Highly Practical Program at Meeting Of District Assoc'n Held in Lachute

The first regular meeting of the Teachers' Association of Argenteuil and Two Mountains was held last Friday afternoon in Lachute High School, attended by about 70 teachers from the schools under the jurisdiction of the County Central School Board.

After a short business meeting the teachers participated in a varied program of educational activities designed to assist teachers with their problems and generally raise the standards of educational purpose and accomplishment within the Unit.

After a short address on administrative policy, by Mr. F. H. J. Royal, Supervisor of the schools under the County Central Board, the group was divided into three sections. One group, under the direction of Miss Blanche Stewart, lecturer in Primary Methods at Macdonald College School for Teachers, discussed Reading in the primary grades. A second group, under Inspector C. J. Teakle of the Department of Education at Quebec, studied methods in the teaching of French in the elementary and high school grades. A third group, which met with Inspector W. Sergeant of the Montreal Protestant School Board, discussed aims and methods in the teaching of Science and Mathematics in the elementary and high school grades. All three speakers, specialists in their fields, proved not only interesting but stimulating, and made valuable contributions to the outlook of the teachers concerned.

Following the sectional discussions the teachers assembled in a body to see a film entitled "Understanding Children", which is correlated with Scorling's "The Student Teacher" and is one of the best educational films available.

The latter part of the program consisted of a dinner meeting in the basement of St. Simeon's Church, which was highlighted by a very effective address by Mr. M. Greaves, Assistant Superintendend of Personnel of the Canadian National Railways, speaking on the topic, "What Business Expects of the Schools". Mr. Greaves discussed fully the capabilities and habits requisite to success in the business world, the shortcomings of our schools in preparing students to enter the clerical fields, the testing program by which applicants are screened, remuneration, promotions, and other information pertinent to entering the business field.

Mr. Greaves was introduced by Mrs. Harris, chairman of the program committee, and thanked by Mr. A. McGerrigle, principal of Grenville Intermediate School.

Mr. D. Staniforth, vice-president of the Association, voiced the thanks of the group to Miss Stewart, Mr. Teakle and Mr. Sergeant for their assistance with the program, while A. E. Thompson, president of the Association, expressed the appreciation of the meeting to the St. Simeon's Ladies' Guild for their work in providing an excellent dinner.

Judge of Ayrshires At Field Day Event

Mr. Erskine Rodger was at Markham, Ont., last Saturday to judge Ayrshire cattle at the big "Red and White" field day. There were 112 entries in this meet, which attracts many Ayrshire enthusiasts from the Toronto district.

Service Clubs Aid Plowing Match

15th ANNUAL EVENT NEXT WEDNESDAY

Evidence of a wider interest in the Argenteuil Plowing Match is seen in a gesture by two local service clubs, in the form of substantial prize donations. The Rotary Club of Brownsburg have given a cup for the first prize in the senior classes, while the Lions Club have given a trophy for first prize in the junior events. The Rotary award must be won three years in succession to be retained by any one winner. The sponsors of the competitions, Argenteuil Plowmen's Association, will provide miniature replicas of these cups to be awarded to the senior and junior winners.

As a further gesture in reward of merit, the Rotarians will give a dinner for all first prize winners, a week or so after the match.

As previously announced, the grand prize to be awarded to the plowman completing the best ridge in the field, will be a return ticket and expense - allowance to attend the Toronto Royal Winter Fair.

The T. Eaton Co. Ltd. of Toronto has donated a silver salver, a Sheffield reproduction, and Secretary Ernest Emmett reports that prize donations from local business men have been very encouraging, also that entries so far are well up to expectations.

The plowing match takes place Wednesday, October 12, at the farm of the late Alex Doig, Vide Sac road.

Current Business in Ch. of Commerce

A Chamber of Commerce executive meeting was held last Monday under chairmanship of President J. R. Charron; in attendance were — André Lefebvre, secretary, M. Lapointe, treasurer, Jas. L. Lowe, B. L'Heureux, R. Legault, Dr. R. A. Dumais and Gabriel Valois.

The secretary presented correspondence received from various sources — from the Hon. Paul Sauvé and Wm. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., relative to road improvements, also from the Provincial Chamber of Commerce and the Iberville branch.

A general meeting of the Chamber is scheduled for October 17, in the town hall. The new president, Mr. Charron, will address the meeting, and the retiring treasurer, G. Valois, will present his financial report — followed by educational and recreative films, and general discussion.

The president and secretary were appointed delegates to attend the convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Montreal this month.

A resolution was passed directing Mr. Valois to approach the town corporation for repairs to the "welcome" signs at both extremities of the town.

It was decided to hold a dinner meeting at the end of this month, with a special speaker to be announced later.

Heavy Horses at Vankleek Hill

Among exhibitors of Clydesdale horses at the recent Vankleek Hill Fair were A. T. Cleland, M. & D. Smith, Erskine Rodger and John Heatlie & Son. A. T. Cleland's "Glenburnie Melba" won the junior champion female award, then went on to win the banner donated by the Clydesdale Horse Association for best Clydesdale mare or gelding. John Heatlie & Son took first in mare and foal, also yearling filly, and first in teams, with Erskine Rodger second. (See picture on this page.) Smith Bros. won the Agricultural team.

John Heatlie & Son also exhibited at Avonmore, and took 10 first awards.

Sawmill Blaze West of Lachute

Lachute Fire Department responded to a call Wednesday afternoon to a sawmill blaze at "Whisseltown", on the St. Philippe highway. The sawmill, which was formerly owned by F. Whissel, Mayor of Chatham Township, was situated on the south side of the road, a sash and door factory being on the opposite side of the highway. The mill, of the usual frame structure, was bought by Maxime Dinel, of Cheneville, about a month ago.

On arrival of the Lachute fire squad, the building was burning fiercely. From an artificial lake at the rear of the properties, water was pumped across the road through 700 feet of hose, but no part of the mill was saved.

It was stated the cause of the fire was a flash or backfire from the Diesel engine operating the machinery, just after it had been shut off. There was no insurance to cover the loss, estimated at $5,000.

Barrie, Ont. (CP) — Some 700 persons gathered at nearby Edgar recently to observe the 100th anniversary of a plain frame church which was built by negroes who fled to Oro township from the United States. The church is the African Episcopal Church.

Cattle En Route to Indianapolis Show

A consignment of 12 Dual Purpose Shorthorns was sent this week to the international dairy cattle exhibition at Indianapolis, Indiana — the 12 head, representing Canada's entry of this breed, being in charge of N. (Bud) MacGeorge as showman. They included three animals from Lachute — a bull exhibited by A. D. McGibbon & Sons and two females from Kilwin Farms (E. K. Wilson).

There have been no other cattle entries reported from this district, but it is expected that a few local dairymen will be attending the show in person. This big international exhibition takes place October 11 - 13.

Mayor of Ste. Agathe For Sixth Term

Ste. Agathe—Georges Liboiron, six times mayor of Ste. Agathe des Monts, was returned to office for another term by acclamation in nominations held during last week-end. Mr. Liboiron's first term as mayor was in 1939.

Aldermen elected by acclamation to hold office for a two-year term are F. Desjardins, E. Piche, J. Duquette and H. Danis. This will be a second term for Mr. Danis.

Winners at Recent Vankleek Hill Fair

John Heatlie and Son, of this community, placed first in the team and harness judging at the recent Vankleek Hill Fair. The team of Erskine Rodger, Lachute (at right of picture) took second award. The judge, John McCallum, of Ottawa, appears standing between the two teams.

Historical Society's Annual Meeting Shows Evidence of Steady Progress

Enterprise Now on Sound Footing and Conscious of Its Obligation to Posterity

The Argenteuil Historical Society — passing its 15th milestone at the annual meeting held last Saturday at the Carillon Museum — gives evidence at this date of a healthy activity, a substantial public interest, and a growing consciousness of the Society's purpose in this community. The chairman, Mrs. G. F. W. Kuhring, first vice-president, gave verbal expression to that purpose — defining it as an obligation to preserve not only the origins and traditions of the local past, but also the facts and records of this time, and the genealogies of present families. For the present, in a few years, will have become the past; and it devolves upon this generation to contribute to the archives of which the Carillon Museum is a treasure house.

Mrs. Kuhring, presiding in the absence of Mr. J. S. Giles in England, scanned the progress of the Society since its inaugural meeting in St. Andrews. Then, with the prospect of acquiring the museum building at Carillon, the directors had been somewhat awed in wondering how to fill its spacious rooms. Today the space is filled with valuable acquisitions, and the question before the officers is, where to place the new exhibits they receive from time to time. "This building, dating back to 1831, when it was erected as a barracks for the Royal Engineers during military construction of the Carillon-Grenville Canals, is itself one of our finest exhibits", added the chairman. . . A message penned by Mr. J. S. Giles as president was then read, and throughout these sentiments there was a fitting recognition to the founders of the Society and to the officers who had loyally fostered its progress through the years.

A message of regret was also read from Mr. Georges E. Dansereau, who was unable to attend. Present on the platform was Mr. Philippe Valois, M.P., who extended his congratulations and pledged his support to this worthy foundation. The Historical Society and its museum, he believed, were a very practical means of building patriotism. The records and exhibits were a measure of the worth of our forebears — a means of comparison (perhaps at the expense of our present generation) to match our initiative against that of our antecedents, and to gauge our progress or recession.

In thanking Mr. Valois, the chairman addressed a special plea for membership and co-operation from his compatriots; the history of Argenteuil was an interwoven story of two races, and this Society should be a bond of mutual interest between them. Mrs. Kuhring gave particular emphasis to the need for new enrolments, asking present subscribers to campaign for memberships among their friends and so ensure a financial stability in keeping with the great importance of this work.

Miss Beatrice Robertson, secretary, read the proceedings of the previous annual meeting, and Miss Edith Simpson presented the financial report. Mrs. Pitcairn brought in the report of the nominating committee, recommending re-election of the present officers — Mr. J. S. Giles, president; Mrs. Kuhring, first vice-president; Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, second vice-president; Miss Beatrice Robertson and Miss Edith Simpson, secretary and treasurer, respectively; also re-election of the three retiring directors, Mr. Gaetan Valois, Miss Tita Wales and Miss Mildred Douglas — all of which was unanimously approved. (Other directors are Mrs. C. Armstrong, Mrs. J. Pitcairn, Howard Crookes, Mrs. A. Graham, Mrs. W. Windsor, Col. L. M. Hooker, Clement Tremblay, Mac E. Walker and G. F. W. Kuhring.)

Following these proceedings the audience was addressed by Mr. Robt. W. Shepherd, of Como, Que., a veteran "seafarer" of the Great Lakes, whose family had long been associated with the Ottawa Valley and with navigation on the Ottawa River.

Mr. Shepherd spoke of the waterways and rail transportation between Montreal and Ottawa, giving a glimpse at the competitive trade which catered to this traffic along the Ottawa in its heyday. He showed slides of the Ottawa River Navigation Co'y steam vessels, in which the Shepherds had held a family interest, also scenes at the Carillon wharf and on the Carillon-Grenville Railway. These views were familiar to the recollection of some older listeners; to the younger members of the audience they were a revelation of bygone days, when the little village of Carillon was a veritable travel centre and a busy scene.

The audience filled the library of the museum to capacity. After the chairman had cordially thanked the speaker, tea was served in the various rooms and the gathering enjoyed a pleasant social hour.

Paving Assured On Highway 41

Correspondence received by the Chamber of Commerce and read before an executive meeting this week, indicates a sympathetic attitude and collaboration between deputies of the two counties of Argenteuil and Two Mountains, towards the completion and paving of Route 41 between Lachute and St. Canut. The letters are from W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. for this constituency, and the Hon. Paul Sauvé, M.L.A. for Two Mountains and provincial Minister of Youth and Social Welfare. The latter states, in part:

"Your deputy, Mr. W. M. Cottingham, has sent me your request relative to Route 41. As you are no doubt aware, during 1948 this highway was paved over almost half its length, while we also made grades, cuts and fills to a cost exceeding $100,000.

"This year, drainage and other preparatory work will reach an outlay of $60,000 — in readiness for paving the balance of the highway, which under normal circumstances should be effected next year."

The Minister further drew attention of the Chamber of Commerce to the extensive improvements completed on Route 8 between Lachute and Montreal, resulting in considerable benefit to the two counties concerned.

SPECIAL INTERESTS AT "EDUCATION" MEETING

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — The monthly meeting of the Morin Heights Women's Institute was held Tuesday in the Red Cross room, with Mrs. R. J. Seale and Misses Joyce and Annie Seale as joint hostesses; 33 members and six guests were present.

After the usual business session the president, Mrs. J. Watchorn, turned the meeting over to the convener of Education, Mrs. Herb Lacken. Guests on this occasion were members of the school staff, and the chairman of the local school board, Mr. Willis Seale.

The principal, Mr. Blakeley, of Chatham, N.B., addressed the meeting, and after expressing his pleasure at being in Morin Heights and at being invited to this meeting, mentioned a few changes made necessary by the school being so overcrowded; he particularly stressed the disadvantages of having to instruct two grades in the United Church hall. He then spoke briefly on the differences in education he had noted between the provinces of New Brunswick and Quebec.

Mr. Seale addressed the gathering on the subject of the new school, a much anticipated improvement in this town; he explained the difficulties (and red tape) encountered in this project, and stated that the building is to be started early in the spring, so that it should be ready for use by next September. Mr. Seale displayed the blueprints for inspection, and answered questions posed by the audience. The ladies were grateful to Mr. Seale for describing the situation so clearly.

Both speakers were thanked by Mrs. Lacken, after which the meeting adjourned and refreshments were served.

Fire Equipment Looms Large Again In Deliberations of Brownsburg Council

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — Mayor Jas. Donaldson presided over the last council meeting, composed of Councillors Denault, Wilson, Lafleur and Pariseau, with the secretary-treasurer, E. Hebert.

The contract for purchase of a Bickle-Seagrave pumper fire-truck was before the meeting, and the company's representative submitted the details of equipment. The cost was set down at $7,950.

The Mayor raised the question of delivery, intimating he was not satisfied with the clause which read "after receipt of chassis". This clause could hold up delivery for an unreasonable time. The council had had experience of a similar clause when purchasing a snow-plow, which was delayod so long the matter became a joke — in fact it was never delivered.

The representative recognized the point as weakening the contract and agreed to delete it before signature.

Herbert Graves, of Lachute, appeared before the meeting to urge the council to equip a Mercury truck rather than the one specified by the council.

Fire Chief A. Robbins explained they had specified a G.M.C. truck because over 75 per cent of fire pumpers were built on such trucks. He was recently at the convention at Ottawa, and the Ottawa Fire Department are equipped 100 per cent with G.M.C.'s There must be some reason for the selection, he believed.

The sales representative said they would equip any make of truck specified by the purchasers but their units were mounted on well over 75 per cent of G.M.C.'s. These trucks lent themselves more

Shopbreaking in Lachute and B'burg

Theft of watches, cigarette lighters and a small amount of cash totalling altogether around $300, was reported Saturday morning from Cliff Cunningham's tobacco store on Main Street. According to town police officers, the store was entered by forcing a door at the rear of the premises, at about 3 o'clock in the morning.

In view of the robberies and depredations seasonal to this time of year, The Watchman is informed by Police Chief D. Villeneuve, of the local force, that all during this month there will be two officers on night patrol in Lachute, between the hours of 7 p.m. and 5 a.m.

* * *

Meanwhile, in Brownsburg a similar theft and other robberies have been occupying the attention of the police department. . . Chief Henri Foucreau was notified Friday morning of the theft of a $50 watch and $7 in cash from A-tomic Electric Reg'd on Main Street. Investigations revealed that a barber opposite had heard the crash of breaking glass shortly after 1 a.m., and had switched on the light in his dwelling, thereby doubtless interrupting the intruders. Chief Foucreau later questioned two local residents, on the clue of an American bill — a U.S. $1 bill having been taken among the loot. No one has been held on suspicion of the robbery, however.

Misappropriation of a wallet lost by a book company representative from Three Rivers, was pinned on a nine-year-old youngster. The salesman had lost the wallet, containing $600 value in bills and contracts, last Labor Day. The boy allegedly was able to describe the "find" to the police officer, but neither the wallet nor contents have so far been recovered.

Chief Foucreau also traced to a juvenile offender the disappearance of 450 shot-shells from a small ammunition depot at the C-I-L shooting range. The door of the shed had been broken open and the ammunition was reported missing by company officials. The police officer recovered 435 of the shells. . . . No charge has been laid, to date.

Behind the Scenes in Local Telephone Service

Lounges like this one in the Lachute Bell Telephone building where operators can relax between shifts, have done much to keep the smile in "The Voice with a Smile". Resting in this restful atmosphere are Alice Deslauriers, of the plant department, Jacqueline Monette, speaking over the telephone, and information operator Kathleen McDonald. Game Wardens For This District

The list of game wardens for each county, circulated by the Quebec Fish and Game Department for this season, omitted the name of Fernando Lamarche, Lachute — who holds the necessary authority and credentials as a permanent officer for Argenteuil County. (His name was accordingly omitted from The Watchman's recent reference to local game wardens). Other wardens for this district are Gordon Cook, Arundel, and Leslie Bates, Lachute. . For the information of hunters in this area, Mr. Lamarche resides at 71 Bethany Street and his telephone number is 608-J.

Arundel Student Sees European Countries

Arundel — Alfred Morrison returned recently after a four months' tour in Europe, and has since been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Morrison, in Arundel. Alfred graduated from Lachute High School in 1948 and took up the profession of interior decorating. With some practical work behind him, he set out to visit the European countries and see something of their ancient and modern art — Italy and France being the main attractions. His itinerary also included England, Scotland, Switzerland and Spain—his visit to Spain being prompted mainly by the desire to see a bull fight.

Alfred says he travelled the inexpensive way, like many American students whom he met on his journey, who belonged to an organization known as Youth Argosy. His mode of travel was tourist class by boat, third class by train, and some hitch-hiking. Cheap accommodation was found available at Youth Hostels in most of the countries he visited.

The southernmost point in Canada is Middle Island, in Lake Erie.

Automobile Stolen Quickly Recovered

A Calumet car parked outside the Windsor Hotel was found missing by its owner in the early hours of last Friday. Local police were notified next morning, and around noon that day the car was discovered abondoned on the Brownsburg Road, near the shrine, where the miscreant had met with an accident and left the automobile at the spot. The car, in a damaged condition, was restored to its owner.

Nearly 7,000 vehicles entered Elk Island National Park, Alberta, in one month this summer, carrying 35,605 visitors. Established in 1913, this 75.2 square-mile Park contains a large herd of Buffalo.

Electrical Examiners

In recent columns we have been describing the important part played in electrical matters today by two government bodies — the Provincial Electricity Board and the Quebec Streams Commission. Another government organization — the Board of Electrical Examiners—has an equally important function, although in an entirely different way.

As its name implies, the Board of Electrical Examiners has the responsibility of inspecting all electrical installations except those of public utility companies. It is the duty of the Board's examiners to make sure that wiring and installation of electrical equipment are made correctly so that safety regulations are observed.

The power company cannot connect any home or other building to its lines until it has received a permit from the Board stating that the premises to receive electricity are correctly wired. With hundreds of new installations going forward these days, the Board's inspectors are working at top speed to complete their inspections and issue permits as quickly as is possible.

In this work, as in the work of the power company itself, the consumer can do much to make sure that no delays occur. With requests for inspections coming in on all sides in a steady stream, the Inspection Board must take each one in its turn and give the necessary authorization before moving on to the next case. If the request for inspection is left until the last minute, it is almost inevitable that delays will occur before the inspection can be carried out, the permit issued, and the power connection made.

To everyone who is having electrical work done then, we suggest that the Board of Electrical Examiners be advised early so that the installation can be inspected quickly when it is ready. There is complete co-operation between the Board and the power company; and as long as the customer does his part, there is rarely any delay.

Just remember — the power company can't supply power until it has received the permit from the Board: and the Board can't issue a permit until its inspectors have examined the work. If the Board isn't advised in time, there is bound to be a delay in receiving service.

Seasonal Farm Topics

Machines Increase Farm Fire Hazards

"Total losses" seldom result from fires in cities these days, but are still common in farm fires, the National Board of Fire Underwriters points out in calling for improved rural fire protection and more fire prevention activities among farm families.

The modern farm has most of the fire hazards found in a small factory, but usually takes fewer precautions in guarding against fire, the National Board says. Also, once a fire starts on a farm, the chances of bringing it under control are fewer because of inadequate equipment, poor water supply, or lack of trained fire fighters within easy reach.

Many rural areas now have excellent fire protection, but protection over wider areas is needed to reduce the annual $10,000,000 farm fire loss.

Lightning Rods

As the nation prepares to observe Fire Prevention Week October 9 to 15, the National Board states that one-third of all fires could be prevented simply by the installation of lightning rods of the proper type on every farm building. The completed installation should bear the Underwriters' Laboratories approval.

Here are other farm fire-safety suggestions:

1. Use care in storing and handling gasoline. In refueling tractors, avoid spilling gasoline or allowing it to drop over a hot muffler or engine.
2. Use a safety can to store small quantities of gasoline. Keep the main supply in an underground tank equipped with a standard pump.
3. Don't store or run tractors into hay barns.

Electrical Equipment

4. Inspect your electrical equipment. New wiring or installations of motors should be inspected by a fire department officer or an inspection authority. Check your fuse box to see that you have fuses of approved size. Keep electric cords and lamps out of reach of animals. Install metal guards around light bulbs, especially in barns.
5. Inspect and clean your heating system at least once a year, including furnaces, flues, smokepipe and chimneys.
6. If you use an artificial drier to dry your corn, be sure the drier is of a type inspected by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. It should have automatic temperature controls and automatic dampers to prevent excessive heat from being blown into the crib or barn.
7. All machinery used on farms should be watched carefully while in operation, to guard against overheating or sparks that might cause an outbreak of fire.
8. Check and refill fire extinguishers according to directions on the label.
9. Instruct all farm hands how to call nearest fire department.

Compost Has Limitations

The commercial fertilizer business has grown to a sizeable industry in Canada during the last quarter of a century, and with it many compost materials have appeared on the market.

Compost is not a substitute for commercial fertilizer. But good compost has a place in agriculture if the cost of the material and the labor involved does not exceed its value. It can be used for windowboxes, potting plants and lawns, or in intensified farming like market gardening, where it is difficult to maintain the organic matter in the soil.

If available refuse is gathered and nitrogen material added to hasten decomposition, a valuable product is produced. But plant material must be grown somewhere, and if it is merely taken from one area to be used as compost for another, naturally the first area suffers. Usually it is more economical to use manures when they can be obtained, says G. W. Michael (Fertilizers), Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Fertilizer from Dead Sea

According to Dr. M. R. Bloch, an official of an Israeli potash company, the Dead Eea contains some 2,000,000,000 tons of potash which will help considerably to increase the standard of life in the world.

In a recent report to the United Nations Scientific Conference on conservation and utilization of resources, Dr. Bloch said the Dead Sea also has an inexhaustible supply of salt, magnesium and bromine. These minerals are extracted by means of solar evaporation.

Thousands of tons of badly needed foods are laid waste by fire. Annually fires occur in 2,000 flour mills and elevators, 200 packing plants, 900 bakeries, 10,500 restaurants, 20,000 barns, 500 creameries and dairies and in thousands of groceries, warehouses and farms.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK, OCTOBER 1 TO 8

"Freedom Goes Where the Free Press Goes"

ADOLPH Hitler was a smart man. One of the first things he did when he took over Germany was to give Goebbels the power to suppress the news. Then when he purged loyal Germans who were unfaithful Nazis, the people heard only his side of the story. And for all the years that Hitler was in power, all the newspapers under his control printed only what he permitted.

In this respect Hitler was a smart man. He knew that he could never keep his hold on the people if they had access to the truth.

Every dictator and bigot knows the same, whether in foreign lands or in this town! Freedom cannot exist without the free exchange of facts and ideas. And as long as our newspapers remain as uncensored as they are now, all the facts on both sides of any controversy will be presented to you, the freest people in the world.

— For "Freedom Goes Where the Free Press Goes"; that is the slogan of National Newspaper Week, which is being observed by journals across Canada from October 1 to 8.

There are those who criticize the press, saying that it is censored; that it is not free to publish both sides of an argument because it is controlled by special interests. But oftentimes this criticism is really a tribute to the freedom that our newspapers enjoy. For nine times out of ten, those who criticize have an axe to grind themselves, and are disturbed that the press does not cater to them.

In the district of Lachute anyone who has a legitimate story to tell will find The Watchman's pages open for the facts. And if a dispute arises concerning those facts, the other side of the story will be told too. For we editors know, from the experience of others in totalitarian lands, that suppression of the news breeds "smart men" like Adolph Hitler.

Plowing Competitions

WITH AUTUMN tasks well on the way to completion, farmers soon will be able to relax and enjoy the brief lull in activity before the crisp days of late fall give way to cold weather. On the farmlands of more progressive communities, such as Argenteuil County, the lull usually coincides with the annual Plowing Match. This event is announced here for next Wednesday.

More and more, the yearly plowing matches — like cattle-breeders' field days — are taking on the aspects of a farmers' festival. Especially at this time of year, most farmers find they can take a day off to attend the match. Such gatherings in Eastern Canada — like the big "International" at Brantford, Ont., October 11 - 14, which will attract 150,000 spectators — afford an opportunity to compare plowing techniques, see latest developments in farm machinery, learn something about new ideas on soil conservation, and to talk crops.

We hope all local farmers will take a holiday and attend the Argenteuil Plowing Match, thus by their presence helping to promote its success.

One-Day Miracle

IT WAS A great day recently in the history of Canadian agriculture. On September 8, 8,000 people saw a dilapidated 140-acre farm near Brooklin, Ontario, converted into a first class producer by means of modern agricultural science.

Prior to its re-birth, the farm was in miserable state. The buildings were sagging and weatherbeaten — unpainted for years. Wind erosion had played havoc with the top soil. Springy spots made cultivation difficult or impossible. Deep gullies cut through the fields.

Then the miracle happened. Giant bulldozers and other powerful machines moved in. Undesirable scrub growth was uprooted. Large trees were blasted with dynamite. Sloping land was laid out for contour cultivation and a four-year rotation. Terraces were built to prevent gullying by run-off water.

A reforestation project was launched in an area infested with buckthorn and other scraggy growth. Some 27,000 tiles were laid to drain boggy sections. Spray painting gave a new lease of life to the unsightly buildings. The farmwife's antiquated kitchen was fully modernized. A virtually useless piece of property bloomed out into a paradise — in a single day.

This experiment with the Brooklin farm should make Canadians sit up and think. Hundreds of deserted, unproductive farms are strewn across the country. Many others are offering a meagre existence to their owners. It has now been proved that such worn-out lands can be restored. Perhaps not in one day, as was the case with the Brooklin farm, but through co-operative efforts of governments and individual farmers over a period of time.

If a miracle can happen on a 140-acre farm it can happen on one million acres.

Illegal Deer Hunting

FROM Nova Scotia towns bordering on the forests come reports that already this season 18 persons have been prosecuted for illegal hunting of deer — some of them for the despicable practice of taking deer by "jacklighting". As all hunters know, "jacking" deer is driving at night to a spot where the animals are known to congregate, then turning on the headlamps of the automobile or a spotlight to attract them. Light has an almost irresistible fascination for animal life; the deer come into its beams, stand still and stare at the source of light and are shot down at close range by the so-called hunters. The practice is illegal and comes within the same category as using dynamite to catch fish or stringing heavy rope or wire snares along deer and moose trails.

This jacklighting is by no means peculiar to Nova Scotia. It has been practised on deer in the Gatineau and adjoining districts. Game wardens on both sides of the Ottawa have been alerted to the menace this year and instructed to arrest and prosecute those found attempting it.

It would be well for any persons contemplating taking deer in this unsportsmanlike fashion to remember that there is more than the risk of a heavy fine or a stretch in a jail cell for the jacklighters. The practice is fatal to the deer but in recent years has been in some cases fatal, in others crippling to the hunters. Excitement runs high in such hunting and on several occasions it has happened that in the dark one of the group has got in the line of fire of a marksman.

HANSARD. — Electors must continue to show their Member of Parliament the confidence they had in him before and at election time. But how can we maintain interest? To this end we recommend to our fellow citizens to subscribe to Hansard, the House of Parliament newspaper which reports in detail all laws and debates which have preceded their adoption — remarks a contemporary, the Arvida (Que.) Complaint on Taxation Inequalities, Lake Louisa

TO THE EDITOR

Lachute, Que.
October 3, 1949

Editor, The Watchman.

Sir:

Two recent issues of The Watchman have contained letters on the situation regarding summer residents at Lake Louisa. That there is something wrong with the values placed on summer camps, as compared with those on business and year-round residences at the lake, is becoming more and more evident to all of us. Judging from the Mayor's letter, our council intends to see that all are treated fairly. It is reported that a business property including a store and dwelling with concrete foundation is taxed on a valuation of $350, while a camp nearly half the size, built on posts and unfinished inside, is taxed at $650, although it is used less than two months of the twelve. Such a condition, if it be so, is certainly sufficient cause for action.

Then too there is the question, as one man says, what benefits come to the taxpayer. I know of none except a very poor summer road.

Why is there no electricity to Lake Louisa? I understand it is already supplied to Dunany summer residents and to all the year-round land owners.

Outside of my two weeks' vacation and a few week-ends I cannot use my camp at Louisa, but certainly electricity should be available for all.

Yours respectfully,

S. L. H. Roussell

On my first business trip to Texas I made a long drive out to the ranch of the man I wanted to see. When told that he was out in the pasture I was greatly relieved for I hated to think of making that long drive again. "Do you mind if I sit here on the front porch until he comes in?" I asked.

"You certainly may", my hostess answered with a twinkle in her eye, "but we don't expect him back for another two weeks or more."

Prehistoric Bones Found in Manitoba

Clay Pit Yields Skeleton, Relic of Ancient Sea

Winnipeg (CP) — The skeleton of a large marine animal, equipped with paddles, large teeth and a short round tail, has been found in the Morden district of Manitoba.

L.T.S. Norris-Elye, director of the Manitoba museum, said recently that the skeleton dates back to prehistoric times — about 65,000,000 years ago — when Manitoba was a large sea. It was identified as a pleniosaur.

It was found by Peter G. Wolke, manager of a clay company. The 17-foot-long skeleton was found lying at the bottom of a shale deposit, eight feet below the original land surface.

The whole mass was covered with plaster-soaked sacking and brought to Winnipeg on a plaster tray. It is the second pleniosaur in the Manitoba museum, the first being donated by R. Mayhew and B. Mayhew of Treherne, Man.

Efforts are being made to find the head of the skeleton, as both specimens are incomplete in that respect. Parts of the jaw and broken teeth were found near the second reptile but decay is so advanced that it is doubtful if they can be mounted.

Nowadays the electric switch makes things go. In the olden days they used the hickory switch.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP
is a lot of little things

A TIME FOR THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving is a brief pause in our busy lives which provides an opportunity to take stock of our good fortune! Family—friends —good health—home—freedom . . . these are among the many blessings for which we should be grateful. We can be thankful, too, that as Canadians, we share more privileges and greater opportunities than the people of any other country in the world. To think of these things, to realize their importance in our individual lives, to appreciate them—these are essentials of "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Brownsburg Council

readily and were more suitable for the purpose.

Mr. Graves felt that local enterprise should have a preference.

Councillor Denault said the matter had been before the public for a long time now. It had been reported several times in The Watchman, and now at the last minute a change was asked for. It should have been put forward before now.

Councillor Wilson agreed. Any delay at this stage would be fatal to plans to have this pumper in operation before the winter months.

It was decided to have the relative merits or preference of the trucks explained by the Bickle-Seagrave Co., meanwhile the contract was signed without alteration — delivery within 90 days; the financial terms, 50 per cent on delivery and the balance in one year. The motion was sponsored by Councillors Wilson and Denault.

Chatham or Brownsburg

Percy Welburn — representing a number of taxpayers who requested water service from the Brownsburg Corporation which was granted at last meeting on condition that they supply materials and complete excavations — asked if the Council would consider cutting the roadway portion of the waterline ditch as they had run into some very difficult digging and the cost would be very high. They would have to spend about $900 on the project and the Council would only connect up and then take revenue; it didn't seem fair.

Mayor Donaldson explained, "These people are from another municipality and offered to dig the ditch and supply the materials if we gave them the water. Now they want to change the conditions and get the people of Brownsburg to foot the bill. They say it is not fair, but what about the people in Brownsburg who would have to pay while some of themselves haven't got water? They might well say it is not fair."

Percy Welburn felt that in coming to the Brownsburg line they should not be expected to dig along the Brownsburg municipal property. They came to the Chatham line.

The secretary-treasurer surprised the Mayor by stating that the Chatham line was much farther along; that even the water line belonging to the Council was in Chatham, and that these men would have a long way to go before entering Brownsburg property. This was done at the time of the original installation to avoid some difficult terrain.

The Mayor exclaimed, "We have enough trouble of our own without attending to the wants of another municipality. We cannot alter the condition set forth in the permission we gave at last meeting".

Mr. Lebrun asked to have a sidewalk erected outside his home. He said, however, he would not pay $1.44 per foot but would pay the prevailing rate of $1.33.

Mayor Donaldson wanted to know where it was constructed for $1.33.

Lebrun: "St. Eustache".

The Mayor: "Well, you arrange with our contractor".

Parking Meters

A representative came before the meeting to demonstrate a parking meter and offer to install for a trial period of 12 months free of cost. He had seen by The Watchman that the council was considering the traffic problem and he "brought the answer". If installed, the meter would cost $70 and be paid from the revenue on a percentage basis. The meeting agreed to consider the matter and meet the representative within three months.

Packaged Chimneys

The same routine as previously reported was enacted when Stan Harris came before the meeting to seek approval for installation of a patent chimney. The council had not received a reply from Quebec Fire Commissioners, and the secretary was directed to write again.

Various Matters

From a reading of the monthly vouchers, it was learned that public assistance of a doubtful nature was responsible for some high charges.

The parking by-law, received in legal form from the Council's legal representative, containing 17 causes, was passed to come into force in 15 days — on motion of Councillor Pariseau, seconded by Councillor Wilson.

The local theatres contributed 5,000 tickets for tax for the month of September.

The secretary observed it would cost $800 to heat the municipal garage this year. At one time it was heated by wood for $75.

Two additional street-lights were ordered erected, one at Convent Street, at the request of Rev. Fr. Bouchard, and one at lower St. George Street.

Amusement Tax

The secretary informed the council that the amusement tax collections were under scrutiny during the week and the revenue officer was not satisfied that all tax had been paid. Some heavy demands for unpaid tax were made to the hotels, which had to be paid, and the Baseball Club an old debt of $61. The Council was directed to appoint a man to check places of amusement to see that tax is paid, and all tickets must be obtained through the Council. Other tickets are illegal unless accompanied by the Council's ticket. Ticket-boxes must be placed at the entrances and checks made — the patrons counted to see if the number corresponds with the tickets sold. The Council is responsible for all tax collected, and can be made to pay. The man appointed can be paid by 10 per cent of the collections, which is the usual way. . . . After some discussion it was decided to appoint the Police Chief for a period of one month.

Next meeting is scheduled for October 17.

Two Hunters Missing In Northern Woods

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights, Oct. 6 — Grave concern is felt over the disappearance of two hunters in the Lake Ward district (towards Lake Anne and Montfort), from whom nothing has been heard since Sunday. Search parties are out in force, to the number of 90, including local residents and a contingent of St. John's Ambulance men.

The missing hunters are Tony Miller and a friend from Montreal, both in their early 20's, who set out Sunday morning from the summer residence of Miller's parents, who are now waiting at Lake Ward in desperation for news of the pair.

Last indication of their whereabouts was the sound of shots and shouting in the darkness late Sunday night. Next morning, however, there was no trace of the missing men in that vicinity. . . The search continues today, Thursday.

Death of Former Lachute Resident

The Late Geo. MacGregor

Older residents of this district, going back some 45 years, will remember that in the stand now occupied by Russell Rodgers there was a flour and feed establishment then operated by George MacGregor, who later disposed of his business and moved to the West.

Mr. MacGregor was twice married, his second wife being Miss Mary McFaul, of the Brownsburg Road, who predeceased him a year ago. From the first union there were born two sons, Alex and Melvin, both now residing in Winnipeg. From his later marriage there were two daughters, Mrs. John McIvor (Janet) of Lowry, Minnesota, Mrs. B. Myers (Margaret), of Winnipeg, and one son, Kenneth, also of Winnipeg.

Mr. MacGregor was 85 years of age. His death occurred suddenly on Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. McIvor, in Lowry. Interment took place today (Thursday) at Winnipeg.

Autumn in the Laurentians

Slowly pass the autumn days,
A drowsy, moving tide,
The maples red are flaming
Upon the mountain side.

The sumac waving proudly,
Each tip a fiery brand,
All up the hillside pasture
In bright array they stand.

The morning mists ascending
Disclose a painting rare,
The emerald fields of springtime
A cloak of yellow wear.

The robin pipes a sad lament
For summer's vanished mirth,
'Ere gray October's mantle
Enfolds the waiting earth.

Muted mornings, songless, dim,
A frosty carpet lying,
Tell us winter's on her way,
With autumn glories dying.

Recently Married In Rochester, N.Y.

Spiggle - McOuat

The marriage of Shirley Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Cameron McOuat (and granddaughter of the late William McOuat of Hill Head), to John Blaine Spiggle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Spiggle, was solemnized recently in Old St. Mary's Church, Rochester, N.Y. The Rev. Francis E. Hester officiated and celebrated the nuptial mass.

"Ave Maria", "Oh Lord, I am not Worthy" and "Pontius Angelicus" were sung during the ceremony; the organist was Miss Claire Cameron and the soloist Mrs. Donald Cemeron. Baskets of white gladioli and white baby mums decorated the church.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a candlelight satin gown in Empire style, the skirt falling in a full court train. Her chapel-length veil of French tulle edged with rose point lace, was held by a Dutch cap; she carried a white prayer book adorned with a white orchid and stephanotis.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Richd. H. Kechn, of Angola, Indiana, was in a dress of blue summer taffeta made with a bustle, with a blue picture-hat, carrying yellow gladioli with Talisman roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary K. Smith and Miss Dolores A. Sallerson, wore gowns similar to the above, carrying roses with bronze and pink gladioli, respectively.

The bride's mother was in a mulberry satin gown and the groom's mother was in beige satin, both with black accessories and corsage bouquets of orchid.

Mr. Geo. E. Perrin was groomsman, while Messrs. David McOuat, Jos. Kuter and John McTigue, all of Rochester, N.Y., acted as ushers.

The wedding breakfast was served at Valley Echo Club, and in the afternoon a reception was held at the bride's home, 130 Antlers Drive, Rochester, where white gladioli and mums formed the decorations. The newlywed couple then left on a motor trip through the New England States.

The bridegroom is a student at the General Motors Institute of Technology.

You Save Money with the DODGE

L-Head Engine... A PART OF DODGE DEPENDABILITY

YOU SAVE MONEY every mile you drive with the Dodge simple-design L-Head engine. There are fewer moving parts to wear. Oil filter, floating oil intake, and air cleaners keep carbon and dirt from moving parts to reduce wear. Such "extra" features as four rings per piston, full length water jackets, lightweight alloy pistons and alloy exhaust valve seat inserts, result in savings on gas, oil, and repairs.

Other leading features of the economical Dodge engine are explained on the right. But in many other ways Dodge gives you more for your money.

You could pay much more, and still not get all of Dodge roominess, beauty and ruggedness. Test for yourself the generous head, leg, and elbow room. Compare the "outlook" through the high, wide windshield. Note how easy it is to get in and out. Try out the new Dodge on the road and discover for yourself its flashing performance, driving ease, safety, and riding smoothness.

No matter which way you look at it, your dollars will go further with Dodge . . . and so will you.

1 L-HEAD OPERATION is quieter, as all moving parts are inside the block. Fewer parts to wear or work loose assure longer life. Simple construction allows easy maintenance.

2 FLOATING POWER is the name given to the scientific Dodge method of mounting the engine on the chassis so that engine vibration is not transmitted to the body. Results in smooth, quiet operation and long car life.

3 OIL BATH AIR CLEANER filters the air before it enters the carburetor. By keeping dust out of the engine, it cuts down repairs and lengthens engine life.

4 OIL FILTER of micronic type, filters even the smallest particles of carbon or dirt out of the oil and so reduces wear on bearings and cylinder walls for long, trouble-free engine life.

5 WEATHERPROOF IGNITION SYSTEM gives maximum protection against water and dirt for dependable all-weather operation. Distributor has a new splash-proof cap. Centre distributor brush has a 10,000 ohm carbon suppressor which allows a wider spark gap setting for better idling and low-speed performance.

6 AUTOMATIC CHOKE. The choke enriches the mixture by automatically reducing the proportion of air drawn through the carburetor during warm-up, to provide easy starting under all weather conditions. Saves fuel by preventing too rich an operating mixture.

7 FLUID DRIVE on Custom Dodge models lets you drive, relaxed, in high gear most of the time. It is particularly effective on wet pavement, ice or mud, allowing smooth transfer of power without stalling. The Custom Dodge is still the lowest-priced car in Canada with Fluid Drive as standard equipment.

CHECK THESE "EXTRA" FEATURES WHICH ARE STANDARD EQUIPMENT ON THE NEW DODGE. Automatic electric choke; Automatic ignition key starting; Aluminum alloy pistons; Four rings per piston; Low pressure tires; Chain camshaft drive; Oil bath air cleaner; Oil filter; Floating oil intake; Hotchkiss drive; Safety-Rim wheels; Floating Power engine mounting; Chair-height seats; Full-width defroster vents.

The Royal Month, October

By E. J. Gray

The rainbow month is here again, and brings its welcome to all. Stolid and unpromising indeed must be that nature that does not respond even to the name — October — which to us, Canadians, means blue skies, fleecy clouds and glorious air — all given with a prodigality characteristic of the "hearty, happy maid."

The leaves grow resplendent as the days go by. "Every leaf intensely blossoming makes the year's sunset pale the set of day" is the thought which comes to our minds. Nature is getting ready to go to sleep, but before she slumbers she closes her summer revelry with the full gorgeousness of ripeness and fruition.

And how the human mood fits into this rich display! We are not hungry now for hepaticas and violets; we have absorbed so much of summer fulness that we are in no mood to thrill over budding beauty. We are not listening for the first bird note, nor even missing the bird-chorus, but as we walk through fields and woods we realize what a royal month it is.

Far away in the distance lie the grand old Laurentians, rising height upon height, veiled in purple haze and crowned with golden sunlight. Below them, flows the Ottawa, running like a silver thread between the sun-clad hills and the dark valleys and woods of the foreground clothed in their autumn splendor.

On either side of us are heaps upon heaps of gold. Leaves of gold fall in showers; apples of gold are heaped high in the orchard; and yonder the sceptres of golden corn are waiting to shed their bounty on all who grasp them; while huge balls of gold brighten the harvested corn-field. Through the pasture we go, stopping for a few minutes to watch the blue-birds collecting in flocks, ready to say good-bye and move southward for the winter.

As we reach the grand old woods in which stand the monarchs of the forest, we listen to the leaves scurrying before us at every gust of wind. The little brook that tinkled its way merrily through the glade is silent now, the flowers are preparing for their long winter sleep and over all breathes the spirit of repose.

Up on the hillside are the beech trees. Let us see if the squirrels have left us any nuts. We turn over the golden-yellow leaves and peer into hollows, but as we walk through fields and woods we realize what a royal month it is.

Lamb – A Favorite Meat

Lamb is always an excellent choice for good meals, but is particularly choice at this time of year. Spring lamb used to be a seasonal treat, but is now a year-round meat.

Lamb rib or loin chops and leg of lamb are, of course, well known but the shoulder makes a most desirable roast or it may be cut into chops. A rolled breast cut will also make a good roast. Ground lamb, made into patties or a meat loaf are among the less expensive lamb dishes. Lamb shanks are also a good buy. In fact practically every cut of lamb is so tender it may be roasted, broiled or pan-broiled.

Lamb stews have a definite place in a menu well-planned for flavor and variety.

Here are several recipes from the home economists of the Consumer Section. The homemaker will welcome them.

Lamb Ragout

2 Pounds stewing lamb, 2 tablespoons fat, 8 cups hot water, 1 large onion chopped, ½ cup uncooked rice, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1½ cups caned tomatoes, 1 cup drained canned peas, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon vinegar, 2 tablespoons cold water.

Wipe lamb with a damp cloth and cut into 1-inch pieces. Fry in fat until lightly browned then add hot water and simmer, covered, for 1½ hours. Add chopped onion, rice, salt and pepper and simmer ½ hour longer then add canned tomatoes and peas and cook for 10 minutes. Blend flour to a smooth paste with vinegar and cold water and add to stew, cooking and stirring until thickened, about 15 minutes. Serve immediately. Yield: six servings.

Barbecued Lamb Shanks

3 Lamb shanks, salt and pepper, 2 cups water, 2 cups cooked noodles or rice, 1½ cups Barbecue Sauce (recipe below).

Wipe meat with damp cloth, season with salt and pepper, cover with the water and simmer until tender, about 1½ hours. Remove meat from the bones and cut into small pieces. Place the cooked noodles or rice in a casserole, place meat over top and cover with hot Barbecue Sauce. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., about 30 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Barbecue Sauce

1 Small onion chopped, 2 tablespoons fat, 1½ tablespoons brown sugar, 1 cup water, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon paprika, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1½ tablespoons vinegar, dash of cayenne pepper, ½ dash chili sauce, salt and pepper to taste.

Brown chopped onion in fat. Add remaining ingredients and combine thoroughly. Bring to boil and use as suggested above. Yield: 1½ cups sauce.

Macaroni Lamb Stew

2 Pounds stewing lamb, 6 cups water, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup uncooked macaroni, 1 green pepper chopped.

Wipe lamb with a damp cloth and cut into 1-inch pieces. Add water, salt, and pepper and cook, covered, for 1 hour. Add macaroni and cook for 20 minutes then add chopped green pepper and cook for 10 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Lamb Broth with Leeks

Cover lamb bones with water and simmer, covered, for 2 hours. Strain and cool. Remove fat and measure broth. For every cup of broth add 1 tablespoon barley, 3 tablespoons thinly sliced leeks and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer slowly, covered, for 1½ to 2 hours.

Final Entries Close October 10th for Ottawa Winter Fair

Those who contemplate making entries for the Ottawa Winter Fair and Horse Show, to be held October 24th to 28th, in light horses, Classes 71 to 124, poultry, seeds, fruits, vegetables, ornamental horticulture and junior agriculture, are reminded the closing date is Monday, October 10th.

Entries should be sent to H. H. McElroy, Manager and Secretary, Ottawa Winter Fair, Coliseum, Lansdowne Park, Ottawa, accompanied by the necessary fee.

Prize money being offered exceeds $20,000.

It is commonly believed that a cross-eyed person always sees double. This is not true. Such a person usually uses only one eye.

From Across the Border

The following item, sent to a reader, appeared in "The Elm City Clarion" by a columnist in a New Haven, Conn., newspaper:

Mrs. Gordon Davidson, antique dealer from LaChute, Quebec, Canada, phoned in today that she has just returned from her native home in Scotland and will be down here tomorrow to move in her exhibit. She is bringing some early silver from Duke of Sutherland's estate in Scotland, to be displayed at the Antiques Show. She also brought back a collection of early English 17th century pomade pottery, used by dukes and lords to grease their wigs.

Program of Sex Education Advocated at Conference

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF PROT. SCHOOL BOARDS HELD RECENTLY

A well-integrated program of sex education, under supervision of specially trained persons, should be introduced to the school curriculum, it was decided at the 20th annual convention of the Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards, held at the Three Rivers High School recently. A. R. Almond, B.A., chairman of the Hudson School Board and principal of Kensington School, Montreal, was elected president of the association succeeding J. V. Waddell, of Ste. Rose.

Among other resolutions passed were two resolves urging—federal aid to education; and taxes removed from school buses and other equipment used entirely for educational purposes.

Officers elected for the coming year, other than Mr. Almond and Mr. Waddell, were: Honorary president, Dr. W. P. Percival, of Quebec, director of Protestant education; 1st vice-president, B. W. Draper, Bedford, Que.; 2nd vice-president, Dr. C. N. Crutchfield, Shawinigan Falls; and secretary-treasurer, A. Whitehead, Bury, Que.

Named members of the Executive Committee were J. E. Connors, Magog; R. Flood, Waterloo; W. H. Baglow, Bedford; H. B. Lee, St. Lambert; Dr. C. S. Harris, Magog; Dr. M. R. Stalker, Ormstown; Dr. R. H. Stevenson, Danville; Dr. R. Turnbull, Beauharnois, and J. S. Hamilton, Lennoxville.

There was a record attendance at the convention, with membership increased to 104 Quebec Province school boards.

Greetings from fraternal organizations were delivered by Dr. Percival; Miss Ruth Lowe, president of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers; and Dr. E. C. Powell, president of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations.

Among the guest speakers at the convention were Dr. K. E. Norris, principal of Sir George Williams College, Montreal, whose subject was "The School and the Individual", and Dr. C. N. Crutchfield, principal of the Shawinigan Technical Institute, who spoke on "Vocational Guidance in the Schools".

A smile is contagious, but the health department doesn't object.

Cows Struck and Killed On Route 8 at Fassett

Chatham Mayor Injured In Accident

François Whissel, Mayor of Chatham, met misfortune on Route 8 near Fassett last Sunday. It is stated by Mr. Whissel that, while driving homeward with two passengers last Sunday evening around 7.30, he came upon a herd of eight cattle along the road, and as he passed the spot his car struck four of the animals, which veered into his path. Mr. Whissel alleges the cattle were being chased by a dog.

The driver of the automobile was thrown to the road as the car door opened. He was injured about the back and abdomen. The other occupants were unhurt. Three of the cows were killed while the fourth died later as a result of the collision; the automobile was damaged to the extent of $850.

Traffic Officer Gaston Garçeau, of Hull, was called to investigate the accident.

Brownsb'g Legion Dance November 25 to Climax Campaign for Drawing

Polio Fund Aided by Ladies' Auxiliary

Brownsburg — As a fitting wind-up to its 1949 campaign for subscriptions towards funds for a Memorial Hall in Brownsburg, the Brownsburg Legion plans to hold a monster dance at the Lachute Golf Club on November 25. Don Reid's orchestra will provide the music; admission price will be 75c. Opportunity will be taken at this dance to draw for the 1949 Meteor DeLuxe Sedan and other valuable prizes, on which all ticket holders will have a chance.

Due to circumstances beyond its control, the Legion's drive has been lagging somewhat, and it was thus necessary to postpone the draw. The campaign will be intensified in the final weeks, however, in the hope that at least the expenses and the cost of prizes will be covered, and thus avoid a loss which the Brownsburg Legion can ill afford. Should the latter be the case, it will mean that the start of construction on a Legion Memorial Hall will be delayed still further, as sufficient funds are not yet on hand for this purpose. Citizens of Brownsburg and the county are earnestly asked to assist by subscribing one dollar or more, and, incidentally, have a chance to win one of the attractive prizes. The Meteor car, thanks to the co-operation of Hawkesbury Motors and Pollock & Graves Reg'd, is presently on display in Brownsburg, and will be exhibited in various other centres.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brownsburg Legion, who conducted a house-to-house canvass in Brownsburg on behalf of Quebec Command's polio campaign, have announced that a total of $245 was raised, including a donation of $25 by the Rotary Club. These ladies raised $111 from a tea social held in the spring for the same purpose. Thus Brownsburg has contributed a total of $356 to the Quebec Legion's polio campaign for 1949.

The Ladies' Auxiliary also held a successful afternoon tea and sale of work and cooking at the Brownsburg Social Club on Saturday, October 1. A drawing for a beautiful ring, kindly donated by Mrs. Frank H. Barnes, took place during the afternoon; this was won by Miss Juliette St. Jean.

District Scouters to Confer at N. Hatley

Once again, Scout leaders from many parts of the Province will gather this week-end at North Hatley, where the 14th Provincial Scouters' Conference will be held. Robert Blake, assistant district Scout commissioner for Sherbrooke, will welcome the delegates, who will spend the Thanksgiving week-end together; and the mayor will officially open the conference.

G. Robley Mackay, of Montreal, provincial commissioner, will be general chairman; and E. F. Mills, executive commissioner for training at Canadian Scout headquarters, Ottawa, will be the guest and chief speaker. Special sessions will be in charge of Col. P. D. Baird, director of the Arctic Institute of North America, Mrs. Alice J. Turnham of the McGill University Museums, Ian Roberts of the Alpine Club of Canada, and H. Hamilton, an archery expert. Leaders of conference sessions will include J. W. Phillips of Quebec, Evan McCormick, C. J. Dendy and S. A. Richardson, of Montreal.

Besides the above there will be practical Scouting and Cubbing sessions; demonstrations of handicrafts, exhibits of camping equipment, literature, etc., dancing and films. A Scouts' Own devotional service will be conducted on Sunday morning (outside if possible) by Rev. Robert Beale, assistant minister of Wesley United Church in Montreal.

Those eligible to attend the Conference include all leaders and assistants, over 21, of Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Rover Crews, Group Committeemen and others interested in the practical side of the Scout Movement throughout the Province. Last year about 120 leaders and guests attended, and it is hoped to boost that number to 150 this year.

Streets, Property Roll and Routine Matters Before Municipal Council

Police Code By-Law Passes First Reading

At the regular session of Lachute Town Council for October, all members were present with the exception of Ald. Wm. S. MacKimmie.

The land surveyor retained by the corporation, Mr. Migneault, gave information that the provincial Department of Cadastres offers no ruling on approval of the plan of Frances Street, and recommended that if Council doubted the legality of this plan, they should consult the town's legal adviser. . Mr. Migneault gave a rebate on his account of $70 against the town, in consideration of prompt payment.

Accounts were approved for a total of $7,914.50.

Four building permits were granted, as follows — to Mrs. E. K. Wilson for construction of a house on the Brownsburg Road; to Lachute Lumber & Millwork Ltd. for an extension to its plant; to Dr. W. M. Hooper for erection of a residence on Main Street; and to Ed Clement, Foundry Street, for alterations to his store front.

Mayor Carriere and the secretary-treasurer were authorized to sign a deed with Aldège Filion for a piece of land 80 feet in length for a continuation of Robert Street eastward, for the sum of $1.00.

The Mayor stated he had a proposal from a ratepayer offering the town a strip of land for laying of a street which could be the continuation of Water Street through from Main to Berry. . . The council would be interested in taking this over, providing the land was sold for a nominal price of $1.00.

To ensure business-like administration in collection of the Amusement Tax, and in accordance with authority granted in By-law 174, Chief of Police Donat Villeneuve was appointed a special officer to supervise collection of the tax in town — in compliance with the law governing this levy — his remuneration to be 6 per cent of the portion of the tax belonging to the municipality.

The property valuation roll was homologated with one revision, namely, a reduction of $4,000 in valuation set on the new Legion Memorial Hall.

The secretary read By-law No. 178, the revised code concerning Lachute's police department, and the by-law was adopted in its first reading.

The secretary was authorized to call for tenders for supplying of fuel wood (as subsequently advertised).

Council gave its consent to the Bell Telephone Company to install plant in Lachute — specifically, an underground cable on a portion of Main Street, at the shopping centre.

Prime Minister to Speak in United States

Toronto — The Prime Minister of Canada, Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, will deliver his first public address in the United States tomorrow, October 14. The occasion is the 125th anniversary celebration of the founding of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y. Mr. St. Laurent will speak on "The Relations Between the United States and Canada."

The Prime Minister's address will be broadcast in the United States, and will be recorded for broadcast on the CBC the following day, Saturday, between 3.30 and 4 p.m. E.S.T.

The Rensselaer Institute was founded in 1824 and is the oldest school of science with a continuous existence in the United States. It teaches technical subjects at university level and was founded by Stephen Van Rensselaer, of Albany, N.Y.

Lineman Injured In Fall from Pole

Henri Plouffe, a lineman with the Gatineau Power Company, fell from a height of 30 feet while working on a pole Monday afternoon, and fractured his left leg above the ankle when he struck the gravel road. The accident occurred in front of the church at St. Michel, where the electric company is extending a line to the village and vicinity.

Plouffe was brought to Lachute by his fellow workers and received treatment from Dr. Marc Papineau at the Provindence Hospital, where he was kept under hospital care.

In his early twenties, the young man had been only a short time in the employ of Gatineau Power Company.

Mgr. H. Brosseau Speaker at Lions

$100 Donation Voted to Catholic Boys' and Girls' Recreation Committee

The Lions Club semi-monthly meeting, held on Tuesday of last week at the Golf Club chalet, was one of those gala gatherings attended by many guests, both ladies and gentlemen.

President Herbert Rigg was in the chair, and during the brief business period, the members voted a donation of $100 to the recreation committee for Catholic boys and girls — the group responsible for a very worthy and successful enterprise in the form of Sunday afternoon programs at the local parish church. Lion Bob Marcil, secretary treasurer of this organization known as "Les Loisirs Ste. Anàstasie", received the donation and cordially thanked the Lions on behalf of his committee.

Speaker of the evening was a popular cleric and prelate of the Catholic diocese, Monsignor H. D. J. Brosseau. Now resident at Montebello, Father Brosseau is happily known in these parts as a former parish priest at Grenville for many years. The topic of his address was "The Law of Compensation", in which the speaker told his audience the secret of happiness — how to be happy "when you have the things you don't want, and when you haven't the things you do want". Mgr. Brosseau was introduced by Mayor Leopold Carrière and thanked by Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A.

During the supper session, Lion Angelo Fassio gave a choice violin selection, accompanied at the piano by Miss Juliette Rodrique, and also led the gathering in the theme song "Lions of the North", which is an exclusively local composition with music by Lion Fassio, French lyric by Lion Gaetan Valois, and English version by Don Titman.

Mishap With Rifle At St. Michel

Three men were casualties in the first hunting mishap reported to local police. The accident occurred last Saturday at St. Michel de Wentworth, where a guide from that vicinity was in company with a party of hunters from Montreal. The party were discussing and inspecting firearms, when a Remington rifle with its safety-catch disengaged, discharged in the hand of one of the hunters. The bullet projected downwards, striking rock, and the guide, Roger Richer, and two members of the party were injured by flying shot. Richer was struck in both feet, while the others were struck in the thigh and the lobe of the ear, respectively. The trio were brought to the Providence Hospital at Lachute, receiving treatment from Dr. Jacques Castagnay of Brownsburg. Richer was the only one detained for further treatment.

Det. Philippe Therriault, of the provincial poice, was called from Lachute to investigate the incident.

ANNUAL PARADE FOR FIRE PREVENTION WEEK FIRE BRIGADE RECORD MERITS RECOGNITION

The annual parade of fire trucks and equipment was held Monday evening as a send-off to local observances for Fire Prevention Week. With sirens sounding, and appropriate signs displayed, the parade made the rounds of the streets.

On the program this week has been a series of fire drills in the Lachute and district schools — Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon taking occasion to address the children and stress the matter of fire safety as a personal responsibility.

* * *

Need Public Co-operation

Lachute's volunteer fire department is constantly on the alert to give quick response — since to combat a blaze in its earliest stages is the most effective means of control. While meeting occasional criticism from dissatisfied quarters, such as any public service is exposed to—nevertheless the fire brigade has the approval and commendation of the Lachute public almost 100 per cent. The evidence of their attention to duty is self-sufficient; if this evidence needs corroboration, it is readily found in the per capita fire losses of this community, which have compared favorably with those in similar centres over a long period of years.

By reason of their constitution as a volunteer brigade—not a full-time, full-pay organization — obviously neither Fire Chief Deacon nor his men can spare time from their pursuits to promote the theme of fire prevention year in and year out. They cannot conduct regular inspections and press periodically for the removal of hazards. Of necessity they must concentrate upon these matters during Fire Prevention Week — for which purpose the annual observance is well suited in such communities as Lachute. . . The moral of this situation, therefore, is that the public should absorb the lessons of Fire Prevention Week, encourage the younger folk in fire consciousness and precaution, and thus collaborate with the fire brigade for sound results — low fire losses reflecting in favorable insurance rates.

New Secretary Chatham Tw'p

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — All has not been well with the Chatham Council for some time. Tax requests and demands were disputed, and accounts payable were unsatisfied. A considerable increase in the general tax rate did nothing to allay the public uneasiness; in fact, it moved a number of taxpayers to circulate a demand for an independent audit, covered by an indemnity of $500 as required by the Municipal Code.

At a meeting of the council last Friday, the resignation of Albini Lamarche as secretary-treasurer of the township was duly accepted. Notary Jacques Beaudoin, of Lachute, was appointed to fill the vacant office.

Welfare Presentation from Lions Club

At the Lions Club meeting last week, in the presence of many guests and friends, a cheque of $100 was presented by President Bert Rigg to Mr. Robert Marcil, the secretary-treasurer of "Les Loisirs Ste. Anastasie", a group which has conducted a highly successful program of recreation for children at the local Catholic Church.

Plowmen from Three Counties Vie in Annual Argenteuil Plowing Contest

At the Argenteuil Plowing Match yesterday, despite continuous rain, there was a field of 47 competitors and a large spectator list. The event was held at the farm of the late Alex Doig, where the traffic — tractors, machinery and sturdy teams of horses — churned mud underfoot to hamper operations; and the Vide Sac road, for some distance in both directions, was packed with cars.

The organizing committee of the Argenteuil Plowmen's Association, with Stuart Armstrong president and E. Emmett secretary, express keen satisfaction with the outcome of this event. The entries were more than double those of last year, with quite a number of competitors from Two Mountains and Ontario. In addition there was more enthusiastic support from the business men and local public.

Mrs. Norman Thorburn, on whose farm the competition was held, provided luncheon to the plowmen. Mrs. Thorburn, incidentally, was the only woman plowing in the match, ranking among prize winners in a class of nine men.

A complete list of awards will be available for publication next week. Meanwhile, here are a few of the outstanding winners:

Best ridge in the field, for men 21 years and over — Horace Lepage, St. Hermas (winning the Rotary trophy and the Association award, a trip to Toronto Winter Fair).

Best ridge, junior class — G. Charbonneau, St. Benoit (Lions Club cup).

Best horse-pulling — Watson Berry's team of Percherons (hauling almost four tons); second, W. Brass, Clydesdales.

Best team and outfit — John Heatlie & Son; second, Erskine Rodger; third, Robt. Wilson, Vankleek Hill.

Best plow team — W. Brass.

Property Transfer

An item of interest in real estate developments is the recent purchase of the late Peter Dobbie's residence on Main Street — the property having been acquired jointly by Chas. McFaul, retired business man, and R. A. Giles.

While no plans have been formed for development of this property, bids have been invited for demolition and removal of the dwelling and it is likely some business project will be launched in keeping with the development of the shopping section around this point.

* * *

The building of a sidewalk on Berry Street, and the establishment of the Provincial Transport terminal on this thoroughfare, suggests the logical trend of business southward in this direction, bridging the uninteresting gap between Main Street and the bright lights that have sprung up on Foundry Street of late.

The residential and industrial growth of this town is self-evident — even if the latter is slow and steady. And in stride with this growth there will be a consequent spread of the retail store business, an increase of garages and similar services, and probably of the professions. . . The direction taken by this growth is a matter of speculation from time to time, but the modernizing of properties has been very evident of late in, and adjacent to, the established shopping section of Main Street.

Friends should not be chosen to flatter. The quality we should prize is that rectitude which will shrink from no truth. — Channing

Decisive Views in Ottawa Debate, Bill Seeking to Ban Crime Comics

By Ken Metheral

Ottawa, Oct. 11 (CP) — The welfare of Canada's 13,000,000 citizens is always, in some form or another, very much on the minds of the Men on Parliament Hill.

The discussions ranged over a wide series of problems in Ottawa last week, but labor problems and crime-laden comic books stole most of the limelight. . Fittingly, one of the Commons' younger members raised the question of comics. And E. D. Fulton, 33-year-old lawyer who holds the British Columbia riding of Kamloops for the Progressive Conservatives, found quick support from members, young and old alike.

Mr. Fulton, who is national leader of the Young Progressive Conservative Association and whose friends invariably call him "Davie", introduced a private bill that would amend the criminal code to make crime comics illegal. The bill is not aimed at the kind of comic strip found in newspapers. It is aimed at the lurid, hair-raising, blood-and-thunder comics bought in book form for a dime.

Clergymen, veterans, lawyers, farmers and businessmen joined in the debate. Party lines were forgotten as members joined in discussing the problem that some described as "leading Canada's youth to violence, crime and murder".

Hush-Hush Circulation

H. P. Cavers, a lawyer from St. Catharines, Ont., who sits on the overflowing Liberal benches as member for Lincoln, solemnly told the house that youngsters themselves are frustrating attempts by responsible parents to stamp out the "menace". Youngsters, he said, circulate lurid and obscene crime comics by hush-hush, hand-to-hand methods. As a result parents — as well-meaning as they may be — are unable to keep such vice-ridden comics from children.

And that was why he was supporting the bill. He felt the Commons had better take some action to clamp down on magazines that did little more than glamorize crime in the minds of impressionable young people.

Another ardent supporter of the bill was the Rev. E. G. Hansell, witty Social Credit member for Macleod. Mr. Hansell said he had been studying the problem for a long time. He had built up "quite a file" of crime comic material during the last few years. He admitted he had quite a job keeping his own youngsters from reading crime comics. Mr. Hansell took part in the debate well equipped to prove what he was talking about. He waved a book in the air which he said no boy or girl would dare to take "into the home, for fear Dad would take them out to the woodshed and paddle them for reading it." He jokingly offered to let members read it — "but please, after the adjournment, do not rush me."

Slick Sleuthing

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — Last week The Watchman carried a story of a robbery at a store in this village. Among the articles taken when the window was broken and the door pushed in, was a United States one-dollar bill. The local police chief concentrated on the dollar bill. The number was unknown but the currency was foreign. Very soon a report was received that an American dollar had been tendered in payment, and the Chief set to work. It was a woman, who could not remember where she obtained it. Her husband remembered he gave it to her, but he denied all knowledge of the robbery. During the investigation the Chief found the suspect was involved in the purchase of a watch which was not paid for. There was a watch stolen in this robbery too. The suspect suddenly remembered where he got the American dollar. The trail led away to the new suspect, who confessed to the robbery. Result — all the stolen articles were recovered and returned to their rightful owners, and the unpaid watch was also recovered. The culprit was dealt with by summary jurisdiction; fined $25.00 with costs, he received a suspended sentence of two months.

"IN BROWNSBURG"

Jay Walking

Every city in this continent has its quota of "jay-walkers". Why people will risk their lives to gain a minute in time, is the question which safety engineers have long studied but never solved. Heavy motor traffic seems to have begotten a habitual contempt for the dangers of street crossing, and a red light at the intersection is regarded as a challenge to the dexterity with which people cross to the other side. Along the sidewalks pedestrians bump and dodge without regard for order or right of way, and one often sees two people side-stepping like boxers, thinking alike and at the same moment stepping into each other in an endeavor to avoid meeting head-on. Be alert today . . and you will be alive tomorrow.

* * *

Dogs Too

Bed-time Story: There was a collie who liked to sleep on the roadway. He lived in a residential district where the traffic was not too heavy. There was a cement sidewalk outside his home, but he preferred the soft dust of the roadway beyond. There he lay down to sleep . . and there too the truck felt it had the right of way. Well, one day last week the two — the dog and the truck — met; and now the dog doesn't sleep there any more. He's dead.

Louisa Road

Further improvements are being made on the Louisa Road, and some still dangerous corners are being cut. Mayor J. Donaldson has undertaken the work at the request of Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., and has a gang of men working there. Residents along the way, and summer residents at Louisa, are highly pleased with the progress made.

St. Philippe Corner

There is a dangerous corner at the junction of the Staynerville Road with No. 8 Highway. This hole needs filling with a tile to convey the water at the side. Evidently the powers-that-be are waiting for an accident to notify them of the condition.

Sequel to B'burg Highway Death

Motorist Fined for Reckless Driving; Permit Suspended

Facing a charge of reckless driving, arising out of the recent death of William J. McAndrew on the Lachute - Brownsburg Road — the driver of the car, Joseph A. Savaria, 31, of Alfred, Ont., pleaded guilty before Justice Herman Barrette at St. Jerome last Friday, and was fined $50 and costs. His driving permit was suspended for a period of three months.

This case was an incident unusual in recent highway records, since the coroner's jury failed to agree upon a verdict. The fatality occurred on the night of July 30 last, and the inquest was held here in Lachute August 2.

Philippe Valois, B.A., LL.B., was counsel for the defendant.

* * *

In the same sitting of Sessions of the Peace, Albert Lafleur, of St. Philippe, pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving and was given a fine of $30 and costs, his permit being also withdrawn for a period of three months.

Two years in reform school was the penalty meted out to a young offender from St. Andrews East, Guy Larocque, aged 16. The youth pleaded guilty to two charges of theft — specifically of having stolen cigarettes and liquor from the St. Andrews Golf Club, and also a number of Family Allowance cheques.

Georges H. Héon, K.C., was prosecuting attorney in all three cases.

'RED TRUCK' TO COLLECT FOR SALVATION ARMY

The Salvation Army "red truck" will be visiting Lachute on Monday, October 17, to pick up paper salvage, old clothing, furniture, etc., which citizens may wish to donate to the Salvation Army Men's Social Service Centre. It is requested that donors place parcels at their doors, on their verandas, or where the driver can see and stop and pick them up.

Survey of Facilities For Rural Health

Much has been written and said regarding the scarcity of doctors and the lack of adequate health facilities in rural areas of Canada. The Quebec Women's Institutes are endeavoring to obtain a true picture of conditions as they exist in this province and are enlisting the help of the local branches in making an exhaustive survey, which should be most complete as these groups are situated in representative sections of Quebec.

The number of doctors, dentists, public health nurses, hospitals, and how equipped — clinics, County Health Units, etc. — are some of the facts asked for, as well as figures on infant and child mortality, care of the mother, immunization, and other related facts.

The Health Study Bureau, Toronto, is keenly interested in this undertaking and is most anxious to hear the result, and the Q.W.I. convener of Welfare and Health, Mrs. H. Ellard, is hopeful that branches will co-operate fully and thus ensure the success of the survey.

Britain's First Jet Airliner

Britain's first four-jet airliner, the de Havilland Comet, recently underwent a series of ground tests and made a trial flight. Fourteen of these airliners are being built for use on international routes of British Overseas Airways and British European Airways, and are hoped to be in service by 1952. Powered by four jet motors buried in the thin wings, the Comet is designed to carry 36 passengers at 40,000 feet at speeds approaching 500 miles per hour.

The new jet airliner is here pictured with a de Havilland 108 in the foreground, which was used to calculate wing resistance and speed for the new plane during the test.

YOUNG FARMERS GUESTS AT MONT'L KIWANIS SUPPER

At the annual harvest luncheon of the Kiwanis Club of Montreal, held at the Mount Royal Hotel last week, the following boys and girs from this county were guests — Earl Graham, Arundel; Beulah Purdy, Brownsburg; Kenneth McOuat, St. Andrews.

Previous to the luncheon the boys and girls visited the Coca-Cola plant on Bellechasse Street, where thousands of bottles of 'coke" are bottled every minute.

These three young people were extended invitations to the banquet for having been winners in the livestock judging at the 1949 Lachute Spring Fair. They were accompanied by the local agronomist, Alex Bothwell.

In the fish hatchery operated in Banff National Park more than two million young fish are reared annually for distribution in the park and in adjoining provincial waters.

Manslaughter Trial Opens at St. Jerome

In Criminal Assizes at St. Jerome, the case of Jack Brabant, charged with manslaughter, is scheduled for hearing today before Justice Philemon Cousineau.

Brabant, 21-year-old resident of l'Orignal, Ont., was held in connection with the death of Ernest Lanthier, a Grenville hotelman, following an argument outside the latter's premises on August 21, 1948. The victim died October 30 last, as a result of injuries, and Brabant was arrested for culpable homicide. After spending eight months detained in jail, the accused was granted bail and has since enlisted in the Royal 22nd Regiment of the permanent army.

Brabant is represented by Jacques Beauchamp, Montreal lawyer. The case for the prosecution is in the hands of Georges H. Héon, K.C.

Montreal (CP) — Police are sponsoring a boys' band in Montreal — partly for the purpose of cutting down on juvenile delinquency. But they won't have a shortage of musicians. Band members will be chosen from the 50,000 members of the Police Juvenile Club.

Gatineau LINES

"Thank You"

Yes, we mean just that — a big and sincere "thank you" to all our customers who co-operated with us this summer in locating and removing trees or tree branches likely to affect power lines. The help we received from our customers, both in reporting situations likely to become troublesome and in extending permission to work on private property, was greater this year than ever before.

All this should pay off in terms of less frequent power breaks due to trees during the stormy weather ahead. The co-operation of our customers, therefore, probably will be translated into more trouble-free electrical service during the winter than would have been the case if this help had not been extended.

Trees, of course, are a constant menace to power lines. In bad storms, they may snap off and fall across electric wires, disrupting service. (One exceptionally bad case like this during the summer cut off power in the Lachute area for more than 18 hours). Even more frequently trees cause trouble when wet, icy, or snow-covered branches swaying in the wind rub against power lines and cause short circuits.

Power companies maintain a constant vigil, winter and summer, in an effort to correct troublesome situations before they occur. Crews are constantly on patrol, removing a branch here and there in an effort to keep the lines free of danger. In this work, the assistance of customers has been of considerable help.

This co-operation helps improve your service, but it also costs money to remove trees and branches. When lines are knocked down, when short circuits develop, the costs of the power company go up. There are costs of sending men to repair the damage — and wages are higher now than ever before. There are costs of new wire, new insulators, new transformers — and all these things now cost more than ever before. So every break in service means higher costs to the company as well as inconvenience to customers.

As higher costs of repairs must still come out of money resulting from the sale of electricity, our customers have not only helped eliminate inconvenience in the future; they have also aided to some extent in the constant struggle to keep electricity rates low.

Did You Know?
Gatineau Power spends thousands of dollars each year in tree-trimming operations — in order to provide YOU with better service. Such preventive work adds to the cost of improved service.

Pests and Disasters Reap 50% World Food Stuffs

At the recent meeting of the International Congress of Crop Production in London, England, it was estimated that 50 per cent of the crops grown, harvested and stored was ravaged by pests and plant diseases.

According to authorities of the Food and Agricultural Organization of U.N.O., annual losses of world grain crops alone to insects and diseases amount to 65,000,000 tons. Yearly losses from potato blight were given as 10 per cent of the entire crop. Even after the crops are harvested an additional loss of eight per cent is suffered, reports C-I-L Agricultural News.

During and since World War II, knowledge concerning the control of pests and diseases had been gradually expanding. Research has brought forward many new and highly effective insecticides and fungicides. But these are not the final answer, state international agricultural experts. Their solution to the problem as a whole would be to convince farmers that gains equal to those derived from fertilizer applications can also be obtained from use of modern crop protection methods.

Goose Pelts

(American Poultry Journal)

Perhaps few people realize the marketable products that can be obtained from geese. Geese are usually thought of in terms of roast goose, goose liver, goose grease and feathers. However, just recently, goose pelts have come on the market and are already very much in demand.

In order to get these pelts or hides, the geese are killed in the regular way and picked of only the big feathers—the down is left on all over the body. Each goose is then skinned. The hides are degreased by drying and are then tanned, bleached and dyed. After dyeing, the hide is then dried again and cut into the desired shapes. This whole process takes a period of about two months, because so much drying time is necessary. This drying is important because the pelt does not dye uniformly unless it is dried sufficiently.

Western Oil Wells Testing Jet Method

Vancouver (CP) — A new system of "jet-propulsion" to replace oil well pumps has been invented by Walter Scott of Vancouver, and it's being tried out on prairie oil wells.

Instead of pumping oil from slow-moving, highly viscous deposits, the machine provides a jet thrust through a pipe into the well, giving power and heat to the heavy oil and bringing it to the surface economically.

Says inventor Scott: "The simplicity of the installation and the unit itself are based on the jet propulsion method and theory now employed for high speed aircraft."

Equipment in Use For Haying, Ensiling

In a thorough study of equipment for harvesting hay and silage, W. Kalbfleisch, Agricultural Farm, Ottawa, says that forage crops may be harvested as dry hay or as silage by many difefrent methods and by means of various types of equipment.

There is no single method or group of machines which is suitable for all farms and all conditions of operation. The system used in harvesting will depend primarily on the amount of hay harvested, investment in equipment, climatic conditions, man labor requirements, storage methods and location, topography of the land and on many other factors.

Cutting and raking the crop does not present so many problems as in curing and transferring the crop to storage, he says. The hand loading method is costly in manual labor, while the investment in equipment is low. With combination harvesters much less heavy manual labor is required but a large investment is necessary.

To economically harvest a crop it is extremely important that labor be used efficiently and that equipment be properly maintained. Some farmers harvest twice as much hay as others even though they use the same crew and method.

Machinery, where it can be used satisfactorily, efficiently and economically, will aid in harvesting by reducing heavy manual labor which is normally required, by increasing the speed of operations and by lowering the cost per ton in collecting the crop.

But if machinery is not properly maintained and efficiently utilized, it will only partially demonstrate its value and may increase the cost of harvesting the crop.

To give an idea as to whether equipment can be used satisfactorily and economically, the estimated operating costs for the various kinds of equipment are included in the publication. By using this table and estimating how frequently the particular piece of equipment will be used during the year, together with the man hours saved, over older methods, a good indication can be obtained as to whether the initial expenditure for the equipment will be justified.

Copies of the bulletin prepared by Mr. Kalbfleisch, may be obtained by writing to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Ask for Publication 826, Equipment for Harvesting Hay and Silage.

CANADA'S WEALTH

Canada's finest wealth lies in the working man, whoever he may be, whether in the factory or in the field. It is in his intelligence as well as in his heart that he finds the energy, courage and love which make of his work a sort of creed which he dedicates to himself, his family and his race.

The Economy of Using the Best

"EVERYTHING TO BUILD ANYTHING"

The economy of using the best possible materials is made apparent in the upkeep problem. A house or business building may be "thrown together" with cheap material, and it may "look all right," but after it has stood the shock of weather, the real test comes.

It is false economy to use poor materials — and we so advise everyone who buys from us. Our success is due to honesty in materials and prices.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, OCTOBER 9 TO 15

Chimney Fires Are Potentially Serious

WANT a fire at your home this winter? . . Unless you have a streak of arsonist in you, or have some scheme to collect ready cash from the underwriters of your insurance, your answer is fairly certain to be "no".

Commonest and often most potentially serious occasion for bringing out the firemen, especially in rural communities, is the chimney fire. "It's just a chimney fire!" is an oft-heard explanation from the crowd that has gathered on someone's lawn to watch the excitement—from most everyone, that is, except the firemen.

The firemen know that a chimney fire can burn unnoticed for some time, heat bricks till they ignite roofs and the dry stuff around chimneys in attics, in walls and between floors. In buildings predominantly wooden, a chimney fire is potentially as serious as any other blaze.

Fire Prevention Week is now being observed throughout Canada.

There is much for the individual to do during this week, such as cleaning out of fire-hazard rubbish, checking doubtful wiring, locating suitable receptacles for smokers, noting exits for any possible fire situation, improving on fire fighting apparatus including extinguishers, and so on. Fire hazards are a personal matter . . and they have very personal consequences.

Autumn Madness

IN ONE of Lachute's most thriving restaurants last week, the window displayed a sign: "CLOSED — Gone to the World Series" . . .

A first-time tourist from the United Kingdom, visiting Canada recently, might have been forgiven if he had reached the conclusion that most of Canada's population had gone mad. . . Believing himself in a country where the language and customs approximated his own, he found himself assailed on all sides by unintelligible gibberish, which reached a climax in the afternoon hours. Groups of citizens, clustered around offensively-loud radios, were muttering phrases like:

"Watch out for a bunt. . . DiMaggio really clouted that one. . . c'mon Peewee. . . put Page in there."

In restaurants and street-cars, nobody seemed to care about the important things of life, like devaluation or the price of wheat, or what was wrong with their favorite football club. Everyone was talking about DiMaggio and Furillo and Henrich and Raschi. Someone finally explained — a little impatiently — to the visitor, that these people were baseball players.

It seems that Canada, one the crown's brightest jewels, had lost herself completely in the antics of two New York district teams which were playing in what they called the World Series. The papers carried huge photographs of men in peaked caps and the headlines spoke of hurling duels and slugfests.

Accustomed to putting in the odd afternoon at Lord's or the Oval, the visitor must have smiled tolerantly and asked if these supermen from Brooklyn and the Bronx had spent the summer touring Canada and playing baseball in front of these enthusiasts.

They hadn't. Not one in a thousand of the euthusiasts had ever seen them perform.

We hope someone took time between innings to tell the visitor not to despair. The fit was only temporary. When the last pitch thudded into the catcher's glove, it left a sober, sensible Canadian people still cherishing the British tie and ready to live up to its food contracts.

The same people who would gladly give a week's salary for a chance to spend that particular period in Yankee Stadium and Ebbetts Field would be the first to take offence if they were labelled Americans.

OR — as a London newspaper, slightly better informed, observed last week: "Over in New York there appears quite a little fuss over a game of rounders".

All Out for Pasteurization

A SYNDICATED medical advice column which circulates widely in Canada and the United States, contained a statement that the writer prefers "Grade A raw milk from a tuberculin-tested herd, because I like the taste of it and believe it is absolutely safe." The opinion has drawn adverse comment from "Health"; this journal, published by the Health League of Canada, comments that generally speaking the information and advice offered in various syndicated health columns is of value, and that it is without a doubt a good thing to disseminate information to newspaper readers on how to keep healthy. However, it is added that this particular statement which concerns the relative values of raw and pasteurized milk, is at variance with the opinion of all reputable health authorities.

"Grade A raw milk is comparable to what we call 'certified' milk", says Health. "It is supposed to come from tuberculin-tested cows and to have been produced under ideal circumstances, yet it has been shown repeatedly that certified milk can and does from time to time carry the germs of tuberculosis.

"The writer of this column fails to inform his readers that tuberculin tests in cattle are occasionally false and that, when milk from a tuberculin-tested cow in which the test has gone wrong is mixed with uncontaminated milk, it will infect it with tuberculosis."

The magazine Health goes on record again as emphasizing that the only safe milk is pasteurized milk. "Canada should look forward to the time when pasteurization will be compulsory in all provinces", it adds.

The Cost of Living

TO MANY Canadians trying to eke out a balanced budget, there was a ray of hope last week, although some must have found it hard to believe that the cost-of-living dropped during the month of August.

The eagerly-awaited cost-of-living index for the month of August, released last week, showed a half-point drop from the all-time high of 162.8 registered the previous month.

The big news to most average Canadians was probably not the half-point drop, but that the index had at long last halted its steady upward climb. It had been climbing steadily since last March when it stood at 159.3.

The index, a barometer of living costs, is calculated on the basis of 1935-39 costs equalling 100. Those costs now are estimated to be 61 per cent higher than they were on the average in those pre-war years.

It was mainly food-price increases that sent the index climbing during the spring and early summer. And in August it was food prices that caused the slight drop to 162.3.

With food production at its height during August, price declines were registered for beef, lamb, pork, eggs, oranges and vegetables.

But there must be many a housewife who wonders, a bit fearfully, what will happen to the index and prices during the long winter months ahead, and the reaction of the recent "devaluations".

Says Most Fathers Are Old-Fashioned

Author Finds Modern Parents Stress Child Understanding

New York (CP) — Are you an old-fashioned or a modern father?

There's a way to test yourself, writes Rachel Ann Elder in an article in a recent issue of "Marriage and Family Living." Ask yourself: "What is my conception of a good father, mother and child?"

If you're old-fashioned, you'll say:

A good father supports his family and teaches his children the right ways of life; a good mother keeps house, cares for her children's physical needs and trains them in regularity and proper behavior; a good child keeps himself clean and neat, obeys and respects adults, shows a regard for property, is a conscientious worker and fits into the family scheme of things.

If you're a modern father, you'll say:

Good parents train their children for self-reliance and citizenship, see to their emotional well-being and social adjustment, guide them with loving understanding, all the time being calm, cheerful and "growing" persons themselves. Good children are healthy and well, share and co-operate with others, love and confide in their parents and are eager to learn and grow as individuals.

Of 32 United States veterans of the Second World War, who were interviewed by Miss Elder, 19 had old-fashioned ideas.

All but one of the modernists said he believes in frankness between father and child, while nearly half the group said there are things a child should not know, Miss Elder said.

As for disciplinary action, both sides said they discipline their children for failing to comply with routine, for not obeying orders, for destroying property and for endangering themselves. But only old-fashioned fathers said they resort to sanctions for talking back, fighting with other children, lying, failing to study, or making noise.

Both groups said they spank, reason with, deprive, or scold their children when necessary, but only modern fathers tried isolating or ignoring them.

A VIEW ON LIVING

Living in the present, enjoying its pleasures and planning for the uncertain future, is life, and it should be taken with the best view possible, for the good of ourselves and mankind in general. The fast pace of war has continued on, and the pace seems just a trifle too fast for our human frailties.

Traffic collisions have become so frequent that only the most serious — including those which involve personal injury or loss of life — are rated these days as news. Therefore many minor accidents occurring in the district pass unmentioned in these pages. . . However, a correspondent, reporting a recent incident affecting a member of his family, makes critical reference to a well-travelled highway, the Lachute - St. Andrews road. Many readers will share his opinion, which is quoted in the following extract:

"This accident occurred some 3½ miles from St. Andrews, at a point between Armstrong's and Lemay's at the foot of a light grade and a slight curve — and tends to show the lamentable condition of this road. It is far too narrow, overgrown by brush, and has too many blind spots that should have been removed long ago. It appears that all improvements have been applied towards Brownsburg, to the detriment of this part of the road. . . My son was driving a Ford '32, and the other vehicle involved was a converted army-type truck loaded with gravel. The road at that point is so narrow that it would be very difficult to establish which car was running too close to centre. No one was injured, and while the light car was wrecked, the truck only suffered broken spring bolts."

The gifts took the form of bronze collection plates, in memory of Mrs. J. A. New Parks to Beautify Battle Scars of London

Cover Bomb-Scarred Sites With Lawns and Gardens

By Joan Capreol

London (Reuters)—The British government, horticulturists and landowners are making a widespread effort to hide the war scars and beautify the face of London before the 1951 Festival of Britain brings tens of thousands of tourists to the British Isles.

Sun-tanned gardeners, usually employed in planning the lovely gardens of the country and suburban homes, are today working on many bombed sites in the heart of the city — land normally valued at thousands of pounds.

They are making quite colorful gardens, with lawns and flower beds, on the ruins of what were once large blocks of offices or factories. Bombed sites which have been desolate open spaces, adorned only with the red flowers of the prolific willow herb or the yellow ragwort since the days of the German air force "blitz" raids, are now being cleared of their weeds and transformed.

For the time being, the sites must remain vacant because town planning restrictions on new buildings prevent the firms which own them from rebuilding the offices they have lost.

In the "sprucing up" of the capital for the great festival year, the government is playing an important role. Aneurin Bevan, minister of health, is soon to introduce into parliament a new bill primarily designed to help the brightening-up process.

This bill will give the local municipal authorities power to take over bombed sites on short leases — probably from three to five years — and to develop them temporarily until the site owners are able to begin permanent reconstruction.

To Have Playgrounds

Government grants will be offered for laying out the bombed sites as gardens with seats for the public. Some of the derelict sites are to be turned into children's playgrounds equipped with swings, see-saws and other amusements dear to the heart of every child.

One of the most ambitious garden schemes in hand is on 60,000 square feet of bombed site between London's busy newspaper centre of Fleet street and St. Paul's Cathedral. Already lawns and flower gardens have appeared beneath the railway viaduct which carries suburban passenger trains from southeast and southwest London to the city.

In six months' time, there will be open-air sunken "continental" cafes with gay awnings and umbrellas in the basements of the buildings which received direct hits in the blitz of 1941.

Man is not alone in trying to hide the ugliness of London's war-time scars. Nature has done her share over the past eight years.

Apart from the flowering weeds which reappear in greater numbers summer by summer, the wilderness of the empty sites large and small is being rapidly clothed with trees — willows which burst into yellow catkins in the spring, sycamore, and in many cases flowering shrubs such as lilac and mountain ash.

A willow tree 15 feet high is growing on a bombed site a few yards from a station in the City of London.

Bracken also flourishes, clinging in clusters to the high walls of ruined churches.

Members of the Greek Orthodox Church do not celebrate Christmas on December 25.

Scenes at Local Telephone "Central"

"How do they do it?" is the question often asked by persons seeing operators manipulating the equipment of a switchboard. The task, admittedly, is not a simple one. The work requires an operator's constant attention; she must always be alert to any situation that may arise and above all she must be courteous and helpful to all parties with whom she is dealing. The fact that Bell Telephone operators have made famous "The Voice with a Smile", is due in no small measure to the efficient training they received during their days of "apprenticeship" at the board. Here Miss Phyllis Funchion, of Lachute, is learning the mechanics of the switchboard under the watchful eyes of instructor Mrs. Jean Staniforth. Soon, she will leave the practice switchboard, a fully trained switchboard operator, ready for "the real thing".

Good working conditions in a pleasant atmosphere are among the prime requisites for good telephone service. It's now time off for a spot of tea for these Bell Telephone operators at Lachute in their modern kitchenette. At her switchboard, the operator must always be alert and courteous, which means that she must be fit and happy at all times. Operators enjoying an afternoon snack are, from left to right, the Misses Huguette Gauthier, Laurette Cloutier and Ora Watson.

Slaughter Houses Rich Drug Source

Johannesburg (CP) — South Africa's main slaughter-houses are providing, from the waste innards of animals, the raw materials for valuable drugs.

Every day, in abattoirs at nine South African centres, workers delve into the carcasses of slaughtered cattle, sheep and pigs to retrieve hormone-rich glands which would otherwise be destroyed. From the Johannesburg abattoir alone more than 500,000 glands have been collected this year.

Ox and pig pancreas — for the manufacture of insulin — are salvaged from the offal; pituitary glands from the middle skulls of animals are collected; and ox suprarenals and the sows' ovaries are also extracted.

The work is done at top speed by trained groups of workers because the glands, unless they are put into cold storage 15 minutes after the animal is killed, lose their useful secretions. They are kept frozen until they reach the manufacturers' machines and test-tubes.

Tons of glands, worth so far this year about £30,000 ($93,000), are being shipped to Britain, and other consignments are delivered to a local firm.

Vankleek Hill Wedding Of Interest Hereabouts

Brown - McCaskill

The Rev. W. Reid officiated at the marriage of Miss Edna Mae McCaskill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. McCaskill, of Vankleek Hill, Ont., and Mr. Herbert Morris Brown, of Lachute, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Brown, of Pointe au Chene, Que., which took place in Trinity United Church, Vankleek Hill, on Saturday afternoon, October 1, at three o'clock.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Harvey Dunning and the choir sang "O Perfect Love". Mr. Harry Jones, of Montreal, sang "All Through the Years" and "I'll Walk Beside You". Baskets of gladioli with ferns and palms decorated the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by Mrs. W. J. Bowers, of Toronto, as matron-of-honor, Miss Gertrude Seabrooke, of Ottawa, Miss Audrey Brown, of Lachute, and Miss Marjorie McKinnon as bridesmaids, and Miss Barbara McLaurin as flower girl.

Mr. Gordon Brown, of Lachute, was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Alexander McCaskill and Mr. William Bowers, of Toronto.

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of beige taffeta, trimmed with matching lace and fashioned with a long molded bodice and full skirt extending into a long train. Her finger-tip veil of beige tulle illusion was held in place by a Queen Anne headdress and she carried a cascade bouquet of gladioli blossoms and bouvardia.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception was held at the Bridge Inn, Hawkesbury, and later the couple left on a wedding trip to the Muskoka Lakes and Northern Ontario. Around the Country

J. Greenblat

At Clinton, Ont., Harry Charlesworth picked a peach in his garden which measured 10 inches around; delicious, too. . Clifton Morse bought a dozen eggs at Digby, N.S., took them aboard his boat and cracking them open for a meal found all but one had double yokes, and that was no joke. . The Historical Society of Alberta wanted to know if they could get in touch with original buffalo hunters; discovered nine still living. . Ronald, seven, a recent visitor from Hudson Bay, had never been in Saskatoon before. He entered a large department block with his parents and walked up five flights of stairs, as the elevator was not then operating. On leaving they went in the elevator and it started down. The boy gasped, "I'm not scared", he blurted, "but I didn't know it was standing on a hole!"

Plan Your Escape From Fire Now !

You can do two things right now which will reduce your chances of becoming one of the 11,000 yearly fire victims on this continent.

First, learn how to turn in a fire alarm. Getting firemen to your home quickly might save your life.

Second, figure out two different ways to get to the ground from your bedroom. (It is unlikely that both escape routes would be cut off by flames, especially in the early stages of a fire.)

The National Board of Fire Underwriters also suggests that you never attempt to jump to the ground if help is on the way, and that you never return to a burning house to save pets or valuables. Think of human life first.

London Newspaper Lauds Canadian Red Cross

London, Oct. 10 (Reuters)—The Times of London pays tribute to the Canadian Red Cross on the occasion of its closing down in Britain after 10 years' service here.

"Organized and supplied by voluntary effort, it looked after the needs not only of Canadian but also of British forces in the United Kingdom and in foreign theatres of operation", the Times editorial says.

"All this work had its source in thousands of local committees and small workrooms scattered throughout Canada, and on this side of the Atlantic thousands of men and women remember gratefully benefits received through this great spontaneous welling up of Canadian generosity."

Grant Warwick, Boston, Joins Canadiens Line-Up

Right-Wing Hockey Star Related Here

Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League announced this week that they had purchased from Boston Bruins, for an undisclosed amount, right-winger Grant Warwick.

Warwick (who is related here, a nephew of Mrs. S. Goldsworthy, Lachute), is 28. He started his professional hockey career with New York Rangers in the 1941-42 season winning the Calder Trophy as that season's outstanding rookie. He was traded to Boston at the end of the 1947-48 season.

The five-foot-six, 165 pound forward managed to average about 20 goals a season since he broke into the N.H.L. He has accumulated 145 goals in his eight years of professional hockey and has been credited with 136 assists.

Warwick was expected to arrive in Montreal on Tuesday.

A city editor was instructing a new reporter on the art of writing for the newspapers.

"There are two words which you must never use in your reports", he said. "One is nice and the other, lousy".

There was a pause, then the reporter replied, "Well — what are the two words?"

Ayers Limited 25-Year Employees Honored at Company Presentation

Long-Service Pins Awarded; 25-Year Club Inaugurated with Membership Role of 73

Last Sunday will be a day long remembered by many employees of the firm of Ayers Limited, who with their wives were guests on this occasion at a banquet in their honor, held at Lachute Golf Club.

The event marked the formation of a 25-Year Service Club, and over 150 were present to enjoy the evening and to congratulate those who were recipients of gold pins for long and faithful service. Earlier in the season, at the annual Ayers Picnic, more substantial gifts in the form of wrist watches were made to these same employees.

Seated at the head table were Mr. Gilbert Ayers, president, Mr. Thomas Ayers, vice-president, and Messrs. Leonard and Richard Ayers, directors, all with their wives.

Mr. Gilbert Ayers in his opening remarks thanked the employees for their loyal support in helping to build up the firm to its present state of efficiency, a plant which is now among the best equipped to be found anywhere. He addressed the gathering in both French and English.

Mr. Leonard Ayers paid special tribute to the ladies present, and stressed the very important part they play in the home-life. He also gave a short resumé of the past history of the mill, referring to many humorous incidents during the lifetime of his late father, Mr. Harry Ayers. Mrs. Ayers, who was present for this event, was kindly referred to in his remarks.

Mr. O. Desjardins spoke on behalf of the employees in appreciation of this kindly gesture. He referred particularly to working conditions, the social welfare of the community, the swimming pool, the church, the hospital — all of which had been made possible through the efforts of Ayers Limited. Employees now were well satisfied, and grateful for these many privileges. Going back to earlier days, he pointed out, as one instance, the difference in going to work: "Then we trudged through drifts of snow — today we travel by bus or in our own cars."

Mr. Clement Tremblay, with the firm since 1904, spoke also of the earlier days and some of the hardships that then existed. He paid particular tribute to the late Mrs. Thomas Ayers, who toiled with her husband in their then small mill and with him solved the problem of the "endless felt", so much in demand today. He, too, congratulated the ladies on the splendid role they were playing in making the home what it should be — "a happy and comfortable abode for their husbands and children."

Mr. T. Milnes, manager of the mill for over 25 years, spoke of the pleasant relations which existed, and thanked both management and employees for their hearty co-operation.

It was a pleasing sight to watch the different employees, as their names were called, come forward, shake the hands of their employers and receive recognition for long and faithful service. There seemed to be something binding about it all, signifying that prosperous times were in store with even greater expansion in the future.

Mr. Marc Carrière, whose job it is to "make and keep people happy", acted as master of ceremonies, and in his closing remarks urged the employees to "keep smiling", for by being happy themselves they would radiate happiness to all with whom they came in contact.

Following are those qualified as members of the 25-Year Service Club — numbering 73 — and who received recognition at this company function:

Staff

Clément Tremblay, Herbert Underhill, Fred Sanford, George Leggett, Horace Deslauriers, Clarence Rogers, Tom Milnes.

Employees

Henri Roquebrune, Alfred Desjardins, Narcisse Gibeault, Jean-Baptiste Larocque, Cyprien Durocher, Joseph Lafortune, André Marinier, Lionel Desrosiers, Arthur Charlebois, France Larocque, René Bélanger, Théodore Pressault, Antoine Desforges, Alphonse Labonté, Trefflé Bourgon, Camille Brisson, Oscar Monette, Philias Desjardins, Richard Beauregard, Albert Bédard, Josaphat Monette, Cléophas Martin;

Paul Joly, Dieudonné Larocque, Raoul Beauregard, Edmond Dallaire, Nelson Lepage, Napoléon Bélanger, Euclide Lepage, Emery Coderre, Mlle. Thérèse Coderre, Napoléon Monette, Wilfrid Malette, Rolland Carrière, Aristide St-Jacques, Ovila Brunette, Albert Durocher, Max St-Jacques, John McDonald, Ferdinand Desjardins, Josaphat Giroux, Joseph Delage, Emile Larocque, Armand Desforges;

Béatrice Rochon, Magloire Brisson, Roméo Gagné, Omer Gravel, Jean Baptiste Larocque, Jr., Albert Monette, Arthur Parizeau, Lionel Plouffe, Alfred Williams, Julien St-Denis, Hyacinthe Beauregard, Hormisdas Cordeau.

At the close of the presentation, several films were shown, one of which was taken in the Ayers plant and is a splendid presentation of the industry from start to finish; this film will be widely shown, advertising both our town, and the quality blankets, overthrows, travelling rugs, yard goods and other textile products which are so well known and widely distributed.

The gathering dispersed around midnight — another link having been forged in the chain of progress, loyalty and friendship.

Public Inspection of Legion Hall, Saturday and Sunday

Saturday and Sunday next, during the afternoons and evenings, will be reception days at the new Legion Memorial Hall on Foundry Street East, and residents are cordially invited to visit this structure and see what has been done by Branch No. 70 (Lachute) B.E.S.L. in building one of the finest meeting places to be found anywhere. This has been accomplished, of course, through the assistance of many contributors of both money and material, combined with manual labor and donations by the veterans themselves. It is indeed a credit to all concerned, and particularly to Lachute town, and the veterans would like the public to visit and inspect this hall.

55 Years' Service With Paper Company

Jacob (Jake) Combie has retired after 55 years' service with the J. C. Wilson Co. — having started working with this firm when 14 years of age. Mr. Robt. Daw was then boss of the paper mill, and since that time Mr. Combie has seen many changes both in the plant and management. On his retirement he was the longest-service man on record with the J. C. Wilson Co. Ltd.

"Red Shield" Appeal Now Before Public

The annual campaign for the Salvation Army, known as the "Red Shield" appeal, is now in progress. Chairman for the collection in this district is Mr. Eric Hibbard, manager of the Bank of Montreal, who will be glad to receive contributions at the local branch of the bank. . . There is no personal solicitation in this drive, the organizers feeling confident that support will come spontaneously from all acquainted with the "Army's" work of charity wherever the need arises. . . The campaign continues until Oct. 31.

$478,000 Protestant School Bonds Marketed on Advantageous Terms

Central School Board Also Accepts Bid For Arundel; Tax Rate Set for 1949-50

The regular meeting of the Central School Board was held in the Court House on Thursday evening, October 13, with Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., in the chair.

Among the large number who attended this meeting were the local boards of Lachute, Arundel and Rouge River, together with representatives of various bond houses in Montreal, Mr. L. J. King and Mr. Geo. Y. Deacon, of Lachute, and the auditor, Mr. T. C. Corry.

Two tenders were received for the purchase of the bonds being offered by Lachute. The first was from Mills, Spence & Co. Ltd., who bid 98.39. This tender was based on a 2¾% coupon for the first four years, a 3% coupon for the next five years and a 3½% coupon for the balance of the thirty year issue. The second was from Greenshields & Co. Inc. who bid 97.787. Their tender was based on a 2¾% coupon for the first four years, a 3% coupon for the next eleven years and a 3½% coupon for the balance of the issue. In view of the fact that these tenders were so close, it was decided to obtain the advice of the Quebec Municipal Commission before arriving at a decision.

No tenders were actually before the meeting in connection with the issue of Arundel bonds, but Mr. J. C. Veit, secretary-treasurer, stated that he had received a telephone call from a company in Montreal who were submitting a bid. The meeting decided to adjourn to Friday afternoon in order to open this tender, and also to arrive at a final decision concerning the Lachute issue.

Among the long list of items on the agenda of this meeting was the business of setting the tax rates for the year 1949-1950. The general rate for Lachute was set at 11½ mills as compared with 11 mills during the last few years and a special rate of 4 mills to pay for the new construction. Moreover, certain adjustments are to be made in connection with the valuations of St. Augustin and Ste. Scholastique, as it is agreed that these are below the other municipalities which form a part of Lachute. It is worthy of note that, generally speaking, taxes throughout the two counties are increased but very little. The largest is in Arundel where it has been necessary to set a special rate of 10 mills in order to pay for the new extension to their school.

Bills in excess of $137,000. were presented for approval, a considerable proportion of which is in connection with the construction of the extensions to three schools in the county.

At the meeting convened Friday afternoon, the secretary-treasurer reported that he had been advised by the Quebec Municipal Commission that the tender as submitted by Mills, Spence & Co. Ltd. was the best bid as the net cost amounted to 3.553 as compared with 3.583 as submitted by Greenshields & Co. Inc. The Board accordingly decided to accept the Mills, Spence & Co. Ltd. tender.

The Provincial Secretary at Quebec has given a grant of $288,400 for this loan — the grant being payable in four annual equal and consecutive instalments of $72,100 each, and will be entirely earmarked for servicing this loan. Payment of capital and interest on the bonds of the present issue is guaranteed by the Central School Board.

(The assessed valuation for Protestant school purposes in Lachute amounts to $2,612,290 for 1948-49. The Protestant School Board has no other long-term debt than the present loan, the Provincial Government having assumed its previous debt under authority of the Act to ensure the progress of Education.)

The only tender for the Arundel issue was from Gairdner & Co. Ltd., Montreal, who bid 96.002. The first year's interest rate was 2½%, the next nine years 3¼% and the next five years 3½%. Their bid was for fifteen years only, leaving a balance redeemable at end of that time of $37,500. It is expected that a new issue will have to be sold in order to take care of this amount at that time. The board decided to accept this tender.

It is expected that these bonds will be offered for sale in the very near future, and it is reported that the Quebec Municipal Commission considers these bids as having been very favorable.

County Interests, Prov'l Relationships, Discussed at W.I. Semi-Annual Conf'ce

FURTHERING EDUCATION AND COMMUNITY HEALTH DESCRIBED BY PRESIDENT AS "WOMEN'S SECOND JOB"

The semi-anual convention of Argenteuil County Women's Institutes was held in the hall of the Margaret Rodger Presbyterian Church on Saturday, with a good attendance of delegates and members from eight branches. The county president, Mrs. A. Geo. Leggett, occupied the chair.

The session was opened by a rehearsal of the new form for Installation of Officers. This was conducted by Mrs. Geo. Armstrong. The president, in a few opening remarks, spoke of the gratifying work the W.I. was doing all over the world, and referred to it as "the second job". Women's first job was to be good wives and homemakers, and the second job was that of helping others, furthering education, and advancing health and welfare. The president thanked all branches for their support in every phase of the work. For the past few years the W.I. has sponsored a Soup Fund, for the out-of-town pupils at Lachute High School, two days a week. Owing to building operations and shortage of space, the principal, Mr. F. Royal, did not think it possible to carry on this project just now, but suggested perhaps the W.I. could help buy milk for the children instead. It was agreed to do so, two days a week for the next two months, and if found satisfactory and beneficial to the children, to continue if possible, for the winter months at least. The Scholarship Fund, for the pupil ranking highest in the county, and entering any college for the teaching profession, is being carried on. . . The president reported 390 members in Argenteuil County.

A motion was sponsored by Mrs. N. E. Smillie, seconded by Mrs. Arnold Parker, that a resolution be presented by the county president at the semi-annual board meeting in January, to the following effect: "Whereas we have one of the largest memberships in the province, could we not be allowed more than one representative at the provincial board meetings". This was unanimously carried.

There was much discussion on the five days' short course which is being given. The secretary was instructed to write Miss Joy Guild to state that sewing was the course preferred, and the time, preferably in late spring.

'Teachers' Night' At Rotary Club

The Brownsburg Rotary Club entertained the teaching staffs of Lachute High School and the Brownsburg Intermediate School at their regular dinner meeting last Thursday evening.

A special speaker for the occasion was on hand, in the person of Dr. M. M. MacOdrum, principal of Carleton College, Ottawa. Dr. MacOdrum is a native of Scotland and has taught at Universities on both sides of the Atlantic.

In welcoming the guests of the evening, President Linton W. Armstrong stated this meeting had been planned for the sole purpose of creating an opportunity to express apreciation of the value of the teachers' work in the two largest schools in the County. He said that theirs was the task of training and developing the minds of over 800 children, and that therefore their work could be considered among the most important in the country.

Dr. MacOdrum spoke of his experiences as a teacher, of the many difficulties he had encountered, and lamented the fact that, whereas money could be found in sufficient quantities for almost anything else, education always seemed to be greatly hindered due to the lack of funds. He went on to stress the value of the work of the teachers, and explained that the greater proportion of the world's troubles would be solved only when the public was sufficiently well informed. It was the responsibility of the teachers to see that the coming generation gained sufficient education to be able to settle world problems without resorting to war. Great strides were being made by scientists in perfecting more modern and more horrible machines of destruction; why could these talents not be directed to making this world a more peaceful place in which to live?

Dennis Staniforth, principal of the Brownsburg school, adequately expressed the appreciation of the meeting to Dr. MacOdrum. F. H. J. Royal, principal of Lachute High School, thanked the members of the Rotary Club for their splendid gesture in inviting the teachers to be present.

Two Killed in Highway Collision At Pte. au Chene

Two dead and several injured, was the toll of a collision on Route 8 at Pte. au Chene last Sunday night. The accident occurred around 10 p.m. at a point near the Montana Hotel, when a Montreal car with three occupants, coming eastward, veered into the path of a westbound auto with five people — the impact of the collision wrecking both cars, causing the death of a 24-year-old wife and mother, and fatally injuring a passenger in the Montreal car. Others were injured, some of them seriously, and are under hospital care.

The dead are — Mrs. Marie-Mance Sabourin, 24, of Ripon, Que., who died of cerebral haemorrhage 30 minutes after the crash; Réne Patenaude, 26, of Montreal, who died next day while being transferred from Hawkesbury to the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal.

A family party from Ripon, Papineau County, had been visiting relatives at Brownsburg that day, and were returning home. Conrad Sabourin, the driver, sustained head and chest injuries in the crash. His wife was fatally injured, while Ghislain, a three-year-old boy seated between them, escaped with slight scratches. Passengers, Julien Sabourin and his wife, were also injured — the latter seriously, with a possible skull fracture.

Returning eastward from Hull were René Patenaude, Lucien Racette and Jean Charron in the Montreal car, the latter being the driver. Patenaude received a skull fracture and internal injuries to which he succumbed the following day en route to Montreal. Racette suffered a broken pelvis and hip, while the driver, Charron, received only minor, cuts. . . All the injured were taken to Notre Dame Hospital at Hawkesbury, those seriously hurt being detained for treatment.

Traffic Officer Albert Legault was called from Brownsburg to investigate, while Det. Philippe Therriault of Lachute and Det. Henri Choquette of the homicide squad, continued the enquiry into all aspects of the tragedy. A jury was empanelled later under Dr. Jules Lafleur, district coroner, for an inquest to be conducted at Grenville.

EASY PICKINGS

Vancouver (CP) — William Dyck admitted to police breaking into a restaurant six times since April and taking — or eating — a carton of cigarettes, 20 pounds of ham and bacon, 12 dozen eggs, four pork chops, two lemon pies and a quantity of meat. Said Dyck: "It was easy to break into, and the food was pretty good."

Fire Prevention Displays at B'burg

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg —

Fire Prevention Week was marked by an interesting display of fire-fighting equipment and demonstration of its operation by two equipment manufacturing firms.

On Tuesday the Walter Kidde Company had considerable apparatus on display, and experts from the company demonstrated the why's and wherefore's of fighting fires. A large pit was excavated at the C-I-L parking lot, and this was filled with the most inflammable materials obtainable and set afire. Approaching this flaming mass of heat would be a problem under ordinary conditions, but armed with some of the apparatus on demonstration it was a simple matter to get up near the fire, and also a simple matter to extinguish it. On Saturday the Levitt Safety Appliance Company repeated the performance with additional and perhaps more interesting demonstrations. The local fire brigade were instructed on the art of fighting fires and a large crowd were treated to a spectacular display of fire-fighting efficiency. The accent was on chemical blanketing with dry powders under pressure; and of their efficiency there can be no doubt. . . Literature was circulated around the village to prepare for these displays.

French Course

The newly instituted French-language course at the English school got off to a good start on Monday night. There were 24 students registered, and Mrs. Wm. MacGibbon of Lachute was appointed instructress. Monday night also at the school, the Farm Forum awarded prizes for the best display of vegetables at the recent exhibition at Lachute. There was a large crowd present and an entertaining evening was reported.

Restricted Parking In Brownsburg

Brownsburg —

At a special meeting of the council called for the purpose of framing the parking by-laws and bringing order out of the chaos which now exists on the streets, the following regulations were promulgated: No parking on St. Onge's Hill or Denault's Hill. Ice Rink Campaign

The campaign of the Community Rink Association deserves careful consideration and support. The sum of $95,000 is sought to provide a structure for winter sports activities, as well as an artificial ice-making plant. This seems an ambitious project; but the Association are hopeful of success. Contributions are a premium on the assurance of good health and physical attainments of future generations, and a municipal utility both self-supporting and beneficial. It is a community project — and one fraught with danger of non-success and heart-breaking endeavor, unless the

ZONING OF TOWN, NUMBERING ALL DWELLINGS, OTHER OBJECTIVES SET IN YEAR'S PROGRAM

The regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce took place in the Victoria Hall on Monday evening, with a fair representation of members present.

Among various topics discussed and suggestions made from members were the following:

That the land at the junction of Mary, Robert and Main Streets be drained and raised, to do away with the stagnant water now lying in that part.

A request that the agreement relative to closing at certain hours, be signed by all merchants.

Allan Hay informed the gathering that he had purchased a ski tow which he intends operating on his property on the Brownsburg Road. He was congratulated on this venture, and told that all possible assistance would be given in the way of patronage and advertising.

President J. R. Charron then gave a report of his attendance at the provincial convention held at Hull, Que., during September, and a brief account of the various discussions, which included the difference between local, regional, provincial and national Chambers of Commerce; attraction of tourists, by endeavoring to impress visitors with things characteristic of this province, and by talking the French language to them whenever possible. What tourists wanted and came to Quebec for, was something different. The matter of the 2 per cent sales tax was also discussed, and it was pointed out that much business that should be done in Quebec province was being taken to Ontario on this account.

Mr. Charron was thanked by Dr. R. A. Dumais.

The following program has been laid out for the Chamber's aims and endeavors during the coming year:

(1) Zoning of the Town of Lachute.
(2) Naming and numbering of all streets and houses.
(3) Replacing of Barron's Bridge.
(4) Door-to-door mail delivery.
(5) Waterworks and sewerage.
(6) Paving of streets and building of sidewalks.
(7) Matters of health and sanitation.
(8) Cleaning and beautification of streets.

Suggestions were also made that, as No. 8 Highway was now in good condition for travelling, publicity should be given wherever possible for tourists to use this scenic route.

In conclusion, two interesting films were shown by courtesy of the National Film Board, entitled "Fighting Erosion in the West", and "Seven Modern Painters from Quebec".

J. R. Charron, president, and André Lefèbvre, secretary, will be attending the 20th annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Montreal, from October 25 to 27.

Subjects for discussion will range from taxation to Socialism — subjects determined largely by resolutions there submitted by the member Boards and Chambers. Already a large number of resolutions have been received.

The resolutions which are approved by the delegates at the annual meeting will form the policy of the Canadian Chamber for the coming year, and will be presented to the government as the considered viewpoint of organized business in Canada.

Among speakers at the meeting will be the Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent.

To Confer on Quality Standardizing of Bread

J. A. Ménard, president of Lachute Bakery Ltd., has been appointed a delegate to discuss the affiliating of all Bakery Industry associations in this province. There are now several such organizations covering various phases and regions of the trade, but it is aimed to form a federation and adopt basic standards, particularly on the content of bread, with an approved formula for nutritive and caloric quality. . . Mr. Ménard's long practical experience in the business should be an asset to the forming of this federation and establishing the best principles.

Gatineau LINES

"Inter-connection"

Within a month we will be entering the winter season, the time when water levels in our lakes and rivers begin to drop and the problem of creating electricity from water-power becomes tougher. Although few people realize it, this winter period which is approaching is also the time when our customers benefit most from the inter-locking system of power plants which Gatineau Power has established over the last 20 years.

The Gatineau system today comprises a number of small local powerhouses, plus the big installations along the lower reaches of the Gatineau and Ottawa rivers. During the spring, when streams are full, the local stations run at full capacity to feed power into the areas close to them. During those periods, the local stations are, in effect, practically self-sufficient. The result is that we are able to operate the big stations at less than capacity, and so we store up water in our reservoirs high up in the Gatineau Hills.

During the summer, fall and winter months, the process is reversed. The small rivers and streams which feed the local powerhouses are low, and so the local stations cannot feed at full capacity into the areas they serve. It is necessary to draw more and more heavily on the main power stations; and these main stations work harder to meet the electrical needs of all the areas served by Gatineau.

Without such an "interconnected" system, many of our customers would have plenty of electricity in the spring, but would be drastically cut down on power during the rest of the year.

By supplementing the power from its small power producing stations, with power from the large stations, the power company does its best to operate in such a way as to meet each demand for power as it arises. And by equally careful conservation of water wherever and whenever it can, it operates in the most efficient and economical way possible. This is doubly-important to our customers in these days when power company costs — for materials, for labor, for supplies of every kind — are rising sharply, while revenue remains substantially the same.

Did You Know?

That the increased cost of labor, material and taxes has not been compensated by an increase in rates for electricity.

Sound Vegetables Best for Storage

The vegetables left in the back garden by the time frost comes are well worth storing. Often the quantity is not large and the kinds not many. Perhaps some potatoes, carrots, beets; but with care, spoilage can be prevented until well into the winter.

Generally an elaborate storage room is not available and some reasonably cool place in the basement is used. Whatever the conditions, successful storage depends principally on having sound products at the start. Cut, bruised, frosted and damaged material should be discarded or placed aside for immediate use.

The stored products should be examined frequently. If wilting is noticed, humidity should be increased by sprinkling the floor with water or moistening the sand in which root vegetables may be buried. Vegetables which are beginning to rot should be discarded as they will affect sound material near them. Rotting vegetables also develop heat and make it more difficult to control temperatures.

Another point to remember is that the vegetables should be transferred to the cooler basement immediately after they have been taken from the garden. This is how commercial produce is handled; it is cooled immediately, thus prolonging the storage life.

Early Care of Dairy Heifers

Proper care for the dairy heifer is simple but important. The care given between six months and two years of age determines whether she will be stunted in growth or develop into a well grown profitable cow, says Dr. C. D. MacKenzie, Animal Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

An ample supply of good quality legume roughage and first class pasture are basic requirements for reducing costs in raising heifers. In addition, they insure a sufficient supply of nutrients for adequate development. A good plan is to feed all the high grade roughage the animals will consume in winter and provide sufficient high quality pasture throughout the grazing season. Roughage should be supplemented when necessary to insure proper growth without overfleshing. From six to twelve months of age the amount of grain mixture fed, composed of ordinary grains ground or crushed, depends on the quality of roughage available. Two to three pounds with good legume hay, or four to five with fair hay is generally sufficient. A good grain ration for heifers can be made by mixing equal parts of oats and barley and adding linseed or oil meal at the rate of one part to five parts of the mixture. The amount of hay consumed varies usually from eight to fifteen pounds daily, or if silage is fed in addition, the amounts of hay may vary from five to ten pounds, and of silage from eight to fifteen pounds. If pasture is scarce it is always advisable to supplement pasture with sufficient feed either in the form of concentrates, hay, silage or green crops.

After the heifer reaches one year of age, good quality legume roughage is all that is generally required up to three to four months before time of calving. Then four to five pounds of grain are fed daily in addition. Naturally sufficient salt should be provided.

The age at which the heifer calves should depend to some extent on her development. A good guide is to breed her at eighteen months of age.

Raising only heifers known to be well bred for production is the best way to offset feeding costs.

Telephone Expansion Here Indicates Growth of Town

During the past four years, the number of telephones in Lachute has increased by 85 per cent, and the number of local calls per day has increased by 30 per cent — says L. W. Ball, Bell Telephone manager for this region, referring to the record-breaking post-war demand for service. Long distance calls originating here have more than doubled in the same period, he states.

There are now more than 1,800 telephones in use in Lachute, as compared with some 970 four years ago. Local calls average 8,400 per day against 6,480, and long distance calls have reached a daily average of 465, or 155 more than in 1945.

In order to meet this unprecedented demand for service, the company has continuously improved and enlarged its facilities. Additions were made to the switchboard equipment here in November, 1947, in March, 1948, and again in May of this year. An extension to the company's building was completed last December, and additions to the cable and wire network have been made in order to provide service for new subscribers.

In spite of this vast improvement program, which has resulted in the addition of 830 telephones in four years, the manager states there are still about 135 applicants waiting for service here. A further addition to the switchboard is already in the planning stage, and wire and cable construction is expected to continue at a high level in order to keep pace with demand.

Behind the Plow

IT WAS a professor and cleric from the Catholic University of Paris who struck a discordant note at the International Plowing Match near Brantford the other day. One is so accustomed to the perennial encomiums at such events, that the smallest criticism arrests the attention with a jolt.

The Rev. Jean Servé, touring Canada and the United States to study the effects of mechanization on the social and economic life of rural residents, said: "An event of this type, while of great interest, doesn't do very much to improve agriculture or help the farmer. What it does is to arouse the interest of the young people in machinery and mechanized methods of farming. This, of course, means a greater opportunity for the machinery companies to sell their implements."

The visitor may be right. But we opine that he has not fully grasped the extent to which mechanized farming has spread in Canada— due to, and justified by, the large-scale cultivation practiced here. This means that both farmers and manufacturers are alert to new mechanical trends. It may be a matter of regret that our young farmers do not develop the skill of their forbears behind a plow-team; but there can be no misgiving over their awareness of mechanical methods.

We had a plowing match in Lachute last week, a three-county affair with teams and tractors, and lots of competition. And here is something to remark upon: the two top awards, senior and junior respectively, were won by our French-Canadian neighbors in Two Mountains County, where plowing behind stalwart horses is still an art approaching the perfection mark. . . This incident might refute the criticism of the Rev. Servé; or it might confirm it. At least it illustrates that the pride of good workmanship has not suffered through the progress of mechanical farming.

Family Heritage

PRIDE of family is a luxury we too often resign to others — those whose ancestors won distinction in the past. . We think of this pride in terms of other people's forbears — old boys who won costumed wars from enemies of the king, and inherited great tracts of land for their service.

When one gives the matter a little thought, however, there are few of us who haven't some reason for pride in family, a natural pride that we in Canada sometimes are too busy or too forgetful to enjoy.

Most of us lack great warriors and empire builders, but many have relatives who found a place in the chronicles of their time. Even that great-grand-uncle whose fondness for horses left him out on a limb, is likely to turn out to be an interesting bit player in history.

Recently an Ontario boy, asked by his teacher to write a composition on his ancestors, complained to his parents about the lack of color in the family's past. You couldn't write about ordinary people who had been printers and storekeepers and farmers.

Then his father told him about his grand-aunt who watched her farmer husband and her priest die under Indian hatchets in the Duck Lake massacre in 1885. She spent two months as a captive of an Alberta Indian chief, wrote a book about her adventure and lived to a ripe old age.

The boy listened then to his mother's story about a great-grandfather who set Horace Greeley's hand-written editorials in type during Civil War days and dropped his type-stick to pick up a gun when New Yorkers stormed the Tribune office during draft riots. . That, the boy agreed, was something worth writing a composition about.

With such bits and pieces we build family background and family pride. The wise and the thoughtful among us record them for our children.

Along the Highways

ON HEARING of the establishment of a new government department, we are invariably skeptical. But perhaps the Hon. Antonio Talbot, Quebec Minister of Roads, waxes too grandiose in announcing his aim to enforce the law relative to sign-boards along the highways (for which a current ministry bulletin states "a new department has been created" — surely this control does not require the machinery of a new government department!)

Anyway, we like the idea — and this sub-department idea is beside the point. Such laws of regulation as exist in this province, we would like to see them properly enforced. Specifically the Quebec law (1936) states that sign-boards, according to their dimensions, cannot be set up short of 200 or 300 feet from a public road. Quebec announces that "in the case of new roads along which posters are not in excess, prevention will be the rule, while on other highways a clearing-up must be undertaken, and this measure is already in progress."

The indiscriminate placing of sign-boards close to the highways is an annoyance to all observant motorists. Some advertisers, in their zeal for a scoop, have erected signs which actually create a hazard. And while Quebec Province is not too noticeably offensive in this detail, we have seen the privilege abused so often in other parts, that it is gratifying to note our Roads Department taking a timely stand in the matter.

Research Takes Human Toll

THAT MEDICAL research can be a dangerous occupation is seen in a report from Dallas, Texas, which gives details of 222 cases of virus diseases among laboratory workers during recent years, with 21 cases proving fatal.

The diseases included yellow fever, psittacosis, poliomyelitis, tick fever, and many others. The accidents which caused the infections included such incidents as a piece of glass flying into a worker's eye while infected material was being ground up in a mortar; a bite from an apparently healthy monkey; and the inhalation of dust from the floor of a cage of an experimental mouse.

Russia and Production

IN HIS recent investigations Colin Clark, the distinguished British economist, has reached the conclusion that man-hour production in the United States is approximately 8½ times the man-hour production of Soviet Russia. Russia's capacity to produce — even despite the atom bomb — is lined up with some of the poorer countries of Eastern Europe — Hungary, Roumania, Yugoslavia, Brazil in South America, and Turkey in the Middle East. Lower even than Russia is India, which is only half the Russian level. China is lower still. In fact, all the industrially advanced countries of the world with the exception of Italy are above the Soviet level. (These facts should be studied by the Dean of Canterbury, who apparently loves Russia even with its poverty — remarks our Ottawa contributor, R. J. Deachman, in citing these comparisons.)

Topping the list are the United States, New Zealand, Canada, with Australia and Great Britain just behind them. British production on this basis is four times that of the Soviet Union — France two and a half times. It may well be asked how Russia, in view of these facts, held on so well during the war. There are two reasons, Russia industrially had made some progress but this has been offset by a decline in agriculture reflecting differences between the government and the peasant population, and these statistics are based on man-hour production. Then, in war, Russia had plenty of men to throw into the breach. What of the future? Not only is Russian production low but the rate of improvement is negligible. A slave economy is not necessarily efficient, concludes Mr. Deachman.

A man named Joe Hogbristle appeared in court to have his name changed. The judge nodded understandingly, and asked, "What name do you want to take?"

"Frank Hogbristle", was the astonishing answer. "You see", he explained, "I'm sick and tired of hearing people say to me, 'Hi, Joe, waddya know?'"

1st golfer: The traps on this course are very annoying, aren't they?

2nd same: They sure are. Would you mind closing yours?

An Ohio farmer, asked if fertilizer would stimulate a certain plant's growth, replied: "Can't say for sure. I've never been able to figure out whether that stuff actually stimulates the plants or whether it's just so downright repulsive that they try to grow away from it."

Women's Inst. Library To Be Opened to Public

Starting Friday evening, October 28, the Lachute Women's Institute will open its library to the public in the basement of the school, from 7 to 8 o'clock. This library has at present nearly 600 books, almost all of which are current fiction. However, it is hoped that this will be expanded to include other types of literature as the desire is made known.

A deposit of $2 will be charged to all non-Institute members who wish to join this library, and a rental of ten cents a book per week will be charged to everyone. It is hoped by this means to expand the library as well as to further the work of the Institute.

Too Many Guns In the Countryside!

Valuable Horse Shot by Irresponsible Hunters

TO THE EDITOR

R.R. 1, Dunany, Que.
October, 1949

The time has arrived for some drastic legislation controlling the use of high powered firearms. . . Throughout our choice month of October, it is unsafe to stroll through the woods and enjoy the scenery while at its best. Valuable domestic animals are in constant danger of being shot by inexperienced boys, whose recent earnings have provided them with deadly, long-range rifles.

Last week the writer went as usual to catch his valuable riding mare, and found her helpless, with a bullet hole in her shoulder. With difficulty the horse was lifted into a truck and taken to the stable; a veterinary was called, who was obliged to recommend the animal's prompt destruction.

This is the second serious loss the writer has experienced in a few years' residence here, by irresponsible hunters. Possibly one per cent succeed in killing a deer, bear, etc., while the other 99 per cent fire indiscriminately at a target, or any moving object in the bush,—regardless of the danger to human life or domestic animals.

Even small-bore light rifles, as now manufactured, are deadly and long-ranged, and in the hands of careless boys, or men, are a grave menace to all.

To sustain losses exceeding $500 in five years is a heavy price to pay, due to conditions demanding prompt governmental control.

"PEACE ON EARTH — WHEN?"

The above subject was the topic at Campbell's Hall recently, when Mr. D. J. Ferguson, representative of the Watch Tower Society, addressed an appreciative audience. The speaker affirmed that all honest men desired peace on earth, and that this desire is based on scriptural promises. He quoted Isaiah 2:4, and Luke 2:14. The reason for the failure of peace on earth is that "Satan and his demons have taken peace from the earth, since the year 1914. . . Read Revelations 6:4. — The red horse (symbol of war) galloped the earth, and took the peace from the earth. . .

"Human dupes of Satan conspire against peace. However, universal war by Almighty power is necessary to oust the peace-wreckers. This war that will bring peace is referred to in the Bible as the battle of that great day of God Almighty, or the Battle of Armageddon — (Rev. 16:14-16). This coming war is ordained of God, and will completely remove the wicked heavens and earth, not the literal earth, which will abide forever (Eccl. 1:4)."

The speaker said that the generation living now will witness this universal war (Matt. 24:24). Peace on earth, in a new world, of righteousness, is sure to follow. (II Peter, 3:13). "Only those on God's side will enjoy the endless blessings that will be poured out. — Make your decision now. Take your stand on Jehovah God's side, and enjoy the blessings of the New World".

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Bible Society Annual Meeting, Joint Service At Lachute United

The annual meeting of the Lachute branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society was held last Sunday in the Lachute United Church. A short executive meeting preceded the religious service. At this meeting it was recommended that the present slate of officers be re-elected (this was passed later by the full meeting). It was felt by the officers that re-organization of the town with a view to making a more complete canvass, was called for. A great many people, it seems, were not called upon and, as the need this year is greater than ever, all who would like to contribute are asked to leave their donation with Miss L. Miller at the local Bank of Montreal.

A very interesting talk on the work of the Bible Society was given by the Rev. W. Booth. This was followed by a film entitled "The World of Tomorrow".

In the absence of the president, Mr. J. S. Giles, the vice-president, Mr. Robert Cairns, thanked the Rev. Booth for his talk and presentation.

Two-Purpose Vegetable

Don't throw away those outside leaves of the cauliflower. They are delicious as a vegetable and, in addition, make an ideal base for soup. So, when buying a head of cauliflower, consider it as two vegetables, the head as one and the stalks and leaves as the other.

To make sure the cauliflower is of high quality, see that the head or "curd" is snowy white, since a yellowish color indicates exposure to the sun and frequently a strong flavor. The head should be smooth and compact not rough surfaced or loose and the outer leaves should be green and fresh-looking.

The home economists of the Consumer Section have been busy testing recipes using both the heads and stalks of cauliflower and are passing along several suggestions which you are sure to find useful.

Cauliflower Soup

½ Cup chopped cauliflower stalks and leaves, 1½ cups boiling water, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups hot milk.

Wash cauliflower stalks and leaves. Chop coarsely or put through the food chopper using coarse blade. Measure. Cook, covered, in 1½ cups boiling, salted water until tender, about 20 minutes. Make a sauce by melting butter, blending in flour and salt and then slowly adding hot milk, stirring until well blended. Cook over boiling water until sauce is smooth and thickened, stirring constantly, about 15 minutes. Add cooked cauliflower stalks and leaves and cooking water to sauce, blending well. Serve piping hot, sprinkled with a little paprika. Yield: four servings.

Scallopped Cauliflower

1 Memium head cauliflower (3 to 3½ lbs.), 1½ cups sauce (see below), buttered bread crumbs, grated cheese or diced bacon.

Remove stems and leaves, wash cauliflower head thoroughly and place head down in cold salted water. Soak 30 minutes. Drain. Cook in boiling, salted water until just tender, about 15 minutes. Drain well and separate into flowerets. Place in a greased baking dish and poor hot sauce over top, sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs, grated cheese or small pieces of bacon. Place in a very hot oven, 425°F., until crumbs are brown or cheese melted. Yield: six servings.

Suggested Sauces for Variation

1. 1½ Cups medium cream sauce seasoned with ¼ teaspoon nutmeg.
2. 1½ Cups medium cream sauce with ¾ cup grated cheese added.
3. 1 Can condensed mushroom, celery or onion soup, with or without ½ cup grated cheese added. Cheese may be cheddar or process (plain or pimiento).

Fried Cauliflower

1 Medium head cauliflower (broken in flowerets), 2 egg yolks, ½ cup milk, ¾ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt.

Cook cauliflower in boiling, salted water until just tender, about 15 minutes. Drain well. Beat egg yolk until light, add milk, then stir in flour and salt. Beat batter until smooth. Dip each floweret in the batter then drop into hot fat, 390°F., and fry until brown. Serve plain or with a sauce. Yield: six servings.

FASHION HINT

The well-chosen little coat is prepared to go out afternoons as a complement to a cocktail dress, or to assume full responsibility for cover-up duty with a full evening dress. This coat, prepared for a good season, is of black velvet with zig-zag stitching forming a wide border at the bottom and for the cuff trim. The coat has a generous flare in back, and the sleeves are belled from a wide, loose armhole.

DISHWASHING IS CHEAPER

Montreal (CP) — Germs can cost a man money, Jean Brassard discovered when he was fined $10 and costs for having dirty beer glasses in his tavern. Sanitary inspectors found on the glasses 4,500 colonies of bacteria instead of the 100 tolerated by law.

When Eddie, the noticeably slow-moving and inefficient clerk in a small-town general store, wasn't in evidence one morning, a customer asked: "Where's Eddie? Ain't sick, is he?"

"Nope, he ain't sick", replied the proprietor. "He's just not working here any more."

"Got anybody in mind to fill the vacancy?" responsed the curious villager.

"Nope", said the proprietor. "Eddie didn't leave no vacancy."

Business Demonstration To Lubricant Dealers

An invitation was issued by British American Oil Co. Ltd. to all its dealers in this district, to attend a friendly get-together on Monday evening to discuss fall and winter lubrication of motor vehicles. The meeting was held in the new Legion Hall — being the first time since its erection that this hall has been rented to an outside organization; and both speakers during the evening made reference to this fact, and offered their congratulations to the veterans for their splendid work.

A film was presented demonstrating various services which may be offered to motorists in the winter months in order to keep their vehicles in perfect running order. An interesting note was brought into the affair when Mr. E. W. Higgins, B. A. Oil Co. representative, briefly described the processes in production of a first-class motor oil — also citing a few of the services and equipment offered by the company to its dealers to facilitate their sales. Mr. George Methot, well known representative of the company, also spoke a few words of welcome to the various dealers. Among these were — E. K. Wilson, president of Wilson Motors Ltd.; Jas. Duncan, Lachute Motor Sales; Jack Brown, Fairway Sales and Service; A. Hardie, Maple Ave. Garage, Brownsburg; E. Roy, Lost River; Gordon Brown, who is now Dodge and DeSoto dealer in St. Jerome; O. Kirkwood, Grenville; Stuart J. McFaul, H. Smith, G. Pilon, L. Griffith, Fred Smith, Alex Myles, Cecil Staniforth, W. Langille, Romain Desjardins, E. Cyr and A. Smith.

Don G. MacRae, local B.A. Oil agent, then thanked the audience for attending, and also thanked Mr. Higgins and Mr. Methot for their co-operation in making this meeting a success.

Henri Lecorre, benevolent caretaker of the Legion Memorial Hall, then invited the guests to visit the premises, following which light refreshments and sandwiches were served.

On Saturday night Hervé Baril was knocked down on Convent Street by a car driven by George Moncrieff which was travelling very slowly, according to Chief Foucreau who investigated. Reckless Driving

From many angles we have attacked the wanton loss of life and property occasioned by reckless driving. We have called upon the proper authorities to exercise some action to curb this destroyer of life and home, and at times we felt that even the law was dilatory in dealing with offenders coming within its jurisdiction. We are not yet shouting from the housetops . . but it has been pointed out to us that a more stern accounting will be demanded by the courts from traffic offenders in this district. . . At St. Jerome on October 11, Jean Paul Renaud pleaded guilty of reckless driving about the streets of Brownsburg while under the influence of drink. He was arraigned on four charges and of being in possession of a wrong license plate. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail and had his license revoked without the option of a fine. Gerard Renaud, a brother, was before Magistrate Pariseau the same week on a charge of driving with neither a permit nor a car licence. The case was adjourned.

At the Council meeting on Monday night arrangements were made to have Provincial Police assistance to co-operate with Chief Foucreau in curbing excessive speeding by visiting taxis, chiefly of Ontario register.

Non-resident hunters in New Brunswick must employ a licensed guide.

Proposed Phone Increases As Affecting This Area

Increases of 55 cents per month for two-party residence telephone service, 80 cents per month for rural telephone service in Lachute and Brownsburg and of 85 cents for residence individual lines, are proposed in the Bell Telephone's application for revised rates filed in Ottawa with the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada, according to L. W. Ball, the company's manager here.

The proposed increase for individual line business service is $2.40 monthly, while the proposed rate for two-party business service is $2.15 higher than at present. The Rural Business telephone service proposed increase is $1.50.

It is intended that the proposed rates shall apply to all standard types of telephones supplied by the company.

Grenville Consolidated School News

By Martha Richardson

This is the first appearance of this column for the 1949-50 school term. After the break for the summer vacation, and a bit of time for getting into the way of things at school, your reporter is back again with her column, and expects to contribute every two weeks.

• • •

The staff at school has changed considerably. Four new teachers have joined the teaching ranks — Miss Meredith, Miss Hoare, Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Murphy. There are seven teachers in all.

• • •

The school population has increased too. Pupils now come from Pointe Fortune and Avoca. This added number has made it necessary to build an addition to the present school. When completed there will be eight classrooms.

• • •

New swings and teeter-boards have arrived and the smaller pupils are waiting anxiously for these to be erected.

• • •

Due to the construction work, school sports have been less active than at this time last fall; however, a very successful track and field meet was held. About 140 children participated, and it may be remarked there are some very promising track stars in school. While the meet was in progress, a food sale was being held in school. The proceeds from this sale were quite gratifying. To make the day complete, a school Fair was held in the basement. The exhibits consisted of garden produce and cooking. Space does not permit listing the winners of the day's events.

• • •

The pupils and staff intend to carry on a program of "money-making" for school improvement, similar to the one of last year. The food sale was the first venture. The second is to be a dance — an advertisement for which will be found in another column.

DEATH DIVE

Moosomin, Sask. (CP) — A partridge, apparently seeking cover from hunters, took a dive through Roy Ireton's front porch window. The result — a window smashed to pieces and a very dead partridge.

"I am inspired by these bright and shining faces", began the lecturer.

And one sweet young thing pulled out her powder puff and set to work.

It takes years for a mother to make a man out of her son, and twenty minutes for another woman to make a fool out of him.

Argenteuil Represented at Annual Conf'ce, Union of County Councils

Sessions Held Recently at Quebec City

By Richard Daignault

Quebec, Oct. 24 (CP) — Rural problems, from fences bruised by bulldozers during winter road-clearing to sick persons without the means to pay hospital bills, were put up to the provincial government for solution last week by the Union of County Councils' sixth annual convention.

The union, grouping 67 of 76 county councils, consists of county prefects and rural mayors who meet every year to discuss their mutual problems and present their views as a group to the provincial government.

Some 200 delegates attended this year's three-day meeting.

At the convention Premier Duplessis spoke of the constitutional dispute between his government and the federal authorities.

The Premier, who argues the Canadian constitution cannot be touched without consent of the provinces while Prime Minister St. Laurent says it can, in federal matters, said his dispute with Ottawa is "a matter of life and death". He told delegates that the dispute was a matter "of major importance to the municipalities."

He said they enjoyed their privileges because of provincial autonomy, but that if the Canadian constitution was amended once, that meant it could be amended any number of times, and that was dangerous for provincial rights and autonomy.

After listening to the premier, the delegates bore down on their local problems and adopted a fistful of resolutions. The municipalities submit these resolutions to the provincial government because they fall under a municipal code, which comes under authority of the Legislative Assembly.

Among the most important resolutions was one asking the provincial government to bear hospital costs of persons in hospital longer than three months. Municipalities also sought continuance of the partly constructed trans-Canada highway in the province, and federal-provincial agreement to pay pensions to invalids.

The municipalities said snow-clearing costs in the winter were heavy and asked for higher provincial grants to meet these expenses. At the same time they sought compensation from the government for fences broken by government snow-plows. (Specifically, a resolution sponsored by Argenteuil County Council, requested that the government take over the upkeep of these fences. — Ed.)

The Sherbrooke representatives suggested municipalities be authorized by the provincial government to tax telephone lines, with option not to tax certain companies.

A resolution designed to authorize indemnity to rural mayors and councillors, was defeated.

Other resolutions asked for $25 bounty for each wolf killed on farms, legislation to prevent cattle being allowed to run loose on public roads, and legislation to ban beaver trapping in Argenteuil County.

Dr. A. B. Clement, mayor of St. Joseph de Soulanges, was re-elected president.

(Mayor A. Gaston Munich, of Weir, was re-elected vice-president. Others who attended from this county were — Mayor Chas. Campbell, Township of Morin; Mayor Wilfrid Gratton, St. Adolphe de Howard; Mayor Dr. R. B. Henry, Arundel; and Edward M. Jones, county secretary-treasurer.)

Appointed Judge of Magistrates' Court

Congratulations from many sources have been extended to Georges H. Héon, K.C., on the announcement last week-end of his elevation to a judgeship in the Court of Magistrates. Although designating his duties as in the district of Montreal, this particular appointment gives Mr. Héon authority as a magistrate in the whole of the province. The order-in-council commissions him, from November 16 next, as a "Judge of the Court of Magistrates for the District of Montreal and all judicial districts in the Province".

This is a life appointment and automically bars the appointee from legal practice or political activities. He is required to maintain an official abode in Montreal. However, Mr. Héon states he will also temporarily retain his residence here, after which he intends to maintain a country residence in Argenteuil County.

Jurisdiction

The jurisdiction of this appointment includes the following:

Criminal Cases: All offences except murder, and those offences which, by law, must necessarily go before a jury.

Civil Jurisdiction: (1) All cases previously heard by the Circuit Court, which is now abolished. (2) All civil cases up to $200. (3) All matters relating to the Quebec Liquor Act, and recoveries of amounts due to the Treasury thereby. (4) All actions in recovery of school taxes, and taxes, penalties and damage under the Municipal Code, and all special statutes appertaining to municipal affairs, and to agriculture.

Labor Relations: To preside at labor disputes and arbitration boards.

Special: To preside at all such enquiries and Commissions as the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may, from time to time, direct.

Chatham Electors' Meeting, Dept. Officials to Attend

It is noticed from a current announcement in this issue that the Deputy for Argenteuil and the Warden of Argenteuil County are sponsoring a series of meetings with electors in the respective municipalities — including a meeting next Wednesday in Chatham Township. . . In this connection, it is stated by W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., that representatives of both the Municipal Commission and the Department of Municipal Affairs will be present, in order to give the ratepayers at the meeting an opportunity to discuss matters which have caused dissatisfaction in the municipality for some time past. The newly appointed secretary-treasurer, Jacques Beaudoin, N.P., and the newly appointed auditor, Thos. C. Corry, C.A., will also be in attendance.

East End Resident Found Dead in Home

A call to town police headquarters was telephoned at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning by neighbors of Mrs. Wm. Bradley, Main Street East, who had noticed a light left burning in her home all night, and concluded something must be wrong. Police Chief D. Villeneuve, with Messrs. Wm. Boa and Wm. Heatlie, peered through the living-room window and saw the occupant slumped in a chair, where she had been reading the evening newspaper. They entered the home and found her dead.

Mrs. Bradley, 68 years of age, had lived alone at 342 Main Street for several years past. She was last seen by a neighbor at 7.30 Monday evening, walking to get her mail at the post-office.

The police officer summoned Dr. E. Christie, also the coroner, Dr. Jules Lafleur, who pronounced death due to natural causes, the victim having suffered a heart seizure.

Bone ice skates, 1,500 years old, have been unearthed on a Baltic island.

Geo. Jacobsen Speaker At Canadian Club

George Jacobsen, president of Tower Company Limited, of Lachute and Montreal, who is also widely known in connection with Arctic exploration and development, addressed the Canadian Club of Montreal on Monday at the Windsor Hotel. His subject was "Canada's Arctic Outposts". Mr. Jacobsen, of Danish descent, has lived in Canada since 1938. He heads the enterprise engaged here in prefabricating weather and observation stations and erecting them on their Arctic sites. He is a member of the British Glaciological Society and a charter associate of the Arctic Institute of North America.

Work on Fair Grounds And Exhib'n Buildings

Officers of Argenteuil Agricultural Society are devoting attention to improvement of the Exhibition Grounds, before winter curtails their efforts in this direction. In the past there has been an inadequate water supply to the livestock barns, thus causing inconvenience to some of the exhibitors. The trouble is now being remedied by the installation of a complete new water system to this section of the grounds. Repairs to the grandstand are also being attended to this week.

It is stated by a spokesman of the Society that plans are already in hand for the 1950 Spring Fair, with special thought to details which could be improved upon in the 1949 Exhibition.

Time Changes Here Saturday Midnight

At the midnight hour next Saturday, Lachute will revert to Standard Time. Readers who set their clocks back at the prescribed time, Saturday night, will — (1) enjoy an extra hour in bed; (2) be in readiness for church and railway schedules, which will be subject to change next day; (3) anticipate with relief the end of much confusion, caused by prolonging of Summer Time with no respect to uniformity between communities.

Remand in Trial For Manslaughter

At Criminal Assizes in St. Jerome last Thursday, Jack Brabant, who had pleaded guilty to a manslaughter charge, was remanded to the first day of the next term for sentence. The remand was ordered after Crown Attorney Georges H. Héon had stated that if Brabant could produce a re-engagement in Canada's Permanent Army, for a five-year period after the expiry of his present enlistment, the Crown would agree to a suspended sentence. Meanwhile, Brabant, who is garrisoned at Quebec with his regiment, the Royal 22nd, was turned over to the military authorities, who were represented in Court by Capt. Guy D'Artois, D.S.O., M.C.

Fraud

John Harris, of Brownsburg, who pleaded guilty on Friday to having obtained by fraud, jointly with Grant McRae, a sum of $30 from Noe Dumoulin of Chatham, was given time in jail, after he produced evidence of re-imbursement. Judge Herman Barrette presided at the hearings.

Bigamy

Albert Newell Mulligan, of Ottawa, who pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy arising out of his marriage to a woman resident of Calumet, was condemned to a year in jail by Judge Barrette.

Cottingham to Address Municipal Conference

W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. for this constituency, left Quebec last evening for Sherbrooke, where he is representing the Hon. Bona Dussault, Minister of Municipal Affairs, at the conference of the Union of Quebec Municipalities. Mr. Cottingham will deliver the opening address today and will assist during the remainder of the proceedings.

Farm Forum Rally Told Activities Of Can. Federation of Agriculture

Mutual Fire Insurance Project Reported

A large representation of the county Farm Forums met in the hall of St. Simeon's Anglican Church on Tuesday evening for their fall rally.

Two interesting films, "Double Heritage" and "People With a Purpose", formed the opening phase of the program.

Mr. Floyd Greisbach, the provincial secretary, gave a brief outline of the progressive work of other Forums, which answered the question, "What are Farm Forums doing?" Reports were given on the success of the School Fair last year, organized by the Chatham Forums, also on the Mutual Fire Insurance initiated by the county groups.

Mr. Greisbach then introduced the guest speaker, Colin Groff, secretary of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture (C.F.A.). Mr. Groff gave an interesting talk on the work of the Federation. This enterprise, which is now the largest farm organization, started with a meeting of 75 farm leaders at the Royal Winter Fair in 1935. It has become outstandingly successful. It was through the C.F.A. that the National Farm Radio Forum was started. Now there are over 2,000 families across Canada who listen to the same broadcast, and discuss the same problems, each Monday evening of the fall and winter seasons.

Mr. Earl Morrison then led the group in community singing. A quartet from the High School orchestra favored with several selections, also Ross Walker with his trombone.

Refreshments were served and the evening closed with the national anthem.

School Fair in Review -- Fine Effort of Collaboration, Farm Forums and W. Inst.

REPORT AND PRIZE-GIVING AT RECENT SOCIAL EVENING

At a social evening held in Brownsburg Consolidated School recently, sponsored by the Children's Fair Committee, prizes were awarded to winners at the Fair, held early in September.

Mr. Dennis Staniforth, principal of the school, presented three films of particular agricultural interest to both children and parents. Mr. Staniforth was thanked for his kindness and interest by the Rev. J. G. Duncan.

A number of violin and piano duets were given during the program by Miss June Duncan and Mr. Willis Morrison.

A report of the Fair, and of the year's activities leading up to it, was given to the meeting. The report showed that 90 packages of seeds had been distributed to the children of Chatham and those in town who desired to use them. Sixty-two exhibitors were awarded 52 prizes, for which the sum of $90 had been allotted. This money had been raised by a "Farmers' Frolic" held earlier in the year.

Four Farm Forum groups sponsoring the Fair were represented at this gathering, also two Women's Institute branches which had contributed to it.

Six special prizes were given for those obtaining the highest points, as follows: Junior, Shirley McGeorge and Ronald Bain. Intermediate, Denise Campbell and Bobby Tomalty. Senior, Elinor Tomalty and Jim Tomalty.

At the close of the program, refreshments were served and a social hour was spent.

It is the desire of the committee in charge that other Farm Forums and Women's Institutes will develop an interest in this project and help to make it bigger and better in succeeding years.

Arctic Air Rescue Brings Local Man To City Hospital

Bernard Belanger, Painter, Accompanied Home By His Cousin

The cause and object of what was described this week as "the longest mercy flight in R.C.A.F. history" was a Lachute man, Bernard Belanger, 27, who took sick while on the Arctic construction job with a crew of local men in the employ of Tower Company Ltd.

News stories in the city press gave the name of his brother, Emile Belanger, as the patient; this, however, was erroneous — Emile is still with the party. Bernard was accompanied on the flight by his cousin Antoine, who is now home in Lachute. Bernard is at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, where (according to his father) he is under observation for gastric ulcer or possibly appendicitis. Bernard served six years with the forces overseas. All three Belangers were employed as painters by George Jacobsen and his company, on observation stations now being erected in the Arctic Circle.

"Eight Royal Canadian Air Force men landed their Lancaster plane at Dorval at 4.32 a.m. today (reported The Star on Monday) at the end of what was described as a 'fantastic record flight', then coolly flew on to their base at Greenwood, N.S., to get some breakfast and sleep. It was the longest mercy flight in R.C.A.F. history. They had been in the air 28 hours and had flown nearly 6,000 miles since Saturday morning through bad weather to bring a sick man from inside the Arctic Circle to hospital in Montreal."

George Jacobsen, president of Tower Company, who knows the Arctic well, called the flight "fantastic". His brother, Eric, chief engineer of the company, arrived on the rescue plane.

"They flew the 1,700 miles from Resolute Bay to Winnipeg in seven hours, and that's an extraordinary record when you consider conditions," he said.

"When they arrived at Resolute Bay for the rescue it was twilight and there was fog and blizzard. The temperature was 45 below-zero. But they made a perfect landing and a perfect take-off with the sick man. It was definitely a remarkable feat of aviation."

The plane also brought to Montreal the body of Duncan C. MacCallum, a Montrealer who was killed at Resolute Bay last week, in a truck accident on the same construction job.

Len Wilson Feted, Half-Century With C-I-L Ammunition

(Special to The Watchman)

At a dinner held at Lachute Golf and Country Club, Len Wilson of Brownsburg was honored last night by 150 friends, fellow employees and company officials of Canadian Industries Limited, on passing 50 years of service with the company's Ammunition Division.

Visitors from Montreal, associates from Len's wartime days at D-I-L.'s Verdun plant, as well as old friends who are now retired and pensioned, were all on hand to congratulate the guest of honor, who is also a member of the Brownsburg town council.

The presentation of a suitably engraved sterling silver tray was made to Mr. Wilson by R. W. Beck, vice-president of C-I-L, who spoke in glowing terms of Mr. Wilson's 50 years of valuable service and ability, and of his constant spirit of co-operation with his fellow employees and associates. Mr. S. J. Smart, Ammunition Division manager and also of Montreal, recounted some of the highlights and incidents in Mr. Wilson's career. . . During the war years, it was recalled, Len Wilson was "on loan" to Defence Industries Limited at Brownsburg and Verdun. His knowledge and ingenuity were used to great advantage in the development of a satisfactory .303 British cartridge for war purposes, and its early production in large quantities. Without Mr. Wilson's valuable assistance, the production of military cartridges at Brownsburg and Verdun might have been seriously delayed.

Seated at the head-table were — Harris Sherwood, works manager of the C-I-L Ammunition plant in Brownsburg, who acted as chairman of the evening; Mr. Beck and Mr. Smart; E. J. Johnson, former works manager; Mr. Wilson, the guest of honor; Oliver Wilson, a brother still employed in the Brownsburg plant, with 48½ years service; and Lemuel Wilson, another brother who retired on pension last August after 40 years' service. Two sons, Wallace and Mansil, both now of Montreal, were also at the head-table.

Former C-I-L employees now retired on pension who attended the dinner were — George Bourne, Harry Gardiner, S. W. MacGibbon, W. Tomalty, John Connelly and Harry Moseley. Pensioners unable to attend were Ernie Campbell, F. Cousineau, and Tom Woods. Among special friends present were Ferguson Kettyle, Jim Davis and George Scott. Twenty-five year employees closely associated with Mr. Wilson and present at the dinner were — Demios Diotte, John Seary, J. Guitard and Frank Hazel.

Visitors from Head Office in Montreal included — R. B. Winsor, H. B. Hanna, F. G. Raymant, C. B. Brown and J. W. Seymour.

Entertainment was provided by the Brownsburg Male Chorus under the direction of Sam Rose and by former Brownsburgers Barney O'Connell and Gordie Elliott, who presented a special skit.

Cornerstone Ceremony Marks U.N. Day

United Nations Day—24 October—was celebrated this year by delegates and staff members of U.N. with a cornerstone ceremony for the world organization's permanent headquarters (above), now under construction in New York City. Scheduled as principal participants in the ceremony—marking U.N.'s fourth "birthday"—were President Harry S. Truman of the United States (upper right insert) and U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie (lower right insert).

Late Arthur Trickey Was Veteran of World War I

Lakefield—The death of Arthur Charles Trickey occurred in the St. Hyacinthe Veterans' Hospital on Sunday, October 16, in his 58th year.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. Trickey came to Lakefield in 1935 for the benefit of his health. Four weeks ago he was taken to hospital suffering from bronchial pneumonia, and failed to rally from his illness.

Left to mourn his loss are his wife, the former Ellen Timlin; three sons, Stephen and Allan, of Montreal, and Kenneth, at home; and one daughter, Murigl, now in England; also two brothers, Albert and Harry, and one sister, Katie, all of Verdun.

The funeral, with military honors, was held from the Wilson's Funeral Parlors, Verdun, on Wednesday, October 19, the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield officiating. The many beautiful floral tributes bore silent evidence of his kindly, helpful disposition in his lifetime. . . The sympathy of this community is extended to the bereaved family in their loss.

FLYING CIRCUS

Montreal (CP) — Trans-Canada airliners sometimes take the appearance of an air-borne Noah's ark. Agents of Trans-Canada Airlines report they have carried dogs, cats (both siamese and alley), skunks, cougars, beaver, lobsters, geese and ducks, chickens and poults — and even a vulture.

Education, Agriculture and Citizenship, Variety of Interests This Month in W.I.'s

COUNTY BRANCHES REPORT OCTOBER PROGRAMS

Agriculture was the theme of the October meeting of Arundel W.I. branch, when two films were shown on purebred cattle and one on the destruction caused by parasites on valuable fruit crops. At the regular business meeting the sum of $20 was donated to the Mrs. Watt Memorial Scholarship Fund, and $5 to the United Nations Appeal for Children.

Frontier branch heard an address on Education by Mr. Linton W. Armstrong. Prizes were donated to Brownsburg school. Two brides received gifts and the infant daughter of a member was also presented with a gift. A collection was taken up for the Mrs. Watt Memorial Scholarship Fund.

"A Favorite Hobby" was the roll-call at Morin Heights, where 33 members and six guests attended, and the theme was Education. Mrs. Moss gave a report of the sick committee. It was arranged to place a First Aid outfit in the Junior school, and to refill the First Aid box in the school for the coming year. It was agreed to furnish prizes again at the close of the school year next June. . . Guests of the evening were members of the school staff and the chairman of the board, Mr. Willis Seale. Mr. Blakely, principal, and Mr. Seale addressed the gathering — the latter discussing plans for the new school. . . A new member was welcomed into the branch.

Jerusalem - Bethany branch had as their roll-call, "Name a vitamin, and give its food value". A talk on beneficial baths was given. The treasurer reported the sum of $229.50 had been realized from the dance held on September 30.

Lachute W.I. have completed plans to open their library to the public. Monsignor H. D. J. Brosseau, of Montebello, gave an interesting talk on Education and the meaning of the word, explaining that it implied a "leading out process" rather than an accumulation of facts.

Members of Lakefield W.I. held their meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morrow, Lachute. The roll-call was, "Name a Canadian Lake". Arrangements were made to send a Christmas parcel overseas.

Mille Isles members heard a resumé of the county board meeting held at Lachute. This branch decided to help support the County Scholarship Fund. Guest speaker of the evening was Dr. H. Beardmore, who gave a graphic description of the practice of medicine, past and present. After the meeting, old-time square dancing was enjoyed by members and friends.

With Citizenship as the topic of their meeting, Pioneer branch members had as their roll-call, "How to be a good citizen". The Rev. C. R. Lang addressed the meeting on "Unity at All Cost". A shower of letters is to be sent to a sick member, and a gift to another member.

Current events were read at the meeting of Upper Lachute - East End branch. The roll-call was "My favorite author, and one of his books". Miss Hanna Smith, convener of Education, introduced Miss Grace Crooks as guest speaker. Miss Crooks, who is in charge of a children's library in Montreal, has done a great deal of work among children in various parts of the city and has given lectures at the Librarian's Course at McGill University. She stressed the need for more worthwhile books for children, at home, at school and at the library, and spoke of various books for children from eight to 13 years old.

The September meeting at Brownsburg was under the convenership of Mrs. Hector Mason on the theme of Home Economics; 39 members and seven visitors attended. A "personal parcel" was sent to England. Members were asked each to donate 50c to the Mrs. Alfred Watt Memorial Scholarship. The roll-call was — "Name the color of your wedding dress". Mrs. J. G. Lamontagne, of Lachute, gave an interesting demonstration on appliqued work. Refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

The October meeting of this branch was in charge of Mrs. C. Stevens, first vice-president. The roll-call was, "Name a Canadian city or town beginning with your initial"; 25 members attended. A "personal parcel" was sent to England, and $5 was sent to the County Scholarship Fund. A wreath was ordered for Remembrance Day. Nine members attended the semi-annual convention in Lachute. Plans were made to entertain teachers at the November meeting.

Several Brownsburg members were also present at the social evening held at Brownsburg School, October 17, by the Farm Forums. The prizes for the School Fair were presented, towards which Brownsburg W.I. donated $10.

A largely attended bridge and 500 card party was held in the Social Club on October 21. Brownsburg W.I. takes this opportunity to thank all who worked to make the evening so successful, and thanks are expressed to the merchants who so very generously donated the prizes. In the neighborhood of $70 was raised to augment the funds by this effort.

It Does Cost More

If you could buy a new car today for the same price as you could in 1939 — would you think it a good bargain?

If you could buy a more dependable car today, with more power to it than a 1939 model, for less than in 1939 — would you think that a good bargain?

If you were selling a new car today, a better car than the 1939 model and one which cost you more to build, would you expect to get more or less money for it than you did in 1939?

When you think of all the increases in wages and materials which have taken place since 1939, anything purchased today at 1939 prices is indeed a bargain.

Why do things cost more now than they did in 1939? Because the materials and labor cost more now than they did then. Every manufactured article today costs more to produce, and therefore it sells for more than it used to.

Power companies are no exception to this general rule of rising costs. The cost of new generators, new transformers, new poles, new wire, new insulators is much more now than it was 10 years ago. The cost of operating and maintaining a system is much higher now because wages are higher. In other words, it costs more to make power now — just as it costs more to make cars, or stoves, or clothing, or anything else.

All these increases in cost apply to Gatineau Power just as much as to anyone else. And yet, Gatineau customers are getting power today at less than it cost them in 1939!

In the last few years, Gatineau has spent large sums of money in improvements to its system to provide a better regulated and more dependable service. In addition, its normal power-producing costs have climbed to new highs. All this while revenue has remained substantially the same, because the lower rates have balanced out the increased revenue from increased revenue coming from new customers.

It all boils down to pretty simple arithmetic, really. As the costs of producing power rise the revenue from power production must go up.

Did You Know?

That electrical materials cost power companies over ⅓ more than in 1939.

Junior Farmers to Compete at "Royal"

Toronto (CP) — One hundred members of junior farm clubs from all parts of Canada will attend National Club Week at the Toronto Royal Winter Fair, which opens November 15. The Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Work says the number is a record high.

The group consists of provincial championship teams in eight projects — foods, clothing, dairy, beef, swine, poultry, grain and potatoes.

From the 100 — about 60 boys and 40 girls — will be chosen Canadian champions. They represent more than 50,000 young farm people enrolled in club work in 1949, and range from 16 to 21 years of age.

The club members are scheduled to arrive in Toronto Nov. 13 and during the week will be entertained at banquets, attend the Royal and travel on to points of interest in Toronto, Niagara Falls and Hamilton. They will visit Ottawa before returning home.

The Boys' and Girls' Work Council display, with that of junior club members, will be a feature of National Club Week, held in conjunction with the regular seed section of the fair.

Beef Versus Dairy Mechanization

Is costs a dairy farmer in Eastern Canada more to mechanize his farm of 150 acres than it costs a beef farmer in Eastern Canada to mechanize his farm of 150 acres, yet, on a percentage basis, it is possible that the beef farmer will make more money in the process.

There is no "money-back guarantee" to go with that statement. And many dairy farmers may be able to prove the opposite. It simply summarizes the conclusions which may be drawn from a recent study made by the Agricultural Engineering Division of the Experimental Farms Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Two make-believe farms — one dairy, one beef — were studied by the division. The power and equipment needs of each were examined and a figure struck to estimate the cost of adequate mechanization for each. The dairy farm estimate came to $5,845, the beef farm figure was $4,460.

The difference, $1,385, represented the cost of a row cultivator, corn binder, ensilage cutter and milking machine. Basic requirement to both farms were: horses, harness, tractor, wagons and sleds, hay racks, ploughs, disc harrows, cultivators, drag harrows, grain drills, binders, mowers, rakes and tedders, hay loaders, manure spreaders, scufflers, grinders and small tools.

By operating the beef farm on a straight grain and grass basis, it was thought possible to eliminate the corn-handling machinery. The same could be true on a dairy farm, too, of course, but corn is more likely to be grown for dairy animals.

The farm income figure arrived at in each case made no deduction for the farmer's labor, but all other expenses were pretty well covered before it was determined. Thus, the dairy farm income was estimated to be $6,306, the beef farm income $5,580.

Using the capital invested in the machinery as the sole yardstick—as distinct from the total capital investment in land, stock, buildings and machinery—the return on the farmer's investment in the mechanization of the dairy farm would then be just under eight per cent, while the mechanization of the beef farm would yield a return of just over 25 per cent.

Farm Horse Demand About Nil at Auctions

Belleville, Ont. — Farm tractors are gradually superseding horses as power for hauling farm equipment. In contrast to a decade or so ago, almost every farm in the Bay of Quinte district has a tractor, with the use of mechanized equipment being rapidly on the increase.

That horses are becoming a glut on the market is indicated by the weekly crop report published by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, which says that the demand for farm horses is practically non-existent at farm auction sales.

Blueberries for Scotland

Like Canada, its huge and sprawling descendant, Scotland is a country where there is a lot of marginal land and a lot more that hitherto has been of no use whatever — except perhaps for tourist purposes. Unblessed with the counterpart of Canada's fertile acres, Scotland continues to do the best she can with what she has.

It will be a matter of gratification to Canadians of Scottish descent that just this season, Canada is making a contribution to the development of Scotland's heretofore waste lands. From Nova Scotia a plane-load of blueberry plants has been flown to the land of the thistle and will be planted on the barrens and moors of Auld Scotia. If they accommodate themselves well to their new surroundings — and considering how the Scots excel in horticulture there is no reason why they shouldn't — Scotland may become the land of the blueberry as well as the land of the heather.

Quebec's T.B. Deaths Lead Nine Provinces

Toronto (CP) — Ontario, with the largest population, has the lowest death rate from tuberculosis of Canada's nine mainland provinces. This was shown in a report to the Ontario Tuberculosis Association by Dr. G. C. Brink, director of tuberculosis prevention for the Ontario Department of Health.

The report contained no figures for Newfoundland.

Quebec, the second most populous province, had the highest T.B. death rate. The Prairie Provinces ranked behind Ontario for the least number of deaths.

Early diagnosis and more advanced clinical treatment was the reason given for Ontario's lead in the fight against tuberculosis.

Dr. Brink quoted from a report on tuberculosis in Canada in 1948 as prepared by the Canadian Tuberculosis Association.

Death rate per 100,000 citizens of all races: Ontario, 19.2; Saskatchewan, 26.6; Alberta, 30.7; Manitoba, 37.0; Nova Scotia, 38.9; British Columbia, 40.6; Prince Edward Island, 40.9; New Brunswick, 45.7, and Quebec, 58.3.

Enlarge CBM Transmitter At Marieville, Que.

Work has been started at the CBM transmitter, in Marieville, about 30 miles south-east of Montreal, to boost the station's power from 5 to 50 kilowatts. It is expected that conversion will be completed by next July.

The boosting of the power entails installation of a complete new transmitter which will take several months. The present one was built in 1937. The increase to 50 kilowatts will not only extend CBM's coverage but will also improve local reception.

CBM is the Montreal outlet for the CBC Trans-Canada network. Its studios are located in the King's Hall Bldg., on St. Catherine Street West, and its broadcasting frequency is 940 kylocycles.

Local Shorthorn With High Production Record

In the Canadian Shorthorn Association list of September class winners, Northlynd Matchless 45th, owned by A. D. McGibbon and Sons, of Lachute, stands first in the four year, 305-day class. She produced 7,475 pounds of milk, 301 fat.

TIP TO COUNTERFEITERS

Vernon, B.C. (CP) — "Counterfeit $10 bills accepted here" is the sign in Ernie Lecours' restaurant window. Ernie, a monetary reform advocate, says "It's just as good a means of exchanging goods and services as the so-called legal tender."

SWEET TOOTH

Drayton Valley, Alta. (CP) — Bears paid a visit to an untended loggers' camp near here recently and had a feast. They applied pressure to tins of jam and honey, bursting them and eating the contents.

Edmonton (CP)—Potato growers are complaining about the small size of potatoes this year, but not Cecil Brinjes. He has harvested spuds five to six inches in diameter and weighing more than six pounds.

The Smooth Dodge Ride starts with the Dodge CHASSIS... a part of Dodge Dependability

DRIVE A NEW DODGE and one of the first things you'll notice is its riding smoothness. It's something more than the result of luxurious upholstery and "knee-level" seating comfort — it starts with the chassis.

On the right are described some of the outstanding chassis features which cushion road bumps . . . absorb shock and sway . . . eliminate vibration — to help bring you this smooth Dodge ride. In addition, the Dodge chassis has the ruggedness which assures you long, troublefree life — famous as Dodge Dependability.

That's just part of the extra value which makes your Dodge dollar a bigger dollar.

Take a look at what Dodge gives you in beauty, roominess and performance. There's extra head and leg room, front and back . . . flashing performance of the powerful Dodge engine . . . extra smoothness of Fluid Drive on Custom models . . . and many other outstanding comfort, safety and performance features.

Let your Dodge dealer tell you why you'll drive more smoothly with Dodge . . . and how your dollars will go farther.

CHECK THESE "EXTRA" FEATURES WHICH ARE STANDARD EQUIPMENT ON THE NEW DODGE

Automatic electric choke; Automatic ignition key starting; Aluminum alloy pistons; Four rings per piston; Low pressure tires; Chain camshaft drive; Oil bath air cleaner; Oil filter; Floating oil intake; Hotchkiss drive; Safety-Rim wheels; Floating Power engine mountings; Chair-high seats; Full-width defroster vents.

RUBBER INSULATION is a substantial contributor to the famous Dodge Floating Ride. There are soft, thick rubber cushions at all points of contact between the body and chassis. In addition, rubber limit bumpers on the springs eliminate hard metal-to-metal spring contact even under the most severe road conditions.

SHOCK ABSORBERS of "sea-leg" type are mounted on the rear axle to counteract sidesway. Dodge airplane-type double-action shock absorbers, front and rear, "rub out" road irregularities. Shock absorbers on the new Dodge have been raised 5 inches as added protection against flying stones and dirt.

INDEPENDENT FRONT WHEEL SUSPENSION allows each front wheel literally to "step over" obstructions without transmitting the jar to the body. These independent coil springs are of tough Amola steel.

FRAME CONSTRUCTION is box-type of double-channel, welded steel to give great stability, safety and long life. Front and rear bumpers are attached to the frame, the front bumper having a reinforcement plate for greater strength.

BALANCED WEIGHT DISTRIBUTION is an important factor in the smooth Dodge ride. The Dodge engine is located over the front axle and the rear seat is ahead of the rear wheels. The result is a car which holds the road and handles safely and easily. All passengers are cradled between the front and rear wheels where the ride is smoothest.

Their Annual Fling

THE ANCIENT Britons used to get goose pimples on their blue-painted hides on the night of October 31 when the spirits of the wicked walked the land. On October 31, 1949, the not-so-wicked spirits of little boys will be loosed again for one night of wildness in a year of reasonably well-mannered behavior.

Hallowe'en is the night when tradition-bound parents are obliged to let their offspring blow off a little steam.

Boys and girls, ordered every morning to wash behind their ears, will have a chance to smear their whole faces with burnt cork. Little girls, constantly admonished to keep their clothes clean, will run about in the trousers father wears to stoke the furnace.

Latter-day goblins, taught to say "please" and "thank you" at the slightest provocation, will thump on doors with the demanding cry "shell out" and then scurry off verandahs, their loot clutched under their arms.

Polite children who wouldn't dream of walking on the grass will scale your back fence, smear your window with soap, and, just for good measure, put your garbage cans on your roof.

Once the vigil of All Saints' Day, eve of a day devoted to all saints, known and unknown, the night has little left of its Christian significance. Only the supernatural remains, evidenced in the horrible, unhuman masks that peer from the darkness. Thus the pagan spirit of the Druids has come into its own again, moderated and subdued by centuries of Christian culture.

The chiefs of police will have their say about vandalism, and parents will dutifully scold the few guilty of excesses, but most adults will be happy, one night a year, to let the kids blow off their Hallowe'en steam.

Gold . . And Opportunity

THE OLD, magic cry of "Gold!" went up last week in Alaska. And, as it did back in 1898 at Klondike, the cry called up dreams of wealth in the minds of prospectors.

Three men brought the word to Fairbanks, Alaska, that nuggets "the size of peas" had been found along the Yukon River in the Fort Yukon-Circle area, which hitherto had not been prospected. The discovery was said to have been made by Clifton Carrol, a fisherman. "Gold has been found for two miles on both sides of the original strike", said Rev. Edward Badten, a flying missionary, "and from all appearances it's a big strike." At the end of last week, approximately 50 prospectors had been flown into the area and were panning along the stream. . .

There will always be such outcroppings of opportunity in the vast unsettled lands — and no less in the world's more peopled places, where human fancies never cease to inspire new ventures in production. Against the ever-widening philosophy that the world owes men a living, thank God there are those who cherish independence — those ready to meet the challenge in every strike of gold and every adventure to utilize the earth's resources. These flashes of the pioneer spirit are something to buoy our faith in human grit and energy.

SOME THINK as a child might think, that if a little sulphur and molasses is good, then a whole lot might be better. It is this type of poor reasoning, industry says, that is followed by proponents of the complete welfare state.

EVERY DAY in our lives there is an opportunity to do others a favor, nearly every day there are times we would appreciate one ourselves. Let's take advantage of that opportunity today, tomorrow and every day. — Granby Leader-Mail

The Tumultuous Teens

A FAVORITE topic of our times is the "tumultuous teens" — and if our youthful Canadians ever had time or inclination to read all the material written about them, they would become overwhelmed with their own importance and unbearable to themselves and their elders.

The greatest contribution grown-ups can make to the mental, moral and spiritual growth of adolescents is to view the vicissitudes of the period as challenges rather than conflicts, writes Dr. Mary L. Northway in the current issue of "Health", published by the Health League of Canada.

"The greatest problem the adolescent faces today is the fact that we have come to think and deal with him as 'A Problem'," says Dr. Northway, who is Assistant Professor of Psychology, University of Toronto, and a member of the staff of the Institute of Child Study. Her approach to the subject is sympathetic, understanding and intelligent, and it is her view that "adolescents are extremely reasonable."

All situations arising during the adolescent period, says the writer, can be defined as "problems"; but they can be more profitably considered as possibilities — possibilities for learning, possibilities for growing beyond the boundaries of childhood towards wider horizons of maturity.

"One of the greatest difficulties of the adolescent is that he or she knows so little of what is expected of him", Dr. Northway states. "Psychologically it is well established that we tend to act as people expect we will. When we do not know what is expected of us, we are confused and become erratic, and yet adolescents are expected to act as adults at one time and at others as a child — the adolescent's role is ill-defined. In primitive societies where these things are looked after better, formal initiation ceremonies define for the individual the part that he is now considered mature, that he is expected henceforth to act as an adult and, furthermore, will be treated as one."

Insoluble Problem?

ONE STORY from London prior to the Washington money talks was that British experts lacked confidence that the American economic system could solve present-day problems. These experts might be right.

Chief among the problems that a prosperous, ever-expanding system seems never to solve is that of automobile traffic. Cities and states and provinces have spent and are spending hundreds of millions of dollars on highways, underpasses, overpasses and bypasses in utterly futile attempts to solve the problem. And still it grows.

Parking is the second insoluble problem. In all Manhattan, for instance, the stranger behind a wheel can do little except keep going. And any town of 5,000 population or more has the parking problem constantly on its agenda.

Management of sizable factories often must provide as much ground space for employees' cars as for manufacturing. A smallish poker party at a home is likely to clutter up a residential street far, far into the night.

This economy, as the old "Life" once remarked, has given the rich their golf and the poor their automobiles.

— The Printed Word

THE statement is freely made that it is impossible for a young man to acquire ownership of a farm and operate it. On paper it doesn't look possible, but young men with a will to do it are buying farms and starting out on their own, just as young men did a quarter or half a century ago.

What's Wrong With Work?

By Henry C. Jones

Condensed from "Printers' Ink"

It is disturbing to observe how few of our young people know how to work or have any intention of learning. They don't like the idea of work. Yet they want jobs and incomes.

Only a few years ago work was held to be honorable. To be called a "hard worker" was considered high praise. People put in a full measure of hours and applied themselves diligently at their jobs. Nobody thought there was anything peculiar about it. We received a sort of inner satisfaction in doing a job well. Now all this appears to be old-fashioned, and all of us who worked hard in the hope of carving out a niche in the world were dopes. If you don't believe me, just listen to some of the youngsters; or better yet, let them apply to you for "an association with your firm."

No, they don't even apply for jobs any more. They want to "form a connection". And most of them want to start out as executives at executives' salaries.

Just notice the questions they ask you: "What are the hours? When will I get my vacation? Do you have free hospitalization insurance? How about a pension and retirement plan? How soon will I get a raise?"

Another thing that disturbs me is the low grade of effort exerted by the workers who are on the job. Offices, shops, stores and factories are full of indifferent employees who give half measure, who stall on the job, who manage to waste two or three hours each day.

Can it be that a big slice of our population no longer believes in Opportunity? Has so much talk about Security caused a letdown in the vital drive that made our country great? Young people used to expect Opportunity. Now they demand Security.

Perhaps that's where the difference lies.

The fact that jobs have been plentiful the past several years has a strong bearing on the matter. Few of the younger white-collar folks have known what it means to hunt a job for weeks. Maybe the situation will correct itself without our young folks having to learn what it is to need a job. But I can't help wondering if the answer will come out any other way. I hope it will.

Somebody tell me. What's wrong with work?

Saving Makes It So

Dreams, ambitions, hopes and fears — we all have them. No two are alike but there is one thing they all have in common. It is that, in the final analysis, they all involve money.

That is one reason why Canada Savings Bonds mean more to most people than simply a sound investment. "Investment" is an abstract world with little emotional warmth. Most Canadians who buy Canada Savings Bonds never stop to think that they are "investing". They are doing something much more exciting — making dreams come true.

What is your dream? Is it travel in far-off places? Is it education for your children or retirement and security in your old age? Or is it more material but just as far beyond your immediate grasp? Whatever it is, Canada Savings Bonds are the stepping stones up which all of us can climb, year by year, until we reach it.

The first commercial factories to make plywood were erected in Russia in the 1880's.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

PUBLIC PROPERTY IS YOUR PROPERTY

Most of us respect the private property of others and in turn demand a similar respect for our own! Then why shouldn't we extend this responsibility to what we all own . . . the neighborhood parks, government buildings, etc. . . . in general, public property? Your money helps buy, build and maintain it. Take a pride in your ownership . . . refrain from abusing public property in any way . . . and prevent others from abusing it. You'll be acting in the interests of "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Furnished Cottage Built During Lunch

London (CP) — A new sort of prefabricated house which can be built and furnished in two hours is capturing interest in Britain.

It has been invented by a New Zealand engineer, Maj. Collett Bolt, in order to solve the problem of housing mobile labor. The inventor calls the portable home "Terrapin", after the turtle with its house on its back.

Invited recently to have lunch with the inventor at an inn near London, journalists were shown a grassy space nearby and told: "By the time we have had lunch, a house will have been erected and furnished on that spot."

When the newspaper men left the inn after lunch, there was the furnished house with lounge, two bedrooms and a kitchen fitted with sink and radiators. The beds, including the baby's cot, were also made, carpets were on the floor and there were easy chairs, tables and electric light. All this was done in a little under two hours by only six men.

Jimmy: "Aw you're afraid to fight".

Johnny: "Naw, but if I fight my mom'll find out and spank me".

Jimmy: "How'll she find out?"

Johnny: "She'll see the doc going to your place."

Agriculture Night at the Brownsburg Rotary Club

Plowing Ass'n Directors and Prize-Winners Entertained

The Rotary Club of Brownsburg acted as host to all first-prize winners at the recent plowing match, and to the directors of the Argenteuil Plowmen's Association, at their regular meeting last Thursday evening. A special speaker was on hand for the occasion in the person of Mr. R. Heimpel, who for over 20 years has been professor of Agricultural Engineering at Macdonald College.

Among highlights of the evening were the presentations of the cups donated by the Lachute Lions Club and the Rotary Club for the best junior and senior plowmen. Lion President Bert Rigg was present as a guest to present the cup from his club to 15-year-old Jules Charbonneau, of St. Benoit, while Rotarian Stewart Jones, chairman of the Community Service Committee, presented the Rotary cup to Horace Lapage, of St. Hermas. Stewart Jones also introduced the directors of the Argenteuil Plowmen's Association who were present, and Stuart Armstrong, president of the Association, introduced the prize-winning plowmen. Rotary President Linton W. Armstrong welcomed the guests in English, and John Beliveau did the honors in French.

The guest speaker, who was introduced by John Chalmers, spoke on the importance of plowing and stressed the necessity of good plowing for successful farming. He mentioned the international match at Brantford, where there were as many as 140 contestants in one class, and which required the area of three farms. He said that so many people were attending these matches that it was necessary for the directors to place limitations on the number of contenders. Mr. Heimpel spoke of the various types of plowing and drew attention to the fact that, in the better districts, of which this was one, an ever-increasing proportion of the farm work was being done by tractors. He told of a farm he had visited in Ontario which was completely mechanized. They did not have a single horse on the farm, and he said that in this instance they were operating at a profit.

Harris Sherwood, in thanking the speaker, also stated that the Club had thoroughly enjoyed entertaining the representatives of Agriculture and had found the speaker particularly interesting as they had had so few opportunities to learn of the work being done in modern farming.

Burned in Accident With Gasoline Engine

Adrien Dagenais, 22, who lives adjacent to the highway approaching Dunany, was brought to the Providence Hospital on Tuesday morning suffering from severe burns about the face and neck. It was learned that the young man and his father were sawing logs, with a circular saw and air-cooled stationary engine, when some of the gasoline spilled over the heated engine causing a flash explosion which caught the victim full in the face.

Treated by Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, Dagenais was allowed to return home from hospital today.

Jury Gives Accident Verdict Recent Double-Tragedy on Highway at Pte. au Chene

An inquest was held Wednesday evening at Grenville, on the death of Mrs. Marie-Mance Sabourin, 24, of Ripon, Que., and René Patenaude, 26, of Montreal, who were killed in a collision between two passenger automobiles on the night of October 16 at Pte. au Chene. The jury, hearing the evidence of various witnesses, returned a verdict of accidental death — adding a postscript, however, which attached the blame upon a motorist whose lighted automobile emerged without warning from the entrance of Montana Inn, a hotel in Pte. au Chene Village.

Exile from Sunnyacres

By Margaret Cook

Continuing the Series
"Sunnyacres Sketches"

— X —

It is nearly a month since we left Sunnyacres and I am sure that I have aged a year, although people persist in greeting me with "How well you are looking". For the first time I feel sympathy with those sweet, pathetic old ladies who shudder delicately when their ears are assaulted by such a remark, and reply, "But, my dear, one tries to be brave, no matter what one suffers".

I read somewhere recently that many Christians get along beautifully so long as all is well, but let adversity hit, there are complaints about unanswered prayers and austere quotations such as, "Whom the Lord loveth, He chasteneth". The writer pointed out that one should not expect life to be all happiness, that disappointments and even disasters are all part of life, and that the true man or woman accepts them and weaves them into the tapestry of his life. Myself, I have always thought that the Lord is unjustly blamed for many things. Surely we are not puppets pulled by a celestial string, but having been given brains, are expected to use them. A rector friend once had to leave a parish because he refused to preach a funeral sermon on the text, "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away". He contended that the clogged drains, and not the Lord, were to blame for the third death from typhoid in one family.

My personal woes at present are the loss of my husband to Columbia University in the interests of higher education, and the planning and executing of our daughter's birthday party, she having this month attained the awesome age of eight. Betty's parties are restricted to one every second year, since we feel that the well-known philosophy, "The world owes me a living", is often conceived in infancy and fostered in childhood by over attention to the demands of one small, demanding soul. . . But the infrequency of these, makes it imperative that they be really memorable. Hence, for a whole week I am busy planning, ordering and arranging. This party was a particular success. On the altar dedicated to care-worn mothers, I lay the offering of a game I invented to begin the festivities: — Buy a ball of string; this will serve eight. Unwind and divide into equal parts. To the end of each piece, attach a tag bearing the name of a guest. Now proceed to wind the cord in and out of your movable and immovable household effects, e.g., around chair-backs, under tables and bookcases, but especially through the uprights of the banister. Let the cord end in any foolish place, such as the laundry basket, and let there be a "treasure" attached to the end. This was a wow, and kept my group happily occupied for nearly 15 minutes. One father told me in grateful surprise the next day, "You know Patsy was quiet a whole hour last night playing that game over again". .YOU name it — I was too exhausted; remember that was only the beginning.

Spurred on by visions of the man of the house returning from Columbia, with his "honors thick upon him", to a moronic wren of a wife, I have registered at McGill for an extension course in the Theory and History of Evolution. When we assembled the first night we were six, or one-third persons fewer than the required minimum. The instructor said he was quite willing to carry on as a study group, on his own time. This magnanimous offer led to thoughts on the breadth and tolerance that characterize the true scholar. (I use the word "scholar" in its original rather than its colloquial meaning). Show me the man who considers the time spent on his beloved work as pure delight, and there is the true expert, whether it be in the realm of mathematics, farming, theology or furniture-making. These men are distinguished by their calmness of spirit and quietness of execution. Show me, on the other hand, the man who must be paid for every ounce of work, whose actions are accompanied by sound and fury, and you have the novice as opposed to the veteran, and the man of mean spirit as opposed to the man of large vision.

Thus life goes on, sometimes on a high intellectual level, but more often on a much lower one, as witness this morning. You will remember that morning is not by best time; anything may happen, and often does. Thinking the whole-wheat porridge looked skimpy after Bértha was served, I reinforced it with some left-over porridge, stored in the refrigerator. I added more hot water and beat the mass to a smooth consistency, before serving Betty. Never an enthusiast for porridge, she had a new complaint this morning. "Mummy, this tastes of bacon and eggs."

"Nonsense", I replied, in my crisp morning tones, "Your mouth must be bad". And I felt her forehead and looked at her eyes (for there is a case of polio down the street). Betty appeared all right except for a slight aura of sullenness. So I began my porridge — and it tasted of bacon and eggs! But I was not going to be put off my breakfast by an idea foisted on me by an eight-year-old, so we both grimly ate our meal (I intended no pun there) and practised our music until those glorious moments at 8.45 when one is at last alone. Then, with a horrid suspicion in my mind, I hurried to the refrigerator, took out the half-emptied dish of oatmeal, tasted it, and — it was pork gravy.

At noon, I said, "I owe you an apology, Betty."

"What's that?" she queried. So I gave up.

"Life is real, life is earnest" — but sometimes it is pure comedy.

NEW CHART TO HELP ATLANTIC FISHERMEN

Edinburgh (CP) — A herring atlas will be published by the International Council for the Exploration of the Sea.

Covering the fisheries of the northeast Atlantic, it will contain 12 charts, one for each month of the year.

It will be printed in English, French and Danish and will show the location of shoals, the quality of the fish and all landing ports. It is expected to help fishermen of all countries between France and Iceland.

Around the Country

J. Greenblat

James Baxter, of Ingersoll, Ont., florist, is really a tough luck artist — slipped, sprained his ankle; hour later an employee fell off bike, dislocated shoulder; next day Mr. Baxter slipped in bathroom, broke hip and wrist, then someone stepped on the family cat and it's limping. . A bull and cow moose blocked the Thorburn highway in Pictou, N.S., county, held up a bus load of passengers until R.C.M.P. stoned them away. . At Hanley, B.C., they brought into the Gazette office an apple, 1 lb. 5½ ounces, grown on fruit and mink farm of Alex Straker. . A late camper at Port Bruce, Ont., awakened at daybreak to find a big skunk sharing porch with him; it had a beer bottle attached to its neck by a piece of string; tie that one if you can. . In a dry year, George Copeland at Hughton, Sask., had oats at 124 bushels an acre. . Three major Christmas tree operators have already started work in the Cranbrook, B.C., area, expect an increase cut of 25 per cent over 1948. . Mrs. J. E. Poland at Munson district, Alta., battled a coyote chicken marauder, got him with a plank in her hands.

DOUBLE SCHOOL CLASSES

Sioux Lookout, Ont. (CP) — The younger generation sneaked up on the school trustees this year. Fifty-five children, a record number, enrolled in the public school beginners class and class hours were staggered so as to teach them all.

New Device on Passenger Plane

Canadian Pacific pilots flying out of Montreal are now being trained in the use of a cross-wind landing gear which has been installed on one of the company's DC-3 passenger planes. With the device, the wheels swivel automatically, like the casters on an office chair, to enable the planes to land or take off without regard to wind direction. This will enable the plane to maintain scheduled operations using one-strip landing fields now being completed at Val d'Or and Rouyn-Noranda in a service connecting Montreal and Northwestern Quebec in which Canso amphibian planes are now being used. The photo above, which illustrates the device, shows the port wheel castered at a 15-degree angle with the starboard wheel in conventional position. This is the first commercial plane in the world on which the device has been installed.

St. John's, Nfld. (CP) — Labrador Indians, normally hunters, will ship their first catch of sea trout this year from Okkak Bay. The Indians were moved last year by the government from their hunting grounds at Davis Inlet to Okkak Bay, 250 miles northwest along the Labrador coast. They had complained that the hunting grounds were exhausted.

Dollar-Sterling Trade Board To Promote Reciprocal Trading, Canada and U.K.

Announcement of the formation of the Dollar-Sterling Trade Board came from its chairman, James S. Duncan, C.M.G., president of Massey Harris Co. Ltd., in Ottawa last week.

"The purpose of this Board", Mr. Duncan said, "is to stimulate and expand trade between the Sterling area and Canada. It will act as counterpart to the Dollar Exports Board, which has been recently formed in the United Kingdom and whose objectives are identical".

The Board will consist of citizens prominent in wide spheres of activity in all parts of Canada and while the Board is in no sense a Government agency, it will have the fullest support of the Government in all its activities. Included in the Board's membership will be representatives of industry, labor, agriculture, distributive trades and transportation. Consumer interests will be represented by a woman, Miss Byrne Hope Sanders, C.B.E., wartime director of the W.P.T.B. Consumer Branch.

The Minister of Trade and Commerce, the Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, paid tribute to the members for voluntarily contributing their wide experience to this important undertaking. Mr. Howe stated: "If we are to retain our markets for agricultural and other products, we must somehow provide our customers with the dollars to pay for them. Further loans are not a solution; the only sound method is to expand our purchases of Sterling area goods. If Mr. Duncan and his Board can achieve such expansion, they will have performed a valuable service to the country.

"To protect our reserves of U.S. dollars, we have been obliged to control our purchases of U.S. goods. It is towards filling the gap of imported products, caused by our measures to prtect our U.S. dollar reserves, that I understand the operations of the Board will be largely directed. Only 18% of all our imports in the first six months of this year came from the Sterling areas. If we are to keep our Overseas markets in these areas, so essential to the prosperity of our country, this percentage must be increased."

"We do not intend to be consultants only", said Mr. Duncan, commenting on the aims of the new Board. "Our intention is to pursue actively every avenue of mutual trade which will place dollars in the hands of the Sterling area countries, with which they will be able in turn to buy the products of our farms, our mines, our timber limits and our manufacturing. . . If these dollars cannot be made available to our customers, I have grave fears for the future of our own export trade, upon which the economic health of this country and every one of its citizens so greatly depends. . . We propose setting up working committees of experts in all fields of British exports, to gather information which will be passed on to the British exporter".

Orange and L.O.B.A. Meetings Held Recently

Shrewsbury L.O.L. No. 716 held their regular meeting on October 20, with the W.M., Bro. L. Hodge, in the chair. Plans were made for members to attend the dedication of the Orange and Protestant Home at Rosemere on Saturday, also to hold a special meeting on Friday, October 28, in the L.O.B.A. lodge room, Hope Street, for the purpose of electing and installing officers. All members were urged to attend on this occasion.

• • •

The members of Laurentian L.O.B.A. No. 943 met in their lodge room on October 19. The W.M., Mrs. Billingham, presided.

There was considerable business discussed, among which was the proposed visit of the lodge to Cassburn on November 3, and the dedication of the Orange and Protestant Home at Rosemere. It was decided to postpone the next regular meeting until November 9, when the R.W. Grand Mistress expects to pay her official visit; other neighboring lodges are being asked to attend that night.

It is expected that steps will be taken next spring to organize a juvenile lodge for girls up to the age of 16. R.W. Mrs. Ball reported that some lodges were furnishing certain rooms of the orphanage, and that a ladies' auxiliary of the province would be contacting lodges to provide other needed articles.

The Search for Peace

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace and good will towards man. — Luke 2:14.

The God of heaven shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly. — Romans 16:20.

PEACE AMONGST THE ANIMALS ALSO

The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid and calf, and the young lion and the fatling together,

And a little child shall lead them, and the cow and the bear shall feed, and their young ones shall lie down together; and the lion shall eat straw like the ox. . .

They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain, for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea. — Isaiah 11.6:9.

IF you have a problem in insurance, as to personal protection or investment — or coverage against loss or hazard — I will be glad to discuss your particular needs.

Recent Wedding at Lachute United Church

Miller - Hammond

In the Lachute United Church at four o'clock on the afternoon of October 15, the marriage was solemnized of Margaret Isobel, eldest daughter of Ben Hammond and of the late Mrs. Hammond, to Mr. Harvey Randolph Miller, son of the late Harvey Miller and Mrs. Miller, of Lachute. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiated at the candlelight ceremony, and Mr. Jack Gorman was at the organ. Gladioli and ferns decorated the altar of the church.

Miss Jean Hammond was maid of honor and Miss Ruth Hammond was bridesmaid — both sisters of the bride. Mr. Ross MacAdam was best man and the ushers were Messrs. Robert Miller and James Fiché.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin in princess style, buttoned down the front and ending in a long train, with lace yoke and lace cuffs ending at the wrists. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls and her only ornament was a double strand of pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid were dressed alike in gowns of Periwinkle blue and pink, respectively, with matching headdresses of shirred tulle; they carried bouquets of yellow and white baby mums.

The groom's mother wore a black crepe dress with velvet top and black accessories, and a corsage of pink Delight roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall, where gladioli and baby mums were arranged as decorations. The bride's table was centred with a four-tier wedding cake.

Later the happy couple left by motor for a wedding trip to the Niagara Peninsula and points of interest — the bride travelling in a navy wool suit with beige topcoat, and navy and beige accessories. Her corsage was of Johanna Hill roses. . Mr. and Mrs. Miller will reside outside Lachute.

About Colds

Rest in bed has stood the test of time as "a most sane and effective measure" for relief of colds, says a medical consultant in answer to a query in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

No salve, nose drops, gargle, vaccine, or other preparation is known to be reliable in preventing or curing this familiar malady, he states, adding that "authoritative medical opinion supports the view that there is no known substance or combination of substances which can be relied on to prevent or cure the common cold."

Meanwhile, the Health League of Canada advises that if you catch a cold — be thoughtful, stay at home to protect others as well as yourself — cover coughs and sneezes, then destroy tissues or sterilize handkerchiefs contaminated with nose and throat discharges.

Further, says the Health League, consult a physician if fever, body-aches or weakness occur, or if coughing of mucous from the chest occurs.

You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift. — Lincoln

Death of Old and Esteemed Resident at Grenville

Late Mrs. Thos. Gauley

The community of Grenville lost one of its oldest and most respected residents in the death of Mrs. Thomas Gauley, which occurred Saturday morning, October 22.

The former Margaret Arnold, daughter of the late Thomas and Margaret Arnold, she was born in Rawcliffe, Que., on May 1, 1863. She was married to the late Thomas H. Gauley in 1886, and they resided at Rawcliffe until 1906, when they moved to Grenville.

She was a lifelong member of the Baptist Church, which she faithfully attended. She was always ready to help anyone in sickness or trouble, and until recently she remained keenly active.

She is survived by one daughter, Bertha (Mrs. E. Laumallier), of Farnham; five sons, William and Corl, of Grenville, Edwin and Walter, of Chatboro, and Fred, of Kilmar; two step-daughters, Nellie (Mrs. H. Madden), of Brownsburg, Emma (Mrs. J. Steele), of Regina; and a step-son, John, of Grenville; also 14 grandchildren, and nine great grandchildren.

The funeral service, which was very largely attended, was held at the Grenville United Church on Monday afternoon. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. G. Duncan, pastor of Maple Avenue Baptist Church, Brownsburg, assisted by the Rev. A. G. Moore. The Rev. C. R. Lang, of St. Simeon's Church, Lachute, read the committal service.

The many floral tributes showed the high esteem in which she was held.

The pall-bearers were her four sons, Corl, Edwin, Walter, Fred, and her two grandsons, Elmer and Lloyd.

Burial took place in the Anglican Church cemetery at Grenville, where the remains were laid beside her late husband.

The stork was fluttering over a suburban home when a doctor's car pulled up to the curb with a shriek of brakes and the medico leaped out, vanished into the doorway. Inside, a gulping and pale daddy-to-be waved him up the stair.

Suddenly the doctor re-appeared. "Gotta screw driver?" he gasped. The prospective papa produced one. A couple of minutes later he was back.

"Gotta monkey wrench?" he blurted.

The near-daddy brought one out. Again the young doctor disappeared, but returned a third time, this time his request being for a hammer and chisel.

"But Holy Cow", gasped the one who caused all this, "— what goes on? Is it a boy — or a girl?"

"Too early to say yet", replied the doctor. "I can't get my instrument case open."

Chinese Stewardesses for Canadian Planes

A new and charming addition to the ranks of Canadian air lines stewardesses are these three Chinese girls, slated for duty on the Canadian Pacific Air Lines flights from Vancouver to Tokyo and Hong Kong. Shown being welcomed at Vancouver airport by their Canadian colleagues, the girls will soon shed their picturesque Oriental costumes for C.P.A. stewardess uniforms, and will share duties with Canadian girls on the 6,500-mile run, one Chinese and one Canadian girl to each plane. Left to right are Lorraine Ngu, Shanghai; Minerva Dunkerley, Vancouver; Joyce Lam, Hong Kong; Barbara Aycliffe, Port Alberni, B.C.; and Gloria Woo, Hong Kong. A fourth Chinese lass, Dulcie Hall, of Hong Kong, arrived in Vancouver earlier.

The Finest Fruit

The apple, "the king of fruits", is at its best during the autumn months. Although one of the most desirable characteristics of apples is the keeping qualities of some varieties, the luscious freshness of tree ripened fall apples makes them a real treat. When cooked, the tart delicacy of fall varieties needs no extra spice to accentuate the natural flavor.

The apple crop this year assures plentiful supplies so we may enjoy apples now and every month of the winter. The diversity of color, texture and flavor of the many varieties as they come to perfection makes them seem like entirely new fruits.

Gravenstein, Melba, McIntosh and Jonathan are varieties of apple which are good for eating raw as a dessert with the meal or at any time between meals. These varieties are also good cookers. Wealthies are not so satisfactory for eating raw but cook well and have jellying properties.

Unlike many fruits, the skins of apples is usually eaten when the fruit is served raw. There is no reason for removing the skins before cooking. Apples for pie, if sliced very thinly do not require peeling. This saves time and adds flavor.

There are literally thousands of good ideas for using apples. The home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa have sent us a few:

Apple Dumplings

2 Cups all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 3 tablespoons shortening, ¾ cup milk, 6 medium apples, 6 tablespoons mincemeat or jam.

Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Cut in shortening. Add milk to make a soft biscuit dough. Roll out to ¼ inch thickness. Cut dough in six squares. Pare and core apples and place one on each dough square. Fill centres of apples with mincemeat or jam. Draw dough up around apples, pierce in several places with a fork. Place on a greased baking dish and bake in a moderate oven 350°F., until apples are tender, about 40 minutes. Serve with cream or a hot pudding sauce. Yield: six servings.

Baked Apple Tapioca

2 Cups boiling water, 3 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 6 medium apples, 6 tablespoons red jelly or jam.

To boiling water, add sugar and salt, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add tapioca slowly, stirring constantly, over boiling water in double boiler. Cook for 10 minutes. Peel and core apples and place in a greased casserole. Fill centres with jelly or jam, pour hot tapioca over apples and bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., until apples are soft, about 40 minutes. Serve hot with cream. Yield: six servings.

Apple Bread Pudding

2 Cups bread crumbs, 1½ cups milk, 3 egg yolks, 3 tablespoons soft butter, ½ cup raisins, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, ⅛ teaspoon cloves, 2 cups peeled, chopped apples, 3 egg whites, dash of salt, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Add bread crumbs to milk, bring to a boil and cook for 2 minutes. Cool slightly. Beat in the egg yolks, butter, raisins, sugar and spices. Then add the apples. Beat egg whites and salt until stiff, beat in the 2 tablespoons sugar. Fold into other ingredients. Pour into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., for about 60 minutes. Serve with cream or pudding sauce. Yield: six servings.

Young girl (in drugstore): Are you a doctor?

Clerk: No, Miss, I'm a fizzician.

The old man neglected to assist his wife out of the street car.

"John", she said, "You are not so gallant as when you were a boy."

"No", he replied, "and you are not so buoyant as when you were a gal."

Jane (aged five): Mummy is it true that before people are born they're dust?

Mother: Yes, dear.

Jane: And when they die they go back to dust?

Mother: Yes, dear.

Jane: Well, I looked under my bed just now and there's somebody either coming or going.

AUSTRALIAN WOMAN LED MOVEMENT FOR JUVENILE LIBRARY

Child Centres Spread in New South Wales

Sydney, Australia (CP) — To provide children with good books and social centres where they can meet and enjoy themselves, is the dual aim of the Children's Library Movement in New South Wales.

Founded by Mrs. Mary Matheson more than 25 years ago, the movement has its headquarters on the outskirts of Sydney. In a building donated by the city, children use the fine library and the well-equipped craft room or play outside on tree-shaded lawns.

In addition to the centre in Sydney, the Children's Library Movement now has more than 25 branches in New South Wales, most of them in suburbs of Sydney or in rural areas near the city.

Many of these branches have their own children's theatre group, and at most of them children are taught puppetry, painting and handicrafts such as leatherwork and toy-making.

Mrs. Matheson thought of the idea of the movement when, as a young girl, she watched children playing in a London slum.

She realized the importance of giving underprivileged youngsters good books and pleasant surroundings and determined to make these things available to Australian children.

Mrs. Matheson had won a travelling scholarship to Cambridge University, and after graduating she returned to Australia in 1923 to found the Children's Library Movement the following year.

Raising funds was difficult at first. So the first children's library had to be housed in a small basement at the meeting house of the Society of Friends.

Gradually, as the public became aware of Mrs. Matheson's work, people subscribed more money. By 1934, a board of trustees was appointed, and the New South Wales government allowed an annual subsidy of £150.

Inspired by the movement in New South Wales, other Australian states have recently started similar movements, which are affiliated with the original New South Wales organization.

For instance, there is now a children's library movement in Perth, Western Australia, two in Victoria and several in Queensland.

NIGHT BEAUTY

Carleton, N.S. (CP) — A night-blooming cereus plant owned by Mrs. Warren Wright has had 16 blooms so far this year. The blossoms are green, pink and white and take from two to three hours to open.

BURIED TREASURE

Maple Creek, Sask. (CP) — Mrs. Elgin Countryman got dividends from buried treasure on a farm near here. Though the farm was sold after her husband's death, Mrs. Countryman dug up $800 in bonds which were buried five years ago and then lost.

"Andy Clarke and His Neighborly News", Friendly Volume Now Published

By Gregory Clark

The late Andy Clarke's "Neighborly News" broadcasts over a period of eight years on the CBC network piled up over a million written words of sheer delight to a very wide audience. These million words have been raked and sifted down to 60,000 words for a book — "Andy Clarke and His Neighborly News" — which has been published by Ryerson Press in time to be a Christmas gift to someone in all the thousands of homes that were joyously invaded by Andy's voice every Sunday morning for so many years.

When Andy Clarke died, his widow, Vi Dickens-Clarke, herself a newspaper women all her life, determined that Andy's work in recounting the humor and goodwill of Canadian rural life, should be preserved in a book. With the help of her friend, Mrs. May Holland Cox, an experienced author, Mrs. Clarke spent a whole year extracting from those million words of Andy's filed manuscripts the very cream of the stories her husband had culled from the weekly newspapers of Ontario and Quebec. Last winter, she enlisted from among Andy's friends in the newspaper and radio business a committee, who met the Ryerson Press, and the task of assembling the book was begun. Thoreau Macdonald was the artist chosen to illustrate the book with drawings for each chapter head.

The result is a book so essentially Andy Clarke's that you can almost hear the tone of his voice as you read the pages. All the greatest stories Andy told are included in the book. The form into which it has been assembled is by months. Greg Clark has written an introduction in the form of a biography, the interesting story of Andy Clarke's life.

One of the features of the book is the index, which enables the old Andy Clarke fan to look up the tale of the piano-playing dog or the bear that treed the hunter, without a moment's delay. It is a unique book, uniquely constructed and certain to be an abiding sweet memory to a multitude of people. The Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association which, with the CBC, was responsible for putting Andy Clarke on the air, is co-operating with CBC and the publishers in publicizing "Andy Clarke and his Neighborly News", and steps are being taken to make it easily available to all who desire copies for Christmas. The price is $2.50.

Jolly Tars and Their Skipper

When the CBC sets up its Trans-Canada network microphones in Harmony Harbor every Sunday afternooon at 12.30, the Acadian Male Quartet and its captain, above, roll into port with sea chanties varying in sentiment from lively pirate songs to sailors' vesper hymns. Harmony Harbor is a CBC half-hour presentation of songs of the rolling main sung by the Quartet, with organ music by Marjorie Payne. Seen, left to right, are sailors Robie Porter, Austin Gough, Syd Kennedy, Raymond Simpson, and Carl Ritcey.

Death in the Ring

"SPORTS CAMERA"
By Wally Izsak

It was only another small news item on most mid-October sport pages. And since Talmadge Bussey wasn't a very well-known boxer few readers paused long over the account of his death — caused by injuries suffered in a boxing bout.

But the Detroit fighter's death raised this year's death toll in professional boxing to 14 throughout the world. That has alarmed fight promoters and officials for it it only one short of the record 15 in 1946.

The United States, boxing's biggest stamping grounds, was most heavily hit in 1946 with 11 deaths. This year Talmadge's death was the ninth in that country, matching the number killed in 1947 and 1948.

The alarming aspect in this resurgence of ring fatalities is that it should be just the opposite. Almost every year new safety rules are invoked to cut down the dangers for fighters. And there are far fewer fights being staged and far fewer athletes making the sport their livelihood.

Therefore the death toll should be smaller. But it's not, and, in fact, is higher in proportion to the number of fighters.

Boxing is, perhaps, the cruellest of sports. Each fighter spends years conditioning himself and training himself to pack a punch that will physically injure his opponent. His objective is to knock out the other fellow or hit him until he is beaten and physically unable to continue the bout.

Still Can't Take It

That may be one answer to the increase in deaths. The boxer, through the years, has concentrated on improving his attacking ability. But he has not been able to increase his ability to "take it", for the human body can stand only so much before giving way.

And it's small wonder the body does give in after the beating it takes. Many of us have wondered how the fighter with the swollen eyes, gashed forehead, bashed nose and blood-smeared lips is able to walk out of the ring apparently unaffected. He isn't unaffected altogether, for the scar tissue that forms over his cuts isn't as good as his original skin, that broken nose will never be as strong again and those eyes won't be as clear and bright.

The knockout is worse and medical men say there is no such thing as a harmless KO. Each time a fighter is knocked out he has suffered at the least a mild brain concussion. When a fighter dies from a punch the death usually is attributed to cerebral haemorrhage, or the breaking of a large blood vessel.

Since the sport won't die and fighters will, it appears up to the backers of the business to institute such complete safety regulations that the fighter stands the smallest possible chance of fatal injury.

That can only be achieved through medical examination. Thus doctors soon may be sitting at the ringside during bouts and examining fighters between rounds to see if they have suffered any hidden head or internal injury. If they have, the bout could be stopped immediately, thereby avoiding possible additional injury.

There would have to be additional safety measures taken, but that one probably would help considerably to avoid any unnecessary ring fatalities.

Fair-Winners Use Miles of Ribbon

Toronto (CP) — It takes a lot of ribbon to wrap up the winners in any big fair — and one of the biggest is the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair which opens its doors in Toronto November 15.

Fair officials got out their slide rules and adding machines and calculated that nearly four miles of ribbon, weighing more than 200 pounds, will be pinned on more than 10,000 prize-winning exhibits at the Royal.

The prize rosettes, which hang on everything from a grand champion bull to a dainty orchid, use up about 1¾ yards of ribbon each. Seven persons work for more than two weeks to prepare the ribbons.
