ARCHER AND HORNE SET PACE IN EXHIBITION GOLF

300 Pro and Amateur Golfers -- Big Gallery Despite Sunday Rain

By ORD ANDERSON

Two grand masters of the golfing game, Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., and Skip Alexander of Southern Pines, N.C., fought an uphill battle to finally eke out a draw in their best ball match with Jack Archer, Lachute professional, and Stanley Horne, Islesmere, last Sunday over Lachute's new 18-hole course. Lachute members were delighted to see Archer go for the greens with shot after perfect shot, then put the ball down with a putter that had finally decided to behave. It was this same putter that cost Jack at least half a dozen strokes in his morning round with Horne and Bill Kerr of Beaconsfield.

But in the clutches, Middlecoff and Alexander came up with very convincing proof that they would take a great deal of beating on any golf course. Their recoveries were spectacular, especially Middlecoff's work on the 11th and 17th holes. Alexander had the large gallery gasping with his tremendous, zooming tee shots. In spite of heavy rain after seven or eight holes of play, the match held a good gallery throughout. Horne played steady, brilliant golf and Alexander paid him and Archer tribute for their fine performance when he declared, in his pleasant Southern drawl, "They went at it like men out there, and we were the boys with our backs to the wall".

In fine weather before the match, the crowd was highly entertained by the visitors' golf clinic, during which each in turn demonstrated all the tricks of good golf. Middlecoff showed why he is considered one of the game's greatest iron shots, and Alexander, after a few warm-up smashes, finally drove the ball out of sight with what seemed like an effortless swing for this big fellow.

They topped off a splendid afternoon's entertainment by ably assisting Gilbert Ayers, President, and Hugh Kerr, Captain, in the distribution of prizes at the clubhouse that evening. It would be hard to imagine any better ambassadors of good-will, or finer representatives of American sportsmanship, than these two gentlemen, and they may rest assured of a most hearty welcome should they ever choose to come this way again.

Gray Again !

Just ahead of the feature match, industrious Bob Gray, of Toronto, was busy shooting a one-under-par 71 to take the Lachute Open Tournament championship for the second year in succession, and the third time during his attendance here. Big, genial Bob did it after playing two rounds Saturday in the Ontario Open, driving most of the night to Lachute and getting something less than two hours' sleep. He was one stroke up on Diamond Gauthier of Municipal and Arnold McLean of Whitlock. He played at least six of the 18 holes in heavy rain.

Record Turnout Saturday

Saturday's event for amateurs of seven-and-over handicap, saw a record turnout of well over 150 players. Blazing heat and high humidity took its toll and many of the visitors found the new eighteen hard to beat. Jim Finlayson kept low gross honors in Lachute with an 80, and J. H. Andre took low net with a 66. Amateurs with handicaps of six-and-under were teamed with pros in Sunday's play. Altogether, the two days brought something near 300 golfers into action, and the club executive have reason to expect that the tournament will continue to grow in popularity and size as their course rounds into real championship calibre.

HONORABLE MENTION

More than a little effort goes into the successful staging of an event like the Lachute Open Golf Tournament, and praise is due in many directions.

The Town of Lachute, and especially its business and professional men, have given this annual week-end a mighty boost over the past few years, and with their assistance the club executive has to a man worked hard to build still bigger and better. Members, and especially the ladies, have done their part.

For the past two tournaments, the Imperial Corps of Frontiersmen, under command of Lieut.-Col. E. Emmett, of Lachute, has ably handled traffic and admittance, and as the number of spectators has increased, their duties have become heavier; they have proven more than equal to the task.

For Community Betterment

War on Speeding Taxis -- A Jury Verdict with Strong Public Backing

It is the general opinion in this town that speedsters — taxi-operators in particular — have had their way too long for public safety. After much talk, but no organized effort to place a check on the speed of these drivers, it is encouraging to note that a body of jurors has taken an emphatic stand to stir the apathy of the authorities.

Lachute Town Council latterly has given good response to the public demands, and it is hoped the city fathers will similarly rise to the occasion in this grievance. With school days near at hand, the matter is still more urgent.

The jury, deliberating on the death of a young child at a local intersection, made this recommendation: "That the proper authorities . . take energetic measures to check speeding in this town, especially on the part of taxi-drivers . . " It should be said in fairness to taxi-men, that not ALL local operators are offenders; and also that the majority are good drivers even if they are not good law-observers; but unfortunately, skill can never compensate for precaution, as the toll of one small innocent child has demonstrated in the past week. The jury's request embraces ALL violators of the speed limit, and it is hoped the authorities will treat all truck and automobile drivers accordingly.

Public opinion has criticism for the civic police in this matter. The local force, be it said, is competent and praiseworthy; but it is apparent the officers are more often at headquarters than out on patrol to catch offenders.

Service Club Speaker Gives Exposé on Communism

"I Declare Myself an Enemy of Communism and All It Stands For"

"THAT THIN RED LINE"

A vehement exposé of Communism was given by a college professor and former Rotary District Governor, Doug Silverston, at the club's regular meeting in Bronwsburg last week. Mr. Silverston described the Communistic concept as diametrically opposed to Democracy's ideals, and revealed the methods used to propagate that creed — thus emphasizing a stern warning which was the prime motive of his address.

Douglas Silverston, professor of English at Triple Cities College of the Syracuse University, was born in England and came to Canada in 1929. He served as an instructor with the R.C.A.F. in the last World War, and it was in the course of his duties in this area that he became well known to the Rotarian fellowship of Hawkesbury and Brownsburg. He served as International District Governor for this district.

"We, and many other nations, are at war today. The enemy is Communism, which is a religion and is anti-Christian. As a Christian I declare myself an enemy of Communism and all that it stands for". — With this statement Rotarian Silverston introduced his subject, which he entitled "That Thin Red Line". Following are further extracts from his talk.

It is to Christianity that we owe everything that is best in our heritage. This must be the theme of the home and family life, if we still aspire to greatness. The youth of our nations must be brought up to understand that they have something to do in the future. . . It is my view that the nations are today at war with Communism. It is often called the "cold war", but it is possible that this struggle between Communism and Democracy might eventually lead us into a "hot" or shooting war. This would be disastrous for the whole world, therefore it must be prevented. I believe that the true and ultimate strength of a nation lies in the character of its people, their spiritual qualities, their capacity to work.

Victoria, B.C. — A $50 fine for businessmen who put slugs in parking meters is advocated by Acting Mayor Ed Williams. He said the minimum fine of $1 was "ridiculous, especially for businessmen. From children you expect that sort of play."

Boy on Bicycle Struck by Auto

Jean Laurin, 11-year-old son of Oscar Laurin, Lachute, was struck by an automobile at the intersection of Barron and Robert Streets last evening, shortly after 8 o'clock. The boy suffered a fracture of the left leg below the knee. After receiving treatment at the clinic of Drs. Pager and Papineau, he was taken to his home, 82 Robert Street.

Driver of the automobile was Gerard Péron, a Montrealer. The driver was descending Barron Avenue from south to north, while the victim, riding a bicycle, was proceeding from east to west on Robert Street. Eyewitness to the accident was another boy, André Cayer.

The case was investigated by Cst. O. Sabourin, of the town police force.

Teacher Gave Life In Vain Attempt To Rescue Pupil

DOUBLE TRAGEDY AT CHANTAL LAKE NEAR CALUMET

A 32-year-old school teacher and one of his pupils, both from the Grenville district, were victims in a double drowning at Chantal Lake, four miles north of Grenville and Calumet, last Friday morning. Fernand Bérubé, the teacher, jumped into deep water to rescue the boy, Ray Larocque, 14, of Grenville Bay. Neither could swim, and when the lad clutched frantically around his rescuer's neck, both were drowned.

Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur was summoned from Lachute and, on investigation, gave a verdict of accidental death. The coroner was informed that the professor and about a dozen boys had been camping on the lake for a week. At 8.20 Friday morning Ray Larocque climbed onto a steep rock, which was forbidden ground to the young campers. A young friend called out to warn him and at that moment the boy slipped. Mr. Bérubé, hearing cries of alarm, ran from the camp and without hesitation jumped after the boy. Both were clothed, and as the young victim choked his would-be rescuer, both sank beneath the surface.

Help was summoned from Calumet and Grenville. Harry Druce, of Calumet, a strong swimmer, dived repeatedly at the spot, and sighted the bodies in water 35 or 40 feet deep. The two victims were brought to the surface around 12 o'clock noon. The boy's grandfather, from Grenville, was among those active in the dragging operations.

Det. Philippe Therriault, of Lachute, made the investigation. Officer A. Legault, of the traffic police, and Police Chief D. Villeneuve, of Lachute, both answered the call for assistance.

Stage Coach Returns to London

A useful dollar-earner is the 150-year-old stage coach now trundling around London every day with loads of American visitors, who find a novelty in seeing the old city in the old way. Run by the Stage Coach Company, it is driven by "Yorky" Wilson, former coachman to the Lord Mayor of London, who is accompanied by the traditional red-coated Guard who blows his long horn to give warning of approach in traffic. A round trip of the "sights" takes 1½ hours. Picture shows the stage coach passing the Victoria Memorial opposite Buckingham Palace.

4-Year-Old Boy Killed by Taxi; Accident Verdict

JURY RECOMMENDATIONS FOR ATTENTION OF THE AUTHORITIES

At an inquest into the death of four-year-old Gaston Prevost last Saturday on Main Street West, a jury here on Monday evening pronounced the death accidental, but made two recommendations— firstly, the the Attorney General study advisability of laying a charge of reckless driving against the taxi-driver, Edouard Lemay, of St. Philippe; secondly, requesting that the proper authorities apply energetic measures to check speeding in this town, especially on the part of taxi-operators, which is becoming a menace to public safety.

Under District Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur at the Victoria Hall, testimony at the inquest showed that Lemay was proceeding from St. Andrews to Lachute around 4 p.m. on Saturday, and on Main Street West at the intersection of Bedard Blvd. he struck the child, who, according to the driver's evidence, darted out from behind a post. Taken to the Providence Hospital, the boy died shortly after admittance. The coroner, who had been in attendance with Dr. Marc Papineau, stated that the child had died of traumatic shock caused by abdominal injuries.

Det. J. Arsenault of the provincial homicide squad conducted the investigation with Det. Philippe Therriault, Lachute; and Georges H. Héon, K.C., as district crown attorney, questioned several of the witnesses. The jury comprised — Messrs. Romain Beaulne (chairman), Chs. E. Dorris, Aldège Page, Hormisdas Mallette, C. St. Jacques and R. Roussel.

Traffic Officer Albt. Legault, who was called to the scene of the accident, described the situation, and added that the taxi had stopped 375 feet farther east after the mishap. . . Cst. W. Lepine, of the town police force, had also taken part in the investigation.

Ernest Presseault, mechanic, and Thos. Smith, a customer at Northland Automotive garage, had heard the impact and the noise of brakes, then had seen the child lying on the road. Smith had followed the taxi-man in his car to Cayer's garage, and the driver had then returned to the scene of the accident.

Edouard Lemay, 47-year-old taxi operator of St. Philippe, stated that he had struck the child while travelling "between 30 and 35 miles an hour". The victim had appeared so suddenly that he had been unable to avoid hitting him. The driver claimed that, in a state of nervous excitement, he had then proceeded at a reduced speed as far as Cayer's garage, where he had disembarked and asked the proprietor to drive his passenger to her destination. He had then met Smith and had driven back to the intersection.

The passenger in the taxi was not available to give her testimony.

Only other eyewitness to the crash was Hector Lepage, local truck driver, who had been approaching down Bedard Blvd.; he saw the collision, which was in his line of view, but had seen nothing preceding it. He estimated that after the crash the taxi had continued at a speed not exceeding 30 miles an hour.

I. Cayer, garageman, confirmed Lemay's evidence relative to the purpose of his call at the garage. Lemay had told him he had "had an accident".

Other witnesses were the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philippe Prevost, of 41 Main Street — the former being visibly stricken with emotion.

The jury withdrew to decide whether they required the testimony of a third eyewitness, the woman in the taxi, but they felt they had already sufficient evidence. Receiving instructions from the coroner, they again adjourned, and returned some time later to give their verdict of accidental death — adding the two riders previously mentioned, concerning the laying of a charge, and action of the authorities to curb speeding.

Crisp Comment on Current Casualties

By Our Correspondent

IN BROWNSBURG (Specially Contributed)

A vegetable salesman left his converted car on the side of a hill on Rosedale Avenue. He also left his little girl in the car. The little girl released the emergency brake and an apple-tree stopped the wreck. The child was not badly injured.

A local butcher depended on his brakes to avoid crashing into a parked taxi. His brakes could not be depended upon, so he crashed into the taxi.

Outside Lachute before Simon's Crossing, a Ford coupe containing a Brownsburg resident with his family, parked for a few minutes well in on the side of the road. Imagine his surprise when a car came along and took off his hubcap, bashed up his rear fender and gouged a hunk of rubber out of his rear tire, and then continued merrily along its winding way. He, of course, got the number of the retreating car and will no doubt get compensation.

Two young men coming from Lachute to Brownsburg on Sunday night — or was it Monday morning — saw a car approaching. It had but one light, which was sufficient to confuse and mystify. The cars crashed head on and several people got cuts and bruises. No one was seriously injured, although several needed medical attention.

"Oh, the worst of phrases ringing all through motordom today
Is that selfish bit of wording that is known as 'right of way'
It has filled the graves of many

Since Death never asks the question, is the driver right or wrong."

The Wee Sma' Hours

"The wee sma' hours" belong to the good old days. There was a dance of the old-time variety up at the C-I-L picnic ground last week, and the descriptive comment was that "a good time was had by all". The adjective in this connection is too all-embracing, as the promoters were rudely brought back from the good old days of the old-time barn dance, and by means of a subpoena projected into the quietude of present day civilization — to explain why the wee sma' hours were disturbed from their pristine dreaming. The answer is involved in legal technicalities — too complex for our most vivid imagining. . . In this connection we do not hold with Terence, who says, "They who love dancing too much seem to have more brains in their feet than in their head". I much prefer to dance along with Byron, who says in Childe Harold, "On with the dance! let joy be unconfin'd; No sleep till morn, when Youth and Pleasure meet."

At the Shrine

A pilgrimage of several hundred people travelled from Vankleek Hill on Sunday to attend services at the shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes, outside Lachute. Mass was celebrated on the plateau before the statue and broadcast over the grounds below. There was a large male choir assisting in the service, and several of the nearer districts were represented in the large crowd. Picnic facilities were available on the grounds before the restaurant, and the pilgrims remained in prayer and devotion till late in the day.

Call for Voluntary Donors, Red Cross Blood Clinic Here

Many Groups and Individuals Co-operating

Another call for volunteers is being issued by the Red Cross, Lachute branch, to contribute blood donations at a clinic to be held in the Auditorium here Wednesday, September 14, from 3 to 8 p.m.

With the mobile unit here from Red Cross headquarters, together with their trained personnel of doctors, nurses and technicians — this clinic will be conducted entirely by the Red Cross. Local nurses will assist, while the Lachute branch will provide refreshments to the donors and helpers, and local service clubs are being approached to aid in transportation of donors. Several district industries have signified their willingness to co-operate — and with all these agencies enlisted, the clinic will again represent a real community effort

It is stated that, for the safeguarding of volunteers, all contributors will be given the haemoglobin test, and only those in good health will be accepted as blood donors at this clinic.

Chairman of the project here is Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, while Mrs. H. Rigg (tel. 337-W) will again serve for the enrolment of volunteers and arranging of appointments. It is hoped to have 200 donors attend this clinic.

This effort is an essential part of the Red Cross free blood transfusion service recently extended to this province. The organization has contracts with most of the hospitals in Quebec cities and outlying centres (including also the Providence Hospital, Lachute) to provide blood and plasma to these institutions — the condition being that transfusions shall be free to all patients requiring such treatment in those hospitals.

Heavy Roll as Courts Resume At St. Jerome

A dignified hustle and bustle will attend the judicial sessions at St. Jerome, reopening shortly after the summer's respite.

Civil proceedings will start September 12 in Superior Court, with Justice P. Cousineau presiding. For the month of September there are no fewer than 30 important cases on the roll; half of this number are civil suits involving litigants from Argenteuil County. Besides these cases Judge Cousineau will hear a number of appeals from summary convictions under criminal law, and one notable case in this category during the term will be that of Kent Rowley, celebrity in the Ayers strike proceedings.

The criminal courts will swing into action tomorrow, September 2, with Justice H. Barrette presiding. On the roll for Sessions of the Peace this month are 110 crown cases, besides such others as may arise out of the run of human misdemeanors. Of the cases listed, there are a total of 28 concerning Argenteuil — for such offences as burglary, simple assault, neglect to provide, etc. Before the Sessions of the Peace also are cases charging infringement of liquor licenses by a number of hotel-keepers and one club-licensee in this district. The offences concern the sale of liquor after prescribed hours, or on Sunday mornings.

In District Magistrate's Court, Justice Liguori Lacombe will preside. The roll for September is heavy — opening on the 6th, it includes 20 actions. Under the District Magistrate's jurisdiction are civil cases, and also preliminary hearings in criminal cases where such are elected or in order.

Under recent changes in legal procedure, the foregoing program will soon be under way at St. Jerome, the judicial seat of Terrebonne. In additon, Criminal Assizes for the district — jury trials for major offences — have been set for October 3.

Georges H. Héon, K.C., and Lucien Thinel, of St. Jerome, will be prosecutors for the Crown.

Miss Kirkland, Former H.S. Teacher Here, Dies of Polio

The death of Miss Adrianne Kirkland, of Rothesay, N.B., a former member of Lachute High School staff, occurred last Friday in Sherbrooke, and (according to news received by teachers residing here) her remains were taken to her home in New Brunswick for burial. Miss Kirkland, who is reported to have been in poor health for some time, succumbed to poliomyelitis at the Hotel Dieu Hospital in Sherbrooke.

Having taught Grade IX at the local High School in the 1946-47 school year, and until Christmas of the following year, she had since been in the Eastern Townships, on the teaching staff at Scotstown, Que.

Gatineau LINES

Don't Throw Stones

Ever since the human race had to depend on rocks and clubs as weapons of war and self defence there has been an almost irresistible urge in the heart of every male to try the accuracy of his throwing arm every time he sees a likely target. This is probably responsible for the fact that wearing a plug hat near schoolboys in snow-ball season is a dangerous occupation.

Unfortunately the urge to throw rocks and snowballs can be expensive because it frequently results in damage. As a consequence most people learn to control these impulses before they advance too far in life.

Expensive

One type of target which attracts a lot of attention — particularly in the autumn months when the school children return to classes full of vim and vigor — is the glass insulator on the poles of transmission lines. Schoolboys find it difficult to resist the urge to throw rocks at them. Unfortunately, this too is expensive. It costs money to replace them; in outlying districts, where work crews must travel many miles with equipment, the cost of replacing one insulator may run as high as $25.00. This is an operating expense which must be met by the companies and which adds to the cost of distributing electricity.

Interrupts Service

There is, however, another unfortunate result from broken insulators. Very often it interrupts the flow of power over the lines. This can, and frequently does cause an interruption of service to customers. Such interruptions, coming at critical moments, can be most inconvenient to people who depend on electrical power to light their homes and run their appliances.

Perhaps if parents would point this out to their children, the inconvenience and expense resulting from broken insulators could be decreased considerably. All of which would be in the interest of customers and company alike.

Did You Know?

That one broken insulator could stop all industrial production in several towns until it was replaced.

Corn-Borer Becoming A Serious Problem

The prevalence of European corn borer in canning-corn is becoming a serious problem in Canada, according to a warning bulletin recently issued by the research department of the American Can Company.

"It is very important to be prepared and apply treatments at the proper time or they are absolutely useless', suggests Roy J. Fortier, Canco agronomist and author of the bulletin. "Some people recommend the commencement of inspection when the corn is 10 to 12 inches high or 30 inches high, but this is only a guide and cannot be depended upon.

"Inspections of canning corn generally commence just before the tassel emerges", he explains. "The moth lays its eggs on the earliest corn first. Therefore, it is wise to be prepared as soon as the moths are flying and egg-laying is reported on the early market sweet corn in your district".

A practical method of inspection, Mr. Fortier recommends, is to examine four plants in each corner of the field and at the centre, 20 plants in all. Choose the largest plants in the field, count the egg masses found and multiply by five to give the number of masses per 100 plants.

"It is not considered practical to treat until 25 egg masses or more per 100 plants are found", he advises.

Spraying and dusting both give good results, the report states, although a spray is usually a little more effective. Mr. Fortier recommends the proper type of equipment and lists three materials for spraying and three for dusting as suggested by the Ontario and Dominion departments of agriculture.

Cutworms May Be Bad in 1950

Next year is likely to be a bad one for cutworm damage in parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan according to a forecast of the Dominion Field Crops Insect Laboratory, Lethbridge, Alta.

The best way to reduce the inroads of the cutworm is to leave summerfallowed fields undisturbed during August and the first half of September when the moths are laying eggs. Cutworms will not lay eggs in fields that are free of weeds and crusted from rains. Disturbance of the crust by allowing livestock to pasture or run on the fields can be as serious as if the fields had not been worked.

The area involved in Saskatchewan is enclosed by a line passing through Chauvin on the Alberta side of the border, North Battleford, Radisson and Saskatoon on the north, and through Davidson, Moose Jaw, Bengough and south to the International boundary on the east. In Alberta the line continues west and south from Chauvin through Alliance, Stettler, Beiseker, Queenstown, Taber, Wrentham and Coutts.

A final check of the areas will be made to determine where the cutworm moths are most abundant and detailed information for spring control will then be made.

Field Day and Fair, Activities at Camp Resort

The month of August was a busy one for the children at Camp Ste. Malvina. The following activities have taken place at this summer colony, just two miles east of Lachute on the North River. . .

On Saturday, August 20, something new was tried at the Camp — a Field Day. There were races for the different age groups, as well as special events for married couples. Those events which provided the most laughs were the three-legged race and the "thread-the-needle" race, with the men doing the threading while their wives did the running. A "special" for the married women was the rolling-pin throw.

August 27 was the night of the annual Camp Fair. The evening opened with a musical concert including "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs". Those in the play were as follows — Joan Knevels as Snow White; Margy Kennedy as Snow White's mother; Ellen Routledge, the wicked witch; Gordon McDonald, Prince Charming; and Tommy Routledge as the voice in the mirror. The Seven Dwarfs were played by Ronald Bullock (Doc), Gordon Millar (Grumpy), Christine Buzzell (Sneezy), Donna Reid (Happy), Margaret McDonald (Bashful), Peter Millar (Sleepy) and Estelle Pariseau (Dopey). They were ably backed up with a chorous of singers — Katherine Boyne, Eddie Fassio, Margaret Gallagher, Jean O'Cleary, Louise and Pierro Payette, and RoseMary Rice. The play was followed by a short amateur show featuring the musical talent of the camp settlement.

With the singing of God Save the King, the Fair was officially opened. Among the game-booths there were such things as "penny-in-the-saucer", sand-bags and bingo. The two main events were the Chinese Lottery, at which groceries from Pariseau & Freres were auctioned, and the drawing for an Ayers blanket donated by Bedard Ltée.

The proceeds from the evening's activities amounted to $50, which has been given to the Canadian Red Cross (Lachute Branch).

The folks of the colony express their gratitude to Bedard Ltée., Boyd's Lachute Express Ltd., Pariseau & Frères and Mr. Yueranos, for their kind donations; also a hearty "thank you" to the campers who helped to set up the Fair, and a special bouquet of thanks to Mrs. James Reid, who made the costumes for the Seven Dwarfs.

New Highway Across Ile Jésus to Relieve Congestion into Montreal

Plans have been completed and work will commence next spring on a highway on Ile Jesus, designed to ease the congestion of traffic into Montreal and travelling via the Hull highway across the new bridge at St. Eustache (says a Quebec staff-correspondent to the Montreal Gazette).

With completion of the Hull highway and the opening of the St. Eustache bridge the flow of traffic leading into Montreal has become very heavy, since much of the traffic which now goes over the Hull highway had formerly gone through Ontario. When the increased traffic over the St. Eustache bridge joins Labelle boulevard, the situation becomes serious, particularly Sunday evening, and getting from Ste. Rose to Cartierville Birdge is a long drawn out effort.

The projected new highway will be 150 feet wide. It will run from the St. Eustache bridge to St. Dorothée, thence to L'Abord à Plouffe, and along the edge of the Riviere des Prairies to St. Vincent de Paul, where traffic will move to the Island of Montreal over the Tremblay bridge linking Ile Jesus at St. Vincent de Paul with the terminus of Pie IX boulevard. The latter artery has been rebuilt by the Quebec roads department. The paving of one half of it has been completed, and the other half will be paved within a few weeks.

Selection of the route for the new highway will mean that at two points it will cross the Labelle boulevard, and the situation will be taken care of by grade separation.

Effect of the new route will be that the flow of traffic headed for the eastern parts of the Island of Montreal will be divided from the traffic which will still have to use the Cartierville bridge, whether it approaches via the Ste. Rose bridge or the St. Eustache bridge. The two streams of traffic will be divided between the present Labelle boulevard and the new boulevard to be built. The distance for the projected highway is about 11 miles.

It will mean considerable easing of traffic congestion on the Island of Montreal itself, as well as in crossing Ile Jesus.

Credit for the decision of the government to decide on building the new highway is due in large measure to Omer Barriere, M.L.A. for Laval County, which takes in Ile Jesus and a section of the Island of Montreal.

"Circulation" means blood movement to doctors, "traffic" to French-speaking Canadians and "success" to newspapers.

Preparing for A Premiere

"CBC Wednesday Night" on October 12 will present from Toronto the Canadian premiere and first special radio production of the opera "Peter Grimes", by the young English composer Benjamin Britten. Photograph shows a section of the chorus and orchestra of the CBC Opera Company (with soloists in the foreground) during rehearsal for this important presentation. The music adviser to the CBC, Geoffrey Waddington (inset), will conduct the performance. "Peter Grimes" is the personal story of an ill-fated fisherman. The time: a little over a hundred years ago. The place: the village of Aldeburgh on the Suffolk coast of England. Critics and audiences in many countries have acclaimed the opera and some have predicted that it may mark the dawn of a new era in English music.

September's Here!

FOR MANY Canadians September is the best month of all. The mellow warmth of its days and the frosty crispness of its nights bridge the gap between August heat and October chill. Moreover, it has many admirable qualities all its own.

It's a good month to be outdoors, where the purple haze of early autumn filters the golden flood of sunlight. Trees, shrubs and grasses take on glints of gold.

In orchard, garden and field, the air is heavy with the aroma of harvest-time. Fruit hangs ripe on tree and vine. Root crops wait to be dug. Fall wildflowers, Michaelmas daisies and golden-rod bloom in profusion along roadsides.

For rural folk, the coming of September means a respite from the hard work of summer. The hay is in the barn, the threshing is done. All that remains is the fruit harvest, the preserving and the potato digging before the annual cycle of sowing and reaping draws to a close.

The townsman sees September as a turn in the year. The summer heat over and workers back from their holidays, he can put his hand to starting fall and winter projects with new zest and vigor.

For students of all ages, September signals the start of another school year. New friends, new interests, sometimes new surroundings crowd in upon them, bringing promise of busy, happy months ahead.

School fairs, fall fairs, football games, harvest home services, plowing matches and all the other activities of autumn are almost at hand. The sportsman can oil his guns for hunting trips.

Perhaps most pleasant of all, September means the return of long fireside evenings when members of a family can gather for reading, good talk, games, or just to relax and dream.

No Divided Loyalty

THERE ARE some who would attempt to reconcile Canadian loyalty with Communistic leanings — even though professed Communists here have stated that in the event of war with Russia they could play no part for the defence of Canada. What kind of Canadian citizenship is this! The two loyalties are incompatible. "Whatever soft language may be used in explaining their codes, we can have no faith whatever in the honesty of persons professing belief in human rights and at the same time subscribing to the doctrines of Marx, dictatorship, revolution and the one-party system of government", writes John Nolan in an article, "Our Liberties". (Monthly Letter of the Royal Bank of Canada).

Our observations are prompted by an address by Douglas Silverston to the local Rotary Club, reported in this issue. Among our youthful readers are many now entering college — many on the verge of that mental revolt synonymous with youth. To these particularly — their minds a fertile ground for unconventional ideas — we commend the reading of this sincere, outspoken discourse. To dissuade but one young citizen from toying with perilous ideologies, would repay the speaker for his trouble.

Our Canadian way of life is to be dearly cherished, guarded and fought for. In the words of John Nolan again: "Our democratic machinery may be old — worn — held together with haywire here and there. We know that it is not perfect. But we also know that it offers a fuller, freer, happier life to our people than any totalitarian nation has ever offered, and is worth preserving".

A NUMBER of people have commented upon the fact that June bugs and the ordinary house flies seem to be on the decrease. However, the increase in the number of grasshoppers more than makes up for the lack of other pests, remarks the Granby Leader-Mail.

Labor Day

IT WAS 55 years ago that the Parliament of Canada passed the amending act which included Labor Day as a statutory holiday. Next Monday we again celebrate this annual observance.

In a Labor Day message from Ottawa, the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, points out that since the war Canada has been among the best countries in the world in wihch to live. The workers have had high employment at better wages than ever before, shorter hours of labor, and vacations with pay. We do not know the meaning of the austerity which they have in Great Britain and in other lands across the seas.

In the concluding words of the Minister's message: "As we gain advantages to enjoy the better life, so we assume greater obligations. It is obvious that we cannot take more unless we put more in — that is, we cannot have better paid jobs and shorter hours with paid holidays unless there is increased efficiency in the work of each of us day by day. Otherwise, the gains would prove ephemeral, there would be no improvement in the real living standards of the workers and the interests of the people generally, and our national progress would be imperilled. If the rate of production keeps pace with the improved position of the workers of Canada we have nothing to fear. We shall continue to go forward to the great destiny which is assured a country with such rich resources, human and material, as we possess."

No Need for Panic

THE POLIO situation in Canada this year is slightly more serious than at similar periods during the past few years, but there is nothing in the situation to cause public panic, it is stated by Dr. Nelles Silverthorne, chairman of the Health League's newly formed Child and Maternal Welfare Committee.

"For years, poliomyelitis has gone in cycles, with an upward swing every now and then", says Dr. Silverthorne. "For instance, in 1945 there were only 384 cases in Canada, while the next year there were 2,527. It declined during 1947 and 1948, and then increased in numbers again this year."

Dr. Silverthorne feels that the public should concern itself as much with some other diseases which prey upon Canadian childhood as with poliomyelitis — notably whooping cough and diphtheria. However, the concern of parents can be well understood when the crippling possibilities of polio are considered.

There is no known preventive for poliomyelitis, but following are some of the precautions which can be taken to avoid the disease:

1. Extreme fatigue should be avoided.
2. Don't swim in polluted waters.
3. In areas where the purity of drinking water is questionable, all supplies should be boiled.
4. Drink only pasteurized, clean milk.
5. Avoid and eliminate flies – poliomyelitis virus has been obtained from flies.
6. Keep out of crowds.
7. Keep yourself, your family and your community clean in respect of all personal hygienic matters.

PROTECT your merchants. All you have to do is confine your business to this community. Many citizens make trips into the city to save 50 cents on an article and in turn spend much more than that for meals there. . . Next time you think of buying in the city, give your local merchant a thought. He is relying on your support.

Now what is Communism? As I have remarked, it is a religion; it is also a system by which one small group seeks to rule the world. No nation has ever gone Communist in a FREE election. The Communists gain control in one or both of two ways — legally or illegally. Communism's first big victory was through bloody revolution. Every one since has been by military conquest or internal corruption or the threat of these.

What would happen if Communism should come into power in this country? You would work where you are told, at what you are told, for wages fixed by the Government. You could send your children to the kind of school the Communists told you to, and nowhere else. You could send your children for as long as they let you, and no longer. You could read only what the Communists let you, and as far as they could manage, you would know only what they let you. Could you still be a Rotarian? — you certainly could not. According to the Communist manifesto, issued to the members of their organizations in foreign, non-Communistic countries (the latest in 1947, of which I have a copy) — it states: "Under the dictatorship all the capitalist parties — Republican, Democratic, Conservative, Progressive, Liberal, Socialist, etc. — will be liquidated, the Communist Party functioning alone as the Party of the toiling masses. Likewise will be dissolved, all other organizations that are or could be props of the bourgeois rule, including Chambers of Commerce, Rotary Clubs, American or any other such-like Legions, Y.M.C.A.'s and such fraternal orders as the Masons, Elks, Knights of Columbus, etc."

Under Communism, all real estate belongs to the Government; you would not be allowed to own your own home. Your insurance would be taken over by the Communists, likewise your bank account. When you died you could not leave anything to your family; you wouldn't have anything to leave — the Government owns everything. Would you be allowed to travel, even around your own country? Yes, definitely, provided you first obtained police permission for every move you made — but first try and get the police permission. . . How would Communism affect me personally as a teacher? I would be able to teach only what the Communists authorized me to teach. To do otherwise would be asking for jail or death.

There are today approximately twenty million Communists in the world — about one person in 115 is a Communist, on a world basis. Why shouldn't you turn Communist? If you want your country exactly the opposite to what it is today, then you should turn Communist. But before you do, remember you will lose your independence, your property, and your freedom of mind. You will gain only a risky membership in a conspiracy which is ruthless, godless and crushing upon all except a very few at the top.

"Give us one generation of small children to train to manhood and womanhood and we will set up the Communist form of Soviet Government". This statement made in 1919 by Mrs. Marion Sproul, a Boston school teacher, has become the guiding light of the Communist party of America.

Schools and Universities are the feeding ground of the 'intellectual' Communists and the agents of the party have been deliberately 'planted' there for the purpose of making converts of the younger generation. Radicalism in universities is nothing new. It has existed since universities were established. For generations educators have been familiar with that period of mental revolt in the college youth which made him proclaim himself an atheist, or an agnostic — some kind of "free-thinker". It is a stage that has been so common as not to be alarming. For when college days passed and the youth emerged into a sane, practical world, this period passed and the college-bred youth took his proper place in society. But today, when the Communism fed student leaves college, he does not step out into a sane world, but into the ranks of the Communist movement which is waiting to assign him to definite work for propogation of the party.

The drift from liberalism to radicalism and finally to Communism is gradual and easy. Many college professors, who were liberal in their views and teachings, became radicals almost without knowing it themselves. Whenever

Prices and Wage Rates

By R. J. Deachman

British costs of production are too high, not merely for the dollar market, but for other markets, including the British. I took this story from "The Economist", London, England:

"To give a simple illustration of changing costs, an attempt was made to estimate costs in terms of weeks the average British wage-earner would have to work for his wages (after tax) to equal the price of five standard British-made objects, before the war and now. These are the results, showing pre-war weeks and present weeks respectively:

Standard council house* — 112 and 213.
Cheapest British car — 39 and 55.
Cheapest motor-cycle — 11½ and 17½.
Cheapest man's suit — 5 and 7.
Cheapest radio set — 3½ and 4½.
(*"Standard council house" means a certain standard form of house.)

"These figures can be used to show that the standard of living has fallen. But that is merely the inverse way of saying that the real cost of production — the number of weeks' work necessary to produce something — has risen. This is a real and fundamental ratio. Until it is put right, no amount of juggling with prices and exchange rates will enable the British people to earn as good a living as they did before the war".

Strange Facts

If you were to ask 100 men of better than average intelligence where wage rates were lowest they probably would answer India or China.

Would that be right? Yes, if you were measuring it purely in terms of money. If, however, we measured it in terms of work done for the pay — the answer should be the United States or Canada. The difference lies in the equipment used. The Chinaman might carry wheat on poles across his shoulders — in North America we use box cars. If wheat had to be carried by human effort from the Peace River country to the Head of the Lakes no one could afford to pay for it, the "freight rate" would be too high.

THE WEDDING CALALCADES

It is rather strange to us that some people seem to think a wedding is an opportunity and an excuse to break the law. To use cars to transport the passengers to and from a wedding is quite all right. But to use cars to put on such demonstrations and in complete disregard for the law and the safety of persons, is a punishable offence.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

LABOR DAY—A HOLIDAY FROM LABOR

Labor Day is a day of deep significance for all of us. On the first Monday of each September, as we pause and take a holiday from our daily work, we can look back with pride on the accomplishments of our people. From their labors has resulted this abundant land of freedom . . . this Canada of ours! Our pride in our homeland is justified . . . and will continue to be so if we strive at all times to follow the principles of "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

People Count Most

Some persons are given to talking about the precarious nature of Canada's economy. They say we are too dependent upon foreign markets, too close to this nation and too far away from that, too much divided geographically by mountains and lakes, and ideologically by languages and creeds.

These people miss the point; they are timid and misguided people looking for things to blame rather than for people to achieve things. Foreign trade depends upon our ability to sell in competitive markets, and that in turn depends upon inventiveness and enterprise, which in their turn are in the hands of people. It is upon people, not upon conditions, that the future of Canada turns. And those people, in terms of the next fifty years, are this year's school and university graduates.

Canada's economy is not static. Why, in 1948 alone, there was capital investment in this country to the amount of $3,000,000,000. This went into new buildings, machinery and equipment. There will be upwards of 150 new industries from abroad established in Canada in 1949. Every dollar of investment means more opportunity for young people. Every dollar of investment is backed by the judgment of astute men that it is justified by Canada's prospects.

Motor Rickshaw for Export

Britain's first motor rickshaw designed for export to India, Burma, Siam and China, has been built by a Birmingham firm. It is a three-wheeled machine driven by a 250 c.c. two-stroke engine mounted under the passenger's seat, and it reaches 35 to 40 miles per hour. Petrol consumption is 60 miles to the gallon.

The work of town-planning cannot be left to the commission alone. It is the duty of every citizen to co-operate as fully as possible in creating a new and better town.

Australia "Over-Governed"

"In Australia there is no room for state parliaments, federal parliaments and municipalities", declared Councillor Sir Raymond Connelly, Lord Mayor of Melbourne, in an interview recently with the English Municipal Journal, in which he described Australia as over-governed. "In Australia we are living under a bullock-wagon constitution in a jet-propelled age."

Sir Raymond felt that there was no case for any city, and certainly in Australia, to have over one million inhabitants. Underground railways in the cities were ridiculous and a monument to bad management. The majority of the people did not want to live in the cities, but it was the lack of amenities outside which was forcing them in.

Three complete floors in the South Tower of the Douglas Library at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., are packed solid with stacks of what forms one of the most complete collections of Canadian government documents in any library. These official documents date from 1774. They include the statutes of both Upper and Lower Canada, the Journals of both the Legislative Council and the Assembly, and reports of special parliamentary committees.

New Cattle Spray Easier on Humans

Montreal (CP) — A new insecticide — methoxychlor — is now available to Canadian farmers as a livestock spray. Developed in the United States, its manufacturers claim it is more lethal to some insects than DDT, yet is less toxic to human beings.

It is used in the United States as a standard cattle spray to control several species of flies. It was recommended when U.S. health authorites found dangerous amounts of DDT in milk and meat from treated livestock.

Methoxychlor is said to leave practically no residue in the flesh of animals. C. R. Asher, agricultural chemicals manager for Canadian Industries Limited — Canadian distributors of the spray, said it is only four per cent as toxic as DDT.

'That Thin Red Line'

a college professor expresses an opinion which can be construed as favoring, even in a limited sense, the aims of the Communists, such words are seized upon and used for propaganda purposes. The struggle between Communism and Democracy is the offensive of atheism against all forms of religion that base themselves on the belief in God. Marx, who coined the phrase, "Religion is the opium of the people", wrote in the Communist manifesto . . . "Communism abolishes eternal truths; it abolishes all religion, and all morality, instead of constituting them on a new basis it therefore acts in contradiction to all past historical experience". Marx denied the existence of God and held that atheism could not be separated from the Communist concept.

The real centre of power in Communism is within the professional classes. Taken as a whole the Party depends for its strength on the support it gets from teachers, preachers, actors, writers, union officials, doctors, lawyers and businessmen. I would like to quote for you a sworn statement from William Z. Foster, Head of the Communist Party in the United States:

"No Communist, no matter how many votes he should secure in a national election, could, even if he would, become President of the present government. When a Communist heads the government of the United States — and that day will come just as surely as the sun rises — the government will not be a capitalist government but a Soviet government, and behind this government will stand the Red army to enforce the dictatorship".

We on this continent enjoy the privilege of living under free institutions. . . We must be the upholders of liberty, of true democracy. We have had Hitlerism, and we now have Communism, both materialist systems of oppression. Under one or other specious pretence, even the most anaemic dissent from the ruling power is ruthlessly suppressed and the masses are reduced to serfdom. It is the business of every lover of liberty to fight this insidious enemy.

No household, no man and no nation can say, "It can't happen here". It can happen anywhere. It will happen here unless we are on our guard. When we read of the gigantic Communist victories in the Far East, we find it hard to picture a like fate for our own country. How can we imagine a Communist army of occupation in Canada? It may sound absurd, but I assure you it is not impossible. . . We may smile, but the Communist does not smile. Humor is the first casualty of this unhuman creed.

We are told that had we studied Mein Kampf we should have known Hitler's methodical plan for world domination. But until it was almost too late we did not take him seriously. . Is it too much to ask Christian people to study those plans which describe the liquidation of Christian civilization which the Communists have decreed? It is all in their earlier writings. If the plans of the Communist International are not frustrated the name of Christ will be erased from the earth. We have been warned. We still have time.

The democracies have given much aid to China. But it did not turn the tide. Is this another tragic instance of "too little and too late"? Or is it, rather, that we don't know HOW to aid? . . . More than 20 years ago Moscow was training young Chinese in the art of demoralizing, dividing and conquering China. These are the men who are taking over China for the Communist idea today.

When the allied armies moved out of Italy, Russia sent in an army of ideologically trained Italians. She has training schools today for Germans and the embittered nationals of every country. Just recently, thousands of Japanese prisoners returned, ideologically trained, to infiltrate the Marxist ideas throughout Japan, thereby counteracting the efforts made by General McArthur and the American Occupation forces to democratize that country.

Many of us in the democracies still seem to think that the problems of nations can be answered with dollars alone. They have yet to learn that the needs of nations must also be met with men. And we have yet to produce men trained in the ideology of democracy. We must be able to export that ideology with greater fire and passion to outwit the alienisms which challenge Christianity in many lands.

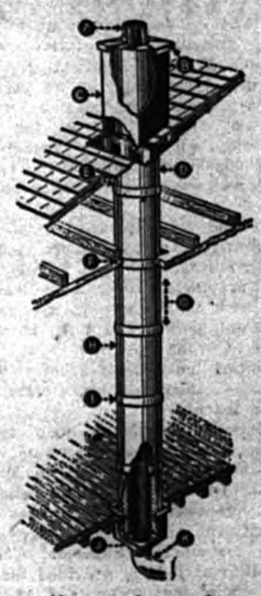

I address these thoughts to you as the parents of a generation that will be called upon either to give a total reply to Communism or perish. In the present trial of strength, what is being fought for is the mind and soul of the next generation — your children.

HUNGRY FOR IRON, the world's steel industry looks to Ungava as the immense new source to supply its increasing needs. There, in the wilderness of rocks and stunted trees stretching north to Ungava Bay, lies one of the richest, purest deposits of iron ore the world has ever known.

The vast area is now being actively explored. Already over 300 million tons of ore have been outlined; camps have arisen; airfields and roads have been built, and the route is being surveyed for a 350-mile railway from the St. Lawrence at Seven Islands. In another section, inland from Havre St. Pierre, what promises to be the world's richest source of titanium has been discovered and is being developed. Our one-time wasteland proves to be a treasure-house.

This new northern expansion is but one of many examples of Canada's tremendous modern development. Never before, here or elsewhere, have there been such opportunities as those which await the energy and initiative of young Canadians in our own country today.

"NEW OPPORTUNITIES..."

"Never before have there been so many new fields and opportunities for young Canadian men and women who, through hard work and persistence, will be able to achieve success and prosperity in the years to come. The continuing development of our industries will be due in large measure to the true spirit of progressiveness of the young Canadian of today", says LUCIEN BOUGIE of Montreal.

From bank clerk to president and owner of the largest baby shoe company in Canada, selling La Parisette shoes through offices and showrooms around the world, Mr. Bougie's career is an example to all ambitious men. His training in banking and accounting has enabled him, through conservative methods of finance, to keep his finger on the pulse of his business, thus avoiding the pitfalls and difficulties attendant upon the establishment and growth of any business venture.

Loans to Home-Builders In Quebec Province

By William Stewart

Quebec (CP)—Financial agencies in Quebec Province have made more than 1,000 loans to private home builders under legislation by which the provincial government pays a three-per-cent share of the loan interest.

Premier Duplessis gave out figures on the housing-assistance scheme at a recent press conference. He revealed that the Rural Credit Bureau, in charge of the home loan system, has 2,000 additional loans under consideration.

The premier said 28 Quebec insurance and loan companies with assets of more than $4,000,000, and 114 credit unions, had been authorized after application to take part in the lending system.

The system was set up in 1948 by provincial legislation which made $3,500,000 available for government payment of all interest charges on housing loans up to three per cent. During the 1949 session, an additional amount of $3,500,000 was voted by the Legislature.

Premier Duplessis conferred recently with Reconstruction Minister Winters, who has been calling on provincial government leaders to seek their views on a national housing policy. The talks between the Quebec premier and Mr. Winters also dealt briefly with trans-Canada highway plans, it was learned.

Premier Duplessis also spent some time in conference with Justice Minister Garson in Montreal. One of the points believed to have been dealt with was appointment of six new judges for the province's Superior Court. Additional judges, provided for by provincial legislation of 1948, are sorely needed particularly in Montreal where Superior Courts face a heavy backlog of undisposed cases.

Reason for the Montreal conference is that while the province creates the Superior Court positions, it is the Federal Government which makes the appointment of judges.

Since 1876, except during war years and bad depressions, Canada has imported from the United States $48,976,553 each year.

Buzz Business in Greece

Most people think there are already too many mosquitoes in the world, but here is a man raising more. The little buzzers are being used in insecticide tests as part of a drive for the eradication of mosquito-carried malaria, sponsored by the World Health Organization of the United Nations (WHO). WHO has just completed a program of medical assistance, including malaria control in Greece.

Community Picnic At Sir John Lake

ENJOYED BY YOUNG AND OLD ALIKE

(Reprinted from last issue)

A jeep-load of ice cream, several hundred hot dogs, six cases of popcorn and scores of soft drinks disappeared Saturday afternoon in the Sir John Lake Community. . . But the Lachute police were not called in. The good things were supposed to disappear. It was the work of Joe Barnoski, his picnic committee and more than 100 children and parents of the Sir John Lake district.

Favored by blue skies and warm August sun, the annual picnic for children of the Sir John Lake Community got under way at 2 p.m. and ended long after sundown with children and parents singing their favorite songs by the light of a blazing log fire.

Highlights of the afternoon were the tug-of-war between boys and girls — which the girls won easily — and the rolling-pin contest, in which one sturdy housewife sent her pin flying skyward with such force that everyone scattered for cover.

Guests of honor at the picnic were Mrs. William Chambers, who, with her husband, opened the Sir John Lake Community on April 29, 1929; Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. S. Neill, long-time residents of the district; Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh; and William J. Beattie, pioneer farmer of Lake Sir John, and Mrs. Beattie.

Each child at the picnic received a prize or prizes that were specially selected according to age groups. And throughout the sunny afternoon the youngsters were supplied with all the ice cream, fruit, candy and lemonade that they could carry.

Walter Newsome was starter for the races and his genial manner met with warm response from children and parents alike. Joe Barnoski and his committee worked hard directing the various activities; and for his work as master of ceremonies, Mr. Barnoski was presented with an ornate ash-tray by parents of the community.

During the afternoon, parents and friends were served refreshments by the women's committee under Mrs. Barnoski.

Following an interval for the evening meal (none of the children wanted any supper, it was reported), youngsters and oldsters gathered again at the picnic ground for songs, weiners and popcorn around a huge fire of fragrant pine logs. Here again, Mr. Barnoski, Walter Newsome, Clarence Newsome, Sam Kinley and others of the picnic committee saw that all present were short of nothing in the way of hot-dogs and refreshments.

Outstanding event of the evening was an impromptu concert staged by several children of the community. The show included a recitation by Gail Pritchard, dances by Vivian and Ted Smalley, and songs by Margaret Bradley, Dorothy Bragger, Diane Newsome, Andrew Adams, Margaret Newsome, Patricia Kinley, Florence Newsome and Carol Taylor.

Residents at the picnic included — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newsome, Jr.; Harry Newsome, Sr.; Alec Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newsome, George Delkum, William Shelby, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pritchard, Percy Groulx, Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, Percy Bragger, Paul Prevost, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alderson, Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Nief, Mr. and Mrs. Alec Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Marsh, Charles Beattie, Willie Beattie, George Beattie, Jimmy Beattie, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smalley, Alan Gibson, Guy Bouchard, Sam Kinley, Thomas Farrow, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Newsome, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dixon.

WOOD-ROT METHOD FOUND BY SCIENCE MEANS BIG SAVING

Rotting Substance May Speed Conversion of Waste Wood For Industrial Products

By Robert E. Greiger

Washington (AP) — Scientists finally have isolated a substance they believe sets off the rotting process in wood.

This opens two fields for research that may add billions of dollars to the value of the continent's timber forests and wood products.

First, the scientists want to know more about the substance so they can use it to cause the disintegration of wood. This could make it more profitable to convert many wood substances, by simple natural processes, into valuable products.

For instance, sawdust might be converted to cattle feed. This is now being done, but by complicated and costly methods.

Also it would establish timber forests as a new major source for the "benzine" substance that are the basis of many synthetic products, such as DDT, the insect killer. Most of these benzine derivatives now come from oil, a dwindling resource compared with timber.

Second, when science knows more about the new rot-starting substance it may develop other substances that neutralize it and prevent wood from rotting, or at least slow down the process.

Scientists have called the new substance lignin oxidase, and they have produced it from mushrooms. This means it might be produced by cultivation. If it can be obtained in large quantities it might be used to speed the rotting process in sawdust or other waste products.

At present the waste has to be changed by chemical processes from one substance to another until a useful product is obtained. Rayon is one of these products. Sugar and alcohol are others.

Scientists say it may be possible to produce the rotting without resorting to outside products such as lignin oxidase. It is thought this may be done by producing certain conditions that would make the wood itself speed up the process.

Thus nature itself may be made to do part of a job that now costs industries millions of dollars a year in factory expenses.

Shanty Bay Church Reaches 110th Year

Built by Parishioners from Mud Bricks, Virgin Timber

Shanty Bay, Ont. (CP) — St. Thomas church, an important part of the life of this village on the shore of Lake Simcoe, has had a long and colorful history.

The little Church of England building with the graceful square tower was erected in 1839. Its construction was the work of the local artisans.

The lime used in the structure was made in a local kiln. Mud and straw was trampled in a pit by oxen to make mud bricks for the 18-inch-thick walls. Virgin pine and ash trees were cut and timbers trimmed with a broad axe.

The heavy timbers were fastened with wood spikes; an ironmaker named McNabb made nails for the smaller timbers.

Recently old parishioners have returned in growing numbers to St. Thomas church because it is associated with their childhood memories. Some were christened and married there. A few recalled having been paid a penny for pumping the old organ in days long past.

During the last 11 years, sexton H. W. Winters has recorded 1,500 visitors from all parts of the world, including England, India, China, Australia, Poland and the United States.

Sidelights at Lake Sir John Community Picnic

Prognostications on This Season's Football

By Wally Izsak

To the fan in both the east and west, it appears that this rugby season will produce just about the best brand of senior football the country has seen.

Western Canada took a new lease on the game last year when the Calgary Stampeders bucked their way to the Dominion title. Then Edmonton formed a team — the Eskimos — and rivalry increased. In the east, rugby needed no push. It has been the top autumn drawing card all along and this year will be no different.

As usual everyone has his favorite as to which team will take what title, and as usual your guess is as good as the next fellow's. But generally westerners pick the Stamps as the team to beat again this fall. After all, they did win the Grey Cup last year by upsetting Ottawa Rough Riders and they still have their two top offensive stars. Keith Spaith is flinging the ball in good style and long Woody Strode is snaring it. However, the Stamps have lost Chuck Anderson, the bruising Negro linesman who earned such a fine reputation with his game against Ottawa.

Winnipeg is more or less expected to end up well down as their new coach, Frank (Butch) Larson, begins to build up the club. The Bombers still have a fine player in big Bob Sandberg, the bruising triple-threat back.

Edmonton's entry is the dark horse but fans expect a lot from the Esks' new coach, Annis Stukus, former Toronto Argo great. Along with several American imports like Chuck Fennenboch, Earl Elsey, Bill Radovich and Andy Merefos, Big Stuke may bring his team out front.

Hot Fight in East

Coach Fred Grant of Regina Roughriders expects his club to do better than last year. Recently he claimed his team was in mid-season physical form and ready for the schedule.

But it's in the Big Four in the east where the hottest fight is expected. Toronto Argonauts have dropped their "All-Canadian" label and have signed American imports because the club figures part of the team loafed last year after copping three straight Dominion championships. These imports along with the Gold-Dust twins — Joe Krol and Royal Copeland — might carry the Double Blue to the crown again.

Montreal Alouettes have packed a powerful squad. To a club that already had stars like Virgil Wagner, Bronco Reese and Ches McCance, came Calgary's Chuck Anderson and Frankie Filchock, former American pro and O.R.F.U. star. His sensational passing ability and the acquisition of new Americans has added a terrific power to the club.

Ottawa's tough Rough Riders (which defeated Alouettes last Sunday) have Tony Golab, and his triple-threat work. Newcomer Andy Gordon's and Bob Paffrath's signal-calling, Touchdown Howie Turner's passing and Bert Haigh's catching, can't be passed by lightly either.

The overlooked team in the league is Hamilton's scrappy wildcats. Coach Frank Gnup has signed several new players including backfielder Al Dekdebrun who does a lot of passing and running.

The Ontario Rugby Football Union, consisting of Toronto Beaches, Sarnia Imperials, Windsor Rockets and Hamilton Tigers, isn't expected to produce much in the way of Dominion title contention.

If Everyone

If everyone who drives a car
Could lie a month in bed,
With broken bones and stitched-up wounds,
Or fractures of the head,
And there endure the agonies
That many people do,
They'd never need preach safety
Any more to me or you.

If everyone could stand beside
The bed of some close friend
And hear the doctor say, "No hope"
Before that fatal end,
And see him there unconscious,
Never knowing what took place,
The laws and rules of traffic
I am sure we'd soon embrace.

If everyone could meet
And step into the darkened home
Where once the sunlight shined,
And look upon "The Vacant Chair",
Where daddy used to sit,
I'm sure each reckless driver
Would be forced to think a bit.

If everyone who takes the wheel
Would say a little prayer,
And keep in mind those in the car
Depending on his care,
And make a vow and pledge himself
To never take a chance,
The Great Crusade for Safety
Would suddenly advance.

"Fashion Fortnight" in London

COD MARKETS

St. John's, Nfld. (CP) — Two West Indies islands, Puerto Rico and Jamaica, were the chief markets for Newfoundland's salt codfish during July. TINY MAGNETS KEEP FALSE TEETH SECURE

Johannesburg (CP) — False teeth that stay put in the most ticklish circumstances — that cannot be coughed out, sneezed out, or lost while bathing—have been invented by a lecturer at the South African University of Witwatersrand.

The new dentures can only be fitted when both upper and lower sets are worn. They use the opposing forces of two sets of very small but powerful magnets, set opposite each other in the upper and lower denture, to keep the teeth in place.

The inventor says the teeth have been praised by concert artists and sportsmen. The cost is about 20 per cent higher than a normal set of dentures.

Questionnaire on Women's Occupations

What are the general conditions under which country women the world over keep house — what agencies are there for spreading knowledge of good housekeeping standards and approved agricultural methods — and how may the more serious handicaps be removed so that efficiency and comfort may be improved, are questions being asked by the Associated Country Women of the World in an attempt to get an over-all picture of women's work in homes and on the land.

To get these findings that organization has drawn up a comprehensive questionnaire and is asking every constituent society to circulate it among its branches. Acting on the request, the Quebec Women's Institutes have prepared copies and sent them to the 100 branches in this province, asking the members to answer the questions as fully as possible. These are grouped under nine headings: Houses, Transport, General Education, Health, Social Amenities, Conditions of Work in Industries, Technical Education, Suggestions and Observations, and should serve to give much valuable information which will assist the A.C.W.W. in their efforts to work for the rehabilitation of family life.

The Q.W.I. hope their members will complete this questionnaire and return it to the office, Macdonald College, as soon as possible.

FANCIEST FIGURES IN BEAUTY PARADE ON CASH REGISTER

This Year's Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City Will Cost $300,000

By James P. Hackett

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP) — The fancy figures of this year's Miss America pageant are far from feminine.

Fifty-four shapely lasses will compete for the beauty title. Their body lines will figure in the judging. But, the fancy figures belong to the cash register.

Miss Leonora Slaughter, pageant director, says these are the money figures:

$100,000 to stage the boardwalk parade that opens pageant week, September 6; $100,000 in scholarships for competitors; $50,000 to stage the four-night contest in Convention Hall; $40,000 for transportation and maintenance expenses of contestants.

In addition, Miss Slaughter says the 1948 Miss America, Bebe Shopp of Hopkins, Minn., has earned $50,000 since winning the title. That's the biggest "take" any Miss America has had in the 28 years of the pageant. She collected the money for personal appearances throughout the year.

From another figure angle, this year's Miss America will be selected from an entry list of about 10,000 girls. Miss Slaughter said that number entered local and state contests to select competitors for the pageant. Every state except Delaware will be represented in the pageant. In addition, there will be Misses from New York City, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Canada.

Need More Than Beauty

Since the end of the war, the pageant has broadened its beauty requirements. A pretty face atop a graceful figure used to be enough to win. Nowadays, a girl must have talent, personality and poise. She is judged on all of them.

A change has been made for the opening event — the $100,000 parade. Instead of motor-driven Mardi Gras floats, all will be pulled by appropriately costumed men. For instance, a float depicting an Egyptian scene will be drawn by men dressed in clothes of the Cleopatra era.

There will be 26 floats and 12 bands in the line of march. The contestants will ride in rolling chairs spaced throughout the parade.

The contest opens September 7 on the huge stage of Convention Hall. In three nights of preliminaries, the girls will appear in bathing suits, evening gowns and in demonstrations of their talent. They will breakfast with the judges. They will be chaperoned by local women throughout the week. They will be guarded as closely as nuns in a convent.

Fifteen girls will be selected for the finals on Saturday night. From them Miss America will be chosen.

The big prize for Miss America is a $5,000 scholarship. The 14 runners-up share an additional $20,000 in scholarships. Many of the girls already will have won scholarships, totalling $75,000, in the local and state contests.

For a final fling at figures, Miss Slaughter says some 25,000 persons are expected to watch the closing night performance.

Fully Ripe Peaches Are Best for Flavor

By Betty Barclay

James Whitcomb Riley said "The ripest peach is highest on the tree". Well, if this quotation is true, from the peaches we have seen on the markets the last few days, all the fruit baskets must have been filled from the top of the trees. However, just one look at a beautiful peach is enough to make all good homemakers want to save this fruit's luscious beauty for the winter days to come. And the best way to do this is to plan a well-stocked cupboard of jams and jellies.

This is where efficient, short-boil recipes really come in to their own. For peaches have a delicate flavor that is easily ruined by overcooking. Bottled and powdered natural fruit pectins make it possible for you to turn out every batch of jam and jelly perfectly. All you do is to follow simple, easy direction. You'll be proud of the sweets you'll produce with these thoroughly tested recipes.

Peach Jam

3½ Cups prepared fruit, 4½ cups sugar, 1 box powdered fruit pectin.

To prepare the fruit: Peel and pit about 2½ pounds soft ripe peaches. Grind. Measure 3½ cups into a large saucepan.

To make the jam. Measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding fruit over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture come to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 8 six-ounce glasses.

Plum Jelly

4 Cups juice, 7½ cups sugar, ½ bottle fruit pectin.

To prepare the juice: Crush thoroughly about 4 pounds fully ripe fruit. Do not peel or pit. Add 1 cup water, bring to a boil, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or bag; squeeze out juice. (Sour cling-stone plums make best jelly. If sweet plums are used, substitute ½ cup strained lemon juice for ½ cup of the plum juice specified.)

To make the Jelly: Measure sugar and juice in large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over high heat and at once add bottle of fruit pectin, stirring constantly, then bring to a full boil and boil hard one minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin at once. Makes about 11 six-ounce glasses.

TECHNICOLOR EGGS BRITISH PUZZLER

London (Reuters) — Scientists here are trying to solve the mystery of the green eggs which are being laid by thousands in egg-hungry England.

The eggs have green or khaki yolks which turn black when boiled.

Some experts said that the hens were eating too much green grass. Others believed that it was because the birds were eating such weeds as shepherd's purse or pennycress.

But now the situation has got beyond a joke. So many of these eggs are arriving at egg-packing stations that the ministry of agriculture has instructed its scientists to study the problem.

Normally, farmers receive 75 cents a dozen. With green yolks, eggs are sold to caterers for baking and the farmers get only 65 cents a dozen.

Plan "Chisel" Plow For Soil Moisture

Johannesburg (Reuters)—Experiments, which may change the plowing season for South African farmers and, it is claimed, increase crop yields by between 20 to 30 per cent, are now being carried out in several parts of the Union.

Normally, South African farmers wait for the first rains to soften the ground before plowing. They thus lose much of the benefit of the rains. A number of farmers are now preparing portions of their lands with a plow that is able to cut through the hardest ground in mid-winter.

The new plow "chisels" through the earth instead of turning it over. This action helps rain to penetrate, and the ground to retain the moisture, preventing surface soil running off during rainstorms.

Motorcycle Engine Powers Propeller on Land and Water

Wetaskiwin, Alta. (CP) — If you are out Pigeon Lake way, and see a boat glide out of the water onto the land, and proceed down the road under its own power, the chances are you are not "seeing things". It's probably the creation of Jake Friesen of Breton, a town 70 miles southwest of Edmonton.

Mr. Friesen's machine may best be described as a hydro-plane on wheels. The 15-foot, 400-pound aluminum craft is driven by an airplane propeller powered by a motorcycle engine, and is fitted with three retractable wheels — two at the rear and one in front. The propeller is mounted behind the boat's cockpit which seats three comfortably.

When the man at the wheel nears shore he lowers the wheels and drives up on the land. Coming from land to water, the wheels are raised when the boat floats.

Top speed is about six miles per hour on water, 20 on land. The owner hopes to boost these speeds by installing a more powerful engine to drive the propeller.

Mr. Friesen, a minister of the Christian Missionary Alliance, worked on the craft for 15 months in his spare time before completing it. Every one of the 7,000 rivets in its sleek aluminum covering was driven by hand.

Central School Financial Report; Board Tackles Valuations Problem

ERNEST RODGER, ST. ANDREWS EAST, ELECTED TO REPRESENTATION VACATED BY REV. A. E. HAWES

An adjourned meeting of the Central School Board was held in the Court House on Thursday evening, September 1, with Mr. W. M. Cottingham presiding.

At the same time a meeting was held of the delegates from four school municipalities to elect a successor to the Rev. A. E. Hawes, who resigned last month. This resulted in Mr. Ernest Roger, of St. Andrews East, being elected to fill the vacancy in the Board membership.

Among the various items of business which occupied the attention of the meeting was the acceptance of the financial statement for the year ending June 30, 1949, as submitted by the auditor, T. C. Corry, C.A.

This statement was of particular interest, showing that, despite substantially increased costs, the Board ended the year with all temporary loans paid. The total revenue for the year amounted to $187,748 and the total expenditures $189,968, leaving a book deficit of only $2,220. On the other hand the revenue surplus account amounted to $24,968.

The meeting spent some time discussing municipal valuations, with a view to the equalization of tax rates throughout the two counties. It was generally agreed that the present system was unfair, due to the fact that valuations differed so widely in various municipalities. Two independent surveys had shown that some were valued as low as 20% while others were 100%. At the same time tax rates varied all the way from 6 mills to 20 mills.

The Quebec Municipal Commission has recommended on various occasions that the tax rate should be the same throughout all the school municipalities which make up the Central Board. This could be done without undue difficulty if all municipal councils would face the fact that properties were not valued according to law and take the necessary steps to correct this unsatisfactory condition. . . Until this was done the Board was faced with the problem of finding ways and means to settle the question of school taxes which would be more just, and therefore more acceptable, to all concerned that the basis presently in use.

It was finally decided to postpone the matter until the next meeting, in order to obtain more information.

Donors Needed For Success of Blood Clinic

The most essential link in the community Blood Donor Clinic, is the individual, the voluntary donor . . and with the organizational groundwork laid, it now remains for donors to enroll and ensure the success of this venture here next Wednesday. The Red Cross clinic — operated by the mobile unit and personnel from headquarters, and organized by the Lachute branch — will be held from 3 to 8 p.m. September 14 at the Auditorium. Chairman of the effort is Mrs. George McGibbon, Lachute. Mrs. H. Rigg (tel. 337-W) is in charge of enrolments and appointments. The objective for this clinic is 200 donors.

Appeal to W. I. Members

The county president of the Women's Institute, Mrs. A. G. Leggett, specially emphasizes the appeal to Institute members. No branch meetings have been held since announcement of the clinic, therefore the project has not been adequately publicized.

At Macdonald College recently, the Red Cross free blood service was convincingly laid before the Women's Institute delegates for their support. The Argenteuil president wishes to extend this appeal to each member personally — soliciting her contribution as a donor if possible, and her effort to enroll another such volunteer to swell the list.

Volunteers are reminded that, for their protection, all contributors will be given the haemoglobin test, and only those in good health will be accepted as blood donors at this clinic.

Another aspect of interest in the blood transfusion service extended by the Red Cross recently to this province, is that hospitals linked with this service make transfusions available free to all patients requiring them. The donor, however, may assign his blood donation for the assistance of any particular patient, friend or relative, who may be hospitalized and in need of this service.

Boys' Traffic Brigade For School Zones in Brownsburg Village

Brownsburg — Police Chief Henri Foucreau has instituted a boys' police brigade in Brownsburg to assist him in controlling traffic through the school zones. Two divisions have been formed, one at the French school and one at the English school. He has been very actively supported by the teachers in both schools, and distinctive belts and caps are being provided for the boy "cops" so that their authority will be recognized and (we hope) respected. This is a very worthy move and a splendid example of good citizenship.

Firefighters' Course At Hawkesbury

Hawkesbury — From hose stowage to ladder drill, firefighting technique held the spotlight recently in Hawkesbury when the fire department, under Chief Henry Timbers, were given a four-day tune-up course in the latest smoke-eating methods.

The course, conducted by Instructors Joseph Miller and Clifford Campbell, of the Ontario Fire Marshal's Office, featured tests of all types of equipment and a series of ladder drill and rescue work exhibitions. Gas mask drill, first aid instruction and artificial resuscitation demonstrations, were carried out at the town hall by local firemen.

Two suggestions made by visiting instructors concerned improvements in the department's fire alarm system and the desirability of a pension plan for the regular staff.

The course was arranged following a request from the town council's fire committee. Under new provincial legislation, subsidies are available to community fire departments where certain conditions and standards are met.

Caddies Compete In Tournament At Golf Club

The rising generation of golfers were in action out at the local club last Friday, September 2, when what is expected to become an annual event, the caddie championship, was played. Something like a dozen youthful enthusiasts took to the fairways and they toured the course in everything from the low nineties up.

Thirteen-year-old C. Smith had low score with a 94, but as he ranked in the visitors' class, the championship for local caddies this year went to 16-year-old Rollie Scott, who shot a 99. Second in the 14-and-over class was Frank Boyd, with 101. First and second for the 13-and-unders were won by Glen Copeland and J. P. Brodeur, who had 107 and 123 respectively.

At a luncheon in the clubhouse after the competition, Jack Archer and his assistant, Paul Osidak, congratulated the winners and presented the prizes. Suitable trophies were awarded the champion and the winner in the younger class. These lucky lads also received a golf bag each, with selected clubs. All competitors were then awarded their choice of a club.

Though not eligible to play, a very interested spectator was John Watson, the lad in his mid-teens who posted a very fine 90 in Saturday's event of the recent Open Tournament. John is the son of Major Howard Watson, who engineered and supervised construction of the new Lachute layout.

Since the movement to Canada of Netherlands farm families began in 1947, more than 14,000 new Dutch citizens have been welcomed to this country. An additional 2,500 are expected before the end of the year and the movement will be continued in 1950.

Calf Club Show and School Fair Gala Event at Exhibition Grounds

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE GROUPS AND FARM FORUMS COMBINE EFFORTS, WITH INTERESTING OUTCOME

— By Ethel McGibbon —

It has been said that no race can prosper till it learns that there is as much dignity in tilling a field as in writing a poem. . . Visiting the School Fair held at the exhibition grounds here last Saturday, and viewing the display of vegetables there, one was ready to heartily endorse the Brownsburg and Frontier Women's Institutes, along with the Staynerville, Mabel, Chatboro and Brownsburg Road groups of Farm Forum, for going all out to make this event a success.

As one looked into the main building, and saw the rows of long tables groaning with beets, carrots, onions, corn, potatoes, cucumbers, oats and flowers — not mentioning the display of handicrafts including needlework, woodwork and hand-made halters — one might be reminded of Jack Miner's philosophy of life:

"Man ploughs and plants and digs and weeds,
He works with hoe and spade;
God sends the sun and rain and air,
And thus the garden's made.

He must be proud who tills the soil
And turns the heavy sod;
How wonderful a thing to be
In partnership with God!"

Without a doubt, every participant who helped to make this first venture such a notable success, had a right to feel proud. In what better way can we help to keep our boys and girls on the farm than by letting them feel they have a share in it, and training them so they will be the farmers of tomorrow. It is said that what is needed in gardening is "a cast iron back with a hinge in it". It seems there must be a good few backs of this calibre hereabouts!

The weather was perfect, and the crowd found ample interest between the main building and the stables, where some 39 calves were arriving to participate in the Chatham Calf Club competition. Mr. Irvin Bain is to be congratulated on his work in helping to stimulate interest in this club. The federal livestock fieldman, Donald Robertson, was in attendance, and was pleased to note the marked improvement in quality, as well as in numbers, over last year, when only 17 animals were shown.

Besides fostering a liking for cattle and teaching the care and feeding of livestock, the Calf Club movement is proving instructive to farm children in the procedure and conducting of meetings.

The boys and girls were pleased to have a former Calf Club member, Archie Roy, of Howick, act as their judge. The local agronomist Alex Bothwell, was kept busy throughout the day, while J. H. Black, president of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, was present in his capacity as host. The Frontier Women's Institute operated a refreshment booth, and their hot dogs were much in demand.

The peak of interest was reached when the judges, A. Ogilvie (for vegetables), L. Hammond (woodwork), and Mrs. George McGibbon (handicraft), announced the judging completed. (Prizes in the calf competitions and first three prize-winners in each of the exhibit classes, are listed on page 8.)

All went home happy but with a firm resolve that next year's School Fair would be bigger and better than ever.

Fatality Caused By Windstorm

A 78-year-old resident of Mount Maple, Malcolm (Mack) MacKiddie, was fatally injured by a falling tree during the storm which swept these parts last Thursday. The accident occurred at 1 p.m. about three miles west of Brownsburg, while the victim was driving from his home with a horse and buggy, to make some purchases at the Quarry. The tree crashed across the dashboard of the vehicle, and the elderly man suffered fractures of both legs and one arm, also internal injuries. The horse was unhurt, but the lurching of the frightened animal no doubt aggravated the driver's injuries.

He was attended by Dr. F. W. FitzGerald of Lachute, at the scene of the mishap, and was later placed aboard an ambulance. On the way to Montreal, however, Mr. MacKiddie succumbed to his injuries, and a physician at St. Eustache pronounced him dead.

The funeral was held Saturday from the home of his niece, Mrs. Jas. Donaldson, Brownsburg, to the United Church in that village, the Rev. S. J. Pike officiating. Interment was in the Ogdensburg Cemetery.

Unmarried, the victim is survived by his sister, Mrs. Joseph Stewart, of Mount Maple, and a brother, Ed Wilks, of Brownsburg.

Women Teachers Find Inspiration In Camp Session at Memphremagog

By Mrs. Donald McCabe, Helping Teacher, Quebec Department of Education

Under the direction of Miss Ruth M. Low, B.A., the second Protestant Women Teachers' Camp, held this year at Camp Memphremagog in the Eastern Townships, concluded a successful and inspiring eight-day session last Saturday, September 3.

Miss Low, who is assistant supervisor of English for Protestant Schools in Quebec, and president of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, brought together in an atmosphere of informality and relaxation a representative group of teachers, specialists, principals and supervisors from all parts of the province. To aid them in understanding the broader vision of education which teachers should have, she invited 15 women who are prominent in other fields of endeavor to meet the teachers.

These guests included the following outstanding women — Mrs. Turner Bone, vice-president of the National Council of Women; Miss Evelyn Cornell, supervisor, Women's Division, Quebec Region, National Employment Service; Dr. Florence Farmer, scientist engaged in research in nutrition at Macdonald College; Miss Dais Gass, expert in the field of girls' camp direction; Dr. Minnie Gomery, for 50 years a practising physician in Kashmir, India; the Rev. Ann Graham, specialist in biology, and assistant pastor in Metropolitan United Church, London, Ont..; Miss Lorraine How, director of the Quebec Junior Red Cross; Miss Kathleen Jenkins, head librarian, Westmount Public Library, and president of the Canadian Library Association; Miss Ruth Madill, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A., Brantford, Ont.; Miss Alice McEwen, dietetic expert from Ogilvy's, Montreal, who has taught and demonstrated throughout Quebec for the Women's Institutes; Mrs. T. P. Ross, member of the Richmond-Drummond-Arthabaska Central School Board, and Mrs. Roswell Thomson, president of the Quebec Women's Institutes, both members of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education for Quebec; Miss Roberta Smith, of Orillia, Ont., instructor in handicrafts and dramatics, who has also done special work with mentally handicapped children; Miss Hildur Wick, welfare worker in the Norwegian Deep Sea Mission; and Miss Mary Jane Young, at present in charge of religious education in the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, Montreal.

This "resource personnel" chatted with individuals, entered into discussion with small groups, and gave information to the group as a whole, quite spontaneously as common interests were discovered.

The discussions centred on children's needs in the home, the school, the church and the community, and what teachers and interested people could do to foster high personal ideals and to develop the quiet courage and steady vision necesary for good citizenship. These prominent women offered every assistance at their disposal, both to the individual teachers present at camp and to the profession at large.

The immediate benefits obtained were — increased knowledge of service given by women's organizations across Canada, the problems of New Canadians, the leadership training available for young girls, the education of people to better health, nature lore, Indian legends, shadow puppetry, the art of story telling, Norwegian customs, the problems of centralization of schools, the amount of assistance available to members of the Junior Red Cross, and first-hand knowledge of India.

Through participation in arts and crafts such as puppetry, felt-work, clay modeling, bead-work, blue-printing, group singing and dramatics, many teachers will take new skills back to the classroom. This work was under the guidance of Miss Evelyn Teel and Miss Mabel Marshall, of Montreal, and Miss Roberta Smith.

Fun and laughter added to the fellowship, but most vital of all was the constant sense of deep spiritual values with their inspiration for the coming year.

Hole-in-One at Arundel Golf Course

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — Dr. E. Russel Ward, 107 Stratford Ave., became eligible this week for membership in the Hole-In-One Club.

Playing over the Arundel golf course, Dr. Ward scored an eagle one on the 214-yard fifth hole. Dr. Ward used a No. 1 wood and his drive landed just short of the green, bounded up and rolled into the cup. He was playing with Mrs. Ward.

The golfer went on to finish the round, going out in 37 and back in 43, for an 80. Par for the Arundel course is 72.

Autobus Burns on Highway at Rigaud

Rigaud, Que. (CP) — Thirty passengers of a Montreal-Ottawa autobus escaped uninjured last Friday night when the vehicle was destroyed by fire on the highway between Rigaud and Dorion, Que., near the Ontario border.

The bus, owned by Colonial Coach Lines, was driven by William Desmarais of Ottawa, who told Provincial Police he noticed the flames in the back of his vehicle as he looked in his mirror. He said he stopped along the highway and told the passengers to get out. There was no panic and passengers helped remove the baggage. The bus was destroyed and passengers were delayed about an hour.

Killed Crossing Street In Hawkesbury

Hawkesbury — Benjamin Chanaillard, 53, who suffered a fractured skull when he walked in front of a car on the main thoroughfare of Hawkesbury last Thursday, died in the Smith's Clinic Hospital on Saturday morning.

Mr. Chanaillard, who was crossing the street in a high wind with hands holding on to his hat, failed to see the approaching car, driven by Albert Carso of Montreal.

B'burg Shares Menace of Speedsters; Corporation to Purchase Fire Truck

(By Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — Mayor Jas. Donaldson declared the council meeting open before a full quorum of members, Councillor Lafleur being absent. The secretary-treasurer, Emile Hebert, and a number of the general public were in attendance.

Fire Chief A. Robbins reported that he had attended the Dominion Fire Chiefs' Convention at Ottawa last week and was impressed by the modern and advanced equipment, and the operational policies which he witnessed during his visit there. During his absence there was only one small chimney fire, which was the result of a dirty chimney and which caused no damage.

Application was received from Leopold Lemay, of the Chatham rural area, for permission to connect to the Brownsburg water supply. The applicant said he would undertake to pay all costs incurred in making the connection, and pay whatever rate the meeting decided as fair. . . It was decided to allow Mr. Lemay to make the connection under the council's supervision, and that the ordinary water rate as charged to residents under the jurisdiction of the council would prevail.

Euclid Carriere again approached the council for permission to erect a sidewalk outside his residence on Mountain Street. This case had been before council on several occasions, and was denied because of a ruling that all sidewalks must be built by the council's contractor so that a uniform appearance would result.

Councillors Denault and Wilson advocated very strongly that permission be granted, as the applicant had incurred expense in obtaining materials before the council ruled that the time limit had lapsed.

Councillor Somers held that a reasonable doubt existed, and he now favored making an exception in this case, especially as the man was experienced in this kind of work; but he would not make it a precedent for other applicants to come forward with similar requests.

The Mayor had no doubt the man could make a good job, but he was afraid every Tom, Dick and Harry would want the same privilege under very different circumstances.

After some further discussion, a permit was granted in this case, the work to be executed to the satisfaction of the council's engineer; failing his sanction, the work to be taken up and remade by the council's contractor.

The Mayor reported he had obtained a man to undertake collection of garbage from the commercial houses, but this man would not collect from dry toilets. . . There was a long discussion on this matter and it was finally resolved that the collection of commercial garbage be started immediately — the contract for such to exist between the collector and the business houses concerned. With regard to dry toilets, this matter was considered the concern of the people who had such toilets, and must be attended to by themselves. An adequate solution of this problem was within the competence of the owners, and instructions would be provided so that no difficulty would be experienced by the individuals concerned.

Roy Chambers appeared before the meeting to ask protection from speedsters passing his residence, to the danger of his and other children along Maple Avenue.

The Mayor appreciated Mr. Chambers' concern and assured him the council were very much alive to this problem. Everything possible was being done and further steps were in the making to see that the laws of this municipality would be observed by both residents and outsiders. Taxis travelled very fast along this street.

Mr. Chambers: "If they had wings they would take off!"

Councillor Somers felt it was difficult to find an answer to this question. One method was to make examples of any caught, and endeavor to catch as many as possible. He had thought that a good big bump on each road approaching the village would slow down these speedsters. Very few, if any, drive recklessly over a bump on the road.

Mayor Donaldson: "The cause of the trouble is, in part, the good roads in Brownsburg. When we had gravel roads about here, we had no speedsters, and perhaps that was the idea of councils throughout the country who did not build such good roads along their town and village streets". On a recent trip to Winnipeg he had found that not one town he had passed through had streets to compare with Brownsburg.

A letter was read from Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., enclosing a communication from the Dept. of Public Works at Quebec, concerning the requested grant for purchase of a new fire truck.

The Deputy Minister, Mr. Romeo Lorain, informed the council that a grant of 50 per cent of $11,000 for the erection of the fire station and purchase of equipment (of which $2,000 had been obtained for the council by Mr. Georges Héon some months ago, leaving a balance of $3,198.20) would be paid. In addition, the grant sought by Mr. Cottingham for the purchase of a new fire truck to replace the present equipment, recently investigated by the Fire Commissioners' representative Mr. Ahearne, was now granted to the amount of $4,700, making a total of slightly over $10,000. Lady Resident Mourned by Friends

The Late Mrs. W. J. Deacon

Citizens of this community were shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Mrs. Wm. J. Deacon, whose death occurred at the General Hospital, Toronto, early last Friday morning. While visiting her daughter in Toronto, Mrs. Deacon was suddenly taken ill and removed to hospital; every possible medical attention was given her, but without avail.

Formerly Miss Lila Davis, she was born at Christieville, near Morin Heights, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis. During her early years she attended Lachute Academy and the Sabrevois College in Montreal, and later married Mr. Wm. J. Deacon, of Lachute.

An active member of Lachute United Church and of the Women's Missionary Society, she was ever ready to take part in public welfare and had also been a member of the church choir for many years.

In community sports, curling was her favorite interest and she had on many occasions represented Lachute in out-of-twon bonspiels. Of a cheerful and loving disposition, she will be greatly missed in all these activities.

Left to mourn her passing are her husband, William J. Deacon, one daughter, Louise (Mrs. Harry Cobon), of Toronto, one sister, Miss Milinda Davis, of Ottawa, and a host of relatives and friends. Her only brother, the late John Davis, predeceased her four months ago.

Service was conducted by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough in the United Church, on Monday afternoon, interment being made in Lachute Cemetery.

A great number of floral wreaths and a large attendance of sympathizing friends and relatives bore silent tribute of the high esteem in which she was held.

Pall-bearers were—Messrs. Geo. Graham, R. A. Giles, Carl Seale, J. D. Davis, Geo. Brennian and W. K. McArthur.

Many attended from a distance, among whom were summer residents at Lake Louisa, where the deceased with her husband had extended cordial hospitality at their summer home.

Memorial Dedicated At St. Andrew's, Avoca

(Our District Correspondent)

Avoca — A service for the dedication of a memorial chair, in honor of the boys who served in World War II, was held in the Church of St. Andrew here on Sunday evening. The service was conducted by the Rev. S. J. Pike, assisted by the pastor of the Baptist Church here, Mr. N. Eastman, who addressed the congregation — the text being "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today and forever". Two solos were rendered by Mr. Frank Steere, of Brownsburg, accompanied at the organ by Mr. Stephen Pike, of Montreal. Dr. L. McCallum, of Montreal, presided at the organ during the service. The unveiling of the chair was performed by Mr. Garnet MacLeod, who had served oversees for four years. The church was tastefully decorated, and there was a splendid congregation in attendance.

Gatineau LINES

It Takes Time

From time to time Gatineau Power is asked why it seems to be so long between the time a petition to install electric power is made out and the time that poles and wires start going up. Maybe a brief examination of what has to be done in that time would help.

Here is what happens.

1. The application for electric service is received by the power company.

2. A field survey is made to decide where the line will run, what obstacles will have to be overcome, how the work can best be done.

3. Complete plans covering the entire installation are prepared.

4. From these plans, an estimate of cost is arrived at.

5. Sub-station capacity is checked to make sure that power will be available to feed the line once it is up.

6. An estimate is made of future growth of the area so that the line erected will be able to take care of requirements.

7. All the plans and estimates are double-checked by the engineering department, the accounts department and the purchasing department, so that when the work begins, every department of the power company can do its job.

8. The power company applies to the Provincial Electricity Board for permission to install the new line — giving all details of construction, route, cost, revenue.

9. The power company also sends copies of its application to all other interested parties — Municipal councils, the Department of Roads, telegraph and telephone companies whose wires are in the same area, railway companies if the new line crosses a railway.

10. The Provincial Electricity Board checks with all interested parties to make sure there are no objections from them. If objections or conditions are raised, these must be straightened out.

11. The Board gives the power company authority to proceed with the work.

12. The power company puts the new job in its rightful place in the schedule of new work, and starts the job as soon as it can.

It doesn't take long to read about, but it sometimes takes weeks or months in actual practice, depending on the type of job and the time involved in getting permission to do the work. It takes a long time to get materials from electrical manufacturers too.

Now More Britons Working on Land

London — Livestock in Britain is on the increase, according to Ministry of Agriculture statistics. These show the position in June of this year for crops and agricultural workers as well as for livestock. Compared with a year ago, there are now 866,000 more sheep and lambs, 340,000 more cattle and 488,000 more pigs. Poultry flocks have increased from 52 million to almost 61 million. The census also shows that more people are working on the land. The agricultural labor force expanded during the 12 months under review from about 740,000 to more than 750,000. Amount of land under cultivation is now some 10¼ million acres. Of this about 6 million are devoted to wheat, barley and oats, another one million to potatoes, 412,000 to sugar beet and 58,000 to linseed. There are 10 million acres of permanent grassland and 3½ million of temporary pasture.

Long-Time Milkers Are Profit Makers

A point which again emphasizes the importance of breeding and raising cows which are long-time producers is the fact that, in the average herd, a cow must be milked for two years before she has paid for the cost of her raising. Thus a cow which produces regularly until she is eight years old is twice as profitable as one which goes only to six years. Similarly a cow which milks regularly until she is 10 years of age is three times as profitable as the six-year-old and the one which maintains production until 12 years of age is four times as profitable as the six-year-old.

Lawn Care in Fall

A rich green lawn in the spring can be a reality only if proper care is given the lawn in the fall. Probably the most common cause of poor lawns is low soil fertility which can be remedied by application of a balanced fertilizer during fall months.

Aim of fertilization and related fall maintenance operations should be to have the turf in a dense, green healthy condition at all times, advises G. R. Snyder, agronomist of C-I-L's agricultural chemicals division. Mr. Snyder suggests the use of a well rounded lawn fertilizer containing the necessary nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

The fertilizer should be spread evenly. The required amount may be divided into two equal parts and each half spread uniformly over the entire lawn in opposite directions. The grass should be dry at the time of treatment but watered thoroughly immediately after to dissolve the fertilizer and enable it to reach the roots.

Another important fall chore can be the treatment of the lawn with 2,4-D to kill weeds. Care should be taken to apply the weedkiller strictly according to instreutions placed on the label by the manufacturers. When the weed killing is completed, bare spots caused by weed removal should be reseeded.

"Sunnyacres Sketches"

— VIII —

Random Writings on the Rural Scene

By Margaret Cook

By the time this is read, we shall be well into September. The first two months of Fall are the writer's favorites of the Canadian year. Spring is desired because we are heartily tired of Winter, but Autumn is beloved for itself. This is a natural preference of the writer — for just as I prefer people of strong opinions to those of wavering ones, old houses to new, deep chords of a Mendelssohn to the light melodies of a Berlin, so do I prefer the deep, vivid colors of our Autumn to the pastels of spring. One knows, of course, that there will be an immediate protest, "But everything is dying!" Not so, most things are merely resting, and those that die are reincarnated into a more beauteous self. "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit". But I do not need the Master to point out to me how miraculous is the resurrection of a narcissus from this ugly, onion-like bulb I entrust to the earth in the Fall.

This is the month when we always plan to dig up every single bulb and replant it in a bigger and better place. The rose-bushes, too, must be separated, and why don't we move the phlox that are really overpowering in their massive bunches? The maple grove needs more thinning, and the lane more gravel. All this and more we hopefully plan each year, and perhaps a quarter gets done.

Generally, our Septembers are a mad rush of organization in the city, punctuated by week-ends almost as frantic, trying to cope with apples, and some of the aforementioned tasks. But this year, we promise ourselves, will be different, for the man of the house has an extra month before betaking himself to New York and further studies. So, the fond hope of years will be fulfilled and we shall stay at our beloved Sunnyacres, for a few extra weeks. In the mornings we shall work, and in the afternoons, walk over the hills to discover new delights. I often wonder — was Moses' burning bush a young tree clothed in its Autumn glory? When we return there will be tea in the room golden with sun, and later, a country supper of baked beans, or baked potatoes, with bacon; the long evening will be given over to writing one's friends. Or will it? . . Well, anyway, our intentions are noble.

The last days of the Summer were highlighted by various small incidents. The affair (as our crime novels call it) of the rail-fence; of the water-butt and the flying squirrel; and of the praying-mantis. (This by the journalist is called suspense — but ordinary people call it curiosity.) . . .

The rail-fence surrounds the south garden and is the fruit of a summer's labor on the part of my husband, aided, thanks to the tactics of Tom Sawyer, by various admiring male guests. It is probably the last rail-fence to be made in these parts, and looks surprisingly well next to the old house; there is a certain flavor of pioneer days. It is a pity that my near-nudism costume does not fit into the picture. The original mistress of the homestead undoubtedly ventured into the yard only if clad in print to her toes, and well sunbonneted against the heat. Anyway, to return to the fence, we now curl a derisive lip at the cows which, during the drought, wander farther and farther in search of green things. Even Haile Selassie, who loathes cows, surveys them from the vantage of the second-top rail with an unmistakable smirk.

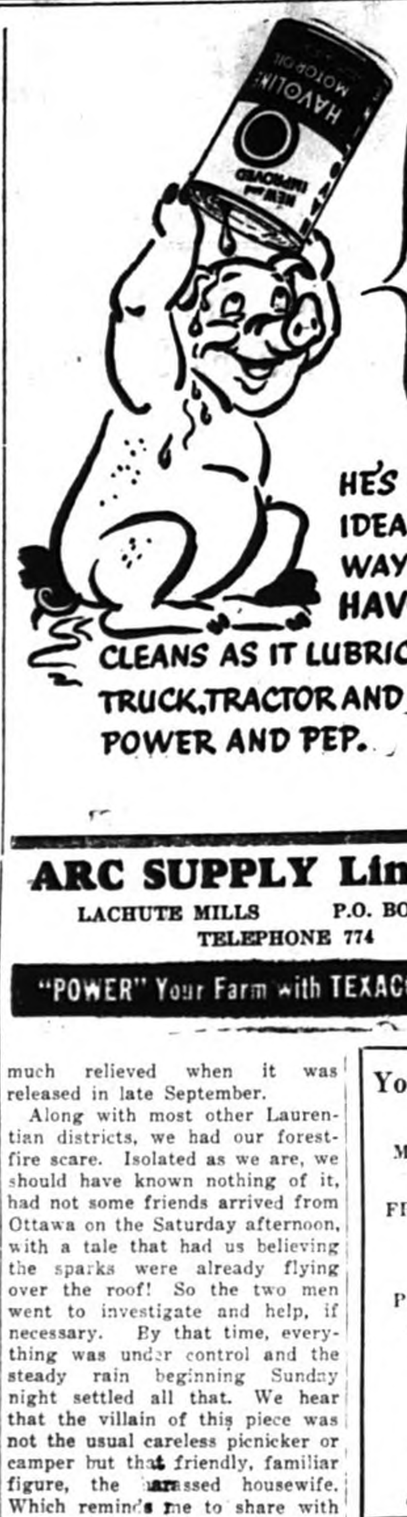

As for the flying-squirrel, during the night he must have missed his jump from tree to roof, and so fell in the water-butt, where he perished miserably. When picked out, he was merely a damp bit of rodent, but in a few hours, his fur dried out and showed him a very appealing little creature of grey with a faint brownish color on the back. His tail was delightfully fluffy and soft and rather bushier than that of the ordinary red squirrel. The "flying" equipment consisted of a thin, velvelty membrane stretching from the sides to the joints at the "ankle" of the feet. When turned over, the squirrel appeared all in one piece, as does a bat; in fact the whole appearance suggested a happy blending of squirrel and bat. We took this offering to George at noon, and by next noon, master flying-squirrel was stuffed and mounted. Speed was indicated, since Harvey (Amos' son) had unaccountably refused to harbor the creature (it had fleas) in the electric cooler until such a time as George could get dry ice in Lachute. So George was forced to turn taxidermist, the media being window-stripping and lime. Shoe-buttons made excellent eyes. The little creature was mounted artistically on a piece of bark, his really beautiful tail attached only at the base, so that it blew gently in the breeze; in his mouth was a spray of cedar with its tiny cones. In life it had undoubtedly been a poem of action and, in death, it was not dishonored.

Harvey tells me that the flying squirrels are very common in winter, in fact, are a nuisance at the wood-lot, since they have the nasty habit of stealing lunches. As for us, the finding of this squirrel cleared up a small mystery. For years, a little pattering on the roof at night has puzzled us, for it was too heavy for a mouse and too light for an ordinary squirrel. Evidently, when bored with the wood-lot, the flying squirrels have been accustomed to make the journey of half a mile to our house. One can imagine them saying, "Come on fellows, let's go play on the Cooks' roof".

The praying-mantis was discovered in mid-August by George. (What should I do without George in this column?) This insect, a rare find so far north, resembles a very large grasshopper, except that it habitually sits with its fore-feet raised level with its head in an attitude of devout prayer. Last year, we had one sent us from southern Ontario. When fed a grasshopper, the mantis held the victim firmly and began by delicately eating the eyes. The head followed, then the body, but the legs were discarded (probably too tough). I was not fond of this addition to our family, and was much relieved when it was released in late September.

Along with most other Laurentian districts, we had our forest-fire scare. Isolated as we are, we should have known nothing of it, had not some friends arrived from Ottawa on the Saturday afternoon, with a tale that had us believing the sparks were already flying over the roof! So the two men went to investigate and help, if necessary. By that time, everything was under control and the steady rain beginning Sunday night settled all that. We hear that the villain of this piece was not the usual careless picnicker or camper but that friendly, familiar figure, the harassed housewife. Which reminds me to share with you one of my pearls pried from the oyster of the world — to wit "Injuries seldom come from the direction one is watching".

Medical authorities do not advise the application of beefsteak to a black eye.

Fruits of the Earth

SOME startling statistics were revealed at the recent conference of the Plant Food Producers by Dr. Russell Coleman, president of the National Fertilizer Association in the U.S.A.

Describing conditions in his own country, Dr. Coleman said that in its early history 19 farm people were necessary to produce sufficient food for themselves and one additional person. Today — 19 farm people are supporting themselves and 66 others. In 1850 about 65 per cent of the entire labor force in the country worked on farms while 35 per cent was engaged in industry. Today only 12 per cent are farmers. Of these, one-third are producing 80 per cent of the nation's farm commodities.

This means that four per cent of America's population, using modern equipment and scientific soil management practices, are producing almost the entire bulk of the U.S. food supply.

Dr. Coleman offered an example of what sound soil management may accomplish. In the U.S., he said, corn is grown on 90 million acres which yield an average of three billion bushels. If the best known soil management practices were employed, three billion bushels of corn can be produced on 50 million acres. This would leave 40 million acres for soil-conserving crops such as alfalfa, clover and hay. Thus used, 40 million acres of land would no longer be a liability to the American soil conservation program but would be under cover and held in reserve to meet the needs of an expanding population.

Canadian agriculturists can certainly afford to give some serious thought to the matter of soil management. Soil is unquestionably our greatest natural resource, yet in many sections of the country it is being "mined". Wind and water erosion take a devastating toll every year. Provincial and federal governments are doing much to solve the problem but they can't do it by themselves. The time has come for every farmer in Canada to launch his own soil conservation program.

Handle With Care

WHEN fluorescent light tubes are out of their sockets, and especially when they are broken, treat them like poison, warns Laird S. Goldsborough in The Reader's Digest for September. Fluorescent tubes contain a highly poisonous substance, and serious injury may strike anyone who carelessly handles a broken tube.

Although no warning is printed on the carton containing the tube, the danger is so real that the International Association of Fire Chiefs recently issued a safety bulletin headed: "Fluorescent Lamp Tubes Carry an Extreme Poison Hazard". Insurance companies throughout Canada and the United States are asking their agents to warn householders. The New York City Sanitation Dept. has ordered its refuse collectors to single out discarded fluorescent tubes for "kid-glove treatment." Seamen of the U.S. Navy are required to wear gloves and goggles when replacing worn-out tubes.

Industrial users of the tubes have been "tipped off" as to proper precautions, Goldsborough says, but the housewife has not been told. Since 20 per cent of homes wired for electricity have one or more fluorescent lamps, the hazard to householders is serious. The Reader's Digest article cites instances of severe fluorescent-tube poisoning suffered by children who, playing with discarded tubes, have been cut by the glass. In some cases the resulting deep-seated infections, slow to heal, have required surgical removal of infected tissue.

Beryllium, contained in the 200 million tubes now burning in North America, is the suspected substance. The three chief fluorescent tube makers have recently agreed to stop using beryllium in their tubes, although the existing stockpile of lamps containing beryllium will be sold.

Safety engineers complain that they cannot find out what will replace beryllium in the new tubes, the article says. Since new tubes may still contain poisonous elements, medical authorities urge continued precaution in handling.

Watch That Bear

THAT usually amiable fellow, the Canadian bear, is taking it on the chin these days. Farmers are laying a barrage of rifle fire in his path as he wanders from his forest hideout in search of food.

Bruin usually keeps away from farms and settlements and minds his own business. But spring frosts killed blueberries and raspberries in many areas and the big black fellow has been driven out of his forest.

The bear is a noted and cunning pillager. He'll steal anything from pigs to root crops, and the farmer whose land he has invaded has a right and a duty to kill the marauder. He should do it as humanely and as safely as possible, however.

Some recent reports suggest that killing of bears isn't confined to farmers defending their crops, and that the methods used are not only cruel but foolhardy. For instance, there was the recent case of a vacationist in the bush near Lake Superior who showed more courage than sense when he killed a bear with an axe when the bear was trying to escape.

Unless they are attacked, bears usually run from humans. But when startled they are unpredictable, and when wounded, downright deadly. Attacking a bear with an axe when he's running from you is about as sensible as backing into a buzz-saw.

When they wander into inhabited country the only sensible thing to do is to shoot them quickly. Don't feed or try to tame a bear. The comical, half-tamed fellow who amuses tourists by begging for food invariably becomes a thief and a killer and must be destroyed.

Divine Service Attended By Masons at Arundel

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — A Masonic church service was held in the United Church on Sunday afternoon. The guest preacher was Bro. the Rev. S. J. Pike, of Brownsburg, who was assisted in the service by Bro. K. Fenton. The augmented choir rendered the introit, "I will lift up mine eyes", and the anthem sung was "Send Out Thy Light". Mr. Franke Steere of Brownsburg rendered the solo, "The Higher Ground".

The church was well filled with the members of the Masonic order together with brethren from other Lodges, and a large attendance of the church members filled the church completely.

Recent Activities in Orange Association

Dalesville L.O.L. met in their lodge room on September 1. In the absence of the W.M., Bro. M. Potter, the chair was taken by R. W. County Master L. Tomalty. Those present were glad to see Bro. L. McGibbon well enough to attend. It was arranged to have another gathering on the afternoon of September 10 on the new lot, to do some more clearing of the land for the new building, and to repair the fence.

Louisa L.O.L. held their annual church service on Sunday, September 4. It was regretted that the Rev. Bro. C. W. P. Baugh, rector of the parish, could not be present due to another engagement. The R.W. Rev. G. T. Spriggs conducted the service and spoke on the ideals of the Orange Order. The church was filled to capacity with Orangemen and their friends, and the general public.

An estimated $13,951.00 is needed to purchase plant and machinery to provide each Canadian primary cotton textile worker with a job.

Cabinet-Maker Could Not Gamble or Marry

Simcoe, Ont. (CP) — English-born Ernest Edgington is happy as a cabinet-maker here. He has his own shop and is his own master. But is wasn't always so.

In his possesion is the indenture he signed when he started his apprenticeship 53 years ago in his home town of Abingdon, Berkshire. It made life pretty dull for the young cabinet-maker.

The agreement bound him not to "contract matrimony" during his apprenticeship. He couldn't "play at cards or dice tables", or "haunt taverns or playhouses."

His master kept close tab on him, young Edginton agreed not to "absent himself from his said master's service day or night unlawfully."

His pay for the first year was two shillings a week. In the sixth and final year of his training he made the handsome sum of 10 shillings weekly.

But this strict supervision turned out a good craftsman. At the end of the six years Mr. Edgington's master wrote:

"We have every reason to be satisfied with Ernest Edgington both as to his work and conduct, believing him to be sturdy, industrious, preserverng, truthful and honest."

ALWAYS WALK TOWARDS THE TRAFFIC
Modern highways are designed for motor vehicles. So, when you travel them on foot, always remember to walk towards oncoming traffic—on the left hand side of the road—and, better still, on the shoulder! You can keep an eye on cars and trucks as they near you, and, if necessary, step safely off the pavement to let them pass. Self-preservation, said to be the first law of Nature, is also a "must" for every Good Citizen!
You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

In Memoriam

WAITE — In loving memory of my dear husband, Chesser, who died suddenly Sept. 12, 1948. — Sadly missed and always remembered by his loving wife, Nellie.

"I little knew when I woke that morn
The sorrow the day would bring,
For the call was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with the one I loved so dear,
And wonder why you had to die
Without a chance to say goodbye.
There is someone who misses you sadly,
And thinks the time long since you went,
There is someone who mourns you deeply
But tries to be brave and content,
There is someone who weeps in silence
And breathes a sigh of regret,
For you are mine to remember
When others are apt to forget;
In God's own time we'll meet again.

WAITE — In loving memory of our dead Dad, who died suddenly Sept. 12, 1948. — Sadly missed by Jim, Alex, Russell, Vivian and Alma.

"He often said he would be missed,
His words have come too true,
We lost our best and dearest pal,
Dear Dad, when we lost you."

YOUNG — In memory of a dear wife and mother, Margaret Young, who passed away Sept. 7, 1948. — Ever remembered by her loving husband, Asa (Young), her daughter Ruby, son-in-law Wyman, and grandsons Willis and Carl.

"We little knew when we woke that morn
The sorrow the day would bring,
For the call was sudden, the shock severe
To part with one we loved so dear,
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweet and tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear Mother,
That we do not think of you."

Peach Pie Recipes

Velvety peaches with the mellow flavor of autumn may be served plain or fancy, from breakfast to supper time.

Peach chiffon pie is an extra special dessert that will rate high praise as party fare or at the family supper table. Chiffon pies are light as a summer cloud and lovely to look at. They are made with a small amount of gelatine and chilled in the refrigerator instead of being oven-baked. Garnishes of sliced fruit arranged in patterns or scrolls of whipped cream may be added before serving to give the pie a glamorous finish.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Ottawa, offer three different ways of making this dessert. The first recipe is made with a custard base; the second uses egg whites and a small amount of whipping cream to give a light, airy chiffon texture to the filling, and the third recipe uses a larger amount of whipping cream which results in a rich creamy pie.

Peach Chiffon Pie (No. 1)

1 Tablespoon gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 3 egg yolks, ⅓ cup sugar, 1½ cups peach pulp, few drops almond flavoring or 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 3 egg whites, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, 1 nine-inch baked pie shell.

Soak gelatine in the cold water for 5 minutes. Beat egg yolks slightly, add the third cup sugar and the peach pulp. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until of thick custard consistency, about 6 to 8 minutes. Add the softened gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Chill until thick and syrupy. Beat egg whites and salt until mixture stands in peaks, then beat in the ¼ cup sugar to make a meringue. Fold into the peach mixture and pour into the baked pie shell. Place in the refrigerator to harden. Just before serving, top with whipped cream and garnish with sliced peaches, if desired. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

1 Tablespoon gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1½ cups peach pulp, ⅓ cup sugar, few drops almond flavoring or 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ½ cup whipping cream, 2 egg whites, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, 1 nine-inch baked pie shell.

Soak gelatine in the cold water for 5 minutes. Heat the peach pulp and the third cup of sugar to boiling point. Add soaked gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Add the almond flavoring. Chill until mixture is thick and syrupy. Whip cream and fold into peach mixture. Make a meringue of the egg whites, salt and the ¼ cup sugar and fold into peach mixture. Pour into baked pie shell and chill until set. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

Peach Chiffon Pie (No. 3)

1 Tablespoon gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1½ cups peach pulp, ½ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, few drops almond flavoring or 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ¾ cup whipping cream, 1 seven-inch baked pie shell.

Soak gelatine in the cold water for 5 minutes. Combine peach pulp, sugar and salt and heat to boiling point. Add soaked gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Add almond flavoring. Chill until mixture is thick and syrupy. Whip cream and fold into peach mixture. Pour mixture into baked pie shell and chill until set. Yield: one 7-inch pie.

Wed at Arundel, Que.

Parkinson - Evans

Grace Church, Arundel, was the scene of a double-ring wedding on Saturday afternoon, August 27, at 5.30 o'clock, when the Rev. G. R. Barnett, assisted by the Rev. S. T. Willis, of Rawdon, Que., united in marriage Lillian Elinor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Evans, of Arundel, and Mr. Clifford William Parkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Parkinson, of Rawdon.

The church was decorated with seasonal flowers. Mrs. William Morrison played the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta with fitted bodice and full skirt with wide insertions of Chantilly lace. Her fingertip veil of tulle was held in place by a coronet of white flowers. She carried a bouquet of salmon-pink gladioli.

Miss Ada Evans, as bridesmaid for her sister, wore a gown of orchid organza with matching tulle headdress, and carried a bouquet of white and yellow gladioli.

Mr. Edgar Evans, of Arundel, was the groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Ray Tinkler, of Montreal, and Mr. Robert Evans, of Arundel.

Mrs. Evans, the bride's mother, was wearing a navy crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Parkinson, the bridegroom's mother, in grey crepe, was wearing navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Maplewood Inn, Arundel.

Out-of-town guests were from Rawdon, Port Ferry, Montreal, Mille Isles, Gatineau and Namur.

Upon returning to Rawdon, where the bride and groom will reside, a welcome-home party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Parkinson on Friday, September 2.

Married at Brownsburg

Hutchin - Vatcher

The marriage of Violet Fay Vatcher, daughter of Mrs. Hester Vatcher, of Brownsburg, to Robert James Hutchin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchin, of Stayner-ville, took place Saturday evening, at 7 o'clock in Brownsburg United Church.

The Rev. S. J. Pike officiated. Baskets of mixed gladioli decorated the church. The wedding music was played by Miss Hanson.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Shirley Vatcher, while the bridegroom was assisted by his brother, Wm. George Hutchin, of Aylwin, Que.

Given away by Mr. Charlie Harris, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin and lace, fashioned with a tight bodice and long sleeves. Her veil was of tulle lace, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bridesmaid was gowned in blue taffeta; her headdress was of roses, with a short veil, and she wore a corsage of red roses.

The bride's mother wore a brown flowered crepe dress, with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother wore dark green, with a corsage of red roses.

A reception was held at McArthur's Hall, Lachute, where flowers and candles decorated the tables.

Later the couple left for a trip to Buffalo, N.Y., the bride wearing a suit of white gabardine with navy blue accessories. On their return they will reside in Stayner-ville.

Those attending the wedding from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. D. McArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foulkes, Miss Nellie Gough, all of Montreal; Miss Eleanor Hutchin, Mr. Howard Leahy, of Huntingdon, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Brown, of Aylwin, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Week-end Events at Mooney's Log Cabin

A large crowd was in attendance at Mooney's Log Cabin for the annual inter-city turf bowling competition for the Rowe-Watkinson Trophy. Montreal continued its mastery over Ottawa in this event, which began in 1943, winning by 8 points to 4 in six games. James Rowe, one of the donors, presented the trophy to Archie Coey of the Montreal team.

At the Sunday night frolic the gathering paid tribute to Archie Coey, who is leaving shortly on an extended boat cruise. Mr. Coey is a veteran guest at this colony. Alf Barclay and his piano accordion supplied the music for the evening. Bernice McCann and Muriel Samuel sang several duets during the affair.

grant was subject to the money being available to the Deputy Minister, and would be payable over a period of two years.

The secretary was directed to write both the Deputy Minister and Mr. Cottingham thanking them for their effort on the council's behalf, and its very satisfactory conclusion.

Immediate purchase of a Bickle-Seagraves pumper was considered and a previous tender from this firm for the sum of $7,200 was returned for confirmation and further information. The matter will be up for consideration and closing of the offer at next meeting.

Many further matters were transacted during the business session, which will be reported in next issue of The Watchman.

Professional Boxing For Arena Here Sept. 15

Paul Thibault, Canadian Featherweight Aspirant, Heads Good Show

"AT THE ARENA"
By John H. Dunne

By popular request the Arena here will open its doors to professional boxing next Thursday night, with five bouts on the card — one final bout of ten rounds featuring Paul Thibault (132 lbs.), from Cap de la Madeleine, Que., versus Tony Bergeron (134 lbs.), from Montreal. Thibault is a good boxer and has shown great promise in the ring. He is in training at present at the Green Mountain Inn, Pointe au Chene, Que., under tutelage of Joe Saliba. If successful against the hard hitting Tony Bergeron of Montreal, he will feature one or two more boxing cards at the Arena before again fighting in Montreal and Quebec. This should be a grand fight.

The semi-final will bring together two fighting wildcats — Claude Meunier (124 lbs.) from Grand'-Mere, against Jerry Lavigne (124 lbs.), of Montreal. This will be an eight-rounder. Three other bouts will complete the program—two of six rounds, and the opening event being a five-round affair, starting sharp at 8.30 p.m. Details of the latter bouts will be included in next week's Watchman. Popular prices will prevail for this boxing night, $1 general admission for adults and 50c for children.

Gerard Coté, Canada's greatest distance runner of all time, may be brought to the Arena some Saturday night in September. He will compete against six runners. This show will also have other features, which will be announced as soon as the attraction is signed.

If present plans materialize Midget Hockey (16 years of age and under) affiliated to the Q.A.H.A., will be a Saturday night attraction at the Arena throughout the coming winter. Tom Martin (Boyd's Express) will be the bench coach. Your writer will be the manager and ice coach. It is expected that Dave Campbell, Ice General of the McGill Redmen, will also lend his vast hockey experience to this effort.

The Milky Way completely encircles the world.

B'burg Legion Postpones Memorial Hall Subscription Drive

At its first meeting following the end of the summer season, held on Tuesday, September 6, the Brownsburg Branch of the Canadian Legion discussed the situation with respect to its drive for further subscriptions towards the cost of building a Memorial Hall in Brownsburg. The subscription at $1 a ticket included an opportunity for the drawing of free prizes, the first prize being a Meteor 1949 car. It was reported that less than one-half of the total costs of the prizes had been subscribed to date, due to many other campaigns for similar prizes being carried on at the same time. In view of this, the Branch reluctantly reached the conclusion there was no alternative but to postpone its drawing for some months, to enable further efforts to be made to clear, at least, the amount involved in the advertised drawings. It is now expected that the drawing will be held by the end of October, and those who have subscribed so far are asked for their patience and indulgence in the present predicament of the Branch.

HIGH SCHOOL OPENING EXERCISES GIVE AUSPICIOUS SEND-OFF TO ACADEMIC YEAR

PRIZES PRESENTED AT ANNUAL FUNCTION

"It takes more than teachers, pupils and a school board to make a school — it takes the combined efforts of the community". . This thought expressed by Chairman Jas. W. McGibbon, was virtually the keynote of the High School opening exercises last Friday at Lachute Auditorium. There were several speakers in this annual ceremony, for it is traditionally an occasion for speeches. But as the chairman pointed out, it is also primarily a celebration for the children; and out of consideration for them, the speakers limited their words and the orations were brief.

Mr. McGibbon, who is chairman of the Protestant School Commission, mentioned the difficulties to be faced in the current year due to building construction in progress at the school, and pleaded for the co-operation of all to surmount these difficulties. He paid public acknowledgment to the board of Lachute United Church for making the church basement available to accommodate two of the primary grades.

Mr. W. M. Cottingham, chairman of the Central School Board, pressed for public interest in, and attendance at, the proceedings of that body. He referred to a major decision passed by the board a few days previously, a step towards equalization of tax valuations throughout the central school area, and also made mention of other school building projects in the area besides that of Lachute High School.

Facts and figures concerning the scholastic standing of the school were presented by Principal F. H. J. Royal. Satisfactory progress was shown in his review of the failures and successes of the past few years, also a steady increase in pupil enrolment and simultaneously in classroom congestion. But Principal Royal hoped in the next year or two to see classroom quotas averaging 25 pupils, which was the maximum desirable for efficiency. There were 17 lady teachers and six men on the staff this year; two newcomers, Miss M. J. Farnsworth, from Cookshire, Que., instructing a section of Grade VI, and Miss F. Murdoch, a certified teacher from this community, instructing French in the elementary grades. . Mr. Royal also made reference to "competition from cement mixers and pneumatic drills", which had already been experienced since the opening of classes, and to the playground restricted this year to the lawns fronting the school. The speaker was confident, however, that with the collaboration of teachers, pupils and parents, these handicaps could be overcome.

Mr. Philippe Valois, M.P., briefly expressed his pleasure in attending this function, and extended good wishes.

Commissioner George F. Calder performed a traditional role in rising to publicly thank the prize donors—those without whose generosity there would be no such ceremony as this annual prize giving. He felt that the donors of the past and present were successfully achieving their end, which was to inspire the pupils to higher efforts in learning and leadership. . . In thanking the citizens, the corporations and companies, past and present, who had financed the various scholarships and awards, he made particular reference to the late Chas. McBurney, "who served this school as principal for many years — through whose hands many of the parents here tonight received their education — and to whom we are indebted for one of the largest, if not the largest, of our endowments".

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough ably responded to this acknowledgment, and at the same time gave a review of familiar figures in school history since the speaker had assumed his ministry here 20 years ago. He enumerated the school board chairmen, the principals, the secretaries, and others who through the years had left their mark in this honorable procession of community builders. Among those of past years to whom he paid special tribute were the late Dr. G. A. Clunie, who had served 36 years as secretary-treasurer, and the late Dr. J. H. Mason, who as chairman of the board had piloted the school through the difficult stages of consolidation and building expansion.

During the evening the High School instrumental band and junior choir presented several very effective numbers, under the baton of their director, Earl Morrison, M.Sc.

Highlight of the program for the younger element of the audience, and also for many parents among the gathering, was the presentation of prizes for the school year 1948-49, after which the proceedings closed with the national anthem.

Seated on the platform were the school commissioners — Messrs. Jas. W. McGibbon (chairman), Ross Muir, Geo. F. Calder, S. J. McFaul, D. W. Bradford; the Revs. W. B. Rosborough and Chas. Maclean; Mr. P. Valois, M.P., and Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. (chairman of the central school board); Mrs. Ross Muir and Mrs. Ernest McOuat (of the Women's Institutes) and Mr. John McFaul, representing the prize donors; Principal F. H. J. Royal; Inspector Lewis J. King; Geo. Y. Deacon, member of the Quebec Protestant Committee of Education; and Mr. M. P. Reilly, chairman of the Brownsburg School Commission.

Daylight Saving Here Continues to October 30

Daylight Saving Time was adopted by Lachute Town Council last spring "until further notice" to the public. This clause was a departure from the usual measures for its adoption, which have specified the date of termination. . Town Council now wishes it to be known that Daylight Saving will remain officially in force until the end of October, insofar as Lachute is concerned.

For "Over-Eighty" Club

At Brownsburg recently, many happy recollections were shared at a tea party of oldsters held by Mrs. Russel Graham. The combined years of the five guests photographed above reach a total of 414. Left to right — Mrs. W. J. Tomalty 80, Mrs. D. Lochhead 88, Mrs. J. Graham 89, Mrs. W. MacVicar (one of the younger guests) 73, and Mrs. W. H. Morrow 84.

Plans for Annual Plowing Match

At the fall meeting of the Argenteuil Plowmen's Association — the 15th annual — held Friday evening at the Court House in Lachute, plans were laid for the event of the year in this organization, the county plowing match. The date set is Wednesday, October 12, at a site to be selected by committee.

The meeting was convened under chairmanship of the retiring president, Erskine Rodger. The following directors were appointed —

Messrs. Stuart Armstrong, W. Brass, Irvin Bain, D. Smith, Theodore Murdoch, P. St. Jacques, H. Todd, Ben Hammond, Watson Berry and Gavin Walker.

Mr. Ernest Emmett was named secretary, and was also commissioned to canvass for prizes for the plowing match.

With Stuart Armstrong assuming the chair, further plans were formulated. It was decided to award a grand prize to the plowman completing the best ridge in the field — this award to be a return ticket and expense-allowance to attend the Toronto Royal Winter Fair. It was also decided to stage a horse-pulling contest, similar to the event held last year — Theodore Murdoch and Gavin Walker being committeemen in charge.

Entry fee for plowmen is $1, which may be paid to the secretary, E. Emmett.

Opening Set for Sept. 25, New St. Eustache Bridge

TO BE NAMED FOR LATE SENATOR ARTHUR SAUVE

Honor will be paid to the memory of the late Senator Arthur Sauvé by naming the new St. Eustache bridge after him. The bridge will be formally opened and named at ceremonies set for September 25, and at which Premier Duplessis will be the main speaker.

A well-known figure in the political life of Quebec, the late Senator Sauvé was postmaster-general in the Bennett government and was later named to the Senate. He was leader of the Conservative Opposition in the Quebec Legislative Assembly from 1916 to 1930.

Construction of the bridge commenced in September 1947, and was pushed forward as rapidly as possible and was opened to traffic December 21, 1948. The plans and specifications were prepared by the Department of Public Works and the construction carried out for the department by the Dufresne Construction Co.

Third School Fair Held at Arundel

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — Ideal weather again favored the School Fair, sponsored by the Women's Institute in Arundel community last Saturday. Despite the fact that the season had been so dry, there was an encouraging show of vegetables by the pupils, which proved that hard work and perseverance, in hoeing, watering and general care, paid dividends to those who merited the awards.

During the morning — under the supervision of Mr. Robert Allan, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Barnett and Mr. E. A. Bulley — races and competitions were held, and during the afternoon the prizes were awarded to the contestants by Mayor Dr. R. B. Henry, who first addressed the gathering.

The Calf Club showing was held in an adjoining field, kindly loaned by Dr. Cyril Flanagan, and was keenly enjoyed by all present. The judging was done by Mr. Erskine Rodger, assisted by the county agronome, Mr. Alex Bothwell.

Judging of the vegetables, sewing, craftsmanship and the various other entries, was shared by Mrs. G. McGibbon, Mr. Reed and Mr. Bothwell.

A refreshment booth completed provisions for a well-planned day, and the committee in charge (under the convenership of Mrs. Melvin Cooke) are to be congratulated on overcoming difficulties and handicaps to achieve the success of this third School Fair.

(The Calf Club winners are listed on page 2 of this issue; prize list for the School Fair will be published at a later date.)

String Group Assembles For Coming Season

The first meeting of the Lachute String Group was held at the High School last Monday, under the direction of Mr. A. Fassio. The membership at present comprises 20, with the following officers — Maurice Bedard, pres.; Miss Monique Charlebois, sec.; Jack McIndoe, treas.; Angelo Fassio and Earl Morrison conductors.

The group is composed exclusively of string instruments, up to the present time, and a cordial invitation is extended to all interested in Lachute, Brownsburg and surrounding districts, to join this musical organization. It is possible that in the near future woodwinds and other instruments will be added to the orchestra.

Persons in Lachute wishing to enroll with the group are asked to contact any of the above officers; those in Brownsburg please contact Mr. Walter Hlidchuk.

Organize for Farm Forums

The county committee of the Argenteuil Farm Forums held its first meeting of the season last Friday evening, at the office of Alex Bothwell, agronomist.

The national secretary, Mr. Joe Galoway, and the provincial secretary, Mr. Floyd Greisbach, were present. Plans were made for a fall rally to be held in October. Several matters of interest to farmers were under discussion — such as the current shortage of hay, and the problem of sewage disposal.

All Forums represented were eagerly looking forward to another successful year.

Revamp Police and Traffic Code for Council Approval

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR ADOPTION OF REVISED BY-LAW

The September meeting of Lachute Town Council was held under presidency of the mayor, all members being present with the exception of Ald. A. S. Holt.

Mr. J. A. M. Clairoux appeared before council to request use of the Victoria Hall, free of charge, for the Proprietors' League. This was granted on a motion of Ald. Joseph Belanger, seconded by Ald. W. Morrissette.

Building permit was granted to Mr. Claude Boucher for construction of a house on Main Street.

Mr. Jeremie Chenier appeared, to petition the continuation of sidewalk on Isabella Street, and also Mr. Philippe Brisebois for a similar sidewalk on Sydney Street. The secretary-treasurer was accordingly authorized to advise the property holders concerned, to build their sidewalks on Sydney and Isabella Streets, giving due notice of 15 days.

Accounts were submitted for a total of $18,735.07, and passed for payment.

The mayor and secretary-treasurer were authorized to sign a lease with the Department of National Defence concerning the rental of the Auditorium.

Notice of motion was given by Ald. Wilbrod Cousineau that at the next meeting of council, October 5, he will move a by-law, to be known as No. 178, to amend by-law 127 relating to the Police Department and the preservation of law and order in the town of Lachute. . . . The by-law, it is understood, will be a modernization and revamping of regulations to meet present-day needs in traffic and police jurisdiction.

Notice of motion was also given by Ald. W. Morrissette that at next regular meeting he would submit a by-law to amend By-Law No. 172 (Paragraph 82C) relating to Business Tax. . . The amendment pertains to the levy of $200 imposed on outside merchants doing business in Lachute, and will have the effect of reducing this tax, effective for the year 1950.

It was moved by Ald. E. Provost, seconded by Ald. J. Belanger, that a vote of thanks be expressed to Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., for the paving of Main, Chatham and Bethany Streets.

The Light Committee was authorized to have the necessary repairs made to the lights on the cement wall bordering the North River along Main Street.

It was moved by Ald. D. G. MacRae, seconded by Ald. P. Chartrand, that all proprietors whose sidewalks are lower than the streets be notifed to raise the said sidewalks, otherwise the Corporation of the Town of Lachute will not be responsible for water damage to their properties.

It was asked that publicity be given to the fact that Daylight Saving will remain effective in this town until the end of October.

The meeting was then adjourned.

Completes 20 Years In Pastorate Here

At Lachute United Church last Sunday morning, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough took occasion to review his 20 years of ministerial service in Lachute. He was inducted by the late Dr. L. Pidgeon of Montreal, on the 12th day of September, 1929.

Mr. Rosborough said that he had "shared with almost every family in happiness and sorrow" since his coming to Lachute, and he felt that the joy had surpassed the dark moments during his time here. He reviewed the tragic circumstances of the fire which destroyed the church building, and the wonderful co-operation of the congregation since then in clearing the debt of the church. The sorrow and anxiety of the war years were also recalled by Mr. Rosborough.

During the service a sound-enrichment system installed in the church was formally dedicated. This system was given by the rummage sale committee, and the minister thanked the ladies of this group for their many benefactions to the church and manse during the past few years.

Blaze in New Business Block

Shortly before the noon-hour on Wednesday, Lachute Fire Brigade responded to a call from the new business block being erected by Omer Lafortune on Main Street. An outbreak of fire occurred in an interior wall between two upstairs rooms, the blaze being caused by a plumber's torch. By means of the booster-pump equipment, the firemen subdued the blaze without difficulty, but not before damage had been caused to the structure — and also some damage by water to the ground-floor store, a modern business-place which was not yet occupied.

Safety Brigades in Brownsburg Need Driver-Cooperation

Brownsburg — The most recent innovation at Brownsburg is Safety Brigades. The function of these brigades is to instruct, direct and control the children crossing streets at or near schools. Safety Brigades are affiliated with the Province of Quebec Safety League, and their members are appointed by the principals of the schools in conjunction with the local police chief. They are not responsible for directing vehicular traffic, other than signalling to a motorist who approaches the crossing to call his attention to his obligation under the law to respect the rights and safety of pedestrians at crosswalks.

The members wear distinctive insignia, in the form of a white Sam Brown belt. No whistles or flags are used, and a brigadier stands on the curb, not on the roadway or street. He holds back the children until he sees a lull in the traffic, and then directs them to cross. The brigadier is directly under the control of the police officer and reports all violations of law or mishaps, and the license number of the car causing them.

A little boy standing at the corner of the street in an effort to protect the lives and limbs of the children who are leaving or going to school, cannot do much without the co-operation of the general public. He is just one small voice crying in the wilderness of mass murder which stalks all our citizens along the highways of Canada today. He is a symbol of sanity and safety. He is a protection against the broken, bleeding bodies of the little ones who never get the chance to grow into the creatures which God ordained they should, to his own image and likeness, if the Juggernaut of death is to roam unchecked. No words of ours can picture the distress and suffering which an "accident" to one of these little ones brings to the home. No words of ours can awaken the sense of responsibility which citizenship and civic duty imposes, if law-defying drivers or irked exponents of their own personal freedom transgress the golden rule. We just call attention to the Brigadiers and their work, so that the reasonable man, be he driver or pedestrian, will co-operate for the common good. . . And we heartily commend Police Chief Foucreau for initiating the project in our midst.

Immunization Week – Sept. 11-17

Be Wise -- Immunize !

The Health League of Canada organizes Canada's annual National Immunization Week because it believes such an observance will do much to dissipate what it considers apathy and indifference — in some cases ignorance — on the part of the general public where the use of proven disease preventives is concerned.

For instance it is known that toxoid prevents diphtheria, and it is known that whooping cough vaccine is an effective check on whooping cough, but it is also known that both these diseases continue to kill young Canadians — exactly 240 in 1948.

Yes, exactly 240 lives wasted because proper preventive measures were not taken beforehand. Public health departments and private physicians throughout Canada are equipped to administer these harmless life-saving preventives. All that is needed is the co-operation of the public to wipe diphtheria and whooping cough off the list of public health menaces.

Blood Clinic Runs Smoothly With Co-operation from Many Quarters

"OLD RELIABLE" VOLUNTEER TURNS UP TO GIVE HIS 17th BLOOD DONATION

Although far short of its target in respect of numbers, the Red Cross blood clinic at Lachute Auditorium yesterday netted an appreciable contribution of 96 blood donations, and besides was considered a success in smooth and efficient operation.

Dr. Therese Rousseau, who is engaged as full-time director of the Red Cross mobile clinic, was here with the staff of nurses and technicians, also Mrs. Ruth Shaw and Mr. Ewing, organizers in this department of Red Cross work. As usual there were many willing assistants from this community, including nurses, clerks and kitchen helpers, who catered to the appetites of both the "patients" and staff. There were also those who assisted with the transportation of volunteers. Several local physicians dropped in to see how the effort was progressing — and the general reaction among observers, was that the entire project was well handled.

The total of volunteers was 105, but preliminary medical tests eliminated nine of these, leaving 96 donors. The men and women donors included a good contingent from two industries in Lachute and one industry in St. Andrews, also a few from Brownsburg. Among the latter, honorable mention goes to Mr. Tom Pasco, who gave his 17th blood donation on this occasion. Another "old faithful" who has contributed to all of the 11 clinics held here, was a Lachute Mills resident, Remi Ledoux.

Chairman of the organizational work for Lachute Red Cross unit was Mrs. Geo. McGibbon — who wishes, through the medium of this report, to sincerely thank the donors and helpers who did their part for the success of this clinic.

Rubberized Road, First in Canada – Ste. Rose Stretch

Lake Louise, Alta.—Early construction of an experimental stretch of the first rubberized asphalt pavement in Canada was forecast by E. H. Gohier, chief engineer of Quebec Department of Roads attending the 30th annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association at Lake Louise.

The experiment is being made possible by the co-operation of the Rubber Development Bureau of Washington, D.C., which is supplying the rubber powder, essential ingredient of the new process, Mr. Gohier said.

The location selected for the experiment is a one-mile stretch of road just north of Ste. Rose on Route 11 running from Montreal to the Laurentians. This is the most heavily-travelled highway in the province, with a traffic density of more than 25,000 cars daily in summer and extensive travel in winter.

With such traffic, and temperature variations from 30 degrees below zero to 95 above, the test given the new highway method will be a most exacting one. The advantages claimed for the new process are reduced maintenance costs, non-skid surface, greater flexibility and a smoother and dust-free pavement.

In 1937 the Netherlands government laid an asphalt road with an admixture of about five per cent of rubber powder between The Hague and Amsterdam. During the German occupation the Road was subjected to exceptionally heavy use, but after the enemy had been chased out it was found that the only asphalt pavement left intact was the rubberized one.

Since the war's end, four U.S. states have each laid a mile of such road, and Quebec will be the fifth territory on the continent to engage in the experiment.

Parking Meters Recommended in Traffic Report to B'burg Council

FOR DISCUSSION AT ADJOURNED SESSION SEPT. 19

Brownsburg — Police Chief Henri Foucreau reported to a recent meeting of municipal council that, according to a communication received from Quebec, he was informed that in future truck license plates would be affixed at the front of the vehicle and not at the rear. His monthly report contained figures of the number of arrests and convictions obtained. Twenty-seven people had been warned to conserve the dwindling water supply, and a total of $166.50 was collected for various taxes and fines.

Application was made for an increase in the amount allotted for gas to service the Chief's automobile when long runs outside of his district were demanded in the course of his duty. An increase of $10 a month was passed, on motion of Councillor Pariseau and Councillor Wilson.

Application was received from the Skating Rink Committee for council permission to apply for a charter so that the Association could be registered. This was granted, on the motion of Councillor Moseley.

"Patates Frites"

Councillor N. Somers enquired if any additional tax was charged to potato-chip vendors, as these mobile stands caused a lot of dirt about the streets. The mayor agreed that this was so and instanced the action proposed by Lachute Council, to put them off the streets. Councillor Denault was of the opinion they should be warned to keep the place clean. Mayor Donaldson asked who is going to pay if someone standing waiting to be served at those stands gets hit by a passing car. The council will be responsible, observed the mayor.

Councillor Somers: "Those stands are the dirtiest contraptions, and the most unsanitary means of preparing food it is possible to imagine". The Police Chief intervened to suggest that the situation could be improved by having the service window on the inside of the roadway so that the wagon would be between the person and the traffic. The council requested him to have this enforced, and also warn the vendor concerning dirt created in the vicinity of his stand.

Town Equipment

The mayor introduced the subject of an inventory of all the council's equipment, with a system of requisitions when anything is taken out of stock. At present it is impossible to check what belongs to the council in the way of tools, or where anything is at a given moment.

Councillor Pariseau thought that an inventory should be made and kept up-to-date, and that a signed requisition be made for the purchase of goods as well. He advanced a motion covering this point, which was seconded by Councillor Somers and passed unanimously.

The council extended the period of Daylight Saving to October 29.

Traffic Regulations

The long awaited traffic report prepared by Councillor Somers was put before the meeting and read by the secretary. The report contains eight paragraphs and is in the form of a motion proposed by Councillor Somers. Its chief provisions are;

All taxi stands on Main, Maple and Bank streets to be removed.

Bus stops on Main (McFaul's Corner) to be moved to the northwest corner of the school grounds.

One hour parking on Main Streets between the hours of 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Parking on one side of Maple Avenue only.

No parking at any time on St. Onge Hill.

White lines to be marked in certain specified areas.

Stop signs on all streets entering Maple or Main.

Install parking meters in one-hour parking areas.

The report was presented to the meeting so that consideration could be given to its details before next assembly, which was set for September 19. . . Other business was adjourned to that date.

Gatineau LINES

House Heating By Electricity

Before electrical appliances became popular, the demand for electric service was restricted to lighting, and because lights do not use much electricity the power companies were able to provide adequate service over wide areas with comparatively small wires and simple equipment.

The heavier demands which followed the use of household appliances not only necessitated rebuilding most of these lines, but also caused a substantial increase in the use of electricity which is partly responsible for the fact that on occasions curtailments in the supply have become necessary during periods of low water.

Recent enquiries regarding the possibilities of house heating, arising from the present low cost of electricity, have been discouraged for several reasons:

The service to other customers would be affected by undue variations in voltage, as the distribution system is not strong enough to carry the heavy loads which are needed to heat houses by electricity.

Seasonal loads, particularly during the winter months, involve higher service charges, which do not appeal to the consumer.

There is nothing like sufficient electrical power available in Canada to heat all the houses in the country and available supplies of electricity are being used up very rapidly.

Coal or oil should be used for heating in order to conserve electricity for use where coal or oil cannot be used.

House heating by electricity requires the maximum use of electricity at the very time when the amount of power available is the lowest. The high heating demand lasts for only a few months, yet generators, transmission lines and transformers have to be built the same as if the power were being used 12 months per year.

Did You Know?

That it takes about 40 horsepower to heat a single medium size house.

One-Plow Tractors Popular on Farm

In the last four years, there has been an increase in the number of one-plow tractors being used on farms. In 1947 about 900 were sold in Canada as compared with over 5,000 in 1948. This increase can be attributed to the low initial cost and the fact that many of the field operations can be performed by the one-plow tractor and its equipment.

Although the one-plow tractor costs approximately one-half as much as the two-plow tractor, and will normally accomplish at least half the amount of work, the new cost per drawbar horse power is usually 25 per cent greater for the one-plow tractor than for large tractors. It has been estimated that a one-plow tractor will plow an acre of land for about $4 while the two-plow tractor will do an acre for about $3.50. This higher cost for the one-plow tractor is partly due to the increased labor cost, since one man can do approximately half as much with a one-plow tractor as with the two-plow tractor. These costs are based on operations under average field conditions. The above figures indicate that the one-plow tractor involves less investment but does not necessarily result in a reduced cost per acre, when compared with the larger tractors, says Allan Magee, Field Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Farm Mechanization In Quebec Province

Gilbert McMillan
in The Ottawa Farm Journal

A trip from Montreal through Eastern Quebec and the Maritimes rather shatters the dream that large units and mechanization may be the solution of some of our farming problems, at least as far as that region is concerned. After one passes Quebec few sections are seen that lend themselves to this solution. As far as Quebec is concerned even if the land was suitable, I feel pretty sure it would meet determined resistance from the people. While all the French farmers' methods may not be strictly modern these people love their land and their way of life and it will take pretty tough times to make them leave it.

Often one sees herculean efforts being made to reclaim a piece of land that nowhere else would be considered worth the trouble. One also sees evidence that the unsightly stone piles that deface many of the fields may be on the way to a decent burial by way of the bulldozer, and this will certainly make for more land and easier cultivation.

Why Was It?

I never could account what natural characteristic made a Scotsman, wherever he took stones from the land, build fences with them, while his French compatriot put them in piles in the middle of the field and built his fences with split rails. Perhaps it was because the Frenchman was more of a woodsman than a builder of stone.

A Woodlot Can Be Profitable

The farm woodlot has proved over and over again to be a good investment, and wherever possible every farmer should have his own reafforestation or conservation plan.

Most farmers have an area of rough or strong land that would produce more revenue as a woodlot, if properly cared for, than as rough pasture. It is on record that one farmer who followed good woodlot practice, and who kept records of everything removed, found that the land in bush was producing sufficient revenue to pay the rent of the farm.

In the management of a woodlot, it is important to observe one or two things. Cattle should not be allowed to graze in the bush, because they destroy all the young growth which protects the roots of the trees from drying out. When cutting wood for fuel, it is advisable to remove all dead trees, and in order to find them when snow has fallen in winter, it is a good plan to mark their location during the summer. It is also good practice to remove undesirable species of trees, such as ironwood, which do not produce trunks satisfactory for making into lumber. The same applies to crooked and misshapen trees which occupy space that could be utilized for growing straight trees of good lumber varieties.

SCOUTING BY MAIL PAYS OFF AT CAMP

Fort Fraser, B.C. (CP) — Three long years reading how to be a Boy Scout paid off for 16-year-old Ken Harrison.

Ken, unable to join a Scout troop in this lonely northern British Columbia town of 350 persons, decided to take an instruction course by mail.

Nobody was around to teach him woodcraft, first aid, and all the other usual Scout activities — but Ken learned by reading.

Now the youth is all set to join a Scout troop at Vancouver for two weeks of camp life — living, sleeping and eating as a real, full-fledged Scout.

Fellow Editor Passes at Granby, Que.

A notable career in newspaperdom has been brought to a close by the sudden passing of Walter Legge, editor and publisher of The Leader-Mail, Granby, Que.

Although in earlier years Mr. Legge's business training was not along newspaper lines, on the death of his father in 1932 he entered wholeheartedly into his new vocation and steadily built up the printing and publishing business to its present high standing.

He was honored with the presidency of both the national and the divisional bodies of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, and in this capacity as well as serving on numerous committees, has been a tower of strength to the organization.

Active in civic affairs, Mr. Legge had been president of numerous clubs and was also a talented musician, having for 17 years been organist and choir leader of the St. George Anglican Church, Granby.

One of this country's best-informed newspapermen, a man brimful of kindly deeds — the fraternity of journalism, particularly those of the weekly field, will feel his sudden passing a severe loss.

The Economy of Using the Best

The economy of using the best possible materials is made apparent in the upkeep problem. A house or business building may be "thrown together" with cheap material, and it may "look all right," but after it has stood the shock of weather, the real test comes.

It is false economy to use poor materials — and we so advise everyone who buys from us. Our success is due to honesty in materials and prices.

Preventable Tragedy

THIS is National Immunization Week in Canada — the seventh annual observance of an event dedicated to the health and lives of the nation's children.

Sponsored by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with official health departments, National Immunization Week is designed to draw to the attention of parents that certain diseases of childhood are preventable but, despite this fact, these diseases — diphtheria and whooping cough — are still taking toll among Canadian children. For instance, whooping cough took 155 lives in 1948 and diphtheria claimed 85.

The wisdom of proven immunization procedures—such as toxoid to prevent diphtheria and whooping cough vaccine to prevent whooping cough — is seen in a steadily decreasing annual Canadian death toll from these two diseases, but, as the Health League of Canada points out, the battle will not be won until there are no cases and no death toll.

Just as smallpox has been wiped out by vaccination, so can diphtheria be eliminated by toxoid. In the case of whooping cough, the preventive is a vaccine which provides protection in 80 per cent of all cases, rendering the disease much less severe in the remainder.

At the same time, we cannot let down our guard against smallpox. The vaccination procedure must be continued if we are to enjoy continued immunity from what was once one of the world's greatest scourges.

National Immunization Week is merely a means of emphasizing the value of immunization as a major part of any child health conservation program. It is designed to give impetus to the never-ceasing attack on diphtheria, whooping cough and smallpox. It is everyone's duty to support Canada's health officers in this work.

Cheque Frauds

IF YOU try to cash a cheque at a bank or retail store where you're not well known, don't get sore if the banker or storekeeper asks for identification, perhaps refuses to accept the cheque — says one of our weekly exchanges.

So many cheque frauds are being attempted just now that prudent people won't take a chance. Retail merchants are specially named as being the victims of the cheque crooks.

Forged payee signatures and raised figures are the most common form of cheque frauds but they also include forged cheques drawn on accounts of well known firms and cheques against non-existent or inadequate accounts.

Government cheques, however, seem to be the class of cheque most favored by these crooks. One factor lies in the millions of cheques being issued for family allowances, war service pensions, return of compulsory savings, and income tax refunds. The last named figure especially prominent in cheque frauds, at present.

Conversing With God

PRAYER is the greatest force known for grappling with everyday problems and for achieving serenity of soul, declares Norman Vincent Peale, author of "A Guide to Confident Living".

Not only does prayer have the power to calm our minds, but it can heal heartache and give us clear vision to act for ourselves. — says Dr. Peale (whose article from "Guideposts" is condensed in this month's "Reader's Digest".) "If angry, anxious, vindictive or envious, you cannot think or act wisely. But in prayer your emotions come under control and your intellect penetrates the essence of a problem for the right answer."

Many businessmen use prayer as a reliable aid in their affairs, the author states. A leading department-store executive communes with God for 15 minutes each morning. An industrialist, who "uses his car as a chapel", states: "Driving to the plant, I talk over by problems with Him. Instead of desperately expecting a prayer to pull me out of a mess, I condition my mind in advance to make calm and rational decisions".

The value of prayer was demonstrated, Peale says, in a recent sit-down strike at a large automobile plant. Management and unionists had reached an impasse. A union mass meeting, called for mid-afternoon despite the refusal of police to grant a permit, threatened violence and bloodshed. But at a conference preceding the mass meeting a preacher suggested a prayer and, "to his astonishment", everyone joined. The resulting decision, a compromise by both sides, led to a meeting that was a "completely peaceful affair".

Conversation with God should be a constant habit, Peale urges, not a maddened plea when one is at wit's end. "It is to a Father and not a Santa Claus that we must learn to speak, in trust and obedience. The supreme model was given in the Gethsemane prayer, 'Not my will but thine be done'."

Arts Get A Hearing

SOME of us were surprised when the government announced that the state of arts in Canada was to be the subject of a Royal Commission investigation. It seemed strange that the problems of painters and poets should rate the kind of hearing usually reserved for political scandals, economic inequities and other issues of national importance.

Apparently the government doesn't think so. And the Massey Commission seems to be listening attentively to the wide variety of proposals brought forward by organizations which have labored long at the unrewarding task of developing Canada's artistic talents.

There may be some who neither know nor care if Canada has a national art gallery or a national theatre. Many haven't read a Canadian poem or novel since leaving high school. But most Canadians listen to the radio and run across the occasional Canadian-made short subject at the movies. If the people who run these movies and radio programs are interested in improving their output, we certainly aren't opposed to giving them a hearing.

Come to think of it, that hard-working bunch of youngsters put on a good show in the summer colony performance last month. Too bad they could not benefit by year-round dramatic training.

And then there was the music festival last spring. There was the little girl who came third in the 10-year-old piano competition. Perhaps the commission could figure out a way for her to get lessons from a good teacher.

We've all heard of youngsters who headed their high school drawing classes or sang solos in the church choir and wound up driving a truck. Maybe they're better off that way, but it would be a good idea if they had a chance to find out whether they could make a successful career painting pictures or singing songs. . .

Well, of course it takes money. Surely if the government can afford to pay all those civil servants in Ottawa, they can spare a little cash for things like that.

That's why the Royal Commission is listening to all those authors and musicians and radio executives. And the chances are that most of us and our children will benefit from the report they hand in to parliament.

RETESTING of British Columbia automobile drivers means that a lot of people will have to do considerable brushing up. There are thousands who have never faced the panel with the flashing lights that checks on reflexes. These tests are of proven value.

If a new or used tractor would help you we're interested

You already know that you can borrow money from this Bank under the terms of the Farm Improvement Loan Act, to buy new farm equipment, construct new buildings, buy new stock, or make any other worthwhile addition to your farm.

But did you know that this Bank can also make these loans to finance the purchase of used farm equipment, and to make repairs or alterations to existing farm buildings?

If you want to sell your old tractor to get a new one, and your buyer hasn't enough ready cash, ask him to discuss his problem with the Bank of Nova Scotia. Remember, if farm improvements will help to make your farm more profitable, we're interested.

GALLOON

What is a Galloon? From a number of enquiries, it would seem that Canadians don't know the word. Yet, in receiving the color styles for men's hats for 1950 from the British Color Council, there were two color designations, one list of colors for the hats and the other for galloons.

In hat circles, at least in Britain, the band or ribbon on the men's hats is the galloon. The style card show 12 colors for felts and 12 colors for the galloon or accompanying ribbon. — Canadaink

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

NATIONAL IMMUNIZATION WEEK—SEPTEMBER 11TH-17TH

Each year communicable diseases cause needless sickness and suffering. Too often, they have claimed the death of some youngster. To-day medical science with its effective preventative measures has conquered many of the so-called "childhood diseases". But modern science is worthless without the co-operation and support of every parent. By having your children immunized now, you safeguard their future—ensure their continued good health. That's a practical way to show your "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Klondyke Pioneer and Veteran Farmer Is Alex Bates, Hardy Son of Argenteuil

TELLS INTERESTING STORY TO WESTERN NEWSPAPER

It's a long way from the quiet community of Avoca . . to the turbulent waters of the Yukon River . . to the lush slopes of the Fraser Valley in B.C. And it's a long, colorful story that recalls the adventures of Alexander Lowery Bates — who revisited his native haunts and relatives here two years ago. Mr. Bates relived his experiences recently for a narrative in his local newspaper, "The Abbotsford, Sumas and Matsqui News". From an article in that journal the following extracts are quoted, and the story will be read with interest by many besides his relatives and early neighbors in these parts. . .

Beginning the narrative of his experiences in one of the most hectic eras in the history of the Northwest, Alex Bates remembers that when he stepped off the S.S. Rosalie and walked along the main street of Skagway he had nothing more than five dollars and plenty of apprehension.

The apprehension resulted from the proximity of notorious "Soapy" Smith and his cardsharping, slightly murderous cohorts. "On the first night I spent in the Skagway, one of Soapy's boys shot a man — it happened right out on the street while I sat in my hotel room", Alex relates. Incidentally, Jefferson Randolph was a scion of a wealthy and prominent American family whose methods of garnering a few thousand dollars made him the racketeer of the Klondyke.

"I went to the Klondyke to join my brother, Bill", Alex continues. "And with thousands of other prospectors I walked 38 miles from Skagway to Lake Lindemere, working at roadhouses for meals and lodging on my way. That's when I came in contact with Soapy. He and his gang operated shell games in the roadhouses and they didn't lose very often." Anyone wishing to take a chance against Soapy's sharps attempted to guess one of the three shells under which was located a small pea. Of course, the game operators knew all the tricks, had a grand time hoodwinking the sourdoughs. An authoritative textbook states that a minister carrying $300 in church funds, was relieved of those funds within a few minutes after meeting a Klondyke confidence man.

"But Soapy and his boys stayed clear of Canadian territory," Alex asserts. "They never crossed the Chilkoot summit . . that was the Canadian-American border . . because our Mounties would get after 'em." He lauds members of the Royal North West Mounted Police as "good men who provided more law and order in the Yukon than there is in Vancouver today."

After the Bates brothers met on the shores of Lake Lindemere, they combined to haul mining supplies over the Dyea Trail summit to head waters for navigation on the Yukon river. Like thousands of others, they whipsawed lumber, constructed a boat to transport them down the raging Yukon, through Miles canyon and White Horse rapids to Dawson City.

Alex worked for wages in Dawson, embarked on frequent prospecting expeditions to Sulphur Creek, Bonanza and Eldorado, the richest sources of gold in the Klondyke. "But we didn't make

The Housing Situation

The new president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in a recent statement on the Housing situation in Canada was very emphatic in demanding real action on the part of the Federal Government. "Canadians in general, and municipal administrators in particular", said Mayor MacLean, "will be greatly disappointed if the only result of the recently concluded trans-Canada "housing" tour of Reconstruction Minister Winters is to be some sort of Federal-Provincial arrangement to reduce the required down payment for home purchasers. This is no solution to the housing problem at all! It simply means a lower initial payment but a higher annual carrying charge. It will encourage some people to commence buying their homes; but it offers no relief to that large aggregation of "average" workers who, even if no initial equity was required, would still be unable to finance the cost of a minimum standard low-cost house."

The president went on to say: "Let's be realistic about the housing situation. The cold facts are — and my authority is the Federal Government's own Dominion Bureau of Statistics — that about 2/3 of our urban families are paying less than $30 a month rent; about 1/3 are paying less than $20 a month; and 5% are paying less than $10. They pay these rents because, on the basis of their wages that's all they can afford to pay.

"Let's suppose that the average low-cost house can be built at $5,000. — a low figure. Interest and amortization costs, plus taxes and insurance, not to speak of maintenance costs, mean an annual payment or at least $400. How many families among the 2/3 of all Canadian urban householders now paying less than $360. a year can afford to take on an obligation of this sort? The answer is, not many. Broadly speaking, the maximum which the "average" worker's family can afford to put out for shelter does not exceed $25 per month. As the facts show, many cannot afford even this.

"It would be ideal, of course, if every Canadian family owned their own home. But we are a long way from the conditions that will make this possible. House construction costs and the other factors which enter into home ownership have soared beyond the point where the average wage worker can afford to buy. The most he can afford to do under present circumstances is to live doubled-up with some other family or be satisfied with outworn and obsolescent housing. And that is precisely what more than half a million Canadian families are now doing."

Referring to the work of the Federation, Mayor MacLean said that "for ten years the Mayors of Canada through the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities have been urging the Federal Government to intitute a policy of subsidized low-rental housing. Two years ago we presented a detailed scheme to Ottawa which called for the setting up of a National Rent Reduction Fund, to be contributed by the Federal and Provincial Governments, with the municipalities helping out by tax concessions or by other ways. The Government turned thumbs down on the proposition but every responsible organization that has looked into the housing problem of Canada has come up with more or less the same kind of proposal. With the single exception of Canada, every western democratic country has long since had an assisted housing scheme of one sort or another.

"During the recent election campaign many of us took the pronouncement of Liberal spokesmen to mean that, insofar as housing was concerned, they too had seen the light. We were led to believe that, if returned to power, a full scale low-rental housing program would forthwith be instituted. . . If the best that Mr. Winters can offer, after his talk with the Provincial Governments, is a scheme to reduce down payments, then all that was said during the election period evidently was just so much eye-wash."

— Municipal Review of Canada

Garbage Grinders

Garbage grinders are becoming more popular both for home and commercial use. In a recent report, the American Public Works Association estimates that 350,000 units are in household use and an additional 2,000 in restaurants, hotels, clubs, etc. A survey of 110 cities with over 50,000 population indicates that six cities now prohibit the use of garbage grinders entirely, while 17 do not permit their use in hotels, restaurants and clubs.

No doubt pressure will be exerted in the future to permit the use of barbage grinders. The treatment of ground garbage requires disposal facilities in addition to those needed for normal sewage.

A thorough-going course in citizenship is more essential today than ever before to equip voters young and old to accept their responsibilities in a democratic Canada and justify their existence in our freedom-loving country.

Swim Marathons

SPORTS CAMERA
By Wally Izsak

What with the men's and women's world professional championship marathon swims at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto and frequent attempts to swim the English Channel, swimming certainly has taken its share of headlines recently.

And for the work and patient training they put into the swims and the punishment they took, the winners deserved all the printer's ink they got.

Swimming isn't usually classified as a major sport in this country. Rather it is thought of as a pleasant and easy way of passing time. But not the way the long-distance swimmers do it.

Take the swims at the C.N.E. for example.

The men's professional swim — a mere 15 miles — was won by an 18-year-old from suburban Toronto. Husky Cliff Lumsden defied water that some claimed was as cold as 55 degrees and was the first of only three out of 43 starters to finish.

The other 40 — including such well-known spashers as last year's winner, Steve Wozniak of Buffalo, N.Y., and Gianni Gambi of Ravena, Italy — had dropped out because of the chilling water and stiff competition.

And young Lumsden stayed in that cold water for seven hours, 54 minutes and 55 6/10 seconds. Behind him came another Toronto swimmer, the pre-race favorite, Ben Gazel.

But it was the third man who really took the punishment. Bill Sadlo, 47-year-old swimming instructor from Whitestone, N.Y., finished the gruelling race after dark in nine hours and 54 minutes. He was guided in by searchlights.

Contestants had covered themselves with grease to ward off the cold but at that chilling temperature it did little good. That's why it was all the more amazing that Lumsden was able to keep up his steady stroke. He started with a smooth 72 strokes a minutes for the early stages and then brought that down to 65 to keep his lead.

The women, too, had trouble with the weather and water. Bernice Looney of Warren, O., stroked her way to victory in the five-mile women's marathon in water some swimmers said was the roughest the women have had to face since the first race in 1928.

Bernice led all the way and climbed out of the water after just two hours, 33 minutes and 37.7 seconds for her third victory. Second was Toronto's Winnie Roach Lueszler, a half-mile behind.

The fifth-place swimmer, Barbara Elliott of Oshawa, Ont., finished in a driving rainstorm while three others were still in the water. Here, too, one swimmer finished with searchlights guiding her.

These swims are tough events. But they have their compensation — $6,300 of it for Lumsden and $1,750 for Miss Looney.

An interesting sidelight appeared in the men's event that pointed up the endurance and doggedness of these marathon swimbers.

Shortly before he completed his 14th mile, Sadlo was offered $750 by race officials if he would leave the water. He refused and plodded his way to the finish line to win $1,000 for coming in third.

As for us — we'll take the tank at the local Y.M.C.A.

HEROES' WELCOME FOR NOVA SCOTIANS

When Stanley and Colin Smith, of Dartmouth, N.S., arrived in Dartmouth, England, they became town heroes and were carried in triumph along Dartmouth streets. Alert to traditions of the sea, the town's residents appreciated the courageous feat of the two brothers, who sailed the Atlantic in their 20-foot boat, Nova Espero, which they made themselves in a Halifax basement.

Jelly Time Here Again

Jelly-making is an art and, for clear sparkling jellies that will gleam on store-room shelves, there are a few simple rules to follow. For perfect jelly, pectin, acid, sugar and water all must be in the right proportions.

Late summer apples and crabapples are high in both pectin and acid and this makes them excellent for jelly. The early variety of crabapples, Transcendents, are yellow in color with pink cheeks. Heslops come later in the season, have a deep red color with a white bloom and wield a darker colored jelly. Since both pectin and acid content of fruit decrease as the fruit ripens, a mixture of slightly under-ripe and ripe fruit give best results. Over-ripe fruit should never be used. Apples may be combined with other fruits which are low in pectin or acid. Quinces are rich in pectin but low in acid and the addition of apples will make this more expensive fruit go farther as well as supplying the much needed acid.

There are several reasons for the failure of jelly to set — over-ripe fruit or fruit lacking in pectin may have been used; the boiling time before or after adding the sugar, may have been too short; too much sugar in proportion to the pectin and acid present in the fruit juice; or making the jelly on a very damp day. Sometimes, jelly does not completely set until the second or third day.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. Here is the recipe for apple jelly taken from the bulletin.

Directions for Making Apple Jelly

1. Select sound apples, using about equal parts of ripe and slightly under-ripe fruit. Wash thoroughly and discard any damaged spots. Remove stems and blossom ends. Cut into eighths or slice.

2. Place in preserving kettle and add sufficient cold water to completely cover the prepared fruit.

3. Cover kettle and simmer fruit and water until fruit is soft and mushy, crushing fruit during cooking.

4. Pour hot cooked fruit into moistened jelly bag made of flannel or several thicknesses of cheesecloth. Hang up over a bowl and allow to drip. Squeezing the bag increases the quantity of juice but the jelly will not be so clear.

5. Work with small amounts of extracted juice at a time — not more than 8 cups. Measure each lot of juice accurately to determine the amount of sugar to be added after boiling.

6. Boil juice, uncovered, in a broad saucepan for 3 minutes. Remove saucepan from heat and test for pectin. If clot does not form, continue boiling, testing frequently, until pectin test is satisfactory.

Pectin Test

Measure 1 teaspoon fruit juice and 1 teaspoons alcohol (rubbing alcohol may be used) into a cup or small dish. Blend quickly together and let stand 30 seconds. DO NOT TASTE. If a jelly-like mass or clot is formed, the juice contains sufficient pectin. Sugar may then be added.

7. Measure sugar, allowing ¾ cup sugar for each cup or extracted juice, except when a heavy solid clot forms when pectin test is made at the end of the 3-minute boiling period. This heavy clot indicates that the juice is so rich in pectin that 1 cup of sugar for each cup of extracted juice should be used.

8. Add measured sugar slowly to juice. Boil briskly, uncovered, removing scum as it forms.

9. To test when jelly is done, dip up the boiling hot syrup with a metal spoon and allow it to run off the edge. When two drops form and then flow together to form a "sheet" the jelly stage has been reached. Immediately remove from the heat. Longer boiling will give a stiff, tough jelly.

10. Let hot juice stand in kettle for 30 seconds and remove last bit of scum with a cold fork or spoon.

11. Pour into hot sterilized jelly glasses, filling to within ¼-inch of the top. Using a slightly moistened clean cloth, carefully remove any jelly clinging to inside of jelly glass above the jelly level.

12. Let stand until partially set, then pour a thin layer of hot, melted parrafin wax over the jelly and leave until hardened. Then add a second layer of hot melted wax, rotating the jar so that the wax will adhere to the side of the glass to form a close seal. Cover with paper or metal lid and store in a cool, dry place.

W. Institutes Aid Save Children Fund

During the past year the sum of $540 has been raised by members of the Quebec Women's Institutes through voluntary subscription to the Save the Children Fund. This provincial project, which was undertaken after the last war, has always been well supported and literature just received at the Q.W.I. office tells of the still urgent need for a continuation of this effort.

Members will be interested in this extract taken from that pamphlet. "Your contribution of $1 pays for any one of the following: 1. Enough powdered milk to give 10 children a glass of milk a day for a week. 2. Enough raw cotton to make 15 diapers. 3. Enough leather to make a pair of shoes. 4. Enough raw wool to make cloth for a child's coat. 5. A day's dose of cod-liver oil for almost 300 children. 6. Testing and vaccinating eight children against tuberculosis."

More of the branches are also undertaking the satisfying task of adopting one of these needy children and are finding rich reward in the touching letters of thanks that so often reach them, sometimes from the children themselves, in other cases from those responsible for administering this care.

FASHION HINT

It's so interesting, season after season, to see the fur-trimmed fabric coat undergoing a complete change. The new models are far removed from the old bulky type. Typical of the changing trend is this handsome shortie, which is ideal for casual wear over a suit or with a wool dress or skirt. Gray fleeve, topped with a drapable collar or nutria is the combination used. Double stitching down either side of the double-breasted closing conceals slit pockets. The coat is lined with brown wool.

Beach Picnic

The outing was really
A lulu, a dilly.
The fog was dense
And dank and chilly
But everyone tanned —
To third-degree burns —
And the kiddies fell over
The cliff by turns.

The hampers were bulging
The menu faultless
Though salads were sandy
And sandwiches saltless.

Some cutup went swimming
With Mother's new hat on,
And Gladys was nipped
By a crab that she sat on.

And then when the rains came—
They're sudden you know —
We found all our things
As we started to go
Except Grandma's teeth,
Bill's swimming fins,
The keys to the car,
And one of the twins.

Need Helpers in Local Guide-Brownie Groups

None will dispute the fine Christian training imparted in the Girl Guide and Brownie movement. It is self-evident, however, that these enterprises cannot work without local leadership.

The Girl Guide and Brownie groups in Lachute are presently in urgent need of helpers. If anyone interested in this work will give time and effort to its advancement — please communicate with Mrs. G. F. Calder (phone 691).

"Finger" Detects Water in Soil

Cornell University scientists have developed an atomic "finger" that tells how much moisture is in the ground.

It consists of a hollow aluminum tube which is stuck two feet into the ground. Inside is a bit of stuff that emits neutrons, the particles which split atoms in bombs.

The neutrons pass through the aluminum as easily as light going through glass, and shoot out in the surrounding earth.

Wherever there is moisture they bounce. This knocks some of them back into the tube to tell how much water they "saw".

This is the first water detector realy different from sticking your really different from sticking your wetness. The other detectors measure only what they touch. The atomic finger reads conditions within a foot or so in every direction.

Work on the new device is sponsored by the technical development and evaluation centre of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. The centre is studying various devices which might prove useful in making continuous records of soil moisture beneath pavements.

Couple Wed Recently at Hawkesb'y United Church

Heatlie - Kelly

Banks of multi-colored gladioli formed the setting for a very pretty wedding in Hawkesbury United Church, on Saturday afternoon, August 27, when Doris Grace Blaney, daughter of the late Fred W. Kelly and of Mrs. Kelly, became the bride of Mr. John William Heatlie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Heatlie.

Miss Shirley Heatlie played the organ, and the Rev. Dr. B. T. Holden officiated at the ceremony. While the guests were assembling Miss Cathy Adams sang "I'll Walk Beside You", and later during the signing of the register she sang "Through the Years".

The bride, given in marriage by her brother Mr. Alvin Kelly, chose a gown of white satin with fitted bodice and a full skirt with slight train; her veil was held in place by clusters of flowers, her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom, and she carried a bouquet of pink and white gladioli.

Miss Gwen Kelly was maid-of-honor for her sister, in a gown of blue taffeta; she carried sweet peas. Misses Joan and Jean Kelly, young sisters of the bride, were junior bridesmaids, in gowns of pink organdie, and they carried bouquets of mixed flowers.

Mr. Glen Warwick was best man, and Messrs. Gerald Tomalty and Earl Kelly were ushers.

Mrs. Kelly, mother of the bride, wore a two-piece ensemble of navy blue, with white accessories, and her corsage was American Beauty gladioli, while Mrs. Heatlie, mother of the groom, chose a gown of grey crepe and her corsage was of white gladioli.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. Dr. Holden proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Mr. Randolph Higginson proposed the toast to the bridesmaids, to which Mr. Warwick replied. The happy couple left by motor for a short honeymoon in the Niagara district. They intend to make their home in Ogdensburg, Que.

Grapes to the Fore

Grapes could probably be called Canada's most patriotic fruit, since they come in all three colors — red, white and blue. The blue or Concord grape is the one that is used most frequently for making jam, jelly or juice but the white or green grape may be used quite satisfactorily in combination with the blue in this way.

It was thought that the dry weather would take its toll in grapes this year but fortunately there will be a fairly large crop, so housewives, anxious to complete their stock of preserves, should get busy with their preserving kettles and make the most of this fruit while it is in season.

Few people realize just how good fresh grapes are in desserts, particularly in pies, roly polys, whips and toppings for blanc mange or cottage puddings. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, offer some of their recently tested recipes featuring grapes. The Grape Chiffon Pie, while quite rich and a bit finicky to make, is the ideal party or special-occasion dessert for this season of the year. The other Grape Pie is more family-style but none-the-less delicious or flavorful. This pie may be topped with a lattice of pastry, a meringue or whipped cream or may be made into individual tartlets. However it is served, this pie will be a general favorite of the whole family.

Grape Chiffon Pie

5 Cups blue grapes, ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoons gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, ½ cup whipping cream, 2 eggs, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, 1 nine-inch baked pie shell.

Wash grapes and separate skins and pulp. Heat pulp to boiling point and boil gently for 5 minutes. Rub through a sieve to remove seeds. Combine pulp and skins and cook together 5 minutes longer. Add sugar, stirring until dissolved. Meanwhile, soak gelatine in the cold water for 5 minutes. Add soaked gelatine to hot grape mixture, stirring until thoroughly dissolved. Chill until mixture is thick and syrupy. Whip cream and fold into grape mixture. Make a meringue of the egg whites, salt and the ¼ cup sugar and fold into grape mixture. Pour into baked pie shell and chill until set. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

Grape Pie

6 Cups blue grapes (stemmed), 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ¾ to 1 cup sugar (depending on tartness of grapes), 1 egg.

Wash grapes and separate skins and pulp. Heat pulp to boiling point and boil gently for 5 minutes, then rub pulp through a sieve to remove seeds. Combine pulp and skins and cook together 5 minutes longer. Mix cornstarch, salt and sugar and combine with egg. Add to grape mixture, blending well. Pour into unbaked 9-inch pie shell or into 12 large tart shells, filling shells ⅔ full. Cover with a lattice top of pastry and bake in a very hot oven, 425°F., for about 25 minutes or until the crust is brown and the filling set. Chill and serve cold. If desired, pie may be garnished with whipped cream. Yield: one 9-inch pie or 12 large tarts.

Grape and Pear Jam

8 Cups blue grapes, 3 cups water, 10 cups chopped pears, 4½ cups sugar.

Wash grapes, separate skins from pulp. Add 1½ cups of water to skins, and 1½ cups to pulp. Simmer skins and pulp separately until tender — about 15 minutes. Press pulp through a sieve to remove seeds. Add cooked grape skins, chopped pears and sugar to pulp. Bring to boil and boil, uncovered, to jam stage — about 45 minutes, stirring frequently. Pour into hot, sterilized jars. Cool and seal. Yield: about 8½ cups.

IN THE GARDEN . . .

Planting Rose Trees

There are a few important rules to observe in planting roses, and if they are obeyed, success is practically assured, whether your planting be done in the fall or spring.

Dig a hole large enough to accommodate the roots of the rose plant without crowding or twisting them. Spread the roots out horizontally. Make sure, however, that the roots points slightly downward.

Work loose soil among the roots until the hole is about three-quarters full. Should the bush have several layers of roots, cover each layer separately with a generous amount of earth.

When the hole is almost full, pack the soil down firmly by tramping with the feet. It is important that the soil be firmed down as much as possible to eliminate air pockets about the roots.

Success with roses depends in great measure upon firming the soil until it is in close contact with the roots.

The depression in the soil made by tramping should be filled with water, and when this has soaked down, add more soil until the level of the surrounding ground is reached. The top layer of soil should be left fairly loose.

Roses are top feeders, therefore the roots must not be set too deep. Safe rule is to plant each bush so that the graft is about two inches below normal soil level. After the soil has settled the graft will be only one inch below the soil level. This is protection against sun scorch in summer as well as against winter freezing.

Peonies Move Best In September

September is the best month to divide and transplant peonies, but they should not be moved more often than once in five years, unless there is special reason for doing so. Choose a fine day for digging up the plants and take care not to damage the roots, which in a large plant may go down a foot or more. The leaves of the plant should be cut off before starting to dig and the loose earth removed from the roots which should be exposed to the air for a few hours. Wash off all the soil with water.

Examine the root carefully to see where it can be divided with as little damage to the tuber as possible. A very large clump can be divided by forcing a digging fork down into the centre, but smaller ones can be forced apart by hand. Each division must consist of a tuber with two or three eyes, but divisions with six or seven eyes are better for the average gardener.

Before planting, the ground should be well dug and if possible some well rotted manure added and well mixed in. The root should be placed so that there is about two inches of soil above the crown. Too deep planting is frequently the cause of peonies not blooming. A mulch should be put on the first year after the ground has frozen, but when the plants are well established no mulch is necessary. The leaves should be cut back each fall and burned in order to destroy any disease germs which may be present.

British Supersonic Jet Fighter

The Supermarine 510, a development of the famous "Attacker", latest fighter aircraft announced by the British firm of Vickers-Armstrongs. Details are still on the secret list, beyond the announcement that the 510 is powered by a Rolls-Royce jet engine, and has the characteristic wings designed for super-sonic speed. More than 600 miles per hour is confidently predicted for this aircraft, which is to be used in the exploration of high-speed problems.

Klondyke Pioneer And Veteran Farmer

out very well", he laments. "All the rich claims were staked out by the time Bill and I arrived there."

He has vivid reminiscences of Dawson during the halcyon days of the gold rush. Saloons full of miners drinking whisky clear . . Klondyke Kate and her coterie of dancing girls . . twice-weekly prize fights . . everything described in the ballads of Robert Service. And etched into his memory is a spectacular fire which levelled the city in the winter of 1899.

Argenteuil County in the Province of Quebec is the birthplace of the former sourdough and there he received his early schooling and worked on his father's farm until 1894. Then he spent a three-year tenure as a logger in Wisconsin. Alex logged in Shelton, Wash., after a six-day ride across the prairies via a branch line of the C.P.R., until the Klondyke beckoned.

After his session in northern gold centres, he returned to his home in Quebec. There his heart was captured by attractive Ida McGowan, who came from Montreal to brighten up his environment. Following their wedding in 1903, the couple journeyed to Vancouver.

Alex liked what he saw in British Columbia. He arranged a three-year lease on a 220-acre farm at Gifford. He broke the land, sowed 100 acres of grain and farmed there until 1908 when his property was purchased by Hygienic Farms Ltd. Alex worked for this company until he bought "80 acres of bog land" on a hillside overlooking lush Matsqui prairie.

"I've farmed there ever since", says the sharp-eyed pioneer.

Like most Matsqui farmers, Alex had a tough time getting started. His "bog land", as he called it, required 10,000 feet of tile pipe for drainage and difficulties of transportation were almost insurmountable. "I remember the first year I was here we had no threshing machine. So we negotiated with the Buffalo Pits Mill in Oregon and borrowed a giant machine. We had to find about 30 men every time we wanted to move it and it was too big to get over the bridges — we had to drag it all over the valley.

"And just after we got started our harvesting it began to rain and didn't let up for six weeks. I lost 40 acres of my crop in that discouraging year."

Transportation was a real hardship. Abbotsford, incidentally, boasted only two small stores, a post office and a saloon just after the turn of the century. And that saloon was usually crowded with brawling Great Northern railway workers who would fight at the drop of a profanity.

"I didn't get into the bar very often", said Alex, indicating that he had better things to do than to lose teeth in bar-room fisticuffs.

Alex is another pioneer who remembers trips down the Fraser river to New Westminster on the first steam-propelled ship on the West Coast, the famous S.S. Beaver, parts of which are preserved in the archives at Victoria. "I knew Captain Young well and sold grain and feed to Captain Nesbitt, purser on the Beaver," Alex reports. The Beaver crew is described as "very obliging". Alex stood on a log in the river waiting for the ship to pick him up on one occasion.

Since 1944, when he sold 55 acres of his property, Alex has taken things easy. He journeyed across the continent three years ago with Mrs. Bates, who is proud of her "grand trip out of the Peace River district in an airplane" during last year's flood. Now Alex spends most of his time doing odd carpenter jobs to maintain his cosy home and, as Mrs. Bates says "patching his clothes". He is waiting now for the time when he can go all the way into retirement . . . and that will probably occur at the end of the berry season.

"I don't have to worry about money. I saved some and I have a little coming in from by job as fire insurance agent. And if things ever get tough, there's always the old age pension", he says with a sly grin.

Glengarry Child Drowns In Tank of Whey

Alexandria — No inquest was held in the tragic drowning Saturday of two-year-old Herbert Seguin, who fell into a tank of whey on his father's farm near Alexandria.

It is believed that the child, wandering away from the house, discovered a large half-full tank of whey near the home and fell into it from a wooden perch while playing over the tank.

Alarmed at her child's disappearance, the mother called her husband from a neighboring farm. It was more than an hour before the frantic parents found the child's body in the tank.

Route 8, Chatham Line and Carillon Form Division in Duck Hunting Zones

Season's Regulations List Restrictions On Deer and Game Bird Hunting

The designation of duck-hunting zones, with different dates as to the open season, raises a perennial division which might cause confusion to unwary hunters in this county.

It should be noted that the so-called Central District of Quebec provides an open season from September 24 to November 17 on migratory birds, or specifically ducks and geese. That is — the season opens this Saturday.

The Southern District of Quebec, however, provides an open season from October 15 to December 8. That is—the opening date is three weeks hence.

Having grasped these differences, the would-be hunter will do well to acquaint himself with the two districts respecting migratory birds — and those districts, Central and Southern, are divided by a line plumb through the centre of Lachute and digressing southward to Carillon and Pte Fortune. It is described thus: " . . Westerly along Route 8 to its intersection with the boundary of Chatham Township at Lachute; thence southerly along the said boundary to the north bank of the Ottawa River at Carillon. . . " All of which is described and illustrated by map in the 1949 handbook of Quebec Game Laws.

This little volume — which incidentally is quite a credit to the Quebec Department of Fish and Game — reveals that deer-hunting opens next Sunday, September 25, and lasts until November 24. There is no uncertainty here in this respect, for Zone C (to which these dates apply) gives a wide latitude east and west, also north of this district from the Ottawa River.

Partridge hunting dates are September 24 to November 23 throughout the province.

Restrictions

The following clauses in connection with the hunting of deer and birds are worthy of attention--

It is unlawful:

1. For any person, resident or non-resident in the Province, to hunt or trap without a license.

3. To kill more than one deer in the course of any season.

4. To kill the fawns of deer.

5. To use jack-lights, snares, ropes, nets or traps to hunt deer, under penalty of fine and costs or to imprisonment, or both penalties at the same time.

6. (a) To hunt or kill any game animal or bird whatsoever with a fire-arm, between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise (½ hour in the case of ducks); (b) To hunt with an automatic rifle.

7. To use dogs to hunt deer.

9. To hunt, kill or take deer in their winter yards or by taking advantage of snow crusting.

10. To buy or sell the flesh of deer.

12. (b) To ship moose, deer or caribou or part of these animals without a transport coupon obtainable from the Game Warden of the locality. (Leslie Bates, Lachute, or Gordon Cook, Arundel, Game Wardens for this county, should be consulted for correct interpretation of this ruling if in doubt.)

Partridge — daily limit, 5 birds; possession limit, 15.

Ducks — daily limit, 7 birds; possession limit, 14.

10 Commandments of Safe Gun Handling

With the approach of the hunting season, consideration should be given to the large number of hunting accidents which occur each year through carelessness or stupidity. Hunters would do well to follow the 10 Commandments of Safety as given below:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded firearm. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.
2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp or home.
3. Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.
4. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble.
5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.
7. Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.
8. Never climb a tree or fence with a loaded gun.
9. Never shoot at a flat, hard surface, or the surface of water.
10. Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

If the above rules are followed by every hunter, a large number of needless mishaps will be avoided, and hunting would be safer for everyone concerned.

Riding High in Harness Racing

A local man who took up harness-racing and developed a keen appreciation of equine performance, has climbed to a high rating in the profession, and is considered today one of the best in the game. The man is Delbert McTavish, who in this season's racing at Saratoga, one of the biggest harness-racing tracks in the United States, has been a consistent winner. His successes have been followed by a number of friends here listening to the nightly sports broadcasts from Albany, N.Y.

McTavish came to Lachute from Harrington, and it was six years ago that he started as a professional driver. He owns four fine racers which feature frequently among the cash winners; but in all, he drives and trains a stable of 15 horses — and it is stated by friends here that he expects to winter them all in the vicinity of Lachute.

Harness-racing has made notable strides in popularity over the recent years. And in his chosen vocation, it may also be said that McTavish has gone farther in the ranks of professional sport than any figure from these parts in the recent years. His friends wish him still greater triumphs.

A Giant Fungus

Exhibited at the store of John McFaul & Son recently was a fungus of the "puff-ball" species, the size of a small football. Measuring nine inches in diameter, the specimen was found by Mrs. Jas. Duncan near the Wilson property at East Settlement . . . Some of the farmers who viewed this fungus say they grow to even larger sizes hereabouts.

10 Extra Games in N.H.L. Schedule This Season

TO OPEN EARLIER, OCTOBER 12.

By Wally Izsak

Talked about for the last couple of years, the 70-game schedule in the National Hockey League has arrived.

When the league governors approved the lengthened 1949-50 schedule at a meeting in Montreal recently, it was a surprise to no one. It had been coming ever since professional hockey rose to its commanding position as Canada's top sports drawing card.

And although various sports — such as hockey, baseball and football — already infringe to such an extent on each other's season, none can blame the governors for extending the season an extra 10 games from the previous 60.

The extra 10 games each team will play means the N.H.L. season starts earlier than ever before, opening October 12 and closing March 26, the same times as the previous latest in the 1926-27 season under a 40-game schedule. This year's play covers 24 weeks as compared with 20 last year.

When the idea of extending the schedule was first mentioned, the kickbacks were many. People asked if the season wasn't long enough already. They didn't want to make a choice between attending a baseball game, a rugby game or a hockey game on the same day. And weren't the N.H.L. clubs making enough money as it was?

There are many opinions and many answers to these objections. One might be called basic good business.

When a business is running at top selling peak no owner tries to slow it down. Instead he builds and adds more room to accommodate that business and more.

It's the same with N.H.L. hockey, which now certainly is big business. In most N.H.L. cities there are long waiting lists of subscribers willing to pay for seats to every home game of their team. Besides that there are long line-ups every game to grab any available seat.

A Help to Fans

The hockey arenas can nowhere — with the possible exception of New York where the following isn't so great — accommodate the number of fans wanting to attend. So the extra 10 games give that much more chance to get a ticket. It also means more money for the N.H.L.

Another probable factor in lengthening the season is operating expense. Transportation, hotel accommodation, equipment and salaries have all risen noticeably in cost. Skates alone have practically doubled in price. This means clubs are paying out more and making less profit.

A way of overcoming that would be to increase the price of tickets, but the howl from the patrons would be terrific. Now the 10 extra games will help take care of the increased expense.

Another innovation brought in—and a good one from a team's standpoint — is the system whereby a team often stays over in a city to play the same club after a space of one or more nights. The advantage here is that many tiring train rides will be done away with. This occurs six times for each club.

Another important and interesting aspect to Canadians about the schedule is that the two Canadian teams, the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs, and the Montreal Canadiens, still have Saturday as their chief playing night. So when hockey fans in the west or in non-league eastern points tune in their radios, it will still be "hockey night in Canada."

Old Pleasure Boats On the Ottawa River

Those who knew Ottawa in the halcyon days before World War I (remarks The Ottawa Journal) remember the bustling water traffic in and around the Capital and the pleasure trips on the rivers in those years. On the Ottawa was the old Empress which plied between Ottawa and Grenville, stopping at many wharves on both the Quebec and Ontario shores along the 60-mile route. There was the Victoria, which was on the Montebello run, carrying sightseers to the Papineau Seigniory long before the Seigniory Club there was even thought of.

Hotel Keepers Before Courts

CASES PROCEEDING IN SESSIONS OF PEACE

Among cases in the Sessions of the Peace held at St. Jerome, have been several actions of interest to this vicinity. Judge Herman Barrette has been presiding for the court trials and has ordered the commitments, while Magistrate Liguori Lacombe has been hearing the preliminary inquiries.

Five hotelkeepers from this county, pleading either personally or through counsel, have been fined $100 each and costs on conviction of selling liquor after hours, or on Sunday mornings before 1 p.m. One holder of a club permit had his appearance and plea deferred until October 7, so that the Crown could obtain further particulars as to Sunday morning sales.

In connection with these charges, two innkeepers, also from this county, failed to appear on being summoned to court, whereupon Justice Barrette ordered a warrant of arrest issued against them, to ensure their appearance next Friday. The judge severely castigated the two offenders, and gave assurance there would be no discrimination in dealing with cases of this kind.

L. Verner, of Vankleek Hill — charged with grievous assault against the person of L. Faubert, Stonefield hotelkeeper, and causing damage of $250 to his property this spring — was sent to trial after preliminary hearing. Camille de Martigny, of St. Jerome, is legal counsel for the accused.

Leo Desforges, of Brownsburg, was also sent to trial after preliminary hearing on a hit-and-run charge — an incident occurring on Route 8 near St. Hermas last month, in which $500 damage was caused to a St. Jerome automobile. Philippe Valois, LL.B., is attorney for the defendant in this case.

Two residents of St. Eustache, Omer Lauzon and Gaston De Bellefeuille, were convicted on a charge of fishing with dynamite in the Rivière Duchaine near St. Eustache. The pair were fined $125 and costs, or three months in jail.

Georges H. Héon, K.C., acted for the Crown in all the above cases and in others of lesser concern to this district.

Criminal Assizes in this jurisdiction are set for October 4. A large proportion of the jurors for these cases are being drawn from this immediate vicinity.

In Those Days Too

(Northern Miner)

Queen Elizabeth, at a moment in British history similar to present circumstances, issued the following proclamation:

"Her Majesty is constrained to calling the country's money to its true value, which will be bitter at the moment to many — but only bitter as medicine is to the sick, who are pained for the moment, but thereby recover health and strength."

Beware Sightseers On Highway!

Among motorists who have been slowed down by a mild obstruction of traffic on the Brownsburg Road, some will be surprised to learn the reason for this is nothing short of a geodetic phenomenon. If you care to call it that. Actually it is no phenomenon at all, but a striking optical illusion. . .

Climbing the hill and over the hump a mile or so out of Lachute — at this point the driver has the distinct impression of striking a decline, and allows his car to coast accordingly. But actually, if the car were at a standstill, unbraked, it would roll neither forward nor backward, for the road is perfectly level. Dozens of enquirers have stopped their cars to prove it — and it is recommended that our readers take their word for it, lest the highway become jammed with Sunday observers trying the lay of the land.

The impression of a decline (at Douglas Patterson's, almost opposite the shrine of Notre Dame de Lourdes) is caused by the contour of adjacent land, and the graduating height of telephone poles and fence posts beside the road. The illusion has existed for a long time — at least since the Lachute-Brownsburg road was rebuilt some years ago; but it is only now attracting general attention.

Closing Golf Tourney And Prize Distribution

The Golf Club's closing tournament and dinner is set for next Sunday, September 25, weather permitting. A mixed two-ball foursome competition will be played, starting at 12 noon, and members are requested to phone in their entries or give their names to match committee members.

Following the afternoon's play, dinner will be served in the main hall at 7 p.m., and all prizes for the season will then be distributed. A program of golf movies and other short subjects is planned to round out the evening's entertainment.

A new camera for studying brain surgery at Montreal Neurological Institute requires 5,000 volts of current for each exposure.

Mill Workers Strike At Mont Laurier

Mont Laurier, Que. (CP) — Some 100 employees of the Bellerive Plywood Company at Mont Laurier went on strike Monday, claiming company officials have refused to carry out a recent decision of an arbitration board.

The employees, members of a Catholic union, took a strike vote Sunday and voted unanimously in favor of strike action.

The arbitration board's decision contained a five-cent-an-hour wage increase and other improvements. A union official said that male employees at present receive an average of 58 cents an hour and female employees 35 cents an hour.

Mortgage Burned, Brownsb'g Church

20TH ANNIVERSARY OF MAPLE AVE. BAPTIST

Brownsburg — The Maple Avenue Baptist Church had more-than-capacity congregations on Sunday, September 11, for the celebration of the 20th anniversary of this church.

The celebrations commenced on the previous evening, Saturday, when the congregation, together with representatives of the other Protestant churches, enjoyed a supper prepared by the ladies of the church. An imposing three-tier cake with 20 candles (the gift of one of the church ladies) centred the head table.

The pastor, Rev. J. G. Duncan, welcomed the guests and introduced the speakers of the evening. The ministers of the Presbyterian, United and Anglican churches brought warm greetings from their congregations. Mr. John Richards expressed a greeting on behalf of former pastors. The Rev. Mr. Lamb, of Vankleek Hill, represented the Ottawa Association, Dr. J. B. McLaurin, of Toronto, spoke on behalf of the Convention, and the church clerk read letters and telegrams bearing greetings from those who could not be present.

Sunday was a great day in the history of this church. Former members and friends from far and near gathered with the local congregation to celebrate this important occasion. During the evening service, an impressive ceremony in connection with the burning of the mortgage was carried out. The pastor conducted the proceedings, assisted by the chairman of the financial committee, Mr. N. E. Smiley, and 13 of the surviving charter members.

Guest speaker for the day was the Rev. J. B. McLaurin, D.D., of Toronto, who thrilled the large gatherings with his masterful addresses. . . The occasion will live long in the memory of those present, as a day of victory and rejoicing.

U.N. Staff Helps Victims of Earthquake

Canada's Population Now Near 13,545,000

Canada's population shot ahead by leaps and bounds in the last year and now is estimated at 13,545,000, the Bureau of Statistics reported last week.

Spurred mainly by the addition of Newfoundland's estimated 348,000 and influx of immigrants, the population advanced by 662,000 in the year ended June 1. All provinces shared in the increase except Prince Edward Island.

"Largest for a year on record", the bureau reported on the increase.

During the 12 months ended June 1, approximately 342,000 children were born in the nine provinces excluding Newfoundland, while deaths numbered 117,000. This meant a natural increase of 225,000.

At the same time, nearly 125,000 immigrants entered the Dominion, although this was offset to some extent by emigration of more than 30,000.

The bureau makes annual estimates of population, bringing its figures into line every 10 years with the official census, due to be taken again in 1951.

Proceedings at Brownsb'g Council, Adjourned Session

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — An interim meeting of the Brownsburg Council was held Monday evening, with Mayor Jas. B. Donaldson in the chair and Councillors Pariseau, Lafleur, Moseley, Somers and Wilson present.

The Mayor put before the meeting a proposal from four taxpayers who sought to have the council purchase materials for them to connect to the water system, which they would pay for when received. The meeting agreed to do so and a motion was passed accordingly. (Councillors Moseley and Pariseau).

Fire Chief A. Robbins asked if a plan of the waterworks system could be posted at the fire station so that they could become acquainted with the valves and connections of the system. He understood that some valves were buried under the asphalt coating on the road surface, and in one case a valve was closed when the road surface covered it.

Armand Charron, foreman, said that several valves were so buried, but had been cleaned out again; some were left because they were not found at the time.

The Mayor instructed the foreman to have the valves dug clear and it was decided that several prints be made so that the Fire Chief's request could be complied with.

Mr. Choux appeared before the meeting to complain of the traffic light affecting the reception of his radio. The council were of the opinion that a suppressor had been installed on the light, and gave instructions to the secretary to have the suppliers notified to have this done forthwith.

Police Chief H. Foucreau applied for six "School" road-signs to be erected on either side of the three schools. The request was forwarded to the Roads Department engineer, Mr. R. Beaulne, for his attention.

Complaint was received from a resident of St. Antoine Street that he could not connect to the sewerage line as his residence was too low to meet the main. The Mayor refused to allow a septic tank to be used. If connection could not be made at the entrance to the property, provision would be made by the council to have connection made where the gradient was suitable.

It was decided to erect a new light on Park Avenue.

Considerable discussion took place on the installation of an extension to the water system at St. George and St. Lawrence. An estimate of the cost of digging the ditches was received from Tom Hall for the amount of $3,000. It was decided to inquire into the possibilities of getting permission to borrow from the Minister of Municipal Affairs, after which the matter will be further considered.

The question of obtaining a sand-spreader which would cover the streets with sand in winter, was aired, and the secretary was instructed to apply for prices for next meeting.

A Construction Fund

Councillor Somers suggested that a construction fund be established to take care of incidental or emergency construction and avoid this constant resource to borrowing when every little extension crops up. It would avoid the payment of interest, and in the long run be a service and a profit to the taxpayers. He would establish this fund by hoisting the taxes by 20 per cent, thus creating a surplus each year of $4,000; this in a short time would take care of such works. When the need for further borrowing ceased, the taxes could be lowered and the council would be out of the rut of repeated demands for service.

Councillor Pariseau was charry of the idea. Councillor Wilson favored 10 per cent. The matter was suspended for further consideration.

Parking Laws

The report issued by Councillor Somers was taken up and discussed paragraph by paragraph. This report was briefly presented in our columns last week, and was adopted as a notice of motion with very little alteration. The installation of parking meters was not proceeded with for the present.

Midnight Noise

The meeting took up the plea of the Brownsburg Social Club for exemption from fine imposed by by-law governing the playing of musical instruments after midnight. This infringement took place on the occasion of the visit of an outside orchestra to the picnic grounds last month.

Councillor Somers advocated very strongly that the ground could not be classed as a public place within the meaning of the by-law. That the Club was not run for profit, and that it was a pure accident that permission was not requested by the committee before the event took place; if it had, there would have been no question of granting it. So he saw no difference in granting it after the fact.

Councillor Wilson was in favor of upholding the by-law without penalizing the Club, and thought a reduction in the fine would meet the case.

Mayor Donaldson felt that any deviation from the strict interpretation of the by-law would leave the way open to all sorts of evasions. There can be no favoritism. He also felt that the council was ignored when it was so easy to procure permission which would be readily granted.

Eventually the matter was left in the hands of the Justice of the Peace, Mr. Pariseau, who suspended judgment when the case was before him some weeks ago.

The meeting was adjourned until October 3.

School Opening Ceremonies Held At Brownsburg

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The opening ceremonies of the Protestant School were held last Friday night, with the awarding of prizes to the various grades. Book prizes were given by the School Board, the Women's Institute of both Brownsburg and Frontier Branches, and a $50 cash prize for the pupil obtaining the highest marks in Grade X. This was won by Calvin McAndrew.

The Board chairman, Mr. Pat Rielly, referred to the re-imposition of school fees which takes place this year — 50 cents per month for each grade up to High School, and $1 per month thereafter. Certain school books are also chargeable. Some additional teachers have been employed and now there are ten separate grades each having a separate teacher. Space for this innovation is limited, so that one grade occupies the basement. It is intended to initiate night classes during the coming winter months, and enrolment is now in progress among the adults.

The principal, Mr. Dennis Staniforth, explained the system worked out for appraising the books in proportion to their condition of wear or expectation of life, and the general conducting of the classes and school curriculum. Latin, which according to the teacher's handbook is a 200-mark subject, is to be dropped from the curriculum except as an extra subject. He lauded the Boys' Brigade recently formed for the purpose of conducting the children safely across roadways, and in conclusion the principal opined that such a propitious opening foretold successful results.

"Years at School Pay Generous Dividends"

"Stay at school as long as you can."—That is the advice of Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, to the young people of Canada.

The Minister stated that there was a definite relationship between the number of years spent in school and earnings. A study of figures taken from the 1941 census revealed that during their most productive years, workers with five to eight years schooling earned an average of 42 per cent more than those with only one to four years in school. Similarly, those who had completed nine to 12 years schooling had average earnings 43 per cent higher than those in the "five to eight years" group. But the most striking revelation was contained in the figures for those who had completed 13 or more years of schooling, who recorded average earnings almost 50 per cent higher than those in the "nine to 12 years" group — a powerful testimony to the value in earning power of those extra three or four years in school.

Although, during the war and since, there had been a strong demand for trained workers in Canada, resulting in a relatively open employment market for skilled men and women, the trend over the years had been towards keener competition for all skilled employment, especially in the top executive field.

The Minister said he did not wish to imply that young people should educate and train themselves for "white collar jobs" exclusively. The desirability of this course had been exaggerated to a harmful extent during the past.

The Streams Commission

Every business operation is undertaken under government supervision in one form or another in a modern world, but the electrical power generating industry can lay claims to being among the most closely-regulated of all industries in Canada today. This is a natural situation, because electric power is something that benefits everybody in the country—and so it is only right that the people of Canada, through their government bodies, should make sure that the power produced is used to the best advantage of all.

Nevertheless, few people outside the industry know just how closely governments are watching their interests in the generation and distribution of electric power. Because we feel that matters like this should be widely understood, we are going to take a few columns to describe the work of some of the more important government bodies with which a power company works.

It is natural that we should speak first about the Quebec Streams Commission because that is the provincial body with jurisdiction over the waterways of the province — without which there would be no hydro-electric power.

The Quebec Streams Commission regulates the flow of the rivers and operates the storage dams behind which is the water which, when released, will turn the generators in the power plants farther down the river.

The work of the Streams Commission is of great importance to the province. Power companies use the rivers to make electricity. Lumbering companies use them to run logs to the mill, farmers need them for irrigation. Residents of towns and villages along their banks make use of the water. All these people have different needs at different times. It is the Streams Commission which decides how best to make the flow of the river do the best job for everybody.

At times, this is no easy job — particularly when it is realized that water released far up the river may take as much as a week to get to some particular spot lower down. The Streams Commission must not only decide how much water is going to be needed at a particular time — it must also make its plans far enough in advance to make sure that the water is released soon enough to reach a particular spot at the right time.

Potatoes Useful Livestock Feed

While potatoes normally are not grown as livestock feed, each year there is a considerable tonnage of potatoes that can be disposed of profitably through livestock. However, if good results are to be obtained care must be exercised in feeding them. Potatoes stored under favorable conditions can be fed raw to cattle and sheep but should be sliced or pulverized before feeding to avoid any damage of choking. For pigs the potatoes should be cooked. If the potatoes have sprouted, the sprouts should be knocked off before feeding as they are often poisonous to livestock. Sunburned, frozen or decayed potatoes should not be used.

Potatoes are about 80 per cent moisture, and low in protein and essential minerals. Frank Whiting of the Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge, Alta., reports they should be fed in conjunction with high quality feeds like legume hay and grain or protein mineral supplements added to the ration. Fattening cattle or milking cows should not be fed more than 30 pounds per head daily while lambs and breeding ewes should not be fed more than two to three pounds per head daily. Pigs may be fed up to six pounds per head daily depending upon the size of the pig. If more than these quantities are fed, severe scouring may result.

Experiments were carried out at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge, during the past winter to determine the comparative feeding value of potatoes when fed to milking cows and to fattening lambs. Groups of lambs and milking cows that were fed potatoes in conjunction with alfalfa hay and grain were compared to similar groups of lambs and milking cows that received only alfalfa hay and grain. The cows were fed 30 pounds of potatoes per head daily while the lambs received one to two pounds per head daily. The results of these experiments showed that between four to five pounds of potatoes were equivalent to one pound of grain. Some off-flavors were detected in the milk from the cows fed potatoes, even though the potatoes were fed after milking. Apart from this the potatoes proved to be a satisfactory feed.

"Canada Carries On" Film on Agriculture

Ottawa — The 400,000 Canadian farmers who are affiliate members of I.F.A.P. through membership in the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, will now have the opportunity of seeing the world organization in action with the release of the film "55,000 For Breakfast" to theatres across Canada starting this month.

"55,000 For Breakfast" turns the spotlight on the International Federation of Agricultural Producers' conference held at Guelph in June of this year. At the parley 102 delegates from 24 countries adopted a plan which would distribute food to needy countries and, at the same time, assure producers a fair return for labor.

Dealing with a subject of major importance to farmers everywhere, the film is of special interest to Canadians because C.F.A. president Dr. Herbert H. Hannam was chosen by the conference to head I.F.A.P. for the coming year.

"55,000,000 For Breakfast" was produced by the National Film Board and is the latest release in the "Canada Carries On" series. Copies of the film will be placed with film libraries next summer for loan to the public.

Bacon Keeps Longer If Hogs Fed Sugar

Bacon made from tired hogs does not keep as well as bacon from rested hogs. But the remedy is not more rest but more sugar.

That may sound a little unusual, but food biologists in England report definite findings that bacon made from hogs that were fatigued at the time of killing developed brown color on the cut surface. This was the result of fatigue and the attending loss of muscle sugar and has brought complaints on the British market.

The researchers have concluded that, while resting the hogs is definitely a solution, it is not nearly as rapid as feeding sugar to hogs eight to 12 hours before slaughtering.

"Sunnyacres Sketches"

— IX —

Random Writings on the Rural Scene

By Margaret Cook

September has rather let us down as to weather, but we at Sunnyacres have managed to squeeze out a few joyous hours in spite of wind and rain. The rare sunny days were spent in garden and orchard.

I have a great respect for the orchard, which is a prototype of life. There are the old trees, gnarled and bent from their struggle with the cold north winds of winter; near them are the baby trees living through these same winters as best they can, for their owner is not there in winter to break off the ice crystals from their tiny twigs; scattered here and there are the middle-aged trees, perfect in shape and lusty with life. But one thing they all have in common —their urge to be useful. I vow the little new MacIntosh that last year bore 15 small crimson apples, was as proud as I; when a great hulking horse bent the tender top over at right angles, I could have howled. Instead, I bound the top back on with adhesive tape and hoped for the best, for apple trees have an immense recuperative power. This spring the top lay a few feet away but the little tree had not given up the struggle, and was triumphantly sending up shoots from the roots. I have left it to work out its own fate, for I am mindful of the old tree that fell down 10 years ago and has ever since borne its fruit in a recumbent position. There is also the big tree by the porch, that for years had been a thing of beauty, then was suddenly stricken by a loathsome blight. The man-of-the-house thought it should be cut down, but I begged for its life, so it was severely pruned and left standing, a barren, ugly thing for two years; last year it was again clothed with leaves and timidly tried a few apples. Lo! this year, it is covered with fruit, so that again one can look out the front bedroom window onto great red apples shining in the morning sun. . . The orchard loves life and holds it fiercely.

All this is beautifully poetic, but as every farmer knows, there is more to an orchard than philosophy. Through short, sunny hours we pick apples, make jelly, spice crab-apples and acquire back-aches. But, in truth, it is worth it, for an umbrella-shaped tree with great clusters of red apples is as pretty a sight as one could wish to see. As one guest remarked as she held up a twig with a perfect crimson apple clinging to it, "No wonder Eve was tempted." . . That remark took me back 20 years, and there was I with the hot August sun of Southern France pouring on my back, as I gazed with delighted and amazed admiration at an exotic cluster of purple grapes hanging from its support. Behind me, an Italian laborer was cooking his noon-day fish over a few coals beside the path that wound down from terrace to terrace, to the blue Mediterranean. There was something Biblical about the scene and I remember remarking that the chronicler would have done better to have made grapes, with all their latent symbolism, the instrument of Eve's fall. It was the kind of remark that is immediately understood in France, and my companion, a young Belgian, enthusiastically agreed. I still think apples are handsome and wholesome — but never seductive.

We spent an interesting afternoon, in mid-September, gathering puff-balls and mushrooms at a farm near St. Andrews East. It was pleasant walking over the park-like uplands ringed by apple trees and hawthorne. I caught myself humming, "Here we go gathering nuts and may", for there was something reminiscent of England, although the River Rouge has none of the crystal clearness of many English streams! We found three Calvatia puff-balls, about four inches in diameter, and scores of the small Wright's puff-ball, as well as a few of the common mushrooms used commercially, known to botanists as Agaricus. If any reader is interested in trying some of these fungi, we recommend the book put out by the Division of Botany of the Dominion Experimental Farms at Ottawa. Our copy was bought for a dollar, but that was years ago. Returning to the house, Bertha and I cooked the dinner (our host was a bachelor), and what a delicious meal we had! — Beefsteak with puff-balls and mushrooms (cooked by my husband), mashed potatoes, and tomatoes fresh from the garden — all washed down with lovely warm golden dandelion wine. We followed this with watermellon, cake and tea. Afterward we had to rush lest our Sunday roast be shut up in the shop in Lachute all week-end. And so to Sunnyacres, and a relieved welcome from Haile Selassie, who remembers with horror a solitary week spent here in September 1945.

In the garden we have moved a few plants, dug a few bulbs and made space for my proposed herb garden, a dream of years. How lovely is the sound of the names of herbs — rosemary and thyme, tarragon and chicory, bergamot and sage, mint and dill. All these and more we plan to have. But most of our time has been spent on trees, which always need our attention. We have had to take down an old maple, which was injured in a storm. I always avert my eyes when I see the men running a cross-cut saw through the heart of a valiant tree. In this case there was no heart, the tree being merely an outer shell around a hollow. We found a square nail embedded in the inner part, and on

Last Salute

AT A TIME when Canadian culture is coming into its own—having merited official recognition through the Royal road of a Commission probe — it is fitting to pay tribute to one who has contributed a noble share to its ascendancy, the late Capt. J. J. Gagnier, whose death occurred in Montreal last Friday. In a particular phase of culture, music — and a particular branch of that study, military band music — this artist of our own generation has contributed more than any other Canadian composer.

Capt. Gagnier's stirring military marches are known to millions of Canadian and American listeners. He was the dean of Canadian bandmasters and director of music for the Canadian Grenadier Guards in Montreal for 34 years. His compositions were performed by important orchestras in the United States and Europe and he travelled widely as guest conductor, adjudicator, lecturer and teacher.

Capt. Gagnier started studying music at the age of six and by 14 he was appearing in theatres, and with the Montreal Symphony Orchestra and the Montreal Opera Company. He was conducting when he was 18. The late Maj.-Gen. F. S. Meighen was impressed with the young conductor's work and commissioned him to organize the Canadian Grenadier Guards Band in 1913. Following the outbreak of the First Great War he organized a number of bands for overseas duties. . . In a peacetime role he had done much for the promotion of symphony and orchestral concerts. In 1934 he was granted the degree of Doctor of Music by the University of Montreal.

He was director of music in Montreal for the King George Jubilee celebrations and the Coronation, and in Ottawa for the visit of the King and Queen.

Disturbing Times

WHEN ACTIVE warfare ceased, leaving a world numbed by years of distorted living, many of us wondered how the newspapers, in the unexciting days of peace, would find material to liven their columns. Then the query sounded reasonable; today, in the light of fast-moving events, it sounds absurd.

Within the past week or so, this country has been shaken by three sensational events — two disasters, the other an upheaval of world significance. We refer, of course, to the recent air tragedy in this province costing 23 lives; the Noronic holocaust at Toronto, with its uncertified toll exceeding 120; finally, Britain's devaluation of sterling and its repercussion on the currency of numerous countries, including Canada. . . This, fortunately, has been a week above the average in sensationalism. But normally, let us admit, there is no dearth of excitement — of horror and tragedy — of triumph and exhilaration.

No wonder that those who prefer the quiet, comfortable routine look back with longing to the good old days — even one generation back, when such incidents as the sinking of the Titanic was the major news of a whole decade. No wonder that oldsters find the modern world too fast, while men and women in the prime of life are victims of nervous disorders.

Depends on Circumstancee

IN BOTH Lachute and Brownsburg there has been agitation to curb those itinerant stands known as potato wagons. By council decision there will be no renewal of permits in Lachute for this kind of business next year.

We are sympathetic with all law-abiding vendors who seek to earn an honest living; on the other hand, we are repelled by the litter and squalor these wagons leave in their wake.

But this is beside the point. Our purpose here is merely to pass an observation on the aromas that accompany these contraptions. Have our readers considered these smells with an unprejudiced membrane? . . Late on a frosty night, for instance — perhaps after a lengthy hockey game, when hunger gently stimulates the senses — did the odor of French Fried and Hot Dogs in a steaming lamp-lit atmosphere never grip you with a touch of appeal? . . .

But here's a less savory impression, still fresh in our nostrils: Seated in the civic auditorium recently amid an audience appropriately groomed and perfumed — wrapt in attention to the strains of classical music — yes, can you imagine the jolt! Through the open windows from the street came that strong and unmistakable aroma, with such effect as to cause a stir of comment all around the hall. From the sublime to the prosaic — words are quite inadequate to describe this anti-climax.

Lachute has no statute to regulate such inaptitudes. Nor would the direction of the winds come within the purview of a zoning by-law.

Education for Citizenship

MORE concentration on the teaching of civics and community living in the schools, has been frequently urged upon our educators. This week a journalist, Ernest J. Little of The Shawinigan Falls Standard, has added emphasis to this need, through the medium of a radio address.

Students leaving high school, he said, should know at least all fundamentals of the Four Freedoms, United Nations, UNESCO, causes and effects of modern wars and "what democracy has to offer in comparison with such other ideologies as Communism, Fascism, Nazism, Socialism and what Sweden calls the 'middle way'. . . Canadian educators must conclude that our schools cannot stand aloof from contests that bode so much for the good or ill of mankind."

By way of illustration the speaker cited an educational procedure in the U.S.A. — a reference which did not appear in the brief news reports of his address. He described a typical Kindergarten-to-Grade Eleven program that is now applied in the State of Wisconsin:

Children in kindergarten and first grade are taught about how they and their families work and play together. In second and third grades they advance to how the neighborhood and the community live together and co-operate with other communities. When they reach grade four they learn something about national and state history. In grades five and six they learn about the people from different lands who contribute to their common national heritage, and about the relationships that bind the United States with Canada and with Europe and Asia. By the time they reach grade seven they are ready to learn about why they should be concerned about world relationships. In grade eight they learn about laws and the relation of community government to the state and national governments. Ninth and tenth graders learn something about up-to-date world geography and world history, and in grade eleven they tackle the question of the international responsibilities of the United States as the major power in the world today.

Fighting Words!

"THERE is enough work on hand for every business now in existence, and for industries yet unborn, to keep busy for generations", said Charles Luckman, president, Lever Bros. Co., when announcing a $55,000,000 expansion program. "There is too much ivory-tower, remote-control salesmanship today. Sales managers, vice-presidents and presidents have shiny pants from hatching profits on cushioned chairs. Business must take a conscientious inventory of its own men and methods. It must unfreeze its brains and unfetter its energies. It must relearn the science of fighting for orders, instead of waiting for them behind polished mahogany desks. Our job is not to sell the enterprise system but to put some enterprise in the selling system."

MURDER in Canada: The Virden, Man., Empire-Advance says: "Thousands of potential murder weapons are lying around Canadian homes — half-forgotten pistols that bring death when they fall into the hands of gunmen or emotionally upset persons". Canadians should turn in their guns, this paper contends.

Dates for Entries in Ottawa Winter Fair

More than $20,000 in prize money will be shared by entrants in the competitive classes of the 1949 Ottawa Winter Fair, to be held in the Coliseum, Lansdowne Park, October 24 to 28 inclusive.

Closing dates for entries are October 3 for heavy horses, Classes 1 to 63, including horses suitable for hunters and saddle, cattle, sheep and swine. For light horses, Class 71 to 124, for the Horse Show, the feature every evening during the five days of the fair, the closing date for entries is October 10. The same date is the limit for entering poultry, seeds, fruits, vegetables, ornamental horticulture and Junior Agriculture. This year the Export and Domestic food and honey exhibits will be educational and non-competitive. They will, however, be notably attractive.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police will put on their famous Musical Ride every night at the Horse Show. The scarlet coated Mounties, with their incomparable horses, will be in Ottawa fresh from a triumphal tour of the mid-western and Southern States where the accommodation at every city where they appeared was inadequate to take care of the crowds. All seats for the evening Horse Show are reserved.

Local Employment Seen Sufficient for Lake-Head Area This Season

In previous years, a great number of men from other parts of Canada proceeded to the Head of the Lakes in the fall to seek jobs available there in woods operations. These jobs will not be available for applicants from outside the Lake Head area this year, according to an appraisal of the labor supply through National Employment offices. There is no suggestion in this fact that the Lake Head area will be depressed this winter; rather that there will probably be sufficient employment for local residents of the Lake Head area, but not the job surplus for outsiders as in the past years.

The Department of Labor at Ottawa has requested local employment officials to publicize this situation.

counting the rings decided it had been there 50 years. Half a century ago some person, probably a small boy, thoughtlessly drove a nail into a young tree and straightway forgot it, whereupon the tree set itself not only to accept the intruder but also to incorporate it. Oh wise tree! It has also been necessary to take down some small trees where the grove is too thick. I do this myself with a small handsaw and suffer agonies of indecision as to which two of four trees must be felled. I love them all, yet know that some must die for the good of the whole. I am told that this dithering is both ridiculous and setimental, but I am somewhat comforted to learn that Schweitzer, that great physician, musician and humanitarian, has such respect for life that he refuses to kill insects that make life in the tropics almost unendurable. After all, if one can say "Schweitzer and I" perhaps one is not too foolish!

All in all, it has not been a bad ending to a delightful summer. I have added new pictures to the memory album, "which is the bliss of solitude". Winter nights, after a day spent in struggling with gadgets which will not work (and with some that work too well, such as the telephone and door bells), I console myself by "flashing on that inward eye" — the narcissi of spring, the roses of summer, the flying jewel that is the hummingbird, the blue of the lake against the gold of the sand, the mossy stones in the brook, the cathedrals of the wood with the stained-glass colors of the Autumn maples . . and so I am comforted and strengthened for another day. . . And some day the next day is — Spring!

CARLING'S CONSERVATION CORNER

The fisher is one of the few animals able to overcome the porcupine. Porcupines eat evergreen bark, often circling the trunk and killing the tree. One porcupine may destroy over an acre of trees, so fishers, by controlling porcupines, help to keep nature in balance.

Wedding Solemnized In Brownsburg Home

Beattie - Dixon

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dixon, of Brownsburg, when their youngest daughter, Marjorie Murdoch, was united in marriage to Robert Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Beattie, of Lachute.

The Rev. Geo. Hicks, assisted by Rev. Chas. Maclean, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Chas. Hardie, of Thurso, played the wedding music and sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was unattended. She wore a floor-length gown of ivory satin with lace trimming. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion fell from a coronet of pleated tulle and orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Beattie left by motor for a trip through the Eastern States. For travelling the bride wore a dark blue suit with navy accessories, and a shoulder spray of red roses. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Beattie will reside near Lachute.

Voice of Protest from Lake Louisa Taxpayer

TO THE EDITOR

Brownsburg, Que.,
September 20, 1949.

Editor, The Watchman,

Dear Sir:

Your excellent paper is one of the best sources of information regarding our district. It is because of this fact that I presume to write you.

Here in Brownsburg I have a six-room house on which I pay taxes of $50. For this tax I get sewers, scavenger, sidewalks, police and fire protection, as well as water and electricity at the regular rate. I also have a telephone.

Some years ago I built a small cabin at Lake Louisa. This cabin is just rough, for use in warm weather only, and I use it about six weeks each year. My tax is $19.75. For this tax I get a road that is passable in summer and dry weather. That is all. My tax was raised last year, but there are no extra benefits and the road shows no improvement.

Last summer the lake level was so low I could not get my boat in close to shore without pole-ing it. Some summer visitors worked and blocked the outlet so that most of this summer the lake remained at a reasonable level.

Why should we have to raise the lake level? Why is not this done by the council? We summer residents are paying for our six weeks' use of our little cabins twice as much as the permanent residents who own acres of land, either farms or wood lots.

There is something very wrong here, and I believe the time has come to do something about it. I have never received any notice of election of councillors or representatives. All I receive is a bill for taxes, which is double what a friend of mine, who is a permanent resident, pays.

Surely here is something our Union Nationale member for this district can look into, and see that all are treated alike — that the six-weeks residents get some benefits from their taxes, and that the taxes are based on the cost of the property in each case.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your good work in this community, I am

Yours sincerely,
Geo. F. St. Hilaire.

In Memoriam

CHAPMAN — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, William John, who passed away September 22, 1948. — Always remembered by his mother, sister and brother, Naylor and Reta.

"We often sit and think of you
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That Grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak
When other things decay,
Our love for you will still keep green
And never fade away."

NIXON — In loving memory of my dear mother, Elizabeth Nixon, who passed away September 17, 1946. — Ever remembered by her daughter Myrtle, and family.

"No one knows how much we miss you,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That's within our hearts concealed.
God alone knows how we miss you,
Tears in silence often flow,
Memories keep you ever near me
Though you died three years ago."

NIXON — In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Jas. Nixon, who died on Sept. 17, 1946. Gone but not forgotten. — Sadly missed by her daughter Kate, son-in-law Joe, and grandson Jimmy Provencal.

"Time speeds on, three years have passed,
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a loving mother
We miss you, Mother, and always will,
Your vacant place there's none can fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we'll meet again".

McMICHAEL — In loving memory of a dear friend, James White McMichael, who passed away Sept. 10, 1941. — Always remembered by his pal, Joe E. Provencal.

"I little knew when I woke that morn,
The sorrow the day would bring —
For the call was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with one I loved so dear.
No one knows how much I miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
I have suffered since I lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In my heart your memory lingers,
Sweet and tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear Jim,
That I do not think of you."

PROVENCAL — In fond memory of my father, Frank Provencal (Sept. 10, '21).—Jos. and Kate, and wee Jimmy Provencal.

"He often said he would be missed,
His words have come too true,
We lost our best and dearest pal,
Dear Dad, when we lost you."

IN THE PAST four years we added more than half a million telephones and installed new equipment in every exchange in Ontario and Quebec. At the same time we were able to make substantial improvements in service. But it took a lot of money, over two hundred million dollars!

There remains much to be done! Many applicants are still waiting for telephone service, and many more subscribers' present service is not adequate to their needs. We intend to meet their wishes, and to continue making the service clearer, faster, better in every way.

This will take more millions for new equipment and buildings. As in the past, this money must come from the savings of thousands of Canadians who are willing to invest in the telephone business.

Pretty Wedding at Weir

Beaven - Smith

The Church of the Redeemer, Weir, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, September 17, at 2 o'clock, when Elsie Ellen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Smith, of Montreal, was united in marriage to Mr. Gordon Ross Beaven, son of Mrs. Bertha Beaven, of Weir, Que. The Rev. G. R. Barnett officiated, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. W. D. Morrison.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a street-length dress of blue nylon with a corsage of pink roses, and was attended by Miss Gwen Crawshaw, of Montreal, who wore a pink and black checked taffeta dress, with a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. Clifford Mountain, of Montreal, acted as best man for Mr. Beaven.

Mrs. Smith, the bride's mother, wore a navy blue crepe dress with powder blue and black accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Beaven, the bridegroom's mother, wore a navy blue silk dress with black accessories, and a corsage of yellow tea cup roses.

A wedding reception was held in the church hall in the evening, where around 100 guests were in attendance.

Among the out-of-town guests were — the Misses Helen Cottle, May Venn, Messrs. H. Crawshaw, Girard Vandant, Jas. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Squires, Mrs. Chas. Mountain, all of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Craig and family, of Joliette.

Old Age

Nature has ordained that man should grow mellow and mature as the years go by. But that does not mean that he must fall into decay and become less fit, mentally or physically. On the contrary, there are rich fruits in the later years for the life that has been well lived. Experience is its own reward, and how much profit we take from it lies in our own hands.

School Lunch Important

One of the most important items of the fall school opening, and one of the countless worries it brings to the homemaker, is the preparation of school lunches. Not only do the lunch-toters demand variety, but they must also have nutritious food.

The Consumer Section of the Department of Agriculture suggests each school lunch contain milk; some meat, fish, eggs, dried beans or peanut butter; a vegetable or fruit, or both; breads, fats, or sweets to round it out.

If the school child cannot buy milk at school or where lunch is eaten, include it as milk, soup or cocoa, in a thermos. The home economists of the Department suggest milk in puddings can be taken along in small mayonnaise jars or waxed paper containers, but be sure the lid is on tight!

To handle the demand for variety, produce odd designs in sandwiches—cut them with cookie cutters or like jigsaw puzzles. Try a new filler once in a while.

Q.W.I. Instruction In Handicrafts

Miss E. M. Birch, handicraft technician for Quebec Women's Institutes, has just returned from an extended trip to the Gaspé Peninsula where she has been holding classes in the various crafts for members in the counties of Gaspé and Bonaventure. Six groups were visited, and in addition one week was spent at Camp Haldimand, where instruction was also given to classes there.

In this district, as elsewhere, Miss Birch found the same interest manifested and much real ability displayed, as the record of 252 completed articles reveals.

Fort Coulonge, in Pontiac County, is the next district to be visited and Miss Birch reports she is completely booked up until well into the winter. Branches wishing to obtain her services are reminded to get their requests in well in advance, as it is impossible to arrange dates on short notice.

This opportunity for learning these creative arts is being well supported and has proved a most valuable addition to the services offered to members of the Q.W.I.

100 YEARS OLD, LIKES THRILLERS

Sheerness, Eng. (CP) — Mrs. Hannah Louise Nichols received a message of congratulation from the King and Queen on her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Nichols, who has lived in the same house for 73 years, can read and crochet without glasses and likes to listen to "thrillers" on the radio.

Squash and Egg-Plant

Cool, crisp fall days are here again and the markets abound with a host of multi-colored autumn vegetables. Egg-plant, with its deep purple coloring, is one of the most beautiful of all vegetables and is steadily gaining in popularity with Canadian housewives. As the name suggests, the vegetable is somewhat egg-shaped and is usually three to five inches in diameter. Good quality egg-plant is generally prepared by peeling, slicing, dipping in egg and crumbs or a batter and then frying until a golden brown. However, it may be baked, either plain or stuffed, or boiled either alone or in combination with other fall vegetables.

It has been said that any non-leafy vegetable, except egg-plant, is likely to be some kind of squash. The most famous member of this large squash family is the pumpkin which is used primarily for making pies. The other members of the family are divided into two main groups. . . summer and winter squashes, the latter ripening in the late autumn. Vegetable marrow, Patty-pan squash, Crookneck and Pepper (Danish or Acorn) squashes are the most common varieties available in Canada at this time of year. Later on, winter squashes make their appearance. They have yellow flesh, are usually larger, firmer and more mature than the summer varieties. Hubbard squash is probably the best known variety of the winter squashes.

Here are some recipes featuring egg-plant and squash which have been tested and approved by the home economists at Ottawa:

Scalloped Egg-Plant

1 Medium egg-plant, ¼ cup melted fat or salad oil, salt to taste, 2 medium onions, chopped (1 cup), 1 small clove garlic, finely chopped, 4 cups chopped peeled tomatoes, 1 teaspoons salt, dash of pepper, 1 cup grated cheese.

Pare egg-plant thinly, cut in ½ inch slices. Brush each slice with melted fat or oil and season with salt. Fry until just tender, turning once. Fry chopped onion and garlic in the remaining fat, add the tomatoes, the 1 teaspoon of salt and pepper to taste. Simmer, stirring frequently, until thickened, about 25 minutes. Arrange egg-plant, cheese and tomato sauce in 1 hour. Yield: six servings.

Egg Plant Creole

1 Medium egg-plant, 3 tablespoons shortening, 1 small green pepper chopped, 1 small onion, chopped, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 3 large tomatoes peeled and chopped (or 2 cups chopped canned tomatoes), ¾ cup bread crumbs, 3 tablespoons grated cheese.

Pare, slice and dice egg-plant in 1-inch pieces. Cook for 10 minutes in a small amount of boiling, salted water. Drain. Place egg-plant in greased baking dish. Melt shortening, add green pepper and onion and fry for 2 minutes. Add flour, salt and sugar, blending well. Add tomatoes and continue cooking for 5 minutes. Pour the tomato sauce over the egg-plant and top with bread crumbs which have been combined with the grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., for 20 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Baked Squash Creole

3 Medium acorn squash, 3 tablespoons butter, 6 large tomatoes (or 2 cups canned tomatoes) 1 large green pepper, shredded (¾ cup), 2 small onions, chopped (¾ cup,) 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1½ tablespoons brown sugar, top milk or cream, 2 tablespoons flour.

Wash squash, cut into halves and remove seeds and pithy portion. Cut a thin slice from each end of squash to allow them to sit flat. Season each half with salt, pepper and paprika and dot with butter. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, melt butter, add peeled and sliced tomatoes, shredded green pepper and chopped onion and cook until the vegetables are tender, about 12 minutes. Add the teaspoon of salt, the ¼ teaspoon of paprika and the 1½ tablespoons brown sugar. Strain the juice from the vegetables and add sufficient top milk or cream to make 2 cups liquid. Mix the flour to a smooth paste with a little cold water and add to liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is thick and smooth. Add vegetables and fill the partially baked squash halves with the mixture. Return to the oven and continue baking until squash are tender, about ½ hour. Yield: six servings. If desired, garnish with strips of crisp bacon.

Auditorium Crowded for Home-Decoration Program

At the Auditorium last Friday evening Mme Germaine Potvin proved an interesting speaker on the subject, "Color Dynamics in the Home" — showing the science and psychology of color as applied to everyday living. The presentation was arranged by Hobbs Glass Ltd. of Montreal, in the interests of Pittsburg Paints and their newly appointed dealers in this community, Norgate Lumber Company, Lachute. Around 750 people filled the Auditorium—the Brownsburg and Lachute Women's Institutes having given their support to swell the attendance.

Mme Potvin's talk was followed by an illustrated color film showing the transformation made possible by the use of glass and paint in home decoration.

Admission prizes were won by the following — Mrs. Jane Castle (a glass mirror); Miss Margaret Shepherd (a modern garbage can); Ghislaine Larocque and Aurel Chevrier (quantity of paint).

Old Caddies' Tourney at St. Andrews Golf Club

An "old caddies' tournament", the first of what is hoped to become an annual event, is taking place at St. Andrews Golf Club next Sunday, September 25. The tournament is sponsored by the Old Caddies' Association.

The competition, 18 holes, medal play, is open to all former and active caddies, and its main object is "to give the old caddies an opportunity to get together, become re-acquainted, talk over old times and performance, and to learn how the years have dealt with their old-time friends of the golf course."

Entries may be forwarded to P.O. Box 76, Station O, Montreal 9. Entrance fee, including dinner, is $3. . . Secretary-treasurer of the Association is Fernand Pésant, an old resident associated with sporting interests hereabouts.

Duhamel Bus Lines are providing special facilities to accommodate Montreal golfers and visitors attending this event.

The Association has donated the George Boothman Memorial Trophy, a perpetual award, as emblematic of their championship. Boothman was for several years caddy master at Laval-sur-le-Lac. The Harry Snider trophy will also be at stake. Miniatures of both trophies will be retained by the winners. It is added by the promoters that "everybody who ever had to carry their own golf bag will be eligible for this tournament."

Gerard Coté, Runner, Stars in Show Saturday

Teddy Bell and Ti-Guine, Radio And Screen Artists, Also to Appear

"AT THE ARENA"
By John H. Dunne

One of the most popular sports figures in Canada today headlines an athletic and vaudeville show to be held this Saturday night commencing at 8.30, at the Arena. Gérard Coté, probably the greatest distance runner that Canada has ever produced, will run 15 miles against a relay team of three well-known runners, Les Brook, of Ottawa, Gérard Lefèvre of Montreal, and Lucien Jolin, champion of Quebec. These runners will all run five miles. Coté, who is always in perfect physical trim, will definitely have his work cut out to beat this long distance relay team. They are also champions in their own right, and will each make 60 turns around the Arena while the Canadian champion is forced to make 180 turns. The fairly soft ground of the Arena should be tough on all competitors, but more so on the runner who will carry the mail for the Dominion of Canada in the forthcoming British Empire Games to be held in Auckland, New Zealand, next winter.

An added attraction will be an amateur race open to all amateurs of the Quebec counties of Argenteuil, Terrebonne, Two Mountains, and in Hawkesbury, Ont. Entrants will please give their names to the Arena management on or before noon, September 24. . There will be prizes for this event, donated by Gérard Coté himself.

An extra vaudeville attraction will show the "Brothers Bob", guitarists and radio artists.

The main attraction will feature the radio and screen artists, Teddy Bell and Ti-Guine. They will do sketches of Bob Hope, Frank Sinatra, along with their many other characterizations.

Popular prices will prevail for this show, as advertised elsewhere on this page.

Boxing

There will probably be another Boxing Show here on Saturday night, October 1, details of which will be advertised in next week's Watchman.

Dean of Golfers Looks for Day When Lachute Will 'Produce A Champion'

Management Reveals Game Room to Be Added to Facilities of Local Club House

CLOSING TOURNAMENT AND PRESENTATION OF SEASON'S PRIZES

— By Ord Anderson —

The weatherman smiled on another golf club competition, the Closing Tournament, held last Sunday afternoon, when members turned out en masse to dig for divots and last-chance prizes over a still more beautiful, well watered and autumn-tinted course. The event consisted of two-ball mixed foursome play, and prize winners are listed, along with the victors in other fixtures of the season, on page 8 of this issue.

There was a still larger turnout for the following banquet and presentation ceremonies, and the year closed as it began, with the showing of some entertaining and instructive golf movies.

The club president and the management announce that a game room is on the way to completion in the basement of the club-house, and should be ready for the entertainment of members in the near future. Billiard and ping-pong tables, shuffle-board and darts, are among the various forms of recreation planned, and members are invited to prepare for some pleasant fall evenings in individual and team competitions. The addition of this game room should still further enhance a club whose facilities improve yearly, and should underline the brief, impromptu but nevertheless excellent address presented by the senior member, Mr. O. Porritt, during Sunday's presentation ceremonies. Mr. Porritt, who has been playing the game of golf since long before most of Lachute's present day members were born, spoke his sincere appreciation of what has been done for the game here, and looked forward to the day when Lachute will produce a champion.

Community Concert Artists Announced

FOUR PRESENTATIONS THIS SEASON, TO OPEN NOV. 7

The officers of Lachute Community Concerts Association have agreed upon four programs for this season as proposed by Columbia Artists Management Inc. The artists have been chosen to provide a varied entertainment; they are all outstanding career artists, bringing to their audiences the highest standard of talent and performance.

The executive of the Association is little changed from last year, with Linton W. Armstrong as president and a few new directors added. It is confidently hoped by these officials that the concert engagements will meet the full approval of all members. The bookings are announced by Gabriel Valois, secretary, as follows:

Monday, November 7 — Sorin and De la Fuente, piano and violin duo.

"IN BROWNSBURG"

Specially Contributed

The Phantom Sec.-Treas.

A communication from the Revenue Commissioners of Quebec to the Brownsburg Corporation addressed to "George H. Murdoch, Sec.-Treas.", caused considerable amusement at the last meeting when read by Emile Hebert. In it the Commissioners noted that George H. Murdoch had been recently appointed secretary-treasurer of the municipality and that the former occupant of the office had gone overseas. Emile Hebert was very much in evidence, but Mr. Murdoch remained just a phantom voice.

Community Rink

The Community Rink Association are hard at work on the preliminaries of organization, and several committees have been set up. At the last meeting the question of the appointment of Trustees was discussed, and the matter of exempting donations from Income Tax investigated. There is a very capable committee in charge and it is expected that all will be ready in the near future for a determined and sustained drive for the necessary funds. Brownsburg needs a covered rink, its citizens have clamored for action to erect one — now the opportunity is coming up to co-operate.

Road Repairs

Another effort along the way of completing the road approaching Maple Avenue bridge was made last week, when an asphalt coat was put on part of the newly widened roadway. This work has been hanging over since last year when the cut was first made. It was left in a dangerous condition during the spring and summer, and now has been hastily covered, in part. The job is not completed; the approach to the bridge which was partly filled last year has been left, so — an accident which injured a pedestrian and damaged a truck occurred there last week. The sides have not been trimmed and a tiled underpass not constructed, as was provided for in the engineer's estimate, for which the appropriation was granted by Quebec Government.

Route 31 Improvement

Work has been suspended on Route 31. For the past few weeks the surface of the cut has been covered with gravel and reasonable progress has been made.

It is understood evening classes in French will be conducted at the Consolidated School, commencing next week, with Mrs. Wm. McGibbon of Lachute as instructor.

Anti-Alcoholic Groups, "Lacordaire and Ste. Jeanne d'Arc", Hold Public Meeting

At the Lachute Auditorium last Thursday an open meeting was held by the Cercle Lacordaire and Ste. Jeanne d'Arc—the first public assembly and the largest gathering held by this joint organization. The Lacordaire and Ste. Jeanne d'Arc groups are two affiliated clubs, men and women, whose members are pledged to total abstinence from alcoholic liquors.

Master of ceremonies was Félicien Lamarche, the local president, and special speaker for the occasion was Roger Ellyson, Dominion president, who vividly stressed the benefits — to the individual, to his family and to society at large—in observing and propagating the rules of this organization, which were briefly — to neither drink, buy, sell, carry, nor give to any person, any kind of alcoholic liquor.

The speaker was introduced by Georges Lambert, president of the Hawkesbury branch, and Philippe Valois, M.P., extended the thanks of the gathering. The Rev. Wm. Lacourse then blessed the flag emblematic of the movement; on this symbol is printed the motto "H o n n e u r, Santé, Bonheur" (Honor, Health and Happiness). The secretary of the Motreal section, Notary Emilien Ducharme, read a letter from the secretary of the Canadian organization officially endorsing the Lachute branch, which numbers 165 members.

Musical entertainment was provided by Montreal artists. A large gathering were in attendance.

All-French Show At Bridge Opening

"WATCHMAN" OBSERVER ON DUPLESSIS' VISIT TO ST. EUSTACHE

(Our own correspondent)

There must have been over 15,000 people present when Premier Maurice Duplessis cut the symbolic satin ribbon and declared the new bridge at St. Eustache open to traffic last Sunday. . . To anyone endeavoring to park an automobile there must have seemed to be 15,000 cars lined up along the roadsides and approaches to the bridge.

There was an imposing group of dignitaries assembled before the plaque, which was subsequently unveiled by the Hon. J. P. Sauvé, to the memory of whose father the structure was dedicated, when Msgr. Conrad Chaumont, auxiliary bishop of Montreal, pronounced the benediction. Bishop Chaumont congratulated Premier Duplessis and his government for the erection of this truly beautiful structure and commented on the pleasant relations which existed between church and state as manifested in the ceremony performed that afternoon.

The Premier affirmed in reply that his government was desirous of co-operating with the church and would always continue to do so. He later enlarged on this theme, from a platform erected near the village of St. Eustache — where several speakers extolled the merits of the present government and recounted its works and improvements.

The road leading to the bridge has been a boon to travellers from this district to Montreal, since it was opened to traffic last fall. The Arthur Sauvé bridge replaces a decrepit and sagging structure upon which, for years, the people who crossed were compelled to pay tolls — and the accumulation of these levies should be sufficient to meet the cost of the present new bridge, but instead they accrued to private interests. So much, was evidence of the government's interest in the local population, and confirmation of the eulogies broadcast today over the amplifiers.

Premier Duplessis referred to the recent announcement made by the Prime Minister, Louis St. Laurent, on amending the British North American Act, as "a threat to provincial autonomy" unless full consent of the provinces was first obtained. The constitution

'Monitor' Staff Visits Lachute

Many people of this town have heard about and seen "The Monitor", Canada's greatest suburban weekly, owned and published by Mr. Hugh McCormick at Notre Dame de Grace. Few however realize that this publication, along with several others and a large amount of commercial printing, necessitates a staff of well over one hundred. New quarters were recently built on Hampton Avenue, which now comprise one of the finest and most up-to-date plants to be found anywhere.

On Friday last over 75 of The Monitor staff were guests of Mr. McCormick at the Lachute Golf and Country Club, where they enjoyed the afternoon in competitions on the 18-hole course. Dinner was served in the new dining room and prizes distributed to various winners. . . Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Giles were local guests and although not participating in the games, each received the gift of a fountain pen.

Dancing was enjoyed during the evening and Mr. McCormick was thanked for his kindly gesture.

Lachute Town and its very fine golf course received some excellent publicity through this visit, and we hope that similar ones may follow.

Women's Institute Branch Activities

At their August meeting, members of Arundel W.I. branch heard Mr. Paul Gauthier, who spoke on "Making Your Will". In September this branch sponsored a School Fair and Calf Show. There were 47 exhibitors and 263 exhibits, which was a great improvement upon last year; 22 calves were shown. At the regular business meeting the sum of $5 was voted towards the Save the Children fund. Mrs. Reeve, of Outremont Club, spoke on "Women's Work in England". Twenty-four members attended this meeting.

In answer to their roll-call, members of Frontier W.I. each paraded in a house-dress made by herself. Mrs. Archie Murdoch, in an address on Conservation, advised making a scrapbook of practical items on Home Economics. A contest, "Something made from something old", was held. Judges were Mrs. Todd and Mrs. Mason, of Brownsburg, and prize-winners were Mrs. W. Y. King, Mrs. Basil Clark and Mrs. Douglas Clarke. A gift was presented to a bride, and the sum of $6 donated towards the School Fair. This branch also served refreshments at the local School Fair.

Jerusalem-Bethany branch is holding a dance in the Auditorium on September 30. The roll-call at their meeting was, "The book I liked best to read, and why". The "adoption" of a child in Europe was also discussed.

Many members of the Lachute branch attended a demonstration, "Magic in Your Home". Members were urged to support the Red Cross blood donor clinic held recently. Mrs. J. G. Lamontagne reported highlights of the provincial convention held at Macdonald College in June.

The roll-call at Lakefield was "Name a Canadian town beginning with your initial". Another parcel was sent overseas. The afghan which the members had made was raffled, the winner being Mrs. Buthman, a visitor from New Jersey. The Fair List for 1950 was read and discussed.

Mille Isles reported another parcel sent overseas, and an appreciative letter from the recipient of their parcels was read.

To Hear Talk on Early River Craft

AT ANNUAL MEETING OF HISTORICAL SOCIETY THIS SATURDAY

An event pleasantly anticipated by many in Lachute and the Ottawa Valley villages, is the annual meeting of the Argenteuil Historical Society, which is being held this Saturday at 2.30 p.m. in the Carillon Museum.

Many valuable additions have been made to the exhibits and the library during the past year, and it is expected there will be a good attendance, to re-inspect this treasury of tradition, to take part in the proceedings, and to renew acquaintances at the annual gathering.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Mr. Robert W. Shepherd, of Como, Que., who will give a talk on the Ottawa River Navigation Company boats, illustrated with lantern slides. . . In view of the great decline of navigation over the once busy channels of the Ottawa River, until today there are very few vessels of any size passing through the canals — this subject should be appealing to valley residents; it should also emphasize the Society's good fortune in having many relics and records of the heydey of river traffic, including a number of fine models of old-time craft that plied the Ottawa.

Tea will be served at a nominal charge, and a social hour will be enjoyed following the meeting.

Displays in B'burg For Fire Prevention

Brownsburg —

At the last meeting of the Corporation, Fire Chief A. Robbins informed the meeting that extensive plans had been made to make Fire Prevention Week one to remember. C-I-L had arranged with some outstanding protection equipment makers to put on a display of controlling fires, that would be both instructive and interesting to watch. Some of the most modern equipment would be in operation and for the purpose of providing a real "honest to goodness" fire upon which to put the equipment to work, a deep, broad pit was to be flooded with gasoline and set on fire; this would be utilized to bring the equipment into operation.

The Chief was anxious to co-operate with another equipment manufacturer by providing facilities to display the effectiveness of their methods, and had selected Saturday, October 15 (the C-I-L exhibition will be on October 11), about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and wished to have the Corporation co-operate by supplying some of the necessities for making a good fire. The Corporation was glad to accede to the Chief's suggestion and provision was made accordingly.

These displays of fire fighting are open to the public and their presence will be welcomed. Suitable protection will be provided so that no one can be injured. A Christmas tree is among one of the exhibits to be set on fire, and householders will have an opportunity of learning what to do in the event of one catching fire in the home. The effectiveness of household fire extinguishers will be demonstrated, and the different methods of using them explained. Literature will be distributed before the events to awaken public opinion on the necessity of fire prevention and protection.

Spotlight on Paper Making -- Topic At Current Service Club Meetings

Manager of Wilson Ltd. Paper Mills, Narrates Growth and Development of Industry in Lachute

Last Tuesday evening, members of the Lachute Lions Club were entertained with an interesting talk on pulp and paper manufacture.

The speaker, Mr. Bob Cairns, manager of the Lachute and St. Jerome mills of J. C. Wilson Ltd., covered paper manufacture in general, but with special reference to the historical development of its manufacture in the Lachute mill.

According to the speaker, the process of making paper originated in China about 18 centuries ago. This process involved the pounding by hand of a fibrous material such as straw until it was broken up into individual fibres. After mixing these in water, the whole was poured onto a wire screen, the water passing through the screen, leaving behind a thin film of fibres which, when pressed and dried formed the sheet of paper.

This process was not improved upon until 1804, when a machine was perfected in England, composed mainly of a hopper in which the fibre-water mix was poured—the mix subsequently being fed from the hopper onto a continuously moving endless screen and from there to a dryer, thus producing a continuous sheet of paper.

Machine improvement progressed rapidly from this time, until today we have 5,000,000-dollar machines making paper 20 feet wide at a rate of 1,000 to 1,500 feet a minute.

In the year following 1804, the first paper mill in Canada was erected, at our neighboring town of St. Andrews, and operated under the name of the Argenteuil Paper Mf'g Co.

In the year 1870, Mr. J. C. Wilson, grandfather of the present generation of Wilsons, established a paper bag-making plant on Craig Street in Montreal. Feeling the necessity for an assured source of paper for his bag making, he decided to build his own paper producing mill. Consequently, in 1880, the cornerstone of the present Lachute mill was laid, and in 1881 the mill had one paper machine in operation. In 1885, 1893 and 1894, a second, third and fourth machine were added.

Story of A New Paper-Stock Recipe

EXPERIENCE TOLD AT ROTARY NIGHT

Brownsburg — To those unfamiliar with the intricacies of paper making, it may not readily appear that methods of competitive merchandising, and of custom-production to individual needs, are as keenly studied in this industry as in any other business. That paper making is subject to all the rules of competitive business, was impressed in a talk to the Rotary Club at their regular meeting in St. Onge's Grill last Thursday.

The speaker was Dr. Rainbault DeMontigny, technical director of the Rolland Paper Company, who cited the hypothetical case of a special order for paper, and the process of its fulfilment.

Dr. DeMontigny, who is also a Rotarian, received his early education at Ottawa before proceeding to McGill for the degree in Chemical Engineering, after which he followed a year of specialized study in England on a Province of Quebec scholarship. His experience before joining the Rolland organization included two years with the Pulp and Paper Research Institute of Canada. . . The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Jean Beliveau.

A request for 10 tons of paper for earliest delivery, for the printing of safety check blanks, called for the hurried production of a completely new grade of paper in this plant. From the customer's sample, "slightly larger than a visiting card", thumbed, folded, handled and discolored—laboratory tests are required to determine its ingredients, weight, sizing, etc. This information, supplemented by a quiz to the customer on what manner of treatment the paper must withstand, and what properties it must possess, provide the technicians and chemists with a groundwork on which to proceed. In the course of these enquiries it is revealed the customer will print, with invisible ink of secret chemical formula, the word VOID, to appear in black if any attempt is made to erase the figures with an ink eradicator. Involving the sensitivity of dyes and other details, this one factor suggests the meticulous demands presented by this order; but there are other specifications too, such as tensile strength, ink penetration, porosity and surface finish — all requiring technical exactitude. . .

Thus through the intricate process, the speaker traces an interesting story of the production of a new grade of paper, its testing, approval and final output. "Making paper is a little like baking a cake", concluded Dr. DeMontigny; "the best cook in the world, using always the same recipe, sometimes has accidents; and if a new recipe is involved, you can never be too sure what to expect. . A few adjustments on the paper machine, a little less refining of the stock, and a little less rosin, the trick will be turned and the company will have added to its collection something like its 86th grade of paper".

The speaker was thanked for his interesting discourse by Rotarian Miville Trickey. President L. W. Armstrong occupied the chair.

Deanery W.A.'s Meet in Lachute

The annual meeting of the W.A. of the Deanery of St. Andrew's was held in St. Simeon's Church, Lachute, on Tuesday — hostesses for the occasion being the members of Brownsburg W.A. assisted by Lachute W.A.

The proceedings opened with a celebration of Holy Communion, the celebrant being the rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang, assisted by the Rev. S. T. Willis. The sermon was preached by the Rev. H. Mortimer, who gave an interesting account of his experiences in the Diocese of Caledonia, B.C., where he represented the Fellowship of the West in the parish of Fort St. John. . . About 150 attended this service.

Luncheon was served in the hall by members of both branches and at 2 p.m. the ladies re-assembled in the church, with Mrs. F. H. Barnes, of Brownsburg, in the chair, and Mrs. W. Sherritt, of Lakefield, acting as secretary. Minutes of the previous meeting at Lakefield in 1948 were read, and the roll-call responded to by members of the branches in the Deanery.

Greetings from the Montreal Board were brought by Mrs. G. Ferrabee who, as a former Diocesan and Dominion president, was well known to all present.

Reports of various departments of work were given by officers of the Diocesan Board. An example of a "Flannelgraph" was given, showing how this form of illustrated instruction could be used for Junior work. Mrs. Dickerson, the Diocesan president, gave an interesting account of the Dominion annual meeting held in Saint John, N.B., September 20-22 and attended by presidents and delegates from all the Diocesan branches of the W.A.

A vote of thanks to those entertaining the visitors was presented by Mrs. Walsh, of Beauharnois, and a special vote of thanks to the president and officers from Montreal, by Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield. The collection, amounting to $45.40, was voted to be given to the work of the Caravan Mission, a special appeal for this object by Miss Hasell having been read by the treasurer. . . Tea was served in the hall at the conclusion of the meeting.

Gatineau LINES

The Electricity Board

Last week we told our readers how the Quebec Streams Commission operates to protect the interests of the people of Quebec in regulating the flow of rivers. This week we would like to discuss another important government body which controls the operations of all power companies in the province.

This government board is the Provincial Electricity Board, which has full control over all the operations of a company such as Gatineau Power in the construction of new lines, transformer stations, company financing and electricity rates.

The Board is made up of three members, headed by Judge Ariste Brossard. It has a complete staff of experts in engineering, accounting and rate-making — and full authority to tell a power company what rates to charge, what lines to build or not build, what improvements to make.

In fact, just as the Quebec Streams Commission controls the flow of rivers and therefore the amount of water available for making electricity, so the Provincial Electricity Board has full control over what is done with the electricity after it is generated.

The responsibilities of the Board, therefore, are great, as may be seen when one considers that Quebec is one of the world's greatest of all electricity-producing centres and that the whole development of the province in recent years can be traced back to the harnessing of its rivers to produce electric power.

In making any ruling, the Board — with its expert advice — must consider the steps which will bring the greatest amount of good to the greatest number of people. It must set rates which will be fair to the customer, while at the same time providing enough money so that the company can go on producing electric power. It must foresee the future growth of an area and authorize the right amount of construction to supply future electrical needs without overburdening the company with construction work which cannot possibly ever pay for itself.

In short, it must balance the demands of everybody in the province against the problem of just how much can be done without wrecking our whole power distribution system by over-expansion.

Farm Prices Below Post-War High Mark

U.N. Group Sees Price Drop For All Natural Products

Washington (CP) — Wholesale prices of farm, forestry and fishery products have declined during the last year in relation to general wholesale levels, the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations reports.

Chief reasons were better farm production and a trend away from inflation, F.A.O. says. There were indications that the post-war peak in farm prices was passed.

"Despite the general declines, however, wholesale prices of farm products compared to wholesale prices of all products. . . average about the same as pre-war, with about as many countries above the pre-war average as below."

F.A.O. also reports a slackening of industrial expansion in some industrialized countries.

"Although Germany, Japan and, to a lesser extent, Norway and France continued to show rapid expansion of industrial output, Canada, Denmark and Sweden reported output in early 1949 little, if any, higher than the average of 1948. In Italy, Chile and the United States, output was definitely lower. The United States . . shows the sharpest decline.

Farmers Combine To Increase Game

Breed Pheasants on Preserve, Plan Deer for Sanctuary

Petersborough, Ont. (CP) — A notable contribution to the cause of preserving and increasing the game population of Ontario is being made at nearby Wallace's Point.

Eight conservation-conscious farmers, in co-operation with the Ontario lands and forest department, started the Otonabee game preserve two years ago. It is now a flourishing source of game birds.

The emphasis at present is on raising pheasants, whose numbers have been depleted alarmingly through thoughtless hunting.

George H. Clarke is in charge of these handsome game birds. Hundreds of eggs have been shipped to the preserve since breeding operations began and many birds have been released into the surrounding woods to lead a more natural life in their own natural surroundings.

It is hoped before long to begin adding other specimens of wild life, particularly deer, to the sanctuary.

Surrey, Sussex Remember Royal Montreal Regiment

Send Greeting to City

Memories of the Canadian soldiers who spent considerable time in their midst during the Second World War are still vivid in Surrey and Sussex, England, and are revived in a letter which Mayor Camillien Houde has received from Mayor W. D. Milne, of Sutton, Surrey.

Mayor Milne wrote, in part, under date of September 15:

"At a meeting of mayors and ex-mayors of Sussex and Surrey at Worthing yesterday, it was the unanimous desire that the present homely spirit existing between the mother country and Dominions should be fostered.

"The Borough of Sutton and Cheam has most pleasant memories of the long visit of the Royal Montreal Regiment during the last war and this has forged a personal link with your esteemed city, quite apart from our knowledge of the inestimable services that the people of Canada have rendered to us on this side.

"It gives me very great pleasure therefore, on behalf of my borough to send my most cordial greetings, coupled with the willingness to do anything in my power for you and Montreal."

Social Service Medal For "Folies Bergères"

(Ottawa Citizen)

Social service takes many forms, and if, in France, it includes directing the Folies Bergeres, who can say that the French have gone too far? Mr. Paul Derval, director of the show, has just been made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor for "30 years of social service". In the philosophical sense, social service should mean the devotion of a person's time and talent to bringing happiness to the unfortunate (or in the modern idiom, the underprivileged). This has generally been thought of as bringing work to the jobless, food to the hungry, rest to the weary, limbs to the halt and new opportunities to the blind. But it would be narrow to conclude that social service should stop with these endeavors, though admittedly they are the most worthy and necessary. The logical French could be expected to recognize that if social service means a dedication to human happiness and improvement, then surely it should include bringing joy to the eye and ear. The director of the Folies Bergeres would qualify for this type of service.

It is popularly, and vulgarly, supposed among those who have never seen les Folies that the show is hot stuff. It is and it isn't. Like many generalizations, the concept is only partly true. The performers do not dress warmly, but the audience scarcely notices. Even visitors from Huddersfield, Des Moines and Saskatoon, who attend the show with a view to focusing all their attention on the actresses, find themselves so enchanted by the exceptional singing, acting and stage technique as to forget the beautiful performers and their dishabille. Obviously, any director who can accomplish this trick merits a medal for social service. The logical French, for once, have been practical as well.

A stitch in time saves embarrassing exposure.

MacAdam-Pollock Wedding

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, September 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pollock, when their younger daughter, Gwen Caroline, was united in marriage to Ross Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. MacAdam, of Lachute. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white satin and a braided coronet to match. She carried a bouquet of pale pink and white gladioli, and her only ornament was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

She was attended by her sister, Gladys, who wore a floor-length dress of pink sheer, with a braided coronet to match, and carried a bouquet of salmon pink gladioli.

Mr. Randolph Miller attended the groom.

Mrs. Pollock, the bride's mother, wore a wine dress with black accessories and a corsage of white and pink carnations. Mrs. MacAdam, mother of the bridegroom, wore a grey dress with black accessories and a corsage of white sweet peas.

A reception for the immediate families was held at the bride's home following the ceremony. The happy couple left by motor for a wedding trip to the Niagara district and other points of interest. For travelling, the bride wore a rust dress and a green coat with black accessories.

The Economy of Using the Best

"EVERYTHING TO BUILD ANYTHING"

The economy of using the best possible materials is made apparent in the upkeep problem. A house or business building may be "thrown together" with cheap material, and it may "look all right," but after it has stood the shock of weather, the real test comes.

It is false economy to use poor materials — and we so advise everyone who buys from us. Our success is due to honesty in materials and prices.

Over 54,000 shareholders own the Bell—and put up much of the money needed to give you telephone service. There are more than twice as many of them as ten years ago.

Since the war their accumulated investments in Bell stock have increased by nearly one hundred million dollars.

With thousands of applicants still waiting for telephone service, many million dollars more will be needed for new construction. And this money must continue to come from these and other Canadians who are ready to invest their savings in the telephone business.

Let's Be Sane

WITH THE hunting season in swing, let's be sane about the handling of guns — for the tragedies that attend this annual influx to the woods are a serious reflection upon our intelligence as human beings.

We are reminded that accidents with firearms may be attributed, almost without exception, to a wrong state of mind. "Firearms are lethal things; they are designed to kill. Let all sportsmen resolve firmly that, so far as they are concerned, nothing shall be killed except the game they set out to bag."

The rules and commandments for safe handling of firearms are generally known, and well publicized at this season. But without the right attitude of mind to inspire their observance, these rules are void of effect. Therefore we repeat, let us first set ourselves in the right mood, lest we carelessly mishandle these weapons. They are comparable to dynamite: no one would carry it around without an every-minute consciousness of its presence and the need of care, for it is a potential killer.

In the handling of guns, first and foremost it's the state of mind that counts. Well fortified in this respect our observance of the rules (with which all hunters should be acquainted) becomes a matter of course. Thus we stand in no danger of committing inadvertent suicide or of murdering our best friend.

Small-Town Journalism

ONLY in two countries of the world — the United States and Canada — does there exist a small-town journalism of any consequence. Professor Thomas F. Barnhart of the University of Minnesota School of Journalism believes that much of the reason for this development of thousands of community newspapers is reflected in the slogan of 1949 National Newspaper Week (October 1 to 8) — "Freedom Goes Where the Newspaper Goes."

"Small-town newspapers flourish in this country because the setting is right," Barnhart points out. "We have developed, hand in hand, a democratic form of government, a free press tradition, widespread public education, and a private enterprise system of business."

Shirtsleeves

"WE KNOW the meaning of shirtsleeves. We are only removed by one generation from people who believed that the way to wealth was hard work, and that perseverance was the gateway to prosperity."

No truer observation has caught our attention this week than the above, from a sermon by the Rev. A. O. Lloyd, of Ottawa, attacking Premier Duplessis' proposal on state sweepstakes. (That the Protestant clergy appears unanimous in opposing this scheme, is noteworthy but irrelevant to the point of these paragraphs).

We belong to the unhappy generation which has witnessed a reversal of outlook on the values of life; perhaps that is why the clergyman's remark strikes us so forcibly. We can remember, only a quarter-century back, how a man was rated highly who had worked hard, lived thriftily and earned a modest but comfortable retirement . . how the warmest admiration was accorded to those who, applying initiative to their energy, stepped ahead of their fellows to reap the tangible rewards of progress — an automobile, a driving horse, a home with modern fixings, a college education for the more promising members of their family.

Alas, where are we now? These prizes earned by the sweat of the brow (and today they would require a lot of sweat) command but small respect; the young folks accept them as a foregone conclusion. The smartest guy today is he who is subsidized by a generous government, and holds some soft, lucrative job . . . or he who has inherited a generous share of this world's goods, and lightly borrows on his equity to exploit some easy money-making scheme. There is scant appreciation for trustworthy service. The conscientious worker may stay conscientiously at his desk, his bench, or his counter; he may pay his rent, his taxes, his lodge dues, or even instalments on his modest home. But fame will pass him by — in a shiny automobile bought by a rich uncle, over-inflated earnings and ill-gotten gains.

Shirtsleeves! It is said there are but three generations from shirtsleeves back to shirtsleeves. But we doubt if there will ever be a return to fair relationship of labor, production and commensurate returns.

Mixed Reactions

A COLOSSAL currency shake-up was started by Britain's devaluation of the pound last week. And the average Canadian is finding that the 10 per cent devaluation of the Canadian dollar will cost him money. Looking across the border, he sees higher prices for United States-made goods — and the largest portion of this country's imports come from the U.S. On the other hand, goods coming from the United Kingdom are bound to be cheaper. This is not likely to offset the boost in U.S. prices, but it will help.

In line for the jump in price—and some are already higher — are such items as citrus fruits from California and Florida, high-priced automobiles made wholly in the United States, and similarly the gasoline and oil to run them. Effect of devaluation was brought home without delay; the day following, many city fuel dealers hiked up the price of U.S. coal from $24 to $27 a ton.

But not everyone was unhappy. People like gold mine owners and cattlemen who sell Canadian goods to the United States were overjoyed. The cattleman, for example, who received $35 in American money for a steer he sold in the United States before devaluation, now will get the same $35. But it will be worth $38.50 in Canadian money.

"A gigantic bargain sale of goods and services to the dollar area" as a result of recent sterling area currency devaluations, is forecast by the Bank of Montreal in its September business review, just issued. The bank points out that the "sudden spate of devaluation . . reflects a belated and salutary admission that price is once more a vital factor in determining the volume and direction of international trade."

Collective Dictation

THE BELIEF that collective bargaining would provide amicable solutions to labor and management problems, has been shaken by the experiences of employers and employees in wage negotiations —, observes John Atkins in "The Scene from Shingwauk Farm". Bargaining exists only when both parties are free to accept or reject the proposals of the other. An employer who is not free to employ others if he cannot come to an agreement with his employees is not bargaining when he is discussing wages and conditions with employee representatives; he is merely resisting their dictation, to minimize the extent of it.

Collective dictation to both the public and the employer has ousted bargaining as a means of considering employees' demands. Until the law can re-establish the right of an employee to work or not work as he chooses, and of employers to employ whoever desires to work for them, there will be no collective bargaining. An employee who is forced to pay dues to a union and to accept its decisions, cannot be a party to collective bargaining; he has lost his freedom. His right to agree with his fellows to work or not work is the sole basis of collective bargaining. It is the right to strike which ceases to be a right when the employer is prevented from hiring someone to replace him if his representative and the employer cannot reach a mutually satisfactory bargain.

WE imagine a survey would show a substantial number of men with one foot in industry and another on the land. It's not a bad idea. They can have a well-paid job and a piece of land to fall back on if a depression should come.

A man should never be ashamed to own that he has been in the wrong; it is but saying in other words, that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.

Reply to Protest by Lake Louisa Taxpayer

Dunany, Sept. 26, 1949.

Editor, The Watchman,

Dear Sir:

As an office-holder in the Council of the Township of Wentworth, of which township Lake Louisa is a part, may I reply to your correspondent, Mr. Geo. F. St. Hilaire, whose letter of protest is interesting and his point well stated.

A meeting has been called by the County Warden, Mr. Munich, to be held about October 6 at the Court House, Lachute — the Mayors, Secretaries and Assessors of each township are to attend, and the principal object of this meeting is to find ways and means that must be taken to assure equality of taxation throughout the county. Mr. St. Hilaire's protest will be aired at this meeting.

As to the election of councillors or representatives referred to in Mr. St. Hilaire's letter, may I state that an election would cost the township $300 or over, which, with the present high cost of municipal works, we can ill afford. While any resident may demand an election, unless such a demand is made, officers are elected every two years. When an officer resigns he is replaced by a resident of the same district, who has the required qualifications.

A meeting will be held at the Court House Saturday afternoon, October 1, at 2 p.m. At this meeting Mr. Cottingham, M.L.A., Mr. Munich, Councillors and Assessors would like to meet as many residents of the township as can attend. We hope that Mr. St. Hilaire will be among those present.

Yours sincerely,
Wm. A. Bickerdike, Mayor
Township of Wentworth.

$100-Million Income For Lloyd's of London

Lloyd's of London, the world's most famous underwriters, last year recorded an income of some £90 million. This figure is disclosed in the annual return issued recently. Ninety million pounds does not, however, represent the total premium income written in 1948 since a considerable part falls to be paid this year and next as risks take effect. The final picture will be provided by the 1948 underwriting and this is expected to show a total income well exceeding £100 million. Lloyd's most celebrated activity — marine and transit insurance — accounts for £47.5 million of the £90 million. Income from aviation insurance amounts to approximately £3 million. Claims on this combined account reach £11.7 million, of which £1.5 million are taken by aviation claims.

Autumn in Store Window

Local Paper Industry

The present-day output of the mill is about 7,500 tons of paper per year, of which over 2,200 tons is the familiar butcher wrap. Bags ranging in size from the small notion-bag (2 x 6 inches) to the large shopping bag, are produced in the total amout of approximately 250,000,000 per year. Toilet tissue is produced to the extent of 2½ million rolls per year.

During the last two or three years, an extensive modernizing program has been carried out. New bag and tissue machines have been installed — for example a modern napkin machine is now operating in the mill at the rate of 500,000 napkins per day. The buildings have been renovated, strengthened and modernized. Wooden interiors and floors have been replaced by concrete. Conveyor systems have been installed. Working conditions have been greatly improved, with new lighting and heating system and with the installation of lockers and modern washrooms. Employee relations have been considered, with, among other things, the adoption of family health insurance and sickness benefits. Yearly payroll runs at present to about $300,000 per year.

The present company now has plants at Lachute, St. Jerome and Montreal, sales branches and distributing centres in most of the large cities from Montreal to Vancouver.

In concluding, Mr. Cairns expressed the feeling that the people of Lachute should know and be familiar with their own industries. Accordingly, he invited all the Lions present to pay a visit to the Lachute mill, either individually or as a group, and see for themselves what is being accomplished at the J. C. Wilson mill.

The speaker was introduced by Lion A. Gordon McOuat, and thanked by Lion Willard M. Steeves.

of Canada is the British North America Act, bulwark of the rights and privileges of the provinces and of minorities. He warned the people of Quebec to be on the alert against any infringement of those rights. Either they will continue to be masters in their own house, free to administer their own affairs according to their religious and racial traditions, and control their financial accounts according to their needs — or see their authority filched by a central government over which they have no control.

The Premier went back into the history of St. Eustache and the action of the patriots of 1837 who fought and died to obtain responsible government. He led up to the confederation pact of the four provinces, and the power invested in the national government by them. This pact — which was a pact and not a statute as suggested by Mr. St. Laurent — gave the central government power to deal with national problems, but the provinces retained the power to protect their rights without recourse to or interference from the central government. The provinces enacted the B.N.A. Act and now the federal government wanted to assume the authority to change its provisions without reference to its authors or their successors. Mr. St. Laurent had pointed to the fact that it had been amended before without consulting the provinces. "A multiplication of errors does not constitute a just decision", replied the Premier.

On the question of French-Canadian traditions, religion and schools, Premier Duplessis referred to the short-lived union of Quebec and Ontario, and asked, "How could a parliament composed of ten provinces, deal efficiently with individual provincial problems when two provinces could not agree, during their short union?" Quebec province is of French and Catholic extraction and traditions; how could Ottawa decided what hospitals or schools, or public works, should be maintained or established? The Premier closed by promising to be ever watchful in protecting the interests of Quebec and his compatriots.

The ceremonies were completely in the French language, and the decorations around the platform, from all the adjoining houses and floating from numerous flag-poles, consisted of the Quebec flag — no other symbol of authority was to be seen. It was a Quebec day, and the huge crowd was orderly, good humored, and enjoyed every minute of it. The traffic was handled with courtesy and despatch. The weather was in keeping with the prevailing mood — smiling. — M.V.T.

Double-Ring Ceremony At Lachute United Church

Morrison - Damant

At 3.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, September 24, at the United Church, the marriage took place of Miss Jean Alice Damant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Damant, of Lachute, to Clifton Robert Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morrison, of Dunany, Que. The Rev. W. Rosborough officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Tapers in tall candelabra illuminated the altar and standards of multicolored gladioli formed a floral background for the occasion, Mrs. K. McOuat played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Mr. Owen Todd, soloist, sang "Through the Years".

Mr. Damant gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a long-sleeved gown of white bridal satin with fitted bodice fastened with tiny buttons down the front and a Chinese neckline. The skirt fell into a slight train from a softly draped peplum edged with French lace. Her veil of tulle illusion extended beyond the train of her gown and was held in place by a heart-shaped headdress of white satin. She carried a bouquet of white orchid gladioli centred with pink roses. Her only ornament was a pearl choker, a gift of the groom.

Her attendants, Miss Glenys Bradford, maid of honor and niece of the bride, Miss Shirley MacRae, of Howick, Que., and Miss Joyce King, of Brownsburg, were dressed alike in floor-length gowns of fern greeff taffeta and matching mittens. They wore Juliet caps of gold llamé, and emerald necklaces, and carried arm bouquets of gold gladioli.

The little flower girl, Miss Carol Damant, niece of the bride, wore a pale green frock of taffeta with Peter Pan collar and full skirt. She wore a matching bonnet and carried a basket of old fashioned flowers.

Mr. Murray Elliott, of Howick, attended the groom as best man and the ushers were Mr. Willis Morrison, brother of the groom, and Mr. Robert Bradford, nephew of the bride.

Mrs. Damant, the bride's mother, wore a gown of rose crepe with black hat and accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Morrison, the groom's mother, in a gown of bronze satin, wore matching bronze accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

The reception was held in the basement of the church. Summer flowers decorated the tables. The bride's table was centred with the wedding cake and arranged with flowers and white tapers.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Morrison left by motor for the United States and western Ontario, the bride travelling in a suit of forest green gabardine with a hat of green velvet, grey suede accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Numerous out-of-town relatives and friends attended the wedding, among whom was Mrs. Jennie Smith of Danville, grandmother of the bride.

St. Simeon's Church Is Scene of Pretty Wedding

Reade - Leggett

The marriage of Shirley Jeannette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Geo. Leggett, to Mr. Jack Lee Reade, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Linscott Reade, of Montreal, took place at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute. The Rev. C. R. Lang officiated. Mrs. Elston Reid was organist, and Mrs. Hall, as soloist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Oh Promise Me".

The church was tastefully decorated with standards and baskets of gladioli in autumn shades; there were white gladioli and candles on the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Matron of honor was Mrs. Herbert Montgomery, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaid was Miss Marilyn Reade, sister of the groom.

The bride wore a gown of white satin made on classical lines, with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline, long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and a full skirt with slight train. Her veil of net fell from a coronet of orange blossoms to the hem of the skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. Her only ornament was a diamond pendant, a family heirloom.

The bride's attendants were dressed alike; Mrs. Montgomery, matron of honor, wore brown and orange over green taffeta, with a bronze and green velvet choux, also mittens of organza. Miss Reade wore bronze-green organza over green taffeta, wearing a bronze velvet choux as headdress. Their mittens extended in points over their hands. The dresses were floor-length with bertha necklines and very full backs, with slight trains. They carried velvet plaques trimmed with bronze mums.

Mr. William Reade acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. George Leggett, Mr. Bob Cockfield and Mr. George Cairns, of Montreal, and Mr. Bill Ward, of Granby.

The reception was held at the Lachute Golf and Country Club. Mr. Lupien, of Brownsburg, played soft music during the entire reception.

The honeymoon is being spent at Lake Placid and New York.

PUTTY FOR STORM WINDOWS

Glazing is a craft that requires the utmost skill, and there are many little tricks that must be observed if the best possible job is to be obtained. For example — water vapor in a heated or tightly closed building condenses on the interior surfaces of cold sash. This condition is a particularly well-known cause for failure of work done in the late fall and winter, which means you can't afford to put off the repair job any longer. A damp, closed building is often heated before the putty has had time to set or to receive the first coat of paint.

Prehistoric Worm

London (Reuters)—A fossilized worm reputed to be 180,000,000 years old has been found during excavations on the south bank of the Thames in central London, where workmen are excavating the site for the Festival of Britain in 1951.

London county council and experts of the Natural History Museum have asked the workmen to watch for any further discoveries that may be of interest, for which they are rewarded.

So far, pieces of Roman pottery, and old oaken drain pipes have also been found.

More modern relics unearthed include pieces of Delft ware, said to have been manufactured in the 17th and 18th century by London potters.

Hadrian (122 A.D.) built the Roman Wall in England.

Green Tomatoes

The fall days are shortening, which means that many of the tomatoes on the vines won't ripen in the short hours of sunshine, and with a real nip in the air, the tomatoes should be picked green before they are touched by the frost.

Every housewife knows a dozen or more ways to use ripe tomatoes and has undoubtedly been using them at least once a day while they've been in season. However, using up the green tomatoes, especially if there are many on the vines, may be quite a problem. Sliced green tomato and onion pickle, sometimes called Governor's Sauce, is an old-time favorite as are chow-chows and relishes, and most preserve shelves will boast of at least a few jars.

The home economists of the Consumer Section have been testing several new recipes using green tomatoes which are unusual and delicious. Try them soon while the green tomatoes are available.

Of course many homemakers with tomato plants of their own will be putting some away to ripen slowly for use later in the season. You should remember though that these tomatoes, although green, should be mature; they should be absolutely free from insect injury, growth cracks or skin punctures and should not have been touched by the frost. The tomatoes should be wrapped individually in paper and stored in a closed box or drawer in a cool, dry place. They will ripen slowly and should keep for several weeks. Another method is to pull the vine before any signs of frost injury are apparent and suspend the entire vine from the ceiling of a cool (50°F), dry storeroom. Usually tomatoes stored in this manner under favorable conditions will continue to ripen until Christmas.

Green Tomatoes in Spicy Sauce (Vegetable Dish)

2 Pounds green tomatoes, ¼ cup chopped onion, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1½ tablespoons dry mustard, dash of cayenne pepper, dash of pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, dash of cloves, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1½ tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons cold water.

Wash tomatoes, remove stem end and any scars. Cut tomatoes in quarters. Add onions. Mix sugar and spices, add to tomato mixture and cook slowly about 10 minutes. Blend cornstarch with cold water and add to mixture. Cook until mixture has thickened and the mixture is clear, stirring occasionally, about 5 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Chow-Chow

30 Medium green tomatoes (7½ lbs.), ½ cup salt, ½ medium cabbage (3 cups minced), 3 green peppers, 2 sweet red peppers, 3 medium onions, 6½ cups vinegar, 2 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 1 tablespoon mustard seed, ½ tablespoon whole cloves.

Put tomatoes through food chopper, using coarse blade. Combine with salt and let stand ½ hour. Put into cheesecloth bag and let drain overnight. Add cabbage, peppers and onions which have been put through food chopper. Mix vegetables together and add vinegar, sugar and spices, tied loosely in a cheesecloth bag. Cook, uncovered, over low heat until vegetables are tender, about 20 minutes. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal. Yield: about 12 cups.

September Relish

2 Cups chopped onion, 4 cups chopped green tomatoes, 4 cups chopped cucumber, 2 cups chopped cabbage, 2 cups chopped green pepper, 1 cup chopped sweet red pepper, ½ cup salt, 6 cups vinegar, 4 cups sugar, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, ½ teaspoons turmeric, 2 teaspoons paprika.

Mix chopped vegetables together, sprinkle with the ½ cup salt and let stand overnight. Drain well, pressing out all liquid. Add vinegar, sugar and spices, bring to boil and cook slowly for one hour. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal. Yield: about 10 cups.

1885 BRIDAL BOUQUET YIELDING MARMALADE

Berkhampstead, Eng. (Reuters) — Marmalade on the breakfast table at Rossway House near here is made from oranges grown from a bridal bouquet of 64 years ago.

The bride was Frances Mable Strong, who is now Lady Hadden and lives at Rossway.

A sprig of orange blossom from the bouquet was planted and has grown into a seven-foot tree in a green house.

Use Bulbs to Grow New Year's Flowers

Brightly colored flowers impart a cheery atmosphere to any living-room in long winter days, especially when enthusiasm for winter's stay begins to wear heavily. How well suited for relieving winter's monotony are the spring flowering bulbs such as the richly colored hyacinth, the gaily tinted tulip and the golden daffodil — each with its assurance of winter's eventual departure and spring's coming!

To obtain satisfactory results from the bulbs you buy, and particularly for that season beginning with the New Year, the following important steps should be carried out, states J. H. Crossley, assistant at the Dominion Experimental Station, Saanichton, B.C. First, choose varities that are naturally early flowering. In this general class use only those specially indicated as best for indoor purposes. This means, in the case of tulips, such noted varieties as Brilliant Star, De Wet, Rising Sun, Murillo, Peach Blossom, White Sail, Krelage's Triumph, Van der Eerden, Golden Harvest, Wm. Pitt and the Copland varieties; for hyacinths, L'Innocence, Bismark, Pink Pearl, Jan Bos, and, in the case of daffodils, the popular King Alfred. Second, select, if possible, bulbs that have grown in an "early flowering climate." This imparts early flowering characteristics so desirable in out-of-season culture. Bulbs grown in British Columbia are among the earliest maturing in the world. Third, select top-grade bulbs in perfect condition and uniform in size. This generally means King Alfreds and hyacinths at least 2¼ inches in diameter (1½ inches for tulips). Fourth, to improve flowering qualities and shorten the time required to flower by as much as two weeks, chill the bulbs by storing them dry for one month at a temperature of 48 degrees Fahrenheit. This should be done immediately, as soon as the bulbs are purchased. The household refrigerator will serve for the chilling providing fluctuations are not more than a degree or two from the required level. Fifth, after thirty days chilling, pot the bulbs in a friable mixture of about equal parts loam, sand and old compost or peat. Add no fertilizer. Sixth, water thoroughly and store in a dark basement where the temperature should remain at 48 degrees F. This temperature is most satisfactory for root development. Fluctuations in temperature and tendency for the soil to dry during the essential rooting period are undesirable — both reflect in the final results. By the 10th to the middle of December the pots should be full of roots, which is a sign that then and not until then the pots may be shifted to the coolest part of the living-room. In about a week warmer conditions are desirable but the temperature should not rise above 68 degrees F. before the buds are well colored. If February and March flowering is desired, keep the pots in the basement at 48 degrees F. until about four weeks before the required flowering date. In addition, chilling should be omitted and later planting and late flowering varieties should be the rule.

Orange Ladies' Meeting

Laurentian L.O.B.A. No. 943 held an interesting meeting in their lodge room on Hope Street, on Wednesday, September 21.

Mrs. Billingham, Worshipful Mistress, presided. The majority of the officers were present. Two candidates received their initiation in the first degree, which was impressively carried out.

It was reported that the lodge had received $55 from a recent supper. The needs of the Protestant Orphanage were brought before the members, who agreed to raise funds for the institution by means of "talent money", the sum to be paid in to the treasurer by the first Wednesday in December. On October 4, members of this lodge hope to visit Grenville L.O.B.A.

ALONG THE FAIRWAYS

Lachute Golf Club Special Commentary

Once again it is "Hail and Farewell", as time runs out on another season. Recent rains have brought the course around to best shape to date however, and there should be a good few weeks of play remaining.

As all things improved, so the Closing Tournament last Sunday afternoon, when well over 100 were on hand compared to some 60-odd last year. We didn't see anything that resembled golf particularly, but then we were watching our own game rather closely, thereby no doubt failing to note whether good shots were hit elsewhere. Anyway, it was a fine day — a good turnout — fine food, speeches and prizes — to say nothing of tops in entertaining and instructive golf movies.

The management informs us, and the president assures us, that soon we shall have a fine game room in the basement with ping-pong and billiard tables, shuffleboard and darts, putting mats and other means of diversion. Plans are afoot to draw up schedules of play, make up teams, and get into some real competition. Looks like some very entertaining evenings ahead.

At this late date we let it be known to one and all that a Mr. W. Hall, of Hawkesbury, was the lucky prospector, and it was on or very near his claim that the big strike was made. We believe the property has now been mined out and the liquid assets consumed.

Congratulations to the club champions and other prize winners of the year. Jack Reade, our Brownsburg hope in the C-I-L Purvis, dropped a hard-fought match in the semi-finals of that competition after taking the club championship (Ayers Cup) in convincing fashion. Prize list elsewhere on this page.

Picking the year's highlight — what do you say if we choose those five minutes we listened to our senior member, Mr. Porritt, during the presentation?

1950 Studebaker Car On Display at Dealer's

A new 1950 Studebaker is now being displayed in the showrooms of E. W. Albright & Son, Main Street, Lachute.

"These are the automobiles which caused so much enthusiasm when they were introduced at the Toronto Exhibition", says Ewan Albright, commenting on the new arrival. "These new cars are so entirely different in appearance that it is difficult to do them justice by describing them. We are particularly anxious for the people of this district to visit us and see the new model for themselves."

The front end of the 1950 Studebaker is especially striking; it embodies an airplane fuselage-type hood, flanked by air-foil front fenders and set off by a chrome "spinner". The "spinner" augments four frontal openings which direct air to the engine for maximum cooling.

Besides the exterior appearance, riding and handling qualities are greatly improved, too. These embody the new self-stabilizing coil spring front suspension — a new mounting of the front wheels so that they strike road bumps at a retracting angle instead of head-on. In other words, "they roll with the punch". They don't take the full force of the blow.

Another important change is an increase in compression of the engine, which steps up the power and helps gasoline economy.

Newly designed instrument panels are about four inches farther forward than previously.
