Premier Duplessis' Address at Fair Opening To Be Broadcast Over Nine Radio Stations

Event More Widely Publicized in Province Through Premier's Interest and Participation

Premier Maurice L. Duplessis will be the first Premier of the Province of Quebec ever to officiate at the opening of Lachute Spring Fair, when he formally cuts the ribbon on Wednesday, June 13, at 3 p.m. at the Fair Grounds.

At 3.15 the Premier will deliver an address which will be amplified to the four corners of the Fair Grounds, and carried to the four corners of the province over nine radio stations.

Prior to the official opening of the exposition, the Premier will be the guest of the County Council of Argenteuil, under chairmanship of the County Warden, A. Gaston Munich, at a luncheon to be held at Lachute Golf and Country Club.

Under the presidency of Clement Tremblay, O.B.E., president of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, the official party will include Philippe Valois, M.P., who will introduce the Premier; W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. for Argenteuil; Hon. Omer Coté, Hon. Jean Paul Sauvé, Senator A. K. Hugessen, Olier Renaud, Jacob Nicol, Gerald Martineau and others.

No stone has been left unturned to publicize this event, and followers of agricultural fairs from all parts of Eastern Canada have signified their intention of heading for Lachute for this impressive opening of what is now recognized as the outstanding Spring Fair of the entire area.

In addition to the exhibits of purebred cattle and other prize stock, there will be entertainment of all kinds, with spectacles of an attractive nature arranged for not only the opening day, but for the following three days of the Fair, continuing until Saturday, June 16.

Arrangements have been made to cater to the varied tastes of the crowd, and special facilities will assure safe parking of automobiles.

From Montreal, Quebec City, Three Rivers, Sherbrooke and the Laurentians, groups of those interested in the agricultural pursuits of the province will make the journey to Lachute, and are expected to bring their families along.

While the Premier is fresh from his annual vacation in the United States, his appearance at the Fair will be one of several that have been arranged for this spring season.

Argenteuil is one of the outstanding agricultural regions of this province, and it may be noted that attention has been drawn repeatedly in the Quebec Legislature to the excellent manner in which the Argenteuil Agricultural Society is upholding its farming tradition.

This county, moreover, exemplifies the closest harmony of French-speaking and English-speaking citizens living side by side — an example unrivalled elsewhere in the world — and for this reason as well as others, the Premier will deliver his opening address in French and in English. . . The broadcast portion of the address will conclude at 4 p.m.

Traffic Check on Lights and Licenses

Officers of the traffic police for this area have been instructed to clamp down on dilatory drivers who are still operating on 1950 registrations and driver's permits. The deadline is past for purchase of new plates and licenses. Offending drivers are subject to a fine, and vehicles with outdated licenses will be impounded.

Traffic Officers H. Jones and Albt. Legault are also paying special attention to cars and trucks to ensure proper lighting. Drivers are advised to check and remedy defective lights, without delay.

Sawing Contests At Lachute Fair

A novel feature at the Fair this year will be witnessed by spectators at the opening event on Wednesday. At 1 p.m. before the grandstand, a log sawing contest will test the skill and stamina of the competitors, while providing excitement for the onlookers.

A bucksaw expert sets the pace. Woodsmen take keen pride in their performance.

There will be bucksaw and crosscut saw events. Prizes for the bucksaw local entries will be — first $50, second $25, third $15. . . For the open competition, first prize is $50.

For crosscut sawing teams (open) the prizes will be — first $50, second $30, third $10.

The bucksaw contestants will make three cuts through a 10-inch spruce, while the crosscut saw contestants will make three cuts off a 15-inch yellow birch log. . . Entrants are requested to be on hand early.

Que. Liberal Leader To Speak at St. Jerome

The third of a series of political rallies to be undertaken during the summer by George E. Lapalme, attend the meeting, which will be held at St. Jerome next Sunday afternoon, June 10, in the Knights of Columbus hall.

Delegations from Argenteuil and Two Mountains are expected to attend the meeting, which will be under the chairmanship of Mayor Leopole Nantel, K.C., of St. Jerome. Other speakers will be Jean Guerin, president of the Young Liberal Association of Terrebonne County; Claude Prevost, K.C., of Montreal, and Raymond Raymond, of St. Jerome.

Bowling Concludes With Gala Occasion; Dance and Presentation of Trophies

The recent bowlers' annual dance, held at the Tessier Hotel, Lachute Mills, was a satisfying climax to the Bolodrome season. Over 300 persons attended, and the dance music was provided by Don Reid's orchestra. The door prize of a mantel radio, donated by L. E. Dansereau store, was won by Miss Pierrette Desforges. Winner of a $25 cash prize in the "Bola" session — a game of the bingo variety — was won by H. Lepine, while the second prize of a lamp, made and donated by Paul-Emile Latleur, went to Miss J. Addy.

Highlight of the event was the presentation of the season's awards to the winning league teams and the tournament winners. Additional to the regular trophies was a cup presented to the bowler of the highest average in each league, presented by the Bolodrome. In the season's results it is interesting to note that Paul Desnoyers, a Bolodrome star and member of the management, was captain of two teams which won out in the league scores, and also was a member of a third winning team.

An annual event, the election and crowning of the Bowling Queen, took place on this occasion, bringing the popularity honors to Miss Jeannine Ouellet. (Pictures of the Queen, also one of the winning teams, appear in this journal.)

A group is being organized to attend the Montreal Bolorium fete at Ideal Beach, Ste. Rose, this Friday evening. A well-known local star, Monique Charlebois, is among candidates for the Queen of this event. For those desiring to attend, information is available from Miss Charlebois or from Paul Desnoyers.

The season's prizes are listed on page 10 of this issue.

High School Annual A Fine Publication

"Lampada", the Annual of the Lachute High and County schools, has been released by the publishers and is now on sale. The 1951 edition is a remarkable publication for the students of Lachute High School to produce, and readers will find it enjoyable, interesting and instructive.

The book contains 150 pages, much larger than any published in past years, with every section showing improvements. It features many interesting photographs of nearly every type of school activity at the Lachute High and the other schools of the county. The literary section is notably superior to that of last year. The senior section has many well written articles by several Grade XII students, and students from the other high school grades. The junior section is much enlarged, featuring articles written by pupils from every grade from I to VII.

Perhaps the greatest improvement has been in the County Schools section, which gives a complete coverage, with pictures, of school activities at Arundel, Brownsburg, Grenville, Kilmar and Morin Heights.

The production of this Annual is a large and expensive undertaking, and the students of L.H.S. are to be congratulated on its excellence. The publication of a magazine such as the Lampada, in which the students do the work, is of inestimable value in a school program, and it is hoped that every home in Lachute will respond to their efforts by purchasing a copy and reading it from cover to cover. The Annual is on sale at Cliff Cunningham's, Beaton's Pharmacy, and the Bedard Restaurant in Lachute, and at the Choux Pharmacy in Brownsburg.

Double Production

Rare tales are told on the exploits of the hen — almost as numerous as quips at the expense of the Scotsman. A local poultryman, Fred Stein, Sr., who specializes in R.O.P. Rhode Island Reds, comes up with the description of an unusual egg laid last week — having another complete egg with solid shell inside the original one. The smaller edition in all respects resembled the normal Rhode Island egg.

Asked for a biological reason, Mr. Stein could not explain. These hens are mass-producers, laying about 250 eggs a year; and in this case Biddy was maybe doubling up to save time, he suggested!

Brownsburg Council

The first meeting of the newly-elected Brownsburg Council was held, with Hector Pariseau, mayor-elect, presiding. A report of the proceedings (received late for publication this week) will be printed in next issue.

The neighboring constituency of Glengarry, with less than 11,000 voters, is the smallest federal electoral division in Canada.

June Meeting of Lachute W. Inst.

There was a large attendance at the June meeting of Lachute W.I., held Tuesday in the Legion Hall.

The county program booklets for 1951-52 were distributed. An account of the county convention was given by Mrs. A. Bothwell. Reports indicated that 1950 had been a very busy year. Mrs. Harvey was the gest speaker at this convention.

The question of a County Bursary was discussed and left in the hands of the convener of Education, Mrs. Geo. McGibbon, for decision at the September meeting.

A five-day Nutrition Course for this branch, conducted by Miss Campbell of Macdonald College, will commence on October 21.

Delegates to the recent Short Course at Macdonald reported an interesting and educational week. It consisted of rug-making, a sample of which was exhibited at the meeting, various lectures, and a demonstration on Poultry by Professor Maw. Miss Campbell also gave a talk on the "Importance of Color in the Home". The course concluded with an enjoyable trip around the campus in all its glory of color and perfume, with a commentary on landscaping and tree-planting in the College surroundings.

The Institute Library will be opened on the first Friday in July and the first Friday in August, for the convenience of members. A large number of new books are now available.

Amateur Show At Legion Hall

A total of 20 entries provided a varied fare of entertainment at the Legion Auxiliary amateur night, held May 30 at the Legion Hall. Jim Duncan made a successful master-of-ceremonies, while Bill Phillips provided the piano accompaniments.

Gaetan Desjardins, six-year-old step dancer, was awarded first prize; Wayne Riddell, pianist, second; Gisèle Champagne, songster, third.

Five consolation prizes were presented, to—Mrs. Lilian Tansey, character-singer; P. Lecorre, sketch artist; the Gaston girls, singing with guitar accompaniment; Miss Willow Smith, highland dancer; and the Desjardins family orchestra.

Champions of Mixed-League Bowling

VETERAN SOLDIER WAS OLDEST RESIDENT OF MORIN HEIGHTS

The funeral of the late Lt.-Col. Joseph E. Seale, held Tuesday afternoon at Morin Heights, was attended by friends from the length and breadth of Argenteuil — for the late Col. Seale was one of this county's best known citizens. His death occurred Sunday in hospital in Montreal, where he had been a patient for the past few weeks. He was in his 83rd year.

Born in Morin Heights, he was a son of Chas. Seale and his wife, Margaret Doherty.

After opening a general store in Morin Heights in 1895, he became president of the Argenteuil Lumber Company. He became prominent in the military life of this part of the country. He began his military career with the Argenteuil Rangers in 1893, becoming the Unit's commanding officer in 1910, and continuing in that position after the regiment was absorbed by the 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars.

As a public spirited citizen he was also well and favorably known. As Mayor for 37 years, of the community in which his long and busy life was spent, and chairman of the Morin Heights School Board for 23 years, he left a record of worthwhile service and achievement.

Col. Seale was a loyal member and officer of the United Church, also a Shriner and a Mason of long standing, having served as District Deputy Grand Master of the order in this province. He was a staunch Conservative in politics, and his efforts in community progress have been a byword in the vicinity of Morin.

He is survived by his wife, the former Sarah Letitia (Dolly) Cameron. They observed their 50th wedding anniversary in October, 1950. Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Melvin Dey, of Morin Heights; and Mrs. Leslie Hollingworth, of Dixie, Que.; a son, Carl Seale, of Morin Heights, who now operates his father's business; a sister, Mrs. John Robinson, of Kiosk, Ont., and seven grandchildren.

The Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiated at the funeral service.

Queen For A Year

Government Order For Prefab Houses

A list of contracts awarded during April by Defence Construction Limited, a crown corporation, on behalf of the Federal Government, includes an item of "Prefabricated housing units, for Aklavik, N.W.T." ordered from Tower Company Ltd., Montreal. The approximate amount of this order is $104,815.

Prefabricating the specially insulated housing at its plant in Lachute, the Tower Company has developed this type of construction for Arctic weather conditions.

"To Know Is To Survive"

Approaching the end of the Lions Club activities for the current year, an enthusiastic meeting on Tuesday evening was addressed by Lion Dr. F. W. FitzGerald. The session was held as usual in the Joly Hotel, and the topic was entitled, "To Know Is to Survive".

Dr. FitzGerald graphically recalled the fate which befell Hiroshima, a Japanese city of 340,000, where approximately 80,000 citizens perished and an equal number were injured by the first atomic bomb, dropped August 6, 1945; and the same carnage which was repeated some time later in Nagasaki.

"Because this was the first use of the atomic bomb and because the people did not know, or utilize, any defence measures, thousands died who might otherwise have survived. Try to visualize the magnitude of anguish, misery and human suffering which must have been present in these cities. If we transfer that same picture to our own town, Lachute, I think we will be profoundly stirred to try to prevent a similar occurrence, or at least to lessen its effects.

"Many lessons were learned from the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and much more has been learned in tests of more powerful atom bombs during the past six years. It is not only prudent, but I believe, our duty to learn these lessons in order that, in the event of atomic warfare, as many as possible may survive.

"What does an atom bomb do? An atom bomb has three main actions: (1) Blast. (2) Heat. (3) Atomic Rays.

"By blast is meant, simply knock-down power — the power of a sudden wind that starts out with ten times the speed of a hurricane. Heat means that when the bomb is exploded it sends out a high flash of heat that is felt for several miles around. Atomic rays are radio active waves which are emitted from the bomb and can be death-dealing.

"It is estimated that these three actions of the atomic bomb account for deaths and casualties in the following proportions:

Blast 15%. Heat 30%. Atomic rays 55%.

"Adequate defence measures against blast can greatly reduce this figure and the care of the injured from blast and burns is the same as for similar injuries caused by other accidents. No new problems are present here.

"Atomic war places everyone — soldier and civilian alike — in the front line. This whole picture of the horror which can be raised by exposure to an atomic attack is very grim.

"What can we do about civilian defence? It is the responsibility of the Federal Government to protect our nation against atomic attack by any enemy, and we all know that they are endeavoring to do so.

"The matter of civilian defence has been delegated to each city and town in the country, and some central co-ordination is being arranged. The matter is, inferentially, a local one in every sense.

"The best possible raid warnings and the necessary shelters should be provided. Much shelter can be afforded to farmers and others by the material terrain, and trained personnel should be provided to instruct people how best to take shelter. Personnel should be trained in first aid to the injured — doctors and nurses should be available. Fire fighters and fire equipment should be available. There should be some means available to control water and food to prevent disease after an attack. Existing buildings, such as schools, churches, halls, etc., should be available for use in emergency. Medical supplies should be available as well as tinned foodstuffs.

"These, in general are the broad principles involved. Following are several of the basic rules:

"(1) Your first duty is to save yourself. If you die you are of no further benefit to anyone. . . (2) Your next duty is to save your family. They depend on you. . . (3) Your final duty is to aid your neighbors. Here is what you must do. . .

"Drop flat on the ground. . . Bury your face in your arms to protect from burns. . . Don't rush out after bombing — wait for an 'all clear'. . . Don't take chances with water or food in open containers. . . Don't start rumors; they arouse panic. . .

"Perhaps you will think, how does all this affect Lachute and our surrounding community? Lachute is a peaceful town, free from all this danger from atomic business. I hope it continues free, but we must not be too complacent. Our town lies midway between two large Canadian cities; authorities consider both cities prime targets for atomic attack. In other words we are 'on the road'. We may be hit by mistake, due to errors in navigation, or by planes being intercepted — all these things are pure conjecture, but not impossible. . . . Also, this area may be overrun with people trying to evacuate the two target cities, and the influx will have to be cared for. . ."

The Lions Club (observed Dr. FitzGerald) is composed of many leaders in our community — they have always been ready to initiate or assist any project that has for its aim the community welfare. . . The Lions, he added, might well consider it their duty, either alone or in co-operation with the civic authorities, to sponsor steps to meet the emergency of an atomic attack in this community.

Dr. FitzGerald, an active club member and past-president, spoke without formal introduction. He was afterwards thanked by the president, Lion Horace Lamarche.

Major G. G. Mitchell was specially honored on this occasion as "Lion of the Day".

It was announced that the closing meeting, June 19, will take the form of a ladies' night at the Legion Hall.

Break-In, Robbery At Express Office

The C.P.R. Express warehouse at Lachute railway station was broken into during the night of Wednesday-Thursday last, and a quantity of goods was stolen — including mostly men's and women's wear consigned to local merchants, which had not been delivered the previous afternoon due to early store-closing.

Discovery of the robbery was made by the express driver, Andrew Cleland, on arriving at the warehouse at 7.30 a.m. Thursday; he found the place in disorder and several cardboard cartons broken open. The thieves had apparently entered the warehouse by prying open an office window. . . C.P.R. detectives arrived from Montreal shortly afterwards to investigate the theft.

Induction Service For New Pastor

The induction of the Rev. W. Harold Reid, M.A., D.D., to the pastorate of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church was held last Thursday evening, attended by fellow members of the clergy and a large congregation.

Taking part in the induction ceremony were — the Rev. R. J. McBride, moderator of the Presbytery and minister of Ephraim Scott Memorial Church, who presided over the proceedings; the Rev. Ross Thomson, of MacVicar Memorial Church, who preached the sermon; the Rev. Dr. C. Ritchie Bell, professor at the Presbyterian Theological College, who pronounced the "charge to the minister"; and Dr. Lorne MacKay, of Montreal West, who gave the "charge to the people".

Following the service a reception was held in the hall adjoining the church. A bouquet of roses was presented to Mrs. Reid with expressions of welcome to the newcomers, and the ladies served refreshments in conclusion.

The Rev. W. Harold Reid is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Reid, of Belleville, Ont. During the latter part of World War I, he served as a radio operator in the R.N.C.V.R., and also served as a part-time chaplain at Quebec during World War II. . . He attended O.A.C., Guelph, Queen's University, where he took his B.A.; Queen's Theological College; taught Hebrew for two years at Queen's University; University of Toronto (M.A.); Knox Theological College, graduating in 1928, and was ordained as minister of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The Rev. Mr. Reid took post-graduate studies in Strasbourg (France) and Tuebingen (Germany) in Semitic languages, and qualified for the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Knox College, Toronto. He has occupied pastorates in Oshawa, Quebec City, and latterly in Montreal. . . He was married in 1946 to Edith Black, daughter of the late R. J. and Mrs. Black, of Quebec City. Mrs. Reid was born in Galway, Ireland.

Safety First

Electricity is probably the most wonderful servant mankind has ever discovered — but it has to be treated carefully. Properly handled, it will do many things for us, working instantly at our command. Improperly handled, it will turn upon us quickly, causing death and destruction.

The safe use of electricity indoors is a subject in itself, and one which we hope to talk about soon. This week we are thinking of safety outside — and of the two rules to remember:

1) Don't touch electric wires — they may be "live".

2) Don't throw water on an electrical fire.

The first rule is well-known, and yet every once in a while somebody gets electrocuted by touching a fallen wire — or by touching something which the wire is touching, which is almost as bad. So if you ever see a power-line which has been knocked down for any reason, don't touch it until you are certain the power has been cut off.

We recall the case of the farmer whose cow got tangled up in a power line, was electrocuted and started to burn. First he tried to move her by the tail — the electric shock sent him flying. Then he threw a pail of water at her — and the electricity ran up the stream of water and knocked the bucket out of his hands. He was lucky. He can still talk about his experience.

Then there was the case of three hunters several years ago who thought it would be fun to take shots at some electrical transformers. One shot caused a short circuit which started a fire. Trying to stop the damage they had done, one of them tried to put out the fire by smothering the flame. The electricity was still on the line and he was electrocuted.

Definitely, electric lines and transformer stations are not things to play around with.

Chemical Weed Control

Ottawa — Unless care is taken in selecting the proper chemical for the particular job to be done, more damage than benefit may result from chemical weeding of field and horticultural crops, warns J. S. Leefe, Senior Agronomist at the Experimental Station at Kentville, N.S.

Mr. Leefe, who notes that chemical weeding has become an accepted modern agricultural practice, points out that it depends on the fact that certain chemicals show a selective action in their effect on plants.

It is therefore necessary to find chemicals for which the desirable crop plants show a high degree of tolerance and which will kill or severely injure infesting weed plants.

For instance, cereals may be weeded of mustard and certain other broad-leafed weeds with 2,4-D. Carrots and related vegetables may be weeded with the type of oils used by the dry-cleaning trade. Pastures may be rid of certain types of brush by spraying with 2,4-D and peas have been successfully weeded with dinitro compounds.

Scientific Research A Protection Against Disease and Insects

In the fields of disease and insect problems of farms and forests, the Department of Agriculture's Science Service is by far the most important agency in Canada. In many cases, no other agency is active. Neary 350 scientists are employed at 68 laboratories across Canada and more are needed if the position is to be anything like secure, says Dr. K. W. Neatby who heads the Service.

It is by no means easy to define clearly and briefly the functions of Science Service, comments Dr. Neatby. The difficulty arises partly from the diversity of enterprises, or projects, and partly from the fact that much of the work is closely related to or dovetailed with work in progress in other research or experimental establishments. Moreover the work ranges, from scientific point of view, all the way from a wide variety of comparatively simple and practical experiments, the fundamental research of an exceedingly complex nature.

With a few minor exceptions, the research projects are all directly or indirectly connected with the problems of protecting agricultural plants and animals from diseases and insects. For the farmer, these are very serious matters because in spite of much trouble and expense he invariably suffers some damage and often sustains very serious loss. Unfortunately, complete eradication is rarely possible and therefore the problem is usually that of reducing losses to a minimum.

Some diseases, of plants as well as animals, are caused by malnutrition. Solution of such problems requires investigation of the physiology of the plant, or animal, and of the chemistry of feeds and soils. The majority of diseases, however, are caused by living organisms such as gacteria, fungi, protozoa and viruses. One of the reasons that permanent solutions to disease problems are often impossible is that these organisms possess wonderful powers of adaption. Just as the plant breeder can produce an almost infinite variety of strains of crop plants, so nature, without intentional help from anyone, can multiply strains of disease producing organisms. Thus a disease resistant crop plant may not, and often does not, remain resistant long. Naturally, therefore, research in this field is a continuing process and the main purpose is to keep a few jumps ahead of the parasites.

With insect pests, Dr. Neatby says, the principles are essentially the same and, as a matter of fact, many insects play an important, sometimes essential, role in the transmission of disease. The ability of some species of insects to develop resistance to DDT is a striking example of biological adaptability.

Paid workers outside of agriculture outnumber farm operators as a voting group by 4.97 to one.

Danger on the Tracks

THROUGH common usage, pedestrians here have come to consider the railway tracks as public right-of-way, in spite of notices which give warning to trespassers.

It is drawn to our attention by the C.P.R. station staff that far too many people are crossing the tracks as a short-cut, and that the practice is dangerous in view of freight trains shunting at certain hours of the day. This applies specially to children; there are many school-agers crossing the tracks by habit several times a day between the station platform and the oil tanks — clambering between coupled freight cars, or dodging around cars without being sure there is nothing approaching on the next track. On request of the railway authorities, teachers at the local schools have warned their pupils and forbidden this practice. . . The Watchman reiterates the warning, so that parents too may stress the danger and avert a possible tragedy.

The Spiral

WE BELIEVE in handing on our pleasures in the newspaper business. Well, readers will be interested in the next projected boost, which is a rise in postage rates on newspapers. The revised Postal Act proposes, among other things, to increase mailing charges for newspapers by almost 100 per cent.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said in the Commons last week that, at a time when democracy is threatened, nothing should be done to limit the circulation of newspapers, and he urged the government to withdraw the legislation pending further study. . . Thank you, Mr. Drew.

Joseph Noseworthy, CCF, said he thought the people would support increases which would bring newspapers and periodicals "closer to a point of paying their own way". . . We hasten to assure Mr. Noseworthy, however, that with today's high labor costs, material costs, transportation costs and taxation costs, we are already generously paying our own way — and so long as the Postal Department at Ottawa is breaking even, we in the newspaper business would appreciate the same privilege.

The "Welcome" Sign

WITH Lachute Spring Fair on the immediate program, it is trite to remark that this town will again be "on show" to thousands of visitors.

Having never really seen this centre from the eyes of a newcomer, we have certain misgivings. Among the impressions of many who will be visiting us for the first time, will be such things as — what, for instance? . . . Ugly barns, sheds and buildings backing on the railway track as the train approaches Lachute. Narrow, badly surfaced highway bridges. Obscure, unprotected railway crossings. Pock-marked thoroughfares such as Grace Street, and Chatham Street as it emerges into the Grenville highway. Poorly lighted thoroughfares. Roadsides overgrown with weeds. . . With all of which we have become too familiar to bother much about.

Fortunately there will be some happier impressions for the visitor. . . Bright store-fronts, new homes, attractive gardens, the Memorial Park (if the chip potato wagon will oblige by moving to the Exhibition Grounds for this occasion!), and the winding river, its beauty still unsullied by the inroads of habitation.

To these attractions Lachute can add one other factor, which may leave an indelible impression in our favor and even, perchance, outweigh the less desirable aspects. That quality is the spirit of hospitality — a friendly and helpful attitude to strangers in our midst. The arduous efforts of our Fair committees, directed to the one aim of success and public satisfaction, deserve our individual support in this matter of welcoming visitors to Lachute.

World Sample Room

AFTER THE first two days of the Canadian International Trade Fair, held at Toronto, May 28 - June 8, the British machine tool section announced that it had done more than $5,000,000 worth of business. Its entire exhibit, covering 30,000 feet of floor space, had been sold.

These figures are impressive because they put an understandable dollar tag on some part of the Fair. Yet they are a small part of the value of the event. The full value runs into sums of money which will never reveal themselves in clear-cut fashion.

For the material benefits are divided into two parts. There are the actual sales made — and even those don't become known in their full extent. And there is the greater part, the sales which will be made through future years, through contracts made in this international meeting place.

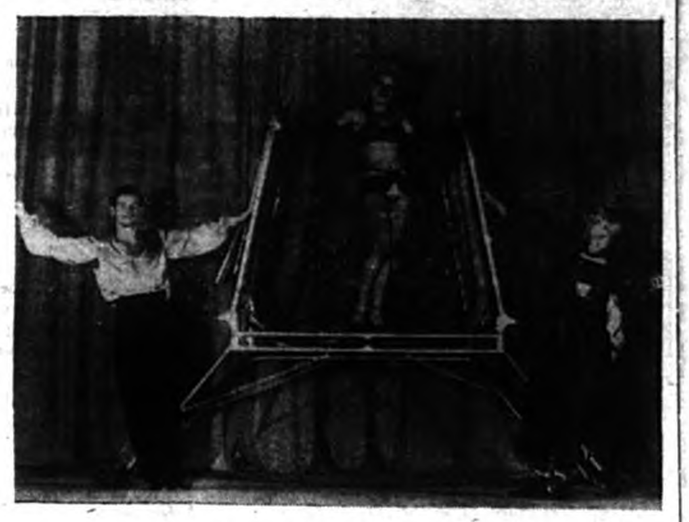

The Fair is one gigantic world sample room. The goods of 28 countries are laid out in exhibits. Some 40,000 people from many more countries come and look at them.

There is virtually no "hoopla" appeal. The buyer is not there to be entertained. He is, of course, given eye-appeal, in the attractive manner in which things are laid out. But what he must decide is whether the goods are of a nature, quality and price which will enable him to sell them in his own country. That is the only test.

Aside from material gains, a Trade Fair gives a tremendous opportunity for a mixing of peoples, and so makes another contribution which can't be computed — a contribution to understanding in the world. There is some pathos in the sight of people wanting and trying to trade with one another, and be at peace with one another, all the time surrounded by a world situation which may make it impossible for them to trade or be at peace.

The Canadian International Trade Fair, put on through the federal Department of Commerce, now is in its fourth year. It is patterned after trade fairs which have been a feature in Europe for hundreds of years, but it was the first ever to be held in North America.

Entertainment at Lachute Fair

One of the fastest-working acrobatic groups, the Bounding Bodos, will appear on the vaudeville program next week at Lachute Fair. They are described as fast, thrilling and humorous.

THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY

We were fishing one wet day in the early part of May, but the big ones didn't seem to take the hook. I caught one six inches long. Joe said I was wrong — that I ought to put him back into the brook. "I know he's rather small, but you've caught none at all", said I. "And we've been fishin' here all day". "I haven't landed one", said Joe, "but I'm not done. You should have seen the one that got away!"

"I've heard that yarn before", said I, and Joe got sore. "I tell you he was three feet long!" he cried. Then we heard a footstep near and a voice said: "Fishin' here?" "Show your permits and your creel and what's inside!" When the warden saw my catch he pinched us with dispatch and he marched us off to jail without delay. Joe was walking on ahead. All at once he turned and said: "You should have seen the one that got away!"

Then I saw a chance to flee, so I hid behind a tree and our captor looked around for me in vain. "But I don't forget a face", said the warden, in disgrace, when he met the Sheriff waiting in the rain. "This dopey-looking 'bo", said the Sheriff, (meaning Joe), "is the queerest looking guy I've seen today". "He's a queer one, I'll admit", said the warden, in a fit, "but you should have seen the one that got away!"

Vancouver (CP) — A threat to have musical ice-cream trucks banned from Vancouver streets was averted by the promise of the owners to tone down their musical offerings. They agreed to soften the volume so musical selections cannot be heard more than half a block.

Lachute Women's Institute

Handicraft exhibits for the Fair are to be delivered to Mrs. R. Menard, convener of Home Economics, by Monday, June 11. Flower arrangements and cookery are to be brought to the exhibit by 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Findlay McGibbon was in charge of this meeting and gave an interesting talk on her visit to Macdonald College. Bulletins were distributed, useful to every housewife, and Mrs. McGibbon introduced her guest speaker, Mrs. Trenholme Bishop, whose subject was "The Art of Floral Arrangements".

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever" might happily apply to the pictures unfolded before the members, as Mrs. Trenholme Bishop demonstrated the various flower arrangements in all types of containers. (A resumé of Mrs. Bishop's address will be printed in next issue of The Watchman). The examples of floral displays will long be remembered by those who enjoyed them.

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. C. L. Duncan "for the pleasure she had given as she worked and talked". Her topic had conveyed a wealth of interesting information for the lovers of flowers.

The next meeting of Lachute W.I. will be in September, with an afternoon tea for the High School teachers.

Pretty Ceremony at Lachute United Church

Carkner - Martin

At Lachute United Church on Saturday afternoon, June 2, at four o'clock, the marriage was solemnized of Helen Gertrude, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Martin, of Lachute, to Mr. Lyle Ray Carkner, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carkner, of Vankleek Hill. The Rev. W. B. Rosborough officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Edward Barker, as soloist, sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and "Through the Years", while Mrs. Kenneth McOuat was at the organ. Mauve and white lilacs formed the floral decorations.

Attending the bride were Miss Audrey Burwash, of Montreal, as maid of honor, Miss Eleanor Warwick, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid, and little Miss Janice Connelly, another cousin, as flower girl. Mr. Richard Carkner was best man for his brother, while Mr. Keith Warwick, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Stanley Carkner, brother of the groom, were ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a period gown of embroidered net over satin, with a Peter Pan collar and tiny buttons from the collar to the waist. The skirt fell over a full crinoline ending in a graceful train, and the long sleeves ended in points over the wrists. Her fingertip-length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a simple wreath of white lilac. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink Delight roses.

The three attendants were wearing nylon marquisette over taffeta, with headdresses and mitts of the same material, Miss Burwash in pale green, Miss Warwick in pink, and little Miss Connelly in pale green. All carried bouquets of pink Pinocchio rosebuds and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Martin, mother of the bride, wore a gown of grey crepe with navy accessories and a shoulder spray of pink roses. Mrs. Carkner, the groom's mother, was wearing grey crepe with black accessories and red carnations at the corsage.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and points in the eastern United States, the bride wore a suit of lilac gabardine with lilac straw hat and navy accessories.

HERE'S A PLAN FOR EVERY MAN

New B of M Service Tells You How to Get the Most Out of Your Money

Do you run your money, or does it run you? That's a pretty important question. You can make your income go further, do more — but it takes planning. That's why the Bank of Montreal originated Personal Planning — a sane, practical approach to money management.

In these days of high living costs, you've got to get all the value you can out of every dollar. Personal Planning doesn't deal in money miracles — it won't double your income overnight — but it will show you how to make every cent that you earn do a job of work for you. And how you can get fun out of seeing that it does.

If you are interested in learning how to live within your income and like it, drop into the Bank of Montreal branch at Lachute and have a chat with Leo Brouillette, the accountant. He'll be glad to give you the free booklet Personal Planning, and discuss its application to your financial problems.

Tom Gard's Note Book

The cottage season is officially open. My son and I have just returned from our first weekend at the cottage for 1951. As it was a straight work weekend, there was no difficulty in dissuading the rest of the family from going. Things appear to have come through the winter in tip-top shape. The porcupines had sampled a corner of one of the supporting beams for the floor but evidently didn't like the flavor of the wood preservative used and quit after the first few bites.

One of the main tasks completed was building a good supply of book cases and newspaper shelves. I used packing box material left over from the picket fence built earlier this spring. After persuading the local lumber dealer to put the pieces through his planer, they made up into very attractive cases.

I don't know what I'd do without those metal crossbars that fasten to the roof of the car! They certainly make it easy to truck stuff to the cottage.

Use Your Coconut!

If hanging baskets interest you, try making a few novel containers out of coconut shells. I have 12 all planted and developing nicely for this summer. They are still adorning the bay window of the living room but one of these warm days they will be shifted to the veranda. They will be an interesting change to the conventional ones I have been using.

I saw my first good homemade stool last week. A young couple down the street had made a joint project of the venture. A cheese box lid was securely bolted to legs made from old car springs, fashioned by a blacksmith. The seat was padded and attractively covered with a plastic material. The legs had been well braced and looked quite sturdy. It wasn't a thing of beauty, but it certainly looked serviceable.

Methods of Discipline

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Disciplining children is no easy task. The underlying foundation in child training is understanding — both of the child and of the stage of development at which he is at. Often parents expect too much of their youngsters. What adult gets through a day without making mistakes? Why should mother or dad demand perfection of a son or daughter?

A child learns a habit by repeatedly carrying out something which gives him satisfaction. If at all possible, a child should experience unpleasant results which arise naturally from a disobedient act. Mary has been told not to meddle with the squeak in her "Mama!" doll, but when left alone she finds the scissors and does a little dolly surgery. So the mechanical noise box is injured and Mary's doll will not cry aloud any more.

This ideal situation by which a child learns from his own actions is not always possible. Sandy is shopping with his mother, and in the toy department he reaches up and pulls several little trucks onto the floor. As far as Tommy goes, having the trucks in his hands is a happy occupation. If his mother resorts to threats such as "I will leave you all alone among these strangers unless you put those trucks up on the counter at once!", Tommy may "call her bluff".

Threats are not a good type of discipline. Neither are bribes satisfactory to control behavior. A smart youngster wants bigger and better bribes to persuade him to repeat a desired action.

Lack of consistency is a parental characteristic which impairs the trust which should be mutual between mother and child and makes discipline uncertain. If mother spanks Junior one day for climbing into the car and playing with the wheel and gears, and ignores this forbidden performance on her son's part the next day, what is he to think? His world is in a state of confusion. If he is an adventuresome youngster and he knows that sometimes he "gets away with" disobedience, why not take a "sporting chance" on Daddy's car? Perhaps no one will catch him!

One reliable technique in encouraging obedience is to give a child a little warning of a command beforehand. Children dislike being interrupted in the midst of an exciting activity such as playing marbles.

A reward for good behaviour in the form of a star or pretty seal pasted on a chart on the wall is of service in encouraging the formation of a health habit such as washing hands before meals. This system should be used with care and only over short periods of time with little children. Another good plan is to rely on a clock to make a direction impersonal. The suggestion, "Let us look at the clock and see if it says bedtime", is much more acceptable that, "You must go to bed now!"

As a child approaches three years of age, he needs to play with other youngsters. Playmates are necessary for his development. If a child strikes his friend in a quarrel over the possession of a toy, the best way to discipline him in social behavior, is just to remove him to his own room. Isolation soon teaches even an aggressive youngster that if he wants to play with others he must obey certain rules.

This "isolation method" is the one which has won wide recognition as a method of discipline in modern Nursery Schools. A growing number of parents are enthusiastic about placing Junior alone in his room when he will not conform to a rule of family living or to a parent's command. There he must stay until he is willing to obey.

This takes time and energy, but it is worthy of consistent, wholehearted trial. If you are in difficulties in disciplining your child, why not use this method of discipline to influence his behavior?

Junior Branches of Quebec Women's Inst.

Another junior branch of the Quebec Women's Institutes has been organized at Warden. Miss F. Elizabeth Campbell, Macdonald College, junior supervisor for the Q.W.I., assisted the president of Shefford County W.I., Mrs. Mary Sicard, in organizing this group.

Officers elected were: President, Joyce Talbot; vice-president, Marjorie Ashton; secretary, Barbara Marcotte; treasurer, Marion Champeau; with Mrs. Sicard as counsellor. Miss Campbell outlined various group activities and gardening was chosen as their project for this year.

Since joining the staff of the Q.W.I. a year ago, Miss Campbell has devoted much time and energy to promoting interest in Junior Institutes in this province and is asking all senior branches to survey their districts and assess the possibilities of forming such groups. There are only two others in Quebec; New Carlisle, which has been functioning for several years; and a branch at Bury, organized a year ago.

Speaking at a general meeting of the Leadership Training Course, held recently by the Q.W.I. at Macdonald College, Miss Campbell stressed the importance of junior work. "Make that one of your projects when you return home", she said, "as with a number of junior branches it will be possible to frame a more comprehensive program and to create stimulating activities for the girls".

Exploring With "The Explorers"

The Lachute United Church Explorer Group, under the leadership of Mrs. Harold Deacon assisted by Mrs. Harold McFaul and Miss Bessie McOuat, held its closing party on Thursday evening, May 31, with many parents and friends in attendance.

The business session was ably conducted by Chief Explorer Jean Taylor. Recorder Eleanor MacAdam "called the muster and read the log", and Shirley Pollock, Keeper of the Treasure, read the financial statement.

Five Explorers — Jean Taylor, Evelyn Dion, Carolyn Muir, Judy Kerr and Florence MacAdam, gave a very realistic demonstration of a Japanese tea party.

Chief Explorer Jean Taylor, Worshipful Explorer Sandra Phillips, Recorder Eleanor MacAdam, and Games Explorer Florence MacAdam, and Explorer Beverley Hadley were presented with their red stars, marking the achievement of their Purpose for their First Exploring Year.

Notice of the Explorers' first expedition next September, after the vacations, will appear in the Lachute United Church bulletin.

Annual Meeting of The Mother Church

Complete defence from disaster and destruction is immediately available to every individual and nation through spiritual understanding of God, states the Christian Science Board of Directors. Taking note of the world crisis, they affirmed that the deepest laws of the universe are spiritual laws of harmony.

Their special message was read at the annual meeting of The Mother Church, First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, to nearly 7,500 Christian Scientists assembled from all over the world.

Church members from Japan, New Zealand, Sweden, and other distant countries, as well as Canada and the United States, came to Boston for the meeting, which has been held annually for more than half a century.

The Directors called for individual spiritual courage in meeting critical global problems. They said Christian righteousness has never been defeated, and forecast "great spiritual progress" ahead.

New president of the Mother Church for the coming year is Mrs. Lora C. Rathvon of Boston. In a ringing address Mrs. Rathvon said that never was the need more urgent to look beyond the material sense of life, to "see man as God's spiritual idea". Forecasting greater spiritual achievements, she said, "We are standing on the brink of a new era".

PONIES OUSTED BY BUSES

Ponoka, Alta. (CP) — Transporting rural children to school by bus has become big business. But it has been hard on the "little fellow". Fellows like Cliff Vold of Ponoka can tell you what it has done to the "little fellow" — the Shetland pony that for years performed this valuable service for the young folk.

He says there has been a marked decline in the call for the ponies since the school bus system started. But Vold, who raises them, says there is still good business hiring them out for midways and small fairs, and for urban residents who can afford to give their youngsters a treat. However, all the buses whizzing back and forth must be a sad sight for the Shetland pony used to taking children to school for years past.

Young Couple in Pretty Wedding at St. Simeon's

Dixon - Welden

The marriage of Joan Evelyn Norma, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Welden, of Lachute, and Robert Henry Dixon, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dixon, of Brownsburg, was solemnized on June 2 at four o'clock in St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute. The Rev. C. R. Lang officiated at the ceremony.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Russel Owens, of Grenville. During the signing of the register Mr. Charles Hemsley, of Montreal, sang "Oh Promise Me".

Gladioli and lilacs of many colors decorated the church for the occasion. The altar was adorned with gladioli and snapdragons in pastel shades. The guest pews were marked with white ribbon and sprigs of lilac.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white bridal satin, with fitted bodice, high neck-line, the sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her fingertip-length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a bandeau of white satin, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Pinocchio roses and asparagus fern.

She was attended by her three sisters, who wore identically styled gowns of nylon marquisette, featuring strapless shirred bodices, bouffant skirts and short-sleeved boleros, with mittens and headdress to match. Joyce, as maid of honor, was in orchid. Shirley and Evelyn, as bridesmaids, wore Nile green and yellow, respectively.

Mr. Douglas Dixon, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. Jimmie Welden, brother of the bride, and Mr. Ronnie Kennedy, cousin of the groom.

Mrs. Welden, the bride's mother, wore a street-length dress of navy faille crepe with matching accessories, her corsage being of red roses. Mrs. Dixon, mother of the bridegroom, wore a street-length dress of navy with white accessories; her corsage was of pink Delight roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Legion Hall, Lachute, where the floral decorations were carried out in white and mauve gladioli. Later the couple left by motor for New Orleans, Louisiana, the bride travelling in an iris wool militene suit, with white accessories and a shoulder spray of white carnations. . . On their return Mr. and Mrs. Dixon will reside at Calumet.

Out of town guests included relatives from Grenville, Calumet, Ormstown, Vankleek Hill, Pte.-au-Chene, Luskville, Ottawa and Montreal.

HEROIC 8-YEAR-OLD GIRL SAVES BOY PLAYMATE FROM DROWNING

Dolly Mason, of Barrie, Ont., shows coolness, courage and perseverance in rescuing 7-year-old lad

1. The three children — Dolly, her young brother and 7-year-old Jimmy Tustin were having a wonderful time playing Cowboys and Indians. The spot was ideal . . . a culvert over a spring-swollen creek about a mile south of Barrie. But the brisk March weather proved treacherous and before he realized the danger Jimmy Tustin had slipped down an icy 20-foot bank and disappeared in 7 feet of frigid dark water.

2. The floundering boy had gone under several times before Dolly swung into action. Scrambling down the bank with her sleigh, she crept as close to Jimmy as she could — and then threw the sleigh to him, keeping a firm grasp on the rope herself. With a strength amazing in one so young she half-pulled, half-carried the boy inch by inch up the steep, icy bank until she had him safely at the top.

3. Jimmy was blue with cold and semi-conscious as Dolly dragged him the long quarter mile to his home. "We owe his life to Dolly", his mother said when the boy recovered about three hours later. To this gallant 8-year-old Canadian girl we are proud to pay tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award. Her action is in keeping with the finest qualities of good citizenship.

THE Dow AWARD

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects Award winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING TO FOUR-DAY LACHUTE SPRING FAIR

Quebec Premier Officiates At Inaugural Ceremony

Hon. Maurice Duplessis Meets Many Constituents; Reception at Golf Club

While every human effort had been put forward to ensure the success of the big Spring Fair, and the Hon. Maurice Duplessis had graciously consented to officiate for the opening — the one problematic factor, the weather, remained in doubt as always. The auspicious ceremonies of Wednesday afternoon, however, were favored with ideal weather conditions for the opening ceremonies (rain fell lightly in the late afternoon and evening, continuing more persistently today.). But with this initial smile of fortune, the Argenteuil Agricultural Society directors looked confidently for a successful outcome to their annual event.

Right on schedule, the ceremonies welcoming the Quebec Premier were started at 3.15 o'clock, when Clement Tremblay, O.B.E., president of the Agricultural Society, spoke briefly to a grandstand audience of Argenteuil citizens and school children, who had gathered for this special occasion.

President Recalls Beginnings Of Agricultural Society

Mr. Tremblay, in calling upon W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., to introduce the Premier, paid tribute to Argenteuil's young politician, who almost overnight had become a Member of Parliament and had since worked so hard for the benefit of his constituency. He referred to the early existence of the present Society, formed in 1826 — then known as the County of York Agricultural Society, and its steady progress to its present flourishing state.

Mr. Cottingham spoke most highly of the Premier, honored guest of the day, and emphasized particularly his generosity and kindly feeling toward the people of Argenteuil, particularly those in the minority. He had just been notified, he said, that 3½-million dollars was to be spent at Kilmar for the further development of Canadian Refractories.

Agriculture the Cornerstone Of Province's Success

Prime Minister Maurice Duplessis then addressed the gathering in both French and English, and was loudly acclaimed as he arose to speak. He referred to Argenteuil as a historic site, mentioning the Dollard conflict with the Indians at Carillon. His main theme, however, was Agriculture — which he claimed was the cornerstone of this province's success, and although industry was important, it could only take second place. The happiness and contentment that exists on the farm cannot be found elsewhere, and despite the fact that new theories of a disturbing nature are continually being introduced, Agriculture still represents the basis of prosperity and lasting success. He urged his listeners not to shirk their duty, but to work as good citizens so as to maintain the high standard which presently exists in Quebec. "We have been blessed with the greatest natural resources in the world. Two-thirds of them our ours — let us supply the remaining one-third".

Philippe Valois, M.P. for Argenteuil, expressed appreciation for his encouraging address, adding that the best traditions would always remain "as long as we have such citizens as are now farmers in this community".

Master Lemay and Miss Lacasse, dressed in typical farm attire, presented Mr. Duplessis with special scissors and the blue ribbon was cut at 3.55 p.m., the Lachute Spring Fair being thus officially opened — the first time in its history that it had been so honored by the provincial Prime Minister.

A bouquet of flowers was presented by Miss Mary Lou Hooper on behalf of Lachute High School, and the Premier also received a cane seat and a walking cane. Mr. Tremblay, in presenting the latter, stated it was "symbolic of the magic key to the treasury of our kind feelings toward you".

In expressing his appreciation, the Premier aptly stated that these gifts should remind us, that we should always be inspired by the spirit of both rest and work.

Premier Sees Example of Livestock Quality

Then followed a spectacular parade of three-team turn-outs, teams in harness and single to vehicle, with local Standard Breds, ponies and a hunting turn-out. The cattle list was a long one, including mainly local exhibits, many of which had taken honors at the recent Ormstown Fair.

Highly pleased, and greatly surprised at the extent and quality of exhibits comprising Lachute Spring Fair, Premier Duplessis shook hands with many and then mingled among the crowds for a further inspection tour.

Accompanying the Quebec Premier on the ceremonial platform before the grandstand Wednesday afternoon were Hon. J. P. Sauvé, Minister of Youth and Welfare; Hon. Bona Dussault, Minister of Municipal Affairs; Hon. Olier Renaud, Legislative Councillor; Jean Louis Doucet, Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs; Hon. Charles French, Minister of Mines; Hon. Omer Côté, Provincial Secretary; Philippe Valois, M.P.; W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A.; Clement Tremblay, O.B.E., president of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society; with the directors and life members of that Society; A. Gaston Munich, Warden of the County of Argenteuil, with members of the

Over 325 at Golf Club Luncheon - Reception

PREMIER WELCOMED AT INFORMAL GATHERING

Around 325 persons from all over the county were guests at a buffet luncheon and reception at noon hour Wednesday, held at Lachute Golf Club in honor of Premier Maurice Duplessis. Sponsors of this function were the County Council of Argenteuil. It was an informal gathering at which the constituents were given an opportunity to meet the Premier; and Mr. Duplessis and his colleagues appeared to share equally in the enjoyment of this opportunity.

The speeches were few and brief. A Gaston Munich, County Warden, welcomed the Premier and cabinet ministers. He spoke with some pride on the attractions and the potentialities of this county — then introducing the Premier as guest of honor.

The Hon. Maurice Duplessis spoke with evident affection for his province, whose resources and opportunities for expansion had "no equal in the world", he said. "We must never forget, however, that the prime essential of our economy is Agriculture. Without the progress of our Agriculture, there can be no enduring progress". He paid tribute to the farmers and the farming communities which contribute to the stability of our economy; he commended the obvious "love of Agriculture" which was the motive force of the Lachute Exhibition, and he congratulated the organizers of this Exhibition, wishing them continued success.

W. M. Cottingham M.L.A., stated this community was proud to have the Quebec Premier as its guest this day; he thanked Warden Munich and the County Council, for enabling representatives of the municipalities and school boards to meet the Premier, whose government had done so much for the welfare of Education in this area and elsewhere. He regretted the Premier's visit was so brief that he could not view the northern parts of this county, its lakes, attractions and "great possibilities for development".

'Tough Business' Building A Home; Ottawa Hears Obstacles, Shortages

By Erwin Fricke, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, June 11 (CP) — The building of a home is getting to be a tougher and tougher business for the ordinary man to tackle. In the Commons last week members from all parties contributed ideas on how the Federal Government could ease the load.

The discussion came after Resources Minister Winters called for debate on his 1951-52 estimates. Mr. Winters, reporting to Parliament for the crown-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, did not paint a rosy picture for the future.

As a matter of fact, he said, a number of real "obstacles" have arisen in the way of maintaining even the current housing activity. More than 89,000 new houses were built in 1950 and probably as many would be built this year.

But, said Mr. Winters, trouble lies ahead in the form of growing material shortages, increased building costs, a tightening of mortgage money and the difficulties of an insufficient supply of serviced land.

Furthermore Canada now is pressing an expanding defence program, involving much new construction, and defence gets first call on materials. The minister warned that house-building may feel the pinch of more general shortages of materials before the end of the year.

Despite all these construction difficulties, he said the Federal Government is anxious to join with the provinces in undertaking low-rental housing projects, especially in areas where the defence program is aggravating the housing shortage.

Hear Many Proposals

Four speakers who took a prominent part in the housing debate were Donald Fleming, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Eglinton; David Croll, Liberal member for Toronto Spadina; Ross Thatcher, C.C.F. member for Moose Jaw; and C. E. Johnston, Social Credit member for Bow River.

Mr. Fleming criticized the government for increasing the interest rate on housing loans to 5 per cent from 4½, and for withdrawing provisions of the National Housing Act for second mortgages on housing loans.

Mr. Croll charged that building supply houses are fixing prices by "gentlemen's agreements" and deliberately keeping supplies short and prices high. He urged the provinces should undertake more low-rental projects with the federal government under N.H.A. provisions.

Mr. Thatcher suggested the government undertake large-scale low-cost housing programs, relax down-payment and credit provisions of the N.H.A. and use its powers to grant housing loans.

Mr. Johnston suggested the government should take the lead in stimulating home building by lowering the financial cost "as much as possible". Building materials should be rationed if necessary.

Mr. Winters reported 460,000 new housing units have been built in Canada since 1946. But the number of new families — from marriage and immigration — had exceeded the number of new houses built in most years since the end of the Second World War.

It had been feared, Mr. Winters said, that defence production would increase shortages this year. There was a shortage of serviced land. Municipalities were finding it difficult to finance the serving of fringe areas for housing developments. They also were faced with a problem of providing additional educational facilities for new areas. Mr. Thatcher said it was obvious that "nothing will be done this year to catch up with the serious backlog of housing".

He said Immigration Minister Harris had announced it is planned to bring 150,000 immigrants to Canada this year. "I agree with that policy, but I think we should build houses for them", said Mr. Thatcher. The working man today needed about $3,000 to make the down payment on a home. That made it virtually impossible for 90 per cent of the people to buy their own homes.

Mr. Croll said he found it hard to believe than only four provinces had taken up the federal offer to join in low-rental housing programs. The country did not need just homes; it needed low-cost and rental housing.

The Mayor and the Roads Committee were authorized to undertake the preliminaries to extend Sydney Street, from Barron Avenue to Mary Street.

The Waterworks Committee were authorized to attend to water and sewer installation on Gordon Blvd.

One tender was received, and accepted, for laying of concrete sidewalk on Wilson Street (1.60 per running foot) and Millway Street (1.40 per running foot). The bid was from Masson & Frères, who were given the contract for Wilson Street at the price of 1.60.

The Chief of Police was authorized to attend the Provincial Police and Fire Chiefs' convention, to be held in Val d'Or.

It was ruled to prohibit parking on Milway Street between Fish's Bridge and Main Street.

The secretary was instructed to call for tenders to supply coal and wood for the municipal buildings.

The secretary was further instructed to place for collection all taxes in arrears liable to be prescribed.

Accounts were passed for payment, amounting to $4,668.

Building permits were granted for the following construction work:

Bertrand Ferron, four houses on Filion Street; Denis Lauzon, house on Hamford Street; Gaston Levesque, house on St. Julien Street; Leon Lascelles, house on Grace Street; Lachute Lumber Company, house on Fraser Street.

It was decided to start chimney sweeping on a systematic basis around the town after Labor Day.

Vankleek Hill Lineman Electrocuted, Four Hurt

Lorne Deavy, 23-year-old Vankleek Hill Hydro worker, was electrocuted while helping to remove a wooden pole at Williamstown, 12 miles northest of Cornwall

Four fellow workmen suffered burns and were knocked to the ground when the pole came in contact with a 4,600 volt line.

The crew were removing poles in the village after installing a new line.

Neil Hunter, 56, of Williamburg, was knocked unconscious but was revived in 30 minutes by artificial respiration. He was sent to hospital in Cornwall for treatment of hand burns.

Artificial respiration was used on Deavy for more than five hours in a vain attempt to revive him.

Eric McRae, of Vankleek Hill, another lineman, said there was a "shower of sparks" at the base of the pole and "all the boys went spinning away like tenpins".

Work Resumed on Brownsburg Rink

Brownsburg — The architect of the new skating rink, Cecil Burgess, of Ottawa, and his assistant, J. Tedham, visited Brownsburg on June 7 to discuss building plans with the Brownsburg Rink Association. In addition to members of the Association he was met on the rink site by officials of the Town Council and other interested citizens. Following this visit, work was resumed on the rink and with voluntary labor some of the concrete supporting piers have already been poured.

The Rink Association is calling a meeting of all associations, businesses and churches in Brownsburg, in order to bring them up-to-date on the Association's program. In addition to being advised concerning the status of the building plans, the meeting will be informed of the progress made in the campaign for funds. This meeting is being held in the Social Club gymnasium on Wednesday, June 20, at 8 p.m. Besides the official delegates, any member of Brownsburg community wishing to be informed on the present progress, will be welcomed at this meeting. The Association also hopes to have on hand one or two sporting films to provide added interest at the meeting.

Prime Minister in Radio Address

Speaker on the program "Affairs of the State" on June 19, on the English network of Radio-Canada from 7.45 to 8 o'clock p.m., will be the Honorable Louis St. Laurent, leader of the Liberal Party and Prime Minister of Canada.

Winner of Lions' Weekly Drawing

Holder of the winning number in the last of the Lions Club weekly drawings was Y. Pérusse, of Terrebonne — the ticket having been sold by Léopold Carrière. This drawing for a mantel radio concludes the series prior to the grand drawing for an automobile and other prizes, this Saturday at the Lachute Fair Grounds.

Gisèle Champagne, 14-year-old songster, was heard on the microphone at the automobile stand on Main Street Friday evening. Committeeman Bob Marcil was in charge, and drew the winning ticket from the drum.

After the adoption of Rules and Regulations, the delegates proceeded to the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

President, E. A. Bulley, Arundel, Que.; vice-presidents, R. N. McKinnon, Winnipeg, Wm. Taylor, Oshawa; secretary-treasurer, Paul Phenix, Montreal.

Directors — E. O. Hilton, Winnipeg; H. H. Posen, Toronto; G. H. Ratledge, Calgary; Stan Shaw, Edmonton; Saville Taylor, Regina.

The aims of the Association are a wider sphere of co-operation between the provinces, to promote the advancement of dental technology in the interest of better health service, and for the welfare and protection of its members.

New Council Gets In Stride At Brownsburg

COMMITTEES NAMED, PROBLEMS TACKLED

Brownsburg — The first meeting of the newly elected council was held, with Hector Pariseau, successful in his election to the mayoralty, presiding. Councillors V. Charbonneau, E. Lavoie, A. Carriere, N. D. Somers, W. Ouellette and L. Ball, constituting the full council, were all in attendance.

The mayor selected the following committees:

Sewerage and Waterworks — Councillors Somers and Ouellette.

Sidewalks and Roads — Councillors Charbonneau and Carriere.

Police and Fire Protection — Councillors Lavoie and Ball.

Mayor Pariseau said he was investing the various committees with full powers to attend to their respective duties. He would not interfere, and if informed of any work to be done by phone or complaint, he would pass the matter on to the committee concerned. He did not have the time to give close personal attention to small matters as did his predecessor, Mr. Donaldson. He had read an article in The Lachute Watchman, "I Wouldn't Be Mayor for a Million". He didn't know who wrote it, but whoever did summed up the extreme duties expected of a Mayor by some people in a very true manner. When he read it he agreed with it — and now he found himself mayor just the same!

The secretary, Emile Hebert, read the minutes of the previous meeting, and arising out of the business of that meeting Councillor Lavoie questioned the possibility of fulfilling the obligation in taking over the waterworks project at Park Avenue. Councillor Lavoie doubted if the work of extending the Graham system and repairing the street could be accomplished within one year, as specified in the council's resolution of acceptance.

VILLAGE SPREADS TO HIGHWAY BY-PASS; RESIDENTS NOW URGE FOR SPEED CONTROL

(Our District Correspondent)

Calumet — During the past few years the highway is being gradually built up to form another street of this village. Ten homes are now occupied and four others are under construction. Being within the Municipality of Calumet, these dwellers feel that they should have more consideration with regard to their traffic problem. There have been numerous accidents in this area (including one death) and it is felt by many that the speed limit for the village should also be enforced on this section of the highway to protect the many small children now living there.

All Canada's natural resources, among the world's greatest, are of little use unless the populace applies human effort — work — to its production.

Safety in the Home

Last week we were talking about the two important safety rules concerning electricity outdoors. Actually, however, more people are hurt by electricity indoors than outside, so it might be a good idea to remember a few rules about electric power indoors too.

One rule is the same, of course. Don't ever touch a wire which isn't insulated and which might have power in it.

Another rule is also similar. Don't throw water on an electrical fire. If a short-circuit starts a fire, pull the main switch first and then tackle the fire — otherwise you stand a good chance of being electrocuted.

Another sound rule is never to do any work — no matter how trivial it might seem to be — on electric wires or appliances without first making sure the circuit is disconnected. In the case of appliances, pulling the plug out of the wall will make it perfectly safe, but where house wiring is concerned, the only safe thing to do is to pull the main switch.

Then there is the matter of fuses. When a fuse blows, it is because a circuit has become dangerous through overloading or because of a short circuit. Reduce the load by disconnecting appliances or turning switches off and find the trouble before putting power back on. And always replace a blown fuse by a new one of the same number — NEVER by a coin or a piece of metal.

Never work on electric circuits or use electric appliances while your hands are wet or when your feet are in a damp place. And, when using appliances, don't touch other appliances which are plugged in or other metal objects which might be grounded (such as water pipes) at the same time. You just MIGHT happen to get a nasty shock.

By far the great majority of people observe these rules, and so they go for a lifetime when electricity is always their obedient servant because they know how to handle it. Only rarely is someone silly enough to disregard the rules — but then the results are likely to be swift and fatal.

DID YOU KNOW?

The average customer of Gatineau Power today uses 10 TIMES as much electricity as the average customer of 25 years ago when the company came into being.

Farm Topics

Condition of Soil Is Important

On many Canadian farms crop productivity is limited by undesirable physical conditions of the soil. The use of fertilizers on such soils, unless the physical defects are corrected, is often a waste of effort and money. Soil, points out P. C. Stobbe, soil specialist with the Field Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm. Ottawa, must be in good physical condition as well as containing a liberal supply of nutrient elements for satisfactory crop production.

The undesirable physical conditions which interfere with maximum crop production may be numerous and varied on the different soils. Poor structure greatly affects the tilth of the soil and as a crop may suffer due to lack of satisfactory seed beds on such land. Poor structure also favors wind and water erosion with the consequent lowering of the productive capacity of the soils.

The capacity of the soils to absorb and retain moisture is another very important factor in crop production. The rate of percolation of soil water in some soils is too rapid and the moisture holding capacity too low and as a result crops often suffer from drought. In some other soils moisture penetration and percolation is too slow. On such land much of the precipitation may run off and cause erosion or it may accumulate in the soil and cause poor drainage conditions.

When the rate of percolation through the subsoil is considerably slower than through the surface soil, as is the case of compacted or poor drainage and high water table cemented subsoils or hardpans, are particularly troublesome. Such horizons not only interfere with free drainage but also restrict root development.

The methods used for the improvement of the undesirable physical condition sare as varied as the problems themselves and they may in some cases be only partially successful. Thus the addition of organic matter to the soil will generally improve the structure and increase the water holding capacity. The installation of artificial drains will remove surplus water and may also assist in opening up the subsoil. The planting of deep rooted crops and the use of subsoilers may assist in loosening compacted subsoils and hardpans.

When crop production on a piece of land is unsatisfactory it is often just as important to investigate and to correct undesirable physical conditions of the soil as to improve its fertility level.

Eggs $24 A Dozen

Toronto (CP) — Eggs at $24 a dozen? . . O. P. Johnston, suburban Toronto chicken farmer, sells them for that. People buy them too — in both the United States and Canada.

The eggs are blue. They're laid by Araucana hens on Mr. Johnston's farm. He has 100 of the rare birds, which are native to South America. Araucana eggs are worth $2 each.

ST. LAURENTS HOLD "OPEN HOUSE"

—Central Press Canadian

Some 300 guests, including many senators and members of parliament, were guests of Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent, seen above at the first of three formal receptions held at their new Sussex Street home in Ottawa. Mr. St. Laurent is the first Canadian prime minister to reside in an official residence comparable to Britain's 10 Downing Street, and the U.S. White House.

For Bee Keepers

Ottawa — If you want to save labour and increase your returns, now is the time to requeen your bee colonies, advises E. Braun, of the Apiculture Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Requeening at the early part of the honeyflow, he says, provides a greater percentage of acceptance of the queens introduced, thus saving labour and providing better returns.

Rigid culling of inferior queens will pay good dividends in increasing yields and save considerable labour from the colony management standpoint. Rearing queens from the beekeeper's own selected stock during the honeyflow or purchasing queens from a reliable southern breeder are two means of getting the desired stock.

Queenless colonies and those with drone laying queens are easily recognized and generally given immediate attention by the beekeeper.

But old, or failing queens are not as readily discernible unless the beekeeper follows some method of marking the queen or keeping a record of her brood production to indicate her age and egg-laying capacity.

Requeening regularly on an annual or biennial basis is considered good beekeeping practice.

In 1951 the Canadian dollar has about one-third of its 1901 buying power; in the same period hourly wage rates have multiplied by five.

OBITUARY

Thos. McGregor, Pioneer, Brought Home for Burial

A member of an old pioneer family, Thomas McGregor — whose death occurred June 5 at the home of his son Malcolm in Plattsburg, N.Y. — was brought home for burial in his native community. The funeral, conducted by the Rev. W. Harold Reid, was held last Friday from the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church; interment was made in the family plot at Lachute Cemetery.

The late Tom McGregor was in his 94th year. He was born in Chatham Township, a son of the late James and Ellen McGregor. (His father had come from Scotland at an early age, when his family settled in these parts.) Tom McGregor was married to Margaret Emily Parker, of Lakefield. There were four children, of whom Malcolm is now the only survivor. The McGregors, moving from Chatham, occupied a farm just east of Lachute, and in this old homestead the late Thomas McGregor remained until four years ago, when in his advanced age he went to reside with his son. Until then, his entire lifetime had been spent in these parts. In his active years he was a loyal member of the Presbyterian Church.

Well-Loved Resident Mourned at St. Andrews

Late Mrs. K. R. de la Ronde

The passing of Mrs. K. R. de la Ronde at her home on June 5, after a lengthy illness, has left a blank in a wide circle of relatives, friends and neighbors to whom her happy disposition and kindly hospitality had endeared her.

Besides her husband, chief mourners are her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald de la Ronde, of Montreal; a brother, Mr. Herbert Clearihue, of Montreal; Mrs. F. R. Roth, of St. Andrews East, Mrs. J. A. Lalonde, Mrs. J. Leslie Tedford, of Westmount, and Mrs. Harry Webb, of Windsor, Ont.; also a number of nieces and nephews. Her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clearihue, of Westmount, and three sisters, Mrs. Malcolm Smith and Mrs. Wm. Doyle, of Montreal, and Mrs. George Driver, of Toronto, had predeceased her.

Her interest and work in the Women's Guild of the United Church for many years was greatly appreciated by her associates.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Carson at the United Church on Thursday afternoon, June 7. The large attendance, both of local folk and friends from a distance, and the profusion of beautiful floral tributes, bore token of an affectionate esteem.

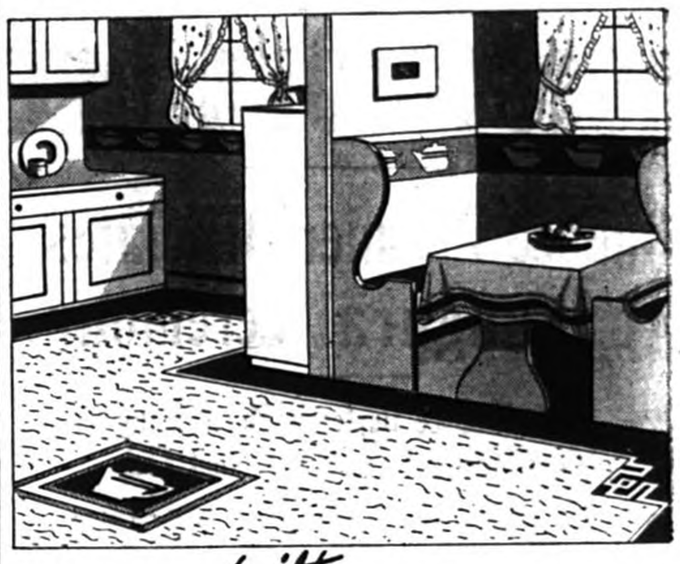

The pall-bearers were — Messrs. Howard and Ralph Lalonde, Leslie Tedford, Jr., William Doyle, Jr., Thomas Jopling and Robert Taylor, all of Montreal, nephews of the deceased.

Interment took place in the de la Ronde family plot in the Protestant Cemetery, Carillon.

VANISHING RACE

Montreal (CP) — Laplanders of the Arctic Circle are fast decreasing in numbers since herds of reindeer, on which they depend for food and clothing, have found grazing lands getting poorer in the last 50 years. Robert Pearson, American anthropologist, returning to the Arctic for further studies of the Laplanders, said they are a vanishing race.

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Where's Your Accident?

'TWAS only by the grace of God that we avoided striking a young lady cyclist, who turned suddenly into the path of our car at Barron's Bridge this week. The ease and celerity with which accidents occur, was still a lingering impression in our mind, when a friend stopped in at the office and suggested spontaneously that this same subject "deserved an editorial" — only he added an observation, that most of the hazards are man-made and attributable to appalling carelessness.

He enumerated the perils he had noted on a brief walk to this office. . . On a playground, two broken pop bottles marking a baseball diamond. . . On Main Street, a notoriously reckless townsman proceeding at 45 miles an hour. . . School children crossing the street diagonally in complete disregard for pedestrian markings. . . The limb of a tree dangerously overhanging the sidewalk. . .

And there were more; but our safety-conscious visitor had said enough to warrant the simple conclusion, "It's a wonder so many people survive!"

Sport Lesson

A BRITISH goverament research group has been studying the country's greatest spectator sport — soccer — and its relation to economic and social welfare.

It has come up with the interesting statement that there is a link between the football field and the workshop — that a team's victories or defeats have an effect on its supporters which is reflected in their standard of work during the week. Victory means increased output, while defeat makes for despondency and declining production.

Between 70,000,000 and 80,000,000 persons attend Old Country soccer games every year. For a great number the Saturday afternoon game is the recreational highlight of the week and the emotional reaction, particularly in group work, is understandable.

But the research group's conclusions, by implication, point up the value of active participation in sport. It is unlikely that the psychological effect of victory or defeat on the player himself can take away from the all-round benefits he enjoys as a result of playing, rather than watching, the game.

Britons, crowded into the "tight little isle", have no choice. They cannot all be players. But Canada, with its wide open spaces, has a golden opportunity to give its youngsters the recreational facilities that lead to the building of healthy bodies and minds.

Canada has thousands of potential athletes, and they should not be deceived by the glamor of big-time sport and the production of specialized athletes. Community rinks and playing fields — many have been built as memorials since the war — are the places where healthful recreation and properly-controlled play should be enthusiastically and carefully sponsored.

Meet the Hamster

EVEN as the airplane and the "cat train" are replacing the sled dogs in North Country transportation, so the hamster is replacing the guinea pig in modern science. As a matter of fact, despite the sentimentalists, Dr. T. W. M. Cameron, Professor of Parasitology at McGill University in Montreal, claims that the humble hamster is man's best friend.

The hamster, in case you haven't been formally introduced, is a small rodent-like animal, a native of the Near East. The type most used in scientific research is the Golden Syrian, a likable little chap who is admired by medical researchers because he can contract more human ailments than any other animal. In addition, Dr. Cameron says that the hamster's docile temperament and small size allow for easy handling, a prime requisite in the research field. Another hamster virtue is his prolific productivity, allowing the scientist to study succeeding generations under special treatment in a remarkably short time.

Today, the hamster is used in almost every phase of medical and allied research. At McGill, for instance, Dr. Cameron and his associates use them in the study of trichinosis and other parasitical diseases and throughout the world they are a major factor in the study of cancer, tuberculosis and the development of new drugs. In the United States they have even been recruited in a study of dental decay and its control.

Too Valuable to Scrap

IF WE are to get the work of this country done, and also do the national defence job now necessary, the services of many older and even retired people will be required. We just haven't the manpower in Canada today or in sight to produce as much as we need if we retire everyone at 60 or 65, says The Financial Post.

Moreover, only a very small percentage of these older citizens in these times of rising prices can afford to be idle even if that were their desire.

Experience and accumulated knowledge make them more fitted to hold certain jobs than younger men and women. In jobs requiring long training and long memories a man or woman at 60 or 65 is actually more valuable than when 20 years younger.

To eliminate arbitrarily all older workers from production is a luxury few countries can afford even in normal times. Decidedly it is something a growing country like Canada cannot afford and especially cannot afford just now.

THE ENGLISH language becomes more confusing every day — remarks the Barrie Examiner. Noticed in one of that journal's Coming Event adlets recently was a local dance band announcing "mello" music. Possibly this meant "melodious". Surely it wasn't intended for "mellow", which is defined as "soft, tender, or well-matured".

THE CENSUS

I'm the kind of a guy who'll do anything once. That is how I allowed myself to be appointed enumerator for a part of Argenteuil County, and although it is a tiresome job, it is at least interesting and a good way to make new contacts and renew old ones. So far I have found the good people of Argenteuil to be very co-operative in answering the questions and I feel that I am making a host of new friends. Ordinarily, this column is supposed to be a humorous one, but today I say in all seriousness that if a farmer wants to help the enumerator and save him a great amount of valuable time, he can do so by having his Farm Schedule that he received some time ago, all filled out before the enumerator arrives.

Now let's talk about something pleasant. Have you heard this one? (The jokes I tell are very good. They may not be the best in the world, but just the same, they're not to be laughed at). . .

Two old maiden ladies named Hill were interviewed by the census enumerator. Next door lived an elderly widow, Mrs. Brown. When he called on her she refused to state her age. "I make it a point never to tell anyone my age", she said. "But I was born the same year as the Hill sisters next door". The census man had his answer. He wrote down: "Mrs. Brown—as old as the Hills".

Maybe I'll call on you one of these days. In June the days are getting longer. For me, they're getting shorter. I gotta finish before the 30th. And don't forget to ask me a few questions too. I'll answer them all, even if I have to say "I dunno!" to all of them.

Be seein' ya!

— Uncle Walt

P.S.

A travelling salesman was in Lachute last Monday. He had finished his business and had several hours to wait for the evening train. In the hotel lobby he asked a stranger how far the Fair Grounds were from the town.

"About a mile", said the stranger. "Why?"

"I haven't seen a county fair for years", was the salesman's reply. "Guess I'll go along now and look it over".

"But the Fair doesn't start till Wednesday", said the stranger.

"That's funny", replied the salesman. "It says in the paper here, 'Fair Today and Tuesday'."

Farmers Ask . . .

Why the Census?

The farmer, who will be asked to answer more questions than the man on the street, may well expect some answers on the purposes of and need for census-taking.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has supplied some information on this matter.

The farmer is a direct representative of Canada's greatest primary industry. The agricultural questionnaire is the census of an industry, and to be effective must include questions on the numbers, area and output of everything produced on the farm and other questions the answers to which will illuminate the condition of the industry.

Care has been taken to keep the number of questions asked to a minimum consistent with requirements. As a consequence, the 1951 questionnaire has been considerably shortened and a number of questions placed on a sample basis so that only 20 per cent of farmers will be asked to answer them.

Information obtained from the agricultural census is useful in many ways. Analysed by the Bureau of Statistics, it provides information that is unavailable otherwise.

Farmers benefit by having authoritative information about their business. While the individual farmer may not find the answer to his specific problems by reading census volumes, farmers' organizations and government bodies find the information indispensable in assessing scores of farm problems.

Schools and universities use the census extensively to teach students about Canada and the part played by agriculture in the economy. Trends in production and changes in methods of farming deduced from studies of census material enable food processors such as dairy, packing and canning establishments to function more efficiently. Manufacturers of all kinds of agricultural supplies — farm implements, wire, twine, fertilizers, pesticides, and the like — depend extensively on census information when planning manufacturing programs.

In general, agricultural census material is an important item in the ever-continuing research and experimental work which enables Canadian agriculture to march with the times.

SANATORIUM PATIENTS ARE BUDDING AUTHORS

Hamilton (CP) — Short story writing is helping patients to recovery at the Mountain Sanatorium here.

Patients are urged to write and submit short stories to the Story Spinner Show, a half-hour program broadcast radio-fashion once a week over the sanatorium loudspeaker system. The best story of the week is read over the system and is followed by constructive criticism by the wife of a local English professor.

This criticism is followed by a reading of a story by one of the great writers. Thus the budding writers may compare their work with that of the masters. The show is set to music and appropriately announced.

It was started by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Sylvia James, radio program director at the sanatorium.

A bookstore donated books as weekly prizes. At the end of the series, the best story will be picked for submission to a publisher.

PERSONAL PLANNING GAINING MOMENTUM

Soaring Prices Boost Popular Interest in New Type Of Money Management, B of M Manager Finds

Residents of Lachute are taking considerable interest in Personal Planning, the Bank of Montreal's recently introduced system of income management, reports Donald Hay, local B of M branch manager. Most people enjoy making a dollar go farther but not faster, he finds, and they feel particularly proud of this skill under the pressure of today's prices.

Personal Planning, as the booklet now available on the subject emphasizes, is much more than a budget. It's a sane, practical way for the individual to attain mastery over his money. It will not make anyone rich overnight. But it can help the individual to draw up a purely personal blueprint of his financial aims in life, and it can help him to attain them. Beside this psychological assistance, Personal Planning also shows how budgeting can be kept simple.

Mr. Hay invites anyone interested to drop into the B of M for a copy of the bank's bright little book called "Personal Planning". For all its easy-to-read breeziness, this publication is helping many Canadians to conquer their money worries and enjoy life more.

There are many more urgent matters requiring the attention and financing of the council, he claimed. It would be better to do the necessary repairs to the intake on the water system.

Councillor Somers: "What would $5,000 do on the line to the dam? In fact, that line at the present time is better than it was at any time for the past six years. Taking over the Graham project is the one time the council gets something for nothing. It would cost $7,000 to put this system in, and it is offered free".

Mayor Pariseau: "Free! With conditions which may run into $12,000".

Councillor Somers: "No. I have an estimate of the cost here — the work to be done by Tom Hall — and as it covers the complete job the council cannot be misinformed on extras. He estimates he will do the job for $5,760.

Mayor Pariseau: "Have we that money? How are our finances?"

Councillor Somers: "We cannot have that money in ordinary revenue. We will have to borrow".

Mayor Pariseau: "Borrow, borrow! We have borrowed three times already".

Councillor Somers: "Any time you extend you will have to borrow".

Councillor Ouellette: "What is the return on that line at present?" . . The secretary replied $266.

Mayor Pariseau: "If we have the money, I'm in favor of it".

Councillor Somers: "Your revenue at this point is more than your carrying charges. There are several more outlets to be installed, as the place is building up. If you do not take this offer and pressure is put on the other small independent project at the lower end of the town, it may overtax the facilities there. Then the Department of Health may step in and force us to re-construct this other project and the cost may well be $35,000".

Mayor Pariseau: "Contracts for $5,000 or $10,000 have a way of doubling themselves. We just had an extension estimated at $12,000 and it cost $18,000 or thereabouts". . . . He had legal advice which convinced him that all contracts should be all-inclusive and not based on cubic yard excavation or fill.

Councillor Somers: "Well, this estimate is for the job and meets your conditions".

Councillor Lavoie withdrew his objection on the understanding an effort would be made to complete the job within a year, if circumstances permit.

Fire Chief's Report

Chief A. Robbins stated there had been only one fire since last meeting, and it was a recurrence of an old fire at the municipal dump. He recommended an area be cleared around the dump, as the brush was too close, constituting a hazard. It was a bad location, as it was too high and caught the prevailing winds. He favored a ravine. The Chief also requested action on the purchase of a ladder already sanctioned by the council, and a trailer.

Mayor Pariseau: "What is the trailer for?"

Chief Robbins: "Taking the booster to outside fires".

The mayor doubted if the council would undertake outside fire prevention. He did not favor going to the expense of providing equipment for outside municipalities.

It was decided to measure up the area occupied by the dump and discuss the matter at next meeting.

Police Chief

Police Chief Choquette reported he had investigated 24 complaints and had 11 phone calls for traffic infractions. There is a particularly dangerous junction at Maple and Main and he had to warn a number of car drivers who were reaching 45 m.p.h. approaching this section. He submitted a sketch of road markings he would like painted at this spot. The parking on Main increased the danger of accident by interrupting the flow of traffic.

Councillor Lavoie: "We should have those lines painted right away". It was decided to approach the Lachute Council for the use of its traffic marking machine.

Mayor Pariseau said, with regard to parking, the practice of taxis using the streets as taxi-stands was "out" forthwith. From the conclusion of this meeting any taxi so found must get a "ticket". Business people had to pay taxes on their own properties to provide space for their business and the Council was not going to provide space free for taxi-stands. This part of town, from Maple to the Post Office, was narrow and dangerous. The Mayor was not going to have the danger aggravated by having cars and trucks parked there all day. He was not doing this in any petty spirit; he wished to act with justice to all. If the general welfare of the municipality demanded it, he would see that it was done to the best of his ability. He asked the Police Chief to see his wishes were carried out.

A request by the Police Chief for payment for the use of his car, was adjourned for consideration.

C-I-L requested the council's permission to erect warning signs at the railroad crossing on St. Joseph Street. The permission was granted.

The Protestant School applied for assistance in procuring some small sports equipment. A donation of $25 was made for this purpose. . . The Rev. Father Monseau, c.c., wrote thanking the Council for a similar donation.

A report of further council business will appear in next issue.

What Is An Englishman?

By Lewis Milligan

"England for the English! Mr. Arnold Foster has solemnly warned all perfervid Irish, Scotch and Welsh patriots that they may hear this cry some day, if they persist in claiming Ireland for the Irish, Scotland for the Scotch, and Wales for the Welsh."

That is a quotation from an editorial that appeared in the British Weekly of December 3, 1886. Since then Ireland — or a large part of it — has achieved Home Rule, and "Come Back to Erin" has, strangely enough, lost its appeal to the exiles from that once "distressful counthry". They never did go back, anyway, and large numbers of new emigrants from Southern Ireland are enjoying their exile in England, Scotland and Wales. Many of them so far forgot their hatred for England as to enlist in the British forces during the Second World War.

The present Home Rule for Scotland movement is a very tame and limited affair compared with that of Home Rule for Ireland half a century ago. The Scottish movement has been brought into prominence by the sensational stealing of the Stone of Scone from Westminster Abbey. . .

From the point of view of patriotism, these new movements for Home Rule for Scotland and Wales are ridiculous. The present population of England largely is a conglomerate mixture of people from all parts of the British Isles, and if the pure English were to insist upon England for the English, there would have to be a mass exodus, and England would be pretty well deserted. But most of the "foreigners" wouldn't know where to go, for they are individually such a mixture of Scotch, Irish and Welsh blood (not to mention English) that they would be people without a country. To use a personal example, I was born in England of a Welsh mother and a Scotch-Irish father, but a thrill runs down my backbone at the song, "He is an Englishman!" W. S. Gilbert, the author of that song, was himself of Scottish descent; and the composer, Arthur Sullivan, was an Irishman.

So, what is an Englishman? Racially, there isn't any such man. The British Isles, and England in particular, were invaded by wandering tribes from the East and the South before the Christian era. The Ancient Britons who resisted the Romans had probably driven more ancient tribal settlers into the Highlands of Scotland and the bogs and braes of Ireland. The Welsh were the last of the ancient inhabitants of England, and it was they who challenged the Roman legions under Julius Caesar. But they, in turn, were driven to the Cambrian hills in a series of invasions by the Danes, the Angles and the Saxons. Finally, William the Conqueror added his Normans to the mixture, and England has been a racial and tribal melting-pot ever since. And the amalgam that came out of the pot has proved its mettle in war and peace during the past four hundred years.

"BEST IN THE LONG RUN"

Discusses "The Art of Floral Arrangement"

(Text of an address presented and demonstrated by MRS. TRENHOLME BISHOP at the June meeting of the Lachute Women's Institute.)

As a nation we have recently become very much aware of the many benefits to be derived from a closer acquaintance with flowers; not only have we taken up the growing of flowers, but we have looked for ways to make them a part of home decoration.

The art of arranging flowers is founded on a re-creation, more or less conventional, of floral growth, and is based on line, rhythm and color. Westerners have always emphasized mass and color — dealing mainly with the blossoms, while the Japanese have developed their art to include stems, leaves and flowers, showing the whole character of the plant.

The Western and Japanese arrangements are not wholly interchangeable; what might be suitable for one room or type of room would be entirely out of place in another, although lately home designers and decorators are dispensing with many knicknacks and ornaments that are really of no use, and only confuse the eye and cause a feeling of restlessness. The modern homes and furniture in this country, with their simplified lines and paler colors, do lend themselves to some of the Japanese arrangements as well as the Western types of flower grouping.

I would like to consider the Western style first. There are those kinds of arrangements that might be termed "dainty". They give an appearance of lightness and fluffiness, pale colors with Gypsophilia, Lily of the Valley and pastel-colored grasses. Another kind of arrangement, which is much heavier, has the flowers closely massed and the colors and combinations of colors much more dominant.

Flowers have been used to decorate the home for many years, but I'm sure we always remember the living room with the tall glass or silver vase with a bunch of Carnations, Asparagus, or Roses and Baby's Breath placed about the room among the picture frames and ornaments. Now, however, we have learned that the more expensive florist's flowers are not the most easily arranged or the most effective.

The decorative quality should come first when choosing flowers, and the type and coloring of the room considered.

Decorations for a dinner table should be low, unite the table, be appropriate and beautiful. There are so many types of dinner tables and napery these days. There is dark polished wood; bleached or treated tables; lace and colored cloths, as well as the old fashioned damask. One thing to remember is that white flowers do not look well on a white damask cloth, but they are usually lovely on a dark table.

The colors used for a dinner table should compliment the ladies' dresses rather than clash with them. Pale pink table decorations are rather hard on the complexions of older men and women, but if the guests are to be all men, remember that they like bright centrepieces — especially yellow, reds or combinations of several gay flowers.

For the breakfast table an effect of freshness should be striven for. The containers should be of low glass or earthenware, with a simple arrangement of Pinks, Sweet William, Cornflower, etc; avoid heavy, clumsy arrangements.

Luncheon arrangements might be what we could call a happy medium. It is very difficult to give definite instructions for the various arrangements because everyone does not have access to the same flowers and as the season goes on, different arrangements become possible. Low oblong or round bowls, or flaring shallow dishes, are the easiest to use to get the low spreading effect that looks so well on the table.

The Mixed Bunch. — In preparing a large or small arrangement of mixed flowers, almost any combination may be used, including grasses; dried seed pods; fruits, and in some cases vegeables. It is very necessary to mix the flowers well, perhaps twelve different kinds, apart from variations of color and form. Look for some strong and bright colors, solid as well as slim flowers, heavy and light, long and short, but the must here is that there should be some massive ones which ought to be placed fairly low in the arrangements. Those of the same kind should not be dotted about throughout the bunch, but placed in clumps to emphasize color or form.

Then there is the Victorian form of a mixed bunch; close packed flowers arranged in bands of colors. Sometimes the flowers are wired and pushed into a cushion of moss; many of these effects are suitable for some of the present-day modern rooms.

White. — Now let us consider combinations of flowers of the same color. The different effects obtained by contrasting forms and textures are almost limitless. They look beautiful in rooms of delicate coloring and especially in a white room. (The feeling that white flowers are funereal is passing swiftly). I like to suggest an arrangement for May — wild Plum blossoms; white Tulips and Narcissus. June or July, white Delphinium; Shasta Daisies; white Astille, Snapdragon, or white Pupin and white Iris and white tall fluffy garden Heliotrope or Sweet Rocket. You will soon find some combinations of your own.

Red and Pink. — Red is sometimes considered a difficult color and many people immediately think of roses and carnations by themselves, but try the idea of mixing together scarlet, crimson, vermillion, rose and magenta, crude and strong shades of pink and reddish purple, and keep the leaves very much out of the picture.

August is a very good month for red flowers; there are Dahlias, Snapdragon, Phlox, Geraniums in scarlet flame and pink and Zinnias. The brilliant pink and magenta shades lighten up the whole group. These arrangements are excellent in a room with egg shell blue walls, or even in a red room. Red flowers of a magenta tone are good in a green room.

Yellow, Gold and Cream. — The combination of these colors stands out and brightens dark corners, or rooms that are on the dark side. They also are most effective in green rooms and those panelled in dark wood. In the spring a lovely combination of creamy and yellow Tulips and Hyacinths. Later, of course, a combination of Stocks, a creamy Fox Glove, yellow Lilies, creamy Roses and yellow Roses may be used.

Blue. — Somehow, I have always loved blue flowers, and outdoors with the sun shining, they are breathtaking, but unfortunately, in artificial light, some of them are apt to turn an uninteresting grey. Therefore, they are not very effective in dark rooms; however, they do look wonderful in white or cream rooms, pale green, grey or yellow rooms. A truly blue flower is hard to keep in the garden throughout the summer. The very best blues are Anchusa, Forget-Me-Not, Phlox and a few others. Delphinium blues range from a sky blue through the mauves to deep purple. Then there are the lovely mauves of Lilac, the deep rich purples of Pansies and Iris. There is a challenge in making a good arrangement with these colors and sometimes just one touch of some other color or material will lift the tone and give life to the arrangement.

An old oriental proverb reads as follows: "Customs and manners may differ, but the love of flowers is common to all people". According to tradition, the beginning of the art of flower arrangement dates from ancient India and China, where the Buddhist monks went out after the storms to gather the broken flowers and tried to prolong their life by placing them in jars of water. Buddhism was introduced in Japan in 553 A.D.; the monks brought this art with them and it developed gradually.

It became the duty of trained people to group flowers on the altars of the temples to beautify them, thus creating the first "Ikebana", or flower arrangement. Today, the art of flower arrangement is taught to all young Japanese women, as our young girls are taught music or art.

Each school divides its arrangements into two main groups. The classical and naturalistic. The classical is sub-divided into three main divisions. The first two are very elaborate and used in temples or mansions, but the third, "Seikwa", which is the most adaptable, is the one I should like to illustrate. It is divided into three groups, which we shall call formal; semi-formal and informal.

(The speaker here elaborated on the various arrangements in the Japanese trend, giving particular stress and illustration to the more practical forms for western adaptation.)

The Japanese do not have the same flowers and wealth of material which we do, and certainly make the most of what they have. It seems to me that a great difference exists, but all of us can see how they stress line, as compared to the arrangements that the Western world use. I like them both, but I think that we should arrange our flowers to suit our surroundings. Those of us who have modern furniture and colorings could very well try our hands at some of the Japanese arrangements and they would look suitable. Others of us would rather see more color in larger masses.

Teen-Agers and Money

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"Never ask of money spent,
Where the spender thinks it went.
Nobody was ever meant
To remember or invent
What he did with every cent."

Robert Frost, in "The Hardship of Accounting" was likely thinking of adults when he wrote these lines. But they apply just as well to adolescents. What teenage boy or girl, who has kept no record, can look back and give an accurate detailed account of what happened to a particular sum?

Long before they reach their teen years, a child should be taught to keep simple accounts. Often a boy embarking on a newspaper route, finds he must keep a written record of amounts paid or his money gets into a terrible tangle. Parents may be lenient about bookkeeping, but the circulation manager of any newspaper demands efficiency.

Delivering papers by boys and "baby-sitting" by girls are two of the commonest ways of making money. Parents should point out to their children the importance of doing a good job and rendering real service for money received.

At the same time, parents must watch that money-making activities do not interfere with studies. Getting an education is a boy's or girl's main job and school standing is important. Too late hours for girls "minding house" are a health hazard as well as a threat to schoolwork. Teen-agers who work in vacations and help pay for their clothes or their education, gain a new appreciation of the value of money.

The allowance for a teen-age member of the family should increase gradually until it covers most of his clothing bill. Adolescents have decided likes and dislikes in what they wear. They are apt to have expensive tastes unless they must limit their purchases within a definite price range. It is excellent preparation for adult living to discover what kind of material wears well and keeps its appearance.

When children know how the family income is spent, they are less apt to be very selfish in their demands. Dad's suit and mother's winter coat have to come out of the money set aside for clothing, as well as daughter's plaid skirt and son's sweater.

Boys and girls are interested in their parents' plan of saving through life insurance payments or other methods. They also respect a definite budget where givings to church and charitable causes are included. Their parents' example in sensible budgeting, and the happy feeling of having a part in the family money discussions have far more influence than unpalatable "good advice".

Saving, spending, earning, these are all functions of money. Boys and girls need practice in doing all three things. They learn from their failures, as well as their successes.

Mistakes in using a child's small allowance are not so costly as an adolescent's blunders. A boy or girl's "wasting" their earnings has not such serious consequences as a head of the house throwing away the family's pay cheque. Don't expect perfection, and do give that boy or girl of yours the opportunity to learn by experience how money should be used!

Highland Cadet Co'y In Unit Inspection

The cadets of "D" Co'y, Highland Cadet Battalion, went to Montreal recently to take part in the annual Inspection of the unit. Thirty cadets in all, under Lieut. G. Tabrett, were transported by army bus to the battalion headquarters in the Craig Street Drill Hall, where they were inspected by Lt.-Col. E. Bushell, Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel of the 37th Field Regt., Royal Canadian Artillery. (Because of the affiliation of the Highland Cadet Battalion with the 37th, Lt.-Col. Bushell is also Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel of the cadets). He was accompanied on the reviewing stand by Capt. C. Laurencelle, Cadet Training Officer of Quebec Command, and Maj. E. Sproston, Officer Commanding the Battalion. The parade was under the command of Lieut. Tabrett, with CSM B. Neill commanding "D" Coy. The Cadet Efficiency Medal for the outstanding cadet of the year was presented to Cpl. Jean Bevillard, of Brownsburg, and the Marksman's Trophy went to S/Sgt. Danny Cosgrove, of Montreal.

Following the Inspection the boys were given box lunches and soft drinks in the Drill Hall and allowed a little time of relaxation before embarking for the return journey. . . The cadets were afterwards thanked by Lieut. Tabrett for their good showing.

Young Brownsburg Couple United in Marriage

Martin - Gauley

St. George's Anglican Church, Brownsburg, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, June 2, when Lois Elizabeth Gertrude, twin daughter of Mr. Thos. Gauley and the late Mrs. Gauley, of Louisa, Que., became the bride of Mr. Vernon Paul Martin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Colin Martin, of Brownsburg. The Rev. C. R. Lang officiated at the double-ring ceremony, and Mrs. Norman Somers was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Jean Elliott as maid of honor, with Miss Lorna Gauley, her sister, as bridesmaid. Mr. Harold Hewitt acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Allan Gauley, brother of the bride, and Mr. Ronald Cumbers, cousin of the groom.

The bride wore a gown of white organza with fitted bodice, having a high pointed collar, finished with tiny covered buttons extending below the waist at the back, full skirt and long sleeves, ending in points over the hands. Her veil of tulle illusion was fingertip length, with wide border of lace, and was fitted to her head by a finely-pleated halo. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The attendants were dressed alike in frocks with brocaded bodice and full skirts of toning net, with mittens to match, wearing bandeaux of tiny flowers in their hair. Miss Elliott was in mauve, and Miss Gauley in Nile green. Both carried bouquets of yellow gladioli.

Mrs. Gauley, step-mother of the bride, wore a navy blue crepe dress with white trimming, natural straw hat, white accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Martin, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of ice blue nylon marquisette, embroidered in white, toning blue feather hat and accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

A reception followed in the church hall, where the bride's table was centred with a three-tired wedding cake. Later Mr. and Mrs. Martin left by motor for their wedding trip to Plattsburg, N.Y., Trenton, N.J., and other points, the bride travelling in a light blue gabardine suit, a pink hat and blouse and accessories, and wearing a corsage of pink roses. The couple will take up residence in Brownsburg.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. Marvin, Miss Lucy Morrison, Mrs. Jas. Reid and Mr. Donald Reid, all of Montreal; Mrs. Clifton Morrison, of St. Laurent; Mr. and Mrs. J. McLellan and son, David, Town of Mount Royal; the Misses Helen, Jean and Heather Stewart, Miss Agnes Noble, Miss Ida Portelance and Miss Jean Elliott, all of Toronto.

County Council, mayors of the Argenteuil Municipalities. Several government officials and deputies also were among the notables. . . The Hon. Jas. Gardiner, Federal Minister of Agriculture, is expected among the notable visitors on Thursday.

Lachute Spring Fair 1951 may truly be described as "bigger and better" than ever. Having acquired extra land, the midway now is concentrated east of the Main Building; thus there is more direct access from the livestock sheds to the show-ring. Implement, garage and car displays are grouped together just inside the large ring, while separate stalls of various exhibits line the outside of the race track.

In the Exhibition Building the Argenteuil County Women's Institutes have a splendid display of flowers, quilts, fancy work and home cooking. A similar display is sponsored by the Cercle des Fermières, Brownsburg. Worthy of mention are the paintings by H. J. Hammond, over 100 oil and water productions. (These are for sale, one half of all receipts being donated by Mr. Hammond to the Women's Institutes.)

On the grounds, the Lions Club is sponsoring its annual drawing for a Ford automobile and other prizes, while the Rotary Club of Brownsburg will send two lucky persons for a holiday in Bermuda, all for a mere trifle.

The log-sawing contest was held yesterday before the grandstand, attracting keen public interest. This was a unique innovation to the program. By way of grandstand entertainment there are several high-standard vaudeville acts presented afternoons and evenings, and the Ayers brass band is giving good service with musical interludes.

Big Entry List for Livestock Competitions

There are large entries in all livestock breeds and classes.

Ayrshires and Holsteins will be judged on Friday, heavy horses each day; Jerseys, French Canadians, Shorthorns, sheep, swine, poultry, on Thursday. There is horse racing on Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons and a horse show each evening. The junior show is on Saturday morning.

Legion Meeting Held

A general meeting was held by Branch No. 70 of the Canadian Legion (Lachute) last evening in the Memorial Hall.

Three new members were admitted into the branch and were duly initiated by President Comrade Carl Demerse.

A church parade will be held on Sunday, June 15, at St. Simeon's Anglican Church, Lachute, the parade forming up at the Legion Hall at 10.30 a.m. (Dress, berets and medals). An invitation is extended to any unaffiliated veteran to join in this parade and service. It was decided at this meeting that the parade would alternate between the different churches, thus next year the service would be held in a Catholic church.

Carl Demerse, Guy Rogers, and Erle McMartin attended sessions of the Provincial Command of the Legion, and a brief report was given of the proceedings.

In an endeavor to interest members in the social activities of the Legion, a cribbage tournament was arranged between Comrades Jim Duncan and Jim Coney, with a team of four players each. The match is to be held at the conclusion of the next general meeting.

Interesting Meeting of W.A. Branches Held Recently at Calumet

(Our District Correspondent)

Calumet — On Thursday evening a joint meeting of the Calumet, Kilmar and Grenville branches of the W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. T. H. Foreman, when 36 ladies were present. Mrs. Mabel E. Dickerson, president of Montreal Diocesan W.A., had kindly consented to be present and talk about the W.A. and its work in Canada. The Rev. P. R. Stote introduced and welcomed the guest speaker.

Mrs. Dickerson began by explaining that the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of England in Canada was started 66 years ago by Miss Roberta E. Tilton, who went to the U.S.A. and saw what they were doing there, then approached the House of Bishops to begin one in Canada. From the first seven members, the number now stands at 116,444.

The five aims of the W.A. are (1) to pray for, (2) to learn about, (3) to work for, (4) to give to, and (5) to interest others in the work of the church, here and everywhere.

Mrs. Dickerson, while stressing the spiritual side of the work of the W.A., also mentioned that it raised a pledge fund of $13,000 last year, besides its Dorcas work of supplying clothing for Eskimo and Indian children. Mrs. Dickerson also stressed the fact that the W.A. is solely responsible for the women and children's work in every mission. If it were not for the W.A., the Mission budget of the church would have to be increased by 47%. Other work of the W.A. included the United Thank-Offering, which is used for training missionaries and contributes to their pensions, and also bursaries for the education of clergy's daughters where necessary.

Mrs. Dickerson was thanked by Mrs. R. Pudden, president, Kilmar. Miss Pearl Dawson, the most recent Life Member in this district, expressed the thanks of the Grenville and Kilmar branches, for the invitation to attend.

Tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Foreman and Mrs. H. Druce, and the evening was brought to a pleasant close.

The marriage of Miss Violet Tomachevsky, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Tomachevsky, to Mr. Jos. H. Arthurs, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Arthurs, of Avoca, took place at 2.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Church of St. Andrew. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. S. J. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Mrs. Everiste Poulter as matron of honor.

The best man was Mr. Everiste Poulter, and the ushers were Mr. Wm. Tomachevsky, brother of the bride, and Mr. Samuel Bates.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with sheer yoke and tight-fitting bodice, the long fitted sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her three-quarter veil was of fine tulle caught in cap shape by orange blossoms. She carried a small bouquet of Sweetheart roses.

The matron of honor wore a floor-length dress of pale blue taffeta, tight-fitting bodice and long sleeves, with shoulder-length veil of pale blue tulle. She carried a bouquet of multi-colored sweet peas.

The bride's mother wore a beige suit with matching hat and blue accessories, and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother was in navy crepe with matching hat and a corsage of red roses.

After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which the newlywed couple left for a trip to Northern Ontario. On their return they will reside in Avoca.

Friends were present from Montreal, Grenville, Calumet, Harrington, Brownsburg, and from Newfoundland.

The program for the year was arranged at this meeting. One omission in the report of the Missionary Sectional meeting held in St. Mungo's Church recently, was that at that time Mrs. King was presented with a Missionary Life Membership, Mrs. W. Usher making the presentation. . . Just a few weeks previously both Mrs. King and Mrs. W. Canning were made County Life Members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union — the pins being presented by Mrs. A. Graham.

The senses of the people are being disturbed these days by visits by the Census takers!

Lamps

An old butter box can be quite easily turned into an excellent record holder — using thin plywood for the divisions, out of which half-circles are cut.
Attractive bases for lamps may be made from pieces of 2 x 2, 2 x 4, old bottles, crocks, chair legs, etc. — with shades of heavy parchment (or heavy wrapping paper, varnished), which can be laced with leather shoe laces or heavy colored parcel string.

Ice Cream Both Tasty And Nutritious

Ice cream is possibly our most versatile dessert. People used to think of ice cream as a special treat for parties but now it is recognized as a nutritious food for everyday meals. In Canada, the consumption of ice cream has tripled in the past ten years. As a matter of fact, last year, on an average Canadians ate about 15 pints each!

All ice cream sold commercially in Canada must be made according to definite standards. It must contain not less than 13 per cent by weight of milk fat, except that when fruits, nuts or confections are used in it, the content of milk fat may be less. However, it must be at least 11 per cent by weight of milk fat. It must also contain not less than 36 per cent by weight of food solids. By knowing that commercial ice cream is made according to these standards, home economists can work out how much nourishment, as well as enjoyment, one gets in a brick of ice cream or even a cone. If a pint brick of ice cream is divided into four, there is about the same number of calories in each serving as in a large glass of milk. Those who are counting calories, should not deprive themselves of ice cream because they think it is fattening.

Ice cream, that flavorful favorite, may be made in the family refrigerator without any difficulty. This is the basic recipe for making ice cream recommended by the home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa:

Basic Vanilla Ice Cream

2 Tablespoons of flour, ½ cup sugar, few grains of salt, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 1½ teaspoons vanilla ½ pint (1¼ cups) whipping cream, chilled.

Combine flour, sugar and salt. Mix to a smooth paste with ¼ cup of the milk. Add remaining milk. Cook in top of double boiler, stirring constantly, until thick, about ten minutes. Add a little of the hot mixture to the beaten egg and stir into the mixture in double boiler. Add vanilla. Cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Chill. Whip cream and fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until firm, about two hours.

From this basic recipe many interesting variations of ice cream may be prepared.

Fruit ice cream: Add to basic recipe: (1) ½ cup sweetened strawberry, raspberry or crushed peach pulp and juice. (2) 1 cup crushed pineapple, drained. (3) ½ cup crushed pineapple, drained, and ⅓ cup finely chopped maraschino cherries.

Butterscotch ice cream: Melt 2 tablespoons butter; add ¾ cup brown sugar and cook 1 minute. Omit other sugar in basic recipe.

Maple Walnut ice cream: Replace the sugar in the basic recipe with ½ cup maple syrup and ½ cup chopped walnuts.

Chocolate-Chip ice cream: Add ½ cup chopped semi-sweet chocolate to basic recipe.

Chocolate ice cream: Melt 1½ ounces unsweetened chocolate over hot water; add 3 tablespoons hot water and stir until smooth. Add to basic recipe.

By the way, the plentiful Canadian fruits and vegetables for June are asparagus, spinach, lettuce, green onions and strawberries. Plan to use these foods now.

Royal Needlework on Exhibition

Beautiful needlework of many centuries is shown at the needlework exhibition organized by the Royal School of Needlework at St. James's Palace, London, which was opened by Queen Mary recently. . . Among the historic examples are the Coronation robes worn by Queen Mary and the late King George V. Other royal exhibits include a three-fold screen in wool on canvas, and a carpet with floral sprays embroidered with a blue background, the work of Queen Mary, and the banner of the Sovereign of the Order of the Garter, worked by the Royal School of Needlework and lent by His Majesty the King. . . This picture shows Queen Mary standing by some of her own work on show at the recent Exhibition.

Says Career Girl Smart Decorator

Regina (CP) — Career girls live smartly because they are business women, said Miss Margaret Messer in a talk on interior decorating problems of business girls living in small apartments. She said convenience as well as smartness is the keynote of the career girl's home decorating.

The one-room apartment needed ingenuity to create unity. Cupboards should be carefully planned. Unity could be achieved by refinishing old furniture pieces, or shortening their legs to bring them to a uniform height.

Miss Messer emphasized the value of the trial-and-error method in home decorating. Paint could be tried out on pieces of cardboard pinned to the wall. Swatches of drapery or upholstery material could be tried out against it for effect.

In small homes or apartments, color harmony could unite a conglomeration of textures, patterns and furniture. It could be also used to give unity to adjoining rooms by varying the dominant color and repeating a key color. Various shades made rooms look larger or smaller, warmer or cooler.

Active B.C. Woman Runs Own Business

Kimberley, B.C. (CP) — Until 10 years ago Mrs. M. C. Slade hadn't ventured into the business world even to the extent of making out a deposit slip.

But today she's running a stationery business and a daily "news bulletin" with a circulation of 2,250.

She says that any woman who ventures into business has a pretty tough row to hoe because men are tough competitors. "The average man looks down on women in business", says Mrs. Slade, who employs both men and women.

"They have a happy knack of trying to make you look small. But when you break through that barrier you find that men are much easier to deal with than women."

Mrs. Slade came to Kimberley in 1925 to visit a friend and decided to stay because there was work here and a crop failure at home, in Bow Island, Alta.

She took over the daily bulletin — it comes out daily except Saturday and Sunday with up to 14 sheets — when her husband went overseas in the last war. It is distributed in Kimberley and district.

THAT'S CO-OPERATION!

When fire swept the recreational hall of a Synogogue in Moncton, N.B., recently and deprived the Tiferes Israel Wolf Cub Pack of a meeting place, the Cubs of St. Bernard's Pack offered to help. Until the Synogogue hall is renovated, the Hebrew Cubs are meeting with the St. Bernard's Pack.

FASHION HINT

Fluffy, downy lightweight woollens have plenty of outings these days, and indeed are ready for good summer travel and vacation wear. Pale blue, lightweight fleece has been made up into a very full coat with sleeves cut in one with the shoulders. A border of blue and beige checked woollen goes all the way down the front from the perky pointed collar. There are matching checked wool cuffs. This is ideal for shipboard wear and a good casual for town or country.

There are now over 270 film libraries in Canada, where only 44 existed at the end of World War II.

ADVERTISING HELPS

Vulcan, Alta. (CP) — The board of trade is obtaining gummed stickers, to be distributed to motorists for pasting on car windows as a means of publicizing the Vulcan district.

Angry Motorist: "Say, this car you sold me won't climb a hill. You swore up and down it was a good car."

Salesman: "I didn't swear up and down. I said on the level it was a good car."

Grenville Consolidated School News

By Willis Young

Once again plans are under way for the School Fair, to be held in September. We expect this fair to be bigger and better — as chickens, as well as quite a number of seeds, were distributed this year. These, no doubt, will be exhibited in the fall.

The pupils bid farewell to two members of the staff this year. Mrs. Wm. Andrew, of Avoca, is relinquishing her teaching duties, and Mr. H. H. Mackrith is going to assume the position of French Specialist on the staff of the Arvida High School.

It is hard to realize that another year has slipped by, and that we are on the verge of another "Examination Week". Good luck to everyone!

Copies of the Lachute "Lampada" were recently distributed in the school; there were not sufficient to meet demands.

We regret the misfortune suffered by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oswic, of Grenville, whose garage, containing a number of valuable articles including a '50 Ford, was the scene of a fire recently.

The school recently received a visit from Police Chief D. Villeneuve and Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon, of Lachute, who gave the children a very profitable talk on the prevention of fire.

Bernard & Barry Shows Offer Wide Variety and Specialties for Kiddies

The Bernard & Barry Shows, of Toronto, arrived here Monday at 4 a.m., coming from Hamilton, Ont., where they closed on Saturday night. The special train consisted of some 27 box, flat and coach cars, and besides, several trucks and cars that travelled by highway over the week-end.

Some of the unloading was done on Monday, but the majority was started at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning and the show in its entirety was open at 7 o'clock that same night — which was pretty good going, considering the size of the show and number of concessions.

Among the many rides are the good old reliables such as the Merry-Go-Round, Ferris Wheel and Tilt-A-Whirl, without which no fair is complete. Then there are the New 1951 Looper, the Little Dipper (a small portable roller-coaster), the new 1951 Octopus Ride, the Flying Scooters for those who love flying. Then for the children there are many various attractions, such as kiddies' airplanes, automobiles, a brand new boat-ride, and kiddies' fire engine complete with ladders, hose, siren, bell, etc.

The Bernard & Barry Shows also offer a great variety of sideshows including — Monkey Town, with some 30 monkeys going through their paces on tightropes, see-saws, pole climbing, etc.; Monkey Motor-Drome, where the monkeys drive miniature automobiles at breakneck speed up and down steep walls and around the concession; a Snake Show, with a great many snakes from all parts of the world, as well as a Wild Life show with all types of birds and animals. . . "Creation" is a show for the adults only and very educational. There is also a Fun House with lots of laughs for young and old.

One of the feature attractions of the Bernard & Barry Shows is the "Broadway Revue of 1951", with a galaxy of dancing stars from all parts of the U.S.A. and Canada, and well worth seeing.

All kinds of games are featured for everybody's entertainment, and it will be well worth your while to pay a visit to one of the finest midways ever presented at the Lachute Spring Fair.

These Hurried Times

If you are one of those who use your car with disrespect, treating it merely as a conveyance to go places, to haul the kids and the kitchen stove to heaven-knows-where . . .

AT LEAST you can give it the essentials of mechanical supervision — attention to tires, brakes, steering, cooling system, battery — and MOST essential, lubrication.

LACHUTE FAIR IN REVIEW -- PAST WEEK RECORDS ANOTHER TRIUMPH

Weather Only Factor Detracting From All-Time Peak Performance

Livestock Entries Notably Higher This Year

After the first favors of the weatherman last Wednesday, when rain set in shortly after the opening ceremonies prospects looked none too bright for the Lachute Spring Fair. Cool temperatures and intermittent rain continued through Thursday — interfering with the entertainment, delaying the livestock judging, reducing the crowd to a minimum, and generally dampening the spirits of all concerned.

Friday noon was the turning point, with brighter weather and an influx of visitors which increased till the climax late Saturday. Improved weather conditions saved the day, and made the 1951 Spring Fair another notable success, to add to the long history of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society. To the president, Clement Tremblay, O.B.E., to the manager, Sydney G. Patterson, and to the directors and committee chairmen, the outcome was generally satisfactory. The success of the Fair well justified its auspicious opening, at which Premier Maurice Duplessis officiated in the presence of many notable visitors — and altogether the efforts of the directorate were well repaid.

If You Like Figures —

Despite unfavorable weather, public admissions were the second highest on record—roughly 21,000 (similar to 1949), which was exceeded only by the all-time high of 25,000 in 1948. Attendance both on the opening and the closing day were actually the highest on record. However, a comparison between Thursday's admissions (1,099) with those of 1948 (6,994), shows how emphatically the rainfall detracted from this year's attendance.

A Well Balanced Show

Lachute Spring Fair may be rated this year as a better balanced show than those of the recent trend. There was greater attention to all-round entertainment — to satisfy the many who had no all-absorbing interest in one particular breed of cattle, in the light horse events, or in theatrical amusement. There was something for everybody — and whether in livestock, in vaudeville, or in handicraft and industry, it was generally speaking of the best. The horse-racing fell short of expectations through intervention of wet weather, which reduced the racing program from three afternoons to only one (Saturday).

The music, dancing and acrobatic turns were excellent. The Barnard & Barry Shows gave a variety fare in the midway such as Lachute had not seen for many years — in addition to which several of the trade exhibitors added a quota of lighter entertainment for the public.

The horse show was outstanding; applause which greeted the various events testified to the grandstand approval. The livestock and poultry contests attracted many newcomers. Though the exhibitor list remained little changed from last year, the number of animals showed a notable increase.

The heavy draft and agricultural horses again made a stately showing in the ring. Coming from all over, some of the classes were quite numerous, and the judges commented highly on the general quality.

The juvenile livestock show and judging was one of the biggest events yet, in the history of this show. Boys and girls from district and distant points in Quebec took part, with some from neighboring Ontario. There were as many as 153 entrants in a class judging Ayrshires and Holsteins.

The Ayrshire exhibits were considerably more numerous this year. Holsteins were slightly lower in number than in 1950. . . There is an interesting story in Jim Dorion's Ayrshire entry, which won first in bull calf and also junior male championship. This animal is a son of the heifer young Dorion won two years ago in an Ayrshire drawing; the bull calf was sired by Jack Black's "Smithston Ivanhoe".

The industrial shows merit special mention. Many local farm machinery and auto dealers arranged excellent shows, while there were booths or trailers featuring dairy equipment, domestic cooking and refrigeration, home accessories, a Department of Agriculture display, and so forth. Shell Oil Co'y presented their theatrical marionettes, while Canadian International Paper Company showed films on forestry and conservation. (The other industrial displays were too many to enumerate).

Main Building Has Attractions

The Exhibition Building held much of interest, especially to local fair-goers. The Women's Institute; Cercle des Fermières (Brownsburg), Students' Handicrafts, and Art displays, included exhibits of highly creditable work. The X-ray clinic operated by Argenteuil Health Unit was a hive of activity, while the Department of Labor had a projector and booth dealing with employment facilities.

A log-sawing contest before the grandstand on the opening day commanded keen attention. The winners of this event, and some of the more notable livestock prize-winners are listed herewith:

Morrisburg To Be A Thriving Port

—Central Press Canadian

The 2,000 residents of Morrisburg, Ont., expect to become "seaway refugees" when the St. Lawrence project goes through. Although the townspeople face losing their homes, they stand to benefit in the end, as Morrisburg will eventually become the port for Ottawa. The backed-up river is expected to create a natural harbor, and ships which now unload cargoes at Montreal will unload at Morrisburg in the future. The International Rapids, shown above in background, which extends from Morrisburg to Cornwall, will be flooded out by the seaway. In the foreground is the present all-Canada waterway, built nearly a century ago.

Quebec Province Crop Outlook Generally Good

"THE WEEK IN QUEBEC"
By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, June 19 (CP) — The Quebec Bureau of Statistics has reported a generally good outlook for 1951 in its second of seven telegraphic reports on crop conditions.

Weather has benefitted all crops although growth of cereals was delayed by cool night temperatures in some districts.

With possible exceptions in localities south of Montreal the hay crop promises to be abundant.

Field crop specialists have been sent to investigate cause of poor production in some counties for the past three years. No apparent reason has been noticed and specialists will try to determine if some unknown disease is at work in these areas. The counties were not identified.

Milk is plentiful everywhere except in Abitibi, where there are complaints of drought and poor pasturage conditions.

Potato, tobacco and other industrial crops are coming along normally. Orchards and vegetable gardens are in better than average condition.

The report, prepared from information sent by observers in farming districts throughout the province, said early insects are "very active" this spring. Tent caterpillars, forest tent caterpillars and grasshoppers, the latter being especially active in Champlain county, are responsible for some damage.

Completion of a highway running north-south across the Gaspé Peninsula interior will speed up development of the area described as vitally important in wartime by Premier Duplessis.

The Premier told his weekly press conference that the wild Gaspé interior held a wartime danger if left undeveloped. It would be open to easy penetration by spies and could possibly be used as a radio transmission point.

But the highway will help eliminate this danger and contribute to the development of Gaspe's copper and zinc deposits.

The highway, now little more than a rough road, will link the Baie des Chaleurs shore to the St. Lawrence River shore. Industrially, the premier said, the Gaspé Peninsula will benefit from the mining developments.

REGISTRY TO CURB MAGAZINE SALESMEN

Toronto (CP) — You won't be bothered with magazine salesmen working their way through college any more. Not, that is, if the C.C.R.S.R. has anything to do with it.

The Canadian Central Registry of Subscription Representatives, established a year ago by a group of Canadian and American publishers and subscription agencies, is out to stop all high-pressure and sympathy-seeking magazine salesmen. Members of the central registry whose salesmen get out of line are subject to anywhere up to a $500 fine and expulsion from the registry.

The registry, besides trying to stamp out magazine selling in lobbies and corridors, use of misleading statements and canvasses, and personal sympathy seekers, help to gather evidence on magazine frauds.

Eight U.S. publishers, selling in Canada, five Canadian publishers, and 11 Canadian subscription agencies belong to the registry which is headed by J. R. Sarney.

Chess is one of the oldest games known to man.

Premier Acknowledges Lachute's Hospitality

Mr. Clément Tremblay, O.B.E., president of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, received the following letter from Premier Maurice Duplessis following his recent visit to the Exhibition:

Quebec, June 14, 1951

Dear Mr. President:

On my return to Quebec this morning, I hasten to thank you and to thank the members of your important Agricultural Society for the many kind courtesies extended to me yesterday at Lachute.

To one and all, my deep appreciation, my friendly greetings and my best wishes.

— M. L. Duplessis

Cher monsieur Tremblay,

Dès mon retour à Québec, je m'empresse de vous remercier pour les aimables et nombreuses courtoisies dont vous et les membres de votre importante Société d'Agriculture, avez bien voulu me gratifier, à l'occasion de l'ouverture de votre magnifique et remarquable Exposition.

Merci, amical salut et meilleurs souhaits renouvelés.

Agronomes to Study Dairy Industry at Montreal Convention

More than one thousand Quebec agronomes have been called to discuss problems related to the Dairy Industry July 3, 4 and 5 in Montreal. The annual convention of La Corporation des Agronomes will provide an opportunity to study one important aspect of the work of their profession.

The agronome must combine the skills and knowledge of the naturalist, engineer, technician and economist at one and the same time. He must lend himself to the delicate task of adapting new scientific knowledge in agriculture to land and to the men who are responsible for farming that land. The agronome therefore carries a considerable responsibility; one that calls for continuous study in practice and theory, in deciding when new practices should be recommended locally.

The forthcoming convention, therefore, will apply itself particularly to economic and technical questions related to production and marketing of dairy products, to reviewing new developments here and abroad, and to assessing the value of these innovations to the climate, geography and customs of Quebec.

There is now a passenger car operating on Canadian highways for every 7.6 Canadians.

16 Years Rector of Lakefield Parish

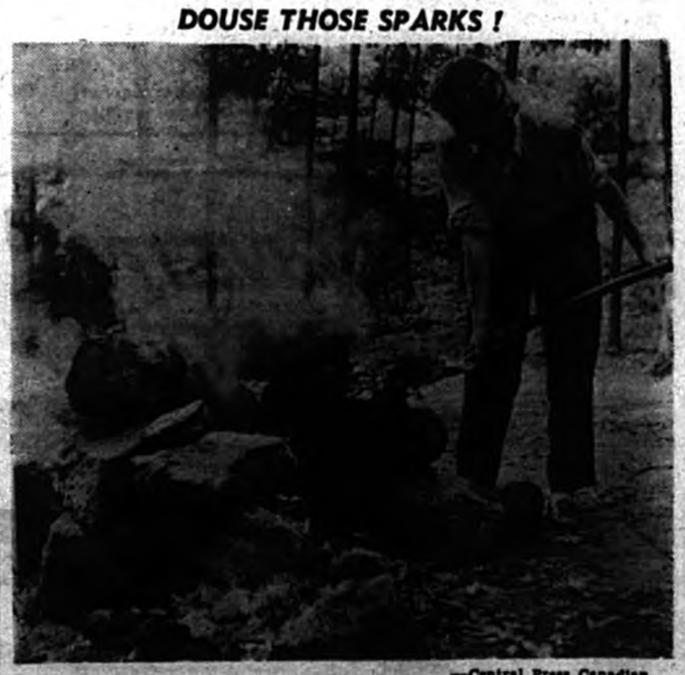

The Rev. C. W. P. Baugh, rector of Lakefield and Rural Dean of St. Andrews, who reached the 16th anniversary of his incumbency in Lakefield on June 15. Coming to Lakefield from Papineauville he has been influential in this community in many respects, not only in church affairs but also in educational and other fields.

Presently in his 79th year, Rural Dean Baugh has held many charges during his ministerial experience. For several years he was at Thorne and Leslie Parish; in October 1910 he moved to Arundel, where he remained for nine years. After leaving there he became rector of Saint Cuthbert's Church in Park Extension, after which he moved to Papineauville. In 1924 he became rector of Valleyfield. From 1928 to 1932 he was at Morin Heights and Mille Isles; 1932-1935, Papineauville. Following the loss of his home by fire in Papineauville, he came to Lakefield, where he planned to stay one year.

Lions' Auto Goes to Deserving Winner, Victor Stubbs C.P.R. Yards Employee

On Saturday, concluding day of the Exhibition, one of the highlights at the Fair Grounds was the Lions Club drawing — terminating this fifth annual effort which has now come to be recognized as a community affair.

A large, hopeful and expectant crowd was on hand to witness the event, and the appreciation of the Lions Club for the public support was voiced on the loudspeaker system by Leopold Carrière, chairman of the drawing, and President Horace Lamarche. Present on the platform were Clement Tremblay, O.B.E., president of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., and Mayor James W. McGibbon, who respectively drew the tickets for the first, second and third prizes. These were won as follows:

Ford Custom Sedan: Victor Stubbs, 2062 Hamilton Ave., Montreal. Ticket sold by Rolland Scott (winner of $100 cash).

Frigidaire Refrigerator: Philippe St. Aubin, 5232 Brodeur Ave., N.D.G. Ticket sold by S. Stewart (winner of $25 cash).

Mantel Radio: Felicien Lamarche, Lachute. Ticket sold by Yves Lamarche (winner of $5 cash).

Victor Stubbs was present on the grounds and appeared on the platform after being advised of his good fortune. He stated he intended to keep the new Ford car and to sell his present car. Mr. Stubbs is known to many in these parts; he is a native and related in the district of Lakefield and Shrewsbury. A working man, he is employed at the C.P.R. Glen Yards in Montreal.

President H. Lamarche warmly congratulated the winner, and also voiced the Lions' appreciation to the lady helpers, to the members of the farming community, who had contributed $1,000 in ticket sales, and to those who had supplied the various prizes at cost price, namely, Geo. Y. Deacon, J. W. Lefebvre Ltd., and Lamarche Furniture Store. The Lions Club, stated President Lamarche, had spent over $7,000 last year in welfare and community betterment projects for Lachute.

Anyone wishing to participate, please phone J. G. Dupré (tel. 21) St. Andrews East, for information.

Demonstration of Forestry Methods

A practical demonstration in woodlot management, and visible proof that return of more than $90 can be obtained on a half acre of woodland in a clearing operation alone, was given Tuesday by a group of trained foresters to members of the Farmers' Club of Montreal.

The demonstration was held on Netherdale Farm, owned by W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., and was directed by M. R. Wilson, extension forester of the Canadian International Paper Company, as part of an educational campaign launched by that company to foster better management of farm woodlots in the province.

A crew of men, working with a power driven saw, cut wood with a net profit of $92.65 on one half acre, "while actually improving the value of the forest", Mr. Wilson said. "Not only was the clearing operation profitable in itself, but we gave air and light for the younger trees to grow."

Roch Delisle, chief forestry engineer of the Department of Lands and Forests, said that advice on forestry was available to all in Quebec, and that seedlings for planting could be obtained free of charge, following inspection of the land to be reforested, by Government experts.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of H. B. Norris, of Montreal and Hudson Heights, president of the Farmers' Club of Montreal.

Brother, Sister in Story-Book Reunion; Lost Trace of Each Other for 52 Years

Visiting in Lachute this week were a brother and sister with a strange family history, and the story of a renunion after 52 years' separation. The couple are Mr. Alfred Ricard-Davis (who was here with his wife from Forestville, Conn.) and his long-lost sister, Mrs. Grover Jones, of Montreal.

It all began in the State of New Hampshire when their parents separated — the father a French-Canadian and the mother a Parisian. By court order, the father was given custody of his four-year-old daughter, Blanche, while the mother was given the guardianship of their son, Alfred William, aged seven. They were both placed in an orphanage — the same orphanage, in Burlington, Vt. The brother was taken from the institution in care of his mother four months later. His mother remarried, and Alfred grew up to pursue a useful career, being now a civic officer of his township in Connecticut. He was always obsessed with the idea of finding his sister, of whom he had lost all trace, and he came to Canada periodically on his vacations to follow up meagre clues.

It was the sister, Blanche Ricard, who came to be associated with these parts. A Lachute man, Harry Todd, employed at the orphanage in Burlington, knew that certain neighbors here, the late Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Armstrong, needed a girl. He informed the orphanage authorities, and Blanche at the age of 12, was sent here to the Armstrong home in Hill Foot. She later married William White, of Upper Lachute. Her husband died and she was married again, to Grover Jones, a trainman who worked on the Lachute C.P.R. run, and is now retired. They reside in Montreal — and it was there that Mr. Ricard-Davis found his sister last Monday after persistent efforts over a long period of years.

Visiting in Lachute on Tuesday, he was asked half seriously if he would have recognized his sister, whom he had not seen for 52 years. The answer was an emphatic yes, and he produced a picture of his mother, which showed a resemblance that could not be mistaken.

Mrs. Grover Jones is returning with her brother and sister-in-law to visit at their home in Connecticut.

Ralph FitzGerald Takes Office as Lions' President

Closing meeting of the Lions Club's social season was a "ladies' night" held Tuesday at the Legion Hall, at which there was an attendance of 82 members and guests.

Under the able chairmanship of President Horace Lamarche, general business included the awarding of attendance prizes, and a handsome trophy, to Stanley Church and his team; also International lapel-buttons to several "100 percenters". The average attendance this year had been 75.3%, compared with 49% in the previous year, according to a report given by Ian Gordon.

Chairman Leopold Carrière and Manager Roger Legault gave a highly encouraging report on the car raffle, showing net proceeds of $3,214 to be spent on community works. Police Chief Donat Villeneuve, top-ranking salesman, was awarded a prize from the president, and Roland Scott, salesman of the winning ticket, was presented with a cheque of $100.

Other tokens were given to Lions who had enlisted new members during the year, and a handsome tea service was presented to Lion Jos. Dumais in appreciation of his services as secretary.

International Councillor J. S. Giles was honored as "Lion of the Day", when Lion Phil Roy presented his life story. As a raw emigrant, Mr. Giles had come to Canada and encountered hardships, which he surmounted to achieve success in business and pre-eminence in community life. He had served in the offices of many organizations, both local and national; and as publisher of The Watchman, he had initiated patriotic endeavors and lent support to numerous good causes. "May divine providence keep you with us for many years", concluded Lion Phil Roy.

Lion Horace Lamarche reviewed the past year in his presidential role. The financial attainments of the club, and the outlays for many worthwhile projects, made a gratifying story — one which had entailed arduous work but the warmest satisfaction. . . Lion Ralph FitzGerald, in entering the new term of presidency, paid cordial tribute to the work of the outgoing officers. (Mr. FitzGerald, incidentally, is one of three brothers to have served as Lions Club presidents).

Fernand Legault, who also welcomed the ladies and guests, voiced a hearty vote of thanks to President Horace Lamarche and the retiring officers, in conclusion of the proceedings.

Activities of the Lions Club continue through the summer months, although the general social gatherings are now suspended until September.

Gatineau LINES

What Would You Say?

Numbered among the 66,000 customers of Gatineau Power are thousands of farmers, many of them living in areas where electrical living is becoming possible for the first time. It is probably not surprising, therefore, that the power company is often asked: "After the lights what next? What do you think would be the most useful electrical appliances for us?"

That is a tough question to answer because the needs of every household are different. As a general guide, however, we suggest the following for the information of those rural customers who are interested — and possibly for the comment of those other customers who, through long association with electricity, have developed ideas of their own on the subject.

Probably the first appliance would be an electric iron, for certainly no home equipped with electricity goes long without one. It is an inexpensive item, it is a boon to the housewife and it saves hot kitchens in the summer when otherwise the range would have to be on.

Second on our list would be a washing machine. It saves a tedious job possibly several times a week. It washes, rinses and wrings the family wash with the smallest amount of toil on the part of the housewife.

Then there is a radio, probably the most generally popular of all appliances. The radio brings enjoyment to the whole family — and it also brings the farmer weather reports, up-to-date market reports and worthwhile farm forum programs.

We think a water pump rates the next spot on the farmer's list. Quite aside from the work it saves, there is a strict dollars-and-cents reason for the water pump. Cows with plenty of fresh water give 10 per cent more milk, hogs show a weight increase up to 12 per cent, and so on.

Next we would place the electric refrigerator. Without it, the farmer has to harvest ice in the winter, store it, cut it, wash it off and carry it into the house every day. With refrigeration, all this is done away with and food is kept in better condition.

After that, the list is virtually endless, but we rather feel that the five things listed above probably would come first in most cases. What would you say?

DID YOU KNOW?

The average farm served by Gatineau Power now uses almost three times as much electric power as it did in 1939.

Household Insects

Good housekeeping and long-lasting, residual insecticides are the best protection against damage from clothes moths and carpet beetles.

Both these insects attack woollen goods and other fabrics of animal origin, but it appears carpet beetles may be the most injurious under Canadian conditions.

Good housekeeping practices should include the use of a vacuum cleaner on rugs, upholstered furniture, and cracks in flooring. Insecticides, such as five per cent DDT, applied in a coarse spray or by means of a paint brush, will provide protection for several months.

Mothballs and napthalene flakes are not repellents, so are effective only when confined with woollens in a tightly-closed, practically air-tight space where their vapours will be retained. The average clothes closet will not retain their vapours sufficiently.

Underground Silo Farm Experiment

Lindsay, Ont. (CP) — Farmers in this district are interestedly watching an experiment underway on the farm of Alvin Beggs, near Sunderland.

Mr. Beggs, with the assistance of Veterans' Land Act officials, has just completed a new style silo on his farm. Instead of the conventional towering type, his is entirely underground and built in the form of a trench.

It may be adopted as standard equipment on V.L.A. projects and influence the trend of silo building everywhere since it costs much less than the old type silo.

However, the new silo has one great disadvantage. Its contents must be hauled to a level with the floor of a barn or stable if it is to be used effectively. Mr. Beggs' silo is satisfactory because it is level with his barn, which was built on a hill.

The Way of Our Life

(Lethbridge Herald)

Man, on this continent is getting farther and farther away from the basics of his existence — the food, clothing and shelter which every Indian could provide for himself in the days before the white man came.

Here in Canada we are down to some 25 per cent of the people on the land; in U.S. it is less than 20 per cent. It is not so many years ago that nine of 10 families on this continent lived on the land, producing their own food, their own fibre for clothing, and their own shelter.

Today we are going all out for shorter hours — and we are grumbling harder and harder about the cost of food and the cost of clothing and housing while forgetting, like the gulls, more and more about producing them for ourselves.

In this complex society, we are building up, isn't there just a chance that we're going too far in expecting someone else to do for us what we should do for ourselves, or at least know how to do for ourselves?

Costs, Forage Harvesting And Hay Baling

Ottawa — Power take-off forage harvesters and pick-up hay-balers cut time and labour requirements. But, they are a good investment for farmers only if their operational life can be extended to 2,000 hours.

Those are the conclusions reported by D. A. Brown of the Experimental Farm at Brandon, Man., following tests on the two types of machine.

Cost of operating the power take-off forage harvester, initial cost of which was $1,250, was 98 cents a ton for green corn. Cost of operating the harvester, plus cost of tractor and operator was $1.32 a ton.

It cost $1.70 a ton to bale hay with the automatic pick-up hay baler, which had an initial cost of $1,980. Total cost per ton of baler, tractor and operator was $2.74.

To get profitable returns on the capital expended, the average operational span for the forage harvester should be from 100 to 120 hours a year and for the automatic hay baler from 140 to 170 hours a year, Mr. Brown says.

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

125th Annual

ONE HUNDRED and twenty-five years — brings Argenteuil to a stage of agricultural advancement which would have been scarcely imaginable those many years ago. As a concrete illustration, one has only to take a glimpse at the primitive devices now reposing in the Carillon Museum, relics of our forbears' tussle with the soil, and compare them with the modern forage harvesters, hay balers and mechanical combines now to be seen on farms within a scant half mile of that spot.

The Argenteuil Agricultural Society and its predecessor, the County of York Agricultural Society, date back a century and a quarter, and the Exhibition here last week is termed the 125th annual — which may be the general conception, but is not perhaps literally correct. (We recall, for instance, that in latter times the show was suspended one year due to wartime stringencies). Nor was the Society's show originally a spring fair. Memory still paints a vivid picture of Lachute's autumn fair, with its contests for field and dairy products — grains, roots, vegetables, butter, cheese — and the pick of Grandmother's preserves — pickles, jams and jellies glowing red. The coming of the spring fair eliminated these luscious exhibits. They vanished — until the domestic touch was revived again with the Women's Institutes' displays of handiwork. And this year we have seen this wholesome competition stressed still further, with the inclusion of juvenile handicrafts and other interesting displays.

The story of Lachute Fair, from past memories to the flourishing present, would fill a book. But it is our purpose here to note how this demonstration of rural initiative has kept well astride with agricultural progress (that phenomenon which prompted our opening comment). Farm mechanization, scientific field and dairy production, and discriminate livestock breeding — all are unmistakably evident in the atmosphere and exhibits at our fair. And progressing steadily, through grit and determination, sometimes through conflict and disagreement — it is to the supreme credit of our Agricultural Society, its past and present directors, that Lachute Spring Fair today ranks topmost among the rural shows of Eastern Canada.

THE HOMETOWN boys and girls who made good are not all away some place. A good many of them are right here now doing a real work in bettering their community, and lots more of them will be here in future generations, we sincerely hope. — The foregoing, from The Tribune at Campbellton, N.B., is happily true of most Canadian centres, which largely have 'local initiative' to thank for the progress which keeps them thriving.

Examination Time

SCHOOLDAYS and their recollections have a nostalgic ring for most grownups. But this is one time of the year when the oldster with a fair recollection of the so-called "carefree" days of youth should hesitate before pining for return of his schooldays. — It's examination time — one of the more worrisome annual periods of growing up!

The question often arises as to whether examinations are good or bad. A closer look, however, might reveal that the basic value of examinations isn't the most important thing.

For instance, has anyone ever thought of the impact of the timing of the final exams? They're held at a time of the year when fishing, baseball or just plain loafing are uppermost in the minds of most children. The weather is usually perfect, as far as the youngsters are concerned, for doing anything except sitting inside a classroom tackling questions on the studies of almost 10 months.

It makes one wonder whether a student with a normal attitude toward spring can give his best at a final exam upon which often hangs his chances for a scholarship, at one extreme, and "passing" at the other.

In recent years, schools have in many cases relaxed the requirements necessary to be promoted without trying final exams. That may be an answer to the question. If a student knows he will have to try finals unless he gets good term marks, he's more likely to make an effort all through the year.

But, then again, if he's among the group which regularly squeezes through, barely above the passing mark, despite wholesale study, he's stuck with final exam time. And about the only consolation for this class of student — good enough to pass but not good enough to get by without trying finals — is the eventual joy of summer vacation freedom, possibly made a little sweeter by the extra hours of indoor toil.

THE Governor-General hit the ball squarely down the fairway in a recent speech when he highlighted the shortage of Canadians in this country. Viscount Alexander was talking about quantity, and it's obvious we could use many more Canadians. But another consideration is quality. Canada doesn't need just more people. It needs self-reliant, industrious, ambitious people — observes the Elmwood (Man.) Herald.

THE exclamation point is gradually going out of use. People aren't surprised at anything any more (!).

IN THESE days of uncertainties the only things you can count on are your fingers.

"THINGS AN' STUFF"

JOYS OF JUNE

Each dawn I lie awake in bed
With buzzing 'skeeters, round my head,
Beneath the bedclothes' folds I shrink
But they won't let me sleep a wink.
After a while I give up hope
And rise to coat myself with dope.
I stand and wonder more and more
What those pests were created for.

Mosquitoes are obnoxious creatures
Devoid of all redeeming features.
The males, they say, are vegetarian,
Why is each female a barbarian?
A little fiend with eager jaws
Equipped with ice-cream-soda straws
With which to suck the blood of man
Who struggles on as best he can.

Though blackflies, too, are quite a pest,
At least they take a good night's rest.
Mosquitoes run an all-night service —
No wonder that I'm thin and nervous!
No wonder that I'm acting queer—
Look at that lump behind my ear!
But when next Winter's storms attack
I'm sure to wish the 'skeets were back.

CIRCUS DAY

Whene'er the Circus comes to town you'll always find me there, imbibing pale-pink lemonade beneath the lantern's flare, or feeding ponderous pachyderms with peanuts, shells and all, until it's time to grab a seat before the bugles call. 'Tis then the grand procession starts — a colorful display with horses, camels, elephants bedecked in bright array. A galaxy of Big Top stars in pink or purple tights — trapeze performers — acrobats — transfixed in blazing lights. I sit there spellbound, wondering what the next turn will be, and watch the faces of the kids that sit 'longside of me. Though perching on a six-inch plank, enduring aches and pains, I always wait until I'm sure no other act remains. Then, when the crowd is filing out and headed for the town, I always stick around a while to watch 'em tearin' down. An hour later all have gone except the vacant lot with sawdust, tanbark, paper bags to mark the happy spot.

Whene'er the Circus comes to town you'll always find me there if I've a grandson old enough to push my rolling chair!

Plant Closing For Vacation

Due notice is given to advertisers and buyers of commercial printing, that The Watchman plant will close for annual vacation July 13 to 23 inclusive. A check on printing supplies will enable customers to make provision by ordering now. There will be no publication of this newspaper on Thursday, July 19.

Pity the Poor Dot

Time was when a dot could get work in abundance around any print shop. Combinations like B.N.A. Act always provided employment for dots. But with the advent of multiple-named government departments during Franklin Roosevelt's first term, opinion began to swing against the dot. With everybody else out of work the dot was getting it all. It began to lose out first on the four-name titles, so that RCAF and USSR began to appear.

Newspapers took the lead, as in so many language changes nowadays. It was discovered that readers might have a fair chance of catching on to the meaning if the change were applied to three-word titles, such as UNO and CPR. Things are still going against the dot, but so far it has managed to keep its job with two-word titles in most publications. One sees great old mixups like the following from a (C.P.) despatch: " . . RCAF over Summerside, P.E.I. at 2 p.m. ADT." This shows the dot is still in there punching, or being punched. — The Printed Word

"The Bank A Partner In My Community"

What do teen-agers think of banks and banking? To find out, the 315,000 students of Canada's public high schools have been invited to submit essays in a prize contest sponsored by the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Offering $3,000 in cash awards, the bank is seeking opinions on "The Bank as a Partner in My Community". All Canadian boys and girls who have attended public high schools in Canada during 1951 are eligible, and essays will be judged, province by province. Ten winners will be named in each province; best of the ten provincial winners' essays will entitle its young author to a trip to Toronto, where he will attend the opening of the Bank of Nova Scotia's new executive building, now nearing completion at King and Bay Streets, Toronto.

Announcement of the contest is timed to reach public high school students before they leave classes for the summer, but late enough not to conflict with their June examinations. The contest closes July 30, and the winners will be announced on August 15.

Principals and literature teachers in schools across Canada, English and French, have been provided with regulations of the essay contest, which require submissions to be from 500 to 1,000 words in length. No entry blanks or special qualifications are necessary and essays can be written in either English or French.

"Essays will be judged on ability, interest, and on their general attractiveness", the bank announces. It suggests that students can gain useful information by talking to their local bank manager, local civic officials and businessmen.

First prize winner in each province will receive $100; second, third and fourth in each province will receive $75, $50 and $25 respectively, and five consolation prizes of $10 each will be provided in each of the ten provinces.

Rules stipulate that entries should be mailed to — The President, Bank of Nova Scotia, "Essay Contest", Toronto.

Early Training Tough for Male Registered Nurse

But James Bullen, Vancouver, Believes You Can't Beat Nursing As a Career

Vancouver (CP) — If you don't mind the first blushing weeks of training, if you like being surrounded by women — and if you don't fall in love with your surroundings — you can be a male nurse.

In fact, says James Bullen, British Columbia's first male R.N., nursing is an excellent career for men if they are brave enough to withstand the first few weeks of training.

Nurse Bullen started his training with another man and 61 girls in St. Paul's school of nursing at Vancouver in September, 1948.

But soon the second man believed to have become overwhelmed by his surroundings — there were 365 women students in the school building — folded his tent like the Arab and stole away.

Stayed On Job

Bullen stuck it out. He studied hard, helped his fair colleagues, worked in the maternity case room and concentrated mainly on the care of male patients.

Bullen made history. He became the first man to take the Florence Nightingale oath in British Columbia.

He wore white on this special occasion — white slacks and tunic offset by a red bouttonier. With him were 110 women clad in starched nurses uniforms and carrying bouquets of red roses.

The 33-year-old Bullen has already helped bring 15 babies into the world. He hopes to get a job as an orthopedic or surgical nurse in a D.V.A. hospital or serve as a private nurse to a travelling male invalid.

"You just can't beat nursing as a career", said Bullen.

STRANGE CATCH

Rouyn, Que. — Remi Larcouche, catching minnows at Moose Bay Creek, caught a salamander. It's a hybrid about 15 inches long with four legs and two ears that turn red when it is swimming. The "fish" was no sooner ashore than it walked away and had to be recaptured.

ROSEMOUNT RESIDENT WINS THE DOW AWARD FOR SECOND TIME

Wilfrid Fonvieille, although injured, rescues unconscious stranger from cab of flaming truck

1. The sound of a terrible crash rose above the normal traffic noises at the corner of Craig and Sanguinet streets in Montreal. The brakes of an R.C.A.F. gasoline tank truck had failed . . . and the heavy vehicle, carrying 2500 gallons of gas had piled into the rear of a Provincial Transport Company bus. As a result of the collision, the gas tank of the bus exploded and burst into flames.

2. The driver of the bus and Wilfrid Fonvieille, an off-duty driver also aboard, immediately rushed the eight passengers out to safety. Both of them realized the very definite possibility of a further and more disastrous explosion and acted quickly. Fonvieille had received a shoulder contusion when the two vehicles collided . . . and he was beginning to feel the pain more accutely when he noticed that the cab of the truck was on fire.

3. Seeing that the driver was unconscious, he jumped into the cab and hauled him clear of the flames. We are proud to add, for the second time, Fonvieille's name to the list of those who have won The Dow Award. In 1949, suffering from a heart attack, he rescued a drowning man who turned out to be his own father.

THE Dow AWARD

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects Award winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

Canadian Senator Is Also Welsh High Sheriff

Success Story of British Emigrant

Fifty-seven years ago William Rupert Davies left the town of Welshpool, Montgomeryshire, to emigrate to Canada at the age of 14. He has become a successful newspaper publisher, owns two radio stations and sits in the Canadian Senate. Now he has been honored by his home county and appointed High Sheriff for Montgameryshire — complete with cocked hat, lace collar, sword and black breeches. . . It is the High Sheriff's duty to open the County Assize Court in Welshpool, and here Senator W. R. Davies, the successful emigrant, follows Canon W. J. Rees into St. Mary's Church for the traditional service before opening the court. Behind him is the judge, the Hon. Mr. Justice Stable, M.C., K.C.

Senator Davies now lives in the 200-acre Brooklands Hall, just outside Welshpool, with his Canadian wife, Margaret, who comes from Calgary. Many Welshpool people still remember Senator Davies as the young lad who went off to seek his fortune in Canada. His father was an outfitter and their home was above the little shop in the main street of this old-world town on the banks of the River Severn, close to the English border.

OPEN RIVER MOUTH TO SAVE SHOAL OF FISH

Capetown (CP) — Thousands of fish have been saved by residents of Mtubatuba and St. Lucia in Zululand. Huge shoals of mullet had been battling to enter the St. Lucia estuary, which is closed up by silt. Some managed to cross at high tide but were attacked by pelicans, which soon became so gorged that they were unable to move. Other shoals were left floundering on the sands.

This wholesale destruction ended when sugar planters, farmers and residents brought jeeps, scrapers and tractors to the river mouth and, with dozens of Africans, dug a channel through the bar of sand which had sealed the estuary.

Grandma would have blown a fuse!

if she could have shopped at a modern store

Nobody had much of an answer for the age-old question "What will we have for dinner?" in Granny's time. She was tied by seasonal products and to the basic ingredients with which she roasted, fried and baked.

Canadian manufacturers have done much towards relieving kitchen drudgery. Better cooking methods, better tools, canned and frozen goods, semi-prepared foods — all have helped to provide the demand of the harassed housewife — LEISURE TIME.

Advertising has made a vital contribution to making prices within reach of all, because advertising makes for mass production and this means lower cost to produce — to sell.

Advertising too, provides innumerable answers to "What will we have for dinner?" New recipes, new foods, new menus, new ways to save time and effort.

This newspaper would be quite a different thing without the new ideas, where to buy and for how much, provided by the advertising.

FIRST IN RUBBER

At June Session Of Brownsburg Village Council

Brownsburg — In the course of proceedings at last meeting of the Brownsburg Municipal Council, Secretary Emile Hebert read out the list of amusement tax tickets sold during the month.

Mayor Pariseau: "The tax inspector called upon me and he was very angry. He said I was new on this job, but he did not like the way our tax was collected."

Secretary: "He assessed 2,000 extra tickets, and the grill owner came and paid."

Mayor Pariseau: "We have to collect this tax — we have no choice, so we shall do it right, it's our legal obligation."

Water Chlorinator

The bill for repair parts for the chlorinator, amounting to $249, was before the meeting for payment. There was a second account for reserve mercury for the flow meter, amounting to $69.

Councillor Somers explained that the chlorinator was found in a bad state but was now in proper working order. The flow meter, a chart of which the councillor produced, registered a peak flow of 500,000 gallons per day. At night it drops to 350,000 gallons. He calculated, as near as such calculations can be made, that the maximum from the present system was 600,000 gallons per day so that there is still a capacity of expansion of 100,000 gallons per day. "The recent experience taught us a lot about the machinery of measuring and chlorinating so that now we can be assured it is working well. Aldege Neveu is in charge and reports every day, with a monthly report to the council. A water sample is sent to Montreal every morning, and a report on its purity is furnished us periodically."

Councillor Ball: "How long has it been out of commission?"

Councillor Somers: "We don't know. It works in 'blurbs', but that is a good question. There is always a possibility of it not working where there is only one bleed into the lines. Chlorine is very corrosive, and the little lines it has to pass through easily get corroded. It may be working fine, and when you turn your back it has stopped. The only means of correcting this is to install a recorder meter, which we should consider doing at an early date."

Councillor Somers: "In the neighborhood of $3,000."

Mayor Pariseau: "I always remember the report of Mr. Lafreniere, engineer, when we were putting the waterworks in operation — that only for Mr. Dixon's barns at Dalesville we would not have to put in a chlorinator, as we had a very pure source of water supply. As a thought — if at that time we had arranged with Mr. Dixon to move his barns from the riverside, we would be farther ahead and at less expense."

A motion was passed — Councillors Ouellette and Ball authorizing the Mayor and Secretary to sign waterworks loan cheques to the value of $10,732 due this year. In a further motion by Councillors Carriere and Lavoie, the Mayor and Secretary were authorized to sign all cheques for monthly vouchers, etc.

Like an Indian Encampment

The Rotary Club applied for permission to hold a dance extending beyond the statutory closing time of midnight. Permission was granted.

Mayor Pariseau remarked, on the by-law closing grills at midnight on Saturday: "That is one thing we should be strict on — 12 o'clock Saturday and all day Sunday". He had the example before his door, and often in the early hours of morning he had seen acts and heard whoops like a sorties from an Indian village. He, as mayor, was anxious to do right and be fair, but the law must be strictly observed.

Councillor Somers: "The liquor laws in this province are very fair. It's the abuse of the law. . "

Mayor Pariseau: "It is not the people of Brownsburg. It is the rough element from other places who find accommodation here, and we get all the blame and all the trouble". He was in favor of a hotel with good regulations, but did not approve of a pack shouting "Hows" after midnight like Indians coming out of the bush!

Sidewalks

There was but only one tender before the meeting for the laying of sidewalks. F. Brisson tendered at $1.50 per foor (4-foot width) with $2 a cubic yard for "fill" and $3 per cubic yard excavation.

The Secretary remarked the tender was for Rosedale only. Mr. Brisson, who was present, informed the meeting that the tender could be taken to cover any street.

The Secretary explained to the meeting that a petition had been received from a number of residents on Rosedale to have the sidewalk laid. There are several other streets which were selected for sidewalks by the council.

Councillor Somers: "Some of the residents along Maple do not favor cutting the trees, and it is necessary, if we are to put a sidewalk along there."

Councillor Carriere said he was informed the people wanted to get the job done now, and he favored going along the low side for the present.

Six Hours' Work for 2-Minute Sound Strip

Toronto — A two-minutes running gun-fight dragged on for more than six hours in Toronto the other night — thanks to horn-honking fight fans, a low-flying aircraft, and a floppy pair of pants.

The occasion was recording of special effects for Ford Theatre's production of "The Third Man" over the CBC Dominion Network recently.

To get the realism of a "quiet moonlit Viennese square" and the eerie echoes of an underground sewer chase, part of the show was recorded the previous night in the concrete court and garage of the CBC's Toronto studios.

In two more, the flap of a sound engineer's trousers against the mike, as he galloped in tight circles to give the effect of a chase, made it sound like the "Third Man" was dragging his golf clubs behind him.

In the early hours of the morning — more than six hours after rehearsals had started — a satisfactory record was finally cut. The special effects were heard twice the next evening when the hour-long "Third Man" hit the airwaves. Their combined listening-time was just two minutes!

Summer Care

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"I don't know whether the summer care of a baby or a small child is harder!" a young mother exclaimed, "It seems to take an awful lot of work to keep my baby and small Jim safe and well!"

In the heat of mid-summer, mothers often forget the threats of colds and all the struggle with snow suits and goloshes, which accompany winter. Each season brings its own special jobs. A mother can just do her best. Call for outside aid if it is needed, and try not to worry. A happy, serene atmosphere in the home helps to build emotional health. Accidents are less likely to happen in a peaceful household!

Baby does need special summer care. Screens or cheesecloth must protect him from mosquito or fly bites. Although a gradual tan has a beneficial effect, on hot days his exposure to the direct rays of the sun should be before ten in the morning, or in the late afternoon. A diaper is enough clothing for a baby over a month old on a very hot day. Sponge him often to keep him cool and he will likely escape prickly heat. If this threatens his skin, a teaspoon of baking soda in two quarts of the washing water is advised by some doctors.

Babies, just like adults, may lose their appetites during the "dog days". It has been proved beyond a doubt that a breast fed baby of a mother who is healthy and rested, is less subject to digestive upsets that one on artificial feeding.

However, if mother is anxious about a bottle-fed infant's lack of interest in his meals, she should check the formula with her doctor. Baby may benefit from an increase in the boiled water he drinks between feedings. The child should not be forced to take nourishment, but will demand what he requires. Because he loses more water from his body in perspiration on humid days than on ordinary ones, a normal baby will crave more fluid to replace this loss or moisture from the body.

The medical authorities and the press are doing a good job in reminding parents of the danger of polio infection at this time. Chilling of the body and too great fatigue pull down the resistance of the body. If there is an epidemic, children should be kept away from crowds. If polio is suspected, this should be reported immediately to the doctor. He is the one to judge whether it is this dread infection, or just another "scare".

Because there are so many holiday folk motoring in the summer, mothers of small children do have to be eternally vigilant about the threat of passing cars knocking a child down on the street. The runabout child, and even the small child who is of school age, must be constantly warned of traffic dangers. The older youngsters riding a bicycle must also be reminded of the hazards of the highway.

In one province where sixty-eight children were killed of school age, in a recent year, their activities were fully checked and noted. The following is a tragic record, but one which might well impress on a parent or a child the importance of being alert. Here are the facts on how the children were killed:

Forty-two were killed when walking: 13 Killed while crossing highway; 11 killed coming from behind parked cars; 8 killed while playing in the street; 3 killed while crossing between intersections; 2 illed while crossing where there is no signal; 2 killed while walking on the highway; 2 killed on sidewalk; 1 killed while getting on or off a bicycle.

Thirteen were killed when riding bicycles: 3 Killed while two riding on one bicycle; 2 killed while riding on wrong side of road; 2 killed while in centre of road; 2 killed by failure to stop at through street; 2 killed by swerving off to left without warning signal; 2 killed while passing a vehicle.

It is a good plan to have a child copy this warning in big print on a card and color the letters, then post it just inside the screen door:

STOP
LOOK
WAIT until the way is clear, then WALK across quickly.

Can You Recognize It?

It's not much good getting irritated about Poison Ivy after it has irritated you. It's much better to recognize the plant before. Poison Ivy is the only Canadian plant with a three-parted leaf and white fruit. Don't mistake it for Virginia creeper which has five-parted leaves and blue fruit. Poison ivy grows almost anywhere and as a single plant, in patches, or as a trailing or climbing vine. So be on the lookout for it on fishing trips, picnics and holidays, and give it a wide berth.

— Dept. of Agriculture Information Service, Ottawa.

Soap and Water Still Best for Poison Ivy

But, in the article, Dr. Gibson E. Craig of Montreal writes of new ways of attacking the summertime scourge.

He said the best immediate treatment is the old standby of a thorough wash with a strongly-alkaline soap and water. Then, if the rash starts to itch, some relief can be obtained by applying compresses of potassium permanganate, ferric chloride or sodium perborate.

"As it is well known that any method which breaks the blisters will relieve itching, cryoptherapy (treatment with freezing mixtures) has been tried, using liquid air, solid carbon dioxide (dry ice) and ethylchloride sprays."

Dr. Craig added that he is opposed to treatment with intramuscular injection of poison ivy extracts.

Former L.H.S. Teacher A Brilliant Scholar, Now Has Six Degrees

A scholarly young schoolteacher who was on the local High School staff a few years ago — W. W. McCutcheon, of Brome, Que. — "made" the news this week with his latest achievement, his sixth degree won from Canadian and United States universities.

His most recent award was a doctorate degree in Education at Cornell University, conferred at the university's recent convocation.

Not content with this academic distinction, Dr. McCutcheon will vie for additional honors at the University of London Institute of Education, where he will conduct post-doctorate studies under an award of an Imperial Relations Trust Fellowship.

This brilliant young Canadian scholar gained both B.Sc. and B.A. degrees at Sir George Williams College.

From McGill he won a B.Sc. degree in Agriculture. (He taught Agriculture at the Lachute High School). From Acadia University he gained a Bachelor's degree in Education, and these undergraduate degrees were capped off by a Master's degree from the University of Toronto, and a Ph.D. from Cornell.

Optimistic Outlook on Canadian Economy

STEEL SHORTAGE ONE OF CURRENT SHORTCOMINGS

By Edwin Fricke,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa (CP) — "Scarcities . . increased costs . . higher prices . . inflation." These are words frequently heard on Parliament Hill and more often of late.

But a man who should have the facts of Canada's economic life at his finger-tips talked last week about the country's financial condition in less scary language.

Finance Minister Abbott, speaking to the Senate's Finance Committee, said Canadians are living in an "expansionist economy and, unless the world goes pot, I don't think we have much to worry about on the long pull."

Calling himself an "optimist about the future of Canada", Mr. Abbott said he did not doubt the ability of the people to carry their financial burdens. The burdens included "a high proportion of fixed charges" such as the national debt, family allowances and pensions and now an additional $260,000,000 a year for a national old-age pension plan.

Discussing inflation, the minister said the government now is attacking this through consumer credit restrictions and higher interest rates. "And from some of the representations I'm beginning to receive", he said, " it would appear that the program is beginning to bite in places".

But Canada is so dependent on outside influences because of the need for vital imports, that I've always felt we could not expect a significantly lesser degree of inflation than in the United States". Every Canadian could do his bit by "working harder and perhaps a little longer".

Steel Shortage

Defence Production Minister Howe said steel is in such critical supply that Canadian mills have been directed to defer shipments for less important projects.

A multi-million-dollar expansion program is under way to add another 1,000,000 tons to Canada's annual output, but even with this increase Mr. Howe said he doubts if Canada can ever become self-sufficient in steel.

"I should think that probably we will always be importers of steel, for two reasons", he said.

First, Canada is growing rapidly and a balanced situation in steel today may not be so a year hence. Secondly, there probably always will be products which Canada cannot produce economically and these must be imported.

To help alleviate present steel shortages, steps have been taken to seek an increased allotment from the United States, said Mr. Howe. Representations to Washington "have been well received" but defence needs in Canada are so great that non-defence projects will get only limited quantities during the next few months.

"Every steel plant in the country has a substantial expansion program under way at the moment", he said. The extra 1,000,000 tons would increase production by about 30 per cent.

Leading the expansion parade was the Steel Company of Canada, the country's largest producer. It was spending $50,000,000 to add 50 per cent to its basic steel capacity.

"The whole program is being carried out by private interests with money raised in the ways open to private interests. It is an expansion that is greatly in the national interest and the government has been encouraging it in every way possible".

This year Canada will produce about 3,250,000 tons of finished steel and import another 1,250,000 tons.

Mr. Howe talked about the steel problem in reviewing the work accomplished by the Defence Production Department since it was established two months ago.

The department expects to handle about $1,000,000,000 worth of business a year. Already it has placed orders for more than $400,000,000 of new aircraft. Other contracts have been let for ships, electronics, guns, small arms and construction.

The government's defence construction agency was awarding contracts at the rate of $4,000,000 a week. By the end of the current fiscal year, a $200,000,000 construction program — including new buildings for the fighting forces — will be under way.

The earliest dated event in history is 4241 B.C., the year in which the Egyptian calendar was established.

Impressions of W.C.T.U. Meeting Held in Toronto

Cushing West — Mrs. Wm. Usher was in Toronto last week, a guest at Willard Hall, where as a National officer of the Canadian Woman's Christian Temperance Union she attended an executive meeting, and was also present at a luncheon given by the Toronto District Union. This fine function was in honor of Mrs. Forrester-Paton, of Alloa, Scotland, president of the World Y.M.C.A.

Many National and Provincial officers, as well as officers of other women's organizations, were present at the gathering, at which Mrs. Perigoe presided. Included was the president, Mrs. Lade of Vancouver. Speaking at the luncheon Mrs. Forrester-Paton told of the progress of temperance work in many of the 52 countries where the organization exists. Great work is being done in Japan, where there are 7,500 W.C.T.U. members — 3,000 of them added in the last three years. In Germany Frau Fischer has done much to promote dry restaurants. In India prohibition is backed by the unanimous vote of Congress.

Substitution of fruit juices and soft drinks for cocktails and other alcoholic beverages on special occasions such as weddings, where there are likely to be many young people gathered, was urged by the president. "The number of drinking scenes in radio and television programs would give one the impression that the liquor interests must have lobbyists at Hollywood", she said. "Hollywood goes around the world, and why should our children and young people have to look at and listen to drinking scenes? We should try to get so many good things for our young people that there will be no room for the harmful." Later the guests were entertained at a garden party at the beautiful home of Mrs. J. M. Bosworth, Brule Gardens, Toronto.

Mrs. Usher stopped off in Belleville for a brief visit with her daughter, Mrs. G. Wishart, and in Ottawa with her sister, Mrs. N. S. Dowd.

Summer Time Is Picnic Time

This is the season for picnics, those wonderful outdoor meals. Along into the fall, as long as the weatherman is generous with his sunny days, picnics are in order.

A picnic is a pleasure party, the members of which carry provisions along with them on an excursion to someplace in the country. Nowadays, people don't always go on an excursion to the country, for they often picnic in their own back yard or even on their porches. At least, they serve the food picnic style, right at home, and everyone enjoys it immensely.

Food always tastes better when it is eaten outside. Any fisherman will tell you that when he comes into shore from a fishing trip, starved — baked beans and bacon, eaten around a bonfire, is the most wonderful food in the world. Most people agree that coffee never tastes better than when it is the old-fashioned type boiled over a bonfire.

The main attraction to most people, on a picnic, is the contents of the picnic basket. Sandwiches have always been the top favorite, but recently the trend has been to salads and cold meats, bacon and eggs and so on, which are cooked in the open. Which type of salad is best for a picnic? Potato and egg salad is wonderful but meat or fish salads are very good too and even some moulded salads are suitable for a picnic. With potato salad some prefer it freshly mixed, others like it mixed well beforehand. For those who like it freshly mixed the potatoes, onions and eggs should be mixed together and placed in a quart jar or large bowl. The mayonnaise should be carried separately and added to the salad just before it is to be served. If the salad is to be a vegetable or green salad it should not be prepared ahead of time. The salad vegetables should be cleaned and wrapped in waxed paper and a damp towel. When the time comes to serve the salad the vegetables will be crisp and clean, all ready to toss together. If the salad had been made ahead of time it would be soggy, colorless and unattractive.

The home economists of the Consumer Section remind us that used ice cream cartoons or frozen food cartons are mighty handy for picnics. They should be thoroughly cleaned and stored in a dry place. Salads, potted meats or puddings may be placed in these cleaned cartons for the picnic, then they are ready to eat and they do save plates. Not only that, they are easily carried. The newer plastic containers, which have air-tight lids, are ideal for carrying salads, liquids or fruits to a picnic. There is a wide variety of paper or plastic plates and cups on the market so Mrs. Wise Homemaker uses these unbreakables to save the wear and tear on her kitchenware.

Eggs, bacon, canned or home baked beans, hamburgers, wieners and soups are some of the many foods which may be prepared around a camp fire. . At a wonderful picnic last year, the pièce de résistance was barbecued spareribs. The spareribs had been marinated overnight in a little vinegar, mustard, salt and garlic. The camp fire was built with stones around it and was allowed to burn until there were red hot coals. Then whole, unpeeled potatoes were placed in the hot ashes to bake. A few minutes later an old grate was placed over the hot coals and the spareribs were arranged on it to barbecue. One could hardly wait until the food was cooked when the delicious aroma started to waft into the air. However, potatoes and spareribs were not the entire meal. Each member of the party was given a sharpened stick to roast their own corn. The hostess had prepared a large bowl of wonderful barbecue sauce and when the spareribs were done each person was given a plate with a baked potato (with lots of butter), a paper cup of barbecue sauce in which the spareribs were dipped and, of course, the corn all toasty and brown, was dripping with butter. Nothing could have tasted better than this wonderful food. This menu would be suitable for any barbecue supper prepared in the back yard or around a bonfire somewhere in the country. If new corn is not on the market at the time, a green salad or sliced cucumbers and tomatoes might be used instead.

Distinguished Member For Ayer's Cliff W. I.

Ayer's Cliff branch of the Quebec Women's Institutes has just enrolled a distinguished member. Lady Nuttall, of Dorking, England, who so ably represents the Q.W.I. on the executive of the Associated Country Women of the World, was welcomed as an honorary member by that branch at their last meeting, and in acknowledging this friendly gesture, Lady Nuttall writes how thrilled she is to be really a part of the organization she is proud to serve.

She is a cousin of Mrs. W. C. Smallman, Dundee, Que., past president, Q.W.I., and was educated in Ottawa. After her marriage until 1945, she resided in Madras where she was chairman of Friend in Need Society and ran a mobile canteen for British troops during the war. She is a member of the Westcott W.I., Surrey, and her home is always open to any Canadian visiting in England.

Lady Nuttall has rendered valuable service as Q.W.I. representative to the International organization since her appointment to that position in 1947, and her report of its activities, as sent to Mrs. R. Thomson, Abbotsford, provincial president, will be a feature of the Q.W.I. convention being held June 26-28 at Macdonald College.

French-Canadian Radio Songster

This young lady represents "Rhythms of Paris", the popular radio show heard Friday nights at 9 on the CBC. She is Lucille Dumont, a queen of the French popular song, and she alternates with Muriel Millard as the show's featured singer. The program comes from the Radio Canada Building in Montreal. Lucille is almost entirely self-taught. She is an enthusiastic sports fan and once caught the puck at a hockey game — on her nose. It took plastic surgery to repair the damage but the accident didn't cool her interest in the game — she simply took a seat a few rows farther back the next season!

Greek Girls to Get Gifts from Alberta

Ottawa (CP) — A graduation gift, sewing-kits containing everything from needles to buttons and scissors, is on its way to 80 teenage girls in Greece.

The girls, soon to graduate from a vocational school at Glyfada, near Athens, are war orphans, and the kits are a special present from the Women's Institute Girls Club of Alberta. They were shipped from the Unitarian Service Committee headquarters here.

Plans for the graduation gift grew out of a visit some months ago which the executive director of the committee, Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, paid to the Penhold, Alta., home of Mrs. A. B. McGorman, president of Alberta Women's Institutes.

Members of the Alberta W.I. Girls Clubs compiled the sewing-kits, and an exchange of correspondence between the girls in Greece and the girls in Alberta will be the likely outcome.

SPORTS CAMERA

By Gerry Lougheed,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The strictest rule on doping of horses in the long history of British racing went into effect with this year's flat racing season.

This rule says that a trainer will be barred for life if it is found that his stable has raced a doped horse. The bar, through international agreements between the Jockey Club and foreign racing associations, is virtually world-wide.

And the trainer must bear full responsibility even though he might be in a London bar or on the beach at Waikiki when the tampering was done.

If Jockey Club analysts find a horse drugged, the trainer has only one way to save his license. He must find who did the actual doping and be able to prove it — all in a limited time of two or three months the Jockey Club may allow.

Britain's Jockey Club, formed in the 1700's, has remained all-powerful in the sport. It makes the rules, enforces them and judges offenders.

Its actions are supreme since there are no national laws governing racing.

Forty-six race tracks operate in Britain. Their meetings last from one to four days at a time.

This means that many of the 5,000 racing thoroughbreds are almost constantly on the move around the country — the huge majority by truck.

Many of the tracks look like second class county fair layouts with inadequate stable space and no facilities to keep outsiders away from the horses.

Hard to Control

Only a few of the bigger tracks have any special police force. The Jockey Club has none. All of this means that a trainer is on his own when it comes to protecting his horses.

Nobody is able or willing to say just how prevalent doping is in British racing. The Jockey Club is extremely tight-lipped on the subject.

Twelve cases of doping were considered proved by the Jockey Club between 1946 and 1950. The licenses of the 12 trainers were withdrawn for life.

In every case the trainer denied any knowledge of the doping but was unable to prove who was responsible.

Almost all of those 12 cases involved drugs being given to cause horses to lose.

One unusual method was the "umbrella case" which popped up in 1946. The supposed doper fitted a hollow tube in an umbrella and inserted a rubber bulb on the handle end. He filled the bulb with a type of slow-working acid. When the horses paraded in the paddock, the doper pointed his squirt gun at the underside of the horse and sprayed acid over the animal's hind quarters.

By the time the sprayed horse left the starting post, it had lost all interest in running and finished a bad last.

Petition to Incorporate New Municipality In Ayers District

Move Referred to Argenteuil County Council And Chatham Township for Consideration

A petition signed by approximately 250 ratepayers in the Parish of the Immaculate Conception, Township of Chatham, was submitted recently for the setting up of a new municipality. The request was directed to the Quebec Minister of Municipal Affairs, to the Argenteuil County Council and to Chatham Municipal Council.

Reason specified by the signatories was that the area and population concerned had little in common with the interests and administration of the remainder of Chatham Township.

The petition suggested naming the municipality "Ayersville", to embrace an area outside Lachute Town limits from Hamford Street west to include D. G. Simon's farm, and from a point north bordering the Notre Dame de Lourdes orchard, through the Exhibition Grounds including Douglas Bradford's and the Ayers plant, to the south side of the North River in the region of the Ayers dam and Centreville (that portion presently in Chatham Township).

The status of this proposal now, is that the Quebec Minister of Municipal Affairs has notified the County Council and Chatham Municipal Council to express their consent or objection.

The County Council accordingly named a committee to consider the proposal, and last Monday, members of this committee conferred with representatives of Chatham, the municipality most directly concerned.

Opinions expressed by the County Council representatives were that, although the proposal was logical, the area specified was greater than advisable for the best interests. (The limits designated in the petition extend to 1770 acres, with a total valuation of $886,842). The project is now before the Chatham Council for study.

The Quebec Department of Municipal Affairs stipulated 90 days for a reply favoring or protesting the incorporation.

Ladies' Night At Rotary Club

Brownsburg — The Rotary Club meeting last Thursday was a "ladies' night", held at the Legion Hall in Brownsburg, where members of the Legion Auxiliary served dinner. The gathering included members with their wives and guests, and also a number from the newly-formed Rotary Club at St. Laurent-Mount Royal.

President Stewart Jones welcomed the guests. Rotarian Elston Reid reported progress on sale of tickets for the "Trip to Bermuda" drawing — proceeds of which are earmarked for the Club's community park and playground project.

A Rotary flag was presented as a good-will token to "Bud" Brash, president of the St. Laurent-Mount Royal Club — President Jones making the presentation.

Past District Governor Roy Brunet, O.B.E., of Hull, Que., was special speaker, dealing with the objects of Rotary and illustrating his topic with many humorous anecdotes. The speaker was introduced by Rotarian L. W. Armstrong and thanked by Rotarian John Chalmers.

Rotarian Harris Sherwood was m.c. for the dancing and entertainment which completed this enjoyable program.

Midnight Blaze In Whisseltown

A two-tenement property constructed of cement blocks was gutted by fire around midnight last Friday in the Whisseltown colony, west of Lachute on the St. Philippe highway.

The building was owned by F. Whissel, ex-mayor of Chatham, who had insurance to cover a portion of the loss. Tenants of the two buildings were Aristide Desjardins and Edgar Turpin, who, it is understood, had no insurance on their effects.

Warning of the fire was given by occupants of a U.S. trailer party, camped on the site, who saw the glare of flame in an upstairs window. Lachute fire department was notified and a crew hurried to the scene with the auxiliary truck. Pumping water from an artificial lake 300 feet at the rear of the Whissel restaurant, they were able to check the blaze at the floor-level — thus averting a spread of the fire to the next-door property, to which there is a basement connection.

Burned in Garage Blaze, Brothers Meet Mishap En Route to Physician's

Hector and Yves Larocque of St. Philippe, two brothers aged 28 and 19, respectively, were removing a gasoline tank from a car in the Desforges Garage at St. Philippe last Friday afternoon, when an electric light bulb broke and ignited the gas tank, and the two men were trapped in the garage pit beneath the blaze.

The proprietor, Rodrigue Desforges, was in the office of the garage when he heard the explosion, and rushed to the men's assistance. The Laroque brothers were both severely burned before they could extricate themselves from the pit. Desforges then hitched his own automobile to the car and towed it from the garage, thus saving the building. The fire was confined to the pit by covering it with tin signs, and the car on which the men had been working was little damaged by the blazing fuel oil.

The Larocque brothers were able to drive away in their car, and they proceeded to this town for medical treatment. Misfortune dogged them, however, for on the North River montee (the most direct route to Lachute Mills) the driver lost control of the car, which overturned completely in the ditch. Unhurt by this mishap, the pair, badly shaken and in pain from their burns, walked to the Lorenzo Lamarche farmhouse. Dr. Roger Lavigne was called to attend them, and had the victims rushed to the Hotel Dieu Hospital at St. Jerome, where it is reported their condition is now improving. The elder brother, Hector Larocque, was the more serious casualty, suffering severe burns all over his body.

Late Jack Miner Was Pioneer in Bird-Banding

While the late Jack Miner started his bird sanctuary in 1904 at Kingsville, Ontario, it was not until August, 1909, that he banded his first duck, which was shot in January, 1910, by Dr. W. E. Bray, of Anderson, North Carolina. This constitutes the first complete record on the continent of where a bird was banded and where it was killed.

Since 1909 the late Jack Miner and his sons have banded over 50,000 ducks.

In 1915 the late Jack Miner invented his own nets and caught and banded his first Canada Goose. Since then over 45,000 Canada Geese have been banded.

Since Jack Miner's death his sons carry on the banding operations, and last year they caught a Canada Goose that had been banded twenty-four years previously.

Symbolic Floats In Parade for St. Jean Baptiste

A Saint Jean Baptiste parade, organized at St. Andrews East, made an extensive tour last Sunday afternoon — commencing in that village, proceeding to Lachute, Brownsburg, St. Philippe, Grenville, and returning via Cushing and Carillon to St. Andrews. Promoter of the procession was G. J. Dupré, proprietor of St. Andrews Inn, and the several floats presented tableaux symbolic of French Canada. These were accompanied by many atuomobiles, making a lengthy cortege.

Among the more notable and interesting floats were — one presenting the patron saint himself, the child Jean Baptiste (impersonated by curly-headed four-year-old Claude Dubé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Dubé) — this tableau being very tastefully arranged by the St. Andrews Inn; a hunting and fishing scene, arranged by Marcelin Lavoie and René Lavigne; a pioneer Quebec plowman, presented by Jean Rozon, wood craftsman; a parlor scene, "Ici on chante", by Chevrier Frères, Lachute; another tableau representing "les bons vieux temps", by Michel Legault, milk dealer; and last but not least, a picturesque portrayal of northern missionaries and Eskimos, complete with igloo and parkas — presented by Tower Company Ltd., Lachute.

Inquest July 5 on Boy Scout Fatality

King's Scout John Moffit, 16, of Westmount, was killed Tuesday evening when a Scout camp truck went off the Laurentian highway near Ste. Adele, injuring six others of the camp staff. The injured were taken to St. Jerome Hospital.

According to reports, the truck was returning to Camp Tamaracouta from Ste. Adele with supplies, when it suddenly plunged off the road and turned over. Moffit died instantly. The truck is operated by the Boy Scouts' Association.

The truck was approaching a culvert over a 15-foot gulley, when the unprotected gravel shoulder caved in and the vehicle toppled over. Dr. McFarlane, physician in attendance at Tamaracouta, about two miles distant, was on the scene within 10 minutes after the accident.

It is stated by the district coroner, Dr. Jules Lafleur, Lachute, that a thorough investigation is being made pending the inquest, to be held at Tamaracouta next Thursday.

It is understood that John Moffit, a promising young Scout, was one of those in line to attend the coming World Scout Jamboree in Austria.

MILK OUTPUT DROPS

New Westminster, B.C. (CP) — Milk production in Fraser Valley has fallen off by more than 6,000,000 pounds since the beginning of the year. Dairymen are quoted as saying increased production is not warranted so long as margarine is under-cutting butter prices.

U.N. Team Risks Lives to Make Health Survey

The "Faith Hul Hari," a 50-ton schooner, served as headquarters of a three-man expedition sent by the World Health Organization (WHO), one of the Specialized Agencies of the United Nations, to make a survey of filariasis in the Maldive Islands. On their return trip the craft ran into a hurricane and the WHO team barely escaped alive. In the upper right: a map of the Maldive Archipelago.

Auto Accident At Rouge Bridge

Wilfrid Roy, 43, of Collinsville, Conn., was critically injured when his car went out of control and struck a fence post on the eastern end of the Rouge River bridge last Saturday, around 1.45 p.m. Fellow passengers stated that the auto, proceeding from west to east, spun around in the road and the driver was hurled to the pavement when the door flew open.

Accompanying the victim were his wife, also Mr. and Mrs. Sylvio Gregoire, residents of this province — none of whom suffered injuries. The party were on a vacation tour.

Suffering from a probable fracture of the skull, Wilfrid Roy was taken to Dr. Kelly's Hospital at Hawkesbury, and later was transferred to the Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal.

Traffic Officer Albert Legault investigated.

C.I.P. Initiates Forestry Education Program

Research, Conservation, Public Relations, With Material Benefit to Woodlot Owners

Establishment of an experimental forest farm at Harrington, and of a forestry office at Grenville, for the information and convenience of farmers in neighboring counties of Quebec and Ontario, is a progressive move undertaken by Canadian International Paper Company. Both the forest farm and the forestry office will be directed by M. R. Wilson, a forester of long practical experience.

The purpose of the Harrington farm, which is located on the Rouge River a few miles north of Calumet, is to aid farmers in managing their woodlots more profitably. Permanent buildings are now being constructed and will be opened to visitors in September. However, cutting operations have been going on for some time, and Mr. Wilson reports that he has harvested profitably hardwood pulpwood on cut-over lands which appeared to have little value.

The Harrington forest farm consists of some 2,000 acres of woodlands, which are being harvested the year around, and are managed in such a way that they will produce forever. Doug Morrison is operating superintendent. Art Lafrance, forestry engineer, is conducting experiments in practical forestry, and is planting trees on abandoned farms, and in clearings.

"We are learning many things at Harrington", stated Mr. Wilson. "We want woodlot owners to share in our experience, and so we will make available to all the results of our work. We hope that the information will help farmers get more out of their woodlots, on a continuous basis. When our buildings are completed, in September, all woodlot owners are cordially invited to visit our Harrington forest farm, and see what is being done there."

At the C.I.P. forestry office now being built on Route 8A, near Grenville, farmers will obtain information on wood prices and aid in woodlot management. Through gradual conversion of its Hawkesbury mill, C.I.P. is now able to use nearly all species of wood growing in the area, including hardwoods such as poplar, maple, elm, ash and oak.

Forestry Demonstrations

To launch its information program, C.I.P. held two woodlot management demonstrations here recently. The first was at the Lachute Fair, where a forestry camp was set up, complete with a model plantation. Moving pictures were shown, and literature on forest management distributed to visitors. Experienced foresters were in attendance to supply information on profitable woodlot harvesting.

Another practical demonstration was held on the farm of W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., at Hill Head, where Mr. Wilson and a C.I.P. crew showed how a net profit of $92.65 may be made on a half acre of woodland through a clearing operation. The demonstration was held for the benefit of the Farmers' Club of Montreal, and was attended by several government officials.

Mr. Wilson and his aides demonstrated how, through selective cutting, only mature or defective trees, and windfall were harvested, a process which actually increased the permanent value of the woodlot by giving the younger trees air and sunlight which they need to grow. "The demonstration", commented Mr. Delisle, "is another proof that the woodlot should be as well managed as the fields, as it forms an integral part of most farms. This is particularly true today, when conditions ensure farmers a good return for their wood."

Forestry Information Program in This Area

"Take a new look at your woodlot. There's more money in it than you think" is the theme of activity being conducted in this area to demonstrate to farmers the value of good forest management. Photograph above, at top left, shows a group of prominent personalities who attended a woodlot clearing demonstration given last week at the farm of W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. for Argenteuil County. From left to right: Roch Delisle, chief of Forestry Service, Quebec Dept. of Lands and Forests; M. R. Wilson, Canadian International Paper Company, who directed the demonstration; Mr. Cottingham; René Trepanier, Deputy Minister, Quebec Dept. of Agriculture; H. B. Norris, President, Farmers' Club of Montreal; and D. L. Rennie, Secretary. Next photo shows Eldege Emond, representing the Maniwaki division of C.I.P., who won the open bucksaw championship at the Lachute Fair. At bottom left, M. R. Wilson explains to a group gathered in Mr. Cottingham's woodlot how his clearing operation will net a profit of $92.65 on a half acre alone, while adding to the permanent value of the woods. Bottom right picture was taken in front of the forestry camp and wood market set up by C.I.P. at the Lachute Fair, as part of its information program. Work Resumed After Winter Lay-Off, Construction of B'burg Skating Rink

Brownsburg — The community rink committee had a general review of last year's activities and a detailed planning of this season's work at a public meeting of the committee and parent body at the Social Club last week. The general public present were very cooperative and interested in the work-details, as outlined by the committee chairman, Harris Sherwood. Reports from the chairmen of sub-committees showed much promise of satisfactory completion of the project, and glowing tribute was paid to the wholehearted support rendered by the citizens in providing the voluntary labor.

Kenny Stewart, who reported on the work up to the present, expressed satisfaction on the help he had received, and had high hopes for an early resumption so that the sidewalls can be completed and a certain degree of comfort made available for this season's games.

Alvin Stewart, secretary-treasurer, informed the meeting that $26,486 was pledged to date. Of this sum a total of almost $12,000 was outstanding as the period of contribution had not yet expired. The expenditure on erecting the skeleton steel-work and foundations cost the moderate sum of less than $12,000; this was accounted for by the high proportion of free labor contributed.

Bill Tessier, who has charge of the canvassing, made a strong appeal for helpers to assist in making further contacts.

The chairman pointed to the fact that the fortunate circumstance of having obtained the steel before the present embargo was enacted, saved the committee the sum of $10,000 in the cost of the framing — if, indeed, it would be possible to obtain it at all today. Mr. Sherwood, reviewed the financial position of the committee, and informed the meeting that the roofing and integrated woodwork was on the site and paid for; all that remained in that section of the project was to start working—which they decided to do forthwith. A generous response had been made to their appeal for funds, which manifested a desire to erect a rink, on the part of the people of the district, in fact of all Argenteuil — they had received very generous assistance from Lachute — but the need for further funds was pressing, and he hoped that the resumption of the canvass will meet with the same response. An approach was being made for some government assistance, and while he was hopeful that some would be forthcoming he felt that its extent would be governed by our own initiative and ability. Some assistance had been received from service clubs, such as Rotary and other organizations, notably the Women's Institute, and he expected that others would follow this lead. The great need at the moment was canvassers, so that these contacts could be made.

Girl Athlete Wins A Championship

Tuesday evening at the Molson Stadium, Montreal, in the Quebec Provincial Championship track meet, Barbara Bradford, a local high school athlete, captured top honors in the Intermediate High Jump (winning a silver cup), second in the Intermediate Broad Jump, and third in the Senior 220 Yards.

Although Barbara only recently joined the Mercury Athletic Club, which is coached by Myrtle Cook, she has proved a great asset to the club and will doubtless bring more honors to this group, to herself, and to her home town, Lachute.

Autobus Halted at Precarious Angle

A Provincial Transport bus, chartered by a softball group and heading to a northern resort via Route 31 last Sunday, was perched precariously on the roadside over a sharp decline to the river — when a garage tow-truck was called to its assistance. Apparently, as the driver cautiously approached the curve at Pine Hill, he had steered the heavy vehicle too close to the edge of the road, and the gravel shoulder caved in. There was slight damage to the bus. It appears, however, that the occupants only narrowly escaped a possible disaster.

Annual Meeting of Que. Farm Forums

Macdonald College, June 25 — Some 300 turned out here Saturday for the annual meeting of Quebec Farm Forums and the college Farm Day.

During the morning the visitors heard reports from Forum committees and an address by D. E. Stauffer, of Bright, president of the United Co-operatives of Ontario. The afternoon was given over to a tour of college departments.

Forum people should be bold and strive to develop both nationally and internationally, Mr. Stauffer said. This was necessary in order to make democracy work and alleviate the danger of world wars.

Human destiny could not be left in the hands of a few, he said. Decisions should be made in discussion groups such as Forums so that all could be made aware of problems and participate in decisions rather than having them made for them. International problems should have a simple approach which the common people can give to them, he said, and decisions must not all be made at the top level. They should come from the people.

Three tours were organized to various parts of the college, along with a special demonstration for the ladies. A new venture this year was that each visitor was able to take every tour rather than, as in the past, merely visiting one point. Numbers of the ladies took the farm tour rather than visiting the special demonstration.

Main point of interest in the animal husbandry tour, under Prof. A. R. Ness, was the newly constructed beef barn which makes use of new building principles so that the mow is free of interfering beams and rafters. Seen also was the college dry stock on pasture, with Prof. Ness outlining breeding.

Each of the college departments had an exhibit in the main building while the ladies' exhibits included items on food preparation and a textile demonstration showing the origin of different materials. Also included was a display of handicrafts.

"JULY 1st"

On July 1st all Canada celebrates an event which took place 84 years ago and exercised a profound influence on this country and its people. In 1867, after years of debate, negotiations and discussion, Canadian statesmen welded the separate colonies of this country into a unified federation and formed the Dominion of Canada.

This was the first important milestone of Canada's progress towards national maturity and its present position as one of the most important industrial nations in the world.

Political ambitions alone do not make great nations. Commercial and industrial progress are basically important to the success of any country. Since Confederation, and particularly in the past half century, Canada has matched the vision of her Confederation statesmen by the achievements of her people, her business and her industry.

The giant strides of the past half century can be related very closely to the development of hydro-electric power in Canada. Electricity made from water power is the most economical and efficient form of energy known. No area in the world is more favorably endowed with water power than Canada — the Province of Quebec in particular.

Rapid development of these resources has brought comfort, convenience and progress to the people of the Province at an astonishing speed. Gatineau Power is proud of the role it plays in the progress of Quebec, from which all Canada benefits. To Canada, the people of Canada and particularly the people of Quebec, Gatineau Power extends its felicitations on this important national birthday.

DID YOU KNOW?

Agronome's View Of Dairy Industry

"The agronome's view of the dairy industry". Such is the theme of the annual convention of "La Corporation des Agronomes", which will meet in Montreal, in the Mount Royal Hotel, on July 3, 4 and 5.

More than 700 persons coming from all parts of Quebec will participate in this annual meeting, which has now become a major event from a social and professional point of view. Speakers have been chosen from among the leading agronomes of the province.

Up to the present time the dairy industry has been the base of our agriculture. Will it hold this position in the future? What are the main problems underlying recent developments in the production and consumption of dairy products? What new developments may be expected? Such are the questions to be studied by the agronomes at their annual meeting.

New York - Shakespeare - and An Unsophisticated Rabbit

"Sunnyacres Sketches" — By Margaret Cook

We recently read an explanation for that phenomenon — the increasing velocity of time as one grows older. According to this theory, the apparent speed is directly related to the usualness or unusualness of events. Thus, to a child, time drags, because practically everything is a new experience, while, to the grown-up, safely immersed in routine, time whizzes past. It is an interesting idea and we think, a correct one. . The writer feels that a long, long time has elapsed since she sat in the light of the Aladdin lamp at Sunnyacres, typing absurdities for her readers. Actually, it is barely three weeks. But, in that time, we have visited New York, have coached a pupil through those last desperate hours before the examination, have done some belated house-cleaning, have attended a school-closing and, at long last, have arrived safely back at Sunnyacres. . . We celebrated our return by spending 13 consecutive hours in bed!

Somehow, 12 years had elapsed since our last stay in New York and we were prepared for changes, but, except that the city was a little bigger, a little noisier and dirtier, and that 6th Avenue was surprisingly Avenue of the Americas, everything was much the same. The Radio City area was as strikingly New World as Piccadilly Circus is Old World, but neither is typical of its city. The only change seemed in its people, who appeared to be a little less tough, a little more aware that they and their city are vulnerable like the rest of this world. Perhaps this was subjective, rather than objective, and a reflection of a mellower outlook on the part of the observer. With the appalling candor of old friendship, some one remarked last week, with an air of suppressed irritation, that our contours never change. As we had never supposed that we had anything so considerable as the word would indicate, we were rather flattered. So, too, it is possible that a quality we never knew we possessed, has mellowed. . . But we digress. . .

Twelve years ago, democracy was just a word; now it is a living force, thanks to the Russians. There is nothing like a little opposition to fan a dying ember to a blazing flame, be it business, love or ideals. We sat with 17,000 others at the Convocation of Columbus University and heard the vice-president deliver a very able address on the meaning and working of democracy, but the writer was more interested in the evidences of democracy all around. In the throng of graduates (reported to be 6,000) there were faces of all colors, from clear English pink through Chinese yellow and Egyptian sepia, to all shades of Negroid brown. It was good, it was even inspiring; but one could not forget that outside the gates and throughout the land, the spirit changes and there is little practice of true democracy, not as one finds in France, for example.

In France, we have a true democracy, and its perfect flower is that other city, Paris. True, to the foreigner, the eternal search for liberty of expression often seems to end in chaos, as in the political scene, or in absurdity — as in urban traffic, where it is not unusual for all activity to be suspended by the policeman in order that a pretty girl may cross the street without haste. But even these absurdities are manifestations of the persistent search for "liberty and the pursuit of happiness". There is something heady in the air of Paris that New York still lacks, and we submit that it is comprised of liberty and humor, of which New York lacks the second. Everything seems to be shrugged off with a "So what!" No one but the writer appeared to notice or care that a very old man, in the midst of the teeming sidewalk, was struggling fiercely with a recalcitrant zipper, cursing feebly but steadily all the time. Nobody seemed amused or curious about the old ladies imbibing liquor in all the better restaurants; one was overheard to say doubtfully, "Sometimes I wonder if they put much rum in them", and the soothing reply, "Honey, they don't put ANYTHING!" Then there was the price war and the slogan pasted in all the Gimball doors, "NOBODY, but NOBODY undersells Gimballs". And the complicated jargon of ordering in the smaller eateries, such as "One stack with" — which being interpreted, means "One order of pancakes with bacon". Shopping was fun, and some articles such as nylons and hats surprisingly cheap. Service was spotty, ranging from courteous to rude. One sales girl asked if it ever got hot in Montreal. Yes, New York is still fun, but one is as glad to leave it as one is happy to go.

After a week free from care, it was hard to turn one's mind to the impact of Shakespeare and Dickens on the male adolescent mind. But we did and were rewarded by some bewildering questions.—Did Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria reign one after the other? What was Queen Victoria really like? Was Queen Elizabeth really smart, or did she just happen to be born at a good time? Why don't they tell us these things in text-books? Was Shakespeare a libertine? (He pronounced it lybertine). How did he (Shakespeare) know so much? Why did Celia marry that goon? . . There was much curiosity about Shakespeare and a corresponding respect for Dickens. I think the young are impressed by the Dickens emotionalism. But some judgment leavened the latent emotion, for the pupil reasoned that Shakespeare must have been a libertine or he would not have known so much about women. Our reading and comments must have borne some fruit for we left our student intent on seeing the Orson Welles version of "Macbeth"!

FLASH! We had to leave some of this till this morning, and were interrupted by the agonized cries of a baby — or so we thought, until we discovered that the man of the house was holding a baby rabbit in his arms! It was about four inches long and was the color of a coon coat; whenever one of us moved he complained bitterly, opening a pink mouth like a tiny sack. We all loved the little thing, although undoubtedly he had been brought into the garden in order to educate his taste to the young lettuces and peas. Peter, the grey cat, who had been happily eating the salad laid out on the table, came to investigate the cries, so we returned the baby to the grove. It is hoped that the mother warned him of the dangers of cats.

The rabbit has taken up this space assigned to a dignified ending. Instead of that we must hasten away; but we leave our city readers with the comforting assurance that the black-fly-and-mosquito nuisance is much abated, so we all look forward to a glorious July.

Dominion Day – A Thought On Canadian Unity

CANADIANS from coast to coast are being asked to focus their attention in the current week (June 24 to July 1) on the state of the nation's unity. The thought is highly appropriate to the national Dominion Day observance.

The idea of a Week of Canadian Unity has been conceived and is being sponsored by the French-Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Canadians have never been too conscious of their own unity, have been too prone to think of themselves in terms of the provinces in which they live, of the ethnic groups of which they are a part or of the language which they speak. Believing that Canada is more unified than Canadians realize, the two great newspaper associations are sponsoring this week to bring home to the people of this nation the fact of Canadian unity.

In any land as far flung as Canada there are bound to be sectional differences, but the Canadian democratic way of life, the Canadian conception of freedom of the individual, Canadian pride in the achievements of this youthful nation surpass infinitely any differences that may exist.

Canadians do not know too well their own story and are better acquainted with the historical figures of Britain, France and the United States than they are with the great men of their own past. A quiz, for instance, on the Fathers of Confederation would keep most Canadians guessing.

If Canadian Unity Week accomplishes only two things — impresses Canadians with the astounding degree of unity achieved during the short 84 years since Confederation and convinces Canadians of the necessity of knowing each other better if the unity of the nation is to be strengthened — Canada's weekly newspaper associations will have attained their objective.

Canadians must work at this task of strengthening the unity of the nation. It requires the best thought and effort of every citizen. It is a year round job.

W. E. McCartney, Esq., Managing Director,
Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association,
108 Peter Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Dear Mr. McCartney:

I should like to thank you for informing me of the resolution of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association concerning the "Week of Canadian Unity".

I wish the Weekly Newspapers every success in promoting this worthy effort to increase our appreciation of the advantages of being Canadians.

— Yours sincerely,
Louis St. Laurent.

A Breathing Space

ABOUT this time of year, in town and country, there comes a lull in seasonal activities. Welcome and all too brief, it provides a chance to get a "second wind" and to revel in the early-summer loveliness.

On the farm, this pause usually arrives just before the start of the hot and heavy labor of haying. Plowing and seeding are over, the garden is planted and its weeds have only begun to make their appearance. The need for cultivating and spraying is not too urgent and the busy days of the harvest seem far ahead.

It's the time when a farmer, without a twinge of conscience, can lean one foot on the wire fence in a shady corner of the pasture and spend an hour talking crop prospects with a neighbor who also has time to spare. It's a time for visiting with friends outdoors through the long mellow evenings, or for spending an afternoon on an outing with sons and daughters just starting their summer holidays, or for shopping leisurely in town for a dozen or more items whose purchase has been postponed.

The early-summer respite comes in the towns, too, after the heaviest work of starting the gardening has been completed and the score or so of tasks that must be done around a house and grounds are at an end. Even the holidaying children sense it and pause to savor it before plunging into their furious whirl of vacation-time activities.

The leaves, still fresh and green because they have not yet faced the blaze of summer's heat, stir gently and seem to whisper. A heady perfume steals through the twilight. Adults dream of their youth and graduation dances and first loves. Young people dream, too, talking in hushed tones and planning their tomorrows as if the spell of enchantment would never end.

Happy, then, is the person who recognizes the brief space for what it is: a breathing spell in preparation for tasks ahead, a moment to be enjoyed to the full and then put away with other happy memories.

Timely Inquiry

"DO Black Flies have a color preference?" is an unexpected question posed by that bright little trade bulletin, CanadaInk, whose prime interest, of course, is printer's ink and color.

We are further informed — the answer to this problem is being sought by the Ontario Research Foundation. D. M. Davies is the special investigator. He has spent one summer season on the study and at this time is carrying on the second of his series of studies. So far it seems that dark blue was the color most frequently preferred; followed by dark brown, black, dark green, dark red, medium gray and white. Tests this year will include printing ink colors as well as dyed fabrics. Tests will also be made as to the effect of odors as against colors. Black flies are pests at certain seasons, in several parts of Canada (and how!). If you are going to a black fly area this year it would be desirable to avoid clothing in dark colors.

C.W.A.C. To Hold National Reunion

Winnipeg — Former members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps will gather here from all points in Canada and the United States on August 25 and 26 to attend the C.W.A.C. 2nd National Reunion. The reunion is being sponsored by the Ex-C.W.A.C. Association of Winnipeg, whose president is Miss Francis Aitkenhead.

"We are expecting a good attendance at the second reunion", Miss Aitkenhead said, "particularly in view of the fact that Canadian women are once more returning to active service with the armed forces. In view of this, the association will become an increasingly important organization in Canada and a proposal for a national charter will therefore be submitted to the convention. Every former member of the C.W.A.C. who can attend will be warmly welcomed by the Winnipeg members who are sponsoring the convention".

Gertrude Felman, a sergeant-major in the C.W.A.C. during World War II, is expected to make the longest trip to attend the convention. Sgt.-Major Felman will come from Los Angeles, California, to participate in the convention.

"THINGS AN' STUFF"

WALTER HENRY JACKSON

WHAT IS AN ODE?

The other day a lady asked me what an ode was. I gave her a look that seemed to say: "Don't you even know that?" and changed the subject. I was stalling for time to go home and look it up in the dictionary.

The definition was that an ode was a poem designed to be set to music, or what a song-writer would call "the lyrics". So I suppose that a man who writes a poem is a poet, and one who writes an ode is an odor.

That's what they used to call me during the war when I used to write words and music for some of the production numbers in the Evans Sisters' Troop Show, with which I toured for three years to the army camps. All of which reminds me of the story of the poet who was racking his brain for an idea, as he had to meet the deadline for the morrow's paper. He walked over the brow of a hill and was confronted with the most magnificent sunset that he had ever seen. Out came his notebook, down went his impression of the sunset. The opening line was:

"An Angel flew across the sky and spilt her radiant paints."

Unfortunately, his handwriting was not the best. The typesetter did his best, but it was not quite good enough. It appeared in the paper the next day as follows:

"An Angel flew across the sky and spilt her rayon pants."

He not only made the deadline, but the headline. What an odor!

THE POET

A poet, they say, is a queer sort of jay who leads a precarious life. He's always dead-broke, picks up butts for a smoke, and he shares all his grief with his wife.

They live in a room that resembles a tomb at the top of a long flight of stairs, in a block of cheap flats that's infested with rats, and they're bowed down with worries and cares. A stale loaf of bread — no sheets on the bed — old clothes that are nothing but rags — in this attic on high they live till they die — for he can't sell his humorous gags.

It's different with me. I'm a writer you see, whose resourcefulness makes me secure. If I haven't got bread I make toast then instead, while I wait for my plans to mature. I can't sell my junk — they tell me it's punk — but I'm an intelligent feller. I don't want to die in some attic up high, so I write all my odes in the cellar.

20th Century Transport 16th Century Roads

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Twentieth Century transportation on Sixteenth Century roads — that's the awful situation Dunany and Louisa residents are asked to enjoy! Just a modicum of intelligence would greatly help this exasperating condition. It is cautiously suggested — a $5 one-inch mesh screen at the gravel pit to exclude rocks and boulders from indiscriminate distribution over the road. If this is too lavish an expenditure for our local councils, a man with a wide hand-rake could follow the drag and remove these same misplaced boulders. But no, any such modest suggestion would apparently over-strain the mentality of our brave men-of-all work. A nice $30 tire advertised to make 30,000 miles, is stone-bruised and reduced to 1/10 of this mileage. Careful recent tests of passenger car mileage proved to be 12 miles per gallon on our boulder-dodging highways.

Oh well, gentle fellow pilgrim, just bear up, for our generation will soon pass on to an abode of weal or woe, as the case may be. Present methods are remunerative to our unprogressive road "experts" and also grand for the tire manufacturers and gas peddlers — so why worry.

SOUTH AFRICA TOWN SEEKS PIED PIPER

Capetown (CP) — The people of the little town of Mortimer in Cape Province are sighing for a pied piper.

After a bumper crop, a plague of veld mice has descended on the district. Their runs criss-cross the veld. They infest the maize lands, climbing the stalks and leaving the bare cobs. They raid tomato patches and have invaded hundreds of homes.

One farmer estimates that he has lost one-fifth of his maize crop.

It was spring on the Columbia University campus in New York, and "Keep Off" signs sprang up on the freshly seeded lawns. The students ignored the warnings — which were followed by special requests — and continued tramping across the grass. The issue became rather heated, until finally the buildings-and-grounds officials took the problem to President Ike Eisenhower.

"Did you ever notice", asked Ike, "how much quicker it is to head directly where you're going? Why not find out which route the students are going to take anyway, and build the walks there?"

Lachute Academy Grad Receives High Honor

It is pleasing to note, through the passing years, the accomplishments of former scholars who received their elementary training at Lachute Academy. As compared with the present Lachute High School facilities then were decidedly different. There was no household science instruction, no gymnasium, no library, no manual training, no auditorium — in fact not nearly as much to occupy the minds of students, who seemed to devote much more time to study than is the case today. . .

Dr. Harcourt B. Church, of Aylmer, Que., was one of those local graduates who continued his studies at McGill University and has made a name for himself as a Quebec "country doctor", having brought into this world some 4,600 babies. In 1950 he was elected to the presidency of the Canadian Medical Association, to take office this year, and which post he assumed recently. Dr. Church is the fifth generation of his family to practice medicine in Aylmer, and his former school mates and friends are pleased to hear of his success and of the honor recently conferred upon him.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

(Our District Correspondent)

World Citizenship Theme Of Q.W.I. Convention This Week at Macdonald

"The theme of our convention, 'The W.I. — World Citizen', is an expression of our desire for a broader outlook and a truer international understanding", said Mrs. R. Thomson, Abbotsford, president of the Quebec Women's Institutes, in her address given at the 37th annual provincial convention of that organization, held this week at Macdonald College.

Speaking at the opening session Tuesday evening, Mrs. Thomson pointed out that the presence of Mrs. R. Sayre, Ackworth, Iowa, president of the Associated Country Women of the World, had given the convention an international flavor and her inspiring address had provided them with much food for thought and plan for action. "The convention of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, just concluded at the College, had also stimulated interest in every one of the 10 provinces", she went on to say, "for this year, for the first time, a representative from Newfoundland has been welcomed into the Federated body."

Touching on the highlights of the year's work, Mrs. Thomson mentioned the Leadership Training course held each year at Macdonald College, which is sponsored by the Q.W.I. and the work of local branches in organizing school fairs, with seeds given by Quebec Department of Agriculture.

The speaker felt the affiliation with the Montreal Council of Women had been of value to both groups. "As long as the tug-of-war between producer and consumer continues, this medium is an aid to better understanding and is of mutual benefit."

A special word of welcome was given to the representatives from the Junior groups by Mrs. Thomson, who stated these branches were the W.I.'s stake in the future and as such she greeted them.

"We hope", she concluded, "that the free interchange of ideas, afforded by such gatherings as this, and the discussion of problems, will help you with your W.I. work, and that you will return to your communities to carry on your W.I. activities with enthusiasm and success, keeping always in mind the theme of the year, 'The W.I. — World Citizen'."

Enlisted Grandma's Aid

A small town banker got his ad into local homes by sending a "piggy-bank" to every married couple announcing the birth of a baby. The plan did not work satisfactorily because parents were careless in depositing coins, or had more pressing use for pennies, or something. The banker had a brain-wave that soon filled the banks. Instead of sending a "piggy-bank" to the parents, he sends one to the grandmother. It is placed in a prominent position in granny's home. Visitors see it and it soon gets filled. Other grandmothers hear about it and a permanent marathon is on.

Recent Nuptials in St. Simeon's Church

Bird - Lavis

The marriage of Miss Lena Lavis, daughter of Mr. W. R. Lavis and the late Mrs. Lavis, to Mr. Peter John Bird, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bird, of Montreal, took place on Saturday, June 9, at St. Simeon's Church, the Rev. C. R. Lang officiating.

Gladioli of mixed colors decorated the church. Matron of honor was Mrs. M. Scott, sister of the bride. Best man was Mr. Dudley Bird, brother of the groom. Mr. Robert Bird and Mr. Melvin Scott were ushers.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. A. J. Lavis, the bride wore a gown of white lace over taffeta, with fitted bodice and long sleeves coming to points over the hands. Her finger-tip veil was held by a bandeau of white tulle. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley. The matron of honor was gowned in blue nylon marquisette over taffeta with a matching Queen Anne headdress. The groom's mother wore a street-length dress of navy blue with white accessories, and a corsage of red roses. The bride's aunt, Mrs. R. B. Cockings, wore a street-length dress of navy and white, with navy accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses.

A reception followed in the church hall, after which the bride and groom left by car for Toronto, where they will reside. For the wedding trip, the bride wore a dressmaker suit of beige with dark green accessories.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Bird, Mr. Robert Bird and Mr. Frank Bird, all of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Bird and daughter, Betty Ann, from New Brunswick.

Dowd-Burland Wedding, Pretty Ceremony at Ottawa

The marriage of Miss Helen Frances Hope Burland, daughter of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. G. Harold Burland, to Dr. Emerson Cushing Dowd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman S. Dowd, took place Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in St. John's Anglican Church, Ottawa. The Rev. T. J. Finlay performed the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mr. L. S. Virr, and boy choristers of the church were in attendance.

Along the altar were massed white chrysanthemums and white peonies, and at the chancel were white standards of peonies, orchid campanula and chrysanthemums against a background of cybotium ferns and palms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. R. B. Richardson, as matron of honor, and Miss Sonia Barron and Miss Patracia Dowd as bridesmaids. Dr. Norman F. Brown was best man, and the ushers were Mr. R. B. Richardson, Mr. Stewart Dowd, and Mr. Ainslie Dowd.

The bride wore a model gown of sheer white nylon marquisette over white taffeta. The tightly fitting bodice and tapered sleeves were made entirely of tiny shirrings. The front of the bodice was finished with a row of small covered buttons. The bouffant skirt ended in a Cathedral train. Her veil of double French illusion, which extended beyond her train, was held in place by a halo of shirred nylon marquisette tapering to a circlet of tiny orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of Starlite roses, white antheriums and stephanotis.

The matron-of-honor and bridesmaids were gowned alike in two-toned orchid nylon marquisette, with fitted bodice and bouffant skirts falling into short trains. The necklines were low and softly draped. They wore large brimmed hats of two-toned marquisette and matching mittens. They carried bouquets of purple and yellow pansies and mauve sweet peas.

For travelling, the bride wore an imported gown of Chinese ginger shade of tissue faille, made on classic lines. Her hat was of copper-colored straw trimmed with French roses the same shade as her dress. Her accessories were copper-colored, and she wore a corsage of Talisman roses. . . Upon their return, they will reside in Ottawa.

Among the many out-of-town guests were Mr. James K. Watson, of Hawkesbury, Mrs. William Usher, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Watson, of Cushing, and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Watson, of Maniwaki.

Townsman Married at Adventist Church, Montreal

James - Trites

A pretty wedding took place in the Adventist Church on Western Avenue, Sunday afternoon, June 24, when Freda Lila Trites, of Lewisville, N.B., and Quentin Walker James, of Lachute, were united in marriage by the Rev. O. J. Ritz, pastor of the church.

The bride, attired in a floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace with halo and three-quarter length veil, and carrying a bouquet of pink Talisman roses, was given in marriage by the Rev. M. Fisher, of South Stukely, Que. Mrs. M. Fisher played the wedding music, and also accompanied the soloist, Miss Muriel Dixon, who sang very beautifully "Because You Came to Me", immediately preceding the ceremony.

The bride's attendants were Miss Valerie Graham, as bridesmaid, in a dainty floor-length gown of pale blue sheer, and the little flower girl, Brenda Cheeseman.

Groomsman was Mr. Ashton Robinson, of Oshawa, Ont., and the ushers were Mr. A. Cheeseman and Mr. D. Brown. The church was decorated with roses and peonies.

Guests in attendance were from Oshawa, Ont., South Stukely, Montreal, Lachute, and Lewisville, N.B.

A reception followed the ceremony, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cheeseman, Pointe St. Charles. Mr. Frank Buchanan, of Oshawa, uncle of the groom, was master of ceremonies; the Rev. O. J. Ritz gave the toast to the bride and Mr. Ashton Robinson (formerly of Lachute), proposed a toast to the bridesmaid. The home was tastefully decorated with summer flowers, and many acceptable gifts accompanied the good wishes extended to the newlywed couple.

The buffet supper table was decorated with pink and white streamers suspended from the ceiling and festooned around the table edges. A beautifully decorated three-tiered cake centred the table. . . In the social time following it was discovered that certain of the guests were celebrating birthdays, and even one a wedding anniversary — all of which added to the general feeling of good fellowship.

AMERWOOD IS BEAUTIFUL

Pre-Finished AMERWOOD

PRE-FINISHED AMERWOOD is the new and beautiful wall panelling that arrives on the job completely finished. Ready to apply in the lengths that suit your job. No waste.

PRE-FINISHED AMERWOOD is the new and beautiful wall panelling where the hard growth stands in bold relief. It has been stained, lacquered, baked in an infred oven (the same as your modern car bodies), waxed with a polish many times harder than the simonize you would apply to your car and then polished to a satin finish.

PRE-FINISHED AMERWOOD is 3/8" in thickness, comes in 6", 8", 10" widths and 8', 10', 12', 14', 16' in length. Packed 6 boards to the package and in three attractive colors, Amerwite, Ameroon, Amered.

When PRE-FINISHED AMERWOOD is applied and your last nail is driven the job is then complete, no paint, no fumes, no extra muss. It requires no extra tools, just hammer, saw and square. Drop in and see it at our yards.

MEN STILL BEST AT MAKING MAGIC

Montreal (CP) — There's only one thing at which men are still better than women, and that's magic, according to Montreal magician W. Kalman.

He says this is because the female will not put the trick first and herself second. But he admits there are some exceptions.

Kalman, who works in a magician's supply shop here, explained magic is "just a matter of detracting attention from yourself, and devoting everything to the trick".

He said children are more likely to figure out the answers to the magicians' stunts than grown-ups, since they offer the simplest explanation. Adults are more complicated in their thinking and look for an involved solution.

AROUND THE HOME

Attractive bases for lamps may be made from pieces of 2 x 2, 2 x 4, old bottles, crocks, chair legs, etc. — with shades of heavy parchment (or heavy wrapping paper, varnished), which can be laced with leather shoe laces or heavy colored parcel string.

An old butter box can be quite easily turned into an excellent record holder — using thin plywood for the divisions, out of which half-circles are cut.

Our Canadian Heritage

(Copyright)

"O Canada! where pines and maples grow,
Great prairies spread and lordly rivers flow,
How dear to us thy broad domain,
From East to Western sea;
Thou land of hope for all who toil
Thou True North strong and free."

— R. Stanley Weir

Dominion Day reminds parents of the Canadian heritage which belongs to them and to their children. In the rush of the seasons when days follow each other so swiftly, it is good to have July 1st half way through the year, when we remember our national birthright.

There are three children in our home and we are eager that each year they should know more about their own land. We live in a picturesque lakeland district and as a family by car, and boat and on foot, we have explored many of the beauty spots in our area.

We have skated on the ice in the winter, roamed the woodland paths in spring, bathed and boated and picniced in vacation time, explored the scarlet and gold trails in the autumn. From our own experience, each of us can echo in our hearts the Psalmist's words, "The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a godly heritage."

Our children are becoming acquainted with the map of Canada and they see where our country lies in relation to other lands — to Great Britain across the Atlantic, to the United States, our neighbor to the South, and to the Far East where some of our Canadian troops are fighting with the United Nations forces. There is a large world map on the wall of our den and we are planning to buy a big sphere when we can afford it.

But we are eager that our children's knowledge of Canada should not be confined to our immediate locality or to second-hand book or map knowledge. Each holiday-time we go on a trip, where we see some new part of Canada.

Last vacation we saw something of Montreal. This summer we plan to visit Niagara Falls, next year Ottawa. When the children are older we are hoping to take one trip to the Gaspé Coast, another one down through the Maritimes and a tour through the Canadian West.

We believe that in exploring new places, not only geography but history comes alive for the thoughtful traveller. The story of Champlain is much more real for us since we have not only examined his travels as marked on a map, but have seen with our own eyes part of the Champlain Trail. We have looked out across the wide expanse of Lake Nipissing reaching across to the French River, and imagined how this must have appeared to the eyes of this great explorer.

We want our children to appreciate the heritage of Canadian literature and art. Their school teachers and the librarians at the public library are constantly increasing their knowledge of the Canadian writers and artists, and from time to time we are adding to our family library books such as John D. Robbins' "A Pocketful of Canada".

Each year we purchase at least one good colored print of a Canadian painting which we hang on our walls. "Stormy Weather, Georgian Bay" by Varley, from the National Gallery of Canada, was our choice last year and we have grown to love its strength and vigor.

We want our children to realize that our Canadian race is a mosaic of many different peoples, each bringing its own special contribution to our land. The English, Irish and Scotch according to the 1941 census make up about half of the population; the French 30 per cent. How varied are the strains of the remaining 30 per cent — German, Ukranian, Indian and Eskimo, Jewish, Polish, Dutch Norwegian, Swedish, Austrian, Belgian, Czech and Slovak, Danish, Finnish, Greek, Hungarian, Italian, Icelandic, Lithuanian, Russian, Chinese, Japanese, Negro and other races — but Canadians all!

We want our children to honor the Canadian ensign and to be proud of the British and Canadian traditions for which it stands. We want them to see that being a Canadian does not interfere with allegiance to the British Commonwealth or loyalty to the cause of the United Nations. We want them to sense how important is freedom in the eyes of Canadians. We are eager that they should understand Wordsworth's lines,

"We must be free or die, who speak the tongue
That Shakespeare spake; the faith and morals hold
Which Milton held."

These Hurried Times

are painfully reflected in the way some folks neglect their most useful possessions. . . . The automobile, for instance!

If you are one of those who use your car with disrespect, treating it merely as a conveyance to go places, to haul the kids and the kitchen stove to heaven-knows-where . . .

AT LEAST you can give it the essentials of mechanical supervision — attention to tires, brakes, steering, cooling system, battery — and MOST essential, lubrication.

WE MEAN, that's what we're here for — to make you a more satisfied car owner. . . Trucks too (how they work!) — we give them the same considerate attention.

Promotion Program for Ste. Adele, Ste. Marguerite

Ste. Adele and Ste. Marguerite areas in the Laurentians are being co-ordinated into an area promotion program sponsored by the Ste. Adele Chamber of Commerce, and the president, Roger Couillard, well known Montreal commercial artist, has announced the opening of a Tourist Information Bureau on Route 11 in the town of Ste. Adele. Roy R. Kennedy has been appointed Director of Publicity. Mr. Kennedy has been associated with Laurentian Resorts Association hotels for many years; he is the manager of the Valcartier Lodge outside of Quebec City and on the advertising and publicity committee of the Canadian Tourist Association.

The Chamber of Commerce and the Municipality have begun the construction of public tennis courts and a public beach complete with dressing-rooms. The Ste. Adele Horticultural Society will help beautify both projects with flowers and small trees. Many new permanent homes are under construction in the area and property values are reported at an all time high.

June 28 to July 1 are dates for "Les Fêtes de Ste. Adèle" an annual summer festival. There will be fireworks, an evening torch-light parade of decorated floats on Lac Rond, with a bonfire built on a raft to provide illumination for the colorful presentation. There will be a Ferris Wheel and a Carousel for the children, a street dance with orchestra for the grown-ups.

The jelly-fish is one of the greatest exasperations of Canadian coastal fishermen. It is unmarketable and fouls up gear.
