make good roasts.

Veal is mild and therefore may be pointed up with seasonings. Whatever seasoning is used, it should be added with a light hand so that the veal flavor is still discernible. A few grains of nutmeg, celery salt, mace and paprika may be added along with salt and pepper. Herbs such as thyme, parsley, rosemary or savoury go well with veal. Chopped apple, tomatoes, lemon juice or garlic also bring out the flavor when added to stews or casserole dishes.

Veal Corn Bake

2 Pounds breast or shoulder of veal, 2 tablespons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons fat, 1½ cups cream-style corn, 1½ cups milk.

Remove bone and cut meat in half-inch slices. Combine flour, salt and pepper and roll meat slices in mixture. Melt fat in frying pan and sauté meat until well browned. Arrange pieces in greased casserole. Combine corn and milk and pour over meat. Cover and bake in a moderately slow oven, 325°F, for 1½ hours. Remove cover and continue to bake ½ hour longer. More milk may be added during cooking, if necessary. Yield: six servings.

Veal with Noodles

1½ lbs. boneless stewing veal, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 3 tablespoons fat, 1 clove garlic minced, 3 cups water, 1 cup canned or chopped raw tomatoes, ½ cup milk, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon celery salt, 3 cups noodles (1-inch pieces), ½ cup sliced onion.

Cut veal in cubes, dredge with flour, seasoned with salt and pepper. Brown in hot fat. Add garlic and water, bring to boiling point, cover and simmer for one hour. Add tomatoes, milk, sugar and celery salt and simmer until meat is tender, about 30 minutes longer. Meanwhile cook noodles and onion together in boiling, salted water until tender, (about 15 minutes) drain. Serve veal on a platter surrounded with noodles. Yield: six to eight servings.

Liver and Veal Moulds

½ lb. Beef or pork liver, 1 medium-sized onion, ½ lb. ground veal, ¼ cup catsup, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¾ cup milk, 1 egg beaten, 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats.

Cover liver with boiling water and simmer for 5 minutes. Drain. Grind liver and onion (using the medium blade of the food chopper). Thoroughly combine with the remaining ingredients. Fill well-greased custard cups or muffin tins with meat mixture. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., for 50 to 60 minutes. Yield: eight servings.

Women's Institute Provides Scotstown With Medical Centre

By Grace A. LeBaron

Scotstown is a thriving little town of 1,200 inhabitants in the Distant some 37 miles from hospital accommodation, lacking medital accommodation, lacking medical and nursing facilities, with roads closed in winter and unsatisfactory train service, its health picture following the death of the resident physician was serious. Often patients were subjected to added suffering and deyaled relief until they could be hospitalized or a doctor's services could be had. A like condition exists in an amazingly large number of rural towns. A comment from one district forcefully describes the situation: "We have no doctor here, but we have two undertakers — we can die anytime".

For 39 years Dr. C. M. Smith served the people over a widespread area, not only as medical adviser but as a friend and wise counsellor. At his passing the members of the Scotstown Women's Institute conceived the idea of perpetuating his life of service and honoring his name in the form of a memorial which would also benefit the townspeople and district.

With that purpose in mind, the Dr. C. M. Smith Foundation Fund was begun for the establishment of a local medical centre. A charter was granted by the Quebec government and the campaign for funds was opened. Circular letters were dispatched to the townspeople, the citizens of neighboring towns and to former residents now far afield. The administration of the fund was placed in the hands of a committee formed of members of the Scotstown Women's Institute. The cooperation of the male population is evidenced by their work on finance and property committees. A house and three lots were purchased at a cost of $5,600. A good balance remained for alterations, renovation and the purchase of necessary equipment, as well as the running expenses of upkeep and insurance. Exemption from taxes was granted. Additions and improvements materialize as circumstances permit.

The aim of this medical centre is to handle emergency cases, render first aid, perform minor surgical procedures and provide X-ray service. There is one complete hospital room furnished by a family as a memorial to their aviator son. The office and waiting room have also been furnished and the equipment on hand includes a sterilizer, portable dental equipment, a stretcher and two hospital beds which are loaned in homes when needed. An all-purpose X-ray machine was purchased about a year ago.

Owing to the acute housing shortage, a part of the building is at present used as living quarters for the doctor, who was given free rent for the first year as encouragement to settle in the town. A young married doctor is in residence. He is much in favor of the project and is cooperating to make it a success. The establishment of such a medical centre fills a great need in rural community life and furnishes the local doctor with aids that would not otherwise be available. To augment funds a "Thrift and Gift Shop" has been opened which netted $500 during the first six months of operation.

To date the sum of $10,000 has been raised for the memorial fund, a medical centre has been established and a resident physician secured. The population of Scotstown and the surrounding districts is now assured of reasonable health facilities. This has been accomplished through the energy and initiative of a group of 60 public-spirited women. It is a tribute to the Women's Institute, that group of busy country women who for the past 50 years have spent time and ability in bettering their homes and communities.

Women Taxi-Drivers Wage War With Men

Rough Tactics Alleged As Sexes Compete in Durban

Durban, S. Africa (CP) — Something approaching a war is being waged between men and women taxi-drivers in Durban — and it has been intensified by a period of slack trade.

Many men drivers complain that they have to work long hours and snatch periods of sleep in their vehicles to make a living in the face of competition from an increasing number of women drivers.

"Some of the companies think that women drivers are more efficient and that the public has greater confidence in them", said one man. "But taxi-driving, apart from the risks run in driving drunken men about, is not a woman's business. The women are taking the bread out of the mouths of ex-servicemen".

Some of the women drivers allege that certain men drivers are "playing dirty". They are letting the air out of their tires, dumping and "cutting in" at the taxi stands.

"Taxi-driving is hard, but we must earn a living somehow. It is not essentially a man's job. It suits me because I have a family of children to look after, and between fares, I can run home several times a day to see how they are looked after by the servants", said a woman driver.

An official of one of the organizations employing women drivers claims that the turnover of the business has increased by 100 per cent since women drivers were introduced.

So far, none of the women employed by his organization has reported incidents of interference from men drivers, he said. If indignities suffered by other women drivers were extended to those employed by his organization, action would be taken, he added.

Lachute Boy Scouts

Something new for the Lachute Scouts is a First Aid class conducted by Mr. Thos. Dwyer, St. John Ambulance Brigade instructor, whereby eight or ten of the senior Scouts will secure not only Scout first class First Aid badges, but junior St. John Ambulance standing as well. The class is progressing well, with the Scouts showing a keen interest. Special classes in signalling, map and compass work are also being carried on with splendid success, and now with the arrival of warmer weather this work will be continued outdoors.

Troop Leader Gordon Jamison and Patrol Leader (Quartermaster) Don Barbour having passed the necessary tests and secured the Airman, Aero Engineer and Handyman proficiency badges, are also qualified for the Red Wings of the Flying Lions, the first Scouts of the Lachute Troop to receive this distinction.

Sandy MacGibbon and Jimmy Underhill have graduated from Cubs to Scouts and were welcomed into the Troop at the last meeting.

The first hike of the season takes place this coming Saturday afternoon, starting from the Auditorium at 1300 hours.

Bulldogs now lead in the Patrol competition with 536 points, the Lions being but one point behind. Crows and Foxes tie for third place, with Wolves and Eagles trailing behind.

FAIR AND FINAL WARNING

SO FAR there have been less than half the chicks hatched this spring than were hatched last spring. Also, people who should know are predicting 85c a dozen for eggs by August! . .

ALL THIS points to more money in poultry this fall than for many years, and to high egg prices for those who didn't raise a flock.

CHICKS started now will be laying by October if you raise them on the Purina feeds, and they will make you money.

BETTER give us your order for chicks now.

Lachute High School Glee Club Stages Successful Spring Concert

ORCHESTRA MAKES "HIT" WITH AUDIENCE

The annual Spring Concert of the Lachute High School Glee Club, augmented by the school orchestra, was held in the Auditorium on Friday evening last, and the combined efforts of these organizations and other solo selections proved a musical treat for a large audience.

The Glee Club, under direction of Mr. Earl Morrison, opened the program with two very fine renditions, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" by Martin Luther, and "Non Nobis Domine" by Kipling.

Vocal solos by Miss Marjorie Vowles, a Brownsburg student, were nicely interpreted as she sang "On the Lagoon" by Brahms, and Mozart's "Sleep Now My Darling, Now Sleep". These were followed by instrumental numbers by Messrs. Gordon Jamison and Van Pattee, who chose "Minuet in G" (Beethoven), and "Viennese Refrain" (Kreisler), for saxophone and clarinet duet.

The Glee Club again gave an excellent account of itself with the popular "Bells of St. Mary's", which was followed by the highlight of the evening as they rendered "Madame Jeannette" (Murray) unaccompanied. The rich harmony of this piece, the shading and synchronization of the voices, added to the audience-appeal of this number, which was enthusiastically applauded.

The Tschaikowsky's "Piano Concerto" and "Mighty Lak a Rose" (Nevin) were then given as instrumental solos by Gordon Jamison.

The innovation of the school orchestra proved a tremendous success, for this group has only been in existence for four months, the strings being under the supervision of Mr. B. A. Miller and the bass and wood-winds by Mr. Earl Morrison. The first numbers were "The Crusader's Hymn" (Silesian) and the "Grand Assembly March". Mr. Morrison explained that the group had bought many of the instruments themselves, and publicly thanked the Rotary Club of Brownsburg for a gift which will go for the purchase of two alto horns.

After the intermission, a stirring selection "Onward Christian Soldiers", by Sullivan, gave excellent scope to the choir, and by contrast, was followed by the unaccompanied rendition of "All Through the Night".

Mr. Maurice Bedard was the guest violinist for the evening and his selections of Dvorak's "Humouresque" and Czardas "A Spanish Dance" were highly popular with the audience, and he selected the waltz from "Faust" as his encore.

Four members of the orchestra, Miss Helen Underhill, Van Pattee, Gerald Gagne and Mr. Morrison combined their efforts in a clarinet quartette, and interpreted Bach's "Chorale" and "Glory to God" by Handel; these were also very well applauded. The concluding numbers by the orchestral ensemble again earned spontaneous applause, as "Light Cavalry" march was given as an encore.

A choral fantasia of British National airs, brought the concert to a close, and the ever-accepted melodies of "A-Hunting We Will Go", Robin Adair", Here's a Health to His Majesty", "Annie Laurie", "The Minstrel Boy", "Cherry Ripe", "Now Lingers My Gaze" and "Rule Britannia" were well rendered by the group. The Glee Club and the orchestra combined in the finale of God Save the King.

The piano accompanist for the evening was the talented Lachute towns-woman, Miss Juliette Rodrigue, who gave excellent support to the choir. An expression of appreciation was extended to her and to Mr. Maurice Bedard for their co-operation, by Mr. Earl Morrison.

Many favorable comments were heard following the concert by appreciative parents, who recognized the valuable musical training that their children are getting at the Lachute High School, under such excellent teachers as Mr. Earl Morrison, and Mr. Bert Miller.

Impression Corrected in Outline of V.O.N. Service

The outline of V.O.N. community service published in last issue, conveyed an impression that the municipality is required to grant $5,000 for the initial year's cost of V.O.N. services. . . The term "municipality" was intended to imply the community as a whole. The municipal corporation is required to grant only an unspecified amount towards this cost, thereby signifying the Town's official support, and taking the initiative to sponsor the project.

Baker Investigates Nutritional Values

On Sunday last, Mr. J. A. Menard, president of the Lachute Bakery, and also president of the Bakers' and Pastry Industry Association of the Province of Quebec, returned from a short trip to Midland, Ont. Mr. Menard left on Wednesday with Mr. J. F. Cadieux of Three Rivers, vice-president of the same Association. They were accompanied by Mr. J. A. Leboeuf, of Montreal, expert in the flour industry and Mr. Alcide Racine, vice-president of the Mount-Royal Industries, Montreal, and manufacturer of the main elements for the bakers.

This trip was made in preparation of a public health campaign, which is essential in this particular industry. They were also investigating the possibility of finding the best natural flour employed in the fabrication of bread, containing such nutritional values as gluten and vitamin B.1.

The idea of the trip was to find independant flour mills and chemists bound to no organization, and in the hope of producing the most wholesome flour as possible.

The group were met at Midland by Mr. R. J. Pinchin, a chief chemist and his assistant Mr. Wilson, both experts in the flour mill industry.

Prov. Election Is Political Question

Specially Written for The Watchman

By WILLIAM STEWART

Quebec, May 12 (CP) — Gossip and guesses about Quebec's election date revived last week but no one knew for sure what Premier Duplessis' intentions were.

The latest flood of rumor favored a July election and in Montreal one newspaper reported that the date was to be revealed at any moment.

Premier Duplessis was away on his first holiday in several months, making it pretty certain there would be no announcement until his return.

He is due back this week for a cabinet meeting. If dissolution of the Provincial Legislature was decided at that meeting there would be just enough for elections, June 30.

Election laws provide for a minimum 46-day delay between dissolution of the Legislature and voting day.

Celebration in Montreal of the 50th anniversary of the Liberal Reform Club served the opposition party with an occasion to counterbalance Premier Duplessis' 58th birthday anniversary banquet here last month.

Prime Minister King reiterated that he intends to retire with choice of a successor left to the National Liberal Federation.

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, prominent among candidates for succession to the Liberal party and government leadership, also was there.

Mr. St. Laurent is expected to be a target of the Union Nationale party in the provincial campaign and also is expected to take some part in campaigning by the Liberals under Adelard Godbout.

Mr. Godbout, in a banquet address, called for national unity, a point which probably will be prominent in election speeches.

When Premier Duplessis is back in Quebec, he will be watched closely for word of the election date that will be the starting gun for heavy campaigning.

Men can only learn as fast as their humility will let them.

United Church Ask Aid for Silicosis Victims at St-Remi

Because it believes that "in the life of our nation, costs and money ought not to be valued more highly than human lives", the Montreal Presbytery of the United Church of Canada unanimously resolved last Tuesday afternoon to associate itself "with the Catholic Press of our Province and the resolution of the last Anglican Montreal Synod in their concern for the grave situation revealed in the village of St. Remi d'Amherst".

After hearing a description of the past and present inadequacies of the Workmen's Compensation Fund, as a result of which so many victims of silicosis had been left dependent upon meagre public grants, the Presbytery also urged "a thorough revision by the Government of the cases of all individuals and families, victims of silicosis, or its consequences, so that full justice will be done to widows and orphans, as well as to those disabled men presently without compensation.

At the same time the appointment of an impartial commission was recommended to revise the Workmen's Compensation Act so as to eliminate "all undue harshness to the victims of labor and their families".

Finally, as a mark of its solicitude for the lot of often defenceless workers in the Province, the lay and clerical members of the Presbytery urged "the Quebec Safety League — in co-operation with the Government, management and labor — to impose more stringent regulations over the control of any mines, or works, in which employees are exposed to the hazards of silicosis".

Above all the United Church representatives respectfully recommended the Provincial Government to "make certain that the well-being of all workers — especially of our French-speaking compatriots — be fully safeguarded in the forthcoming development of the Ungava region".

Made up of a union of the Methodists, the Congregationalists, and part of the Presbyterians, the United Church of Canada is thus the second Protestant body in Montreal in recent weeks to lend support to the fight for justice to occupational victims and for better public control and compensation which was keynoted and started in March by the monthly "Relations", an official and clerical publication issued by the French Jesuits. This fight is now being taken over and pursued by lay and semi-official Catholic publications.

Class Supper Held At Arundel School

(By Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — A very enjoyable event took place on Saturday evening when the pupils of Grades VIII and IX tendered a supper to the pupils of Grade X.

The hall was tastefully decorated in the school colors, green and yellow, and yellow daffodils were placed on the tables bringing a real touch of spring into a cold rainy night. After the supper the tables were cleared away and Mr. Bill Crone became Chairman for the evening. He called on the Misses Lois Gordon and Dianne Wright for a piano duet after which he introduced the speaker for the evening Major George Brown of Westhill High School of Montreal.

Major Brown stressed the fact of greater co-operation between parents, teachers and pupils, and urged the parents to keep up a keen interest in the work of the pupils in school matters. He emphasized the point that if you want to get results out of anything, you have to put something into it, especially education.

The speaker also spoke of the good work the United Nations Organization are doing and stated he would like to see a greater interest in the work infiltrated into school teachings so that the pupils would have a more comprehensive understanding of the great work that body is doing in world affairs.

The speaker then closed his remarks with his congratulations to Grade X, and urged them to keep up their excellent work.

The chairman then called on Mr. King of the Central Board to say a few words. Mr. King congratulated the students on the good showing they had made in the past and also pressed upon them the need to continue, and also expressed the hope that perhaps the day was coming when Grades XI and XII might be taken in Arundel.

Dr. Wm. Morrison thanked the speakers and the pupils who had tendered them such an enjoyable evening.

Mr. Melvin Graham showed three films entitled, "Sea Life", "City in Wax" and "A Boy in Court" after which he brought the meeting to a close with the national Anthem. Miss Barbara Staniforth presiding at the piano.

Among the invited guests were — Major George Brown, of Montreal, Mr. King and Mr. Deacon, of the Central School Board, Lachute, Mr. Gavin Graham, of Montreal, Dr. and Mrs. Henry, the Rev. and Mrs. Temple Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Fenton, the Arundel School Board and the parents of the pupils and the teaching staff.

The boys and girls are to greatly congratulated on the manner in which they conducted the whole evening and the parents of these talented girls and boys can be justly proud of them.

The saddest thing we learn from history is that we do not learn from it.

CAPTURE MOUNTAIN LION IN SASKATCHEWAN

Robert Tyre, Regina newspaperman, is shown here with the frozen carcass of the 150-pound cougar, or mountain lion, which was recently caught in northern Saskatchewan. Mountain lions are known to have existed in the Cypress Hills area of Saskatchewan at one time, but they have been extinct in the province for the past 35 or 40 years, it was learned. The cougar is to be mounted for display in the Regina museum.

Honors Accorded To Local Agents Metropolitan Life

A dinner was held recently at St. Jerome by the district staff of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, in particular honor of Edmond Ranger, a well known resident of Lachute, who has completed 20 years of service with this company. Mr. Ranger was presented with a pin and a certificate of membership as a veteran agent. Letters of congratulation were read from Mr. Leroy Lincoln, president of Metropolitan Life, Mr. J. Spahn, vice-president in charge of the Canadian Office, and Mr. F. D. Smith, general superintendent of agencies.

All the staff of the St. Jerome district, with their wives and lady friends, were on hand to greet the guest of honor. As a token of their esteem, Mr. Ranger was presented with a beautiful leather travelling bag — while simultaneously with this function, Mrs. Ranger, who is at present confined to the Hotel Dieu Hospital in Montreal, received the gift of a bouquet of roses.

It was pointed out during the evening that Mr. Ranger had established an enviable record in Lachute, having been for a number of years a regular member of the two production clubs of the Metropolitan Life, namely the Honor Club and the $100,000 Club.

A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all present. Arrangements were in charge of Lucien Savard, who is also agent for the company in this centre.

On May 17-19 Lucien A. Savard will attend the Canadian Convention of his company at the Chateau Laurier in Ottawa, and again on June 16-19, he will be a guest at the President's Convention, at the Book Cadillac in Detroit, Mich. Mr. Savard carried these honors on his own personal producing records for 1947. He was second of all regular agents in the entire Dominion, and his record for the company's 30,000 regular agents in Canada and the U.S.A. placed him in the leader's class.

Car Confiscated by Traffic Officer

On Saturday afternoon last, a car, owned and driven by Fernand Decosse of Lachute Mills, was confiscated by Traffic Officer Howard Jones, and placed in a garage until the brakes were rendered safe to the public.

A collision had occurred at the intersection of Wilson and Hamlin Streets, Lachute Mills, between Dacosse and a taxi owned by Phillip André, of Lachute, who was returning from Montreal with a patient from a hospital. Upon examination of the Decosse car, it was found that the brakes were not functioning. This impounding will serve as a warning to other motorists who are endangering the lives of the public.

Cen. School Board Meets Inspector

A special meeting of the Central School Board was held in Lachute High School last Friday afternoon for the purpose of meeting the inspector of Superior Schools, Mr. C. E. Ployart — who had also met with the Lachute High School board the previous evening.

Mr. Ployart presented the report of his inspection at the High School, stating he had found that good progress was being made and that the staff was of very high calibre. He expressed the hope that the work on the proposed new extension would soon begin, as the present building was overcrowded to such an extent that it imposed additional burdens not only on the staff but also on the pupils.

Various matters concerning the work of the Central School Board were also discussed. The Inspector stated during the course of his visit that this Board had made remarkable progress since its formation early in 1946.

Blessing of Shrine On Front Road

(Our District Correspondent)

Cushing — An interesting ceremony took place in Cushing on the afternoon of Ascension Day when the Rev. Father P. Montour, of St. Philippe Parish Church, blessed the shrine erected by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lavigne, beside their house, as a token of thanksgiving to God for the recovery of their two sons, who were seriously injured in the early morning car and train collision here last autumn.

Jean-B. Menard Elected President Of Chamber of Commerce; Year's Reports Show Community Spirit

Jean-Bruno Menard was elected president of Lachute Chamber of Commerce for the year 1948-49, at the annual meeting and election of officers, held at the Golf Club chalet on Monday evening. Gerald Walker and Jas. Lowe were elected first and second vice-presidents, respectively, while André Lefebvre was re-appointed as secretary. The six directors for the coming year are Linton W. Armstrong, Keith Clarke, Harold Parsons, Dr. M. Papineau, Roger Lagarde and Theodore Vachon. The legal advisor and treasurer are to be appointed at a subsequent meeting.

Bertrand L'Heureux, retiring president, in his remarks recalled that a year ago the organization had started with a very extensive program. It had been evident from the start that it would be impossible to complete so much work in one year. However, a great deal of progress had been made, and there was no doubt that the coming year would be a most successful one.

Mr. Menard expressed his thanks to the meeting, and stated that each member would be expected to take an active interest in one or more of the meetings of the organization. He maintained that much good work could be done if such a large percentage of this town's businessmen co-operated in an effort to improve the town from an economic, industrial or social point of view.

Germain Filion acted as chairman for the election of officers.

Georges Beaulieu, in presenting the treasurer's report for the past year, remarked that all indications pointed to a most progressive year, in view of the fact that almost 120 members had been re-enrolled as members of the Chamber of Commerce for another year.

6-Year-Old Child Struck by Auto

Late last Friday afternoon, six-year-old Calvin Morrow suffered a fractured arm and other painful injuries when struck by an automobile driven by Kenneth Hanbridge, of Peterborough, Ont., in front of his home on the Ottawa River Road above Carillon.

Calvin and his elder brother, who attend the St. Andrews East School, had disembarked from E. C. Calder's school bus at the corner where the Monalea monty joins Route 29, and started across the road. Seeing the two children, the driver of the automobile sounded his horn. They hesitated in the centre of the road and then ran in opposite directions. The car swerved to the left to miss one, but hit the other child, carrying him a considerable distance before coming to a stop. The child was immediately brought here to Dr. F. W. FitzGerald's office, in the school bus. After examining the patient and administering first aid, the physician ordered the child removed to the Royal Victoria Hospital, where according to latest reports he is progressing favorably.

SHOOT WILD DOGS

Galt, Ont. (CP) — Dogs caught running deer will be shot on sight, E. R. Meadows, district game inspector, warned. Two dogs — one a black fox hound — were reported to have chased a deer several miles until it was exhausted and killed it.

Death-Defying 'Demon of the Air', Veteran Showman Comes Back Home

CAPT. MARCHAND QUITS BRIGHT LIGHTS, SETTLES DOWN TO SERIOUS BUSINESS

The glamor of the show business is fascinating — to the outsider looking in. How lastingly it appeals to those who earn their livelihood that way, is open to conjecture. A ceaseless round of performances — packing and unpacking — ever on the move among new scenes, new faces — the gay routine must doubtless pall upon those who follow the roadshow trail. To them the sense of home and family life, the very stablizing stakes of society, are but an idle, perhaps an enviable, dream.

But some of the veterans break away, some come home to roost. And that is literally true in the case of one now in Lachute, "Captain" Oscar Marchand, daredevil diver and exponent of varied saleable gifts and talents. Born in this town, most of his 45 years have been spent in the fanfare and floodlight of the travelling shows. . . With his wife he has now "retired" and settled in Lachute; born here, he professes he will "die here too". In the meantime, however, he has opened a clothes-pressing business, specializing particularly in a quick valet service to hotel guests.

OSCAR MARCHAND

Photographed at Aldershot, England, during service with the Canadian Army.

Marchand's recollections in showmanship carry him back to many places on this continent. His performance is known to thousands of local fair-goers, for he has appeared several times at the Lachute Exhibition plunging from a slim ladder 100-odd feet high into a flaming tank only six feet deep. (If you think it's a foolproof feat, calculated and automatic — well, maybe; but just try it sometime!) . . With this stunt Marchand has headlined in box-car letters, all the way from Dallas, Texas, to Belmont Park. The "death defying ace", the "demon of the air" . . . associating with equestriennes, jugglers, hypnotists, Siamese twins, all the freaks and paragons of humanity. As "P. P. Barnum's $10.000 Physical Wonder", Marchand went on exhibition remaining seven days and seven nights in a sealed coffin without food — so says a colorful handbill among his souvenirs. As the "youngest clairvoyant on earth" he enlisted numerous clients in distress and in joyful anticipation of what's next. And with his muscular physique he has attracted google-eyed young admirers. . . It has been a varied scene, a colorful story, climaxed by Oscar Marchand's war service overseas, where he served in England, Africa and Italy with the Canadian troops. In this role he was an N.C.O. In an earlier period of his career he held a captaincy in virtue of his appointment as cadet instructor at St. John's, Que.

He's still a showman, Oscar Marchand. Although retired to a more prossic calling as suit-presser par excellence, his stature betrays a certain fitness, his speech suggest the confidence of self-salesmanship. As a business figure, with his wife a partner in his newest venture, he'll probably make good . . there's little doubt he'll measure up in service, as Johnny-on-the-spot.

Attending Q.W.I. Inst. Educational Course At Macdonald College

Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield, and Mrs. Wm. Fletcher, of Brownsburg are W. I. county delegates attending a short course in Leadership Training at Macdonald College. The session, lasting from May 10 to 14, was arranged by Quebec Women's Institutes in co-operation with the College, and is designed to "train Institute members to take an active and intelligent lead in furthering the work of this organization".

It's not more plans we need but more application of the plans we have.

Gatineau LINES

Quebec people have been pioneers in the development of electricity from water power with the result that today about 60 per cent of Canada's installed capacity of 10,000 horsepower is developed in this Province. Quebec's leadership in this field goes back into the early history of electricity.

Quebec Pioneers

One of the first high-voltage transmission lines in the world was put into operation in this Province between the Batiscan River and Trois-Rivieres — a distance of 17 miles— just half a century ago. To the City of Quebec belongs the distinction of being among the first cities of the world to light its streets with electricity.

Advantages

In the half century since old Quebec pioneered in electrical street lighting, tremendous developments have occurred. Good street lighting is now within the reach of every city and town in the Dominion. So accustomed have we become to good lighting that we sometimes forget the advantages it offers. It makes streets attractive and safe; it makes communities more prosperous, because it attracts tourists and enables stores to remain open, stimulates business, makes shopping more attractive and convenient; it aids in the prevention of crime and accidents which are normal hazards of darkness.

Municipally-Owned

The method of distributing power for street lighting varies considerably. Gatineau supplies power and operates the lighting system in some cities, towns and villages in its territory. A few of the other centres operate their own systems. Hull, for example, has a Municipal lighting system. The street lighting system is owned by the Municipality. It operates on electricity supplied by the Municipality from its own plant on Brewery Creek.

Although electricity is somewhat new in the present-day world, equipment and methods can become obsolete and inefficient as fast as they do in any other industry. It is only through constant effort to improve service and equipment that we can enjoy the full measure of satisfaction to which our natural resources and human enterprise entitle us.

Protection for the Home Apple Orchard

In order to grow clean tree fruits it is necessary to apply a series of sprays, each application being made at a definite time. In this article a spray program is given for apples. The schedule is intended for use by the small orchardist or home gardener and not for the commercial fruit grower.

Although the amount of spray needed per tree will vary, it may be helpful to suggest the approximate quantity of spray which will be required per tree. Trees two or three years old in full foliage will require about one half gallon of spray per tree. Trees five years old, about three times this amount. Apple trees fifteen years old will require ten to fifteen gallons per tree per application, and other kinds of fruit trees roughly half this amount. Older apples, pears and sweet cherries will require considerably more spray per tree than is needed at the fifteen-year level.

Applications should be timely and thorough, and every effort should be made to cover the foliage completely with the spray. The centre and tops of the trees should be given special attention. A fine mist type of spray is highly desirable.

Schedule

First Spray (Dormant Spray), for diseases San José scale and oyster shell scale: Dry Lime Sulphur —10 heaping tablespoons to one gallon, or 15 lbs. to 50 gallons of water. Apply when the trees are dormant before the buds swell in spring. This spray only required in areas where scale insects troublesome. . Alternate, Emo-Nik (Green Cross), 10 level tablespoons to one gallon, or 2 gallons spray to 50 gallons of water. . . . Apply in same manner.

Second Spray (Pre-Pink Spray), for chewing insects and apple scab: Dry Lime Sulphur, 3 heaping tablespoons to one gallon water, or 4 lbs. to 50 gallons. And Arsenate of Lead, 2½ level tablespoons to one gallon, or 2 lbs. to 5 gallons. . . Apply when the blossom buds begin to show.

Third Spray (Pink Spray), for chewing insects and scab: same mixture, same proportions as for second spray. . . Apply when the fruit buds are showing pink at tips.

Fourth Spray (Calyx Spray), for scab and coddling moth: same mixture, same proportions . . . Apply when nearly all blossoms (flower petals) have fallen.

Fifth Spray, for scab, apple maggot, and coddling moth: same mixture, same proportions. . . Apply four weeks after fourth spray.

A lot of misdirected energy will be expended in early lawn rolling this spring, in many cases with sad results.

It is a mistake to roll the lawn while it is still soggy. Rolling when a lawn is too wet packs the earth so hard that it injures the turf. Hard-packed earth will bake when dry; hot weather sets in, making it difficult for grass to survive.

Do not roll the lawn until you have first raked away all twigs, dead grass and leaves. If dead leaves are rolled into the lawn they will be hard to remove and will smoother the grass, leaving the lawn pock-marked.

When conditions are right, several light rollings at weekly intervals are better than one too heavy rolling at the wrong time. Always roll the lawn in alternating directions.

Grass can be made to thrive in the shade zone around trees if ample food and water is furnished. This need is important for grass under trees because the tree roots have first call on the available soil nourishment and water.

Fill all depressions in the lawn with new topsoil and add additional topsoil to the rest of the lawn for good measure. If this top dressing can be obtained from a compost pile, so much the better.

Build up the lawn so that there is a gentle slope of grass near large tree trunks. This will prevent accumulation of water which may drown out the grass.

Moss in the lawn is an indication of poor drainage. In order to eradicate this moss, either improve the drainage or else apply nitrate of soda.

Male Choir at Rotary Evening

The Rotary Club at their meeting last Thursday had as their guests the Brownsburg male choral group, under the direction of Warner Norman. Mr. Norman was introduced by Rotarian Russell Graham.

Being a prominent choir leader and organist, Mr. Norman is keenly interested in the promotion of choral work. When approached with the suggestion that he direct a local group who desired training and leadership, he responded immediately, and found time to organize this male choir which, in the rendering of songs last Thursday night, gave a very creditable performance, and a satisfactory compliment to the tuition of their director.

Mr. Norman spoke briefly of his interest in choral work. He pointed out that in chorus singing, good voices, not necessarily outstanding voices but true singing voices, were the prime necessity. Secondly, those with the ability to read music were a valuable asset. The singers were classified, and as a third procedure leading individual voices were selected from each grouping. In choir work he stressed the importance of a "full attack" and close attention to the leader's direction.

The choral group sang Brahms' "Lullaby", "Men of Harlech", "Heigh-ho, Come to the Fair" and "Song of the Jolly Roger". The director evidenced a complete control, bringing out the desired expression among the various parts.

Upon request, Mr. Norman played two piano solos, Chopin's "Polonaise" followed by Debussy's beautiful "Claire de Lune".

Rotarian Jim Finlayson thanked Mr. Norman and his group for being present and affording such pleasant entertainment, and also voiced appreciation for the director's leadership in this aspect of community culture.

Farming Adventure Is Race Against Time

London — Seventeen farmers have combined with engineers to undertake a big reclamation scheme on the East Coast of Britain, which will win 1,400 acres of new arable land from the sea. In a race against time and tide, they have set themselves the task of building a sea wall 5½ miles long in 17 weeks. The whole success of this farming adventure depends on completing the wall in time to prevent the high equinoctial tides next September from flooding the land to be reclaimed. The scheme is being carried out in Lincolnshire on the north coast of The Wash. At present the land is a desolate stretch of salt marsh which is covered by the sea to a depth of several feet at high tides each spring and autumn.

CONSUMER RESISTANCE

When the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, the valley's largest milk-marketing co-op, notified the provincial cabinet they were opposed to a projected two-cent-a-quart increase in the price of milk, it was good news to consumers. Consumer resistance to all price boosts had stiffened considerably in recent months.

Your Responsibility

CANADIANS are going to hear a great deal about politics in the next few weeks.

With elections set or rumored in several provinces, a new Dominion Liberal leader to be chosen, and the United States campaign in full swing, professional and amateur prophets are busy picking winners on both sides of the border.

The American presidential campaign can be of only secondary interest to us, but many Canadians have their favorite among the candidates for nomination to the presidential race. They'll be rooting for Truman or Stassen or Taft almost as strongly as they would for a home-grown party leader.

In Canadian elections, however, we have a greater responsibility than the casual choice of a candidate because he has an engaging smile or a good radio voice. There's a duty to study the platforms of the various parties, assess the worth of the man nominated and, most of all, to get out and vote.

It used to be the rule, particularly in rural communities, for almost everyone to attend political meetings. Now it's so much easier to read about it in a newspaper, that comparatively few attend. When radios were new, speeches by the candidates were among the most popular programs. Now many switch to a dance band or a popular comedian.

People who are inclined to take their political responsibilities lightly should reflect on what has happened in countries where the masses have been too easily led. The people end up, as our American friends say, behind the eight-ball.

In this happy land that seems impossible. One way to keep it impossible is to take an interest in politics. Learn what the platforms of the parties are. We don't expect parties to accomplish everything they promise. In an election competition the tendency is to over-promise. But we should learn in what direction they are moving — and choose the party we think is going the right way.

There's something to be said, too, for voting for the man rather than the party. No candidate can commit himself on all possible contingencies and it's a good idea to elect a man who can think for himself. Seek out the man with ability, and shun the one who wants the job only for what there is in it for him.

Down But Not Out

DIVISION bells rang merrily in the Senate last week and out slid the margarine issue — still carrying the ban nailed to it 62 years ago.

For Senator W. D. Euler (L—Ontario) who wanted to pull the nail out, it meant his third try in three years and his third defeat. . . In 1946 his bill to end the prohibition on the substitute was rejected by a vote of 43 to 30. In importation, manufacture and sale of the butter 1947, an identical bill was rejected 38 to 22. This time the record was 35 to 21.

Senator Euler said the margarine issue would place the Senate of Canada on trial because of the principle involved — a principle of democratic right to free choice, free enterprise and free competition. "If we defeat this bill", he told the upper chamber, "the reaction of the people will be unfortunate and regrettable".

Senator Euler, however, scoffed at the idea margarine was "political dynamite". Fears of "political effects" from repeal of the ban were "unfounded or at least not serious". He spoke of two groups in the Senate: those who are determined that "we shall never have margarine" and those who believe in "the principle underlying the bill". His appeal went out to the second group to act on the "freedom principle" because the consumers of Canada "will not accept blindly this repeated denial of their democratic rights".

But margarine has not disappeared entirely from the parliamentary scene. Another try at allowing it in Canada will be made by James Sinclair (L—Vancouver North) in the Commons. His bill, similar to Senator Euler's, may be put to a vote on second reading in two or three weeks.

City Youth Soft, Say Prospectors

North Holds Opportunities For Those Willing to Work

Montreal (CP) — Thar's gold in them thar hills but it's the soft life of the towns that's keeping young men from going north and striking it rich.

That was the observation of veteran prospectors C. W. Bidgood and Mike Mitto who have just come out of the north where they live in Val d'Or, Que.

Fifty-two-year-old Mike, who came to Canada from his Russian birth-place as a youth of 17, said: "They all want to sit around town, drinking coke and going to dances. Just fun they want".

They admit that the prospector's life is full of disappointments but rich finds have been staked in the past and someone is sure to stumble on others. Bidgood, 34, followed his father into the north as a boy from their Haileybury, Ont., home and together they staked out the Bidgood mine at Kirkland Lake, Ont.

"Opporttunities are good", Bidgood said. "You can't miss if you're willing to work—and suffer poor grub, black fly bites and worse".

One of the difficulties facing the prospector is getting financial backing. "They're starving prospectors today", says Bidgood. "Every day we've got to be hunting for people willing to back us. It takes money—equipment alone may require $5,000—and then you need canoes, tents and food".

Last year he was backed by a New York syndicate and staked out a claim in the Arctic but he figured the cost of his airplane and pilot at $10,000.

DISTILLED THOUGHTS

— By M. V. Trayers —

"This Was My Choice"

A Canadian weekly newspaper last week carried a story entitled "The Man Behind the Miracle". Under the caption of the article there was a blank space of clear white paper two columns wide, where a photograph of the subject of this article should have been reproduced, but the paper was not allowed to publish it. Underneath the blank space an inscription read: "We have left this gaping void to bring home to our readers how, for fear of a foreign murderer, we cannot publish a picture of a Canadian citizen in Canada over whose life the Canadian Government watches day and night through the vigilance of a special Royal Canadian Mounted Police guard, while we extend 'normal diplomatic privileges and courtesies' to those whom we know to be criminally inclined.

"This Canadian citizen has published a book which for nerve tingling suspense and the cold, calculating drama of reality cannot be approached by the most studied works of fiction. The first paragraph of the introduction reads: 'A man is living with his family in Canada under close and constant Royal Canadian Mounted Police guard. Only a few high government and police officials know what dot on the map of Canada represents his home. He goes under an alias, and perhaps in disguise. Strict security regulations forbid reproduction of his photograph, a detailed description of him or any hint as to where he may be found'."

How many people realize that the story of Ignor Gouzenko is both a warning and a challenge! He revealed a danger when our vigilance over our freedoms was flagging. He risked his life and that of his family when he went into the secret room of the Soviet Embassy at Ottawa and stuffed his shirt with over one hundred documents and walked downstairs wondering if some of the smaller ones would not slip down the leg of his pants or show their presence to the Russian secret police which stood guard at the door. He must have breathed a sigh of relief when he got out. Then his period of tribulation before he could get anyone to pay any attention to him. "This Was My Choice", by Igor Gouzenko . . . It was a hard choice, but a valuable one for Canada.

Unemployment Insurance

Workers with steady employment generally express condemnation of the conditions which force them to contribute to unemployment insurance. They regard it as a donation to the shiftless and indolent. This fact arises from the present sustained full employment cycle which we are experiencing, and would be no doubt quickly revised if any large number of workers were to be thrown out of employment. Recently an employee of an Ottawa car and airplane plant was out of work because his union refused to permit its members to work at a plant where another union had had an unsuccessful strike and where work had been resumed with non-union labor. He applied for benefits under the Unemployment Insurance Act and got it. Section 43 of the Act reads in part: "No insured person shall be disqualified from receipt of benefit by reason only of his refusal to accept employment if by acceptance thereof he would lose the right (b) to continue to be a member and to observe the lawful rules of . . any association, organization or union of workers".

A Western Union

Last week the debate in the House of Commons on Canada's foreign policy introduced some of the most momentous and significant statements on our relations with outside countries and our future mode of dealing in the international sphere ever heard in the Canadian Parliament. The livest political issues of the day — Communism, Jewish demands in Palestine, and economic unions — were frankly met and discussed. One of the most pronounced criticisms of the present government's policies was on its foreign policy, or lack of policy. Of course, Talleyrand the great French minister of Foreign Affairs under Napoleon, once said, "The best foreign policy is no policy". Years ago the late J. W. Dafoe wrote sarcasticially in his Winnipeg paper about Mackenzie King expounding his invisible foreign policy. . . Well, the Minister of Foreign Affairs corrected all that last week. He defined his policy, and there was very little ambiguity or evasion about it. At the very start he said, "It is now, I believe, an accepted fact that practically everything of importance that happens in the international sphere is of interest to Canada — often of direct and immediate interest. For us there is no escape, even if we wish to seek one, in isolation or indifference". As far back as January 22 Mr. Bevin, the British Foreign Secretary, advocated a "Western Union" of Britain, France and Benelux — that is, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg — a sort of "defensive group of free states". Mr. St. Laurent must feel that the Security Council of the United Nations "has become frozen in futility and divided by dissension", as he once expressed it, because he too favored a "Western Union".

"It may be", said Mr. St. Laurent, "that the free states, or some of them, will soon find it necessary to consult together on how best to establish such a collective security league. It might grow out of plans for western union, it would create a dynamic counter - attraction to Communism — the counter-attraction of a free, prosperous and progressive society as opposed to the totalitarian and reactionary society of the Communist world".

During the debate one of the members referred to Lake Success as Lake Failure. . It might well be.

The boss returned from lunch in high fettle and called in the whole statff to listen to a couple of jokes he had picked up. Everybody but one girl laughed uproariously.

"What's the matter?" grumbled the boss. "Haven't you got a sense of humor?"

"I don't have to laugh", said the girl. "I'm leaving on Friday, anyhow".

THEY CALL IT "SMULP"

That white sheen which covers the hood and body of the car is thought to be a combination of the pulp (mill) fumes and fog (providing) a continual cleaning job while the fog lasts. . . Vancouver has a name for its fog and smoke — "smog". We give ours the nickname of "smulp".

HELP CANADA'S REFORESTATION PROGRAM

This is tree-planting time in Canada! Thousands of farmers, school children and others who love the land are planting young trees to restore the nation's forest wealth. It's a project in which everyone of us should take a personal interest, for Canada's industrial growth and prosperity stem from her natural resources. Plant one tree . . . or a thousand . . . if you can. Help young trees grow to maturity by protecting them from harm and destruction. Providing for your country's future is a real contribution to "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

To You, the People

Facts About Beautification:

Some 400 Canadian communities from coast to coast are about ready to launch their annual spring Clean-Up, Paint-Up campaign. You probably can think of many benefits to a community drive of this kind. Here are just a few:

—A Clean-Up campaign tends to decrease disease and sickness in a community by destroying breeding places of germs.

—A Clean-Up campaign make a community more attractive to tourists, tends to result in tourists "stopping over" instead of driving right through.

—A Clean-Up campaign reduces fire hazards, with a consequent tendency to reduce fire department costs and fire insurance rates.

—A Clean-Up campaign gives a boost to local community pride which results in more pleasant, more contented living.

—A Clean-Up campaign advertises a community as a progressive one, a good place to live or to visit, a good place to do business.

WOULD PROTECT SNAKES

Winnipeg (CP) — Indiscriminate killing has enormously reduced Manitoba's reptile population in 20 years, L. T. S. Norris-Elye, director of the provincial museum, said here. All snakes in the province were harmless and of great benefit to mankind, but they were killed by almost anyone who ran across them, he remarked.

POLITICAL NOTE

It would have indicated greater frankness on Mr. Drew's part and saved a lot of time, if he had omitted his labored explanation of the reason for a general election in the province just now and merely said that he thought this was the best time to have one for the good of the party.

At the last meeting of the council a by-law was passed which is causing quite a furor among the citizens of this town — that all dogs must have a license and must be kept on their own property. No objections have been raised on the first half of this by-law and every dog owner thinks this is a sensible move. However, the majority of citizens feel that it is impossible to keep a dog confined on his owner's property, unless he is tied, which will definitely make a dog cross.

Again, the majority of citizens feel that if the council would see that the speed limits in this village are enforced instead of allowing the cars to travel at 60 miles an hour and endanger the lives of children, to say nothing of the many pets that have been killed, it would be to a greater advantage.

It seems too bad that the council have lost the confidence of the villagers over this petty affair, who after all placed them in their present positions. Gratitude however should be given to those councillors who turned in a negative vote.

Northland Couple Live by Trapping

And Run Profitable Tourist Camp During Summer

Sudbury, Ont. (CP) — Twenty miles from this hustling world-famous nickel - copper mining centre, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Tyson lead a Shangri-La existence in a cosy camp on Tyson Lake's pine-studded shore.

Game abounds, thanks to the three generations of Tysons, who have trapped in this area for more than 100 years. But this care is not confined to limited trapping — it also concerns a continuous war on wolves. Six wolf pelts, half of Mr. Tyson's catch this year, hang outside the camp. His all-time total is 78.

Week-long inspections of 70-mile trapping lines for beaver in winter and muskrats in spring keep the Tysons busy. Mink, otter and red foxes add to the profitable catch. In summer they operate a tourist camp where Mrs. Tyson cooks (she doesn't like it) while Mr. Tyson guides fishing parties and attends camp needs.

Thirteen years as a trapper's wife with few visitors in winter have not dulled Mrs. Tyson's ardor for outdoor life.

"It's a life you can't get tired of for there is something new every day", Mrs. Tyson said. "I loved it right from the start".

Andy's grandfather, Miles Tyson, came from England more than a century ago to Tyson Lake. He built a cabin on the site of the present camp and made a deal with the Indians, who allowed him to trap in certain areas. His son, John Tyson, traps in a neighboring township within five miles of Andy's trap line at one point, but father and son rarely meet.

Mrs. Tyson has developed some unusual recipes for preparing beaver-tail soup, snapping-turtle soup, roast beaver, muskrat and bear, despite her aversion for cooking. As an appetizer, she offers her own objective — 10 cords of wood cut by spring.

Civic Beautification Is Good Citizenship

By GORDON E. PALLANT, National Chairman, Canadian Beautification Campaign of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce

There is little doubt that an independent reviewer of Canadian news during 1947 would choose the coming into effect of the Canadian Citizenship Act as the event-of-the-year.

Far reaching, deeply searching in its underlying significance, the formal Canadianizing of every eligible man, woman and child in the Dominion has — possibly unknowingly to some of us — brought into focus for the first time the greatness of our past and, even nicer to think about, a design for the future.

During recent years, particularly those of the second World War, we in Canada have won the respect of other nations, but the respect of others, no matter how great, means little unless we have respect for ourselves and for our nation. Our love, faith and pride for and in Canada must be the common ground upon which we meet; we must all be good citizens.

Good citizenship is, in effect, a lot of little things among which we might group: consideration for the other fellow's opinion; doing unto others as we would have them do unto us; working for a better standard of living; eliminating narrow, provincial thinking; working for a more properous and beautiful Canada.

Many communities today find themselves facing problems caused by urban blight directly traceable to enforced neglect due to the war, to shortages of material and to neighborhood changes. Homes, and in many cities whole neighborhoods, are becoming so shabby and deteriorating so rapidly that many sections are slowly but surely sinking into the slums of tomorrow.

Evidence of this deteriorated condition in every city is found in a recent survey made by the National Association of Real Estate Boards of 200 typical cities, which shows that nearly one-third of the privately owned lands within the corporate limits of a city is wasted, vacant lots. According to this survey, slum and blighted areas make up 20% of the metropolitan residential areas and they account for:

33% of the population	50% of disease
45% of major crimes	35% of fires
55% of juvenile delinquency	45% of city service costs
50% of arrests	6% only of real estate tax revenues.
60% of T.B. victims

However, not all cities and towns can afford to set up elaborate and expensive City Planning Commissions, nor can many cities count on any existing means whereby all concerned can conviently get together, and make up their collective minds about community development.

Each year in the Spring, housewives look ahead with some apprehension to the annual Spring Clean-Up, but tradition dies hard. Come March winds and April showers, then the advent of warm May days, and the atmosphere is charged with the hum of the vacuum cleaner, the squeak of the sueegee, and the swish of the scrubbing brush. Taking their cue from the energetic chatelaine, service clubs and similar organizations have been welded together by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada for the purpose of conducting an annual Beautification Campaign. This year the dates of the Campaign are from May 17th to May 29th, and it will be inaugurated with a broadcast over the Trans-Canada network.

Readers may be wondering just how these observations tie in with citizenship. Well, when we are beautification conscious, we develop a respect for property, we have a desire to participate in better community housekeeping, and we improve our standard of living. Civic Beautification Campaigns are an opportunity for everyone in the community to enlist actively in a movement which demonstrates that "Good Citizenship is Good Business", and brings benefits to everybody.

Good civic housekeeping is a necessity to any community's welfare and while many people have civic pride and automatically keep their property in first-class condition, there are, unfortunately, thousands of others "willing to let things slide", and unless prodded into it, will not do anything to better their own living, and thus in turn better the community.

There is an excellent Dutch proverb which covers this situation very well: "If each before his dooryard sweeps, the village will be clean".

Beautification Campaigns taking place each year are serious endeavors by various groups of civic-minded people through publicity, and good example, to encourage and stimulate all members of our various neighborhoods to accept the responsibilities of their Canadian citizenship, and to do their part in the creation of a healthier, safer and more prosperous place to live.

Many things can be done during the campaign, such as having streets and alleys cleaned up and repaired, and thereafter kept in good condition. Municipal Works Departments are constantly striving to this end and we should all help them by throwing cigarette packets, candy wrappers and other refuse into rubbish boxes, instead of on streets and in lanes.

Vacant grounds can be converted into home gardens. Everyone in the community, including boys and girls from the schools, could gather up the junk in the vacant lots — the tin cans, paper, weeds and other rubbish, and have it carted away.

I learned recently that a piece of waste land and a heap of builders' junk means a thrilling play-park to the children of Morden, near London. But it means more than that . . it's an answer to the people who are worried about children playing in the streets, dodging traffic and perhaps drifting into the juvenile courts.

To a large extent a community's fate is in the hands of all its people. In any community, as with an individual, objective self-appraisal, unremitting search for larger opportunities, and the ability to "get things done" are the avenues to development and success.

More Municipal Taxes in U.S.A.

In the United States there appears no lack of ingenuity in devising new sources of municipal revenue. Faced with a five million dollar budget deficit, Chicago City Council has imposed a three per cent tax on admissions to virtually all types of public entertainments. This is estimated to produce three and a half million dollars a year. Retail liquor license fees were increased $25 semi-annually to raise $500,000 additional, and new or increased license fees were placed on 148 businesses and occupations to raise $775,000 a year more. A new hotel inspection fee of $2 a year per room for hotels with 10 or more rooms will raise $250,000 a year.

It has been truly said, "the wealth of a nation is in its youth." If we are to survive we must see that our youth receive the very best in education so that they may be fully prepared for the needs to tomorrow. Remember, someone paid for our education when we were children, it is only right we should pay for the education of today's children.

R.C.A.F. Maritime Station Gets Radar

Halifax (CP) — Ground control approach, a radar system to assist aircraft in making landings in limited visibility, soon will be added to Eastern Air Command's widening facilities for search and rescue work, it was announced here.

The system, used extensively by the Canadian group of Bomber Command during the war, will be installed during the summer at the Annapolis Valley Grenwood Airport.

Only one airport in Canada, at Edmonton, Alta., at present is equipped with the service although it was installed on an experimental basis at several bases following the war.

Controlled by an operator in the station's flight tower, the mechanism guides aircraft through fog and also is pressed into service in the event of power failure in the runway lighting.

Two long-range converted Lancaster bombers, equipped with the latest radar facilities, were added to the strength of the Greenwood base recently. Another Lancaster, already on order, is expected to be assigned to the nerve centre of Maritime rescue operations this year.

The R.C.A.F. search and rescue unit now is composed of 10 aircraft, a helicopter and several crash boats.

"I warmly commend the Boy Scout Movement for its admirable work in developing a high sense of honor and public spirit among the youth of Canada and in all countries where the Scout Movement is established.

"By training boys in the habits of loyalty, obedience, helpfulness to others, courtesy and resourcefulness, and above all, by developing in them the habit of working together for worthy ends, the Boy Scout Movement contributes greatly towards the making of good citizens.

"MY WEEK"

By R. J. DEACHMAN

Spring is here, in Ottawa. It was warm today, and coming down town after lunch I saw a little girl on a piece of fresh grass pick up two dandelions and hold them up to me in her tight little hands. I said, "Nice aren't they?" and she said, "Yes, pretty". The speech was brief and to the point but the look in her face told me that she knew they were indeed magnificent.

It is interesting these days to pick up a number of different papers across Canada — samples of what people read. Do the readers make the papers, or the editors? Some of these are gay, some are serious, some are worried about world problems, but always, here and there, there is a touch of light. I ran across this one in the Saturday, May 1, issue of the Edmonton Journal:

"At a recent banquet of Henry Wallace supporters, the charge was $100 a plate, obviously not the 'century of the common man'."

The hundred dollar banquets which our American friends bring forward in election years are really gentle ways of contributing to campaign funds. In this country we would be rather suspicious of such a thing and a $100 per plate dinner might hurt both old political parties — it would ruin the C.C.F! The Social Creditors might get away with it—money comes easier to them. We are rather fond of plain living and high thinking so far as our political life is concerned. Sometimes we get both and sometimes we get neither, that is the way of this world; it's not a wicked world, even at that!

We had a Drama Festival lately in Ottawa and a Ukrainian girl, Miss Olga Landiak of the London Little Theatre, won first prize as the best actress. A French group, the Cercle Molière of Winnipeg, won the first prize for the best French play "La Donation", and Les Compagnons of Montreal won high praise for their presentation "Antigone" directed by Father Legault. Then sometime ago we had a Musical Festival here and a colored gentleman, a porter on the C.N.R. with a fine baritone voice won high praise for his singing. . . Well, they were all Canadians. Competition gives strength to life. These people won because they deserved to win. We should have more competitions along these lines.

A good friend of mine suggested to me the other day that high salaries such as some of our big executives receive give those who are on ordinary salaries a feeling of frustration. I was sorry to hear it. Let us compare two ways of doing things: A competitive society, with some prizes which reach high levels and with others getting comparatively little — or a society in which none went above the dead average and no matter how anyone contributed there would be no special rewards.

Well, here's something to think over. In one of our great American corporations if the top executives were cut to the level of the best workers it wouldn't raise the wages of the workers by so much as two packages of cigarettes a month. If we divided the extra which goes to those who reach the top, there would be many industries in which it would not add $10 per year to the average worker — it might reduce it by more than that. The point is this: there are men who are capable of organizing, expanding and developing a business. The world would be a great deal poorer if these men did not exist — so too would be the workers in Canadian industry.

Publish Two Quebec Vacation Maps

To encourage travel in Quebec's vacation playgrounds and among its historical sites, Brading's Capital Brewery Limited of Ottawa has just published through its Quebec Distributors, Canadian Breweries (Quebec) Limited, two four-colored animated vacation maps.

These maps, the second and third in a series which began with the publication of the Brading's vacation map of the Ottawa Valley and the Gatineau, feature the regional attractions of Montreal, the Laurentians and the Eastern Townships in one map; and the lower St. Lawrence and the Saguenay in the other. They illustrate the vacation areas, the main roads, rivers, lakes and railways, as well as international bridges, ferries, golf courses, and location of the chief industries of the Province.

One of Canada's leading artist - cartographers, Stanley Turner, well-known for his historical paintings and illustrated maps, was selected by Brading's to design these attractive maps. The maps are captioned and titled in French, and they portray the history of the Province of Quebec in accurate period drawings, historical notes and other data of interest to tourists and visitors. The maps were edited by Clifford W. Hale and d'E. Panet-Raymond.

Brading's vacation maps are being distributed to hotels, resorts, information bureaus, Chambers of Commerce, all ports of entry into Quebec, as well as transportation and travel agencies, to assist them in directing the U.S. tourist and other visitors while travelling in this province. An extensive distribution of the maps is also planned in U.S. cities and towns in states adjacent to the Quebec border, as well as in other Canadian provinces.

BROTHERS FOUND RICH COAL SEAM ON FAMILY FARM

Colliery in Alberta Produced 324,000 Tons in 18 Years, Good for another 20 Years

Namao, Alta. (CP) — One summer's day about 18 years ago, two young farmers strolled into a coulee that cut through the family farm near here, nine miles north of Edmonton.

Their eyes came to rest for a moment on dull black "rocks" on the bank. They investigated more closely. They decided they had discovered a coal outcropping.

That was in 1929. Since then the farm has produced more than 324,000 tons of domestic coal from a rich eight-foot seam of semi-bituminous grade. It is probably one of the deepest "plowings" in agricultural history, and one of considerable profit too. Neither frost, drought nor hail can rob the farmer of his fruits of labor.

It is estimated the same seam will continue to produce good coal at the same rate for another 20 years. Top production is at the rate of 20 tons a day, and mining is carried on at a depth of about 80 feet. The two farmers who discovered the coal outcropping and who later made coal their most profitable crop are Ken and Earl Samis.

The mine is known today as Samis Collieries. It employs 23 miners and is operated all the year round. It is rated as one of the dryest, cleanest and most gas-free of all the coal mines of northern Alberta.

"No one has been killed or even seriously injured in our mine since the day it opened", said Ken Samis recently.

When the brothers decided to try their hands at mining right on the old family homestead, they engaged a qualified pit boss.

Owners Worked Too

Ken and three brothers went to work. They sank the shaft, built a tipple, cut and put in mine props. Later they went down into the mine with picks and shovels and found at first hand what a back-breaking job digging coal really is.

Two brothers still work in the mine. Ken Samis himself is down below nearly every day, despite his position as owner-manager. For several years the mine scarcely paid its way. But the brothers hung on, confident they would someday have a payoff.

About six years ago Ken and Earl dissolved their partnership, Earl entering business in Edmonton. The mine now is operating at a profit. It's been a long, hard pull, but Ken Samis considers it was worth the struggle.

As it's a small operation, the mine is not extensively mechanized. There are modern coal-cutting machines and electric power for hoisting and lighting. Nine horses work underground — on an eight-hour day and a five-day week although they've never heard of John L. Lewis.

The pit boss is Elmer Fawcett. The real veteran at Samis Mines is Alex Millones, who's been swinging a pick for 45 of his 65 years. Ken Samis thinks there's another seam of good coal below the one being worked, and soon may test the structures for this. Later he plans to purchase more mining properties and expand his operations.

Moose Jaw, Sask. (CP) — The Moose Jaw chamber of commerce is looking for a moose's jaw bone. Commissioner G. O'Shaughnessy says tourists continually ask to see the moose's jaw after which the city was allegedly named and O'Shaughnessy thinks it might help to have one in his office.

Well Known Radio Announcer

Earl Cameron, chief news announcer at the CBC's Toronto studios, whose voice is heard on the noon-time CBC news and the National News Bulletin at 10 p.m. He also announces various other news broadcasts and, as he says, "anything else that comes along". Cameron began his radio career in 1939 as an operator in Moose Jaw. From operator he graduated to announcer, chief announcer, writer and commercial manager. But his first love was announcing, and 1943 found him doing just that at a Winnipeg station. The following year he joined the CBC's Toronto staff.

SPRING-TIME IN ENGLAND

Its spring-Time in old England,
And hearts across the foam
Are longing for old England,
From many a distant home.

The hedges in old England,
Are bright with Springtime flowers,
The larks in dear old England
Are singing 'bove the towers.

The homes in far off England,
Are storied halls of fame,
Castles of Ancient grandeur
Whence many a legend came.

There's a glory 'bout old England,
Like shining armour bright,
That fires her sons with daring
To e'er defend the right.

So here's to dear old England
Mother land across the sea,
May God forever keep her safe,
Among the strong and free.

"Search the Scriptures" — John 5:39

Gods promise to our first parents in the beautiful garden of Eden.

Obey Me and live. Disobey Me and Thou shalt surely die. Gen. 2:17.

The wages of sin is death. Romans 6:23.

Satan said. Ye shall not surely die. Gen. 3:1-5.

God said to the devil, represented by the serpent, I will put enmity between Thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed, It shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel. Gen. 3:14-15.

This gave a great hope that the great introducer of wickedness, and all those following him, would be destroyed by a Deliver, I thy seed, shall all the families of the earth be blessed. Acts 3:25-26.

Thy seed which is Christ. Galations 3:16.

Isaiah 42:14 Phophesied of Christ Jesus, Behold my servant whom I uphold, Mine Elect, in whom my soul delighteth.

I have put my spirit upon him. He shall bring forth justice to the nations, He will bring forth justice in truth, He will not fail, nor be discouraged Till he hath set justice, And the Isles shall wait for his law.

Zanzibar Bird Develops Liking for Headgear

London (CP) — A bird with an eye for window-dressing and displaying caps has been reported to the Colonial Office from Zanzibar.

Villagers using a narrow footpath were pestered by what they took to be an unknown joker who snatched their caps from their heads as they passed.

The mystery continued until one victim, who felt his cap going, looked up and saw a large bird making off with it. He followed the bird into the bush and saw it perch in a baobab tree.

And there he saw all the missing caps hung neatly, as in a show, on the upper branches.

The report did not say what happened to the bird.

SALUTE TO RAILWAYS

With Canada accepting displaced persons from Europe for introduction into the Canadian way of life, perhaps one of the most advantageous training schools is the railways of the Dominion. One example is the Hudson Bay Railway, whose 500 miles of steel are maintained by many first-generation citizens.

OBITUARY

Cushing Coommunity Mourns Veteran of World War 1.

The Late William Harvey

Cushing residents were saddened recently by the passing of Mr. William Harvey, late of Limavady, Londonderry Co., Ireland — a veteran of World War I, having served his country and the Empire valiantly as a member of the Royal Irish Rifles at that time.

Mr. Harvey emigrated to Canada in 1924 to be followed six months later by his bride-to-be, the former Ruth McLean, of his home town in Ireland.

The late Mr. Harvey was for many years an employee of the C.P.R. — up until the lingering illness that caused his death, part of which time was spent in a Montreal Hospital, and a considerable time later in his Cushing home. This farmstead is also the home of Mr. George Scott and was previously, until about three years ago, the property of the late G. M. Nicholls.

Mr. Harvey, having an interest in the property along with this brother war veteran, moved his wife and son to Cushing about that time. While he continued to serve the C.P.R., yet spending all of his time in Cushing. Mr. Harvey's death occurred on May 3, the funeral service being held in St. Mungo's Church, conducted by the Rev. A. G. Moore. The minister took as the basis for his remarks what he termed the "Stubborn Facts of Life". Beginning with Life itself, as the first essential fact, he briefly defined the four. Suffering, which must come to all, was ranked as the second fact, and Death the third. "This we all must face, but to the believer it means only a brief transition from this world to a better one".

The fourth stubborn fact of Life was God—God whom nobody could deny, God who loved us all, and always stood ready to forgive sinners . . . The closing hymn was "O valiant hearts, who to your glory came, Through dust of conflict and through battle flame", in commemoration of his war service.

The remains were interred in St. Mungo's Cemetery. Pall-bearers were his son, Edward; his brother, Thomas, of Montreal; Mr. G. Scott, of Cushing; also Messrs. R. Jackson, W. Nixon and E. Turner, all of Montreal. The many floral tributes from Cushing and Montreal friends bore silent testimony of the regard in which the deceased was held.

The late William Harvey is mourned by his wife, the former Ruth McLean, and one son, Edward— a daughter and little son having predeceased him some years ago.

Friends from Montreal who attended the funeral were — Mr. and Mrs. E. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. T. Harvey and son Norman, Mr. and Mrs. R. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. A. McAloney, Mr. and Mrs. W. Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. E. Turner and Mrs. Z. Sharpe.

SHARE WITH FARMERS?

Perhaps never in the history of the oil industry have such fine farming areas been exploited as we find in both the Leduc-Calmar and the Stony Plain districts. It has been stated that 800,000 acres will be taken out of agriculture. These farmers should not only be compensated but they should (also) . . . receive a share of the wealth found deep down under their land.

WILL-POWER GIVES CRIPPLE NEW LIFE

Toronto (CP) — More than two years ago doctors shook their heads and decided that 14-year-old Doreen Taylor of suburban Weston would be confined to bed for the rest of her life because of spinal injuries received when she fell 40 feet from a bridge.

But the doctors had not counted on the will power which enabled Doreen to take her first steps on crutches recently.

Thus by sheer courage the pretty, blue-eyed girl has begun a new phase of her life which will enable her to take a place in business and society.

After her back was broken in three places and four ribs fractured, she spent eight months in hospital and then was taken home where she lay in bed until last February. In her wheel-chair for a few minutes she took psychological and physical treatment.

She was encouraged to tend to her own needs. Little attentions were gradually withdrawn until now her mother just helps her in and out of the bathtub.

BULLET IN SCHOOLROOM

Kingston, Ont. (CP)— Police here warned that the penalty for discharging a firearm in the city is $50 — after a .22 calibre bullet was dug out of the wall of a classroom. Officials thought at first that the bullet, which crashed through a window, was a pellet from an air gun.

'Plan-Over' Meals – Good Food in New Attire

The scorned word "left-overs" is out of date. "Plan-over" has been added to the vocabulary of the successful homemaker. The return engagement of cooked food should not be greeted with derision but welcomed as a good friend in new attire.

Every good cook has several new tricks up her sleeve. These are particularly apt when there are bits of food not used at one meal which must appear again later.

Sometimes, however, the efficient manager will cook double quantities of food deliberately planning to cook once and eat twice. This saves time, energy and often fuel. Frequently the casserole dish or dessert is richer and more appetizing than when served the first day. There are many delicious seasonings and sauces to trim up the same food in different ways.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Ottawa, give suggestions for using up every scrap of food, making it into dishes that are attractive and delectable. Sometimes there is just a little meat. If stretched it will serve two.

Meat Souffle

3 Tablespoons fat, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 3 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs, 1 egg separated, ½ cup cooked meat (ground), salt and pepper to taste.

Melt fat in top of double boiler, Add milk slowly and stir constantly until very thick. Add crumbs, beaten egg yolks and meat to sauce. Mix well and season to taste. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Turn into 2 well-greased custard cups. Steam 35 to 40 minutes or until a silver knife, inserted in the centre, comes out clean. Yield: two servings.

Vegetable Meat Salad

2 Cups chopped cooked meat, 3 radishes sliced, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, ¼ cup chopped green onion, ¼ cup chopped green pickle, ½ cup drained canned tomatoes, ½ teaspoons vinegar, ½ cup salad dressing.

Mix all ingredients. Chill. serve on crisp lettuce. Yield: six servings.

This salad allows for any number of variations. Cucumber, raw tomatoes, raw or cooked vegetables or grated cheese may be substituted or added as desired.

Farina Crumb Dessert

½ Cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cocoa, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 1 cup cooked farina, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1¼ cups cake crumbs.

Combine the sugar, cocoa and salt. Gradually stir in the milk. Add the beaten egg, cooked farina and vanilla. Stir in the cake crumbs. Pour into a greased casserole or pudding dish. Bake in a moderately slow oven, 325°F., for one hour. Yield: six servings.

Q.W.I.'s Entering Farm Home Contest

Members of the Quebec Women's Institutes are showing keen interest in the contest sponsored by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. Some startling facts on farm housing conditions were revealed in the published reports of the Dominion Government Advisory Committee on Post-War Reconstruction. In an effort to improve this situation the National Housing Act and the Farm Improvement Loans Act were both passed, but providing financial aid was not the whole answer. Plans to meet the special needs and desires of farm families were necessary, and who could offer these suggestions better than the women who live in and manage these homes?

A complete questionnaire is sent to each Branch taking part, which is to be thoroughly discussed, with members free to consult any reference they wish, or any authority on house construction. The answers are to be sent to the Better Farm House Contest, Department of Agriculture, Quebec.

Although national in scope, only local groups within each province will compete with one another. Generous prizes, totalling $400 in each province, are to be awarded, which should provide a further incentive to take part in this contest.

As the contest will soon be over, branches of the Quebec Women's Institutes who have not already done so, should write immediately to Miss Evelyn Walker, Macdonald College, for information and literature.

Corset Firms Agree Tight Lacing Harms

"New Look" Can be Achieved Without Endangering Health

Montreal (CP) — Canadian corset manufacturers agree with British medical authorities on the danger of tight-lacing corsets, F. A. McElwain, president of the Canadian Corset Manufacturers Association, said here.

He was referring to a news report from London that British doctors are planning a campaign against tight-laced corsets, which can cut a woman's life expectancy by 20 or more years.

Manufacturers "are producing foundation garments that tend to whittle in the waistline without extreme lacing, and frequently without any lacing", Mr. McElwain said. New fabrics and styling can help to achieve the "new look" without endangering health, he said.

Recently an official of the British Medical Association told reporters: " 'New look' corsets now on sale are harmless. They merely emphasize the waist and increase the hips by padding. But the danger will come when women start tight lacing".

Action by the British Medical Association was prompted when corsets which depend on tight lacing to reduce the waistline appeared in Paris shops.

HELP! A BODY!

Halifax (CP) — A motorist recently spotted a pair of small legs dangling from an ashcan at the curb. Frantically he called in police with a pulmotor and first aid equipment. The legs belonged to a life-size doll, thrown out during spring house-cleaning.

An Indian named Joe wowed a small Canadian community with his uncanny way of predicting changes in the weather. On a sunny day, along would slink Joe and say: 'Bimeby rain come".

One day it was particularly miserable — rain, wind, cold.

"Joe", inquired a hunter, "When will all this blow away? Bimeby nice day?"

Treated Brown Paper Is Good Boat Covering

Vancouver (CP)—Ordinary brown paper, chemically treated, makes good covering for light boats, says Vic Phillips, one of four brothers — all war veterans — who have gone into boat construction here.

The skiffs, canoes and light power boats they produce in their plants are cheaper and lighter than their conventially built counterparts.

their conventionally built counter- 10 to 16 feet, powered by outboard motors, are built of light cedar. The skeleton frame-work is then covered with as many as 16 layers of processed brown paper, tough and pliable because of the chemical treatment.

The paper is applied as soon as it is removed from the vats — somewhere in between the pulp and paper stages.

The paper layers dry to form a tight skin. Accompanying shrinkage adds to the rigidity of the craft. An adhesive agent in the treatment mixture makes use of glue unnecessary.

"Some people can't believe that a 14-foot boat without cross braces can be seaworthy", said Vic Phillips. "But the treated paper has four times the tensile strength of canvas, the usual covering. Price is also generally lower than that of canvas."

Repairs? "Just a matter of paper-patching", said Vic.

Directors: J. W. L. Tessier, J. J. Seary, E. Ouellette, E. Legault, P. Paquette and J. Lemay.

It was decided to place a team in the Papineau Baseball League which has been formed under president Dr. L. P. Biron, of Montebello and Henri Lapierriere, of Ottawa. The following clubs have entered the League—Hawkesbury, Fassett, Montebello, Alfred, Wendover and Brownsburg.

Sunday, May 9, saw the opening game in Hawkesbury, where the Brownsburg Club won a very decisive victory over last year's champs by a score of 9 to 4. It looks like Manager Morris Danis has a championship club this year, with a few new players who showed up very well for the first time. Maurice Thompson was his old self with 10 strike-outs to his credit, and although the diamond was in poor shape, which is expected at this time of the year, the team played good ball. Fassett will visit Brownsburg this coming Sunday.

Following was the line-up for last Sunday's game: M. Legault, c.; M. Thompson, P.; F. St. Onge, 1B.; R. Summers, 2B.; J. Murdoch, S.S.; W. Tessier, 3B.; L. P. Chartrand, L.F.; K. Simpson, C.F.; B. Petley, R.F.; Utility Pitcher, R. Gagne, Subs. — F. Leroux, B. Tremblay, P. E. Hebert, and G. Lavoie.

Following is the list of league games to be played by Brownsburg this year:

May 9	B'burg at Hawkesbury
May 16	Fassett at B'burg.
May 23	B'burg at Montebello
May 30	Alfred at B'burg
June 6	B'burg at Wendover
June 13	Hawkesbury at B'burg
June 20	B'burg at Alfred
June 27	Montebello at B'burg
July 4	B'burg at Fassett
July 11	Wendover at B'burg

WHILE THE IRON'S HOT

A sensible business man knows that the best time to expand his business is when business is good and he has a reasonable chance of getting back his investment. So it would seem to ordinary people that the best time to go after the tourist business is when the tourist business is good.

"Canada's Voice" In War And Peace is Subject at W.I.

Mrs. Edith Clark Describes Interesting Facts Of the CBC International Broadcasting

The study group section of Lachute Women's Institute held their meeting on Tuesday evening in the High School, and as guest speaker they had Mrs. Edith Clark of the CBC International Service, who gave her listeners some highlights of the history and service of this important radio enterprise.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. C. L. Duncan, convener, and Mrs. Clark after expressing her pleasure of being present at the meeting said in part:

"It is unfortunate that the average Canadian citizen cannot easily pick up the programs of the CBC International Service which is daily making friends for Canada in all countries of the world.

"But since this organization is Canada's nationally-owned shortwave system, meaning your shortwave service, it is important that you should know something of its history and its activities.

"The CBC was only a year old when, in 1937, it was first urged to start an international shortwave broadcasting service. During the five years that followed, the launching of such a project, to be financed by the Government and undertaken by the CBC, was advocated by every House of Commons Special Committee on Broadcasting until on September 18, 1942, the Corporation was finally authorized by Order-in-Council to go ahead with the construction of a powerful shortwave transmitting station and associated programming facilities.

"Canada has also something very definite to contribute to the organization of peace in the world, just as she had something very definite to contribute to the successful prosecution of the war.

"And as one of the leading countries in the world of trade, Canada had to stimulate interest among other nations by the wide distribution of information on her cultural, political and economic life.

"In a little more than two years CBC engineers designed and constructed on the Tantramar Marshes, the reclaimed salt water marshlands which lie between Sackville, N.B. and Amherst, N.S.

"The powerful shortwave transmitting station was constructed in Sackville because this location is as far removed from the effect of the troublesome North Magnetic Pole as is possible in Canada.

"Canada had been taking part in the psychological war on Germany since 1943, by means of broadcasts in German recorded in Canada under the direction of the Wartime Information Board. These broadcasts were beamed to Germany by American and British transmitters. The German staff consisted entirely of German anti-fascist refugees all of whom are now Canadian citizens.

"Since the immediate post-war period, the shortwave program has been modified and expanded steadily with two basic aims in mind: To help promote world peace and reorganization; and to tell the world about this young country of ours.

"The Voice of Canada went on the air with a staff of only a few dozen. In three years it has shot up into a highly complex organization of some 170 full-time employees. The day-to-day job of these people is at or behind the microphones. They include experts in a score of languages, 10 of which are in daily use.

"Commonwealth broadcasts take in, apart from the United Kingdom, the Caribbean area which has a 45-minute program every evening, and Australia which has a weekly program of one hour and three-quarters for Sunday evening listening in the Southwest Pacific.

"It is important to note that two young girls from Lachute are working permanently in the United Kingdom and Commonwealth Section. Miss Joan McMahon is associated with the Caribbean unit; and Miss Gweneth Clark is with the Australasian unit. Both are secretaries to the senior editors of these units.

"The next international function that the Service will cover is the Canadian International Trade Fair to be held in Toronto from the 29th of this month until June 12th. I have been delegated to attend this Fair, the first of its kind ever held on this continent.

"Many of the 50,000 world trade representatives from 60-odd of the world's leading nations will step into the studio of the CBC International Service at the Coliseum of the Canadian National Exhibition and they will speak to their home countries about the Fair in their own languages.

"I am looking forward not only to meeting these trade representatives, but also to seeing the exhibits which will include, I am told, real South Sea Island sarongs from Java; emeralds from Columbia; Oriental embroideries, silk lingerie and curios from Shanghai; olives and olive oils from Greece; radium from Canada's famous Eldorado mine; Malayan pewter ware and untarnishable metals from Singapore; gems from Siam and Ceylon; carved ivory figurines from Madras; citrus concentrates from Tel Aviv . . . and what is perhaps even more exciting, the twice daily fashion show at which carefully selected Canadian girl models will show off next fall and winter's creations of the world's leading dress and clothing designers.

"Let's return to our Montreal studios. Here we can get the feel of International broadcasting. Listen to some of the voices heard daily in our studios, and heard daily around the world . . .

"This is Canada! Your country and mine! Calling the world!"

Following her address, Mrs. Clark reproduced some interesting recordings of the International Service, and many foreign tongues were heard. She was ably thanked by Mrs. S. Milnes.

Main St. Property Changes Hands

Another main street property has changed hands recently, with the building housing the Quebec Liquor Commission and former Filfe store, being bought by U. Nadon, jeweller, of this town, from Albini Lamarche, the sale having been arranged by Mr. Jules Lamarche, real estate agent of Lachute.

Opening of New Inn

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Murphy announce the opening of the "Clover Leaf Inn", No. 1 Bethany Street, beside Muir's Service Station. Meals and lunches will be served in a modern dining room and rooms are also available. A cordial invitation is extended to visit this new spot.

The interior of the building has been recently redecorated, and considerable expenditure has been made in the purchase of modern kitchen equipment and comfortable furniture for guests. The owners of the establishment have had many years of experience in catering to the public's wants, and this new business will fill a need in this community.

Officers Elected For Golf Club

Golfing in Lachute has now become a popular sport, and it is little to be wondered when one takes a look at the beautiful grounds and building which now entice players from far and near, to participate in this skillful and healthful game.

A great deal of work has been done on the Club House and golf course since last fall. The Pro Shop and Locker Room have been in use for some time now in the new extension. Although considerable work has been done on the nine holes it will likely be late in the summer before the complete 18-hole course can be played on. In the meantime play is going on over the original nine holes which are already in very good shape for this early in the season.

The opening dance of the season is being planned for Saturday evening, June 5.

At a recent meeting of the club the following officers were elected for the ensuing season: — President, Gilbert E. Ayers; vice-pres. Tom Milnes; Directors, Messrs. R. C. Rogers, L. L. Legault, George Tattersfield, Leonard Bedard, Gordon McOuat, C. H. Rhodes, E. M. Jones, J. W. Gall and Laurier Carriere; treas. A. G. Leggett; sec., Chas. L. Duncan; auditors, H. Underhill and P. G. Roy.

Captain, Roger Gravel; assistant captains, Messrs. Ian Gordon, Philippe Valois, Art St. Onge, Jack McIndoe, Jack Reade, Harold Dando and Hugh Kerr; publicity committee, Ord Anderson, chairman; Club Pro., Jack Archer.

C. of C. Holds Executive Meeting

On Monday last the Lachute Chamber of Commerce held their first meeting under direction of the newly appointed officers. Mr. J. B. Menard presided and others present included Gerald W. Walker, vice.-pres.; James L. Lowe, vice.-pres.; André Lefebvre, secretary; Dr. M. Papineau, L. Armstrong, T. Vachon, H. D. Parsons, R. Lagarde and K. W. Clarke, directors.

A program of work is being lined up and various committees, each having its own chairman and secretary will be formed.

Mr. Fernand Legault was named as legal adviser, and Mr. Gabriel Valois, as treasurer.

On Parliament Hill

M. V. TRAYERS

Palestine

Nineteen hunderd years ago Lucis Domintius Nero who was then Roman Emperor and the last of the Caesars sent his legions into Palestine to exterminate the Jews and obliterate Jerusalem. It was then a political and economic backwater, but a tangle of violent chaos devoid of law or order and not susceptible to the marching inroads of civilization even of the Nero kind. On May the 15th — the formal end of the British Mandate — another milestone on the surging, erupting road which is the history of Palestine has been reached and it returns to the chaos of unrest and war from which British rule almost dragged it. In reverting back to what may be termed its natural state it reveals a British acknowledgement of its inability to govern it or teach it self-determination. It also reveals the flaws in the constitution and makeup of the United Nations which during the momentous weeks and days preceding the final abrogation of the British mandate its frantic efforts to provide a solution ended in nought.

Today, a baffling tangle of rival claims and bitterly opposing interests has made it the scene of death and terror "a small green land charged with hatred". Despite all the tragic shortcomings of the British occupation a certain amount of peace and protection and even progress was present. Now, however, a threat of a Holy War lies over the land, so vast and complicated are its implications and so charged the atmosphere of its making that it could engulf several other nations in its bloody carnage.

During the years of its administration the British Government has been blamed by both Jews and Arabs and thanked by none. British soldiers who were there to protect and help were bombed, blasted and shot as representing a power which invaded and occupied the homeland of rival factions which neither history nor tradition could support. On one side a powerful world Zionist movement deeply involved in providing a homeland for the weary stragglers of European Jewry, a remnant of a people which was claimed blasted from Palestine by Nero in the early beginnings of Christianity and now emerging in ragged numbers from the holocast of Hitlers death chambers. On the other side the Arabs from whom the country was taken from the Turks by the League of Nations and given to Britain under mandate, now organized in the Arab League. Stretching from Egypt even to the Moslems of India. Both are claiming a homeland, both are demanding a settlement in keeping with their rising aspirations for self-development and self-determination.

Modern usage and convention and civilization if you like prevent and condemn the method Nero employed in getting rid of a troublesome problem. The British adopted present day methods cried "a plague on both your houses" and left both parties to fight it out to a quiet solution. It would take 100,000 troops to keep law and order in Palestine and there was no possibility of the U.N. producing anything like that amount. Short of giving the land back to the Turks, which might not 28th Convention Of County W.I.

Beautiful weather brought a large representation of members from all ten W.I. branches, of Argenteuil, also many visitors to attend the 28th Annual Convention on Saturday, May 15. The meeting was called to order at 10 a.m. with Mrs. Geo. Leggett, Chairman. Mrs. Leggett said she regretted the circumstances under which she was obliged to take the chair. After the reading of minutes and correspondence by the secretary, conveners' reports were heard. On discussion of the Fair Work to decide which was better, to give a special prize to the branch taking most prizes, or to the one member who had taken the greatest number, it was decided to give a special prize to one member.

Mrs. Leggett congratulated the branches for compiling their own program without an outline, which they usually had. Suggestions for helping county funds were discussed. Miss Evelyn Walker our demonstrator read a letter from Mrs. Conley, Provincial President, in which she asked counties to further the work of School Fairs, and hot lunches.

All branches are requested to enter the Tweedsmuir Competition; send in conveners' reports early, and send all monies to the Provicial Treasurer. Mention was made of the wonderful support given the Canadian Appeal for Children, which would have been more, had all money been forwarded to the Provincial Treasurer. The sum of $2,102 was realized in this appeal.

Delegates to the Convention at MacDonald College in June will hear a complete report on the Peace Garden, and be able to obtain F.W.I. Seals at that time.

Guest speakers at the dinner hour were Mayor A. Bothwell, who welcomed the Convention and spoke of the work the W.I. was doing. Mr. J. S. Giles, of the Lachute Watchman, also spoke of the great army of W.I. Workers. Mr. Giles also recited a very beautiful poem "Three Soldiers". Dr. Turcotte of the Health Unit told of the wonderful help and support given the unit by the W.I. and said Lachute ranked 10th in the province for immunization. Mr. Jas. McGibbon, chairman of Lachute School Board, also spoke words of encouragement to the Convention. Mrs. G. Cooke rendered two solos, with Mrs. E. Bulley at the piano.

The afternoon session, opened with "Salute to the Flag". Mrs. Leggett then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Chas. Smallman, past provincial president, who said it gave her great pleasure to be present and tell a little of her trip to Amsterdam as delegate from Quebec Women's Institute. She also urged the support of the Q.W.I. Service Fund. Five hundred delegates attended the Conference held in Amsterdam, all giving reports in a different way, on the International outlook, what we should do to publicize marketing also publishing an international cook book, and have women reporters to teach the true meaning of citizenship.

Mrs. Arnold Parker thanked the speaker for her interesting talk.

Mrs. C. Baugh read the names of four deceased members and a silence period was observed.

Following is the slate of officers for 1948-49.

Hon. Pres., Mrs. N. E. Smillie; Pres., Mrs. Geo. Leggett; 1st vice.-pres., Mrs. D. J. Rodger; 2nd vice.-pres., Mrs. E. Bulley; Sec., Mrs. W. Shearsmith; Treas., Mrs. G. Cooke.

Conveners — Agriculture, Mrs. A. Ogilvie; Health and Welfare, Mrs. W. Sherritt; Education, Mrs. H. Lachen; National and International Relations, Mrs. G. Armstrong; Home Economics, Mrs. Earl Rodger; Publicity, Mrs. A. Ward; Fair Work, Mrs. F. Barker.

Mrs. Leggett thanked all retiring conveners and asked for the county's loyal support. She congratulated Mille Isle branch on their splendid luncheon.

Among many resolutions passed were the following:

WHEREAS we have present with us today Miss E. Walker, Provincial Demonstrator; Mrs. Smallman, Past Provincial President and several local guests — therefore be it resolved we express our thanks to them for their interest and cooperation in our W.I. work in this County.

WHEREAS, prizes have been donated by the Agricultural Society, The Robin Hood Flour Co., and The Farmers' Supply Co. for our handicraft exhibit at the Lachute Spring Fair — therefore be it resolved, we tender them our sincere thanks for their interest in this project.

WHEREAS, we are fortunate enough to have free chest X-rays at our disposal at our local Health Unit Centre — therefore be it resolved, we take advantage of this, that we might do our part in helping eradicate T.B.

WHEREAS, our Executive and retiring officers have worked diligently during their term of office, therefore be it resolved we tender them our thanks for their endeavours and assure them of our cooperation during the coming year.

Votes of thanks were given the Lachute High School Board for use of the school, and to Mr. J. S. Giles and staff for their cooperation in publishing reports throughout the year.

Lions Hear Talk On Agricul. Colleges

The history and contributions of the Agricultural Colleges in Canada was the topic of Lion E. H. Peters, B.S.A., to the members of the local club at their regular meeting this week.

Mr. Peters traced the start of an early agricultural college in 1859 now affiliated with the faculty of arts at Laval University, and said it was ten years later when the first college was started in Ontario at Guelph.

The Trappist Institute at Oka was formed in 1893 by a group who came from France, and the first graduates with a B.S.A. degree were in 1911. The speaker then enlarged upon the leading agricultural colleges in the Dominion, their organizations and the research which they are undertaking in the interest of farmers generally.

"Many hundreds of demonstrations are given throughout the province yearly on methods of spraying, pruning, seed treatment, fertilizing, poultry culling, livestock, judging and weed control", said the speaker, and "hundreds of inspections are made on farms and gardens, and thousands of specimens are sent to college laboratories for inspection and identification".

The speaker told of the many phases pertaining to agriculture, such as dairy, chemistry, botany, animal husbandry, engineering, horticulture and entomology, etc., and of the various specialties that some universities are making in many lines.

"War on Pests" is Urged By C. of C.

A declaration of "War On Pests" and an urgent call for action by its member units with the cooperation of every citizen, will be made in Montreal by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada next Tuesday.

Making the statement on the Chamber's behalf, Philip Pugsley, executive vice-president of the national organization, said that according to the authorities, staggering food losses, epidemics and many deaths have been attributed each year directly to several varieties of insects.

"Modern science enable their complete destruction today", he said, "but to accomplish this result the support of all people in our Dominion is essential".

Number one target for 1948 will be household pests such as flies, mosquitoes, etc. The campaign will be launched in June.

Quoting statistics, Mr. Pugsley mentioned that Canadian milk production can be increased by 500,000,000 pounds annually and beef production by 133,000,000 through proper fly control methods. Incidence of typhoid fever, dysentry, summer complaint, food poisoning and possibly infantile paralysis will be reduced perceptibly if effective action is taken.

Two flies alone could have 191,000,000,000,000,000,000 decendants by August if eggs are laid in early spring. Each of these billions is a potential carrier of at least 20 different diseases.

Action taken by local Chambers and Junior Boards of Trade from coast to coast will have the backing of federal and provincial health and agricultural departments, declared Mr. Pugsley. Through organized rural and urban anti-pest campaigns, health and living standards of Canadians should be greatly improved.

Lachute High School Grads Stage Exercises and Dance

Graduating Class of '48 Holds Banquet at School; Five Hundred Gather at Auditorium for Dance

Five hundred parents, friends and past graduates crowded the Lachute Auditorium on Friday last to be present at the exercises and dance held for the graduating class of Lachute High School.

The evening commenced with a delicious banquet in the Lachute High School, given by Grades IX and X under the direction of Miss Gladys Styles.

At the end of a sumptuous meal, Grant Riddell acting as toastmaster, called on Miss Betty Brown to propose a toast to the Graduating Class, which was replied to by Miss Jean Genest. Miss Marjorie Cottingham then proposed a toast to "Our School", which was answered by Mr. James McGibbon, chairman of the Lachute School Board. Van Pattee proposed the toast to the guests and Mayor Alex Bothwell replied.

After the banquet the students and guests went to the auditorium where the highlight of the evening was a three-quarter hour program put on by the graduating class. As they took their places on the stage, the girls of the graduating class caught the eye of all present with their white evening gowns and each with a corsage of roses.

Alfred Morrison, acting as chairman, first called on Miss Marjorie Cottingham to give the Class History or Episodes in the life of the class. Marjorie delved back into the past life of each graduate from the time he entered Lachute High School, and recalled to each the enjoyable hours — and some not so enjoyable — which had been spent there.

Miss Marjorie Morrison took on the duties of an astrologer for the class by presenting the Prophecy. Luckily she found only happiness in the stars and if the graduates can rely on the accuracy of her predictions, they need have no worries about the future.

Alfred Morrison then called upon the Principal, Mr. Fred Royal, to address the Graduates. Mr. Royal emphasized the need of a continual growth, both intellectually and socially in the "One World" in which we now live. The willingness to accept leadership, he said, was an outstanding characteristic of the present graduating class, and he expressed, not only his own, but the sentiments of the whole staff, when he added that it had been a pleasure to work with the present graduates.

Miss Frances Bennett in the grave tones of an attorney, presented the Last Will and Testament of the Graduating Class. After she had left everything from breath to chicken soup to their successors, Alfred Morrison remarked that the class would be poverty stricken.

Gordon Jamison, Class President, in a more serious vein, acted as Class Valedictorian. Gordon expressed the spirit of the class, their appreciation of school life and their future regrets upon leaving an institution to which they had been so closely connected.

After Alfred Morrison had thanked the parents and friends for attending, Don Reid's Orchestra took over the floor and dancing continued until 1.30 a.m. There was an intermission at 11 p.m. when a buffet lunch was served in the basement under the direction of Mrs. P. Jamison, who had volunteered her services for the occasion and who had been assisted by other ladies of the town.

WINNIPEG CLEANS UP

Winnipeg (CP) — In one day recently, gamblers and offenders under the liquor control act enriched city coffers by paying fines of $1,450.

"Rotary's Job" Is Stressed At Club

Rotary's Job — was the topic of an address given by speaker Rotarian Bill Cairns, of Ottawa. Mr. Cairns was introduced by Secretary Harold Barrie.

The question is often asked, "Why didn't Rotary stop the war?" This question could apply to other organizations also. It is a fair question as Rotarians have influence to use and if individual Rotarians had cared to work a little harder and lived up to their ideals, who knows, maybe war could have been averted. We the people, elect governments and are the first to criticize them.

When two people disagree, if they would discuss the number of things they agree upon the disagreements would be of minor importance.

Rotary only carries back some forty-three years; friendships and good business ethics have existed through the ages. We should think of these things and practice them. When the history of Rotary is written, although of a short time, it will be remembered because these were men who caught the spirit of it and made it known to the world. It had a business man who took time out to do a good job — "He was a good fellow to know". A town's reputation is made by its business men and leading citizens as a man expresses his life in his daily work. If a club is not doing well, ask yourself the question, "Would the town be sorry to have the club fold up?" Has Rotary made you a community man? Rotary is doing a wonderful international work and we as individuals are a link in the chain. Vocational service is life blood to Rotary.

Rotary is more than an organization, it is a spiritual force, as one who embraces its true principles becomes a better man. It is like religion in that if a man gets it and doesn't pass it on to someone else he will lose it. It is agreed that all religion in the world is not found in the church. The spirit is expressed in understanding, goodwill and peace, otherwise, we have not improved from the days of the Mexican Chief who cut the hearts out of fifteen hundred slaves to offer them as a sacrificial offering to his deity. During the last five or six years, the sacrifice of millions of lives seems as worthless, and it does not seem as though any progress is being made.

We are proud of our country, but are we proud of the standard of our life? It is good to be free and we must challenge forces, otherwise, if the challenge is not met, despair faces us. Rotary has influence to bear, let us demonstrate it and do our part as Rotarians to keep the world on a more even keel.

Rotarian Norm Somers thanked the speaker for his stirring message on Rotary's Job.

Newspaper Plants Visited in Ontario

R. A. Giles, president of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association spent the past two weeks motoring through Ontario on a good-will tour to fellow publishers. Over 2,330 miles were covered during the trip and 107 plants were visited. In South Western Ontario the numerous highly-built sheds were a novelty and we discovered we were in the midst of a tobacco growing district. Farther on towards Windsor, hot houses were filled with cucumbers, from which a good price would soon be realized.

Farmers were busy tilling the land and everyone seemed to be rushed particularly the printers who were in the midst of an election campaign. Cities, hamlets and towns were visited, many smaller than Lachute, but in most cases a very busy main street was the centre of attraction and activity. The fact that our town is so spread out makes it somewhat different, but all in all, it's one of the best, and one to be proud of.

It was interesting to note the keen interest, publishers in particular, took in their town's welfare. Many of them have mayoralty responsibilities, members of the Town Council, or are otherwise active in town welfare.

In the village of Harrow, with a population of only 1,250 we were surprised at the beautiful building which housed the post office, civic offices and a large auditorium which was busy every night of the week.

Fergus (population 2,500) also with its artificial lake and huge dam recently constructed through the efforts of Dr. Hugh Templin of the Fergus News Record, is growing steadily, and a modern junior school, with all the latest equipment is almost completed. A swimming pool attracts both the young and old and we were informed that every child in Fergus was able to swim. What a grand thing!

Yes, with our population at almost 6,000 we too have a nice town, but we need awakening to some of the essentials necessary for our youth and we can learn plenty from our Ontario neighbors.

Gatineau LINES

Gatineau Power Company is in the midst of a $5,000,000 program to expand and improve service to customers in the area it serves. What is involved in an undertaking of this kind?

Among the first things to come to mind in answer to such a question are more electricity from generating stations, thousands of new poles erected, miles of high-voltage wire strung. But the job has just started when these things have been arranged.

A thousand-and-one other details had to be worked out in the expansion program now under way in Gatineau territory. Plans had to be laid and carried out for new voltage regulators, cut-out switches, pole cross-arms, insulators, lead-in-wires, transformers needed to reduce the 110,000-volt power of the main lines to 26,400, to 4,600, to 2,300 to 575, finally to the 115-230 volts needed in your home. All that means a lot of transformers in every part of the Gatineau system.

For instance, the present program involves these major transformer additions (not counting the thousands of pole transformers which cut the power to the correct voltage for home use):

—New 10,000 kilowatt transformer station temporarily at St. Jerome, later at Ste. Agathe.

—New 10,000 kilowatt voltage regulators at Hawkesbury.

—Expansion to 2,500 kilowatts at Hull No. 4 station.

—New 1,000 kilowatt stations at Piedmont, Val Morin and Ste. Jovite.

—Expansion from 50 to 225 kilowatts at Bristol.

—Numerous changes to supply 4,600 volts instead of 2,300 at Isle Perrot, Napierville and surrounding districts.

—More changes to switch from 4,600 volts to 8,000 on lines servicing the areas around Lake Marois, Echo and L'Achigan.

—New circuits and automatic repeater fuses at Aylmer.

Farm Underdrainage

Drainage Is An Investment

From a financial standpoint, underdrainage must be considered as a long time investment. Tile drainage of agricultural lands is a comparatively expensive improvement and the capital expended in drainage cannot be recalled or transferred, but owing to the permanent nature of the work, properly installed dainage systems should continue to return dividends for many years. Just how many is problematical, but in a general way tile drains may be said to last a lifetime. Underdrainage, unlike most other long-time investments, will often pay dividends sufficient to return the original capital in two or three years.

All Soils Not Naturally Drained Require Drainage

These generally exist as:

1. Cultivated areas with fair surface drainage but exhibiting a heavy clay subsoil.
2. Heavy clay soils with very little or no surface drainage.
3. Rolling areas with an impervious subsoil.
4. Areas, large and small, saturated long enough each year to destroy the physical condition of the soil and interfere with spring seeding and harvesting operations.
5. Pot-holes and swamp areas.

Indications of Tile Drainage Requirements:

1. Free water standing on the surface, or in excavations in the subsoil.
2. The tendency of a soil to puddle when wet and bake when dry.
3. The accumulation of organic matter — swamp areas.
4. A miry condition in spring and after rains.
5. The killing out of crops, and the growth of weeds which will stand wet soil conditions.
6. The heaving of clovers and winter grain crops.
7. The stunted appearance of many crops, with curled wilted leaves.
8. In orchards — weakened and missing trees.

Drainage Increases Farm Crop Yields

1. Earlier spring seeding and a longer growing season is permitted.
2. The land is more easily worked and implements are more effective.
3. Germination percentage is higher.
4. Soil is more favorable for root development, hence more moisture and plant food is available.
5. Air circulation is improved.
6. A higher average temperature is maintained.
7. Soil fertility is improved because of increased chemical and bacterial activity.
8. Erosion and heaving is reduced.
9. The improved physical condition permits the retention of more capillary moisture.
10. Winter killing in orchards is greatly reduced.
11. Orchard spraying is facilitated.
12. Weeds are more easily controlled.
13. Property is often made more attractive.

Record Year Anticipated At Lachute Fair

A record number of entries are exhibited in the famed Lachute Spring Fair next month. The Fair, which is presented annually under the auspices of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, is being held from June 16 to 19. Indications are that entries in every class of the exhibition will be at an all-time high by the closing date for entries, May 24.

The Lachute Fair, which has been presented each year for 121 years, annually attracts thousands of visitors. Originally a Fall Fair, the transfer to a Spring Exhibition won the institution even greater popularity, and it has become more widely known year by year.

This year's exhibition is expected to be the finest ever, according to Alex Bothwell, secretary and manager. . . Buildings and accommodations are in excellent condition, and the Fair will feature cattle, horses, sheep, swine, poultry and rabbit exhibits, horseback riding and jumping, shows, and an exciting midway.

The first Lachute Fair was presented in 1826, when prizes were limited to farmers within the county. It was decided then that "the object was to promote the science of agriculture, and to give prizes and premiums to those who excel in the art of ploughing, crop and stock raising, planting of fruit trees, in dairy work, home manufacture and farm improvements". These original principles are still followed by the Fair Management.

Classes of entries include:

Horses: Registered Canadians, French Coach, Standard Breeds, Hackney ponies, Hackney horses, Shetland and Welsh ponies, Grade horses, Registered Clydesdales, Registered Percherons, Registered Belgians, Grade Heavy Draft, Grade Agricultural, General Purpose, Carriage or Roadster, Harness Ponies, Heavy Harness Horses, Hunters and Jumpers.

Cattle: Ayrshire, Holsteins, Jerseys, Canadians, Aberdeen Angus, Hereford, Shorthorns.

Sheep: Cheviots, Hampshires, Leicesters, Oxfords, Shropshires, Southdowns, Suffolks, Dorset Horned.

Swine: Tamworths, Berkshires, Yorkshires.

Poultry: Barred Plymouth Rock, White Wyandotte, White Leghorn, Rhode Island Red, Anconas, Brahamas (light and dark), Cochins, Plymouth Rock (white), Wyandottes, Leghorn Brown SC or RC, Leghorn Buff, Leghorn A.O.V., Chanteclerc, Minorca, Orpington, Langsham, Jersey Black Giants, New Hampshires, and other varieties.

Turkeys: Bronze, White, A.O.V.
Geese: Toulouse, Embden, African, A.O.V.
Ducks: Pekin, Rouen, Indian Runner.
Rabbits: Chinchilla, Angora.

Anti-Noise Campaign Needed In Lachute . . .

SOMEWHERE ON THE STATUTE BOOKS of Lachute Town there are by-laws pertaining to unnecessary noises on the streets of Lachute. It would not be a bad idea at this time, to do a little spring cleaning around the municipal edifice, and bring these laws into the open.

There is a definite need for curtailment of noise at nights, especially on the main street, where unthoughtful motorists seem to make a game of horn-tooting, while taximen use this method of letting their clients know that they are impatiently waiting.

It is possible that these offenders are ignorant of the fact that they are breaking the law, or that within a stone's throw, someone is seriously sick, and suffering agonies of hell with each blast of the horn.

An anti-noise campaign is needed, with the town council, Chamber of Commerce, social clubs and churches joining in a serious educational drive, plus the application of police action if violation is repeated.

Ottawa's Health Campaign Gives Excellent Opportunity

PRIME MINISTER MacKENZIE KING seems keen to make one last social-security gesture to Canadians before he finally retires this summer. His health plan offered to the provinces is one that will be hard for any politician to refuse, whether in Conservative Ontario, Social Credit Alberta, CCF Saskatchewan or Liberal New Brunswick.

There is one feature stressed in the health plan that should be readily accepted by the provinces, and that is, for fighting tuberculosis. There is also one angle in this anti-TB fight that politicians do not realize. . . and that is, the financial plight of many of the families, who have the money-earners sick with this disease. The term of cure is not limited to weeks, but to many months and mostly years. The average person does not know that worry of the financial condition at home has killed just as many patients as the disease itself.

There is one province in Canada that does have a pension for such families, but the plan should be universal, and now is the time to take advantage of Ottawa's offer, and use some of the money for this purpose.

When is Gambling Not Gambling?

IF NEWSPAPER REPORTS of Montreal are correct about the swanky private club in Ville St. Michel, where thousands of dollars change hands nightly, one is urged to wonder if there is a law for the rich and one for the poor.

Raffles and bingos, sweepstakes and lucky draws are being discouraged by churches, societies and law officers. If a club with a slightly foreign name holds a raffle, it is raided, sometimes padlocked, and the offenders termed 'red'.

Yet, in this so-called democracy, this club of the elite, seems to be above the law. It would be a good thing indeed, if Lawyer Plante, of Montreal, who was recently fired from the anti-vice squad of that city, were appointed to a similar position with the Quebec government, so that a case could be made against such places.

Confusion Upon Confusion in Ontario Election . . .

THE ONTARIO PUBLIC is now wondering what man or party they will vote for in the coming provincial election. Three parties are in the fight, with the conservative government seeking re-election, while the liberals and CCF parties are battling with slogans and social security offers. There seems so little difference between the old parties and the new as far as platforms are concerned, that one wonders where the right begins or the left ends.

With all this confusion, the people of Kitchener, are offered confusion upon confusion. It seems that John S. Wagner was nominated CCF candidate, while the returning officer happens to be John E. Wagner. At the same time, the Liberals were busy electing Harold E. Wagner as secretary of their association. This may be one of the old-fashioned family feuds one reads about in the history of a hundred years ago, but let's hope, that guns will be turned into plowshares, and may the best man win.

I consider a human soul without education like marble in the quarry, which shows none of its inherent beauties till the skill of the polisher fetches out the colors, makes the surface shine and discovers every ornamental cloud, spot and vein that runs through the body of it.

— Joseph Addison

On Parliament Hill . . .

be a bad idea at that, there seems to be no other solution than that taking place at present. If there is no intervention the result may possibly be a stalemate followed by outside mediation.

Hansard

The official report of the debates in the House of Commons which is called Hansard after the name of the man who first provided a verbatim report of the proceedings of the British House of Commons is a costly publication. The Daily edition issued while the House is in session is available on the morning following each day's sitting. It is printed in both English and French and after the session is ended a revised edition is issued in the form of bound volumes.

The Secretary of State The Hon. Colin Gibson has now suggested that the revised edition be dispensed with as is the case in Washington, London or Paris. For the last year that figures are available, it is learned that it took 4,000 hours on the linotype machines, 9,000 hours of work by hand and over 1,500 hours of press work to produce. This involves about 16,000 pages of type and over 88 tons of metal. The revised edition is set up in 510 volumes and costs about $750 a set. The total cost for the year was $46,000. Anyone may receive. Hansard daily during the whole course of a sitting for the small sum of $3.

Drinking Ale While the Horse Looked On

Mr. A. L. Smith (Calgary West) was somewhat shocked to see an advertisement in a U.S. magazine depicting a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who is obviously on duty drinking ale from a bottle. The member wanted to know if permission were given to so traduce the reputation of the force.

The Right Hon. J. L. Ilsley (Minister of Justice) said he would give consideration to the matter to see if anything could be done about it.

National or Natural Beauty

There was a long discussion in the house the other day which gave an opportunity to several members to extol the beauty of his particular neck of the woods. It seems that Quebec is the only province in Canada which has not its National Park. The only Quebec member taking part in the debate was Mr. Pouliot who had no National Park to eulogize. He could not however leave out the Laurentians but missed the couplet.

"Angels oftimes hovering there Doubt if Eden were more fair".

J. C. Wilson Limited Offers Shares

The offering of a Block of Shares of J. C. Wilson, Limited, which is announced in the formal advertisement of Molson Securities Limited in this issue, provides the first opportunity for the general public to purchase the shares of this local industry.

The sale of these shares does not represent new financing by the Company, but a distribution of some of the closely held stock, the great proportion of which has up to now been held by members of the Wilson family and old employees or associates of the Company

In following the distribution it is expected that the stock will be traded in on the Montreal Curb Market.

The memorandum of Molson Securities Limited issued in connection with this offering, says of the Company, in part:

The Company operates a paper making plant and bag making plant at Lachute, P.Q., using approximately 6,700 tons of groundwood, sulphite and sulphate pulp annually which is supplied to the extent of 1,200 tons by the Company's own groundwood mill near St. Jerome, P.Q.

During 1947 approximately $200,000. was expended on improvements to fixed assets and a further $300,000. of expenditure for the same purpose is projected for 1948, these improvements being paid for out of the Company's cash resources and by the liquidation of investments which were accumulated for this purpose.

At Montreal the Company owns a seven storey brick building, situated at 1061 St. Alexander Street, which houses the head office, a box making and printing plant, warehouses and facilities for the distribution of its products and those of other manufacturers for which the Company acts as jobber or agent.

For many years branch offices have been maintained at Winnipeg and Vancouver. During 1947 the Company acquired as a wholly owned subsidiary The Rateliff Paper Company Limited, an old established business engaged in the distribution of paper and paper products in the Toronto area.

For ten years, 1938 to 1947, net earnings, after all charges, have averaged $122,154 and during the same period dividends have equalled $99,450 a year, or at the rate of 60 cents a share. An extra dividend of $10 has been paid in 1948.

Because of the record of steady earnings and dividend payments the stock is a legal investment for insurance companies and pension funds.

Molson Securities Limited advises us that anyone interested in securing further information about the Company may apply to them for a copy of the memorandum of information which has been published or get in touch with them through their bank or investment dealer.

A Call to Prayer

In August 1948 the first Assembly of the World Council of Churches will take place at Amsterdam. We are profoundly thankful that after long years of separation, and so soon after the most devastating war in human history, the Christian Churches throughout the World will thus be able to express and manifest their spiritual unity.

With the blessing of God, this Assembly can mark a new experience of the glory of God, and a new acceptance by Christians and the Christian Churches of their responsibility for seeking continually to bring the whole of human life and relationship under the Kingship of Christ. The theme of our Assembly is "Man's Disorder and God's Design". God rules even in the midst of our man-made confusion. The design of God declares itself in the new environment for our lives that has been created by His acts. In the life, death and resurrection of Christ, and in the coming of His Church, a new beginning has been made in human history. "What is old has gone, the new has come". But at this crisis in the existence of mankind, we are compelled to confess that the contrast between the high calling of the Church and the visible institutions called Churches is only too evident. We have failed because we ourselves have been partakers in man's disorder. Our first and deepest need is not new organization, but the renewal, or rather the rebirth, of the actual Churches. May God grant that we may hear the call of the Spirit!

We confess that because of the divided state of the Churches, also, we have fallen short in the witness we should have borne to Christ. We long for the day when the Lord Jesus Christ shall recapture the Churches, and, manifesting His glory, lead them to speak with one clear voice, and to act as those who serve Him only as their Lord.

The World Council of Churches is itself both a declaration of the spiritual unity of its member Churches and a means through which they may express that unity in action. Already more than a hundred and thirty Churches have joined it from the Old and New Worlds, from the East and the West — a clear sign of the longing of the Churches for deeper fellowship in Christ. The council stands on faith in our Lord Jesus Christ as God and Saviour. It serves the Churches, and in no way seeks to control them. It aspires after an expression of unity in which Christians and Christian Churches, joyously aware of their oneness in Jesus Christ their Lord, and pursuing an ever fuller realization of union, shall in time and need give help and comfort to one another, and at all times inspire and exhort one another to live worthily of their common membership in the Body of Christ.

We therefore call upon all Christians to join us in earnest prayer that the first Assembly of the World Council of Churches may be used of God for a rebirth of the Churches, and for their rededication in the unity of the faith to the common task of proclaiming His Word and doing His work among all nations.

To You, the People

Facts About Beautification:

Some 400 Canadian communities from coast to coast are about ready to launch their annual spring Clean-Up, Paint-Up campaign. You probably can think of many benefits to a community drive of this kind. Here are just a few:

—A Clean-Up campaign tends to decrease disease and sickness in a community by destroying breeding places of germs.

LARGER SCHOOL DISTRICTS

It is encouraging to note that interest now is being taken in this district over the possibilities of a larger school area, which would provide infinitely more opportunities to all students, especially those in rural areas. By the incorporation of larger school districts, outlying areas would benefit immeasurably.

ADJUST LIVING COSTS

The problem (of the rising cost of living) is a complex one, resulting from the economic upheaval which always accompanies war. Canada has been more fortunate than many other countries in this respect, but it is to be hoped that an early adjustment may be found to the present high price levels in this country.

To the Electors of the East Ward, Lachute:

Lachute, May 17, 1948.

Next Saturday, May 22nd, you will be asked to cast your vote to elect an alderman for seat No. 2, in the East Ward.

As you know, I had been previously elected by acclamation. Due to technicalities over which even lawyers do not agree, I preferred, rather than be entailed in a lengthy and costly law suit, to send in my resignation.

I had been informed from competent and reliable sources, that through the lapse of time, those technicalities no longer exist.

I therefore ask for your support in the coming election.

The other candidate is a gentleman whom I hold in esteem, and who had signed my first nomination paper.

I believe that if I had not run again, I would have accepted the fact that the electors of the East Ward are not free to select their own candidate, but are pushed around by a small group of outsiders, some of them, who should by their office remain completely neutral, and whose apparent motive is to run the town council instead of the town council managing the affairs of the town.

I do not believe that we should introduce in Lachute, a Tammany Hall system.

As you know, I started off in life without riches, and through my labor and efforts I have become a property-owner of some importance, mostly in the East Ward, and you may rest assured that I am as much interested as any other citizen in the good administration of this town without any undue interference from without.

The names on my nomination paper are those of worthy, dignified and independent citizens of the East Ward of the Town of Lachute. . . both French and English speaking; men who have helped to build this town and whose achievements are a splendid record to the community.

It was upon their solicitation that I again accepted to run as a candidate.

I am therefore conscious of the responsibility that those citizens have placed upon my shoulders, and I will serve as your alderman when in office, to the best of my ability.

I am unattached to any group or "clique" and will always serve in the best interests of the Town of Lachute.

I therefore ask you for your support in the coming election.

I further urge you, whomever you may vote for, to come out and vote, so that the East Ward will be represented by a man duly chosen by the majority of its ratepayers.

I thank you in anticipation of your support.

Aux Electeurs du quartier Est, Lachute:

A la suite de procédures intentées contre moi, pour des technicalités légales sur lesquelles même les hommes de loi ne peuvent s'entendre, j'ai préféré résigner plutôt que de m'exposer aux frais élevés d'un long procès.

Je crois que les électeurs du quartier Est de la Ville de Lachute doivent être libres de choisir leur propre candidat et que celui-ci, une fois élu il n'appartient pas à des personnes non intéressées dans le quartier Est de la ville de Lachute, de se mêler des affaires de ce quartier sans que leur aide ou assistance soit requise.

Les noms de ceux qui ont signé mon bulletin de présentation sont les noms des citoyens indépendants et dignes du quartier Est de la ville de Lachute, citoyens des deux langues, qui ont fait honneur à votre ville et dont les sollicitations m'ont amené à me présenter de nouveau.

By BRIAN SWARBRICK

Every year about this time, racing men from Toronto's Woodbine Park to Mexico's Auga Caliente air their opinions on which of the season's crop of thoroughbreds will most likely end up as the three-year-old of the year.

Although it's rarely a wide-open race, there are usually several equine aspirants to the seat of the mighty, and it's easy to find violent arguments in support of each prospect.

Racing men must be undergoing an evolution; they're not nearly so argumentative this year. To put it bluntly, everybody and his brother is putting his money on Calumet Farm's Citation, not as the horse to beat, but as the practically unchallengeable three-year-old champion of the United States turf.

Actually, any better worth a pari-mutuel ticket would never hope to become a millionaire placing bets on Citation's nose, unless it was running against a field of rocketships. Against ordinary horses the odds on the colt are so low — $2.80 for $2.00 when he won the Kentucky Derby —the a winner barely makes enough to pay his streetcar fare home.

In the eyes of some — and the "some" aren't all employees of Calumet — the son of Bull Lea may some day stand alongside the late Australian pride of the turf, Phar Lap. And the ill-fated Phar Lap, which died too soon to burn up the American tracks the way even American horsemen thought he would, is rated as "Australia's greatest race horse".

Won The Hard Way

Citation, although winning the $100,000 Derby in a breeze and then some, actually did it the hard way. First the streak of turf-lightning won the Derby trial, and a Derby trial winner just doesn't win the Derby. Records show the chances of a trial winner — or a pre-race favorite — winning The Big Race are slight. Then too, for months Citation was picked as this year's Derby winner, almost before it was known which horses would compete against the colt.

But in spite of a preponderance of hex, Citation romped home without jockey Eddie Arcaro, beak-nosed four-time-Derby-winning rider, ever having to push him.

Ahead lies the Triple Crown. With the Bluegrass winnings already his, Citation needs the Preakness and the Belmont to reach the esteemed circle of Triple Crown horses that have swept North America's biggest turf victories.

Between Citation and the goal are two very good horses — Mount Marcey at Preakness and Whirling Fox at the Belmont — but few are the observers who consider these to be much opposition. Mount Marcey will get his chance first, on May 15, while the fox, already beaten once by Col. Matt Winn's wonder horse, will make his bid to humble Citation at the later Belmont.

A third adversary for this year's laurels is Relic, son of War Relic. This three-year-old placed one-two ahead of Whirling Fox in the Hopeful at Saratoga, and so appears to shade the Fox in the bid against Citation. Relic won't be in shape for any triple crown races but will likely be pitted against the Calumet comet before the summer is over.

TRIBUTE TO VETERAN PUPLISHER

R. J. Deachman

Joseph E. Atkinson, Canada's most spectacular publisher, who exerted a wide influence in the City of Toronto and the Province of Ontario, passed away a few days ago. He was born poor, took to journalism at an early age and moved around among a number of different dailies. He was 34 when a group of Liberals bought the Toronto Star. They paid $32,000 for it. It must have seemed like a useless sacrifice of cold cash if they thought of converting Toronto. Mr. Atkinson had already made a name for himself. He was asked to direct the paper. He made his own conditions, he was to be allowed to buy back the stock if he was ever able to do so. He did it, with the exception of a few scattered shares, he owned it all when the end came.

He took charge in 1899. It was a period of expansion and development but it took genius and hard work to build, in so brief a time, so great an institution. When he took over it had a circulation of 7,000. The average for the month of April 1948 was 369,352. The Weekly Star began publication in 1910, its present circulation exceeds 900,000. The Toronto Star has its own building, one of the finest newspaper edifices on the continent. Now the genius who built it is no more but of all his great accomplishments, and there were many, the most extraordinary is the provision he has made for the continuation of the publications to which he gave the effort of a lifetime.

It would have been the pride of most men to have kept the business in the family. In a sense Mr. Atkinson has done this, for the family is still associated with it but he has established an organization known as The Atkinson Charitable Foundation. Now the earnings of the Toronto Daily Star, the Star Weekly and the Star Realty Company "will be used for the maintenance of social, scientific and economic reforms, which are charitable in nature, for the benefit of the people of the Province of Ontario". Its direction will be in the hands of those who helped Mr. Atkinson to make the Star.

When I entered the House of Commons in 1935, I lived in the summer months in the Town of Wingham in Western Ontario. In previous years I had written odd articles for the Toronto Star mostly on economic topics. I started again. My stories now dealt with life in the country, the simple things: Robins in the garden on a wet day; children playing marbles on the sidewalks when the heat of the cement sidewalk would cook an egg. They were tales of life in a country town and it's a lovely life. Mr. Atkinson liked these stories. At times I dropped in to see him. He was genial, kindly, easy to meet. He never attempted to tell one what to write but he always mentioned the stories he liked best. They had to be readable and easy to understand. The ideal was always ahead of him, not always did he get what he wanted.

Once I interviewed a number of children all under ten years of age —rather they interviewed me. They were city children fresh from a holiday in the country. "Had I ever jumped on a load of hay?" I certainly had. "Did I ever hold a little pig in my arms?" Surely! I had also watched a new-born colt struggle to its feet and seek the milk bar where it breakfasted. I knew all about these things, but they were new to the children and their eyes shone as they told me of the wonders they had seen. I asked one little girl if she knew who Hitler was. He was just climbing the ladder of ill-fame in those days and she gave me this astounding answer. "He's in the cost of everything". Good Lord! How true that was! We are still paying for him. I took the story of this adventure to Mr. Atkinson, he was intensely interested.

Cynics sometimes suggested that he raised money for the benefit of the children, but it was also to advertise the Toronto Daily Star. I doubt, if that aspect carried much weight. He accepted these things as a duty and a pleasure. There was a tremendous driving force behind him. He could be as hard as nails at times but he was equally hard on himself and through it all there were deep touches of tenderness and sympathy.

Will the Foundation he established help humanity? There was a time when I would have given a negative answer to that question. I am not so sure now. The great reforms which promised much have changed us little. This institution will be able to extend a helping hand to those in need — the needy will be with us always — they will still need help.

DURABILITY, FIRE SAFETY AND LOW ANNUAL COST WITH CONCRETE

The home that's built of concrete is built to last. It is fireproof, weather tight and clean — dust and dirt can't sift through the concrete construction. It is cooler in summer and keeps warmer in winter with less fuel consumption. Its first cost is moderate. Its annual cost is low. For that home you're planning, however large or small it may be, consider the advantages of versatile concrete.

NEWCASTLE DISEASE

Continuing to stamp out Newcastle Disease which has recently appeared in a few Canadian poultry flocks, the Dominion government has authorized special regulations under the Animal Contagious Diseases Act. With these, the Veterinary Director General now has authority to take the necessary steps to eradicate this paralyzing and respiratory disease of poultry.

Under these regulations, a veterinary inspector of the Dominion Department of Agriculture's Health of Animals Division may inspect any poultry suspected of having Newcastle Disease. He may declare to be an infected place and may quarantine any building or field. He may order the slaughter of the birds and the destruction of their eggs which are being incubated.

The regulations prohibit anyone from letting affected or suspected poultry run at large or come in touch with unaffected birds. They require that no one shall bring fowl to an infected place. They forbid the hatching of eggs from infected fowl. They require the owner or occupier of any yard or building to disinfect it and any vehicle, crate, utensil or "other thing" which may be infected or even suspected of being infected with Newcastle Disease.

The owner is required to bear the expense of collecting, isolating or seizing his fowl and of disinfecting the premises. An indemnity may be paid for poultry and eggs ordered to be destroyed.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture admits that these regulations are severe, but are purposely so to prevent further invasion by this disease. Since Newcastle Disease was first identified some 15 years ago near Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and has spread to the United States, its outbreaks in those countries have killed up to 100 per cent of young chicks in infected flocks.

The Department has previously imposed equally severe regulations on the spread of other animal diseases points out Dr. Thomas Childs, Veterinary Director General.

"Similar authority has prevented the introduction to Canada of such serious animal plagues as foot-and-mouth disease, rinderpest and contagious pleuro-pneumonia. Even such diseases as dourine, glanders and sheep scab which had invaded Canada have now been eliminated, thanks to similarly effective regulations under the Animal Contagious Diseases Act", he said.

The good health of Canadian animals is an important reason for Canada's sizeable export business in livestock.

SEED EXPERT RETIRES

The man who laid the foundation for Ontario's flourishing seed corn industry retired from government service on April 17th. He is W. J. W. Lennox, District Supervisor, Plants Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

A graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College, he joined the Dominion Department of Agriculture's Seed Branch in 1912, and established and organized the Toronto district office. From there he operated as District Supervisor for Southwestern Ontario until 1941. At that time, he came to Ottawa for service with the seeds Administration of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. When the Seeds Administration was terminated in 1946, Lennox returned to his post in Toronto.

He has been a chairman and past president of the Provincial Winter Fair, Guelph, and a director and chairman of the Seeds Committee of the Royal Winter Fair. One of the outstanding seed judges in Canada, his services were widely sought in this capacity. He judged corn at the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, Regina, in 1933.

TIME BOMB

We need more than an answer to our problems. We need a whole new way of life in which these problems don't occur.

BEWARE!

VACATIONISTS WARNED AGAINST RAW MILK DANGERS

The Health League of Canada has announced that as part of its year-round campaign to obtain compulsory milk pasteurization legislation throughout the Dominion, it hopes this summer to enlist the aid of resort operators and vacationists.

In a message to vacationists, the Health League requests them to make sure pasteurized milk is obtainable wherever they plan to spend their holidays, while resort operators are asked to make sure the milk they serve is pasteurized. It is pointed out to resort people that if a supply of the commercially pasteurized product is not available it is possible to make milk safe for human consumption by "home" pasteurization methods.

The Health League is of the opinion many urban residents are so accustomed to regular delivery of pasteurized milk to their homes that they sometimes fail to realize —or forget—that raw milk exists, and that raw milk can contain dangerous disease bacteria which can cause such serious illnesses as bovine tuberculosis, typhoid and para-typhoid fever, undulant fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever and septic sore throat.

Further, it is the belief of the Health League that once resort operators are really made aware of the dangers of raw milk they will put the health of their visitors before all other considerations and will make sure their milk supplies are pasteurized.

On the other hand, as long as some vacationists neglect to insist on pasteurized milk there may be some resort operators who will continue to serve unpasteurized milk. However, if customer demand for safe milk becomes unanimous, the Health League says there soon won't be a resort in the nation which will serve anything but the pasteurized variety.

Ontario is the only province with a compulsory pasteurization law in its statutes, but even in Ontario there are rural areas which do not come within the law's provisions because of infeasibility.

50 YEAR EFFORT

Young War Veteran Achieves His Father's Aim, to Compete at Bisley

Halifax (CP) — After 50 years of competition the name Gladwin will appear among the list of competitors for the famous Bisley rifle shoot in England this summer.

The half-century of effort was climaxed with the announcement from Ottawa that W.O. Charles H. Gladwin, of Halifax had been named to the 1948 team.

Ever since Edmund F. Gladwin began shooting it out with the best marksmen of the country, it has been a family ambition to compete in the famed Bisley. He never achieved the team himself.

Three sons, Edmund H., Arthurs G., and Charlie took up the effort as they grew old enough. But it was left to the youngest of the trio — a veteran of the First World War — to place the family name where his father wanted it.

The 31-year-old rifleman won the right by placing 18th in the Dominion meet at the Connaught Ranges at Ottawa. Now he will join the other members when they step aboard the Aquitania here June 24 for England and Bisley.

After the business of the meeting was completed, the President turned the meeting over to the Convener of National and International Relations, Mrs. A. Heron, who introduced Mrs. E. T. Sampson, of Outremont, the guest speaker of the evening. Mrs. Sampson took as her subject the need for women to take an active part or interest in the community where their influence would be for the good of the community as a whole. She also told the gathering of the struggle they had to get Parliament to grant them the vote, and urged all women to exercise their franchise, and to study, when the time came along, very earnestly the parties running, so that they could then vote in the manner best to the interests of their community. She closed her talk with a reference to the homeless children in Europe and showed a number of pictures of these children in a copy of the English magazine, The Post, depicting the conditions under which they were living.

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. J. Veit. A cut glass plate was raffled during the meeting which was won by Mrs. Arthur Scott. There was a very large attendance including twelve guests. Two new members were welcomed.

Hearts for Tasty and Economical Meals

Heart rates high in the estimation of the thrifty homemaker, not for any romantic tendencies, but rather for the low cost. When her budget weakens she "takes heart" literally and cooks it so that it is a real delicacy.

Beef, pork, veal or lamb hearts are all good. Lamb hearts or small pork hearts make nice individual servings; large pork hearts and the average calf heart will terve two. One beef heart of good size will be sufficient for a family of six.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggest several ways to cook heart. They say that dressed beef heart is equally good when served hot or cold.

Dressed Beef Heart

Remove veins and arteries from the heart with scissors. Slash centre to form a large cavity. Wash thoroughly and dry well. Stuff with dressing, skewer or sew up the end. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Place on a rack in an uncovered pan and bake in a moderately slow oven; 325°F., until tender, 3 to 3½ hours. Baste occasionally.

If the heart is to be cooked in the pressure saucepan, brown well in 3 tablespoons of fat in the pressure saucepan then place on the trivet, add ½ cup water, cover and cook at 10 lbs. pressure for 1 to 1¼ hours depending on the size of heart. Yield: six to eight servings.

Braised Lamb Hearts

6 Lamb hearts, 2 cups well-seasoned bread dressing, ½ cup flour, ¼ cup fat, 1½ cups water, ⅛ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper.

Wash hearts thoroughly and remove veins and arteries. Dry well. Stuff cavities with dressing and skewer to hold end closed. Roll in flour and brown on all sides in hot fat. Place browned hearts in a casserole. Add water and seasonings. Cover closely and cook in a slow oven, 300°F., for 1½ hours. Yield: six servings.

Fricasseed Heart

1 Beef heart (or 3 calves' hearts), ¼ cup flour, 3 tablespoons fat, melted, 2 onions sliced, 1 cup diced carrots, 1 cup canned tomatoes or tomato juice, 1 cup hot water, 1 teaspoon salt.

Wash and clean heart. Cut into ¾" cubes. If beef heart is used, slice and simmer for 30 minutes before cubing. Roll cubes in flour and brown in hot fat. Place in heavy saucepan or Dutch oven. Add onion slices, carrots, tomatoes, hot water and salt. Cover tightly and simmer for 3-3½ hours. More water may have to be added from time to time during the cooking period. Thicken gravy with flour mixed with cold water. Yield: six servings.

Freezing Produce . . .

It will soon be time to give attention to filling the pantry or home cold storage with preserved fruits and vegetables. Now that frozen products have been developed to such a high standard more of them are being put up.

Every year there is a growing appreciation of the high quality and fresh flavor of properly prepared frozen fruits and vegetables, says W. R. Phillips, Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Ont.

Home canning involves longer cooking, more precise sterilizing and other procedures not required in freezing, says Mr. Phillips, but he warns "as simple as the freezing process is, however, many mistakes are being made which result in failure".

One common error is that the blanching of vegetables is not done properly. The blanching process consists of immersing the vegetables in boiling water or exposing them to steam for a short interval. Under-blanching results in objectionable flavors and over-blanching produces a cooked products which may also be objectionable. Different vegetables require different blanching times, hence the instructions should be carefully studied.

Freshness of the raw product is also important. If fruits, and particularly vegetables, are held too long before freezing, much of the original fresh flavor is lost. Freezing as soon as possible after harvest results in better tasting food accompanied with higher nutritional value. Thus a definite advantage is gained by obtaining fresh garden produce directly from the grower, or better still, using that which has been grown in your own garden.

When the fruits and vegetables are in the freezer they are inclined to lose moisture and become dry or shrivelled. The best means of controlling this is to use packages which will prevent moisture loss. Heavy wax, cellophane, rubber-like compounds and other materials are usually found adequate.

Having taken the precautions mentioned the only important precaution is to freeze promptly and hold at zero, or lower temperatures. It is frequently thought that just holding the product in the frozen state is sufficient. Dividends in the form of high quality and better appearance will result from zero or lower holding temperatures.

The Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and the Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, have publications available, which will assist in making household freezing a success. Information for constructing household freezers is also available.

GOOD FILMS ONLY, IS OLIVIA'S BEST RECIPE FOR STARS

Oscar Winner Says Stars Must Maintain Consistent Run of Good Pictures

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood (AP) — Olivia Dehaviland has the answer to one of the great mysteries of Hollywood —how does one become and remain a top movie star?

"It's not in how many pictures you make, but how many you don't make", she says.

That's simple enough. Too simple, so she elaborates: "Around Hollywood, you hear a lot of frantic talk about making pictures. I say that it is important for a star not to make pictures. A star cannot make a mistake (meaning a bad picture). If he does make a mistake, he must quickly consolidate his position with a good picture".

Consolidation — that's the keynote. Once a star gets a big break—such as an academy award he must consolidate his position with pictures of equal caliber. Olivia, after winning her Oscar, for "To Each His Own", waited many long months before she found the proper role to follow with. She may be absent from the screen two years before her picture "The Snake Pit", is released.

You may gather from this discussion that Olivia now is a top star. That is true. And it has been no easy pull for her to reach the top.

Discovered by Max Reinhardt for his "Midsummer Night's Dream" in 1934, she spent five years as an ingenue in the Warners' film factory.

Wasted Years

"Sometimes I think those years were completely wasted", she reflected in her roomy but unpretentious Benedict Canyon home. "One gains little or no experience as an ingenue in pictures".

Olivia enjoys intellectual discussions; Joan is fun-loving. Olivia is reserved with fellow workers; Joan clowns on the set.

WOMEN'S CONTRIBUTION

It is common practice . . . to look a little patronizingly upon "The W.A. (Women's Aid) and to think of it as a sort of glorified sewing circle. Who, for instance, is called upon to raise money for the church and for the many little "side" expenses? It's the Ladies' Aid, Auxiliary, or whatever name they choose to call themselves.

Fire Precaution Urged At Brownsburg

Speaking at High Mass on Sunday, the Rev. V. Bouchard called attention of the congregation to the very competent and complete plans which have been organized for the prevention of serious fires in Brownsburg. The householders watch word should be call 301. On each hydrant there was now a number in bold white letters which should be carefully noted by the adjacent householders and in case of fire call 301 and give the number of the nearest hydrant. That was all. An emergency fire squad would be quickly on the scene to combat with the fire.

SPOTTING A COMMUNIST

Probably the biggest headache the federal government has taken on is to identify alien Reds in this country. How can a man be identified as a Communist if he says he isn't? It takes more than a crystal ball.

Grenville

We read recently in The Watchman of the death and funeral at Clarenceville, of Mrs. Alex Derrick. Not knowing of her illness the news was rather a shock, and she will be sorely missed by her many friends who held her in high esteem.

She was formerly Miss Lillie Ritchie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ritchie. One of six daughters, she was educated at McGill University, receiving her diploma and later teaching at Crooks School and Chatham. She was a member of the Grenville Baptist Church when it was first organized.

Her first husband Mr. Hugh Wake was killed in an accident. Some years later she married Mr. Alex Derrick, of Clarenceville, who survives her.

Former Ministers

In a recent issue of a Toronto paper we were pleased to see the names of two of our former pastors mentioned when the Rev. T. J. H. Rich was inducted into the pastorate of Selkirk Baptist Church, Rev. J. H. Simpson giving the charge to the minister elect and to the congregation.

School Pupils at Seat of Government, Experience of Educational Benefit

Argenteuil M.P., Host to Previous Groups Entertains Pupils of Arundel Cons. School

Arundel — Friday last, 25 pupils with their principal, M Graham, left for Ottawa in a bus provided by the Central School Board. At 12-noon they arrived at the Houses of Parliament, where they were met by their host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Georges H. Héon. Standing at attention were several uniformed Mounted Police, who captivated the interest of the young spectators.

Guides conducted the group through the Senate Chambers, the House of Commons, the Hall of Fame, the Nurses' Memorial, the Dominion Memorial, the Museum, the National Gallery and other points of interest. Mr. Héon entertained his guests at luncheon in a private dining room close to the parliamentary restaurant, during which the boys and girls received pamphlets explaining the members' seating plan in the House of Commons. Later, in his office, Mr. Héon gave an informative talk about the average day of a Member of Parliament and described the impressive ceremony and tradition of the Canadian legislative system.

Again the group started off with guides, this time to visit the Parliamentary Library, the Memorial Chapel with its Book of Remembrance, the Peace Tower, where it was learned that 53 bells make up the carillon, the largest weighing 11 tons.

Finally, it was 3 o'clock and time for the House of Commons to convene. In the main hall the pupils watched the Speaker's procession, were fascinated by the mosaic pattern of the marble floor and the perfect examples of Gothic architecture. Then into the gallery of the House, where for 30 minutes the students witnessed the session. A debate on the budget was in progress — the Prime Minister, Mrs. Strum, Mr. Howe, Mr. Fournier and Mr. Bertrand spoke on this question. All were interested to see the government members carrying out their duties.

On the steps of the Houses of Parliament a picture of the group was taken, and Mr. Héon announced that each child would be sent a souvenir copy.

Mr. and Mrs. Héon later were hosts at a buffet supper. The boy and girl writing the best description of this trip is to receive a copy of the 1948 Canada Year Book.

Mr. Graham thanked their gracious hosts and the pupils expressed their appreciation with "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow".

The group returned to the awaiting bus, and at 9.30 p.m. arrived home in Arundel after a busy and interesting day. It was an experience from which these boys and girls learned much — a day when the strength of our democratic government was impressed on the minds of future Canadian citizens.

Annual Sessions of Orange Order Held at Bristol ; Officers Elected

The 99th annual session of the Loyal Orange Association and the 19th annual session of the L.O.B.A. of the Province of Quebec, were held May 21 and 22 at Pine Lodge, Bristol, Que. A very large number of delegates assembled from all parts of the province to transact the business and enjoy the fellowship of the occasion.

The Grand Lodge Officers of the L.O.B.A. exemplified the Scarlet Degree, exalting a candidate. Among the special visitors were R. W. Bros. W. J. Armstrong, editor of "The Sentinel", and J. Hammond, representative of the Orange Insurance Department. Many expressed sincere regret in the absence of R. W. Bro. Stanley Holt, Grand Master for the Province, due to the call of urgent business.

Much business came before the lodges concerned, and the reports of the various Grand Lodge officers showed the results of faithful and enthusiastic work for the Order and for the cause of Protestantism. The statistical and financial reports were satisfactory.

The proposed celebration on July 11 and 12 at Lansdowne Park, Ottawa, to commemorate the Battle of the Boyne, when thousands of Orangemen from all parts of Canada and U.S.A. will assemble, was discussed and plans made for the brethren to attend in county formation. Special arrangements are being made for the aged and infirm members able to attend on this occasion.

The Orange Protestant Orphanage, which came into being a year ago by the authority of the two Grand Lodges, was reported on by R. W. Bros. L. W. Janes and R. M. Butler. Up to March 31, printing and advertising, etc., had cost $944 and there was a balance of $3,743 on hand. Since that date about $2,000 had been received from various subscribers and lodges from all parts of the Dominion.

L.O.A. — C. Bradley, G. M.; Nelson Morrison, Deputy G.M.; Rev. R. S. Smith, G. Chap.; L. W. Janes, G. Sec.; R. H. Butler, G. Treas.; W. J. Cooper, G. Auditor and Organizer; Rev. G. T. Spriggs, Deputy G. Chaplain for Argenteuil County.

L.O.B.A. — Mrs. George Ball, G. Mistress; Mrs. G. Price, Deputy G. Mistress; Miss Stephens, G. Chaplain; Miss Helen, G. Sec.; Mrs. Burness, G. Treas.; Mrs. R. Davidson, Deputy G. Treas.

During the sessions the two lodges gathered for a joint divine service of thanksgiving and in memory of departed brethren and sisters. R. W. Grand Chaplain Bro. R. S. Smith gave the address. Other clergy of the order assisted in the service, and R. W. Bro. W. M. Brady read the list of the departed members.

Kent Rowley Trial At Next Assizes

R. Kent Rowley, Canadian director of the A.F.L. United Textile Workers of America, charged with two counts in connection with last year's strike at the Ayers Limited mills, will be tried at St. Jerome at the next Assizes, Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux decided last week.

Mr. Justice Fauteux's judgment handed down in St. Jerome court, ended a long period of conjecture as to whether the A.F.L. labor leader, facing trial for seditious conspiracy and conspiracy to intimidate workers, would be tried at St. Jerome or Montreal.

The judgment, setting St Jerome as the locale for the trial, rejected a request by the Crown that the hearings be held in Montreal. The next Assizes at St. Jerome will be held in the fall.

Body of Townsman Found on Island

The remains of a human body, discovered Sunday evening on what is known as Brosseau Island, half a mile below the Ayers Dam on the North River, were identified on Tuesday as those of Magloire (Mack) Villeneuve, 59-year-old painter.

Living on the Brownsburg Road, Lachute, the man disappeared from his home on October 20, 1946, and no trace of his whereabouts had since been found. The discovery last Sunday was made by Roland Malette.

Det. Leopold Dauphin, assisted by Traffic Officer H. Jones, recovered the remains, which offered little more than a skeleton and scant remnants of clothing to establish the victim's identity. Through fragments of a shirt and underwear, and trace of a leg fracture suffered in his childhood, the body identified as that of the missing man.

Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur presided at an inquest last evening in the town hall, and the jury, under chairmanship of J. A. Menard, ruled that death had been self-inflicted while the victim was under mental strain.

DIES AT HOME NEAR BROWNSBURG

Late Mrs. Archibald McGibbon

Mrs. McGibbon, beloved wife of Archibald Alexander McGibbon, died at her home Tuesday morning, May 18, after a long illness. . . She was born in Beach Ridge, Que., on March 28, 1869. Before her marriage 48 years ago, she was Miss Helen Ogilvy Smith. She is survived by her husband Archibald A. McGibbon, of Brownsburg, and one son, Bert, of Lachute.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. George B. Hicks at the home on Friday. Burial took place in the Lachute Cemetery. The pall-bearers were — Messrs. Everett McGibbon, David Black, Lebert Hume, William Boa, Alex Smith and William J. Boyd.

The funeral was attended by many mourners. Several of these came from distant points, among whom were two nieces, Mrs. P. R. Jonas of St. Ignace, Michigan, and Mrs. D. B. Smith, of Detroit, Michigan, both of whom helped to nurse Mrs. McGibbon in her last illness. There were a number of beautiful floral tributes.

Pays to Advertise !

One of those co-operative citizens who count this journal an asset to the community, has handed in a letter from an Ontario reader, which included a subscription to the Lions Club charity drawing, forwarded following a Watchman advertisement. There have doubtless been many other subscriptions received through this medium. . . . The credit is to the Lions Club members and merchants sponsoring these appeals — and, may we modestly add, to the effectiveness of Watchman advertising.

Election Held for East Ward Seat

Result of the civic "by-election" in East Ward last Saturday was a 33-vote majority for Wilbrod Cousineau (104) against Oscar Hotte (71).

Poll was held at 299 Main Street, and the number of ballots cast, 175 out of a possible 269, indicates some enthusiasm in the canvass for votes.

The aldermanic vacancy was occasioned by the disqualification of Oscar Hotte, elected last February to represent East Ward. Mr. Hotte stood for re-election when the seat was declared vacant, but was defeated by Wilbrod Cousineau, local business man.

District Gladiolus Society to Stage Flower Show

In consideration of the number of people interested in the growing of gladiolus in the surrounding country, a district society was formed at Hawkesbury late last year. The following officers were elected for 1947-48 — S. G. Mode, president, Vankleek Hill; R. H. Sherman, vice-president, Hawkesbury; J. Stevens, sec.-treas, Hawkesbury; Rev. Dr. W. McMillan, St. Andrews East, W. Beasley, Hawkesbury, L. W. Hammond, Lachute, Dr. D. Steeves, Hawkesbury, directors.

A further meeting was held in Hawkesbury, on April 22 last, and it was decided to hald a flower show in the Town Hall, Hawkesbury, on Saturday, August 21 next. All members are urged to help make this show a success. Only members will be permitted to exhibit.

Any persons wishing to join this society may do so by contacting J. Stevens, sec.-treas., Hawkesbury, or any of the above-named directors. Membership fee is $1, and as an affiliate member of the Canadian Gladiolus Society, $1 extra. This affiliate membership entitles the member to a copy of the year book, which affords a wealth of information on the culture of gladiolus and many other interesting points about this plant variety.

Further information as regards the flower show and prize lists will be published at a later date.

Wed at Calumet

Carkner - Mahon

The marriage of Joyce Ellen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mahon, of Calumet, Que., and Mr. Ellis Carkner, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carkner, of Vankleek Hill, Ont., was solemnized in Calumet United Church at 6 o'clock on Saturday evening, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough of Lachute officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon net fashioned in a long-waisted style with sweetheart neckline and very full skirt. She wore matching mitts. Her hip-length veil was caught up to form a coronet and held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Helen Martin, of Lachute, was gowned in a frock fashioned on the same lines as the bride, in blue, with matching headdress, and she carried a nosegay of pink, mauve and white sweet peas.

Best man was Mr. Lyle Carkner, brother of the groom. Ushers were Mr. Ian Mahon and Mr. R. Carkner, the groom's brother.

The church was decorated with spring flowers, the guest pews being marked by white satin ribbon and pink roses. Mrs. R. Owens, of Grenville, played the wedding music and Mr. Day, also of Grenville, sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Mrs. Mahon, mother of the bride, wore a black crepe ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Carkner, mother of the groom, was in blue velvet and black accessories, with a corsage of pink roses.

A reception was held at the bride's home, where members of the immediate family were entertained at a buffet supper. Later a largely attended reception was held in Lavigueur's Hall. The bride and groom then left for a honeymoon in Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a blue suit with black accessories. On their return they will reside in Vankleek Hill.

Two Mishaps on District Highways

Considerable damage was done to two passenger cars in a head-on collision at 11.30 Saturday night, on the highway at Stonefield — an automobile belonging to Eugene Leblanc, Verdun, being battered to the extent of $450 damages and a car belonging to William Lacasse, Hawkesbury, being damaged to the extent of an estimated $700.

Eugene Leblanc was taken to the Notre Dame Hospital at Hawkesbury, suffering several broken ribs caused by impact with the steering wheel. Treated by Dr. I. Smith, he was allowed to leave the hospital the following evening.

Earlier Saturday night at St. Andrews East, a crash occurred between two motorists, Richard Lavoie and Dr. A. L'Allier, both of St. Andrews, as the latter was about to turn in to his residence in the village. Considerable damage was caused to both automobiles.

Traffic Officer Howard Jones investigated both accidents.

Frontier branch had 18 members present, and two new members were welcomed. The roll-call was, "Name a flower beginning with the initial of your name". The president, Mrs. Douglas Clarke, had taken part in a broadcast discussion on the program, "Let's thresh it out", sponsored by Farm Forums of Quebec and Ontario, over station C.F.R.A., Ottawa. Five dollars was sent to Brownsburg School to assist with the purchase of records for educational purposes. As this was Agriculture meeting, a splendid address regarding the beginnings and progress of various Experimental Farms was given by Mr. E. H. Peters, B.S.A., Agriculture teacher of Lachute High School.

Jerusalem and Bethany had as their roll-call, "Give a biblical verse containing the name of a flower, a cereal or precious stone". As this branch has started a small library, each member was asked to donate a book to help enlarge the collection. An auction sale of bulbs and slips realized $9 for the Sick Fund.

At Lachute branch meeting, Mr. Linton Armstrong gave a short resumé of the History of Public Health, and an outline of what has been done by the County Health Unit. . . At the Study Group meeting, Miss Janet McOuat gave an interesting demonstration on serving a spring luncheon.

Lakefield members responded to the roll-call with "Hints on Housecleaning". A box of chocolates donated by Mrs. W. Sherritt, was raffled and won by Mrs. A. Kerr. A jumbled word contest was also held, Mrs. C. Dunn winning first prize. Several blocks for an afghan were handed in, and members exchanged bulbs, plants, etc.

Mille Isles had as their roll-call, "Name one of the lesser known vegetables". The members brought bulbs, plants, etc., for exchange, and a talk on slipping and repotting house plants was given by the convener of Agriculture. The members also held a sale of potted plants. Cards of acknowledgment were read from recipients of "personal parcels" overseas. Plans were made for catering to the convention at Lachute.

Morin Heights had 32 members and two guests present. The roll-call was a garden hint. The Agriculture convener read a paper on care of the African Violet. There was an exchange of seeds, slips and bulbs. Books loaned from the McGill Travelling Library had been much patronized during the winter. Arrangements were made by this branch to celebrate their 21st birthday, on May 26. Letters of thanks were read from recipients of "personal parcels".

Pioneer branch meeting took the form of a bus drive and outing, the members spending the day as the guests of Mrs. J. Cowan, and making an inspection tour through the O'Connell Stables. This branch is also joining with Jerusalem-Bethany in a St. John's Ambulance first-aid course, given by Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, of Lachute.

Upper Lachute-East End had 18 members present. The roll-call was an exchange of favorite recipes. Current Events were read. Ten dollars was subscribed to the Children's Memorial Hospital, and arrangements made to send a parcel overseas. Mrs. Gavin Walker, convener of Home Economics, gave a helpful paper on "Rugs and Carpets".

Legion Plans Drive For Building Fund

Last evening a special meeting of the Argenteuil Legion Branch No. 70 was held to discuss the organizing of a "Peanut" tag day in aid of the branch Building Fund. This will be the second function put on by the Legion to secure funds to build a Memorial Hall for Lachute. The first was held some time ago, in the form of a drawing, and over $1,000 was realized. This sum was the means of purchasing the site on which to build the hall; the land is situated on Foundry Street opposite the D. G. Simon feed store.

The peanut tag day will be held on Saturday, June 12, and will feature a parade with a special peanut float — a "Peanut Queen" and two "Peanut" escorts riding on the float. The float will tour Lachute during the day and bags of peanuts will be sold by the Legion members and other canvassers.

Annual Meeting of Que. Farm Forums

Macdonald College will hold its annual Farm Day on June 19 this year, it has just been announced by the chairman of the committee, Professor R. A. Ludwig.

The forenoon will be devoted to the annual meeting of the Farm Forums of Quebec, and the afternoon to tours of college departments, starting at 2 p.m. An exhibit on the theme "What's New in Agriculture" will be featured in the Main Building. This year's display will deal with recent developments in food production.

Four different tours are offered, with visitors free to take their choice. Of special interest to the ladies will be an inspection of the Household Science Department under the leadership of the department's director, Dr. Margaret McCready.

Visitors taking the horticultural and poultry tour will be shown a model farm garden, and a demonstration of recent trends in the handling of horticultural and poultry produce. Another tour will include demonstrations of a forage crop harvester, a hay baler and other equipment, and methods of increasing forage crop production through the use of Ladino clover and new grasses.

The fourth tour will include a dairy cattle demonstration and a visit to the experimental piggery, under the leadership of Professors Ness and Crampton.

Dinner will be served at 12.30 for those who have previously purchased tickets from their farm forum secretary. Others will be able to have a picnic lunch on the college lawn. A tea for the ladies will be held on the campus at 3 p.m.

Wartime Houses

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, which took over from Wartime Housing Ltd., are trying to induce the occupants of those houses to buy, and many and devious are the methods employed to further this end. Councils, municipal and otherwise, have been asked to extend agreements so that control can be perpetuated, and in some cases pressure has been exerted to bring unwilling councils into line.

The reason for all this is fairly obvious, as instance a statement by the Hon. C. D. Howe in parliment recently, when dealing with the costs of these houses. Said Mr. Howe: "The $5,000 average cost includes a good deal of land development; in fact $13,000,000 is in there for land development. Generally speaking the houses being sold today for $2,550 to $3,000 did not cost $5,000, although that might have been the average cost of all houses. One reason why we are selling wartime housing is that we are in an indefinite position with regard to it. These houses were built under contract for the duration of the war and one year after, and in most cases these agreements with the municipalities have not been renewed; so that we are in the position of being obliged to remove the houses from the land at any time the municipalities ask us to do so. Before we sell a house to a veteran we put in a concrete foundation, if the house does not have one, and we replace the wartime steel chimney with a brick chimney, and generally put the house in first class shape before we sell it to a private owner, who has rights to the property and security of tenure".

Health Insurance

"Our greatest national asset is the health and well-being of our people". So said the Prime Minister when announcing his eight-point national health program. Mr. Bracken, who followed the P.M., accused Mr. King of stealing the Progressive Conservative social security program as formulated at Winnipeg, and to an unbiased observer the two are almost interchangeable.

The authorship of this or that program is not what concerns the people of Canada, but the carrying of this program into effect. Mr. King's latest is not in the form of a bill; so far it is just a pious expression of future security, although (coming from the P.M. of

A short time ago we talked about the meaning of the words horsepower and kilowatt. We mentioned the word horsepower today has come to mean the ability to lift 550 pounds one foot in one second; and that a kilowatt is one-third as strong again as a horsepower and so can lift 733-⅓ pounds one foot in one second.

For those using electricity, however — the customers of the power company — another important phrase is "kilowatt hour" because the use of electricity is measured in kilowatt hours. The consumer usually pays for his electricity on the basis of the number of kilowatt hours which have been used.

As might be expected, the term kilowatt hour means the use of one kilowatt — or 1,000 watts — for one hour. A 100-watt light bulb, for instance, would burn 10 hours to use up one kilowatt hour of electricity. A 500-watt iron or toaster, on the other hand, would use a kilowatt hour in two hours. A 3,000-watt water heater would use a kilowatt hour in 20 minutes.

But just how much energy is involved in a kilowatt hour? To figure that out, let's go back to kilowatt — which is the ability to lift 733-⅓ pounds one foot in one second. As there are 3,600 seconds in an hour, a kilowatt hour represents the ability to lift 733-⅓ pounds one foot per second for 3,600 seconds, or a total of 3,600 feet.

Putting it another way, as a kilowatt is one-third as strong again as a horsepower, and as a horsepower roughly represents the actual power of a horse, a kilowatt hour of electricity will supply the same amount of energy as one and one-third horses working steadily for one hour: four horses working three hours supply energy equal to three kilowatt hours.

Until electricity came along, nobody could use a horse for a full hour at a cost of only a cent or two — now everybody uses the equivalent of the power of a horse time and time again for this low cost. And quite aside from cost, of course, is the fact that the electric current can do so many things that a horse never could do — such as lighting lights, toasting bread, washing clothes, heating water, and countless other jobs around the home, on the farm, and in the factory.

Seasonal FARM TOPICS

Edited by E. H. PETERS, B.S.A.

How Should Drainage Work be Accomplished ?

Whether the farm area to be drained is large or small, one drain or many, it is generally advisable to have a survey made. The plan when prepared will show:

1. The proper location for all mains, sub-mains and laterals.
2. The number and size of tile for each drain.
3. The possible grades and depths.
4. The best possible outlet.
5. The location of all obstructions, buildings, trees, fences, etc.

With this information at hand, the farmer is in a position to put in as much as his time, help or financial circumstances will permit. The main drains should be installed first and the others added at will. Further, he is in a position to let a contract and has a basis on which to calculate the cost of his system.

By reason of the fact that the same area often lends itself to different drainage schemes, the more economical can be chosen.

In laying out a drainage system we wish to obtain:

1. Thorough drainage for the entire area.
2. A system requiring the least amount of digging and the smallest number of feet of tile.
3. As few outlets and junctions as is practical.
4. A minimum number of large tile.
5. Sufficient grade on the drains.
6. A system easily installed from a machine operator's point of view.

Side Hill Drainage

Springs or seepage on side hills require careful consideration. Tile running directly up and down the hill do not work as effectively as running them across the face of the hill. Frequently one line of tile 3 to 3½ feet deep above the wet area will serve the purpose of cutting off the water from the wet area and dry it up. If systematic drainage is necessary on a heavy slope, the tile should run across the face of the hill and not up and down.

Installing the Tile

Trenches may be dug either with a ditching machine or by hand. The machine when carefully operated is quicker, more efficient and usually preferred on large contracts. Most of the machine operators are able to work to a blue-print, which serves as a basis for the contract. Generally, the farmer supplies and distributes the tile on the field convenient to the machine and backfills the trenches.

All machine-installed jobs should be inspected before the trenches are backfilled.

Hand Installation

Hand construction is worthy of consideration where a ditching machine is not available, when only a limited amount of work is to be done, on fairly extensive systems when good inexpensive labor is available or when machinery suitable for the construction of part of the trench can be utilized.

In good digging, a man can dig ten feet an hour to a depth of three feet, if the first spading has been plowed out.

It is advisable to have the drain surveyed, hub stakes located every hundred feet and a profile prepared so that an overhead line can be erected. This insures proper depths, uniform grades and leaves no doubt as to whether or not the drain will be satisfactory.

Machinery such as the ordinary plow, the Martin Ditcher, or the Little Wonder Ditcher, can be used to remove from 12 to 24 inches of earth from the trench. The rest must be removed by hand and the ditch dottom properly graded by use of the overhead line. The ordinary tile spade and scoop will be found convenient in completing the trench.

The Little Wonder Ditcher can be drawn by two three-horse teams or better, by two tractors, removing from 4 to 6 inches of soil each trip. It works best when the soil is moist and preferably in a sod field. A trench from 24 to 28 inches can be constructed.

FARM ACT UPPED OUTPUT

The over-all result of the Farm Improvement Loans Act (passed in 1944) has been to tend to improve production by increasing the equipment available for the purpose . . . more land . . . more livestock . . . more machinery . . . more trucks to speed delivery, better farm buildings and homes for the owners.

Signs Lack Paint

IT LOOKS as though a lot of road signs will have to be changed before perfect visibility is achieved — states a trade release from the paint manufacturers. The remark is aimed to explode the belief that plain black and white is the most effective marking for signs and warning signals. According to experiments in color visibility, black and white combinations rank fifth, with black on yellow by far the most highly visible.

The comparison is interesting — but remotely. Insofar as this district is concerned, it would be of more practical worth to make road signs even legible. Hundreds of signboards are sadly in need of paint (plain black and white will satisfy), and apart from their unsightliness and illegibility, it would be an asset to local pride to renovate these rusty and battered indicators, now, before the season is far advanced. . . . The complaint applies equally to the provincial and the municipal road markings — and particularly in Lachute.

Case of the Summer Resident

THE GRIEVANCE of a summer resident on the shores of Lake Ontario finds a counterpart in the experience of visitors to similar resort areas. While we have no particular complaint of injustices upon seasonal visitors to this county, it is fitting that the views of such property holders be weighed and appreciated. Space in this column is therefore accorded to the case in point . . .

At a recent Assessors' Association gathering, a member launched a "violent" attack upon the municipalities, his own included, on the treatment of summer residents. He pointed out that these residents "paid full municipal taxes and received little or no benefit; full school taxes and never had a child at school; summer roads which they used two months in the year; winter roads which they never used; full water taxes for water used only two months; their property assessed higher than the year-round-residents . . . and yet if one of them, no matter whether he had been a ratepayer for 25 or 30 years, made the slightest request to the council, he was treated as an intruder who had no business to be heard". He brought in the fact that everyone was expected to contribute to every church function, no matter which denomination he belonged to, to every charity, and pointed out the amount they paid for local labor, and to the local stores. . . This particular municipality bordered Lake Ontario, and there was a large summer colony along the lake. The residents, tiring of the treatment which the complainant here describes, finally broke away and formed a municipality of their own.

EVERY NEWSPAPER man connected with a responsible newspaper knows that, while newspapers make mistakes (newspaper men are far more aware of them than the public), the conception of newspaper publishers and editors taking orders from advertisers and financial bosses is the height of fantasy.

Cracker-Barrel Commentator

ANDY CLARKE is dead, and radio listeners on the farms and in the towns and villages have lost a friend.

He died as he would have liked — in the midst of preparations for a broadcast, with weekly newspapers scattered about him and his paste-pot and scissors nearby.

For almost eight years this small, grey man with the engaging smile had talked each Sunday morning to the people "in those important parts of Ontario and Quebec that lie outside the cities".

In a voice that might have come right from their own back concessions, he told them of happenings in the rural areas — news painstakingly searched out in 250 weekly newspapers. His informal manner and the kindness and friendliness in his words made him seem one of the family circle, a commentator with no more pretentiousness than the hired man.

At the start, his Neighborly News broadcasts were an experiment in rounding up from the weekly newspapers the week's happenings in the towns and villages and townships of Ontario.

They were an instant and unexpected success, rolling up so many listeners — many of them in the cities — that the CBC extended them to include Quebec and identical weekly broadcasts were started in British Columbia, the Prairies and the Maritimes. It is to be regretted that the subject matter prevented Andy taking his cracker barrel commentary onto a national stage.

Old Andy — he was the sort of man who would be given that affectionate "old" — received probably the largest consistent mail of any CBC speaker and not one letter in 50 was critical. Once in a while they kidded him about his heavily-Ontario pronunciation of Quebec place names — or he might inadvertently overlook the news of a five-legged calf at Drummondville, or a 2 pound muskie at Lake Scugog. He took such communications with high philosophy and made each of them an item for his next week's broadcast.

There probably has never been a more conscientious radio commentator. He spent almost a week preparing a 14-minute broadcast and would never miss checking one of the 250 weeklies for fear he might slight someone who qualified for his Over-Ninety Birthday Club.

Characters like Andy are few and far between. His passing will leave an empty spot in the lives of many of his listeners. None of them will forget the pleasant drawl and the kindly, homey philosophy that were a part of Andy Clarke.

Believe It or Not

THAT it does not rain in London quite as often as legend suggests is proved by the fact that, in order to shoot a scene for Individual Pictures' production "London Belongs to Me", the company had to employ London firemen who played their hoses into the air above Westminster Bridge to create the illusion of a rainy day.

The People Asked For High Taxes!

"MY WEEK"
By R. J. Deachman

The budget is out; and it is the solemn duty of all people with conflicting views to tear it apart. I hope they do so. Not that I deem the budget particularly bad; taking the circumstances into consideration, it may be fairly good. In fact, it may go down in history as the first good thing the Federal Government has done in May, 1948.

There are two conflcting opinions on this budget—pardon me, there are four, the Government, the Opposition, the C.C.F. and the Social Credit Party. Perhaps we may as well consider the first two and forget the others momentarily.

The Government is attempting to develop the habit of a compensatory budget. Taxes will be high in good times, debts will be reduced, expenditures will be cut—that's hope for the future, and a dim one unless the people arouse themselves to the need for it. Then when hard times come (and they will come, have no doubt about that), the Government will loosen up, reduce taxes, increase expenditures, particularly along the line of public works having a permanent or even an asset of value. So the tendency will be to level up — avoid the depth of depression, and the peaks of boom, which, as the economic records of the nation reveal, have followed after each other.

Now for the second point of view. Here the theory is that the high cost of living is, in some measure, due to the high rate of taxation. That is true, if we accept the idea that a reduction of taxation and the resultant lower price would stimulate production and thus improve the economic position of the Dominion. Unfortunately this anticipated result is not likely to follow. We are in an inflationary cycle. A broad cut in the Sales Tax now might lose the revenue and fail to get the price reductions. Normally tax cuts are a wise policy, but today we do well to reduce debts and live frugally. Who knows what lies ahead in the world of today; we must budget for conditions as they are.

All this makes me ponder mightily. If we had gone to sleep the night before the budget and for some reason the budget had been brought down by the Conservative Party, would it have been very similar to the one which Mr. Abbott produced, and would Mr. Abbott, as chief financial critic of the opposition, have made criticism not unlike those delivered by Mr. J. M. MacDonnell, the Prog.-Con. Member for Muskoka, Ont.? If so, what thin partitions do our lines divide? Politics has its funny moments!

• • •

There is one other thing that should be hammered into the minds of the people. They asked for high taxes. All shades of politics support almost every possible measure of spending. I don't know any other means by which we can get lower taxes except by running into debt or reducing expenditures. It will need courage to do it. The people believe in high taxes right through the year until budget day. Then they criticize the budget because taxes are not reduced, despite the increasingly higher public expenditures. But a chance will come. I am thoroughly convinced that the worm will turn. The tired taxpayer who now forks out $2,664 millions a year will begin to change his mind about expenditures. Of course, in this vast sum, there are some non-tax revenue items and the debt has been reduced — but even with these the load is heavy. If taxes could be cut, and cost of living decline—not too precipitously, of course — it would be a godsend in more sense than one for the people of Canada.

"On Parliament Hill"

Canada) carrying considerable weight and authority. We would like to see a time limit on its embyro stage, and learn when, if ever, it is likely to become law and not an election promise.

Mr. Coldwell neatly remarked: "It is fortunate that we live in a democracy where from time to time there are by-elections and provincial elections. I have noticed that for some uncanny reason exceedingly interesting proposals are often made just about the time these events occur."

More About Housing

The other day in Ottawa a young woman with a beautiful child five years of age was asked by a friend if she did not wish she had another baby. She said, "There is certainly no use thinking about another baby with the housing situation as it is in Ottawa". Mr. John Blackmore, who told this story, said: "It should be recognized that this nation is in a contest for survival, and its survival may well depend upon the number of children that are born and raised within the next twenty years. The conditions under which many of our people live are such as to destroy their emotional and moral health. Emotional and moral health are two things we simply cannot afford to sacrifice. Far too many of the toilers of tomorrow, and the taxpayers of tomorrow, and far too many of the fighters of the future, cannot now find where to shelter their infant heads throughout Canada; nor have the children wholesome places where they can play while growing up. We have a good example of successful housing in Sweden. There is a rental rebate for children. For example, for every child under 16 there is a rebate of 10 per cent of the rent. The initial rate of rent is $360 for a three-room flat with kitchen and bath. According to the arrangement a family with three children would be paying only $250 a year for the kind of accommodation I have indicated, while a family with five children would pay only $180 a year".

And the Minister answered: "Any individual who wants to build a house can borrow probably up to 90% of the cost of that house, if it is a low-cost house".

Mr. Harris (Danforth):: "Too much".

Mr. Howe: "I know, it is too much for prudence; nevertheless we hope to get houses built. Any city that wants the government to build houses has only to ask for it. The requirement is that the city must furnish the serviced land, provided that the cost of doing so does not exceed $600. If it is more than $600 the government pays the difference".

Don't try to save too much

But it's based on our experience with thousands of depositors, and we think you'll agree it's sensible.

The simple secret of saving is regularity . . . deposit money regularly, and leave it there until you have the amount you want for some specific purpose.

If, on the other hand, you try to save more than you can afford it becomes not only a burden, but an impossibility. You find you have to miss one or two deposits, you find yourself drawing out your savings for some current need.

Decide on a sum you can afford, make your deposits regularly, and enjoy saving!

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

Do you heed the request: "Keep Off the Grass"? Most people do . . . but there is always the odd person who pays no attention. Whether this sign is in a park or on your neighbor's lawn, it is common courtesy to respect it. The sign is there because someone wants the grass to grow, not because of a selfish whim. A community is only as beautiful as you care to have it . . . and by doing your share you are making a real contribution to "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

116th Anniversary of Presbyterian Church

Next Sunday, June 6, special services will mark the 116th anniversary of the Presbyterian Church in this community. These will be conducted by the Rev. Chas. Maclean, pastor of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church.

It was in the year 1796 that Lachute really started as a settlement, but there was no Presbyterian minister of the gospel until 1818, the citizens being then connected with the church at St. Andrews, whose pastor was the Rev. Mr. Henderson. In 1832, the local congregation withdrew from St. Andrews, and the following year started work on their own church. This and other buildings were used through a steady period of progress until the consummation in 1925, and in 1932 through a gift of the late William Rodger, the present beautiful edifice was constructed.

The congregation are looking forward to this celebration and congratulations are extended on this anniversary of the Presbyterian Church in Lachute.

Archie McPhee Ends 44-Year Railway Career

(From the Fort William Times-Journal)

When C.P.R. passenger train No. 3 pulled into the depot here on Saturday night from the east it marked the end of a lengthy career of railroading for the man in charge of the train. That man was Archibald (Archie) McPhee, conductor, of 511 South Vickers Street, who made his last run after 44 years of service with the Canadian Pacific Railway. He now is retired on pension.

Mr. McPhee has been receiving the congratulations of his many friends at the lakehead and east to Chapleau and by company officials.

Archie McPhee, who was born at Avoca, Quebec, started his railroading at Schreiber in 1904. He signed on as a brakeman and won promotion to conductor, running on freight east and west out of Schreiber and spare passenger runs. About 12 years ago he was promoted to regular passenger conductor working out of Fort William east to Chapleau and return.

In 1937 Mr. and Mrs. McPhee moved from Schreiber to Fort William, where they have since made their home.

Enjoying good health, Mr. and Mrs. McPhee plan to take a trip to the west coast and if the place and weather are to their liking they in all probability will make Vancouver their future home.

Visitation to Orange Assembly in Avoca

On Tuesday, May 18, the Argenteuil County Master of the Orange Order, R. W. Bro. L. Tomalty, made his official visitation to Avoca L.O.L. No. 721, but due to the fact that the R. S. Chapter No. 5 had arranged to meet in the lodge-room the same night, the members of Avoca had postponed their regular meeting.

The W. Com., R.W. Rev. Bro. G. T. Spriggs, accompanied by R. W. Bro. W. J. Cooper, R.W. Bro. L. Tomalty, Bros. Hugh Morrison, and C. Dixon, assisted by Bros. J. E. Provincal, P. Farrara, Allan McPhee, Sam Smith, Howard Smith and W. Copeland, conducted the meeting of the Royal Scarlet Chapter No. 5 of Argenteuil, and exalted Bro. Donall Kelly to membership in the Chapter — the candidate being the great grandson of one of the founders of the Avoca Lodge, which was formed 97 years ago. Several matters were under discussion, including the campaign for funds for the Provincial Orange Home for Needy Children, the celebration on July 11-12 at Landsdown Park, Ottawa, and the Orange picnic at Cassburn on July 10.

Lunch was served the visiting brethren, by members of Avoca Lodge.

Wedding in City Church, Of Interest to Many Relatives and Friends

Fisher - Banks

A wedding of interest here, took place May 15 in the First Presbyterian Church, Montreal, when Frances Muriel, granddaughter of William A. Graham, of North River, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Banks, of Montreal, was united to Leonard Weldon Fisher, of Middle Stewiacke, N.S. Officiating minister was the Rev. C. Ritchie Bell, the organist Miss W. Drysdale, and the soloist Miss J. Wilkinson, who sang "Because" during the signing of the register. The church was decorated with pink and white snapdragons against a background of greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin with long veil fastened in a cap effect with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of Brier Cliff roses with white bouvardia. She was attended by her two sisters, wearing floor-length gowns of net over taffeta, and halo hats — Evelyn in yellow and Betty in blue. They carried bouquets of multi-colored sweet peas.

The groom was supported by Donald Banks, brother of the bride. The ushers were Floyd Bradford, of Lachute, and Robert Taylor, of Montreal.

A reception followed, at the Rialto Hall. The bride's mother wore midnight blue crepe with black accessories and a corsage of roses. The bride's table was decorated with a three-tier wedding cake, also side drapings of green and white. Other decorations in the room were in green and white.

Mr. Douglas Bradford, of Lachute, uncle of the bride, was toastmaster, giving the toast to the bride, which was fittingly replied to by the groom. The Rev. J. Taylor, of Ormstown United Church, who with his wife and daughter, was among the wedding guests, proposed the toast to the bridesmaids, and gave a humorous speech.

The bride travelled in a blue crepe dress with matching hat, wearing a gray gabardine coat, with black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Catherine Booth Hospital, while the groom is engaged with the Department of Lands and Forests in Nova Scotia. After a brief honeymoon in Ottawa, they left to take up residence at Brookfield, N.S.

Many out-of-town guests from Lachute, Brownsburg, Cushing, Ormstown and Toronto attended the marriage, including the bride's grandfather, Mr. W. A. Graham.

The bride, departing from the usual custom of throwing her bouquet of flowers to the bridesmaids or young lady guests, had the bouquet sent to Lachute and placed upon the grave of her late beloved grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Graham.

For "A Day in June"

By Frances Barton

How would you like to play "hooky" from the kitchen for a day? "Rare" is the word the poets use to describe these early summer days. But you will never know unless you are learning the trick of getting out of the kitchen frequently. . . . And the family needn't be neglected — they'll never guess it didn't take you hours to prepare dinner. That is, if you serve them this delectable Cheese Biscuit Ring filled with any one of the delicious combinations suggested in the recipe. It's a one-dish meal. A crisp green salad and fruit for dessert do the rest.

Cheese Biscuit Ring

2 Cups sifted flour, 2½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons shortening, 1 cup grated American cheese; ¾ cup milk (about).

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening and cheese. Add milk all at once and stir until soft dough is formed. Turn out on floured board and knead 30 seconds, or enough to shape. Roll ½-inch thick and cut with 2-inch floured biscuit cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450°F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 10 to 12 biscuits.

Cheese Biscuit Ring. — Prepare biscuits as directed. Place on ungreased baking sheet, with sides touching, to form an 8-inch circle. Bake as directed. Place on serving platter and fill centre with creamed asparagus, mixed vegetables, or fish, or with chicken à la king.

For the Jam Cupboard

By Betty Barclay

Rhubarb and strawberry conserve is too good to pass by, when these fruits are at their peak season. Here's a recipe which blends the lusciousness of these two fruits into a conserve you'll be proud to serve next winter. The combination of corn syrup and sugar gives a nice texture and sheen, and just the right degree of sweetness to this conserve.

Strawberry Rhubarb Conserve

2 Cups (½ pound) prepared rhubarb, 1 cup seedless raisins, 2 sups sugar, 1 cup Karo corn syrup, 1 large orange, 4 cups (1¼ pounds) prepared strawberries, ½ cup blanched walnuts, coarsely chopped.

To prepare rhubarb, wash and cut into ½-inch pieces. Place in deep kettle. Add raisins, sugar and syrup. Remove peel from orange and cut away one-half of the inner white part. Chop peel and add to rhubarb. Cut orange pulp, entirely free from membrane, into small pieces and add to rhubarb. Meanwhile, wash about 1½ quarts fully ripe strawberries. Drain and hull. Add to rhubarb mixture. Bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat; simmer, stirring occasionally until thick, about 30 to 34 minutes. Remove from heat and cool about 5 minutes. Blanch walnuts by covering with boiling water for about 3 minutes, then drain and cover with cold water. Drain; chop and add to rhubarb mixture. Pour conserve into hot sterilized glasses. Paraffin. Makes 7 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

London Hair-Do's Feature Upsweep

Winning Coiffures Show New Popularity for Style Long A Favorite On This Side

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, May 20 (CP) — The upsweep hair-do is gaining popularity in Britain.

British hairdressers recently showed off their latest creative ideas at a hairdressers' competition. And the upsweep, long one of the favorite stylings among Canadian and United States women, came out as one of the top favorites — with British variations.

The winning day style rose in a V of curls to a high central roll with the back upswept to a heart shape of interlaced waves and curls. Second place went to a setting featuring sweeping waves from the left side across the back of the head, finishing in a large palm curl and the right side forming two matching palm curls.

Another lovely day style rose in deep waves to a high central roll backed by interlaced curls. The sides swept back into the softly waved roll curls, providing a break between the high crown and the back curls and giving a Grecian effect.

Pompadour for Evening

Judged the best evening style was a high Pompadour, colored silvery pink, green and mauve which gave a mother-of-pearl effect. Here too, the back was an upswept V of interlaced waves and curls.

The second choice for evening style went to a high upsweep of soft rolls and curls, the sides sweeping into the high centre crown. Small black curls were combed over an interlacing S of ostrich feathers, which, coming from the left, fell behind the right to the shoulder.

Another evening style featured a front of curls sweeping back in soft fan shapes to a high Spanish comb. This had a soft curl caressing the temples and the sides, combed straight back, rose to a curl pinned high on the comb (back or front for alternate sides). The back was also upswept.

A silver-blonde style swept straight up to a nest of pink puff curls. The straight upsweep, caught in the centre by a jewelled band, had a pouf effect.

Dramatic Soprano
