Tragedy Strikes Swiftly As Two Brownsb'g Boys Drown

Saturday Afternoon Fishing Trip Ends In Grief, As Lads Drown In Half-Moon Lake

By M. V. Trayers

Four apples floating on the surface of the water, a string of four fish lying on the bank with a half-empty bottle of soft-drink and a water-sodden child's wallet containing the usual accumulation of snaps, a stubby pencil, a few hooks and a membership card of the Brownsburg Juvenile Police Club, bearing the name Gaston Charlebois, was the pathetic, but tragic evidence which marked the spot where ended the young lives of two little boys at Half-moon Lake on Saturday afternoon.

This was the scene which greeted Mr. D. W. Reynolds and Mr. Philip Amos, of Montreal, who had paddled swiftly across the lake in answer to the despairing cries of the boys struggling in the water a few minutes before. Now all was quiet. The still waters had closed over the earthly remains of the two who had left Brownsburg, their parents, and happy homes that morning in the full flush of promising manhood and the keen anticipation of all that a boyish fishing expedition foretells. Its joys and expectations, its disappointments too, and now its stark tragedy.

Mrs. Reynolds, who accompanied her husband in their swift dash by canoe across the lake quickly dived into the water in a vain effort to recover the bodies. They had heard one of the boys shout to his companion "get hold of that stick". Now the stick stood upwards in the rough tree strewn bottom of the lake sixteen feet below. Mrs. Reynolds brought the rod to the surface but the intense cold of the water compelled her to reach the bank and she was unable to locate the little boys. It was a gallant attempt but the task was too great.

Mr. Reynolds immediately communicated with Traffic Officer Legault and Police Chief Foucreau of Brownsburg. Both officers, and Traffic Officer H. Jones were quickly on the scene, but darkness was approaching and without suitable equipment they were forced to desist from searching and await daylight. Chief Foucreau with the fathers of both boys, Henri Charlebois and Raynaldo Lamarche; Councillor Denault and others were back at daybreak and using grappling irons, rushed to them by Mr. G. Y. Deacon, of Lachute, they dragged the lake until the hopelessness of the task compelled them to seek more suitable aid. An appeal for assistance to the Federal locks at Carillon and Mr. Castonguay arrived with diving equipment.

After seventeen minutes under water he located the bodies side by side. Young Jean Lamarche was the first body brought to the surface. Submerged trees made diving both dangerous and difficult, but the body of young Charlebois was recovered by a hook from a boat without further necessity of diving.

The coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur was called and had the bodies removed by ambulance. By now there were hundreds of people lining the shore of the lake.

The boys, Jean Lamarche, 14 years of age, son of Raynaldo Lamarche and Imelda Pilon, and Gaston Charlebois, 14 years, son of Henri Charlebois, and Amada St. Andre, both of Brownsburg, were inseparable companions in life. Their joint funerals from St. Louis de France Church was made the occasion of a slow march by their comrades of the Juvenile Police Club.

After solemn requiem mass, the remains were borne from the church to Brownsburg cemetery, where Gaston Charlebois was interred. Jean Lamarche to St. Philippe burial ground.

Cattle Thieves Arrested at St. Andre d'Avelin

Cattle thieves who have been preying upon farmers of this district and of eastern Ontario during the past few months were arrested last Friday. Levis Vadnais, of St. Andre d'Avelin, and his nephew Jacques Beaulieu, were placed under arrest after evidence was certain of their guilt.

Operating with a red Fargo truck, they were successful in their robberies in Hawkesbury region since last October, and Lachute vicinity since April. Chased one night by G. Smith, who was successful in getting the license number, there whereabouts was soon discovered.

Out of 18 cows stolen, eight were recovered yesterday by Detective P. Therriault, of Lachute, who was accompanied by the farmers who had lost the animals. They were found in St. Andre d'Avelin, Micre and other places near Buckingham.

Det. Crévier accompanied Det. Therriault in making the arrest of Vadnais, and help from Montreal was requested for the arrest of Beaulieu. The case will come before St. Jerome courts tomorrow.

Juvenile Police Club

At a meeting of the Juvenile Police Club on Friday last, at which more than one hundred members were in attendance, the president Mr. J. L. D. Duschatel announced that Capt. Detective Ovila Pelletier, founder of the Juvenile Police Club movement would be in Brownsburg on June 1st, at 4.30 p.m. when he would address the boys on the aims and objects of the club. The president impressed upon all present the necessity of being present to hear and meet Capt. Pelletier.

Chief Foucreau, who acted as chairman, explained to the meeting that a quantity of clothing received from the Anglican Church Committee and additional from residents of the village, had been sent to Cabano, and an acknowledgment was read from the Rev. Chamoine J. W. Cyr, of Cabano, deeply appreciating the gift.

A sum of $6.12 was collected among the boys to be forwarded to the Rimouski - Cabano Relief Fund, through "The Watchman".

The club drawing for an electric stove and an electric washing machine is to be held on June 17 at Fariseau's Store, Brownsburg.

Two English and two French boys are to be taken to the next Municipal Council meeting to acquaint the boys with civic affairs.

A cheque of $25 was received from Mr. Emil Longtin. Mr. Emil Hebert is Sec.-Treas. of the Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Denis Staniforth Feted by Pupils

A banquet and dance, organized by the teachers and students' council of the Brownsburg Consolidated School to mark the departure of their popular principal and Mrs. Staniforth, was held on May 24th.

After a banquet at the United Church Hall, at which a delicious repast provided by the pupils was served and toasts proposed to the feted couple, a presentation of a beautiful art painting "A Corner of Old St. Eustache" was made to Mr. Staniforth. The recipients were visibly moved by the warmth and spontaneity of the boys and girls making the presentation. Mr. Staniforth replied to the many kind things said by the various speakers and accepted the painting with a feeling of emotion.

Mrs. Staniforth also expressed her thanks for the kindness and generosity which inspired the occasion, and through tears of nostalgic remembrance of a happy interlude in Brownsburg, wished her many friends every success.

A dance at the school building, at which many pupils from the Lachute High School attended, completed a joyful occasion.

Ski Resort Disappears At Morin Heights

A well-known landmark in the district of Morin Heights, the Laurentian Rest and Ski Lodge, has been converted into apartments and stores. For many years this lodge catered to the numerous ski enthusiasts in that region, but during the past few years, the winters have been noted for the lack of snow.

Instead of the spacious room for skiers to enjoy their week-ends, the Laurentian Rest will now house three apartments and have three select stores.

'D' Company Cadets Make Auspicious Commmencement

The first parade of "D" Company was held in Lachute last Monday evening when 24 cadets started training in true military fashion. On hand to initiate the boys into the ways of the army was R.S.M. Smith from Battalion Headquarters, Montreal. The evening opened with drill instruction, and the performance of those on parade very agreeably surprised both Sgt.-Maj. Smith and Lieut. Tabrett. Later in the evening, Lieut. Tabrett told the cadets that if they continued in the same manner as they had begun, it would only be a short time until "D" Company was the finest in the Battalion and one of the best units in Quebec Command.

Lieut. Tabrett had a discussion with Capt. Sproston, Regimental Commanding Officer, and it was decided to arrange for transportation to Montreal on June 8, to issue the cadets with uniforms. Therefore any cadets, or new recruits who are not present on this parade, are advised that they will not receive their uniforms for another month. Recruits should be between the ages of 15 and 18, in good health, and of a minimum height of 5' 2".

About ten cadets expressed a desire to attend summer camp this year in Valcartier. The camp is being held from June 26 to July 5 inclusive, and is open to all cadets. The final list for camp will be made up next Monday evening, when the parade will again be held at Lieut. Tabrett's home, 338 Main St.

Teachers' Assoc. Elects Officers

The Argenteuil - Two Mountains Teachers' Association held its closing meeting of the current school session on Friday, May 26, at Morin Heights. Due to lack of accommodation at the school, the meeting was held in the Bellevue Hotel.

The business section of the meeting included the election of officers for the coming year. Mr. A. Thompson, who presided as chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following list of officers, who were duly elected.

President, Dennis Staniforth; vice-president, A. J. McGerrigle; secretary-treasurer, Miss Marjorie Vowles; chairman program committee, Mrs. Norma Rogers; chairman athletic committee, Philip Grant; official delegates, Mrs. M. C. Andrews, Miss Mary Smith, and Mr. Blakely.

Mr. Staniforth, newly elected president, addressed the group and expressed the hope that the Association would continue to receive the active success it has attained since its inauguration.

The retiring president, Mr. Thompson, stressed the need for close co-operation among members to insure future success of the Association.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Thompson as retiring president.

Upon a motion by Mr. Graham the Association also extended a vote of thanks to the secretary, Mr. E. Morrison, for his organizational work in connection with the Association sponsored Music Festival.

The sectional discussions of the meeting were held under the chairmanship of the following:

Grade I, Mr. Staniforth.
Grades II, III, IV, Mrs. Murphy.
Grades V, VI, VII, Mr. MacKrith.
High School, Mr. Royal.

These discussions appeared to be successful in providing the teachers with the opportunity to exchange teaching methods and ideas.

Following an excellent lunch which was arranged by the Principal and staff of the Morin Heights School, the members were privileged to hear a very interesting address by Notary Gaetan Valois, of Lachute. Mr. Valois' subject being "Marriage Laws in the Province of Quebec" proved to be a topic which received close attention by all. Mr. Valois' willingness to answer and expound the many questions was sincerely appreciated.

On behalf of the Association, thanks were extended to the Principal Mr. Blakely of Morin Heights School and his staff for organizing a successful meeting.

Foundry Street Grocery Store Changes Hands

The grocery store, owned and operated by Mr. Fernando Carriere, Foundry Street, Lachute, for the past seven years, has been sold to Sidney Maidens, who in the past has been in the milk supply business.

Lachute Council Selects Committee For Disaster Funds

A local committee, headed by Mr. Jos. Belanger, has been formed to make preparations for the special performance to be held at the Rio Theatre, Lachute, on June 21, to help the victims of the Rimouski, Cabano and Winnipeg catastrophies.

Mr. A. Fassio, proprietor of the Rio has graciously offered his theatre free of charge to the committee, and it is hoped that the public will generously support this worthy cause.

Several ideas are being worked on for the raising of money for the relief fund, and the committee would appreciate any idea that would help this object.

National Theatres Help Disaster Funds

The Quebec Allied Theatrical Association in co-operation with the national council of theatre owners have asked their members to contribute 10 cents per seat to the relief funds of Quebec and Manitoba. Theatres in Lachute and Brownsburg are contributing to this fund besides helping in other ways to the relief of the victims.

Grenville School Donations

Pupils of Grenville Consolidated School have contributed to the two relief funds. Correspondent Martha Richardson states that a sum of five dollars was sent to the Montreal Star Rimouski Fund. A second amount in the neighborhood of thirty dollars is being sent to the C.F.R.A. Winnipeg Fund. The second fund got off to a good start from contributions received at a recent dance. The dance patrons donated to the fund instead of purchasing sandwiches. The sale of sandwiches being abandoned in favor of a "Give What You Care to" plan. The amount actually received was $15.

Local Relief Fund Disappointing

The Watchman is still appealing for the victims of Manitoba and Quebec. The response from our readers has been disappointing, and we hope that the public who have not yet had the opportunity of helping in this cause will give their donation now.

The following amounts were received since printing of the last list:

L.O.B.A., Alexandria	$5.00
Juvenile Police, Brownsburg	$6.12
Reggie Bennett	$2.00

Forest Fires Still Harass Officials Several Regions Banned to Travel

All Wooded Areas in Province Prohibited to Tourists: Prime Minister St. Laurent Visits Rimouski-Cabano

By Richard Daignault

Quebec — Forest and bush fires, favored by dry sunny weather for most of last week, were finally brought under control in most wooded areas of the province early this week, except in the Gaspe Peninsula where they continued.

Lands Minister John Bourque last week imposed a forest travel ban in 32 counties, covering all the wooded areas in the province, as fires raged uncontrolled in most districts. At one time there were as many as 2,000 men fighting the blazes.

Some of the fires burned in the vicinity of Rimouski and Cabano where disastrous fires caused damages estimated at several million dollars.

Most serious was the fire at Trinite des Monts where flames moved into the timber limits of Price Brothers Limited which lost its mills at Rimouski in the big fire of May 6 there.

Last week-end rain in the Northwestern and Western sections of the province put out all the bush and forest fires there and the travel ban imposed in 12 of 32 counties was lifted.

However, the eastern portion of the province, along both shores of the St. Lawrence River, still was rainless and the degree of inflammability in the forests was stated to be high.

As a result the department of lands has just imposed a forest travel ban in the Gaspe North and Gaspe South counties thus preventing travellers — one of the big causes of fires—from moving into Gaspe Peninsula forests.

Henri Kieffer, Chief of the Quebec Forest Protection Service, said only a heavy downpour would put out all the fires.

Rimouski and Cabano last week were visited by Prime Minister St. Laurent who toured the fire-devastated sections of the two towns, only 65 miles apart, in the lower St. Lawrence river region.

Rimouski, in addition, was visited this week by governor-general Lord Alexander and Lady Alexander. The Governor-General viewed Cabano from the air before visiting Rimouski.

The Prime Minister conferred with town officials in both localities and discussed their plans for reconstruction. He visited refuge centres and canteens and chatted with relief workers and residents.

At Cabano, where he toured the ruins in an automobile, the Prime Minister addressed a few words to the population from the steps of the parish church.

The Prime Minister told the citizens of both towns that federal aid would be forthcoming after a federal - provincial committee established the extent of damages.

The Governor-General, commenting on the appearance of Rimouski, compared it to a battlefield or an English town after an air bombing.

He expressed his sympathy to the population and said he and Lady Alexander were deeply moved by the "terrible destruction".

At his press conference Premier Duplessis announced that the Rimouski-Cabano provincial relief fund had reached the $225,000 mark, including gifts of merchandise.

Premier Duplessis announced last week he would not oppose election of Georges-Emile Lapalme, new Quebec liberal leader, if one of the present members of the Quebec legislature resigned his seat in favor of the new chief.

The proposal was turned down by Mr. Lapalme when he spoke at a liberal rally in his constituency of Joliette over the week-end. Instead, he challenged Premier Duplessis to call a general election.

Bowling Queen Chosen at Dance

The annual bowling dance sponsored by the Lachute Bolodrome, was held at the Tessier Hotel last week, and over 200 participants joined in the social activities to make the occasion an outstanding success. There were several guests of honor, including the Mayor and Mayoress, Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Carriere, Mr. Pigeon, manager of the Bolodrome, Montreal, accompanied by Miss Lucette Leduc, Bowling Queen of Quebec, Mr. Laurier Sauve, manager of St. Eustache Bowling Club, accompanied by Miss Margo Dufresne, champion for duck pins for 1949.

BOWLING QUEEN
Monique Charlebois

Music was supplied by Gaetan Forget and orchestra, with vocals by Miss Monique Delude, the Lachute songster.

The highlight of the evening was the selection of the Lachute Bowling Queen, and Miss Monique Charlebois was the successful candidate over six others. Ex-Queen Miss Suzanne Laurin placed the wreath upon the new Queen's head, the floral wreath being donated by Albert Ogilvie and Sons, florists of Lachute.

Mayor Carriere congratulated Miss Charlebois, and presented her with a gift. Another nice feature of the evening was the presentation of a gold pin to Miss Monique Charlebois by Mr. Bird of the Brunswick Balk Co., for her amazing performance during the season of making a perfect score. Mr. Bird said that the chances of making this perfect score was 1,250,000 to one in a league game. Mr. Restoul, of the Brunswick Balk Co. was also in attendance.

Dancing continued into the early hours of the morning, and the appreciation of the Bolodrome personnel is extended to those who made this venture a success. Master of ceremony was Mr. Paul Desnoyers.

Local Community Betterment Fund Needs Support

While many worthwhile causes are being generously supported at the moment by societies and persons of this neighborhood, it must also be remembered that local community betterment is also making an appeal, through the 4th annual drawing of the Lachute Lions Club, assisted by the Legion Branches of Lachute and Brownsburg.

The record of the work done by the Lions is an enviable one, and it is hoped that there will be a good response to this appeal.

This year, the Lions are offering as 1st prize, a 1950 DeLuxe Pontiac Sedan, and it is understood that this car will be brand new from the factory, to the lucky winner. Other attractive prizes are being given, and a dollar donation is all that is needed to have the opportunity of winning these prizes.

The building funds of the Lachute and Brownsburg Legions will receive a percentage of the returns. The prize winners will be announced at the Lachute Spring Fair, Saturday, June 17.

C-I-L Gives Boost To Relief Funds

Contributions totalling $23,200 have been given the Manitoba flood relief and the Rimouski-Cabano fire relief funds by Canadian Industries Limited, C-I-L officials said today.

Ten thousand dollars in cash and chloride of lime valued at $2,200, and which will be used as a disinfectant when the flood waters recede, were contributed to the Manitoba fund. Five thousand dollars in cash and 1,000 gallons of paint valued at $6,000 were given the Rimouski-Cabano fund.

Gatineau Lines

A River Harnessed

Over the past few weeks this column has been giving our readers an insight into ways in which water is controlled to make it produce the electricity used by 55,000 customers of Gatineau Power. As we have pointed out, each dam or power plant would be comparatively useless by itself — but together they represent better living for everybody in a large section of Quebec Province.

The Gatineau River today is a river harnessed for man's use. The huge storage dams of Mercier and Cabonga, far up in the hills, control the amount of water which pours down the river to the power plants below — control it so thoroughly that it flows at a steady 10,000 cubic feet per second year in and year out where once flood and drought occured as it fluctuated from 80,000 cubic feet per second down to 2,000.

It should be noted however, that the river is not controlled only for the purpose of making electricity. Other people besides the power company use the river too, and their needs get careful consideration. Each power plant has its own specially-constructed method of getting the logs of the logging companies through — and when extra water is needed to move the logs downstream, the water is released by the Mercier Dam for short periods to flush the logs. The steady flow of the river is of tremendous help to the farmers along its banks too.

Another feature of a harnessed river is that each drop of water works several times over in producing electricity. On the Gatineau, for instance, the water coming down from Mercier Dam first produces power at Corbeau, a comparatively small plant six miles south of Maniwaki. Then it moves on to Paugan plant and works again. Then it flows further down to the Chelsea plant to work again. Right after leaving Chelsea, it moves into the Farmers plant and produces more electricity there.

Thus, on the Gatineau alone, some of the water has worked four times over, and all of it three times over, before it finally escapes into the Ottawa River. And the best part of this method of making water work for the benefit of mankind is that the water is in no way changed or spoiled in the process. Each drop does its work in moving the blades of the turbines and then is released again within a second — as fresh and pure as it was in the beginning.

In other words, the power company doesn't really "use" the water at all. It merely "borrows" it, puts it to work, and then returns it unchanged.

Carbon Black Warms Soil

A method of extending the crop growing season by mixing carbon black with soil, has been tested at the Massachusets State College Experimental Station at Amherst.

The carbon black was mixed with the soil to a depth of two inches which resulted in a rise in temperature both at the surface and two inches below. That is explained by the fact that black materials absorb heat.

If it is economically feasible to use the method, it is believed farmers who specialize in garden produce, will be able to defrost their land and start planting earlier in the spring, states C-I-L Agricultural News.

In the experiments carbon black was applied at the rate of two tons to the acre although one ton per acre was found effective. The tests involved taking temperatures every 15 minutes 24 hours a day for more than a year. In spring and summer the maximum daily temperatures reached by carbon-black treated soil surfaces averaged two degrees higher than the maximum temperatures of untreated soil surfaces. At a two inch depth carbon-black treated soil showed maximum daily temperatures 3.4 degrees higher than those of untreated soil.

The experiments gave no indication that carbon-black acts as a plant nutrient or is itself digested by plant roots. Nor was it believed to have any other direct effect on plants. Its influence is attributed entirely to its effects on soil temperatures, texture and moisture retention properties.

Bacterial Ring Rot Warning

Ottawa — J. W. Scannell, Assistant Chief, Seed Potato Certification, Division of Plant Protection, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, warns all potato growers (seed and tablestock) to instruct their seed cutters to watch carefully for any indications of bacterial ring rot-infected potatoes and to send any showing suspicious internal discoloration just inside the tuber, to the nearest inspector, or to the Laboratory of Plant Pathology in the area for immediate examination.

As no potatoes grown in Newfoundland are permitted entry into the rest of Canada, Mr. Scannell has suggested that any samples there be sent for examination to C. G. Morgan, 123 Water Street, St. Johns, Newfoundland.

Bacterial ring rot is one of the most serious potato diseases, said Mr. Scannell, and warned that only vigorous precautions on the part of all concerned will prevent it from spreading into many potato growing areas in Canada where it has not yet been reported. He cautioned all growers to plant the best seed obtainable.

NEW BRITISH GRASS DRIER

A newly designed grass drier which employs a burner of the type used in gas turbine aircraft engines was recently demonstrated by the manufacturers at Redhill Aerdrome in Surrey. For some time Tiltman Langley Laboratories, Limited, have studied the possibility of applying gas turbine technology to industry, and this led to the design and development of a new type of grass drier. The drier employs a burner of the type used in gas turbine aircraft engines. A thin layer of grass is dried in a rotating drum, the warm air being circulated by means of a fan. A small amount of moist air is expelled and replaced by the fresh air used for combustion. The drier is designed for the use of the small farmer and can be moved with ease by a tractor and can be driven either by the "pulley take-off of the tractor or by a separate engine. The grass drier can be modified for use as a grain drier by fitting an adaptor-trunking to the outlet of the large fan and connecting it to a flexible hose, which has several rigid tubes branching from it for inserting in the grain sacks. This picture shows the grass-drier, which is designed for a small farm, seen during its recent demonstration.

Hibernating Apples Crisp and Juicy

Fruit growers in Ulster County, N.Y. store their McIntosh apples in gas tight rooms in a state of suspended ahimation during the long winter months. On their "awakening" in the spring the apples are as crisp and juicy as the day they were picked the previous fall — just right for the fruit-hungry spring market.

Putting an apple to sleep, means to stop its breathing. The more rapid the respiration, the quicker the fruit spoils, explains C-I-L Agriculture News. To prevent this deterioration, apples are stored in metal lined, completely gas-tight rooms in which charcoal blowers are installed to absord the natural esters given off by the ripening fruit. To put the apples to sleep, the oxygen content of the air is reduced and the carbon dioxide content increased. Temperature is kept at 38 to 40 degrees F. To keep the ratio of gases exactly fixed, an atmospheric washer which employs a caustic soda solution is used.

When Is a Street an Avenue?

THERE SEEMS to be a little confusion in the minds of those responsible for the placing of street names on Princess Avenue (or street), in Lachute Mills, as to whether that well-established road is an avenue or a street.

On one side of the road the sign reads, "Princess Avenue" and at the opposite corner we read "Princess Street". Not that it matters much. . . but it is just as well to have uniformity in all things.

It has been rumored that taxes are much higher on an avenue than a street, so if the town authorities need a little technicality in order to raise extra funds, they can always change the name of a street to an avenue. Or if the avenue folk feel they are being soaked by high taxes, a petition would possibly suffice in order to adopt a common street tag, and therefore save a few dollars.

History and Tourists

TOURIST business has become an important industry in Canada. It is the concern of every citizen who sees a car with a non-Canadian licence drive along the highway.

Its future is unlimited. Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports show a steadily increasing Canadian revenue which in 1949 reached $288,000,000.

In these days of international exchange difficulties, the tourist business has come in for a good deal of attention as a source of United States dollars. The Dominion and provincial governments, business and service organizations and local tourist bureaus have issued suggestions for making Canadian holidays of visiting tourists easier, more comfortable and more attractive.

Border crossings, highway travel, fishing, meals, mattresses and manners have all come in for their share of attention. Maintaining high standards in all these respects has been stressed over and over again.

One of the chief attractions of foreign travel is visiting historic sites carefully preserved and well labelled. It should be an important suggestion to the Canadian tourist industry, especially in smaller localities.

Year by year facts of local history and lore, and relics of pioneer life become harder to collect. Part of our valuable heritage as a young country is the story of the pioneers, intrepid and persistent nation-builders on the seacoast, the prairie and the farms.

At the recent Ottawa hearings of the Royal Commission on development of the arts, letters and sciences, one of the briefs urged the establishment of county museums to provide permanent homes for records of our colorful history.

It is going to take time for the Massey commission to present its report, and even more time for all its suggestions to be implemented. Meanwhile, more details of early history will have slipped into oblivion.

Local service clubs and women's organizations could well consider adopting the preservation of municipal history as a public service project.

The idea is both stimulating and contagious. And there is always the possibility that it would be another attraction for tourists.

Bear Down, Kids!

CANADIAN schools are under fire periodically for not sticking to their knitting. Critics say so many sports and social events are being included in the school day that the youngsters aren't getting the schooling they should.

Latest of these critics is Dr. Charlotte Whitton, the noted writer and welfare worker, who told a meeting of trustees in Ontario recently that the schools should be brought back to their basic function.

She contends that the schools are not fitting the pupils for strong leadership in a democracy; that too many youngsters get through school years on pleasant options, selected courses, recommendations and "as many extra-curricular appendages to basic education as the centipede has legs."

Dr. Whitton seems to have a good point there. Things don't seem as tough now as when we went to school. Why, it wasn't so long ago that a boy or girl could get a senior matriculation without an examination, by working on a farm for the summer months.

And there is no doubting her statement that in the event of war, civilian and military forces capable of training in scientific, mechanized, chemical, bacteriological and atomic warfare will be needed.

But we don't think we'll go along with Dr. Whitton's contention that the soft life the youngsters are living now will make them unfit for this sort of training.

The universities seem to be turning out their full quota of scientists and engineers and during the Second World War we didn't notice that Canada was shy of men with this type of training. We saw boys who couldn't pass their mathematics exams turn out to be fine navigators. In other lines, even in atomic science, Canada did her share and more, and always with home-grown talent.

Building Costs Cut by 75%

A RADICAL new building brick or block with patented tongue and groove design and an appearance like cut stone, granite or marble is reported by The Financial Post to promise almost 75% saving in the cost of a new home.

Basing estimates on U.S. conditions, the Cleveland manufacturer claims that a 28 x 28 foot five-room house that would cost $12,000 to $14,000 with conventional brick, can now be built for $3,500 — including plumbing and wiring and assuming that union labor will be used.

The primal duties shine aloft like stars;
The charities that soothe, and heal, and bless,
Are scattered at the feet of men, like flowers.
— Wordsworth

Attempt the end, and never stand to doubt;
Nothing's so hard, but search will find it out.
— Robert Herrick.

I never did anything worth doing by accident, nor did any of my inventions come by accident; they come by plain work.
— Thomas A. Edison.

MEMORIES RECALLED

In the Montreal Gazette, appearing under date of May 28, a news item carries a story relating to the Thorold Post which has reached its seventy-fifth year of publication. This paper's birthday, says the Gazette, will be celebrated by the editor, a woman, and the printing room foreman, also a woman. Between them the pair publish a weekly paper in the Niagara Peninsula town, five miles south of Ste. Catharines and they do job work as a side issue.

The daughter, Miss Thompson, is reporter, linotype operator, business manager and composing room assistant, while the jobbing department is headed by Miss Francis Johnson, and between them they make a most creditable showing.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were personaly known to both Mrs. Giles and myself through membership in the Canadian Weekly Press Association and I well remember paying a visit to our old friends Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Daw at Merritton, the latter for many years head of paper production at the J. C. Wilson Company plant here. It was while returning from one of these gatherings in 1900 that Mr. Thompson missed his footing and fell off the train. It being late at night Mrs. Giles and I got off the train and found Mr. Thompson had miraculously escaped with a bad scalp wound, and as there appeared to be no help available, I lifted him up onto my shoulder and carried him up the hill to a doctor nearby who rendered medical care.

Thats a long time ago, but we are proud to think that the younger folk are still carrying on and maintaining the same staunch principles that characterized their forebears.

Heart-Breaking Scenes At Manitoba Flood

Winnipeg — The flood waters in and around Winnipeg have played strange tricks. Besides engulfing whole streets and sub-divisions and forcing thousands to flee for their lives, they carry hundreds of strangely assorted objects on their twisting trail to Lake Winnipeg — dropping some, picking up something new, always adding to the pathetic picture of the worst flood disaster to strike Canada.

Out in the main current of the Red River the waters sweep timbers, buildings, crates, furniture and other large objects swiftly northward. In the back waters of the flood are the small things that were once part of someone's home. You come across a child's sodden doll, a woman's purse, the leather rotted and the contents soaked and useless. You see a dead cat or dog floating side by side with a door or a cedar chest, or a waterlogged mattress slowly sinking under water.

It's surprising how many things float — even for a little while. It would be impossible to salvage them even if they could be used again.

Behind a submerged house the current might collect three or four garages, and who owned them and whence they came may never be known.

After being subjected to many days of flooded streets, water-filled houses and dead communities, you become somewhat hardened to the broad picture of the catastrophe; it takes the little things, like a child's toy or a family picture floating on the water, to bring a tightness to your throat — if it's only for a few minutes.

The Manitoba Flood Relief Fund has been established in Winnipeg

History Reviewed at Christ Church

In keeping with the Centenary of Montreal Diocese of the Church of England, a short historical biography of St. Andrews East, was given by Rev. G. T. Spriggs last Sunday.

In reviewing the history of Christ Church, St. Andrews East from the completion of the admirable record by Rev. E. G. May, which was published to commemorate the centenary of the Parish in 1919 to the present date, 1950, (the centenary of the Diocese of Montreal), we note that all through the years, gratitude was expressed to the various organizations at work from time to time, such as the Woman's Auxiliary, Ladies' Guild, Sunday School Teachers; also to individual workers, organists, church wardens, special committees, vestry clerks, etc., all of whom have contributed to the work of our church in this community.

The Clergy have been — Rev. E. G. May 1919; Rev. W. A. Howard 1920-1924; Rev. E. P. Judge 1925-1926; Rev. W. Windsor 1927-1932; Rev. R. S. Booy 1933-1939; Rev. T. W. Ball 1940-1941; Rev. B. J. Thorpe 1942-1944; Rev. C. R. Lang 1945-1950.

Rev. G. T. Spriggs, retired Priest of the Diocese of Nova Scotia, officiated on Sundays from 1944-1950. It should be recorded that from the year 1942, the status of the Parish was changed and the clergy of Lachute became Priests in Charge.

There were only two Rector's Wardens during the period 1919-1950, namely Mr. J. J. Fraser 1919-1923; and Mr. M. P. Burwash 1924-1950, a wonderful record of faithful service which was appreciated by all concerned.

Four occupied the position of People's Warden, as follows: Mr. Edmund Neve 1919-1923; Mr. J. G. Bisson 1924; Mr. F. A. Robertson 1925-1936; Mr. J. O. Bridge 1937-1947; Mr. F. A. Robertson 1947-1950. The carefully kept Minute Book records to a certain degree the painstaking work of these willing workers upon whose shoulders most of the responsibility for maintaining the worship of God rested.

In 1935 the interior of the Church was beautified and redecorated.

It should be recorded that twenty members of the congregation heard the call of King and Country and served in the Forces during the war 1939-1945. Their names are as follows: R. B. Allen, Eric H. Bezansen, Ben Howell, Mary Howell, Harold Phillips, Steve Phillips, Sidney Charles Pring, John D. Rayson, Joyce Rayson, Vernon Rayson, Fred Rejall, Hazel Robertson, Hugh Robertson, Kenrick Robertson, R. Geoffrey Simpson, Rhoda Grace Robertson, Shirley St. John Simpson, William H. Simpson and Frank W. Williams.

On September 27, 1944, Rt. Rev. J. H. Dixon, D.D., Bishop of Montreal, graciously visited Christ Church and joined in the 125th anniversary celebration, which was continued on October 1st, when Ven. Archdeacon J. F. Morris, B.D., preached and celebrated the Holy Communion. Over $500.00 was collected on this occasion and put aside for future restoration work.

During 1945, double windows were placed over all the windows, adding greatly to the comfort of worshippers.

The 130th Anniversary was an outstanding event in 1949. The congregation together with former members and friends contributed about $2,500.00, and by the end of the year the entire building was put in good repair; the following is a record of some of the items restored: a new roof covering, outside woodwork replaced and painted, walls renovated, new oil stoves installed, two special electric spot-lights in the Chancel, choir vestries built, interior of the church entirely painted and many other improvements. Once again Rt. Rev. Bishop J. H. Dixon came to re-open Christ Church to the Glory of God.

During the year 1949 the choir were vested in suitable robes.

WHAT CAN ONE DO WITH 14 TRAMS?

Johannesburg (CP) — Jurgens J. Keyser, a scrap metal merchant, is a man with a problem. Six months ago at an auction sale he bid £8 ($24.80) each for three municipal trams, and £3 to £5 for 11 others, never thinking he would get them. He did — 14 of them.

Now he can't get rid of them and the Johannesburg municipality wants to charge him storage space unless he removes them from the tram sheds.

The prospect of having their father bring them a tram home if they are good is keeping nine-year-old Bertha and five-year-old Emmanuel on their best behaviour.

"My big problem is moving them", said Mr. Keyser, who has bought a special trailer for the purpose. "It's tricky work. In some places I have to drive in the middle of the main roads to avoid overhead lamps and wires.

"It's also a slow business because the trams are top heavy."

Around the Home...

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

Human nature being what it is, we seem to require an extra stimulus to carry out the annual spring cleanup. A program of concentrated action always gets results and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are conducting just such a program this year. What a country we'll have when each one does his bit in this national campaign. Examine the slogan "clean up, paint up, plant up, light up" more closely, and you'll be amazed at the number of jobs now awaiting your attention that must be completed before your place is shipshape. What's more important, you'll be amazed at the improved appearance of your property with two or three days of concerted effort.

Why not begin by making a small gadget to ease the burden of washing outside windows. The cleaner illustrated is as effective as it is simple to make.

Discourage Flies

I dropped in unexpectedly on an old friend of mine the other day and found him making his own window screens for the summer cottage. I was so impressed with the ease with which he turned them out I decided to make some myself for the house. The chief handicap confronting most people is their fear of tackling a new job. In case you have promised to screen that bedroom window this year, you'll find a handy list of material and sizes in the booklet "Around the Home".

Flower Pot Covers

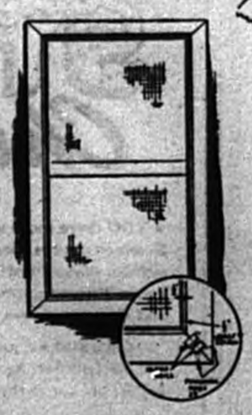

The beauty of potted plants can often be strikingly enhanced by enclosing the flower pot in an attractive plywood container. The corners are fastened with small finishing nails, or laced together with leather thongs or shoe laces. If laced, drill the holes at two-inch intervals, top and bottom holes about one inch from the ends.

B.C. fir with an attractive grain or pattern is excellent. The wood then can be left natural—or painted to harmonize with the colour scheme of the room. Further decoration can be provided by using floral transfers on the four sides.

WOODEN COVERS FOR FLOWER POTS: MEASUREMENTS (FOR SMALL PLANTS WHICH COME IN FOUR OR FIVE INCH POTS)
TOP - 6¼" WIDE BASE - 4" WIDE
HEIGHT - 6"
IT IS OPTIONAL WHETHER A BOTTOM IS USED OR NOT.

WHY HAVE FLIES?
WINDOW SCREEN — ENDS AND UPRIGHTS OF DRESSED 1" x 2" PINE TO WHICH SCREEN IS TACKED. COVER EDGES OF SCREEN BY NAILING ON STRIPS OF HALF-ROUND MOULDING FLUSH WITH THE OUTER EDGE OF THE SCREEN.

WINDOW WASHER - FROM THE OLD RAKE HANDLE - WITH TWO SLATS ½" x 2", AND PIECE OF SPONGE RUBBER.

More about these and many other ideas in the booklet "AROUND THE HOME". Write for your copy to Tom Gard, c/o MOLSON BREWERY LTD., P.O. Box 1600, Place d'Armes, Montreal, Quebec.

EDITOR RETIRES AFTER 48 YEARS

Publisher of Weekly Listowel Banner Replaced by Younger Man

Listowel, Ont. (CP) — B. L. H. Bamford, 63, recently announced his retirement as editor and publisher of the weekly Listowel Banner after 48 years in the newspaper business. He is succeeded by George Tatham, 22-year-old native of Woodstock, Ont., who has been in the newspaper business since 1946.

Mr. Bamford, a native of Listowel, became editor and publisher of the Listowel Standard in February, 1912, and held the same position with the Banner after the amalgamation of the two papers in 1944.

Mr. Tatham started with the Sarnia Canadian Observer and was sports editor in 1946 when he left to join the sports staff of the London Free Press. Later he joined The Canadian Press, working in the Toronto Bureau and as staff correspondent at Windsor. While in Sarnia, he played football with the senior Imperials in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

"This Beautiful Earth, in God's Purpose."

Our kind, loving Creator of the heavens and the earth, whose name alone is Jehovah (Psalms 83:18). . . In His book, the Bible, He says "The heaven is My throne, and the earth is My footstool: I will make the place of My feet Glorious. (Isaiah 66:1, 60:13.)

LITERAL EARTH TO ABIDE AND BE INHABITED FOREVER

Gen. 1:1: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth".
Isa. 45: 18: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heaven; God himself that formed the earth and made it: he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited".
Eccl. 1:4: "One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever".
Ps. 37: 11, 29; Matt. 5:5: "The meek shall inherit the earth; and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace. The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever".
Ps. 78:69: "He built his sanctuary like high palaces, like the earth which he hath established for ever".
Ps. 115: 16: "The heaven, even the heaven, are the Lord's: but the earth hath he given to the children of men".
Ps. 119: 90: "Thou hast established the earth, and it abideth".
Prov. 2: 21, 22: "The upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it. But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it".
Prov. 10: 30: "The righteous shall never be removed".
See also: Ps. 104: 5: Isa. 60: 21.

THE SEARCH FOR PEACE

Peace is as sure as Tomorrows sunrise, and just as independent of man. Unto us a son is born, unto us a son is given, and the governments shall be upon His shoulders. Of His government and peace there shall be no end. Isaiah 9-67. Daniel 2-44.

"I DELIGHT TO DO THY WILL, O MY GOD: YEA, THY LAW IS WITHIN MY HEART."
— Psalm 40:8, Am. Stan. Ver.

It was a delight to the psalmist David to know what God's will was and then to do it. To know what to do he gave careful consideration to God's law and filled his heart with it. As a result, David is spoken of in the Scriptures as "a man after God's own heart". Would you not like to have a place in God's memory too? Could any creature ask for a greater honor? Little wonder that David expressed delight! If this is your desire, begin now to fill your mind and heart with God's written Word, the Bible. The Watchtower edition of the American Standard Version, from which the above verse is quoted, may be had for only $1.50. Send for your copy today. — 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Frontier W.I. Celebrates 20th Anniversary

Frontier W.I. celebrated their 20th anniversary of being an Institute on May 27, in the Stone Hall, Cushing, with a supper and musical program. Miss A. Davidson played soft music during dinner.

A birthday cake baked by one of the members, Mrs. R. Blakely of Lachute, and decorated by Mrs. R. Warwick, of Mabel, was shared by all present and pronounced well worthy of the event it honored.

The stage was prettily decorated with lilacs, tulips and narcissus. Rev. A. G. Moore was Master of ceremonies and as usual the chairman's remarks were humorous and to the point.

The opening musical number was a very fine violin solo by Vivian Heatlie, followed by a modern song in duet by the Misses Myrtle and Myrna Gaston, playing their own accompaniment on the guitar.

Little Carol Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Parker, of Lachute Road, sang unaccompanied a very delightful spring song. Later Carol danced the Sailor's Hornpipe very gracefully, accompanied by Miss A. Davidson at the piano.

Mr. John Heatlie, Jr., who is always a favorite with the Cushing people, favored with several songs with guitar accompaniment.

Little J. Alton Murdoch, of Detroit, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Murdoch, of Lachute, favored with a trumpet selection.

The Misses Irma and Vivian Heatlie sang in duet "Do You Remember".

Shortly before the final community sing-song, led by Miss Shirley Heatlie, the Misses Lilian and Eunice Warwick sang the "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere".

THE SOURCE OF
top management

Here is a typical bank manager—43, married, with a growing family. He is active in community affairs. When he joined the bank as a junior, he was 17, just out of high school. He soon moved up. By his late twenties he was accountant in his branch.

He worked hard. All the time he was learning about banking, about Canada, too, in various branches, different areas . . . learning to know people—their hopes, fears, problems—the importance of the human factor.

At 36 he was branch manager. Now he has another, larger branch. And his way to advancement is still open. His general manager started as a junior, too . . . and carried with him to the top the business experience and human understanding gained along the way.

TWENTY-SEVEN GIRLS — including Mary Dee Girroir, the leader (middle) make up the Armdale Chorus, which broadcasts a fifteen-minute program on the CBC Trans-Canada network every Saturday evening at 7.00 o'clock. The group is named after the suburb of Halifax where — eleven years ago in a public-school classroom — several of the present members first made music together. Miss Girroir has been the guiding light from the start and arranges many of the selections herself. She is also head of the vocal department of the Maritime Academy of Music. Soloist with the girls on June 3rd will be Terry Monoghan. Selections on that date will include Memory Lane, In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree, Along the Pathway (by Charles Rice of Montreal) and Sing You Sinners. In July the chorus will sing at the famous lobster festival at Shediac, New Brunswick.

Garden Greens

The first few weeks after the garden starts producing green onions, asparagus, radishes and tender leaf-lettuce we cannot get enough of these fresh growing things. We enjoy huge helpings of them, crisp and raw in delicious salads.

Then it seems that nature gives too great returns or that the rows planted were a bit too long, for the abundance of these vegetables is overwhelming and there appears to be so much more than can ever be used.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, suggest cooking radishes, lettuce and green onions for variety in the menu.

Radishes, cooked in boiling salted water and served with melted butter or cream sauce, are like very mild and delicious turnips. The unfortunate part is that they do lose the beautiful red color during cooking. It takes about three cups of prepared radishes to serve six people.

Here are several excellent recipes for cooking "garden greens".

Green Onions on Toast

36 Green onions, 6 slices buttered toast, 1¼ cups cheese sauce.

Cut green onions to about 6 inches in length. Cook in boiling salted water for 10 minutes. Drain and arrange on slices of buttered toast. Pour cheese sauce over onions. Garnish with a dash of paprika. Yield: six servings.

Cheese Sauce

2 Tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, few grains cayenne pepper, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 cup milk, ¾ to 1 cup grated or diced cheese.

Melt butter in top of double boiler. Blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk slowly, stirring until blended. When sauce is smooth and thickened, add cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Yield: about 1¼ cups sauce.

Cream of Radish and Onion Soup

2 Tablespoons butter, 1 cup thinly-sliced radishes, 1 cup thinly-sliced green onions, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons flour, 4½ cups hot milk, salt and pepper.

Melt the fat in the top of a double boiler over direct heat. Add radishes, onions and salt. Cover and cook over very low heat until radishes and onions are tender, about 10 minutes. If required one or two tablespoons water may be added to prevent scorching of vegetables. Place over hot water, blend in flour. Gradually add hot milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 3 minutes. Yield: six servings (about 5 cups).

Savoury Lettuce

6 Cups leaf-lettuce, broken into large pieces, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 6 slices bacon, chopped, ½ cup chopped onion, ⅓ cup vinegar.

Mix lettuce, salt and pepper in a serving bowl. Cook bacon a few minutes in frying pan, add onion and cook until bacon is crisp and onion lightly browned. Add vinegar and boil 1 minute. Pour hot mixture over lettuce. Toss well together and serve at once. Yield: six servings. A chopped, hard-cooked egg may be sprinkled over the lettuce before serving.

DINNER INTERRUPTED PIGEONS MEET DOOM

London (Reuters)—Housewives in Kensington, in London's West End, who have given crumbs to birds, have helped to sign the death warrant for thousands of pigeons.

That's because other householders, who cannot sleep because of the cooing of the birds and the patter of their claws along housetops and gables, have appealed to Kensington Borough Council.

The council has been asked to employ 20-year-old Norman Edwards to catch the pigeons.

Edwards, a champion pigeon catcher with a record "bag" of 200 a night, will hide behind lamp-posts and creep up on the birds who come to peck at the grains of corn used as bait.

Norman said of his new job: "People think they are being kind when they feed the birds, but they don't realize that they are vermin and carry tuberculosis. Some pigeons I sell for food — but only if they come from dock areas and are well fed. Others go to the zoo for animal food."

Birds use mud as cement in building nests.

New Postal Badge For Girl Guides Aids Post Office

Originated by Department, Award Promotes Education, Improves Quality of Mail

By Kay Rex
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, June 1 (CP) — If the neighborhood "postie" has a Girl Guide in his district, he had better look sharp and know all the answers. She may be working for her Postal Badge.

With one eye on this new award, hundreds of the girls are brushing up on their knowledge of how to address letters and wrap parcels properly.

The test they must pass before winning the badge would stump many a grown-up.

If they don't know the meaning of R.P.O. (Railway Post Office), or the difference between first and second class mail, they find out from the nearest post office.

While it may cause a little more work, postal officials love it.

"It's all part of a program to educate Canadians to proper use of the mails", said a spokesman of the post office department.

The idea was born within the department itself, coming from an official at Calgary, William Botting, a former Boy Scout commissioner.

"Winged Letter"

The department even had a hand in designing the badge, a blue and green-trimmed decoration which bears a "winged letter" as its emblem.

Older persons are set in their ways and the post office now is concentrating its educational program among the young people.

Through the youngsters, particularly with the help of the Guides, it hopes a little education will filter through to the grown-ups — that the weight of a parcel can't be determined by guessing; that the best way to keep mail away from the dead-letter office is to address it properly.

The department spokesman reported that at Regina, where postal official W. G. Sloman has been attending Guide meetings three nights a week, 28 out of a class of 31 girls passed their test with flying colors.

In small centres where the local post-master acts as examiner, the tests also have been going over very well.

What's more, the value of the Guide project, which was begun last November, already is reflected in the improvement in the quality of mail being turned in at post offices across Canada.

U.S. OVER-EATING BUT MALNOURISHED

New York, June 1 (CP) — Dr. Norman Jolliffe of the New York City health department says Americans are more malnourished today than during the war years, and over-eating is the cause.

In an interview, he produced figures showing that since the war, consumption of sugar and fats has jumped 30 to 50 per cent, without any significant change in the total number of calories eaten.

"The harm", he said, "lies not in eating sugars or fats, but in substituting sugars and fats for proteins, fruits and vegetables, which contain valuable nutrients".

Founder of Juvenile Police Visits Brownsburg; Pilgrims at Shrine

"IN BROWNSBURG" — By M. V. Trayers

Capt. Pelletier's Visit

One hundred and thirty-two boys sat quietly in the Social Club gym on the 1st of June, to hear the founder of their club, Juvenile Police, explain the aims and objects of the movement among boys, which started in Montreal with a membership of 75 and has now reached a total of 60,000 boys throughout Canada and parts of the United States. Capt. Pelletier emphasized that the primary object was good citizenship. Respect for the laws, federal, provincial and municipal, respect for local conventions and customs, and assistance in maintaining and upholding them.

In upholding law and order and maintaining the ideals of Canada as the land of their birth, they would become imbued with a sense of justice and right and their lives and conduct would be patterned accordingly. To young boys the serious work of citizenship must be leavened with the interest of enjoyment and competition for that reason some of the clubs activities would be directed to providing the members with facilities for sports and the means of attending sport fixtures. Arrangements would be made to take members to see some of the outstanding events in the sport world and they were very fortunate in that the officers of those events had placed at their disposal accommodation freely and generously to attend.

Inter-club competitions would also be arranged and he hoped that when these events took place, Brownsburg would give a good account of themselves. In sports as in citizenship the game didn't matter, victory or defeat was not the criterion, sportsmanship was all that mattered.

Mr. Claude A. Bourgeois the well-known radio personality also addressed the boys, covering much the same ground as Capt. Pelletier in the French language.

High praise was given by both speakers to Chief Henri Foucreau who organized the Brownsburg club, and Mr. J. L. Duschatel, president. Mr. Emile Hebert addressed the boys at the close of the meeting and after the transaction of routine business matters it was arranged that next meeting would be at the Capitol Theatre at 4.15, June 16, when a picture of a great sporting event featuring Dan Patch would be run off.

Lost and Found

A considerable sum of money was reported lost last week by a citizen who had just cashed a cheque at the local bank. After much searching and a few days of anxiety it was discovered the missing money had been carefully put into a secret pocket of the man's wallet.

Saturday night a local store was broken into and a quantity of cigarettes stolen. A determined effort was made to discover or destroy the accounting system. There must be some purpose in view but whatever it was it proved futile. An arrest is expected.

Rapture and Joy

The night shades were falling, transport schedules made their imperative call, yet pilgrims lingered along the slopes, amidst the flowers and shrubs and before the religious statues reluctant to depart from the beauties, both natural and spiritual which enlivens the spirit and sooths the mind at the shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes on the Brownsburg Road.

Over a thousand pilgrims of all ages, both male and female, had spent the day in prayer and meditation in listening to the various sermons, or partaking of the various exercises. The Mass, The Rosary, Benediction, following "the way of the cross". Conversing with the numerous Franciscan Friars who conducted the services, or enjoying a repast amidst the beautiful surroundings tenderly conceived and tastefully executed by the Ayers family and now tended with loving care by the Franciscan Order.

The pilgrims were from the neighborhood of the Dorchester Street Montreal branch of the Franciscans and their enjoyment of a day away from the whirl and bustle of the busy streets of the city among the quiet piety of the shrine could be seen reflected in their happy smiles and cheerful expressions, their careful respect for the facilities presented them, and their evident enjoyment of the offices, services and ceremonies which went to make their pilgrimage an event to be remembered.

The language was English, sermons and prayers were all in English, choirs and responses were English and to local people who joined with the visitors in the various exercises who were of English nationality the whole was a refreshing rememberance.

The insistant call of time was an unwelcome note and the pilgrimage slowly, reluctantly and with backward glance descended the steps and wished goodbye to a beautiful experience.

Ex-Bank Manager Pleads Guilty

Sentence on Romeo Monty, 54, former manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Grenville, will likely be handed down tomorrow. Mr. Monty pleaded guilty before Judge Herman Barrette, in Magistrate's Court, St. Jerome, last Friday to a charge of embezzling $120,000 from the bank during the past 21 years. Sentence will be handed down June 9.

Monty was accused of having committed the thefts since he became manager of the Grenville branch in 1929. He was said to have stolen the money from the branch and from "legal possessions" in "safekeeping".

Investigation into discrepancies in the branch's books was begun in February by the Quebec supervisor's department of the bank in Montreal and by the inspectors' office of the bank's headquarters in Toronto. An inspector had discovered the discrepancies earlier, when Monty was on his first vacation in several years.

Although Grenville is a small farming community on the Quebec side of the Ottawa River, opposite Hawkesbury, Ont., several large pulp mills are located in the area and upwards of $100,000 passes through the Grenville branch in a week, Bank of Nova Scotia officials said.

Monty had been associated with the bank for 38 years. He joined it in 1912 and served at several branches before going to Grenville as manager.

The Lampada of Lach. High School Now Available

At the end of this week the Lampada, an Annual of the Lachute High and County Schools will go on sale at The Lachute High School, Rexall Drug Store, Cliff Cunningham's Cigar Store, and the Harbour Drug Store.

This year the Lampada, formerly the Lachute High School Annual, will be a completely new book with a page size much larger than last year, new binding, and a new and attractive cover design of blue and gold on a white background. Not only is it a new book, but also larger than ever before.

The editorial staff announces several changes and improvements in content. An enlarged literary section features articles written by pupils of all grades from I to XI inclusive, while the graduate section is considerably larger than that of last year, due to the fact that this year's graduation class is the largest in the history of the school. The activity section representing life and extra-curricular activities at Lachute High School also features a special article on Music Appreciation within the school. The County Schools section is also enlarged with articles this year from Arundel, Brownsburg, Grenville, Kilmar and Morin Heights Intermediate Schools and interesting pictures.

Fittingly enough, 1950 edition of the Lampada is dedicated to those whose efforts have made possible the new extension to the Lachute High School.

With its increase in size and reading matter, and its large number of interesting pictures of school groups and activities, the editorial staff proudly feels that this year's Lampada is superior to any annual published in the past. It is pointed out that the publication of this annual is one of the larger student projects of the school year, and that the large majority of the pupils in the High School grades have assisted in some way with its preparation. It is therefore truly representative of life and work within the school.

It is hoped that this endeavor may be well received with public support and interest, and that a copy of the Lampada will be placed in as many homes in the community as possible.

Helicopter Passenger Service

The world's first regular passenger helicopter service was started by British European Airways on June 1st. It runs between Liverpool and Cardiff.

Rotary and Wives To Hear Noted Ottawa Lecturer

The Rotary Club of Brownsburg will have as its special guest speaker tonight (Thursday), Miss L. C. Pepper, of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Noted as a fine and interesting speaker, the Rotarians and their wives are in for an evening of note.

Miss Pepper, Chief of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is a native of Ottawa. After graduating in home economics from the Macdonald Institute, Ontario Agricultural College, she became in turn; Assistant Dietitian, St. Luke's Hospital, New York City; a Food Supervisor of Child's Restaurants Limited, New York and Toronto and Assistant Director of the Home Service, Consumers' Gas Company, Toronto.

Miss Laura C. Pepper

Miss Pepper joined the staff of the Dairy Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture in 1931 as lecturer and demonstrator. With the re-organization of the Department in 1939 the Consumer Section was established in the Marketing Service and Miss Pepper was appointed to direct the work.

This Section is engaged in furthering the domestic market for foods produced on Canadian farms. Advice on buying and using various foods is given to the consumer with stress being placed on foods in most abundant supply. Based on extensive experimental work, the Section disseminates authoritive information on the preservation of various foods for home use and suggests most satisfactory cooking methods for the different foods. All this is done with a view to ensuring satisfied consumers of Canadian food products.

An important part of the work is the interpretation of grading regulations and others under the jurisdiction of the Department which affect consumers. The Section prepares and issues bulletins dealing with foods for Canadian homemakers and each week releases are sent to daily and weekly newspapers, also to radio stations throughout the Dominion, all of which are extensively used.

Historical Society Has Memorial Endowment

Interesting news has just been received from the Royal Trust Company, of Montreal, that the Argenteuil Society's Endowment Fund will be the richer by $19,145.70, according to the will of the late Miss Patricia McMartin, who passed away on the 3rd of January, 1950.

The clause in the will stipulates that her share in the Historical Society of Argenteuil County shall be added to its permanent Endowment Fund "as a memorial to my parents, Peter E. and Susan MacMartin, who were pioneers in this county".

This gift comes at a time when it is most appreciated, for while the directors of the Historical Society have worked and labored for the success of the museum since its inception 16 years ago, this needed assistance will surely lighten the burden for those carrying on.

Prosecuting Attorney was V. Thinel, of St. Jerome, and both pleaded guilty of the crime. Detectives Therriault, Crevier and Lanthier made the arrests the previous week.

Horse Racing

Under the chairmanship of Mr. Jas. MacKimmie, the harness racing again will be a drawing card during the last three afternoons of the Fair. The familiar names of Peter K. Lee, Peter Aubrey, Widower Harvester, Atomic Gratton, Gracie Gratton, have already been entered among those who are to race. The Roy Mitchell starting gate will be used for all races.

The County Race on Thursday has particular appeal for the local enthusiasts, but all these racing events will have tremendous drawing power.

B'burg Boy Scouts Visit St. Alban's

Twelve Brownsburg Scouts and three Scouters joined with over 500 Scouts from Montreal in a friendly invasion of the State of Vermont last week-end. The occasion was an International Camporee with Scouts from Vermont and New York States and Quebec Province camping together at St. Albans.

Although the weather was somewhat damp, it did not dampen the spirits of the 1,200 boys, who found out that outside of a few differences in uniform and accent of speech that they are all fundamentally Scouts. One Scout Law which is proved so conclusively by a gathering like this is "A Scout is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout, no matter what country, class or creed".

The many experiences that the Brownsburg boys had will be long remembered. The trading for badges and parts of uniforms with the Americans, the parade with the Canadian Scouts getting applause for their smart appearance marching; the winning of a "Good Camping" award; the Saturday afternoon visit to the city; the Sunday morning Church Service; and the general good spirit prevailing while travelling, cooking meals in the open and sleeping in tents.

The fortunate ones to make the trip were: Yeoman Rovers: Billy Cribb, George Gordon, Robert Johnston, Ron Kennedy and Lorne Brewer; Scouts Bobby Warwick, Bruce Mason, Bernie Golphin, George Pasco, Don Martin and Ernie Zimmer; and Scouters Ronnie Elliott, Harold Wheatley and Arnold Waller.

Train-Truck Crash At Lachute Mills

The Montreal-Ottawa passenger train travelling east, completely demolished a truck on Wednesday morning at 11.19 a.m., at the Hamford crossing, near Lachute Exhibition Grounds.

The truck owned and driven by Maxemelum Dinel, of Lachute, R.R. 5, and loaded with windows, stalled on the railway track just before the oncoming train approached. Dinel just had time to remove the windows, when the train crashed into the truck.

Engineer W. H. Scholfield, of Ottawa noticed the stalled truck and immediately applied the emergency brakes, bringing the train to a stop 3,000 feet from the scene. . . Fortunately there were no injuries from the accident, though the train was delayed for 30 minutes. The conductor was Sam Gravel, of Montreal, and the Fireman J. Simpson, Montreal.

Provincial Officer H. Jones investigated the accident.

Lachute W.I. Invite John Fisher, C.B.C.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lachute Women's Institute was held in the Legion Memorial Hall last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. F. Brennian, the president, occupied the chair and the main business of the meeting consisted of reports from the various committee conveners. The most important of these was given by Miss Margaret Scott, convener of Finance. Miss Scott announced that Mr. John Fisher the popular reporter, whose voice on the radio is so well known to everyone in the C.B.C.'s "John Fisher Reports", program, had accepted an invitation to give a public lecture in the new auditorium of Lachute High School next October 5. Admission to this lecture will be by ticket as everyone is looking forward with keen anticipation to the opportunity of hearing so talented and prominent a speaker.

Mrs. J. Lamontagne, convener of Fair Work made several announcements concerning handicraft and food exhibits to be shown at the Lachute Spring Fair next week. The handicraft entries will be received from 2-4 p.m. on Tuesday afternoon and all the cooking and flower entries must be handed in before 10 a.m. on Wednesday. The geraniums will be judged in two classes, i.e., Royal George and common geranium. The president urged members to contribute articles to our display. Mrs. Lamontagne also announced that all articles for the handicraft display at the Ottawa Exhibition in August must be completed by July 31, and asked if any members could make the following articles which are still lacking for the Lachute branch exhibit — a hooked mat, nursery design, teen-age girl's beret, scarf and mitts—wool handbag — any material (not shopping bag) novelty belt—cotton or wool, boy's trousers, short — made from adult's trousers.

The next meeting will be held on September 12, at which a reception for the staff of the local high school will be held.

After the business meeting adjourned the program entitled "Gardening Hints" was then presented by Mrs. S. Milnes, convener of Agriculture. Mrs. Milnes gave a brief, but very instructive and informative talk on the mineral requirements of plants. In a very clear manner she described the characteristics of the mineral elements in the soil, necessary to the life and growth of all plants. Chemical fertilizers were also mentioned and their chemical content and purpose explained. Next followed an exchange of plants, seedlings and slips brought by the members, which resulted in much discussion and talk about gardens. The meeting closed after tea had been served.

Motor-Cyclist Is Seriously Injured

Chas. Dorion, of St. Eustache, is in critical condition following his accident on Sunday evening last. Riding his light-weight motorcycle along route 29, a quarter-mile from St. Andrews East at 7.45 p.m., Dorion lost control of his machine, though travelling at a low speed, and crashed into a pole.

Treated on the spot by Dr. A. L'Allier, of St. Andrews East, the victim sustained a fractured skull and several cuts on the face. Unconscious, he was removed by Menard's ambulance to the Sacred Heart Hospital, Cartierville, where his condition is reported critical.

Traffic Officer H. Jones made investigation of the accident.

County Health Unit Stresses Need Of X-rays During Anti-TB Week

SURVEY OF 1949 GIVEN IN REPORT

Dr. L. Turcotte, County Health Officer and vice-president of the Laurentian Anti-Tuberculosis League, reports that the fight against tuberculosis is going forward with renewed vigor. The week beginning June 12 has been set aside as Anti-Tuberculosis Week. In order to reach as many people from as many localities as possible, special equipment and specialized personnel are being made available as follows:

St. Andrews East, Municipal Hall, June 12, 3-5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

Lachute Auditorium, June 13, 2-5 p.m. and 7-9.30 p.m.

Brownsburg Social Club, June 14, 2-5 p.m. and 7-9.30 p.m.

Lachute Exhibition Grounds, June 15, 7-12 p.m.

Lachute Exhibition Grounds, June 16, 7-12 p.m.

Lachute Exhibition Grounds, June 17, 2-6 p.m.

Everyone over 15 years of age desiring an X-ray of the chest, is invited to come to any one of these free clinics at one of the above localities. These will be the only special clinics held in this County during the year. Those who live in the outlying districts are especially invited to make an effort to attend. Due to the cost and the low incidence of the disease in rural areas the officials consider it impractical to visit every locality each year.

A large number of clinics were held in various localities during the year 1949. A total of 8,715 persons were X-rayed as follows:

Arundel 256, Barkmere 59, Bell Falls 50, Brownsburg Social Club 211, Brownsburg C-I-L 980, Brownsburg Plastics 59, Brownsburg Safety Fuse 51, Calumet 125, Calumet International Paper 69, Grenville Village 91, Grenville (Dansereau) 66, Grenville (Arnold Farms) 17, Huberdeau 237, Huberdeau Orphanage 371, Kilmar 76, Kilmar (C.R.L.) 434, Lac des 16 Isles 119, Lachute Exhibition 1,007, Lachute (Ayers Ltd.) 562, Lachute (Dominion Shuttle) 247, Lachute (Wilson Ltd.) 159, Montfort 180, Morin Heights 196, Pine Hill, St. Michel 103, Pointe au Chene 69, St. Adolphe de Howard 152, St. Andrews East 117, St. Andrews East (Woollen Mills) 108, St. Philippe 154, Weir 86, Lachute (Health Unit) 2,304, making a total of 8,715 X-rays.

Aside from the specialists from Montreal, helping in the campaign, there were also a number of voluntary helpers, the personnel of the Health Unit, the Ciné Photography Service, the Women's Institute, the Cercle de Fermieres, the Agricultural Society, the Clergy, Municipal Councils, Industries, Members of the Medical Profession and other individuals.

Considering the population of the County of Argenteuil to be 26,490, the Montreal League spent five weeks here last year and examined 6,411 people. This means that 24% of the population were X-rayed. From among this number 60 cases were placed under observation. A total of 24 positive cases were found, of these 18 were in the early stages, 4 were moderately advanced and two were far advanced. The average number of positive cases per 1,000 persons examined were 3.7%. It is interesting to note that extreme care is taken with regard to the reading of the films, each of which is studied independently by four specialists in order to avoid any possibility of error.

Among the 2,304 people who were examined at the offices of the Health Unit, 39 new cases were found, of which 32 were in the early stages, four moderately advanced and three far advanced. 1,813 people out of the 2,304 had never attended the clinic before.

Dr. Turcotte maintains that the value of work being done by the Provincial Government and the Anti-Tuberculosis League in the fight against this dread disease cannot be over-emphasized, and earnestly entreats everyone to take advantage of the clinics which are being especially provided during Fair Week.

Symphony to Visit Lachute During Musical Season

The officials of the local Community Concerts Association announce that a decision has been reached as to the Concerts which are to be held next year. While a selection has been made, this must be confirmed by the New York office before it can be considered final. It is expected that the first concert will be in November, when the beautiful and talented mezzo-soprano singer, Jane Hobson, will come to Lachute.

She had a "coming-out" any musical debutante might envy. Her career was launched in the spring of 1948 by Toscanini and Stokowski. Both celebrated conductors auditioned the unknown Nebraska-born girl, both chose her as soloist for major works. Her red-letter performances brought critical praise and country-wide engagements. Tall, handsome, dark-haired, Jane Hobson, is one of the bright young stars of the concert world.

The second concert will be in January, and will consist of a violin recital by that famous musician, Ricardo Odnoposoff.

Spectacular success throughout Europe and his native South America, preceeded his North American debut in Carnegie Hall, which "immediately established him as one of the outstanding violinists of the day" (New York Times). Since then, music lovers in the United States and Canada alternate with those in Europe and Central and South America in showering tributes on Ricardo Odnoposoff.

The third concert will undoubtedly be the greatest musical event ever to take place in this community. Under the skillful direction of the well known Michael Piastro, the thirty-seven piece symphony orchestra will come to Lachute in March.

This complete ensemble of artist-musicians will certainly be the treat of the season.

The final concert will be a piano recital in April by the internationally-known artist, Gyorgy Sandor.

He achieved renown in Europe before coming to the Western Hemisphere. In Canada, his annual tour of North and South America, major recitals, appearance with leading orchestras, and recordings, have steadily increased his fame. A U.S. Army veteran, Sandor has recorded Rachmaninoff's Second Piano Concerto, with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, Bartok's Third Piano Concerto with the Philadelphia Orchestra, albums of Liszt and Chopin — Columbia Records.

The local officials report that the recent campaign netted the largest membership of any year so far, and that all indications point to a great concert season.

Grant Crawford, M.A., The Institute of Local Government, Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., speaking on "Principles of Municipal Administration, A. E. K. Bunnell, Ontario Department of Planning and Development, speaking on "Parking and Traffic Problems", and Otis F. Cook, Michigan Retailers' Association, speaking about "Retail Merchants Activities".

Lectures will be delivered on such other fundamental subjects as Organization, Civic Activities, Finances, Tourist Activities, Employee Relations Programs.

Gatineau LINES

Reviewing a Year

At our recent Annual Meeting, President G. Gordon Gale made a number of important comments about the progress of the company. As statements of this nature are likely to affect customers just as much as shareholders, we are repeating a few of the highlights below:

— "Since the end of the war, over 1,000 miles of distribution circuits were installed — 380 miles last year. Many more miles of new lines are planned for the coming year."

— "Over $6,000,000 has been spent by the Company since 1945 in catering to the needs of our domestic and smaller customers."

— "To minister to the needs of our steadily growing number of customers, and to ensure prompt service, we have 12 division offices located at Hull, Hawkesbury, Dorion, Lachute, Maniwaki, Napierville, Papineauville, Rawdon, Ste. Adele, St. Jerome, St. Jovite and Shawville."

— "It is our constant endeavor to provide the best possible service — a service which is regular and reliable. This is impossible when lines are extended further and further unless additional capacities in distribution lines, transformer stations and high voltage lines are provided right back to the sources of supply."

—"Reliable service depends on the consumer as well as the Company. To guard against interruptions from short circuits and overloads, not only should existing appliances be carefully maintained, but the Company should be informed whenever new appliances are installed."

— "Continuity of service also depends very largely upon the trimming or removal of dangerous trees. I would like to express the appreciation of our entire organization for the cooperation received in clearing these hazards."

— "During the past year, substantial improvements have been made to the more important substations at Hull, Ste. Agathe, Bryson, Dorion, Ste. Julienne and Lacolle. Many other installations of lesser importance were completed in anticipation of new demands and to provide improved regulation."

Gatineau Power Company

World Cattle Numbers Rise

Cattle raisers is most parts of the world have expanded their herds during the past two years due to the improved feed situation and the strong demand for beef and veal. Cattle numbers in Asia, Europe and the Soviet Union are on the increase, though the figures are still below pre-war, with no increase reported from Africa and South America. Considering North America as a whole, there are more cattle than a year ago, United States accounting for the increase, as Mexico has been hard hit by foot-and-mouth disease, with Canada showing even fewer cattle than pre-war, the result cutting down the cattle population over a six-year period.

Uruguay Market For Seed Potatoes

Uruguay will be in the market this year for about 120,000 crates of the Katahdin and 40,000 crates of the Pontiac variety, or approximately the same amount of certified seed potatoes that was shipped last year, according to W. B. McCullough, Commercial Secretary for Canada (Agriculture) in Buenos Aires.

Purchases will be made again this year by the Official Seed Distributors Service of the Ministry of Agriculture, Uruguay, and will be awarded on a public tender basis. According to Uruguayan law, each tender must be accompanied by a deposit representing 5 per cent of the value of the tender. Canadian exporters interested in submitting a bid are advised to do so through a local agent or their Argentine agents, and thus be assured that their documents are in order.

Certified seed potato officials point out that Uruguay prefers the small size seed grade and preference may be given to the tender having the largest percentage of this grade, even though it may not be the lowest quotation.

Gardiner Approves Dairymen's Fund

Ottawa—"The farsighted action by the Dairy Farmers of Canada in establishing a fund for the purpose of keeping before the Canadian public the relative values and high quality of Canada's dairy products, is in my opinion one of the most commendable steps which has been taken by any farmers organization in this country", Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture stated today.

In auguration of a policy in which a cent-a-pound butterfat or the milk equivalent would be set aside during the month of June for an active campaign to keep the public more fully informed on the merits of dairy products, was announced recently by the producers organization, 'Dairy Farmers of Canada'.

"This determined move to meet some of the difficulties facing the dairy industry deserves the full support of every producer and will, I feel sure, have a far-reaching and beneficial effect on producers and consumers alike", Mr. Gardiner declared.

"To the consumer, it will help in pointing up the fact that a prosperous national economy is impossible without a prosperous agriculture in which the dairy industry plays such an important role.

"To the producer it brings the realization of his share in the responsibility of merchandizing his product as well as producing it".

"A modest lead in the direction of merchandizing dairy products was given recently by the federal department of agriculture and I feel highly gratified that the producers themselves have shown a determination to accept their share of this responsibility", Mr. Gardiner emphasized.

Potato Blackening Causing Concern

Why potatoes turn dark when cooked is a question that is being asked by consumers in many parts of Canada. For years scientists in different parts of the world have been asking the same question, but so far without much success. They admit that the problem is an involved and complex one and agree that no single factor is responsible for this blackening of potatoes on boiling and suggest that a combination of related factors all play some part in the process.

Some of the contributing factors causing potatoes to discolor on cooking are considered to be temperature, fertilizers, soil, variety and certain complex chemical factors that to date are proving elusive to investigators. They do know, however, that temperature plays some part in increasing or accelerating the production of the factor that eventually causes the blackening in the potato. Investigators have found for instance, that little or no blackening was observed in potatoes that matured when the temperature was 70 degrees F. or higher, but that blackening was increased when the temperature dropped to 60 degrees.

Realizing the importance of the problem to the potato growing industry, N. M. Parks, Associate Horticulturist and Potato Specialist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, has set up an extensive series of experiments to study the problem. In addition to these investigations being conducted by the Experimental Farms Service, the problem is also receiving attention by the Canadian Horticultural Council, by the Fertilizer Advisory Board for Ontario and by other provincial agencies.

Argenteuil Softball Games

Two teams came through with their first win in three games last Sunday. Boyd's Express with a better team, trimmed the Tigers of Upper Lachute to the score of 26-7. The game was well played and very even until the 7th inning when Boyd's batted in eight runs, and then came back with eight more in the 8 to clinch the game. G. Poulin and Geo. Fraser made home runs for Boyd's Express. Umpires were Chas. Harding, of Brownsburg and A. Gagne, of Lachute.

At Brownsburg, the Malacket Spiders had to play a hard fought game to beat the White Rose team from Upper Lachute. White Rose were leading 6-0 in the early part of the game, but the Spiders tied up the game in the eighth inning. There were no runs in the 9 inning and an extra inning had to be played to decide the winning team. The Spiders scored the winning run to win the game 7-6. The game was well handled by Jack Seary and John Duncan, of Brownsburg.

In Lachute, the Bluebirds won their first game by defeating the Beavers, also of Lachute, 16-10, in a very tight game. The Bluebirds seemed to have command all the way through. Ed Paul made a home run for the Bluebirds. The umpires for this game were A. Larocque and B. Larocque of Lachute.

Following is the schedule for next week: Tigers vs. Malacket Spiders; Beavers vs. Boyd's Express; White Rose vs. Bluebirds.

Commencing next week there will be a drawing at every game for a prize of $5. Tickets will be sold at the grounds the afternoon of the game. Tickets will be 25 cents each. Proceeds from these drawings will go to buy new equipment and replace bats and balls that are used. Most of the teams are not sponsored or helped by anyone, and it is up to the players to supply their own equipment. So your co-operation will be greatly appreciated. Interested sponsors, who would like to donate equipment or help financially, are asked to contact Mr. G. Tillotson, Lachute, telephone 725 daytime, or 134R in the evenings.

LOST, ONE SKUNK

Williams Lake, B.C. (CP)—When Stinky, the pet skunk of the weekly Tribune office, disappeared recently, a call for help went out. When he returned voluntarily an even more hasty announcement was made. His owners were afraid searchers might haul in a less well-behaved skunk.

Anti-TB Week, June 12-17

Next week is being set aside in this community as Anti-TB Week. Public health education has made fine progress in the past few years, and municipal authorities, large corporations and social services are investing more money every year in this important aspect f prevention.

Good health is the greatest asset that man can have. Money cannot buy it, and once it is lost, it is very difficult and sometimes a laborsome task to reclaim.

Prevention of sickness is the best policy. All wise persons strive for this policy, by living moderately in all things, by having sufficient rest, balanced meals and suitable exercise.

It is also wise to have a yearly X-ray of the chest, especially when one can be had without cost, and at your own convenience. In another column of this paper, there is a list of places in many localities of Argenteuil where an X-ray may be had. Have one taken and know that you do not have a 'spot'. Many appearingly well persons have often been saved from years of sickness by early diagnosis of chest trouble. The X-ray is still the best means of detection.

Canada's Doing Her Share For Freedom

Not suggesting that Canadians should boast about it, The Financial Post does recommend that we should at least be aware of our own contribution to the struggle to sustain a free civilization abroad. It quotes a Toronto speech by Consulting Economist Gilbert Jackson who finds that on a per capita basis, Canada's relative net contributions to the cause since the outbreak of the second world war have been $467 as against $452 from the U.S. Allowing for difference in dollar value, it shows by percentages in relation to national income that Uncle Sam coughed up 3.74% in all forms of aid, and Canada contributed 5.91%.

"In terms of respective burdens of these contributions on the national production capacities of Uncle Sam and Jack Canuck, it looks as if Jack Canuck's burden has been something like 58% greater than that of Uncle Sam", Dr. Jackson said. "That is the basis of our claim to discuss on equal terms with anyone at all, our joint current task of recreating among, and for the benefit of, the still politically free nations, a fully functioning world market. In this argument, we do not propose to stand down for anybody."

New Sulfa Drug Low in Toxicity

Successful use of gantrisin, a sulpha drug formerly called NU-445, in treating children is reported by Drs. John A. Bigler of the Children's Memorial Hospital, Chicago, and Orville Thomas of Shreveport, La., according to the Health League of Canada's Health News Service.

Good results were obtained in 55 children with pneumonia, bronchitis, tonsillitis, urinary infection and ear inflammation, the doctors say in the American Journal of Diseases of Children, published by the American Medical Association.

Gantrisin is low in toxicity, they point out. It also has the advantage of a high degree of solubility which assures that the drug will not crystallize in the body.

Lawn Mower, Farewell!

Science is coming to the rescue of those householders for whom the lawn-mowing chore becomes heavy and tedious toil just about this time of year, when the fishing hole and the golf links call and the evenings are too pleasant for anything more strenuous than sitting on the porch.

The white-coated experimenters in the laboratories claim to have come up with a new chemical to retard the growth of lawn grass.

To the tired pusher of the lawn mower, the idea may seem the sort a man might dream up while he pauses to rest his aching back after trundling the grass-cutter through a particularly tough stand.

If the substance works successfully, all that should be necessary is to spray the lawn once or twice when the turf turns green in the spring. The growth-retarder will do the rest.

The invention is not in the same class at all as the short-stemmed grass which glib-talking salesmen used to try to sell to unwary property owners. The short grass was supposed to grow so high and no higher — it kept on growing like any other grass, as buyers discovered to their sorrow — but the new chemical is said to check the rate of growth so that, in a whole season, the grass keeps growing but never becomes long enough to be unsightly.

It opens a new vista for the thousands of Canadians now in summer bondage to the lawn mower. Those sunny afternoons when the fleecy clouds pile up and roll lazily across the bright blue sky will be available for picnics, fishing trips or golf. Those long summer evenings can be devoted to dozens of pastimes suited to lazy living. And the tired householder will never come home from work to find the lawn mower waiting for him on the front walk, where it has been left by a wife with a passion for outdoor tidiness.

No more tired muscles! No more whirring of the blades to shatter the stillness of the summer twilight! No more wearisome groping with the grass shears at corners the mower couldn't reach.

Canadians as London Social Workers

Nearly 60 U.S. and 20 Canadian students will travel to London to do social work in the East End this summer. The visit is a development of a scheme launched by the Rev. P. B. Clayton, Founder of Toc H, when he toured the U.S.A. at the end of 1947 with the late Mr. John Winant, American Ambassador who took a great interest in the problems of the East End. U.S. students, known as Winant Volunteers, went to London under the plan in 1948 and 1949, but this is the first time that a Canadian contingent is taking part.

Coals to Newcastle

Shipping Electric motors to the United States is like carrying coals to Newcastle, but that is exactly what a firm in Bristol, England, is doing. The order materialized after the chairman of the firm had made a personal tour of the U.S.A., investigating the market, and studying problems of standardization. Now the firm is aiming at a North American export program grossing millions annually.

Ancient Castles Come Cheaply on Rhine

Now There's a Move on Foot To Preserve Medieval Piles That Have Cultural Value

By Richard K. O'Malley

Braubach, Germany (AP) — Stop building those castles in the air — you can buy a medieval fortress on the Rhine cheaper than a suburban bungalow.

Some of the tax-harried owners of German castles would gladly give them away if they had somewhere else to live.

They've been hanging out "castle for sale" signs for a long time. It's tough, owning an 80-room stone house and not being able to support it. With post-war economic troubles and high taxes, castles have become a drug on the market.

A castle isn't the handiest thing in the world to own. Imagine climbing a steep hill, 75 or 100 stone steps and wrestling with giant doors every night. Plumbing in the old fortresses is practically non-existent. Gusty winds blow through long, gloomy corridors and central heating is unheard of.

About the only things a castle offers nowadays are a tremendous roof and a lot of tradition.

There are 10,000 castles in east and west Germany. Of these, 6,000 are uninhabitable ruins. About 2,000 of the remainder are residence while the rest are partly ruined. Most of the "residencs castles" are in the western zones.

Perched on a steep hill overlooking this little town is Marksburg Castle on the Rhine, the most complete and untouched in Germany.

It was built in 980 A.D. and its present occupants refer to a portion added in 1701 as "the new wing". Right now it is the seat of an effort to preserve German castles which have cultural value.

Led By Architect

Leader of the move is Fritz Ebhardt, president of the Association for the Conservation of German Castles. Ebhardt inherited his work from a famous father, German architect Bodo Ebhadt. The younger Ebhardt, in his late 40's, is an architect himself, but devotes most of his time to save German castles.

Ebhardt says the association has raised about 600,000 marks since 1899 when his father founded it. Since the last war there hasn't been a pfennig of income.

"What we do now", Ebhardt says, "is advise castle owners on ways they might follow to keep their homes. We advise them on insurance and things of that nature. But we need money to save them."

This doesn't mean that when taxes go into arrears that the authorities take over the castle. The administrations are too canny. They know that saddling themselves with a castle can be financially embarrassing.

"Descendants of our old noble families often prefer to live in poverty in their ancestral castles rather than walk out", Ebhardt says.

Some, not so proud, have turned parts of their castles into inns or hotels. This has not always been a success because of the general inconvenience of bedding down with history in a pile of stones.

Ebhardt thinks the German people don't realize they are letting valuable historical traditions go to pot.

"Most of our castles are inconveniently located for casual visitors", Ebhardt explains, "So our plan to get tourist income failed".

Modern buggies — they still are being built — have electric lights and roller bearings.

The Sun rotates on its axis from west to east.

Death Claims Kindly Citizen of St. Andrews

The Late K. E. Walsh

The community of St. Andrews East mourns the passing of one of its most beloved citizens, Miss K. Elizabeth Walsh. Her death took place suddenly at her home in St. Andrews, on Saturday morning, June 3, 1950.

Miss Walsh had to a remarkable degree qualities of generosity and sympathy, which endeared her to the people of the country-side, both English and French, old and young. There are few households in this community who have not known her helpfulness — her gifts of flowers and fruits, and her rarer gifts of kindliness and understanding.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church, and for several years president of its local Missionary Society, to which she gave unstintingly of her time and energy. For many years she taught school under the Quebec Protestant School Board, having graduated from the McGill Normal School in Montreal.

Miss Walsh was a native of Ormstown, Que., from which place her family removed to St. Andrews over fifty years ago. Her father, Mr. Hugh Walsh, was known throughout this and neighboring counties for the fine products of his grist mill and the hospitality of his home.

Miss Walsh is survived by her sister, Miss Mary W. Walsh, and by many cousins, among them Mr. Hugh Walsh, of Verona, Illinois, at whose father's home she spent a number of years.

The funeral service, held on Monday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church, was attended by a very large number of friends from far and near, including many from Montreal, Ottawa, Verona, Illinois, Ormstown, Ogdensburg, Malone, Lachute, Cushing, etc. The Rev. Dr. MacMillan officiated, and the hymns, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er", were led by the members of the choirs of three Protestant Churches. The floral tributes were many and of great beauty.

The heartfelt sympathy of the whole community is extended to the bereaved sister.

Harness Racing

By Wally Izsak

Harness racing is a sport that belongs to the small towns as much as horseshoe pitching. It's a sport that's as rural as dirt roads.

But lately interest in it hasn't been displayed by country folk alone. The city slickers have taken the sport to their hearts and it has become big business in both Canada and the United States.

With the exception of baseball and softball, more Canadians probably engage in harness racing in the summer months than any other sport. The president of the Canadian Trotting Association, James Brown of New Liskeard, Ont., recently estimated that there are some 50,000 harness racing breeders in Canada at the present time.

That seems a lot. But when you realize that most of these breeders are farmers who keep one or two standard-breds for their own enjoyment, it doesn't seem too large a number.

These small breeders and owners are the backbone of the sport. Even now many races are held on dusty country roads with keen competition. A lot of small towns in their annual fairs spotlight harness racing meets as their main attractions.

About half of those 50,000 breeders live in eastern Canada and particularly in Ontario. And that's the province in which the biggest meets are held.

Right in Toronto, for example, is the richest of all Canadian trotting meets. More than $195,000 has been put up as purses for a 42-day meet there starting in July. The top stake is the $15,000 open event for the Canadian Cup. Other purses include $6,000 and $4,000. The minimum is $500 a dash and $1,000 a heat.

Dr. Stanton Entered

The former mile record holder in the pace, Dr. Stanton, will be entered in the Canadian Cup. Owned by Linley (Lindy) Fraser, of Forest, Ont., Dr. Stanton is one of the top harness horses in North America, and has raced at most major tracks in the U.S.

As in most major sports, not everyone interested in harness racing is satisfied. A recent example of that came about when harness racing was termed both a victim of discrimination and also a monopoly.

The class discrimination charge came from J. W. Brown, of New Hamburg, Ont., president of the Canadian Standard Bred Horse Society. He charged Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario with discriminating against the standard breds in favor of running-horse interests because the Ontario government had refused to permit night harness racing at Toronto.

Brown is connected with a group of men interested in running harness races under the floodlights.

The monopoly charge came in Buffalo, N.Y., where the United States Trotting Association was sued for more than $1,000,000 damages by John J. Carlo, a Buffalo lawyer and part-owner of a chain of harness tracks.

He charged the association was conducting a monopoly and conspiracy in restraint of trade. His complaint was that the association wouldn't permit him to operate as general manager and secretary-treasurer of Northville Downs, near Detroit, and in Warren County, Ohio.

Colored water squirted by Rome police later identified demonstrators, who were arrested.

Rest - An Investment

Nothing could be further from the truth than to say that sleep is a loss of time. Sleep is a most important factor in our daily lives. During sleep, the body recuperates from the day's hardships; nervous tension disappears thereby inducing complete relaxation; during sleep, the heart works at a minimum. Such complete rest increases resistance to fatigue and disease and enables a better use of all faculties.

Some adults have died relatively young who would have enjoyed a much longer life span had they given proper attention to the importance of rest. Others may have failed in business or home duties because of a bad temper, or because of jumpy nerves because they tired easily. Lowered resistance due to overwork and lack of sufficient sleep very often predisposes to colds. Such troubles could well be avoided by taking more rest.

The average person requires a minimum of eight hours sleep every night. For young children, an average of 12 to 14 hours is suggested; for adolescents, it should be at least 9 or 10, if at all possible.

Unfortunately some people find that they cannot sleep the required number of hours because they suffer from insomnia. Among the principal causes of insomnia are anxiety, and often it is simply a matter of fear of not being able to sleep. In such instances, many resort to sleeping pills, a practice which leads to complete slavery.

Should one become conscious of insomnia, or be an habitual user of sleeping pills, it will take a bit of will-power to regain control and learn to relax once again without artificial aids. Confidence in being able to sleep will return and it will become a matter of auto-suggestion.

The National Health Association states that sleep is a normal process and essential to a long active life. If you continue to be troubled with sleepless nights, consult your physician who will help you to find the underlying cause.

PUBLIC SPEAKING C.N.E. CONTESTS

Even if your Mary and your Johnny have never been in an oratorical contest before, why not let them try out in the Public Speaking contests to take place at the Canadian National Exhibition?

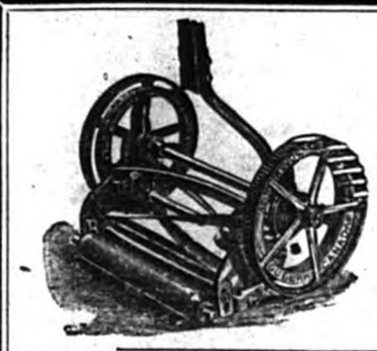

Cash awards totalling $125 will be presented to winners in the elementary grades of 6, 7, and 8, according to the C.N.E. prize list.

Open to any Canadian school child, entry forms for registration may be obtained now by writing to the Women's Division, Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. Deadline for entries is July 15.

Contestants may choose their own subjects, Kate Aitken, Director of Women's activities, explains. Competitions take place at the Exhibition the afternoon of August 29. Each contestant is allowed three minutes. Any number of pupils from any one school may compete.

Married Quietly at Brownsburg Church

Smith - Prosser

The marriage of Miss Claire Lucena Prosser, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George C. Prosser, Brownsburg, Que., to Mr. Thomas Gordon Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon M. Smith, of Lachute, Que., took place quietly at seven o'clock Friday evening, June 2, in the United Church, Brownsburg, Que. The Rev. S. J. Pike officiating.

The bride dressed in a navy blue gabardine suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses, was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Lou Prosser, wearing a grey wool suit with yellow accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. Fred Smith was best man for his brother, and Harold Smith was usher.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mortell, wore a two-piece navy and white dress, with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Smith, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue sheer dress, with matching accessories, and a corsage of red carnations. Mrs. John Boyd, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue gabardine suit, with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride on Bedard Boulevard, Lachute.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith later left for a motor trip to Ottawa and surrounding points.

The happy couple will later reside in Lachute, Que.

Uniform Tobacco

Ottawa — A good even stand of tobacco ensures uniformity during topping, priming and curing, which is essential for producing a high quality and yield of tobacco. Good stands under normal weather conditions may be attained by following a few methods recommended by the Dominion Experimental Substation, Delhi, Ont., during the period of transplanting.

Cutworms can cause considerable damage to a stand of tobacco if not controlled. The only effective method of control is using poisoned bait applied on the surface of the soil on warm nights, approximately one week before transplanting. A further application may be applied if necessary. An efficient mixture is 25 pounds of bran, one pound of paris green and 2½ gallons of water. The effectiveness of poisoned bait depends entirely on whether the night is warm enough for the cutworms to become active. There has been no substantial results obtained from using a poison in the planter barrel.

Considerable damage to the roots can be caused by fertilizer burn, but may be eliminated by using a transplanter with a fertilizer attachment. For best results the bands should be placed four inches from the row and approximately three inches deep. Applying fertilizer in the row before transplanting often causes heavy mortality and considerable stunting, particularly if the season is dry. There is no experimental evidence to show than any other fertilizer is necessary than the regular application of dry fertilizer.

Strong, healthy seedlings, properly hardened are quite essential. Only vigorous plants of uniform size should be selected from the seeded for transplanting. They should be well watered before pulling and protected from the sun before transplanting. Plants badly wilted should not be planted.

Replanting should follow transplanting just as soon as the condition of the plants can be detected. Failure to replant the misses reduces yield and quality. The quality if reduced by the two adjacent plants growing ranker than the others by having excess to more moisture and fertilizer. Good healthy replants are very essential to obtain a uniform field of harvest.

Canada will demand protection against invasion of West Coast fisheries by Japanese.

Atlantic Fishing Challenge to West

B.C. Salmon Industry Ready To Handle Herring, Halibut

Vancouver (CP) — For years British Columbia has been able to boast that she produced more than half of Canada's fishing harvest; but adding Newfoundland to the Dominion changed all that.

Advent of the oldest colony tilts the output at least 60 per cent in favor of the east coast. British Columbia may be able to balance the combined productions of Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia, but the hundreds of miles of prolific coastline in New Brunswick, Quebec and the Gulf of St. Lawrence make it an uneven scale.

Newfoundland's economy has long been based on her salt cod industry. Now, while Canada is absorbing the island, the salt fish industry is running into heavy difficulties. Better marketing and shipping methods are bringing fresh fish to the consumer's table, leaving less attractive salt fish little market.

Soaring Prices

Soaring meat prices in the eastern states are promoting fishing in that area, with a greater variety of catch being consumed.

British Columbia is not taking this challenge lightly.

Overall changes are being made to speed up catching and processing. Salmon trawlers are being constructed with interchangeable fittings so they can be transformed for herring. Further installations will make the same power plant good for handling halibut and other deep sea fish. Some firms are arranging to supply markets as far south as San Francisco by direct truck hauls.

Both east and west coast fishermen agree competition is doing Canada's fishing industry a lot of good. New and better freezing, faster transport and less salt are expected to revolutionize the fishing business from Alberni to Cape Race.

Ace Parachutist Is Ottawa Airman

George Bennett Weighs 236 Pounds and Puffs on Stairs But Falls 30,000 Feet Easily

Ottawa (CP) — An Ottawa airman, who loves the "sensation" of coming down in the world, is one of Canada's ace parachute jumpers.

After 31 years of earning his meal ticket by double-daring death, Flt. Sgt. George Bennett says he still gets a wonderful sensation as his body floats through the skies.

Sgt. Bennett weighs 236 pounds and puffs when he walks down a flight of stairs, but he can tumble 30,000 feet without a gasp. His 1,319 jumps to date is a record that is 500 leaps ahead of his closest contender.

He holds nearly every other parachute record except for height and the free-fall. He has tried unsuccessfully three times for these but failed because the airplane he was in couldn't fly high enough.

Now with the R.C.A.F., Sgt. Bennett considers himself semi-retired after a lengthy career as a professional jumper at air shows, as instructor and as parachute tester for a leading chute manufacturer.

Wing-Walking Act

During his career as a jumper with exhibitions, Sgt. Bennett included a wing-walking act as the plane roared over the spectators' heads at 200-feet, and later, during his jump, would do gymnastics on a special trapeze attached to the parachute as he floated down.

In the wing-walking act, made illegal in 1931, he would change over from one plane to another, or hang by his feet from the landing gear — without a parachute.

Sgt. Bennett made the low jump record when he plunged from a plane in the Hamilton stadium, only 142 feet below, in 1933. Also at Hamilton, he made the first night parachute leap, dropping at midnight with only a flashlight to guide his landing. Another record was made at Hamilton when he made 27 parachute jumps in a day.

Just to show he isn't superstious, Sgt. Bennett made his 1,300th jump over Rockcliffe air station on May 13, at 13.00 o'clock (1 p.m.). He jumped from 1,300 feet.

South Africa Studying Mine Hazards

Examine Effects of Heat and Humidity On Men at Deep Underground Levels

Johannesburg (CP) — Investigations into the effects of heat and humidity on men working at deep underground levels in gold mines have been started by the South African Institute for Medical Research.

These effects present an industrial hazard of relatively unknown proportions and, with the development of deep mining operations, the problem assumes some urgency, says Dr. E. H. Cluver, director of the institute.

To determine the effects and find solutions the institute recently appointed Dr. C. H. Wyndham, formerly of the British Medical Research Council's Climatic Unit at Oxford, as applied physiologist.

The co-operation of the Transvaal Chamber of Mines has been sought in tackling the problem, and it is hoped shortly to begin preliminary operations in the mines on metabolic studies of the various human tasks involved.

The research team will study the efficiency of native mine laborers in relation to the surrounding temperature and the limits of heat and humidity tolerable by various native tribal groups. The work will be checked under more precise conditions when an experimental climatic chamber becomes available.

Film Strips Brings United Nations to Classrooms

Film strips are now being used by teachers and speakers as one of the most practical ways of telling the story of the United Nations to their audiences. The U.N. Department of Public Information has released 15 different subjects explaining the aims, structure and work of the World Organization. More than 90,000 copies of these are now in use in 62 countries in the five official languages of the U.N.—Chinese, English, French, Russian and Spanish. Here a class of ten-year-old children listen and look as a teacher shows one of the U.N. film strips mentioned above.

The Ark Royal Returns

A tragic loss to Britain's Royal Navy occurred on the 14th November, 1940, when the 22,000 ton aircraft carrier "Ark Royal" was torpedoed by a U-Boat in the Western Mediterrean. The Ship had only been completed on November 16th, 1938.

But the "Ark Royal" is back again. On May 2nd, Her Majesty the Queen launched at Birkenhead one of the world's most powerful warships, and named it — the 'Ark Royal".

It will be the largest vessel but one serving with the Royal Navy and is surpassed in size only by H.M.S. "Vanguard".

50,000 people watched the launching of the 36,800 ton aircraft carrier. Her builders, Cammell Laird, took a most unusual step in the Royal ceremony. A false bow was added to the ship's hull so as to absorb any possible shock to the vessel as it entered the water—a protection considered advisable on account of her exceptional size and weight.

BOYS WILL BE BOYS

St. Leonards, Berkshire, Eng. (CP) — Canon C. C. Griffiths wrote in his parish magazine recently: "When the rector asks church councillors to stand, will they see that the lady sitting on the other end of the seats is warned and not suddenly deposited on the floor — boys will be boys even when they are church councillors".

Poison Ivy

Ottawa — "Poison ivy is one of the worst, if not the worst skin-irritant plants in North America, and in their own interest every one should not only be able to recognize it in time, but should be familiar with precautionary measures to help any one victimized by it", says Dr. H. A. Senn, Chief Botanist, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Poison ivy is the only native Canadian plant with a three-parted leaf and white fruit Dr. Senn points out that it is sometimes confused with Virginia creeper; but this has five-parted leaves and blue fruit. The leaves of the poison ivy are arranged alternately on the woody stem, each leaf being composed of three leaflets, which is a constant character. Individual leaflets, however, vary in shape, size, texture and color and the margins may be entire or variously coarse-toothed. In the spring the unfolding crinkly leaves of the poison ivy are noticeably reddish, later becoming green with a smooth glossy surface.

Experienced picnickers know that one of the first things to be done on arriving at an unknown spot is to explore it and the surroundings for the possible presence of poison ivy. It generally grows as a trailing vine or an upright plant, but sometimes it may climb a tree, or a telephone pole to a considerable height. Poison ivy may also occur as a single plant, or in patches of varying size and density. It occurs in all provinces in Canada, but is most troublesome in Ontario and western Quebec, growing under varying conditions of soil and moisture and is especially prevalent along roadways, railway tracks and in rocky situations.

Poisoning may result from contact with any portion of the plant-leaves, flowers, fruits, stems or even roots — and the toxic principle is considered to be more active in early summer, but you may be a victim at any season of the year. Dogs, cats and other animals may transmit the poison, as well as clothes or tools that may have the juice of the ivy on them, and the toxic principle may persist for months.

Immediate and thorough washing with strong laundry soap and warm water as soon as contact is suspected, is one of the simplest treatments for poison ivy. Certain other skin troubles are sometimes mistaken for poison ivy injury and when in doubt, a doctor should be consulted.

Poison ivy can be eradicated either by mechanical means or using chemicals, or by a combination of these methods. Two sprayings with 2,4-D is generally recommended, where this weed killer can be used without injury to surrounding vegetation.

An illustrated circular on poison ivy may be obtained by writing the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and asking for "Poison Ivy", Publication 820.

World's Fastest Air Race

Britain's seven air races for 1950 are to be flown at five aerodromes in various parts of the United Kingdom. The classic event is the King's Cup, a race for British light aircraft, first flown in 1922. Before World War II it was always the most exciting race in the aviation calendar. This year the King's Cup will be flown at the municipal aerodrome, Wolverhampton, England, on June 17. Competitors will fly 187 miles in three laps of a 100-kilometres course.

The world's fastest air race — the race for the Society of British Aircraft Constructors' Challenge Cup, open to jet aircraft of all nationalities — is to be flown at Sherburn-in-Elmet, Leeds, England, on July 22. Only jet aircraft may compete and pilots will fly two laps of a 100-kilometres course.

The Air League Challenge Cup for piston-engined aircraft of all nationalities with a speed of more than 175 miles per hour will be flown on July 22, at Leeds.

Two races are to be flown at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, on July 29. They are the Grosvenor Challenge Cup for aircraft of all nationalities, weighing not more than 2,205 pounds, and flown in four laps around a 20-mile course; and the Norton Griffiths Challenge Trophy for aircraft weighing between 1,000 and 2,205 pounds to be flown in five laps around a 20-mile course.

On August 19, the Kemsley Challenge Trophy for aircraft of all nationalities, with speed exceeding 300 miles per hour, will be flown in three laps of a 28-mile course at Swansea, South Wales. The final event is the Siddeley Challenge Trophy — a contest for flying clubs, and open to club aircraft with weight not exceeding 3,858 pounds. It will be in four laps around a 20-mile course at Coventry, England, September 2.

ARRESTED GROWTH MEDICAL PROBLEM

Vancouver (CP)—Stunted growth in children is being recognized as a medical problem in Canada and the United States, Dr. A. L. Chute, Toronto children's specialist, said here.

Speaking before the Vancouver Medical Association's summer school, Dr. Chute said the problem is not nearly so widespread as in Asiatic countries.

"Malnutrition is behind much dwarfism", he said. "They are neglected children — cases where maternal delinquency in early life was a strong factor. It is usually an economic factor."

Other causes of arrested physical development in children were congenital heart disease, chronic pulmonary and digestive diseases. Occasional cases of dwarfism are inherited.

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

June, the month of brides—and roses! I'm not going to concern myself with brides, but am greatly interested in discussing roses. This universally popular flower should be in every garden in at least one of its varied forms. It is wise to grow hybrid teas and hybrid perpetuals massed together in solid beds. Ramblers, pillar roses and climbers can be used to advantage on trellises or pergolas.

Plans for different types of supports abound. Two trellises and two arbours are shown. If you are not anxious to tackle the curved archway, then stick to a design which has straight lines.

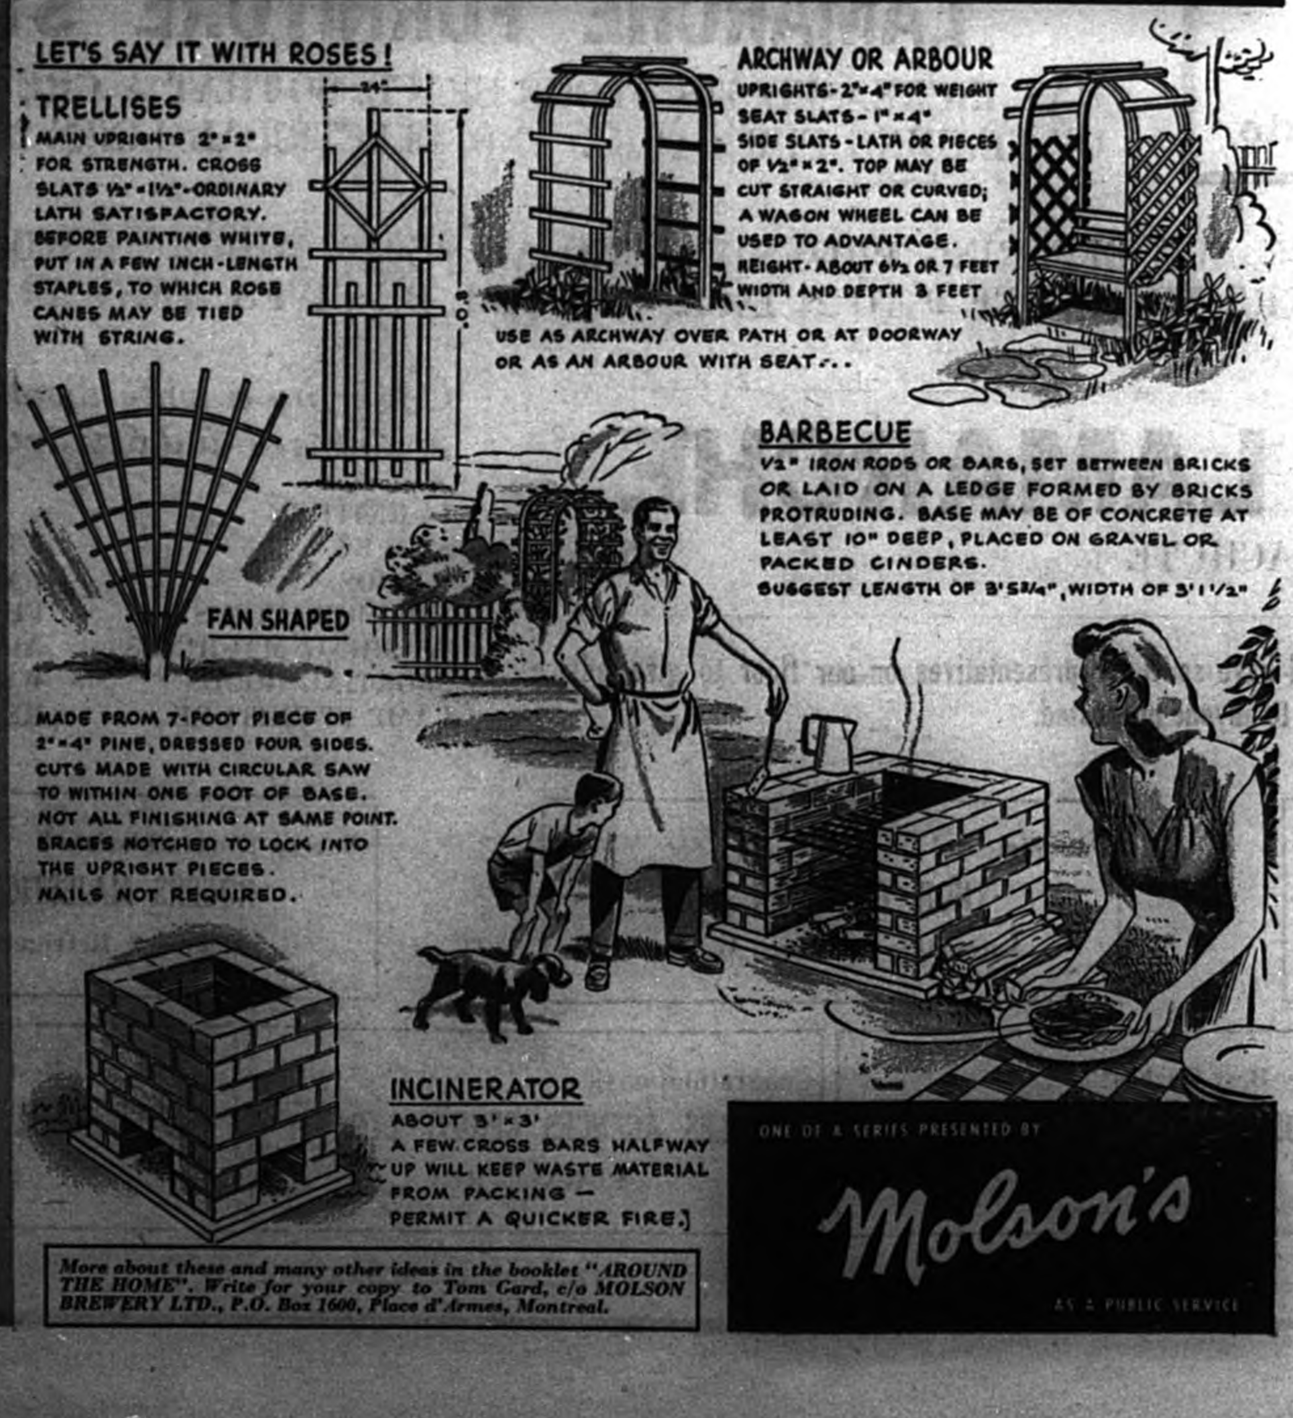

For Outdoor Living

Nothing tastes so good as food cooked in the open over an outdoor fireplace. My teen-age daughter kept at me until I finally broke down and built a barbecue in a secluded corner of the garden. Ever since it was finished there has been a continual round of weiner roasts, picnics and impromptu gatherings in our back yard. I must admit its use has not been restricted to teenagers!

Refuse Burner

It was a toss-up whether I would include an incinerator with the brick barbecue or not. Over a year ago I saw a combination arrangement—barbecue at one side, incinerator at the other — which was very effective. Because of the layout of my garden I decided on two separate units and intend to follow the incinerator design shown. It should help keep debris about the place to a minimum.

This marks the halfway point of this present series. I'd be delighted to hear from you if you have any comments to make on any of the suggestions already presented here or in the booklet "Around the Home".

More about these and many other ideas in the booklet "AROUND THE HOME". Write for your copy to Tom Gard, c/o MOLSON BREWERY LTD., P.O. Box 1600, Place d'Armes, Montreal.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

W.M.S. Sectional Rally Held at Arundel

The annual rally of the Ottawa Valley Section of the Woman's Missionary Society was held recently in the United Church at Arundel.

A large representation of the Society in this district as well as members of the Executive Committee of the Montreal Presbyterial were on hand for the opening meeting in the morning.

Mrs. A. McK. Porritt, president of Montreal Presbyterial presided at the meeting.

In her capacity as President of the Woman's Association of Arundel Church, Mrs. P. Staniforth welcomed the guests.

Members of Morin Heights Auxiliary opened with devotional services followed by a few words from Mrs. Porritt.

Minutes of last year's meeting were read by the secretary and approved, and other business discussed.

Mrs. Graham, of Arundel, was at the organ, and Mrs. Usher, of Cushing brought greetings from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Brief items were given by Mrs. Lengfield and Mrs. Fitzgerald, of Montreal and prayer by Mrs. W. Y. King, of Cushing, brought the morning session to a close.

Lunch was then served by the Woman's Association in the church hall, with Mr. Fenton as Student Minister expressing his pleasure at having the meeting at Arundel.

The afternoon meeting was called to order with Miss Stalker of Lachute leading in the devotional exercises.

A talk on Christian Stewardship was then given by Mrs. Kirker, of Montreal, at the close of which, Miss Mary Lamb, of St. Andrews East conducted a very touching "In Memoriam" service for seven members from the district.

We were then favored by a very beautiful solo by Mrs. Bulley of Arundel.

Guest speaker for the day was Miss Donalda Jardine who spoke on Racial Discrimination and its connection with Christianity.

Mrs. Porritt then told the gathering of some of the missionaries leaving either to resume their work or go to new locations.

The report of the courtesies committee was then received with Mrs. Jamieson of Morin Heights as spokesman.

Mrs. Porritt then thanked all who had helped to make the meeting a success and Mr. Fenton pronounced the benediction bringing the meeting to a close.

"This Beautiful Earth, in God's Purpose."

Our kind, loving Creator of the heavens and the earth, whose name alone is Jehovah (Psalms 83:18). . . . In His book, the Bible, He says "The heaven is My throne, and the earth is My footstool; I will make the place of My feet Glorious. (Isaiah 66:1, 60:13.)

LITERAL EARTH TO ABIDE AND BE INHABITED FOREVER

Gen. 1:1: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth".

Isa. 45: 18: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heaven; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited".

Eccl. 1:4: "One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever".

Ps. 37: 11, 29; Matt. 5:5: "The meek shall inherit the earth; and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace. The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever".

Ps. 78:69: "He built his sanctuary like high palaces, like the earth which he hath established for ever".

Ps. 115: 16: "The heaven, even the heaven, are the Lord's; but the earth hath he given to the children of men".

Ps. 119: 90: "Thou hast established the earth, and it abideth".

Prov. 2: 21, 22: "The upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it. But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it".

Prov. 10: 30: "The righteous shall never be removed".

See also: Ps. 104: 5; Isa. 60: 21.

THE SEARCH FOR PEACE

Peace is as sure as Tomorrow's sunrise, and just as independent of man. Unto us a son is born, unto us a son is given, and the governments shall be upon His shoulders. Of His government and peace there shall be no end. Isaiah 9-67. Daniel 2-44.

"I DELIGHT TO DO THY WILL, O MY GOD; YEA, THY LAW IS WITHIN MY HEART."
— Psalm 40:8, Am. Stan. Ver.

It was a delight to the psalmist David to know what God's will was and then to do it. To know what to do he gave careful consideration to God's law and filled his heart with it. As a result, David is spoken of in the Scriptures as "a man after God's own heart". Would you not like to have a place in God's memory too? Could any creature ask for a greater honor? Little wonder that David expressed delight! If this is your desire, begin now to fill your mind and heart with God's written Word, the Bible. The Watchtower edition of the American Standard Version, from which the above verse is quoted, may be had for only $1.50. Send for your copy today. — 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Silver Wedding Celebrated By Lachute Couple

On Saturday evening last, around 40 close relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Wilson for a surprise party to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. Just before lunch was served, Mr. James Duncan (on behalf of those present) presented Mr. and Mrs. Wilson with a silver tea service and a half-a-dozen silver knives and forks.

Young and old participated in dancing and a lot of fun was had by all.

Out of town guests for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. J. McRae, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McPhee, Quebec City, Mr. A. C. McPhee, Montreal, Mrs. E. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ross, St. Lambert, and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Middleton, Snowdon.

Rotary Bingo Has Rare Phenomenon

Friends of Rotary gathered in the Lachute Auditorium for a good time on Tuesday evening, June 6, 1950, for the grand Bingo. Proceeds of which will assist the Brownsburg Legion in the building of their hall and the Community Skating rink.

Assisted by members of Lachute and Brownsburg Legions, attentive service was given the happy audience by the Rotarians. The prizes were exceptionally attractive with the grand prize being a deluxe Frigidaire.

The winners were — George Leroux, Brownsburg, Frank Steere, Brownsburg, Omer Pharand, St. Andrews East, Betty Harris, Brownsburg, Mrs. Harold Dando, Brownsburg, Mrs. H. Dumaresque, Lachute, Mrs. Charles Low, Brownsburg, Mrs. Gilbert Wilson, Brownsburg, Kenneth Stewart, Brownsburg, Mrs. Rollie Moncrieff, Brownsburg, Mrs. Ed Calet, Brownsburg, Mrs. Pittre, Hawkesbury, Mrs. Donat Laforest, Brownsburg, Mrs. Gordon Towel, Brownsburg, Mrs. John Duncan, Brownsburg, Mr. C. E. Richardson, Lachute, Miss Pauline Boudreau, Lachute, Miss Bernice Gordon, Lachute, Mrs. Gordon, Lachute, Mr. Lequier, Hawkesbury, Mrs. Guy Morency, Lachute.

There could only be twenty-one winners but everyone enjoyed themselves and that is a success in itself.

It is interesting to note and local mathematicians have stated it only occurs once in four-hundred-thousand chances a Bingo card was filled with only four numbers called in the first game.

Marriage Solemnized at Lachute United Church

Prophet - Hadley

In the Lachute United Church on Saturday, May 21, at four o'clock, the wedding took place of Mabel Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hadley, to Mr. Elvine Homer Prophet, son of Mrs. Prophet and the late Victor Prophet, of Calumet. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiated. Mrs. Kenneth McOuat was the organist and during the signing of the register, Mr. Sydney Drew sang "I'll Walk Beside You". Standards of pink and white snap dragons formed the decorations.

Attending the bride as maid-of-honor was Miss Eunice Laviolette.

Mr. Victor Gauley acted as best man and Mr. John Buda and Mr. John Hadley were ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of blush satin, fashioned on Princess lines, with the skirt falling in a train. Her fingertip veil and coronet were of blush tulle illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink carnations and lily of the valley.

The maid of honor wore a gown of pale blue taffeta, made with a stand-up collar, fitted bodice and long full skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of multi-colored sweet peas and her coronet was of the same flowers.

Mrs. Hadley, mother of the bride, wore a dress of navy blue sheer, white accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Prophet, mother of the groom, wore a dress of navy blue crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A reception in the Legion Memorial Hall followed the ceremony after which Mr. and Mrs. Prophet left for a motor trip to Niagara Falls.

For travelling the bride wore a three-piece suit of rose-beige gabardine, mink brown accessories and hat of white straw. Her corsage was of talisman roses.

Intense Excitement At Baseball Game

By Y. St. Denis

Lachute Baseball Team split a double-header last Sunday, when they were thoroughly trimmed by St. Jerome in the first game, but won the second.

In the twilight game following against Joliette, Gervais of the local team was the star in a relief role, as Lachute won by a score of 4-1, with a large crowd of 800-odd in attendance.

There were no runs in the 1st inning, as all players were out in quick succession. Joliette scored their only run in the 2nd, when they had 2 hits.

Lachute scored their initial run in the 3rd as Gouzenko drove a sizzling liner to centre field for a double hit, with Lefebvre driving Gouzenko to the home plate. In the following inning, Lachute came through with two more runs.

There was great excitement soon afterwards as Manager Lakaib of Joliette protested strongly against a ruling of the umpire, even with fisticuffs. Players of both teams were able to induce peace again as they separated the battlers. Being banned from the game, the manager was set upon by a Lachute supporter, and another battle ensued, with the spectator getting the worst of the battle.

In the first-half of the 5th inning, Joliette threatened the lead of the locals, when pitcher Lefebvre went wild by walking three players. He was through for the game, and relief Gervais came to the rescue to save the game.

Cottage Cheese the Friend of Grandmothers

Cottage cheese was a staple article of diet before modern methods of refrigeration made it possible to keep milk sweet for more than twenty-four hours in summer heat.

Grandmother made her cakes, hot biscuits and pancakes from sour milk and soda but she always had plenty of sour milk left for cottage cheese. Cottage cheese may be made from either sweet or sour milk. The product that is made commercially is usually made from sweet skim milk. It takes approximately one gallon of milk to make one pound of cottage cheese. Some cream is usually added after the curd is formed.

Cottage cheese is excellent food for both adults and children at any season but is particularly good for hot weather meals. The slight tartness lends a zest to the appetite and makes it a refreshingly cool as well as nutritious food for inclusion in daily menus during the summer months.

Here are a few suggestions which come from the home economists of the Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Cottage cheese salad platter may combine cucumbers, carrots, green peppers, cress, radishes, parsley and celery. All fruits blend with cottage cheese so that the salad may be varied as the various fruits are in season. Fruits set in gelatine may be very appealing if set in ring moulds and the centre filled with cottage cheese.

Cottage cheese with jam or fruit jellies and crisp crackers make a welcome and easily assembled dessert at any time of the year.

Cottage cheese may be used in many hot foods, both for main course and dessert. Fillings, dumplings and pancakes using cottage cheese as an ingredient are delicious desserts. For the main course, cottage cheese added to scrambled eggs or hashed browned potatoes, make nice variations. Some vegetable casseroles are also delicious when cottage cheese is one of the ingredients.

The following directions for making cottage cheese come from the Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Method 1

2 Quarts sour milk or sour skim milk, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, cream.

Use only freshly soured, clean-flavored milk. Put the sour milk into a pan or top of double boiler and set over hot water until it separates into curds and whey. Separation takes place when the milk reaches a temperature of 100°F. to 110°F. The milk should be stirred occasionally while it is heating. Spread cheesecloth over a larger strainer and drain the curd on it. When the whey has drained off, the curd may be washed by pouring cold water over it. Put the curd in a bowl, mix well, season with salt and pepper and moisten with cream, allowing at least an ounce of rich cream for each pound of cheese. Yield: about one cup cottage cheese.

Method 2

2 Quarts sweet milk or sweet cream milk, ½ cup clean-flavored sour milk.

Heat milk to temperature of 70°F. Add sour milk and stir thoroughly. Keep milk at 70 to 75°F., until it is well coagulated. Coagulation will take place in from 10 to 15 hours. Follow directions for making cottage cheese, Method No. 1.

Middle-Aged Women Are Best Neighbors

Survey Shows Country-Dwellers Kindest Hearted

New York (AP) — A Harvard professor has figured out that middle-aged women from the country are likeliest to do you a good turn.

Professor Pitirim A. Sorokin, in his recently-published book "Altruistic Love", tells of a survey he made of 612 "good neighbors". He defines a "good neighbor" as a person who gives much time and effort to helping others gratuitously. He does not include organized benevolence.

His test group comprised 500 persons honored on the late Tom Breneman's radio show for good deeds, and 112 others selected by Harvard students and social workers.

"In all our . . samples, (women) make up roughly 75 per cent of the good neighbors", Sorokin says. This sample majority is due to several factors. Much of the data was collected during the war years, and "in this country, good-neighborly activities of men are channeled into the institutional forms of social service agencies more than those of women. Financial and other contributions of men to charity and good neighborliness were made predominantly through writing cheques and giving donations to institutional agencies."

Here are other gleanings from the good neighbor study:

Happy Childhoods

Seventy per cent of all good neighbors are from 30 to 59. Almost half come from large families of six or more children and about 70 per cent consider they had a very happy childhood. Slightly more than 76 per cent are married and a large number report their marriages are happy.

Of the 205 who wrote their biographies or answered questionnaires or both, more than 60 per cent have from two to six children. Their families (in comparison with the rank and file) function harmoniously.

More than 50 per cent of the sample good neighbors come from the middle class. Seventy-four per cent were born in rural America. Their educational status is somewhat above the average educational level of the total U.S. population and they liked their teachers, though they were not necessarily brighter than the average student. Religion helped 90 per cent to become good neighbors. Thirty per. cent attend church frequently and 61 per cent attend services now and then.

Sorokin is director of the Harvard Research Centre in Altruistic Integration and Creativity.

British Fashion Show

Now taking place is the first of London's Fashion Fortnights, to be followed by a second display from July 24th to 28th. This is considered to be the principal fashion trade function of the year in Britain and was conceived with the idea of allowing overseas buyers to see a wide selection of fashions in a limited time. The magnificient gown being worn in our photograph by Honor Blackman one of Britain's leading film stars, was designed for her by Ronald Paterson, a young Scottish designer who last year won the award for the Best British Design for a film gown at the Venice Film Festival. This model is in dull, stiff, black satin with a sheath underskirt draped to one side to reveal an ankle.

Problems and Tangles Give Zest To Civic Meeting of Brownsburg

PETITION FOR EARLY SATURDAY CLOSING SUBMITTED
CHIP WAGONS IN TROUBLE AS CITIZENS PROTEST

Municipal Affairs

The Brownsburg Corporation has ordered full steam ahead in the laying down of side-walks preparatory to putting a coat of asphalt over some of the streets.

Tuesday night a large number of taxpayers attended the regular meeting to discuss municipal affairs with the council in session. As a matter of civics, or good citizenship, if you wish, it was interesting to note that of the many people who attended the meeting all were of French-Canadian nationality, not one of English extraction was among the general public.

The time has come the Walrus said to speak of many things. . . of chip wagons, and sidewalks, and early closings.

Mr. M. Legault came before the meeting to learn how the council intended to protect his property from surface water by the erection of a new sidewalk. He maintained that water would be held there to freeze and do much damage.

Mayor Donaldson assured Mr. Legault that the matter would be adequately taken care of. It was necessary to put in this sidewalk to protect the children who had to cross the road at this point and it was in line with the general policy of the council to put sidewalks all over.

Mr. Art. Paquette submitted a petition from taxpayers in the vicinity of two chip stands, which he averred remained open till three in the morning. Neighboring residents could not rest at night in this district. The matter was referred to the legal adviser.

The fire chief submitted his report for the month which contained details of several fires, among which was a chip wagon valued at $500. The brigade attended a number of grass fires, some in Chatham district.

Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., wrote forwarding a cheque for $4,000 Provincial Government grant in part towards the cost of a new fire prevention apparatus. A letter of thanks was dispatched to Mr. Cottingham for his continued interest in the Brownsburg people and their municipal affairs.

The council sent a cheque for $3,950 in final payment for the new fire truck and a cheque for $3,333 to the Minister of Finance as instalment of the water works loan.

The Cost of Sidewalks

It was explained to the meeting that the cost of laying sidewalks must be borne by the property holder along whose property the sidewalk is laid. The normal cost is $1.36 at eight inches deep, but where there is "fill" to be prepared, a charge of twenty-cents per foot linear measure would be made for surfacing the back and $1 per cu. yard for fill. If proprietors desired to prepare the ground for the sidewalk, this would be accepted, when only the straight charge would be made. It is not allowed for individual owners to erect their own sidewalks, as the council had to maintain them and no patchwork would be accepted.

It was decided to inform all property owners where future walks were being laid of those conditions, before any work was done.

Early Closing

A petition was received by the council signed by 350 residents, asking that a bylaw be enacted, stipulating early closing on Saturday of each week.

The debate on this matter reached interesting proportions at times, but it was a spent effort, no change was made other than a wish to tolerate a later closing on Friday night, contrary to the times stated in the existing by-law.

A Legal Tangle

The motion to enact a loan by-law of which notice was given by Councillor Somers at the last meeting was the subject of a letter from Mr. Legault, Lachute which stated that the proposed charge of $15 a year for entrance valves on vacant lots could not be legally enforced. The matter had been referred back to the council for revision and alteration. Councillor Somers who was not present had intimated he was not satisfied with the legal advice and had asked the secretary to seek the advice of the Minister of Municipal Affairs at Quebec.

The Minister in reply informed the council that the matter was quite within the province of the Municipal Council and was clearly defined by Article 774a of the Municipal Code. We give the Article in question in full.

"When the loan is contracted for work the cost of which must be borne by the owners of immoveable property of part only of the municipality, the tax to be levied each year, during the period of the loan, shall be imposed only on the property-owners interested; but it shall be sufficient to pay the interest each year and make up the capital repayable at the maturity of the bonds. In such case, the property owners liable, who are municipal electors, are alone entitled to vote for the approval or disapproval of the by-law, and the by-law is deemed to be approved if it has been so done by the majority in number and in value of the said property owners who are electors and liable and the provisions of Article 771 shall not apply."

The Minister's reply met the conditions required by the sponsor of the motion to finance the project, and the meeting requested that a by-law be drawn to allow the matter to go ahead.

A Suitable Swimming Pool

A near tragedy occurred at the C-I-L dam last week, when a young school girl became exhausted and had to be rescued from the dam.

School Examinations

Closing out the year with the usual yearly exams, pupils are pouring over books in a last minute effort to bridge the gap of percentages which govern their right to proceed to the next grade. The counter attraction of the Lachute Fair is a disturbing factor, or is it part of the test of diligent application to study?

Of Many Things

The council decided to open a collection for the Manitoba Relief Fund. A meeting for this purpose was held last Monday night at the Social Club at 8 p.m.

A letter of thanks was ordered to be sent to Mr. Georges Corbeil and his workers Messrs. Castonguay, Dicaire and O'Brien for their assistance in the tragic drowning at Half Moon Lake, where the two little boys met their deaths.

A letter of appreciation for the council's expression of sympathy was received from the relatives of the late Russie Martin, who was accidently killed in a truck accident recently.

Fine Accident-Free Record at C-I-L

Employees of the Brownsburg ammunition plant of Canadian Industries Limited on Friday last were presented with prizes denoting their achievement of 138 accident-free calendar days, approximately 696,000 accident-free man hours of work. At an earlier ceremony, employees of the plastics plant received a special prize in recognition of their long safety record.

In making the presentation, L. W. Haslett, manager of the Explosives and Ammunition Department of C-I-L congratulated the employees on the safety standards they had attained. The Brownsburg ammunition plant, it was noted, had won 19 prizes under C-I-L's no-accident plan: ten department manager's prizes, six president's prizes and three board of directors' prizes, twice the number won by any other plant of the company.

In 1949, Brownsburg ammunition workers had an accident frequency rate of only 1.36 and a severity rate of .02 on the basis of 2,210,000 man-hours worked.

Special Show at Rio Theatre

The program for the special show for Manitoba-Quebec Relief Fund has been arranged, and the main picture will feature Frederick March and Florence Eldridge in "Christopher Columbus", a technicolor production.

First-hand movie shots of the devastated areas of Winnipeg, Rimouski and Cabano will also be shown, so that patrons will see that any donation they have made or will likely make, will be used for a very high purpose.

Many Lachute businesses are contributing articles for an auction sale at this performance, the total proceeds of which, will be given to the fund.

The Rio Theatre, Lachute, is the location, and the date, Wednesday. June 21, at 7.30 p.m. Tickets will be on sale in the near future and it is hoped that the response to this appeal will be generous.

The Widow's Mite

Lachute, R.R.
June 8, 1950.

Dear Mr. Editor:

One day there was a frightful thunderstorm here. God made His own atomic bomb come down and strike the rocks and earth in a way, that life seemed uncertain, as my little cabin shook and rattled. I was terribly freightened, and in my prayer, I promised to send a donation to the poor, poor folk in Manitoba and Quebec who had lost their homes.

My heart went out to them, and I wish that I could send them more, but at present money is scarce, and I had intended to use this dollar in many ways, but they will have to wait.

Yours sincerely.

The above letter with an enclosure of $1, truly the widow's mite, should at least arouse many to immediate action. In this particular case an elderly lady, crippled, and unable to afford it, gives $1 to aid the unfortunate of the recent flood-fire disasters. Yes she will have to go without something herself, but willingly she gives what she can.

Our appeal to the public has been somewhat disappointing so far, and we sincerely trust that the above example will set many thinking. Many with good homes and good jobs, have as yet given nothing.

Put yourself in the position of those who have lost homes and have to start all over again. Wouldn't you need and welcome assistance?

Have you given anything yet? If not send us your donation immediately.

We acknowldege the following donations.

Gaspe Peninsula To Be Developed

By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, June 15 (CP) — Gaspe Peninsula, known as a fish-producing centre is due for a big change in its economic life.

Premier Duplessis announced at a press conference last week that "important" copper ore deposits in Gaspe will be exploited, bringing some possible public works projects for the region.

The Premier said that so far 40,000,000 tons of copper ore had been proved in Holland township about 30 miles inland from the tip of Gaspe Peninsula. The exploitation of the new mining industry for Gaspe will be exploited by Gaspe Copper Mines Limited.

"At last", the Premier said, "the old and interesting Gaspe Peninsula will benefit from a very considerable development".

"The exploitation of these resources will make necessary the construction of a dam and a power plant which will be built on the Madeleine River. It will also be necessary to build a road into the mining area for the transportation of the raw ore to the St. Lawrence gulf shore from where it will be shipped to its ultimate destination", the Premier said.

Construction of a copper ore refining plant near the development is under "serious consideration".

Preliminary work in the development of the big titanium mining development on the St. Lawrence north shore is also continuing at a swift pace, the Premier indicated.

The rail line extending from Havre St. Pierre to Lake Allard, 24 miles inland, the centre of the development is almost completed.

Work is also progressing at the Quebec Titanium Ore Company's refining plant at Sorel, Que., where the ore mined in Ungava will be processed.

The Premier said it was expected the titanium mine would begin operations towards the end of this summer and that the refining plant would begin functioning towards the close of this year.

So far 50,000,000 tons of titanium iron ore have been proved in the north shore development.

The Premier also reviewed work done by the Rural Electrification Bureau and said an additional $600,000 had been put at its disposal, bringing the total to $15,000,000 since 1945.

The office is concerned with bringing electricity to Quebec's farm homes.

A total of 18,908 farm families had been provided with electricity since 1945, the Premier said.

Jack Reade Elected Captain of Lachute Golf & Country Club

At the members annual general meeting, Lachute Golf & Country Club, held in the Clubhouse on Friday evening, June 9th, the following slate of officers was elected for the 1950 season:

Captain — Jack Reade.

Asst. Captains — Dr. A. R. Coté, Mozart Carrière, Art Lapp, Robert Hamilton and Hugh Kerr.

The match committee will consist of the captain and his assistants.

Chairman, Entertainment Committee — Ralph FitzGerald.

Chairman, Publicity Committee — Ord Anderson.

Date of the Lachute Annual Open Tournament was announced for August 6 and the tournament committee met on Tuesday night, June 13 to start laying plans for this outstanding sporting event. It is hoped that one or two "name" golfers may be available for the tournament again this year but no contacts have been made yet.

It was suggested that players rate caddies on specially provided cards and that the match committee check these cards and allocate caddies to A. B. or C. as their rating indicates. A caddie's fee can then be based upon his rating. This plan is to be discussed at the next match committee meeting.

A member requested that consideration in the matter of green fees be given to member's guests and a plan is being considered whereby a member, bringing guests to play, will obtain a card from the manager's office for each of his guests and will present these cards at the pro shop registration desk in order to obtain reduced green fees. Members will be notified of further developments with regard to this plan.

The question of the wearing of shorts on the course was introduced by the ladies' and members were notified by the president that this was a problem for the ladies' committee and the men's committee to solve. It is assumed that this question will be discussed at future meetings of these committees and some definite decision taken. As it stands now, members are not permitted to wear shorts on the course, but visitors are, due to the fact that visitors, not knowing the ruling for members, may turn up at the clubhouse in shorts, ready to play.

The incoming captain, Jack Reade, got off to a stern start with some timely admonitions to members, concerning the etiquette of golf. Jack pointed out that Lachute now comes under the roster of big clubs with its membership climbing towards the five-hundred mark and it behooves all members to acquaint themselves with the rules and to observe them upon all occasions. Replacing divots, and smoothing sand in traps, waving others through, are only a few of the courtesies. The rules are legion and require careful study. And there are a few new ones this year.

Mr. Reade also discussed the handicap system, requested that all members turn in all eighteen-hole scores (but no nines, please!) and post their own handicaps, using the handicap chart.

The meeting closed with the showing of two excellent films, one covering the Canadian Open Golf Tournament at St. George's, Toronto last year, and the other depicting community and industrial life in Lachute.

Members are reminded that their qualifying rounds for Jones' Cup competition must be played by Monday night, June 19th. Only members in good standing are eligible and they must turn in their names to J. Archer or the match committee before playing their rounds.

Former Townsman Now Operating Tourist Camp

The editor of The Watchman has received a communication from Mr. Geo. L. Davis, former manager of North River Motors, who is now living near Belleville, Ont.

Mr. Davis, who was an active member of the Lachute Lions, and served as president, is now proprietor of a tourist settlement on R.R. 3, Belleville, operating under the name of Bay of Quinte Tourist Court.

He extends an invitation to his many friends of Lachute and vicinity to pay him a visit, and the settlement offers good swimming, boating and fishing, and all modern conveniences.

Paving Contract Signed by Lachute Town Council

The regular meeting of the Lachute Town Council was held in the Victoria Hall on Wednesday, June 7. The minutes were read and approved, and adjournment until the following Friday was approved.

Tenders for the paving of the streets were received from the Montpelier Construction Co. and from H. J. O'Connell. It was moved and carried that this contract be given to H. J. O'Connell, and the mayor and secretary were authorized to sign a contract to this effect, providing that permission is given by the Municipal Commission and the Minister of Municipal Affairs. Alderman Jos. Belanger dissented.

It was moved that a second drive-yourself permit be granted in the town of Lachute.

Building permits were issued to the following citizens: Bruno Belanger, Noe Patry, Jr., Albt. Mainville, John McFaul & Son, Elmer Leger and Rolland Lavigne. These permits will be under the supervision of the Roads Committee.

One tender was received for the repair of the town truck, which was from Lachute Auto Electric at $350. Four tenders were also received from the following car dealers for the trade-in of the International truck, they were as follows: Deacon Motor Sales Ltd., Ford ½-ton (898.62); Lachute Motor Sales, Chevrolet ½-ton and ¾-ton respectively ($990.42 and $1,212.80); Pollock and Graves, ½-ton Mercury ($915.12) and Wilson Motors Ltd., G.M.C. ½-ton truck ($1,221.96).

It was moved that Deacon Motor Sales Ltd. tender be accepted at $898.62, plus heavy-duty tires. Carried.

The following valuation committee were appointed, Messrs. Real Urbain, Harry Scott and J. Albini Lamarche, with Antonio Laurin as valuation clerk.

Building Booming In Community

The building industry in Lachute and vicinity is booming. Contractors, carpenters, plumbers, brick-layers and jobbers are in high demand. The Lachute High School is now resembling a completed job, though a few months of inside finishing is still needed. The new St. Viateur College between Grace Street and Bedard Blvd. has its large foundation laid, and this much needed scholastic building is a very ambitious enterprise, and will boast of an auditorium to hold a thousand people.

The MacKimmie Bottling Works is again extending, with a garage of 50 x 60 feet to house their growing fleet of trucks. Lamarche Furniture Store on Main Street with an adjoining restaurant has just been completed, and the new store of Chas. McFaul is in progress, while renovations to John McFaul & Son are also being made. The Two-B's Milk Bar is now open after considerable transition to the interior of the building.

On the Brownsburg Road, the Tourist Home of Jos. Raymond has had an attractive addition, being a snack-room and restaurant.

The Lachute Spring Fair had commandeered many of the building industry for last-minute improvements, and some private dwellings are momentarily at a stand-still.

Several building projects are on the go or in the "plan", stage of development at Mountain View region, and the east end of the town has its quota of building. The home of Dr. W. Hooper is nearing completion, and the homes of Messrs. Kingsbury and Fraser Morrison are now in progress. The latter residence is being constructed by Martin Neiderkorn, and it is his first building contract in the community, though his workmanship in interior finishing, etc., is renowned.

Fair-Time Warning!

Police Chief D. Villeneuve has issued a warning that citizens take all precautions during Fair Week, so that serious injuries will not be sustained during the busy week-end. He appeals for careful driving in the town and vigilence regarding personal belongings, such as cash or valuables, while at the grounds.

Several Grand Champions of Royal Winter Fair Are Contestants; Horse Show Great Attraction

The Lachute Spring Fair for 1950 is now officially open. Two distinguished Quebec citizens, the Hon. Mr. Beaulieu, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and the Hon. Mr. Barre, Minister of Agriculture, along with other guests, performed the "cutting of the tape" ceremony this afternoon, before a large crowd.

Important factor of good roads to the grounds has been on the minds of the directors for some considerable time, and these plans have now materialized, with excellent approaches to and from the Fair. A new road off the main highway is also in first-class shape, which will add considerably to the convenience of automobile drivers and other transport.

The main building and the numerous surrounding barns glisten in bright contrast to the green background, as they show their newly-painted or whitewashed coating. Over $4,000 has been spent on the huge grandstand, which shows notable improvements, including a reserved seat section, and enlarged box-seat arrangement.

Brass Band a Feature

A brass band is always popular with the city or rural folk, and this year, a fine contingent of Montreal bandsmen, under the direction of Angelo Fassio, of Lachute, will give the public a real musical treat. As a special advertising extra, this band will journey to sections of Lachute, Brownsburg, Hawkesbury and Grenville, showing a good-neighbor policy.

High Standard in Entrants

In the livestock classes of the Fair, a very high calibre of entrants have been received, in fact, several Grand Champions from the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, will be shown, and the directors feel that from a quality point of view, the 1950 addition of Lachute Spring Fair will be the finest ever. As usual, the best jumping and riding horses of the province will be on view.

Interesting Souvenir Program

The souvenir program published by the officials, is almost a necessity for serious-minded Fair enthusiasts. The classes, times, names and numbers are listed, so that easy following of the events is possible for the onlookers.

A historical description of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society is given in the program, and as a special feature, pictures of all the past-presidents of the Society since 1894 to 1950 are shown. The order of presidents in the long history of the Fair is as follows: Phineas Lane (1894-96); A. J. McGibbon, (1897-98), Geo. Morrison, (1899); Robert Watson, (1900-03); John Hay, (1904-10); W. J. Burke, (1911); Wm. Hay, (1912-15); D. Todd, (1916); Geo. Hay, (1917-19); John T. Ayers, (1920-30); Wm. H. Ayers, (1930-38); J. H. Black, (1939-1949) and the present officer, Gilbert Arnold.

The Race Track

Everybody goes to the races. Harness racing today is becoming one of the most popular and followed sports in Canada and the States, and the last three days at the Fair, (Thursday, Friday and Saturday), will give the public lots of thrills on the track. The County Race which is held this afternoon (Thursday) commands high interest of the crowd. This year the entrants to the County are as follows:

Peter B. Gratton, owner P. Millette, driver D. Millette.
Marc Guy, owner P. Joly, driver H. Joly.
Ethel Forbes, owner H. Joly, driver P. Joly.
Van Guy L., owner H. Joly, driver G. Joly.
Gratton B., owner and driver, L. St. Jacques.
Up Front, owner A. S. Ladouceur, driver B. Ladouceur.
Miss Senator Volo, owner and driver E. Kennedy.

Thrills Galore at Midway

Naturally no Fair is complete without the midway. This year the enterprising Danial Shows have been engaged, and there will be thrills and fun galore. Besides the usual ferris wheels, merry-go-rounds, hit-the-niggers and side shows, the motor cyclist in the tub will likely give several people high blood-pressure. The children will find plenty of things to amuse them over in the midway, and the Fair of 1950 will be a thing for them to remember.

Win a Pontiac

One of the highlights of Saturday afternoon will be the selection of the winner of the 1950 Pontiac sedan, which is being offered by the Lions of Lachute, and the Lachute and Brownsburg Legion. This campaign has been going on for several months, and the grand climax is due on the closing day of the Fair. Tickets will be available at the Fair grounds, and the revenue from this fund will be used for community betterment, and for the building funds of the legionnaires.

Experienced Caterer for Meals

Jock Maitland, of Brownsburg is the caterer for meals in the main dining room, and the public should be well satisfied with the fare they will receive, for Maitland's meals can vie with the best.

Colorful Corpus Christi Feast

The celebration of the Feast of Corpus Christi was climaxed by a candle-light procession along the streets of Brownsburg. Proceded by formations of ladies' societies, the Children of Mary in colorful costumes, headed the long line of worshippers wending their light-twinkling way along the traffic-cleared roadway. Brightly colored banners interspaced the column and designated the various orders and clubs. The members of which carried a lighted candle enclosed in a multi-colored shield, making a line of waving, glowing lights, as it moved along. The Sacred Host was carried under canopy by the Rev. Father Coursol, C.C. Prayers echoed along the line from the amplified pulpit occupied by Fr. Monseau, C.C. and the responses surged back from the marchers making a beautiful intonation of the office of the human voices.

The parish priest Rev. Fr. Bouchard marched with the general throng in soutane and surplus, surrounded by the acolytes attending the divine Host.

A beautiful wayside station with altar prettily decorated and lighted in tasteful arrangement of flowers and light was erected on the lawn of Mr. Aldege Carriere, where a stop was made and Solemn Benediction celebrated. The procession resumed its way along Main Street marshalled by Mr. A. Martineau and Mr. P. Paquette of the Knights of Columbus.

Street traffic was very efficiently controlled by six school brigadiers, Bernard Martineau, Hubert Nevue, Claude Le Page, Claude Clement, Robert Lepine and Claude Legault, under the direction of Police Chief Henri Foucreau, assisted by Traffic Officer A. Legault. It was a solemn occasion and an inspiring sight to people of all denominations who lined the side to see the procession pass, and a fitting justification of the action of Bishop Robert de Torote of Leige France who more than seven centuries ago organized the first such celebration of the Feast of Corpus Christi in his diocese, by carrying the Blessed Eucharist in outdoor procession.

Members of the Brownsburg Corporation, Councillors Denault, Lafleur, Lavoie, and Ouellette marched in a body representing the civic governing body.

Earlier in the afternoon, His Excellency Archbishop Vachon, Ottawa, solemnly consecrated the recently renovated Church of St. Louis de France, and the representation of Christ the King on the church lawn. His Lordship paid fitting tribute to Fr. Bouchard, whose devoted efforts was responsible for the beautiful church as it now stands.

Lachute Mills Resident Graduate of Textile School

The 2nd annual graduation exercises of the Quebec Textile School at St. Hyacinthe was held recently, and Mr. Jean-Paul Cordeau, of Lachute Mills, was one of 19 graduates. The course is of four-year's duration, and Mr. Cordeau was the recipient of a scholarship provided by Ayers Limited.

GIVE VETS A BREAK

This is the peak year for war veteran graduates. Industry, big industry, is usually pretty hard-boiled in picking employees, but they do owe these veterans more than the average run of students and they should act accordingly.

Don't Throw Stones

Ever since the human race had to depend on rocks and clubs as weapons of war and self defence there has been an almost irresistible urge in the heart of every male to try the accuracy of his throwing arm every time he sees a likely target. This is probably responsible for the fact that wearing a plug hat near schoolboys in snowball season is a dangerous occupation.

Unfortunately the urge to throw things can be expensive because it frequently results in damage. As a consequence most people learn to control these impulses before they advance too far in life.

Expensive

One type of target which attracts a lot of attention — particularly in the summer months when school is out — is the glass insulator on the poles of transmission lines. Schoolboys find it difficult to resist the urge to throw rocks at them. Unfortunately, this too is expensive. It costs money to replace them, in outlying districts, where work crews must travel many miles with equipment, the cost of replacing one insulator may run as high as $25.00. This is an operating expense which must be met by the companies and which adds to the cost of distributing electricity — and therefore tends to increase costs to customers.

Interrupts Service

There is, however, another unfortunate result from broken insulators. Very often it interrupts the flow of power over the lines. This can, and frequently does cause an interruption of service to customers. Such interruptions, coming at critical moments, can be most inconvenient to people who depend on electrical power to light their homes and run their appliances.

Perhaps if parents would point this out to their children the inconvenience and expense resulting from broken insulators could be decreased considerably. All of which would be in the interests of customers and company alike.

Did You Know?

That one broken insulator could stop all industrial production in several towns until it was replaced.

Tillage and Soil Structure

Ottawa — Tillage operations to improve soil structure are governed by existing soil conditions. If tillage operations are done when soil conditions are not ideal, then great care must be exercised in the choice of implement and its operation. Conditions of low or high percentage of soil moisture and the excessive disturbance of the soil by an implement because of design or high speed, are the main causes of the loss of good soil structure, says J. G. Kemp, Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask.

One of the reasons for cultivating the soil is to obtain a desirable soil structure, which may be defined in terms of the number of small or large aggregates in a given sample of soil. A soil is said to have good structure when it permits the rapid infiltration and satisfactory retention of rainfall; when it provides an adequate air capacity and exchange of soil air with the atmosphere; resists wind and water erosion and offers little resistance to root penetration.

The three main factors which determine the resulting soil structure after tilling the soil are soil moisture, method of soil manipulation and speed of operation. Of these, soil moisture has the greatest effect. The ideal percentage of soil moisture for tillage on most soils is just below the plastic or sticky stage, and good soil structure is formed or maintained if tilled at this stage.

The type of implement used determines the amount of soil movement during tillage. The best implement is one that will give the desired results without excessive disturbance of the soil. Greater pulverization in soil usually takes place in the summerfallow season, by increasing the number of operations and by using implements of the disc type which disturb or move the soil to a greater extent.

Speed of operation of the implement used definitely affects the structure of the soil after it is worked. For most tillage implements the disturbance of the soil is greatly increased if the speed of operation is high. However, when the soil has the optimum moisture content for tillage, the speed of operation has not such a pronounced effect on the soil structure formation: It is when the soil becomes too dry or too wet that severe damage will result to soil structure because of high speeds.

Giant Sports in Apples

Giant apple sports are proving useful as a source of breeding material and anyone having knowledge of such trees is asked to communicate with the Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. If a branch or a tree is found that appears to answer the description of a giant sport, it should be clearly marked and a sample of the fruit sent to Ottawa for examination, together with the tips of rapidly growing shoots for microscopic study, says D. A. W. S. Hunter.

Sometimes a whole tree is made up of "giant" tissue but often only a single limb bears apples that are larger than the rest. These giants are most readily spotted at harvest time, but a careful grower who keeps his trees under continuous observation may locate one at any time of the year. The peculiar spreading growth habit may locate at any time of the year. The peculiar spreading growth habit may draw attention to the tree even when the leaves are off.

The origin of these giant sports are due to an accidental doubling of the chromosome number, producing what is known as a tetraploid, a rearranging of heredity components which happens fairly frequently in plants. In the apple, doubling the number of chromosomes usually causes a marked increase in fruit size, sometimes accompanied by a flattening in the shape of the apple. Giant sports have already been reported in such varieties as McIntosh, Northern Spy, Ontario, Jonathan, Rome Beauty and Wealthy, and may in some cases give reduced yields. They may not be useful in themselves, but it is anticipated that some at least may be useful for breeding.

In some of these tissues from which the germ cells are formed is tetraploid and the plant then performs as a tetraploid, or giant sport in breeding. In others again, this tissue is normal and the tree, although it is a giant, behaves normally in breeding. The final determination, therefore, will require the microscopic study of the tips of rapidly growing shoots, so these as well as the fruit, should be sent in to the Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Want a University Education ?

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has issued figures relative to the cost of a university education in Canada. They claim that the average cost per year is $1,125 for a boy or girl to attend a university, and though the student may help out with summertime jobs, the average income from this source is from $150 to $250.

Though our universities seem to be overcrowded with students at the moment, it also means that someone is making a supreme sacrifice in order that qualified students may enter college. Some families are possibly able to finance one son or daughter at the higher seat of learning. . . but what is the outlook for those who have several children who are capable of advanced study?

New Zealand and some of the Slavic governments have free education from the primary to college. Naturally, students have to have the ability for learning to qualify for this scholarship. In Canada today, a strong move is underway for the Federal Government to help with education, particularly in universities.

In most provinces today, except Quebec, there is free schooling. We in this province had it for a short time, but the powers that be decided to take a backward step in education. Therefore, the average Canadian may have the minimum of education; he may qualify for a few of the scholarships that are offered by universities; but there is still the majority of students who need help.

Unless we are able to develop all of the best brains we have in Canada, we are going to be a second-rate country. There is greater need of doctors, scientists and experts today than ever before. . . We hope that new horizons will arise in the higher learning field, so that all qualified students will have the opportunity to enter college without financial difficulty.

Lachute Corp'n Garbage Disposal

We have been informed by good authority that the present dumping ground of Lachute Town Corporation has been condemned for some time by the health department of Quebec. With the town developing in every section, the population increasing steadily, and building projects at a possibly all-time high, the capacity of the garbage disposal grounds has certainly outgrown its use.

With the development of the Brownsburg Road region, the Cottingham Blvd. settlement, and Chatham Street, the population of these districts are subject to very unpleasant and unsanitary conditions due to the proximity of the "dump". A petition from these residents to the Quebec health authorities could bring the necessary results, but this should not be required if the mayor and council of Lachute town would give this problem their serious thought.

The cost of building an incinerator is prohibitive for a small town . . though if Lachute and Brownsburg could build a joint unit, with the help of the Provincial Government, this would be the most logical solution to this problem. It is hoped that the council will soon act upon this extremely unpleasant, though important matter.

Danish "Junk" Playground Experiment

Playgrounds for children have taken on added significance in the last two decades. Crowded living conditions, working mothers, traffic hazards and child psychology have all combined to emphasize their importance and usefulness.

Nursery schools, supervised summer playgrounds, hobby classes, and community centre activity take care of varying age groups and put into practice the theories of group activities as preparation for fully-rounded adult life.

But there is the feeling, shared often by children, parents and instructors, that too much is ready-made for children, and not much left for them to take into their own hands and create. Many playgrounds leave little scope for imaginative play.

From Copenhagen comes news of a practical experiment in a junk playground. In 1943 a grass site of 7,000 square yards surrounded by a six-foot earthern bank planted with a hedge was set aside in the Danish capital. There children created their own form of playground using old building and discarded material.

Operated in conjunction with a housing association, the playground is open seven months a year. Some 200 children play daily in an area where everything which might remind them of authority is excluded. A club leader has charge of the playground and assists the children when they need help.

With soil and materials the children build caves, houses and fireplaces. The only restriction is that once projects are abandoned, they are removed. A workshop for rainy days, constructed by the children, and toys, games, puzzles and imaginative play material provide means for progression in play. Experts have found that youngsters drift away if there is no opportunity for acquiring new skills.

Children love the junk playground where there is neither direct education nor compulsion and where they talk to the playmates and to the supervisor, freely and easily. Significantly boys retain an interest in the playground right up to adolescence and with their help it is possible to carry out big jobs of a collective character.

Most Canadian municipalities have pieces of publicly-owned land that could easily be converted into junk playgrounds. Results of the Danish experiment indicate that they fill a basic need in children's lives.

"A WHALE OF A JUMP"

The whale is the largest aquatic mammal but, according to information reaching the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations, it can leap higher than any other animal. Whales have been known to jump as high as twenty feet in the air.

DEATH TO MOSQUITOES

The Dragon Fly is said to be one of the swiftest fliers in the insect kingdom. It is also a friend of the fisherman and vacationist, reports the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations, since it is particularly fond of eating mosquitoes.

Chartered Banks Accounts Highest in History

Montreal, June 15 — More Canadians have more money in the chartered banks than ever before, and the average account is higher, it was stated today by J. U. Boyer, president of The Canadian Bankers' Association.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Association, Mr. Boyer detailed the growth of banking in recent years, particularly the growth of deposits and loans, and coupled with it a suggestion to Canadians to invest in the profitable development of the abundant resources and rich opportunities of Canada, and thus contribute to the national enrichment in the way of jobs and production.

"By stimulating among Canadians generally a lively consciousness of the opportunities for their own enrichment in which their own country abounds — and of the job-creating importance of venture and investment — thinking men", said Mr. Boyer, "can make a really effective contribution toward the permanency of employment and prosperity so much to be desired."

In a review of banking highlights, Mr. Boyer said that at March 31, 1950, the public had $6,971 million in nearly 8,000,000 deposit accounts. This was an increase of $426 million in a year, or 6½ per cent. Savings were up $308 million and current accounts, $118 million. The number of accounts increased 365,000 between September 30, 1948 and September 30. 1949 and the average deposit was $873 compared to $828 in 1945. In savings alone, the average account moved up from $532 in 1945 to $637 in 1949.

Total deposits in the chartered banks reached a record at March 31 — $8,307 million, a gain of 5½ per cent in a year. Bank assets, the counterpart to deposits, also set a record, $8,883 million, an increase of $412 million or nearly five per cent over March 31, 1949. Current loans in Canada, an index of business activity, stood at $2,218 million at March 31, up $192 million in the year and more than double the corresponding figure for 1940. Debits to individual accounts, an indication of the high level of business, reached $28,460 million in the first four months of the year, compared to $27,040 million in the same period of 1949.

Chartered bank investments in securities of all kinds were $4,453 million — up $168 million over the same date last year and representing 50 per cent of total assets.

The number of bank shareholders is on the increase, Mr. Boyer noted, going up from 50,000 before to war to 60,000 today. Dividends paid in 1949 averaged $252 per shareholder. For every dollar paid in dividends in 1949, the banks paid $6.30 in salaries and wages, 73 cents in contributions to staff pension funds, $3.64 in interest to depositors and $1.43 in taxes, including municipal.

Referring to job-creating investment opportunities in Canada, Mr. Boyer gave as an illustration the $150,000,000 in venture capital being spent by 240 companies in oil development in western Canada, particularly Alberta, this year. Much of this risk money came from outside Canada and in its wake flowed jobs, people, new industries and the expansion of old industries. There will be $125,000,000 in new buildings in Alberta this year, as a direct result of the oil development — stores, houses, churches, schools, all making jobs and production.

"In the new discoveries of oil in western Canada", Mr. Boyer continued, "the mineral finds of Chibougamau, the iron and titanium of Quebec and Labrador, in the uranium of the great northwest, the gold and copper and other minerals of northern Ontario and Quebec, British Columbia and Newfoundland and also in the farms of the prairies, the forests and fisheries elsewhere in Canada are opportunities almost fabulous.

KEEP TOWNS CLEAN

A drab, unkemp, down-at-the-heels town is soon forgotten, is given a speedy go-by by the tourists. The tourist notices the little things like well-kept flower beds, clean streets and painted homes, and is likely to remain for a time in the community where these features are observed. And when he remains it means dollars to the cafes and other business firms.

— Salmon Arm (B.C.) Observer

WATCH TRAFFIC HABITS

It is clearly time that drivers and pedestrians took stock of their driving and walking habits; time they realized that to forget even for a moment about care and courtesy is an invitation to accident. Only thus will it be possible to reduce the alarming toll which takes, altogether unnecessarily, far too many lives.

Argenteuil Softball League

All six teams saw action on Sunday, the weather being favorable, and a fair crowd of spectators turned out at all games.

At Brownsburg, the high flying Malacket Spiders won their fourth straight game. The Tigers were the victims this time, losing 24-4; the Spiders pitching staff is the best in the League.

In Upper Lachute, at the White Rose field, Bluebirds, of Lachute, gave White Rose their second defeat by trouncing them 20-9. The White Rose Team couldn't seem to get going, while the Bluebirds took every advantage to out-play White Rose.

At Lachute, Boyd's Express lost their third game and their second to the Beavers of Lachute, in a well-played game. Boyd's seem to have the game under control, as they lead 7-0 after five innings of play, but the Beavers never gave in and came back to tie the game by the eighth inning. Both teams scored twice in the ninth inning to make it 9-9, and an extra inning had to be played to decide the winning team, with the Beavers coming through with a run to make the final score, Beavers 10 and Boyd's 9.

Following is the schedule for next Sunday, June 18, Boyd's Express vs. Bluebirds at Wilson's Field in Lachute; the Malacket Spiders play at White Rose in Upper Lachute; while the Beavers meet Tigers at Moore's Playing Field in Upper Lachute. All games start at 2.00 p.m.

Following is the team standing to date:

	P	W	L	Pts
Malacket Spiders	4	4	0	8
Beavers	4	2	2	4
White Rose	4	2	2	4
Bluebirds	4	2	2	4
Boyds Express	4	1	3	2
Tigers	4	1	3	2

This is the Spirit!

Two wars have robbed W. T. Curtis-Willson of his sight and his only son — recently he was in Quebec as a leading figure in the seventh Imperial press conference.

Mr. Curtis-Willson is owner of the Brighton Herald. After landing from a transatlantic liner he explained in an interview how two wars cost him his sight and his pilot son, but had not diminished his interest in better world press relations.

He is president of the association of the British provincial newspapers known as the Newspaper Society. He told his story while he expertly played bridge with three sighted players.

In the First World War he was an artillery officer. A wound robbed him of his left eyesight. His right eye was left weak. In the Second World War he joined early as a Royal Air Force administration officer and shock occasioned during the British retreat from France was such that he became completely blind by 1943.

As a newspaper owner — his publication dates from 1806 and has been in the family since that time — he could have retired, but he started to build a new plant for his only son, Capt. Clifford Curtis-Willson.

The next blow came eight weeks before the end of the war when he was told his only son had been shot down. This stopped plans for expansion of his plant, but did nothing to dim Mr. Curtis-Willson's ardour for living.

Today, blind as he is, he still writes all the lead articles in his newspaper and travels the world to further his hobby. That is letting interested people know just how much a blind man can do. Then there is his work in furthering international press relations.

Before returning to Brighton he will visit the United States to take over his duties as vice-president of the International Federation of the Press — a world-wide newspaper organization.

Blindness? This is what he says: "It's simply the loss of one faculty which forces you to develop the other faculties you may possess."

Summer Hazards

In the first of a series of articles on swimming and life saving, the Province of Quebec Safety League gives the following recommendations:

Keep calm and think clearly when in a dangerous situation.

Know the weather conditions that make it unsafe to go out in a small boat.

If uncertain about the weather, follow the advice of a competent judge of the weather. When it is necessary to go out in a fog, carry a compass.

When in a small boat, stay away from strong currents, high waves, and a strong undertow.

Make sure that the boat is in good condition before starting out.

Do not overload the boat.

If you cannot swim, stay out of small boats.

If a rowboat, canoe, or sailboat capsizes, hold on to it, for it makes a good life preserver. Paddles, oars, and cushions filled with air are also good life preservers.

When riding in a small boat do not move about or change seats.

Children should get permission before going out in a small boat.

Do not accept foolhardy dares.

Keep your weight low and centered in a canoe to prevent its capsizing.

Make certain that conditions are safe before going swimming. Know about such things as tides, currents, undertows, and whether there are holes, rocks, submerged trees, etc.

If you have a bad heart, fainting spells, and the like, do not attempt to swim.

Overcome unjustified fear of the water.

To enjoy swimming safely one should develop skill in the water and good judgment.

Two British Nurses "Sold" on Victoria

Glasgow, Scotland (CP)—Maureen Richardson, a Scottish nurse working in Canada, is sold on Victoria, B.C.

In a two-colunm article contributed to the Glasgow Herald, nurse Maureen told how she and an English friend were smothered in hospitality after taking up appointments in Victoria.

First they found "the apartment of our dreams" through a kindly stranger. They later received a letter of welcome from Mayor Percy George and were given gift parcels by a organization which welcomes newcomers to the coast city.

Such hospitality to "hard-up hospital folk", nurse Richardson said, "makes us feel at home in a widening circle of friends and good neighbors".

Here's what a kitchen in Morris, Manitoba, looked like after the Red River had done its worst. The warped cupboards, peeling paint, damaged kitchen utensils and almost unlimited quantities of mud and dirt, are illustrative of the damage done to F. Recksiedler's entire home. Replacement of furniture, clothing, and personal effects is the responsibility of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. Contributions may be mailed directly to the Fund in Winnipeg, or paid into any bank in Canada.

Closing Date For Ottawa Exhibition

Closing dates for entries in the various departments of the Central Canada Exhibition to be held at Ottawa's Lansdowne Park, August 21 to 26, have been announced by H. H. McElroy, C.C.E.A. General Manager.

For horses, cattle, horse show, sheep, swine and poultry divisions, entries must be in by July 31.

In the case of the handicraft, hobby show and women's institutes, the closing date is also July 31.

With junior agriculture, agricultural and horticultural products, dairy and other food products, and highland dancing, the entries must be sent in by August 7.

$40,000 prize money is being offered this year and entry forms and prize lists are being mailed from the C.C.E.A. offices at Lansdowne Park. In all departments, entries close at 9 p.m., D.S.T., on the dates specified.

The increased and improved accommodation provided in the new livestock wing of the Coliseum at the fair grounds this year enables the C.C.E.A. to establish many more classes in all livestock divisions.

Some 60 classes alone will be staged in the highly-regarded Horse Show which will be held nightly, Monday to Friday of Exhibition week. An excellent range of prizes has been planned and, as usual, special classes will feature each evening's performance.

Provision has been made for harness horses, roadsters, ponies, jumpers, saddle horses, etc.

The cattle show will cater to Shorthorns, Herefords, Aberdeen-Angus, Holsteins, Jerseys, Ayrshires and Guernseys. In all, over 200 classes are scheduled in the cattle division.

Keen competition is expected in the sheep section which lists classes for Shropshires, Oxford Downs, Southdowns, Leicesters, Hampshires, Suffolks and Cheviots.

An expanded swine show is anticipated with entries to be placed in the Yorkshire, Tamworth and Berkshire groups. A special class will be held for export bacon hogs.

The Poultry Show at the Ottawa Exhibition has long ranked as the premier event of its kind in Eastern Ontario and Quebec and this year should prove no exception. There will be the usual heavy quota of classes and ample accommodation is available in the poultry wing of the Coliseum.

The junior agriculture section, long a particular enthusiasm of C.C.E.A. General Manager, H. H. McElroy, will receive additional impetus this year with provision of new quarters for the junior farmers attending Exhibition Week. Judging competitions and exhibits will again take a prominent place in this department.

No Ottawa exhibition would be complete without the displays of agricultural, horticultural, dairy and other food products and assurance is given by the C.C.E.A. Directors that full prominence will be given this portion of the Fair.

No less popular features are the displays by the Women's Institutes, the handicraft and hobby shows and the Highland dancing. As with other departments, these classifications are expected to be "bigger and better" at this summer's exhibition.

In Canada last year 351,135 babies were born.

Avoid Nervous Breakdown

The number of persons suffering from nervous disorders is steadily increasing. Modern living seems greatly responsible for this increase by multiplying the sources of conflict for the individual, says the National Health Association. The great majority of nervous troubles can be avoided or treated rather easily if people understand what causes them and if they cooperate with the doctor.

One usually finds at the course of a nervous depression, also known as neurosis, an emotional unsolved conflict which keeps bothering one, very often unconsciously. These conflicts are numerous but it is not the conflict itself so much as it is the inability to solve it that sometimes leads to a nervous collapse. This inability is often associated with lack of self-confidence; it is therefore important to seek the aid of a parent, a friend, or the family doctor in solving our most difficult conflicts.

Very often people suffering from a neurosis are afraid of becoming insane. They should not—a neurosis never leads to insanity (psychosis); these two conditions are definitely distinct and different. The neurotic patient realizes his condition while the insane does not. The final stage of a chronic neurosis is termed "a nervous breakdown", a state of complete nervous collapse which is curable. Thousands of people have completely recuperated from such breakdowns. In an effort to help prevent nervous breakdowns, the National Health Association quotes the principal rules given by Dr. Louis E. Bisch in the review, "Your Health". In a condensed form they are as follows: —

1. Do not repress your emotions. Let them out.
2. Remove all feeling of guilt that you may have.
3. Do not punish yourself needlessly.
4. Reduce over-sensitiveness by getting tough.
5. Add variety to your life. Try to change your daily routine in some way.
6. Take exercise — in the open air if possible. It helps to take your mind off yourself.
7. Be sure to get at least eight hours sleep every night — nine if possible.
8. Conserve your energy; don't waste it in useless discussion and wishful thinking. Play hard and work hard.

Summer Under Sail Yields Broadcasts

Vancouver (CP) — As certain as spring, the yawl "Westwind" heads from port yearly with its three-member crew for another summer of sailing and drifting along British Columbia's coast.

The three crew members — Mr. and Mrs. Will Dawson and their sturdy cat Skippy — already are out for their usual summer pastime of doing nothing much in particular and enjoying it.

From the scores of gulf islands dotting Georgia Strait, up the east coast of Vancouver Island and the mainland coast deeply indented with fiords and bays, the "Westwind" picks and pokes its way all summer. It travels from 2,000 to 5,000 miles.

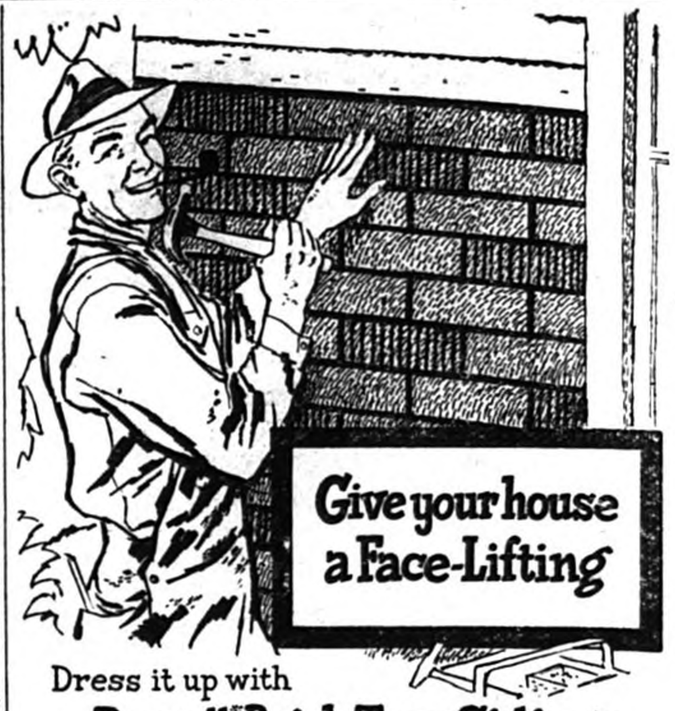

The 32-foot craft can stock three months' food, but the Dawsons, who work for the CBC in the winter time with broadcasts based on their meanderings, usually make calls every few days.

They spend their winters aboard the craft in harbor here.

"You coudn't hope to meet more sincere, friendly people", says skipper Dawson.

On the longer stretches they have their radio for company.

Gravenhurst Piano Said World's Best

Gravenhurst, Ont. (CP) — This town is known to tourists as the gateway to the Muskoka Lakes, one of Ontario's most beautiful summer resorts. To a much smaller group — Canadian music lovers — it is known because of its ownership of a grand piano, said by a noted musician to be "the finest in the world".

Custom-built and community-owned, the piano is valued at $7,400 and it was Reginald Godden, famous pianist and head of the Hamilton Conservatory of Music, who called it the world's finest.

For three years the Gravenhurst Rotary Club imported a piano from Toronto for its town hall concerts for professional Canadian talent at $100 a trip.

"Until we bought our piano we paid $300 a year for pianos that went back to Toronto the next day", said Gerry Simmons, Rotary Club organizer. "We figure to pay for the new piano in instalments of $500 a year. It will be available to anyone in town.

"With this piano we could invite Jose Iturbe to perform in our town."

The grand is nine feet long with a sounding board that would baffle the non-musician. There are only four others like it in Canada. Although it is valued at $7,400, the Rotary Club paid $3,500 for it. The purchase was made through the sale of a Whitby, Ont. estate.

Change in World's Eating Habits

Washington — Many more of the world's people live on rice than on corn or wheat, but a dramatic change is taking place in the menus of many of the rice-eaters.

This was disclosed here recently in statistics gathered by the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations (FAO), which reports that some Far Eastern countries are importing such large quantities of wheat and other cereals from the western Hemisphere that their traditionally rice-eating populations, especially those living in urban areas, are learning new eating habits.

How big a change in eating habits stems from wheat imports were shown in FAO's latest Commodity Report on Rice. The FAO Report shows that before the war, some countries of the Far East imported more than 6,000,000 tons of rice compared to less than 1,000,000 of other cereals. But last year the situation was reversed. Nearly 7,000,000 tons of wheat and coarse grain were imported as against only 2,800,000 tons of rice.

The main reason for this post-war shift, the report adds, is the relatively high cost of rice.

Other significant developments reported by FAO:

The U.S.A. harvested a record rice crop in the current year (1949-50), the estimated production being 90 percent above pre-war.

There have also been sizeable production increases in Mexico and other Latin American countries. Rice production in the Western Hemisphere as a whole may well reach this year a record total exceeding the pre-war average by more than 100 percent.

Burma, ordinarily the largest surplus-producing country in the world, yielded first place to Thailand, which in 1949, for the first time, became the world's largest rice exporter.

India continued in first place as the largest importer and Pakistan, which had in previous years exported considerable quantities to India, was itself a rice importer last year.

Outside Asia and the Far East, Cuba continued to be the largest importer of rice, almost all of its supplies coming from the U.S.A. under a reciprocal trade agreement.

Monkey Business No Joking Matter

Washington — Although the expression "monkey business" is now part and parcel of the English language, very few people understand what the term means better than staff members of the Pan American Sanitary Bureau (PASB) here. PASB is the regional American office of the United Nations World Health Organization (WHO).

Not long ago, the Cuban Minister of Health developed plans to establish a colony of breeding monkeys for laboratory use on a small island near the Isle of Pines, off the southern coast of Cuba. PASB was called upon to assist in obtaining 200 Javanese monkeys, one-fourth of which had to be males.

A PASB supply officer got in touch with a dealer in New York and arranged for him to get the 200 monkeys and ship them by air to Havana and the Isle of Pines via Miami. In spite of air freight regulations which strictly forbid the shipment of monkeys on aircraft, an exception was made in view of the scientific purpose for which this load was destined.

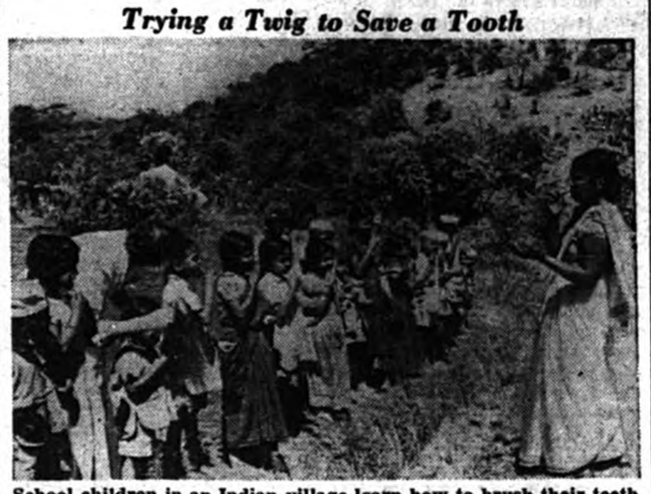

Everything proceeded according to plan until the plane landed at the Miami International Airport. Then, much to the consternation of the crew, the monkeys broke loose while being transferred to another plane.

The plane was delayed while all but one of the 200 monkeys were rounded-up and returned to their cages. The fugitive clambered into the landing gear and stayed there out of reach as the plane took off for Havana. Upon reaching the Cuban capital, the missing monkey scrambled down out of the landing gear, none the worse for his rough trip, and thus was safely delivered to the Cuban Ministry of Health, to be flown to the Isle of Pines.

In its original request to the Bureau for these monkeys, the Cuban health authorities had specified that they wished to obtain only "virgin" monkeys. This filled the PASB supply officer with amazement, until he learned that it meant merely that the monkeys must never previously have been used experimentally in laboratories.

Their teachers are public health specialists attached to a malaria control team sent to India under a joint program of the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) and the World Health Organization. Yugolsav Peasants Going Slowly with Gov'mt Plan

Peasants Going Slow, Quotas Unfilled, Food Shortages Seen

By Ronald Preston

Belgrade (Reuters) — Private peasants, still the great majority in Communist-run Yugoslavia, are going slow on the government's spring sowing plan, according to "Borba", the official organ of the Yugoslav Communist party.

The newspaper even accuses some of them of trying to sabotage the plan. Unless something is done immediately, it adds, the plan will be in jeopardy.

It demanded that a strong line be taken with "speculators and saboteurs" who attempt to hold up the sowing by making excuses about the coldness of the weather or lack of seed or by entering false figures.

Under the law, a peasant is liable to a large fine or three months' imprisonment for failing to sow required areas or giving false information.

Figures quoted in "Borba" show that state farms have fulfilled their sowing plan by 74 per cent; co-operative farms, in which the peasants own and till their land in common, by 90 per cent; and private peasants by 53 per cent.

The paper indicates that the position is the more serious since private peasants are responsible for sowing 82 per cent of the total arable land surface in the country.

Although "Borba" does not mention the possibility of a food crisis in Yugoslavia if the sowing plan is not fulfilled, observers here recall Marshall Tito's warning, in his speech before the national assembly at the end of April, that something of the sort might occur if food supplies were not increased this year.

Population Increasing

"An exceptionally important task is the improvement of our agriculture", he told the assembly. "If this is not done immediately and most energetically we shall in the coming year find ourselves in considerable difficulties with regard to feeding our constantly-increasing population.

The urban population in Yugoslavia has increased by about 900,000 since the end of the war as a result of industrialization under the five-year plan. Food shortages on any large scale would, western observers consider, do more harm to Marshall Tito's regime, always under pressure from the Cominform, than almost any other single adverse factor.

Some informed western observers say that it is not so much the irregularities as the whole policy of the government of socializing agriculture which is so unpopular among this highly individualistic Balkan peasantry.

The government gives preferential treatment to state farms and co-operatives and penalizes the individual landowner, especially if he is a "rich peasant" with more than 15 hestares (about 37 acres) of land, by onerous taxation and other forms of pressure.

According to "Borba" larger surfaces have been sown this year than at the same time last year; but this year's plan is larger by 870,000 hectares. (Last year 6,800,000 hectares were sown).

It is "the duty of peasant work co-operatives, state farms and machine stations to help organize the fulfilment of the plan, regardless of how individual speculators are behaving towards co-operatives and their help".

London Taxi in Toronto ?

Mr. Crane Williams of the Austin (Canada) Company has an important call to make when the C:I.T.F. closes this week. If it is successful, the familiar square taxis of London, England may soon be seen on Toronto's streets.

Mr. Williams is planning to call on the Ontario Licensing authorities to seek approval of his firm's $2,750 taxi, now available for Canada. It has already been approved by the New York authorities and a large number are darting around the city's busy streets at a thrifty 30 miles to the gallon.

Apart from the usual keen economy of operating costs the Austin taxi features a giant-size baggage alcove next the driver, capable of swallowing up a passenger's wardrobe trunk. Additional baggage room is provided inside and in back of this 5-seater comfortable vehicle.

The Austin Company are also showing for the first time in Canada their wide range of commercial vehicles. With their gay two-color bodywork each carrying its c.i.f. Toronto price, these vehicles are exciting wide interest at the Fair. They range from the 5-ton heavy duty "Lodestar" down to the ½-ton pick-up.

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

Carrying out a good idea will not necessarily add beauty to the appearance of your property. The result depends entirely upon the use made of the idea. This fact was clearly driven home to me on a recent trip. I have seen old wheels used to good advantage about a home but this particular fellow had gone overboard. Buggy wheels had been buried hub deep and used for a fence on three sides of the property. Two heavier ones formed a gate; another reclined on the top of the grape arbour—and so on. On the other hand, there is nothing quite as rustic and pleasing as an old wheel when it is properly blended into the landscape.

Binder Wheels

Home on the farm my mother used a large drive wheel from the old binder as a flower bed. After it had completed its service in the grain field, the hub and spokes were knocked out. The steel rim held the rich earth added to make an attractive bed for the petunias. The same type of wheel can be used to make a small garden pool.

Roll Out The Barrel

Yesterday was spent visiting a good friend who is an ardent gardener. I found him spraying his rambler roses so we retired to the shaded terrace for a friendly discussion of the new garden sprays coming on the market. I was so intrigued by the barrel chairs he had recently made that insects and insecticides slipped completely from my mind. They were easily constructed and the idea is passed along to you.

Rose Canes

Just before leaving we did get back to the subject of roses and I discovered how he made such a neat job of fastening up the canes of his climbers. Fairly heavy pieces of wire (about eight inches long) were bent into the shape of large staples. The ends of the staple prongs were then bent downward, forming a hook. The staple portion was slipped around the cane and then the two hooks caught over a slat in his lattice fence—so simple, but effective. Never more will there be difficulty in lowering my canes for winter protection.

ONE OF A SERIES PRESENTED BY Molson's AT A PUBLIC SERVICE

THE VOICE OF EVENTIDE is that of E. Y. Young, radio actor who is heard in numerous dramatic productions originating in the CBC's Vancouver studios. Every Thursday night for seven years, at 10.30 on the CBC Trans-Canada network his sensitive interpretations of extracts from the rich heritage of Christian literature have — to quote Vancouver radio columnist Dick Diespecker — "brought him wider fame and won him more sincere friends than anyone else in Vancouver radio". Mr. Diespecker goes on to say: "It is on broadcasts like Eventide, where the reading of poetry or long stretches of narration can make or break the program, that E. V. Young shines. His perfect English, his mastery of emphasis and timing and his truly golden voice have made his program outstanding and brought comfort and peace to many thousands of listeners". Thursday, June 15th, Mr. Young's theme will be The Peace of God. He will read extracts from the works of Frances Ridley Havergal, Henrik Hein, Grace Rhys, and Katherine Tynan. The program regularly includes music by Sydney Kelland at the organ and a sixteen-voice chorus directed by Dalton Baker. The scripts are prepared by John Wickham Barnes, of the Ryerson Institute of Technology in Toronto.

"This Beautiful Earth, in God's Purpose."

Our kind, loving Creator of the heavens and the earth, whose name alone is Jehovah (Psalms 83:18). . . In His book, the Bible, He says "The heaven is My throne, and the earth is My footstool; I will make the place of My feet Glorious. (Isaiah 66:1, 60:13.)

LITERAL EARTH TO ABIDE AND BE INHABITED FOREVER

Gen. 1:1: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth".
Isa. 45: 18: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heaven; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited".
Eccl. 1:4: "One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever".
Ps. 37: 11, 29; Matt. 5:5: "The meek shall inherit the earth: and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace. The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever".
Ps. 78:69: "He built his sanctuary like high palaces, like the earth which he hath established for ever".
Ps. 115: 16: "The heaven, even the heaven, are the Lord's: but the earth hath he given to the children of men".
Ps. 119: 90: "Thou hast established the earth, and it abideth".
Prov. 2: 21, 22: "The upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it. But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it".
Prov. 10: 30: "The righteous shall never be removed".
See also: Ps. 104: 5; Isa. 60: 21.

THE SEARCH FOR PEACE

Peace is as sure as Tomorrows sunrise, and just as independent of man. Unto us a son is born, unto us a son is given, and the governments shall be upon His shoulders. Of His government and peace there shall be no end. Isaiah 9-67. Daniel 2-44.

"I DELIGHT TO DO THY WILL, O MY GOD; YEA, THY LAW IS WITHIN MY HEART."
— Psalm 40:8, Am. Stan. Ver.

It was a delight to the psalmist David to know what God's will was and then to do it. To know what to do he gave careful consideration to God's law and filled his heart with it. As a result, David is spoken of in the Scriptures as "a man after God's own heart". Would you not like to have a place in God's memory too? Could any creature ask for a greater honor? Little wonder that David expressed delight! If this is your desire, begin now to fill your mind and heart with God's written Word, the Bible. The Watchtower edition of the American Standard Version, from which the above verse is quoted, may be had for only $1.50. Send for your copy today. — 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto, Ont.

James Clark Passes After Brief Illness

The entire community were greatly shocked and saddened by the sudden death of a well-known and respected farmer, Jas. Clark, who passed away after only two days illness on Sunday, June 4, at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal.

Born at Mount Maple, son of the late John Clark and Isabel McAllister, he spent some time in his early years working in the State of Michigan, U.S.A., after which he was married to Jennie Thompson, worked for five years as an employee for the Dominion Cartridge Co., Brownsburg. Taking up farming in Mabel for a number of years, he later moved to Lachute, where he spent the rest of his life. He always took a keen interest in the improvement and development of his farm and home.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Thelma, two sons, Irwin and Kenneth and seven grandchildren.

Many beautiful floral tributes and expressions of sympathy bore silent testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Nephews and acquaintances who acted as pall-bearers were, James Clark, James Thompson, Lester Thompson, Douglas Clark, Stanley Thompson and James King.

Funeral was held from his late residence on Wednesday, June 7, 2.30 p.m., conducted by Rev. Chas. Maclean, hence to the Lachute Cemetery.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

The 25th Anniversary of the United Church of Canada was suitably observed at the Brownsburg United Church both on Sunday and Monday last.

A specially prepared Order of Service was used at the Sunday morning hour, in which the congregation heartily joined, followed by a reception of new members and the celebration of Holy Communion. The Sunday School had, at the previous hour, 10 a.m., held an open session, and also participated in the observance of the Anniversary, with prepared features taken by various individuals and groups.

A message of greeting was brought by Ronnie Elliott, while Miss Winnifred White, teacher, told the story of "The Church's Birthday". Joan Goldthorpe gave the Missionary "Silver Jubilee" story.

The crowning feature of the session was the interpretation of the United Church of Canada Seal, drawn on the black board by Beverley Bain, and explained by Beverley and Doreen Ball, directed by Mrs. Elliott. Three former superintendents were present, Mr. Geo. Beckingham, of Kingston, Ont., who spoke briefly to the school, Mr. T. J. Anderson, who presented the Banner to Miss Alfreda Zimmer's Class for the current month, having gained the highest percentage in attendance, and Mr. C. J. Wheeler closed the session. During the church service, the choir rendered two special anthems as well as leading in the reciting of the Te Deum Laudamus. The Altar was adorned with a silver basket containing 25 beautiful red roses, placed by both the senior and junior Woman's Associations. The Minister, the Rev. S. J. Pike, conducted the service.

On Monday evening a Silver Supper was served by the Woman's Associations and the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary in the church hall at which the Rev. C. R. Lang, L.Th., Rector of St. George's Anglican Church, brought greetings. A four layer anniversary cake was on display in which everyone shared after supper. The interpretation of the Church's Seal was again demonstrated. A meeting of the Official Board was held following the supper, when, with other business, Mr. Geo. Bourne, representative to the Annual Conference, which met in Montreal last week, gave a very interesting account of Conference proceedings. The Secretary of the Board, Mr. T. J. Anderson, also read the minutes of the first meeting, following the consummation of Union in Brownsburg.

NEED HOME MARKET

The return of other nations to pre-war production has brought home to us more forcibly than ever, that a nation must have a large home market, using a high percentage of goods produced, before it can hope to compete for world trade. We are therefore where we started, a highly skilled country with too few Canadian users of the things we wish to sell.

Quebec W.I. Convention At Macdonald College

The 36th Annual Provincial Convention of the Quebec Women's Institutes will be held June 27-29, at Macdonald College. "Good Neighbors — Good Citizens", has been chosen for the theme this year and the keynote address will be given by Miss Constance Hayward, Department of Citizenship, Ottawa, at the opening session, Tuesday evening, June 27. The film, "This is Canada", will be shown at this time to give further emphasis to the thought. Other prominent speakers have been secured to discuss the various aspects of Institute work in its relation to the theme, at the sessions being held throughout the two following days, and a tour of the City of Montreal has been scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

A Handicraft Exhibit, arranged in conjunction with the convention, will be officially opened Tuesday, 7.15 p.m. by Mme P. C. LeBeau, Secretary Home Economics & Handicraft Division, Department of Agriculture, Quebec.

The Annual Board Meeting will be held prior to the Convention at the same place. This will commence Monday evening, June 26, and continue throughout the following day.

Corn Recipes

An adequate supply of canned corn assures the Canadian Housewife of the year 'round availability of a vegetable popular with the entire family. Canned corn (whole grain or cream style) is delicious by itself, served hot, or as the main ingredient in other dishes. Mrs. Iris Grigg Gillespie, home economist of the American Can Company's Canadian Division, suggests the following recipe, developed and tested in the Canco testing kitchen.

Corn Bisque

1 No. 2 can (20-oz.) cream style corn, 4 cups milk, 1 medium-sized onion, sliced, 2 tablespoons cooking fat or butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Cook corn and three cups of the milk covered in top of double boiler for 20 minutes. Add onion; continue cooking 10 minutes or longer. Mash through sieve. Melt fat or butter, add flour and seasoning; blend. Add remaining cup of milk; cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add milk-corn mixture; heat thoroughly. Garnish each serving with sprig of parsley.

Six to eight servings.

Equal Pay Status For Firm's Women

Lichfield, Staffordshire, Eng. (CP) — The Labor government's "wage restraint" policy notwithstanding, a private firm is pioneering in equal pay for women.

Air Industrial Development, Ltd., a Litchfield concern, has announced an 11d.-an-hour (14 cents) increase for its women employees, whose new wages will be 2s 3d. an hour instead of 1s 4d.

Managing Director Charles B. Wardman, making the announcement, said "I am not a philanthropist". But, he said, "the women's work had called for them to be put on the same pay status as the men".

"These women produce magnificent work at their capstan lathes and it is a pleasure to do something to encourage them."

GIRTON FUND APPEAL

Cambridge, Eng. (CP) — An appeal for £50,000 ($155,000) has been launched by the governors of Girton College, famed women's college here, in commemoration of its 80th anniversary. The money will be used for the endowment of research scholarships and to improve amenities of the college.

Professional Women to Meet in Halifax

Halifax (CP) — Some 300 women already have started registering for the 12th biennial convention of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Canada to be held here July 7-12.

Ontario has more than half the number of clubs in the Dominion and a similar proportion of members. First woman to register, however, was Annie M. Logie, of Vancouver, who wrote:

"I am looking forward to revisiting Halifax. Chatham, New Brunswick, is my home . . . "

Ruth R. Mitchell, a Winnipeg teacher, wrote that she and three other teachers planned to motor to Halifax, where they were stationed as Wrens during the Second World War.

A number of the delegates will leave immediately after the convention to attend the International Meeting of the organization at London. Province-wide tours have been arranged for others.

Annual Flowers for Home Grounds

Annual flowers in a wide range of form and color are an abundant source of enjoyment and provide relaxation for the rural dweller and at the Experimental Station, Beaverlodge, Alta., an effort has been made to select those varieties possessing hardiness and earliness. While primarily designed for areas having short growing seasons, the varieties recommended may prove valuable to many interested in beautifying the home grounds.

Annual flowers are usually divided into three classes, namely edging, bedding and background types. Sweet alyssum, lobelia and dwarf petunias make satisfactory edging plants, as does the new dwarf, base-branching, Kirkwall aster.

The pot marigold has long been a favorite for bedding purposes, valuable for its long season of bloom and for cutting. It can be obtained in a choice variety of colors, two improved forms being the Yellow Colossal and a brilliant orange called the Campfire Improved variety, as well as improved types of dwarf and African marigolds.

Other popular bedding annuals include the China aster varieties, Queen of the Market and the Princess; variously colored Ten Weeks stocks; single varieties of petunias as Rosy Morn, Snow Queen and Velvet Ball, the new red petunia, Firechief and also Colossal Shades of Rose, an all-double petunia unsurpassed in size and quality of bloom. Other well-known bedding favorites that might be listed are the snapdragon, butterfly flower, night-scented stock, pansy, candytuft, salvia (tender) and California poppy.

Suitable background annual flower types are the sweet pea, burning bush, zinnia (tender) and flowering tobacco (N. affinis), this last being included primarily for its fragrance, as are also the old-fashioned mignonette and the night-scented stock among the bedding plants.

Experience at Beaverlodge has shown that certain varieties should be seeded indoors and transplanted and these include the lobelia, petunia, snapdragon, China aster, Ten Weeks stock, marigold, pansy, burning bush, flowering tobacco, zinnia and salvia. Varieties which may be seeded out-of-doors if desired are sweet alyssum, pot marigold, California poppy, candytuft, mignonette and sweet pea.

Super Household Spray

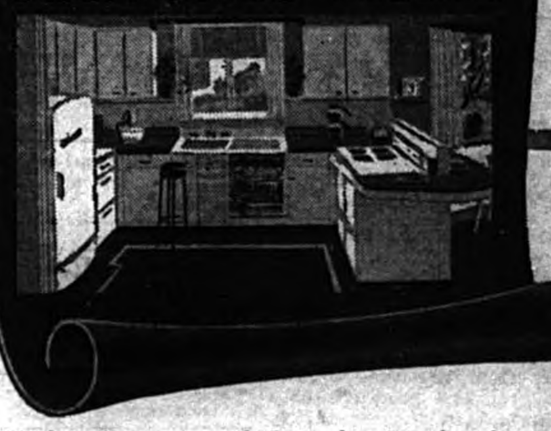

A new household insecticide claimed to be lethal even to the so-called "super-fly", has been introduced by the agricultural chemicals division of Canadian Industries Limited.

Marketed under the trade name "Ridsect" — the same name as used for an earlier product — the spray contains four insecticides. DDT is a stomach and contact poison. Pyrethrum has quick-knock-down action and dimethyl naphthalene acts as a fumigant. Methoxychlor, a comparatively new insecticide which kills by contact or through the stomach, has been added to control insect pests which may have developed a resistance against DDT.

The new spray not only kills quickly, but retains its effectiveness long after application, its manufacturers contend. Both DDT and methoxychlor contain residual properties which continue to be deadly to insects for six to eight weeks. This makes it unnecessary actually to spray an insect during spraying operations. They will pick it up when crawling around. Sprayed rugs will kill bugs that may hatch out a month or more after spraying.

It is estimated that one 16-ounce container of the four way action insecticide will treat 160 square feet of surface. It is formulated to be ready for immediate use and is said to be effective not only against flies and mosquitoes, but also such hard-to-kill pests as moths, cockroaches, ants, bedbugs, carpet bettles, silver fish and shad flies.

MODERN COWS

Cows today look much the same as they did in Noah's time. They come with the same standard equipment. But a good cow today would flick her tail with proud disdain at the miserable half-gallon buckets that held the milk one of her ancestors could produce just a century ago. A two-gallon pail is the size of the pail today, and, in some herds, a four-gallon container is closer to a single cow's capacity.

Tribute Paid to Brownsburg Fire Fighters; Awards at Safety Fuse

"In Brownsburg" Voices Appreciation to Members Of Volunteer Brigade and Chief Robbins

Fire Fighting

The Brownsburg Council have gone all out to provide the best there is in fire-fighting equipment to protect the homes and properties of the people of the village. The council has been generously assisted by the department concerned at Quebec through the efforts of our local M.L.A. Mr. W. M. Cottingham. The fire chief, Mr. A. Robbins is so fire conscious that no matter how the conversation starts it will eventually drift into a discussion on fire prevention. The chief is loyally supported by a volunteer crew, who, not only fill the quota but provide a long waiting list.

Fire fighting being an extremely hazardous task, one wonders why so many men undertake it on a purely volunteer basis. Whether it be a love for the excitement, a manner of demonstrating realization of civic duty, or whatever the reason may be, millions of our citizens, both here and in the United States, are under the protection of these volunteers day and night. Few realize their obligation to them. Sitting at home with his family in the early evening, or comfortably bedded for the night, minutes later a volunteer may be in the midst of a blazing inferno, risking — and sometimes losing—his life. There have been instances in Brownsburg where the owner of a burning chimney, found volunteers at work fighting a fire on his property when he came home to dinner, after which he returned to work, leaving the volunteers to fight the fire. They make quite a contribution to fellow citizens in this community.

From the standpoint of hazard, the volunteer's fire fighting activity represents the ultimate of his contribution to the community. His service with the local company begins before the alarm is sounded. Today's volunteer gives up a considerable amount of his time, week after week, training for the job he will respond to — often, one caused by someone's carelessness. He does not have the advantage of the paid fireman whose training is a part of the job he is paid for. The volunteer fireman is deserving of much more praise and appreciation than is realized by those whom he protects.

A Correction

In our report of the Brownsburg council meeting last week we stated that a letter had been received from Mr. Legault of Lachute on the subject of the proposed loan by-law. It has now been called to our attention that the information read to the meeting, was from notes written by the secretary Mr. Hebert, subsequent to his consultation with Mr. Legault. We regret any perturbation caused by our misidentifying the writer.

Juvenile Police Club

Members of the club were present at a showing of the picture of legendary Dan Patch in action on the race track. The boys enjoyed this action film which was shown by the courtesy of Mr. Fassio. The drawing for an electric washing machine and electric stove was held on Saturday, the lucky winner for the electric washing machine was No. 0579 Sidney Seary, and for the electric stove, No. 0801 John Graham.

On the 28th of the month, Chief Foucreau has arranged for two teams selected from the Club's members to meet two teams from the Montreal Juvenile Police Club in a double header soft ball game at Montreal in the afternoon. The boys will stay over to see the Montreal Royals play Baltimore at night.

Now that school is out, Chief Foucreau would like to get offers to transport as many of the boys as possible.

The Rewards of Safety

An interesting and enjoyable get-together was held at the Safety Fuse Company's plant last week when the employees were awarded valuable and useful selected prizes for having completed 3,430 days without a lost-time accident. This is an enviable record and the Manager Mr. J. B. Chalmers might well have felt proud when addressing the employees on the worthy achievement which the occasion celebrated. In thanking all those present for their continued watchful co-operation in practising safe working conditions and going such a long time without a serious mishap. Mr. Chalmers was pleased to pay tribute to a loyal adherence to plant regulations, and a spirit of helpful co-operation one with another in every department and employees and management in general. In recognition of this great effort the company was pleased to award prizes to mark its appreciation of a job well-done. There were other marks to shoot at and Mr. Chalmers expressed confidence that this would not be the last occasion when records would be broken.

Presentation

Prior to the awarding of prizes Mr. Chalmers was called upon by the employees of the Safety Fuse Company to make a presentation of a beautiful coffee table and other accessories to Mr. Steve Istvanffy on the occasion of his recent marriage. Mr. Istvanffy suitably returned thanks, being agreeably surprised by this token of good wishes from his fellow workers.

See New Feature Starting This Issue

Starting with this issue, The Lachute Watchman is introducing to its readers a new weekly feature . . . "For Parents Only", by Nancy Cleaver. Although these articles are designed for the reading of parents, they are of unusual interest to everyone.

The author, Mrs. Arnold Mathews, wife of the Rev. Arnold of North Bay, Ont., is known around the vicinity of Lachute. Her husband was a graduate of Lachute Academy, and was the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Mathews, who was a minister of the Lachute Methodist Church.

Formerly Evelyn Craw, Mrs. Mathews uses the nom-de-plume of Nancy Cleaver, she is a university graduate, and has served for six years as National Girl's Work Secretary, travelling in every province; in pre-graduation days, she won the Regent's English Essays prize. Nancy Cleaver has written articles for the Chatelaine, the Canadian Home Journal, the American Home, Hygeia, and many other magazines in the United States and Canada.

Through the courtesy of the National Health and Welfare Department, Ottawa, during the coming year, readers of this column can write in, enclosing a stamped envelope and request any one or all of the following pamphlets: "Fear", "Feeding Habits", "Bed-Wetting", "Obedience", and "Temper". Mr. C. W. Gilchrist, Director of Information Services of this Department made this comment after reading a number of "For Parents Only" columns: "I found these most interesting and I think you are doing valuable work in an important field".

Some of the early articles will deal with "A Child's Pet", "For Safety", "Helping the Shy Child", "Your Child's Eyesight", "Our Outdoor Heritage" and "Picture Books". All of these writings are concise, helpful and will likely be one of the first articles read each week by interested parents.

Canada's Anti-Spy Law Is Given Added Strength

"THE WEEK AT OTTAWA".
By Harold Morrison

Ottawa, June 22 (CP) — By the oddest of coincidence, the government announced a decision to sharpen the teeth of its anti-spy law on the very day that the United States spy net pounced on an alleged new link with the world-girdling Soviet espionage ring.

Most potent strength in the Official Secrets Act, Canada's anti-spy law, is measured out by increasing the maximum sentence that can be handed out under the act from seven years to 14.

In the 1946 Canadian spy prosecutions the maximum sentence meted out was six years and it was felt at the time that seven years was insufficient in view of the seriousness of the Cold War crimes that might be committed in the name of espionage.

Whether the doubling of the crown's sentencing power will prove a deterrent to those who seek to hand Canada's destiny over to a foreign power is yet to be seen. However, it is an indication that the government has become increasingly aware of the spy menace and its threat to the Canadian defensive strength.

And it was with unproclaimed interest that officials in this capital greeted the Washington report that Alfred Dean Slack, 44-year-old Syracuse, N.Y. chemist, was charged with espionage.

Slack, alleged to have helped supply Russian agents with samples of a powerful new United States explosive, was arrested just a month after the Federal Bureau investigation rounded up Harold Gold.

The F.B.I. allege that Slack was Gold's contact with a Russian agent, masquerading as a Soviet business representative in New York and that he slipped out secret information on the explosive while employed at the U.S. Ordnance plant at Kingsport, Tenn.

Link With Fuchs

Both are linked with Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the British atomic scientist, sentenced to 14 years on the admitted charge of handing over atomic information to the Soviet. It is odd, too, that the maximum sentence under Canada's new law should be the same sentence as that handed out to Fuchs.

R.C.M.P. officials, queried about the significance of the Slack arrest, would make no comment as to whether it was a "surprise", but rather indicated that it was known here that the arrest was imminent.

Canada's Mounties work closely with the F.B.I. on the matter of espionage and it appears a possibility that the F.B.I. as well as Scotland Yard in the United Kingdom gleaned most of their information of possible suspects through a notebook captured by police in Ottawa which contained about 150 names of persons among whom were those sentenced for spying in Canada.

The contents of that notebook still is the basis of an investigation by the R.C.M.P. Justice Minister Garson told the Commons that he would not like to make public the names of those being investigated. It was not in the public interest and might prejudice the nature of the probe.

Stinging Attack

Prime Minister St. Laurent launched a stinging attack on Russian imperialism last week. He spoke before the seventh Imperial Press Conference. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, also addressed the delegates.

The prime minister declared that the whole Communist press is a "vast apparatus of falsification", and that Russia's imperialistic power is wielded by an "autocrat" through the "slave labor" methods employed by a small group of "ruthless" men.

"Though it masquerades behind the doctrine of revolutionary Communism, which it employs for its own imperialistic purposes", said Mr. St. Laurent, "Russia remains the typical empire of the past".

Democracy, he added, could not afford to underestimate the challenge by employing the same tactics as the Russians.

Rather, Mr. St. Laurent believed, the democratic press had to keep restating the principles on which its civilization was based.

"Those principles", he said, "need to be restated in terms which capture the imagination of new generations. The policies of governments need to be explained in language which keeps public interest alert and active, whether the explanations be favorable or unfavorable to the policies pronounced by the government".

In 1949 Canadians paid by indirect taxes to federal, provincial and municipal governments a total of $1,857,000,000.

Rimouski Mayor Is Critical of Ottawa

By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, June 21 — Announcement of federal-provincial grants totalling $5,000,000 for the reconstruction of fire-stricken Rimouski this week left the town's mayor dissatisfied.

Mayor Victor Lepage said he was disappointed at the federal-provincial arrangements whereby each government will contribute $2,500,000. Mayor Lepage said the federal government's contribution should be three times as great as that of the provincial government's.

Decision of the two governments was made known simultaneously at Ottawa by Prime Minister St. Laurent and at Quebec by Premier Duplessis last Friday.

Under the arrangements, the federal and provincial governments will each contribute $300,000 towards the reconstruction of Cabano, another lower St. Lawrence mill-town ravaged by fire early last month.

"I cannot understand the decision of the federal government", Mayor Lepage said. "There is a law that provides, in the case of disaster-stricken areas, that federal contributions will be three times the amount granted by the province as happened in Manitoba and in British Columbia. When it comes to Quebec, the contribution is equal to the provincial grant.

"In any event, if the contribution of both governments is to be limited to $5,000,000 I foresee great difficulties in our reconstruction program. The real losses in the fire are nearer $20,000,000 than $5,000,000 and the grant can only serve to reconstruct our public buildings, passing by the small property owner."

Mayor Lepage said he thought the federal government's $2,500,000 grant may be a preliminary one, with more money to come.

From Cabano, there was no report of dissatisfaction at the $600,000 granted for reconstruction.

The announcement of federal-provincial grants made clear that losses suffered directly by the two governments will be covered by separate arrangements to be completed later.

According to the report of a federal - provincial investigating committee losses not covered by insurance were officially estimated at $10,000,000 in the case of Rimouski and $1,000,000 at Cabano.

The Quebec federation of Labor which represents 40,000 workers throughout the province wants to keep communists and communist sympathizers from holding posts in the labor organization.

At a labor convention here last week-end, 300 delegates unanimously voted an amendment to the federation's constitution to "forbid and prohibit any person known to be a Communist or sympathizer to become an officer or hold a position in the federation."

The convention, which re-elected Marcel Francq to the presidency, also voted unanimously to launch a drive for new members in unorganized shops. This is to mark the 100th anniversary of the American Federation of Labor with which the Quebec body is affiliated.

Labor Minister Barrette told the convention that he pledged his support and attention to any constructive ideas the federation might present him for study.

Mr. Francq earlier told the delegates that "our federation has not asked and will not ask the government anything which the workers can and must obtain for themselves; whatever we do by ourselves, individually and collectively, is much better."

Chilly Saturday Spoils Possibility Of Record Event at Lachute Fair

Excellent Attendance Marked Until Friday Night Leon St. Jacques Wins County Race Classic

Lachute Spring Fair for 1950 has been added to the long history of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, which was inaugurated some 60 years ago, and has steadily grown to be one of the best county fairs in Canada today.

With the addition of several acres of land near the entrance, greater parking space was made available, and with the new outlet to Chatham Street, a continual flow of traffic was maintained in one direction, which showed great improvement over the congested area of previous years.

Up until Friday night the attendance was well over the previous year, but the cold, windy day following spoiled any chance of breaking records. Due to the non-seasonal weather on the Saturday afternoon, only a few hundred people were in the grandstand to witness the grand parade of cattle and horses.

The standard in all classes during the other days was very high, and from a purely agricultural point of view, the Fair was a success.

The track races were run as per schedule, and the County Race on Thursday afternoon created tremendous interest. This race was won by Leon St. Jacques, riding his own horse, Gratton B. The time for this mile race was 2.16 which was the fastest time but one, in the history of the County Race, and almost as fast as the imported horses in the other heats.

At the grounds the first attraction and one to be highly commended was the Marionette Show sponsored by the Shell Oil Company and most efficiently managed by Hal Renée Marquette. Grown-ups, along with the kiddies sat and enjoyed the antics of these small figures which looked and acted as though they were very much alive. Formerly with the Dick Haines Show, the Marquettes have been for two years with the Shell Oil Co. and will tour Ontario and Quebec with performances in both French and English. Over 270 different figures comprise the characters of this little theatre.

Upstairs in the main building the County W.I. and Cercles des Fermières displayed splendid exhibits of Arts and Crafts, winners of which appear elsewhere in this issue. Hooked rugs, needle work, wood-work, flowers, paintings and home cooking, brought many competitive exhibits.

On the main floor the X-ray machine was set up and free chest examinations were given.

Sewing machine demonstrations, veterinary supply booth, the Silex Company specializing in making coffee, and our local firm of Wilson & Gordon with a nice display of Northern Electric appliances, consisting of ranges, radios and refrigerators, completed the indoor display.

Outside, the midway seemed to draw the crowd, where the usual side shows, games of chance, bingos, joy rides, and hot dog stands, all seemed to do a thriving trade.

Several cars were being raffled; there were chances on new houses, and household gadgets for sale, all of which added at least variety to the Big Show.

The Horse Racing and Jumping with other Grand Stand attractions were of great interest to the followers of these events, with the biggest attendance on Friday.

The space reserved for manufacturers and local dealers was much larger than previous years, and as well as the exhibits mentioned above, the following companies displayed their wares:

Ketchum Man. Co., Northland Motors (Jeeps); Deacon Motors (Ford); Farmers' Supply (Cockshutt and Ogilvie); Dion, Ste. Therese (Threshing); C & L Garage (International Trucks); Felix Hamelin, St. Hermas (Case); Lachute Farm Equipment; Farm Forum refreshment booth; Calumet Church refreshment booth; Canada Packers; T. McOuat & Son Ltd. (Gas Stoves); Food Lockers (De Laval Milking and Frigidaire); Purity Flour (Trailer); Quaker Oats (Trailer); Farano Co. (Farm Equipment); Grimm Man. Co. (Evaporators), and several smaller exhibits.

Local Legion Hold Annual Service

On Sunday, June 18, the Lachute Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. No. 70, held a church parade for Roman Catholics in the morning and a drumhead service for protestants in the afternoon.

The morning parade formed at the Legion Hall and was led by Comrade Roger D'Aoust, a past president of Branch 70, to the 9.30 a.m. mass at the St. Anastasie Church, where the service was conducted by Father Sauvage. After the service the veterans marched back to the Legion Hall for dismissal.

In the afternoon a second parade formed at the Legion Hall. The Veterans, led by Branch President, Sam Milnes, and accompanied by the Verdun Citadel Salvation Army Band, marched to the Lachute High School grounds where a drumhead service was held.

The afternoon service was conducted by the Rev. Chas. Maclean, chaplain of Branch No. 70 and ex-padre with the 3rd Canadian Division Overseas. An inspiring and meaningful sermon was given by the Rev. C. R. Lang, pastor of St. Simeon's Church, on the theme that, instead of seeking the help of God, man's dependence on his own works was one of the fundamental causes of wars.

After the service the 16-piece Salvation Army Band, conducted by Major Purdy, gave a band concert of hymns and marches. At the conclusion of the concert, the parade re-formed and marched back to the Legion Hall where it disbanded.

The annual church parade of the Canadian Legion, while disappointing in its attendance was felt to be a very much worthwhile community activity. It is hoped that this event will continue in the future with greater interest by both veterans and the community at large.

Trusteeship Council Opens Session

The United Nations Trusteeship Council, now holding its seventh annual session at Lake Success will deal with such questions as progress in U.N. Trust Territories, proposals for an international regime for Jerusalem, and protection of the Holy Places there. Here, Dr. Victor Hoo, U.N. Assistant Secretary-General, talks with Roger Garreau of France, outgoing President of the Council.

Lachute Garage Is Scene of Robbery

The Welden Motor Sales garage, situated on Bethany Road, Lachute, was broken into on Sunday last, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 10 p.m. Though there was considerable cash in the office at the time, the thieves were successful in getting only $87. by breaking into the rear of the desk. Detective Lamoureux, of the Provincial Police investigated the robbery.

Important Resolutions to Be Presented at Q.W.I.

The Quebec Women's Institutes, which are affiliated with the Montreal Council of Women, are working with that organization in supporting its action on matters of equal importance to rural as well as urban women.

To this end, resolutions will be presented at the Annual Board Meeting of the Q.W.I., to be held at Macdonald College, June 26-27, as a result of recommendations made by the Council of Women to the Provincial Government, on such subjects as Reciprocal Maintenance Laws, Increased Exemption for Succession Duties, and Reforms in the Protestant Women's Jail, Montreal.

These resolutions were drafted and approved at an Executive Committee Meeting of the Montreal Council of Women, and similar action will be taken by the Q.W.I. Board, in the hope continued and concerted action may bring about the desired results.

Black Watch Re-Union Held in Montreal

Some 250 former members of Headquarters Company, First Battalion of The Black Watch (R.H.R.) of Canada, held their first reunion since the end of the Second World War on Saturday night in the armory of The Victoria Rifles of Canada, Cathcart Street.

The gathering was mainly for the young ex-servicemen of the famed Montreal kilted regiment, although a large number of First World War veterans of the battalion were on hand to reminisce about overseas experiences.

Former Black Watchers came from such out-of-town points as New York City, Cornwall, Asbestos, Valleyfield and Lachute to attend the first reunion meeting. There were no speeches. Guests of honor included Lt.-Col. V. E. Traversy, immediate past officer commanding the regiment, and Lt.-Col. Frank Mitchell.

Messrs. Carl Demerse and Jim Pillage, of Lachute, two of the originals of the battalion, enlisted in 1939 and served overseas, attended the reunion.

House Struck by Lightning

During a severe electrical storm last week, lightning struck the home of Mrs. Amedee Maisonneuve, near St. Philippe, and did considerable damage to the interior of the house. Dishes were broken, furniture broken, and although the top of a clock was taken off by the lightning, the clock remained ticking.

Something New!

'Tis a common sight in the city to see bank messengers and telegraph boys in uniforms riding their bikes while on their job of delivering messages, but in our town such has ne'er been seen. In future however, young Ranger Leclair, who delivers telegrams for the Canadian Pacific will appear smartly dressed in a neat uniform to add distinction to this speedy and efficient way of communication. Out of town messages may be phoned to the station, Lachute No. 5, and paid for on receipt of account. You will find Ranger efficient, polite and worthy of your encouragement.

When Newfoundland entered Confederation the maximum number of Senators was increased from 96 to 102.

REPLICAS OF THE CROWN JEWELS SHOWN IN CANADA

To enable many Canadians and Americans to see the priceless Crown Jewels, perfect replicas were shown by the National Jewellers' Association at the Canadian International Trade Fair at Toronto during June.

The replicas of the Crown Jewels are the result of over 15 years' work by Mr. Charles Elston, an antique dealer of Stockton-on-Tees, who has spent many years studying the originals in the Tower of London. The replicas are exact in size, shape, weight and color. This picture shows a young girl admiring the King's Orb. On the table are, left to right, St. Edward's Crown, the Imperial Crown of India (these involve 11,000 stones). In front can be seen the Royal Sceptre, the Jewelled Sword of State, the Archbishop's Cross and the Altar Cross.

Lions Elect New Officers for Year

Immediate Past President, Herbert Rigg; President Horace J. Lamarche; 1st vice pres. Ralph H. FitzGerald; 2nd vice pres. Robert Marcil; 3rd vice pres. E. M. Jones; secretary, Jos. Dumais; treasurer, W. M. Steeves; Lion Tamer, Jos. Joly; Tail Twister, Bernard Massicotte; directors, K. Ian Gordon, Mozart Carriere, P. G. Roy, Fernand Legault, Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, Gordon McOuat, G. Y. Deacon and Andre Lefebvre.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, June 27, and the new officers will take over their responsibilities.

The car drawing, sponsored by the Lions in conjunction with the Legion Branches of Lachute and Brownsburg, did not realize the receipts as of previous years, but the profit will be in the neighborhood of $2,000. The winner of the Pontiac car was Mr. J. K. MacKimmie, farmer of North River, the electric refrigerator went to Mr. E. M. Jones, and the bicycle to a Montreal resident.

Gatineau LINES

Defective Appliances

Sometimes electrical service is interrupted because of high winds which blow down wires and even poles. Sometimes the interruption results from the damage done by electrical storms. Sometimes small boys smash insulators and cause short circuits. Sometimes the fault lies with defective appliances or overloaded motors.

It is about the last of these causes that we want to talk now, because it is a cause of trouble which can easily be eliminated if electrical customers take ordinary precautions.

When a piece of electrical equipment or an appliance is defective, it is likely to short circuit, thus blowing out fuses and interrupting service. A motor which is being worked above its normal capacity might do the same thing. In either event, a sudden extra surge of power is thrown onto the lines, and fuses blow out.

Now, if the fuse which blows out is located on a line serving only the person operating the defective appliance or the overworked motor, only that person suffers from the interruption in service. Frequently, however, other people are left without power also — in cases where it is a fuse on a transformer serving several customers which blows out. Then everybody on the circuit is handicapped until the trouble is located and remedied. A number of people suffer because one person operates defective equipment.

It is impossible for a power company to check up on all its customers and make sure they are using all their electrical equipment correctly. All we can do is to urge everybody to make sure that their equipment is in good working order, and that they don't load any motor beyond the capacity always clearly marked upon it. We urge this, not only for better service to those whose equipment causes trouble; we urge it also on behalf of the other people on the circuit who may be even more seriously inconvenienced, through no fault of their own.

Grass Silage for Dairy Cattle

Ottawa — A cow producing upwards of 30 pounds of milk per day can eat enough grass to supply all her needs, provided grass is available. It is the long period of barn feeding that takes the joy out of dairying. If pasture could be transplanted into the barn for the winter a considerable saving in feed costs would result. But well-made grass silage will give almost the same result, states J. S. Leefe, Senior Agronomist, Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S.

Grass silage made from grass legume mixtures, cut from eight to twelve inches high, will be close to the original herbage in feeding value. It will be superior to the best field cured hay made from the same material.

Grass silage can be made in upright or trench silos and from long or chopped grass. The cost of harvesting and storing should not be greater than that of harvesting and storing the same amount of dry matter as hay. Every dairy farmer should make and feed some grass silage. Besides being excellent feed, it is a "must" in any sound grassland program. Grass for silage can be cut early while it is most nutritious. This allows taking a second crop for pasture, silage or hay.

Although expensive field choppers are available for making large quantities of silage quickly, silage can be made with no more equipment than that required to harvest hay. For details the nearest Experimental Farm or the local agricultural representative should be consulted.

Graded Poultry

Ottawa — The fact that Mr. and Mrs. Consumer are buying their poultry by grade rather than by the pinch-and-poke system has created an urgent need on the Canadian wholesale market for Grade A birds. The situation is highlighted by the current nine-cent spread between the wholesale price of Grade A milk-fed and Grade B poultry, according to officials of the Canada Department of Agriculture.

With grading of poultry comparatively new on the retail market, the sale by grade has resulted in an urgent call to the farmer and poultryman to produce more Grade A birds.

Reports from the Montreal wholesale market, for example, showed Grade A milk-fed chickens, five to six pounds, selling at 48 cents, and Grade B at 39 cents. The price for Grade C was 27 cents, a spread of 21 cents between Grade C and Grade A milk-fed. Three years ago, prices on the same market quoted Grade A milk-fed at 37½ cents, Grade B milk-fed (a category since discontinued) at 35½ cents and Grade B at 33½ cents.

Horses vs. Tractors

Ottawa — The ever-increasing performance and efficiency of the tractor during the first part of this century does not mean that in the near future the horse will have disappeared as a factor of importance in world agriculture, says an editorial of "World Crops", a magazine published in Great Britain and distributed throughout the world.

According to this article, there is no reason to believe, as some prophets do, that the horse "will survive merely as an instrument for sport and recreation, a charming relic of a bygone age". On the contrary, writes the editorialist, the horse has, and will continue to have a definite part to play in the farm economy for many years to come and, indeed, indefinitely. It will supplement the work of the machine and their roles are complementary, a sort of symbiosis, in fact.

Point is given to this in a recent circular of the British Ministry of Agriculture which describes the alarming decline in the number of farm horses during the past decade. The circular stresses the fact that tractors have to depend on imported fuel oil, while the horse "proceeds under its own steam generated by home-grown food".

"Even assuming that adequate supplies of tractors, spare parts and fuel can be relied upon, says the writer of "World Crops", there are still many occasions when the horse can be more suitably employed than the tractor. Smaller farms with, say 100 to 125 acres of arable land possessing only one tractor will almost certainly require two horses at least".

The editorial goes on to point out that the tractor is particularly valuable for getting heavy work done quickly, but numerous light jobs are more cheaply and efficiently done by horses, especially when conditions are wet owing to the lower compressive effect of the horse. In some conditions, "the value of the draft animal as a source of supply of organic manure has to be taken into account".

"It is not really a question of competition between the animal and the tractor, concludes the editorialist, but rather one of deciding the conditions under which each can be used to the best advantage. They are, in fact, complementary and not competitive".

Regina (CP) — A baby moose — all of 30 inches high — is currently a top exhibit at the provincial museum here. Found orphaned in northern Saskatchewan, the moose was shipped from Prince Albert by resources department officials. Experts said that moose of that age are rarely seen, let alone captured.

"After switching to B.F.G's, I've driven 29,450 miles without a flat. These tires are still in very good condition."
D. M. McDonald, Calgary, Alta.

Salesmen know Why—

3 out of 5* SWITCHED TO B.F.Goodrich FROM SOME OTHER BRAND

* A nation-wide survey of the tire customers of B.F. Goodrich dealers from coast to coast shows — that 3 out of every 5 B.F. Goodrich tire buyers switched from some other brand.

Why did they switch?

Salesmen can tell you why they switched. They wanted to get trouble-free motoring . . . wanted to make their calls on time . . . to cover routes on schedule, in safety, and at low cost per mile.

Mileage, safety, comfort, economy — aren't these what you want, too? You can have them! You can get the superior performance made possible by B.F. Goodrich manufacturing and engineering skill. Manufacturers, Too, Choose B.F. Goodrich
If your new car, truck or tractor is equipped with B.F. Goodrich tires, take advantage of your dealer's free tire inspection service for long, trouble-free mileage that is built into all B.F. Goodrich tires.

"A friend urged me to switch to B.F. Goodrich and enjoy extra blowout protection thanks to B.F.G.'s stronger sidewall construction and thick, road-gripping tread." P. W. Bell, Victoria, B.C.

"I wanted more mileage for my money, so I switched to B.F. Goodrich. I've driven 20,000 miles and my B.F.G. tires look good for as many more." F. H. Landon, Fort Rouge, Man.

"I appreciate the value of B.F. Goodrich rubber research. Since I switched to B.F.G. Tires I've had completely trouble-free driving." P. L. Brown, Ottawa, Ont.

"I got record mileage from my last set of B.F. Goodrich tires, so naturally I bought B.F.G.'s again." M. R. Henderson, Winnipeg, Man.

"Seal-o-matics bought in 1939 are still in dependable service in my B.F.G. tires, giving me greater safety, greater economy, plus freedom from punctures." H. Godley, Courtenay, B.C.

Your Help is Still Needed

UP UNTIL THE TIME of going to press, The Lachute Watchman Fund for Relief of Fire and Flood victims of Quebec and Manitoba, has reached the sum of $300, including a few fairly substantial donations. For such a wealthy community as Argenteuil County, this is indeed small. Of course, we are fully aware that many may have given their donations to the chartered banks, which are co-operating with the central relief committee, but we are certainly on safe grounds when we say that the majority of our readers have not responded to the appeal.

The Lachute Fair was here last week. Thousands of dollars went to the midway in reckless spending and fritting away in useless pastime. How wonderful it would have been if only ten percent of that money wasted had been given to help our unfortunate Canadians!

The homeless in Rimouski and Cabano, the afflicted in Manitoba are still needing your contributions. With the latest news from British Columbia flood district, it seems that they too will be needing your help.

Send your donation in now. Whether it is large or small we do not care . . . but do your share.

About Our Fair

WITH EARS TO the ground, the press very often is able to get a fairly accurate cross-section of opinion from its citizens. Though we haven't held a Gallop Poll on the subject, we feel certain that visitors to the Lachute Spring Fair would like to see a few minor changes made in the grand-stand program.

According to reports, the average person would like to have more variety during the performance, and something more for children. The judging of horses is very interesting, the jumping of these fine animals is good to look upon, but diversion is necessary.

Vaudeville and clowning is a part of a fair, or it used to be, and would make a fitting break to routine exhibits. A fireworks display would also make a grand climax at the end of each day's performance.

We do not offer these ideas as being original, for they are not. We do not offer them with the spirit of critism, for we know that all these extras cost real money. It is only with the hope though, that the directors next year will give some thought to this aspect of the program, for in order to have a successful event, the customer must be served and satisfied.

Dimes for Polio Battle

THROUGH CANADA'S support of the Canadian March of Dimes, a battle against the dread crippler, Poliomyelitis, is being waged across the Dominion. The Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis has been formed, and is now engaged in work to help rid Canada of this malady.

Polio will strike hundreds of children and even adults in Canada this summer. It cannot be avoided, for there is no known prevention. Nor is there a known cure. It is the duty of every Canadian parent to know the facts about polio — what to do when it strikes in this community, and the recommended measures to avoid it.

The Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis has been formed to serve Canadians in the field of poliomyelitis. Its officers and researchers have pledged themselves to do everything in their power to lessen the effect of the disease in Canada this summer.

In Defence of the CBC

FOR THE PAST few months, there has been a concentrated attack upon the personnel, programs and anything pertaining to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Public Relations officers of large industries, private counselors, ghost writers, and news interpretors have all had their guns trained upon the CBC, not with the idea of giving helpful suggestions to improve programs, or to give worthy ideas for this Canadian-owned enterprise, but with the seemingly sole aim of destroying this institution.

Fortunately for Canada, there are many people and organizations coming to the CBC's defence. The Farm Forums, church conventions and the Women's Institutes have rallied to its cause. Some newspapers are putting up a fine defence, and the majority of politicians feel that the CBC is doing a good job.

One of the latest means of undermining the CBC has been the circulation of a pamphlet by a public-relations counselor, who has listed all the quotations of the Corporation's commentators which were pro-labor, especially those mentioned during the recent election in Great Britain. Not one quotation was used that was pro-conservative, though these commentators in Britain tried to be impartial, and any that we heard, were.

The best answer to these critics is to spend a full day listening to many of the private radio stations, and if one isn't ready for psychiatric treatment at the end of that day, then there is something very seriously wrong. The endless jingles and pangles, adverts and adlets, is enough to send the sanest person off-track.

The policy of the CBC in times of an election is one way of preventing a totalitarian set-up in radio. Every political party is given a share in the people's voice . . . we are able to know what the other man is offering. Sometimes our press is not too careful with facts, but to hear all sides over the broadcasting system, we are then able to come to our own conclusion.

Of course, there are many improvements that we would like to see in effect with the CBC, but the pros far out-weigh the cons, and we hope that the CBC will survive the cross-fire of its critics.

A Country of Employees

THE TREND TOWARD greater dependence on government and a decline in individual enterprise is explained in no small measure by the reduction over the past century of the number of self-employed.

Prof. Summer Slichter, of Harvard University, points out that 100 years ago more than half of the working population were working for themselves. Now less than one in five is his own boss.

"We are a country of employees. The number of skilled workers in proportion to our population is dropping while the number of professional people is growing 10 to 14 times faster than the labor force", Prof. Slichter states.

If this trend is to continue and if workers are not given a greater sense of management responsibility, the business interests which were once the leaders of thought and political action will soon take second place to organized labor.

Bank of Montreal Offers Opportunity

Girls Leaving School this Year Will Find Worthwhile, Enjoyable Work at the B of M

Thousands of girls in towns and villages across Canada are finding interesting, well paid work at the Bank of Montreal. It offers them just those advantages that a girl most appreciates when she's starting out to earn her living.

There's a good opening salary, and all members of the B of M staff enjoy Group Accident and Health Insurance. Hours are good, too, and the girls find the Bank a clean, pleasant place to work in.

But what you'll probably enjoy most is the personal nature of the job. In most B of M offices you're in constant contact with the public, meeting people and helping them all the time. You'll be acting, too, as an important member of a friendly team of men and women who enjoy their work and take pride in their profession.

If you like the look of a job with the B of M, drop in and have a word with Donald Hay, the manager at Lachute, Que., he'll be glad to tell you more about the work and its opportunities.

Remaking the World

"The first steps have been taken in a far-reaching transformation of society" through the successful overcoming of "prejudices and enmities which separate classes, races and nations", recently declared Robert Schuman, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, in a foreword to the French edition of Dr. F. N. D. Buchman's book, "Remaking the World". Mr. Schuman says further —

"If we were being presented with some new scheme for the public welfare or another theory to be added to the many already put forward, I should remain sceptical. But what Moral Re-Armament brings up is a philosophy of life applied in action.

"It does not claim to have invented a new system of morals. For the Christian, the moral teaching of Christianity is enough and from it Dr. Buchman draws all the principles which must guide his life as a man and as a citizen.

"To begin by creating a moral climate in which true brotherly unity can flourish, over-arching all that today tears the world apart — that is the immediate goal.

"The acquisition of wisdom about men and their affairs by bringing people together in public assemblies and personal encounters — that is the means employed . . . also "To provide teams of trained men, apostles of reconciliation and builders of a new world.

"It is not a question of a change of policy; it is a question of changing men. Democracy and her freedoms can be saved only by the quality of the men who speak in her names.

"That is what Dr. Buchman expressed in simple and moving words. He has declared war on materialism and individualism, twin-generators of our selfish divisions and social injustices.

"May he be heard and followed more and more in all nations of the world, by those who today still clash in fractricidal hatred."

GARBAGE DISPOSAL

Montreal (CP)—Montrealers were taken to task recently for their haphazard disposal of garbage. Jean Dubeau, city sanitary engineer, said in a radio broadcast. "Our department receives many complaints concerning refuse. Many persons fail to observe the most elementary rules of hygiene in this matter".

Argenteuil Softball League

The Bluebirds won their 3rd straight game on Sunday by defeating Boyd's Express 21-7 in a very good game of ball. They were very even until the seventh inning, when the Bluebirds started to hit and Boyd's made many errors to loose the game. Umpires were Jack Seary and John Duncan of Brownsburg.

At White Rose, the Malacket Spiders took their first beating this year in a very close and well played game. The White Rose team had a fine bunch of supporters, and they gave everything they had to beat Brownsburg. The game was handled by Chas. Harding and his son, of Brownsburg.

At Moore's Playing Field, the Tigers had to go all out to defeat the Beavers of Lachute in a very well contested game. The game was tied 13-13 in the ninth inning, the Beavers were held scoreless. The Tigers made the winning run and the game ended with Tigers 14 and Beavers 13. Umpires were A. Larocque and G. Larocque of Lachute.

Schedule for next Sunday is as follows:

Boyd's vs. Spiders at Brownsburg
Tigers vs. Bluebirds

Every Family Wants a Dad

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

A home is started when two people care enough for each other to think in terms of "we" and "ours" instead of "I" and "mine". It is built on mutual love and trust. A home is much more than a place to eat and sleep — it is a place where each member of the home finds happiness, security, and a chance to grow. In all good homes there is a sharing of work and of play between the husband and the wife, and the children in the family have their part too in the tasks and the fun of the family group. The members of the family enjoy each other's company — Dad is more than the money maker, Mother is not just a housekeeper, the children are not just "boarders!"

A father of a large family was asked how in the world he ever managed to keep up with his work and still have some time and energy to enjoy some leisure with his boys and girls. He answered:

"Each child has his own daily task, and when the day's work is over, their mother and I try to do something with the children which they all enjoy".

This family lived on a farm and the problem of giving each child a chore was much easier than in a city home. However, there are jobs in every household in which boys and girls can help. The time to start children sharing in the work of a home is when they are young and eager to help. Mothers of 'teen-age daughters, who complain how little assistance in the housework is ever volunteered by Mary or Helen, often forget the time before their little girls started to school, when Mary or Helen used to ask "Can I help you, Mummy?" But unfortunately, mother could do things so much more quickly and efficiently, and it was much simplier to say, "Not today, dear, you run along and play and don't bother mother". Father should see to it that mother's load in housekeeping is not too heavy! Keep an eye on the youngsters and encourage them to do their share.

Families need to play together as well as work together. Here again the habit of doing things as a home group should be begun early. It is too late to wait till a boy is in his teens before his father suggests a fishing trip. What fun a little fellow can have with his dad fishing on a Saturday afternoon! How much a dad is missing who does not give his son some of his play time. Fathers can be a wonderful help at bedtime by reading aloud to a small son or daughter.

What good times families can have on walks in the woods, or by the lake, or along a country road! Not long ago a small girl was overheard saying to her mother, "I wish we belonged in the Blank's home! They have such good times. They are the 'picknickest' family you ever saw. Mr. and Mrs. Blank don't make any fuss at all about packing up a meal to be enjoyed out-of-doors — and sometimes they have a marvellous time just eating a meal in their own back yard!" What boy or girl doesn't enjoy a picnic? And surely a picnic is a very inexpensive form of family recreation. It is excellent training in sharing responsibility if all the members of the family help in preparing the picnic meal and cleaning up afterwards.

The most important thing about a home is not the size of house, the furnishings, the convenient equipment, but the family atmosphere. In a real home, even a stranger can feel the bond between the members of the family. There are occasional conflicts arising from the clash of one personality against another, that is all part of life in a group. But, because mother and father are united in their ideals about a home and their desires for their children, in spite of some friction between individuals, there is an underlying serenity in the family atmosphere.

Mother and father believe that a democratic nation is the best kind. In the home their children, through having a voice in a "family council" are being prepared for adult life. It is quite true that a good parent takes time to work and play with a child. Both mother and father enjoy building a real home with a serene family atmosphere in which their children can grow into useful, happy citizens. Fathers sometimes are so busy they forget their part in making a house a home. Every family wants a Dad!

Cool Topic for Summer

By Wally Izsak

It isn't often done, but a group of gentlemen wearing sport jackets and slacks and talking hockey crowded summer sporting news to one side of the country's sports pages recently.

The news was big — that the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association had picked five senior hockey leagues and pulled them out of further Allan Cup competition.

At a special meeting in July a special C.A.H.A. committee will complete plans for a new super-senior class of hockey clubs that will vacate the Allan Cup field, leaving it to the smaller senior leagues that up to now have been unable to keep pace with the bigger outfits. The five leagues—Western Canada, Ontario Senior "A", Quebec Senior and the Maritime and Cape Breton loops — will in future play off for a yet unnamed trophy. That cup and other matters pertaining to the new plan will be put in order at the July session.

For a number of years now, the situation has been building. Briefly it is this: Senior clubs other than those operating in the above mentioned leagues haven't been able to get a look in on the Allan Cup playoffs. The reasons are many but they boil down to not having the kind of money needed to attract the best senior players. And, without a few of the best, chances of attracting professional club affiliation are slim.

The fact of the matter came home more pronounced in the playoffs in the past season — more so in the case of the cup-winning Toronto Marlboros than in any other.

One-Sided Scores

Marlboros, an important cog in the Toronto Maple Leaf professional machine, literally annihilated their northern and eastern Ontario opposition. Large, one-sided scores against teams like Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds and Cornwall Calumets were the rule rather than the exception.

At the time, one Marlboro official, Harold Ballard, declared the C.A.H.A. should cut the fooling around and revise the setup to give the smaller, less-monied leagues a chance. Too, the one-sided play was not getting the Marlboros ready for stiffer competition nor was it good for hockey.

The super-senior grouping apparently will make no bones about money paid players. Under blue-print plans already formulated, players will be signed to contracts similar to the professionals and the contract will clearly state the salary figure. Players will sign for a year at a time and clubs they sign with will have first call on their services the following year.

It would appear that the most pleasing aspect of the proposed plan is the fact that smaller centres that have designs for senior teams will go ahead now that they know they'll have a better chance against centres of similar financial limitations. They'll have no fear of having a fairly good club getting well into the playoffs only to be knocked out by a club packed with old pros or budding young stars about to turn out in the uniform of an N.H.L. club.

It should make for better hockey all round.

Around the Home . . .

"And what is so rare as a day in June?" runs through my mind on these first beautiful days of summer. "Then, if ever, come perfect days" has been true again this year. I don't suppose those lines will ever go from my memory, impressed there by being written out twenty times back in my public school days!

Rustic Table

I was finally bullied into leaving my garden long enough to take the family on a picnic yesterday. We journeyed to a secluded spot not far from the city and had a thoroughly enjoyable time. The highlight of the day for me was finding a rustic picnic table I could copy. I have been wanting to build one in front of the barbecue I finished early this month. If my first table turns out successfully I'll be making one for the cottage.

Garden Ornaments

The indiscriminate use of garden ornaments always bothers me. One house we passed on our way home from the picnic brought this whole subject back to my mind. The yard was so cluttered up with wooden ducks, dogs, girls with bright parasols and statues it looked more like a graveyard than a garden. Properly chosen and placed, ornaments do add to the beauty of the surroundings; especially if they are out of the ordinary—a carboy, sundial or painted butterfly.

No garden is complete without suitable pathways to carry the traffic. The type of material used in construction can be as varied as the shapes the path can be given. The subject is important enough to require lengthy treatment but a few ideas are given here.

The Abused Tin Can

Next week I must brush up on my tin-can craft as today's mail brought a request to help with handicraft at a summer camp for boys. No hobby is easier to master nor the equipment required more easily found. One or two suggestions are offered but you will find more in the booklet "Around The Home" now ready for distribution.

More information on these and other ideas in the booklet "AROUND THE HOME". Write for your copy to Tom Gard, c/o MOLSON'S BREWERY LIMITED, Post Office Box No. 1600, Place d'Armes, Montreal, Quebec.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Joint Ministerial Meeting Held in Grenville

The Argenteuil - Two Mountains Ministerial Association met with the Eastern Ontario Ministerial Association at Grenville on June 19th at the home of the Rev. P. R. Stote, Rector of Grenville.

The meeting was addressed by Mr. Arthur L. Paterson, of Hudson Heights, a retired business man; who spoke on the subject of "Christian Fellowship in Prayer Cells". Drawing on a wide range of personal experience, Mr. Paterson gave many examples of how great work had been begun and carried through in prayer. One committee on which he had served had no agenda and no minutes other than the petitions which had been unanimously drawn up by the members of the committee, and, in time, most of these cards were marked with a large "A" for Answered; and this was the committee that was responsible for the growth and expansion of the Montreal Y.M.C.A. from just one building to the many branches it has in the city today. "Let us lay aside our busyness" urged Mr. Paterson "and wait upon God; for such waiting is the only road to an effective ministry".

The meeting expressed regret at the impending departure of the Argenteuil Association's president, the Rev. W. G. Duncan, and wished him every blessing and happiness in his new field. At the lunch, which was served by Mrs. Stote and a committee of ladies, a birthday cake was presented to the Rev. A. J. Poole, Rector of Vankleek Hill, by the Rev. Dr. Holden, the President of the Eastern Ontario Ministerial Association.

It is planned to hold another joint gathering in the Fall. Warm appreciation was expressed to the Rev. G. T. Spriggs whose vision and initiative had made possible this meeting; and good wishes for his speedy recovery were sent to him.

"This Beautiful Earth, in God's Purpose."

Our kind, loving Creator of the heavens and the earth, whose name alone is Jehovah (Psalms 83:18). . . In His book, the Bible, He says "The heaven is My throne, and the earth is My footstool: I will make the place of My feet Glorious. (Isaiah 66:1, 60:13.)

LITERAL EARTH TO ABIDE AND BE INHABITED FOREVER

Gen. 1:1: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth".

Isa. 45: 18: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heaven; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited".

Eccl. 1:4: "One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever".

Ps. 37: 11, 29; Matt. 5:5: "The meek shall inherit the earth; and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace. The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever".

Ps. 78:69: "He built his sanctuary like high palaces, like the earth which he hath established for ever".

Ps. 115: 16: "The heaven, even the heaven, are the Lord's: but the earth hath he given to the children of men".

Ps. 119: 90: "Thou hast established the earth, and it abideth".

Prov. 2: 21, 22: "The upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it. But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it".

Prov. 10: 30: "The righteous shall never be removed".

See also: Ps. 104: 5; Isa. 60: 21.

THE SEARCH FOR PEACE

Peace is as sure as Tomorrows sunrise, and just as independent of man. Unto us a son is born, unto us a son is given, and the governments shall be upon His shoulders. Of His government and peace there shall be no end. Isaiah 9-67. Daniel 2-44.

"I DELIGHT TO DO THY WILL, O MY GOD; YEA, THY LAW IS WITHIN MY HEART."
— Psalm 40:8, Am. Stan. Ver.

It was a delight to the psalmist David to know what God's will was and then to do it. To know what to do he gave careful consideration to God's law and filled his heart with it. As a result, David is spoken of in the Scriptures as "a man after God's own heart". Would you not like to have a place in God's memory too? Could any creature ask for a greater honor? Little wonder that David expressed delight! If this is your desire, begin now to fill your mind and heart with God's written Word, the Bible. The Watchtower edition of the American Standard Version, from which the above verse is quoted, may be had for only $1.50. Send for your copy today. — 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto, Ont.

A MAN'S BEER

Corner Brook, Nfld. (CP) — An advertisement received by the Western Star recently read: For sale — one horse, aged 12, weighs 1200. She is the soul of honor, kindness and discretion. Her strength is like that of an elephant and her disposition is more loving than a schmoo. Great crocodile tears roll down my cheeks at the thought of selling her, but a man must have his beer.

Man-Sized Sandwiches

Ever since the Fourth Earl of Sandwich invented the "sandwich" in the 19th century, people have been eating sandwiches at picnics, parties, cross-country trips and for midnight lunches and even for home meals. Man-sized are those "square meal-in-one" sandwiches which are perennial favorites for summer suppers or lunches. When preparing these sandwiches, cut the bread in regular sized slices and use plenty of filling.

On hot summer days everyone has an excuse to be lazy and the housewife can be lazy about food too. Man-sized sandwiches are the solution to suppers which are prepared quickly and easily and the housewife can keep cool making them because little or no cooking is required. When the family supper is to be served picnic style a variety of tempting sandwiches may be prepared, all taste-appealing but appetite-appeasing too. A "dagwood" or a "club" sandwich can be enjoyed by any member of the family from father to the teen-agers. An excellent combination for this type of sandwich is ham and mustard on one layer and lettuce and tomatoes on the second layer. If father prefers a plainer sandwich, cold sliced meat on one layer and pickle relish on the second is the type for him.

Mrs. Housewife should try varying her sandwiches by using rolls or buns instead of bread. For the next picnic supper a wiener roll may be split, hallowed out and filled with chicken or salmon salad, or a hamburger bun may be filled with cheese, sliced tomatoes and crisp bacon. A broiled wiener, of course, is a "natural" for a long soft roll, and a variety of spicy chili sauces, pickles, mustard or relishes are the finishing touches necessary for this favorite repast. If a hamburger bun is to be used, the old fashioned "denver" filling of scrambled eggs which has onions and diced ham added to it, is always in demand.

Sometimes the family prefers a hot sandwich to a cold one. If this is the case, there are numerous types which may be prepared. Grilled or toasted sandwiches are hot and tempting. Hot fillings on bread or buns are another form of hot sandwich and french toasted sandwiches are a third alternative not forgetting of course the hot meat or chicken sandwich served with gravy. Practically any sandwich may be grilled or toasted. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture suggest this tasty but inexpensive sandwich spread which is excellent on toasted or plain sandwiches.

Bologna Sandwich Filling

¼ lb. bologna or wieners, 2 tablespoons chopped pickles, 1½ teaspoons vinegar from pickles, ¼ cup mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon minced onion, ¼ teaspoon spicy meat sauce, ¼ cup ground raw carrot, 2 tablespoons chopped celery.

Grind bologna, add the other ingredients and mix well. This makes 1½ cups of filling.

For the sandwich which is to have a hot filling try hot meat loaf with chili sauce or hot sausages with applesauce and see if the family doesn't welcome this change in diet.

To most housewives the french-toasted sandwich is something new and different. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture give these suggestions. Fill the sandwich with ground meat and pickle, or sardines and pickle, or a cheese mixture and then dip the sandwiches in this french-toast mixture:

2 Eggs, ¾ cup of milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, pepper.

Blend slightly beaten eggs, milk, salt and pepper. Dip each sandwich in this mixture. Sauté in a small amount of fat until brown on both sides.

Any type of hot cooked meat, whether it be beef, pork, lamb, or liver may be served on one or two slices of bread and covered with gravy. The result is a delicious hot meat sandwich. The left-over Sunday roast may be used up by serving this satisfying sandwich.

"Snackwich" is the name given to that type of sandwich served for evening lunches. This type of sandwich is pretty enough to appeal to the ladies, but substantial enough to give the men more than one bite. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture give this suggestion for a "snackwich".

Using a large cooky cutter, cut rounds from ½ inch slices of bread spread with softened butter. Cut the centres from half these rounds with a small cooky cutter. Spread the full rounds of bread generously with chopped chicken and celery, moistened with salad dressing (or any other suitable filling). Top with the doughnut-like circles of bread and fill the centres with sliced pickles or small onions. Spread the small rounds with a nippy cheese and serve separately. These sandwiches would be just right for the next canasta or bridge party.

Say It With Sauce

By Betty Barclay

Tempting sauces add relish to almost any dish you can mention. The housewife who takes pride in her culinary skill, sees to it that her recipe file contains enough sauce recipes to take care of any demand made upon her.

Many of these recipes call for Worcestershire Sauce — the addition of which gives a tang that thrills. Below you will find a mushroom sauce recipe. Try it and you will see what I mean.

Incidentally, if you are looking for taste treats, keep a bottle of Worcestershire Sauce on the table with your salt and pepper—to use in stuffings, soups, sauces, vegetables and meat dishes of all kinds.

Mushroom Sauce

¼ Lb. mushrooms, 1½ cups mushroom stock, 2½ tablespoons flour, ½ cup milk, salt to taste, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire Sauce.

Peel mushrooms and cut off stems. Cover stems and peelings with water in a saucepan and simmer 15 minutes. Meanwhile, slice caps and sauté in butter 5 minutes. Gradually add milk and stock to mushrooms. Salt to taste. Stir while bringing to boiling point. When sauce thickens, add Worcestershire Sauce.

BERNARD BRADEN, the celebrated Vancouver actor, director and story-teller, who has made a big hit in recent months with theatre and radio audiences in the United Kingdom. Currently, he is appearing as "Mitch" in the London stage production of A Streetcar Named Desire, opposite Vivien Leigh; writing and starring in the BBC show Breakfast with Braden; directing actor John Mills in a drama series for Radio Luxembourg; co-starring with his wife, Barbara Kelly, in the BBC show Leave Your Name and Number; and recording five stories a week for his CBC Trans-Canada network show, Bernie Braden Tells a Story, heard every weekday afternoon at 4.30. Bernie's success in London show business has been noted by many critics. For example, Roy Rick of the Daily Express wrote this after hearing Breakfast With Braden: "Braden is as cosy as carpet slippers; as astringent as a good mouthwash, at least as witty as his nearest rival and very human".

Hurrah! School's Out

Yes, vacation time is here once more—and the daily task of packing the lunch box is over for the summer months. However, Mother will have her own luncheon problems at home, wondering just what to give the kiddies after a morning of hard play or what to serve for a light between-meal snack. So Mother, why not prepare a healthful chocolate milk drink to be served with gingersnaps or any tasty cookie. Dairy foods with their high nutritional value, and relatively low cost, are particularly popular right now and are being featured nationally all through June — National Dairy Month.

Here's the easy-to-make recipe. The youngsters will be flocking in from play in a little while, so better have a pitcher handy.

Chocolate Milk Drink

1 Package chocolate rennet powder, 3 cups cold milk.

Beat contents of package of chocolate rennet powder and cold milk with rotary beater or shake in milk shaker or fruit jar until dissolved. To make more readily digestible, let stand 15 minutes before drinking.

Variations:

Add a few drops of peppermint extract or 1 tablespoon honey to basic recipe above. Serve with cookies, if desired.

Britain's Swans a Nuisance

London (CP) — Britain's swan population is increasing. In some parts of the country, waters are so crowded fishermen complain they can't get a nibble.

Ornithologists aren't sure why, but they say the "quiet years", during the war may have something to do with it.

Wild swans are the chief offenders.

"They fly in and disturb both the fisherman and the river waterfowl", said R. H. Turk, swanmaster for the Vinters Company.

"There are just too many of the birds", said R. Preston Donaldson, secretary of the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds.

In income and excess profits only, Canadian corporations paid $673,000,000 in 1949.

Britain Aids Manitoba And Rimouski - Cabano

The British people, always mindful of Canadian wartime and post-war generosity, have jumped at the opportunity of making a contribution to the people of the flood-ravaged areas of Manitoba, and the burned-out cities of Rimouski and Cabano.

A B.O.A.C. Stratocruiser — the "Caledonia"—arrived in Winnipeg on May 27th, with the first consignment of $310,000 worth of relief supplies voted by the United Kingdom Government. The "Caledonia" flew direct from London, England, and carried a cargo of 2,000 towels, 3,000 sheets, 3,000 pillowcases, 500 blankets, 1,600 children's blankets, 1,600 cot pillowcases, 1,000 pairs of men's socks, and quantities of children's sock's, grown-ups' shirts, slacks, dresses, as well as curtaining, children's toys and surgical bandage. The "Caledonia" left England again on May 31st with 2,000 pairs of men's socks, 1,500 pairs of cotton double sheets, 1,500 pairs of flannelette double sheets, 3,000 pillowcases, 6,000 tea-cloths, 1,600 pairs of boots and shoes, and 1,000 large blankets, and unloaded in Winnipeg on June 2nd (incidentally breaking the record for the run!).

U.K. officials are in touch with the provincial authorities in Quebec and the Federal Government, on supplies for Rimouski and Cabano. These are to be rushed to Quebec as soon as needs are known.

Need Stability In Agriculture

"FARM DAY" GATHERING OF QUE. FARM FORUMS AT MACDONALD COLLEGE

A plea for recognition by society of the "special difficulties" of the farmer and for "honest thought and prompt action" to check a "downward spiral" of Canada's farm economy was made Saturday by J. D. Lang, president of the Quebec Farm Forums Association.

Mr. Lang spoke at the annual meeting of the Quebec Farm Forums Association held at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, in conjunction with the annual Farm Day of the agricultural and teacher training institution.

More than 400 farmers and agricultural experts from many parts of the province attended the Farm Day and toured the exhibits illustrating recent developments of importance to farmers.

"If ever there was a time when honest thought and prompt action could check a downward spiral, it is now", Mr. Lang said.

"Even though in the past the farmer has been less vocal than some other groups, he is equally a human being, a citizen, a taxpayer and a producer and it is equally proper that his special difficulties should be recognized by society".

Floyd F. Griesbach, secretary of the Quebec Farm Forums Association, stressed the value of the forums in training farm people, particularly young people, to discuss problems and express ideas clearly.

A display prepared by the 14 departments of the college and illustrating agricultural progress in the 20th century was a feature of the Farm Day.

Visitors also inspected the new agronomy greenhouse erected in memory of the late Professor R. B. Summerby, and the various exhibits.

The program included a visit to the household science department, a demonstration of livestock improvement methods, an exhibit of vegetable varieties, a trip to Maxwelton Farm to see a portable irrigation sprinkler in use and a demonstration of equipment for harvesting grass for silage.

Winnipeg (CP) — Grasshopper menace to the Red River Valley may have been lowered by flood conditions. Experts say that though the waters would not destroy the eggs, hatching in some places would be retarded long enough to allow some crops to advance beyond the stage where damage would be done.

Opening Ceremony of "Lewis King School"

A signal honor to an educational campaigner in this community was witnessed at Terrebonne Heights last Saturday, when a new school was officially opened, bearing the name of the "Lewis King Intermediate School". Dr. J. R. Percival, Director of Quebec Protestant Education, was speaker for the occasion, paying tribute to Mr. King for his efforts towards consolidation of the Mascouche-Terrebonne Heights districts and the materialization of this school. Both in point of age and years of service, Mr. King was the oldest official in the Quebec Department of Education, he stated.

The school, with four-classroom accommodation, is the most modern building of its size and type in this province. A feature of its design is to provide the maximum of natural lighting.

The function, held in an assembly hall comprising two interconnecting classrooms, was attended by a large gathering of parents and friends, including Mr. Lewis J. King and a few of his associates from this town.

Miss Ellen Bompas First Ontario Woman To Judge Livestock

(Otawa Farm Journal)

Ellen Bompas of Bell's Corners, one of Ontario's foremost breeders of Ayrshire cattle, will be the first woman in the history of Ontario agricultural fairs to judge livestock.

Miss Bompas has been named as judge at the Elgin Dairy Cattle Show at Aylmer, Ont. next September.

Miss Bompas, who has consistently taken top prizes with her blooded herd at cattle shows throughout Ontario for several years past, recently returned from a trip through England and Scotland, bringing back top grade Ayrshire breeding stock from their native pastures of Ayrshire.

A DOMINION DAY TRIBUTE

In London last week-end The Sunday Express paid tribute to Canada on the celebration of Dominion Day, which will be observed on July 1. Following is an extract from an editorial appearing in that newspaper:

"In joint pride, deep affection and gratitude the people of Britain send her greetings.

"For what a story of resolution and faith is here! Great cities stand where once was the naked prairie. Today there are more than 13,000,000 Canadians — virile, enterprising, sure of their destiny." . . Canada's story was "a spur and inspiration to us all", the editorial concluded.

Benefit Show For Flood Relief

The benefit performance for the fire and flood victims held at the Rio Theatre, Lachute, last week, resulted in total receipts of $261.25, the only expense being the amusement tax of $13.80, as the theatre had been graciously offered by Mr. A. Fassio for this benefit. An auction sale was held of articles that had been contributed by Lachute businessmen, which realized $64.25; tickets sold for the entertainment amounted to $197.

Contributions to the Lachute Watchman Fund

Appreciation is expressed to the following who have sent in their donations since our last appeal. It is still not too late to forward additional contributions, for the need is great. Federal and Provincial grants will only help to rebuild the general destruction and havoc, and many of the needy will not be helped by government assistance. .

Flash Explosion In Basement

Lady Suffers Burns as Cleaning Fluid Ignites

Painful burns were suffered by Miss Willow Lavery, sister of Mrs. Walker K. McArthur, when an explosion occurred in the basement of the McArthur home on Foundry Street last Saturday noon. Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon and his brigade responded to the call, and found a considerable blaze in the basement, but were able to control it in quick order.

Miss Lavery had been using a cleaning fluid on the rear porch of the house, and due to rain carried the newly cleaned dresses to the basement to dry. It is believed that, in turning off the electric light switch, a spark ignited the fumes, causing the explosion. One window was blown out and fire completely destroyed the dresses and did much damage in the basement.

Dr. R. Lavigne, of Lachute Mills, treated the victim at a neighbor's home, and she was rushed by ambulance to the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering from severe burns on the face, head and body.

Proposed School Fair At Grenville

(Our District Correspondent)

Grenville —

The local Community Club has recently organized a committee in preparation for the proposed School Fair to be held at Grenville Consolidated School on Friday, September 15, 1950.

Seeds have been obtained from the Quebec Department of Agriculture as well as some purchased by the local club.

Other entries will consist of — girls' sewing, cooking, knitting, canning, and handwork done by the boys.

Special entries such as a show of calves which have been raised by each individual boy or girl, are planned, providing that sufficient entries are made.

The Fair Committee is as follows:

Chairman Mr. A. J. McGerrigle, Secretary and Manager Mr. Harry H. MacKrith, Treasurer Mr. Ulysse Beauchamp.

The appointment of judges will be held at school re-opening. It is hoped that the active participation of parents and interested people in the district will lead to a successful exhibition of work by a great many of the pupils.

Two Robberies Reported to Police

Man Held in Custody

Two robberies were reported to Police Chief D. Villeneuve last week-end.

The office of A. D. McGibbon & Sons was broken into during Thursday night or Friday morning. The thief smashed the glass of the front door, then forcing the lock to gain entrance. A sum of $15 in cash was taken. The other burglary occurred Sunday night at R. Dallaire's, Brownsburg Road.

After investigation, Chief Villeneuve on Tuesday arrested a 34-year-old Lachute resident, who was taken to St. Jerome. It is believed there may be a connection between these robberies and the recent Welden Motors break-in. Provincial police are making further study.

Miss Evelyn Wales, School Nurse, Feted On Retirement

Miss Evelyn Wales, R.N., has returned to the parental home at St. Andrews East to enjoy her retirement after long service in her profession, for the past 18 years as public health nurse in the City of Verdun, Que. . . Writing in "The Guardian", Verdun newspaper, Mel James is author of the following sketch and tribute to her loyalty. . .

(From The Verdun Guardian)

For devoted service . . . !

After 18 years of devoted service to the Verdun public, adults and children, honor was bestowed on Evelyn Wales, of St. Andrews East, school nurse, who retired from active work this week.

"Nurse Wales", as she is known and respected by hundreds of parents, children and civic as well as educational leaders, was feted at a special reception at the Bannantyne School last week.

Good Wishes

While messages of good wishes, praise, and many accounts of her work were spoken by some of the leading figures of Verdun, the slim, slight, elderly nurse sat quietly to the side of the platform. "There is nothing to say", she finally admitted, "except to thank the people for the honor they tendered me and to wish them every success in future years."

She was referring to the special scholarship fund raised by the people of Verdun and put in her name as a tribute to her service in the community. She thanked them for that honor, and added that the personal gifts of a typewriter and easy chair were not expected or needed in addition to the establishment of such a fund.

Nurse Wales has a long and distinguished career behind her. Long before she became the Public Health Nurse for the City of Verdun, in 1932, she had distinguished herself and her profession through devoted service.

Born at Bury, Quebec, she graduated from Lachute Academy in 1907; took Model School Diploma from the Macdonald School for teachers in 1910 with several prizes attached, and taught for three years at the Mount Royal School.

But in 1913 she returned to studies, entering the Nurses' Training School of the Montreal General Hospital, and graduated with honors in 1916.

Until 1930, she was engaged in private nursing, but then, awarded the Flora Madelaine Shaw Memorial Scholarship, she completed a course in public health in the School for Graduate Nurses at McGill University in 1931.

Since then, she has worked in Verdun on, what J. W. MacGillivray, chairman of the Verdun Protestant School Board, called "this gigantic task alone."

In a brief summary to the people of Verdun, who so readily volunteered funds for the establishing of the scholarship, it was pointed out that she had acted as a school attendance officer; as a

Discuss Finance of B'bg Waterworks

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — A special meeting of the Brownsburg council was called for Wednesday evening to discuss the loan by-law, which had been left over from a previous meeting.

The by-law was for the purpose of enabling the council to borrow sufficient money to expand the waterworks, in order to take care of the demands of three additional areas requiring water and sewerage, and to provide for any reasonable additional expenditure in this respect. This was estimated at $25,000.

It now transpires that demands for service had been forwarded to the Board of Health, and that the department at Quebec acting on those demands, required the council to furnish an estimate of the cost, with the necessary plans and specifications.

The council had already ordered its surveyors to undertake the drawing up of plans some years back, and all that was now necessary was to revise the costs as then established. Plans to frame a by-law to put the matter before the vote of the people will perhaps have to be jettisoned in view of the entry of the Board of Health into the matter. If, in the interest of the health and sanitary utilities of the people, the Board of Health consider it necessary that the work be undertaken, no such by-law is necessary, as authorization to borrow the money would come from Quebec.

The areas concerned are St. Lawrence, St. George, Maple Ave. North, as well as some repairs to the existing system.

Salaries and Wages

The meeting also discussed the question of wages for its workers. Some increases had been requested. It was found that the council's employees were very fairly treated having regard to the rates prevailing in neighboring municipalities, and no change was recommended. Two employees recently taken on were advanced to the standard rate. No change in salaries was recommended.

Motorist Has Miracle Escape

While on a business trip, driving on Ontario Highway 17 late last Thursday night, Jim Barbour, of Lachute, lost control of his car near Renfrew, and escaped miraculously as the auto struck a ditch and somersaulted back across the highway. The machine was badly battered as it landed completely upside down, but the driver was able to walk away from the scene of the accident, severely shaken up but suffering nothing more than a few cuts and bruises. Mr. Barbour received treatment that night at the Victoria Hospital in Renfrew, and has since returned to his home in Lachute apparently none the worse for his misadventure.

Memorial Ceremony Dunany Golf Club

On July 1st at the Dunany Golf Course, a Memorial Hole will be opened, coupled with the unveiling and dedication of a tablet to the memory of Garth Fish, who paid the supreme sacrifice in World War II, and in honor the men and women who served their country.

The dedication service will be led by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, of Lachute, who will be introduced by R. E. Raguin, president of Dunany Golf Club.

Members and guests are requested to assemble at the clubhouse at 3 o'clock.

Nominations for School Commission

Nominations for the Lachute Protestant School Commission are to be held next Monday, July 3, and if there is to be an election, this will take place on the following Monday.

Two seats are now vacant, Commissioners Ross Muir and D. R. Bradford having completed their two-year term. At time of going to press, no new names appear to have been mentioned for the vacancies.

Chatham, Ont. (CP) — The local chapter of the society for preservation of barbershop singing has decided to appear at least once a month on any charity program or stage show free of charge. In the event that no shows are planned, they will appear at the old folks home or shelter.

Three Hurt in Highway Crash Near Grenville

Last Friday at 9.30 p.m., a car owned and driven by Louis Gagnon, of Montreal, crashed into a parked semi-trailer belonging to the Marcoux Transport Co., of Hull, Que. The accident occurred about three miles east of Grenville Village on No. 8 Highway. The truck was driven by Armand Demers, of Hull.

Severe injuries were sustained by three of the four people occupying the car, and the automobile, valued at $1,800, was a complete wreck. The injured were Louis Gagnon, 42, with six fractured ribs and a dislocated right hip; his wife, 39, fractured skull, facial cuts and bruises, and in serious condition; Mrs. Roger Gagnon, 25 also of Montreal, with bruises on her face, head and both arms; her husband suffered less serious injuries. All four occupants were treated by Dr. Irwin Smith, of Hawkesbury, and were taken by ambulance to the Notre Dame Hospital in that town. Roger Gagnon was released from hospital on the following Monday, but the other victims are still confined for treatment.

The accident was investigated by Traffic Officer Howard Jones, of Lachute.

Also attending the ceremony were: Norman Chippendale, a student of Bannantyne School; J. W. MacGillivray, Chairman of the Verdun Protestant School Board; Frank Wilson, a trustee, and N. D. Hill, Secretary Treasurer of the board.

W. Inst. Meetings Reported

Arundel W. I. branch reports 30 members and visitors at the June meeting. Impressions of the county convention held in Arundel last month, indicated a very successful gathering, about 150 ladies sitting down to lunch. . . The sum of $5 was donated to the Manitoba Relief Fund, and plans were made to raise money for the School Fair. A lawn social is to be held and tickets to be sold on quilts.

Brownsburg had 36 members and two visitors. Mr. A. Ogilvie, guest speaker, gave an address on transplanting shrubs and flowers. A gift of an electric perculator was presented to a member, Mrs. D. Staniforth and Mr. Staniforth, who leave Brownsburg shortly. English "Home and Country" magazines were distributed, and a food parcel was sent to a branch in England. $10 was donated for Manitoba flood victims.

Frontier donated $5 toward prizes for handicrafts at the Lachute Fair, also $5 for Manitoba flood relief. An address was given by Dr. I. Smith, of Hawesbury, on the Miracles of Modern Medicine. The roll-call was "a cure for burns". Twenty-five members and two guests attended.

Lachute branch had an attendance of 30, answering their roll-call by an exchange of perennial plants and slips. Mrs. S. Milnes convener of Agriculture, gave a talk on Plant Psychology. A report of the convention in Arundel was given by Mrs. S. Milnes and Mrs. Gordon Dobbie.

Morin Heights had as guest speaker Edwin Holgate, R.C.A., who spoke on Arts in various countries. Thirteen persons from this community attended the blood-donor clinic at Lachute in May. Plans were made for the annual W.I. picnic on July 5 at Lake Anne. The roll-call was answered by suggestions for raising money.

Grandmothers' Night was celebrated by the Pioneer Branch, the roll-call being "a tale of pioneer days, as told by my grandmother". An exhibition of grandmothers' possessions also created much interest. One member showed pillow lace and tools for making it, explaining that her mother in England had been asked to make six yokes for Queen Mary's night-robes. Mrs. Cooke gave a description of passing through Winnipeg, and told of havoc caused by the floods.

Upper Lachute - East End had an attendance of 21. This branch also celebrated Grandmothers' Night. Five dollars was donated for prizes for the School Fair. One member attended the short course at Macdonald College. A photo contest was held.

Lakefield reports 16 members and six guests at the branch meeting for June. The roll-call was "a book suitable for a young girl". Mrs. Geo. Leggett, hon. president, was a guest at this meeting, which took the form of a party for a member leaving shortly on a trip to England. Plans were made for a food sale and sale of work in July.

Eleven grandmothers attended the Jerusalem-Bethany meeting. Four were great-grandmothers, one of whom was first president of the branch. Each was presented with a cup and saucer as a souvenir. Each member brought a quilt block made from one of grandmother's patterns, also one of grandmother's handed-down possessions.

Foundation Laid At Brownsburg

Brownsburg — After a lengthy period of form-building and other preparations, concrete for the foundation walls of Brownsburg Legion's War Memorial Hall was poured last Saturday. The pouring of approximately 60 cubic yards of concrete was completed in nine hours, thanks to enthusiasm shown by Legion members and other volunteers who — although most of them were inexperienced in the work—did their best from start to finish.

Valuable assistance was given by these volunteer laborers, as well as those who loaned the mixer, barrows, and experienced advice and help. The refreshments donated by St. Onge's, Longtin's, and Maple Avenue Grocery were most welcome, and the Brownsburg Legion Branch wishes to thank all who helped in any manner.

Now that this phase of the work has been passed, the building will progress rapidly, and before too long the work put on it will really show.

New Explosives Plant Out West for C-I-L

Montreal, June 26 — Canadian Industries Limited today announced the acquisition of approximately 1,200 acres of land about eight miles south of Calgary for the purpose of erecting a commercial explosives plant costing between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. It will supply the rapidly expanding oil and mineral industries in Alberta and the Northwest Territories.

Plans for construction already are underway and about 100 persons will be employed when production first begins, possibly early in 1952.

Pleasurable Event at Lachute United Church

Presentations in Recognition Of Valued Services

On Thursday evening last at the Lachute United church hall, a happy occasion was enjoyed by members of the choir, Y.P.U., W.M.S., Ladies' Aid, Y.W.A., and ladies of the rummage-sale committee, when they combined their resources to make a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Morrison, who are leaving shortly for New Brunswick.

In making the presentation, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough paid high tribute to the Morrisons for their good works in the choir, Sunday School, Y.P.U., Bible Class and musical field. Mr. C. L. Duncan also spoke on behalf of the choir, and of the influence that Mr. Morrison had exerted in encouraging the younger members to join the choral group.

The gift of an electric record-player was received by Mrs. Morrison, and appreciation was voiced by her husband.

Another presentation was made by members of the choir to Miss Verna Elliott, who has been a faithful member of that group. In honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. Clifford Armstrong, Miss Elliott was presented with a set of silver spoons, for which she expressed her grateful thanks.

PARKING SHORTAGE

Halifax (CP) — City council here is prodding the municipal affairs department regarding approval of a capital borrowing resolution for off-street parking facilities. The council voted $125,000 for purchase of land in the downtown area and Mayor Gordon Kinley says: "Fall is going to come and we still won't have it".

Power from the Ottawa

In a recent series of columns, Gatineau Lines told its readers something about the way in which the Gatineau River had been harnessed to supply electricity to the 55,000 customers of Gatineau Power Company. We talked about the mighty Paugan plant, and of the only slightly-smaller Farmers and Chelsea power houses farther down the river. And we talked about the giant Mercier and Cabonga dams far up the Gatineau River which store 140,000,000,000 cubic feet of water between them so that it can be released as needed to keep the power plants humming.

But not all Gatineau's electricity is developed on the Gatineau River. In the first place, small local power houses — close to a dozen of them—contribute their share of electricity in various parts of the system. In the second place, the waters of the Ottawa River are put to work to help carry the load required by a far-flung and expanding territory.

Chief of the Ottawa River power producers is the Bryson plant, located at Calumet Falls some 50 miles up-river from Ottawa and Hull. Bryson joined the Gatineau electrical network in 1928 when it was purchased from the Ottawa River Power Company at a time when some 25 small, isolated power systems were being amalgamated to form Gatineau Power.

Backbone of the Bryson plant is a concrete dam 1,340 feet long and close to 60 feet high. Forming a part of this structure is a sluice dam 380 feet long, a 330-foot spillway section, two bulkheads totalling 390 feet, and the power house itself — a steel and concrete structure 240 feet long. In the powerhouse are the generators, transformers and the controls for the various gates in and around the plant.

While Bryson's capacity of 78,000 horsepower is small, compared with the 238,000 horsepower at Paugan, or the 290,000 horsepower contribution of the Chelsea-Farmers "twins", it is an important addition to the facilities of Gatineau Power — particularly in these days of sharply-increasing demand when every bit of power which can be produced is being put to good use.

Many of our customers, in places far removed from the Ottawa River, get steadier, more reliable electric service because Bryson never sleeps.

Self-Feeding of Hogs

Self-feeding hogs has become so general now-a-days that feeding in this way has become the accepted method in many districts. This is understandable, for the self-feeder eliminates morning and evening feedings, and so saves time at the busy periods of the day. While the self-feeder requires attention, it need only be a daily one to make sure that feed is available and that no block has occurred in the feed hopper.

But self-feeding should not lead to carelessness and to neglect of the pigs. It is important to watch the development of the pigs, possibly more so than with hand feeding, and prepare a feed mixture suitable to their growth and condition. To do this, the feed mixture will need to be varied from time to time.

In developing feed mixtures for self-feeding, possibly the simplest way is to consider first the feed mixtures used for hand feeding. There are commercial pig starters, pig growers, and pig finishers available, or the operator can mix his own mixtures from home-grown grains along with protein and mineral supplements. When self-feeding such mixtures it is advisable to include more of the bulky feeds such as oats, alfalfa meal or bran. With increased bulk in the ration the pig will still satisfy his appetite, but will consume less of the fattening feeds included in the mixture.

Self-feeding of market hogs is suitable for winter or summer, for indoors or outdoors, for dry lot or pasture. In any case, fresh water should always be supplied, preferably running, or from some self-watering device, regularly and frequently filled.

Complete information on the self-feeding of swine, suitable feed mixtures and a plan with construction details of a self-feeder are contained in Circular No. 129 "The Self-Feeder for Hogs" which can be obtained free upon request from Information Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Mineral Deficiencies Injurious to Plants

During last year's harvest, many Canadian farmers noticed strange markings on the leaves of their crops and wondered what trick nature was performing. More than likely, these were "hunger signs" — nature's way of showing mineral deficiencies.

When essential plant food is not available, plants show hunger signs which can be detected and diagnosed by careful observation and study, states G. R. Snyder, agronomist of C-I-L's agricultural chemicals division.

Phosphorus deficiency in growing corn plants, he explains, is characterized by stunted growth and dark green color. Sometimes the leaves and stems have a tendancy to become purplish. Potassium deficiency in alfalfa is indicated by small white spots around the margin of the green leaf. Later, the tissue between these spots becomes yellowish green to yellow and finally dies and turns brown. Severity of marginal yellowing increases progressively from the plants' top to the older lower leaves.

Mr. Enyder says that brown heart of turnip and corky core of apples have been traced to a boron deficiency. In recent years the application of borax to these crops has saved a measurable proportion from being unfit for sale.

Tests with apple trees showed that boron could be applied as an injection directly into the wood of the tree, as a spray or by direct soil application. Results from turnip tests produced equally satisfactory results.

Use of Windmills As Power Plants

Marshall Plan Experts Decided on Joint Research To Speed Results

Paris (Reuters) — Europe's colorful windmills, decorative but obsolete, may come into their own again soon as electric power plants.

Experts called together by the European Marshall Plan organization under the chairmanship of Professor D. Dresden, of Holland have decided upon a program of joint research to speed up the low-cost production of electric power.

Several countries have already carried out experiments. High costs and the need for extensive meteorological surveys have so far restricted progress.

In Britain alone, it is estimated that the output of wind-generated electric power could equal that produced from hydro-electric sources.

Individual countries are making plans to build pilot plants and conduct research on their own lines, using as far as possible common methods of meteorological measurements and a uniform presentation of the results.

Joint Research

The experts have proposed the selection of a common site on which co-operative research will be exchanged between countries.

In France, 150 meteorological sites, including one on top of the 930-foot-high Eiffel Tower, are already providing the wind data required for the selection of a suitable design of wind-driven generators and of the sites for their erection.

Britain has set up a windpower research station in the Orkneys.

Experts have discovered that, in marked contrast to hydro-electric power, output from wind power, at any given site varies only slightly from season to season.

In Scotland, the price per unit of electricity derived from wind power promises to be little more than half that of electricity generated by conventional power stations.

Dominion Day, 1950

"God of our Fathers, who were men of worth,
Bring in through us our native land's rebirth.
Throned in ten million hearts firm, strong and free,
Have Thy Dominion, Lord, from sea to sea.
From many nations, we her children stream,
Make this, our land, the Empire of Thy Dream."

EVERY YEAR on July first, Canadians silently and verbally affirm their belief in this Canada of ours. This year, possibly to an extent never before experienced, individuals and families streaming in from countries all around the world, will celebrate our national holiday. They have founded new homes in Canada — have they found the true democracy they came so far to seek? They are discovering the untold wealth of farm and forest, mine and mill — are they finding the counterpart in the hearts and minds and spirit of the Canadian people?

Many new-comers have escaped, literally, through a chink in the Iron Curtain. Do we make sure they do not find here a "steely curtain of selfishness"? They have fled from hunger and hurt, disease and death — physical, moral and spiritual. Must they encounter here the contagion of materialism and the disregard of moral law which increases divorce, industrial disputes, traffic accidents and crime?

"We who are your children, know you, O our land", so do not let us fool ourselves and thus strip our country of her mightiest opportunity. With homes that can be bulwarks, with educational facilities unsurpassed anywhere, let us keep remembering that the leadership of the future goes to men of moral courage; that as a great Oxford philosopher said, "A nation that has grown up intellectually, must grow up morally or perish".

For this, we need a re-dedication of our people to the elementary virtues of honesty, unselfishness and love and we must have the will to find what unites people rather than what divides them.

July first, 1950, can become for Canada the symbol of a new era — a new age leading on to a new world.

Pass the Spinach, Again

A NUTRITIONIST, claiming that too many Toronto school-children suffer from malnutrition, puts part of the blame on their fathers. After blasting mothers who don't find it worth while to get out of bed in time to prepare breakfast for Junior, he deals with the man who turns up his nose at various health-giving foods which he considers more nutritious than palatable.

But there's another side to the nutritionist's case against fathers, whom he accuses of influencing their offspring against some of the most vitamin-rich items on the menu.

We wonder if some of his criticism is based on the theory that if Pop downs a forkful of spinach or a spoonful of mush, smothers his grimace and asserts loudly that it tastes wonderful, the youngsters will clamor for second helpings of the stuff. . . Maybe that works in some families, but not many. We've seen fathers try that "my, it's wonderful" stunt and the results are always the same.

There are several remedies for malnutrition, such as a balanced diet, a bigger food budget, or even a bit of child psychology. But if it has to be psychology, let's be subtle about it. Play soft music, or keep the kids amused — or, if necessary, tie the little so-and-so to his chair and force the meal down his little throat.

Let's not make a guinea-pig out of Father. He has troubles enough.

Civic Progress in Newfoundland

ALL CANADIAN municipalities should salute Corner Brook, Newfoundland, in its effort to reach self-government status and cityhood.

If the current campaign arouses an adequate sense of civic responsibility, Newfoundland will have its second city; and a needed transformation of the archaic municipal taxing and administration system in Newfoundland — designed for settlement administration only — could well follow. A striking example of post-Confederation modernization in Canada's tenth province is on its way in this one community. Only St. John's now stands on its own civic feet.

Unlike the problem confronting similar amalgamations of communities in Canada, the Corner Brook difficulty is not financial. Once of company-town status, less than 95 homes on the floor of the pretty saucer-valley are still owned by the Bowater pulp and paper organization, and the per-capita wealth spells remarkable area prosperity. Corner Brook's valley holds 20,000 people, and every family seems to own an automobile.

The great problem in Corner Brook lies in the Newfoundland habit of not paying property taxes. Hundreds of home-owners in the fire and disease-endangered hillside communities of Corner Brook have actually never paid taxes on their homes. Added to this, residents in the company townsite have enjoyed abnormally low charges for every modern municipal service. Both groups will need an altered viewpoint.

Threat of fire and disease has forced this campaign to engender civic consciousness. A lawyer, a paper mill foreman, and a mill worker and union leader, are leading it. Another building boom has overtaken Newfoundland's pulp-and-paper backdoor, and the hillside neighborhoods are without water for fire and sewerage as more and more substantial houses are erected over the original boom-town debris of 1926. A municipal survey has been made, and a water and sewerage estimate is proceeding.

Canadian municipalities, suffering their own amalgamation and development headaches, will watch with interest while Corner Brook works out its destiny.

IT IS estimated that exports to Canada this year of tubes and steel strip will exceed $7,000,000 in value — according to M. G. Stewart, chairman of a U.K. firm. This firm has also fulfilled an order valued at $750,000 comprising 78 miles of pipe required for a 10-inch diameter pipeline to be built from Gretna, Manitoba, to the new refinery under construction at Winnipeg. The order was the result of a personal visit to Canada last November by a director of the firm, and is gratifying news to those who are ardent for the promotion of British-Canadian trade.

WOULD fewer M.P.'s at higher salaries give us better government? Recently The Financial Post put that question to a group of well-known Canadians. Not many of them thought so.

Answers emphasized, among other things, that one duty of Parliament was to represent the people; that some constituencies were already too large, and that the M.P. could not do his job properly if he were made responsible to a larger area.

Another point which was made was that a smaller House of Commons might tend toward more bureaucratic control.

I, TOO - Saw England

— By T. D. Titman, Asst. Editor —

Intent only on relaxation and a long-delayed visit to my home folks, my recent tour of England was to be no "busman's holiday". To ply the pen and write the record were far from my intentions. But the newsman's instinct somehow impels me to tell my story — to share, especially with those who love Old England, those commonplace aspects of life unwritten in the guide-books.

Sublimely unconscious are the years of one's youth — or so I am led to believe by the many things that escaped my early observations in the land of my upbringing. An English education embraces the monumental facts, structures, arts, traditions; but it takes maturer vision, perhaps, to appreciate the little things of daily life, the customs and characteristics of common people.

Although I was prepared for almost anything (both pleasant and unpleasant), let me hasten to assert that my holiday was enjoyable throughout — with the exception of but one unhappy sidelight in my travels, which will receive due mention.

Travels? . . Facilities of travel can make or mar one's program; they are of first importance to the tourist. But in this factor, let it be said that England excels. Having tried every method of transit short of the air routes — autobus, automobile, tramway, surface railway and Underground — the verdict, generally speaking, is one of high efficiency and the utmost convenience.

"Ducks" and "dear" from a bus conductress (or a barmaid), incidentally, are not terms of endearment; they are as impersonal as "sir" or "madam" heard in Montreal. The conductresses, or "clippies", are a model of efficiency; one soon takes them for granted. At first, however — especially if one uses the telephone at night and is answered by a male operator—the stranger feels he is abroad in a cock-eyed world!

But returning to the subject of transportation: The coach (autobus) services are cheaper and generally cleaner than the railways, which of course are nationalized; and rail fares have been further increased just recently. In London and other cities, a few of the old streetcar services survive, but generally speaking the buses and trolley buses have taken over. The latter have a remarkable power of acceleration, while the newer motor conveyances all have gearless transmission, which makes for smoother operation.

The "queue", a wartime institution, will survive as a custom dear to the Englishman's heart. We witnessed its potentialities from the social angle, and endorsed its effectiveness in avoiding the obstruction of corridors and sidewalks. Wherever two or three English folk are waiting for a bus, they instinctively form a "queue".

Coach services link all the major centres of population. We had occasion to use the Southdown Coach Lines, which form an intricate network between coastal towns and the interior in the south and south-east. The Poole depot at Brighton is a despatching centre where coaches load and unload with clock-work precision. There are similar lines connecting London with the suburbs, and operating from all the larger cities.

One must mention also that phenomenon of speed, the London "Underground". In the tubes dug deep through London clay, to which thousands descend by long escalators, several lines interconnect and electric trains operate on a meticulous schedule. It matters not if your coat-tail protrudes, the automatic doors will close infallibly. Or if your maiden aunt is separated from her escort; the twain shall meet at the next station. . . Travel by the "Underground" is almost foolproof. Maps, indicators and ticket vending machines reduce human perplexities to a minimum.

It is a revelation at rush hours, to see the masses of humanity moved so expeditiously in and out of London's business areas.

Transit has made great strides; in the 28 years since England was my country, the progress has been amazing.

Sunburn Cause of Absenteeism in Industry

The greatest of all causes of industrial absenteeism in July and August is sunburn, states an editorial in the magazine Health, official publication of the Health League of Canada.

"It is said that during the war no less than 50,000 workers were unable to work on an average day because of illness, most of which was preventable, and sometimes the means of preventing absenteeism due to illness are amazingly simple", says Health.

"For example, although sunburn is a disagreeable thing for most people, it should be a particularly disturbing thing to industry because it interferes with the employees' ability to work. The week-end fishing or relaxing at the beach may have disastrous effects resulting in the loss of several days' work during the next week owing to sunburn. As a matter of fact, a canvass of industrial physicians not long ago revealed the fact that, especially in the months of July and August, the greatest of all causes of absenteeism was no more nor less than just sunburn".

The editorial states that because this fact is not more generally known, not sufficient effort is made by individuals or by industry to prevent sunburn.

"Sunburn may be prevented", says Health, "by taking it in small doses until one's skin has developed its protective coat of tan. But there is a chemical means of preventing sunburn. There is at least one proprietary preparation which is virtually an absolute preventive of sunburn, if applied before exposure to the sun's rays. There may be more."

B or M Consumer Report For First Quarter, 1950

A rise in the dollar-volume of automobile purchases accounted entirely for the increase in Canadian retail sales in the first quarter of 1950, according to the Bank of Montreal's Business Review for June. This is the highlight of the analysis of consumer spending, contained in the review, issued this week.

Beginning with background data, the B of M stresses that "the mass demand of some 13,700,000 Canadians for consumer goods and services is considerably larger" than export trade and new capital expansion combined.

"In 1949", the statement notes, "consumer spending amounted to no less than $10,750 millions as compared with export demand for Canadian goods and services of about $4,000 millions and domestic investment in plant, equipment and housing totalling approximately $3,400 millions". Eliminating the effect of the rise in both population and living costs, it would appear that Canadians are consuming, in real terms, about 50 per cent more goods and service per capita that immediately prior to the war.

Percentage of Savings to Income More Than Doubled Since 1935-39

In aggregate, last year's consumer expenditures equalled 91.8 per cent of disposable personal income after direct taxes, the bank comments. The remaining 8.2 per cent represented personal saving in various forms. While this proportion is substantially lower than during the war, the 1949 pattern still records a significantly higher rate of saving than in 1935-39, when customer spending absorbed 96.2 per cent of available income.

Analyzing changes in consumer expenditures over the past 10 years, the B of M finds that the cost of services, such as household operation, transportation, communication, education and recreation, has risen less than half as much as retail commodity prices. Durable items, such as automobiles, furniture and household appliances, have tended to bulk larger in the consumer budget since the wartime shortages. However, food, clothing and other non-durable commodities have also exerted a heavier claim on the consumer dollar.

Against this background, the bank examines current trends in retail sales, the only monthly indication of personal expenditures as a whole. Official estimates indicate an increase of 5.9 per cent in dollar value of aggregate retail sales for the first quarter of the year, compared with the corresponding months of 1949. Advances were recorded all over the country, with little regional disparity.

Spectacular Rise in Value Of Automobile Purchases

"Looking further into the published data, however, it becomes apparent that the increase in retail sales in the first quarter of 1950 has been wholly attributable to additional purchases of automobiles, sales of new passenger cars having more than doubled in value", the review says.

"It is signicant also that whereas new cars sold were higher in aggregate dollar value by 105 per cent in the quarterly comparison, the increase in the amount of new financing involved was 122 per cent."

Delayed Pulpwood Drive Reaches Climax

The above pictures illustrate scenes of the largest river drive in the world, the pulpwood drive on Quebec's St. Maurice River. This year nearly 55 million logs are being floated to mills along the river from La Tuque to Three Rivers. Jointly the seven mills of the St. Maurice valley produce more newsprint than any other area in Canada and more than any single country outside the Dominion. The total is close to a million tons annually, in addition to which it produces more than 250,000 tons of special pulp, kraft paper, paper board and other pulp and paper products. Each year the St. Maurice River Boom and Driving Company, which handles the river drive for the pulp and paper companies, guides and coaxes some 800,000 cords of spruce and balsam logs down the turbulent river, enough to turn out more than six billion copies of a 16-page newspaper. This drive represents 10 per cent of all the wood used in Canada for pulp and paper making. Canada's foremost source of income and of U.S. dollars. The St. Maurice drive, unusually late this year due to tardy ice breakup, is now at its height. Picture top left, shows the drivers leaving their base in the early morning mist on top of a floating bunk house, one of four used along the 200-mile drive. Two floating diners and kitchens follow to satisfy their gargantuan appetites. Bulldozing tugs (top right) push the spruce and balsam logs through a special pulpwood sluice at huge Rapide Blanc power dam, one of six crossed by the logs on their way to Three Rivers on the St. Lawrence. Rich evergreen forests along the banks of the St. Maurice show why the area is famed for its pulpwood. To preserve this priceless resource, the paper companies have pledged themselves to place their woodlands on a perpetual yield basis, by not extracting more wood from their limits than is replaced by the annual growth. Picture, lower left, shows the sorting gap at La Tuque, an ingenious machine which separates 4-foot bolts from the longer logs and diverts each size into separate channels. Here, the Brown Corporation, one of Canada's largest manufacturers of special pulps for miscellaneous products, ranging from film roll paper to innersoles, removes its own 13-foot logs from the river. The scope of the St. Maurice pulpwood drive can be conceived from the picture (bottom right) which shows about a million logs awaiting the opening of a large sluice before trundling down to the mills below.

Artificial Respiration Potent Saver of Lives

Artificial respiration has been known to be successful on an apparently drowned person who had been under water for as long as half an hour, says an editorial in the current issue of "Health", official magazine of the Health League of Canada.

The editorial stresses the importance of widespread knowledge of artificial respiration, and comments that in this connection "apparently people forget very easily".

It is emphasized that "some years ago Health called attention to the supreme importance of a widespread knowledge of artificial respiration if death by drowning is to be prevented. Nine hundred deaths in a single year is a tragic fact because drowning is unnecessary." Some of these deaths might have been prevented if people generally had known what to do when a person appeared to be drowned.

Properly applied artificial respiration might save some lives this summer, states Health which then goes on to explain that artificial respiration should be started immediately the apparently drowned person is taken from the water. It should be kept up continuously for a maximum of four hours unless the victim had recovered consciousness or rigor mortis had set in.

"That these facts have been forgotten", says Health, "is shown by the fact that from time to time reports appear in the newspapers to the effect that artificial respiration has been discontinued in 20 minutes or half an hour in cases in which resuscitation may have been possible. This applies to both drowning and electrical shock.

"The possibility of a laryngeal spasm which, unless released, might render artificial respiration ineffective, should be stressed", Health says. "Many people who drown don't drown but suffocate. These are shown at autopsy to have no water in their lungs. It is therefore important to call attention to the need for seeing that the air passages are clear and the tongue held out during artificial respiration."

Payment for social security measures such as baby bonuses, unemployment insurance, etc., are expected to cost Canadian taxpayers about half a billion dollars in the present fiscal year.

Plane Down at Avoca

The quiet countryside of Avoca was stirred with excitement recently, when two young pilots from the United States brought their plane down on the farm of Mr. Hugh Bates. Having lost their course to St. Jovite, where an air meet was being held, they decided to get new bearings. With the assistance of the Bates family, they were able to take off quite safely.

Helping the Shy Child

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Jean is so shy, I just dread when she should start to school. She doesn't seem at ease with other children and she positively dreads being left alone with a strange grown-up! I wish I knew how to help her, but the more I urge her to be friendly the less she seems to want to mix with others!"

Mothers who h ve the problem of a very shy son or daughter, do well to do all they can to solve this difficulty before a child enters school. It is true that a shy child often suffers from too much parental attention. Seldom does a very shy child belong to a large family, but likely he is an "only child". He feels his mother's anxious interest constantly focused on his actions and this tends to make him self-conscious and self-centred. But at the same time, mothers cannot let a very shy child "muddle along" hoping that time will cure this handicap.

The shy child is usually one who has lacked plenty of opportunity to play with other youngsters and to get to know adults outside his immediate family circle. Sometimes he has been subjected to too repressive and strict discipline. More often his parents are too fearful of harm befalling him and they have adopted a too protective attitude to all he does.

"Don't climb so high, you may fall".

These are the type of admonitions he is constantly receiving from his mother. Much of the need for change lies in the parent's treatment of the too-shy small child, rather than in the child himself.

The shy child should have the chance to play regularly with other children, even if this demands special planning. In a city or town, the small fry in the same block soon "sort down" together and have good times in each other's yards. The Community Play centres are a great help to children who are inclined to be shy because there they can enjoy the play equipment and gradually get to know the other boys and girls who spend their time there. But for a child in an isolated district or a farm home, a mother can arrange a "Visitor's Day" for a neighbor's child around the same age. The other child's mother will likely be willing to take a turn looking after her child, and so the shy youngster has the opportunity to play with a chum at home and also visit at the chum's home.

The habit of arranging for a "baby sitter" occasionally in the daytime, an older girl or woman who likes children and knows how to play with them, is a help to a child of a retiring nature. Friendly relatives, aunts or a grandmother also strengthen a child's liking for other grown-ups beside his parents whom he can trust and whose company he enjoys. The mother who prides herself on never leaving her child with anyone else, is not really preparing him to grow beyond the earliest dependent stage of childhood. As a child gets older, if he is entrusted with small errands, such as going to the store for a loaf of bread, this builds up his self-confidence. He needs praise and re-assurance for these excursions by himself, or for times when he has made a real effort to be friendly to a caller.

An adult visiting at a home where there is a very shy child should never comment on it, but should chat pleasantly with the child without expecting him to reply unless he feels like it. Children often enjoy some article they are wearing being admired, and many a visitor has found "What nice shoes you have!" a splendid introduction to an acquaintance with a child who is bashful.

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

"And what is so rare as a day in June?" runs through my mind on these first beautiful days of summer. "Then, if ever, come perfect days" has been true again this year. I don't suppose those lines will ever go from my memory, impressed there by being written out twenty times back in my public school days!

Rustic Table

I was finally bullied into leaving my garden long enough to take the family on a picnic yesterday. We journeyed to a secluded spot not far from the city and had a thoroughly enjoyable time. The highlight of the day for me was finding a rustic picnic table I could copy. I have been wanting to build one in front of the barbecue I finished early this month. If my first table turns out successfully I'll be making one for the cottage.

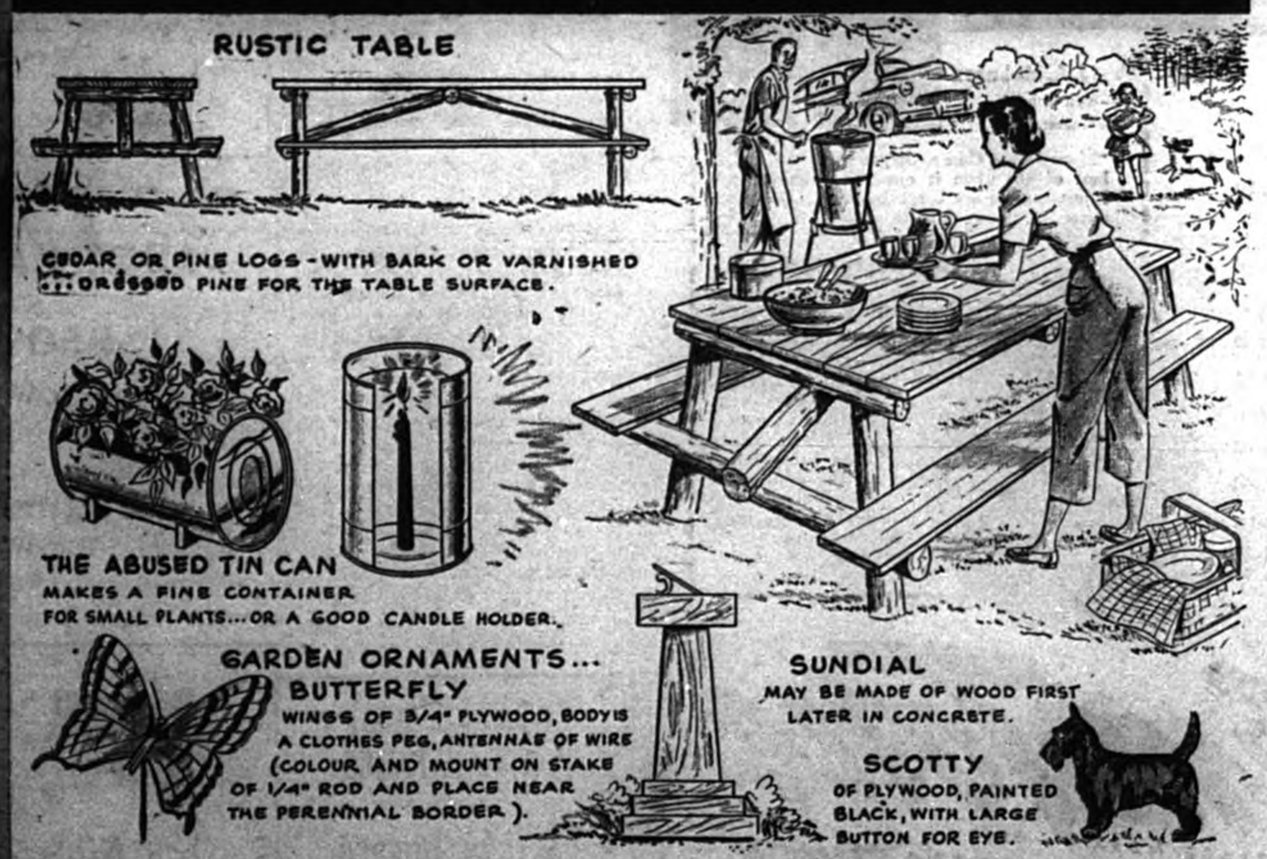

Garden Ornaments

The indiscriminate use of garden ornaments always bothers me. One house we passed on our way home from the picnic brought this whole subject back to my mind. The yard was so cluttered up with wooden ducks, dogs, girls with bright parasols and statues it looked more like a graveyard than a garden. Properly chosen and placed, ornaments do add to the beauty of the surroundings; especially if they are out of the ordinary—a carboy, sundial or painted butterfly.

No garden is complete without suitable pathways to carry the traffic. The type of material used in construction can be as varied as the shapes the path can be given. The subject is important enough to require lengthy treatment but a few ideas are given here.

The Abused Tin Can

Next week I must brush up on my tin-can craft as today's mail brought a request to help with handicraft at a summer camp for boys. No hobby is easier to master nor the equipment required more easily found. One or two suggestions are offered but you will find more in the booklet "Around The Home" now ready for distribution.

More information on these and other ideas in the booklet "AROUND THE HOME". Write for your copy to Tom Gard, c/o MOLSON'S BREWERY LIMITED, Post Office Box No. 1600, Place d'Armes, Montreal, Quebec.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Congregations Make Presentation to Pastor and Family

Rev. J. G. Duncan Leaves Baptist Field to Assume Ontario Pastorate

Last Saturday evening a joint meeting of the congregations of Chatham West and Grenville Baptist Churches, and the local Young People's Society, was held in the Chatham West Church, on the occasion of the approaching departure of the Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Duncan and family from this community — the Rev. Duncan having accepted a pastorate in Ontario.

The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn, followed by a discussion of church business matters.

The president of the Young People's Society, Joyce Tomalty, then conducted the regular agenda of the Society, and Mr. Duncan led the gathering in prayer.

At this point Mr. Duncan was asked to act as chairman for the short program to follow. He introduced the Duncan Trio, consisting of Mrs. Duncan, June and Charles. They gave a very beautiful rendition of "Blest be the Name of the Lord". Vivian Heatlie then favored with a violin solo, entitled "On Wings of Song", which was folowed by Lillian and Eunice Warwick singing "Whispering Hope". Mrs. Duncan then gave an interesting and inspiring address.

Mr. Duncan conducted a short dedication service for the newly elected Young People's executive, which consists of — Pres., Gerald Tomalty; vice-pres., Calvin McAndrew; sec., Irvin Warwick; treas., Bobby Tomalty.

After the benediction, refreshments were served in the basement of the church. Towards the close of the evening, on behalf of the two congregations Mr. John Heatlie, Sr., presented the Rev. and Mrs. Duncan with a substantial sum of money. June, Charles and Donnie Duncan were the recipients of gifts from the Young People's Society, presented by Joyce Tomalty, Jimmy Tomalty and Elmer Griffith. With the presentations went sincere regret at the departure of the D[illegible] family, together with a wealth of good wishes for their future.

Dr. H. Cousens Speaker For Anniversary Service

Morin Heights — The new electric organ for the Morin Heights United Church was dedicated at the Sunday morning service by the Rev. C. R. Wood.

Mrs. Eric Hanson, of Montreal, was at the piano, and Mrs. Geo. Watchorn at the organ. In the evening, the Rev. Stanley Smith, of Shawbridge Boys' Farm, gave a recital, which included many old favorite hymns, and selections from Handel's "Messiah".

This lovely organ was purchased by the Young Adult Group of the church, of which Miss Doris Watchorn is president.

THE SEARCH FOR PEACE

Peace is as sure as Tomorrows sunrise, and just as independent of man. Unto us a son is born, unto us a son is given, and the governments shall be upon His shoulders. Of His government and peace there shall be no end. Isaiah 9-67. Daniel 2-44.

"I DELIGHT TO DO THY WILL, O MY GOD; YEA, THY LAW IS WITHIN MY HEART."
— Psalm 40:8, Am. Stan. Ver.

It was a delight to the psalmist David to know what God's will was and then to do it. To know what to do he gave careful consideration to God's law and filled his heart with it. As a result, David is spoken of in the Scriptures as "a man after God's own heart". Would you not like to have a place in God's memory too? Could any creature ask for a greater honor? Little wonder that David expressed delight! If this is your desire, begin now to fill your mind and heart with God's written Word, the Bible. The Watchtower edition of the American Standard Version, from which the above verse is quoted, may be had for only $1.50. Send for your copy today. — 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto, Ont.

OBITUARY

The Late C. J. Hartley

The funeral of the late Mr. Christopher J. Hartley, whose death occurred at the Smith Clinic at Hawkesbury on Monday evening, June 19, was held at the Grenville Funeral Parlors on the afternoon of Thursday, June 22. The Rev. A. G. Moore, of St. Mungo's Church, Cushing, officiated in the presence of a large assembly of friends and relatives of the deceased.

Mr. Hartley, who was in his 74th year, was the eldest son of Horatio Hartley and his wife, Mary Densmore. He was born at Stonefield, Que., where his father and grandfather respectively held the position of lockmaster on the Grenville Canal since the early days of navigation on the Ottawa River.

He had spent practically all his life in this community, where he was highly respected as a man of kindness and integrity, and leaves many friends by whom he will be missed. His company was sought by old and young, who keenly enjoyed his droll and amusing discourses. The Rev. A. G. Moore in his funeral sermon referred to him as one of the "landmarks" of the community, so many of whom have gone to their reward during the past few years.

Previous to his retirement Mr. Hartley had been employed by the Department of Marine as Superintendent of the Works here.

Interment was in the family plot at Calumet and was conducted according to the rites of the Masonic Order, to which Mr. Hartley belonged and of whom a number of members were present from Lachute and elsewhere.

Mr. Hartley leaves to mourn his passing, four sisters and one brother. These are — Mr. Leslie Hartley, of Wimmer, Sask., Mrs. B. McMeekin, also of Wimmer, Mrs. R. Brown, of Quill Lake, Sask., Mrs. D. Campbell, at present in Cushing, and Miss Grace Hartley, the popular and efficient head nurse of the Smith Clinic at Hawkesbury. A profusion of beautiful flowers bore testimony to the regard for the deceased and sympathy for the living from many friends.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were his niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Chamberlain, of Ottawa, also Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hartley, Mr. Lawrence Hartley, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hartley and son Mr. Kenneth Hartley, and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. O'Brien, all of Montreal.

Pall-bearers were — Messrs. Fraser Watson, Jimmie Weir, Keith Canning, Alan Vowles, Vincent Elliott and Dorazio Leclair.

Funeral Service Held At Laurel, Que.

Leaders in U.N.'s Fight for Women

Aiming at the improvement of the situation of women all over the world, the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women has made a series of recommendations ranging from measures to eliminate sex discrimination in the political field to the adoption of the principle of equal pay for equal work for men and women workers. Here, planning a day's work are three leading members of the Commission: Mme. Marie-Helene Lefaucheux of France, Mrs. Isabel McKorckindale of Australia and Isabel de Urdaneta of Venezuela.

Happy Birthday Dad!

By Betty Barclay

For this big occasion, tempt him with a real he-man's Devil Food Cake, rich with chocolate. Be sure it's made with a downy-soft cake flour for perfect results. Decorate with Chocolate Lettering Frosting, which can spell "Happy Birthday".

Father's Favorite Devil's Food

2 Cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ¾ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, 1½ cups granulated sugar, or 1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar, 2 eggs, unbeaten, 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, *milk (see below for amount), 1 teaspoon vanilla, *with butter, margarine, or lard, use 1 cup milk. With vegetable or any other shortening, use 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk.

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add chocolate and blend. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Turn into 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan which has been lined on bottom with paper, then greased. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 40 minutes, or until done. Frost top and sides with Butter Frosting. With pastry tube, outline the words "Happy Birthday Dad" using Chocolate Lettering Frosting.

Butter Frosting

6 Tablespoons butter, dash of salt, 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 3 tablespoons milk (about), 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter; add salt and part of the sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Add remaining sugar alternately with milk, until of right consistency to spread, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla and blend. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of 13 x 9 x 2-inch layer.

Chocolate Lettering Frosting

2 Tablespoons butter or vegetable shortening, 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, dash of salt, ¾ square unsweetened chocolate, melted, 1½ tablespoons milk (about).

Cream butter; add part of sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Add vanilla, salt, and chocolate and mix well. Add remaining sugar alternately with milk until of right consistency. Beat after each addition until smooth. Then beat 100 additional strokes.

Build a Pea-Sheller

Mother's Little Helpers — the ones who always get stuck with shelling the peas for dinner — can build a machine now that will shell a six-quart basket of pods in less than a minute. With a little ingenuity, some inexpensive materials and a pamphlet issued by the Information Service of Canada Department of Agriculture, the inveterate pea-sheller can face the approach of the dinner hour or canning or freezing time with fear of drudgery banished.

The gadget looks almost exactly like the rotating drum used to ruffle raffle tickets, but, inside the drum, where the unshelled peas go, is a row of spinning paddles that use no uncertain system in coaxing the peas from the pods. The pamphlet gives full details of construction and operation and uses drawings and photographs to augment the written instructions.

Freezing Sweet Cherries

While red sour cherry varieties have been frozen successfully for some time, sweet cherry varieties always have made a relatively poor frozen product. However, recent studies at the Experimental Station, Summerland, B.C. have shown that the natural color and flavor of sweet cherries can be satisfactorily preserved by the addition of a little ascorbic acid (vitamin C) and citric acid to the syrup in which the fruit is packed for freezing. It is also important to use only pitted fruit. Packing of whole, unpitted, sweet cherries always results in a very undesirable oxidized flavor in the frozen product.

The best frozen packs of sweet cherries are obtained by using 355 to 637 milligrams of citric acid and 175 to 250 milligrams of ascorbic acid for each 15 ounces of fruit and syrup. In the home a satisfactory procedure is to cover the pitted fruit with syrup which contains one teaspoonful of powdered citric acid and ½ teaspoon of crystalline ascorbic acid in each quart of prepared syrup. If desired, 4 or 5 teaspoons of lemon juice could be substituted for the citric acid.

Royal Ann, Bing and Lambert varieties all make satisfactory products by this procedure. Most people prefer the fruit cooked as it improves the flavour — particularly of the black varieties.

Prison Walls Bombed

In February, 1944, a formation of Mosquitoes liberated French patriots under sentence of death by breaching the prison walls of Amiens, France, in a low bombing attack.

This famous raid will be the highlight of the Royal Air Force display to be held at Farnborough, England, on July 7 and 8. Their Majesties the King and Queen are to attend.

The display will consist of 27 events — 17 of them flying items. There will be individual and formation aerobatics by Meteor and Vampire jet fighters, large formation fly-pasts by aircraft drawn from 35 regular and auxiliary squadrons, "crazy" and precision formation flying by instructors, a helicopter circus, and demonstrations by the new Venom jet fighter-bomber. Veteran aircraft dating from the 1914-18 war and earlier will be demonstrated, as well as a modern high-performance sail-plane.

Pretty Wedding at B'burg Baptist Church

Tomalty - Abbott

Saturday afternoon, June 24, at 4 o'clock, a quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at Brownsburg Baptist Church, when Phyllis Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Abbott, of Saskatoon, Sask., became the bride of Mr. J. E. Grant Tomalty, son of the late David Tomalty and Mrs. Tomalty, of Brownsburg.

The Rev. Geo. B. Hicks performed the ceremony beneath an arch of evergreen, studded with white roses, banked with ferns, orange blossoms and pink and white peonies. Miss Beverley Tomalty, niece of the groom, played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Wm. Abbott, of Toronto, the bride wore a white gown of embroidered marquisette over white satin. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place with a halo of pink and white sweet peas, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and multi-colored sweet peas.

Miss Lorna Tomalty, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, in a gown of baby blue embroidered nylon over taffeta. A halo of multi-colored organdy flowers held her shoulder-length veil in place.

The bridesmaid carried a bouquet of snap dragons, sweet peas and fern.

Mr. Basil Davis, of Montreal, supported the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Robt. Creswell and Mr. Alvin Tomalty.

A reception followed at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. David Tomalty. The newlywed couple left later to spend their honeymoon at Niagara Falls, Buffalo and other points. The bride travelled in a powder blue gabardine suit with matching accessories.

On their return they will reside at Brownsburg.

Miss Evelyn Wales, R.N. Honored on Retirement

And, in addition to this, she made many visits to homes throughout the whole area; could be called upon to plan for Christmas parties or summer camps in due season; always ready to help and devote herself far beyond the call of duty.

More than 100 people attended the reception at Bannantyne School last week. Under the chairmanship of Lawrence Harrison, the school principal, tributes were paid the retiring public servant by J. W. MacGillivary, Walter Stenhouse and Rev. C. Gardner Ward of Chalmer's United Church.

Mr. Harrison outlined her career; Mr. Stenhouse brought her greetings of the Montreal Central Protestant School Board, "for the marvellous piece of work she has done in this City", and J. W. MacGillivray described her as "a great little lady".

It remained to Rev. C. Gardner Ward to tell of her devoted service, far removed from her work. A member of his congregation, he told of her untiring and unstinted efforts at all times in carrying out social work of the church. He told how a committee had been formed to honor her appropiately, "after all these years of service to us."

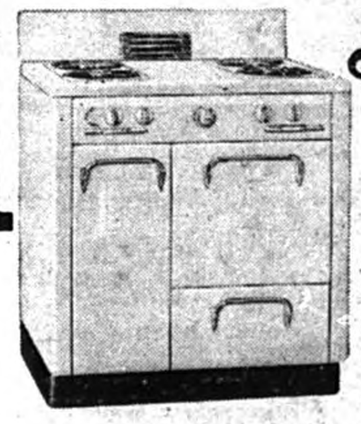

"We knew", he said, "that she would agree to something of benefit to the boys and girls of the community. That was the only way we could see her accepting anything from us."

So the scholarship fund was arranged and Nurse Wales was agreeable. The typewriter and the easy chair came as a complete surprise to her, and in a lightly - scolding tone, she turned to Mr. McGillivray and said, "You shouldn't have done it!"

Then she in turn paid tribute to those who had helped her throughout the years. Keeping in mind the children, she added, "I have always thought that Verdun children were just a little better than any others. It has been my pleasure to work with them, and for them, all these years."

Argenteuil Softball

Sunday's softball games saw the three top teams come through with wins again, to draw away from the three bottom teams. In Lachute, White Rose defeated Beavers 22-11 in a high-scoring game. White Rose took a big early lead and the Beavers were unable to get close to tying the score. Umpires were A. Larocque and G. Larocque.

In Upper Lachute at Moore's Playing Field, the Bluebirds, from Lachute, gave Tigers a trouncing, defeating them 30-9 in another high-scoring game. This is the Bluebirds' fourth straight win, and they are proving to be a hard team to beat. Umpires were Chas. Harding and son.

The closest and hardest fought game was in Brownsburg, where the lowly Boyd's Express gave Malacket Spiders a tough time. Boyd's went to bat first and came up with two runs. This was soon tied by Brownsburg. Boyd's then bore down and scored four runs to make it 6-2 in the fourth inning. Brownsburg came to bat and exhibited some very fine batting and playing to make 6 runs, thus leading the game 8-6. From then on it was a keen game, with no scoring except for one run by Boyd's in the eighth. Boyd's tried desperately in the ninth to tie the score, but some fine pitching by Bob Greely assured his team of the victory. The final score was Malacket Spiders 8, Boyd's 7.

The raffle last week was won by J. P. Dagenais, from Brownsburg.

Boyd's vs. Bluebirds, at Lachute
Beavers vs. Tigers, at Moore's Field
White Rose vs. Malacket Spiders, at Brownsburg.
