Town to Engage Third Police Officer

Council Deals With Many Seasonal Details

An agenda of routine and seasonal matters occupied the Town Council, at its regular monthly meeting last night. Mayor Leopold Carriere presided, with all members in attendance.

Building permits were approved on behalf of the Canadian Legion, Robert Tessier, Roger Rochon, Real Legault and Herb Graves — all under supervision of the Roads Committee.

Ald. Stanley Holt was named pro-mayor for the ensuing three months.

It was resolved and approved that Daylight Saving Time be adopted at 12.01 a.m. April 24, until notice of termination.

The resignation of Miss Therese Bedard as assistant secretary-treasurer was presented before council, and duly accepted.

It was resolved to publish invitation for tenders (1) for services of a bilingual assistant-secretary; (2) for services of a police officer to augment the present force.

Resolutions were also passed for publishing of tenders as follows: (1) to supply 600 feet of 2½" fire-hose; (2) to supply and tend flowers for the park during the approaching season; and (3) to supply 50 no-parking and stop-signs, in aluminum.

All the above tenders are to be received before May 1 for consideration of the council.

It was moved to approve payment of $50 for advertising in the year-book of Lachute Spring Fair 1949.

Permit was granted on request of the Bell Telephone, for erection of poles by this utility at the Grace and Bethany St. intersection.

Fermits were voted for licensing of all pool-rooms now operating in the town, for the year 1949-50.

It was decided that the Town take over a street-light at the corner of Henry and Bethany, and also erect lights at the corners of Filion-Harriet and Barron-Henry Streets.

On completion of these matters the meeting was adjourned.

Mild Mishaps Open Motoring Season

It's happened again! . . The season has started early for inroads into the United Church manse property. With monotonous regularity the fence bordering these grounds on the Brownsburg Road has been torn down and again replaced — since the authorities have found no adequate safeguard for motorists unfamiliar with the hazardous curve at Barron's Bridge.

A Montrealer, Hervé Foucault, of 4324 Beaconsfield Avenue, overshot the curve while driving from Brownsburg at midnight last Saturday. The car crossed the cement curbing, which affords small protection to unwary drivers, and crashed into the pipe fence. There were no personal injuries, and despite damage to the car, the stranger was able to drive it to Montreal under its own power.

On Bethany Street around the post-office corner, another Montrealer, Romeo Yergeau, was injured on Sunday. The visitor, on his homeward trip, was standing in the road handing some refreshment to his wife through the car window. A taxi from Montpellier, Papineau County, was passing in the opposite direction when a passenger opened the rear door, striking Yergeau and hurling him against his own automobile. The man suffered a cut on the leg and a dislocated thumb. He was taken to the office of Dr. Jules Lafleur nearby, by Police Chief D. Villeneuve — who was summoned to investigate both these week-end accidents.

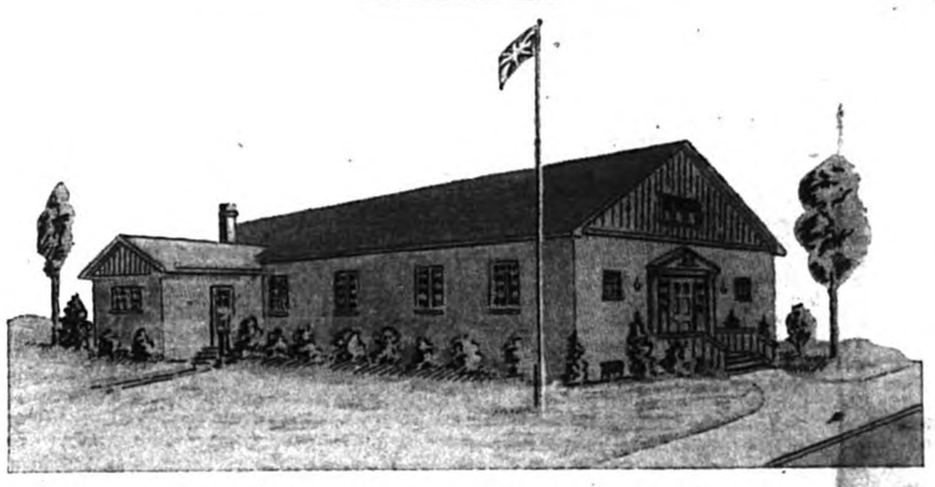

Exceptional Winter For Highway Travel

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — Misses Barbara Watchorn and Jean Elder, with Howard and Carl Elder, who are all attending Lachute High School, have been able to come home by car every week-end since they started last September. . . This is something of a record for winter travel in this district.

Canada leads in the study of wind erosion, and Saskatchewan has loaned a specialist to the USA Department of Agriculture in the study to restore fertility to eroded acres.

Sketch of Proposed Legion Memorial Hall

New $15,000 memorial hall for the Legion, Branch 70, Lachute, on which construction will commence this month at the site on Foundry Street East, acquired last year by the veterans' organization. Above is a reproduction of the architect's drawing, which is now on display in the show-window of Hammond's Radio Shop, Main Street. The plans were drawn up by Hans Jacobsen, of Lachute, who gave his services gratuitously on behalf of the Legion.

River Ferry Adrift With Ice-Floe

(Our District Correspondent)

Cushing — The Ottawa River is open but not entirely free of ice, and the residents of Cushing were surprised to see the ferry drifting off to new waters, firmly imbedded in a cake of ice and with a couple of rowboats attached. The owner evidently had not taken the usual precaution of hauling the boats and ferry well up onto the river bank.

Brownsburg Has New Bi-Weekly "Bulletin", French-English Journal

The first issue of a mimeographed tabloid made its appearance this week in Brownsburg. Its contents are bilingual, and the news matter appears well apportioned between the respective interests of the French and English communities, and covers such affairs as those of the council, the Legion and sports, in which all readers are equally concerned. The publication is well supported by advertisers, and is a credit to those who have labored in its organization and production. The journal, to be published bi-weekly, is called the "Bulletin".

No exchange problem is involved in replacing Newfoundland currency with Canadian, as the Island's dollar always has been at par with Canada's.

STREET PARKING AND PARKING METERS ALSO DISCUSSED AT REGULAR SESSION OF COUNCIL

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The regular monthly meeting of Brownsburg village council was held Monday night, with Mayor Jas. Donaldson presiding, and Councillors Wilson, Denault, Pariseau, Lafleur and Moseley present.

The secretary-treasurer, Emile Hebert, read the financial estimate as budgeted for the coming year and called for a rate of $1.05 to meet expenditures. Councillor Denault moved that this be accepted and Councillor Wilson seconded the motion.

New Fire Pump

The adjourned discussion on purchase of a new fire pump was resumed by the assembly, with a representative of one of the firms offering this equipment for sale, present at the meeting. In addition to the offer previously made, the council was informed that this firm was anxious to enter this territory to demonstrate the superiority of its equipment, and in furtherance of this desire were prepared to make an exceptional offer, so that the council would profit by assisting them in entering this market. The equipment was in the Class "A" category, which meant that for insurance purposes a reduced rate was obtainable and sanctioned by the underwriters. In the case of Brownsburg, this advantage might be as much as $5,000 in premiums to policy holders.

Fire Alarm System

This company was also prepared to offer a Federal alarm system, which had been in use for a short period at Trenton by the Air Force, and which consisted of seven pull-boxes with a central teletype recorder, and a stand-by power auxiliary of batteries to operate a siren, with an operating power of four miles. The system was very similar to the one operating in Montreal, and of equal efficiency, though of course on a much smaller circuit having seven outlets, but was capable of being increased by 20 additional alarm boxes — more than enough to service the Brownsburg area.

Councillor Pariseau was very favorably impressed by the alarm system, but was of the opinion that an early decision could not be made till the sanction of the Quebec Government for the usual 50 per cent grant to municipalities for the purchase of fire protective equipment was assured.

The secretary read a letter from W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., stating he had forwarded the council's application to the proper department, and as the grant was an automatic assistance by the government to encourage municipalities to provide adequate protection, he was assured that no difficulty would be forthcoming.

It was decided to adjourn the matter until the Minister's approval of the grant was received, after which a special meeting would be called. Meanwhile a committee of councillors were to inspect the various types of offers which had been received.

Street Parking

A number of taxi owners were present in expectation of the question of street parking being discussed.

The Mayor said that a committee was inquiring into the whole question of parking in Brownsburg, and that no action would be taken until a report was received from this committee. He understood that a rumor had gained circulation that all taxis would be moved from the streets. Such a decision had not been taken. This question was a very great problem in this town, and careful attention would have to be given to solving it.

The question of installing parking meters was mentioned and it was contended that this system had merits. The neighboring town of Hawkesbury had collected over $5,000 from its meters last year,

Internationally Famed Pianist for Next Community Concert Program, Tuesday

THIRD AND FINAL CONCERT IN GROUP'S INITIAL SERIES

The internationally famous pianist Rudolf Firkusny, who gives a recital at the Auditorium here next Tuesday, April 12 (8.30 p.m.) under auspices of the Lachute Community Concerts Association, was chosen this season by Serge Koussevitzky and Leopold Stokowski for first performance of new works by two of the most important contemporary composers, Howard Hanson and Gian-Carlo Menotti. Firkusny played the world premiere of the Hanson work with the Boston Orchestra in December and the first performance of Menotti's concerto with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra in January.

Rudolf Firkusny

Firkusny is now on a recital tour of more than 50 cities and will also appear as soloist with the principal symphony orchestras. Following a recital in Carnegie Hall in mid-April, Firkusny will leave on a tour of South America.

Firkusny was born in the broad lands of Napajedla in Bohemia, and astonished his parents with his musical ability at the age of three. Consequently he entered the conservatory at Brunn at the ripe old age of six. Four years later the child prodigy made his debut with the Philharmonic Orchestra in Prague. From then on his fame spread throughout Europe.

Going to Paris, he made his debut under the direction of the veteran Albert Cortot, who conducted the performance. Cortot was so thrilled he embraced Firkusny on the stage, shouting: "You no longer need a teacher, only the public!"

Firkusny visited the United States for the first time in 1938, making a short introductory concert tour which was an immediate triumph. The tour ended, he returned to Europe with the expectation of revisiting this country the following season. The war intervened and he left Czecho-Slovakia on the eve of its occupation and went to France and later England. He finally secured passage to the United States and remained throughout the war, with the exception of two summer tours of Central and South America.

Here Firkusny has been soloist with all of the leading symphony orchestras including the New York Philharmonic, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Minneapolis and the National Symphony of Washington with which he has appeared for seven consecutive seasons, and has become one of America's most popular recitalists.

The concert will be the third and final event in the season's program of the Lachute Community Concerts Association, and the performance will rank high to round out the success of the Association's initial season.

In the best interests of music appreciation here, it is suggested by the executive that any members unable to attend next Tuesday might hand their tickets to pianoforte pupils of their acquaintance, or communicate with L. W. Armstrong (president), or Gabriel Valois (secretary).

Game Conservation Effort Commands Attention

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — Congratulations to Game Warden Gordon Cooke on the splendid job he is doing in the conservation of deer around this district. The community is proud of his work and also of the school children who are volunteering to help him in this effort. As noticed in the papers, it has created widespread interest in the sporting world, and Arundel stands out as a worthwhile example of what can be done where there is the will to do it. Mr. Cooke is assured of the heartiest co-operation from residents of the district.

Rotarians Take Steps to Reduce Cycle Accidents

In an attempt to reduce the number of accident on the streets and highways, especially with regard to bicycles, the Rotary Club of Brownsburg has obtained supplies of well-prepared pamphlets, in French and English, from the Safety League of Canada, which list not only the most important laws relating to traffic but also a number of excellent suggestions for bicyclists. The Club has solicited the support of the police in Lachute and Brownsburg to have one of these leaflets given to each applicant for a bicycle license; the police officers in both towns heartily approve the idea and have agreed to put it into effect immediately.

The English text of the pamphlet includes the following hints:

Cyclist, Remember —

That you are subject to the Traffic Rules and Regulations of the Province of Quebec, as well as those of the Town or Municipality where you reside.

That such by-laws have been enacted for your own protection.

That you must therefore strictly abide by all said rules and regulations.

You Are Invited Also —

To drive wisely and carefully.

To be kind and courteous toward fellow users of the thoroughfare.

To travel in a straight line, without zigzagging.

To respect right of way at intersections.

To always think before you act.

To Be Within the Law —

1. Drive at the extreme right-hand side of the road, at a speed not exceeding 15 m.p.h.
2. Have full control of your bicycle through peddals and handlebars.
3. Equip your bike with a suitable bell, horn or hooter, to use only when necessary.
4. Have your lights on at night: a white one in front: a red one or a reflector at the back.
5. Avoid hitching to trucks, autobuses or other vehicles.
6. Never ride on sidewalks.
7. Signal with your hand all stops and turns, always looking back, to make sure you can do so without risk.
8. Before turning left, go to the centre of pavement, but remain at the extreme right when turning to the right.
9. Ride alone; never carry passengers. And races of any kind are strictly forbidden.
10. Make a complete stop at all stop signs, boulevards and main highways, railway level crossings.
11. If traffic is very heavy, get off your bicycle and walk.
12. Be specially cautious when the road is slippery, because of rain, sleet or ice.
13. If a delivery boy, never overload your bicycle.
14. When travelling with other cyclists, drive single file.
15. Avoid all "stunts" and horseplay, whilst riding.

Tenth Province Is Lions' Topic

Acting as chairman at the Lions Club meeting last Tuesday in absence of President George H. Davis, Lion Dr. F. W. FitzGerald also substituted very creditably for the guest speaker, Norm Somers, of Brownsburg, who was prevented by sickness from filling this engagement.

Dr. FitzGerald, a native Newfoundlander, spoke on a subject both timely and dear to his heart. Recalling the history and highlights of the ancient colony, he gave new insights into the story of this country, the activities and characteristics of its people — and emphasized the sincerity with which the great majority welcomed the union of their country with Canada, which became an accomplished reality last week.

Dr. FitzGerald was cordially thanked by Lion Phil Roy.

Employment Situation In Argenteuil County

Notes on the employment picture in Argenteuil, and district under jurisdiction of the National Employment Service here, are furnished by J. G. Lamontagne, manager of the local office. It is stated that the number of Unemployment Insurance recipients during the winter was just over 400 in this district. "However, we have begun placing men in positions", states Mr. Lamontagne, "and indications are that things will rapidly improve from now on, and it is expected that with the advent of real spring weather most of our able-bodied men and women will be placed in employment again."

An interesting comparison of over-all unemployment in Canada and the United States, shows Canada in the more favorable position. The following figures are given to illustrate the percentage of unemployed in both countries as recorded in February of the past four years :

		Canada	U.S.A.
February	1946	4.7	4.9
	1947	3.0	4.3
	1949	4.2	5.3

As may be seen, unemployment in Canada has been relatively less than in the United States during each of the post-war years. This appears to be a reversal of the situation which existed before the war, as estimates of unemployment prior to 1939 show that the number of jobless workers was relatively greater in Canada.

Consumers' Co-operative Project; Effects on Local Retail Business

Frank Viewpoint on Co-op Store Voiced by Horace Lamarche before Ch. of Commerce

At a dinner held by the Chamber of Commerce last Thursday evening at the Laurentien Hotel, Horace Lamarche delivered a forceful address before a large and representative gathering of local businessmen.

Mr. Lamarche, who is managing director of Lachute Creamery Ltd., was introduced to the gathering by Gabriel Valois.

Subject of the topic was, "Will the Consumers' Co-operative affect Retail Trade in the Town of Lachute?" The question had particular reference to a retail co-operative to be established here on behalf of the west-end mill workers.

Mr. Lamarche stated that the opinions he expressed were entirely his own; and he believed this frank, personal expression of views before one's fellow citizens, to be in the best interests, whatever question might arise to the general concern of this community.

"Whether or not such a co-operative is needed, or desired, is not the question to be discussed tonight. We are faced with a 'fait accompli' and the Co-operative now exists. We are faced with the problem of whether such a Co-operative will help or hinder our local trade in its various branches.

"Since the spring of 1947, some industrialists in this town have been publicly accused by outsiders of not taking care of their employees as they should, of 'keeping them in ignorance', and other accusations. Many of us were inclined to sympathize with these employees, possibly not without reason. What happened then? These same industrialists faced the music, consolidated their positions and went to work.

"Since then, we have seen —re-adjustments of salaries; work planning; an industrial co-operation committee; medical assistance in the plants; a recreation centre, with swimming pool; and finally, a consumers' co-operative.

"I am not here to eulogize any one", continued Mr. Lamarche. "I believe it is necessary to review the events, and developments which have taken place since 1947, to realize that this co-operative is but the next logical step in the campaign on behalf of the workers of this town. That is the reason of this Co-operative — and if some of us were not afraid of being affected in our own businesses we would not hesitate to acclaim such a project."

Mr. Lamarche then drew a parallel between the present Co-operative and the two "Caisses Populaires" which were initiated simultaneously about a year ago. When these banking centres were first opened, the local bank authorities were first aghast at the thought that these institutions would deprive them of an appreciable amount of business. "After a little more than a year, we see", said Mr. Lamarche, "the same banks doing the same business, while the two 'Caisses Populaires' have joint assets amounting to more than $200,000. The conclusion drawn is that, had it not been for these 'Caisses Populaires', the majority of the workers would not have had the opportunity of saving this $200,000, in view of the conventional banking hours in this town which fail to accommodate this class. And this substantial amount would probably have been spent foolishly, so that our workers would not have this money to rely upon in case of need.

"What these 'Caisses Populaires' have done for their customers, and without detriment to the business of the established banks," opined Mr. Lamarche, "the Consumers' Co-operative will also do for its own, without detriment to the local merchants and tradesmen. . . To this end, however, there must be one essential condition, and that is, that our local businessmen be well organized.

"To be well organized, is meant that if our merchants will initiate a Purchasing Co-operative, they will in a great measure benefit by lower prices, higher discount and better buying facilities, by purchasing on a larger scale". Mr. Lamarche then drew a picture of the situation which now exists in Three Rivers; such a Co-operative has been initiated in that city, and purchases in greater volume have greatly benefitted the members of this 'purchase club'; they have reaped greater benefits and higher discounts. Mr. Lamarche said there were a number of similar examples which could be cited; but he knew his audience was well aware of the importance of uniting and collaborating in order to progress.

Mr. Lamarche stated in conclusion that, in his opinion this Consumers' Co-operative should not react unfavorably if these same merchants would only help themselves and form another Co-operative on their own behalf.

Following Mr. Lamarche's address there was a question forum, in which interesting angles of this recent development were openly and freely discussed.

Many at Funeral Of Notable, Buried St. Andrews East

The Late John Irwin

The sudden death of John Irwin — which occurred aboard a train near Belleville on his return last Thursday from a business trip to Toronto — removes from the community of St. Andrews East a figure closely linked with local interests over the recent years.

Mr. Irwin observed his 68th birthday on Tuesday of last week and went to Toronto with Mrs. Irwin that day to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Oil Companies Limited. He appeared to be in good health. He was returning to his home in Montreal when fatally stricken.

Spending much time at his residence overlooking the North River Valley, Mr. Irwin displayed a constructive interest in local matters and was known as a liberal supporter of all worthwhile local efforts. . . Together with the late Wm. Drysdale, Mr. Irwin had been a prime mover in the St. Andrews Estates, a project which was expected to promote considerable development in the district. The St. Andrews golf course materialized from these plans, but the area did not develop to the extent anticipated. Mr. Irwin built a spacious residence here, "Rockby", and left his business pursuits whenever possible, to enjoy a leisurely interest in his farm, his apple orchard and sugar bush.

President of Canadian Oil Companies Ltd. and of McArthur-Irwin Ltd., he was widely prominent in his business associations. Among the hundreds who attended his funeral in Montreal last Monday, were numerous friends from that city and from Ottawa, who are summer visitors to St. Andrews and who shared with the late Mr. Irwin his interests in this countryside.

The funeral service at Stanley Presbyterian Church was conducted by the minister, the Rev. J. D. Wilkie, assisted by the Rev. Dr. William McMillan of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, with which church Mr. Irwin associated himself here.

A cortege of about 20 automobiles, and eight landaus laden with flowers, accompanied the remains to St. Andrews East, where committal rites were held at the family plot in St. Andrews Cemetery, "The Pines", late Monday afternoon.

He is survived by his wife, the former Irene Boxwell Cooper, a son, Selwyn Irwin, vice-president of McArthur-Irwin Ltd., a daughter, Mrs. Hugh Johnston, of Montreal, and five grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. A. Wallace, Toronto, also survives.

Gatineau LINES

A Help to All

Sixteen construction crews will be working all over the territory served by Gatineau Power this summer, building new power lines and extending others to bring electrical living to hundreds of families for the first time. Some of these crews are already hard at work, others will start operations just as soon as weather conditions permit.

The co-operation of land owners in granting rights-of-way for pole lines can do much to assist the company in providing new facilities at the lowest possible cost to the user of electricity. Such co-operation usually is of direct benefit to the land owner himself — and it is always of very definite benefit to his neighbors who desire electricity.

When a power line is built in a short straight line away from trees and off the roads, interruptions in service are reduced to a minimum. The shorter the line, the better the control over voltage, the less chance of interruptions from over-strained insulators and other equipment, the less time lost in tracing trouble when it develops.

Whenever somebody who owns land on the route over which a power line should go refuses permission to install the line over his property, the line has to be diverted around that land. This adds to the length of the line. It means greater possibilities of voltage fluctuations and line trouble. It adds delays in bringing electricity to his neighbors.

Soon the construction crews will be out in full force for a summer of heavy work. In many cases they will be seeking rights-of-way for their lines. We urge everybody to co-operate in granting these rights, for their own benefit and for the benefit of their neighbors.

Did You Know?

That a single direction-change in a power line involves the addition of at least 17 different pieces of material — 17 extra possibilities of line trouble in the future.

Farm Still A Going Concern

There is no indication, according to replies to a Financial Post questionnaire, of widespread fear that mechanization will eliminate or have permanently disastrous effects on farm family life.

The question was: "Do you fear the results, social or otherwise, of the reputed decline of the family-operated farm?"

While most answers show there has been some decline, and that social and economic conditions have been affected, there is disagreement about what those effects have been. However, most agree that function of the farm family in our national life is at least as important in its social aspects as it is economically.

Farm life, where it seems to be deteriorating, cannot be maintained simply by sentimental appeals; it must compete — and successfully — with other forms of social life. Almost all agree a careful study should be made to see exactly what is happening to the institution of the family-farm in Canada; few think it is likely to disappear.

No Serious Animal Disease in Canada

Thanks to the veterinarians of the Dominion Health of Animals Division and those in private practice, Canada is free of serious animal diseases such as foot and mouth disease, contagious pleuro-pneumonia, rinderpest, fowl pest, and other destructive animal plagues. Since 1868, this Division has been on watch and guard, protecting the health of Canada's animals.

The Report of the Veterinary General for 1948 contains gratifying news about other diseases which might be a menace to Canada's livestock. Anthrax is seldom found in Canada; no case of dourine has occurred since 1919; of sheep scab since 1927; and these diseases may be considered eradicated. Glanders has not appeared since 1937. Mange only affected one horse and 57 cattle in 1947 and official treatment prevented its spread. No case of rabies was reported in 1947 except among foxes and sled dogs in the Northwest and Yukon Territories, and control measures held this outbreak in check.

But Canada can only be kept free of animal diseases — and particularly from invasion by disease from abroad — by constant vigilance by all, in the interests of the whole livestock industry.

For Efficiency On the Farm

(Editorial in Ottawa Farm Journal)

"Nothing hurts our cause more than the prevalence of sloppy and inefficiently managed farms, particularly along the main highways" (writes Gilbert McMillan). We don't think Mr. McMillan means that only those farms along the main highways need to be neat and efficiently managed, but he is drawing attention to a point which is certainly worthy of note, not only because of the way public opinion may be turned against farmers, who on the one hand are asking for certain concessions (legitimate though they may be) and on the other are maintaining poor looking farms, but also because it is the very basis of a good business that the place of business be as clean, tidy and efficient looking as possible.

A friend of our says that he can always tell what kind of a farmer a man is by the size of his manure pile. How true this is! Any place where one sees such visible signs of lack of proper management as a large manure pile, rusting or neglected machinery, or broken down fences, it is practically axiomatic that were a visitor to enter the barns the stock also would give the same appearance of neglect.

Conversely, where one finds that the fences, buildings, stock and other visible aspects of the farm are well maintained then usually the farm is also kept on a sound business basis, with records being kept and the owner always able to tell at a moment's notice whether or not this or that project is paying.

This question of efficiency takes on an added importance too when one surveys present trends. The honeymoon of high prices would appear to be about over. Like all honeymoons it was great while it lasted, but it has to come to an end and the more serious business of settling down to the long road ahead has to be tackled.

Increasing efficiency is one of the most important ways there is of thus settling down. There are still too many cows producing 4,000 pounds of milk or less each year; there is still too much mastitis in dairy herds; there are still not enough hogs grading "A"; there is still too much poor seed being used; there is still not enough fertilizer in use.

We could finish the column with the list of things which are being done or left undone, as the case may be, but farmers are just as familiar with all these things as we are and each and every one of them enters into efficiency.

Not until all these problems are attacked and solved by every farmer in the country can Canadian farmers lay claim to operating an efficient business; they owe it to themselves and the industry to make the best possible use of their opportunities.

Winnipeg (CP) — Manitoba industrial plants in 1948 employed 40,222 people and had an annual payroll of $82,000,000, a 13.5 per cent increase over 1947, R. A. Sara, managing secretary of the industrial board of the province, told a service club here recently.

Quebec Labor Minister Cites St. Remi Case on Workmen's Compensation

Says Provincial Laws Applied "With Sympathy and Humanity"

Quebec—Labor Minister Antonio Barrette released for publication last week copies of Government correspondence about the case of a St. Remi d'Amherst, Que., silicosis victim, to establish that workmen's compensation laws are applied with "sympathy and humanity".

The labor minister drew attention to an editorial published March 29 in a Montreal newspaper which contended the Government employed "rigidity" in workmen's compensation cases. Mr. Barrette sand the case of Alcide Richard, the St. Remi worker, had figured in the editorial.

The letters cited, dated between October 27 last year up to March 17, were exchanged between the labor minister, Rodolphe DeBlois, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, and William Cottingham, member of the Legislature for Argenteuil County, where St. Remi is situated.

Mr. Barrette said compensation for Alcide Richard, though the worker had not been exposed to silica dust five years as legally required to be eligible for compensation, had been recommended by Premier Duplessis whose attention was drawn to the case March 17.

The labor minister said Richard's compensation took effect 12 days before his case was mentioned in the editorial.

"This is but one of numerous cases that we have settled, not by strict interpretation of an article of the law, but with sympathy and humanity", said the labor minister.

Government Loan to Establish Television

Ottawa — Canadians are going to have television and Canadian television programs. Last week government plans were announced which will insure that this new medium of communication, entertainment and culture develops under the general direction of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

The government gave CBC the green light to go ahead with a loan of $4,000,000, with the establishment of program production centres and with the granting of licenses to privately-owned stations.

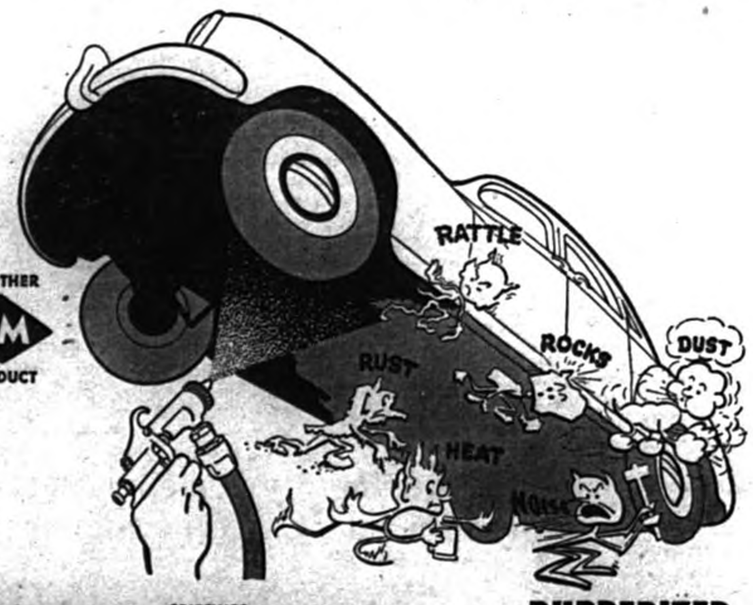

A lot more will be heard about television before it finally becomes available in all parts of Canada. The setting up of stations and transmitting facilities is a big and costly job. A special parliamentary committee on radio will be looking at the question in a week or two and it also forms one of the terms of reference to the Royal Commission which the government is going to establish on governmental activities.

Churchill on Russia

WINSTON Churchill, who three years ago thought that Russia didn't want war, has modified his opinion.

In a speech at Fulton, Missouri, in 1946, he said: "I do not believe Soviet Russia desires war." . . Last Thursday he said in Boston: "It is certain that Europe would have been communized and London under bombardment some time ago, but for the deterrent of the atomic bomb in the hands of the United States". And, as in his Fulton speech, Churchill said war with Russia is not "inevitable".

Under the frills of the famous Churchillian oratory, there are two main reasons why the wartime British prime minister — termed the world's elder statesman by many — thinks that war is not inevitable with the Russians. They are:

1. If the Western powers are militarily strong, Russia will be discouraged from attacking.

2. The death of Stalin may some day split the Russian Communists or leave them without real leadership.

Churchill did not mention Stalin's name, but made clear to the packed audience at the convocation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, what he had in mind.

"War is not inevitable . . often something happens to turn or mitigate the course of events. Four or five hundred years ago Europe seemed about to be conquered by the Mongols . . it seemed nothing could avert the doom of the famous continent . . but at the critical moment the great Khan died. The succession was vacant and the Mongol armies and their leaders trooped back on their ponies across the 7,000 miles which separated them from their capital in order to choose a successor. They never returned till now."

With those few exceptions, his speech last week was much milder than his Fulton speech three years ago. Then he called Russia "a menace", and urged the Western powers to form a united front against their big Communist neighbor.

That speech startled many and drew harsh criticism from some. But like his other prophecies — the First World War, Hitler, the dark days of despair, the armistice — the Atlantic Pact and many interlocking treaties among the Western European countries are a manifestation of his uncanny foresight.

Within the passage of the three years between Fulton and Boston, the West's attitude has grown hard toward Russia.

Little was left for Churchill to add. His Boston speech was an extension, in some respects, of his last American speech.

But the sage leader of British Conservatives counselled: "We need not abandon hope or patience. Many favorable processes are on foot." With typical harsh words for a realistic situation, he warned against "appeasement of tyranny and wrong-doing in any form".

Everything Up-to-Date

THOSE EARLY birds who eat their cornflakes to the tune of "Everything's Up-to-Date in Kansas City" may share our chuckles at this frequently played record on the radio. But a current news item would seem to substantiate the claim; this city of fabled sophistication has come up with something new in street-lighting (something far removed from that other theme, "The Old Lamplighter", which is also a record worn thin with usage.) . . The innovation is described by New York Times as follows :

Kansas City is lighted by four "electric eyes" which "vote" when to turn street lights on and off. Lights burn now without regard to sunset and sunrise, whenever the natural light conditions make them necessary, whether these conditions result from twilight or a mid-day storm.

Since the degree of darkness is the important factor in the new system, the city expects a substantial reduction in serious traffic accidents. After a series of tests, T. J. Seburn, city traffic engineer, determined that light intensity of one-half and one-fifth of a foot candle were the proper points for turning street lights off and on. The super-sensitive photo-electric cells could not be so sensitive that lightning flashes or other temporary conditions, including storms or fires, would affect them. The planners also had to overcome the problem of keeping the lights on in the evening after the one-fifth stage was reached without going off a few minutes later when the one-half stage was reached. A special automatic clock solved that problem.

Since the light intensities fixed on are extremely low, the engineers had to devise a super-sensitive system that would "think" for the city.

Little Woman Scores Again

THE tragedy of the tearful bride who can't cook, is an outmoded drama in the modern kitchen. In these days she doesn't have to.

If there was any doubt about that it was swept away by the latest prepared food development — mashed potatoes that a bridge-playing housewife can whip up in a minute.

They are, of course, only the latest move in a trend that makes housekeeping easy for even the dumbest bride. Added to cake mix, tea biscuit preparations and frozen vegetables and meats, they promise a tearless bride in every bright, new, labor-saving, electrical kitchen.

Is that good? Frankly, we don't know. What we've had of the prepared foods has been. . Frozen vegetables are as tasty as those fresh from the garden. Cakes and tea biscuits made from prepared mixes are fine, too, and so is frozen pie. Not as good as mother used to make, of course, but good.

Whether the housewife will profit from the trend is another matter. What is she going to do with the time saved? If she uses it profitably, all well and good. If she doesn't, her poor husband will be shortchanged, if not on quality and taste of his food, then because prepared food costs more.

To get back to the mashed potatoes — there's not a scraped finger in a bushel. They're peelless, lumpless and guaranteed to give every woman an extra 15 minutes at the bridge table. Pop the powder in boiling water, add milk and butter, whip them a bit and there you are.

It may be that they will carry woman's emancipation from the kitchen a bit too far. But we're making a note to pack a box or two for that fishing trip we plan shortly.

Good Business

WITH A further thought to the lady of the house, there is an eye to business in current "news" from the paint and varnish trade. The modern mode, it claims, is to decorate milady's bedroom so that it will more nearly complement her beauty. There are shades that will enhance a blonde's natural coloring — there is a color scheme for the black-haired brunette — a more limited choice for the vivid redhead, and so on . . Which obviously, in these days of changing complexions and hair colorings, mounts up to a lot of paint when you attempt to harmonize the walls and ceilings.

PROFESSORS, economists and others are given to deploring the shortage of school teachers. They cannot understand why this most influential of professions fails to attract the right type of men and women in sufficient numbers.

The other day, the answer turned up in the classified section of a daily paper. A public school board placed two advertisements on the same day. The first was for a teacher to take charge of Grades 5 and 6; salary $1,500 per annum. The second was for a janitor for the same school; salary $1,800 per annum.

Will Old Tariff Bogey Be An Election Issue?

(From The Yorkton Enterprise)

News reports emanating from Ottawa all predict a general election in 1949, with June mentioned as the possible date. Except in wartime elections, the tariff has always been the football to be kicked around by the politicians. So far we have heard very little about the tariff question. It will be recalled that during the war considerable was heard about the blessings that low tariffs would bring once hostilities ended. It was argued that trading intercourse ought to increase mutual acquaintance and create a condition of inter-dependence.

But the elimination of all tariffs, or the drastic and uniform slashing of all tariffs, is not as simple as some people, including the low-tariff Liberals, believe. Any system, such as a tariff system, hardly would have been devised and made use of in the first place had there not been certain cogent reasons behind it all. The first obvious reason, perhaps, is that tariffs provide a means of national revenue. Such a reason alone would not be sufficient justification for the slashing of tariffs, or even their abolition. The revenue could be derived in some other way, if necessary by direct taxation. After the experience of the last war there would not be great hositlity to a direct tax which was known to be in behalf of permanent world peace.

Revenue, however, is not the only reason for the existence of tariffs. As long as it is a fact that peoples of different nations have different standards of living, it is hard to see how tarrifs can be eliminated entirely on goods that are manufactured by means of human labor. Canadians and the people of the United States, for instance, have high standards of living, even among the masses of their peoples.

Employees in a Canadian or American plant could not, or would not, adopt a standard of living such as workmen in the same kind of plant in Japan would consider quite adequate. They would not adopt a standard of living such as would be considered ample and satisfactory by workmen in a similar plant in any European country. To eliminate the tariff on such manufactured articles would mean that Canada and the United States would be swamped with that certain line of goods and the plants on this side of the Atlantic would be forced out of business and their employees would be without jobs.

It is all very well to say that the Japanese and the continental Europeans could raise their standards of living. That may come after some generations, but the customs and the habits of a people cannot be changed on sudden notice.

World trade, as unimpeded as possible, is a goal desirable to attain, but there are fundamentals that cannot be ignored or sidestepped.

As to natural products, there does not seem to be much in the way of a system of world free trade, but as to manufactured products the difference in the cost of production as a result of the standard of living of employees and the rates of wages paid, will have to be considered and proper provision made. It may be possible that the standard of living in many other countries eventually will rise so as to become on a par with ours, but it may be taken for granted that the working people of Canada and the United States never will consent to sink back to the standards of living that our customary and which have been customary, for generations, in countries to which reference has been made.

If this proves to be election year, we may find the tariff has become as out-dated and as conspicuous by its absence from discussion as the horse and buggy and a five-cent cigar.

For Safer Roads

(Chatham News)

There are a score of things motorists do that come under the head of recklessness. Their acts brand them to be unsafe in charge of a motor vehicle, and the cancellation of their licenses would seem to be the only effective means of eradicating the hazard they cause.

The fellow who might be tempted to confound traffic by cutting in and out would think twice about doing it if he knew that a complaint from a fellow motorist would cost him his driving license. If the Minister of Highways inaugurates this reform thousands of safe and sane drivers will rise up and call him blessed.

New experiments in extracting sugar from wood may confirm a new source of food for farm animals.

Morin School Pupils Mark Occasion of Newfoundland Union

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — On Wednesday morning, March 30, the pupils of Morin Heights Intermediate School held an assembly in honor of the confederation of Newfoundland with the Dominion of Canada.

The proceedings were opened with the singing of the national anthem, followed by an address by John Gillingham, of Grade IX, on the historical background of the new province. The chairman, Emmerson Patterson (Grade X) then read a prayer entitled, "From Ocean unto Ocean", for the welfare of the "tenth province".

Doreen Elder gave a short talk on the benefits that both Newfoundland and Canada would receive from this union. Then followed the singing of the hymn, "Faith of our Fathers", accompanied by Miss Nita MacConnell at the piano. Melvin Woods (Grade VIII) told of the fishing, mining, lumbering and farming, mentioning the most important products of Newfoundland. A sound-film on Newfoundland, in natural color, was shown by the principal, Mr. J. Haughton, and the program closed with the singing of "O Canada".

Ancient Colony, Newfoundland, Welcomed as Canada's Tenth Province

Special functions on Parliament Hill, Ottawa, and at St. John's, the capital of Newfoundland, gave fitting ceremony last Friday to the union of the ancient colony with Canada. As Newfoundland was welcomed as a partner in Confederation, the press and radio heralded this important event. With completion of the long negotiations, and consummation of the union, it is opportune to consider the facts, the figures and the background of history with which too few Canadians are familiar.

The following information concerning Newfoundland, Canada's Tenth Province, is of timely interest. . .

Geography. — The Island of Newfoundland spans the mouth of the Gulf of St. Lawrence at the entrance to the inland waterway which extends 2,000 miles from the Atlantic to the Head of the Lakes. On the north, the island is separated from the mainland by the Strait of Belle Isle, nine miles wide at its narrowest point. On the south, Cabot Strait is about 60 miles wide at its narrowest point. Newfoundland is an integral part of North America. The general topography is rough and broken. Fertile soil is limited and the forested area, though extensive, in general bears only small trees. The coast is heavily indented with large bays and fiords. The area of Newfoundland is about 42,000 square miles; larger than Ireland and about 84% of the combined area of Canada's three Maritime Provinces. The sovereignty of Newfoundland also extends to some 110,000 square miles of Labrador on the mainland.

People. — In 1945 the population, quickly increasing, was about 320,000, including 5,500 in Labrador. Close to 90% of the population live on the coast in some 1,300 communities scattered along the 6,000 miles of shoreline. About 45% of the people are on the Avalon Peninsular in the south-east, with some 60,000 in St. John's, the capital, and its suburbs. The mining community of Bell Island, and pulp and paper communities of Grand Falls and Corner Brook are the only other settlements with a population of more than 5,000. About 98.5% of the population are native-born and possess a distinctive national character. (In Canada, the percentage of native-born is 82.4%.) The principal racial groups are English (about 60%), Irish (25%), French and Scottish. The principal religious groups are Roman Catholic (32.5%), Church of England (32%), United Church of Canada (26.3%) and Salvation Army (6.2%).

History. — Soon after John Cabot's report of the abundant fishery in 1497, European fishermen began making annual voyages to the rich cod-banks off Newfoundland. The island was formally claimed for England by Sir Humphrey Gilbert in 1583, but British sovereignty was not clearly established until the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713 when France renounced her claims. Settlement was at first discouraged but as there were more than 10,000 residents by 1785, the inevitability of permanent settlement was finally recognized. Private ownership of land was legalized after 1811; a representative assembly was established in 1832 and responsible government was granted in 1855.

Confederation.—While delegates from Newfoundland took an active part in the second pre-Confederation conference in Quebec in 1864, and terms for entry of Newfoundland into the proposed union were drafted, no immediate decision was reached and Newfoundland (like Prince Edward Island) was not represented at Westminster in 1866 when the British North America Act, creating the Dominion of Canada, was drawn up. The B.N.A. Act provided for admission of Newfoundland, but when the issue was put to vote in 1869, the pro-Confederation government was overwhelmingly defeated. The issue was revived in 1894, after serious economic diffjculties on the Island. A delegation came to Ottawa in 1895 to investigate possibilities of confederation, but the conference broke down over the question of financial terms. As time went on, rising world prices and the effects of railway construction produced a gradual revival of prosperity in Newfoundland, whose economic fortunes greatly improved by 1914.

Boom and Bust. — In the decade following World War I, Newfoundland's exports more than doubled (from $19.1 million in 1922 to over $39 million in 1930). The government, finding easy credit, greatly increased its financial obligations. During the period 1920-30, the average budget

TRUSTY HALF DOLLAR

(Financial Post)

A minister, substituting for a friend in a remote country parish, was greatly surprised on observing the old verger, who had been taking up the collection, quietly abstract a 50c piece before presenting the plate at the altar rail. After the service he called the old man into the vestry and told him with some emotion that his crime had been discovered.

The old man looked puzzled for a moment. Then sudden light dawned on him. "Why, sir, you don't mean that old half dollar of mine? I've led off with that for the last fifteen years!"

MORE and SAFER MILEAGE
SUMS UP REASONS WHY
SWITCHED TO
B.F.Goodrich
FROM SOME OTHER BRAND

FROM COAST TO COAST, an independent research organization interviewed Canadian motorists who bought B.F. Goodrich tires in the past year. Three out of five had switched to B.F. Goodrich from some other brand!

The reasons? Only B.F. Goodrich can give you longer mileage . . . smoother riding . . . extra blowout protection . . . PLUS FREEDOM FROM PUNCTURES!

RESEARCH KEEPS B.F. GOODRICH FIRST IN RUBBER

The extra protection and longer wear you get from B.F. Goodrich tires results from long and costly research in the multi-million-dollar B.F. Goodrich rubber research centre.

Research produced the B.F. Goodrich Seal-o-matic safety tube that seals punctures instantly . . . permanently . . . as you ride! Research developed the cooler-running, wear-resisting rubber compounds . . . the tougher cords . . . the improved body and tread design . . . that makes B.F. Goodrich Silvertown tires so much superior in performance and value.

SURVEY MADE OF MOTORISTS WHO BOUGHT B.F. GOODRICH TIRES IN THE PAST YEAR

SMOOTHER RIDING — "My car rides smoother on B.F. Goodrich tires. They absorb more road shock yet maintain correct air pressure and need very little attention." — R. Knox Ferguson, London, Ont.

FREEDOM FROM PUNCTURES — "I drove 37 miles with Seal-o-matic tube exposed to the road and it did not puncture. I'm certainly glad I switched to B.F. Goodrich." — E. W. Vout, Ottawa, Ont.

EXTRA BLOWOUT PROTECTION — "A personal friend urged me to switch to B.F. Goodrich and enjoy extra blowout protection thanks to B.F.G's stronger sidewall construction and thick, road-gripping tread". — P. W. Bell, Victoria, B.C.

LONGER MILEAGE — "I switched to B.F. Goodrich to get extra mileage and haven't been disappointed. After long, hard driving, mostly over bad roads, treads still look good for many more miles."—Don Sinclair, E. Riverside, N.B.

DEPENDABLE PERFORMANCE — "I have driven on B.F. Goodrich tires since 1936 and have always enjoyed long wear and trouble free performance." — Peter W. Weslick, Winnipeg, Man.

Beaver Increases In Northern Area

Industrious Rodent Makes Comeback in North Saskatchewan

Prince Albert, Sask. (CP)— The beaver, industrious animal who lends his likeness to so many distinctively Canadian emblems, is making a comeback in Northern Saskatchewan.

C. McLean, game commissioner for the provincial resources department said here the growth in the beaver and muskrat populations was more than gratifying.

In 1937, 1,638 beaver had been trapped. Last year the catch rose to 5,020, total value for the two years of trapping standing at $106,835. The quota for beaver to be taken this year has been set at about 7,000.

In the last three years, approximately 1,500 beaver have been live-trapped in southern areas where they have become a nuisance, and transplanted to the north. Mr. McLean said reports show the project to be successful in building up the beaver in its natural habitat.

The muskrat picture was brighter, too. In 1947, 201,892 'rats were trapped. In 1948 the take rose to 304,548, total value of the catch for the two years being $703,814.

This year's quota for muskrats has been set at about 500,000. Mr. McLean said the rapid increase of the muskrat population was attributed to the management program of the federal and provincial governments. The 90 conservation areas established were said to be successful.

Trainer Finds Moose Are Ornery

Westerner Finds Forest Giant More Temperamental Than a Mule

Denver (CP) — A moose is about the orneriest animal Bill Scott ever tried to train.

A moose has it all over a mule — to which he bears a faint facial resemblance. . Antelope and birds are a cinch to work with compared to Scott's domesticated moose, Nancy.

Nancy was only a few days old when a hunter killed her mother near the Indian reservation at Fort Washakie, Wyo., in 1947. Scott and his wife took the baby moose to their house and raised her on a bottle.

"We had a terrible time raising her", Scott said. It seems that for all their massiveness, moose have queasy stomachs.

"Just about everything we fed Nancy gave her the dysentery", her grizzled owner said. Sulfa drugs eased Nancy's troubles, until Scott finally achieved a balanced diet: potatoes, candy, fruits and hay.

Then he started teaching her tricks. He taught her to bow, ring a bell and nuzzle his ear. Naturally, the moose lodge of nearby Lander, Wyo., adopted her as a mascot.

Moose Interesting

While he was training Nancy, Scott learned a few things about moose. For instance:

They have to kneel to eat off the ground because their necks are so short and their legs so long. And moose like Christmas as much as people. The reason: Discarded Christmas trees make fine eating. Nancy ate one a day for several weeks following Christmas.

Brushed up on her tricks, Nancy was ready for her debut in the big time — the National Western Stock Show in Denver. Or so Scott thought.

After the arena was cleared of bucking broncs, Scott came on tugging at Nancy's halter. The close-up of a moose was something, even for westerners. But Nancy was obstinate, she wouldn't acknowledge their applause with a bow.

"I guess it was too big a crowd for Nancy", Scott said later in the stall. "At least it's something to domesticate one."

deficit on current account was $2 million. By 1932, 56% of the annual average revenue was required for interest payments. The Depression after 1929 found the Island dependent on foreign markets and with credit resources exhausted. By the winter of 1932-33 one-quarter of the population was on relief. Faced with imminent default, the government requested a Royal Commission to recommend a course of action. In 1934 the Commission of Government took office, with the Newfoundland constitution suspended and with the United Kingdom assuming financial responsibility for the Island until it could become self-supporting.

World War II. — Newfoundland's strategic position on the sea and airlanes from North America gave her a key point in continental defence. From the beginning of hostilities, the Island's air facilities were made available to the R.C.A.F., and, after the military collapse in Western Europe, Canadian troops went to Newfoundland in June, 1940, to garrison strategic points. Both Canada and the U.S. constructed extensive bases in Newfoundland and Labrador. Canada built an air base at Goose Bay in Labrador (leased to Canada for 99 years in an agreement between the two governments in 1944) and another air base at Torbay, near St. John's. Canada also constructed a large naval escort base at St. John's for the British Admiralty, which remained under control of the Royal Canadian Navy throughout the war. Newfoundland was probably the most heavily defended area of North America during the war. The people of Newfoundland, as they did in 1914-18, made significant contributions to the common effort. Some 10,000 went overseas, to the United Kingdom forces and in a Forestry Corps unit; about 1,500 men and 525 women served in the Canadian Forces; there was a heavy loss in Newfoundland shipping, and over $12 million was loaned to the United Kingdom, interest free. Under the stimulus of wartime developments, principally the large defence expenditure by Canada and the U.S., and, later, the increased prices of fishery exports, there was a rapid rise in national income and government revenue after 1940.

Recent Politics. — In December, 1945, the U.K. Government announced a National Convention would be elected by the people of Newfoundland to investigate their future form of government. The Convention of 45 members met in September, 1946. On February 28, 1947, a resolution was passed to send a delegation to Ottawa to seek out terms of union. In April, 1947, a resolution that the Convention send a delegation to Washington to ascertain the terms of federal union with the United States was defeated by a large majority. In May, 1947, a delegation was sent to London to investigate forms of government under the United Kingdom. Finally, a referendum was arranged. At the first referendum, held on June 3, 1948, Responsible Government received about 69,000 votes; Confederation with Canada about 63,000 votes; and continuation of Commission of Government for a five-year term about 22,000 votes. A further vote was required on the two forms receiving the most votes in the June 3rd referendum. A second referendum was held on July 22, 1948, with 85% of the population exercising their franchise. The total vote showed a majority of about 7,000 in favor of Confederation with Canada. Eighteen of the 25 electoral districts showed a clear majority in favor of Confederation.

Main Industries. — The economy of Newfoundland rests primarily on three industries: Fishing, pulp and paper, and mining. It is a commercial economy: the production of its basic industries, which is far in excess of domestic requirements, is geared to demand in export markets. The following table gives the approximate values:

Sea Products	$15,000,000	$ 7,000,000	$22,000,000
Forest Products	17,000,000	12,000,000	16,000,000
Mining Products	6,000,000	3,000,000	7,000,000
All Others	1,000,000	500,000	1,000,000
Total Exports	$39,000,000	$22,500,000	$46,000,000

Designated A National Historic Site

The old La Coupe Dry Dock area in the vicinity of Fort Beausejour National Historic Park, New Brunswick, has been designated a national historic site, according to an announcement by the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, Minister of Mines and Resources, Ottawa. The site is the gift of Dr. J. Clarence Webster of Shediac, New Brunswick, chairman of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada.

This old French Dry Dock, situated at Lower Jolicure in the County of Westmorland, lies on the La Coupe River, near the point it enters the Aulac River, and is approximately 2½ miles from Fort Beausejour. It is a well preserved structure, with massive earth walls, and it served for the repair, building, and winter storage of small craft used by the French in Bay of Fundy waters. It was constructed before 1700 and was the first dry dock known to have been built in North America.

Through the efforts and generosity of Dr. Webster it has now been added to the list of historic sites administered by the Department of Mines and Resources, as national estates.

Association's View On Movie Theatre

(From an Editorial in The Winchester Press)

At a meeting held recently, the Winchester and District Ministerial Association passed a motion to the effect that a protest be sent . . . against the granting of a motion picture theatre license. The news story said that the motion carried by a very close vote.

We do not like to be too critical of any local or district organization in the conduct of its affairs, but when, in our opinion, an organization opposes a project which we feel is an asset to this village, we are going to challenge such an act.

There is absolutely nothing wrong with a theatre being operated here, and few people will agree with those clergymen who fear it will "lower the moral tone of the village". Local citizens (and most of them good church members) have been attending theatres in adjoining municipalities for years and we'll venture to say it has not lowered their morals one bit. It's questioning the average individual's intelligence to think otherwise. True, there are certain types of moving pictures which should never be screened, especially in the presence of children, but we have sufficient confidence in the men who are behind the local theatre project to know that they will select only pictures that will provide good, clean, wholesome entertainment.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Inspiring Meeting for Easter Thank-Offering United Church W.M.S.

The W.M.S. Easter thank-offering meeting of the Lachute United Church was held last Thursday, March 31, with Mrs. F. N. Stephen, past-president of the Montreal Presbyterial, as guest speaker. Mrs. F. S. McGibbon presided and read the beautiful Easter story from St. John's gospel, 20th chapter.

A duet, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul", was feelingly interpreted by Mrs. Angus Taylor and Mrs. Chas. Duncan, with Mrs. Ken McOuat as accompanist.

"What does Easter mean to us?" was the subject of Mrs. Stephen's address, and in the course of her remarks, she said: "Let us remember these two outstanding words — 'Rejoice and Resolve'. First of all, let us rejoice in the resurrection of our Lord, then let us resolve to carry out his last message to us, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel' . . . This task", continued the speaker, "is still the most important task given to man".

Mrs. Stephen spoke of the desire of the Presbyterial to increase its membership and to form new organizations, stating also that the allocation had been raised to meet the ever-growing needs of the work, here at the home base as well as overseas. Nearly one-half of all money raised for missionary work was used right here in Canada. "Let us go forward" concluded the speaker, "determined to study more, pray more, and give more for the advancement of God's kingdom throughout the world."

Mrs. R. Bradford expressed the appreciation of the meeting and also spoke very highly of the fine work done by Mrs. Stephen as president of the Presbyterial. The meeting closed with a prayer by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough. Tea was served and a fellowship hour enjoyed.

Pre-Easter Services, Inspiring Series at Lachute Baptist Church

Special pre-Easter services will be held in the Lachute Baptist Church from April 9 to 15, inclusive.

Beginning with a great Youth Service on Saturday night, the speaker on this occasion will be Mr. Rowlie Phare, chemical engineer, a young man with a challenging message for youth.

There will be several musical features, with Eugene Husarak, a gifted violinist who came to Canada five weeks ago from Germany; Bill Stubbs, outstanding tenor soloist; Gordon Howell, pianist, marimba player and chalk artist — altogether presenting a program filled with inspiration.

The Rev. Donald C. Harry, who served as a padre during the last war, now pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, Verdun, and a gifted evangelist, will be special preacher Sunday through to Good Friday. Mr. Gordon Howell, artist and musician, will play and draw each night, from Monday to Thursday. Sunday services are at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. At 3 p.m. there will be a special Children's Rally. Week night devotions are at 8 o'clock, and the Good Friday service at 10.30 a.m.

A hearty invitation is extended to all to take part in these services "worth travelling miles to attend".

Maple Avenue B.Y.P.U.

Brownsburg — With Lynton Tomalty presiding, the Young People's meeting at Maple Avenue Baptist Church opened with a rousing singsong of favorite choruses and hymns, followed by the Lord's Prayer.

The roll-call showed 23 members present. It was decided to accept the request of the Ottawa Association of B.Y.P.U.'s to hold the 24th of May rally in the Brownsburg church.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Harry Miller, and began with the scripture, Psalm 54, read by Grace Dixon. Betty Prosser directed an exciting Bible quiz on New Testament history, which ended in a tie. Mrs. Miller read an instructive paper on "The Family and the Church", and Mr. J. G. Duncan led in prayer. Following the last hymn, Mrs. Duncan closed with prayer.

Exchange Teachers Are Entertained

A group of 22 exchange teachers from Montreal were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rogers at a sugar party on Saturday last. The visiting exchanges are from England, Victoria, Vancouver and the U.S.A. A bean supper was served afterwards, and a pleasant time was enjoyed by the visitors.

"Canada's Forgotten Race" Theme of Talks to Local Congregations

G. H. Castleden, M.P., Claims Treatment of Indian Is Blot on Canadian History

The congregations of the Anglican churches at St. Andrews East and Brownsburg heard an appeal by G. Hugh Castleden, M.P., to interest themselves in the Canadian Indian, as an important phase of Christian work. Mr. Castleden has keenly felt the needs for improved health and educational welfare among the Indian for the past eight years, and has served on the Parliamentary Joint Committee for Indian Affairs.

Stating that there were some things in our society that seemed to be contrary to Christian principles, such as gambling in food, and profiteering in war materials in time of war, Mr. Castleden also said that the plight of the Canadian Indian was a blot upon the national life of Canada. The average politician in Canada is not interested in this matter, the speaker said, because the Indian is a ward of the government and has no vote. If the people of this country knew the real facts of the situation, they would soon urge their representatives to act and give justice to the Indians.

Mr. Castleden spoke in appreciation of the work being done by Roman Catholic and Protestant churches in their mission fields. "But this is only scratching the surface of the problem", he said. That there were 135,000 human beings on reservations in Canada, served by 17 schools, lacking in hospital or medical services, exploited by private and some governmental employees, with the death rate of the children worse than that of Calcutta, and T.B. incidence 16 times greater than among the white Canadian — were some of the tragic facts placed before the congregations last Sunday.

That the Indian, when given a chance, was the equal to others, was illustrated many times by the speaker. Brig. Gen. Martin rose to a high position after a splendid scholastic record. The Iroquois race were the finest and most fearless workmen for structual buildings of 85 to 90 stories, and Brantford Indians were unsurpassed in ornamental metal work.

The treaties signed with the Indians have been repeatedly broken, and the story of Oka reservation in this region, is pitiful, claimed the speaker. "Put into action your Christian beliefs . . this is a sound Christian work, an opportunity to do something for your fellow man". Mr. Castelden asked that community groups take an interest in this important work, to study the facts, visit nearby reservations, and fight for a full citizenship for Indians the same as they enjoy in the United States. The Indian motto, "Love and help thy brother", seemed to be an appropriate quotation for those of the Christian Church, observed this impressive speaker.

(Mr. Castleden represents the constituency of Yorkton, Sask., and was here visiting his uncle, the Rev. G. T. Spriggs, during last week-end.)

There are people who want a new world while they themselves go on living in the same old way.

Canadian Press SPORTS CAMERA

By WALLY IZSAK

It's spring (below the line), and the crack of bat against ball is heard again across the border as baseball teams — both major league and sandlot alike — prep for the opening of the season.

The annual guessing game of which team will finish in what spot is on again. And, as usual, your guess is as good as the next guy's.

Major leagues — the American and National — hold the spotlight as the teams attempt to pare their rosters and settle players in permanent positions.

Cleveland Indians — led by their brilliant playing-manager, Lou Boudreau — are favored to capture the American League pennant and move into the World Series for their second straight year. Behind this reasoning is that they have their Big Four in pitchers — Bob Feller, Earl Wynn, Bob Lemon and Gene Bearden — plus a top catcher in Jim Hegan. And then the infield is second to none with Ken Keltner, Boudreau, Joe Gordon and Mickey Vernon. The outfield has powermen Dale Mitchell, Larry Dody and Allie Clark.

Close behind probably will be Boston Red Sox as fans expect a big year from hurlers Joe Dobson, Tex Hughson, Jack Kramer and Mel Parnell. Practically the same team that almost beat out Cleveland last year will take to the field this year with slugging Ted Williams in the lead.

Not too much can be expected from the other American League clubs — Philadelphia Athletics, New York Yankees, Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Browns, Washington Senators and Chicago White Sox.

Pitching A Factor

If Connie Mack's Athletics' good pitching staff connects for a better year than last the A's may rise higher than expected. The Yankees will go along on two players again — Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich — third-class pitching and poor fielding. Detroit Tigers are an unknown quantity with a new manager in Red Rolfe.

The other three teams aren't considered as contenders by anyone.

Boston Braves are picked as tops again in the National. The club has two great hurlers in right-hander Johnny Sain and southpaw Warren Spahn. Then there's the neat infield of Earl Torgeson, Eddie Stanky, Alvin Dark and Bob Elliott and the addition of Pistol Pete Reiser to the outfield.

St. Louis Cardinals' chances are problematical. If infielders Red Schoendienst, Marty Marion and Whitey Kurowski play the type of ball they are capable of, the Cards will be right up near the top. Stan Musial will be around with Enos Slaughter to lend power and experience. In pitchers they have Harry Brecheen, Howie Pollet and Al Brazle.

Brooklyn Dodgers and Pittsburg Pirates may be the dark horses of the circuit. Both have youth sprinkled with experience and this year may show just how good they are. Brooklyn's Burt Shotton has been the only manager to say his team will end up "first".

New York Giants have only two twirlers — Larry Jansen and Sheldon Jones — they can depend on, although they have fair hitters in Walker Cooper and Sid Gordon.

Philadelphia Phillies just now are working up a good farm system and going along on a young team. Manager Ed Sawyer is building up the club and his players may bear watching along with Cincinnati Reds. The cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs aren't expected to get anywhere.

THE SPRING THAW will affect MOTOR COACH SERVICES TEMPORARILY

To co-operate with the highway authorities of the Province of Quebec, during the spring thaw period, Provincial Transport coaches will operate at a reduced speed.

Scheduled departure times will be adhered to as closely as possible at starting points, but coaches may lose time en route and arrive at destinations slightly behind schedule.

Where the effects of the spring thaw are very pronounced, motorcoach services will be suspended for the duration of the spring thaw period.

We regret any inconvenience to our passengers, but they will understand our desire to co-operate with the Provincial Government in the preservation of our highways.

100 NEW AND ENLARGED BUILDINGS help provide more and better telephone service

IN THREE SHORT YEARS, despite labour and material shortages, we have put up 50 new telephone buildings and greatly enlarged 50 others. Altogether we have added 444,000 square feet of space to help in the big expansion and improvement program which is making your telephone service better all the time.

Building costs have gone up 45% in these three years. Yet, up to now, despite rising costs on all sides there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 22 years ago. Few things give you so much real value at such low cost as your telephone.

We've broken all records, but there are still orders we haven't been able to fill. We will keep right on working and building to make your telephone service a bigger bargain than ever — to continue to provide more and better service at the lowest possible cost.

Study Your Footwear

Montreal (CP) — If the shoe doesn't fit, its good look means nothing but good torture.

That's the word from the Canadian Shoe Manufacturers, who recommend that all women look for fit in their footwear first then go for shoe beauty.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hammond of the association, thinks most women neglect the feet from which they expect so much.

And the way they do it, she said, is by buying ill-fitting shoes, which soon bulge out here and there and become a sure source of general discomfort, bad temper and irritated nerves.

"The price of a smart looking shoe is sometimes high in more ways than the actual cost of the shoes," she added.

Before buying a new pair of shoes, she suggested women study both the old pair and the feet that wear them, looking especially for evidence of pressure, rubbing and toe-crowding.

"Pains in the leg muscles", Mrs. Hammond said, "are generally caused by ill-fitting or too short shoes."

It's Ham for Easter

Even in those families where there is a demand for constant variety in everyday menus there is rigid adherence to tradition for holiday meals such as Christmas, Thanksgiving and Easter.

Easter calls for baked ham just as the other festivities suggest turkey of goose. It may be a whole ham, a half ham, picnic ham, cottage roll or just a thick slice so long as it is ham. Or the "ham" may be a piece of back bacon and glazed just like a real ham.

There are several styles of ham on the market today. Some are cooked, all ready to serve. The type that requires home preparation has been modernized by partial cooking and is quite often sold as tenderized, pre-cooked ham. Each type requires different treatment in cooking.

With the baked ham the right garnishes may add much to flavor as well as appearance.

Here are some tips from the home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

When the pièce de résistance is a whole baked ham the way it is placed on the table makes a difference to the carver.

The shank bone should be to the carver's right with the beautifully glazed fat side up. An added help to the host in his carving is the marking of the aitch bone. This is a two-inch, slanting bone showing in the butt end of the ham. If a thin slice is cut from the ham on the side opposite this bone (this may be on the side near or away from the carver, depending on whether it is a right or left leg ham), the carver may then cut several more slices from this side then turn the ham so that it rests on this cut side. After that the ham may be sliced down to the bone in even slices. These are separated for serving by a lenghtwise cut along the bone.

Baked Virginia Ham

Simmer ham in water to cover until tender allowing 25 to 30 minutes per lb. Keep pot covered and the water just simmering. Remove skin, score the fat surface in squares or diamonds. Cover the surface with the following mixture:

1 Cup applesauce, 1 teaspoon mustard, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour.

Stick a whole clove in each diamond. Bake ham at 400°F, for 15 minutes or until nicely browned. A ten to twelve pound ham yields 20 to 24 servings.

Suggested Glazes for Baked Ham

1. A mixture of ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup dry bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon dry mustard and ¼ cup fruit juice. Spread over the fat surface.
2. Mixture of 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1½ tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 cup water or stock. Pour over ham and baste several times during browning period.
3. Mixture of ½ cup white sugar and the grated rind of an orange. Spread over the fat surface.
4. Maple syrup, honey or corn syrup may be poured over the ham or be used in place of sugar in the above glazes.

Cloves are used with all the above glazes. These are stuck into the fat after the glaze is poured over.

NEW KITCHEN SLATED

Kitchener, Ont. (CP) — The Kitchener-Waterloo orphanage is to have a new kitchen. A sagging beam in the 75-year-old room made it necessary for $3,500 to be voted by the board to build the new kitchen immediately.

This world is a comedy to those that think, a tragedy to those that feel. —Horace Walpole

FASHION HINT

A finely detailed gabardine suit is a good investment that pays in long wear. This one is in soft gray and uses shaped darts that are released on the bodice coming from the set-in waistband. The hip pockets are neatly worked into the seaming. Smoky pearl buttons fasten the longish jacket. The skirt is fashionably slim.

Honeymoon Planner Knows the Answers

Niagara Falls Losing Out, Says Woman Travel Agent

New York (CP) — Petite Betty White, who runs a travel agency for newlyweds, says she can tell pretty well how a marriage will turn out from the attitude of a couple when they make plans for a honeymoon.

"When they come in here holding hands, agreeable to anything just so they'll be together, I figure they'll be happy", she says.

"But when they start to scrap in my office even before they're wed — well, watch out!"

There have been some violent quarrels in Miss White's office. One engagement was broken there recently. The man objected to the girl bringing Mama on the honeymoon.

"It was a real knock-down drag-out fight", Miss White says, "but it turned out happily. A week later they were back—making arrangements just for two!"

But some couples don't want to go off by themselves. They like to go to spots where they'll meet other newlyweds.

And there are "problem" honeymooners who want to keep their marriage a secret. Miss White says she solves such cases by registering them separately, then confidentially tipping the hotel to give them adjoining rooms.

Miss White reports that Niagara Falls isn't doing too well just now. Couples prefer to visit other parts of Canada.

"Even in winter, they don't seem to mind the cold", she said.

A Kitchener alderman baked a cake for one woman and baby-sat for two others, so that they could leave their homes to vote. He was re-elected.

Intimate Glimpses at A Brilliant Pianist

Rudolf Firkusny, the Czech pianist, who gives a concert at the Auditorium here next Tuesday, April 12 (8.30 p.m.) under auspices of the Lachute Community Concerts Association, is a distinctive pianistic personality. He is also one of music's most eligible bachelors. He will shortly become an American citizen but he still has not settled down in a permanent home of his own. He lives in a small apartment opposite New York's great Plaza Hotel and uses the hotel's facilities to entertain his friends.

Firkusny's hobby is mountain climbing, and his Alpine-stick has many notches to prove his prowess. He has done more to promote the popularity of Czech music than any other living Bohemian. His favorite dish is sugedena goulash after a recipe borrowed from the gypsies of his native land. He left Prague the night the Nazis marched into the city. Into a single suitcase he crowded his most prized possessions, the beginning of a collection of rare manuscripts. He speaks six languages and is especially fond of Spanish. He wears a watch given him by Queen Mother Elizabeth of the Belgians.

His mentor in America is the aged Josef Kovarik, who used to be first viola player of the New York Philharmonic Symphony. As a boy in Bohemia, Kovarik became the protégé of Anton Dvorak, who brought him to America with him. Many years later Kovarik helped Firkusny prepare the first performance of Dvorak's piano concerto given in the United States in 65 years.

This season Firkusny was selected for two important "firsts", the premiere of Howard Hanson's new concerto with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and the first New York performance of Gian-Carlo Menotti's new concerto with the New York Philharmonic Symphony.

Big Day for Curlers As Open Bonspiel Concluded Saturday

ANNUAL MEETING AND PRIZE DISTRIBUTION TOMORROW

Lachute Curling Club's first Open Bonspiel was concluded Saturday evening, after a full week's playing in which over 65 rinks were entered.

It was a busy week for all concerned, and congratulations are due to the various committees for the splendid success of this event. The ladies in particular deserve commendation for the meals and refreshments served for convenience of the players. A friendly spirit was evident throughout this bonspiel, and many new friendships have been established, along with the renewal of old acquaintances between Lachute members and those from the visiting clubs.

Early in the week several high-plus scores appeared, the most notable being by J. R. Charron and his team who rolled up a count of 23 points over their opponents from Rockland, Ont. There were others also, all from the Lachute club, but in the sportmanlike spirit of this event, these were withdrawn in order to give outside teams a better chance.

Saturday was the last day for play and after a toss between Outremont and Caledonia for fourth place, the following four teams emerged in the semi-finals:

L. Ireland, Montreal West (13) vs. Bruce Ness, Howick (3).

J. McLeod, Lachine (7) vs. A. E. Paterson, Caledonia (14), (Geo. Vair, sub-skip).

Results of this play left the finals between Montreal West and Caledonia, the former team winning by a margin of 3 points — 13 to 10.

It was a splendid game and one of the finest exhibitions of curling seen here. Excitement ran high, particularly among the large number of spectators, who as usual "skipped" the game perfectly from behind the plate-glass.

Montreal West started well, winning slowly but surely until Caledonia suddenly made a spurt and took the lead. It was then nip-and-tuck until the 12th end, tieing the game 10-10. Thus it remained until the last four shots were played. Caledonia was lying shot when Montreal West on an outturn wick changed the picture, leaving it practically impossible for Skip Geo Vair to take the lead, although he made a very fine try. This ended a hard fought but very spectacular game.

In the consolation game between Lachine and Howick, the former won with a score of 10 to 5.

Later in the evening, singing and dancing provided further enjoyment. The club president, Frank E. Earle, thanked the gathering for their attendance, and expressed appreciation of the splendid services rendered by the ladies and the various committees.

Mr. C. Tremblay presented the winning team, Montreal West, with beautiful travelling rugs, a product of the Ayers Limited mills.

The runners-up, Caledonia, were awarded Ronson lighters, while the other two teams, Lachine and Howick, received consolation prizes.

During this week, there have been a few odd games, in which the ladies took a major part, and the annual meeting will be held tomorrow evening (Friday), starting with a dinner at 6.30 o'clock, after which the presentation of prizes will take place.

Church Bowling League Finals Next Monday

The semi-finals and finals of the Lachute United Church bowling league will be played next Monday evening, the elimination play-offs having been concluded last week.

The W.M.S. Reds, skipped by Miss R. Parsons, came through after a poor start to conquer the league leaders, led by Chas. Rapson — 1 - 11, 7 - 4 and 6 - 2. C. McNaughton's Y.P.U. team also qualified for further competition by defeating Mrs. J. G. Lamontagne's Red Cross team — 6 - 5, 4 - 5 and 8 - 4. Mrs. M. Tillotson's W.M.S. foursome needed just two games to eliminate the High School team (A. Thompson), 6 - 2 and 11 - 1; and the Sunday School Teachers, skipped by Mrs. R. Todd, also won in two straight games against the Ladies' Aid (Mrs. H. Scott), 11 - 1 and 7 - 1.

The line-up for the semi-finals, at 7.15 p.m., will be as follows:

W.M.S. Blues vs. W.M.S. Reds
Y.P.U. vs. S.S. Teachers

The male section of the bowling league furnished and served the refreshments last Monday evening, which was appreciated by those present.

The finals will be played at approximately 8.30 p.m. next Monday, and the Albert Mitchell prizes will be awarded the winners; the runners-up will also receive awards. Members and friends are cordially invited.

Curling is a typically Scottish game — more so than golf, since no matter how hard you throw a rock, you cannot lose it as you can a golf ball. We have wondered sometimes how the Scots ever conceived a sport where the wear and tear on a broom is really something.

and had regulated a very difficult problem by having the meters installed. The cost was borne by the company installing the meters receiving 75 per cent of the meter "take" until the cost was liquidated.

The council desired it to be known that a very serious view was taken of individuals erecting private no-parking signs for stands on the public streets. This was in violation of the law and could not be tolerated. The streets were governed by the municipal council, and traffic regulated by laws enacted by them.

Chimneys

The council enacted By-law No. 72 which prohibited the erection of what was described as "mail-order chimneys". The by-law was an extended ordinance which, in effect, proclaimed that chimneys must be erected from the frost-line as solid masonry and must be constructed of double brick with broken joint, or brick and tile, and to project three feet above the roof. Only one outlet is allowed into an 8 x 8 chimney; if more than one is desired the chimney must be 12 x 8 in size. Floor flanges must be ventilated and of specific size and pipes shall not be constructed to enter walls or windows.

The by-law was moved by Councillor Denault and seconded by Councillor Pariseau.

Wartime Houses

Central Mortgage Corporation reported that five more Wartime Houses had been acquired by the present tenants, and request was made to the council that municipal facilities be accorded to the new owners.

KEEP GAMES GOING

One thing for sponsors and performers in any sport to remember, is that the fans, who lay the money on the line, have a right to demand a fast moving show. Nothing gets under the skin more than delays, whether they can be helped or not.

Highly Successful Season Reviewed At Closing Session of Curling Club

ROBT. TODD HEADS CLUB AS PRESIDENT-ELECT

Last Friday evening marked the close of curling activities for this season and the occasion of the annual meeting; this was preceded by a dinner at which over 50 members were present.

Seated at the head table were President Frank E. Earle and members of various committees. After supper, the meeting was called to order and reports were given which showed that the Club, with its numerous activities, including its first annual Open Bonspiel, had passed a most successful year, both socially and financially.

During the season there had been many competitions, evidencing at all times a fine spirit of sportsmanship. Most encouraging were the expressions of approval from outside curlers who visited and played here on the new artificial ice, and it is now recognized that Lachute boasts of one of the finest rinks for its size to be found anywhere in Canada.

Winners of the competitions were as follows: —

Dunany Cup — Colin McOuat, Jas. McNish, H. McFaul, Delbert McTavish (skip).

President's Prize (F. E. Earle, president) — J. Johnston, N. Boyd, Jas. McGibbon, D. McTavish (skip).

Vice-President's Prize (R. Todd, vice-president) — E. Rice, Chas. McFaul, F. Legault, R. Todd (skip).

Mackie Senior — H. Morrison, F. E. Earle, A. Ogilvie, Jas. MacKimmie (skip).

Mackie Junior — R. Hadley, S. Drew, F. W. FitzGerald, A. Rochon (skip).

Match Committee — Jas. McOuat, F. Royal, R. A. Giles, H. Dion (skip).

Combination Bonspiel, Senior — Rev. C. Maclean, O. Laurin, W. McArthur, S. Blais (skip).

Combination Bonspiel, Junior — Mac Walker, R. McRae, F. Royal, Art St. Onge (skip).

Governor General's Centre, 2 rinks — Richard Muir, Alex Rochon, Geo. Muir, Geo. Calder (skip). H. Morrison, A. St. Onge, L. Cruise, A. Ogilvie (skip).

In addition to the above prizes, Mr. C. Tremblay made a special donation of a beautiful tartan plaid rug to Mr. L. Cruise, for his splendid work as refreshment supervisor; also to Mr. Geo. Muir, who won the award in a draw by the Match Committee; and a similar presentation to the president, Mr. Earle, for his notable efforts during a very difficult year.

Appreciation was expressed by the recipients to Mr. Tremblay for this thoughtful gesture.

Election of officers then took place with the following result:

Officers for 1949-50 — R. Todd, president; Jas. McGibbon, vice-president; F. A. Brennian, treasurer; H. McFaul, secretary.

Board — G. Muir, H. Scott, A. Ogilvie, L. Bedard.

House and Ice Committee — Del. McTavish, Chas. McFaul, John MacKimmie.

Match Committee — C. E. Richardson, Roy Fraser, R. Cairns, I. Gordon, W. M. Steeves.

Reps. to Branch — Jas. MacKimmie, W. Pollock.

Reps. to Centre — Geo. Calder, J. R. Charron.

Auditors — Ian Gordon, G. Valois.

Before retiring, the president, Mr. Earle, acknowledged the hearty support which had been given him during his term, and extended good wishes to the newly elected officers for a successful year. Appreciation was extended to the president and the various committees for the success of their year's work.

Mr. Jas. W. McGibbon, newly elected vice-president, then assumed the chair, in the unavoidable absence of President R. Todd, and in a few well chosen words solicited the co-operation of all members during the coming year.

Two Arrested on Assault Charge

Two men out of a trio who allegedly beat up a hotel proprietor and wrecked furniture and effects in his establishment at Stonefield, were arrested at Vankleek Hill by Det. P. Therriault and Traffic Officer A. Legault last Saturday, and placed in custody at St. Jerome jail. Arrested were Ernest and Romeo Vernier; the third man, Omer Vernier, eluded the police, who were furnished with a warrant charging grievous assault arising out of a fracas which took place at the hotel on the previous Saturday. The three men, cousins, were reported to have been members of a party of five who visited the hotel and entered into an argument with the proprietor; the trio allegedly beat and kicked the hotelman, also breaking seven dozen glasses, a window, a door and chairs to the estimated damage of $115.

William J. Bryant, former resident here and well known to the people of Lachute, was this week elected president of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society. Rudolph Firkusny Thrills Audience With Brilliant Piano Performance

SEASON'S FINAL PERFORMANCE IN 'COMMUNITY CONCERTS'

The first season of Lachute Community Concerts Association has come to a close. The last performance was held Tuesday night in the Auditorium, and no finer artist could have been chosen than Rudolf Firkusny, the Czech pianist, to bring this cultural venture to a fitting finish for the season.

Rudolf Firkusny appears, on the stage, a modest and composed individual, but his whole personality comes afire as he performs in musical contrasts at the piano. A seventeenth century composition by Cernohorsky for the organ, and arranged by Firkusny for piano, was the first selection by the pianist. The influence of J. S. Bach, a contemporary of the composer's, could be readily seen.

The main work on the first part of the program was the Sonata in E by Beethoven — in three movements, Vivace ma non troppo, Prestissimo and Andante. The varied tempos of this composition gave excellent opportunity for the soloist to feelingly interpret the light and sonorous phases of this grand work.

Three selections of Chopin, better known to the audience, brought the first half of the program to a close.

The immortal Franz Liszt was featured after the intermission, when his "Funerailles" was dramatically played by Firkusny. This rendition gave wonderful scope for the pianist's left hand, for the heavy, melodious bass, full of rhythm and beauty, and the performance brought thunderous applause from the audience.

Several lighter pieces were rendered by the pianist, and he generously extended his program with three encores, including Debussy's "Clair de Lune", a popular melody, and another Chopin selection.

The executive of Lachute Community Concerts are to be heartily congratulated for their efforts in bringing such fine talent to Lachute, and there is no doubt that "Community Concerts" is an enterprise that is here to stay.

Armed Hold-Up, Banque Provinciale At St. Philippe

At the St. Philippe branch of the Banque Provinciale around 1.15 o'clock last Thursday afternoon, manager Albini Lamarche was alone at his desk when a stranger entered the premises, flourished a revolver and ordered him to hand over his cash. The lone bandit addressed the manager in French; his command was, "Make it snappy — it's a travelling transfer" (according to the nearest literal translation given by the detectives). The manager thought the intruder was joking, but found out he was "pulling a fast one" in real earnest; he pushed his brief-case across the counter and ordered the banker to place the money in it. Having no other recourse, the manager parted with a sum in the neighborhood of $650, and the gunman left. Described as a man of dark complexion, 160 lbs., and about 5' 7" tall, he was seen entering a dark blue Plymouth 1948 sedan and heading west on Highway No. 8. A witness procured the license number, which was traced as a plate stolen from a car owner in St. Jerome.

Provincial police authorities at Lachute and Montreal were immediately notifed, and special watch was kept at the bridges. Traffic Officer A. Legault was the first to reach the scene, followed by Det. P. Therriault. Detectives of the hold-up squad in Montreal took over the investigation.

Musical Demonstration By High School Pupils

Something new in the extra-curricular activities of Lachute High School was depicted last Friday evening in the hall of the United Church, when senior and junior students displayed their talents to parents and friends in a varied recital, ranging from solo work on a woodwind, duet for violins, and bright, cheerful singing from the junior choir.

Principal F. H. J. Royal offered a few remarks about musical development at the school, giving credit to Mr. Earl Morrison for his untiring work with the band and orchestra, and to Messrs. Burt Miller and P. Grant for their fine achievements with the string section of the orchestra.

The band and orchestra played several numbers during the evening, interspersed with violin, clarinet, vocals by the young choir, and selections from the brass ensemble. No fewer than 27 young violin aspirants played a trio of pieces — an assembly which amazed many among the audience.

The idea of the demonstration was not to give prominence to one or two special students, but to show to parents and those interested what is being done musically for pupils attending the school.

Ice-Break on the Ottawa River Is Spectacular Scene

Cushing — Last Sunday the ice moved out of the Ottawa River at Cushing. Within the space of two hours, an apparently safe winter road, and a surface of ice extending from shore to shore, became a swift-moving river full of movement and life. While spectators watched, a loud crack heralded the approaching break-up. Soon a spidery white line moved rapidly along the surface. Other lines appeared in various places, and clefts became visible, enlarging slowly. Water showed up through the breaks and began to flow over the surface. One large sheet of ice submerged leaving a space of clear water; this was soon strewn with broken ice. Next, a whole section of ice began to raise itself above the little lakes of water until it was fully six feet above the water level. It seemed as if some giant on the river bottom arose from his slumber and stretched his massive limbs bursting the bonds of winter's grip.

At other parts of the river the same process was in operation, and before long large patches of water showed more and more. Another sheet of ice broke off, and buffeting its way, smashed portions from the main sheet till a general upheaval was going on all over the river. In less than two hours the ice at the banks was slipping into the current and silently moving out to the fast-awakening river. . . Winter had given up the ghost . . it was a fascinating sight while it lasted.

Aged Resident Died Suddenly at Grenville

James Ogilvie, 84-year-old retired farmer, was found dead at his home, a dwelling adjoining the Arnold Farm at Grenville, last Monday morning. The discovery was made by his housekeeper, who stated Mr. Ogilvie had taken a lunch and retired apparently in good health the previous night. At 7 a.m. Monday she found him dead in his bed.

Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur, of Lachute, pronounced death due to natural causes.

Fire Chief Emphasizes Danger of Grass-Fires; Answers Several Calls

Warning on the danger of grass-fires accompanying the spring-time clean-up urge, is voiced by Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon. The burning of dried grass is a procedure to be watched with care; such fires spread quickly beyond control. They should never be left unattended, nor should children be permitted to engage in this practice.

The local fire brigade has received several alarms of this kind in the past week. In a blaze near the North River, in Filion subdivision, a fire had spread to within a few feet of a frame house, from which the residents were absent at the time. This is one instance illustrating how neglected grass-fires can prove costly.

Fish Conservation

Calling all fishermen! Calling all fishermen! Any fisherman worth his salt will know full well that the trout season has opened, that the doré season opens on May 16 and the bass season on June 16 . . . and any fisherman worth his salt will throw back unharmed any fish caught out of season; that is, he will if he cares whether his children share in the bountiful gifts of nature.

The Minister of Game and Fisheries of the Province has issued the following statement:

"The conservation of our natural resources should be our motto for this year (1949). Let us go fishing, but let us pledge ourselves to restrict our own bag limits and to never waste one single fish. We must help our civil authorities in their never-ending fight for the conservation of our natural resources amidst the dangers facing our national wealth. In 1949, let us wage total war on the poachers. Be it our duty to assist the game warden in tracking them down and ending their operations. In short, that is the aim of our laws. If we sincerely wish our children to enjoy their fishing, let us take honest ways and means to leave them the inheritance of well-stocked lakes and rivers.— Camille E. Pouliot, M.D., Minister of Game and Fisheries of the Province of Quebec."

It requires no skill for a fisherman to catch dore or bass before the season opens — they'll bite at anything which they think will harm their young — just the plain mother instinct. A fisherman is measured by his catch taken during the open season, not by the fish he "murders" out of season.

"IN BROWNSBURG"

Specially Contributed

Brownsburg — The fire brigade answered an alarm at 9 a.m. Saturday from the residence of Romeo Farmer, outside the Brownsburg limits on the Dalesville road. When the firemen arrived they found the fire well under way and a frame dwelling well ablaze. A hose was soon connected to a roadside creek 500 feet from the burning building, and three streams of water played on the flames. Two hours later the work was completed, but the building was a 75% loss.

Fire Chief Robbins, in a statement to The Watchman, said the origin of the fire was a stove-pipe leading into a cement block chimney on a bracket. This pipe went through a wood partition, and whether the partition or the side wall of the house at the chimney was the first to catch fire, he was unable to ascertain. There was considerable delay in turning in a call, as the occupants endeavored to extinguish the fire before calling for help. Chief Robbins estimated the loss at about $3,000, one third of which was covered by insurance.

Mr. M. Ahearne of the Chief Fire Commissioner's Office, Quebec, attended a special meeting of the Brownsburg Council held at the fire station on Monday evening. In response to a request by W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., to have the council's application for assistance in the purchase of a new fire truck attended to, Mr. Ahearne was directed to visit Brownsburg and report back on his observations.

The members of the council, assisted by their fire chief, Arthur Robbins, placed all the facts at the agent's disposal, and they stressed the necessity of more efficient equipment and means of reporting outbreaks of fire. Mr. Ahearne was appreciative of the necessity, and seemed favorably impressed. As a result, the council expects an early confirmation of the proposed purchase.

French-speaking members of Brownsburg Catholic Church have just concluded a very successful mission conducted by Dominican Fathers Laurin and Pharand. The mission extended over two weeks, and was attended by large crowds of the faithful at the morning and evening devotions. The concluding service on Sunday morning saw very large numbers approach the rails to receive Holy Communion. The English members' mission will be held at a later date, possibly in June.

Funeral Rites for Accident Victim

A resident of Brownsburg in recent years, Albert Denis, was crushed to death in a mine accident in British Columbia last week. It appears the young man with four other mine workers was descending the mine shaft in an elevator, when some drills or shafts of steel which were also in the elevator cage became displaced and caused the cage to fall a distance of several feet. The remains were brought for burial in Brownsburg, where a service was held at the church of St. Louis de France.

Grasshoppers Out, Greet Early Spring

Last year's grasshoppers reached the proportions of a plague in many parts of Canada. And their memory has hardly faded before — well, here they are again!

Last week-end, on a sunny slope near his farm buildings, Fred Alexander, of Hill Foot, found numerous young hoppers, newly hatched but ready for an active season.

The female hopper is a prolific breeder. She lays five or six "pods" in the fall, each pod containing from 20 to 80 eggs which hatch out in the spring. So, judging from the profusion of hoppers in these parts last season, there will be a plentiful population of the pests this year.

Syrup Season Brief, But Quality Good

Cushing West — The warm summer-like weather has brought the sugar season to an end for this year. The output in this section is away below the average, but of very good quality.

Recent and Future Activities of B'burg Rotary Club

In the Brownsburg Rotary program, nothing is being neglected to bring to the club membership speakers of outstanding quality— several of particular note having been heard recently at their weekly meetings.

Bert Stuffman, a member of the Montreal Rotary, and vice-president of the Montreal Coke Manufacturing Company, who has sojourned in England and is a graduate of the University of Australia, addressed the club at one of its recent assemblies.

Last week the guest speaker was the Rev. Chas. Donald, of the United Church in Ottawa and a past-president of the Ottawa Rotary Club. The Rev. Donald, a native of Toronto, spent 16 years of his life as a missionary in India. His talk, "Practical Idealism", offered much helpful advice which, if put into action, could make this world a better place to live in.

At this regular meeting, Mr. Don McMartin, of Canadian Industries Ltd., Brownsburg, and Mr. T. F. Martin, of Boyd's Lachute Express Ltd., were among the guests.

This afternoon, Thursday, the Rotarians are visiting the J. C. Wilson Paper Company's plant, by courtesy of the company officials. This tour of a local industry will be welcomed by the clubmen as an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the operations and routine of a paper mill. After the tour of inspection, the regular luncheon will be held at the Laurentian Hotel, Lachute.

Enthusiasm is now evident in the Rotary's annual Carnival; the aim of the committee is for a bigger and better show, and plans are underway accordingly. Rotarian J. Finlayson is head of this committee.

May 15 is the date for the opening of District 170 Conference in Ottawa, and President N. Somers, of Brownsburg, expects to have his club well represented in the capital.

June 12-16 are dates announced for the 40th annual International convention, in New York City. Rotarians from all over the world will gather for this conclave — men of different languages, representing many countries, all under one insignia and ideal, the establishment of peace in a tormented world.

Survey for Route 31 Reconstruction Said to Include By-Pass at Dalesville

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — On Monday, road patrols started operating on the roads, and traffic inspectors were established to prevent damage to the road surfaces during the period of thaw.

Further activity was noted on Route 31, where surveyors are making last-minute surveys preparatory to widening and surfacing, which is to take place during the next four years.

The contract has already been let, and work is expected to start from the end of the present asphalted surface outside the Brownsburg limits as soon as conditions permit. Route 31 will be diverted from the present road west of Campbell's Bridge and a new route will be made through virgin ground from that point to about the "cheese factory hill." This change will cut off two bridges and greatly lessen the cost, and will provide a straight highway avoiding the right-angle turn at Dalesville village. The contract calls for completion of the work of surfacing to St. Jovite within the period of four years. It is expected that the roadbed will be completed to Pine Hill before next winter.

Game Warden's Family Fostered Hungry Deer Herd

"L'Action Catholique" in its issue of April 7 published some excellent pictures illustrating the exploits of Game Warden Gordon Cook, of Arundel, and his family in feeding a herd of deer threatened with starvation in that snow-clad area of the Laurentians. After school the family — Marjory, Ronny Allan, Billy and Earl Cook — cut and hauled cedar boughs, on which the deer fed each evening to their hearts' content, without fear of molestation (and the story is proven by a close-up picture of six deer munching at the branches).

This conservation effort has received much favorable publicity. The current issue of Montreal Standard also shows pictures of the activities, and describes the depleted food supply — cedars and balsams stripped of their lower limbs and now beyond reach of the deer, who trek nightly to their yarding ground in T. C. Stuart's fields. For the splendid work in Arundel district, Alan Lonstaff, writing in The Standard, gives considerable credit to the junior wardens under Gordon Cook's guidance.

It is reported that the Quebec Minister of Game and Fisheries, Hon. Camille Pouliot, has written an appreciative letter to Mr. Cook's family, and "in the name of Quebec sportsmen" presented them each with a complimentary fishing permit and an honorary game warden's badge.

Grenville Consolidated School Activities

By Martha Richardson

School attendance has been excellent all winter, but recently, with the arrival of spring, it has dropped off quite considerably. Measles has been the guilty agent. However, there are but two days left before the Easter holiday and it is expected that, when the children return after the vacation the epidemics will have subsided.

The boys are steadily bringing in their birdhouses as entries for the competition. The judging is to take place this Thursday. From all appearances the judges will not have a very easy time of it. There are to be three classes — junior, intermediate and senior.

The boys are also absorbed in marble games. Every available corner is jammed with players and onlookers. The girls have their skipping ropes. So that spring is really here! It is expected that softball will be started in a day or two, just as soon as the playing field dries up sufficiently.

The pupils in the senior grades made a presentation to their classmate, Annie Buhl. Annie expects to leave shortly for her new home in the U.S.A. She received a very charming bracelet, and a compact. Her many friends will certainly miss her, as she has been quite active in school affairs. All join in wishing her success in her new home.

The pupils and teachers are to attend a church service in the Anglican Church Thursday morning. Several of the children will take part in the service. The order of service is so arranged that it will be truly a pupils' church function.

On behalf of the pupils and teachers of Grenville Consolidated School — Easter Greetings to all.

Hit-Run Incident At Grenville

At Grenville Bay around midnight last Saturday, Olier Lalande, 66, was struck and gravely injured by a hit-and-run driver. Lalande, a retired farmer, had latterly been engaged as a watchman on the highway, and had left his roadside post to return to his home in Grenville. At a point near Chantal's Store, he was struck from the rear by a driver proceeding from a westerly direction into Grenville Village, and there was no eye-witness to give a description of the car. The victim, who was found unconscious suffering a probable fracture of the skull, was taken to his home and received treatment by Dr. L. P. Beaudoin, of Hawkesbury, and Dr. R. Laviolette, of l'Orignal. He was later removed to the Neurological Institute of the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Traffic Officer Albert Legault was called to the scene, and the investigation is being followed up by Det. P. Therriault of Lachute and Det. A. Coulombe from Montreal headquarters.

Electrical Servants

A prominent electrical engineer recently took out his slide-rule, covered several sheets of paper with calculations, and figured out that the average man exerts a power equal to about 35 watts of electricity when working at normal speed.

We've been thinking that over and translating it into terms of the everyday electrical appliances which many of us have in our homes. We had never thought of electricity in that way before and so the results rather amazed us—and we think they may surprise other people too. Here are a few samples of how it works out :

— It would take two men, working 50 minutes out of each hour, to create the energy which the average electric light bulb burns in that hour.

— It would take 28 men, working steadily for an hour, to create the same amount of energy as an electric iron or toaster uses in an hour.

(Incidentally, did you know that it takes about twice as much electricity to operate an electric iron as it takes to operate a washing machine?)

— It would take 50 men, working a full hour, to create the energy which a kitchen electric range uses in an hour on its main heavy-duty element.

— It would take 84 men, working a full hour, to keep the average 3,000 watt water-heater supplied with power for an hour.

Naturally, if we didn't have electricity we wouldn't use manpower in quite that way to get things done around the home. We would find some other way of doing the work, just as we did before electricity became the abundant, inexpensive source of power it is today. Just the same, the whole thing gives us a new idea of just how much electricity helps us these days — and of how cheap that electricity is when its cost is compared with the work it does.

Did You Know ?

The Hull Electric Company first distributed electricity from Deschenes Rapids in 1896.

The Ayers Electric Company first distributed electricity in Lachute, Brownsburg and Staynerville in 1897.

The St. Jerome Municipal plant, with 300 kilowatt capacity, served St. Jerome up to 1925. Now it requires 6,000 kilowatt capacity to supply St. Jerome.

Cleaning Up The Storage

Unsanitary conditions in the storage cause destruction to the building as well as harmful effects to the stored products, says W. R. Phillips, Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Decayed apples, potatoes or other refuse form a breeding area for moulds, yeasts and possibly bacteria. These organisms spread to doors, frames, joists or other wooden parts. Once they have penetrated these structures, they may grow rapidly and cause general deterioration. While growing, these organisms cause musty, stale odours which may eventually penetrate sound produce, bringing objectionable taints.

Progressive storage operators who want to reduce maintenance costs, and maintain high standards in their products, will adopt sanitary precautions. It is not only profitable, but is good advertising to have fresh, clean storage.

At this time of the year, the storage is usually becoming depleted. Last season's crop will soon be disposed of in preparation for another year's activities. Instead of postponing the storage clean-up until the space is needed, it would be much better to prevent the damage now.

Produce like fruit and vegetables make an excellent ground for organisms and it is better to throw out all unmarketable leftovers. In doing this it is wise to make sure that the occasional rotten carrot, potato or apple, which almost invariably lies in the corner, is not overlooked.

If the drainage is good, wash the whole room with a high pressure nozzle hose, and leave all doors, windows and ventilators open to freshen the air. A wire brush will be found useful in removing crushed debris from wall surfaces. A good extension light is indispensable in doing this job.

When thoroughly clean, a good fungicide should be applied. The essential points in selecting a fungicide are (1) that it kills the organisms, (2) is non-corrosive, (3) is harmless to the operator using simple precautions, (4) and also that no objectionable odors are retained. There are many suitable preparations on the market.

Subject to the manufacturer's instructions, the storage is then washed down after the fungicide has had a chance to do its job. While the storage is empty, ventilate freely to thoroughly dry. It is also a good idea to remove racks and other dunnage and place these in the sun and fresh air.

Experiments in Soil Fertility

Results of a standard fertilizer test which was conducted on 72 Illustration Station farms in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island give some valuable indications of the fertility requirements of the wide range of soil types dealt with. This experiment, says A. E. Barrett, of the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, was devised to test the response of crops to applications of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash. Applications of all three elements were made on the basis of 1,000 pounds per acre of 5-10-5 fertilizer giving rates of 50 pounds nitrogen (N), 100 pounds phosphorus (P_2O_5), and 50 pounds of potash (K_2O), per acre. Swede turnips were used as the crop indicator at all locations.

In Prince Edward Island results from eleven tests show an increase of 1.74 tons for nitrogen, 4.54 tons for phosphorus and 1.01 tons from applications of potash. Nine tests in Nova Scotia give increases of 2.09 tons, 5.41 tons of 0.94 tons for nitrogen, phosphorus and potash respectively. In New Brunswick seven experiments record a net increase of 6.06 tons for phosphorus in comparison to 2.50 tons for nitrogen and 0.35 tons for potash. In Quebec results from 38 experiments give an average net increase of 1.54 tons per acre for nitrogen, 6.57 tons for phosphorus and 2.54 tons for potash. The greatest increase for phosphorus was 9.60 tons per acre which was recorded on nine station farms in Eastern Quebec which comprises the area below Quebec City and part of the Gaspe Peninsula. The greatest increases from nitrogen occurred in this area and in northern Quebec in the clay belt. . .The most striking response from potash was in Central Quebec which comprises the Eastern Townships where eleven experiments on Illustration Station farms recorded a net increase of 3.62 tons due to this element. Seven tests in Eastern and Central Ontario recorded increases of 1.27 tons for nitrogen, 4.85 tons for phosphorus and 0.73 tons for potash.

The results from these experiments show that farmers in these provinces would be well advised to pay particular attention to the phosphorus content of purchased mixed fertilizers in that this element is generally required, being normally deficient in most eastern soils.

Honesty Needs A Fight

WHILE WE in North America arm against military attack from without, we shall do well to re-arm against moral rot from within. Whether we like to admit it or not, Canada is infiltrated by the fifth column of dishonesty. It has cost some countries plenty.

"When we make out our national budget", said a Senator of a European country before the war, "we do it on the understanding that only 10% of our people will make an honest return on their income tax estimates". That country folded up in short order when the Nazis marched in. According to F.B.I. reports, there is in the United States an army of 6,000,000 persons engaged in crime. . . But let us not point the finger at other nations. What about Canada?

For most of us, the cutting of moral corners comes in more conventional forms. The mother who tells the train conductor her child is half-fare when he is over-age, cannot be surprised when the child in turn starts to lie to her. The woman whose tongue across the bridge table robs other women of their reputations, can anticipate her cook robbing the ice box for her folks at home. The husband who laughs off the loyalties of married life for illusion of another romance, need not wonder why his children get into moral difficulties.

Does honesty pay off? . . For the past ten years, housewife Mildred Powell has served on the Seattle City Council. Her platform has always been simple integrity in public affairs, and in the last election she received the highest vote ever accorded anyone in a Seattle council election. . . Seattle trusts the word of Mildred Powell. Not long ago, gambling interests tried to railroad through a bill permitting gambling machines in the city. Fortunately, the bill had to be voted on twice. So between first passage by an 8 to 1 vote, and the second vote, Mildred Powell went to the people. In that week, such an outcry was raised by the alerted and informed citizens that, when the bill came up for final passage, not a member of the council voted for it.

Opposition may come to those who practise absolute honesty anywhere, but in an ideological age determined minorities set the pace.

For through struggle and opposition, through the uphill battle to remake the world, men and nations that fight for honesty can know that they move in harmony with an obsolutely honest universe.

That National Flavor

THE ENTRY of Newfoundland into Confederation set some Canadians thinking about the contribution the new province, with its hardy, devout, hard-working citizens, will bring to the pattern of life in Canada.

The rugged island has its own culture and Prime Minister St. Laurent, in his speech welcoming Newfoundland into the Canadian family, promised that culture will be preserved. The provincial government now being set up will guard its heritage and guide its future, just as provincial parliaments elsewhere in Canada protect the regional flavor of the different sections of the country.

Mr. St. Laurent put it this way :

"A Canadian province is not a mere administrative unit of a central government. . . The provincial legislature has jurisdiction over education, property and civil rights, charitable, local and municipal institutions. To the province also falls the responsibility for public health and social welfare.

"In entrusting such jurisdiction to the province, the Fathers, in their wisdom, left to the province the primary responsibility for the protection of the family, the school, the church, the very foundations of our society.

"Our constitution thus assures to each province the preservation of its ancient traditions, its own culture and all those distinctive characteristics which add variety and color to our national life."

Those are matters which intimately affect the way of life of every citizen. The men the citizen sends to make the laws in his provincial legislature determine the region's pace, guide development of its resources and encourage its artists and craftsmen.

That is why it is so difficult to point to a typical Canadian. A man who comes from the West Coast or the Maritimes may differ in habits and outlook from a resident of Ontario or the Prairies, although sharing the same basic beliefs and common pride in being Canadian.

These superficial differences, however, help to make life in Canada interesting. Taken all together, they blend into a single piquancy—that national flavor.

Yesterday and Today in Canadian Woollen Industry

Coincidence of make-up put an editorial in "The Ottawa Journal" on "British Woollens for Canada" alongside the 25-years-ago column; the date was the Ides of March. The Journal notes, as "a refreshing note of realism" a recent report of English business men that, if they are to sell their goods in Canada, they must meet Canadian consumer demand as to price, style and other factors.

The Journal also notes that the British wool textile industry has done well in Canada in recent years. Exports to Canada were 22,000,000 yards last year, nearly double pre-war. Woollen textiles were a quarter of the total value of goods shipped from the United Kingdom to Canada during the past two years. It is conceded by The Journal that the quality of British woollens is high; which is true in many instances.

What is history, as reported by The Journal, is that in 1924 "The Hawthorne Mills at Carleton Place, employing 200 hands, went into voluntary liquidation. Reasons given were the tariff, cheaper British labor and conditions of money exchange". In the early 'twenties, it will be recalled, the Ottawa Government of Mr. King lacked a clear majority and functioned only with the help of 64 Western Progressives. They didn't worry if Carleton Place lost a factory and were delighted at difficulties of the large manufacturers. It is said that a hundred or so small textile mills closed up in that era.

Today, the various branches of the textile industry employ more men and women in manufacturing than does any other manufacturing industry and they have the additional virtue of being pretty thoroughly decentralized in smaller communities. This is markedly so in the woollen trade.

Today, also, Canadian workers are highly paid. Their jobs depend upon their being able to compete with other workers in other lands. A Canadian worker gets as much in an hour as a Japanese gets in a week. A Canadian worker gets about double what the English worker is paid.

The tariff problem is complex. But it seems simpler if it is remembered that the objective should be to keep our own people at work but not to give them so much protection that goods of other lands, particularly Britain, are shut out. The competition of imported goods is a good thing for Canadian workers and consumers.

That First Easter

The rising sun portrayed a scene
Such as never known before,
Of Mary, weeping at The Tomb,
With cause for weeping o'er.

For Christ had risen gloriously,
Earth's shackles, shaken free.
The Son of Man was God, indeed,
Yet Friend to you and me.

He does not gloat o'er high estate
But reaches friendly hands
To all, who care to walk with him
In this and other lands.

He bore the brunt of Death and Hell
That we might all go free
And all he asks is love and trust,
From you — and yes, from me.

— Janet Pollock Graham

VIGILANCE NEEDED

For some unknown reason motorists tend to become more careless as traffic increases. Apparently they acquire an ungrounded sense of security when the road is crowded with cars and, instead of driving with more vigilance and care, they very often become lax and indifferent.

NICE IDEA

Just thinking it would have been swell for J. L. Ilsley to have reduced the income taxes, for it was he who induced us in the first place to bear such burdens gracefully. Mr. Abbott is the man of the hour, but his job was easy in comparison to Mr. Ilsley's.

Reflections on Easter of 1917

THIRTY-TWO YEARS AFTER — VIMY RIDGE

— By M. V. Trayers —

Thirty-two years have passed into the oblivion of dead things since that Easter Monday of 1917, when the cream of Canada's manhood stood intently awaiting the dawn of April 9.

It was a dismal, disquieted awakening to the interminable hours of night. The drip-drip of the drizzling rain beat a lonesome tattoo upon the iron roofs of the rain-sodden dugouts. The eerie wail of a freshening breeze moaned through the loosely strewn wire, to startle the over-wrought nerves of those immortal thousands who peered into the darkness while they waited.

The leaden-winged minutes slowly ticked their way into the grim silence of the past. Out of the impenetrable gloom arose varied pictures clothed and formed by tense imaginations: the waiting wife, the anxious loved one, the boyhood scene, the prayerful mother, the stoical father, the friends, the chums, the recollections of brighter days which had gone, the lumber camp, the hot stove gathering — familiar Canadian vignettes, blending into one comprehensive picture limned across the sky which lay over the Ridge at Vimy.

Bright and pleasant by-ways along memory's road, etched a cheerful picture of the past. Reminiscences became blended into the stark realities of the present, as the dread uncertainty of the future forced itself into this distraught interval of waiting. . . The future! The glorious future of victory and peace and achievement, commanding pride and distinction, or — oblivion. A sundering of all material ties, a dashing of hopes and aspirations, forgetfulness . . an unknown grave in a strange land.

And some thought of Easter, peace, and resurrection. Prayer and forgiveness. What had God in store for them—in Whose judgment and mercy they reposed their trust?

Thus those men reasoned, each in his own way, and the minutes crept slowly by. The silence seemed eternal, broken by the drip-drip of the lonesome rain. Darkness, silence and then the first grey streaks of dawn. . . Dawn! A memorable dawn. A deafening crash, a blinding flash, and the red artillery of death and destruction ushered in the morning. Across the intervening No Man's Land the echoes had scarcely ceased to reverberate till the missiles of death streaked their fiery paths through the sky. The grim reaper moved swiftly — to the devil's cacophony created by this horrible orchestra of Mars.

Death and destruction everywhere. Triumphant, yes! Victorious heroes all. Along that death-strewn battlefield lay the mangled bodies of the very cream of Canada's manhood. A calamitous price.

One of Canada's gifted sons devoted himself to erecting a memorial to his heroic brothers whose graves lay cold on Flanders fields. The culmination of his creative genius — a magnificent monument of the ever-present love, reverence and gratitude of this great Dominion, and the artistic zeal of its creator. Two huge pylons in beautiful symmetry rise from a base around which 20 symbolic groups are placed. The great base is almost 250 feet in length and on it are inscribed the names of 11,500 of Canada's sons, whose memory will be kept ever green—cherished with love and reverence as long as its white marble endures. At night its beacon sheds a luminous memory over the blood-sodden graves of the 60,000 whose valour and unselfish daring this memorial represents.

Some 13 years ago thousands of Canadians formed a pilgrimage to this bit of Canada baptized by the blood of her sons. Old comrades renewed their acquaintance and talked of the trials and hardships, aye and the glories and the joys of that other day. And while they talked and gazed, among that throng moved, silent and unobserved, the thousands of their comrades who waited and hoped and died that April the 9th on the Ridge at Vimy.

MONEY IN YOUR POCKET!

Canada's foreign trade is one of the main reasons for our prosperity. One out of every three dollars of Canada's national income comes from trade and commerce — money which finds its way into Canadian pockets — money which becomes Canadian wages, profits and savings.

Under the guidance of a Liberal Government our foreign trade has reached record peaks — today, Canada is the third largest trading nation in the world.

Canada's foreign trade has received its impetus from the Liberal Party. The Liberal Party is your assurance of more money in your pocket — of continued prosperity for tomorrow.

BAPTIST OFFICIAL TRAVELS JUNGLES ON MISSION VISIT

1,300-Mile Canoe Journey in Belgian Congo Reveals Natives' Needs

By NORMAN CRIBBENS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Luton, Eng. (CP) — To find out how Baptist missionaries operate in the Belgian Congo, H. C. Janes left his pleasant country home and travelled 1,300 miles by canoe through dense African jungle.

He made the tour immediately after his election as vice-president of the Baptist Missionary Society "because I felt I could not ask people to subscribe to our work without first-hand knowledge of it."

Travelling at his own expense, Janes met 99 out of 125 Baptist missionaries in the Belgian Congo, including Britons, Canadians, Americans, Belgians, Norwegians and Danes.

"I have returned home filled with pride at the work they are doing", Janes told The Canadian Press. "From now on I shall do everything possible to raise the funds, materials and equipment they need."

Needs Boundless

Last year the Baptist Missionary Society raised £44,000 ($176,000) for Congo missionaries. "We could do with twice that amount, for we not only have to fight ignorance and superstition but extensive disease. It is a sickening sight to see Africans queuing endlessly for treatment at our stations.

"They come riddled with sleeping sickness, malaria, yaws, tuberculosis and leprosy. There are never enough hospital beds to accommodate them.

"On the spiritual side we must provide more and more teachers. The natives have a burning desire for education. Darkest Africa is awakening and Christianity is spreading".

Janes said he was surprised to hear African natives singing well-known English hymns in French—the language taught them by Belgian missionaries.

"Six natives paddled my canoe down the Congo and it was strange to hear them singing 'Onward Christian Soldiers' and 'Abide With Me' in a rhythmic chant. They had good voices and they sang day and night."

PROS AND CONS

Orange Meetings

Laurentian L.O.B.A. No. 943 held an enthusiastic meeting April 6 in the lodge room at Hope Street, Lachute. W.M. Sister Billingham presided, there was a good attendance, and Sister Ingram, of Ottawa, was present to visit her lodge.

The Orange degree was exemplified, R.W. Sister Ball, Provincial Grand Mistress, instructing the candidate in the degree work.

During the meeting the Worshipful Mistress expressed thanks to the immediate past-mistress, Sister L. Ward, for all she had done for the lodge during her two years in office, and presented her with the past-mistress' jewel.

A short address was given by R. W. Rev. Bro. G. T. Spriggs on the condition of the Canadian Indians, and a plea for greater interest on their behalf.

All members are asked to be present at the next meeting on April 20, when the Scarlet degree will be rehearsed.

Dalesville L.O.L. No. 1453 held their regular meeting in the Brownsburg School on April 7. The Worshipful Master, Bro. H. Potter, was in the chair. Past-Master Bro. G. McCormick acted as Deputy Master in the absence of Bro. L. McGibbon, who is seriously ill.

It is hoped as soon as weather conditions permit, to begin work on the new Orange Hall at Dalesville.

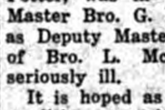

Many members hope to attend the Provincial Grand Lodge on May 19-21 in Montreal.

R.W. Rev. Bro. G. T. Spriggs spoke briefly on the deplorable treatment of Canadian Indians and suggested ways by which the conditions could be improved and these people made an esset to the nation.

R.W. Bro. W. J. Cooper reported concerning plans being made for the 100th Provincial Grand Lodge.

At the next meeting of Dalesville Lodge, to be held May 5, plans will be made to attend the Grand Lodge, and final consideration will be given to work on the new hall.

Water Purification Presents Problems for the Scientist

Do we know enough about the water we drink? — writes John Anthony, in a recent issue of C-I-L Oval. . We have demanded "pure" water and spend millions in the sterilization of drinking water, but in the process have we removed other constituents which are vital to human health? A growing number of nutritionists are convinced that water has a positive nutritional role and that the presence of compounds other than H2O is important. But as for knowing just how water works in the body we are about where we were a half century ago with food. Here is an immense field for investigation.

On the other side of the picture, scientists are still greatly concerned with the problems of water purification. Epidemics of typhoid and other diseases caused by water-borne bacteria have illustrated only too sharply that water can be a terrible foe to human health unless its purity in constantly guarded.

The latest chapter in man's quest for pure water is an exciting one. It started when chemists discovered that chlorine, the most widely used bacteria-killing agent, when applied to water in amounts larger than ordinarily used for disinfection, reacted in an unexpected manner.

The application of these higher doses of chlorine resulted in much more complete bacterial kill than ever before accomplished. In fact, it became possible to produce a really "sterile" water — one free from all bacteria, not merely those which may carry disease. But this was not the unexpected reaction of chlorine.

The surprising discovery was that the more chlorine added, the more palatable the water became. In the past, small doses of chlorine were found to combine with dissolved substances in water to form objectionable tastes. This occurred when even very minute amounts of residual chlorine (about one-tenth of one part of chlorine in one million parts of water) remained after treatment.

This new method of application is termed "super-chlorination". The larger doses of chlorine added were found so reactive as to oxidize or destroy those dissolved substances which are taste-producing.

People expect water to be tasteless and odourless. By means of modern chlorination practices, operated to produce and maintain the reactive "free available chlorine" residuals, a pure and palatable water can be supplied.

In all animal and plant life, in science and in industry, water serves in many varied ways. At the "International Exposition of Water Technics" held in Belgium in May, 1939, one exhibit was a large model of the water molecule. The model, about four billion times as large as the real molecule, measured more than 76 inches in diameter. It had to be this size to get in all the working facts that the designers wished to show. Seeing this, the average layman would have been cured once and for all of the idea that water is a simple substance. As a matter of fact, the recorded properties of water and data on water phenomena fill a 650-page book, issued recently.

At the C-I-L nylon plant at Kingston, Ontario, about 3,500,000 gallons of cold water must be pumped from Lake Ontario daily for the plant's air conditioning system, a necessary feature of the manufacturing process. It takes 65,000 gallons of water to produce a ton of steel, seven to 10 gallons to produce one gallon of gasoline.

Water shortage is one of the problems confronting civic planners. Although yet no problem in Canada, in many parts of the United States the threat of underground water shortage, because of excessive use, is becoming acute. Water levels under the downtown district of Louisville, Ky., have dropped 40 feet in 10 years. The water table at Indianapolis is down 50 feet and overpumping in Brooklyn has pulled the water level down 35 feet below sea level, giving it a rank, musty taste.

Geologists are confident that a solution can be found to this problem of conserving underground water supplies, just as man has found he could use wood and still conserve trees.

With its many facets and peculiarities, water still holds a spotlight place on the stage of human interest both for the ordinary person who drinks it, swims and washes in it, and for the scientist who seeks to understand it.

Every Norwegian Village to Have a Library

From July 1st this year, it will be compulsory for every town and village in Norway to establish a free public library in accordance with certain minimum standards of service determined by the State. This is the principal effect of Norway's new library law, which has been designed to ensure that no Norwegian, no matter where he lives, will be without access to books, both for home and reference use, free of charge. The new libraries will be financed partly by local authorities and partly by the central government, which will match grant for grant according to a graduated scale. It is stated that an immediate result of the new legislation has been the trebling of application from students for admission to the State School of Librarianship at Oslo. At present all students are required to have had at least two years' practical experience of library work, in addition to a college education.

Jas. Low, Brownsburg	200	5	1 lb. 6 oz.	4
L. Lacasse, Lachute Mills	200	5	8 oz.	3
H. Patrie, Lachute Mills	200	3	1 lb. 12 oz.	4

The standard weight of heavy chicks is 4.2 oz. at three weeks and 5.8 oz. at four weeks.

Purina Chick Startena meal has consistently given much better growth than the standard called for, but Startena Checker-ettes has the old Startena beaten every way. Chicks learn to eat faster — waste less — faster growth — and lower mortality.

Use Checkertabs in their drinking water to disinfect it for a bowel astringent and a fungicide. More disease is spread by the drinking water than any other way.

NEUHAUSER CHICKS are giving great results and their service is very prompt.

Give us your order now for your chicks, and see that they have Startena Checker-etts to eat and Checkertabs in their drinking water.

Loading Pigs

If anyone ever asks us — and nobody has yet — for a recipe for getting things done smoothly, we are going to quote the old Cockney who said, "Easy does it". By and large the person who does things in a figurative cloud of dust, is working muddle-headed, and tiring himself unnecessarily.

We got a lesson in that years ago down at a small-town livestock loading platform. One shipper was in the pen, trying to run pigs up the ramp into the stock car. He was dancing about, waving a stick and shouting. The pigs were squealing and dodging away from the ramp in alarm.

The man's brother came along and watched the wild scene for a time, then called his brother out of the pen and got in himself without a stick. He moved quietly among the nervous pigs until they were re-assured, then herded them forward at their own speed.

One pig mounted the ramp experimentally, and entered the car, and the rest followed. The job looked so easy that one needed to remember the pandemonium of a short time before to see just how unnecessarily time-wasting and wearing a simple job can be if it is done in the wrong way.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Concluding Pre-Easter Services at Baptist Church

The closing services of a pre-Easter series at Lachute Baptist Church will be held tonight, Thursday, at 8 o'clock, and on Good Friday morning at 10.30 o'clock.

The Rev. D. C. Harry, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Verdun, has been the special preacher, and his inspiring messages have been much appreciated by those attending these services.

Mr. Gordon Howell, artist, pianist and marimba player, will be drawing and giving several instrumental numbers at the Thursday night service. There will be special messages in sermon and song on Easter Sunday.

Religious Films Augment Brownsburg Services

Brownsburg — The films shown at the United Church on Sunday evenings as part of the regular service have been of a high order and have become quite popular.

Last Sunday evening the title was "The Kindled Flame" — a story of Christianity in the third century, when the bitter persecution of the Christians was reaching its climax. It is based upon the play "The Proconsul", by Rev. Seward Beddow, B.A., and is a presentation of the way in which the fortitude of the martyr can arouse the finer feelings of those who, in the pursuit of duty and loyalty to the state, attempt to suppress the followers of Christ.

Next Sunday evening, "The First Easter" will be shown. The happenings of the first Easter morning are dealt with in the film in a very beautiful way. With delicate handling of production, the appearance of the risen Lord to Mary and the Disciples is presented. The walk to Emmaus and the convincing of the doubting Thomas are portrayed in a striking manner. This film is especially appropriate for the Easter season.

The service will open with a period of song at 6.45 o'clock. The morning service at 11 o'clock, will include special music by the choir, and the theme, "As It Began To Dawn". The Good Friday service will be held at 11 a.m. At 3 p.m. on Sunday there will be a meeting on Visitation Evangelism.

Maple Avenue B.Y.P.U.

Brownsburg — The regular meeting of the Maple Avenue B.Y.P.U. was held Friday evening, with Betty Prosser presiding. The meeting opened with a rousing singsong of familar chorusus and hymns. Plans were made regarding the "sunrise service" to be held Easter Sunday morning at 6.30 o'clock.

Miss Grace Dixon had charge of a most interesting program, which opened with a duet led by the Misses Eleanor Campbell and Eleanor Tomalty. The scripture was read by Bobby Warwick and was taken from St. Mark 1: 1-16. A poem by Reginald Mason, two readings given by Frances Tomalty and Grace Dixon, all had the approach of the Easter season as their theme. The meeting was brought to a close by the repeating of the Mispah benediction.

THIS WE BELIEVE :

WE BELIEVE the Bible to be the inspired and only infallible and authoritative Word of God. WE BELIEVE that there is only one God, eternally existent in three persons: God the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. WE BELIEVE in the deity of our Lord Jesus Christ, in His virgin birth, in His sinless life, in His miracles, in His vicarious and atoning death through His shed blood, in His bodily resurrection, in His ascension to the right hand of the Father, and in His personal return to this earth in power and glory to rule over the nations. WE BELIEVE that for salvation of lost and sinful man, regeneration by the Holy Spirit is absolutely essential. We further believe that the redemptive work of Christ on the cross provides for healing of the body in answer to believing prayer. WE BELIEVE that the Baptism of the Holy Spirit is given to believers who ask for it, and in the present ministry of the Holy Spirit by whose indwelling the Christian is enabled to live a godly life. WE BELIEVE in the resurrection of both the saved and the lost; one to life and the other to damnation.

Glee Club at Arundel Presents First Concert

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — The initial concert of the Arundel Intermediate Glee Club took place in the church basement on Friday evening, April 8. The hall was filled to capacity, and a very appreciative audience listened to this, the first attempt at choral singing presented by the group. The very fine comments heard, will be an incentive to keep up the work of the group, thus leading to even greater effort for their next concert.

During the evening Miss Vera Graham, on behalf of the members, presented Mrs. Melvin Graham (pianist) with a corsage of pink roses, and Mrs. E. A. Bulley with a corsage of red roses and a pair of scatter pins, in appreciation of their work on behalf of the club.

The deportment of the choir left nothing to be desired; the singing was uniform and well balanced. Two groups of songs were outstanding — a chorus by the girls only, "The Bells of St. Mary", and a full chorus, "Home on the Range". A chorus by the kindergarten evoked warm applause, as this was their first attempt at chorus work.

A surprise by some of the boys of the Glee Club, with six boys playing harmonicas or kazoos, and Miss Lois Gordon at the piano, called for an encore.

At the close of the program, Mr. Melvin Graham, principal of the school, spoke a few words, also the Rev. G. Barnett, bringing to a close a very successful venture in musical entertainment.

Easter

Easter morn, and earth and heaven
Chant one glad refrain,
Christ hath risen, all triumphant
Over death and pain.

Dark Gethsemane he traversed,
Up to Calvary,
Christ there made one full oblation,
Sinful man to free.

All the suffering and the anguish
Of the Cross now o'er,
Christ arrayed in robes of glory
Reigns forever more.

Clad in raiment white, behold him,
With undying love,
Christ our Saviour interceding
At the throne above.

If we sin, he pleads forgiveness
At the Father's side.
Christ, may we at last in glory
With Thee abide.

A Nice Kettle of Stew

There is no meat that tastes any better than a piping hot, well-cooked stew. Stew is so often considered a necessary evil as the last appearance of the roast, and treated accordingly, both in cooking and serving. This is no doubt the reason for lack of interest in stews in many homes, and for the title of "washday stew". Regardless of reports to the contrary, the man of the house invariably likes stews.

Savoury stews may be made of fresh meat, combinations of raw and cooked meat or all cooked meat. Some stews are made of all meat, some of part meat and part vegetables. In other countries the people enjoy goulash, straganoff, fricassée, gumbo and many other delicious meat dishes, all of which are actually stews. Other meat and vegetable mixtures such as chop suey, braises, Swiss steak and meat pie are also in the stew class.

Browning meat for stew gives it a richer flavor. Vegetables are at their best when cooked quickly and for a short time, so they should never be added until the meat is almost tender. When the stew is cooked, the gravy should be smooth and of good consistency. If the gravy is pale, browning the flour will improve the color. Sometimes a bouillon cube adds extra flavor as well as color. A little spicy meat sauce, chili sauce or catsup also adds zest to the stew.

Variations in serving add to the attractiveness of any stew. A border of fluffy potatoes either mashed or riced is always attractive. Macaroni, spaghetti or rice may sometimes be used instead of the potatoes. Hot biscuits placed around the stew on the platter, or dumplings cooked in the stew, then served with it, always meet with approval.

The following recipes for delicious stews come from the home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa.

Mulligan

2½ Cups 1" macaroni, ¼ pound ground pork, ¾ pound ground beef, 4 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 cups tomato juice, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Parboil macaroni in boiling, salted water for 5 minutes; drain. Brown ground pork in a hot frying pan; add ground beef and onion and stir until browned. Add macaroni, tomato juice, parsley, salt and pepper. Cover and cook slowly for 25 to 30 minutes. Yield, 8 servings.

Lamb Stew

2 lbs. lean stewing lamb, 2 tablespoons fat, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon whole peppercorns (or ⅛ teaspoon pepper), 2 cups water, 1 medium cabbage.

Cut lamb in 2-inch cubes and brown in fat; add seasoning and water, cover and simimer about 45 minutes or until lamb is almost done, adding more water if necessary. Cut cabbage in eighths and remove core; add to lamb and cook, covered, until cabbage is tender, about 20 minutes. Serve piping hot. Yield, six servings.

Sunshine Vitamin Required in Diet

Most Canadians don't get enough Vitamin D during the long winter months, according to federal health authorities. Two chief naturally occurring sources of this important "sunshine" vitamin which has a limited distribution, are sunshine and the fish liver oils. Because of the limited extent to which some people are exposed to sunshine or to which fish liver oils are included in their diets, they may not get sufficient quantities of vitamin D at any time of the year.

Vitamin D, a "must" for babies and growing children to help prevent rickets and promote normal bone formation, is rare in food. Canned salmon, sardines, mackerel, tuna and fortified evaporated milk, however, are important items which contain it. Two tested and easily prepared recipes, which supply Vitamin D, are suggested by Mrs. Powell, home economist of the American Can Company.

Sardine Sandwich Filling

3¼-oz. can sardines in oil, 2 tablespoons ketchup or chili sauce, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 8 slices bread, 8 - 12 small stuffed olives, few sprigs of parsley.

Mash sardines in oil. Blend in ketchup or chili sauce and lemon juice. Spread between slices of bread. For canapes spread mixture on toast or bread squares; garnish with parsley or sliced olives. Makes 4 double sandwiches.

Note: One No. ¼ oval can anchovies may be substituted for sardines.

Sardine Cutlets

10-oz. can fresh herring (or 2 3¼-oz. cans sardines in oil), bread crumbs, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons water.

Drain herring or sardines; place on absorbent paper. Beat egg slightly, add water; mix well. Dip fish in bread crumbs; then in egg mixture, then in bread crumbs. Saute in hot fat until brown. Garnish with lemon wedges and parsley or serve with tomato sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

AUSTRALIAN GIRL HOUSING OFFICER CHECKS STANDARDS

Supervises Fun and Problems of 1,000 Families

Melbourne (CP) — Friend and counsellor to a thousand Australian families is Mary McLean, a young Melbourne woman. She is one of nine housing officers working with the Victoria state government housing commission.

Her job is to check on the standard of maintenance of the homes and the welfare of tenants of the various estates, established by the housing commission to help overcome the universal post-war housing shortage.

Good-looking, friendly Miss McLean was formerly an officer of the Women's Auxiliary Australian Air Force. She likes her present work because it brings her in contact with people and their problems. Apart from her official duties, she is called on to cope with anything from domestic worries of individual housewives, to the organization of community activities.

Miss McLean has worked with the housing commission for two years, and is in charge of three separate estates in Melbourne's northern suburbs. Through regular visits to the houses on her estates, she knows intimately the home circumstances of most of her tenants.

Well-Kept Homes

She is impressed by the community spirit and civic pride that are characteristic of people living in housing commission homes. They appreciate the clean, fresh five-roomed cottages, and enjoy growing flowers and vegetables on their small plots of land.

In her work Miss McLean often finds cases of ill-health or financial distress. A young widow, in spite of sickness, was working to care for her family of five children; Miss McLean immediately had the woman's rent adjusted to conform with her temporarily reduced income. In this way, the commission aids people to maintain a good standard of living in spite of adverse circumstances.

Miss McLean's daily routine also has its lighter side. On a pre-Christmas visit to one family, the two younger sons consulted her about a Christmas present for "Mum". One had earned one pound by running errands for the neighbors, and the other had made slightly less by digging worms for fishermen.

The young wife was having a great deal of trouble making the ox-tail soup. Every time the water got hot, the ox jumped and pulled his tail out.

Title Games Conclude United Church Bowling

Semi-finals and finals were played last Monday in the Lachute United Church hall, for the prizes of the church bowling league. In the first game the Y.P.U. team (Margaret Shepherd, Mary Jacobsen, Grant Riddell, C. McNaughton, skip) were defeated by the Sunday School Teachers (Miss Gertrude McMahon, Bob Todd, Miss Grace Rosser, Mrs. Bob Todd, skip), with the scores of 1-7, 6-5 and 4-11, respectively.

The other semi-final game was between the W.M.S. Blues and W.M.S. Reds. The former team comprised Mrs. L. Nymark, Mrs. S. Boyd, Mrs. H. Riddell, Mrs. M. Tillotson (skip), while Mrs. L. Dion, Mrs. F. Roberts, Mrs. H. Jacobsen and Miss R. Parsons composed the Red team. The Blues came through with two straight games, 7-2 and 5-4, thereby entering the final.

In the eight-end sudden-death game for the Albert Mitchell prizes, the S.S. Teachers and the W.M.S. Blues put on a real championship contest. At one stage of the game, the W.M.S. were leading 5-2, but the Teachers rallied and tied the game 6-all at the end of the eighth; an extra end was needed. The result was not conclusive until the last ball had been played, and the championship team, S.S. Teachers, earned the Mitchell prizes by a score of 7 to 6.

The play-offs provided a fitting climax to the bowling league's successful season. Interest ran high throughout, and about 60 persons attended for the finals.

Refreshments were served by a ladies' committee, and the president, Merlin Evans, thanked the skips and various committees for their splendid co-operation, and also Mr. Albert Mitchell for his very acceptable prizes.

The awards were presented by Jack Gorman to the winning team and the runners-up, and consolation prizes were also given to Wayne Riddell's boys' team, who just missed a play-off berth.

Trade Minister Howe to Confer in Britain, Seeks to Regain Markets

PREFERENTIAL TREATMENT POSSIBLE, SUCH AS CONCESSIONS TO AUTOMOBILE MANUFACTURERS

"THE WEEK AT OTTAWA"
By Harold Morrison

Ottawa (CP) — Out of the lull that marks Easter recess on Parliament Hill comes the disclosure of a big behind-the-scenes trade talk to take place shortly between Canada and the United Kingdom.

It will see Trade Minister Howe, worried over the U.K.'s declining purchases in Canada, meeting with Sir Stafford Cripps, British chancellor of the exchequer, and Harold Wilson, chairman of the British Board of Trade, for a person-to-person conference on trade problems that face the two countries.

Mr. Howe will leave for London about April 27 and with him will go Max W. Mackenzie, his deputy. They will take with them complaints of Canada that Britain is buying less and less from the Dominion and buying more and more from other countries that appear to be Communist-controlled.

However, both Mr. Howe and Mr. Mackenzie have shown sympathy for Britain's trading position, which finds her with little hard currency with which to buy Canadian goods. Nevertheless, as Sir Stafford has already pointed out, Britain was still buying about three times more from Canada than Canada was buying from the U.K.

To recapture the huge British market Canada had at the end of the Second World War and at the same time to give Britain an even break on Canadian markets, Mr. Howe may make some new concessions to overseas trade.

These may include greater preferential treatment, such as on British automobiles. It may be recalled that some British firms — such as the Austin Company — had planned constructing plants in Canada, specifically at Hamilton, Ont.

Canada ruled that British car manufacturers wishing to establish in Canada could get only such preference as United States manufacturers establishing plants in the Dominion. As a result, the Austin Company suspended its Hamilton plant construction. The ruling may be changed.

British Machinery

Canada may also give Britain other concessions to make British engineering products more available in Canada, particularly on such items as railway equipment and electrical machinery and farm implements.

Canadian farmers may be encouraged to buy more British farm implements. More money may be made available to farming organizations on the stipulation that they buy British.

There has been some suggestion that Mr. Wilson, who will return Mr. Howe's visit to London by a three-week visit to Canada, may make a bid for a multi-million-dollar subway construction job in Toronto and advocate construction of an all-electric railway between Montreal and Toronto.

These suggestions are without official confirmation, yet they appear to show that greater effort will be made by both Canada and the U.K. to increase the flow of trade between them.

Rasminsky's Problem

The great difficulty, of course, is the exchange problem. Both the Dominion and the U.K. have a continuing shortage of United States dollars. Currently, the U.K. is relying to a great extent on the availability of dollars through E.R.P. So has Canada, in a different way. . . The problem is, what will these countries do when E.R.P. comes to an end? As far back as last December Louis Rasminsky, keen financial strategist in the Bank of Canada, posed the question this way:

"In thinking of the future one wonders whether we shall be able to continue the present level of cash exports to Europe. . . The United States will naturally wish to make progressive and substantial reductions in the E.C.A. appropriations. Moreover, as surpluses appear in U.S. production of various agricultural commodities, the relative ease of off-shore procurement in Canada may be curtailed. The question then will be whether the E.R.P. countries will have restored their productive and competitive capacity that they can earn enough dollars to maintain something approaching their present level of purchases in Canada.

$64 Question

"This for Canada", says Mr. Rasminsky, "is the $64 question."

He notes that at the present time many of the E.R.P. countries (U.K. included) are discriminating against imports from the Western hemisphere in order to economize in their use of dollars.

"As the dollar deficits are, in a sense, covered by E.C.A. appropriations", he explains, "these policies reduce the burden of the U.S. treasury and are not discouraged. But the danger in these policies, which we might as well recognize, is that the countries concerned, as part of a program of economizing dollar outlays, may impair their own capacity to earn dollars".

Mr. Rasminsky says this will be done if the E.R.P. countries "establish special techniques for trading with each other at high prices without having to face the competition of efficient producers in Canada and the United States".

But while exports by the countries forming this system will be easier to each other than exports to the Western hemisphere, in the long run the system would break down. There are no continuing rewards for high cost production", notes Mr. Rasminsky.

Anglican Rector Is Bereaved

The Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Lang and family returned yesterday from Charteris, Que., after attending the funeral of Mr. Lang's mother, the late Mrs. John A. Lang, whose death occurred last Friday at Pontiac Community Hospital, Shawville. The former Fannie Smiley, the late Mrs. Lang was in her 75th year. She is survived by her husband, four daughters and three sons — Mrs. J. Murphy, Mrs. E. Woods, Mrs. J. Dagg, Mrs. C. Schock, Gerald, Wallace, Cyrus and Lawrence Lang.

The funeral was held in St. Matthew's Church at Charteris last Monday; the Rev. P. R. Stote conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. D. W. Noseworthy, of Shawville. Interment was in the St. Matthew's Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Pollock attended the funeral from this community, and a floral cross was sent on behalf of the Anglican parish. Friends extend their sympathy to the Rev. Mr. Lang in his bereavement.

Pupils' Debate Sponsored By Arundel W. Institute

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — On Tuesday evening, April 12, Arundel Women's Institute held their monthly meeting in the church hall, with Mrs. E. A. Bulley, the president, presiding. Routine business was dealt with; a patchwork quilt made and donated by a member, Mrs. J. Veit, was received and will be sent to the Youth Hostels as a donation from this branch.

The president turned the meeting over to the convener of Publicity, Mrs. H. Johnston, who had charge of the evening's program. This consisted of a debate entitled, "The Pen is Mightier than the Sword", which was argued by four students from the Arundel Intermediate School. The affirmative was taken by Douglas Veit and Earl Graham, and the negative by Rathwell Morrison and Keith Rathwell. The time-keeper was Miss Florence Larroway, and the chairman was Miss Lois Gordon.

The debate was keen, as the points on both sides were well taken, and showed that time and thought had been given to the subject. The judges, Dr. W. Morrison and Mr. Leslie Cooke, finally rendered their decision in favor of the negative side.

As the general public were invited to this part of the meeting, there was a large and interested audience, and from comments heard, the contestants can rest assured their research and time spent to present this debate in proper form was not wasted. They are to be congratulated. In the name of the Publicity convener, Mrs. Percy Gordon thanked the young scholars, and the president added her thanks in the name of the branch.

Before closing Mrs. Johnston presented the contestants each with a box of home-made candy.

Daylight Saving at Saturday Midnight

Readers are reminded that Daylight Saving Time becomes effective Saturday, April 23, at midnight. Clocks should be set forward one hour accordingly, in Lachute and such communities where the change is officially adopted.

Britain is building a 100-passenger airplane with bedrooms, refreshment bars and a theatre. It is intended for London to New York travel.

Los Angeles airport is the first to adopt the famous wartime FIDO, (Fog, intensive, disperal of) for getting rid of fog on landing strips. Heat from jets of flame disperse the fog.

Proposal for Police Headquarters in Civic Auditorium

The seed of a protest against the condition of Lachute's jail, voiced by the Protestant Ministerial Association, has taken root, and is at least partially responsible for a proposal now before town council.

At last meeting of the city fathers, Alderman Stanley Holt, chairman of the police committee, outlined a proposition to install the police office in the basement of the Auditorium, with provision for three cells, in well lighted quarters and easily accessible for housecleaning. The proposal includes a small heating unit in this partitioned section, for periods when the furnace of the building is not operated. Cramped facilities in the town hall, where the police office is now maintained, is another reason prompting the suggestion for change of premises.

The idea was discussed at last meeting of the council, but decision was deferred pending a more specific plan of the layout, to be submitted at the May session.

New Ontario Regulation Bans Airplane Hunting

Toronto (CP) — Hunting from airplanes is banned by the terms of a bill introduced recently in the Ontario Legislature by Lands Minister Scott.

In future, planes may be used only to take hunters to their camp sites. They may not be used for spotting deer and moose from the air and then landing to shoot them.

Another amendment permits hunting of rabbits without a special license. The bill takes rabbits out of the category of fur-bearing animals and lists them with porcupines, woodchucks and pests.

Fines for violations of regulations governing hunting of deer and moose are made heavier. Fines for shooting female moose will range from $200 to $500; for killing bull moose out of season, $100 to $300; for killing deer out of season, from $50 to $200. Present penalties range from $20 to $100.

Fine for illegal taking of muskrat is from $5 to $25 a pelt and for any other fur-bearing animal $1 to $20 a pelt.

Townships and township organizations approved by the minister may charge fees for licenses to hunt pheasants, rabbits and foxes in open season.

Hunters will be restricted to carrying rifles of .22-calibre or less and shotguns using ball shot during the closed season for deer and moose. This is designed to effect greater control over shooting out of season.

Persons wishing to keep a wild animal as a pet or for scientific or educational purposes must obtain a permit from the deputy-minister, Frank MacDougall, under another amendment.

PIONEER ROUTE

Prince Albert, Sask. (CP) — Five members of the Saskatchewan natural resources department this spring made what is believed the first trip by automobile from Flin Flon, Man., to Prince Albert. Without a trail to guide them in some places, they covered the 300-mile route by travelling in three trucks, day and night for about 100 hours.

Checking on the Palestine Truce

How United Nations truce teams on the widely-scattered fighting fronts in Palestine kept in touch with each other is shown in this photo of one of the key stations in a U.N.-organized radio network covering Palestine and Rhodes. This system helped make it possible to check on observance of the truce which paved the way for the armistice agreements now in effect between Israel and Arab states.

Industrial or Agricultural "Expansion"?

A PROPOSITION TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

TO THE EDITOR

From time to time one hears the statement by an urban dweller, or by anyone not engaged in farming, that the farmer should take a hold of his boot straps and lift himself out of his occupational morass. It is easy for the other fellow to advise — easier if the advice is sound.

In most towns and cities in our country we have Chambers of Commerce which, by one means or another, endeavor to bring to their various towns more business — which is to say, more money spent within their town limits.

If they could induce a factory employing, say, 300 persons to locate in their town, that would be a real financial plum, even if a sizeable grant had to be given for property and exemption from taxes granted for a period of time. . . In addition, the town would need to build more streets, more school space, and public utilities would have to be provided. New blood in town would in all probability mean more labor troubles.

In a rural locality such as ours, an expansion in agriculture — by this is meant more substantial sidelines — would serve the purpose of supplying more urban business, without the attendant expense or outlay for growing pains on the part of the town.

Supposing the local Chamber were to figure out what this factory of 300 employees would mean in increased business to the community, then figure out what expansion would be necessary in some farm sideline, such as poultry, to bring to our town a corresponding amount of business. Their next step would be, by the correct propaganda or approach, to put across to interested parties the benefits to be derived.

Would the farmer build and expand to bring more money to town? We think so, if it were shown in no uncertain terms that financially it was advantageous to do so. Anyway, like Sally's dog — "Why don't we try him and see"?

Hawkesbury Mill Cuts Production

Hawkesbury — Officials of the Hawkesbury mill of the Canadian International Paper Company Ltd. stated that, starting last week, the mill will be forced to close its doors from Saturday to Monday of each week, until further notice.

Curtailment of orders was the reason given by company officials for the shut-down. The mill, which manufactures wood cellulose pulp, has its storage sheds packed with its product in the hope that orders would be forthcoming to avoid this shut-down. The seamen's strike has a lot to do with the company's export shipments being cancelled, stated officials. This long week-end shut-down of Hawkesbury's main industry will affect some 600 employees. Officials would not commit themselves when asked if there was any possibility of a complete shut-down, which would make Hawkesbury a ghost town in a very short time.

Fish-Game Ass'n Annual Meeting At Brownsburg

Brownsburg — The annual meeting of the Argenteuil Fish and Game Protective Association was held April 13 in St. Onge's Grill at Brownsburg, with the president, Norm Somers, occupying the chair. Around 100 members, mostly from Brownsburg, Lachute and St. Andrews East, were present.

The following directors were elected to fill vacancies on the board — Ed Barker, J. Duchastel, T. Dwyer, B. Jenkins, E. Pollock and Ray Langille.

The amendment to the by-laws as proposed by the board of directors, whereby the number of directors be increased to 20, was adopted by the meeting.

Interesting wildlife films were presented to complete the lighter side of the proceedings.

Britain Steps Up Hydro-Electric Power

As part of British industry's program of capital expansion, the North of Scotland Hydro-Electricity Board is speeding progress on 12 of the 19 projects for which authority has been obtained. This picture shows the growing dam of the Loch Sloy scheme, in the mountains west of Loch Lomond. The dam, 1,200 feet long and 160 feet high, will hold back 1,200 million cubic feet of water to power the four hydro-generators.

Vets Form Energetic Labor Squad On Excavation for Memorial Hall

MAYOR L. CARRIERE LENDS CIVIC SUPPORT, LEGIONNAIRES WAGE "BATTLE OF THE SODS"

Reminiscent of the trenches in France during 1914-18, was the scene at the Legion's building site when veterans got down to work excavating for the foundation of their new Memorial Hall. The scene of activity was on Foundry Street, just east of Bethany, where the initial work was started last Saturday afternoon.

The occasion was not unmarked by fitting ceremony. Armed with tools and shovels, the veterans of Branch 70 B.E.S.L. paraded from Barron's Bridge along Main Street, following a bulldozer kindly loaned by Lachute Lumber & Mf'g Co. Ltd. It was a happy coincidence that a civic figure playing a ceremonial part in the proceedings was both mayor of the town and president of this important industry, in the person of Léopold Carrière. In turning the first sod to signify the opening of operations, Mayor Carrière stated that this was the commencement of a project long looked forward to, in which the citizens of this district could claim a part. He congratulated the veterans on their aggressiveness and referred to the new hall as a memorial to those who had paid the supreme sacrifice.

The gathering of veterans numbered around 50, and with mechanical and manual labor they made appreciable progress in those first few hours of their endeavors. Building operations will commence just as soon as weather conditions permit.

The public are reminded that the amount collected is still far below the objective set, and in order to meet their obligations, donations in the way of money or building material of any kind will be most acceptable.

200 Gals. Gasoline Stolen from Stand

A large-scale theft of gasoline and motor oil was perpetrated at a roadside stand operated by Leo Lachappelle, on a curve one mile west of St. Philippe on Highway No. 8. The robbery occurred during last Friday night, when, breaking padlocks on two gasoline tanks and a garage, men with a truck removed 200 gallons of gasoline and five cases (30 gallons) of oil. They presumably filled the gasoline into drums on the waiting truck.

The gas tanks are situated in front of the dwelling occupied by Jean Lachappelle and his wife; the garage is self-contained in a building nearby. The proprietor reported having heard no noise to arouse suspicions during the night.

Traffic Officer Albert Legault, of Brownsbufg, was notified on discovery of the theft next morning. Officer Legault and Det. P. Therriault, of Lachute, investigated the circumstances of the robbery.

Hit-and-Run Collision Investigated at St. Hermas

A party of six ocupying a St. Jerome car found themselves in a ditch eight feet deep when their automobile swerved off the road just east of St. Hermas, after being struck by another car. The driver of the westbound car did not stop after the accident. The St. Jerome car, owned and driven by Eugene Gosselin, was proceeding eastward. Only casualty in the mishap was to a young lady who suffered facial cuts requiring medical attention. The car was damaged.

Det. P. Therriault and Traffic Officer Albert Legault visited the scene and made their investigation.

For a century and a half, the Washington White House has had patchwork jobs at intervals, but a complete overhaul now will keep the President and his family from occupying it this year.

Oka Bank Hold-Up Echo of Robbery At St. Philippe

Montreal — A lone French-speaking gunman robbed the Banque Provinciale branch at Oka, Que., shortly before closing time on Tuesday and escaped with between $4,000 and $5,000, Lt. Marcel Patenaude of the Provincial Police reported an hour later.

It was 2.50 p.m. when the bandit, whose description fits that of the gunman who stole $650 from the St. Philippe branch of the same bank 10 days previously, entered the Oka branch.

"Hello, hello . . . " he greeted Manager Francois Harbour and his daughter, also employed at the bank.

The manager attempted to continue the conversation.

"That's enough! Stick up your hands—this is a hold-up", the gunman snapped as he pressed an automatic forward.

The cash drawer was open and Mr. Harbour handed over its contents. The father and daughter were forced to lie on the floor and the bandit walked out.

New Pentecostal Building Dedicated at Brownsburg

Of special interest to readers who recall the reports last summer of the initial Pentecostal services in Lachute Auditorium, is the opening of the new Pentecostal building in Brownsburg.

Freshly decorated in white, green and brown by the efforts of willing helpers, the new building was "dedicated to God" last Sunday afternoon. It will be known as the "Assembly of God". It has a seating capacity of 150, trebling that of the union hall, where the former services were held by the courtesy of the United Mine Workers of America in Brownsburg.

The Evangel Tabernacle quartet, formerly heard on the radio program "Tabernacle Echoes", were present from Montreal for this occasion, singing impressive selections. They also presented instrumental numbers including a saxophone-trumpet duet and a trumpet solo. Their organist was Dave Holmes, orchestra leader.

The Rev. William Kautz, after the dedicatory prayer, preached briefly on the subjects of salvation and of the reception of the Holy Ghost. Then he developed the theme of present-day healing, (in accordance with his text) by the same "spirit of Him that raised up Jesus from the dead". He provided "pegs" on which to hang this point when he cited two concrete examples of modern miracles. The minister, in relating one of these, told how he was called home to the bedside of his father nine years ago. He hurried home that Sunday night by plane. He was left alone with his parent, hardly able, in the last stage of the dread disease of silicosis, to pray for himself. After hours of intense prayer, he declared that about 5 p.m. that Monday his father was suddenly healed, and is still alive in good health today.

Several responded to the invitation at the close of the meeting for those desiring prayer.

4-Months-Old Child Found Dead in Crib

Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur pronounced death due to natural causes in the case of a four-months-old child, Jocelyn Hooper, who was found dead in her cot on Monday morning. The child had been ill the night before, attended by its mother, and it was stated that the father, Cleophas Hooper, on rising next morning found the infant dead. The coroner gave his opinion that death was due to bronchial pneumonia. The parents live on Main Street West, Lachute.

IMMUNIZATION PAYS

Regina (CP) — Dr. R. P. Waechter, provincial veterinarian, is urging farmers to immunize horses against equine encephalomyelitis. Last year 99 cases of the disease occurred in the northern half of Saskatchewan. Not a case was reported from southeast Saskatchewan where an extensive immunization program was carried out a year ago.

Gatineau LINES

Fast Work

The Easter just passed was somewhat of a special one for upwards of 90 families in Papineau East, thanks to the efforts of a Gatineau crew which pushed its line construction work in order to bring electric power into the section in time for the Easter season.

The new customers are residents of the Lac des Plages district, and Gatineau Power received the necessary government permits to proceed with the work on March 14. In the month between the time the permits were received and Good Friday, the line crew strung 7 miles of wire, put in more than 200 poles, installed the necessary transformers and connected up individual circuits to the new power lines.

The crew responsible for this work is one of 16 construction groups now in full operation throughout the Gatineau territory. Between now and the fall these crews will install more than 250 miles of new rural lines, bringing electricity to probably 1,200 families who have never had it before.

Naturally, every part of the work cannot be done as quickly as that at Lac des Plages. On that particular job we were more-than-ordinarily lucky in having the men and equipment available just when the permits were granted, and in having comparatively easy construction conditions. But, although the power lines are going up a bit more slowly in other sections, they are going up just as fast as our crews can operate.

Incidentally —

Did You Know ?

That all through the winter, Gatineau Power carried on the expansion program in an effort to bring service as quickly as possible to the new rural customers.

We are glad to be able to welcome the new Lac des Plages customers to our circuits. We are looking forward to welcoming a great many more rural customers to the Gatineau system in the months ahead.

Elected to Ayrshire Breeders' Executive

W. Erskine Rodger, of Lachute, was appointed vice-president of the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association, at the annual meeting of that organization held recently in Montreal.

Easter Egg for Farm Producers

Ottawa (CP) — The government last week produced an Easter egg for farm producers who want to market their goods under their own steam, both on the domestic and foreign fronts.

In a last-minute rush before adjournment of the Commons, the government obtained endorsement of the principle of a bill giving producer organizations authority to regulate the marketing of farm products in interprovincial and export trade.

The legislation—which obtained second reading with little bickering — in effect extends the operations and jurisdiction of provincial producer boards to allow them to deal with products going to other provinces and to foreign countries.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner also announced that the government will buy up 5,000,000 pounds of honey in an effort to stabilize the honey market, now almost wrecked by surpluses. Prices paid will be 14 cents a pound, pasteurized, and 13 cents, unpasteurized, both basis Montreal.

Significant Move

The marketing legislation appeared to have particular significance in view of the fact that the Anglo-Canadian food agreements are for short terms, ending in 1950.

It appeared, in some quarters, as a method by which the federal government would let the producers themselves make future agreements with the United Kingdom and so seek the best prices they can.

As a further interpretation of the government move, it appeared that the government was saying in effect it was giving up trying to make food agreements with the U.K. because of the fact, some observers believe, that the current ones could not be matched the next time agreements came up for renewal.

Canadians Impressed By N. Z. Dairy Farms

Auckland, N.Z. (CP) — Canadian experts recently have expressed interest in advances being made in dairy and sheep farming research in New Zealand.

So impressed had Dr. W. E. Van Steenburgh, research adviser to the Canadian department of agriculture, been with the progress of research that he has recommended to his government that two scientists should be sent to New Zealand for a year to study what is being done. Dr. van Steenburgh visited New Zealand as a delegate to the Pacific Science Congress.

High praise for farming developments here was also given by Prof. D. G. Laird, of the University of British Columbia.

"To me it is phenomenal", he said, "what has been done in this country in the dairy industry. At home, if we can run a cow to two acres, we think we are doing very well, but here you aspire to a cow per acre or better."

CAESARIAN SECTION SAVES LAMB CAESAR

Vancouver (CP) — Young Caesar the lamb doesn't know it, but he's lucky to be alive.

His mother, a prize sheep, was dead when the lamb was brought into the world.

A "spur of the moment" operation by sheepman Archie Steward at his Abbotsford farm delivered the premature infant a few minutes after the farmer was forced to kill the mother because of an incurable sickness.

Sheep will not normally suckle strange lambs, and this had Stewart worried until luck provided an answer.

He found a sickly offspring of another ewe had died about the same time as Caesar was born. He skinned the dead lamb and draped its hide over Caesar, thus fooling the mother of the dead lamb.

Grain Inspection A Complicated Job

Winnipeg is Main Centre For Wheat Routed to Lakehead

Winnipeg (CP) — Wheat is being sent by rail from the prairies to the Lakehead in substantial volume this year with the opening of the navigation season. A Canadian National Railways official in Fort William said recently that 500 cars of grain were arriving daily.

All this grain must be sampled and inspected by the inspection branch of the Board of Grain Commissioners, who have headquarters here.

While there are 11 points in western Canada where grain is sampled and inspected, Winnipeg is the main centre for grain routed to the head of the lakes.

When the big grain trains roll into Winnipeg railways yards, an elaborate procedure is followed to ensure a fair sample from every car.

Sent For Grading

When the entire train is sampled and the samples collected and double-checked and recorded, they are sent by truck to the central inspection office for grading.

As soon as the train stops, an inspection yard clerk lists the car from waybills, recording car numbers, kind of grain, point of origin, destination, shipper and consignee.

A foreman with a husky sampling crew then follows the car opener to the train. . . When the seals are broken and recorded, the cars are "stabbed".

A specially designed brass probe is pushed to the bottom of the car. This must be done seven times to each car to get a proper sample.

Although in good volume, wheat moving east has not caused a "bottleneck in the big terminal elevators at the Lakehead", the railway official said.

SPIT AND POLISH

Montreal (CP) — Lord Nelson's monument near the Bonsecours Market is to be thoroughly refurbished early in May. One complaint voiced by Councillor J. W. Lyall was that the Nelson monument is so dirty the inscription is unreadable.

"I trust them more than I'd trust myself"

THE BANK's the place for my money. I always put part of my pay into my bank account—otherwise it burns a hole in my pocket. I guess I trust the bank more than I trust myself! I figure that's one reason why my savings have been building up the way they have.

Another reason I'm sold on a bank account is that I always know just where I stand. All I have to do is take a look at my pass-book. They're a lot better bookkeepers than I am.

What's more, what's in my pass-book is my business, and I can count on the bank people to keep their mouths shut about it. And that suits me just fine!

Going to your bank is not like having to deal with a state bureau—but that's how it would be under state monopoly.

The Weather

IT IS obviously unsafe for editors to be specific about the weather, especially at this time of year when the elements hover between two seasons, and a few hours between the writing and publishing of an editorial may mark a radical change. Last week we wrote of grasshoppers and an early spring. This week we had in readiness a spritely paragraph about the garden, the crocuses, and the paint brush. . But in contrast, as we pen these lines there is a heavy snowfall and the ground is once again pure white!

The only safe remark is that — the weather does surprising things; to which may be added that proverbial and prophetic line about "the best laid plans of mice and men . . . ". It's also a safe assertion that — glorious spring will soon be here.

IT HAS HAPPENED at last! . . On St. Catherine Street in Montreal, a young lady's Easter hat fell off and revealed to onlookers — real flowers growing in real earth! . . Now, all that's needed to materialize the myth of the ages, is — real birds squatting in a real nest.

Those Level Crossings

WITH SPRING coming on, and the roads heavier with traffic, we see in some of our contemporaries stirring demands that something be done about level crossings — remarks The Ottawa Farm Journal.

There are many thousands of spots in Canada where railway lines intersect highways, and to tunnel under the tracks, or build bridges over them, on a complete or indeed any considerable scale, would be quite beyond our means.

Some will ask, moreover, why even if we could afford it we should spend millions and millions of dollars to save careless car-drivers from their own folly. There is no railway crossing in Canada that cannot be used in perfect safety by a driver who heeds its signs of warning and takes whatever precautions are indicated by the environment and the circumstances. A train can be seen and heard, if a driver will bother to look and listen, and no case is known of a locomotive chasing an automobile along the road.

We shall have collisions at level crossings so long as we have drivers who are negligent, over-confident, chance-taking. There is no practicable way of making the highways safe for them, because they are of the class of drivers who speed on icy pavements, cut in on a blind curve, and commit all the other traffic sins that cause accidents. We cannot give them full protection any more than laws or the spending of money can make it quite certain that a man will not carelessly consume poison instead of headache tablets — concludes The Journal's editorial.

WE'VE HEARD IT . . To any who are blissfully unfamiliar with Be-Bop, the latest atrocity in music, the following description may help. With the Spike Jones variety you may expect anything — and get it; with Be-Bop, however, you expect anything — and don't.

Strength of A Nation

ATOMIC war is today a threat so terrible that men hold the thought of it at a distance to keep it from penetrating into their minds. Yet for this generation, as for every other in history, there is a penetration into the heart of society that threatens a slower but no less sure extinction. Moral decadence has eaten out the heart of civilizations before ours.

The evidence of moral malnutrition lies around us in every village and town, farm and factory. The young couple who were tricked into the belief that romantic love alone was the basis for entering marriage and lost a fair chance to build a home; the moral chaos in the lives of teen-agers in their pathetic and futile chase of the thrill that satisfies; the public enemies who make money out of moral defeat and care not a damn for the hell on earth they cause; these are only a few of the symptoms. It would be a bold man who would argue that better schooling and penicillin have cured this cancer in modern life.

The strength of a nation is measured by its fight for purity — a positive, vibrant force that arrests the decline of civilization and sets men and women free. It can be found by anyone at any time.

A man or woman can do three things with sex energy. The first two are the common ways of indulgence and repression. The third way is rare but valuable beyond any price. It is the redirection of this energy into creative caring for people and the fight for a decent world.

Absolute purity takes discipline. Yet mind and will are like sawdust before the assault of instinct unless they are reinforced by a stronger power. When trouble knocks at the door of the mind, one cannot fight it alone. Only the mind and will reborn in divine guidance will know the amazing freedom of absolute purity.

Water in its natural state has certain vital uses. Water heated and turned into steam can run engines which water alone cannot move. . . So with these energies of affections. They can be used in the reproduction of the race, in the reinforcement of the heart and mind and will, and in a renaissance of culture and creative living.

If even a minority of people in any community capture the lifting power of absolute purity and pour the energies of their caring into the national bloodstream, then health and production and creative genius flourish. Then nations are on the road to renaissance.

The Public Pays

ANY INCREASE in the cost of goods and services in this country must be charged back to one group — the Canadian buying public. This obvious assertion is voiced by Joseph Lister Rutledge, chairman of the Canadian Unity Council. "Unfortunately, when labor and management get together to discuss wage increases, the people who pay the shot, the buying public, are usually excluded from the conference room", continues Mr. Rutledge.

Commenting on a wage dispute in Toronto between the management and the employees of a local gas company, Mr. Rutledge said, "Public sympathy is almost automatically on the side of any group demanding an increase in wages. It is not common sense to say that there are no justifiable demands for wage increases, but it is common sense to point out that the public should understand its own stake in such disputes. The public cannot reasonably demand continuing low prices for themselves, and increases in wages for others.

"In a case in Montreal four months ago", Mr. Rutledge added, "gas company employees asked an over-all increase of twenty cents an hour. The arbitration board disallowed the claim, stating in its ruling 'This Board comes to the conclusion that there is a third party which was not represented before this Board, meaning to say the population of the City of Montreal, and we strongly believe that the population has also to be protected and we have to take a great care so that the price of gas is not increased'. The public has developed a very thorough interest in many of the factors affecting the cost-of-living. It should take as keen an interest in wage disputes, for it is a matter of simple arithmetic that we cannot have lower purchase prices and higher production costs at one and the same time."

THE BEST way to reduce taxation is to cut down on requests — and the place to start is with those who are continually prodding the government to spend more on everything from soup to nuts.

IF OTTAWA heeds all the passionate pleas made by the scores of communities interested, the result will be that the Trans-Canada Highway will be the longest in the world and also the crookedest. The road would have to touch about every city in the Dominion.

Press Comment on Héon Appointment as Election Campaign Chairman in Que.

The Montreal Gazette comments favorably on the appointment of Georges H. Héon, K.C., member for this constituency, as federal organizer for the Progressive Conservatives in Quebec in the coming election campaign. Concerning this appointment, which was announced last Thursday, The Gazette states editorially:

The Progressive Conservative Party has taken an important step in preparation for its campaign in Quebec by the choice of Mr. Georges H. Héon, K.C., M.P., as the chairman of its election committee. As the official announcement of Mr. Héon's appointment states, "the committee is to have full charge of organizing and directing the election campaign which now appears imminent."

Mr. Héon has sound qualifications for the post. His position as a member of the federal house, and as the representative for a Quebec riding, makes him a natural link between the Progressive Conservative headquarters at Ottawa and the political conditions in this province.

Moreover, Mr. Héon has had a record of successful experience in public life. He has been twice elected to represent the Quebec riding of Argenteuil, and has already had some six years in the House of Commons. His capacities as a political strategist were further proved in the campaign which he directed for the Progressive Conservative candidate in the by-election at Nicolet-Yamaska, which resulted in one of the most significant political upsets in many years.

Mr. Héon combines the qualities of a political organizer with those of an unusually talented speaker, and the force and impressiveness of this capacity were recently shown in his speech in the House of Commons, in which he pledged his support for the Atlantic Pact as a bulwark against the tide of Communism.

The entrance of Mr. Héon upon his new role may also be said to mark still further the trend towards a two-party contest in Quebec in the approaching federal campaign. Though the C.C.F. and the Union des Electeurs may both enter candidates, their prospects are, at best, inconsequential. Mr. Héon's decision to give up his position as an Independent Conservative, and to throw in his lot fully with the Progressive Conservative Party, indicates clearly that the contest which will determine the political future of the Province is to be decided by a straight test between the two main federal parties.

Matter of Wording

Hansard, the official report of debates in the House of Commons, is supposed to show every word spoken in the House exactly the way it is said. However, it does not always print the wording exactly the way the member said it in the house.

An amusing story has been going around Ottawa. Recently Mr. Stanley Knowles was reported in Hansard to have asked, "I want to direct a question to the Minister of Public Works with regard to a wage increase for women cleaners in federal public buildings".

According to the story, he actually said "with regard to wages for cleaning women in public buildings", but that the gales of laughter forced him to start over again and reword his question.

Too Many Members

By R. J. Deachman

The House on the Hill is closed for Easter, the M.P.'s are back telling their friends how it all happened. It's a miserable life for the members who do nothing, say nothing, and get their pay. There are too many men in the House of Commons — now don't take that the wrong way — more women wouldn't make it any better. I would like to see a House of 150 members, with more frankness in discussion. Good heavens! Why should we waste so much time with pot calling the kettle black, and vice versa; and don't they do well at it? Too bad but there is little chance for discussing things worth while.

50,000 Loggers in Canadian Bucksaw Contest

Trophies Awarded At Montreal Finals

Pulp Cutters Incredibly Fast

CUTTING 10-inch diameter green spruce logs at a rate of better than one inch per second, Leonard Poulin, husky 23-year-old farm lad from St. Godefrol, Que., has been crowned Canada's bucksaw champion.

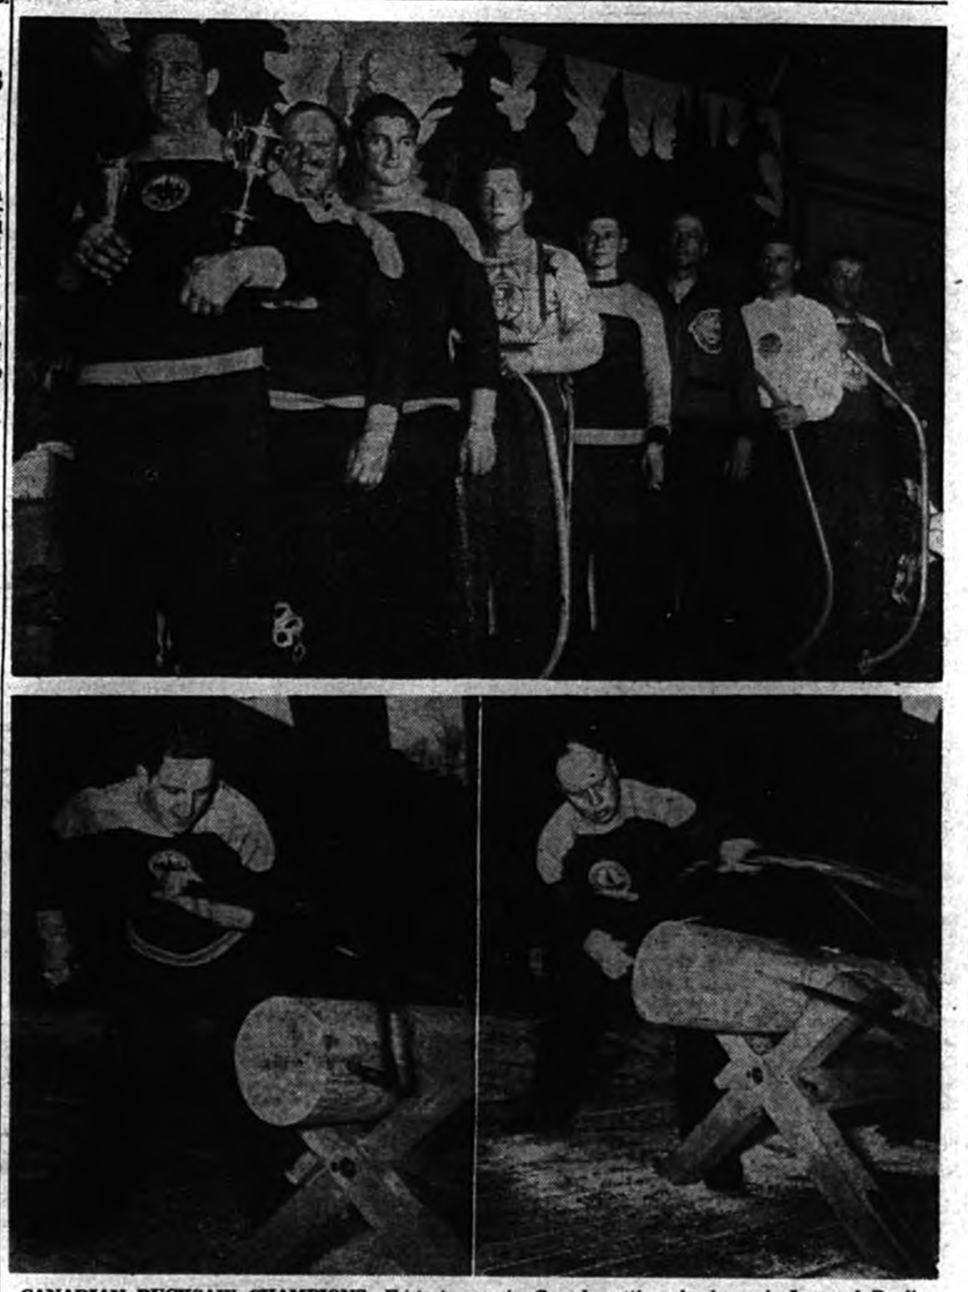

The speedy pulpwood cutter who works for the Quebec North Shore Paper Company at Baie Comeau, Que., piled up 23 points out of a possible maximum of 24, with five first places and one second place, to cop the crown in the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association's national sawing contest. The finals were held over a three-day period at the Montreal Sportsman's Exhibition, with two sessions of two cuts each per day. Eight finalists competed before thousands of spectators.

Poulin's average time for the 12 cuts was 8.5 seconds, but the best individual time was set by Salomon St. Cyr who beat all records with a single cut of 7 seconds flat. St. Cyr, who lives in Limoilou, Que., and is employed at Clova by the Canadian International Paper Company, was runner-up in the finals with an average of 8.7 seconds, and 18 points. Third place was won by Leopold Carrier, of Kedgwick, N.B., representing New Brunswick International Paper, Dalhousie, N.B.; he obtained 11 points and averaged 9.2 seconds.

The finalists represented eight of Canada's largest pulp and paper companies which employ more than 50,000 loggers who participated in the contest sponsored by the Woodlands Section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association. The competition focussed public attention on the pulpwood cutter, whose efforts maintain Canada's largest manufacturing production and her greatest source of export dollars. Designed to create keen competitive spirit and widespread enthusiasm, and to provide sport and entertainment for the lumberjacks, the contest emphasized the fact that woodsworkers, today, are expert craftsmen who take their trade seriously and who can achieve a remarkable production through manual dexterity and proper training.

The competition began in logging camps in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick, and gradually progressed through depots, divisions, and up to the Montreal finals. Individual prizes were awarded by the eight competing companies at the various stages, and the grand award consisted in $100 cash, and the "Precision" and "Woodlands" trophies. Prizes were presented by W. A. E. Pepler, manager, Woodlands Section, Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Other companies and their representatives stood in the finals, as follows: Abitibi Power and Paper Co. Ltd., Smooth Rock Falls, Ontario, represented by Raymond Desbois, of St. Therese, P.Q., Ontario Paper Co. Ltd., Heron Bay, Ontario, represented by Ludovic Cyr, of Pellegrin, P.Q., Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills, Ltd., Forestville, P.Q., represented by Antoine Valcourt, of Val Brillant, P.Q., St. Anne Power Co., represented by Fernand Cinq-Mars, of St. Ferreol, P.Q., and The E. B. Eddy Co., represented by Josephat Couture, of St. Cecile, P.Q.

CANADIAN BUCKSAW CHAMPIONS—Fastest man in Canada with a bucksaw is Leonard Poulin (bottom left) winner of the National Bucksaw Championship sponsored by the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association. Three-day finals for the championship were held at the Montreal Sportsman's Exhibition. In the finals, Poulin carved through 10-inch green spruce logs in an average of 8.5 seconds, while runner-up Salmon St. Cyr, (bottom right) took 8.7 seconds, but set record time of 7 seconds for a single cut. In group picture at top are shown the eight finalists, from left to right, champion Poulin holding his trophies, Salomon St. Cyr, Leopold Carrier, Raymond Desbois, Ludovic Cyr, Antoine Valcourt, Fernand Cinq Mars, and Josephat Couture. Pulpwood cutters in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick competed in the contest organized by the Woodlands Section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association to highlight the important part played by the pulpwood cutter in Canada's largest manufacturing industry.

Car-Styling Criticized By Auto Association

ACCIDENT CAUSES DISCUSSED

(By New York Times News Service)

New York — Exaggerated car styling, failure to curb garage and parking problems, and increasing hazards created by drunken drivers were emphasized by the American Automobile Association last week.

The organization cited the upswing in repairs attributable to the contours and construction of postwar vehicles, in making a demand for simplification of design.

According to the A.A.A., a situation has arisen that results in considerable extra cost to the car owner since higher repair charges are reflected in increased insurance rates.

Presenting data on the country-wide parking and garaging problems, the association suggested that the States quickly enact legislation which would authorize municipalities, by ordinances, to adopt regulations governing operation of parking lots and garages.

Driving while under the influence of intoxicants is much more of a hazard than the public now realizes, according to the A.A.A.

"Accident records very frequently fail to show that a driver has been drinking or is under the influence of an intoxicant", the A.A.A. pointed out.

"In reports by drivers, this admission is rarely made. Police preparing accident or violation reports are understandably reluctant to record the person as 'having been drinking' or being 'under the influence'. Thus the tendency has grown to 'book' such a person on a much lesser charge.

"The exception is in the growing number of places where scientific tests are in use for showing the amount of alcohol in body fluids or breath. Such tests already have been accepted by many courts and the trend is definitely favorable for their acceptance."

The A.A.A. emphasized that drivers having a concentration of 0.15 per cent or more alcohol in the blood have an accident rate 55 times greater than the non-drinker.

Scots Told Peat No Longer Free

Country Folk Puzzled Over Government Regulation

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Helmsdale, Scotland (CP)—Peat-cutters who have never known the meaning of a "fuel crisis" now worry about the future.

The Highlanders have counted a peat moss as free as an English common. For countless generations they have gone to the same spot for their winter fuel, with the blessing of the land-owner.

But recently Sutherland County Council learned regulations are being introduced under the Town and Country Planning Act which may require farmers and other residents to obtain permission to cut peat.

The only question is whether the regulations will be applied to small men as well as the distilleries which require large quantities of peat for making Scottish whisky with its distinctive flavor.

Rev. William Macleod, Dornock, said if the regulations were applied the county council should arrange for general permission for peat-cutting to be given so there would not be a flood of applications.

Hard to Administer

George Maciver of Brora said it would be impossible for county authorities to administer the regulations because so many people depended on peat for fuel. The government department concerned should "conveniently forget" about the regulations.

John Mackay of Portskerra said it was "sheer nonsense" that farmers and others should be required to apply for permission to cut peat, a job they have been doing for generations.

"And I doubt if 20 per cent of the folk concerned would take the slighest notice of these new regulations."

The council decided on no immediate action.

The Town and Country Planning Act, passed two years ago, gives the government wide authority over land use. One effect may be that Highland hills now reserved as deer "forests", where the hunt is confined to private owners or tenants, may be opened up for grazing.

Anti-TB Vaccine

London — Thousands of volunteers in Gt. Britain are to be vaccinated with a serum which is claimed to have the effects of providing immunity from tuberculosis. They will be taking part in experiments sponsored by the Government to determine the efficiency of this technique. Trials are to be conducted on a national scale sponsored by the Ministry of Health and the Scottish Department of Health. Details of the scheme for using the serum under proper medical supervision are now being worked out. The volunteers will be taken principally from nurses, medical students and others in contact with tuberculosis. These trials are being planned on an extensive scale and observation will be maintained over a period of two to three years. The vaccine to be used is known as bacillus Calmette-Guerin and is named after two French doctors by whom it was first developed.

WOLVES GET DEER

Little Current, Ont. (CP) — M. Garbutt, trapper and guide at Sheguiandah, claimed bounty on two timber wolf pelts here recently. Wolves have been more numerous in the Manitoulin area this winter than for many years and scores of deer have been chased onto ice and killed.

Watchman Want Ads bring results!

It was the worst storm on record. Finally the dam burst and a raging torrent forced the townfolks to flee to higher ground. From the hill, as they looked down, they noticed a straw hat float slowly downstream for fifty feet or so. Then the hat stopped, turned around and made its way upstream a similar distance. After this performance had been repeated several times, one of the group asked:

"What makes the hat act so darn funny?"

And a boy replied:

"Last night I heard Grandpa say that 'come hail or high water', he was going to mow the lawn today".

Teacher: "If you started at the North Pole and walked due north for a hundred miles, where would you end up?"

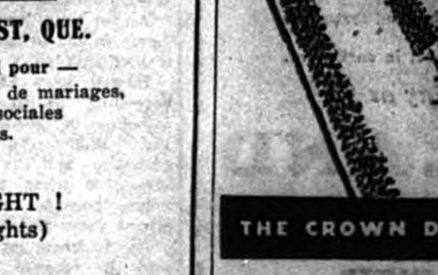

"In a padded cell."

HOW DOES YOUR VEGETABLE GARDEN GROW?
It may be too early to plant, but it's not too soon to plan your vegetable garden now. You'll save a lot of time later by laying it out on paper, because you'll know just what seed to sow, how much to buy, and where to sow it! Vegetables—from your own miniature farm—fresh and full of vitamins—are health insurance for the whole family and consequently, the community itself. Any individual activity that so benefits everyone certainly comes under the heading of "Good Citizenship".
You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Hook Hurts Fish, But Not Much

East London, S. Africa (CP) — The controversial question, "does the fishhook hurt the fish?" has been answered in part by 64-year-old Dr. J. Nanni, M.Sc., D.Ph., curator of the East London Aquarium, who is to retire soon.

Dr. Nanni, while not committing himself, says that he knows of cases where a fish carefully unhooked had resumed feeding normally after half an hour. This was in an aquarium tank, where very often fish that have been netted will not eat for a week or so until they have become acclimatized.

Dr. Nanni asserts that, for aquarium purposes, hooked fish are better than netted fish, because the mesh injures the delicate surfaces of the fish and allows infection to start.

The Curler

"Who's that stranger, mother dear,
Look, he knows us, ain't he queer?"
"Hush, my own, don't talk so wild;
That's your Father, dearest child."
"That's my Father? Not at all;
Father died away last fall."
"Father didn't die, you dub,
Father joined the Curling Club.
Now the club is closed so he Has no place to go, you see.
No place left for him to roam,
That is why he's coming home.
Kiss him, he won't bite you, child;
All them curling guys look wild."

"Voluble Little Man" of The Hockey Broadcasts

By WALLY IZSAK

There's a voluble little man in Canada whose voice is probably more familiar to Saturday night radio listeners than most well-known radio stars.

Every Saturday night—"hockey night in Canada" — during the winter thousands and thousands of Canadian and Americans pull their chairs a little closer to their radios and hear a voice scream: "He shoots, he scores!"

Those words of Foster Hewitt's are familiar as static after 26 years of broadcasting descriptions of professional and amateur hockey games. Of those years, 19 have been on a coast-to-coast hook-up.

The 44-year-old Toronto-born Hewitt entered the sports scene naturally. He is the son of W.A. (Billy) Hewitt, permanent official of the Ontario Hockey Association and well-known race track steward.

During his two-year stay at the University of Toronto, he twice captured the Canadian Intercollegiate boxing championship at 112 pounds. He still weighs a trim 148 pounds.

After first working as a regular radio announcer, Hewitt made history in 1923 by broadcasting a senior playoff game in Toronto.

Broadcasting Monopoly

When construction of Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto was completed, he persuaded the management to grant him sole right to broadcast sports events from the arena. An advertising man then hit on the idea of getting some organization to sponsor his broadcasts on a national basis. Since then only two different organizations have sponsored Hewitt's broadcasts.

Even after all these years of broadcasting hockey games from various sports arenas in Canada and the United States he says he still feels shaky before a broadcast. And he hasn't missed a broadcast in those 26 years — although he came close several times.

Once, at Chicago in the final game of the 1938 Stanley Cup series between Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs, Hewitt turned up with two friends practically carrying him. He had torn the muscles of his thigh the day before but persuaded a doctor to relieve the pain by administering drugs. Hewitt says he doesn't remember much about that broadcast.

Then there was the time he broadcast a final game from Madison Square Garden in New York while seated in front of the cold-air inlet. He says he almost froze to death as his teeth chattered continually.

As for partisanship towards the Leafs in his broadcasts, he insists it just isn't so.

Hewitt says he paces himself according to the noise of the crowd — in Toronto usually about 12,000-13,000 fans attend all games — and his voice reaches a crescendo when the home team scores because that is when the crowd roars the loudest.

His toughest game to broadcast was the famous contest between Boston and Toronto that went 104 minutes and 46 seconds into overtime before Ken Doraty scored for Leafs.

Perfect Television Of Boat Race

London — The BBC gained a triumph in the recent Oxford and Cambridge University Boat Race in Britain equal to that of Cambridge, the winners. From the start to finish of the race neither crew was out of the picture for a moment. The relay employed nine cameras and a hundred commentators and technicians. Eight of the cameras were along the banks of the Thames, and the ninth, its telephoto lenses switching from close-ups to long-shots, followed the boats in a launch. To get perfect pictures from a launch bobbing on the choppy water, and with constantly changing light problems as it swung around the bends, was a considerable technical achievement. The broadcast images were filmed from the television screen and rebroadcast in the evening as a newsreel. Experiments in this comparatively new development in television started in England some eighteen months ago. Films taken of the television of the Royal Wedding were much less perfect than they are today.

I cannot sing the old songs now!
It is not that I deem them low;
'Tis that I can't remember how
They go.

Squat "Ottawa" Engine Towed Passengers On 13-Mile Route, Carillon-Grenville Railway

STORY OF TRANSPORTATION RECALLS FACTS FAMILIAR TO HISTORY-LOVING RESIDENTS

"OTTAWA VALLEY DAYS"
By Harry J. Walker in The Ottawa Journal

Over 80 years ago it made railway history when it puffed its way around the curves of the Ottawa, snorting disdainfully at the rapids and the canal as it led its three passenger cars over a 13-mile broad-gauge stretch into Grenville.

In its lush pre-Confederation days it once took Royalty on a tour around the Long Sault. Later, in its cosmopolitan career during the boom period of river transportation, it hauled the haute monde and red-shirted rivermen at a speed of 25 miles an hour!

And in its last days it received the homage and respect that go with age and distinguished service when famous engine designers of two continents came to watch it in action and take its pressure as it panted up-grade. Now all that is left of an early railway system on our Ottawa is a length of funnel and two pinch bars.

Thus the brief life span of a pioneer locomotive named the "Ottawa", which was once the pride of the famous Carillon-Grenville Railway — one of the oldest in Canada and the shortest in America.

"Old Sykes" Line

As for the railway itself, short stretches of the ancient right-of-way can still be traced as it passes through a part of the village of Carillon. One can visualize the checkered story of this unique railway which once was an important link in the Lower Ottawa transportation system, for river travellers boarded this little train at Carillon and then transferred to the steamer again at Grenville on their journey to Ottawa.

According to one source, the "Carillon-Grenville Railway of Canada" was once called the "Old Sykes Line" after William Sykes, one of the English contractors who constructed it. This railroad was built in 1853 as part of a projected Bytown route, connecting at Montreal with Quebec City. Maurice Delisle was the president of the company which undertook its construction. But the difficulty of financing it during a depression led to its stoppage.

Remarkable Engine

The Carillon-Grenville section was all that was ever completed, and it was eventually sold by the sheriff to a company which included the Hon. John J. C. Abbott (later Sir John J. C. Abbott, the first Canadian-born Prime Minister), Judge Cross and Messrs. Courtland and Freer. In 1864, the shares of the railway were acquired on purchase from this company by the newly organized Ottawa River Navigation Company, under the presidency of Captain R. W. Shepherd. Eventually the railway lost its identity when it became merged into a later system and finally even its roadbed was abandoned.

We've done a lot of growing—especially in the last four years

We've passed another milestone in telephone history — in Ontario and Quebec we now have 1½ million telephones. Of these, 500,000 were added in the last four years. That's more telephones than we installed in our first 40 years!

And as we have grown, service has grown better. Your calls go through quickly, clearly. You can always count on your telephone. Yet up to now, despite rising costs on all sides, there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 22 years ago. Few things give you so much real value at such low cost as your telephone.

We've broken all records — but there are still orders we haven't been able to fill. We will keep right on working and building to make your telephone service a bigger bargain than ever — to continue to provide more and better service at the lowest possible cost.

HOW MUCH OF THIS MONEY WENT INTO YOUR POCKET?

That's a lot of money! It represents the gross income from farm products in Canada for 1948. It represents the earnings of Canada's biggest primary industry.

Is the share of this huge sum of money which came off your farm as much as it might be? In other words, is your farm producing to the full extent of its possibilities? Could it be made to produce more?

You can answer these questions for yourself best if you are in a position to know exactly how much you spend and how much you receive in each of your farm operations.

You can know these facts only if you have some reliable way of keeping track of your receipts and expenses. We don't mean anything complicated... just the opposite — something quite simple, such as our Farm Account Book.

A few minutes at this book every day or so and you will know just which operations of your farm are doing well, which only fair, which are falling behind. Then you can take the necessary steps to correct matters.

A copy of this book is yours for the asking. Call at our local office for a copy. While you are in, have a word with our manager. He will be glad to see you and to discuss any problems you may have in the operation of your farm.

DO YOU NEED
READY MONEY FOR SEED AND FERTILIZER
THIS SPRING?

Drop in and talk over your financial requirements with your local B of M manager.

That's what thousands of go-ahead farmers do every year. It's a routine part of their farm financing, a tide-over arrangement till the proceeds from sales come in after the harvest.

And remember — when you ask for a loan at the B of M, you do not ask a favour.

You'll find your local B of M manager easy to talk to and anxious to be of service.

Easter Services

Easter Sunday saw both local churches filled to capacity. At the Grace Church service, the sacrament of Holy Communion was administered by the rector, the Rev. G. Barnett. Spring flowers decorated the altar. . . In the United Church the service was conducted by Mr. K. Fenton (acting minister) and the choir rendered special Easter music. Flowers in memory of relatives, placed there by church members, made a fitting display in keeping with the season.

Easter Dance

Last Saturday evening, the management of Maplewood Inn put on an Easter dance. This was fully attended, as each family had its quota of boys and girls home for the holiday season. The dance commenced early, and from beginning to end the floor was filled to capacity. A three-piece group, consisting of piano, violin and mandolin, supplied the music. At midnight refreshments, served through courtesy of the management, brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

For years, however, with its quaint puffing wood-burning apparatus, the squat "Ottawa", was a feature of river transport. The railway was of old Irish broad gauge of five feet six inches (standard guage in most countries is four feet 8½ inches). The locomotive, built in Liverpool in 1849, presented a remarkable appearance with its great breadth of beam necessitated by its broad gauge, and it had a cow-catcher on each end. The rails were U-shaped and of iron, and on these the "Ottawa" travelled at about 26 miles per hour.

Complementary to the service given by the Carillon-Grenville Railway was the fleet of river steamers, also owned by the Ottawa River Navigation Company.

There is no finer record of achievement in Ottawa river navigation that that of those early river firms, bitter rivals though they were. Finally, the Ottawa and Rideau River Forwarding Company gained virtual control of the carrying trade on these waterways.

In 1846, however, when the enlarged St. Lawrence canals were opened, much of the rivalry disappeared when several forwarders "pulled out" from the Ottawa. Then, with several associates, Capt. Shepherd purchased the steamer "Oldfield" as the nucleus of a river fleet and thus established the Ottawa River Navigation Company. Two of the earliest boats on the stretch of river between the head of the Long Sault and Bytown were the "Union" and the "Shannon", the former running from Hawkesbury and the latter from Grenville.

The "Shannon" with smaller steamers, constituted one of the main links of transportation from Montreal to Kingston, via the Ottawa river and the Rideau canal. Stages from Montreal to Lachine formed the first link; thence by steamer to Carillon was the second part of the journey (with the advent of the Carillon-Grenville Railway this gap was covered by rail), and at Grenville the steamer journey continued to Bytown and then to Kingston.

The over-grown railway roadbed is the last vestige of those vanished yesterdays. As for the "Ottawa", the faithful old engine was dissected for junk and the last record we had of it was that a length of its funnel was used as a flower pot on a front lawn overlooking the scene of its former glory!

Asparagus, A Spring Treat

Tender green shoots coming through the brown earth in many gardens across the Dominion are being closely watched and counted until there are enough to use.

If one is fortunate enough to have an asparagus bed there is no question of freshness or tenderness but if it must be purchased on the market there are several points to consider.

Practically all of the green thin variety is edible, when in season. Of the thick green kind which shades to purple and white at the stem end, only the green portion is edible. The edible portion of both is about 4 or 5 inches from the tip. When the lower stalks are pithy, with hollow places, the asparagus has probably been cut so long that the juices have dried up. But ends that have opened slightly are indications of over-maturity. Wilted spears are easily detected. Asparagus that is not fresh will be stringy and flavorless when cooked.

The stem should be cut or broken off, a little at a time until the juicy section is reached.

Because asparagus grows so close to the ground it is necessary to wash it very thoroughly to make sure there are no particles of sand under the scales. It is usually necessary to remove the scales as particles of grit cling beneath them. Tender asparagus should not need to be scraped.

Asparagus heads are extremely tender and therefore easily broken, so the spears should be tied in bunches and cooked with the tips up. The tall top of the double boiler makes a good asparagus cooker. Some homemakers purchase an enamel coffee pot for this purpose exclusively. The water is never allowed to cover the tips, rather let the lower part of the stalks boil in the water, while the tips steam. Salt, added at the beginning of cooking, tends to toughen the asparagus so it is better to add it after the first ten minutes of cooking.

The water from cooked asparagus is one exception to the oft-repeated rule "save the vegetable water". It is apt to be acrid in flavor.

While asparagus, cooked until tender, seasoned and dressed with a little melted butter, cannot be surpassed, there are other delicious ways in which it may be served. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggest that, as asparagus is definitely a luxury vegetable and few gardens produce enough to give the family a generous amount, it may often be a good idea to stretch the flavor. Here are two good ways.

Asparagus Muffin Ring With Cheese Sauce

2 Cups sifted pastry flour (or 1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour), ½ teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ⅔ cup grated cheese, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons fat melted, 2 cups asparagus cut in 1-inch pieces.

Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Add grated cheese. Beat egg, add milk and stir into the mixed dry ingredients. Add fat, stirring as little as possible during mixing. Arrange asparagus in the bottom of a greased ring mould or a square cake pan. Pour batter over the asparagus and bake in a hot oven, 400°F., for 25 minutes. Unmold. Fill centre of ring with cheese sauce or pour it over the top of the square muffin. Yield: six servings.

Asparagus and Egg Scallop

1 lb. asparagus (about 25 medium stalks), 2 cups cheese sauce, 3 hard-cooked eggs, 1 tablespoon grated cheese.

Cook asparagus. Pour part of the cheese sauce into an oval or oblong casserole. Cover with a layer of asparagus and top with remaining sauce. Slice hard-cooked eggs and place down the centre of the casserole. Arrange remaining asparagus on either side of the eggs. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Cook in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., until thoroughly heated through, 25 to 30 minutes if ingredients are cold. Yield: six servings.

Is somebody's face red? A British Labor pamphlet recently boasted: "The prams of Britain are filled with the bonniest babies in living memory", and showed a healthy laughing baby boy that proved to have been taken 13 years ago, the child being Prince Edward, son of the late Duke of Kent.

Baby Sitters Ltd.

(Washington Post)

A general move seems to be on to regulate a new business which has been running wild—that of baby sitting. In the District of Columbia, licensing of individual baby sitters is being sought by Chatham T. Nottingham, license superintendent. Also in the District, as well as other parts of the country, schools and organizations are offering training courses for baby sitters.

It is surprising that something along these lines has not been done sooner. Since baby sitting emerged early in the war period as a fast-growing industry, the tendency has been to treat it lightly, as a subject for cartoons and cocktail party anecdotes. Yet the children left with sitters usually belong in the under-six class, an age when experiences and impressions do their main molding of character.

IN-BETWEEN SEASON

This is the time of the year when everything looks grimy and bedraggled, both indoors and out. The western winter has been tough, with week after week of sub-zero weather and with few mild spells. There has, therefore, been little opportunity or incentive to keep surroundings spic and span and polished.

Season Sees Changes In Baseball Rules

By WALLY IZSAK

Baseball is like many other sports in one respect — its rules change almost yearly. And everytime a catcher, outfielder, pitcher, base-runner or some other player is affected he immediately thinks the rule was put in or changed to make it tougher just for him.

This year it's the pitcher who feels sorry for himself because of the new balk rules. And on the surface it appears as though the moundsman has a right to beef.

The rules on balks by pitchers are clear. A pitcher must not take his position without straddling the rubber or standing near it and he must step towards first base when throwing towards that sack in an attempt to pick off a base-runner.

The rule obviously is designed to lessen the use of the hidden-ball play, vital to the pitcher for deception. It's up to the umpire to call these balks and call the penalty — all runners advance one base.

But the new balk rule that most pitchers claim is "brutal" states that when a pitcher is giving a batter an intentional base on balls, the catcher must remain in his catcher's box until the pitcher has delivered his throw. The catcher then can leap out of his box to snare the wide throw.

Previously on an intentional base on balls the catcher would step widely to the side of the batter's box and catch four soft outside pitches for balls. Now, if the catcher moves out of his box before the throw is made, a balk is called.

At a quick glance the new rule doesn't appear to make the pitcher's chore any tougher. But he now has to worry about a wild pitch because an intentional pass is usually given when there are men on second and third so the bases can be filled and a runner picked off easier. A wild pitch at such a time could be costly.

What Pitchers Forget

But there's one thing pitchers — usually notoriously weak hitters — forget. The base-runner already has a difficult enough time as it is. First he has to get on base — quite a job.

Then when he reaches first he has to be set to scamper 90 feet to second. And how often could a man steal a base if the pitcher was permitted to amble around the mound, face any direction, or suddenly change his arm movements.

Stolen bases — one of the most exciting plays in the game — are all too few and it takes a player with speed to burn and split-second timing to pull off the stunt.

Baseball, like other sports, is financed basically by the cash customer. The customer wants action so the game's governing bodies changed rules to give them just that.

In the last decade or more, most rule changes have been of benefit to the hitter.

Park fences have been pulled in closer to produce more home runs. Spitball pitches that confused the batter have been banned. The ball itself has been made livelier than in pre-war days to produce more hits. And now the pitching rules are being changed to produce more action on the base-paths.

So don't feel too sorry for the professional pitcher who wails that his job is getting to be tougher all the time — he's well paid for it anytime.

B'burg Memorial Committee Views Legion Proposal

Brownsburg — The Brownsburg Memorial Committee will meet May 2, after conferring with its respective organizations, to decide whether it will proceed with the Legion's proposal that all organizations and denominations of the village unite in a campaign for funds to build a skating rink and hall combined, with the rink to take priority over other plans. The report of the investigating committee, headed by John B. Chalmers, indicated that a rink proper could be built for about $65,000, and his committee confirmed too that the most suitable site for such a structure in Brownsburg was the MacVicar lot adjacent to the Consolidated School grounds.

The Legion is willing to recommend that the funds collected during its 1946 campaign be turned over to the Memorial Committee for this purpose, provided the committee will commit itself to supplying a small hall, at a nominal yearly rental, eventually for Legion use. (The proposal of the Legion is that, after the rink has been built, the Committee devote its efforts to adding a two-storey structure in front of the rink, the ground floor of which will not only serve as an entrance but also as a community hall. The second storey of this building would comprise the Legion hall, which the Legion would equip according to its needs.)

At the last meeting of the Memorial Committee, held on April 18, certain delegates felt that the Brownsburg Legion should not control this upper hall, but rather that the Board of Trustees, who will be selected to administer the rink and building, should have jurisdiction over the whole building. Other members made compromise proposals, but the Legion made it clear that it could not deviate from the stipulations it made when it submitted its proposal to the town. The Legion pointed out that the funds collected in 1946 were for a Memorial Hall, to be administered by the Legion for the community, and that a considerable percentage of these funds (amounting to approximately $4,200, now in trust) was contributed by the Branch ($500 outright), by its members, and by the families of servicemen. While this amount, plus other funds which the Branch has been able to raise since the campaign, are quite inadequate to build a Memorial Hall as proposed originally, they are still sufficient to warrant proceeding to secure suitable quarters for the Branch and its Ladies' Auxiliary. From the Legion's viewpoint too, it was logical that they should have control of the second-floor hall because of the large investment in a stage, furniture and equipment which they proposed to make; otherwise they could not see how they could secure the necessary guarantees when the hall was being used by other organizations. The Legion's stand on the question of controlling this hall is being referred back to the various organizations, and since the meeting of April 18, Union Local 13148 has decided to support the Legion's proposition in its entirety. It now remains for other organizations to declare their attitude.

Sees Brownsburg Corner 'Another Snowdon Junction' With Increasing Traffic

TO THE EDITOR

Brownsburg, Que.

Editor, The Watchman.

In view of the improvements which are to be made to "Ruts" 31, 41 and 8, it seems as if the corner of Main and Maple in Brownsburg is about to become another Snowdon Junction. (If you want to know what I mean, go to Snowdon some week-end afternoon or early evening, and try to cross the street twice in five minutes.) Cars by the thousands will be going from Montreal to the Laurentians via Route 31 in order to escape Canada's Own Overcrowded Speedway (Route 11). With the present road layout, I can foresee a line-up of traffic from Main and Maple to the Brownsburg Lumber Co. when the flow of traffic is stopped by the traffic light. It therefore seems necessary for a short road to be built to by-pass Brownsburg. It could connect with the Dalesville Road about where the present pavement ends, and meet the Brownsburg Road a short distance east of Brownsburg. I hope the authorities will "take the matter into consideration" and then DO something about it.

S. Galloway.

Meeting of Ratepayers Called to Discuss School Building Project

The Lachute Protestant School Commissioners have now received permission from the Department of Education to continue with their building arrangements for an extension to Lachute High School.

At a special meeting of the Board held on Monday evening, it was decided to call a meeting of the ratepayers of this school municipality, in the Lachute Auditorium next Wednesday, May 4, at 8 p.m., D.S.T. The Board has posted notices in locations designated by resolution according to law. These are at the two local post-offices; the Chatboro Inn (Cecil Graham, prop.) in Chatham; and Elmert Berry's restaurant in St. Jerusalem.

All ratepayers are strongly urged to attend this meeting. The Board are especially anxious to have a large number present, because they feel that the ratepayers should know the facts, and have an opportunity to express their opinions on a matter of such vital importance to the school and to the community.

Following the ratepayers' meeting, the Board will deal with the motion outlining the financial arrangements which have been tentatively approved by the Quebec Municipal Commission.

At School Opening

Representing the Protestant Committee of Education of the Province of Quebec, Mr. George Y. Deacon attended the opening ceremonies of the new intermediate school at Beauharnois, last Monday evening. Mr. Deacon describes this new school as exemplifying the most modern features of design; the one-storey structure comprises four classrooms and an assembly hall, providing many facilities and conveniences.

Physician Practiced Here for 25 Years

LATE DR. L. P. SAUVE

A large assembly from this town and countryside gathered Tuesday morning at Ste. Anastasie Parish Church to pay their last respects to Dr. Louis Philippe Sauvé, a physician in Lachute for the past 25 years, whose death occurred suddenly at his home last Saturday. Dr. Sauvé, 54 years of age, had been in indifferent health for some time past.

The Rev. V. Bouchard, of Brownsburg, celebrated the funeral mass, and ritual of the Knights of Columbus fourth degree was observed by members of the order. Honorary pall-bearers were fellow practitioners from the town and district — Drs. L. Turcotte, A. R. Coté, Ant. Pager, M. Papineau, J. Lafleur and R. Lavigne. A large profusion of flowers bespoke the sympathy of many friends.

Born in St. Hermas, the late Dr. Sauvé received his initial education at the Jacques Cartier school in Montreal, studying medicine at the University of Montreal, and some years later — while practicing here in the 'twenties — took a course of study in Paris.

Dr. Sauvé was predeceased by his wife, the former Marie-Josephe Lalonde, a little over a year ago. He is survived by his son, Jean Lomer, in Montreal, and two daughters, Camille, a nurse, of Lachute, and Marie-Paule, who is a nurse at the St. Luc Hospital. Mr. Hector Pariseau, of Brownsburg, is a brother-in-law.

Inquest Concluded on Recent Level-Crossing Fatality at Calumet

An adjourned inquest in the death of Lawrence Lacombe, 28 — a Hawkesbury resident killed in the level crossing crash at Calumet on the night of March 26 — was held last week in the Dansereau School at Grenville, under Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur, of Lachute.

Eight witnesses were heard by the jury — including Réal Tessier, driver of the taxi in which the victim was killed, Perrier, another passenger in the car, the engineer and crewmen from the freight train, and persons from Calumet who had arrived on the scene soon after the crash.

Hearing the testimony of these witnesses, the jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Shipment to Europe Delivered, Several Years in Transit

A remarkable story is told in a letter from Sheffield, Eng., concerning the peregrinations of an early wartime shipment of "magnifrit", a product of Canadian Refractories Ltd. (448 net tons, consigned March 18, 1940) which, nine years after its despatch, was received only a short time ago by its consignees in Belgium. Following is the letter, which appears in the current issue of C.R.L. News, employee-journal of the Refractories' plant at Kilmar.

Sheffield, England.

Mr. N. P. Pitt,
Montreal, Que.

I am sure you will be interested and amused to hear the following story.

About the end of 1939, or early 1940, our Belgium Company sent you an order for a few hundred tons of Magnifrit, which were shipped, but were unloaded at Dunkirk about the end of April, 1940 instead of Antwerp.

The consignment lay in the docks at Dunkirk during the whole of the evacuation, and the Germans realizing its value, shipped it to Bordeaux, and from there to Germany. An intelligent Belgian, however, whose ordinary business came to an end as the result of the German occupation, started up an office in Brussels to assist Belgian industrialists to locate truckloads of merchandise of all kinds which had been hurriedly sent into France at the time of the German invasion, and he charged a commission of 5%, plus all costs, if the consignments were eventually delivered to their proper owners. Our people engaged him, and having become friendly with the Germans he went to Dunkirk; found somebody who remembered the consignment of Magnifrit; traced it to Bordeaux, from Bordeaux to Germany, and succeeded in getting it back somehow or other through Holland to our Belgian works. This journey took several years, and the consignment was wet when it arrived, and had to be very thoroughly and carefully dried out.

The sequel is that this material is still being used, and some excellent bricks were made and sold a short time ago!

Montreal Sport Columnist Has Warm Commendation for Game Warden Here

Isaak Hunter, who enjoys a measure of popularity through his sports column "With Rod and Gun" in The Montreal Gazette, describes an experience last week-end which reflects credit upon a familiar figure in this town, that of Leslie Bates, district game warden. Passing more lightly over details less creditable to this community, the story is here reproduced in part.

My friend and I were on our way back from his camp up in the hills above Macdonald Lake and had dropped in at the lunch wagon for coffee on Sunday evening. My friend being a director of the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations, we were both quite interested in this incident.

(The scene is in the "lunch wagon" at Lachute; the speaker, a "well dressed male approaching middle age"). . .

"I fixed that damn game warden this afternoon", he declared. . "He tried to arrest two young boys for having a net in the river. He pulled a revolver and made them come ashore with their net, but I stepped in and told him off. I told him that if he ever bothers me I will fix him. I will drown him right on the spot."

He continued to threaten. . "He is that lame guy down here from Arundel. Someone shot him in the bush a few years ago. And if he ever interferes with me I'll drown him".

We were particularly interested for the fact that we both knew the game warden the brave lad was talking about. He is no other than Leslie Bates, with whom I hunted and fished for many years in the Avoca district north of Pointe au Chene. And he is lame through having had a couple of inches of a thigh bone shot out by a guide who mistook him for a wolf many years ago up there. I wouldn't say Les is old, but he is a man who undoubtedly has lost the first bloom of youth.

Frost Damage Acute on Several District Roads

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The road back north—or Route 31, as it is more publicly known — is not in very good condition for fast travelling. There are some dangerous frost blisters and repaired wash-outs which require special skill to negotiate. Given time, and a fisherman's patience, it is possible to get through.

Its companion in publicity (particularly of an adverse kind) Route 41, has taken a bad winter's beating in the Argenteuil section. This surface has been deteriorating of late years and is pretty well worn out. The new section laid last year has suffered in parts during the past winter, but on the whole has stood up reasonably well. The intervening section, or gravel stretch separating the two asphalt-coated lengths, reminds one of a processional route of the Red Army or the approaches to the Kremlin on the occasion of Stalin's birthday — so many are the red warning flags bedecking its borders.

L. W. Armstrong to To Head Rotarians For Year '49 - '50

Brownsburg — Linton W. Armstrong, of Lachute, was elected by acclamation as president of the Rotary Club of Brownsburg for the year 1949-50, at its regular weekly meeting held at St. Onge's Hall, Brownsburg, last Thursday, April 21. His duties will start officially on July 1 next, when the term of the present president, Norman D. Somers, expires. Other officers elected were as follows:

Vice-president, Harold Barrie; secretary, Keith Rutherford; treasurer, Harold S. Dando; directors—Stewart Jones, Russel Graham, Andy Hardie, Norman D. Somers (I.P.P.).

Linton W. Armstrong, who is a chartered insurance broker, is well known in Lachute and Brownsburg as County Health Inspector, secretary-treasurer of the Central School Board, a director of the Lachute Chamber of Commerce, and president of the Lachute Community Concert Association.

All the sights, sounds and scents one hears or sees these days, have to do with the humble hoe, rake and spade — sturdy emblems of garden craft. This is the time, the ideal season, for correcting the faults of previous years — an excellent time for putting into effect the projects you dreamed up during the past winter.

Policeman Charged In Bank Hold-Ups

Rosario Therrien, 33, a St. Jerome police officer suspected of committing four bank robberies within the past four years, is held by provincial police and will appear in St. Jerome Court for arraignment this Friday.

Therrien was arrested at St. Jerome last week as he prepared to take over his night shift as patrolman.

Investigators also took into custody an unidentified woman who was described as Therrien's girl friend. The St. Jerome policeman, six years on the force, is married and the father of two children.

His arrest came within 48 hours after the last of a series of bank robberies perpetrated by a lone gunman during the past two years.

Deputy-Director Hilaire Beauregard, Chief of Detectives, declared that about $2,000 in loot had been recovered. He credited close checking of automobile rental agencies for the capture. His detectives had about decided that St. Jerome was the base of the gunman's operations, Chief Beauregard said. The alleged gunman passed neither bridges nor road blocks during his escapes.

All the banks robbed were in Laval-Two Mountains and Argenteuil. They totalled the stolen loot at about $7,000.

In addition to the Banque Provinciale branch at Oka, the lone gunman invaded the St. Philippe branch — both robberies taking place within the past three weeks. Last fall he is suspected of having robbed the St. Placide office of the bank. The first hold-up in the list, in which two men operated, was at the St. Andrews East branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Therrien did not enter a plea, nor did he elect for trial before a jury or a judge alone. His lawyer, Camille deMartigny, K.C., of St. Jerome, explained to District Magistrate H. Barrette on first appearance that he had been retained only earlier in the day and had not had time to study the case. He said he would enter a plea when the arraignment continues April 29.

Rotary Public Speaking Contest, L.H.S. Boy Wins District Round

Grant Riddell, 17-year-old Grade XI student from Lachute High School, won top honors competing against four other contestants in a public speaking contest held at Hawkesbury, Tuesday evening, at the regular meeting of the local Rotary Club in that town. The subject of his address was, "The Necessity for Racial Unity in Canada".

Second prize went to Gordon Ross, student from the English High School in Hawkesbury, speaking on the subject, "Canada and the Atlantic Pact". Edouard Seguin from Vankleek Hill Collegiate was placed third. His subject was "Sir Frederick Banting".

The other competitors were Boyce McDougald, from Alexandria High School, who spoke on "Mr. St. Laurent", and Roger Rivest, representing the Hawkesbury French High School, speaking on the subject. "Newfoundland".

About two weeks ago an elimination contest was held in Lachute High School, when Grant Riddell was chosen to represent his school from a number of other contestants. This entitled him to compete at Hawkesbury. He is now eligible for the semi-finals which will be held at the regular meeting of the Montreal Westward Club on May 12. If he is again successful, he will then compete in the finals at the regular meeting of the Montreal Club on May 17.

The contest in Hawkesbury was organized by Mr. A. C. Douglas, principal of the English High School. Rotarians from Montreal and Ottawa were present for the event. Mr. F. H. J. Royal, principal of Lachute High School, Mr. Denis Staniforth, principal of the Brownsburg Intermediate School and member of the local Rotary Club, and Linton W. Armstrong, vice-president, accompanied young Riddell to the meeting.

All five speakers were worthy of comment. Mr. Roland Gomery, director of the Montreal Club and chairman of the public speaking contest in Montreal for the past three years, claimed that it was one of the best he had ever attended. He remarked that the judges must have found it very difficult to select the winners from among such able contestants.

Oddity in Numbers

Mr. Charles Hocquard, of Lachute, blinked twice on receiving his auto license plate from the local registrar this week. The number was 191-441. . . His business phone number is 191; the phone at his residence is 441. . . With this coincidence, he is not likely to forget either one!

Spontaneous Blaze In Dwelling-House At Brownsburg

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg—What might have been a tragic occurrence except for the vigilance of a municipal employee, was averted at the French Hill last week.

The driver of the town truck, Armand Charron, noticed the rather curious effect of smoke over a house belonging to Florimand Beaulne. On investigation, Charron, who is also a member of the Brownsburg Fire Brigade, discovered the house was well alight on the upper floors and under the roof. He immediately dashed into the burning building and found Mr. Beaulne, who is totally blind, sitting in his kitchen unaware of the danger surrounding him. Removing the helpless owner, Charron put in a call for the fire truck, and with the help of some neighbors endeavored to save some of the contents. The fire brigade was quickly on the scene, and tackled a very difficult job in bringing the blaze under control.

The fire originated in a clothes closet, according to Fire Chief A. Robbins, and was caused by some cleaning-rags used in waxing the floors, igniting by spontaneous combustion. The closet contained an amount of incendiary materials as well as a number of cans of food, which caused some excitement when exploding. A considerable amount of water was poured on the premises, as the only means of combatting the blaze was through a small hole at the apex of the roof.

Mrs. Beaulne and her two boarders were at work at the time, nine o'clock in the morning, and very little in the way of personal effects was saved. Some money and papers were removed to safety. The damage was estimated at about $1,000, and insurance covered the house for an amount of $3,000.

The Fire Chief would like to call the attention of residents to the danger of "assisting" the firemen during the course of their work. He found his men were considerably hampered by the number of school children who were too close for safety, and without control of any kind. The spectacle of a fire is a sure drawing-card for public attention, but the responsibility of the Fire Chief to prevent accident is assumed by the council, and any let-down would be censured as neglect of duty on the part of the chief. This is intended to be a friendly warning — but it should also be clear that it is intended to be firm.

Hostelry Burned At Morin Heights

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — The Alpino House, owned by Max Baumel, was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin early last Wednesday morning. The front of the hotel was well ablaze when the fire was discovered, and the telephone could not be reached to summon assistance. By the time the alarm was given and the fire brigade had covered the four miles of highway from Morin Heights, the roof had collapsed. However, the firefighters were able to save all the barns and garage.

April Meetings in County Branches Of Women's Inst.

Thirty-six members and one visitor attended the April meeting of Brownsburg Women's Institute. Another "personal parcel" was sent to Great Britain and gifts of fruit and cards to sick members. The roll-call was answered with an important event in Canada during the past year. Plans are being made to hold an anniversary dinner early in May. It was arranged that the concert, sponsored by this branch in February, be presented for a repeat performance in Grenville on April 22. Guest speaker of the evening was Mr. Philippe Valois, of Lachute, who chose as his topic "Are you a Mouse or a Woman?" He pointed out clearly the part woman must play in order to combat Communism, stating that it is up to women to be wide awake to this serious danger that threatens our country, and urging them to put forth every effort to fight it.

Twenty-two members of Frontier branch answered the roll-call with a joke. Interesting items on Agriculture, Canadian Industries, Education, Health, and Home Economics, were stressed. All members combined in a dialogue entitled "Publicity for the Departments of Work", written by the Publicity convener, Mrs. A. Graham. An invalid was remembered with a gift of fruit.

The roll-call at Jerusalem-Bethany branch meeting was "A washday tip" or "My favorite vegetable and how I serve it". A questionnaire pertaining to household problems was held and answered by the members as a whole. A very interesting part of the meeting was a demonstration on smocking, very expertly given by Mrs. Gordon Todd, of Brownsburg, and very much enjoyed by the members.

Lachute had discussions on various subjects pertaining to the year's work. One new member was welcomed to the branch. Mr. M. Templeton, Agriculture teacher at Lachute High School, gave an interesting and instructive talk on Gardening.

Morin Heights had as their roll-call "what three things I look for first in the newspaper". Most popular answer was Births, Marriages and Deaths, next the Social Page, followed by the Women's Page. Blue Cross fees were paid to the

Dept. of Agriculture Extending Aid to Farmers in Land Improvement Projects

Quebec — The soil improvement policy of the Department of Agriculture permits the Minister in charge to use a certain proportion of his budget for the purpose of helping farmers who need it, to have their land improved through the use of bulldozers or similar machines.

It is stipulated that the Minister shall designate the contractors who shall do the work, and that he shall make contracts with them setting out the conditions under which the work shall be done. Only work that has been carried out in accordance with these provisions is eligible for grants. Consequently, no grant can be allowed for any work without previous authorization.

Policy and Regulations

1. On the strength of contracts entered into with selected contractors, the Department of Agriculture grants $3 per hour for improvement work done by the said contractors, and the individual farmer pays the balance of the rental fixed by the contract.

2. Every farmer concerned must pay his share, in advance, to an agronome or an instructor of the Department of Agriculture staff, on or before the arrival of the machinery on his land.

3. Only 20 hours of work will be allowed on each individual farm, to make sure that the greatest possible number of farms may be worked on each season.

4. 450 hours of work in the same parish, or within a radius of 10 miles, are required before a bulldozer can be sent.

Charges

Rentals approved by the Department of Agriculture for track-laying-type tractors equipped with bulldozers are given below. Horsepower is computed as drawbar pull, not at the pulley.

a) Bulldozers, 20 to 30 h.p. : from $4 to $4.50 per hour of work.
b) Bulldozers, 30 to 45 h.p. : from $5 to $6 per hour.
c) Bulldozers, 45 to 60 h.p. : from $6 to $7 per hour.
d) Bulldozers, 60 to 80 h.p. : from $7 to $8 per hour.

Procedure

Farmers who want improvement work done on their farms (levelling, clearing, stump removal, stone removal, burying of stone piles or stone fences, repair or construction of farm roads, rounding up of plow lands, spreading of ditch banks, re-digging of line ditches, etc.) by machinery rented from contractors and the cost of which is partially borne by the Department of Agriculture, should get together and sign a formal request. This should be endorsed by the local agronome and sent by him to the Farm Machinery Division, Department of Agriculture, Quebec.

As a help to the Department, the names of contractors in the district who own bulldozers and who might undertake the work at the prices offered should be sent in with the requests. The following information should be given:

Name or firm name of the contractor. Full address. Make and number of the tractor. Make and number of the bulldozer. Rental per hour asked by the contractor.

Insurance

Sickness, accidents or death are the events which have cast unpleasant shadows over many homes since time immemorial. Since most of us must earn a living and provide for families, the possibility of a temporary or permanent period of inability to work has always been a source of worry.

This question has lost a great deal of its seriousness for many of the people within the Gatineau Power Company. The answer has been provided through low-cost group insurance which is subscribed to by more than 80% of the permanent employees of the Company.

This plan provides cash benefits in case of sickness or accident. It also provides life insurance which is doubled in the event of accidental death. As in most plans of this nature, the amount of insurance and weekly benefits are related to the employee's earnings. The cost of the plan is born partly by the Company, and partly by the employee.

A feature of the plan is that the Company adds an additional benefit of $100.00 of insurance for every year of service up to a total of five years, at the Company's expense. Thus, a person who has worked five years with Gatineau is actually insured for an extra $500.00 over and above the amount to which he has contributed himself.

For the past few decades considerable emphasis has been placed on the service which a progressive Company gives to its customers. While this emphasis must continue, it is paralleled by increasing emphasis on the necessity for well-being among the members of the Company — the employees who in the final analysis are providing the service to the customers.

To establish old age security for its employees, Gatineau Power put up $225,000 in a lump sum to launch the pension plan.

Two Farmers

By R. J. Deachman

I am glad I was born on a farm, it enables me to see more clearly the picture I have in mind. I see two farms. They are a mile and a quarter apart. The farmer who settled on one of these farms robbed the land. He sold the timber, cropped the farm to the limit, finally abandoned it and moved West to repeat the process. On the other farm was a man who loved the land. Production on that farm last year was higher than ever before. A low area has been drained. There is a good sugar bush. The young trees have been protected.

Which of these two farmers was the better citizen — which was truly the friend of man? One belonged to the distributive school of thought — the other, to the creative.

Using DDT Sprays In Dairy Barns

A number of statements have appeared recently in United States newspapers which are critical about the use of DDT sprays in dairy barns. Some of the statements have even gone so far as to suggest that DDT is responsible for "virus X" disease of man and "X disease" of cattle.

An official statement has been made by the United States Department of Agriculture as follows: "There is no evidence that the use of DDT in accordance with the recommendations of the various federal agencies has ever caused human sickness due to the DDT itself. However, minor toxic symptoms may be produced by kerosene and various solvents used in DDT and in practically all other insecticide mixtures. The statement denounces as "totally without foundation" published reports that DDT is responsible for the so-called "virus X" disease of man and the "X disease" of cattle. Both these diseases were reported and recognized before DDT was ever used.

All pesticides sold in Canada come under the provisions of the Pest Control Products Act, administered by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. This is done to protect the farmer from buying worthless or highly dangerous preparations. No preparation is allowed on the market until it has been analysed and approved. If such preparations are used in accordance with the instructions on the label, they will be effective for the purpose for which they are recommended, and will have no detrimental effects.

Spraying dairy barns with DDT, particularly with oil solutions, should be done when the cattle are not in their stalls. Special care should be taken to see that milk and cream cans and milking machines are not touched by the spray. DDT in oil solutions may be absorbed through the skin of the animals, and will be found in the milk and in the animal fat. There has been little or no difficulty in spraying cattle themselves with DDT, when wettable powders are used in water, since the water spray does not penetrate the skin and the residue is not absorbed by the tissues. Even with water spray, care should be taken to see that milking utensils do not come in direct contact with the spray.

Canada - U.S. Agreement On Exchange of Farm Labor and Machinery

The Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, has announced the renewal of last year's agreement covering the exchange of farm labor and farm machinery between Canada and the United States.

This agreement provides for a possible movement of Canadian combines and operators to the United States for the harvest. However, United States officials are unable to estimate whether Canadian combines would be needed below the border this summer. The number of local combines in the United States was greater than in previous years, and unless some unforeseen emergency arose, the need for Canadian combines was not likely to be pressing.

Mr. Mitchell added that a meeting of United States and Canadian farm labor officials would be held in Oklahoma City late this month. Until the results of the meeting were known, farmers in the Canadian West who had combines should not anticipate a demand for their services in the United States this year.

Friends in Need

EVERY country, even Canada, has its quota of individuals who have become a loss or a burden to themselves and to society.

Some are victims of their own wrongdoing, some of circumstance or the misdeeds of others. Many are innocent children. Some are aged persons, forgotten in the sunset of life. Some need material aid. Most are sick in spirit.

The Salvation Army — which launches its annual Red Shield Appeal next week with an objective of $1,500,000—is a religious institution; it recognizes that "Man shall not live by bread alone". The Army's spiritual and material ministrations go hand-in-hand. Through years of labor, the "Army" has come to know the human individual in all his infinite variety. Its workers are trained and experienced.

But training and experience are not enough. It is the understanding heart and the human touch, kindled by the spirit of Christ, that make The Salvation Army such a powerful instrument for social good.

Because the core of Christianity is human brotherhood, The Salvation Army depends upon the thousands who provide, according to their means, the money required for its work. No call on the public generosity is more deserving of wholehearted response than the annual appeal of The Salvation Army for funds to carry on its work.

Radar Screen

IN ONE short wartime decade two new scientific marvels were born — radar and the atomic bomb. The inner workings of each still are equal mysteries to the average man, even if the result is accepted.

Radar, the magic that tilted the scales in the air war, was an earlier development than the atomic bomb and lost some of its world-wide significance to nuclear energy's robust offspring.

But more and more, as war tension remains, defence planners see in radar the only present military means of parrying the devastating bomb.

For that reason mainly, the United States has allotted an initial $161,000,000 towards fencing North America with a radar screen. Canada is tying in its radar defence program with that of its big neighbor.

Because the two democracies are concerned with defence and not attack, radar would thus be used primarily in its role of an alarm. From stations strategically ringing the continent, radar would search out attackers by flashing out its electronic beams travelling at their speed of light — 186,234 miles a second.

If the speedy scouts meet an invader they return at the same astronomical pace to deliver their warning. In 1/200th of a second, the messengers disclose the presence of an enemy plane 500 miles away, then give continual reports on its whereabouts and course.

Radar has delivered its warning. If that enemy plane should be carrying an atomic bomb, the country then musters whatever defences it can. Here the war of the future enters the push-button phase, with radio-controlled pilotless missiles seeking out and attempting to destroy the atomic bomb carriers. In this stage of the struggle, the many forms of radar would take a prime role, just as it did against the Nazi robot bombs.

Because of their physical size and location, the British Isles were ideally suited to the radar defence that helped repel the Nazis. But, as Prime Minister St. Laurent pointed out, the cost of a complete radar screen for a continent the size of North America is astronomical.

For the moment, though, the money must be spent because of the menace of war, most wasteful of man's follies, and the many peacetime uses of both radar and nuclear energy will be subordinate to their roles in war.

Best Paint Forward

THE SNOW is gone, and the cold bitter days are ended. You can see the wet brown earth even in the shadow of the backyard fence where winter's last grey stubborn drift lingered so long. The lawn becomes green again; crocusus and daffodils appear in the garden . . and that old back porch needs painting.

Nature, in her infinite patience, has begun again the cycle of the season. But before you shine the golf clubs, before you switch Old Faithful to her diet of summer oil, before the baseball season opens — just look at the veranda paint. Just look at the flapping shingles. How long will the teetering eavestrough hang? No one has broken his neck on the rocking veranda step, but how long can you stay lucky? . . Though fairways cry for whistling clubs and the long, long highways beckon, yet tarry, Mr. Householder. There is a man's work to be done.

The Great Migration of tourists is almost upon us, and it behooves us all to put our best paint forward. Many of our friends from the United States will expect to find wigwams, igloos and pioneer log cabins, Indian trails and trading posts. Let's show them bright clean houses and well swept streets.

Voluntary Organizations

THE VALUE of citizen participation in movements dedicated to the common good is stressed in items in recent issues of two well-known Canadian publications.

In an article in Toronto Saturday Night, Dr. Charlotte Whitton, C.B.E., states that "an integral part of the structure of traditional freedoms is the participation of the citizen as a volunteer in the planning, financing and actual administration of the welfare agencies of the community."

In an editorial in the magazine Health, Dr. Gordon Bates states that every effort should be made by governments and citizens alike to see that voluntary associations should continue as an essential part of the modern world.

"At the present time", Dr. Bates writes, "with the powerful movement evident towards socialism in so many countries, there is a great danger that the importance of the voluntary association will be forgotten, and few people realize that this means that democracy itself may be forgotten."

Dr. Bates, who is general director of the Health League of Canada, says that governments need the support of popular education on a vast scale if they are to find it possible to pass laws which will benefit the health of the people. They should use the best means at hand of seeing to it that sane health objectives, which governments can achieve, are made possible; "and the best instrument available is undoubtedly the voluntary society."

Dr. Whitton's article, entitled "Threat to Liberty Clearly Seen in Central Welfare Control", states that, today, the principles of liberty face a persistent challenge; and asks: "how can we reconcile the welfare of the individual and the preservation of his liberty and freedom with large-scale participation by the state in social welfare?"

She says that the right of the individual to do what he wants to do for others, of his own will, no less than what he must do, under the law, is a very real privilege of the free. "The association of free citizens in voluntary organizations for these purposes is a characteristic of vigorous democracy."

DAYLIGHT Saving has been a great asset to all branches of sport, particularly to those games that enable a fellow to get out and enjoy some after-supper leisure. It also favors the man who loves to work around his garden in the evenings. Certainly it has been a great factor in getting people into the open air.

Greetings to Family Of Familiar Voices

Ten years and some twenty-four hundred programs ago, four Toronto radio actors made their first appearance as The Craigs of Briarwood Farm — the farm family of the CBC's noon-hour farm broadcast for Ontario and Quebec.

On Monday, May 2, the self-same actors will begin their second decade in the roles they first played in 1939; and the script-writer, Dean Hughes, will likewise enter his 11th year of writing about the radio farm family which he created.

Same cast, same time, same writer — five days a week. 50 weeks in the year, for ten years. There are serials which have been on the air longer than this one, but few if any can claim the same hundred-per-cent consistency of ingredients.

In the ten years since 1939, many interesting things have happened to The Craigs and to the actors who portray them. Thomas and Martha Craig have seen their son and daughter married; during the war, the son Bill joined up, went overseas and then came home again; a grandson, Brian, was born soon after Bill returned and his script-age is now about five.

Two years ago, when Grace Webster who plays Martha broke a leg, Martha did the same thing in the script and the studio was moved to the actress's bedside until she was able to get down to the studio again. In 1945, when Mr. Hughes bought a farm at Unionville near Toronto, he named it Briarwood after the Craig establishment of his imagination.

Thus in many ways, fact and fiction have been interchanged between The Craigs and the real-live people in whose imaginations they live. As the years went by, the serial became more and more of a family affair.

And the listeners? Mr. Hughes and the cast appear from the audience response to have succeeded in drawing them right into life on Briarwood Farm. The success no doubt lies partly in the care with which the writer relates the story to seasonal variations in farm routine. The result is that the events which take place from week to week in the life of The Craigs could be taking place also on any number of farms in Ontario and Quebec, where this feature of the regional noon-hour farm broadcast is heard.

Regular members of the cast have found that the ten years have added something of the Craig to their personalities; and The Craigs, as the listeners know them, have plenty in them that can be traced to Grace Webster, Alice Hill, Frank Peddie or George Murray, the four regulars. Mr. Hughes often picks up a personal trait of one of the four actors and builds it into the script — but he does this unconsciously, for the most part.

The attitudes of the actors as they gather each weekday at the CBC studios in Toronto are an amusing mixture of play-acting and business. Grace Webster tilts her head back and adopts a dignified pose in the role of Martha, a woman of quiet common sense. In sharp contrast, her husband Thomas is the enthusiastic type, and Frank Peddie, playing his role, treats the microphone as if it were an old crony he has just rediscovered at a convention.

Alice Hill as the daughter, Janice, fits her role as well as the others. She, like Janice in the script, is petite and vivacious. When George Murray is at the microphone as Bill Craig, he rocks back and forth, surveying the studio as though he were looking out over the countryside in quiet contentment.

The Craigs started ten years ago as an idea in the mind of Orville Shugg, a former supervisor of farm broadcasts for the CBC. Shugg passed the idea along to writer Hughes with a sample script. Since that day, neither The Craigs nor Hughes have had much time for looking back.

Charity Shows and The Amusement Tax

Various enquiries having been received concerning exemption of Amusement Tax on entertainment in this area for charitable purposes, Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. for Argenteuil, has procured for publication an extract of the Act which clearly defines the provisions of such exemption. Following is the English version of this extract :

Amusement Tax Act
(S.R.Q. ch. 85)

Section 5

The duty shall be exigible in all cases, except where the amusement is given under the four following conditions, to wit :

a) By organizers and amateurs residing in the Province, who receive no remuneration whatever for their services on such occasion;

PREDATOR AN EXCEPTION

With such expensive efforts being made to eliminate a growing menace to northern economy as organized hunts and trap-guns, it would seem there is a place for flexibility in game laws to permit aircraft to be used against the predator — permission could be granted to qualified "wolfers" using shotguns.

Big Business In Pheasants

Demand for Eggs and Chicks Higher in Canada and United States

New Westminster, B.C. (CP) — Pheasant-raising is becoming a major project for farmers of the lower British Columbia mainland and may soon develop into a $100,000 industry.

The provincial government has increased annual grants for purchase and liberation of ranch-raised pheasants to more than $38,000 this year.

Demand for white-breasted cocks as table birds has grown and orders from the United States and Eastern Canada for hatching eggs and day-old chicks are mounting. Farmers also want them to help in keeping down pests.

Ken Grasby of Smith Road, Burquitlam, can hatch 5,000 of the birds a year, and is today the largest breeder in the province.

Ken and his wife work 20 hours a day during the breeding season. More than 12,000 eggs go into the dozen or more hatches run every spring.

Day-old chicks are started off in battery brooders, then moved to colony houses and finished off on range before being released to game bird officials.

Hatchability of pheasant eggs is 25 per cent less than hen's eggs and the mortality rate of young birds is more than double.

Contests Held for Grenv'l School Pupils

GRENVILLE CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL NEWS

By Martha Richardson

School re-opened after the Easter vacation with an almost perfect attendance. Apparently the holiday cured the measles epidemic. In spite of the long holiday and rest, many of the young folk claimed they were still tired. It may be that "spring fever" has caught up with them.

A number of the pupils enjoyed trips of considerable distance. Ronnie Prophet went to New York City and had a great time taking in the sights. Mrs. Cook, a member of the staff, spent the holiday visiting friends in Syracuse.

The birdhouse contest was a decided success. Many well-designed houses were exhibited. The boys deserve credit for their smart looking construction. The contest was divided into junior and senior. The winners of the junior section were — 1st, Sandford Crooks; 2nd, Donald Cowan; 3rd, Jimmy Boyd; 4th, Everett Kennedy; 5th, Roy Reeves. Winners of the senior section were — 1st, David Bennett; 2nd, Lynn Beauchamp; 3rd, Donald Brigden; 4th, Ronnie Prophet; 5th, David Foreman.

A "beanie" contest is now being organized, the results of which will be published in the next news column. The beanies are small skullcaps decorated with all kinds of material — buttons, pins, little airplanes, and items almost "too numerous to mention".

The preparations are well on their way for the dance this coming Friday night in the school. An advertisement appears in another column of this newspaper.

NEW BRIDGE OPENED

Roblin, Ont. (CP) — The Robin bridge over Salmon River is now open to traffic. The "fill" on each side of the bridge is not completed but considerable inconvenience has been ended by the opening of the bridge.

B'bg Scout Committee Collects Paper Salvage

Brownsburg — A salvage paper collection was made in Brownsburg last Saturday under auspices of the Boy Scouts Group Committee. While the weight is still unchecked, the amount of paper collected was considered better than most previous collections, if not the best yet. The Group Committee wishes to thank the Boy Scouts, those who furnished trucks or assisted in any way, to make the collection such a success.

We understand the small-bore rifle shooting team of Boy Scouts have done fairly well in competing for the Jeffry Burland Shield, open to all troops in the Province of Quebec. However, the boys are just keeping their fingers crossed until the results are issued by Scout Headquarters in Montreal. The team was composed of Jim and Joe Izzard, Billy Cribb, Bernard Golphin, Bruce Mason and Ron Kennedy (spare).

Crippled Veteran Runs Two Schools

Former Officer Was Told He'd Never Walk Again

Oshawa, Ont. (CP) — Harry Millen operates two business colleges and carries a load of responsibility in practically every organization he joins. But after the Second World War military doctors told him he would never walk again and wouldn't likely be able to speak distinctly when he left hospital.

Millen was commanding a tank squadron in the Ontario tank regiment overseas when he was nearly killed by an 88 millimetre shell.

Several operations by skilled neuro-surgeons were needed to relieve pressure on his brain from shrapnel wounds, but his left side was paralyzed.

A partner in his Oshawa business college kept it thriving during the war and Millen arrived back in Canada with the determination to take it over again. After a long and painful struggle to learn to walk he now gets around Oshawa with a cane.

A second business college opened in Port Hope, 30 miles east of here, and Millen's self-rehabilitation has attracted attention of Department of Veterans' Affairs officials. Now they keep him busy trying to place other veterans who need jobs and encouragement.

There is only one thing his determination hasn't been able to overcome — his left arm and leg are almost dead to feeling.

The natural gas of Medicine Hat, used in homes and industry, has little odor, and is non-poisonous.

Hundreds of children are cared for by the Salvation Army. They are given a good start on the road of life by devoted officers whose whole reward is to see these boys and girls take their places as good Canadian citizens. Salvation Army interest in the needy often begins before birth and exists until life is ended. The Salvation Army's annual Red Shield campaign, a national appeal for $1,500,000, opens across Canada early in May.

Old Country Masons Work Tyndale Stone

$900,000 Addition Being Built for University of Manitoba

Winnipeg (CP) — This city affords an example of the continuing shortage of skilled workmen in the building trades. Two British stone masons recently were imported to work on the $900,000 annex to the engineering building of the University of Manitoba in Fort Garry.

The two are Charles Lobb, 41, from Cornwall, and William George, 45, of Inverness. Neither had been to Canada before. Both came after a personal interview with an officer of the firm employing them.

M. A. Anderson, in charge of masonary and brick work for the new building, said there were only nine or 10 stone masons in Winnipeg. The two men paid their own transportation to Canada but were promised a loan from the construction company to help them settle here. The company also is building houses for them.

Neither had ever worked with Tyndall stone before. But they echoed the opinion of 70-year-old William Taylor, an expert mason, that it was as good a building material as you can find."

George, a building contractor in his own right, crossed in the Empress of France with his wife and 17-year-old daughter, June. They are living with relatives. During the Second World War, he was general foreman with a company which built royal ordnance factories in Scotland and England.

Lobb crossed in the Aquitania, left his wife and four children in England "until I get a place". He was clerk of works for four years with the London County Council, and had also been general superintendent in charge of the building of the £5,500,000 Imperial Chemical Industries factory in Hayle, Cornwall.

A tall, brawny man, he spent three years working for the War Office in charge of construction of Britain's third line of defence, which ran from the north of Scotland to South Wales. It consisted of anti-tank traps, gun emplacements and road blocks.

Asked why they had emigrated, George said emphatically, "Who wouldn't? We get double the wages. Food and furniture are cheaper. A man can't do a good day's work on those rations". Lobb nodded agreement.

A circus performer is trained to concentrate on his act to the exclusion in his mind of the audience before him; an actor is always aware of his audience and senses their reaction.

School of Charm For Teen-Agers

Hove, Eng. (CP) — A man is teaching teen-age girls how to look their best.

Anton Clifford, organizer of the East Hove Youth Club, started his charm school after noticing few local girls "used make-up properly, chose clothes most suitable to them or wore them to best advantage".

Now, one night a week, mannequins and dress experts visit the club to show the girls how dresses should be worn and how to make the best of existing wardrobes. Hairdressers give demonstrations of new styles.

"Above all", says Clifford, "The girls are taught reliance and initiative in applying their own talents towards their clothes and personal appearances".

A windmill in Surrey, England, built over three hundred years ago, still works.

The Atom Bomb And Agriculture

Fantastic stories about bumper crops have come out of Japan following the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Almost four years later these stories persist in agricultural circles. This has resulted in widespread misconceptions as to how best atomic energy can aid the farmer.

The fact is no concrete evidence has been produced to prove that greater yields come from soils exposed to an atom bomb blast. Teams of agricultural scientists who visited the scene of the bombings found little to substantiate rumors that radioactive soil accelerated plant growth. But in their own laboratories they are collecting dividends for the farmer from the atom bomb.

Through use of radioactive tracers, they are solving one of the greatest mysteries of all times — how plants take elements from the soil and convert them into food for mankind. In one experiment they fertilized soil with radioactive superphosphate, grew clover, fed it to a cow, and fed a calf on the cow's milk. After such a diet for a month, the calf's bones were analysed to determine the amount of radioactive phosphorus they contained. The importance of phosphorus to bone building in both animals and humans need hardly be mentioned.

Employing similar techniques, radioactive calcium has been used to study calcium metabolism in animals; radioactive sulphur for sulphur and vitamin B studies; radioactive iron for iron metabolism.

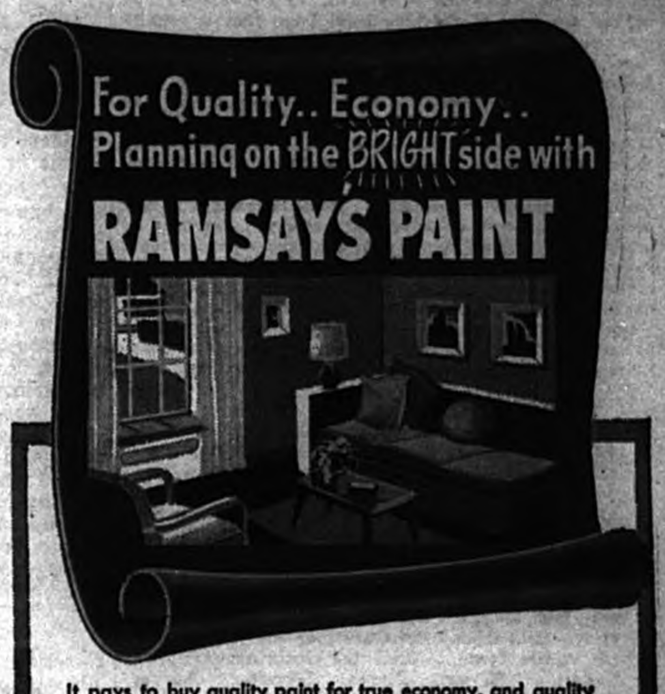

Radioactive elements have also been used in insect psychology. Such studies led to the understanding of the action of insecticides and how insects transmit diseases.

These are only a few of several tests conducted with radioactive tracers. But they all add up to one thing — that agricultural benefits derived from use of atomic energy will not be from an atom bomb blast, but from the use of radioactivity as a tool of research. — Exchange

No Flowers With This One

Most people having to do with legal documents and notices are used to the long legal lingo that is usually employed to couch the terms of the notice. There are those who wonder why it is so necessary to resort to the flowery type of language used, all the "whereas"s and "whyfor" and so on, and "to wit", "the party of the first part", and "the party of the second part". Is the English language so hard to understand that it becomes necessary to resort to words only commonly used on legal documents, or are such words used to confuse the people into thinking the profession is so profound. If legal documents and notices were drawn up in ordinary everyday language as used by the common man, we do not believe people would believe in them. Perhaps the loopholes would be discovered more quickly, if there should be any. No, we are not finding fault, but we came across a notice in a nearby United States newspaper which we felt was more down to earth and carried its meaning quite clearly as to make those involved very aware that all was known. Here it is:

To Whom This May Apply

My attention has been called in regards the village-owned fire truck which is under the supervision of the village board that it seems to some people that anyone has the right to drive this truck, and if some one calls in to report a fire, all they have to do is run and get into the truck and away they go not even knowing where the fire is or where they are going. Please use your head next time. Such a thing happened just the other evening. They not only took the truck but tried to take part of the garage with them. There are four men appointed by the village board to drive the truck, namely: Andy Cappiello, Edward Dumas, Sylvester Saumier, Seward Sweet. Now, others are asked to please keep their hands off the wheel, or they may not get off so easy next time.

Yours truly, F. H. Cosgrove, Mayor

Could you get anything that is more clear and more to the point, yet at the same time will bring a smile even to the culprit, when he reads it. We venture to say that those whom it may concern will go to the mayor and apologize and do so with a smile and a handshake, whereas the legal phraseology might get them all puffed up and hot under the collar.

Housing and Accidents

The necessity to skimp on building costs and to rush construction of homes has become a serious factor in home accidents. Instead of providing more safety, some modern homes are less safe for young children and older people to live in. Safety officials are therefore urging the revision of building codes, education of home builders and strict enforcement of safety regulations in the construction industry.

The chief hazards that are now "being built" into homes were outlined recently at a meeting of the national safety congress by an official of a glass-making corporation. Among them are: steep, badly proportioned steps on interior stairways; lack of headroom and handrails; inadequate lighting and narrow hallways.

Some post-war homes have unsafe floors, unsafe cabinet and cupboard doors and fire hazards of various kinds. Due to lack of space, doors have been built to swing the wrong way and closets have skimpy fittings. Particularly dangerous are the poor traffic arrangements inside homes where provisions are inadequate or entirely lacking for rapid and safe exit from all parts of the house in case of fire. Some of the new homes have inedequate lighting facilities in halls, passageways and even on stairs.

European Educational Exchanges

Teams of school inspectors from Europe will visit schools in Britain this summer to see how education is organized in Britain. Arrangements have also been made for school inspectors in Britain to visit France next year, and special courses for United Kingdom teachers are being arranged by the Ministry of Education in Paris, Rome, Norway, Germany and West Africa. There is, in addition, to be another course for teachers of Western European nations to study the educational foundations of the Western Union.

City Council Prayer

The following is the prayer with which the Dunedin City Council (New Zealand) opens its meetings:

"With thanksgiving for the life and work of the pioneers, and with gratitude for all the blessings of God in the past, let us ask the help of God and the guidance of His spirit, in the discharge of our duties as Mayor and councillors of this city.

"Almighty God, Who art the fountain of all wisdom and the giver of every perfect gift, look down in blessing upon this city, and grant us such a measure of Thy divine wisdom that we may have a right judgment in all things. So guide our deliberations, we beseech Thee, that all our undertakings may, promote the welfare of the people of our city, and set forth the glory of Thy Holy name. Amen."

Undertake Unique Architectural Feat

United Kingdom engineers have completed the first stage of a unique architectural feat in the heart of London. A building of great histroic interest is being lowered intact to a depth of 20 feet in Whitehall. Above it will then be built 270,000 square feet of Government offices. They will occupy part of the site on which King Henry VIII's Whitehall Palace originally stood. It is a section of this Palace which is being bodily removed and lowered. The object is to preserve intact the crypt, dating back to the 16th century, known as the King's wine cellar. It weighs nearly 800 tons and measures about 70 feet by 30 feet. Before being moved, it was underpinned with girders of steel and concrete as well as reinforced internally. This has enabled it to bear the strain of being shifted to a distance of 40 feet on steel rollers. It will require five days of careful handling to lower it the required 20 feet. This will be done one-eighth of an inch at a time and 186 16-ton jacks are to be used.

April Meetings Among County W.I. Branches

treasurer. Mrs. R. J. Seale, convener of Publicity, then read a paper entitled "My Money's Worth". This was a description of a handicraft exhibit of leather articles, shell-craft, pottery, bastil work, weaving, leather tooling, block printing, etc., which had been seen for the small admission fee of 25c. Contests brought the evening to a close. Guessing the number of peas in a jar was won by Mrs. R. Boyd, and questions answered by the name of an apple was won by Mrs. M. Dey. Miss E. M. Birch, handicraft technician of Macdonald College, spent a week at this branch and gave a very interesting course in weaving.

Pioneer branch chose Home Economics as the theme of their meeting. The convener of this subject read a paper on "The Family Heirlooms". One member gave a demonstration on darning with a "Darn-Easy" darner. This is like a miniature loom and weaves the hole in socks, etc. A quilt-top made by a member is to be quilted and sold at the Lachute Fair. Cards and fruit have been sent to the sick, and a box was sent overseas.

Upper Lachute - East End branch heard papers on Strawberries, Gladioli, the Maple Bush, Currants and Cherries, read by the convener of Agriculture, Mrs. Earl Rogers.

Arundel reports that the course in weaving held in March was a great success, and their poster contest was very interesting. A prize was given for the best poster made by a member of the executive advertising the W.I. meetings. The April meeting took the form of a debate by Grades 9 and 10 of the local school, which was open to the public and enjoyed by all present.

RADIO OPERA has its problems, some similar to those of stage opera and others very different. In this picture, five persons associated with the CBC Opera Company make plans for the production of Mozart's Don Giovanni, which was presented April 20. From left to right, they are Marguerite Gignac and Jan Rubes, members of the cast; Terence Gibbs, the producer; Herman Gigor-Torel, operatic coach and adviser on interpretation and Italian pronunciation; and Nicholas Golschmidt, the conductor.

Wartime London Was Near Evacuation

London (CP)—Few people realize how nearly London came to being evacuated during the flying-bomb attacks in the last year of the war, Sir Aylmer Firebrace, chief of fire staff for Britain from 1941 to 1947, says in his book "Fire Service Memories". He says the "gigantic operation" was avoided when Allied armies overran the continental launching sites of the bombs.

Don't Grow Old

Never read the safety rules,
All they are is bluff
By guys who draw a salary
For handing out that stuff.

Never fasten ladders,
It's fun to see them slide,
Never wear your goggles,
Remember, you have pride.

Never put on gloves,
They're cumbersome as hell;
Be careless as you can,
None will ever tell.

Abide by all the rules above,
Don't do as you are told,
And I'll guarantee you, brother,
That you never will grow old.

Work Among Lepers Described at Meeting Of Ministerial Assoc'n

The April meeting of the Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association was held Monday morning in the Lachute United Church. The Rev. Chas. Maclean, president, was in the chair. The special speaker was the Rev. E. A. Lockerbie, secretary for Canada of the International Christian Leprosy Mission —working in India, the Philippines and Burma Road by the means of village clinics and mobile clinic units, reaching into the byways and desolate places where the lepers, having been driven from their homes, have hidden away.

Mr. Lockerbie was most informative in his address as he explained that leprosy is the oldest disease known to man; it was endemic in Egypt in 400 B.C.

Twenty years ago there were about 2,000,000 cases; today it has increased to almost 10,000,000 people with this affliction throughout the world.

Mr. Lockerbie reminded the ministers that the time for missionary work is short at hand, and that "we must be busy while there is yet opportunity, to Preach the Word, Heal the Sick, and Cleanse the Lepers."

The Rev. Maclean thanked Mr. Lockerbie on behalf of the meeting.

Mr. Lockerbie has been conducting special services in the Maple Avenue Baptist Church every night this week, preaching and presenting the need of the lepers of the world.

Saturday Night Rally

The Rev. A. E. Lockerbie, secretary for Canada of the International Christian Leprosy Mission, a gifted preacher of the gospel, will be special speaker at the Saturday Night Rally in Lachute Baptist Church this week. A special program of interest is being planned. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. The time, 7.45 o'clock.

Mid-Week Service Hears Missionary from Ceylon-India Field

The Rev. W. H. W. Paget, of the Ceylon and India Mission, addressed the mid-week service of Lachute Baptist Church last night, also showing illustrative films.

The Ceylon and India Mission was founded in 1893 in Great Britain by Christians of vision and faith. The same year, the first party of missionaries sailed from Britain for the island of Ceylon, where their ministry began. The following year the ministry was extended to the needy people of South India, and new missionaries joined the first group of 12. Interest then spread to the United States. The work of the Ceylon and India Mission is carried on in both South and North India, among Hindu and Muslim peoples, by a force of 60 missionaries working with about 85 able and spiritual Indian co-workers in five languages — Tamil, Telugu, Urdu, Hindu and English. There are now well established churches and Christian communities, and pioneer work in long-neglected and bitter, hard places.

Some of the methods used to reach the people are by preaching in the bazaars of the towns and villiages, visitation and personal work among men and women, widespread sale and distribution of scriptures and literature, teaching of the children through various kinds of schools. Regular radio broadcasts of the Christian worship services, and training school facilities to prepare evangelists and Bible women; also the six mission homes for destitute and poor children.

The great number of India's people staggers the missionaries, who find themselves overwhelmed and losing ground in the evangelistic ministry. There are now over 400,000,000 Indians, and every year there are 5,000,000 new births. The 1941 census showed India's millions distributed as follows, by religions —

Muslims — 101,910,000.
Christians — 7,250,000.
Sikhs — 5,750,000.
Animist (tribal) — 5,100,000.
Jains — 1,500,000.
Buddhists — 469,000.
Parsees — 115,000.
Jews — 22,000.
Others — 631,000.
Total Population — 388,800,000.

Young Citizen Honored Prior to Marriage

At a banquet held in Lachute Auditorium last evening (Wednesday), Mr. Fernand Legault was guest of honor on the occasion of his approaching marriage to Miss Beverley De Wolfe, of Montreal, which takes place this Saturday.

The assembly was large, and represented the many friends of this popular young townsman in various spheres of activity. Messrs. James W. McGibbon and Georges E. Dansereau acted as joint chairmen, and toasts were proposed to the guest of the evening and to his bride-elect.

The presentation of a beautiful desk set, suitably engraved, was made by Mr. Horace Lamarche on behalf of the assembly —Miss De Wolfe having received, at her home, a beautiful bouquet of roses.

Mr. Legault, in accepting this gift, expressed his sincere thanks and referred to the presence of both young and old at this reception, which he felt was a tribute to both himself and his late esteemed father.

Letters of regret at their inability to attend, were read from Messrs. Geo. H. Héon, K.C., M.P., W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., and Mr. James Muir.

The marriage ceremony will take place quietly on Saturday.

Tall Stories

The fishing season has been ushered in by reports of big catches, as far as numbers are concerned. Over the week-end several residents took a trip back north and did quite well. There was none of the huskie beauties individually photographed, but some strings of 30 or more were brought home.

Community Concert

The Brownsburg Community Choir has announced May 10 as the date of its next concert. Under the expert guidance of Warner Norman, organist and choir director of St. James United Church, Montreal, the 30-odd members have reached an enviable high in voice culture, and in the aggregate are capable of an artistically complete performance. We have heard some delightful interpretations of concerted harmony from this group, and an improvement on past presentations would be an improvement hard to expect. To round out the concert the choir has secured the services of Miss Doris Killam, an artist of the keyboard, besides the ever-welcome Harry Maud, nationally known singer. What more could be desired to make a complete musical evening.

Margarine

A national paper discussing the question of margarine and the Province of Quebec points out that "the act of purchase or sale" (which is forbidden in Quebec by an act passed at the last meeting or session of the legislature) can be performed in Ontario, where it is permitted, without infringement of the Quebec law.

The paper continues by citing a hypothetical case of a resident in Three Rivers instructing his grocer to procure through an agent in Hull, who goes to Ottawa and buys it, margarine sufficient for his table. The close proximity of Ontario makes the use of such an agent unnecessary to a residents of this district, but the effect of such desire for forbidden "fruit" which acts as a "sales leader" in Ontario, is detrimental to the business of our local merchants.

The 1928 chairman of the Democratic National Committee of the United States once wrote: "We as a people seem to be losing all sense of respect for ourselves and our fellow men, with the result that we hesitate not a minute to secure an organized minority or even a majority, to attempt by resolution or law to impose our will on a large body of people in matters where no moral wrong is involved and where liberty is curtailed." (John J. Raskob).

DID YOU MARRY YOUR HUSBAND JUST BECAUSE HE WAS A MAN!

Some housewives — dreaming of their new gas range — are not buying the one they actually want (FINDLAY'S, of course). Instead they are accepting any stove, just because it is a stove.

Chances are they'll be just as disappointed as they would have been in a husband chosen the same way!

The demand for the famous FINDLAY NOR-GAS (Propane) RANGE is greater than ever before — because discriminating women insist on a Findlay for their new range.

They want all the advantages of the beautiful new, easy-to-use, easy-to-clean Findlay's Range — plus the assurance of Findlay dependability and a fine performance.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP is a lot of little things

WALK ON THE RIGHT SIDE OF SIDEWALKS

Busy sidewalks, like busy highways, become congested and hard to travel unless there is some control of traffic. To eliminate accidents and to make travel more orderly, automotive vehicles must stay on the right side of the road. If everyone kept to the right side of the sidewalk, fewer collisions would result. Traffic would speed up and walking would be easier. That's "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

The Penny-Wise Cook

Meat is usually the most expensive item on the menu. For this reason most restaurant meals are built around the meat and priced accordingly.

The meat served in the home cannot always be judged by the original cost for the ingenious homemaker often makes most elegant dishes from the cheaper cuts. For instance, ground beef offers endless possibilities for rich-tasting, fine flavored dishes, although it is classed as an economy meat. When expertly seasoned and well cooked, dishes made from ground beef need no apologies at either the family meal or company dinner.

A tasty sauce of tomatoes with, well browned, ground beef when served on macaroni or spaghetti, as the Italians do, will make a satisfying meal for six from a half pound of minced beef.

Every cook has her favorite recipe for meat loaf. This is one of the best meat stretchers; when served hot or cold it is a great favorite.

Hamburgers are approved teenage fare when away from home and are just as popular when served at the family table.

The home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa have their favorite ways of using ground beef. Here are a few:

Toasted Devilled Hamburgers

1 lb. Hamburger, ⅓ cup chili sauce, 1½ teaspoons prepared mustard, 1½ teaspoons grated horseradish, 1 teaspoon finely chopped onion, 1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 6 slices bread ½" thick.

Combine meat, chili sauce, mustard, horseradish, onion, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Toast bread on one side under broiler. Spread the untoasted side of each slice with meat mixture. Return and broil for 6 minutes at least 3 inches below broiling unit. Serve hot with tomato sauce. Yield: six servings.

Meat Balls in Tomato Sauce

1 Slice bread 1-inch thick, 1½ lbs. meat (beef, veal, pork or liver), 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon fat, ⅛ cup finely minced onion, 3 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ½ clove garlic, chopped (optional), 3 tablespoons grated Canadian cheese.

Soak bread in water to cover. Put meat through food chopper, using medium blade. Beat eggs and add to meat. Melt fat, add onion and sauté until golden brown. Add to meat. Press water from bread, break with a fork and add to meat together with parsley, salt, paprika, lemon rind and juice, chopped garlic and cheese. Combine thoroughly and shape lightly into 2-inch balls. Broil or sauté in a small amount of fat until done, about 10 to 15 minutes. Serve hot in Tomato Sauce with or without boiled noodles or spaghetti. Yield: six servings.

Tomato Sauce

1¾ Cups tomato juice, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon ground cloves, 1 teaspoon sugar, dash of pepper, ¼ teaspoon onion juice, dash of cayenne pepper, ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire or spicy meat sauce, 3 tablespoons flour.

Heat tomato juice, salt, cloves, sugar, pepper, onion juice, cayenne pepper and meat sauce. Blend flour with a little cold water or cold tomato juice and add gradually to the hot tomato mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve piping hot with meat balls.

Al Moore Says Men Don't Want Carbon Copies of Themselves

By SAUL PETT

New York (AP) — The trouble with women, says a man who has trouble with women, is that they are getting too thin, too flat, too unwomanly.

Women eat too little. In some cases they actually eat less than birds, says Al Moore, magazine illustrator and calendar girl artist, who's having difficulty getting models built along the "lines that men like."

"Too many women", he says, "are trying to look like the professional models who are trying to look like all the other models trying to look like something out of the high-priced fashion magazines.

"They're not chesty enough, not fleshy enough generally. Get the average model in a bathing suit and you can see the tendons, the shoulder bones, the ribs, the veins, even. This might be appealing as an anatomical study for medical students".

Moore isn't sure what this means. Maybe, he says, "it's women's revolt against their own femininity. But whatever it is, I think the taverns and the bowling alleys and the golf courses are full of men who have no reason to go home because of this".

Likes Lovely Hair

"Men", he continues, "don't want duplicates of themselves. For example, hair. They like soft, lovely, long hair. They don't like the sculptured hairdos that look as if they're made of plastic, of the close, hard boyish styles".

Moore came across several models who for two or three days at a clip were living on diets like this: breakfast — orange juice, black coffee; lunch — no lunch; dinner — clear consomme or tomato soup, cottage cheese, apricots, black coffee.

He added up the calories. They came to only 325. He consulted a veterinarian who told him that several birds — and not very big birds at that — eat more. Like the minah bird from Australia, the owl, the parrot, the crow.

"Let's do something about this," Moore says, addressing himself to all men who like their women soft, full, feminine. . . Let's.

Aid to Women's Inst. Personal Parcels Scheme

The lowering of postal rates on "personal parcels" to the United Kingdom, effective since the first of April, was welcome news for branches of the Quebec Women's Institutes. The contents of these parcels were usually donated by the members but the high cost for transportation was quite a drain on general funds. When sending these parcels the Women's Voluntary Services do not recommend they be made more than 15 lbs. in weight, and mention the following foods are of particular value; fish and fats of all kinds, sugar, biscuit and cake mixes, and especially, meat.

And here is more news that will be of interest to Institute members. A depot for the reception and forwarding of "personal parcels" is being opened by the United Emergency Fund for Britain on May 1. The address is: U.E.F.B., 287 Notre Dame St. W., Montreal 1. Parcels up to 15 lbs. only will be accepted, and must be prepared as if for posting with the Customs declaration affixed. In the space on this form for "Alternate Address" please write "U.E.F.B., Parcel Terrace, Derby". A charge of 30 cents is made by U.E.F.B. which can be paid at the Depot, if the parcel is taken in by hand, or affixed by Scotch tape to parcel, which should then be wrapped in an outer wrapping and addressed to the depot, if it is sent by post. Another way is to send Postal Note with addresses of sender and addressee. It will be noted, these parcels must be packed as usual, with the card enclosed, and addressed to your recipient, but note the alternate address that is to be used on the Customs declaration.

This service, now offered by the U.E.F.B., will undoubtedly prove popular with Institute members who are so faithfully carrying on this provincial project of "personal parcels".

Commendation for Local Game Warden

Les was one of the most able men in the bush I have ever seen before that shooting. Here at the Royal Victoria Hospital the surgeons discussed amputation of the shattered leg. "Damn the amputation", growled Les, "the tail goes with the dog".

And so it did, and finally Les graduated from a chair to crutches, from two crutches to one, and from one to a cane, and finally he threw the cane at a Jersey bull and shortly after that he took to the bush again. In my experience he is a better man with that stiffened leg than most of our district game wardens with two legs and half his years.

Leslie Had the Goods

Our friend at the lunch wagon had conveyed the impression that he had stopped that lame game warden right in his tracks. I couldn't quite reconcile this with what I knew of Les Bates, so I suggested paying a call on him at his Lachute home to see what he had to say about it.

Mrs. Bates was busy trimming Les in a game of casino when we arrived, so Les was glad of our interruption. "How is business?" I asked, without referring to what we had heard. "It's picking up", declared Les. "The dore have started to spawn and the netting is beginning. See what I picked up today."

He stepped into a shed and reappeared with a gill net in his hand. I felt of it, and it was still wet. Asked to explain, he told us all about it. He had caught a couple of chaps using the net, and had commanded them to return when they attempted to make off across the river. A boisterous individual had blustered up at this point, and had threatened to drown him. Les said he hadn't said much to the man, who very obviously was interfering with a warden in the discharge of his duty, but he continued the business in hand. He seized the net, and got the names of the two netters, imposed fines and brought the net home.

"I have heard about this case". I told him, "and I hear one of these desperadoes was about 14 years old".

"Maybe that's right", grinned Les, "I didn't look at their teeth, but one of them had a heavy black moustache."

So I guess Les is still in business, and one might well think twice before starting to drown him.

We can understand that! . . In the National Hockey League, no defenceman has even won the Lady Byng Trophy, given partly for gentlemanly conduct on the ice.

The Cockney cleaning women of Whitehall recently sloped mops and, led by a piper, marched on parliament and demanded a wage increase.

The Stanley Cup Win – Shots Behind the Scenes

By WALLY IZSAK

Before the Stanley Cup finals become too distant a memory, take a look back and ask yourself just who deserves most of the credit for the brilliant performance of Toronto Maple Leafs.

It's not easy to decide. Each player hit top form in the series against Detroit Red Wings as Leafs made National Hockey League history by winning three Stanley Cup titles in a row. Some fans might pick veteran goalie Turk Broda, or pivotman Ted Kennedy, or wingman Harry Watson.

But there is a quiet-spoken man who spent most of the year standing behind these players, directing, cajoling, reprimanding and praising as the case warranted. He, too, deserves much credit.

Coach Clarence (Happy) Day could easily be classed among the all-time hockey coaches, for while his team earned hockey immortality, his name went down in the records as the only man ever to coach a team to five Stanley Cup triumphs. And those five victories came in only nine years since he took over the helm of the Leafs in 1941-42.

He isn't a colorful figure. He leaves that part to his boss —Conn Smythe, general manager and president of Maple Leaf Gardens. In fact he seldom ever makes announcements during the season. But he's behind the club at all times with his hockey know-how, strategy and general assistance.

Has Eye For Talent

Some of the credit for Day's success must go to Smythe, a good chooser of lieutenants. Before Day took over as coach he worked for Smythe as a player and those years added to his coaching time have brought the two close together. Each knows what the other wants and expects.

Leafs have an extensive farm club system with players available at a moment's call froim their American League team, Pittsburgh Hornets, and two Toronto amateur teams—Malboros juniors and seniors. If men from these teams don't fit in — and they did very well in most cases during the season just closed — then Smythe can go out into the open market and buy players.

Take, for example, his deal with Chicago Black Hawks two years ago when he gave away five players for Max Bentley. Hawks missed the playoffs both years, Leafs won the Cup both years, and Bentley is considered one of Toronto's top players.

Then there was the case last year when Smythe turned over Wally Stanowski and Elwyn Morris to New York Rangers for Cal Gardner and Bill Juzda. Gardner fitted into Leafs "strength-through-centre" plan while Juzda added more power to an already powerful defence.

It must seem strange to a lot of fans that not a man on the Toronto team was picked for either the first or second all-star team after its brilliant record-smashing performance. The closest any player came was an honorable mention.

But in that one fact alone may be the secret of the team's success. The team isn't made up of one or two individual stars, but a group of men who play together and for each other. They're not stars in their own right, but together they're almost unbeatable when the chips are down.

Among Canada's Best Rifle Shots

Brownsburg — In the 1948 Outdoor "All Star" Rifle Team, just recently chosen, two Brownsburg riflemen qualified for the distinction of being selected. The team consists of twenty members, the captain being Gilmour S. Boa, of Toronto, whose father, Jim Boa, is well known in the Brownsburg district through his association with C-I-L.

To qualify for a place on the "All Star" team, each member had to fire the Grand Aggregate postal course as well as the 50-metre shoulder-to-shoulder match. Out of the 1947 team only six made the 1948 team, which shows how hard the grind really it.

Wyman Hazel, popular Brownsburg marksman, rang up a 97.9 average over the season, and Bill Brown was eighteenth on the list with an average of 97.7. The top shot of the team had an average of 99.8, while the lowest man was only two points behind.
