Argenteuil M.P. Criticizes Budget No Relief to Canadian Taxpayer

Income Tax Exemptions Inadequate

A forceful and well prepared address by George H. Héon, M.P. for Argenteuil, was delivered in French during debate on the budget in the House of Commons last Thursday. Following is the text (slightly abridged) of Mr. Héon's remarks as recorded in Hansard:

The budget proposals . . were received by our aggravated people with no more enthusiasm than was displayed by the Minister of Finance (Mr. Abbott) in presenting them, or by hon. members in digesting them. This statement of the government's tax policy has brought no relief, no easing of the burden of income tax. . .

Among the chief victims of this new tax policy will be the heads of families, specially in the Province of Quebec, where large families are not uncommon. Already they were overburdened by . . taxes, by the dwindling away of their pay envelopes from which were deducted the taxes collected at the source, unemployment insurance contributions and the like, by the ever-increasing cost of food and clothing, and by a disheartening decline in the buying power of our Canadian dollar.

In fact, because tax exemptions remain unchanged while the people's purchasing power has been cut down by the higher cost of living, the income tax, though remaining at the same level, may well be considered higher in comparison with former years.

In April of 1947, the cost of living stood at 130.6 while today it has reached 151.6, highest point in the history of this country, not excepting the period that followed the first great war, although at the time there were no such things as controls and cyclical budgeting.

In the past twelve months therefore, the cost of living index has gone up 21 points. In view of this increase, taxes and exemptions that remain at the same level as last year are causing taxpayers a substantial hardship.

Canadian taxpayers had a right to expect a substantial tax cut. In the Liberal party's 1945 election platform (which I have before me) I find the following pledges:

"Tax reductions — that the Liberal government will gradually reduce taxes when the war is over.

"Taxes will be lowered in order to release the people's purchasing power and give Canadians prosperity, employment and freedom.

"War taxes will be lowered or repealed on May 11, 1945. Consumer goods will soon be back on the market at 1941 prices. Income tax reductions will come next."

The steady rise in the cost of living index, and the government's tax policy, are a far cry from these pledges. If that is what is understood by cyclical budgeting, it were perhaps better to return to the old principle that allowed the taxpayer to benefit fully from any accumulated surplus. This year, the apparent surplus amounts to $679 million, and will be devoted almost exclusively to reducing the national debt, that now reaches the astronomical figure of $12,378 million.

During the war, Canadians sacrificed much in the way of life, money and labor. They now have a right to expect tax relief when a huge surplus is declared. It is fitting only that part, say half of this astounding surplus, be applied to debt reduction. And in all fairness the other half should be used to relieve the taxpayer. Canada has given or loaned without security billions and billions to nations more powerful than itself. . . It is hard to understand how today we must suddenly clamp down and deprive the taxpayers of reductions fully justified by the high cost of living and the surplus declared.

I repeat that the man in the street . . above all the family man who, without flinching, witnessed the dance of billions during the war and to whom every promise was given that we might win the war, have a right to complain about those low exemptions and high taxes. Some people go on repeating that Canada has become a great international power and plays a leading part in foreign affairs. Let us be careful lest too heavy taxes, too long maintained, seem too high a price to pay for the privilege of contributing, from the background, in the making of peace treaties, and lest Canadians decide at last to start minding their own business by looking after their own security.

Countless labor disputes have broken out these last twelve months, and . . it can be stated in a general way that, as a result of arbitration, workers have obtained redress while employers have paid the salaries which their income allowed. However, the cost of living has reached the highest level yet, and might increase still further. There will surely be more such claims from labor, and as most employers will be in no position to increase wages indefinitely, strikes, some of them violent, will paralyse our economy. It is therefore up to the government to follow the only course that is left open if these new conflicts are to be avoided. Income tax exemptions must therefore be raised substantially, both for single people and married people with dependents.

It is unfortunate that the government did not see fit to take note of the suggestions contained in the brief submitted by the Catholic bishops of Quebec, and by other religious denominations, respectfully suggesting an increase of income tax exemptions.

Let us have a look at today's exemptions:

For single persons, the exemption is $750. In view of the high

Late Jas. W. Gall

The record of James Walker Gall during his past half-century as a resident of Lachute, is a truly inspiring example of citizenship. The sudden passing of this well known figure, last Monday at his home in East Ward, terminated a role of service in many constructive spheres; he was in his 80th year.

To enumerate the offices of the late "Jim" Gall would appear to overburden the capacities of one townsman. . . He was for 23 years secretary-treasurer of the Argenteuil County Council; for 30 years secretary-treasurer of the Parish of St. Jerusalem, and served in the same capacity for the Municipality of Wentworth; for 19 years he was secretary-manager of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society and of Lachute Fair — being honored with a life membership in the Society, in recognition of his services. He was secretary of the Lachute Protestant Cemetery Corporation from 1916 to 1943 and a member of the Protestant School Board for many years, also serving as chairman of that body. Only a few years ago he retired from his several civic offices to lead a more leisurely life.

In these various capacities the late Mr. Gall enjoyed a wide and cordial acquaintanceship throughout the district. But in his religious and recreative interests he proved equally energetic. For 23 years, and until his death, he served as chairman of the board of stewards of the United Church. He was a past-president of Lachute Curling Club, and keenly active in both curling and golf. At a special gathering of Curling Club colleagues last March, honoring his 79th birthday, Mr. Gall recalled interesting experiences during his membership since inauguration of the club in 1919. . . Besides these honorary roles he had devoted his efforts to many national campaigns in this district, both charitable and patriotic. "Altogether a creditable past, and a round of experience which may well account for the high estimation placed upon his citizenship"— to quote a tribute upon his record previously voiced by this journal.

Born in Edinburgh, Scotland, James W. Gall came to Canada as a youth, spending a number of years in the Eastern Townships and the U.S.A. He came to Lachute 50 years ago from the Laurentian area, and was married to Miss Lillian Forbes of this town in 1902. He opened an insurance business here, and subsequently took into partnership Mr. Edward M. Jones, who later took over the business.

The late Mr. Gall is mourned by his widow and one daughter, (Edythe) Mrs. Wm. Phillips, now of Missanabie, Ont.; he is survived also by one brother, Thomas Gall, of Stevensville, Montana.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the United Church, and seldom has a larger gathering of fellow citizens and acquaintances assembled to pay tribute to a departed friend. His pastor, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, spoke feelingly of his contribution to the welfare and progress of the church, and fellow members of the congregation shared in the sense of personal loss. A profusion of flowers bespoke a widefelt tribute, and sympathy for the bereaved.

The remains were laid in their last resting place at Lachute Cemetery. Honorary pall-bearers were — Dr. G. A. Clunie, Major G. G. Mitchell, Messrs. A. A. McOuat, W. M. Scott, R. E. Reguin and J. S. Giles; pall-bearers were — Messrs. S. S. Campbell, Ross and Geo. Muir, Alex Bothwell, Geo. Y. Deacon and E. M. Jones.

Increase in Subscription Rates

Effective from June 1st, subscription rates to The Lachute Watchman are now as follows — $2.50 a year in Canada; $3 a year to the United States and Abroad.

Calf Sale Held by Ayrshire Breeders

The Laurentian and North of Montreal Ayrshire Clubs held their fourth annual calf sale last Saturday at Lachute Fair Grounds.

There was a large crowd and the event proved a success, as in previous years. Although bidding at first was slow, before the sale was over many good prizes were realized. The top-price calves sold for $200, making an average of $107 per head.

An added feature to this sale was the drawing for a pedigreed heifer calf, Elsmere Juliet. Alex Bothwell, county agronomist, was on hand as usual to draw the lucky ticket (No. 114), which was held by Frank Morrin, of the Lachute district.

The ladies of Frontier W.I. served lunch, and the occasion was generally counted as a day well spent among enthusiasts of the Ayrshire breed.

Livestock Entries Almost Doubled For '48 Spring Fair

Premier J. Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island will officiate at the opening ceremonies of the Lachute Spring Fair. The ceremonies, billed for the evening of June 16, will launch the largest Fair the Argenteuil Agricultural Society has ever presented.

Entries of livestock for the 1948 Spring Fair are almost double those of last year, with a notable uptrend in display of beef cattle. A large number of new exhibitors have entered their animals, and the judging will be climaxed by a parade of all cattle and horses on the fourth day of the exhibition.

Colorful displays of handicrafts will again be on view in the Main Building, presented by the County Women's Institute, whose members exhibit quilts and rugs, ideas for making over aprons, dresses, and other interesting displays of home-crafts. Hundreds of women annually view these displays entered by the county's best cooks, needlewomen and knitters.

Harness racing, riding and jumping shows, and a gala midway, will afford a diversity of interests, while the popular Joe Basile and his Madison Square Garden Band will provide music throughout the four days.

High Doings in Rural Settlement

In the usually sedate and peaceable settlement of Avoca, the arm of the law reached out last weekend when a dozen or so dectectives, from the morality squad and the liquor police, raided a farmhouse operated by one Marentette, alias Galento. As a result, 21 persons face trial on various charges. The establishment, situated at the junction of the Lac Commandant road in Avoca, was raided at an early hour Sunday morning.

Arraigned in court following the arrest, the operator of the establishment pleaded not guilty to two charges — first, of selling liquor without a permit, and second of keeping a disorderly house. A total of 25 habitués, or found-ins, pleaded guilty to being in a place where liquor had been sold illegally. Three girls pleaded guilty to the same charge, while 17 found-ins pleaded not guilty to being in a "common bawdy house" (to apply the legal phraseology).

Trial of the accused will take place tomorrow, Friday, at St. Jerome.

It is reported the raid followed complaints from people of the countryside among whom the goings-on at this establishment had caused some concern.

21st Anniversary Observed by W.I. At Morin Heights

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — The Women's Institute of this community observed their 21st anniversary on Wednesday evening, May 26, with a banquet held at Bellevue Hotel. Each member was accompanied by her husband or friend, and a total of 80 enjoyed the chicken dinner.

The president, Mrs. O. Aldom, after welcoming the guests proposed a toast to the King, to which the gathering responded by singing the national anthem.

Mrs. Douglas Davis, who had been the organizer of this branch in 1927, gave an interesting talk on the progress and the officers of the Institute in that first year.

Mr. Douglas Davis was then called upon to propose a toast to the British Commonwealth, which he did most capably. Mayor C. D. Campbell also gave a short address and proposed a toast to Canada; "O Canada" was sung in response. Mrs. Hector Paquette, of Montreal, was pianist during the evening.

The playing of "court whist" provided pleasurable diversion during the remainder of the evening. The ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. Buxton, Sr.; 2nd, Mrs. M. Dey; 3rd, Mrs. M. Millard. Gentlemen —1st, Mr. Willis Seale; 2nd, Mr. H. Gillingham; 3rd, Mr. Syd Munsey.

Form New Catholic School Parish

Brownsburg — The school question in this district has ever been a troublesome one to deal with, no less in the Catholic than in the Protestant denominations. To ease what was a considerable drain on the Brownsburg Catholic Commission, efforts were made to overcome the deficit caused by children of Brownsburg Parish going to the Lachute school because of the much closer proximity. This matter has been corrected by the creation of another parish, which takes a portion of the three older parishes St. Philippe, Lachute and Brownsburg. This new parish is called Immaculate Conception, and is situated in the general area around the Lachute Exhibition Grounds.

IN BROWNSBURG

Specially Contributed

In regard to local educational interests, the Lachute Exhibition imposes a certain difficulty at this time. The Lachute Exhibition is pretty much of a fixture on the third week of June each year. The third week in June is also the period of final examinations in the local schools, and parents and teachers recognize that the Fair has a disturbing effect on this very important school event. As examinations are held all over the province simultaneously, it is hardly possible to have them changed; in fact it is impossible. So the kids have to "swat" while the Fair offers its delightful distractions.

Corpus Christi Procession

The yearly exposition of the Blessed Sacrament in procession through the streets, was very largely attended this year. Rev. Fr. Manseau was chief marshal, and the various organizations marched in order along a route through the Chenierville district.

Waterworks

The extension passed by the council will soon be in progress of construction. There was some unavoidable delay owing to the unfortunate demise of the contractor, Mr. W. H. Kelly. The estate has now undertaken to proceed with the work.

Attends Scout Field Day at Mount Royal

Scoutmaster J. N. Robinson, of the 1st Lachute Troop, attended the Boy Scout field day at the Town of Mount Royal last Saturday, in which 400 Boy Scouts, Cubs and Leaders from 30 troops and packs participated.

Lord Rowallan, Chief Scout of the British Empire, was an unscheduled visitor prior to his return flight by airliner to Britain. Scoutmaster Robinson was privileged to meet the Chief Scout on this occasion, and various Commissioners and officials from Canada and abroad.

It is still the wisest thing to stop, look and listen at all railroad crossings. Motorists will find they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by doing this.

Tells Experience, Air Trip to Coast Passing Devastated Flood Areas

"A Week-End in Vancouver"

— By R. A. Giles —

It sounds strange and almost boastful to hear one say "I'm spending the week-end in Vancouver", but yet in this modern age of science and progress it's quite feasible — in fact it was my privilege and pleasure to do so just recently, through the courtesy of Trans-Canada Airlines, whose service now covers our vast country from coast to coast, taking in points in the United States and regular flights to Bermuda and the British Isles.

It was the occasion of the inauguration of a regular "North Star" service from east to west, but first let me tell something of the huge plane which was our home during two days of travel, and of the rapid growth of the Company.

Trans-Canada was incorporated by Act of Parliament in April 1937, and from a very modest beginning new routes and services have been steadily added until today one can reach almost any place of importance through its facilities.

The famous Lancasters so popular in the past have now given way to the North Star liners of which there are 20 in constant service.

Launched in July 1946, the first North Star flew across Canada in September and its performance as well as its appearance was impressive. It is an all-metal low-wing monoplane, with an all-up weight of 78,000 pounds. It has accommodation for 40 passengers and a crew of six and a cargo capacity of 330 cubic feet, providing space for 4,000 pounds of mail and air express of average density. It can carry more than 3,000 gallons of fuel, is 93 feet 5 inches long, has a wing span of 117 feet 6 inches and stands 27 feet 8 inches high.

The North Star's power plant consists of four British-built Rolls-Royce engines with two stages of super-charging which enable them to develop 4,600 horsepower when cruising at an altitude of 24,000 feet. The total takeoff power is 7,200 horsepower. The aircraft has a maximum speed of 350 miles an hour with a maximum cruising speed of 325 m.p.h. The North Star is able to fly 3,500 miles without stopping and as high as 28,000 feet. In a non-stop flight test it covered the distance from Vancouver to Montreal, 2,639 miles in 6 hours and 52 minutes, a remarkable feat.

It is equipped with Loran, which gives the pilot his location in a few seconds when flying as far as 1,500 miles from a shore station. The radio altimeter gives him his exact height above the water or the ground. And in addition to being guided by radio along the airway — "flying the beam" — the airplane may be thus guided right down to the runway.

The interior accommodation of Canada's new airliner has been planned to give trans-continental and trans-oceanic passengers the advantages of modern air line experience and research in such important details as chairs, lighting and heating, dressing rooms, color schemes and meal service. The chairs in the North Star are designed to eliminate fatigue on long flights. They have arm and head rests, are spaced to provide ample leg room, and are adjustable so that the passenger may recline. As a comparison they might be likened to seats of the new air-conditioned railway coaches. Ash trays, call buttons and reading light switches are placed within easy reach of each passenger. The individual lights are focused so that it is possible to read without disturbing fellow travellers who may prefer to take a nap.

Separate dressing rooms are provided for ladies and gentlemen.

The ladies' powder room, aft of the rear section, contains a dressing table and seat, wash basin and dental bowl, folding seats, mirrors, razor outlets and a separate toilet compartment. In both rooms hot water is available.

The galley, amidships, has been compactly designed for the storage and serving of hot meals and snacks, which are most nourishing and tasty. These are served by stewardesses whose qualifications must be that of a trained nurse and who are most attentive and pleasant in providing for your every need.

The cabin is pressurized, so that even at high altitudes, passengers may breathe normally, without using oxygen masks.

Our party on this special occasion of inauguration consisted of newspaper men, mayors and councillors of different cities, presidents of Boards of Trades, and officials of the Trans-Canada Air Lines. Boarding the plane at 10 a.m. Friday morning we were soon speeding on our way, considerably south of Lachute and travelling at 250 miles per hour. Our first stop was Toronto, where we picked up a couple of representatives and I made several phone calls. It was interesting to note the surpise when I told my friends that less than two hours before I had been in Montreal. 'Tis rather difficult to explain just how it looks when travelling at a height of three miles but the clouds give the impression of a huge field of perfectly white snow with numerous hills and of a rolling nature which one might see after a storm and particularly when the sun is shining; or perhaps another likeness might be that of a large area of perfectly white cotton. At any rate it is a beautiful sight though hard on the eyes and I can now readily understand how one can become a victim of snow blindness. Gazing down on the farm lands with fields of different colors as they had been ploughed or grain was just starting to appear, with here and there a green or red covered roof was most picturesque.

At Winnipeg another stop was made at which time, more gas was taken on and the customy rechecking done. Here we talked with our old friends "the Styans" who were also surprised to know that only a few hours previously I had breakfasted in Montreal.

The prairies from a scenic point of view are generally considered monotonous, but from the air they create an entirely different impression as one views the rows of sections all under cultivation.

From Calgary, where the mayor of that City embarked we were soon entering the Rockies. Many of my readers will have viewed these wonders from below but to look down from above on the snow clad peaks, with the sun casting its shadows and forming endless colors is an indescribable sight never to be forgotten. The return trip of course, starting in the Red Cross Fully Equipped to Loan Sick-Room Needs

The Red Cross loan cupboard, located at the local Health Unit in charge of Dr. L. Turcotte, is now fully equipped with supplies for sick rooms, supplied by Red Cross headquarters for use in homes where neeeded. These requirement are loaned free of charge.

The following items are available, according to a list furnished by the local Red Cross:

Crutches 2 pairs (54", 50"), ice bags 2, rubber pneumatic rings 2, hot water bottles 2, urinals 2, bedpans 2, enema attachment sets 2, kidney basins 2, rubber sheets 2 (84", 36"), basin 1, canes 2, sponge bowl 1, large sheets 6, pillow slips 6, pneumonia jackets 3, night gowns 6, irrigators 2, feeding cup 1, bed table 1, back rest 1.

This is a valuable branch of Red Cross service to the local public. Householders and parents are advised to clip the above list and keep it handy for cases of sickness and emergencies. It is also suggested that readers inform their friends of these facilities.

To Extend Local Telephone Office

To provide space for exchange equipment that will meet the growing demand for telephone service here, an extension to the Lachute telephone exchange will be commenced shortly, according to L. W. Ball, Bell Telephone manager for this area. The extension will also provide increased office space for all departments of the company in Lachute.

General contract for the extension was recently awarded to Alcidas Laurin, of Lachute. Construction work will commence in the near future.

The extension will be of brick veneer construction with wood trim, and will consist of one storey and a basement. The basement will have a concrete floor, and a similar concrete floor will be constructed for part of the basement of the existing building. A new boiler and fuel tanks will be provided. Architect for the extension is J. C. Meadowcroft.

The addition will cover a ground area of 1,100 square feet. It will be completed in November of this year, when installation of new switchboards will commence.

Gatineau LINES

Probably everyone who gets an electricity bill knows that the cost per kilowatt is based on a sliding scale; the more electricity used, the less the cost per kilowatt hour.

There are, however, two other factors which have an important part to play in keeping the electricity costs as low as possible:

Similar rates for communities of similar size.

The one-meter system.

As these two factors are of considerable importance to our customers, we would like to take a couple of column to review them for you.

Similar Rates

The principle of "same size, same rate" consists of establishing equal rates for communities of equal size, regardless of their distance from the source of electricity. It costs a lot of money to move electricity any distance over transmission lines. It costs more to provide service to a customer 20 miles from a power station than it does to a customer 10 miles from a power station.

At first thought it might appear that the power company would be wise if it charged the cost of moving electricity directly to the customers who use it regardless of their distance from the source. If the power company did this, however, it would bring hardships to many communities. Places located a long way from the source of power would then have high electricity rates. Since the cost of electricity is an important factor in many industries, the industries would probably move away from a high cost area; and many communities would grow smaller and less prosperous, not through any fault of their own but merely because they did not have cheap electric power.

It was to avoid this situation that Gatineau Power Company established the principle of equal rates for communities of equal size regardless of their distance from the source of electricity. This system is now general throughout practically all of the Province. It means that every community has the same chance of progressing as every other community of similar size anywhere in the Province. It also means that rates cannot be changed in any town or village, without a similar change all over the Province.

Seasonal FARM TOPICS

Edited by E. H. PETERS, B.S.A.

Growing Field Corn

The conditions most favorable to corn growing are high temperatures and long growing season. Like most other crops corn responds to favorable moisture conditions and prefers a fertile, deep loam soil. Heavy clay soils, particularly if they are low-lying, poorly drained and cold, should be avoided.

Soil preparation. — In preparation of the land fall ploughing has given best results. The surface soil should be worked in a manner that will provide a fine mellow seed-bed and effectively control weeds.

Seeding. — Seeding should be done at the earliest dates possible after the soil has become warm. Seed sown in cold soil is slow to germinate and often produces weak plants. The corn crop may be sown in rows 36 or 42 inches apart or check-rowed in hills. Row seeding does not require use of special implements and is the most widely used method in Canada. The plants should be thinned to about one foot apart in the rows. The amount of seed required varies with the variety used since varieties differ greatly in size of kernel. Seeding rate will vary from 15 to 25 pounds per acre. However, about the same quantity of seed is required whether sown in rows with plants spaced one foot apart or in hills with three or four plants per hill.

Cultivation. — A stroke of the drag harrow, crosswise the rows after the plants are 3-5 inches high will aid in controlling weeds and assist in thinning. Shallow cultivation between the rows with the corn cultivator should be repeated as often as is necessary to control weeds. Deep cultivation is injurious.

Harvesting. — The corn crop should be harvested for silage when the grain is in the "hard dough" or "glazed" stage. Late maturing, high yielding varieties of corn which have to be harvested at a very immature stage provide ensilage which is relatively low in feeding value. Growers are well advised to select varieties which will reach the "hard dough" stage before harvest, even although such varieties may yield slightly less than the later maturing types.

In harvesting for grain the husks should be dry and the kernels hard. The usual practice is to husk by hand, from the standing stalks, after the first autumn frosts. At that time the ears are usually dry enough to crib and they break from the stalks easily. Husked corn should be stored directly in cribs to promote drying. At husking time corn normally contains from 20 to 35 per cent moisture. Usually several months storage in the crib are required to reduce the moisture content of the grain to 12-17 per cent. At this stage of dryness the corn may be shelled and stored safely in bins.

Maturity of Varieties. — The adaption of corn varieties to the various parts of Eastern Canada is indicated to some extent by the following grouping on the basis of maturity: —

Early — Group 1 — Quebec No. 28, Twitchell's Pride.

Midearly — Group 2 — Algonquin, Longfellow, Compton's Early, Salzer's White Flint, Early Golden Glow.

Late — Group 3 — Leaming, Late Golden Glow, Silver King (Wisconsin No. 7).

Group 1 contains the varieties that can be grown for grain in Eastern Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes. Group 2 contains the varieties suitable for ensilage in Quebec and the Maritimes. Group 3 contains the varieties that can be grown for ensilage in Ontario or for grain in Western Ontario.

European Corn Borer

Control of the corn borer is effected in the autumn and early spring by completely destroying all corn refuse, and contained borers, lying in the field or stored in buildings. The following clean-up suggestions should be carried out:

1. Cut all corn as low as possible in order to remove the bulk of the borers with the stalk.
2. Feed, or burn, all stalks before May 20 of the following year.
3. Uproot and burn all sweet corn stalks which cannot be conveniently plowed under, as soon as they have dried out.
4. Plow down all infested stubble and corn refuse in garden and field before May 20 so carefully that it is all completely covered.
5. Burn all corn refuse remaining about the farm before May 20.

As corn borer moths readily fly from one farm to the next, community action in control is most important.

Potato Varieties

A list of varieties of potatoes licensed for sale in Canada has recently been reviewed and revised. Thirty-nine varieties which have no commercial value in Canada were deleted from the list and their licenses cancelled. The names of licensed varieties in Canada at the present ime are as follows: Arran Victory, Beauty of Hebron, Bliss Triumph, Burbank, Canus, Chippewa, Columbia Russet, Dakota Red, Dooley, Earlaine, Early Bovee, Carter's Early Favorite, Early Ohio, Early Rose, Early St. George, Epicure, Garnet Chili, Gold Coin, Gold Nugget, Great Scot, Green Mountain, Houma, Irish Cobbler, Katahdin, King Edward, Mennomenee, Mohawk, Netted Gem, Pawnee, Rural Russet, Red Warba, Sebago, Sequoia, Sir Walter Raleigh, Up-to-date, Vics Extra Early, Warba, Wee MacGregor, White Bliss, White Rose.

Even though there are a large number of varieties of potatoes grown and licensed in Canada, the number of varieties of strictly commercial importance are very few. In fact they can almost be counted on the fingers of one hand. The varieties of strictly commercial importance are Katahdin, Green Mountain, Irish Cobbler, Sebago, Netted Gem and Bliss Triumph. These six varieties comprise approximately 96 per cent of the total acreage of potatoes grown in Canada.

MILK AND DDT

Montreal (CP) — Milk and DDT don't seem much of a mixture, but give them to a scientist for some amazing results. Scientists say more milk comes from contented cows — and cows aren't contented unless free from flies and lice. So just spray a little chemical around and watch milk production jump.

Doomed to extinction?

A duck that nests in trees and prefers wooded swamps to open water! That's the Wood Duck, the most beautiful of our water-fowl. They are well protected by law, but the draining of wetlands and clearing away of the dead tree trunks they nest in presents a serious threat to their survival. Everything you do to preserve their natural nesting areas will help to conserve the Wood Duck for years to come.

The Labrador Duck became extinct before 1900. Today 44 stuffed specimens are all that remain of this little sea-duck, showing what happens when sound conservational practices are neglected.

Examination Time

THE EXPRESSIONS of concern, and sometimes of worry, seen on the faces of Canadian boys and girls these days mean only one thing: that examination time is at hand.

Within a few days they will write the final tests for this year. The results will show how much knowledge they have accumulated since last September.

The approach of final examinations always finds students divided into three types — the diligent scholar, confident of passing his tests, who continues to work hard to complete the year with flying colors; the student who knows he can pass only by buckling down in the days remaining for review; and the one who has shirked all year and feels it is too late now to avert failure in one or more subjects.

In a good many cases, those divisions carry over into later life.

The other day we saw a cartoon which showed a schoolboy telling a companion:

"Just two more weeks until graduation — and then all our troubles will be over."

The irony was intended to give grown-ups a chuckle. It started us thinking how a person all through life really never is done with examinations and graduations, although they appear in different guises.

A youth faces one kind of examination when he looks for his first job. Whether he "passes" and lands the job of his choice really depends on how well his training has fitted him for it. Once hired, he becomes subject to periodic reviews of his work which determine his promotions.

So it is all the way through, in development of personality, in building a good home life, and in social and community relationships. Examinations over when a person leaves school? Why, that's only the beginning.

Antidote for Crime

OVER the years they've been figuring out ways to curb juvenile delinquency and one of the most effective measures has been the promotion of healthful recreation and stimulation of sports activities.

When you read of youngsters involved in crimes from clothesline theft to gang killings, you'll often find that the boys grew up in an environment which represented crime more colorfully than sport.

Juvenile delinquency is chiefly noticeable in large centres and seldom will you find youngsters drifting to crime if they have been given a fair chance to learn how to boot a football or throw a sharp curve in baseball.

Few people are more qualified to speak on juvenile delinquency than the men who earn their livelihood as prison officials and daily chat behind stone walls with men who should be outside taking up a useful place in the community.

Says Thomas J. Keen, former deputy superintendent of Headingly Jail, near Winnipeg: "It is remarkable how few of those in Headingly Jail have any active interest in sport. If they had spent more time in such activities they would probably not have ended up in prison".

Much is done in modern prisons today to rehabilitate young criminals, but a more sure-fire antidote in the battle against crime seems to be organized sports, especially in large city slum areas. Removal of the slums themselves would be a great step forward to correction in crime but until slums are erased, healthful recreation must be provided for boys and girls.

Even for the youngsters who live in better-class districts, there's no assurance that they won't be led into the path of crime if civic authorities fail to provide organized sports and recreation.

Throughout Canada today the need of recreational facilities is growing and in centres where youngsters are kept busy chasing pucks and fly balls, juvenile delinquency is not a major problem.

If a youth knows he can go to a supervised park and play ball when his day's studies are through, there's less chance of him getting into trouble by hanging around street corners and meeting undesirable characters.

There's little doubt that every dollar spent on recreational centres saves the country thousands of dollars in prison costs and it's a sound investment in good citizenship.

A Tragic Circumstance

ON THE front page of this issue appears a picture taken last Sunday from a North Star airliner. It speaks for itself, depicting only one of many examples of flood waters which are now surging over a large area of the Fraser Valley.

Evacuation is taking place as fast as possible — by aircraft, as train communication has been entirely cut off. Men are working night and day endeavoring to reinforce the dikes, but the waters continue to rise and it has now become a national disaster.

The Red Cross, as usual, is on the job, militia have been called out, and all possible manpower engaged to try and cope with the disastrous situation.

At present there is little that we can do, other than to offer our sympathy; but let us be prepared to give something more tangible, should the request come, for money and clothing will be sorely needed before re-establishment can be thought of; and here in a district to which nature has been so bountiful — let us be ready to do our part in helping to re-establish those less fortuate.

Ulterior Motive?

IT IS REPORTED that a Winnipeg taxi driver has been assessed ten percent more than his returned income by the Income Tax department on the grounds that he reported no income from tips, and that a Department investigation had determined that ten percent represented a reasonable tip-total for the district in which he did business.

Apart from any question of whether or not the cabbie had in fact earned so much, the idea that the Income Tax department may thus arbitrarily decide how much a person's income should be and then tax on that imaginary sum, is startling.

This year, for "the purpose of gathering information", an Ottawa department has sent out questionnaires to be filled in by farm-owners. The filling out of these forms is not compulsory and the information sought is such inconsequential stuff as the size of the barn and other sheds, the number of hens he keeps, the size of his herd of cows and so on.

In view of this Winnipeg cab-driver's case, might not such questions be the forerunner of an arbitrary taxation scheme for farmers? With the precedent established that the Department may decide how much a citizen should be earning, and then tax on that, who can tell where the story may end?

On Parliament Hill

— By M. V. Trayers —

So far Canada has not recognized officially the new Jewish "Israel" state, which was born in blood and is now nursed in turmoil and death. In this Canada is following the cautious attitude adopted by Great Britain, and Britain is at present under considerable pressure to follow the United States, who practically recognized the child before it was born. The Right Hon. L. St. Laurent, in reply to a question on this matter, said the problem is still under consideration and as soon as a decision is arrived at he would communicate it to the house.

The Budget

The late Texas Guinan invariably met patrons of her "Hello Sucker!" night club with the salutation, "Hello Sucker!" The salutations which greeted Mr. Abbott's budget were of various colors and tastes; even Mr. Abbott had a name for it — austerity, but The Vancouver Sun, which is a government supporter, used the Guinan phrase to describe it.

Fools or Angels

The Hon. W. Earl Rowe is a very able speaker and a parliamentarian of no mean merit. But he is also a master in the art of handling hecklers, of which there are quite a few in the House of Commons. During his recital of some unpalatable facts describing the effect of the budget on the Canadian economy, government supporters would fain interrupt, and ministers offer to contradict. Mr. Rowe said he had listened to the same old story since 1919. . . . What about Drew? He will be next premier of Ontario, and his opposition will be doing as his other opposition did — listening to the grass grow on his beautiful farm. "That is what happened to you one time", interjected Mr. Grant. Mr. Rowe: "The hon. member never got that far, and I am not going to be detracted by those who want amusement rather than enlightenment". Mr. Rowe continued to say, the Prime Minister talked of spending millions on health, and the Minister of Finance says he must take $670 millions from us because we do not know how to spend it. These old, weary statesmen of the sea begin to see the danger signs in the offing, when they see that there is no chance of retrieving the situation in the Province of Ontario. When Mr. Rowe averred he would like to belong to some of the confraternities which made ministers so serious and sanctimonious, Mr. Abbott's "You cannot" brought the retort, "I am not speaking about the Minister of Finance."

Mr. Hartt, the talkative member for Cartier, was next to cross swords, saying, "The hon. member does not know what we think, and we don't say anything." Mr. Rowe: "No, you don't say anything, but you think a lot. You think as you like, but you vote with your leader." When Mr. Rowe asked Mr. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, as the new aspirant for leadership, a question on tariffs, Mr. Gardiner suggested: "It is my hon. friend who is the new aspirant in the opposition." Mr. Rowe replied: "I might be as soon as the minister; you never know, but I am not as anxiously seeking it." Mr. Rowe said he was not surprised that the Premiers of Ontario and Quebec did not negotiate with the government as the Dominion collects seven times as much as it pays to British Columbia, five times as much as it pays to Manitoba and three times as much in some of the provinces. . . How much am I bid? Going at $1.50 — make it $3 — make it $7 if necessary. . . Those figures were obtained from the statistical branch by our own member, Mr. Héon, some weeks ago and quoted in this column at the time. They have since been the subject of editorials in papers all across Canada.

The speaker cut off Mr. Rowe seven and a half minutes before his allotted time had expired, but subsequently apologized for what his honor called an "unfortunate mistake."

To Preside at Annual Conference of Quebec Bakers and Confectioners

Mr. J. D. Menard, Lachute

The annual conference of the Quebec Association of Bakers and Confectioners is being held next week, June 8-9-10, at St. John's, Que. Heading this group is a Lachute business man, J. A. Ménard, president of Lachute Bakery Ltd., who will preside at the sessions.

This conference will feature the first exhibition of bakery products staged under auspices of the Association, and an estimated $100,000 worth of feeds, bakery foodstuffs and confections will be on display. The idea behind this venture is to direct public attention to the importance of the bakery industry in nutrition and physical well-being.

Among other topics featured in the conferences and discussions, L. Meunier, of the Quaker Oats Co. Ltd., will speak on flour as an ingredient of bread, and discussion will be held on bread-baking with special study of weight, mixing and yeast fermentation.

Horticulturists are concerned about the damage done to their lawns and gardens by dogs which dig up their flowers and shrubs. They also regret that many children, both infant and adult, have the deplorable habit of taking short cuts across private property, thus nullifying efforts of the owners to beautify their premises.

Winter Roads Study Planned in Quebec

Quebec (CP)—Premier Duplessis will recommend to his colleagues that a committee be set up to study the winter roads problem in Quebec, it was stated last week.

The Premier said he would make the recommendation in a letter to C. B. Beaudet, of Mont Joli, president of the Provincial Chamber of Commerce.

The Provincial Chamber of Commerce have been campaigning for an increase in winter roads throughout the province, and Laval University made a special study of the problem for them. Later the Chamber submitted a memorandum to the government proposing that a committee be named to study the problem.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

RIDE SAFELY!

Bicycle riding is not only a thrifty means of transportation, but one of the healthiest of sports. Unfortunately, it is also one of the most dangerous of outdoor activities unless you observe the rules of safety. Careless cyclists cause many accidents, and the bicycle rider usually comes off second-best in a collision. If you want to live to a ripe old age, don't wander all over the road. After dark, show a light ahead, a reflector behind. Play safe, obey traffic regulations, and contribute to "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

OBITUARY

AVOCA CITIZEN DIES IN HIS 45th YEAR

The Late Rubert Mahon

Calumet — The community of Calumet and surrounding district was shocked by the death of Rubert Mahon, which occurred at Dr. Smith's Hospital, Hawkesbury, on May 22, after a short illness. Although not in good health for some time past, his death came unexpectedly to his family and friends.

Rubert Mahon, born at Rawcliffe in 1903, was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mahon. He moved to Avoca with his parents, and spent his entire lifetime there.

Left to mourn his passing are his loving wife (the former Miss Ruth McClusky), also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mahon, and three brothers, John of Calumet, Shirley of Avoca, and Wesley of Grenville.

The funeral was held May 25 at the Holy Trinity Church, Calumet, the Rev. A. E. Hawes officiating. Widespread sympathy for his relatives was evident in the large gathering which attended, and many beautiful floral tributes showed the high esteem in which he was held.

Shower for Bride-Elect

On Saturday evening Mrs. W. H. Williams entertained about 16 ladies at a kitchen shower given in honor of her niece, Miss Reta Staniforth, of Rouge Valley, whose marriage will be solemnized at the church here on June 12. The early part of the evening was spent in card-playing, after which a large hamper was placed in the centre of the room, filled with useful kitchen gifts. Afterwards, refreshments were served by the hostess, and an enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

OILS IN SHORT SUPPLY

Illustrating the present tight situation in the world's supply of essential oils is the fact that Canada must have close control of all flaxseed available for export in order to, in effect, barter for other oils which she requires but does not produce.

Bishop of Montreal Conducts Confirmation At St. Simeon's Church

Last Friday at St. Simeon's Church, Lachute, the apostolic service of Confirmation, or "Laying on of Hands", was conducted by the Rt. Rev. J. Dixon, M.A., D.D., Bishop of Montreal. The service was well attended; a total of 11 persons were presented for Confirmation, and one to be received into the church. Those confirmed were Margaret Dorion, Gloria Cruise, Isabel Hodge, Ruth Hodge, Jean Lavis, Mildred Smith, Vera Scott, Beatrice Smith, Angus Strong, Bruce Hewitt and Charles Hall.

In his address to the congregation, Bishop Dixon congratulated them on their beautiful new church. He spoke of the present day need for an increase in giving to meet the increased costs of operating the church. He was pleased to report that the Anglican Advance Appeal, which had met with gratifying success, had in no way affected the regular church offerings.

In his address to the Confirmation candidates the Bishop spoke of the first service of Confirmation, as recorded in the 8th Chapter, Acts of the Apostles .... "Between that service and this ceremony tonight, there are differences", he said. "You are not dressed as they were, you do not speak the same language; and they had no beautiful church building. They were confirmed in a home. But, fundamentally, the services are identical." He spoke of the difficulties of the mind and heart, difficulties in the Christian life, but in simple language showed how these were solved in Christ. The service closed with the hymn, "O Jesus, I have Promised."

Sunday "Shut-In's" Day

To those who think of sickness in terms of the periodic headache or the seasonal indisposition of a cold, there is a world unknown to them. It is the world of close and lengthy confinement where folk who for one reason or another must view the world through the eyes of others. There remains for the shut-in the newspaper, the radio, the personal visitation — these three — and the greatest of these is the personal visit.

The setting apart, therefore, of the first Sunday of June, annually, by the Shut-In's Day Association, is of more than ordinary significance. Not that one should ever feel he has discharged his full obligation by such observance, and by the visiting of sick friends, one Sunday a year. It is but a token of our recognition and remembrance of the Shut-in at all times.

116th Anniversary of Presbyterian Church

Sunday morning, June 6, a special service marking the 116th anniversary of the Presbyterian congregation in this community, will be held at the Margaret Rodger Memorial Church, Lachute, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Chas. Maclean.

W.M.S. Sectional Gathering Held at St. Andrews Un. Church

The annual meeting of the Ottawa Valley section of the Woman's Missionary Society was held recently in St. Andrews East United Church.

With the weather at its best, representatives from the district gathered in the morning, filling the church to capacity. After the opening devotional period, conducted by Mrs. A. I. Brown and Mrs. Shaw, of Harrington, a hearty welcome was extended to all present by Dr. Grace Wales, president of St. Andrews East auxiliary, and also by Mrs. Rupert Bradford, district vice-president, who occupied the chair.

The secretary, Mrs. T. G. Pasco, then read the minutes of last year's meeting.

Mrs. F. N. Stephen, president of the Montreal Presbyterial, brought greetings. She also spoke of the inspiration derived from such meetings, and reported an increase of 400 organizations of the Society.

Following this, a round table discussion of the W.M.S. family group was conducted by Mrs. J. J. Fitzgerald, literature secretary, of Montreal — eight members of the Montreal executive taking part. This was the highlight of the meeting and all present derived great benefit.

Mrs. W. Y. King, of Cushing, then spoke briefly on her work in China, and closed the morning session with prayer.

A dainty luncheon was served in the church hall, with the ladies of St. Andrews and Harrington as joint hostesses.

At this time Mrs. F. Robertson brought greetings from the Anglican Church, and Miss Walsh from the Presbyterian Church, as did also the Rev. Geo. Moore from Cushing, and Mr. John Shearman from Kilmar and Harrington.

The afternoon session opened with a devotional period conducted by Mrs. F. S. McGibbon, of Lachute. Miss Lamb, of St. Andrews East, retired missionary, then spoke of her work among the young people of China.

Reports from several of the auxiliaries on their activities were then given, and an appropriate solo was rendered by Mrs. Sheen, of Montreal.

Mrs. Stephen, of Montreal, again addressed the gathering, and an impressive In Memoriam service was conducted by Mrs. A. Graham, of Cushing, with Miss Elsie Dorion of St. Andrews East as soloist.

The past-president, Mrs. Wm. Yeudall, of Montreal, spoke of the W.M.S. school for leaders to be held in September, and also of the Canadian Church Relief abroad.

A talk on Christian Stewardship was given by Mrs. C. D. Tweedie, of Montreal, and on Temperance and Citizenship, by Mrs. Booth.

The report of the Courtesies Committee was then given by Mrs. Davis, of Arundel.

Award Contract To Redecorate Civic Auditorium

At the regular council session last evening under chairmanship of Mayor Alex Bothwell, J. Willbrod Cousineau was welcomed to the membership as new alderman representing East Ward. All councillors were in attendance, with exception of Alderman D. G. MacRae due to sickness.

Contract for re-decorating the civic auditorium was awarded to Henri Prevost, at the price of $640.

Garbage contract held by Jos. Bellefeuille was increased from $40 to $50 a week.

A grant of $25 was passed on behalf of Lachute Baseball Club.

Accounts to the total of $6,248 were passed for payment.

Building permits were granted to the following residents — J. U. Nadon, Ludger Latreille, Michel Malachet, Jos. Pager and Horace Lafleur — with provision that plans of their proposed buildings be duly approved by the council committee, prior to construction.

Permit was granted to Argenteuil Legion to stage a peanut tag day on June 12.

Hobbies and Home-Crafts Section, Ottawa Exhibition

Keen interest shown in the hobbies and home-crafts exhibits at the 1947 Ottawa Exhibition is the chief reason why the directors decided to consolidate the Hobby and Children's exhibits into one enlarged department this year, and make it one of the big sections of the Exhibition.

"We believe the Exhibition should give very practical encouragement to the thousands of people in the Ottawa Valley who have developed real skills in their hobbies and home-crafts, and who get real satisfaction out of them. It's part of the Exhibition's contribution to our community life and we are proud to make it", said President D. Roy Campbell.

The new, enlarged Hobby Show is to be housed upstairs in the Grandstand Building. Exhibits will be re-vamped into four main classifications — Arts, Crafts, Home Economics, and Music.

The crafts section will be featured by working demonstrations of lathe and bench work. The Home Economics section will include sewing, knitting, crochet, weaving exhibits, and working demonstrations of cooking and table setting. In the music section there will be contests for practically all types of amateur musicians including players of piano, flute, violin, brass and reed instruments, as well as vocalists.

All public schools, high schools and collegiates are being invited to enter the contests and exhibit, and a number have already indicated their intention to do so.

The Election Scene

Five Candidates In Neighbor County

Five candidates are now in the field to represent Prescott County in the coming Ontario elections. They are Louis P. Cecile, Hawkesbury, choice of the Progressive Conservative party; Simon Bertrand, reeve of Alfred, for the Liberal convention; Philippe Tittley, reeve of East Hawkesbury, as an Independent Progressive Conservative; Euclide Boisvenue, Hawkesbury store clerk, as Union des Electeurs; and Francois Bosse, garageman of Plantagenet, as C.C.F. candidate.

Liberal Candidate Named for Terrebonne

St. Jerome—Raymond Raymond, lawyer of St. Jerome, was chosen as the official Liberal candidate in the Terrebonne riding for the next Provincial elections at a Liberal convention held recently.

He will oppose L. J. Blanchard, present M.L.A. for the county.

Edouard Rinfret, M.P. for Outremont, presided, assisted by Honore Mercier, M.L.A. for Chateauguay, and Lionel Bertrand, M.P. for Terrebonne. The delegates took more than two hours to choose between Mr. Raymond and Ald. Emile Lauzon, of St. Jerome.

Two Mountains Names Liberal Standard Bearer

St. Eustache — A Liberal Party convention for Two Mountains, held last week at St. Eustache, Que., unanimously appointed Dr. Gabriel Comtois of Ste. Therese as representative in the forthcoming provincial elections — to oppose Brig. Jean Paul Sauvé, present Union National member for the constituency in Quebec Legislature.

The New McCormick-Deering Milk Cooler. Note how the compressor unit is mounted integrally with the box.

The Only Coolers with Pneumatic Water Agitation

Cross section of the McCormick-Deering Milk Cooler showing how the ice-cold water circulates all around the cans.

A COMPACT, simple, fast-cooling milk cooler, manufactured, assembled, and tested complete (including both box and compressor unit) at the factory. That's the brand-new McCormick-Deering, another product of International Harvester designed to aid the dairy farmer in keeping down the bacteria count in milk.

The McCormick-Deering Milk Cooler cools milk to a temperature of 50 degrees or lower in an hour or less twice every 24 hours, and automatically maintains the temperature regardless of the weather. The pneumatic water agitator, an exclusive McCormick-Deering feature, makes this rapid cooling possible. It forces the air into the water from the bottom of the box and the constantly rising bubbles agitate the water near the ice bank, thoroughly chilling the water and keeping it circulating all around the cans, from the bottom up to and over the milk level.

Many other features of design and construction contribute to the high efficiency of the McCormick-Deering. Ask us to tell you all about this advanced method of cooling milk.

Brownsburg Boy Scouts

Brownsburg — The Brownsburg Boy Scouts had their first camping trip of the year at Lake Louisa on the week-end of May 24. Here they established Fort Marks as a base camp, and explored the surrounding country by hiking, canoeing and rafting. The fish were not so plentiful as the black flies, but a couple of nice trout were caught. However, the fishing urge was so strong that some of the boys were up in the morning before 3 o'clock to get at it. The camp was under the direction of Assistant Scoutmaster Arnold Waller.

The two nights under canvas gave the boys a real taste of scouting, and from Tenderfoot to 1st Class Scout, all were eager to try it again. Those present were Patrol Leader Milton Mason, and Scouts Ernie Zimmer, Bobby Warwick and George Pasco, of the Otter Patrol; Scouts Bruce Mason and Bernie Golphin, of the Eagle Patrol; Patrol Leader Joe Izzard, and Scouts Don Martin, Reuben Golden and Willys MacAdam, of the Wolf Patrol; also Scouts Paul Ingram, Arthur Morrison and Paul Zsombor, of the Bulldog Patrol.

Congratulations are due to the Scouts' shooting team, which came third in the province-wide competition of the Jeffrey Burland Shield for small-bore rifle shooting. Eight troops were entered altogether, and only two Montreal troops, St. Cuthbert's and Ascension, attained a higher score than the 471 recorded by Brownsburg. Individual scores were — Jim Izzard 97, Joe Izzard 96, Billy Cribb 95, Bruce Mason 93 and George Gordon 90. Bernie Golphin was spare member. Jim Izzard also won for his patrol the trophy for individual high average for the year.

June Brides Face Pastry Problems

With many a June bride, her first pie is a major issue. Many a girl's reputation as a cook has suffered because her pastry was hard or tough although she may serve perfect cakes, juicy roasts and crisp colorful vegetables.

The glib phrase "easy as pie" is full of deception. Almost any cook will agree that making good pie is more difficult than most other cooking. Over anxiety and too much careful handling is often the cause of poor pastry.

The home economists at Ottawa affirm that pastry-making is an art which can be mastered by anyone who is careful to follow instructions. Hot Water Pastry is suggested as a never-fail method in which the shortening and liquid are blended before mixing with flour. This type of pastry is most tender, although the consistency is more crumbly than flaky.

In making more than one crust or shell, divide the dough and roll out just one crust at a time. Roll from the centre toward the edges and handle the rolling pin lightly.

The cooking of pastry also has a very important bearing on the finished product. A very hot oven 425°F., for the first 10 to 15 minutes is essential. The heat causes sudden expansion of the cold air which has been enclosed in the pastry during the rolling and also sets the crust quickly. The oven temperature may then be lowered to 325°F., to cook the filling completely.

For a double crust pie have the upper crust rolled out before putting the filling in the pie or else the bottom crust may become soaked and soggy. The upper crust should be a little larger than is needed so that it will not have to be stretched in fitting it into the pie pan. Dough that is stretched after it is rolled out tends to shrink again when heated.

Prick the upper crust with a fork or make several slits in it so that the steam may escape during cooking.

Hat Water Pastry

¾ Cup shortening, ¼ cup boiling water, 1½ teaspoons salt, 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour (or 3½ cups sifted pastry flour).

Cream the shortening. Stir in boiling water. Cool slightly. Add salt and flour, mixing it in with a quick cutting motion. Do not stir. Chill. Divide into desired portions to roll out.

Cherry Cottage Pie

¾ Cup milk, ½ cup cereal cream, 2 eggs, ½ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 cup cottage cheese, 2 cups pitted cherries, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 9 inch pastry sheel, unbaked.

Combine milk and cream and scald. Beat eggs slightly, add sugar, salt, cottage cheese and the scalded milk and cream. Spread cherries in bottom of a pastry shell, sprinkle with cinnamon, cover with cottage cheese mixture and bake in a very hot oven, 425°F., for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 325°F., and bake until custard is set, about 35 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Pumpkin Raisin Tarts

½ Cup raisins, 1¾ cups cooked or canned pumpkin, 2 eggs, ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, ½ teaspoon ginger, 2 tablespoons molasses, 1 cup milk, pastry.

Wash and chop raisins, combine with pumpkin. Beat eggs and add sugar, salt, spices and molasses, add to pumpkin and beat well. Add milk, blending thoroughly.

Line 12 tart shells with pastry. Pour in filling. Bake in a very hot oven, 425°F., for 10 minutes, lower heat to 325°F., and continue baking until filling is set (about 10 minutes). Yield: twelve tarts.

M.P. Criticizes Taxation

cost of board, clothing, and accommodation, how can a single man save anything and prepare to establish a home? . . It should, in my opinion, be raised to $1,500.

For married persons, the exemption is now $1,500. In their case also the cost of living fritters down the exemption enough to make it insignificant, greatly reduces opportunities for saving and establishing a comfortable and modern home. The exemption should be raised to $2,400, which would ensure a reasonable margin of security and encourage thrift.

But . . it is particularly with regard to children that the present exemption is distinctly anti-social. At the present time, if a child benefits from the family allowance which cannot exceed $120 a year, the exemption is $100, which makes up a total of $220.

With the pace and requirements of modern life, who can properly feed, bring up, clothe and give an education to a child on $220 a year? It is impossible, and even if parents should resort to cyclical finance and jugglery, they will not be able to make both ends meet without denying themselves or borrowing money.

In the case of children over 15 and not in receipt of family allowances, the present exemption is $300 . . At the age of 15 a child usually has completed his elementary course and is ready to enter some institution of higher learning. He needs an entirely new wardrobe, because he has grown up. Clothing, books, pocket money, and fairly high boarding and tuition fees must be provided for. How can parents meet all these with $300? It is quite impossible, and higher studies are often abondoned for lack of money or savings. It therefore seems that both in order to encourage large families and to facilitate higher or specialized studies among our people, a total exemption of $500 for each child would be essential. To my mind, such as investment would bring valuable dividends . . and ensure the educational standard to which the younger generation is entitled.

It is all very well to practice internationalism, to accumulate huge surpluses, but it is still better to grant our own people religious, social and economic security. Tax exemptions should be immediately increased to $1,500 for single people and $2,400 for married people, with an additional exemption of $500 per child. That would prove an excellent means of disposing of our estimated or anticipated surplus.

Since the present budget offers no relief to . . those less than 65 years of age — except for the abolition of the tax on alarm clocks, watches, bets on horse races, vinegar and a few consumer goods — and since my electors are dissatified with the government for having failed to reduce the income tax or tax exemptions, I shall have to vote against the motion.

Next year, with general elections in sight, its system of cyclical financing, or financial cycling, will no doubt enable the government to grant substantial income tax reductions. Should these reductions be of the kind I have been advocating tonight, and which should have been granted in the present budget, I shall support them by my vote.

A STITCH IN TIME

Such things as the suppression of individual liberties on the flimsiest of excuses have a habit of gaining ground before the average citizen is aware of it, and it is easier to stop it before it gets the security of power, than it is to unseat it afterwards.

Narrates Experience, Air Trip to Coast

morning was spectacular at this part of the journey and the beauteous formations of huge pyramid rocks were a topic of marvel and wonderment to all on board.

At Vancouver, the hotel of the same name provided every comfort, and on Saturday, we talked with former Lachute residents, Mrs. (Dr.) Hunter, and Messrs. Ian and Ken Hay, who were pleased to hear a voice from the Old Home Town. At noon the City entertained us to a luncheon at which the Hon. Mr. Howe and the Premier of British Columbia were present.

All representatives were heard from and expressed their deep appreciation to the city and the T.C.A. for their extreme kindness and courtesies extended.

A sad note however touched the gathering when we were told of the seriousness of the floods in the Fraser Valley. After hearing from Premier Johnson all were deeply impressed but the disaster was indelibly pictured to us as we saw from the air the drastic results of the overflowing of the Fraser river. Millions of dollars of damage, homes and barns, completely isolated with water reaching in many cases to the roof, as may be seen in the accompanying picture, taken from our plane on Sunday morning. Roads and railway lines covered with muddy water and service entirely cut off. Evacuations of thousands made homeless, were being made through use of planes, and in all it was a most pitiful and distressing sight which dampened for a time our pleasure tour. Measures are however being taken to help the distressed and we know with their western grit and determination the unfortunate will start again and still make good.

To sum up, so much can be seen in so short a time by air travel with perfect ease and safety that it will continue to develop, and become more popular, besides helping in the great cause of international intercourse and understanding.

Throughout the industry T.C.A. crews carefully chosen and developed by a thorough-going training program, are held in high public esteem, as skilled, reliable and personable men and women. Behind them is a ground force equally well trained in its specific duties, while the company's engineering and maintenance base, in men, machines and methods is one of the most modern in the world.

With such men and machines available for public use, air travel will continue to progress as one of our greatest achievements.

"ALONG THE FAIRWAYS"

Lachute Golf Club
Special Commentary

Someone said it looked like Monday, but it really was Sunday — and a fine day it was for the Opening Tournament. Well over 60 members entered, more than at any previous Opening.

The four horsemen got off to an early start. Is it true that these rickshaw boys plan to mount outboard motors on those contraptions, install steering gear and a standing platform, and go putt-putting madly along the fairways wielding their golf clubs like polo mallets?

You are now either qualified to sit in with the handicap committee, or else you are a very bad guesser. We noticed few entrants flattering their game, and some — well, really!

J. G. McIndoe, golfing semi-pro, recently retired, placed the magic numbers in an envelope before play started. They were 68-72 for men and 75-80 for ladies. Ten men qualified and went in the hat. The three to come out were — W. Yuile, L. Carriere, A. Waller. No ladies had net scores between 75-80, so since there were 15 entries only, all 15 were given a chance on the draw and the lucky ones were — Fernande Valois, Marthe Lafortune, Cecile Ethier.

Arthur had a very fine buffet supper ready and some 40 or 50 stayed to stow it away.

Local competitions get under way soon. This week should see the ladies' Wednesday afternoon tournament and the men's Thursday night sweepstakes. Roger says he hopes to have the new cards ready for this week-end. Handicapping will start on an 18-hole basis.

Your club has a full program of Plant and Business field days lined up this season. Northern Electric, Canadian Vickers, T. Eaton Company, and several others will be out to visit us. Let's make them welcome!

Good Send-off for Papineau League Baseball at B'burg

(Specially Contributed)

Brownsburg — Last Sunday saw the opening of the Papineau Baseball League in Brownsburg, with the Burg winning a very decisive victory over the first-place team by the score of 8-5.

The Royal Canadian Army Cadets under Lieut. J. Froment made a very impressive picture marching on the grounds with their drum band.

President Reynold Nolin, of the Brownsburg Club, handed the ball to His Worship Mayor Omer Legault who, after a few apt remarks on the subject of local sport and welcoming the visiting Alfred Club, officially pitched the first ball. K. W. MacGibbon, representing the C-I-L, acted as catcher, while the Rev. Paul Manteau was the batter. Although no great ball-playing was evidenced, the Club are greatly indebted to these townsmen for their interest in local sport.

It was really a bang-up game, with the Brownsburg pitcher, Morris Thompson, scoring 17 strikeouts. This is a record for the Papineau League, and will take some real pitching to beat by any of the other Ottawa Valley leagues. A notable difference appeared in the Burg team with their new catcher, Earl Ryan, who turned in a near perfect game, hitting 2 triples and getting one walk in the game. He brought in 6 runs for the team, and with the Big League style of Fern St. Onge on first base, and the co-operation Manager Maurice Danis is getting from his team, it looks like he has a championship squad at last!

Following was the line-up for last Sunday's game:

Earl Ryan C, M. Thompson P, F. St. Onge 1B, R. Summers 2B, J. Murdoch S.S., R. Prud'homme 3B, K. Simpson L.F., B. Petley C.F., M. Legault R.F.; subs, P. E. Hebert, B. Tremblay and W. Tessier. — Umpire, P. Proulx.

Sunday, June 6, Wendover plays in the Burg. This promises to be a good game, as the visiting team has always proved a strong outfit to beat.

They never taste who never drink;
They always talk who never think.

Peanut Tag Day Saturday, Legion Building Campaign

A "Peanut Tag Day" will be held Saturday in Lachute, sponsored by the Argenteuil Branch (No. 70, Lachute) of the Canadian Legion, in aid of the building fund for a Memorial Hall in Lachute.

This is the second event in aid of this fund. The first was in the form of a drawing, and almost $1,000 was realized. It is hoped that this Peanut Day will contribute another $500 towards the fund.

The Peanut Tag Day will feature a parade with a peanut float carrying a 'Peanut Queen' and two Mr. Peanut escorts. There will also be a street dance held between Barron's Bridge and the C.P.R. railway crossing, starting at 9.30 — to which everyone is cordially invited. A guessing contest will be another interesting feature; the person guessing the nearest number of peanuts attached to the peanut float will receive a prize. Tickets for this drawing will be given free with each bag of peanuts sold by canvassers during the day, and the drawing will take place at the street dance at 10 p.m.

The Peanut Tag Day is arranged by co-operation of Planter's "Pennant" Brand Peanuts. The Boy Scouts and Girl Guides will co-operate in the sales campaign and a house-to-house canvass will be made. The float will tour Lachute from nine in the morning to 12 midnight, with music, fun and a special broadcast. The float will also tour Brownsburg during the afternoon. The public are asked to give generously, and thus "Encourage the Boys who Helped YOU!"

Clergy Deplore State of Local Jail

The members of the Argenteuil Ministerial Association met at the home of the Rev. S. J. Pike at Brownsburg on Monday, with the president, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, in the chair. The Rev. C. R. Lang read an interesting paper on Repentance, which provoked considerable discussion.

A committee reported on the deplorable condition of the Lachute jail, and it was resolved to write to the Mayor and Town Council requesting that the jail be cleaned and painted, and that an additional window be provided, also a mattress, blankets and other necessary conveniences.

Poor Tourist Cabins Come Under Scrutiny

Quebec (CP) — A campaign against tourist cabins failing to meet structural and hygienic standards was proposed by the Professional Association of Hotelkeepers at its annual convention in Quebec City last week.

Louis Coderre, Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, told the hotel men they are entitled to respect of their rights and he promised the department's co-operation in their campaign.

Building Activity In Local Business

A few minor changes are evident this week on Main Street, where the Ulysse Nadon jewelry establishment has moved west to the centre section. Mr. Nadon recently purchased from Albini Lamarche the property housing the former Filfe tailor shop and the liquor store next door. An attractive front is being constructed on the quarters newly occupied by the purchaser — M. Niederkorn, of Lachute Woodcraft, making the renovations.

Meanwhile the premises vacated by Mr. Nadon opposite Muir's service station are being taken over this week by Lachute Flooring Reg., and the proprietor, F. Lagarde, will also occupy the living quarters at the rear.

On River Bank

At the other extremity of Main Street, the river bank along Brownsburg Road is now giving evidence of the commercial trend. Cribwork has been constructed opposite Farmer Brown Motor Sales Ltd., where Mr. Brown intends to level and clean up the landscape. Here also a refreshment stand, in log cabin effect, is being operated by Romain Desjardins, proprietor of the Lachute Drive-Yourself enterprise.

Montreal Highway

At Bethany Road, the approach from Montreal and points east, there is more pointed evidence of commercialization, however. In the recent weeks Welden Motor Sales have brought their extensive new garage and showroom to near-completion, while on the west side of the highway a large brewery warehouse, with six apartments above, is under construction by Lionel Laurin; also a modern B-A service station is being erected by Stuart J. McFaul, and a cement-block industry is being operated by Phileas Masson nearby.

Arrangements in Hand for Bumper Lach. Spring Fair

Handicraft displays entered by members of the Argenteuil Women's Institute are expected to prove one of the most interesting features at the 121st annual Lachute Spring Fair which opens next Wednesday evening. Presented under the auspices of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, the four-day Exhibition will be opened by Premier J. Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island, and will feature the biggest showing of livestock ever held at Lachute.

Entries in the livestock exhibits are double last year's total, and are of an unusually high calibre, according to Alex Bothwell, secretary-manager of the Fair. Since a large percentage of the exhibitors are entering competition for the first time, the judging promises to be of great interest. The exhibits will be climaxed by a show parade of all cattle and horses on the final day of the Fair.

The half-mile track is in top condition for the harness racing, which will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons, and racing fans are assured of some thrilling events. In addition, the Fair will feature a gala midway, exciting rides and the popular music of Joe Basile and his Madison Square Garden Band.

'Annual' Published By High School

The editorial and artistic efforts of the Lachute High School graduation class have culminated in the publication of the 1948 school annual, just released.

The editorial staff of this publication was headed by Miss Jean Genest and the art work was done by the Misses Joyce Maxwell and Marjorie Morrison.

The annual this year is dedicated to the teacher of Grade X, Earl Morrison, M.Sc., who has done much for the school towards music appreciation and other extra-curricular activities in the interests of the students.

Copies are now on sale at the High School and at Beaton's Pharmacy.

OLD-TIME RESIDENT OF BROWNSBURG IS LAID TO REST

Late Peter A. MacQuaig

One of Brownsburg's oldest residents, Peter Alexander MacQuaig, was laid to rest in Dalesville Cemetery on Tuesday, June 8. The funeral services were under direction of the Rev. W. R. MacDonald, minister of the Maple Avenue Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. C. R. Lang, of St. George's Church, Brownsburg.

Peter A. MacQuaig was born 73 years ago last February 20, in Dalesville, Que., and resided in and around Brownsburg most of his life. He was a former ammunition worker for C-I-L, having retired in 1943 after 35 years of continuous service. Mr. MacQuaig was a quiet, unassuming man, devoted to his family, and took a great interest in his garden.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow Nora Baring Tayler MacQuaig, and two daughters, Geraldine, of Arvida, and Amy, of Montreal. He also leaves two sisters, (Mary) Mrs. Walter Townend, of Brownsburg, and (Kate) Mrs. Katherine Green, of Hartford, Conn.

Many lovely floral wreaths were sent by friends of the deceased, and adorned the casket while it rested at his home in Brownsburg.

The pall-bearers were Edward MacLeod, Ira McFaul, William Graham, Charles Prosser, Harry Gardiner and George Ball.

Gas Fumes Drive Three From Apartment In Hawkesbury

Hawkesbury — Three persons were driven from their second floor apartment here recently by fumes of an unidentified gas.

Police reported finding a can containing an unidentified substance affixed to a register in the ceiling of the first floor apartment, occupied by the owner of the building. According to the police, gas fumes which flooded the second floor apartment resulted from the ignition of the substance in the can. R. Chapleau, his wife and three-year-old daughter escaped from their dwelling with difficulty.

Dr. P. A. Belanger, district Medical Health Officer, said the fumes could have been fatal. He is taking the substance found in the can to Ottawa for analysis. Local police are investigating the case.

Avoca Postmaster Gets Recognition of Service

Avoca — Mr. and Mrs. Allan McPhee attended the congress of Quebec Postmasters last Thursday and Friday at the Laurentide Inn, Ste. Agathe des Monts. Among others receiving recognition for long service on this occasion, Mr. McPhee was decorated with an award for having acted as postmaster for over 30 years. One lady present among the postal officials had served 60 years as postmistress.

Up-to-Date Hotel Opened at Arundel

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — Last Saturday was an auspicious occasion for Arundel community, when the modern and up-to-date "Maplewood Inn" officially opened its doors to the public.

A telegram from Georges H. Héon, K.C., M.P., expressed his regrets at not being able to officiate at the opening, and wished the promoters of this venture all success. Telegrams from the Mayor and Municipal Council of Arundel, the Arundel Women's Institute, and gifts of flowers and plants from residents of the community, all contributed towards a successful launching of this new enterprise.

The dining room, whose color scheme is peach and green, was a delightful room for the serving of tea, following an inspection of the building. Refreshments were served from two to five, and from eight to eleven o'clock. Mrs. Jack Moncrieff, Mrs. Hugh Cooke and Mrs. Val Swail presided at the tea table, and the Misses Inez Swail, Nora Smith, Joyce Graham, Stella Cooke and Florence Laraway served.

During the afternoon Mr. Herman Graham took movies and still photographs of the changing crowd which attended the opening. A constant stream of visitors from the community, outlying districts, and out-of-town, continued from early afternoon to late at night, testifying to the esteem with which the joint proprietors, Sidney and Foster Bennett, are regarded.

The first guests to register for the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Moore and Mr. and Mrs. J. Steggles, of Montreal.

Some of the out-of-town friends who came to tender their good wishes were — Mr. J. R. Nicol, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, Sherbrooke, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Martin, Mr. Owen Martin and Miss L. Hart, St. Lambert, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Doane, Truro, N.S.; Mr. and Mrs. Carriere, Messrs. L. and C. Armstrong, McLaughlin R. Beaulne, S. Greegan and Miss Filion, Lachute; Mr. John Gilfillan and Mrs. J. Buckle, Town of Mount Royal; Mr. and Mrs. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. H. Simons, Lachine, Que.; Mr. Hans Ebberman, Otter Lake, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, Mr. Wm. Tattersal, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Staniforth and Miss Margaret Norman, of Montreal.

Prices of British Cars

Ottawa (CP) — D. King Hazen (PC-St. John - Albert) inquired in the Commons why British-made automobiles of the same model sell for $1,300 in the United States and $1,800 in Canada.

Finance Minister Abbott said he did not know but thought it might be through application of Canadian dumping duties.

In his budget, Mr. Abbott proposed to remove the mandatory feature of these duties, giving the Government discretion about exercising them in cases where the so-called dumping would not be against the public interest.

Banquet Held by Arundel Forums

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — On Wednesday evening, June 2, the Farm Forum groups of Arundel held their first banquet in the dining-room of the newly established "Maplewood Inn".

The tables were decorated with flowers and candles, and covers were laid for 100 persons.

Seated at the head table were the chairman, Stuart Cooke and Mrs. Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Swail, Jr., Flloyd Griesbach, Jack Cramm, A. Oswald, Clark Graham, D. Bradford, and Harry Ronalds.

After the toast to "The King", the chairman called on Mr. Griesbach to propose a toast to the Farm Forums, and to introduce the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. Cramm, Farm Forum editor of the Macdonald College Journal.

The speaker took as his subject "Public Relations", and stressed the fact that, having a definite project in the community is a basic foundation to Farm Forum success. "Let your project be known, do not keep it to a few only, as members should know what each program is all about, thus creating an individual interest. . . It is good propaganda to welcome all newcomers in the community, explaining the work of the Forum to them — thus not only interesting them, but helping them as well." Mr. Griesbach quoted the well-known member Joe Galway, saying. "The only way to keep things going is to build from the basement up." Forums were advised to use the local paper, rather than the larger circulations where the same interest is not so keen in local work; and above all, to remember that active work is the best advertisement and speaks louder than even published reports. . . . He concluded his interesting address by quoting W. C. Goodas: "It is better to light a small candle than to curse the darkness."

Mr. Douglas Bradford, Mr. Oswald and Mr. Jack MacPherson, farm commentator of the CBC Farm Program, also spoke a few words, and the speakers were cordially thanked by Mr. S. Swail.

Messrs. Sidney and Foster Bennett, proprietors of the new "Inn", and the staff were thanked by the chairman for this very successful dinner; in the name of the Farm Forums he wished them all success in their new venture. Mr. Sidney Bennett replied on behalf of his partner and staff.

The meeting was then brought to a close by the singing of "O Canada".

Club Speaker, Mayor of Hull, Que., Decries Effects of Housing Scarcity

In Serious and Humorous Vein at Rotary Ladies' Night in Brownsburg

Brownsburg — The Rotary Club ladies' night last Thursday was another outstanding success, with Mr. Brunet, O.B.E., Mayor of Hull, as guest speaker.

Rotarian Harris Sherwood introduced the Mayor of Hull, who has been a Rotarian for 22 years. Mr. Brunet proved an excellent after-dinner speaker, portraying in a witty manner amusing incidents from everyday life.

Speaking of his city, Hull, he mentioned the population as being 40,000, with 97.7 per cent French Canadian. Of this population 2,377 work in the government, while the paper, cement and lumber industries employ the remainder of the workers. Hull was founded by Wright, who was one of Canadian history's richest characters, according to the interesting and amusing stories the speaker related of him.

Mr. Brunet spoke of the deplorable experience of many Canadians today, in that the biggest social problem in the present time is the housing situation, which breeds unhappiness and ill-health. $21-million dollars was raised in Hull alone during the war; the speaker maintained that money could always be obtained when required, and that an earnest drive should be organized now to raise money to compete with the drastic housing situation. Healthier children and happier Canadians would be the result. It is the goal of service clubs and officials to see this done; a matter of more energy and a little more work, would see it through. In England today, construction work is done in two shifts making a 12-hour day, under handicaps greater than our own.

Mr. Brunet concluded his remarks by saying happiness is the key to living. Service clubs can help spread this around. Success in life is based on happiness—85% success, 7% money, 5% glory and 3% power. The answer—"Service Above Self."

Mr. Brunet was thanked by Rotarian Linton W. Armstrong after which a period of dancing and entertainment followed.

During the evening Billy Allen, of Hawkesbury, favored with two piano solos, Chopin's "Polonaise" and Tchaikowski's Concerto in "D" Minor, both of which were greatly appreciated.

"New Look" Wins Approving Vote

(Our District Correspondent)

St. Andrews E. — The Y.P.C. met Friday evening in the United Church hall, to debate the resolution, "That the New Look is preferable to the Old Look." The affirmative was taken by Misses Kay Sinclair, Gladys Hyde and Marjory Gates. The opposition was upheld by Messrs. Clifford and Raymond Blair and Kenneth Robertson. The judges were Miss Betty Albright, Messrs. Lloyd Bryson and Jack Entwistle. Their decision was given in favor of the affirmative.

Provincial Election Set for July 28th

General elections in the 92 electoral districts of the Quebec Legislative Assembly will be on July 28, it was announced yesterday at Quebec by Premier Maurice Duplessis, following signing of the proclamation to that effect by the Lieutenant-Governor.

The 22nd Legislature was dissolved preliminary to the issue of the writs for the next elections.

Nomination day for the electoral districts hereabouts will be July 21, and voting on the 28th.

The voting will be from nine in the morning to six in the evening, daylight saving time.

Two Mountains M.P. Appointed Magistrate

Ottawa (CP) — Liguori Lacombe (Ind.—Laval-Two Mountains) said on Tuesday that he will resign his Commons seat July 15 to take up his appointment as magistrate for the districts of Terrebonne and Labelle.

The appointment was announced last week by Premier Duplessis.

DOUBLE WEDDING IS CELEBRATED AT MILLES ISLES

Seale - Riddell
Fraser - Riddell

The Presbyterian Church at Mille Isles, Que., was the scene of a pretty double wedding on Saturday, June 5, at 5 o'clock p.m., when Gweneth Anita and Joyce Helena, daughters of Mr. George Riddell and the late Mrs. Riddell, of Mille Isles, were united in marriage to Mr. Leslie Edwin Seale, son of Mr. William John Seale and Mrs. Seale, of Morin Heights, Que., and Mr. Albert Edward Fraser, son of Mr. Robert Fraser and Mrs. Fraser, of Mille Isles, respectively. The Rev. Q. A. McDowell, M.A., B.Th., of Montreal, performed the ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with lilies-of-the-valley, narcissus and lilac.

The wedding march was played by Miss Lily Pollock, of Mille Isles and Montreal, and Miss Jean Thompson, of Montreal, cousin of Mr. Albert Fraser, sang "I'll walk Beside You", during the signing of the register.

The brides, who were given in marriage by their father, wore floor-length gowns of white satin and lace.

Gweneth Anita wore a gown made on Princess lines, her fingertip-length veil of tulle illusion being held in place by orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of red roses, and her only jewelry was a necklace of pearls. Her travelling costume was a dress of dusty rose crepe with navy accessories, and a navy blue coat with a corsage of white carnations.

Joyce Helena was dressed in a gown with sweetheart neckline and tight fitting bodice with a full skirt. She wore her mother's veil of tulle illusion, fingertip-length, held in place by orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of deep pink roses. Her only ornament was a gold pendant. She travelled in a costume of pale green crepe with brown accessories, and a winter-white coat with a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Seale, mother of the groom (Mr. Leslie E. Seale) wore a dress of dusky rose flowered crepe with navy accessories; her corsage was of sweet peas. Mrs. Fraser, mother of Mr. Albert Fraser, wore a two-piece dress of navy blue crepe with white accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Bellevue Hotel, Morin Heights, and later the happy couples left for a wedding trip to the United States.

On Parliament Hill

— By M. V. Trayers —

American Dollars

It was indicated in the Commons last week that American tourists were not of such benefit to the dollar situation as some people imagined. It was suggested that most tourists purchased Canadian dollars in the States before coming to Canada. Mr. A. L. Smith remarked that American tourists can purchase Canadian dollars for 88 or 90 cents and thereby gain 10 or 12 per cent on the transaction.

Political Slogans

During election times some parties seek cheap advertising by cancelling postage stamps on letters by use of a political slogan. Mr. Stanley Knowles, CCF, Winnipeg, who is ever alert on breaches of rules or regulations questioned the use of such slogans. The Postmaster-General admitted his disappointment when he had to refuse the permission to use a "Vote Liberal" slogan to his Liberal compatriots.

Cheap Mail

The Postmaster-General applied for a subsidy of $7,500,000 to cover a deficit resulting from the cheap rate allowed periodicals and magazines. Most of this deficit is caused by the enormous quantities of magazines coming from the States, in fact $6,000,000 of the total. It is expected that a change will soon be made in this rate which will possibly limit second-class mail.

"The Sex Behavior in the Human Male", which is a best seller in the United States book market, was a book the Postmaster-General said he was going to read, so that he would be primed to pass judgment on the flow of "salacious and pornographic" literature which John Diefenbaker said was coming into Canada through the facilities of the Post Office.

Divorce

Almost 100 divorce bills were rushed through the Commons last week, but not without vigorous protest from some of the Quebec members. Dr. Gauthier wanted Parliament to refuse to handle divorce bills. He said that divorces were increasing at an alarming rate. Families were being broken up and destroyed, and the foundation of the nation was being undermined. He held that mixed marriages were responsible for most of the divorces. Stanley Knowles estimated that there were 350 bills presented to Parliament this year. The bills and printed evidence ran to something like 312 feet of printed copy, which was a height greater than the peace tower at Ottawa. We have some of the printed evidence before us as we write, and a more sordid question-and-answer description of human weakness, misery and licentious adultery, it would be impossible to imagine.

Prorogation

The present session of Parliament is expected to wind up by June 30. It is a dull, sombre "what's the difference" convention of never more than 50 of the 245 members paid to conduct the nation's business. Most of the members show very little interest in the proceedings, which are exceptionally dull anyway. Most of the time the chamber is a good place to sleep!

Annual Picnic Announced, Erect Bleachers at Grounds

Brownsburg — The Brownsburg Social and Athletic Club Inc. has announced the intention to erect a modern set of spectator bleachers at the Recreation and Picnic Grounds. This addition will mean a decided improvement in facilities for spectators at baseball and softball games and other sports. Seating capacity will be approximately 216.

It is expected that the new bleachers will be ready for the Annual Picnic, which well be held this year on Thursday, July 1. This annual event has always provided a wealth of entertainment for all members of the family, and this year's picnic promises to be even better. A top-notch softball game will be featured, along with pony rides, field sport events, skeet, trap and rifle shooting, games of skill and chance, fireworks and dancing.

Local Baseball Squad Defeat Wendover 5-0

Brownsburg — Local baseball fans went home happy again last Sunday, after the Brownsburg team had defeated Wendover 5-0. It was claimed "the closest thing to perfect baseball ever seen in these parts."

Maurie Thompson was allowed only 3 hits, with 9 strikeouts. Earl Ryan, after his spectacular hitting against Alfred, only chalked up one hit; but he certainly played a grand game.

Every player is playing top-notch ball, without an error in the game, which shows what can be done by practice. Manager Morris Danis has the team out every Wednesday night, and their efforts are paying off by the style of ball played and the many people who come to the games. Sunday's attendance was well over 500 people.

Next Sunday Brownsburg meets Hawkesbury, in Brownsburg, and it is hoped in the meantime the weather-man pays his visits on week days.

Earl Ryan-C, Maurice Thompson-P, Fern St. Onge-1B, Maurice Legault-2B, Jim Murdoch-S.S., Roger Prud'homme-3B, Paul Emile Hebert-L.F., Ken Simpson-C.F., Bernie Petley-R.F., subs— Rudy Gagne-P, Fred Leroux, B. Tremblay, Bill Tessier.

In our last column of Gatineau Lines it was pointed out that the one-meter system, together with the system of equal rates for communities of equal size, have been valuable factors in providing good electrical service at the lowest possible rates to our customers. We discussed the fact that the principle of equal rates in communities of equal size provides each community with the best opportunities for growth and development. There are equally tangible advantages resulting from the one-meter system.

One-meter System

All Gatineau customers are on the one-meter rate — in fact this has become general practically everywhere in Canada, because it is the cheapest and fairest method of figuring electricity charges. Such was not always the case. When Gatineau was formed in 1927, it consisted of a dozen or so different companies, each with a widely different rate, and each with the two-meter system. Under this system lighting was supplied through one meter, and if an electric stove or similar appliance was operated, it was supplied through a second meter. All this meant duplication of wiring and much higher rates.

In 1930 Gatineau introduced the one-meter rate throughout its territory. As a matter of fact, Gatineau was one of the first companies on the continent to adopt this system. It resulted in immediate and continuing saving to customers in many quarters. A typical example might be found in Aylmer, where, following introduction of the one-meter system, the cost of 100 kilowatt hours of electricity dropped from $10.00 to $3.65. Later it went down to $2.89.

The one-meter plan, together with the system of similar rates for communities of similar size which we reviewed in our last column, has played an important part in providing the best possible electrical service at the lowest possible rates to our customers.

How Should Drainage Work be Accomplished ?

Whether drainage trenches are dug with machines or by hand, the following points should be kept in mind:

1. The grade must be uniformly distributed so that depressions to collect sediment will not exist.
2. A solid bottom is essential —tile laid on muck or soft material are likely to shift out of alignment and obstruct the flow of water.
3. The tile should be laid as soon as the trench is completed.
4. The stones or other obstructions encountered in the trench must be removed, the hole carefully filled and tamped to give a solid bottom.
5. Only the best tile should be used.
6. Blinding and back-filling must be carefully done to eliminate the breaking of tile by rolling in stones or by horses stepping into the trench.
7. Trees likely to block the tile must be removed.

Laying Tile

Ordinarily, the tile should be laid as closely together as the cut ends will permit. In heavy soils a little opening is not objectionable, while in sandy or sandy loam soils it is necessary to fit them closely together. In the latter it is often desirable to cover the upper half of the tile with tar paper to keep the sand from entering.

Whether tile are laid by hand or with a hook is not important so long as they are kept in proper alignment and well graded.

A few inches of soil, preferably the surface soil, should be placed over the tile as soon as they are laid.

The upper end of a drain should be closed with a flat stone.

Backfilling should not be too long delayed, as frequently the soil will become baked and difficult to move.

Junctions

Junctions should be carefully constructed in order that no obstruction offers resistance to the flow of water.

Moulded junctions can be obtained from many of the tile manufacturers. These are very satisfactory and desirable.

When making a junction one should obtain a tile pick. With this he can open a hole in the side of the main tile equal to the diameter of the lateral tile, which is shaped, fitted up closely and covered with concrete.

Spacing and Depths

The depths and distances apart at which tile should be placed depend almost entirely upon the nature of the soil. The lighter the soil, the deeper and farther apart, while in heavy clay they must be placed closer together and somewhat shallower.

Quicksand

Of all the problems with which one has to contend in drainage, quicksand is perhaps the worst. The following suggestions may be helpful:

1. Undertake the drainage of quicksand areas during the driest part of the season.
2. If possible, after opening the drain into quicksand, leave it until the water drains out. The sand will solidify and the drain may be more easily completed.
3. In some cases it will be found better to remove the last foot or so by hand, as the action of the digging wheel seems to provoke the trouble.
4. Sod thrown in the trench and around the joints is practical for short distances.
5. Straw, sawdust, shavings, are often used to good advantage.
6. Cemented sewer-pipe may be found practical in some conditions.
7. A silt basin should be constructed on the line of tile below and as soon as possible after passing through the quicksand area.

Silt Basin

Silt basins are constructed for the purpose of removing from the drainage water sediment which may lodge and block the drain; to afford a means of inspecting various sections of the system; for junction purposes, or for all three.

Catch Basins

Catch basins are designed to allow surface water to enter a tile drain. Many schemes have been used. The most common is the concrete box type with the iron grating. Culvert tile are also used.

Roots

Tree roots seldom interfere with a drain unless it is carrying spring or seepage water during the dry season.

It is advisable, however, to remove all trees, such as willow, elderberry, poplar, soft maple and elm, from the location of the drain.

Where it is desirable to leave a shade tree, cemented sewer-pipe should be used for at least fifty feet on either side of the tree.

In fruit orchards and permanent crops, cut-off drains should be installed to remove all seepage water which has a tendency to feed tile during the summer.

Outlets

The outlet of a drainage system should be well protected. The last eight or ten feet should consist of a piece of gas pipe, corrugated pipe, several lengths of sewer pipe or even a wooden box. A concrete retaining wall may be a necessity. Some protection over the mouth of the tile to prevent the entrance of animals is essential.

Tile

Tile may be made either of clay or concrete. Either, when properly manufactured, gives good results. They should exhibit the following qualities:

1. Smoothness, to reduce friction and promote rapid waterflow.
2. Hardness, to indicate durability—good shipping and handling qualities. The tile when struck with a piece of metal should give a distinct ring.
3. They should be well shaped —cylindrical, not warped and have clean-cut ends.
4. Clay tile should be free from burnt limestone.

Sizes

Sizes of tile for main drains should be carefully worked out after taking into consideration the area to be drained and the grade of the tile.

Lateral drains should be no less than four inches in diameter, especially so if the area is flat. Four-inch tile will carry almost twice as much water as three-inch. The cost of installation is no more. Much longer service will be assured. It is false economy to use tile too small to carry water.

"Flavoured with Pulp Mill Waste"

VANILLA from waste pulp mill liquor . . . rock wool insulation from blast furnace slag . . . Yesterday waste . . . today, useful products contributing to Canada's industrial advance which has made us one of the world's great manufacturing nations — with greater, more interesting, more varied opportunities than ever before for the talents and enterprise of young Canadians. Today our vast natural resources are being developed not only more extensively than ever before. Canadian science and initiative are developing them more intensively too.

FROM THE waste liquor of our pulp and paper mills now come ethyl alcohol, vanilla flavour, yeast, some forms of plastics. New developments convert our saw-mill waste into kraft pulp; slash from sawing into insulating board.

OUR NATURAL gas is now the source of a great new fertilizer production . . . Sulphur fumes are processed into sulphuric acid . . . From formerly waste hydrogen comes a Canadian nitric acid . . .

NEW METHODS developed by Canadian scientists extract additional metals from Canadian ores . . . a whole range of minor metals are now the valuable by-products of our lead-zinc ores . . .

LAIRD MILLER of Jarvis, Ontario, "started at the bottom" in a local industry 20 years ago, has advanced to a position of responsibility today. 13 years ago he took over the failing local newspaper, has built it up until it has gained recognition as one of Canada's outstanding weeklies. He has served eight years as Councillor, four as Reeve, on his municipal council; last year was elected to the Board of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

LAIRD MILLER says: "I'm glad I stayed in Canada when others were seeking success elsewhere. There have always been opportunities here for those ready to take advantage of them — but never have there been so many, or such a variety, of them as there are today."

Procrastination

IT MAY BE poor publicity to admit that Lachute is backward in adopting the modern amenities. But the facts are plain — and they make equally poor advertising to the strangers entering this town, who must instinctively compare Lachute with the more progressive centres through which they have travelled.

The increasing number of Neon signs and bright show-windows, at the eastern approach and along Main Street, is a redeeming feature as one enters town after dark — for without these, Main Street with its antiquated lighting would be a thoroughfare of oppressive gloom, not to mention hazardous. Street-lighting around this community has long needed the stimulus of modern ideas.

With superb advantages to facilitate parking, the traffic on our Main Street is more disorderly than in most towns with a far narrower right-of-way. Last week-end, for instance, with the influx of summer visitors and rural shoppers, the intersections were blocked with traffic and vehicles parked at all angles. . . Why is it that, with the season thus far advanced, no traffic lines have yet been painted on the pavement?

Similarly — why the tardiness in erecting stop-signs and safety fences; why always the inevitable delay in repairing broken roads? . . Citizens endeavoring to keep their properties up-to-date may well wonder what retards the civic pulse and impedes the broader progress of this town.

World Shop-Window

THIRTY-TWO countries are showing their goods at the Canadian Internationl Trade Fair in Toronto, and thousands of buyers from 75 countries are looking at them.

The meeting is Canada's recognition that world prosperity can come only if people exchange goods with one another. It is recognition, too, that one-third of what Canadians eat or wear, in fact one-third of everything they have, is paid for by what they export.

There is no other way to get the many things from other countries which we use every day, except by paying for them with the articles from this country.

This is not done, of course, by barter of one product for another, except to a limited degree, but through various processes of international business and finance. These, complicated as they may seem, are simply conveniences set up to enable the exchange.

Five years of war have deranged these conveniences and dislocated world commerce, and the Fair is one attempt to get people together again face-to-face, to decide what they want and try to work out a way to do business. It is easier done man-to-man than by correspondence.

In a few days a person with a new or interesting product may make it known to people around the globe to an extent which would ordinarily require years.

It is too bad that more Canadians can't see the Canadian display, for they probably would get a thrill out of it. Canada's production of primary products, wheat, lumber, minerals, fish, is well-known. Not so well-known is her production of heavy industrial material and consumer goods.

It is interesting to see railway equipment, for instance, going to India, Nigeria, Portuguese East Africa, Rhodesia, Egypt, Belgium, France; or washing machines to every part of the earth; in fact all the things that make Canada and her 12,000,000 people the world's third trading country.

Aid to House-Hunters

A HOUSE-HUNTER, weary from several months of fruitless search for a place where he might settle down with his family in modest comfort, suggests that there should be a glossary of the terms used by city real estate men in the classified advertisements. Much of his time, he says, would not have been wasted in looking at unsuitable houses, if he had realized the difference in meaning between words employed by a buyer and the same words employed by a seller.

For his own use, he has worked out the following rough decoding of descriptive terms in advertising, and now feels competent to discover the house of his dreams, if it ever comes on the market.

"Convenient to transportation" means not more than a mile from a streetcar or bus line with a twenty-minute service in good weather.

"Newly decorated" implies that the owner has hastily covered the worst cracks in the plaster with the cheapest wallpaper available.

"Large living room" may include anything up to ten feet square. If larger than that, it is properly described as 'spacious'."

"Modern kitchen" may mean almost anything, but rarely does it contain adequate cupboard space.

"Restricted neighborhood" means that it is populated by persons innocent enough to buy houses similar to the one offered for sale.

"Beautiful ravine view" frequently turns out to be proximity to a city dump.

— The Printed Word

All Too True

IN THE Senate recently a member pointed out that this country was not developed by government handouts and money grants, but by the individuals who succeeded by their own efforts. Now we have all kinds of aids such as grants to those wanting to take university courses, baby bonuses, and many other things for which the taxpayers stand the costs.

The view that the world owes us a living seems to prevail in many people's minds, and vote-catching politicians encourage this view. It is absolutely wrong, and will, instead of strengthening the moral fibre of the people, lead to their undoing. This leaning on governments develops weakness in those who haven't the initiative to rely on themselves. There always will be the weak who as long as others will help them, will sit back and take everything handed to them as if it were a right.

The best help is self-help, whereby a man develops his own resources and gets along under his own steam. Paternalism of governments and Socialistic theories will not make lazy people better citizens. Canada presents opportunities a-plenty for those who are willing to use their God-given energies towards improving their own standards. Bolstering up "weak sisters" by government handouts is entirely wrong. Vote-catching political candidates should be plainly told so.

Thinks Farmer's Life An Enviable One

Our rural friends look wonderingly upon the city folk these days — those who, late each Friday afternoon, discard the white collar of respectability and the yoke of anxiety, don their colorful summer togs, and hie to the country haunts till late on Sunday. . . Theirs is an enviable lot — maybe — but in fairness to both factions, we publish here an opposing viewpoint.

Sent to the editor by a commuter twixt the city and these parts, the following is from "Man About Town" by Al Palmer, Montreal Herald columnist, whose prime sentiment hinges upon an aggravated topic, namely — Oleomargarine.

Granting that a farmer's life is by no means an easy one, we are plenty fed up with listening to dull, uninteresting speeches of how rugged and uncertain it is. Certainly the farmer gets out of bed at dawn to make a deal with the cows. However, we know newsboys who get up just as early to peddle papers around Ourtown. We know charwomen who work throughout the night scrubbing marble floors on their aged hands and knees — and without benefit of country air, may we add. We know longshoremen who heave heavy cargo all day along the waterfront. When handing bouquets to these hardy sons of the soil, let us not forget the majority grow their own food. Fresh vegetables to them is no novelty. To the city dweller it is. Compare a farmer's life to that of the average Montreal office worker and judge for yourself which is the more deserving of the privilege of saving a few pennies. (And keep in mind the fact that more farmers than you realize do not pay income tax!)

We'd like to invite a farmer to go through a day in the life of the average Montreal white collar worker. Let the farmer fight his way into a crowded streetcar in the morning and stand, swinging from a strap, all the way downtown. Let him fight his way off and trudge through crowded streets to the usually poorly ventilated cubbyholes that serve as downtown offices. Let him fight his way into the drug store and stand for the better part of his lunch hour trying to attract the eye of a harassed waitress. Let the farmer nibble a sandwich and gulp a cup of coffee and scramble back to the cubbyhole. Let him fight his way back to that streetcar strap and risk being crushed to death, have his clothing torn, and finally, fight his way off again at his stop. Let him pinch nickels and dimes in order to buy decent clothing — he'll discover he is unable to wear the tattered, but comfortable, attire of the farm when working in the city. Let the farmer try this life for a day or so and he'll be more than anxious to get back to the comparative tranquility of the farm. And he'll probably realize why so many city people save all week in order to afford a Saturday afternoon and a Sunday in the country. He'll also figure we have something when we ask . . .

Why No Margarine?

STOP THE POACHERS

Since there are almost as many poachers and law breakers as there are honest sportsmen, it is only natural that without rigid surveillance . . the numbers of game, fish, animals and wildfowl should diminish rapidly. . . It is a marvel that fishing and hunting has survived at all.

— Granby Leader-Mail

DEMOCRATIC PRIVILEGE

If a Canadian citizen does not want to vote for either of two candidates nominated, it should be his privilege to refrain from voting. That's freedom of thought. Take away that privilege and you will have a counterpart of Germany just previous to the war.

— Grenfell (Sask.) Sun

There can be no gerater carelessness than leaving young children alone in a house, be it only for a few minutes. The Safety League reminds parents that countless tragedies occur as the result of such negligence.

THE GRASS LOOKS BETTER WHEN THE BOY IS GREENER

By Virginia Brasier

It's very strange that little boys
Of five consider lawn mowers toys.
Grass cutting's something they adore . . .
When it's what they're too little for.
And, underfoot with firm persistence,
They offer hazardous assistance.
But when a boy is twelve or so,
And capable enough to mow,
The fascination does not hold.
The mere suggestion leaves him cold.
Hint that you'll let him clip the green,
And he is nowhere to be seen.

Doomed to extinction?
A duck that nests in trees and prefers wooded swamps to open water! That's the Wood Duck, the most beautiful of our water-fowl. They are well protected by law, but the draining of wetlands and clearing away of the dead tree trunks they nest in presents a serious threat to their survival. Everything you do to preserve their natural nesting areas will help to conserve the Wood Duck for years to come.

The Labrador Duck became extinct before 1900. Today 44 stuffed specimens are all that remain of this little sea-duck, showing what happens when sound conservational practices are neglected.

GARDEN-GRAPH

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Canadian

Plan your beet plantings so that you can have an early and late season crop. Many home gardeners plan for a succession of plantings every two weeks. The roots below soil level and the tops or "greens" above ground are good eating. One ounce of seeds is ample for a 100-foot row.

The first planting of beets should be made as early in the spring as the ground is workable. Later plantings made in June and early July can be used for canning, pickling and winter storage. When planting the seeds of the late beets, set them one to two inches deep in the soil.

Crosby's Egyptian is the earliest of the beets. It matures in 50 days. It is good for table and canning purposes, being exceptionally tender and sweet. The roots are a flattened, globe shape.

Detroit Dark Red is another favorite beet variety. It matures in 55 to 60 days. The roots are globe-shaped and a deep oxblood red in color.

Long Season is one of the best of the late season beets. It is also called "Winter Keeper" and "New Century". It remains tender and sweet all summer and fall, and keeps in fine condition over winter.

Do not depend upon Long Season for early use, however, as it grows slowly, but when the early-sown beets get tough and poor, this late beet will be found to be of finest quality. It grows large but stays as tender as the smaller early beets.

Beets are seldom attacked by insects or disease; therefore they are a fairly easy crop to grow and are high in food value.

The rung of a ladder was never meant to rest upon, but only to hold a man's foot long enough to enable him to put the other somewhat higher. — Thomas Huxley.

Arundel

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cooke, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. T. Sevigny and family, were at their cottage for the week-end.

Miss Pat Richmond, of Montreal, was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Val Swail.

"Dunrovin Camp" was open last week, when a number of the boys were here on a fishing trip. Messrs. H. Costigan, F. Bayne, and Roy Chadwick were among the group.

Week-end guests of Mrs. May were Dr. and Mrs. R. Ward and family, also Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward.

A song service of old favorite hymns will be held in Arundel United Church on Sunday, June 13, at 7.30 p.m. All interested will be cordially welcomed.

Mr. J. Gilfillan and daughter, Mrs. J. Buckle, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cooke.

The Misses E. and W. Cooke visited their brother, Mr. Leslie Cooke, over the week-end.

Highway No. 31 has been treated with calcium chloride, and as a result the travelling in this district is much improved.

Dr. and Mrs. C. Flanagan were visiting in Arundel over the week-end.

From reliable sources we learn that, commencing June 7 the general stores in Arundel will close Tuesday of each week at 6 p.m., and every Thursday at noon sharp. The post-office will continue on the same schedule as in the past.

To correct an error of last week, the Women's Institute (and not the Woman's Auxiliary) will hold a lawn social on July 16. The proceeds are to defray expenses of the School Fair.

Miss Lucille Dever spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Simons had as their guest Mrs. Logan, of Lachine, over the week-end.

Most of the cottages at Barkmere were open for the week-end, and as soon as school closes the majority will be in use for the rest of the summer season.

Miss Margaret Norman, of Montreal, was the week-end guest of Mrs. Hugh Cooke.

Miss Jean Morrison spent the week-end with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Doane, of Truro, N.S., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Davis.

Miss Laura Davis spent the week-end at her home.

Mr. Delmer Cooke and family has moved into the Hugh Graham house until he gets his own home built. We are glad to report that Mrs. Delmer Cooke is progressing favorably.

Mrs. Young, of Montreal, spent the week-end at her cottage. She was accompanied by her daughter Mrs. Treharne, of New York. Mrs. Treharne and family will occupy the cottage for the season.

I WANT TO KNOW

Am I too old to buy life insurance?

The middle-aged man who asked this question feared that at his age the cost of life insurance would be prohibitive . . . but even were he much older, Mutual low-cost life insurance would still prove good business.

Unfortunately many people realize the importance of life insurance only when through age or other disability they are no longer able to secure it. A life insurance programme should be started as early in life as possible.

Consult your Mutual Life of Canada man today.

Couple Wed Saturday At Bride's Residence

MacAdam - MacCulloch

The marriage of Muriel Beryl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Provan MacCulloch, of Lachute, Que., to Mr. Gerald Alexander MacAdam, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross MacAdam, also of Lachute, took place at the home of the bride's parents at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, June 5, the Rev. Dr. Wm. McMillan officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a floor-length gown of net lace over taffetta, the jacket of lace having long sleeves, with points falling over the hands; she carried a bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

The groom's mother wore a gown of powder blue faconne lace with accessories to match, and the bride's mother wore powder blue crepe, with navy accessories—both having corsages of red roses.

The wedding music was played by Miss Jean MacAdam at the piano, and Mr. Laurie Gagnon, violinist.

A reception was held at the bride's home after the ceremony, with about 45 guests in attendance. Among the guests were the Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Rosborough, Miss Elizabeth Rodger, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Joss, Mr. Laurie Gagnon, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carpenter, and Miss Wilma Pope of Montreal.

The happy couple left for a wedding trip to the Niagara district, the bride travelling in a grey gabardine suit with white accessories.

Cassburn Orangemen Visit Dalesville Lodge

Dalesville, Que. — The members of L.O.L. 1453 met on June 3, with W. M. Geo. McCormick in the chair. The following guests from Cassburn, Ontario, were welcomed at the meeting — County Master of Prescott and Glengarry Bro. H. Steele; W. M. of L.O.L. 497 Bro. D. MacLennan; 1st Lecturer Bro. G. Allen; Past W. M. Bro. M. Steele; and Bro. K. Fraser — all of whom had an opportunity to address the gathering and brought greetings from the Orangemen in Ontario. Plans were discussed to attend the picnic at Cassburn on July 10, commencing at 1 p.m., also the big celebration at Ottawa on July 11, including divine service, and on July 12 the parade and other features.

At the close of the lodge meeting, the Dalesville members served lunch to the visiting brethren.

CHEVROLET · PONTIAC · OLDSMOBILE · BUICK · CADILLAC · CHEVROLET AND GMC TRUCKS

The Parliament of Canada has just passed "an act respecting The Bell Telephone Company of Canada". Here is what this act means to the telephone-using public:

More and Better Telephone Service

A Period of Unequalled Growth

In the 34 months since V-J Day we have added 350,000 telephones—many more than in the preceding ten years. We now serve 1,360,000 telephones—22 for every 100 persons throughout Ontario and Quebec. We have never before provided so much new service in so short a time.

This unprecedented pace has been maintained with the aid of new capital from Canadian investors. More will be required.

The Continuing Demand for Service

Yet, despite this rapid growth, we still have 96,000 unfilled orders for telephones and another 69,000 requests to change party lines to individual service. Thousands of new orders are coming in every month.

Long Distance calls are three times pre-war levels.

Many new buildings, switchboards, lines and other equipment must be provided as rapidly as possible. The next decade may well see more telephone construction than during the preceding 68 years of our history.

Rural Telephone Service

Rural telephone service has expanded, and will continue to do so. In the territory we serve, 55 of every 100 rural homes and businesses have telephones. In 1945 only 39% had service.

Vast Construction Program Continues

Parliament has given the Bell Telephone Company permission to increase its authorized capital by $350,000,000.

The Company can now continue to go to investors for the money necessary to further the greatest expansion and improvement program in its history.

This construction program is necessary if the Company is to carry out its obligation and satisfy the public's continuing demand for more telephones and more telephone service.

Our objective is to extend and improve the service so that ultimately we can give every applicant the kind and quality of service he wants, when and as he wants it.

Our farm program calls for still more telephones, for fewer parties on each line, and for more new switchboards.

Dial Telephones

New dial equipment is being installed in tremendous quantities.

Today we have more dial telephones than the total of all our telephones in 1942. Now 70 out of every 100 telephones are dial. More exchanges will be converted to dial operation.

Financing the Program

Much of the new money necessary to extend the telephone system must be obtained from thousands of people who wish to invest their savings.

The principal means of securing this new capital will be by issuing additional shares of our stock from time to time with the approval of the Board of Transport Commissioners.

It was for this purpose that the authority of Parliament was obtained.

Best Service — Lowest Cost

The skill and enthusiasm of telephone workers will be devoted to turning the materials obtained with the new capital into service of the highest standard.

The public can be assured that The Bell Telephone Company of Canada will continue to provide the best telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

DISTRICT NEWS

Brownsburg

Mrs. C. E. Prosser, Mrs. W. Petley and Miss M. Prosser spent Saturday in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Staniforth spent the week-end in Montreal.

Miss Rose Newton and Mr. Alvin Tomalty spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Leslie Newton in Buckingham.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the family of the late Mr. Peter MacQuaig, who passed away on Sunday last at the Herbert Reddy Memorial Hospital, Montreal.

Out-of-town people attending the funeral of the late Peter MacQuaig were — Mr. and Mrs. John Hawkins, of Calumet, Mrs. Kate Farrara, of Grenville, Mr. and Mrs. E. MacLeod and family, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. John Morrell, of Verdun.

Grenville

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dawson and son, of Montreal, were week-end guests of Miss Pearl Dawson and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dawson, Stonefield Heights.

Mr. Rodney Dewar has been transferred by his company from Montreal to Port Stanley, Ont.

Mrs. Douglas Scharf and little son, Bruce, are spending a few days in Ottawa.

Miss Elva Roy and a friend, of Montreal, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Roy.

Miss Beatrice Barron, nurse-in-training at St. Mary's Hospital, Montreal, spent Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barron.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Owens and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hurley motored to Ottawa on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pratley were in Montreal for the week-end.

Mr. L. S. Campbell was home to spend the week-end with his family.

Mabel

Master Charles McLean, of La-Chute, spent the week-end with Master John Clark.

Mrs. Robert Jackson and children, Olive and Marion, spent last week with her sister, Mrs. C. Patterson, at her summer home near Lachute.

Mrs. Thos. MacCullough, of N. D. G., spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Murdoch. Mr. MacCullough also visited there on Friday.

Miss Shirley Heatlie, of Montreal, visited at her home here during the week-end.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Women's Groups at St. Andrews East

St. Andrews E. — Mrs. F. A. Robertson was hostess to the Christ Church W.A. recently. After the business session, refreshments were served by Mrs. Percy Burwash and Mrs. Buchanan Robertson.

The Women's League of the Presbyterian Church met on Thursday evening, June 3, at Mrs. Jos. Bradley's. After the business session, which was mainly concerned with the summer tea and sale to be held July 17, refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. D. O'Brien.

Presentation at Lakefield To Retiring President Of Women's Auxiliary

Lakefield, Que. — A pleasant event took place recently when a surprise gathering of W.A. members and their friends was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McCambly. The occasion was the presentation of a wrist watch and testimonial to Mrs. McCambly upon her resignation as president of the Lakefield Anglican W.A.

Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, the new president, in making the presentation spoke feelingly of Mrs. McCambly's many years of faithful and successful service, and of her generous efforts to promote the work of the church. It would be difficult indeed to maintain the high standard set by Mrs. McCambly in the work of the Lakefield W.A. during her long term of office, said Mrs. Baugh.

The ladies served refreshments and an enjoyable evening was spent. Sincere wishes were offered to Mrs. McCambly for her future enjoyment of the token of remembrance presented at this gathering.

Special Services This Week-end at Lachute Baptist Church

Three great services, and an old fashioned "camp meeting" following the Sunday evening service, will be held in Lachute Baptist Church this week-end. Special speakers, singers and music will be featured.

Visiting speakers will be the Rev. W. S. Whitcombe, M.A., a professor at the Toronto Baptist Seminary and associate editor of "The Gospel Witness", and his brother, the Rev. A. C. Whitcombe, B.A., who although in recent years has been afflicted by blindness, is also a professor at the Seminary, as well as active pastor of Shenstone Memorial Baptist Church, Brantford, Ont.

Both brothers will address the Saturday Night Rally, and will alternate in speaking at the Sunday services — the Rev. W. S. Whitcombe speaking at the 11 a.m. service and the Rev. A. C. Whitcombe at the evening service (which for this week only will be held at 7 o'clock). Following the evening devotions there will be an old-fashioned "camp meeting" featuring special singing, music and other items. A visiting quartet is expected to take part in the morning service. Everyone is invited to attend these services.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. John McFaul left today to spend a visit with relatives in Winnipeg.

Mrs. R. Miller and Miss Lulu Miller returned home last Saturday from their visit to England and Scotland.

• • •

Mrs. Harold Dent and son Bobbie, of Thurso, Que., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Boa, and are also visiting Mrs. Dent's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer.

Miscellaneous Shower Held for Bride-Elect

(Our District Correspondent)

Avoca — An interesting event took place at the manse here Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. John, of Bell Falls, and Miss Jessie McCallum, of Montreal, were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in honor of their cousin, Miss Evelyn McCallum, only daughter of the late Neil McCallum and of Mrs. McCallum, Avoca, whose marriage takes place at the end of June to Mr. George MacArthur, of Morin Heights, Que.

The table was presided over by Mrs. Lorne Marshall and Mrs. Gilbert Campbell. The decorations were spring flowers, and a large umbrella in pink and white was placed over the gift table. The refreshments were served by a number of young ladies.

Appropriate greetings in verse were read by Miss J. McCallum, after which the gathering sang, "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow". The bride-elect was showered with many beautiful and useful gifts.

Friends who attended were from Montreal, Arundel, Lachute, Grenville, Calumet, Morin Heights and Harrington, as well as many from Avoca.

Mrs. E. H. McCoy is at present visiting her daughter, Mrs. Donald Hay and Mr. Hay, at Grand Falls, N.B.

Mrs. Lillian W. McFaul returned Sunday to her home in Waterville, Que., after staying with friends in Lachute.

Mrs. Thomas McCambly has returned home from New Liskeard, Ont., where she attended the funeral of her brother, the late Walter R. Moore, on May 31.

Among those from this district attending the Ottawa-Montreal Conference of Regular Baptist Churches (June 9-10, at Sawyerville, Que.) are — the Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Britton and son, Mrs. Jas. Murdoch, Miss Lois Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. S. Goldsworthy, the Rev. G. B. Hicks, Mrs. L. Plummer, Mrs. Walter Wert, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Morrow.

"MONEY MAKES THE MARE GO"
...BUT HORSE SENSE HELPS

As a farmer, you're well aware of the truth of this old proverb . . . and you know it's not just how much money you have but how wisely you spend it. That's horse sense.

Last year, thousands of Canadian farmers showed they had plenty of it. Under The Farm Improvement Loans Act, they borrowed over $18,000,000 which — with a good proportion of their own money — they used to make their farms better, more profitable farms.

Are you among those taking advantage of this opportunity to get ahead?

If you'd like to modernize your farm and home economically, you'll find, at the B of M, that farm improvement loans can't be bettered for low rates and freedom from other charges.

Ask at your local branch of the B of M for your copy of "Quiz for a Go-Ahead Farmer".

The farmers who borrowed under the Farm Improvement Loans Act last year have better farms, better homes, better lives, as a result. They used the money well . . . to buy machines and equipment . . . to construct and repair buildings, including homes . . . to clear and break new land . . . to buy foundation and breeding stock . . . and to make work and life more worthwhile in many other ways.
THIS YEAR, YOU CAN DO IT, TOO.

Surprise Dish for Supper

Everyone loves a surprise — that is, if it is a pleasant one. Something special for supper, when the family returns after a day at work or in school, lifts the fatigue and adds to the pleasure of being home. When warm days come along and everyone gets a little finicky, the savoury odours, swirling through the kitchen door, soon coax everyone's appetite to its peak.

It may be a casserole dish, a cool salad, a luscious fruit dessert or just an old favorite cake with a fluffy pink icing that will do the trick.

The home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture suggest several ideas for unusual supper dishes.

Surprise Mould

2 Cups raw rice, 2½ teaspons salt, 4 cups boiling water, ½ cup chopped parsley, 3 tablespoons fat, 2 cups chopped cooked meat, ½ cup gravy.

Pick over rice and wash well. Add salt to boiling water. Add rice gradually so the water will not stop boiling. Boil vigorously 15 minutes. Drain well. Add chopped parsley. Set aside 1 cup of this mixture, then line a well-greased mould with the remainder of the mixture. Press it in until about 1½ inches thick. Fill centre with chopped meat and gravy. Cover with the 1 cup rice. Cover closely, set mould in hot water and steam 45 minutes. Turn out to serve. Yield: six servings. Serve with cheese or tomato sauce, if desired.

If using a pressure saucepan, cook 15 minutes at 15 lbs. pressure.

Potato Tongue Salad

½ Cup cooked salad dressing, ¼ teaspoon curry powder, 4 cups diced cooked potatoes, 1 cup diced cooked tongue, salt and pepper to taste, 3 green onions, chopped, 2 hard-cooked eggs, lettuce.

Add curry powder to salad dressing. Mix potatoes, tongue and green onions with dressing, season with salt and pepper and let stand one hour to blend flavors. Cut eggs in quarters. Serve salad on crisp lettuce leaves. Garnish with eggs. Yield: six servings (5 cups salad).

Quick Caramel Custard

4 Eggs, ⅓ cup white sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 cups milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ⅔ cup light brown sugar.

Beat eggs until light. Add sugar and salt, blending well. Scald milk and slowly add to egg mixture. Add flavoring. Beat custard mixture until well blended. Sift brown sugar and place it in the bottom of one large baking dish or individual moulds and pour custard on top of it. Place the baking dish in a pan of hot water and oven-poach in a moderate oven, 350°F., until custard is firm and a silver knife inserted in the centre comes out clean. Chill. Yield: six servings.

"Ice Cream Week" Draws Attention to Nutritive Product

The week of June 7 to 13 has been set aside as "Ice Cream Week". Manufacturers and retailers are celebrating this special event and inviting the public to celebrate "Ice Cream Week" by encouraging everyone to enjoy Ice Cream — the King of Sweets.

We all need cheering up once in a while. When you need a lift, you are recommended to try Ice Cream. It's the perennial treat and the favorite sweet of millions everywhere.

For children it's always a thrill to eat Ice Cream, the perfect whole food. It is also pointed out that Ice Cream is rich in calcium, proteins and all the nutritive ingredients that combine to sustain the right balance of good health. Minerals and vitamins are also plentiful in Ice Cream, and along with the other elements nourish bones, teeth and muscles.

Celebrate "Ice Cream Week" and enjoy the pleasant healthful qualities of everyone's favorite refreshment.

Overhanging eaves and deep porches are light thieves, as far as the rooms they adjoin are concerned. Such light loss can be cut to a minimum by painting the under side of eaves or the ceiling of the porch in light colors.

TONSIL REMOVAL NOT A CURE-ALL

Many conditions for which tonsils are commonly removed are not helped by this procedure, Dr. Griffith Binning states in an article "Peace be on Thy House" — in the magazine "Health", the Health League's official bi-monthly magazine.

Dr. Binning is Director of Schools in Saskatoon, Sask., and his article revealed findings from a study of a group of Saskatoon school children through use of the Wetzel Grid, a relatively new method of appraising infant and child growth and development.

He stated that events in a child's life that cause separation from one or both parents and a mental environment which gives the child a feeling that normal love and affection is lacking do far more damage to growth than does disease.

His reference to tonsils was contained in the following paragraph:

"You must accept my word that where tonsils are not out there appears to be less likelihood of marked growth disturbance and spilling over of excess tensions as illness of emotional origin, or as behavior problems. Kaiser's careful study has shown us how many conditions for which tonsils are commonly removed, that they are not helped by this procedure. Certainly from the psychological aspect in this day when so many of our children have suffered much more emotional damage from prolonged separation from their fathers in the armed services, or from family disturbances, than has been usual in this country, tonsillectomy should be allowed only as a last resort, and not, as often is the case "to prevent rheumatism or stop colds."

Tom — Was he violent when you told him you wanted to marry his daughter?

Sam — Violent! I should say so. Why, he nearly shook my hand off.

50 YEARS OF "Miracle Miles"

...in the 50th ANNIVERSARY Dynamic Series Oldsmobile

Oldsmobile . . . here is the car with the youthful personality . . . built by the continent's oldest car manufacturer . . . and it is the only car that can truly be called Dynamic. When applied to Oldsmobile for '48, "Dynamic" is more than just another word. It's an action word, especially suited to the spirited personality of these action-styled, action-engineered cars.

In its half century of automotive progress, Oldsmobile every year has built cars designed for the utmost in reliability and all-round satisfaction. Oldsmobile for '48 is the latest and greatest in a long line of cars unexcelled in appearance, comfort or driving ease.

In sparkling new colors, attractive, roomy interiors, pleasing appointments . . . the Dynamic 1948 Oldsmobile has a record of fifty years of Miracle Miles to prove its pep, power, pick-up and performance.

No matter what feature or quality you seek—Oldsmobile has it—including the famous GM Hydra-Matic Drive as optional equipment at extra cost.

"ALONG THE FAIRWAYS"

It was the biggest and best Opening Dance to date, with Stan Wood and his band from Montreal providing superb music. They were there from far and near, and from comments heard around and about, we could have more and more of these dances and people would keep coming. Lachute Golf Club is well known and well liked throughout two provinces and more. And its fame is spreading.

They have been very busy along the fairways for a month or more now. The dry weather keeps stretching the drives. Laurier's tee shots keep creeping closer and closer to number four green. If and when roll becomes equal to carry, he should just about make it.

Gordie McMullen has been very prodigal with golf balls ever since he discovered, in the Opening Tournament, that they grow on trees. Leastways, they tell us Gordie was looking around for a golf ball, went over and whacked a tree with his club and down one came. Bitter fruit!

Jack Archer, our club pro, almost turned the trick at Laval-sur-le-Lac in the Spring Open last Friday. After shooting a par-busting 68 for his morning round, he found the going a bit tougher during the afternoon and carded a total of 146 for the 36 holes, to share the second prize with Gerry Proulx. We predict a major win or two for Jack this year.

Most golfing enthusiasts have a nodding acquaintance with birdies —even perchance eagles. But our club president tells us that Jack's grasp of the situation extends farther than that, even to ducks — wild ducks that is. But ducklings, well — don't blame us Jack, somebody egged us on. Duck-egged, that is.

Now is the time for all good men to get their names in for the qualifying round in the yearly race for the Jones Cup. Play will be June 12-13-14 — 18-holes medal play with handicap, lowest 16 to qualify. As well as a chance to qualify for the Jones Cup play, all entrants' names will be entered in the Ladder Tournament, this competition to be played throughout the season. For further details concerning Ladder Tournament, watch the notice boards.

LET'S CUT DOWN ON RUMORS

Rumors are seldom good news. All too often they are not based on fact. Every time they are relayed they stray farther from the truth. Rumors usually hurt somebody—so let's help put an end to them. Gossip lives only when it has listeners . . . dies when the facts are known. By making sure of the facts, each one of us can do his share toward stopping rumors. That's "Good Citizenship".

Premier of P.E.I. Officiates at Opening of Fair

Hon. Walter Jones, Farmer Premier, Gives Event Auspicious Send-Off; Cuts Ribbon For Official Opening of 1948 Exhibition

The Hon. J. Walter Jones, M.A., B.Sc.(A), Premier of Prince Edward Island, gave a promising send-off to the annual exhibition of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, more generally known as the Lachute Spring Fair, last evening in the presence of the directors, officials and other distinguished visitors. Fine weather favored the occasion, with fair prospects for its continuance.

Prior to the opening, at which Premier Jones officially cut the ribbon before the grandstand, the Premier, accompanied by his wife, was guest of honor at a dinner of the directors and leading citizens, in the dining hall at the grounds. About 40 persons were present. President J. H. Black occupied the chair, and extended a cordial greeting to Mr. and Mrs. Jones and the visitors present.

Premier Walter Jones' presence on this occasion was a happy and appropriate circumstance, for he is himself a farmer of practical and administrative experience. In replying to the president's address, he lauded the role of the agriculturist and stressed the world importance of the producer. In the gravitation of youth to the cities, away from the farms, he saw high salaries and false values as a misguiding factor; and he recommended, for their future well-being and security, that youth should return to the land and its wholesome living.

Mr. Gilbert E. Arnold and Major G. G. Mitchell also spoke briefly during the dinner.

During the proceedings Mrs. Héon, representing her husband Georges H. Héon, K.C., M.P., tendered regrets for his unavoidable absence, and handed to Gilbert Arnold a telegram received from Quebec, signifying the Department of Agriculture's grant of $5,000 to the Argenteuil Agricultural Society towards the success of the Fair. Mr. Arnold expressed warm appreciation.

Increase in Livestock

The steady growth of Lachute Spring Fair is evidenced in the increased number of both exhibitors and animals. . . Those entering stock, exclusive of poultry and rabbits, numbered 148, as compared with 135 last year. Ayrshire cattle exhibits are up from 191 to 200, Shorthorn dual-purpose cattle from 25 to 70; while Holsteins show a slight decrease, from 125 to 100. There are over 106 horses entered for the show events, compared with 98 last year, and the total of exhibitors in the horse classes is 83.

Opening of Horse Show

Driving, saddle and hunter horses appeared for judging before the grandstand last evening, opening one of the most fascinating features of the entire program. Heavy horse and cattle judging are proceeding according to schedule.

A large class of 15 entries took part in last evening's event for Single Harness Ponies. The class was won by L. H. McQuarry with Coronation Princess, staging a fine performance. Second was Alasa Firefly, owned by Viola Lallemand, and third Alasa Debutante, owned by Claude De Angelis.

There were 12 entries in the Single Horses Over 15.2. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. O'Connell took the first two awards with White Gate Princess and White Gate Smile, respectively; Gordon McNeil came third with Dainty Laddy.

Third event was the Lightweight Hunters, also showing a heavy entry list. The O'Connells' horse Torino took first rating with the judges; Mrs. H. M. Wallace second with Melody; Erving Berlin third with Mr. Chips; Mrs. Geo. Jocobsen fourth with Tug-o-War.

The class Open to All Jumpers was won by Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell's Torino. Lucien Bergeron's Darkie came second and W. L. Ressiguier's Kirk third.

General Purpose Draft Horses were also judged on the show program last evening, three prior awards going to local exhibitors. A. B. Cleland's team ranked first; Kilwin Farms second; Hadley & Stewart third; and Gordon McNeil fourth.

County Race Today

Opening event on the racetrack program today is the $200 County Race, followed by the 2.18 Pace ($300 purse) and the 2.26 Pace ($250). Jas. A. MacKimmie has charge of these events, for which $2,500 is awarded in prizes over the three-day program.

An innovation in the horse racing this year is the new mobile starting gate, which should overcome some of the previous difficulties in getting the racers under way.

Entries in the County Race are — Gloria Gratton (J. Joly, Lachute); Senator Harvester (P. Millette, Lachute); Miss Kay Lee (C. Moseley, Brownsburg); Fanny B. (Delbert MacTavish, Lachute).

Innovations Seen Among Industrial and Entertainment Features

Industrial exhibits on the site last evening included some progressive displays in farm, dairy, automotive and building equipment.

Bordering the ring and racetrack are extensive shows by Northland Automotive Equipment, De Laval and Cockshutt, while in the outdoor booths Farmers' Electric and Farmers' Supply are jointly presenting the most ambitious display — with Conde milking machines, Beatty washers, Kelvinator refrigeration, Surge dairy equipment, and Woods brooder with Liquigas heating and cooking appliances. Bendix washers are also prominently featured here. . . County Gas & Utilities Reg., Morin Heights, have a show of Thermo-Gas powered domestic ranges and water heaters. . . Lucien St.Jacques is displaying builders' materials and supplies, and the Grimm Company has erected a syrup evaporator.

The Chamber of Commerce booth, and the Lions Club prize automobile on which thousands will cast hopeful glances—are two community features of interest in this section of the grounds.

In the main building, only the ground floor booths were in order yesterday, with all spaces occupied. These included a large display by Roger Lamarche, of household furniture and appliances; Canada Packers, with feeds and fertilizers; C-I-L Ammunition and Chemicals division; and the Royal Canadian Chinchilla Co.

The W.I. handicrafts show will be on view today, a source of interest to Fair-goers particularly from the surrounding district.

Catering at the lunch counter and dining room is in charge of Cordner's Ltd.

Midway Attractions

Model Shows of Canada have their entertainment stands in the midway concession. There are seven rides, including the new Moon Rocket recently added to this outfit, which has never before appeared here, and the Kiddy-Ride, which is claimed absolutely safe for youngsters; others are the Tilt-a-Whirl, the Rideo, the Caterpillar, and the conventional Ferris Wheel and Merry-Go-Round. There is in addition a "ten-in-one" circus sideshow, a booth with snakes and reptiles, and one "Montana Steve" with his educated horse — altogether a diversified line-up to suit all tastes in entertainment. Model Shows come to Lachute direct from Ormstown Fair.

Joe Basile and his Madison Square Garden instrumentalists are filling their appointed role in the bandstand, and meriting public approval.

Anti T-B Campaign In Brownsburg

Brownsburg — The Rotary Club of Brownsburg is sponsoring two clinics to further the excellent work of Dr. L. Turcotte, County Health Officer, and the Argenteuil County Health Unit, to prevent tuberculosis in Brownsburg. All persons above school age who have not already been X-rayed, are privileged to receive free chest X-ray.

The campaign is strongly supported by the Government, the Town Council and the clergy. It is emphasized that this X-ray health service is entirely free. The most modern equipment is to be on hand, hence no undressing is necessary. However, to make the best pictures, persons are asked not to wear jewelry, nylon or silk over the chest region.

Persons from "The Quarry", Dalesville and St. Philippe can also be accommodated at these clinics, to be held as follows — afternoons (2 - 6 p.m.) and evenings (7 - 10 p.m.):

Monday, June 21, at St. Louis de France Convent;

Tuesday, June 22, at Brownsburg Social & Athletic Club.

Farewell Dinner For 3 Teachers

Members of Lachute High School staff held a dinner Tuesday evening at the Clover Leaf Inn, Lachute, as a farewell gesture to three of the teachers who are leaving for new fields. Miss Norma McClenaghan has been engaged by the Montreal board for the coming year; Mr. L. King will be attending Columbia University to study for the M.A. degree; and Mr. E. H. Peters is leaving to return to Ontario.

Principal F. H. J. Royal, in bidding adieu to these three teachers, referred pleasurably to the fellowship which had existed among the staff. The school inspectors, he recalled, had commented upon this friendly atmosphere during their visits to the school.

Special Police For Fair Week

Through arrangement with Lt.-Col. E. Emmett, three members of the Imperial Corps of Frontiersmen were engaged yesterday to assist in town police patrol during the days of the Exhibition. (The Frontiersmen are also serving in greater number at the Fair Grounds this week.)

Cst. Aldege Pagé having recently resigned as police officer, Laurent Vezeau, of Brownsburg, is now serving an probation to assist Police Chief D. Villeneuve.

At Peanut Day Inaugural

Opening gesture of the Legion's successful "Peanut Day" last Saturday: Mayor Alex Bothwell, after making the initial donation in the campaign, is seen giving the event a verbal send-off. Left, Comrade Stewart Jones, Legion president, launched the public appeal and introduced the Mayor. The float, with the Peanut Queen and her escorts, was stationed on Main Street for the opening occasion. (Photo by Sidney Drew)

Fish-Game Branch In Arundel District

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — An interesting meeting was held here Friday evening, when Norman Somers, president of the Argenteuil Fish and Game Protective Association, Ken Dalrymple, secretary, Ed Cribb of the entertainment committee, and Sterling Pollock of the Anglers' Association, addressed a gathering with a view to starting a branch in Arundel district.

Mr. Somers, who was introduced by E. A. Bulley, explained the objects of the Association and how its charter was obtained. He described the methods of wildlife conservation, and stressed that the most effective means to this end was by sportsmen obeying the law — not taking more than their lawful share of the wild game, and seeing that their friends conformed with the same regulation. In this way, fish and game would not be eventually exterminated, as would be the case if unlimited killing was allowed. . . There is now a membership of between 400 and 500 members in the Fish and Game Club, but the organization is looking for that number to be increased as its aims are placed before greater groups of people in this county. Mr. Somers also spoke of a school to be established to train proficient game wardens.

Nominations were called, and Herman Graham was duly appointed chairman for Arundel district.

Sterling Pollock then spoke a few words, after which two moving pictures were shown, entitled "Life on the Western Marshes" and "Realm of the Wild". Melvin Graham kindly operated the projector. The meeting closed with the national anthem.

Educationist Heard At Rotary Session

Brownsburg — Speaker at last week's meeting of the Brownsburg Rotary was a fellow clubman well known to the local members, Rotarian Doug Silverston. Now of Endicott, N.Y., Mr. Silvertson is professor of English Literature at Tri-Cities College of the Syracuse University. As former deputy governor for this district, he had visited the Brownsburg group on many previous occasions.

In his usual constructive vein the speaker dealt this time with the subject of Education, a topic in which he is well versed. Following are a few extracts illustrating the trend of his address:

The aims of education are to make it possible for the child —

1. To get the best out of life for himself;
2. To make the greatest contribution within his power to his country and his time.

Most college professors will tell you that the aim of education is knowledge. This is a false assumption. . . Education is a tool, an instrument, which may be used for good or evil. The aim is for good.

In the final reckoning what one IS counts more than what one knows or does. The Hitlers of this world are transient. The abiding powers of the human race are moral.

The word "honor" has been a kingly word in English speech, and life, for seven hundred years. The highest affirmation of our manhood is "On my honor." School and college men and women should be honorable in all their ways, declaring first of all, Character.

Oft in the Silly Night!

The lowing of cattle on dew-spattered pastures may be an inspiration to poetry . . . but 5 a.m. on Main Street is no setting for such rustic interludes. In fact, it can be plain exasperating!

Granted, Main Street is becoming steadily commercialized; but until the transformation is complete, there are still those citizens whose misfortune it is to live, sleep and have their being along the "main drag". And beef cows moo-ing in a drover's truck, while the driver unconcernedly takes his breakfast at an all-night snack bar, is not conducive to sound sleep, good temper or personal well-being.

Added to this, the fracas of tooting taxis and rowdyism almost into the lap of dawn (often until 2 a.m.) . . . these annoyances need not be.

— This complaint, endorsed by numerous Main Street residents, is front-page material which should command the attention of our police committee. There is an obvious need for more adequate patrol to curb these nighttime disturbances.

Scouts Assist Police, Win Commendation

Commendation for the services of Boy Scouts selected to aid in traffic control last week-end, was expressed by the town Chief of Police to Scoutmaster J. N. Robinson. Four of the boys were assigned to this role during the Peanut Day congestion last Saturday, and two to regulate traffic during Sunday's parade and service of the Legion. The Scouts filled their duties most efficiently, according to the police officer.

Parcels to Britain

A lot of people grumble at the cost of sending parcels to friends in Britain. The matter came up in the House recently and the Postmaster-General answered thusly: "Only five per cent of the people of Britain are receiving gift parcels. We are not making any money out of these parcels, as we charge only for out-of-pocket expenses. The largest parcel that can be sent is twenty pounds, but small parcels of five pounds or so are often sent. The cost on these parcels is high. The total postage is 85 cents, but we have to pay 38 cents for sea transportation and 27 cents to the British post office for handling and delivering there — which leaves us 20 cents as payment for transportating a parcel, say from the West to Halifax. If the present rates were reduced it would mean that we would be paying a subsidy to five per cent of individuals instead of to the people as a whole."

Charitable Donation

When the Income Tax structure was being discussed recently, the definition of "charitable donation" was found by Mr. Hazen to be rather hazy (no pun in association of names). Mr. Abbott said there was no clear definition, and Mr. Hazen said it was quite broad; it would include a society for the promulgation of a particular political doctrine or principle, such as Socialism or Conservatism combined with moral improvement. It could be a gift to increase the efficiency of the army or for the improvement of agriculture, any gift of that kind might be charitable at law and come within the legal definition.

Cost-of-Living Index

What the little woman could buy each month for $121 in 1936 now costs her $183.92; or what it cost $27.96 a week to buy in 1936, now costs $42.49 a week. The present index figure is 152, which does not mean much to most people — so Stanley Knowles wants the figures to be issued in dollars and cents in future.

Aboideaux

There was much ado in the House recently over the meaning of the word "aboideaux" or "aboiteaux". Some members said it was a ditch, others maintained it was a sluice. The French call it "biteau" for short. It was a "bittoo" much for the members anyway!

Legionnaires Claim Spotlight in Two Celebrations Last Week-End

"Peanut Day" Canvass Nets Appreciable Sum For Memorial Hall

The building fund for a Memorial Hall planned by Argenteuil Legion (Branch 70, Lachute), received a considerable impetus through proceeds of a "Peanut Day" successfully staged by the veterans here last Saturday.

President Stewart Jones and Mayor Alex Bothwell opened the event on Main Street around 9.30 a.m. Comrade Jones addressed the gathering and explained the purpose of this drive. Mayor Bothwell gave the initial donation of the campaign, to the Peanut Queen aboard the decorated float, and also spoke in support of the effort.

President Jones in his remarks recalled the rally to the colors in the 2nd World War. . . "Victory was achieved—but not without its price," he added. "We reverently remember those of our comrades who did not return. To help the people of our community do something worthwhile to honor our fallen comrades, the Argenteuil Legion are working to build a hall, which may stand as a memorial to those who did not come back and also a meeting place for those of us who were more fortunate — a place to meet in and keep alive that spirit of comradeship which they so loved and would want us to carry on."

Comrade Roger Daoust followed with appropriate remarks in the French language. The High School orchestra played selections during the morning proceedings.

Canvassing was carried on throughout the day; senior schoolgirls, Scouts, Guides and Legionnaires were active in approaching the public, the local industries and business firms; and during the afternoon the campaign was carried to Brownsburg. The gratifying result of this effort was a gross collection of $1,151. Actual number of peanuts dispensed to the public was 9,640 bags — averaging 12c a bag; and from the gross receipts, Argenteuil Legion will benefit to the extent of around $650. The officials and committeemen are unstinting in their praise of the public co-operation and support. Planter's "Pennant" Brand Peanuts, who put on the demonstration, sent a crew of adept showmen, and the public appeared to enter into the happy spirit of the demonstration.

Climax of the event was a street dance held on Main Street, between Barron's Bridge and the C.P.R. crossing. The Planter's bandwagon provided lively airs and quips for both square and modern dancing. The only detriment to this diversion was lack of space, since the crowd numbering around 4,000 by far exceeded the anticipations of the committee. However, a pleasant time of revelry was enjoyed by both the dancers and the spectators.

A guessing contest in connection with the canvass provided a chance for each purchaser to estimate the number of peanuts attached to the float. A check of the returns revealed Mayor Omer Legault, of Brownsburg, as the winner. His guess was 118,000 — the nearest number to the actual count. Mayor Legault came forward and received the prize, a pair of boudoir lamps.

Other awards in connection with the drive were three cash prizes, $5, $3 and $2, generously donated by Comrade E. M. Jones to junior canvassers soliciting the highest contributions. These were won by Jean Muir, 1st; Florence Copeland, 2nd; Jean McAdam, 3rd.

Highly encouraged with the outcome of the event, it is hoped by the Legion to stage another such occasion in 1949. Meanwhile, according to the President, picks and shovels will be applied to the consummation of these efforts, in the erection of a Legion hall on Robert Street East.

Liberal Candidate Named For Labelle Constituency

Mont Laurier — Eugene Lortie was unanimously elected to represent the Liberal party for Labelle constituency in the coming Provincial election on July 28. The convention was held last Sunday in the municipal hall at Mont Laurier and was attended by several hundred delegates.

The son of Pierre Lortie, who represented the Labelle constituency for 17 years, Eugene Lortie will oppose the Hon. Albiny Paquette, Provincial Minister of Health, who is presently holding the seat in the Quebec Legislature.

Too much cannot be done towards guarding and guiding well the germinating and inclining thought of childhood.

Drumhead Service Held Sunday Afternoon At School Grounds

In marked contrast to their activities of the previous day was a solemn observance held by Argenteuil Legion on Sunday afternoon. The local veterans paraded in full force, marching from the civic auditorium to the school grounds for a drumhead service. They were joined on this occasion by their neighboring unit, Legion Branch 71 and women's auxiliary, from Brownsburg; also by the Boy Scouts, Wolf Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies, the different groups wearing their uniforms and displaying their colors. A fair gathering of the local public attended the devotional exercises.

Accompaniment for the hymns was provided by the High School instrumental band, under the baton of their director, Earl Morrison. All members of the Protestant clergy took part in the service, and an appropriate message was delivered over the public address system by the Rev. Chas. Maclean, pastor of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church and a chaplain of the 2nd World War. His message stressed the importance of good deeds, but more strongly emphasized the impetus of Belief. "The inspiration of our daily acts should be our unfailing Belief — for therein lies the beginning of good works. Our deeds will reach their highest point of achievement only if inspired with the highest possible ideal, our faith and devotion to Christ," the preacher observed.

Other members of the clergy taking part were the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, the Rev. C. R. Lang, the Rev. W. H. Britton and the Rev. G. T. Spriggs, a veteran of World War I, who pronounced the benediction. The ceremonies closed with the national anthem.

Wallet and $355 Returned to Owner

Suspicion of a pickpocket incident was dispelled when, after considerable anxiety, René Deschamps, proprietor of Rex Café, recovered a wallet containing $355 which he missed from his person on Tuesday morning. Retracing his steps from Main Street to the nearby telephone office, where he had been delivering refreshments, his search was noted by workmen engaged on an extension to the Bell Telephone building. One of these, Julien Louis-Seize, hailed the restaurant proprietor, and on enquiry produced the missing wallet, which he had found on the street.

Pair on Bicycle Struck by Car

Two boys riding a single bicycle (in disregard to the by-law against this practice), and also carrying no light, were accidentally struck at 10.15 p.m. last Thursday by Lawrence Tomalty, who failed to see the bicycle as he turned into his driveway on Grace Street. Happily the boys were not seriously hurt, although one with a leg abrasion was taken to the Providence Hospital by Mr. Tomalty for medical examination. The other lad had a fingernail torn from one hand.

Attends Annual Reunion Of Alouette Squadron

Among those attending the Alouette Squadron's annual reunion in Montreal this week was Marcel Daoust, of Lachute. As a Warrant Officer 1 in the R.C.A.F. during the war, Daoust served as air gunner in the initial sortie over Aachen. Returning to Lachute after the war, Marcel Daoust became a partner in establishing the Progressive Commercial College on Main Street, where he now instructs in the business courses.

Gatineau LINES

Anybody who has examined his electricity meter knows that the mechanism is sealed up so he can't get at it. The power companies are in the same position; they cannot open them either.

Every meter installed for a customer by Gatineau Power Company is first tested for accuracy and then sealed by an inspector of the Department of Trade and Commerce. After it is sealed, it is a Federal offence for any company or individual to tamper with it. It operates in home, farm or factory to protect customers against any possibility of paying for electricity they don't use.

Tested Every Six Years

Ordinarily, each meter is taken out and tested by the Department of Trade and Commerce every six years. During the war, this regulation was relaxed because there were not sufficient inspectors to test the meters—but even then the electricity customer was protected. It was arranged that when a tested meter was found to be "running fast"—recording more power than was actually used — a refund would be made to the customer covering all the "fast running" back to the time when it normally would have been tested under the six-year system.

In this way, electricity customers remained protected against faulty meters. As a matter of fact, customers came off better than power companies under this arrangement, because there was no provision to give the company more money if it turned out that the meter had been running slow instead of fast and was not recording all the electricity used.

It is probable that in this way and without ever knowing it, a number of people received a bit of electricity for which they were not charged. Actually, a meter is much more likely to run slow than fast as it gets old, because the oil inside ages and becomes sticky, tending to slow down the meter.

Forage Harvesters Save Manpower

Though forage harvesters reduce the man labor required by about one-half that of regular methods, large tonnages must be harvested to justify the financial outlay. Harvesters for forage crops are now available in three different types; for harvesting grass as silage; for chopped hay and grass silage; and for chopped hay, grass silage and corn for silage.

A complete harvesting outfit consists of a harvester, a blower—located at the barn or silo—and the necessary wagons and tractors. In operation, the machine cuts off or picks up the corn or hay, chops and delivers into a wagon. Wagons are unloaded into a blower which blows silage into the silo or dry hay into the mow. With power-take-off harvesters, a four-plough tractor is required for corn which yields over 20 tons to the acre. A three-plough tractor is sufficient for 15 ton crops located on relatively level land.

Experiments at the Central Experimental Farm, says William Kalbfleisch, indicate that with this method of harvesting, corn should be chopped to a length of ½ to¾ of an inch, grass silage to ¼ of an inch, and dry hay at a theoretical length of 4 inches or longer. In cutting grass for silage it is particularly important that it is cut in very short lengths, that the knives on the machine are kept sharp and that the silage is well tramped in the silo. Dry hay should, however, be cut in long lengths of 4 to 5 inches so that it will keep satisfactorily in the mow. If hay is chopped with the machine set to cut these lengths, it can be placed in the mow when only slightly drier than hay stored by the hay loader method. Chopped hay in the mow should never be walked on or tramped under any circumstances. Hay in 5-inch lengths requires the same space as ordinary long hay, but 2½-inch hay requires only half the space but must be exceptionally dry when stored.

When cutting a crop which is to be handled with a harvester, a narrow cut should first be made with the mower to test the capacity of the machine, as too large a windrow causes plugging of the harvester. The capacity of the average machine ranges from 2 to 4 tons per hour for dry hay, 6 to 10 tons for grass silage and 8 to 20 tons for corn depending on the yield of the crops.

The cost of harvesters ranges from $1,000 to $2,500 depending on the type, capacity and power supply. The machine cost for a harvester and blower is about 35 cents per ton on 600 tons per year. The cost of moving the crop from the windrow to the mow or silo is approximately $2.10 per ton for dry hay and $1.40 per ton for grass silage. Those estimated costs include all machine costs, fuel and labor.

BUY INSECTICIDES NOW

Farmers, gardeners and others who expect to use insecticides, fungicides and weed killers should buy or order their supplies as soon as possible, advises A. M. W. Carter, Associate Chief, Pesticides, Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture. While there is no general shortage of such materials, some chemicals are difficult to obtain and towards the end of the season dealers may run out of stocks. This may be particularly true of 2,4-D. Early purchases will help all handlers of pest control products.

Home Grown Seed Grows Best Grass

Whether Blue Brass is sown for pasture or airfield, playground or cemetery, the seed grown in Canada is the best, say officials of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The Department points out that as Canada-grown Blue Grass seed is better adapted than imported seed to Canadian soil and climate, and should be preferred in the interests of the Canadian economy. Canada usually produces enough of this seed to meet the domestic demand and to have a surplus for export.

The two types of Blue Grass grown in the Dominion are Canada and Kentucky. The Canada type is grown chiefly in the Niagara Peninsula, where average annual production over a ten-year period is an estimated 270,000 pounds. Useful as an ingredient in pasture, turf or lawn grass mixtures, it is best suited to dry, sandy, gravelly or shallow soils.

In those parts of the Dominion where the Canada type is neither dominant nor native, the Department recommends sowing the Kentucky type. Kentucky Blue Grass is produced chiefly in Manitoba's Red River Valley. There, seed production on a commercial basis is relatively new but could be greatly extended if producers were assured of a domestic market that would justify the expense of buying harvesting and processing equipment.

Dawes Black Horses at Lachute Spring Fair

Four of the prize Dawes Black Horses are appearing at the Lachute Fair this week. . . The famous Percheron stallions are maintained by National Breweries Limited in the interest of the farmer and for the advancement of breeding. They have established an enviable reputation through their contribution to the improvement of the standard of draught horses in the province.

All summer, the Black Horses will take part in various fairs throughout the provinces of Quebec and Ontario.

Doomed to extinction?

A duck that nests in trees and prefers wooded swamps to open water! That's the Wood Duck, the most beautiful of our water-fowl. They are well protected by law, but the draining of wetlands and clearing away of the dead tree trunks they nest in presents a serious threat to their survival. Everything you do to preserve their natural nesting areas will help to conserve the Wood Duck for years to come.

The Labrador Duck became extinct before 1900. Today 44 stuffed specimens are all that remain of this little sea-duck, showing what happens when sound conservational practices are neglected.

Fair Week

SO THIS is Fair Week. As we write, there is little in evidence but the preparations. But remembering previous years, we anticipate the event once again as a highlight on the community calender.

There is perhaps no brighter example throughout the year of citizens, representative of many interests, collaborating wholeheartedly for the success of a single venture. Is this enthusiasm stirred by the glamor and fascination of the Fair — by the love of pleasure — by the pride of achievement in fine livestock, and the thrill of princely performance in the show-ring? We prefer to think that this concerted effort centres first in our community pride; in the satisfaction of doing things well, to the credit of the town and countryside. Many problems confront the directors in the staging of this big event. Their efforts are altruistic, and they deserve the tribute of our people, upon whom the fame of Lachute Fair indirectly reflects.

Whatever the motive — whatever the attraction — all Fair-goers will find their fancies amply filled. And to many of our district residents, not the least of their pleasures will be the renewal of old friendships with folks from every corner of the County.

So, to Lachute Spring Fair — and may fine weather crown its triumph.

Land of Bounty

IT'S ONLY human nature to complain, but maybe we Canadians complain more than we should.

That doesn't mean that everything is perfect in this particular part of Canada, or in any other part. Day after day we read about rising prices, restrictions on some imports that used to come from the United States, shortages of housing, high income taxation.

But if we compare our problems in Canada with those in many other parts of the world, they appear pretty insignificant.

Take the case of people living in the United Kingdom. They put up with almost seven years of wartime restrictions far heavier than those imposed on Canadians. They expected that, when peace came, things would be different.

Instead, there is a mild inflation that has boosted prices more than they have gone up in Canada; import restrictions are stricter than during the war and there have been few relaxations in other lines; the housing shortage is acute, because literally millions of homes were destroyed or damaged between 1939 and 1945; and income tax rates are far above Canadian levels.

Almost as many foods are rationed in the United Kingdom today as were rationed during the war. In some cases, the ration allocation has been reduced. There is less variety in the grocery stores than during the peak period of submarine warfare. You can't even buy a chocolate bar without giving up ration coupons. Clothing also is rationed. And many everyday commodities — the things everyone in Canada can buy when he wants them — just aren't to be had. They are being shipped abroad to earn foreign currency to keep the country out of the red.

The other day we were talking to a Canadian just returned after more than three years in London. He travelled around the United Kingdom and several European countries. He enjoyed his stay abroad; but he's glad to get back.

"Boy, the longer you stay away from Canada, the happier you are to get home!" he said.

It's something we stay-at-home Canadians might think about.

A Lost Generation

FROM the Fuehrer's dream of German youth as the pride of a victorious nation . . to the picture portrayed today in news from the occupied country . . is a far cry and a sordid contrast. It is a picture to crown the disillusionment of those vast masses who embraced the Nazi cause. Here, in the words of an Associated News despatch, is the scene surveyed from the American military zone:

More than 30,000 children are "on the bum" in Western Germany, headed for a life of vagrancy and gangsterism unless they are rounded up and corrected.

Most of these wandering juveniles, designated officially as "homeless youth", are subsisting on prostitution and the black market. Hundreds of them sleep in the big city railroad stations and old air raid shelters.

Some of them are fleeing from post-war frustration and fear. Others have had a taste of an easy, footloose life and found it good. Still others, some under six years of age, are tramping in search of a lost father or mother — or just following an older boy or girl who thinks he or she knows the road to greener pastures.

Germany's homeless youth represents one of the greatest public welfare problems of the post-war world. Unless it is energetically attacked and solved soon, German sociologists and military government officials believe it will develop into an even more dangerous problem in the future — one of a truly "lost generation".

Cars No Cheaper

REMEMBER when they were telling us that, the war over, automobiles would be bought for a song, that there would be two of them in every garage, plus a helicopter on the roof? Well, now comes the president of the Ford Motor Company to say that there's no chance for cheaper cars "for years to come." Adds he: "The day of the $1,000 car is over, and it will be a long time, if ever, before it will return."

The explanation? It begins way back in the coal pits. The coal mines, paying men more to dig coal, raise their prices to the steelmakers. The steelmakers, paying more for their coal and paying men more to make steel, raise their prices to the automobile makers. The automobile makers, paying more for their steel and paying more (for the same reason) for their varnish and paint and nickel and chrome, and more to the men who make automobiles, raise their prices to the public.

So it goes. And after everybody has had a bigger cut, there enters Mr. Abbott, telling the poor motor car buyer that he must render unto Caesar, taking an eight percent sales tax first, and then a 25 percent excise tax, making a car that would sell for $1,500 sell for roughly $2,000.

A thousand dollar car! On some cars that we can think of the tax alone is a thousand dollars.

— Ottawa Farm Journal

Some flabby persons try to make education painless. . . But a student will acquire knowledge, he must and he will, if we teach him to think correctly. Honest thinking is based on full knowledge. You cannot think with hopes and fears and ignorance, but only with a well-trained and a well-filled mind.

We often hear it said that education will be the savior of democracy, that is, education based solely on knowledge. This is a very erroneous statement. The Germans were not an uneducated people. As a people they were more literate than we. Yet German education did nothing to save democracy. Neither did Soviet education. They were both effectively used as anti-democratic instruments.

It is stated the rhythm of history is one of Challenge and Response. History does not make men — men make history. The greatest service which education can render to any generation is to make clearer to it the nature of the emerging challenge to which it must respond.

It is not enough merely to be wise in one's own work. The view is too short. The individual must see beyond his immediate task; he must gain a sense of life as a whole.

The value of literature as a means of education has been well tested. Latin and Greek are passing, but English Literature worthily succeeds.

Great words from the past come knocking at the doors of speech and thought. Winston Churchill constantly draws from his treasury of poetry. In England's darkest hour he stirred a nation's chivalry with Andrew Marvell's tribute to Charles I in his hour of doom:

"He nothing common did or mean
Upon that memorable scene."

The last war was won not only by great deeds but by great words.

Thus, out of high character, out of mastered skills, out of great books that light the mind and touch the imagination, shall students in the time of testing be proudly able to answer:

"I am the owner of the sphere,
Of the seven stars and the solar year,
Of Caesar's hand and Plato's brain,
Of Lord Christ's heart and Shakespeare's strain."

The great law of culture, says Carlyle, is that each become all that he was created capable of being.

The speaker, introduced to the meeting by Rotarian Sid Stilwell, was thanked on behalf of his listeners by Rotarian George Zsombor.

André Lefebvre, Lachute, Attends Conference Of B. of T. Secretaries

As secretary of the Lachute Chamber of Commerce, André Lefebvre, of J. W. Lefebvre Ltd., is among the delegates from across Canada attending the second annual meeting of the Canadian Institute for Board and Chamber Secretaries now in session at McMaster University.

The delegates will discuss problems encountered by local secretaries of Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade. Special attention will be given to a study of public relations, with three well-known Canadians speaking on this subject: Carl Reinke, director of the C-I-L public relations bureau, Wilfrid Sanders, co-director of the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, and H. Napier Moore, editorial director of Maclean-Hunter Publications.

Lectures will be delivered on such other fundamental subjects as Organization, Civic Activities, Agricultural Activities, Radio Publicity, National Affairs, Industrial Activities, Finances, Tourist Activities, Employee Relations Programs. The curriculum is designed as a refresher course in community and national projects. . . D. L. Morrell, executive secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, commented in announcing the opening of the school: "The Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce secretary fills an important position in promoting the community welfare and for the preservation of our free enterprise way of life. The Institute for Board and Chamber Secretaries attempts to offer him an opportunity to study new techniques and discuss his problems with others engaged in the same work."

André Lefebvre left Saturday to attend the school, where sessions are being held each day through the week, closing June 19.

The Spoiler

With apologies to the author of "Trees"

I think that I shall never see
A man so asinine as he
Who leaves his camp fire ere it's out,
And throws his burning butts about;
A man who lives for just to-day,
And burns the forest, come what may;
A man who hunts 'tween dusk and dawn,
And catches fish that went to spawn;
Who kills a deer for killing's sake,
And leaves it for the wolves to take;
Who overtraps a beaver house,
And in closed season shoots ruffed grouse;
A man who goes his selfish way,
And cares not who must sometime pay
For all the devastation wrought
By him, who never had a thought
For those whose heritage he'll spoil,
To whom he'll leave just rock and soil.

KEEP A FIRST-AID KIT HANDY

Even minor cuts and bruises can cause serious trouble if not cared for immediately. An untreated scratch can often cause dangerous infection and long, costly illness. It's a sound idea to keep a first-aid kit handy at all times . . . in your home . . in your place of business . . . in your car. And it is just as important to know how to use it properly. If you are prepared for emergency you may help save suffering—perhaps life. Certainly that is "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

LADY RESIDENT DIES AT ST. PHILIPPE

Late Mrs. Wm. J. Beecroft

Many friends in Brownsburg and Lachute will regret the passing of Mrs. W. J. Beecroft, who died early last Monday after a brief illness, at the home of her son Louis in St. Philippe. Funeral rites were held this afternoon at St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, followed by interment at Lachute Cemetery.

Born in London, England, in 1873, the late Mrs. Beecroft travelled the Atlantic many times. In this country she resided at both Brownsburg and Lachute, where she enjoyed a considerable circle of friends.

Coming to Canada in 1911, she was married to Wm. John Beecroft that year in Lachute. In 1914, with their family, Mr. and Mrs. Beecroft returned to the Old Country, where they remained during the Great War. From 1918 to 1939 they again took up residence in Canada, returning to England in the latter year. Mr. Beecroft died in 1942 in London, at the age of 72.

In 1943 Mrs. Beecroft came back to reside with her family, and has since made her home in Lachute and St. Philippe. She is mourned by her sons W. Leslie Beecroft, now of Hartford, Conn., and Louis, of St. Philippe, also five grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Beecroft, of Hartford, were present for the funeral. Many beautiful flowers testified to the sympathy of friends in their bereavement.

Miss Joyce and Master David Murdoch were in Montreal last week visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David McDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Perley Clark and little son, Truman, also Mr. George Clark, visited Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cunning at Vankleek Hill on Sunday.

Several people from this community attended the Ormstown Fair last week.

Messrs. Walter, Harry and George Murdoch, also Mr. Carl Wert, were in Montreal on Monday.

Mrs. George Hicks and children, Joyce and Earl, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. George D. Murdoch.

DOG DAYS

Despite the fact that there is a municipal by-law which provides that all dogs must be tied up from May 1 to September 1, indications in Gananoque at the present time are that our canine friends are enjoying something of the "dog laugh", and perhaps blinking their eyes disdainfully at the law.

SWIMMING SERVICE

With artificial ice surfaces in all the arenas in this district, the need for such in Acton is lessened. We can give greater service just now by providing an adequate swimming pool for summer pleasure and be good neighbors in inviting these towns to use such summer facilities which they lack.

Outstanding Violinist For Sacred Concert at Lachute Baptist Church

Wilmos Csehy, outstanding violinist of New York City, will conduct a sacred concert in the Lachute Baptist Church on Tuesday, June 22 at 8 p.m.

Wilmos Csehy, born of Hungarian parentage, began the study of violin at the age of three. It was through the medium of music that he was converted, at the age of ten. Later, at the age of 17, there was a definite crisis in his life, when he gave himself and his talent to Christian service.

He has travelled from coast to coast in radio and concert work. He is an instructor at the Missionary Training Institute at Nyack, N.Y., and a teacher of violin in New York City.

The violin owned and used by Wilmos Csehy is a Carlo Ferdinando Landolfi, made in 1722 in Milan, Italy.

Mr. Csehy makes his own arrangements of hymns that he loves. Mrs. Csehy accompanies him at the piano. What he does on the violin she seconds on the piano; with equal skill and interpretation she also plays the cowbells, sleighbells, and xylophone.

Everyone is cordially invited to hear these noted musicians. There will be no admission charge, but an offering will be taken.

Church Vacation School Arranged for Two Weeks

Attention, Girls and Boys!

A "summer vacation church school" will be held in St. Simeon's Church, Lachute, from Monday through Friday, June 28 to July 9, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. This school is open to all girls and boys aged from 4 to 12 years. The program will consist of worship service, games, singing, instruction, handwork, etc. All children are invited to attend, and to enjoy this profitable time.

"Is the doctor in?"
"No, he isn't."
"Do you know when he'll be back?"
"I really can't say — he went out on an eternity case."

Women's Institute

The Women's Institute held their meeting Wednesday evening, June 9, with the president, Mrs. E. A. Bulley, in the chair. The convener of Home Economics, Mrs. Alex Dewar, gave a report on the Consumers Association, of which she is a member representing this W.I. branch. She touched on the high cost of meat and the use of milk as a substitute, in the form of milk puddings, cream soups etc. As each member had been requested to bring "something new made from something old", the articles displayed gave proof that with a little ingenuity nothing should be wasted. Among the articles were children's play suits made from dyed sugar bags, a shoe-holder bag made from an old smock, a child's apron made from the good part of a man's shirt, a doily from a damask table napkin, a table cloth from more sugar bags, and many other articles — some of which will be on display at the Lachute Fair W.I. handicrafts booth.

From its styling to its stamina...

IS FIRST!

Nowhere else beauty like this! New styling! New colors! New upholstery fabrics! All this added to the basic Big-Car luxury of Chevrolet's famous Body by Fisher. Remember—this body is exclusive to Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

You'll enjoy much greater comfort in Chevrolet for 1948. It brings you the Big-Car riding-smoothness and road-steadiness of the Unitized Knee-Action Glide Ride. Another feature found only in Chevrolet and more expensive cars.

First in all-round quality in the entire low-price field!

How you and your family will enjoy ownership of this newer, smarter, finer Chevrolet for 1948! It brings you BIG-CAR QUALITY—not in one item only, but in every phase of styling, engineering and construction—and brings it to you AT LOWEST COST, as well. That is why more people drive Chevrolets, according to official registrations—and more people want Chevrolets, according to seven independent surveys—than any other make of car. That is why you, too, will agree that CHEVROLET AND ONLY CHEVROLET IS FIRST in all-round value!

A PRODUCT OF CHEVROLET GENERAL MOTORS

Here's power, acceleration and dependability that will thrill the most experienced driver. It's the unique performance with economy of Chevrolet's Valve-in-Head Engine—Canada's most thoroughly proved automotive powerplant. Valve-in-Head Engines, too, are exclusive to Chevrolet and costlier cars.

Just as you will find no equal for Chevrolet dollar-value, so you will find no equal for our authorized Chevrolet service. Safeguard your transportation by bringing your present car to us for skilled service, now and at regular intervals, pending delivery of your new Chevrolet.

butter. We eat almost three times as much butter per person as is consumed in the United States. We eat twice as much butter per person or per capita (as we read in the statistics) as United States citizens eat of butter and margarine combined, but when it comes to lard and shortening we are far behind the States in consumption. In the United States approximately one pound of margarine is consumed for every two pounds of butter. If we could get margarine and use it in the same proportion, we would in a short time have a surplus of 100,000,000 pounds of butter for which we would have no market; we could of course convert this surplus into cheese.

Canada has never been a heavy exporter of butter; chiefly on account of geographic and climatic conditions, we cannot compete with countries having lower labor costs. There are about 500,000 dairy farmers in Canada and they contribute over $400-million dollars a year to the national economy. In the Province of Quebebc the dairy business furnishes the farmer with about 35 per cent of his income.

If we were to lower the ban against margarine, we would possibly decrease the production of butter; this in turn would decrease the output of milk, which is intimately connected with cattle and hog raising. We might therefore substitute margarine for butter, but we certainly could not feed hogs and cattle on oil, which we would be substituting for the milk. As it is, Canada is short of oils. Canada uses about 123,000,000 pounds of oils for shortening, mayonnaise and so on, but there is a world shortage of these oils and fats of about four million tons annually. These raw materials will become plentiful some day, and when they do, the chances are that butter will be relatively low in price.

The House of Commons is toying with the idea of removing the ban on margarine. The Minister of Justice has ambiguously replied that the question is to be submitted to the Superior Court on foot of a motion passed by the Senate . . And so the story goes.

Let's listen to Mr. Omer Gour, Liberal member for Russell: "If the cost of living is on the increase, it is not due mainly to the price of milk and butter. Some people say it is terrible to pay 15, 16 or 17 cents for a quart of milk, or 70 or 75 cents for a pound of butter. However, they do not complain when buying large quantities of soft drinks at from 25 to 40 cents a quart, and liquor at anywhere from $5 to $10 a quart. Theatre are jammed with people who spend anywhere from 75 cents to $3 for tickets. People think nothing of paying $1 to $5 for admission to a wrestling or hockey or boxing match, and so on. Ladies are quite content to pay from $5 to $50 for a tiny wisp of some sort of material, trimmed here and there with a few flowers, which when put together they call a hat. Well and good, but current prices of milk and butter are considered dreadful."

Then Mr. Gour continues: "I shall now tell you about an incident that happened when I had a visit from one of my friends who was bitterly complaining of the price of milk and butter. . . I said to him, 'We will see if you are right. Your wages are $1.50 an hour, with three weeks holidays with pay, and time off with pay for sickness. I will order my chauffeur to drive us to a good farm owned by one of my nephews, and if you are able to milk in one hour enough milk to produce $1.50 of butter value, I will give you the cow, the pail and the barn too'." Mr. Gour made the same offer to any member of the House of Commons, and added: "A hundred pounds of milk, in the form of butter, quality 3.4, brings only $2.45. As a liquid it sells for from $3.25 to $3.75 a hundred pounds, according to the fat content. That is about 8 to 10 cents a quart. That is all it brings to the farmer. The difference between 8 and 16 cents pays for the distribution to homes in cities and towns."

The above was the fourth speech Mr. Gour has made in the House. He was elected three years ago.

Three of the Choicest For Recipe Book

All good home-makers have their favorite recipes. Some like to keep them a deep secret (and have even been known to make a little change when giving them to a friend so that hers will not be quite as good as the original!)

Fortunately the great majority of cooks are complimented when asked for the recipe of their special cake, dessert or pie and are very pleased to give it. The home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture are among those generous souls. They offer several of the choicest recipes for your use. Even little Johnny will like his spinach when served as Savory Greens. Sister Sue who loves fluffy desserts will adore the Cherry Whip, and Mother will find the Chocolate Chip cake one of the best she ever made.

Savory Greens

3 Cups cooked greens (about 2 lbs.) beet tops, lettuce, spinach, or swiss chard; 3 strips bacon chopped, ¼ cup chopped green onions, salt and pepper.

Wash and cook greens. Meanwhile partially fry bacon, add green onions and cook 2 to 3 minutes. Add to hot, cooked greens, season with salt and pepper and serve at once. Yield: six servings.

Cherry Whip

1 Cup sour cherry pulp (about 2 cups pitted cherries), 2 egg whites, ⅓ cup sugar, pinch of salt.

Wash, stem and pit cherries. Crush to a fine pulp. Beat egg whites with salt until stiff and gradually add the sugar. Add cherry pulp to the egg mixture and mix thoroughly with rotary beater. Pile lightly into one large or six individual serving dishes. Chill thoroughly and serve, garnished with fresh cherries. Yield: six servings.

Note: A custard sauce may be made with the two egg yolks chilled, and poured over the cherry whip just before serving.

Chocolate Chip Cake

¾ Cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 one-once squares unsweetened chocolate, 1 cup hot water, 1¾ cups pastry flour (or 1½ cups all-purpose flour), ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 4 ozs. semi-sweet chocolate, ½ cup chopped walnuts.

Cream shortening and sugar, add eggs and vanilla, beat thoroughly. Melt unsweetened chocolate, add hot water, stir until blended; cool slightly, add to creamed mixture. Sift together flour, salt and soda. Pour into greased 9" x 10" cake pan. Mix 4 oz. cut, semi-sweet chocolate and nuts. Sprinkle over batter. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., 45 minutes. Sprinkle with sifted confectioner's sugar while warm.

Marriage Ceremony at Redeemer Church, Weir

James - Staniforth

The Church of the Redeemer, Weir, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening, June 12, at 7.30 o'clock, when Reta Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Staniforth, of Rouge Valley, was united in marriage to Mr. Stanley Earl James, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. James, of Montreal. The Rev. L. N. Temple-Hill officiated at the ceremony.

The church was very tastefully decorated with carnations, tulips, lilacs and fern.

The bride — wearing a floor-length gown of white satin made with long torso and a full skirt of tiers of lace and satin, her tulle illusion veil arranged with a coronet of orange blossoms, and carrying a bouquet of American Beauty roses and lilies of the valley — entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mrs. W. D. Morrison.

The bride was attended by Miss Phyllis James, sister of the groom, wearing a moire taffeta floor-length dress of iris blue, with a shoulder-length tulle veil and headdress to match; she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mrs. Staniforth, the bride's mother, wore a grey crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. James, mother of the groom, was also dressed in grey with a large straw hat trimmed with navy and navy accessories to match; her corsage was of red roses.

Mr. Stanley Tuft, of Montreal, acted as best man for the groom; the ushers were Mr. Keith Staniforth, of Rouge Valley, brother of the bride, and Mr. Albert James, of Montreal, brother of the groom.

Mr. Wendell MacLean, of Montreal, cousin of the bride, piped the bridal party in and out of the church and also entertained with a few bagpipe selections during the evening.

During the signing of the register the congregation sang "Lead us, heavenly Father, lead us".

Immediately following the ceremony a buffet supper was served to around 150 guests in the church hall, which was very prettily decorated for the occasion.

Later the bridal couple left for a wedding trip to Toronto and Niagara, the bride wearing a grey gabardine suit with a ¾-length top coat — with gloves, shoes and hat to match in navy blue. . . On their return they will reside in Montreal.

Out-of-town guests included — Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Maxwell and family, of Mont Tremblant; Mr. and Mrs. D. Staniforth, of Brownsburg; Mr. and Mrs. C. Miller, of Lachute; Mrs. S. Craig and family, of Joliette; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bowler, Mr. and Mrs. R. Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ivall, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hillrich, Mrs. John MacLean and family, Mrs. Roy Williams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hook and family, all of Montreal.

Latest Advice for Overseas Parcels

Mr. Walter E. Legge, editor of Granby Leader-Mail, who has just returned from a trip to England, included the following note in a recent report to his paper:

" . . The best things for Canadians to include in parcels to friends or relatives in England are canned chicken, pork products, salmon or other fish, sugar, cheese, raisins or currants (which are absolutely unobtainable) jams and jellies if in tins. Butter arrives in good condition if packed in airtight tins.

"Second-hand clothes in good condition also are welcomed and very few people are too proud or fastidious not to be happy to wear discarded clothes received from friends in Canada, provided of course that they are in fairly good condition.

"Soap is also welcomed, as the soap allowance is only 3 ozs. a week of all kinds, and the quality is poor."

Trying out our course last Monday evening was J. "Mickey" McConvey, Laval-sur-le-Lac amateur par excellence, former St. Mike's Junior Hockey star and winner of the Lachute Open last year. Mickey was loud in his praise of the way things are shaping up at Lachute, and said he was looking forward to trying out the eighteen.

Harold Dando, who is a handy man with a golf club, but no hand at all when it comes to making hay in the rough, nevertheless uncorked a few haymakers in his round with Ken McGibbon in the C-I-L Purvis Cup matches. Harold shot a very creditable 82. As for Ken's game, Ken said he really wasn't playing the course at all — merely using is as a guide.

Lachute Spring Exhibition in Review, Shows All-Round Triumph

Weather Fine and Attendance High; Outcome Proves Credit to Directors

To proclaim that Lachute Spring Fair 1948 was a record-breaker would be a threadbare platitude, for each successive year brings new heights of achievement in this big community effort.

In one instance there was a record hitherto unparalleled — namely, the weather. Never since the abandonment of the old Fall Fairs has there been, in our recollection, an exhibition here without rain. Perfect weather, however, attended the four full days of the 1948 Spring Fair. . . And to this fact may be attributed another undisputed record, the attendance. Secretary-Manager Alex Bothwell is quoted as claiming Friday's influx the highest yet, and Saturday was not far behind.

Cattle entries were slightly lower. As remarked last week, the exception was in the Shorthorn dual-purpose breed and beef cattle, which included seven herds. There was one herd of Jerseys and one herd of Canadians, while entries in the two more prominent dairy breeds numbered — Ayrshires 190, and Holsteins 118. . . There were 225 exhibits of sheep, and 105 swine.

The steady advancement in quality of horses was again very noticeable. In number and calibre these could scarcely be bettered in any show in the Dominion. There were no fewer than 22 single agricultural horses in harness, in one class — also with nine teams and four four-horse turnouts representing draft horses is the grand Saturday parade.

The show also afforded as fancy a line-up of carriage and saddle horses as could be witnessed anywhere today. The grandstand capacity was taxed as spectators followed the well-ordered and well managed classes. In the conducting of this show many observers commented on the improvement, and there was evidence that the horse show committee had profited by their difficult experiences of the past.

Altogether there was little hitch in the entire proceedings. Saturday afternoon there was some confliction in the livestock and the track races, but this was smoothly adjusted. Some criticism was pointed at the lack of vaudeville entertainment, but Joe Basile's New York instrumentalists filled a versatile bill in the bandstand. The full program of horse judging before the grandstand and in the inner ring would seem to preclude the distractions of a stage performance around this spot.

Quebec and Ontario were widely represented in all the livestock breeds, while the horse show particularly drew entries from far afield; similarly the horse racing, for which the $2,500 total purse provided ample allurement.

Handicrafts

There was keen competition, and a consistent interest shown by the public, in the Argenteuil Women's Institutes display of cooking, handicrafts and flowers. A complete list of winners in this department is published on page 9.

Livestock Judging

Among spectators witnessing the cattle exhibition on Friday were members of a Holstein Club at Lanark, Ont., who had been visiting among prominent breeders in this province.

Following are some of the leading animals to pass before the judges:

Ayrshires

Junior champion bull — B. Brilliant. Reserve champion — B. Attraction, both shown by J. P. Bradley & Son.

Senior and grand champion bull — J. H. Black's Smithston Ivanhoe Imp. Reserve champion — Beauchemin's St. Blain Sir Henry.

Graded Herd — 1st, McLennan; 2nd Bradley.

Junior champion bull — Luxiana Ranch, with R. A. Emperor Keyes. Reserve — W. A. Hodge, Montview Abbekek R. A.

Senior and grand champion — Eglantiers Farm with Montvic Emp. Ajax. Reserve — W.A.S. Ayerst with Eglantiers R. A. General.

Ch. of Commerce Gives Good Service At Lachute Fair

The Chamber of Commerce information booth at Lachute Spring Fair again justified its role with a record of useful functions. Numerous members and non-members of the Chamber gave their services voluntarily at the grounds and in preparation for this venture. In connection with the Fair, room accommodation was found for 25 applicants, and the committee are gratified with the public cooperation in welcoming visitors and catering to their comfort. Following is a further outline of duties performed by helpers at the booth:

Interviews and phone calls received, 154 (including seven Long Distance calls from points in Eastern Canada and U.S.A.).

Phone calls to secure and give various information, 163.

Telegrams received and delivered, 6.

Scouts delivered messages, escorted visitors to rooming houses, and similar services — 133. (Scout J. Lamontagne in charge.)

Represents Forums at Co-operatives Banquet

Mr. Douglas R. Bradford, of North River, officially represented the Quebec Farm Forums at a banquet of the Quebec Co-opérative Fédérée at Queen's Hotel, Montreal, on Monday evening. The occasion was in honor of a group of Ontario co-operative men who have been on a tour of inspection to co-operative enterprises in this province. Mr. Bradford is chairman of the Farm Forums organization for Argenteuil County.

Attends European Agric. Conferences

En route to attend two important conferences overseas, a former Lachute man, Dr. W. Lawrence Gordon, stopped off last week-end to visit his father, W. H. Gordon of Bethany Street. Accompanied by his wife, Dr. Gordon arrived from the West, where he has been associated for the past 23 years with the Manitoba Agricultural College as head of the wheat rust laboratory.

Educated here at the Lachute Academy, he proceedeed to Macdonald College, taking his B.Sc. (A) degree from McGill, and his Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin, then following a career in Agricultural Science which has won him notable distinction. His present mission is as Dominion delegate to the 4th Commonwealth Mycolological conference in London, July 19 to 24, prior to which he will attend the 8th International Congress of Genetics, at Stockholm.

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon sailed yesterday from New York.

FADING ECHOES OF THE EXHIBITION

Welcome Innovation

The mobile starting gate, used in the harness racing events for the first time here, proved a considerable asset. The mis-starts and scoring which had caused delays in previous years, were entirely avoided, and the innovation was heartily approved by the race-track officials.

An example of co-operation from the Chamber of Commerce booth, appeared in a Watchman item of interest to out-of-town readers last week. The first event on the track program, the County Race, was given its send-off at 2.15 Thursday afternoon. Willingly collaborating with The Watchman, Quentin James phoned this office from the ringside, the results were received here before the horses had left the track, and they appeared in type a few minutes later.

Ho-Hum!

Cumulative prices were the order of the day around the midway refreshment booths — as the demand increased, prices went up. It is reported, at the peak of the business, hamburgers sold at 25c, hot-dogs 20c, potato chips 20c.

Tennessee Horses

A pair of Tennessee "walking horses" provided an attraction this year. . . These horses were trained to a technique years ago on southern plantations when older people wished to tour their lands at a speed faster than a walk but slower than a canter. The trotting pace was uncomfortable and disliked by these southerners.

Ordinarily a horse places its hind foot on the spot left by its front foot. These horses place their hind feet as much as eighteen inches ahead of the spot left by their front feet.

A Scoop!

There was no fanfare or commotion, but it was rather a special occasion for one local business man, George Y. Deacon, who staged what is believed to have been the first public presentation of the new 1949 Ford car on this continent. Announced over the public address system, the sparkling streamlined model was driven in front of the grandstand and formally unveiled by the exhibition president, Jack Black.

Appreciated

The public address system used so effectively at the showring, was kindly furnished by Imperial Tobacco Company without cost to the Fair management.

Junior Judging

The McOuat families around St. Andrews were well represented among juvenile competitors. Frances, daughter of Allen McOuat, won the Kiwanis trophy; Kenneth and Audrey, children of Howard McOuat, came 2nd and 3rd in the same contest (Jacques Raymond in 4th place)—while Isobel, sister of Frances McOuat won 1st in grand total of points awarded. . . . Complete results in the Junior Judging appear on page 2 of this issue.

Good Work by Police

Lt.-Col. Ernest Emmett was complimented by members of the directorate for the conduct of his special police, 15 members of the Corps of Frontiersmen, from Verdun, Que., who did good work in directing traffic and maintaining order. Parking of vehicles was a major undertaking, for at the peak of the attendance, Friday night, cars were parked accessibly in every available space, even around the race track. Lt.-Col. Emmett reports good co-operation from the public, and there were no mishaps. A few minor misdemeanors occurred on the grounds, mostly around the midway, but these came within the purview of the provincial police.

DESSERT BY AIR

Chatham, Ont. (CP) — Strawberries picked in Kent County recently were on the dinner tables of Winnipeg the next afternoon. The fruit was trucked to London and immediately transported to the western metropolis by Trans-Canada Airlines.

TOURIST TRAVEL UP

Fredericton (CP)—Tourist travel in New Brunswick during the 1946-47 season showed a 10 per cent increase over travel during the previous year, the provincial Bureau of Information said in its annual report. The bureau handled 53,962 inquiries during the season.

Union des Electeurs Names Candidate Here

The Union des Electeurs party has a candidate named for the Argenteuil contests in the coming provincial election, in the person of J. A. M. Cléroux, contractor, of Lachute.

The nomination was tendered to J. O. Desjardins, mill foreman, Lachute Mills, but it is reported Mr. Desjardins, while thanking his supporters, declined the candidacy for reasons of health.

Plan Boys' Brigade Camp During July

Montreal — Camp Steadfast, the campsite of the 1st and 8th Companies of the Boys' Brigade and Town of Mount Royal Life Boy Team, on the farm of Albert Dorion in St. Andrews East, will officially open on July 10. Plans for an active two weeks have been drawn up by Capt. J. Howard Richardson, who will have associated with him this year the Rev. C. A. Selby, of Flint, Mich. former Dominion president of the Boys' Brigade. The Rev. Selby will conduct special instructional work and be the camp's chaplain. James Dugan, former 1st Company officer, will be in charge of the water-front and swimming instruction, and Capt. Alex G. Anderson, of the 1st Company, will be special handicraft instructor and badge examiner. Sgt. Shepherd, solo cornetist, will again take up counselling and will instruct the band. Special attention is being given the Life Boy Choir, formed this session under the direction of Capt. Richardson; boys of this group are looking forward to taking part in the worship services.

Advance crews will prepare for the arrival of campers, so that nothing will be incomplete when they arrive. The Life Boys attending camp are from the largest team in the Dominion, located at Town of Mount Royal, and working with the four denominations of that community. Their membership has been closed at 70 and a waiting list of some 40 look forward to a second section being formed in the autumn.

It is hoped the Rev. C. A. Selby will bring two of the Life Boys from his group at Flint, to share camp life with their Canadian fellow members. This will be the first time Camp Steadfast has had the pleasure of welcoming the American branch of the organization.

Annual Farm Day Held at Macdonald

Demonstration of modern farming techniques and equipment with emphasis on recent developments in food production highlighted the annual Farm Day held Saturday at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, and attended by members of Quebec Farm Forums from many parts of the province — including a number from Argenteuil County.

Following a welcoming address by Dr. W. H. Brittain, vice-principal of the college, visitors were offered four different tours of the college grounds and buildings.

An exhibit on the theme, What's New in Agriculture, was featured in the main building. New techniques designed to increase the quality and quanity of standard crops were explained and demonstrated.

Of special interest to the women was a tour of the Household Science Department under the leadership of Dr. Margaret McCready, director of the department. Methods in cooking and household and child care with particular application to rural home conditions were demonstrated.

Visitors taking the horticultural and poultry tour were shown a model farm garden and saw a demonstration of recent trends in the handling of horticulture and poultry produce. Another tour included demonstrations of a forage crop harvester, a hay baler and other equipment and methods of increasing forage crop production through the use of Ladino clover and new grasses.

The fourth tour included a dairy cattle demontration and a visit to the experimental piggery.

Some of our big companies in Canada can afford to cut prices. Who will take the first step to stop the dizzy spiral from climbing up and up!

Friends Mourn Local Sportsman

LATE MARCEL DESCHAMPS

It was with deep concern that friends of Marcel Deschamps, well known local sportsman, noted his first decline in health about a year ago. The many to whom his passing seemed inevitable, heard of his death last Monday morning with regret but with little surprise.

Born Marcel Mercier, he was reared by foster-parents to become a man of championship calibre, both in athletic prowess and in his personality. His record included participation on many outstanding amateur teams around Montreal; a versatile sportsman, he excelled in hockey, baseball, tennis, bowling, cycling, and notably in basketball. He was a title-holder in many bowling and tennis organizations and in other sports; his trophies were a prolific testimonial to his keen performance and ability. He was a man with friends unnumbered.

Since his residence here over the past six years, Marcel Deschamps had applied himself to sports organization, imparting to the younger generation his personal skills and talents. It is safe to say that no single citizen ever devoted himself so arduously to the promotion of sport in this community. Three of his achievements here were the St. Viateur College sports festival three years ago, the Ayers field day last year (to both of which he brought top-ranking amateur and professional figures), and the introduction of organized bowling, first in Brownsburg and then at Lachute. Two years ago he established the Bolodrome here, equipped with taste and quality throughout, and arranged many leagues and tourneys, until failing health demanded his retirement. At the French College he gave much time leading the boys in organized games during the summer vacation months.

Marcel Deschamps was 37 years of age. Married seven years ago to Miss Beatrice Fournier, he first came to this community as field man for the Imperial Tobacco Company. . . His death occurred at his home on Bedard Blvd., where he leaves his wife and three young children to mourn his loss.

The funeral rites, held Wednesday morning at Ste. Anastasie Church, were largely attended. He was buried at the local Catholic Cemetery, followed to his last resting place by hundreds of friends and fellow townsmen.

FINDS LIVING COSTS SAME AS RATIONING

British Visitor Notes Sharp Contrast in Living Standards

Teddington, England (CP) — Official rationing in Britian is no harder than the rationing caused by "higher living costs in Canada", says 26-year-old Dorothy Soames, back home with her parents after two years in Ontario and British Columbia.

"The high cost of living kept me pretty well rationed for clothes in Canada", she said. "Over there you find a sharper contrast in the living standards of the well-to-do and the small wage earner."

"Another thing . . to be kind of shabby in London is a sort of virtue. In Canada it is kind of crime."

An ambulance driver during the war, Dorothy came to Canada because "I could not settle down to civilian life in England." In Toronto she was employed as an office clerk at $32 a week.

Five Maritimers Hurt, Two Critically, On Ill-Fated Motor Trip to Gatineau

An ill-fated holiday trip ended abruptly Saturday evening for three New Brunswick couples, whose car collided with a truck 10 miles west of Lachute, landing five in hospital with various injuries. The collision occurred as the automobile, a new coach model, was about to pass the truck; both were proceeding east in the direction of Lachute. The entire side was ripped from the body of the car. . . It is stated the party were returning homeward after a trip to these parts to attend a wedding at Gatineau, Que.

Three men, in the front seat, were among the injured — Willard Boudreau, 37, being most critically hurt with fractured ribs and a pierced lung. Arthur O'Brien, 42, suffered severe shock and a shoulder injury, while the driver Gilbert Leclair, 38, was injured in the chest and right leg. Mme Boudreau, 39, suffered critical face and neck injuries; Mme Leclair, 29, had severe chest injuries; and the sixth occupant of the auto, Mrs. O'Brien, escaped unhurt.

The crash occurred at 6.23 o'clock on a straight stretch of Route 8 between Grenville and St. Philippe. Dr. Marc Papineau, of Lachute, was called to the scene of the accident, and the injured were brought by ambulance to the Providence Hospital. Given first aid and X-ray examination by Drs. Papineau and Lafleur, the five were sent immediately to the Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal.

The truck involved in the collision was owned by Maurice Lafleur, of Brownsburg, and driven by his brother Roland. There were three occupants in the cab of the vehicle.

Patrolman Albert Legault, of Brownsburg, investigated, and Det. Albert Oggier, of Provincial police headquarters, came late Saturday night from Montreal to report details of the crash.

Gilbert Leclair and his wife are residents of Campbellton, New Brunswick north shore section, and the Boudreaus and O'Briens reside at Dalhousie. The car was owned by Arthur O'Brien.

Near Drowning at Stone-Quarry, Victim Revived

At a disused quarry on Henry Street, West End, where a child was drowned two years ago, 10-year-old Therese Denault narrowly escaped a similar fate at 5.30 Sunday evening. A wire fence had been erected round the quarry at the request of the District Coroner, but it seems that children of the neighborhood climb through and still frequent this danger spot. The girl and another youngster had gone there in search of raspberries.

Alarmed by the cries of her playmate, Jeremie Beaubien, 37, hurried to the quarry where the child had fallen in the water, and rescued her after she had sunk twice beneath the surface. The girl was exhausted and scarcely breathing. Dr. Jules Lafleur was summoned to the girl's home, and enlisted the aid of Geo. Y. Deacon and a pulmotor team (Scoutmaster J. N. Robinson and Asst. Frank Bedard). After oxygen treatment the victim soon revived.

Young Montrealer Wins Grand Prize In Lions Drawing

Virtually the climax of Saturday's affairs at the Exhibition was the Lions Club drawing — in which it is safe to say there were very few spectators without a personal interest.

The transparent drum containing over 8,000 ticket stubs was revolved merrily, and Mayor Alex Bothwell was called upon to draw for the major prize, a handsome Dodge deluxe sedan. The winner was Desmond Entwistle, of Hampton Ave., Montreal (a nephew of Wm. Entwistle, of St. Andrews East), who had bought three tickets on the grounds the previous night from Lion Nat Boyd. Young Mr. Entwistle, who was not in possession of a car, was highly tickled with his good luck. Twenty-one years of age, he has been employed for the past three years with the Bell Telephone, at Lachine.

Second, third and fourth prize-winners were drawn by Fair President J. H. Black, Lions District Governor J. S. Giles, and the Lions President, Dr. R. A. Dumais, respectively.

The winners were — Kelvinator refrigerator, R. Harold Ross, Brownsburg; G-E radio-phonograph, Lloyd Kennedy, Dalesville; C-C-M bicycle, M. Moreau, Montreal.

Dr. Dumais addressed the crowd, thanking the public warmly for their support, and assuring the subscribers that the proceeds of this effort would be well spent in the interests of the community.

The three most active days of the Fair brought thousands of donations to the coffers, and the Lions Club committee give the approximate net proceeds as $3,700.

Truck Up-Ends With Weight of Logs

The height of bewilderment might well describe the sensation of a local trucker and tradesman, Eddie Laurin, whose vehicle up-ended while climbing a hill, and stalled with the cab and driver in mid-air. Laurin was transporting a load of logs over the gravel road from the east end of Lake Louisa, when, reaching the hill behind the lakeshore lots, the logs slid backward and tipped the truck, projecting the cab and front wheels clear of the road. It was with some difficulty that the logs were removed and the truck enabled to proceed.

W.I. Meetings for Month of June

Arundel W.I. Branch had an attendance of 21 members at their regular June meeting. Further plans were made for their lawn social to be held in July. Members showed an article "made from something old" to be sold at this event. Three quilts have been made and are also to be raffled. The Birthday Box was opened and the proceeds are to be given for local school needs.

Brownsburg welcomed a new member to their branch. Mrs. W. Fletcher gave an interesting report on the County Convention. A personal parcel was sent to England, and a pound of tea to a deceased member's friend in Scotland. A "picture gallery contest" was held, Mrs. C. Stevens winning the prize. To augment the funds, "telephone bridge" and 500 parties were held. Mr. George Logan, Blue Cross field man, is to be guest speaker at the next meeting, July 8.

Frontier branch entertained 16 guests at a debate, "Short Skirts versus Long Skirts". The judges, Mrs. G. McGibbon, Mrs. W. Usher and Mrs. M. Wilson, decided in favor of short skirts. The roll-call at this meeting was a brief news item regarding the departments of work. A parcel of clothing was sent overseas. This enterprising branch also served luncheon at a local calf show and sale.

At the Lachute branch meeting $100 was given to the Canadian Cancer Fund. Another parcel was sent to a needy family overseas. Mrs. H. Jacobsen and Miss McLeod gave an excellent report of the County Convention. The Study Group heard a talk on "Canada's Voice" by Mrs Edith T. Clark of the CBC.

Lakefield plans to hold a food sale in July. The County Convention was discussed and a report of the executive meeting was heard.

Mille Isles members answered the roll-call with "A simple remedy for the prevention of colds". A card of acknowledgment for an overseas parcel was received and another 20-pound parcel was reported having been sent. Plans were made to raffle a bedthrow at the annual picnic in August. Proceeds from the sale of Yule Logs made and donated by a member, were added to the general funds.

Morin Heights had an attendance of 33 members and four guests. Their roll-call was, "What color was your wedding dress?" Plans were made to send articles to the Canadian Youth Hostels Association. School prizes have

Gatineau LINES

Now that the bustle is making something of a comeback with the well-dressed ladies, it is interesting to note that the quaintly-shaped item of feminine apparel first appeared on the stage of fashion about the time electricity was answering its first curtain call.

Back around the turn of the century when the electric light was still a novelty in the living room, the cost of electricity was relatively high in comparison with the various items required in the home. In those days a dozen eggs sold for about 18 cents, beef steak sold for about 20 cents a pound, and bread 5 cents a loaf. Three dollars was a big price for a gentleman to pay for his brown derby hat, while the same price would purchase an excellent pair of shoes. At that time the cost of electricity for home use was as much as 25 cents per kilowatt hour.

In the half century since the electrical industry became important there have been a number of ups and downs in the cost of living in Canada. In the depths of the depression when living costs dipped considerably, the average monthly bill for domestic electricity in the Dominion was $2.21. At that time there were in Canada approximately 1,380,000 customers using approximately 1,717,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity, which means that electricity was costing less than 2-1/10 cents per kw.h.

Today we have in Canada more than 1,900,000 users of electricity, consuming 3,000,000,000 kilowatt hours. Although the per capita consumption of electricity has risen almost 30%, the average monthly bill is $2.33. In other words, a kilowatt hour of electricity is costing 1¼ cents—a decrease of about 20 per cent. During this period the cost of living has increased more than 50 per cent.

In these statistics we have a vision of something that is most unusual in our civilization — the cost of an essential and highly useful commodity showing a steady downward trend, while other living costs have been creeping upwards.

Cut Hay Early for Higher Feeding Value

Fodder plants become woody and the cells encased in lignin as they approach maturity, and there is a gradual drop in digestibility. For example, digestion experiments have shown that grass in the pasture stage is digested 83%, while the same grass left to the hay stage is only digested 52%. Further, it has been shown that the food nutrients become "locked" in the more mature, lignified cells in late-cut hay so that the digestive juices cannot attack them. Experiments show that in hay cut June 20, 65% of the protein was digested, while in the same hay left until July 20, only 47% of the protein was digested.

The comparison shows the value of cutting timothy early to produce hay at high feeding value. There is a higher percentage of protein and total protein per acre in the early stages of cutting, and there is considerably more aftermath from the earlier-cut hay. This is true of other grasses, clovers, and alfalfa as well.

Note also what early cutting of hay means in terms of crop acres, oilcake, and bushels of oats:—

From the figures compiled on digestibility and yields it is found that an acre of hay cut in the early bloom stage yields 173 lbs. of digestible protein, while an acre cut in the late seed-forming stage yields only 75 lbs. of digestible protein. This is a gain of 98 lbs. of digestible protein per acre by cutting hay early. In other words, it requires 2.3 acres of late-cut hay to equal one acre of early-cut hay, in terms of digestible protein.

Considering that oilcake contains 33.5% digestible protein, the saving of 98 lbs. of digestible protein per acre by cutting hay early is equivalent to the saving of the digestible protein contained in 293 lbs. of oilcake, worth aproximately $5.86.

A bushel of oats contains about 3.5 lbs. of digestible protein. It would, therefore, take 28 bushels of oats to contain 98 lbs. of digestible protein — the amount saved per acre by cutting hay early.

The feeding value of eastern hay can be greatly improved by cutting at earlier stages of growth. Early-cut hay furnishes our cheapest source of protein for winter feeding and cuts down on the outlay for "bought in" concentrates.

Early-cut hay is more palatable and digestible, and when fed to cows its produces more milk than late-cut hay. Furthermore, there is more production of aftermath following early-cut hay, and this conserves moisture and furnishes pasture. Thus by this management the largest amount of actual feed is obtained from the hay crop. Early cutting of hay controls weeds.

Stage of cutting for best-quality feed —

Timothy, early bloom stage.
Alfalfa, tenth bloom stage.
Red Clover, half to full bloom stage.

Curing and Preservation Of Food Nutrients

High-quality hay should be green, palatable, easily digested, and high in percentage of leaf, minerals and vitamins. The more green coloring matter which can be retained when curing hay the higher will be the content of the different vitamins, especially A, which is valuable in winter feeding. Over-exposure to sun bleaches out the green chlorophyll and lowers the vitamin A content. Reasonable exposure to sunshine when curing increases the vitamin D. Exposure to rain causes heavy losses in the feeding value of hay, and should be guarded against as much as possible.

Methods of Curing

In all hay-making operations every effort should be made to retain the leaves, because the leaves contain more feeding value than the stems, especially minerals and protein.

Rainy weather is the greatest hazard to successful hay making, and since weather is beyond man's control all that can be done is to take precautions and modify methods where possible to preserve feeding value. e.g. (1) Do not cut too large an acreage ahead of the curing operation; losses are much greater in the swath than in standing crop, when it is raining. (2) If labor is available it pays to cock hay, especially alfalfa and the clovers. Some farmers are using oiled factory cotton coil covers successfully. (3) When hay is stacked, tarpaulin stack covers should be used to prevent the enormous losses which now occur in unprotected haystakes in Eastern Canada. (4) If the side-delivery rake is drawn in the opposite direction to the mower it tends to throw the leafy parts inward, exposing the stems, which is an advantage.

Annual Hay Mixtures

In an emergency, when additional hay supplies are needed, the following crops and mixtures are recommended for sowing in the spring:

No. 1 — Oats, 2 bus. per acre; Peas, 1 bus. per acre.

No. 2 — Oats, 2 bus. per acre; Sudan Grass, 20 lbs. per acre.

No. 3 — Millet, 30 lbs. per acre.

No. 4 — Soybeans, 2 bus. per acre.

These crops should all be cut in early stages of growth in order to make the best quality hay, e.g., oats in the milk stage, soybeans when the pods are about half developed, millet and sudan grass in the early-bloom stage.

Avoid Barn Fires

There are heavy losses annually in Eastern Canada from barn fires caused by spontaneous combustion. These fires are often caused by putting hay in mows when it is still tough or damp. The moisture content must be low before hay will store safely. Test it before drawing in. Take care to spread any hay in the mow that feels slightly tough; a solid mass of tough hay in a mow surrounded by dry hay acts like an exploding match box.

Note: — For information on commercial market grades of hay, write to Plant Products Division, Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa, for Official Hay Standards.

Today we Live in a Greater Canada

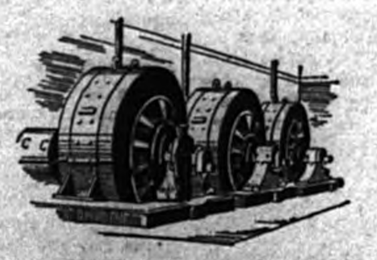

The Barren Lands Produce New Wealth

NEW MINES, new power dams — whole new communities — are rising where only yesterday was nothing but a waste of rocks, water and trees and frozen tundra. Today Canada has a new empire in the wilderness.

The development of our one-time wastelands is one of the most significant phases of Canada's modern advance. Every Canadian is benefitting from that expansion. Today we live in a greater Canada — far greater than we ever knew before — a land of new and exciting opportunities for those commencing their careers today.

AT STEEP ROCK the wartime development of one of the richest bodies of iron ore on the continent has given us a new, long-sought primary industry . . . Today under the caribou moss of Ungava vast new areas of high-grade iron ore are now being actively explored.

WHERE BEFORE the war was a roadless Quebec wilderness, Shipshaw is now producing more than a million horsepower of electrical energy . . . At Yellowknife on Great Slave Lake, rich gold-bearing ores are being developed . . . From Great Bear Lake near the Arctic Circle comes precious radium . . .

WAR-CREATED transportation facilities — by road and air — have opened up a hundred thousand square miles of the northwest, making accessible, for the first time, vast resources of farmland, forests, coal and power sites.

NEW . . . OPPORTUNITIES

JOHN ADASKIN, son of an immigrant woodworker, developed his talents as a musician to win a distinguished place in Canadian radio. He became CBC's senior program producer; now has his own Productions company in Toronto; has produced over 4,000 radio shows, including some of the most popular on the Canadian air; is Master of Ceremonies and musical conductor on the national talent show "Opportunity Knocks".

JOHN ADASKIN says: "I have never regretted a career in Canada. Today — more than ever before — new fields and opportunities are opening up for young Canadians. As business in general expands, as the arts gain wider recognition, it's certain that opportunity will continue to knock harder and more often for the talent of this country."

Twin Tragedies

FOREST fires and floods, twin tragedies of Canada's springtime, again point up the necessity of measures that will guard against their annual toll of life and property.

British Columbia's Fraser Valley has just experienced the fate of other parts of the earth where men have settled along great rivers, stripped forests, churned grasslands and cleared forests to dust. Ontario and Quebec had the first of the fires that each year take a vast toll of their forest wealth.

Floods are born when man throws nature out of balance by clearing trees and vegetation. Rainfall rushes from naked hills to swell rivers and streams far beyond their banks. As the denuding spreads, floods become worse and more frequent.

River control programs have counteracted erosion in other parts of the continent and probably will be used in the hard-hit section of British Columbia. They have been notably successful in the Upper Mississippi valley, in the Tennessee valley and in the Grand River area of Western Ontario.

Farmlands which were almost useless have been saved to support hundreds of thousands of families. The programs integrate under one authority all the resources of a river valley so that its power plants and dams, its fisheries, its irrigation projects and its flood control are developed consistently with the successful operation of them all.

Control of forest fires is another problem and in some ways a more difficult one. A spark from a passing locomotive, a camper's carelessly-thrown cigarette may start a blaze that costs millions.

Difficulties of control were illustrated recently while vast fires were burning in Northern Ontario. A 65-year-old farmer who had lived all his life in the forest areas, started a stump fire to enlarge his farm. It destroyed a neighbor's home, threatened half a dozen villages and brought him a two-month jail sentence in the evening of a respectable life.

Communists Would Side with Russia

WILLIAM Z. Foster, chairman of the U.S. Communist party, last week told a Congressional committee that American Communists would not support the United States in any conceivable war with Russia. John Gates, editor of the New York Communist Daily Worker, added bluntly that in event of U.S. armed conflict with the Soviets the one activity of American Communists would be to find means to end such war on "democratic terms". These terms, he made clear, could only be the Soviet's terms, as the war would be an "imperialistic" war, with the U.S. the aggressor.

Nothing new nor startling in this. For the Communist, no matter where he may be, is first, last and always loyal to Russia; with Moscow his shrine, Stalin his unquestioned leader.

And what is true of American Communists is true of Communists in Canada. That was shown by the last war. While Hitler was bombing London and the Battle of Britain was being fought our Communists were denouncing the war as "imperialistic", washing their hands of it. Only when Moscow gave the signal did they start their shouts against "Fascism".

Daily Looks at Weekly

THE MODERN Canadian weekly newspaper editor has come a long way from the characters dreamed up many years ago, remarks the Ottawa Evening Citizen in a comment upon the new film depicting the role of a typical Canadian weekly. . . . Editors of Canada's weekly newspapers, numbering some 820 from the Digby Courier in Nova Scotia to the Ladysmith Chronicle on Vancouver Island have been taking a look at themselves in this newly-released National Film Board short, "The Home Town Paper". The weekly selected to represent the group is the Vernon (B.C.) News, and if all the 820 editors hold the place in the community credited in the film to Vernon's young editor, Mr. Frank Harris, they may indeed feel duly reassured and gratified.

Those who cling to the romantic concept of a weekly editor as a rough-and-tough character in a frontier community (a type that survives strictly in Western movies) will be disappointed. The small-town editor today plays a role far more important than merely deciding who is to be lynched. He is a citizen of his community and his nation, well acquainted with civic affairs, who knows practically everybody in town by his first name and family tree.

But if the weekly editor keeps his fingers on the town's pulse, he is no longer a gossip dispenser. He records, comments, scolds and amuses on matters such as citizenship for new Canadians, town planning, the Indian population, together with a thin but strong web of information, opinion and report. He makes his paper as much a part of the town as the Chinese laundryman, the community band, the old men playing checkers in the park, the lacrosse game, the apple picker, the business man on a fishing trip. He is a close friend not only of the mayor, but of the boys in the barber shop who tear his editorials to pieces every week.

Clipped Economics

THE BIGGEST argument today centres around the purchasing power of the people. No one really worries very much over a rise in prices, provided it does not put the goods which people want to buy above the price at which they can buy them. People who live on fixed incomes, pensioners and the like, are injured by any rise in price, and it is difficult to find any method by which some of these people can obtain some redress. On the other hand, the mass of the Canadian people, those who are earning and whose income can rise as a result of increased wages, a better price for farm products or the like, are not damaged by a price rise if incomes go up at the same time. The point is that there has not been a sign yet in this country of a surplus of production, or an accumulation of goods which the people could not buy, so that evidently purchasing power has risen as fast as prices have gone up.

FIGURES just published by the International Refugee Organization show that Britain has taken in more refugees and displaced persons than all the other countries of the world put together. They are entering Britain at the rate of 1,500 a week. At least 70,000 have been admitted since the end of the war.

Statistics

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics — one of the most important institutions of our Government service and without which many of us would have but a vague notion of Canadian affairs — is a modest, retiring organization of which we are hardly aware, but which nonetheless infiltrates into the innermost recesses of our national and private lives. It does so in a nice, quiet way and serves in a most unobtrusive manner. The Statistics Act setting up the Bureau was passed in 1918, and the Bureau had at that time but few employees. Today it is a lusty child attended by 1,200 employees. It issues some 450 regular publications. It answers over 500 requests for information every month. It compiles all the mailing lists used by the government departments, of which there are about 500 different lists. It publishes a paper, "Canadian Statistical Review", which has 3,000 subscribers. "The Wheat Review" has 2,000 subscribers. Almost every home in Canada has a copy of the "Canada Year Book" or "Canada Handbook". These books have a very high reputation not only in this country but in many countries throughout the world. The demand for these valuable books is increasing year after year. "Canada 1948" was published about a little over a month ago, and already 60,000 copies have been sold.

Almost every statistical field of public endeavor is covered by the Bureau, but one very necessary record, that of interprovincial trade, has not been covered. Exception has also been taken to the Bureau's cost-of-living index. Many people question its authenticity or even its value. Well, it's a difficult matter to set up a figure which would serve as a true index of the cost of living in a country with such widespread varieties of living, and such different conditions of living, over so wide an area as the Domion occupies. Back in 1935 a norm or average was arrived at which was regarded as a just index for that time. It was done in a rather arbitrary manner as there was no guide of a previous effort in that direction. Some 1,400 or 1,500 families were selected all over the Dominion having incomes from $600 to $2,800 a year, and the Bureau struck an average income of $1,453.80. Then the Bureau went to work and simply found out how those 1,500 families were spending their $1,453.80. What were they buying and what was each item costing? When all this information was collected it was set down as representing 100. Today any difference in cost from the figures garnered at that time is worked out in percentage, and the present cost-of-living index arrived at. Some of the objections to this method is based on the claim that $1,453.80 was above the average for 1935, that even if it were correct, it would not buy what the Department of National Health and Welfare would regard as an adequate standard of living. Since then, too, we have changed our ideas as to what is a normal standard. What was good enough for us in 1935 is not considerd good enough today, therefore an entirely new basis should be devised if we are to be correct statistically.

Now that a demand has been advanced that goods should be sold all over Canada at the same laid-down price, so that all the people would have equal advantage, it would be necessary that a record of inter-provincial trade be obtained. The Bureau does not keep such records. At the time of Confederation one of the inducements offered the maritime provinces to come into the fold was industries would be spread out rather than centred in Quebec and Ontario, and that trade would be developed with the outlying provinces. This promise did not materialize. Of a population of 11,506,655 people in Canada, some 33 per cent are in Ontario and 29 per cent in Quebec — 62 per cent in two provinces. The income of those provinces far exceeeds the Maritimes. The per capita income of Ontario is $647, as compared with $385 in the Maritimes. The per capita percentage in the Maritimes is only 7 as compared with 41 per cent in Ontario, and 25 per cent in Quebec, or a total of 66 per cent of the income of Canada in those two provinces.

Counting the Cost

The present session of Parliment opened for a short time before Christmas — an unusual event — and, as most government critics maintained, a useless and unnecessary proceeding. Mr. Cardiff asked a question in the House recently as to what this unusual opening of Parliament cost, and he was told that it cost the ratepayers of Canada $102,030.54 and the Senate cost $16,565.98, or a total of $118,596.52.

Seamen's Unions

The present strikes and disorders which highlight the labor scene may be understood from a preface delivered by the Minister of Labor, Mr. Mitchell, a little while ago in reply to a C.C.F. question about the strike. He had this to say: "I know whereof I speak. The position is taken by some of the companies that they will not deal with an organization led by Communists. There are three parties in this dispute: Pat Sullivan, who used to be a Communist, and then there is the other organization which is admittedly Communist-led; and according to this morning's paper the American Federation of Labor is coming into the picture. I know something about the tactics of these people. We have just had a provincial election, and is it not passing strange that the only political meetings that were attempted to be broken up were Progressive Conservative and Liberal meetings? I would say this to my hon. friend, that people who talk so much about political freedom of speech and the right to express their opinions are the very first to deny that freedom to other people."

Honor 161 Employees Of C.I.P. Company Mill At Hawkesbury, Ont.

Hawkesbury — Bronze medals for service of 25 years or more were presented Sunday afternoon to 161 employees of the International Paper Company's Hawkesbury mill. The presentation, made by the manager, G. Tompkins, was held in the municipal park and marked the ending of the firm's "Open Week".

Four recipients had spent 50 years in the company's service. They were Joe Lapensee, Harry Pulford, Adelard Boyer and Adelard Ranger, all of Hawkesbury. Gens Thue, the superintendent, was among those with 25 years' service.

All except 10 were members of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphide and Paper Mill Workers, of which Jules Lapensee is president.

The Company made an offer of $4,000 to the mayor, Dr. Charles Lafrance, for the purchase of playground equipment and an additional $700 for its installation.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

WELCOME OUR VISITORS!

Setting a new all-time record, millions of tourists visited Canada last year, spending almost a quarter billion dollars. This tremendous source of much-needed dollars is today more important to our economic life than ever before.

Each of us can share in building and maintaining our tourist trade by greeting our visitors in a neighborly way, by treating them fairly, by welcoming them as friends and making them feel at home. That's "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Heavy Horses

In the purebred horses there was a good showing of Clydes and a representative entry in the other breeds. R. S. Walker had the junior champion stallion in Delvincible Mac while the senior and grand champion stallion was Ottawa Strathorn Gartley shown by Clifford Capron.

Geo. Watson & Sons, of Leonard, had both the champion mares in Clydes, Ridgedale Barbara Ann junior champion mare and Betty Flashdale Agent the senior and grand champion mare. They also had the get of sire while W. Erskine Rodger took first award for progeny or dam.

George Watson's Clydes were also top in many of the open agricultural and draft events. He took first and fourth in the four horse teams; first, third and fourth in single agricultural horses; first in agricultural teams and first in many of the draft classes.

Gilbert Arnold's horses led in many classes. He took the senior and grand championship in Belgian stallions with Sir Don, and the same in mares with Arnoldwold Doxiana. With Percherons he took the junior mare championship with Lynwood Glorina, while Arnold's Victoria was senior and grand championship mare. Arnoldwold Farms also had the junior, senior and grand champion stallion in Percherons and the groups.

Arnold also showed the champion standard bred stallion with American Hal, while Delbert McTavish had the champion mare with Fanny B. Arnold also showed the top French coach.

Sheep and Swine

Slack Bros. and Dr. G. R. McCall led the field in Cheviot sheep — Cecile Acres in Hampshires — Dougall Cumming and W. E. Burton in Leicesters. Boyd Ayre was a prominent exhibitor in Southdowns.

Cecil Acres also won all awards in Tamworth boars, while Carson Tomalty won ribbons with his sows. The Berkshire and Yorkshire breeds of swine were upheld by Morton Stobo, W. E. Burton and Carson Tomalty.

We should accustom the mind to keep the best company by introducing it only to the best books.

TWIN CHICKS HATCHED

Carman, Man. (CP) — R. C. McGregor, Carman hatchery operator, reports the hatching of twin chicks. One chick, perfectly formed, is still alive; the other was a freak and died. They were of the Barred Rock breed and hatched from one ordinary egg.

A doctor was trying to check an epidemic in a village. Visiting a family, he asked: "Are you taking precautionary measures to prevent the spread of contagion?"

"Yes, sir, Doctor", replied the head of the house, "we've even bought a sanitary cup, and we all drink from it".

To Use Fish-Game Conservation Grant

The Provincial Fish and Game Department has started putting to work the conservation funds provided by Bill 36, as adopted during the 1948 session of the Legislative Assembly.

The first allowance derived from the bill is being used by provincial biologists for research and experiments on our muskellunge population.

In conjunction with officials from the Lake St. Louis Anglers Association, they have netted on spawning beds, and stripped, a number of muskies, whose eggs have been consigned to the care of biologists at the Provincial Hatchery of Baldwin Mills, Que. Should the experiment succeed, the young muskies will be returned to Lake St. Louis next year.

Meanwhile, Dr. Gustave Prévost, chief provincial biologist, is asking for the co-operation of all musky anglers; the department will pay $3 to every fisherman who will report by phone to the department the capture of a musky, providing he submits to examination of the fish by a biologist who will be promptly dispatched to the scene. The fish will remain in the angler's possession, for the biologist will only take a few scales and the stomach, in order to determine age and kind of feeding. The fee will be paid on the spot, and the department assumes the cost of long distance calls. The telephone number is ATlantic 9085 (Montreal).

Official announcement of this move has been made through the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Association, who strongly support it. The Federation says: "This first move should be for the sportsman the occasion to show his approval of Conservation Bill 36, and this approval can best be shown by full co-operation of the sportsman with conservation authorities. The slight effort of a phone call is unimportant indeed in the face of the all-important conservation of our fish and game.

Mental Patients Helped by Games

Victoria (CP) — Playing games is improving the morale of 3,000 Essondale Mental Hospital patients and effecting cures in some instances.

W. R. Brown, director of recreational therapy who started the program with the aid of his assistant, Mrs. Nora Miles, told a committee of the British Columbia legislature "some patients now are happy for the first time in their lives".

"A wide variety of games, indoor, active and inactive are being played. They are designed to focus the players' attention so that they will forget hallucinations. I don't think there is any normal community anywhere that has the diversified activity we do. If we had the staff and facilities we could care for many more.

"I am satisfied these activities cured some patients who otherwise would never have left the institution . . patients who have not moved a muscle for a day at a time have been trained to go up on a 10-foot diving board. . . Those highly tensed after insulin treatments have been returned to normal through training in archery. . .

"Monthly checker and cribbage tourneys have been organized. Some patients who have been in Essondale for 15 or 20 years have been taught to dance again".

"It's the best news I've had in Years!"

M.P.'s Really Plug

The chances are your member of parliament works harder than you think.

Too often, in critical gossip which takes convenient root in the minds of many Canadians, he is pictured as "a nice sort of fellow all right — but a pretty soft touch".

He has a comfortable office in the parliament buildings, lots of messenger boys to run errands, and good meals in the Commons restaurant — at 75 cents each. And that is about as far as most of the stories go.

They are fostered, of course, by the well-known fact that the Commons scrapes through many a dull, uninteresting debate with only a handful of members in the chamber. The men at their desks probably are reading newspapers or writing letters.

Many a visitor has left the gallery aghast at this apparent lack of attention to duty on the part of his elected representative.

But it is the behind-the-scenes activity which makes most days busy ones on Parliament Hill. The "soft touch" idea probably could share actively in his member's routine. He might even be convinced that William Smith, M.P., actually earns his $4.000 allowance and his $2,000 tax-free expenses.

First thing each morning there is mail to be opened and answered. There are reports to be read, delegations to be met. Several days a week, at 11 a.m., most members are due at one or more of the several Commons committees. And most committees sit until 1 p.m.

Often as not, the average M.P. continues to work as he lunches. It may be an across-the-table discussion with fellow M.P.s, or a continuing talks with this or that delegate. At 3 p.m. he is due in the Commons for that all-important question period as the afternoon sitting starts. It lasts three hours — but, during that time, many members must duck out for resumption of committee meetings.

At night, it is the same story. The Commons sits from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m., but often the committees sit too. If there is no pressing office business at 11, the M.P. can head for home — and by that hour he has had a busy day.

But some people call it a "soft touch".

Alley Landlords

Fred Allen, radio laughmaker, and his girl Friday, Portland Hoffa (who's Mrs. Allen off the air) try out a gag before broadcast time for the Fred Allen Show. Their easy humor, along with the antics of the eccentric Allen's Alley residents, the singing de Marco Sisters, and Al Goodman's orchestra are heard Sundays at 8.30 p.m. on the CBC network. Fred Allen's show business career began in 1912, when he was billed as a joking juggler, and he and Portland Hoffa have been a regular radio team since 1932.

"MY WEEK"

R. J. Deachman

Some time ago I pointed out the very obvious fact that if we produced less we would get less. If we have been working 44 hours a week and decide to have a 40 hour week, production will decline, we shall have four hours more of idleness. If the people want to work 40 hours instead of 44 and are content to take less all will be well, but if some of us work 40 hours instead of 44 and take the difference out of our neighbors — it won't be cricket, will it?

A few days ago I received a letter from a man in Hamilton, Ontario:

"I want to thank you for your articles", he wrote. "They are interesting and informative. I'm pretty busy and do not have time to read them as carefully as I might but I get the gist of them just the same. I'm enclosing two articles on the subject which you dealt with lately, the issue which dealt with lately, the issue of more production."

One is from "The Hamilton Review", the other is from "Machinery", an English magazine. The former publication makes this statement:

"Good management gets results with the co-operation of other people. Strikes, work-stoppages, lockouts and walkouts, do not keep production flowing steadily, do not get the most economic product, and do not tend to keep men and machines working to produce the best operating results."

The English magazine after commenting on American aid to Europe gives this statement from the Chancellor of the Exchequer:

"Time is the essence of the problem, we cannot afford to waste a moment of it."

"This is perfectly true", so states this British editor, "but he might well have added that unless we produce goods in greater volume and with greater efficiency none of these expedients will serve to solve our problems."

So now, as never before in world history people are conscious of the fact that a higher standard of living can come only from an increased volume of production. It's true here as elsewhere.

A recent issue of "Saturday Night" contained a sketch of T. C. Douglas, Premier of Saskatchewan. It was an interesting story, written by Wallace Hunt. It dealt mainly with the "quips" of Mr. Douglas, a brilliant man who has made a collection of smart answers to interruptions which may come to a speaker upon a public platform. I doubt if there is any man in Canada who has as large a supply of this particular form of repartee.

Let me give you an example. Some one quizzed him the other day about the high cost of government in Saskatchewan, expenses had moved up from $17 million in 1936 to $52 million, the estimate for 1949. Mr. Douglas promptly replied: "It takes more money to run a boat that is going some place than one that is tied to the dock."

The reply gives no answer to the question. The object of the reply is to draw attention away from the immediate subject under discussion and to embarrass the questioner by avoidance of a direct answer.

Is it effective? Is it the sort of answer you would like to receive if you asked a question? Does it win friends and influence people or what is its particular value?

The people of Saskatchewan now pay $3.00 in taxes for every dollar paid in 1936. There are times when some of us seem anxious to see money spent even if it is wasted, but it happens, in the nature of things — there comes a time when people wish they had the money they spent in the days of the boom.

Veteran Cafe Owner Returning to China

In Business 31 Years

Sherbrooke, Que. (CP) — Seasons Lee, who for 31 years maintained the Grand Cafe in Sherbrooke, is finally going home.

The veteran Chinese restaurant owner will leave shortly with his family for Canton, China. During his 40 years in Canada, Lee has returned to China four times but this time he says it's for keeps.

Coming to Canada at the early age of 19, Lee can well remember the growth of the Eastern Township town. "Yes, I can remember the horse and buggy days and the cobbled streets", he mused.

His Grand Cafe, the "biggest" cafe in Sherbrooke, has catered to the city's leading citizens for many years.

a word about Personal Purchases in the U.S.
• If you are contemplating a trip to the United States, here are two important facts to remember:
• You may not bring back with you any merchandise which is prohibited under the Emergency Exchange Conservation Act. Find out in advance from Canadian Customs officials whether you may bring in any contemplated purchase.
• To conserve all available U.S. dollars for essential purchases, a travel ration of $150 U.S. per person for the 12 months between Nov. 15, 1947 and Nov. 15, 1948 has been established. Be sure to get the necessary forms and details at your bank, well in advance of your trip.

FROM THE "BLUE BOOK" OF FAMOUS CANADIAN TRAINS
THE Ocean Limited

The "Blue Book" — your Canadian National Time Table — guide to Everywhere in Canada.

For 44 years The Ocean Limited has been one of Canada's famous trains joining the Maritime Provinces and Central Canada. It is today Canadian National's senior train between Halifax and Montreal. The "all sleeping car" Ocean Limited and its companion trains, The Scotian, and The Maritime Express (in continuous daily service since 1896), provide fast rail service and convenient connections to and from all points in the Maritime Provinces. As its name implies The Ocean Limited smacks of the sea . . . in the delicious seafood dishes served in the diner . . . and also, in the smooth flowing panorama that glides past your window; tidal marsh land lush with hay, vistas of shimmering Baie des Chaleurs, the mighty St. Lawrence and the Great Gulf. The lovely Wentworth and Matapedia valleys are among the most beautiful in Canada. You will make no mistake if you plan a vacation in Canada's Maritime Provinces, and when you do, plan also to travel in comfort on The Ocean Limited, The Maritime Express or The Scotian, serving Halifax, Truro, Sydney, Amherst, Charlottetown, Moncton, Saint John, Newcastle, Campbellton, Mont Joli, Levis, (Quebec), Montreal.

Harrington Churches to Hold Vacation School

Harrington — Three Protestant churches in Harrington Township are combining their efforts to conduct a Daily Vacation Bible School from July 5 to 16 in the Bell Falls School. The three participating churches are Harrington United, Harrington Pentacostal, and Rivington Baptist.

The two-week session of this vacation school will be under the direction of Mr. Grant Wright, student minister of Rivington Baptist Church, and Mr. John Shearman, student minister of Harrington United Church. Mrs. Grant Wright and Miss Mary Bennett, of Rivington Baptist Church, and Miss Lois Bennett, of Harrington Pentacostal Church, will assist with the instruction.

Daily sessions of the school will begin at 9 a.m., and will continue until noon. Transportation for children who live at a distance from the schoolhouse is being arranged.

On Sunday, July 18, a special "parents' night" session of the school will be held, when the closing exercises will be held and awards presented.

THE ELECTION PROSPECT

— M. V. Trayers —

Any day now the first blasts of the election trumpet will echo across the rivers and down the dells of Argenteuil County. The campaign had been in progress for some time in other constituencies, but as usual it starts somewhat late hereabouts. At the present time there is a considerable upsurge of provincialist feeling, and the keynote of the present government party follows closely the popular trend. Autonomy is one of Mr. Duplessis' strong suits, and with the present difficult living conditions and the insuperable tax burden levied by Ottawa, less encroachment on the provincial plane has its merits.

It would be well not to confuse provincial autonomy, as advocated by the Union National party, with the brand of autonomy so often heard of in world affairs as applied to former independent political entities, or would-be independent states, having as their object separation from the bondage exercised by aggressor nations. Provincial autonomy so earnestly advocated and jealously guarded by the government of Quebec is based on the rights and privileges granted to Quebec by the Act of Confederation and embodied in the British North American Act. There is no thought of separation, but an ardent desire to live in amity and harmony within the fold of Confederation, and in consonance with the cherished ideals of heritage and culture which is the heart of Quebec. This is easily understandable, and never more so than at the present moment.

The Federal House is rushing at break-neck speed through the remaining legislation for reasons the least of which is not the Quebec election. The Liberal fortunes are not too roseate at the present time, and some of the big guns are anxious to prepare the ground in advance of the bombardment to which we are to be treated next month. During the recent Ontario election Mr. Drew showed surprising strength where the French vote was strong. The significance of this deflection has not escaped the Liberal policy makers; and the recent determined effort to have the King government reply by a reduction in taxes, which was reportedly made by some Liberal supporters, could be the result. If Mr. Drew can attract the French vote, it seems likely that the Drew-Duplessis Axis is bearing fruit, and it is most likely that the Quebec premier will do very well indeed.

It is unfortunate for the Liberals in general, and the King administration in particular, that just at the moment when provincialist feeling is in the ascendant they are almost bereft of good French leadership in this province. Mr. St. Laurent has been groomed for national leadership, but the campaign on his behalf has revealed so much intrigue, jealousy and anti-French bias that it has only served to awaken the French-Canadian to a realization that Laurier's mantle may not be worn in Quebec.

In this election the conscription issue is almost useless. At "Saturday Night" writes: "After all, the Liberals eventually sent drafted troops to Europe; and anyhow a future conscription policy, in a war against Russia and with the Vatican on our side, will be a very different affair from the old one".

A GOOD QUEUER

London (CP) — Dame Sybil Thorndike, veteran actress opening an art exhibition at Chelsea, said "I am a real old queuer" telling how she queued for her early morning shopping.

She was presented with a bag full of groceries to "compensate for time lost in queuing."

Salad Days Are Here

Summertime demands cool, crisp foods and the gardens and orchards provide them just as needed.

Lettuce, cress, peppergrass or spinach all make excellent foundation greens. A good salad needs a crisp green background to bring out the color of the other ingredients and make it look like a pretty bouquet.

Fruits and vegetables are equally good in salads and may be used in almost any variation. All types of salad fit into the picture. Some are tossed, some jellied and others are carefully arranged on attractive green backgrounds.

Fresh fruits in season may be combined with canned fruits, giving contrast in texture and color. A few fresh mint leaves give a particularly cooling touch to fruit salads.

The home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture offer good ideas and some recipes for salads. The versatile cook may make almost endless variations on the salad pattern.

Salad Pointers

No damp, tired looking salads, please! Thorough drying and crisping of all raw ingredients and thorough draining of cooked ones take care of this point.

Don't cut ingredients in pieces so small that they lose their personality and, contrariwise, don't leave them in pieces so large that they are difficult to eat. Raw vegetables should be cut smaller than cooked ones or may be coarsely grated. Salad greens should be torn or broken rather than cut.

Do be subtle in your use of those two invaluable flavorings, onion and garlic.

Onion juice, obtained by scraping the cut surface of the onion with the edge of a knife, mixed with the salad ingredients or the dressing, spreads the flavor delicately and evenly. Garlic needs to be used with great discretion. A light rubbing of the salad bowl with the cut surface of a clove of garlic, or a clove of garlic dropped into French dressing and later removed gives sufficient flavor.

When meat, cooked vegetables or fish are used, the whole salad is given a lift if these ingredients are marinated separately in a little French dressing for an hour or so before being combined with the other ingredients.

Mixing of salad calls for a light hand and should be done by tossing with two forks, not by stirring with a spoon which breaks up or mashes the ingredients.

Medley Salad

1 Tomato sliced (or ½ cup drained canned tomatoes), 1 cup cooked beets (whole), 1 cup fresh cooked or canned peas, 1 cup radish slices, 1 cup whole green beans, 1 head lettuce, 1 bunch watercress, French dressing.

Arrange vegetables in individual groups, separated by lettuce leaves. Fill centre with watercress and serve with French dressing. Yield: Six servings.

Cottage Cheese, Strawberry Salad

2 Teaspoons gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water, 4 tablespoons salad dressing, 2 cups cottage cheese, 2 cups hulled strawberries.

Soak gelatine in cold water. Dissolve over hot water and add to salad dressing. Mix with cheese. Cut berries in halves and fold in. Pour into a wet mould, chill until firm. Turn out on crisp greens. Serve with additional salad dressing. Yield: Six servings.

Wife Preservers

If you have been doing a household job of painting and the paint runs and sags, it may be caused by putting the paint on too thick and not brushing it out. It sags under its own weight.

WORTH TRYING

The outcome of the (British health plan) struggle will probably mean concession on both sides . . . Some would object no matter how good the plan was. . . Whether the national health plan has any merit as far as the people are concerned — and, after all, that should be the chief consideration — will never be discovered if it isn't given a chance.

B'burg Scouts and Cubs

Brownsburg—Proficiency badges recently won by Wolf Cubs of the 1st Brownsburg Pack are:

Artist — Tommy Goldthorpe, Robert Golphin, Keith Hazel.

Athlete — Robert Golphin, Elmer Griffith, Brent Steele.

The Bulldog Scout Patrol came out on top of the final inter-patrol competition of the season, and will therefore hold the trophy recently procured for this purpose. This patrol won by the narrow margin of 8 points over the Eagle Patrol, who won the previous competition. The Bulldogs consist of Patrol Leader Jim Izzard, Second Dean Prosser, Scouts Paul Ingram, Russ Hazel, Arthur Morrison and Paul Zsombor.

The badge for marksmanship was recently won by Billy Cribb, Bruce Mason, Bernie Golphin, Paul Ingram and Keith Quinn.

been purchased and are to be given out at the school closing. Arrangements were made for the annual picnic to Lake Anne. Mrs. J. W. Green had attended the Short Course at Macdonald College and gave a splendid talk on what took place there. Members wished "bon voyage" to Miss Ashton, who is leaving the school this year and is also taking a trip to her home in England. This branch will hold no meetings in July and August.

Pioneer branch discussed Fair Work. Cards and best wishes were sent to three sick members. Two delegates are attending the Provincial Convention at Macdonald College. The Publicity convener gave a talk on current events and conducted a humorous "Confession Quiz", which was enjoyed by the members.

Jerusalem - Bethany members answered their roll-call with a Health Habit. The convener of Health and Welfare gave a short talk on "How to Keep Healthy". The sum of $5 was voted towards the County Scholarship Fund. This branch also decided to enter the contest sponsored by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Brownsburg Defeats Fassett Ball Team

Brownsburg Baseball Club regained first place last Sunday by winning a close game with Fassett, by the score of 3-1 — after suffering a bitter defeat by Hawkesbury, 21-6. That was the kind of game every club seems to experience once a season; they now have it out of their system. Brownsburg is looking forward to making the play-offs with flying colors.

Sunday's game was really good ball and the two hits by Fred Leroux and some great catching by Roger Prud'homme were the big factors in the victory.

Line-up for Sunday's game was —

R. Prud'homme C, M. Thompson P, F. St. Onge 1B, M. Legault 2B, R. Maud SS, H. King 3B, K. Simpson LF, F. Leroux CF, M. Valbee RF.

Subs, J. Murdoch, R. Summers, W. Tessier, B. Petley.

Bridal Rice Might Feed Hungry Europeans

Hollywood — "If all the rice thrown at June bridal couples were laid end to end it would reach the hungry people of Europe."

That's Eddie Cantor's idea in his wide appeal urging Americans and Canadians to use CARE, non-profit, government-approved service for overseas aid.

"Love is in bloom all over the country, and I'm certainly all in favor of it," Eddie said, in announcing the campaign. "But in times like these, with millions in Europe facing hunger, every grain of sense tells us it's dead wrong to let any grain of rice end up on the sidewalk, or in the bridegroom's ear.

"That's why I'm suggesting, every chance I get, and as seriously as I know how, that instead of sending the happy couple away in a shower of rice, we shower them instead with our congratulations, and send an order for a food package to (Canadian) CARE, Ottawa.

"You may depend upon it that CARE will see that your gift goes where it will do the most good. This great humanitarian organization has already delivered 5 million of its food and clothing textile packages in Europe. It has won not only the gratitude of the recipients but of the donors who have used CARE's service to help their friends and relatives abroad.

"Please send your order at once. Whoever you send help to you will be carrying out the Canadian tradition of generosity toward the unfortunate and the suffering, no matter where they may be."

"How are you?".

"Oh, I'm about even with the world".

"How's that?"

"I figure that I owe about as many people as I don't owe".

Lachute Golf Club
Special Commentary

The ladies played the first round of their President's Prize Competition last Wednesday, June 16. They have two more Wednesday afternoons to go, the winner to be declared from two best eighteens out of the three rounds.

Bobbie Ogilvie scored 2nd low gross at the Seigniory Club course, last Wednesday and Thursday, in competition with leading lady golfers of the province. Well done, Bobbie!

Members are requested to make sure they turn in enough 18-hole cards to keep their handicaps up to date. Some have another card to show before June 28. See the captain or assistant captains for details. Don't let your handicap lapse!

Two-ball mixed foursome tournament next Sunday, June 27. The draw is out now. See the notice boards for tee-off times.

The hard working amateurs are still at it. As our captain says, all the leading golfers were bumped in the first round of the Jones Cup. — Barrie Elliot took Roger Gravel's measure; and this reminds us that Barrie had one of his best eighteens in eliminating Keith Rutherford in the C-I-L Purvis Cup Competition: a well played 84.

Herb Thorpe turned back Dick Stevens. René Cote had trouble with George Leggett, Jr., after being 5-up, but finally took it on the 17th hole. Ralph FitzGerald made it 2 and 1 over Hugh Kerr.

We followed the Anderson-Carrière duel with more than passing interest. Laurier handed out a gift of 10 strokes and Ord replied with a flock of pars and birdies. This match ended with a bang when both caught the green on the 235-yard 14th and Ord's putt dropped for a deuce. The same guy who shot a 39 two nights before — yah! yah! we heard all about it — from him.

Let's hear the news, folks. Turn in all events of interest to the captain or assistants.

Men's Ball Sweepstakes, June 17 — 1st low net, Ian Gordon, 61. 2nd low net, Walter FitzGerald, 64. 1st low gross, Laurier Carrière, 74.

STARLING INVASION

Edmonton (CP) — The first large-scale invasion of Alberta by starlings from eastern Canada and the United States took place this spring, Prof. William Rowan of the University of Alberta reports. The starling has been spreading westward from Ohio and Quebec, where it was first introduced to this continent in the 1870's.
