Quebec A Land of Common Sense And Sane Traditions-Says Local Deputy in C.B.M. Radio Address

W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., Heard Monday in Support of Duplessis and Government Record

Following, in abridged version, is an address given by W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. for Argenteuil, and chairman of the Argenteuil - Two Mountains Central School Board. The talk on Provincial Affairs, given in support of the National Union party and its leader, Premier Duplessis, was delivered Monday evening from Radio Station C.B.M.

* * *

"I would like on this occasion to say something to my English-speaking fellow-citizens of the Province of Quebec, about what I know of the administrative work being done by the National Union Government . . under the direction of Prime Minister Maurice L. Duplessis. . I would like to do this, first because I am proud of the record achieved, but also because I have a feeling that some of my English-speaking fellow-citizens are not as familiar with it as they ought to be.

"Consider the fair way that we, the minority of this province, are treated in all fields. Our generous grants to Protestant education are an example to those elsewhere who do not give the same consideration to minorities.

"But it is my intention to discuss the tremendous industrial strides in Quebec Province, as they appear to one who sees them from two points of view. Firstly, that in the provincial capital where the necessary legislation is enacted; and, secondly, in the home constituency where the people bring their local problems to the door of their elected representative.

"Viewing the map of our province as it is today, it is difficult to find an area in which there are not vast new developments — a victorious march of progress that means work for the people, money for them to spend with the local merchants: in short, prosperity and contentment.

"In all, since 1944, over 4,000 new industries have been established in Quebec Province, on the Chaudière, in the Eastern Townships, along the Richelieu, bordering the lower St. Lawrence, up the Saguenay, in the St. Maurice Valley, and of course, in and around Montreal, where alone, 278 new industries have been recorded in the past three years.

"All of this because Quebec is the land of common sense and of sane traditions. In Quebec, like anywhere else in the world, your government believes in security. It believes in liberty and in freedom. . . In Quebec, your government believes that security is essentially based on a sense of personal responsibility. There can be no real security where there is no sense of personal responsibility. There are some people in Canada and elsewhere, and even in the Province of Quebec, who, having nothing, are willing to share all that others have. . . There is no truth more clear or more evident than the old saying, that 'Heaven helps those who help themselves'.

"In the Province of Quebec, we believe that it is the duty of all right-thinking men, no matter of what political party, to put aside partisanship, to examine fully our strengths and our weaknesses and face our problems. . . It is the duty of each and every one of us to wake up, to rise to the situation and to stop being indifferent and complacent.

"In the Province of Quebec, we are firmly established on the rock of real democracy and your Government here has decided to fight any encroachment upon decentralization. For decentralization, after all, is common sense. If we are to have democracy, the rule of the people by the people and for the people, we have to be governed by representatives of the people; we have to be governed by the elected representatives of the people. Otherwise, it is not democracy.

"You hear some people talking sometimes about the benefits of the Russian system and about the profit to be derived from the nationalization of this, and of that.

"Let us remember that two of mankind's greatest qualities, philanthropy and charity, can never materialize under such a system. Let us always remember that if there is no democracy, there can be no philanthropy and no charity. . . In the Province of Quebec we contend that without private enterprise there is no progress possible. Without private enterprise, human initiative is paralyzed, and no progress can be achieved without the necessary spur, the necessary incentive, provided by private initiative.

"Private initiative gives to each and every one of us who wishes to work, a chance to succeed. It is the system of progress and prosperity. Private enterprise is the

New Rector Appointed At Hawkesbury

The Rev. J. W. R. Meakin has been appointed rector of Holy Trinity Parish, Hawkesbury, in succession to Rev. A. D. Floyde, who is retiring at the end of April after a service of 49 years in the ministry. The appointment was announced by Rt. Rev. Robert Jefferson, Bishop of Ottawa.

Mr. Meakin was educated at one of Britain's well-known public schools. While still in his teens he served in World War I and marched with Allenby's Army into Jerusalem. He came to Canada and took his theological training at Bishop's University, Lennoxville. He was ordained deacon in 1927 and became a priest the following year.

St. Eustache Joins Baseball League

In the line-up of teams for Laurentian Senior Baseball League, the entry of St. Eustache Club is welcomed by sports fans in Lachute — remembering the friendly rivalry of these communities in past hockey, and also anticipating mutual support of enthusiasts in the two towns during this baseball season. It is understood that St. Eustache will erect a substantial stadium in time for the scheduled play, and many from Lachute will doubtless be on hand to witness games in this neighboring centre.

The northern section of this league comprises 12 teams, as follows — Joliette, Valleyfield, St. Jerome, Sorel, Lachute, L'Epiphanie; Champêtre (Montreal), St. Eustache, Lachine, Ste. Therese, Beauharnois, Montreal East. . . . Winners of the play-offs in this section, will meet the winners of the southern section for the League championship title.

President of the Laurentian Senior Baseball League is Paul-Emile Guilbault.

Activities in Cadet Unit

Members of "D" Company, Highland Cadets, resumed training last Monday evening, following a three weeks' holiday over the Easter season. The work for the next few weeks will centre around the care and use of the various weapons, in preparation for firing the range courses and other more advanced training which will come with the fine weather.

Next Monday night there will be a "Muster" Parade, and all cadets must attend. Those who are absent without permission will immediately be struck off strength and their uniforms will be called in. In addition to this, a concerted drive for recruits will be launched next week in an effort to bring the strength up to that of a full company, approximately 100. With the increasing efficiency of the NCO's, it is felt that this number could easily be handled.

Sunday morning the cadets will fall in at the Auditorium at 9.30 in order to go to Montreal. Major Sproston, Commanding Officer of the Battalion, has requested that a detachment be sent to the city on the occasion of the visit of President Auriol of France. The exact duties of the boys are not yet known, but it is understood that they will assist the 37th Field Regiment Royal Canadian Artillery in their duties.

It has been learned that there will be no summer camp period this year as in the past. Instead, the cadets will have the opportunity of attending courses at Valcartier for a period of seven weeks. The subjects being offered are — General Military Training Instructor; Driver-Mechanic; Signalling; and Medical. The cadets attending these courses will be given their transportation, food, quarters, and clothing, also a cash bonus on completion of course. It is hoped that a large number from "D" Co'y will avail themselves of this chance to have a good holiday and at the same time learn first-hand some of the army trades. The Driver-Mechanic course especially should be useful in later days back home.

Recruits are still being sought, between the ages of 15 and 18, in good health and of a minimum height of 5'4".

Monthly Meeting of Legion Auxiliary

The regular monthly meeting of the Legion Auxiliary was held at the Memorial Hall, with 16 members present. Plans were made for the "military whist" to be held next Friday. Mrs. Fox volunteered to look after distribution of articles left over from the rummage sale — these to be given to needy families. An "amateur show" is to be held in May.

After discussion of these plans the members enjoyed a session of card-playing, after which refreshments were served.

Familiar Figure Now in Montreal's "Chinatown"

In the Saturday edition of Montreal Daily Star a page was devoted to highlights and sidelights of Montreal's Chinatown. A number of local readers questioned whether Hoo Hoonsang, pictured among three gentlemen seated at leisure in a Lagauchetière Street recreation room, was a well known figure behind the wicket these past few years at Charlie Fung's laundry, Lachute. . . The answer is, yes.

Hoonsang is now enjoying a well earned retirement and his place at the local ironing board is efficiently filled by an uncle of Charlie the proprietor.

Methods of Healing in Many Countries Told By Speaker at Lachute W. Inst.

The April meeting of the Lachute W.I., held in the Legion Hall last Tuesday, was well attended. Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, of Lakefield, the county president, was also in attendance.

The annual County Convention will be held on Friday, May 11. This is a departure from the usual custom of holding the meeting on a Saturday — thereby making possible a visit from a member of the Provincial Executive.

Mrs. R. Menard, convener of Home Economics, announced the details for the quilt to be made, which is being donated to the Red Cross.

This Branch is most anxious to establish a Loan Fund for the purpose of assisting young students in furthering their education. Girls desirous of entering the Nursing profession could avail themselves of this W.I. service.

Plans were proposed and accepted for sponsoring a movie in the Rio Theatre on Wednesday, April 18, to raise the necessary funds to carry out the services above mentioned.

Mrs. F. A. Brennian, the president, called attention of the members to the new books available in the Library at the High School, on Fridays, from 3.45 p.m. to 4.45 p.m.

The feature of the May meeting will be a visit to the newly erected building of the home-town weekly newspaper and printing establishment, Giles Publishing House Ltd., on Foundry Street. This should prove most interesting and educative, and the occasion merits a large turnout.

The April meeting was in charge of Mrs. Geo. Y. Deacon, convener of Health and Welfare, who introduced the guest speaker, Miss Denise Bell, R.N., Doctor of Chiropractic, now a resident of Lachute with an office on Main Street. Her subject was "Methods of Healing", based on her observations in many countries.

Miss Bell was born in England, received her degrees in the U.S.A., and has nursed in England, South Africa, U.S.A., and Poland.

Miss Bell recalled that in her early childhood she had witnessed two dogs in a fight — and instead of trying to do something about it, she had run away. . . It was this incident which started her in search of some way to overcome fear, and her subsequent expounding of the theories of power over mind and body as applied to health, such as the hidden powers said to be exercised by the natives of S. Africa, rendering them insensible to pain and suffering.

The healings performed by Jesus Christ, and His use of the hidden power in performing miracles, were given as an example, also the principles of healing He taught to his disciples. The two basic reasons brought forth for the speaker's belief that Christ used laws when healing which are available to us today. . .

(1) The fact that the body has life and is a mechanism intercorrelated and able to compensate, react, develop and repair, as long as there is life in the whole or in the part of the body. Life is not man-made, nor can life be imitated by man.

(2) There is a power available and can be used for any purpose. It is sufficient to control the mind, the body and the earth. It is still used and practised at Indian feasts and by African witch doctors, who hand this power down from father to son.

The greatest factor in the health of a community, Miss Bell stated, is the Sanitary Inspector — his work and its results in the prevention of disease. Instruction in preventive nursing is also to be recommended.

The speaker in her description of the various methods used in the different countries of the world, concluded her talk by saying that the greatest healer for body and mind is the desire to have health — the observance of Christ's teaching, which by dependence on the love of God, casts out all fear and thus heals.

Mrs. Geo. Leggett proposed a vote of thanks to Miss Bell for her interesting and instructive talk.

Describes Plan To Supply U.S. With Alta. Gas

—Central Press Canadian

Outline of a plan to pipe Alberta's natural gas to U.S. war plants has been given to the Alberta legislature by Premier Manning, above. He said the plan would send 10 billion cubic feet of gas annually across the border for a period of five years, "to ensure essential production" in a specific arms industry.

Shed Fire Menaced Home at Arundel

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — What might have been a major loss was averted by the prompt action of residents and neighbors, when a shed at the rear of the Thomas Graham house caught fire around 2 p.m. last Tuesday. Owing to prompt arrival of help, the fire was confined to the shed. As this had been used as a store-room above, and as a woodshed below, the structure burned fiercely. The firefighters, however, were able to keep the blaze under control, but it was after 6 p.m. before they could leave the scene with a feeling of safety. The building and the contents were completely destroyed. The origin of the fire is not known.

Mrs. T. Graham and family take this opportunity to thank all neighbors, also kind friends who came from considerable distances to their assistance.

B'burg Winners In Rifle Meet

Results of the Province of Quebec Rifle Association's 1951 Indoor Tournament, held from March 29 to April 1 at the 17th D.Y.R.C.H. Armouries, Montreal, show that in three of the four Match Rifle classes five Brownsburg shooters took top honors.

Winner of the Master class was W. L. Tremblay of C.N.R.A., Montreal, who shot a possible 600 score; 2nd H. W. Wilson, C.N.R.A., 598; 3rd, A. H. Fraser, M.R.C., 596. In the Expert class, D. N. Atkins of Brownsburg won with 597; 2nd, A. A. Gordon, C.N.R.A., 594; 3rd, D. D. Robertson, Sun Life, 593. All Sharpshooter places were won by Brownsburg shooters — 1st, Wyman Hazel, 598; 2nd, W. B. Brown, 596; 3rd, A. R. Todd, 595. Winner of the Marksmen was H. Wheatley, of Brownsburg, 583; 2nd, A. W. Seaman, M.R.C., 581; 3rd, Earl S. Bonnette, Burlington, 581.

The Brownsburg team of Atkins, Hazel, Brown, Todd, and Dwyer was second in the team competition, which was won by the Montreal C.N.R.A. team; and in all individual matches the Brownsburg shooters took prizes in their classes.

The history of the slot-machine — today's "one-armed bandit" — goes back to 200 B.C., when the ancient Egyptians had them in primitive form.

Councils May Not Sit "Behind Closed Doors"

Illegal to Exclude Press or Public from Meetings

Watchman Reporter Seeks Clarification from The Quebec Department of Municipal Affairs

Brownsburg —

At the last meeting of Council, the secretary read a letter from the local Press representative on the matter of reporting the Council's proceedings, which noted that there was a tendency of late to hold closed meetings of the Council when matters affecting the general public were under discussion. The letter suggested that such procedure was contrary to established practice governing newspaper reporting on the deliberations of democratically-elected public bodies. The relations between the Press and the Brownsburg Council members has always been of the most cordial nature, and while the Press had a duty to perform towards its public in supplying an accurate and as complete-as-possible account of municipal matters, it has always endeavored to do so with discretion, in co-operation with the Council.

To clarify any misunderstanding that might arise, a letter was addressed to the Minister of Municipal Affairs for the Province of Quebec asking for a ruling as to the attitude of his department in interpreting the law on this matter in Quebec Province. In his reply the Minister stated as follows: "I beg to inform you that, according to Article 113 of the Municipal Code, the sittings of the Municipal Council governed by the Code are public. The Council cannot sit with closed doors. Members of the Press, as well as the public in general, cannot be excluded unless they are disturbing the Council in its sitting. There are no provisions in the Code or elsewhere to forbid the reporting of the Council proceedings or, discussions in the newspapers."

Publicly elected bodies such as School Boards, Town and Municipal Councils, should welcome an opportunity to acquaint the general public with the work they are doing. At times it is a thankless task, and they should at least get credit for work well done.

E. Emrett's Frontiersmen On Police Duty for Verdun Civic Election

Lt.-Col. E. Emmett had a contingent of 45 Imperial Frontiersmen on duty in Verdun for the civic elections last Monday. The smartly uniformed constables had charge of law-observance inside the polling rooms, and they were part of the 200 special police force augmenting Verdun Police and Fire Departments on duty for this occasion. They take their civic voting seriously in the City of Verdun.

Bad Roads Prevent School Attendance

(Our District Correspondent)

Calumet — Pupils who travel in the Avoca bus are unable to attend school this week on account of the bad road condition. The children who live along the highway and who are picked up by the Avoca bus, are now travelling in the Calumet bus. It is hoped the roads will be in better condition next week.

Yes, You May Fish in The Old North River!

In a letter, too late and too long to be quoted, The Watchman this week is commended for provoking a clarification of an obscure Fish and Game regulation which pertains to the North River.

Concerning the ruling that the North River and its tributaries are out of bounds for fishing — Alan Longstaff in his Montreal Herald column "Time Out for Play", states:

"This is not a new ruling, but it is the first time it has been shown in the 'summary', which is the only document available to the average fisherman — and too few read it."

In brief, it appears (on an official ruling from Charles Fremont, General Superintendent of Game and Fisheries) that fishing with rod and line will be sanctioned in the North River, and that announcement will be published to that effect next week, along with an explanatory note.

The letter to Lachute Watchman (which is also written by Alan Longstaff) says:

"Warden Leslie Bates and yourself are entitled to the thanks of your readers for bringing this matter to light. The Minister of Game and Fisheries, the Hon. Dr. C. E. Pouliot, and Mr. Fremont were, as you see, anxious to co-operate, and I am happy to have been a successful intermediary on behalf of many Montreal and Lachute friends who fish the North River."

(Thanks, Mr. Longstaff.

Brownsb'g -- Town Or Village?

(Our District Correspondent)

Every once in a while the question crops up as to whether Brownsburg would be better governed as a town than it is as a village. There are advantages for and against, and after mulling them over, the councillors allow the matter to drift into the "later on file" and there it remains. Well, the matter has popped up again, and at the last meeting of this body the secretary, Emile Hebert, said the machinery was all ready, all that was needed, to collect a census and apply to Quebec. This application for charter will have to come before the provincial legislature. At the next sitting of the House it is probable that the matter will be brought before the members.

A Criminal Offence

A letter was received from the local Postmaster complaining of the destruction wrought to government property and the annoyance to the general public caused by children who frequent the Post Office during mail-time and create a lot of noise inside and outside the building. The destruction of mail by putting snow into the outside mail boxes, rendering the addresses indecipherable so that they had to be sent to the "dead letter office" at Ottawa, was a serious and a criminal offence. The letter asked for assistance in curbing this mischief. . . The councillors decided to instruct the Police Chief to attend to this complaint.

Daylight Saving

The Council passed the necessary resolution making Daylight Saving Time effective from April 28 to October 27. This is in accordance with the desire of the Minister of Municipal Affairs for uniform dates in the Province of Quebec.

Water Supply

An important alteration in the method of supplying water to the village was suggested to Council by Mayor Donaldson. The matter was adjourned to next meeting, when further information as to cost and feasibility will be studied.

Dams and Damns!

The Mayor called attention to the blocking of the intake at the water-head and suggested a boom be thrown out to allow a man to reach the weir for the purpose of removing the weeds, etc. . . Councillor Somers thought a concrete pier to take a girder from the shore would be more suitable. . . Councillor Ouellette wanted a cable with travelling raft to get to the orifice. . It was decided to inspect the job on Wednesday and employ some means of keeping the intake clear.

Legion Troupe in Glamorous Show

The Quebec Command Revue, presented here last Friday, was reminiscent of the wartime shows which did such excellent work in camps and hospitals, at a time when a touch of glamor and hilarity afforded a much-needed tonic. . Well, Lachute needs no tonic, no stimulant, in this season surfeited with public entertainment — but the Legion troupe show was a refreshing departure from the customary line of local programs.

Although the cast is reputedly of amateur status, their singing, dancing and characterizations — their showmanship generally — are up in the professional class.

The humorous skits were original; even the quite (!) sophisticated jokes were original (or perhaps we haven't been around). The solo song and dance performers were tops, and to the piano accompanist may be credited much of the smoothness of this performance. The trap-drummer, adept and on the spot, unfortunately met some competition in static from the public address system. Lastly the chorines, in costumes appropriate to five different themes (as rustics, Parisian showgirls, Hungarian dancers, etc.) acted with grace and precision which was a real credit to these girls, for whom the footlights are a hobby rather than a livelihood.

The grande finale was (to this reporter's impression) a spectacle worth remembering — the chorus in smart Legionette costume stepping a martial routine, with the B.E.S.L. colors in the background. . . . Altogether, it was a show without a dull moment.

The stage-work and lighting of this production deserve praise — factors so unobtrusively handled yet so important to a fast-moving show. And finally, to Mrs. George Layton who spoke a friendly word in conclusion, great credit is due for the acclaim well merited by this troupe.

The event was sponsored by Argenteuil Legion Branch 70, and the Legionnaires express themselves well satisfied with the outcome and the public support. The High School auditorium was almost filled to capacity for the occasion. The proceeds are apportioned between the local Legion and the Revue troupe — in the latter case, helping further to finance their visits to military camps and hospitals.

Quiz Conducted At Lions' Meeting

Lachute Lions Club provided its own program of entertainment, for the regular club meeting Tuesday evening in the Hotel Joly — the members being divided into two teams to engage in a quiz contest. It was light diversion — and a departure from the routine procedure which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Lion Léopold Carrière, one of the town's most prominent industrialists, ex-mayor of Lachute, and an ex-president of the Lions Club, was honored as "Lion of the Day". Phil Roy, reviewing the progress of Lachute Lumber & Millwork Ltd., and other concerns in which Lion Carrière is prominent, paid forceful tribute to his initiative and his progressive outlook. Besides his lumber and contracting enterprises here, Léopold Carrière is president of two lumber business organizations. His civic and social record in this town make him a valuable and esteemed townsman.

Professor Dingle Hoofer of the Doolittle University was characterized by Lion Ralph Fitz-Gerald as director of the quiz, in which Jas. Lowe's team defeated Ian Gordon's team 15-13.

Donations to charitable causes, and other matters of business, were voted upon. The opening salvo in the annual car drawing was initiated with the distribution of tickets, for which there are a tentative 18,000 to be sold. Lion Roger Legault gave the necessary pep-talk as an impetus to this drive.

A new Lions song was given its premiere by Angelo Fassio, violinist and composer, with Willard M. Steeves at the piano.

President Horace Lamarche was chairman for this lively assembly and Lion Jos. Dumais handled the secretarial duties.

Crows Bring About Poacher's Arrest

Arundel (CP) — Hunters will have three less deer as targets next fall in Argenteuil County, because of the work of a poacher.

Game Warden Gordon Cooke of Arundel rounded up a poacher recently after he discovered the quartered body of a doe, newly killed and dressed, lying in a snowbank. The doe carried two fawns. Expert tracking by the warden provided him with undeniable evidence that forced a confession from the man.

Cooke tells this story: "Three crows kept flying down from a tree to something on the ground, giving us a lead. We located a deer hide pushed under the ice of a small creek, and a little distance further away the meat of the pregnant doe was hidden under a fallen log. Tracks from there led us to where a rifle was hidden under another log.

"We took everything to the poacher's home. When he sensed we had the goods on him, he signed an affidavit admitting he killed the deer."

Gatineau LINES

Summer Service

With winter just barely passed — in fact, with the possibility that winter still has a blow or two to deliver — it may seem strange at first to talk about summer service. Actually, however, for almost 3,000 summer customers of Gatineau Power this is the right time to be thinking about electricity for the summer cottage.

The necessity of making almost 3,000 special connections, all within a very limited period of time and all coming right in the middle of the regularly-heavy spring and summer period of electrical maintenance and extension, puts a heavy burden on the line crews of the power company. Part of this burden can be removed by careful advance information.

That is why all power companies urge their summer customers to get in their orders for summer service early. Then the company can plan its connection work so that the customer has his electrical service ready for him when he wants it. A flood of last-minute orders disrupts the work schedule and may lead to delays in the start of service.

That's one easy way of beating the early summer rush of connections too — and electricity comes in mighty handy if by any chance you want to use the cottage during the winter. Once you have a year-round connection, you have the power whenever you choose to use it, with one less thing to worry about when you open up the cottage.

Regardless of whether you prefer the summer connection or the year-round connection, however, we would appreciate it if you would let us know early about your needs for summer power so we can give you the best service possible.

Did You Know?

That for most summer cottage owners, it is almost as cheap and much more convenient to keep electrical service throughout the year than to re-order service each summer?

Load Limits Effective On Quebec Highways

The Provincial Roads Department has imposed restrictions on heavy traffic on all provincial roads during the thawing-out period, as provided in the Motor Vehicles Act, in the district of Montreal, Hull, Three Rivers and Eastern Townships.

Main regulations are as follows:

1. The total gross weight of any truck or trailer, dead load and pay load included, shall not exceed 40 per cent of the normal maximum weight allowed by the law in summer time;

2. The total maximum weight allowed for autobuses shall be 11,000 pounds;

3. On certain first class highways, the tolerance on gross weight may be increased to 60 per cent of the maximum summer weight, if conditions permit;

4. The speed of all vehicles on a road closed to heavy traffic shall not exceed 20 miles per hour;

5. An extra weight of 2,000 pounds shall be allowed for urgent furniture moving or transportation of perishable matters;

6. If the roads become unduly bad, further restrictions may be applied by the local engineer in charge, and if necessary, the road may be closed altogether.

Pointers for Making New Lawns

Ottawa — The difference between a beautiful, green stretch of healthy grass and a patchy, mud-dotted lawn is the knowledge the owner had when he started to make the lawn. All over Canada, thousands of new lawns are in the making, most of them still in the planning stage. That stage — planning — is the place to make the best use of knowledge. Here are a few points suggested by J. H. Boyce, of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

(1) Soil. — A medium or sandy loam soil relatively high in organic matter is desirable. If good soil exists on the lot scrape it off and stock pile it before excavation is started.

(2) Drainage. — Good surface and underdrainage are essential to the establishment of good turf.

(3) Grading.—The lawn should slope gradually away from the house. Avoid sharp breaks in contour if possible.

(4) Organic Matter. — May be added in the form of manure or peat to improve the structure of both light and heavy soils.

(5) Liming. — Do not apply lime unless a soil test shows it to be necessary.

(6) Fertilization. — The application of fertilizer prior to seeding is desirable on all soils and is essential on soils of low fertility. Apply uniformly and work it into the soil during the course of seed-bed preparation.

(7) Seed-bed.—Prepare a firm seed-bed, finely pulverized at the surface by alternately raking and rolling.

(8) Time of Seeding. — Seeding should be done as early as possible in the spring or during late August and early September.

(9) Seed Mixture. — Select a mixture containing species which are adapted to the location.

(10) Seeding. — Broadcast the seed uniformly.

(11) Covering. — Cover seed by lightly raking or by applying a thin layer of screened topsoil. Follow covering by rolling.

(12) Watering. — Keep the seed-bed moist but not flooded until the seedling grass becomes well established. Avoid washing the seed from the soil.

More complete details concerning the establishment of turf are contained in the circular "The Construction and Care of Lawns" which may be secured from the Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, or from Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Science Service Building, Ottawa.

Farm Labor Reduced By Liquid Fertilizer

Increased employment opportunities in urban industries have resulted in difficulty in obtaining farm labor, according to "The Economic Annalist" issued by the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. As a result of the probable expansion in defence requirements, it may be more difficult to obtain an adequate supply of farm labor in 1951 than in the two previous years.

This serious problem is causing Canadian farmers to look for new labor saving methods to offset increasing labor and operating expenses. Thousands of Canadian farmers have already found through the use of liquid fertilizer that great savings in time are possible both during and after planting.

Used as a starter, liquid fertilizer can be applied to seed in advance of the spring rush. This eliminates heavy handling of some material in the barn and also the repeated delays while re-handling it in the field. The head start gained in planting allows the farmer to take full advantage of good weatheer to complete seeding in less time. Earlier emergence can be expected, according to Dr. V. A. Tiedjens, Director of Virginia Truck Experiment Station, Norfolk, Virginia, and this allows the farmer valuable extra time for harvest.

Additional labor savings are effected because liquid fertilizer can be used as a top dressing with water soluble weed killers in ordinary spraying quipment. Here crop improvement and weed control are combined in one time-saving operation.

Top dressing, the spraying of liquid fertilizer directly on the crop for controlled feeding during various phases of growth, is being done experimentally in Ontario this year by specially equipped aircraft. Preliminary investigation indicates extremely economical use of this new method of fertilizer application for large areas in the Prairie Provinces.

Bogus Tree Surgeons

Kitchener, Ont. (CP) — District fruit-growers have reported that persons posing as tree surgeons are reaping large financial returns by preying on the gullibility and superstition of some rural people.

The work of the "surgeons" consists primarily of driving powder-dipped spikes into fruit and shade trees on the claims that this treatment will rid the tree of insects, make the fruit better and make spraying unnecessary.

An orchard-owner near Petersburg said he had been charged a fee of $20 for the treatment of seven trees. He said the "surgeon" had a glib tongue but to date he can see no beneficial results from the treatment. A sprayer near Baden said some people had paid up to $100 to have their orchards treated.

Variations in the treatment include drilling holes in the tree trunk and filling it with fertilizer on the guise that it will feed the tree, and wrapping a piece of fly-paper around the base to keep insects from crawling up the trunk.

The activities and treatments of the so-called "surgeons" have been known to exist in Ontario for over 80 years. Fruit inspectors of the Department of Agriculture have been unable to take any legal action.

Last Tribute Paid to Lifelong Resident of Stonefield Community

The Late John Welden

The many friends of the late John Welden, who passed away on Friday, March 23, at the home of his son, Herbert Welden, paid their final tribute on Monday, March 26. The funeral service, largely attended, was held in St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Grenville, and was conducted by the Rev. P. R. Stote.

Born 81 years ago, a lifelong citizen of Grenville, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Welden, of Grenville, and the last surviving member of that family.

When his grandfather, Thomas Welden, brought his family to this country from England, they were nine weeks crossing the ocean. At that time they settled at Stonefield, Que., and built their home near the old canal; the house still remains.

John Welden was in the cattle and butchering business the greatest part of his life, and was known by everyone in the community.

He married Eva Kerr, of Cushing, in 1900; his wife predeceased him on March 10, 1909. From this union were born three children, Herbert, of Grenville, (Hilda) Mrs. James Hawthorne, of Beachburg, Ont., and Walter, of Fort St. John, B.C.

In 1912 he married Mary Gertrude Bailey, of Ruston Spencer, Cheshire, England, who still survives. From this union were born 11 children, Morris, Leslie, Leonard, James, Emerson, of Grenville, (Royetta) Mrs. Don Bremner, of Fort St. John, B.C., (Margaret) Mrs. Rod McLeod, (Beulah) Mrs. Clifford Paul, of Fairview, Alta., Mrs. Ralph Sturgent, Isabel, Ida and Phyllis, of London, Ont.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Richard, Jim and Eddy Noble, Wesley Dodd, Stanley and Harris Dewar. The remains were laid to rest in St. Matthew's Cemetery, Grenville.

Shoulders to the Wheel

THIS COLUMN lends its weight to many appeals in the course of the year. (We privately refer to ourselves as the Appeals Department!) But there is no campaign to which we give more willing support than to the annual Red Cross drive. We candidly admire the efforts of those lady canvassers who call from door to door — their heart in a job which, without sincere conviction in its worthiness, might otherwise be distasteful. And in the broader viewpoint, we revere the Red Cross and all it stands for — relief in the emergencies of disaster — free blood transfusion service — outpost hospitals — war veterans' emergency services — protection of prisoners, and wounded or captive civilians, in war. The Red Cross truly "does what YOU would do if you were there".

The campaign is on in this community! The objective for Lachute, and centres allocated to its charge, is $3,000; for Brownsburg and district $1,500. If every household puts its shoulder to the wheel, these quotas should be easily attained or oversubscribed. . . Several of our advertisers are contributing space to the appeal, and The Watchman earnestly bespeaks the co-operation of all readers.

Now For the Seed Catalogues

THIS YEAR, if all the economic portents of the tag end of winter be borne out, may be remembered as "The Year of the Rake and Hoe", just as you hear old-timers talk of the year of the "Big Wind", or "Big Snow", or anything that makes a particular year memorable.

Go no further than the cost-of-living index for the reason. It seems everything is galloping upward in the price spiral these days except maybe diamond tiaras, and the market for them has never been very bullish anyway. Too, common folk really don't need a tiara much, though one may be nice to have at times.

But even the common folk have to eat, and compared to a trip to the grocery, some backyard work with the rake and hoe is comparatively inexpensive. The 1951 gardening season should be the biggest and best ever in Canada.

It is about now that the seed catalogues should be the best-read books in the land as summer plans are shaped by city fellows and country folk alike.

At the same time this exodus to the back garden takes place it means in 1951 that gardeners, or many of them, are losing their amateur standing. The price of things being what it is, gardening becomes a professional business to keep alive. Or virtually that.

Nobody needs what folk are wont to call a "green thumb" to do well in the back yard. All you need is some expert instruction from any garden manual, some sense, a few dollars' worth of seeds and tools, and a strong back.

If you haven't got the latter when you start, you will have if and when you finish! And more. For gardening is healthy. Not many ulcer-sufferers among gardeners. And you can take as much or as little of it as you want.

So, if you don't see members of the old foursome at the 19th hole, and it turns out they're gardening, bear with them. They're keeping fit. They're having fun. They're helping stretch the family budget funds.

Interesting – But Inconclusive

WHY IS IT that so many observations, steeped in wisdom, merely fizzle in the climax! This opinion in the current news is interesting; its conclusion, however, completely befuddles its intention. . .

Dr. Katharine Whiteside-Taylor, a California physician, told the Ontario Education Association, that children were being "dragged up by unskilled labor". Parents should be required to have a certificate before they have children. Said the attractive, gray-haired mother of three:

"Intensive study is made of potential parents for orphans. But normal parents just have to have high enough IQ's to keep them out of institutions for the feeble-minded. I don't know if we'll get to the point where we will have to have certificates to have children. I hope we do."

She did not feel that parents were as much to blame for the unhappy situation as society as a whole. "The whole of our society is a problem society. We are all responsible. No one is to blame."

— So what?

EVEN IN a young and growing country like ours, there are far too many people who will dismiss a "success" story of a previous generation with the remark, "But they couldn't do that today, there is too much competition now.". . .

These people should look around, says The Financial Post. They should note the number of big companies today that yesterday were small or even non-existent. There are plenty of examples and there will be more.

Five years ago what is now a prosperous and growing Manitoba company was but an idea of three young men who had decided to go into business for themselves. They got a couple of tin huts from War Assets and with a staff of six began to make electric transformers suitable for rural power lines. Initial production was 300 units a year. Today the company employs over 70 people, turns out 600 units a month.

"YOUR CHILD learns better after a good breakfast!" says an advertisement for a well known cereal food. . . We can offer a more convincing sales point: Our Junior virtually learned his letters off this maker's package, set regularly on the breakfast table.

WITH MORE industries located in small towns, the need for our educated youth to leave home to gain opportunities for making a living would be reduced to a minimum.

Sharing Scarcity

By Lewis Milligan

"The Roast Beef of Old England" is a thing of the past. Writing in the London Observer, Ivor Brown says: "As to the political and economic causes of all this, let others dispute. The fact remains that the people so long famous for "rosbif" have rarely seen a noble sirloin on the family table for more than a decade. The huge baron of beef has utterly vanished, and as for that Yorkshire mammoth of meaty succulence, a Barnsley Chop, shall we ever look upon or taste the like again?"

To the Canadian housewife a roast of beef is not so cheaply come by as it used to be; neither is anything else, for that matter. The old song, "Up goes the price of beef!" can be applied to mutton, pork and all other eatables, not to mention drinkables. But we are living in a land of plenty, as compared with the people of England. I have just received two letters from housekeepers over there. "Things in general are really awful at the present time", writes one. "The price of everything and the shortage of meat goods is appalling. Today for one week's ration of meat I got three small chops, for the two of us. I have had coal on order for six weeks and goodness knows when I will get any. I have two bucketfuls left and can only put a fire on to heat the water when we want a bath. I blame the government for the state of things we are in. They have a lot of incompetent men in office who do not know one thing about the way things should be carried out, and the way they are wasting the money that was lent to the country is terrible." That is from a London suburb.

A letter from Liverpool is not so pessimistic at the outset: "Admitted, there's shortage in meat, eggs, etc., but it isn't as bad as the papers make out. We share things among ourselves. The people who live alone suffer most, as they have just the bare rations to live on. If one has money one can eat in the restaurants and save the rations for the week-end. Even there you can be swindled. For example, if you ask for chicken sandwiches, in nine cases out of ten you would be eating rabbit. They cook one chicken with half a dozen rabbits, and you would not know the difference in sandwiches."

"We share things among ourselves". That is the principle of Socialism. But as Mr. Churchill remarked, it has proved to be a "sharing of scarcity". The Socialists claim to have given the people of Britain social security by "sharing the wealth" and the establishment of vast insurance schemes guaranteed by the State. They have shared the money in the form of high wages, but money is not wealth; it is merely pieces of paper, the value of which is in the quantity and quality of the things that can be exchanged for it. If there is a scarcity of those things, or if prices are high because of the high cost of producing them, the purchasing value of the money is reduced accordingly.

The present shortage of beef in Britain is due to the Government's going into the meat-buying business, but that is only one phase of its economic planning. There are shortages in everything the Government has undertaken to supply, and, in spite of controls and rationing, prices are higher than ever. One of the chief factors in the present situation is the high cost and the failure of "Social Security". Writing in The Tablet (London), Christopher Hollis, M.P., referring to the "politicians who are always talking about social security", says, "Never in the field of human conflict has so much rot been talked by so many to so many. It is surely clear that these schemes cannot by their nature give security — in its only proper sense of freedom from care. All that it can do at best is to spread the risk. They say, 'We are all in this together. In future your well-being and old age will no longer wholly depend upon your personal savings. The savings of the whole community will be at your disposal' . . But," continues Mr. Hollis, "that is not security — it is not foolproof. It obviously depends on there being savings somewhere. If there are no savings — if there is inflation — the whole scheme collapses. Nothing in the world is a more naked fraud than an insurance scheme in which the contributions are paid at one level of prices and benefits received at an entirely different level."

Farm Forum Views On Education

The same salary scale should be adopted for teachers in rural and urban schools. Rural children in elementary schools should have the same course of studies as that offered in city schools. Rural boys of high school age should be offered instruction in farming methods. This should be done preferably in schools that give a choice between academic and vocational subjects.

These opinions were expressed by over 90 per cent of the Farm Forum groups that met on Monday nights in March to consider questions of vital concern in rural education.

The following comments by Farm Forum groups are typical:

"We think that teachers in rural schools should receive a salary equal to those in urban schools. Their education costs the same and they usually have much more work to do with so many more grades to teach. There are not always the facilities to work with, and often living conditions are very poor." — Wolverton Forum, Ont.

"We think rural children should have a course of studies that will enable those who don't take up farming to go out into the world the same as city folks". — East Minitonas Credit Union Forum, Manitoba.

"Children are children whether in rural or urban communities. It is very seldom that a child has any definite idea of its future course of life, but the elements of knowledge, good citizenship, ethics and morals are the same for all mankind." — Millcreek Forum, Alta.

"Farming is a vocation, and as many youngsters will never have an opportunity to advance to agricultural college, farming should be taught in high school, provided facilities are available, but not at the expense of the general academic course." — Greenwich Forum, Nova Scotia.

One of Oldest Residents Died at Lakefield

Late H. J. McDonald

The death of Henry John McDonald, a well known resident of Lakefield, occurred on Wednesday, March 21, at his home. Mr. McDonald, who was in his 80th year, passed away after a few weeks' illness.

He was born at Lakefield, April 8, 1871, and spent his entire life in this community. In 1900 he married Maud Laura Boyd, who predeceased him last June.

He is survived by six sons and three daughters, 35 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The funeral service, which was largely attended, was held in the MacKimmie Funeral Home, followed by interment at Lachute Cemetery.

Broken Glass Left On Thoroughfare

It is reported by residents in the neighborhood of Robert Street (east of Bethany) that fragments of glass from a number of broken milk bottles are exposed on the roadway since thawing of the snow — presenting an unsightly mess and a hazard to motorists.

Being doubtless the result of a spill last winter, it would appear that the removal of the glass is a matter for attention of the driver, or the milk distributor concerned.

Tom Gard's Note Book

Last fall, after cleaning the summer's accumulation of junk off my work bench, I decided to start right in and make a movable lounge for the garden. Once started, the project proved not too difficult. Old packing cases provided the slats, pieces of two by four formed the frame and junior surrended two small wheels from his dilapidated cart to make it mobile. Now I can look forward to next summer and many hours of relaxation — reclining at any angle in any part of the garden. In case you haven't the packing case slats, then string the frame with rope, it will work equally well.

Framed

I am anything but an artist yet the work of good Canadian painters has held my interest for several years. Last week I spent a pleasant evening with a chap who is a good artist and quite conversant with the work being done in Canada. During our conversation I noticed and remarked on the attractiveness of a picture hanging on the wall of his study. After my flattering comments had ceased, he suggested I take a closer look at it. Was my face red! It was simply a cheap print framed. He explained how it had been done and made me feel somewhat better by remarking that I was not the only one who had been fooled by this particular picture. It certainly looked authentic — even to the old antiqued frame.

Pablum Boxes

Ever since junior graduated from Pablum I have been intending to put some of the boxes to good use., My small daughter finally put on the pressure to complete a doll cradle I had promised her for last Christmas. While at it I finished up a knitting box that had been talked about and hinted at for an even longer period.

Any one desirous of a new house number may profit by one seen recently. The householder had made an attractive wooden base and then fashioned the numbers from rope. The whole thing had been made weatherproof with water-resistant varnish.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

"Only Child -- Lonely Child!"

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

The old saying, "Only child, lonely child" came from a generation ago when large families were common. The only child family was the exception and sympathy was given to the poor youngster without brothers or sisters. Today there are many one child families, or homes where the spacing of children makes a younger or older child live almost the life of an only child. Parents resent their only son or only daughter being the object of pity. Yet there is a kernel of truth in the old warning. Parents, if they have only one child, should try to be objective about the drawbacks of their child's situation.

In the first place, adult companionship never can fill the child's need for friends his own age. No matter how understanding a mother may be, or how devoted a father's love, still parents are only parents. They belong to the world of grown-ups. They are not "Little People"!

The only child rarely, if ever, suffers from neglect, but rather from too much attention. Since birth he has held the stage. Because there was only one baby in the family, he seemed extra precious. Mother was tempted to be too protective in her attitude to him.

Thus it happens that unless parents guard against the dangers in the only child's environment, they may develop either a little "show-off" or a "mother's baby". Neither of these are popular with playmates. Nor do they make for happiness.

Mother and dad must not indulge their desire frequently to display the superior charm or ability of their only child. It is natural that he sing or recite or show some talent. But let him do this at the same time as a little playmate or a small cousin at a family gathering.

A certain amount of rough and tumble play for school age children, especially boys, is inevitable. The mother of an only child must not prevent him from climbing trees or riding a bicycle or doing any of the numerous things a small boy delights in. She has a right to know that reasonable safety precautions are taken. After that she will just have to let him take his chances with the other children. If they suspect a child is "tied to his mother's apron strings", they will taunt him.

There are certain definite things which parents of only children can do. The most obvious one is to ask the question, "Would it be wise to have another child in our family, if necessary by adoption?"

Many parents in recent years will testify to how happily their own child and an adopted brother or sister have gotten along. If adding a child to the family is out of the question, for health or financial or other reasons, there are still practical ways to prevent the only child from being stranded on an island of loneliness.

Mother and dad can see to it that he has ample chance to play with other children. His friends should be made welcome in his house. Co-operative play equipment indoors and outside in the yard is of great value.

Vacations may provide the chance for a cousin or friend to visit with him. When he is older, the group loyalty in an organization like Cubs or Explorers and a shared camp holiday will help the only child to get along with others in his own age group.

A pet and hobbies are very important to the happiness of an only child. He can't always have a chum with him, but he can find in the devotion of a dog or in the fun of creative work many satisfying hours. A love of music and reading are two resources for the only child. So is an enthusiasm for the out-of-doors. Many worthwhile interests are a partial compensation to the child who finds himself without brothers or sisters.

Last year there were 89,015 new dwelling units completed in Canada, about the same number as in 1949.

Fun and Music

A jumbo-sized smile, high spirits and music on the sunny side have long been the stock-in-trade of Al Harvey, veteran radio showman. Al broadcasts a lively quarter-hour of songs in Harvey style on Tuesday nights at 10 on the CBC, with Jimmy Namaro's instrumental sextet providing the musical background and taking the spotlight occasionally for an orchestral number. Monday to Friday all winter, over station CBL (Toronto) at 8.30 a.m. he's been dusting off some of the old records that were popular way back when, and mixing them with a few more recent ones to fill a half hour with music and amiable chatter.

TO GET RID OF MONEY PROBLEMS, PUT THE ACCENT ON THE POSITIVE

People who overcome challenges — from scaling mountains to mastering financial problems — invariably start with a mental attitude that is "right". To gain the things you want out of life, you first must know WHAT you want: then work confidently towards getting it. People who are pessimistic — or unsure — or who want to put off starting until some other time — have a habit of winding up as "also rans".

That's why Personal Planning at the Bank of Montreal can be such a big help to you if you are seriously interested in getting the most out of your money — and out of life. For Personal Planning is, above all, an attitude of mind . . your personal plan is your personal affirmation that you can lick your money problems — that you can learn to live within your income and like it.

Personal Planning puts money where it belongs — at the back of your mind. If you really work to perfect your plan, money problems will rarely disturb your enjoyment of a full, interesting and abundant life. It takes a bit of doing, admittedly, but you can achieve it if you really want to. The first step towards achieving it is to drop into the Lachute branch of the Bank of Montreal and see Leo Brouillette, the accountant. He will be glad to give you a copy of the booklet Personal Planning, without any obligation.

In ten years . . . with bigger staffs and higher wages, payrolls have jumped from $40 million a year to $102 million

. . . taxes, federal, provincial and municipal, have risen from $9.5 million to $20.7 million a year

OBITUARY

Late Ontario Resident Was Native of Mille Isles

Death of James McCullough at Whitby, Ont.

After a prolonged illness, Mr. James McCullough, of Claremont, Ont., passed away March 6 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. H. MacCarl, at Whitby, Ont.

Mr. McCullough was born at Mille Isles, Que., on June 3, 1867, the son of Thomas McCullough and Elizabeth Thompson. He went to the Nipissing district in 1895 and took up farming in Calvin Township. In 1896 he married Margaret Stewart, daughter of a pioneer farmer of that district. Twelve children were born to the couple — Ella (Mrs. H. Pennell), of Toronto; Thomas (who died in infancy); Freeman, of Port Perry; Laura (Mrs. R. H. MacCarl), of Whitby, Ont.; Doreas (Mrs. R. Kirk), of Douglas, Ont.; Evelyn (Mrs. R. Hopkin), of Toronto; Lyman, of North Bay; Adelaide (Mrs. J. Lougheed), of Elmvale, Ont.; Stella (Mrs. J. Pickens), of Toronto; Donald and Lester, of Claremont; and Joyce (Mrs. H. Mills), of Toronto.

Three of the daughters were teachers, two trained nurses and two business girls; three of the sons were farmers and Lyman a hydro superintendent. Besides his children he leaves to mourn his loss 27 grandchildren, two sisters, (Maude) Mrs. W. Davidson, of North Bay, (Annie) Mrs. E. Hughes, of St. Laurent, Que., and one brother, Alex, of Morin Heights, Que.

The late Mr. McCullough always took an active interest in civic affairs. He was for many years a member of the council, and later reeve of Calvin Township. In 1920 he moved to a farm in Pickering Township, so that his family might have better educational facilities. Mr. McCullough was a member of the United Church and served as an elder for many years. He said many times that "God had led him all the way".

Fifteen years ago, Mr. McCullough retired from farming and went to live in the Village of Claremont. In 1946 Mr. and Mrs. McCullough celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. In September, 1949, he suffered a stroke from which he never fully recovered. He was laid to rest in Claremont Union Cemetery.

Was Long-Time Resident Of Ogdensburg Community

The Late Russel MacKimmie

Ogdensburg lost another of its former residents with the passing of Russel Crawford MacKimmie, on March 27 at Lachute.

The funeral was held March 29 from the home of a nephew, Alvin Heatlie, at St. Philippe, where relatives and former neighbors assembled to pay final tribute to one who had spent many years, as a cheese-maker and later as a farmer, in this community.

The late Mr. MacKimmie was in his 78th year. His wife, the former Elizabeth Heatlie, predeceased him 18 years ago.

The pall-bearers were — Messrs. John MacKimmie, Simon Wilson, William Wilson, William Heatlie, John Heatlie and John Donaldson.

Late Rancher, Pioneer Of Saskatchewan District, Was Born in Mille Isles

Late Walter T. R. Boyd

Maple Creek, Sask. — Walter T. R. Boyd, who was born at Mille Isles, Que., on March 15, 1889, died suddenly at his home in Maple Creek on March 16, of a heart attack.

Moving to the West in 1906, like the majority of arrivals in those years he took up ranch work, later buying a ranch 28 miles southwest of Maple Creek. He carried on at the ranch until a year ago, when he retired to a new home he had erected in the town of Maple Creek. Over the years he found time to encourage the movement to breed thoroughbred horses in the district, being an active member of the Light Horse Association, and raising a number of prize-winners that appeared in the show-rings. For several years he was president of the Light Horse Association. His friendly ways were in evidence whenever one called at his ranch, where old-time western hospitality was assured. His sudden passing will cause genuine regret among all privileged to know him. In 1916 he married Mary Fleming, eldest daughter of the late John Fleming, an old timer of the district.

Imediate surviving relatives include his wife; a brother, Harry, of St. Jovite, Que.; and a sister, Mrs. W. J. Sadler, of Flaxcombe, Sask.

The funeral service, under I.O.O.F. auspices, was held in the United Church on March 21, with the pastor, Rev. A. E. Swanston, conducting. Burial was made in the Maple Creek Cemetery.

IRO's Oldest Refugee to Settle in USA

Paulina Wilsdorf, the oldest ward of the International Refugee Organization (IRO)—one of U.N.'s Specialized Agencies—recently celebrated her 105th birthday in a refugee camp near Salzburg, Austria. Her adopted daughter, Elizavita, aged 5, reads the inscription on the cake which says happy birthday in English and Polish. On her anniversary Mrs. Wilsdorf received the most treasured gift she had ever hoped for—the news that she would be resettled in the United States of America, as soon as arrangements can be made.

Wonderful Machines

(Royal Bank Letter)

Last census the enumerators carried around forms two feet four inches wide; this year they will have forms about seven inches square. The enumerator merely makes a mark in the right space instead of writing your answer in full. He uses an electrographic pen.

Then, instead of transcribing the information laboriously by hand, in the old manner, the census people will feed the cards into a machine. Wherever the special ink appears, an electrical contact will be made and a hole will be punched. There emerges from the machine a fully punched card, ready for automatic counting or for filing.

The electronic statistical machine is one of the "wizards" among machines. It will reject cards containing errors. For example, if the enumerator has put a mark opposite "6" for a lad's age, and another mark opposite "married", the circuits won't take it.

Similarly, if a farmer's card has a hole punched to indicate he got something like $55 a bushel for his wheat, the circuits won't take that either. These cards would be thrown out by the machine for correction.

Comedy Presented by Kilmar Players

Kilmar — The Kilmar Home and School Club presented a three-act comedy, "Everybody Works But Father", recently at the Kilmar Community Hall. Weeks of rehearsal by the cast resulted in a very worthwhile production. The play centres around an ordinary, rather philosophical family. The plot is not fantastic, and the humor in the story, and its characters, are very lively and everyday, thereby making a play that appeals to every member of the family. . . . The audience at Kilmar were unanimous in acclaiming the production as the "Academy Award" effort for the district.

The Kilmar players decided to share this good entertainment with a number of the neighboring towns. The Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church in Grenville, and the Women's Auxiliary of the United Church in Vankleek Hill, invited the players from Kilmar to stage one-night productions in their respective towns. The play was staged at Vankleek Hill on April 4, and will be presented at Grenville tomorrow evening, Friday, April 6.

BETHANY RD., LACHUTE

At Brownsburg Council

Fire Protection

In his report to the Council, Fire Chief A. Robbins noted two fires during the preceding month. . . A passenger car caught fire while travelling from Lachute to Brownsburg and had to be extinguished at Cyr's Garage with the aid of the Fire Brigade. Damage was estimated at about $200.

A chimney fire on the French Hill was of a minor nature. In connection with this latter the Chief called attention to indiscriminate parking of cars in the vicinity of the Catholic Church. The work of the brigade was made increasingly difficult by parked cars, which may at any time be responsible for increased damage by blocking the freedom of passage for the firemen.

Trailer

The Fire Chief recommended a trailer be obtained for conveying the booster pump to outside fires. The members received this suggestion very favorably and enquiries are to be made into costs, etc.

Ladder

The acquisition of an aluminum ladder, as suggested at last meeting, was discussed, and if the idea was not discarded it lost considerable favor. Councillor Denault said he had inspected it; he favored a wooden one. Councillor Lavoie was of the opinion that aluminum ladders were not suitable. If such a ladder came into contact with live power lines, there was danger men would be electrocuted; and when elevated against a burning building, such a ladder would likely become so hot as to burn the men's hands. They were not used by the cities except as a mechanically-erected escape ladder. The Fire Chief instanced the use of such ladders at Ottawa, and that wire reinforcing made a wooden ladder equally conductive to electricity. He would settle for a wooden truss ladder.

Councillor Wilson was for investigating a little further.

Dog and Business Taxes

The collecter reported $268 had been received in dog tax since last meeting. He expected about $30 was yet outstanding. He asked to have his commission. . . Later in the proceedings it was explained the collector was on salary and not commission; so adjustment was made.

Police Chief Choquette said there were no accidents to report.

He applied for stationery, etc., and instructions as to business tax collecting. This led to a discussion as to whom the tax applied to, especially with relation to out-of-town business firms. The matter was eventually resolved.

Waterworks Contract

Some monies still remain to be paid on the account of the contract completed by Laurentian Industries. Several merchants are awaiting payment for goods and materials delivered to the project, but no word has been received from the contractor. The matter is in the hands of the lawyers.

The monthly vouchers were ordered paid, on the motion of Councillor Wilson, seconded by Councillor Ouellette.

The Purpose of "The Watchtower"

Literal towers in Bible times were elevated vantage points from which watchmen could observe happenings, warn of danger, or announce good news. Our magazine figuratively occupies such a vantage point, for it is founded on the very pinnacle of wisdom, God's Word. That elevates it above racial, national and political propagandas and prejudices, frees it from selfish bias. It is not bound by any traditional creed, but its message advances as the light on God's purposes and works increases.
— Habakkuk 2:1-3.

It sees things Scripturally. When it observes this generation afflicted with greed, delinquency, hypocrisy, atheism, war, famine, pestilence, perplexity and fear, and persecution of unpopular minorities, it does not parrot the old fable about history repeating itself. Informed by Bible prophecy, it sees in these things the sign of the world's time of the end. But with bright hope it also sees opening up for us just beyond these woes the portals of a new world.

Thus viewed, "The Watchtower" stands as a watchman atop a tower, alert to what is going on, awake to note signs of danger, faithful to point out the way of escape. It announces Jehovah's kingdom established by Christ's enthronement in heaven, feeds his kingdom joint-heirs with spiritual food, cheers men of good will with glorious prospects of eternal life in a paradise earth, comforts us with the resurrection promise for the dead.

It is not dogmatic, but has a confident ring in its voice, because it is based on God's Word. It does not privately interpret prophecy, but calls attention to physical facts, sets them alongside prophecy, and you see for yourself how well the two match, how accurately Jehovah interprets his own prophecy. In the interest of our salvation, it keeps sharp and faithful focus on Bible truth, and views religious news generally.

'Be watchful in these perilous times', God admonishes. So keep on the watch by regularly reading "The Watchtower".

If ordered before May 1, you will receive the booklet, "Can You Live Forever in Happiness on Earth?" along with the Watchtower for one year — for $1, also two other booklets. — The Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, 40 Irwin Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

Quebec -- A Land Of Common Sense . .

system of justice, because it is most unfair that the man who works hard and well should receive the same treatment as the man who does not work. . . Private initiative, I would say, is a moral necessity.

"These things are plain, are clear, are evident. I dare say that the great majority of the people share these views. But is it not a fact, that today the problems and dangers threatening private enterprise are due, not to the enemies but to some so-called friends of private enterprise? We have experienced two world wars already that cost immensely in men, in money and in everything else, but I venture to say that these wars did not cost as much as does the great army of the indifferent, the complacent, the careless. The time has arrived when everyone should be on the alert. . . I appeal to you who are leaders in your communities, who are representing an important part of the business world, never to forget that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

"The strength of the Communists today, the strength of the radicals does not reside in their numbers. It took only 17½ per cent to take over Russia. It lies in their audacity and in their singleness of purpose, but mainly in the apathy, indifference and complacency of the so-called 'good' people.

"The provincial treasurer, just before the session adjourned, brought down a rising budget that matches the industrial growth of the province, and yet a surplus was to be seen for the year. So well has the province been administered, and so well has the stewardship been reflected in the budget, that The Montreal Star — not always a staunch supporter of Maurice Duplessis — saw fit to commend the Government editorially. . . .

"Remember, the man or woman who knows the true facts cannot be misled. Either the province is prosperous, or it is not prosperous. Either there is a provincial surplus, or there is not. Either the administration is doing a good job, or it isn't. You can't have it both ways. The evidence is very clearly set before you, that Quebec has never enjoyed so well-balanced a march of prosperity into the future as she is enjoying at the present time.

"Yet there are those who . . would try and tell you that black is white, that if it isn't exactly white, then it must be a sort of a light grey, and will give you a great many reasons why you shouldn't worry too much about these things anyway.

"I am here to tell you the contrary. Take an interest in provincial government, take an interest in provincial administration, take an interest in provincial affairs. . . And when the time comes you will be able to vote in the full knowledge of the fine job that is being done."

TO SEE WHO'S THERE

For nervous people who wonder what sort of a person is ringing the front door bell, there is a new device described in The Financial Post. A door lookout with a wide-angle lens fits any metal or wood door up to two inches thick and is easy to install. The lens makes it possible for person on inside to get a full view of whoever is at the door, while outsider cannot see in.

Ontario Regulations On Margarine Sales

Toronto (CP) — A bill strengthening Ontario's margarine control law was approved last week by the Provincial Legislature's agriculture committee.

One amendment provides that no margarine advertising shall state or imply that the butter substitute is related to any dairy product.

Under the bill, advertising would not be allowed to depict a dairy scene. It defines margarine as a food made wholly or in part "from any fat or oil other than that of milk", and permits appointment of inspectors to carry out Order-in-Council regulation prescribing quality and composition of margarine.

Entertaining

Does it happen that you are on the committee for serving refreshments to a club, lodge or church group? Are you Mrs. Housewife who is planning to entertain your own friends at a spring tea? The home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa find that many homemakers have difficulty in thinking up food for social events and in estimating how much of certain foods to prepare for a required number of people. They have had so many enquiries for assistance in this respect from all over Canada, that they offer the following helpful information:

Whether the event be a buffet supper, a luncheon or a tea, sandwiches may be the centre of attraction. Some people, of course, are more interested in the cakes but on the whole the average person really enjoys good sandwiches. The home economists of the Consumer Section have a very good pamphlet called "The Art of Making Sandwiches". It tells about how much butter and filling are needed for each loaf of bread. It describes how to make various types of sandwiches and it suggests many different fillings. This pamphlet will be invaluable to each and every Canadian housewife. It may be obtained free of charge by merely writing to the Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Here are some of the suggestions contained in the pamphlet:

Sandwich loaves are usually used for sandwiches; they are sold in sizes of one and one-half pounds, two pounds and three pounds. One and one-half pound loaf cuts into about 30 to 40 ⅛-inch slices and the three pound loaf cuts into twice as many. Thus, from 1½ pound sandwich loaf 15 to 20 sandwiches may be made. Each 1½ pound loaf requires about ¼ pound of well-creamed butter for spreading, and about ¾ pound of moist filling. Sliced meat will cut into about 15 to 20 slices per pound, and 1 dozen hard-cooked eggs will fill about 20 sandwiches.

No matter what the event there is always a beverage needed. The amounts required are as follows. It takes from 1 to 1½ pounds of coffee to serve 50 people, depending, of course, upon how strong it is made. For each cup of coffee you should figure on two tablespoons of light cream; as there are sixteen tablespoons to a cup of cream it takes about 1½ quarts of cream for coffee for 50 people.

To serve tea to the same number of people ½ pound of tea is required and 1½ pints of light cream, this allows 1 tablespoon of cream per cup of tea. The loaf sugar required for the coffee and the tea would be about 1 pound, that is allowing two lumps per cup. Some people take sugar and some don't, so by allowing two lumps per person that is plenty for those who like three lumps or even four. If fruit or vegetable juices are to be served, plan to serve at least one half a cup, which is four fluid ounces per serving. For 50 people then, 10 20-ounce cans or two 105-ounce cans will be needed.

Perhaps the event is to be a church dinner or supper. This is where so many conveners become frightfully confused trying to figure out amounts. Starting at the first course and continuing through, the home economists give some suggestions. Soup is very good as a starter but it is a little hard to handle, so juice is more practical for such occasions. If celery and olives or pickles are to be served to 50 people 8 good sized bunches of celery should be sufficient. Two quarts of pickles or olives will be needed to allow about 2 pickles per person. Next is the main course. The amounts needed to serve 50 people will be as follows. If the meat is to be roast pork, beef, veal or ham, 25 pounds of meat will be required. This allows about ½ pound meat and bone per serving. When this meat is bought without the bone, 15 to 16 pounds should be sufficient. Perhaps roast turkey is to be the pièce de résistance, for this 40 pounds dressed weight is necessary and for roast chicken about 50 pounds is required. The larger amount for poultry is due to the larger percentage of bone. It may be that meat loaf is to be the meat; after all it is more economical. For 50 people 12½ pounds of meat loaf is required, 7 pounds of raw minced meat which has been extended with celery, onions, cracker crumbs and eggs should be sufficient to make the 12½ pounds of meat loaf.

Considering vegetables, potatoes are usually a must. For mashed potatoes allow ½ cup per serving, which means 15 pounds are necessary, for scalloped potatoes 12 pounds should be sufficient. For carrots, cabbage and beets about 15 pounds are necessary. If it is to be canned beans, peas or corn, 12 20-ounce cans should be sufficient.

Lastly the dessert. . From each pie there should be six servings. If ice cream is to be served a number 12 scoop gives ⅓ cup servings and 4½ quarts of ice cream will be necessary. For canned fruit decide on how many servings may be obtained from a 20-ounce can or 105-ounce can and buy accordingly.

When Spring Is Queen

Pussywillow buds are bursting,
On the maple trees the thirsting
Cans are seen.
Hint of bloom the lilac wears,
And the bare brown sod appears
Touched with green.

The marsh ferns lifting drowsy heads,
The crocus and the tulip beds
Hear the call
That wakes them from their winter sleep,
Their tryst with Mistress Spring to keep
By garden wall.

Through the silver showers falling
Voice of crow and robin calling
O'er the land.
Through rocky gorge the waters scurry
While brook and river seaward hurry,
Hand in hand.

Softly the winds from the golden west,
The bowing trees on the hill caress,
Then sighing low
To slumber sink in the valley dim
Where the sunset gold on the mountain rim

When curling mists the crests enfold
And mystic bands of dawn-light hold
A silver sheen,
In the waking forest choir is heard
The love call of the mating bird

flat on one's face

"Know-how" is a popular phrase in these times — the western nations' industrial know-how is said to be their greatest hope. But it is not enough to know how to do a job. Doing it is what counts. Between knowing and doing there are usually a surprising number of opportunities for falling flat on one's face.

The textile industry in Canada, of which Dominion Textile is a part, has been practising for over a century to avoid falling flat on its face. While learning its job and doing it, the industry has become the largest employer of manufacturing labor in Canada and the payer of the largest manufacturing wage bill.

FASHION HINT

A dress of beige rayon sheer, a good daytime choice, cleverly utilizes graduated folds to add interest to the otherwise pencil-slim skirt. The turn-back tabs at the neck are of black silk bengaline, to make for the always interesting color scheme of beige and black. Similar detail is repeated at the sleeves, highlighted with glittery rhinestone buttons. The small stand-up collar is held closed by a little loop on the inside. This model is fine for now and right on into spring as one of those smartly simple dresses that fit well into almost any daytime occasion.

Nearing Completion of Annual Invitation Event At Curling Club

Lachute Curling Club has been a hive of activity this week as various rinks from near and far have attended the 3rd annual Invitation Bonspiel, to try their skill in competition for the Quent Miller Trophy and numerous other attractive prizes. Meals are being served by the ladies, to the complete satisfaction of the many players, and throughout the competitions there has been a general feeling of friendliness and good cheer.

J. Watson, of Heather Club, with a plus of 20 is so far in the lead, and Dr. Kelly, Hawkesbury, a close second with 19 points. Next come J. McLeod, Hawkesbury, 15, and R. S. Stephens, Vankleek Hill, 13. Finals will be played on Saturday evening.

• • •

In the Elgin Trophy games, J. R. Charron (skip), D. Hay, H. Kerr and L. Bedard won their first game with Caledonia, but were beaten in the second by Thistle Club. On Friday they defeated Shawinigan Falls, thus entering the "C" Competition. They were however defeated by Montreal West, and consequently eliminated from any further games. In all, however, they made a very creditable showing.

Thursday, April 12, the annual meeting of the Curling Club will take place, with dinner, election of officers and presentation of prizes.

NEW SETTLERS ARRIVE

Montreal — The largest number of immigrants to reach Canada on a single ship, some 1,500 Dutch settlers passed through here on March 26, bound for Ontario and Western Canada. The immigrants travelled in three special boat trains from the liner Volendam at Halifax.

Coming to Canada under the Federal Government's land settlement scheme, the latest arrivals bring to nearly 3,500 the number of Dutch settlers to reach Canada so far this year. The total number scheduled to be brought to this country from the Netherlands in 1951 is 10,000.

Two other C.N.R. trains were needed on the same day to accommodate immigrants from the liner Ascania. These were en route to Toronto.

Caledonia Club Curlers Win Annual Invitation Bonspiel

"This is the largest and best event Lachute Curling Club has ever had", said President James McGibbon as he welcomed a large audience of spectators Saturday at the finals of the third annual Invitation Bonspiel, which drew 97 rinks from near and distant points.

Games had been proceeding for almost two weeks, and the play-offs were held on Saturday. In the afternoon Caledonia defeated M. J. McLeod, of Hawkesbury, in a score of 9-7, while Heather won over Dr. Kelly, also of Hawkesbury, 12-7. In the Consolation game two Hawkesbury rinks competed.

In the finals between Heather and Caledonia, the former rink seemed unable to get started, and during the first eight ends took only one point to their opponents' 16. In the last two ends they added three, making the final score 16-4. Some splendid shots were played on both sides, despite the fact that the game was somewhat one-sided, which lessened the usual enthusiasm of keen competition expected on such occasions.

Much more spectacular was the Consolation game between the two Hawkesbury rinks, each winning an end respectively, with two four, two five and one six end. With the score now a tie, and with four shots in the count on the last end, Skip McLeod endeavored to make another point to win, but missed by a small margin to leave the count 16-16. In the extra end it was almost a survival of the fittest as each stone was replaced by the opposing team. Dr. Kelly on his last stone was slightly wide and left his opponents 2 points up.

Presentation of prizes then took place, and Mr. Quent Miller was called upon to present his trophy to the winners. He offered his congratulations and commented on the splendid fellowship and hospitality existing not only during this bonspiel but at all times in Lachute Curling Club. As the trophy was leaving Lachute for a year, Mr. Miller presented a picture of it as a momento to be hung in the clubrooms. . . Besides this trophy there were 16 beautiful prizes from which the winners were allowed to take their choice.

An attractive table lamp, donated as a door prize, was won by Mrs. R. Cairns.

Mr. Whitticker, a past president of Caledonia Curling Club, and vice-president of the Royal Caledonia Club of Scotland, expressed the appreciation of the many guests for the splendid hospitality always shown them when visiting Lachute, and praised the ladies for their co-operation in serving such excellent meals.

Messrs. A. Ogilvie, J. MacKimmie and L. Bedard were thanked for their work in arranging the bonspiel, which surpassed last year's entries by some 25 rinks.

Among the contestants were several Lachute foursomes and of these one team (R. Todd, skip, F. Pring, D. Bates, and J. Johnson) in a game against Caledonia had a high-plus of 9 points. It was a very good showing and Mr. Clarey Walker presented each player with a bottle of "Harwood's Special".

Dancing and refreshments combined to make the third annual Invitation Bonspiel a very successful and happy one.

Teams in the concluding events were as follows: —

Pitted Roads

With the disappearance of winter's snow, the road surfaces around town present a pot-holed appearance. The Staynerville connection is especially bad where it enters the village here. This road needs a new surface; patching will not do much good. The narrow McGibbon's bridge is due for a widening; in fact this has become a hazard of late years, and although a poor attempt was put forward to make it more adequate for traffic, it is still an eyesore and a hazard. Beyond the bridge the surface of the road is badly heaved, and as the local council have some difficulty with water service in this area, it is hoped that any necessary excavations will be completed before the government department moves in to repair the road.

What Happened to the Fire Siren?

We remember asking this question before. (We nearly wrote "once before", but it is more than that). There was quite a big scheme talked about in relation to this project of erecting the siren, but nothing further was done about it. Was it just all talk? Or is it a shortage of something or other? A lot of people are asking these questions, so we just repeat them.

Traffic Lights

The local police are paying particular attention to traffic light offenders, and quite a number have been forced to pay penalties for infringing the regulation. It is amazing the number of drivers who try to beat the light, and in doing so have their attention distracted from the pedestrian who may be crossing at the moment. A young boy was knocked down last week by one of those thoughtless offenders; fortunately he was not hurt. It could happen that — "You may miss the opportunity of a lifetime, if you fail to stop at a stop-sign".

Korea Missionary to Speak Here Tomorrow

Miss Ada Sandell, missionary nurse recently returned from Korea, will be guest speaker at the W.M.S. Thank-Offering meeting in Lachute United Church tomorrow (Friday) afternoon. Her visit is looked forward to with keen interest, for Miss Sandell has an intimate knowledge of conditions in Korea. She has spent 18 years there — 15 in the north and the last three in South Korea at the Severance Hospital in Seoul, a hospital which has suffered very heavily from bombing attacks. Last June, when Seoul was in the path of the North Korean advance, Miss Sandell, with others, was evacuated to Japan. Some months later she came to Canada, and is now living in Magog, Que. What she has to say will be of special interest at this time.

Scouts to Collect Salvage Paper

Lachute Boy Scouts will conduct another salvage paper collection on Saturday, April 28. Householders are asked to bear this canvass in mind, and to set aside paper bundles to make this drive worthwhile. Surplus metal clothes-hangers, in good condition, will also be received for re-sale.

Teams Listed in Baseball League

CANVASS PROCEEDING HERE FOR "JEUNESSE SPORTIVE" ASSOCIATE MEMBERS

A complete complement of teams has been signed up for the Laurentian Senior Baseball League, according to officials of the Lachute club. The northern section, of which Lachute is one of 12 component teams, was listed in last week's report. The southern section comprises six teams — Plessisville, Levis, St. Georges de Beauce, Thetford Mines, Quebec and Victoriaville.

It is stated that one of the above teams will also visit Lachute during the season for an off-schedule game.

After completion of the schedule and play-offs, the winning club in each respective section will compete for the championship and the title of the league. . . Altogether, local fans are looking forward to the season with interest, since Lachute is linked with this active and well-organized aggregation.

Everything is being done to boost interest in Lachute's participation. A baseball "soirée" at the Auditorium last evening, was part of an intensive campaign for associate memberships in the Association de la Jeunesse Sportive Inc. To this campaign in its initial stages, numerous citizens and firms have already subscribed (see list elsewhere in these pages). Membership in La Jeunesse Sportive (Youth Sports) entitles the holder to admission to all league schedule games at the stadium here this season, 35 in number. A phone call to 1441 will contact an official of the Association, for any information required.

It is just 99 years since Canada issued her first postage stamp.

Charter Night of New Rotary Club

FRIENDS SEE 'BUD' BRASH INDUCTED PRESIDENT AT ST. LAURENT - MT. ROYAL

The charter night of the St. Laurent - Mount Royal Rotary Club was held Monday, April 9, in the new civic hall at the Town of Mount Royal. Over 250 visiting Rotarians and their wives, from the State of New York, Ontario and Quebec, gathered to do honor to the members of the new club.

The address was delivered by Norman Foster, of Ottawa, a past-director of Rotary International. The charter was presented to the new president, C. G. Brash (a former Lachute townsman), by District Governor Ralph Wiber, of Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Those attending the gala event from this district were Rotarians Arthur McOuat, Wes Freeland and Stewart Jones, accompanied by Miss Janet McOuat, Mrs. Freeland and Mrs. Jones.

It was a particularly happy occasion for Stewart Jones, president of the Rotary Club of Brownsburg, who conceived the idea of forming the new club with his friend, C. G. (Bud) Brash.

Gifts from many Rotary branches included, from those in this immediate district, a Rotary flag from Brownsburg (jointly with Westward branch), a guest register from Hawkesbury, and metal meeting badges in a case, from St. Jerome.

Time for Traffic Check-Up

With the approach of spring — the ordering of traffic paint, and other civic incidentals — it is time for our Police Department to take a sterner view on traffic.

The speeding of taxis, a long-standing subject of complaint, still continues unabated.

The parking of vehicles opposite fire-plugs has become so common that there is danger it may be accepted as quite the proper thing to do.

However, there is one complaint still more annoying — namely, the mass parking of truck transports on Main Street. . . . Monday night at 11 o'clock, there were no fewer than five transport trailers parked in the proximity of the lunch-bars, besides a number of tractors coupled or separate from the vans. One trailer was left unhitched in front of a private driveway. It took the proprietor half an hour to locate the operator and get the van removed, so that he could put his car away for the night. . . On this same occasion, the mechanical noises caused by coupling, uncoupling, starting and re-starting these transports, continued into the early hours, to the exasperation of residents on all sides.

But this is nothing new — it is an old story. There is a by-law to prohibit the noise; it is not enforced. There is apparently no by-law to prohibit the parking; but there should be! Main Street is not a warehouse for the manipulation of trucks and their loads; these obstructions and annoyances should be removed outside the town limits, where there is more space, and fewer residents to disturb.

Killed at Ste. Therese, Car Goes Over Viaduct

Regent Lecuyer, a young resident of St. Jerome, lost his life when his automobile went out of control on the highway at Ste. Therese and plunged over a viaduct.

Police Chief R. Denis, of Ste. Therese, said Lecuyer was travelling from the north when the accident occurred. The careening auto snapped off six fence posts before coming to a stop in a water-filled ditch. When police reached the scene, Lecuyer's body was half submerged in water.

Trio Defy Police in Streets of St. Eustache

Three young men — two Montrealers and a St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac resident — were ordered by a St. Jerome court on Monday to pay fines and damages totalling $300 for their part in a disturbance in St. Eustache Sunday night.

The three were part of a group of 13 men who resisted Chief of Police Donat Guindon when he ordered them to move from one of the St. Eustache streets.

A fight ensued during which the chief and his assistant, Const. Eugene Renaud, had their uniforms torn. The chief's car was also damaged.

When they appeared before Judge Hermann Barrette, the three pleaded guilty and agreed to pay all damages.

Local Businessman Has Taking Ways !

Florida got in the hair of a local townsman, Herbie Graves (who was one of the Lachute foursome who made that memorable trip just lately) . . or maybe, returning home, he just couldn't accustom himself to wearing a topcoat in this chilly clime. Certain it is — he's had a job keeping track of his coat ever since!

It is reported by friends in-the-know, that Herbie took the wrong coat after the recent Legion Revue at the High School. Still unaware of his error, he wore the coat to church on Sunday — but left it there and took another by mistake! At this point his taking ways caught up with him, and the respective owners sorted out their coats. . . Herbie, however, was still not too sure of his own; two days later, after a Lions Club meeting he was about to walk off with a fellow member's spring-and-fall, when someone called attention to his mistake once again.

Tell-Tale Pictures for National Wildlife Week

Game Destruction by Voracious Dogs

Five authentic snapshots of deer slaughtered by roving dogs, were exhibited to The Watchman this week — all within a small radius from the road between Dalesville and Louisa. Above are two of these pictures, photographed by E. Coulson; they show a buck and a doe, both killed by dogs, but with only a small portion of the flesh eaten.

A clause in the Quebec Fish and Game regulations was cited by Game Warden L. Bates, in informing The Watchman of these cases recently. The paragraph states that "any person may, without incurring any responsibility, kill any such dogs running at large, hunting or coursing in any place frequented by deer". The regulation adds that owners of such dogs are liable to a fine for allowing them to run at large in the bush.

Hold Clinic Here for Legion Blood Bank

Lachute Branch of the Canadian Legion held their regular monthly meeting in the Memorial Hall on Wednesday, April 11, with Comrade Carl Demerse in the chair.

It was announced that a Legion blood donor clinic would be held in the Hall on May 2, at 6.30 p.m., with a trained staff from Montreal and with a physician in attendance. This "blood bank" has been doing very good work for veterans and their families. Any veteran or a member of his family in need of blood transfusions during hospitalization or for emergencies, can receive, free of charge, as many transfusions as are needed. The transfusions are "charged" to the Lachute branch of the Legion's "bank", and the branch holds a clinic once a year to build up this supply. . .

A case occurred only recently in a nearby town, where a veteran was undergoing an emergency operation and blood was needed immediately. The committee in charge at Lachute telephoned to Montreal, and within three hours the blood was in the hands of the doctor, without charge to the patient.

There have been many cases, and this organization deserves the support of all Legionnaires and veterans, their families, and also any person who would like to assist in this venture. The Legion Blood Bank is working in agreement here with the local Red Cross as regards dates — since the Red Cross are holding their clinic in the fall, the organizations will not conflict.

Carl Demerse and Guy Rogers were named as official delegates to attend the Provincial Command convention in Montreal.

A demonstration and lecture was held by Ernest Barrie, of the Veterans' Land Act, last Monday in the Legion Memorial Hall. Mr. Albert Ogilvie was the guest speaker on "Landscaping", and Mr. Grant Parent, of the V.L.A., gave a lecture on "Secondary Income and Vegetable Gardens". Three motion pictures were shown, on beautifying the home and on different insects which attack the garden. . . This is the first lecture on this subject; there will be another one presented in the near future.

PARENTS NEGLECTFUL SAYS TRAFFIC EXPERT

Johannesburg (CP)—Irresponsible parents nullify all the traffic department's efforts to teach children the rules of traffic safety, according to senior inspector Cloete Smith.

Smith has been lecturing at schools on "how to behave on the streets". He said here "during the week I teach the children to be courteous and careful. On Saturdays mother takes them shopping or to the cinema and nullifies all my efforts by doing exactly the things they should not do".

The inspector added, "I think adults should get even more lectures than the children".

Protective Order on Freight Traffic

Pending the erection of a flashing signal at the Bethany Street C.P.R. crossing (for which an order was issued in February by the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada, to be fulfilled within 90 days) the transport authorities are alert to precautions that will prevent further casualty, damage or loss of life at this danger spot in the meantime. An accident occurred there on civic election day, involving a heavy truck and float, which prompted the issuance of a further order by the Board — notification of which was received last week by the town secretary-treasurer. Text of this order is as follows:

Board of Transport Commissioners
Order No. 76339
April 2, 1951

In the matter of the accident on February 1, 1951, at the crossing of Bethany Street and the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Town of Lachute —

It is ordered:

(1) That no engine, car or train shall pass at a speed greater than 10 miles an hour.

(2) That, when freight trains are occupying the passing track and have the crossing cut, a member of the train crew protect the crossing when any movement on the main line is being made.

— (Signed) M. B. Archibald, Chief Commissioner.

Three Children Die in Papineau County Blaze

Three children under the age of four years were killed by fire in Masson last Monday morning when trapped in their blazing two-storey frame home.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lafrance, were away at the time of the fire. Mr. Lafrance was at his job with the Quebec Roads Department. His wife, meanwhile, left her home shortly before 10 o'clock and walked to the corner store to buy some potatoes. The store is little more than half a block from the Lafrance home.

Government Refuses Its Own Currency !

Making a purchase over the counter the other day, a clerk from a local business tendered five neatly rolled packages of coin in part payment. The assistant behind the counter refused to accept the coin, telling the customer to get them changed for bills at the bank.

An eyewitness reported this incident to The Watchman from a district place of business — we are not identifying the place nor the business, for it might be embarrassing to the employee concerned. . . The point of inconsistency, however, is that it occurred at a branch of a government department — presenting a ludicrous picture of the Canadian Government declining to honor its own currency!

Request to Council For Building Permit New Movie Theatre

AT APRIL SESSION OF CITY FATHERS

The April meeting of Lachute Town Council, regular session, was held last Wednesday under presidency of the Mayor, with all councillors in attendance.

Mr. E. M. Jones, accompanied by Messrs. Throw and Provost, from the Cinema Booking Company, appeared before Council seeking a building permit for a theatre on Main Street, on the property of the late Peter Dobbie. The Council, before granting such permit, requested Mr. Throw to submit the plan; and as no plan was available for consideration at this meeting, it was decided to hold a special meeting whenever the plans were ready, and to discuss the matter after giving them due study.

It was moved by Ald. Omer Laurin, seconded by Ald. W. S. MacKimmie, that By-law No. 182 (Art. 26) concerning Potato Chip Wagons be amended to read as follows: "The parking of any vehicle arranged for the sale of French-fried, pop corn, hot dogs, and other similar products in the streets of Lachute, be permitted with exception of the following area restricted: bounded at the south by the C.P.R., at the north by the North River, to the west by the North River, to the east by the Parish of St. Jerusalem, and that such permit be subject to cancellation upon decision of the Council. . . . The motion was carried, with Ald. Ernest Provost dissenting.

It was moved by Ald. Judes Charlebois, seconded by Ald. S. Holt, that By-law No. 185 establishing a tariff of fares and enacting compulsory insurance for taxis in the Town of Lachute, be left on table until next meeting.

It was decided that 150 feet of sewer be built on Evelina Street.

The firm of W. J. T. Adamson & Co. were appointed auditors for the year 1951.

John McFaul & Son —
$4.25 gal. — 5 gal. can.
$3.95 gal. — 45 gal. drum.

J. W. Lefebvre Ltée —
$4.80 gal. — 45 gal. drum.

T. McOuat & Son —
$4.75 gal. — 5 gal. can.

Lachute Lumber & Millwork Ltd. —
$4.06 gal. — 5 gal. can.

Chas. McFaul & Son —
$4.40 gal. — 5 gal. can.
$4.30 gal. — 45 gal. drum.

Lucien St. Jacques Ltée —
$4.25 gal. — 45 gal. drum.

It was moved by Ald. Alcidas Laurin, seconded by Ald. Ernest Provost, that nine 5-gal. cans of paint be purchased from Lachute Lumber & Millwork Ltd. for the price of $4.06 per gallon.

Ald. W. S. MacKimmie gave notice of motion that, at next meeting of the Council, he will present for adoption a by-law (to be known under No. 186 of the Corporation of the Town of Lachute) limiting the construction, the operation and the use of dance halls, bowling halls, halls for showing moving pictures, and halls for theatrical exhibitions, lectures or amusements of any nature whatsoever, where the general public is admitted.

A building permit was granted to S. Hume for a two-storey house on Grace Street East — construction to be under supervision of the Roads Committee.

Province of Quebec
County of Terrebonne

SCHOOL MUNICIPALITY OF THE CITY OF ST. JEROME

At a regular sitting of the School Commissioners for the Municipality of the City of St. Jerome, in the County of Terrebonne, held on April 5th, 1951, at which were present: M. J. A. Desjardins, President, and MM. Emile Lauzon, J. A. Charbonneau, J. A. Lessard and Wilfrid Prud'homme, forming a quorum.

WHEREAS the revenues of the Commission are insufficient to meet the requirements of their schools and that it has become necessary to increase them by the levying of an education tax so as not to overburden the small property;

WHEREAS the School Commission has been authorized by law to impose such tax;

WHEREAS the Commission has been authorized to divide this tax with the School trustees for the Municipality of the City of St. Jerome.

THEREFORE, it is proposed by M. J. A. Lessard, School Commissioner, and resolved, that a resolution be and is adopted and that it be ordered by this resolution as follows:

1. For the purposes of this resolution, unless the context implies a different meaning:
(a) "purchaser" means any person who acquires from a vendor moveable property at a retail sale in the territory hereinafter mentioned;

They shall include the charges for the installation of the thing sold, for interest, for finance, for service, for customs, for excise and for transportation, even when such are not shown separately on the invoice or in the vendor's books;
(e) "sale" includes a sale pure and simple, a conditional sale, a sale by instalments, an exchange, a lease or any other contract whereby at a price or other consideration a person delivers or binds himself to deliver, to another, moveable property;

(j) "city" means the City of St. Jerome;
(k) "commissionners" means the School Commissioners for the municipality of the City of St. Jerome, in the County of Terrebonne;

2. By the present resolution an education tax is imposed and will be levied from the date of the coming into force, in addition to any other tax, a special tax called "education tax" of one per cent of the sale or purchase price, retail, except the exemptions hereinafter enumerated, of any immoveables, any moveable effects, any merchandise and any article of trade whatsoever, including gas and electricity used for lighting, power or heating and telephone service, sold in the limits of the territory.

Subject to the exceptions in section 3, the tax is imposed and will be levied in the case of a sale made outside of the said territory, whether the purchaser resides or has his place of business in the said territory or outside thereof, provided that in such case the thing covered by the said contract is within the said territory, either at the time of the sale or at the time of the delivery, except if it is brought therein for purposes of delivery only, or that the thing which is in the said territory has been carried out of the said territory with the intention of evading the payment of the tax.

The tax is imposed and will be levied in the case of the sale of a motor vehicle, as defined in the Motor Vehicles Act (Revised Statutes, 1941, chapter 142), a piano, an electric refrigerator or a radio or of any other merchandise that the Commissioners may determine by resolution, to a purchaser who has his domicile or ordinary residence or place of business in the said territory, whatever be the place, outside of the said territory, where the sale or delivery is made.

3. This tax shall not apply to:
(a) Bonds and shares of a corporation;
(b) All other intangible property, all securities, all monies;
(c) All transactions made through the Canadian Commodity Exchange Inc.;
(d) All debts, rights of action, incorporeal rights, annuities, insurance premiums;
(e) Beer and tobacco;
(f) Gasoline and kerosene (coal oil);
(g) Foodstuffs, not including candies and confectioneries;
(h) Provisions or merchandise sold by a farmer, horticulturist, nurseryman, aviculturist or apiculturist and produced through the pursuit of his undertaking;
(i) Tools, farm implements, farm machinery, tractors, animal-drawn vehicles, and parts for the same, acquired by a bona fide farmer to be used for the needs of his farm; horses, harness for horses, livestock, metal wire or netting for fences, also purchased by a bona fide farmer to be used for the needs of his farm;
(j) Boats, fishing nets and any other fishing apparatus purchased by a bona fide fisherman to be used in his trade;
(k) Natural water, distilled water and ozonized water;
(l) Medicaments delivered on doctors' prescription; artificial limbs and orthopeadic appliances;
(m) Fares on tramways, autobuses, boats, railroads or other transportation systems by land, water or air and toll fares;
(n) Prices of admission to places of amusement, as defined by the Amusement Tax Act (Revised Statutes, 1941, chapter 85) and amendments;
(o) Sales to the Federal Government or to the Provincial Government;
(p) Sales made to a "fabrique" or the trustees of a parish or to a cemetery society or company or to a hospital, for the purposes of their work, and sales made by them;
(q) Sales by judicial authority;
(r) Sales made by any person carrying on business in the territory, when the merchandise thus sold is shipped outside of the territory, for consumption or use outside of the territory.
(s) Meals;
(t) Printed books and periodicals; classroom supplies, not including automatic pencils or fountain pens;
(u) Telegraphic messages;
(v) Grain and mill feeds, seeds, fertilizers, insecticides and fungicides, soaps and other products used for cleaning; drain tiles for agricultural purposes;
(w) Coal, firewood, and fuel oil;
(x) Children's clothing and children's footwear;
(y) Sales for a price of ten cents or less.

The tax is not exigible when the sale has been effected in good faith before the coming into force of the present resolution. The tax is not exigible in the case of purchases made to carry out a contract for an undertaking by the job entered into before the coming into force of the said resolution, and, if paid, the Commissioners are authorized to remit the same.

Nevertheless, any goods delivered, after the coming into force of this resolution, under a contract by the job or under a contract for delivery entered into prior to such coming into force, shall be subject to the tax.

When a sale is annulled, the tax is levied only on that part of the price retained by the vendor. The case is the same when the thing sold is returned or refused.

When a person gives in exchange, for part of the price of merchandise purchased by him, other merchandise of the same kind, the tax shall be payable only on the balance of the purchase price.

4. The tax shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of the sale, whether the price is stipulated payable cash, on terms or by instalments, and shall be collected by the vendor who is constituted by this act the agent of the Commissioners for the collection of same. This agent shall keep an account of the education tax collected and to be collected and shall remit the tax collected to the Commissioners or to their representatives.

For the collection of this tax, the vendor has the same recourse against the purchaser as for his sale price;

5. A vendor having his place of business or commercial establishment outside of the territory shall not be bound to collect the tax even if the sale be made to a purchaser having his domicile, residence or place of business in the territory.

In all cases in which the tax is payable and the vendor is not obliged to collect it, such tax must be paid by the purchaser to the Commissioners.

If, however, the vendor has his establishment or place of business in a town or municipality which already collects a tax on retail sales, the Commissioners may arrange with such town or municipality to be authorized to collect the tax which, otherwise, would be payable by the purchaser to the Commissioners, as if the sale had been made in the limits mentioned in this resolution.

6. If a sale includes several articles or objects, the tax is computed on the total of the price of the articles or objects included in the said sale and not on the price of each article or object separately.

In the computation of the tax, any fraction of a cent is counted as a whole cent, which the purchaser shall pay.

7. Any person entrusted with the collection of the tax shall become a debtor of the Commissioners for the amount of the tax collected. The claim of the Commissioners against such person shall constitute a privileged claim on the moveables and moveable effects of such person and shall have the same rank as any other personal or moveable tax imposed by the Commissioners.

8. It shall be unlawful for any person to make a retail purchase, in the cases provided in this resolution, without paying to the vendor, at the time of purchase, the tax imposed and it shall be unlawful for the vendor to remit the tax to the purchaser either directly or indirectly.

It shall be unlawful for any vendor to advertise or let it be known to the public in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, that the tax the imposition whereof is authorized by this resolution, shall not be payable or paid by the purchaser.

9. The vendor must add to his invoices the amount of the tax payable or paid by the purchaser. The vendor must on or before the fifteenth day of each month make a written report, under oath, of the tax and pay it to the commissioners or their representatives. This report will be on a form supplied by the Commissioners and must give all information required. Every person representing the commissioners has the right to visit the establishment or establishments of the vendor during business hours, to examine his books and other documents, to verify if the prescriptions of this resolution are observed and to establish the amount of the tax collected and/or to be collected and to oblige every person and his officers and employees to furnish any information that such representative may require.

10. Every person required to furnish to the Commissioners a report under oath may take such oath before a notary public, or a commissioner of the Superior Court for the district of Terrebonne, before the secretary-treasurer of the Commissioners, who are by this resolution authorized to receive such oath.

11. If the vendor does not make the report required, the secretary-treasurer of the Commissioners shall establish, to his best knowledge, the amount of the tax collected and to be collected or to be paid, which amount so established shall then be considered as being the actual amount due to the Commissioners. The burden of proof that the amount so established is not correct shall be upon the debtor.

12. Every person who, being the agent of the Commissioners, for the purposes of this resolution, refuses or neglects to collect the tax imposed or to keep an account thereof, infringes this resolution and shall be liable, for each infringement, in addition to the payment of the costs, to a fine of at least five dollars and of not more than one thousand dollars and, in default of payment of the fine and costs, to an imprisonment not exceeding three months.

Every person making a purchase as provided for in this resolution without paying the tax imposed commits an infringement and shall be liable for each infringement, in addition to the payment of the tax and of the costs, to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, and, in default of payment of the tax imposed, the fine and costs, to an imprisonment not exceeding one month.

Every person who, being the agent of the Commissioners for the purposes of this resolution advertises or lets it be known to the public in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, that the tax imposed shall not be paid by the purchaser, infringes this resolution and shall be liable, for each infringement, to a fine of at least ten dollars and of not more than one hundred dollars in addition to the costs, and, in default of payment of the said fine and costs, to an imprisonment not exceeding one month.

Every person who, being the agent of the Commissioners for the purposes of this act, remits to the purchaser the tax which the latter is to pay, infringes the said resolution and shall be liable, for each infringement, in addition to the payment of costs, to a fine of at least ten dollars and of not more than five hundred dollars, and, in default of payment of the fine and costs, to an imprisonment not exceeding one month.

Every person, who being the agent of the Commissioners for the purposes of this resolution, refuses or neglects to remit to the Commissioners the tax which he has collected, infringes the said resolution and shall be liable for each infringement, in addition to the payment of the tax collected and of the costs, to a fine of at least ten dollars and of not more than one thousand dollars, and, in default of payment of the fine and costs and of the tax collected, to an imprisonment not exceeding three months.

In the event of a repetition of any of the infringements defined in this Section 12, the maximum fine and imprisonment shall be double that above provided.

13. Every person who cimmits an infringement to the present resolution, other than those defined in the preceding Section 12, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars for each infringement.

14. The payment of the fines and penalties imposed by this resolution and by any resolution adopted by the Commissioners shall not exempt the offender from the carrying out of the obligations and duties imposed upon him by this act and by the resolutions.

15. When an infringement of one of the resolutions of the Commissioners is committed by a company or a corporation, the fine is double the amount which is imposed on another person.

16. In the case of subsequent offences, the fine and the imprisonment, for each infringement is double, provided the amount of the fine does not exceed in each case, one hundred dollars and the term of imprisonment does not exceed three months.

In the same manner the purchase made by one of the employees or representatives of the purchaser shall be deemed as having been made by the purchaser himself. 19. The Commissioners may compensate the vendor, to the extent of five per cent of the amount collected by him, for the additional work which the collection and the remittance of this tax may cause him.

20. The Commissioners are authorized to enter into agreements with the Provincial Treasurer for the collection of the said tax imposed under this resolution.

Such agreements may stipulate that the secretary-treasurer of the Commissioners shall be permitted to examine all reports or statements furnished under the provisions of the Retail Sales Tax Act (Revised Statutes 1941, chapter 8).

Such agreements may authorize the Provincial Treasurer to exercise the rights of the Commissioners for the collection of the said tax payable to the Commissioners and the actions for infringements of this resolution.

21. If the collection of this tax is made by the Provincial Treasurer under one or more agreements entered into between the Provincial Treasurer and the Commissioners these latter retain against the purchaser who has refused or neglected to pay the tax their recourse for the recovery of such tax, and such claim shall be privileged on the moveables and moveable effects of the purchaser and shall have the same rank as any other personal or moveable tax due the Commissioners.

22. The annual revenue collected by the Commissioners from the said tax shall, after deduction of the expenses incurred by the said Commissioners for the imposition and collection of such revenue, be shared every three months by the said Commissioners between themselves and the School Trustees for the Municipality of the City of St. Jerome, in the County of Terrebonne, proportionately to the number of children from five to sixteen years of age of the Roman Catholic or Protestant religious denomination, respectively, residing in the Territory common to both.

23. The present resolution, after publication in two consecutive numbers of the "Progrès de Terrebonne" and of "The Watchman", being two newspapers published in the district, will come into force on the 1st of May, 1951.

Wildlife Wastage

NATIONAL Wildlife Week in Canada is being observed from April 8 to 14, inclusive, to focus attention on the importance of conserving and restoring our fish, game, forest and other natural resources.

National Wildlife Week was established by Canadian Parliament as the living memorial to a great Canadian naturalist, the late Jack Miner. It is timed each year to include April 10, his birthday, and is an annual period when Canadians should take stock of their natural resources and take steps to protect them from wastage.

Wastage? . . In case the term may sound too broad, too impersonal, to concern readers of The Watchman, there appears a timely and irrefutable example on our front page this week. Two authentic photographs show just a fraction of the wastage hereabouts — the slaughter of deer by farm dogs running at large in the woods. This is one form of destruction which can be curbed with a little good-will and minimum effort.

There are many other ways in which sportsmen and rural dwellers can promote the cause of conservation, both in and out of the fishing and hunting seasons, and also as regards our forest resources. And if National Wildlife Week serves only to bring this fact to our personal attention, then it is a week well worth publicizing.

Defence -- Rock Bottom

THERE IS considerable talk on civil defence these days. Front pages and radio broadcasts are full of Canada's plans to protect her population — plans on the Federal, Provincial and Civic level.

But little is said of defence on what might be called the rock-bottom level — in the millions of buildings that go to make up Canada's cities.

City-dwellers from coast to coast, no matter how peaceful their work, have considered the prospect of atomic warfare, and of ways and means to save their lives should it come. And they're doing something about it.

Their formula is about the same throughout the nation. Let us examine in rough detail the preparations at one five-storey building in Halifax for a general idea of how it works.

The building superintendent calls a meeting of the dozen firms in the house. Embarrassed at his new-found importance, he tells the business men of suggestions received for civil defence from provincial and civic officials. The building owner, he adds, has promised to make necessary expenditure within reason for such things as a first-aid room in the basement.

He explains that "from here on it's up to ourselves. We must take our own precautions." His suggestion that a 10-man committee be appointed to study the matter thoroughly is accepted with alacrity by the meeting.

The committee includes an architect, a high-ranking retired army officer and other veterans of the three services, young and old. The building superintendent is a Londoner, survivor of the blitz. So they have a shrewd idea of what it's all about.

These men study the building, assisted by professional experts who are hired by the city. They select a basement refuge and first-aid headquarters.

Then one day the alarm bell goes and the corridors are suddenly filled with hurrying people, "enjoying" their first bombing drill.

Although one stenographer wasn't impressed and took time out to rouge her lips, it was obvious the preparations had an extremely sobering effect on nearly everyone.

Not Too Early for the Rake

SPRINGTIME is a season of beauty, freshness and inspiration. It is on the threshold — it has scarcely knocked at our doors — but somehow we can't help feeling that touch of inspiration already.

It occurs to us, walking along Main Street every day, that folks might entice the season along a bit, by cleaning the litter from their front yards and thus giving Nature a right-of-way to work her miracles of transformation. There is much rubbish around the lanes, lawns and gardens, and it is really not too soon for property-holders to get busy with the rake. Since the snow thawed from the roadsides, the Town Corporation has cleaned up the thoroughfares in many sections, and it is now up to residents to co-operate. A few have set a commendable example, and their early efforts deserve credit.

Double Taxation

EVER STOP to figure out just how much of the consumer's dollar goes to the Government in hidden taxes? Official statistics show that, apart from taxes people can see (such as income tax), Ottawa takes a big slice of the dollars that are left after income tax is paid. Every dollar that the housewife spends shopping is divided up, some of it going to pay for the goods she buys, and the rest going to Ottawa in taxes which the merchant must collect for the Government.

Everybody agrees that double taxation is bad. That is one reason why an agreement was made between Ottawa and some of the provinces whereby the latter "rented" some of their most lucrative tax sources to the Federal Government. With just one tax collector to contend with, people know better where they stand in respect of taxes.

The trouble is that both Ottawa and the provincial politicians seem to have forgotten all about double taxation being bad! Because Ottawa is now conniving with the provinces to change the constitution in such a way that double hidden taxes may be imposed. If this happens, every time the housewife goes shopping, both the provincial government AND Ottawa will take their cut of her family budget dollar. Because the provincial tax, like a good many federal taxes, will be hidden, the politicians think she won't know anything about it. What she will know is that her dollar will buy even less than it does today, because two tax collectors instead of one will be taking a slice.

This is a low sort of trick to play on the housewife. It makes her out a dumb sort of cluck from the politicians' point of view. Yet housewives, as every merchant knows, are about as shrewd a bunch as you'd find anywhere. Maybe before long the politicians will find out just how shrewd they really are.

"I Wouldn't Be Mayor for A Million!"

"A Fable by S.S."

Did you ever stop to think of what it means to be Mayor of a small town or municipality! To be father to the "city fathers" and all the other people as well! To be at the receiving end of every trouble that befalls the careless, the halt, the lame and the blind, and the other guy too! . . The Mayor sits on the council, the epitome of civic probity and pride, but he cannot propose any of the laws (or by-laws, as they are called), yet he is responsible for every twist and turn the fireside lawyer can read into them.

There is a row between two neighbors, a fence has been pushed one side or another of an imaginary surveyor's mark that no one can find, but someone's grandfather pointed out the exact location some years before. The Mayor is called in to see that justice and right prevail. He can't please both, so he makes a mortal enemy of one. . . Or the rain-water gets into someone's cellar. "Call up the Mayor; the council will have to pay for this damage!" So the Mayor is called, and he finds a blocked sewer outside the injured party's door. No one bothered to clear it. That's the council's business.

The water pressure goes down, and the Mayor's phone starts ringing. He pays for this phone out of his own pocket, but all he hears over it is complaint, castigation and abuse. "Why don't you do something about my driveway? I can't get my car out". . "Why don't you put some sand outside my property? I could break my neck there on the ice. What am I paying taxes for?" . . "There is a tree outside my door in danger of falling on my house". If he gets the tree cut down he is a vandal; if he doesn't he is negligent.

Parking is a favorite means of baiting the Mayor. There are two sides to every street, and two sides to every argument, but not enough room for double parking. If the council prescribe parking on the left, the merchants on the right shout to high heaven that business is ruined. If parking is allowed on the right, those on the left go after the Mayor. . . "No parking on a hill. — What! I pay taxes as well as the big fellow; I can park my car outside of my own door! I don't care if it is council property."

The Knights of the Golden Quest have a grand opening of their new hall. The Mayor is asked to preside. No complimentary tickets. He makes a complimentary speech, although he belongs to the Royal Chapter of Chatterers himself, the arch enemies of the K.G.Q's.

Politically he can't call his soul his own, he must be all things to all men. He is at the beck and call of every taxpayer's ego and alter-ego, whether it is to receive a tongue-lashing from Jezebel or hand out a drink of water as Gunda Din.

I wouldn't be Mayor for a million!

RELICS OF PAST

The disappearance of the last livery barn in this town, emphasizes the change that has taken place in the last few years in the method of transportation used by country people. It's not too long ago that the streets were filled with sleighs, cutters and cabooses pulled by finely-matched teams.

Auriol Shows Spirit Of France Invincible

"THE WEEK IN QUEBEC"
By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, April 10 (CP)—President Auriol of France last week-end brought a message to Quebec to say his country was "not exhausted" and was getting back on its own two feet after immense losses suffered in the Second World War.

His tour of Quebec, with Mme Auriol, and French Foreign Secretary Robert Schumann, was part of a five-day tour of Canada. After a visit at the Provincial Legislature, the Plains of Abraham, the Citadel and other points of historical interest, M. Auriol was awarded an honorary degree from Laval University.

At a Quebec government dinner at Bois de Coulonge, residence of Quebec's lieutenant-governor, President Auriol proposed a toast to the King and spoke of France thus:

"It is not true that she is giving up. I have shown otherwise in these recent days in Washington, New York and Ottawa.

"She has been devastated, ruined and pillaged. She lost nearly 600,000 of her children in the last war, that is to say, as many as all the western allies together, and this came after the frightful drain of 1,800,000 dead in the First World War.

"But in spite of the ruins, in spite of her grief and mourning, for her sons killed in the torture chambers and cremated in the furnaces, she was not in despair.

"At the same time she undertook the reconstruction of her ports, her roads, her railways and means of communication, her merchant fleet, her 2,000,000 destroyed or damaged homes . . even while continuing in Indo-China to protect the liberty of Southeast Asia, tremendous tasks for a country occupied four years, paralyzed, exploited by an enemy who imposed on her, in addition to supplies in kind, war tribute of $17,000,000,000.

"France is not discouraged. She is hard at work after the catastrophe, in the factories and in the fields. Foreign observers note her recovery and render just tribute, often more than we do ourselves."

* * *

Premier Duplessis last week told his regular press conference that development of Quebec's vast hydro-electric and mining resources will be stepped up by the expenditure of $1,500,000,000 during the next two years. The figure, he said, includes government expenditure in hydro-electric development and private enterprise investment in both mining and hydro-electric projects.

Among new mining developments, the premier listed "considerable quantities" of ferrous sands at Natashquan on the St. Lawrence River north shore.

He also announced two orders-in-council approved at a meeting of the provincial cabinet. One authorized the City of Montreal to make arrangements with the CBC for the construction of a television transmitter atop Mount Royal. Although details of the arrangements were not announced, the order-in-council specifies there shall be no monopoly. . . The second order-in-council proclaimed Provincial Rent Control effective April 30, when Federal controls expire. It freezes rents at their present level until August 1 and prevents eviction of tenants legally occupying their premises April 30.

Change in Ownership

The Champlain Service Station on Main Street, formerly operated by Douglas Hay, has now been taken over by Donald Boa, the former having bought the Gordon Garage in Brownsburg.

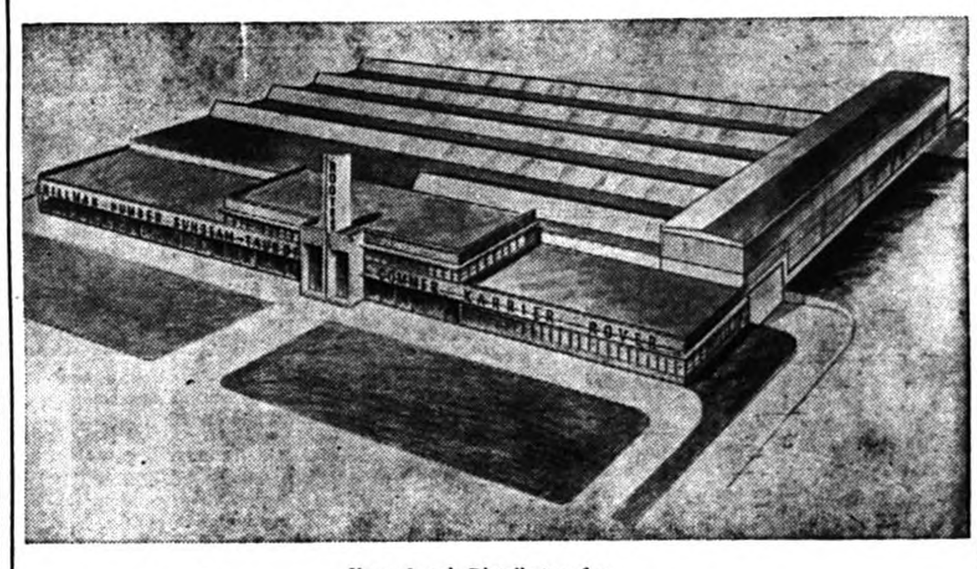

Don Boa is also an auto mechanic, and will be in a position to give good service in this new venture. Patronage of the motoring public is solicited.

Canadians with modest means can invest even small amounts of surplus money in a variety of industrial stocks by participating in "mutual fund companies".

Tom Gard's Note Book

Spring always seems to drag at this time of the year. Perhaps it is just my impatience to get outside after having been cooped up in the house all winter that makes me so restless. Unless I can line up one job after another to keep my mind occupied during my spare time, I'm as edgy as a racehorse.

One task on the agenda right now is copying an idea picked up in the last issue of my favourite garden magazine. You may have seen a bulletin board used in the kitchen or a blackboard hung for the children, but have you ever seen a combination of the two? Mine will hang right by the back door so orders of the day can be posted and hasty notes scribbled without searching for paper.

Record Holder

Santa Claus contributed a small record player to make the joy of last Christmas complete for the children. All went well until the records started piling up. Each one of the four has to have his or her favourites handy — varying from Teddy Bears' Picnic to the latest jazz creation — and separate from the rest. The easiest way to keep peace was to promise each a record holder. I'm going to use sturdy butter boxes. They are ideal for the purpose and will double as seats when the whole flock is congregated about the machine.

Don't Hide Your Light

Still another unfinished project that is on the go right now for the summer cottage is making bases for electrical lamps. The wiring was finished last fall and I promised the family to make the lamps myself. Some of the patterns being used are shown.

In case there is still time on my hands I have promised to help Herb, my neighbour, with his foundation planting now that his lawn is finished. With these tasks lined up, it looks as if I'll be busy!

"O, to feel the beat of the rain,
And the blessed green comely meadows
Is a tune for the blood to jig to,
A joy past power of words;
And the blessed greed comely meadows
Are all a ripple with mirth
At the noise of the lambs at play
And the dear wild cry of the birds."
— By John Masefield, in "Tewkesbury Road".

Throughout Canada during the second week in April, Conservation of our Natural Resources is emphasized. This particular time was chosen because April 10 marks Jack Miner's birthday. This famous Canadian pioneered in awakening the public to the need of protecting bird life. He was interested in the conservation of all forms of wild life and was a real lover of Nature.

Some of Jack Miner's best work was done in addressing boys and girls. A whole generation of young Canadians who heard his Nature Lore talks will never forget the impact of his vivid personality. If your son or daughter does not know about this truly great Canadian, do borrow the story of his life from the Public Library, or better still purchase a copy for your home of "Jack Miner and the Birds".

Because our country is so vast, we Canadians have been apt to think and act as if our natural resources were unlimited. Many thoughtless people have been destructive and wasteful of wild plant and animal life. We have been too pre-occupied with making money, to take time to study the out-of-doors and discover the relationship of plants and animals to each other, and to their environment and to man.

We have forgotten that we do not OWN the land. We are only stewards, and as good stewards we must be concerned about the threat to our woods, to our wild life and fish, of forest fires; of the danger of erosion of our soil. We parents, as citizens, should be aware of the importance of this whole subject of Conservation. It is our responsibility to teach our boys and girls to appreciate and safeguard their heritage.

The Canadian Nature Magazine should be finding its way into more of our homes. It is well written with many attractive pictures. Two booklets published by the Canadian Nature Magazine (177 Jarvis Street, Toronto 2) which would be an inspiration to any family interested in the out-of-doors, are "Nature Activities" and "Conservation Illustrated".

In many newspapers and magazines there are fascinating pictures of wild birds and animals, of woodland flowers and, in the Springtime, of pussy willows, too! A good way to encourage a search for Nature Lore facts would be to give a child a new scrapbook for illustrations and clippings. If there are several children in the family invest in several scrapbooks. Take an interest in your child's book and praise him for making a good job of it.

For the youngster with a love of reading, there should be a section in a Nature Lore Scrap Book for quotations and poetry. He will discover many of these himself in his school books and in other volumes. He might like to include one or two of the following:

"Knowing that Nature never did betray
— William Wordsworth

• • •

"Flowers always make people better, happier and more helpful; they are sunshine, food and medicine to the soul." — Luther Burbank

• • •

— William Cullen Bryant

• • •

"I have seen dawn and sunset on moors and windy hills
Coming in solemn beauty like slow old tunes of Spain:
I have seen the lady April bringing the daffodils,
Bringing the springing grass and the soft warm April rain."
— John Masefield

Correction

Our sympathy was extended recently to the Boyd family in the death of Harry Boyd, of Maple Creek. This was an error (as was apparent from the obituary in last week's Watchman) — the deceased being the late Walter Boyd. Mr. Boyd is survived by his wife, one sister, Mrs. Walter Sadler (Myrtle), of Flaxcomb, Sask., and one brother, Harry, of St. Jovite, Que. Another brother, Edgar, predeceased him last year.

GARAGE OPERATOR RISKS LIFE ON CRACKING CANAL ICE TO SAVE MAN

Vincent Dalterio, of Montreal, uses car chains and plank to rescue victim of Lachine Canal accident

1. For many weeks the ice on the Lachine Canal had been strong enough to provide a short cut for Marcel Charbonneau. But one Wednesday night in late February his luck ran out. He was on his way home from work around 6:30 P.M. Deciding to take the short cut, he was about half way across the canal when the ice broke and he plunged beneath the surface.

2. Frantic cries for help attracted the attention of Vincent Dalterio, 35, who was at his garage on St. Patrick Street. Without wasting a second, quick-witted Dalterio grabbed a plank and his car chains and began to crawl out on the treacherous canal surface. Using the plank for support, he inched his way towards the floundering, helpless Charbonneau. All around him the ice was cracking ominously.

3. Dalterio was only a few feet from the almost drowning man when he threw the car chains. Charbonneau's numbed fingers, blue with cold, grasped them eagerly. Then, slowly and coolly, Dalterio pulled . . . and in a few minutes both were safely ashore. To this gallant and unselfish garage operator we are proud to present The Dow Award. Through this man's action, another's life was saved.

Personal Planners Succeed Where Fuss-Budgets Fail

A balanced budget is only a means to the end of a well-balanced life. Because Personal Planners act upon this principle, they're much farther along the road to happiness than the fuss-budget whose money weighs him down with worries.

All over Canada today, Personal Planners are speeding their progress toward that down-payment on a house or car, toward college for Junior, a new outfit for the wife, or a bang-up holiday for the whole family next summer. And, being Personal Planners, they are also enjoying life more, because they know where they are going financially. The high cost of living no longer stops their enjoyment of it.

If you would like to know more about the money-management methods of Personal Planning, drop into the Bank of Montreal's local branch and ask Leo Brouillette, the accountant, for your copy of the B of M's bright new booklet on the subject.

Ascension Players to Return Here April 21

The Ascension Players, noted dramatic group of Montreal, who will be well remembered for their outstanding performance of "One Foot In Heaven" last December, will return to the footlights at the Lachute High School auditorium, under the auspices of the Argenteuil Farm Forum Council, on April 21: they will present the popular stage and screen success which starred Irene Dunn in the title role, "I Remember Mama", a play in three acts by John Van Druten, and adapted from Kathryn Forbes' book, "Mama's Bank Account".

As in their fall production, the cast is composed of such successful players as Keith Armstrong, Lois Savage, Joan Hill and Gordon Roberts, and is under the direction of J. Clifford Bray. Critics everywhere have hailed this play as being "one of the most heart-warming stories of American family life yet to reach the stage".

Barbershop Quartet

Lurking behind those thriving walrus moustaches is the Barbershop Quartet, whose gay nineties songs are featured in the program Leicester Square to Broadway, broadcast from Vancouver Monday nights at 7 on the CBC. From top to bottom are Hubert Nowell, basso; Tom Wright, baritone; Horace Chapman, first tenor; and Len Hayman, second tenor. Any song less than 25 years old is too modern for these boys, who stick to sturdy relics of the days when Grandpa wore buttoned boots, and grandma sported a bustle.

Skilled Service in Filling Eyeglass Prescriptions

Miss Beatrice MacMillan, who is associated with these parts, and who conducts an office as dispensing optician in Montreal, is now visiting Lachute every Tuesday (10 to 6 o'clock) at the Laurentien Hotel. The advantage of her service will be a saving in time and expense for those who customarily go to Montreal for filling of oculist's prescriptions, repairs or adjustments to eyeglasses. A good fitting (Miss MacMillan emphasizes) is as important as a correct lens, and her patrons may be assured of skilled attention in work entrusted to her care.

For the Homemaker . . .

Purchase By Price Or Nutritive Value?

By Ida Bailey Allen

Should you purchase foods by price, or by nutritive values? This question was raised by a homemaker and her husband whose food budget for a family of four was "running away with them".

"I buy according to nutrition", Mrs. J. said. "But when my husband does the marketing, he buys according to price. The food then costs about a third less than when I buy it, but we're hungry an hour after dinner".

Cuts of Meat

I soon discovered that this homemaker's ideal of "good nutrition" was the more expensive boneless cuts of meat. She avoided fish because she would not concede that meat and fish are equally good proteins. She always bought frozen vegetables, even when fresh vegetables were cheap and plentiful. She did not consider canned vegetables nutritious. However, she did read the labels on packaged cereals, bread, macaroni, etc., to find out and buy the best values in vitamin and mineral-rich foods.

Her husband bought good-grade meats by price, breast of veal instead of leg of veal for a roast; stewing beef instead of round, and occasionally kidneys, tripe, oxtails or pigs' feet, or plentiful fish. But she didn't know how to make them into tasty dishes.

Canned Vegetables

"They always come out grim", he complained. Furthermore, he maintained — and rightly — the low-priced canned vegetables were plentiful and nutritous, and that frozen vegetables often cost more than many seasonable fresh vegetables. However, he never read any labels, so be bought packaged foods "blind", and the family was, therefore, often cut short on vitamins and minerals which caused "that hungry feeling".

Both this homemaker and her husband were right and both were wrong. When he took time to read the labels and purchased packaged foods according to nutritional values, and she learned how to prepare tasty dishes from the less expensive meats, fish and plentiful vegetables, the family appetite was satisfied, the budget was satisfied, and peace descended on a well-fed family.

Tomorrow's Dinner

Stewed tomato in bowls; blanquette of veal, flaky potatoes, greens, canned fruit, taffy biscuits, coffee, tea or milk.

All measurements are level. Recipes serve four.

Taffy Biscuits

Roll 1 recipe baking powder biscuit dough into oblong shape ½" thick. Spread with ¾ cup brown sugar creamed with ¼ cup butter or margarine. Roll up; slice 1" thick, place on an oiled pan and bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven, 375°F. Serve hot.

Blanquette of Veal

Cut 1½ lbs. breast of veal into bite-sized pieces. Add 1 sliced peeled carrot, 8 halved small onions, ½ oz. reconstituted dried mushrooms, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon powdered marjoram and 2 cups hot water. Cover and simmer 1 hour. Melt 1½ tablespoons butter or margarine; stir in 2 tablespoons flour and 1 teaspoon lemon juice, and stir into the cooking meat. Simmer 3 minutes. Beat 2 egg yolks with 2 tablespoons top cream or milk. Stir into the meat sauce; cook and stir 30 seconds. Top with chopped parsley.

A potted cyclamen will bloom for several months if kept at a temperature of 65 to 68 degrees.

Play-Offs in St. Simeon's Carpet Bowling League

The Anglican Carpet Bowling League concluded its first regular playing season, with the first four of the eight teams qualifying for the play-offs. The Ladies' Guild team (skip, Mrs. A. Neill) were eliminated by the Young People (skip, Wyman Strong) after a very close game, while the Seniors (skip, Geo. Leggett) beat the Aces (skip, Mrs. S. Berry).

The final between the Seniors and the Young People proved to be a very good game, the former team emerging the victors by a score of 10 to 6.

A very successful season was brought to a close followed by a social evening, with the ladies providing the refreshments.

WHO WILL BE SAVED?
HOW ARE WE SAVED?
Special — Musical Numbers and Singing.
Pastor, Laverne S. Poirier

Who Is Jehovah?

Do you want the facts about the Creator of the endless marvels of the visible creation? What does the Bible teach about him? What are his purposes? How is he worshiped? How and what has he provided for mankind's enrichment and what hope does he hold out for them? Does he torment humans after death? Allow the book "Let God Be True" to answer these and many other questions and prove to you how reasonable, consistent and provident is the one true God and Creator of all good things.

Bound in an attractive green cover with a gold-stamped title, "Let God Be True" will be mailed anywhere for a contribution of 35 cents. — Write the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, 40 Irwin Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

Who is Jehovah? — Read Psalms 83, verse 18.

Lachute Women's Inst. Presenting Special Show

Everyone is aware of the good work being accomplished by the various Women's Institutes, the members of which devote a great deal of time to public welfare. It does, however, take money to carry on these ventures, and in order to add to their funds the Lachute branch is presenting a special picture entitled, "I Climbed the Highest Mountain". — This film is in Technicolor, and has been well recommended. William Lundigan and Susan Hayward take the leading role, supported by an able cast. There will be two shows, at the Rio Theatre, at 7 and 9 p.m., on Wednesday, April 18, and it is hoped that the public will lend support to this worthy cause.

Lachute W.I. activities throughout the year are many, and have been budgeted as follows for 1951-52:

Rent	$50
Health & Welfare	$10
Education	$25
John Fisher Prizes	$60

Against Dreary Speeches

The Education Committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has issued a useful brochure of advice to public speakers.

It is a very sensible and practical little publication, and if it were read and studied and practised on a large scale by speech-makers we are quite sure the effects would be good. It has a stern warning, for example, against the reading of a speech, says no speech should be longer than 20 minutes, and pays some attention to the importance of a good stopping place avoiding repetition.

One of the minor discomforts of this earth is the number of poorly-done speeches inflicted upon a long-suffering people. For this there is little excuse. With a few people public speaking is a natural gift. With the majority it is something to be learned, and most people can learn to talk with reasonable facility before an audience. If they will not bother to learn the simple arts of public oratory they should restrain that impulse "to say a few words".

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, perhaps out of bitter experience, takes a particularly strong stand against the reading of speeches. Have abundant notes, it says, but no manuscript. That is excellent advice. A man reading a manuscript, which perhaps somebody else wrote, can be a pretty chilling spectacle — especially if he cannot read well, and few can. — Ottawa Farm Journal

In Radio Drama

These three Toronto artists play leading roles in the daytime radio serial Brave Voyage, now beginning its third year on the air. It is heard regularly Monday to Friday on the CBC network. Production is by one of Canada's most distinguished drama directors — Esse Ljungh. In the picture are Helen Manning (played by Beth Lockerbie), a young school teacher in a small city in Ontario; Gordon Marsh (played by John Scott), her husband and a prominent fiction writer; and, standing, Mr. Manning (played by Syd Brown), Helen's father. Tension runs high in the opening script. A New York girl concerned with publicizing Gordon's new novel has been murdered, and circumstantial evidence points to him. Helen and her father are in New York for the trial.

"Have a cigarette?" asked the girl opening her case.

"So would I", retorted the girl. "But have a cigarette while you're waiting."

Spring Cleaning

There is more music, poetry and prose written about spring than about any other season. To many homemakers there is no music or poetry to spring — because to them it means spring cleaning. . . In Ottawa, the home economists of the Consumer Section are spring cleaning too. Their three large test kitchens are having the files straightened, the cupboards tidied, and the equipment cleaned. Each year, at this time, the home economists are revising for Canadian housewives bulletins on the canning and freezing of Canadian fruits and vegetables, so that they may include the many new and different methods that were tested last fall. Now, as spring is here, all these tests must be tasted and carefully checked, to decide which is the best method or which is the best recipe. In doing so, the cupboards are emptied and made ready to receive the results of next year's work.

Is your kitchen starting out anew also? The cupboards probably are a little cluttered, there may be odds and ends of things and left-overs. Plan to sort out the cupboards now and use up the left-overs. Open packages, bags or cartons of food, are invitations to insects. If there is any food in the cupboard which appears to be infested with beetles or moths, burn it immediately; if this is not done, insects will quickly spread to other foods. Always store foodstuffs in sterile jars and keep them tightly covered. Perhaps at the back of the cupboard are some cans of fruits or vegetables which have been there for ages or maybe some jams or jellies which are two or three years old. Start now to use up the older forgotten food-stuffs.

In Canadian homes each member of the family, particularly the children, may be included in the spring cleaning schedule, for there is a job for every person. The work shouldn't all fall on mother. Children should be entrusted with certain household tasks, not only because it is helpful to the housewife but also because it helps to train them and to realize the importance of homemaking. Too many young boys and girls today neither know the importance of homemaking nor are they very sure how to go about homemaking.

When actually cleaning the kitchen, perhaps it would be easiest to start with the refrigerator. It should, of course, be religiously cleaned out and defrosted, but right now it needs that extra special cleaning. If there is any spilled milk which has soured and dried on the surface of the refrigerator, it is most important to remove it as soon as possible because acid stains are very bad for the enamel and hard on the refrigerator. When washing your refrigerator, all the food and racks should be removed and the refrigerator turned to "defrost". All compartments and racks should be washed with hot water and a mild solution of soap, or one of the new detergents. The refrigerator should then be rinsed well with clear hot water, and wiped dry. A mild solution of ammonia and water may be used if there is any odour present in the refrigerator.

Perhaps the pots and pans and baking dishes are beginning to look a little worn out from winter use. They, too, need new faces for spring. If the utensils are aluminum they should be washed well with a mild soap and hot water. The use of a dilute acid will brighten the aluminum immensely. It is important to remember that soda, lye and strong soaps all darken aluminum. If the utensils are the stainless steel type with copper bottoms perhaps they too are dull and stained. To polish the copper bottoms use a soft cloth or a soft brush and rub with a cleanser suitable for polishing copper. If there is evidence of corrosion a dilute vinegar solution will help to remove it. Wash well with hot soap suds or a mild detergent, rinse well and wipe dry. Stainless steel should need very little cleaning but hot soap suds and a good polish won't do it any harm. After this treatment the warm shiny glow of copper should glisten through your kitchen. Enamel utensils are used in many homes and perhaps they too are stained and grey looking. If they are soaked in a solution of washing soda and water they should come out white and shiny. They should then of course be washed in hot soap suds, rinsed well and dried thoroughly. Iron frying pans or dutch ovens should be washed well with a stiff brush in hot soapy water. A little abrasive cleanser may be used if necessary. They should then be rinsed well and dried very thoroughly. When pots and pans are thoroughly cleaned they do not discolor the drying towel. This job of cleaning cooking utensils is one which the children may easily do on Saturday morning.

Father may help too; perhaps he wouldn't mind cleaning the garbage can. This is one piece of equipment which is so often neglected. It is not necessary to describe how disagreeable and dangerous a dirty garbage can may be. It should be cleaned regularly with hot soap and water and a long handled brush. A little washing soda may be used to keep the can sweet smelling. The brush should be scalded thoroughly afterward and hung up to dry.

These hints should give you and the members of your family a start on the yearly clean-up.

Legion Auxiliary Concert Staged at Brownsburg

Brownsburg — The first concert to be held in the newly erected Memorial Hall at Brownsburg took place Friday, April 6. The hall was filled to capacity, many people having to stand for the program.

Main feature of entertainment was a one-act play, "Mrs. Murphy's Chowder", by Miss Peggy O'Hara, which lasted for about one hour. The play was under the direction of Mrs. Tom Izzard, who achieved brilliant results from her coaching of the performers. The play revolved around Mrs. Norah Murphy (played by Mrs. James Low), whose efforts to raise her family from the slough of poverty occasioned by a shiftless husband (Albert Vary) were nearly brought to nought when a pair of overalls were found in the chowder, the recipe for which she hoped to market. Other members of the cast were Erin (Mrs. R. Summers), the eldest daughter and supporter of the home; Bridget (Mrs. Syd Seary), her lively and mischievous younger sister; Dennis Trask (Keith Low), who was in love with Erin; Mrs. Nellie Driscoll (Mrs. Charles Low), a gossipy neighbor; Mrs. Isaac Cohen (Mrs. Bertha Enlow) and Helen Pearson (Mrs. J. Gordon Todd) representing rival marketing outlets. The acting was of high standard throughout.

The play was prefaced by variety numbers, starting with a unique historical tableau under the direction of Mrs. George Helmer. By characterization this depicted the gradual unification of all elements and races up to the recent advent of real Canadian citizenship. Recitations by Ernest Zimmers drew much laughter, and a graceful Highland Fling dance by little Miss Willow Smith received great applause. The voices of Betty Moncrieff and Shirley Gagné blended perfectly in two selections, "Meet me in St. Louis" and "Mocking Bird Hill". Frank Steere also rendered two songs, including an old favorite, "Gold-Top Walking Cane". Albani Carriere upheld his reputation for step dancing with several fast numbers. The variety program concluded with comedy acts and songs by the local Marx Brothers, Harold Robinson and Albert Vary.

The audience enjoyed themselves immensely. Mrs. Gordon Todd, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, thanked those who had given their support, and all who had assisted the program in any way.

W. Inst. Interest in Promoting School Fairs

Preliminary plans for school fairs are again being reported this year by many branches of the Quebec Women's Institutes. Last year approximately 20 such fairs were held in this province, some sponsored directly by the local W.I. and others in co-operation with other agencies.

The value of this project is recognized by the Department of Agriculture at Quebec, which for the past two years has given substantial assistance by furnishing garden seeds, free of charge, to all branches engaged in this activity.

These are ordered through the Q.W.I. office, Macdonald College, and come in collections, each containing ten packages of various vegetable and flower seeds. These collections are distributed, one to a child. A total of 900 such collections were issued last year and already many branches have taken advantage of this generous offer extended again this season. Members are reminded to get their orders in early before the supply is exhausted.

Curling Club Activities

While this season's curling activities have now finished, there is still ice at the local rink — and this was taken advantage of on Tuesday evening, when Caledonia Club chartered a bus and brought up a large number of enthusiasts to play for the Bean Trophy. But first of all, although somewhat delayed by bus trouble, they enjoyed a hearty feed of beans (baked in R. Todd style), and then took to the ice. Several games were played, and the trophy remains in Lachute for the coming year.

This is an annual friendly competition which all enjoy.

* * *

A quartet comprising R. Muir, L. Brouillette, I. Gordon and H. Dion (skip) attended the invitation bonspiel at Montreal West on Monday evening, where they were defeated in a friendly game with Skip Dunn, 7 to 13.

There is still time to return your donation for Lions Club "Easter Seals", in aid of treatment and rehabilitation of cripples.

Banking System in Canada Has Unique Safeguards, Talk Reveals

BANK OFFICIAL FROM TORONTO IS SPEAKER AT LIONS CLUB MEETING; OFFICERS ELECTED

It was "bankers' night" at the Lions Club, Tuesday evening in the Hotel Joly, when friends from the banking profession in this district, and other guests, swelled the attendance to approximately 60.

Special speaker was Mr. H. M. Dagg, Supervisor of the Business Development Department, Bank of Nova Scotia, Toronto; and "Lion of the Day" was a local banker, Willard M. Steeves, branch manager of the B.N.S. in Lachute.

Sundry donations were voted upon. Dr. F. W. FitzGerald anticipated net receipts of around $500 in the Easter Seals canvass, double the amount contributed last year. A good start on sales in the annual car raffle, was reported by Lion R. Legault; and patriarchal greetings were extended to Gaetan Valois, N.P., charter president of the club, who recently attained the status of grandparenthood.

Considerable business was dealt with under the expeditious chairmanship of Lion Horace Lamarche. Chief item was adoption of the slate of officers for the ensuing club year. The slate, as presented by committee chairman A. Gordon McOuat, was as follows:

President — Ralph FitzGerald.
Vice-presidents—Bertrand L'Heureux, E. M. Jones, Mozart Carriere.
Secretary — Donald M. Hay.
Treasurer — W. M. Steeves.
Legal Adviser — Fernand Legault.
Directors — Phil Roy, Dr. F. W. FitzGerald, Geo. Y. Deacon, Ian Gordon, A. G. McOuat, L. J. Dumais, Jas. Lowe, Bernard Massicotte, Roger Regimbald.
Bulletin Editor — Ernest Snadden.
Lion Tamer — Gabriel Valois.
Tail Twister — Donat Villeneuve.

Philippe Roy presented a biography of the member-of-honor, Lion Steeves—an executive officer of the club almost continuously since his residence here. Mr. Steeves was a bank manager at the age of 23, and has directed the affairs of the local Bank of Nova Scotia branch since 1941. He has served as honorary treasurer to many community organizations, and has promoted the cause of Lionism with staunch loyalty and dependability in various roles.

The Canadian Banking System

The guest speaker, introduced by his colleague, Lion Steeves, gave points of interest in the Canadian banking system. That the subject was one of absorbing interest to his listeners, was evidenced by the questions posed on conclusion of this address.

The first banking was unaugurated by the goldsmiths of early times. In strongly fortified premises they safeguarded the wealth of fellow citizens in their absence; they accommodated fellow business men with loans from their dormant reserve . . and exacted fees for these services; and such were the elementary essentials on which the business of banking is founded.

The banking system of this country is under constant revision, said Mr. Dagg, adapting its practices to the needs and potentialities of Canada's economy. A peculiarity in our Canadian system is that the charter of each commercial banking enterprise expires every 10 years. There are 10 such commercial banks (there had been as many as 26 in 1893)—each operating under its own charter and subject to strict scrutiny and regulation by the Ministry of Finance. These enterprises are re-chartered with such provisions and revisions as become necessary with the changing scene.

The 10 chartered banks in Canada operate on the branch system — conducting 3,700 branch offices within the Dominion and 105 abroad. It is calculated there is a bank for every 3,800 of Canada's population. But branches are set up in newly-developed areas to meet immediate needs — some of these units operating "in the red" for several years until the district's potentialities have become fully productive. In this and many ways, the branch system of banking is a helpful factor in the country's economic growth.

The Canadian banks, asserted Mr. Dagg, are the most rigidly inspected business in existence — under scrutiny of government inspectors and the banks' own auditors — all in view of the fact that banks are custodians of the people's savings.

The speaker dealt briefly with the Bank of Canada and its functions, describing it as a "highly important factor in Canada's financial life". The chartered banks were required to place 10% of their liability to the public on deposit at the Bank of Canada.

The ideal of our banking system was being fulfilled, in "mobilizing the deposits of millions of Canadians—and using them to develop the progress of business and industry".

Mr. Dagg had much of interest to say regarding the issuance of loans, the precautions and requirements to be exercised; also in regard to the bank manager's relationship with the public; and the numerous services now included in the scope of banking business — things which a bank can do — adding also a reference to those things which a bank cannot do.

The speaker was thanked by Lion Ian Gordon.

B'burg Council Discusses Speeding And Police Patrol

DIVISION ON VOTE FOR NEED OF POLICE ASSISTANT

Brownsburg — A special meeting of the Brownsburg Council was called for Monday night to consider the demand of the Police Chief for assistance in policing the village on Friday and Saturday nights. . . Councillor A. Denault was the only councillor absent.

Mayor J. Donaldson opened the session and briefly reviewed the events leading up to this meeting. Councillor Wilson (Police committee) covered the work of the police and the effectiveness of the present protection, which he decided was adequate. The services of extra police might be necessary if war work at the factory caused an influx of strangers, but under present circumstances additional police personnel was not necessary, nor advisable.

Councillor Lavoie pointed to the fact that when the Police Chief was on patrol no one was present at the station to take calls in the event of trouble arising.

Councillor Ouellette favored employing an assistant constable for Saturday nights only. The cost might well be borne by fines levied on the number of traffic violators through stricter enforcement of the laws. One policeman could not be on the spot all the time. Then again, disturbances at the grills might require two police officers to handle, as instance the recent affair at St. Eustache.

Mayor Donaldson pointed out that the police had no business going into grills or private houses either, even if invited or requested. The Council was only covered against accident or injury while the police were on municipal property. This matter was revealed by a squabble at Grenville some years ago. He asked for a motion denying any Council responsibility for damages caused to guardians of the law or Council employees while off the municipal property.

This matter was discussed at some length, and it was decided to have the motion legally drawn up for discussion at next meeting.

On the motion of Councillor N. Somers, seconded by Councillor Wilson and supported by Councillor Lafleur, it was decided to employ but one policeman for municipal patrol duty. Councillor Lavoie, seconded by Councillor Ouellette, moved an amendment that an assistant be provided for Saturday nights. The amendment was defeated.

Chief Choquette was called before the meeting and informed of the Council's decision.

The Chief felt he should have assistance, and in consequence of the Council's decision would have to consider handing in his resignation; however he did not do so at this time.

Police Chief Choquette reported to the Council that on Saturday night a party of Brownsburg residents travelling to Lachute by automobile drove through the streets at between 40 and 45 miles an hour. The Chief and an assistant called on the party to stop, but were answered by a burst of speed which reached over 70 miles an hour. No notice was taken of the police siren and two miles outside the village, when the speeding car was accosted, the driver was insulting and offensive — tearing up the police ticket, among other things. One of the ladies in the party refused to travel further in this car and returned home with the police. . . The Chief asked the support of the Council in prosecuting the offenders.

Mayor Donaldson said that "no one is above the law" and as he had instructed the Chief to apply the law irrespective of person, he (the Mayor) would support any action taken by the Chief in applying the law.

The Council signed a directive for the Chief to proceed with the case.

A motion was passed asking for a return of all the Council's equipment lent to the assistant constable.

Ottawa River 16 Feet Above Summer Level

'Klondike Mike' Buried At Native Buckingham

Michael Ambrose (Klondike Mike) Mahoney, 74, the Yukon sourdough who achieved fame and fortune as a dog-musher and miner in the Klondike gold rush, was buried last Sunday in the hillside cemetery at Buckingham, Que. Mahoney, who died recently in Santa Monica, Calif., was brought to Quebec and his home community for burial.

His colorful personality is recalled by many in Lachute who made his acquaintance. Among his public appearances was a talk given at Lachute Auditorium some years ago, under auspices of one of the town organizations.

News in Quebec's Mining Progress, Copper Ore Development in Gaspé

"THE WEEK IN QUEBEC"

By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, April 17 (CP) — Gaspé Peninsula's copper ore deposits drew a lot of attention last week. Mining operators and metallurgists heard a description of the deposits and Premier Duplessis announced an ore-processing plant will be built at Gaspé.

A. M. Bell, field engineer for Noranda Mines, operators of the development, said large-scale operations should be possible for 30 or more years. Premier Duplessis followed up with a statement that $30,000,000 will be spent by both the government and the operators in the development.

Speaking before the annual convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, Bell said the grade of copper is not high as compared with some other Canadian deposits, but the tonnage is large.

The most important ore-bodies occur in a limestone horizon 800 feet beneath the surface of Needle Mountain. Most of the ore will have to be mined by underground workings, although one low-grade deposit at surface will lend itself to open pit mining.

The deposits differ from others known in eastern North America and in many respects are more closely akin to those found in western states. It is hoped study of the deposits will help in the finding of others elsewhere.

Later Premier Duplessis said J. Y. Murdoch, president of Noranda Mines, told him the company was planning construction of a processing plant in the town of Gaspé. Final processing of the ore will be done in the company's Montreal East plant.

The Premier said Noranda Mines has already begun talks with Canadian National Railways to provide necessary communications between the mine itself, in Gaspé's Holland County, and Montreal.

The government has already ordered technicians and land-surveyors to begin a survey of the district for construction of roads and for a projected power plant on the Madeleine River.

The copper ore deposit is located 27 miles inland from the town of Mont Louis, on the St. Lawrence gulf shore.

Quebec official flag will fly in Korea where the Second Battalion of the Royal 22nd Regiment goes as part of Canada's Special Service Force. The unit, part of Canada's 25th Brigade, leaves for Korea shortly. The flag — a white cross and four white fleurs de lis on a blue field — was presented to the battalion recently by Brigadier Joseph-Paul Sauvé, Minister of Youth and Social Welfare, and a World War II veteran. In making the presentation outside Quebec's legislature building, Brig. Sauvé said he was "confident that the flag will be in hands worthy of it."

North River at Highest Level In Many Years

Spring floods have followed in the wake of winter's heavy snowfalls and recent rains, so that the North River is at the highest level recorded here for many years. The same appears true of the mighty Ottawa and its upper tributaries. A correspondent reports this week that the Ottawa at Cushing is 16 feet above normal summer level.

The lower sections of Lachute in the east and centre wards have been flooded for the past week. Two or three families were forced to vacate their premises in the Filion development, where the water reached maximum height last week-end, commencing to subside on Monday.

All downtown there has been a call for cellar-pumps, and it has been a common sight on Main Street to see pipes gushing water from pumps in numerous basements.

Gyorgy Sandor Styled "One of the Most Impressive Pianists of This Generation"

BRILLIANT ARTIST ENGAGED FOR NEXT MONDAY IN COMMUNITY CONCERT

Gyorgy Sandor, internationally famous piano virtuoso, will be heard here Monday, April 23, in the last of this season's Community Concerts.

Gyorgy Sandor

Sandor, a native of Budapest, began his career there at 18 — a career which has brought him concert triumphs on three continents. He appeared for the next seven years after his debut, as soloist with the leading symphony orchestras of Europe. Although his early evidences of talent were of prodigy calibre, he waited until maturity before launching the career which has brought him fame throughout the world. News of his musicianship traveled before him to the United States, and his debut in Carnegie Hall, 1939, won immediate recognition of his artistry. After half a year fulfilling demands of U.S. audiences for his concerts, Sandor was called for the first time to South America, where he created a sensation sustained in season after season of successes.

From 1942 to 1944, Gyorgy Sandor was in the service of the United States Army, being allied with the Signal Corps, Intelligence, and finally a Special Service School before his honorable discharge. Out of khaki, he immediately returned to the piano. Presenting two Carnegie Hall recitals, a coast-to-coast tour, and returning to Latin America for his first post-war concert tour.

During the season 1945-46 this Hungarian-American artist fulfilled a musicianly trust which caused the entire music world, as well as himself, mingled joy and sadness. With the Philadelphia Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Ormandy, Gyorgy Sandor presented world premiere performances of Bela Bartok's third and last Piano Concerto, written by the world-famous Hungarian composer on his death-bed. At concerts in both Philadelphia and New York City, Sandor gave complete fidelity of expression to the inspiration of his teacher, friend and fellow-countryman.

A Columbia Record artist, the pianist was so favorably received on discs that two albums of his finest interpretations, first "The Piano Music of Liszt", then Rachmaninoff's Second Piano Concerto, were released by the recording company in two successive months.

Damp Delivery

A local store whose service includes "delivery anywhere in Lachute", was put to the test this week. They hadn't reckoned with the floods—nevertheless they fulfilled their obligation.

A lady phoned to John McFaul & Son for rubber boots and a pair of brooms. "D'you deliver anywhere in town?" she asked. . "Yes, certainly!" Service was the motto, the storekeeper asserted. . .

Replied the lady: "Well, drive down Water Street . . unhitch the boat that's tied to the Stop-sign . . row east . . three houses . . etc."

Lachute Triumphs In Badminton 1951 Five-Club Tourney

Lachute Auditorium was the scene last Sunday of keen tension, as five badminton clubs from this district went into action to compete in the annual tournament for the Tip-Top Trophy, which was taken last year by the Brownsburg Club.

Commencing at 1.30 on Sunday afternoon, 110 hard-fought games were played in nine hours — Lachute Club coming out on top with an aggregate score of 34 games to claim the trophy for 1951.

Brownsburg Club came second with a score of 26; Calumet was close behind with 25, Kilmar 21 and Grenville 4.

The tournament was organized by the Lachute Badminton Club, and recognition was extended to its members for a big job well done. Thanks were also extended to the ladies of the local club for their efficient handling of the refreshments during the day.

On Tuesday evening a team from Vankleek Hill visited Lachute for an enjoyable session of badminton, concluding with refreshments.

Discovering Musical Talent

We wonder if the efforts of Mr. Philip Grant (and Mr. S. McKyes) at the Brownsburg Protestant School, in teaching and training promising pupils on various musical instruments, are duly appreciated? Instrumental music is not on the regular curriculum, which means that Mr. Grant has taken these children at all sorts of irregular hours in his own time and without remuneration of any kind. In an endeavor to give them a little concert experience, a recital is arranged at the United Church for Friday evening — and instead of all-out co-operation, all sorts of difficulties are being met. Some pupils fail to turn up for practice, some have "previous engagements" at a local dance, and others are just crassly indifferent. This tuition and training is an opportunity of a lifetime, but the youngsters haven't the wisdom to grasp it. We do not believe the parents are aware of the facts as stated above, and we take this means of informing them. With a little co-operation from the parents of musically-inclined children, this coming concert could be a huge success, and a very profitable experience in social culture for their children.

Where the Taxes Go

The Village of Brownsburg has just received, through Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., a cheque for almost $2,000 as a provincial government contribution towards the municipality's effort to maintain adequate fire protection. This is the latest of several cheques for the same purpose, making a total of almost $7,000.

The Brownsburg Catholic School also received a substantial sum towards the educational needs of the parish, through the good offices of Mr. Cottingham, and construction is still under way at the Protestant School on an extension project of vast proportions. Education has been well served in Quebec for the past few years, and the province might be cited as an outstanding example for the rest of Canada, particularly for British Columbia, where the provincial government is at odds with local school boards on such matters as are being lavishly extended in Quebec.

Council Grants Permit for Theatre Building; Reads New Zoning Law

COMPLAINTS HEARD ON NIGHT-TIME NOISE AND PARKING SPOTS FOR POTATO WAGONS

A special meeting of Lachute Town Council was held last evening, with Mayor Jas. McGibbon presiding and Councillors W. S. MacKimmie, W. Morrissette, O. Laurin, A. Laurin, L. Gibeault, S. Holt, J. Charlebois, D. MacRae and E. Provost in attendance.

First item of business was the application of Quebec Cinema Booking for a building permit for the erection of a new movie theatre on Main Street, at a cost of $75,000. Plans were submitted, and permission was granted for the erection of this new building.

A building permit was also granted to Miss G. Brodeur for the erection of a new dwelling next to the Rio Theatre.

A new by-law relative to the division of the town into three zones with somewhat drastic building restrictions, was introduced and the first reading accepted. It was decided, however, that it be laid on table for future reference.

The old building by-law, No. 114, formulated in 1929 with later amendments, was read. It was decided that numerous improvements could be made, and that a new by-law would be formulated, which would be more appropriate to present conditions.

A protest was received regarding potato wagon stands, which occupy prominent positions on some of the busiest streets and are dangerous to both pedestrians and car traffic, to say nothing of the unsavory conditions surrounding them. Council decided that parking places should be left to the discretion of the Police Chief.

A complaint was also received with reference to the noise on Main Street caused by heavy transport trucks, which use the thoroughfare as a junction point during the night. The matter is being dealt with.

Messrs. R. Urbain, A. Lamarche and L. Dawson were appointed as valuators.

Musical Concert By High School

The annual Spring Concert of Lachute High School was held in the school auditorium Tuesday evening, when the junior and senior choirs, under direction of their music instructor, Mr. S. E. McKyes, presented a fine program of choral music.

The High School dance orchestra, led by Frank Boyd, opened the program with popular numbers, including "Moonlight Serenade", "Mocking Bird Hill" and selected compositions, which were heartily applauded.

About 100 voices of the junior choir were ranged on the stage for their four songs, the first three being sung in unison, and the final one being in two-part arrangement. These, in order, were "Passing By" (Purcell), "Berceuse" (Mozart), "Hedge Roses" (Schubert), and "We Thank Thee, Heavenly Father" (Praetorius).

The violin section of the school, under the able direction of Mr. B. A. Millar, was the next on the program. They played the following contrasting compositions — "Chorale" by Wagner, "Days of Yore" (Young) and "Cossack Dance" (Kenikov). The last, a typical Slavic dance of changing rhythm, held marked appeal to the listening public.

Wayne Riddell, who supported the choral groups with his fine pianoforte accompaniment, was next a soloist on the program. He played "La Frileuse" by Conone, which was appreciated by his listeners.

The Lachute String Ensemble, under the baton of Mr. Angelo Fassio, gave four compositions, an Overture by Barnard, Rachmaninoff's Prelude, a Gavotte by Lampe, and a Serenade for clarinet, with student Bill Steeves as the clarinetist. (This Serenade was also played by the soloist in the recent musical festival in Ontario, earning him high awards).

Concluding numbers on the program were sung by the senior choir, also directed by Mr. McKyes; they were — "Dear Land of Home", "It's a Grand Night for Singing", "Czechoslovakian Dance Song" and "Rule Britannia".

The whole program was brief, but of appealing quality, and a good attendance was evidence of the increasing interest in musical training for the children. Mr. McKyes expressed appreciation for the support of those present, for the co-operation of the Lachute String Ensemble, and to Wayne Riddell for his splendid piano accompaniment.

Close of Season's Curling Activities

A dinner, election of officers and presentation of prizes last Thursday evening at the Curling Club was largely attended and proved a fitting climax to a very successful season of social enjoyment and active curling.

Jas. W. McGibbon presided, and expressed his appreciation to the various committees and individuals for their valuable co-operation throughout the year.

The financial statement as read by the treasurer, F. A. Brennan, showed the club to be in very good standing.

Numerous suggestions were put before the meeting for the betterment of conditions, and these matters will be considered by the new board.

The past-president and all officers, also the chairman of the Annual Invitation Bonspiel, were given a hearty vote of thanks for their splendid efforts.

Argenteuil - Two Mountains Schools To Hold 2nd Annual Music Festival

On May 4 and 5 the pupils, teachers and parents of the Counties of Argenteuil and Two Mountains will have the opportunity of repeating an inspiring experience of last year, for on these dates the Second Annual Music Festival, sponsored by the Local Association of the P.A.P.T., will be held in the Lachute High School.

All schools will be well represented and an estimated 1,200 pupils are expected to take part in the various classes, which will include school and class choirs, vocal solos and duets, small ensembles, violin solos, clarinet solos, trumpet solos and piano solos and duets.

The adjudicator for the vocal section will be Dr. D. M. Herbert, Supervisor of Music for the Montreal Protestant Schools, and for the string section, Mr. Henry Norris, former Associate Director of the Doyle Carte Opera Company.

All sessions of the festival will be open to the public. There will be a final concert on Saturday night which will consist of selections from the festival program.

Gatineau LINES

Trees -- And Power Breaks

Many things may cause an interruption in electric power in a climate such as we have here in Quebec Province.

Sometimes electrical storms throw such heavy charges onto transmission lines that fuses are blown or transformers damaged. Sometimes heavy accumulations of ice snap power lines. Sometimes gales blow down poles. More often, even, automobiles skid off roads and smash into poles, weakening them so much that they snap.

Happenings such as these may lead to power blackouts over a considerable area. In addition there are a number of circumstances which frequently cause more local power interruptions — and these we will discuss in a later column.

But the things which are the most frequent sources of power failures are trees. In fact —

DID YOU KNOW?

In one way or another, trees cause four out of every five power interruptions in the Gatineau area.

Sometimes trees snap lines by falling across them during storms. In one storm during the winter just past, for instance, more than 1,800 trees had to be cleared from the power lines before full service could be restored.

Sometimes, however, trees cause power failures which are not as easy to see and which, therefore, are more difficult to trace. On these occasions wet branches rub against the lines, and thus act as conductors which "ground" the electricity and interrupt service over a considerable area.

Our customers can help us provide better service for everybody by continuing to report cases where trees are spreading close to power lines and by cooperating with us in the removal of dangerous branches of trees on their property.

The Young Gardener

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Mummy, see the seed packages — all bright colors. Could I buy one?"

"Let me help you gardening, Daddy!"

"Jimmie has a little garden all of his own. Do let me plant my own seeds in my own rows this Spring!"

• • •

With the fresh smell of sunshine and rain on the sod, in how many houses small boys and girls are pleading to have a chance to be young gardeners! In a big, fertile country like ours, as far as possible every family should have its own small plot. Every child should have the chance to enjoy the miracle of planting seeds and watching for the first green leaves to appear!

The parents who have had to live in an apartment or in crowded quarters, and who want to garden should look into the possibility of renting a piece of ground or working a garden on shares for someone who cannot tend to it. Even a large window box successfully cultivated, has much fascination for a small child!

After he has served a preschool apprenticeship helping his parents in a garden, a child is old enough to embark on his own garden. Planning on paper is the first step for the young gardener. The pictures in the seed book look very attractive, but he must learn not to make too ambitious plans!

Give him a small plot, with room enough for two or three kinds of flowers, and two or three kinds of vegetables, and a little space for transplanting plants. Limit his choice to hardy, easily and quickly grown varieties. Many people are impatient for results, but a child can hardly wait for the first leaves to appear. The school age youngster can get practice in arithmetic and drawing as he makes his garden plan on paper.

After the garden is fertilized, plowed or dug, a child needs a little direction in raking and preparing the soil. But in this, as in other tasks, parents do well to give him the minimum of directions. It is his garden, not yours! He does need supervision but not too evident management by mother and dad. What if his rows are crooked? He'll have great pride in the job he does all by himself. He will need encouragement in weeding. Quietly see to it that he isn't such an ardent waterer that he washes out his seeds and plants!

Children's garden tools are often rather fragile, and the school age child might as well use grown up ones, cut down a bit to his size on the handles if necessary. Some parents have found it a great help to use two planks, the length of the rows, in the child's garden. The child can then make the small depression for the seed between the planks. Then stand on one plank, and gradually move along, dropping in the seeds.

Lettuce and radishes which grow quickly are favorites with many youngsters. Green peas and beans after they are soaked, are large enough for even small fingers to handle.

If there is any one vegetable which a child clamors for, such as raw carrot strips, suggest he plant one row of his favorite food. One little girl begged her father for a tomato plant for her garden when her dad was planting his. Although she had never been fond of tomatoes, she took great interest in her own ripening — and from that summer on tomatoes were among her best liked foods!

Children love flowers and there are many easily grown annuals such as poppy, cosmas, four o'clock, marigold, nasturtium, zinnia. If there is plenty of space in the garden, let the child have room to transplant one box of plants such as pansies, which are almost ready to bloom.

Gardening is one of the finest hobbies which parents and children can share. (Mothers and fathers know in their hearts that their most important crop is children, not vegetables or flowers). If Junior is allowed to help dad and mother when he is just a little chap with their work in the garden, and then have his own small plot when he reaches school age, he is almost bound to develop "green fingers!"

Americans Study British Civil Defence

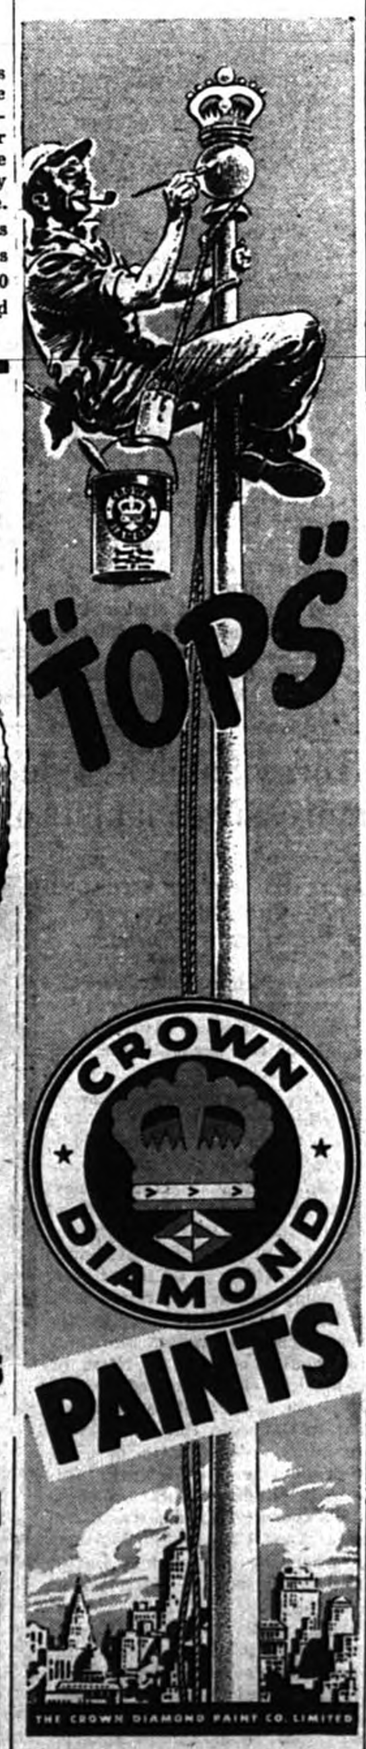

Members of the United States Civil Defence Administration have recently been touring various Civil Defence colleges and training centres in Britain — studying methods used in rescue work, against gas attack, and witnessing a demonstration in radioactive areas.

The party included, Governor Millard F. Caldwell, U.S. Federal Civil Defence Administrator; David H. Stowe, Administrative Assistant to the President; John Dechant, Director of Public Affairs in the Federal Defence Administration. . . Picture taken when the party visited the Civil Defence School at Falfield, shows the party inspecting a demonstration of radiation instruments.

JOHANNESBURG HIT BY MILK SHORTAGE

Johannesburg (CP) — This city is suffering its worst milk shortage in the last 10 years. Drought conditions since the start of the year have caused a gradual drop in the supplies of fresh milk for the city and the position has become acute.

Rationing of milk to schools has started. The schools will get less than their normal total of 3,500 gallons a day. Usual household deliveries will not be rationed.

EAGER TOURIST

Ottawa (CP) — At least one United States tourist is so anxious to come to Canada he's making plans via radio. . . E. Hadley, a Royal Canadian Mounted Police corporal who operates a "ham" radio station here, received a message from another "ham" in Evansville, Ind., asking all information he could get on Canada's holiday areas.

The U.S. operator, Clifford McGuyers, of Evansville, asked for the Canadian government travel bureau booklet "Canada — Vacations Unlimited". For Mr. McGuyers' information, the booklet is already in the mails.

"PERSONAL PLANNING" OPENS THE WAY TO HAPPIER LIFE WITHIN YOUR INCOME

Most of us have to live within our income or start eating bills for breakfast. So some of us make casual and frequent attempts at budgeting. Others give budgeting a real college try, then step over to the red side of the ledger around vacation time. Some even stick to their budgets, come windfalls or fire sales. But most of us share one sad experience, that budgets crimp one's enjoyment of life more effectively than rain on a picnic.

That's because we're guilty of a very important omission, which is pointed up in a cheery little book issued by the Bank of Montreal, called Personal Planning. We forget to provide for ourselves. We make entries for everything and everybody, and leave ourselves in the cold.

This is all part of Personal Planning or "how to live within your income and enjoy it". Donald Hay, the manager of the B of M branch at Lachute, invites you to pick up a copy of the B of M's booklet about Personal Planning next time you happen to be in the vicinity. It's yours for the asking.

Building A Better Community

WE THINK that our town is a good place in which to live. We do not, however, believe that this town, or any other town for that matter, cannot be improved in many ways.

No town can stand still. It must either progress or retrogress.

What can we, each of us, do to help build a better community here? How can we be reasonably sure that our town will go ahead in 1951? Too many of us in past years have sat quietly back in our little corners, content to leave such progress as has been made to the Town Council, the Chamber of Commerce or to other organizations. We have given too little of our thought and effort to spurring on the development of the community.

Here are a few suggestions which, if each one of us put them into effect, would ensure some progress towards a better community this year:

1. Shop in our home town.
2. Be an active member of at least one community organization.
3. Develop the habit of being on time for meetings and other functions.
4. Keep our homes and business places neat and attractive.
5. Be a booster of our town, not a knocker.
6. Develop in ourselves a progressive attitude.
7. Be friendly to one another and to strangers.
8. Work together for the common good.

If all of us in our town decided that this year we would do just a little more than our share in helping build a better community, we might be surprised at the great progress that would be achieved.

It Loves to Grow

BUREAUCRACY just loves to grow, declares The Financial Post, which cites the case of $9.95 worth of paper work by the U.S. civil service to make a purchase of a 50 cent magazine. Says The Post:

"It would be interesting to have some comparable figures for Canadian Government purchasing. While the cost of paper work might not be quite as high as in the United States, because our bureaucracy is younger and presumably hasn't had quite the same opportunity for flourishing, our record might not be good either.

"Bureaucracy is something like a small tree one plants on the front lawn. It just loves to grow, sending out branches and roots in all directions. The only remedy is constant pruning. If one doesn't do that regularly and severely, the whole place would soon be overrun. And that is exactly the remedy we must apply to our bureaucracy, too."

Pirates 'n Things!

AS FAR as their parents are concerned, spring is a terrible time of year for youngsters getting into mischief. But for the youngsters, it's a wonderful time for adventure.

Occasionally the newspapers record their exploits, but the reporters never do them justice. Recent stories told of two boys being fished out of a lake when their home-made raft sank, and of three others marooned on a flood-swept island or lost in the bush.

Those reporters must have forgotten their own boyhood. They missed the point entirely.

They didn't realize that the raft sank when it was torpedoed by a submarine after a rousing three-hour battle, that the castaways were victims of a nefarious gang of pirates and the boys in the bush were on the point of discovering a lost cache of uranium when their rescuers interfered.

For this is the time of year when "Treasure Island" and "Huckleberry Finn" enter into successful competition with the comic-book fare of the younger generation.

After all, it takes a lot of imagination for a boy to convince himself that he's Superman or the Lone Ranger when he can't fly or find a horse to ride. But anyone with the right stuff in him can summon up a horde of pirates as soon as he gets a sniff of unfrozen water.

To the discerning eye, events of great moment occur daily within hailing distance of every Canadian home. Scouts fearlessly scale trees, despite withering bursts of enemy fire, to reconnoitre the surrounding landscape, suffering skinned knees and lacerated trousers in the line of duty.

Hard-eyed law officers shoot it out with desperadoes in every back alley, barely subduing their last outlaw in time to arrive home for supper.

Incredible feats of endurance are performed by bicycle-mounted heroes who have stagnated with inactivity since the beginnings of the spring thaw forestalled their effort to fire the goal that won the Stanley Cup.

The newspapers simply don't know what they're missing.

YET another winter wanes — and no sign of a feminine galosh with a cutaway toe. We can only feel the stylists aren't trying — opines the Campbellton (N.B.) Tribune.

WEEKLY newspapers and the men and women they employ are in a very real sense employees of the community at large. And not just the town or village in which their printing plant is located, but the entire trading area, urban and rural — observes the New Liskeard Temiskaming Speaker.

Brilliant Pianist for Community Concert

The hobbies of Gyorgy Sandor are closely interlinked with his career. First of all he considers playing the piano as much a hobby as a carer, deriving equal pleasure from performances as his audiences do from listening to them. He refuses to consider his work in any sense arduous. Next he places people on the list of professional and personal enjoyments. Sandor has of course met thousands of people on his transcontinental tours, but each new friend or acquaintance pleases him, and he is interested in exploring the personalities of every nation and every type. With music his No. 1 hobby, Sandor still finds time to include languages in his array of talents. So far he has mastered five fluently: his native Hungarian, French, German, English and Spanish. The musician-linguist advises fellow artists that the quickest way to learn a new language is to read one's reviews. He looks forward to Portuguese as his next lingual venture, beginning its study by reading reviews of his concerts in Brazil.

Much of Gyorgy Sandor's popularity is due to his extensive repertoire of piano and concerti. He has in his mind and heart and fingers not only the standard number of piano and orchestra blendings, but a repertoire which includes 21 piano-with-orchestra compositions, ranging in period from Bach to Bartok. The whole he endows with the extraordinary gift of interpretation which has made him "one of the most impressive pianists of this generation." Sandor has received warm praise with his every orchestral appearance; whenever and wherever he plays, he rouses his audiences to enthusiasm.

Easter Seals and Crippled Children

CORRESPONDENCE TO THE WATCHMAN

To the People of Argenteuil:

Reader, are you ashamed of yourself? I am not; I gave my donation to the Crippled Children, a small one, but I feel that some child or adult will get much needed treatment from it.

I had sincerely hoped that the large industries and people of Argenteuil would donate generously to this worthy cause, but upon hearing the total receipts from subscribers in the area, I realized that many people and organizations had overlooked the crippled children and adults, who so badly need our help. It is not too late to send your donation now, so that some person who is not as fortunate as you and I can receive treatment.

Red Cross Canvass In Brownsburg

Brownsburg — A meeting of the committee organized to handle the Red Cross Campaign in Brownsburg, was held in the Social Club last Friday. The meeting had been scheduled for the purpose of winding up the campaign.

Many canvassers assisted in collecting funds, under the direction of the following organizations:

Mrs. Gordon Todd — Legion Ladies' Auxiliary.
Mrs. C. L. Stephens—Women's Institute.
Mr. John Connelly — Presbyterian Church.
Mr. Ken Dalrymple — Regular Baptist Church.
Mr. S. H. Stillwell — Canadian Legion.
Mrs. Tom Izzard — United Church.
Mr. C. H. Moseley — Rotary Club.
Mr. Jules Lemay — Catholic Church and Knights of Columbus.
Mrs. N. E. Smillie — Maple Avenue Baptist Church.
Mr. G. H. Quinn — Anglican Church and Boy Scouts.
Mr. H. M. Sherwood — Chairman.

Mr. H. M. Sherwood expressed appreciation to all who had assisted in making this campaign a success. He mentioned the fact that Brownsburg has not an active branch of the Red Cross at present, and it is therefore necessary to organize a committee to carry out the campaign for funds each year. Mr. Sherwood was especially appreciative of the fact that so many organizations co-operate in this worthy endeavor.

With returns still incomplete, the amount received to date is $1,050 — somewhat lower than last year's total.

Vital Statistics In Quebec Province A Guide to Health Programmes

By Dr. C. POMERLEAU, Director of the Levis County Health Unit

In their journey from the bureau of the local registrar to the office of the Provincial Division of Demography, the registrations of births, marriages and deaths in Quebec Province pass through the offices of the provincial health units. The province is divided geographically into health units, which have the primary day-to-day responsibility for maintaining and improving the health of the people. Quebec is the only province in the Dominion in which vital statistics registrations stop over in the health unit offices.

Essentially, this is certainly not for the purpose of checking the accuracy of the returns, nor of compiling statistics from them. It is to enable the medical officer to study each return separately, to obtain from the returns detailed information concerning the health and general living conditions of the population under his care, and to guide him towards a better application of the efforts of himself and his staff in their public health work.

According to Dr. Woodward, "the compilation of statistics is becoming increasingly important. However, even more attention must be given to their analysis, not as mere data, but as scientific facts to be used as the basis for the elaboration of public health programmes." To the medical officer, public health statistics are of the same importance as the symptoms of illness on which a practicing physician bases his diagnosis. With the help of statistics, the medical officer is able to understand fully the public health problems in his district, and to decided which problems are the most urgent and what are the best means of carrying out the general purpose of health units, namely, the improvement of personal and public health.

In order to understand better the usefulness of statistics as a guide in the preparation of a public health programme, we may study briefly the help which they give us both from the point of view of the community and of the individual.

I. THE COMMUNITY

The medical officer must use all the vital statistics which he receives both to educate the public and to draw up a "population balance sheet" of the county or district which is served by the health unit.

Education of the Public

The radio and, particularly, the press are excellent media in the educational work required. Exact statistical data are most valuable in the education of the general public. Almost all newspapers are anxious to publish each month information of local interest, such as the number of births and deaths which occurred in the county or district, the average age of those who died, the main causes of death — cancer, accidents, infectious diseases, and so on. To arouse wide interest and draw the attention of the public, the data must be published in comparative form with past years and also used as a basis for estimates for the future; at the same time, they must be compared in one city with another, in one county with another, and even with the general average of the province. They must be published simply, condensed into a few figures. Newspapers are not anxious to publish long tables, while the general reader, thirsty for news, finds little interest even in the simplest charts.

For educational purposes, the main point for the medical officer is to provide the public with the highlights of what is happening and being done in the city or county, usually without their knowledge. In this way, the public gets to know the true facts concerning the population.

Population Balance Sheet

In order to keep fully up to date concerning the population of the district under his care, the medical officer must follow carefully the changes which take place, those both favorable and unfavorable to its healthy growth. For this purpose, he should keep in his office a record or index of all births and deaths which occur in each locality in his district. Postings to this record are made from the registration forms as they are received in his office. A few explanatory remarks concerning abortions, premature deaths, and stillbirths should be included, and deaths should be classified by principal causes, sex, and age. In this way, without time-wasting research, the medical officer has immediately available all the important demographic information for each locality in his district. He is thus constantly in touch with the facts, which he might otherwise not know. At any time, he can establish an up-to-date "balance sheet" of the population of his district, showing all the favorable as well as the unfavorable aspects of the work which has been or requires to be undertaken.

Let us take, for example, the case of a death due to a communicable disease. The registration of the death warns the medical officer of the outbreak of an epidemic in a locality, of which he might otherwise be informed only by notification of the cases sent to him once the danger has spread. The epidemiologic investigation which follows the death will reveal the true situation and will enable the medical officer to take the necessary steps to prevent an epidemic, with its usually fatal consequences.

II. THE INDIVIDUAL

The study of the general population statistics of his unit provides the medical officer with the means of educating the public and of preparing the "population balance sheet" of his county or district. However, birth, marriage and death registrations, notifications of communicable diseases, etc., provide information of even greater importance for the setting up of an active health programme, based upon actual needs as shown by these documents.

Birth Registrations

GOOD STREET LIGHTING AS A DETERRENT TO CRIME

A good deal of publicity has been given recently to the necessity for improving street lighting as a means of removing one of the causes of street accidents.

Another important result of improved street lighting as disclosed by evidence from police reports is the reduction in crime which follows the introduction of a higher standard of street lighting. Street lighting will not cure or suppress crime but it usually does render the city streets more hazardous to the evildoer.

A recent investigation in America by the Street and Traffic Safety Lighting Bureau in which the opinions of police chiefs in various cities were obtained elicited the replies that in all cases there had been a noticeable decrease in street crime following an improvement in the lighting systems.

That robberies and assaults occur largely in poorly lighted areas was the general tenor of the replies received.

Desjardins, President, and MM. Emile Lauzon, J. A. Charbonneau, J. A. Lessard and Wilfrid Prud'homme, forming a quorum.

WHEREAS the Commission has been authorized to divide this tax with the School trustees for the Municipality of the City of St. Jerome.

THEREFORE, it is proposed by M. J. A. Lessard, School Commissioner, and resolved, that a resolution be and is adopted and that it be ordered by this resolution as follows:

1. For the purposes of this resolution, unless the context implies a different meaning:
(a) "purchaser" means any person who acquires from a vendor moveable property at a retail sale in the territory hereinafter mentioned;

2. By the present resolution an education tax is imposed and will be levied from the date of the coming into force, in addition to any other tax, a special tax called "education tax" of one per cent of the sale or purchase price, retail, except the exemptions hereinafter enumerated, of any immoveables, any moveable effects, any merchandise and any article of trade whatsoever, including gas and electricity used for lighting, power or heating and telephone service, sold in the limits of the territory.

Subject to the exceptions in section 3, the tax is imposed and will be levied in the case of a sale made outside of the said territory, whether the purchaser resides or has his place of business in the said territory or outside thereof, provided that in such case the thing covered by the said contract is within the said territory, either at the time of the sale or at the time of the delivery, except if it is brought therein for purposes of delivery only, or that the thing which is in the said territory has been carried out of the said territory with the intention of evading the payment of the tax.

The tax is imposed and will be levied in the case of the sale of a motor vehicle, as defined in the Motor Vehicles Act (Revised Statutes, 1941, chapter 142), a piano, an electric refrigerator or a radio or of any other merchandise that the Commissioners may determine by resolution, to a purchaser who has his domicile or ordinary residence or place of business in the said territory, whatever be the place, outside of the said territory, where the sale or delivery is made.

3. This tax shall not apply to:
(a) Bonds and shares of a corporation;
(b) All other intangible property, all securities, all monies;
(c) All transactions made through the Canadian Commodity Exchange Inc.;
(d) All debts, rights of action, incorporeal rights, annuities, insurance premiums;
(e) Beer and tobacco;
(f) Gasoline and kerosene (coal oil);
(g) Foodstuffs, not including candies and confectioneries;
(h) Provisions or merchandise sold by a farmer, horticulturist, nurseryman, aviculturist or apiculturist and produced through the pursuit of his undertaking;
(i) Tools, farm implements, farm machinery, tractors, animal-drawn vehicles, and parts for the same, acquired by a bona fide farmer to be used for the needs of his farm; horses, harness for horses, livestock, metal wire or netting for fences, also purchased by a bona fide farmer to be used for the needs of his farm;
(j) Boats, fishing nets and any other fishing apparatus purchased by a bona fide fisherman to be used in his trade;
(k) Natural water, distilled water and ozonized water;
(l) Medicaments delivered on doctors' prescription; artificial limbs and orthopeadic appliances;
(m) Fares on tramways, autobuses, boats, railroads or other transportation systems by land, water or air and toll fares;
(n) Prices of admission to places of amusement, as defined by the Amusement Tax Act (Revised Statutes, 1941, chapter 85) and amendments;
(o) Sales to the Federal Government or to the Provincial Government;
(p) Sales made to a "fabrique" or the trustees of a parish or to a cemetery society or company or to a hospital, for the purposes of their work, and sales made by them;
(q) Sales by judicial authority;
(r) Sales made by any person carrying on business in the territory, when the merchandise thus sold is shipped outside of the territory, for consumption or use outside of the territory.
(s) Meals;
(t) Printed books and periodicals; classroom supplies, not including automatic pencils or fountain pens;
(u) Telegraphic messages;
(v) Grain and mill feeds, seeds, fertilizers, insecticides and fungicides, soaps and other products used for cleaning; drain tiles for agricultural purposes;
(w) Coal, firewood, and fuel oil;
(x) Children's clothing and children's footwear;
(y) Sales for a price of ten cents or less.

The tax is not exigible when the sale has been effected in good faith before the coming into force of the present resolution. The tax is not exigible in the case of purchases made to carry out a contract for an undertaking by the job entered into before the coming into force of the said resolution, and, if paid, the Commissioners are authorized to remit the same.

Nevertheless, any goods delivered, after the coming into force of this resolution, under a contract by the job or under a contract for delivery entered into prior to such coming into force, shall be subject to the tax.

When a sale is annulled, the tax is levied only on that part of the price retained by the vendor. The case is the same when the thing sold is returned or refused.

When a person gives in exchange, for part of the price of merchandise purchased by him, other merchandise of the same kind, the tax shall be payable only on the balance of the purchase price.

4. The tax shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of the sale, whether the price is stipulated payable cash, on terms or by instalments, and shall be collected by the vendor who is constituted by this act the agent of the Commissioners for the collection of same. This agent shall keep an account of the education tax collected and to be collected and shall remit the tax collected to the Commissioners or to their representatives.

For the collection of this tax, the vendor has the same recourse against the purchaser as for his sale price;

5. A vendor having his place of business or commercial establishment outside of the territory shall not be bound to collect the tax even if the sale be made to a purchaser having his domicile, residence or place of business in the territory.

In all cases in which the tax is payable and the vendor is not obliged to collect it, such tax must be paid by the purchaser to the Commissioners.

If, however, the vendor has his establishment or place of business in a town or municipality which already collects a tax on retail sales, the Commissioners may arrange with such town or municipality to be authorized to collect the tax which, otherwise, would be payable by the purchaser to the Commissioners, as if the sale had been made in the limits mentioned in this resolution.

6. If a sale includes several articles or objects, the tax is computed on the total of the price of the articles or objects included in the said sale and not on the price of each article or object separately.

In the computation of the tax, any fraction of a cent is counted as a whole cent, which the purchaser shall pay.

7. Any person entrusted with the collection of the tax shall become a debtor of the Commissioners for the amount of the tax collected. The claim of the Commissioners against such person shall constitute a privileged claim on the moveables and moveable effects of such person and shall have the same rank as any other personal or moveable tax imposed by the Commissioners.

8. It shall be unlawful for any person to make a retail purchase, in the cases provided in this resolution, without paying to the vendor, at the time of purchase, the tax imposed and it shall be unlawful for the vendor to remit the tax to the purchaser either directly or indirectly.

It shall be unlawful for any vendor to advertise or let it be known to the public in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, that the tax the imposition whereof is authorized by this resolution, shall not be payable or paid by the purchaser.

9. The vendor must add to his invoices the amount of the tax payable or paid by the purchaser. The vendor must on or before the fifteenth day of each month make a written report, under oath, of the tax and pay it to the commissioners or their representatives. This report will be on a form supplied by the Commissioners and must give all information required. Every person representing the commissioners has the right to visit the establishment or establishments of the vendor during business hours, to examine his books and other documents, to verify if the prescriptions of this resolution are observed and to establish the amount of the tax collected and/or to be collected and to oblige every person and his officers and employees to furnish any information that such representative may require.

10. Every person required to furnish to the Commissioners a report under oath may take such oath before a notary public, or a commissioner of the Superior Court for the district of Terrebonne, before the secretary-treasurer of the Commissioners, who are by this resolution authorized to receive such oath.

11. If the vendor does not make the report required, the secretary-treasurer of the Commissioners shall establish, to his best knowledge, the amount of the tax collected and to be collected or to be paid, which amount so established shall then be considered as being the actual amount due to the Commissioners. The burden of proof that the amount so established is not correct shall be upon the debtor.

12. Every person who, being the agent of the Commissioners, for the purposes of this resolution, refuses or neglects to collect the tax imposed or to keep an account thereof, infringes this resolution and shall be liable, for each infringement, in addition to the payment of the costs, to a fine of at least five dollars and of not more than one thousand dollars and, in default of payment of the fine and costs, to an imprisonment not exceeding three months.

Every person making a purchase as provided for in this resolution without paying the tax imposed commits an infringement and shall be liable for each infringement, in addition to the payment of the tax and of the costs, to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, and, in default of payment of the tax imposed, the fine and costs, to an imprisonment not exceeding one month.

Every person who, being the agent of the Commissioners for the purposes of this resolution advertises or lets it be known to the public in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, that the tax imposed shall not be paid by the purchaser, infringes this resolution and shall be liable, for each infringement, to a fine of at least ten dollars and of not more than one hundred dollars in addition to the costs, and, in default of payment of the said fine and costs, to an imprisonment not exceeding one month.

Every person who, being the agent of the Commissioners for the purposes of this act, remits to the purchaser the tax which the latter is to pay, infringes the said resolution and shall be liable, for each infringement, in addition to the payment of costs, to a fine of at least ten dollars and of not more than five hundred dollars, and, in default of payment of the fine and costs, to an imprisonment not exceeding one month.

Every person, who being the agent of the Commissioners for the purposes of this resolution, refuses or neglects to remit to the Commissioners the tax which he has collected, infringes the said resolution and shall be liable for each infringement, in addition to the payment of the tax collected and of the costs, to a fine of at least ten dollars and of not more than one thousand dollars, and, in default of payment of the fine and costs and of the tax collected, to an imprisonment not exceeding three months.

In the event of a repetition of any of the infringements defined in this Section 12, the maximum fine and imprisonment shall be double that above provided.

13. Every person who cimmits an infringement to the present resolution, other than those defined in the preceding Section 12, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars for each infringement.

14. The payment of the fines and penalties imposed by this resolution and by any resolution adopted by the Commissioners shall not exempt the offender from the carrying out of the obligations and duties imposed upon him by this act and by the resolutions.

15. When an infringement of one of the resolutions of the Commissioners is committed by a company or a corporation, the fine is double the amount which is imposed on another person.

16. In the case of subsequent offences, the fine and the imprisonment, for each infringement is double, provided the amount of the fine does not exceed in each case, one hundred dollars and the term of imprisonment does not exceed three months.

17. It shall be lawful for the court to grant to the offender a delay not exceeding one month to pay the amount of the fine and the costs.

18. The sale made by one of the employees or representatives of the vendor shall be deemed as having been made by the vendor himself. In the same manner the purchase made by one of the employees or representatives of the purchaser shall be deemed as having been made by the purchaser himself. In such cases, all recourses which the Commissioners may exercise under this resolution, or the resolutions which the Commissioners may adopt, may be exercised against the vendor or the purchaser personally, as the case may be.

19. The Commissioners may compensate the vendor, to the extent of five per cent of the amount collected by him, for the additional work which the collection and the remittance of this tax may cause him.

20. The Commissioners are authorized to enter into agreements with the Provincial Treasurer for the collection of the said tax imposed under this resolution.

Such agreements may stipulate that the secretary-treasurer of the Commissioners shall be permitted to examine all reports or statements furnished under the provisions of the Retail Sales Tax Act (Revised Statutes 1941, chapter 8).

Such agreements may authorize the Provincial Treasurer to exercise the rights of the Commissioners for the collection of the said tax payable to the Commissioners and the actions for infringements of this resolution.

21. If the collection of this tax is made by the Provincial Treasurer under one or more agreements entered into between the Provincial Treasurer and the Commissioners these latter retain against the purchaser who has refused or neglected to pay the tax their recourse for the recovery of such tax, and such claim shall be privileged on the moveables and moveable effects of the purchaser and shall have the same rank as any other personal or moveable tax due the Commissioners.

22. The annual revenue collected by the Commissioners from the said tax shall, after deduction of the expenses incurred by the said Commissioners for the imposition and collection of such revenue, be shared every three months by the said Commissioners between themselves and the School Trustees for the Municipality of the City of St. Jerome, in the County of Terrebonne, proportionately to the number of children from five to sixteen years of age of the Roman Catholic or Protestant religious denomination, respectively, residing in the Territory common to both.

23. The present resolution, after publication in two consecutive numbers of the "Progrès de Terrebonne" and of "The Watchman", being two newspapers published in the district, will come into force on the 1st of May, 1951.

(Adopted)

I, CLEOPHAS VIAU, secretary-treasurer of the School Commissioners for the Municipality of the City of St. Jerome, de certify that the above is the translation of a resolution adopted by the said School Commissioners at a meeting held on April 5th, 1951.

PART III

Common Sense Applied to Living

When born, one arrives in the world with certain potentialities. No one's possibilities are precisely the same. However, everyone knows the type of living and work which would not only be satisfactory but also pleasurable.

It is unnecessary for persons who have followed their inspiration, to read further, because they embody common sense. They have given themselves to life and life has repaid them with abundant health and happiness.

Some people reject this type of living because it seems impossible to attain and therefore not worthwhile trying to acquire. Some postpone it because responsibilities, both near and dear, are to them of greater moment than the fulfilment of their own desires. Others find that tradition, family expectations or public opinion are more vital to them than a life of daily, satisfactory living.

Those who have, for any reason, rejected their inspiration and potentialities find that they do not completely fit into their environment. They are the proverbial "square pegs in round holes". Their living is, to a degree, either irritating or boring. Both boredom and irritation, a superiority or inferiority complex, tax the health of mind and body.

In order to counteract these effects it is well, rigorously to follow the common sense rules of health. These can be studied under such headings as exercise, ingestion, rest, inhalation and elimination.

Exercise

Bodies and minds are healthier if they are used. When parts of the body or mind are not used, the cells, which form them, shrink or become cluttered with deposits of fat. Although life is present, these parts function imperfectly. Because each part of the body is interdependent, the deterioration of one part affects the whole. Bodies kept in such a condition are more susceptible to disease. However, as long as there is life in these cells and tissues, whether those of the mind or the body, it is possible to re-train them to function adequately. The cells, stimulated to work, will throw off their unhealthy accumulations and return to normalcy whether the person who is re-training be 19 or 90.

The process of re-training can be as enjoyable as was the original development. The baby likes to learn to use both mind and body. It is interesting to grab a toe with a hand and taste both, even though they prove somewhat large for a small mouth.

The older person has the advantage of knowing the standard to which it is possible to attain and the disadvantage of having to dispose of inhibitions.

In the re-training of body or mind, daily exercise is essential for satisfactory progress. The more often exercise is taken the sooner results will be apparent. It is unwise, however, to tire either mind or body. Tiring is an indication that more waste products are being formed than can be carried away and eliminated. To exercise too long, or long enough to tire, defeats the purpose of the training, which is to re-establish both adequacy and health. Music and rhythm add to the pleasure of regaining control of body movements. A variety of subjects makes the re-training of the mind of interest.

Rest. . . .

Rest is essential for health.

Even the heart, which works on an average from 60 to 88 times per minute, rests an equivalent number of times in 60 seconds. Different parts of the body require different periods and different types of rest.

Sleep rests many parts of the body which are under voluntary control. The amount of sleep necessary in 24 hours varies greatly with the individual. Some need longer periods of sleep in order to feel refreshed than others. Persons who are vitally interested in living often require very few hours of sleep; while those who are thoroughly bored by the prospect of tomorrow find that many hours in bed have done little to fit them to allay their fears. Indeed, they are still tired and bored on awakening. In sleep the conscious mind rests, and the subconscious mind labors without inhibition. Incidentally, it is well to direct the subconscious mind just before going to sleep. If the conscious mind has been unable to find any solution to a problem — the subconscious, if directed, will frequently supply a satisfactory answer and the problem will be solved on awakening.

When awake, rest can be supplied by change of occupation or using a different part of the body to accomplish the same purpose. A very short period of rest of this kind will give the circulatory system time to carry off the waste products which have accumulated and thus produced the sensation of fatigue. After these products have been removed the part so affected is again potential for adequate work.

If rest is not taken when either the mind or body tire, work is not only accomplished more slowly but is not done efficiently.

It is more difficult to rest the mind which has tired when dealing with a difficult problem, by changing the subject of thought, than to rest the body by a change of occupation. Nevertheless, individuals are in control of themselves and it can be done by anyone who wishes to think efficiently and creatively. The conscious mind, when not properly controlled, iterates and re-iterates the same thoughts until a vicious circle of useless repetition prevents the mind from functioning adequately.

Rest, by means of change and variation, helps the body and mind to regain health and also is a good method both of saving time and working efficiently.

Ingestion

The body is made up of certain elements. Specific elements are used in the process of living. In order to live healthily it is necessary to replace these substances. It is well not to oversupply the body with, even, the essential elements. To do so is to clog and thus to impede normal functions.

Carbohydrates — in the form of vegetables and fruits, flours and cereals are needed, daily, to supply heat and energy.

Fats—or oils are also necessary because they not only supply heat and energy but are also lubricants. Too great a proportion of fatty food in the diet is not digestible. Overheated fats or oils are harmful, for they impair the digestion and absorption of other foods.

Proteins — can be ingested in such foods as meats, eggs, fish, nuts, peas, beans, bananas, cheese and milk. They are used in the body for building and repair. Exactly the same amount of protein must be eliminated from the body as is taken in. If this balance is not perfect every day, the health is seriously affected. If more protein is eliminated than ingested, proper repairs cannot be effected. If less protein is eliminated than ingested, poisons (toxins) are present in the blood stream. The kidneys and skin deal with the elimination of this type of food. To keep these organs healthy it is better not to overwork them unduly. To sustain the body in a good state of repair, at least one of these foods containing protein should be ingested every day.

Minerals — such as calcium, iron, phosphorus, etc., are used and are needed in the body. However, these substances are re-utilized by the body and therefore only small amounts of them need be included in the diet. Nevertheless it is well to offer the system a supply of minerals. They are found in most foods, milk, vegetables, proteins, etc.

Vitamins — are foods without which the body cannot function perfectly. These substances, though needed in very small amounts, are essential to health. Some of them are "fat soluble" are present in unheated oils and fats, milk fat, butter, cod-liver oil, olive oil, etc. Some are "water soluble" and are found in fresh fruits and vegetables, especially when these foods are not cooked. Others of the "water soluble" vitamins are found in the vital parts of whole grains, rice, wheat or whatever happens to be the staple foodstuff of the community or country. The vitamins found in these grains can be heated and still retain their efficacy.

Comedy of Family Life On Stage This Saturday

Reviving one of their previous productions, the Ascension Players will present John Van Druten's comedy "I Remember Mama" (adapted from Kathryn Forbes' story, "Mama's Bank Account"), at Lachute High School this Saturday evening. The presentation is under auspices of the Argenteuil Farm Forums.

The cast includes Lois Savage, Keith Armstrong, Joan Hill and Gordon Roberts portraying major roles.

The Story

Vital Statistics in Quebec Province

locate immediately each child as soon as it is born. Even before the birth of the child is officially registered and a birth certificate issued, the registration form provides the medical officer with the child's name and address. This information is entered on a special card, given to the visiting public health nurse assigned to the area in which the family lives. This assures a prompt visit to the mother and her child . . and continuation of welfare advice, with distribution of literature, and emphasis on immunization against communicable diseases, etc.

All of this work follows logically from the receipt in the local health unit office of the registration form of the birth. This is not, however, the only use which the medical officer can make of it. Together with all other registrations, it serves to establish the general birth rate in his district, for comparison with the birth rate of other districts and of the whole province. Should this comparison prove unfavorable, the medical officer must look for the cause of the low rate. It could lie in the age distribution of the population or in its social composition, both of which must be taken into account in analyzing the birth rate and natural increase of population. But the rates of fertility may themselves be too low.

Marriage Registrations

It is clear that marriages constitute an investment in the future increase of the population. The medical officer should know of all marriages which take place in his district and are likely to contribute to this increase. The registrations of marriage provide him with detailed information concerning all newly-wed couples in each locality. This information opens a wide field of action in prenatal care. It may be noted, the marriage registration forms are at present our only means of carrying out a programme in prenatal work.

Death Registrations

Before attempting to reduce morbidity in a district, it is essential first of all to know exactly the rate of mortality. The accuracy of this important information derives from the registrations of death which pass through the health unit office. In the light of the data made available by these registrations, such as cause of death, place, age, sex, etc., we can determine the place and cause of all preventable deaths which contribute so heavily to a high general or infant mortality rate. With this information, the medical officer is able to direct his programme in such a way as to prevent unnecessary diseases, and thus directly reduce the number of deaths.

The general death rate in a district serves as an index of the health and resistance of the population. It is essential that the medical officer calculate this rate and compare it with that of the whole province, and thus determine whether it is high or low, whether it is higher in the urban or in the rural areas, and in which age group it is the highest. These comparisons will show the weak points in the public health programme, the points which require more attention and greater effort. These weak points can be determined from the death registration forms which give the cause of death. These causes, although varied, nonetheless often have certain aspects in common, and on these our work will have its greatest influence.

In the study of the "population balance sheet" mentioned above, we find, for example, that in certain areas of the health unit the death rate due to certain diseases is above the general average. Examination of the death registration forms shows that the excessive rate is due, let us say, to industrial disease. It is clear, then, that we are dealing with an industrial area, and must develop industrial hygiene more fully.

The same applies to communicable diseases. Should the number of deaths caused by typhoid or enteric diseases be higher in some districts than in others, it is essential to take all possible preventive measures.

Infant Mortality

The excessively high toll paid by our population as the result of infant mortality is one of the main reasons why health units are required. Infant mortality must be brought down, and in order to do so, it is necessary to have an accurate and scientific knowledge of its causes as given on the death registration forms: premature birth, congenital debility, communicable diseases and respiratory causes are the most frequent. Intensive work has been done in Quebec Province since establishment of health units in 1926. To date, very encouraging results have been achieved. The infant mortality rate of the province fell from 132 per 1,000 live births in 1926-28 to 55 per 1,000 in 1946. Nevertheless, the study of the causes of death shows that still further work is needed in mother and child care. This includes especially prenatal and post-natal visits, classes and practical demonstrations, distribution of literature, baby clinics, and immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough, etc. There can be no respite.

We must not attribute the high infant mortality rate to the "old wives' tale" that a population with a high birth rate must necessarily have a high infant mortality rate. Vital statistics prove that in Quebec, the birth rate has steadily increased over the past ten years, while the infant mortality rate has steadily declined.

CONCLUSION

I hope that the above will make clear that the use and value of the registration of vital facts must not be limited to statistical reports and analyses supplied in imposing and bulky volumes. In my opinion, such analyses are but one of the purposes of the collection of the vital statistics. As I have tried to show, there is another very important use for these registrations, namely, guidance in the preparation of public health programmes.

Who Is Jehovah?

Do you want the facts about the Creator of the endless marvels of the visible creation? What does the Bible teach about him? What are his purposes? How is he worshiped? How, and what has he provided for mankind's enrichment and what hope does he hold out for them? Does he torment humans after death? Allow the book "Let God Be True" to answer these and many other questions and prove to you how reasonable, consistent and provident is the one true God and Creator of all good things.

Bound in an attractive green cover with a gold-stamped title, "Let God Be True" will be mailed anywhere for a contribution of 35 cents. — Write the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, 40 Irwin Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

Who is Jehovah? — Read Psalms 83, verse 18.

Corrects Impressions On Kirkland Lake

TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Lachute Watchman.

Dear Sir:

In the interests of accuracy I must call attention to an article in the March 22 issue of your paper entitled, "A Home Missionary With A Message".

This article contains references to the modern, progressive city of Kirkland Lake which are hardly fair to that important northern centre. For example, I was amazed to learn that Kirkland Lake has a population of only 2,000 people! Imagine such a small community having 46 teachers on its High School staff alone! Surely a person writing for your newspaper should be expected to have sufficient knowledge of his own country to be familiar with Canadian cities of more than 25,000 population.

I am most interested in the work of Home Missionaries, and I think it regrettable that such a disjointed report of missionary activity should be printed. Because no dates are mentioned, the public is apt to be confused about actual conditions in Kirkland Lake. I do not think that the impressions given in this article are the ones Miss Mathews intended to create.

In a recent editorial comment you deplored inaccurate references to Lachute in a Montreal paper. I trust that you will be as fair to the people and city of Kirkland Lake.

— A Northern Ontario Subscriber

ED. NOTE: Correspondent informs The Watchman that the population of Kirkland Lake was misstated in her report due to an error in transcribing her notes — a mistake for which the Editor is equally responsible, for having passed it unnoticed. The reporter intended to state 20,000; but the fact that it was a clerical error is very obvious from the context.

Regarding the "disjointedness" of report referred to above — knowing that space was necessarily limited, our correspondent did not attempt to give Miss Mathews' address verbatim.

Attend Trade Course

Messrs. Geo. Paul and Geo. Graham, partners in the firm of Paul & Graham Reg'd, spent five days in Montreal taking the instruction course conducted by the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association.

A man being tried for murder had bribed an Irishman on the jury to hold out for a verdict of manslaughter. The jury was out for a long time and finally returned with a verdict of manslaughter.

"I'm much obliged", whispered the prisoner to the Irishman. "Did you have a hard time of it?"

"The devil's own time", said Pat. "The other eleven wanted to acquit ye". — Canadain

Women's Institute

The monthly meeting of Arundel Women's Institute was held in the school auditorium Wednesday evening, April 11. The president, Mrs. F. Davis, was in the chair, and as there was no set program, business was discussed during the entire meeting. It was decided to hold an indoor bazaar on July 13 in the auditorium. The sum of $100 was voted to the Municipal Council to be used towards more adequate fire protection. Conveners gave their monthly reports — Mrs. A. Heron announcing the arrival of the seeds for the School Fair, which will be held early in September. The yearly program was read out to the members, as it will be some time before the books will be printed, and favorable comments were heard on the work done by the Executive in drawing up an interesting year's program. Next month (Wednesday, May 9) the program will be under the Citizenship convener, Mrs. Gordon Cooke. The Home Economics convener reports sufficient backings for one quilt, but five more bleached feed bags are needed to complete the second quilt.

Thanks are extended to those who have already contributed to the Red Cross. Others intending to contribute, kindly do so as soon as possible.

Guests at Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dobbie's on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. A. Pinkerton, of Montreal, and Miss Ruby and Mr. Wendall O'Brien, of Chatboro.

Suggestion on Red Cross Appeal

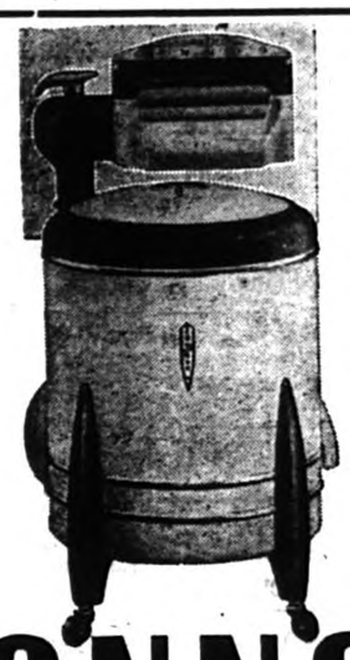

Red Cross solicitors are receiving donations from Cushing residents — who are glad to help, yet wonder why they can never receive any credit for their community because the slips are always made out for "St. Andrews East and District". In fairness to Cushing residents there should be a change made in future, so that Cushing could be named and have slips of their own.

Missionary from Korea Heard at Thank-Offering

Cushing — Mrs. A. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Fuller represented St. Mungo's at the Thank-Offering meeting of St. Andrews East W.M.S. on Sunday night, and listened to a most interesting address by Miss Sandell, late of Korea.

Miss Sandell told of some inhuman acts of fraudulent design carried out by the Communists in order to trap innocent people. One of them was a notice sent out to the people, that if they would meet at a certain place and bring bags with them, they would be given supplies of rice. Quite a number of them went, including some of their prominent teachers. When they reached the meeting place they were surrounded, the bags jerked over their heads and they were led away to be prisoners of the Communists. Many had not been heard of since.

Miss Sandell corroborated Dr. Florence Murray in saying, at the Presbyterial meeting, that the "crack army" that came down from the North was not really the Korean people of the North in immediate residence, but people who had been living in other countries under Communist influence for some time. . . In speaking of parcels for Korea Miss Sandell thought that the personal parcels sent to Miss Burns in Japan reached Korean people much faster than those sent through the Toronto Centre. "The need is so great", the speaker affirmed.

Stretching Your Food Dollar

Have you ever stood in the middle of a grocery store and looked around, bewildered, wondering just where to start your shopping? There, displayed before you are colorful rows of fruits and vegetables, tin after tin of canned goods and packages of all types and sizes, just waiting to be bought. What you should actually buy and the amount you should spend from the family purse on each item is a complex problem.

How much money to spend on food is important to every homemaker. Actually, your food costs depend upon many factors. The home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa list the first point as the number in the family, their ages, their activities and their likes and dislikes. It is important to buy sizes and amounts which are suitable to the size of the family. If the family is large, Mrs. Housewife knows from experience that she should buy in large quantities. For instance, she finds that it is more economical to buy in large quantities. For instance, she finds that it is more economical to buy 25 pounds of potatoes at a time than 5 pounds, enough for only a meal or two, several times a week. For a small family small amounts should be bought which may be used up and not wasted.

Another point to consider in the food budget is how much entertaining is done in the home and whether it is simple or elaborate. If food costs are running too high try to make all entertaining as simple as possible. The number and types of meals eaten away from home and box lunches for the children, are other factors to consider when thinking of the food dollar. Plan box lunches so that they are nutritious and appetizing and as economical as possible. Away-from-home meals should be cut down to a minimum if the budget is beginning to be stretched too far.

When it comes to the actual buying of food, plan the buying. Check the supplies on hand, consider the meal patterns, make a grocery list and finally buy where you get the best food for the money spent. When checking food supplies be sure that there is a sufficient stock of such necessary items as flour, sugar and salt always on hand. If these items are bought in sufficient quantity to last a fairly long time, rather than in dibs and dabs, the saving in money may be noted. When checking the menu patterns with the grocery list it is most important to keep in mind that each day every member of the family should have his necessary food requirements as outlined in Canada's Food Rules. Shopping by telephone is sometimes necessary but it is well to remember that carry-home habits are practical and generally pay dividends. Plan to keep track of price trends, and take advantage of especially good buys.

When actually buying food the well arranged displays and the colorful array of packaged foods are very tempting. Here is where it is important to remember the food list. It should prevent the spending of too much money on the less essential foods. Basic food accessories such as seasonings, sauces or flavorings, if used carefully, may be excellent for adding variety and contrast in the flavor of food, but impulse buying of such accessories is costly and not always necessary.

When shopping, the careful homemaker is constantly comparing the prices per serving of the various forms in which some foods are sold, such as frozen or canned vegetables, fresh or canned meats. A good rule to follow is to buy the least expensive type that suits the purpose. It is also wise to compare the prices of bulk and packaged foods and the prices of new vegetables as compared to that of older stored vegetables. A food sold in bulk is usually of just as good quality as that sold in an elaborate package, while new vegetables, granted colorful and attractive, are naturally higher priced.

Homemakers today are making a practice of buying by grade. They read the labels and buy the grade that suits their purpose. They consider the financial advantage or disadvantage of buying such prepared mixes as pudding powder, cake or pie mixes. They consider each and every one of these factors before spending the family food dollar so that it will go just as far as possible. The Consumer Section has an excellent booklet entitled "Foods For The Family", which would be helpful to all homemakers. This booklet deals with buying, storing and cooking foods. It may be obtained free of charge by writing to the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

Offer Home Hospitality To Visiting Associates

Members of the National Federations of Women's Institutes in England, are inviting members of constituent societies of the Associated Country Women of the World to be their guests, if planning to visit that country for the Festival of Britain this summer.

In a letter received at the office of the Quebec Women's Institutes, from Mrs. John Bell, O.C.W.W. secretary, she states this hospitality is free for a few days at each indicated address to all W.I. members, and relatives and friends who may be travelling with them. "The members in this country", she writes, "are looking forward to the opportunity of entertaining some of your members in their homes, and we hope that this practical offer of home hospitality will result in the spread of goodwill and understanding."

Any W.I. members in this province, wishing to avail themselves of this generous offer, should contact the Q.W.I. office at Macdonald College, for information relating to this plan.

FASHION HINT

Here is a suit fashioned of medium grey men's-wear suiting that, while built on classical lines, employs smartly softening touches. Inserts of red and dark grey gabardine are placed at one shoulder and balanced at the opposite hip. Seaming from the underarm shapes the jacket and terminates in a barely defined waistline. A distinguished addition to any suit wardrobe!

Common Sense Applied to Living

Water—unadulterated by flavoring, is best. The body, however, can extract water from fluids such as tea and coffee and soft drinks, and from most of the foodstuffs. The body eliminates several pints of water daily; thus, to retain health, it is essential to consume sufficient water to replace these lost pints.

Roughage — or the bulk in the diet, which is not absorbed, is most useful to aid in the elimination of waste products from the bowels. Roughage is found in the cellulose contained in whole grains and vegetables. Without sufficient roughage, this important form of elimination is slowed and substances which should be expelled are retained, giving rise to symptoms of headache, fatigue and bloating. This makes people susceptible to diseases. Most people who have succumbed to ill health have a history of such constipation. If one desires health, carbohydrates, fats, proteins, minerals, vitamins, water and roughage, in some form, should be taken daily.

Elimination

When heat and energy are produced — whether by a car, a stove, or a body — other substances are also produced in this process of combustion, substances which are best eliminated from these machines. The body eliminates these products by means of the skin, kidney system, the lungs and intestines. If these waste products are retained in the body they impair its function. It is well, therefore, to keep the body clothed in such a way that elimination by the skin is not interfered with. It is well to keep the body cleansed daily, so that the pores are open and able to eliminate the waste products freely.

The elimination in the other three ways has already been discussed. It is well to remember that water is the transporting agent for all forms of elimination.

Adequate elimination by each of the four methods is a very important factor in the health of the whole body.

Inhalation

Breathing was dealt with in a previous article. Fresh and moving air is best to choose, if one has a choice.

And to conclude: No one who is absorbed and happy in his living need bother with all these rules, for—Christ said, "Take no thought what ye shall eat or what ye shall drink or wherewithal ye shall be clothed."

Fed'l Spending and Taxation Under Fire in Traditional Budget Debate

"The Week in Ottawa"

By Erwin Fricke, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, April 24 (CP) Opposition parties in the Commons last week were given a chance to criticize the spending and taxing the Government intends to do in the coming year.

Whatever else their disagreements, the Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit parties were in harmony on one point. They all differed with Finance Minister Abbott.

As the traditional budget debate opened, the Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. parties introduced their customary motions of non-confidence.

The C.C.F. motion, moved by party leader M. J. Coldwell, called for limiting the new 20 per cent defence surtax on incomes to single persons who earn more than $1,500 a year and to married persons earning more than $3,000.

The Progressive Conservatives' financial critic, J. M. Macdonnell, specifically expressed regret at the government's "failure" to take effective steps to deal with profiteering.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, termed the budget an "inflationary budget" and said it would do nothing "to put value back into the Canadian dollar and to bring down the cost of living to manageable proportions."

Proposals "Unsatisfactory"

The Progressive Conservatives and C.C.F. also took Mr. Abbot to task for not providing in his budget what they consider adequate measures to control inflation.

"The proposals of the minister of finance are unsatisfactory because they will inevitably increase the cost of living for all, and especially for those least able to bear it", said Mr. Macdonnell's motion.

"This House condemns in particular as inflationary the increase by 25 per cent of the general sales tax and is of the opinion that the increase is unnecessary and unwise.

"This House further condemns the heavy increase in excise taxes on certain essential commodities and is of the opinion that much of the government's proposed huge increase in taxation is due to its own extravagance."

Mr. Macdonnell predicted the budget, though it purported to cure inflation, will cause a "substantial" rise in the cost of living, with the inevitable result that organized labor will seek further wage increases.

Buy Land for Future Power Development At Carillon Site

Hawkesbury — The Ontario Hydro is purchasing land around Hawkesbury for the Quebec Hydro. This was confirmed by the Hon. George H. Challies, Ontario Minister of Hydro, and M.L.A. for Dundas.

Mr. Challies explained the deal: "This land is being purchased by us under the agreement drawn up between Ontario and Quebec in 1942. The deal is involved, but part of it was this — that Ontario was to have the development of the power sites at La Cave, Portage du Fort, and des Joachims. Quebec was to have Carillon.

Part of Deal

"Part also of the agreement was that the Ontario Hydro was to secure the property for the Quebec Government, which is to develop the Carillon site."

Asked when this might be, Mr. Challies replied; "There have been no discussions about it. We have no idea when the Quebec authorities will develop the site."

Asked if there were any possibility of Ontario getting some Quebec power, Mr. Challies said: "All I can say is that we hope we shall be able to buy power from them."

The Hydro minister made it quite clear, however, that there was nothing in the agreement that indicated the Quebec authorities were obliged to give them power.

Tree-Trimming By Property-Owner Caused District Power Break

A power-break in the Gatineau system at 11.30 last Friday morning affected householders and industries through this entire district. Factories were idle; trade and domestic equipment was shut off for a period of 15 minutes; a total of 6,000 customers suffered inconvenience of some sort or another. . .

The reason? . . A property-owner cut a limb from a tree outside his home in the east ward. The falling branch snapped a 26,000 volt power line, and it took the Gatineau linemen some time to repair it.

In reporting this incident, the company officials suggest they should be notified, and they will gladly investigate, whenever it is intended to fall or trim a tree in the proximity of power lines.

Daylight Saving Effective Sunday

Lachute and Brownsburg will officially adopt Daylight Saving Time, in accordance with the general practice, next Saturday at midnight. Church services and railway schedules will be affected the following day; church-goers and travelling-folk are therefore advised to acquaint themselves with the changes beforehand.

Ottawa River on the Rampage

Inspires Both Awe and Eloquence, as Watchman Scribe Views District Havoc

The crystalline fairyland of winter has given place, though reluctantly, to the lovely gardens of spring. Black and white and pale blue yield to green and gold and azure, each season as symbolic as a shield of old. . .

Now that's all very well for poets, and wordsmiths of English, but how do dwellers along the picturesque banks of the mighty Ottawa view the advent of spring! There was nothing reluctant about the waters that overflowed their banks and wrought destruction and ruin and untold damage—from St. Eustache to Grenville, within our own district. The "Mighty" Ottawa is right! It did a mighty good job of ruination among the multi-colored cottages of St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac. It took them and placed them where it chose, like the whim of a destructive giant brushing aside his castles of match-sticks. It made uncertain hide-and-seek of the road along its length, and sat in amused abandon at the numerous travellers who waited perplexed at its edge. "Dare I go through?" "Can I make it?" "What if I meet a hole?" And along every uncertain mile, flotsam and driftwood borne along on its mighty bosom, floating endlessly without regard for ownership, without thought of loss or grief.

Oka Beach a shambles . . grotesque shapes of half-submerged dwellings. The mighty Ottawa knocking at the door, looking in the window, lapping at the eave — or in more sportive mood, wresting a cottage from its moorings. . This is the Ottawa, the same Ottawa of Champlain and Dollard. The same Ottawa of the Iroquois and the Hurons — the Ottawa of our time and for generations to come.

Some people say it has not been as high since 1906 — almost fifty years ago. What is fifty years to the Ottawa? It has seen many a fifty come and go, but it still goes along, now high now low. It is raging today, but it will cool down and return to normal when it has spent its fury. And generations yet to come will marvel, or mourn its risings and its fallings, in fifty times fifty years from now. How insignificant is man when compared with the eternal forces of nature!

Official Sanction For Sport Fishing In North River

Permission to the public to fish, with rod and line only, in the North River in the Counties of Argenteuil, Two Mountains and Terrebonne, and the Salmon River in the County of Huntingdon, is given in a public notice issued by the Department of Game and Fisheries for Quebec.

Charles Fremont, K.C., General Superintendent of Game and Fisheries, said that these rivers and the waters within one-half mile on either side of the mouth of each, had been set apart for the natural propagation of fish, under the Quebec Fisheries Act, 1932. Article 62 of this Act prohibits fishing in such waters except under written permit. This regulation was not generally known and these rivers have been fished by residents of Montreal and other parts of the province, without interference by wardens, until the regulation appeared in the 1951 summary of fishing laws.

Mr. Fremont said that his Minister and Department wished to make it possible for such fishing to continue as there seemed no good reason for these rivers to be closed to angling. However, a written permit is necessary, and it would be impossible to issue such a permit to the great number of individuals interested. The Minister of Game and Fisheries, Hon. C. E. Pouliot, M.D., therefore authorized the following public notice which will be accepted by wardens as written permission under the Quebec Fisheries Act. . .

Notice is hereby given in accordance with Article 62 of the Fisheries Act 1932, that the public is permitted to fish, with rod and line only, in the waters of the North River in the Counties of Argenteuil, Two Mountains and Terrebonne, and in the Salmon River in the County of Huntingdon, and also within one-half mile on each side of the mouth of each of these rivers. This permit is subject to the General Fishing Regulations in regard to the open season, legal length and catch limit for each species of fish.

By Order.

Ch. of Commerce Speaker on Topic Of Salesmanship

One of the most enthusiastic dinner meetings in the experience of the Chambre de Commerce, was held Tuesday evening at the Hotel Laurentien. Under chairmanship of the president, Dr. R. A. Dumais, there was an attendance of around 80 citizens and business men. Among the notable guests were Mr. Philippe Valois, M.P., Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon, and ex-Mayor Léopold Carrière.

Highlight of the gathering was a discourse by Raoul Daigneault, which was unanimously acclaimed as a "speech for the book". Mr. Daigneault, of the Cockfield, Brown & Co. advertising agency, is also a lecturer in Salesmanship for the "Hautes Etudes Commerciales" — course sponsored by the Retail Merchants' Association in Montreal.

Salesmanship is instinctive to the human make-up, claimed this speaker. We are literally born with it, to a varying degree, and we display it in various forms from our earliest years of intelligence. With a captivating sense of humor, Mr. Daigneault discussed the "sales personality"; he enumerated certain mis-steps in salesmanship, and showed the correct alternative — in so many normal lines of business that almost every listener in his audience found a hint for personal application. . The topic, and its manner of delivery, were thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

Arrangements for this assembly were in the hands of Paul Lafontaine, who was warmly commended on the success of the event.

Premier Duplessis Will Officiate for 1951 Spring Fair

Clement Tremblay, president of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, received a letter from the Quebec Premier, Hon. Maurice Duplessis, provisionally accepting the Society's invitation to officiate for the opening of Lachute Spring Fair, 1951, on Wednesday, June 13. This announcement was given out at a meeting of the Agricultural Society directors held last week in the Court House; under chairmanship of Mr. Tremblay.

The 1951 Fair prize lists have been mailed to all members of the Society and prospective exhibitors. Any others desirous of obtaining copies may do so by writing to the secretary-manager, Syd Patterson, Lachute Spring Fair.

Entertainment for the Fair program, in charge of committeemen Geo. McGibbon, Fernand Legault and Stuart Armstrong, will include Maxville's famed Connie Kippen with a team of Highland dancers and pipers, also a number of variety acts engaged through P. Normand's entertainment agency. A local feature will be music furnished this year by the Ayers-sponsored brass band, of 40 instrumentalists.

The British Legion celebrates its 30th anniversary by holding a national review in Hyde Park, London, on May 12, when the standards of 8,500 branches will be paraded.

Gyorgy Sandor Grips Audience in Masterly Pianoforte Performance

RECITAL CONCLUDES COMMUNITY CONCERT SERIES

The musical season of Lachute Community Concerts Association was brought to a close last Monday, when a large and enthusiastic audience acclaimed the gifted young pianist, Gyorgy Sandor. . . Sandor was born in Hungary. He made his debut in the U.S.A. in 1939, has given recitals for many years in Europe, and has won acclaim in North and South America with leading orchestras and in concert recitals.

Sandor chose for the first number in his program the "Fantasy in C minor" by Johann Sebastian Bach, a colorful and dramatic composition that was executed with the finesse of a master. The beautiful "Moonlight Sonata" by Beethoven followed, which was most feelingly rendered.

Brahms and Mendelssohn, the great composers of the nineteenth century, were featured in Part II of the program, as the pianist played an Intermezzo and Scherzo. A trio of pianoforte compositions of Frederic Chopin were then played by Sandor, a grand "Polonaise", "Fantaisie Impromptu" and the well-known "Waltz in E flat major" — these lighter selections being generally appreciated by his listeners.

After the intermission, a short melody by Schuman, "Papillons", was given by the pianist, followed by the Schubert Liszt arrangement of "Erlkonig", a music-poem full of dramatic ferver, with a sonorous left-hand depicting a galloping horse during the height of a storm.

The moderns were represented on the program, with Claude Debussy's "Fireworks", a prelude of movement and color, as only this composer can portray. Kodaly and Bastok, Hungarian musicians, were represented in two compositions in the program, and the grand finale returned to one of the greatest of the masters, Franz Liszt. His Rhapsody No. 15 "Rakoczy March", a vigorous composition, made a fitting climax to this fine recital.

Three encores were generously given by the artist — this performance bringing to a close a very successful concert season.

ANOTHER MILESTONE

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

A LOAD OF WOOD AND A QUARTER OF BEEF

— but The Watchman made it!

WE COME to a milestone in the history of Lachute Watchman. We have a brand new diploma on the editorial wall. . . The step may be scarcely discernible to our readers, for it is not apparent on the printed page. It represents, however, considerable progress in circulation methods, that this newspaper is now duly elected to membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations. This international bureau, with headquarters at Chicago, maintains exacting standards. It credits a publication only with such subscriptions as are paid in cash and paid promptly. Three months in arrears will invalidate a subscriber according to A.B.C. requirements, and the newspaper may lose accordingly in its rating — a rating which is the publisher's sales point in advertising and his prestige in newspaperdom.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations requires a meticulous readership accounting among its member newspapers. As far as The Watchman is concerned, this has been undertaken for the past nine months—and with the gratifying result that its official count (2,032 net paid subscriptions) is only a handful under the 2,050 figure it had previously claimed, on the basis of less careful accounting.

One effect of this system is that Watchman readers will be automatically cut off when their subscription has expired. The initial and second notice will allow only for continuance to the end of the month for which the subscription is dated. It is urged therefore that our readers consult the label on their paper, and keep it paid up in advance.

HAVING been mildly interested to this point, readers will be wondering in what detail, if any, this subject may be related to a load of wood or a quarter of beef!

It is a long story, and a long stride, since many of our rural friends paid their subscriptions in negotiable goods — products of the woodlot, the henhouse and the dairy. But that time is well remembered, and the difficulty of presenting these transactions in understandable bookkeeping. And to further illustrate the shaping of efficiency into our circulation since 30 years ago — we then claimed 1,200 readers, but among these there were perhaps 300 on the free list, making 900. Of these, the great majority were in arrears by present standards, and many (we blushingly recall) were as far overdue as five years, 10 years, and even more. . . Today we have at least one subscriber paid 10 years in advance!

Lachute has grown amazingly since those days, over a quarter-century back. The Watchman, striving always to fill its important role, has also gained prestige, to the extent that its valid readership has tripled. But subscriptions are the lesser revenue of a newspaper. Without advertising, no unsponsored journal can legitimately exist; and the value of newspaper advertising is infallibly measured by the yardstick of paid readership, "the audience you get when you advertise". Without such guarantee, the money one spends in newspaper advertising is mere speculation, instead of sound investment.

It is in this aspect of business, then, that The Watchman now carries a mark of unquestionable guarantee — in the A.B.C. emblem featured on this article.

Plans Progressing For Music Festival Of County Schools

With the approach of the School Music Festival, on May 4-5, the schools of Argenteuil and Two Mountains have intensified their musical efforts as each group endeavors to perfect its contribution. Mr. S. E. McKyes, Supervisor of Music for the schools of the area, has reported on some highlights of what the public can expect to hear during the Festival.

In Morin Heights there is a group of five little girls who are singing an "echo song" in two parts, accompanied on the piano by one of their group. From Brownsburg will come a group of six from Grade III whose singing is of very high calibre. The Arundel Glee Club, with pupils from Grades VII, VIII, IX and X, is working hard; and the Grenville Glee Club is putting great effort into its four part songs.

The Junior Choir of Lachute, which consists of 100 voices, will be entered; and for the first time Junior Choirs will come from Grande Fresnière and Brownsburg. Lachute and Brownsburg are training string ensembles, and Brownsburg plans to enter a trumpet ensemble which will probably be a unique contribution.

Meanwhile, the Lachute High School is being geared for action to efficiently care for the influx of entrants. Monitors are being chosen, signs printed and rooms set aside for each school so that there will be the least possible confusion. This year the newly installed inter-classroom public address system will greatly aid in traffic control. The County Central School Board has put its buses at the disposal of the Festival Committee to facilitate transportation of the pupils to Lachute. Each child is to be given a colored ribbon which will serve the dual purpose of quick identification and as a lasting souvenir for the child.

Next week the complete program will be published, so the public will know at what time each session is taking place. The final concert, which will include some of the outstanding numbers, will be held at 8 p.m. on Saturday. There will be no tickets sold for this concert, but there will be a charge of 50¢ to help defray the costs of the Festival.

Impressions of the Musical Concert

The musical program offered by the pupils of the local school in a concert at the United Church on Friday night, was somewhat in the nature of a preview or a dress rehearsal of what the school intends to present at the forthcoming musical festival. We remember an adjudicator pointing out last year that the contributions from the various schools which make up the festival should be regarded as a co-operative effort of entertainment rather than a competitive attempt to gain recognition as being a point ahead of the other school. There is no Stanley Cup at stake, so everyone wins. In this spirit of co-operation the musical instructors of several of the other schools participating in the coming festival lent their attention to the various items on Friday night's program.

The concert (reported on page 2 of this issue) was a success — and a useful experience for the children. The next effort should be a vast improvement, as much promise was shown. There was a large audience in an applauding mood.

Child Lost in Bush Near Home at Cushing West

(Our District Correspondent)

Cushing W. — An anxious time was experienced Saturday when the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Menard strayed away from his home, at about three o'clock in the afternoon. When he could not be found by his parents, several neighbors of the district joined in the search. Towards dark, the child was finally located by V. Morrissette; the youngster, lightly clad and badly scared, was in the bush some distance from his parents' home.

Fightin' Veterans Combat Jitters in Public Speaking

Something new and different was added at the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening, with the introduction of a "Public Speaking" course, in which a small group of local veterans got together and started to "think on their feet". This is an opportunity long awaited by members of the Legion interested in this practice, and many hope to acquire confidence to stand up at a public gathering to "say a few words".

And so — with throats dry and trembling knees, and unconsciously attempting to tear off a few vest buttons — the veterans embarked upon their course. It was felt that, although few would reach perfection in public speaking — by this experience among a group who are "all in the same boat" and just as scared before an audience as they ever could be, at least it is hoped to overcome the fear of feeling uncomfortable and forgetting what one intends to say.

An invitation is extended to anyone interested in this course, which is free of charge. Next meeting will be on Monday, April 30, at 7.30 p.m. at the Legion Memorial Hall, Foundry Street.

Dies in Floods at Gatineau Mills

A 78-year-old Gatineau Mills pensioner, Hyacinthe Malo, died last Thursday afternoon a few minutes after he was pulled out of eight feet of water in the flood-ravaged back yard of his home.

Quebec Provincial Police said the fatality occurred when Malo, in company with a fellow-resident, attempted to free a grounded boat in the yard.

Avoiding Power Trouble

Not long ago in this column we talked about some of those things which are likely to cause interruptions in electrical service over a considerable area. This time we would like to discuss those troubles which arise on the lines of a single customer and which are just as annoying as any other type of power trouble to the customer affected.

Sometimes such troubles arise because of the use of a defective appliance which causes a short circuit and blows inside fuses. More often, however, the trouble is likely to be caused by the the fact that interior circuits are overloaded by the use of too many appliances at one time.

This is particularly likely to be the case in those homes which were wired many years ago when few appliances were available and when circuits were designed largely merely to carry the load of electricity needed to provide light. The steady swing to more and more electrical living brought more and more appliances demanding more and more electricity from circuits which were never meant to carry such loads. In cases such as these the only permanent solution is a rewiring job to provide more adequate circuits.

More easily corrected — if the power company knows of the trouble — are those power failures which result from blown fuses on the small local outside transformer which serves that particular home or farm. For the protection of the customer, the power company installs in such transformers fuses only sufficiently strong enough to carry the load which the customer expects to use. When, later, the customer starts using a number of heavy appliances the pole fuses cannot stand up under the strain. Once the power company knows of the trouble, however, it is a relatively simple matter to install stronger fuses.

Frontier W.I. Member Wins in Eliminations

PROVINCIAL WINNERS IN TWEEDSMUIR CONTESTS

The results of the provincial elimination contest in the National Tweedsmuir Competition have been announced by the Quebec Women's Institutes. In the hooked rug section, Mrs. A. W. Perkins, Huntingdon, and Mrs. James W. MacKenzie, Shigawake, were the two top entries in that order. Mrs. A. B. Abercrombie, Lennoxville, and Mrs. A. Graham, of Frontier W.I. in this county, were selected in the essay section, writing on the subject, "Democracy begins with YOU'. There were no Quebec entries in the third section of the contest, village histories.

The staff of l'Ecole des Arts Domestiques placed the rug entries, and the essays were selected by Mr. T. Pickup, Secretary of the E. T. Committee for Adult Education, and Professor Langford, Bishop's University. These entries have now been forwarded for the inter-provincial contest, the final results to be given at the conference of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, held in June of this year at Macdonald College, when silver cups donated by Lady Tweedsmuir will be presented the branches in Canada holding the winning entries.

This competition was inaugurated by Lady Tweedsmuir during her stay in Canada. The project, she felt, would sustain interest in a traditional craft, create pride in the community and understanding of this country.

Musical Concert by B'burg School Pupils

Brownsburg — Last Friday evening in the Brownsburg United Church, a large number of parents and others interested in school matters were entertained at a musical concert by the pupils of Brownsburg Consolidated School.

The program included both vocal and instrumental numbers and was designed to allow a large group of students to take part. The vocal groups taking part were the Junior Choir, Glee Club, choirs from Grades 3, 5, 7 and 8, and a small ensemble from Grade 3. Vocal soloists were Carol Ann Amos, Ethel Saxhaug, Ronald Bell, Shirley Gagné and Gisèle Therriault. Piano solos were rendered by Mary Quinn, Roy Cruise and Nancy McCormick and a piano duet by Marlene Trayers and Shirley Gagné. Rounding out the program were three instrumental groups, violins, guitars and trumpets. Vocal groups were under the direction of Mr. Shirley McKyes, Music Supervisor, and instrumental groups under Mr. Philip Grant, Assistant Principal.

In his opening remarks, Mr. G. K. Amos, Principal of the school, spoke of the progress made in music and thanked all present for their interest in this phase of the school program.

All money realized from the concert will be used for school purposes, especially for the purchase of new music.

East End Resident Dies Suddenly

The Late Harry Partridge

Harry L. L. Partridge, a resident here for the past winter, died suddenly of a heart seizure last Sunday evening, in the east ward of Lachute where he had latterly built a home in which to enjoy his retirement.

Mr. Partridge, 66 years of age, was born in Andover, England. He settled in New York in 1909. For the past 25 years he had served as manager for William Coulson & Sons of 5th Avenue, importers of fine linens. In 1911 he was married here in Lachute to Jessie McFaul, member of a well known Argenteuil family, who survives to mourn his loss. Having a summer residence at Lake Louisa, they were frequent visitors to these parts, before latterly taking up residence in Lachute.

The funeral service, held Wednesday afternoon at his home, was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Britton, of Lachute Baptist Church. Interment was made at Lachute Cemetery, the pall-bearers being—Messrs. Milton, Cecil, Donald and Lester McFaul, George and Irvin Bain.

Seasonal Farm Topics

Farmers and the 1951 Agriculture Census

Farmers can aid greatly in the work of the 1951 Census to be taken in June, by having answers ready for the enumerator. To facilitate this, copies of the farm schedules will be distributed in advance to all farmers on mail delivery routes, and will be available to others at their local post offices.

In the first place, the enumerator will ask for the legal description for each parcel of land operated by the farmer and whether the land is owned or rented. The farmer will then be asked the acreage of each crop for harvest in 1951, and the acreage harvested and production of each crop in 1950. Questions on acreages and value of production of fruits and vegetables will be asked of those farmers who specialize in growing these commodities. The value of field crops sold in 1950 will be asked.

The farmer will be asked the number and value of farm implements on his farm. The number of each class of live stock will also be asked, and the value of sales of live stock and live stock products in 1950. Of special importance, too, will be questions on numbers of live stock sold, the number slaughtered on the farm for sale and home use. Production and sale of milk in the month of May will be asked, and the number of pounds of butter and cheese made on the farm, as well as the amount of milk fed to live stock and used in the farm home in May. To obtain the value of products consumed on the farm, the enumerator will also ask the value of the home-consumed farm vegetables.

Most of these questions will be easy for the farmer to answer, but some will require some figuring out. It will add greatly to the value of the census and save the farmer's and enumerator's time if all farmers would prepare answers to the questions outlined above before the enumerator arrives.

Seek to Eradicate Seed Fungus Menace

Yorkton, Sask. (CP) — Research workers at nearby Kelvington are conducting experiments to combat loose smut, a fungus disease which changes healthy seed heads into masses of black powder.

The Kelvington hot water treatment was undertaken last year. Reports indicate that the experiments have brought encouraging results.

The workers hope finally to establish a smut-free area, similar to the tuberculosis-free cattle areas. Within the next two years it is expected the isolated area will cover about one municipality in size — half of the Sasman municipality and half of Kelvington.

The method now on trial is to pre-soak the seed for five hours at a temperature of 70 degrees, then dip for 11 minutes in water held at 126 degrees. It is then cooled and dried.

Dr. R. C. Russell of Saskatoon is in charge of the work.

Pessimism!

Predictions that milk would be dumped on the farms and dairy cattle slaughtered for food were made by K. L. Wallace, president of the Dairy Industries Supply Association, speaking at a meeting of the Association. He predicted a shortage of milk in 1951 because of the shortage of farm labor and the high price of beef. He added that reports from sixty important makers of separators and other prime dairy industry requisites indicated that half of them would have to shut down by midsummer for lack of nickel, stainless steel, copper and other essential metals. The shutdown would come in the middle of the full milk season when every piece of machinery would be needed.

Striking Example of Democracy

THE General MacArthur spectacle last week gave the world a dramatic example of the workings of democracy.

It was the spectacle of a general, so badly at odds with his commander-in-chief that he had to be dismissed, still able to address a joint session of both houses of Congress at Washington with complete liberty to expound his views and reiterate his criticisms.

It was the spectacle of millions of people, in part disagreeing with the edict of their president and in part paying tribute to the great record of a famous military leader, lining the streets to cheer the government's opponent under the protection of the police.

"The London Times" used the whole affair to contrast the workings of democracy with the totalitarian states. Although it foresaw a great deal of trouble for the administration as a result of MacArthur's speech, it considered his dismissal was necessary.

In New York last week-end a roaring multitude gave MacArthur the greatest acclaim ever heaped on a returning hero. One police estimate was that the crowds numbered 7,500,000. The General said at City Hall, "As I watched your throngs, a great pride and a great confidence came upon me, for here I saw in this great city, this melting pot of the world, an indomitable force which cannot fail to maintain our freedom and our way of life."

MacArthur's address to congress was a fighting defence of his Korea stand, that the Chinese Communist bases had to be destroyed; that the Chinese Nationalist forces of Chiang Kai Shek on Formosa should be used, and that the China coast should be blockaded. Chief attention was aroused by his assertion that he had believed his views were fully shared "by our own joint chiefs of staff". That, of course, still leaves the difference, if there was one, between military and political strategy.

Let's Be Ourselves

IS CANADA a nation of inept apple-polishers dedicated to the buttering-up of tourists so they will part more easily with their money?

Of course not, but United States visitors can't be blamed for thinking so if they encounter this tourist season the blundering lures some merchants have used to attract them in the past.

Tourist industry leaders who have been hammering away for years at the practice of flying the American flag and exhibiting fly-specked "Americans Welcome" signs, hoped they had stamped it out. But it is evident, even this early in the tourist season, that they still have a lot of educating to do. The flags and the signs already appear at some points in Ontario.

We're well informed that Americans don't like to see their flag flown for commercial purposes, and the signs telling them they're welcome smack a bit too much of sales propaganda.

They come to Canada for something different from their own home-towns. . . Let's be ourselves and keep it that way.

License they mean when they cry Liberty —
For who loves that, must first be wise and good.

Self-Scrutiny for Merchants

THE CHAMBER of Commerce at Sturgeon Falls reports on an informal survey which should concern the Main Street of every typical town. We hand it on for the interest, and perhaps for the profit, of our local merchants.

"A friend of one of our members (says the Chamber of Commerce report) visited six business establishments . . and to his surprise only one clerk, in the sixth store, came forward to greet him and offer his services.

"In another establishment we heard a clerk tell a tourist that she did not know anything about fishing in this district and even less about tourist accommodation. Had the owner or manager trained his staff to reply to this type of enquiry?

"We also heard a clerk make the following remark to a customer, 'I'm sure that if you can't find what you need in this store, you won't find it anywhere else in town — so why not try North Bay.' . . . . Couldn't the clerk have suggested another store in Sturgeon?

"There is also the clerk-cashier who never smiles and never says 'thank you'. We have been told by several people that they very seldom make purchases there for that very reason.

"These are only a few concrete examples of what is going on 'behind the counter' and unless the merchants themselves look into the matter, they will find their business decreasing."

How to Live Long -- And Like It

THE AVERAGE child born today can expect to live 68 years. This is the highest life span in history, but it can be pushed even higher, not only by new medical discoveries but by right living on the part of individual men and women.

Amram Scheinfield, author of the recent book, "The New You and Heredity", examines in a May Reader's Digest article the chief factors influencing the life-span.

Some of these factors are completely or partly beyond your control — your sex, for instance, and the kind of work you do. If you're a female you have an overwhelming advantage. In middle life, 15 per cent more women than men have survived; by the 70's, 20 per cent more; and among nonagenarians, women outnumber men by two to one.

Farmers and professional men — clergymen, teachers, lawyers, doctors — live longer than other occupational groups. Slightly shorter are the lives of businessmen and white-collar workers. Next are skilled and unskilled workers; lowest on the list are artists, writers, actors and musicians.

But you can do some things to push the average span above the 68-year mark. You can worry less, avoid overwork, keep your weight down, eat, drink and smoke in moderation. If you're a bachelor — and not too confirmed in your bachelorhood — you can boost your life span by getting married. Married men, Scheinfeld says, have lower mortality rates at all ages; in the 25 to 44-year range twice as many bachelors die.

Medical men agree that humans can and should live longer. But this ideal of longevity imposes another challenge to mankind: to make the world a place wherein a long life can be enjoyed.

Pupils Find Socialism Not Quite Practical

From a recent issue of The Montreal Gazette

A striking plan has been worked out in the Yonkers, New York, High School, where Thomas J. Shelly teaches economics and history to students whose general outlook as to economic systems gave him some concern. It is not altogether surprising that youngsters from homes in that section of New York should have been found by their teacher to accept without reserve the socialist idea of "taking from each according to his ability and giving to each according to his need."

Very obviously Schoolmaster Shelly does not go along with that tenet and his method of dealing with the situation is not merely interesting, it entitles the teacher himself to a high rating. He made the suggestion that when one of his top students achieved a grade of say 95 on a test, 20 points be deducted from that mark and applied to the grade of one who had made only 55 in the test. That would give both students a passing mark and thus each would receive according to his need. He pointed out that similar readjustments throughout his classes would result in a "common ownership" grade of between 75 and 80, the minimum needed for passing — or survival.

Subsequent discussion of this proposition between teacher and students and among students themselves clearly revealed that the better pupils, through this equal distribution of academic achievement, would lose their incentive to make good grades, while the less able would be relieved of any need to work harder. The end would be that neither group would have any reason to exert itself.

"At that point", the teacher pointed out, "in order to survive, the 'authority' would have no alternative but to begin a system of compulsory labor and punishments against even the low producers". In the letter covering this experiment which he addressed to the Foundation for Economic Education which is presently circulating copies of it, Mr. Shelly was able to report gratifying results.

Most of his students, he said, then understood what he meant when he told them that "socialism, even in a democracy, will eventually result in a living death for all except the 'authorities' and a few of their favorite lackeys."

Certainly this continent is in need of more teachers like Thomas J. Shelly. And many will echo the sentiments of the Saturday Evening Post, which, in telling this story, concludes with the suggestion: "Maybe somebody can make the fallacies of socialism equally clear to people who have gone to college."

FAMOUS GARDENS INCREASE PRICE

Kew, Surrey, Eng. (CP) — World-famous Kew Gardens is putting up its admission prices by 200 per cent.

For as long as most people can remember Kew has charged only one penny, about 1¼ cents, for admission to its spacious acres of horticultural and botanical exhibits on the southern fringe of London. Now the charge is three pence.

The gardens are supported by taxation but Sir Edward Salisbury, director of the gardens, said "it seems only fair that visitors should bear a little more of the cost." Kew had nearly 2,000,000 visitors last year.

Liked Article on "Common Sense Applied to Living"

TO THE EDITOR

Grece's Point, April 23

Editor, Lachute Watchman

Dear Sir: Thank you for publishing that fine article, "Common Sense Applied to Living" (†). It hits the nail RIGHT on the head.

We are in this world to accomplish something, and it is up to us to find this something. I have — and therefore am "on the top of the world", as the saying is. As Ella Wheeler Wilcox has it:

'Tis the set of the soul which determines the goal,
And not the calm or the strife.

"Happy is the man that findeth wisdom and the man that getteth understanding". Quite so. Understand that we are first here for a specific purpose; it is up to us to FIND that purpose, then all else follows naturally. If we don't, we are like a train off the rails.

And the rest of that article, about health — well, those who have not found their niche in life can chase after health for a lifetime, and always see it round the next corner.

My niche happens to be, out here in the country — where population is so badly needed, on our land which has been in the family for four generations. And there must be thousands in the overcrowded towns who, in their hearts, feel the call of the countryside likewise, especially in Spring, (likewise round the next corner!), but who have not the moral courage (and the physical courage in winter) to obey their God-given instinct.

Let such take what comes. Illness, etc., is especially for the like of them. . . And all these new hospitals! Let those who ASK for illness pay for them.

— A. Constable F. Grece.

Film to Depict Science vs. Cancer

Science's war against cancer will be depicted in a film to be shown in motion picture theatres across the province during the next few weeks, the Canadian Cancer Society has announced.

The movie, entitled, "The Outlaw Within", is a presentation of the National Film Board, released as part of the Canada Carries On series, and will be shown in theatres as part of regular entertainment programs. The film was made with the co-operation of the Canadian Cancer Society and underlines the fact that through science many cancer cases can be cured.

The picture is a 10-minute version of "Challenge: Science Against Cancer", the half-hour, non-theatrical film which copped two first prizes in United States and Italian competitions in 1950 and was runner-up in the 1951 Hollywood finals.

From 1940 to 1950 the cost of collecting income taxes in Canada increased from $2,488,268 to $28,103,621.

Children and Money

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Money is important in a child's world as well as in an adult's. How does your child get the money he wants? By asking you for every cent at the time? From an allowance? From gifts from relatives? By earning it? Another vital question which you, as parents, should consider is — how does your child think of money? His ideas are bound to be colored to a great extent by your own attitude to it.

In your home, do mother and father work together as partners in planning the family budget? Are you "good managers"? — do you spend too freely? Are you on the miserly side? Do you act as if money is the most important thing in life, which can buy everything you want? Or do you look on money as a tool to be used wisely in building a good life?

Parents keep coins out of baby's reach so he won't put a copper in his mouth. The danger of choking is too great. Money fascinates a small child. He likes to handle it, put it into little piles, pretend to count it! It is fun to "play store" with real money. But, being a child, he is apt to hide it in a "safe" place and forget where he put it, or lose it altogether.

Children soon learn that grown-ups attach special importance to money. Little Margaret finds her Mother's purse on the bureau one day and takes the compact out to play with it. Mother is amused at the powder on her chin. The next day Margaret is delighted to find coppers to play with loose in Mother's purse. The child is surprised when mother is annoyed and scolds her for touching her money!

Mother and Dad should not leave purses or change lying around the house. A small child, with no real idea of "stealing", may be used by an older neighbor's child to take this money out to him. Then they both can go on a spending spree, with the younger child warned not to "tell".

Children learn to handle money through their own experiences. That is why an allowance, begun about the time a child starts to school, is so important. Even if it must be a small amount, five or six cents a week, Junior should receive a definite sum as a certain time on a set day. He can do as he likes with this money. His allowance is not taken away as a punishment. Nor is he forced to set aside part of his money as savings.

When children are given an allowance they do not have to whine or bargain for spare cash. Parents should not pay money as a reward for good behavior or high marks. Neither should a child be paid for home chores. These are part of the child's contribution to the family welfare. But payment can be made for extra tasks quite apart from regular home duties.

It is unreasonable to ask a child to save for technical training or a college education. A child discovers that he must deny himself the pleasure of buying one thing if he wants to save and have the fun of purchasing a different object.

Impatience is a youthful characteristic, and saving has to be for a goal which can be reached before too long. The total amount of savings for a young child should be small. The lesson of discipline is lost if the child "borrows" the additional sum he needs from an indulgent parent. "Pay as you go" is a sound slogan.

Hunters and Miners Prove Big Assets

Telegraph Creek is Old Settlement Of British Columbia Miners — Boat is Only Connection

Telegraph Creek, B.C. (CP) — Montreal and Telegraph Creek are alike in that both are situated on big rivers at the foot of very swift rapids. That is as far as any resemblance goes.

One of British Columbia's more northern outposts, Telegraph Creek has a population of 150 — and a great many dogs. Only connection outside of radio, with civilization is by way of the boat that comes up from Wrangell, Alaska.

Clinging to the steep banks of a canyon, gouged out of the wilderness by the Stikine River, lonesome Telegraph Creek makes its living out of furs, mining and big game hunters.

Back in 1866 thousands of men were busy stringing telegraph wire across the wilderness and British Columbia — a monumental task. Caches of wire and insulators were laid at intervals along the route. One of these caches was at the mouth of a small creek joining the Stikine river at the foot of Grand Canyon. Hence the name Telegraph Creek.

The old telegraph line is no longer used. When it was washed out, the provincial government erected a radio station.

The Hudson's Bay Company has a store in the village; the B.C. government operates a sub-mining recording office and there are professional guides to look after the "tourist trade" — the big-game hunters.

The big game hunters are mostly millionaires, whereas the miners merely hope to be millionaires and the trappers have probably given up hope.

In the summer sleigh dogs scratch their fleas on the dusty roads between the buildings scattered on the steep hillside. In the winter they howl at the moon, under the Northern Lights.

PLUMPER CHICKEN AIM OF SPONSORS OF U.S. CONTEST

Owners Get the Prizes, But Entrants Get Axe in 1951 Chicken-Yard Competition

By J. R. Anderson

Fayetteville, Ark. (AP) — A contest in which one-fifth of the 16,000 entries get the axe, will be held here next June. It's called the chicken-of-tomorrow program.

The purpose is to develop interest in producing a better meat-type chicken and the poultryman who shows a broad-breasted breed of bird with meaty drumsticks is going to be $5,000 better off.

It will be the second such national contest. The first, held at Georgetown, Del., in 1948, was won by Kenneth and Charles Vantress of Marysville, Calif., with a Cornish - New Hampshire cross breed. They will be trying to win again this year.

The second three-year contest was arranged at the suggestion of poultrymen under the sponsorship of poultry organizations, the U.S. department of agriculture and a food store chain. State finals were held in 1949 and last year regional winners were culled.

The national finals this year are limited to 40 breeders who won the previous elimination contests. The contest requires months to run off. Actually it began December 1, when the 40 finalists started a breeding pen to produce eggs to produce their entries.

Each of the contestants must report on daily egg production of the parent flock until May 1. But this is only one phase of the chicken-yard competition.

Experts Take Over

On or before midnight, February 21, each breeder in the contest had to have two cases of eggs (total of 720 eggs) in the hands of the University of Arkansas agricultural experiment station here. That's the last time the competing breeders have anything to do with the contest, except collect any prizes their poultry may win. From then on, it's up to the fates and poultry specialists at the station.

The station had to look after the hatching of the eggs and care of the baby chicks. The chicks, by the timetable, were to be hatched on March 16. Although the hatch should produce more than 28,000 little peppers, each contestant is limited to 400 entries, or a grand total of 16,000 fowl to be adjudged.

The chicks will be reared in special brooders built on the station's grounds near here, just for the contest.

Twelve weeks later comes the big day. On June 11, one out of every five birds will be picked at random, slaughtered and dressed. The 3,200 dressed birds — 80 for each contestant — will be checked by the judges. So will the live, lucky survivors. Egg production also counts.

On June 16 the winners will be announced. In addition to the $5,000 first prize, there will be cash prizes for the next seven high ranking entries. Each finalist also wins a plaque.

"Quality in Production" is the theme of the college exhibit, in which each department will display its main contribution to quality in Canadian farm products.

Canadian industrial enterprise — apart from agriculture — provides jobs for 4,140,000 workers.

Many Youths Fail In Driving Tests

Winnipeg (CP) — Four-fifths of 3,000 Winnipeg high school students who took a written driver's test failed when marked on standards set by the Manitoba government's safety division.

W. D. Ekins of the Winnipeg Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the test, said that of the 3,000 taking the test, 500 were licensed drivers.

"You'd be shocked at how many were driving without a license and how many aged 16 have been driving three or four years", said Mr. Ekins.

The tests showed little or no difference between the licensed and non-licensed candidates. The tests were undertaken as part of the Chamber's campaign to have driver training included in the curriculum of Winnipeg high schools.

Some $3,000,000 is being spent each week in Alberta in the search for new oil deposits.

BOY DIES AFTER HEROICALLY SAVING GRANDMOTHER'S LIFE

10-year-old Gerald Blair, of Renfrew, Ont., is fatally injured by 3-ton truck after pushing elderly woman off road

1. Young Gerry Blair's devotion to his grandmother was proven one day last November in an incident that had a tragic ending. Walking along the Queen's Line road near Cheneau, about 20 miles from Renfrew, Ontario, they were so deep in conversation that they paid little attention to an approaching automobile. Then suddenly they found themselves in a terrifying position. A 3-ton truck was coming in the other direction!

2. The boy realized in a flash that there would not be room for the southbound truck to pass between them and the car. He realized, too, that in a matter of seconds they would both be in the path of the fast-moving truck. Quickly he stepped in front of his grandmother and, using all his strength, shoved her off the roadway. But it was then too late for him to get out of the way ...

3. Knocked unconscious by the terrific impact, Gerry was rushed to the hospital but failed to rally. He gave his life so that another might live. The instinctive heroism of this 10-year-old boy merits the praise of all Canadians. We are proud to add his name to the list of those who have won THE DOW AWARD for outstanding bravery.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Healing Arts

COURT LITIGANT EXPRESSES HER VIEWS

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

191 Main St., Lachute

Editor, Lachute Watchman.

Dear Sir:

Judge Marchand, of the District of Terrebonne, has issued a summons for me to appear in court on Friday, April 27.

The plaintiff is the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

The witness, a lady, who claimed that the Chiropractic treatment which she received from me had so improved her condition that she did not require the further Chiropractic therapy that I advised.

The accusation, couched in French, is to this effect (as nearly as I can translate): "Denise Bell, between the dates March 18 - March 21 inclusive, exercised medicine on Mrs. X, took her blood pressure with the aid of an instrument or apparatus, gave a medical consultation, made a diagnosis and gave treatments: all this, without being registered as a medical in this Province."

I regret the fact that an Association, established and respected, should have recourse to methods exemplified in this summons, to litigate against a citizen whose work has the same object as that of its members, viz., the cure and alleviation of disease. However, I am very glad of the opportunity this accusation gives me of clarifying my work as a Chiropractor, and making the public aware of the methods used in healing by the Physician, as I understand them after some several years of work under their authority in the capacity of a nurse.

I hope to show that though "the end of these services is the same, the means employed differ widely". I can best explain by means of a simile:

In the Province of Quebec there are many religions. Catholic, Baptists, Presbyterian, Methodists and Lutheran are a few examples, all of which have churches in this Province. There is, however, only one God of love for all of the varied creeds.

In the Province of Quebec there are many persons whose life work is the healing of other human beings, for example: Dentists, Chiropodists, Psycho-analysts, Christian Science practitioners, Chiropractors, Physicians, Surgeons, etc.

In each of the healing arts it is necessary to know the condition of the patient before it is possible to judge if the case can suitably be treated by means of the method one has to offer. This type of diagnosis cannot be claimed as the monopoly or privilege of any one of the healing arts, exclusively. It is a necessary adjunct of all, for the common good.

The Chiropractic principle in the treatment of disease is as follows:

The nervous system is in control of almost every part of the body, as long as the part is still alive and intact and the nerve supply has not been cut off. The nervous system, when in adequate working order, can stimulate the other tissues of the body, effectively to resist disease. When diseased, the body's nervous system is not in adequate working order.

The Chiropractor's means of treating disease is to assist the nervous system to return to its "adequate working order". When this is done, the body, by itself, is able to resist or throw off the disease.

The part of the nerves usually treated by the Chiropractor is near the spinal column. The segmented bones of this column guard the great nerve cord and the large branches of nerves which leave from the great nerve cord and converge to that cord. The cord passes from thence to the brain. The branches supply almost all parts of the body. Nerves control both conscious and unconscious movements. Nerves are sensitive to the environmental state and the state of the body itself.

The Physician chooses the circulatory systems to convey the drugs which he administers. No matter by what method the drugs are given — whether by injection, intravenous, subcutaneous, intramuscular or by mouth or by inhalation, etc. — these drugs find their way to the circulatory systems of the body, which fulfills the medical doctor's treatment.

The Physician must, indeed, not only know the varied tissues of the body accurately but also the effect each drug has on each tissue. Many of the drugs, when given in wrong quantities, are injurious to the body, for the majority of these substances are poisons. Poisons necessary, the Physician thinks, to eradicate the disease. In other words the Physician uses the strange algebraic law, "Two negatives make a positive". A disease poisonous to the body, is cured by a drug which is also poisonous to the body — and health results.

There are other more local treatments given by the Physician — skin applications, Radium therapy, X-ray therapy (also dangerous if improperly used) — but the majority of the treatments involve the normal work of the blood stream.

All methods of treatment and healing are good when the would-be healer has proper knowledge of the body and the means which he employs to heal, and a sincere desire to help the people who come to him for help.

The surgeon must know the anatomy of the body in even more detail than the Physician or Chiropractor, because he repairs separated tissues such as fractures, incisions and perforations. He excises dead and dangerously diseased tissues and foreign objects, such as bullets, which neither the Physician nor Chiropractor attempts to do.

To summarize: —

In every form of healing it is necessary to know the mechanism of the body and be able to recognize the diseases to which this body is heir.

The method of healing by the Chiropractor is by means of the body's nervous system, which the Chiropractor treats with his hands, without the aid of drugs or instruments.

The method of healing by the Surgeon is excision and repair.

To add: —

The patient too has responsibilities, no matter to which type of healer that patient goes for alleviation or cure.

1. The patient must desire health.
2. The patient must trust the exponent of the healing arts who has been chosen.
3. The patient must co-operate with the healer by following the advice given and by following the normal rules of health, relative to food, exercise, rest, inhalation of good air, cleanliness and elimination.
4. The patient must have no self-pity. Ill health is the consequence of the patient's own behavior, if that patient is old enough to understand and not still under parental jurisdiction.
5. The patient should have neither shame nor pride in disease, but of these two, it is preferable to be ashamed of treating the wonderful mechanism, the mind and body, so badly that disease results.

The Summons: —

Chiropractors in the Province of Quebec do not exist in the eyes of the law. It is, therefore, not against the law to practice Chiropractic.

Chiropractic is a good method of treating disease because once the Chiropractic treatment is effective, the body itself resists and throws off the poisons and germs and clears up the tissues injured by these depredations.

For myself, I would prefer to live and work, and let live and work, all persons interested in healing others.

Sincerely,

— Denise E. B. Bell, D.C., R.N.

Pity the Poor Theatre Managers in Hungary

(Niagara Falls Evening Review)

The poor theatre managers of Hungary now are on the well known spot, for the government has made them responsible for "spontaneous applause" by their patrons. Maybe the theatre goers can applaud other things, but there are three musts. These are: 1. When Russian Premier Stalin or his "peace-loving attitude" is mentioned; 2. When Soviet aid to satellite nations is mentioned; 3. When "American imperialists and war-mongers" are denounced.

Thus, if you don't like the theatre manager in Hungary, all you have to do to get him arrested as a traitor, or liquidated, is to sit on your hands instead of applauding at the proper times.

"The Truth Shall Make You Free"

That states a maxim that has proved to be true down through the centuries and has stood the test of time. In whatever field of knowledge it may be, the truth has always made error, ignorance and superstition take wings and vanish. When this same principle is applied to things spiritual, there too, it is evident that there can be found truths and information that make for enlightenment and progress.

Do you want to remove restricting fears, doubts and perplexities? Have an unhampered mind and spirit, free to think, reason and act without restraint? Then why not learn the truth and enjoy its benefits and blessings? With the aid of the book "The Truth Shall Make You Free", this will be a pleasant task. Try this for yourself and learn the joy that comes from knowing the truth about the Bible, and not what some man-made tradition, theory or teaching may claim or hold.

Enjoy the 384-page book entitled "The Truth Shall Make You Free", bound in lovely violet and with a gold-stamped title. Sent, postpaid, for 35c. — The Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto.

Provincial Plans for Gaspé Electric Power

QUEBEC'S STAND ON INTER-PROVINCIAL BRIDGES

By Richard Daignault

Quebec, April 24 (CP) — Quebec Government plans a vast electrification plan in the whole Gaspé Peninsula that may use Nova Scotia's coal as a source of energy. The plan is being studied in conjunction with electric power needs of the big Gaspé copper developments.

Premier Duplessis said at his press conference last week that government technicians had rejected an earlier plan to harness the Madeleine River which flows through the Peninsula near the copper deposits, because its maximum output would be only 25,000 horse power.

The new plan provides for establishment of an electricity-producing plant in the town of Gaspé on the Atlantic Ocean shore which would produce up to 200,000 horse power, enough to satisfy the needs of the copper development and to put electricity right through the Gaspé Peninsula. The premier also mentioned there would be other industrial needs in connection with development of zinc mines.

• • •

Premier Duplessis has announced his government is ready to "do its share" in the construction of a bridge to link Ile des Allumettes on the Quebec side of the Ottawa River and Pembroke, on the Ontario side.

The premier said the Provincial Government had built a bridge linking the island to Quebec mainland and that the province was ready "to do more" to bridge Ontario and Quebec at this point if "a just" proposal was put forth by the Federal and Ontario governments.

On another bridge project to link Quebec and New Brunswick over Baie des Chaleurs, the premier said it was up to the Federal government to undertake it.

• • •

The Quebec Government has invited French and Belgian immigrants to establish themselves in the province.

The Premier said at his press conference last week that he spoke about this to Alain de Parc, Belgian ambassador to Canada, and Foreign Minister Schuman of France, during President Auriol's visit early this month.

Taxation Under Fire in Traditional Budget Debate

He also criticized Mr. Abbott for his consistent budgetary surpluses and suggested that if he is to have another surplus the finance minister may be unwise in adding to the tax burden at this time.

Later in the debate another Progressive Conservative member, Donald Fleming of Toronto, also objected to Mr. Abbott's consistent practice of under-estimating the budgetary surpluses.

This meant merely that more was being taken from the people than was needed. If he over-shot his forecast surplus of $30,000,000 this year, said Mr. Fleming, the finance minister would have little excuse for his increase in commodity and sales taxes.

He suggested the increase to 10 from eight per cent in the general sales tax should be withdrawn. Mr. Abbott couldn't have "done worse" than to boost that tax. The increase in commodity taxes had fallen heavily on many things that were needed in the average Canadian household.

Mr. Coldwell did not agree that Canada has to rely on conditions in the United States as far as living costs are concerned. Canadian conditions could not help but be influenced by events in the U.S. and other parts of the world. But the government could do much to protect the Canadian people from the devastating results of inflation.

He said the government has done nothing and the budget will do nothing to protect people from high prices. Canada has not yet felt the fullest extent of the inflationary pressures that will come when the country's defence program rolls into full production.

Mr. Coldwell said the C.C.F. wants a "comprehensive national economic plan and the immediate institution of price controls and subsidies."

Mr. Low said he felt that Mr. Abbott should have left the sales tax untouched and put an additional levy on liquor and beer.

Old Gospel Hymns At Song Service

Despite the bad weather Sunday evening, the United Church was comfortably filled with young and old to enjoy a singsong of gospel hymns. It was encouraging to see not only the residents who live in close proximity, but quite a few from the outlying districts who braved the weather and bad roads.

During the evening, four quartet selections were rendered. Those taking part in the male quartet were Messrs. Ernest Swail, E. A. Bulley (tenors), Garnet Bennett, Sr., and Sam MacArthur (bass). In the mixed quartet were Mrs. Gordon Cooke, Mrs. Douglas Cooke, Messrs. E. A. Bulley and E. Graham. During the offertory, a duet was sung by Mrs. Gordon Cooke and Mrs. E. A. Bulley, the old familiar hymn, "Will you meet me at the fountain".

Favorable comments were heard after the service, and wishes were expressed that it could be arranged to hold such a song service once a month. The sum of $12 was realized, which will go to the organ fund. There were also two special donations of $5 each. . . Mrs. Bulley extends thanks to those who lent the old-time hymn-books for this occasion.

The Municipal Council officially adopted Daylight Saving Time to start this week-end. Residents of the district are reminded to set their clocks accordingly.

The Calendar Says It's Spring

"EXILE FROM SUNNYACRES"

— By Margaret Cook —

The calendar says the end of April, but the wind and clouds say November. However, the daffodils at the front have decided to take a chance, and three yellow trumpets announce hope to the passer-by. The crocuses are all gone, having made their debut the last day of March. But the scilla still linger, their blue bells bending to the harsh wind. The weather not being propitious for those endearing pursuits of Spring — i.e. the washing of blankets, leggings and mittens — we have some unwonted leisure in which we have caught up on reading, and have not been too exhausted to trek to the city for the mild entertainment. One of these was a concert at which the chairman was a Pole—the violinist a Lithuanian—and the pianist a Czech. They were all excellent in their respective roles, and again it was borne in upon us that wars and persecutions have their advantages as well as disadvantages. Except for these misadventures, all three gifted gentlemen would have remained in their respective countries, knowing little of Canada and caring less. How fortunate are we that we can give sanctuary to such people who so enrich our culture. Any Canadian who has done any travelling will agree with the writer that we are at once one of the most moral and dullest of nations. Our sense of humor is inclined to be delayed and we think little of the arts. On the other hand, we do not make a habit of either murder or divorce; this is praiseworthy but not intriguing. Nearly all Americans (I use the word in its proper sense) need something which, for lack of a better word, may be called "spirituality". This the Europeans have; so that one who has twice seen his home destroyed and most of his loved ones lost, can still smile and face life in a new country with confidence. We should give these people every assistance, so that their children may be a new kind of Canadian, with all our steadiness and modesty, leavened with humor and hope and gratitude.

Those who have faithfully followed so far, may look for a little relief, as we shall next talk about "Harvey". Harvey, as you perhaps know, is a pooka (or so the dialogue of the film of the same name said), but Webster's dictionary defines it as a "mischievous or malignant goblin, often appearing in the form of a horse, and haunting bogs or marshes". But in the current film, Harvey is a rabbit, 6' 3", and he haunts bars and saloons, simply because his familiar Elwood spends much time in those precincts. The story of the play is about the endless complications caused by Elwood's harmless but firm conviction that Harvey is always with him. On the surface, the film is pure comedy, but underneath is the sobering thought that when sanity is lost something is often gained — in this case, sweetness of disposition. Whether you take the play at its surface value, or look for deepet meanings, you will be entertained. The fact that it also takes a crack at psycho-analysis did not detract from the pleasure, at least for the writer, who takes a dim view of all such activities. As a doctor friend observed regarding a case, "If he (the psycho-analyist) takes her apart, how can I be sure that he can put her together again?"

In a life that calls for a certain amount of versatility, we found ourselves escorting two little girls to the "Y" for a swimming lesson. From the vantage point of the balcony we watched the antics of our offspring and those of eleven others. There in an area of 90 square feet was all human nature. There were fat little girls (two), skinny little girls (three) and seven others ranging all up and down the scale (no pun intended). There were the happy extroverts boldly plunging in at the blast of the whistle, kicking the faces of their less vigorous fellows; there were, too, the courteous ones, waiting till there should be time and space for them; there were the really timid ones, hanging desperately to the side and doubtless praying for the time to be up; and the over-confident ones, who had to be called back from the deep end. As in life, there were perhaps three who hit the happy medium of all this, who listened to the instructions before taking off, and once in, tried to follow them — who neither tried to drown her neighbor nor waited to be herself run down. These three will be good swimmers, the others — who knows? Our own child, to our astonishment, turned out to be one of the courteous ones, rather inclined to allow others to usurp her place. Yet, on the street, she is the one who does battle for the little girls when the enemy hordes of boys attack. Never think that we exaggerate. Two weeks ago a battle royal took place in our back yard between a six-year-old boy armed with an axe and two girls of nine and eleven respectively. The boy retreated howling dismally, his axe trailing behind!

Peter, the young cat, is beginning to intimate that it is playtime. Every evening when I am beginning to think gratefully of bed and the bed-light turned on a fascinating book, Peter feels he must play. If I do not oblige, he proceeds to amuse himself, quite often at the cost of a broken ornament. To date, he has broken a copper lustre pitcher, a cup and three saucers, the knob from the top of a lamp, and the ear from a pottery cat that normally stands beside the typewriter table. My readers on the Laurentian farms — where cats are working folk, not playthings — will be horrified at this wanton destruction. But I weigh the pleasure from these inanimate things against that which we derive from Peter—and always Peter wins. . . So now to Peter!

B.C. TEA-GROWING

Victoria (CP) — Trade Minister Eyres told the British Columbia legislature that tea-growing may develop into an industry in this province employing hundreds of persons. A firm at Milner in the Fraser Valley has blended the finest black and green varieties, and will have 600 bushels this year.

SOAP AND WATER STILL IS TOPS IN BEAUTY CARE

Healthy Skin First Requisite For Good Complexion — British Firm Believes

By Muriel Narraway, Canada Press Staff Writer

London (CP) — An established British cosmetics firm, dating back to 1896, which recently opened premises in Western Canada, still believes in woman's first beauty treatment — water.

Using all the modern aids to beauty, this firm includes in its beauty treatments, a soap and water wash in warm water followed by rinsing in ice-cold water.

For tired business women and housewives with little time for visiting beauty parlors, there is a special home treatment that irons out tired lines.

Cleaning the face with a liquid cleansing lotion, you wash with soap and water. Next you apply a coat of special lotion which has a camomile base and is applied by brush. A second heavier coat follows, and you go to bed.

This tonic lotion tightens up the face muscles and cleans dirty pores. Next morning the lotion is removed by application of a heavy skin food. This is washed off and your face "feels like a million dollars."

The lotion is used only once or twice weekly and in-between-times, on alternate nights, a heavy skin food and an astringent complexion milk are used.

Bad For Skin

A spokesman for the firm said the fault of many women, is the use of a nightly skin food. This is bad for the skin, it slackens the pores and tends to make the face greasy in daytime. A skin food should always be alternated with an astringent lotion.

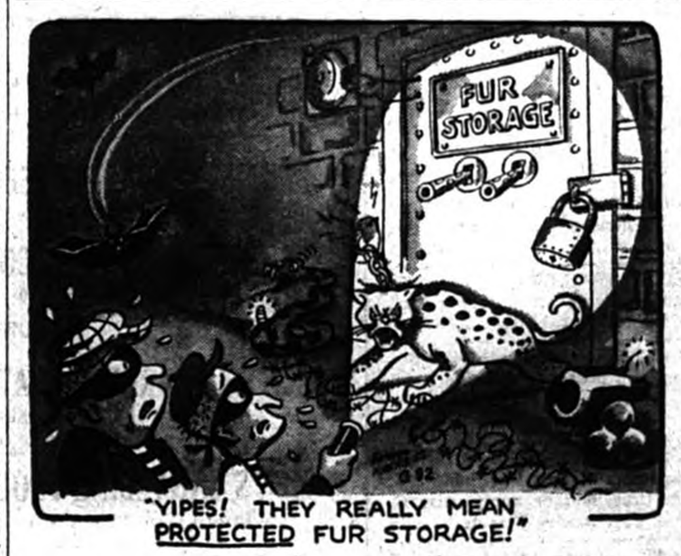

For those who enjoy the pick-up given by a face pack, a new 20-minute pack is recommended and is a useful, speedy method of freshening the skin prior to a dance or a special date.

Older women and the 'teen-agers, are advised to use a complexion milk that gives a soft, dewy look to the lighter types of make-up. It can be used in conjunction with the tinted foundation creams so popular today.

"A bad fault of women today", said the firm's representative, "is the use of too obvious foundations, generally used to cover skin faults. Too many women do this, rather than take the extra time and trouble necessary to give a clean, healthy skin."

For the new spring colors and styles, a soft, feminine make-up is used, with the tinted foundations and day lotions a shade darker than the powder used. Eye shadow this year matches the gown accessories instead of the hair in such shades as Parma Violet, Turquoise, Dove Grey and light green.

Sign on a heavy transport truck: "This truck stops for crossroads, railroads, blondes and brunettes. For redheads it will even back up 50 feet."
