Agenda at W. I. Semi-Annual Proves Women Devoted to District Welfare

Members from nine branches attended the semi-annual convention of Argenteuil Women's Institutes, held in Lachute High School last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Geo. Leggett, county president, occupied the chair. The meeting opened with the Ode, the Mary Stewart Collect, and the salute to the flag.

The treasurer's report showed the county organization to be in a good financial position. The drawing for a pair of Ayers blankets, donated by Mr. Leonard Ayers and raffled at the Fair last June, had netted the funds $126.88 The W. I. scholarship had been won by Miss Frances Murdoch, of Staynerville, who is now attending Macdonald College. The secretary read a letter of acknowledgment and appreciation for this scholarship, received from Miss Murdoch. Miss Joy Guild, demonstrator, could not be present at this meeting, and asked that all demonstrations slated for this time be cancelled.

Mrs. John Canning, who conducts a Youth Hostel at Stonefield, reported a shortage of beds and blankets. Mrs. Canning also reported that she had about 100 guests at the hostel during the current year. As some of the W.I. Branches had donated blankets, it was decided the county organization should purchase a double-deck bunk bed with mattresses for the use of this hostel. The hot soup fund for Lachute High School was discussed by the president. It was stressed that this is an entirely voluntary effort, and a really worthwhile project. Last year over $80 had been spent to provide hot soup to school pupils twice or three times a week. As the attendance is much larger this year, it is felt more will be needed. . . Mrs. W. Shearsmith was authorized to purchase a wreath for Remembrance Day. The branches were asked to send $1 towards a presentation to Miss Evelyn Walker, provincial secretary and demonstrator -- Miss Walker having been married recently.

The Fair list was read and discussed by Mrs. F. Barker, convener of this department. This list in final and no changes will be made. The items for display and competition will be published in The Watchman shortly, and the president urged all members to take note of the list. Branch presidents were asked to bring before their respective groups the question of handicraft classes to be held. These classes could be available anytime from February until June, and would last for ten days. Branches were also asked to send in Q.W.I. "service fund" money in November.

Mr. F. H. J. Royal, principal of Lachute High School, gave a talk on his trip through Western Canada and the United States this summer, and showed beautiful colored slides of interesting scenes and places en route, including the homes of famous motion picture and radio stars, and the presentation was much enjoyed by the gathering. This feature brought to a close a very interesting and helpful afternoon.

Two Injured in B'burg Accidents

Friday evening on the French Hill at Brownsburg, a 64-year-old woman, Miss Marie Meilleur, was seriously injured in a freak accident. A light delivery truck belonging to Rene Lafleur, butcher, was parked outside a store opposite the Catholic Church. The driver, Maurice Menard, entered the truck and released the clutch to coast rearward into a side street, in order to turn the vehicle. Miss Meilleur was crossing the road behind the truck, unseen by the driver. Struck by the rear of the truck, she was thrown to the pavement and suffered a fractured skull.

Treated at Dr. A. R. Coté's surgery near the scene of the accident, the victim was later conveyed to the Providence Hospital at Lachute.

Last Sunday afternoon a car driven by Roy Moore, emerging from Gordon's service station onto the main highway, was hit by another machine with such impact that Moore's car overturned onto the sidewalk. The other driver, O. Denault, was descending the hill towards Lachute. Both motorists escaped injury, but a young lady passenger accompanying Denault, Miss Simonne Denis, 17, suffered a severe facial cut caused by flying glass. Attended by Dr. A. R. Coté, it required 12 stitches to close the wound.

Traffic Officer Albert Legault investigated both accidents.

Ste. Therese Youth Killed In Highway Collision

Sixteen-year-old Yvon Beauchamp, of Ste. Therese, died on his way to the Cartierville hospital Saturday night, following a highway accident in which three other youths were also involved.

Provincial police reported that the boy, his brother Andre, 20, Fernand Allard, Jean Robitaille and Jean Theoret, all of Ste. Therese, were in a car which hit a parked truck in Ste. Therese, en route to Rosemere.

Beautification Job On Old Churchyard At Lakefield, Que.

Lakefield — Saturday, October 23, was a memorable Day for Holy Trinity Church here — a special meeting of the Churchyard Improvement Committee being held that day in the Gibb Parish Hall on invitation of Col. Garnet Strong, whose family have always been identified as leaders in the church life of this district. . The incumbent, the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, was chairman.

The neglected condition of the churchyard surrounding this fine old stone church, has been something of a discredit to the community. Situated on the edge of Lake Dawson, with a few fine old trees, the church offers a real opportunity for landscaping, beauty and order.

Some years ago a committee was formed with the object of improving the churchyard, and an occasional effort was made in this direction. But because of the scarcity of workmen and other circumstances, only spasmodic work was done, with little effect.

Subsequently, Col. Strong, who had already brought beauty, dignity and order out of confusion in the Anglican and Presbyterian churchyards at Mille Isles, devoted his ability, leadership, and costly equipment; and with Mr. Ira Strong as foreman, supported by Messrs. Edgar, Leslie and Lewis Strong, Mayor Austin Kyle, Messrs. Lawrence Hodge, Percy Rogers, Wilbert Sherritt and others, brought about a transformation that is a joy to all beholders. . . There still remains some work to be done to complete the task, but it is hoped that this will be achieved as soon as weather conditions allow.

At the meeting on October 23, Col. Strong asked for a financial report on the churchyard improvement project. The chairman reported $500 from funds on hand, $50 from Trinity W.A. and about $250 from the Churchyard Improvement Committee. . . Col. Strong then informed the meeting that the entire expense of the finished work was being borne by Messrs. Leslie and Lewis Strong and himself, that Mr. Ira Strong's able direction of the work was also a donation, as well as that of the other helpers. The Colonel suggested that the local funds be used to complete the details still remaining to be attended to.

Needless to say, the news that the work was not only done but already paid for, caused genuine appreciation of the generosity of the donors. It was resolved that the secretary, the Rev. Allan E. Mount, be asked to write a note of thanks to Mrs. Beryl Todd, for her generous gift of many tons of earth used in grading and filling. The secretary was also asked to convey the thanks of the meeting to the Messrs. Strong for all their valuable help, both material and financial.

It is indeed a pleasant sight to see the old church, at last, in a suitable setting.

Deputy G.M. Is Visitor At Reunion Held By Arundel Masons

Ladies Are Guests at Pleasant Function

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — Laurentian Masonic Lodge No. 81 held a pleasant reunion at the Maplewood Inn last Friday evening. Places were laid for 70 guests, all of whom accepted the invitation of their mother lodge, some coming from as far as Maxwell, Ont. The invitation also included the ladies, who were pleased to have this opportunity to attend. Wor. Bro. Homer Cooke occupied the chair, and guest speaker for the evening was Rt. Wor. Bro. T. S. Mitchell, P.D.D.G.M. The meeting was interspersed with the usual toasts, and following the supper cards and dancing were enjoyed by those present.

Hotelman Dies, Victim of Attack At Grenville, Que.

ASSAILANT GIVES HIMSELF UP TO POLICE

Ernest Lanthier, 62-year-old Grenville hotel-keeper who was the victim of an attack following a dispute in his hotel last August, died Saturday night "as a probable result of head injuries" sustained in the assault.

It is recalled that on the night of Saturday, August 14, Lanthier was advised by a waiter that one Jack Brabant, of L'Orignal, was engaged in a quarrel in the hotel. The proprietor approached Brabant and ordered him outside. Brabant allegedly struck Lanthier with his fist and the latter fell, striking his head. First taken to Dr. Kelly's Hospital at Hawkesbury, Lanthier was removed to the Neurological Institute the following day. He was treated in hospital for eight weeks, then being brought to his home, where he succumbed last Saturday.

Brabant, meanwhile, had been arrested on a charge of aggravated assault, but had been released on bail pending developments. Brabant reported to police headquarters in Montreal last Saturday on hearing of the victim's death. Quebec Provincial Police are now engaged in making a complete investigation.

An autopsy was performed on the dead man by Dr. J. M. Roussel, provincial medico-legal expert, and a coroner's inquest will be conducted by Dr. Jules Lafleur, of Lachute, with Georges H. Héon, K.C., representing the Attorney General's department.

The funeral of the late hotelkeeper was held from Grenville parish church on Wednesday, with a large assembly of citizens, friends and relatives in attendance.

Council Receives 21 Applications for Town Secretary

Regular meeting of the town council was held last evening, with Mayor Alex Bothwell presiding and all members present.

Minutes of the last two meetings were read and approved. Accounts for a total of $6,139.40 were also passed for payment.

Applications for the position of town secretary were presented. Tenders having been received from 21 applicants, it was decided this important decision demanded further study, and the appointment will be considered by council in full attendance at an adjourned session in the Mayor's office this Friday evening.

Building permits were granted to Paul and Graham Reg. for construction of a shop on Grace Street, and to D. McDougall for addition of a sunporch at his Mountain View residence.

Use of the Auditorium on two additional nights a month, Thursdays, was granted to the Badminton Club without extra charge.

A delegation from Chatham Municipality in the area adjoining Lachute petitioned the town for water service, but no commitment could be made in view of the inadequate water supply to meet these additional demands.

Continue Check on Reckless Driving

Following the instance of a jail sentence and suspension of driving permit in a fatality at St. Philippe — and a warning that such convictions would bring withdrawal of driving licenses — another case heard Friday in criminal assizes at St. Jerome gives emphasis to this determination by provincial authorities to curb recklessness on the highways.

The hearing involved two charges, reckless driving and hit-and-run, on the Lachute - St. Andrews road. To both charges the offender pleaded guilty, and the penalty was suspension of his driving permit for a period of two years.

Georges H. Héon, K.C., has acted as crown prosecutor in these cases.

Scenic Charms of Canada Shown at Lions' Meeting

At the Lions Club meeting on Tuesday evening — a verse written 150 years ago by Tom Moore, Irish poet and author of "A Canadian Boat Song", were used as his theme by Walter L. Payne, of Montreal, in an illustrated address on the scenic charms of Canada. During his tour of Eastern Canada, Moore wrote of this country :

"A mingled maze of nature's beauty,
Where fancy strays from charm to charm."

These words, said the speaker, have greater significance today than when written, because modern facilities for travel make it easier to realize that Canada from coast to coast is truly "a mingled maze of nature's beauty".

In support of this statement, Mr. Payne, by means of natural color views made during the summer, showed some of "nature's beauty" and other scenes which had the charm of historic association.

As a contrast between Atlantic and Pacific coastal scenery, motion picture films in color — one on the Maritimes "Down by the Sea" and another of the British Columbia Coast, "The Outside Run" — were shown and followed by a fine picture on the Canadian Rockies, "Shining Mountains".

In conclusion Mr. Payne remarked that Canadians were showing a greater interest in the attractions of their own country than had been the case in the past. It was very desirable that Canadians should realize how wonderful Canada is by seeing for themselves — which thought, he said, was prompted by further lines of the poet Moore, who was impressed with the vastness of Canada even though he only saw a small section of the country:

". . . Miracles which man,
caged in the bounds of Europe's pigmy span,
Can scarcely dream of . .

TEST KIDDIES' HEARING

Saint John, N.B. (CP)—The Saint John Kinsmen Club has donated to the city board of health a machine to test the hearing of school children.

Memorial Service of Brownsburg Legion on Sunday, November 7

Customary Rites to be Held at Cenotaph, November 11

Brownsburg—The annual memorial church parade of the Brownsburg Legion and its Ladies' Auxiliary will take place on Sunday, November 7. The parade will fall-in at 2.15 p.m. at the C-I-L parking lot and members will wear medals and berets, and uniforms if available. Other organizations of Brownsburg will participate, and ex-service men and women who are not members are invited to parade. The special service will be held at the United Church, with the Rev. S. J. Pike officiating.

The customary memorial service will also be held at the cenotaph at the Social Club on Thursday, November 11, commencing at 10.45 a.m. sharp.

Find Remains of Harrington Man Disappeared 1947

OPEN VERDICT GIVEN BY CORONER

The remains of Henry Crooks, who disappeared from Harrington in January, 1947, were found late Sunday afternoon about ¼-mile west of the magnesite quarry at Kilmar. The gruesome discovery was made by Ed Boyd, of Kilmar, returning home from a hunting trip. The hunter's attention was attracted by a man's overshoe; and on investigation he discovered a human skeleton and remnants of heavy winter clothing.

Ed Boyd hurried to the village and informed Dr. S. Smith, the local physician. Coroner Jules Lafleur, M.D., was then notified and, with Detective A. Lanthier from Montreal police headquarters, journeyed to Kilmar to investigate. It is reported the victim was identified by a photograph of his wife found in his clothing. Death was pronounced "due to unknown causes, probably natural", and the remains were released for burial.

Investigation revealed that Henry Crooks, 34-year-old war veteran, was last seen when working at a lumber camp; he had left his fellow workers in the woods to take a short cut to the camp. According to another version, his 25-year-old wife stated, however, that he had left his home at Harrington one afternoon to go to Montreal in search of work. His subsequent disappearance was reported to the authorities, but it was expected that he would return home in due time.

Examination of the man's skull by medico-legal experts in Montreal revealed a fracture; this circumstance has prompted a detailed investigation of his movements, viewing the possibility of foul play. During Crooks' war service he suffered ill health which, according to one source of information, was believed attributed to a cerebral tumor.

Henry Crooks is survived by his wife at Bell Falls, and has brothers and other relatives in the district.

Moose Shot in District Of Pte. au Chene, Que.

Hunters in this area have met with considerable success to date, judging by reports and by the deer seen in transit on visitors' automobiles. Partridge are also in evidence, though in no unusual number.

One notable haul seen last weekend was a moose—the head and antlers of which were being taken home by a party of Montrealers. It could not be learned exactly where this prize was taken, but it is reliably stated to have been shot in the district north of Pte. au Chene.

Poppy Sales This Week-End, Prelude To Plans for Armistice Observance

The annual poppy campaign sponsored by the Legion branches will open this week, as a preliminary to the Remembrance theme in Sunday services and the community observance on Armistice Day, November 11. Young lady canvassers will again sell poppies — this Friday and Saturday in Lachute—and representatives have undertaken to sell these emblems in their respective districts.

Remembrance Day Program

The Remembrance Day rites in Lachute have been arranged along lines similar to previous years. The veterans of Argenteuil Legion 70, and members of the various juvenile groups, will again play a leading part. The veterans are being rallied to parade at 10.30 a.m., at the Legion building site on Foundry Street. They will proceed to the Auditorium, where the community service will commence at 10.45 o'clock, with observance of the traditional two minutes' silence at 11 o'clock.

Chairman of the Remembrance service will be Mayor Alex Bothwell. Members of the clergy will take part, and the Rev. Chas. Maclean, of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Church, will deliver a fitting message. It is hoped that the county's parliamentary representatives — Georges H. Héon, K.C., M.P., and W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. — will be available as speakers during this service and at the cenotaph. The cenotaph ceremonies will be attended by the school children in a body, and the laying of wreaths — in personal remembrance, and on behalf of the clubs, organizatiaons and business firms of Lachute — will be an impressive climax to the devotions.

A Legion supper and gathering marking the Armistice anniversary is announced elsewhere in this issue; this function will be held Saturday next, November 6.

(It is fitting also, at this time, to draw attention to a public appeal on page 5 of this issue over signature of the Mayor, for support to the Legion's building fund campaign.)

In Brownsburg

Arrangements planned by the Brownsburg Legion and Auxiliary in connection with the Armistice observance are published in another section of this page.

Wear A Poppy For Remembrance

In view of the fact that November 6 is designated as Poppy Day, it is confidently hoped that the citizens of this district will join in tribute to our hero dead by wearing one of these memorial flowers.

No one need be reminded that these small scarlet blossoms are more than merely flowers to wear on our lapels. They have a significance which reaches deep into our hearts. They are symbols of courage.

The poppies bring back the thought of those who sacrificed so greatly. They bring a consciousness of those disabled veterans "to whom we owe infinitely more than gratitude can ever repay, though in our hearts that gratitude is deep and will ever abide."

Each year the Canadian Legion conducts its poppy sale to raise funds for relief work. The poppies are made by disabled veterans, all of whom are physically unfit to work elsewhere. The money so collected is used in the local district, and administered by the Legion's local branches. Emergency relief for all ex-servicemen and their families is thus assured and no one need go without because of hard luck or unforeseen circumstances.

Those whose supreme sacrifice we honor on Remembrance Day, are far beyond the need of our help. But we who are sincerely grateful to our war heroes, have an opportunity to repay the debt we owe them in a way that they themselves would approve. It is in recognition of this debt that the Canadian Legion conducts its annual sale of poppies.

Let us all join to "honor the dead by helping the living." In these days of Canada's remembrance, the poppy carries an added significance in its appeal "to care for him who has borne the battle, and for his widow and orphans."

— Wear a poppy on Poppy Day and "Keep the Faith."

Stolen Auto Is Recovered After Police Chase

Word of a stolen auto proceeding in this direction from Ottawa, was telephoned by traffic police at Hull to Patrolman Albert Legault, on duty here Tuesday afternoon. Notified just after 12 noon, the officer proceeded toward Calumet and kept watch at the fork between Highway 8 and that village. The car, a luxury-model 1947 coach, passed with two occupants, and Officer Legault, identifying it by the license plate, promptly gave chase. The driver, seeing the police car in pursuit drove at a reckless speed through Grenville Bay and Grenville Village, upturned a wheelbarrow outside the Lanthier Hotel and, spinning twice in a circle, turned across the canal bridge onto the stretch of land beyond the Grenville Canal. Enlisting the aid of Yvon Denis from the Century Inn, Officer Legault followed, and came across the abandoned car on the island near the C.N.R. bridge. The two men had taken to the bush and could not be found. Presumably they escaped across the bridge to Hawkesbury, or by way of the lower lock.

The automobile had been stolen at 10 o'clock that morning outside a residence on Richmond Road, Ottawa. It was recovered at 1 p.m., thanks to efficient work by Traffic Officer Legault.

"Helping Teacher" Role Described to W. I. Study Group

At the study group meeting of Lachute Women's Institute on Tuesday afternoon, the guest speaker was Mrs. Don McCabe, who fills the role of "helping teacher" for schools of the Argenteuil district. Mrs. McCabe gave a graphic discription of her work. This phase of education was introduced three years ago by Dr. W. P. Percival. The teachers in rural schools face a difficult task alone and need the encouragement and companionship which the helping teacher is able to give, stated Mrs. McCabe. During the one week which is spent together by rural teacher and helping teacher, many of the problems and difficulties can be overcome. An interesting story of the Teachers' Camp experiment, held at Oolawan in August and directed by Miss Ruth Low, was told by Mrs. McCabe. Such was her word picture of this camp that many of her listeners wished that they too had been present.

Mrs. McCabe was introduced by Miss M. Scott and thanked by Mrs. Geo. McGibbon.

During the business meeting it was recommended that blankets be purchased for the Youth Hostel in this vicinity; that the W.I. should purchase soup for schoolchildren's lunch again this season; and that each member give the sum of $1 to the general W.I. funds before the end of the present year.

A wise man should have money in his pocket but not in his heart.

Noise and Disturbance Spread to Countryside

(Our District Correspondent)

Cushing — Town-dwellers in Lachute and Brownsburg are not alone in the noise nuisances experienced there of late. During last Sunday night two cars occupied by drunken disturbers were parked for almost half an hour near a farmhouse gate on the Cushing front road, the men disembarking and making loud revelry — thus waking the occupants of the house around 2.30 a.m., and causing them to remark on such irreverent conduct in the early hours of a religious holiday.

Many a man is the victim of circumstances simply because he is too lazy to avoid being victimized.

Remembrance Day Next Thursday

THE LEGION ADDS UP THE SCORE

After the Remembrance Day ceremonies last year, editorial comment came from scores of justifiably indignant editors regarding the lack of attention given to this statutory holiday by government bodies and industry alike.

With Remembrance Day again approaching and thousands of citizens across Canada preparing to attend memorial services, the Canadian Legion (British Empire Service League) reminds us to "add up the score".

It is just over three short years ago that the final shot in the recent conflict was fired. It is well for all to stop and think what would be our position today had we been on the short end of the Armistice terms.

We wouldn't have any labor troubles today. There just wouldn't be any existing unions with the right to strike or bargain.

Everyone would work for "the Party" or else there would not be any food coupons handed out to live on.

There would be no such thing as a free press, truth would be stifled, our literature abolished and in a generation our perspective considerably changed.

Our children would grow up in a school chanting praise of Der Fuehrer, who would be their God. Children thus indoctrinated would eventually turn even against their parents.

No automobile would drive unless a Party sticker was on the windshield.

Our free churches would be closed.

We would listen to music only by so-called Aryan composers.

There are a thousand and one other items that could be listed which would make our lives not worth living.

Today we have freedom and democracy as we live it. It might have cost the taxpayers many millions of dollars to buy this right, it also cost in two wars more than 100,000 young lives and well over 200,000 wounded bodies. That's a lot of life and a lot of suffering.

Surely it's not asking much that we give one day a year to revere their memory.

Gatineau LINES

Did you ever think about how much water it takes to make electricity? With all the power shortages these days, with rationing of electricity in force in many parts of the country, the question is an interesting one. The answer to it shows why we are still so terribly short of water for power-making throughout Eastern Canada despite the occasional heavy local rainfall.

Take Gatineau Power as an example. Gatineau brings electricity to some 50,000 domestic customers as well as to the industries which depend on it to keep operating in the Gatineau territory. To serve its customers, Gatineau Power needs an average of over 10,000 cubic feet of water per second, on the Gatineau River alone, or over 36,000,000 cubic feet per hour.

That means 220,000,000 gallons of water every hour of the day.

It is a lot of water. It explains why it is that — no matter how much water we have stored up in our reservoirs far up the Gatineau River — we must eventually run out of water unless Mother Nature co-operates with adequate rains. For more than a year now, the rainfall has been far below normal.

Every bit of that 220,000,000 gallons of water an hour is used three times over by the power company. At three different points on the river below the storage dams we have power plants; and every drop of water produces its share of electricity at each one of the plants before it is free to continue its way downstream. So the water is by no means wasted — but it still takes 220,000,000 gallons an hour to keep the power lines humming.

Naturally, a power company doesn't "use" water in the sense that people "use" water when they drink it. Rather, a power company "borrows" water from a river, makes it work to produce electricity, and then returns it to the river. Other people who depend on the river for water for other purposes don't lose the water which produces the power. On the contrary, they gain — because the power company's storage dams and power plants regulate the flow of water and assure a more even supply than would be possible in any other way.

Quebec Views Exploitation Of Forest Resources; Check On New Paper Industries

COUNTY COUNCILS ASSEMBLY ENDORSES IDEA OF PROV'L LOTTERIES FOR WELFARE

By William Stewart

Quebec (CP) — The Quebec Government has decided that no new paper mills will be permitted in the province until an inquiry into the extent of Quebec forestry resources and into modern methods of employment is complete.

Premier Duplessis told about the government's plans at his weekly press conference. He said the reason for the limitation of the forest industry to its present capacity is that the government wants to find out just how much exploitation the forests can stand.

The premier said that the government also hopes to find out how industry can use 100 per cent of the raw material it is already getting.

He said a few years ago there was waste of about 20 per cent in the paper industry. He said this is being eliminated and the government's hope is that full use of wood cut will be made by establishment of industries devoted to manufacture of a variety of wood products as well as the big item of paper.

• • •

Premier Duplessis made a proposal for a provincial government lottery to help raise funds for public assistance and education, when he addressed the annual convention of the Quebec Union of County Councils.

The premier remarked that such lotteries are illegal under the present federal legislation, but could be legalized by a decree leaving the matter to the provincial attorney-generals.

Since you can't keep people from betting, said Premier Duplessis, why not let revenues that could be raised from an official lottery go to expenditures on public welfare.

The County Councils convention, followed up the premier's speech with a resolution calling for amendment of federal gambling laws to permit provincial lotteries.

The rural municipal heads attending the convention also proposed a provincial system of grants to help municipalities maintain winter roads. They favored a special winter gasoline tax for the same purpose.

The Quebec Catholic Farmers' Union, in session at the same time, called for increased income tax exemptions and refusal of the proposed freight rate increase of 21 per cent for Canadian railways.

The union asked provincial authorities to pass legislation for the regulation of farm product prices by collective agreement similar to Quebec's system of wage rate agreements between employers and employees.

Society Aims to Bring Parliament to People

Diefenbaker and Martin in Youth Conference; Hansard Clubs; Films on Parliament

On the home sector of the "cold war" for the survival of free institutions, the Hansard Society has been formed to help rouse Canadians to a greater interest and activity in their own government. Among its members are the presidents of many Canadian universities, leading parliamentarians, editors and publishers, and citizens well-known and unknown.

Its first project is a Youth Conference on Parliament, to be held at the University of Toronto on Saturday, November 13. An able panel of parliamentarians, representing East and West, French and English-speaking Canadians, both sexes, the three major parties and an independent, have been chosen to give the young people an idea of how Parliament works, which they cannot get from books or even from a casual visit to the gallery of the House of Commons.

Paul Martin, Minister of National Health and Welfare, and youngest man in the Cabinet, will lead off on "The Government Side of the House". John Diefenbaker, who has made a mark as an Opposition leader, will follow with "The Opposition — Basis of our Freedom". Jean-Francois Pouliot, who seldom lets a day pass during the session without one of his amusing interventions, will tell the Ontario students of "A Quebec Member at Ottawa". And Miss Agnes McPhail, Canada's most experienced woman parliamentarian, now in the Ontario Legislature, will address herself chiefly to the young ladies of the audience: "Women in Parliament — Why Aren't There More?"

Another of the projects of the Society is for Hansard Clubs, to keep in touch with the doings of Parliament through fortnightly meetings during the season. Members take turns condensing from Hansard the main topics debated in the Commons, and present a brief digest of this to the club. A discussion follows, which may produce a letter to the local M.P.; and there may be a letter back from the M.P., to read to the club. This is active democracy.

Documentary films on Parliament—which could be shown in schools, clubs, union meetings and election meetings — are another favored project of the Society. The National Film Board is eager and ready to make such films, but up to now, precedent has barred its cameras from the House of Commons. Here, above all, is a medium which could bring Parliament closer to the people.

Hansard Societies are now operating in Britain, France, Belgium and Italy, as well as Canada. The latest effort of the Hansard Society of Great Britain is one which could change history: the bringing of numbers of new German political leaders, in groups, for a fortnight's study of how British democracy works.

Anyone who wishes to know more of the Hansard Society can write its Director, Willson Woodside, at 220 Queen Street West, Toronto.

Sixty-six Canadian cheeses have arrived in Britain aboard the Canadian Pacific cargo liner "Beaverdell", for display at the Dairy Show to be held in London at the end of this month. Bacon, poultry and eggs will also be exhibited.

IF HE MISSES...You get the Bird!

If your children like to play . . . that's natural! But, if they are careless or mischievous and cause bodily injury or property damage, then chances are you'll be sued!

Damage suits for substantial amounts often arise out of a child's mischief. But there's one thing you can do besides taking away Johnny's slingshot—you can buy 3 years' freedom from that kind of worry by paying only $10 for one of the new $10,000 Comprehensive Personal Liability Policies which protects you and your whole family against damage suits arising out of home ownership or rental, sports or personal activities, and includes your liability as an employer if you have servants. That's not all! See us for details.

Safety Hints for Hunting Season Are Suggested In Timely Article

An article in the current issue of "Imperial Life-Guard" gives worthwhile hints for the hunting season. Translated into practical observance, the suggestions it contains may prove invaluable in terms of life, limb and personal survival. . .

There is a story of a deer hunter who on returning to camp after a day in the woods asked if all the other members of the hunting party were accounted for. On being assured that all were safe, he proudly announced that in that case he had shot a deer!

Of course, no one is expected to believe this tale but it serves to emphasize the importance of a safety rule that invariably should be observed by every hunter with a rifle or shot-gun; namely, be sure of your target before you pull the trigger. In the excitement of the hunt a man with a gun may be tempted to shoot first and investigate afterward; in fact, with the gun poised, the pressure of the finger on the trigger is almost instinctive and involuntary the moment that a moving object is seen or a rustling is heard in the undergrowth or the trees. A responsible and experienced hunter, however, will never assume that such a sight or sound proves the immediate presence of a game bird or animal but will hold his fire until he is sure. Morever, he will make certain before firing that his shot will not endanger other persons or domestic animals, or damage property.

The hunter is likely to encounter many stumbling blocks while walking through fields and woods, including stones, stumps, fallen branches, vines, and during cold weather snow and ice may make the footing even more hazardous. Under these conditions the hunter should be sure to carry his gun in such a way that he always can control the direction of the muzzle in case he stumbles or slips and accidentally discharges the weapon. This precaution is especially important when two or more men are hunting together. In addition, it is advisable for every man carrying a gun to keep the "safety" on until he is ready to shoot.

When two men ar hunting together they should walk side by side, if practicable, each carrying his gun in the hollow of his arm. If walking in single file is necessary, the leading man should carry his gun in the hollow of his arm with the muzzle pointing forward and down, and the man behind should carry his gun on his shoulder, the muzzle pointing upward and to the rear.

More or less climbing over stone walls and fallen trees and over or through fences is almost inevitable on a hunting trip. When a hunter comes to an obstacle of this kind he should "break" his shot gun or put his rifle on "safety" before climbing over. A barbed wire fence is especially dangerous and if there are two or more hunters in a party one of them should go through or over the fence without his gun. When he is safe on the other side a companion can hand all the guns over to him. If a man is alone he should pass his gun through the fence and lay it on the ground on the other side before climbing over.

UEFB MOBILIZES TO GIVE BRITAIN STRENGTH
. . . IN COLD WAR TO WIN THE PEACE

REASON FOR UEFB

By centralizing buying and transportation, including delivery at destination, substantial savings can be effected. The scattered efforts of many can be channelled into an efficient single stream of relief, without a loss of individuality as to persons, groups or organizations.

MORE AID PER DOLLAR

For example: the cost of placing a ready packaged 10 lb. parcel in the hands of a recipient in Britain, exclusive of content purchase price, is approximately $2.50 at present, whereas through UEFB concessions the comparable cost would be 57c to 79c. This economy does not include the very substantial saving which bulk purchasing effects.

The gallant people of Britain are suffering today because they are determined to win the cold war. They are the only nation in Europe fighting with body and mind to vanquish the spectre that haunts the Old World.

Their health is being weakened, their efficiency impaired, by the tremendous restrictions they have imposed upon themselves. They stand in danger of being defeated by undernourishment.

Why? Because Britain imports four-fifths less goods than before the war, yet exports more than half as much again as in 1939.

Says the British Ministry of Food:

". . . we are living on marginal nutritional standards, and there is cause for anxiety lest this should be having adverse effects on physique and health . . . Everything you can send us is wanted and urgently wanted."

If the British people go under, YOU and all of us, will feel the effects. We need a strong Britain to help fight the cold war. Give generously to UEFB—TODAY.

UEFB offers the best means of making your aid to Britain effective now.

UEFB is a voluntary organization set up to collect, forward and distribute aid to the undernourished people of Britain. UEFB purchases supplies in bulk. The British Government supplies free transportation. The UEFB British Advisory Council assures that your dollars will buy what is most needed for those who need it the most.

Although UEFB cannot at present handle used clothing, arrangements are being made to do so early next year.

"Managing" the Great Outdoors

THANKS to the initiative of some fish and game protective groups in this province, 100,000 Quebecers know the meaning of "Conservation" who did not know it two months ago. And the meaning was impressed by none other than stocky, bearded Joe Laflamme. A menagerie of some three dozen specimens of our wildlife provided Joe with the background necessary to drive home to people an understanding of the "why's" and "how's" of conservation.

While Muskeg, the moose, held onlookers spellbound, Joe had an opportunity to explain why there must be no shooting out of season, and why killing a cow moose or its offspring accelerates the decline of our moose population. Joe, in forceful language, told his listeners what Quebec would be without its fish and game. "Very few people", says Joe Laflamme, "are poachers at heart. The trouble is that they take the attitude that protective laws are passed to antagonize. They only need to be told the reasons behind it all, and to realize the dangers, and most of them will co-operate."

Like the children in Brooklyn who had never seen a cow, thousands of the grown-ups and children who listened to Joe had never seen a real moose, badger or beaver. Joe's "circus" attended the fairs at Three Rivers, Sherbrooke, Quebec and also appeared in Shawinigan Falls. The receipts will be applied to conservation work by the local associations and the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations, Inc., which combines all groups. The credit for initiating this idea of Joe's tour goes to the energetic Anglers Association of Montreal.

Leo Cassidy, president of the Federation, was enthusiastic over the results. "If such an example had more imitators", he said, "all Quebecers would get to know the full meaning of conservation, and we might then go to work managing our great outdoors before it is too late."

The "Little People"

THERE ARE those whose spirit oft rebels at the humility of their lot — who grow pardonably sour on the role of steady, loyal reliability which merits no acclaim and no apparent reward. For such as these (and they are very many, for the work of the world is done by "little people"), a sentiment expressed by a Montreal cleric, the Rev. Norman A. McMurray, offers a measure of truth and a mead of compensation.

No one — said the Rev. McMurray, speaking last week at the Verdun High School graduation — should feel discouraged or imagine he is not playing an important part, whatever his job may be. Each one must strive to be the best in whatever lot he finds himself. . . The Churchills and Roosevelts, while filling positions of prominence and authority, depend in a large measure upon the ordinary people for the accomplishment of essential work. The war was not won by the commanders and generals, but by the supreme effort and co-operation of the average man and woman.

Gyp-and-Chisel Tactics

IN A HARD-HITTING editorial assailing "gouge-mad" Canadians, the October issue of "Canadian Automotive Trade" calls for an end to the "gyp and chisel" tactics which, it says, are epidemic in trade and business from coast to coast.

Defining "gouge-madness" as a war-born "chiseling attitude that has penetrated to our very souls", the paper describes the malady as a "gyp idea of get all we can for as little as we can give".

Pointing to where it is raging, the paper says: "Just look at anything we have to spend money on: houses, used cars (wow!), new cars, awnings, refrigerators, food or what-have-you. It's the same old story. That fellow who had to buy $456 worth of equipment to get that new car. That fender split which wasn't welded, but just filled with solder for $16 and split again a week later. These people have all been chiseled, gyped and gouged.

"But don't think they will forget it soon. They will get their turn. . . It took years and years to build up that pre-war reputation for friendly service, good workmanship, fair charges; but it will take only a few months to wreck a sound business structure when everyone becomes gouge-mad."

We are all to blame, says the editorial — from the fellow who's out for more dough with less work, to the unionists who allow themselves to be parties to gouge-mad strikes. Everyone has to realize that every time he gives poor value for each dollar, he is furthering the epidemic. "It it a trend toward a fast-gathering financial recession. Average families are running out of money in the bank and can barely live on their weekly income. Let's quit blaming the other guy and take time out to analyze our own operation, before we unconsciously wring our own neck."

Hamlet Without Pain

PARENTS watching their children running off to school these fine fall days must long to get into step and take in a little education in the painless way the students of today absorb it.

For, no matter how much modern youngsters may protest, it is easier to learn today than it was a generation ago. Methods of teaching have so changed they are hardly comparable with those of the early part of the century.

For instance, a teacher just recently was seen taking her class to a motion picture theatre to see "Great Expectations", on their list of English studies for the year. They saw the picture and then read the book at home before taking it up in class.

In those days Shakespeare was dreaded. Lines written for the ear were heavy going for the young eye. Students slogged their way through Hamlet, and passed exams if they had managed to memorize enough. Now, in a magnificent motion picture, Hamlet is made to come alive for the student with more vividness than the finest teacher could achieve. Few students in our day dreamed of the wit, the philosophy and the drama that youngsters of today see so easily in this great play.

Radio, too, is playing an increasing part in making teaching more effective and learning less painful. Even the better "comic" books deserve a word of commendation when they stick to historical subjects. We are told of one 12-year-old with an amazing knowledge of subjects as far apart as sheep dogs and Abe Lincoln, most of it absorbed from "true" comics. And just around the corner is television with its promise of a ringside seat at history as it happens.

All in all, education isn't the drudgery it once was. We hope the kids appreciate it.

Tragedy or Humor ?

WHAT the world needs most at the present time is to have a good abdominal laugh at itself, writes Lewis Milligan. At a recent meeting of the Security Council of the United Nations there was an outburst of laughter when Mr. Vishinsky said there was "no blockade of Berlin". It was a joke, but Mr. Vishinsky, who occasionally displays a sense of humor, pretended not to see it. If he and his colleagues could only be made to laugh at their own jokes, and the laughter became unanimous, it might result in general good fellowship and universal peace.

There may be nothing obviously funny about the atomic bomb (continues Mr. Milligan), but if the nations had a keener and larger sense of the ridiculous, they would laugh at the very idea of mutually blowing one another to smithereens in order to settle an argument or hold on to strips of territory! There is more satirical laughter than tears in these lines of Shakespeare:

" . . But man, proud man,
Drest in a little brief authority,
Most ignorant of what he's most assured,
His glassy essence, like an angry ape,
Plays such fantastic tricks before high heaven

Facts About Prices

By R. J. Deachman

No government, so far, has been able to control prices, the task is too big for any government — the cure would be worse than the disease.

The price rise during a period of inflation is greatest in farm products and raw materials. These are the first to feel the impact — first to feel deflation when it comes.

Wage rates rise with inflation, sometimes lagging slightly behind. When deflation comes wage rates remain up — prices of farm products fall, farm purchasing power declines, unemployment follows.

In time inflation will end, it strangles of its own volition. The hope is that the adjustment to new conditions will be gradual. War inevitably blocks progress — the elimination of war is the greatest single problem of the human race.

PRICE VARIATIONS

Price changes re-distribute the national income. When the cost of living rises in a few years from a level of 100 to a level of 150 we have cut the income of the man who lives on his investments by one-third. On the other hand a drop in the price level from 150 to 100 gives him an increase of 50% in purchasing power. One dollar now buys as much as a dollar-fifty formerly bought.

But what happens to the worker in these conditions? An increase cuts his standard of living. As a result we have strikes and political unrest. A reduction in the cost of living which may help the worker, may have a very different effect upon the farmer. This was one of the primary causes of the depression of the thirties. Prices of farm products, the things the farmer sells, fell to lower levels than other products. Real wages were not much reduced because of declines in cost of living but many workers were unemployed.

Take again the case of the man who invests in fixed income bonds. The fact that he holds the promise of the government to pay the value of that promise may seem of small importance when the government may pay him back with dollars which may be worth 80 cents or less in terms of purchasing power in comparison with their value when he bought the bonds.

There is in these things, an added risk, and the element of risk should be eliminated as far as possible. It is doubtful if it can ever be done through the elimination of trade barriers, the freer movement of commodities and open markets may do something to modify conditions.

This fact, however, must be faced: the free movement of prices helps to adjust the volume of production by drawing capital into the fields of production where prices are high, thus tending to higher volume of production, lower prices. Prices are the balance wheel of modern production. Government control of prices is difficult at all times — possible, to a certain extent, in time of war — impossible, even dangerous in time of peace. Invariably inflation follows a major war.

Hints for Hunting Season

Loaded guns should never be leaned against trees, fences, walls, or other objects. When hunters stop for lunch or to rest, their first act should be to unload their guns and if possible to put them in a dry place.

It is dangerous to carry loaded guns in an automobile, a wagon, or other similar conveyance. A sudden jolt of the vehicle, or a dog moving about, might cause a loaded gun to be discharged with serious consequences.

When hunting from a boat, guns should be left unloaded and with their muzzles pointing away from the boat until the boat is in the proper location, the decoys are set (if duck hunting), and the hunters are in position for shooting.

Some other simple but important safety rules that should be observed when handling and using firearms are as follows:

—Never hold or place a gun so that it points toward yourself or any other person;

—Never grasp a gun by the barrel to lift or pull it — take hold of it near the breech;

—Before picking up a gun be sure that nothing is caught on the triggers or hammers.

The gun, like the automobile, becomes a menace to human life chiefly when and because it is misused. If the safety suggestions contained here were to be carried out faithfully and universally, most of the unintentional harm resulting from the use of firearms would be eliminated.

William H. Graham Dies in Aurora, Ill.

A former resident of this district where he was born in 1876, William H. Graham (son of the late John Graham and his wife Margaret Cleland), died suddenly of a heart attack in Aurora, Ill., on Wednesday, October 27.

Leaving Lachute at the turn of the century, Mr. Graham worked in the building and construction trade for several years, later conducting his own contracting business, in which he was active until his death.

Aurora will miss him as a citizen of high honor and ability. He was a faithful churchman. He served as president of the Y.M.C.A. for 15 consecutive years, being also a trustee of this organization. He was a charter member of the Aurora Union League Club, had been a member of the Kiwanis Club and at the time of his death was a member of the Oddfellows Lodge.

Besides his keen interest in civic and youth affairs, there are many large buildings and substantial homes of his construction which will endure with happy memories of a "good man and true".

The funeral took place at Aurora on Saturday.

He is survived by his widow, Jessie, and numerous relatives.

Mrs. R. Picken and Miss L. Stalker, of Lachute, cousins of the deceased, attended the funeral.

Staying at the Maplewood Inn are Mr. Robert Lochead and Mr. A. E. Clymer, of Westport, Conn. These gentlemen are welcomed to the community, as the majority of residents are acquainted with the artistic efforts of Mr. Clymen especially, and are proud of the fact that part of our well-loved country will be handed down to posterity in the form of a lovely landscape.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will take place in the hall on Wednesday evening, November 10.

Funeral Held at Arundel

The Late Henry Laughren

Arundel — A large gathering of old friends and acquaintances attended the funeral of the late Henry Laughren, which was held last Sunday. The service, conducted by the Rev. L. Temple-Hill, took place in Grace Anglican Church. Two favorite hymns of the deceased were sung, "Abide With Me" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus".

Mr. Laughren, who was in his 81st year, was the beloved husband of Emma Morrison, and leaves to mourn his loss five daughters and three sons — Melvin and Leonard, of Montreal, Guy, of Arundel, Betty, of Montreal, Myrtle (Mrs. R. Stephenson), of Montreal, Etta (Mrs. W. MacMillan), of Lost River, Edith (Mrs. Edw. Godin), of Rouge Valley, Grace, of Madison, Wis., and 10 grandchildren. AMONG THE CHURCHES

Rev. C. Maclean Heads Ministerial Association

The regular monthly meeting of the Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association was held Monday in the Margaret Rodger Memorial Church.

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough, president, was in the chair. The election of officers for 1948-49 was held; the Rev. Charles H. Maclean was appointed to the office of president, and the Rev. W. H. Britton was appointed secretary.

The Rev. A. G. Moore, of Cushing, conducted the devotional period and presented an interesting paper on "The Meaning of Repentance". This was followed by a "round table" discussion in which all the ministers took part. The meeting was dismissed in prayer by the Rev. W. H. Britton.

The next meeting will be held in the Baptist Church, when the Rev. G. T. Spriggs will have charge of the devotional period.

Special Services At Lachute Baptist

At the Sunday morning service in Lachute Baptist Church, Pastor W. H. Britton will preach the second in a series of sermons on "The Divinity of Our Lord" — (2) "His Divine Attributes". The "ordinance of believer's baptism" will take place. Following the devotions, the monthly communion service will be held, and there will be a reception given to new members.

At the 7 o'clock service, the Rev. John F. Dempster, pastor of Calvary Church, Ottawa, will begin a special preaching mission, which will continue through to Friday night, November 12. The week-night meetings will be held at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend and enjoy the ministry of this able preacher.

General Council Delegate Heard at B'burg United

Brownsburg — Mr. Geo. Y. Deacon, of Lachute, local delegate to the United Church General Council which met recently in Vancouver, brought the report of its proceedings to the United Church congregation last Sunday morning, as he did the previous Sunday to the congregation of Lachute. Mr. Deacon gave an interesting account of the Council's activities, punctuated with personal impressions gathered on the route of travel and comment on the hospitality of the western people. The outstanding phase of Mr. Deacon's account was the challenge of the General Council to the church at large in the needs and opportunities of the day. The Rev. S. J. Pike, minister, conducted the service and thanked Mr. Deacon on behalf of the congregation — which appreciation was augmented personally at the close of the service.

• • •

At the Y.P.U. meeting on Monday evening arrangements were started for their concert to be held on Friday, December 10. At the meeting next Monday evening, the Lachute Y.P.U. will be the guests of the Brownsburg group. The meeting will be followed with a social hour.

• • •

The service next Sunday morning will be under auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society, when Miss Guen Suttie, of Montreal, and late of Japan where she served as a missionary, will be the guest speaker.

At 3 p.m. a Remembrance service is to be held under the auspices of the Legion. The Brownsburg band will be in attendance to accompany the singing, and will also render other selections. The parade will precede the service.

To Wed in Saskatchewan, Feted by Friends Prior To Her Departure

To be the guest of honor at two pleasant gatherings in as many nights running, each occasion a complete surprise to her, was the happy lot of Miss Alma D. Boyd, of Louisa, who was thus feted by a host of friends in anticipation of her approaching marriage which will take place in Western Canada.

On Friday evening, October 22, at the home of Mrs. Robert Blakeley, Main Street, Lachute, a large gathering of Miss Boyd's friends made her the happy recipient of a linen shower — Mrs. Blakeley being the hostess; and at Louisa the following night, where Mrs. Russell Seale and family and a group of friends entertained for her in the presence of a gathering from a wide surrounding radius, Miss Boyd was presented with a beautiful purse containing a substantial sum of money. In each instance the gifts evinced the high esteem in which she has always been held in the community.

Miss Boyd left Saturday morning last for Eastend, Saskatchewan, visiting with relatives in Kingston and Toronto en route — accompanied as far as Toronto by her sister Miss Muriel B. Boyd and by their aunt, Mrs. W. F. Zimmer.

Double-Ring Ceremony at Exeter, Ontario, Church

Low - Dinney

At a pretty double-ring ceremony in James Street United Church, Exeter, Ontario, on Saturday, October 23, Barbara Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Dinney, was united in marriage to James Walter Low, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Low, of Brownsburg, Que., the Rev. Harold J. Snell officiating. Mr. Lawrence Wein played the wedding music, while Mr. Grant McDonald sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and "Because".

Mr. Dinney gave his daughter in marriage, and Miss Marion Low, sister of the groom, was the bride's only attendant. The best man was Mr. Keith Low, brother of the groom, the ushers being Mr. Robert C. Dinney, brother of the bride, and Mr. Lorne E. Ritchie.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a slight train, nylon yoke and lace-edged bertha. Her full-length veil was held in place by a satin headdress and she carried a shower bouquet of Talisman roses and bronze chrysanthemums. The bride's only ornament was a double strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of blue moire taffeta, long matching mittens, pink ostrich headdress, and carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses and white chrysanthemums.

A reception followed in the basement of the church. The bride's mother wore a dress of Coachman's grey crepe and a corsage of Better Times roses. The groom's mother was dressed in claret crepe and her corsage was of Joanna Hill roses.

After the reception the happy couple left for a trip to Eastern Ontario and Quebec. The bride travelled in a grey garbardine suit with a corsage of Briarcliffe roses, grey hat, navy accessories and green topcoat.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Low, Miss Marion Low, Mr. Keith Low, of Brownsburg; Miss Bernice Gordon, of Lachute; Mrs. Chris Dinney, of Crediton, Ont., Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Sanders, of London, Ont., and Miss Jean Merrill, of Ingersoll, Ont.

Thought on Taxes

Barefoot boy with cheek of tan;
Blessings on thee, little man,
Trudging down a dusty lane
With no thought of future pain;
You're our one and only bet
To absorb the national debt.
Little man with cares so few,
We've a lot of faith in you;
Guard each merry whistled tune,
You are apt to need them soon.
Have your fun now while you can;
Soon you'll be a barefoot man.

Have You An INSURANCE Problem?
I will be glad to talk it over with you and discuss your needs.

Greeted by Friends On Celebration of Their Silver Wedding

Many friends called yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Giles, to greet them on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Those from distant points who joined them on this happy occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Davis, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kelly, of Ottawa. Their daughter, Miss Lorna Giles, was also here from Ottawa to spend the day with her parents.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Giles were guests at a party in their honor, at the Mount Royal Hotel.

SUNDAY SCHOOL IMPORTANT

Montreal (CP) — Dr. Dorothy Lang, teaching a class for leaders of teen-agers, warned against considering Sunday School a substitute for church. "It is an essential supplement in its worship and educational emphasis", she said.

Hallowe'en Party Staged by W.I.

Frontier W. I. held a Hallowe'en party for children in Elliott's Hall, Cushing, on Friday night, October 28, when an astonishing number of witches, ghosts, bunnies, black cats, etc., appeared to enjoy the treat of games, candy and peanuts, also the refreshments later. Among the children who received prizes for their costumes were — Doris Dewar, John Macdonald, Malcolm Macdonald, Austin Kean and Linda Douglas. The young ladies' prize was won by Ruth Macdonald, of Lakefield, and the young men's prize by Donald Fuller. Mrs. John Douglas and Mrs. Archie Graham were tied for the best grown-ups' costume.

Doris Dewar won the donkey-pinning contest, and Mrs. A. Starnes the tracing contest — tracing a black cat on a square of cotton.

Decorations were carried out in orange and black, in streamers of crepe paper, black cats, witches and pumpkins.

Grenville Pupils Enjoy Hallowe'en Event and Seasonal Interests

GRENVILLE CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL NEWS

Contributed by Double-U-G-Y

A great many of the children are wearing pennants on their sweaters — made of royal blue felt with gold lettering. Each pennant has the name of the wearer embroidered with gold thread. They are proving very popular with the pupils.

Photography has "taken on" at school. One of the teachers has been busy taking shots of the classes, and any interesting scene that has a pupil background. Many have purchased a snap or two, to see what they look like on film.

Recently the school had visitors from Lachute — Mr. Geo. Y. Deacon and Mr. L. Armstrong dropped in on us to say hello and to see our fire-drill. They expressed their approval with our system of responding to fire-drill. The school has a siren, and that gives the drill quite an "atmosphere".

Mr. E. Giles and Mr. A. Ployart called last week from Quebec, and visited the classrooms.

Last Friday evening a Hallowe'en dance was held, and we were more than thrilled at the number of folks who patronized it. The gymnasium was well decorated for the occasion and this, with the costumes, created a picturesque effect. This was a project to raise funds for the "Filmosound", and the effort turned out very well financially. We would like to thank all who helped to make the party such a success.

Opening exercises are to be held this Friday evening, November 5. The guest speaker will be Mr. F. N. Stephen, of Commercial High, Montreal. We expect to have the first showing of pictures on our new Bell & Howell "Filmosound" that evening.

Until two weeks' time — Your G. C. S. reporter.

Wedding at Staynerville

Laughren - Hutchin

A quiet but pretty wedding took place Saturday, October 30, at the bride's home, when Ethel Victoria, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchin, of Staynerville, Que., was united in marriage to Stevens John, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Laughren, of Grece's Point, Que. The Rev. S. J. Pike officiated, and Mrs. Pike played the wedding music.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a sky-blue floor-length gown of taffeta with matching blue floor-length veil and halo. She wore a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of deep pink roses.

Miss Eleanor Hutchin, sister of the bride, was her sister's only attendent, attired in a floor-length gown of pale pink crepe sheer with matching headdress and a shoulder-length veil. Her corsage was of red roses.

Mr. Howard Leahy, of Huntingdon, Que., acted as best man.

The bride's mother was dressed in a dark green crepe dress and wore yellow roses, while the groom's mother had a grey crepe dress and deep pink roses.

The happy couple left later for a short trip, the bride wearing a royal blue worsted wool suit with navy accessories.

Christening at Anglican Church in Shrewsbury

The first christening in many years at St. John's Church, Shrewsbury, was held Sunday afternoon, when the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Good, of Shrewsbury, was baptized by the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh. The child was named Robert Edward. Mr. John Good, of Shrewsbury, grandfather, and Mrs. D. Horwood, of Montreal, grand-aunt of the child, were godparents. Tea was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Good following the ceremony.

Week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Morrison included — Mr. and Mrs. D. MacKimmie and their little daughter Linda, and Mr. Glen Morrison, all of Lachute, Mr. Desmond Entwistle, of Montreal, also Mr. and Mrs. Murray Morrison with their small son Barry, of Hudson Heights.

Mrs. R. Hurtubise has opened an attractive gift shop, adjoining Round Lake Inn. Friends wish her success in this new venture.

Neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Owen are happy to learn that their infant daughter, Elizabeth Ann, is now home from hospital, where she was detained to undergo two blood transfusions.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Williams attended the Masonic dinner held at Maplewood Inn, Arundel, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Moore, of Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Trottier. Miss P. Trottier was home from St. Jovite to spend the week-end with her parents.

Mr. George Clifton and Mr. E. J. Craig spent the week-end at their homes here.

Hallowe'en Party

Miss Barbara Swail held a Hallowe'en party for her pupils, at the school on Saturday evening. . . Prizes were won by Carolyn Waters, attired as a Devil, Ronald Williams as Mr. Peanut, Isabel Bates as Little Old Lady, Hazel Woods as a Clown, and Ronald Woods as an Eskimo.

Urges Common Sense

Weston-Super-Mare, Eng. (CP)—Health Minister Aneurin Bevan, speaking of the new national health service, told Britons: "Don't let us become a nation of hypochondriacs."

"We appeal to you to use the health service prudently. It is free, but if its freedom is abused that freedom will be limited.

"Go to the doctor only when you want him. Don't ask the doctor's advice when your own might be as good."

Bevan said a great strain was being put on the health service but "before long people will find a sense of proportion."

Old Ideas for New Cooks

Cookery has become an exact science, and it is comparatively easy to learn the principles and rules of cooking different foods, then to follow them exactly in every detail. A cook may achieve uniformly good results by this method, but the girl who hopes to be known for the perfection of her meals uses originality and adds it to science. It is this combination of exactness and imagination that earns the reputation as a "born cook".

Tea biscuits are often used as a measure of a good cook and with biscuit dough there are innumerable variations.

Tea Biscuits

2 Cups sifted all-purpose flour (or 2¼ cups sifted pastry flour), 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons shortening, ⅔ cup milk.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles fine bread crumbs. Add milk slowly to form a soft but not sticky dough. Roll to ½ inch thickness on a floured board. Cut, place on a baking sheet and bake in a very hot oven, 425°F., for 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 12 medium-sized biscuits.

Variations

Tomato Biscuits: Replace milk with ½ cup tomato juice.

Cheese Biscuits: Use ½ cup grated cheese and 1 tablespoon fat instead of 3 tablespoons called for in basic recipe.

Jam-Jennies: Cut biscuits ½ inch thick. Make a deep depression in the top of each and fill with 1 teaspoon jam.

Raisin Biscuits: Add 1 tablespoon sugar to basic recipe. Use ¾ cup milk instead of ⅔ cup and add ½ cup raisins. Drop onto baking sheet by spoonfuls.

Apple Biscuits: Add 1 tablespoon sugar to basic recipe. Use ¾ cup smooth applesauce instead of the ⅔ cup milk.

Pinwheels: Add 1 tablespoon sugar to basic recipe. Roll dough into rectangle ¼ inch thick. Brush lightly with melted shortening, sprinkle lightly with cinnamon and 3 teaspoons honey. Roll up like a jelly roll. Cut into slices ¾ inch thick. Bake cut side down.

Butterscotch Rolls: Follow the directions for Pinwheels, using ⅓ cup brown sugar instead of white sugar and cinnamon.

Cheese Pinwheels: Roll dough into a rectangle ⅛ inch thick. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Roll up like a jelly roll, cut into 1-inch slices and bake, cut side down.

Roly Poly: Roll dough to ⅛ inch thickness. Spread with 1 cup jam or 1½ cups drained canned fruit. Roll up like a jelly roll, place in a greased pan and bake in a very hot oven, 425°F., for 25 to 30 minutes. Thicken fruit syrup for sauce or serve with cream. Yield: six servings.

Maple or Fruit Dumpling Dessert: Pour 1 cup of maple syrup or juice from canned fruit into a square cake pan and bring to a boil. Prepare dough as in basic recipe. Place biscuits in the hot syrup and bake in a hot oven, 400°F., for 12 to 15 minutes.

Dumplings for Stew: Use only 1 tablespoon fat in basic recipe and increase milk to ¾ cup. Drop by spoonfuls on top of boiling stew, removing some of the liquid if necessary, so that the dumplings will rest on top of the meat and vegetables and not sink into the liquid. Cook, closely covered and without removing the lid, for 15 minutes.

Tinsel and Confetti

By Nora Routledge

Listen, teenagers! If you think your view of true love and your notion of marriage are private affairs, you are very wrong! Why? Because, with you rests the foundation of Canada's future families. Now the family is the basis of all society, therefore the very strength of this, our Canada, as a nation, depends on the kind of success YOU make of your marriage.

If you read the papers, you can't help knowing that the Powers That Be are concerned because of the increasing divorce rate in Canada.

You don't want to join the unhappy ranks of those whose marriages break up, do you?

Now is the time to do your thinking — to acquire the right attitude towards love. The right attitude doesn't include the highly romantic view of the average teenager.

Teenager's View of Love

Perhaps "view" isn't the right word. "Dream" is more like it — a vari-colored dream, compounded from listening to the radio, reading trashy "love" stories and attending sentimental movies!

It goes something like this:

Boy meets girl, most probably at a dance. He's handsome; he drives a car; he dances like Fred Astaire! She — oh, she's a ravishing beauty in a gorgeous gown! They dance divinely together — two bits of thistledown tossed by the wind! They step out into the moonlight — there has to be a moon! He whispers sweet words; she sighs; two hearts beat as one! They are in love!

Wonderful, rapturous bliss!

And all too often, without much more thought they skip lightly off to be married, confidently expecting it to work out like a fairy-tale. They will live happily ever after — it just couldn't be otherwise!

No wonder so many marriages come to grief! If young people see nothing but the tinsel and confetti, they can't avoid waking up after the honeymoon and feeling that life has cheated them.

The Truth Of It

Now, the truth of the matter is that, while the moonlight-and-roses theme is a thrilling phase of the growing-up process, it is not in itself any solid basis for marriage. It has little, if anything, to do with real love.

For instance, true love has little relation to beauty, unless it's beauty of soul. Look around you, teenagers, at those couples who are happily married. Are all the wives glamor girls? And the husbands — are they composites of Van Johnston and Frank Sinatra? Heaven forbid!

Happiness No Free Issue

Happy marriages aren't made in heaven — they are built up day by day, year after year, within the four walls of our homes. The bricks which strengthen the walls are Loyalty; the mortar holding them together is Understanding.

Happiness isn't given away free with every wedding ring. Like all the other worthwhile things in life, it has to be paid for.

How is it paid for?

By the bride's putting off her wedding veil and becoming a wife, through the practices of her trade — all the humdrum tasks that are packed into the word "housekeeping"; by her willingness to recognize the fact that the young husband might well be tired, too, at the end of a day's work; by the bridegroom's appreciation of the boredom of home-making (it's wonderful, boys, how a word of praise from you can lighten the next day's tasks); by the mutual overlooking of each other's faults, in the sure knowledge that neither is perfect; by the pain and fatigue of childbirth; by the enduring patience with small fry and their demands; by long hours at the desk or in the plant, struggling to get a foothold on the ladder of success.

All these elements fuse themselves into the currency which pays for happiness.

Take A Good Look

Strip off your rose-colored glasses, teenagers — even if by so doing you take the glitter off the tinsel, and the multi-colored confetti fades! See your future marriage without the romantic fuzz around the edges!

You will find that the long road ahead, with all its peaks and valleys, is quite worth travelling — provided you make the journey with clear-sighted courage, hand-in-hand with your partner, who needn't be a glamor girl or a tailor's dummy, but just another ordinary human being who loves you.

Dentist to girl in chair: "I'm sorry, but I'm all out of gas."

Patient: "Ye Gods! Do dentists pull that old stuff, too?"

Hull Blanks Out Brownsburg 8-0 to Win Championship of Papineau Baseball League

Brownsburg — At two o'clock last Sunday the C-I-L picnic spot was packed with ball fans, out to see the game of the season, and it was a grand day. With the band playing, fans rooting, kids bawling, Jack Roberts yelling "peanuts" at the top of his voice, the team out on the field warming up, umpires measuring the field, the cop backing up the crowd — then the call "play ball!" . . . And then, according to the Burg's most ardent fans — "it should have rained".

The Hull pitcher, Leo Duguay, turned in the most remarkable game ever seen in these parts. Considering that Brownsburg has the heaviest hitters in the league, based on the year's average, and yet the home team never scored a run—it certainly shows they were up against stiff opposition.

It was very disappointing to the supporters as well as to the team, but it's all over now, and we are looking forward to a bigger and better league next year.

The Brownsburg baseball club would like to take this opportunity of thanking all who so generously donated to the club this year, and also to the fans who so faithfully followed the team all season.

Following was the local line-up of last Sunday's game:

Roger Prud'homme, C; M. Thompson, P; M. Vallee, P; F. St. Onge, 1B; R. Summers, 2B; R. Maude, SS; H. King, 3B; K. Simpson, LF; J. Murdoch, CF; M. Legault, RF.

Spare, P. E. Hebert.

Lachute Pays Tribute on Remembrance Day

Impressive Scene at Memorial Rites; Veterans and Public Unite in Homage

With the unfading memory of the public, another factor was notable in Lachute's Remembrance Day observance — namely the numerical strength of the Argenteuil Legion, eloquent of their determination to fill an honorable and contructive role in peace, as they had honorably and nobly served in war.

The Legion had prominence in the morning's proceedings—rightly so, for this is their day, an anniversary in which the rank and file join in humble tribute, in grateful memory, to those of their fellows who did not return.

At the civic auditorium and in the memorial park, the traditional ceremonies took place today. The Legion with their colors, the Scouts and Guides and junior groups, took part in these proceedings, representing all elements of the town. The poppy emblem was in evidence too — symbol of the people's aid to veterans less fortunate than those who stood today before the cenotaph.

The devotional exercises in the Auditorium were presided over by Mayor Alex Bothwell, while various members of the clergy took part in the order of service — the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, the Rev. W. H. Britton and the Rev. C. R. Lang. Speaker on this occasion was the Rev. Chas. Maclean, a former chaplain in the services. The traditional two minutes' silence was observed.

During the proceedings Mayor Bothwell presented to the Argenteuil Legion a cheque for $1,000 towards their building fund, from Lachute Town Corporation and on behalf of the people of Lachute. Past-president James Duncan accepted the gift and expressed the Legion's warm appreciation.

Following these devotions, a wreath was laid at the memorial outside the building, erected just recently in memory of the 2nd World War heroes. At the cenotaph the formal laying of

Jehovah Witness Trials Deferred

In the autumn assizes at St. Jerome, the hearing of several cases against members of the Jehovah Witnesses has been held over, pending the outcome of two trials which are regarded in the nature of test cases. One is a case before the King's Bench, and the other before the Supreme Court, both on charges laid in this province similar to the cases at St. Jerome.

Monument Honors Memory of Dead in 2nd World War

The memorial plaque unveiled a year ago on the facade of the Lachute Auditorium, appears today in its permanent form mounted in front of the civic building — its engraved bronze impressive against the background of a granite monument, to mark the tribute of this community to 20 heroes who sacrificed their lives in the Second World War.

The plaque was designed and lettered by the Robt. Mitchell Company, of Montreal, and the monument is of Argenteuil granite from the quarries of Gaboriault & Nevers, Rawcliffe. Erected by the Scott Monument Works of Lachute, the stone is set on a substantial cement base between the approaches to the Auditorium.

The plaque, then temporarily erected, was fittingly unveiled during the Armistice rites last year. Although Mayor Alex Bothwell has pressed for its completion in the meantime, many delays have been experienced. It is gratifying, however, that today it stands in solemn evidence of the public tribute on Remembrance Day.

Last Call for Support To Salvation Army Red Shield Campaign

In order to complete the local returns in the annual Red Shield Campaign of the Salvation Army, it is urged upon those able to contribute, and who have not already done so, to hand in their subscriptions to Eric A. Hibbard, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Lachute branch. Mr. Hibbard, as honorary treasurer for the appeal in this district, will appreciate donations to this worthy cause and asks that amounts be forwarded to him without delay so that the local record may be complete and returns remitted to headquarters.

Conference at Lachute Attended by Teachers from Central School Area

IS EDUCATION FULFILLING ITS ROLE? SPEAKER SIZES UP THE CLASSROOM IN TERMS OF POST-SCHOOL CITIZENSHIP

Lachute High School was the scene of considerable activity last Thursday afternoon when more than 60 teachers from schools within the jurisdiction of the Central School Board, together with the staff from the Brownsburg Consolidated School, gathered to attend a conference planned and directed by Principal F. H. J. Royal, who is also the Supervisor for the Central Board. The staffs from the schools at Grenville, Arundel, Morin Heights, Grande Fresniere, St. Andrews East and Kilmar were present, together with the teachers from the elementary schools at Harrington, Lakefield and Lost River.

As the classes in the High School convened for the afternoon session, the visiting teachers divided into groups and observed certain subjects being taught in some of the classrooms. Among highlights in this part of the program was a demonstration in the teaching of Reading by Miss Ruth Low, Assistant Supervisor of English for the Department of Education, who had been spending the week at the High School. Mrs. D. McCabe led a discussion group in Grades I to IV, Mr. B. A. Millar, B.A., led another in the teaching of French, and Mr. A. E. Thompson, B.A., directed a fourth group in a discussion on "Films as a Teaching Aid". The visitors reported an interesting and instructive afternoon. . . Several members of the local staff, however, claim they are "not exactly looking forward to an early repetition of this experience".

The Central Board was host to the gathering in the lunch room that evening, when an excellent dinner was served by the Upper Lachute Women's Institute. Seated at the head table were Mr. F. H. J. Royal, chairman; Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., chairman of the Central School Board; Mrs. M.

Banquet by Legion on Anniversary of Armistice; Old Riel Veteran Honored

The Lachute Golf Club chalet was the scene of a successful banquet last Saturday evening at the Legion's annual Armistice Day get-together — an occasion when departed comrades are remembered, new acquaintances are made, and old ones meet again to talk over past battles and relive the fight for freedom and democracy as we live it.

Just three short years ago the final shots were fired and the veterans of the Second Great War came marching back after a long, hard battle with the enemy. Now the veterans of the First and Second Great Wars — yes, and of wars before the First Great War—meet within the organization of the Canadian Legion to carry on in service — in peace, as they did in war.

At the head table were — Comrades James Duncan, chairman; Stewart Jones, president of the Argenteuil Legion No. 70; H. Steele, Brownsburg; F. C. Cameron, Morin Heights; A. Archambault, Hawkesbury; E. M. Jones, the Rev. C. Maclean and W. J. Hale, of Lachute; and the guest speaker of the evening, Gordon Drysdale, of Montreal. Among the guests were members from the Legion in Grenville, Cushing, St. Andrews, Montreal and Hawkesbury.

Riel Veteran Honored

After introduction of the guests, Comrade E. M. Jones presented Comrade W. John Hale, of the Seigniory, with a small token in appreciation of his colorful record. He referred to Mr. Hale, in part, as follows: —

"Wm. John Hale, who celebrated his 80th birthday on November 1, was born in Hartfield Barracks, Bristol, England. Mr. Hale's father's regiment moved from Bristol to Bermuda and he moved his family along with them, when William Hale was only a few days old.

"They shortly were moved to Halifax, and in 1885 the regiment left for Egypt for the relief of Khartoum, where General Gordon was sourrounded and needed help desperately.

A. Laurin Engaged As Town Secretary

At an adjourned meeting of Town Council, held Friday evening in Mayor A. Bothwell's office, prime business of the session was to discuss the appointment of a new secretary-treasurer to replace Albini Lamarche, whose resignation becomes effective November 15.

A total of 21 applications were considered, with salaries ranging from $2,080 to $5,200 a year. The tender of Antonio Laurin, for $2,300 a year, was accepted. (Mr. Laurin, a Lachute Mills resident, has been in the employ of the Federal Government; he was in the services during the 2nd World War.)

The auditors of the town finances, W. J. T. Adamson & Co., were authorized to set up a new bookkeeping system for the corporation's accounts.

Ald. Wilfrid Morrissette was appointed pro-mayor for the ensuing three months' period.

Matters Before B'burg Council

(Specially Contributed)

Waterworks Extension Now Completed

At Monday's meeting of the Council — with all members present except Councillor H. Pariseau, who has left to take up residence in Montreal — accounts submitted for payment in respect to the Chenierville water supply revealed that the work was now completed. The Mayor explained that the roads through which the pipes were laid have not yet been restored to adequate traffic conditions, but that a sub-contract was before the council for the laying of gravel. This extension, which was undertaken at the urgent insistence of the Health Department, supplies a section in great need of sanitary conveniences with an adequate supply of water and sewerage. It is expected in the near future that a system of hard-surfaced roads will be laid.

$2,500 Claimed

Brownsburg Council received a letter from Mr. Howard Morrow through his legal representatives, Héon and Lagarde, claiming the sum of $2,500 for flooding and back-water damage to land and trees by the council's reservoir dam at Dalesville. Mayor Omer Legault stated in explanation that the alleged flooding was over a section of land which had been acquired from Mr. McGibbon by Mr. Morrow since the council's dam was erected. At the time the dam was about to be constructed, the Government's engineers consulted with Mr. McGibbon and an amicable arrangement was worked out. The subsequent sale of this land did not continue any right the former owner had and so courteously abrogated, over to a subsequent owner. When Mr. Morrow purchased the land it was "as is", and not with an inherited cause of action against the council. In any event no action lay against the council, as a municipal council is protected against such action in the matter of utilities by the provincial Public Utilities Board.

• • •

Parking

A further by-law was passed prohibiting parking outside the Catholic Church between St. Louis and Church streets north, and an amendment to a previous by-law which prohibits parking on either side of the street between Bank and McMaster streets.

• • •

100% Valuation

Notification of a meeting of municipal electors and officials was received from th Department of Municipal Affairs to be held in St. Jerome on November 26. It was stated that the raising of all valuations and consideration of a uniform system of valuation was on the agenda for that meeting.

• • •

Winter Roads

Application was received from the Winter Roads Association for a contribution towards the work of keeping 35 miles of roads open during the winter. A cheque for $75 was authorized by council. It was expected that this would be the last such demand, as the Provincial Government was raising the statutory amount this year, and next year would relieve associations of this work.

A good character is, in all cases, the fruit of personal exertion.

Visit to Industry, Interesting Diversion In Regular Sessions of B'burg Rotary

The Brownsburg Rotary Club departed from their usual place and day of meeting this week, by holding their regular assembly at Kilmar on Tuesday evening as guests of Canadian Refractories Limited.

The members arrived at the Company's office at 5 p.m., where they were met by the plant superintendent, E. Grant Baker. The party was divided into groups of five or six, and, accompanied by an official, made a complete inspection of the plant and the mine. Among the highlights of the tour was the dead-burning plant, where the party saw the ore being burned in kilns 245-feet long at a temperature of 3,000 degrees. Of particular interest also was the special products plant, where firebrick of various shapes and sizes are subjected to extreme temperatures. Wm. Bray, mine manager, explained all the intricacies of mining, and the operation of the new plant which is under construction, and which, it was gathered from the highly technical explanation, is for the purpose of sorting the magnesite as it comes from the mine.

Upon completion of the tour the members gathered at the cook camp, and were served an excellent dinner by Industrial Caterers Limited, who now have charge of the camp. Mr. R. Thalen, one of the officials of this company from Montreal, was on hand to supervise operations. Others besides Mr. Baker who sat at the head table were — Lloyd Thomas, mine engineer, who had full responsibility for the alterations in the dead-burning plant and the installation of the equipment; Wm. Bray, mine engineer; Doug Sullivan, underground superintendent; Jack Scott, office manager; Alex Bryson, assistant treasurer from the Company's accounting office in Montreal; Cliff Perry, superintendent of operations; and Homer Smith, research engineer.

Following the dinner — which the members thoroughly enjoyed and for which they enthusiastically congratulated Mr. Thalen and the cook, Mr. Carriere — a round-table discussion took place concerning operations at Kilmar.

Rotary President Norm Somers expressed the appreciation of the club members to the Refractories officials, and assured them that the outing had been most instructive and enjoyable.

Parents' Night at Arundel School

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — A pleasing event took place last Saturday evening, when the Arundel Consolidated School held a "Parents' Night".

The guests and parents welcomed this opportunity to inspect the different classrooms, where work done by the pupils was on display — including very clever scrapbooks on nature, animal life, and different kinds of plants and leaves cleverly mounted and labeled. There was an exhibit of Junior Red Cross sewing, and paper doylies cut out and mounted on colored squares. In a sandbox was a miniature desert scene, with its water holes and oases and palm trees. Also on display was the school music library, consisting of symphonies, extracts of plays, and popular music for the school dances — which showed that the pupils were being guided in their appreciation of good music and literature. There was also on display the nucleus of a new school library, with books to cater to all tastes. . . After the inspection, the guests assembled in one room, where the principal, Mr. Melvin Graham, welcomed the parents and guests, and outlined in brief some of the work being accomplished at the school. He then introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Mr. Shufelt, who gave an interesting talk on the subject "Trends in Education".

Mr. J. Veit thanked the speaker, and Mrs. E. A. Bulley, president of the Women's Institute, was called upon to present the prizes to the successful pupils — awards which had been donated by the W.I.

A motion picture was then shown, entitled "Lessons in Living", after which refreshments were served by the pupils of Grades IX and X—and the boys and girls are to be congratulated on the efficient way in which this was carried out. The instructive and enjoyable evening was then brought to a close.

Agricultural Soc'y Officers Elected

At the annual meeting of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, held here on Tuesday, the following were elected directors for the year 1949:

The County Warden, J. H. Black, C. Tremblay, Gilbert Arnold, George McGibbon, E. K. Wilson, H. J. O'Connell, Gavin Walker, Wm. Wilson, Theodore Murdoch, James MacKimmie, James McKenzie, Willie Robert, Ernie Emmett and Ross McAdam.

Dates recommended for the 1949 Lachute Spring Fair were — June 15-16-17-18.

The popular idea that the Indians of Canada are disappearing is contrary to fact. By a 1944 census there were 125,686 Indians here, more than in 1900.

Jury Verdicts in Two Inquests

Inquest was held last Friday in the deaths of three young men from Ste. Scholastique — Albert Laurin, 28, Sylvio Laurin, 26, and Roger Jetté, 24 — who were victims of a truck-auto collision on the night of September 25 on the Montreal highway four miles east of Lachute.

The inquest took place at Lachute town hall, where jurors heard evidence from several witnesses — including Traffic Officer Howard Jones, who investigated; Edmond Laurin, brother of two of the victims, who was also injured in the crash; Jean Louis Cyr, of St. Hermas, and Albini Richer, driver of a Hull Transport truck, who had been first arrivals at the scene of the accident; Hector Beauregard, who had been a passenger with Philippe Delmosse, driver of the truck involved in the collision. The latter was unable to appear, being still in hospital at Hull with a severe arm injury. There were also other witnesses.

Attention centred on the question of lights—Edmond Laurin testifying the truck had no headlights, and the Hull Transport driver testifying to the contrary. Blood tests had been taken from both of the drivers concerned, and the report of analysis by the provincial medico-legal authority was also entered as evidence.

The jury, under chairmanship of Jos. Senecal, deliberated for 10 minutes, then returned a verdict of accidental death.

Later Friday night at the Dansereau School in Grenville, inquest was held into the death of Ernest Lanthier, 62-year-old hotel keeper, who succumbed October 30 to injuries inflicted in a scuffle outside his hotel last August.

Chief evidence in this case was that of his assailant, Jack Brabant, of L'Orignal, Ont., whose statement recounting the incident was presented to the jury by the homicide officer, Det. U. Legault; A. Tessier, bartender and employee of Lanthier, was also a witness; and the victim's daughter, a nurse, who testified that her father had never completely regained consciousness after being injured in the head. From Dr. J. M. Roussel, medico-legal expert, a report was read on the autopsy, which showed without doubt that Lanthier had died from a skull fracture.

The jury, led by Wm. Morrow, found Jack Brabant responsible for the death. . . The latter was subsequently arraigned at St. Jerome on a charge of manslaughter, and bail was set at $2,000.

• • •

Dr. Jules Lafleur, of Lachute, presided as coroner at both inquests. Georges H. Héon, K.C., represented the crown, and legal counsel were present in both instances on behalf of parties involved.

2 Deaths Through Over-Exertion, Hunting in Woods

A well known Kilmar resident, Bond McLeod, 50-year-old hoist man at the Canadian Refractories Ltd. shaft, met his death while hunting last Sunday in the vicinity of Kilmar. Death was from natural causes, the result of a heart seizure.

With a party of 11 other men, including one of his sons, McLeod was missed early in the day while hunting on the Rogers farm in Scotch Road settlement. A systematic search was started, in which numerous friends and neighbors lent a hand, and long after dark, around 10 p.m., the victim was found dead in the bush.

Mr. McLeod is survived by his wife and a family of five. It was stated he had recently suffered symptoms of distress indicating a heart ailment.

• • •

Peter Melrose, a resident of Verdun, with a party of four friends hunting between Lakefield and Mille Isles, suffered a similar seizure and died in the bush last Sunday afternoon.

It is reported Melrose had shot a deer, but having no means of hauling the carcass from the woods, returned to the waiting automobile to call his comrades. The party returned in the direction he indicated, but were unable to find the deer. In the excitement and exertion of the search, Peter Melrose fell, apparently unconscious. He was brought to Lachute, where Dr. Jules Lefleur examined the victim and found him dead.

• • •

Awards at Ottawa Entries in Toronto, Winter Exhibitions

Many from this district attended the Ottawa Winter Fair and Horse Show — and it is gratifying to note once again that this county has exhibits of a calibre to challenge such strong competition presented at Ottawa, and at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

Among those who won distinction at this fair was Don Bradley, of J. P. Bradley & Son, who showed a senior bull he had recently sold to A. Feterley of Russell, Ont. — which animal won first in its class, also the junior champion and reserve grand champion awards.

George McGibbon, also of Lachute, won 2nd, 3rd and 4th prizes with his "Just Pete", show roadster. Incidentally, Mrs. G. McGibbon had her first experience in the show ring, driving a pair of hackney ponies owned by Mr. W. Smith of Renfrew, and winning 2nd award.

John MacVicar, of Brownsburg, won second award with his spring wheat, while Gerald Vary, also of Brownsburg, won 20 prizes, four of them firsts, on his fowl. . . In the poultry classes also, J. Combie, of Lachute, won two firsts and had the distinction of exhibiting the finest cockerel in the show.

Among those shipping livestock this week for entry in the Toronto Royal Winter Fair are — Gilbert E. Arnold, John Heatley, Geo. McGibbon, E. K. Wilson, A. D. McGibbon & Sons, J. P. Bradley & Son, Jack Black and Erskin Rodger.

'Humor at the Bar' Recounted To Rotary Club

Rotarian Arthur Laverty, from the Montreal Rotary, addressed the local Rotarians last Thursday at Brownsburg, taking as his topic "Humor at the Bar". Rotarian Russell Graham introduced the speaker.

Rotarian Arthur Laverty, a lawyer by profession, recounted many humorous cases from the annals of legal experience. Too many after-dinner addresses today strike a pessimistic note, he observed — some of them rightfully so; however, he considered it unwise to dwell too much on unpleasant subjects, as this was a short cut to mental depression and by no means a constructive diversion. In his address, "Humor at the Bar", he stated he could readily recount many interesting but serious and unhappy cases. He preferred, however, to forget these, remembering rather the amusing yet true-to-life anecdotes. He said the general belief was that witnesses feared the lawyers, but to reverse this theory, actually the lawyers fear the witnesses more, as they never know what a moment of confusion might do in the course of court proceedings.

The various incidents cited by Rotarian Laherty accented the humor of the courts, and were warmly appreciated by his listeners. . . Rotarian Jim Finlayson thanked the speaker.

Veterans' Supper At Grenville

The Long Sault Hotel at Grenville is to be the scene of a banquet this evening in commemoration of Armistice Day. Sponsors of the function are the ex-servicemen of the district, organized under the name of the Veterans' Association of Grenville and headed by George H. Lessard. Wives and lady guests will join in the gathering, and Argenteuil's federal representative, George H. Héon, K.C., M.P., has been invited as the special speaker.

Canadians Honor War Dead

The Hon. Lionel Chevrier, member of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations, is shown placing a wreath on the memorial erected to Canadian soldiers who died at Berny-sur-Mer in the Battle for Normandy. The Canadian delegation visited the battlefields where their countrymen helped win the foothold that was a springboard for the liberation of Europe.

The National Research Council, founded in 1916 to conduct research on problems of national scientific interest, had a staff of 2,300 — half of them scientists — in November, 1947.

Gatineau LINES

Anybody who still isn't convinced that this water shortage is a serious thing as far as the supply of electricity is concerned, might like to have a few facts and figures showing just how we stand at present. The figures are those of the Gatineau Power, but they reflect a situation which is general practically everywhere in Quebec and Ontario.

Gatineau Power Company has two main storage reservoirs far up in the Gatineau Hills, where it gathers water in times of heavy rainfall, stores it, and then releases it gradually as needed to keep the power plants operating when normally there wouldn't be any water.

Right now, our reservoirs are a little less than half full.

And during the winter, water reserves are always used at a more rapid rate.

It is easy to see why this is so. Water reservoirs are fed by countless rivers, streams and creeks, most of which freeze up during the winter. Instead of rain — which flows off the land into the reservoirs— we get snow which stays where it falls until the spring melting. The amount of water which goes into the reservoirs, therefore, is much less in winter than in other seasons — but the amount which must be drawn out to keep the power generators turning is practically the same no matter what the season.

Normally, reservoirs have one other source of water — the seepage of moisture down in the ground far below the frost line. When the land holds a quantity of such moisture, a good proportion of it finds its way into the reservoir no matter how firmly the ground is frozen up above. But this winter we can't expect much help from this source because it has been so dry for so long that there is little moisture left even far down in the ground.

That is why we urge all our customers to do everything in their power to save electricity now and in the months ahead.

Health Plan To Be Offered To Local Residents During Blue Cross Week

Rotary-Sponsored Campaign To Open November 15

To meet the increased demand for Blue Cross services from Lachute and Brownsburg residents unable to join the Plan through local groups, the Quebec Hospital Service Association, in co-operation with Brownsburg Rotary Club, has organized a Blue Cross Week to take place November 15 to November 20. During that period, Blue Cross representatives will be at the Social Club in Brownsburg and at Pollock & Graves Motors Ltd., 181 Main Street, Lachute, to receive applications from local residents.

The health plan offered is the most comprehensive and least expensive one realized as yet on the North American continent. Operating on a non-profit basis, its coverage provides protection against hospital, surgical and medical expenses to subscribers, and their wives and children under 19, on payment of a small quarterly subscription.

Endorsed by Quebec hospitals and the medical profession, the Blue Cross Plan has grown in this province to a point where its members now total 400,000. Payments made by Blue Cross to Quebec hospitals on behalf of its subscribers exceed $6,000,000, and this impressive figure is increased by $250,000 each month.

The present offer of community coverage is a new departure, since all Blue Cross members usually join through a group at their place of employment. Local residents are encouraged to form a group if they are employers or employees in a business or service including at least five persons, since payroll deduction is much easier and applies only to groups.

Is Town-Planning A Pipe Dream?

— By M. V. Trayers —

The subject of "town-planning" is slated for discussion at this week's session of Citizens' Forum, heard over the air on Friday night at 8 o'clock. The Lachute Chamber of Commerce, as reported in a recent issue of The Watchman, held an interesting discussion on this subject at which a town-planning expert was present to address the members. The nation-wide discussion should contribute some educative facts to this ever growing problem.

Citizens' Forum source material points out that town-planning seems to be no more a pipe dream than ordering the right size of shoes! In practical terms it means using some foresight in arranging the use of land to fit the needs of the community. The economic and human loss through allowing the community to "grow like Topsy" is incalculable. If we permit large areas in towns and cities to become broken-down, blighted and decayed, we depreciate real estate values and produce higher taxation. Crowded and sordid districts need costly services from the community as a whole, while they contribute no corresponding revenue.

When this process of decay sets in, it causes the flight of more substantial residents to unplanned suburban subdivisions. Here the whole sad story may begin all over again, as the new subdivisions in their turn become blighted.

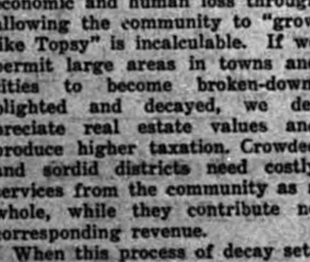

Communities may be forced to undertake piece-meal projects at enormous costs, just to alleviate conditions that could have been prevented by planning. It seems clear therefore to many people that, if town-planning is a pipe dream, unplanned development is a nightmare.

The aim of town-planning is both to prevent and to remedy these admittedly undesirable conditions. But we may ask ourselves, are these aims and objects attainable? What are the practical difficulties? In the first place, there is the quite human limitation on ability to see the future, and consequently to plan for it. Then the problem of undoing past blunders—in many cases involving the uprooting and remodelling of whole areas of towns and cities — is bound to cause disagreement on interest within the community. . . On this score, whether by chance or design, the Town of Lachute has one of the finest main thoroughfares it is possible to find in any Canadian city. The problem of parking, the bug-bear of modern town-planning, has been solved by the area available in the principal shopping district. On the other hand, the city fathers in Brownsburg are at their wits' end to devise some means of keeping the streets clear for traffic, because of the narrow main street. To further illustrate this point — after the relatively recent destruction of buildings along the main stem, a heaven-sent opportunity lay within the competence of the residents to correct this situation, by erecting the new buildings back sufficiently to widen the street to almost any size. An effort was made in this direction, but the conflicting interests could not be satisfied by the limited legal power, and more limited financial power, of the municipality.

In certain industrial or company towns where no conflict of interest arises, a very satisfactory living environment can be provided. The Town of Timmins is an excellent example. Montreal has a Master Plan to rehabilitate blighted areas, a rapid transit system, housing on city-owned land, and expressways. An outer green belt of riverside reserves, parks, farms and woods, is part of the plan.

But all this costs money, which indicates that the question of whether town-planning is a pipe dream or a reality, is finally up to the public. One government planning official has put it: "What could make town-planning a pipe dream is the same in principle as what could make the United Nations a pipe dream — the failure of people to agree to common sense. With a reasonable degree of co-operation it cannot help but become a reality. If we live up to our rights in each generation we we continually benefit. But government and municipal machinery is only as good as the peoples' will behind it." . . . Listen-in Friday night to Citizens' Forum, and get the low-down on this subject.

Legislation Forecast for Coming Quebec Session

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

Quebec (CP) — Political news held the limelight here last week, as Premier Duplessis announced the first session of the province's 23rd Legislature would begin January 19 next.

Other political highlights are:

A December 14 by-election to fill the Legislative Assembly seat for Brome County made vacant by the sudden death of Mines Minister Jonathan Robinson.

Anouncement that a group of young Liberals who call their movement "L'Action Politique Libérale" were to initiate their activities by contesting the by-election.

Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale party will have one of the largest Lower House majorities ever seen here when the new legislature meets.

Standing in the Legislative Assembly is as follows: Union Nationale, 81; Liberals, eight; Nationalist, one; Independent, one; vacant, one.

By the time the session rolls around the Brome by-election will be over but, whichever way the voters decide to cast their ballots in the expected two-way fight, it will not change much in the Legislative Assembly.

The Quebec Legislature is made up of an elected Legislative Assembly and an appointive Legislative Council, a provincial Upper House whose 24 members sit for life.

Important legislation has been announced by Premier Duplessis for the coming session. Several bills will deal with the tremendous mining development in the vast northeastern Ungava region.

One of the bills, it has already been announced, will deal with a totally new development; mining of titanium ore at Lac Allard, where one of the largest deposits in the world has been known to exist for some years now.

Another one will deal with the question of a hydro plant to be constructed at Eaton Canyon in Ungava which will serve for the exploitation of huge iron ore deposits.

Labor Minister Antonio Barrette has already announced that a provincial labor code — the subject of much discussion in the past — will be brought before the Legislature for adoption.

Another bill slated for the Legislature this coming January is an elaborate industrial health bill said to be in line with modern industrial medicine.

Although the coming Legislature session will consider highly important legislation, it is expected it will be one of the shortest Quebec has ever had. It is estimated that in six weeks the session will be prorogued.

The reason will be the numerically weak opposition.

However, in the midst of all the bustle of important and voluminous government activity, Liberals, badly shattered in July elections, have started to show signs of life.

A youthful former officer with the Chaudiere Regiment and a Quebec lawyer, Major Francois Fournier, announced that a group of young Liberals have banded together to form a political action movement.

Presenting a candidate against the government nominee in Brome next December is their first step into the political arena.

Gatineau Power Plans New $8-Million Plant

Ottawa (CP) — The Gatineau Power Company will make an $8,000,000 expenditure for power facilities in Quebec Province before the end of next year, G. Gordon Gale, president of the company, said Saturday.

He spoke at the annual dinner of the Employees' Mutual Benefit Association. Some 350 persons from Ontario and Quebec attended.

Mr. Gale said most of the expenditure would be made in the Gatineau Valley for the construction of an additional generating capacity of 85,000 horsepower.

Farm Damage by Holiday-Makers

London (CP) — A census to show how much damage trespassers do to farms and crops throughout Britain is being taken by the National Farmers' Union.

"Serious damage is done to crops every year by holiday-makers, and we want to find out if the damage is sufficient to justify an effort to have the law altered on trespassing", said Clifford Spencer, chairman.

"Many farmers complain of gates being left open, of people tramping through fields of young grain and allowing their dogs to worry sheep. Others complain of blackberry and mushroom gatherers, people who knock down fences and of thieving by gypsies."

Portable Granary Latest for Farm

Winnipeg (CP) — Heard the latest in farm equipment? It's a portable granary.

The granary, brain-child of Harold A. Gurney, an employee of the Manitoba farm help service, may be the answer to the problem of the farmer who can't get shelter for his surplus grain in a big crop year.

Its capacity is 400 bushels. A farmer can fold it up and carry it under his arm to any location. It weighs less than 40 pounds and retails for less than $40. It is resistant to weather, rodents and vermin and over reasonably long periods can preserve grain as well as facilities hitherto used which cost many times as much.

The device already has been patented in the main grain-growing countries. It was used extensively during the war to protect army equipment and airport runways.

Remembrance

REMEMBRANCE — on this day of solemn observance — may imply a reverent gratitude, a tender longing for those now absent, who sleep in peace where the holocaust of war once broke their fitful slumbers. Remembrance may imply a gesture of the senses. . . . And on Remembrance Day these sentiments find expression in a public demonstration, in the marching of feet, the bugle call, the laying of wreaths, the humble prayer. . .

Yes, Remembrance is a state of mind, a glow, a sorrow, a mystic link — if such we make it!

But Remembrance Day, alas, has a deeper and more practical significance. The memory of our youth, massacred and mutilated on distant fields, seas and horizons, achieves little indeed if it stirs but silent tribute or a spoken prayer. Remembrance Day brings more than that — it brings a challenge to Resolve, an echoing call to Action.

On many platforms, before many cenotaphs, this thought will be impressed today. And we can do no greater homage to our dead than to reiterate the message in this written editorial.

Today, we repeat, is a day of resounding obligation. Every ideal of democratic freedom — every ideal of love and fellowship for which our sons and brothers sacrificed their lives — brands itself as a challenge on our consciousness. If, by word and deed in daily living, we scorn these great ideals — if in our private dealings we refute the moral and deny the principle for which they died — we are then condoning malpractices on a larger scale, the malpractices of nations, which are the very root of war.

Without the practical expression of these ideals, Remembrance is but an idle sentiment. For the very welfare of this community whence our heroes came, our memory must be translated into living tribute. For our province, our country, and the world of which they form a part, their sacrifice deserves our active homage.

Town-planning is not a remote and nebulous science; it can be a very practical matter affecting the place we live in, and our everyday movements. . . But if the reader is interested further (and he should be), we direct attention to an interesting article by our contributor, M. V. Trayers, on the opposite page of this issue.

Trends of Business

FOR SOME interesting observations on the trends of business we are indebted to the current issue of "Marketing", which cites, among other things, this evidence that the automobile manufacturers may be coming to their senses:

High price levels for automobiles threaten to eliminate the mass consumer marketing that made the automobile industry the outstanding example of mass production in the world, delegates at the conference of National Used Car Dealers Association were told. Automobiles were now being sold at figures which are "outpricing the mass consumer market", said Arthur J. Morris, chairman of Morris Plan Corporation, and a remedy is sorely needed to prevent a "catastrophe", he added. "The man who can afford to buy a car for $2,000, or more, compared with the man or woman who could afford to buy a car for $1,000, or less, is so reduced in numbers as to completely metamorphize what was formerly designated as a mass consumer market".

— And this note (which you must already have observed!) concerning savings-in-the-bank:

Savings are shrinking, says the "Wall Street Journal". A survey of wage earners, small business men and executives shows that most have had to cut back their savings in order to meet the high costs of living. Last year, people saved a little over 5 per cent of their disposable incomes; in '46 they salted away nearly 7.5 per cent. This was a decided drop from the war years when well over 20 per cent of incomes went into savings.

Change Educational Tradition

THE introducation of co-education into three British schools for boys and girls between 11 and 16 years of age is being hailed there as an important "experiment". Such a move is interesting to Canadians, for whom this type of school is the accepted thing.

However, the tradition of segregation has been so long established in Britain, whether in private or state-administered schools, that the innovation is being watched closely by both education experts and the ministry of education.

Organized for pupils who have been taught separately up to entry age, classes numbering between 30 and 35 pupils will be taught by both men and women teachers. Pupils will be arranged at the discretion of the teachers.

All this has a familiar ring to Canadians. Many students graduate from high school without ever having been in a segregated class. Some schools employ it for junior classes, or for coordinating subjects and classes. Lively discussions have taken place in teachers' circles on the topic, but the general feeling is that flexibility suits the Canadian tradition and system.

But from the viewpoint of the ultimate value of education as a preparation for life, the most important aspect of this new type British school is the purpose guiding both class and home work. Combining the courses of study as taught in grammar, technical and modern schools into a comprehensive system, activities inside and outside the classroom are adjusted to varying standards of ability, and pupils will be encouraged to follow their natural bent. The object is the full realization of potentialities and the development of independent, self-disciplined workers.

Still Canadians may say there is nothing so different about the British experiment. Perhaps not in method; but in passing such a comment, Canadians should not settle back into self-satisfaction. We should rather welcome a reminder of the aims of education, and examine the progress we have made toward the development of well-adjusted, self-reliant citizens.

Older Drivers Are Safer

ACCORDING to a detailed report (of the Ontario Department of Highways), in the first six months of this year, 11,407 traffic accidents were reported in Ontario in which 18,267 drivers were involved. Of those drivers 499 were under 18 years — driving permits may be secured at 16 years. In the years 18 to 24 were 4,500 drivers, and between 25 and 40 were 8,006. Thus drivers of 40 and under accounted for well over two-thirds of the accidents.

The "old dogs" over 40 did much better. Drivers between 41 and 54 have 3,393 accidents chalked up against them, there are 1,114 credited to drivers of 55 to 64, and drivers 65 and over had 494 accidents. These, with 261 cases where the age was not recorded, make up the total. And fewer than one-third of all accidents were the responsibility of drivers over 40.

Facts About Prices

By R. J. Deachman

WHY PRICES RISE

Why do prices rise? They rise because demand exceeds supply.

Why do they rise in war-time? Because war-time conditions increase demand and reduce supply — of consumable goods.

During the war we had an army of approximately 750,000 men. These were taken out of production, they had to be equipped and maintained. The number of workers employed in industry rose rapidly—658,000 in 1939 to 1,240,000 in 1943, at the peak of the war, 1,120,000 at the end of the war. These were mainly employed in producing war materials and equipment, naturally ordinary consumer goods became scarce and dear.

Agriculture, under difficult wartime conditions, produced a much greater volume with relatively fewer workers employed. During the war we provided a higher standard of living for the Canadian people who remained at home, higher than they ever had before. The men worked harder, produced more per employee. We demonstrated during the war our capacity to produce. We had increased purchasing power with smaller quantities of goods to supply the demand — war materials are not consumable in the ordinary sense of the word. The result was increased prices.

But the war has been over now for three years. Why are prices not back to normal? Since the war we have been producing products for export and a large percentage of these were sold on credit. Normally we would have received goods in exchange for the products we sold. The result of this situation is that commodities are still scarce. There is no need to seek further for the cause of high prices, it lies in increased purchasing power in the hands of the people and scarcity of goods to supply the demand. Against this condition controls are almost helpless. If controls held down prices, consumption would be increased. An increase in demand is not desirable during a period of inflation. It would serve only to make matters worse, not better. There must be increased supplies — more production per worker.

A robot he constructed handles the cello through foot and finger pedals while Mr. Fisher plays the violin.

Two Quebec Companies Curtail Electric Power Supplied to Ontario

Editorial Lauds Co-operation Between Provinces

On the heels of the announcement that low water conditions had forced a cut in electric energy supplied to Ontario Hydro by the Gatineau Power Company, comes word that the Maclaren-Quebec Power Company has taken similar steps for the same reasons. Both corporations have been furnishing the power to turn the wheels of Ontario's industry, and to bring light and energy to Ontario's urban and rural districts, for many years.

Like the Gatineau river, the Lievre lends itself . . to hydro-electric power development. . . In addition to furnishing power for the pulp and paper mills at Masson, it provides the energy for an important electro-chemical industry in the town of Buckingham.

It is interesting to note that while supplying cheap power for vital industries in the Province of Quebec, both the Maclaren-Quebec and the Gatineau Power Company have made a very real contribution to the industrial development of Ontario. Blessed not only with greater hydro resources than Ontario but with resources closer to centres of population, Quebec, while safeguarding herself against possible lean power years, shares her surplus with her neighbor. Here is a classic example of co-operation, not only between the privately-owned power corporations of Quebec and the publicly-owned hydro-electric system of Ontario, but of co-operation between the two governments which have jurisdiction over their natural resources. It is an example of national unity in the fullest and most practical sense of the phrase.

City school teachers in Canada stay on one job for an average of ten years; rural school teachers move from one school to another or out of teaching altogether every two years or less.

The teacher had been reading to the class about the great forests of America. "And now, boys", he announced, "which one of you can tell me the pine that has the longest and sharpest needles!"

Resident Optometrist Here

A resident optometrist, Bernard Massicotte, is now practicing the profession here in Lachute (on Foundry Street, near Bethany), and readers requiring visual examination and eyeglasses are directed to his advertisement on page 8 of this issue. Bernard Massicotte, with the degrees of O.D., B.A., and L.Sc.O., comes to this town well qualified in his profession. Taking his classical course at Joliette Seminary and St. Laurent College, he studied Science and secured his license in Optometry at the University of Montreal. He has since become affiliated with groups in the profession — as clinical associate and sustaining member of the Optometric Extension Program, Duncan, Oklahoma, and member of the Association of Analytic Optometrists in Montreal. He has practiced for the past year in Joliette, where he is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and an honorary member of the Joliette Regiment officers' mess.

Chamber of Commerce At Ste. Agathe Forms Industrial Committee

The Ste. Agathe Chamber of Commerce has appointed an industrial committee to study the possibility of attracting small industries to the Laurentian town. The new industries will be allied to the tourist trade, it was stated.

Now established in Ste. Agathe are a toy and wood novelty manufacturing plant, several sash and door firms, a pottery industry and a number of knitting and wool handicraft concerns. The new industrial committee plans to bring other manufacturing firms there whose wares would find a ready market not only in Ste. Agathe and elsewhere in the Laurentians but also in other parts of Canada, besides providing all-round employment for many of the local population.

Granby Observance of French Language Event

In commemoration of 100 years since the acceptance of French as an official language in Canada, a banquet was staged at the Windsor Hotel in Granby last week under patronage of the authorities of the English and Protestant school commissions, in conjunction with the Kiwanis Club and the Catholic School Commission of Granby.

Speakers were the Hon. Wilfrid Bovey, K.C., O.B.E., and Hon. Oliver Renaud, M.L.C. The Canadian National Unity were sponsors of the event.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

DON'T BE A SOUVENIR HUNTER

Because friends are so ready to lend us things, we are apt to regard "borrowed" articles as having little or no value to their owners . . . as being easy to replace. But this is not the case. That's why we should make it a point to return borrowed articles promptly . . . to encourage others to follow this practice. Respect the property of others just as you would your own. Common courtesy is proof of "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

OBITUARY

TOWN RESIDENT LAID TO REST LAST SUNDAY

Late George Wilbur Walker

Mr. George Wilbur Walker was called to rest on Thursday morning, November 4, at his home in Lachute.

Born here in 1887, he was the son of the late George Walker and Ellen Copeland.

For 13 years Mr. Walker had been in poor health, and for the past 14 months in a helpless condition.

The funeral service was held last Sunday, conducted by Mr. Beston Simmons, of Windsor, Ont., and the Rev. W. H. Britton, of Lachute. Mr. Simmons spoke words of consolation from I Thess. 5;13-18, centering his thoughts in the person of Jesus Christ, "by whom we have a living hope by His resurrection from the dead". . Interment was in the Lachute Protestant Cemetery.

The late Mr. Walker leaves to mourn his loss — his wife, the former Annie Helena Simon; four children — (Leona) Mrs. W. H. Heustin, of Morewood, Ont., (Marjorie) Mrs. H. B. Kingsbury, Joyce and Gerald, of Lachute; three sisters and two brothers — Ethel, of Ottawa, (Annie) Mrs. C. A. Rogers, and (Jessie) Mrs. Robert McGibbon, of Lachute, Miles, of Montreal, and Fred, of Jonquiere. He also leaves four grandchildren.

The pall-bearers were — Miles Copeland, Sterling and Robert Simon, and three nephews of the deceased, Laurence McOuat, Keith and Harold Walker.

Former Dalesville Lady Is Bereaved

News is received of the death of Roy Switzer, husband of a former Dalesville resident, May Dixon, to whom he was married in 1911. Mr. Switzer died September 28 at Hayward, near Fort Bragg, California. A native of Mendocino, California, he had lived in the Fort Bragg district since 1906. He was 63 years of age.

Besides his wife, he is mourned by his son, four brothers and two sisters in California.

Mrs. Roy Switzer is a sister of Mr. Godfrey Dixon, Dalesville.

Pay Tribute on Remembrance Day

wreaths took place, as representatives of clubs, organizations and business firms came forward to pay homage. This phase of the proceedings was witnessed by the schoolchildren, who attended in a body; and the county's member of parliament, Georges H. Héon, K.C., was at hand to address them — a duty and service which he has performed on many previous occasions.

In conclusion of these ceremonies, the Last Post was sounded. . . and the bugle's fading notes left in many hearts a vague suggestion of some distant, desolate battleground — a tragic toll — a grim but glorious sacrifice.

"They Being Dead Yet Speak"

The above text, from the Epistle to the Hebrews, afforded inspiration for a challenging theme by the Rev. C. Maclean, speaking this morning at the Auditorium. . . Figuratively, said the minister, the dead now speak of courage, they speak of sacrifice.

As the perils of warfare called for courage, so likewise are we called upon — we who remember —to live with courage in these difficult times. Courage to conduct ourselves as Christians should. Courage to uphold the right, in personal and communal affairs, in our administration, and in our broader relationships.

The dead speak also of sacrifice; how eloquently they speak! For those things which they considered noble and righteous and worthwhile, they took the risk, they sacrificed their all. There was a job to be done; they died for it. . . And today there is still a job to be done—to "care for the widows and the fatherless", to make a world of better men, and to make the world a better place. To that end we too must be willing to sacrifice — just as they, who "being dead yet speak".

To the Second Generation — And the Third ?

Mr. Héon, speaking of the international outlook in terms comprehensible to his younger listeners, reflected no great optimism; but his message, like that of the Rev. Maclean, pointed to the great example of Christianity to lead mankind into the security of peace.

"Armistice Day" of a generation past had marked a tribute of memory to heroes of the First Great War. Today we honor again those heroes — and with them, their sons who sacrificed their lives in World War II. . . "Must we gather at some future time to mourn those heroes and their children's children — martyrs of a third great war?" . . . The outcome of the world's distrust rests with us, today, the present generation. Mistakes of greed, intolerance and materialism have levied a costly price. Only by restoring the higher spiritual values — and by seeking heavenly guidance — can we profit by past mistakes and save the future for humanity.

Elizabeth on "Tommy"

This statuette of Princess Elizabeth, riding Tommy, shows her as she appeared at the King's birthday parade last year. It has been made at the wish of Queen Elizabeth. Designed by Doris Linder of Hampstead, London, it has been made by the Royal Worcester Porcelain Co., for export only. The statuettes will be sold for about £100 (about $380 in Canadian funds) each to selected clients, and are expected to become a collector's item.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK — By R. J. SCOTT

THREE FARMERS RECLAIM 1,500 ACRES FROM SEA

The enterprise of three farmers in Britain has reclaimed from the sea 1,500 acres for food production. This has been achieved by building a new bank 6½ miles long on the south side of the Wash, in Lincolnshire. This area contains some of the most fertile land in Britain. The remarkable aspect of this achievement is that this has been done in less than six months despite very bad weather. 50 men have been working day and night with bulldozers and draglines. Huge creeks, some being 100 feet wide, had to be closed. The bank stands eleven feet high and is composed of 500,000 tons of strong clay.

Is Progressive Education A Failure ?

— By M. V. Trayers —

Do you think too much school time is being spent on "educational frills" — for example, movies, classroom projects, tours of plants and Houses of Parliament? Or would you like to see more old-fashioned discipline in the modern schools? . . Citizens' Forum members are asked to report on those questions following last Friday night's broadcast and airing of the usual weekly discussion.

Education, whether progressive or orthodox, is a subject of vital interest to every one of us, and in this district very much so. New approaches to the problem of instructing the young are sharply examined, but chiefly in the light of the instruction Dad and Mom received in the Little Red School House; and exponents of the "what's good enough for Dad is good enough for son" policy, quickly challenge experimental theories.

The issue is between the time-tried methods of basic education and the modern "develop the child's personality" experiment. This latter departure from the rigid pedagogical tradition was first mooted in Germany about 1837. It was argued that education should be a joyful experience in which the child would play as in a game and profit by the fun. Children learn by doing what they most enjoy. The child is the experimenter and the teacher supplies the opportunity and direction — the theory being that, given the right kind of guidance, the child can pretty much be depended upon to educate himself. It is much more important to awaken the natural curiosity of the child than to decide what subjects he should study. The child is left free to develop his own attitudes and discover his own interests, and above all he must not be burdened with learning by memory or compulsion. His school accomplishment is not to be measured by competitive examination; such a thing is damaging to his self-directing personality.

Under "progressive education", discipline must not be a system of rules, or rewards; and the cane is taboo. The child must be taught, or discover for himself, that he has to respect others and recognize their rights, and he must be made to feel that by ignoring or overriding those rights of others he loses self-respect and lowers his standing in the new order of things.

Those who disagree with the whole theory of "progressive education" do not quarrel with the idea of arousing the desire to learn in the child. But they believe that a curriculum of study should be enforced and that the child is not the teacher of the man. Children are at school to learn, and the school is and must be accepted as the best judge of what the child should be taught. They feel, if a child can do as he pleases to "develop his personality", it may please him to become lazy and shirk his share of responsibility when he rubs shoulders with the hard facts of life after leaving school. Experiments may be very entertaining but they are no substitute for serious, systematic and directed study.

The issue today is sharpest in the United States. Canada has been spared the birth pangs of the extreme practices which were experienced across the line during the pioneering stages. Ontario and British Columbia may be taken as representing the middle of the road between the two theories, while Alberta probably goes farthest in experimentation, and our own province holds that the social need for ability to read and write, and the social demand for conformity and accuracy in language and number, must be provided before any training by enterprises.

On the one hand, there are many people who believe our system is outmoded and too rigid, tending to produce a uniform and moulded product. They want to scrap the old patterns. At the same time the products of progressive education have heard reports from business and industry that young people coming from such schools lack such commonplace requirements as a knowledge of spelling, punctuation, English composition and even simple arithmetic. And they insist that the slackness of discipline in school is reflected on the job.

It is evidence such as this that makes it so hard to decide whether our schools have already gone too far in the use of progressive principles, or whether they have not gone nearly far enough.

If you listened-in last Friday evening, and if you feel equal to the task, write Citizens' Forum what you think about it!

"The Battle of Britain", a pamphlet of official record issued by the Ministry of Information on behalf of the Air Ministry, gives us the following graphic narrative:

Shattered and Disordered Armada

By October 31st, 1940, the battle was over. It did not cease dramatically. It died gradually away. Bitter experience had at last taught the enemy the cost of daylight attacks. He took to the cover of night. At the outset the Germans sank five ships, and damaged five more sailing in the coastal convoys; they next did intermittent and sometimes severe damage to aerodromes, they scored bad hits on a number of factories which caused production to slow down for a short time. In London they did considerable damage to the docks and to many famous buildings, including Buckingham Palace. They destroyed or damaged beyond repair many thousands of houses, they killed during the day 1,700 persons, nearly all of them civilians, and seriously wounded 3,360. At night 12,581 persons were killed and 16,965 injured. These heavy casualties occurred during the hours when darkness prevented the enemy from being met and turned back as he was in daylight. They provide a striking proof of the efficiency and devotion of the Air Force. To what height would these figures have run had there been no Hurricanes or Spitfires on the alert from dawn to dusk engaging the enemy, wherever he appeared — resolute, ruthless, triumphant.

Such, then, was the measure of the enemy's achievement during 84 days of almost continuous attack. A little earlier in the year the Germans had taken 37 days to overrun and cast down the Kingdoms of the Netherlands and of Belgium and the Republic of France. What the Luftwaffe failed to do was to destroy the fighter squadons of the Royal Air Force which were, indeed, stronger at the end of the battle than at the beginning. This failure meant defeat — defeat of the German Air Force itself, defeat of a carefully designed strategical plan, defeat of that which Hitler most longed for — the invasion of the Island.

The Luftwaffe which, as Goebels said on the eve of the battle, had "prepared the final conquest of the last enemy, England", did its utmost, and paid very heavily for the attempt. Between the 8th of August and the 31st of October, 2,375 German aircraft were known to have been destroyed in daylight. This figure takes no account of those lost at night, or those seen by thousands staggering back to their French bases. The melancholy procession of the defeated was observed many times. The R.A.F. lost 375 pilots, killed and 358 wounded. . . Such was the Battle of Britain in 1940.

FREE HEARING-AIDS FOR BRITISH DEAF

London (CP) — Five thousand people — of an estimated total of 150,000 suffering from deafness— have so far received free hearing-aids under Britain's national health scheme.

"Technical difficulties arose in this first attempt at mass production of a hearing-aid", a Ministry of Health spokesman said. "Our scientific research workers have partly overcome these".

A man who doesn't care who gets the credit, is the greatest credit to his nation.

Pithead in Modern Style

The pithead gear of the new shaft at Mossley Common Colliery, Boothstown, Lancashire, is constructed in clean white concrete. In addition, the National Coal Board is to build the biggest washery in Britain, which will clean 600 tons of coal an hour. Part of it will be operating by next year. The new shaft is shown in this picture, a complete contrast to the old type of coal mine shaft with its pithead wheel.

DOWN TO BUSINESS IN ORGANIZING FOR PARCELS OVERSEAS

The United Emergency Fund for Britain will start a three-week appeal for funds to aid needy Britons on November 14, continuing until December 5. UEFB has established its nation-wide organization, and now has chairmen in every province, with local committees in many cities and towns.

After months of extensive organization, machinery for the co-ordination of all Canadian aid to Britain will start functioning immediately upon completion of the fund raising campaign. UEFB enjoys the co-operation and approval for this movement of a large number of leaders in government, religion, education, industry, finance, labor, and social and welfare groups in Canada and the United Kingdom.

Plans and objectives of UEFB, as outlined, include an overall voluntary aid to Britain program. Donations to the fund will be used to make bulk purchases of food and other supplies in Canada, which will be shipped to UEFB warehouses in Britain for general distribution under the direct supervision of the organization's advisory council. Ocean shipping charges will be absorbed by the British government, who will also provide free dockage, handling, inland transportation and warehousing in the United Kingdom. All such gift supplies will be exempt from customs and excise duties, materially reducing costs and producing more relief for every dollar contributed.

UEFB will also forward, without cost, parcels packed by organizations in Canada for approved recipients in Britain if delivered at UEFB warehouses in collective shipments. Standardized UEFB packages, in various sizes and prices, containing selected foodstuffs for deficient diets, are being prepared and will be available shortly. Arrangements are being completed to handle donations of used clothing, bedding and similar items, also without cost to the sender, early in the coming year.

ANNOUNCING -- BLUE CROSS WEEK
November 15 to 20
HOSPITAL - SURGICAL - MEDICAL SERVICES
are now being made available to all residents of Brownsburg and Lachute.

Here is your opportunity to obtain protection against unexpected hospital and medical expenses. Usually, Blue Cross participation is available only through groups of five or more persons. However, in a community such as this, many people are self-employed or employed in firms where there are less than five employees. Blue Cross protection is therefore made available to everyone through the co-operation of the Rotary Club of Brownsburg, the residents of this community constituting a group. Residents who join the Blue Cross through the community group will pay their subscriptions on a quarterly basis to the Blue Cross office.

If you are an employer or an employee in an establishment where there are more than five people on the staff, a group can be formed, and subscriptions can be paid by means of payroll deductions on a monthly basis. For further details consult the Blue Cross representative.

Protection for those enrolling now will be effective December 1, 1948. Those not enrolling now will not have another opportunity to do so before December, 1949.

Inquire and enrol from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

ATTENTION !
SEMAINE DE LA CROIX BLEUE
du 15 au 20 novembre
LES SERVICES HOSPITALIER, CHIRURGICAL ET MEDICAL DE LA "CROIX BLEUE" seront mis à la disposition de tous les résidents de Brownsburg et Lachute.

Voici votre chance de vous protéger contre les dépenses inattendues occasionnées par la maladie. Habituellement, la participation à la Croix Bleue se fait en groupes de cinq personnes ou plus; mais dans une localité comme celle-ci, plusieurs personnes travaillent à leur propre compte ou occupent un emploi dans une maison d'affaires comprenant moins de cinq employés. Pour cette raison, la protection de la Croix Bleue est mise à la disposition de tous en co-opération avec le Club Rotary de Brownsburg, la population de la région constituant un groupe. Ceux qui s'inscriront par l'entremise de ce groupe social feront remise de leur souscription directement au bureau de la Croix Bleue sur une base trimestrielle.

Si vous êtes l'employeur ou un employé d'une maison d'affaires comprenant plus de cinq employés, un groupe pourra y être formé, et le paiement de la souscription se fera par déduction sur le salaire, sur une base mensuelle. Pour tous renseignements, consultez le représentant de la Croix Bleue.

Pour ceux qui s'inscriront durant la Semaine de la Croix Bleue, la protection de la Croix Bleue sera en vigueur à compter du 1er décembre, 1948. Quant à ceux qui ne s'inscriront pas, ils n'auront pas d'autre opportunité de le faire avant le mois de décembre, 1949.

Pour renseignements et inscription présentez-vous de 10 a.m. à 9 p.m.

New Oil Refining Plant

Canada's most modern oil refining units were officially placed in operation at Imperial Oil's Montreal East plant recently by Hon. Paul Beaulieu, Quebec Minister of Trade and Commerce. The additions to the plant cost more than 20 million dollars and include Canada's first fluid catalytic cracking unit.

The catalytic cracking process is generally considered the most flexible and advanced method of producing high octane motor gasolines and other quality products. Construction of this and the other three main units took more than two years and more than 1,000 men were employed at the peak of construction.

The new units will add almost half a million gallons a day to the refinery's capacity and so help to meet the great demand for petroleum products in the area which the refinery serves — Quebec province, eastern Ontario and northern New Brunswick. Total capacity of the refinery is now more than a million and a quarter gallons a day.

At today's prices and freight rates it is estimated that the elimination of imports of finished products as a result of this increased capacity will save Canada $3,900,000 annually in U.S. exchange.

The pampering of teen-agers, amounting almost to worship of a sect with its consequent exaggeration of the ego of youth, cannot be overlooked as a contributor to juvenile delinquency. Look not to the youthful criminal to discover why he is such. The parents must accept the blame.

What Interests People Most in Town-Planning

To find out what phases of town-planning people are most interested in, the City Planning Commission of Philadelphia held an exhibition at which 10,000 local citizens replied to questionnaires regarding the city's planning programme. Upon tabulating the replies, the Commission found that 3,100 of them (over 90 per cent being from residents of the city) contained unsolicited suggestions for the improvement of, and/or additions to, city facilities and services.

Following is a summary of these suggestions, showing the percentage of the total number of suggestions made for each facility or service:

Playgrounds	13.7%	Water	4.9%
Highways	11.4	Traffic control	4.8
Rapid transit	9.0	Rowhouse elimination	3.9
Housing	8.5	Garbage collection	3.7
Schools	6.7	Sewers and gutters	3.4
Noise, smoke, and odor abatement	5.5	Teen-age centres	2.0
Street cleaning	4.9	Miscellaneous	17.6

Libraries in Britain

Public libraries in Britain are now issuing nearly 100,000,000 more books than ten years ago. This was announced by the Minister of Education, Mr. Tomlinson, when welcoming to London recently the Committee of the International Federation of Library Associations. A total of 300,000,000 books a year are now being issued.

Century-Old Order Invoked in Legal Injunction

The town of Barrie, some 60 miles north of Toronto, has lost out in an effort to stop an action brought against it by a group of district farmers.

The farmers started action by a writ to seek an injunction restraining the town from using the open square there for any other purpose than a farmers' market. The farmers claim the square was given for use as a market in perpetuity by Queen Victoria in 1846. They complain that the town has piled lumber on the market land and posted notices saying the market building is unsafe for use.

The Court dismissed the town's application for an order setting aside the writ of action.

Museum Acquires Antique Pieces

A new display, consisting of 76 different exhibits, has been given to the Chateau de Ramezay Museum by its sponsors, the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society of Montreal. The collection includes lace worn by Louise Madeleine Chaussegros de Lery at her wedding to the Marquis de Lotbiniere at Quebec City in 1747, a black felt regimental shako with visor used about 1866, and a stylish 1890 ecru parasol.

Also included is a lacrosse stick used by Indians, silk theatre programmes from the old Montreal Theatre Royal dating from 1852 to 1872, a pocket-size ink bottle and quill pen from 1825, and china balls used about 1875 for carpet bowling. There are also a number of children's playthings made of cast iron, in use a century ago.

Teachers Attend Conf'ce

Harris, principal of Grande Fresniere School at St. Eustache-sur-le Lac; Mrs. D. McCabe, Helping Teacher in Mr. L. J. King's inspectorate; Mr. H. E. Grant, principal of Verdun High School; Mr. A. J. McGerrigle, principal of the Grenville Consolidated School; Mr. D. Staniforth, principal of Brownsburg Consolidated School; Mr. M. Graham, principal of Arundel Consolidated School; Mr. L. J. King, Inspector for the Department of Education; Mr. B. A. Millar, French specialist in Lachute High School; and Linton W. Armstrong, secretary-treasurer of the Central Board.

Mr. Cottingham welcomed the teachers on behalf of the Central Board. He congratulated them on the splendid work they were doing, and added that the Board were proud of their teaching staffs. Mr. Cottingham felt that the teachers realized they now enjoyed more security than ever before, in that they could be more certain of re-engagement providing their work was found satisfactory by the Inspector and the Supervisor. He stated that he and the other members of the Board were anxious to assist in every possible way, and spoke of many plans now being discussed to effect improvements throughout the entire area.

Linton W. Armstrong explained that the Quebec Hospital Service Association had agreed to extend their present group to include all teachers on the payroll, and gave a brief outline of the benefits available.

Mr. D. Staniforth moved a vote of thanks to the teachers on the local staff for having received the visitors in their classrooms during the afternoon, and expressed the appreciation of all for the hospitality of the Central School Board.

The guest speaker, Mr. H. E. Grant, principal of Verdun High School, was introduced by Mr. Royal, and gave as his subject "Education and Citizenship."

Mr. Grant outlined the changes which were taking place in education, that it was no longer sufficient for pupils to be instructed only in the three R's, and that increasing emphasis must be placed on the more practical side of education. He drew attention to the changes in the course of study which had taken place during the last few years; teachers must realize that it is "more important for pupils to graduate from school with some idea of how to make a living and take their places in society, than with the ability to correctly parse certain Latin verbs", he emphasized. The speaker questioned whether present-day teachers were doing all they could in this respect. While it was true that a number of special subjects were being taught, such as Household Science, Industrial Arts, Agriculture and Commercial courses, these were still not available to a large percentage of children now attending school. He claimed that, in addition to these subjects, there were others of equal or more importance which were receiving but little attention in classrooms throughout the province. He mentioned Health as an example, stating that this was of extreme importance to everyone, of any age. The average High School student also knows little about municipal, provincial or national affairs, and this was possibly the main reason why only 50 per cent or less of the people took the trouble to go to the polls to vote in an election. The speaker pointed out, it is more important today than ever before that teachers realize the importance of their work, not only in instructing the pupils in accordance with the prepared course of study but also in moulding their characters and assisting them in every way possible to become good citizens in the community when they graduate.

Mr. L. J. King thanked the speaker on behalf of the gathering, and voiced a general opinion that everyone had derived much benefit from this conference.

IN TWO short years we have added over 257,000 telephones, put in hundreds of switchboards and trained thousands of people to extend and improve your telephone service.

We are adding more telephones to meet the continuing demand for service just as fast as equipment becomes available.

All this is being done in the face of rising costs: Yet, up to now, there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 21 years ago.

For you, this means greater value than ever before: for us, the satisfaction of providing "the best telephone service at the lowest possible cost".

Hubbub in the Silent Deep; Film Tells Story And Draws Analogy

Discovery that the "silent deep" is not silent after all, forms the basis for a scientific color film, "The Voice of the Deep", to be shown in the Lachute Baptist Church on Saturday, November 13, at 8 p.m.

Contrary to the age-old belief that there is no sound under the sea, "Voice of the Deep" reveals that fish have a definite language of their own. Their aquatic conversations in the film resemble the peculiar quacks, grunts, whistles and clucks of a barnyard! A congregation of snapping shrimps sound like a crackling forest fire, while a school of Chesapeake Bay croakers was once mistaken for an invasion of enemy ships!

This is the first time that fish have been recorded in a film, according to the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, producers of "Voice of the Deep". A special Moody representative, H. L. Harris, will show the film here.

To achieve the unusual scenes in "Voice of the Deep", a scientific expedition was sent from Los Angeles to the coast of southern California. Delicate sounding devices were used to determine where to tune-in the hydrophone, or underwater microphone, to find the most noisy fish. Then a diver was lowered into the sea with a specially outfitted camera.

Thirty minutes of colorful marine drama was the result. . . . To climax the film, preacher-scientist Irwin A. Moon links the new discovery to man's need of God. "For centuries man could not hear fish sounds because he did not have the proper equipment", Dr. Moon declares, in a short review of the scientific principles behind underwater sound. "But now that the hydrophone has been invented, we know that our previous conclusions are wrong".

"The same is true of the spiritual world", he adds. "Some people do not believe that a spiritual world exists, but only because they are not properly equipped to recognize it. Faith in God provides us with the key to the spiritual world, just as the hydrophone gives us the key to the underwater world".

"Voice of the Deep" is one in a series of sound-color films being produced by Moody Bible Institute in an effort to link science and religion. Two previous productions, "God of the Atom" and "God of Creation", have been shown to four million people in schools, army camps, churches and hospitals. Plans are now being made to distrubute them abroad.

The people of Lachute and district are urged to see this film, which has been shown in the churches, schools and universities of Montreal, and will be presented at Lachute Baptist Church this Saturday night, at 8 o'clock. There will be no admission charge, but an offering will be received.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

An Urgent Call for Support, at Laymen's Supper, United Church

The annual men's supper of the United Church of this district, was held Wednesday in the hall of the Lachute United Church, and was attended by about 130 men from the communities of Arundel, Cushing, Morin Heights, Shawbridge, St. Eustache, St. Andrews East, Brownsburg and Lachute.

A strong appeal for increased financial support was given by the Rev. R. DeWitt Scott, secretary of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference, who told of the commitments of the General Council of the United Church at the recent Vancouver meeting. An estimate of an all-round increase of 20% was given, to cover the slight cost-of-living bonus to pensioners and higher overhead of operating the churches in Canada.

A first-hand account of a missionary in action was given by a medical missionary from Chissamba, West Africa, Dr. W. E. Strangway, who has been in the field for 20 years.

Dr. Strangway, the main speaker of the evening, described the conditions and hardships of the early missionaries in Africa, and of one instance where 30 of 35 missionaries had died of tropical diseases.

The speaker told of the gradual progress of the work in his particular field, and of the need for continued support to missionary enterprise.

A singsong was held prior to the talks, led by Mr. Chas. Duncan, with Mr. W. M. Steeves at the piano. The minister of the local church, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, introduced the speakers, and the Rev. A. G. Moore, of Cushing, expressed to them the warm appreciation of the audience.

The W.M.S, members and associates of the local church catered for the supper, a project that was much appreciated by those who were present.

Sunday School and Young People's Affairs At Brownsburg United

Brownsburg — An interesting surprise awaited the opening of the Sunday School last Sunday morning at Brownsburg United Church. At a meeting of the Committee of Management last September it was decided to adopt a class attendance competition and thus revive the "banner" method for the class attaining the highest attendance percentage for the month. The announcement on Sunday morning following the opening exercises revealed the fact that the girls' beginners class, under care of Miss Winnie White, had the highest percentage for attendance in October. In receiving the banner the little girls with their teacher, were escorted to the platform, where they entertained the school by singing one of their hymns and repeating a motto adopted by their class. Miss White expressed her surprise on receiving the banner for her class. . Mr. Sam Rose had presented the stand to which the banner is attached. . . The end of November will bring another recognition of this kind — but the motto of the whole school is "Every member present, Every Sunday, On time, With a prepared lesson, a liberal offering and a reverent attitude". Next Sunday is Missionary Sunday for the school.

The Y.P.U. entertained the Lachute United Y.P.U. as their guests on Monday evening, reciprocating the hospitality of the Hallowe'en Party in Lachute two weeks ago, when the Brownsburg group were guests. Following the devotional period, a social hour was enjoyed by the group. Misses Pearson and Edwards had provided a series of games and contests; Mr. E. Morrison, of Lachute, led in folk music; and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Wheeler conducted a hearty and humorous singsong. Refreshments were served at the close by the Brownsburg social committee, and the happy party was brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

At the meeting next Monday evening Mr. F. H. J. Royal, principal of Lachute High School, will show pictures of his tour across Canada.

United Church Y.P.U. Holds Special Service

In commemoration of National Y.P.U. Week in Canada and Newfoundland, the young people's group of Lachute United held a special service in the church last Sunday evening. The order of service was conducted by the president, Mr. Earl Morrison, and guest preacher for the occasion was the Rev. Bill Steeper, of the Inter-Varsity Movement, while the dedication of the group's officers was read by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. Miss Betty Brown read the scripture.

A pleasing feature of this service was the singing of the all-girl choir, which led the choral of praise and beautifully rendered two anthems, "O Lovely Peace" (Handel), and "Brother James' Air" (23rd Psalm). Mrs. S. S. Campbell played the organ.

The Rev. Mr. Steeper spoke on, "We are Ambassadors of Christ", strongly urging that all church members be completely honest with themselves as regards the conduct of Christian living.

A "fireside" hour was spent after the service, at which the group sang many favorite hymns. Mr. Steeper also spoke at this gathering, and stressed the need for real Christian fellowship in our churches and organizations. Refreshments were served afterwards.

REPLANTING NEEDED

For a hundred years, the maple trees have been destroyed by fire, or cut with reckless abandon for fuel or lumber. If a large-scale replanting of maples was undertaken, it would well repay the effort in soil and water conservation and general farm prosperity. — Granby Leader-Mail

Meeting Friday to Discuss Community Concert Project

A meeting of interested townsfolk has been arranged for this Friday, November 12, at the town hall to discuss the organization of a "Community Concert Association" in Lachute. The meeting will be held at 7.30 p.m.

Everyone interested in bringing the best in music to this community is cordially invited to attend.

Harold Kendrick, organization director for Community Concert Service, of New York, will present the plan, after which the meeting will be open for discussion.

Community concerts are operated on a membership basis in more than 1,000 cities in Canada, Newfoundland, United States and Mexico. Each member pays annual dues, which entitle him to attend all the concerts presented by the Association, at no additional expense.

A one-week campaign is conducted for membership enrolment, during which every person in the community is invited to join. At the end of the week the membership is closed and no one may join until the following season. Only members may attend the concerts, and no single tickets are sold at the door.

All the money paid into the Association is spent for artists and for local expenses relative to their presentation. The idea is offered as a non-profit, non-loss enterprise, with the aim, "A Carnegie Hall in Every Town".

Couple Celebrate Their Diamond Jubilee

Many relatives and friends visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Hilliker in Notre Dame de Grace last Sunday for the celebration of their 60th wedding anniversary. Numerous gifts, greetings and flowers were also received on this happy occasion.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends were — Mrs. R. H. Hilliker and family, of Maniwaki, Que.; Mrs. Mirrell Giles and little son, and Mr. V. C. Hilliker, of Thurso, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Brannan, of Calumet; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. W. Dormer, of St. Jerome; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Davis and daughters, Joyce and Dianne, of Lachute.

Importance of Scouting To Community, Subject Of Topic Here Nov. 19

Major-General D. C. Spry, C.B.E., D.S.O., who is the Chief Executive Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association in Canada, has accepted an invitation from the Laurentian District Council to speak to the leaders of the Boy Scout movement in this area and all others interested in this organization.

The meting will take place in Lachute Auditorium on Friday, November 19, at 8 p.m. Scout and Cub leaders, as well as members of the Group Committees from the district, which includes Brownsburg, Lachute, St. Eustache sur-le-Lac, Rosemere, Ste. Rose and Morin Heights, will attend.

As the meeting is open to the public, all interested in the welfare of the youth of the community should take advantage of this opportunity of hearing Maj.-Gen. Spry, speaker at this gathering. His subject will be "The Importance of Scouting to the Community", and as he has been through the ranks himself as a Wolf Cub, Boy Scout (King's Scout and Gold Cords), Rover Scout and Rover Sea Scout, he is well versed in the value of the movement. He is an inspiring speaker, and listeners will be repaid in hearing all he has to say.

Although still a young man, Maj.-Gen. Spry has had a brilliant and colorful career in the Army. Born in 1914, the youngest of a family of three, he received his military education at Royal Military College. He served in the Princess Louise Fusiliers and later with the permanent forces in the Royal Canadian Regiment. In 1941 he was attached to Headquarters Canadian Division Staff College at Camberley, England, then with G.H.Q. British Home Forces in 1942, and later was personal assistant to General McNaughton. In 1943 he was promoted to the rank of Brigadier and in 1945 became Major-General, at the age of 31. He ended his career in the Army as the youngest Major-General in the British Commonwealth. Since that time he has taken over the important position of Chief Executive Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association in Canada, and has travelled extensively throughout the country, stressing the importance of the Scout organization as a power for good, not only for our boys but for the world at large.

TO NORWAY, TO SELECT TRAFALGAR SQUARE CHRISTMAS TREE

At the request of the Mayor of Oslo, Troop Leader Dale Goffe of the 35th Westminster Sea Scouts, has been chosen by the Mayor of Westminster to go to Norway with another boy to select a giant Christmas tree which the people of Oslo are presenting to London again this Christmas. As last year, the tree will stand in Trafalgar Square.

I WANT TO KNOW

Am I too old to buy life insurance?

The middle-aged man who asked this question feared that at his age the cost of life insurance would be prohibitive . . . but even were he much older, Mutual low-cost life insurance would still prove good business.

Unfortunately many people realise the importance of life insurance only when through age or other disability they are no longer able to secure it. A life insurance programme should be started as early in life as possible.

Consult your Mutual Life of Canada man today.

Farm Forums' Rally Held at Arundel, Que.

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — The first rally of the Farm Forums this season was held Friday evening, November 5, in the Maplewood Inn. Large representations from all the groups attended.

Mr. Stuart Cooke presided, and after welcoming the members, introduced the speakers for the evening. Mr. S. Armstrong was the first speaker, and kept his listeners in good humor with a well delivered message. Mr. Oswald then addressed the meeting, and gave his listeners some good points to take home with them. Third speaker of the evening was Mr. Floyd Greisbach, provincial secretary for Farm Forums, who gave an interesting and detailed account of his visit to the Province of Ontario, where he made a tour among the co-operatives and various farmers of that province.

The chairman then thanked the speakers, and community singing was enjoyed. . : A motion was made by Dr. R. B. Henry, seconded by Mr. E. A. Bulley, that a rally be held every fourth week; the motion was carried. An instructive motion picture was then shown by Mr. Greisbach concerning Agriculture on the Experimental Farms in Canada.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the groups. Members of the newly-formed group at Gray Valley were welcomed to this first rally, which augured well for a successful season among the Forums.

Forum No. 4 met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Cooke, where all the old members of the group re-gathered, and also welcomed two new members. Discussion took place following the radio program, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

A new branch, the Gray Valley group, was welcomed among the Forums here. This group was organized at the home of Mr. Edward Gray, where Mr. Phillip Stevens was nominated secretary and Mr. Howard as representative to the Council.

Riel Veteran Honored at Legion Armistice Meet

"In 1884 our comrade, William, joined the Halifax Fusiliers (Volunteers), and in 1885 left for the Riel Rebellion. When this was over he took his discharge and attempted to join the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, with which he remained for six months, but due to his being ¼ inch under height, they could not keep him. He then returned to Halifax until 1887, when he joined the permanent force known as the I.S.C. (Infantry School Corps), with which he served approximately nine years at Fredericton, N.B. He then came to Quebec and joined the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery; he later took his discharge from this unit and proceeded to Montreal where he joined the 5th Royal Scots, which later became the 5th Royal Highlanders. Mr. Hale remained with them until 1918. During this period he served in the South African war and returned here in 1902. In August 1914 with the 5th Royal Highlanders he was attached to the 13th Battalion; he was colorsergeant in charge of recruiting and remained in Canada until 1915, when he became attached to the 42nd Battalion R.H.C. and proceeded overseas with them. He served in France from October 1915 until 1917, being discharged in 1918.

"Mr. and Mrs. Hale have a family of three boys and four girls. Two of their sons, James and Richard, were in the second war.

"Mr. Hale, Argenteuil Branch No. 70 is proud of your colorful record and asks you to accept this small token in remembrance of your 80th birthday".

Comrade Hale, who was taken somewhat by surprise at this friendly gesture, expressed sincere appreciation and briefly recalled a few wartime experiences. Years bring their changes even in warfare and the early fighting was primitive as compared with the mechanized battles of today. "There were no fancy beds to sleep on, and no ham and eggs for breakfast" observed Comrade Hale. His remarks and presence were heartily apreciated, as was evidenced by the warm applause and the singing of "He's a jolly good fellow".

Former Resident Greeted As Guest Speaker

The guest speaker, Mr. Gordon Drydale, was introduced by Comrade Stewart Jones, a former schoolmate, who spoke of their early life here before they enlisted, when both had been training for the teaching profession. Comrade Drysdale had spent more than two years in enemy prison camps, the chairman recalled, and accorded particular credit for his having continued his studies after discharge and successfully graduated in his profession.

The gathering listened with keen interest as the speaker referred all too briefly to his sojourn in various prison camps—the meagre food rations, which without the occasional Red Cross parcel were inadequate for subsistence; the fear and punishment inflicted; the dread of what was to happen; the varied attempts to escape, few of which were successful; the outwitting of guards and captors; the hiding of a radio and listening each day to the CBC news report without detection; the difficulty in putting in the time, which seemed endless from day to day; and the hope that some time — when, they knew not — they would be free men again. Social life had been lacking, of course, but a few carpenter's tools were gathered together and the resultant work was surprising — samples of which were shown by the speaker.

Appreciation was expressed by Comrade Duncan and the Rev. Chas. Maclean, the latter stressing the significance of Remembrance Day with respect to both the living and the dead.

Two very realistic war pictures of the Dieppe Raid and Sicily Invasion were shown, followed by scenes of sports enjoyed in the the more tranquil and beautiful Laurentians and Rockies, and bringing home to all present how thankful we should be, in this land of plenty, to be "free men".

A singsong, with the old war songs prevailing, kept everyone in good humor and odd groups could be seen here and there reminiscing and joking over Army life and things that "happened over there".

Over 100 attended, and the event is considered the best yet experienced by Legion Branch 70.

The success of this venture is characteristic of the determination of the veterans to build a suitable hall and meeting place, which will not only be a credit to them but also to the Town of Lachute. Canvassers are now active, and it is hoped that the public will give liberally towards this fund. . . Think what it would have cost you had we lost the war — perhaps all your property and even your life — then give in proportion to this worthy cause.

FASHION HINT

The rustle of taffeta is a major sound in the season's sartorial symphony. Navy blue iridescent taffeta is used for this very pretty dance frock. Framing the neckline is a stole-type, petal-edged collar. This is drawn into the loop formed by the set-in band down the front of the bodice. A narrow corded sash ties in a bow in front above the full ankle-length skirt.

House No Burden If Properly Run

Sheffield, Eng. (CP) — Organizers of a school for nagging wives say that after a month's course the women will return home happier and more efficient.

"Nagging wives are rarely shrews", said Mrs. Mary Murie of Sheffield Council of Social Service which is to run the school. "They are nervous, depressed women who have let housework, shopping and babies get them down.

"We are negotiating for a country mansion where we can take 40 mothers and their children. We shall run it as a normal home to show that a house, if properly managed, need not be a burden."

Cheese – Flavorful And Economical

Cheese is in the same food class as meat, fish, poultry and eggs and therefore should be used in the main course of the meal rather than as an accompaniment to apple pie or with a cracker, as a bed time snack.

It requires a little more than a gallon of milk to make one pound of cheddar cheese. Therefore cheese is a concentrated food which combines well with bread, macaroni, rice and other cereals to make many satisfactory main dishes.

High temperatures toughen cheese and make it less easily digested, so it should always be cooked at low temperature.

Spanish Fondue

3 Tablespoons fat, ½ cup coarsely chopped onion, 1 cup whole kernel corn, 1 cup drained canned tomatoes, 1½ cups milk, 2 cups soft bread crumbs (packed), 1½ cups grated cheese, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, dash of paprika, 1 tablespoon fat, melted, 3 eggs.

Melt the 3 tablespoons fat, add onion, corn and tomatoes. Heat well and place in bottom of greased baking dish. Add milk to bread crumbs. When milk has been absorbed, add grated cheese, salt, pepper, paprika and the 1 tablespoon melted fat. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Pour over hot vegetables in baking dish. Place in a pan of hot water and oven-poach in a moderate oven, 350°F., until set, about 55-60 minutes. Turn out on serving plate. Yield: six servings. If made in individual moulds, oven-poach in a moderate oven 350°F., for 40 minutes.

Hot Tomato Cheese Sandwiches

12 Slices lightly-buttered bread, ½ lb. cheese thinly sliced, 2 cups tomato juice, 2 eggs, salt and pepper.

Make sandwiches of cheese and bread. Beat eggs, add tomato juice and season well. Dip sandwiches in mixture and brown in hot, well-greased frying pan. Yield: six servings.

Welsh Rarebit

1 Tablespoon fat, 1 tablespoon flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon mustard, few grains cayenne pepper, 1 cup milk, cups grated cheese, 1 egg.

Melt fat, blend in flour, salt, and cayenne pepper. Gradually add milk. Add grated cheese and stir until melted. Pour some of the hot sauce over beaten egg. Return to double boiler and cook for 2 minutes. Serve on toast. Yield: six servings.

W.I. Movement Still Expanding

The Women's Institute movement is still spreading in other sections of the world, one of the latest districts to adopt this idea being the Island of Jersey. When the Channel Islands were occupied by the Germans in the last war many of the inhabitants fled to Great Britain, a large portion of the women finding work with the Land Army. Here they came in contact with branches of the Women's Institute and became so enthused with the idea that it was carried back to their own homes, when they were able to return after cessation of hositilities. There are now several branches on the island, all having a large membership and carrying on a varied and educational program. The first delegates have just been sent to the National Federation of Women's Institutes, held in Albert Hall, London, and enthusiasm is high for their work.

Members of the Quebec Women's Institutes, who wish to correspond with these new-comers in the organization, may obtain names by writing the provincial "pen-friend" secretary, Mrs. H. H. Mortimer, Port Daniel Centre, Que.

Wife Preservers

When you allow starch to stand until cool, keep the vessel containing it covered (to avoid scum formation) until the solution is cool enough to handle.

Soups for the Evening

A substantial soup is just the thing for supper when the air carries a nip that promises winter chill.

Soups have a wide range, they may be clear broths which are merely appetizers; stock soups containing meat, vegetables and barley or rice; cream soups made with milk or substantial chowders thick with a variety of good things.

Stock soups may be a most extravagant course in an expensive meal if made by our grandmothers' recipes which called for fresh meat and a marrow bone. If stock is made from meat scraps, vegetable water, leftover vegetables, celery tops, outer leaves of cabbage and bones from a roast it may be appetizing although cheap.

Cream soups are easily varied to suit the occasion. A left-over freshly cooked vegetable or a combination of several cut in small pieces or pureed and added to a thin cream sauce makes a satisfying bowl, and has the added advantage of persuading all members of the family to take their milk quota.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Deptartment of Agriculture, suggest several low-cost, substantial soups which make excellent main dish soups.

Mock Oyster Soup

6 Roots of salsify, 2 cups boiling water, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 cups milk, 4 crackers, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper.

Scrape salsify and cut into ½ inch slices. Drop into boiling, salted water. Cover and cook until tender, about 15 minutes. Add milk and finely rolled crackers. Bring to boil, add butter, salt and pepper. Serve piping hot. Yield: six servings.

Chicken or Turkey Gumbo Soup

1 Small onion finely chopped, 2 tablespoons chicken or turkey fat, 2 tablespoons flour, 4 cups chicken or turkey stock, 1 cup cooked chicken or turkey finely chopped, ½ cup canned corn, 2 cups canned tomatoes or tomato puice, salt, pepper and paprika to taste.

Cook onion slowly in fat for about 5 minutes. Blend in flour. Add stock and other ingredients, seasoning to taste. Bring to boiling point and simmer for ½ hour. Yield: eight servings.

Emergency Tomato Soup

2 Tablespoons fat, 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion, ½ cup finely chopped celery with leaves, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 bouillon cube, 1 cup boiling water, 2½ cups canned tomatoes, 2 tablespoons catsup or chili sauce, 1 teaspoon sugar, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, ¾ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Melt fat, add onion and celery. Cook until tender. Add flour and blend well. Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water and add to canned tomatoes. Add liquid to first mixture and stir until slightly thickened. Add catsup, paprika and salt. Bring to boil. Just before serving add the chopped parsley. Yield: six servings.

W.M.S. Thank-Offering Meeting at St. Andrews

(Our District Correspondent)

St. Andrews East — The annual autumn thank-offering service of the St. Andrews East Auxiliary of the United Church W.M.S. was held on Wednesday evening, November 3, in the church. The president, Dr. J. G. Wales, was in the chair, Mrs. Percy Hall conducted the devotional period and Miss Janet Wallace received the offerings.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Rupert Bradford of Lachute, sectional vice-president, prefaced her address with a fine tribute to Miss Mary L. Lamb, and to Mrs. W. Y. King of Cushing, who also was present. Mrs. Bradford's earnest talk dealt first with the duty and opportunities for service of W.M.S. members, who must back up the efforts of whole-time missionaries. In considering the Lord's work each member could take the motto, "It must be done by ME", and find what task she is best fitted to do. The second part was a report of Dr. Astbury's travels in India; also of the Dominion Board meeting at Toronto, whose theme, "Thy Kingdom Come", was suggested by the reports from many lands to the open doors for Christian teachings. These doors may be open for five to eight years hence, but probably not for longer if teachers were not sent. . . . Miss Lamb tendered the vote of thanks.

Girl Researchers Work With Grains

Do Experiments in Field Once Reserved to Men

Winnipeg (CP) — Women have risen above the role of chief cooks in the farm home. Nowadays, those with an interest in agriculture are studying new developments in grain growing, aiming to use their knowledge in research laboratories.

Exemplifying the trend toward research in a field formerly reserved for men are two agriculture students at the University of Manitoba — Anna Storsgaard of Ochre River, Man., and Ruth Zloten of Winnipeg.

Both have been working on grain projects this summer at the university.

Miss Storsgaard, blonde and a Viking type, is following in the footsteps of her father and grandfather, who made careers of farming in Manitoba. She plans to do lab work after graduation, but is looking forward to living on a farm again.

Seek Northern Corn

She has been working during the summer with S. B. Helgason, assistant professor of plants science, who is experimenting for a drought-resistant variety of feed corn, suitable for growing in northern areas of the province.

Miss Zloten's main interest just now is in malting barley. She is a third-year student and has plans for post-graduate work. Then, after spending some time in a grain laboratory, she hopes to go overseas to put her knowledge to work.

Miss Zloten works eight hours a day selecting barley plants which are better than the parent plants. This is her contribution toward a three-year program aimed at developing a smooth-bristled, rust-resistant malting barley plant.

Parents' Night at L.H.S. To Mark Education Week

In connection with the annual observance of Education Week, today (Thursday) has been devoted particularly to the theme, "The School Needs the Support of Parents and Public" — and Parents' Night at the Lachute High School this evening will be a function in keeping with this idea, providing teachers and parents with the opportunity to become better acquainted.

In the various classrooms samples of the pupils' work will be on display, and the teachers will be present to meet the parents. Demonstration classes have also been arranged for the interest of the visitors — including an art lesson conducted by Mrs. E. Dixon, a French lesson by Miss Grainger, and music instruction by Miss E. Ness and Mr. E. Morrison.

$30,000 Lumber Loss In Papineau Blaze

Papineauville (CP) — Building lumber valued at $30,000 was lost here Sunday when fire destroyed the office building and sheds of the Papineauville Lumber Company. The fire was believed to have started in a shed at the rear of the main building.

St. Laurent Takes Reins of Office As Prime Minister

By Harold Morrison

Ottawa, Nov. 16 (CP) — A few simple ceremonies marked the end of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's long reign in Canadian politics.

After 21 years as prime minister and 29 years as leader of the national Liberal Party, the ailing 73-year-old statesman merely shook hands with members of his cabinet and members of the Parliamentary Press Gallery last week.

In a short statement he said he was retiring "without regret" and was glad to turn over the duties of prime minister to his successor, Louis Stephen St. Laurent.

A few days later, on Monday, November 15, he left his residence, Laurier House, and drove to Rideau Hall where the Governor-General was waiting for him in his study. Mr. King told Viscount Alexander he wished to resign and advised that Mr. St. Laurent be called to form a government.

The transition from prime minister to sitting member for Glengarry in Ontario was completed in a matter of minutes. And it was marked with little fanfare.

After the next session of Parliament, which likely will end before the summer of 1949, Mr. King will no longer even appear in the Commons. He said he was not going to seek re-election to Parliament.

Mr. St. Laurent's new cabinet, except for a few additions, was not changed greatly. Stuart Garson, former premier of Manitoba, stepped in as justice minister. Mr. Garson, like Agriculture Minister Gardiner, was stepping up from the provincial for the federal political field. . . . Col. R. H. Winters was elevated from the post of parliamentary assistant to that of Minister of Reconstruction to pay particular attention to housing and the tourist business.

Trade Minister Howe is in Washington this week to help put new life in Canada's sagging armament industry.

A government spokesman said that if the trade minister was successful it would mean "millions" for Canadian armament producers, now just "plodding" along, waiting for orders.

They were getting a few from the Canadian government. The problem was, Canada had only a small defence force and her military needs were few.

But across the border in the United States, defence industries are booming. Mr. Howe is offering the suggestion that Canada manufacture aircraft parts for American plane builders, small ships for the U.S. navy and guns for the U.S. army.

In this way, Canada's armament industry could expand and by manufacturing 1,000 units instead of 100, could produce cheaper equipment for Canada as well.

But whether Mr. Howe would have much luck in Washington was doubted in some quarters. A spokesman said a Canadian defence official already had made frequent trips to Washington on the same mission. All he got from U.S. defence officials was "sympathy".

Blue Cross Week, Public Enrolment

A group effort by the Blue Cross hospital service association, and an experimental venture from which this community should derive considerable benefit — is in progress this week at Lachute and Brownsburg. Sponsored by the Rotary Club, the community is considered for this purpose as a group eligible for enrolment to receive benefits of hospital, medical and surgical care in the emergency of sickness — a plan with which most residents are already familiar, through Women's Institute and company memberships. The present experiment extends such membership to individuals unable to enrol through the ordinary group-participation.

Representatives of the Blue Cross — stationed at the Pollock & Graves Motors Ltd., Lachute, and at the Social Club, Brownsburg, during the week's campaign to terminate Saturday — report the interest and response have been encouraging. It is expected that by the end of the week the number of enrolments will prove this venture well justified.

Lachute-Brampton Return, in 12 Hours

A Lachute townsman, leaving here at 7 a.m. on a business trip to Toronto and Brampton, made quick connections throughout, and was back home at 7.30 that evening — 12½ hours after his departure. This revealing experience fell to Stanley Goldsworthy one day last week.

Taking the early morning bus to Montreal, he boarded a plane at Dorval airport leaving at 9.30 for Ottawa and Toronto; the plane reached Toronto shortly after 12 noon, and Mr. Goldsworthy was met by his brother, who motored him to Brampton, 20-odd miles out of the Queen City. Returning to Toronto with the intention of catching the evening plane, he found he could procure a seat on an earlier flight, aboard a T.C.A. North Star 40-passenger airliner on the Bermuda-Toronto-Montreal run. This craft had just discharged its load, and Mr. Goldsworthy was the only passenger on the stretch to Montreal. Leaving at 3.57 p.m. the North Star made better-than-schedule time, reaching Dorval at 5.16. The traveller was thus able to catch the evening bus at St. Laurent to reach Lachute at 7.30 p.m. — "A full but satisfying day", he remarked, well pleased with his trip.

Chief Commissioner Of Scouts to Speak Here on Friday

RECORD OF DISTINGUISHED MILITARY SERVICE

Maj.-Gen. D. C. Spry, C.B.E., D.S.O.

Tomorrow (Friday) Major-General D. C. Spry, Chief Executive Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association, will be in Lachute to address a meeting of Scout group committee members and interested adults. The meeting will be held at the Auditorium at 8 p.m., with Chas. L. Duncan, district commissioner, as chairman.

The purpose of the Executive Commissioner's visit is to impress the importance of Scouting to the Community — a theme on which, from wide observation and experience, he is well qualified to speak. The meeting will be attended by Scout and Cub leaders, as well as members of the Group Committees from the district, which includes Brownsburg, Lachute, St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, Rosemere, Ste. Rose and Morin Heights. . It is stressed that this event is, however, an open meeting, and all parents and citizens interested in the youth of the community are urged to attend.

Notable Soldier

Maj.-Gen. Spry became Chief Executive Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association in 1946, upon the retirement of Dr. John A. Stiles, O.B.E. In order to do so he resigned as Vice-Chief of General Staff of the Canadian Army and terminated a colorful military career that started in 1932 in the Reserve Army and ended with his holding the distinctive position of being the youngest Major-General in the British Commonwealth.

He is proud of the fact that he has worked his way up the Scouting ladder, having started as a Wolf Cub in the 2nd Calgary Pack in 1923, then a Scout in the 2nd Calgary Troop in 1925. There he attained Second Class rank before transferring to the 9th Halifax Troop in 1927 where he won his First Class and King's Scout Badges. He became a Patrol Leader and earned his Gold Cord symbolic of eighteen Scout Proficiency Badges. In 1930 he went up into Scouting's senior branch, the Rovers, serving as a Squire and Rover, then Rover Mate. He was later a Rover Sea Scout. He was the original Cubmaster of the 9th Halifax Pack.

Remembrance Day at Brownsburg, Legion Prominent in Proceedings

Brownsburg — November 11 saw the biggest crowd ever assembled at the cenotaph in Brownsburg, to pay respects to the gallant dead of two wars.

It was an inspiring sight — with the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Wolf Cubs, Brownies and the schoolchildren parading from the school grounds, led by Flying Officer J. W. L. Tessier, D.F.C., and taking their respective places at the cenotaph. The school children, facing the cenotaph on the main street, were given a better view of the proceedings.

The Canadian Legion, Ladies' Auxiliary and the Cadets led by President H. Steele, marched from the C-I-L parking lot to the Club, to the acompaniment of a drummer party from the Cadets, and Bugler Robert Taylor, Sr.

The service was conducted by the Rev. S. J. Pike, assisted by the Rev. Father Paul Manseau, the Rev. James Duncan and the Rev. Geo. B. Hicks.

After a brief service, prayer was said by Rev. James Duncan and Father Manseau, after which two minutes' silence was observed. Bugler Emmanuel Parisien played the Last Post and Reveille. The flag bearer was Comrade Gerald Vary. After closing the service with "O Canada" and "God Save the King", the following organizations placed wreaths at the cenotaph in memory of the fallen comrades:

Canadian Legion Branch 71, Canadian Auxiliary Branch 71, Municipal Council of Brownsburg, C-I-L Ammunition Division, C-I-L Plastics Division, Canadian Safety Fuse Co. Ltd., Brownsburg Social and Athletic Club, Brownsburg Rotary Club, Brownsburg Women's Institute, St. Louis de France Church, Knights of Columbus, Brownsburg Presbyterian Church, Maple Avenue Baptist Church, Brownsburg United Church, United Mine Workers of America Local 13148, United Auto Parts.

Through the medium of this report, Brownsburg Legion Branch 71 takes the opportunity to thank all who so generously gave their time and efforts to make this a true Remembrance Day; also to those who contributed so generously to help their less fortunate comrades who, through illness or disability, depend solely on the sale of poppies and wreaths for their livelihood. Thanks are also extended to Chief of Police W. Desrochers for the able way in which he handled the traffic.

Ayrshire and Holstein Clubs Meet For Annual Gathering and Business, Farm Editor Is Special Speaker

The Ayrshire and Holstein Breeders' Clubs held successful meetings and a joint social evening at Lachute Auditorium last Friday.

The business sessions and annual meetings of these two groups were held separately.

The Holstein Club re-elected the directors of the past year, as follows: Douglas Clark, president; John Meyer, vice-president; Douglas Bradford, Jean Paul Rochon, Arnold Parker, Ronald Lemay and F. W. Allmen; Harold Wilson, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Hermas Lajoie, secretary of Quebec Branch of the Holstein Friesian Association, and Mr. W. A. Hodge, gave a very interesting talk on improvements of the breed.

The Laurentian Ayrshire Breeders' Club appointed the following directors: Raymond Blair, Melville Smith, Clarence Miller, John Heatlie, Jr., Arthur St. Jacques, Forbes McOuat, Grant Beattie, Douglas Rodger, Albert Dixon, Keith Pollock; and Stewart Walker, secretary-treasurer.

John McKellar, of Vaudreuil, was appointed as Ayrshire judge for Lachute 1949 Spring Fair, and Bud Seitz, of Waukesha, Wis., as reserve. It was decided to hold another Ayrshire calf sale and drawing in May.

After the business meetings, Mr. O. R. Evans, farm editor of The Family Herald & Weekly Star, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Artificial Breeding in Canada".

An excellent lunch was served by the Jerusalem and Bethany Women's Institute, to approximately 300 guests. Legault's Orchestra supplied the music for old-time dancing, under the able supervision of George MacKenzie, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all in attendance.

Town Manager For Ste. Agathe

The town of Ste. Agathe takes on something of the status of a "big city", with the appointment this week of a town manager. The position was created in order to handle more efficiently the problems of the growing community.

The man who took over the new job was J. C. Lucien Trempe, a civil engineer. His appointment was made by Mayor Georges Liboiron and members of the council.

The town of Ste. Agathe was first established in 1912. A statement from the council says that the population of the town has grown from 1,400 in 1912 to 6,500 this year. Construction has developed rapidly and some 400 new houses have been put up since the war years, the statement added.

L. Carriere Heads Que. Lumber Group

Leopold Carrière, president of Lachute Lumber and Manufacturing Co. Ltd., was elected last Friday to the presidency of the Quebec Lumber Dealers and Manufacturers Association, in annual convention at the Canadian Club in Montreal. He succeeds J. C. Poitevin, retiring from the office after a two-year term.

In reporting the activities of the organization, the retiring president outlined, as the highlight of the year among lumber interests, the affiliation of five provincial groups last April to form a National Retail Lumbermen's Council. . . Mr. Carrière had been subsequently named a delegate from the Quebec Asosciation to attend the conference of this National Council at Vancouver—from which he returned just recently, and reported to his Quebec colleagues last week on the proceedings of the gathering.

Think It Over !

When Tommy enlisted — when George joined up with the forces — neither waited for the other. Their answer to the call of patriotism was eager and spontaneous. It was not a question of "keeping up with the Joneses", nor, incidentally, was there any reckoning of the cost. . . . Tommy did not come back, he was horribly burned in a blazing fighter plane.

To Tommy's memory and the things he died for, George and his colleagues have pledged their devotion. They are organized, they carry on. They call their organization the "Legion". Canada-wide, Empire-wide, they concern themselves with such problems as the housing and rehabilitation of veterans, and they give material aid when necessary to the widows and families of Tommy and his like, the boys who did not come back.

In Lachute the veterans are campaigning now to erect a building — a hall and meeting place in which to promote their aims. The rest, our readers know. . .

Mayor Alex Bothwell, chairman of the civic committee to aid the Legion's fund, reports that donations to date have been discouraging. The $15,000 appeal has been well publicized; all residents have been notified, through the mail or by other means. Many have not yet been approached; to them, this reminder will commend the worthiness of the appeal. Others are holding back, perhaps to see how much their neighbor will contribute. To these, the memory of Tommy and George may afford an example — they did not wait. Tommy gave his all, while George gave the best years of his youth and sacrificed the very peak of his career. . . . And why? So that Canada might remain on the map of free and democratic countries. So that Lachute might carry on — its homes happy and intact, its stores and business houses flourishing.

Some have already given — but very meagrely, and they are urged to reconsider their small donation and give more liberally to this worthy cause, keeping in mind the fact that had it not been for the veterans and their sacrifices, they doubtless would not be here to enjoy either business or social security.

When the canvassers call — our townsfolk in Lachute may well remember these things.

Birth of Prince Is Headline News In Week's Events

By Norman Altstedter

The House of Windsor was assured a male heir when Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth gave birth to a seven-pound six-ounce son at Buckingham Palace.

The young prince, son of the Princess and Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, automatically became second in succession to the British throne next to his mother. His was the first royal birth in Buckingham Palace for 62 years.

Announcement of the happy event November 14 set bells ringing in the tower of Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral. Their joyful clangor added to the cheers of London's loyal citizens—cheers which were echoed in every part of the British Commonwealth.

The child's grandfather, King George VI, set a precedent when he abolished the ancient custom of having the Home Secretary officially present at the palace for the birth. Mr. Chuter Ede was the first person to be notified, but he did not go to the palace.

Mr. Ede in turn informed the Lord Mayor of London and telegrams were sent to the leaders of the dominions and British possessions.

The baby's birth moves Princess Elizabeth's sister Margaret one place lower down in the line of succession to the throne. She is now third in order and will move one place down for each child of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

One day before his retirement as Prime Minister of Canada, Mr. Mackenzie King was officially notified of the royal birth. The news was received with enthusiasm by the people of the Dominion and messages of congratulation immediately were dispatched to London on their behalf.

A HOPE FOR THE NEWLY-BORN

"May destiny, allotting what befalls,
"Grant to the newly-born this saving grace,
"A guard more sure than ships and fortress-walls,

Black Watch Exercise Held at St. Jerome

As part of the training program for the coming season, a military exercise known as "Frost" was held in the St. Jerome area last Saturday and Sunday by the Black Watch (RHR) of Canada.

Two hundred members of the unit paraded at the Bleury St. Armoury in Montreal and proceeded by transport to St. Jerome, where live "enemy", umpires, smoke, blank ammunition and other pyrotechnics were employed to achieve realism in a "mopping up" operation.

The exercise, involving the tactical handling of a full war establishment infantry rifle company, employed use of personnel, two sections of carriers, mortars and signal men. The company used a section of quarter-ton trucks.

Honor to faithful merit is delayed, and always has been; but it is sure to follow.

Controversy And Friendship

Down in Halifax last week George Drew attended a convention to select a Nova Scotia Conservative leader whose job it will be to turn out the Liberal Government of Angus Macdonald, but the very next day, according to a CP despatch, he (Drew) "made a tour of service messes with Premier Angus L. Macdonald, a fellow artillery officer of World War I".

What an object lesson in the thing we argued in this column the other day, namely, that party controversies should never interfere with friendships; that a difference of opinion should not be a cause for hatred!

Horse and Buggy for $1 A Day, Eggs $1 A Gross -- Recollection of North River Valley Days in 1890's

The Watchman is indebted to Mr. Bill Radford, now of Seattle, Washington, for the following memoirs, which will be shared with enjoyment by many residents of the older generation.

THE LACHUTE THAT I KNEW
By Bill Radford

H. G. Wells, in his Outline of History, observes that the 50 years before World War I were the happiest years in the history of our race; and I have not heard anyone contradict the statement. So why not let those of us who were boys and girls around the 1890's pause and look back at the good old days.

For me, they were spent in and around the Island of Montreal. They were certainly enchanted days, and quite a little of the enchantment was experienced in the beautiful and restful valley of the North River in Argenteuil County.

Dr. Drummond has the habitant say, "I close my eyes jus' so and see de place where I am born"; well — here and now, after many many intervening years, I "close my eyes jus' so", and memory, from its treasure house, brings forth in pleasing detail the Lachute that I knew in my boyhood days.

I am not an aesthetic person, yet, with ease, I discern the peaceful valley of the North River, winding its way through the farmer's fields; in order due they make their appearance—the Laurentian hills, their transparent lakes and mountain streams, the summer showers, the sunsets, the fields at harvest, the sugaring off in the spring, and — best of all — that atmosphere created by simple folk living a contented, happy life.

Lachute was not a famous summer resort in those days, but it was an ideal community for our family of 10 children. And we spent one summer at the Birch home (now Mr. Ben Rogers') in the town itself; one summer at Andrew McOuat's farm across the river next to the MacFarlane farm; and three or four summers at the Wm. Hill house opposite what was then the old tannery at the end of the town.

I well remember how keen the rivalry was about the quality of the water in the different wells. This was particularly true of the water in the Rev. Mr. Mackie's well and ours in the Birch well.

Graduation Event, Prize Distribution At Grenv'l School

(Contributed by Regular School Reporter)

Grenville — The graduation exercises and prize distribution held recently in the Grenville School auditorium were well attended both by the pupils and parents. Guest speaker was Mr. F. N. Stephens, principal of Commercial High School, Montreal, who gave an extremely interesting talk on the topic, "The Three C's, Courtesy, Citizenship, Culture; the Three S's, Sacrifice, Service, Sympathy".

Also to mark the event, "Le Jour de Français", Mr. H. MacKrith's French classes, staged the playlet "Blanche Neige". It was remarkable how well the children played their parts, and credit goes to Mr. MacKrith for his efforts in staging this presentation. The pupils of Miss Moller and Mrs. Dumochel sang French songs, and played rhythm-band selections.

Immediately following the program, the academic prizes were distributed, followed by presentation of the field day prizes.

Around the Country

Jim Greenblat

In the Cariboo country of B.C., Arville Craig, ex-grid and ski star, brought down a big black bear with a single shot from his bow at 35 paces, after the bear was treed. . A lumber yard manager, said Strathmore (Alta.) Standard, had two pipes blow up on him, when he suddenly remembered he carried .22 shells around with him and they got mixed up with his tobacco, which he always carried loose. . Howard Roberts, 17-year-old Battleford, Sask., farm boy, according to The Optimist, built himself a complete automobile with the exception of a steering rod which was cast for him, invented and planned to suit his needs — he is paralyzed from the waist down. . Mrs. Charles Thurber, of Freeport, N.S., was surprised to learn her cat, over 22 years of age, was giving birth to kittens again; the cat has had a brood of kittens every year for the past 17 years. . Mrs. Phoebe Murdock of New Annan, N.B., at 106 is believed to be the oldest living resident of Eastern Canada; living with a friend, she intends to move back home and set up housekeeping in the spring again. . Some exceptionally high marks were set at the farm auction held by John Hapash, just north of Brooks, Alberta. A 1948 Ford sedan went under the hammer for $2,578; weaner pigs brought $20 each, while a 15-year-old 20-gallon crock was knocked down from the unbelievable figure of $20.

Gatineau LINES

The steadily-increasing realization of the seriousness of the power shortage all around us raises an important question in the minds of all Gatineau Power customers — will we have electricity rationing here as they now have throughout Ontario?

Nobody can give a definite answer to that question at the moment, because the final decision rests with Nature, not with Man. One thing is certain, however. The more our customers co-operate with us in power-saving measures, the less likely it is that rationing will be necessary for domestic customers of Gatineau Power Company.

For months past, the Company has been doing everything possible to make sure that rationing will not be necessary. We will continue to make every effort to maintain a constant supply of electricity to our customers.

The fact remains, however, that if there is no water there can be no electric power. The water in our reservoirs is dangerously low and will fall lower. Whether power rationing becomes necessary or not depends on how much lower those water reserves go during the next few months—and that in turn depends on Nature.

Fire Brigade Saves Village of Alfred

Hawkesbury — A seven-man fire brigade probably saved the village of Alfred from destruction recently when fire razed the general store and residence of J. D. Bertrand and the harness shop and residence of D. Cadieux.

Fighting a high wind, the brigade managed to confine the $40,000 fire to the two buildings destroyed and had it under control on the arrival of the Hawkesbury brigade. Of unknown origin, the blaze began shortly before noon.

Suffering from shock and unconscious for several hours afterwards was Mrs. Bertrand who, carrying her baby, barely escaped the flames.

Mr. Bertrand said the smoking rubble represented his life savings. He had been operating the store only a month. Some insurance was carried.

STRONG MAN, STRONG TEETH

Lakefield, Ont. (CP) — Krikor Hekimian, 33-year-old strong man, put his teeth into a special show for the Lakefield and District Memorial Area Fund. Hekimian gripped a 285-pound police chief by the belt and lifted him aff the ground. He then pulled a 6½-ton truck along the roadway — with his teeth.

BACKSTAGE AT BUCKINGHAM THEATRE just before Curtain Time, the cameraman caught Budd Knapp, left, Beth Lockerbie and John Drainie as they glanced over their scripts and chatted about the show. This popular acting trio is heard often on Curtain Time, every Wednesday at 9.30 p.m. on Dominion, and in numerous other radio dramas such as Stage 49 and CBC Wednesday Night programs. Budd Knapp is perhaps best known for his role of the father in the John and Judy series.

KING AND QUEEN VISITED CANADIAN DISPLAY AT DAIRY SHOW

Their Majesties the King and Queen visited the Dairy Show, held recently at Olympia, and displayed much interest in the Canadian display of bacon, cheese, eggs and poultry. They were fascinated by the milkfed chickens in the refrigerated show cases, and asked W. B. Gornall, Commercial Secretary for Canada (Agricultural Specialist), whether they were for sale, and inquired concerning the disposal of this poultry after the close of the show.

Attendance at the Dairy Show established a new record of 94,904 in four days, compared with the previous peak in 1947, of 87,887.

Once upon a time, when the news got around that one contemplated the purchase of an automobile, he was besieged by ardent salesmen. —Exch.

Happy Recollection of Lachute Environs in '90's

At the close of school early in June we were ready to quit the city and hit for Lachute and the countryside. We knew every foot of the terrain between Dalhousie Square and milepost No. 44 just outside the Lachute station. Each trip we counted the cows on both sides of the train, or as many as we could in the limited time, for there were a lot of cows living in that section.

Soon the trip came to an end; the train whirled around the Lachute curve, the North Rover came into view, the old landmarks appeared, Mackie's cow-path, Birch's cow-path, the sugar bush, and then Lachute station itself.

And how did we kids spend the summer?

Well, we drove to the cheese factory soon after dawn in the morning, we roamed the Laurentian hills, we swam in the North River a couple of times a day, (Sundays excepted, for it was a Sabbath-observing community). We trolled for pike in Birch's Pond, we fished for bass in the shade of the bridges, and we fished for whitefish up at the mill.

During the haying we worked with the farm boys in the field for the sheer pleasure of it, and we rode and drove the farm horses. We went up to bring the cows home for milking in the late afternoon; and when we were quite young we were very concerned with getting the cows safely through the gates and across the track before the possible arrival of an unexpected freight train.

And, best of all, each night we went to bed thoroughly tired and slept well.

Occasionally we went farther afield. We visited the cartridge factory at Brownsburg, where we heard about the men who worked in the fulminate room and the rumor that they might be blown to smithereens at any moment. We were surprised on meeting them, that they displayed no fear nor anxiety and seemed quite as happy as the rest of us in spite of their precarious occupation.

At times we drove to Carillon to meet the Lachine boat and were always interested in the little train that ran to Grenville and burned wood in its boiler. The gate had to be opened at the end of the wharf to let the train pass through.

Sometimes we spent entire days picking raspberries in the sandy regions; and occasionally had to be nice and polite and play croquet with the girls.

William Banford's old store and his home across the road are very vivid in my memory, for I spent many happy boyhood hours there. Phineas Lane's horse-breeding farm was in the same neighborhood; and I had my first suit of tailor-made clothes from the tailoring establishment of Mr. Periard, who also grew prize strawberries.

Livery stable charges were moderate and we could get a good horse and buggy for $1 per day and each autumn we brought back to town several cases of eggs for which we paid $1 per gross.

And were they happy days?

Yes, I feel that Mr. Wells was right; but even if they were not the happiest days in the world's history they were the happiest in ours.

So, as with Drummond's habitant, I think again of the boys and girls of that time (grandparents and great grandparents now). They pass before my view — the Hills, the Evans, the Messiahs, the Larivieres, the Walkers, the Mackies, the MacFarlanes, the McOuats, the Simpsons, the Banfords and the many others of like vintage, who enjoyed their childhood days in the North River Valley.

The Economy of Using the Best

The economy of using the best possible materials is made apparent in the upkeep problem. A house or business building may be "thrown together" with cheap material, and it may "look all right," but after it has stood the shock of weather, the real test comes.

It is false economy to use poor materials — and we so advise everyone who buys from us. Our success is due to honesty in materials and prices.

Former Mansion Now Taken Over by Priesthood

Montreal (CP) — The Chateau Dufresne in Montreal's east end, once the scene of lavish social functions, henceforth will be known for its educational work.

The Chateau has been taken over by the Congregation of the Holy Cross, the Roman Catholic religious order which operates Notre Dame University in Indiana.

The spacious mansion stands as a reminder of the plans of Marius Dufresne, a Montreal architect, and his brother Oscar, to convert the district into an exclusive residential section.

Marius took his inspiration for the building from the Parc de Versailles in France. Materials for the construction were imported from all over the world.

After the death of Marius a few years ago, a move was made to have the city take over the mansion. The move failed, as did all other plans for the structure.

Until the Holy Cross moved into the Chateau, it stood as an empty memorial to the place it once held in Montreal's social life.

18 Cows in Prize Herd Electrocuted at Farm Near Winchester

Winchester, Ont. — Eighteen prize Holstein cows, valued at more than $15,000, owned by W. J. Fawcett of Winchester, R.R. 3, were found dead in their stalls one morning last week. They were electrocuted when automatic drinking basins became charged after an over-head pipe leading to them short-circuited two wires. When each cow attempted to drink, it received the full electrical charge as its nose came in contact with a metal plunger. Six of the prize herd escaped.

Education Week

MUCH will be written on the theme of Education Week, to which we give this annual recognition. The successes and shortcomings, the outcome and results, the adequacy of the curricula in our Canadian system of education—will pass in review from the platform and the printed page. In Argenteuil County we could debate lengthily on the system as we see it — but our arguments would be but a repetition of impressions in many similar communities.

The fact that we are conscious, today more than ever before, of the problems in child education, is a highly encouraging omen; it implies a realization that education in the past has fallen short of practical needs. . . And it seems most fitting, at this time and in this district, to express our gratitude to the few who are grappling with these problems and striving locally for improvement.

The duties of school administration and of teaching have been taken too much for granted. To the school commissioners, who serve with no personal gain but the satisfaction of their service; to the school staffs, whose reward in totally incommensurate with their responsibility in the moulding of young citizens — to these we have been more ready to express our criticism than our appreciation. In each case, their role is often a thankless task.

There are public-spirited citizens in this town and county who give much time, much personal study, to the advancement of education. They shoulder certain worries and anxieties which many do not realize. . . There are also the teachers, for whom the close of school each day brings not the end of their laboring hours, but a more intimate scrutiny of their professional role, its failures and triumphs — and then, perhaps, more time engaged in extra-curricular activity.

Education Week may achieve great things. It can serve no better purpose here than to draw attention to this loyal devotion. Thus, as parents and taxpayers, we too may enter into the spirit of the thing, by pledging our support and understanding.

The Armistice Anniversary

WE CANNOT readily reconcile ourselves to a suggestion by the Granby Leader-Mail, that Armistice Day be held in the springtime instead of in November.

Armistice rites, as they are now observed across Canada and overseas, commemorate the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, the time at which the Armistice was signed in 1918 terminating hostilities in the First Great War. . . The arguments for a change are that the gesture of Remembrance now embraces the dead of two Great Wars — that the time of year is depressing, very often wet and cold — and that Nature in its promise of new life would more befit this observance if it were held in the month of May.

— All of which may be true. Yet even with our experiences of many Cenotaph ceremonies in wet, depressing weather, we still feel that this is the anniversary of an auspicious day, the birth of a universal recognition to Sacrifice, and the rooting of a Resolve, however barren and ineffectual, to promote peace. Perhaps also, to those who were closer to the scene, the first Armistice Day stands out more poignant, more momentous, in the recollections. After 30 years it has become a tradition too firmly established to be changed.

Mellow autumn, November skies, even the chill of frost and rain, seem not unappropriate to this solemn anniversary. Like the depths and shadows of some dignified old cathedral, they surround the ceremonies with a cloak of wistful reverence.

St. John Ambulance

IN THESE DAYS OF stupendous appeals, a cross-country objective of $600,000 appears a modest aim. This sum represents the current needs of an organization whose work, however, is immeasurable in humane possibilities—namely, the St. John Ambulance.

The St. John Ambulance is the modern "active service" branch of the oldest Order of Chivalry in the world — an Order which, through the centuries, has devoted itself to the care of the injured and sick. Through its present day training and service, millions of lives have been saved and relief brought to the suffering everywhere.

Funds are vitally necessary to enable St. John Ambulance to continue its humane work. Money is needed for textbooks, uniforms, stretchers, splints, bandages, and a host of other items and services; to equip and train more volunteer workers in First Aid, Home Nursing, Child Welfare; for rental of temporary training quarters, space for temporary and permanent First Aid posts, etc.; and for every aspect of the work of St. John Ambulance.

The present campaign for funds represents a minimum objective for its activities during 1949, and the appeal is deserving of generous public support.

Lights Out in Ontario!

THE FRIENDLY flicker of candles and oil lamps, an unfamiliar sight for many a year, has returned to many Southern Ontario households as their local electric commissions pull the switches to conserve power.

Impressions from this new order of things, indicate that Grandfather would feel at home if he peered into the semi-darkness of the living room after supper. And he'd get a few chuckles out of watching his pampered family figuring out ways to kill time during the 45 minutes or so of emergency lighting.

Now that they're used to it, it is reported that many residents of Toronto and other affected municipalities are finding the dimout a lot pleasanter than they expected. They are getting a kick out of rediscovering Grandfather's solutions for most of the problems caused by the switch-off.

The opportunity of an early-evening nap, ignored by most of them while the lights functioned, is providing a godsend after an exhausting day behind a desk or vacuum cleaner. The evening paper looks about the same at eight o'clock as it did at seven. And housewives enjoy leaving the supper dishes for a while to catch up on their knitting and conversation.

We never thought to see the day when Montrealers would send off "bundles for Toronto" to relieve the Queen City's shortage of candles.

Even the youngsters aren't proving too hard to handle, it is said. They've had a hard day, and the darkness, often accompanied by the bribe of permission to blow out the candles when the lights come back on, generally encourages them to take it easy. — There's a rumor that one mother even got her offspring to bed early without protest.

Relief for Britain

WORD comes from London that the British bacon ration has been halved to one ounce weekly for the four weeks starting November 21. Food Minister John Strachey told the House of Commons on November 8 that the cut was necessitated by a temporary shortage in Canadian supplies. To make up for it each ration book holder will be entitled to buy an extra four pence (seven cents) worth of corned beef. . .

Thos. L. Kennedy, Premier of Ontario, has issued the following statement concerning United Emergency Fund for Britain — a Dominion-wide co-ordination of effort to bring relief to families hard-hit by the dearth of life's necessities:

"The United Emergency Fund for Britain, sponsored by many public-spirited people throughout . . Canada, has as its objective aiding the millions of people of Britain who have never received parcels of food and clothing from this country. Many of these people are still in need of food and clothing. Distribution is being made under the British Advisory Council. . . It is my hope that the people will join in supporting such a worthy cause."

It's About Time

THERE ARE signs, few but unmistakable (notes The Financial Post editorially) that hotels are beginning to like people again. An American chain has enlisted for its hotels a staff of "service aides", smartly uniformed young women of the airline hostess type. Their job is to welcome motoring tourists and make them feel wanted. They take the headache and the backache out of getting lodged in a hotel, a one-time simple procedure now requiring great stamina and much patience.

Such an enterprising beginning can easily be the first step in breaking up the gauntlet a motoring traveller must run to get from his car to a hotel room: the outstretched hands of the car door opener, the bellhop who carries your bags a few paces to the end of the registration lineup and leaves you on your own, his partner who waits at the desk to check your bag when you learn your room won't be ready for three hours, and the hop who finally takes you to your room with a "boy-are-you-lucky" air.

Hail to the "service aide", symbol of hope to the weary traveller. He's not only weary of waiting. He's more than fed up with the cost of the elaborate machinery hotels have built up—or tolerate — to extract tips from him.

The weeklies say...

GRIM WARNING

Every time some young life is snuffed out in the murky waters of the Red River it serves to remind one that water safety cannot be over-emphasized. Tokens reminding the living that others have drowned could be erected. Not just stereotyped warnings that swimming is forbidden, but something more stark, like "Johnny Jones Drowned Here", might allow young folks to think twice.

Facts About Prices

By R. J. Deachman

A SQUARE VIEW ON MONOPOLY-CAPITALISM

There are those who ascribe the present high price level to monopoly-capitalism. It is a mouth-filling phrase borrowed from Communist Russia, used mostly by those who are not particular what they say.

If monopoly-capitalism brought about price increases it would have shown itself particularly in manufactured products — not in farm products. Our Canadian farmers may be capitalists, they are not monopolists.

Note the price changes which have taken place in farm products and manufactured goods between 1926, a normal year, and July 1948. The price level of "fully and chiefly manufactured products" in 1948 was 38.5% higher than in 1926, the price of farm products had risen by 47.3%. To accuse industry of exercising monopolistic powers is to accuse agriculture of doing the same thing. As the late Mr. Euclid remarked in similar circumstances: "This is absurb".

We have used the price level of 1926 as our base or starting point. If, however, we start with 1939 we find that between that date and July 1948 the index of wholly and chiefly manufactured products rose from 75.3 to 138.5, an increase of 83.9, farm products in the same period went up 129%. According to this argument the statement should be farm products, since the outbreak of the war, have gone up more than prices of manufactured products, therefore farmers are monopolists. This is preposterous — they are not — never were — never can be.

Wage rates in industry have risen substantially, costs of raw materials have gone up—yet the increase in the price of manufactured products has gone up less than the price of farm products. What is the answer? There is no evidence of monopoly-capitalism in industry. It is simply a catch phrase borrowed from the Communists — now passing into our vocabulary, forming a part of our daily speech.

It is quite easy to show the absurdity of these things if we are willing to study the facts and do it without prejudice.

POSTHUMOUS AWARD

Moser's River, N.S. (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe have received from the Belgian government the brevet and insignia of the Croix de Guerre 1940 with palm, awarded posthumously to their son, Frank Arnold. The medal was awarded for distinctive gallantry on the battle for the liberation of Belgium.

Three baggage cars were required to handle the equipment of the cast and orchestra of the musical hit "Oklahoma", when it arrived at Montreal recently by C.N.R. from New York. The show required two baggage cars to handle the effects of its 50-member cast, while another car carried the instruments of its 25-musician orchestra.

SHOP EARLY FOR CHRISTMAS

Plan your Christmas gift lists now—and do your buying early. Shopping is much more pleasant that way! You get a far greater choice of better merchandise, and you avoid crowded stores and transportation facilities. Another thing—you make it easier for those who don't have the opportunity to do their Christmas buying now—and that's living up to the true principles of "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

W.A. Event

The Woman's Auxiliary of Grace Anglican Church held a "500" party at the Maplewood Inn last Friday evening. Despite unfavorable weather there was a good attendance, cards being played at 14 tables. Gentlemen's first prize was won by Mr. Alvin Graham, ladies' first prize by Miss Nora Smith, and Mr. Edward Morrison won the lucky number prize. A sale of home-cooking brought the evening's proceeds to a gratifying amount. Refreshments were served in conclusion. The evening's entertainment was under the supervision of the president, Mrs. J. Veit, who is to be congratulated on promoting this enjoyable evening.

Service of the Arundel United Church will be held on the morning of Sunday, November 21, at 11 o'clock. After the usual devotions the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed. The visiting clergyman for this service will be the Rev. G. G. D. Kilpatrick, D.S.O., B.A., D.D., principal of the United Theological College, Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bulley were in Montreal over the week-end attending the third congress of Dental Technicians of the Province of Quebec. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Bulley as president, and the sessions were held in the Windsor Hotel.

Demonstration on "Home Grooming" at W.I. Branch Meeting

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — The monthly meeting of the Arundel Women's Institute was held in the church hall Wednesday evening, November 10. The president, Mrs. E. A. Bulley, was chairman. After the business of the meeting, Miss J. Guild, of Macdonald College, gave a demonstration on the "Art of Home Grooming". Two of the members consented to act as models, and Miss Guild demonstrated the style of coiffure most suitable to the individual features, illustrating her points. Quite a few hints were given — and it is expected, when the next Institute meets, to see quite a lot of changes in hairdo's! . . Illustrating with a second model, Miss Guild demonstrated how to give a home facial, and also added a lesson in make-up. It was altogether a delightfully instructive meeting.

Miss Guild was thanked in the name of the members by Mrs. Percy Staniforth.

The next meeting of this branch will be held December 8, in the form of a Christmas party.

Lake Keatley

Principal and Mrs. G. J. Bennett spent the week-end at their "Echo Valley" camp.

Mr. Fred Parent, also his brother Norman, Miss Helen Randal and Mr. Ken Ford spent the week-end at "Oak Bend" cabin. Mr. and Mrs. Reg Austin, of Montreal, were Sunday guests.

Officer and Mrs. H. Jones and family, of Lachute, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dave MacVicar.

Mr. Chas. Watson, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Jackson, all of Montreal, spent the week-end at "Bay View" cottage.

Wedding Reception, Bell Falls

A reception was held at Campbell's Hall, Bell Falls, on November 6, for Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Thomas (formerly Elva Young), of Lake Keatley.

The bride was dressed in a long white satin gown and white veil, carrying a bouquet of Talisman roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Geraldine Young, sister of the bride, was dressed in pink taffeta with matching veil and pale blue accessories, carrying a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

The bride's table was centred with a beautiful four-tier wedding cake. The newly-wed couple received many beautiful gifts, and all present enjoyed a pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will reside in Montreal.

Token of Appreciation to Brownsburg Scoutmaster

Brownsburg — At a recent meeting of the Boy Scouts Group Committee, held in the Social Club, Mr. R. B. Elliott was presented with a Ronson table lighter and several packages of cigarettes.

The presentation was made by the chairman, Mr. N. E. Smillie, on behalf of the Group Committee, who expressed appreciation of the members — Mr. Elliott having been Scoutmaster of the 1st Brownsburg Troop for three years. He is continuing as a member of the Group Committee.

Ottawa Co-operates

Ottawa, although the fact is not always remembered, is part of the province of Ontario, which is currently suffering from a power shortage. The city, it is reported, is doing its best to conserve power in response to the agitated pleas of the provincial Hydro Commission. Store windows are left unlighted and street lighting has been reduced.

It is also reported that on Parliament Hill one recent sunny afternoon all the lamps that illuminate the driveway around the East Block where the Cabinet meets, were burning. — Printed Word

NOTICE

To the Electors of CHATHAM CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL, Brownsburg, Que.

At a special meeting called November 15, 1948, the Protestant School Board passed a resolution and signed a petition to join the Argenteuil & Two Mountains County Central School Board. This action was taken after due consideration was given to all the aspects of the question, and was done in good faith, sincerely believing it to be the wish of the majority of the parents and ratepayers, and sincerely believing it to be the best course of action to take at this time.

This petition will in time become law and cannot later be changed. If the majority of electors are not in favor of this petition, they may take action to prevent its fulfilment by obtaining the signature of the majority of electors on a petition stating they are not in favor of joining the Central Board, provided such a petition is submitted within a period of 30 days from the date of this notice.

(Signed) — M. P. Reilly

At Brownsburg United

Brownsburg — At the Y.P.U. meeting on Monday evening, a mixed group heard Mr. F. H. J. Royal, principal of Lachute High School, in a Canadian-United States travelogue — recounting highlights of a tour which the speaker, with Mrs. Royal, enjoyed during the summer vacation. Our Canadian West came in for a goodly share of the beautiful pictures which Mr. Royal presented on the screen. The Rockies, glaciers, lakes, parks, canyons, wild life, the homes of movie stars, parliament buildings, on both sides of the international boundary, were included in this interesting and instructive presentation. Mr. Royal first outlined the route followed, through the various provinces and states from Lachute and back home again. . . A short devotional preiod preceded this presentation. On behalf of the audience the Rev. S. J. Pike thanked the speaker for his very enjoyable pictures and talk.

Services next Sunday will be of a special nature, stressing the Missionary and Maintenance Fellowship. Mr. Earl Morrison will speak at the morning service and will have a message particularly for the younger folk. At the evening service, the Rev. T. Komiyama, United Church Japanese minister, of the Church of All Nations, Montreal, will be guest preacher. Mr. Komiyama has won a large place in the hearts of his Canadian friends, both by his winsome and kindly Christian way of life and also his ability as a preacher. The public are cordially invited to hear this fine Christian speaker.

Asks Explanation Of Party Policies

Calling for the two old parties to make their platforms understandable, John Atkins from his Shingwauk Farm, writes in "The Scene":

It is easier for the public to understand the revolutionary character of the CCF platform which is socialism, than it is to grasp the differences in the evolutionary policies of the other parties. Although the socialists contemplate a peaceful revolution by ballot, their policies nevertheless are revolutionary in that they propose to abolish one system and to institute another. The two leading Canadian parties propose to make evolutionary improvements upon the basically sound system which has been evolved out of human experience and progress. Until the voters of Canada understand the policies of the various political parties they will be unable to contribute intelligently to the framing of public opinion and to the conduct of government.

Community Concert Group Now Organizing in Lachute

A new organization known as the "Lachute Community Concerts Association" was formed at a meeting held in the town hall last Friday evening. Linton W. Armstrong was elected president and Mrs. W. H. Ayers first vice-president; Gabriel Valois secretary; W. M. Steeves, treasurer; Miss Juliette Rodrique, Jacques Bedard and Angelo Fassio, general chairmen.

Harold Kendrick, organization director of Community Concerts Service, explained the plan in detail and pointed out that this was an opportunity for the community to see and hear some of the better known artists. The plan is working with marked success in over 1,000 cities and towns throughout this continent, he stated, and it is expanding rapidly all the time.

The number who may join the local organization is limited to the maximum seating capacity of the Auditorium, which was set at 500. A week's campaign for membership will be held from November 29 to December 4, inclusive. Campaign headquarters will be at the Bedard Ltée store on Main Street, where it is planned that a campaign secretary will be on hand during this time to accept memberships from those interested in joining the organization.

Last evening, a second meeting was held, in Lachute High School, to continue the discussion and complete certain details, especially with regard to the slate of officers and directors. A vote was taken to determine the opinion of the meeting on the success of this venture in Lachute, and whether the work should be begun immediately. During the discussion Mrs. Mac E. Walker, Earl Morrison, and Horace Murphy spoke of their experiences in other cities in Canada where similar organizations are active, and gave their opinion that a similar venture would be a success in this district. As the meeting was unanimously in favor of proceeding immediately with the organization, in order that concerts may be held this winter, it was decided to complete the slate of officers and elect the required number of directors. Those elected were — Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, Miss Marthe Dumais, Miss Janet McOuat, Mrs. Georges H. Héon, Dr. M. Papineau, Messrs. Earl Morrison, Richard Ayers, Charles L. Duncan, Mozart Carriere and Horace Murphy. It was also decided that at least three or four directors be added to this list at a later date from Brownsburg.

It was felt that a considerable number of people in Brownsburg would be interested in joining the organization, and in order that that town might be duly represented, it was suggested that Mrs. E. Guilbert and Harold Barrie be approached, with the view to their becoming second and third vice-presidents, and Mrs. A. R. Coté, Mrs. H. Sherwood, Mrs. D. Lepine and Harold Dando as directors.

The chairman emphasized the fact that membership was open not only to residents of Lachute and Brownsburg but also to neighboring villages and the surrounding community, and suggested that each member compile a list of friends and acquaintances who would be interested in joining the enterprise.

Chief Commissioner of Boy Scouts to Speak . .

His military career began when he joined the Reserve Army while still at University. . .

Years later, as Captain and Adjutant of the Royal Canadian Regiment, he went overseas in 1939, later being promoted to Major.

In September, 1941 he was appointed to the headquarters of the 1st Canadian Division, and, assigned to General Headquarters of the British Home Forces, in 1942, he worked on plans for the invasion of the continent. In September 1942, he was named personal assistant to General McNaughton, Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian Army. Promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel a few months later, he accompanied General McNaughton to North Africa and Malta.

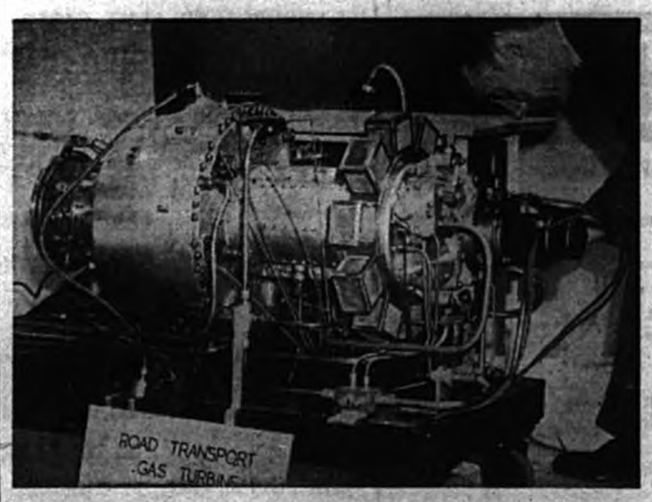

When, during the Sicilian campaign, the commanding officer of the R.C.R., Lt.-Col. R. M. Crowe, was killed, he was appointed to command his old regiment and led his men with distinction in Italy, being mentioned in despatches. In December, 1943, he was promoted to the rank of Brigadier, and was awarded the D.S.O. for his brilliant handling of the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade in the Pontecorvo region.

After the advance of the Allied armies north of Rome, he was appointed to command and organize the 12th Canadian Infantry Brigade in July, 1944. A month later he was flown to France to be General Officer Commanding the 3rd Canadian Infantry Division (the "Water Rats") in succession to Major-General R. F. L. Kellar, C.B.E., who had been wounded. He thus became a Major-General at the age of 31. From Falaise, General Spry led the 3rd Canadian Division in a series of highly successful engagements up the French coast, the Scheldt Estuary, the Nijmegen Salient, and the clearance of the Richwald and Hockwald forests. At the end of March, 1945, he was appointed to command the Canadian Reinforcement Units and charged with the task of re-organizing this formation to handle the repatriation of the Canadian Army Overseas. With the major portion of this task completed, General Spry was returned to Canada and appointed Vice Chief of the General Staff in January 1946.

COMBINED SERVICES

We regard the Jarvis Ministerial Association's decision to hold combined services on Sunday evenings a particularly happy one. Attendance at Sunday evening church services here has not been encouraging to the ministers nor, for that matter, to any thoughtful layman. — Jarvis (Ont.) Record

World's First Gas Turbine Engine

At the British Industries Fair in London and Birmingham interest has centred around the world's first gas turbine car engine — a new British invention which may revolutionize the world's car industry. The engine is the invention of Richard Barr and Geoffrey White, engineers, and Harry Leach, draughtsman, all former members of the Government-owned Power Jets organization, and now in business on their own account. The engine is the smallest gas turbine ever made and can be installed in a standard car frame. Unlike the gasoline engine, it has no pistons, no cylinders, no spark plugs, no radiator and no clutch. It runs on diesel oil and uses a negligible quantity of lubricant — it will run on anything producing a continuous flame — gasoline, coal oil, or other fuel.

Many others from the district, including some exhibiting at the show, are also attending.

TOO MANY HOLIDAYS

There is a growing feeling that there are too many holidays. Retailers are always faced with the possibility of rising taxes and increased rentals. Members of town council should not be so careless in disposing of other people's time, nor so generous in proclaiming holidays for mercantile establishments. — Lindsay (Ont.) Watchman-Warder

DISINTERESTED TAXPAYERS

Why is it always left until the last hour or minute before interest is shown by the majority of taxpayers? In the case of the school board, an organization which is responsible for nearly half of the total expenditures of the ratepayer's money, little interest is taken. There still is time for action. Let's see what can be done. — Killarney (Man.) Guide

NEW RELIEF! WHEN COLDS CAUSE Croupy Coughs

Mother, you know what comforting relief you get when you rub on Vicks VapoRub! Now... when your child wakes up in the night tormented with a croupy cough of a cold, here's a special way to use Vicks VapoRub. It's VapoRub Steam —and it brings relief almost instantly! Put a good spoonful of Vicks VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water or vaporizer. Then . . . let your child breathe in the soothing VapoRub Steam. Medicated vapors penetrate deep into cold-congested upper bronchial tubes and bring relief with every breath!

Where to Where?

(Windsor Star)

Pity that enterprising newspaper, The Sydney Post-Record. For years it has been complaining about the press of "Upper Canada" using the phrase "from Halifax to Vancouver" to describe the width of this country. Which phrase ignores the existence of Cape Breton and its busy metropolis of Sydney.

So, The Post-Record gives editorial blessing to one newspaper usage of the term "from Prince Rupert to Cape Breton." The irony is that when Newfoundland becomes a tenth province the most accurate phrase will be "from the Queen Charlotte Islands (on the west) to Cape Race (on the east)".

Sydney, alas, was too far east to get into the old terminology, and not far enough to get into the new one which will soon be necessary.

Worm Turns

While on a train bound for New York, Henry was talking to a friend when he was brusquely interrupted by an inspector of the Foreign Exchange Control Board, who demanded how much money Henry was carrying. Henry told him the modest amount.

"Have you your Form H?" asked the snooper.

Henry produced it.

"Is this all the money you have?"

"Yes".

"Let me see your wallet", the functionary ordered.

Henry complied, still keeping his temper under control, with some difficulty. The inspector counted the money, found nothing wrong, and apparently disappointed, handed the wallet back.

He was about to pass on to his next victim when Henry spoke in a voice loud enough to be heard by everyone in the car.

"Hold on", he said." You've had that wallet in your hands for quite awhile. Now you just wait until I count the money in it".

Henry counted it with care and deliberation while the other passengers grinned. Then he said. "It's all right. You may go".

The inspector spent very little time in questioning the remaining passengers.

62 YEAR-OLD GRANDMOTHER AS BRICKLAYER

Sixty-two-year-old Mrs. Ellen Coleman, of Brierley Hill, Staffordshire, England, who has worked as a bricklayer at the Stourbridge works of Harris and Pearson for 46 years, makes 400 firebricks for high temperature furnaces a day. She has eight children and ten grandchildren.

Last year more than 23,000,000 persons crossed the border into Canada from the U.S., but over three-quarters of them stayed here for only a day or so.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Apples, the Finest Fruit

Apples are in season all year round, but from November to April they are the standby of the homemaker.

There are varieties to suit every need. Some are best when eaten raw, others bake well; while there are many varieties that are soft and very tender but keep their shape when cooked and therefore are best for puddings and pie. A few varieties break up and become light and fluffy and make excellent apple sauce.

The home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have some hints for using apples.

Cook apples for sauce in a saucepan with tightly fitting cover and cook quickly to avoid loss of color and flavor.

A little salt often improves the flavor and sweetness of cooked apples.

Apple sauce icing is delicious and easily made: — ½ cup applesauce and 1½ cups icing sugar will make enough icing for an 8" x 8" cake. This is specially good on spice cake.

Cream cheese and grated raw apples in equal quantities make a delicious sandwich spread. Equal quantities of applesauce and peanut butter also make a good spread.

½ Cup of grated raw apple added to 1 cup mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing makes a new type of dressing for vegetable or fruit salads.

An apple in the bread box helps to keep the bread fresh.

Then there are hundreds of good recipes using apples.

Hungarian Apple Pudding

4 Large sour apples, 3 tablespoons fruit juice, 1 cup fine soft bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 egg yolks, ⅓ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 egg whites, 3 tablespoons sugar.

Pare and grate apples. Add fruit juice and blend. Add bread crumbs. Cream butter, add egg yolks, sugar and salt and beat thoroughly. Add to first mixture and combine well. Beat egg whites until light, add remaining sugar gradually, beating until mixture will hold in peaks. Fold into first mixture and turn into lightly-greased baking dish. Oven-poach in a moderate oven, 350°F., for one hour. Serve with Hard Sauce. Yield: six servings.

Apple Meringue Sauce

2 Egg whites, ½ cup sugar, 1½ grated raw apples (unpeeled), 2 teaspoons lemon juice.

Beat egg whites stiffly. Add sugar and continue beating until mixture stands in peaks. Fold in grated apple and lemon juice. Yield: six servings. Use on pumpkin pie, gingerbread or chocolate cake.

Applesauce Pudding

3 Cups sweetened applesauce, 2 egg yolks, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, ¾ teaspoon vanilla, 4 egg whites, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Place applesauce in a bowl. Beat egg yolks, add lemon rind and the ¾ teaspoon vanilla. Add to applesauce. Place mixture in a baking dish. Set dish in a pan of hot water and oven-poach in a very slow oven 300°F., for 15 minutes. Make a meringue of the egg white, salt, sugar and the half teaspoon of vanilla. Heap on the apple mixture, return to oven and bake ten minutes longer. Serve hot or very cold with cream. Yield: six servings.

U.S.A. May Bar Canadian Film

The United States Treasury, of which the F.B.I. is a wing, has requested that the three-reel film on narcotics, "Drug Addict", be not distributed in the USA. The film, made by the National Film Board in recognition of the work of the Department of National Health and Welfare in combatting the drug evil, is being trimmed to one reel for inclusion in the Canada Carries On series. These are distributed in this country by Columbia.

Reason for the U.S.A. request, made through the Canadian ambassador in Washington, is that the attitude of both countries differ on the drug addict. The Americans consider him a criminal, while Canadians regard him first as a sick person.

Although the Johnston Office production code bans drug addiction as a subject, there are several films based on it in distribution throughout Canada and the U.S.A.

A Calgary resident for forty years, Mrs. Charlotte Mitchell, aged 75, arrived at London airport recently aboard a Trans-Canada Air Lines "North Star" after deciding that her birthplace, Newton Abbott in Devonshire, "was best after all".

Buyer Resistance Restores Quality

Apparel Makers Forced to Seek Better Value from Fabric Mills

New York (AP)—United States consumers, who boosted clothing sales to the highest levels in history during the last few years, are playing "hard to get".

And it's paying off. This fall they have been offered the best clothing values they've seen since the war, apparel spokesmen say.

That doesn't mean lower prices — except on certain items — but it does mean that the consumer isn't the only one who has been shopping around.

Some time ago the consumer learned again to say "no", and mean it. That's one thing that brought back clearance sales and what retailers call "a return to normal merchandizing methods".

It brought back something else, too. Store buyers who had taken whatever merchandise they could get during and right after the war, learned again how to say "no" to manufacturers. While the customers have been shopping around retail stores, buyers have been shopping manufacturers for value.

So finally apparel makers have begun to carry the customer's "no" all the way back to the fabric mills.

At this point pre-war clothing prices seem to have been forgotten all along the line. The problem now is a matter of giving value at today's prices and with today's costs.

Keep Prices Down

Some prices are higher and some are unchanged. By and large manufacturers have made an effort to hold prices down, and competition among them has made for good value.

There is a broader selection of moderate-priced merchandise available than a year ago, and values in that price range are better.

"When women first began to say 'it costs too much', some buyers made the mistake of buying only on a price basis", one industry spokesman said. "Then they found that women meant 'it costs too much for what it is.' As a result, buyers have looked to value this season rather than to price alone."

As to how much clothing prices are up from a year ago, opinions vary. Some say about 10 per cent on an over-all basis. Others say merely "a bit". And there are those who state that "by and large prices are about the same as last year".

Wife Preservers

It pays to frost very special cakes first with a thin layer of frosting to hold down any crumbs and give an even base coat. When set or firm, the thicker coat may be applied.

WOMEN'S STATUS IN BRITISH UNIVERSITIES

London — History was made at Cambridge University on October 21st with conferment of an honorary degree on the Queen. Her Majesty was made Doctor of Law and became the first woman to be admitted to full membership. The ceremony symbolized and inaugurated the new status of women at the University. Hitherto, although taking degrees, they have not been admitted to membership. Women will now be on exactly the same terms as men. They will be given a full share in University government.

Women's Institute and Community Centres

One aspect of the community work of the Quebec Women's Institutes is the project of many branches in establishing halls or community centres, that are used not only for activities connected with the Institute but for the benefit of the district in which they are located. One of the newer of these is owned by the Austin branch in Brome County. A school house, left unused by the coming of the Central School Board, was purchased and the necessary alterations made, which included adding a small kitchen. A grand opening was held recently, with a banquet and suitable program, which was attended by a large number of peopl.e

Milby Women's Institute, in Sherbrooke County, is undertaking a similar project, also purchasing a school for the purpose. The branch hopes to have it ready shortly for its function as a club room and community centre.

From Berlin Opera To Domestic Help

Vancouver (CP) — A pretty Polish girl who once pirouetted on the stage of the Berlin Opera House is now a domestic helper here.

With 70 other displaced persons from Poland, Cornelia Allgart washes dishes, cooks and looks after children.

The DP's arrived here from Germany and Poland after signing contracts that tied them to domestic service for a year. They are taking instruction in Canadian culinary habits and the use of household equipment to which they are not accustomed.

Cornelia doesn't care much for cooking. Since the age of four she has danced.

"I'll be glad when the contract is up", she said, "I want to dance again".

Building contractors have their troubles nowadays, not the least of which is the poor quality of lumber still being offered them. A resentful contractor recently dispatched this telegram to the mill that had just sent him a carload of lumber.

"Knot holes received, please send the knots."

Lachute Boy Scouts

Wednesday evening's Scout meeting was held in the Auditorium with the new Assistant Scoutmaster, Maurice Foucault, on deck for the first time. Mr. Foucault gained his Scouting experience in Montreal and the Sherbrooke area, and is a real acquisition to the Lachute troop.

Six former Cubs who "came up" to the troop recently have now passed their Tenderfoot tests and will soon be invested as Scouts. These are Wayne Riddell, Clifton Scott, Duncan MacGibbon, Ronald Armstrong, Jimmy Underhill and Garry Beaven.

The troop now has 36 Scouts, with Grant Riddell as Troop Leader, Tommy Jamison as Quartermaster, and four patrols as follows: Wolves, Donald Barbour, patrol leader and Kenny Wilson second; Bulldogs, George Barker, patrol leader and Don MacRae second; Foxes, Bob McMahon, patrol leader and George Young second; Lions, Bobby Giles, patrol leader and Gregor Albright second. The Scouters are J. N. Robinson, Scoutmaster; Frank Bedard (on leave until January), and Maurice Foucault, Assistant Scoutmasters.

On Friday evening when Maj.-Gen. Spry, Chief Executive Commissioner for the Boy Scouts, speaks in the Auditorium, senior Scouts from both Lachute and Brownsburg, under the leadership of Patrol Leader George Barker, will act as ushers and escort.

Halifax (CP) — More than 800 salmon have been tagged this year in the Margaree River, Inverness County, as part of the Nova Scotia fisheries department survey of inland waters.

Hockey Contracts Under Scrutiny

The hue and cry over the "C" form in hockey is far from over and many explosive outbursts from the press, coaches and hockey men can be expected in the future. But one thing is certain, professional and amateur hockey interests and their battle over the form has aroused the public interest.

The pros have taken a verbal beating from sports writers and coaches in smaller centres and can be expected to suffer a further berating.

Form C has been branded as a type of player slavery. Others claim there's nothing indefinite about the C form — a player signs it with full knowledge of its contents. He gets a certain amount of money for signing the contract, renewable each season by the club on payment of some money. If the club doesn't renew the form, the player is a free agent. The form also says the player must turn pro when the club wants him to.

These fans who say C form isn't as bad as it's made out, say the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association form is just as bad if not worse. The player doesn't necessarily get money for signing, but when he signs he is just as much the club's property as one who signs the C form. If the C.A.H.A. player wants to move to another team, his club can hold him until he graduates from junior ranks.

Armstrong signed the form for Toronto Maple Leafs and when Stratford Kroehlers of the Ontario Hockey Association junior series were seeking players last year, they asked Leafs for help. The pro club said Armstrong was a Toronto prospect, but they could go ahead and use him if they wanted to.

Armstrong was a sensation with the junior club and Kroehlers refused to let him go to a Toronto-owned amateur club this season, saying they wanted Armstrong to stay in Stratford until he was past junior age.

The fight lasted for about a month and finally Leafs obtained Armstrong for their amateur team, junior Marlboroughs, by paying Stratford $2,000 and two other players.

Still on hockey: Did you know the average age of N.H.L. players this year is 25.4 years and only 19 of the 101 players in the League have reached the 30-year mark?

Toronto Maple Leafs have the youngest team but also the oldest player in 34-year-old goalie Turk Broda. Neil Colville of New York is three months younger than the Turk.

Detroit ices the second youngest club with Montreal next. Boston Bruins are in fourth place while Chicago and New York are one percentage point apart for the oldest club honors.

Redevelopment in Industrial Britain

A report outlining a plan for the development of one of Britain's most important industrial areas has just been issued by the Ministry of Town and Country Planning. The plan covers the whole of the West Midlands, including the great industrial city of Birmingham and the surrounding areas known as the Black Country. The report is the work of Sir Patrick Abercrombie and Mr. Herbert Jackson, joint planning consultants to the Ministry of Town and Country Planning. One important conclusion reached in the report is that the economic and natural advantages of the West Midlands are so great that its population cannot and should not be restricted to its present size. On the contrary, it is expected to increase by several hundred thousands during the next 15 years. The Development Plan takes this population trend into account and suggests this increase in population should be settled in industrial and country towns well away from the over-congested centre in and around Birmingham. The dispersal of population, decentralization and reintegration of existing communities are considered indispensable for the proper redevelopment of these congested areas.

Communist Menace in China Seen As Problem of World-wide Concern

Club Speaker Reveals Intimate Knowledge Of Conditions; Pleads for Understanding

Brownsburg — Mr. C. H. Lowe (Lowe Chuan-hua), representative of the Chinese Government Information Office in Canada, was guest speaker at the Rotary Club at last Thursday's regular meeting. Mr. Lowe, introduced by Rotarian Herbie Graves, spoke on "China Today".

After completing his education in China, Mr. Lowe went to the United States and attended the University of Chicago, where he received the degree of Ph.B in 1923. Following his graduation, and before he went back to China in 1924, Mr. Lowe travelled extensively in the United States and lectured in several universities. From 1924 to 1937, he was engaged in educational and journalistic work in Hankow and Shanghai. He became interested in China's new labor problems. Mr. Lowe has written articles for many magazines and papers in China and America. Among his published works are "Facing Labor Issues in China" and "Japan's Economic Offensive in China" and a number of pamphlets.

People living in the Western World prefer to think of China and her people as "very foreign and very different", living a totally different existence from what we are accustomed to, therefore making China a greatly misunderstood and misinterpreted country, said the speaker. Orientals are human, living a life suitable to conditions of their climate and state. China has her problems as we have ours. It is a large country, having known 4,000 years of civilization, with an immence of civilization, with an immense

Until 1911, China was ruled in a loose way; democracy was unknown until the revolution, when a form of democratic government was organized. Because of the vastness of the country, the difference of dialects and primitive living, to really establish and settle a truly democratic government might take 100 years — which isn't much in China's great history. Thus the oldest country is the youngest in democracy. Progress is slowly and painfully being made, although sensational newspaper headlines do not portray the work being done. China has always been warring with Japan, which is concerned lest China may become too unified and unattainable. The Japs realize the Chinese are industrious frugal people, able to recover very quickly, and to absorb dangerous heresies.

The Communists were organized in China in 1925, but aroused little attention as a menace, since China was at war with Japan. The Communists, uninterrupted, made good use of their time, by spreading their propaganda to a war-wearied, almost discouraged people. Russia has been constantly at work in China, supplying arms to her party, while the Chinese Nationalists, weakened in their fight with Japan, did not try to stamp out this Communistic movement that has now become such a menace in the country. Today they have expanded and strengthened, and is will take time before they can be absorbed and stamped out.

China really needs help from her Western friends, as her people are not organized. They are people belonging to an agricultural country, and do not realize the great danger confronting them. As China is the heart of Asia, and can as such be a great friend to the Western world, it is not only her problem today to rid herself of this Communistic disease spreading so rapidly — but it is the world's problem too. The task of defeating Communism is not hopeless yet, but the movement should not be allowed to gain more ground. And so China makes a plea to the world.

Mr. Lowe was thanked for his earnest and constructive address by Rotarian Frank Burnett.

THIS DISTRICT 'BY FAR GREATEST IN WINNERS', SAYS CORRESPONDENT

(Special to The Watchman by W. S. Andrews)

J. H. Black won the Senior and Grand Championship with his imported bull, Smithson Ivanhoe, also 22 ribbons with his Ayrshire cattle exhibits.

This is the fifth time that Mr. Black has won the Senior and Grand Championship—and according to fair officials, this is a world record.

Morrin & Bradley won the Junior Champion bull in the same breed, while J. P. Bradley & Son took the Reserve Junior Champion female and 16 other ribbons.

Erskin Rodger exhibited three animals and won three ribbons, also in the Ayrshire breed.

A. D. McGibbon & Sons won Reserve Junior Champion Dual-Purpose Shorthorn.

E. K. Wilson has won three ribbons to date, but most of his cattle are in classes to be judged Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George McGibbon are to be congratulated on having placed among the best horses on the continent in the Mayfair Roadster Stakes.

Gilbert E. Arnold has won two Grand Championships for French Canadian horses, one Grand Championship for Belgians, one Grand Championship for Percherons, and 65 other ribbons.

Three Sentenced for Illegal Fishing

L'Orignal — Three Quebec residents, found guilty of netting sturgeon in the Ottawa River, were each fined $500 and costs with the option of six months in jail when they appeared before Magistrate Raoul Labrosse in L'Orignal magistrate's court.

The men were Roger Seguin, of Papineauville; Florent Pominville, and Hubert Laberge, both of Oka.

Conviction of the men followed investigation carried out in October and November by Inspector Royal Baker, Fish and Wildlife Division, Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

Youngsters Enjoy Recreation Feature At Parish Church

Early these Sunday afternoons, hundreds of happy children may be seen entering the basement of Ste. Anastasie Parish Church to attend a program known as "Les Loisirs". The children are from both the local parishes, and among them also are boys and girls from Brownsburg, St. Philippe and the surrounding district.

Films are shown, specially selected for the boys and girls, some educational, others humorous. Questionnaire periods, singsongs, games and concerts form part of the entertainment. Last season the children also enjoyed a sleigh ride, a festival at Lachute Arena and other forms of outdoor entertainment.

This gala occasion for the youngsters is held weekly on 23 consecutive Sundays through the season, and an average of 500 children attend each Sunday.

The Rev. Wm. Lacourse, curé of the parish, is chaplain, Gaetan Cousineau president, and Mrs. Cousineau the lady president; Robert Marcil serves as secretary-treasurer, and the Misses Anita Cousineau and Michelle Pichette as secretaries. The directors are — Gustave Joannette, Romeo Legault, Horace Lamarche, Henri Lefebvre and Lucien Savard, while E. Courtois fills the role of pianist.

The Sisters of the convent and the Clercs St. Viateur of the boys' college are giving their time and support — maintaining good order in this merry gathering of children.

Altogether, the active interest and financial help of many good parishioners is contributing to this worth-while enterprise, and making it a notable success.

To Stand Trial For Manslaughter

Before Magistrate H. Barrette at St. Jerome, preliminary hearing was held in the case of Jack Brabant, of L'Orignal, Ont., held in the death of Ernest Lanthier, 62-year-old Grenville hotel-keeper, from injuries inflicted in an assault outside his hotel last August. After hearing three witnesses, the judge ordered the accused to stand trial at next criminal assizes on a charge of manslaughter.

Bail was set at $1,000 cash or $2,500 immoveable value.

SHOULD THE LABOR UNION STAY OUT OF POLITICS ?

— By M. V. Trayers —

Assume that you are a union member. Would you regard the affiliation of your union with a political party as an interference with your freedom of individual action? Do you believe that it is in the best interests of the union to affiliate with a political party?

I put those queries to some of my union friends, and found that there is a sharp conflict of opinion on this important question, which is the subject of discussion by Citizens' Forum over the air next Friday evening (at 8 o'clock). The question is important because of the growing numerical strength of unionized labor in Canada. In 1939 the combined registration of union members in this country was about 300,000; at the present time the figure is rapidly approaching a million. Almost every union member has at least four or five other people who are almost certain to view community and national problems through his eyes. His parents, his wife, his children are influenced by his attitude. If labor would combine and form a united party program when the next election rolls around, the weight of such support would possibly equal a third of the total vote.

The divergence of opinion noted above is confirmed by the attitude of the two main labor union bodies in Canada. The older Trades and Labor Congress (A.F.L.) refuses to support officially any political party. It requests its membership to support any of the candidates of whatever party who will advance the program of labor legislation desired by the union. The Canadian Congress of Labor (C.I.O.) on the other hand believes in direct political action and endorses the C.C.F. as the political arm of labor. Quite contrary to this stand is the Confederation of Catholic Workers, which is avowedly non-political. The C.C.W. forbids its congress to support any political party, or even candidate, though he be one of its own members. The four great railway unions are not affiliated with either of the labor congresses, neither do they engage in any political action.

Before discussing the pros and cons of "to be or not to be" affiliated with a political party, we should note the trends which influence our decision. In the United Kingdom the trade unions have long since united for action. In the early part of the century they got behind the Labor Party. Twice Labor succeeded in forming a government, but in 1945 it won its first clear-cut majority and continues in office today. The British trade union is thus definitely and openly in politics. It supplies party funds to election campaigns and has the largest war chest of any of the political parties. The Trade Union Congress represents about eight million workers and exercises a powerful voice in the shaping of government policies.

Month's Activities In W.I. Branches

Brownsburg W.I. branch had Education as the topic of their November meeting, under the convenership of Mrs. G. Todd. Mr. Denis Staniforth, principal of the school, gave an interesting talk on his recent trip to Western Canada and the U.S.A. A personal parcel was sent to Great Britain. Conveners turned in money raised by groups to augment the funds. Plans were made to hold a concert in February. Two new members were welcomed to the branch.

Members of Arundel W.I. had a demonstration on "Home Grooming" by Miss Joy Guild of Macdonald College, Q.W.I. demonstrator. At the regular business meeting, $15 was voted towards the Arundel village skating-rink fund. Several members offered to donate a pot of home-made soup each day to pupils of Grade I in the church hall. Hot cocoa is already being served at the lunch period, any needed extras being paid for by the W.I.

Frontier branch members served lunches at the county plowing match. A Hallowe'en party was held for children and adults. At the regular meeting a dialogue was enjoyed, and a paper on Publicity by the convener. The roll-call, "What's new in jokes", proved very humorous. The sum of $10 was donated to the Lachute High School soup fund, and $15 to the Q.W.I. Service Fund. A small gift was presented to a member going to California for the winter, and a donation was given towards a wedding gift to the former Miss Walker. This branch also reports a fund for sick members.

Home Economics was the theme at the meeting of Jerusalem-Bethany branch. Two papers, "Sandwich Making" and "The History of Quilt Making", were read by the convener, and members answered the roll-call by naming a material and giving its origin. $5 was voted towards the Salvation Army appeal, $10 to the Q.W.I. Service Fund, $10 to the Lachute High School soup fund, and $1 towards a gift for Miss Walker. A Christmas parcel is to be sent overseas and plans were made to hold a Christmas party for the members' young children. Wool to help make an afghan was sent to a sick lady at Ste. Agathe.

W.I. Members Complete Course In First Aid

Twenty-eight members of the Jerusalem-Bethany and Pioneer Women's Institutes took advantage of the St. John Ambulance free First Aid course. The lectures, given by Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, were held weekly at the Lachute High School.

At the completion of this course Dr. FitzGerald was presented with a gift as a mark of appreciation, also Miss Hilda Hume received a token of recognition for her work as acting secretary. Nineteen members took the examinations, Dr. Jules Lafleur being the medical examiner. There were only two who did not pass successfully. The certificates to successful candidates will be presented shortly.

Lachute District Poppy Receipts Exceed All Records

GRATIFYING TOTAL, $481; LEGION APPRECIATION TO DISTRICT COLLECTORS

It is pleasing to report that poppy receipts for this district have surpassed all previous sales, despite the fact that the weather was cold and wet during the campaign.

Sincere appreciation is extended by Branch No. 70 (Lachute) of the Canadian Legion to the young ladies and others from this town and neighborhood, who so willingly gave of their time and effort in making this "the best yet". These comprised collectors in Lachute, Kilmar, Mille Isles, Calumet, Grenville, Lakefield, River Rouge, Beech Ridge, Lachute Road, Isle-aux-Chats, Carillon and St. Andrews East. Thanks are also expressed to the following, who helped make the Remembrance Day service more as it should be, by the purchase of wreaths which were reverently laid at the foot of both cenotaphs: the Baptist and United Churches, St. Simeon's Anglican Church, the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, the County Women's Institute, Masonic Lodge, Lions Club, Knights of Columbus, Orange Lodge, Rotary Club, Orange County Lodge, Ayers Limited and Lachute Town Corporation.

Mille Isles	13.80
Calumet and Grenville	29.50
Lakefield	6.15
St. Andrews and District	42.25
Lachute	351.00
Kilmar	38.76
Total	$481.46

In all districts collections were made by pupils of the various schools, to whom thanks are specially extended.

From this total, of course, must be deducted the cost of the poppies, but the proceeds will still leave a substantial sum to be added to the fund for disabled veterans and their families — a fund which can be used for no other purpose. Also to the public who so readly purchased the red emblem of remembrance, the Legion extends its hearty thanks.

London, Ont., began putting its overhead street wires underground 26 years ago, and in that time has spent $850,000 in carrying out this work.

Chief Scout Commissioner Versed in Boyhood Psychology and Viewpoint

Major-General D. C. Spry, C.B.E., D.S.O., Meets Leaders and Parents of Laurentian District

Seldom if ever has the Town of Lachute been honored by having, to address its citizens, a man with such a combined military and Scouting record as Major-General D. C. Spry, who on Friday evening last spoke to parents and leaders of the Scout organization representing the Laurentian District.

It is regrettable that so few were present, particularly the parents, whose support of this project in youth training should be much more pronounced than it is. While the weather may have kept a few away there was a definite lack of enthusiasm which should have been manifest by a large attendance, even if only to meet and honor the Chief Commissioner of Scouts.

District Commissioner Chas. L. Duncan, acting as chairman, introduced the speaker, referring particularly to his colorful military career and to the fact that during the recent war he had the distinction of being, at the age of 31, the youngest Major-General in the British Commonwealth.

Major-General Spry started his address by saying that the main idea of Scouting was to try to help produce the kind of citizen you would wish to have in your community. There are so many subversive activities working against us that it takes many more hours of counteraction. Young people today are growing up in an age of absolute precision, everything is mechanical, motor cars, refrigerators, radios, etc. — they are used to having things go "click, click, click". They get confused, and little wonder. They adopt the "You got to show me" attitude; and the speaker stressed that our young people should be capable of living sanely in what may be an insane world.

"Concentric loyalties" formed from a boy taking the Scout Law, was offered as a solution, just so long as the lines do not cross. For example, a boy's loyalty to family should not conflict with his loyalty to church.

It has taken several years for men of the recent war to become stabilized again, and it is only now that former leaders in Scouting are coming back again.

Future success of Scouting, he said, could be summed up under three headings, Organization, Information and Leadership.

Like Topsy the Scout movement has "just growed". Starting with a small group here and there, they were incorporated and now cover the whole of Canada, with district organizations. Where no districts existed previously, in British Columbia there are now 21, showing an increase of 25% in members as a result.

There is need for information about Scouting, both internally and externally. Scouts must be taught in the language of their own country so as to be "pulling on the same rope". Great improvements have been made in both the Scouting magazine and pamphlets.

Externally, public relations across Canada are necessary, telling the Boy Scout story through press, radio and all other media. With 10,000 leaders already on the job, still more are needed.

Greater effort is being put forth in the initial selection of leaders, and it is proposed to make it a little harder to occupy this important position. His standard must be high, and he must be trained. In this regard Maj.-Gen. Spry appealed to the parents to look round and help find suitable assistants to give these leaders help.

There is now a membership of 195,000, and if Scouting is good for one boy, it should be good for two. Four out of seven of Canada's Rhodes Scholars were former Scouts, and it has been evidenced many men now occupying positions of prominence were members of this youth organization.

In closing, Maj.-Gen. Spry said, "Scouting helps to develop leadership, and if Canada is to carry on to the destiny we hope for, we must have leaders to that goal."

Maj.-Gen. Spry was thanked on behalf of the District Council, Scout and Cub leaders, and group committees from Brownsburg, Lachute, St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, Rosemere, Ste. Rose and Morin Heights.

Mr. C. J. Dendy, Provincial Executive Commissioner who accompanied the speaker, also spoke briefly.

"Though I am beaten nobody shall guess, for I'll walk as though I knew success."

686 Enrol During Blue Cross Week

COMPREHENSIVE HEALTH PLAN IN CONSIDERABLE DEMAND, FIGURES SHOW

Availing themselves of the opportunity to acquire comprehensive protection against sickness costs, it is reported that 686 residents of Lachute and Brownsburg enrolled in Blue Cross during the November 15-20 campaign. The offering of Blue Cross services to a whole community as a group had been a new departure, since Blue Cross enrolment is usually only through employed groups of five or more.

Organized through co-operation of the Rotary Club, this successful Blue Cross Week has shown there is a great demand for a good health service. Since Blue Cross has received public approval everywhere, the present encouraging results were not unexpected, and furthermore, might well inaugurate similar campaigns in other Quebec communities where residents are desirous of acquiring Blue Cross but are unable to do so due to their inability to form an approved group.

Acknowledging the help received from the Rotary during this campaign, E. D. Millican, executive director of the Quebec Hospital Service Association and Blue Cross Commissioner for Canada, said, "The contribution towards improving the population's well-being made by the Rotary Clubs of this province in helping to make Blue Cross available to everyone, cannot be valued too highly".

Post-Office Asks Co-operation in Christmas Mailing

Emphasizing a message from the Postal Department, Postmaster H. M. Gall asks the co-operation of Lachute residents to facilitate the work of his office during the Christmas rush. Following are a few timely hints for the benefit of the public, and also for the benefit of the postal employees who handle the Christmas mails:

Mail parcels for the U.S.A. before December 9; for British Columbia, before December 14; for the prairie provinces, before December 15; for the East and Maritimes, before December 17; and for local delivery, before December 18.

Your parcel is but one of the hundreds of thousands of parcels handled in the mails during the busy Christmas season—therefore make sure it is securely packed and fully addressed. Write your return address on every letter or parcel posted.

Organize for Christmas Seals Campaign; Objective $4,000 to Combat Tuberculosis

REVIEW OF EFFORTS HERE IN ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS DURING PAST YEAR

Organization for the 1948 annual sale of Christmas Seals by the Laurentide Anti-tuberculosis League is now almost completed. The local officials are — Horace Lamarche, president; Dr. L. Turcotte, secretary; Roger Lagarde, campaign manager; Linton W. Armstrong, publicity.

Dr. Turcotte reports that Argenteuil branch of the League has made tremendous strides during the year. Over 4,500 people have been X-rayed — more than twice as many as during 1947. These were mostly from the western section of the county, Lachute, Brownsburg, St. Andrews East, Carillon, Grenville, Calumet, Kilmar and Harrington. The employees of all industries throughout these sections have been examined. This means that approximately one-half the total adult population of the county has benefitted from this work. At the some time, at least 25 persons have been provided with streptomycin for special treatments.

It has been found that the incidence of tuberculosis varies somewhat from one locality to another. When the entire county has been covered, it will then be possible to determine which sections need the most attention.

The local organization received considerable co-operation from Montreal branch during the year. When large numbers were to be examined, one of the new type 70mm. X-ray machines was sent here together with the required personnel. This not only speeded up the work but made it much more convenient for the public.

Campaign Manager R. Lagarde states that the objective for this year's sale of Christmas Seals has been set at $4,000, as it will require at least this amount to continue the work during 1949 throughout the remainder of the county. The organizers feel confident that, as the work being done by the League becomes better known, public response will be more generous.

Gatineau Power Company Doing Utmost To Meet Backlog and Improve Service

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE GETS REASSURING REPLY TO CRITICISMS

At an executive meeting of Lachute Chamber of Commerce last week, the secretary presented a letter from Gatineau Power Company, in reply to a communication forwarded by the Chamber some weeks ago voicing complaints on the local electricity service. Following is the text of the company's reply:

Mr. J. B. Ménard, President,
Chamber of Commerce,
Lachute, Que.

Dear Sir:

We appreciate the interest you are taking in regard to the supply of electricity to the Town of Lachute and the surrounding district and we can assure you that this is a matter to which we are giving the very closest attention.

We have recently reconstructed the substation and rearranged the circuits in Lachute to improve the service and minimize interruptions and we expect shortly to install a voltage regulator of large capacity which will be used to maintain a more uniform supply of electricity throughout this area. As an indication of the delays in securing electrical equipment, you will be interested to know that this regulator has been on order for two years and was promised, in the first instance, for delivery in December of last year.

Owing to the difficulties in obtaining both material and skilled labor for a number of years, we have been handicapped in providing the facilities which are required to meet the unprecedented demand for electric service in the towns, villages and rural communities.

Added to this, we are passing through a period of drought which not only decreases the power available from our own resources, but has also increased the demand for power by manufacturers who develop their own power and are also suffering from low water conditions.

You may rest assured that our future planning is taking into consideration the possible industrial growth of the Town of Lachute.

You will realize that it is impossible to notify all customers of interruptions which are necessary, while carrying out changes and improvements in our system. These interruptions are, however, arranged, as far as possible, at times which will cause the least inconvenience to the greatest number of our customers and we do endeavor to advise large industrial users well in advance of any such interruptions.

Again may we express our appreciation of the interest the Lachute Chamber of Commerce has taken in this matter.

Gatineau Power Company,
— Alan Brown,
General Manager of Distribution

Discussing further business, it was reported progress had been made on the ski-trail project, but much work remained to be done without undue delay, to be ready for the winter season. It was decided a call should be issued for voluntary help, and all interested in having a ski terrain in close proximity to Lachute Town are asked to contact the chairman of the sports committee, K. W. Clarke (phone 46-R, Lachute).

Gatineau LINES

No matter how important a thing is to us all, there comes a time when we want to forget it for a while and think of something less critical. Probably we all feel that way right now about the shortage of electric power throughout Ontario and Quebec. The shortage still exists, as serious as ever, but let's forget it for a moment and think of other things electrical.

Automatic Baby Sitter

It may be considered unfortunate, sometimes, that inventors don't always seem to consider the long-term effect of their brain-children. Take, for instance, the idea of the automatic baby-sitter.

The device consists of a small transmitter which, plugged in an electric outlet near the crib, will amplify baby's slightest whimper through any radio within 150 feet. As far as most of us are concerned, baby makes himself heard most effectively without any electrical help. We fear the new gadget will merely give him an enlarged idea of his own importance.

Blown Fuse Indicator

Far more useful around the house, we think, is the device for showing which fuse has blown when there is electrical trouble in the home. A tiny incandescent lamp is attached to each fuse, and when the fuse blows out, the lamp goes on. The saving in time and temper can be considerable.

Snow Snooper

In this part of the country, we are all inclined to feel that we know all there is to know about snowstorms, but apparently there is a lot to learn yet about snow and its habits. At least the weatherman thinks so.

The U.S. Army Signal Corps and the Office of Naval Research now employ a special electrically-operated snow crystal recorder which prints on paper the geometric shape, size and frequency of the falling white stuff. The information is of great assistance in forecasting the length and seriousness of subsequent storms.

Should the Labor Union Stay Out of Politics

In the United States labor unions have not combined to support any one party, or set up one of their own, but are keenly politically conscious where their interests lie. They swung large sections of organized labor behind the late President Roosevelt's New Deal, and in 1944 used everything, from ringing door bells to cash gifts, in their fight for a fourth term. They caused confusion among the pollsters in their support of President Truman's recent victory. Nevertheless their banner carries the slogan made famous by Samuel Gompers, "Reward your friends and punish your enemies". In other words, vote for the candidate regardless of his party, who is sympathetic to labor, and defeat wherever possible the one who is unfriendly.

Whither Canada?

For many years the attitude of trade unions to politics in Canada closely parallels that of the unions in the U.S. But this situation is changing today. The Canadian Congress of Labor is completely committed to policies of direct political action. It has rejected the older parties, both Liberal and Conservative, and stands ready to throw its weight behind the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. If unions are to be organized in this manner and become integral parts of a fighting political machine, several things may happen — and they may not be to labor's advantage. Membership would involve the support of a single political party. The democratic rights of an industrial worker who happens to be a Progressive Conservative or a Liberal or a Social Crediter, would be mortgaged. Part of his union dues would go to a party with which he might be totally unsympathetic. He could be prevented by union pressure from working for the candidate of his choice. It might become a choice between political freedom and union membership.

In Great Britain, unions are purely national in character. They are English unions with a wholly English membership, having an English patrimony at heart and no outside influence to color their vision. But Canadian unions have strong American affiliations. They have official as well as fraternal links across the border. If therefore a government, controlled or even strongly influenced by unions, got into office at Ottawa, international trade unions might be in a position to dictate Canadian policy.

In answer to that point, there are those who argue such fears are ridiculous. The union has as much right to support a political party as the great corporations, the cartels and business corporations. And even if it does, individuals are not coerced; it does so by the democratic decision of its membership. It is further argued that there is nothing that remotely compares with the interlocking directorates of the big companies with their great aggregations of capital. They have never hesitated to use political influence.

In one of the hottest fights on this subject, a delegate to an annual convention of the T.L.C., and himself a member of the C.C.F., voiced his opposition in these words: "As a labor organizer I do not want to have to offer as a condition of taking membership in my union that men have to subscribe to my political philosophy".

Both in France and Italy we can see how unions have been used for political ends. It is claimed that, in these countries, nation-crippling strikes have been led by political minorities. These exploit the legitimate grievances of the workers as a front to get labor support, to force through political objectives with which the workers have no sympathy.

The whole controversy as to whether the trade union should stay out of politics raises, for the ordinary citizen, a large over-all question mark. . . Think it over, and listen-in to the discussion Friday evening — or better still, join a discussion group and get the other fellow's opinion.

Orange Annual Meetings In Argenteuil County

Annual meetings of Argenteuil County Orange Lodge and Royal Scarlet Chapter were held on November 20.

At the County meeting Bro. L. Tomalty presided. Many matters of importance pertaining to the work of the Order were discussed.

The County Master thanked all the members throughout his jurisdiction for their co-operation during the year; he had visited all the primary lodges except Morin Heights, and had assisted in exemplifying all the degrees of the Orange Order. Most of the work was encouraging, though some members require to put more zeal into their work for the cause of Orangeism, he asserted

On behalf of the members of the County he expressed congratulations to H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on the recent birth of the new Prince; also steadfast loyalty to His Majesty the King.

The auditors reported the financial books kept in good order, all bills paid, with a satisfactory balance on hand.

A pleasing event was part of the session held in open lodge when the R.W. Grand Mistress, Mrs. Mabel Ball, and members of Laurentian L.O.B.A. were in attendance. The Deputy Grand Master of the Province of Quebec, Bro. N. Morrison, called R.W. Bro. A. S. Holt to the platform and after referring to his splendid and painstaking work done during three years in the Grand Master's office of the Province of Quebec, presented Bro. Holt with a suitably engraved Past Grand Master's jewel. Bro. Holt accepted the gift from the Provincial Grand Lodge, expressing his thanks for the honor conferred on him, and wishing success to the Order. Others present gave appropriate addresses.

R.W. Bro. N. Morrison conducted the election, and Bro. H. Morrison the installation of officers of the County for the ensuing year, as follows: C.W.M., Bro. L. Tomalty; C.D.M., Bro. A. Bissell; C. Chaplain, R.W. Bro. Rev. G. T. Spriggs; Rec. and Fin. Secretary, Bro. C. Demerse; Treasurer, R.W. Bro. N. Morrison; Marshal, Bro. L. Hodge; 1st Lecturer, Bro. G. Morrow; 2nd Lecturer, Bro. Ed. Morrison.

• • •

The Royal Scarlet Chapter was presided over by R.W. Bro. Rev. G. T. Spriggs. The various officers reported on their activities and the satisfactory condition of the Chapter; only three primary lodges had failed to measure up to the requirements of membership. It is again planned to visit the primary lodges that are in good standing during 1949.

R.W. Bro. A. S. Holt conducted the election and Bro. L. Tomalty the installation of the year's officers, as follows: W.C., R.W. Bro. Rev. G. T. Spriggs; D.C., Bro. L. Hodge; Chaplain, Bro. A. Bissell; Scribe, Bro. H. Morrison; Treasurer, R.W. A. S. Holt; Marshal, Bro. N. Brown; 1st Lecturer, Bro. L. Tomalty; 2nd Lecturer, Bro. V. Bennett; 1st C. Bro. James Brown; 2nd C., Bro. John Butters.

"Satisfactory Progress" In Newfoundland Talks

"The Week at Ottawa"

By HAROLD MORRISON

Ottawa, Nov. 22 — Canadian and Newfoundland representatives, working on the terms under which the island colony will become the 10th Canadian province, are making "satisfactory progress", said Defence Minister Claxton, acting chairman of the Canadian delegation. Another source said only "a few relatively minor points" remain to be settled.

The Newfoundland delegation will remain in Canada until the terms of union have been ratified by the Canadian Cabinet. Mr. Claxton said the terms "probably" will be released for publication within the next two weeks.

Main interest in the talks has concentrated around financial questions. The Newfoundland delegation presented a budget calling for provincial expenditures of $25,000,000 a year. Through negotiation, this sum was later reduced to $21,000,000.

Taxation agreements, special grants and transitional grants, it was learned, will give Newfoundland between $15,000,000 and $18,000,000 and gaps between federal grants and provincial needs will probably be filled by taxes on gasoline, liquor and retail sales.

Terms arrived at in these talks will have to be approved by parliament, but little or no opposition is expected on the part of either the government or the Newfoundland delegations.

Negotiations on Wheat

One international wheat agreement has flopped, but Canada is anxious to try again.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Canadian Press last week the country wants a new agreement and is ready to meet with other nations in the hope that such a new pact may be worked out.

In fact he was optimistic that within a matter of months a new international wheat agreement would become reality.

But the difficulty was, he added, that currently the United Kingdom and the United States are not in agreement that such a pact is needed.

If Canada can get them to agree — and Mr. Gardiner believes this is possible — then there is every possibility that a new pact may be signed early next year.

It is not known just how many attempts the Dominion has made to bring about a successful international wheat agreement. It has always been a case of try, try again, even in the face of failure.

Last March Canada was one of 36 nations which signed an agreement which at first appeared to be well launched.

It was acclaimed by the government as a move to stabilize the price of Canadian wheat at least for the duration of the five-year pact.

United States Disagreed

But although Canada had ratified the agreement and it appeared that all countries were ready to accept the terms of the bargain, the United States Congress at the last moment failed to ratify it before the congress closed down for the summer.

The United Kingdom immediately announced it would withdraw from the pact and since it was the major importer under the agreement, the pact was declared dead before it had a chance to function.

Should the Dominion be able to engineer a new agreement, she would still want the same terms, a government source disclosed.

Some of the terms of the previous pact were:

1. The agreement to run for five years.
2. Canada to supply about half the total export, with the United States and Australia supplying the other half between them.
3. A ceiling of $2 a bushel and a floor of $1.50; each year the floor price to go down 10 cents a bushel.

New English Automobile Models Due Here Soon

The new Morris Oxford, latest product of British auto magnate Lord Nuffield, will make its first appearance here shortly, it was stated yesterday by Marcel Lanctot of Northland Automotive Equipment Reg'd, local dealer. The Oxford is a complete departure from former Morris vehicle design, yet it maintains the customary British quality manufacturing ideals and the traditional operating economy in both gas and oil.

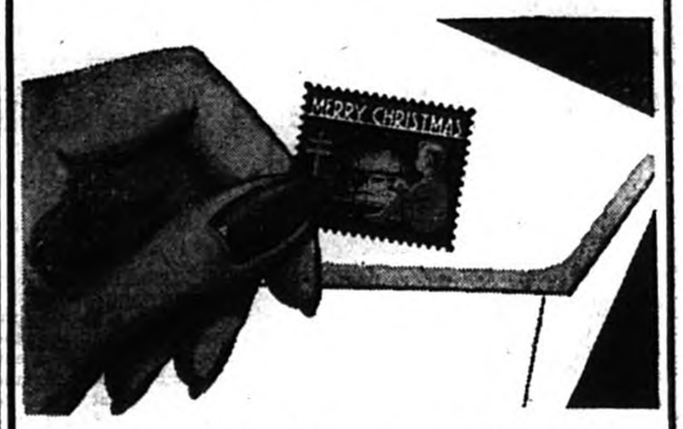

The new Morris Oxford has independent front wheel torsion bar suspension, inter-axle seating, wind-cheating flowing lines, a rust-proof and sound protected body, an exceptional wide angle of driving visibility, an improved system of safety braking employing the famed Lockheed hydraulic four-wheel action; extra length and width, and an extra large luggage compartment. These new cars have been designed for all-weather, all-road driving, and tests already made have shown the Oxford to give mileages up to 35-40 miles to the gallon at comfortable speeds up to 55 miles per hour.

In opening the Morris exhibition at Earls Courts, in England, Lord Nuffield said that the new cars had been built from specifications and suggestions submitted by distributors throughout the world. In some cases, he said, ideas from Buenos Aires had been incorporated with suggestions from Canada, to give a brand new car.

W. S. Kickley, president, Toledo Motors Limited, Montreal, has been in England the past four weeks negotiating additional orders on the Morris which are expected to bring thousands of these vehicles into Canada during the next few months. Spare parts and accessories have already been shipped in preparation for the heavy sales expected on the Oxford.

"These fine cars are just the thing for our Canadian motorists" Mr. Kickley told overseas pressmen, "and there is no doubt they will fill a big gap in the Canadian field".

Movie Camera Invention Credited to Briton, 1889

London (CP)—After 40 years the Encyclopedia Briticannica may acknowledge a forgotten Englishman as inventor of the movie-theatre — Bristol born William Friese-Greene, who patented the first moving-picture camera and projector in June 1889.

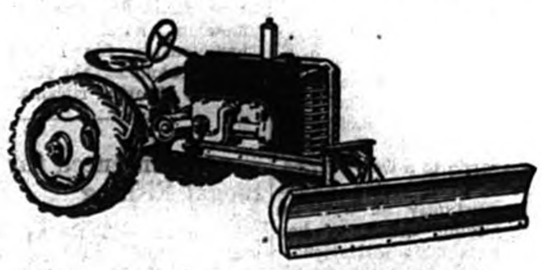

The Encyclopedia has always given the credit to Thomas Edison. The publishers now have asked Miss Ray Allister, London writer, to write a 150-word biography of Friese-Greene.

She is the author of a recently published book, "Friese-Greene — Close-up of an Inventor".

Echoes of Education Week

"EDUCATION is the knowledge of how to use the whole of oneself. Many men use but one or two faculties out of the score with which they are endowed. A man is educated who knows how to make a tool of every faculty — how to open it, how to keep it sharp, and how to apply it to all practical purposes".

"Education is a companion which no misfortune can depress, no crime destroy, no enemy alienate, no despotism enslave. At home a friend, abroad an introduction; in solitude, a solace, and in society an ornament. Without it, what is man? — a splendid slave, a reasoning savage".

"Education is a debt due from the present to future generations". . . The best school of discipline is home — family life is God's own method of training the young.

• • •

"DO WE, as a nation, place the true value on our greatest asset — Canadian youth? Here come some disturbing questions that haunt our annual stock-taking during Education Week. Are we ready to ask ourselves these awkward questions? Which do we spend more on as a nation — Education or Alcohol? Which is the greater national bill — the bill for cigarettes or for schooling? The unhappy answers to these two questions have been broadcast during this week. They should certainly give rise to some searching of heart and conscience."

Oleomargarine

NERO fiddled in a crucial hour . . and legal proceeding have a way of seeming interminable in a crisis. In fact, if the Supreme Court deliberations on oleomargarine continue awhile, the cows may be out on pasture again and the butter shortage may be a thing of the past.

A spokesman for the Supreme Court of Canada last week said a ruling has not yet been made on the constitutional legality of the ban on oleomargarine imposed 62 years ago. For weeks now Canada has been waiting anxiously, and it first appeared that the ruling would be handed down in mid-November. But now it is understood the ruling has been held up for at least another week.

Meanwhile the National Dairy Council met at Winnipeg and threshed out a policy in the event the Supreme Court should uphold the ban. It was known they still were apprehensive of a possible butter shortage, even with the importation of 15,000,000 pounds of foreign butter. Cities across the country were reporting lower butter stocks this year than a year ago, even including stocks of imported butter. There was every indication that, should the Supreme Court uphold the ban, the Dairy Council will launch a further appeal to the government to meet the butter shortage for once and for all.

Problem – Inform the Public, But Plug the "Leaks"

CONCEDING the need for planning in National Defence, and for appraising our industrial resources to this end, it might be well to look at some of our weaknesses, so that methods may be evolved to overcome them.

Democracy, as we understand this form of government and way of life, has a fundamental weakness in its relation with totalitarian nations. As the late President Roosevelt said, "We hate war", therefore we will not now, or ever, plan any attack on another nation or country. Thus we lose the tremendous advantage of initiative in any conflict. We cannot set a date on which we will commence operations, nor can be choose, with certainty, the locale of the initial onslaught.

The formulation of an authoritative opinion by a parliament committee or by a group, necessitates the dissemination of adequate information on which to base that opinion, since any view formed without full knowledge of the facts is worse than useless, and may even be dangerous. If, then, we are to keep our citizen advisors sufficiently abreast of events with relevant facts, we must take them into our confidence to a much greater extent than is done in any totalitarian state. In short, more people know more secrets in a democracy. That is also a danger to be faced, but a risk which we must accept since, as has been said, an uninformed approach to a problem involves a greater danger than the possible leakage of a few relatively unimportant facts.

It may be hoped the government of our country will realize the need for keeping industrialists informed on all relevant data. A solution must be found to the problem of secrecy for confidential information, and if industry's efforts to prepare for an emergency are to be fully effective.

Height of Hospitality

UNDER Britain's new National Health Service, all visitors from abroad are now entitled to free medical treatment. (For the fair name and reputation of Canada, we hope that none, anticipating seasonal ailments through our rigorous winter, will cross the Atlantic to seek escape from high hospital bills!)

Visitors staying for a month or longer—says the London news item—receive on arrival a leaflet giving full details of the scheme, and explaining the facilities at their disposal should they fall sick or meet with an accident. Visitors staying for more than three months can register with any doctor taking part in the National Health Scheme. Those staying for a shorter period can, in case of illness, apply for free medical treatment, and all visitors may avail themselves of free hospital treatment.

Tradition and the Future

A 26-WORD handwritten announcement posted outside Buckingham Palace on the evening of November 14, gave the people of London the news they were waiting to hear — a son was born to Princess Elizabeth and Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

Their jubilation was matched by the peoples of the Empire and Commonwealth as the news flashed round the world. Not only the British nations, but foreign countries joined in joyful celebration of the event — all signs pointing to the popularity of the Royal Family and the solidarity of the many independent nations which make up the Commonwealth.

The young prince's future is subject to the influences of a great tradition. He belongs to the soundest monarchy in world history. This system was developed by such sovereigns as William the Conqueror, Henry VIII, Queen Elizabeth and Victoria, and its principles are represented today by the baby's grandfather, King George VI.

What will his world be like? The prince is second in line of succession to the throne next to his mother. Elizabeth is young and in the normal course of events will not become Queen for many years.

It is possible that the next king will succeed to the throne in middle age — perhaps 40 to 50 years from now. In the interim the world could undergo many changes.

Loyalty to the throne has always been one of the greatest influences in Empire relations. Today's trends indicate that member countries of the Empire and Commonwealth realize more keenly than ever the importance of belonging to a strong federation, bound by ties of mutual affection.

It is interesting to note that no less a person than Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University, in an address at a University of New York convocation suggested "the time has come when the United States might consider re-joining the British Commonwealth of Nations".

He admitted it was a startling thought, but he added: "I can assure you that the British Empire has changed a lot since the days of George III."

THERE definitely is today an urgent need for organized recreational activities, properly supervised — where one need not worry about the teen-agers, who are quite capable of entering into these activities with enthusiasm.

— Gananoque Reporter

WHEN poll tax was invented, women did not work for wages, but they do today. . . Why shouldn't they be assessed . . in the same manner as the defenceless male? . . Or is the poll tax designed . . to make the bachelors so mad that they'll go out and get married.

CHANGING MARKETS

In the past we have considered the United Kingdom markets as vitally necessary for the disposal of our apple crops. In these days of confused international trade policies, the less the fruit industry depends upon exports outside the dollar area the happier it will be.

Facts About Prices

By R. J. Deachman

Prices and the Farmer

In a previous story I pointed out that sharp price declines, at the present time, might endanger the whole economy. Some prices are more sensitive to economic changes than others. Prices of farm products rise rapidly in a boom, fall more readily during a depression.

Note carefully these changes in wholesale price of farm products in certain selected years. These prices are based on 1926 equals 100. That is, we take the level of farm products in 1926 as a 100 and measure the price of other years by their variation upward or downward from that figure. The table follows:

1913	—	64.1
1920	—	160.0
1926	—	100.0
1933	—	51.0
1939	—	64.3
July 1948	—	147.3

These figures mean that 64c in 1913 would buy as large a quantity of farm products as could be purchased for $1.60 in 1920—$1.00 in 1926—51c in 1933. A glance at these figures will show, pretty clearly, how impossible price control would be. The movement is too violent, the crop areas too great to permit effective control.

If you mortgaged your farm in 1920 and wanted to pay it off in 1933 you would find the going pretty stiff. It would take over three times the volume of farm products to meet the obligation at 1939 prices. It would be easier in 1939 than in 1933, much easier in 1948. If on the other hand you borrowed in 1933, repayment would be less difficult in later years because prices were higher.

This explains why, during the war years, especially in Western Canada, mortgage indebtedness has been sharply reduced. The price of wheat went up, so did the price of other farm products. The mortgage was a fixed sum, the volume of farm products required to settle the obligation was reduced, there was more money left with which to purchase other commodities or to spend on farm improvements.

HAT COMES HOME

Winnipeg — A hat that fled the head of E. Frank of Kamsack, Sask., while he was travelling via Canadian National Railways between Melville and Winnipeg, has been returned to him after passing through countless hands and travelling across half of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. He lost his hat to a stiff breeze while peering out of the train window at Diamond Crossing, Man. A section hand found it on the right-of-way and started it on its journey back to Mr. Frank.

Remember . . .

Just over seven years ago — on October 27, 1941 — the British troopshop "Awatea" carrying a Canadian Expeditionary Force of almost 2,000 men under Brig. J. K. Lawson, sailed from Vancouver for Hong Kong.

The force comprised two battalions of infantry, the 1st Battalion Winnipeg Grenadiers and the Royal Rifles of Canada, and a brigade headquarters. Officially known as "C" Force, the contingent arrived in Hong Kong on November 16.

Three weeks later, on December 8, the Canadians found themselves with the rest of the Hong Kong garrison engaged in a full-scale war. The Canucks distinguished themselves during the bitter two-day battle of Wogneichong Gap, but suffered heavy casualties. Practically the whole Brigade H.Q. staff, including Brigadier Lawson, were killed, and one company of the Winnipeg Grenadiers suffered 80 per cent casualties.

By the 22nd, the position was all but hopeless. Members of the garrison, after two weeks' continuous battle, were desperately tired, and the supply situation had become critical — particularly the water supply, as the chief reservoirs had fallen into Japanese hands. On the 23rd, one day's supply was all that remained, but the defenders continued to cling to their positions through the 23rd and 24th. On Christmas Day, with all hope of warding off disaster gone, the valiant Hong Kong garrison surrendered.

Of the Canadians taken prisoner, 137 died through malnutrition and other causes in Jap prisoner-of-war camps, bringing the total of Canadians dead in defence of Hong Kong to 555.

Measuring Stick

At dusk, Eph came in from the field to find his friend, Erasmus, waiting for him.

"Golly, but I sho am tired", Eph complained.

"Whut you-all been a-doin?" asked Erasmus.

"Well, you see", explained Eph, "Paw's been a-settin' out fence posts, and I'm just five feet tall. So I been a-layin' down an' a-gettin' up an' a-layin' down and a-gettin' up all around his ten-acre field, so's he could measure them posts ten feet apart!"

His Reason

"I haven't seen you at church lately, William", said the preacher, "What's the matter?"

"My daughter's learning to play the harp", replied William.

"But what's that got to do with it?"

"Well, I'm not so keen on going to Heaven as I was!".

OBITUARY

Resident of Thos' Gore Buried Here Monday

The Late Orlando Hodge

The death of Orlando Hodge occurred last Saturday, November 20, at his home in Thomas' Gore.

Born at Lakefield, October 24, 1891, he was the son of the late Robert Hodge and Martha Lyster.

The funeral service was held at the Thomas' Gore church on Monday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough.

Left to mourn his passing are — his loving wife, the former Myrtle Gladys Wood, of Mille Isles; three children, Willis, Wesley and Garnet, at home; also his two brothers, Amon and Levi.

Interment took place in Lachute Cemetery. Those acting as pall-bearers were nephews of the deceased — John, Alex and Lawrence Hodge, Lawrence Ward, Randolph Rogers and Henry Wood.

The community extends sincere sympathy to the bereaved family in their loss.

LUXURIES RETURN TO BRITISH SHOPS AT PEGGED PRICES

Black Market in Consumer Goods, Now on Decline

By MARIE McGOWAN

London (Reuters) — Britain's black market in consumer goods, never as extensive as in many continental countries, is definitely on the decline.

Since the beginning of the Second World War, rationing and food subsidies have ensured to every Briton his share of essential commodities at controlled prices. This automatically restricted black market deals in goods which, relatively speaking, are luxuries to most of the population.

Other economic factors are harassing Britain's "spivs" (racketeers) as effectively as Scotland Yard's squad and the ministry's food "snoopers".

Taxes and the continuing high cost of living have cut into the purchasing power of all classes.

The black market has been hit even harder. Spivs who once hoarded rolls of banknotes now are hard up. The slow but steady progress of Britain's post-war recovery has succeeded where government-imposed registration failed — it has forced many black market small fry into honest work.

Fought Racketeers

One of the black market's chief enemies retired at 65 last week, satisfied that his task is almost accomplished. For the last 15 years, Sir Stephen Low, board of trade solicitor, directed all prosecutions for the board and the ministry of fuel and power.

"Once we were up against big organized ramps (rackets)", he said in a farewell interview. "Today the black market is dying — a small thing in which a lot of people are dabbling a little."

The black market activities with which government departments and police are still coping involve chiefly diversion textiles and other wholesale "for exports only" commodities into the home market and the illegal purchase of rationed foods by clubs, restaurants and hotels.

So far as retail consumer goods are concerned, nylons, almost beyond price during the war, are occasionally available in limited quantities at about 10 shillings ($2) a pair. Silk hose are readily obtainable and the quality of the rayon variety has improved considerably. Abundant supplies of gin and rum at controlled prices help to compensate for the scarcity of dollar-earning Scotch whisky.

Meanwhile, as Christmas approaches, the spivs are hoping for a seasonal boost in business. On the whole, the hope is a forlorn one, for it is apparent the black market is dying a natural death.

Well-Drilling Is A Game of Chance

One of the biggest games of chance we know of is drilling a water well. There is no way of knowing just how far down into the earth the driller has to go before he strikes water — he may strike it shortly after the drill penetrates the rock, and then again he may have to drill a couple of hundred feet. Drilling operations cost so much per foot. One drill-hole, fifty feet deep, costing about $200.00, might provide a better supply of water than another hole drilled 150 feet at a cost of $500.00. It's a gamble — if you're one of the lucky fellows, your driller might get you a supply of water at a minimum depth, but if you're not one of the lucky chaps, there's no telling what your drilled well will cost you. All you can do when you engage a driller is to hope and pray that he strikes a vein of water at the earliest possible time. The driller can guarantee you nothing except that he'll get you the water regardless of how far he has to drill — and sometimes the operation is a costly one.

Member Honored With Life Membership in United Church W.M.S.

The regular meeting of the Lachute United Church W.M.S., held on November 11, was outstanding in that, for the second time within a few months, the members took occasion to honor a loved fellow worker. This time the recipient was Mrs. M. Jones.

The president of the auxiliary, Mrs. F. S. McGibbon, prefaced her remarks by recalling that at the September meeting Mrs. H. Martin had been honored; at the October meeting Mrs. Wm. Wilson, who for many years had been a life member of the East Settlement auxiliary, had been honored . . "and now", said Mrs. McGibbon, "we are pleased to honor Mrs. Jones, and to bestow upon her a life membership certificate". Mrs. McGibbon spoke highly of the fine work given by Mrs. Jones in all church organizations, and especially of her activities as a member of the supply committee for many years. She also recalled that, at the time of Union in 1925, Mrs. Jones had been president of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church.

A solo, "Prayer for Peace", was sung by Mrs. R. A. Giles, with Mrs. Ken McOuat as accompanist.

Local Violin Ensemble Featured at Y.P.U.

The regular meeting of the Lachute United Church Y.P.U. on Tuesday evening, was in the form of an "open-night", and many visitors were present for the occasion. Earl Morrison, the president, was chairman for the evening.

During the business period, United Church calendars were distributed to representatives from all districts, the monetary returns to be applied to missionary enterprises.

The program for the evening was based on musical appreciation, and as guest performers the Y.P.U. had the Lachute violin ensemble, a local group which has been meeting every Monday in recent weeks.

Mr. Morrison sketched briefly the gradual development of harmonics from the single tone melody, and used several examples played by the violinists as an illustration.

Mr. Maurice Bedard rendered two violin solos, which were well applauded. A string quartet composed of Messrs. M. Bedard, W. Hlidchuk, Jack McIndoe and Bert Millar, followed with the "Londonderry Air". The entire ensemble gave several selections which also drew enthusiastic acclaim.

The appreciation of those present was voiced by Mr. Kerr.

Ministerial Association

The Ministerial Association meeting scheduled for next week has been postponed until the following Monday, December 6, at Lachute Baptist Church. The Rev. G. T. Spriggs will have charge of the devotional period.

Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, leader of the Liberal Party and Prime Minister of Canada, will broadcast this evening (Thursday) at 7.45 o'clock over the CBC trans-Canada network, on "The Liberal Party and the Prosperity of Canada".

"Community Concerts" Enrolment Next Week

The Lachute Community Concert Association has completed its slate of officers with the appointment of Mrs. E. Guilbert and Mr. Harold Barrie, of Brownsburg, as second and third vice-presidents, and a board of directors consisting of Mrs. W. M. Cottingham, Miss Marthe Dumais, Miss Janet McOuat, Mrs. George H. Héon, Mr. E. Morrison, Mr. Richard Ayers, Dr. M. Papineau, Mr. Horace Murphy, Mr. Chas. Duncan, Mr. Mozart Carriére, Miss Mariette Joly, and Dr. A. Pagé, of Lachute, Dr. A. R. Coté and Mrs. J. Finlayson, of Brownsburg.

Memberships in the Association will be accepted from Tuesday, November 30, until Saturday night, December 4, when the books will be closed for this year. Each membership entitles the individual to attend all concerts during the season. No tickets will be sold at the door when the concerts take place. Arrangements have been made for a representative to be on hand at all times at Bedard Ltée Store for the purpose of answering enquiries and accepting memberships.

It is reported that enthusiasm has continued to mount, to such an extent throughout the community that the organizers may find themselves in the unfortunate position where they may have to refuse memberships, due to limited seating capacity of the Auditorium.

Harold Kendrick, organizer for the Community Concert Service, has assured the local organization that they may expect to have a choice among a considerable number of the finest artists in the country.

OBITUARY

Many Attended Funeral of Respected Kilmar Resident

The Late Bond MacLeod

Kilmar — This community was shocked by the passing of Mr. Bond MacLeod, who died suddenly of a heart seizure while hunting with his son Orton and a number of his friends on November 7.

Born in Buckingham 50 years ago, he was the son of the late Geo. MacLeod and his wife Emma Newton. He came to Kilmar 25 years ago, where he was employed by Canadian Refractories Limited, and where he had resided since his marriage to Nellie Trineer, of Calumet, in September 1927.

Memories of his cheerful nature will long be cherished by those who knew him intimately. He was a highly respected resident, and had made a wide circle of friends. He was a member of the Anglican Church and a warden of the church at Kilmar.

Many beautiful floral tributes, besides the numerous friends who gathered to pay their respects, bore testimony of the esteem in which he was held.

The late Mr. MacLeod will be greatly missed by his wife and children — Orton, Marion, Glena, June and George. He is also mourned by his loving mother, of Kilmar, one sister (Vella) Mrs. Hewston, of Ottawa, and three brothers, Garfield, Kilmar, Gordon, of Yellowknife, North West Territories, and Percy, of Mattawa, Ont., besides a number of nieces and nephews. . . To all those within the family circle, the sympathy of the entire community is extended.

The funeral was held from his late residence to Trinity Anglican Church, Calumet, on Wednesday, November 10. Service was conducted by the Rev. A. E. Hawes, assisted by the Rev. J. Irving, of St. Lambert, Que. Interment was in the local cemetery.

Pall-bearers were — Messrs. Robert Welden, Russell Mack, Hayes Villeneuve, Tom Fox, Jim Noble and John Purcell.

Among those from a distance attending the funeral were — Mr. Gordon Johnson, St. Catharines, Ont.; Messrs. Emmett Johnson and Mervin Pearson, Bryson, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murray, Mrs. Jack MacDougald, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Roberts, Ste. Rose; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bankley, Messrs. Bill Saunders and Harry Green, Montreal; Mrs. Joe Carriere, Buckingham, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cooke and family, Low, Que.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Installation of Officers in L.O.B.A. Laurentian Lodge

Recently two important events took place in Laurentian Lodge No. 943 of the L.O.B.A.

R.W. Sister Mabel Ball made her official visit to her own lodge in the capacity of Grand Mistress for the Province of Quebec. There was a large attendance of members, and many visitors came from various parts of Argenteuil County and Cassburn, Ontario.

Sister Ball gave an address dealing with the work of the Order and her visitations in the province. The members of her lodge took this opportunity to present the Grand Mistress with a gift.

Appropriate addresses were also made by Sister Allen, of Cassburn, Sister MacLean, of Harrington, Sister Dumoulin, of Grenville, Brothers Galbraith, Allen Densmore and R.W. Bro. G. T. Spriggs. Lunch was served by Laurentian Lodge.

The other event was the election and installation of officers for the ensuing year, conducted by R.W. Sister Ball. The main offices were filled as follows: W.M. Sister G. Billingham; D.M., Sister N. Copeland; J.D.M., Sister Mildred Ball, Chaplain, Sister Jean Elliot; Rec. Sec., Sister E. Gauley; Fin. Sec., Sister V. Billingham; Treas., Sister G. Holt; Guardian, Sister S. Sutton; D. of C., Sister O. Reilly; Sen. Lec., Sister I. Berry; Dep. Lec., Sister P. Seary.

More Milk Desserts

Milk is the most nearly perfect food and deserves a bigger place in the day's menu. One way of accounting for the daily quota of milk is by making desserts that tempt adults as well as children.

There are many types of milk desserts and each may be varied in numerous ways. Junkets are liked by the children but are usually not appreciated by adults; however custards, cereal desserts and cornstarch puddings may be very satisfying to young and old alike.

The liquid used in making cornstarch puddings may be two-thirds milk and one-third fruit juice or strong coffee. When the fruit juice is used, the cold pudding may be turned out and served with the strained fruit.

Milk jelly may sound very uninteresting but is a delicate quivering type of blanc-mange. Sweetened, flavored milk is set with gelatine allowing 1½ tablespoons of gelatine to 2 cups milk. This dessert may be served with canned fruit or a fruit juice sauce.

The home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa have selected these recipes from their files. They are not entirely new but there are some suggestions and variations which may be useful.

Honey Cocoanut Tapioca

½ Cup fine tapioca, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 cups milk, ⅓ cup honey, 1 egg yolk, 1 egg white, 2 teaspoons sugar, ½ cup cocoanut.

Cook tapioca with salt and milk in top of double boiler until transparent. Add honey. Add a small portion of hot mixture to beaten egg yolk. Combine with mixture in double boiler and cook 5 minutes. Beat egg white stiffly, add 2 tablespoons sugar, beat until it will hold in peaks. Fold into tapioca mixture, add cocoanut. Chill. Yield: six servings.

Lemon Fluff

2 Tablespoons cornstarch, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ cup cold milk, 1½ cups hot milk, 2 egg yolks, 2 lemons, grated rind and juice, 2 egg whites.

Mix cornstarch, flour, sugar and salt and blend with the cold milk. gradually stir into the hot milk and cook in double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened, then continue to cook, stirring occasionally, for 15 minutes. Beat egg yolks, add grated lemon rind and a little of the hot mixture. Stir into remaining mixture in double boiler and cook, for 3 minutes. Remove from heat and add lemon juice. Fold in the stiffly-beaten egg whites. Turn into sherbet glasses or a lightly-greased mould and chill before serving. Yield, six servings.

Chocolate Cream

2 Ounces unsweetened chocolate, 2½ cups milk, 4 tablespoons cornstarch (¼ cup), ⅓ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup milk, 1 egg yolk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 egg white.

Add chocolate to 2½ cups of the milk and heat in top of double boiler until chocolate is melted. Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt and blend with the ½ cup milk. Add slowly to hot mixture in top of double boiler and stir constantly until mixture thickens. Cook for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour a little of the hot mixture over the well-beaten egg yolk, stir into hot mixture and cook 3 minutes. Remove from heat, add vanilla and fold in the stiffly-beaten egg white. Chill. Yield: six servings.

W.I. Branch Meetings, Month of November

During the business meeting of the Lachute branch it was recommended that blankets be purchased for the Youth Hostel at Stonefield, that the W.I. purchase soup for the school children this season, and that each member give $1 to the general funds before the end of the year. Guest speaker was Mrs. Don McCabe, who fills the role of helping teacher for the schools of Argenteuil district. She gave a graphic description of her work and of the teachers' camp held at Oolowan in August under the direction of Miss Ruth Low. Mrs. Mac Walker held a very interesting quiz at the Study Group meeting.

Lakefield heard a report of the semi-annual convention. The sum of $5 was voted to the Q.W.I. Service Fund, $3 to the County Scholarship fund and $1 towards Miss Walker's gift. Arrangements were made for the exchange of gifts by members at the December meeting. Blue Cross dues were paid and this branch assisted in the annual Poppy Day campaign.

At Mille Isles, the convener of Education, Mrs. Russell Patterson, led a discussion on the teaching of French in our schools. "Why I am glad I live in Canada" was the topic of the roll-call. A report of the County Board meeting was read; $1 was subscribed to the fund for Miss Walker's gift, and a donation given to the County Scholarship fund. Another personal parcel is to be sent overseas, and poppies were sold in the community.

Pioneer branch realized the sum of $60 from a supper held in St. Andrews East. A drawing on a quilt also netted the branch $25. A Christmas gift was sent to a friend in England. Service Fund contributions were brought in. Mr. Denis Staniforth, principal of Brownsburg Consolidated School, was guest speaker, and gave a very interesting talk on his recent tour across Canada.

Woman Studies Train Design

Foot-Rests for the Gals Planned by Decorator

New York (CP) — Ever been prodded by a pair of shoes tucked away between back-rest and cushion when you were travelling by train?

There'll be no more of that annoyance on the United States trains if Dorothy Draper has her way.

Miss Draper is the first woman appointed to the advisory committee of the Federation for Railway Progress. It's her job to try to make rail travel more comfortable and pleasant.

One of the first things she'll ask for is a foot-rest so travellers — women especially — can put their feet up and relax in comfort without bothering the passenger ahead.

"Women as well as men like to put their feet up. But how can we? That's because cars were designed entirely by men", she said.

Wants More Color

Miss Draper, well-known interior decorator who recently refinished the 650 rooms of a West Virginia hotel, is also keen on adding a bit of color to railway cars.

"Men enjoy lovely colors as much as women do", she said. "If men didn't feel that way, they wouldn't have invited me into their federation. I'm supposed to be a good judge of things people would like for a long time".

Another matter she's going to look into is the brightening of drab railway stations. She thinks they should be surrounded by flowers in summer and evergreens in winter.

And to help travellers know their location, she says the name of each town or city should be emblazoned on both ends of a station and the front.

"My work is five per cent taste and 95 per cent organization".

Versatile Actress

Mona O'Hearn, attractive young Toronto actress, whose talent makes her much in demand on CBC drama programs. She is heard regularly on Thursdays as Judy in the serial John and Judy; on Wednesdays she is heard in a variety of roles in Curtain Time; and on Saturdays she frequently appears in Cuckoo Clock House, a weekly variety program for children. On Sundays, she transforms herself into the "old" Irish woman, Mrs. McGinty, a character in Alan and Me, and is often heard in title roles in Stage 49.

A Helping Hand

The 98 pound jockey married a woman at least twice his weight. After the ceremony he asked some of the guests to drop over to his flat. The best man looked doubtful.

"Thanks, Sammy", he said, "but after all it's kind of late. Maybe your wife wouldn't approve of company at this hour".

The jockey shrugged. "Oh, I don't expect you chaps to stay long", he explained. "All I want is for you to help me carry the bride across the threshold".

ORDER HAS ANNIVERSARY

Ladysmith, B.C. (CP) — The Sisters of Charity, a Roman Catholic order of Halifax, who took over a convent school here which was forced to close, recently celebrated their 25th anniversary.

LONG-TIME RESIDENT

Portage La Prairie (CP) — Mrs. T. S. Kitson, one of the city's oldest residents, recently celebrated her 89th birthday. Mrs. Kitson, who was born in Troon, Scotland, has lived here for 58 years.

TEACHES SWEDISH

Montreal (CP) — Mrs. Karin Kristiansson, a native of Sweden, will teach Swedish to pupils in McGill University's night classes, adding another language to the large list of language studies at the University.

HONEYMOONERS' PARADISE

Niagara Falls, Ont. (CP) — Approximately 75,000 persons made the trip to the base of the Horseshoe Falls in the tiny steamer, "Maid of the Mist", this season. October and the first week of November saw the greatest number of honeymoon couples visit the Falls.

OLD-FASHIONED REMEDY

Montreal (CP)—The best remedy for a simple burn is good old-fashioned butter — or margarine — Sir Archibald McIndoe, famed British plastic surgeon, said here. "Any grease dressing will exclude the air and reduce the pain", he said. "For major burns there's only one thing to do. Rush the patient to hospital or a doctor".

THREE CHOICES. Buy Maxwell House Coffee in Super-Vacuum Tin or Glassine-lined Bag . . . or get Instant Maxwell House— made instantly in the cup. All the same gloriously delicious blend.

SLENDOR Tablets are effective. 2 weeks' supply $1, 12 weeks $5, at Harbour Pharmacy, Lachute Mills; and at Brownsburg Pharmacy. xc

Brownsburg Scouts

Brownsburg —

Milton Mason, Bruce Mason, Greg Mason, Bryant Prosser and Bobby Warwick, of the Brownsburg Troop, recently received their Pathfinder proficiency badges, having thus come another step closer to becoming King's Scouts.

Four new Scouts were added to the troop when Bob "Jake" Johnston, of the Otter Patrol, and Ken Fletcher, Willys MacAdam and Brian Brownrigg, of the Wolf Patrol, were invested. Bryant Prosser, patrol leader of the Eagles, became the first member of the troop to win his Cub Instructor's badge, after a month's service with Bert Potter, the Cubmaster.

There must be a lot of Brownsburg mothers who do not have to worry about washing, ironing, darning and mending — judging from the number of Laundryman badges passed; Billy Cribb, Bernie Golphin, Don Martin, Reg Mason, Dean Prosser, Bobby Warwick, Ken Fletcher, Willys MacAdam and George Pasco have all received their badges.

The Group Committee greatly appreciates the kindness of the examiners — Mrs. Gordon Todd, Laundryman badge; George Conelly, Athlete badge; and Frank Vowles, Pathfinder badge.

CRIME TAKES HOLIDAY

Edmonton (CP) — Beer parlors took a holiday the day of Edmonton's civic elections and so, apparently, did crime. One stolen vehicle, an entered garage and a common assault were the only cases that found their way to the police blotter.
