Fire Losses Up in 1947; Figures Reviewed in Fire Prevention Week Annual Campaign

PREVENTION THEME EMPHASIZED IN TALKS
FIRE DRILLS STAGED IN DIFFERENT SCHOOLS

Lachute's fire loss for 1947, according to figures furnished this week by Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon, amounted to $42,845, or $8.32 per capita. Major losses occurred in three particular fires, namely, at Lachute Motor Sales premises, at the residence of Clement Tremblay, and at J. De Bellefeuille's, Meikle Street.

The previous year, 1946, the loss was $12,145, or $2.33 per capita.

This year, 1948, the figures will be high again — three costly blazes having bosted the toll to a discouraging figure thus far. The fires referred to were those at Lowe's Dairy, the Clermont shoe repair shop, and at Noel Paul's residence on Harriet Street.

Fire Chief Deacon draws attention to this trend of losses — $2.33 per capita in 1946 — $8.32 per capita in 1947 — and an unpromising prospect for 1948 — a trend which tells a concise and simple story not wholly to the credit of this town. Canada's average per capita loss, by comparison, is $4.53 according to the last figures available, 1947.

These facts have been revealed in connection with the National Fire Prevention Campaign this week. The Fire Chief spoke briefly at the regular Lions Club meeting on Tuesday, while Police Chief D. Villeneuve took over the theme at a meeting of the Knights of Columbus local council. Talks have also been given before various youth groups in the town.

Public inaugural of the campaign took place with the usual parade of fire trucks and equipment through the town streets Monday evening. Fire drills have been held in the four Protestant and Catholic schools in town, and in the Chatham school outside the corporation limits.

Fire Drills in Schools

Around 500 pupils in the High School and the Convent school, respectively, vacated these buildings in orderly fashion within 1¼ minutes, at the fire exercises carried out yesterday. In the other three schools there was also a creditable reaction to the sounding of the alarm, and Chief Deacon remarks on the notable improvement since previous years. Mr. Deacon, Mayor A. Bothwell and Police Chief D. Villeneuve witnessed the drills, and each addressed the pupils following these exercises.

The previous evening, on request of the Sister Superior of the Convent, an alarm was sounded after the resident pupils had retired. Without previous warning the 43 girls, all occupying the top-floor dormitories, donned their dressing gowns and shoes, and made a prompt and orderly exit.

Fire-Call Follows Close On 'Prevention' Parade

Only a few hours after the Fire Prevention Week parade on Monday evening, the local brigade was summoned to a blaze in a westward dwelling. The alarm was sounded shortly before one o'clock that night, and the firefighters successfully quelled a fire at the home of Isaie Paul on Isabella Street, where a wall had ignited through a defective chimney. The brigade employed the booster pump on their fire truck without laying a hose to the hydrant, thus minimizing the water damage. The fire loss to the interior of the dwelling is covered by insurance.

Toronto Display for Newspaper Week

Among the many observances of National Newspaper Week (October 1-8) across Canada, is a window display in the Toronto head office of Confederation Life. One window includes a representation of Canada's more than 1,000 daily, weekly and week-end newspapers, and features the slogan "Your Right to Know is the Key to All Your Liberties." Another window illustrates the nation-wide wire service of Canadian Press, and shows newspaper items of historical interest.

14 Years Since Historical Society Formed; Annual Meeting at Carillon

The old barracks museum at Carillon, in the mellow setting of a sunny Autumn, was a friendly gathering place last Saturday for the 14th annual meeting of the Argenteuil County Historical Society. In the library and lecture room of the fine old building, Mrs. G. F. W. Kuhring, the temporary president, presided over a successful meeting, and around 75 members and friends — from Montreal, Ottawa, Hawkesbury and the immediate district—heard reports from the secretary and the treasurer. Another item of business was the election of officers for the ensuing year.

A sincere tribute written by Dr. Grace Wales to the memory of the late Dr. H. B. Cushing, who was removed by death during his presidency of the Society, was read by Miss Mildred Douglas.

The program of the meeting included an interesting paper presented by one of the Society's honorary patrons, Hon. E. Fabre Surveyer, LL.M., F.R.C.S., LL.D., and a recital of original poems by a charter member, Mrs. Archie Graham, of Cushing.

Justice Surveyer gave the record concerning the early immigration of the Cushing family to New England, and spoke on one particular member of that family, Noah Cushing, to whom the first patent rights ever issued in Canada were granted. The story touched interestingly upon the introduction and first enactments of Canada's legislation on patents.

Mrs. Graham, who writes under the name of Janet Graham, gave a feeling recital of six of her poems, in various moods. One of these recounted the exploits of Dollard and his heroes of the Long Sault, an epic inseparable from the annals of old Carillon. Another poem romantically portrayed the turn of fortune which directed an Indian chieftain's daughter to the first making of maple syrup. Other themes—"October Evening", "An Old Maple Tree", "God's Music", "Habitant Logic" — all savored of the beloved Ottawa Valley where these verses were penned.

Judge Surveyer and Mrs. Graham were introduced to the audience by Mrs. G. F. W. Kuhring as two members ardently associated with the Historical Society since its inception. In regard to the former, the chairman recalled a scene 14 years ago at the unveiling of a cairn at St. Andrews East. On this occasion voice was given to a proposal of the late founders, Dr. Maude Abbott and Dr. Benjamin Wales, to form a permanent Historical Society and museum collection; Mrs. Kuhring here recalled that Justice Surveyer had been a speaker on that auspicious occasion, and an honorary patron of the Society since that time.

Appreciation to the two speakers was extended by Mrs. Wm. Usher, both for their contributions to the program and for their active interest in the Society.

Mrs. Kuhring expressed the pleasure she had enjoyed in her association with the Society these past 14 years, and in the performance of her duties succeeding the late president. She reviewed conditions in the Society and the museum building, and while thanking the secretary and treasurer, she also extended good wishes to the in-coming president, J. S. Giles, and to the officers of the Society.

Thanks to Mrs. Kuhring for her devotion to the duties of interim president were expressed by Mr. Gaetan Valois and warmly applauded by the gathering.

Officers Elected

The report of the nominating committee was presented and the following officers were unanimously approved:

President, J. S. Giles; 1st vice-president (re-elected), Mrs. G. F. W. Kuhring; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Geo. McGibbon.

Secretary (re-elected), Miss Beatrice Robertson; treasurer (re-elected), Miss Edith Simpson.

Re-elected to the Executive on expiry of their office — Mrs. J. Pitcairn, Mac E. Walker, and G. F. W. Kuhring.

A pleasant social hour was spent in the ground floor corridor and exhibition roms, where tea was served following the meeting.

Discourse of Historical Interest

New School Building to Include Many Modern Features

Above is the architect's drawing of Lachute's new High School as it will appear on completion of the $400,000 extension, to be commenced shortly. This view, from the west side, shows the original Academy building (left) with a completely modernized exterior conforming with the architecture of the rest of the building. There will be an L-extension at the rear of this section, not visible in the picture. The major expansion, however, will be a spacious wing at the east on the former Presbyterian manse property, the front on Court Street presenting what will be the main entrance (right of picture).

To the left of this entrance will be the school library, with administration quarters to the right, and the entrance hall will open into a spacious auditorium-gymnasium having a seating capacity of approximately 800 and with a gallery, office for the physical training instructor, stage and dressing rooms.

The plan also provides for the following:

11 New classrooms, each 24 by 30 feet with six large windows (making a total of 23 classrooms, two each for Grades I to XI and one for Grade XII).

Biology lab, Chemistry and Physics lab, all fully equipped, with fume cupboards and up-to-date facilities.

New Household Science room.

Music room.

Industrial Arts room.

Library.

French office.

Two Commercial rooms (one for typewriting instruction and one as lecture room).

Guidance office.

Two Teachers' rooms, one for men and one for lady teachers.

Modern features in the equipment of this building will include an electric master time clock with automatic bells throughout; a Public Address system throughout (probable); Battleship linoleum and asphalt tile flooring.

Architect for the building is Grattan Thompson, Montreal. At this stage of the project, following official approval of the plans by Quebec Department of Education, tenders have been called for the building construction.

Blood Clinic Oct. 13, to Meet Urgent Needs

A Pressing Call for Volunteers

With blood banks badly depleted in the Montreal hospital centres, a blood clinic has been arranged here for Wednesday, October 13, to be held in Lachute Auditorium and organized in a manner similar to those of the wartime clinics. The Red Cross mobile unit and technicians will be here on that date, and transportation of donors from the Lachute and Brownsburg areas will be provided for through the Lachute Chamber of Commerce.

It is reported today by the Red Cross committee that the response, thus far, has been discouraging. It is necessary to enrol many more volunteers to make this clinic a success. . The reason Lachute has been chosen for the first post-war mobile clinic, is the town's record for smooth-running arrangements in the wartime blood-donor campaigns. It is now up to citizens to uphold this record, and to prove Lachute's dependability in humanitarian appeals.

The need for blood is urgent, and donors who have not already enrolled are requested to communicate with Mrs. H. Rigg (phone 337-W) to arrange appointments. Donors will be given credit cards on request, which may be used by themselves or their families in any future emergency requiring transfusions of blood plasma.

Ayers Ltd. Hosts To Representatives From All Provinces

An instructive meeting of the Blanket Sales Representatives of Ayers Limited was convened at Carling Lake during three days last week. These representatives came from every province in Canada to meet the directors and the members of the Blanket Sales Division and Production Department of the Company.

There were many lively business sessions, with discussions covering a variety of timely subjects, including the changing conditions of the market, improvement in methods of merchandising, and recommendations regarding the production of still better and more beautiful blankets and travel rugs.

Sandwiched in between business sessions were periods of relaxation, when the members of the party could enjoy themselves playing golf on the tricky course at Carling Lake, while the weather was at its best and the surrounding hills presented a riot of fall colors; other members of the party preferred fishing or boating, while still others manned the shuffleboard.

On the last day of the convention the visitors were conducted through the plant at Lachute so that they might have a better idea of the intricate and varied processes through which the wool passes in the manufacture of such articles of everyday use as bed blankets and travel rugs, and so be in a better position to pass on to their customers more interesting information as to how they are made.

"Lighted School" A Popular Venture

The St. Viateur College on Grace Street assumed a role of community advancement this week with the opening of free night courses in Languages and Bookkeeping. "The Lighted School" became a reality, as approximately 150 youths and adults gathered to attend these classes. Most numerous in attendance is the French group devoted to the study of English. English pupils learning French are also attending in a considerable number, while others are taking the Bookkeeping course.

This commendable project has been organized by R. Larivière, of the College teaching staff. Lachute High School officials have given ready collaboration, with certain High School teachers conducting the French-to-English classes. The enterprise is supported by the Quebec Provincial Government.

Bellevue Estate Changes Hands

The historic Bellevue residence at Carillon, built in 1827 during military occupancy for the construction of the Carillon-Grenville canals, this week becomes the property of the Catholic priesthood — having been purchased from the present owner, Felix A. Hungerbuhler, by the Clercs de Ste. Croix. The deed will be negotiated shortly.

The brothers of this order have a summer establishment on the rivershore below Carillon Hill, but it is their intention to occupy the rambling Bellevue house as a novitiate for young students for the priesthood. It will be some time before the building is taken over for this purpose. Together with the residence, the estate includes extensive farmlands, frontage on the Ottawa River and various buildings.

These properties were purchased by Felix Hungerbuhler 12 years ago, from the estate of the late General Armstrong. The new owner made many improvements to the property, and erected spacious farm buildings.

It is stated by Mr. Hungerbuhler that he has now acquired from J. P. Lanctôt, of St. Andrews East, the old Leroy or Harrington farm, measuring about 200 arpents; he intends to build a home there and continue residing in the vicinity.

Chamber of Commerce Concerns Itself With Town Problems, Improvements

The executive of Lachute Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday evening at the town hall, under the chairmanship of Jean-B. Ménard, president. Those present were Gerald Walker, K. W. Clarke, H. D. Parsons, Roger Lagarde, Bertrand L'Heureux and Gabriel Valois.

It was proposed by R. Lagarde that an open letter be sent to Gatineau Power Company requesting this utility to take necessary steps to improve the electric power service in Lachute and throughout Argenteuil County, and also that the company in future give reasonable notice to manufacturers and business places before cutting off the power for a determined period. The resolution (which included a request for publication of this letter, on responsibility of the Chamber of Commerce) was seconded by K. W Clarke, and adopted.

It was proposed by Bertrand L'Heureux that a letter also be sent to the C.P.R., suggesting that the company take steps to embellish its property in Lachute, by cultivating lawns, hedges, etc. This motion was seconded by G. Walker.

Many other projects were also discussed, such as promoting ski trails in the vicinity of Lachute. The Chamber seeks public support in this effort, and requests that any sportsmen willing to assist,

Annual Gathering of Former Teachers and Pupils at Convent

"L'Amicale Ste. Anastasie", the alumnae organization of the parish convent, under the presidency of Miss E. Mariette Joly, held its annual meeting last Saturday, when a great number of former teachers and pupils came to pay tribute to their Alma Mater.

The opening of this assembly was observed with the celebration of low mass by Father J. A. Gratton, former parish priest, in the Convent chapel, which was attractively decorated with autumn flowers.

At 2 o'clock the gathering met in the hall of the institution, when the financial statement was read by the treasurer, Miss Madeleine Guénette, and Miss Majella Filfe, secretary, gave her report, of activities for the year.

The sudden death of Mrs. L. P. Sauvé caused a severe loss to this organization, in which she had served as a president for eight years. At the meeting, sincere sympathy was again extended to her family and tribute paid to her memory.

The Rev. Father Lacourse, chaplain of the group, addressed the audience and the meeting closed with the traditional five o'clock tea.

Each year, this organization assembles and revives happy memories among the Holy Cross pupils, and it is hoped each year to increase the number of participants, so that the event will be a highlight in the affairs of the Convent.

Wartime Houses

At the present time the sale or renting of Wartime Houses recognizes a preference for veterans. There are a number of veterans occupying those houses, and in some cases veterans have concluded negotiations for the purchase of these homes. At the present time also a number of these houses are available either for rent or sale, and Central Mortgage Corporation is anxious to have them disposed of, having regard to the difficult housing situation which exists throughout the nation. The crown corporation is therefore considering the possibility of offering the houses for sale on the open market. Investigation is under way to discover if the needs of veterans have been satisfied, and if so the houses will be sold to the first bidder.

Pilgrimage

A pilgrimage from St. Louis de France Church will be made next Sunday to the shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes, on the Brownsburg-Lachute road. Weather permitting, High Mass will be celebrated on the altar and a sermon delivered. The Very Rev. V. Bouchard, assisted by several other priests, will perform the ceremonies.

A New Curate

The Rev. Father F. Coursol, of the Ottawa Diocese, has been transferred to the Brownsburg parish. Fr. Coursol had an extended mission in South America and brings a vast store of experience to the overburdened vicarage of St. Louis de France. He is a native of Quebec.

Like carrying coals to Newcastle, apple juice from the Annapolis Valley of Nova Scotia has been shipped clear across the continent and now is offered for sale in Salmon Arm. The reason — all of British Columbia's production has been sold.

Assistant Police Officer Engaged For Lachute Town

By-law Stands, Prohibiting Parking at Post-Offices

Mayor Alex Bothwell presided last evening over a stormy session of the town council, at which all members were present with the exception of Ald. Lucien St. Jacques.

Some discussion arose over confusion caused by a recent amendment to parking regulations. . .

A resolution passed at the September meeting allowing five minutes parking in front of the post-office, was rescinded — as a by-law passed some years ago is still in force. This by-law definitely prohibits parking in front of both post-offices in Lachute Town.

A step was taken to ease the inadequate police supervision which has given cause for public complaint for some time past. Two applications for positions on the police staff were considered, and a motion was passed to engage the services of William Lepine, resident of Chatham, as assistant to the Chief of Police.

Building permits were granted to four applicants, namely, Murray Lyster, for construction of an industrial shop on Robert Street; Jules Charlebois, for a similar project on Henry Street; Farmers Supply Co., for erection of a loading platform in the C.P.R. yards; and Mme Félicien Lavigne, for improvement to her business building on Main Street.

Use of the Auditorium by Lachute Badminton Club on Tuesday evenings, was granted at a fee of $75 for the season.

Accounts were approved for the total sum of $4,952.43 and the valuation roll was homologated as presented by the assessors, with a few corrections.

FORGOTTEN MAN

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

According to a bulletin issued by the National Security Association, of 100 persons at age 65, one will be wealthy, three well-to-do, 36 will have died, five will live on earnings and 54 will be dependent on family or state. Equally intriguing is what will have happened to the missing one.

School Opening Exercises Held At Brownsburg

Brownsburg — The usual annual school opening exercises were held before a large crowd at the Consolidated School last week. The new board, which is now increased to five members, were present under the chairmanship of M. Pat Rielly, to give out the usual proficiency and attendance prizes, and were assisted by a delegation from the Women's Institute who distributed the prizes donated by that organization.

The chairman outlined the Board's plans for the coming year, and among the many improvements suggested for the efficient operation of the school were a new furnace; additional accommodation of at least two rooms; an assembly hall; gymnasium equipment; classroom equipment for the teaching of additional subjects; seating accommodation and teachers' rest-room furniture.

Principal Dennis Staniforth deplored the deterioration in discipline and lack of good behavior which is creeping into the manners of the present school attendance. An effort must be made to overcome this disagreeable tendency, he urged; it may be an outcome of the laxity of the war years, or it may have another source, but whatever the reason, with the co-operation of the parents a determined effort would have to be made to eradicate it.

Powell, of "Maple Leaf", Renews Acquaintance

En route from Ottawa to Montreal on Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. George Powell paid a brief visit to The Watchman. . . Mr. Powell was a former contributor to this newspaper. Since his earlier participation in High School publications here, he has followed the line of Publicity as a career. He played a leading role in "The Maple Leaf", publication of the Canadian Army overseas, and now, following a post-war university course, is back again in the peacetime business of Public Relations.

Seek Addressee of Letter from Germany

A registered letter addressed to "Mrs. Donahon, Lachute Red Cross, Canada" was received this week from Germany — and the addressee being unknown to Red Cross officials here, information is sought concerning her identity and whereabouts. Sender of the letter is "Kurt Goetz, Oberhausen Rheinland, Stahstrasse 10, Deutchland". . . . The letter may be claimed by Mrs. Donahon by applying to the Lachute Red Cross secretary, Mrs. Robt. McGibbon.

Prescott M.L.A., New Minister, Will Support Power Developments

Hawkesbury (CP) — Louis Cecile, new minister without portfolio in the Ontario Cabinet, pledged his support to the "earliest possible development" of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers for hydro-electric power.

The member for Prescott spoke at a civic banquet in his honor last Monday evening. "Part of my responsibility as minister for this part of Ontario", he said, "is to see that the water power in the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers is developed at the earliest possible date."

Gatineau LINES

Even in times of acute shortages of electricity such as residents of Quebec and Ontario now are experiencing, inventors still keep thinking of new ways of using electric power. As it is important that everybody save as much power as possible these days we don't suggest that you try to buy any of these things immediately, but we thought you might like to read about a few of the most recent inventions just for fun:

Electric Egg-Tester

There are few things a housewife hates more than a bad egg. Break a bad egg in the kitchen and, apart from the damage to the cake mixture or pastry, the kitchen just isn't the same place to live in for some time after. That is why we think that the man who has just invented an electrically-operated egg-tester has done a useful service. The tester operates by sending electricity through the eggs. Good eggs absorb the least current, letting most of it pass right through them; bad eggs resist the flow of electricity and reduce the amount that gets through.

Animal Exerciser

The experts estimate that there are almost 400 different electric devices made for use on the modern farm. Most of them are designed to make life easier for the farmer, but one gadget now in use just aims at making life more difficult for his animals.

This is an electrically-operated live-stock exerciser which provides compulsory walking for six animals at a time. Looking somewhat like a merry-go-round, it is driven by a one-horsepower motor working through reduction gears. The animals attached to it — generally bulls or show stock — are compelled to walk at a rate of 3½ miles an hour when the machine is turned on.

Electric Reveille

Work is progressing on a little electric gadget which awakens people promptly if they start to fall asleep when they shouldn't. It is a pocket-size apparatus to be carried by truck drivers, airplane pilots, night watchmen and others who want to stay wide awake. As soon as the person carrying the device starts to fall asleep he is awakened again by a warning bell.

ENGLISH JOURNEY

By WALTER R. LEGGE

ARTICLE NO. 10

At Bristol we stayed at the Royal Hotel where the Canadian editors lived for ten days in 1942.

This hotel was severely damaged by a bomb in 1941 and about half the hotel including the dining hall was destroyed. Some of the damage has been cleaned up but the hotel is still carrying on with about half of its rooms.

The Royal was the only hotel at which we stayed overnight during our whole six weeks in England as the rest of the time was spent with relatives and friends. We were quite comfortable at the Royal and the meals were better than other hotels at which we ate.

To give some idea of the meals here the breakfast menu on May 25th was stewed apples or porridge or cereal; grilled mackerel or Finnan haddock or kippered herrings or scrambled eggs; toast; tea or coffee; while dinner on the same day was soup; roast turkey or grilled turbot or roast beef; dessert; tea and coffee. Helpings at all hotels are very small, but few offer such a splendid variety and these menus cannot be taken as indicative of the average menu in better class hotels in England today. Among the guests at the Royal while we were there was Chief Tito-Gasabusa Winyi IV, chief of the 100,000 people of Bunyoro-Kitari-Uganda.

Bristol is one of the most historic and interesting cities in England, although it suffered more than most places during the war.

Here John Wesley built his first chapel and founded the Methodist Church — Wordsworth wrote his first poem — and from here John Cabot sailed to discover the mainland of America, and many other equally notable things are part of Bristol's history. It was the birthplace of Robert Southey.

Among the unique things at Bristol is Christmas street, a steep street, partly stairs, which was opened in 1669 and is apparently unchanged since then.

Another ancient landmark is the Norman gate which stands near Bristol Cathedral.

Bristol is one of the municipal ports of England only six miles from the sea, and the way in which ships come up almost into the centre of the city is most astonishing. When we were there two Swedish warships, the Stockholm and the Norrkoping, were paying a courtesy visit to Bristol and gave the astonishing appearance of being moored in the middle of the street.

Bristol's real gem of architecture is St. Mary Redcliffe Church which Queen Elizabeth declared was the fairest, goodliest and most famous parish church in all England. Although many buildings around it were destroyed by bombs, St. Mary Redcliffe escaped serious injury although marked by flying fragments.

Another church, famous for its leaning tower, Temple Church, was completely destroyed leaving the leaning tower still standing and still leaning three feet nine inches out of perpendicular. It was only recently discovered that vandals have deliberately hacked to pieces many stone and marble memorials which emerged undamaged from the destruction wrought at Temple Church by the German air raiders. To get at them the vandals had to batter down stout iron bars and wire netting.

There are many of the most attractive spots easily reached from Bristol.

One of these is Wells, an ancient cathedral city.

Wells Cathedral is one of the finest in England famous for many unusual features. Its history goes back 1220 years when a church was built by the wells which still flow and fill the moat around the Bishop's palace. Parts of the present church were built before 1191 and the wonderful west front with its rows of statues was built between 1206 and 1242.

In the church is one of the oldest and most unusual clocks in the world dating from 1392. As each hour approaches crowds of visitors gather to watch for the striking of the hour — when knights on horseback revolve in opposite directions, representing a tournament, while a figure known as Jack Blandifer, seated some distance from the clock, strikes his heels against bells, and on the outside of the walls, two knights in armour strike with battle axes on bells.

The stone vaulting and carving both inside and out at Wells Cathedral is beyond description.

The Bishop's palace grounds are surrounded by a high wall, outside of which is a moat in the water of which are many swans and ducks. The swans have been trained to ring a bell whenever they are hungry.

Near the Cathedral is a famous old street known as the Bishop's Close, one of the oldest and prettiest streets in England.

About five miles from Wells lies Glastonbury Abbey which now in ruins draws thousands of visitors from all parts of the English-speaking world.

It is the legendary Isle of Avalon, and evidence shows that Glastonbury was actually at one time either an island or a peninsula.

Legend tells that Joseph of Arimathea wandered into Somerset and one Christmas morning reached the Isle of Avalon. The saint stuck his staff into the ground, whereupon it sprouted and flowered and the brethren accepted this as a sign that their wanderings were over and they erected a small wattle church on the site.

St. Patrick is believed to have visited it on several occasions.

It is the Avalon of Tennyson's poem of the death of King Arthur and in the Abbey ruins is marked the reputed burial place of King Arthur and his wife Gwinever.

The body of King Arthur was discovered and buried before the High Altar of Henry II and it is recorded that the relics were visited by Edward I and Eleanor in 1276.

Glastonbury Abbey at one time was one of the largest, finest and most revered in England, but it has fallen into ruins, which still retain some measure of majesty.

About a mile away is the Blood spring or Chalice Well under the waters of which, according to legend, Joseph of Arimathea hid the Holy Grail, or Chalice of the Last Supper, whereupon the waters gushed forth red. It is reasonably safe to believe that the first Christian baptism in England took place here. The masonry is believed to be of Druidic origin. The spring is chalybeate and its output of 25,000 gallons a day has never failed.

Other ancient landmarks in Glastonbury include the Pilgrims Inn, built by Abbot Selwood in the 15th century, with a remarkable panelled front; the Abbot's Born, a cruciform building, 93 feet long with massive walls, dating from the fourteenth century; the Abbots Kitchen, a gem of medieval architecture; and the ancient almshouses.

No visitor to England should miss spending a couple of days at Glastonbury and Wells.

Before leaving Bristol, we paid a visit to Bristol Cathedral which is not so well known to Canadians as it should be, for it is a beautiful building with many Canadian associations.

In it are the colors of the 128th Canadian Battalion of Moose Jaw. The original colors were deposited on March 11, 1917, but were later taken back to Canada and duplicates were substituted in the Cathedral.

Bristol Cathedral does not present the appearance of antiquity that many others possess, but this does not detract in the least from its dignity and impressiveness. However, the Elder Lady Chapel dates from about 1230, much of it to the fourteenth century and the nave and western towers are modern but designed to harmonize perfectly with the whole. The architecture includes Norman, Early English, Decorated and perpendicular, some of it being of unrivalled beauty.

From Bristol we made our way by stages back to Liverpool where we had a few hours before boarding the Ascania for home.

The Germans did their best to destroy Liverpool but without success although there are still numerous signs of the damage they accomplished.

Fortunately they did not damage either of the Cathedrals for there are two, an Anglican and a Roman Catholic, both under construction. The Anglican one will be the largest in England when completed. Strange to say the architect for the Anglican Cathedral is a Roman Catholic and the architect for the R. C. Cathedral is an Anglican, according to the reports.

Provincial Scout Leaders' Conference This Week-End At North Hatley, Que.

Annual Meet to Discuss and See Training Demonstrations

Even though it will be the 13th gathering, the Provincial Scouters' Conference next week-end at North Hatley should, with a bit of luck, be at least as good as that held last Thanksgiving when 150 leaders of Scouts and Cubs met to confer and learn more about this particular kind of boys' work. If the weather this time is as beautiful as it was last year, most of the activity will be out of doors, including the Scouts' Own service to be conducted Sunday morning by the Rev. John O. Peacock, Cubmaster of Cowansville Pack.

The program will centre round the discussion of six topics of practical value to Scout and Cub leaders; those present will be divided into groups or patrols for discussion.

The special guest at the Conference will be William A. Speed, executive Scout commissioner for Nova Scotia, who will take charge of several items on the program.

Accommodation for the meetings has been secured in the Community Hall at North Hatley so that plenty of space will be available for group gatherings in case of poor weather. Attendance is limited to adults, but these will include Scoutmasters, Cubmasters (and Lady Cubmasters), Rover Leaders — also of course Assistant Scout, Cub and Rover Leaders — with group Committeemen and other officials. Ladies will be very welcome, including wives of Scouters.

What this new "Security Plan" will do for him

The Mutual Life of Canada's "Security Plan" enables you to start your child's insurance at a very early age, and at a low cost.

Protection starts at $100 at birth, increasing annually to $1,000. at age 9 and grading up to $5,000. at age 20. If money is required for educational purposes when the child reaches university age, the policy may be surrendered for its cash value, otherwise it may be continued at the very low premium rate until age 60 or 65 when a retirement income is available. The Cash Value increases yearly, and dividends are paid annually as declared.

FARMERS – ATTENTION

GROWERS WANTED: A long established Wholesale Fruit Company in Ottawa is anxious to build up a source of supply for fresh Raspberries within a 75-mile radius from Ottawa. Truck shipment.

To encourage a limited planting of new high yielding patches, a well known nursery is sending a special representative of many years experience in commercial reproduction to personally interview and educate interested farmers in raspberry culture. This should result in higher unit yields, longer patch life, less hand labor and when translated into dollars at normal prices a relatively high ratio of profit is assured.

Because of present shortage of good planting material, bookings can only be made for SPRING PLANTING 1949, limited to one acre.

If genuinely interested in berry growing as a sideline to farming, write Box 457, Campbellford, Ontario, on or before October 18th, giving location of your farm. Our specialist will call later and completely analyze the business, soil requirements and preparation, up-to-date cultural practices, cost of planting, estimated yields and profits per acre. Late replies cannot be covered.

Fire Losses in Lachute Cause Serious Concern

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK — OCTOBER 3 - 9

THE FIGURES on fire losses in Lachute these past few years present a thought-provoking subject. Speaking before various clubs and organizations, in connection with the annual Fire Prevention Week campaign, Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon has revealed a disconcerting trend. The facts are stated in a front page story in this issue, to which we direct our readers' attention. The Fire Chief raises no dramatic alarm over these increasing losses but he draws them to public attention as deserving earnest thought — for behind the figures is a picture of individual apathy, sometimes of appalling neglect, and a more serious collaboration with the Fire Department is needed to curb this trend.

Inspection of the business and residential buildings around Lachute reveals too many hazards —hazards which may be classified as plain carelessness in very many cases. (On the very day we pen this editorial, there comes to our notice the example of a west-end dwelling where, in one of the rooms, a paper lampshade was found in actual contact with an electric light bulb). Such minor oversights are fraught with ominous possibilities in terms of the fire dollar, and even in terms of human life. There were 390 deaths by fire in the Dominion last year —some (who knows?) may have been caused possibly by such petty negligence as we have just mentioned.

It is believed wholly attributable to our efficient fire service — perhaps with a modicum of good fortune — that Lachute, generally speaking, enjoys a low insurance rate. But it cannot be too forcefully emphasized, this rate is contingent upon our good record; and to maintain that record requires the care and attention of each individual citizen. With the winter ahead — a testing time for heating installations in every home, office and factory — it is time to readjust our attitude, right now, in the matter of fire hazards.

Free to Write, Free to Read

THIS IS Fire Prevention Week, but it is also National Newspaper Week — so, while according warm support to the theme of fire prevention, we will also devote a little attention to the Newspaper, a subject of equal importance to our community and one which, by occupation, choice and pay check, is closer to our heart.

Seated here at the editorial desk, we are free to write anything we desire just so long as it is within the bounds of common decency and the liberal postal regulations. We can publish that writing in The Watchman and send it through the mails into the homes of this community. We need show this column, before it is published, to no one. We are the sole judge of what will occupy this space this week.

Here in Canada we call that "Freedom of the Press." It came down to the editor as a marvelous privilege, from the men who founded our country. It is not a "smart alec" right which we can abuse, because it is governed by the needs, requirements and good judgment of the people of our community. They demand the truth wherever it is possible to obtain it, and accuracy in reporting. They can, by the very weight of their collective opinions, put our humble opinions out of business.

So then, Freedom of the Press, as we celebrate it during National Newspaper Week, is not merely our freedom to print what we please. It is, let's say, our right to say what we think in our newspaper providing we do not offend the patriotism, the good morals and the collective better judgment of a majority of our readers.

This is a marvelous privilege, compared with what the Press of the rest of the world enjoys. Only free men enjoy the right of a free press . . . but it is also true that only a free press can guarantee and maintain the rights of a free people. Sitting here, we can proclaim our disapproval for the policies of our government and cabinet ministers; that we don't like the way the army is being run; that church services will be held next Sunday. But the larger portion of the world today, editors and writers, can't say those things. A man who writes for a government-controlled newspaper, or the dictator press, can say only those things which are put in his mind by his bosses. And when that happens, the people who read those newspapers are no longer free.

So we would say that National Newspaper Week is just as important to you, the reader, as it is to the editor. It isn't a week in which you are expected to eat more apples, buy a lapel button or don your straw hat. It's simply a week in which, thoughtfully and of your own free will, you should resolve that you will do everything in your power to keep the press of Canada free.

In that way, you will simply be guaranteeing the continuation of your own Freedom!

When he got the bill he had to sell the car to meet it.

Democracy's Future Leaders

AGAINST a background of assassination, civil war, and a generally darkening world picture, millions of our youth go back to college and school. In an era trademarked by division and chaos, the question arises, "What are they being educated for?" How to make money and get ahead are no longer adequate in the face of world crisis.

The materialists are training their youth to use division and chaos as tools to gain world control. We find the fruits of materialism portrayed in youth graduating from our colleges as full-fledged Marxists. Miss Elizabeth Bentley's testimony in the recent spy trials dramatized this. Although a Vassar graduate with 20 years of education she fell for the Marxist line. According to her she was never taught the basic moral structure on which America's founding fathers built their nation.

The Los Angeles Board of Education in the face of this challenge has unanimously adopted a new statement of policy for teaching America's ideology in the schools. Mrs. Eleanor B. Allen, one of the members of the Board, outlined this statement: "The materialistic ideologies of Fascism and Communism have been on the march with power, plan and purpose in this twentieth century. Democracy, as conceived by Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and other early statesmen, can only survive if we affirm boldly the ideology that will put the democracies on the offensive in this war of ideas. . . The schools of the democratic nations must, therefore, teach their future leaders the democratic ideology which is based on moral and spiritual concepts."

Backed by a positive program, this policy could equip our youth with an ideology vital enough to outmode the materialistic ones of right or left. Perhaps such a program as adopted by Dr. Theodore Baeuerle, Minister of Education in the American Zone of Germany, holds the key to this new education. At the Moral Re-Armament World Assembly in Caux, Switzerland, he outlined principles that will affect half a million German youth:

1. Human nature can be changed.
2. The pupil is more important than paper work.
3. As I am, so are my pupils.
4. A classless society is not only a matter of organization, but an attitude to life.

With the clock at 11.55 in Europe, there is no time to waste. Our youth equipped with an inspired ideology for democracy could turn the tide.

Self-Deceit

THERE'S THE fellow who takes several drinks too many merely because they are free. There was the farmer who refused to buy the set of books that would help him farm better because he already knew how to farm better.

Then there's the citizen who sees plainly the evil of government's trying to provide security from the cradle to the grave but wants it anyway.

— The Printed Word

Annual Meeting Held by Argenteuil Historical Soc'y

In lieu of the presidential address this gathering would have expected from the late lamented Dr. H. B. Cushing, who took such a keen interest in the progress of your Society, it seemed fitting that I should speak briefly about one of his ancestors, Noah Cushing, who secured the first patent granted in Canada.

The Cushing family has been worthy of having its genealogy written twice; once in 1877, by the late Lemuel Cushing, of the Montreal Bar, and another in 1905, by his youngest son, James Stevenson Cushing, whose work forms part of your library, and comprises nearly 600 pages and 1300 genealogies.

All the Cushings, either of Canada or of the United States, have a common ancestor, Matthew Cushing, a native of Hardingham, England, who in his 50th year left England with his wife and five children and landed at Boston. The occasion of his departure was the prosecution by Bishop Owen of Cushing's rector, Robert Peck, M.A., of Hingham. Peck left England, and his friends sold their estate at half their value and accompanied him to America.

John S. Barr, of Boston, wrote in 1853: "Few families in the country have been more celebrated than the Cushings, and probably no other had furnished more Judges of our Probate, Municipal and Supreme Courts."

The father of our inventor, Noah, the son of Matthew Cushing, was born in Rehoboth, Mass., June 8, 1752.

As to Noah Cushing's achievements: On the right side of the entrance to Park Montmorency Laval, which is laid on the site of the former Parliament Buildings, one may now read a bilingual inscription, the English version of which is in the following words:

First Patent in Canada

The first patent of invention was issued by the Province of Lower Canada in the Parliament Buildings which stood on this site. It was granted on the 8th June, 1824, for a washing and fulling machine, in favor of Noah Cushing of Quebec.

A Patent Act was passed in the United States in 1790, to be recast in 1793. The first patent granted by the United States was to Samuel Hopkins, of Philadelphia, on July 31, 1790, for making pot and pearl ashes. The following year he came to Canada and, on April 20, 1791, secured an act granting him the exclusive right, for six years, of the use of his invention.

In 1820, Noah Cushing, of Portneuf, Que., gave notice of a petition to the Legislature for the privilege of making and vending a new kitchen stove. His petition was rejected on January 26, 1821.

On June 24, 1822, The Quebec Gazette announced the invention of Charles Delaurier dit Cotineau, and, a few weeks later the inventor explained himself in The Quebec Gazette what he claimed to have originated. This Charles Delaurier dit Cotineau was Sir Wilfrid Laurier's grandfather. His invention consisted of a terrestrial log, with which he could measure distances accurately by adapting the instrument to a wheel carriage of proper proportions, and also, by applying it to the machinery of grist mills, of ascertaining by a near approximation the quantity of corn ground.

On December 9, 1823, Mr. Neilson, who three days earlier had introduced Mr. Laurier's petition, introduced a petition of William Thurber and Noah Cushing.

On December 20, 1823, according to The Quebec Gazette of December 25, "The House in Committee on the petition of Thurber and Cushing, and one of Charles Laurier for a "loch terrestre", reported that it was of opinion that it was expedient to provide for the encouragement of the useful arts in this Province; and the house having concurred in the report, a bill for that purpose was presented and read for the first time."

The bill, as amended, was passed March 2, 1824, and received the Royal assent on March 9.

In support of his petition, Cushing had explained: "There are two sides of board, the bottom forming a segment of a circle, of five feet; the two ends are two boards let into a groove; the partition ends are of the same length, with holes to admit the water into the washing end; there are two uprights, rising above the top of the tub, passing down to the leg; there are two pendulums suspended from the uprights, at the extremity of each of which is a block — one is loaded for washing, the other is grooved, which pendulums are worked and set in motion by a handle which is affixed to two arms, which are attached to the pendulums."

On June 8, 1824, the first patent granted under the Act was given to Noah Cushing for this washing and fulling machine. His partner, Dr. Thurber, does not appear as a co-grantee, possibly because he merely supplied funds to Cushing.

The number of patents granted every year must now amount to nearly ten thousand. Of these inventors, who may or may not have made a fortune, but all of whom have tried to procure some advantage to the public, Noah Cushing was the first recorded, and his achievements deserve to be commemorated.

A happy time, a worthy cause — Legion Bingo, October 15, at Lachute Auditorium.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

THIS IS FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Fire Prevention Week has a personal meaning for each of us . . . it brings home the facts that most fires are caused by carelessness . . . that most of our fire loss is preventable. Fire, which is one of mankind's best friends . . . is also man's worst enemy if not controlled. You can help reduce Canada's appalling fire loss by remembering to follow safety rules, at all times. Prevention of fire is one of the greatest contributions you can make to "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

IN MEMORIAM

LEFEBVRE — In loving memory of a wonderful dad, Antoine Lefebvre, who entered into eternal rest October 6, 1945. — Lovingly remembered by Therese and Fred.

To bear our heavy cross,
He is the only one who knows
How bitter is our loss."

LEFEBVRE — With sadness we recall the loving memory of dear Dad, Antoine Lefebvre, who passed away October 6, 1945. — Lovingly remembered by his daughter, Reta.

"I'm sad within my memory,
Lonely in my heart today,
The one we loved so dearly
Has forever been called away.
I think of him in silence,
No eyes can see me weep,
Many silent tears are shed
When others are asleep.
A shadow rests upon our home,
I miss his smiling face,
Wherever I turn, wherever I go,
I see his vacant place.
God is good, He gives us strength
To bear our heavy cross,
He is the only one who knows
How bitter is our loss."

MURRAY — In loving memory of my dear brother, Clarence Murray, who passed away October 14, 1935. — Ever remembered by Frances.

"Four lonely years have passed away
Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that day
We still remember well.
We never knew what pain he bore,
We did not see him die,
We only knew he passed away,
We could not say good-bye.
We think of him so often,
His name we oft recall,
But only left to answer us
Is his picture on the wall."

Morrow - MacAllister

A very pretty wedding took place last Saturday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, in the Brownsburg United Church, when Mildred Jean, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur MacAllister, of Brownsburg, Que., was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Russell Morrow, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrow, of Dalesville, Que. The Rev. S. J. Pike officiated at the ceremony, and Mrs. C. J. Wheeler played the wedding music. Mr. Frank Steere sang "Because" during the signing of the register. The church was decorated with a profusion of gladioli and autumn leaves.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Irwin Martin, as matron of honor. Heather Martin, niece of the bride, and Heather Morrow, niece of the groom, acted as flower girls. The best man was Mr. Wm. Morrow, brother of the bridegroom, the ushers being Mr. Archie Morrow, brother of the groom, and Mr. Stanley Doig, of Montreal.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Irwin Martin, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white transparent velvet with a peplum all around, the fitted bodice having a sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her veil of tulle illusion, fingertip-length, was held in place with a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The matron of honor was in a floor-length gown of emerald green transparent velvet, with a side drape, and gold accessories, carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

The flower girls were in floor-length gold smocked dresses with full skirts and carried little baskets of sweet peas.

Mrs. MacAllister, mother of the bride, was in a printed grey dress with black accessories and wore a corsage of mixed sweet peas. Mrs. Morrow, mother of the groom, was in a brown flowered dress with brown accessories and a fur neckpiece. Her corsage was of tea roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple left for a wedding trip by motor through the United States and Ontario, the bride travelling in a beige gabardine suit with brown accessories and wearing a corsage of American Beauty roses. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Morrow will reside in Monteal.

Following is an approximate translation of the letter addressed to Gatineau Power Company:

Gatineau Power Company
Ottawa, Ont.

Gentlemen:

The Lachute Chamber of Commerce has received frequent complaints from industrialists, manufacturers and business firms relative to the unsatisfactory power service in Lachute Town and vicinity.

In the name of the businessmen and all residents, for the protection of their interests, for the welfare and needs of the population, the Lachute Chamber of Commerce as a representative Association submits to your Company a formal request that necessary measures be taken to remedy this situation, by increasing the power supply and by such means as may be considered adequate.

The population contributes to the maintenance and administration of your system to an extent that it is reasonable to expect improvement such as the population requires.

Your Company appears to overlook the nature of its enterprise as a Public Utility and, in the service it provides, is not attaining this end.

Many private enterprises have suffered and are still suffering material loss, due to inefficiency of the power system — in this county, but more particularly in our town.

We also request your company to give reasonable notice to industries, plants and the more important business places, of the hour at which current will be switched off, and to advise them of the approximate length of time during which the service will be interrupted.

Be assured, gentlemen of our sincere interest.

(Signed)
Lachute Chamber of Commerce

Charge Withdrawn In Ayers Strike Case

In the case of Rolland Gauthier and Georges Bedard, Lachute Mills residents, arising out of the Ayers strike—which trial was postponed until the current session of Assizes — Georges Héon, K.C., stated before the bench at St. Jerome this week that the Crown had dropped charges against these two. The Attorney-General, he stated, had taken the case into consideration as presented by Mr. Héon — that those primarily responsible for agitation of the workers had been brought before the courts — and the policy of the Quebec Government being one of "repression rather than oppression", Mr. Héon was here authorized to declare the Crown had dropped proceedings.

Opinion and Example

(Christian Science Monitor)

A few "expert" opinions on comic books: They "fill a basic emotional need in children's lives". Their popularity shows that children "hunger for a close-up of modern life." They give children a sense of "reality". They are a "springboard of educational development", an "expression of our times", a "harmless form of recreation".

Example: Three small boys in New Albany, Ind., force a playmate into the woods at the point of a knife, take off his clothes, string him up with a rope, perform a simulated war dance around him, touching lighted matches to his body as they pass, and leave him dangling from the tree, fortunately to be rescued later. Explanation: They were "re-enacting a comic-book plot."

Margarine!

By M. V. Trayers

Some weeks back we wrote that there was a man in Canada, a Canadian citizen who was an important public figure in the nation's affairs a little while since, but whose picture no newspaper in the country dare publish. Everyone knew his name, few knew what he looked like. . . If you think that's strange, here's a recipe which originated in France almost a hundred years ago — in 1870 to be exact — which the laws of Canada prohibit you from making. Mix edible fat (vegetable or animal), salt, whole milk or solids, and flavors from ripened skim milk vitamins, preservatives, a little coloring, and you have margarine. Napoleon III awarded the chemist who produced this nutritious food a special medal. . . The law here would probably pin a special badge on you if you were caught using it as an appetizer on your bread.

At the recent convention of the Progressive Conservatives at Ottawa, one of the planks of the new platform (and there were many planks nailed to the new platform, 30 in all) was a particularly new plank—to legalize the manufacture of margarine. The issues or policies of the two leading political parties, Liberals and Progressive-Conservatives, are so interwoven and identical that it is impossible to distinguish one from the other. This has been the complaint of Conservative followers throughout the country, but now there has been a change. Here we have a clear-cut decisive issue on an important matter affecting the cost of living of the working man, and as we are told, the agriculture economy of the country.

The Liberals have shifted the burden of the margarine question over to the courts. The ban on its manufacture could be removed by a simple Act of Parliament, but the politicians refuse to handle what they consider a very hot potato. They are afraid of the farmers' vote. There is no reason to believe that farmers as a whole would vote against the party removing the ban upon margarine; evidently the Progressive-Conservatives do not think so. There are about seven million voters in Canada, and it is not believed that more than 35 per cent are "farm votes". . . There is no organized "farm vote". It is just a bogey.

Some time ago there was a conference between about 25 nations at Geneva, Switzerland, for the purpose of developing freer trade between countries. One of the agreements signed was that none of the participating nations could ban any of the products of the other. When the matter came before the Commons and the agreements were being debated, the question of the importation of margarine from the States or Newfoundland was raised. Mr. St. Laurent countered by saying that a custom tariff of prohibitive proportions could be imposed. So the ban was on again.

However, an intriguing situation arises now that Newfoundland has decided to enter Federal Government. The tenth province has been making margarine and exporting its surplus for years. If after Newfoundland's entry the province continues to make margarine, which it undoubtedly will, how will that affect the other nine provinces?

Couple Pledge Vows in Suburban Church Ceremony

Riddell - Aitkin

The marriage of Margaret Fryar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Aitkin, of Notre Dame de Grace (formerly of Lachute), to Mr. Clayton Beryl Riddell, son, of the late Horace Riddell and of Mrs. Riddell, of Lachute, took place last Saturday afternoon at four o'clock in St. Luke's United Church, Hampstead, the Rev. R. E. Spencer afficiating.

Mr. Kenneth Cunningham played the wedding music and Miss Marjorie Buck sang during the signing of the register.

Pastel gladioli were used as decorations.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a period gown of ivory bridal satin, having a fitted bodice with a stand-up collar of rolled satin and long sleeves finishing in points over her hands, and a very full skirt with a padded hipline, extending into a long train. Her fingertip-length veil of French tulle-illusion, worn by her aunt at her wedding, fell from a half-hat of satin and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and bouvardia, with a spray of heather sent from Scotland. Her only ornament was a string of pearls.

Mrs. F. G. Fortin, as matron-of-honor, and Miss Mary Woodhouse, as bridesmaid, were in period frocks of gold moire taffeta with skirts fashioned with double bustles, falling into slight trains. They wore tiny hats of the same material, long brown velvet mittens, and carried bronze chrysanthemums.

Mr. Owen Riddell was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Fred Fortin and Mr. Basil Riddell, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Aitkin, the bride's mother, was in a street-length gown of electric blue crepe with black accessories and wore a corsage bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Riddell, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in wine crepe and wore a black hat and accessories and a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses.

The reception was held at the Berkeley Hotel, where autumn flowers were used to decorate.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Riddell left for New York, the bride travelling in a suit of navy blue gabardine with matching accessories and wearing a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. She carried a top-coat of winter-white wool.

The out-of-town guests included Mrs. J. W. Gordon and Mr. T. S. Gilchrist, of Toronto, and a number of friends from this community.

Pike gave a special missionary talk to the children last Sunday, and the different means of transportation were portrayed on large cards by the children. Mrs. Pike and Mrs. Thompson sang a duet during the service. A good congregation was present.

Ottawa—A new CARE package designed to bring a festive Christmas dinner to a European family as large as 12, is announced by Breen Melvin, Canadian representative of this non-profit organization.

Margarine !

"Recently in the Press Gallery lounge on Parliament Hill", writes Harold Dingman in New Liberty, "Louis Stephen St. Laurent was explaining the terms of Confederation for the island of Newfoundland. Some of the island's local laws would be honored by Ottawa when the tenth province would be admitted. One of these was that Newfoundland could make and eat margarine — they have been doing that all along anyway. But Newfoundland could not export a single pound to the rest of Canada, nor could any other Canadian manufacture or eat margarine."

From the back of the room came the one question that St. Laurent did not want to hear:

"How can you justify the selling of margarine in one province and not in another?" asked a correspondent. "How can you legislate for one section of Canada and against another?"

St. Laurent flared angrily at the reporter's question. He swung about on his chair, his face slightly flushed. "I am not legislating against Canadians eating margarine. The people can have margarine any time they want it."

"How?" pursued the reporter.

"By voting for it", said St. Laurent, biting off the words quickly and turning back to resume his talk on Newfoundland.

Dingman describes the answer as "typical of the perverted logic and chicanery that has been practised on Canadians by their politicians on the subject of margarine", but that new plank in the Progressive-Conservative platform takes the perversion out of the logic, perhaps much sooner than Mr. St. Laurent expected. At the time that statement was made there was no means of doing as Mr. St. Laurent advised, "voting for it"; today his advice can be taken. The new plank provides the machinery.

"ALONG THE FAIRWAYS"

Lachute Golf Club
Special Commentary

The change to Standard Time and the advent of the shorter days have pretty well eliminated post-work evening golf. However, the season, which officially ended last Sunday afternoon with the closing tournament, should be unofficially prolonged by the fine weather.

Members are casting appraising eyes over the new portion of the course, and the decision is unanimous that Major Howard Watson is to be congratulated and heartily thanked for a job well done. More and more, the point is made with visitors and friends from far and near: "By the way, have you ever seen our golf course?"

Time to look back and take stock. . . We feel that a highly successful season has been completed, and still better ones are in view. All the planning and effort that go into the making of a golf club season, culminated in the biggest and best Open Tournament held to date. New champions were crowned in all classes, we almost won the inter-club competition with Islesmere; and there was a record turnout for the closing. All in all, a banner year. And those of us who play from the first leaf to the last, will be seeing you yet a while along the fairways.

Last Sunday, just on the cool side, was nonetheless a near-perfect day for the wind-up. We gather that the ladies generally saved their partners from running up some terrific scores. Heard of one couple who took 17 on number four — and at that they claimed they were "hedging" a bit. To counter that, the winning pair were just short of a 3 on number seven. Still another two, with an 8 on number three, were very proud of the fact that they managed to steer clear of one of the four sandtraps in that vicinity. It was a lot of fun.

There was a large crowd on hand for Arthur's turkey supper in the evening, and a very capable and personable young man was called up from the ranks to pinch-hit for executives abroad, in the presentation of the prizes. After the prizes were awarded the acting chairman, Ian Gordon, called upon Major Watson, Roger Gravel (captain) and Jack Archer for a few remarks.

Noted French Orchestra, Celebrated Conductor, to Appear in Montreal

Charles Muench, who has been nominated this year as successor to Serge Koussevitsky to become permanent conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, has been chosen by the French Government to direct L'Orchestre Nationale de France on its first tour of North America, which will include an appearance in Montreal. The orchestra, France's most celebrated body of instrumentalists, will be heard at Notre Dame Church on Thursday evening, October 21, as a presentation of the Montreal Festivals.

The honor of representing his country in the highest musical sense falls to a musician who, it is claimed, has done as much as any of his fellow citizens to make known French culture beyond the borders of the country. Mr. Muench first visited this continent last year, and was immediately recognized as one of the outstanding masters of the orchestra at present before the public. For the better part of two seasons he has been one of the most sought after conductors in the United States.

Hull Leads Play-Off Series 2 Games to 0

After holding Hull to 2-0 until the fifth inning, Brownsburg baseballers met their worst defeat of the season by the score of 11-5 last Sunday in Hull.

Brownsburg boys out-hit their opponents and were credited with 5 earned runs, against Hull's 3. The Burg left 9 men on base and Hull 5, but Maurie Thompson was hit out of the box in the fifth after allowing 4 runs and leaving the bases loaded. Maurice Vallee, who relieved Thompson, pitched a very good game and won the admiration of the crowd for holding the game as close as it was.

The errors of third baseman King and shortstop Maude proved very costly, causing 4 more runs to come in.

Russ Summers was again the star of the game, hitting 2 doubles to the fence and playing a good game at second base.

Brownsburg supporters still feel confident they have a better team than Hull, and the fans will not be too surprised to see it go to five games yet!

Argenteuil Men Build Weather Stations In the Arctic, Near Magnetic North Pole

PREFABRICATED AT LOCAL PLANT

A group of Argenteuil County men returned to Lachute recently from the Canadian Arctic after having erected some of the northernmost weather stations in the world. Under the leadership of George Jacobsen, president of the Tower Company Ltd., Lachute, the party included John Simon, of this town, Robert Dorman, of St. Andrews East, and Joseph Roy, of Carillon.

The weather stations, which were designed by George Jacobsen to meet the special requirements of Arctic conditions, are so light that they can be flown to their location by regular service aircraft. They consist of plywood, spun glass and aluminum. In spite of their light weight they are very warm, an inside temperature of 70 degrees being guaranteed even if outside temperatures drop to 50 below. They also have to be strong, as gales in the Arctic may reach up to 100 miles per hour.

Ample laboratory space, engine rooms and living quarters are provided at each station. The living quarters have to be especially comfortable as the long winter darkness in the North confines the station personnel to indoor living.

George Jacobsen, who designed the prefabricated weather stations.

The buildings were constructed in panels at the Lachute plant of the Tower Company under the managership of John Belanger and the foremanship of Remi Roquebrune. The design was so successful that it was adopted as standard by the Canadian and United States governments.

The erection party left Lachute on the first of August and was flown up north by the Royal Canadian Air Force. Owing to poor weather the flight to the North took several days, during which contact was made with Eskimos and Hudson Bay post men. The last lap of the flight carried the men farther north than any Hudson Bay post and many miles farther north than the magnetic North Pole. While preparing the ground for one station John Simon found a huge skeleton of a blue whale, a species extinct for a long time past. On another spot, thousand-year-old Eskimo campsites were found which had not been seen before by any white man.

A color movie of this trip was taken by George Jacobsen and it is hoped that the film will be shown in Lachute this winter.

John Simon, Lachute, and Steve Zelenak, Montreal, with vertebrae of extinct blue whale. The skeleton was found by John Simon while preparing the building site.

Robert Dorman, St. Andrews East, and Joseph Roy, Carillon, with a group of Repulse Bay Eskimos.

Red Cross Unit Held Meeting

At the Lachute Red Cross meeting, held October 6 in the United Church hall, an inventory of the "loan-cupboard" supplies included a recent donation from Miss M. Lamb, St. Andrews East, for which the branch expressed grateful acknowledgment. A revised list of articles will be published shortly, enumerating the sick-room needs available for loan, free of charge, through this service. (Parents and householders are asked to take note of this list.)

The Red Cross received a donation of $34 from a group of children at Camp Ste. Malvina (Bourbonnière) raised by means of a regatta.

A letter of farewell was read from D. J. Corrigall, who is retiring after many years of devoted service to the Red Cross.

The local group will continue to send parcels to veterans in military hospitals during the coming winter. In this connection several new names were received.

Details concerning the blood donor clinic were discussed, and it was decided to pay expenses of the clinic from the local fund.

Lachute is rated one of the most active Red Cross branches in the province.

Higher Population And Property Roll

If there is any doubt in the minds of Lachute residents that this town is growing substantially, there are figures in the official records which give concrete evidence. The valuation roll homologated at last session of Town Council shows the present valuation figure as $3,973,050. The total property valuation this time last year was $3,531,915. Increase in the 12-month period is therefore $441.135.

A similar story is revealed in the population figures, which show — 5,618 for 1947; 5,818 for 1948— or an increase of 200 residents.

Red Cross Blood Clinic Meets With Gratifying Response, 141 Donors

NUMEROUS WORKERS AND VARIOUS ORGANIZATIONS PLAY PART IN COMMUNITY "COMBINED OPERATION"

Lachute's first post-war blood clinic, held yesterday at the Auditorium, was an example of community co-operation reminiscent of the war years. Sponsored by the Red Cross — promoted by the Lions Club — assisted by the Chamber of Commerce — with townsfolk, both professional and non-professional, collaborating — it was an effort requiring considerable time and organization. The donor list, in which the local industries also played a substantial part, reached the total of 141 — making the venture well worthwhile. Altogether it was a heartening example in which the district, and the two neighboring centres of Brownsburg and St. Andrews, rallied to achieve a fine result. In Brownsburg the Rotary Club was active in rounding up the volunteer donors.

The local Red Cross catered for supper served to the many workers taking part, and also served light refreshments to the donors.

In connection with the donor list, it is notable that 100 out of the 141 were new volunteers. There was no preliminary physical examination, due largely to the extremely emergent demand for blood; but it is emphasized that at future clinics the donors will first be given medical assurance of their fitness.

In view of the emergency nature of this effort, teams from four Montreal hospitals were on hand— together with the Red Cross mobile clinic — doctors and technicians, with the required equipment —and the blood donors were handled systematically at 18 beds. This "combined operation" was supervised by Dr. Wylie of the Royal Victoria Hospital; Mrs. Denis was in charge of the mobile clinic; and Mrs. R. B. Shaw and Mr. Louis M. Poitras were present with personnel from Red Cross headquarters in Montreal.

The Lachute workers were also under supervision of their appointed conveners — Mrs. G. H. Héon having charge of the local nurses; Mrs. F. C. Morrison convening for the kitchen, and Mrs. Geo. McGibbon for the supper provided for the workers.

Dr. Wylie, in the course of the undertaking, expressed sincere gratitude to the volunteers who had given their blood. The acute shortage of supplies in the hospital labs had made this effort necessary, and the outcome could be counted in terms of many life-saving blood transfusions.

In conclusion the local Red Cross take the opportunity, through this report, to extend sincere thanks to those who assisted — the men's service groups, the medical workers, and all who lent a hand. Special mention is accorded to Mrs. H. Rigg, who performed valuable service in enrolling the donors, and to Mrs. T. Bishop, who was chairman of the enterprise.

Hunting Fatality At Morin Heights

Inquiry into the death of Jean Guy Guenette, who lost his life in a hunting mishap Tuesday at Morin Heights, was conducted yesterday by the district coroner, Dr. Jules Lafleur, of Lachute.

It was learned by the coroner that the youth, aged 15, was found dead in the bush about two arpents from his home, just north of Morin Heights. The discovery was made by a search party around 5 p.m., but the lad had met his death about 1 o'clock that afternoon — apparently he had tripped on a stone as he approached his home, and the 16-gauge shotgun which he was carrying discharged its load into his abdomen, piercing the bowel. Dr. J. Champagne, summoned from St. Sauveur, pronounced the victim dead.

Jean Guy Guenette was an elder son in a family of eight children.

Kiwanis Hosts to Boys and Girls

Today the Kiwanis Club of Montreal will be hosts to a foursome of boys and girls from this county; the party includes — Francis McOuat, Audrey McOuat, Robert McOuat, J. Raymond. The visit to Montreal will include an inspection of one of the large bread companies, and a luncheon at the Mount Royal Hotel, when Francis McOuat will be presented with the Kiwanis Shield.

These four young farmers' sons and daughters were the high-scoring members at the 1948 Lachute Spring Fair. On their visit they will be in charge of the county agronomist, Mayor Alex Bothwell.

Had Narrow Escape in High Wind at Cushing

(Our District Correspondent)

Cushing W. — Mr. Hugh Danford, visiting here from the city last week-end, had a narrow escape in the hurricane which visited this locality Saturday night. Shortly before midnight, while driving down the front road accompanied by Mr. J. S. Robert, a large tree in D. Leclair's yard was broken off by the wind, and fell a second after they had passed the spot, just grazing the rear of the car.

Pioneer Stock - 91st Birthday at Monalea

(Our District Correspondent)

Cushing W. — Mrs. Annie Funchion celebrated her 91st birthday on Wednesday at the home of her son, W. H. Robert, on Monalea Road.

Born October 13, 1857, in Cushing, she was the second daughter of Edward Whelehan and his wife Mary Dunn. She was married in August, 1887, to the late William Robert, who was also of pioneer stock — his grandfather, Pierre Robert, having been the first settler of French descent in this county, and who with his wife Anne McGowan (newly arrived from Ireland) settled at the beginning of the last century on the farm still occupied by Mrs. Funchion and her son, W. H. Robert. The latter, with his brother, J. S. Robert, of Stonefield, and his sisters, Miss Tessie Robert of Monalea, and Mrs. E. J. Mahoney, of Toronto, are now of the fourth generation of the Robert family. . .

Also participating in the birthday celebration were members of the fifth and sixth generations of the family — W. P. Mahoney, of Montreal (late of the R.C.A.F.) and his son Jamie Mahoney.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney, Sr., of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Robert and daughters, of Stonefield, and Mr. and Miss Whelehan, of Cushing. A number of friends also called to offer their congratulations, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. L. Taylor, of Centerville, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Allison, of Vankleek Hill.

Mayor Bereaved

Mayor Alex Bothwell was in Newport last week-end attending the funeral of his mother, who passed away suddenly at the advanced age of 84 years.

Midnight Noise in Brownsburg Too! Council Considers Problems Varying From Waterworks to Milk Deliveries

"IN BROWNSBURG" — Specially Contributed

When Music Becomes Noise

Strong exception was taken to music orchestration being played after midnight into the small hours, especially on week-ends — during a discussion at the meeting of the Brownsburg Corporation. Dance bands blaring forth while nearby slumberers tossed and rolled but couldn't sleep — were among the agonies painted in the word pictures describing this situation. The council decided the nuisance had to stop, and instructed the Chief of Police to give the matter attention.

Prayers or Pool

An application for license to operate a pool table came before the council. As the premises sought to be used as a hall were in close proximity to the church, the application was deferred until the question of distance of a pool room from a place of worship could be investigated.

Autonomy

A reply from the Department of Municipal Affairs to an application from a number of taxpayers seeking incorporation into the Village of Brownsburg, stated that the matter was one which must be presented by the petitioners themselves to the Lieut.-Governor for decision.

Waterworks

The new extension to the Brownsburg waterworks goes on apace. A further interim amount was sanctioned for payment, and judging by the progress already made, it is expected the work will be completed within a week, and well within the contracted time provision. The question of backfill containing too much rock, was discussed at some length, but was satisfactorily explained by the contractor, who was present at the council meeting.

From Water to Milk

The local branch of the Women's Institute objected to the council interfering with early milk delivery. At a recent meeting a directive was sent out to milk suppliers asking them to conform to an ordinance prohibiting the delivery of milk before 7 a.m. Councillor N. Somers spoke at some length on the council's position in the matter. He asked to suggest to the W.I. that the laws of the province be observed. The Mayor was of the opinion that whatever districts wanted early delivery should be allowed to receive it, but eventually it was decided to let the law stand rather than breach it in part.

Water Taxes

A lengthy and involved discussion took place on the question of water tax chargeable to C-I-L. Mr. H. Sherwood, the plant manager, covered the company's position with relation to its obligation and contract with the Gatineau Company. During the discussion it was revealed that, under certain set circumstances, it was possible that assisting the village water supply in the event of a break in the system, would entail an expense of $300 for perhaps a few minutes. This caused the Mayor to remark that the council would have to consider seriously the matter of providing a stand-by source of water supply. The possibility of such a break-down arises from the fact that the line from the intake to the reservoir is faulty, and has been under repair several times already during its short lifetime. Eventually this section will have to be completely overhauled.

Crash !

A Ford car with seven occupants failed to make the turn at the Maple Avenue bridge on Saturday evening, and hurtled down the embankment into the water several feet below. Beyond a bad shaking, none of the occupants was hurt. The car was wrecked.

SHOW FIRE EQUIPMENT

Lawerncetown, N.S. (CP) — Forest firefigrting equipment exhibited by the department of lands and forests, attracted considerable attention here recently. The display included a backdrop showing the contrast between a well-managed wood-lot and a clean-cut lot.

Power Interruptions Last Week-End

In a severe windstorm which swept these parts Saturday evening, a large tree was blown down, breaking two 26,000-volt circuits serving this district with electric power, and also snapping telephone lines. The mishap occurred in the Hawkesbury division of Gatineau Power system, but on this side of the Ottawa River some distance from Grenville. The disrupted phone service caused delay in re-establishing the power circuit.

On Sunday the power was turned off in Lachute district for replacement of a transformer — part of a project to provide improved service, through changes at the Grace Street substation.

Represented on Teachers' Executive

Elected president of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, in convention last week at the Montreal High School — Miss Ruth M. Lowe is a native of this community. With a creditable record in the teaching profession, she is now assistant supervisor of English for the Quebec Department of Education. She is favorably known in this district through her visits in a professional capacity.

A further honor to the educational ranks of this town and county, was the election of Principal F. H. J. Besides his role as local principal, Mr. Royal is educational supervisor for the Argenteuil and Two Mountains Central School district.

Late L. L. Legault Was Noted Lawyer, An Ardent Liberal

TRIBUTE PAID BY LARGE GATHERING AT FUNERAL RITES THIS MORNING

A dean in the ranks of the legal profession, L. L. Legault, advocate of Lachute, died suddenly of a heart seizure last Sunday. Mr. Legault was stricken in an automobile just outside Lachute, having just left with Mrs. Legault to meet their daughter in New York on her return from a sojourn in France. He was in his 72nd year.

Louis Lorenzo Legault, LL.B., K.C., practiced law in this town for 41 years, and was one of the best known citizens in Argenteuil. Born at St. Hermas, nearby, he received his early education in that village, at East Settlement and at the old Lachute Academy. He studied the classics at Rigaud, and law at l'Ecole Normale in Montreal, then taking his degree from McGill. He attained a high standing in his chosen profession; appointed K.C. in 1919, he served as crown attorney for 24 years and held office in the Montreal Bar Association.

He also took an active part in community affairs. He was for 16 years the chairman of Lachute Catholic School Board, mayor of Lachute from 1924 to 1926, as well as serving in his professional capacity as attorney for numerous district municipalities. He took an active role in patriotic organizations and wartime campaigns, was a member of the local Curling Club and Golf Club, also of the Reform Club and the Seigniory Club. Mr. Legault was similarly well known through his political activities; a staunch Liberal, he had been a contender in several federal elections for this riding.

Surviving are his wife, the former Georgette Paiement, of Montreal; three sons and one daughter—Dr. Jean-Paul Legault, of Montreal, Guy Legault, advocate, of Montreal, Fernand Legault, advocate, of Lachute, and Mme Pierre Cangardel (Gisèle), of Montreal. There remain also a brother and two sisters, Jean and Marie Louise, of St. Hermas, and Albertine, of Pembroke, Ont.

The funeral rites, held this morning (Taursday) at St. Julien Church, were attended by as numerous a gathering as this community has witnessed for several years, both the French and the English-speaking populace being widely represented. The remains were laid in the local Catholic cemetery. Honorary pall-bearers were Judge D. Lalande, Judge H. Barette, Judge L. Lacombe, Gaetan Valois, N.P., Mr. A. G. Munich, Sr. (Warden of the County of Argenteuil), Mr. Omer Legault, (Mayor of Brownsburg), Messrs. W. S. MacKimmie and P. Chabot.

Officiating at the funeral rites were Canon Drouin, cousin of the deceased; the Rev. Wm. Lacourse; and the Rev. Jean-Paul Laurin, nephew of the deceased.

Ex-Mayor Attends Lumber Conference

Léopold Carrière, ex-mayor of Lachute and president of Lachute Lumber & Manufacturing Co. Ltd., who will leave by plane for Vancouver on October 23 to attend the National Retail Lumbermen's Council. As vice-president of the Province of Quebec Lumber Dealers and Manufacturers Association, Mr. Carrière was delegated to represent this association at the national sessions, to be held the last week in October. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Carrière on the trip.

Celebrate Their 50th Anniversary

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. A. Assad, a well known business couple on Main Street, who celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding on Tuesday, October 12. Mr. and Mrs. Assad were visited by a number of Montreal friends last Sunday, and received good wishes on their anniversary observance.

WOMAN WITH PAST RECORD IS CLAIMED ASSOCIATED HERE

According to a Reuters despatch from London, one Barbara Elizabeth Parrents, described as a "33-year-old mink breeder, of Pine Hill, near Lachute, Que.", was convicted recently on a charge of incurring by fraud a credit of £116 ($464) at London's luxury Mayfair Hotel.

She was remanded to October 25 on another charge of obtaining £4 5s. ($17) from a Desmond Coyle, at London's Cocoanut Grove Club.

Police told the court that Mrs. Parrents, known in pre-war years as a racing driver, had been married three times, on two occasions bigamously.

Police said the last of three previous convictions in her "rather amazing career" was in January when a New York court sentenced her to six months in jail for obtaining food and lodging by false pretences. She was deported from the United States and landed at Plymouth, England, July 23.

In June, 1947, she was charged with larceny at Hampstead, N.B., she was allowed bail but did not return, and a warrant exists for her. She also is wanted for cheque frauds in Windsor, Ont., police said.

"She appears to live on her wits. She has owed bills at several hotels and . . . some of her luggage is in a club in the west end where she also owes a bill", police added.

The general manager of the Mayfair Hotel, where Mrs. Parrents was alleged by the prosecution to have lived "luxuriously" from August 25, said she told him she would pay her bill September 3. She left the hotel and had not been seen again.

Mrs. Parrents told the court she intended to pay the money on returning from a visit to a friend in Portsmouth who was in a position to supply it. She added that she collapsed on reaching Portsmouth, where she was arrested, and was ill for some days. "From first to last I had no intention of defrauding the Mayfair," Mrs. Parrents said. "If I am given two weeks I can easily pay the amount." . . . She said she has cabled home for money.

EDITING A WEEKLY

Editing a weekly is offering a public service. It is a job and a pleasure. It is both interesting and tedious. It is much the same as the man who banged his head against the wall because he felt so good when he stopped.

Gatineau LINES

We would like it very much if we could tell our customers these days that the power situation is improving — but we can't. We would like to be able to tell you that there is plenty of electricity available — but there isn't. The shortage of water which is hitting power producers all over Quebec and Ontario is affecting Gatineau Power too, and there are tough times ahead as far as supplies of electricity are concerned.

As you know, already practically all Ontario municipalities are operating under a form of power rationing. So far, we have been able to avoid that situation in the territory served by Gatineau Power, but there is no assurance that we can continue to do so. Our water reserves are getting just as low as those of everybody else.

The plain facts of the matter are that the situation now is much worse than it was a month ago — or even a week ago. The little bit of rain that has fallen in some parts of the Gatineau area has not been sufficient to keep already-low rivers from falling still lower. As it is the water behind our reservoirs which turns the generators to make electricity, a dwindling supply of water simply has to mean a dwindling supply of electricity.

Only an unusually heavy amount of rainfall over the next few weeks can help the situation, and even that wouldn't bring immediate relief because it takes quite a long time for rainfall to drain off the land into the streams, rivers and lakes of the Gatineau territory. It is quite possible that electricity will be extremely scarce right through until next spring.

All this can mean only one thing. Now, more than ever before, it is important that every user of electricity should do everything in his power to cut down on consumption so that reserves can be maintained for the dark days ahead. Every person who wastes electric power today is adding to the prospect that there will be less and less electric power in the near future.

ENGLISH JOURNEY

ARTICLE NO. 11

Everyone who goes to England is anxious to see some of the bomb damage. Time and workmen are fast healing the scars so that in some cities, when open spaces are seen, one often does not know whether they are the result of bombing, fires, or just spaces that have never been built on.

In the smaller places and open country the casual observer today would see little or no signs of the late war. After a while, certain depressions in the fields can be recognized as craters caused by bombs and any resident of a community will readily show where any incidents occurred.

Most of the larger cities still have many signs of bomb damage, although it has been cleared up in some cities more than in others.

There is a vast area of workers' homes which can be seen from the trains going from Waterloo station that in 1942 looked pretty awful, with apparently little left but the walls. Today those same houses are all repaired and inhabited, and from the train look the same as any other district of workers' homes. There are many other sections that have been repaired in the same way.

In London, one of the first places that the visitor goes to see is the area around St. Paul's Cathedral, and it has changed very little since I was there in 1942. The miracle of St. Paul's left almost unscathed, while everything around was demolished, can still be readily appreciated when seen.

There is much bomb damage to be seen in Liverpool, Manchester, and other places, but Bristol still appeared to me to have the most striking examples of bomb damage. There may be other places with just as much devastation, such as Dover, Coventry, Hull, Portsmouth, etc., but Bristol shows more concentrated damage than any other city that I visited on this trip.

If anyone is interested in stories of the war, thousands of them can be collected, for although little is left on the secret list, only a small percentage of the stories have ever been told, in print at any rate.

The chief warden of a large area, almost entirely rural, recounted some of his experiences, and even got out some of his records to give some figures.

It was in his district that one of the most fantastic incidents of the war happened. It has appeared in print before, but is worth telling again. A parachute-laid mine was dropped one night, and the parachute caught on the chimney of a large mansion. A maid in the house was not able to sleep all that night on account of the noise of something scraping on the wall outside her window, but she never got up to see what was causing the noise. The next morning it was discovered that a land mine, 10 feet long, was hanging from its parachute caught on the chimney, and it was this mine swinging back and forth, that had kept her awake.

Almost as fantastic was a similar incident when a land mine fell in a narrow space between two hay stacks, and the parachute held the mine just off the ground.

The wardens and their staffs had a most efficient system by which they were advised of everything that happened in their territory, and were able to get to any spot in a remarkably short space of time. They were also kept advised of progress in other areas.

One night this warden was called to a house that had been bombed. There were two women in the house. An assistant came up to report that it was impossible to get one of the women into the ambulance, so the warden went down to investigate. He found that this woman was suffering from shock and was absolutely rigid in a sitting position, as she had been sitting when the bomb struck. When they pushed her feet down, her head came up, and when they tried to lower her head, her feet came up. The only way that they could get her into the ambulance was by taking out all the shelves.

In another case, a bomb sheared off the side of a house in which two women were staying, and one of the women walked out of the house unharmed.

It was in this area that the largest unexploded bomb fell. It was in a field not far from a town. As was the procedure in such a case, the residents of the neighborhood were evacuated, and the bomb disposal squad started digging for the bomb. They dug down over sixty feet before abondoning the search for the time being. It was later located 84 feet down in the earth.

To give some idea of what England went through during the bombing, it might be mentioned that in this area which covered 84 square miles, mostly rural as mentioned before, there fell 346 high explosives, 9 doodle bugs, 13 parachute mines, and many thousands of incendiary bombs.

The worst experiences that this warden had were when planes crashed, and he told of one flying fortress starting out on a mission that crashed with its load of bombs. The plane and its crew of ten were blown into thousands of small pieces.

There is an interesting story about a little hamlet of a few houses that I visited. Early in the war this hamlet was filled with evacuees from London. Soon after they arrived a number of bombs were dropped in the vicinity, and one bomb demolished a small house at the edge of the hamlet. The evacuees all trouped back to London. They said it was safer there.

One of the most fascinating stories was obtained from a very distant relative who is a survivor of Dunkirk. Like most of those heroes, he was not very anxious to talk about it, but with the help of his wife, we managed to get a few details.

He enlisted at the outbreak of war, and as he had a badly needed trade, he was shipped to France three weeks after he enlisted. When his company started evacuating, his pal was hit in the shoulder, so he carried two rifles on a forced march of 16 miles. By the time they reached the beach, it was more or less every man for himself. He and five others found they had for food only one small tin of sausages. One of them managed to steal a small pig, but they had just got it nicely cooked when a small bomb blew it to pieces.

Hearing that there were boats nine miles away, some of them set off to try and reach them. Snipers were firing at them all the way, and the man in front of him was killed. After three days on the beach, he was finally taken off by a boat, but by that time all he had left was his trousers, boots, a tin hat and his wrist watch, and he hadn't shaved for four days.

On arrival in England, they were sent north on seventy-two hours leave. As he was destitute he applied for pay, and in a tone of disgust he said that he finally got 10 shillings.

It would not be difficult to get material to write war stories for a long time to come.

H. A. Borg's hen was a Matsqui Prairie flood victim which suffered the hardship of sitting on the roof of a building without food for a week; the bird took third prize in the bantam hen class at the Mission Fair recently.

FARMERS - ATTENTION

GROWERS WANTED: A long established Wholesale Fruit Company in Ottawa is anxious to build up a source of supply for fresh Raspberries within a 75-mile radius from Ottawa. Truck shipment.

To encourage a limited planting of new high yielding patches, a well known nursery is sending a special representative of many years experience in commercial reproduction to personally interview and educate interested farmers in raspberry culture. This should result in higher unit yields, longer patch life, less hand labor and when translated into dollars at normal prices a relatively high ratio of profit is assured.

Because of present shortage of good planting material, bookings can only be made for SPRING PLANTING 1949, limited to one acre.

If genuinely interested in berry growing as a sideline to farming, write Box 457, Campbellford, Ontario, on or before October 18th, giving location of your farm. Our specialist will call later and completely analyze the business, soil requirements and preparation, up-to-date cultural practices, cost of planting, estimated yields and profits per acre. Late replies cannot be covered.

Quiz -- New Style

WE SEE where the big chart-and-figure boys at Ottawa are sending a squad into the country to find out how we're spending our money.

They're going to ask some 15,000 families such assorted questions as how much does Dad spend on beer in a year and what does daughter get stuck for lipstick.

The idea is to see whether the cost-of-living index is up-to-date and to let the statisticians know what effect changes in various taxes would have on the Canadian way of life.

We wish the 250 questioners luck — and they're going to need it. In about one home in a thousand they'll run into an accountant or an actuary who will drag out the household accounts and answer every question without a stutter. For the rest — chaos; and no small measure of suspicion.

"Mr. Pacaday", says the interviewer lucky enough to get in the house and find the whole family at home, "what did you spend on smokes last year?"

"Well, err, ah . . well, I smoke half a pack a day. But that varies, of course, and sometimes I roll my own. Usually have a cigar on Sunday but not always and smoke a pipe occasionally. You figure it out."

With his wife in the room the victim is likely to be even less explicit about his beer intake. While the family's eyebrows rise, he'll probably put it at something like a tenth of the actual figure and thank goodness he isn't under oath.

But the interviewer will run into real confusion when he asks the female members of the family how much they spend on Christmas presents. "Well, that's easy," says the housewife. "We always work it out to the cent. Let me see now, I spent $3 on Aunt Lucy's slip. But my daughters went halvers on that so it's really only $1.50. But Aunt Lucy sent us a cake dish that's worth $5 if it's worth a cent. So we really saved $2 on that — or is it $3.50?" . . . And so on, far into the night.

As we said, we wish them luck!

Do You Remember ?

NINE YEARS ago last month, on September 10, 1939, Canada officially declared war on Germany and authorized the immediate formation of two divisions as the Canadian Active Service Force.

Before the war had ended this small beginning had been enlarged to such an extent that Canada had five Divisions plus two independent Armoured Brigades and numerous other formations and headquarters in the field.

The first Canadian troops numbering 7,500 — vanguard of an overseas army totalling 375,000 — arrived in the United Kingdom on December 17, 1939, just three months after the outbreak of war.

Only 73 Canadian soldiers lost their lives at sea while en route to Britain. All of these men were lost in the sinking of one small vessel, the S.S. Nerissa, which was hit by three torpedoes and sank in four minutes, some 120 miles off Northern Ireland on the night of April 30, 1941.

Canadian troops in World War II fought in more countries than ever before, and engaged the enemy in Sicily, Italy, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, North Africa and Hong Kong.

Concrete proof that the Canadian serviceman was a popular ally, is the fact that more than 47,000 found wives in almost every corner of the world while serving overseas.

Canadian casualties in the war totalled 104,196 for the three services, and included 32,046 officers and men killed in action.

Dangerous Heresy

MR. LUDGER DIONNE, a Liberal Member of Parliament from Quebec, would have created a sensation in the House of Commons on the last day of the 1948 Session, if there had been enough members in the House who could follow a French speech, or more than a handful of members at all. What he said months ago is still good.

Mr. Dionne was criticizing the proceedings of the Prices Committee. In particular, he wanted to know why, when the Committee had some labor leaders before it, it had not undertaken to ask them some serious questions about the cause of high prices. He said, for example, that they might have been asked about the case of bricklayers, who, he said, now lay 350 bricks a day, for which they receive $1.20 to $1.50 per hour, when a few years ago they laid between 1,000 and 1,200 bricks a day for 60 cents per hour. Mr. Dionne seemed to think that this might have something to do with the cost of building.

If this sort of thing continues Parliament is going to be an unpleasant sort of place. If a parliamentary committee is expected to ask questions which might annoy organized labor the situation will become disagreeable indeed. Mr. Dionne should have known better. If he goes on asking questions of this type, voters in Canada might be encouraged to think.

— The Printed Word

CIRCULATING among Canadian trade associations is a resolution calling upon the Dominion Government to have all national holidays celebrated on a Monday. The present hit-or-miss system when Empire Day or Dominion Day may come in the middle of the week has really nothing to commend it — remarks The Campbellton (N.B.) Tribune.

DECENT people will deplore the smearing to which men in public life are too often exposed. A man's policies are the proper subject of debate and comment. But there is much truth in the claim that the personal-smear campaigns suffered by men in public life keep many useful citizens out of it.

Visitor Remarks on High Auto Taxes and Bad Roads in Quebec

TO THE EDITOR

Brownsburg, Que.

Editor, The Watchman.

Your paper has proved very interesting to me during my stay here. I have enjoyed the hospitality of the people of this district, and I take this opportunity to thank all for their kindness.

Having had the privilege of living in both Ontario and Quebec, I cannot help but wonder at the poor roads and lack of tourist rest places in Quebec, as compared with Ontario. This seeming neglect of the first requisite for encouraging tourists, namely good roads, seems very strange. When one travels over roads like Route 31, smothered in dust and rocked about on washboard, it almost seems as though Quebec did not want tourists and the wealth they bring to any community. I can have nothing but praise for the inhabitants of both provinces, but all the good will in the world cannot make up for the antiquated roads.

I was astonished to learn that, while Quebec has less than half as many autos as Ontario, the Quebec owners pay as much money as is collected from autoists in Ontario. One wonders what is done with the money; certainly only a small portion is used on the roads. I learned that a Quebec auto requiring a license fee of $26.50 is licensed for $12 in Ontario, while a Quebec auto driver pays $2.50 license and the Ontario driver $1. Then there is the sales tax in Quebec, and none in Ontario.

By all reasonable standards Quebec people should have far better roads than Ontario.

I learned also that auto insurance in Quebec is 45% more than in Ontario. It is no wonder that many Quebecers residing up the Gatineau and on the east side of the Ottawa only rent their cars from people in Ontario, where license fees, sales tax and insurance are so much less. This seems only fair, for these cars are used mostly in Ontario because of its excellent roads and accommodations.

Please excuse my reference to this drawback, but it is so marked that a stranger cannot help but notice it. If my reference will do anything to help, I consider the effort well spent and a slight expression for all the many kindnesses shown me during my stay.

OBITUARY

Late Howard Nicoll Was Prominent Teacher, Leader In Juvenile Athletics

Numerous fellow teachers, school commissioners and friends from Westmount attended the funeral of the late Howard Nicoll, former teacher at Westmount Senior High School, who was laid to rest at Lachute Cemetery last Thursday. Service was held in the Lachute United Church, conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. Many sympathizing friends, relatives and neighbors here gathered to pay their last tribute, and members of the Argenteuil Legion No. 70 attended in a body.

The late Howard Nicoll, 52 years of age, died here suddenly on October 5. Ill health had forced his retirement last November from his teaching duties at Westmount, where he had served for 25 years.

The son of the late Paul Nicoll and Elizabeth McFarlane, he was born and educated here, later taking his B.A. degree from McGill. He served in France during the First World War, and was a member of Legion 75 in Montreal.

For 15 years Mr. Nicoll was president of the Boys' Athletic Association, and an active promoter of juvenile sports at Westmount High School.

The late Mr. Nicoll is survived by his wife, the former Jessie Millar, one son Kenneth, and one daughter Mildred, living in Lachute; also five sisters and five brothers — Mrs. Thos. Davis, Montreal; Mrs. Raymond Millar, Winnipeg; Miss Annie Nicoll, Newark, N.J.; Mrs. Roy Morrison, Lachute; Mrs. Helen Peterson, Anderson and William Nicoll, of Newark, N.J.; Thomas Nicoll, Port Arthur; Andrew and Albert Nicoll, Lachute.

Pall-bearers at the funeral were Messrs. John Anderson, Kenneth Mactavish, Douglas Lawley, Wm. Boa, Douglas McGibbon and Geo. Calder. Honorary pall-bearers were Messrs. Douglas McOuat and Ross Muir.

Lifelong Resident Is Mourned at Centerville

The Late John Matthews

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, the former Flora Rogers, one son, Percy, of Powell River, B.C., a daughter, Dorothy, at home, and a granddaughter, Jean, of Powell River. Two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Mash and Mrs. Emma Coghill, of Montreal, and one brother, George, of Fort Bragg, Calif., also remain.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough at Lachute United Church. Pall-bearers were Messrs. James Hammond, Melvin Burk, Daniel DeHertel, Adam Meyer, John Meyer and Albert Oswald.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

CHILDREN SHOULD BE SEEN—NOT HURT

With stormy weather ahead it is more important than ever to drive carefully! Wet and icy pavements make it harder to stop your car, for example, when youngsters come darting out onto the road. Now is the time to see that your brakes, tires, steering, lights, horn and windshield cleaners are in good condition. A few seconds of carelessness might cost some child a lifetime of happiness. Drive carefully, observe speed limits, and prove your "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

PROCEEDS TO BE USED FOR THE BUILDING OF A LEGION HALL

The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada
ESTABLISHED 1869
HOME OFFICE
WATERLOO, ONT.

October 1, 1948.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

To our Policyholders:

On September 28, the volume of insurance in force in our Company passed the billion dollar mark. This outstanding achievement is highly significant in that 98% of this insurance is on the lives of people in Canada and Newfoundland - for this is a Canadian company operated for Canadians.

It is a notable milestone in the progress of our Company - a long stride forward since those days over 78 years ago, when the founders had to sell five hundred policies before they could secure Government permission to operate a mutual life insurance company.

But, it means more than this.

It is proof of the public's ever-growing consciousness of the advantages of mutual life insurance.

It is proof that Mutual Life of Canada policies fit the needs of Canadians in all walks of life.

It is proof of intelligent and sympathetic service by the Company's representatives.

It is proof that this Company has won a leading place in the confidence of the Canadian public.

"The policyholders are to be congratulated on this achievement which has been due largely to the confidence they have shown in the Company by recommending it to their friends and by keeping their own insurance in force through the years.

President.

Young Wife and Mother Mourned by Community Friends

Late Mrs. William Brass

The community was shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Mrs. William Brass, at the untimely age of 35, whose death occurred at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, on October 7th. Coming to Canada 10 years ago from Scotland, she and her husband have since resided on a farm at Hill Foot.

Memories of her talented personality and cheerful nature will long be cherished by those who knew her intimately. She was a highly respected resident and although having lived in this district for only six years, she had made a wide circle of friends. Many beautiful floral tributes, besides the numerous friends who gathered to pay their last respects at her funeral, bore testimony of the esteem in which she was held.

She was a member of Lachute United Church and Upper Lachute Women's Institute.

The late Mrs. Brass will be greatly missed by her husband and children — Margaret, Bobbie and Jimmie. She is mourned also by her parents, living in Scotland, as well as her only brother, James. To all of these within the family circle, the sympathy of the entire community is extended in their bereavement.

The funeral was held Sunday from her late residence, the service being conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. Pall-bearers were Messrs. Douglas Smith, Edwin Robertson, Ross Moore, Watson Berry, Irving Cleland and Leonard Scott. Interment was made in Lachute Cemetery.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Christian Sound Film, Saturday Night Rally

The Rev. P. J. Clifford, youth leader and director of Christian Service Centres Incorp., will show the great Christian sound film, "Mother and Home", in beautiful natural color, of 50 minutes' duration, at the Baptist Saturday Night Rally this week.

An all-Christian cast presents a gripping portrayal of scriptural truth — so real that it could be your home — experiences so common that they could happen to you and your family. The thrilling climax of this film comes when Mary finds forgiveness and peace. Beautiful scenes of the Northwest increase the appeal of this unusual picture.

A hymn-sing and Bible quiz will be other features of this Rally, under the auspices of Lachute Baptist Church. Parents are urged to attend and to bring the entire family.

Anniversary Services For Brownsburg United

Brownsburg—Both morning and evening on Sunday, October 17, anniversary services will be held at Brownsburg United Church. The Rev. L. O. Bunt, of Gatineau Mills in the Ottawa Presbytery, will be the preacher in the morning. The male quartet will augment the regular choir. At the evening service, a varied program will be rendered including musical talent from Montreal, by courtesy of Mr. A. W. Hamilton. The Rev. R. G. Burgoyne, of Montreal, will be guest speaker. Organizations of the church will present a statement of their sphere and relationship to the church.

A youth gathering on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, sponsored by the higher classes of the Sunday School, will inaugurate a study group hour, when the Rev. A. G. Moore, of Cushing, will give a talk on the intermediate class textbook, followed by a discussion and social hour.

OBITUARY

Grenville Lady Mourned, Church and Lodge Worker

Late Mrs. L. S. Campbell

Mrs. L. S. Campbell, the former Sadie Gray Young, of Grenville, passed away at Dr. Smith's Hospital, Hawkesbury, on Saturday, October 2, after a distressing illness.

Mrs. Campbell was born in Scotland and came to Montreal 35 years ago. She associated herself with the life and work of Chalmers United Church, Verdun. In 1932 she was married by the Rev. Harvey Campbell, now of the Westmount Park - Emmanuel Church.

But it is in Grenville that she was best known. There it can be truly said that "she went about doing good". Her genial disposition, her friendly smile, her Scottish wit, brought happiness to all who knew her.

She was an active worker of the United Church, a member of the Ladies' Association for nine years, and president for the past three years. But while one church rejoiced in her membership, every church and all communal endeavor knew her help and shared her spirit.

For 13 years she was also a member of the L.O.B.A., Grenville Lodge 210, and received the honor of being elected Worthy Mistress, which office she held at the time of her death.

The funeral service was held in the United Church at Grenville. The number of friends and mourners, the long funeral procession and the profusion of flowers, gave some token of the respect in which Mrs. Campbell was held. Members of the Orange Orders were in attendance. Pall-bearers were Messrs. R. J. McIntyre, Victor McVicar, Russell Owens, Hubert McIntyre, Lachlan Smith and Irvine Prophet.

The pastor, the Rev. A. G. Moore, conducted the service. With him in the pulpit was the Rev. A. E. Hawes, of St. Matthew's, Grenville. Mr. Moore read the tribute to a virtuous woman found in Proverbs 31, and took as a fitting text, "Let her own works praise her in the gates". Sincere sympathy to the family, Mr. Campbell and Gordon, was extended from the pulpit.

Late Miss E. Patterson Spent Many Years in Teaching Profession

The funeral of the late Elizabeth P. F. Patterson, which took place last Friday afternoon in Lachute United Church, was conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, assisted by the Rev. John R. Armstrong of the Snowdon Baptist Church.

Miss Patterson, who was the last surviving member of the 13 children of the late Richard and Hannah Patterson, was born in the East End 75 years ago. After receiving her teacher's diploma, she taught for several years in Argenteuil County, later teaching in Maisonneuve, Ahuntsic and at Shawbridge Boys' Farm. On her retirement in 1933, she made her home with her niece, Miss Hannah E. Smith, in Montreal, where she passed away on Wednesday last, after a long illness.

One brother-in-law, Mr. S. E. Smith, of Lachute, and one sister-in-law, Mrs. R. M. Patterson, of Wilson, N.Y., as well as a large number of nieces and nephews, are left to mourn her passing.

Many floral tributes bore silent testimony to the high esteem in which she was held by her many friends and relatives.

Among those from a distance attending the funeral were—Mrs. Margaret Munro, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Walker, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Parker, of Smiths Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. B. Smith, Mrs. L. Mayer and Mr. James E. Smith, of Flint, Mich.; Mrs. David Lochhead, Mr. and Mrs. R . E. Parker, Mrs. Barbara Page, Mr. John Reid, Mr. Ernest Reid, the Rev. and Mrs. John Armstrong and sons, of Montreal.

CHANGE CURFEW

Manitowaning's curfew for children up to 14 years was changed from 9.30 to 9 p.m. for fall and winter months. The curfew went into effect last June 1 when it was stated children were running wild during the evenings, riding bicycles on the sidewalks, and dodging in and out of traffic.

Russell, Man. (CP) — A downpour of rain which washed out activities on the opening day caused official cancellation of Russell's annual fair. However some livestock was judged, and after extensive work on the muddy track, a few horse races were run off.

Northern Expedition

Far in the land of ice and snow,
Our army's brave, who guard our fate,
Keep a ceaseles watch for a stealthy foe
Mid the frozen wastes at the northern gate.

Comrades of the Northern Lights are they,
While watch they keep in the snows alone,
With straining ears through twilight grey,
Hark! do they hear a plane's far drone?

Where the sun lifts briefly above the rim,
For a short hour lights the ramparts stark,
Then sets again, and the frost strikes grim
Their silent wait in the crowding dark.

The stern, cold Northland has waited long
For men of grit she might call her sons,
Who can smile at the howling blizzard's song,
Or laugh when the great, vast silence stuns.

Where danger lurks they come with armoured haste,
Through gully's deep o'er wild and barren plain,
When Spring anon has decked this frozen waste,

Hawkesbury Legion Staging Peanut Day This Saturday, 16th

Canadian Legion 472, Hawkesbury, is uniting all local branches in a "Good Fellowship Parade", at 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon. The organizing committee expresses satisfaction in the announcement that neighboring branches will be represented in this turnout, getting behind the Peanut Day effort, and putting their weight to the common good.

The support which the Legion has received from the merchants of Hawkesbury and district, is also a matter of keen satisfaction to the organizers. The Legion will present the magnificent float from Planter's Peanuts to amuse both grown-ups and kiddies. The regimental pipe band of the Black Watch Regiment, Montreal, will also be heard, under the direction of Pipe Major Hinton.

There will be prizes for the guessing contest, estimating the number of peanuts on the float.

The bicycle parade, in which the young people will play an important part, will also be an attractive feature.

All prizes won during the day will be distributed from the float in the early evening. . . Come and encourage the youngsters!

The committee is doing everything possible to provide sufficient attractions and ensure a pleasant day for everyone and Lachute readers are urged to drive over and visit Hawkesbury on this gala occasion.

Burg Beats Hull 9-4 In Persistent Bid for Papineau League Title

Hull Leads Two-to-One in Best-of-Five Final Series

Brownsburg — Last Sunday the Brownsburg ball fans were torn between the desire to sit at home and listen to the World Series, go to Montreal and see the finals in the Little World Series, or brave the elements and see Brownsburg play in, what was the opinion of most people, the Burg's last game of the season.

Well, the World Series is over, with Cleveland Indians the world champions — the Little World Series is over, with Montreal Royals the champs — but with winter fast approaching, Brownsburg still faces the prospects of two more games!

The locals made a sensational recovery from their playoff slump, by gaining a very easy victory over Hull Last Sunday.

Maurice Vallee pitched a very good game and also scored two hits; with the fine support he had from the team, he was never in trouble.

Fern St. Onge and Russ Summers were again the stars of the game, in both playing and hitting. . . If Fern could only run! He hit the longest drive ever seen in Brownsburg, knocking the ball completely out of the playing field, but when he got to second base he had it; with his tongue hanging out and him all-in, and the Hull centre fielder still looking for the ball, he stood there and let the play catch up with him.

Next Sunday Brownsburg plays Hull, and the Brownsburg team is confident of taking them again.

Two special buses will leave Brownsburg at 10.45 Sunday morning. Anyone wishing to buy tickets, please see W. Tessier. (Fare, $2.50 return.)

R. Prud'homme C; M. Vallee P; F. St. Onge 1B; R. Summers 2B; R. Maude, S.S.; H. King 3B; K. Simpson L.F.; J. Murdoch C.F.; B. Petley R.F.

Spares — M. Thompson, W. Tessier, P. E. Hebert.

Prot. Commissioners Consider Tenders For New Lachute High School Building

Co-operating with The Watchman to inform its readers on progress of the High School building project — a pressing demand in Lachute at this time — the Protestant School Commissioners at their regular meeting Tuesday evening recounted the facts and figures to date.

Reviewing the earlier proceedings in this matter, it is recalled that several trial plans were considered by the Lachute Board in co-operation with the Department of Education at Quebec. As soon as the final drawings had been approved by the local board, they were again forwarded to Quebec, and the approval of Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Protestant Education for the province, was obtained on August 23 last.

The plans with the Department's approval were submitted to the Lachute Board on August 31, and tenders were called immediately—three weeks being allotted for the interested contractors to submit their tenders. . . The tenders were opened by the board on October 12. They were as follows:

(It may be noted the tenders for general contract show a wide variation, to the extent of over $100,000).

General
J. S. Hewson Ltd.	$372,071
L. Gordon Tarlton Ltd.	379,800
Richd. and B. A. Ryan Ltd.	380,589
Cecil Carpenter Co. Ltd.	393,694
Cook and Leith	406,300
Anglin Norcross Ltd.	408,000
Angus Robertson Ltd.	409,460
Quemont Const'n Ltd.	458,305
Tower Construction Co.	477,248
Electrical
C. H. Simpkin Ltd.	$41,780
Fairbanks Electric Ltd.	44,940
P. McCuaig Ltd.	48,258
Patterson Elec. Ltd.	51,846
Mechanical
R. McArthur and Son	$47,100
Garth Company	54,967
C. J. Dryden Ltd.	58,417
John Colford Ltd.	59,990
Moulton Co. Ltd.	61,500

Before the tenders were opened, inasmuch as all the tenders were from good and reliable firms, it was decided that the lowest tender only would be considered. Upon this basis the lowest tenders were those of J. S. Hewson Ltd., general contractor, C. H. Simpkin Ltd., electrical, and R. McArthur & Son, mechanical.

It is of public interest that some of the latest jobs completed by J. S. Hewson Ltd. are the first unit of the new Bonaventure Station for the C.N.R. ($350,000); Maple Leaf Milling Company and Canadian Celanese Ltd. — both $1-million building projects; Bell Telephone Company, $650,000; Canadian Pacific Rlys., $260,000; and Shell Oil Company, $275,000. All of these have been major contracts successfully undertaken by the Hewson firm.

In answer to a letter from Dr. Percival dated September 10, asking to be notified which tender was acceptable to the board, also the costs of landscaping, interest charges, architect's fees, printing of bonds, and necessary furniture, the board submitted a summary of the total cost, as follows:

Total cost of construction and architect's fees (plus $1,000 estimated expenses)		$491,202.51
Sound Equipment and Wiring		7,100.00
Classroom, Library and Gym Equipment (est.)		40,000.00
Administrative Expenses, Auditing, etc		500.00
Landscaping		8,044.00
TOTAL (Construction and Eqpm't)		546,846.51
Financing Charges based on $550,000 less Gov't grant of 75 per cent—making $137,500 to be financed through sale of bonds:
Underwriting Commission	2,062.50
Cost of Printing Bonds	125.00
Int. on Interim Borrowing	2,625.00
		4,812.00
TOTAL Estimated Cost		$551,658.51

(To which should be added the sum of $5,000 for unforeseen extras.)

The school commissioners are keen to get the school building under way as soon as possible, and are now awaiting approval by the Municipal Commission and other formalities required by the Department of Education.

Routine matters of the Board were also dealt with at this meeting, over which the chairman, Jas. W. McGibbon, presided.

Novel Features Introduced in Legion Bingo

The members of Argenteuil Branch No. 70 (Lachute) Canadian Legion wish to use this medium to thank publicly the Lachute Lions Club, the merchants and individuals of the town who so generously donated prizes, and all who in any way helped to make their recent "bingo" such a success. The public were most generous in their response. The net proceeds have amounted to over $800, which has been handed over to the Legion Building Fund by the Lions.

An innovation, thanks to the ingenuity of Gerald Hammond, of Hammond's Radio Shop, was the use of an "inter-com" system, allowing simultaneous running of the bingo in both the main hall and basement of the Auditorium. By this means everybody was happily accommodated. The real test of running the game on two floors at once came when the five-way tie was registered between these two sections. This situation was handled without a hitch. Something new in local bingo also included "lucky chair prizes", which kept the audience on the "edge of their seats" as the M.C., Lion Leopold Carriere, drew the lucky winners.

Plans are now underway for the local veterans to start work on their hall, on upper Foundry St., as early in the spring as conditions will permit.

So to everyone (including the Giles Publishing House Ltd., for publicity), the local Legion branch says "Thank You!"

Acknowledgement is also due to the following contributors of prizes received since last week's listing:

Ayers Limited, $13.50; Farmers' Supply Co., $5; Lachute Nursery, $10; Lachute Flooring Reg., $5; Lachute Electric Reg., $11; Marion Taxi, $10; Welden Motor Sales (cash), $5.

At Quebec Union Of County Councils

Representing Argenteuil at the annual conference of Quebec Union of County Councils, held Monday and Tuesday last at Quebec City, were — Gaston Munich, Sr., mayor of Montcalm and warden of Argenteuil County; Dr. R. B. Henry, mayor of Arundel; Omer Legault, mayor of Brownsburg; and E. M. Jones, secretary of the County Council.

Mayor Lucien Borne welcomed the 250 delegates to the Ancient Capital, and Gaston Munich sponsored a vote of thanks to the city authorities for their hospitality.

Discussions of importance to county councils in the 15 districts represented, occupied the sessions. One prominent subject was the adjustment of valuations to a more equitable basis.

Guest of honor at the luncheon on Monday was the Hon. Bona Dussault, Minister of Municipal Affairs. Mr. Munich was chairman at this function. The honored guest on Tuesday was Premier Maurice Duplessis; the president of the Union, Eloi St. Germain, warden of Portneuf County, was chairman on this occasion.

In the election of officers Mr. Munich was re-elected vice-president of the Union. Others from this section were named to committees for District No. 2 comprising Argenteuil and contiguous counties — Mayor Jean-Louis Cyr of St. Hermas and Mayor Legault of Brownsburg, on the Winter Roads committee, and the latter also on the Nomination Committee representing this district.

Women's Institutes' Activities Abroad

Wherever Women's Institutes are found, a striking similarity in their activities may always be noted. Here is a project being carried on in another country of the Commonwealth which will be of interest to members of the Quebec Women's Institutes.

Members of the Women's Institute in Natal have started nursery schools for Zulu children in nearby villages. These boys and girls were needing care and attention while their mothers were working in Durban all day. Now the W.I.'s are adding a creche for babies whose mothers go out to work. Clinics for the native population have long been one of the concerns of the Federation of Women's Institutes in Natal, Zululand, East Griqualand and Pondoland.

Industry without knowledge is better than knowledge without industry.

Gymnasium Burns At Boys' Farm

A three-storey gymnasium of the Shawbridge Boys' Farm was almost completely destroyed on Monday afternoon by a fire, the cause of which has not been established.

Fire-fighters from St. Jerome, were called, but there was little they could do. The gymnasium was being occupied by men of the 17th Duke of York Hussars.

Central School Board Takes Step To Equalize Property Valuations

CONFERENCE OF TEACHERS IN CENTRAL SCHOOL AREA TO BE HELD HERE ON NOVEMBER 4

The regular meeting of the Central School Board was held in Lachute High School last Thursday evening, with the chairman, Mr. W. M. Cottingham, presiding.

Messrs. Amos Kerr, of Lakefield, Germain Filion, of Lachute, and William Chambers, of Chatham, were present at the meeting on the invitation of the Board, and agreed to act as special valuators for the purpose of making spot valuations throughout the County. The chairman stated that the Quebec Municipal Commission had suggested on repeated occasions that there should be but one tax rate. In order to do this fairly, it would be necessary to adjust valuations in certain municipalities. As it is an exceedingly difficult matter to determine the proportion of adjustment, it was decided to send out experienced men to collect the information necessary to arrive at reasonably accurate figures.

Three representatives from the local school board of Grande Fresniere were also present at the meeting. Certain problems in connection with their school were discussed, the most important of which was the overcrowded condition of the building. An extension was built to this school during the winter of 1946-47, which more than doubled the size of the school. By September, 1947, even this was overflowing, to such an extent that it was necessary to add another teacher to the staff in a temporary classroom in the basement. This year it has become necessary to add still another teacher, and a second room in the basement. The local chairman reported there were 42 beginners at Grande Fresniere this year, and that it was likely this number would continue to increase. In addition to this, he stated that the problem of a High School education for their children should always be kept in mind. Whereas Montreal continued to accept these pupils, the local board had no assurance that they would continue to do so indefinetely.

The Central Board decided to comply with the request from the School Commissioners of Lachute to assume responsibility for the homologation of the roll and collection of school taxes. It was felt that the Central Board office would be more convenient to the ratepayers.

Approval was given for the paychase of a moving picture projector for Grenville, and a film slide projector for Arundel. Both these schools promised to raise 50 per cent of the cost of this equipment, by means of various social events.

The meeting also discussed and gave its approval to a proposed conference of all teachers of the Central Board, to be held in Lachute High School on November 4.

Approval was given for the payment of the current month's bills totalling $5,030.

Editor's Viewpoint

THE WIFE gets mad on washday when we hand her two shirts just as she is doing her last rinsing. . Lady, that's the way WE feel when you send us good news (a wedding, a meeting, an anniversary) when our forms are locked up and ready for press. Moral: Mail Early!

HEADLINE we would like to see in Lachute: "Speeders and Loud Music Blacklisted". (Montreal Star.)

STILL we receive district news and correspondence unsigned. . . If there is any doubt on our position and policy in that other department "Letters to the Editor", please read editorial, "The Voice of the People" (page four).

THANK YOU, Mr. Thompson! . . . Returning after the noon hour Tuesday, we found on our desk a fair-sized strawberry — somewhat tired-looking, perhaps, but still with a luscious hue more fitting to mid-summer. There was a note attached: "Compliments of the Season — Oswald Thompson, Bethany Road".

Weather and Scene Perfect for Annual Plowing Match

Fine weather favored the annual field day of the Argenteuil Plowmen's Association, held last Friday at the farm of George Gordon, East Settlement, and besides keen competition in most of the classes, there was a good turnout of spectators to witness the teams and tractors in action. W. Erskin Rodger, president of the organization this year, expressed himself as thoroughly gratified with the proceedings, which ran smoothly throughout. The condition of the land was also considered perfect for plowing.

The directors of the various classes were able to supervise the program over a public address system, placed at their service by Imperial Tobacco Company. Generous donations of prizes added zest to the spirit of competition, and the secretary, E. Emmett, who had charge of donations, expresses warm appreciation for this support. Frontier Women's Institute served refreshments on the field, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gordon provided luncheon for the plowmen taking part.

An innovation in the program this year was a pulling contest, in which six teams were entered to test their strength; three were eliminated and three remained to haul the maximum load, which was in the vicinity of three tons dead weight. Many spectators witnessed this event, which was won by R. Lalonde's team. The best plow team in action was that of John Heatlie, whose horses also ranked first on merits of physical condition and equipment. Donald Leishman, a contestant in the tractor plowing, claimed the award for best ridge on the field. Special prizes were given for the best ridge and best crown in each class.

In addition to the prize donors already published, the Association acknowledges donations since received from the following:

Waste Paper Salvage Collected at Brownsburg

Brownsburg — About 3500 lbs. of waste paper was collected when the Boy Scouts Group Committee, assisted by several of the Boy Scouts, made a house to house collection on October 2, in Brownsburg.

While not as great as previous collections, the amount of paper was considered well worthwhile.

The committee wishes to express appreciation to all who helped make this collection a success. Mr. W. B. Moseley furnished two trucks to collect the paper, and Mr. J. Duncan arranged with Boyd's Lachute Express to tranport the paper to Montreal.

Modernization in Business Centre Of Brownsburg

"In Brownsburg"
(Specially Contributed)

The Old Order Changeth

In April, 1944, a disastrous fire wiped out the greater number of the business premises in Brownsburg. Some of those whose establishments were demolished, soon rebuilt and started business at the old stand. Others moved to other locations, in some instances to other towns, and some others still, are today essaying a new start. The Maitland building, an attractive, modern, fireproof structure, is in the latter category, and is nearing completion on the east of the four corners which constitute the main business portion of the village. This twin store building restores Mr. "Jock" Maitland's restaurant and pastry service to the public, in a much larger and extended edition of the old Maitland's. The second part of the building is to be occupied by a "self-serve grocery" with meats and vegetables following in the line of the chain stores. This venture fills a long felt want in Brownsburg and should meet with no small measure of success. The recent addition of an up-to-date drugstore on the same corner has, by its brightly lighted and modern pastel interior, added much to make the business section more cheerful and inviting.

Close Harmony

The coming of the Don Cossacks Choir to Rigaud is an event of such importance that its effect has been felt here. The concert was announced at the Catholic Church on Sunday, and it has a more intimate meaning for the many members of the choral society, which is beginning a new season with augmented numbers.

Resuscitation

The Brownsburg Fire Brigade has obtained custody of the inhalator owned by the residents of Lake Louisa. The equipment has been loaned for safekeeping during the winter months, and is at the disposal of anyone requireing emergency treatment of oxygen for cases of shock, immersion or respiratory failure. The Fire Brigade service number is phone 2301. (In case of fire the hydrant number should also be given).

St. Andrews Couple 50 Years Married

HAVE RECOLLECTIONS

Mr. and Mrs. George Perks, living at St. Andrews East after an active lifetime, marked their 50th wedding anniversary just recently. Having spent around 60 years in these parts, they are well and favorably known, especially in the farming community about St. Andrews.

To the more active generation today, the old Lachute - St. Andrews railway with its wood-burning locomotive is but a romantic association with the past. George Perks, however, is one of those who worked on the construction of this line. Then 20 years of age and living on Lachute Road with his parents (where Mrs. Jim Armstrong now resides), he worked under the late John Cruise and the late Jack Davis laying the track from Armstrong's Gulley to St. Andrews.

Mr. Perks came with his parents from Hamilton to farm at Lachute Road, then better known as the Geneva Settlement. At 25 years of age he was married to Mary Ellen Beatty, of Ormstown; they rented the Tom Burwash farm at La Baie, later purchasing the adjoining farm which his father had taken over. Mr. and Mrs. Perks remained there until 10 years ago.

While living at Lachute Road, George Perks learned the blacksmith trade, in which he worked with the late John Simon at Lachute and the late Alex Leroy at St. Andrews.

There were eight children born to this couple, seven girls and one boy. Their son, W. J. Perks, is assistant superintendent of the Protestant School Board in Montreal.

SEEK MILK-PRICE BOOST

Montreal (CP) — The Quebec Dairy Commission was recently asked to approve a one-cent increase in the price of milk to the public. The Milk Producers' Association here also asked that the price to farmers be raised from $4.10 to $4.50 per hundred pounds.

Scout Leaders Aware of Boyhood's Changing Status, Earlier Maturity

140 Leaders in Conference at North Hatley Consider Needs of Present-Day Youth, and Possible Weaknesses in Training Technique

Measuring well up to expectations, the 13th Provincial Scouters' Conference held at North Hatley over the Thanksgiving week-end was well attended, and all sessions much enjoyed, whether for discussion or for the training demonstrations.

Conducted along lines similar to last year's gathering, speakers briefly introduced technical topics of direct interest to the Scout and Cub leaders, then the Scouters separated into "patrols" to discuss and report on their findings. The chairmen for these conference sessions were Clarence G. Blake, district commissioner for Sherbrooke, and Charles L. Duncan of Lachute, district commissioner for the Laurentian district.

The guest speaker was William A. Speed, executive commissioner for Nova Scotia, and his remarks were directed towards an understanding of the present-day boy. Basically the same, there are some differences Mr. Speed claimed, due to the fact that there are now more diversions than formerly — more money for movies, sports, cars, etc.; in the higher grades, older boys have more extra-curricular activities; boys are more mature now; and there are more activities along other lines, such as cadets, which are now "here to stay". He went on to point out certain technical weaknesses in the Scouter's handling of such problems, and suggested steps which might be taken to correct the situation.

In the Scouts' Own-service held on Sunday morning, the Rev. John O. Peacock, Cubmaster of Cowansville, was assisted by T. A. Chubb, of Lachine, and H. T. Parker, of Montreal. Conference topics were introduced by R. G. Talbot, V. O. West and W. S. Hickman, of Montreal, J. W. Phillips, of Quebec, R. A. Rout, of Drummondville, and Mr. Chubb. Other Scout officials attending included Frank Irwin, Ontario provincial executive commissioner; J. W. H. Miner, assistant district commissioner for Granby; John Rankin, commissioner, Olaf Bogstad, assistant district commissioner, and H. P. Stone, president, of St. Francis Valley district; Joseph N. Robinson, Lachute; A. D. Addie, Quebec; Ernest Goat, W. J. Shaw, D. Rennie, and others from Montreal. Training films and sessions were under the direction of Scout headquarters staff, and the conference generally under the direction of C. J. Dendy, provincial executive commissioner.

At the opening of the conference sessions, Mr. Miner read a message of greeting from W. H. Miner, provincial commissioner, who could not attend; and it was later suggested that a message of greeting be sent to His Excellency the Viscount Alexander of Tunis, who is also Chief Scout for Canada, then in residence at Spencerwood. This was done, and Monday at lunch, just before the conference closed, Mr. Blake read to the gathering the Chief Scout's reply to the greeting.

Social-Athletic Club Wins Championship

AND BASEBALL TROPHY

Brownsburg — After leading the league for the greater part of the season in a 26-game schedule, and winning their last two scheduled games by shutouts 8-0, 10-0 over Hawkesbury Research team, Brownsburg Social & Athletic Club claimed the League title and subsequently the J. O. Gour trophy.

In the first of the two shutouts their pitcher, Bill Hewitt, who was one of the mainstays of the team, pitched a no-hit, no-run game. Only 21 batters faced him and no runners reached first base. The final scheduled game gave Brownsburg S. & A. C. the Pennant championship, and they then went on to win the League championship and the J. O. Gour Trophy by defeating their arch-rivals and defending champions, the Brownsburg Flyers.

The final standing of the teams was: Brownsburg S. & A. C., 20 wins, 6 defeats. Brownsburg Flyers in 2nd place, 19 wins, 7 defeats. Tied for 3rd place, Vankleek Hill Legion and Hawkesbury Bridge Inn, 16 wins, 10 defeats. . . Hawkesbury Research, Rigaud and Grenville finished in that order, St. Andrews had dropped out in the first half of the schedule; this team was in 6th place when it withdrew.

In the play-off Series "A", Brownsburg S. & A. C., the pennant winners, met Vankleek Hill Legion in a best 2-of-3 games, Brownsburg winning 2 games to 1.

In Series "B" Brownsburg Flyers met Hawkesbury Bridge Inn in a best 2-of-3 games, Brownsburg winning two games straight.

The final series, which was to be a best 3-of-5 games, produced the kind of rivalry that was expected between two local teams who had led the league throughout the season.

The first game of the series was won 5 to 4 by the pennant winners. With the score tied 4-4 and the pennant team going into the bottom of the 7th inning with one down, their pitcher, Bill Hewitt, came to bat and hit a short fly to the rightfield, which was bobbled by the fielder, allowing the runner to try for 2nd base; in attempting to cut the runner at 2nd, the fielder threw wild to 2nd base, the runner going to 3rd and scoring on error at 3rd base.

The second game, with feelings running high abong both players and supporters, was one of the better games played here this year. Both teams played errorless ball. Going into the top of the 6th inning with no score, the pennant winners took a 1-run lead on a triple by their 3rd base man, R. Summers (who has regained some of his pre-war form in both fielding and hitting, and who led his team in batting for the season with a 45% average) and scored on a long fly to centre field by B. Hewitt. In the Flyers' bottom part of the 6th inning, a disputed decision was against them, and some of the Flyers left the playing field — the game was awarded to the S. & A. C. 1-0, as Flyers could not field a team. The 3rd game went to S. & A. C. by default. It was disappointing to team followers to have the series end this way after a very successful season.

Both teams would like to take this opportunity to thank the sporting public for their support during the season.

The team line-up was as follows:

Team Managers: J. Duncan, Ken Stewart.

Exploits of Maquis Told by Speaker At Rotary Club

Brownsburg — John Donald Learmont, associated with C-I-L at Brownsburg, was guest speaker before the Rotary Club last Thursday. He spoke interestingly on his personal experiences with the Maquis during World War II.

The Maquis were the underground organization which aided in the escape of numerous Allied prisoners, and maintained communication with Allied headquarters even after France had capitulated. They were called "Maquis" by the Germans — the word being an old Spanish translation of "bandit". They had to do their perilous work — they had everything to lose, and only an unknown loyalty to their country to gain.

Mr. Learmont, after having escaped from enemy imprisonment, collaborated with the French Maquis, doing effective work mostly in the line of confusing and hampering the enemy. The Maquis dynamited bridges and destroyed enemy troop trains; troop movements were harassed by every means possible.

The Maquis practiced a severe discipline — when in doubt of anyone, death was the penalty. It had to be so, since an entire group could be betrayed and caught through the disloyalty of an individual, and reprisals inflicted upon families and friends.

Pétain called the Maquis "saboteurs" and with the help of the Gestapo captured and destroyed many groups. However, these brave men and women were firm in their belief that their country would be freed, and when the successful Allied invasion took place, the Maquis were invaluable in their help.

Mr. Learmont was introduced to the Rotarians by Sid Stilwell, and Russell Graham moved a cordial vote of thanks for his address.

Gatineau LINES

In the midst of the critical power shortage which extends over many parts of central Canada today, the many customers of Gatineau Power Company who own electric water heaters might like to remember a simple little slogan:—

"Every pint of hot water wasted in the home means hundreds of gallons of water wasted at the power plant."

Everyone who heats water with electricity can help save power by thinking about that slogan, and by making sure that every bit of hot water drawn from the tap is put to good use.

Look at it this way: The average hot water heater in use in Gatineau territory consumes a kilowatt hour of electricity each 20 minutes that it is working on "high" — and the more hot water you use, the longer it has to work. To produce that kilowatt of power for an hour, literally hundreds of gallons of water must pour out of Gatineau's reserve supply to turn the generators which produce the electricity.

You will note that we say 'Gatineau's reserve supply' of water — for that is exactly where the electric power is coming from these days. Rain has been so scarce and rivers and lakes have fallen so low that we are no longer producing electricity from the normal amount of water available. To keep the generators humming, we are eating into the reserve water backed up behind reservoir dams built years ago to help meet just such a water shortage as exists throughout Quebec and Ontario today. Those reserves are getting lower all the time.

So, if you have an electric water heater, and if you want to help avoid the necessity of power rationing in the Gatineau territory, remember: "Every pint of hot water wasted in the home means hundreds of gallons of water wasted at the power plant".

ENGLISH JOURNEY

ARTICLE NO. 12

I have not yet told anything about Blackpool, Lancashire, where we spent several days when we first arrived and again before we sailed.

Blackpool is one of the most popular resorts in England, with a truly magnificent beach. It is essentially a place of amusement and has an enormous number of such things as penny arcades and roller coasters.

It has one unique place of entertainment, The Tower, with theatre, aquarium, zoo, restaurants, and a truly magnificent ballroom.

A cousin, Raymond Legge is assistant curator of the zoo and aquarium paying special attention to the aquarium, as he is a specialist in knowledge of fish. This aquarium is quite an attraction, with wonderful displays of unusual live fish both large and small. There are about 20 different kinds of marine fish, about the same number of varieties of fresh water fish, about 40 different kinds of tropical fish, and the total number is impossible to count. There is one sturgeon that has been there for over fifty years.

The zoo has a large collection of live animals and birds.

Blackpool is quite modern and has little to interest the antiquarian. We did however visit some interesting old places in the vicinity. Poulton-le-Fylde, only a few miles away has an interesting old church, and in the middle of the main street stands an old cross and the old public stocks.

Another day we took a bus to Manchester, where there are many signs of bomb damage, and on to Styall which is a lively old village situated in a beautiful section of Cheshire.

At Blackpool we were guests of three aunts, (sisters of the late George Legge, of Granby), the eldest of whom celebrated her 90th birthday in July. They are all remarkably spry and accompanied us to Poulton-le-Fylde and on some other visits. Miss May Legge visited Granby forty years ago and has vivid recollections of her trip.

We only spent two days in London, on one of which I met Mr. Vere MacHutchin and was his guest for lunch at the Savoy.

In the lobby was Mr. Douglas Taylor, a past president of the Montreal Kiwanis Club, who was in England arranging for a visit of Canadian Air Cadets.

After lunch we visited the Miner Rubber Co. offices in London. They were located on Southwark street and there is a splendid view from the roof of the building. St. Paul's Cathedral looms up not very far away and nearly everything between has been flattened by German bombs, and many bombs fell all around the Miner building. Every window was broken and many of them have not yet been replaced due to the difficulty in getting glass.

On the opposite side of the street before the war, stood the Morgue but that was completely demolished by a bomb.

One of the first things to catch the eye upon entering the office was a catalogue of Miner goods which was printed in Granby at the Leader-Mail. There is a very fine display of Miner products in the show cases.

Canadians visiting England find many of the signs and expressions strange to them. Here are a few: "No Waiting" for "No Parking"; "Halt" for "Stop" signs; "Left Luggage Room" over check rooms in station; "Enquiries" for "Information"; "Diversion" instead of "Detour".

One interesting sign in a tea room at Marlborough reads, "Persons bringing their own food will not be served", while there are many signs on vacant lots reading, "Tip No Rubbish", or "Tipping Rubbish Here is Forbidden".

An odd warning came over the loud speakers in Crewe Station, "Train now ready to depart. Join the train please". Probably our calls in Canada of "All Aboard" or "Up in Front Please, En avant s'il vous plait", would sound just as peculiar to strangers. In England, nearly all the bus drivers call out when the bus is ready to start, "Hold Tight" but it usually sounds like "All Tight".

Before closing this series of articles, I think I should make some comment on the English government and the way it is working, as from the large number of questions I have been asked, there is much interest in Canada in that subject.

The government in England today is socialism to a degree that few Canadians can realize, and it is gradually controlling everybody's life.

My observations were formed from travelling around England and staying with people and talking with them, and not from living in hotels and interviewing officials who naturally would try to paint a rosy picture.

Actually, I did not find anyone who had a good word to say for the government, but it must be remembered that such people did not vote for it in the first place.

One retired gentleman told me that it was difficult to find anyone who would admit that they voted for the Labor government, yet it was his opinion that they would be re-elected again.

The government was elected by the large mass of laborers who expected that all their troubles would be ended. They have not got what they expected, but they still think they are better off. Actually it is a debatable subject, for although their wages have been much augmented, the taxes and high cost of everything has probably eaten up the increase.

Even if the lower class is better off, the middle and upper classes are definitely much worse off than they ever were before.

I was struck by the fact that the government is apparently more interested in trying to prevent anyone from making a profit, and in taking money away from anyone who has it, than in trying to improve conditions. The government debates when I was over there were confined principally to the nationalizing of doctors and health services, and the abolition of capital punishment.

It seemed to me that socialism there is bound to fail. One reason is that the people do not act as they should in theory. No one seems to be anxious to make sacrifices for the good of the state,

Doomed to extinction?

A duck that nests in trees and prefers wooded swamps to open water! That's the Wood Duck, the most beautiful of our water-fowl. They are well protected by law, but the draining of wetlands and clearing away of the dead tree trunks they nest in presents a serious threat to their survival. Everything you do to preserve their natural nesting areas will help to conserve the Wood Duck for years to come.

The Labrador Duck became extinct before 1900. Today 44 stuffed specimens are all that remain of this little sea-duck, showing what happens when sound conservational practices are neglected.

Autumn and the Senses

PICKLED pears and pickled peaches, raspberry preserves and chile sauce — the canning season is over in most parts of the country, but what a delightful tangy smell it leaves!

Even more delightful than the lingering household aromas is the memory of crisp autumn air, for autumn is a time when the air takes on a special quality. It's a time when a person's nose wakes up. . . After a year as a subconscious function in which air somehow finds its way inside us to oxygenate our systems, the sense of smell finally comes into its own.

But there are some people who argue that autumn is a time to be seen rather than a time to be smelled. The majestic march of color through the land; the fields, tawny and mellow; the foliage flaming out in crimson and gold, with sere brown of the leaves as they flutter down— some green still spared as a background; and the a strange, wasted color, hard to find elsewhere— under grim, wintry clouds.

Then there are the prophets of the sense of feel. Often these are of the athletic type; they like to stride along country lanes into a wind freshening from the north, or a stinging, slanting rain. This sort of exercise is highly stimulating. It lends itself to the illusion of adventure, suggestive of green oceans and expansive horizons, even if the walker is merely sloshing his rubbers through dirty rain water, and the worst disaster he faces is a day in bed with a red nose.

But above all there is that supreme gift of autumn: an atmosphere so fresh, so zestful, so heady that when we breathe it in we can taste it, just as surely as we can taste the bouquet of a rare old wine.

An Impartial View

FOR AN unbiased report on Britain's Labor Government and its effects, we recommend a commentary in Walter R. Legge's final article in the series "English Journey", appearing in this issue. Here is an impression gleaned — not from the armchair strategists, nor from the civil service officials whose opinions must be restricted or soft-pedalled — but from the man in the street, and the manner in which his practices and his psychology are reacting. Mr. Legge has reported what he has seen, during a lengthy and fairly comprehensive visit, contacting the higher and the lower classes of society alike. He deals not with theories and ideologies, but with cold facts. . . And altogether, his report is not a favorable reflection on the socialistic turn of government in Britain.

The Watchman pays a sincere acknowledgment to its fellow publisher, Mr. Walter Legge of the Granby Leader-Mail, who has written this interesting record and offered it gratuitously for the use of many weekly newspapers across Canada. His story has been read from coast to coast, and particularly enjoyed by readers of English birth or extraction.

To Taxi Drivers

IT IS GENERALLY recognized that taxi drivers are smart drivers, but this does not entitle them to encroach upon the rights of others, observes the Province of Quebec Safety League in a recent bulletin.

When meeting emergencies, taxicab drivers think faster than the average motorist and can extricate themselves from some of the toughest situations — as we have observed in heavy city traffic.

As a rule, they are considered courteous to their passengers and they do not take unnecessary chances when they have a load, but they must not look upon other users of the streets as mere obstacles which should be eliminated from their path. They have not the right to break a line of automobiles, as is often done, to reach the head of the line of traffic. Nor have they any special dispensation to permit speeding on the town thoroughfares.

Safety will be ensured in streets only when all users pull together, bearing in mind that the pedestrians as well as other motorists have a right to expect consideration from taxi drivers. The latter have it within their power to be a great influence on others; their care and courtesy can contribute much to alleviate the hazards of increasing traffic.

Roman Holiday

"WE WHO are about to die salute you!" . . Traffic fatalities have become so commonplace that they have ceased to be news. A racing automobile hurtles itself off the highway, dashes through a fence or down an embankment and next morning the only comment a blasé listener makes, is "Anyone killed?" . . . If anyone is killed, a morbid curiosity attracts a few to the garage where the death vehicle displays its wounds, and a brief look and careless interest is all that the sight warrants.

The sorry thing about it is that the driver of the vehicle, if he is not the one "killed", recounts the episode as he would a brave deed, and forthwith proceeds to obtain another car and — nothing learned, nothing dismayed — he pursues his wrecking ways. There is an old saying, "there should be a law against it". Well, if ever there should be a law against something, it should deprive such people of driving a juggernaut of death along the highways to the destruction of, not themselves, but the innocent by-stander or the safety-conscious motorist who becomes the victim. The final degradation of the Roman Empire was never so manifest than in this utterly debasing spectacle of men hewing themselves into tortured fragments while thousands cheered. Our combatants are no hairy-chested barbarians. Our recruits for the slaughter are drawn from all classes. From the defenceless child to the aged, our Great Destroyer marks them down without distinction. Last year it cost us in direct tax $8 each man, woman and child. Twenty-five thousand of us got killed last year — carefree, peace-loving folks, whose thoughts of violent death were as remote as the distant stars.

"We who are about to die salute you!" It is the most pitiful indictment of man's inhumanity to his fellow man. It is the cry that will continue to ascend from thousands now living who are doomed to sudden death.

You can do your bit in stopping this mass murder by practicing "safety first", instead of mouthing it casually. M.V.T.

A Virtue Distorted

FROM AN after-dinner speaker comes a more practical appraisal of one of the oft exhorted virtues:

Tolerance is one of the virtues inherent in the Province of Quebec, said Leslie Ham, manager of the Canadian Underwriters Association, before the Hull Rotary Club, but the speaker warned that it should be watched to ensure that it remained a tolerance within the rule of law lest the virtue become a vice.

"A tolerance that permits drunken driving, a tolerance that permits disregard of safety rules, a tolerance that arouses a sympathy for the wrongdoer as well as the victim, can be an expensive virtue to possess."

THE GENERAL public is prone to ignore the fact that the police cannot be everywhere at once and cannot function efficiently without the co-operation of the individual. . . By so doing we help to protect ourselves.

— Kelowna (B.C.) Courier

THE DEPARTMENT for Determining the Time for Donning Heavier Undergarments has brought in its report. . . The long ones, which should not ordinarily be worn until the first of November, may be put on after October 15. . . One reason, the Department points out, is the need for conserving electric power.

IN WARTIME, one of the excuses for heavy taxes was that taxes paid subsidies on necessaries and thus kept consumer prices down.

Nearly all subsidies have been wiped out. Nearly all taxes stay the same.

The Greeks Had A Word for It !

A correspondent, who employs his leisure moments in leafing through the dictionary, reports his discovery of a word, new to him, although it may be familiar to classical scholars. The word is "boustrophedon" and its meaning, according to the Shorter Oxford Dictionary, is "alternately from right to left and from left to right, like the course of the plough". It is pronounced with a long "e" and the accent on the third syllable, as in "The ploughman plods his boustrophedon way".

Properly, the word is applied only to inscriptions, some of which, in ancient days, were written in the somewhat erratic manner suggested. But there is no need to be too much of a purist in these days. The word calls for a wider field of usefulness.

Some policies of the Ottawa government, with decontrol and recontrol going on at the same time, may fairly be described as boustrophedon. Traces of boustrophedonism may be found in the policies of most provincial governments, even in that of Saskatchewan, where the leftward course of the socialistic plough has lately wobbled a little.

The word has its disadvantages. It is too long and too uncommon for use in a political meeting. But it has the advantage of being parliamentary. The pages of Hansard may yet be enlivened by an orator who, without rebuke from the Speaker, will accurately and alliteratively refer to a member on the other side of the House as a bumbling, baldheaded boustrophedonist.

Canada Imports 15,000,000 Pounds of Butter

Fifteen million pounds of butter will be imported during the next four months from Denmark, Australia and New Zealand, to fill Canadian consumer requirements during the period of normal seasonal shortage. (3,000,000 pounds was received in Montreal this week from Denmark.) Approximately 11,000,000 pounds are being imported from Denmark, and 2,000,000 pounds each from Australia and New Zealand. The initial shipment is due this month, and additional supplies will arrive in November, December and January.

These purchases are being made by the Canadian Commercial Corporation, which is responsible for such government-to-government transactions, and sales will be made to the wholesale trade under the direction of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The imported butter will sell at Canadian ceiling prices already established in various zones across Canada.

May Ask U.K. Miners To Stagger Holidays

Sunderland, Eng. (CP) — Miners producing coal for export may be asked to take staggered holidays in future, so that output will not be brought to a complete halt.

A miners' official at Wearmouth Colliery said he understood the National Coal Board was concerned by "the very severe setback" which exports suffered when several collieries closed down at the same time.

"Many pits in Durham, for instance, were closed for the week before the August Bank Holiday", he said. "The Board's idea, when preferences have been received from all the union lodges, seems to be to work out a staggered holiday scheme covering the years up to 1952."

Be not the first by whom the new are tried,

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A Thought for the Reader

"Your right to know is the key to all your liberties."

Few slogans could better express the place of the free press in the Canadian heritage. No right is more important to free men than the "right to know."

But there is a corollary and indivisible right — the right to let others know the opinions of our readers. The newspaper has a certain obligation to give the public the opportunity to present facts and interpretations regarding the developments of the day.

The press has traditionally recognized this right. There are not many publications in the country today which do not devote space to letters from readers. They have developed what might be called a proprietary interest in their section. So pronounced has this attitude become that contributors do not hesitate to write or call the editor to bawl him out when a letter does not appear when they want it, or when it is censored because of libel or the unwritten laws of good taste. Through the years some of the historic battles of Canada's political history have raged in the newspaper columns. Some of them had their genesis there.

There may be a temptation to dismiss these contributions lightly, as the products of "crack-pots" or "cranks". It is well in this respect to remember the old definition of a "crack-pot" — someone who hasn't yet attracted a large following to his notions or hasn't the privilege of publishing a newspaper of his own. We have seen, in our time, some of the "crack-pot" ideas expounded in letters to the editor, become the accepted law of the land.

One of the editor's problems in conducting a voice section is the matter of policy regarding unsigned communications. We have long followed the rule that letters must carry the name and address of the writer. He may have the name and address withheld from publication by so indicating, but they must be in the hands of the editor. This has resulted in many a stormy session in the editor's sanctum, when, for example, an irate public official calls to demand the identity of his critic. . . But to violate the trust imposed in the editor by a writer deprives a voice section of one of its most valuable qualities.

A vigorous voice-of-the-people column can call attention to many abuses and mould constructive thought for community betterment. Readers of The Watchman should bear this fact in mind and consider the local newspaper in the light of a public utility — one in which they may play a personal part.

The Late G. W. Hardie

The death of George W. Hardie occurred suddenly at his home in Brownsburg on Monday, October 11, in his 76th year.

In ill health of late, yet preparing to return to l'Annonciation to carry on his business during the winter, he suffered a relapse and passed peacefully away on Thursday last, October 14, at his home.

Son of the late Neil McRae and Annie Shaw, Malcolm McRae was a man of sterling character and sincere convictions. For 14 years he was a foreman with the International Pulp & Paper Co'y at l'Annonciation and later carried on a business of his own.

The funeral took place Saturday afternoon at his old home, the service being conducted by the Rev. S. J. Pike of Brownsburg, a friend of the family, having served the church in the area as interim-minister for a number of years. Hymns sung were favorites of the deceased, "Nearer My God To Thee" and "Jesus, I Am Resting" Interment took place in the family plot at the Shaw cemetery, Harrington, followed by a large cortege of relatives and friends.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Allan McRae, Duncan Shaw, John Marshall, Walter Foster, L. Racicot and L. Gervais.

To the sorrowing family, friends extend their heartfelt sympathy. The community has lost another beloved and valued citizen.

A "Tourist" Variety Unwanted in Montreal

Montreal — The City of Montreal can do without "undesirable tourists" such as thieves, Judge Gerald Almond said in Arraignment Court this week.

He made this statement in connection with the arraignment of George Hutchon, 18, Niagara Falls, N.Y., charged with stealing $800 in jewelry, and Leopold Joly, Lachute, charged with five thefts of $5 to $10.

Hutchon and Joly both pleaded guilty. The former will be sentenced on Thursday and Joly on Saturday.

Celebrate Their 50th Wedding Anniversary

On September 26 the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thompson, at Hudson Heights, was the scene of a happy gathering when the family of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Perks, St. Andrews East, met to honor their parents on their 50th wedding anniversary.

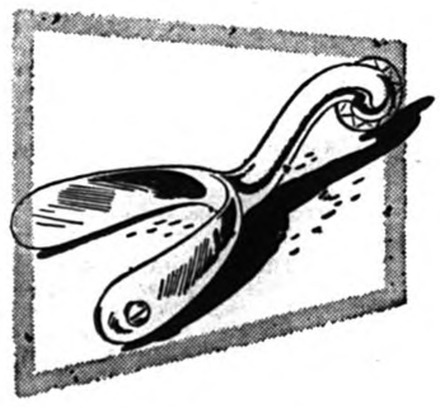

The rooms were decorated with autumn flowers and white streamers. Thirty guests were present, including Mr. Perks' four sisters, Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Jackson and Miss Lucy Perks, also Mr. and Mrs. Reg Bennett and children. Mrs. Bennett is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perks.

A turkey dinner was served at 1 p.m., the table being centred by a beautifully decorated four-tier wedding cake made by their daughter Mrs. Lawson Taylor (Helen). During the afternoon a telegram of congratulations was received from Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barr (their daughter Grace), of Vermilion, Alta. The family presented their parents with a mantel radio and a sum of money. Other gifts suitable to the occasion were received by Mr. and Mrs. Perks, along with cards and letters of good wishes.

Tea was served at 5.30 o'clock, and on taking leave, everyone voiced this a very happy occasion.

By coincidence, a couple in this gathering, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Matthews (Victoria), will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary next week, October 26.

Youthful Builders Aid British Housing

Young Apprentice Builders Erect 1,900 Houses in United Kingdom

By JOAN CAPREOL

London (Reuters)—Britain today is relying more and more on her "boy builders" for much-needed houses.

Young apprentice builders 16 and 17 years old have built or are building 1,900 houses at 207 sites throughout the country under a government scheme.

More than 3,000 boys have been trained in the apprentice-master building scheme launched in 1945, financed and administered by the ministry of works.

A building apprentice and training council was set up by the ministry in 1943 to encourage local authorities to recruit boys into the building industry. This scheme with its six-months training course enables boys to sign up afterwards as apprentices with established builders.

More than 250,000 boys, however, are registered directly with builders.

The ministry expects that the plan will cost £300,000 ($1,200,000) this year. It recognizes that using "boy" labor is more expensive than skilled labor so it compensates the builder with the difference.

Boys build a house in little under double the time it takes full-fledged craftsmen. They get paid anywhere from one third to two thirds of a man's wages, according to their age, and the district rates of pay.

The houses the boys work on are ordinary dwellings of brick and timber.

They do not get assigned to "fancy" houses or prefabricated ones because they are learning the elementaries of the building trade. They put in plumbing, tiling, build chimneys under the guidance of a few skilled workmen.

Tribute to A Beloved Lady Resident of Grenville

Late Mrs. L. S. Campbell

A Scottish home was filled with joy one day
When a wee bairn came to it from above;
And parents must have caught that shining ray
From infant eyes so full of life and love.

Nor was it long ere rocks and moor and dune
Were traversed by light step and happy heart;
For helpless, carefree days in Scotland soon

With Scottish blood. For dear old Scotland's charm
Then graced her life, and every day she passed
More winsomeness, and every day less harm.

Then to these shores she came and brought her light,
A greater gift Scotland could never give;
Laughter and mirth and song were hers by right,
While others more abundantly did live.

Her home was opened to the friends she knew
And none of foe could in her nature make;
In neighbors' lives would joy and gladness wake.

With zeal she worked the church of God to raise,
Each Sunday her Creator she would praise,
No pain of body did her spirit tire.

And yet we knew she had that grief and pain
Through many years, until at last its force

The ills of human flesh could find no cure,
Though patiently she tried, and waited long,
While Science searched, and we to the great pure
And Holy God raised prayers in word and song.

While she partakes of everlasting joy;
May Arms of Refuge and Eternal Grace
All happiness and peace for her alloy.

While the sports meet was taking place, a Food Sale was in progress in the school. The sum of $95 was taken in, making net proceeds of the sale $75. This money goes into the fund for a motion picture projector.

The teachers attended the recent convention in Montreal, and, of course, the school had a holiday. We expected to hear of all kinds of game being shot, but to date no such news has reached your reporter's ears.

It is heard that there is to be a Horseshoe Tournament soon. That will keep the three pits going full-blast.

Next money-making project, it is hoped, will take the form of a Hallowe'en party to be held October 29. There will be more about this in our next column.

Labor's Responsibility to the Community

Many years ago, before he became the leader of a political party, the present Prime Minister of Canada said that in all industrial disputes there was a "fourth party", deeply concerned, the Community, which was "deserving of much greater consideration than it ever had in the past." Our sympathies are whole-heartedly with labor in demanding and protecting its rights, as they are with all classes worthy of that support. But they must all realize that as well as rights they have duties and responsibilities, which as good citizens they should discharge. Ben Tillett, that great pioneer of British labor, once said, "The Trade Union Movement should stand for more than wages, it must develop a soul if it is to do its job of uplifting humanity."

In the treasury of citizenship in Canada we have traditions from the Old Land that are our common heritage, and labor would do well to cherish its own special share of those traditions —proper respect for law and order, confidence in our Courts, and respect for the authorities which we as free people have chosen to govern this country. And there is as to that a great responsibility on labor leaders to lead their people to that good land of co-operation of all classes, in the atmosphere of good will and mutual respect, that will make Canada one of the best examples of civilization the world has ever seen — and in the words of O Canada, the "land of hope for all who toil."

— Judge Arthur Roberts, Secretary, Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities

Socialized Medicine

No one would be bold enough to deny that sickness is a serious and expensive thing for most wage-earners, particularly those in the low-income brackets. No one should be unfair enough to suggest that there is any lack of honesty and sincerity on the part of the British government to relieve this class from the often-crushing burden of debt caused by prolonged illness in the family. — Edson (Alta.) Western Signal

Progress Is Made Quietly

This is a crucial point in human destiny. It is a time to show the essential fairness of the Canadian way of life. Defects will reveal themselves from time to time . . the nearer we attain to perfection in one respect, the more defects in others are thrown into prominence. But as society and the community advance, so will business hold itself increasingly accountable to the public, and responsive to the public trend.

Many self-appointed reformers who never engaged in business fail to see that changes are not wrought by words and slogans but by thoughts and acts. Very few "reformers" know or admit the steady ethical evolution that is going on within business. As David F. Houston said in Readings in Modern Business Literature: "The world quietly turns over while the professional reformers are barking at the moon".

— John Nolan in Royal Bank "Monthly Letter"

S. Africa Encourages Immigration

During 1947, some 22,000 immigrants settled in the Union of South Africa. Half of this number were chosen by overseas selection committees, while the other half consisted of non-selected immigrants who came principally from the United Kingdom. The immigration of artisans was encouraged, and in the case of the printing and building trades, representatives of these industrial groups made special trips overseas to help select workers. About 60 per cent of the immigrants were men, and the rest were women and families, and the South African Immigration Council reports that it has found employment and living accommodation for every selected worker. Only four immigrants out of every 1,000 entering South Africa through the government scheme have returned to the United Kingdom.

We must accept the disciplines of democracy as well as its freedoms. Discipline from without flourishes when discipline from within grows weak.

Need of Noise Abatement

Perhaps nowhere since man began to think has the escape into the quiet of his thoughts been made more difficult than it is in America today. To blame radio for this is to oversimplify. The industry is properly held responsible for the many sins it commits in the name of entertainment, and for its often hideous irrelevance, but the hand controlling the buttons of the individual radio receiver is the prime offender.

There are so many hands controlling so many buttons that to hope for relief from the scourge of radio noise seems almost foolish. It boils down to a question of manners. Is it foolish to hope that the member of the family who loves noise for its own sake will develop the decency to limit his odd appetite? Or that the apartment dweller who keeps his radio going loudly most of the day and night will have mercy on his neighbors cowering behind thin walls? Perhaps, but there is no harm in hoping.

There is no harm, either, in hoping that the newsreel companies will some day refrain from enhancing the horror of disaster pictures by the addition of apocalyptic commentary and foreboding music jerked from the bowels of Wagner; that the listening public will some day get hep to the fact that the squalid self-dramatization of the loud-mouthed journalistic statesmen of radio is merely so many unnecessary decibels; that someday the American hostess will abandon her notion that a perpetual yackety-yak, however pointless, is necessary to the success of her parties; and that municipal authorities will get tough with the mobile loud-speakers which range the streets, expectorating racket into the ears of workers who are trying to think.

Meanwhile, for the protection of the harassed fugitive, there remain these three retreats — the soundproofed room, total deafness, and the public library, and the greatest of these is the public library. May God rest the soul of Andrew Carnegie, who fashioned better than he thought.

The way in which laborers are working is astonishing to a Canadian. None of them seem to be putting any heart into their efforts. Many firms and industries are compelled not only to give time for afternoon tea, but also to furnish the tea, for which they are allowed special rations.

Employers have little or no control over their employees, and would not dare reprimand them for even flagrant carelessness. As one man expressed it, "workers formerly had two incentives, first, to improve themselves and their position, and second, to avoid being dismissed. Now both these incentives are gone".

Another reason why the system does not work well, is the way in which officials, of which there are no end, are not willing or able to accept responsibility, but must tie everything up in red tape.

So many things are under permits, that all initiative or aggressiveness is stifled. I encountered many instances of foolish obstructions being placed in the way of improvements.

One of the most remarkable pieces of legislation passed by the labor government is the land act, which is designed to prevent anyone from making any profit on the sale of real estate. It will have the effect of drying up business in real estate.

To my mind, the most serious result of the experiment in socialism will be the deterioration of the moral fibre of the people. The English people always were the most conscientious people in the world, but all this socialism will breed a nation with less respect for the law. The United States found that the "noble experiment" in prohibition resulted in a serious let-down in respect for all laws, and the same thing is beginning to appear in England.

This may be seen in growth of black markets in a country where black markets formerly were an abhorrence. Gasoline restrictions have caused people to try to evade the regulations to the point where ususually severe punishment is meted out to violators, but it just seems to increase the attempts to get around the law. A recent news despatch reported that shoplifting cases in England in 1947 were up 40 per cent over 1946.

None of these may be serious in themselves, but it illustrates a trend which is the outcome of too many and too onerous regulations.

In regard to the future, there is the feeling that England will muddle through, and history would seem to bear that out, for there is a certain similarity between the government of Cromwell and that of the present government. Cromwell was out to suppress the churches because he thought they had too much power and money. The present government is out to suppress the so-called capitalists because it thinks they have too much power and money.

The imprint of the Cromwell regime is still to be seen in England, and the imprint of the labor government will remain for many years, but I still think that the English people have too much common sense to allow this government to stay in office for long.

In closing this series of articles, I would sum up by saying that to my mind, England is one of the most interesting and beautiful countries in the world to visit, but it is no place to live under present conditions. This seems to be the opinion of a great many in England, for everywhere I went, I found people anxious to move out to Canada, Australia, Africa, and the United States. Many of them are only deterred from going on account of the fact that they cannot take money out of the country. Too many feel that it is a hopeless situation, but most people still live in the expectation that conditions will improve.

Popular Entertainer

Mart Kenny, popular band leader, whose Western Gentlemen's distinctive music is a highlight of the Canadian Cavalcade broadcasts again this season. Mart and his boys have returned to the air after a summer absence. You can hear Canadian Cavalcade Tuesdays at 8.30 p.m. . . Since they were organized in 1931, the Western Gentlemen have been famous for their smooth, easy rhythms. This summer they've been on a tour that's taken them from Toronto to Halifax. But the boys are used to travel — they've been crossing Canada every year since 1943, to play for dances in everything from swank city hotels to rural pavilions.

As often as a study is cultivated by narrow minds, they will draw from it narrow conclusions.

Air Hospital Service for Berlin

Britain's aircraft, flying essential supplies into beleaguered Berlin, have started a hospital service on their return journeys, according to an announcement by the British Military Government headquarters in Berlin. From September 20 eighty seats have been available daily to undernourished children and others in need of hospital treatment. Vacancies are given to cases needing treatment which cannot be obtained in the German capital. They are being flown to hospitals in the British zone. Hitherto planes engaged on Berlin airlift have returned with industrial freight and mail only.

Encouraging Reports At Annual Meeting Of Baptist Church

The annual meeting of the Lachute Baptist Church was held recently, with Pastor W. H. Britton in the chair. Encouraging reports were heard of the different departments of the church, namely, the Bible School, Y. P. Fellowship, Junior Dorcas, Women's Mission Circle, Happy Hour and Daily Vacation Bible School.

The financial report presented by the church treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Morrison, was most gratifying. The report showed a decided increase in receipts, the church free of all debt, with a balance on hand in the General Fund, and $300 in the Building Fund towards the new heating system. Over $500 was given towards Home and Foreign Missions. . . After the reading of this outstanding report, the members rose and sang the Doxology.

Officers elected were — Church clerk, Mrs. David Brown; treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Morrison; deacons and trustees, Messrs. W. J. Morrison, James Murdoch and Nelson Titley.

At Brownsburg United

Brownsburg—The Men's Chorus group, under the direction of Mr. Warner Norman, organist and choir director of St. James United Church, Montreal, has resumed its autumn and winter rehearsals, on Thursdays evenings, at 8 o'clock, in the United Church. A decided increase in the attendance indicates not only that Mr. Norman's leadership is appreciated, but that the men also are anxious to improve their attainments in this regard and make their contribution to the world of music. Two concerts are in the offing — one at Christmas and another at Easter.

Couple Wed in Ottawa To Reside at Brownsburg

Creswell - Wilson

On October 9 at 7 p.m., the home of Capt. and Mrs. Arthur L. Ferguson, 571 Melbourne Avenue, Ottawa, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding when Capt. Ferguson's cousin, Miss Inez Sophia Wilson, of Saint John, N.B., became the bride of Mr. Robert George Creswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Creswell, of Brownsburg.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Malcolm L. Orchard, of Ottawa, in the presence of the members of the immediate families. The rooms were tastefully decorated with chrysanthemums and carnations.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Leslie Ferguson, of Saint John, N. B., wore a light blue wool gabardine suit and feather hat to match, and carried American Beauty roses. Her only ornament was a heart-shaped gold locket, the gift of the groom.

She was attended by Miss Rose Newton, of Buckingham, who wore a blue suit with black accessories, and carried a bouquet of pink mums and white carnations.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Alvin D. Tomalty, of Brownsburg.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served in the dining room, which was prettily decorated with autumn leaves, greens and flowers. In the centre of the table was a large wedding cake.

Mrs. Ferguson, aunt of the bride, wore an ensemble in black and white. Mrs. Creswell, mother of the groom, wore a grey tailored suit with black accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Robert Tomalty, grandmother of the groom, was dressed in black and wore a corsage of lavender flowers.

Later that evening the bride and groom boarded a train at Ottawa to spend their honeymoon at Niagara Falls and Toronto. The bride travelled in her wedding suit with a wine-colored suede topcoat and black accessories; she wore a corsage of bronze mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Creswell were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. They will make their home in Brownsburg.

On Wedding Trip To Bermuda

Stewart - Damant

At a private ceremony held at 2 o'clock Saturday, October 16, the marriage was solemnized of Mrs. Rollande Damant, widow of the late Lloyd R. Damant, formerly of Val d'Or and Montreal and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Bacon, of Val d'Or, to Mr. John Allen Stewart, of Brownsburg.

Unattended, the bride wore a model gown of honey-colored satin, the yoke being inserted with imported lace and with a full ankle-length skirt. She wore matching lace mitts and a lace mantilla pinned on the shoulder with a corsage bouquet of orchids.

Dalesville Man Takes Bride in City Ceremony

Gunn - Patey

The marriage of Leah Fedoria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Patey, of St. Anthony, Newfoundland, to Elden Kitchener, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gunn, of Dalesville, took place quietly in Snowdon Baptist Church, Earnscliffe Avenue, Notre Dame de Grace, on Saturday, October 16, at 4.30 o'clock.

The Rev. J. R. Armstrong officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Armstrong played the wedding music.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Dora Gunn, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. Mr. Lloyd Morash, of Dartmouth, N.S., was best man for the groom.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Windsor Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunn left later by plane for New York, Atlantic City and other points. On their return they will reside on Outremont Avenue, Montreal.

The bride, who was unattended, was attired in dove grey with hat to match; she was given in marriage by Mr. A. Jones, of Montreal.

Miss A. Davidson, of Cushing, played the wedding music and Miss Elsie Dorion, of St. Andrews East, sang "I'll Walk Beside You", during the signing of the register.

NEED RESEARCH

Montreal (CP)—A solid program of fundamental research — and not miracles or "lucky" finds — is needed to solve the cancer problem, Dr. H. E. Rawlinson, professor of anatomy at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, told an audience at McGill University here.

The most comfortable temperature for the kitchen is about 66 degrees F. during the winter.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Ready for Hallowe'en

Hallowe'en is always a good excuse for a party. Children expect it and adults enjoy dressing in costume and being carefree for at least one evening.

For the homemaker, a party means preparing food and often the thought of the extra work entailed, weighs her decision against entertaining. At Hallowe'en, because of the nature of the festivities, the refreshments may be very simple. Rosy apples, popcorn and cider are always part of the menu, and may be all that is required, but sandwiches, cookies or a plain cake are always welcomed.

Canapes (open faced sandwiches) are easy to make and the spread is decorative. Special for Hallowe'en are rounds of bread cut with a large cookie cutter, spread with cheese and decorated to form the features of a Jack o' Lantern, with sweet green or red peppers, cloves and sliced stuffed olives. Other spreads are equally good but do not lend themselves so well to the color scheme. One of the following may appeal:

Peanut butter garnished with bacon curls, cherries or grapes.

Cheese with half a marshmallow on top, toasted and served hot.

Plain spice or ginger cookies may be cut with fancy cutters making cats or witches, or plain round ones may have faces, made with raisins and orange peel.

A dark chocolate cake lends itself to such a party. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Ottawa, recommend this economical one. It will not keep well but there is no need to worry about that as it will likely disappear very quickly. An orange icing may be used, but the cake does not require it.

Chocolate Cake

½ Cup butter, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup cocoa, ½ cup boiling water, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ cup buttermilk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon lemon extract, ½ teaspoon almond extract.

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs. Mix cocoa and boiling water to smooth paste. Add to creamy mixture. Add soda to milk. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with milk. Add flavorings. Pour into a pan about 10" x 18" and bake in moderate oven 350°F., for 50 minutes. Yield: about 36 pieces.

Gingersnaps

⅔ Cup molasses, ½ cup mild-flavored fat, 2 cups sifted pastry flour (or 1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour), ½ teaspoon baking soda, 2 teaspoons ginger, ¾ teaspoon salt.

Heat molasses to boiling point and pour over fat. Add sifted dry ingredients and mix well. Chill, roll, and cut into desired shapes. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., for 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Grand Mistress Visits Grenville L.O.B.A Lodge

(Our District Correspondent)

Grenville — The annual meeting of "No Surrender" Lodge No. 210, L.O.B.A., was held on Tuesday evening, October 12, in the Orange Hall. Miss B. Dumoulin, acting Worshipful Mistress, presided for the welcoming of the Provincial Grand Mistress, Mrs. Mabel Ball of Brownsburg, who made her official visit. Among others present were the Rev. G. T. Spriggs, past Grand Master for P.E.I., members from Cassburn, Ont., Lachute, Harrington and Avoca. Over 50 members attended the meeting, which proved both interesting and enjoyable. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

FASHION HINT

Beautiful color tones distinguish the autumn dress parade. Linton tweed in a lavender shade is combined with purple wool jersey to make this charming coat and dress ensemble. It is wearable, young, and good for travel, college and general wear. The one-piece dress has a two-piece look and uses set-in bands of the tweed to outline the deep armhole. The coat is simple, loose-swinging, and is lined in the purple jersey of the dress top.

Unseemly Sidelights At Church Weddings

Sunderland, Eng. (CP) — Rev. Robert Burt, disturbed by "unseemly conduct" at weddings, wrote in his parish magazine that "many couples ought to go elsewhere than church to be married."

These are some of his own experiences, he said:

". . . I was just in time to stop the bridegroom lighting a cigarette already in his mouth."

"There was a very charming young lady who saw no reason why selections from "The Chocolate Soldier" shouldn't be played on the organ at her wedding."

". . . I had to stand waiting in the middle of the service while the happy couple embraced in a long, lingering kiss."

"I have had to stop a hymn to ask the bride and groom to cease whispering."

"There have been times when the smell of alcohol from the wedding party has been enough to knock one down."

"All this, of course, is most unseemly," he wrote.

"Sometimes after a wedding I have had the awful feeling that the bride and groom would have done much better to have married at the registry office."

When a public speaker asked the chairman how long he should speak he was told to watch the audience's reaction. "If you haven't struck oil in five minutes", the chairman said, "quit boring".

Canning Chicken

Everything from the garden has been stored away for winter use. The cellar may seem to be overflowing so that there is not an inch of space on the shelves; but the sealers and cans of vegetables and fruits must be pushed over to make room for canned chicken.

The old boarders from last year's flock should be culled from the flock as well as the young cockerels and although chicken may be enjoyed often in the fall months it is a satisfaction to have some canned and ready for quick meals all winter.

The home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa recommend two methods of canning chicken. Both are good. There is also a recipe for an extra good chicken fricassee to use at any time.

Canning Chicken — Method 1

Skin and remove excess fat. Cut into large pieces (drumsticks, thighs, breast, back and wings). Remove meat from breast and back. Pack the raw meat in clean jars or in tin cans, placing one piece with bone in centre of sealer. This will allow heat to penetrate to the centre of the sealer during processing and will also improve flavor of meat. Leave ½ inch headspace. Add 1 teaspoon of salt to a quart sealer. If desired, add seasonings to taste, e.g. 1 carrot and 1 small onion. Do not add any liquid.

Partially seal jars and completely seal tin cans. Process 1½ hours in pressure cooker at 10 lbs. pressure or 3 hours in the boiling water bath, counting time from when the water is actually boiling vigorously. Complete seal of sealers as soon as jars are removed from pressure cooker or water bath. Do not invert to cool. Cool tin cans in cold water.

Canning Chicken — Method 2

Remove excess fat, leave skin on. Cut in pieces. For a fowl of about 4½ lbs. (dressed weight) add 1 pint of water and boil 1 hour in a closely covered kettle. For a chicken of the same size, add 1 cup of water and boil half an hour. Remove skin and bones. Strain liquid through cheesecloth and cool. Remove surplus fat. Pack cooked meat in sealers or tin cans. Add 1 teaspoon salt to a quart. Cover with boiling liquid leaving ½ inch headspace. Partially seal sealers and completely seal tin cans. Process 1½ hours in pressure cooker at 10 lbs. pressure or 3 hours in boiling water bath. Cool tin cans in cold water.

One chicken of 4 to 5 pounds (dressed weight) will approximately fill one quart sealer and one pint sealer or 1 28-oz. tin and 1 20-oz. tin.

Chicken Fricassee

1 Fowl (about 5 to 6 pounds), 1 cups milk, ½ cup flour, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup fat, ¼ cup minced onion (or ½ teaspoon onion salt), 1½ cups water.

Cut up fowl in pieces for serving. Dip each piece in milk. Coat with mixture of flour, salt and pepper. Brown chicken in fat in heavy frying pan. Remove pieces to casserole. Cook onion in fat left in pan. Blend in remaining flour. Add remaining milk and water, stirring until mixture thickens. Pour over chicken. Cover and bake in a moderately slow oven, 325°F., for 1½ to 2 hours. Yield: six servings.

Note: Water may be used to replace milk.

Ahuntsic Minstrel Troupe Booked for Auditorium; Church Benefit Show

"Jack Hill's Black Diamond Minstrels", performing here November 6 under auspices of the United Church young women's group, were first formed about 25 years ago, when the troupe was composed of a group of young boys living in Ahuntsic anxious to show their talent by giving a concert at the local church. Jack Hill, who put the boys through their training, has always been active in entertainment. After several years of inactivity, a couple of the boys of the originals thought it would be a good idea to again put on a minstrel show, and approached Mr. Hill, asking if he would act as Mr. Interlocutor. He jumped at the opportunity, and the scouts went out for talent. After a period of rehearsals the "Black Diamonds" again came in to the entertainment circles, and their first performances for two nights were given to the United Church in Ahuntsic early this year, with an overflowing audience. A repeat performance was requested in the same hall, besides other districts of Montreal. Many of the present cast were with the original junior group, and others now with the troupe are all from the Ahuntsic United Church.

The troupe is booked for several engagements, and in the New Year will produce a complete new show. The present show is quite a variety one, with the first part comprising the whole troupe in songs, jokes, etc. The second half is also very musical, with a final comedy sketch by the complete cast. In all, the minstrel show gives a well enjoyed evening of entertainment.

Variety of Interests in Argenteuil Women's Inst. Meetings for October

REPORTS FROM SEVERAL COUNTY BRANCHES SHOW AUTUMN ACTIVITIES IN FULL SWING

Members of the Arundel W.I. heard from two guest speakers at their October meeting. Mrs. W. Fletcher, of Brownsburg, gave a demonstration on leather work and Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield, gave a talk on the Leadership course at Macdonald College. A year's subscription to the Canadian Geographical Magazine was donated to the school library.

Fourteen members and six visitors of Frontier Branch heard a talk on Handicrafts and on the Leadership course at Macdonald College. Fruit was sent to two members who were ill, and a letter of sympathy to a bereaved member. The roll-call at this meeting was, "A home remedy for colds".

Lachute Branch received a letter from one of the English families to whom they send their "personal parcels". Miss Janet McOuat gave a demonstration on appetizers, making different kinds of fruit cocktails, canapés and hors d'oeuvres.

Mrs. Geo. Leggett, county president, attended the Lakefield meeting and gave an interesting talk on W. I. work in Canada and other countries. This branch plans to send another personal parcel overseas. Arrangements were made for a Christmas treat for the children of the community, and the First Aid kit in the school is to be replenished. The roll-call was "Cures for a Cold".

Education was the topic at Pioneer Branch meeting, with the Rev. A. G. Moore of Cushing as guest speaker. He stressed the lack of kindergarten teaching in this locality, and gave a brief comparison of the educational system here and in Newfoundland, the "10th Province" to be. A 15 lb. box was reported sent overseas, and plans made for a Christmas box. This branch is holding a dance and card party in St. Andrews East town hall October 29, to raise money for the funds.

Subject of the roll-call at Jerusalem - Bethany meeting was very relevant — "One thing I can do to make my Institute a successful one". It was decided to cater to a supper later in the month for the Farm Forum groups. This branch was glad to welcome to its meeting Mrs. Geo. Leggett, the county president, who spoke briefly on Institute work. Mrs. J. Hay, of Kamloops, B.C., gave a short talk on the work done by her branch. An Ayers blanket has been given to a hostel home at Stonefield, Que. A box was sent overseas under the "personal parcel scheme".

Morin Heights Branch reports that the "military whist" held in September netted the funds $21, and the quilt raffled the same evening brought in $68.55. At the October meeting Mrs. Lacken, convener of Education, introduced Mr. Haughton, principal of the school, who gave a short talk on Education. Miss Theresa McConnell, convener of Health and Welfare, introduced Dr. L. Turcotte, county health officer, who gave an interesting talk on First Aid. Letters of thanks were received from the W.I. in England which receives parcels from this branch under the "personal parcel scheme". The sum of $10 was voted for the school, to purchase recreation equipment. Members paid Blue Cross fees.

Education was the topic at the Upper Lachute - East End meeting. The convener, Mrs. John Gordon, spoke on "Advancements of Education". Selections were played on the radio-phonograph. Mrs. Geo. Leggett, county president, attended the session and spoke on W. I. work, both here and in her birthplace, Kent County, England. A paper was read on the highlights of Miss Hanna Smith's trip to the coast. A new member was welcomed to the branch.

Town Secretary Resigns Office

A special meeting of Town Council was called last Saturday to consider the resignation of the secretary, Albini Lamarche, who had given notice to terminate his duties on November 15 next. Mr. Lamarche's resignation was accepted, and it was decided to call for applications for the secretaryship, to be considered at the next general meeting, November 3.

Mayor Alex Bothwell presided. Three members of the council were absent — Aldermen D. G. MacRae, Jos. Belanger and W. S. MacKimmie.

Speaker Offers Ideal of Service as Stimulant for Tired Business Man

BROWNSBURG ROTARY CLUB HEARS REPRESENTATIVE OF BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

Brownsburg — "What makes the tired business man tired?" An answer to this question was given to the Brownsburg Rotary Club at last Thursday's meeting, by one well posted on the perplexities of Business. The speaker was Claude Root, general manager of the Better Business Bureau in Montreal.

The meeting — besides being an inter-club session, with fellow-Rotarians present from the Verdun and Montreal branches — also took on a national and international hue, for there were Rotary members in attendance from Vancouver, from the Province of Alberta, and even from Scotland. Linton W. Armstrong presided in the absence of President Norm Somers, and a profitable evening was enjoyed by all who attended.

The guest speaker was introduced by Rotarian Harold Dando, and thanked by Rotarian Stewart Jones.

Mr. Claude Root said, in part: "Last month Columnist H. I. Phillips enumerated some of the reasons behind the worried look worn almost universally by businessmen today. I think it's worth passing on: 'I am the Tired Businessman. I am weary of the accusing finger, the dirty look, the scornful stare and the loud leer. I am weary of being pictured as a Simon Legree, Captain Bligh, Atilla the Terrible, a louse and a pig. I am weary of accusations, hotfoots, rabbit punches and unnecessary roughness. I am fed up with being flattened at first, spiked at second, kicked in the shins at third, and called out at home. . . I am sick of trying to do business under mounting difficulties and embarrassments. . . I am the Tired Businessman. I am tired of the current presentation as a man without a heart, a guy without a kindly impulse, a pinhead with a pincer movement. I am sick of being the villain of the drama. I am fed up with the battle to get money under difficulties in order to lose it with no difficulties whatever. I am

Returns to Enter Store Business

A popular stand on Main Street — the tobacconist store acquired by Hervé Filfe some months ago from Alex Gervais — has again changed hands. The new proprietor is a former resident here, Clifford Cunningham, who will shortly take over the business in person. Meanwhile Mr. Filfe will continue in his trade as merchant tailor, in the east side of the premises now used for this purpose.

Cliff Cunningham is well known to many in this town, where he served several years as teller in the Bank of Nova Scotia. He later served in other branches and latterly in Montreal, having spent 22 years altogether in the banking profession.

Two Games Each In League Finals; Climax Sunday

BROWNSBURG AND HULL TIED IN EXCITING 3-OF-5 SERIES

Brownsburg — For the 24th Sunday this season, the Brownsburg ball fans turned out to support their home team, and they were in no way disappointed with the results; Brownsburg defeated Hull 5 to 4, at Hull, in ten innings of breath-taking ball to even up the finals, two games all, in an exciting 3-out-of-5 series.

This Sunday in Brownsburg will see the deciding game for the championship of the Papineau Baseball League.

Maurice Vallee again pitched the Burg to victory, and although the team were in a few tight spots they played a good game and gave their pitcher the backing he deserved.

We would like to retract a statement made in these reports two weeks ago about the star first-baseman Fern St. Onge, when we referred to his effortless running on bases. On Sunday last, Hull had a man on first, who tried to steal to second; pitcher Vallee threw the ball to Fern intending him to try to trap the player between bases — but Fern, remembering how some of those plays failed so miserably this season, decided to do the play alone, and he ran! To such effect that he overtook the runner four feet from second base to score the out unassisted.

It is hard to pick a star out of the type of ball the Burgers played last Sunday, for they were all in there to win — as the results show.

A good turnout is expected this coming Sunday in Brownsburg, when the Burg will play host to the Hull club; this will definitely be the last game of a very enjoyable season for the local fans — the outcome of which, we hope, will bring the championship of the Papineau League to the Burg for the first time.

The line-up for last Sunday's game was:

R. Prud'homme, C; M. Vallee, P; F. St. Onge, 1B; R. Summers, 2B; R. Maude, SS; H. King, 3B; K. Simpson, LF; J. Murdoch, CF; M. Thompson, RF.

Death Calls Noted Figure in Affairs Of Arundel Village

LATE CHAS. J. STANIFORTH A STALWART IN CIVIC AND COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

Gathered at the funeral of the late Charles J. Staniforth, at Arundel on Wednesday afternoon, were friends and fellow citizens from many parts of this county — for the name of Mr. Staniforth has been synonymous with Arundel and its development for several decades past.

Mr. Staniforth, who had latterly resided with his son Percy in Montreal, passed to his reward last Monday at the age of 77; for the past two years he had been in indifferent health. He was a native of Arundel, born in the year 1871, the son of David Staniforth and his wife Jane Sanderson. A pioneer merchant of the village, he was also keenly active in civic affairs, in education, politics, and fraternity work. He served 30 years as mayor of his municipality, and was Warden of Argenteuil County for several terms. He was also secretary of the local school board for many years, and one-time president of the old Argenteuil County Conservative Association. In 1925 he was district deputy grand master of the Masonic Order for Ottawa district.

The late "Charlie" Staniforth is mourned by his wife, the former Jessie P. Wilson of Lachute; three sons, Percy, at Arundel, R. Perley, of White Rock, B.C., and Haig, of Ottawa; two daughters, Mrs. W. H. Barnes (Margaret), of Ottawa, and Mrs. C. J. Baugh (Jessie), of Joliette; and several grandchildren. He is survived also by his brother, J. A. Staniforth, of Arundel.

The funeral was attended by a large assembly, who gathered to pay tribute to a sterling figure in the life and progress of the community. The Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield, officiated at the service.

JUST TOO MUCH

Montreal (CP) — Outremont's legal lights must whip-up a new by-law as a result of complaints by residents that radios are "being played too late at night — too early in the morning — and too loud all day." The city council handed the problem over to the city manager.

Plan Local Drive, $15,000 for Legion Building Fund

On Wednesday evening a meeting was held in the Victoria Hall, under the chairmanship of the Mayor Alex Bothwell, with the object of setting up committees in the Town of Lachute to make a house to house canvass in support of the building fund of the local Legion. It is understood the objective has been set at $15,000. Subscriptions may be handed to Mr. W. M. Steeves at the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Lachute Town Council has voted $1,000 towards the project, and it is hoped that the public will respond wholeheartedly in this worthy cause.

Late B'burg Citizen Master Craftsman In Machinist Trade

George Hardie Mourned by Fellow Townsfolk

A lifelong resident of Brownsburg, George Hardie, passed away on Wednesday morning after a brief illness.

Born in Brownsburg, Mr. Hardie was the son of Richard Hardie and his wife Letitia Ann Carpenter. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Kilgour, of Scotland, in 1919.

For over 50 years he had been a faithful employee in the ammunition works at Brownsburg, and had seen both the village and company steadily expand. He retired on pension a number of years ago, but during the recent war he was recalled to lend both his advice and services, for he was recognized as a skilled tradesman in toolmaking.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife, two sons, Andrew, of Brownsburg, Kilgour, of Montreal, and one daughter, Ruth, of Montreal. A brother, Clarence, and sister, Mrs. Frank Hazel (Olive), also remain.

The late Mr. Hardie belonged to both the Oddfellow and Masonic orders, and was a member of the Brownsburg United Church, where the funeral service will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Fashion Parade at Club Ladies' Night

For the second year the Lions Club fashion parade, staged last Friday at their ladies' night at Lachute Golf Club, was a real feature. Taking first honors as a nurse was Lion Joe Joly, the genial host of the Victoria Hotel. Lions Alex Vessie and Gabriel Valois took second and third place, respectively, as a blasé school girl and a Japanese dancer. Other features were spot and balloon dances and a quiz show in which everyone won a prize. Supper was served towards the end of the evening.

The Lions Club wishes to publicly acknowledge the gift of an Ayers blanket from the Lachute branch of the Canadian Legion, which was won as a door prize by Mr. Trenholme Bishop.

Dick Kendrick, of Verdun, the Lions Deputy District Governor and his wife, who were guests of President and Mrs. George L. Davis, attended the party. The Lions with their ladies and guests, nearly 150 in all, spent one of the most enjoyable evenings in the history of the club, and much of the success was due to the untiring efforts of Lion Ralph FitzGerald, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Town-Planning Discussed by Expert At Chamber of Commerce Gathering

INSIGHT INTO "ONE OF MAJOR SCIENCES OF GENERATION"

Guest speaker at a banquet of the Chamber of Commerce last Thursday evening was Charlevoix E. Campeau, civil engineer and town-planner, who touched upon many angles of his profession, including certain reference to his work in the planning department of the City of Montreal. About 75 members of the Chamber and fellow citizens were present to hear Mr. Campeau's address and to enjoy the fellowship of this event, which was held at the Golf Club chalet.

Jean-Bruno Menard, president of the Chamber of Commerce, occupied the chair. Seated at the head table were the guest speaker; Georges H. Héon, K.C., M.P.; Bertrand L'Heureux, past-president, Gerald Walker, vice-president, and André Lefebvre, secretary, of the C. or C.; J. N. Bousquet, president of the St. Jerome C. of C. and regional chairman; Stanley Holt and Jos. Belanger, aldermen of Lachute Town Council.

During this successful evening Harold D. Parsons was song-leader for the old favorite selections, with Maurice Foucault piano accompanist, and Miss Betty Brown, of Montreal, also entertained with popular songs.

Bertrand L'Heureux introduced the speaker — referring to his work in connection with Montreal planning and his collaboration with Jacques Greber, the noted French planner, in preparing plans for the Ottawa "federal district". . . . And in thanking Mr. Campeau, Georges H. Héon, M.P., referred to his topic rather as a well prepared "thesis", a treatment showing a most complete understanding of his subject. The physical and sociological aspects of planning lacked something, however, if they had not the backing of personal responsibility in every citizen, the civic sense and the spirit of service — added Mr. Héon.

City government today has become so complex as to require a knowledge of widely varied services — education, public health, medicine, law, fire prevention, finance, industrial management, labor relations, and so on. As an example, consider the items appearing in the financial statement of your own town: property and amusement taxes, licenses and permits, investments, loan obligations, public utilities, reserves, unemployment contributions, general administration, firefighting service, police service, street lighting, public works, health, garbage disposal, public charity, hospitalization, welfare, recreation and community endeavors.

The local government official must concern himself with all these phases of administration. It is a major undertaking, even when considered from the dollar standpoint. The Town of Lachute, with over 5,000 population, is a $3,000,000 enterprise with an annual budget of $60,000. It is no longer a matter of "small potatoes". . . And in the case of Montreal, the municipal valuation amounts to $1-billion; the annual budget $70-million.

The immense growth of our towns and cities has vastly increased the problems of administration. Two facts have become imminent: municipal affairs demand scientific methods today, and the taxpayers find themselves

Asks Co-operation Of Public, to Curb Drunken Driving

JAIL, LICENSE SUSPENDED; FIRST CASE TRIED IN CRIMINAL ASSIZES

Criminal assizes before the Court of King's Bench (Crown Side) were opened at St. Jerome early this month, and postponed until Tuesday of last week for hearing of the various cases on the roll. Jurymen were empanelled for the trials.

All cases, except those against eight Witnesses of Jehovah, have to do with manslaughter charges arising out of deaths through automobile accidents.

In the first case heard, that of Albert Cyr, of Lachute, charged in the death of O. Pilon, St. André Avellin, in an automobile accident at St. Philippe last year, the accused was found guilty of criminal negligence, condemned to four months in jail, and deprived of his driver's license for two years.

In asking the Court to deprive the accused of his license, Georges H. Héon, K.C., the Crown Attorney, stated that in recent years automobiles driven by drunken drivers had literally become "instruments of death", and that in this district alone, 11 persons had been killed in the last two years through reckless driving.

A warning should be given to all offenders that conviction would bring withdrawal of driving permits, and the prosecutor also asked that the public co-operate with the police in denouncing drunken drivers. Too often, he said, those who criticized reckless drivers most loudly, were unwilling to appear in Court and testify.

Quebec's Role in Lumber Industry Emphasized by Local Manufacturer

INSPECTION SERVICE PRAISED, AT ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF HARDWOOD LUMBER ASS'N

At the annual convention of the National Hardwood Lumber Association, held recently in Toronto, one of Argenteuil's industries was represented in the session of discussions — Mr. Don McMahon, of Geo. Dansereau & Fils Ltée, having given an address on behalf of Mr. Georges E. Dansereau in the latter's unavoidable absence.

There were roughly 500 in the Toronto audience, composed of members of this Association, 90 per cent of whom were in attendance from the United States—and the paper prepared by Mr. Dansereau for this occasion gave an appreciable boost to the prestige of Quebec Province among the lumbering interests. Following, in brief, was the substance of the address:

When I refer to the importance of Quebec in the hardwood lumbering industry, many may be surprised at just how significant that role is.

Out of a total of 518 million feet of hardwood lumber produced in Canada in 1946, 341 million feet came from the Province of Quebec. This is almost half of the national total.

The sister province of Ontario was next in line as a producer of hardwoods with 167 million feet and New Brunswick third with 43 million.

I would judge roughly that a total quantity of between 40 and 45 million feet of lumber was inspected by this Association in Quebec last year.

This inspection service is of great importance and is the key to the welfare and progress of our industry, and it is necessary for the maintenance of a good understanding between buyer and seller.

At the present time Quebec has some 2,000 sawmills and probably all of these handle softwood as well as hardwood; at any rate, the exceptions are very few. A good many of these have a production of less than a million feet and are not in a position to have full-time hardwood inspectors on their payroll. This accounts for the demands being made upon the National Hardwood Association and its qualified staff. This use of the Association's inspection service has been a good thing for the industry in general, for the mill owner has come to realize more fully the value in dollars and cents of each grade and has concentrated on better and more profitable production.

Our Canadian hardwoods are chiefly birch, maple and basswood, with a percentage of beech, ash and elm. Of these birch is by far the leader and is already known on many markets of the world. It is a preferred wood for furniture industries, the automobile trade, flooring and interior trimwork, and in addition to this we have in Eastern Canada, and in Quebec especially, created a new and important industry in recent years. I refer to the veneer people who use in Quebec alone some 40 to 50 million feet of the top-end logs each year which are turned and manufactured into plywood.

Unfortunately the birch in a few places in the east has in recent years become affected but we hope that this situation will soon be improved through the research work now being done by government technical staffs.

The work accomplished by the Association's inspecting staff throughout Canada and in the United States cannot be overemphasized.

It was highly gratifying last winter to read about the hardwood inspection school which was founded in Memphis, Tenn.

Personally I would like to see some of our young men in Quebec take advantage of the inspection school, and I hope that those in a position to do so will lend their assistance that this be possible.

It is a great pleasure to have our American friends and business associates with us in Toronto today. This is the first convention of the Association in Canada and I hope that they will bring back with them a good souvenir of their stay among us.

Thanks to the National Hardwood Lumber Association, the hardwood industry on the North American Continent knows no boundary lines. Business between Canada and the United States is carried on amicably, with confidence and a feeling of proximity, in spite of the many miles that frequently separate buyer and seller, that is truly amazing.

For a number of years now the lumber industry has been in a very favorable position. We have had, in large part, a seller's market, but what the future holds it is difficult for any of us to say.

However, we have another common interest which transcends the confines of our business world.

It is not only the task of our governments, but it is the duty of every one of us, to strive for the re-establishment of a better world, and to win, definitely, the peace. The leaders in industry are in a position to bring about, through their activity in their own separate groups, greater happiness and greater appreciation of the conditions in which we live on this continent. This will contribute to the resistance, which should be built more and more, against the infiltration of subversive ideas. Let us be conscious of what each of us can do and not take the neutral position of letting the other fellow do the job.

Moves to Joliette

Det. Leopold Dauphin, formerly of Lachute, was here Monday to transfer his family to Joliette, where he has been stationed for the past several weeks in charge of provincial police in that district. In the course of his duties here, Det. Dauphin made many friends — and he expressed his sincere regret on severing ties with this community.

SECOND POTATO YIELD

Marked Decrease In Quebec TB. Rate

The death rate from tuberculosis in the Province of Quebec has decreased by nearly seven points during the year 1947, according to a survey made by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The figures of the Bureau indicate a general drop in the TB. death rate throughout Canada amounting to almost four points for the past year.

The following table of comparisons show how TB. in Candada has decreased, except in Prince Edward Island and Saskatchewan, where slight increases are recorded. The figure for 1946 is in brackets.

Ontario, 24.9 (25.4); Saskatchewan, 27.7 (26.6); Alberta, 32.2 (37.1); Manitoba, 41.7 (44.6); Nova Scotia, 49.8 (61.9); British Columbia 51.3 (57.7); New Brunswick, 53.2 (57.9); Quebec 65.6 (72.2); Prince Edward Island, 67.0 (58.5); and Canada as a whole, 43.4 (47.2).

The report of the Bureau stated that "not since 1937 has there been a decrease of such magnitude." It added:

For Quebec, too, the 1947 figures represent a milestone. The rate is 65.6, a decrease of 6.6 points from the 1946 rate of 72.2.

Decision on Margarine Expected November 15

Ottawa (CP) — The Supreme Court decision on the validity of the Parliament's ban on margarine is expected about November 15. The judgment had been expected earlier but was delayed by a heavy roll of cases before the court.

The court heard argument on the constitutionality of the legislation early this month. The Dominion argued that the prohibiting act, passed 62 years ago, was within the competence of Parliament, while opposing groups held that the ban should come under provincial jurisdiction.

Gatineau LINES

This "save power" message is directed particularly to customers who cook by electricity — and that means a large majority of the 45,000 families served by Gatineau Power Company.

Owners of electric ranges can help save electricity in these power-shortage days by the simple process of turning off the stove 10 or 15 minutes before the cooking job is finished. The heating elements in electric stoves retain their heat a long time — so long that practically all such ranges will keep water boiling, vegetables cooking and ovens hot for at least 10 or 15 minutes after the power is turned off. If the power is left on for those final minutes, it just means that much power wasted — and as electric stoves take quite a lot of electricity, the waste is fairly substantial.

Try it next time, and see if your particular range doesn't continue to do a good cooking job for some time after you have stopped using electricity.

Just how important it is to save power right now can be judged from a report on recent rainfall in the Gatineau district. Last month, we could normally expect about 3½ inches of rain in this area, where our electricity is produced from water-power. Instead, we got something like ¾ of an inch. In other words we had only about ⅛ the normal amount of rain — and we needed much more than normal because we had already had so much dry weather that rivers and lakes had fallen dangerously low. That is why power companies everywhere have been experiencing the greatest difficulty in trying to maintain the flow of electricity from their power plants.

In view of the seriousness of the whole water supply situation, you may feel that such a little thing as turning off an electric stove promptly won't help very much — but it does help. Everything you do to save power helps these days.

Town-Planning Is Discussed by Expert

Too often in the past, municipal practices have been decided on arbitrary rules, by limited opinions, by supposed priority rights, resulting in policies formed by well-intentioned administrators but without knowledge or regard to fundamental necessities. . . In view of the increasing demands and measures applied for their solution, it is really surprising that town administrators have done as well as they have in the past; this is a distinct tribute to their civic spirit and devotion.

Planning Provides A Remedy

What is "Planning", and how can it contribute to better administration? Lewis, the American planner, states: "Planning is the exercise of foresight, to promote harmonious and orderly development of the town and its surroundings, with due regard to public health, convenience of the citizenry, commercial and industrial progress".

Unhappily, the word "planning" is applied to individual needs of the community. To the engineer and architect, it means housing, transport, healthful surroundings, civic beauty and public works. To the economist it means municipal finance, sound commerce and industry; and so forth. . . But actually, planning comprises the entire community; it embraces all these studies, which are interdependent in the town welfare.

Planning has never been the vague, imaginative theory which some believe it to be. Too often the ideal, Utopian mode of life is pictured, thoroughly irreconcilable with the actual facts. We have no use for these impractical dreams; we must apply the vision — with the realities, however, always in view.

A Master Plan

Practical planning embraces both an immediate and a long-term program — one which makes provision for future growth. The program aims at — common-sense use of land for development—regulation of domestic and industrial land-use, so that the population becomes better distributed in the area — the anticipation of, and provision for, problems imposed by future movement of population, business and industry — the co-ordination of municipal works and services — development of the area in orderly and logical stages.

Planning of this kind has proved, in practice, that it pays in terms of the tax-rate, in economical progress of private and public undertakings, and in promoting the essential civic services.

The Situation in Lachute

The town-planner is, logically, a co-ordinator and analyst of town activities. In the case of your town, Lachute, he would be aware of many facts and trends, and would be able to explain the why's and wherefore's. That Lachute in 1921 had a population of 2,592; in 1931, 3,906; in 1941, 5,310; and in 1945, 5,206. That the town is on a river providing a source of electric power. That four provincial highways converge at its centre, and that a railway passes through this hub of highways. The planner would study the repercussions of the abandonment of the C.N.R. in this section. He would appraise the strategical service of the 15 miles of thoroughfare for Lachute's area of 600 acres. He would question why in 1944 there were eight manufactures, in 1945 only seven, and draw conclusions on the possibilities of future industrial growth. He would see the effect on the town's prosperity, of these seven industries producing $955.760 output, bringing $565,931 in raw or unfinished materials, and employing 189 workers with a payroll aggregating $256,137. He would study the efficacy of the 94 retail stores (1941) with total sales of $1,758,000, roughly $331 per capita, and the wholesale sales which reached $613,300. He would know that there were 950 radios registered here in 1946, and 1,143 in 1947; 1,532 telephones in Lachute and Brownsburg in 1946, 2,027 in 1947. That there were 1,203 domestic electric meters, 179 commercial and 14 industrial, in 1946. . . He would take similar note of properties, taxes, town-revenues, arrears and expenses; thefts, accidents and arrests; incidence of fire and total of fire losses, etc.

Matter for Specialists

Viewing the coverage of such varied details required for the co-ordination of municipal activities, it is understandable that planning is a specialized study. It is remarked that specialists in the other professions are concentrating more and more on one specific study—that the nose specialist, for instance, now limits his technical skill to the performance and function of one nostril!

Need of Public Understanding

The public becomes increasingly conscious of this comparatively new science of town-planning. Yet it is not sufficiently realized that, to accomplish a job which appears in the nature of a miracle, the co-operation and understanding of all citizens are essential. To this end, citizen groups (such as your organization, the Chamber of Commerce) are invaluable, especially if their purpose is to co-operate in the town administration.

The towns and cities play an increasing role in our provincial economy. In 1941 the urban population of Quebec was 2,109,684 — having increased from 1,813,606 in 1931.

It may be noted here that, in 1944, out of the 11,249 Argenteuil residents eligible to vote in the provincial election of that year, only 71 per cent exercised their franchise.

Planning has its place in small towns as well as the larger centres, and to this end it deserves the interest and support of all citizens.

Changes in Control

WITH CANADA'S dollar status gradually improving, Finance Minister Abbott has eased import controls in certain lines appealing to the housewife and generally beneficial to the health. Starting November 1, permits will be authorized for imports of lettuce and tomatoes from the United States and other countries. Later in the winter similar permits will be authorized for cabbages, carrots, celery and spinach. This will be in addition to larger quantities of citrus fruits and fruit juices, which will be permitted entry.

But on the rentals front there are changes which will be received with mixed sentiments. Mr. Abbott has announced a general 10 per cent boost on rental ceilings, and a further five per cent boost where heat is provided by landlords. The increases granted may not be enforced by landlords, however, until current leases expire.

Mr. Abbott said the government did not intend vacating the rental controls field entirely, that is, unless the provinces wanted to take over.

When the rent controls expire March 31, 1949, the government will ask parliament to extend them for another year, but if any province wants to take over, the Dominion will vacate the field in that province and even pay the costs of the first year of provincial administration.

The changes indicate a step in the direction of relaxing controls — a trend which, apart from their immediate repercussions, is to be generally desired in the interests of more normal trading.

As the Twig Is Bent . . .

CITIZENS' FORUM opens its new season with a coast to coast broadcast entitled "Johnny Delinquent — Whose Responsibility?" over the CBC next Friday night at 8 o'clock. As in past years, local groups will be asked to answer in report form a number of questions bearing on the subject under discussion, and in relation to this week's subject the questions are:

If a young parent asked you to name five or six general principles for bringing up children so that they will become well adjusted young people and adults, what answer would you give?

In what ways do you think the school in your community could better serve the interests and needs of the boys and girls under its care?

What recreational facilities for young people do you think your community needs?

What changes would you like to see in your province in the treatment of the juvenile who commits an offence against the law?

To questions of this nature we are apt to give a snap answer. We have often heard such replies as "Irresponsible parents should be jailed. No other way of stopping it." . . "The schools should sit on this sort of thing hard. Show the kids they mean business." . . "The courts should take the laugh out of this hoodlum racket. Give them the strap and stiff sentences." . . Such answers don't go very far below the surface. Such a lot of people are convinced that they are quite capable of diagnosing youth problems — after all they were young themselves once. Surely, they say, you don't need a Ph.D. degree to know how to deal with an unruly boy or girl. Perhaps not, but you do need a phychological outlook, because the more you study juvenile delinquency the more you will find it a very complex problem. There is no single cause — there are many. There is no single cure; what suits one child may be the undoing of another.

Parents may be to blame. The home background exercises a very strong influence on the child's mind during its formative years. Bad housing, poverty, social insecurity, neglectful or ignorant parents, are often at the root of the difficulty. They impart no standards to their children because they have none themselves. A high percentage of delinquents come from such backgrounds, but it is only a percentage; many of the children who get into trouble come from "good" homes.

Growing up, even in the most sympathetic home, is often a difficult and painful process. It is not surprising that there are casualties. Often both parents and children need help from the outside. They need counsel and advice from a trained and understanding person. Such a service is almost completely lacking in Canada.

There are a good many people ready to deposit the problem of delinquency squarely on the doorstep of the school. After all, the school gets the child early and has him under its care throughout the most important years. . . But before we accept this answer too easily, let's take a look at the school. Teaching has never been as hard a job as it is today. Most schools are full to overflowing, and teachers face crowded classrooms. Besides the heavy-working schedules, there are a dozen and one after-school activities in which teachers are expected to take part. It's impossible for teachers to probe deeply into the lives of children under their care. Most likely they are not equipped to do so, even if they had time.

If the community expects the school to cope with incipient delinquency, teaching staffs will have to be increased substantially. There will have to be more teachers, lighter schedules, smaller classes; teachers will have to be trained in child guidance and psychology. All this adds up to a great deal more money in our educational budgets, all of which is impossible.

Is recreation the answer? There again, facilities call for community effort, more money, more work for service clubs, more Boys' Towns, more Fighting Father Dunnes; and even with all this, children of the neighborhood may by-pass such organized recreation because they know it is brought in from outside, it is brought in to "do them good". . . They may feel that participation is a sign of weakness.

And the Law? There is a tendency to regard the courts as somehow magically equipped to deal with problems of juvenile delinquency. We forget the law meets the child only when he becomes a casualty and then he has one strike against him. The courts and social agencies are far too often frustrated in their efforts to salvage good human material by the niggardly provision which society makes for the problem of the child. It's a costly economy in terms of human welfare.

There are all sorts of ways of looking at the problem of juvenile delinquency. But one thing is clear. The responsibility does not lie with any single group in the community, nor can a cure be found in any one direction. The attack must come from all sides, and every citizen should be in the fight.

Listen-in Friday at 8 p.m. and partake of some food for thought on this important question. You might like to write Citizens' Forum your opinion on the matter.

An International Event

THIS YEAR'S International Plowing Match, held at Lindsay, Ont., ran into difficulty over the size of its classes. The entry list in some of the events reached 62 and the two judges for each of those competitions faced a formidable task in picking the 12 best contestants and ranking their work. That meant that, in many cases, winners were not announced until the day after they plowed. Newspaper men obtained the lists only with difficulty and often too late to meet their deadlines. The chance to maintain interest by a fast decision was missed.

Directors suggested the answer was smaller classes — and perhaps more of them — restricted possibly by entry conditions that a contestant be a winner of regional semi-finals. At present, virtually any ambitious farmer can enter the International classes.

But the steady growth of the International points unmistakably to its increasing popularity. The presence of a team from Northern Ireland at this year's match helped swell the crowds to approximately 75,000 in all, while the special class rivalry for four six-week, all-expense tours of the British Isles sharpened competition among crack Canadian plowmen.

As in other years, the International Plowing Match provided a fall outing for the farmer at a time when most of his outdoor tasks were done, gave him a chance to see and discuss the latest types of machinery and equipment, as well as to view the handiwork of the men who take pride in turning a straight furrow.

Minds Made Up

GEORGE GALLOP, the man who handles the Gallop Poll, has this to say of elections: "The mind of the voters is probably made up before the campaign starts. The campaign helps to hold the voter to his convictions but otherwise the campaign is not of much value."

To which our Ottawa contributor, R. J. Deachman, adds the following remark: It does seem, doesn't it, that the wise political policy would call for the spending of some money between elections instead of trying to convert the converted during the campaign, but this never seems to occur to our political friends. We cannot recall any past effort in this direction.

IT IS remarkable that, where there are literally hundreds of organizations, a sturdy but very small group of people carry the ball in practically every major undertaking, while hundreds of us watch from the sidelines. These people need help. — Chilliwack (B.C.) Progress

Dead Pigeons . . .

— By M. V. Trayers —

The air is filled with rumblings of war. An incident is noted indicating a trend towards preparedness. One country desists from demoblization, another broadcasts the opportunities available by joining the armed services, while still another imposes compulsory military service for youths within certain age limits. The man-in-the-street discusses the probability of a third world war as he would the first fall of snow, or the control of prices. Our minds are becoming attuned to the thought, the necessity of another war.

Strangely enough, whatever doubt may exist as to the sureness of another war, there is a most general acceptance of the direction from whence it is expected. The proceedings reported day by day from the U.N.O. General Assembly leave no doubt on that score. After three years of the intoxicating verbiage of Russian chief delegates, there could be hardly any doubt. Too many of these "Molotov cocktails" have left a sort of hang-over on the public mind. Their effects are wearing off, and we find that the ingredients of bluff, duplicity, threats, terrorism, spy scares, hate, and of course a thundering "NO", are too much for our democratic constitution.

The limelight at present is circling the Soviet spokesman Andrei Vishinsky. This former prosecutor for Stalin — a sinister symbol of Bolshevik justice when those periodical purges of Communist traitors were being conducted — is, like most of his Kremlin colleagues, as crafty a student of Machiavelli as ever drank of quaff of vodhka. In one of his recent outpourings against America, France and Britain, whom he accused of a sinister campaign to form a military alliance against "peace loving" Russia, he thrust his olive branch among the Western "warmongers" in the form of a three-point plan for world peace:

(1) As a first step towards reduction of armed forces, all present land, air and sea forces should be reduced by a third in a year.

(2) Atomic weapons intended for aggression and not for defence, should be prohibited.

(3) Within the framework of the Security Council an international control body should be established to supervise and control measures for the reduction of armaments and armed forces, and prohibition of atomic weapons.

I wonder if Mr. Vinshinsky ever thinks of the men whom his perverted justice condemned to live as slaves in Siberia. I doubt it. In all probability though, he is acquainted with the work of the famous one-time slave of Samos. In spite of the moulder-ing decay of time (and it's a long time since Aesop wrote his fables — 25 centuries ago), they are still applicable and contain a perfect answer to Vishinsky's three-point program. The answer is contained in a very lovely and compact little fable complete with a moral at foot. It is entitled, "The Hawk and the Pigeons" :

A hawk long had his eye on a flock of pigeons, but no matter how many tricks he tried as he swooped about the sky, they always managed to return to their cotes in safety. Thinking that it might be his shadow that warned them, he at length decided to give up the game of ambush and bluff. He decided to use craft. It was the last resort, as hunger was wrecking his system.

So the hawk flew to the nearby top of a dead tree and called out to the pigeons: "Why do you prefer this life of constant fear and anxiety when, if you would only see my point of view, you could let me be the chief patroller of the skies and I'd guarantee that no attacks of any kind would be made on you?"

The foolish pigeons, believing the hawk's interest in their welfare to be sincere, agreed to make him chief patroller. They then scrapped their protective squads and dismantled practically all of the barriers of sticks and stones that guarded their cotes. But no sooner was the hawk established in his new role than he issued an order that every day one pigeon would have to be sacrificed for his dinner. He left it to the pigeons themselves to provide the dinner, though he pointed out of course, that if they failed, he would be forced to kill them off himself — much as he disliked doing that, now that peace had been established.

And the Moral

When the Princess Patricia, 6,000-ton vessel for the C.P.R.'s British Columbia coast service, was launched at Glasgow recently, the christening was performed by Lady Patricia Ramsey, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, and the Princess Patricia after whom the famous Canadian regiment was named in World War I.

Praising your rival may be good Christianity, but it's poor politics.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

HOME IS A FRIENDLY PLACE

You may have noticed that people naturally gather in certain homes—because they are such friendly places. Neighbors drop in for an evening . . . children bring their playmates. We all feel welcome! It's so easy to be hospitable . . . to make your own home a real meeting place for your friends. Such homes are the heart of any community . . . the inspiration for "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Hallowe'en

Hallowe'en! — Once more they gather,
Girls and boys on mischief bound
On the frosty air their voices
With the bark of dogs resound.

In the forest, dark and eery,
Where the bats are flitting through,
Gruesome witches, black hair flying,
Boil and stir their ghostly brew.

Now there comes a sound of tramping,
Down the frozen village street
Headless men and humpless camels
Greet each other when they meet.

Fearsome masks peep in your window,
Awesome sights to freeze your gore,
Sturdy ghosts in sheets bedraggled
Beg for alms from door to door.

So wrap your candy, nuts and apples,
Give your pennies tinsel sheen.
It's the children's harvest—Hallowe'en.

'Service" as Stimulant For Tired Business Man

tired of compulsory headaches and obligatory ulcers. I am tired of a situation under which prudence requires that my top assistants be a neurologist, a stomach specialist and a defence counsel. I am tired of lying awake nights to figure out how much of a mistake it will be to expand, do more business and employ more people. I am tired of being jumped on for running a business this year so successfully that it may last through next year. I am tired of the argument that a businessman has been amply rewarded if he is still solvent, isn't talking to himself in elevators and hasn't yet been indicted. . . . I am tired of the struggle to build up a business in order to provide a bigger target for others to tear down. I am tired of being in the Doghouse."

Now it seems to me that a well-adjusted business man thinking only in the terms I've just quoted, needs a tonic or a shot in the arm of some kind. A man with his nose constantly on the grindstone may well broaden his horizons by relaxing a bit and looking around him. He may find that he is so much preoccupied with immediate problems that he is missing most of the broader prospect. He needs an outlet, a hobby, a comforting influence. He can find this in fellowship, in his service club activities, and his extra curricular associations with fellow-businessmen. He can adopt the policy that 'Service is my business' and then perhaps take himself a little less seriously, and get more out of life. He can reflect in sombre moments on the fact that he operates under a system which permits him to own his own private enterprise, to do so in a location of his own choosing, to manufacture and sell products or services in any suitable market, to hire and fire according to his own judgment or requirements. And outside business he may associate with other individuals or groups where and when he wishes. He can say what he likes without hindrance and worship as he pleases. He can take leisure time if he is so disposed, without permission from anyone. Government controls him with only a comparatively light rein, and even then if he is not happy under certain necessary restrictions, he can do something about it through the polls. Does this sound like a martyred, browbeaten individual? Look elsewhere in the world and see.

"A business man needs to be more or less happy in his chosen field. He can't be happy if he indulges the baser instincts and motives in his make-up. He can be smart without being overshrewd. He can sell without unfairly competitive practices. He can give customers value for their dollars without sacrificing quality. In other words, he can set an example and find satisfaction in so doing.

"The Better Business Bureaus have a ten-point Fair Trade Code. It reads like this: (1) Serve the public with honest values. (2) Tell the truth about what is offered. (3) Tell the truth in a forthright manner so its significance may be undestood by the trusting as well as the analytical. (4) Tell customers what they want to know — what they have a right to know, so that they may buy wisely and obtain maximum satisfaction from their purchases. (5) Be prepared and willing to make good as promised and without quibble on any guarantee offered. (6) Be sure that the normal use of merchandise or services will not be hazardous to public health or life: (7) Reveal material facts, the deceptive concealment of which might cause consumers to be misled. (8) Advertise and sell merchandise or service on its merits and refrain from attacking competitors or reflecting unfairly upon their products, services, or methods of doing business. (9) If testimonials are used, use only those of competent witnesses who are sincere and honest in what they say about what you sell. (10) Avoid all tricky devices and schemes such as deceitful trade-in-allowance, fictitious prices, false and exaggerated comparative prices, bait advertising, misleading free offers, fake sales and similar practices which prey upon human ignorance and gullibility. . .

"It would be foolish (however) to pretend that all fears and anxieties of legitimate businessmen are imiginary. There are two or three serious threats to our free enterprise system. One is the peculiar idea prevalent in some quarters that the profit-making motive in Business is something reprehensible or at best immoral. This misconception springs largely from unfamiliarity with business and the average net profits realized in all categories. Asked what percentage of profit is earned by almost any large concern, the man on the street will usually give you a figure from three to ten times greater than the actual. They forget too, that profits are necessary under any system — even state-ownership — and fail to remember that a free competitive Business structure has produced the most workable system ever before realized, with higher standards of living. They must be told, and convinced further by the living daily example of today's businessmen. Then there is the possible encroachment of tax-exempt cooperatives, which would supersede privately-owned business by placing them under an intolerable disadvantage. They have not made marked progress in Quebec, but in our Canadian West and the United States, these so-called consumer organizations are fast developing into monopolies as deadly as any alleged cartel which ever existed. And finally of course, there is Communism itself — the avowed enemy of Free Enterprise, concerning which so much is being said and written — most of it unfortunately too true. Communism and its lesser satellites are implacable and without mercy.

"To combat these adversaries, legitimate business can still offset and maybe postpone indefinitely any serious inroads of subversive influences by actively implementing the Rotary principle of 'Service Before Self'. They can adopt the slogan 'Service is my Business' and so hold on strongly to the already general approval of democratic-minded people everywhere."

Rabbi Congratulates Scout Movement

From Rabbi Abraham L. Feinburg of Holy Blossom Temple in Toronto, the Canadian Boy Scouts have received the following message:

"Since the most valuable and permanent asset of any country is the character displayed by its inhabitants under stress, the Boy Scouts Association may regard itself as an instrumentality of the highest rank; it has fostered the development of those human traits on which a nation can rely in crisis.

"During the 40 years of its existence, the human race, like the Israelites, has wandered in a wilderness of conflict and spiritual confusion. Yet the Boy Scouts Association steadfastly upheld the age-old stabilizing principles of conduct to which it had been dedicated, carrying its message of service and co-operation across national boundaries to gird the earth with one ideal.

"Young men will inherit a difficult and dangerous, but potentially wondrous world. If they learn to practice the Boy Scout Code, tomorrow will bring the fulfilment of man's dream of peace and plenty.

"Therefore, I congratulate the Boy Scouts Association on its birthday and fervently pray that its influence will grow from day to day."

Business Change

To the friends and customers who have patronized his tobacconist business, Hervé Filfe, Main Street, extends a cordial "thank-you", and solicits for his successor, Cliff Cunningham, a continuance of their trade. . . Mr. Filfe also announces that he will continue his enterprise as merchant tailor in the same stand adjoining these premises. -1c

Ex-Wren Operates Prairie Small-Holding

Mrs. Garrioch Also Headed Canadian Legion Branch

Portage la Prairie, Man. (CP) — From the Folies Bergeres in Gay Paree to farming in Manitoba — that's the path followed by Mrs. A. V. Garrioch, efficient operator of a veteran's small-holding here.

Mrs. Garrioch, who served with the Wrens in the Second World War, is past president of the Canadian Legion's Portage branch — believed to be the first woman elected to head a legion branch in the west.

She used her Veterans' Land Act loan of $1,550 to repair a dilapidated house. Now it's landscaped with lawn, lilac bushes, spruce trees and honeysuckle.

Although she has colorful memories of her days in Paris, Mrs. Garrioch says she has found happiness in Portage. Her family, her work for veterans and now the stimulating interest of building an attractive home out of an old abondoned house, keeps her days full of activity.
