'More Important than Meetings Preceding Confederation': Duplessis

Premier Views Parleys on Constitution

"WEEK AT QUEBEC" By Richard Daignault

Quebec, Oct. 31 (CP) — The current series of federal-provincial conferences will decide the "life and survival of Quebec" — Premier Duplessis told the annual convention of Quebec Union of County Councils last week.

The Premier, speaking to the meeting at Quebec City, said the federal-provincial conferences will "make or undo Canadian unity." He called for "bonne entente and awakened public interest" to avoid a possible "disaster".

He also drew attention to the success of the Quebec conference on the constitution in September. "Everyone expressed opinions", said the Premier. "While these varied, I can certify without going into details that the conference did an enormous amount to impress comprehension and a desire to cooperate that did not exist before."

The talks, due to be resumed next month in Ottawa, were more important than the meetings that preceded confederation in 1867, he said, and that was why they should be "followed closely and tenaciously."

"We are anxious for a frank hand-shake and for a just and equitable constitution. We are determined not to extend our hand to have everything taken from us. Co-operation consists of establishing agreements on a just and fair basis, protecting our language, religion and rights. No compromise is possible on that."

At his weekly press conference, Premier Duplessis announced that a large number of magazines and periodicals have been seized and destroyed under the 1950 provincial Censorship Law aimed at obscene literature.

The Premier said he received a report on application of the law during a conference in Montreal with Alexis Gagnon, head of the Quebec film censorship bureau which is responsible for applying the ban on obscene literature.

The Premier also said he has met representatives of Quebec truckers and highway-trailer manufacturers about provincial government plans to limit the weight of loaded trucks. "The delegation", said the Premier, "declared itself sympathetic and favorable to legislation to prevent abuses by too heavy loads carried by some trucks. The delegates said they are disposed to co-operate with the government in any fair regulations".

When the legislature begins its session November 8, work on the government's legislation program will start immediately. Premier Duplessis announced that legislation will take precedence over the throne speech debate. After speeches by mover and seconder of the address in reply, the debate, usually the initial business of the session, will be put off until the session resumes in January after a December adjournment.

BCG Vaccination Inaugurated in Argenteuil County

LACHUTE IS CENTRE FOR TREATMENT WITH NEIGHBOR HEALTH UNITS

During the last two weeks a large number of outside doctors and nurses visited the local Health Unit in connection with the intensified campaign against Tuberculosis by means of vaccination by BCG. The Provincial Government began this campaign two years ago following a three-day conference in Montreal of all Medical Officers in the province. All eastern sections of the province have been visited, with the result that over 300,000 people have already been vaccinated. By the end of November of this year all Health Units will have been visited by these specialists, as Lachute has been during the past two weeks. This means that all these personnel will then be perfectly familiar with the technique and in a position to continue this work without outside assistance.

The delegation which visited Lachute was headed by Dr. R. Foley, Epidemiologist of the Quebec Department of Health. He was assisted by Dr. Roger Dejardines, who represents the BCG Vaccination Service of the Institute of Microbiology and Hygiene at the University of Montreal. Others in attendance were — Dr. Octave Roy, supervisor of BCG vaccination for the Provincial Department of Health; Dr. C. MacMillan, Professor of Hygiene, McGill University; Dr. Adelard Groulx, head of the Department of Health for Montreal; Dr. B. Primeau, consultant Pediatrician for the City of Montreal; Dr. P. Gallagher, Chief Medical Officer for the Department of Health, Newfoundland; Dr. E. S. Peters, noted Tuberculosis specialist and newly-appointed superintendent of the new sanatorium at Corner Brook, Newfoundland — together with personnel of the Health Units of Terrebonne and Two Mountains, headed by Dr. LeClerc of St. Jerome and Dr. Milot of St. Eustache. Twenty nurses accompanied these doctors, including those of the local Health Unit under the supervision of Dr. L. Turcotte.

Almost 400 young children from the French and English schools were vaccinated following elaborate tests to determine those who were negative. . . The project, as defined by the Department of Health, is first of all to vaccinate all new-born babies, a practice which is considered almost routine in many maternity hospitals. When tests show that some of these children have become negative by the time they reach school age, it is intended that they be vaccinated again. It is hoped that this procedure will be repeated by the time these children are graduating from school. However, the vaccination of new-born babies is considered the most important of all, and the Health Unit is anxious to have all

Was Former Mayor At Morin Heights

LATE WM. H. WATCHORN WAS COMMUNITY FIGURE WIDELY KNOWN

William H. Watchorn, a former mayor and a long-time alderman of Morin Heights, died Sunday in the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital, after a brief illness. He was in his 76th year.

Born in Morin Heights, where his family has resided for the last century, Mr. Watchorn owned a farm there and had taken an active part in municipal affairs for 35 years. He was a member of the local school board and a supporter of the United Church of Canada.

He is survived by his wife, the former Emmeline Seale; a son, George, and a daughter, Doris, both of Morin Heights; a sister, Mrs. J. B. Swift, of Portage Laprairie, Man.; and two grandchildren, William and Eileen Watchorn.

The funeral service was held Wednesday afternoon in the United Church, followed by interment in the Morin Heights Cemetery. Many old friends from Lachute and communities throughout this county, attended to pay their last tribute of respect.

Hewitt Roadsters at Ottawa Horse Show

Mr. and Mrs. William Hewitt, Brownsburg, terminated their round of this year's horse shows with the Ottawa Winter Fair. Their "Shirley Peters", entered in four classes, returned home with four ribbons — two seconds, a third and a fourth. "Rambler", due to the heavy fog prevailing last week, missed his class, as rider Beverly Johnston was late in arriving.

Excitement sparked the roadster classes, for on Wednesday evening Jim Simmons, driving that old favorite, "Effective", took a spill when the wheels of his buggy collapsed under the strain of fast turns. Luckily Simmons was not hurt; he was able to hold on to the stallion, and in five minutes returned to the ring. On Thursday night in the bike class Bob Cundell, driving his entry "Don of the Day", tipped on a turn, Cundell was thrown against the boards head-first and was knocked out for a few minutes; the road-cart broke and the horse ran away. After a short delay Cundell left the ring under his own power, and Friday saw him back in the competitions again.

In the stake class the judge, Jas. Gilchrist, drove the top five horses, which added considerable excitement to the class and enthusiasm to the crowd.

In seven shows this year the Hewitts have collected altogether 40 ribbons with three horses, "Shirley Peters", "Rambling Ace" and "Saludos".

Gilbert E. Arnold, of Grenville, upheld the prestige of this county in the heavy and draft classes, adding a long list of triumphs to his repute in Clydesdales and other breeds.

One Killed, One Injured -- And This Was A Gleaming Panel Truck

Aimé Petrucci, 68, of Montreal, met sudden death in this light delivery truck while seated beside the driver when the vehicle collided with a truck-load of logs on No. 8 Highway last Monday. The accident occurred in a fog, at the spot west of St. Philippe known as Vachon's Corner.

Rotary's Place in World Picture

The regular meeting of the Rotary Club last week was highlighted by the attendance of large representations from the Verdun and Hawkesbury clubs, two members from the Montreal Westward Club and a notable guest speaker, Ian MacDonald, immediate past-president of the Montreal Club. President Stuart Jones was in the chair and nearly all the local members were present.

Harris Sherwood introduced the speaker. Mr. MacDonald was born in Scotland, came to this country at an early age and is at present general sales manager of Dominion Glass Company.

Subject of the address was "A Rotarian's Responsibilities to the World". In his opening remarks Mr. MacDonald drew attention to the fourth object of Rotary, "The advancement of international understanding, good-will and peace, through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service". He made a brief survey of world conditions; this is still the same old world geographically as it was 50 years ago (he observed), but it is by no means the same world in which to live. Science has been responsible for most of the changes, such as the motor car, airplane, radio, faster boats and trains, and a multitude of other inventions which go to make up our modern life.

About the turn of the century the world was a relatively peaceful place. People were used to working hard. However, as the standard of living increased in most of the civilized world, the revolutionary ideas of Karl Marx were beginning to take hold in increasing numbers. The war of 1914-18 gave Communist agitators the opportunity to gain control of Russia, and the disastrous economic conditions in Europe following the war made a fine spawning-ground for the growth of these revolutionary ideas. These caused an even greater disturbance upon the political life of many of the nations, with the result that

Youth's Hilarity and Youth's Indiscretion

Youth and age were abroad on Hallowe'en. Their numbers were surprising, and their costumes were ingenious. It was apparent that trunks had been invaded in many dusty attics, and moths disturbed in many abandoned wardrobes. It was a frivolous and happy time, especially for young tots embarking on their first expedition of this kind.

Best of all, there was little havoc in evidence around town. The police force was on constant patrol, but there was no serious attempt at mischief-making.

* * *

Teen-age mentality at its utmost thoughtlessness was seen in one prank which might have had costly results — the removal of a stop-sign at a particularly dangerous intersection. Fortunately there were no accidents. A young girl of usually good intelligence was the culprit in this instance.

Argenteuil Boys Guests of Kiwanis

On Thursday of last week Jackie Gordon, of East Settlement, and Ken McOuat, of St. Andrews East, were guests of the Kiwanis Club of Montreal at the annual Youth Harvest Banquet held in the Mount Royal Hotel — these boys having won highest honors at the Lachute Spring Fair in the judging of livestock. They were accompanied by the local Agronomist, Alex Bothwell.

Poppy Campaign Next Week

In a few days the citizens of Lachute and Brownsburg — and in communities organized through the county — will once more be asked to remember the dead of two World Wars by wearing a poppy and, where possible, by displaying a wreath in places of business, churches and schools.

"When we display these emblems of remembrance made by the hands of disabled veterans who offered themselves in our defence, we remind ourselves and our children of the terrific price that has been paid for our freedom, and also show the world that these heroes and what they died for shall never be forgotten by us", states a Legion bulletin issued in connection with this campaign.

The funds contributed by the public provide employment for disabled veterans, help veterans and the widows and orphans of veterans to obtain their just recognition in the form of pensions and allowances through the Canadian Legion Service Bureaus, and also provide the local Legion branches with welfare funds which are used to assist veterans and their dependents in distressed circumstances.

The Lachute and Brownsburg branches of the Legion appreciate the co-operation of citizens in the past, and are confident of their warm support this year.

Preliminary to the Poppy Day campaign, sales will commence in Lachute this Saturday, continuing through next week until Remembrance Day, November 11. Girls from the High School will conduct the house-to-house canvass, and residents are asked to respond generously.

Another Storefront Takes Modern Look

The "new look" in store-fronts is evidenced again on Main Street, with modernization of the Wilson & Gordon Reg'd show-window in the Assad Block. It appears the trend of symmetrical lines, right-angles and uniformity, has been abandoned in modern store design. The mode now exemplifies streamlined sweeps, a spacious show-window one side at a slight angle to the sidewalk, and a smaller display space on the opposite side of the entrance — a style that becomes pleasing after the first jolt of unexpectancy, and which is no doubt dictated by established principles in merchandising.

Wilson & Gordon Reg'd should benefit appreciably by this modernization, and the exterior finish will harmonize with surrounding stores to enhance this particular shopping section.

Protection of Moose, Five Years' Ban in Argenteuil County

RECENT ORDER-IN-COUNCIL FORBIDS MOOSE-HUNTING IN ARGENTEUIL

The following Order-in-Council, dated October 4 at Quebec, declares Argenteuil County as a closed area for moose for a period of five years. The deputy for this constituency, W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., and game wardens of the district, draw the attention of hunters to this declaration:

Order-in-Council

No. 1095—Quebec—Oct. 4, 1950

Concerning the Protection of Moose in the County of Argenteuil:

"Whereas it is expedient to adopt different measures to assure the survival and protection of Moose:

"It is therefore ordained upon the recommendation of the Honorable the Minister of Game and Fisheries: —

"That the County of Argenteuil shall constitute a hunting reserve for a period of five (5) years, in which, at all times of the year, it is prohibited to hunt, kill, take or molest Moose under penalty of a fine, or in default of payment of same to imprisonment according to law."

Oily Rags Ignite In Cupboard

Fire Prevention warnings assumed a gripping realism last week to a Bell Falls reader. . .

One morning, the householder engaged a woman to oil and wax her floors. Throughout the day an oily odour permeated the house, which almost unnoticeably turned to smoke-fumes, and later in the afternoon fumes became intense. Finally, going into the kitchen, one of the occupants found smoke rising from a cupboard, where the oily rags had been thrown into a pasteboard box and were ready to burst into flame. The box was removed to safety — after this practical lesson on spontaneous combustion, which is among topmost items on the list of fire hazards.

Driver Del MacTavish Is Saratoga Champion

Saratoga Springs, N.Y. (AP) — Del MacTavish, of Lachute, Que., is the driving champion of the 1950 fall harness meeting at Saratoga raceway.

The track announced that the 38-year-old Canadian, who was injured last week in a spill at Yonkers Raceway, had captured the Saratoga title with an average of .450. In 64 races here, MacTavish had 21 wins, eight seconds and 10 thirds.

Russ Caldwell, of Spencerville, Ont., was second with a .379 average and Cecil Champion of Winchester, Ont., the top driver of the 1949 fall season, was third with .371.

It is stated here by his wife that Mr. MacTavish is still in the St. John's Riverside Hospital at Yonkers, suffering from a dislocated shoulder and three bone fractures in the foot. He underwent a surgical operation on his foot last Monday, and is reported making good progress.

Origin, Growth of Ayers Industry Told to Purchasing Agents Ass'n

CLEMENT TREMBLAY, O.B.E., ADDRESSES GROUP AT GOLF-COUNTRY CLUB

On the occasion of a visit of the Purchasing Agents Association (Montreal) to the plant of Ayers Limited last Saturday, the group were entertained at the Lachute Golf and Country Club following their tour of inspection. Host to the visitors on behalf of Ayers Limited was Mr. Clement Tremblay, O.B.E., secretary-treasurer of the company, who is also a member of the Purchasing Agents Association. An address given by Mr. Tremblay before the gathering, did full justice to the charms and amenities of this town — for which the speaker might be rated a first-class salesman and publicist. Mr. Tremblay then proceeded with a review of the Ayers industry, from its origin to its present high prestige among Canadian manufactures. Extracts from this description are quoted hereunder:

"The man who took the most prominent part in the establishment of Hamelin & Ayers in 1863 was Mr. Thomas Henry Ayers. He was the son of Thomas Ayers, who in 1858 came with his family from Cornwall, England, to Columbus, Ont., and was employed there in the Empire Woollen Mills till his death in 1891. Thomas Henry, the son, served his apprenticeship in the same mills, then worked in different places in the Ottawa Valley until 1863, when he entered into partnership in Perth, Ont., with Mr. Félix Hamelin — who was quite an older man, had some means but no experience in textiles, hence a capitalist in quest of adventure in industry. They first conducted a carding mill in Perth. In 1870, they rented the McGill Woollen Mills in Hawkesbury, Ont. In 1876, after a visit to Lachute, they purchased of different parties 20 acres of land bordering on the North River, whereon they proceeded with a water power development for the mill they soon erected. At that time there was no road leading to the property, and the small village was situated about 1½ miles away. This part of the land was nothing but a thick growth of forest.

So the Story Goes

Brownsburg — On the way out from Montreal last week, a party from Brownsburg pulled up at one of the roadside stands to have a snack. A little later a group of hunters, who has been tramping the bush in search of game all day, pulled in and dismounted from a delivery van — also in quest of something to eat. During the progress of the meal a blast exploded, startling the patrons as if they were a flock of birds, and a bullet crashed through the side of the van. Before anyone had time to regain his poise the door of the van was thrown open and two badly scared hunters emerged from it — they had been playing with a firearm while inside, and "forgot it was loaded". Fortunately no one was hurt.

* * *

A local merchant who has spent years travelling the bush in this vicinity, and who is very wise in the ways of hunters, was badly shaken up last week when a bullet grazed his jaw as he stalked his usual round. He now avers his hunting days are over. . .

And so the story goes.

Student Teachers Visit High School

Thirty-nine student teachers from the intermediate and elementary classes of the School for Teachers at Macdonald College, under the supervision of Mr. Wayne Hall, Professor of Education, and Miss Phyllis Bowers, lecturer in Primary Methods, visited Lachute High School on Wednesday for the purpose of observing classroom practice.

In the past, prospective teachers have visited certain schools in the spring of the year to do practice-teaching. This year the officials of the College decided it would be beneficial to have their students visit some of the larger schools, other than those in Montreal, near the beginning of the term.

Fatal Highway Crash in Morning Fog; Trucks Meet in Spectacular Collision

MONTREAL BUSINESS-MAN KILLED INSTANTLY

On the Lachute - Grenville highway at 8 o'clock Monday morning, an eastbound truck heavily loaded with logs plowed into a new 1950 panel delivery heading westward — twisted the lighter vehicle into an unbelievable shape and instantly killed a Montrealer, Aimé Petrucci, 68, who was asleep beside the driver in the lighter vehicle.

The accident occurred opposite Walter Gauley's restaurant west of St. Philippe, at a spot generally known as Vachon's Corner, Chatboro. A heavy mist hung over the highway, and the road surface was slippery.

Driver of the Montreal delivery truck was the victim's nephew, Louis Carli, 42. They were proceeding to Thurso, Maniwaki and Mont Laurier, carrying in the van of their truck religious statuary. The 3-ton truck coming eastward from Chute à Blondeau to the Dominion Shuttle Company at Lachute, was carrying an estimated 10-ton load of logs. The driver was Maurice Larocque, 23, of Chute à Blondeau, who is reported to have passed two trucks proceeding at a slower pace, and was pulling out to pass another vehicle when the lights of the oncoming van loomed before him in the fog. Larocque swung over the shoulder of the highway to avoid a collision, but his logs tore into the side of the smaller vehicle and twisted it like matchwood.

Louis Carli suffered shock and minor injuries. He was brought to the Providence Hospital, Lachute, but later was allowed to proceed to Montreal. Larocque also suffered shock. The older man, Petrucci, was killed instantly in the front seat of the van. Dr. Jules Lafleur, summoned from Lachute, pronounced the victim dead. Inquest will be held, under chairmanship of Dr. Lafleur as district coroner, at the local Court House this evening.

Cst. Howard Jones, assisted by Cst. Albert Legault, traffic officers for the district, investigated the crash, while Det. René Lanthier, of the provincial homicide squad, came from Montreal headquarters to continue the inquiry.

It is reported that Stanley Donaldson, a neighboring resident, was driving out onto the highway about this time, and narrowly escaped being struck by one of the vehicles involved in the crash.

Lachute Taxi Driver Critically Injured

A taxi driver was seriously hurt and five other persons received lesser injuries in a collision at 10.30 a.m. Sunday, west of St. Philippe. Involved in the crash were Gaetan Gibeault, 28, driver for Central Taxi, Lachute, and Laurier Roy, of Vankleek Hill, who were travelling westward and eastward respectively.

The wife and child (Jean Charles Roy, 3) of the Vankleek Hill motorist were among the injured, also two passengers in the taxi. They were treated by Dr. R. Lavigne, of Lachute Mills — Gibeault, the taxi driver, being later removed to the Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal, with a fractured skull. He is now reported to be progressing favorably. The Roy child received a gash on the forehead.

The collision occurred one mile west of St. Philippe on Route 8, where the taxi-man apparently lost control of his machine after passing another car. The taxi travelled some distance in the ditch, then swerved back onto the highway and collided with the Ontario car. Both cars were considerably damaged.

40 Years Thro' Lachute, Freight Engineer Retires

Engineer P. Gosselin, of Montreal, shunted the mid-day freight around Lachute railway yards on Friday for the very last time. His engine, C.P.R. No. 1095 (which had passed here regularly for 10 years with Gosselin at the throttle) carried a display card telling the legend of the engineer's retirement next day. Mr. Gosselin had been 47 years in the service of the C.P.R., and had been piloting the local freight for the past 40 years.

Mr. Gosselin and his train crew posed for photographs in the station yard, and many old friends around the depot wished him godspeed on his well-earned retirement.

Gatineau LINES

"Horsepower"

"Horsepower" and "kilowatt" are fairly big words. Most people have heard them — but except for those intimately acquainted with electricity, their exact meaning may not be too clear. Since people all over the Gatineau territory meet them from time to time, and, since they are really fairly simple words, we will take a few minutes here to explain what they mean.

As might be expected the term "horsepower" is related to the strength of a horse, and the word goes back into history for its beginning. Before the days of the steam engine horses were used extensively for lifting and drawing heavy loads. In the coal mines, for example, a horse would be hitched to a windlass attached to the cage which lifted the coal out of the mines. By walking around in a circle, the horse would lift and lower the hoist. Over the years it was found that an average horse could hoist 550 pounds of coal one foot in one second. If the shaft were 60 feet deep the horse could lift the 550 pounds of coal to the surface in one minute.

When the steam engine came along it quickly replaced the horse as a means of lifting coal out of the mine. But, remembering the performance of the horses, those using the engine decided — quite naturally — that an engine which could lift as much as a horse should be rated as "one horse" power. If an engine could lift 1,100 pounds of coal one foot in one second it was rated as "two horse" power. The more it could lift, the greater the horsepower rating. The same idea was applied to electrical motors when they came into existence.

For practical purposes the kilowatt means just a stronger horse — one-third stronger to be exact. Where the horsepower (or the horse) will lift 550 pounds one foot in one second the kilowatt will lift 733⅓ pounds one foot in one second.

The difference, of course, is that a horsepower and a kilowatt do not have to be stabled, fed, watered and shod. Just turn the switch and they go to work — at much less cost in time, effort and money than old dobbin ever could.

Efficiency in the Laying-Pens

Ottawa — High labor efficiency in the laying house has been an outstanding achievement of poultry management in recent years. Large insulated pens with controlled ventilation, have made possible many of the laying pen innovations which are giving excellent results.

The use of deep litter has been a great aid in reducing labor. Instead of changing the litter frequently throughout the year, the poultryman now places about six inches of shavings on the floor when the pullets are first placed in the laying pens, and then he adds straw to the litter every two or three weeks until it is built up to a depth of ten or twelve inches. It is not necessary to chop the straw before using it. If grain is fed in the litter, the hens will keep it stirred up and in good condition, providing no water is spilled around the drinking fountains. It is not necessary to change the litter for at least one year, at which time it has a high fertilizing value.

Manure pits have also helped to streamline laying house management. They need only be cleaned once or twice a year and, as a rule, there is no objectionable odour from them. Manure pits also lend themselves to good roosting habits, for it has been found that practically no trouble is experienced in training pullets to roost in orderly rows when roosts, with wire underneath them, are placed over the manure pits at right angles to the back wall. The current practice, in some types of pens, of eliminating roosts entirely, has not found favor with many pounltrymen who have tried this system. Losses from smothering hove occurred where no roosts are provided and other disabilities from crowding are suspected.

Other devices such as automatic drinking fountains have also proved their worth. At the present time mechanical feeders are being given a trial and they may prove to be of considerable value on large establishments.

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Fredericton, N.B., deep litter, manure pits, and continuous flow water fountains are all giving excellent results. Advantage can be taken of these practices, even in old houses which can often be remodelled satisfactorily at reasonable cost.

Leaves When Treated Make Good Compost

In addition to creating a fire hazard the burning of leaves is a waste of potential fertilizer. Advice from an American authority states that with only a small amount of work, Fall leaves can be changed into a valuable compost material.

The best composts are made by alternating layers of leaves or other organic material to a depth of eight to ten inches with about two inches of a fertile soil. Some nitrogen fertilizer, such as nitrate of soda, ammonium nitrate or sulphate of ammonia should be added to the leaves before the soil is spread over them. This will hasten decomposition of the leaves.

Compost piles should be made flat or slightly concave on top so that rain will soak in instead of running off. Frequent wetting aids in the decomposition of the leaves and other organic matter.

The soil is added to the compost solely as a means of introducing the bacteria which are necessary to transform the raw organic matter of leaves and refuse into forms which plants can utilize to better advantage.

The addition of a little lime to the compost is sometimes advisable if an acid soil is being used in making the compost, says the American authority. However, he warns against using too much lime. Adding a highly alkaline compost to the soil next Spring might tie up the manganese, iron, nitrates and potassium in forms that would render these ingredients unavailable to the crops, with disappointing results.

Cow Best Machine For Harvesting Crop

Dundurn, Sask. (CP) — Farmers on the French Flats irrigation project near here have been advised by a Dominion expert to go into livestock and forage-crop production.

"The cow is the cheapest machine for harvesting a crop", said R. E. McKenzie, an irrigation and crop specialist from Swift Current Experimental station.

French Flats is the only ditch-irrigation project of any size in this part of Saskatchewan. Mr. McKenzie said greatest income will be gained when forage crops are grown and an irrigated pasture is used for livestock.

FAMILY PICNIC — A C-I-L SUCCESS STORY

Off on a picnic with his wife, BEATRICE, and their five children, PAUL DROUIN of Park Street, stopped in to get some gas from YVAN CYR, who operates his garage on Maple Avenue, here in Brownsburg.

It may seem a far cry from Paul's work with C-I-L in the E.B. Cap Department, where he helps make seismocaps, to the gas which will take the family on their picnic. But these seismocaps made by your neighbours here in Brownsburg are used in prospecting for oil. From there it's easy to trace their effect right through to the gas at Yvan's gas station — and the family picnic.

Yes, many chemical products for many uses are made by the men and women of C-I-L in Brownsburg. Seismocaps, nylon for brushes, and blasting accessories are but a few, in addition to a wide range of sporting ammunition.

This is another example of C-I-L "Serving Canadians Through Chemistry".

Highway Damage

IT WAS stated by Premier Duplessis this week that the proposed Quebec legislation to regulate the weight of highway transports, will be received favorably by the trucking interests. This is a measure with which the public will be generally in approval, for the cost of highway construction and mainteance, out of the public purse, is not to be regarded lightly. It is not an investment to be wasted and nullified by abuse.

A highway experiment in progress across the American border is reviewed in the current news, and the case has bearing on this proposal of the Duplessis Government. . . Several States and other interested authorities co-operated with the U.S. government to build a section of highway in Maryland. This was to have a six months intensive test with trucks of various weights and load capacities using the road continuously. A brief preliminary report on early damage has been issued.

Of particular interest is the report on the lane carrying maximum loads, 44,800 pounds on tandem axles. According to the Under-Secretary of Commerce for Transportation, this lane developed 1,000 feet of cracks early in the test and another thousand feet in the following 18 days. By that time the lane carrying the heaviest trucks was so badly damaged, vehicles were difficult to control and, the report adds, "from present indications this stretch will have to be repaired before the test period is completed".

The Poppy Emblem

ONCE AGAIN this year The Canadian Legion is asking the people of Lachute and district to wear a poppy for remembrance. This is an excellent appeal, and one that should not be overlooked. During the years since Col. John McCrae wrote the challenging poem "In Flander's Fields" the poppy has taken on a peculiar significance. It has come to typify in many countries of the world the debt which we who live owe to those who died in battle.

One day in the year the people of Canada are asked to wear a poppy to show that they remember. One day in the year they are asked to pause briefly to honor the dead. That is little enough. While remembrance of the dead of the two wars is the spiritual aspect of the poppy, there is the other practical purpose of assisting the living, for the money raised through the fund is used for emergency assistance to veterans and to families of veterans.

While it is true that veterans under certain circumstances have the advantage of specific legislation, such as war veterans' allowance, it should be remembered that when an emergency crops up in any family, speed is the essential requirement in providing assistance.

There are many cases on record with the Poppy Fund where the necessary assistance has been forthcoming in a matter of hours. It should be remembered also that there are many worthy veterans who hesitate to apply to any of the organized charities. Many of them have twice gone into uniform, and have given ten years from their productive life to the service of their country. Through the comradeship of the Canadian Legion their needs are learned, and the assistance is forthcoming. It should be remembered too, that while the Poppy Fund is a national appeal, the money raised locally is used locally to assist veterans and their families.

The Legion slogan, "Wear a Poppy for Remembrance", is a good slogan. It is one that deserves the support of every citizen.

A canvass will be conducted in Lachute and Brownsburg next week (commencing in Lachute this Saturday), and citizens are urged to give cordial support to the young ladies or other representatives who call on them in the promotion of this campaign.

100,000,000 Canadians?

IF CERTAIN scientists are right, Canada may some day have a population of 100,000,000 — comments "Voice Writing" (bulletin issued periodically by Ediphone). But scientists give a new twist to the facts of life by saying that the growth would be prompted by Alberta oil, July temperature and Nova Scotia coal.

Nature largely decides the future of a country before man even sees it, says Dr. Griffith Taylor, professor of geography at the University of Toronto. And by nature's standards, he says, Canada's total area of 3,500,000 square miles is roughly the size of Europe or the United States, but not so favorable to large populations. By the standards which say Europe is saturated with about 500,000,000 people, Canada could some day reach saturation with 100,000,000, but half of that or less would be sufficient to keep high living standards. Dr. Taylor says man is still able to accelerate, slow or stop a country's progress, but he should not depart from the directions dictated by natural environment.

"Good Through and Through"

"TO MOST people not unduly burdened with material or spiritual cares, The Salvation Army connotes street-corner bands, hymn singing and somewhat earnest-faced men and women, the latter in old-fashioned bonnets.

"But it is safe to say that even those who tend to smile at the picture feel in their hearts that The Salvation Army is (to use an old-fashioned word) good; good through and through; and that these same earnest-faced men and women are performing a noble and necessary work which calls for every support that can be given them."

— The above is quoted from The Ottawa Evening Citizen. It is a candid appraisal, which touches only on the fringe of a noble work which is both the aim and the achievement of The Salvation Army. . . It serves to remind our readers that the local appeal is still open for contributions. The district chairman (Mr. Donald Hay, Bank of Montreal, Lachute) will be glad to receive further donations — and The Watchman gives sincere emphasis to the worthiness of this campaign.

FLIN FLON'S GROWTH SAMPLE OF PROGRESS

Modern City Rises North of Winnipeg; A Bustling Centre of 12,000 Inhabitants

Flin Flon, Man. (CP) — This bustling Northern Manitoba centre of 12,000 persons is in many ways the dreams of north country boosters come true.

A modern city set in the middle of the lonely north 400 miles northwest of Winnipeg, Flin Flon's phenomenal growth in less than 25 years from nothing to an up-to-date industrial town — third largest in Manitoba — may be the signboard to the future of the north country.

In 1915 the prospecting team of Tom Creighton, Dan and John Mosher, Leon and Isadore Dion and Dan Milligan, came across a peculiar ore on the shore of a lake straddling the Manitoba-Saskatchewan border.

They dubbed their find "Flin Flon" after a character in a dime novel. In the novel the hero, Josia Flintabbatey Flonatin, discovered a plain strewn with boulders of solid gold after descending into a hole in the earth.

Fifteen years after the Flin Flon find, the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co. was formed by New York interests to develop the gold property.

Other Industries Help

Although the "company" is the main foundation of the town's economy, residents don't sell short other northern industries that contribute to its wealth.

Every year about 3,000,000 feet of lumber is produced in two sawmills. Revenue from timber in 20 years has been $14,500,000.

Fresh fish brought in by plane in summer and by tractor train in winter brought a total of $3,500,000 into the north in 1949.

Now 72 years old and living in comfortable retirement in The Pas, Man., is Leon Dion, only survivor of the original six sourdoughs.

"We thought sure we had what would develop into a good little gold mine there", Dion says, "but we never dreamed there would ever be a place like the town of Flin Flon".

NEW OFFICERS FOR CANADIAN WEEKLIES

The Federal Cabinet is expected to approve an order allowing the railways a 25.8 per cent boost in charges for carrying mail. Should the order go through, it will almost certainly lead to an increase in parcel post rates. The Post Office Department, it is reported, is considering the possibility of such an increase as a means of raising additional revenue to offset increased costs of transporting mail and salary increases granted employees during the last few years. The suggested increase would mean that the Government may have to pay an extra $2 million a year in addition to current annual payments of about $8 million for carrying the mail.

— Marketing

There are about 12,000 post offices, urban and rural, throughout Canada.

The federal government issues more than 1,800,000 baby bonus cheques monthly.

Volunteers

Volunteer labor was in generous supply during the week while the forms were being made and the cement poured to place the "footings" for the foundation of the skating rink. The supply is needed, and additional funds are also needed. Now that a start has been made it is hoped that both will be coming in — and there is a distinct possibility that we may see some hockey, if not within its walls as least under its roof, this year.

Accidents

Accidents — if you can call driving negligence "accidents" — were plentiful all about these parts last week. In one case a man was killed, and in another a child was gashed and a driver hurt. There will be the usual pros and cons as to who was to blame, but until something is done to curb the speed with which some drivers endeavor to get places, and to test the knowledge of those who handle high-powered automobiles, lives will be lost, limbs will be maimed, and death will stalk the highway.

BCG Vaccination Is Inaugurated in County

parents notify the office of all new-born children, so that they may have an opportunity to proceed with this vaccination at a time when it will do the most good. The Provincial Government furnishes the vaccine, which must always be fresh; any that is more than 10 days old cannot be used.

BCG vaccination is not exactly new. . . The medical records show that experiments were first begun in 1908 and lasted until 1921, when the first were attempted on human beings. Finally — when the discoverers were fully convinced that their vaccine was completely innocuous, in 1924 — they made it known to the world and allowed the distribution to a few laboratories on the Continent wishing to engage in the study.

As it was of the utmost importance to prove beyond doubt that this vaccine would not do more harm than good, countless experiments have been carried out in various countries of the world during the last 25 years. The result of all this work is that — never has there been any proof brought forth, either in humans or in animals, that BCG has produced tuberculous lesions. It is considered the most innocuous of all vaccines. The 1949 year book of Pediatrics, as published in the United States, states that: "Studies have now progressed to the point where it can be concluded that BCG vaccine is safe and effective. Since the avirulent and living BCG vaccine has been used in ten million people in 20 years to produce hypersensitiveness to tuberculin and protection against tuberculosis, it is unrealistic to claim that BCG is still in the experimental stage". It was revealed at a conference sponsored by the United States Public Health Service, that medical literature fails to reveal any proven case of progressive disease as a result of BCG vaccination.

It is further stated by the public health authorities — the efficacy of BCG vaccination has been proven time and again by experiments in different countries, with the result that it is generally accepted that this vaccination gives a protection up to 80%. The Scandinavian countries have adopted this procedure and have vaccinated over one million people. As far back as 1933, Dr. R. G. Ferguson used BCG quite extensively among the Indians in Saskatchewan. He reported that he obtained a morbidity protection rate of 80%. Due to the efforts of Dr. P. E. Moore and Dr. O. Leroux, of the Federal Ministry of Health and Welfare, a general program of vaccination for all Indians in Canada has been in effect since 1946. Every province in Canada is using BCG, especially Saskatchewan and Quebec. The Institute of Microbiology and Hygiene of the University of Montreal began this work as early as 1925. Under the direction of Dr. Frappier, an internationally-known specialist in this work, vaccine was first produced on this side of the Atlantic, and, for a time, his laboratory was the only source of BCG on the North American Continent. Some time later the Provincial Government began assisting in this work, and in 1934 the National Research Council began subsidizing the University of Montreal in order that BCG might be made available in greater quantity. The Royal Edward Laurentian Hospital, the Bruchesi Institute, and other tuberculosis institutions throughout this Continent have, for a number of years, been following a program of BCG vaccination of adults and children.

Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City

It was over 50 years ago that the Chateau Frontenac, scene of two Roosevelt-Churchill conferences during the war and first of the eastern hotels in the Canadian Pacific's nation-wide chain, opened its doors. Built in 1893 high on the cliff that towers over lower town Quebec and the St. Lawrence River, the new hotel — though small indeed compared with its present size — was soon to enjoy a reputation second to none in North America.

This year, the Chateuu was the scene of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association's annual meeting, as well as the Imperial Press Conference and the conference of the 10 provincial premiers with Prime Minister St. Laurent and Lord Alexander to discuss amendment of the Canadian constitution.

The site was well chosen. Here once stood the Chateau St. Louis, official residence of the early governors of New France. A short distance to the west is the Citadel, for many years the key to half a continent, and in the narrow streets of the old city history meets the eye at every corner.

Situated where sea lanes and rail lines converge, it was inevitable that the Chateau Frontenac should grow in stature as the years passed. New wings were added in 1899, 1902 and 1922, the central tower was opened in 1924, and further major improvements were made in 1926.

Dufferin Terrace, favorite spot for the evening "promenade" of Quebeckers, is directly in front of the Chateau, and in the courtyard is a plaque recording that the famous hostelry was the headquarters of the staffs of the armed forces present at the 1943 and 1944 Roosevelt - Churchill meetings as guests of Canada.

Few hotels anywhere have had their royal suites as busy as the Chateau, which has housed in its day King George V; Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, during the Royal Visit in 1939; the Duke of Windsor, when he was Prince of Wales; Prince Henry, Duke of Gloucester; the King and Queen of Siam; Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and the governors-general of Canada from the Earl of Aberdeen to Field Marshal Viscount Alexander.

Other world-famous guests have included President Franklin Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill; Earl Jellicoe, the hero of Jutland; Marshal Ferdinand Foch, Allied generalissimo of World War I; and such great women as Eleanor Roosevelt and Madam Chiang Kai-Shek.

Many textile companies give four-year bursaries to promising young men to train as technicians in Canada's two textile schools.

Origin and Growth of Ayers Industry Told to Purchasing Agents Ass'n

As to the gradual evolution of Hamelin & Ayers, from 1876 — a mill building, a large dwelling to serve as a residence for the partners and boarding house for the help, a dam, and roads, had to be built. There was no railway from Montreal or Ottawa at that time and, with the increase of population which gradually took place (due to the Hamelin & Ayers Industry, the J. C. Wilson Paper Mills established in 1880, and other mills which came into existence, including flour, rolled oats, etc.), Lachute, due to its strategic position became a central point to which the farming population came for supplies from a considerable distance away, in horse-driven vehicles. The woollen mills of that time were doing a bartering trade, exchanging blankets, tweeds, étoffes, etc., against produce of the farm, carding wool for the farmers, and also selling them yarns, the farm houses being then a beehive of industry and supplying their own wants in clothing, etc.

With the advent of the railroad to the great metropolis of Montreal, Hamelin & Ayers organized themselves to supply a larger variety and volume of woollen products. Under the pioneering efforts of Mr. Thomas Henry Ayers, who had the knack of invention and considerable initiative, they acquired more machinery and adapted it by alterations and improvements to the manufacture of Felts for use on pulp and paper machines. They were anxious to benefit by this new market, as the pulp and paper industry was then on a fair start to its eventual ascension in the world of industry. These felts had previously been imported and, after a difficult and laborious stage of experimentation, Mr. Ayers finally succeeded in producing satisfactory felts, very ably aided in this by his wife, formerly Miss Olive Paquette of l'Orignal, a niece of Mr. Félix Hamelin, whom he had married in 1871. In fact, Mrs. Ayers, after painstaking efforts, discovered the intricate process of splicing the ends of the felts into endless felts as the finished product, this art formerly being known only in England and at a place in the United States where they had English textile help.

Thus, Hamelin & Ayers came to be pioneers in the manufacture of Woollen Felts in Canada, a specialized product being an integral part of a paper machine and without which paper cannot be produced on a commercial basis. Eventually Hamelin & Ayers became the largest producers of this special type of Felts for the paper industry. They later on took up the manufacture of Cotton and Asbestos Dryer Felts, and thus were able to fully clothe paper machines from end to end, and displaced importations previously supplying this market.

Hamelin & Ayers, in addition to woollen products, branched into the manufacture of ground wood pulp, for which they erected a separate plant and another dam ¼ mile away on the North River, where the firm's main hydraulic power development is now located.

In the course of time, they generated electric current and erected transmission lines to supply electric lighting to the Carillon and Grenville Canals, the Town of Lachute, also Brownsburg, Stayner-ville and St. Philippe d'Argenteuil. The manufacture of pulp was later abandoned in order to use all the water power capacity for the electric lighting business, conducted under the name of Lachute Electric Light System. . . Eventually, the transmission lines and the goodwill of the Lachute Electric Light System were acquired by the Gatineau Power Company, Hamelin & Ayers retaining, however, their entire hydraulic power development for enlarged manufacturing requirements.

About 1910, the firm was incorporated as Hamelin & Ayers Co. Ltd., without any change of ownership. It had also been operating a branch factory under the title of Lachute Shuttle Co. Ltd., making shuttles, tool handles, cross-arms, insulator wooden pins and a variety of other woodenware. This company is now owned exclusively by Mr. Gilbert E. Ayers under the style of Dominion Shuttle Co. Ltd., which, in the course of years, has shown considerable expansion by the addition of a modern creosoting plant for pressure treatment and another extensive plant for the manufacture of plywoods, veneer for the building trades — having supplied in the last war high-grade veneers which entered into the construction of Mosquito Bombers and propellers, as well as box shooks required by other wartime industries.

The company, Hamelin & Ayers Co. Ltd., came to change its name in course of time to Ayers Limited, without change of ownership. (The plant now employs a working staff of 650 people.)

Mr. Félix Hamelin, Mr. Thomas Henry Ayers and Mrs. Ayers, being the first generation of the founders of the business — and in due course the three sons of Mr. Thomas Henry Ayers and Mrs. Ayers (the second generation in command) Messrs. John Thomas, William Henry and Ernest F. Ayers — have all gone to the great beyond. The third generation of the Ayers family, being the three sons of the late William Henry Ayers, and the only son of the late Ernest F. Ayers, Gilbert E. Ayers, have been for some years active in perpetuating the Ayers name in the business, in the capacity of Chairman of Board of Directors, Thomas Henry Ayers; Gilbert E. Ayers, President; Leonard Ayers, Vice-President; and Richard B. Ayers, a Director in various activities. Your humble servant, is the only remaining link between the founders and the present generation of the Ayers family, having been here since 1904 and a Secretary-Treasurer and Director. The only other Director is Mr. Tom Milnes, a woollen technician from Lancashire, England, now the general mill superintendent; he has been with the firm for the last 25 years or so.

I will add that Gilbert E. Ayers is also the President of the Lachute Golf and Country Club. Through his initiative, it has become a picturesque and very popular 18-hole golf course, and it is claimed that the club-house quarters, from visitors' comments, are second to none in Canada. It is the rendez-vous of many golfers of note in Canada and the U.S. and the place of meeting by many companies for their staffs during the golfing season.

Money Management Vital to Farming

Farming is a continuing business. Before you've harvested one crop, you're getting ready for the next. The far-sighted farmer plans his finances just as he plans his crops, making sure that he has ready money at the times of the year when he most needs it.

Mr. Donald Hay, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, reports that many successful farmers keep special savings accounts at the B of M for this purpose. They know that having too much cash around leads to unplanned spending, and so they put away a portion of all their produce cheques. Then they have the cash they need for financing bigger and better crops, for buying livestock or equipment that will boost farm revenue.

To give your farm the strong financial foundations it requires, open an account at the B of M with your next produce cheque. And, for the easier planning of your farm finances, ask for a copy of the B of M's special Farm Account Book. You'll find it a real help in managing your farm revenue.

The Regulations apply to every person engaged in the business of selling consumer goods at retail on credit, in the business of making loans, or otherwise engaged in financing the purchase of consumer goods.

The following requirements will be in effect when retail sales are made on the instalment plan on and after November 1, 1950:

	Minimum down payment	Maximum time to pay
Motor vehicles (e.g. passenger automobiles and motorcycles)	33⅓%	18 months
All other consumer goods	20%	18 months

In no case shall the down payment be less than $5.00.

INSTALMENT PAYMENTS are to be in regular, approximately equal, amounts of not less than $5.00 monthly or $1.25 weekly. Instalment payments may be varied to meet the circumstances of persons such as farmers and commercial fishermen whose incomes are subject to seasonal fluctuations.

Similar terms apply to loans granted by banks or loan companies for the purpose of purchasing consumer goods at retail.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS ARE INCLUDED WITH REGARD TO REVOLVING CREDIT ACCOUNTS, permanent budget accounts, current budget accounts, and similar plans involving payment for goods by regular instalments.

ORDINARY CHARGE ACCOUNTS ARE NOT DIRECTLY AFFECTED by the present Regulations, but steps will be taken, if necessary, to see that charge accounts are not used to evade the regulations relating to instalment sales.

THE REGULATIONS REQUIRE SELLERS, LENDERS AND FINANCE COMPANIES to maintain records of transactions, to make them available for inspection, and to furnish information on request to authorized representatives of the Government of Canada.

CONSUMER GOODS include all goods with certain exceptions. A full list of the exceptions will be found in the Regulations.

AROUND THE HOME

Tom Gard's Note Book

It's time to wind up the gardening season for another year. It hardly seems possible that winter is just around the corner and that semi-hardy plants require mulching again, but my youngest hauled his skates up from the basement yesterday — a sure sign, if there ever was one.

Roses call for special attention. Bedding roses can be treated as illustrated in the diagram. Something new for mulching hybrid teas and hybrid perpetual roses, as well as many bedding plants, came to my attention last year. Glass-fibre insulation that contains little plastic or resin water-proofing material was spread as a blanket over the plants. Hybrid perpetuals were wrapped in burlap and then covered with the insulation materials. This mulch allows free circulation of air and permits water to pass through to the soil. I certainly intend to try it myself this year.

Table-leg Lamps

This winter promises to be a pleasant one. New neighbors moved in next door and the man of the house—Herb—has a marvellous home workshop. He seems to have all the tools that an amateur could ever hope to master. Just yesterday Herb was showing me a smart pair of lamps he was making out of old oak table legs. Evidently a niece of his was being married and as any appropriate gift would cost a small fortune, he was putting his talent to good use.

Serviette Rings

Seeing Herb's tidy workbench shamed me into pushing my way through the debris of my own for a general housecleaning job. Imagine my surprise to find that my youngest had taken over a small corner and is making a set of serviette rings for Mother's Christmas present. The idea was picked up in his handicraft period at summer camp and he's taking no chances on not having them completed in time—maybe I should take the hint!

Rotary's Place in World-Wide Picture

Facism and Nazism sprang into being as alleged offsets to Communism. Whereas the Second Great War saw the defeat of Hitler and Mussolini, another great problem arose to disturb the world yearning for peace—the growth of Russia as a great world power. Fortunately the leaders of the democracies realized that tremendous complexities would arise out of an Allied victory . . . with the result that the United Nations Organization was established. This has proved successful in many ways, except that Russia, bolstered by her new sense of power, has blocked progress time after time. It seems apparent that this country does not want world difficulties to be solved. So long as there are discords and disagreements, the better chance she will have to discredit the forces of law, order, tolerance and justice by propaganda and subversive machinations.

Rotary, by the simplicity and soundness of its principle, by the position and prestige to which it has grown, must take a more active part in helping to mould sound ideas in the community and in the nation. Rotarians must give support to those leaders, national and international, who stand for fair thinking, freedom of the individual, law and order, justice and tolerance; it must stand alert and on guard against the theorists who want more and more government control; stimulate the development of business and professional men, capable of speaking well and to the point; take a new interest in what is being taught in our schools, colleges, universities and in our churches, acting as sentinels against subtle, subversive propaganda; develop good-will and understanding with the peoples of other lands, and do everything possible to make our country strong against undesirable ideologies.

Rotary International appreciates the problem. Thousands of dollars are spent each year on Foundation Fellowships. Countless thousands of pamphlets are distributed each month. Books have been printed and are made available at practically no cost, all of which should be read much more carefully than they are at present. In the words of Winston Churchill, "we must beware of trying to build a society in which nobody counts for anything, except a politician or an official — a society where enterprise gains no reward and thrift no privileges".

Rotarian Linton Armstrong expressed the thanks of the meeting to Mr. MacDonald for his splendid address.

Fort Resolution Eyes Fur Prices

200 Indians in Northern Ontario Depend on Trapping for Living

Fort Resolution, N.W.T. (CP) — The fur fashions are being followed anxiously by Indians at this northern outpost.

The 200 Indians at Fort Resolution, on the south shore of Great Slave Lake, depend on trapping for a living. If milady suddenly stops buying fur — as she did last year — they go on relief.

Last season they worked all winter in the northern bush only to sell their furs at give-away prices when the season ended.

This year the Indians, who naturally favor full-length coats with full sleeves and fur accessories, are optimistic. Prices are still a long way from the peak of five years ago, but they are about double last year's disastrous low.

"It's about two months until the season gets under way and anything can happen between then and now", commented George Pinsky, veteran fur trader.

Established in 1786

Fort Resolution, the oldest settlement in the Northwest Territories, was established in 1786. Throughout its history it has depended mainly on the fur trade for its existence. The trappers are going through hard times now, but they are convinced the market will come back. It always has.

In the meantime, the Indian trappers have a financial cushion to fall back on—family allowances and relief. These payments, together with old-age pensions, permit them to exist through even the toughest time.

The amount which fur prices have fallen in recent years is shown by the trend in mink.

One of the furs which goes to make up every woman's dream coat, mink, brings the trapper about $25 at present prices. Last year it brought only half that. Five years ago it was worth between $50 and $60.

This year, as always, society matrons 3,000 miles away will continue to affect the fate of the hardy men of the northern bush.

Your Child's Piano Practice

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Many outstanding music teachers are agreed that the piano is an execellent choice of a musical instrument for a child. Harmony and melody can be made on the piano and before very long a student has the satisfaction of playing a tune by himself. It is an excellent foundation for learning to play other instruments later in life. There is a wide choice of music for advanced students to meet every taste or mood. Piano music can add greatly to enjoyment in the home without another musical instrument. At the same time an able pianist may encourage family participation in singing of solos, duets, or a group and may be the centre around which a family orchestra is built.

In "Music for our Child" William Krevit, an experienced teacher, makes some excellent practical suggestions to parents for success in the venture of their child learning to play the piano. Over and over again he stresses the importance of never forcing a child either to listen or participate in music. This pressure produces a spirit of rebellion which destroys the attitude necessary for real music. He suggests that a child of average musical ability should start piano lessons between eight and ten, because at that age he has sufficient co-ordination of mind, eye, ear and hand.

The piano itself should be as good a piano as the family can afford and should be kept in tune. It should be placed in the most pleasant place in the room, in a position where the lighting is good so that the notes can be read without eye strain — but it should not be beside a window where a child's interest will be constantly distracted by happenings he can see through the pane.

A child should have a regular period for practice which is not too long for sustained concentration. Twenty minutes to half an hour is long enough for most juniors. The practice period should not interefere with the regular play time. How can a mother expect Tommy to practice wholeheartedly if his pals are out enjoying a game of baseball? A child who is too tired cannot learn music (or anything else!) Practising should never be used as a punishment — if it is, music will soon become not only a burden, but actually hated, by a child. Money bribes for practising for a definite length of time are not a good plan. But a natural reward for acquiring a certain degree of proficiency would be to attend a good concert.

Playing the piano, or any other instrument, develops habits of regular concentration, technical skill and the imagination. It is an emotional outlet. The ability to play for outstrips the enjoyment of passively listening to music. A boy or girl who plays well, should be given the opportunity to play occasionally for a visitor or guest, and to play at a concert. This plan promotes in a child a sense of accomplishment and adds greatly to the popularity of the adolescent or adult with a group.

The creation of music gives a great many people pleasure. Longfellow called it "The universal language of mankind". Music knows no barriers of race or speech — happy and fortunate is the child who has the opportunity to learn to play the piano, and who finds satisfaction in this form of self-expression.

AGE NO BARRIER

Pembroke, Ont. (CP) — E. C. Fortier, local manager of the National Employment Service, told a meeting that 32 per cent of recent applicants were over 40 years old. Saying it was a national problem, Mr. Fortier said older people are less inclined to absenteeism and are as good as younger workers in maintaining production levels.

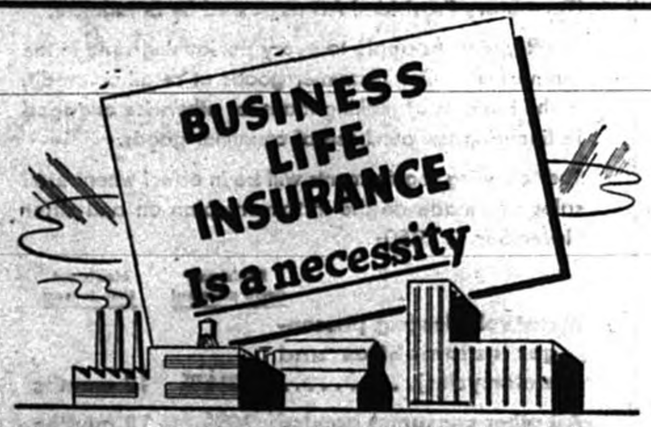

TIMES CHANGE

Elmwood, Man. (CP)—Conditi in the Orkney Islands h changed greatly in 40 years, s James Leslie, just back from visit to his native land. The p and trap have disappeared and the farmers now have cars. E sell for 75 cents a dozen and wh he was there a farmer sold t pigs for $240.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Appointed Incumbent To St. Laurent Church

The Rev. B. J. Thorpe, predecessor of the Rev. C. R. Lang as rector of this parish, has latterly been appointed incumbent of St. Mark's Anglican Church in St. Laurent, a suburb of Montreal.

The Rev. Mr. Thorpe left Lachute to serve in the Army chaplaincy during World War II, and since leaving the forces has occupied the rectorship at the Church of the Redeemer, Montreal. . . Old friends and parishioners wish him success in his new pastoral charge.

October Session of Ministerial Association

The Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association held its regular session in the Presbyterian Church hall on Monday morning. The president, the Rev. S. J. Pike, occupied the chair.

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough read Hebrews 10, and took as his topic The Reformation — a subject that is being brought before the people throughout the Dominion at this season in commemoration of that great historic event in the 16th century. . . The speaker referred to the heroic stand taken by Martin Luther in 1521 and the succession of events prior to that date. The new Cathedral, St. Peter's, being built at Rome at tremendous cost, required special financing, so the Pope introduced the sale of Indulgencies. Martin Luther visited Rome and was deeply disappointed at the state of religion as he saw it in that city. Returning to his parish to continue his work as a priest, he found that the Indulgencies could not be accepted, as the teaching was so very contrary to the message of Holy Scripture. His writings and preaching brought him into conflict with the rulers of his Church, they demanding that he should retract from his views. At the Diet of Worms he steadfastly refused to do so, and accordingly he suffered for his faith.

In answer to the question, "Why am I a Protestant?" Mr. Rosborough suggested that it is because we believe in the human right to reason and think things out for ourselves; because we do not permit any man to come between the soul and his God, Jesus Christ is our one Mediator; lastly because salvation is the free gift of God to man through Jesus Christ. We should therefore prize this legacy bought by the Reformers, and hand it down to future generations.

The group considered the matter of Teacher Training for the various Sunday School teachers in the district, and it is hoped something can be arranged along this line.

The annual meeting of the Bible Society will be held in the Presbyterian Church on November 12 at 7 p.m. All the churches in Lachute are to combine in this service, to hear the progress and work of the Society.

The next meeting of the Protestant clergy will be at the Rev. S. J. Pike's home, Brownsburg, on November 27 at 10 a.m.

Presentations at Morin To Rev. and Mrs. C. Baugh

Morin Heights — On Tuesday evening, October 24, the congregation of Trinity Church gathered in the Red Cross room to tender a farewell to the Rev. C. W. P. Baugh and Mrs. Baugh, whose charge in this community has been taken over by their son, the Rev. H. G. Baugh.

Two films, secured by the latter, were kindly shown by Mr. M. Blakely, after which Mrs. R. J. Seale, president of the Guild, spoke a few words and called upon Mr. F. T. Watchorn, church warden, who presented a gold wrist watch to Mr. Baugh with the good wishes of the congregation. To this Mr. Baugh responded. Mrs. Seale then requested Mrs. F. T. Watchorn, the vice-president, to present a pair of boudoir lamps and a corsage of roses to Mrs. Baugh, who in a few well chosen words thanked her friends for these kind gifts.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the congregation and an enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

The Watchtower and Its Purpose

"They will all be taught by Jehovah". — John 6: 45 NW; Isaiah 54: 13

Literal towers in Bible times were elevated vantage points from which watchmen could observe happenings, warn of danger, or announce good news. Our magazine figuratively occupies such a vantage point, for it is founded on the very pinnacle of wisdom, God's Word. That elevates it above racial, national and political propagandas and prejudices, frees it from selfish bias. It is not bound by any traditional creed, but its message advances as the light on God's purposes and works increases.

— Habakkuk 2: 1-3

It sees things Scripturally. When it observes this generation afflicted with greed, delinquency, hypocrisy, atheism, war, famine, pestilence, perplexity and fear, and persecution of unpopular minorities, it does not parrot the old fable about history repeating itself. Informed by Bible prophecy, it sees in these things the sign of the world's time of the end. But with bright hope it also sees opening up for us just beyond these woes the portals of a new world.

Thus viewed, "The Watchtower" stands as a watchman atop a tower, alert to what is going on, awake to note signs of danger, faithful to point out the way of escape. It announces Jehovah's kingdom established by Christ's enthronement in heaven, feeds his kingdom joint-heirs with spiritual food, cheers men of good will with glorious prospects of eternal life in a paradise earth, comforts us with the resurrection promise for the dead.

It is not dogmatic, but has a confident ring in its voice, because it is based on God's Word. It does not privately interpret prophecy, but calls attention to physical facts, sets them alongside prophecy, and you see for yourself how well the two match, how accurately Jehovah interprets his own prophecy. In the interests of our salvation, it keeps sharp and faithful focus on Bible truth, and views religious news generally.

"Be watchful in these perilous times", God admonishes. So keep on the watch by regularly reading "The Watchtower".

The Bible: A Dependable Guide

Through His inspired Word, the Bible, God imparts indispensable instruction. In the original tongues it was free from error; and it remains remarkably free from error today despite being copied and translated by imperfect men. However, advanced study of the original languages and recent manuscript discoveries do reveal errors. To maintain a dependable guide a completely new translation of the Greek Scriptures has now been published by the Watchtower Society. The New World Translation of the Christian Greek Scriptures, as it is called, is based on the latest exhaustive Bible research.

Any Time Is Cheese Time

Foods may come and foods may go, but cheese stays on forever. This may seem a rather fantastic statement, but it is just another way of saying that cheese is available the year round, while many other foods are on the market only at certain seasons. Homemakers with the matter of family meals before them day in and day out appreciate cheese on this score.

Canadian Cheddar cheese is a boon to the family meal provider on several other counts as well. To begin with Canadian Cheddar cheese is a highly nutritious food containing the most valuable elements of the milk from which it is made. Milk is recognized today as a good source of calcium for the building of sound bones and teeth, but perhaps it is not equally appreciated that two one-inch cubes of Canadian cheese provide about the same amount of calcium as a pint of milk. Cheese may be considered in the same light as meat, fish, poultry and eggs, in meal planning since it, too, has a high protein content. The thrifty homemaker does not overlook this fact when planning main-course dishes for dinner or supper. Another virtue of cheese which finds general favor is the many ways in which it can be used, cooked or uncooked, alone or combined with any number of other foods.

As for quality, Canadians have a right to be proud of the cheese produced year after year in hundreds of factories dotted about the country, for Canadian Cheddar enjoys an enviable reputation among peoples of other lands to which it is exported. Strange as it may seem, the consumption of Canadian cheese in its own homeland has been surprisingly low to date. Granted, the use of this high quality dairy product is gradually increasing but less than five pounds per Canadian per year still seems a small quantity compared to the amounts of cheese used in many other countries.

Cheddar cheese comes in two colors, white and yellow. The only difference between the two is that the yellow cheese has been slightly colored in the making, while the so-called white cheese has been left in its natural color, a deep rich cream.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, remind all homemakers that cheese and vegetables makes an excellent food team, and give these three examples to prove the point:

Brussels Sprouts in Cheese Batter

1 Pint Brussels sprouts (12 to 15), ½ cup flour, few grains salt, few grains pepper, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 1 egg, ¼ cup milk, ½ cup grated Canadian Cheddar cheese (medium or old).

Wash sprouts thoroughly and cook in a small amount of boiling, salted water until tender, but not soft — about 10 minutes. Mix the flour, salt, pepper and baking powder. Beat egg slightly, add milk and combine thoroughly with flour mixture. Add cheese and blend well to make a smooth batter. Dip sprouts in batter one at a time and drop immediately into hot (375°F) deep fat and cook until golden brown, about 3 minutes. Yield: six servings (2 sprouts each).

Cheese Coated Parsnips

8 Small parsnips (4 cups cubed), 1½ cup grated Canadian Cheddar cheese (medium or old).

Peel parsnips, cut into cubes and cook in a small amount of boiling salted water until tender, about 15 minutes. Drain and roll in grated cheese. Place in a greased shallow baking dish and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., until golden brown, about 15 minutes. Yield: six servings (3 cups).

Cheese Vegetable Rarebit

1 Cup tomato juice, 1 tablespoon butter, 1½ teaspoons dry mustard, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper, 1 egg, 3 cups grated cheese, 3 cups cooked vegetables, 6 slices toast.

Heat tomato juice, butter, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper in top of double boiler. Add well-beaten egg and cook until mixture thickens (about 3 minutes). Add grated cheese and stir until melted. Arrange hot vegetables on toast or in toast cups (made by pressing slices of fresh bread into muffin tins and toasting in hot oven 425°F). Pour sauce over vegetables and serve immediately. Yield: six servings.

Still Guides Class Begun 40 Years Ago

Toronto (CP) — Mrs. Lyle Kennedy Stuart, who started teaching a small Bible Class when she was a teen-age girl, has just seen the celebration of the 45th anniversary of the Kennedy Bible Class, where she is still the leader.

It was the late Canon Lawrence Skey who asked Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kennedy, back in 1905, whether their daughter Lyle could take over a class at St. Anne's Anglican Church here.

"I think the world of my girls and intend to go right on teaching", Mrs. Stuart said this week. "The original girls stayed with my class till they got married or took over classes of their own. Two of them are grandmothers now."

Her original class of seven girls now has grown to 40, and the youngest in it today are about 25 years old. Some of the members have been in the class for 25 years. "In fact, there are a couple of members older than I am", said Mrs. Stuart.

"Members have moved to other parts of the city as they grew older, but they still come to St. Anne's every Sunday afternoon."

Remembrance Rites And Poppy Sales At Brownsburg

Brownsburg — We have come to that time of the year which has been set aside for remembrance of the heroes who laid down their lives in the past wars, so that we might enjoy the freedom of Democracy. It is also the time when we are proud to wear a poppy, which serves a dual purpose, namely, respect for the dead, and help for those who have been afflicted by the war. Most of the veterans who manufacture these poppies have been crippled in one way or another, many others are blind and unable to see their work of art, but they do know the benefits which they receive when you wear a poppy. —So give generously, and, help the helpless to regain tneir independence!

Branch 71 of the Legion will hold their annual service at the Cenotaph, Saturday, November 11, at 11 a.m. The parade will consist of the locai Legionnaires, Branch 71 Ladies' Auxiliary, Girl Guides, Brownies, Boy Scouts and Cubs. These units will fall in at the Legion Hall at 10.15 a.m., with J. J. Seary in charge of the parade. The formation will march to the Cenotaph, where respects will be paid to the dead in a fitting manner. All denominations will participate in this solemn event. Berets, uniforms (if available), medals and ribbons will be worn.

The church parade will be held at the Church of St. Louis de France, Sunday, 12th, 3 p.m. The parade will form at the Protestant School grounds at 2.15 p.m. and will be composed of the Legion and Auxiliary, Knights of Columbus, Guides, Brownies, Scouts and Cubs. The service is open to all who wish to attend. All veterans will be notified and a full turn-out is anticipated — the veterans attending in uniforms (if available), berets, medals, and ribbons. Negotiations are under way to have pipes and drums lead the parade, but to date no confirmation has been received by the branch.

Poppies will go on sale on November 3, and a house-to-house campaign will be carried on by the Ladies' Auxiliary, in an effort to assure everyone of being able to purchase these emblems without difficulty. Poppies will also be made available to the pupils of both schools, and it is hoped that a good reception will be given to all those who participate in this worthy canvass.

Opening Ceremony for New School Extension

Citizens View Modern $550,000 Structure

Civic, Provincial Notables Join With Board And Townsfolk to Celebrate Occasion

The occasion last Friday celebrating the opening of Lachute High School, was a ceremony well befitting its importance and its setting — this well-planned edifice, with its 1950 addition and modern appointments, being virtually a new school and now the major seat of education for this county. It was an opportunity also for the parents and the public to view the culmination of long-laid plans, negotiations, conclaves and controversies; and the product of all these labored deliberations was acclaimed by an approving throng.

There were many present to share the pleasure of this occasion — many notables from provincial and civic circles, and well over 800 citizens, friends and taxpayers. Jas. W. McGibbon, chairman of the Lachute Protestant School Commission, acted as chairman, and with him on the platform were — the Hon. Paul Beaulieu, Minister of Trade and Commerce, representing Premier Maurice Duplessis and the Quebec Government; Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Protestant Education for the province; Philippe Valois, M.P.; W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A.; the Rev. W. B. Rosborough; Mayor Leopold Carriere; Fernand Legault, chairman of the Catholic School Board; Geo. Y. Deacon, member of the Quebec Protestant Committee of Education; F. H. J. Royal, principal of the High School; A. L. Ormiston, manager, main branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia; and last but not least, the members of the school commission, Ross Muir, S. J. McFaul, Douglas G. Bradford and E. M. Smith — all of whom were introduced by Mr. McGibbon to the audience.

The platform was banked with chrysanthemums graciously donated by the architect of the school. Grattan Thompson, who with J. S. Hewson, the contractor, was a guest at the opening.

During the program the High School Band and Glee Club under direction of their music instructor, S. McKyes, gave an excellent account of themselves in several fine selections. Mrs. Leonard Armstrong played the piano accompaniments.

Following the speeches and proceedings, the audience were invited to make a tour of inspection around the new school, where members of the teaching staff were in their respective classrooms to meet the parents and visitors. The school monitors directed the interested crowd, and by courtesy of the commissioners refreshments were served in the cafeteria, where school pupils waited on the guests.

Hon. Paul Beaulieu

The chairman read a telegram of congratulations from Premier Duplessis, also regretting his inability to be present. The Hon. Paul Beaulieu brought sincere greetings from his chief and colleagues at Quebec. He was the son of a school principal, he said, and keenly appreciative of the needs and the benefits of education.

He paid unstinting tribute to the English-speaking populace of the province; their interest in youth and education has been an example, he said, which his French-Canadian compatriots had been "trying to imitate". The Quebec Government, said Mr. Beaulieu, were willing to contribute to the fullest extent of the capacity of the people of the province — not, however, contributing as a gift, but "returning to you that which belongs to the people, on behalf of your children, to give them a standard of education comparable with any in the world" . . and this assistance, he added, had been made possible, not by taxing the people, but by taxing the big corporations which have exploited Quebec's resources. "Canada is growing rapidly — and Quebec is looking for the brains of tomorrow", the Minister concluded, in thanking the School Board and the community for their efforts in this direction.

Dr. W. P. Percival

It was the privilege of Dr. W. P. Percival to officially declare the opening of the new school. "May you all benefit — your children in this community, and unborn generations of children, for this school will endure for a century", he said in opening his address.

"Schools develop not by magic, but by slow degrees, by brains and brawn". Thus the speaker paid tribute to all who had fostered the development of education to its present advancement in this community. In 1891 the first Lachute Academy was built, at a cost which represented "a lot of money in those days". In 1932, the year of consolidation, Dr. Percival had attended the opening of the first school extension, which cost $50,000. Now, in 1950, at a cost of half a million dollars, the Lachute School Board had "done a magnificent job", declared the speaker. He referred, without hesitancy, without regret, to the differences of opinion, the disputes and "scraps" that had preceded the school centralization and the rebuilding. "These have culminated today in an organization here which is in no way inferior to any organization in this province, and to few, if any, outside the province. Arguments have brought about this fine achievement, barriers have been surmounted, and I don't think there is much bitter feeling in Lachute today . . for on such freedom of opinion is founded the best kind of government in the world — Democracy at its best."

Dr. Percival had much to say of an academic trend. This was a time of stocktaking, he said, as he summarized the purposes of education and the prime needs of a school. He had a word for the advancement of public relations — the better understanding between pupils, staff and parents. "If business had made such progress as this, there would be fewer upheavals and labor disputes", he observed. When the world was very "big", there had been no need for a big school such as this; but with the world grown small through speedy transit and communication, there was need for big endeavors in understanding, in education — and there was need for such public gatherings as this present occasion.

W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A.

Chairman Jas. MacGibbon gave generous credit to the Central School Board for their collaboration, in introducing Mr. Cottingham, both as chairman of that Board and as M.L.A. In both capacities, he affirmed, Mr. Cottingham had given sterling assistance towards the materialization of this school.

Col. L. M. Hooker, Community Figure, Dies Suddenly

EX-CAVALRY OFFICER, PROMINENT IN MANY LOCAL ACTIVITIES

The death of a well-known community man, Col. Leslie McMartin Hooker, occurred suddenly last Sunday at his home on Lachute Road. A prominent farmer and former commander of militia cavalry, he took part in many civic and patriotic enterprises, and enjoyed wide friendship.

The late Col. Hooker was born in Geneva, now better known as Lachute Road settlement, and was in his 74th year at the time of his death.

Commander of the Argenteuil Rangers before World War I, he served with the 148th Battalion, later joining the 14th (Royal Montreal Regt.) and was also on Headquarters Staff in France. He was wounded twice and rose to the rank of major. Following the war he transferred to the 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars and took command of that regiment in the 1920's. He later took command of the old 3rd Mounted Brigade in Montreal with the rank of full colonel.

Col. Hooker was charter president of Branch 70 of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., and was active with the Historical Society of Argenteuil County. He was also an elder in St. Andrew's United Church. He was an old member and past-master of Argenteuil Masonic Lodge, No. 67, and until the time of his death remained actively interested in the Boy Scouts of the district.

The funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon in the United Church at St. Andrews East. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiated, and at the graveside in St. Andrews Cemetery, fellow Masons conducted the rites of their Order, while veterans who formed a guard of honor paid their last tribute of respect by depositing a poppy in the grave.

Pall-bearers were — Messrs. G. M. Smith, S. W. Rodger, W. G. Watson, Major J. W. Greene. A. G. Leggett and L. Taylor.

The late Leslie Hooker is survived by two sons, Edgar and Harry, of Lachute; and two daughters, Mrs. D. H. MacDonald (Alice), of Wells, B.C., and Mrs. B. A. Tait (Christina), of Lachute. His wife, the former Isabel Christina McIntyre, died two and a half years ago.

Legion Program for "Remembrance" Rites

Branch No. 70 of the Canadian Legion, Lachute, will observe the Remembrance Day rites on Saturday, November 11, beginning in the morning at 10.15 at the Legion Memorial Hall, Foundry Street, where they will form up to parade to the Auditorium. Dress will be berets, topcoats and decorations.

At 10.45 o'clock a memorial service will be held in the Civic Auditorium, under the chairmanship of Mayor Léopold Carrière — which the public are respectfully asked to attend. On conclusion of the remembrance service in the Auditorium there will be the usual ceremonies at the Cenotaph, where wreaths will be placed by organizations and individuals in memory of servicemen who fell during the two world wars.

Besides the Cadets, who will parade to the Auditorium with the Legion — the Scouts, Cubs and a delegation from the Lions Club will join the Legion at the Cenotaph.

In the evening, veterans will meet in the Legion Memorial Hall to attend their annual banquet in remembrance of fallen comrades.

Rotary Entertains Officers, Winners, Of Plowing Match

MEETING HIGHLIGHTED BY PRESENTATION OF TWO CLUB TROPHIES

The directors of the Argenteuil Plowmen's Association, headed by President Ben Hammond, and the prize-winners at the recent annual plowing match, were guests at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club last Thursday night, together with Mr. Horace Lamarche, president of the Lions Club.

In view of the fact that G. Charbonneau, of St. Hermas, winner of the cup donated by the Lions Club for the second consecutive year, was not present, Ernest Emmett, secretary of the Association, asked the youngest prize-winning plowman present (Donald Parker, of Lachute Road) to accept their cup in behalf of the absent winner. This was presented by Mr. Lamarche representing the Lions Club.

Elston Reid, chairman of the Community Service Committee of the Rotary Club, presented their cup to the prize-winner, Allan Hammond, of Bethany Road.

Harold Barrett, representing the Fertilizer and Insecticide Division of the C-I-L for the Ottawa Valley district, chose a farm topic as appropriate for the meeting. He spoke of the value of proper fertilizers and especially those chemicals distributed by such companies as the C-I-L. He then presented a film showing the results in the growth of potatoes when certain of these chemicals were lacking in the soil. This made a most interesting meeting. President Stewart Jones occupied the chair.

B'burg Scout Committee Collects Paper Salvage

Brownsburg—The recent salvage paper canvass in Brownsburg, resulted in about 5½ tons of paper being collected under auspices of the Boy Scouts' Group Committee.

The Committee wishes to thank the residents who donated paper; also the industries, for salvage and transportation provided; and Boyd's Express Ltd., who hauled the paper to Montreal. Charlie Kennedy, Jr., drove a truck for the local pick-up, while Rover Scouts Robbie Johnston and Greg Mason, and Rover Leader A. B. Waller, assisted with the collection. The boys spent the rest of the day assisting with the rink project, along with the other Scouts and Rovers, all keen to see the rink constructed as soon as possible.

The feature picture for this event is "Kind Hearts and Coronets"; the film played four weeks at the Avenue Theatre in Montreal, and this will be its first showing in this area. All interested are advised to obtain tickets early.

Forum Debates Topic at Mabel

Mabel — The local Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Black on Monday evening.

The subject, "Who should pay for soil conservation?", aroused a lengthy discussion. Soil conservation is foremost in the minds of many farmers today, but it is a problem how it is to be done, and who is able to pay for it. Farmers find that the demands on their purses are greater than their income — so what to do, and what to leave undone, is difficult to decide. True enough, some aid is offered by the provincial government, but not sufficient; and not enough people know about it. The farmer, in some cases, cleans the ditches along the main road; the government road machines, either local or provincial, push the earth back in the ditch when they make their next trip. That is not exactly helping either soil conservation or the farmer.

Who should pay for soil conservation?" is a big question deserving serious thought — according to the concensus of this meeting.

Criminal Blame In Highway Death

A jury under Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur deliberated at the Court House here last Thursday in the case of Aimé Petrucci, 68-year-old Montrealer, who was killed in a panel truck when hit by a log-loaded vehicle at Chatboro on October 30. The accident occurred on a foggy morning, when the logging truck was passing another vehicle on Highway No. 8, and collided with the delivery van proceeding in the opposite direction.

Maurice Larocque, 23, of Chute à Blondeau, was held criminally responsible, as driver of the 3-ton lorry which caused the tragedy. Larocque was arraigned at court in St. Jerome last Friday on a charge of manslaughter. He was released on $500 bail pending his preliminary hearing on November 22.

Laurels to Ex-Servicemen, Guests At Lions Club 'Remembrance Night'

Inter-Club Flavor to Meeting Addressed By President of Local Legion Branch 70

Transporting his audience back to the war years and intimately analyzing "the man who served", Sam Milnes, president of the local Legion, was speaker at the Lions Club on Tuesday evening, and in that role gave telling emphasis to the theme of the meeting — which was "Remembrance".

The Lions' session, held as usual at the Hotel Joly, was "veterans' night" in a true sense. The gathering, over 50 in number under the chairmanship of Lion Horace Lamarche, included numerous ex-servicemen as guests. Lion Dr. F. W. FitzGerald welcomed the veterans. A note of reverence, in keeping with the approaching Armistice anniversary, ran through the fellowship of the gathering; it received due emphasis as the guest speaker read the names of Lachute's war dead, and the members stood in silent tribute. Lion Ralph FitzGerald gave a brief appeal on behalf of the poppy fund, and three young salesladies received contributions for that cause. Wartime choruses were sung during the evening.

"What Is Remembrance Day" — theme of the address by Sam Milnes, formerly a Major in the Royal Canadian Engineers—led up to his candid picturization of "the men we are going to remember". The Canuck from the ranks of Canadian citizenship, became the 'Joe" who went out to preserve the peace — dominated by the spirit of adventure, for he was young and new to his experiences; resourceful and proud, for he was Canadian. And "those whom we remember" are the ones who did not return. Some who died still confident they were immune from death; and those who died knowing they must die — carrying on into the very jaws of death. "These deserve our special tribute on Remembrance Day. These, and the soldiers, sailors and airmen who died in hospitals, lingering to the certain end."

The speaker referred briefly to the Legion and its aims — not as a "power group" but rather as an "affiliation"; and to the progress of the local branch of that organization. He concluded by thanking the Lions for their support to Legion No. 70 in all its endeavors, and particularly in the realization of its Memorial Hall.

Comrade Milnes was introduced by Lion Ernest Snadden and thanked by Ex-President Dr. R. A. Dumais.

It was resolved that the club should be represented as a body at the Remembrance Day rites and depositing of wreaths.

During the discussion of club business, Lion Ian Gordon reported on the attendance drive and awarded the trophy to Jean-Bruno Menard and his team, for the third meeting in succession. Lion Gordon also reported progress on preparation of the "Repeater Bingo" series, which will commence in December.

Lion Donat Villeneuve, police chief, gave good account of the effectiveness of the civic radio-telephone equipment, recently donated by the club. He cited two practical instances of its value, and predicted the system would count materially in crime prevention as well as crime detection and emergency.

Rotary President Stewart Jones, a guest among the veterans present, brought greetings from the fellow service club.

Bob Marcil was feted as "Lion of the Day" — Ex-President Phil Roy giving a brief biographical sketch and paying tribute to his community service.

President H. Lamarche announced the official visit of District Deputy Governor "Bill" Shields for the next regular meeting. Ubiquitous Jos. Dumais filled the secretarial role.

Ch. of Commerce Takes Stock, Plans Reorganization

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directorate was held Monday at the town hall, under chairmanship of President J. R. Charron.

Secretary André Lefebvre, in reviewing the proceedings of last meeting, also reported that 40 business-men had paid their dues for the current year and it was expected an equal number would be forthcoming within a few days.

Immediate plans for the Chamber of Commerce include a supper meeting on November 17, coinciding with election of the new executive for the ensuing year.

President Charron reported on highlights of the convention of the Quebec Federation of Chambers of Commerce, held recently at Toronto — which he and Dr. R. A. Dumais has attended as delegates of this branch.

It was suggested by W. K. McArthur that the Chamber needed a considerably higher enrolment fee and thus more effective interest on the part of members.

Dr. R. A. Dumais also urged the consideration of reforms to stimulate the effectiveness of the group, which thus far, in certain aspects, might be considered unsatisfactory.

Paul Lafontaine felt that the community was not adequately informed on the Chamber's sphere of activity; it was essential, first, to establish clearly those matters which devolved upon the Chamber, and those which were not within its scope of consideration.

Jas. Lowe again drew the directors' attention to a need of prime importance — the enticing of new industries to Lachute. Follow-up was necessary on the efforts made in the previous two years.

These proposals were received with general approval and will have considerable bearing on the future program of the Chamber for betterment of this town. It was unanimously felt, that the prime essentials to success were a strong executive and a keenly interested membership; these were the true motive force of an effective organization.

Gabriel Valois advocated that, in the election of officers, the vice-president should be given first nomination for the presidency.

Detective Transferred To St. Jerome Post

Det. Maurice Lamoureux of the Provincial Police, who has been stationed in Lachute since May of this year, was transferred last week to St. Jerome, replacing Det. J. Rocque.

Det. Philippe Therriault remains in charge of this district for the Provincial Police.

B'burg Council to Aid Financing of Community Rink

Brownsburg — Article 410 of the Municipal Code authorizes a municipal council to undertake the erection of buildings, or parks or other public works which would be of benefit to the health or education of young people of the municipality. Under this article the Brownsburg council has decided to assist the Skating Rink Association by signing a note for them in the bank, so that the sum of $25,000 can be obtained on loan immediately and so enable the committee to go ahead with the work of erecting a building this winter.

The council has not decided to lend the committee any money, and the taxpayers are not asked to risk any money, because there are more than enough pledges to cover the amount of $25,000. The manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia in making the application said that all that was needed was to convert the pledges, which are being paid at the rate of almost a thousand dollars a month, to ready cash, so that work can be continued now that the job of building the rink has been started.

In signing a note the council will of course be responsible for that amount of money being repaid to the bank. The chances of the council being left "holding the bag" are so small as to be not worth considering, but as the matter must come before the people in the form of a referendum before the council can underwrite the amount, it is well to consider that donations received and expected amount to over $36,000. Those donations are coming in at the rate of almost $1,000 a month, and canvassers have not yet contacted all the subscribers, so that a much larger sum can be expected.

If the Skating Rink Association wait till the pledges are realized, it will mean about three years before the work can be started, maybe longer; but by the council going bond for the sum of $25,000, the rink can be erected this year and returns from the games played will contribute greatly towards paying off the debt and getting the whole project finished.

When the rink is completed it becomes the property of the people of Brownsburg, and all proceeds go towards the upkeep and administration of the building and not to any private or bond-coupon paying interests. So the council and the people have all to gain and nothing to lose by backing the rink committee and thus providing a covered rink where children can play in safety and adults can enjoy a hockey game in comfort.

Argent'l Livestock To Toronto 'Royal'

From the Lachute district and Grenville, no fewer than 10 carloads of livestock are being assembled today for shipment to the Toronto Royal Agricultural Winter Fair — which will possibly be the largest rail consignment from any single area at this annual show.

Gilbert E. Arnold, of Grenville, has five carloads of his renowned horses en route to capture a good share of the honors. A. D. McGibbon & Sons and E. K. Wilson have each a carload of Shorthorn cattle, J. P. Bradley & Son are shipping a carload of Ayrshires, while the remaining two cars will be made up of stock shipped collectively by breeders from this immediate district.

Besides the exhibitors there will be numerous farm folk from Argenteuil travelling by road and rail to attend this big event, November 14 - 22.

Police Variety Concert Was Well Supported

The second annual concert for the Police Department of Lachute was held in the Auditorium on Monday evening, with a splendid attendance. Chief Donat Villeneuve expressed his appreciation to all who had helped to make the concert a success.

The master of ceremonies, Leo. Rivet, of Montreal, was supported by a group of experienced entertainers from the city. Miss Denise Plourde, talented dancer, gave three contrasting dances — a toe, Russian and tap dance. Jim Bristol, magician, gave a mystifying performance, and a young acrobat gave a masterly exhibition of balancing. Claire Bergeron, accordionist-singer, gave several selections. The Darriault Sisters, dance team, were highlights, and other specialty numbers rounded out the program. The Lachute String Ensemble, under direction of Angelo Fassio, rendered three orchestral numbers.

During the intermission, a drawing was held for the door prizes — the awards going to Henri Plouffe, Grace Street, and Miss Mariette Belanger, Wilson Street.

Hallowe'eners Meet Unhappy Experience

Held at Gun-Point

An echo of Hallowe'en night is reported in the experience of a group who were out calling on friends and neighbors in East-Settlement — who state that a car drove up behind them with three property-holders of the district, one of whom stepped out with a weapon and held the group at gun-point. It is further stated that he fired a shot at their feet and pushed one of the group with the muzzle of the gun, demanding to see his driving license.

Regular Cattle Auctions Big Business — Similar Venture Started in Lachute

Small town cattle auctions are becoming big business in Eastern Ontario — writes D. L. Waterston in The Family Herald & Weekly Star. Sales arenas are spreading quickly throughout this area and wherever they go they are meeting with real popularity. The farmer sends all kinds of livestock to them; feeder, breeding and slaughter animals are all included in the classes sent.

Farmers contacted on a recent motor trip through Eastern Ontario (writes Mr. Waterston) felt that they were getting not only higher, but more consistent prices at these auctions. The open auctions had stabilized prices at as high a figure as the market would bear. Selling this way also saved them a lot of time and money in looking for buyers when they wanted to sell.

The buyers appeared to be satisfied, as they do not have to visit a lot of different farmers to get the stock they need. Being able to meet the sellers at a central spot saves the buyers time and money and so enables them to pay a little higher prices. On a rapid tour through Eastern Ontario the Family Herald representative was able to visit three arenas.

The first man to start in the Eastern Ontario region was Ray Williams, Campbellford, who started in the last week of April

Kilowatt Hours

A short time ago we talked about the meaning of the words horsepower and kilowatt. We mentioned the word horsepower today has come to mean the ability to lift 550 pounds one foot in one second; and that a kilowatt is one-third as strong again as a horsepower and so can lift 733⅓ pounds one foot in one second.

For those using electricity, however — the customers of the power company — another important phrase is "kilowatt hour" because the use of electricity is measured in kilowatt hours. The consumer usually pays for his electricity on the basis of the number of kilowatt hours which have been used.

As might be expected, the term kilowatt hour means the use of one kilowatt — or 1,000 watts — for one hour. A 100-watt light bulb, for instance, would burn 10 hours to use up one kilowatt hour of electricity. A 500-watt iron or toaster, on the other hand, would use a kilowatt hour in two hours. A 3,000-watt water heater would use a kilowatt hour in 20 minutes.

But just how much energy is involved in a kilowatt hour? To figure that out, let's go back to kilowatt — which is the ability to lift 733⅓ pounds one foot in one second. As there are 3,600 seconds in an hour, a kilowatt hour represents the ability to lift 733⅓ pounds one foot per second for 3,600 seconds, or a total of 3,600 feet.

Putting it another way, as a kilowatt is one-third as strong again as a horsepower, and as a horsepower roughly represents the actual power of a horse, a kilowatt hour of electricity will supply the same amount of energy as one and one-third horses working steadily for one hour: four horses working three hours supply energy equal to three kilowatt hours.

Until electricity came along, nobody could use a horse for a full hour at a cost of only a cent or two — now everybody uses the equivalent of the power of a horse time and time again for this low cost. And quite aside from cost, of course, is the fact that the electric current can do so many things that a horse never could do — such as lighting lights, toasting bread, washing clothes, heating water, and countless other jobs around the home, on the farm, and in the factory.

Mennonites Adopt Many Modern Ways

Winkler, Man. (CP) — Street lights brightened 10 Minnonite villages in southern Manitoba for the first time recently. It was another step by the religious sect to cast off its old world flavor.

The Mennonites, numbering about 15,000 in Canada, have until recently persisted in old customs. They settled in Manitoba's Red River Valley in 1875 and have been slow to take on Canadian ways.

But in the last few years, they have come to accept mechanical help on their farms in the way of cars, trucks and tractors.

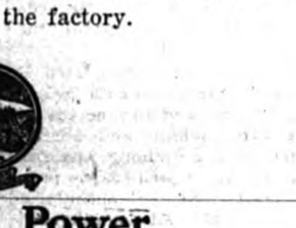

Also, the Mennonites — who brought with them from south Russia a system of "one-community" locations — are gradually buying their own farms, obtaining college degrees and generally dispersing.

Now rural electrification has come to these rustic villages. Moreover, every one of the 131 farms in the villages boasts yard lights. Seventy miles of power lines were erected to electrify the area.

The Mennonites specialize in growing corn, sunflowers and sugar beet. They have not had a crop failure in 75 years.

When a ladies' wrestling match was cancelled through objections of the clergy, the Humboldt, Sask., Journal fumed: "We dislike the idea of being told what we can see and what we cannot. That sort of thing may be alright for ignorant and illiterate people, or for states that are downtrodden by the government. . Most of us are intelligent enough to decide what is good or not good for our minds and morals. . If it is because of the scanty costumes worn, we can expect some action to prohibit girls wearing the modern bathing costumes on the beaches."

Dominion-Provincial Conference Nov. 30

Ottawa — Because of another Dominion-Provincial conference on fiscal and constitutional matters which will begin on December 4, the date for the opening of the Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Conference (previously announced to open on December 4) has been advanced to November 30.

The agricultural conference will open Thursday morning, November 30, in the Railway Committee Room of the House of Commons and will last two or three days as may be found necessary.

This annual conference brings together representatives of federal and provincial departments of agriculture, and delegates from organized farm associations, to review the agricultural situation and make plans for a production program for 1951.

Better Returns from Certified Seed

Ottawa — Because of adverse weather conditions in 1950, officials of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, point out that much of the registered and certified seed will likely be graded "Registered No. 3" and "Certified No. 2", mainly owing to discoloration. Prospective buyers of seed should bear in mind that even the lowest grades of registered and certified seed are of selected seed stocks which have been well processed and which offer more reliability than the top grades of general commercial seed.

Registered and certified seed are selected seeds of recorded pedigree which have been tested for purity as to variety, freedom from weed seeds and other kinds of seed, and have been inspected, graded and sealed in closed containers by an inspector of the Department of Agriculture.

Autumn Care of Farm Machinery

One of the important jobs which has to be done every Fall is to make sure that the many pieces of valuable farm equipment which has been in use during the Summer season are properly looked after and put away for the Winter months.

In storing the machinery in the Fall enough time should be devoted to the job to go over each piece of equipment and check it for possible repairs or alterations. A note can easily be made of such points and the work mainly carried out during the winter. It is much better to do this than put it off until the Spring, when that particular piece of equipment is needed.

In this connection it is well to note that a machinery shed, separate from the other farm buildings, should be just as much a part of any group of farm buildings as is the barn. It is certainly just as necessary a part of the farm as are the machines themselves. Yet in many cases adequate provision of this kind is not made.

In placing the machines in the barn, space can be saved by removing the tongues, while drag harrows can usually be hung on the wall. The machinery should be put in the opposite order to which it is going to be used, with Fall equipment going in first and Spring machinery last.

Poisonous Weed Adds To Farm Income

A poisonous weed may become an important source of farm income to farmers in Quebec province and the New England states. Known as American White Helebore or Indian Poke, the root of the weed is the basic ingredient of the new drug "Veriloid" used in the treatment of high blood pressure. The drug reduces pressure by dilating the small blood vessels and was discovered by a large American drug company.

According to scientists of C-I-L's agricultural chemicals division, the weed is found in Canada chiefly in the Eastern Townships of Quebec and near Quebec City. It grows where the ground is wet, near swamps and brooks and reaches a height of two to six feet. The leaves are hairy and pleated like a fan.

Last year Quebec farmers harvested 98,000 pounds of hellebore roots which they sold to a U.S. drug pool for 35 cents a pound. The 1950 harvest is expected to reach 300,000 pounds. The average yield is 1,000 pounds per acre.

Recognizing the market value of the weed, the Quebec department of agriculture has begun work on yield improvement at its experimental station at Deschambault. It tests prove successful, considerable cultivated acreage will be encouraged.

The Economy of Using the Best

The economy of using the best possible materials is made apparent in the upkeep problem. A house or business building may be "thrown together" with cheap material, and it may "look all right," but after it has stood the shock of weather, the real test comes.

It is false economy to use poor materials — and we so advise everyone who buys from us. Our success is due to honesty in materials and prices.

Significance of the Poppy Campaign

THIS YEAR the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L. celebrates its Silver Jubilee. This represents 25 years of unstinted service to the veterans of Canada which includes a list of achievements on behalf of Canada's ex-servicemen unequalled in the world.

Never content to be solely a social club where veterans may gather and reminisce, the organization has steadfastly forged to the front as a strong influence for veterans' welfare, for the security of Canada and for the principles of Democracy.

One of the important means by which the Canadian Legion carries out its nation-wide veteran welfare program is the annual sale of poppies and poppy wreaths. Proceeds of this sale have enabled the Legion to bring immediate and urgently needed relief to untold numbers of veterans and their dependents, and to the orphans and widows of those who died in the service of their country.

The results amply demonstrate the soundness of the project. Throughout the years the annual Poppy Campaign has received the spontaneous endorsement of leaders in all walks of life.

The Canadian Legion Poppy Campaign is rooted in the cities, towns and villages of the nation where 2,000 branches conduct individual campaigns. The organization of the campaign is such that well over half of the total funds raised, remain in those communities for local veteran welfare work. All veterans in need — whether or not they be members of The Legion — are equally eligible to benefit.

The poppies and wreaths being offered to the public again this year, are the product of disabled veterans and those too old for the highly competitive labor market. Some are assembled in the homes of veterans too badly disabled to get out, and the occupation provides means through which they can earn their bread.

This Remembrance Day, do your part to help the world remember. Wear a poppy and attend the ceremonies being held in the various communities of this county.

A Good Crop

FARMERS all across Canada have harvested a bumper crop. Few seasons have been as favorable in so many parts of the nation. Nature was kind everywhere except the prairie provinces, where a September frost struck a heavy wheat stand.

Nor are prospects for selling this bountiful crop unfavorable. Heavy demand for agricultural products in the domestic market continues. Beef exports to the United States are large and profitable. Canada has retained, and is not likely to lose, its position as a major exporter of wheat. Not only are large quantities being moved to market, but prices are good and farm income continues high.

Since early in World War II Canadian farmers have been producing at a high level. Except for apples and potatoes, all produce has found a ready market. However, within the past 10 years the agricultural picture has changed. Crop acreage and numbers of livestock have been altered to suit the needs. At the end of the war production was running at a high level. To meet peacetime needs, certain changes had to be made and were made in full stride by Canadian farmers who, at the same time, produced as much as before. An example of this was Alberta's post-war change from hogs to grain.

Feed production on farms is now more versatile than ever before. Application of fertilizers to meet crop needs permits changes from one crop to another. Protection of crops and livestock with new pest control chemicals also protects farm investments — in machinery, seed and other items.

The transitional phase of farming has not ended. More changes can be expected, and farmers must be prepared to meet them. To do this they will need all the tools at their disposal and suppliers must see these tools are available.

Mother Goose's Last Stand

TOUGH-TALKING comic book characters such as Dick Tracy and Secret Agent X-9 are reported ousting kindly Mother Hubbard and self-satisfied Little Jack Horner from the affections of children. Experts say the bad effects of the change may be felt far beyond the nursery walls.

Roberta Langtry, a specialist in dealing with children with speech defects or reading problems, recently made a survey of the results of the decline of the nursery rhyme in the Toronto suburb of East York. She said sadly that her findings were probably true of many other areas.

What worried Miss Langtry was that children who have not been taught nursery rhymes in their own homes find it hard to learn to read when they start to school.

"Children come to school with no sense of rhyme and rhythm", she said. "This sense is very important to a child, because clues in the context of a sentence tell what comes next."

The children she talked to could not identify pictures of Little Miss Muffet, Old King Cole or other nursery rhyme characters, nor could they recite the rhymes about the activities of the Mother Goose folk.

Miss Langtry blamed parents for this state of affairs. She said today's mother and father, too busy to sit down and teach children nursery rhymes and fairy tales, simply toss them a handful of comic books and leave them to amuse themselves.

City parents, wearied by the pressure and rush of urban life and caught up by other demands on their time and energy, often would like to spend more time with their children but cannot manage to do so, she said.

In the communities outside the cities however, there still is opportunity for the kind of leisurely living that enables a father or a mother to sit down to teach a small son or daughter the beloved rhymes and jingles learned long ago at their own parents' knees. It is probable that in those districts the rhymes are making a last stand.

Carbohydrated!

GOVERNMENT wheels in Ottawa are being run on French fried potatoes, pies and pop — a survey of the eating habits of the city's younger civil servants has disclosed. They have thrown away the diet rules drawn up by their department of health, and are pushing government pens and pencils, running the country's typewriters and doing errands, almost entirely on energy generated by starches and sugars.

The survey shows that the middle-aged civil servants are different. They are taking good care of their digestive systems. But not so their fellow workers under 30. Each day Ottawa restaurant owners and managers prepare thousands of bushels of French fries, bake hundreds of pies, and stock up their soda fountains to meet the demands of government clerks, stenographers and messengers.

If the craze for sugar and starches were just a passing fancy, there would be no cause for alarm, but such is not the case. One restaurant owner said, "This kind of thing has been going on for some time and the demand for these foods is increasing, not decreasing".

Just what is behind this sweet-tooth fancy is difficult to answer. Many restaurant owners and managers say it is due to a search for a filling diet rather than a nourishing one, and a result of the present food prices. . . The only complaint the restaurant owners have of middle-aged civil servants is that they show little imagination in their choice of food. Many waitresses can place a man's order when they see him turn in off the street.

NEARLY every experience in international relations, especially in the last 20 years, has pointed out one fact: past experience does not necessarily provide a guide for the future.

Inaugural Ceremony for $550,000 School Extension

W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., Discusses Finances

"Those who have given of their time and effort to make this new school a physical fact, may well look with pride upon their work. Lachute can now boast of as fine a school as any in the country — not only in its physical facilities but also in the quality of its teaching staff, headed by your capable principal, Mr. F. H. J. Royal", said Mr. Cottingham.

"The leaders of the world of tomorrow are in the classrooms of our schools today. I maintain that one of the greatest single contributions we can make towards building that better world of tomorrow is to make certain that our children have the opportunity to obtain the best possible education today."

"I would like to pay tribute to the people of this community for their progressiveness in making this great school possible", the speaker continued. "I would also pay tribute to all others without whose continued support, this school would never have been built. I am thinking of Dr. Percival and his Department. . . We owe him a great debt of gratitude. I am thinking also of the Provincial Government and — I want to make it clear that I have not the slightest intention of introducing politics in school affairs. I am simply endeavoring to give credit where credit is due. First of all, this Government relieved the taxpayers of this district of their former bonded indebtedness, $18,100 which was still owing on the extension built in 1932. More than that, your Government reimbursed the local Board of Lachute, through the efforts of the Central Board, for temporary loans owing at the Bank at the time that particular legislation came into effect. This amounted to $15,000 which, together with the interest, totalled $15,495. In other words, a total of $33,595 was paid, so that your School Board was square with the world before embarking on the new construction. In connection with the new building, the Government is paying two-thirds of the total cost, or $360,500. This vast sum of money is being paid in five instalments. The remaining portion of one-third is to be paid by the taxpayers over a period of 30 years. In addition to these vast sums, the regular grants paid for the operation of the school have been steadily increased; for the year just ended these were almost four times greater than those paid five years ago. In addition to that again, the Government is paying 50% of the cost of recent repairs to the old school, which have been estimated at $12,863. . . Thus, over a period of five years, total grants received from the Government will be considerably in excess of $400,000 — exclusive of those paid for the operation of the school, which continue at 50% of the total, even although these costs have sky-rocketed.

"I tend to lose patience with those who quibble about who is paying for what", said Mr. Cottingham, continuing on the matter of finance. "Regardless of the amounts, the Government will undoubtedly pay more than 50%. . There are still a few who would argue that the taxpayers in Lachute Town are paying for the education of children from the rural sections. But actually the taxpayers from the rural areas are paying more per child educated than the taxpayers in the Town, and that is after all transportation costs have been paid in full.

"There are those also who argue that the taxpayers from this school municipality have to pay for the education of children from all over the county. This also is not based on fact. . . Of the 576 children in Lachute High School — 280 come from Lachute Town, 174 from the rural areas, 110 from outside the school municipality, and 12 are Roman Catholics. Our experience has always been that, in the event of these children constituting an additional charge, this was made up by additional Government grants. In addition, since the inauguration of the Central Board, this problem is not serious. Lachute can budget for a deficit because other Boards, especially those who send their children here, budget a surplus. . .

"However, there is a more important factor. The fact that these children from outside the municipality come to this school, enables us to have a first-rate school instead of a second or third-rate one, which would otherwise be the case. In other words, if we excluded these children it is doubtful if the enrolment would justify the expense of specialists for Agriculture, Music, Physical Education, Household Science, etc. Therefore, as a local taxpayer, I welcome these children to this school with open arms. They are the ones who make it possible . . to have a school second to none in the province."

In closing, Mr. Cottingham solicited the taxpayers' wholehearted co-operation in the work being done for education in this county. "What, except our Church, is more important to the community? Is not the very best we have to offer little enough to prepare our children for what lies ahead?"

The speakers were warmly applauded.

STRIKE THREE !

Cincinnati — It was in the time of great shortages. . . .

The disgusted operator of a Cincinnati tobacco store locked his doors with this placarded explanation to his erstwhile customers:

"Out of cigars.
"Out of cigarettes.
"Out of gum.
"Out of films.
"Out of stamps.
"Out of patience.

CITIZENS SHOULD VOTE

Every eligible person should vote. Lack of interest in municipal affairs breeds complacency in a council and that in turn can lead to inefficiency in administration. A citizen's duty toward a municipal election is two-fold; to check the voters' list at the proper time and if necessary have his name added; then on election day to go out and vote.

LOCAL FISHERMAN USES BROWNSBURG NYLON

A pleasant afternoon fishing in some local stream is HAROLD ROBINSON'S favourite hobby during his off-duty hours. Just before the Brownsburg school started in September, Harold took KENNY TOMALTY along with him, for Kenny is a keen fisherman himself. With Kenny's assistance Harold put a "Coachman" fly on his nylon leader before casting for one of those elusive red trout. But not only does Harold know a lot about fishing, he's quite an authority on the nylon line and leader he uses. For Harold is a Nylon Operator at the C-I-L plant in Brownsburg, where in addition to a wide range of sporting ammunition many other products are made. Take industrial cartridges and power cartridges for example: or blasting caps, or railway signals. Yes, there are many different chemical products made in your local C-I-L plant.

REMEMBRANCE DAY, NOV. 11

Remember . .

(Specially Contributed)

After the first world war the tomb of an unknown soldier was dedicated as a national shrine to perpetuate the glorious deeds of the men who fought and died for the liberties they held dear. The liberties they wanted their sons and daughters to become heir to in the generations to follow. The liberties they and their comrades-in-arms wanted to possess when peace was restored and war was but a distant memory.

They died. Those who were left remembered the cause for which they died, and sought to give expression to the silence of those dead ones by erecting monuments of stone. The tomb of the unknown soldier, where the remains of some nameless corpse from the battlefields was placed in restful peace, became the catafalque of a nation's contribution to the cause for which he died.

In France, the Arc de Triomphe. In England, the Cenotaph. In Canada, the Peace Tower. In the United States, the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. In all the cities and villages from which men went forth to die so that freedom could endure — the monument of stone or wood; but whatever the form, a memorial through which speak the mighty hosts of those who fought and died so that we might live. . . Remember.

Yes, we remember.

In the early years we reverently saluted the voices of the Cenotaph by remembering the cause for which they died; and we cherished the memories of their passing, and worked to fulfill the promise which their sacrifice demanded.

Down the years — just a few short years — the vision grew dim, and another holocaust of "blood, sweat and tears" was inflicted upon us, to open afresh the wounds which had scarce begun to heal, to remind us of our forgotten promise to those who had fought and (as we thought) won the great adventure. . . Remember.

The little village Cenotaph was again refurbished. Fresh names were cut on the marble or stone or inscribed on the Roll of Honor. We stood again before the memorial and renewed again the vows which we made the years before, and the years between with diminishing resolution. This time it would not happen. This time we would be firm and true. We would strive for peace and happiness, and end strife and fear. . . Remember.

We didn't build the "homes fit for heroes to live in", but this time our veterans would have the best there is and above all and beyond all, an everlasting memorial to their valiant and glorious sacrifice; we would build for them and posterity a blissful peace. . . Remember.

A few more years have sped along since then, and again the vision grows dim. In our efforts to grasp a sufficiency of the material things in life, to provide for our own comforts, to put a little aside for our old age, we found time all too short to realize the beautiful goal we had promised to work for when our comrades were giving their young lives to defend our rights and liberties. The rights and liberties which made it possible for us to live in affluence that we are now loath to use in redeeming the promises we made at the promptings of fearful death. . Remember.

Why are we so prone to forget? Why do we neglect the voice which speaks to us from the Cenotaph around which we stood with such faith and vigor when we made our vows to remember, and to which some of us will make a pale and listless pilgrimage on November 11, Remembrance Day.

There will be inspiring addresses. The dead torch will be lighted. Solemn hymns will be played and sung. Parades will be held, banners furled, arms reversed. We salute our dead and March Past. . . March past and forget; for another year we will not remember.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints for Child Training, etc.

Homework Hints

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"It is not the pupils who make the 'homework problem' but parents!" a teacher said recently.

"An antagonistic attitude to all homework on the part of mother or dad, is very quickly reflected in the child's work. Children, in the matter of homework, and other things too, certainly 'take their home to school with them'!"

Homework Hints

Another teacher who was listening said quitely:

"Some parents are honestly doubtful of the value of homework — but since some of it is necessary for the older scholars, it might as well be done willingly and well."

At this point a mother expressed her views:

"The catch is getting Junior to do it himself! He comes from school with envious reports of the praise Phillip gets from the teacher for his neat, correct answers to all the homework questions — and Junior says Phillip's dad does his homework for him . . . and that little Blank girl's mother always works out her arithmetic problems for her! Goodness knows, I have enough to do without taking on a public school evening course! Teachers should see to it that it is the scholars' own work and then the parents won't be nagged by their children for 'just a little help with my homework'.

"Perhaps some teachers are poor detectives", another mother said, with a little laugh.

"But I do think a teacher should make a guess at how long it would take an average pupil to do one evening's homework, and keep the amount assigned within a reasonable limit. Many children take music lessons or have other valuable hobbies. They should do a few home chores — and they do need a little time to play — they should be in the fresh air after being indoors so many hours on a school day."

Pros and Cons of Homework

How often the pros and cons of homework have been discussed! There is something to be said for the convictions of both teachers and parents in this conversation — the doing of homework unfortunately, is a most contentious subject. It is a battle ground in far too many homes. What are some practical, useful suggestions to parents on homework hints?

If your child has homework which his teacher has given to his class, don't make it harder for him by pouring scorn on homework, criticizing the teachers, or by being too anxious for a perfect record from your child in his school marks.

Accept, homework as a job to be done, regularly without fuss. This piece of work, if done well by the pupil "on his own", will help him in habits of concentration and self-discipline. It will also add to his knowledge and grasp of his school work.

Provide a place for your child to study — if possible a table and chair in a room by himself. See that he is comfortable and that the lighting is good. The family living room often has a radio on as well as other interesting interruptions. Neither does the kitchen table, if people are coming in and out, provide the quiet atmosphere for academic work.

Help your child to budget his hours out of school wisely. Have a set time when he agrees to begin homework each evening. A definite other substitute time between four o'clock and supper is necessary on the special occasions when this evening schedule is broken into.

Many boarding school students have "study hours" begun and ended by a bell. This is an easy way to remind a youngster that homework time has come. Boarding schools also usually provide a simple "snack" at bed time of crackers and cheese or some other light refreshment. This is a jolly session! Mother or dad should take a few minutes to be sociable with a boy or girl at home at "snack time" after homework is done, just before "sleep time".

It's His Job

Have a casual attitude to your child's homework. Remind him it is his job, not yours. (You have your own evening tasks to see to). Be very sparing in your assistance. School subjects are taught so differently now from what they were when parents were young, that chances are your help will only confuse your youngster as well as tend to make him a "leaner"!

Sending Money Away?

This Way is Safe and Simple Too

If you are sending money away for any purpose, you want to be quite sure that it will reach its destination. Well, here's as safe a way of sending money as you can find, and one that's both simple and inexpensive.

Drop into your local branch of the Bank of Montreal, and purchase a B of M Money Order. Such money orders are payable without charge anywhere in Canada (except in the Yukon). Slip the money order into an envelope, mail it, and you can rest happy in the knowledge that you've assured the best protection at really low cost. And you know, too, that the person at the other end won't have to be bothered with any exchange charge; he'll get the full face value of the money order.

If you have to send money anywhere more rapidly than by post, have a word with J. L. A. Brouillette, the accountant at the B of M branch in Lachute. He'll make sure that your funds are rushed to their destination by the B of M's special telegraphic and cable system.

in 1949. Mr. Williams does all his own auctioneering, having done it for many years on a part time basis. His idea in starting the sales arena came after visiting Frank McCleneson, Cambridge, New York, who is a very successful operator in that area.

The Williams Sale day is on Monday (continues the Family Herald article), and if you happen to be in that area during the small hours of Tuesday morning and you are wondering where all the cars are coming from, he is the person you can blame. Sales have been known to go to almost five o'clock in the morning, so that there would not be any stock left unsold. In the farmers' busy season, such as seeding and harvesting, there is not much activity during the day. Practically all the selling is done in the evening.

A newer and more elaborate arena than Ray Williams' was started in Belleville last spring. Owned on a partnership basis, it is housed in a 200 by 50 foot building. It is a little larger than the Williams arena, being able to house some 275-300 cattle, 400-450 calves, 600-800 feeder pigs, and 50-100 sheep.

At the sales arenas visited — this writer continues — a commission of 3% is charged on all sales. The farmer is allowed to put in a reserve bid to protect his stock from going at a "too low" price. However, very little stock is taken back by the farmer who brought it. Practically all farmers seem to feel that the arenas give them their "money's worth".

Auctions at Lachute

A venture of this kind has been started in the Lachute community, two sales having been held to date, and another announced for this Saturday.

At the first sale, on October 4, a volume of $5,200 livestock was sold. The second sale, October 28, was of equal volume — 31 cattle, eight horses and 27 pigs being consigned. All the cattle but three head brought a price satisfactory to the consignee; five horses were actually sold.

One buyer from Pte. Claire took six head of cattle at $1,692, or an average of $282, for Grade dairy cows. One buyer from Alexandria, Ont., bought nine head, and another from Joliette, five. This illustrates that outside buyers are coming in, and as soon as volume is large enough, one beef buyer from New York has promised to attend.

The business possibilities of this regular auction have been well demonstrated, and it is up to the farmer to get behind this local venture and create a market for his livestock at home.

Quick Canadian Facts, Pocket Encyclopedia

Released this week is the 1950-1951 edition of the pocket encyclopedia, "Quick Canadian Facts". A digest-sized volume about Canada and Canadians, the new book contains feature articles about the R.C.M.P., about postage stamps, about the country's progress and system of government and a question-and-answer section that provides an informative quiz game covering many aspects of Canadian affairs. In its sixth year of publication, Quick Canadian Facts contains 136 pages. It is distributed nationally through bookstores and news-stands.

Some of the interesting facts contained in the new book are that Cape Breton Island was at one time a separate province, that Alexander Graham Bell was first to take a man aloft in Canada in a heavier-than-air machine, that the province of Prince Edward Island is only one-sixth the size of Vancouver Island, that the average Russian industrial worker earns the price of a pound of sugar in two hours whereas the average Canadian works only six minutes for his. In addition to such sidelights on Canada and Canadians the 1950-1951 edition of Quick Canadian Facts contains very complete statistical data and reports on the most important aspects of our national life.

Salvation Army Work in the Prisons

The Salvation Army's work of "reconversion of men" is taking on increased importance as responsible men and women today plan how best they can cope with the numerous problems of the post-war world. By "reconversion of men" is meant The Salvation Army's work with discharged or paroled prisoners.

During the past year, The Salvation Army accepted responsibility for 191 parolees, and no fewer than 1,984 persons were committed to The Army's care from Canadian courts.

A total of 4,213 prisoners were helped to find jobs, and were restored to their homes. Many prisoners' families were helped with financial assistance or counseling.

The Salvation Army pioneered in work in behalf of prisoners 65 years ago, when Army Officers waited outside prison gates to offer assistance to discharged prisoners, and when the first "prison-gate" homes were set up by The Salvation Army for moneyless or friendless discharged prisoners.

Today, this organization has become a recognized agency in the field of criminology, and its services to the men behind the bars form a semi-official adjunct of this country's penal system.

Institutions served by The Salvation Army include both Federal prisons and reformatories; training and vocational schools that treat young offenders; county jails; and city prisons, where arrested persons await trial; government prisons housing military or naval prisoners; and criminal insane hospitals.

Prison officials place almost no restrictions on the type of work that The Salvation Army carries on inside prisons, and these activities take the form of band programs, lectures, motion pictures, prayer meetings and evangelistic meetings; personal visits to prisoners, and distribution of books and magazines, including textbooks, religious books and the Bible.

The Salvation Army's prison work program comprises many other activities, such as cards and special gifts at holiday times; family baskets or cheques for prisoners' families; and toys and clothes for prisoners' children and families. Latest plan is to provide low-cost accommodation for relatives visiting inmates of the larger penal institutions. A nominal charge is made for the overnight housing, but the Hostel operates on a non-profit basis. Persons unable to pay are given free accommodation. Aged mothers are met at trains and conveyed by automobile to the penitentiary. Every possible assistance is given.

— Thus the work of The Salvation Army goes on, in one more phase of humanitarian effort. YOU can assist this worthy enterprise by mailing your donation to the chairman of the district appeal, D. M. Hay, Bank of Montreal, Lachute.

Then and Now

The survey of St. Joseph Street for the purpose of laying sidewalks presented the council with a bill for $825. This the council thought was a bit high considering, as Secretary Emile Hebert remarked, that the whole survey of Brownsburg was done for $15,000. The sum of $825 was made up of 11 days' work on actual survey and eight days in research at the deeds office. The mayor observed, if it took 11 days to get the length of St. Joseph Street, it would take the rest of their life to get to St. Philippe. Anyway, there is a question of two surveys being made because of some error, and the council feel that they should be responsible for only one survey. The matter was referred to the legal advisor.

• • •

Increased Facilities

The work of enlarging the waterworks system to include St. Lawrence and St. George Streets is to cost $13,500, and to provide the money for this project, By-law 78 was passed by council, so that bonds could be issued to obtain a loan of this amount. The work is at present proceeding very rapidly, and as the Nova Scotia Bank has offered to take up the whole issue at terms considered very favorable, there will be no delay in putting this extension into operation. This will benefit a large number of taxpayers in the area who have been clamoring for service for a long time.

The last project of this kind, the extension at Chenierville, was not fully availed of, and steps are to be taken by the Health Unit to force delinquents to connect up to the service.

• • •

One to Four

The barbers of this village recently raised the cost of tonsorial service, with a particular emphasis on week-ends. Mr. Parisien applied for extension of the hours of closing, from six to seven o'clock at night, but a letter from four members of his craft objected to any change. The council was obliged to heed the greater number, so no change was made in the hours of closing.

• • •

Transport Service

Some changes were made recently in the terminals for bus service which are having an unfavorable repercussion on the parking situation. At last meeting of the council, buses and taxis were prohibited from parking on the Main Street while waiting for patrons. There are two steep inclines along Main, and having them cluttered up with taxis and buses makes it well nigh impossible for regular traffic to get by without accidents.

• • •

Police Juvenile Club

The members are at present very active collecting funds for decorating a huge Christmas tree so that Santa can meet all the younger fry up to the age of six. Police Chief Henri Foucreau is very sure that this Christmas Tree will outdo any ever seen around here before. We are waiting.

The Chief pays tribute to J. M. Danis, aged 12, G. Giroux, 10, G. Parent, 14, A. Ouellette, 16, E. Parent, 12, P. Brewer, 13, J. Racine, 15, and G. Raymond, 13, who noticing a rather large bush fire on the C-I-L picnic ground, promptly ran to the scene and beat it out after a stubborn fight. The boys had about finished the job, when the local fire brigade arrived and thanked them for their efficient initiation in fire-fighting and civic preparedness. . . Well, they should. Boys of that age usually like to see a good fire and very seldom have the sense to fight it.

Fire Protection

Talking about fires—the council recently laid a new lining in the reservoir for the purpose of providing water pressure to fight fires. Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., was informed by the Minister that his application for the usual 50% grant for such preventive appliances did not apply. The council bears the whole cost, $3,000.

Rocket Engine and Hydra-Matic Drive

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

OLDSMOBILE

"76"

The "76", powered by an improved Big Six Engine, offers Hydra-Matic Drive as optional equipment at extra cost.

First came Hydra-Matic—pioneered by Oldsmobile more than 10 years ago, and acknowledged as the greatest contribution to driving ease in the history of the motor car! Here at last was an engineering achievement that took the work out of driving and put pleasure in its place—a drive that outmoded the clutch pedal entirely, letting you drive without ever shifting a gear.

Then came the revolutionary "Rocket". Soon after Hydra-Matic, Oldsmobile engineers began work on an entirely new engine—one that would be better than any other motor car engine—a power plant especially designed to work with Hydra-Matic Drive, to produce a team that would revolutionize motoring.

And now the team is complete! Together, Hydra-Matic Drive and the "Rocket" engine give you brilliant performance you can't comprehend until you've experienced it! A sense of unbounded power . . . an ease of driving entirely new . . . combined with new economy—for the team makes the utmost of every gallon of gasoline. It's a team that puts Oldsmobile years ahead—and puts Oldsmobile owners years ahead. See your Oldsmobile dealer.

Oldsmobile "88", powered by the "Rocket" Engine features Whirlaway Hydra-Matic Drive as standard equipment.

"And When the Pie Was Opened . . "

Everyone has vivid memories of the old rhyme about the "Four and twenty blackbirds, baked in a pie". The pies of 1950 mode are not apt to be made of blackbirds but when the modern versions of meat and poultry pie are opened, it will be the people who will have good cause for singing. A meat pie can truly be a dish fit for a king.

Unfortunately many homemakers think of a meat pie as a means of getting rid of a collection of left-overs which are hidden by an uninteresting crust.

The "chef's special" in many large hotels, which are famous for their cuisine, is meat pie. Some service clubs plan to have their luncheon meetings in the hotel on "Chicken pie day". Meat pie made at home should also be classed as a treat, with tender topping over a flavorful filling. On the homemaker's count, meat pies may also gain points because the rich gravy and the top crust help to stretch the meat. The top crust may be a light baking powder biscuit mixture or a plain pastry.

The recipes for meat and chicken pies come from the files of the Consumer Section at Ottawa.

Double Crust Meat Pie

Pastry, 2 cups diced cooked meat, ¼ cup chopped onion, ¼ cup coarsely chopped celery or celery leaves, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 cup sliced cooked carrots, ⅓ cup cooked or canned peas, ⅓ cup cooked or canned green or wax beans, ⅔ cup mushroom soup or left-over gravy.

Line a deep pie plate with pastry. Make a mixture of the meat, onion, celery and other vegetables. Place the meat and vegetables in alternate layers in the pie and top with the gravy or mushroom soup. Cover with remaining pastry, making gashes to allow steam to escape. Bake in a hot oven at 400°F., until pastry is brown, about 35 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Note: Any left-over or canned vegetables may be used to replace all or part of the carrots, peas and beans.

Mock Squab Pie

6 Slices cold roast pork or roast lamb, 1 medium onion (sliced), ½ cup finely chopped celery, 1 medium apple (peeled and sliced), salt and pepper to taste, 3 cups gravy, pie crust or biscuit dough.

Arrange pork, onion, celery and apple in alternate layers in a greased six cup casserole until casserole is ¾ full. Season each layer with salt and pepper to taste. Cover with gravy. Bake in a hot oven, 400°F., for 15 minutes. Remove from oven and cover with pie crust or biscuit dough. Continue baking until top is a golden brown, about 30 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Chicken Pie

1 Fowl (4 to 5 lbs.) cut in pieces, 1 carrot, 1 onion, 2 stalks celery (chopped), 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 cup diced potatoes, 1 cup sliced carrots, 1 clove, 3 peppercorns, ½ cup sliced onions, ¼ cup fat, 3 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper to taste, 1 hard-cooked egg, sliced, baking powder biscuit dough or pastry.

Place fowl in kettle and cover with water. Add vegetables and seasonings and simmer (covered) until very tender. Allow fowl to cool in broth. Take from stock and remove meat from bones, cutting the meat in fairly large pieces. Boil stock for half an hour (uncovered). Melt fat. Stir in flour and blend well. Add two cups strained stock and cook until thickened, seasoning to taste. Add chicken, mixing well, and turn into greased casserole. Cover with slices of hard-cooked egg and place pastry or biscuit dough on top—making sure it is well sealed at the edges and that there are one or two gashes in the centre of the dough to allow steam to escape. If desired, the biscuit dough may be rolled to ½ inch thickness, cut in various shapes and placed close together on top of the chicken mixture. Bake in hot oven (400 - 425°F), for about 20 minutes or until crust is done. Yield: six servings.

More Funds Needed for B'burg Memorial Building

Brownsburg — With the present rate of progress on its memorial building, the Brownsburg Legion hopes to have the hall portion, at least, in readiness by January next. The upper portion is presently being sheathed in preparation for veneer panelling, and skeleton erection for offices and stage has been completed. The heating system is also in process of installation, and electrical wiring is proceeding.

With the relatively meagre funds which were available at the start of building, it should be considered an accomplishment to have reached the present stage of construction without incurring debt. It is obvious that monies have been used wisely, and of course voluntary labor has been considerable. However, building funds are now exhausted, and the Brownsburg Legion is endeavoring to collect outstanding pledges from the 1946 campaign; it is also hoped there will be some new subscriptions, although, in view of the Community Rink campaign, there will be no town canvass. Contact is now being made with those who have not yet redeemed their 1946 pledges, and subscriptions will continue to be deductible from taxable income until the end of 1951. In the renewed drive for funds, the following new subscriptions or pledge redemptions have been made to date, for which the Brownsburg Legion express their grateful thanks:

Canadian Industries Limited $500, Rotary Club of Brownsburg $326, Ladies' Auxiliary, Brownsburg Legion $500, Bank of Nova Scotia $100, Giles Publishing House Ltd. $100, Village Municipality of Brownsburg $100, Boyd's Lachute Express Ltd. $50.

Frank H. Barnes (balance) $25, John Connelly $25, R. E. Graham (balance) $15, Frank McCaffrey (balance) $5, Omer Carriere (balance) $9, Paul Denis (part) $10, Miss Doris White $5.

Official receipts for income tax purposes will only be issued by the campaign treasurer, J. H. Morgan. Canvassers, however, are authorized to accept contributions, which they will acknowledge with temporary receipts. Arrangements can be made with canvassers for the redemption of pledges by monthly payments.

Exclusive pictures of Alaska, in color, will be shown by the Brownsburg Legion in St. Onge's Hall, Brownsburg, on November 14, commencing at 9 p.m. The general public is invited, and admission will be by raffle ticket (for a table lamp) which can be purchased for 25 cents from most Legionnaires. The program will last about 90 minutes.

Widespread Search for Missing Montrealer

Man Disappeared Sunday; Troops Deployed In Six-Mile Radius From Louisa Lakefront

Little Hope Entertained for Victim's Survival

Provincial Police, a unit of 100 men from the Canadian Army Training School at St. John's, Que., and local residents have been afoot in organized search parties scouring the bush around St. Michel to discover the whereabouts of Frank Barclay Allen, 72-year-old retired Montrealer, missing since Sunday at 10 a.m., when he set out, unaccompanied, for a walk in the woods. All efforts have so far proved in vain.

The help of Army authorities was enlisted on Monday, and the reservists, under charge of Major J. A. Berthiaume, arrived by autobus and Army transport Tuesday morning, making their base at the Lachute Auditorium. From this point food has been purveyed to the soldiers, who returned to town at nightfall and took up their sleeping headquarters in the Auditorium.

Frank Allen, of 12233 Somerset Road, Cartierville, is a retired contractor. It is stated that he had been in indifferent health for some time past. He was familiar with the area in which he disappeared, and well known thereabouts, having owned various properties, at St. Michel, Beaven Lake and Killarney Lake. Last week-end he was with two of his sons, and their wives, at the property of Reg Stone, Montreal, situated at the southwest end of Lake Louisa, known as Gagné's Bay.

While the menfolk were engaged in closing up the camp for the season, Mr. Allen announced he would take a last look around the woods, and he accordingly set out for a brief walk. When he failed to return within a reasonable time, his sons and residents of the neighborhood called out and searched along the Louisa lakefront and through the woods, but found no clue leading to the man's discovery. Mr. Allen was clad in a red Hudson Bay jacket, heavy boots, and carrying a Mauser rifle. He was last seen by residents at a ball field a short distance from the properties.

The search crew — who were accompanied all day yesterday by Cst. Howard Jones and Cst. Albert Legault of the local Traffic Police — reported last night they had systematically covered a radius of six miles around the place from which the man disappeared. Det. Philippe Therriault was investigating at the scene on Monday. Proceeding in a line 100 yards long, eight or nine feet apart, the soldiers, clad in white winter uniform, have used walkie-talkie equipment and called continuously over loudspeakers.

Pressing the search — but now despairing of success — are Mr. Allen's three sons — Lt.-Col. E. R. Allen, officer commanding, 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars; James, an assistant coach of the McGill football team; and Frank, who like his brother, served in the 17th Hussars during the Second Great War, being twice wounded in action.

Bible Soc'y Meeting Told Adventures in Translating Word

The annual meeting of the Montreal Auxiliary Bible Society, Lachute Branch, was held on Sunday evening at the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church. The Rev. De Courcy H. Rayner was guest speaker.

Mr. Robt. Cairns acted as chairman in the absence of the president, Mr. J. S. Giles. He called upon the secretary, Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, who reported that last year's receipts established a record with $377.78, and stated that when the year's collections were complete they would reach an even greater figure.

The slate of officers for the ensuing year is as follows:

Hon. president, J. S. Giles; president, Robt. Cairns; vice-president, Harry Salisbury; secretary, Mrs. Geo. McGibbon; treasurer, Miss Louise Millar.

The Rev. De Courcy H. Rayner showed a highly interesting film on the printing of the Bible, in ancient as well as modern times. . "One of the encouraging trends of our age", said the speaker, "is the increasing and widespread demand for copies of the Holy Scriptures. Seventeen and a half-million Bibles, New Testaments and gospel portions was the total for world circulation in 1948-49. The target for the present year is exactly double that — 35-million copies.

"This objective was not set casually. When the Council of the United Bible Societies met in New York in June, 1949, all the co-operating Bible Societies were represented there. The Rev. M. W. Booth, District Secretary of the Montreal Auxiliary, was among the Canadian delegation. A careful estimate of world needs was made, and the target of 35-million copies was the outcome. These Scriptures will be produced in nearly 1,100 languages. . . Circulation in Canada totaled 255,036 copies, of which 41,988 were in tongues other than English."

Speaking of Ruanda-Urandi, a far-distant field of distribution, and one of the biggest language groups of Central Africa, the speaker remarked that these two tribes together are estimated at about five million. Their languages are in many ways similar, but they presented serious differences when it came to translating the Scriptures. The speaker illustrated some of these differences, showing that "the translator's task is a very exciting one, as he often finds new light thrown across familiar truth, in seeking to express in another tongue the deep things of God". The outcome of this particular venture is that the Rundi New Testament and Psalms is now in the hands of the printer and eagerly awaited.

The officers of the Lachute branch solicit the financial support of any who have not been called upon in the annual canvass. It is urged there can be no better way to promote peace and brotherliness in these troubled times, than to aid this work of distributing the Scriptures. Contributions sent to the treasurer will be gratefully appreciated.

Arvida, Que. (CP) — A recent survey by Arvida school commissioners showed that children 18 years of age and younger number 5,266, representing almost 50 per cent of the total population of Arvida. But the survey also showed 319 families who have no children.

B'burg Again Wins Directors' Prize

Safety Award for 314 Accident-Free Days

Brownsburg — Employees of the Brownsburg sporting ammunition plant of Canadian Industries Limited have won the Board of Directors' prize for their achievement of 314 accident-free calendar days, or 1,596,000 accident-free man-hours of work—according to announcement from C-I-L.

It is the 21st prize won by the Brownsburg employees under the company's no-accident record plan, and the fourth time they have gained the Board of Directors' prize, second most important award under the plan.

In 1943-44, the Brownsburg employees also set the record for the small arms ammunition division of the sheet metal industry, with a total of 3,543,950 injury-free man hours worked.

Parent-Child Night At Rotary Club

The last meeting of Brownsburg Rotary Club took the form of a father-and-son (or daughter) luncheon. Over 20 boys and girls were present, varying in ages from two to 15 years.

Mr. S. McKyes, music instructor at Lachute High School, who attended the meeting as a guest, gathered the children at the piano and led them in the singing of a number of songs, much to the delight of the members. Instead of the customary speaker, moving pictures were shown, with emphasis on comedy films. This was an entirely new experience to some of the tots, and they gazed in wide-eyed wonder at the antics of the weird creatures shown in present-day comedies. A small gift was presented to each child as the successful meeting was brought to a close.

THEIR TURN

—Central Press Canadian

The Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps detachment at Fort Lewis, Wash., who had a busy time inoculating the Special Force troops there, finally ran out of customers and to the enjoyment of all ranks, started in on each other. Before the force proceeded overseas 10 "shots" had been administered. Shown above during one of the needle sessions, are, left to right; Maj. E. H. "Andy" Anderson, Digby, N.S., second-in-command 25th Field Ambulance, and Maj. George Stoker, of Vancouver, R.C.A.M.C., Fort Lewis.

Note to Authorities

While commending the installation of attractive garbage receptacles on Main Street (a civic donation by the Lions Club) — a resident remarks that in the busiest section of town they are too often found packed to the brim, thus defeating their purpose. Provision for more frequent emptying of these cans would seem to be in order.

Late Matt McCluskey Served Many Years as Postmaster at Laurel

Well Known Figure in Wentworth Countryside

The people of Laurel and surrounding district were grieved to hear of the passing of an old-time resident, in the person of Matthew (Matt) McCluskey, whose death occurred October 30 after a long period of ill health, at the age of 84 years.

The second son of the late James McCluskey and his wife, Mary Wilson, he was born in Wentworth Township on February 7, 1866, and spent most of his lifetime in those parts. He was the first postmaster in Laurel, a position which he occupied for a number of years. In May 1948, Mr. McCluskey met with an accident and was confined to hospital, and after remaining there for some time with little improvement in his condition, he was moved to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lebeau, at Cartierville, where he passed away.

The remains were laid in the family burial ground at Lost River, beside those of his loving wife and elder daughter, who predeceased him some years ago. The Rev. C. W. P. Baugh officiated at the funeral and was assisted by members of the Orange Lodge at Lost River. Pall-bearers were — Messrs. Alex Bethune, James Bethune, Irvin Dewar, John Dewar, Rod MacMillan and Sandy MacMillan.

Left to mourn his loss are one daughter, (May) Mrs. Lebeau and her family, also four brothers and one sister — Joseph (who was here to visit his relatives last year) and Robert, of Ribstone, Alta., William and Sarah, of New Westminster, B.C., and Edward, of Long View, Wash., U.S.A.

Cars in Collision At Chatboro

ONE SERIOUSLY HURT

Two passenger cars met in a head-on collision Sunday evening at Chatboro, just a few miles west of the recent fatality which occurred on No. 8 highway.

An auto driven by Leo Larocque, of Buckingham, proceeding westward, was damaged to the extent of $700, and a Montreal car coming east, driven by Theo Brunelle (formerly of the St. Eustache garage) was totally wrecked.

There were six occupants in the Buckingham car, and a total of eight persons were treated for various minor injuries by Dr. Jules Lafleur, of Lachute, who gave first aid at the scene of the crash. Brunelle, the most seriously injured, was brought to the Providence Hospital here suffering from a broken knee-cap; he was later transferred by ambulance to the Notre Dame Hospital in Montreal.

The collision occurred at 6 p.m. on an icy pavement. Traffic Officer Albert Legault, of Brownsburg, made the investigation.

Forums Discuss Future of Woodlots

REPORT ON TOPIC FROM GROUP AT MABEL

Mabel—The Farm Forum group of this community met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perley Clark and discussed the subject, "Forests — Slash or Save?" It was thought that it is not only the concern of the farmers, how bushlots are being slaughtered; everyone will be concerned in the future, and those who give no thought to the results of such mismanagement should be supervised. Farmers here, who manage their woodlots wisely, do not wish to adopt a program where a farmer must receive permission from the Provincial Government to cut trees on his own land, but they would like to see all woodlots protected.

Heber Boyd, chairman of the Argenteuil County Farm Forums, met with a group at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Plummer on Monday evening and re-organized the Ogdensburg Farm Forum. Approximately 15 were present, and the members are looking forward to this season's activities.

Annual Armistice Dinner Held at Legion Hall

The annual Armistice dinner was held in the Legion Hall on the evening of November 11, when there was the usual large turnout. Silence was observed for fallen comrades and other veterans who have since passed to their reward.

After a brief singsong, President Sam Milnes addressed the gathering, briefly enlarging on four topics—Remembrance, Assistance, Comradeship and Organization, all as being part and parcel of the Legion aims.

Appreciation was expressed to Comrade Milnes for his fine address, and to Comrade T. Iddon, who was M.C. of the evening.

Mr. S. McKyes led in community singing and others contributed in various ways to an enjoyable evening.

Festival of Britain, 1951

On the site of the Festival of Britain on the South Bank of the River Thames between Waterloo Bridge and County Hall in London, the work is forging ahead at great pace. The roof of the massive "Dome of Discovery", within which will be displays relating to Britain's achievement in the realm of exploration, is nearly completed. The concert hall, now officially named the Royal Festival Hall, has made excellent progress and the stage for internal fitting-out operations has been reached. This picture shows workmen laying the sheet aluminum on the roof of the Dome of Discovery.

Flashing Signal For Bethany Crossing

Following correspondence between the Town Corporation, the C.P.R. and the Board of Transport Commissioners at Ottawa, it appears reasonably certain that the Bethany Street level crossing will be protected by an illuminated signal within a short time. An engineer from the Transport Commission has been in Lachute this week inspecting the site, which has been the scene of numerous accidents — notably the fatality in which two prominent Montrealers were the victims last April; it was following this incident and the jury's recommendation, that agitations were put forward.

Cost of installation for a flashing red light, on each side of the road and each side of the track, is estimated at $8,125, with an annual maintenance cost of $250.

Impressive Ceremonies at Annual Observance of Remembrance Day

In the Remembrance Day demonstrations here last Saturday, Lachute gave evidence that the memory of war's human sacrifice is held in reverence and sincerity — that the heroes departed from this life and these surroundings, live on in treasured memory.

The public gathering, although not as numerous as expected, was representative of both the English-speaking and the French-speaking community.

Schoolgirls and members of youth groups, some in uniform, had sold poppies during the week. These and the Boy Scouts were in evidence as the parade of veterans, marching with their colors from the Legion Hall, reached the Auditorium and filled the front seats reserved for them before the platform. A delegation from the Lions Club also attended in a body, besides a group of senior boys from St. Viateur College.

Mayor Léopold Carrière presided, and present on the platform were members of the Protestant clergy; Philippe Valois, M.P.; W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A.; and the speaker of the day, the Rev. A. J. B. Foote, O.B.E., senior Protestant chaplain of the R.C.N.

The traditional two minutes' silence was observed at 11 o'clock. The chairman in his remarks thanked the public for their support of the Legion's poppy campaign, then introducing the guest speaker.

To the children of today, there could be no complete understanding of the great sacrifice made in two world wars to ensure our freedom; to the older generation, however, there must be a prayer of thanks in every heart, as people gathered everywhere in this gesture of remembrance, said the Rev. A. J. B. Foote. "We may stand in reverence at our cenotaphs; we may inscribe their names on stone or wood. . . but there is a greater, nobler memory than that. Tears and tributes are a negative expression of our feeling; but there is a more positive way of voicing our esteem — by living an 'activated' life for the cause in which they died. . . One of the major factors of our Christian belief is the sacredness of human life; it devolves upon us, therefore, to combat those opposing philosophies which exalt the State as supreme, while ignoring human life; this, in short, was the fight for which our heroes gave their lives. It has been well said that 'it is better to die for a living cause than to live for a dying cause'." The mere shedding of tears, the laying of wreaths, would be hypocrisy. The observances on Remembrance Day must not only remind us of past sacrifices, but they must remind us lastingly of our obligations, concluded the speaker.

The veterans, 90 strong, filed to the civic memorial outside the Auditorium, where Mayor Carrière laid a wreath in tribute to the fallen servicemen of this town. Around the Cenotaph in the memorial park, the concluding exercises were held. Representatives from clubs, organizations and industries stepped forward to deposit wreaths at the base of the monument. The two deputies for Argenteuil constituency, Philippe Valois, M.P., and W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., spoke briefly in French and English, and the Last Post and Reveille echoed over the scene, broadcast over a public-address system. The ceremonies concluded with the singing of God Save the King.

* * *

The public gathering, at both the Auditorium and Cenotaph was considered disappointing, particularly as the weather was fine. It makes one wonder if "Remembrance Day", which has been decreed a holiday, is such in name only. To say the least, it is most discouraging to the veterans — who gave years of service and who turn out in large numbers on this auspicious day to "remember" their fallen comrades — that the public should be so unconcerned. It is to be hoped that this may never occur again, and that next year may see a greatly increased attendance.

Record Sale of Wreaths, Poppies At Brownsburg

LEGION LEADS PARADES IN "REMEMBRANCE" DEMONSTRATIONS

Brownsburg — Despite the generally unfavorable weather during the week preceding Remembrance Day, the total sales of poppies and wreaths in Brownsburg district reached an all-time high, thanks to splendid co-operation of the ladies of the Legion Auxiliary, the Scouts, schoolgirls and other volunteer salesladies. A poppy was handed to each child attending the Catholic and Consolidated Schools in the village, and the children responded generously. A breakdown of receipts is as follows:

Poppy Wreaths (20)	$170.50
Children's donations	33.21
Street and house sales	170.42
	$374.13

The campaign was under the general direction of Charles Low, and a display was featured in the H. Pariseau store window.

The Brownsburg Legion expresses its sincere thanks to all those who helped to make the campaign a success, including Boyd's Lachute Express Ltd., who provided free transportation for the wreaths and poppies.

Remembrance Exercises

Led by a color party and marching to the stirring strains of Pipers Connie Kippen and Beverley Campbell, of Maxville, Ont., the Legion and its Auxiliary headed a parade of town organizations marching from the Legion Hall to the Cenotaph in front of the Social Club on Saturday, November 11, for the customary Memorial Day ceremonies. The service was under direction of the Rev. S. J. Pike, assisted by the Revs. G. B. Hicks and N. H. Brock. Music was supplied by Leonard Lupien, with Bugler Emmanuel Parisien playing "Last Post" and "Reveille". On the following afternoon (Sunday) the parade reformed on the Consolidated School Grounds and marched to the Church of St. Louis de France for the annual church service, which was conducted by the Rev. Father A. V. Bouchard and assisted by the choir. Both parades were under the command of J. J. Seary.

Arundel Boy Awarded Kiwanis Bursary for First Year Agriculture

The Kiwanis Club of Montreal, through its Agricultural Committee, has made available five bursaries of $100 each for farm boys entering the first year of the Diploma Course in Agriculture at Macdonald College.

Winners of these bursaries for the 1950-51 session are Kenneth Roy, Howick; Rathwell Morrison, Arundel; Arthur Rankin, Huntingdon; Roger Lalonde, Ormstown; and George Brown, Cowansville.

In making the awards, special consideration is given to applications from prospective students who are members of calf clubs in their home districts. Clubs whose members are eligible to apply for these bursaries are those at Huntingdon, Ormstown, Howick, Cowansville, Lachute and Arundel.

Kiwanis of Montreal are most sincere in their interest, and most generous in their support of farm boys who are anxious to improve their position and equip themselves for a larger role in rural life. The Kiwanis believe that, given the opportunity, these future farmers can do much to improve farm life, and the relationship between farm and city dwellers.

Two Resolutions Acknowledging Recent Gifts of Civic Equipment

Adopted at November Session of Council

At the regular council session for the month of November, Mayor Léopold Carrière presided, all councillors being present with the exception of Ald. W. S. MacKimmie.

Ald. Stanley Holt was appointed Pro-Mayor for the next three months, and authorized to sign cheques in the absence of the Mayor.

Alderman Wilfrid Morrissette gave notice of motion that, at the next regular meeting, he would move a by-law to set the tax rate for the year 1951.

Accounts were approved to the amount of $9,867.30.

It was decided that the new police radio-telephone be insured against theft and fire.

In connection with this equipment, recently acquired by the town, the council passed a resolution of appreciation to the donors, Lachute Lions Club. The motion, proposed by Ald. Stanley Holt and seconded by Ald. Jos. Belanger, was as follows:

"Whereas the Lachute Lions Club has given to the police and fire departments of the Town of Lachute a radio-telephone system, at the cost of $3,500;

"Whereas the Municipal Council had recognized the necessity of such a system but was not able presently to purchase it;

"Whereas this donation of the Lions Club is of a great advantage to the Town of Lachute. . .

"It is unanimously resolved that the Municipal Council of the Town of Lachute register its thanks for this donation . . and also for the installation of much needed garbage receptacles . . and for their useful school-crossing signs; and that a certified copy of this motion be sent without delay to the Lachute Lions Club."

A similar motion to the Police Fund, which made possible the acquisition of Lachute's new patrol car, was proposed by Ald. Omer Laurin and seconded by Ald. Stanley Holt, as follows:

"Whereas the Lachute Police Fund has given to the Lachute Corporation a patrol car, at the cost of $1,700;

"Whereas the Municipal Council had recognized the necessity of such a car but was not able presently to purchase it.

"Whereas this donation by the Lachute Police Fund is of a great advantage to the Town of Lachute.

"It is unanimously resolved that the Municipal Council of the Town of Lachute register its thanks for this donation from the Lachute Police Fund."

Also it was moved and seconded that the Auditorium be granted for use of the Lachute Girl Guides.

It was decided that three new street-lights be installed — one on Filion, and two on Sydney Street East.

Organize Gideon Group, Lachute, B'burg District

A meeting of notable interest took place in Lachute on Friday, November 10, when Christian business men from the various Protestant denominations met to organize a Gideon camp.

The Gideons International in Canada is a Christian commercial men's association of members from all Protestant denominations who have placed over three million Bibles in hotels, prisons and hospitals, over ten million Testaments to the armed services, and over five million New Testaments with Psalms and Proverbs to the school children of Canada and the U.S.A.

Their Bible distribution is carried on in almost every country of the world and the organization has over 50 years of service in this field.

The local group will be responsible for servicing all hotels, prisons, hospitals and schools in the district of Lachute and Brownsburg. Ultimately, representation will be secured from Hawkesbury.

The local group elected Mr. Charles Stephens as their first president, and Mr. Wm. Prosser as secretary-treasurer.

In his opening remarks, Mr. C. R. Roberts, Eastern Canadian Field Secretary of the Association, who presided over this inaugural meeting, pointed out that the business world, the minister, the church, the public institutions and God, need the Gideons in spreading the imperishable Word of God.

GRAVEYARD VANDALS

Fort Frances, Ont. (CP) — Town police are investigating vandalism at the Fort Frances cemetery where four tombstones were toppled and 19 panes of glass broken in a greenhouse. Youths are believed to be responsible.

Gatineau LINES

Storm Fighters

The days are getting shorter, and colder. All over the Gatineau area, winter is drawing closer. Wind, snow, ice and sleet will soon be part of the Quebec scene again.

Power company repair crews are preparing for those days. They know that everything that Old Man Winter can devise will be hurled against the poles and lines which carry vital electric power to 60,000 customers of the Gatineau Power. They know, too, that trouble will develop from time to time in the months ahead — because the poles and the wire have yet to be made that can withstand all the tricks of winter weather.

Everything that can be done ahead of time has been done. Lines have been inspected, and made as nearly weather-proof as possible. Tree branches which might be blown across the lines have, as far as possible, been removed. Depots of reserve equipment are located at strategic points all over the Gatineau system. Despite the heavy schedule of new construction work which has kept the crews busy for months, preparation for the testing time ahead has not been overlooked.

Despite all this, it is almost inevitable that trouble spots will develop during the worst of the winter weather. It is then that the repair crews will be fighting clogged roads, numbing cold and the meanest tricks of Old Man Winter in order to restore service as quickly as possible.

It isn't any fun battling through heavy drifts to locate a power break in the midst of a storm. It isn't any fun working on top of an ice-sheathed pole in a high wind. It isn't any fun to fight to the limit of human endurance against the weather until circuits are fixed. But the power crews do it because it is their job — and because they take pride in their ability to meet everything the weather can throw at them, and eventually beat it.

So, if the power goes off during the winter, and it may be for hours in isolated areas, it might help to think about the power crews. Circuit breaks are a terrible inconvenience to our customers, but they aren't an inconvenience that nobody is doing anything about. No matter how violent the storm, every power break will be the signal for some of the best weather-beaters in the country to get out and stay out until the trouble is repaired. A power crew just doesn't sit around indoors waiting for the trouble to fix itself.

160 Head of Cattle Shipped from Britain

Montreal — Some 160 head of cattle and horses, one of the most valuable and varied shipments to be imported from Britain since before the war, arrived from Glasgow last week at Quebec aboard the Donaldson Atlantic Line freighter Salacia.

Destined for farms in Ontario and Alberta and for livestock breeders in Indiana, Florida and West Virginia, the animals include two Arab mares, Clydesdales, Aberdeen Angus heifers, Hereford and Shorthorn bulls, Shetland pony fillies, bears, and a thoroughbred filly for a Montreal stable.

A steel grey hunter, some Suffolk rams and ewes, Hampshire Down rams and ewes, and a sheep collie dog also are among the prized breeds.

Inbound on her last trip of the season, the Salacia proceeded to Port Alfred and Montreal after landing the livestock at Quebec.

Say Insect Control Big Produce Factor

Weyburn, Sask. (CP) — When R. H. Painter, Lethbridge entomologist, visited this city two years ago he said that if nothing were done in the way of insect control, civilization would be on its way out inside of five years.

Back in Weyburn recently for an agricultural rally, Mr. Painter gave the other side of the picture. He said that if it weren't for beneficial insects "we would probably pass out of the picture as quickly".

Mr. Painter is officer in charge of the animal insect laboratory, Dominion Entomological Branch, Lethbridge.

He said that "most things we hear about bugs are bad", but "if it weren't for the bugs, you wouldn't have had much of a supper here tonight."

There would be no fruit or vegetables for the dinner table were it not for the bugs which spread pollen, because all that man can do would not make it possible to pollinate enough fruit and vegetables.

BIG "FODDER BANK" FOR SASKATCHEWAN

Eyre, Sask. (CP) — The provincial government is constructing a $100,000 "fodder bank" relief project near here by regrassing two to three sections of poor land just north of the South Saskatchewan River.

Dams will be constructed and irrigation ditches installed. The land will be seeded to grass and the fodder reserves will be cut and stored for use in drought years. The project is expected to be in operation next year.

Eyre is about 180 miles southwest of Saskatoon, near the Alberta border.

Women Pipers Meet To Advance Skills

London (CP) — Two hundred men and women from Britain and European countries attended the recent international school of the Pipers' Guild, organized by the Guild's founder, Miss Margaret James, of Oxford.

Some of those attending were school teachers who will teach the art of piping to children and to musical organizations. They shape and decorate their own instruments, which are made from bamboo with saw and file. Many of the overseas enthusiasts came especially to learn the technique of making the pipes.

For a fortnight the pipers played tunes ranging from simple folk dances to classical compositions. Some of the music was written especially for the festival by composers Benjamin Britten and Vaughan Williams. Some of the pipers will take part in a special program at next year's Festival of Britain.

SCHOOL BELLS CONFUSE

Noranda, Que. (CP) — One class ignored the warning when the bell rang for a school fire drill here. The teacher explained she thought it was the bell for recess sounding accidentally. The fire chief found the recess and fire bells sound alike, so a distinctive fire bell is being obtained.

Storing Farm Engines In Winter Months

Ottawa—The life of the present precision-built engine will be shortened materially if no precautions are taken to properly prepare it for storage each winter, says A. Wenhardt, Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask. Engines should be stored in a dry, protected place during the winter months. A standard procedure should be followed.

1. The engine should be cleaned down and carefully inspected for worn or defective parts. Replacement parts should be obtained immediately and put on the engine.

2. The crankcase should be drained when the engine is warm, the oil filter and air cleaner cleaned and the crankcase filled with new oil. The engine should then be operated to permit the new oil to circulate over all the working parts providing an oil film for the polished metal parts.

3. If equipped with a liquid cooling system, it should be thoroughly drained and the drain cocks left open.

4. Sparkplugs should be removed and a heavy oil applied to each cylinder. The crankshaft should be turned over several times to coat the cylinder walls with a film of oil.

5. A protective cover should be fastened over the exhaust pipe.

6. The fuel should be completely drained from the tank, fuel line, pump and carburetor. It is important that no fuel be allowed to remain as it will gradually evaporate and leave a gum-like deposit. This gum-like deposit may cause considerable difficulty when attempting to start the engine following the storage period.

7. A tag stating what servicing and repairing has been done should be fastened on some conspicuous spot on the engine. A glance at the tag will reveal the necessary steps to put the engine back into operation.

A short while spent in a systematic preparation of the engine for winter storage will save a great deal of trouble when returning the engine to service.

The Economy of Using the Best

"EVERYTHING TO BUILD ANYTHING"

The economy of using the best possible materials is made apparent in the upkeep problem. A house or business building may be "thrown together" with cheap material, and it may "look all right," but after it has stood the shock of weather, the real test comes.

It is false economy to use poor materials — and we so advise everyone who buys from us. Our success is due to honesty in materials and prices.

Hartzell Spence Family Portrayed in Coming Play

Dramatic Group Under Auspices of Argenteuil Farm Forums

Under auspices of the Farm Forum Association of Argenteuil, the Ascension Players of Montreal will present the famous Hartzell Spence story 'One Foot in Heaven' on the stage of the High School auditorium on Saturday evening, December 2.

The story of this best-selling novel, that was later brought to the screen by such outstanding stars as Frederic March and Martha Scott, is autobiographical in that it is narrated by a member of the Spence family — when his father, mother, brother and sister arrive in the small town of Laketon, Iowa; when his father, a parson, took over a new pastorate. The difficulties that confronted him and his family, and how they overcame them, is the central theme of this story, but the variety of characters, their strengths and weaknesses, are all vividly drawn by Hartzell Spence.

The Ascension Players, with an outstanding reputation in Montreal theatre circles, have graciously accepted this invitation to do a repeat performance following their own production.

Our doubts are traitors
And make us lose the good
we oft might win

Building A Tradition

THERE'S A comparative newcomer among national "weeks"—a newcomer with a difference. It is Young Canada's Book Week, now being observed across Canada (November 12-18).

This promising juvenile, now in its second edition, is in some aspects more important than Canadian Book Week, the adult counterpart which has been recognized for many years.

The first children's book week in 1949 was an outstanding success. To meet demands for information, its sponsors, the Canadian Library, had an additional 37,500 copies printed of its list of suitable children's books. They planned originally for 12,500 copies. Requests came in from the Maritimes to the Pacific Coast and as far north as Yellowknife in the Northwest Territories.

Organized principally to stimulate good reading among young Canadians, the juvenile book week emphasizes reading of Canadian books. As the volume of our own literature grows, there will be an enlarged reading public.

This positive approach in introducing young Canadians to the best in reading is bound to show in increased interest in children's libraries across the Dominion. The 1950 program and those to follow are building a tradition.

But the week itself should not be allowed to become merely a tradition. The other 51 weeks in the year are just as much weeks for reading books. Here schools can join with libraries in stimulating taste for worthwhile books and encouraging efforts to establish libraries in remoter communities.

The 1950 observance with its posters, puppet shows, films and radio programs is attracting wide attention. Results should be reflected in a developing and maturing taste in reading, one of the permanent acquisitions of childhood carried over into adult life.

T.B. Death Rate Lowered

FIGURES from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reveal that Canada's death rate from tuberculosis in 1949 — 30.4 per 100,000 of population — is the lowest on record. The previous record was 37.0 per 100,000, established in 1948.

In commenting upon the situation, the Canadian Tuberculosis Association Bulletin states "it is interesting to note that we are catching up to some extent with the United States, in fact, we are now only one year behind them as far as death rates are concerned. The U.S. figure for 1948 was 30 per 100,000, and their provisional rate for 1949 is 26.1, not very much lower than ours."

In discussing the death rates in the various provinces, the Bulletin comments "the most striking feature is the record low of 15.6 established by the province of Ontario. In 1948 Ontario dropped, for the first time, below the twenties, but this most recent gain is even more spectacular, and would indicate that the methods followed by this province in combatting the disease are specially efficient."

Ontario is, however, by no means the only province to have made remarkable headway.

The Bulletin points out that every province showed a reduction. Prince Edward Island brought its rate down to 23.4, a drop of 17 points from the 1948 figure, while Nova Scotia dropped from 38.9 to 28.5, New Brunswick from 45.7 to 27.8, Quebec 58.3 to 48.8, Manitoba from 37 to 28.9, Saskatchewan was down to 21.5, Alberta to 24.2 and British Columbia to 36.4.

The men and women who don't appreciate baby talk never had one of their own.

Jack Miner, Greatest Naturalist

RECENTLY, over a national radio hook-up in the U.S.A., the late Jack Miner, by a vote of four to one, was voted the greatest naturalist that ever lived.

Some 15 years ago, on the world-famous Jack Miner Bird Sanctuary at Kingsville, Ontario, the late Jack Miner laid aside an acre of land which he called his "Memorial Park". Around the boundary of this plot he planted Norway spruce trees — which now tower 20 feet into the air. Inside that outer border he planted the few common native hawthorne — and of these during the last few seasons every tree has carried a bird's nest on its bosom. Inside that again he planted white lilacs.

On a sunny day, one year before he died, Jack Miner took his eldest son, Manly Miner, to this place and there quietly expressed his wish that these surroundings should constitute his last resting place.

Jack Miner died some six years ago — on November 3, 1944 — and temporarily his body was entombed in a nearby mausoleum. His family, not being people of wealth, took time and care to consider well the various means of permanent entombment that offered. Then, one year ago, Mr. David Miller, president of the Miller Monument Company, Indiana, submitted plans and a financial arrangement to enable them to carry out the great naturalist's desire.

Mr. Miller's suggestion was for a sarcophagus of Minnesota granite, and this, weighing seven tons, was erected on the memorial site. It is a beautiful, pleasing and fitting resting place, greatly admired by the Canadians who thus far have seen it, and who recognize that there is nothing like it elsewhere in Canada. . . Early this fall, Jack Miner's body was removed and placed in this final place of rest.

Already, thousands of visitors to the Sanctuary have visited the tomb. Jack Miner — being as broad-minded and inter-denominational in his views on religion as he was — men of all creeds and faith paid him the highest tributes during his lifetime. They continue to do so today beside his last resting place in the lovely surroundings of Nature which he, himself, cultivated.

Watching the Cars Go By

COMES the Wall Street Journal to remind our neighbors that if they think the U.S. auto industry is making spectacular gains in output they had better take a look at the auto industry in Canada. Taking its own look, the Wall Street Journal finds that while in the first eight months of 1950, U.S. manufacturers sold some 28 per cent more passenger cars than in the like 1949 period, Canada's manufacturers increased their passenger car sales by 55 per cent.

The Wall Street Journal found something else, namely: That in addition to grabbing all the Canadian-built cars offered, this country's auto buyers have been taking a record number of British cars — taking, in fact, 46,000 such cars in eight months, or just double the number bought during the same period last year. A pretty fair indication that Canada is prosperous, or at least that many of its people are prosperous. Especially as the price of cars, like the price of nearly everything else, is at a record height.

NUMBERS of people rushed through the smog, rain and hail of a week-end one month ago, to spend a miserable two days closing up summer cottages — only to have the next four weeks turn out the nicest weather of the whole year. There has been no second guessing the weatherman in 1950 — remarks the Barrie (Ont.) Examiner.

YOU CAN STOP FASTER THAN THE BIG FELLOW!

A modern passenger train rolling along at 70 to 80 miles an hour is a 1500-ton projectile of tremendous momentum and velocity. Trains of such weight and speed cannot be stopped within the short distance necessary to avoid collision with a motorist who may have decided to indulge in one of the many hazardous practices which brought death to 140 and injuries to 549 others in 443 railway crossing accidents reported to the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada during the 12-month period ended June 30th. Cars stalling in the path of trains, motorists attempting to beat the train to the crossing and misjudging the distance, motorists who drove into the sides of moving or stationary trains apparently as the result of impaired visibility or misjudgment of speed and distance, all contributed to the mounting crossing accident toll. Remember, a car can stop quicker than a train. Give the big fellow the right of way!

ONCE PET COYOTE, NOW IT'S HAZARD

Saskatoon, Sask. (CP) — A "domesticated" coyote is throwing a scare into Saskatoon residents.

The coyote, which daily makes the rounds of Third Avenue, was given to young Leroy Musgrove five months ago as a pet. Leroy kept it in a cage. One day it escaped and five weeks elapsed before it returned.

Finally, Leroy's father released it on the river bank away from the city, hoping it would head for the wide open spaces. Two days later, it was back in the Musgrove backyard. But its spell of freedom has made it wily. It cannot be approached by humans.

A worry nagging at your mind may be responsible for the indigestion that is nagging at your stomach. If you have any secret worries, discuss them with your doctor or some other sympathetic friend.

STARTLED GOLFERS TREED BY BUFFALO

Cape Town (CP) — Guests playing a round of golf at a hotel near the Sabi River in the Eastern Transvaal recently were suddenly confronted by a buffalo which emerged from a herd of cattle grazing on the course.

Dropping their clubs, they sought refuge up trees bordering the river. There they had to stay for two hours until police killed the animal. It was a female which had wandered from a game reserve.

NEVER TOO OLD

Winnipeg (CP) — Joseph Soar, 78, who worked all his life as a watchmaker and now is blind, is learning to type. He doesn't expect to do much with the ability, he says, but he's having fun.

"WEEK IN QUEBEC"

By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, Nov. 14 (CP) — The Quebec legislature met this week to consider legislation that will enable Rimouski, swept by fire last May, to borrow $1,000,000 for reconstruction work. (The measure subsequently passed third reading of the House.)

The legislature, called into session last week, is meeting before the new year for the first time in 10 years, less than a month before Federal-Provincial talks on taxation and the constitution are scheduled to resume in Ottawa, December 4.

The speech from the throne read by Quebec's new Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Gaspard Fauteux, stressed the importance of these Federal-Provincial talks. It said that the government was "convinced that full respect for the integrity of provincial autonomy is an essential requirement of well understood national unity."

The speech added that the Quebec Government intended "to cooperate amicably, on a constitutional and equitable basis for the success of Canadian intergovernmental meetings".

Also on the agenda of the third session of the 23rd provincial legislature is a bill that will seek to increase taxation on gasoline by two cents a gallon, up to 13 cents. This taxation money would add about $5,000,000 to the provincial treasury and the money will be used as part of a three-year $60,000,000 road and bridge-building program.

The reconstruction legislation will allow Rimouski to borrow $1,000,000 on a 30-year term with interest no higher than four per cent under a provincial government guarantee.

Cabano, also swept by fire last May, will also be authorized to borrow $150,000 under the same conditions.

Rimouski town council has announced it will seek amendments to the legislation which will bring assistance to 50 per cent of estimated re-building costs, instead of 40 per cent as presently sought in the bill.

Other legislation includes a measure to increase funds for the province's farm loan fund by $8,000,000. Another bill will end an arrangement whereby the provincial government pays part of the interest rates on farm loans granted to Quebecers by the Federal government. Under the arrangement the Quebec government pays interest charges over three per cent of the Federal loans.

Premier Duplessis has indicated that the legislature will suspend its sittings next week in time to allow Quebec representatives to meet with delegates from other provinces at the November 23 meeting in Ottawa of the special committee of provincial Attorneys-General.

Debate on the speech from the throne was postponed by the 92-seat legislature until it meets again in January.

Brownsburg — The work of preparing the foundations for the skating arena goes on apace. A large number of the boys assemble every night and work under the lights to push the project forward. Civic co-operation and good humor prevails, and a lot of hard work has been put into the rough layout, which in a short time should be ready for the steel uprights.

At the administration end, the business of holding a referendum should be concluded within two weeks and with the necessary funds in hand there should be nothing to stop the promoters from having a building ready for hockey in the present season. A public meeting is expected to be held to present the facts to the public before the referendum is held, but this is hardly necessary — the matter is pretty well advertised, as the wholehearted contributions of the subscribers testify.

The Juvenile Police Club, which boasts a membership of almost 200, swarmed over this site recently to lend a hand. . . Now they are engaged in collecting funds for the Municipal Christmas Tree, which was such a success last year. The response so far has been good, and when it is understood that Santa has been requested to favor the small tots (which exempts most all the members of the Juvenile Police), parents should not hesitate to contribute handsomely.

The boys looked quite smart at the Cenotaph ceremonies on Saturday, where there was a gratifying turn-out and a solemn dedication to the aims and aspirations of the departed dead. On Sunday the religious part of the Armistice proceedings was conducted at the St. Louis de Franch Church. The Rev. V. Bouchard, P.P., spoke very feelingly in his address to the congregation, which was large and of reverent demeanor. We were particularly impressed by the good order observed at both observances. Traffic was admirably arranged by Chief Henri Foucreau and his assistants.

It is a truism that most, if not all, the so-called accidents resulting to automobiles and their occupants can be traced to plain incompetent driving. We had a few minor crashes during the week, to the exasperation of their owners and the profit of the garages.

DEFECTIVE CARS

Trenton, Ont. (CP) — More than one-third of all cars checked during Trenton's safety week were found defective. The most common defect was faulty stop lights, then faulty tail lights. Others were faulty brakes, lights, broken windows and mufflers.

Halifax (CP) — More than seven miles of permanent and temporary paving were completed in this city during the summer at a cost of approximately $600,000. Plans have been made for additional work in the spring.

Yorkton, Sask. (CP) — The C.N.R. may be publicly owned, but there's a limit. Two farmers pleaded guilty to theft of 58 feet of steel track valued at $60 and were ordered to spend a day in jail and pay total fines of $300. The men said they took the rails to make a brush-cutting outfit.

JUDGE CRITICAL OF LAWYERS' ATTITUDE

Victoria, B.C. (CP) — Attitude of some lawyers regarding collusion in divorce and matrimonial cases was criticized by Mr. Justice A. D. MacFarlane in Supreme Court here.

Addressing two law students admitted to the bar, his lordship commented on collusive evidence as illustrating lack of individual responsibility of some members of the legal profession.

"The attitude on the part of a few — a very few — members of the profession has been the means of directing at the administration of justice most damaging criticism", he said.

Your Child's Clothes

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Did you ever watch the fascination with which a young child gazes into his own reflection in a mirror? He is looking into the child's face, not the clothes which he sees in the glass. A very little child is not at all conscious of appearances and is quite indifferent to "what the well-dressed baby should wear!"

The runabout child soon becomes aware of how he looks. Gay colors, clothes that are easy to take off and put on, appeal to him. As soon as he begins to play regularly with other little tots, he wants to look like the other children. Adult standards of fashion or cleanliness make little dint on him. He just doesn't want to seem queer or different from the other "kids".

Strong Desire

This desire to belong to a group and appear like the other children is strong all through school days. In large families, clothing must be handed down from an older child, to a younger. But mother should do her best to make the second-hand article look as nice as possible. The addition of a new leather belt or collar and cuffs can brighten up an old dress which the older sister has worn.

Girls are more sensitive than boys to their chums' comments about their clothes. Once in a while, every child should have some clothes which are completely new. Nor does it harm a small child to wear a "hand-me-down" which is clean and mended. Mothers who are friends can often help stretch their clothing dollars by exchanging outgrown articles in good repair with each other, or by patronizing an Ex-Toggery centre.

Pass Them On

Never hoard children's clothes for which you have no use! Pass them on to a needy family or contribute them to a clothing collection for destitute children in Europe. There is still a need of all kinds of articles of clothing for children under the care of the United Nations.

It is not easy with living costs so high, for children to be given a major choice in picking out their wardrobe. Boys are notorious for being hard on their clothes. But if son has a voice in the buying of a new sweater or breeks, he is more likely to take a little better care of them. Little girls love to go shopping with mother. If they know the outside limit of money which can be spent, why not let Helen select a pink dress instead of a blue one?

As boys and girls reach their teen years they should be given more and more responsibility for the choice of their clothes. By experience they should learn to budget their clothing allowance so that it will cover big expenditures like a winter coat or a suit, and at the same time invest in the smaller necessary accessories from time to time.

Adolescents' taste is different from their parents — but, after all, they are the ones who are appearing in the clothes which are purchased. When they realize how much good clothes cost, they are more co-operative about contributing to the cost of their wardrobe, with money they have earned in their leisure time. By the time they graduate from Collegiate, a boy or girl should be capable of looking after his or her own clothing needs and be able to keep within the money which the family income can set aside for this expenditure.

Choose With Care

In planning for a child's clothes, parents must think not just of today's needs. They want their child to grow into an adult who can spend money wisely on clothes which are durable and becoming. Swift once made the cynical remark about a woman who "wore her clothes as if they were thrown on her with a pitchfork". Parents want their son or daughter to select their apparel with care, be proud of their appearance, and wear clothes in a manner which is an asset and not a drawback to the impression they make on their friends and on the public.

Inaugural Ceremonies, New Catholic School At St. Andrews East

Gerald E. Dery in The Montreal Star

Providing proper schooling for Quebec's population is problem No. One and it is being constantly tackled by the Provincial Government, William M. Cottingham, M.L.A. for Argenteuil, said at the official opening of the modern fireproof St. André d'Argenteuil School last Sunday.

The event was marked by the blessing of the new building by Msgr. J. C. Chaumont, Auxiliary Bishop of Montreal, and a banquet at which principal speakers were Bishop Chaumont, Mr. Cottingham, Mayor Thomas Fournier, Philippe Valois, K.C., M.P., for Argenteuil, and Alfred Carriere chairman of the St. André d'Argenteuil School Commission.

Premier Maurice Duplessis and members of his government are keenly interested in the betterment of educational facilities throughout the province, irrespective of race or creed, Mr. Cottingham stated.

A brief study of the Government's activities in the field of education in recent years shows that it has been erecting new, modern school buildings in all parts of the province, Mr. Cottingham said.

The speaker thanked Bishop Chaumont for coming to St. Andrews East for the dedication of the school, and added, "You'd better get ready for another trip, Your Excellency, because you will soon have to return to bless a girls' school which is to be built here."

Although a large number of new schools have been erected in the province in recent years, the per capita debt is still the lowest in Quebec, Mr. Cottingham noted — much less than that of Ontario or the State of New York.

Bishop Stresses Education

Later Bishop Chaumont stated that sound education was of the utmost importance, particularly in these times when so many subversive doctrines were in circulation and might make headway among insufficiently trained boys and girls.

Mr. Valois praised Mr. Cottingham for his efforts in connection with the betterment of schools in the riding.

Other speakers and guests were: Zenon Gauthier, Emile Raymond, Emile Paquette and Jean Larocque, school commissioners; Ovila Giroux, secretary-treasurer of the school commission; Gaston Munich, warden of Argenteuil County; Rev. Alderic Dulude, parish priest; L. Carriere and J. Decarie, of the Department of Public Instruction.

RUSSELL W. ELLIOTT, C.L.U.

Announcement has been made that Russell W. Elliott, of Lachute and Montreal, has successfully completed his third year, and all prior examinations set by the Institute of Chartered Life Underwriters and conducted by the Dept. of University Extension, University of Toronto.

Mr. Elliott, who has been a director of the Life Underwriters Ass'n of Montreal for the past two years, received the degree of Chartered Life Underwriter at a recent meeting of the Association, in the Mount Royal Hotel.

Pay Your Bills The Safe Way...

Your B of M Cheque Book Will Safeguard Your Budget

There are plenty of good reasons for paying your bills by cheque. Here are three of them:

1. Using B of M cheques is much safer. Your cheque is a record of payment. If you lose or mislay a receipt, you need never fear having to pay the bill again. Your cashed and cancelled cheque serves as your receipt, and automatically becomes proof of payment.

2. It's wiser, too. There's no need to carry large sums in coin and bills around with you. Money once lost is pretty hard to find, but you can't lose the money in your account at the Bank of Montreal, and no cheque is worth a cent until you have actually signed it.

3. With a chequing account, you'll find budgeting easier. Your stubs give an exact record of how much you've spent, and your B of M passbook provides a double check on the state of your account. The cost of the service is agreeably low.

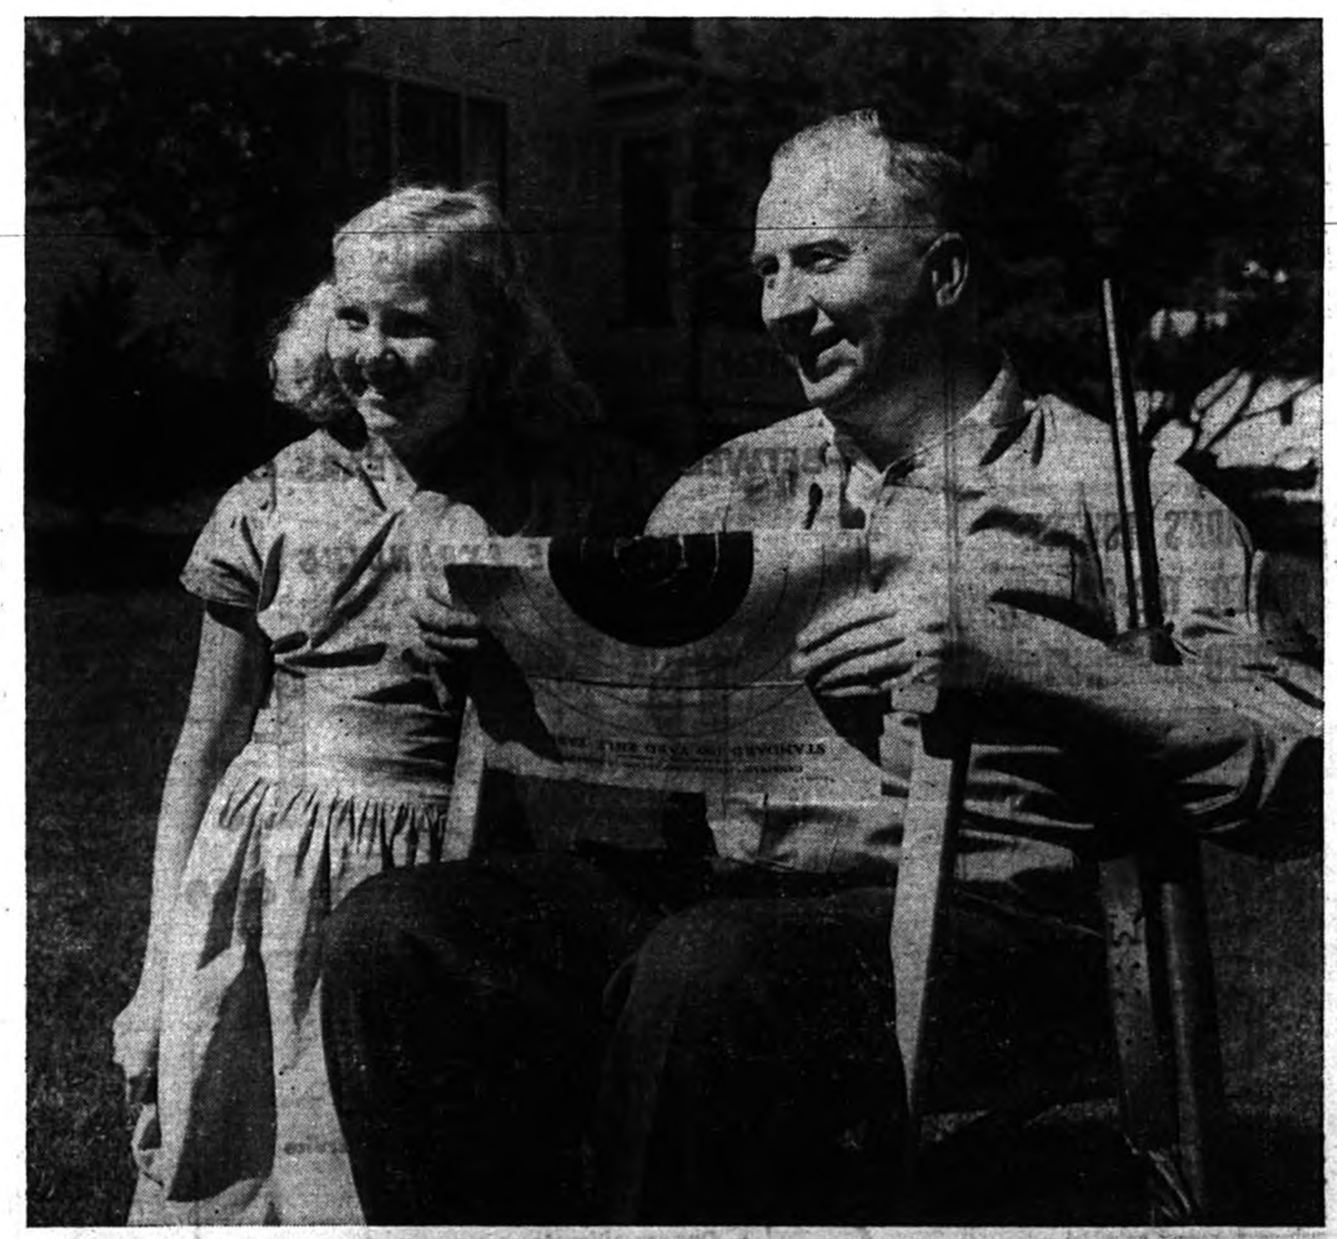

Donald Hay, manager of the Bank of Montreal branch at Lachute, cordially invites you to open your account here, and try out these advantages for yourself.

Back to Toll System

There are people who argue that when cities adopted parking meters they were actually turning the clock back about 100 years. There were days long ago in Canada and the United States when the citizens paid to drive their buggies and wagons along certain stretches of road or over bridges. These were known as toll roads and toll bridges. With few exceptions these passed out of the picture a good many years ago.

Of course a parking meter is not a device which makes the driver of a vehicle pay to drive on the road or street where the meter is installed. That's where it differs from the old toll system. The parking meter only collects coins from the vehicle driver and passengers who stop to do business. Nevertheless it is a toll device and as a collector it has the old toll road and toll bridge faded.

BALLISTICS EXPERT FINDS HIS WORK OTHER MEN'S PLAY

BILL BROWN has a job which is a shooting enthusiast's dream. Bill is in the Ballistics Lab at the C-I-L plant and he spends a lot of his time testing ammunition. To be precise he fires about 6500 rounds of .22 ammunition each week.

The photographer caught Bill and his 12 year old daughter, DEANNA, on the lawn just after Bill had got back from the range. Deanna takes a real interest in her father's targets. Maybe she will be a first class shot herself some day.

Bill has been 32 years with C-I-L and he knows a lot about the high standard of quality demanded in each of the many types of sporting ammunition produced in Brownsburg. He knows too that the men and women from Brownsburg, Lachute and the surrounding area who work with C-I-L make many products for many uses. Blasting caps, railway signals, nylon bristles and leaders, and industrial cartridges are but a few of the products which are made to the same high standard as the ammunition which Bill helps to test.

Spent Lifetime in Mt. Maple Settlement

The Late Elizabeth Clark

A number of neighbors and relatives gathered in Brownsburg on Tuesday, November 7, to pay their last respects to an old friend, in the person of Miss Elizabeth Clark.

The deceased lady was a native of Mount Maple, having been born there in the year 1875, the youngest daughter of the late Wm. Clark and his wife, Mary MacCormack. She had remained on the old homestead until three years ago, coming to Brownsburg at that time to live with her niece. After a lengthy illness, she passed peacefully away on Saturday, November 4.

The funeral service was held at the Presbyterian Church, conducted by the Rev. Chas. Maclean, assisted by the Rev. G. B. Hicks, of Dalesville, after which the remains were conveyed to Ogdensburg Cemetery and laid to rest in the family plot. Pall-bearers were — Messrs. Wm. Tomalty, Wm. Heatlie, A. Murdoch, John Stewart, P. MacAdam and Theo. Murdoch. Many floral tributes bore silent testimony to her memory.

Children Well Settled In Orange Prot. Home

The Orange and Protestant Children's Home for Quebec, situated at Rosemere, now houses 10 children under the care of "Mother and Father" Pilkington.

The children had a pleasant day recently when a large Montreal delegation drove out by bus and private cars to help them celebrate the anniversary of their Home.

The latest acquirement is a piano, donated, tuned and shipped through the kindness of R. W. Sister Katie Ryder, from St. Edwards Anglican Church, Montreal. Sister Ryder has also been out to the Home a couple of times lately to lead the children in solo and community singing.

A number of Montreal members of the Loyal Orange Lodge and Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association have dropped in for short visits during the summer when on their way to holiday resorts in the Laurentians, bringing small treats for the kiddies. They all report the children are well cared-for and healthy looking. "Mother" Pilkington always displays her work chart, showing that the children are being taught to help in the care of their Home.

The highlight of the fall season was, as in any other local family, Hallowe'en, when all 10 children masqueraded and went door-to-door in Rosemere; they were delighted with the candies, apples, etc., which the kindly neighbors gave them. This further demonstrates that these children are being brought up in the same manner as they should have been in their own family homes.

Donations to the Home are always needed and are very much apreciated; these should be sent to P.O. Box 1483, Place d'Armes, Montreal, Que. . . Why not perpetuate your memory by remembering the Orange and Protestant Children's Home for Quebec in your will?

Quebec Premier Discusses Mining Projects, Industrial Expansion in Past Five Years

"NOT EQUALLED ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD"

By Richard Daignault

Quebec (CP) — Vast mining projects in some of Quebec's undeveloped areas have brought into sharp relief the province's industrial expansions during the past five years.

Premier Duplessis, talking about the growth of big industry in Quebec since 1945, said at a recent press conference he does not think it has been equalled anywhere in the world.

The Premier announced that a Swiss company — Brown Boveri — maker of hydro-electricity production equipment such as turbines, plans to build a plant at St. Johns, Que., where it will eventually employ 1,500 persons.

The Premier estimated the number of new industries established since 1945 at 4,000. The largest developments are closely-connected with Quebec's mining resources.

One project going forward is the $200,000,000 development of the Ungava iron mines by Hollinger North Shore Exploration Company and a $25,000,000 titanium ore industry established at Lac Allard on the St. Lawrence north shore near Havre St. Pierre.

Premier Duplessis said the Quebec Titanium Company, a subsidiary of the wealthy Kennecott Copper Company in the United States, has built a 28-mile railway from Havre St. Pierre to titanium ore fields at Lac Allard at a cost of $13,000,000, including St. Lawrence River wharves.

A titanium refinery, built at a cost of $12,000,000 at Sorel, Que., will start work experimentally with one smelting furnace before the end of the year. Four furnaces, and probably 10 eventually, will be put into operation in the Sorel plant, where 90,000 tons of the ore already has been delivered. The ore is useful for manufacture of high-quality paint, steel-like metal almost as light as aluminum, and possibly sulphuric acid.

The Quebec Government leader said that construction, now started, of a 360-mile railway to run from Sept. Iles to Burnt Creek in the heart of Ungava's rich iron ore deposits is a four-year enterprise. The iron and titanium developments coupled with a 200,000 horse-power hydro development at Chute du Diable on the Peribonka River, in Lake St. John district, add up to immense industrial enterprise that will benefit those regions, the province and the whole country. Quebec technicians, Premier Duplessis said, will have first opportunities in the development of these mining resources.

W.M.S. Thank-Offering At St. Andrews East

(Our District Correspondent)

St. Andrews East — A pleasant gathering took place in the United Church on Friday evening, November 10, on the occasion of the W.M.S. autumn thank-offering meeting.

The subject was "Missions in India". Miss Lamb gave a brief history of the W.M.S. in St. Andrews, with special reference to two early missionaries from this region — Miss Margaret Rodger, of India, and Dr. Wm. MacClure, of China.

Miss Mildred Douglas then presented a beautiful series of colored motion pictures of India and Ceylon, which she introduced with a vivid account of her travels through these countries.

W.A. 25th Anniversary Celebrated at Lakefield

Lakefield — The 25th anniversary of the Women's Auxiliary of Holy Trinity Church was held on November 2.

Supper was served to around 100 guests. Among those present were the Rt. Rev. John Dixon, Bishop of Montreal, the Rev. Andrews, of Montreal, the Rev. and Mrs. H. Baugh, of Morin Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cottingham, Mr. and Mrs. J. McGibbon, of Lachute, and several from Montreal, Lachute and Morin Heights. The president, Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, expressed pleasure in welcoming such a large number to help commemorate the occasion.

After supper the service took place in the beautiful church, the chancel being decorated with baby mums. The Bishop gave a very inspiring sermon, and the W.A. members' prayer and hymn were sung. The president gave a brief outline of the activities of the W.A. in the past 25 years — recalling that the Rev. A. E. Mount was the incumbent, and the first honorary president, Mrs. A. E. Mount; president, Mrs. Richards; vice-president, Mrs. G. Evans; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. G. Peet.

The happy event was brought to a close with the blessing of the Bishop.

Inspiring Talks at United Church Annual Laymen's Supper

The annual laymen's supper for this district of the United Church of Canada, was held in Lachute United Church hall on Tuesday. Delegates were present from Brownsburg, St. Andrews East, Morin Heights, Ste. Therese, Lachute and nearby surroundings. The meeting was held to create interest in the missionary enterprise of the church. The attendance was not as high as in former years.

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough, minister of the local congregation, was chairman, and the first speaker was the Rev. N. A. McMurray, convener of the Missionary Fund for the Presbytery of Montreal. He said that the total objective for the United Church was $3,000,000, with about one-half now subscribed. Montreal district was asked to contribute $405,000 to the fund, with little less than a half received. He expressed optimism that the remainder would be collected if all members would do their share.

The Rev. de Witt Scott, treasurer of the Montreal district Presbytery, stressed the need of total co-operation in the "biggest job in the world", the work of the Church, and of the missionary aspect in particular. He asked his hearers to "build morale for the present, and personnel for the future".

The Brownsburg male quartet composed of Messrs. F. Steere, S. Rose, J. Hazel and O. Todd, gave several appreciated selections, accompanied by Mrs. C. Wheeler. A sing-song was enjoyed by the men, led by Owen Todd, with Miss Ruth Todd at the piano.

The main speaker of the evening was the Rev. W. S. Godfrey, superintendent of Home Missions for the Maritimes, who brought an earnest appeal for the support of home and foreign missions. His talk dealt mostly with the work that he is occupied in, missions in Canada, stressing the need of real Christian education, such as may be found in the Mount Allison University, the United Church's own seat of learning.

Maritime problems, such as centralization of major key industries in other larger provinces, lack of population, and few opportunities for young men and women, were some of the subjects brought to the attention of those present. These, in turn, added great burdens upon the United Church in the eastern provinces. Dr. Godfrey mentioned some of the ways in which home missions helped the less fortunate churches, such as manse furnishings, assistance to ministers for car allowance, building new churches where the need is great and the finances small, besides assistance to students in the ministry.

The speaker mentioned the tremendous monies being spent on rearmament, and of the fabulous amount being consumed by the smokers of Canada; and he contrasted the comparatively small amount of $3,000,000 needed by the United Church for missionary work.

Expressions of thanks to the speakers, the ladies, and the quartet, were voiced by the Rev. Mr. Norman, and the Rev. Mr. Wood pronounced the benediction.

Taking the Pain Out of Playtime

The best way to avoid accidents is to be prepared both physically and mentally, says H. J. Miller (of the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association) in an article, "Let's Take the Pain out of Playtime", in "Health" magazine, published by the Health League of Canada.

Thousands of casualties result annually from accidents at play, states Mr. Miller, who adds that "we must begin to realize that playing is an art if we are to participate in any form of sporting activity and stay free of injuries. The fellow who keeps in condition and closely observes the normal precautions isn't likely to end up in a hospital ward with a pain-wracked body as the result of an unfortunate mishap."

The author stresses the need for good conditioning for those who want to play strenuous games, the advisability of taking it easy in the early part of the season when some sport is being taken up after a few months' layoff, and avoidance of over-fatigue which, he stresses, is one of the most frequent causes of accidents.

Children able to participate in organized sports at school or the playground, states Mr. Miller, should have the necessary equipment — pads, masks and a competent coach or instructor. Parents should take a genuine interest in the children's activities even though it means "getting out of that easy chair and putting down the newspaper for an hour or two after supper."

He admonishes the parents among his readers to "keep an eye on those youngsters. They are a great comfort in old age."

On the subject of fatigue, Mr. Miller says that when fatigue creeps in, the mind gets sluggish, as do the limbs, and there the stage is set for an injury. The human body can take only so much punishment, and an athlete with his "second wind" is much more useful to the team than one who remains in the contest without relief.

"When you feel fatigue coming on", he says, "take a breather. Learn how to relax completely when you're not playing."

Interesting W.M.S. Meeting

At the meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Mungo's Church, held at Mrs. I Fuller's on Friday, Mrs. John Innes was named an honorary member in absentia. The Society regrets her loss as a member of long standing, through her recent removal to Montreal. Another pleasing happening was the conferring of a life membership upon the hostess; Mrs. Fuller has been a faithful treasurer of the Society for quite a few years, and very energetic in assisting to make up the necessary funds. The pin and certificate will be presented at some future meeting. The members felt, when they were informed at the tea hour that this was the 25th aniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller's marriage, that the presentation at that time had been very timely.

Mrs. Yeudall, a former president of the Presbyterial, was in attendance, and gave a very instructive address to the meeting. One of the admonitions given to the members by Mrs. Yeudall was: "When you find yourself saying, when you are asked to take office or some special part in the work, 'Oh, I can't' — stop and ask yourself, 'Now, why can't I'?" Mrs. Yeudall told the story of one lady, who found herself taking the suddenly vacated position of secretary in one of the societies because of her ability to take dictation — but who was so shy and nervous that she felt that she could never read the minutes at the meeting. So self-conscious was she that for three months she had to get someone else to do this duty for her. But once she had started reading the minutes, she went on from there to be a leader in many things, and a public speaker at many meetings at home and in other places — thus finding herself, not only mentally but spiritually blest, because of her part in the work of the Missionary Society.

WAITRESS IN MOVIES

London (CP) — Happiest girl in the Pinewood movie studios here is Jean Rice, just awarded an important role opposite Dirk Bogarde in Harold Huth's film "The Blackmailer". Born at Derby, she came to finish her education at a convent school in London and then took a job as a waitress. She was spotted by an artist's agent and coached at a dramatic school.

ORGANIZATION PLANS TO REVIVE SMOCKING

London (CP) — An organization known as House Industries Ltd. has gathered together many hundreds of skilled workers in knitting, smocking and exquisite needlework whose product is being sold overseas.

It is part of the government-aided programs to see that the ancient handicrafts of Britain are not forgotten. Smocking dates from the days when smocks were worn by countrymen. The design on a smocked garment then varied according to the wearer's occupation, and plowmen, shepherds and dairymen wore different patterns. Those who practice the art today mainly decorate children's clothes in this way.

The average expectancy of human life can be extended by suitable variety and amount of food as well as by elimination of prevalent communicable diseases.

Chevrolet's Reputation makes Chevrolet the Leader!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

The high reputation of Chevrolet . . . its makers . . . and its dealers . . . were three main reasons why Chevrolet led all other makes in popularity according to recent impartial surveys among automobile owners!

What safer guide can there be than reputation, when it comes to choosing a motor car? For reputation is based on the day by day and year by year experience of Canadian motorists — driving their cars in every Canadian season, on every kind of Canadian road. Every car can claim top quality. But only one car can be Canada's favorite in popularity, in sales, in value — with the highest reputation in all parts of the country . . . and that's the car to buy! Recent nation-wide surveys among automobile owners have established beyond question that Chevrolet is the leading car in reputation, three ways—the high reputation of the car itself; the high reputation of its manufacturers, General Motors; and the high reputation of Chevrolet Dealers. What safer guide can there be? You simply can't go wrong when you buy the leader — Chevrolet!

Inserting Zippers

With the new slim-hipped look so popular this season, it is doubly important that home-sewers know how to insert zippers correctly to minimize bulk. The narrow line is so well established that some foundation manufacturers have moved the zippers in foundation garments slightly to the back. And many of the smartest current patterns are also showing zippers in the back, to allow for peg-topped, sliver-slim skirts.

Zippers are not difficult to insert if you carefully follow the step-by-step instructions included in each slide fastener package. And here are a few tips from local sewing centre experts to help you develop the easiest and quickest method.

The seam where the zipper is to be applied should be at least ¾" wide. This gives enough fabric to which to sew fastener, without adding extra facings. The placket opening should be approximately one inch longer than the fastener to allow for easing of fabric.

Fit the garment first, then mark fitting line where zipper is to be stitched. Always baste and stitch from bottom to top when applying slide fastener. Be sure to use the zipper foot for your sewing machine as it enables you to stitch close to the metal. Never cut off ends of zipper tape. They are needed to secure top of fastener and it is best to ease them into facing or waistband. Reinforce stitching at bottom of placket to avoid unnecessary strain. Zipper should be drawn closed at all times when sewing, in order to keep both sides even.

There are several types of zippers and careful selection should be made when buying. The slide fastener package will indicate whether it is to be used for neck opening, skirt or slacks placket, or side of dress. If you are using heavy woollen fabrics, select a heavy-weight fastener. For silks or sheers, a feather-weight zipper is best.

Little Things That Make A Big Difference

In the profession of homemaking it is very often the little things that count. The little savings gained in careful buying often add up to a considerable amount in a year. Little details in food preparation often make the difference between a meal that is really enjoyable and one that is eaten merely to appease hunger. The garnish or the dainty way in which a plain food is served will lift it from the ordinary into the special class. It is well known that we "eat with our eyes". Certainly appearance stimulates the appetite.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, offer these suggestions for planning better meals:

Buying

Keep nutritional values in mind in making your food purchases. Price by no means indicates food value.

Keep up with the current food situation. Listen to the radio and watch the newspaper for food information and market reports.

Buy foods which are most plentiful.

Make sure you need what you buy and that you are getting good value.

Buy by weight or quantity — never ask for "so many cents worth".

Compare prices and quality of bulk and packaged foods. The former are usually cheaper but often require more care in storing.

Buy by grade when possible and buy the quality best suited to your needs.

Read the labels on canned and packaged foods. The label tells you "what" and "how much" you are buying.

Meal Planning

Avoid monotony in meals by varying the ways you cook and serve food. Follow up-to-date cooking techniques for good-tasting, attractive-looking meals. . usually a well-balanced meal is an appetizing one.

Vary color, texture and temperature of foods in the meal. Color attracts the eye and adds interest to the meal. Avoid clashes of color . . for example, do not serve beets, tomatoes and radishes together. Texture contrast between soft and crisp foods often means the difference between a mediocre and a superb meal. Serve hot foods hot, cold foods cold. Create contrast in the meal by interspersing cold dishes with a hot one or by serving something cold, in the way of a salad or dessert, in a meal otherwise composed of hot dishes.

Cooking Hints

Prepare and cook food carefully using reliable recipes and measuring all ingredients accurately with standard measuring cups and spoons.

Season well. Seasonings should bring out the natural flavors of a food, not mask it, but judicious seasoning makes the simplest food a treat.

Cook cheese at a low temperature. High temperature toughens proteins and therefore makes cheese less easily digested. When making cheese sauce, add cheese at the last and cook only until melted.

Any uncooked mixture of cheese, eggs and milk to be cooked in the oven, should be oven-poached, that is, placed in a pan of hot water, in a moderate oven. Scalloped or other cheese dishes made with cooked foods should be baked for only sufficient time to thoroughly heat the mixture.

To use all-purpose flour in place of pastry flour, allow two tablespoons less per cup.

The following amounts of starches and flours have the same thickening power: 1 tablespoon cornstarch; 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour; 1 tablespoon plus ½ teaspoon potato or rice flour or wheat starch.

To avoid lumping in making sauces or gravies and in thickening stews, first mix the flour, cornstarch, etc., with either a little cold liquid, the sugar or the creamed or melted fat, then combine with liquid and cook, stirring until mixture thickens.

Let roasts and poultry stand in a warm place for a short time before carving. This allows the meat to absorb the juices and makes for more economical and easier carving.

Before folding egg whites into cake or pudding, beat into the whites some of the sugar called for in the recipe. One tablespoon sugar per egg white is a good proportion.

New Development In Pastry Making

— By Jeanne Lambert —

We can't think of a better combination than pie and tea to top off a meal, and we've come across a new way to make pastry that eliminates the puttering. It was developed by a flour company and a salad oil company in the United States. You simply stir and roll the four ingredients — flour, salt, oil and milk. The pastry is rich, brown and flaky. It stays fresh for days and it's never tough. The secret of this method is in adding the oil and milk at one time without blending them. They are poured into the same measuring cup, the milk first and then the oil, but it is extremely important not to mix them. The milk must be cold. With this method, because of the consistency, the dough is rolled out between two sheets of waxed paper. If the pastry should tear, it may be easily mended without moistening. Here's the recipe for a double crust pie:

2 Cups sifted flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ cup salad or cooking oil, ¼ cup whole milk.

1. Mix the flour and salt together. Add oil and milk all at once. Stir lightly until it is mixed. Round up the dough and divide in halves. Flatten each half slightly.

2. Place one half between two sheets of waxed paper (approximately 11" square). Roll out gently until circle of dough reaches edges of paper. If bottom paper begins to wrinkle, turn, roll on other side. Peel off top paper. If dough cracks or breaks, mend by pressing edges together, or by pressing a scrap of dough lightly over tear.

3. Lift paper and pastry by top corners; they will cling together. Place paper side up in 9" pie plate. Carefully peel off paper. Gently ease and fit pastry into pan, trim even with rim. Roll top crust in the same way. Bake in hot oven 425°F., for 40 minutes if double crust fruit pie is made; at 475°F., for single crust pie for eight to ten minutes.

Try Sleeping On This ! !

A favorite midnight lunch of ours is sandwiches made of condensed bean soup. Add a little minced onion to the thick soup, right from the can, spread on slices of buttered bread and top off with rashers of crisp bacon. Serve plain or toasted. And for the beverage — large cups of tea, piping hot, refreshing and satisfying.

FASHION HINT

It's the tunic that calls the tune of the new coat parade. The tunic coat, it would seem, has emerged as one of the newest trends, and should be very much in evidence when fashions for next spring are unveiled. In the meantime, this autumn version is of a hairy-surfaced wool and rabbit's hair fabric in taupe. The bodice is gently cut in one piece with narrow sleeves. The collar, standing or flat-rolled, is stitched at the outer edges as are the patch pockets. The tunic peplum is padded. A matching leather belt completes the picture.

Avoca Girl Married Recently in Ottawa

Arthurs - Hand

The marriage took place recently of Ethel Gillman Arthurs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Arthurs, of Avoca, Que., to Vincent Colbert Hand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hand, of Richmond, Ont. The ceremony was performed in McPhail Baptist Church, Ottawa, with the Rev. R. D. Harmer officiating.

Mr. B. F. Brandow played the wedding music, and Miss Joan Major sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register. White and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Dorothy McCoy as bridesmaid. Mr. Carl Wiggins was best man for the bridegroom.

For her marriage the bride chose a street-length dress of blue chiffon velvet, with bracelet-length sleeves. She wore a matching off-the-face hat with navy blue accessories and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at O'Dell's Tea Room, and afterwards the couple left on a wedding trip to Albany, N. Y., Niagara Falls and other points. For travelling the bride wore a grey-blue suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Upon their return they will live in Ottawa.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. James Arthurs and Mrs. Joseph Young, of Avoca, Que., grandmothers of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. William Arthurs, also of Avoca; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hand, of Richmond, Ont.

Probably never before have so many been so wrong in their predictions of the Canadian football season. Very likely the year 1950 will go down as the haunting year for the experts.

In both the eastern and western inter-provincial conferences, the teams which hadn't been given much of a chance kicked over the traces and upset the favorites.

The Grey Cup defending Montreal Alouettes were installed as "winter book" favorites in the Eastern Big Four, with Ottawa Rough Riders elected to give them the most trouble. It was a kiss of death the experts gave those two; neither made the playoffs and Hamilton Tiger-Cats nailed down first place in the regular schedule with Toronto Argonauts, one point back, taking second place. Montreal was just a point off second place after a bad start in the season.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos were not favored by the majority of experts in the west, but these two wound up in the western conference championship play-off. As the season started Calgary Stampeders were picked as the club to stop, and Regina Roughriders looked good too.

It's coming to the point where it might pay a club to fork out a little to have the experts nominate them for cellar positions.

Scores of harness horsemen around the country are settling in now for the opening November 15 of another season at Dufferin Park, little Ol' Saratoga, in Toronto.

Officials at Dufferin reported that applications for stable accommodation have been piling in and that approximately 225 horses will be stabled at Dufferin itself, the overflow going to Long Branch track in suburban Toronto.

Incidentally, two new features have been added — the Free-For-All Pace and Free-For-All Trot. Each is valued at $1,000.

When Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, made his comeback and lost to Ezzard Charles, another fighter began a comeback in London the same night.

Tommy Farr, former British heavyweight champ, won his fight and just this week scored his second victory. The pity of the second win for the game Welshman was that it came under slightly detracting circumstances. Farr knocked out Belgian heavyweight champion Piet Wilde but the 9,000 fans turned it into a hollow triumph with their boos.

The 196-pound Farr, who has been training with Don Mogard of Toronto, has his next bout slated for December 4 against an Italian fighter.

Shoots Own Bear-Robe

Minden, Ont. Nov. 14 (CP) — A hunter near this Haliburton district village has a well-ventilated bear fur robe today. But he isn't bragging about his prowess. As Pete McGillen tells it in his outdoors column in the Telegram, the hunter nosed his car into the bushes along a little-used road and threw an old fur robe over the radiator. After a wide circle in the bush he saw a black, furry animal. Six shots later he approached the pelt — hanging over his radiator, with anti-freeze spraying wildly through the six holes.

In 1948 vessels engaged in seagoing and inland international service entered Canadian ports at the rate of 600 ships per week.

Port Arthur, Ont. (CP) — Work has started 40 miles south of here on a ski chalet. Situated atop a hill overlooking Pine Bay on Lake Superior, it will be opened this year. The chalet will serve as a trail-riders' camp in summer.

Gov. General Coming Saturday for Official Opening of Memorial Hall

Civic Reception for Their Excellencies, Unveiling of Plaque at Lachute Auditorium

This Saturday will be an auspicious day for Legion Branch 70 and for the residents of Lachute — Their Excellencies Viscount and Lady Alexander having graciously accepted an invitation to this town, to officially open the new Memorial Hall.

The visit of the Governor-General and Her Excellency will be brief, due to other engagements that day — notably the opening ceremony of the Grenadier Guards' museum at their Montreal armory — but a full program has been arranged by the Legion, the civic authorities and the Lions Club, allowing the citizenry to see and hear these distinguished visitors, in whose honor Lachute will observe a civic holiday by mayoral proclamation. Arrangements for the public assembly at Lachute Auditorium are outlined in the proclamation, published on this page. The civic reception at Lachute Golf and Country Club is under supervision of a committee from the Lions Club, and the prime objective of this vice-regal visit, the official ceremonies at the Legion Memorial Hall, will take place at 12.45 p.m.

Following is the itinerary and time-table of events:

11.10 a.m. — Arrival at Lachute Station. Inspection of Guard of Honor. Presentation of flowers by Ladies' Auxiliary.

11.25 - 11.55 a.m. Unveiling of War Memorial Plaque at Lachute Auditorium.

12.05 - 12.40 p.m. Civic Reception at Lachute Golf Club.

12.45 - 1.30 p.m. Official Opening Canadian Legion Memorial Hall.

At Memorial Hall

Legionnaires will assemble at the Memorial Hall at 12.15 o'clock. Admission will be by ticket only. . . The members and ex-servicemen of this community are highly appreciative of the honor, which may be considered a crowning triumph in the realization of lengthy plans and laborious efforts. The presence on this occasion of so distinguished a soldier as Field Marshal Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor General and vice-regal representative in this Dominion, is a distinction royally befitting the building of which the veterans are justly proud. Legionnaires believe His Excellency will find, in the fruition of their efforts, a creditable meeting-place and memorial to comrades fallen in the righteous cause.

A Creditable Site

The hall, which is now completely equipped, has been the result of much hard work on the part of the Legionnaires, and the generosity of many interested citizens of Lachute and district. The building consists of a main hall, office, ladies' room, a completely equipped kitchen and public address system upstairs and in the basement. The Legion recreation room, situated in this basement, consists of a large room with a fireplace, library and canteen; there are card tables and a shuffle board, a ping-pong table will be set up in the near future. Leading off the recreation room is a cloak room, furnace room and men's washroom — the whole building being tastefully decorated and kept in good repair by the Legionnaires themselves. The building and furnishings are valued roughly at $20,000 and there is still a mortgage of $8,000 or more to be paid off — this is being met by the different activities carried out each year by the Lachute Legion.

"Police Day" on Kiddies' Program

The Mounties' five-man "public relations squad" captivated their youthful audience at last Sunday afternoon's program of "Les Loisirs", in Ste. Anastasie Church. This team, humanizing the theme "Youth and the Police", showed films on R.C.M.P. activities and entertained the youngsters with their trained Newfoundland dog.

Mayor Léopold Carrière and two members of the police committee, Ald. E. Provost and Ald. P. Chartrand, attended the soiree. The Mounties were in charge of Cst. René Gaulin, and other police departments were represented by the provincial and traffic officers stationed here, two members of the provincial police in Montreal, the town police force, and Lt.-Col. E. Emmett, Quebec C.O. of the Corps of Imperial Frontiersmen.

Gaetan Cousineau, president of "Les Loisirs", was master of ceremonies, and his young son dressed in a miniature Mountie uniform proved popular with the 700-odd youngsters in attendance. In conclusion the police officers distributed candies to the happy crowd.

It is stated by Police Chief D. Villeneuve (who was instrumental in bringing the Mounties and other police contingents to this affair) that a team of R.C.M.P. men in charge of Cst. James Archer will address the Lachute High School pupils next Monday, between 2.30 and 4 p.m. . . These programs are designed to enlist youthful interests to co-operate with the guardians of law and order.

Another Fatality, Grenv'l - Stonefield

An accident occurring at 10.30 o'clock Saturday night on Route 29 between Stonefield and Grenville, caused fatal injuries to Donat Cayen, 25, of Hawkesbury, who died at Dr. T. W. Smith's Hospital in that town on Tuesday evening. Suffering a fractured skull and brain injuries, the victim remained unconscious from the time of the accident.

Cayen's brother, Ernest, aged 22, was driving the car, and stated after the accident that his front wheels locked, causing him to swerve into the ditch. The car struck a tree on the left side and one on the right, and the top of the car crushed the elder Cayen's head. Other occupants were Ronald and Edmond Cayen, cousins of the two brothers. Residents passing at a late hour, found the four men in the demolished car, and had them taken to hospital, where they were treated by Dr. Lloyd Alford and Dr. Drummond Smith. The driver was badly hurt, requiring 48 stitches in his head. Edmond Cayen had one ear badly torn and Ronald Cayen was injured in the left knee.

First Prize-Giving in School Auditorium Shows New Building Community Asset

The prize distribution last Friday evening at Lachute High School was, in the words of one of the speakers, an occasion to be indelibly remembered by the hundreds of youngsters present — being no ordinary edition of these annual events; for this was the first such gathering in the new school, and its fine, spacious auditorium, seating a crowd estimated at 900 persons, proved itself at this time a site of immeasurable community worth.

Highlight of the evening besides the presentation of prizes for merit in the last scholastic year, was undoubtedly the musical performance which interspersed the speeches. The Glee Club had excelled in a previous function, the school opening ceremonies; on this occasion the Junior Choir held the spotlight, singing four melodies and part-songs in a manner highly creditable to themselves and their conductor, Mr. Shirley McKyes. Selections by the school dance orchestra provided another treat which spoke well for the pupils' progress in the musical arts.

Jas. W. McGibbon, chairman of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners, ably conducted the proceedings. With him on the platform were members of the clergy, the Rev. C. Maclean and the Rev. C. R. Lang; W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., chairman of the Central School Board; Howard McOuat, chairman of the St. Andrews School Board, Principal F. H. J. Royal; Geo. Y. Deacon, member of the Quebec Protestant Committee of Education; School Commissioners R. Muir, S. J. McFaul, D. R. Bradford, E. Smith, and Secretary B. Jenkins; prize-donors — four W. I. presidents, Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, Mrs. F. A. Brennian, Mrs. Stanley Smith, Mrs. A. Ogilvie, also G. F. Calder, Thos. Stewart, J. S. and R. A. Giles.

Mr. Cottingham expressed his pleasure in attending this function, and congratulated all who had played a part — including the public by their co-operation — in the realization of the school building as an asset to education and the community.

W.I. Sees Film on Cancer Research

The regular meeting of the Lachute Women's Institute for November was held in the Science lecture room of Lachute High School. Mrs. F. A. Brennian, the president, was in the chair, and reports of the various committees were read and approved. Mrs. S. Milnes, librarian, reported that the library had acquired new shelves from the Lachute High School, and that these had been renovated and painted, giving much-needed space for the books. Miss Margaret Scott suggested that prizes be given to the pupils in Grades IX X and XI writing the best essays on a topic to be announced later. This suggestion was in accordance with the wishes of John Fisher, the "Roving Reporter", who had recently visited Lachute. First and second prizes would be given in each grade. Mrs. Brennian thanked the Finance committee for their work in connection with the John Fisher lecture, and also Mrs. R. A. Giles, who had been instrumental in bringing Mr. Fisher to Lachute.

Mrs. A. F. Bothwell, who had been a delegate to the semi-annual county meeting held in October, reported on the proceedings of that meeting.

Mrs. George McGibbon announced that at the Christmas meeting, December 5, to be held in the Legion Memorial Hall, there would be an exchange of gifts not to exceed 25 cents in value.

Cancer Research

After the business meeting was adjourned Miss May McGibbon convener of Health and Welfare, presented a film produced by the Department of National Health and Welfare. This film depicted the history of cancer research, and showed how scientists and doctors have been studying the human cell, and the growth of the cell in health and in disease. The whole mystery of life and the solution to the riddle of cancer lie in this tiny structure. Statistics and facts about the occurrence of cancer are also studied, and scientists have found hundreds of chemicals that can start cancer. Some progress in the study of cancer is made each day, and the exploration of new fields continues. Radioactive isotopes can be used in some types of cancer, such as thyroid, and X-ray therapy is used to attack other types. The majority of cases can be effectively treated if found early enough, and medical science is searching continually for more tests to detect early cancer.

Miss McGibbon was thanked for her efforts in procuring this film, and also Mrs. Norma Rogers, who kindly operated the projector.

Scene After Fatal Bus Accident

Swerving, unsuccessfully, to avoid a woman on the Lachute - St. Jerome highway last Saturday morning, Roland Carrière, bus driver, hit this roadside garage and tore the building down on top of his vehicle. Mme Michel Legault, 65, of St. Columban, was struck and died shortly after the accident.

Grapple-Irons and Aircraft in Search For Frank Allen

A force of 20 Army personnel, quartered in McGibbon's lumber camp at Pine Hill, are under charge of Capt. A. Dircher continuing the search for Frank Allen, who disappeared in the region west of Lake Louisa on November 12, eleven days ago.

Last week-end two airplanes were used, flying low over the countryside. It was stated that a human being could have been spotted by this means in wooded territory, but not so readily over swampland. Mr. Allen's son, Lt.-Col. Ned Allen, was observer in one of the planes, and Capt. Dircher in the other (piloted by George Deacon, Jr., of Lachute). No trace of the victim was found.

The soldiers have closely searched the shores of Lake Louisa at the St. Michel end, also three swamps to the northwest of this point. Others have searched around Lafleur's Lake, and grappling irons have been used in a portion of Reardon's Lake — both being small stretches of water beyond the western extremity of Lake Louisa.

Dragging operations were extended to Lake Lafleur yesterday — the soldiers, together with Rosaire Richer, of St. Michel, working in freezing temperatures. It is stated the troops are returning today to their base at St. John's, Que. Meanwhile, a reward of $200 has been offered by the son of the missing man for discovery of his whereabouts.

Criminal Hearings At St. Jerome Court

Before Justice Herman Barrette at St. Jerome yesterday, René Duval, 20, of Vankleek Hill, stood for preliminary hearing in connection with the death of Roderick Dewar, 21, also of Vankleek Hill, who was killed in a car driven by the accused last August one mile east of Grenville, on Route 29. Duval had been found criminally responsible by a coroner's jury . . . He was committed to stand trial on a manslaughter charge at next Criminal Assizes for the District of Terrebonne.

Lucien Thinnel was attorney for the crown and Camille de Martigny counsel for the accused. Traffic Officer H. Jones testified as to his findings in the case.

A similar case involving the death of Aimé Petrucci, 68-year-old Montrealer, who was killed at Chatboro on October 30, was heard by Judge Barrette. Maurice Larocque, 23, of Chute à Blondeau, who had been driving a truck loaded with logs, stood for preliminary hearing. The charge in this case was reduced to one of reckless driving, the accused to stand trial at Criminal Assizes.

Suffers Fatal Seizure, C.N.R. Man Dies at Job

Arthur Bedard, a 52-year-old C.N.R. employee, of Hawkesbury, suffered a fatal seizure while at his work along the track at Grenville last Friday afternoon. The man was engaged in fixing a fence at the time he was stricken; fellow workers immediately summoned medical aid, but without avail.

Detective P. Therriault of Lachute was notified, and Dr. Jules Lafleur, district coroner, after investigation gave a verdict of natural death.

Who Said Uniformity?

"Standardize" was the by-word in business some short time ago, but at least there is one city firm which feels that variety compels interest. . .

By the same mail, from three departments of the same firm, a local businessman received three separate letters, and each was addressed differently. One was directed to his office address, one to his home address, and the third to his postal box number.

Year's Efforts Reviewed at Annual Meeting, Lachute Ch. of Commerce

Election of Officers—Dr. R. A. Dumais Succeeds J. R. Charron for Presidency

Over 50 members attended a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last Thursday at the Hotel Laurentien, at which a brief but forceful address was given by the president, J. R. Charron.

President's Address

"What is a Chamber of Commerce?" asked Mr. Charron, who provided the answers as follows:

"It is a group of citizens devoting part of their time towards the general welfare of their community.

"It is an association of citizens imbued with public spirit, working to assure for their city or town the highest possible standard of living.

"It is a group of supporters of that much-talked-of 'free enterprise' — and supporters of that liberty which so strongly opposes collectivism and slavery.

"It is a group of businessmen interested in attracting new industries, in enlarging the population and drawing tourists to the district.

"We may say further — whatever your idea or enterpretation, your Chamber should be without contradiction the most important organization in your town. Together with the church and the municipal administration, the Chamber forms a powerful base on which to build the welfare and progress of your community.

"The activities of a Chamber of Commerce should be shared by every good citizen. In most cities, the Chamber is chiefly interested in increasing the tourist business; in other cities it is mainly interested in seeking new industries. . . It should also look forward to closer relations between the farming class and the businessmen, in order to stimulate a more general public interest in the region; to a better educational system, better health and living conditions; it should promote campaigns for cleaning-up and beautifying; it should advocate the zoning of town and countryside; and last but not least, it recommends the improvement of commercial and financial buildings — as well as their services and prices, to the satisfaction of the consuming public and to compete favorably with bigger towns and cities.

"Few Chambers of Commerce are able to fully accomplish all these aims — because for one reason, officers and members participating receive no remuneration, and usually must undertake these activities in their own business hours; nevertheless, these officers and members do sacrifice much of their own time. . . A Chamber of Commerce needs the support and understanding of all its citizens. Every city, town or village should have a Chamber of Commerce, well organized and fully representative . . .

"This applies also to the welfare of our province and our Canada at large. Canada needs a powerful national group, and such a group is found in the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which has grown in the last five years from 150 to 640 Chambers, in as many centres. — And the Lachute Chamber of Commerce is one of them, which solicits your full support so that Lachute, and the County of Argenteuil, may receive their full share of the growth from which Canada is now benefitting, and which surely will continue for many years to come."

Directors — J. R. Charron (immediate past-president), Romain Desjardins, Gabriel Valois, Thos. Ayers, Bernard Massicotte, R. McArthur, Claude Tessier and J. R. Carreau.

Buffet refreshments were served, the hotel chef presiding in white suit and hat; the management of the hotel were complimented on their excellent service.

Review of Achievements

Mr. Charron reviewed in detail the activities of the Chamber during the past year, which included the following:

Study of local needs as regards roads and postal facilities, and recommendations to the authorities concerned.

The encouragement of Christmastide decorations, and sponsoring of a contest in this connection.

Representation to the C.P.R. for embellishment of railway property — which had been duly acted upon.

Requests to the Bell Telephone for improvement of local service; subsequent inspections by that company, in co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce, and favorable results.

Representation of the local Chamber of Commerce at various conferences of wider importance.

Mr. Charron concluded this review by commending the merchants of Lachute on the marked progress, this past year, in modernization of their establishments, and addition of illuminated signs.

Gabriel Valois, chairman of the sports committee, gave his report on this department of activity. He thanked the merchants who had donated cigarettes for sale at the exhibition grounds. The proceeds, together with those of a tag-day, had enabled the "Association de la Jeunesse Sportive" to purchase a loudspeaker system. The selling of display space inside the fence of the ball-park was an idea promoted by the Chamber — which had netted $1,600 for the Association to date.

Woman Killed by Bus Near St. Canut

On the Lachute - St. Jerome highway at 11.20 a.m. last Saturday a resident of St. Columban, Mme Michel Legault, 65, lost her life in a freak tragedy involving a Provincial Transport bus. The accident occurred on a stretch of gravel road, three miles this side of St. Canut Village. According to report, the victim, crossing the road to board the bus for St. Jerome, stepped into the path of the vehicle and was fatally injured — while the bus driver, Roland Carriere, in swerving to avoid her, crashed through a private garage at the roadside. The garage, belonging to Matthew Powell, was a frame structure which had just been newly built on his property. There was no car inside, and the roof of the garage crashed down on top of the bus.

Mme Legault (the former Marie-Anne Lachance) suffered a fractured skull and multiple injuries. The Menard ambulance was called from Lachute, but the victim was dead before its arrival. Dr. J. A. Pagé of St. Benoit, coroner for the County of Two Mountains, was summoned to the scene and pronounced the death accidental. The body was removed to Ste. Scholastique.

Dets. Anatole Roch and Maurice Lamoureux, with Traffic Officer Fernand Nadon, were on the scene from Provincial Police headquarters at St. Jerome.

JANE HOBSON, BRILLIANT SOPRANO, TO BE HEARD HERE IN FIRST OF 1950-51 COMMUNITY CONCERTS

Jane Hobson, mezzo-soprano singer, who will appear in the first of this season's Community Concerts — at the High School auditorium here next Wednesday, November 29 — looks more like a Powers Model than a Pioneer Woman, but her story is in the best old-fashioned American tradition. When she sang at Carnegie Hall under Stokowski in Debussy's "Blessed Damozel" (March 20, 1948), 2,752 people heard her; when she sang in the Beethoven Ninth Symphony with the NBC Symphony under Toscanini (April 3, 1948) millions of radio listeners heard her . . . the tall, handsome dark-haired girl who was born in a town of 200 people — Murray, Nebraska.

Her father was a banker there and a cattle feeder; her mother a good amateur pianist, from whom Jane inherited a flair for the keyboard. Both parents soon recognized that they had an unusually talented child, but it was mother who did something about it. It was she who was up at 5.30 every morning in sub-zero winter weather to get the furnace started to warm the piano keys so that little Jane could practice comfortably before school. And every Friday afternoon from the time Jane was seven, she drove her to Omaha, 28 miles by car, in snow or sleet, for a weekly music lesson.

Gatineau LINES

Watts, Volts and Amperes

Not long ago, Gatineau Lines discussed those common electrical terms, horsepower and kilowatts, and how they are used. This time we would like to explain the terms watts, volts and amperes.

A volt is the term used to describe electrical pressure. Ampere is a measurement of flow of electrical current. Watts are the measurement of electrical power — by multiplying volts by amperes.

The system is very much like measuring water in a pipe. The pressure under which the water is forced through the pipe would be its voltage. The amount of water flowing in the pipe would be the amperes.

10-ampere appliance would take 1100 watts, and so on. A 100-watt lamp is one taking 10/11ths of one ampere of electricity at 110 volts pressure.

Most electrical appliances carry a permanent plate telling their voltage and their watts or their amperes. If the amperes are given with the voltage, you can always work out the watts by multiplying volts by amperes. If the watts are given with the voltage, you can figure out the amperes by dividing the volts into the watts.

Carrying that a step further, once you know the watts required for any appliance, you can always figure out how much or how little it costs to run, uted primarily in volts econdly in either watts peres. In most cases estic use, the voltage usual 110-volt cur- f household wires. reater the amount of therefore the greater peres of power used appliance. A three- piece of equipment take 330 watts, a for by the "kilowatt hour" — that is, 1,000 watts used steadily for one hour. A 100-watt lamp burning steadily for 10 hours, for instance, uses up one kilowatt hour of electricity. A 2,500-watt heater, on the other hand, uses up 2.5 kilowatt hours in 1 hour or a kilowatt hour of power in a little over 20 minutes.

Women's Institutes And Farm Forums

Mrs. Herbert Ellard, of Wright, Que., provincial convenor of Welfare and Health for Quebec Women's Institutes, will be one of the speakers on the National Farm Radio Forums next Monday evening, November 27.

Several months ago the Q.W.I. undertook a survey of health conditions in the rural areas of Quebec by means of a questionnaire circulated among all branches of that organization. When the findings were announced the National Office of the Farm Radio Forum was asked to discuss this problem during the coming season, with the result the broadcast on the above date will be entitled, "What's Happened to the Country Doctor", with Mrs. Ellard as one of the participants. Other speakers will be Dr. H. J. G. Geggie, Wakefield, Que., and Malcolm Taylor, Director of Research and Statistics, Department of Public Health, Saskatoon, Sask.

Branches of the Q.W.I. are being asked to hold joint meetings with the Farm Forums on that night and again on "Review Night", December 18, when improved health services for the community can be discussed.

"Standards" Film at Royal Winter Fair

"Story of Standards", a new color motion picture on the grading and inspection services that keep Canada's standards of food quality high, was given its world premiere in Toronto the day before the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair opened. The film has also been shown during the Fair, in connection with the display of the Federal Department of Agriculture, on the second floor of the West Annex.

This display, one of the most complete of its kind ever produced, has been sponsored by the department's Marketing Service. Designed to actually show the grading and inspection services in operation, it will include demonstrations of such things as grading of dairy products, inspection of canned fruit, cutting-up of poultry, and similar sections of potatoes, meat, etc. Background of the department's exhibit is a 40-foot-long mural painting symbolic of the department and its activities.

Bless the Neon Lights

WITH a little imagination, one can picture Main Street, Lachute, on an early-closing night with store windows dimmed and Neon signs extinguished. The street-lights here are so archaic and ineffectual that it would need only that Christmas card character — the town-crier with his lantern — to complete the medieval picture.

It's not funny, however. . . On the residential stretches of Main Street, where there are no store lights to illuminate the road, it is actually hazardous to drive a vehicle. Rainy weather greatly aggravates the danger. And on the back streets (some so inadequately lighted), progress is equally perilous even for pedestrians — as we, who have plodded so many nights through slush and puddles on Foundry Street, are well aware.

The next major improvement in this town should be a thorough overhauling of our street-lighting system.

For A Change in Traditional "Remembrance" Day

SOME PROMINENCE was given this week to an opinion voiced by Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, C.B.E., D.S.O. —that Remembrance Day might be more effectively observed on May 8 instead of November 11. Addressing the War Amputations Associations of Canada, in Montreal last Saturday, the speaker gave as his reason the undesirable weather that usually prevails in November, adding also that May 8, which marked the end of World War II, could fittingly commemorate the sacrifices of both wars — and many of our veterans had served in both instances.

The discouraging public turnout in our recent Armistice observances at Lachute—and memories of many previous occasions when snow or rain swept around the Cenotaph and the crowd churned mud in the memorial park — tempt us to favor the suggestion of this distinguished soldier, who is himself a veteran of both conflicts. It matters little, after all, that this annual rite should accord with the day and hour of the 1918 Armistice. Those old enough to remember the First Great War — when Canada and the Allies were unversed in hostile strategies and strange to warfare — will never forget the date or hour of its termination. True, the Quebec Command of the Canadian Legion voted against any proposed change, at its convention in 1945, fearing that First War veterans would object. . . Observed Maj.-Gen. Burns, on this viewpoint: "I know many of them . . and you are not doing them a service by sticking to that date for the old veterans".

Maj.-Gen. Burns, Deputy Minister of Veterans' Affairs at Ottawa, was commander of the Canadian Corps in Italy during World War II; he has the welfare of our veterans at heart. And although his ideas may ring sacrilege in the ears of a few, there is something to ponder in his question: "Is it sensible to remember the dead at a time when we run the risk of having temperatures that will add to their numbers?"

Cheerfulness, sir, is the principal ingredient in the composition of health. — Murphy

The "Weaker" Sex?

ALTHOUGH the old belief concerning the inferiority of women still lingers, the so-called weaker sex is physically superior to men, declares Louis I. Dublin in the December Reader's Digest. Mr. Dublin is vice-president and statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. His article, examining the statistics on the young and old of both sexes, is condensed from "Your Life".

Throughout the entire life span, the female mortality rate is lower than the male. Nature makes some allowance for this by arranging that 106 boys are born for every 100 girls. The ratio of female survival is higher even before birth, for prenatal mortality from miscarriages and still-births is considerably higher for males. Infectious diseases of childhood, except whooping cough, are more often fatal to boys than to girls, and accidental deaths are one and one-half times as frequent among boys.

In early adulthood the mortality rates of both sexes are almost even, but women still have the advantage: at 25 a woman has a life expectancy of 44 years, as against 42 for the man of the same age. Widows outnumber widowers 55 to 45, the wide ratio being partly due to the fact that most women marry men older than themselves.

The female intelligence is not inferior, Dublin says, but only different. Investigators have found that in certain subjects girls excel, in others boys are ahead. Girls and boys score about equally in I.Q. tests.

Women lose more time from work, as a result of illness, than do men, but this indicates merely that women pamper colds and other mild indispositions while men do not. Such pampering frequently prevents the development of more serious illness and may be one reason why women live longer.

More women than men attempt suicide, but men's efforts at self-destruction more often succeed. Possibly women do not really want to kill themselves, Dublin observes, but want only to draw attention to their grievances.

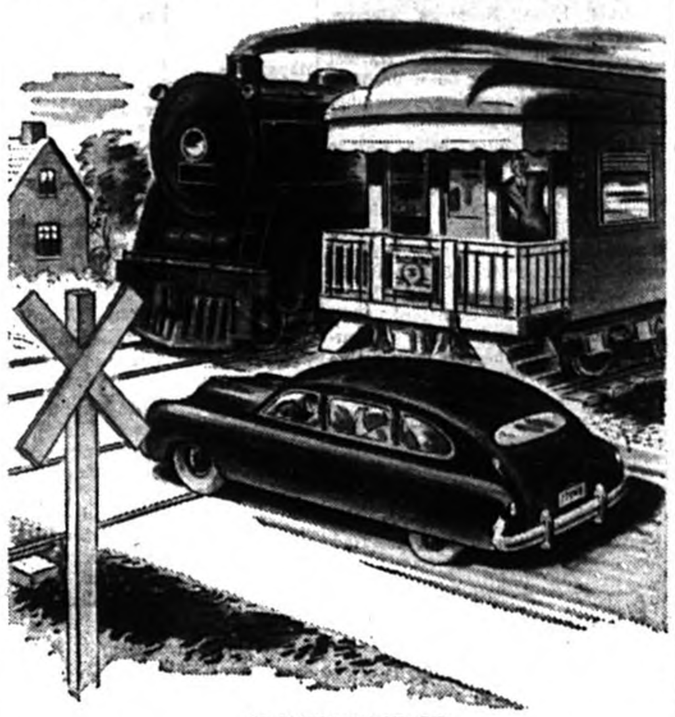

Since more women survive, the greater share of the nation's wealth is controlled by them. In the United States, for example, they are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of all life insurance, and receive 71 per cent of the estates left by men and 64 per cent of those left by other women.

Dangerous Sign

CANADIANS are still among the most fortunate of peoples — but one important group of them, the white-collared or middle class, is not quite so fortunate as it was 10 years ago. Some new official information on personal income and expenditures, says The Financial Post, is worth the most careful study. It indicates some significant deterioration in the economic standing of a group this country or any other can ill afford to see weakened.

Boiled down and digested, these statistics confirm what has long been suspected, namely that the standard of living of our middle or white-collared class, which suffered a body blow during the war, has not yet recovered. And so long as bare necessities like food and shelter continue to be high, and taxes continue to be heavy, it will not recover.

DON'T HAVE A SINGLE TRACK MIND ON A DOUBLE TRACK RAILROAD!

IT PAYS TO WAIT!

Many railway crossings have more than one track, which multiplies the hazard to the motorist and makes the need for caution doubly great. The drawing above emphasizes one of the prime dangers of the multiple-track crossing — the train on the farther track obscured by the train moving in the opposite direction on the near track. This motorist would have saved himself disaster if he had waited a second or two to see if the farther track was clear before proceeding. The Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada received reports of 443 railway crossing accidents in the 12-month period ended June 30th last. These accidents took 140 lives and injured 549 others. In some cases motorists disregarded protective devices placed at crossings for their protection, and in others disregard of the basic rules of safe driving was responsible for needless loss of life and injury.

'Horse and Buggy' Days -- Indeed!

What did the Victorians have that we have lost?

We laugh at their leisurely, slow-moving ways and their casual, contemplative outlook on life. "Horse and buggy" is about the most contemptuous term we can apply to them. But there is often a bit of envy in our derision.

The magic of the horse and buggy days wasn't all a mirage. They really had a few things we have lost in the swifter tempo of the machine age.

Eighty years ago business managed to get along very well without telephones, taxicabs, typewriters, adding machines, radios and airplanes. But men had an ability to make decisions which is all too rare today.

That is the opinion of H. A. Calahan, who writes some thoughtful pieces for "Printer's Ink". The Victorian business man had no need to save time; he knew how to use the time he had. He was not interrupted by telephone calls. He wasn't perpetually "in conference".

When a salesman called he'd see him. He didn't say, "Write me a letter". Without typewriters the letters were hard to write — and hard to read.

So the business man of that period did immediately what the modern executive postpones as long as possible. He made a decision. He said yes or no.

Our time and labor-saving devices have been put to bad use, concludes Mr. Calahan. They save labor — the mental labor of making decisions. It's so easy to postpone them.

Here, perhaps, is a frequent source of the "nerves" that get executives down at times. The confusion of postponed decisions and uncompleted jobs, according to the psychologists, creates tension. And tension causes many a case of insomnia and ulcers.

So, if you can discipline yourself to follow the old motto, "Do it now", you shouldn't need bicarbonate of soda! — M.V.T.

105TH BIRTHDAY

The Stanstead Journal marks its 105th birthday amid no fanfare other than the hum of machinery unknown on November 6, 1845, when L. R. Robinson founded this venerable paper. We may be more inclined to make something more out of the 150-year mark if we are still around — certainly we believe the Journal will be — on that occasion.

Initiation Ceremonies

On Sunday next, 24 aspirants are to be initiated into the local council of the Knights of Columbus. The ceremony takes place at Lachute, and will be followed by a breakfast at which Justice Georges H. Héon will be the principal speaker.

"Unto the Least of These . . "

The Knights of Columbus, through their Grand Master, Henri Foucreau, would welcome any contribution of winter sports equipment such as skates, skis, poles and the like. The effort is to assist retarded children in an institution at Huberdeau to partake in winter activities and share some small measure of the pleasures which we enjoy as a common right, without thought of the many who through affliction or poverty are denied it. . Too Many Points

The Skating Rink sweep, based on the score of last week's big four game, has been held over for another week. The high score ran off the sheet, so that no one had the winning combination. Prizes are doubled for this week, and an increased moiety goes towards the Skating Rink fund. The fund, by the way, has profited to the extent of almost $1,000 from this source, and the rink committee desire to thank the promoters for a worthwhile effort. . . Progress on the work of laying the cement piers to carry the steel uprights, has been satisfactory, and should be completed with a continuation of favorable weather. The steel frame will rear its lofty head before Christmas festivities distract our attention.

Dependable Parents

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Small Jimmie, clothed in his pyjamas with his favorite bunny clutched in one arm, is just on the point of climbing into his crib, when suddenly he turns to his mother and asks anxiously, "You are not going out tonight are you, Mummy? You will promise me you will be right here when I am asleep?"

— The Winnipeg lady, going out to a movie with her husband, doesn't want to be delayed in dressing for this little outing. It is true that Jimmie knows the neighbor who will arrive any moment now to take over the duties of a "sitter". But if he discovers that his mother is going out, he may cry and make a fuss. It would be so much simpler, just to re-assure him (on the likelihood that he will not waken till morning) and say, "Why no, Jimmie, I'm not going out". But the words are not spoken. Somehow it is not easy to lie to a trusting small boy who that very day had said to her, "Mummies keep their promises", and so she takes time to tell her son that she is going out with Daddy, but he knows the neighbor, Mrs. Blank, who will stay in the house all the time Mummy and Daddy are gone, and when Jimmie wakens in the morning, Mummy will be here.

This may seem a small incident, but it is from the ordinary happenings of everyday life that a child learns from his parents' example that a person's word is reliable, that promises are kept. A small child needs a sense of security. What feeling of safety is there in his world, bounded by the walls of home, if one day mother makes a promise and keeps it, and the next day she breaks a promise to him because it will cause her trouble or discomfort to fulfill it? Yes, indeed, one of the rules of being a good parent lies in the realm of faithfulness. — "A good parent keeps his promise".

Another essential characteristic in achieving a satisfactory parent-child relationship, is that a good parent is fair and does not have favorites in a family. Fairness may be rather hard to define, but one way in which many parents fail their children is in their unfair attitude of not accepting their children as they are.

How difficult it is to be absolutely fair and play no favorites in a family with several children! Ask any mother or father and you will soon find out. This is true, partly because children are at different stages in their development. Playing no favorites does not mean treating them all alike. This is impossible in many things. Eleven-year-old Bill goes to the Saturday morning children's matinee, but three-year-old Nan stays at home. Fairness lies in treating each child with discrimination, with consideration for his or her needs.

It takes a lot of study and thought for a parent to understand his children. Understanding and love are the basis of fairness — parents should never betray a child's confidence, or discuss his faults and failings to a friend in the child's presence. A dependable parent will never let one child feel that he is more precious or more appreciated than another child in the family.

Hatred, instead of affection, springs up between brothers and sisters if a mother or father singles out one child as a "pet". This is as true today as long ago when the old man Jacob chose his youngest son Joseph as his favorite and dressed him in a coat of many colors. How the older brothers resented this show of favoritism — resented it almost to the point of murdering the little brother. It is no kindness to a child to give him special treatment. By keeping every promise made and playing no favorites, parents prove to their children that they are dependable parents.

Farm Improvement Loan For A Kitchen Stove?

There's more to farm Improvement loans than tractors or combines, points out Donald Hay, manager of the Bank of Montreal at Lachute. They're designed to help the farmer — and his wife — make the best out of their home as well as their land. For you can get a Farm Improvement Loan to cover the installation of water and electric systems, to improve your plumbing and put in stoves, washing machines and heating or lighting appliances.

Even the building of tourist cabins and summer cottages, which provide a farm family with valuable extra revenue during the vacation season, may be financed through an F.I.L.

If you feel that a low-cost Farm Improvement Loan would benefit your farm, or better your living conditions, make a point of calling on Mr. Hay next time you're in town. Talk over your plans with him, in confidence, so that you can work out together how the B of M can best help you with financing your farm improvement.

Jane Hobson in Season's First Community Concert

The daily routine grew even more difficult later. There was no high school in Murray and after Jane graduated from elementary school, she had to be up even earlier, to practice and breakfast before driving eight miles to Plattsmouth to go to school. High schools days over, Jane Hobson went on to William Woods College in Fulton, Missouri, where, after two years, she received a degree as Associate in Fine Arts, then — after wangling parental permission — on to Paris, where she had a wonderful time learning French at the Alliance Française and studying piano, first with Camille Decreus and then with Casadeus at the American Conservatory at Fontainebleu. Holidays she dashed tourist-happy around Europe, youthfully unaware of the gathering war clouds — until one day in the autumn of 1938, the American Consul in Amsterdam warned her parents: "Take your daughter home. . ."

She entered the Cincinnati Conservatory on a scholarship, studying piano under Severin Eisenberger, and won her bachelor's degree. She returned to study for her master's, at the same time holding for two years the post of Student Dean of Women. While she was in Cincinnati, singing hymns during a Baccalaureate Service, the conservatory's voice teacher heard her and persuaded her to take singing lessons on the side.

Finally a decision had to be made. . . On one hand Jane Hobson had a contract to teach piano and theory at Shorter College, Rome, Georgia; on the other were musical experts who insisted it was a crime not to do something with her voice. In the end she went to New York. On a Juilliard Fellowship she studied under Evan Evans from 1942 to the spring of 1946. During that time she sang Dorabella in a Juilliard performance of "Cosi Fan Tutte" under Pelletier, won a Naumburg Award and gave a Town Hall recital. She now coaches with Margarete Matzenauer.

In the summer of 1947 her good looks and genuine acting ability were revealed at the theatre in Ogonquit, Maine, where she played leads in "Dinner at Eight" and "Double Door".

In 1948, under the auspices of Columbia Artists Management, Jane Hobson's singing career was launched in earnest. Her red-letter performance under Toscanini and Stokowski brought critical praise, national publicity, and a 1948-49 tour of sixty-five concerts. . . . The girl from the little Nebraska town was well on her way to country-wide fame.

During 1950-51, in the course of an extensive cross-country tour, she will again do the Beethoven Ninth with both the Cincinnati Symphony and Oklahoma State Symphony Orchestras.

THOSE CITY HUNTERS

Hafford, Sask. (CP) — Redberry Lake district farmers are angry. They say city hunters are breaking gates, leaving gates open, shooting on farmyard sloughs, and shooting game birds on Sunday and out of season. Game is scarce in this central Saskatchewan area.

In a recent 18-month period, productions of the National Film Board of Canada won 21 prizes at film festivals all over the world.

FEWER ACCIDENTS

Quebec (CP)—Industrial accidents for the first eight months of the year were eight per cent lower in the Province of Quebec than last year, says Arthur Gaboury, general manager of the Quebec Association for Prevention of Industrial Accidents. In other parts of Canada and the U.S. the rate was said to be higher.

BIG FREIGHTERS

Montreal (CP) — David Carswell, Montreal marine consultant, says the two freighters being built at Port Weller, Ont., for the Great Lakes trade will carry record cargoes of 22,000 tons. Previous cargoes were around 12,000 tons. The $3,500,000 freighters are being built for Sarnia Steamships Ltd.

CHECK FIREARMS

Halifax (CP) — Forests Minister A. W. Mackenzie says 95 per cent of hunting accidents are the result of carelessness. They could be avoided if hunters would become familiar with their rifles before entering the woods.

Next-of-Kin Fallen Guards Invited to Grenadiers' Armory Museum Opening

GOVERNOR GENERAL TO OFFICIATE THIS SATURDAY

Montreal, Nov. 21 (Special) — Canada's Governor General, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, will pay his third official visit to the Montreal Armory of the Canadian Grenadier Guards on November 25, to open the unit's Regimental Memorial Museum. The museum will contain items of regimental interest dating back to the formation of Montreal's first militia battalion in 1807, direct predecessor of the Guards of today. The occasion also will see the dedication of the Guards' Book of Remembrance, containing the names of Guardsmen who gave their lives in two world wars: in the 14th, 23rd, 60th, 87th and 245th Battalions of the 1914-18 conflict and in the 22nd Canadian Armoured Regiment in World War II. Among the names are enshrined those of several men from the Lachute district who served with the Montreal unit.

All next-of-kin of those who died, including those from Lachute, have been invited to attend the ceremonies by Lieut.-Col. Murray J. Scott, E.D., Officer Commanding, and applications for tickets should be sent without delay to the Regimental Orderly Room, 4171 Esplanade Avenue, Montreal. Admission will be free, but by ticket only.

Trophies in the museum include a wide range of treasured mementoes of the past history of the Regiment, including the actual scarlet uniform worn by Bugler James Hallowell of the first British Militia, dating back more than 140 years; the famed Vimy Memorial, honoring the dead of the Grenadiers in the Battle of Vimy Ridge; the uniforms worn by men of the regiment at different stages of its history, including kits of the time when the unit saw active service in the Fenian Raids of 1866 and 1870, and for the Northwest Rebellion of 1885; Nazi flags captured by the tanks of the Grendiers in World War II; Mobilization orders for the unit on the outbreak of the First World War in 1914; and scores of other items tracing back the history of one of Canada's most distinguished fighting units.

When Lord Alexander arrives at the Guards' Armory November 25, he will be saluted by a 100-man honor guard, commanded by Capt. P. J. Desjardins. The guard will wear the traditional full-dress uniform of the Regiment, including bearskin headdress and scarlet tunic. The regimental band will play under the direction of Lieut. Harrison Jones, and the regimental color will be paraded.

First Prize-Giving in New School Auditorium

Principal's Report

Mr. Fred Royal, school principal, stated in his report that the present school enrolment was 590 — the anticipated net enrolment this year would be 600, compared with 524 last year. Despite a year of academic difficulties incidental to construction of the school extension, the June exam results had been the best for 25 years. In Grade X there were only three failures out of 37 — or about 8% as compared with 28.8% in the province. In Grade XI there were 17.7 failures, while the provincial aggregate was 26.9%.

The school staff now numbers 31 teachers, plus a supply teacher - librarian, stated Principal Royal — adding that the faculty, no less than the pupils, are "deeply appreciative of this new building and the facilities they have to work with". The children, he said, were "taking a pride and co-operative interest much greater than they have done in the past".

Thanks Prize-Donors

"The school staff may teach well the students may apply themselves to their studies, but the co-operating public, notably the prize-donors, are an important adjunct to this school" said Commissioner Douglas Bradford. Awards and scholarships, he said — in thanking the donors — are tangible proof to the pupils that by diligence they will attain success.

W.I. County President

Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh — president of the county organization which generously sponsors many schools awards, the Women's Institutes — replied on behalf of the donors, remarking that this occasion, the first prize-giving in the new school building, would be an event to stand out in the school memories of all children present.

Mrs. Baugh expressed gratitude to the Central School Board and the local Commissioners for their labors in planning and construction of the new high school — to which sentiment Mr. Howard McOuat also gave emphasis on behalf of St. Andrews and the outlying districts.

Chairman Jas. W. McGibbon acknowledged these expressions of appreciation, then called upon the principal to conduct the prize-giving. The awards were handed out by the specific donors or their representatives; Mr. Howard McOuat presented the prizes won last year by St. Andrews pupils, who are this year attending Lachute High School.

Notable additions to the prize-list were recognitions presented by the Lions Club to the Grade X boy and girl of English-speaking parentage who had achieved the greatest progress in the French language; also a handsome silver trophy to the boy displaying the best sportsmanship in school hockey. Rogers Bradford, the winner, received the minature replica of this cup, which was presented by the donor in person, R. A. Giles. Mr. Giles briefly explained his motive in this donation, namely, as an incentive to clean sportsmanship in hockey, in contrast to the abuses so regrettably practiced in professional sport.

Life Among the Eskimos

Writing to friends in Brownsburg some time ago, Mr. Ralph Cooper, who was one-time principal of the Brownsburg Consolidated School, had this to say about life at his new post at Aklavik, North West Territories:

"I have just come back from escorting 40 Eskimo children to church at 2 p.m. . . They are not hard to handle. I use military signs and tactics to keep them in line. At the present time most of the Eskimos are still trapping rats out at their camps in the Delta, and outside of the pupils there are only about five or six other people in church. It is lots of fun watching the mothers unhitch the babies from their backs. They undo a sort of girdle at their waist and switch the babies around and pull them out. The older children run about the church, make a noise and even roll over and do somersaults in the aisles. Sometimes the mother even feeds the babies in church, and not from a bottle.

"It was amusing one day during the month of May; school was going along very quietly and then all at once one of the pupils yelled, 'Mr. Cooper, the ice is moving'. That started the bedlam, so I had one of the pupils tell the other teachers and we all went down to the river. To our astonishment the water did not rise very high and thus no damage was done. The ice flowed gently down the river and was all gone, practically, in one day. The next interesting thing to watch was the first boat come in. It was the Bahana Boat belonging to the Hudson's Bay Company. It brought in quite a number of articles, among which was fresh food, apples, onions, oranges, potatoes, etc. Another article which we enjoyed very much was a fresh egg. You can just imagine how they tasted. We all went to town on them. They are 75 cents a dozen, the apples and oranges 10 cents apiece. One other boat has come in but we are now awaiting the arrival of the Northern Transportation boat which will bring in our supplies and our orders for the year from Eaton's and Simpson's. Thus you see, we have to know what we want and need for a whole year ahead. Sometimes the orders are as high as $200. The price of freight is $5 for 100 lbs.

"If you have a good map you will find the place where we live on the Mackenzie River about 70 miles from the Arctic Ocean. I said the Mackenzie River, but it is not on the main branch. It is the East branch of the Peel Channel. It is about one-quarter of a mile wide. There are hundreds of other streams, brooks, creeks and lakes all over the place. Thus it is impossible to put any roads which go any distance. The methods of transportation in summer are boat and plane; in winter dog team and plane. The dogs make a rush when they start off and then settle down to a steady pace. They are hitched one behind the other and if the lead dog stops, they all stop. The natives have some sign to make them go to the right or left. However, it is "get off the trail" when they come along as they are liable to attack you. They have been known to eat human beings. Thus I did not get too well acquainted with them.

"Our town is fairly large and the roads are nothing to brag about. After a rain they are very muddy and one has to resort to rubber boots. We are not bothered too much with the noise of trains, street cars or automobiles. Yet we have a few motive vehicles — caterpillars, tractors, trucks and a jeep which the doctor uses to get around in, altogether he does not need it very much. We have a board side-walk enough for one and a half persons. We can buy many things in the stores, but there is always the odd article which cannot be procured. We have a picture show in one of the hotels and four halls, so we are not too badly off for recreation. The pictures cost a dollar and a haircut also costs a dollar. . . We also have a bakery where we can get some dainty cakes for special occasions.

"I was amazed to find out, and it is true, that the Mackenzie River is the longest in Canada. It is longer than the St. Lawrence. We are on a point and have the freedom of seeing the river from the east, west and south sides. On the west side are some fairly high mountains from 2,000 to 3,000 feet high. Some of the staff have climbed them. The trees are mostly willows here and we pick pussy willows in the spring."

Mr. Cooper expects to pay Brownsburg a visit when he next leaves the Arctic, in about three years.

Diabetes is recognized by the finding of sugar in the urine and an increase of sugar in the blood, often accompanied by symptoms such as loss of weight and strength, weariness, increased hunger, unusual thirst and blurred vision.

FIRST C-I-L CARTRIDGES GO TO LOCAL INDUSTRY

"Yes, they pack quite a punch" LEN MADDEN, Kilmar Supervisor, told ANDY FORBES, Maple Avenue, Brownsburg when they were discussing the first industrial cartridges to be made in Canada. The first batch, made by C-I-L, went to help a local industry — Canadian Refractories Limited at Kilmar.

Andy Forbes of C-I-L is a technician and did a lot of research work on these cartridges, which are fired through the queer looking gun in this picture to knock clinkers off the kiln walls.

The industrial cartridge is just one of many products the men and women of C-I-L make at Brownsburg, for many uses. Add nylon bristles and fishing leaders, railway signals, blasting caps, seismocaps (for oil drilling), as well as a complete line of sporting ammunition, and you get some idea of what local folks like Andy are achieving at the C-I-L plant in Brownsburg.

The Purpose of "The Watchtower"

Literal towers in Bible times were elevated vantage points from which watchmen could observe happenings, warn of danger, or announce good news. Our magazine figuratively occupies such a vantage point, for it is founded on the very pinnacle of wisdom, God's Word. That elevates it above racial, national and political propagandas and prejudices, frees it from selfish bias. It is not bound by any traditional creed, but its message advances as the light on God's purposes and works increases.
— Habakkuk 2: 1-3.

"The Watchtower" stands as a watchman atop a tower, alert to what is going on, awake to note signs of danger, faithful to point out the way of escape. It announces Jehovah's kingdom established by Christ's enthronement in heaven, feeds his kingdom joint-heirs with spiritual food, cheers men of good will with glorious prospects of eternal life in a paradise earth, comforts us with the resurrection promise for the dead.

It is not dogmatic, but has a confident ring in its voice, because it is based on God's Word. It does not privately interpret prophecy, but calls attention to physical facts, sets them alongside prophecy, and you see for yourself how well the two match, how accurately Jehovah interprets his own prophecy. In the interests of our salvation, it keeps sharp and faithful focus on Bible truth, and views religious news generally.

"Be watchful in these perilous times", God admonishes. So keep on the watch by regularly reading "The Watchtower".

Poor Street-Lighting Subject of Complaint

The following letter was received after printing of our editorial on the subject of street-lighting (page 3). By coincidence these two articles, quite independent of each other, express the same sentiment at the same time. —(Ed.)

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Why is Lachute so much behind the times in its town management of street-lighting? Pedestrians are subject to accidents through its inefficiency. The lights (apparently about 60 watts), suspended high on poles, illuminate a small surface. They remind one of ancient days when the lamplighter trundged the streets, before electricity was available. Surely higher-power electric bulbs would be more in keeping with the progress of this expanding town.

Yours hopefully,
J. S. Johnston

Morin Heights — The induction of the Rev. Horace G. Baugh was held on Wednesday evening of last week at Trinity Church, Morin Heights. The service was conducted by the Venerable Archdeacon J. F. Morris, of Montreal, assisted by Mr. Cecil O. Thomas, lay-reader. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Cecil Randell, rector of Saint Martin's Church, Montreal, who based his message on the growth of a tree, stressing the fact that the individual members of the Church must grow in grace daily if the Kingdom of God is to be accomplished here on earth.

Representing Christ Church, Mille Isles, and Trinity Church, in presenting the keys of the parish to the new incumbent, were Messrs. Gilbert Ryan, Fred Watchorn, Jack Kennedy and Max Baumel. Sidesmen for the service were Messrs. Robert Goodfellow and Fred Kennedy. Cross-bearers were John Goodfellow and A. Baskin. Organist was Mrs. R. Seale.

Following the service a reception was held for the Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Baugh, tea being served by the Ladies' Guild.

Bridge Tournament

The Lachute bridge club played against St. Jerome in a duplicate bridge "tournament" recently, 18 teams taking part. The soiree was held at the K. of C. hall in St. Jerome.

East-west winning partners were — 1st Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Savard, Lachute; 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, Lachute; 3rd, Mrs. A. St. Vincent and Mr. Jacques de Martigny, St. Jerome.

North-south players winning highest scores were — 1st, Mrs. Louis Bélec and Mr. René Gascon, St. Jerome; 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beaulieu, Lachute; 3rd, Mrs. Léo Huneault and Mr. Louis Lauzon, St. Jerome.

Fallen Power Lines Obstruct Traffic

Just east of the Village of St. Canut yesterday afternoon, a large tree toppled in high winds and tore down a string of 10 poles carrying Gatineau Power Company cables. The disruption occurred at 1.30 o'clock, and traffic was held up for four hours — cars and trucks being re-routed over devious ways to their destinations. Crews from Lachute and St. Jerome worked strenuously to make temporary repairs and clear the highway.

Flying Saucer?

Two ladies conversing at a mailbox on the roadside last week, noticed a flock of turkeys hurrying for shelter as if a hawk was descending upon them. Looking up, the ladies could discern nothing — until, peering high in the sky, they perceived a bright object whirling around, which quickly disappeared out of sight. The observers declare the object was not an airplane.

BIRD SHORTAGE

Port Arthur (CP) — Lakehead hunters report partridge are scarce in the Lakehead area this season. R. D. Windsor, supervisor for the fish and wildlife division, said partridge hunting is "very poor".

Many untimely deaths from heart disease can now be prevented by giving doctors an early opportunity to use methods of diagnosis and care which are constantly being improved through study and research.

Dancing Muscles Don't Spoil Leg

Olivia Hyatt has been dancing for seven of her 17 years, yet her legs were attractively slender enough for her to pose for fashion ads in New York. "I wouldn't have got the job if I hadn't nice legs", she agreed.

Of two attractive careers, modelling and dancing, Miss Wyatt has decided in favor of dancing. Since her successful modelling in Toronto paid for ballet lessons here, she decided to try the same system in New York. It worked here, too, and she appeared in pictures in such top publications as Vogue, McCall's and Mademoiselle.

"But all I really care about is ballet", she said, "and when I go back to New York to study I will take just enough modelling work to support me."

The young dancer has also appeared in a fashion movie for television, but ballet is her first love.

It was a recent criticism, likening dancers' legs to those of ball players, that brought an indignant reply. "Look at mine", she commanded, flouncing her brief, fluffy ballet skirt. "They were thin and it was dancing that really gave them a nice shape".

Exile from Sunnyacres

By Margaret Cook

We are fresh from a struggle with winter clothing for Betty. Somewhere we read of an enterprising woman who began a children's clothing exchange, so that when Jane's coat barely covered her posterior she could take it to the exchange and return with Anne's, who, in turn got Mary's. We commend this idea to some business-woman. The only catch seems to be that ancient difficulty of the diversity of human ideas, or perhaps I should say, ideals. Yesterday, we went a mile across town to view a Red River coat similar to Betty's, only to find a hole in the cuff, a rip at the pocket, the tassels off the sash and other evidences of hard wear. For this prize, one was to pay $7. Judging by the set of Betty's face that all was not well, we wiggled out of the situation as best we could and returned home pondering the ways of mankind.

Today we heard a thoughtful sermon on the disintegration of family life. You, in the rural parts of our country, are fortunate. With you, home is still the centre of living. With us, it is otherwise. Did we use all the "advantages" of urban living, we would seldom see our children. The school absorbs them for the greater part of five days. After school, there are piano lessons, ballet lessons, school movies, Little Helpers (a form of missionary activity), dentist appointments and parties. Those who are not conscientious, have some free time after the evening meal, but those who are, must then attend to their homework — and so to bed. On Saturday, the child may attend interpretive dancing lessons or swimming classes. There even exists an organization which for less than a dollar will take charge of the child for six hours. This includes lunch, and the whole set-up is undoubtedly a boon in those families where both mother and father must work outside the home. The next day, Sunday School teaches the same stories that the child hears five days a week at school, and from there he often goes to church service. If he is lucky, he then has a whole half-day in which to pursue the normal activities of childhood. . .

Now, none of these diversions is bad and some are definitely good; but, good or bad, the fact remains that home becomes merely a place to eat and sleep. Not too much of the former, either, due to the habit of filling up on soft-drinks. As the Rector pointed out, we are rapidly getting back to the Spartan idea, by which boys (the girls were of little account) were taken from their home at the age of nine and became the wards of the State. Of course, Hitler tried this too. Those of you who know your history will recall that in neither case did the State survive very long.

When urban life presses too close upon us, we take refuge in memories of Sunnyacres, whither we hope soon to go on our annual pilgrimage to cut our Christmas tree. How good it is to walk again over the familiar fields, casting an appraising eye at all the young conifers, for it is always a question whether we should cut a spruce, a balsam or a pine. The spruce is the aristocrat, the pine the most beautiful, but the balsam lasts the longest. No matter which we choose, it is sure to be too big when we get it home. The tree that looked like a toy, a very baby tree on the hillside, turns into a giraffe-like monstrosity in the house and has to be cut down and pruned before it will fit into the sunroom.

We also gather crow's foot vine and ground pine to make into swags. Sometimes, risking wet feet, we pick bog cranberries from the margin of Mud Lake. Later, when we meet them in a sauce, they seem the very essence of the things "loved long since and lost awhile".

Then we return in the afternoon sunshine to the old house to have tea and sandwiches around the big range, until the driver prods us into taking the long trail back to the city. We go because we must, but the memory of the golden light on the hills, the young spires of the spruce, the mauvish color of the leafless trees, goes with us to comfort us. Not that we are always dreary in the city; it is different though, to wit — Bertha sneezing emphatically and unexpectedly in the crowded aisle of a department store, only to hear a sympathetic "God bless you" from a dingy little man behind her. And Betty struggling with her Catechism—"The pomps and vanity of this wicked world and all the sinful lusts of the skin!" . . . We smile and correct, and in a moment we are 10 years old and standing respectfully before the Rector in a dim lamp-lit study, answering correctly question after question with what he thought was religious zeal but was really greed, because one had been promised a dollar if all the Catechism were repeated without mistake. We got the dollar from our cynical father and a silver and enamel pin from the Rector. The pin is gone but the memory of the dollar lingers on — so, incidentally, does the text of the Catechism . . . proving that immoral motives sometimes get results.

Motor Official Enjoys Walking

Toronto (CP) — Warren B. Hastings, new general manager of the Ontario Motor League, says he doesn't drive a car himself these days.

"For the first time in my life I'm a pedestrian", he said in an interview. "I'm waiting for the newer models before I start driving again.

"I don't miss my car much, though. Traffic in Toronto has become such a problem that it's a privilege to walk."

He drove Toronto's first car with running-boards. And he wrote Canada's first automobile column, which appeared in the Star Weekly for several years following 1911.

He remembers when gasoline cost nine cents a gallon and when almost any stalled car could be fixed with string and barbed wire.

"Drivers today have it soft", he said. "They jump in the car, press the starter and away they go. But they lose half the fun — if you could call it fun wearing goggles, repairing flats, breathing in dust and never knowing whether you'd make the next hill."

GROWS LARGE FRUIT

Brockville, Ont. (CP) — Albert G. Debruge of the fourth concession came in town this week to display two large pears, among nine produced by a thorn plum tree which he grafted seven years ago. The larger measured 11¼ inches in diameter around the centre and 13 inches in length.

Canada's fresh-water fish are either bottom or surface feeders — they seldom seek food at intermediate levels.

GOVERNOR GENERAL PAYS OFFICIAL VISIT TO LACHUTE

Unveils Civic Memorial Plaque and Officially Opens New Legion Hall

Viscount and Lady Alexander Warmly Welcomed

The visit of the Governor General to Lachute last Saturday, specifically to officiate for the opening of the Legion Memorial Hall, was an event of civic interest and importance — one which went far both in bonding the loyalties of this community and also in emphasizing the personal popularity of Viscount Alexander and his consort, who graciously accompanied the vice-regal visitor. For them it was the first engagement of a busy week-end which included several similar functions in the City of Montreal.

Also in the party were Her Excellency's lady-in-waiting, Miss Gibbs, the Governor-General's personal aide, Major Berridge, and honorary aides, Maj.-General Walford and Air Vice-Marshal McGill.

Disembarking from their special railway coach at around 11 a.m., the party were received by the Mayor and the local Legionnaires forming a guard of honor at the station. The Governor General inspected the guard lined up on the platform. The Legion was also favored on this occasion by the presence of the Provincial Command president, Comrade A. W. Herron.

At Lachute Auditorium — where the Ayers Ltd. brass band in new scarlet uniforms were playing selections for the public during delay in the arrival of the guests —Their Excellencies were received at the entrance by Mayor Leopold Carriere. In the front seats were the city aldermen and their wives. The vice-regal party took their places on the platform and the gathering remained standing while the band played "God Save the King". The Governor General was in the uniform of Honorary Colonel of the Grenadier Guards, his aides also being in the uniforms of their rank and regiment.

Bertrand L'Heureux, with a committee of Chambre de Commerce members, had charge of the seating and other arrangements at the Auditorium; matters were handled to perfection.

On the platform, besides the vice-regal visitors and their retinue, were the Mayor and Mayoress; Legion President Sam Milnes and Mrs. Milnes; Philippe Valois, M.P., and Mrs. Valois; W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., and Mrs. Cottingham; Horace Lamarche, president of the Lions Club; and Dr. R. A. Dumais, president of the Chambre of Commerce.

Mayor Carriere extended a very cordial welcome to Viscount and Lady Alexander in the name of Lachute Town. Speaking in both French and English, he enumerated among the attractions of this centre the "bonne entente" which exists between the people of both racial origins. Although 70 per cent of Lachute's population is now of French descent, it is significant, he said, that by mutual agreement the custom of electing mayors alternately English and French, continues in this town. "I have pleasure in presenting to you the symbolic keys — not only of our hearts, which you already have — but of the Town of Lachute", he said in addressing Their Excellencies.

Safety Note

First-aid kits in the home, factory or office may be more of a danger than help if they are not properly maintained. They should be checked regularly to see that antiseptics have not been used up or evaporated to a dangerous potency, and that bandages are sterile.

Agric. Society Names Directors

The annual meeting of the members of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society was held in the Court House, Lachute, on Tuesday, with over 50 members present.

The president of the Society, Gilbert Arnold, of Grenville, acted as chairman, and the financial statement and auditor's report were presented by the secretary, Alex Bothwell; these reports showed the Society to be in a sound financial condition.

Directors—The County Warden, Gilbert Arnold, Clement Tremblay, C. H. Black, W. H. Robert, George McGibbon, Theodore Murdoch, Gavin Walker, E. K. Wilson, W. M. Wilson, Stuart Armstrong, Albert Stewart, Jas. MacKimmie, Forbes McOuat and Ernest Emmett.

Widespread Damage in Windstorm Throughout District Last Week-End

Gale of Hurricane Velocity Is Worst Experienced in This Area for Many Years

The damage created through this county by last Saturday's windstorm would be difficult to estimate. From all vicinities come stories of roofs ripped from homes and buildings, windows blow in, and trees uprooted, breaking telephone and power lines, obstructing roads and damaging lawns and gardens.

A chapter of frenzy is written in the logs of the public utility companies — the Gatineau Power and Bell Telephone — whose troubles started around 9 p.m. on Saturday as the gale reached its peak, and crews were kept busy in all directions endeavoring to re-establish communications.

Industries were little inconvenienced by the power failure, occurring in the week-end, but homes, stores and places of amusement were without electricity for many hours, and the farmers — who in so many instances today rely on electric power for their chores and dairy operations — these were especially hard hit.

In Lachute Town many fine elm trees were blown down by the gale, doors and windows were torn loose, and roofs loosened and blown down by the relentless wind. One or two examples are the C.P.R. freight shed, damage to the Ste. Anastasie Church, the J. C. Wilson Ltd. warehouse, Antonio Laurin's residence on Grace and Isabella Streets, and other instances are too numerous to mention.

One sidelight of the "wind attack" was the manager of Lachute Golf and Country Club on a mission to purchase 800 candles — the Golf Club's closing dance being an event of that evening. Whether he filled this large-size order, was not ascertained. Among storekeepers there was a widespread hunt for lanterns and old-fashioned oil lamps, which were generally believed to have outlived their sphere of usefulness. Many old-timers came into their own that night as the wicks flickered and candles shed a fitful light to pierce the gloom.

As the wind velocity abated Sunday morning, rain came in its wake to aggravate the property damage. Power disruptions in many areas continued through Sunday until repair crews could get around to re-establishing the circuits.

Five Chimney Fires

The danger of fire — and the possibility of its spreading beyond control — was foremost in the minds of many townsfolk. Although the Lachute brigade responded to five calls for chimney fires in the duration of the windstorm, it is considered by Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon that Lachute fared fortunately in comparison with incidents in other centres of population.

In Outlying Communities

Throughout the countryside there was the same story of havoc.

In St. Andrews East at a large property (the former DeWitt home) owned by Aimé Dorion, tinsmith, the sheet-iron roof was blown off completely. While attempting to secure the roof and avert the loss, Mr. Dorion was hurled against a chimney, suffering injuries to his head and back.

At Kilmar a large portion of the roof was removed from Chris Wheeler's residence. Tarpaulins, procured from the Canadian Refractories plant, were used to cover the gap. . . From The Watchman's district correspondents come paragraphs describing similar havoc on all sides; the following from Arundel is typical. . .

Arundel did not escape the effects of the severe storm which passed over Quebec on Saturday evening. Reports are coming in from all over the vicinity of barn roofs blown off, trees uprooted, and windows broken. Alec Dewar lost six of his fine pines, while the home of Lorne Moore had a large pine tree reposing on its roof in the morning. All telephones were out of commission, as were the lights, and the main fear of the residents of the community was the danger of fire, as insulation was rubbed off the electric wires, causing them to spark dangerously. Few people slept the night through. The Sunday noon train was detained for three hours at Sixteen Island Lake, the cause being a washout at Pine Lake. A number of people from Arundel and Weir were among those stranded, but were fortunate enough to connect with a taxi and were able to reach their homes in a short time. On Monday and Tuesday folks were still busily engaged in cleaning up the debris left in the wake of the storm.

Damage in the Woods

The scene in the surrounding bush country is indescribable. It is reported wide swaths of timber are laid flat, the force of the gale having caught trees even of considerable size, and torn them up by the roots. Drivers of cars and trucks proceeding over wooded roads during Sunday and Monday encountered obstructions on every hand, where trees and fallen branches blocked the roads.

Women's Inst. Branch Meetings

Frontier W.I. branch had 26 members for the November meeting. A paper on Switzerland was read by Mrs. A. Graham. The roll-call was a "shoe penny" — two cents paid per size of the member's shoe. Baskets of fruit were sent to three members who were ill, and a Christmas food parcel was sent to a family in England. A singsong was held, ending with the hymn, "Lord of the Land".

Pioneer branch had an attendance of 15 at their meeting on "Citizenship". The poem, "In Flanders' Fields" was read, and a paper was given on the prevention of tuberculosis. A rug demonstration was planned, to be given by Miss I. Bruneau, of Macdonald College. The sum of $2.24 was realized from a box of candy made and donated by a junior member. A Christmas box was planned for overseas.

Upper Lachute - East End had 18 members for their Remembrance Day program. A contest was held. A quilt made by members is being sent to a Manitoba Institute.

Lachute W.I. had 26 members in attendance. John Fisher, CBC commentator, visited Lachute under auspices of this branch, speaking at the Lachute High School auditorium on "Canada's Great Opportunities". Prizes to the value of $10 and $5 are to be given to pupils in Grades 8, 9, 10 and 11 for the best essay on Democracy. A film was shown, entitled "The Challenge — Science Against Cancer".

At Lakefield, there was an attendance of 12 members to answer the roll-call, "How long have you been married, and what color was your wedding dress?" A report was given on the semi-annual convention. Mr. S. Goldsworthy, guest speaker, gave an interesting talk on Immigration.

Jerusalem - Bethany had 15 members present. The roll-call was, "A Custom of Other Countries". Five dollars was donated to each of the following — County Scholarship prize; Progress prize at Lachute High; Salvation Army Appeal. Also $25 was sent for the W.I. adopted child in England, and $34.75 to the Winnipeg Relief Fund. Two parcels were sent to England for the Christmas season. Interesting articles on citizenship and neighborliness, also the prize-winning essay on "A Country Woman's Day", and the poem, "In Flanders' Fields" were read by the Citizenship convener.

Mille Isles had six members present. The county president, Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, attended this meeting. Two acknowledgment cards were shown, from recipients of two parcels sent overseas. A report of the semi-annual convention was given and a list of the Fair Work exhibits was read. Poppies were sold on behalf of the annual campaign.

The Brownsburg meeting was held November 2 at the Social Club. Mrs. W. Fletcher, convener of Education, was in charge, and there were 38 members and 16 visitors present. This branch entertained the teachers and their wives, and a singsong was led by the music teacher, Mr. S. McKyes. There was a table of antiques, and quite a few old-time curios were shown. . . Miss Ida Bruneau, the new demonstrator from Macdonald College, gave a rug-making course, 15 members of the branch attending.

The roll-call at Morin Heights was, "Give a use for old newspapers". A "military whist" was planned for November 29 to raise funds for the W.I. Mrs. J. Watchorn read a poem for Remembrance Day, "Is it nothing to you!" Arrangements were made for a Christmas party. This being "Publicity" night, Mrs. Robert J. Seale read the essay written by Mrs. A. Graham, of Cushing, "A Country Woman's Day". A thought was given for Remembrance Day: "They are not dead in hearts they leave behind. As long as we remember them — they live". There were 22 members and four guests present.

Note: The Watchman received three of the above reports in note form, sent by the branch secretaries. Please co-ordinate this publicity by reporting direct to the county convener, Mrs. Alvin Heatlie, who forwards the collective county report for publication. — Ed.

Requests Special Session of Assizes

MANY MAJOR TRIALS THIS DISTRICT

A request for a special term of the assizes to be held in St. Jerome in February has been forwarded by Judge Herman Barrette and Chief Crown Prosecutor Lucien Thinel to the Attorney-General in Quebec. The request was made because of the numerous major cases scheduled to be heard by jury.

The fourth manslaughter trial was listed Friday when Paul Emile Brisebois, of Grenville Bay, was ordered to trial on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of David Nault, riding in a taxi owned by A. Servant.

Brisebois was ordered to trial after preliminary hearing. Nault, 52, died from injuries suffered when the taxi struck a parked truck being operated by the accused, on Highway No. 8 between St. Philippe and Grenville.

Evidence showed that Brisebois had had a quantity of alcohol when he took the truck, owned by Rene Laurin, drove it some distance, and had it parked on the highway with no lights showing when the taxi-cab crashed into it.

Police Program At High School

Cst. James Archer with two fellow members of the R.C.M.P. — and their Newfoundland dog in charge of another attaché of the force — gave a program and film presentation before the High School pupils in the new school auditorium here last Monday.

Other police representatives were two provincial officers from Montreal headquarters, members of the traffic patrol and town police, and Lt.-Col. E. Emmett, O.C. of the Frontiersmen for this province.

The theme was that of co-operation between juvenile citizenry and the forces of law and order, emphasizing the role of policemen as friendly, rather than aggressive and punitive.

Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon spoke briefly in the interests of fire prevention, while Chief D. Villeneuve and Ald. Stanley Holt, chairman of the town's fire and police committee, also addressed the children.

Increasing consciousness of the need for game conservation has heightened interest in Sportsmen's Shows in Canada.

Dis. Dep. Governor Visits Lions Club

The visit of District Deputy Governor Bill Shields was the occasion for another enthusiastic turnout of Lions, for the regular Club meeting at Joly's Hotel last week. Mr. Shields was accompanied by District Governor Alf E. Cadman, in an unofficial capacity, and 22 members from Montreal branches of the organization, including three presidents — Ed McLean, Montreal, Norm Bracegirdle, Verdun, and Cy Costello, Lachine-Lakeshore. Another distinguished guest was Lion Dave Amory, a past Canadian president of International.

Lion President Horace Lamarche conducted the proceedings through a full program. . . Mayor Leopold Carriere reported briefly on the railway crossing project, stating there was now every hope of installing signals at Bethany Street — the Lions Club having taken interest in advocating this safeguard. . . Lion Gaetan Valois formally presented the club's plowing trophy to Gilles Charbonneau, of St. Benoit, winner of this award for the second consecutive time. Gilles and his father, also Ben Hammond and Ernest Emmett (president and secretary of the Plowmen's Asociation), were guests at the meeting.

Phil Roy took the salute as "Lion of the Day" — Fernand Legault paying fitting tribute to his consistent good work for Lionism, as a charter member, past-president and an energetic committeeman.

The attendance contest was reviewed by Ian Gordon — Jean Bruno Menard's team being still in the lead; Jos. Joly's line-up was commended for 100% attendance at this particular session.

Jane Hobson, Brilliant Mezzo-Soprano, Stars in Opening Community Concert

In the new setting of the Lachute High School assembly hall, the first performance of Community Concerts Association for this season was held last evening, with the young and talented American singer, Jane Hobson, as the feature artist. Her program was one of tremendous audience appeal, for the selections ranged from opera to semi-classical, from pathos to comedy, and Miss Hobson was much an artist in displaying the changing moods befitting these various compositions. She was accompanied by Mr. Marcel Frank, brilliant pianist-composer.

An 18th century composer Jean-Batiste Weckerlin was the choice of Miss Hobson's first group of French songs, followed by Franz Schubert's "Ave Maria", in Latin, which was one of the most beautiful renditions of the performance. Schubert's "Die Forelle" (The Trout), was sung in German — a light musical composition of wide appeal. The well-known "Lullaby", by Brahms, was highly acclaimed by the audience, which was followed by a more stirring composition by the same composer.

An Aria from Verdi's "Don Carlos", "O don fatale", gave the vocalist an opportunity to excel in the more dramatic grand opera, and Miss Hobson gave a fine interpretation.

After the intermission the accompanist, Mr. Frank, gave three piano solos by Schubert, Beethoven and Ravel. These were well received by the audience, and Mr. Frank responded with a Spanish dance for an encore.

The last half of the performance featured a selection from "Mignon", and "Après un Rêve" by Gabriel Faure, followed by "Les Papillons" by Chausson, and compositions by Hahn and Dubussy. The diversity of these compositions gave the artist full scope to show why Stokowski and Toscanini have chosen Miss Hobson for solo performances with their respective orchestras.

After singing in four languages, Miss Hobson chose for her final group several English selections, "In the Silence of the Night", "Comin' Thro' the Rye", "Think on Me", and "Love". Several curtain calls brought this fine American performer to the stage, and she graciously responded with many encores.

The officers of Lachute Community Concerts Association are to be highly commended for their first performance of the season, and this fine quality of music will no doubt be equally exemplified in the next concert on January 9, when Ricardo Odnoposoff, concert violinist, will be the artist.

Following the recital, the artists were guests of the Association directors at a reception in the Hotel Laurentien.

Two Motorists Injured In Crash at Stonefield

To the crop of accidents on the Carillon-Grenville stretch of Route 29, another was added last Monday evening, when two Hawkesbury men, in their early twenties, crashed into the cement wall of a bridge east of Stonefield.

The accident occurred around 7 p.m. Claude Brosseau, the driver, suffered two fractures above the knee, while Noel Larocque sustained a broken nose and facial contusions, also a sprained foot. They were taken to Hawkesbry hospitals for treatuent.

The car, which was proceeding west to Hawkesbury, plunged over the low wall into a creek, a drop of about five feet, into two feet of water. The auto, a 1949 model, was completely wrecked.

Traffic Officer Albert Legault investigated.

Historic Occasion in British Parliament

The new Chamber of the House of Commons was opened at Westminster in the presence of visitors from overseas Legislatures and other distinguished guests. After the ceremony the Lords and Commons went to Westminster Hall, where the King replied to Addresses from both Houses. The scene is pictured in the above photograph.

SOUNDS LOGICAL

Vancouver (CP) — A 62-year-old thief convulsed police court when asked to explain his obsession. The court noted that it was the accused's sixth shoplifting attempt this year, and three of them were for stealing wrenches. "Well, you konw, Your Worship", said the prisoner, "quite often a fellow wants to tighten a nut."

Wadena, Sask. (CP) — Capt. Thomas H. Benwell of New Westminster, B.C., 100-year-old veteran of the U.S. civil war, has been visiting his daughter here. He planned to return home by train, alone. He was an aide with the union forces at the age of 13.

Gatineau LINES

Inexpensive Workers

Recently Gatineau Lines described how readers could find out exactly how much electricity their various household appliances use, and so in turn determine how much each appliance costs to operate. For the benefit of those who might like to know but who didn't get around to working it out for themselves, we are presenting the capacity in watts of a few of the most commonly-used appliances.

It will be understood that these figures are average ones — and that some variation may be found in different makes and different sizes of appliances.

The average washing machine used in the territory served by Gatineau uses 255 watts — which means it will run for almost four hours on one kilowatt (1,000 watts) of electricity. The average water heater, however, uses 2,500 watts, so it would run just over 20 minutes on one kilowatt hour of power. The average vacuum cleaner uses 275 watts, the average toaster 940 watts and the average waffle iron 840 watts.

Most hot plates run on 1,080 watts and stoves have elements which may total as much as 10,800 watts when all are used at once, but most refrigerators use only 210 watts, and home freeze units need only 240 — which seems to prove that it is a lot easier to keep food cool than to keep it hot.

Standard irons use 1,000 watts, and ironing machines need 1,500. Those are big amounts when compared with the 100 watts needed to run a radio or radio-phonograph, the 75 watts used by a sewing machine, the 15 watts which run an electric razor or the two little watts required by an electric clock.

And with winter beginning to make itself felt, it might be nice to know that an electric blanket needs only 190 watts to make it nice and cozy.

With those figures you might like to see what your own appliances cost to run. Just remember that it takes 1,000 watts used for a full hour to make up one kilowatt hour — and that the average cost of a kilowatt hour in the territory served by Gatineau Power is only about two cents.

Farm Topics

The Farmer and Soil Conservation

The farmer and the government should share the costs of soil conservation measures. This was the opinion expressed by 62% of the 879 Farm Forum groups that met November 6 to discuss the topic, "Who Should Pay for Soil Conservation?"

The government should pay, said 17 per cent of the Forums. Another 12 per cent said the farmer should bear the expense himself. Only 4 per cent (these were all in Eastern Canada) claimed that soil conservation measures were not needed in their communities. The remaining 5 per cent of the Forums were uncertain, had divided opinions or did not answer.

Some of the groups that thought the cost should be shared by farmer and government, stated that the farmer should pay for projects on his own farm and the government should pay for large-scale projects. A number of Forums thought the government should make available soil survey services, free technical advice, and heavy machinery such as bulldozers. All levels of government were indicated as being responsible for soil conservation assistance.

The Forums suggested that public support for soil conservation projects could best be secured by the farmers themselves through group efforts, and by educational programs such as films, Farm Forum discussions, demonstrations, and publicity in general.

"It must start with the farmers themselves, getting together as in a forum and discussing the problem", said Little Shemoque Farm Forum in New Brunswick.

"We think the only way to gain support for projects of this kind would be through education of the people through literature, films, newspapers and any other means available", was the opinion of Emerald Forum, Saskatchewan.

Self-Feeding Of Baby Beef

Ottawa — Some Calf Club members have had trouble in getting their calves to eat sufficient chop, with the result that the calves are not fat enough to do themselves justice on the day of the show. In such cases the calf may lack good beef type, but the feeding may be at fault.

The hand feeding of cattle for fattening is not difficult for the professional feeder; but for the inexperienced, the common pitfall is to feed too liberally, particularly at the start, or to make changes in quantity or mixture too rapidly. Such feeding leads to reduced consumption and slow gains. In hand feeding, any chop left in the trough twenty minutes after feeding should be removed.

If the same person does the feeding, or if the feeding schedule is not regular, the self-feeder method offers a solution as to quantity, says E. Van Nice, Experimental Station, Scott, Saskatchewan. It is, however, necessary to make changes in mixture gradually.

Once the self-fed calf is on full feed, he remains on full feed for the entire period without the risk of over feeding at any time.

During the winter of 1949-50 at the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott, Saskatchewan, three steers and one heifer averaging 598 pounds at the start were self-fed individually for 171 days and made an average gain of 328 pounds per head. After careful starting, for a few weeks, this feeding was done without any anxiety as to when and how much the chop should be increased.

A calf, just off pasture, which has never eaten chop, should for the first two weeks be given only about a half pound twice a day and many feeders favor the use of equal parts of whole oats and bran at first. The calf should eat about two pounds of hay to one of chop.

After two or three weeks the calf should be given straight oat chop and nearly all that it wants. If the self-feeder is to be used, a little more oat chop may be given daily until at the end of the three-week period, the chop is before the calf continually in the self-feeder; then a supply for a week or more may be given. It has been found that a medium coarse grind is more suitable than very fine chop.

After the calf is well started on the self-feeder, a small quantity of barley or wheat chop may be introduced and well mixed with the oat chop. This proportion may be gradually increased until at the end of two or three months the mixture consists of barley and oat chop equal parts by weight. For a high finish add five per cent linseed oilmeal to the end of the feeding period and slowly increase the proportion of barley or wheat to two pounds for each pound of oats.

The roughage at this stage is often one pound to four pounds of chop in hand feeding, but in self-feeding the amount depends upon the quality and kind of roughage.

Loose salt and plenty of clean water from which the chill has been removed are essentials.

MORE THAN A MILLION CANADIANS PAY ACCOUNTS BY 'B of M' CHEQUE

Every day, every office of the Bank of Montreal handles hundreds and thousands of cheques. Some cover business transactions of millions of dollars, others are used to settle personal accounts of just a dollar or two. All over the country, people in every walk of life find it convenient to carry a B of M cheque book.

When you pay your bills by cheque, you avoid the time-wasting round of stores or offices. The stubs give you an exact record of how much you've spent, and your cashed and cancelled cheques, which your bank will return on request, serve as your receipts.

It's safer, too. If you have the misfortune to lose bills or coin, you may or may not find your money again. But you can't lose the money in your B of M account, and no cheque is worth a cent until you have signed it.

Donald Hay, manager of the Bank of Montreal branch at Lachute, cordially invites you to open an account at his office. Try out for yourself the merits of a B of M chequing account.

Viscount Alexander of Tunis

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S visit to Lachute leaves in our memory an impression of warmth and friendliness — qualities through which Their Excellencies both have endeared themselves to Canadians, wherever their sometimes arduous round of activities has led them. Performing their duties with the decorum and dignity required of their high office, they have yet the faculty of minimizing all barriers of rank and mingling as equals with their fellow men and women. In a welcome voiced by Mayor Leopold Carriere here last Saturday, he aptly expressed the public sentiment which rejoiced in Their Excellencies' extended term of appointment. Britain could not conceivably have commissioned a more democratic or more suited couple as representatives of royalty in this dominion.

Field Marshal Alexander, like his great contemporary, Field Marshal Montgomery, comes from Northern Ireland. The third son of the fourth Earl of Caledon, he was born in 1891, served in the 1914-18 war (in the Irish Guards) with great distinction and later in India. His feats of the 1939-45 war, from his masterly part in the Dunkirk evacuation to his reception of the surrender of a million Germans in 1945, are a matter of record still clear in our memory. It was in 1946 that Alexander was appointed Governor General of Canada — his term having been just recently extended till the spring of 1952.

Viscount Alexander has made known his intentions to "take up farming in real serious style" when his official duties end, and with this is view he has bought himself a country home 23 miles outside London. . . Speaking here on Saturday, he recalled with pleasant memory one of his first engagements on arrival in Canada — the opening of the Lachute Spring Fair in 1946. His heart is in the great outdoors — we like to picture him breathing the aroma of pine-clad Gatineau hills — or on his prospective retirement, happy in the supervision of his English estate. . . And in his appreciation of these things, we even hope he may retain some happy recollection of this good old county, Argenteuil.

Football Fever

PERHAPS some future generation will wonder what all the shouting was about.

But to the many thousands of Canadians afflicted with football fever there was nothing strange about the mounting wave of excitement that emanated from Toronto and held the imagination of citizens in every part of the Dominion that could be reached by a radio broadcast.

To them, the shortage of Grey Cup tickets drowned out war, inflation and politics as a topic of conversation. If they talked about the weather, they wondered about climatic conditions on a small patch of ground surrounded by 27,000 hard, backless, wooden seats in west-central Toronto.

It is a foregone conclusion that when the House of Commons resumes its sessions early next year, an honorable member will rise from his seat to ask the Speaker if he is aware that a team from the member's locality has succeeded in winning the Dominion football championship.

The Central School Unit

AN AUTHORITY on education, John A. B. McLeish, of Cornell University, includes in a current article some interesting observations on school centralization — which during the past few years has been a matter of immediate concern to this community. We cite the following paragraph as worthy of repetition:

"It is plain wisdom in a country such as Canada", writes Mr. McLeish, "where one has to contend with the problems raised by relatively small numbers of students scattered across the open areas of the provinces, to support consolidation and centralization wherever feasible. This is evident in Quebec, where the dispersed Protestant school population hardly exceeds that of a populous town in Great Britain and the United States. To consolidate many tiny school districts into larger ones, and then to bring several of these larger units into central districts, has the evident advantages of providing larger pools of students and of taxpayers so that facilities may be provided which otherwise would be impossible in these districts. There is need to remember, however, that centralization is not a cure-all in itself, and that it indeed brings problems of its own. Such districts need to work under the guidance of clearly defined objectives; they need to work selectively in this regard so that financial resources available may be devoted to educational needs of the highest priority in value. There are other questions which must concern those who are interested in the success of these key areas in Canadian education. To what extent is financial support being provided for their developing programs? Is there a greater need for supervisory assistance from the provincial departments concerned? Is there a greater need for training facilities for teachers in special categories, as for example in home economics, manual training, agriculture, and in the field of handicapped children, and how is this need to be met? All in all, one feels that there is a real need for greater appreciation among the lay public of how crucial the role of central districts can be in Canadian education, and of greater support for their efforts as demonstrated by systematic evaluation and planning."

The Old Stump Fence

By R. J. Deachman

The stump fence was one of the greatest institutions of pioneer days. It separated farms and fields, it kept the cattle in their proper place. Socially speaking it may not have been a thing of beauty nor a joy forever. It was not suitable for a roadside fence. It needed ample room but there was a strange nostalgic touch about it which makes me love to think of it.

• • •

Today, as I write, the sun is clear, the air is warm for this time of year. There is a slight haze. It carries me back, in imagination, to the old farm in Huron County on which I was born. The stump fences are now a wistful memory. They have disappeared. I was born too late to see them at their best. They must have been magnificent in earlier days, but they had lost their pristine glory, they have almost ceased to exist. What can I write of a civilization which eliminates the stump fence and gives us barbed wire?

There were sound economic reasons for the stump fence in those days. Labor was cheap, the land had to be cleared. They dug around the stumps, pried them of the men who built it. The roots pulled out the stumps by horse power. At times there was a little help from gunpowder. Our pioneers were economists, labor was cheaper than gunpowder. The pioneer was poor but he knew how to work and get maximum effort out of the hired man. The fence had a broad base depending on the size of the stumps and the courage of the men who built it. The rots faced outward presenting a formidable barrier. Heaven help the man or boy who tried to climb a stump fence. Look again at one of these fences. It's a memory worth preserving.

The soil where these fences were built was lush. Flowers grew where the sun pierced through. Cattle and horses treated the stump fence with respect. Sometimes it was a fence in part only. The farmer had put beneath it a wall of stones. This, of course, was before he decided on a stump fence. Stone fences took too much time to build but whether bottomed by stones or resting on virgin soil the stump fence was efficient. Like the men who made it, in time, the stump fence passed away. Those who once knew it, knew it no more. The stumps started to decay, it ceased to be a favorite. Those who once knew it well, spoke of it in tones of Arthur Godfrey discussing tea bags.

But the memory lingers! There was a glory in those old stump fences. Raspberry bushes and wild strawberries sprang up beside them, they loved the shelter and the warmth. It was a playground for the squirrels and chipmunks. The groundhog also took shelter under it, stamped his feet when human footfalls neared his fortress home.

The berries were sweeter than the berries of the open field, the flowers had a deeper, richer color. Now when we buy berries we get the taste of the box, the bottom seems terribly close to the top. If I live long enough I will buy a farm in Huron County, turn it back to bush in memory of the pioneers. Then I will build a stump fence. It will be modelled after the best of the past. On sunny days I will go out and lie down beside the stump fence, read again the stories I have written about country life and see how close, in age, reality can come to the dreams of childhood.

My daughter-in-law lives on our plantation near Charleston, S.C., and her father lives in Alabama, some 400 miles away. Some time ago he offered to give her two Jersey calves if she would come for them. The only difficulty was that our farm trailer had no license, but my daughter-in-law rose above that.

Tying a Confederate flag to the trailer, she drove in something like a triumph through the states of South Carolina, Georgia, and Alabama. Every time she passed a highway cop she pointed proudly to the flag, sounded her horn and stepped on the accelerator.

The figure of $818,107,524.13 represents the total assets of The Bank of Nova Scotia as at October 31st, 1950.

What did this active money do? Part of it—$81,858,536.22 to be exact—was held by the Bank in the form of cash, for the Bank's day to day operations.

Another part of it was loaned to the Dominion and other governments of Canada, the provinces and counties, cities and towns. This money helped to build schools, roads, bridges, waterworks, parks, public buildings and to provide a variety of community services. A total of $249,620,156.88 was on loan in various forms to these public bodies.

But the biggest part was put to work by thousands upon thousands of individuals and companies. These people, alone and in groups, borrowed John Smith's, Mrs. Brown's and Dr. Jones' money to buy machines, materials, stores, and buildings or to provide working capital, so that they could make and sell in increasing abundance all the varied things that all of us want and use in our daily lives.

Farmers, for instance, were able to improve their livestock, to build new barns or acquire new equipment because they were able to borrow part of the money entrusted to the Bank.

Companies were able to grow and make more and better jobs.

That part of the Bank's assets being used for all these varied loans, both in Canada and abroad, totalled $366,724,962.74.

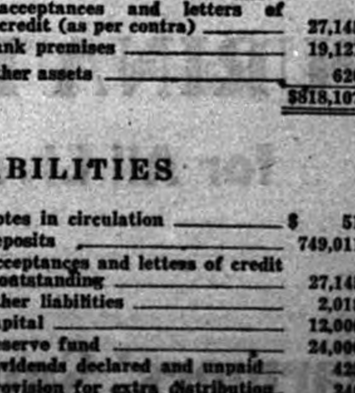

Yes, $818,107,524.13 is a lot of money. But, through the services of The Bank of Nova Scotia, Canadians across the land, by putting this money to work for themselves, were able to serve the best interests of every Canadian.

OBITUARY

Death Removes One of Oldest Members of St. Simeon's Church

The Late Samuel T. Rogers

Early Monday morning, November 27, the death occurred after a brief illness, of Samuel T. Rogers.

Son of the late Frederick Rogers and Hannah Scott, the deceased was born at Mille Isles on October 3, 1867. In 1896 he married Lucinda Woods, and moved to the farm on Dunany Road where he lived until his death. His wife predeceased him 14 years ago, also an infant son, Norman.

The late Mr. Rogers was one of the oldest members of the St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, where the funeral was held this afternoon (Thursday), conducted by the Rev. C. R. Lang.

Left to mourn the loss of a devoted father are two sons and three daughters, Randolph, Benjamin, of Truro, N.S., Mrs. Gordon Pollock (Lillian), Mrs. Allan Griffith (Irene), Mrs. Stewart Hume (Margaret), all of Lachute. He is survived also by eight grandchildren, one great grandchild, and by his brother, Benjamin, of Lachute.

Cushing West

Mrs. A. E. Usher is spending a few days in Ottawa this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas and daughter, Linda, motored to Montreal on Saturday with a party of "young friends" to attend the Santa Claus parade—the group including the Misses Grace Donaldson, Vivian Heatlie, Myrtle and Myrna Gaston, and Masters Kenneth and Arthur Gauley.

Mr. Henry Villeneuve, of Montreal, spent Sunday with his wife and family.

Several from this district — including Mr. and Mrs. V. Elliott, Mr. R. Hampton, Mr. C. Grece and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Vowles — were present at the opening of the Canadian Legion Memorial Hall in Lachute, where the official ceremonies were performed by Their Excellencies Viscount and Lady Alexander.

Storm Severe

The storm on Saturday, though not so violent as that in other sections, was accompanied by a wind of the highest velocity felt here for many years, and a great deal of damage was done to standing timber, especially in sections along the riverfront.

"I Can't Wait!"

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

November comes down off the calendar — the Christmas month is here at last. In how many homes children — and young people — and grown ups, too, are exclaiming "I can't wait until the 25th!"

Waiting is never easy. For the very young, it is exceedingly trying. Have you ever watched a small child in a station waiting with his mother or dad for a train to pull in?

Lives in the Present

Small children are eager to learn how to read the time on a clock, but the concept of time is difficult for boys and girls. A little youngster lives in the present. Tomorrow is a long time away — and a whole week seems a great distance off. He tries to measure time into "long sleeps" or night time, and "awake" or day time. How can he be sure that tomorrow or next week will ever really come?

In this modern world much emphasis is placed on speed and getting things done quickly. Parents sometimes forget that one lesson is — that waiting is sometimes unavoidable.

The child who whines that he can't wait and pleads to "open just one present" is very unpleasant company. He should be given a time of isolation by himself in his own room until he can act in a more sociable way.

If his parents give in to his wheedling, they are doing him no kindness. He misses some of the very special joy of Christmas morning, which is every youngster's heritage. Part of the price of the Big Occasions in life is being patient for the Special Day to arrive.

In adolescent life the boy who cannot wait to have his own money in his pocket, stops school as soon as he is sixteen, and gets whatever job he can. The responsible positions with opportunities for service and increasing salaries go to the men who have waited for full time employment, until their education was completed.

Learn to Wait

Parents fail their children if they do not show in their actions and teach that true happiness comes to those who have learned to wait, to work and discipline themselves to attain worthwhile goals. Nature has made the sex urge strong and insistent, but marriage is forth waiting for.

One of the marks of maturity is the ability to wait. Some people never learn it. But it is a lesson which should be learned in early childhood. In a [illegible] where an orderly routine is followed it is easier for a child to learn this art. If he has learned to stand the brief discomfort of being hungry while he waits for dinner to be put on the table, he is discovering that, unpleasant as it is—if necessary, he CAN wait!

Governor General Pays Official Visit Here For Inaugural of Legion Memorial Hall

The Governor General thanked the Mayor for the pleasure he had expressed in the extension of his term of office. He and Viscountess Alexander "found themselves completely at home" in this country, among Canadians of French and Anglo-Saxon origin. He wished happiness and prosperity to Lachute and its citizens — afterwards repeating his remarks in the French tongue.

His Excellency was then asked to unveil the civic memorial plaque to fallen heroes of the Second Great War. "No doubt many of your sons and husbands", he said, in addressing the audience, "served under my command. . . And I am always glad to have the privilege of paying tribute to the gallant men who served and sacrificed". He then dedicated the plaque "to the glory of God and those who gave their lives".

During the proceedings, flowers were presented to Viscountess Alexander by Miss Terry Lavis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lavis, and to the lady-in-waiting by little Bonnie Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Barry (the latter being president of Legion 70 Women's Auxiliary). The ceremonies closed with "O Canada", and the crowd remained standing while the vice-regal party left the hall.

Later, at the Lachute Golf and Country Club, about 100 citizens and ladies were presented to Their Excellencies, who stood in the organ alcove of the club lounge and graciously shook hands as the people were introduced. The Governor General remarked favorably on the well-appointed clubhouse and the surroundings in which the reception was held. Gilbert E. Ayers, president of the Golf Club, was host at this function.

• • •

Coming to the climax of this auspicious visit — at the Legion Memorial Hall on Foundry Street, the Governor General and his wife were accompanied on the platform by the Legion president, Sam Milnes, and Mrs. Milnes.

Comrade Milnes very ably welcomed the Viscount and Viscountess. "It is impossible for me to express our pleasure in welcoming Your Excellency and Viscountess Alexander on this occasion", he said. "It is very fitting that a soldier of your distinction should officiate for the opening of our hall. Those of our comrades who did not return, would scarcely desire monumental buildings and palaces erected in their honor. All they would ask would be that sometimes in simplicity we remember them. . . It is in this spirit that our boys have built this structure and have invited Your Excellency to declare it officially open".

"I have been informed of the history of this hall", said the Governor General in reply. "I have heard of the work, the contributions of money and equipment; and I congratulate you, not only on this handiwork for your own use, but on this fitting memorial to your comrades. . . I shall always remember the honor and privilege I had of commanding your Canadian soldiers in battle — I owe my victories to them, among others, and I count it a privilege to pay tribute to their gallantry. May you and those of your community long enjoy the facilities of this fine hall". The Governor General also addressed the audience in French.

During an inspection of the building, His Excellency signed the guest book and was introduced to a number of the veterans in the recreation room, where he chatted informally with them in the brief time at his disposal.

Out of this the bank provided $1,203,922 for depreciation and $1,045,000 for Dominion and Provincial taxes. After paying dividends to shareholders and providing for an extra distribution of 20 cents per share, $377,542 was added to Profit and Loss Account.

Demonstrate Turbine-Engined Launch

The demonstration on the River Thames of a gas-turbine launch showed the advantage of this method of propulsion in an almost complete absence of vibration, while the noise was also considerably less than that of a similar craft fitted with piston engines. The problem of high fuel consumption must be solved before the gas turbine engine can be considered practicable for commercial use.

NEW TELEPHONE RATES

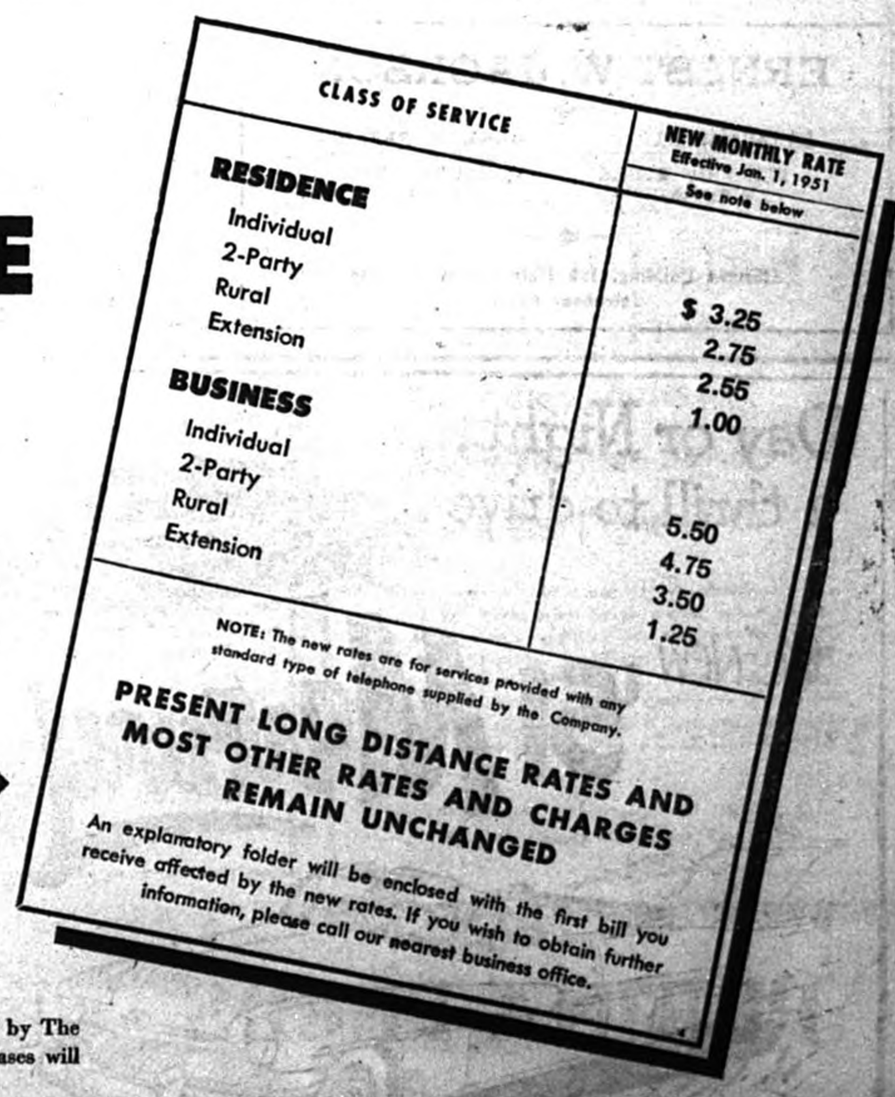

EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1, 1951

The Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada has rendered judgment on the application we made in October, 1949 for our first general rate increase in 23 years. The Board has now ordered new rates that will replace the temporary rates which it authorized in its interim order last July.

PRESENT LONG DISTANCE RATES AND MOST OTHER RATES AND CHARGES REMAIN UNCHANGED

An explanatory folder will be enclosed with the first bill you receive affected by the new rates. If you wish to obtain further information, please call our nearest business office.

FAIR and REASONABLE RATES

These rates will adjust the temporary rates ordered by The Board of Transport Commissioners last July, and in most cases will result in only small differences.

While some rates will increase, others will not change. The changes and adjustments provide reasonable rates that will fairly reflect the difference in value of the various classes of service.

IMPROVEMENT and GROWTH TO CONTINUE

The additional revenue from the new rates will enable us to maintain and improve your service and to keep pace with growth in the territory we serve. We will keep on working to give the kind of service you want, when and where you want it.

TELEPHONE SERVICE MORE VALUABLE

Today more of your friends have telephones than ever before. You can call more people and more can call you. More telephones and better service mean bigger value for you.

The cost of telephone service has not gone up as much as most other things you buy. The telephone bill is one of the small items in your family budget. When you think of its many advantages, telephone service certainly gives you big value for your money.

FLOWER-LOVING DEER AMONG N.B. ODDITIES

Hampton, N.B. (CP) — Here are a few of the oddities that New Brunswick sportsmen came upon this fall:

While A. B. Copp of Quispansis was driving near here, an 11-point 250-pound buck hurtled from a high bank and landed on the hood of his car. The whitetail caught his leg behind the front bumper and broke it. Then, as he kicked and struggled, he cut his throat on the undercarriage.

One day's hunting in the Sevogle river area of Northumberland County brought G. A. (Jeff) Richards of Fredericton two bears, a deer, an owl and several partridge.

Over the Fundy National Park in Albert County, where deer are protected, a buck with a taste for flowers is posing a problem. Expensive flower beds are his special targets. Park officials mutter dourly but cannot seem to shoo the snipping deer away.

PUPS IN QUANTITY

Cochrane, Ont. (CP) — Fred Waldron's German police dog is a believer in the "cheaper by the dozen" theory. Duchess is the mother of 12 puppies. Parents were said checking suspicious bulges in children's parkas lest an extra puppy be smuggled in.

'Humanized' Statement By Bank of Montreal

Montreal, Nov. 27 — Passing the half-billion dollar mark in current loans for the first time in its history, the Bank of Montreal published its 1950 annual report in a simple, clear, humanized form of statement—free from the mystery traditionally attached to bank statements.

In presenting its annual statement in terms which anyone can understand, the B of M continues the course it has pioneered for six years. Unique among bank statements, the report aims to inform all Canadians, and B of M customers in particular, of the bank's operations in employing its two-billion-dollar resources, and it points up the responsible role of the banker as the man who brings together the people who save money and the people who borrow it.

Busy People Make Busy Dollars

"A special Message to Customers of the B of M", as the 183rd annual report is entitled, brings the reader right into the picture from the outset, with the heading: "Your Two Billion Dollars are Busy . . working with Canadians in every walk of life."

The statement explains that "this is the money that you and 1,800,000 other B of M customers have on deposit at our branches across the nation", and points out how hundreds of millions of this vast sum are loaned to private citizens — to farmers, merchants and manufacturers — and to public institutions ranging from governments and school boards to hospitals and churches.

This plain talk holds good throughout the report, breaking down imposing figures into the simple facts about people that they reflect. The statement is also brightened by the thumbnail sketches which have become a familiar hall-mark of B of M annual reports in recent years.

Loans and Deposits Rise To Record Figures

Rising more than $40 million in a year, the bank's loans to business, governments and individuals now stand at $528,000,000 — the highest year-end figure in its history — refecting the growing financial needs of business and industry.

Deposits with the B of M, in the names of 1,800,000 customers, have risen to a new high this year, and amount to $2,062,000,000, an increase of $43,000,000 since 1949.

PROVIDE MORE WATER

Moncton, N.B. (CP) — An additional 200,000,000 gallons of water will be available when enlargement of the McLaughlin Road reservoir is completed shortly. Over the years the reservoir level has been built up from 130 feet to its present 152 feet.

NEW HOSPITAL

Fort William (CP) — McKellar General Hospital board is calling tenders for construction of a $1,000,000, 142-bed addition to the present building.

Canadians own more than two million motor vehicles of all kinds, according to this year's vehicle registrations.

Dis. Deputy Governor Visits Lions Club

Alf Cadman was called upon to make several presentations — to Past-President Herbert Rigg, and to leaders in the membership drive, namely Jos. Joly, Gabriel Valois, André Lefebvre, Geo. Tattersfield and President Horace Lamarche, who all received attractive ashtrays bearing the club crest.

Lion Edward Jones was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange the reception for Their Excellencies and the vice-regal party, on their visit to Lachute which took place on Saturday.

Three vice-presidents — Ralph FitzGerald, Robt. Marcil and Ed Jones — reported on different departments of activity during the first quarter of the club year.

District Deputy Governor

District Deputy Governor Bill Shields, as principal speaker, told much of interest regarding the Lions organization. "International", he said, was not something different or apart from its branches; it was essentially a part of every individual Lions Club, and a bond which links every member to the members of all the clubs. The "International Association of Lions Clubs of Canada (Ltd.)" is now in process of procuring a charter. This body has an important function in unifying the aims and co-ordinating the efforts of all Lions groups in this country. There are 353 Lions Clubs in Canada today — 17,000 members, with 11,000 of these in District "A".

During the past four years, said Mr. Shields, 3,200 new Lions Clubs have been inaugurated in different countries, an average of 800 each year. The speaker also described the organization's headquarters, "Lions International City", located 12 miles south of Chicago city limits, where 400 acres of property, owned outright, has been incorporated in the name of Lionism, being operated by an executive body under the International board of directors.

The speaker was introduced by Past-President Herbert Rigg and thanked by Lion Bernard Massicotte. . The latter, as "Tail Twister", levied a lucrative toll on the evening's offenders, while Secretary Jos. Dumais catalogued the proceedings.

Make "Play" Money

. Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — They print more "money" here than they do in Washington or Ottawa — play money for children.

Joe Grimland says his firm makes about 90 per cent of the toy money manufactured in the United States, and it looks pretty good even to grown-ups.

Grimland, 28, got acquainted with Jacksonville during the war when he was in the navy. He thinks he's the first to start printing play money on a business-like scale, but anyway he got orders for scads of it, so he must have been.

That started him off two years ago with himself and one other. Now the plant has 70 employees night and day. Their product goes all over the country and abroad.

C-I-L Paint Dealer Gets Surprise Lesson From Customer

It all happened in GORDON McOUAT'S hardware store in Lachute. ANITA ROCHON, of Main Street, Brownsburg, went to buy a paint brush to touch up some kitchen furniture in her home. Anita works for C-I-L so, of course, she went to a C-I-L paint dealer.

Imagine Gordon's surprise when he found that Anita knew more about the nylon bristled brushes he showed her than he did himself! Here's the reason.

Anita is an inspector in the Nylon Department at Brownsburg. There she sees that all the nylon which leaves the plant is the right diameter, has the correct taper, and is of even length. No wonder she knows a lot about nylon bristled paint brushes!

Anita is one of the men and women who work with C-I-L in Brownsburg producing not only a complete range of sporting ammunition but also many other chemical products such as nylon bristles, blasting caps, industrial cartridges, railway signals and nylon lines and leaders.

This is another example of C-I-L "Serving Canadians Through Chemistry".

"No New Thing Under the Sun"

Three thousand years ago Solomon sagely observed, "There is no new thing under the sun". (Ecclesiastes 1:9). The soundness of his conclusion is constantly being confirmed by discoveries of modern science. These reveal that such highly boasted achievements as jet propulsion, radar, artificial lighting, engineering, navigation and aviation were being expertly employed by various animals, birds and fish millenniums before their "discovery" by man. Surely this is the handiwork of a Master Creator, not the haphazard development of evolution.

An abundance of supporting proof is found in the 64-page, colored-cover booklet "Evolution versus the New World". Sent postpaid for only 5c a copy. — Write: Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Federation Asks Quebec for More Game Warden Squads

Tourists Answer Questionnaire

By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, Nov. 28 (CP) — The Quebec Federation of Fish and Game last week-end agreed there was much improvement in wild-life conservation and repopulation, but asked the provincial government for more fish and game reserves and bird sanctuaries.

In his report to the two-day convention, attended by delegates from 270 clubs, retiring President Benoit Bertrand said there had been improvement generally last year in the enforcement of game and fish laws.

He said the provincial department of game and fisheries had made important contributions in the biological field. These include a new fish hatchery in Lachine; two ringing stations at Ste. Marguerite Island in Montmagny county and at Ile Plate, near Sorel; and the pheasant breeding station at Mount Orford in the Eastern Townships.

The federation, which elected President Bernard Castonguay of Quebec for the coming year, asked for the establishment of a bird sanctuary in the Lake St. John district and enlargement of the Lachine fish hatchery and the Chateauguay sanctuary.

The federation also asked for more flying squads of game wardens to enforce fish and game laws.

Labor Minister Barrette, who spoke at the convention banquet for Hon. Camille Pouliot, Minister of Game and Fisheries, en route from Rome, said that tests conducted at Valleyfield and at Vaudreuil - Soulanges indicated that a plan for the breeding of Hungarian partridges in Quebec could succeed.

The federation also urged the formation of a conference of fish and game experts to study control of animals harmful to Quebec wild-life. The conference would include delegates from Quebec, and neighboring provinces and northeastern United States.

A questionnaire distributed among United States tourists by the Quebec Chamber of Commerce shows that 92 per cent of them are satisfied with what they have seen in French Canada.

The Chamber, which placed 5,000 questionnaires in restaurants, hotels and other places where tourists gather, said eight per cent answered "No" to the question, "Are you satisfied?" The rest said they were satisfied.

About 10 per cent of the questionnaires brought replies. Opinions were asked about accommodation, prices charged them, and general results of their visits.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Ministerial Association

The Protestant Ministerial Association met in regular session Monday at the home of the Rev. S. J. Pike, Brownsburg.

The Rev. G. T. Spriggs led the devotional period, taking as his subject the Salutation of St. Paul to the Roman Christians (Rom. 1: 1-7). "The Messenger of God" — Paul, who had seen Jesus and was separated to the ministry. "The Message" — the Gospel of God founded on Holy Scripture. "The Message Subject" — God's son, Jesus Christ our Lord. "The Recipients of the Message" — those called Saints of God.

The secretary was asked to arrange with the Quebec Religious Education Council for a Teacher Training Course, open to all Sunday School teachers in this neighborhood.

The Rev. N. H. Brock, of Maple Avenue Baptist Church, Brownsburg, was welcomed as a member of the Association.

Arrangements were made for observance of the Universal Week of Prayer, to be held January 8-12 inclusive. Further details will be published in December. The public are asked to reserve the evenings above mentioned and plan to attend the meetings at Brownsburg and Lachute.

The Purpose of "The Watchtower"

Literal towers in Bible times were elevated vantage points from which watchmen could observe happenings, warn of danger, or announce good news. Our magazine figuratively occupies such a vantage point, for it is founded on the very pinnacle of wisdom, God's Word. That elevates it above racial, national and political propagandas and prejudices, frees it from selfish bias. It is not bound by any traditional creed, but its message advances as the light on God's purposes and works increases.
— Habakkuk 2: 1-3.

"The Watchtower" stands as a watchman atop a tower, alert to what is going on, awake to note signs of danger, faithful to point out the way of escape. It announces Jehovah's kingdom established by Christ's enthronement in heaven, feeds his kingdom joint-heirs with spiritual food, cheers men of good will with glorious prospects of eternal life in a paradise earth, comforts us with the resurrection promise for the dead.

It is not dogmatic, but has a confident ring in its voice, because it is based on God's Word. It does not privately interpret prophecy, but calls attention to physical facts, sets them alongside prophecy, and you see for yourself how well the two match, how accurately Jehovah interprets his own prophecy. In the interests of our salvation, it keeps sharp and faithful focus on Bible truth, and views religious news generally.

"Be watchful in these perilous times". God admonishes. So keep on the watch by regularly reading "The Watchtower".

DISTRICT NEWS FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS

Arundel

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bulley were in Montreal last week-end, being guests at the Ireland-Schultes wedding.

Miss Barbara Staniforth spent last week-end at Shawbridge as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Maxweil.

Mr. Leslie May spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. J. May.

The Women's Institute will hold a "500" party on Saturday evening, December 2, in Maplewood Inn. Ladies' and gentlemen's prizes will be competed for, also door prizes will be drawn for. The convener of the evening will be Mrs. Roy Staniforth.

Damage by Storm

Arundel did not escape the effects of the severe storm which passed over Quebec on Saturday evening. Reports are coming in from all over the vicinity of barn roofs blown off, trees uprooted, and windows broken. Alec Dewar lost six of his fine pines, while the home of Lorne Moore had a large pine tree reposing on his roof in the morning. All telephones were out of commission, as were the lights, and the main fear of the residents of the community was the danger of fire, as insulation was rubbed off the electric wires, causing them to spark dangerously. Few people slept the night through. The Sunday noon train was detained for three hours at Sixteen Island Lake, the cause being a washout at Pine Lake. A number of people from Arundel and Weir were among those stranded, but were fortunate enough to connect with a taxi and were able to reach their homes in a short time. On Monday and Tuesday folks were seen busily engaged in cleaning up the debris left in the wake of the storm.

Athletic Association

The newly-revived Arundel Athletic Association is progressing briskly. An average of about 40 members attend weekly, and new members are steadily coming in. Badminton, table tennis, cribbage, volley-ball and other games are entered into, and a real community spirit pervades the place. It is hoped that this new venture will continue to thrive, and in time become one of the strong factors in this community. If you have not yet joined and are interested in any of the above-mentioned pastimes, join now. There is nothing like a community spirit to keep a place alive, and it is up to every individual t foster that spirit.

Battle of the Sexes

Morin Heights

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Doherty returned Monday after spending a few days in Montreal visiting friends.

Friends of Mrs. Jack McCullough are pleased to hear that she is now making satisfactory progress after her recent illness.

Mr. Ronnie Boyd returned home last week after being a patient in the Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital, where he underwent an operation, and is now recuperating.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Hulley and son, Garth, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. F. Goldthorpe.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Kennedy spent the week-end in Montreal visiting friends.

Mr. Bob Gibson and his father, Mr. Harry Gibson, spent the week-end at their cottage near Lake Echo.

Mrs. Paul Baumel returned home Saturday and is now recuperating after several weeks confined to bed at the home of her sister, Mrs. Geo. MacDowell, in Montreal, and also at the Reddy Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Boyd and boys, Wayne, Rodney and Brian, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Syvret.

Mrs. Henry Gillingham, Sr., left last week for an extended visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gillingham, in Hamilton, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Seale and children, Sandra and Joe, spent the week-end in Dixie with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hollingworth.

Chimney Fires

During the high winds on Saturday, the local fire brigade was called out three times for chimney fires. All were quickly extinguished, with no property damage.

Weir

The Rev. A. E. Tulk, of Montreal, spent the week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sobey, and also conducted service in the Church of the Redeemer on Sunday morning. We regret very much that Mr. Tulk will not be here regularly in future, but friends wish him success in his new charge, at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Cartierville. Mr. Donald Heap, student pastor, will conduct the service next Sunday, which will be at 3 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Morrison, with their small daughter Glenna, of Montreal, also Mr. Glen Morrison, of Ste. Therese, spent the week-end at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Morrison.

Mrs. T. H. Greenbank, accompanied by her daughter Mrs. B. Wilder, of Montreal, paid a short visit here on Friday. The many friends of Mr. Greenbank were pleased to learn that he expected to be leaving hospital very shortly, but will spend some time with his daughter before returning to his home here.

Mrs. E. J. Craig spent a few days in Montreal last week, and also witnessed the Santa Claus parade before returning home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Craig motored to Noranda recently and visited Mrs. Craig's brother, Jas. Moore, who has been a patient in hospital for several months following an accident he suffered while working at the mine.

Week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williams included Mr. and Mrs. A. Philips, Mr. and Mrs. J. Adams, all of Montreal

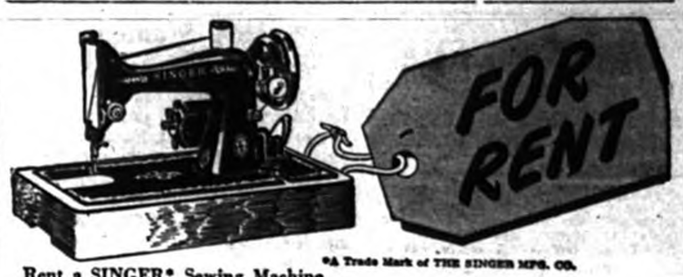

Mrs. Jas. Manzocchi, accompanied by her son John, of Montreal, spent the week-end at their cottage here — Mrs. Manzocchi remaining for a few days, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. Thompson.

Mrs S. Langdon and her daughter Mildred, of Rockway, are spending some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bennett.

Mr. Alphonse Turmel was home from Montreal to spend the week-end with his mother and sister here.

The Storm

The storm which swept through here on Saturday night left plenty of destruction in its wake. Several roofs lost part of their covering and barns were partly blown to pieces; the telephone and electric power were completely disrupted, as several large trees were blown across the highway. As late as Monday evening several people are still without either of these services.

CHEVROLET
CHEVROLET TRUCKS deliver more horsepower at the clutch

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

The world's most popular engine
More truckers use Chevrolet than any other make! And one important reason is Valve-in-Head engine design. For over 35 years Chevrolet has been the largest producer of Valve-in-Head engines — engines world-famous for power, dependability, and outstanding economy.

Blue-Flame combustion
Chevrolet's Valve-in-Head design, constantly refined and improved during 35 years of development, makes possible the smooth, even burning of the fuel — blue-flame combustion. Combustion chambers are scientifically shaped to wring more power from every drop of gasoline.

Chevrolet's Valve-in-Head Torquemaster engine with greater horsepower at the clutch offers important advantages to truckers. It means greater efficiency — it means bigger pay loads at lower cost per mile!

Net horsepower . . . the power you use, the power delivered at the clutch . . . is the true measuring stick of a truck's ability to haul payloads. And for net horsepower, Chevrolet heavy-duty trucks with Torquemaster engine have no equal among the five most popular standard equipped makes in their weight class, up to 16,000 lbs. G.V.W. Chevrolet heavy-duty trucks lead them all! Compare the facts! And remember — it's the power at the clutch that counts! Come in and let us tell you the full story of Chevrolet's truck leadership.

PLUS—Chevrolet Advance-Design Truck Features!
THREE GREAT VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINES: Torquemaster, Loadmaster and the improved Thriftmaster — give you greater power per gallon, lower cost per load • THE NEW POWER-JET CARBURETOR: smoother, quicker acceleration response • DIAPHRAGM SPRING CLUTCH for easy-action engagement • SYNCHRO-MESH TRANSMISSIONS for fast, smooth shifting • HYPOID REAR AXLES — the most durable type • DOUBLE-ARTICULATED BRAKES — for complete driver control • WIDE-BASE WHEELS for increased tire mileage • ADVANCE-DESIGN STYLING with the "Cab that Breathes" • BALL-TYPE STEERING for easier handling.

Rural Leadership Course At Macdonald College

Macdonald College will hold its Christmas Short Course from December 27 to 31 this year — it is announced by H. R. C. Avison, Director of the Adult Education Service at the College.

Besides dealing with modern trends in farming and community life, the course is designed to provide training in skills needed for leadership. It will give students a chance to gain practical experience in planning programs, conducting meetings, leading recreation, handling publicity, and operating a film projector.

Mr. Avison points out that the course is open to anyone interested in the welfare of the rural community, but he extends a special invitation to members of Farm Forums, Women's Institutes, Home and School Associations, and similar groups.

One of Canada's leading conservationists, Ellwood Wilson of Knowlton, will speak on farm woodlots; Prof. L. C. Raymond of the Agronomy Department at Macdonald will deal with pasture improvement; and Prof. L. H. Hamilton will lead a discussion on livestock management.

"Running the Organization" will be the topic for a series of discussions led by J. T. Davidson, Quebec Farm Forum Secretary, and H. R. C. Avison and J. S. Cram of the Adult Education Service.

Daily recreation periods will be led by Miss Patricia Brown, and poster making will be taught by Miss Elizabeth Jacques, both instructors in the School for Teachers. John Verge of the National Film Board, Valleyfield, will teach students how to operate film projectors. They will also be able to do leather work with a competent instructor.

Further information and application forms may be secured from the Adult Education Service, Macdonald College, P.Q.
