Duplessis Statement Anticipated on Rising Newspaper Production Costs

"This Week at Quebec"

By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, July 3 (CP) — Premier Duplessis this week may give "an answer" to suggestions put to the Quebec Government by a delegation representing a group of Quebec daily and weekly newspapers. A number of newspapers explained in a memorandum last week "their difficult situation due to increases in their costs of operation", the Premier announced. He told his regular press conference that his answer would come within a week and it would be made public "if need me".

Although the matter was not mentioned by the premier, the government may consider the question of special newsprint price consideration for the Quebec newspapers. The premier has asked previously that the province's newsprint manufacturers give special price consideration to Quebec newspapers.

Premier Duplessis made no reference to recent newsprint price increases of $10 a ton, effective July 1, or to increases in newspaper postal rates. . . The newsprint price boost, announced by most producers in Quebec, brought the cost up to $112 a ton. A 10-per cent sales tax brings the price up to about $122.

Premier Duplessis has denied reports there may be a provincial election this year.

"I think what has been published is not reasonable", the premier said, "I think Mr. Lapalme (Georges Lapalme, Quebec Liberal leader) would die of fright if an election was called this year."

Canadian literature "has outgrown the wailing and suckling stage", Gerard Martin, of the Quebec Archives, said last week in a lecture tour of literary works exhibited during Quebec's first festival of art, literature and music.

However, he said, the tragedy of Canadian literature "is not so much the authors' fault as the readers'. We lack consumers for the literary staple."

Mr. Martin, who is a member of the Canadian Authors' Association, said that in Denmark, where the population is almost the same as in Canada, the average sale of a book is 30,000 to 40,000 copies. In Canada, a book that sold 3,000 to 5,000 copies was considered a best-seller.

Mr. Martin said the C.A.A. had established a special committee to study the conditions of Canada's "pitiful" book market.

John Chalmers New President of B'burg Rotary

Brownsburg — The Rotary Club held their regular weekly meeting at St. Onge's Hotel, with retiring President Stewart Jones in the chair. After the dinner John Chalmers (in-coming president) led the club in a singsong, with Wes Freeland at the piano.

Andrew Hardy gave a report on the "ladies' night", which was considered a success, and also a report of the progress of the carnival, to take place on the school grounds at Brownsburg on July 13 and 14.

Wes Freeland gave a report on the progress of the playground, asking that all members reserve the next Tuesday, and all following Mondays, for work at this site. He then introduced King Amos, who is to act as the park supervisor for the summer.

Elston Reid reported on the progress of the raffle, which is going satisfactorily; it was urged however that more effort be made if the club is to reach its objective.

Sid Stillwell introduced the speaker of the evening, the Rev. Dr. Malcolm A. Campbell, of First Presbyterian Church, Montreal. Dr. Campbell was born in Ontario and was at one time a student minister in Brownsburg. His address, entitled "Be Yourself", may be summarized briefly as follows:

To be sure that something is done, do it yourself, or see that it is done, and remain with it until you are certain that it is finished. Be persistent. Each of us is different from anyone else and that difference is what makes each of us an individual. You and you alone can develop this difference. By your energy, activity and personality you can develop this difference into what you think it should be.

Strength is the greatest gift given to man. It should be used. Some people are the "if" people — if I had the opportunity; if I had done it this way, etc. These people are weak; the strong do it now. No matter what the job is, no matter how large or how small, no matter whether you like it or not, no matter how old or how young, you must make use of the gift of strength which was given to you.

Success and recognition depend upon doing many things and doing them well. A pile of many small jobs well done will reach to a great height.

Elston Reid thanked Dr. Campbell for his inspiring address.

President Jones extended his thanks to the retiring officers and the members for their support during the year, and hoped that they would continue in future as in the past. He hoped that the new officers and the members would take to heart Dr. Campbell's message — Do the job, no matter what it is.

Qualifies for Degree in Surgical Chiropody

A former Lachute boy, Edmund G. Morgan (son of Mrs. Olive Morgan and grandson of Mrs. and the late Wm. Cross) recently graduated from the Chicago College of Chiropody and Pedic Surgery, with the degree of D.S.C. (Doctor of Surgical Chiropody).

Edmund Morgan attended Lachute High School, and on completing his school education in Ontario, followed the chiropody course to attain his degree. Now Dr. Morgan, he is a member of the Ontario Association of Chiropodists, and will practice in Toronto.

Residence Burns At Upper Lachute

A fine log dwelling, constructed a year or two ago by J. E. Bourbonniere when he disposed of his camp colony east of Lachute, was destroyed by fire in the noon hour Tuesday. The residence was a few miles beyond town, in Upper Lachute, where the proprietor has been developing another camp settlement in the pine plantation on Route 41.

Starting in the kitchen, and believed due to a wiring defect, the fire spread quickly through the building and to the surrounding bush. Called to the scene of the blaze, the Lachute fire crew concentrated on the burning bush with water pumped from their truck, until hose was laid to the North River, over 1,000 feet from the house, and a more powerful stream could be applied to the burning building. It required an hour or two of arduous effort to control the blaze.

Neighbors and willing helpers were able to remove some of the more valuable furniture, but the home was a complete loss. It is understood Mr. Bourbonniere had only partial coverage in insurance.

Routine Problems At July Session of Brownsb'g Council

Brownsburg—The July meeting of the Brownsburg Municipal Council was held on Tuesday evening, Mayor H. Pariseau presiding. The pro-mayor, Councillor Somers, was the only member not in attendance.

After reading and adoption of the minutes of the last meeting, the question of the disposal of surplus water at the chlorinator building was taken up. The course of this little stream had been altered by employees of a former council, and now when erosion is making the disposal of this water a problem, efforts to return the stream to its natural course are meeting with opposition from the people concerned.

Philippe Neveu appeared before the meeting to protest damage from the water to his property. This matter has been before the council for years and discussed repeatedly; an effort is now being made to have the run-off piped, but no definite solution has been reported.

Fire Protection

Fire Chief A. Robbins handed in his report, which consisted mostly of the inspection (with Councillors Lavoie and Ball) of a fire ladder in Montreal. The committee reported in favor of an aluminum ladder 40-foot extension, at a cost of $372.50. It was reported that the fire inspector had urged the purchase of this piece of equipment to complete the requirements of the fire brigade. Councillor Ball stated that it is a modern ladder and a necessary item to have.

Councillor Lavoie proposed that the ladder be obtained; his motion was seconded by Councillor Charbonneau, and passed.

Councillor Ball: "Our brigade is completely outfitted now except for two hats."

Mayor Pariseau: "Well, we will complete it and get the hats". . . On proposal of Councillor Ball, seconded by Councillor E. Ouellette, it was decided to purchase the required hats.

The brigade's attendance at outside fires was discussed. A minute of a previous meeting was referred to, which stated that the outlying municipality of Chatham could secure the services of the Brownsburg fire brigade, using the main pumper wherever water from a hydrant could be obtained, and the booster pump equipment within a radius of three miles from the municipal limits wherever water was available.

The Fire Chief made a plea for an extra trailer vehicle to carry extra hose, but the Mayor was not in favor of expending money on this equipment.

It was decided to make a charge of $40 for each such attendance at fires outside the municipality — on a motion proposed by Councillor Ball and seconded by Councillor Lavoie.

Parking — ad infinitum

Arising out of Police Chief Choquette's report and complaint on congestion of the thoroughfare at McFaul's corner (owing to trucks continually parked there, and the absence of traffic signs and road lines to regulate the traffic) — the meeting indulged in a 40-minute discussion on the matter, which concluded by leaving it very much as it was.

Mr. Gervais, hotel proprietor, informed the council he was employing Mr. Gagnon to regulate the parking in the vicinity of the hotel.

Mayor Pariseau suggested having Mr. Gagnon sworn-in so that he could assist the Police Chief in this area.

It was decided to contact C-I-L for use of the company's marking machine to line the roadway. According to Mayor Pariseau, inquiries revealed that purchase of a machine would run in the neighborhood of $700.

The Chief repeated his request for additional stop signs, and he also asked for monetary consideration for the use of his car. Councillor Ouellette proposed an allowance of $25 a month, to cover use of the Chief's car. This motion (which brings the police officer's salary up to $2,900 a year) was seconded by Councillor Charbonneau.

On the motion of Councillor Lavoie, seconded by Councillor Charbonneau, it was decided to substitute the Chief as inspector of amusement tax payments for the two present inspectors, Mr. J. Connolly and Mr. G. Donaldson. . . The Chief in accepting the task, said "In my work I have no friends".

Mayor Pariseau: "Just as in the office of Mayor. All are treated alike — with justice."

Cornerstone Ceremony, New Anglican Church at St. Sauveur des Monts

Saint Sauveur, Que. — Despite the steady rainfall on Sunday afternoon, several hundred persons attended the ceremony for the laying of the cornerstone of Saint Francis' Anglican Church at Saint Sauveur des Monts. The boys' band from the Shawbridge Boys' Farm and Training School paraded to the front of the structure, and the program began with the singing of "All people that on earth do dwell". The Venerable Archdeacon J. F. Morris, of Montreal, officiated and performed the ceremony of laying and blessing the stone. He brought greetings from the Bishop of Montreal, and expressed the hope that the church would enjoy much success in the community. The Rev. C. R. Lang, rector of Lachute, the Rev. H. G. Baugh, rector of Morin Heights, and Mr. C. O. Thomas, lay leader, assisted in the devotions, while Mr. L. Whiteway led the singing. The service concluded with the hymn "Unto the Hills Around", and the benediction.

The church is to be known as St. Francis of the Birds, and its construction will be almost entirely of logs.

The official opening of the church is planned for late September.

Native Son Celebrates First High Mass in Huberdeau Parish Church

It was a notable day in Huberdeau Parish last Sunday, when a native son, the Rev. Blaise Turcotte, s.j. (the first from that community to be ordained into the priesthood) celebrated his first high mass in the parish church, and blessed the parishioners — among whom were many of his former playmates, neighbors and fellow villagers.

The Rev. Father Turcotte has studied 12 years in the Jesuit Order. He is the son of Mme Azarie Turcotte and the late Dr. Turcotte, of Huberdeau, and a brother of Dr. L. Turcotte, county health officer here at Lachute. Another brother, the Rev. Gabriel Turcotte, of the White Fathers, was present and acted as subdeacon at the high mass, with the Rev. Father Labrecque, deacon. Msgr. Pilon congratulated the new priest. The Rev. Father Dubé, of the Jesuit Order, preached a sermon on the role and mission of the Catholic priesthood. Many friends and relatives from near and distant points gathered at Huberdeau for the happy occasion.

The Rev. Blaise Turcotte was ordained by the archbishop of the Montreal diocese, Msgr. Leger, last Friday at the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Montreal.

Elderly Man Is Found by Searchers

Around 100 searchers were out early last Monday, when George Clark, 81-year-old resident of Mabel, was reported to have been missing from his home since 5 o'clock the previous night. Mr. Clark resides with his son, Perley Clark, in the Mabel farming community northwest of Brownsburg.

The elderly man was found in the bush at 7 a.m. Tuesday. He was heading towards his home, but walking in a dazed condition. He was hatless, bare-footed, and had lost his eye-glasses. After a night in the rain and the wet and soggy bush country, the old gentleman was somewhat the worse with exposure, and has since been under medical care and confined to bed.

EDUCATIONAL VENTURE SPONSORED BY ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS

James (Jimmy) Campbell, of Lachute, David Grinton, of Montreal, Jean Demerse, president of the Alpha Theta Rho Girls' Club No. 1, Montreal, and Caroline Olsen, of the same club, were chosen as delegates from Quebec Province to attend the United Nations Sessions at Lake Success and New York City this summer on the "United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth", sponsored for the second year by the International Youth Committee of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Jimmy Campbell, who was selected by Laurentian Lodge No. 14 with collaboration of the local school staff, left Sunday with the Quebec group on this expense-paid educational trip, in which more than 200 delegates from 40 states and provinces will participate.

With so many taking part, the pilgrimage was divided into four periods of five days each — the Quebec delegates leaving last Sunday.

The delegates are high school girls and boys, 16 and 17 years of age. In towns or cities where junior branches of the Oddfellows exist, the delegates usually are limited to members of these Junior Lodges or Theta Rho Girls' Clubs. In others they are chosen from the community at large, selected on the basis of "Character, Leadership, Scholarship, Interest in Civic

200 Attendance at Que. Women's Inst. 37th Annual Meet

With a record attendance of 200 delegates and visitors, the 37th annual provincial convention of the Quebec Women's Institutes completed a successful gathering at Macdonald College. Spotlighting the theme, "The W.I. - World Citizen", Mrs. R. Sayre, Ackworth, Iowa, president of the Associated Country Women of the World, spoke at the opening session, telling of her impressions gathered in a trip around the world when she visited affiliated societies of that organization in New Zealand and Australia, and attended the annual executive meeting in London. "We need increased knowledge of other people and understanding of their motives and desires if we hope to attain unity and world citizenship", she stated.

Miss Florence Reynolds, of the staff of F.A.O., Washington, was another speaker adding international flavor to this gathering. Speaking at a joint session of the boards of the Q.W.I. and the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, which had been meeting at the College the preceding week, she referred to how hard it is for th western mind to realize the thinking in the East where educated people have become accustomed to "the starving people at the gate". This speaker also stressed the need of cultivating our understanding of other countries and expressed the hope that women in the free lands would waken to the needs of the peoples of the world.

Other distinguished speakers were present at the various sessions to develop themes under the different headings of Institute work. Miss Eileen Flanagan, Director of Nursing, Neurological Institute, Montreal, spoke on "New Horizons in Nursing", directing much of her talk to the junior delegates. "The Consumer's Food Dollar", was discussed by Dr. S. C. Hudson, Economics Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Dr. J. S. Ashbury, former principal of Baron Byng School, Montreal, and a member of the Protestant Committee, took as his subject, "The Community and the School". Mrs. Maud M. Kerr, Women's Editor, Family Herald & Weekly Star, told of her impressions in England under the heading, "A Flying Visit to Busy Britain", at the closing session of the convention.

Resolutions passed at this session included compulsory pasteurization of milk for sale in this province, provision made for the training of mentally retarded children in rural areas, and financial assistance in establishing homes for the aged.

(Among the officers elected, Mrs. A. G. Leggett, of Lachute Mills, was appointed provincial convener of Welfare and Health. . . . President is Mrs. G. E. LeBaron, of North Hatley).

A number of ladies attended from the various branches of this county.

Summer Cottage Won By Montreal Woman

LEGION DRAWING IN BROWNSBURG

Brownsburg — The Legion's current campaign for funds to complete its Memorial Hall reached a climax last Friday, when the drawing for the prize of a summer cottage took place at the Legion Hall in Brownsburg. Every care was taken to make sure that all stubs were in the drum, and the lucky ticket was drawn out by Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. — the winner being Mrs. Paula Bocek, who resides at 3436 Durocher Street, Montreal; seller of the ticket was Mr. Russell Summers, secretary of the Brownsburg Legion. Mrs. Bocek was on hand at the Legion Hall to receive the congratulations of Mr. Cottingham and the key to the cottage.

This cottage was built by members of the Brownsburg Branch during the last month or two, on a lot donated by Keith Low, a member of the branch, situated on Half Moon Lake, five miles from Brownsburg. Its size is approximately 26 ft. x 18 ft., and it has been partitioned for five rooms. The log facing gives it a highly attractive appearance. The winner was shown the cottage the next day and she has decided to retain possession, for the time being at least.

The Brownsburg Memorial Hall funds have profited to the extent of approximately $700 by this venture.

Mrs. Bocek was born in London, England, and came to Canada following the conclusion of World War II.

The evening had all the aspects of a social occasion, and besides square and round dancing, there was an excellent amateur program. The audience was entertained with piano selections by Mrs. Cabana, step dancing by Albani Carriere, a tap dancing duet by Mrs. Pat Seary and Mrs. Myra Summers, and songs and a comedy act by Albert Vary. The orchestra, who gave their services without charge, consisted of Omer Carriere and Mrs. Myra Summers at the piano, and Gordon Todd, Albert Gagné and Alphonse Gagné on the violin. Callers were James Murdoch, Robert Jackson and Keith Low.

At the time of the 1941 census there were about 300,000 more males than females in Canada.

Vacations

While the appeal of skiing, hunting and fishing facilities in Quebec brings tourists to this province on a year-round basis, the summertime remains the most popular vacation period. It is then that the natural beauties of the province are unfolded in all their loveliness and people like to retreat into the charm of the countryside.

Vacation facilities in Quebec offer to the people of this province an opportunity to rest and relax, to renew their mental and physical health for the days ahead. In addition, the tourist season brings millions of dollars to the province and the people of the province.

The value of vacations is well known, but it is only in recent years that the majority of people have been able to enjoy them. Half a century ago they were limited to a few people in the higher income brackets.

The basic reason vacations are feasible today is the increase in the productivity of business and industry. Better tools and equipment and more efficient methods have made it possible for the workman of today to accomplish far more in much less time than his forefathers. This higher productivity has led to higher incomes and the chance to have holidays.

Electricity has played a major role in this development. Electrically driven machines make work much easier and faster, decreasing the burden of necessary chores in every business and home where they are used. Electricity not only helps to make vacations possible, but in most instances is available to help people enjoy their leisure more.

Although electricity has not changed the basic nature of farm work, which requires the farmer to be on hand throughout most of the summer, it has lightened this work a great deal. It may still be difficult for the farmer to take summer holidays, but electricity has made farm life much more pleasant.

All in all, electricity has contributed vastly to the enjoyment of life and in many ways has made possible and pleasant the vacation period enjoyed by most people in the province.

DID YOU KNOW?

That the cost of lines radiating from local substations represents only a fraction of the total cost of providing electric service.

Grass Silage Increases Milk, Meat Production

The silage method of preserving green hay and surplus pasture crops has grown to be a major part of the planned roughage economy on many Canadian livestock farms.

According to C-I-L Agricultural News, grass silage can replace corn silage in the ration of dairy cows. Research work has shown that a pound of total digestible nutrients in grass silage produced as much milk or weight gain as a pound of total digestible nutrients in corn silage.

Grass silage from alfalfa was found to have twice as much protein as corn silage, which pointed the way to reducing the protein content of grain supplements. Field studies indicated that when legumes or mixtures of legumes and grasses were fertilized as liberally as corn, the yields on a greenweight basis were higher than corn and the costs were lower.

Further tests showed that milk produced when cows were fed grass silage contained more carotene and vitamin A than when corn silage was fed. It also had a better flavor.

Stress on Horse Show At Ottawa Exhibition

Ottawa — The pony with an ear for music and an eye for the nearest stall may win himself a handsome prize at the Horse Show sponsored by the Central Canada Exhibition at Lansdowne Park on August 20 - 25. . The novel attraction is a class titled "musical stalls" which, in horse talk, means something very like musical chairs.

This will be but one feature of the matinee performance of the Horse Show held Friday afternoon, August 24. The regular evening shows will be carried on Monday through Friday of Exhibition Week.

The musical stalls class is for saddle ponies ridden by boys or girls 16 years of age and under. The ponies will parade around the Coliseum ring to the tune of suitable music. From time to time the music will stop and the ponies must make their way to the stalls provided.

One at a time, the stalls will be removed and the entrants will have to scurry to gain a place. The contest will finally work down to two ponies, and one stall, and the more alert steed will gain the prize.

The C.C.E.A. Horse Show this year has a record prize schedule and a heavy entry list is anticipated. There are a wide variety of classes catering to roadsters, harness, saddle ponies, hunters, etc.

All events in the Horse Show will be conducted under the rules and regulations of the Canadian Horse Shows Association; closing date for entries is July 30. Entry forms and prize lists may be secured from the Exhibition offices at Lansdowne Park, Ottawa.

Insecticides for Agriculture

Until recent years the variety of materials for use against insects affecting farm, orchard and garden crops and against livestock pests, was relatively small. Arsenicals and nicotine sulphate were the principal insecticides for use on crops, while rotenone and pyrethrum were the principal materials for combating insects affecting domestic animals.

Developments in the field of pest control have been rapid during the past ten years, and today there is a wide variety of insecticides for agricultural use and new materials are constantly being promoted.

The chlorinated hydrocarbon insectides, which include DDT, chlordane, benzene, hexachloride (BHC), and its purified form, lindane, toxaphene, heptachlor, methoxychlor and aldrin, now serve in controlling an extensive range of agricultural pests. There is a wide difference in the degree of toxicity in the different members of this class, says P. M. Overholt, who supervises registrations of pesticides under the Federal Pest Control Products Act, and the use or uses for each should be confined to the recommendations accepted at time of registration and which are printed on the label.

Another new class of insecticide and more acutely toxic than the chlorinated hydrocarbons, is the organic phosphates, the two chief members of which are parathion and Tepp. These are effective materials in combating the destructive aphids and mites but are so dangerous to handle that extraordinary precautions are necessary in using them. The recommendations approved for these, Mr. Overhold points out, are that they be used only on tree fruits and on turnip and pea crops, but Tepp may be used on certain vegetable crops as well because of the shorter duration of its toxic effects.

Methoxchlor, lindane and piperonyl butoxide mixtures are in a class which are not regarded as hazardous, and so are recommended for use against flies and lice on animals, including dairy cattle.

Lachute Boy Delegate On U.N. 'Youth Pilgrimage'

Affairs, Participation in Church Young People's Groups, Interest in World Affairs and Availability for Making the Journey". Essay contests were used in some communities to help in the selection.

A first-hand study will be made of the organization and functioning of the United Nations. Delegates will see councils and commissions of the United Nations in action. In the U.N. Building, they will be instructed with charts and diagrams about the 60-nations U.N. and the inter-relation of its various parts and agencies. They will see moving pictures of the work being done by some of the special branches, such as UNESCO and WHO.

A fascinating experience will be actually sitting in the council chambers, with earphones over which they may tune in on any one of the five languages used. There will be interviews with members of the delegations of various countries, and some of the national secretariats will be visited. The pilgrimage delegates will mingle with U.N. personnel from all over the world as they eat at the U.N. cafeteria.

Besides seeing the U.N. in action at Lake Success and the famed new permanent headquarters building in New York City, the delegates will also visit the United States Mission to the United Nations. Here at the headquarters of Warren Austin, chief of United States delegates, the young people will see the part United States plays in U.N. affairs. They will also learn something of the important relationship of Canada with world affairs.

Lodging of the young people has been arranged at the Chesterfield Hotel. Besides engaging in serious study and observation of the U.N., the delegates will see something of New York City and environs.

They will have a three-hour boat trip around Manhattan Island, make a tour of Rockefeller Centre, visit Coney Island, have reserved seats at Radio City Music Hall, witness radio broadcasting and TV programs, and have the thrill of a trip to the Statue of Liberty. These events are being arranged by a committee of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Greater New York City.

The pilgrimage is sponsored by the Youth Committee of the Sovereign Grand Lodge and Association of Rebekah Assemblies of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. The Rebekahs and Odd Fellows of Quebec are sponsoring the four delegates mentioned. Walker K. McArthur, P.G.M., of Lachute, Sovereign Grand Messenger of the Order, is chairman of the Junior Lodges Board of Control Committee for the Odd Fellows, while Beatrice Dever, Past President, is chairman of the Theta Rho Girls' Clubs, Board of Control Committee for the Rebekahs. Reginald P. Thomas, Pointe Claire, is chairman of the Odd Fellows Committee for the United Nations Pilgrimage for Quebec.

This pilgrimage offers young people, who will be leaders of the future in their home communities, an understanding of their responsibilities toward world relationships that will make them effective in helping bring about real world co-operation.

Laziness -- A Lost Art?

NOWADAYS nearly everyone has more leisure time than ever before. Weekly working hours are shorter, holidays are more numerous and modern gadgets make work around the home easier. But leisure time and relaxation are not necessarily the same.

Most of us work just about as hard filling up our leisure time with "useful" pursuits or with frantic recreation as we do on the job.

For a lot of us the ability to take life easy is a lost art. We have forgotten how to relax. We would like to suggest a prescription to help all of us regain the true art of relaxation.

Pick a warm, sunny summer day. Find a quiet spot in garden or park and choose a tall leafy tree. Then lie down under the tree on the grass.

What more delightful feeling is there than that drowsy sense of idleness that comes when one lies staring through leafy branches at the bright sky beyond? Then, if we let our minds wander, we will find ourselves free from all the worries and problems of our daily living and we will achieve a mental state of utter detachment.

We believe that keeping up with the times, being conversant with the problems that confront our modern civilization — the threat of Communism, industrial disputes, hot and cold wars, spiralling prices and all the other factors that make this a hectic age — is a sign of healthy citizenship of our own land and of the world.

But when we find our nerves rubbed raw and our fear of the shape of things to come getting the better of us, the best thing we can do is stretch out under a tree and just relax.

Laziness, in moderation of course, is a worthwhile art that many of us need to regain so that we may renew the vigor of our minds and bodies to meet the pressure of these energetic times in which we live.

Next Please

NECESSITY is the proverbial mother of invention; but it's our guess that Sales Promotion has inspired more bright, ingenious and fatuous ideas than any single motive force of our modern age. Take this instance, reported in the journal "Marketing". . .

An enterprising cigarette manufacturer has found a steady increasing market among firms employing large numbers of salesmen. He provides packages of cigarettes with the purchaser's name and advertisement printed on the cover, and the name on each cigarette. The packages are being used as calling cards by salesmen and are proving to be excellent door openers for all types of prospects and customers.

SUMMER vacations are fine, and Canada is a wonderful place to spend them. Nevertheless, sometimes we can't resist a smile at the glowing advertisements intended to lure people and their pelf to our holiday resorts.

Not that we would say anyone is prevaricating. We wouldn't want to be accused of such un-Canadianism. But it's what the advertisements don't refer to, that we find amusing.

Take a look at that billboard. Once you pull your eyes away from that blonde in the sunsuit, lying in the grass by a northern lake, you'll realize something is missing. Of course it wasn't to be expected that the artist would depict those pesky mosquitoes, and he should never put the gal right where the mosquitoes are thickest. . . . And the grass? How about poison ivy — that public enemy that lurks in the choicest North American vegetation?

What about the magazine picture of the young city couple, happily paddling a canoe up a fast-flowing river? It's 10 chances to one they have just started, otherwise they'd be moaning over blistered hands and wishing they'd rented an outboard motor.

And that rented cottage. Nobody told that tired Chicago Dad about digging ice from the sawdust every day to keep baby's milk fresh, to say nothing about spending hours trying to get the strange motorboat to run. (The fixing necessitated a 50-mile drive to the nearest garage).

After all, it's no crime to have mosquitoes and poison ivy. The United States has them too — although we'd say Canada has a decided edge in black flies. It might be an idea to prepare the visitor for the worst by handing him bottles of insect repellent and poison ivy lotion at the border.

Maybe, we're all wrong. Maybe your American is the rugged type who comes to Canada expecting to give the rugged life a whirl for a couple of weeks. . . In that case let's say a word or two in our advertisements for the mosquito, the poison ivy, the blisters, the ice-house and the outdoor plumbing. Chances are he'd love it.

AT A TIME when colleges overflow our cities with graduates, it is opportune to remind ourselves that it is with wisdom and reflection that these young people must find their way towards the career they have chosen. There are too many people who choose without sufficient consideration a career which only brings them mediocre satisfaction.

Scientists Test Cloth for Warmth

Apparatus to determine the efficiency of various fabrics in retaining warmth is the latest development at the National Research Council's Textile Laboratories at Ottawa.

Information gleaned from these tests will be of great value to Canadian textile producers in their future planning of indoor and outdoor clothing for both military and civilian wear. The Canadian industry is already noted for the development of textiles uniquely adapted to the variations of the Canadian climate. Now they will have a new tool to assist them.

Actually, tests will be made to determine the thermal conductivity of clothing materials in still air and in winds up to 25 miles per hour. The scientific unit for measuring such insulation value is known as "calories per second per square centimeter per degree centigrade temperature difference", but for ease of expression the word "clo" has been coined.

The "clo" is roughly a measure of the amount of clothing insulation which a normal resting man finds comfortable in an environment of 70 degrees Fahrenheit with a relative humidity of 50 per cent and an air movement of 10 feet a minute. On this basis clothing can be apparatus tested and graded accordingly.

VACATION DAYS

Vacation Days are here once more
Just as they were the year before,
When folks forsake the sizzling town
To seek some lake in which to drown —
When men forget their worldly cares
While ice-cream vendors shout their wares —
When married men will seek each beach
To feast each eye upon each peach —
When water in the kitchen sinks
Competes with sellers of soft drinks —
When railroad trains, bound for the sands
Transport the cheap-excursion fans —
When wilting folks with sunburned faces
Return from hectic week-end places —
When all the daily papers say:
"Two hundred accidents today."

Still, after all, in lots of ways
I much prefer vacation days.
It's nice to travel and to roam
And write to those who stay at home.
Who envy me my bulging purse
While they their secret grudges nurse.
They must endure the stuffy town
While I am happy, fat and brown.
I love to golf and swim and fish
And gratify each lazy wish,
I saunter through the woods and shirk
While other people have to work.
And furthermore, I'm never loath
To pluck each doubtful fungoid growth
And test it in my frying-pan
To see if it is fit for man.
My folk and I can pitch our camp
Down where it's nice and cool and damp
Or by a lake with sheltered bays.
Oh, how we love vacation days!
They give my scientific wife
A chance to study Insect Life,
And make an opportunity
For Insect Life to study Me.

MINE RESCUE VITAL

To maintain the high standard of efficiency of mine rescue workers in the Drumheller area, and as training for accidents, a proper practice area travelling at least 300 feet underground should be established in a centrally-located area. WASTEFUL MIXTURE

The matter of getting stuck on the main street continued after the rain and, in most cases, through foolishness of the majority of drivers continuing down a road which had already mired a number of vehicles. We suggest use of a much better grade of gravel. Spreading the mixture of clay and sand taken from the town pit is a waste of time and money.

Communists and "Apathists"

Should we ask most any man on the street today to tell us what persons were must busily engaged in undermining democracy, the reply probably would be an unhesitating, "Why, the Communists, of course."

He could be wrong. . . Undoubtedly a Communist fifth column exists, but that is a menace of which we are fully aware; it is a menace which may be stamped out by organized vigilance exercised day and night throughout our land.

There are, however, even more insidious enemies at work within our borders; they are everywhere among us, silently strangling the roots of democracy and, strangely enough, doing it unawares.

They are the apathists. They are the men and women who use their democratic right negatively to carp and criticize all year around, but who fail to live up to their positive obligation of getting out and selecting their representatives at the polls, or who fail to vote when specific issues are placed before them. They are those among us who fail to hear the still voice of gratitude for the freedom we, as individuals, enjoy in a democracy, and have come to take for granted.

Political freedom is so natural to our way of life in a democracy that we accept it as a matter of course, as naturally, in fact, as we accept sunshine and shadow. It is time, perhaps, that we remembered that over a great portion of the globe today the sun of political freedom has gone into eclipse. Total eclipse.

No, it is not the Communist fifth column which is our greatest danger here in Canada, it is plain, everyday indifference, as attested by election figures from coast to coast, both in urban centres and at remote country points.

Election statistics showing percentages of citizens exercising their franchise can denote only a widespread indolence, the growth of which has reached a positive danger point.

It is time we apathetic Canadians recalled the discerning and far-seeing speech upon the right of election made by John Philpot Curran in 1790 when he said:

"It is the common fate of the indolent to see their rights become a prey to the active. The condition upon which God hath given liberty to man is eternal vigilance; which condition if he break, servitude is at once the consequence of his crime and the punishment of his guilt."

Let us then remember that in parts of the world the fire of freedom has been snuffed out; on other far-off frontiers the flames of freedom are flickering.

Let us diligently attend to our fire of personal freedom from day to day; for once extinguished, we might find here, as they have found elsewhere, that it cannot be rekindled.

The solid anvil of democracy will wear out the Communist hammer. Against democracy, apathy may be the lethal weapon. It is the apathists we most must fear.

Local Government in Germany

The recent White Paper entitled "A Report on some Methods used to assist Local Government and the Civil Service in the British Zone of Germany", deserves notice by all interested in local government. It describes what must always be one of the most interesting phenomena: an attempt to persuade one country to infuse into its institutions something of the fundamental notions of another. Our aim in this case has been to induce the Germans to correct the anti-democratic traits of German local government, viz. — the tendency of officials to rule the roost, the centralization of finance, the tendency for local government bodies to act as administrative organs carrying out the policy of the central government rather than independent bodies responsible to the electorate, and the habit of local officials of regarding themselves as the servants of the central government rather than of the local council. One institution in particular is anathema to the English way of life — that of the Magistrat. The Magistrat is a mixed committee of elected members and officials which is broadly speaking directly responsible for administration, the council only laying down general policy. Such a system leads to many practices alien to our local government, e.g., overshadowing of the policy-making body by an executive, the trespassing of the official into politics, and leaving to officials the spending of the sums voted in the budget with little or no supervision from the council. We have tried to encourage the Germans to establish a local government system more like our own, with local elected councils responsible both for policy and for its execution, and with a corps of non-political officials responsible only to the council, having no direct responsibility to the electorate or to superior levels of government.

We did not impose this system permanently by law. Instead we have tried to convince the Germans of the advantages of our method, especially as an insurance against a repetition of 1933. The Foreign Office White Paper describes how this has been done — by visits of parties of German administrators to the local authorities in England, by lectures given by English officials in Germany, and by conferences.

It is too early yet to assess the results. Most visitors to England have been impressed with what they saw, but they were, unhappily, only a tiny portion of the total number of German local government officials. The natural reaction of an official nurtured in the German tradition is against our system, because it gives the official less power and puts him into the background as a public figure. (Only those who have been present at a meeting of elected representatives in Germany, presided over by an official, can really know the inferiority which rises in the elected representative's breast when he is confronted by an official clothed with all the prestige of his office). But many of the most far-seeing Germans are coming to see the advantages of the "subordinate" position of the English official, and of making elected representatives responsible to the electors for the execution of policy as well as for its determination.

Quits 47-Year Task With Perfect Record

Parry Sound, Ont. (CP)—Maurice Brais has just completed a 47-year-job as district marine agent with the department of transport with an accident-free record for all that time.

"There has not been one commercial shipping casualty in 48 years caused through a defect in any aid of navigation in our district", said Mr. Brais.

And he's the person who should know — because it's just 47 years since he came to Parry Sound to found the first marine agency on the Great Lakes.

Under his supervision offices and docks were built and the waterfront filled in.

Today the white building which houses Mr. Brais' headquarters is the centre from which flows all the navigation aids for an area from Sarnia to Fort William, covering Lakes Huron and Superior, and stretching as far as Lake Winnipeg and Lake Nipigon.

When Agent Brais opened the Parry Sound division he was the whole office staff. Now a staff of 14 is employed.

Mr. Brais was born in Beloeil, Que., and worked for two years in New York before returning to Canada.

Tom Gard's Note Book

My lawn roller never seems to be home. Possibly I should make another one — just to lend to people! Fooling aside, this borrowing tools and then forgetting to bring them back can be most annoying — and I'm not guiltless. I was all set to roll the area just spaded for late vetetables when I discovered it was missing. The predicament was finally settled by borrowing Herb's sleek "store" job. It gave me the idea of looking for a short, fat hot water tank and fixing up a handle attachment from inch water pipe. Its weight can be regulated by the amount of water used in the tank — quite an improvement on my present one filled with heavy concrete. Possibly that will be my first job when holidays are over.

Chintz Canopy

Here is a simple way to perk up your kitchen window, noticed while in the Ste. Annes area. A light canopy was constructed from building board and fastened on the inside to the edge of the window frame. Bright chintz was sewn in the form of an awning to fit the frame and thumb tacked in place, with the tacks out of sight. It was most attractive. After repeated attempts to describe its construction to my usually bright "better half", I finally took the hint and built one. Now she will have to get busy and cover it.

While she is sewing the canopy, maybe I can talk her into covering the guest book I made out of a cigar box last spring. It's quite attractive in its natural finish but it will be even better covered with some of the drapery material that was left over.

Knick-Knack Shelf

If you want a small shelf for light keepsakes try your hand at making one from coat hangers. It will take a bit of patience to form the wire into the desired pattern but it can be done.

What is A "Point of Order"?

The above question has been asked both in jocular and serious vein on many occasions, and I have noticed that no one attempts to give an answer, yet strangely enough it seems to be a comparatively easy question to answer.

There is undoubtedly a good deal of confused thinking on the subject, as is clear from the many occasions on which in all kinds of assembly, people rise "on a point of order", which is no more a point of order than an elephant is a domestic animal.

Before attempting to say what a point of order is, how often do we hear people who have previously spoken on a subject interrupt a subsequent speaker "on a point of order" to explain that they did not mean to convey the interpretation which the subsequent speaker has put on their remarks? Again, how frequently does a person use this device to correct a statement made by a speaker?

Actually, a point of order can only be raised on questions purely of procedure. Where a speaker deviates from the strict rules of debate or the standing orders of the body of which he is a member, another member is entitled to rise on a point of order. It is a submission to the chairman that the speaker has violated the rules of debate or the standing orders of the body, the observance of which it is the duty of the chairman to secure. If, for example, a member speaks longer than the time permitted by standing orders, he is committing a breach of order to which another member is entitled to draw attention "on a point of order". Similarly, if the mover of a motion introduces new matter in reply to a debate, attention can be drawn to this "on a point of order". Again, if a member formally seconds a motion and subsequently rises to speak on it (where this is not permitted by standing orders) and no objection is taken by the chairman, another member is entitled to rise "on a point of order".

It is surprising, however, how rarely incidents occur in practice which are really breaches of order, and my experience has been that on ninety-nine occasions out of a hundred when a member of a body "rises on a point of order" it is not a true point of order at all. One is aware of the fact that many of those raising such points realize that they are not points of order; it is merely a device to enable the person concerned to secure another word in the debate. This is a matter against which a strict chairman is always on his guard. His task, however, is not easy, since until the member has made his point, the chairman is unable to decide whether what he is proposing to raise is a point of order or not. By that time the damage, if it is damage, has been done, and the member has made his point, even though it is not a point of order. There is one very effective way of preventing this, and that is for the chairman to require the member to indicate at the outset the standing order of the rule of debate which he is contending has been infringed.

The raising of unnecessary points of order has become a recognized debating device, in the sense that it is often done, but can be extremely unfair to members of any body in which it is used too frequently. The accomplished speaker is not put off his line of thought by interruptions of this kind, but it may well cause embarrassment to one who does not find public speaking easy, or has a tendency to nervousness. One answer to this is that it is better to put a speaker off his theme than to allow an incorrect statement to go unchallenged or a wrong interpretation to be put on an earlier statement, but there is a way to avoiding this without interrupting the speaker in the course of his remarks, namely, by rising after the speaker has finished his remarks and asking the permission of the chairman to make a point of personal explanation. Such a point should, however, be made very simply, in as few words as possible, and should be confined merely to correcting the speaker's statement without elaboration. While many forms of standing orders do not provide for points of personal explanation, no reasonable chairman would refuse to accept one.

In conclusion, it should be said that whether a point of order or a point of explanation is being made, the same rule should apply as in the case of speeches generally. In other words, it should be brief, to the point, and made without repetition.

THE MOUNTED POLICEMAN

It may seem anomalous that, at a parade glorifying the motor car, police mounted on horses kept the crowd back from blocking the route. They were demonstrating one of the limitations of modern science. The animals were performing a service for which no machine can substitute.

The mounted policeman is a long way from obsolescence. In handling crowds, he and his horse have no equal. Motorcycles and automobiles have been tried, with indifferent success. It is a job in which both the officer and his mount must exercise intelligence, and no one has yet found a way to make a machine think. The horses will stay on strength for a long time yet.

DUTIES OF CANADIANS

The remarks of Senior County Judge Albert J. Gordon, K.C., to those receiving Canadian citizenship are always classic. He tenders the newcomers to citizenship ranks some excellent advice. To the last group he said:

"You must realize it is your duty to be good and kind to Canada. You can't expect all the good things in life and not give something to your country in return.

"Canada expects you will obey her laws. She expects that, as far as possible, you will make your own living, and not, unless absolutely necessary, look to the state for aid.

"She expects you to bring up your children to be law-abiding and that they will become useful Canadian citizens. There's no greater legacy we can leave to our country than young men and women who are brought up in that way."

That's worth pasting in the hat.

CANADIANS HELP RESTORE A LONDON PARISH CHURCH

Canadians visiting Britain should include St. Marylebone Parish Church in their list of "musts" while in London.

The church buildings were badly damaged during World War II. The restoration work is partly paid for through the generosity of members of the Church of England in Canada, and the beautiful new ceiling was recently completed.

A gift from Winnipeg, a $300 cheque from the Browning Circle, paid for a stained glass window in the Browning Memorial Chapel. It was in St. Marylebone Parish Church that Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett were married in 1846, and a small chapel has now been constructed within the church to commemorate the centenary of the marriage.

Completed in 1817, the church, a fine example of Georgian classical architecture, was designed by Thomas Hardwicke. When built, it served a rapidly growing district formerly served by a tiny village church built in 1740, and which, incidentally, was demolished only last summer.

Staiper wrote his "Crucifixion" for St. Marylebone choir and conducted its first performance in the church.

In the St. Marylebone Church school grounds (directly behind the church and facing Marylebone High Street) stands Charles Wesley's tombstone, while a few yards away in Devonshire Terrace is the house, occupied for many years by Charles Dickens, where he wrote several of his books, including "Dombey & Son", whose characters are said to be drawn from actual inhabitants of Marylebone.

Other famous names connected with the church are Lord Byron, Francis Bacon and Lord Nelson.

Mass Slaying Worst In Nearly 20 Years

Second Largest Crime of Kind in Manitoba's History

Winnipeg (CP) — Police records show that the recent slaying of five members of a family at Graysville, Man., was the second largest crime of its kind in the province.

On January 29, 1932, seven members of the Martin Sitar family were slain by a farmhand on their farm near Elma, Man.

In that mass murder an axe was used. In the recent slaying at Graysville a high-powered rifle was used to shoot down Henry Schmidt, 71, his wife, and three of their children.

Their son, John Henry Schmidt, 31, was charged with murder. A few days later he hanged himself in jail.

While Schmidt surrendered himself to police about an hour after the slayings, in the 1932 case it took police four days to run down Thomas Hreczkosky, 28-year-old farmhand. He was convicted and his death sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Hreczkosky struck down the Sitar family — mother and father and five children — with the axe, then set fire to the house. Neighbors dragged two badly-wounded children from the blaze, but they died.

Hreczkosky told police: "The devil was in my heart. . . The devil told me to kill Martin Sitar and his family, and then go away and hide in the bushes."

Couple Feted on Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. John Nicoll, residents of the Vide Sac road, were happily surprised on the evening of their 50th wedding anniversary, June 26, when 50 or 60 relatives and neighbors dropped in to greet them and extend good wishes. Edmund Smith, on behalf of the gathering, made the presentation of a gold-colored Ayers overthrow and a handsome bouquet of yellow roses. Edgar Jackson fiddled a merry tune and dancing was enjoyed, followed by the serving of refreshments provided by the visiting throng. Old Mr. Nicoll was among those to dance the first set.

Among greetings received by Mr. and Mrs. Nicoll was a telephone call at midnight during the festivities — from a nephew, Carl Gordon, who was in Chicago at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicoll are in good health and spirits. They live alone, occupying their own home in the Vide Sac settlement.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

An inaugural service will be held in the Grenville Presbyterian Church on Sunday, July 15, at 3 p.m. The Rev. Dr. W. H. Reid, of Lachute, will preach, assisted by other clergy of the Montreal presbytery. It is expected that regular Sunday services will be arranged at this church in the future.

At Brownsburg Council

Laurentien Industries, had been cleared. The balance were in process of being settled.

He had the engineer's report, and found that the project had cost $12,289.51. A sum of $6,500 had been paid out by the Council, leaving a balance of $5,789.51 on hand to be paid when the Council was satisfied that no claims could be entered against it for unpaid debts. The secretary added, the engineer judged the work done to be very satisfactory and a competent job.

Sidewalks

Reports were received from C-I-L (L. C. Thompson) that the sidewalk on Main opposite the residence of Hugh Kerr, was too low and water flowed over, washing the gravel from a front walk.

The Protestant School Board wrote informing the Council that the sidewalk on Main in front of the school was crumbling, and asked that repairs be carried out now while the pupils were on vacation.

Both matters were passed to the roads committee for attention.

Half-Million Invested

The secretary reported he had received a memo from the Department of Municipal Affairs showing the present financial position of the corporation. Its indebtedness consists of loans outstanding under four loan by-laws, as follows —Main waterworks loan outstanding:

$142,228 passed in '41; 30-year loan.

$19,859 asphalting of streets.

$54,425 waterworks St. Paul - St. Antoine.

$17,322 St. George - St. Laurent.

making a total debt, with interest over $50,000, of $234,104.80.

In answer to Mr. Robbins, the secretary said the highest interest rate was 3½%, and all the projects for which money was obtained (except asphalting the streets) were self-liquidating.

Government Grant to Asphalt Streets

Mayor Pariseau said he was pleased to inform the meeting that Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., had sent him word that a grant to asphalt the remaining streets, chiefly in the French Hill area, was obtained, and the work would commence very soon. Mr. Cottingham also offered to do the street leading to the Legion Hall, provided the Council undertook the cost of the preparatory roadbed. The Mayor added he was very grateful to Mr. Cottingham, and appreciative of the good work he was doing for his constituents. He spared no effort to help in municipal work, and he (Mayor Pariseau) found Mr. Cottingham "a real sport".

Secretary Hebert: "He treated us very well in fire protection matters, and always assisted us to the maximum extent."

Pie, the Favorite Of All Desserts

This being the beginning of the fruit season, the home economists of the Department of Agriculture have sent information about fruit pies, those bright red cherry ones and those luscious berry pies. Everyone would like to be a perfect pastry-maker, and everyone can be. It does not take good luck nor years of experience. It merely takes four ingredients — flour, shortening, salt and water, and care in putting them together. The home economists suggest that the usual combination of these four ingredients for a one crust pie is ⅓ cup of shortening to 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons of sifted pastry flour or 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon of salt and about 2 tablespoons of cold water. The first thing to do in making pastry is to combine the shortening with the dry ingredients, then moisten with just as little water as possible, that is, use only enough water to hold the dough together. If possible allow the dough to chill a short time in the refrigerator before using. Roll the pastry out on a pastry board which has a piece of canvas or waxed paper placed on top. Never roll the dough too much. A hot oven to bake the pastry is, of course, a necessity. If these directions are followed, anyone should have flaky, golden pastry. Most fruit pies are very juicy and need a thickener to keep the juice from running over in the oven. Either flour, corn starch or tapioca may be used as thickeners. For berry pies the usual proportions are 4 tablespoons of flour (or 2 tablespoons of corn starch, or 2½ tablespoons of tapioca) for each pie. Often the juices of these pies, even though thickened, tend to bubble over in the oven. If this is the case, a small funnel of paper, a paper straw or a few long sticks of macaroni inserted into the filling will help prevent bubbling.

Pie, when properly baked, should be nicely brown so that nothing extra is needed to make the crust attractive. However, for those who prefer a shiny, glazed crust, the home economists suggest four ways of accomplishing this. First of all, egg white slightly beaten and brushed over the top of the crust before baking gives a beautiful glaze. A little granulated sugar sprinkled on top also makes a crust glisten. Evaporated milk brushed on the crust before baking produces a brown, shiny crust and cream, top milk, ice water or salad oil will give the same effect.

There are many designs and types of pie crust. Two-crust pies are very common but all too often, the top crust is too plain. Fancy crusts can be made easily and are most attractive. Lattice crusts are made by merely forming a lattice work on top of the pie filling with strips of pastry. Fancy shapes of pastry cut with a cookie cutter give another interesting and attractive crust. A wheel crust is made by merely placing three strips of pastry across the pie in the form of the spoke of a wheel. It is more realistic if the first two strips are snipped where they cross before the third strip is put in place. Whirligig crusts may be made by cutting one-inch strips of pastry and forming them in circles on top of the pie. Deep dish pies are another favorite and homemakers will do well not to forget them. This type may be made as one large family-sized pie or as individual pies.

From these ideas, the home economists hope that homemakers will feature fruit pies in their meals in this the season of berries and other Canadian fruits.

BOON TO WOMEN, SEWING MACHINE IS CENTURY OLD

Singer Took Patents in 1851 For Machine that Changed Home Sewing Habits

New York (CP) — It's just a century ago that a former actor and machinist named Isaac Singer received some patents, formed a manufacturing company and thereby opened a door through which women streamed into the world beyond their thresholds.

Singer manufacured sewing machines, more frequently called "Iron Needlewomen". He and his competitors did more than revolutionize women's lot by freeing her from the drudgery of endless sewing. They laid a cornerstone for the huge ready-made garment industry which in the United States alone is an $11-billion a year operation.

The Industrial Revolution was in full swing when Singer came up with his idea. The Flying Shuttle, the Spinning Jenny, and the Cotton Gin were replacing hand labor in manufacture. The placid, rural faces of Britain and America were changing as cities sprang up around factories. Steam-operated machines were replacing the horse and the canvas sail.

Singer did not invent the sewing machine. He improved on it and made it practical. In 1755 Charles Weisenthal whipped up a contraption using a needle with two sharp points and an eye in the centre. In 1790 an Englishman, Thomas Saint, invented a stitching machine to work on leather. Barthelemy Thimmonier, a French tailor, invented a wooden machine and had 80 of them working on army uniforms in 1841 when frightened competitors smashed them in the belief the things might ruin their livelihoods.

Flat Feed Secret

Walter Hunt, the New York genius who invented the safety pin, the snow plow and the paper Collar, came up with a sewing machine in the early 1830's, but his 15-year-old daughter discouraged him from patenting the idea — on the ground it would put thousands of overworked, eye-strained seamstresses out of work.

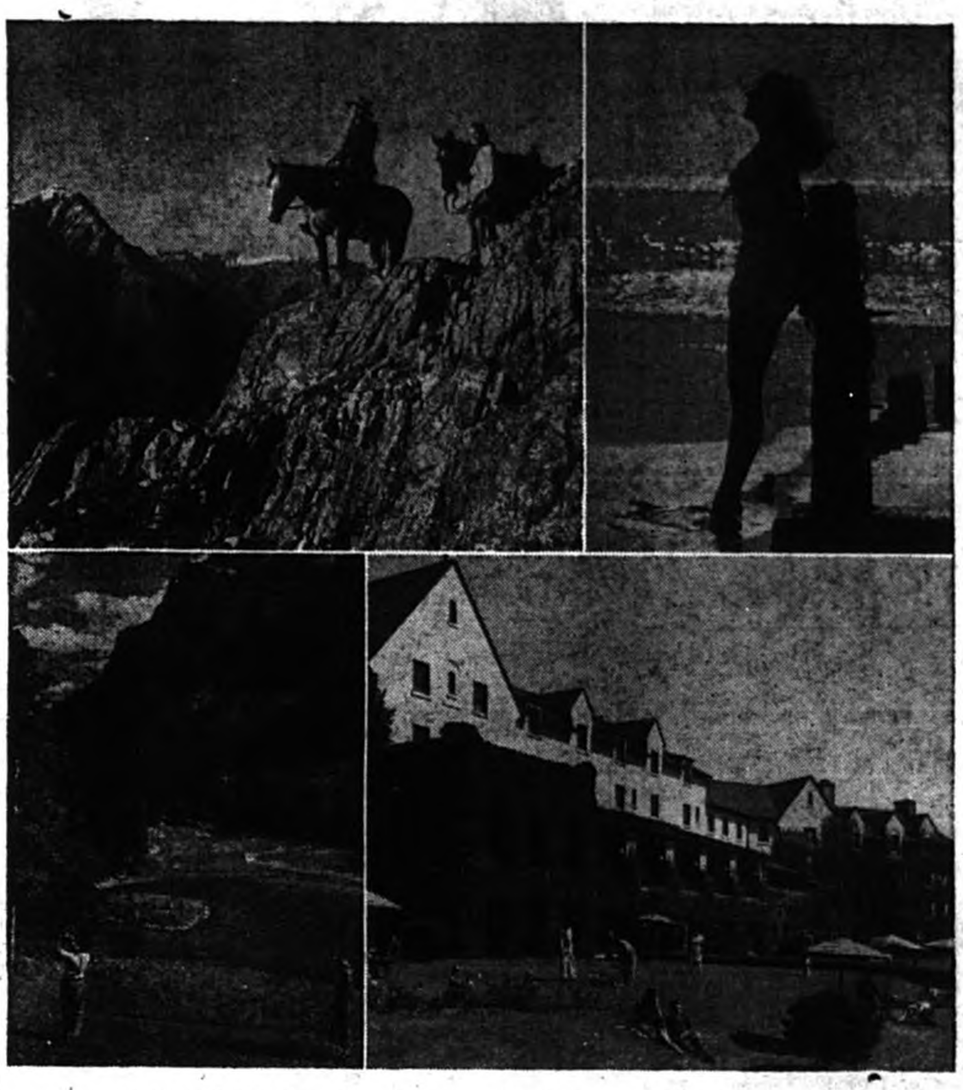

Ten years later Elias Howe, Jr., constructed and patented a Lockstitch Machine, but never could round up enough funds or faith to promote it successfully.

Singer saw an imitation of Howe's machine. He quickly assessed the mistakes in its construction and with $40 in borrowed capital went to work on his own improvements. One major change was to tip the mechanism on its side so that the material could be fed to the needle on a horizontal plate. This made it possible to run the machine continuously. He was able to patent the improvements.

The freedom of women from the tyranny of the thimble literally changed the course of history. Women used their new found leisure to contemplate the social and political scene.

Now the sewing machine is everywhere. The machines operate in mud huts of darkest Africa, and in igloos beyond the Arctic Circle.

IT'S VACATION TIME IN CANADA

From sea to sea in Canada — Canadians are once more enjoying vacation time. The Canadian Pacific resorts rank high in Canada's attractions. Mile-high golf at Banff Springs, or Trail Riding there; regal living at the Digby Pines (seen above) and happy days exploring the seashore—all Canada's vacation wealth is to be found waiting at any of the C.P.R's resort hotels. The Pines, at Digby, N.S.; the Algonquin, at St. Andrew's-by-the-Sea, N.B.; Devil's Gap Lodge, near Kenora, Ont., Banff Springs Hotel, Chateau Lake Louise and Emerald Lake Chalet in the Canadian Rockies. In addition, the Chateau Frontenac in fascinating Quebec and the Empress in beautiful Victoria are year-round meccas for tourists.

The Search for A Sitter

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"Sitting", or substituting for a mother in the care of her child, is a regular money-making occupation in our present-day society. A mother needs an occasional change from looking after children and doing housework. Her outlook on life and her general health benefit from a short time away from the the house, when she can do whatever she pleases — shop, go to a movie, attend a meeting or play bridge. A full time maid is out of the price range of most families. The assistance of a baby sitter has become an almost universal practice.

It takes time and energy and good judgment to find a sitter who suits any particular home or family. One mother often recommends a sitter to another mother. A church group leader of adolescents sometimes mentions the names of possible sitters. Occasionally the "ad" section of the daily paper carries notices of people eager to offer their services to care for children or parents searching for sitters.

An interview with a sitter and a check on at least two of her references, and on her health, are essential before a sitter is engaged. By her promptness, her appearance, her voice and language, a mother can gain a fairly accurate picture of the prospective sister's home background. The relationship between a mother and sitter is an intimate one. If the two are attracted to each other when they first meet, arrangements are more likely to work out in a satisfactory way for both employer and employee.

Being a mother is a twenty-four hour a day job. When mother delegates her responsibility for a short time to some one else, she must feel confident that the sitter is a suitable person. What should a mother look for in the person of a satisfactory helper to mind her children in her absence? What are the qualifications for a baby sitter?

Parents want to know that their children are safe and they would like to feel that they are also happy. But the first requirement of a sitter is certainly that the child or children be kept from danger.

Careful parents are constantly checking to make sure that the home environment of babies and children is as free as possible from accident hazards. At the same time a sitter must be an alert person. No one can foresee what may happen to a baby or an active child!

The medicine cabinet should be out of reach and locked. But a sitter should not bury herself in a magazine and be quite oblivious to small Junior's attempts to climb up and pry open the forbidden door!

Mothers appreciate a baby sitter who acts like a responsible person — and takes the same care of the house as she would of her own home. A sitter brings her own careless or careful habits with her. Marks of a well-brought up adolescent are unmistakable and are valued!

What about the minimum age level of a sitter? A very young girl should not have to act in an emergency. For that reason in some places age fourteen is suggested as the youngest age for a sitter. Age is not always a reliable standard because a fifteen year old, with several younger brothers and sisters, is likely to be more experienced in handling youngsters than many eighteen year old "only" girls.

People whether young or old who are not attracted to children, even if they are hard pressed for money, should not be sitters. If they dislike their work they will not do it well. Children know instinctively whether or not another person is interested in them. They respond to kindness and affection as a flower turns to the sunshine.

A mother may not realize at once that a sitter is not genuinely fond of her child. But if the child's comments reveal that he does not matter to the sitter, if he shows no desire to see her again, better part with the sitter at once and look for another one!

One Too Many

Young Alice was watching a house painter at work. Presently he asked:

"How many coats of paint do you give a door?"

"Two, my boy", was the reply.

"Then if you give it three coats", said the lad brightly, "it would be an overcoat?"

"No, my lad", retorted the painter grimly, "it would be a waste coat".

SCOTSWOMEN THRIVE ON BIG SHEEP FARM

Pembles, Scotland (CP) — One of the few women shepherds in Scotland is Miss Ruth Brookes, who came to Peebles-shire during the last war and now has developed sheep farming on the hillsides. She and her sister, who shares the work, were both in the Woman's Land Army during the Second World War.

Ruth has 412 blackface ewes to look after while Joan runs the farmhouse doing the cooking, milking cows and looking after the poultry. In the war years they worked on a sheep farm near here learning how to clip and dip sheep, along with other farm accomplishments. When a 900-acre farm came into the market they bought it, and now work seven days a week.

The word "knit" is derived from the Anglo-Saxon "Cnittan", meaning threads woven by hand.

Activity Noted -- Building Construction And Resurfacing Town Thoroughfares

Signs of Progress Comparable to Post-War Stride in Business and Residential Property

There is marked activity apparent in the renovation of several local thoroughfares which have been badly in need of repair.

Foundry Street and Grace Street are undergoing a complete resurfacing which is changing the elevations in certain spots, designed to level off humps and depressions. This procedure will require the rebuilding of sidewalks, and there has been much concern among residents, some of whom are finding their properties far above the new road level, while others are lower by comparison. There have been impromptu meetings of government and town officials with property-holders, literally on the street, but the general indication is that the road engineers' levels will prevail.

Resurfacing is also underway on Princess, Chatham and Hamford Streets. The work is being instituted by the Roads Department of the Provincial Government, with H. J. O'Connell Ltd. as contractor.

Railroad Danger Signal

Installation of the danger signal at the C.P.R. Bethany Street crossing was completed on Tuesday, and the device is now operating in such a manner as should avert all further mishaps and tragedies at this spot. The flashing light and clanging bell when a train is in the proximity of the crossing, have an attention-compelling effect.

Building Activity

Seasonal building activity is evident on all sides, but a project of major public interest is the new theatre construction on Main Street. On the lot at the rear of the new Chas. McFaul & Son store, through to Berry Street, Tom Hall has been busy this past week on a contract to excavate, and building materials are now being delivered at the site. A local builder, Omer Boudreau, has charge of the construction for a theatre of 600 seating capacity. The project is promoted by Quebec Cinema Bookings Ltd., of Montreal.

Opposite this spot on Main Street, progress is being made on the extensive enlargement of the Beamish Co. Store.

Ask Gov't Action On Farm Problem

At Eastern Agriculture Conference in Ottawa

Describing the present scarcity of farm labor in Canada as the worst in the peacetime history of farming, representatives of farm organizations in Eastern Canada, meeting in Ottawa, passed a resolution urging the national advisory committee on manpower to make a serious study of the situation and suggest means of alleviating it.

The farm labor problem provided the basis for a long and brisk discussion of the meeting, which was constituted as the second meeting of the eastern conference of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

At the meeting in Ottawa July 4 and 5, reports were heard of the farm labor situation, from all eastern provinces. Emphasis was laid on the fact that the present defence program of the nation was draining young people and other farm labor off the farms, into the services and into industry. It was felt that, in the light of the importance to the nation's program of maintaining and expanding food production on the farms, the government had some responsibility in assisting farmers to obtain suitable farm help.

The meeting decided also to ask the Department of Immigration to make greater effort to secure the immigration of larger numbers of dependable farm labor from other countries. Delegates reported that considerable trouble had been experienced in the past year in holding immigrants who had come to Canada ostensibly for farm work, but had deserted the farms very quickly for city life and jobs in industry. The difficulty of competing with the higher wages and shorter work hours prevailing in industry, was also emphasized.

The meeting, in discussing the course grains situation, also recommended that the government be asked to continue the freight assistance policy on feed grains from Western Canada to Eastern Provinces and to B.C., as a permanent feature of the Canadian agricultural program.

Inquest on Death of Boy Scout Camper, Recommendation on Culvert Guard-Rail

At the Tamaracouta district Boy Scout camp in Mille Isles, inquest was held last Thursday on the death of a young camper, King's Scout John Moffit, 16, of Westmount, who was one of several boys hurled from a truck when it toppled into a 15-foot gulley. The truck, in charge of a camp employee and accompanied by a number of Scouts, was returning to Tamaracouta with supplies from Ste. Adele. The vehicle crumbled the roadside over an unprotected culvert, and turned over.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, adding two urgent recommendations: (1) That the Provincial Roads Department place a guard rail and sign marking the fatal spot, and at all similar danger spots. (2) That the Scout organization at Tamaracouta exercise more careful supervision over their trucks and drivers, and regulate the number riding these vehicles as passengers.

The large crowd hearing the testimonies at this inquest included several legal representatives, government and Boy Scout authorities. The district coroner, Dr. Jules Lafleur, of Lachute presided. Jurors were — Amos D. Kerr (chairman), Arthur Dawson, Austin Kyle, Carl Jones, Fred Black and Norman Patterson.

U.N. 'Pilgrims' Had Instructive Session

Four youthful Quebecers will take a keener interest in the United Nations and have a better understanding of the way it operates, as a result of attending the United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth sponsored by the Rebekahs and Odd Fellows of Quebec.

The four delegates, Jean Demerse, Caroline Olsen, David Grinton, of Montreal, and James Campbell of Lachute, visited Flushing Meadows, where they listened to the Trusteeship Council discussing the educational advancement of The Cameroons, where there are many missions but few official schools.

The Council members of Trusteeship consist of the members of the Governments who administer the trusteeships: United States, United Kingdom, France, New Zealand, Belgium and Australia, and also members of the Security Council and four Governments who do not have any Trusteeship.

Trusteeships are all inherited, and remain with the same country. Allan Burns, representative from the Cameroons, was the president of Trusteeship Council and the day of the delegates' visit, Italy sat in because of their Trusteeship for Somali. Suggestions are given on how to improve the various items discussed.

The Trusteeship Council administration is to hear reports and petitions and answer petitions and send out their own visiting missions to the Trusteeship Countries.

Daniel Hogg, interpreter, explained to them the kinds of languages used in the United Nations, stating they were divided into two sections, the Official and the Working. Working languages were French, English and Spanish. Official languages were English, French, Russian, Spanish and Chinese and all documents must be in these five official languages.

The young delegates were greatly impressed with their visit to International House, where college students lived, representing 75 countries. Many wore their native costumes, and it proved that different nations can live together peacefully and exemplify the Brotherhood of Man and the Fatherhood of God, they said.

The three young Montrealers returned last week-end, while Jimmy Campbell remained to visit relatives in the United States.

Interesting Court Ruling -- Quebec City Municipal Amusement Tax 'Ultra Vires'

Premier Duplessis Confers With Newsprint Manufacturers "This Week at Quebec"

Quebec, July 10 (CP) — Premier Duplessis and representatives from Quebec's newsprint industry meet this week (Wednesday) to discuss the price and production of newsprint and the infiltration of Communist propaganda among forest workers. This development has followed a meeting two weeks ago when Quebec's newspapers asked the government to study a memorandum explaining their difficult situation due to increased operating costs.

The Premier had said the province's newspapers should receive special newsprint price consideration from Quebec's manufacturers, who obtain their pulpwood supplies from crown lands. The price of newsprint recently was increased $10, to $112.

The Premier hoped "the industry will again co-operate with the government to settle, in a friendly way, and in a just manner, the problems we will study. . "

During his flying visit to the gold-mining towns of Val d'Or and Malartic, and the farming district of Amos, Premier Duplessis said Abitibi's progress in the last 25 years "convinced him Quebec is Canada's richest province".

The Premier, accompanied by Provincial Treasurer Gagnon and Solicitor-General Rivard, attended the inauguration of a $1,000,000 seminary at Amos. He presented Bishop J. A. Desmarais of Amos with a cheque for $300,000 to be applied to the cost of the seminary.

Mr. Justice Valmore Bienvenue, of Superior Court, ruled last week that a municipal amusement tax was illegal and outside city powers. He handed down the ruling on an action taken by Quebec City theatre-owners who refused to collect a five-cent tax on tickets worth less than $1 and a 10-cent tax on tickets worth $1 or more. The court also said the city did not have the power to force the theatre-operators to collect the tax.

The amusement tax, adopted by City Council last April, was expected to bring in $280,000 and help meet an expected deficit of $1,500,000 in the 1951-52 city budget. The city actually received part of a provincial amusement tax collected in Quebec City.

The city dropped its policy of collecting the amusement tax in the city-owned coliseum, ball park and other amusement centres until it decided whether to appeal the judgment, a city official said.

Quebec W.I. Instruction Home Nursing, First Aid

A course in either Home Nursing or First Aid in every branch of the Quebec Women's Institutes, is one of the provincial objectives for the coming year, said the Q.W.I. president, Mrs. G. E. LeBaron, of North Hatley, at the recent annual provincial convention at Macdonald College. This decision stemmed from a recommendation made by Major Blacer of the Civil Defence Co-ordinating Organization, Montreal, who spoke to members of the Q.W.I. at their Leadership Training Course held earlier in the spring.

This objective was further endorsed by the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada at their conference held in June at the College, when Miss Dorothy Percy, of the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa, urged this action as a vital measure in any civil defence plan. All provincial W.I.'s are being asked to co-operate in this program as one important contribution that can be made by rural women. In Quebec such courses can be obtained from the St. John's Ambulance Association. Full particulars will be supplied upon request from the Q.W.I. office, Macdonald College.

Cerebral Palsy Study Centre May Be Built on Campus of Western University

—Central Press Canadian

Child victims of cerebral palsy like these children seen at Woodeden Centre, near London, Ont., with Margaret McQueen, occupational therapist, may find a new home on the University of Western Ontario campus if a proposed new $200,000 building is approved by Dr. G. E. Hall, the president. Dr. Hall, who has already given direct aid to the Woodeden centre, which has a close link with the university medical school, feels "very sympathetic" to the requirements of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children and hopes that a "satisfactory" agreement can be worked out so the centre will be established at London.

City Folks Irk Rural Neighbors

Saskatoon (CP) — Councillors of Cory Municipality here are bitter about soil bandits and garbage-dumping city folks.

Councillors at a recent meeting decided to take action against people who have been dumping refuse — from spoiled food to concrete blocks and beer bottles — in ditches.

An estimated 5,000 empty condensed milk cans were dumped in one ditch alone, councillors said.

The council also decided to declare war on soil bandits who have been removing large quantities of valuable topsoil from farmers' fields for use in city gardens.

POTATOES FOR PAPER-MAKING

You may soon be getting mashed potatoes in your writing paper if further experiments corroborate preliminary findings that a mixture of potatoes and wood pulp make a better grade of paper, states C-I-L Agricultural News. Further tests are being carried on by paper mills in Maine.

Average weekly salaries and wages in leading Canadian industries reached the record high of $48.16 at March 1 of this year; a year previously the average was $44.61.

In 1950 the net income of Canadian farmers from farming operations was almost 10 per cent less than in 1949 and about 12 per cent below the record high of 1948.

Gatineau LINES

Half-Year Report

With the year (and the electrical extension season) half over, our readers may be interested in the progress of the expansion program of Gatineau Power. A heavy program of new lines and service improvements on older circuits still remains to be completed before winter, but here are some of the major extensions which can be included in this half-year report.

In recent weeks we have:

—Completed the preliminary work and started a new line from Ladysmith to Otter Lake, north of Shawville.

— Completed a line on highway 11 north of Alcove.

— Completed a new line on the Dennison Road, and another in the Parish of Limbour, near Hull.

— Constructed a line to Tremblay Beach, west of Aylmer.

— Completed a line to Lake Levesque, near St. Emile.

— Completed a line north of Grenville to Rawcliffe.

— Constructed a line on Range St. Simeon, the last line required to complete the electrification of County of Two Mountains.

— Started constructing a line to Lake Louisa, North of Lachute.

— Completed a line to Lake Edward, near Morin Heights, another to Lake Tamaracouta, and a third on Range 3 of Howard, near Montfort.

— Completed lines from Hudson to Hudson Beach, and on Range St. Ignace, near Coteau du Lac.

— Started a line on the south side of Lake Echo, near Shawbridge, and completed another line to Lac des Bescies, near St. Sauveur.

— Completed a line in Cote Morel, near Ste. Sophie.

All these new lines are in addition to numerous improvements which have been put into effect elsewhere, including increased sub-station capacity, the installation of voltage regulators and the stringing of heavier lines in areas where the demand for electricity has been highest. It all adds up to a decided step forward in Gatineau's program aimed at providing electric service for the first time to many new customers, while steadily improving service to many old friends.

"Shorthorn Typist" Job Applicant

Bridgewater, Eng. (CP) — When an official of the South-West Electricity Board inserted an advertisement in a local paper for a shorthand typist, the reply he received the next day nearly floored him.

Checking the ad again, the official found it read: "Wanted — Shorthorn typist, salary £135 - £335 per annum. State experience."

Farm Topics

New Chemical, TCA, Combats Couch Grass

Ottawa — Sodium trichloroacetate, a new chemical weed-killer under test at the Experimental Farm at Nappan, N.S., shows promise as an eradicator of couch grass.

H. D. Blenkhorn, of the Nappan Farm, says the recommended dosage for couch grass is 50 to 100 pounds an acre. Unless the infestation is very severe, however, a rate of 50 to 75 pounds an acre should be sufficient.

Best results were obtained by applying the chemical — sold as Sodium TCA — after the land was ploughed and harrowed. If it is undesirable to plough, the area should be mowed before the application is made.

High rates of application of Sodium TCA have a sterilizing effect on the soil which may last as long as two months. Difficulties from sterilization may be avoided by making applications in the fall.

A new product, Sodium TCA is too expensive to use on a large scale. Good use can be made of it, however, to eradicate stands of couch grass on small areas such as fence rows or ditch banks, thus preventing the weed from spreading to cultivated fields.

Stubble in Soil Helps Solve Erosion Problem

Calgary (CP) — One of Canada's most successful dry-land farmers, district, east of Calgary, says district east of Calgary, says there's no reason why the whole province of Alberta should not be farmed as one huge field.

Although he is a conservationist and realizes the danger and tragedy of soil drifting, Mr. Lassiter says trees and strip farming are not the answer to the drifting which in drought years could turn thousands of acres of prairie into useless desert.

"Proper methods and implements can overcome lack of moisture", says the man who has operated a large-scale farm in dry southeast Alberta for 34 years.

The important thing is to use subsurface tillage and leave stubble and trash on soil that will drift, he says. The trash prevents erosion and shades the soil, preserving moisture.

"It's a crime to burn trash cover", Mr. Lassiter says. "All Alberta could be farmed as one field, and if properly done there would be no drifting."

To show what can be done, Mr. Lassiter now is conducting one of the largest single farming operations in Alberta.

Planting Huge Area

In dry, unirrigated country 60 miles east of Calgary, using soil that 30 years ago drove hundreds of homesteaders from the land, Mr. Lassiter has planted Thatcher wheat and Compana barley on 4,500 acres.

Using 50 men, seven caterpillar diesels and seven tractors working day and night to put in his crop, he selected for his experiment nearly seven sections of land in the brown soil belt of heavy loam and clay.

Cost of the operation was $50,000, or $2,000 a day, for rock clearing, preparing and seeding. The cost is about 50 per cent higher than it would be if the land were not rolling and was free of rocks.

He has used the new Noble press drill for seeding, the first time the drill has been used by anyone except its inventor, O. S. Noble of Nobleford, Alta.

Operating like an old-fashioned shoe-drill, it drops the seed deep in the ground through pipes and is followed by a heavy packer which presses the dirt into place. Thus the seed is placed in a firm, moist, and clear seed bed.

In the current fiscal year Ottawa estimates an income of $785 million from income taxes on individuals.

Those Insecticides — Handle With Care

Before purchasing any insecticide make certain it is recommended for the control of the specific insects attacking your plants; that it is recommended for application to the plants being attacked and that it is the proper formulation for the type of equipment you intend to apply it with.

This advice is passed on by J. A. Oakley, entomologist of C-I-L's agricultural chemicals department who suggests that the label on the insecticide package is a necessary step in using insecticides safely and effectively.

"Information contained on the label", he says, "is based on much research, experience and past usage. It should be read carefully and followed to the letter."

Special attention should be paid the precautions outlined on the label. For example, some materials should not be used on certain plants or not after a certain stage of their growth. Timeliness of initial and repeat applications is as important as thoroughness. Materials used at recommended strengths avoid plant injury and ensure effective control. The philosophy "if a little is good, more is better" does not apply in use of insecticides, for excess application may cause more injury than the insects themselves.

Mr. Oakley warns that some insecticides are poisonous to humans and pets as well as to insects and therefore must be handled with great care. Storage between applications is important. Back porches, garage floors and other places where children or pets can get at them must not be used. A raised locked cupboard in a garage or basement is much safer.

There are plenty of tough jobs on the farm, requiring strength, stamina and skill. But about the toughest of all is handling hay. Pitching hay on a hot day, whether in the field or mow, probably causes more perspiration than any other farm work.

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

So Long, Folks!

YEAR IN, year out, The Watchman is at the public's beck and call for such details as — information on strange objects in the firmament; how to recover mislaid articles in off-the-highway stop-spots; the line of succession to royalty — and many such questions we cannot answer.

We're here to account for delays in printing orders, omissions in classified advertising, or copies of The Watchman gone astray in the mails. We're here to catch the brickbats and to receive (less frequently) the bouquets. . .

BUT — next week folks, we're closed. We are quitting our pet worries and anxieties to enjoy a period of relaxation. So long!

Political Commissars

DEFENCE Minister Claxton's decision to set up a Bureau of Current Affairs to keep service men informed as to why they are fighting, looks a bit like borrowing a leaf from Moscow's book. Political commissars have long been an important and not always popular part of Soviet military technique. What is suitable for a totalitarian army of illiterate conscripts may not be exactly what is needed for an entirely literate army of volunteers in a democracy.

It does little credit to the intelligence of the men of Canada's fighting forces to set up a Bureau of Current Affairs to tell them through official channels why they are fighting. Most of them already know. That is why they are in the armed services.

If the problem is rather one of keeping the men of Canada's fighting forces informed about what is happening at home, there is a simple and inexpensive method of doing so without setting up a Bureau of Information. Ottawa has too many such Bureaus now. All that needs to be done is to provide the service men with newspapers and periodicals that will keep them abreast of current affairs far better than any departmental bulletins and booklets, and without the fear that invariably lurks in people's minds that official publications tend to be slanted.

Defence Minister Claxton's idea about keeping Canada's fighting forces informed on the issues of the day is sound. The method he has chosen to give effect to the scheme, however, is questionable.

City Dwellers in the Country

THE ANNUAL exodus of Canadian families from city to country may be a move from a safe to an unsafe milk supply, points out the Health League of Canada, which offers the following simple method for home pasteurization without any elaborate special equipment:

Use a double boiler which will hold about twice the amount of milk to be heated. Put enough cold water in the bottom pot to touch the top one. Put the cold milk in the top and cover it. Bring the water in the bottom pot to a boil and keep it boiling for eight minutes, then cool the milk as rapidly as possible, bottle, and place in cold storage (about 45 degrees Fahrenheit). Never put the heated milk into unsterilized bottles or the whole effort will be wasted.

This method of home pasteurization will not change the flavor of the milk. There is no danger of scorching, and no precipitation of the nutritive elements.

"SCHOOLING, without a goal and a definite goal, is like building without a plan and blueprints. The earlier a student could decide on his or her field, the more effective would be their school work from that time on. A number of scholarships would aid greatly in giving direction and impetus to the student's decision and work." — A logical comment by the Cardston (Alta.) News.

Advice to Home Hunters

AT THE RISK of being labelled lazy, we'd like to offer a bit of advice to people who are buying homes: choose your neighbors carefully.

This doesn't mean probing their political background or how they feel about late-night parties. You have to take some chances.

But cast a keen eye at the gardens around the house the mortgage company may laughingly call yours. If they are the elaborate, overgrown kind that harness a man to a hoe all summer, steer clear, keep off, move along to another street.

We've just heard the sad tale of one poor chap who failed to choose a home where gardens are small and lawns flat. He bought a place with a back-breaking terraced lawn, and a back garden of snarled bush and on a 45-degree slope at that. Eager beavers on either side of him had built terraced gardens in long years of sweat and misspent evenings.

It soon dawned on him what a spot he was in. The neighbors indicated the former occupant was a loafer who spent his evenings in beery idleness. But our friend wouldn't be that sort of fellow — no, of course not.

For a while he stalled. There were things he could do inside where the whole neighborhood couldn't see him loafing. This spring that backyard just had to be terraced. . . Fortunately, as the man himself relates it, he broke his leg on May 24 and was free to loaf while the neighbors talked about convenient accidents. . . But what of next year? The man isn't a centipede and broken legs are expensive.

Unbalanced Production

THE NORMAL work week for both plant and office employees in the Canadian manufacturing industries continued its downward trend in 1950, according to the last annual survey of the Economics and Research Branch of the Department of Labor. . .

The Department at Ottawa issues this statement with a note of triumph, referring to the 40-45 hour, five-day week, and so forth. All of which sounds very pretty but somewhat sour in the ears of a newspaper publisher with a normal 50 - 60 hour week — one whose current problem is to hold the price line, while higher wages and shorter hours are boosting costs of everything employed in the production of his product.

Public Spending

MANAGEMENT and organized labor alike have come in for a fair amount of criticism by official Ottawa for failing to "co-operate" in curbing inflation — remarks The Printed Word. Management is castigated for upping prices and for "speculative profiteering". Labor is rapped over the knuckles for demanding wage increases.

But the truth of the matter (says this apt observer) is that management and organized labor alike are both vitally interested in curbing inflation and in trying to hold the line on prices. Both find it disheartening that whatever efforts they are disposed to make are quickly offset by official Ottawa's utter disregard for the inflationary effect of public spending.

To blame organized labor for trying to stave off the pinch of inflation by seeking increased wages, while Ottawa in the same breath demands increased taxes, is like the pot calling the kettle black. To rap manufacturers over the knuckles because both taxes and wage increases cause prices to rise just doesn't make sense.

What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. As long as the official goose fattens on taxes and public spendings, so long will wages and prices keep on rising.

THIS IS tourist time. Accurate, intelligent answers to tourists' questions may help influence a party to spend a day or a week in your town instead of driving through to the next one — observes the Humboldt (Sask.) Journal.

"THINGS AN' STUFF"

By Walter Henry Jackson (Lost River, Argenteuil Co.)

THE RUBAIYAT OF A TENDERFOOT

O Magic Mouth that Poets call July!
T'is then that Humble Folks like You and I
Decide to seek the Kingdom of the Wilds —
Jump in their Cars and travel there on high.

One Sultry Night I phoned my Bosom Pal —
A simple Soul whose Christian Name is Al,
Suggesting that we take a Camping Trip..
"Shall we?" said I, and he replied "We Shall!"

An Inventory of the Stuff we took
If written down, would fill a good-sized Book —
With Tent and Tinware, Groceries and Guns,
And I decided Al would be the Cook.

We piled the Junk into my ancient Bus
And said good bye to Guy and George and Gus,
Each vowing we would send some Postal Cards —
No Kings of old have ever travelled thus.

What happened next I hardly dare repeat.
We had a Flat upon a Busy Street.
And spent an Hour lifting out the Stuff
To get the Jack from underneath the Seat.

While taking off the Tire, Al and I
Remembered stuff we had forgot to buy,
So there commenced another Shopping Tour
For Sugar, Bacon, Coffee, and a Pie.

Equipped with Grub condensed and dried and canned,
We set our Faces t'wards the Promised Land
Of distant Mountains 'neath the Setting Sun,
Stepped on the Gas, and went to beat the Band.

Out in the Land where Roads give way to Grass,
We bumped along a lonely Mountain Pass.
When suddenly the ancient Bus conked out.
It seemed that Al forgot to buy the Gas!

We looked about, both spellbound and enthralled.
It was a lovely place where we were stalled.
So pushed the Car down to the water's Edge
Where Bullfrogs croaked, and Loons and Herons called.

Mere Words will not describe the Beauty there —
A rocky Shore — majestic Pine Trees rare,
So I commanded Al to pitch the Tent
While I inhaled large Gulps of Country Air.

The Sun sank low. The Hour was getting late.
The Whippoorwill was calling to his Mate,
But Al was slow in finding Fire Wood,
So I chopped up a Farmer's Rustic Gate.

We piled the Pieces in the gathering Murk
Of coming Night, where unseen Dangers lurk.
Then found that we had not a single Match.
And Al remarked his Lighter wouldn't work.

We ate in Darkness on that Silent Spot.
A Lantern was one Thing we had forgot.
Poor Al consumed a Bullrush by Mistake
Thinking it was a Hot-dog, but t'was not.

The Time arrived when we should go to Bed.
The Moon arose, and by the Light it shed
The Scene appeared more beauteous than before.
But Al remarked he wished that he were dead.

It seems that when he went to pitch the Tent
He wondered where those Poles and Tent-Pegs went
And then remembered they'd been left behind
In the old Bin that used to hold Cement.

Grabbing our Blankets from their Cardboard Box
We sought a friendly Cave among the Rocks
And snuggled down upon the Sandy Floor
Removing first our Boots and then our Socks.

Strange is it not, when one desires sleep
And would enwrap himself in Slumber deep
That all that he can do is lie awake
Annoyed by little Things that bite and creep.

An Hour later Al let out a Yell —
"O Holy Moses! What's that Funny Smell?"
T'was then we sensed that we were not alone —
Something besides Ourselves was there as well.

A pair of Skunks — there were at least a Pair —
Wasted their Fragrance on the Midnight Air,
And by the way they acted in the Cave
It seems they did not like our Presence there.

Consigning Skunks to Regions of the Damned
We grabbed our Blankets up and promptly scrammed.
But Al was so upset and so un-nerved
It took me Half an Hour to get him calmed.

The Waning Moon looked down upon the Sight
Of us reclining through the endless Night
Beneath the Stars upon a Grassy Bank
All wet with Dew, and shivering with Fright.

Dawn came at last, and each with aching Head
We sought the Car to get some Cheese and Bread
When Al discovered we had spent the Night
Upon a verdant Poison-Ivy Bed.

With heavy Hearts we changed into our Suits
Of Khaki Duck, and heavy Hunting Boots,
And sought the Comfort of the rising Sun
While eating Bread and Dehydrated Fruits.

Strange tho' it seems, the Breakfast tasted flat,
And Al remarked, just like a Diplomat
"We could have spent the Night inside the Car!"
But somehow we had never thought of That.

A Local Farmer chanced upon the Scene
With Features grim, and sinister, and mean.
He charged us each a Dollar on the Spot
And sold us Half a Can of Gasoline.

He was a Salesman, businesslike and sleek —
His Wife, it seems, took Boarders by the Week.
The Farm, he said, was just a mile away —
A lovely place beside a Rushing Creek.

O how we blessed that Farmer and his Frau!
We sat down to a Meal that was a Wow,
With Steak and Onions, Raspberries and Cream.
Ah, Wilderness were Paradise, And How!

So there we spent those long Vacation Days
Among the Rubes and Hicks and other Jays
Who ate the Choice Provisions we supplied,
Advising us that Camping never pays.

Back to the Town we drove my ancient Bus
And said "Hello!" to Guy and George and Gus
Who envied us our lovely Camping Trip.
But they will never learn the Truth from Us!

Home Wedding Ceremony Held at Brownsburg

Thompson - Walker

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Thompson in Brownsburg was the scene of a pretty wedding when their second daughter, Vera Joyce, was united in marriage to Mr. Kenneth William Walker, of Lachute, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Walker, on Saturday, June 30, at 3 o'clock, the Rev. S. J. Pike officiating.

The bride entered the living room, which was beautifully decorated with orange blossoms, red roses, wedding bells and streamers of pink and white, while Mrs. G. J. Thompson played the wedding strains.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of baby blue nylon marquisette, ankle-length, with a tucked shirred front and a full skirt. She wore a bridal wreath of pleated tulle designed with white roses, pink-tipped. She wore silver slippers, carried a purse of white, and gloves of white lace. Her corsage was of three pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. John Richards were attendants to the bride and groom.

The bride's mother wore a gown of grey crepe and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore a figured silk gown, with a corsage of pink carnations.

The happy couple left for a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, followed by the good wishes of relatives and friends. The bride travelled in a yellow waffle-piqué dress, with a nylon embroidered top, and a corsage of pink carnations and white accessories.

Tribute to Quebec Advancement in Industrial Harmony

(Bernard Rose, K.C., in "The Municipal Review")

No better and more convincing evidence of the value of harmonious labor-management relations could be given than the figures released by the Quebec Minister of Labor (Hon. Antonio Barrette) showing the number of collective labor agreements in effect in this province. Their number and importance is a tribute to both employers and the unions that concluded these wage pacts. A full measure of credit should be given the finely organized Conciliation and Arbitration Service of the Department. I sometimes feel that we are prone to forget, and fail to appreciate, the constructive work of the department in doing all they can to prevent industrial strife and promoting industrial peace. In this respect, Quebec can point with pride to its record. Hardly a day passes without the press making mention of agreements concluded or renewed between an ever-increasing number of employers and their organized employees.

The advances that have been made within recent years are testimony to the need and value of the trade unions and readiness on the part of enlightened employers to meet the representatives of the workers to discuss and negotiate wage and working contracts. In a recent address over a local radio station, the Minister spoke of the several measures affecting labor-management relations and the benefits they conferred upon the workers by substantially improving their economic and social lot. No employer can or should oppose his employees exercising their right to seek recognition in order to bargain collectively in the, to them, important matter of wages and working conditions. The great majority of labor leaders are reasonable men who are anxious to co-operate with employers to keep production going — particularly at this serious stage of affairs with the threat of war ever present.

The workers, as well as employers, are aware that they can at all times get the advice and intervention of the Minister of Labor and the members of his staff. On more than one occasion because of this advice and intervention, a strike was prevented or quickly adjusted. Let me emphasize, as I have so often through the years, that in the measure that the workers are reasonably paid and decently treated do they contribute to the general welfare and constitute an effective barrier against the element that is more interested in arousing discontent through preaching "class consciousness" than class co-operation and goodwill. No more effective means or agency to protect the worker and usher in an era of goodwill exists than the trade union. This view may not be held by a certain type of employer, but it is nevertheless a fact. Mutual trust, confidence and respect are more likely to make for understanding between management and labor than lack of confidence and suspicion as to the employer's intentions and motives. In a democracy men and women enjoy freedom of speech, association and the right to avow their beliefs. We should at all times express our appreciation of the fair employer and the political leaders and statesmen who uphold democratic principles in order that human welfare and personal dignity may be promoted and protected. Quebec has made gigantic strides in the last quarter of a century, thus placing it in the forefront industrially and commercially. The encouragement given outside capital and enterprise by the Government has materially benefitted the province and its army of gainfully employed workers. . . Quebec is on the march!

National Historic Parks

FORT LENNOX, QUEBEC

Rising from the waters of a moat 60 feet wide and 10 feet deep, the ramparts of Fort Lennox, Quebec, enclose one of the largest and most formidable bastions built in Canada during the past two centuries.

This hewn stone fortress was constructed on Ile-aux-Noix in the Richelieu River, and commanded the important water route from Lake Champlain. It was an outgrowth of a French defence post built there in 1759 to resist the English advance from the south. The surrender of Fort Lennox to the English in 1760 led to the fall of Montreal and the subsequent end of French rule in North America.

In 1775 the fort was again captured, this time by an American force, but was evacuated the following year. The present massive fortification was begun in 1782, with further additions made during the War of 1812. It was abandoned as a military post in 1870.

Fort Lennox is now a national historic park. The massive stone buildings grouped around the close-cropped turf of the parade square — the officers' quarters, guardhouse, canteen, barracks and magazine — have been well preserved and stand today in much the same condition as they were 150 years ago.

Free and Otherwise

Wherever one stands on this peculiar globe, a vote is a funny thing.

Take Canada, for instance. If a man hasn't got a vote, he wants one. If you don't believe that, just go to a polling booth at election time and hear the squawks of people who want to vote on a money by-law and find they haven't a ballot because they are not property owners.

If he has got a vote, he's very proud of it, but a lot of the time he keeps it in mothballs. That's funny, too, because, although the right to vote is a reasonably permanent possession, an unused vote is about as valuable as a ticket to last week's show.

Now, take a vote in the Allied sector of Berlin. There it has a strange and shining lustre. A few weeks ago, the Communists staged a violent campaign against participation in voting for a new Berlin house of deputies. The anti-Communists, armed with the free and secret vote, burnished to a brightness unseen in our part of the world, cocked a super-snook at the Marxists; 1,504,414 of 1,664,091 eligible Berlin voters — 90.4 per cent of them — took advantage of their ballot.

A vote in Roumania is quite unlike a Berlin vote. While the West Berliners were flexing their muscles, the Roumanians, too, were voting. Under the gimlet eye of secret police and Russian troops, they gave rubber-stamp approval to the only people they could vote for — the Communist candidates.

In Hungary, voting could be construed as a jolly affair. Cultural brigades dash around ensuring a husky poll by visiting every house and calling upon the tenants to vote with the aid of comic songs and witty poems. Their version of the Canadian "Vote as you like, but vote!" must be "Vote as we like, but laugh!"

Yes, it's strange indeed. In some countries, where there is no choice, the voters are practically forced to vote. In others, where there is a choice — and with that choice, responsibility — the eligible voters are conspicuous by their fewness. And, because the gift of free speech generally walks hand in hand with the free and secret ballot, the absentees on voting day are usually the most articulate about their government, or the lack of it.

As we said before, and we repeat it sadly, a vote is a funny thing.

Blueprint For A Sitter

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Pinch-hitting for mother is no easy task. A sitter needs a dependable compass and a reliable chart by which to steer her course in a strange home.

The sitter, especially a new one, should be asked to arrive at least a quarter of an hour before mother leaves the house. This gives the child in the home the chance to get used to the appearance of this strange grown-up or almost grown-up. It also gives the mother the opportunity to explain the sitter's duties and show her where things are kept which she will need.

Written instructions form a vastly superior blueprint for a sitter than verbal directions. Take time to go over the child's routine. Explain your general method of child training and ask your sitter to try to act as you would about any particular problem which may arise. If her memory is not too good, or if she is excited in a new situation, the written directions will reassure the sitter after you go.

Write down the phone number where you can be reached, and if you think wise, that of a friendly neighbor. Advise the sitter to phone the doctor immediately, if a medical emergency should arise. Let him judge whether or not he should make a house call. Under the doctor's phone number, on a small card at the phone, list the police and the fire departments.

Have a pencil and pad beside the phone and tell the sitter to write down any phone or door messages when she receives them. Have her repeat any name or number if she is uncertain of it. Jot down the time you expect to return — and be as prompt about your appearance as you expect your sitter to be when she first arrives!

Be business-like about your financial arrangement with your sitter and pay her promptly at the conclusion of each work period. Be frank with her — discover if she is willing to do light household tasks for additional money. If you wish this, make it clear that looking after your child is of first importance, and that other jobs are extras when the child does not need the sitter's attention.

Some mothers like to trust their sitters to behave in a well-bred fashion, taking care of furniture and being considerate in the use of the phone and radio. Others have found from experience, that in the long run it is better from the very start to make it clear that certain things such as monopolizing the phone, are just "not done".

The sitter who is careless with possessions, who breaks china, leaves articles on the floor, raids the refrigerator or pries into drawers, just doesn't know her place. Having more than one friend in to keep her company doesn't work out in most cases. A mother has little or no control over a sitter's acquaintances whom she does not know and is not employing. Many mothers insist that two girls, even if they are company for each other, do not give their undivided attention to baby sitting. These mothers prefer the lone sitter.

A homemaker with a child or children is very dependent on the good character of her sitter and it behooves her to use a little extra tact and understanding in her arrangements. Be sure your sitter is comfortable, has a good light by which to read and some interesting magazines or books handy.

Permission to use the radio is a help in passing the time, providing it is left on low so a child's cry or the phone or door bell can be heard. If some unexpected happening delays your arrival back home, phone the sitter, and let her know. A tasty "snack" makes a pleasant break for your sitter — and adolescents do get very hungry. Make satisfactory provision for her safe return to her home.

In this parent-sitter relationship, as in any other, the Golden Rule "pays off". Any experienced parent or sitter will testify to the value of being considerate of the other fellow"! A little imagination plus consideration, rather than rigid rules, spells success with those who "pinch hit" for mother.

LUCKY WEDDING SHOES

Copenhagen (CP) — In Denmark it is regarded as being a lucky omen when a bride buys her wedding shoes with nothing but encrers, the smallest unit of coinage, like an English farthing. It takes several thousand of these coins for such a purchase, but many thousands of brides-to-be collect huge stockpiles, to the annoyance of the national mint which always finds a shortage of small change.

Basically regarded as a prairie province and agricultural, Manitoba has 400 miles of sea coast and three-fifths of its 246,512 square miles is underlain with mineral-rich Precambrian rock.

MAN GUIDES ROWBOAT THROUGH STORM TO SAVE STRANDED PAIR

George Hill, of Ville LaSalle, Que., braves windswept water of Lake St. Louis in small craft

1. George Hill, with his wife and two children, had driven out to open their summer cottage at Vaudreuil, Que. They had only been in the house a short while when Mrs. Hill heard frantic cries for help coming from the lake. Looking out, they saw that the wind had whipped up heavy waves . . . and in the distance they could see a small boat, overturned, with two men clinging to it. They were both shouting at the top of their lungs for assistance.

2. George Hill immediately broke open a locker and found a pair of oars. Placing them in a nearby rowboat, he pushed out into midstream. Although he had been a crack paddler in the early 30's, Hill knew that a canoe would have no chance in those choppy waters. Even the small rowboat was a flimsy craft to do the job Hill had in mind. He was buffeted about by the waves and several times was almost swamped.

3. Manoeuvering the stern of the boat was no easy task . . . but Hill managed it. Soon he had the nearly exhausted men aboard and, after half an hour's hazardous rowing, brought them to shore. Many spectators called Hill's venture almost suicidal. Most Canadians will agree that it was a feat of great courage . . . and we are proud to present him with The Dow Award.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Grenville Presbyterian Congregational Meeting For Reorganization

For some years past the Grenville Presbyterian Church has been closed. Recently the Presbytery of Montreal considered what action should be taken in connection with the Presbyterian cause there. It was decided to appoint an Interim Session, consisting of Rev. Allan S. Reid, D.D., Moderator, Mr. William Cottingham and Mr. George Calder. A meeting of this Assessor Session was recently held at the Grenville Church, and it was decided to re-open service there at 3 p.m. on July 15, when the Session will again meet and where service will be conducted by Rev. W. Harold Reid, D.D., minister of the Margaret Rodger Memorial Church, Lachute, and the Brownsburg congregations. A meeting of the congregation will be held at the Grenville church immediately after the service.

All those interested in the welfare of the Presbyterian cause at Grenville, and their friends, are invited to attend the service.

A Plea For Church Attendance

Church of the Great, the High and Holy One,
The Ark of Refuge to the storm-tossed soul,
The Hostel, doors wide open, barring none
Who come with broken heart to be made whole.

Wall of defence, by moral influence,
Against the powers of darkness that assail
With waves of grossest vice and violency.
O God! Let not such evils still prevail.

Forgive the sins of careless negligence
So prevalent in breaking solemn vows;
To tend thy house with constant diligence,
Now, Lord, our souls to faithfulness arouse.

Amend our ways to prize with gratitude
Thy temple, and thy cause with zeal sustain,
Till Heaven's windows flood beatitude
Upon the barren wastes that still remain.

Break thou the bonds of worldly lusts and pleasure
That bind the soul, alas! to sad despair,
Awake us now they heavenly courts to treasure,
The walls of thy Jerusalem to repair.

The Purpose of "The Watchtower"

Literal towers in Bible times were elevated vantage points from which watchmen could observe happenings, warn of danger, or announce good news. Our magazine figuratively occupies such a vantage point, for it is founded on the very pinnacle of wisdom, God's Word. That elevates it above racial, national and political propagandas and prejudices, frees it from selfish bias. It is not bound by any traditional creed, but its message advances as the light on God's purposes and works increases.
— Habakkuk 2:1-3.

It sees things Scripturally. When it observes this generation afflicted with greed, delinquency, hypocrisy, atheism, war, famine, pestilence, perplexity and fear, and persecution of unpopular minorities, it does not parrot the old fable about history repeating itself. Informed by Bible prophecy, it sees in these things the sign of the world's time of the end. But with bright hope it also sees opening up for us just beyond these woes the portals of a new world.

Thus viewed, "The Watchtower" stands as a watchman atop a tower, alert to what is going on, awake to note signs of danger, faithful to point out the way of escape. It announces Jehovah's kingdom established by Christ's enthronement in heaven, feeds his kingdom joint-heirs with spiritual food, cheers men of good will with glorious prospects of eternal life in a paradise earth, comforts us with the resurrection promise for the dead.

It is not dogmatic, but has a confident ring in its voice, because it is based on God's Word. It does not privately interpret prophecy, but calls attention to physical facts, sets them alongside prophecy, and you see for yourself how well the two match, how accurately Jehovah interprets his own prophecy. In the interest of our salvation, it keeps sharp and faithful focus on Bible truth, and views religious news generally.

'Be watchful in these perilous times', God admonishes. So keep on the watch by regularly reading "The Watchtower".

If ordered before May 1, you will receive the booklet, "Can You Live Forever in Happiness on Earth?" along with the Watchtower for one year — for $1, also two other booklets. — The Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, 40 Irwin Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

Mair-Leishman Wedding Solemnized Here Recently

The marriage of Jean Eva Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Leishman, of Lachute, to Francis Alan Mair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Mair, of Notre Dame de Grace, took place at the Margaret Rodger Memorial Presbyterian Church, Lachute, at 6 o'clock on Saturday, June 30.

The Rev. D. W. Harold Reid officiated, Mrs. W. M. Cottingham played the organ, and Mr. W. Brown sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and "Because". Baskets of summer flowers decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Mrs. R. Brown, her sister, as matron of honor, and Miss Maureen Mair, sister of the groom, and Miss Vera Pearse as bridesmaids. Little Sandra Martin was flower girl. Mr. George Mair acted as best man for his brother, the ushers being Mr. Donald Leishman, Mr. Stuart Gordon, Mr. Donald Wilson and Mr. Buddy Wolfe.

The bride wore a gown of imported lace over satin, the fitted bodice having a pearl embroidered collar, fastening down the front to the waist with tiny satin buttons, the full-length sleeves terminating in points over the hands, and the full skirt ending in a train. Her two-tier fingertip veil of silk embroidered tulle illusion was held in place by a wreath of silk orange blossoms and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pale pink Sweetheart roses, white sweet peas and baby's breath.

The matron of honor was dressed in mauve white-embroidered eyelet organdy and the bridesmaids wore dresses with bouffant skirts of silk net, and lace boleros, one in yellow and the other in green. The attendants had headdresses of flowers in pastel shades to match their dresses, and carried bouquets of variegated sweet peas. The flower girl wore a pink taffeta dress trimmed with blue velvet, and carried a basket of pale pink Aristocrat roses and white sweet peas.

Mrs. Leishman, mother of the bride, was gowned in an ankle-length dress of powder blue taffeta, with fitted bodice of lace and matching hat, and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Mair, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of navy sheer over taffeta, with navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception followed in the Legion Hall, where pink roses and pale pink peonies decorated the tables. The four-tiered cake, encircled by a garland of flowers, centred the bridal table. Music and dancing were enjoyed, after which the bridal couple left by motor on their wedding trip to New York, Atlantic City and other points.

The bride wore an Oxford blue gabardine suit, white nylon blouse, a small navy blue velvet hat accented with tiny white flowers and navy veil, with navy accessories and a shoulder spray of white and pale pink roses.

Some of the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rose and family, Mrs. R. Doig, grandmother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stuart and daughter Eleda, all of Ottawa; Miss Francis Gebbi, of Long Island, N.Y.; and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Moore, of St. Catharines, Ont.

The couple will take up residence in the New Haven Apartments, Montreal West.

June Bride Becomes The Busy Housekeeper

The June bride has settled down to the problems of homemaking. She may have a fairly good idea about cooking most foods, but now that she has to plan meals and prepare them entirely on her own, she will have to give some time and thought to menus. The Home Economists at Ottawa have many bulletins containing information on buying and using various foods. The booklets are entitled: "Buy by Grade", explaining the differences in grades of food; "Foods for the Family", giving information on planning meals and buying food. "The Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" and "Freezing Fruits and Vegetables" are two bulletins, the titles of which are self-explanatory. Several booklets have excellent recipes in them: they are, "Cereals and Their Uses", "Cheese Dishes", and "The Recipe Book for Enjoying Canadian Apples". "The Egg" booklet tells about egg cookery and contains a number of standard egg recipes. Also available are charts showing the cuts of Beef, Pork and Lamb which will be very useful to the bride who has difficulty in knowing what cuts of meat to buy. Any bride or homemaker may obtain these booklets free of charge by simply writing to the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Sometimes the new bride has a little difficulty with her first attempts in preparing meals. It seems that no matter how hard she tries, something always goes wrong. The Home Economists of the Consumer Section have great sympathy for the new bride when she starts out on her cooking career. Even the best cooks may have failures, so new brides should not be in the least discouraged if this happens to them. However, one way to avoid a peck of trouble is to use reliable recipes and standard measuring equipment. Everyone has heard of the "born cook" who just goes by the feel of the dough or pastry. Not everyone, however, is a born cook so it is always safer to follow tested recipes. Standard measuring cups and spoons are a necessity for success in cooking. Tea cups, glasses or kitchen spoons should never be used. With regard to standard, it is important to remember that the Canadian pint is 2½ cups and the quart 5 cups. The American pint contains only 2 cups and the quart 4 cups.

Many cooking failures may be eliminated if cooking rules are followed rather than just guessing. Take as an example custard sauce. It should be cooked in a double boiler over hot, but not boiling water. However, the phone may ring or someone may knock at the back door and in the flurry of answering, the double boiler may be neglected and not set off the stove. When the new bride gets back, the water has probably boiled and the custard may have curdled. The custard may be retrieved by setting the top half of the boiler in cold water at once and beating the sauce with a rotary beater until it is smooth. The pan may be set over hot water again and the cooking continued if the custard is not done.

Everyone, at some time or other, has started to hard-cook eggs and then forgotten to time them and then wondered whether they were cooked or not. Unfortunately, by merely looking at the shell of an egg it is impossible to tell whether it is sufficiently cooked. Here is a simple way to test hard-cooked eggs. Puncture the shell of the egg with a sharp knife and insert a tooth pick in the hole. If the yolk is hard, the tooth pick will come out dry, if the yolk is soft, some of it will cling to it. The Home Economists hope that these hints will help the new brides and perhaps some of the older ones as well.

The plentiful fruits and vegetables for early summer are: asparagus, spinach, lettuce, green onions and strawberries. Use these in your daily menus.

School is where children gradually learn how much their parents don't know.

FASHION HINT

A dress that is smart and comfortable for all-day wear in town or out is far more important to most of us than the gala gown or the very dressy afternoon number. So there is a high score for this one, a smart general-wear dress in beige shantung taffeta. It has a casual closing on the bodice with its short sleeves and flared cuffs. Buttoned down flaps at the hips from which pleated panels at the side swing out crisply, are other details.

Countryside Replete With Joys And 'The Osler' for Inspiration

"Sunnyacres Sketches" — By Margaret Cook

July — and once more the cottages come into their own. Only a few boast still the "No Trespassing" sign; the latter always a mistake, we think, for nothing so stirs our unlawful curiosity as such a sign, and to the person on robbery intent, the sign is no deterrent. To the all-year-round inhabitant, such things are just one more evidence of the general foolishness of the summer invader. There were four things that Agur, son of Jakeh, found too wonderful, i.e. "The way of an eagle in the air; The way of a serpent upon a rock; The way of a ship in the midst of the sea; And the way of man with a maid". Had the observant Agur lived in our era of culture, he would doubtless have added, "The way of city people in the country". People who would never think of appearing on St. Catherine Street unless completely and properly clothed, wander about the countryside in the queerest possible combination of garments and not a few appear in practically no clothes. The writer has no objections on moral grounds, but by aesthetic standards the practice is deplorable. The human body, particularly in youth, is sometimes beautiful, although even youth does not escape such anatomical mischances at thick ankles, short necks, etc. But, as age advances, the body often becomes such that it cries out for concealment. The fact is, we think to throw off with our clothes, the dirt, smoke and stenches of the city. It is symbolical casting-off, or so charity demands we write.

* * *

But clad or not, we move in beauty, for the countryside is looking particularly bonny due to the frequent rain. The green is still green, not yellow-green. The little brooks are full and laughing over their rocks. The prevalent odor of pine, balsam and tamarack, so typical of the Laurentians, is intensified. A few late strawberries glow dark red in the deep grasses; and on the rare sunny days fat clouds are reflected in the blue mirror of the lake. Most of the small fruits are plump and await only the sun to fulfil their promise.

It is also a good year for bird life. Every time we go out in the car, we have to slow down, lest we run over a partridge sunning itself in the warm dust of the road; and the other morning, one was perched on the roof of the garage, clucking to a stray of its brood in the grass below. It flew up and away quite competently as Betty approached. A large owl frequents the grove behind the house and amuses us by mimicking various cries it hears. One evening when Peter, the grey cat, was out later than usual, we heard him crying in the wood, and, thinking to guide him home, I called "Petey, Petey" in welcoming tones — to be answered by a large, grey shape that launched itself from a tall tree and planed its way into the orchard where it resumed its meowing. At other times, the owl barks on a soft, throaty note, so that we used to say, "There is Nigger. How far the sound carries tonight." So far as we know, no naturalist has noted this peculiarity of owls. Not a shattering discovery, but at least our own!

The rain has brought out a great quantity of mushrooms. Near the house, there are many Hygropherous or Waxy fungi. True to their name, they look like lumps of pale yellow wax; a half-mile from here there should be a great colony of another branch of this family; they resemble burnt-orange velvet; but we are still too thankful to be here, to range so far. However, we stumbled over a Boletus this morning. The Boleti, you will remember, have an undersurface resembling a sponge rather than the usual gills. Of the common and poisonous Amanita, we have seen nothing yet. It is still early days and we are prone to spend much time just sitting or sleeping. Occasionally the quiet is shattered by cries of "Oh! I have forgotten — !" It is not generally anything vital, although the man of the house did forget his shaving-brush and was forced to use a paint brush! He says the motion necessary is quite unusual, being a broad up and down stroke, rather than the usual circular one.

* * *

This neighborhood is much exercised over a recent motor accident that ended in a fatality. The accident was undoubtedly due to a combination of bad roads and a driver quite unacquainted with the peculiarities of our thoroughfares. The findings of the inquest were no surprise to anyone habitually motoring in these parts. Not only do we have some of the worst roads in the province, but they are not adequately marked. Last month during a motor trip through New York State, the writer was impressed by the efficient manner in which the roads, some of them through terrain similar to this, were marked. "Sharp Curve, 200 Yards" and "Drive Slowly, Danger Ahead" are samples; even the slighest hazard had its warning sign, and this on paved roads carefully laid out. Since paved roads in this district are seemingly not for us, surely the present picturesque but dangerous ones could be marked. Of course, the most efficiently engineered and marked road is dangerous if the human element is careless. We infrequently see bad driving, since the average city driver seems paralysed with fear and almost crawls along, while the native driver, familiar with the roads, pays them the tribute of careful attention. But we were recently pursued by a truck on the Mille Isles road, where we were proceeding at a sober 30 miles per hour; rather than breathe their dust, we accelerated to 40, and then to nearly 50, but the truck kept up around curves and down hills. Had we been obliged to stop, the truck would have, of necessity, ploughed into us. We lost the truck at the Mille Isles corner. . . We tell this story although it reflects little credit on our own good sense, in the hope that those responsible for trucking in these regions will exercise more efficient supervision of their drivers.

* * *

We return now to "The Osler", as the family refers to the 1,372-page biography of Sir William Osler, by Dr. Harvey Cushing, a book we have long desired to read and have lately acquired through the courtesy of our doctor neighbor. As 50 pages a day are about our limit we are only at the year 1884, when Osler, at the age of 35, left McGill for the University of Pennsylvania; but we have had some delightful glimpses of life in Montreal at that period. A certain gentleman of Montreal objected to Osler as a son-in-law on the grounds that he had leanings toward agnosticism and had no visible means of support. Also, an amusing incident involving Mr. Redpath—he of the Redpath Museum: Dr. Osler could not cure the Redpath lumbago and laments the fact in a letter, saying he may have thus lost a "cool million" for McGill. A farewell letter from the Dean of Medicine includes, "We have for years felt the vitalizing influence individually exercised by personal contact with you, analagous to that produced by a potent ferment". One wonders if Osler relished being likened to a potent ferment, but the simile must have been apt, for no one who saw or talked to the vivacious physician ever forgot him. Some of our Lachute readers may be familiar with the book written by Dr. Maud Abbott on Dr. Osler. . . So now to "the Osler!"

CBC Starlet Peggi Brown

Here's an urgent S.O.S. from pretty CBC starlet Peggi Brown (you've heard her as Helen in "Brave Voyage"). No pin-up beach posy, Peggi's a real-life outdoor gal with a fine flair for come-hither beach clothes and fun in the sun. Her problem: How to get out from under the kleig lights and into the real thing!

SWEEPSTAKES POPULAR

The recent prize-winners in Canada would indicate that the number of sweepstakes tickets sold here would probably be around the 1,000,000 mark or more. It's about time that those who "sit in the seats of the mighty" would realize that to enforce a law against selling or receiving sweepstakes tickets there must be public opinion in favor of it.

Ottawa Historical Group Regaled With Local Lore and Hospitality

75 Members of Women's Canadian Historical Society Visit Carillon, St. Andrews, Cushing

Around 75 members of the Women's Canadian Historical Society, of Ottawa, visited the Museum at Carillon recently. The president of the Argenteuil Historical Society, Mr. J. S. Giles, and other members of the board, were on hand to welcome the guests. After a short visit at the Museum, all proceeded to St. Andrews East, where luncheon was served by the ladies of the St. Andrews United Church.

At the close of the luncheon, Mrs. Slater, president of the visiting Society, thanked the local group for their kindness in arranging such a delightful program. She then called on Mr. J. S. Giles, who welcomed them in a few well chosen words.

At this stage Mrs. George McGibbon was called upon to tell something of the history of Lachute. Mrs. McGibbon told of the first settler, Hezekiah Clark, who had come here from Vermont, U.S.A. No one seemed to know why he came here, for he had passed equally fertile land and beautiful country, having journeyed through what is today part of the Eastern Townships. There were no roads in this terrain, but he doubtless apreciated the fact that local rivers, and proximity to the Ottawa, would enable them to travel around.

Mrs. McGibbon went on to tell of the early women settlers, of their experiences and how these settlers proved to have faith in themselves, in the future, and in their God. She told how they bartered for their needed supplies, and that the only product for which they received actual money was potash, which they shipped to Montreal. Sometimes money was so scarce that they would have to borrow in order to have enough to lift a letter from the post office, for all letters came C.O.D. She mentioned many instances that illustrated the addage—"necessity is the mother of invention" — as in the case of one of the early settlers who had to go on a hurried trip to Montreal. His wife set out his clothes but found that, to have his wardrobe complete for the next day, her husband needed a pair of drawers. The husband killed a sheep and denuded the fleece, his wife with hand cards made the wool into rolls, and the daughter spun it; then they wove it into cloth, cut out and made the drawers and had them ready for the next day to send him, "comfortably (we hope) upon his way."

One of the names Mrs. McGibbon mentioned was that of Palliser, which was synonymous with the Lachute charter and also with electric lights in this town, for it was he who introduced them here in 1885.

"With the same faith in ourselves, in the future and our God, we hope to see a Lachute still greater than it is today", Mrs. McGibbon observed, as a fitting conclusion.

Miss B. Robertson then told of the paper mills of St. Andrews — this village having been the home of Canada's first paper industry; and Miss Simpson gave a resumé of education from the time of its earliest conception in those parts.

The group were then shown through historical Christ Church, and the rector, the Rev. Cyrus R. Lang, told of the first resident clergyman, the Rev. Joseph Abbott, who came to St. Andrews in 1818. He left after a few years for a field in the Eastern Townships, which, from his own name, is known as Abbotsford. He went on to tell of Sir J. J. C. Abbott, the first Canadian-born premier, whose name is synonymous with the Canadian Pacific Railway, as there is no doubt but that the scheme of a great trans-continental railroad originated in the fertile brain of this gentleman.

The visitors were next escorted to the Presbyterian Church, where one of the outstanding things told by the Rev. Dr. Wm. McMillan, was the history of the bell which rests in the vestibule of that church. The bell had hung in the coach house belfry of the manor and was used to summon the family and guests to the spacious dining hall. According to tradition, it was recovered with the buried treasure of the family when Sir John Johnson (who in 1814 became Lord of the Manor by the purchase of the Seigniory of Argenteuil from James Murray) with his Indian allies raided the Mohawk Valley. On leaving St. Andrews, Sir John presented the bell to the Rev. Archibald Henderson.

After these sidelights of local history, the party returned to make a further study of exhibits at the Museum. They then proceded to St. Mungo's at Cushing, and were shortly on their way, after a pleasant day.

Rentals Officer Named for Lachute

Information of Immediate Concern to Tenants

By Order-in-Council at Quebec, a local businessman, J. R. Charron, has been appointed Rentals Administrator to deal with questions under jurisdiction of the Quebec rentals legislation — which incidentally, applies only to cities and towns for the time being. By the same order, H. G. Banford is appointed secretary to Mr. Charron in this office, which is newly created in Lachute — local matters having hitherto been dealt with at St. Jerome, or in Montreal. Messrs. Charron and Banford will be situated at the former's office in the Lafortune Building, to serve the County of Argenteuil.

A clause of the Act of immediate importance is pointed out by Mr. Charron, for Watchman readers or any whom it may concern. The text of this clause is reproduced herewith, in English and French:

Section 20 (a) — Any lessee whose lease has expired at the time of the coming into force of the act or will expire before the first of August, 1951, and who intends to apply for a prolongation of said lease, shall give notice of his intention to the lessor before the first of August, 1951.

Article 20 (a) — Tout locataire dont le bail était expiré lors de l'entrée en vigueur de la loi ou expirera avant le premier août 1951, et qui a l'intention d'en demander la prolongation, doit donner avis de cette intention au locateur avant le premier août 1951.

Man Drowned In Ottawa River

Georges Latreille, 41-year-old Montrealer who was occupying a summer camp at La Baie between St. Placide and St. Andrews, lost his life on Monday when thrown from a boat into the Ottawa River.

The accident occurred around noon, when Latreille was testing an outboard motor on his light skiff. According to an eyewitness, the boat, far out from shore and in deep water, lunged upwards as if it had struck a floating log. Latreille, alone in the rear of the skiff, was hurled backwards into the water. Neighbors rowed out to the spot, where the upturned boat gave the only indication to the proximity of the drowning. Dragging operations were continued until the body was recovered, about 24 hours after the accident.

Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur, of Lachute, conducted an inquiry and pronounced death due to accidental drowning.

Georges Latreille is survived by his wife and five children.

Cows Killed by Lightning Bolt

Gordon Brown operated the Farmer Brown Motor Sales establishment here for eight years, and has since been engaged in a similar business at St. Jerome.

Boy Dies After Baseball Mishap

Fourteen-year-old Aldeo Brunet, of Lachute Mills, died in the Providence Hospital here Sunday morning from injuries received in a freak accident while playing Friday at the baseball park.

District Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur, who returned a verdict of accidental death, said the boy was "shagging flies" with other youngsters. There were two groups catching balls hit by two batters about 100 feet away.

The victim was watching a ball hit by one batter, when he was struck on the head by a hard-hit ball from the other batter. He fell down, got up seconds later and decided to go home because he felt dizzy. Saturday afternoon he was taken to hospital, where he died Sunday morning of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Aldeo Brunet was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donat Brunet, Lachute Mills residents.

Light Airplane In Forced Landing

At a late hour, around 11 p.m., but in fair visibility, a light airplane was grounded recently on farm land just beyond the Lachute town limits. The pilot, a member of the Canadair Company personnel, had been flying from St. Jovite to Cartierville when he lost his bearings. Circling over Lachute several times, he landed without mishap in a grain field on the Ben Hammond farm, off the Bethany Road.

With the aid of a neighboring garage, Fairway Sales & Service, the aircraft was towed onto firmer ground, but the terrain, soft from repeated rainstorms, prevented the plane from taking off until last week-end, several days after it had grounded. During the interval many curious folk had inspected the craft and the scene of its landing.

Carnival Parade Was 'Salad Week' Event

The Salad Carnival parade staged in Lachute and Brownsburg by Kraft Foods, was a Saturday morning spectacle which delighted hundreds of young fry, and attracted the interest of a crowded Main Street. The show, in which many vehicles from local firms participated, was replete with clowns, wild bulls and toreodors, chefs and dancing troupes, not to mention the dozens of kiddies disguised as fruits, vegetables and what-have-you, to whom prizes were awarded afterwards in the civic park. . . The stunt was timed to impress the theme of Salad Week.

Fire Destroys Garage At Vankleek Hill

Vankleek Hill (CP) — A garage and five automobiles were destroyed Tuesday in a $31,000 fire which for a time threatened to sweep down the main street of Vankleek Hill.

Garage owner Rene Sauvé escaped with minor burns when a spark from an electric extension cord set fire to a can of gasoline in the garage.

Living quarters above the garage also were destroyed before the volunteer fire brigade, aided by equipment from Hawkesbury, brought the blaze under control. A house next to the garage also was gutted.

Successful W.I. Bazaar at Kerr's Farm, Lakefield

Lakefield — The Women's Institute held a bazaar and sale of home-cooking in the hall at Kerr's Farm recently. Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, county president, opened the fair with a few appropriate remarks. This is the second successful bazaar to be held at Kerr's Farm, and the sponsors extend cordial thanks to the proprietor. Little Miss B. McDonald made a success of the fish pond, which was enjoyed by all comers.

The officers and members of the W.I. take this occasion to thank all who donated to the good cause.

"Images of Childhood", a suite based on the background music in the National Film Board movie, "Hungry Minds", has been played by some of the leading orchestras of the world, and has earned international recognition for NFB composer Eldon Rathburn, of Saint John, N.B.

Spotlight on Slot Machines!

A CHARGE by a Montreal columnist that Argenteuil is "wide open" for slot machines — worse still, that "protection for each machine is reported to be $15 weekly" — is a serious matter which has incensed several of the authorities hereabouts.

Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., promptly invoked the action of the Provincial Police, with a result that two truckloads of these machines were seized in establishments, mostly in northern sections of the county. Questioned by The Watchman, Mr. Cottingham agreed with the general evidence that these machines had been operating illicitly — despite the fact that he had taken steps to curb them at different intervals; but invariably they cropped up in various spots, sometimes at elusive hours and in such manner as to evade official detection. . . Concerning the charge of "protection", the provincial deputy is also considerably irked; he is now endeavoring to find some authenication, and to pin down the charge.

Mr. Cottingham informed The Watchman that, by a provincial statute enacted under the present regime, "any law officer or chief magistrate of a municipality" is authorized to confiscate a slot machine without warrant (giving a formal receipt), and to hand the matter over for court prosecution. . It would seem therefore that, without "passing the buck" in any way, and without quoting the provincial deputy, it is fully within the power of municipal authorities to eliminate the evil of slot machines.

Chief D. Villeneuve of Lachute, consulted on this matter, asserts that no slot machines were found in town during the raid, and that none are known to be operating here at the present time. With regard to "pin tables", Chief Villeneuve states that these are legally permitted on payment of a $10 municipal license fee, and that their actual operation does not constitute gambling.

These unsavory charges in a Montreal newspaper might be levelled with more telling effect at other counties than Argenteuil. One good result, at least, may be the realization that municipal bodies are fully empowered to eradicate slot machines if they would take the necessary steps.

Community Builder Dies In Neighboring Town

J. L. Bigras, Mayor of Laval-sur-le-Lac for more than 25 years, died suddenly Tuesday night, while attending a council meeting. He was 69.

Mayor Bigras, although in ill health for several years, kept an interest in his real estate business and also devoted considerable time to his duties as mayor.

Mayor Bigras founded Laval-sur-le-Lac and the Laval-sur-le-Lac Golf Club. He also helped in the development of the town and of Ile Bigras.

Elected mayor in 1924, he was always returned by acclamation, and two years ago he observed his 25th consecutive year in office.

Every man, woman and child in Canada will this year pay about $400 in taxes, about $300 of which will go to Ottawa.

Accidents Follow Increased Traffic Tempo

July Meetings of Women's Institutes

Arundel Women's Institute had an attendance of 22 for the July meeting. Mrs. R. Moss, Health and Welfare convener, was in charge. Dr. R. B. Henry showed films and gave a talk on Cancer. A successful social was held in the school auditorium. A "kitchen store" offered for sale home-cooking, pickles, preserves and kitchen utensils. There was also a quilt raffle and a fish pond. The program was under leadership of Mrs. E. A. Bulley, chief items being a play, "After the Church Supper" and a "kitchen band". Proceeds amounted to $200.

Brownsburg had 31 members present. Mrs. C. W. P. Baugh, being the guest speaker, recounted highlights of the Provincial Convention at Macdonald College. Plans were made for a picnic tour to the Experimental Farm. 21 Prizes were won by this branch at Lachute Fair, and plans were made to send exhibits to the Ottawa Exhibition. A life membership pin was presented to Mrs. Harry Gardiner on the occasion of her 50th wedding anniversary. Mrs. J. T. Seary, delegate to the Provincial Convention, gave a report. Tickets for the Rotary Carnival were given to the members by Mr. O. Blouin.

Frontier branch had 15 members present, and many visitors, at a picnic for the children, with sports and prizes given. This branch held a very successful lawn social at the home of Mrs. Geo. Lawson. They voted a donation of $10 for School Fair work.

Jerusalem - Bethany reports an attendance of 15. A sum of $5 was voted for School Fair work. The members catered for a wedding and planned a picnic for the children of the community. Reports were given by two members on the Provincial Convention at Macdonald College.

Lakefield had an attendance of six members, answering the roll-call with "Something about a tree". Arrangements were made for a bazaar and food sale. Highlights of the Provincial Convention were given by the county president.

At Upper Lachute - East End, the grandmothers were entertained, and there was much merriment occasioned by the wearing of outdated hats, and the sale of these "antiques" which netted $6.75. Plans were made for a community picnic.

Pioneer branch had 16 members present to hear reports on the Provincial Convention at Macdonald. The members made plans for a food sale, also planned a motor trip to Ottawa in August.

Recent Collision On Bethany Road

A recent accident on Bethany Road beyond Lachute Golf Club, in which a blowout caused an old-vintage car to collide with a light-weight English automobile, gave some concern to passers-by, to whom a woman occupant of the latter car appeared to be gravely injured. Such, however, was not the case. According to Traffic Officers Albt. Legault, who investigated, the woman was suffering from severe shock but sustained no bodily injury of a serious nature.

Carnival Helpers Entertained by Rotary Club

Brownsburg — On Thursday, July 19, the Rotary Club held its regular meeting at St. Onge's Hotel. Guests of the evening included many of those who had assisted the Club in connection with the recent Carnival. Among these, whose ages ranged from about 10 years upward, were the following:

Bobby Armstrong, Stanley Alexander, Ronnie Armstrong, Doreen Ball, Alex Brown, Omer Carriere, Ann David, Ray Davidson, George Donaldson, Donald Duncan, Kenny Fletcher, J. S. Giles, Betty Harris, Heather Jones, Linda Jones, Agnes Jones, Mary Kennedy, E. L. Laframbroise, Charlie Moseley, Alan Moore, Dale MacAdam, Gaston Picard, June Pollock, Shirley Pollock, Royetta Rose, Alan Reid, Carol Reid, H. Steele, Alwyn Stewart, Tommy Williams.

Among the many others who were not present, but who contributed to the success of the Carnival, the following should be mentioned:

Diane Cribb, Marilyn Duncan, Amy Hazel, Jimmy Keatley, Dorothy Passmore, Stan Parisien, Wilmer Stevens (Vankleek Hill), Melvin Tomalty, Ralph Zimmers.

President John Chalmers expressed the appreciation of the Club to these valuable helpers, and asked each member to introduce those who had worked with them in their particular booth or activity.

Other guests present were Phil Wall, of the Hawkesbury Rotary Club, P. E. Laliberté and G. Kilgour Hardie, of Lachute.

Speaker of the evening was Harold G. Young, of Quebec City, Inspector of Superior Schools, Quebec Department of Education, who was vacationing in this district. Mr. Young described the organizational structure of the School Inspection Board, outlining briefly the duties and functions of its staff. He mentioned the assistance given to teachers and teaching staffs, particularly in the smaller communities, by teachers' helpers. This is supplementary to the main function of inspection and evaluation.

Mr. Young told, very amusingly, some of his own experiences during his inspection trips. In a more serious vein, he spoke of the problems and decisions which confront a school inspector, and of the tragedy as well as the comedy which he encounters.

Judging from the applause, Mr. Young's talk was greatly enoyed. . . . The speaker was introduced by Linton Armstrong, and thanked by Stewart Jones.

Reports on the Carnival and Raffle were presented by Andy Hardie and Elston Reid, respectively. Altogether approximately $2,000 was raised. This money will be devoted almost entirely to the Rotary Park and Playground on the Brownsburg Road, and to purchase of the land on which the Park is situated.

Wes Freeland reported on the progress of work at the Park, which included erection of a warning sign on the highway, and a direction sign and fence at the entrance itself. On the Park site, a volleyball court has been completed and work is proceeding on a baseball diamond. Pollock and Graves Reg., of Lachute, have offered to donate a First-Aid kit; the offer was accepted with thanks by President Chalmers. Miss Isabel Low and Donald (Buzzie) MacRae are now in attendance as supervisors at the Park for 10 days, during the absence of Mr. King Amos.

Announcement was made of formation of a new Rotary Club at Low, Que., the charter meeting to be held August 15. It is expected that a delegation from the local club will attend.

On August 16, the Rev. J. Lattimore of Smith Falls, Governor of Rotary District 250, will be present at the regular meeting. President Chalmers also announced, with regret, that Rotarian Arthur McOuat would be entering hospital for further treatment, and extended best wishes of the Club for his speedy recovery.

At the end of 1949 there were more than 81,000 teachers in Canada's public schools.

Seriously Injured in Crash With Transport

A collision of more serious consequences occurred Tuesday night at Whisseltown, west of Lachute on Highway No. 8, where a local garage owner, James Welden, suffered severe injuries when he crashed into the rear of a stationary transport trailer.

According to Cst. Howard Jones, of the local traffic patrol, a tractor and semi-trailer belonging to Hull-Montreal Express, were facing eastward parked on the pavement outside the barbeque, with no rear-light on the trailer. Theodore Poulin, of Hull, was the driver. . . Mr. Welden, meeting an oncoming car, failed to see the transport and crashed into it with such force as to tear off the left wheels of the trailer.

Mr. Welden sustained a chest fracture, head and leg injuries, which were attended to by Dr. R. Lavigne at the Providence Hospital, and he was taken by ambulance to the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal.

The Welden car was a complete wreck. Fortunately the driver was alone at the time; his young daughter, Lorna, was to have accompanied him from Calumet to Lachute, but remained at the farm. Had she been seated beside her father, she would undoubtedly have been killed.

Mishap at St. Philippe

At St. Philippe at an early hour Sunday morning, a Lachute Drive-Yourself car, travelling east, came to grief in a similar collision with a parked, unlighted car. The driver, Charles Harris, and two occupants, all of Lachute Mills, were taken to the Providence Hospital and treated by Dr. R. Lavigne for minor injuries.

Officer Howard Jones investigated.

East End Road Mishap

At 5.15 p.m. Sunday in Lachute town limits a collision occurred at the driveway to Earl Rodger's farm, where Mrs. Rodgers, turning in from the highway, was struck by an eastbound car carrying seven occupants. Two of the latter party, from Hamilton, Ont., were injured — Mrs. Marion Berlinger suffering facial cuts, and her grandmother, Mrs. Eva Goudreau, having two broken ribs and cuts on the forehead.

Dr. F. W. FitzGerald gave first-aid. The elder lady, taken by ambulance to the Providence Hospital, received further medical treatment but was permitted to leave the hospital.

Mrs. Rodgers was accompanied by her four children; all escaped injury. Both cars were badly damaged.

Police Chief D. Villeneuve made the investigation and assisted the victims of the crash.

Two-Year-Old Child Suffers Broken Leg

A two-year-old tot, Alain, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaetan Laurin, was struck by a car outside his home on Bethany Street, just before noon on Wednesday. Police Chief D. Villeneuve, who investigated, stated that the boy's older sister was running to catch him, to take the youngster home for dinner, when he darted into the road in the path of the car; the latter was proceeding towards town, driven by Jas. A. Hamilton, Ste. Therese, of the Bell Telephone Company. Suffering a fracture of the leg, the little boy was taken to the office of Dr. R. Lavigne for treatment, and was later removed to the Hotel Dieu Hospital at St. Jerome.

Her 91st Birthday

On July 12 Mrs. Mary MacRae celebrated her 91st birthday. The occasion was marked by a gathering of about 50 of her relatives and friends who came to wish her well. Mrs. MacRae was the recipient of good wishes from Radio Station CJAD.

Gatineau LINES

It Doesn't Just Happen

It doesn't just happen that the power lines which are familiar to all of us have electricity pulsing through them. Back of every power line is a complicated system of transformers. And back of the transformers, many miles away, are the power plants.

And back of the power plants is water — almost fantastic amounts of water. The water doesn't just happen either. It is carefully collected from a widespread drainage area, and held in storage until it is needed to turn the generators at the power plants.

The three big power plants of Gatineau on the Gatineau River (there are three others on the Ottawa River) get their steady supply of water from a man-made lake, 30 miles long, created by the erection 20 years ago of Mercier Dam. Mercier Dam is 100 miles straight north of Hull, in a wilderness of forest and water where a lumbering depot is its only neighbor. Without it, 60,000 customers of Gatineau Power would be without electric power for a large part of every year.

A concrete structure almost 1200 feet long and 100 feet high, Mercier collects 95,000,000,000 cubic feet of water behind its mighty bulk during seasons of heavy rainfall, and releases it gradually in other periods so that the flow to the power plants farther down the river is steady the year around. Otherwise, there would be no electricity in dry months.

Mercier Dam was expensive to build, even 20 years ago when prices were much lower than they are now. It is also expensive to maintain. At first thought, it might be considered that once a dam is completed the cost ends, but such is not the case. Big dams are subject to the constant erosion of huge quantities of water, and so there is a steady job of resurfacing the cement work. The big steel gates which control the flow of water down the river must be painted and cared for, the machinery which operates them must be steadily maintained.

It is typical of the steadily-rising costs borne by electricity companies that the big control dams which are the backbone of any hydro-electric system are more expensive to maintain now than they ever were in the past.

DID YOU KNOW?

A few years ago, copper wire for transmission lines cost 18 cents a pound. Now it is 49½ cents. And power companies use thousands of miles of wire.

No Fuss, No Mess In Cleaning Barn

Dairyman's Push-Button Gadget Does Tiresome Chore

Chilliwack, B.C. (CP) — Worst job on the farm, cleaning out the barn, has been reduced to a push-button operation.

Dairyman Harry Quadling has installed a power-driven barn-cleaner, believed the first in British Columbia.

The machine, which cleans out the barn in five minutes — it used to take one man the better part of a day — cost $2,400, plus another $1,000 for installation.

The contraption has a barn-length rod which travels back and forth in the driveway trough. Every four feet, there is a hinged scraper. At the end of the barn, outside, is an ordinary chain conveyor which lifts the litter to the spreader.

Arundel Women's Inst. Bazaar and Program

(Our District Correspondent)

Arundel — The Women's Institute held a successful bazaar in the school auditorium on Friday evening, July 13. The various booths were decorated in the W.I. colors, royal blue and gold, which lent a bright spot to the surroundings. During the evening a program consisting of a one-act play and an orchestra, was enthusiastically received. The play was a smart satire entitled, "After the Church Supper", and the members taking part were Mrs. R. Moss, Mrs. P. Staniforth, Mrs. A. Graham, Mrs. P. Gordon, Mrs. F. Davis and Miss Eaton; it was directed and coached by Mrs. Douglas Cooke. The orchestra consisted of band instruments all made from kitchen furnishings, such as boilers, frying pan, pie plate, wash-tub, etc., and the instrumentalists each had a kazoo to produce the music. Mrs. Melvin Graham was at the piano, while the leader was Mrs. Ernest Bulley, dressed to represent "Aunt Jemima". During the interval, Mrs. Gordon Cooke sang two solos.

A substantial sum was realized, which will further the work of the Institute. Thanks are extended to the soft-drink firms who were so generous with their donations, and to Mr. St. George and Mr. McLaughlin, of Huberdeau, who also generously contributed.

Farming Changed From Job to Business

Years ago farming was a job, a means of livelihood; it was not a business. If the job were well done and the elements agreeable, it guaranteed a living, and, possibly, enough to care for the individual in old age. Land was cheap, and in many locations it was available by simply settling on it. Taxes were of no consequence; soils were virgin and fertile; insects and pests were negligible; and land values were rising. The increase in land value alone was sufficient to make the pioneer farmer independent in his old age. Today, however, we find an entirely different picture. Farming has changed from a job, or means of livelihood, to a highly specialized, competitive business.

A Lack in National Prestige

A STORY from London, England, recently pointed up what we consider is a great lack in our national life. The story listed the many Britons in many fields of endeavor honored in the King's birthday list. A great newspaperman was knighted, a philosopher entered the Order of Merit, a famed and beautiful ballerina was made Commander of the Order of the British Empire, a blind scholar was made a Baron, and so on.

In each case, outstanding contribution to the life of the nation or mankind generally was being honored.

We, as a nation, as a people, have no way of honoring outstanding effort, within our country or without, by our citizens or our friends. Apart from several Army medals, more for long service than anything else, we have not one distinctive Canadian order, decoration or award. True, we honored Eisenhower by naming a mountain after him. But we have only so many mountains. We never, for instance, have honored Mr. Churchill, though no man is more entitled to our esteem and tribute.

Once upon a time, British titles could honor worthy Canadians, but the late Mr. King ended that. Our gallantry decorations still are British, awarded in the name of the King. We see no reason for denying Canadians such honors, but if titles are to be ruled out of the life of Canadians, then there should be a substitute available. If we want to be strictly Canadian, then let us have our own ways and symbols of honoring those who make outstanding contributions to the welfare of man.

Here we are, continually telling ourselves we are a great nation (and we are), but we haven't even a flag of our own, and not an honor to bestow. There are many great men and women in Canada, persons to whom the country and the people owe a great debt. They are not looking to be honored, but they should be, if only as inspiration to others who follow.

Let us establish distinctive Canadian tributes and show honor to those who have helped to build us to our present stage of progress.

Slaves to Convention

WHAT happened to the fashion predictions of five and six years ago?

Remember? — men were through suffering in the summer heat. They were going to cast off their conventional business clothes and emerge in cool, knee-length shorts and light shirts, open at the neck.

The fashion experts were sure this was going to be the case, because they believed men returning from the services were prepared to rebel against heavy clothing in the hot months. Also the ex-servicemen at that time were accustomed to summer issue uniforms designed for comfort in hot weather.

But those who predict fashion trends failed to reckon with the conservative being that is the Canadian male. He displayed courage in battle but it takes a different brand of courage to stroll down Main Street attired in trousers that expose bony knees and hairy legs.

A leader failed to arise in the school of feather-weight clothing, and the Canadian business man continues to be miserable in his conventional business suit, complete with necktie.

True, a few business men wear tropical suits and light shirts, but the majority still swelter daily in the same garb worn in winter weather.

The Canadian woman knows summer comfort in cotton and linen with a weight of mere ounces, while her husband perspires in pounds of wool wrapped about him. Wise in the ways of heat control, Miss and Mrs. Canada wear the light, loose clothing prescribed for summer months by both fashion experts and medical men. There's no doubt heavy clothing is a poor way to avoid heat exhaustion.

Another factor in favor of Canadian women's comfort is their readiness to adopt a style or custom from another country if it suits their idea of fashion. . . But the male continues in his conventional clothes and probably will for years to come.

The Job-Jumping Habit

A PHENOMENON of modern business is the current habit of "job-jumping", especially among younger people who have been earning only a short time. Office Managers and Personal Directors have become resigned to a steady turnover of junior personnel. There is a constant procession of new typists, new office boys, new junior clerks through the offices of corporations, large and small.

What is it that moves a youthful employee to quit three weeks after starting a job? The reasons are not always financial. Not all office workers quit to go to a position that offers more money. Sometimes it is shorter hours, sometimes to enjoy coffee-time twice a day, often it is for such a trivial thing as to be in the same office as a boy friend or a girl friend. Whatever the excuse, the frequent resignations cause business houses a certain amount of disruption. Although no one is indispensable, the abrupt departure of a filing clerk who has just become useful throws an unfortunate burden upon the remainder of the staff until a suitable replacement can be found.

Young men and women appear unconvinced of the value of the old-fashioned virtues of stability. They have yet to learn that it is to their advantage to acquire experience and seniority, that it is foolish to leave without just cause. There are circumstances, of course, where a change is advisable. But, on the whole, a newcomer can gain much by becoming a specialist, by sticking to one job until he or she is expert at it.

The recent death of Frederick S. Corrigan, chairman of the Board of General Steel Wares Limited, is an excellent example of the virtues of stability. At the age of 19, Mr. Corrigan became an employee of the Kemp sheet metal manufacturing firm in Toronto. He rose to the position of general manager. When the Kemp organization became a part of General Steel Wares, he remained as general manager of the company. At the time of his death, he had been 54 years with General Steel Wares and predecessor companies — he had climbed from a clerical job to secretary, general manager, president, and chairman of the board of the largest industry of its kind in Canada.

Not every young man can hope to go to the top in his chosen field. But, unless he (or she) is completely without talent or ambition, he can gain advancement and the prestige and compensation that accompany seniority, if he sticks to the job. One job, that is, until he knows it. Change for the mere sake of change is a bad habit.

"THINGS AN' STUFF"

— By —
WALTER HENRY JACKSON

O the song of the breeze in the tamarac trees — the sound of the wind in the pine! Or the swish of the rain on the cracked windowpane in that little log cabin of mine.

A city-bred guy often wonders if I am just a little bit weak in the bean because I still like a good seven-mile hike, or for camping and fishing am keen. There are fellows, of course, who you never could force away from the city's cafés, but most of us think that to keep in the pink we must make better use of our days. Each season's the same and we're hardly to blame when the songbirds return to the North — when the robins and crows and such creatures as those — rejoicing and glad sally forth. Then we long for the feel of our nineteen-eighteen Model T, with our baggage all stacked and our fishing-rods packed and our hearts full of gladness and glee! The road's rough and long, but the flivver is strong as we bump our way out to the camp, where we open the door of our cabin once more and find it all chilly and damp. But a fire's soon lit and we don't mind a bit as we reach for the lamp on the shelf, and when supper is served, as you may have observed, it's a case of "each man for himself!"

So here's to the breeze in the tamarac trees, and here's to the rippling streams, where there's fish we can catch that are only a match for the fabulous fish of our dreams!

Confer With Premier On Newsprint Increase

By Bernard Dufresne

Quebec, July 23 (CP) — The Provincial Government studied the objection of newsprint manufacturers to its suggestion for a price-cut for Quebec newspapers.

Premier Duplessis said that he learned of the newsprint makers' view at a meeting last week with representatives of 12 Quebec newsprint companies.

The Premier said their objection was based "on certain complications and difficulties of a diplomatic rather than a financial nature. . . " He did not elaborate.

The government's view remained unchanged, however. The recommendation of special price consideration for Quebec newspapers was first announced by Premier Duplessis in a speech before the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in June. At that time he hinted at some kind of government price control.

Three weeks ago a delegation of Quebec daily and weekly newspaper officials presented a memorandum to the government asking for study of its difficult position due to a July 1 increase of $10 in the price of newsprint. Newsprint now costs $112 a ton in Canada exclusive of a 10 per cent sales tax.

Premier Duplessis said the newsprint industry's representatives "showed a desire for co-operation and understanding".

He said he told them the government's view is that "our forest resources should first of all, and most of all, benefit the people of the province and its institutions, among which are the newspapers. . . "

The Premier added: "I drew the attention of the industry's leaders to statements I made in the name of the government and I gave them our reasons to support these statements and our policy."

A Word About St. Matthew

The Hon. Douglas Abbott has been called the greatest tax-collector since St. Matthew. It is a dubious comment, for students of the Bible will recall that publicans, the tax-collectors of the Roman Empire, were not highly regarded. The biblical phrase, "publicans and sinners", is so familiar that one can hardly think of one class without being reminded of the other. The compliment, for what it is worth, should be shared by Hon. J. J. McCann, since it is his department that has the duty of collection.

In fairness to St. Matthew, it should be recalled that upon his conversion he immediately left the receipt of custom. No such drastic sign of repentance has yet been reported from Ottawa.

The unpopularity of St. Matthew and his fellow-publicans was partly due to the system of tax-farming in vogue in their time. The publicans paid a fixed rent for the privilege of collecting the imperial revenue and all that they collected above that rent and their expenses was profit. Those who paid the taxes naturally accused the publicans of inhumanity, while the luxury of the publican was in sufficient contrast with the poverty of many of his victims to support the accusation.

Although the tax-farming system is no longer used, the unpopularity of the tax-gatherer remains. No one accuses Mr. Abbott, Mr. McCann or their agents of personally profiting from their trade of extortion, but public demonstrations of affection for them are lacking.

Like other prejudices, that against tax-collectors is unreasonable, particularly in a day when so many citizens are living wholly or partly on the avails of taxation. No one who accepts the baby bonus or an old-age pension should despise the humble instrument that makes the largesse available. What would be the fate of the civil servants in other departments if the employees of the Department of National Revenue were not on the job? Travelling expenses to Torquay, payment for the mistakes of Mr. Gardiner, balancing the books of the CBC — all are dependent on the efficiency and zeal of Mr. Abbott, Mr. McCann and their minions.

It almost seems proper to suggest that a week be set aside as a "Be-Kind-to-Tax-Collectors Week." Oh well, one day anyway. St. Matthew's Day is September 21.

OBITUARY

Death Calls Well Known Resident of Mt. Maple

Late George A. Clark

Mabel — A well known resident, George A. Clark, passed away at his home in Mount Maple on Saturday, July 14.

A son of John Clark and Isabella McAllister and a lifetime resident of this community, Mr. Clark had taken an active interest in its affairs. He had been, at one time, a councillor of the Municipality of Chatham, a commissioner on the Chatham School Board and a member of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society.

Mr. Clark was married in 1901 to the former Jennie McKenzie, who passed away six years later. To them were born three children, Douglas, Bazil and Jennie (Mrs. Wallace Cunning, of Vankleek Hill). Later he married his former wife's sister, Miss Jessie McKenzie, who also predeceased him in 1925. To this union were born Perley, with whom Mr. Clark resided till his death, Catherine (Mrs. Cecil Clark), Mary, who died in 1927 at the age of 10 years, and Donald, who served with the R.C.A.F. and was killed over Germany in 1945. He is also survived by one brother, Mr. Dave Clark, of Lachute.

The funeral, largely attended, was held on Monday, July 16, at the home of his son, Mr. Douglas Clark, at Mabel, and was conducted by the Rev. Geo. Hicks, of Dalesville Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. N. H. Brock, of Maple Avenue Baptist Church, and the Rev. Dr. W. Harold Reid, of the Presbyterian Church. Interment was at Dalesville Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were six nephews of the deceased — Messrs. Clinton Murdoch, James Clark, Irvine and Kenneth Clark, Archie and John McKenzie.

Fun in the Back Yard

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

"I can't keep Johnny in his own yard! He is only four and already he is roaming all over the neighborhood. I am terrified he'll get run over or wander off and get lost. Spanking has failed to keep him home. What am I to do?"

* * *

How many parents of pre-school children are puzzled by the difficulty of keeping their child at home! What could Johnny's mother do to solve her problem?

First of all, she should try to put herself in Johnny's shoes, to discover why he wanders off. Likely he is seeking something to do. What healthy child ever wanted to be idle? Then, too, he wants companionship. He is looking for other children to play with.

Johnny's mother should try to see their back yard through Johnny's eyes. Is it a very appealing sight? Has time or thought or money been spent on play equipment?

Play is a child's work — and he needs "tools" to keep him employed. He also needs friends for part of his play time. The task of keeping an eye on the "small fry" is very much easier if they are busy.

For the very tiny tot an outdoor enclosed play space is a health and safety necessity. When he grows out of his play pen, he is still too young to be trusted to play near a busy road. Any parent reading a daily newspaper, with its numerous accounts of small children who have been knocked down and injured or even killed by passing traffic, will not dispute this.

A good sand box is one of the best investments for small children. Look at the picture of one in any large catalogue. You will likely decide that it can be built by father out of large, discarded wooden boxes at a fraction of the cost of a "store sand box"! A low wall of bricks may be used instead of wood.

A little shade for sunny days is appreciated by the sand diggers. If no kind tree spreads its limbs in the yard, a sun umbrella or an awning shade, on four corner supports, can be constructed. Small seats, either in the corners or built around the outside, add to the children's comfort. A wooden box for small pails, shovels and little cars should be nearby. The box should be covered at night with a canvas or wooden cover in order to keep the sand clean.

A swing is another wonderful source of fun and provides exercise for a variety of muscles. The movement of a swing has a fascination for a child. Older children delight in a jungle gym or monkey bars for climbing, and these too, can be made by an enterprising father.

If no convenient tree's limbs are handy for a swing, plan to construct a safe, durable frame-work. If possible, make it a double swing, so two children can use it. Dig two holes for the posts and construct a wall for the underground cement base. Rocks add to the anchorage. The cross bar must be firmly fastened to the upright posts. Side supports for the posts or guy wires are a help too.

A child's play house, made from odds and ends of lumber is another wonderful centre of activity for tea parties and housekeeping with a doll family. Little boys glory in a tent or tepee and this can be made from ordinary potato bags if heavier factory cotton or tent material is too expensive.

Other ideas for play equipment are described in books on Recreation in the Public Library. Take a look at them and see if there is something which you can make which your family would enjoy.

If possible, visit a Sports Department in a store and look over their "Best Sellers". The old fashioned games like croquet and horse-shoes with rubber shoes (for small fingers) and quoits are much in demand. There are also many customers asking for hammocks and two seated lawn swings. Don't neglect the inexpensive items like skipping ropes. Perhaps you could stretch your budget to include one of these.

Discuss plans for play equipment in an informal Family Council, if your children are of school age. Let everyone share in the plans and the work and the cost of new recreation material — because everyone will enjoy it. Good times at home unify a family and give the children golden memories of their childhood. John Masefield wrote truly for both children and grown-ups when he said: "Best trust the happy moments!" and "The days that make us happy make us wise".

Juvenile Orange Lodge Inaugurated at Kilmar

Kilmar Star Lodge No. 334 was instituted recently by R. W. Grand Director of Juveniles of Quebec, Sister Mrs. Laura McVicar, who was assisted by members of Faith L.O.L., Harrington, and "No Surrender" Lodge 210, L.O.B.A., Grenville.

With Sister Thelma Fox acting as pianist, the proceedings were most interesting, 32 candidates being initiated and several applications received.

The election and installation of officers were conducted by the R. W. Grand Director, assisted by Sister Lois Provencal as Marshal, Sister Stella McVicar and Sister Bigelow.

A set of gavels and a ballot box were gifts received from Bro. Ken Armstrong, also a large Union Jack from the T. Eaton Co.

Much credit is due the ladies of Kilmar for their efforts in making this meeting such a success.

Co-operation Between Urban, Rural Women

The Quebec Women's Institutes are continuing their affiliation with the Montreal Council of Women. This was unanimously approved at the recent annual convention of the Q.W.I. held at Macdonald College, several of the members expressing the opinion that much benefit had been derived from this co-ordination of effort on objectives of common concern to urban and rural women. Speaking on this affiliation, which has been carried on for the past two years, Mrs. R. G. Gilbride, president of the "Council", who was present at the opening session of the convention, endorsed this statement and added, "It was a great triumph when the W.I. affiliated with the Montreal Council of Women".

Another affiliation that was renewed is with the Canadian Handicraft Guild. Referring to the theme of the convention, "The W.I. World Citizen", Miss Alice Lighthall, president of the Quebec Branch of the Guild, who also attended the convention, said "In handicraft one has a sympathetic medium which can be developed into an instrument of use in international understanding".

Members are showing keen interest in these crafts, a trend reflected in the annual report of the Handicraft Technician, Miss Ida Bruneau, who stated 300 women had taken advantage of the courses offered by the Q.W.I. in weaving, rug-making and leather-work.

Revealing Facts From Cover to Cover

That eight of Canada's ten provinces border on salt water is one of the little realized facts about Canada pointed out in the new issue of Quick Canadian Facts, the handbook of facts about this country. "We put that item of unusual information into the new issue because we once had a reader call long distance from Winnipeg to Toronto to confirm the fact and win a wager", says R. L. Gough, one of the publication's editors.

In addition to a timely quiz on Canada and Canadian affairs, the new issue carries several special feature articles, one of which describes the life of our Eskimos and calls these far-north citizens "the happiest Canadians". The Eskimos, says the article, are a people who have no chiefs, soldiers, police or servants. Largely unchanged by civilization, they are about the happiest and healthiest people on earth.

As with former issues of the annual pocket book, the main contents of the 1951-1952 edition of Quick Canadian Facts is a compilation of up-to-date facts about the Dominion, the provinces, government, trade and industry, natural resources, the population, finance and taxes, and all significant aspects of Canadian life. Distributed through bookstores and news stands, the new issue of Quick Canadian Facts is this week released across the country.

BOY, 10, CRAWLS UNDER MOVING FREIGHT TRAIN TO SAVE CHUM

André Fiola, of Jonquière, Que., risks his life in daring rescue of unconscious boy

1. Young Eddie Simard, aged 7, was playing alone on a large company's railway siding in Jonquière. His thoughts must have been miles away, because he was quite unaware of a freight train approaching. The train was also backing up . . . and the sound of the engine either didn't reach him — or didn't bother him. Suddenly he was struck by the rear car and knocked unconscious.

2. Everything had happened so quickly that no one noticed the plight of the unfortunate youngster — no one, that is, except 10-year-old André Fiola. He was horrified at the sight of Eddie being knocked down . . . but when he saw the little figure crumple in a heap and then begin to disappear under the freight car, André leaped into action. At top speed he raced to the railway tracks.

3. Luckily the freight was moving very slowly. But even so it took great courage and presence of mind for André to get under the moving car and drag the unconscious boy to safety. The bravery of this young Jonquière boy and his unselfishness in risking his life to save a friend merit the praise of every Canadian. We are proud to pay him tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award.

— PART V —

THERE IS POWER FOR THE TAKING

All people, everywhere, in every age, are born with power to have dominion over themselves — to control their own lives.

This is the heritage of the human being.

It is easy for the child to grasp this fact, but more and more difficult to realize with the passing years.

The reason for this increasing difficulty is caused by the weight of the knowledge of environment. Environment is formed by one's own body and mind, nature, and the thoughts, words and actions of other human beings. These factors are the world. The world, when uncontrolled by the power of the spirit, is under the law of cause and effect and under the influence of desire and fear.

The weight of this increasing knowledge is the cares and attitudes of the world, the effect of riches in the form of learning, money and other material possessions, together with the individual's participation in such cares and attitudes.

The power of the spirit with which each person is born is enlightenment. It is an infinitesimal part of the light, life, truth, beauty, love, or whatever happens to be the specific word used by the individual to mean the Creator. The term usually used in this language is God. Such power makes the environment perfect to the individual who chooses to ask this spirit to have dominion over self. The environment is not of necessity altered, but the attitude of the individual renders this environment glorious to the individual.

An example of this is the experience of Daniel's three friends who knew and practiced this fact. The fiery furnace was a wonderful experience to them but caused death to the guards.

Experiments with the atom and the latent force which is now known to be present in matter, makes the adventure possible from a scientific viewpoint and not only a miracle.

It appears stupid to choose the weight of the world, however delightful the world may seem, if one is aware of the endowment of the force with which one is born.

At the times when one chooses to put this power into effect, the circumstances, whatever they may be, are perceived as heaven. Every part of the environment (including one's own body and mind, nature and other human beings) is transmuted, by this perception, into God's unspoiled creations. The departures from this perfection cannot be observed at such times, for such is the law of the spirit, which is love.

To choose, in an undivided manner, the complete authority of one's own spirit, is to be in alignment with the purpose and life and power of the Spirit of creation. To such a one there is infinite reinforcement upon which to trust, and in consequence all things are possible.

To choose to use this integral power and to direct it to the acquisition of the world is possible; it is probably being done now and has been done in the history of mankind. The power used for such a purpose is divided and is of a temporal nature. In consequence, dissatisfaction occurs with the acquisitions, and destruction and dissolution follow, for such is the law of change in matter.

To overlook this spirit within each one of us, is to be in the control of the world. Persons at such times are obedient to their own flesh and blood and to the vagaries of their minds. At these times one is in subjection to one's environment. This state results in fear and desire, ill-health of the body and the mind. Time is merely the approach of death, chronic or acute. With the full acceptance of each individual's spirit, time is the glorious "nows", lived abundantly with health of mind and body.

Every person is individual, and must find the individual means of putting the integral spirit in control, if the dominion of spirit is this person's choice. Christ, however, has promised to be with each person, always, until the end of the world.

Until such time that the world is ended in those who choose this dominion of spirit, it is well to profit by His company, friendship and assistance. This friendship is absolute. It can be trusted. To those who have instantaneously dispensed with the accumulated standards of the world, Christ's friendship and God's love are simple, accepted facts, thankfully shared.

To others of us whose ingrained habits of thought recur, even although we seek dominion of our spirits over ourselves, it is well to ask Christ's assistance each time whenever it becomes apparent that the standards of the world have ousted the spirit's dominance. To diagnose this state in ourselves, we have only to measure our thoughts and actions with those of love, truth and beauty. Directly we find ourselves thinking or acting without love and truth, we know that the world and not the spirit is dominant. Then, realizing our inconsistency we should ask Christ's assistance. His assistance is immediate. At once, spirit regains its dominance over our world, and although the circumstances are unchanged, perhaps, our perception makes them into a part of the glorious adventure of living, with the power to work with them, to render all things we need not only possible but factual.

Charlotte Islands A Sportsman's Dream

Fishing and Lumbering Spell A Bright Future for Pacific Islands

Vancouver (CP) — Five hundred miles north of here lie the Queen Charlotte Islands, westernmost point on Canada's west coast.

They lie farther north than Newfoundland on the same parallel as barren Labrador. Yet they are temperate, fertile and green.

Sparsely settled, they are a sportsman's paradise; fisherman and logger's bonanza; sailor's bane.

There, in the lair of the once-fierce raiders — the Haida Indians — the Pacific Ocean first pokes its long fingers into the ribs of Canada.

The largest land mass off the B.C. coast, its creeks and rivers teem with trout, black bear and deer — the latter, introduced by the white men, abound in astonishing numbers. Ducks and geese make the islands their year-long home.

Famous Forests

Considering the islands' past, it is interesting to speculate on their future.

Already the gigantic spruce timber logged from the forests has gained international fame. The first mineral recorded in British Columbia, other than coal, was gold found on Moreseby Island — one of the group — in 1850.

Development of the mineral was arrested by Indian hostility in 1852.

In the shallows down the east coast of the islands are the greatest halibut breeding grounds in B.C. The far-seeking tuna fleet was astounded last season to encounter schools of tuna seven miles off the west coast of the islands.

Within the last year, a large oil company sent prospectors into the islands.

On a coast alive with raw opportunity, eyes of restless men are turning to the virgin resources of the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Bell Telephone to Seek Further Rate Increase

To meet increased operating costs and higher taxes, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada will apply to the Board of Transport Commissioners for authority to increase rates for telephone services — Frederick Johnson, president, stated in a message to shareholders enclosed with dividend cheques dated July 16.

The message says that higher rates authorized last year were based on the cost level existing in 1949. Since then, operating costs have moved upward at an accelerating pace.

"The combined effect of the two major factors — increased wage costs and higher taxes — would alone make it imperative that we again request authority to increase the price of our services", the message says. "We will, therefore, be compellled to apply to the Board of Transport Commissioners for approval of rate schedules in keeping with prevailing costs".

The message does not indicate when the application will be made or the amount of the increase that will be sought.

While increased wages and higher taxes have accounted for the most significant increases in expenses, the price of nearly everything is higher now than it was two years ago, the president's message says. "Fair wages are necessary to attract and retain the type of employees required by the business, and we must keep our wages in line with those paid for similar skills by other firms in the communities we serve. Consequently, wage rates were increased in 1950, and it was necessary to again increase them in 1951. . . Federal income tax rates were increased last year, and this year they have been still further increased through the imposition of the Defence Surtax. The federal income tax rate applicable to the company has been increased since our last rate application from 33 per cent to 45.6 per cent, an increase of more than one-third."

Married in Edmonton

Parker - Westgate

Pink and white peonies decorated the altar of St. Mark's Anglican Church, Edmonton, for a pretty ceremony recently, in which Miss Marion Ruth Westgate became the bride of Lt.-Cmdr. Peter Bradbery Parker, R.C.N.

The Rev. G. W. Wilson officiated at the marriage of the daughter of Mrs. E. J. Westgate, of Hazenmore, Sask., and of the late Mr. Westgate, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Parker, of Milton, N.S.

Presented to the groom by her brother, Mr. Leonard E. Westgate, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, styled with a Peter Pan collar and lily point sleeves. A softly draped overskirt of illusion fell from the fitted bodice, which featured tiny covered buttons extending from neckline to waist. A sweetheart headpiece of Chantilly lace accented with drop pearls, caught to her head a veil of misty illusion and Chantilly lace. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white sweet peas. Her only jewelry was a silver bracelet, a gift of the groom.

Miss Yvonne Blumer was bridesmaid, gowned in turquoise faile taffeta styled with a bouffant skirt, and matching jacket. A headdress of turquoise net completed her ensemble, and she carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli and mauve sweet peas.

Mr. John Parker was best man, and the ushers were Mr. K. Kidder and Mr. Gordon Westgate.

For a wedding banquet for 30 guests, held later at the McDonald Hotel, the bride's mother wore a frock of navy printed silk, with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

A three-tiered wedding cake flanked with tall white tapers and bouquets of mixed summer blossoms, centred the bride's table. A toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Charles Douglas.

For a wedding trip to Ottawa, the bride wore a pale blue suit and navy shortie coat. Her accessories were navy and white, and her corsage was of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker will make their home in Washington, D.C.

AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION

Owner-proved by tens of thousands now yours for effortless driving in

FORD and Monarch cars

Here it is!—the newest, most advanced Automatic Transmission of all—now offered as optional equipment* on all new Ford and Monarch cars. Road-proved and owner-proved by tens of thousands of satisfied drivers who are now enjoying the extra smoothness, the magically effortless driving pleasure made possible by this latest, finest Automatic Transmission.

The clutch pedal and gear shifting are completely eliminated! This newest Automatic Transmission combines the smoothness of oil-cushioned drive with the flexibility and control of automatic operation unmatched by any other type of Automatic Transmission.

Until you enjoy a Test-Drive in a Ford or Monarch with Automatic Transmission, you'll never know the extra acceleration—the extra "passing power"—the extra-safe engine braking downhill—that only this newest and finest Automatic Transmission can give. See your Ford-Monarch Dealer for a demonstration . . . and enjoy the driving surprise of your life.

Automatic Transmission optional at extra cost. Fords and Monarchs are also available with Standard Transmission or with Overdrive.*

NO CLUTCH PEDAL . . . NO GEARS TO SHIFT—Just set the Drive Selector, which is mounted on the steering wheel, then forget about clutching, forget about shifting . . . with Ford and Monarch Automatic Transmission! It's more automatic than most other drives, yet you have complete control with far greater flexibility. And it can't be touched by most systems for its efficiency of operation.

Instant Acceleration—You can drive all day and never move the Selector from Drive (D2) position. For quick pick-up in passing or climbing steep hills, you simply press down on the accelerator and the closed throttle "downshift" takes you out of high into intermediate automatically, requiring no effort on the part of the driver.

Permits use of engine for braking safety—You're safer on hills or slippery roads with the new Ford and Monarch Automatic Shifting because the engine actually helps to slow the car down. You can flip the Selector to Low (Lo) at any speed with complete safety when extra engine braking is needed.

Flashing Getaway—Leave it to Ford and Monarch to perfect "no-lag" pickup in Automatic Shifting! The outstanding combination of a remarkable torque convertor PLUS a fully automatic gear transmission bring you smooth, surging starts with no need for racing your engine!

Easier "rocking" in snow or mud—Stuck in the mud? Simply move the Selector to Low (Lo) for extra traction. Want to "rock" your car out of snow or a rut? Just move the Selector back and forth from Reverse to Drive. And you'll find if you ever need a push to start, the engine starts at safe, low speeds with this Automatic Transmission.

Cool Salads for Summer

"Keep cool with cool cooking and cool eating". . . Jellied salads may be made in the freshness of the early morning and allowed to set in the refrigerator. Then they will be ready with a minimum of last minute preparation. Refreshing jellied salads may be as simple or as fancy as anyone wants to make them, and almost any combination of fruits, meats or vegetables may be used in their making.

Tomatoes also make delightfully cool and appetizing salads. They are plentiful these days and the home economists are sure that everyone will want to serve them as often as possible. An ideal way of serving them is as Stuffed Tomatoes. There is such a variety of fillings that may be used for the purpose that it would be easy to serve a different stuffed tomato salad for each day of the week. For example, a filling of diced celery, diced cucumber, sliced radishes and chopped green onions combined with a small amount of whipped cream, a little vinegar and seasoning to taste, produces a salad which is sure to banish any Monday's blues. For Tuesday the tomatoes may be filled with cottage cheese which has been mixed with diced celery, chopped parsley and salad dressing. This will certainly be a winner with any family. Wednesday's stuffed tomato salad might boast a filling of diced chicken, diced hard-cooked eggs and celery and chopped pickle moistened with salad dressing. For variety, ham or other meat may be used instead of chicken. Why not try an Italian type of salad for Thursday? The filling would be cooked left-over macaroni, spaghetti mixed with diced celery and well seasoned tomato pulp. Cole slaw, which adds interesting contrast of color and texture, may be the choice for Friday's filling for stuffed tomatoes. The last filling the home economists suggest is devilled eggs, on a bed of salad dressing spread on tomato petals.

To make these petals cut a tomato in quarters to within one-half inch of the bottom and spread out the quarters to form petals.

Regardless of the type, any salad has greater eye appeal if attractively garnished. As a gay bouquet of flowers pinned to the shoulder lifts the spirits, so a gay garnish brightens the salad. Simplicity is the key-note in garnishes and one rule to remember is that all garnishes should be edible.

Most folks know how to make radish roses, but not everyone has tried tomato roses. This is the way to make them. Cut a slice across the bottom of a tomato, leaving about 1-inch attached, then turn the knife downward and pare the tomato round and round, as if peeling an apple to get a continuous peeling. Coil the tomato peeling around and over the bottom slice. The end should drop down naturally into the centre to form the heart of a rose.

The home economists at Ottawa suggest that sprigs of parsley or watercress, slices of cucumbers or tomatoes, green pepper rings, stuffed eggs or carrot or celery curls may also be used as other edible garnishes for your favorite salad.

Instead of peeling a cucumber before slicing it, try scoring it lengthwise with the tines of a fork. Then cut in diagonal slices. The dark green of the skin adds much to the color of this edible garnish.

Salad Hints

Salads that are moist seem to lack freshness, so dry all greens thoroughly; if using cooked vegetables, drain them well. Always mix salads lightly, using two forks, as stirring with the spoon crushes the ingredients. Do not prepare salads until just before serving and wait until the last minute to add the salad dressing. Otherwise, the lettuce may become limp and wilted, instead of being crisp and attractive.

* * *

To give a little more character to the flavor of a vegetable salad, rub the salad bowl lightly with the cut surface of a piece of garlic, or let the garlic stand in the mayonnaise for just a few minutes. Remember, a little garlic goes a long way.

A few leaves of fresh mint give a refreshing flavor to fruit salads.

* * *

Be practical! Use your left-overs for appetizing salads. Cubed left-over meat may be mixed with raw carrots, beets, cabbage, spinach, radishes, cucumbers or with cold cooked peas or beans. Serve with your favorite salad dressing in a fresh, crisp lettuce cup.

* * *

For a quick and simple, but appetizing supper dish, serve a fruit salad. Cut any desired fruit in cubes, quarters or halves, top with a big spoonful of cottage cheese and serve with an appropriate dressing. And for special occasions, stuff peach or pear halves with cream cheese, cherries and almonds.

* * *

With the number of fruits and vegetables on the market today, there is great scope for ingenuity and originality in preparing salads. Lettuce, watercress, Swiss Chard, endive, spinach or parsley may be used as a basic green. The salad may be tossed, jellied, or the fruits or vegetables may be carefully arranged on a bed of crisp greens. For contrast of texture, flavor and color, try mixing seasonal fresh fruits or vegetables with canned or frozen ones.

Couple Wed Saturday in B'burg United Church

Bates - Purdy

At the United Church in Brownsburg last Saturday afternoon, the marriage took place of Beulah Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Purdy, of Brownsburg, to Mr. Frank Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bates, of Toronto.

The Rev. S. J. Pike officiated. Miss Anna Hanson was organist, playing the selection "I love You Truly" during the signing of the register. Vases of pink and red roses and orange blossoms decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Mary Bates as maid of honor, Miss Stella Bates (the bridegroom's sister), Miss Alene Monette and Miss Joyce Tomalty as bridesmaids. Little Miss Joyce Purdy, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

Mr. Sonny Jones acted as best man for the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Keith Low, Mr. Calvin McAndrew and Mr. Leonard McIntyre.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with imported lace and pearl trim, buttoned down the back to the waist line, having long pointed sleeves and a long circular train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was caught with a Juliet cap of satin and illusion sprinkled with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses. The maid of honor wore a floor-length dress of old rose taffeta, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bridesmaids wore floor-length taffeta dresses in pink, yellow and blue, respectively, carrying bouquets of sweet peas. The flower girl's dress was of baby blue sheer nylon, and she also carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

Mrs. Purdy, the bride's mother, wore a navy blue crepe dress trimmed with white, with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. A reception followed the ceremony, at the Brownsburg Legion Hall, where the bride's table was centred with the wedding cake, and pink and red roses and orange blossoms decorated the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates left later on their honeymoon to Buffalo, New York and other points in the States — the bride wearing a white gabardine suit, blue nylon blouse, white accessories and a corsage of red roses. . . They will reside at 7 Kepling Ave., Mimico, Ontario.

Out-of-town guests included — Mr. Sonny Jones, Miss Mary Bates, Miss Stella Bates, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. G. Purdy, of Arnprior, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Provincial Titles to B'burg Riflemen

The Province of Quebec Rifle Association's 6th Annual Target Rifle Tournament was held at Lachine on July 7 - 8, and as usual, a group of shooters from Brownsburg attended.

It seemed to be Brownsburg's day, when the results were posted, as they took 6 of the total 21 places in each of the first and second matches, 5 in the third, 4 in the fourth, 5 in the fifth, and 6 in the Grand Aggregate. In addition, all of the Brownsburgers won places on the C.C.A.M. 20-man inter-provincial team. They were — Wyman Hazel, Bill Brown, Bob Todd, Dave Atkins, Dave Golphin, Arnold Waller, Jack Golphin, Harold Wheatley and Tom Dwyer.

Provincial Outdoor Champion is now Elmer Gagné, of the C.P.R. Outremont Rifle Club, while Wyman Hazel, of Brownsburg, who was tops in the Sharpshooter class, is Intermediate Champion. Second in that class was Bill Brown, and in the Marksman class Bob Todd and Dave Golphin were first and second.

The Alfred Eaves trophy was presented to Elmer Gagné, while Wyman Hazel received the Burke Trophy, the presentation being made by P.Q.R.A. President Major Don MacRae.

Rotary Carnival A Big Success

Ideal weather contributed largely to the success of the annual carnival of the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club, held on the school grounds in Brownsburg on July 13-14. Large crowds attended and entered wholeheartedly into the carnival spirit.

A new attraction was introduced in this year's event by Rotarian Arthur McOuat. With his rare ingenuity, Mr. McOuat built a miniature merry-go-round for the younger children. Power was provided by an older child pedalling a bicycle-like frame attached to the outer edge of the 10-foot platform. A cut-down hobby horse, small chairs and bucket seats suspended from overhead, provided safe and comfortable seats.

A drawing was held each evening for a small radio. The first was won by young Master Larocque, from Brownsburg, and the one on Saturday night by Mrs. Dixon Smith, also of Brownsburg. Keen interest was shown in the major drawing Saturday night, for the $400 trip to Bermuda. Mayor Pariseau drew the lucky ticket, which was held by James McOuat, of Lachute.

Proceeds of the carnival and the drawing are to be devoted towards the Club's park and swimming pool, which was started last year and which is proving very successful. Mr. King Amos, principal of the Brownsburg School, is the supervisor at this proect and is kept busy organizing games and looking after children in the swimming pool. The Club intends purchasing this property, which is located just north of Brownsburg Lumber Company's mill on the branch of the West River, and to make this a permanent children's playground, free to everyone.

The Finger Points to the location of the Anterior Transverse Arch. When this Arch weakens, the tiny bones are depressed; uneven pressure is produced, and the uneven distribution of the person's weight causes a burning sensation, callouses, tender spots, contracted toes, and severe cramp-like pain. The foot widens and spreads over the shoes, the small toe and great toe joints become inflamed and enlarged—bodily fatigue and nervousness result.

These Hurried Times

A fair boss gives fair play. Your car's a trusty servant. Treat it right!

are painfully reflected in the way some folks neglect their most useful possessions. . . . The automobile, for instance!

If you are one of those who use your car with disrespect, treating it merely as a conveyance to go places, to haul the kids and the kitchen stove to heaven-knows-where . . .

AT LEAST you can give it the essentials of mechanical supervision — attention to tires, brakes, steering, cooling system, battery — and MOST essential, lubrication.

WE MEAN, that's what we're here for — to make you a more satisfied car owner. . . Trucks too (how they work!) — we give them the same considerate attention.
