Bill Provides for Establishment of New Municipality of 'Ayersville'

Proclamation in Quebec Official Gazette Makes Measure Effective January 1st

A proclamation published in the Quebec Official Gazette gives official effect to the passage of a bill providing for the establishment of "Ayersville" as a new chartered municipality in this county. The order-in-council, No. 1325 in the Quebec Statutes, is dated November 29, 1951, and became effective this week, January 1, 1952.

The bill prescribes the area embraced in this new municipality as follows:

"A territory situate in the Township of Chatham comprising, with reference to the official cadastre of the said township, all lots or parts of lots and their present and future subdivisions, and also all the roads, streets, lanes, railway rights-of-way, rivers, watercourses, or parts of same, enclosed within the following limits . . . (here enumerating the lots and concessions at considerable length) . . . the said territory to be detached from the Municipality of the Township of Chatham and to be erected into a separate municipality under the name of 'Municipality of the Village of Ayersville' . . . such erection to become effective as from the 1st of January . . . the whole in conformity with the provisions of Article 35 of the Municipal Code".

In terms more comprehensible to the lay reader, the extent of this new municipality may be described as follows: "An area outside the Lachute Town limits from Hamford Street west to include D. G. Simon's farm and from a point north bordering the Notre Dame de Lourdes orchard, through the Exhibition Grounds including Douglas Bradford's and the Ayers plant, to the south side of the North River in the region of the Ayers dam and Centreville (that portion presently in Chatham Township)."

The granting of this decree for the erection of a municipality followed the presentation of a petition, signed by 250 ratepayers in the ecclesiastical parish of Immaculate Conception, early last summer — stipulating the reason that "the area and population concerned had little in common with the interests and administration of the remainder of Chatham Township". Notice of the order-in-council has now been forwarded to the authorities in all municipalities of the County of Argenteuil.

The Village of Ayersville will be administered in accordance with Municipal Code provisions for rural municipalities, a mayor and council being set up by public vote or acclamation within a period specified in the Code. It is understood Mr. J. Romeo Charron is being appointed officer to arrange for and supervise the electoral representation.

Earth Tremor Reported Here

Although there has appeared no official report of an earth tremor in this area, indications seem to affirm this occurrence — reports having been received from various residents in this town and district. The disturbance was felt late last Thursday afternoon. There is no knowledge of a blast or explosion in the surroundings which might otherwise account for the incident.

St. John's Night At Masonic Lodge

The annual "St. John's Night" was fittingly celebrated on Thursday evening, December 27, by officers and members of Argenteuil Masonic Lodge. Wor. Bro. H. Barber occupied the chair and, after completion of the regular business, the installation of the newly elected officers was handed over to Rt. Wor. Bro. H. M. Gall, who for many years has filled this important duty. A great deal of memory work pertaining to the ritual is required, and Bro. Gall was highly complimented on the efficient and impressive manner in which he conducted this part of the ceremony.

At the fourth degree the brethren enjoyed a tasty meal and joined in a short singsong.

Wor. Bro. Barber was presented with a past-master's jewel as a token of appreciation for his excellent work as head of the lodge during the past two terms; he expressed his thanks, and his appreciation to all who had assisted in making his term of office a pleasant and successful one.

The newly elected master is Wor. Bro. C. R. Cunningham, who will occupy the chair for the coming term.

Nearly $300-Million Spent On Canadian Roads, 1951

Ottawa — Continued improvement in rural roads throughout the country is noted in a year-end review prepared by the Canadian Good Roads Association.

Record expenditures on roads of nearly $300 millions during the year were reflected in an extension and improvement of secondary roads generally. Maintenance, particularly in providing snow-free roads, has been improved with increased emphasis by provincial governments on serving agricultural communities.

A record level of road building activities will be maintained during 1952, the Association forecasts, unless shortages of materials and labor force a drastic curtailment of road building programs now being contemplated by provincial governments.

Steel will be in short supply and may not be expected to become more plentiful for some time to come. Shortages of skilled labor continue to hamper road builders.

These difficulties may force some of the provinces to ask the federal government for an extension of the Trans-Canada Highway Agreement beyond 1956, the year in which the project is scheduled for completion.

Mr. Legault is to be congratulated for co-operating in this important project and deserves the support of all concerned. When being approached for advertising, our business men should have this in mind: "When someone stops Advertising, someone stops Buying. When someone stops Buying, someone stops Selling. Military Honors for Late 'Sandy' Smith

Funeral at Lennoxville of Young Naval Rating Killed in Accident

Full military honors were accorded last Wednesday afternoon at the funeral of Ordinary Seaman, Naval Air Service, Sanborn Ayer (Sandy) Smith. The rites were held from his home, 28 Prospect Street, Lennoxville, to St. George's Church in that town. . . Sandy was a former pupil at Lachute High School.

The young naval rating — he would have been 18 in April — was fatally injured near Stewiacke, N.S., when the car in which he was a passenger came into collision with a truck. Four other young navy men, from different parts of Canada, died in the accident, including OS. David Ryan, 18, of Vancouver, who was to spend Christmas with Sandy Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Smith. At the time of the accident, the young sailors were on their way home for the holiday.

A representation of Sherbrooke Legion headed the military cortege and six close friends of Sandy Smith carried the flag-draped casket, on which rested Sandy's naval cap, and 21 uniformed young servicemen completed the guard of honor, including 15 naval ratings who had served with Sandy Smith on the east coast. Among the sailors was AB. Joe Lamontagne, of Lachute.

The Rev. Archdeacon Albert Jones conducted prayers at the residence and at St. George's Church. The congregation, which filled the church to overflowing, joined in two hymns, "Fight the Good Fight" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus".

Interment was at Malvern Cemetery, where Archdeacon Jones again officiated and Comrade Marshall conducted a Legion service at the graveside.

Sanborn Smith was born at Timmins, Ont., and was educated at South Porcupine, Noranda and Lachute, his mother, the former Frances Ayer, having taught at schools in each of these places. She is now principal at Beebe Protestant School. Mr. Smith is with Canadian Ingersoll-Rand at Sherbrooke.

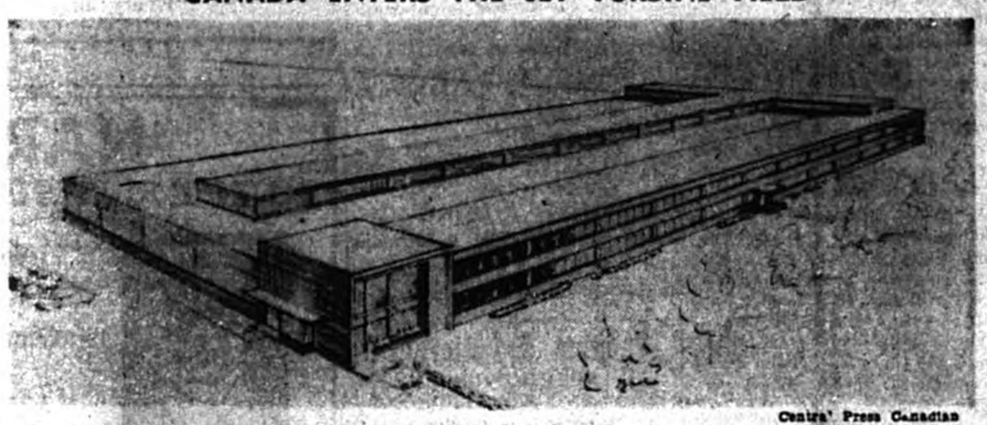

Sandy joined the R.C.N. in January, 1951, completed his basic training at H.M.C.S. Cornwallis, N.S., and transferred to the Fleet Air Arm at Dartmouth, N.S., in June, in which month he was last home on leave.

Three weeks prior to his death he was posted to the destroyer H.M.C.S. Iroquois, and the Christmas holiday was to have been his embarkation leave.

Many floral tributes and messages of sympathy were received by the family, who are very grateful for the condolences, particularly to the sailors who gave up their leave to be at the funeral. (His parents announced that the presents which their son was to have received this Christmas would be divided among his navy friends at Shearwater, Cornwallis and on the H.M.C.S. Iroquois).

Besides his parents, the boy is survived by one brother, Clarke Smith, at home.

In Brownsburg

Specially contributed to The Watchman

Government

Last week, a local son o' th' heather who was violently opposed to the movement for Home Rule for Scotland, on being twitted on his right to interfere in this matter, being as it were a deserter from the land of Burns, quickly countered "he came to Canada to enjoy freedom but was not so sure, now that a man couldn't park his truck outside his own door without being drawn into court". We must say he is not alone in this attitude, as we have heard the same complaint from several worthy citizens.

Lao-Tsze the Chinese philosopher said, "Govern a great nation as you would cook a small fish. Don't overdo it."

Last summer the Brownsburg Municipal Council were anxious to secure assistance from a high government representative and with a view to impressing him with their claims for aid, invited him to visit the district. At much personal inconvenience this official, who was somewhat of a stranger in the village, or at least to its laws and regulations—called upon the Mayor at his private residence. Naturally he parked his car outside the Mayor's door during the time he listened to the latter's plea for much-needed assistance. On his departure he found a reception committee tucked under his windshield wiper in the form of a ticket for parking in an unauthorized place! . . Ouida wrote in "Wisdom, Wit and Pathos": Petty laws breed great crimes.

It is a fact that we in Brownsburg are too prone to demand a strict application of the law — for the other fellow. Many of these laws are of purely local application, like the speed limit, the traffic light and parking regulations, children sliding, juke boxes at night and so on, and some are of doubtful juridicial soundness. The administration of these ill-conceived, often altered parking laws, is the source of much irritation, and in many instances breeds contempt and disrespect for what should be a mutually co-operative effort. Automobiles are used so extensively now, that parking space must be provided, and until the Council can provide space, parking will continue in the only place available, the public streets. Closing off one street where business people are open for trade, or one side of one street, and leaving an equally narrow street open to parking on both sides, savours of preference and unfairness. It may not be so, but it is a logical conclusion. There is a lot of dissatisfaction with the present state of affairs.

A hearty supper was enjoyed after the pursuit of outdoor pastimes, and films were shown by the Rev. W. H. Britton, pastor of the Baptist Church.

Duplessis Sees Era Of Quebec Prosperity

New Year Optimism

Quebec City (B.U.P.) — Premier Maurice Duplessis said that the second half of the 20th Century belongs to Quebec.

The Premier said in a New Year's message that a prophecy by the late prime minister of Canada, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that the 20th Century belonged to Canada, was being fulfilled.

"The phenomenal development underway in our province during the last few years allows us to say that the latter half of the 20th Century will belong to Quebec if we desire it", he said.

Duplessis added, however, that Quebecers could take advantage of industrial prosperity only if they lived by the maxim "heaven helps those who help themselves". He said that state "paternalism" was an obstacle because it paralyzed individual initiative to the detriment of the entire population.

The rights of citizens can only be guaranteed if each fulfils his citizenship duties, the Premier said.

FREEDOM OF OPINION

The fundamental right of Canadians, and a very precious right it is, is to have freedom of opinion. No matter how insignificant nor how influential the man . . . or newspaper. We should be very thankful that we can have free thoughts and can express them.

Burial Here of Crash Victim

George Carpenter Killed in Car-Truck Collision

Sincere sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Theron Carpenter, of Wayagamack Island, Three Rivers, Que., in the loss of their son, George, who was killed in a truck-automobile accident at St. Remi de Napierville late Saturday evening.

The victim, aged 32, was a graduate of McGill and was engaged as a chemist with a rubber company at St. Remi; he had served with the R.C.A.F. during World War II. . . George Carpenter had numerous friends in this locality, his parents owning a summer cottage here on the North River. A brother, Keith, and sister, Ethel (Mrs. Larson) are left to mourn his tragic death.

Three persons accompanying him in the car, including his financée, were injured—Miss Rita Daignault, to whom he was to have been married next May; her 22-year-old brother, Gaston, who suffered a fractured leg; and Miss Agathe Thibault, who suffered body bruises and shock. All were from St. Remi. They were conveyed to the Verdun General Hospital.

Daignault was driving the automobile when it collided head-on with a truck on Route 36. A fine rain was falling at the time, which made the road slippery.

Roger Guerin, 20, of St. Michel, driver of the truck, and two other occupants, Jean Paul Giroux and Jean Marc Remillard, both 19, were unhurt.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at St. Andrew's United Church, Three Rivers, burial taking place in the family plot at Lachute Cemetery on arrival of the morning train today (Thursday).

Mr. Russell Carpenter of Lachute, uncle of the victim, attended the funeral.

Two Asphyxiated By Monoxide Gas

A 26-year-old man and an 18-year-old girl, both from Alfred, Ont., were found dead in an automobile at Grenville on Sunday night, asphyxiated by carbon monoxide gas escaping from a defective exhaust and seeping through the floor of the car. The automobile was parked, with the motor running, on a thoroughfare not far from the theatre where the couple had attended a movie show.

The parked car was noticed by Russell Owen, of Grenville, around 7 p.m. At 9.30 Owen passed again, and noticed the car in the same spot with the engine still idling. He investigated, and found the two occupants dead in the auto, with all windows closed. The police and village authorities were immediately notified, and Dr. G. G. Bowes, local physician, was called to the scene; he pronounced the victims dead.

The district coroner, Dr. Jules Lafleur, of Lachute, conducted an inquiry and pronounced the case accidental, attributing the deaths to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Gatineau LINES

Lucky Children

For the great majority of residents of that area of Quebec served by Gatineau Power, the holiday season just passed was a pleasant one indeed. For thousands of children particularly, the Christmas - New Year season was one of the high spots of the year — as it always has been for children.

It must have occurred to many parents that the children whose merry laughter made the festive season a happy one, are growing up in a world which is totally different from the world of the parents' own childhood. Tremendous changes have come about within the last generation, changes which hold the promise of an even brighter, happier future.

How different are the automobiles, trains and airplanes — taken as much for granted by today's children — from the methods of travel of a generation ago. How different are our electrically-operated telephones and telegraphs from the ways in which we used to communicate with each other.

For that matter, how different is our very home life from what it was such a short few years ago. Today's children can accept without thinking of it the fact that electricity pumps their water so that there is no more back-breaking hauling from the well; they are accustomed to having electrically - heated water come out of the tap, and don't have to think about how troublesome it once was to have hot water just when it was needed. They see Mother cooking the holiday cheer in an electric oven, and do not think of all the wood-chopping that is being avoided. They accept as ordinary the action of an electric washer, an electric iron, an electric toaster, a vacuum cleaner. They see electric lights on a Christmas tree, and do not think about the time when dangerous candles were used.

To the care-free minds of children, these things have always been with us. Only adults can realize how great has been our progress in so short a time.

These New Bug Killers

You first read about it in a newspaper or hear of it on the radio. It's a new insecticide claimed to be lethal to a variety of crop-destroying bugs. Advertisements proclaim its wonders. Then it appears on dealers' shelves.

Long before the product reached the dealer, a corps of experts had spent thousands of dollars on development work to make certain the product is everything it is claimed to be. According to a recent report, the cost of developing a new pesticide today ranges from $165,000 to $355,000. One firm used up $1,350,000 in developing a single item. Another poured $150,000 into research without being able to market its product.

But research and development costs are only part of the story. There is the question of safety. Will the insecticide injure humans, pets, farm animals?

Even if the manufacturer is satisfied his product is safe if handled according to specifications, Canadian government agricultural and health authorities subject the material to a series of strict tests and carefully check the safety precautions detailed on the manufacturer's label. Only when complete clearance is obtained from the government can the product be recommended for use.

From the foregoing, it appears obvious that the new pesticides being offered to Canadian growers today are products of long and careful research so that they may be of maximum benefit to mankind.

Commuter Farmers Increase in West

Regina (CP) — Commuter farmers are on the increase in Saskatchewan.

The conveniences of urban life are attracting growing numbers of grain growers to establish their homes in the cities. The more prosperous invest their farm earnings in city real estate.

They continue to operate their farms by travelling back and forth. Some live on the land part of the year.

John McIntosh, deputy minister of municipal affairs, said: "People just prefer to live in the city rather than on the farm, especially during the winter."

Figures compiled by Louis Jacobs of the municipal affairs department show 57.56% of the population of this predominantly-agricultural province now live in the cities. At the turn of the century the proportion was only 15.56%.

Many Saskatchewan farms have no livestock at all. Grain-raising operations are entirely mechanized.

Mr. Jacobs said running water and other services enjoyed by city dwellers are a big factor in luring people out of the lonely farmhouses into the cities.

Correct Handling of Milking Machines

While there are relatively few farms today where milk is being produced in any amount where a milking machine is not in use, the number of farms where such machines are being used to full advantage is not so large.

When handled the correct way, a milking machine is a great help, can reduce milking time substantially and aid in turning out a better product. Used wrongly, it can cause udder trouble in the herd and may be the underlying cause of poor production.

Some of the important points to which attention should be given in the operation of the milking machine are:

1. Maintain both the pulsation and the vacuum at the level recommended by the manufacturer. This is aided by periodic inspection and cleaning of pipe lines and valves.
2. Maintain the motor in good running order, lubricating as recommended.
3. Never leave a machine on a cow after she is milked. This is a sure invitation to udder trouble.
4. Learn to strip with the machine, making hand stripping unnecessary and saving time. Many cows require no stripping.
5. Always make sure the machine is washed with the rest of the milking utensils promptly after each milking and properly stored between milkings. Be sure to rinse first with cool water.
6. Keep a supply of spare parts on hand so that if trouble does arise it can be corrected with a minimum of delay.

Merit Rating System And Civic Workers

Regina (CP) — For the last two years Regina has had a merit rating system for its civic employees. The plan has worked well and has proved beneficial to workers, says P. W. Haffner, city personnel director.

A record is kept of all employees as to quality, volume and knowledge of work, initiative, and judgment. This information is rated in twice-yearly reports by department heads.

"I feel that where an employee is doing poorly in his job, this system shows that the resulting discussion is valuable to him", said Mr. Haffner.

The personnel director said the system does away with favoritism or its opposite, in that an exceptionally good or bad report on the employee has to be proved by the department head to the personnel department.

This is how the merit system works in Regina:

After six months of employment, a chart is filled out on each employee by his supervisor and verified by the Department head. He is given a score under each of seven categories such as those mentioned above and the total of these gives him a rating as an employee.

This chart is forwarded to the personnel office along with the reports that come in at six-month intervals. When an opening occurs in the department, the charts of applicants are scanned with all information there for the consideration of the personnel department.

The awarding of annual increases is based on these reports and works within any over-all raise that the unions might gain for employees. If an employee is in a salary range of $150 to $180 a month, and has a good rating for his first three years, he will reach his maximum with three annual $10 increases.

If after that his work slips, his salary can be reduced. This has never actually happened, Mr. Haffner said. But he thought the possibility of such a thing kept up the initiative of the employee.

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

An Inspiring Record

A MOROCCO-bound copy of the New Testament has become almost "standard equipment" with Canadian fighting men in Korea. There are few battle tunics that do not hold the little volume in a breast pocket, a Canadian chaplain said recently on his return from the Far East war zone.

The festival of Christ's Birth with its world-embracing theme of "peace on earth, goodwill to men" is a singularly appropriate time to pay tribute to a society that for nearly 150 years has spread the gospel of the Prince of Peace throughout the world.

Formed at a time when Napoleon awaited "only six hours mastery of the English Channel in order to place his armies on British soil, the British and Foreign Bible Society has since published the "good book" — or parts of it — in no fewer than 801 languages and dialects.

And it is not generally known that the society's first translation — made in 1804, the year of its founding — was for use among Indians in Upper Canada. Two thousand copies of Saint John's gospel were provided in a Mohawk-English version. The translation was the work of Captain John Norton, an Indian chief of the Six Nations. Associated with him were Rev. John Stuart, missionary to the Mohawks, and Chief Joseph Brant, a Christian Indian chief for whom the County of Brant and the City of Brantford were named.

Today the Mohawks at Brantford speak English and worship in St. Paul's, His Majesty's Chapel of the Mohawks, sometimes referred to as a Bible Society shrine. It is to be regretted that of the 2,000 gospel copies sent from England only one is known to exist.

It's a fascinating and inspiring story, this record of the Bible Society. Little did the founders at the inaugural meeting in the London Tavern in London's Bishopsgate Street, dream that in the span of 150 years nearly 600,000,000 copies of the Scriptures would be issued under its sponsorship.

Canada has not forgotten its debt to the British and Foreign Bible Society. The Canadian board has contributed $300,000 annually to the parent society over the past three years and has accepted a target of an extra £100,000 as its contribution toward the fund to celebrate the society's Third Jubilee in 1954.

In its 1951 report, the society says: "We have reason to be specially grateful to our friends in Canada this year, since, without their generous financial help, the production of Scriptures would have been seriously curtailed in 1951".

From Your Own Garden

WE WERE impressed by an anecdote in a sermon by the Rev. Kenneth W. Sollitt, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Mendota, Illinois (says the Chicago Daily News): "I was once in a small hotel in Vermont when one of the guests, a foreigner unfamiliar with American ways, brought the proprietress of the inn a beautiful bouquet.

"The proprietress was delighted beyond words until she discovered that her gallant guest had picked the flowers in her garden back of the inn. Whenever government hands you a bouquet, you can be perfectly sure it was picked out of your garden. But we go right on accepting bouquets in the vain hope that some day we will get flowers that somebody else planted and brought to bloom."

Add the fact that the bureaucrats never pick a bouquet without charging a commission, and Dr. Sollitt has stated it precisely — concludes the writer.

Magic of the North

A MAN has never lived who has not lived at sometime in the North.

For when the fire crackles in the hearth and the snow falls outside the isolated cabin all of a winter night, reminiscences flow warmly through the mind, the joy of remembered faces, experiences and places fills the heart and through the bloodstream a vigor surges that one does not feel in cities.

A book was meant to be read while the wind howls against chinked walls and hard fine snow pecks the frozen window pane.

And what is better than to lie in a warm bed and stare through the window at the endless whiteness of the earth, when the Northern Lights dance their eerie, vaporous way across an Arctic sky that is blue and brittle with cold and there is not even a murmur of the wind to disturb the comforting silence?

Where else can a man so completely escape the tedium of routine, the endless haste of the age we live in, as where the Indian trapper, wrapped in his heavy robe, still sleeps beside his log fire on the ground, where the black fox slips noiselessly through the underbrush and the black bear slumbers?

It is a place where the noise of automobiles, the black smoke from tall chimneys and the cries of harried men never penetrate.

It is a place where a man has time to think of higher things, of tolerance, kindness, of hope and love.

When the wolves howl in the distance, a man can throw back his head and laugh, in the vast, empty wilderness, at the crudeness of ambition, the empty glory of wealth and wars.

The Ladder to Success

CIRCULATION managers of newspapers say it is getting harder and harder to find carrier boys and keep them on the job.

This is a most disturbing bit of news — says that bright little publication, "The Printed Word". What will the banks and the big corporations do for presidents and board chairmen in the year 2000 if the crop of newspaper carrier boys withers away now? Where will the country turn for elder statesmen? How can there be big shots if they cannot refer to the time when they ran a paper route?

The answer could be that if young people and older people in Canada refuse to do the common tasks on their climb to greater things, there won't be so many greater things, for them or the country.

LIFE, as it is said so boldly by S. H. Kraines in "Managing Your Mind", is neither a rose garden nor a garbage dump; it's neither and it's both. There are arid places that can be turned into gardens, and dumps that can be removed. We, like our environment, are in process of becoming; we are capable of modification and change. A good rule is: don't accept anything you don't wish until you have used all your imagination and sincerity and graciousness to make it better.

THE ALL-TIME toll of traffic deaths in the United States reached exactly 1,000,000 last week, according to figures compiled by national agencies. The total of fatalities since the automobile first came into use in the U.S., a half-century ago, reached the 1,000,000 mark with the death of Miss Elma Wishmeier at Cleveland.

I thought of the future, whatever I did,
That I never might grieve for the past.

Looking Behind and Before

By Lewis Milligan

Someone has said that man is a creature that looks behind and before. That idea was represented by the ancients in the god Janus who had two faces, looking in opposite directions. He was said to be the oldest of the gods, and the inventor of all arts, industries, and institutions. The first month of each year, the first day of each month, and the first hour of each day belonged to him. He was the god who guarded all doors, and watched over all entrances into new places or events. January uas named after him, and, if he was still on duty, he stood on New Year's Eve surveying the Old Year and gazing into the New.

But man, while he may be said to look behind and before, can see only in one direction. He can survey the past year and as far back as history goes. He faces the future and tries to peer into it. The ancients consulted the Oracle, particularly in times of national crisis or indecision. A famous example is that of Croesus, the wealthy king of Lydia, who consulted the Delphic Oracle and was told that if he began a war he would destroy a great country. He went to war and destroyed his own. The Oracle evidently fooled him. The desire on the part of ordinary people to look into the future is prompted by fear, anxiety and mere curiosity, and they consult teacup readers or mediums for advice. The assumption is that the future is already fixed or planned; but if that be so, then there is nothing we can do about it — "What is to be, will be", and if we could foresee the future we would only add to our anxieties.

"Sufficient to the day is the evil thereof", said the Master, and that applies to the past as well as to the future, for it is just as foolish to dwell upon the troubles of yesterday as to worry about what might happen tomorrow. Memory is a persistent thing and as we grow older we are apt to dwell too much upon the past to the detriment of the present. I used to wonder why Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt when she insisted on looking behind. Now I know from experience what it means. She became a pillar of salt tears, and there is nothing more paralyzing that indulgence in grief for the past. Very old people no doubt live mostly in the past because they are coming to the end of life's journey and there is little for them to look forward to. But memory can become a tyrant and blind our eyes to the present, which is the only bit of time that old and young people alike really possess, and that is momentarily slipping into the past.

Many years ago I met an old man on a seat overlooking the River Mersey. On the other side of the river was the city of Liverpool, and he pointed to a large building and said: "I remember when they were laying the foundation of that building over eighty years ago. I was a small boy and my father lifted me up so that I could look over the boarding at the men working on the site". He told me he had worked hard all his life and had raised a family. But he seemed healthy and happy and displayed a keen interest in current events. I asked him what was the secret of his long, useful and contented life. He summed it up in six words: "Living one day at a time". . . .

That is a good motto for the New Year.

Life comes to us in daily doles,
One day's sufficient at a time;
Enough in which to pay our tolls
To duty and to upward climb.

One day's enough, we should not use
More at a time to sow or reap.
For every hour we gain we lose,
If stolen from our meed of sleep.

The days, the weeks, the months, the years
Move in rhythm and in rhyme:
And whether they bring joy or tears,
One day's sufficient at a time.

HISTORIC MANUSCRIPTS PRESENTED TO CANADA

Ottawa — A large bundle of manuscripts and letters written by an English army surgeon, Dr. Edward Walsh, who arrived in Canada in 1803, were turned over to the Public Archives here recently. The papers contain detailed descriptions of Eastern and Central Canada and reports of Indian council meetings, weddings and funeral services.

The documents were recently salvaged from among Dr. Walsh's family papers by a great grandnephew, Colonel R. H. Walsh and sent to A. A. Gardiner, general traffic manager of the Canadian National Railways, for presentation to the Public Archives.

SMOKERS ARE HUMAN

A righteous prod comes from Watrous where a minister, dedicating a new organ, has suggested that if the community refrained from tobacco and other wasteful indulgence it could buy two such organs in a year. It seems only fair to comment that, take away the smokers from church, parliament and even sewing circles, and we would be weakened indeed.

"THINGS AN' STUFF"

— By —
WALTER HENRY JACKSON

Trophic Phantasy

A tropic sea of azure blue
With spotless coral beaches —
Exotic fruits of every hue
More plentiful than peaches —
A hammock slung beneath the palms
Where all is cool and shady,
With luscious drinks served by mesdames,
Each one a perfect lady.
And as I lie here all serene
The soft trade-winds caress me —
My health is good, my mind is keen,
I've everything to bless me.

That is the way it should have been
According to statistics,
When I went forth to write a book
Called: "Life Among the Mystics",
Until I disembarked one night
Somewhere in Dutch Guiana.
So now I'll tell my tale of woe
While munching this banana.

A journey through the soggy bush —
Twelve miles of steaming jungles.
Each native's bones I'd like to crush
Including Ginga Dungle's.
He is the headman of the tribe
That guides this expedition;
We white men offered him a bribe
To help us on our mission.
Last night he made us pitch our camp
Down by a swampy river —
A place malarial and damp
That made us shake and shiver.
This morning, hidden out of sight,
Inside my shoe (the right one),
I found two centipedes that bite,
And even had to fight one.
Inside my other shoe I found
A big black hairy spider
Two inches thick and six around
Or even somewhat wider.
I reached around to grab a stake
With which to slay the critter —
My hand closed on a nine-foot snake
And my remarks were bitter.
My buddies lost their shoes and soles—
This incident annoyed 'em,
They found the nails and eyelet-holes,
The white ants had destroyed 'em.
While natives tried to hew a path
Through trails extremely narrow,
A tropic storm came down with wrath
And soaked us to the marrow.
You think mosquitoes quite a size
Up North in those Laurentians,
But these down here will take first prize
With honorable mentions.

So next time you're down in the mouth
From Winter's snows and breezes,
Jut hop a boat and come down South
Where every prospect pleases.
You'd love to swim where I am now,
Here comes an alligator —
In fact, he's here. Ouch! Dammit! Ow!
Bye-bye. I'll see you later!

Mayor Charlotte Whitton Outstanding Woman, '51

Ottawa — The Capital's celebrities are generally thought of as persons concerned with governmental affairs on the Federal level. But last week a civic official was awarded a national honor.

Mayor Charlotte Whitton was chosen as Canada's Outstanding Woman of 1951 in a Canadian Press poll by women's editors of Canadian daily newspapers.

Miss Whitton made headlines in October when she was chosen to fill out the unexpired term of the late Grenville Goodwin as Mayor of Ottawa and thus became the first woman mayor of a major Canadian city.

But she had been prominent in Canadian life before that. Her name has long been associated with social welfare in this country. She has been a delegate to the Commission on Social Welfare of the League of Nations, a director of the Canadian Welfare Council, and an active writer in the welfare cause. Her activity in connection with adoption practices erupted in a series of libel charges against her and others by the Alberta Government in 1948. The charges were subsequently dropped.

The Quebec government has established a school for papermakers to provide skilled workers to the province's pulp and paper industry.

B. of M. Wins High Awards In Public Relations

Montreal, Jan. 2 — Rated second among all banks in North America for the quality of its advertising, the Bank of Montreal has won three awards for major public relations productions issued during 1951.

The B of M has scored second place in the "Bank Ad-Views" continuing study of financial advertising on the North American Continent, leading to the "Socrates High Award of the Year". First place for 1951 was taken by the Republic National Bank of Dallas — an honor which was previously won by the Bank of Montreal in 1946, the only time for the highest award to come to a Canadian bank. The bank has consistently rated in this survey among the top banks of the continent for several years past.

The B of M received an award in the "25 Direct-mail Leaders Contest" for the production of "Canada Today", a 100-page illustrated brochure which the bank distributes to businessmen in all parts of the world for the purpose of developing commercial and industrial interest in Canada.

In the field of annual reporting, the bank received a "Highest Merit Award" citation from the Financial World, New York, for the illustrated brochure it published for its shareholders covering the year 1950. The report — to quote the citation — "was judged as among the most modern from the standpoint of content, typography and format of the 5,000 annual reports examined during 1951".

The bank's 134th annual report covering 1951 has just been published.

BAFFLED FIREMEN

Windsor, Nfld. (CP) — Fire destroyed a large pump house here after futile attempts by the Windsor and Grand Falls fire brigades to obtain water from the 5,000 gallon water reserve under the building. It was built a few years ago to house a large well.

LOTS OF GOVERNMENT

Canadians seem determined to have more, rather than less, government in their lives and affairs. Hauling the taxpayer in to pay this and that deficit for scheme after scheme is the sad feature of government in business. And it's an expensive feature, too.

Young Armless Girl Makes Best of Life

Columbus, Ohio. (CP) — The cute little blond with the cute big grin was playing with a doll. It was an age-old scene — a little girl playing with a doll — but this little girl had no arms. She was fondling the doll with her bare feet.

Joann McCarty, 11 years old, was born without any arms, but with a sunny, determined nature. So she does all right, thank you. With feet that are educated as well as most girls' hands, Joann can tune a television set, thread a needle, open doors, cook, write, feed herself and draw pictures.

Of course, she got a later start in school than most girls, and is only on the fourth grade, but her teacher says Joann can write better with her feet than most children with their hands. And she plays most of the games at recess. A sense of balance achieved through a lifetime of moving without arms gives her the edge in hopscotch.

Of the $280 per capita taxation collected by Ottawa last year, $110 was for defence spending and $170 for other purposes.

The Years Pass

All through the world's history, mankind has been helped immensely by the fruits of the enthusiasm, energy and idealism of youth. Occasionally, it is true, these commendable qualities have been directed in the wrong way, and the results have been more harmful than good; but, nevertheless, it seems to be generally true that, even taking the mistakes into account, the young folk on the whole have done well. They initiated many reforms, sponsored many useful movements, and by self-sacrificing work accomplished good in a variety of fields.

The present age, it seems, is more disposed than any of its predecessors to acknowledge the services rendered by young people, and to overlook or excuse the errors, declaring that they were caused by a zeal which, though excessive in the particular case, is still an excellent and commendable attribute. The spirit of the times, thus praising or at least refraining from criticizing with any severity the rising generation, creates many openings for youthful enterprise, and the whole business has as one consequence the effect of making the people regard the older folk as hopelessly narrow-minded, prejudiced and "obstructionist".

Practically all sweeping generalizations are false in fact, and in this matter it is common knowledge that a man's length of life has little bearing on his ability to exercise sound judgment, while some young men are foolish and will remain so until the end of their days. The excesses of our youth are drafts upon our old age, payable with interest about thirty years after date.

As we turn from "the whining schoolboy, with his satchel and shining morning face, creeping like a snail to school", to the man now in the childhood of his immortality . . life's work is done. No snow falls lighter than the snow of age; but none lies heavier, for it never melts. A person is always startled when he hears himself seriously called "old" for the first time. Our youth and manhood are due to our country, but our declining years are due to ourselves. A comfortable old age is the reward of a well-spent youth. Instead of it bringing sad and melancholy prospects of decay, it should give us hopes of eternal youth in a better world. The evening of a well-spent life brings its lamps with it. Retired from active participation in the strife and turmoil of the workaday life, the sixth age shifts into the "lean and slippered pantaloon, with spectacles on nose and pouch on side, his youthful hose well saved, a world too wide for his shrunk shank, and his big manly voice turning again towards childish treble, pipes and whistles in his sound. Age sits with recent grace upon his visage, and worthily becomes his silver locks; he wears the marks of many years well spent, of virtue, truth well tried, and wise experience."

Some men never grow old. Always active in thought, always ready to adopt new ideas, they are never chargeable with fogyism. Satisfied, yet ever dissatisfied; settled, yet ever unsettled — they always enjoy the best of what is, and are the first to find the best of what will be. True, old age is a tyrant, which forbids the pleasures of youth on pain of death; but youth is not like a new garment which we can keep fresh and fair by wearing sparingly. Youth, while we have it, we must wear daily, and it will fast wear away. As winter strips the leaves from around us, so that we may see the distant regions that they formerly concealed — so old age takes away our enjoyments, only to enlarge the prospect of the coming eternity.

• • •

New Year resolution: "I expect to pass through this world but once. Any goodness, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again. . . It matters not how long we live, but how".

Precious Promises

FROM GOD'S BOOK, THE BIBLE

Peace is as sure as tomorrow's sunrise, and just as independent of men.

The Earth abideth forever. — Eccl. 1: 4.

The evildoers shall be cut off, but the meek shall inherit the earth, and delight themselves in the abundance of Peace. — Psalms 37: 9-11.

For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given. And the government shall be upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called Wonderful Councillor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and peace, there shall be no end. — Isaiah 9: 6-7.

We, according to God's promise, look for a new heaven and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness. — 2nd Peter, 3: 13.

The Public Pays

A very interesting booklet has been issued by the "All Canada Insurance Federation" about the business of Fire and Casualty Insurance Companies. They receive more than $300,000,000 a year in premiums. They point out that "The money paid out still has to come from the money taken in, so the higher the losses means higher rates for everybody".

Unfortunately this is a principle too little understood by the public. This is especially true in the fields of Government. Federal Old Age Pensions with payments starting in January, will total more than all the Fire and Casualty business in Canada, and the money to pay the cost must come from the people of Canada. Few people realize that the Canadian tax load has been increased to provide this pension. There is little use in complaining about high taxes so long as we continue to urge more Government spending.

Already there are those who are urging Governments to go still further and provide "Public Health and Medical plans" and other costly measures that do not increase the wealth.

The time will soon come, if it has not already arrived in Canada, when we will have to face the fact that those who produce the wealth, have too little of their earnings left to provide for their own needs. Too many people believe that business and industry can well afford to pay plenty. They have not realized the truth that "The money paid out still has to come from the money taken in". All the money taken in, in turn, comes from the public in one form or another. "The public pays".

IMMIGRANT BRINGS 10-ROOM HOUSE TO CANADA FOR $4,200

Central Press Canadian

Solution to the housing shortage was found by Dutch immigrant Dr. John Spekkens in Ottawa. He couldn't take his money out of Holland, but he could take "settlers' effects" and bring them to Canada tax free. So he brought his house with him, prefabricated and ready for erection. Eight days after the house arrived it was ready for occupancy except for plumbing and electric wiring. Cost of the house in Holland was $3,000 and shipping costs brought it to $4,200. Here he is in front of his 10-room home with five of his six children and his wife.

Promises and Pie Crust

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"Promises and pie-crust are made to be broken", Dean Swift wrote in "Polite Conversation". But this cynical remark cannot be accepted by any responsible parent. Fathers and mothers want their children to be faithful in fulfilling their obligations. The surest way to train a child to keep his word is to keep your own promises.

An experienced parent is hesitant about making any promise which he may not be able to fulfill. It is so easy to promise and often so difficult, when other things crop up, to match the performance with the promise.

An adult quickly accepts that a sudden violent thunder-storm makes a picnic impossible. But to a child, a promise is a promise. If Mummy promised a picnic on Saturday afternoon, it is small comfort that, because of the rain, the picnic will have to be held on another Saturday!

The child lives in to-day. Now is the important time. The more mature person accepts a change in plans, so long as he can look forward to a future pleasure. A grown-up can take a disappointment in his stride without it clouding his whole day.

What about a promise of punishment? Should the parent carry out his word that he will make the child suffer for a piece of wrong-doing?

Threats are not a good way to discipline a youngster. This "I'll get even with you in the future for being naughty now" poisons the home atmosphere.

It is particularly unwise for the mother of an active pre-school child to declare in exasperation over a mischievous act, "Just you wait till your daddy gets home from work tonight. He'll attend to you!"

This promise that the other parent will administer correction is unfair. The mother is in charge and the situation should be dealt with right away. One parent should not promise that the other parent will deal out punishment.

In an effort to control their child's behaviour, many parents employ bribes. They reason that surely the promise of a reward will keep their child out of mischief. The catch about this system is that the bright youngster keeps demanding bigger and better bribes. The other difficulty is that if bribes are often used, busy parents frequently have a hard time fulfilling their reward commitments.

Threats or bribes which are made and seldom carried out should never be used. If the parents is always saying what he is going to do, but seldom doing it, a child soon learns to pay small heed to his parents' word. "Aw, Mum says I'll get a spanking when she gets me home", a saucy youngster in a department store said to the clerk, "but she'll forget by the time we get there". Another little girl said to her chum, "Daddy has promised me new figure skates if I come first in my report card — but I know if he doesn't have a good month at the office, he'll say that figures skates are much too expensive! — I'll have to wait another month, and he'll see what we can do then."

It is quite true that once in a very long while a parent may make a promise to a child which he finds it is impossible to carry out. On the other hand, something may happen which will show that the promise was an unwise one. What should a parent do then?

If a child can understand that, "in our family we keep our promises . . we can trust each other because we know that we can bank on our word", he is also old enough to discuss this situation with his parent. Mothers and fathers do not need to try to live up to a "Perfection Picture" of themselves in their child's eyes.

They can, however, take their child into their confidence and say, "I always do my best to carry out a promise, but I find with this particular promise I can't quite make it", or "Everyone makes mistakes, and this time I'm sorry to say, I promised you something which isn't a very good idea". Then the parent can mention why that particular promise is impossible to fulfill or was an error, and suggest some possible substitute.

Children are very quick to grasp a situation. They are also good judges of character. One father recently told a friend that one of the things in the past year which made him happy was when he overheard his small son saying to a playmate, "My daddy keeps his word."

HOMESICK CANINE TREKS 500 MILES

Vancouver (CP) — Lassie isn't the only collie "who came home".

A 500-mile journey of "Boots", a cross-bred Labrador and collie, would put the movie dog to shame.

"Boots", the pet of a nine-year-old Vancouver boy, Jackie Linder, was to be sent to a farm. He was given to a friend of the Linders who was motoring to Alaska.

But when the pair got as far as Prince George they separated.

"Boots" jumped out of the car and disappeared into the bush.

Four months went by.

At 2.30 one morning the Linder household was awakened by a commotion at the front door.

It was "Boots" — come home — with only a well-worn look to his paws.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Cooks Are Made -- Not Born!

A woman blessed with natural talent for producing praise-winning dishes, or who has been cooking for years, might get away with using "a pinch of this" or "a dash of that". But the average housewife is strongly advised to follow the directions closely when she uses a recipe, particularly these days when a failure in the kitchen can add worrisome costs to the food budget.

Home economists in the Consumer Section at Ottawa claim many of the common pitfalls in cooking can be avoided. They stress the absolute necessity of following recipe directions carefully and using level measurements and standard spoons and cups. "A variation in the amount of a single ingredient", they say, "can often mean the difference between a tasty delight or a miserable failure". They offer these ideas:

Collect all required ingredients together where the mixing is to take place. Measure them carefully. Spoons and cups in recipes mean LEVEL spoonfuls and cupfuls; do not heap them.

When a recipe calls for a cup of sifted flour, it means to sift the flour first, then measure it. If it is measured first, then sifted, it will actually give more than the required cupful and affect the texture of the finished product.

When measuring flour, bear in mind that there are two main types, "all-purpose" and "pastry". If one is used in place of the other, an adjustment in quantity is necessary, because all-purpose flour is heavier. If pastry flour is substituted for all-purpose, use slightly more. For each cup of all-purpose called for, use one cup plus two tablespoons of pastry flour. This also works in reverse, if all-purpose is used in place of pastry flour, less is used. For each cup of pastry flour required, use 7/8 cup or one cup minus two tablespoons of all-purpose.

Incidentally, cake flour is pastry flour which has been sifted through a very fine screen.

Frequently a recipe will call for sour milk when only fresh milk is in the refrigerator. This can be overcome by allowing one teaspoon of vinegar or lemon juice and one cup of fresh milk for each cup of fresh milk for each cup of sour milk called for. Let the mixture of vinegar or lemon juice and milk stand for about half an hour before using it. If sour milk is used in place of fresh milk in a recipe, add ½ teaspoon of soda to the flour for each cup of sour milk used and reduce the baking powder by one half.

Some of the cooking terms often misunderstood or mininterpreted are stir, cream, beat and fold. Stir means to blend the ingredients together, while cream means to work the ingredients until they are well blended, soft and creamy. The purpose of beating is to incorporate air into the mixture, while folding is a gently under and over movement with the mixing spoon, usually to combine two mixtures, of which one is beaten egg white.

So far reference has been to measurements and terms for cakes, and pies. When making recipes requiring a large amount of liquid, for example bread and pickles, difficulties may arise if an American recipe is used. In Canada the standard liquid measurement is the Imperial pint and quart, while across the border the Wine measure is used. A cup is the same in both countries, but the Imperial pint and quart are equal to two and a half cups and five cups respectively. The Wine pint and quart are equal to two and four cups respectively.

Terms in meat cookery not always clearly understood are dredge, roast, pot roast or braise and boil. Dredge means to coat, usually with flour. This helps to brown the meat and to thicken the gravy. Roast applies to dry cooking without a lid, the tender cuts of meat should be cooked by this method. The less tender cuts become more tender if they are pot roasted or braised, that is, cooked with some liquid added to the pan, and covered with a lid. The term boil, which is often used with regard to ham or making stew and also to eggs, is now old-fashioned. The word that should be used is simmer, which will require a longer time at a lower temperature.

FASHION HINT

The music that accompanies the afternoon and evening scene is the rustle of taffeta. This lovely fabric is a big favorite everywhere, at all price levels. pure silk taffeta in a dull shade of red is used for a pretty cocktail dress. It has a pleated halter neckline, and is of street length. There is an overskirt with pleated sides that sets like an apron in back, and it is worn over a slim underskirt.

"I know I'm not much to look at", admitted the suitor.

"Oh, well", philosophized his bride-to-be, "you'll be at the office most of the time."

Let's Eat!

By Ida Bailey Allen

A young woman stood before a display of bags of dried beans in the super-market, a puzzled look on her face.

"Do you suppose these beans have much food value?" she said to me. "My husband says his mother often baked lima beans for Saturday night. Of course, it would make a thrifty dish, but I don't want to try to save money at the expense of good nutrition."

"You don't need to hesitate". I said. "Lima beans are a really nutritious food, with good quality and quantity protein, calcium and phosphorus. Just add one-fourth as much meat as beans, by weight to make the vegetable protein complete. Salt pork bacon, leftover ham or minced tongue combine with lima beans to make a really substantial entree with high nutrition."

Tomorrow's Dinner

Tossed Salad with Pickled Beets, Baked Lima Beans and Tongue, Stewed Tomato, Buttered Kale, Canned Peaches, Old-time Oatmeal Cookies, Coffee, Tea or Milk.

(All measurements are level. Recipes serve four).

Baked Lima Beans and Tongue

Plain-boil or pressure-cook 1 lb. dried lima beans as usual. Drain. Combine 1½ cups of the bean liquid with 1½ cups evaporated milk. (Save the remaining bean liquid to use in soup). Melt 2 tablespoons margarine or ham fat in a saucepan. Stir in 2 tablespoons enriched flour. Gradually add the liquid and then the beans. Cook and stir until boiling. Add ½ tablespoon mustard.

Oil a 2-quart casserole. Put in alternate layers of the beans and sauce and minced cooked tongue. (Use about 1½ cups of the tongue altogether). Finish with the beans. Cover with ½ cup fine, dry, enriched bread crumbs mixed with 1 tablespoon melted margarine or meat fat. Slow-brown 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 350°F.

Old-Time Oatmeal Cookies

Sift together 1½ cups already-sifted enriched flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoon cinnamon and ¾ teaspoon nutmeg. Add ¾ cup shortening, ½ cup granulated sugar, 1 cup light brown sugar, 2 beaten grade A, B or C eggs and ½ cup milk. Beat about 2 minutes, or until smooth. Fold in 2 cups rolled oats and 1 cup raisins.

Transfer half to a lightly-floured board or pastry cloth. Roll to ¼-inch thickness. Cut into 2-inch squares with a sharp floured knife. Place on an oiled cookie sheet. Sprinkle with a little granulated sugar. Bake 12 minutes in a moderate oven, 375°F. Makes 3 dozen.

"Grannie" in Rawhide Show

Yes, sir, that's Grannie, the sweet old thing with the poisoned claws who turns up occasionally on the Rawhide Show, broadcast Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays on the CBC at 6.40 p.m. Of course, she does look a bit like CBC announcer Max Ferguson, but Rawhide, who says he's plagued with the same resemblance, claims it's just an optical "collision". The picture was taken on the occasion of Grannie's first appearance before a CBC microphone with a clear conscience. "I slaved for weeks on a cold street-corner selling Christmas cards so I could buy my radio license and hold my head up", she explains.

Countrywomen And Civil Law

The Quebec Women's Institutes have received a questionnaire on the position of women in civil law from the standpoint of the countrywoman. All affiliated societies of the Associated Country Women of the World have been asked by that body to provide this information for the United Nations. Questions pertaining to the right of a married woman to hold and administer her own property, to keep her own earnings, freedom of choice in marriage, and other related topics were among those asked and the request made that this be completed promptly and sent to the A.C.W.W., which has been done.

Mrs. R. Sayre, Ackworth, Iowa, A.C.W.W. president, in a letter published in the last issue of "The Countrywoman", speaks of the growing recognition of that organization as the voice of all rural women and says in part: "I am amazed and encouraged in the change that has been made in the lives of countrywomen through their organizations and the extent of their interest in, and understanding of, our international activities. But there is much yet to be done. My one overwhelming impression is that the world is mostly rural and that most of the world's problems are rural. This is our field, and this is our challenge".

Describes Paradise Where Apes Eat at the Dinner Table and Region Lush with Flowers

Calgary (CP) — Dinner with an ape, not an appetizing thought to most persons, is an every-day occurrence for Mrs. Gordon Hedderly Smith and her husband who dine regularly with their pet Gibbon ape. Known as "Hopalong", the three-foot ape eats right at the dinner table.

Mrs. Smith, who calls French Indo-China her home and says she would rather live there than in North America, said "Hopalong" was only one of many pets who are waiting for her to return to her home in the jungle interior of Indo-China.

In an interview here she told of eight monkeys — the organ-grinder kind, she calls them—that are among the pets. She said there have been more but they have disappeared many ways. One — named Jocke — was seized from the back of the family dog and eaten by a leopard.

And there are mouse deer which never grow any taller than a foot and have feet the size of a fingernail; seven parrots and two birds which speak four languages — English, French, Viet-Namese and Raday, a tribal language.

But Mrs. Smith's favorite seems to be 'Hopalong'. She describes him as "a lovely looking fellow with jet black, soft, woolly fur, white whiskers, a black satin face, a hooked nose and long arms on which he balances himself". The Smiths found him in the jungle and tamed him.

Mrs. Smith was born in Orillia, Ont., but said she has no wish to live in Canada again. She and her husband have been missionaries in Indo-China for the greater part of 22 years and have fallen in love with the country.

Beautiful Country

Her description of Indo-China made it sound like a tropical paradise. Orchids and gardenias grow wild in her garden; deer roam through the grounds and monkeys swing through the trees outside the back door. When she wants to go somewhere she rides on the back of an elephant. It's not fast — two miles an hour — and it's not particularly comfortable, but she loves it.

"It's a story-book land", Mrs. Smith said.

But like most stories, it has its bad chapters. Her mission work is 300 miles inland from Saigon among uncivilized tribes who have seen few white people.

She sees things there which would send shivers of horror up any civilized person's spine. Animals are sacrificed by the natives to demon gods and some tribes even sacrifice human beings.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith first went to Indo-China as missionaries for the Christian Missionary Alliance in 1929. They were the first missionaries to make contact with the tribal people of the interior.

They returned to the United States during the Second World War but in 1947 went back to Indo-China. They are in Canada at present on a year's furlough.

INVENTIVE GENIUS IN NEW PRODUCTS THIS PAST YEAR

Defence production has not stifled the output of new and different items, judging from the 1952 edition of "New Products and Services". This 80-page edition bulges with examples of American inventiveness, ranging from electronic devices to self-watering flower pots. The year's most successful creations are described in this illustrated booklet (50 cents a copy from the New York Journal of Commerce, 63 Park Row, New York 15, N.Y.)

Television comes in for a heavy play in this report on items marketed for the first time. There is an explanation of the "telejector", which makes it possible to screen TV shows in the office, and of a new television set-on-wheels, which can be installed in a private car, operated by a control panel on the arm rest of the rear seat.

Among the industrial products are many ingenious inventions, including a portable five-pound stud driver capable of driving a steel stud into a structural steel plate three-quarters of an inch thick.

There are hundreds of "different" products to catch the housewives' eye — heat and stain resistant kitchen tools, "color control" cooking ranges, odor eliminators, and a "coffee miser" that insures full use of every grain of coffee.

Milady is offered a unique ironing table said to cut ironing time in half, a self-threading sewing needle, a slicing machine, and — for that tired feeling — a floor matting called "Lite Step" which cuts foot and leg fatigue. . . Even Dad gets a break in the form of a push-button lawn mower. . . For the small fry there is a long list of items, including a multi-unit educational toy which, according to the manufacturer, "encourages children to wash dishes"; also a complete barber shop set, realistic but harmless, which includes scissors, clippers, comb and brush.

Motorists are offered a windshield visor that cuts down glare, a longer-life battery, a dashboard gadget that tells the driver if he needs to add or change his oil, and an ash-tray that clips to the front vent window and empties outside the car without detaching.

A whole section of New Products and Services is devoted to office equipment, and sundry items are described ranging from an "atomikit" which contains everything a civilian might need in an atomic attack, to snag-proof zippers — but apparently no manufacturer has come up with a new mousetrap this year.

Training Dog Team at Morin for Winter Events

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — Basil Green, who last year was successful in winning four trophies with the team which he trained and drove for Col. Norman Vaughan, of Hamilton, Mass., is now in Morin Heights for two weeks, to train the dogs for this winter's Dog Sled Derby events to be run at Ottawa and Ste. Agathe. This year, owing to the fact that Col. Vaughan has been recalled to the United States Army Air Force, Green will be running the team under the aegis of "Briar Patch Kennels" of Center Sandwich, N.H., the owner being Keith Briar of that town.

YOUTHFUL TERMITES

The new sport that Noranda youngsters seem to be accomplishing at an increasing pace, is the gradual demolition of the $1,500,000 Noranda Recreation Centre. In recent weeks tiles have been torn from rest-room walls, door frames ripped down, and windows broken. Most of this we believe is the work of children under 12 years.

Tougher Rules in U.S. Harness Racing

SPORTS CAMERA

By Gerry Lougheed, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian harness race drivers who invade the United States are going to find tougher rules during the 1952 season.

Directors of the United States Trotting Association have voted to require drivers to submit evidence of mental, moral, physical and technical qualifications when they apply for a license.

The new rule also states that drivers must be at least 16 years old, may be required to take a physical examination and may be refused a license or have it revoked for repeat rule violations.

From now on careless or reckless driving is punishable by fine or suspension. And a driver won't be allowed to slow his horse up abruptly in front of a field so as to confuse the trailing horses.

The U.S. association also voted to allow drivers to accept anything but cash awards for equalling or breaking track records, or for winning driving championships at member tracks.

There's also something new which may help the bettors in making their selections. Programs distributed at extended parimutuel meetings now must carry information on at least the last five races of every horse entered.

* * *

Shining Hour, a three-year-old pacer owned by Mrs. Ralph Baggs of New York, was the top performer on Cape Breton tracks last season, a recent harness racing summary showed.

Shining Hour had 14 victories in 25 starts and finished in the money in eight others.

A trainer and an owner were sentenced to 18 months in jail in Britain a few weeks ago for switching a good racehorse for a bad one. Edward Hill, the trainer, and Jack Morris, the owner, also were ordered to pay $1,400 each in costs. After a week-long jury trial, they were convicted of six charges:

1. Conspiring to defraud horse owners and promoters of horse races by entering a horse known as Stellar City under the name of Peaceful William.
2. Four counts of obtaining a total of $2,470 by false pretences from race track companies at Carlisle, Lanark, Alexandra Park and Bath.
3. One count of attempting to obtain $582 by similar means at Great Yarmouth.

Hill and Morris pleaded innocent to the charges, all involving races last year.

The crown contended that Stellar City, a winning horse, and Peaceful William, which had never won, had been bought in Ireland and taken to England. The two were switched and a special style bridle was used to conceal a white marking on Stellar City's forehead. By making use of Peaceful William's poor Irish record, Stellar City was entered in races far below its true class and won easily.

MYSTERIES OF SLANG

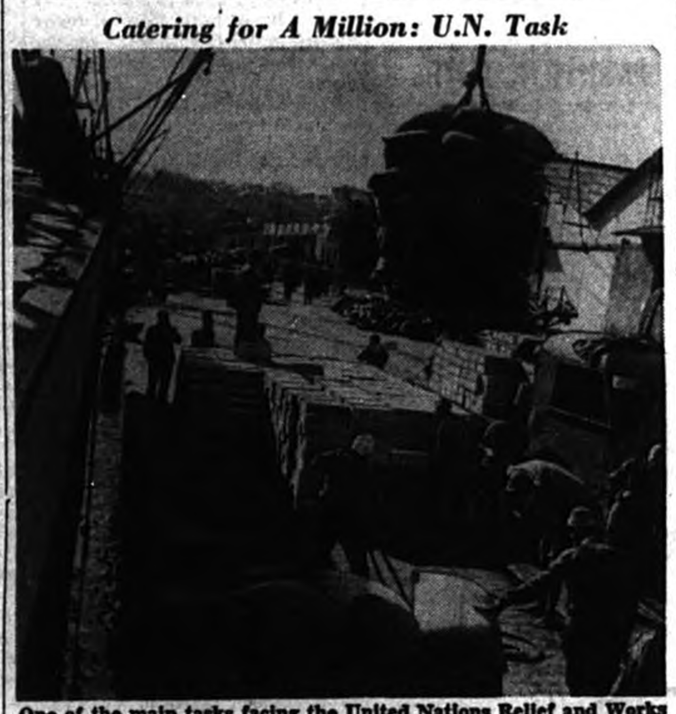

An old friend just returned from Britain said happily he "had a wizard of a time". This raised the subject of words, and meanings. As we in Canada know the term "wizard" it suggests a bit of magic, but in the Old Country it's used as above to stand for a 'good' time. — Lacombe (Alta.) Globe

RECKLESS DRIVERS

It would be a splendid thing if some organization could institute a drivers' school for youngsters. Sooner or later in this day and age every boy and girl is going to want to learn to drive a car, and it would be far better if they learned to drive accurately and early.

Catering for A Million: U.N. Task

One of the main tasks facing the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees (UNRWA) is that of feeding the hundreds of thousands of refugees of the conflict in Palestine. This entails distribution of 11,000 tons of food to a population equivalent to that of Brussels or Washington, D. C., over an area of 100,000 square miles, in five different countries. Here, 5,000 boxes of dry figs bought by UNICEF in Yugoslavia are transhipped in Beirut. In the foreground, a cargo of sugar is shown being hoisted aboard.

Directors Elected at Agricultural Society's 127th Annual Meeting

The 127th annual meeting of the Argenteuil Agricultural Society was held at the Court House here last Saturday.

Minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved — followed by a discussion of these minutes by the president, Clément Tremblay, O.B.E., touching on the proposed plan to develop the Exhibition Grounds into a Community Centre — the general feeling being, however, that this was not a propitious time for such a large undertaking.

The president then read a comparative statement covering the financial situation of the Society in 1950 and 1951.

A motion by Gilbert Arnold, seconded by J. H. Black, that the County Warden and Mayor of Lachute be named directors of the Society for 1952, was duly carried.

Nominations and voting for the 14 directors then took place, the following being elected:

Gilbert Arnold, Stuart Armstrong, J. H. Black, Donald Bradley, James MacKimmie, Geo. McGibbon, W. Erskine Rodger, Albert Stewart, Clement Tremblay, Gavin Walker, William Wilson, the County Warden and the Mayor of Lachute.

The assembly was attended by about 78 members.

A directors' meeting for election of the year's officers and committees will be held at the Court House on January 14.

Demonstration at Lachute W. Inst.

FIRST BRANCH MEETING HELD IN 1952

New Year's greetings were exchanged at the first meeting in 1952 of the Lachute Women's Institute branch, at which a large number of members and guests were present.

The meeting opened with Mrs. F. A. Brennian in the chair. The business consisted of arranging a guest speaker in the Spring, two names of prominent persons being suggested.

The rug-making course offered by Macdonald College was discussed.

A First Aid course, under the direction of Mr. T. Dwyer, will commence January 16 at 8 p.m. in the High School (Room XI-B). This class will last six weeks. Cost is approximately $1 including book of instructions. Mr. Dwyer is a qualified instructor for the St. John Ambulance Brigade.

Highlight of this meeting was a demonstration on Sandwich-Making by Miss Janet McOuat, graduate of the Fanny Farmer School of Cookery, Boston. Introduction was made by Mrs. W. Gordon, convener of Home Economics.

Miss McOuat conducted her demonstration in her usual capable and friendly manner. Mrs. Ralph McOuat moved a vote of thanks on behalf of the members, and remarked on the original ideas presented, involving both time and thought on the part of the speaker. (Full particulars and receipes will be found on the Women's Page of this issue).

At the next meeting, February 5, there will be a Book Review by Mrs. S. Milnes.

The Branch wishes to thank the donors of linen cloth to the Lachute Section of the Cancer Society.

The conveners of Publicity wish to extend to the editor and staff of The Watchman cordial greetings for the New Year, also to express their gratitude for the many courtesies extended during the past year in their visits to the Watchman Press.

Taximan Foils Hold-Up Attempt

A Montreal taximan by the name of Richer was attacked by two teen-age bandits who had engaged him to drive them from the city yesterday afternoon. The youthful passengers first asked the taximan to take them to St. Eustache, then directed him to drive farther, to St. Hermas. At a point about five miles south of that village towards St. Placide, the pair set upon the driver and attempted to beat him up, with the alleged intention of robbing him and taking possession of the car. It happened however that the taxi driver carried a revolver. He soon subdued the would-be bandits and marched them along the road until they came within hailing distance of a farmer. The latter was requested to call the police.

Sgt. Det. A. Perreault, presently stationed at Lachute, hurried to the scene at 6.05 o'clock, accompanied by Police Chief D. Villeneuve. The young miscreants were brought to Lachute, lodged in the local cells, and later taken to St. Jerome by Sgt. Perreault by Det. P. Therriault.

As We Were Saying

When the B.C. division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association recently sponsored an independent readership survey of two member papers, the results verified some widely held beliefs of the publishers. They supported the contention that the weekly newspaper is not quickly discarded after first reading but is retained for further reading and reference to the news and advertising.

Industry and Commerce in Lachute

Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

Industrial Visit

Among various activities on the agenda of Lachute Chamber of Commerce during the coming year are inspection tours to different industries of Lachute. We are therefore pleased to announce that the first of this series will be a visit for all members and guests of the Chamber to the beautiful Ayers mill, on Wednesday, January 16, at 3 p.m. The members will be notified by letter and it is hoped they will keep the date open for this interesting visit, by courtesy of Ayers Limited. . . This firm is considered one of the most important in the manufacture of felts, woollen cloth and blankets in America.

* * *

General Monthly Meeting

The first general monthly meeting of the Chamber for 1952 will be held Thursday, January 17, at 7 p.m.; the meeting will commence with a dinner at the Legion Hall, Foundry Street. Guest speaker will be W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., who will discuss "The Industrial and Commercial Development of Lachute".

All members should make it a pleasant duty to attend these monthly gatherings, so as to meet their associates and co-operate with the directors of the Chamber for local progress.

* * *

Grant from Provincial Government

The Ministry of Youth for Quebec Government has subscribed to "L'Association de la Jeunese Sportive de Lachute Inc." a grant of $5,000, in accordance with a request by W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. for Argenteuil.

The Chamber of Commerce cannot over-emphasize the importance of this fine contribution, which will substantially aid the finances of the Association and enable its members to sponsor and develop sports, particularly Baseball, for the benefit of the youth and general public of Argenteuil. Baseball brought to Lachute last year, and will bring again next season, large crowds of visitors — besides providing pleasant entertainment for the general public, and especially for the younger folk. Incidentally, we are told that the season tickets for baseball will be on sale very shortly.

Only 3 Cent Stamp for Lachute And Lachute Mills

As has been published previously in The Watchman, letters mailed at the Lachute Post Office addressed to Lachute Mills, or those mailed at Lachute Mills addressed to Lachute, now require only a 3 cent stamp, as compared with the previous 4 cent rate. We wish to bring this to public attention once again, as there are many citizens who still overlook this privilege and continue to use 4

Good Maintenance Roads, Sidewalks

With the town's snowplows, a tractor-loader and trucks, also a government snowblower and privately owned equipment, Lachute now presents practically a normal picture following the unusually heavy snowfalls which marked the early stages of winter. The local thoroughfares, private entrances and yards are well cleared, and most properties safely accessible to traffic. Sidewalks are also in good condition for pedestrians — generally speaking, a credit to the town authorities.

Another Paper Canvass By Lachute Boy Scouts

Lachute Boy Scouts will hold another collection of waste paper around town on Saturday, February 2. Householders please co-operate by holding their discarded newspapers, wrappings, cartons, etc., for collection on that date.

Affairs Before B'burg Council

(Our District Correspondent)

Back Again

At the meeting of Brownsburg Council held Monday night, Secretary Emile Hebert read the minutes of a special meeting called to discuss the collection of garbage and the appointment of a town foreman — at which session it was decided to place bilingual advertisements in The Watchman calling for tenders. . . It was decided at the present meeting to continue the advertisements for a second week and open the tenders at a meeting to be held January 21.

On Again, Off Again

It was decided to put the main traffic light back on "direction" again. For some time it had been operating on "caution". Councillor N. Somers requested to have it changed back at the urgent insistence of many people. Mayor Pariseau and Councillor Charbonneau maintained that car drivers preferred the "caution" signal. Councillor Lavoie wanted to facilitate pedestrians and children who at the present time were in a state of confusion brought on by the constant changing. Councillor Ouellette agreed and the traffic light was put back "directional" again. It was decided that the road and hill be well sanded and treated with calcium.

Bill 35

The Rev. Fr. Bouchard, parish priest, wrote to remind the Council that under recent legislation passed at Quebec, they were now in a position to control licensing laws in the village which curb noise and late drinking at taverns and grills. The Council decided to write for a copy of the "bill".

The Mayor remarked there were some breaches during the holiday season.

Resurrected

When discussing the return of garbage collection from municipal to contract, Mayor Pariseau intimated that Mr. Lafleur had asked to accompany the Council's men on their next collection so that he could get an idea of the work involved before putting in a tender. This was agreed to.

Here and There

Among the monthly vouchers was a cheque for $363, proceeds of fines, which had to be forwarded to Quebec with particulars of each fine. The secretary explained the money would be returned less fines for criminal offences — of which there were none.

Gabriel

Stan Harris (Hydr-Oil-Ectric Regd.) asked for further particulars of the nature of the work required in connecting the siren. He was referred to Hector Steele, who was in possession of the design and specifications. The work is to be proceeded with.

Town or — ?

Councillor Ball raised the question of incorporating as a town. The Minister of Municipal Affairs is to be contacted about this matter.

False Economy

Mayor Pariseau suggested having the Police Chief attend to the control of chlorine at the chlorinator and dispense with the labor now employed for this purpse. It would effect a saving of $500 a year.

Councillor Somers thought that if we are to economize, the chlorinator is not the place. Councillor Ouellette thought the work outside the scope and not within the competence of a Police Chief. . . The matter was dropped.

Fire Chief's Report

Chief A. Robbins reported on three fires since last regular meeting — all chimney fires.

December 8 at Napoleon Denis', St. Peter St., a stove pipe fire, no damage.

E. Robillard and A. Lepage, Chatham. The chimney was on a bracket and damage was about $50. There was $3,000 insurance on the house.

J. P. Renaud, Chatham, cement block chimney. Fire caught on the eaves. Damage $10.

On behalf of the fire brigade, the Chief thanked the Council for their Christmas bonus.

Appointed K.C.

Lucien Thinel, Crown Prosecutor for the St. Jerome district, has been appointed King's Counsel. Mr. Thinel is a past president and founder of the Junior Chambre de Commerce of St. Jerome and president of the St. Jerome Richelieu Club.

Review of Legion Affairs in Province

A successful campaign for increases in war disability pensions was the Canadian Legion's outstanding achievement in 1951, A. G. Munich, Jr., president of the Quebec Provincial Command, states in a review of last year's activities. The provincial president also reaffirmed the stand taken by the Provincial Convention last May demanding total preparedness for the proper defence of Canada.

He reported increased activity by Legion branches throughout the province, and an increase in membership applications during the latter part of the year, "due to a re-awakening in the minds of many veterans of the need to belong to a veterans' organization", and to the fact that justice granted to war pensioners by recent parliamentary legislation was brought about by the Legion's vigorous campaign on their behalf.

Across-the-board increase of 33⅓ per cent in war pensions was granted by Parliament at the recent session. The increase, designed to bring pensions closer to the cost of living, will improve the incomes of some 160,000 veterans, effective from January 1.

The first of a series of district conventions was held by the Legion in October at St. Jerome. Similar gatherings will be held elsewhere in the province in 1952.

Another innovation took place when a meeting of the full Provincial Executive Council was held outside Montreal for the first time. The meeting at Quebec City was a notable success and will be followed in 1952 by Council visits to other parts of the province.

Two scholarships were established by the Legion in Quebec in 1951, which will be offered annually to children of war veterans in this province.

Other Legion gifts during 1951 included a $7,000 donation for poliomyelitis research at the Institute of Microbiology and Hygiene of the University of Montreal, and the gift of a station-wagon ambulance to the Province of Quebec Society for Crippled Children. Both were made by the Legion's polio fund with money donated by the public through the Canadian March of Dimes.

Mr. Munich described the Provincial Convention held in Montreal last May under the presidency of A. W. Heron as one of the most successful in the history of Quebec Provincial Command.

Predicting a successful year in 1952 "if we all put forth our best efforts", he urged Legion members to adopt as their objective the enrolment in Legion ranks of all veterans residing in the Province.

Defence production for 1951 included one million pairs of wool socks.

Views Problems of Africa's Millions

AUTHORITATIVE SPEAKER AT ROTARY CLUB

There was a grim struggle for supremacy being fought out in Africa — Alexander Steward, South Africa's information officer in Ottawa, told the Brownsburg Rotarians at their meeting last Thursday evening. This struggle, he said, had been going on for ages past, and it was likely to go on for ages to come. It was a struggle, not between man and man, but between man and Nature. Much was heard these days of struggles for supremacy between various racial groups; but this was not the fundamental issue in Africa. The fundamental issue was whether man — civilized man — was going to win against Nature: whether he was going to be able to wrest from Africa's earth the means for the civilized living of its fast-growing millions of people.

The dimension of this conflict was dramatically illustrated, Mr. Steward said, by the fact that all attempts at civilization in the past had floundered in the mass of Africa and had failed. A new experiment in civilizing the dark continent had begun exactly 300 years ago when the first white South Africans arrived at the Cape. It was continuing today, and its success depended ultimately on the ability of South Africa to work out a formula for the harmonious progress of its varied people.

"The population of South Africa", Mr. Steward said, "is probably the most complex in all the world: its people range from representatives of the Stone Age to products of a highly developed western culture. It is obvious that people so widely different as these cannot be governed by a uniform body of laws and regulations. There must be differentiated treatment, and this is necessary not only for the white men but for the more backward people themselves. South Africa's problem is thus to evolve a system in which differentiated treatment will not be a cause of dissatisfaction and tension."

Mr. Steward said that the four largest groups were these: 8½ million Blacks (Bantu), who had arrived in South Africa from the North at about the same time as the Europeans had arrived by sea from the South; 2½ million Whites; 1 million Cape Coloreds, who were the result of a mixing of blood that had taken place early in the country's history between, mainly, the aboriginal Hottentots and freed Asiatic slaves; and 350,000 East Indians, who had originally been brought to the country as indentured laborers to work on the sugar plantations of Natal.

Until comparatively recent times, there had been the opportunity and the room for South Africa to pursue its traditional policy of separation. Separation, in fact, was the state which the great majority of all individuals preferred. But as a result primarily of the country's industrial revolution, these individuals had been thrown together by social and economic forces beyond their control. In these circumstances, South Africa had been forced to choose between a separated and an integrated society. Assimilation was not possible because there was no one group powerful enough in numbers and influence to absorb the other groups without distorting the whole of its nature. Consequently separation, "apartheid", had been chosen.

"The object of apartheid", said Mr. Steward, "is not oppression. On the contrary, it seeks to remove fronts of race friction, to eliminate unequal competition, and to create within each group, under white guidance, ever - widening fields of civilized activity".

Mr. Steward was introduced to his audience by Linton W. Armstrong, and Larry Pressault expressed cordial thanks on behalf of the club.

Gaetan Valois has been appointed as election officer to supervise the representation, and nominations will be held in the hall of the Immaculate Conception school. In the event of a contest, voting will take place the following Monday, January 21.

Lions Club Aids Crippled Residents

FULFILLING PURPOSE OF "EASTER SEALS" FUND

At the Lions Club session Tuesday evening, under presidency of Ralph FitzGerald, a grant of $150 was voted — half the cost of an artificial limb — in order to rehabilitate a town resident and enable him to resume his place in the working ranks. (The balance of this bill of expense, it was understood, is met by the provincial government). . . The donation represents the first major call from this locality on the Lions Club "Easter Seals" fund, subscribed by the public in aid of cripples. In addition the club has, for some time past, given $10 monthly to another crippled citizen incapacitated for normal living.

There was a "legal" aspect to the club meeting, which was held as usual at the Joly Hotel, and was well attended. Tail Twister (Police Chief) Villeneuve furnished the legal "twist" in a humorous questionnaire — Notary Gaetan Valois aiding and abetting. Lion of the Day was the club's legal advisor, Me Fernand Legault, to whom the biographer, Phil Roy, paid friendly tribute — recounting his good work in Lionism and in community progress. The guest of honor, he stated, was a Councillor of the Laurentide Bar Association, a King's Counsel and successful lawyer. He has been active in the Chamber of Commerce and in local education, being chairman of the Catholic School Commission and largely instrumental in the planning and construction of the new Catholic College. . . Following the legal "quiz", Antonio Laurin was awarded the prize donated by Lion Legault.

By way of entertainment Jim Lowe, program chairman, presented a colorful and interesting film (by courtesy of the C.P.R.) entitled "Klondike Holiday", showing spectacular scenery in a territory romantic with the annals of Gold Rush days.

Christmas Seals Total Now $1,482

Reporting on the Christmas Seals campaign of the Anti-Tuberculosis League (Laurentian District), Dr. L. Turcotte, chairman, states that out of 4,931 letters mailed, 1,161 have brought forth replies with contributions reaching $1,482 to date. This amounts to about $100 over returns at the same date last year. A number of substantial donations are still anticipated, and Dr. Turcotte is confident that the final total will equal or exceed the figure closing the previous campaign, which was $1,900.

Jerusalem Parish Council Session

At the St. Jerusalem Parish Council meeting — held Saturday at the Court House and adjourned to a further session on Monday — among other items a request was received from Lachute Catholic School Commission that the corporation attend to the collection of Catholic school taxes within the municipality.

Formal application was made to the Quebec Municipal Commission and the Minister of Municipal Affairs for approval of the $150,000 loan issue, as presented and endorsed by recent referendum of the taxpayers.

Dissatisfaction over one of the road-clearing contracts within the municipality was discussed and adjusted, to assure improved winter maintenance in the area concerned.

A donation of $50 was voted for the Christmas Seals campaign of the Anti-Tuberculosis League.

Mayor W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., presided, with all councillors in attendance.

52nd Year

We are into a new year, and the first half of the 20th Century is getting farther behind us. Within a lifetime, Man's progress has been staggering — so staggering that sometimes we cannot help but wonder what the remainder of this 20th Century will bring for us all.

As the century moves into its 52nd year, it is interesting to note that electricity, as we know it today, is not much older. So accustomed have we become to the work electricity does for us, at work, in business, in the home, that we are apt to overlook the fact that the electrical industry is young indeed in terms of Man's progress through the centuries.

It might be proper at this time, therefore, just to look at what was happening in the world of electricity when the 19th Century was ending and the 20th Century was born.

— In the early days the first high voltage line in the area served by Gatineau operated at 11,000 volts between the Deschenes Power plant and the City of Hull. (Thirty years later the largest transmission line in the British Empire was operating at 220,000 volts between the Paugan Power plant of this Company and the City of Toronto.)

— Thomas Edison patented the first fluorescent light.

— The first electric railway was started in New York.

— The first escalator was exhibited in Paris.

— Marconi sent the first radio signal across the Atlantic.

— The first long-distance telephone service by underground cable was installed between New York and New Jersey.

— The first cable across the Pacific was started.

— Radio rescued its first ship off the coast of Belgium.

In these and countless other 'firsts' of electricity, modern electrical living received its initial stimulus. Since that time, its progress has been tremendous — leading the world into new skills, new comforts, new ways of life. It is probably safe to say that never has so young an industry advanced so fast, with such important results to mankind, in so short a period.

Gatineau Power Company observed its 25th Anniversary last year. The people of Gatineau Power are rather proud of the fact that they have been connected with so vital an industry for almost half its lifetime.

Employment Drop in Textile Industry

That the primary textile industry, Canada's largest employer of manufacturing labor, is currently caught in a severe depression, is seen by latest employment statistics.

Since the middle of 1951 the number of workers in all branches of the industry has dropped from approximately 104,000 to less than 97,000. Majority of the remaining workers are on short time.

So unexpected was this development that the National Advisory Committee on Manpower, established to try and prevent shortages of workers in defence industries, was recently faced instead with the problem of studying unemployment. At that time there were 6,000 more textile workers applying for jobs than could be employed.

Build Calf Barn From Straw Bales

Saskatoon (CP) — A calf barn built almost entirely of straw has been constructed at the University of Saskatchewan. The walls are of baled straw and the barn is roofed with flax straw.

"This type of barn may prove to be a very popular type of housing for calves and for pigs on Saskatchewan farms", says J. M. Bell, of the University animal husbandry department.

The straw barn is about 15 feet by 80 feet and houses from 20 to 30 calves in individual pens five by six feet. The door is immediately opposite the milking parlor of the dairy barn, to facilitate feeding milk to the calves.

As a framework, poles are sunk in the ground every six feet around the walls and poles are used for rafters and bracing. The flax straw on the roof is laid on mesh wire.

The walls are simply bales of straw, lined with snow fencing to keep the calves from pushing the wall out or eating the straw. Windows are in frames the size of a bale of straw.

Weeds allowed to grow and touch the wire of an electric fence will ground the fence and reduce its effectiveness.

Hay-Crop Silage For Dairy Cows

Ottawa — The nutritive value of hay-crop or grass silage for dairy cows is becoming more and more appreciated by many farmers. First, its feeding value, on a dry matter basis, is generally greater than that of good dry hay made from the same crop. Second, it is richer in protein than dry hay and the protein in the concentrate mixture usually fed with corn silage and hay can be reduced accordingly. Thirdly, it increases the vitamin A content of the winter milk. As a result the milk, especially that of breeds with a high per cent of butterfat, is more yellow in color because of the high carotene content — the compound from which vitamin A is made. Finally, if fed under proper conditions, it may improve the flavor of milk and also reduce the tendency for off-flavors to develop in pasteurized milk.

Experiments in the United States and at the Lennoxville Experimental Station, Que., have shown that cows fed good hay-crop silage that is high in dry matter content, will produce as much as those fed a combination of silage and hay. But if silage is not of good quality, better results are usually secured when hay is fed along with hay-crop silage.

In practice, dairy cows should be fed all the silage they will consume and a small quantity of dry hay, from ½ a pound to 1 pound per 100 pounds of live weight. There are good reasons for doing so. Farmers are interested in reducing milk production costs. One excellent way to do it in Eastern Canada, is to feed the cow a maximum amount of total digestible nutrients through roughages. Feeding dry hay along with hay-crop silage is, in general, a good way to induce cattle to consume more dry matter in roughage form. Cows fed silage as sole roughage have a marked appetite for dry roughages and try to eat the straw that is put in as bedding. Finally, the vitamin D content of dry roughages is very high. This vitamin is necessary for the reproduction and the assimilation of minerals which go to make up bones and other tissues of the body. The feeding of dry hay is still the most economical way of supplying cattle this vitamin they need during the wintering period.

VITAL SCIENCE

Much of the credit for the wheat kings, potato kings, barley kings and other "kings" of the Royal Winter Fair can be laid at the feet of the agricultural chemists who are constantly devising new ways of improving crops and livestock — says the Melville (Sask.) Advance.

Wheat was first exported from Manitoba to the United Kingdom in 1877.

Mechanized Snowclearing

IT HAD been a heavy snowstorm. From dusk until daybreak, a gale had piled the snow in deep drifts. Dawn had found the countryside for miles around snugly blanketed under the fresh snow and the farm homes temporarily cut off from each other and from churches, schools and stores.

But within a few hours, the isolation imposed by the storm disappeared. Powerful snowplows and snowblowers whisked away the drifts on the main highways, other snowclearing equipment opened secondary roads, sidewalk plows went into action in some of the towns. Soon the snow presented little inconvenience to everyday life.

What a difference from pioneer days! What a change from conditions of rural living of even 20 years ago!

Yet mechanized snowfighting is only one of the improvements that have brought comfort to life on the farms and in the small towns. The list includes good roads, improved train and bus services, the building of rinks and community centres, rural electricity, extension of telephone lines, improvement in radio coverage and even, in some areas near the United States border, television.

Some persons say these changes are a mixed blessing, that they give rise to new kinds of problems, that the interests of rural folk are no longer the same as in "the good old days".

However, many communities seem to be adjusting their habits so that they can live the good life with all the benefits of modern science and industry. They keep their bonspiels, their hockey leagues and their baseball schedules and find they have wider appeal than in the past, now that people can get about easier. They retain their church suppers, their school concerts, their community picnics. Most important, they encourage good fellowship and neighborliness, cherished characteristics of Canadian rural life since pioneer days.

And by so combining the best of the new and of the old, with a keen eye to human values, they set an example for the rest of the world, in which distances shrink and nations are brought closer together without any apparent increase in goodwill.

The Wonder Ray

THE X-RAY has helped medical science accomplish wonders since its discovery by Professor Roentgen 57 years ago. It has greatly simplified the detection and setting of bone fractures and has taken the guesswork out of the diagnosis of many of the human ailments. Tuberculosis, once a malady responsible for thousands of deaths annually, is now on the wane, thanks to free chest X-ray clinics operating in every province.

Until recently, the X-ray was used almost exclusively on humans. If a horse broke its leg it was invariably shot. If a cow swallowed a few bits of barbed wire and her milk production began to drop drastically, she was butchered. If a pet cat or dog was seriously ill, it often landed in the gas chamber.

But this situation is changing today. Veterinary science has adopted the X-ray as one of its tools. Results have been so gratifying in diagnosing animal diseases and injuries that it is fast becoming as essential to the profession as radiology is to modern medicine.

Research workers in Canadian agricultural colleges are using the X-ray to produce mutations in the plant world which may someday help alleviate the world food shortage. One scientist produced a corn plant with ears two feet long, but this "giant" was lost to the world because no record was kept of the amount of radiation used in the experiment.

Another beneficial use of the X-ray is its ability to "see" flaws in metal, which has resulted in stronger and longer lasting implements. It is widely used to detect foreign matter in processed foods. It has brought to light the wonders of birth by revealing what goes on inside the shell when an egg is hatching.

The radiologist and the X-ray may do as much in the future for agriculture as they have for medicine.

WE ARE bound, by every rule of justice and equity, to give the New Year credit for being a good one until he proves himself unworthy of the confidence we repose in him.

Anti-Price-Fixing -- Reaction?

GOVERNMENT combines officials have been watching with an anxious eye to see what immediate reaction there would be to the contentious new anti-price-fixing law. So far, the only reaction has been a rash of queries by puzzled manufacturers and suppliers, wondering how they can best change their selling practices to abide by the terms of the new legislation.

The big price wars predicted on passage of the government's bill to ban resale price maintenance, have been nowhere in evidence. The predicted price-cutting which was to lead to the ruin of small independent retailers has, in fact, not materialized.

But this is only the first lap in the life of the new legislation — the only legislation of its kind in the world. There will be some anxiety ahead for the government, and for its spokesmen who, when piloting the bill through its rocky parliamentary road, maintained there would be no immediate price wars, that demand for goods was so high that it would help maintain prices.

The McQuarry Committee, in its lengthy report, believed also that some future action should be taken against "loss leaders" — selling at below cost to attract customers and kill competition — but it considered this problem of no immediate urgency.

The government feels that if price wars do materialize, there is a section in the Criminal Code — Section 498 (a) — under which action could be taken against the price-cutters, but there is some question whether this section actually is enforceable. It never has been tried out before the courts.

And if the price wars prevail and retailers are forced to the wall (as the Progressive Conservative Party has predicted), then the government has undertaken to bring in new legislation at the next session to provide stronger measures against loss leaders — if such is possible.

There still is a tinge of doubt about the government's prediction that the legislation will bring prices to lower ground.

There are seasonal price reductions in many fields across the country this month, but January clearances at lower prices are traditional, and it is difficult to estimate whether, in fact, any part of these sales are directly attributable to the government's legislation.

The resale price maintenance abolition bill was one of the stormier features of the hectic, three-month fall session of parliament.

Fleeting Glory

A SERVICE that one still sometimes gets is the parade to the restaurant dining table, with the head waiter grandly leading the way and grandly drawing out a chair. This continues to be one of life's more heady moments. It is what one has always secretly felt was fitting to one's real importance.

Other services have become inferior along with many goods; plumbers sneer, or don't even turn up to sneer; sales clerks chew gum at you, indifferent to your problems; gas attendants wipe off your windshield when you ask to borrow a rag so you may do it yourself — but now and then in restaurants you still get the grand parade and the grandly outdrawn chair!

The irony of it is that the chair that is outdrawn is inevitably the one farthest around the table from your point of entry to the dining room. It is the chair from behind which the waiter may face you as you approach the table. This makes a pleasing scene, but there is little real useful service to it.

Ah! 'tis a fine old-world attitude that the waiter strikes, but it will be plain luck if the chair he selects gives you a good view out a window or of the more interesting fellow diners. Chances are you will be seated facing the kitchen or a sideboard covered with dirty dishes. However, the thing was done with a fine flourish and you do not feel too badly about the draft on your neck. Besides, when the waiter isn't looking you can sneak into the next chair.

BECAUSE many people in Canada want their own distinctive flag, or want to have the word Dominion deleted from the official designation of the nation, is not in any sense even an indication of breaking away from our traditional place in the British orbit. We simply want to stand on our own feet, in name and deed both — says the Swift Current (Sask.) Sun.

Circus Memories

I've just been looking through the junk, downstairs in my old circus trunk, and found a bunch of souvenirs collected during bygone years — old posters, programs, things like those, pertaining to the tented shows, and lastly, several photographs all signed with many autographs, of good old pals of good old days who now have gone their various ways. . .

Here's one of Joe, the famous clown, who made them laugh in every town. And here is one of Fearless Frank, who leapt from his ladder and missed the tank. Although he'd done it several seasons, he had to quit for divers reasons (!) Now here's a group — and what a sight! (That's me, the second from the right — taken in 1923, before the moths got into me).

The Valdez Troupe, in yellow tights, in daring stunts at dizzy heights. (Today they are a bunch of wrecks with double chins or scrawny necks). Here's Mingo, of the high trapeze (with or without the greatest ease). The next one's Wilbur J. McKim; an elephant rolled over him. (The elephant was not to blame, but Wilbur never looked the same). That's Geraldine, the bareback rider; she's married now to some outsider. And on her left is Charlie Claude. (I think he should have spelt it "Clawed"). His mother was a tiger trainer; he took her place and I don't blame her.

The others' names I can't recall, but in those days I knew them all. Where they are now I do not know —those pals on Buncome Brothers' Show. All I have now are two or three old-timers who still write to me.

I only wish that I could tell, where these folks are I knew so well. Many have crossed the Great Divide, others are drifting round outside. Some have gone into better lines, working in stores or copper mines. . . And as for me (a thousand curses!), I am reduced to writing verses.

It's late; I'd better put this junk all back in my old circus trunk!

Be seein' ya!

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. I am a single man without a dependant. Why do I have to pay as much as a married man when I cannot draw as much benefit?

A. There is a slightly higher rate of benefit payable to claimants with a dependant although the contribution is at the same rate as for a single person. This is justified on the following grounds:

1. Experience has shown that over his lifetime the average insured person will draw lesser rates in his early years when he has no dependants and greater rates in later years when he has.
2. While the risk of unemployment is greater, on the whole, for single persons than for married persons, the single person is under less compulsion to look for another job.
3. Under social insurance it is proper to consider the extent of the loss suffered by the individual and there is no doubt that married men who lose their jobs have suffered a greater loss than have single men who become unemployed.

Smythe, "Big Wind From Lake Ontario"

Among other savory things, Conn Smythe of the Toronto Leafs has been called "that big wind from Lake Ontario", Toronto writer Trent Frayne writes in the January issue of Maclean's Magazine. In the article Frayne tells some revealing stories about Smythe.

The unpredictable man who turned the Leafs into the NHL's best team has had at least one personal feud lasting as long as 12 years, and currently thinks James Norris, Sr., of the Red Wings is "spoiled, has to have his own way, and can't take one line of criticism". But one of his best friends is Norris' son.

The Smythe personality seems to invite violent reactions. Once Art Ross of Boston started in after him, Smythe told an acquaintance. "But little Frank Selke, then my assistant, saw him coming and dove at him with a flying tackle that knocked him down. We got out of there fast but not before I yelled, 'I can't waste my time with anybody that a man as small as Selke can lick!!'"

Smythe knows just what he wants, says the Maclean's article. Just before D-Day he was badly hurt at a softball game and had to be ferried across the channel strapped to a chair. "Anybody who peeps about this can expect a court-martial", he told his men. Nobody peeped.

Frayne says Smythe "has made hockey so respectable that it is right up there with ballet in the social scale in his native Toronto, yet some people blame him for turning the game into a ruffianly burlesque of what it used to be, and others regard him as an ogre and a dictator". The article quotes one of Smythe's friends explaining him this way: "He's either glad or sad or mad, but he's never neutral and he's never moody. If he's got something on his mind he spills it, and I guess that makes a lot of people whose hair he musses dislike him."

Preparations for a skating rink are under way. It is hoped that, before long, the little tots as well as the seniors will get their share of enjoyment out of it.

COME TO CHURCH !

"And the hour shall be filled with music,
With songs, and praise, and prayer;
And the burdens of life shall be lifted
From all who enter there."

It is good for us in the general uproar of the world to pass through a season of quiet meditation and put our fingers on our spiritual pulses and see what kind of life we are living. We cannot best estimate our own life in the noise of the street and the turbulence of the world; we need to retire within and shut the door that we may see with a quiet eye and balanced judgment what manner of persons we are. The world is too much with us, and late or soon we spend our spiritual substance in worldly ambitions and anxious living. Simply to step into the seclusion and quiet of a church tends to cool our fevered pulses and calm our agitated hearts and give us peace. God is the great need of our souls, and while we should always live in His presence, yet there are times and means for realizing in a special degree His nearness.

Says Consumer Group Has Proved Valuable

"I believe the Canadian Association of Consumers has proved valuable to Canadian housewives", states Mrs. Hugh Summers, of Fonthill, Ont., president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, in an open letter to Women's Institute members. She speaks of the work of the C.A.C. in noting carefully proper grading, weights and labelling, and the recognition it is receiving in the press and on the radio as holding a watching brief for the benefit of all consumers. The writer goes on to say, "I would suggest that W.I. members could show their approval of this organization by becoming members, either under the group plan or as individuals".

Mrs. Summers also speaks of the Thrift Campaign initiated by the National Council of Women and supported by many other organizations, including the F.W.I.C. She asks for co-operation and feels it will appeal to W.I. members, as thrift has been ingrained in rural folk since the days of the pioneers.

The letter closes with good wishes for "a satisfying and worthwhile year in your work for the Women's Institute".

Precious Promises

FROM GOD'S BOOK, THE BIBLE

Peace is as sure as tomorrow's sunrise, and just as independent of men.

The Earth abideth forever. — Eccl. 1: 4.

The evildoers shall be cut off, but the meek shall inherit the earth, and delight themselves in the abundance of Peace. — Psalms 37: 9-11.

For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given. And the government shall be upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called Wonderful Counsellor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end. — Isaiah 9: 6-7.

We, according to God's promise, look for a new heaven and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness. — 2nd Peter, 3: 13.

Revelations 12, 10-11-12 are discussed in the book "Let God Be True" (pages 126, 243, 245, 32, 53 and 191).

Two Children Dead, 28 Made Homeless in Hawkesbury Blaze

Hawkesbury — Two small children died in a flash fire last Thursday, and five families were faced with a problem of finding a place to live. Left homeless when fire swept their overcrowded Main Street house were 28 persons. Richard and Marcel Shannon were dead.

Richard, 4, and Marcel, 14 months, died from suffocation as roaring flames engulfed their home shortly after 9.30 Thursday morning. The five men were at work, seven of 20 children in the house were at school. All others managed to escape.

Coroner Dr. H. H. Kirby requested the fire marshal's office at Toronto to send an officer to investigate the cause of the fire; he said he would await the fire marshal's report before deciding whether an inquest was necessary. Dr. Kirby thought the fire might have been the result of faulty wiring in the house.

Owner of the building, which was completely gutted, was Mrs. Rose Tessier. The building was insured.

Helped by Neighbors

The local Red Cross branch did everything possible to provide clothing for the fire victims. Neighbors came to the rescue and offered temporary shelter. The Shannons with their three surviving sons were taken in by Mr. Shannon's mother.

There were 20 children in the house. All escaped uninjured with the exception of the little tots who died.

Wall of Flame

The fire was first discovered at 9.30 a.m. when Mrs. Shannon was met by a wall of flame when she opened her bathroom door. She ran to the front of the house, screaming "fire".

Neighbors turned in an alarm to the fire department. The 12-man volunteer brigade fought more than three hours before they were able to get the fire under control. Firemen found both the burned bodies on the upper floor of the two-storey house, which once had been a hotel.

The baby, Marcel, was found huddled underneath the charred blankets of his bed. Richard was lying on the floor at the head of the stairs.

Woman Rescues One

Mrs. Sabourin braved the roaring flames to enter the house and rescue one of the Shannon children, Raymond, 2.

Firemen were hampered in their efforts by tin walls over the frame house, and a double roof of two-inch pine planks. When they had chopped through the roof, they found a second roof two feet lower.

Coroner Kirby said he thought there were "far too many" people in the one building.

Dr. Kirby said both children died from the inhalation of smoke.

Unable to Enter

Leo Paquette, one of those left homeless, told of trying to enter the back door of the house after learning that two children still were trapped on the top floor, but the flames forced him back.

Rheal Villeneuve stood watching firemen put out the final small patch of flames. In his hand was a leather briefcase. It was all he managed to salvage from the flames. In it were his insurance papers.

Arundel

Arundel in Holiday Mood

This little community has settled down after the holiday season — each home having had sons, daughters and friends here for the holidays, in which the weather contributed to their full enjoyment. Many Christmas trees made the village a veritable fairyland — in some cases lights outlining the doors and windows, even at various outlying homes along the highway. The Municipal Council erected a beautiful lighted Christmas tree at the crossroads, which welcomed all visitors arriving both by train and car. Both churches held Christmas tree parties for the Sunday School children, and the Arundel Amateur Athletic Association held a party for the members' families at the auditorium. The scholars staged their annual concert during the festive season, which was greatly appreciated by young and old. A New Year's dance was also held by the A.A.A.A. and while the weather and road conditions detracted from the attendance, a substantial sum was realized, which will be used to further the work of the Association. . . A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Planning A Party

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"Living through your own child's party is like a nightmare!" a mother said with foreboding. "I dread my son's birthday celebration for weeks beforehand, and I am a wreck when it is over."

* * *

Do you feel this way about your child's party? Why is it such a difficult experience? Is it your own youngster's state of feverish excitement? Perhaps the preparations for the party weary you? Or is it the noise and confusion of other people's children under your roof for even a short time for fun and food?

Careful planning for any party, but especially for a child's party, can eliminate some of the headaches. Here is one venture which cannot be left to chance or to last-minute ideas. On the other hand, the mother in charge of a party must be flexible enough to alter her scheme of things on short notice. The important thing is that every child should have a happy time — not that a schedule of party events be carried out.

Parties for varying ages are very different. The fewer guests, the better in the early years! On his first birthday, a child is only confused by the presence of a number of other babies or tiny tots. Better make it a "Family Affair" with granny or aunty as special guests.

On the second or third birthday, invite one or two other good friends who have a young child too. Around the time a child is four, he graduates from enjoying parallel play BESIDE another child, to co-operative play when he plays WITH his friend. He will appreciate having half a dozen little chums at his home for his party. But even when he is five or six, keep the number of guests to a small group.

School age children like to have a bigger party but there again the mother should limit the number invited. Having the games out of doors is a grand idea, and does save on the wear and tear in the house. But what if it should rain? Mother must figure out how many she has room for in her home. She also must consider how many she can supervise at one time.

A parent should not attempt to "run" a party all by herself. She needs another person, preferably not a mother, to be "second-in-command". Dad is usually away at work, but sometimes he can get home in time to help with the refreshments and farewell time. However, an acquaintance who is fond of children can be a great help — and also get a real "bang" out of proceedings. A girl in collegiate, who is a favorite evening baby sitter in your home, is a real find as a party assistant.

Sometimes an able, forceful mother forgets to give her child a vital part in planning the party. After all, it is his party, not mother's! The child will get a much bigger "kick" out of a party where he has shared both in the planning and the preparations.

Discuss with your child how many guests should be invited, and give him as free a hand as possible in selecting them. If he is old enough, let him write or phone the invitations. A written invitation has the advantage of being definite — and do let your guests (or guests' mothers) know when the party begins and how long it lasts!

Naturally, a child wants to ask his own particular friends, to come to his home on his special day. Perhaps he has a chum from "the other side of the tracks" or one of different social background, or race or religion. These things don't loom large in a child's eyes. Snobbish distinctions should have no place in a family which has ideals about training children for

Treasures in the Pantry

The Canadian fruit season ends all too soon for those who enjoy the flavour of fresh, juicy fruits. During these winter days, when Mrs. Homemaker buys canned fruit at the grocery or lifts a tin from her pantry shelf, does she realize how this has been made possible?

In 1860, less than 100 years ago, Louis Pasteur announced his theory of fermentation and food spoilage. From this time on, the art of canning took on a scientific aspect. Research in all its phases has continued right to the present day to improve canning facilities and today Canadian canneries are turning out millions of cans of fruit for winter meals.

Canned fruits are graded Fancy Quality, Choice Quality and Standard Quality for the benefit of the consumer. These grades are determined by the appearance, maturity, color and size of the fruit and the clarity of the syrup. The Fancy grade should be used for special purposes where the uniformity of size and color are important, for example salads and shortcakes. The Choice grade may be used in a similar way to the Fancy, but it is not as uniform in size and color. This grade is more economical for family salads and desserts. The Standard grade fruit is not uniform in size, but may be used for puddings, gelatine desserts and frozen dishes, where appearance is not important. For information on grading write to the Department of Agriculture in Ottawa, for the free booklet; "Buy By Grade".

Ideas for the use of canned peaches, pears and plums to make winter meals more attractive and enjoyable have been forwarded from the home economists of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Pears and peaches may be spiced and served with meat or poultry. To do this, drain the syrup from the canned fruit. Add a little cinnamon and cloves and simmer about 10 minutes. Then pour the hot syrup over the peaches or pears and allow them to stand in it for a few hours so that the spice flavor will penetrate the fruit. Pears spiced with ginger, instead of cinnamon and cloves, are especially good with Chinese foods. Another way to use fruit with meat is to fill peach halves with sweet pickle relish, heat them for a few minutes in the oven and then arrange them on the platter around the roast. Pear halves sprinkled with cinnamon and sugar and broiled, make a tasty accompaniment for pork chops, sausages or ham.

Broiled canned peaches can double as a garnish for the meat course or as a dessert to climax the dinner. Start with a can of half peaches and place them in a baking dish, pit side up. Pour a little melted butter over them and broil or bake in the oven, until they are heated through and lightly browned. Serve them hot with red jelly in the centre for color contrast or if served with lamb, use mint jelly. For a hot-and-cold contrast serve the hot peaches with a scoop of ice cream, as a delicious ending to dinner.

Many desserts may be made with canned fruit. One way to bring new flavor to the mid-winter meals is to serve peaches or pears with nippy cheese or plums stuffed with creamed cheese. A quick and easy toasty dessert is made by tucking buttered slices of bread into muffin tins. Then half-fill with drained fruit and bake until bread is crisp. Serve hot or cold with a little whipped cream or custard sauce.

Remember that canned peaches may be used for pies and tarts. Pear and peach shortcake or up-side-down cake are always family favorites, while peaches and plums may be used to make winter-time puddings. All three fruits may be used in gelatine desserts.

Another important and delicious use for these canned fruits is in salads, either plain or jellied, served on a crisp lettuce leaf or shredded cabbage, with a cheese dressing. For a lunch time salad, a pear half, iced with creamed cheese, studded with cherries and sprinkled with nuts, is most enjoyable. Plums stuffed with cream cheese or a mixture of cream cheese, chopped nuts and diced celery add much to a cold meat plate.

Sandwich Making

Suggestions and Recipes Given at W.I. Demonstration

By Janet McOuat

Origin

"Sandwich" is a word that has been spoken for some 150 years. Sandwiches originated at the time of John Montague, 4th Earl of Sandwich. He was so interested in his gambling that he refused to leave it, even for food, and called for slices of bread, with beef between them. . . These were brought, and he ate them with one hand and continued gambling with the other. Since then sandwiches have developed into different shapes and forms.

Facts in the Life Of A "Sandwich"

1. The Bread: — Its age — fresh or a day old. It isn't too thick and isn't too thin.

Any kind of bread may be used, but it should be of close, firm texture. Crusts left on for all but utterly feminine versions, to avoid drying.

2. The Buttering: — Spread bread right to the very edges. Butter both slices — not thinly, not with a heavy hand. It keeps the bread moist and prevents the filling from soaking through.

3. The Filling: — The time element must here be considered. Fillings that make bread soggy or limp do not "go travelling". Fillings are generous — plenty inside, but not enough to ooze out. When meat is used, there are several thin slices instead of a single thick one. Result — a better-tasting, easier-eating sandwich.

4. The Over-All Picture:—The finishing touch is always there — the gay sprig of watercress, the cheery red raddish, the plate chosen with care.

5. The Most Important Part: — The sandwich is satisfying nourishment in a convenient form, always a help in working in enough protein, vitamins, minerals and "pep"; a real food, often the mainstay of a meal.

Samples

I. Man-Sized: — Almost a meal, sandwiches between bread or split buns, plain or toasted. Dried beef, cheese, chicken, baked ham, etc. . . Use prepared mustard, chili sauce, catchup, pickle, relish, etc.; all give that extra "zip".

Thin slices of ham, tomato, onion or dill pickle, mustard, and plenty of chili sauce.

II. Pack-and-Carry Sandwiches: — Those for the office, school, or heavy job.

Use cream cheese mixed with various things, such as crisp bacon, minced onion, chopped green pepper, olives, celery, etc.

Peanut butter mixed with crisp bacon and raw apple, chopped dates and lemon juice, walnuts, etc.

Meat or poultry.
Hard-cooked eggs.
Fish.
Raw vegetables.
Cut in various shapes. . .

And always include in the lunch box something to munch — cheese, stuffed celery, potato or corn chips, a tiny box of raisins, bunch of grapes, and something sweet, as jam turnovers, spiced nuts, cup cake, etc.

Sandwiches for Party Time

Pinwheels; ribbons; checker-boards; open-faced pretties; novelty numbers, etc.

III. Ribbon Sandwiches:—Use fresh or day-old breads, stack alternately, 3 slices whole-wheat and 2 slices white bread, filling with one or more spreads. Firmly press together each stack of slices. Chill. Cut in ½ inch slices. After cutting the ½ inch slices, cut each slice in thirds, halves, or 2 or 3 triangles. . . Use colored cheese.

IV. Checkerboards: — For each stack, alternate 2 slices of whole-wheat and 2 slices of white bread, filling between layers. Cut each stack in ½ inch slices. Then put 3 alternating slices together, using a filling. Chill. Cut in checker-board slices.

V. Open-Face Pretties:—Single layer of bread cut into intriguing shapes, spread with butter, then filling; decorated gaily.

Blend ½ cup cranberry sauce and ½ cup peanut butter. Spread on bread and top with a cranberry cut-out.

VI. Novelty Sandwiches: —

(a) Pyramids — bread cut in circles, each one smaller than the first, and piled together with filling.

(b) Frosted biscuits. Bake 1½" baking powder biscuits. Frost, toss with cheese spread, serve hot.

(c) Devonshire Garden. Cut English muffins in half, toast, butter generously. Spread with orange marmalade, top with cheese slices. Broil.

(d) Roll-Ups or Pinwheels. Cut bread lengthwise. Run rolling-pin over each slice, starting at narrow end. This makes bread easy to handle, less likely to crack. Spread each slice with softened butter, then with one of the spreads. Roll up. Chill and slice. (For diploma or baby-shower roll-ups, tie with ribbon). . . Use ham and gherkin in the centre.

VII. Party Sandwich Loaf: — Ideal and delightful for light lunches, Sunday teas, etc. Remove crusts from a loaf of bread. Cut in 4 slices, lengthwise. Spread each slice with butter. Have fillings prepared. Put between layers and press firmly together. Wrap in wax paper and chill. Ice loaf with creamed cheese. Garnish. Chill loaf in refrigerator at least an hour before serving.

Fillings — chicken, egg, ham. . . Lobster, carrot spread, cucumber. . . . Salmon, pimiento filling (recipe), cucumber (sliced).

Garnish: Sliced radishes and parsley.

Individual loaves are attractive, and look pretty on sandwich plates.

Carrot Spread:—To 1 cup finely shredded carrots (about 3 carrots), add ¼ cup finely chopped celery, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ cup mayonnaise.

Pimiento Filling: — 1 tin pimientos, 1 package cream cheese, dash of cayenne, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 hard-cooked eggs, ½ cup top cream, 2 teaspoons butter, 3 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon flour.

Melt butter over hot water; add flour and stir until smooth. Slowly add milk. Cook until thickened and smooth. Add vinegar slowly. Cool. Add a little to the cream cheese, and cream until smooth. Stir in the rest and beat until all is smooth and creamy. Add pimientos, which have been run through the chopper or cut fine with a knife. Add seasoning and the hard-cooked eggs rubbed through a coarse sieve. . . A good nourishing filling for the lunch box.

Dessert Sandwich Loaf

Date-Nut Filling: — Mix one 7¼-oz. package pitted dates, snipped fine with scissors, ½ cup chopped nuts, 2 3-oz. packages cream cheese, ⅓ cup light cream. Chill.

Peanut Butter, Marmalade Filling: — Mix ½ cup peanut butter with 4 tablespoons marmalade. Chill.

Frost loaf with cream-cheese frosting. . . Cream 4 3-oz. packages cheese with enough light cream (⅓ to ½ cup) to make it spread easily. Add ½ cup grated orange rind.

VIII. Small Fry

Peek-a-Boo: Make sandwich as usual, cutting holes for eyes, nose and mouth from top slice of bread, so that filling shows through. (Use pimiento filling).

Clown: Make a sandwich. Trim off crusts. Use dried apricots to make eyes, pitted date for mouth. For cap, cut a second sandwich diagonally, dot with raisins. For ears, cut round sandwich in half.

Birthday Special: Wrap sandwich in aluminum foil. Place on plate, insert birthday candles.

Cut-outs: Animal cutters have year-round appeal; Santas and stars for Christmas, turkeys for Thanksgiving. Cut out animals to put together in pairs with filling. Use raisins for eyes, jelly for turkey comb, etc.

IX. Dips.

Do you know about dips? They're one of the easiest snacks there are to fix. And there has never been a guest yet, or a snack-loving kitchen prowler, who hasn't thought the whole idea fun and said so — while fixing another bite to pop into his mouth.

Heap the snack mixtures into bowls, and surround with potato chips, cocktail crackers, toast sticks, bite-size wheat biscuits or corn chips. Everybody visits, and dunks, or spreads till the last bite is gone. The chief ingredient can be cheese, minced ham, flaked fish, or any favorite spread. Add seasonings, cream, lemon juice, mustard, or what-have-you, until the dip tastes and spreads to suit you.

1. Zippy Dip: — Beat together until creamy 2 3-oz. packages cream cheese, 1 teaspoon horse-radish, ½ teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 5 drops Hunt's tomato sauce, 2 tablespoons pickle relish. Makes 1 cup.

2. Tangy Egg Spread: — Mix together well — 4 minced hard-cooked eggs, 3 strips crisp bacon (crumbled), 1 teaspoon horse-radish, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon salt. Makes 1 cup.

A nice addition to the help-yourself tray: —

1. Place pineapple chunks and ham cubes alternately on wooden picks; brush with corn syrup; broil till golden brown.

2. Mix peanut butter and catchup; spread on bread rounds; top with small pieces of bacon; broil until bacon is crisp; serve immediately.

3. Split small, thin, hot baking powder biscuits; spread one half with deviled ham and pickle relish; favorite cheese spread; ground chicken and olives; or sautéed mushrooms. Cover with second half. Serve hot.

Dagwood Sandwich: —

Investigate the contents of refrigerator and pantry shelf. Collect a trayful of sandwich makings. Most anything goes—meat, fish, cheese, poultry, lettuce, etc., plus the additions — pickles, olives, catchup, mayonnaise, horse-radish and such. Place slice of bread on plate, stack fillings on it. The width of your mouth and the pull of gravity determine the height! Top with second slice.

Yard of Sandwich: —

Split a long loaf of French bread lengthwise; butter; cut in thirds. Fill each third with something different — a "meat", a "cheese", a "fish", or fill with meat balls and tomato sauce, or with pimiento filling. Top with bacon and broil in oven.

There are many, many more varieties of sandwiches too numerable to mention here. The only difference between making lots of sandwiches and making just a few is the amount you have to buy and prepare. Advance planning is a "must".

1. If fillings must be made in advance, be sure to refrigerate until used.

2. Place butter in warm place to soften in advance of spreading.

3. Wrap sandwiches individually.

To indicate different types of wrapped sandwiches, mark all of one type with same color gummed tape.

Knitters of clothing, or hosiers as they were known then, constituted one of the six merchants' guilds in Paris four centuries ago.

"Have you a good memory for faces, dear?"

"Indeed I have!"

"Splendid! I've just dropped your shaving mirror."

High School Hockey

By Anne Dwyer

The last two hockey games played during this past week, were highlights in the school program. The first game took place last Wednesday evening, January 2, at St. Viateur College; the score was 4-2 for the latter team. Scores in the first period were made by Jim Campbell, and Tommy Jamison for the High School, and Laframbroise for the College. There were no tallies in the second period. Roger LeClair, Arthur and George Desjardins each scored a goal for the College in the third.

The second match was played Saturday afternoon, January 5, against the H.S. Graduates. This event was staged in the new Brownsburg arena, on account of snow on the school rink. The result was 10-3 for the Graduates. Scorers for this team were Gordon Jamison, Charlie Albright and Rodgers Bradford, who each scored one point, Richard Bradford (4), and Jerry Fletcher (3). Glen Copeland, Tommy Jamison and Jim Campbell scored the points for Lachute. In the first period a high shot by Richard Bradford caught Jack McMartin, the goaler, cutting his lip, and the injury required two stiches. The goaler was replaced by Donald Martin, from Brownsburg, as the L.H.S. spare goaler was not present.

Lachute High School Senior hockey team looks forward to playing with Macdonald High this coming Saturday, January 12.

Brownsburg and the Quebec-Ontario League

Brownsburg junior team have tentatively agreed to replace Hawkesbury in the Quebec-Ontario Senior Hockey League. The team, composed of all local boys with no imports, have shown decided class in the few engagements which they have filled this season. Their advent into senior company should prove useful in acquiring experience, and competition of a stronger nature will develop any potentialities which the local team may possess. The first game will be an encounter with Calumet on Saturday night when the boys are expected to show their paces. The second game is with Chute à Blondeau, on Sunday night. It is too soon to appraise their worth or the possibilities of eventually restoring the old glories, but with a little encouragement this aggregation may go a long way. We should like them to once again make Saturday night "hockey night" in Brownsburg. Future dates will be published as received, but all ties will be played on Saturday nights in Brownsburg.

Brownsburg Seniors Take Another Defeat

MEET STE. AGATHE AT ARENA THIS FRIDAY

Brownsburg — Although 'way down in the season's standing, Brownsburg's line-up in the Laurentian Intermediate League has made a good showing — their defeats being attributed largely to depleted numbers, having only 11 players on the roster.

The Brownsburgers feel the need of public support, as attendances at their local games have been disappointing. It is claimed that without exception these games have given the fans a fast, keen brand of hockey well worth watching.

Besides Brownsburg Bombers (managed by Roméo Gervais and coached by René Laurin), the other clubs in this four-team league are Terrebonne, Ste. Agathe and Ste. Therese.

Terrebonne defeated Brownsburg 4-1 on Tuesday. Goaler Claude Groulx was star for the local boys; suffering a bad cut below the eye in practice before the game, he was patched up with four stitches, and with good sportsmanship took his place in the nets, giving a good account of himself. Brownsburg's lone tally was scored by Claude Latour, with Paul E. Hebert assisting.

The next fixture is arranged for this Friday evening at the 'Burg arena — Brownsburg vs. Ste. Agathe.

Ottawa Juniors will also visit here Sunday, playing an exhibition game against the Brownsburg team at 2.30 p.m.

(Miss Elaine Thompson, of Lachute, was winner of a drawing held recently by the Brownsburg hockey club.)

Agricultural Society Organizes Committees

Que. Lieutenant Governor to Officially Open Spring Fair; Gavin Walker Is New President

Retiring President C. Tremblay, O.B.E., Pays Tribute to Valuable Co-operation

"I take this opportunity, as retiring president, to record how happy and honored I have been in filling this post during the 1951 fiscal year, and to express sincere gratitude for the assistance and loyalty given by my colleagues on the Board of Directors for the general good of the cause", said Clément Tremblay, O.B.E., in addressing the Agricultural Society directorate at their meeting, held Monday in the Court House for the purpose of reorganizing for 1952 activities.

Commenting further on the record of the past year, Mr. Tremblay continued:

"Apart from our satisfactory operations in budgeting expenses, with ample revenue, the general quality of exhibits, attendance, etc., we were highly privileged in having had, for the first in the history of our Lachute Fair, the Prime Minister of Quebec to officially open this event — which brought wholesome publicity to our Fair, besides the good will of Premier Maurice Duplessis and his keen satisfaction on the merit of our agricultural undertaking. . . I can say that the assistance you gave me left nothing to be desired in accomplishing everything that was humanly possible for the success of that occasion.

"Sincere thanks are due to our M.L.A., Mr. W. M. Cottingham, for his co-operation in having made the Prime Minister's visit a success from all viewpoints. Similarly, we are grateful to our Federal M.P., Mr. Philippe Valois; the Warden of the County, Mr. Gaston Munich; the Mayor of Lachute, Mr. Jas. W. McGibbon; the other Mayors in Argenteuil municipalities; and Fernand Legault, K.C., for their valuable assistance in the program of activities.

"I take this opportunity to compliment our Secretary-Manager, Mr. Syd Patterson, for his able, vigilant and wholly satisfactory discharge of the duties he took up for the first time during the period of our 1951 fiscal year. The staff under his orders at the Fair gave him very good assistance which was highly appreciated.

"It is gratifying that the approval of the members was obtained at the annual meeting to start a new precedent in the acclamation of the Mayor of Lachute as a Director. As it is, we have the Warden of the County of Argenteuil (Mr. Charles Campbell, of Morin Heights) and Mr. Jas. W. McGibbon, Mayor of Lachute, on a basis of equality in acclamations to the post of Director. This is a happy situation, as it is highly proper that our Lachute Fair should have the valuable patronage of the Mayor of the chief town of Argenteuil on its Board.

"Just recently we sent an invitation to the Honorable Gaspard Fauteux, Lieutenant Governor of Quebec, to officially open our Fair this year, and our M.L.A., Mr. Cottingham, has advised that His Excellency will accept the invitation. . . This is another occasion when our Fair will receive widespread publicity through the patronage of a person of highest distinction."

By unanimous vote of the directors, Gavin Walker was then elected as president, George McGibbon as vice-president, and Syd Patterson as secretary-manager.

The election of committees was then proceeded with, the following being a complete list of the executive and committeemen.

Farm Credit Inadequate, Is Forum Decision

(Our District Correspondent)

Mabel — The Ogdensburg Farm Forum met at the home of L. Plummer on Monday evening, with a good attendance of members, several visitors, and their guest, Keith Russell, Agricultural teacher of Lachute High School. Topic for the evening was "Is there enough Farm Credit?" This furnished an interesting discussion and it was decided that, in the light of today's rising costs, not enough farm credit was available, and that a young man desirous of starting up farming would find it next to impossible to raise sufficient capital.

Problems Acute in Districts Within Central School Area

The regular meeting of the Central School Board was held in the High School here Monday evening, with all members present and the chairman, W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., presiding.

Several important items came up for discussion. One of these concerned the education problems in Avoca and Harrington. . .

Situation at Avoca - Harrington

The local School Board for this area has been insisting for some time that all the parents of children attending the Grenville School from Avoca, are very dissatisfied with the present arrangement. On the other hand, a number of representations have been made to the Central Board to the effect that the existing arrangements are quite satisfactory. In view of this the Central Board has been endeavoring to obtain an accurate opinion of the majority of parents and ratepayers of that district, and at a previous meeting the Central Board decided to prepare a questionnaire to be forwarded to the parents concerned. This work was done in the offices of the Central Board and the questionnaires forwarded to the secretary-treasurer of Rouge River, who in turn was requested to mail a copy to each of the parents involved. The local Board, however, did not agree to this action, on the grounds that eight of the 24 parents were not ratepayers.

In the meantime, this local Board is endeavoring to proceed with the construction of a new six-room school at or near Bell Falls. Here again, there seems to be a difference of opinion. Petitions containing a long list of taxpayers and residents have been received by the Central Board, disagreeing with the idea of construction of a school at this location. . .

All this constitutes a serious problem for the members of the Central Board, who are primarily interested in the education of the children of that area and are dissatisfied with the facilities provided by the three one-room elementary schools in Harrington, the overcrowded situation and the unsatisfactory temporary quarters at Kilmar.

Lachute Tax Roll

Another important item dealt with at this meeting was the posting of the Tax Roll for the Protestant School Municipality of Lachute. In view of the fact that the local Board requested the Central Board to act in their behalf in this connection, the meeting was informed that this roll had been prepared and was now posted in the Central Board offices for the next 30 days, following which it would be officially homologated.

Problem at St. Eustache

The meeting also dealt with a problem in the school at St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac. The classes taught in that school are Grades I to IX inclusive. This means that children wishing to complete their High School education have been attending Montreal schools — which involves outsiders' fees, with the result that the parents concerned are protesting at having to pay such large amounts. The construction of this school is now well advanced, and it is expected that it will be entirely completed when school re-opens in September. By that time it is hoped that Grade X will be taught in the St. Eustache school, and that it will become a High School within a short time. The enrolment is increasing so rapidly that it poses a serious problem to both the local and the Central school bodies.

The members of the Central Board were pleased to learn that the Music Specialist, Shirley McKyes, had just received his permanent High School Music Specialist diploma from the Department of Education.

Contests in Ayersville For Mayor and Council

At nominations held between 10 a.m. and 12 noon yesterday, competition was evident for the naming of a mayor and six councilmen in the newly established Municipality of Ayersville. Under presidency of the election officer, Gaetan Valois, nominations were held at the Immaculate Conception school.

There were two nominees for the mayoralty — Gilbert E. Ayers and Maurice Champagne.

For the six council seats, nominations were filed for 10 candidates — D. R. Bradford, Camille Brisson, Horace Deslauriers, Albt. Lemay, Rolland Filion, Rosario Leroux, Gaston Plamondon, Germain Poulin, Albert Seguin and Laurent Tessier.

Voting in this new municipality will take place Monday, January 21.

Scout Commissioner Presents Certificates

Linton W. Armstrong, newly-appointed Commissioner for the Laurentian District of the Boy Scouts Association, visited the 1st Lachute Troop at their regular meeting last Thursday evening, accompanied by several members of the local Group Committee — George Y. Deacon, Angus Taylor, Raymond Underhill, Edgar Pollock, Bernard Jenkins and Norman Lavis.

The purpose of the visit of these Scout officials was to present Scoutmaster Basil Riddell and Assistant Scoutmasters Fred Stansfield and Thomas Bennett with their certificates, as issued by Provincial headquarters, for having successfully completed the Preliminary Training Course for Leaders. The Commissioner made the presentations, and in the course of his remarks said that he had been told by Mr. MacGregor, Provincial Fieldman, that the Leaders from Lachute had done outstanding work at this course, which had been held weekly in Montreal for five weeks during November and December. Mr. Armstrong spoke briefly to the boys, and said that they should be proud to wear the uniform of the world's greatest boys' organization.

The Lachute Scouts met the Brownsburg Scouts in a friendly hockey game at the Lachute High School rink on Monday evening, the visitors winning 9-2. Refreshments were served in the playroom afterwards.

Legion Officers Installed

Installation of officers was held last evening in the Legion Memorial Hall with Comrade McLeod, 3rd vice-president of Provincial Command, conducting the ceremonies as installation officer.

Comrade R. A. Giles acted as proxy for Erle McMartin as president for 1952, since the latter is at present recuperating from a recent operation. The officers installed were as follows:

1st vice-pres., L. Hamel; 2nd vice-pres., D. Ogilvie; treas., C. Demerse; sec., K. Clarke.
Sgt.-at-Arms, Frank Williams, H. Graham.
Executive, W. Blakely, T. Iddon, R. Blair, D. MacKimmie, R. St. Laurent.

Comrade McLeod expressed appreciation to the Legionnaires for their good work in this area, and urged all veterans to support the Legion as an organization interested in aiding needy and disabled veterans and their families. Comrade McLeod, after expressing the thanks of the Legion to Comrade Demerse, retiring president, presented him with a past-president's badge in recognition of his service.

It was announced that the Ladies' Auxiliary would be sponsoring a dance, to be held at the Legion Memorial Hall on Friday, January 25. It is also planned to sponsor a Monster Peanut Day, jointly with the Lachute Lions Club, sometime in July—complete with Peanut Queen, parade and dance.

Comrade L. Hamel, 1st vice-president, was in the chair.

On Industrial Arts Curriculum Committee

H. W. Salisbury, instructor in Industrial Arts at Lachute High School, has been appointed by the Quebec Department of Education to act on a committee to study and revise the Industrial Arts curriculum of the Protestant schools in this province. Mr. Salisbury was in Montreal last Saturday attending the first of these meetings.

January Session of Lachute Town Council

At the January meeting of Town Council — last assembly of the aldermanic year — two requests for grants were dealt with. . . The first, a request from Ste. Justine Hospital, was withheld by Council resolution, in view of the fact that Lachute will shortly be concerned with the financing of its own county hospital, and the councillors saw fit to devote any hospital grant to this local need. . . The second request, from the Argenteuil Agricultural Society, was brought forward by Gavin Walker; Council voted a sum of $500 to this organization.

It was resolved that interest at 5% per annum be charged on all arrears of taxes, starting May 1 next.

It was further resolved that lawyers entrusted with the collection of arrears be authorized to take legal action at their discretion, without further resolution of the Council.

Fire Chief Geo. Y. Deacon presented his annual report of the Department's activities and fire losses in 1951. The Mayor voiced the appreciation of the council and citizenry for the excellent work of the Fire Brigade in the past year. (Fire Chief's report published elsewhere on this page).

A request advanced by Fernand Ouellette, that insurance be obligatory upon local taxi operators for public liability and property damage, was tabled for further consideration.

A residential building permit was granted to Gérard Lefebvre on Bedard Blvd.

Accounts totalling $10,604.27 were passed for payment.

A vote of thanks was passed on behalf of four retiring aldermen, for their devotion to the civic interests during the past term.

Mayor Jas. W. McGibon presided, with the full Council in attendance.

Masons at Grenville Install New Officers

Installation of new officers for the coming term was held at Grenville Masonic Lodge No. 101 Friday evening, Wor. Bro. Sam Willman performing this duty in a very competent and efficient manner.

There was a large attendance of members, with a few visitors, and at the close of the meeting a turkey supper was served.

Appreciation was expressed by the new Master, Bro. C. Brown, to the installing officers and others who had taken part in the evening's ceremony, and to the members, for the honor they had accorded him in his appointment as head of the Lodge.

Officers for the year are as follows:

W.M., Bro. C. Brown; I.P.M., Bro. G. Nevers; S.W., Bro. J. Noble; J.W., Bro. A. Phillips; Secretary, W. Bro. C. J. Foreman; Treasurer, W. Bro. M. R. Robinson.
Chaplain, Bro. E. T. Willman; S.D., Bro. Keith Canning; J.D., Bro. Omar Smith; D. of C., W. Bro. F. O Garbey; I.G., Bro. John Holtby; Tyler, Bro. McDonald; Stewards, A. McLeod and L. H. J. Kirby.

Across the Province

In more than 800 rural municipalities throughout the province, January is the month for municipal elections.

Nomination day was the second Wednesday in January, with voting on the following Monday. In other municipalities elections are held the first judicial day of February.

This year, the elections in rural municipalities are for three councillors only, whereas in years which end in odd numbers, a mayor and three councillors are elected.

Former Resident Dies, Brother of Postmaster

The Late D. M. Gall

Douglas Meikle Gall, for many years an electrical engineer with the old Montreal Light, Heat & Power Consolidated (now Quebec Hydro) and a widely known Westmount resident, died Monday in hospital. He was in his 65th year, and had been in poor health for some time.

The funeral service was held Wednesday in the Wray's chapel on Mountain Street. The Rev. D. M. Grant, minister of St. Andrew's United Church in Westmount, officiated, and interment was made in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Born here in 1887, Mr. Gall graduated from Lachute Academy in 1905 and four years later received a Bachelor's degree in engineering from McGill. He joined the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Consolidated in 1910, and retired in 1946 as electrical engineer with the power sales division.

For more than 20 years he had been an active member of the Y.M.C.A., and was also for many years a member of the Electrical Club of Montreal.

His wife, the former Mabel Perrigo, of Montreal, died many years ago. He is survived by a son, Watson Perrigo Gall; and his brother, H. M. Gall, of Lachute.

An older son, John D. Gall, was killed in action overseas in 1944, and his brother, Dr. G. Lockhart Gall, died last year.

Local Dairy Firm Enters Suburban Roadside Business; Construction Co. Nears Completion of Duplex Homes

Chamber of Commerce Reports on Current Developments and Community Progress

"Industry and Commerce in Lachute"
Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

The Lowe family, favorably known in this community for their spirit of "bonne entente" and for their modern dairy plant, have recently acquired a large restaurant and swimming pool situated at Cartierville, almost opposite the airport and formerly operated by the Frank De Rice Company.

This spot will be called the "Sunset Bar B-Q" and every variety of food will be served. We also understand that a large quantity of Lowe's ice cream will be sold at this restaurant as well as in the surrounding district — which will mean increased business for their plant here in Lachute.

It is hoped that everyone from this community driving to or from Montreal, will take the opportunity of stopping at the "Sunset Bar B-Q" for a bite — not only will they enjoy a good meal, but they will be encouraging these local boys in their ambitious undertaking. . . A large portion of their supplies, we are informed, will come direct from Lachute.

New Construction in Lachute

The local construction firm, Tower Company Ltd., has almost completed the erection of a large double duplex of seven tenements at Mountain View, Lachute. This double duplex, which is of modern design incorporating the utmost in comfort, up-to-date conveniences and services, will be open for public inspection at an early date.

The Chamber of Commerce is particularly pleased to point out any development of this nature which indicates the progress of the town — and in this respect the Tower Company Ltd. deserves credit. It may be mentioned that this firm, besides construction, is quite active at its local plant in the production of prefabricated buildings. Vianney Belanger, the manager of the company, reports a very satisfactory year just ended, and anticipates a still more successful year in 1952. Circumstances permitting, the company hopes in the near future to enlarge its plant facilities in this community.

4,500 Square Feet of Floor Space Available for New Industry

In its purpose of co-operating to bring new industries to this town, the Lachute Chamber of Commerce wishes to mention that a Lachute citizen, and member of the Chamber, has to offer a large floor-space of approximate dimensions 50 x 90 feet. This one-floor accommodation might conveniently be used for several purposes, such as the establishment of a medium-sized industry, or for various business uses, warehousing, etc. . . Favorably situated at the approach to Lachute from Montreal, this well-lighted site would prove interesting to anyone seeking such an opportunity. . . For further information, please contact the president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Promotions at Ayers Limited

New promotions are being announced at Ayers Limited, and we are pleased to hear that Fred Sanford, who has been with this company for the past 25 years, has been promoted to Sales Manager of the Felt Division, while Ralph FitzGerald has been promoted as Assistant Sales Manager for the same division. To these two well known and valuable citizens, the Lachute Chamber of Commerce expresses sincere congratulations and wishes them both success in the fullfilment of their important duties.

Please Take Note . . .

The visit to the Ayers industrial plant for members and guests of Lachute Chamber of Commerce, which took place yesterday, January 16, will be reported in The Watchman next week. The first general monthly meeting of the Chamber for 1952, which is to be held tonight, January 17 (7 o'clock at the Legion Hall) will also be reported in next issue.

Fire Loss Is Half Canadian Average, Says Chief's Report

Lachute Fire Department turned out for a total of 71 calls last year, according to the report presented by Chief Geo. Y. Deacon at Council meeting last week. Of these calls, 47 were within the town limits, 12 out of town, and 12 monthly meetings and practices.

It is notable that in the town incidents the brigade were required to use fire hose only on three occasions, the remaining fires having been subdued with the booster supply or with chemical extinguishers. Out of the 47 calls, 37 were for chimney or grass fires, or electrical short-circuits.

Three fires causing major losses were at the Bedard Shoe Shop, René Letendre's and Ludger Latreille's.

For the brigade's services in adjoining municipalities, Lachute Town Corporation was reimbursed as follows: $400 from St. Andrews East (3 calls); $400 from Township of Chatham (5 calls); $100 from Chatham (Foundation Company); and $350 from St. Jerusalem Parish (3 calls).

The year's fire loss, stated Chief Deacon, stands at approximately one-half of the average for towns in Canada of a comparable size — which is a credit both to the fire-consciousness of Lachute residents, and to the promptness of their Fire Department.

The Chief also paid a notable testimonial to the value of the radio-telephone equipment, donated by the Lions Club for use of the Police and Fire Departments. By this means, many unnecessary runs with firefighting apparatus had been saved, through quick appraisal of the outbreaks and reporting back to headquarters.

First 1952 Session of Morin Heights Council

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — At the first Council meeting of the New Year, the Secretary conveyed the regrets of Mayor Chas. D. Campbell that he was unable to be present owing to sudden bereavement in the family. But His Worship, in his message, wished to thank the councillors for the conscientious manner in which they had carried out their duties in the past year. He also thanked the Fire Chief and his brigade for their efficient work, and extended thanks to Mr. and Mrs. St. Denis for handling the fire alarm on a 24-hour basis throughout the year. He thanked the Police for the manner in which that department had been handled, and he expressed appreciation to those of the public who had attended the various Council meetings, and by their interest assisted the Council in their deliberations.

Councillor R. E. Jamison was elected chairman to carry on the meeting, which was opened as usual with prayer.

The accounts as presented by the secretary were approved for payment.

The meeting was then opened to the public for any matters of current concern. Wm. Nesbitt laid a complaint against the Police department for confiscating a bob-sled used in sliding down the Main Road after those in charge had been warned that it was against the traffic law. The chairman stated that the Council would go into the matter directly business was resumed. Mr. St. Denis raised the question of a fire call which had been received from 16 Island Lake, and also stated that the siren in its present position could not be heard by firemen in the village, particularly in wintertime. The chairman stated the Fire Chief had already mentioned this in his report, and it would be taken up as soon as business was proceeded with.

There being no further requests by the public present, the first matter to be attended to was the breaking of the fire hydrant at Seale's Mill. This was a charge against the person concerned, and it was moved and adopted that the party be charged with all costs in replacing same. Regarding fire calls received from outside of the municipality, the Council decided that this was the first time the local brigade had been called upon when the truck was out of commission, due to a broken

Contributors to Prosperity

Many things contribute to the prosperity of the area served by Gatineau Power Company — an area stretching north of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers, from Campbell's Bay on the west to Rawdon on the east. Not the least of these contributors to prosperity are the many small and not-so-small industries which flourish in our cities and towns.

These industries — all of which receive their electric power from Gatineau — play an important role in the supplying of necessities in the area in which they operate and in drawing money into that area as a result of the goods they ship to other parts of the country and the world. It is a fact little known to many people in the Gatineau territory that goods from their own back doors go regularly as far afield as the United States, Great Britain, Mexico, Australia, New Zealand and the Scandinavian countries.

Whenever anyone thinks of industries in the Gatineau area they are inclined to think of the major industries known to us all. Canadian International Paper Company at Gatineau; the E. B. Eddy Company and Canada Cement Company in Hull; the Singer Company in Thurso; Rolland Paper Company, Dominion Rubber Company and Regent Knitting Mills in St. Jerome; Ayers in Lachute — all these employ hundreds of people and make a great contribution to the prosperity of the whole district. On this particular occasion, however, it is not of such large manufacturers that we are thinking, but rather of the many smaller business organizations which also are of greatest importance to the entire district.

From time to time in the weeks ahead, therefore, Gatineau Power would like to salute the growing industrial strength of the area it serves, and to pay tribute to the many smaller industries which have been developing rapidly over the last few years. On their continued prosperity and expansion rests at least part of the future progress and development of the Gatineau region.

Dairy Farmers in Annual Convention

Toronto — Focusing attention on serious threats to their industry, directors of the Dairy Farmers of Canada are convening in annual session at the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, January 16-19. Search for a more dynamic policy for the dairy industry will be the theme of the convention, opening with a review of the industry's position by W. C. Cameron, of the Dairy Products Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Keynoting the convention will be Nova Scotia's forceful Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Waldo Walsh, who will discuss, "The Dairy Industry and its Sacred Cows".

In the advertising and public relations section of the convention, H. C. MacCallum, well-known public relations and advertising expert, will define "Who Are the Dairy Farmers' Public?"

Of special interest will be a panel discussion, "Where is the dairy industry heading?", chaired by Gordon Loveridge, President of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creamery Association Limited.

Hon. Paul Martin, Minister of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa, will be guest speaker at the Dairy Farmers' banquet.

Bone of Contention Among Ayrshiremen

The annual meeting of the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association in Toronto at the end of this month promises to be a contentious one. A repetition of the meeting in Montreal a year ago is in prospect. Bone of contention, continues to be the location of the head office.

It is understood that repeated meetings of the directors during the past year have failed to break the deadlock and that, as a result, the annual meeting will witness almost a repetition of what transpired in Montreal last year.

The Ontario group is still determined that the head office should be constructed on land owned by the association in Brockville. Another group, mainly Quebec members, is equally determined to keep the office in Ottawa. During the past year most of the executive sessions have been a see-saw between the two points of view.

N.S. Agriculture Has Vast Targets

Halifax (CP) — Nova Scotia's agricultural industry has progressed greatly during the last decade but still has a long way to go before it will produce enough to supply the province's 638,000 persons.

The output of eggs is closest to the point of self-sufficiency, with production for 1951 at more than 13,000,000 dozen. Estimated consumption is 14,000,000 dozen.

Poultry production is more than half the province's consumption. During 1950 production was 6,566,000 pounds.

Butter production is far short of the mark. Output for 1951 is estimated at 5,000,000 pounds, leaving 8,000,000 pounds to be imported, chiefly from New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

RAIN-MAKING PATENTED

A patent has been issued in the U.S. on a method which could make rain by forming super-cooled crystals in super-cooled clouds by dropping particles of dry ice through them. Dry ice is solid carbon dioxide frozen by such refrigerants as "Freon" gas.

Saga of the Sea

KURT Carlsen, the shy little sea captain whose epic fight against the sea commanded the world's admiration, has turned down Hollywood offers of a fortune for the rights to the story of his saga of courage and endurance aboard the American freighter Flying Enterprise.

The 37-year-old Danish-born skipper, living in New Jersey, was rescued with another man as his ship finally sank only 37 miles from Falmouth, England, last week. Carlsen had been alone aboard the storm-wracked vessel for six days until joined by Kenneth Dancy, mate of the British deep-sea tug Turmoil, which had attempted to tow the Flying Enterprise to Falmouth from 300 miles out in the Atlantic.

It seems ironical in this hour of glory (his fulfilment of a mariner's noblest tradition) and of bitter disappointment (the sinking of his beloved ship) that Carlsen on coming to New York now faces a formal inquiry on alleged neglect in the loading of his cargo, and other unorthodox practices. The investigation will be followed with secondary interest, and public sympathy will rest with this captain for his memorable and heroic role.

Carlsen said at Falmouth last Saturday he was not interested in movie offers that were presented almost immediately he landed. He said nobody was going to buy him away from the sea.

Reflections on Car Courtesy

TORONTO motor car drivers (as ornery a lot of auto jockeys as you'd find anywhere in normal times, they say) did a complete about-face when the tram and bus strike hit the big Ontario city.

They abandoned their old sport of chasing pedestrians off cross-walks and splashing them with the slush Toronto produces on its downtown streets after every snowstorm. They showed themselves not only willing but eager to give pedestrians a ride. They went out of their way to do it, and even developed an unwonted civility and consideration toward each other.

This was so for the first few days, but as the strike went on, it is reported that a subtle change came about. Hitchhikers began to report many cars passing them and others waited long before the streams of traffic produced a soft-hearted car owner.

The reasons began to pop up in drivers' reports of their daily safaris to and from work with cars packed with fellow workers or strangers.

One said his free passengers criticized his middle-aged car all the way downtown. . Another reported that when he got stuck in snow his riders got out and hitched another ride. . . A rider left a car door open as he disembarked, and the motorist hit a parked car. Estimated damage, $150. . .

Then there was the case of a young men who stopped to pick up an elderly lady standing at a streetcar stop. She insisted she was waiting for a streetcar and admonished him, "Get along, you fresh young man".

Others found when they asked their riders' destinations that they had none; they were merely taking advantage of the strike to ride around town!

This sort of thing began to have a blighting effect on the good-will of the drivers. They picked their passengers carefully and passed up persons who looked like characters who would annoy them with chatter or insist on being driven to their doors.

Some who figured their liability in case of accident stopped picking up passengers altogether. It seemed possible that if the strike continued long, a great many who had lolled in luxury in the early strike days would be taking to Shank's Mare before many days.

There were some people who had no trouble getting rides at any time, of course. One beautiful redhead at a tramway stop had hardly lifted her thumb above her shoulder before a swanky convertible screeched to a stop and gulped her into its red leather interior. Without the red hair and the looks, it was tougher.

What Next!

THE CALENDAR of Important Occasions shows the immediate future brimful of Days and Weeks to enlist the people's enthusiasm, according to their inclinations. Just past is Big Brother Week; and coming up — Burns Night, National Health Week, St. Valentine's, St. Patrick's and Education Week, to mention just a few.

If you want to start something, it seems that all you have to do is pick your day. But reserve January 27 for this latest sacrilege, which we hesitate to mention; it's "National Husband In The Kitchen Day" — the idea being to sell Father on the newest culinary gadgets, methods and menus. The National Association of Retail Grocers are the culprits in this uncalled-for observance; and far be it for the Editor to lend his support!

About the only anniversary we can enthuse about right now is the First Day of Spring. And it's still two months away!

IT IS important that, once town elections are decided, the whole town unite to support the victorious candidates. Our strength continues to be founded on majority rule.

"THINGS AN' STUFF"

WALTER HENRY JACKSON

The Liars' Club

Last week I noticed in a Montreal paper that the first prize for 1951 in the Liars' Club (an American organization) was won by a clergyman. His prize-winning story was that of a melon thief who got into a patch where the soil was so rich, and the melon-vines grew so fast, that one vine twined around his ankle and dragged him half a mile before morning, resulting in his subsequent capture.

I liked the third prize even better. It concerned a river out in Arizona. There were several months without rain and the river dried up to such an extent that when the fish tried to swim upstream, all one could see was a cloud of dust, and the larger fish were blowing smoke-rings through their gills.

Which reminds me of the cattle-drover from the Ozarks, where the trees grow very large. He was driving a herd of 102 cattle when he came to a river that was too deep to ford. There was no bridge within many miles. A very large, dead and hollow tree was standing on the bank, so he felled it across the river and drove the cattle through it just like a tunnel. "When the last one came out", he stated, "I counted them and there were only 77. The other twenty-five had wandered off and got lost in some of them hollow limbs!"

Don't blame me for these yarns. I don't belong to the Liars' Club. Truth is stranger than fiction. Let me relate one of my own experiences. One night in my cabin at Lost River it was so cold that the flames in my cookstove froze solid, and I had to thaw them out with a blowtorch before I could heat water to scrub the floor. (I scrub it every year). When the job was finished, I put the pail of hot water outside the cabin door and it froze so quick that the ice was still warm!

You don't believe me, huh? Well, let me tell you about the old farmer up Arundel way. He has a grandfather clock, still in good running order. He doesn't know how old it is, but his great-grandfather brought it out from the Old Country in the days of sailing-vessels. It has been ticking off the seconds for so many years that the shadow of the pendulum has worn a hole clean through the back of the case!

Be seein' ya! — Uncle Walt.

Record Insurance Year

Life insurance purchased in Canada in 1951 will reach a new high of almost $2 billion, says J. K. Macdonald, president of Confederation Life Association and of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association, in The Financial Post. This is some 13% over the comparable figure for 1950, and about double the volume of new insurance issued during the last year of World War II.

Life insurance in force in Canada will also show a substantial gain to approximately $17-billion at the year end, or an average of nearly $1,215 for every man, woman and child in the country.

One of the world's largest dry-docks is at Esquimalt, B.C.

BIG VALUE

YOUR TELEPHONE is one item that takes a smaller part of your budget than it used to. Its cost hasn't gone up as much as most other things.

In another way, too, the telephone is bigger value today than ever before. Now you can reach twice as many people as you could ten years ago and more telephones are being installed every day.

If you haven't service, we want you to know we're working at it. Your place on the list is being protected and your telephone will be installed just as soon as possible.

Inflation: a serious threat

To fight it with success, the cooperation of everybody is essential.

Resume of the address of Mr. J. Edouard Labelle, K.C., O.B.E., President of The Provincial Bank of Canada, to the shareholders, at the 51st annual general meeting held in Montreal on the 9th of January, 1952.

Mr. J. E. Labelle began his address by a brief description of the situation of the economy in 1951. He mentioned that production has risen during the year but that, on the other hand, production costs and retail prices have shown a substantial rise despite the stability of money in circulation; hence, it was not surprising that we should experience an increase in the cost of living. We are reaching, he observed, a critical phase of the post-war economic equilibrium. The rise in production costs reveals to us the present weaknesses of the economy. The fight against inflation is not at an end.

Appeal for the cooperation of the Chartered Banks

To continue this struggle, said Mr. Labelle, the Bank of Canada has asked for the cooperation of the chartered banks. There is now the desire that they should be directly interested in the restriction of credit to carry on the campaign against inflation. Why should the banks have agreed to this discipline, which is of no particular advantage to them and which has the danger of making so many of their clientele discontented? It is because, from the economic viewpoint, replied the Bank President, inflation is a serious threat for us at the present time. The experience of other countries teaches us that there is no limit to price rises following inflation, if the causes of inflation are not suppressed. Canada, he observed, might easily experience the fate of those same countries, if the fight against inflation is not effective.

Chief Means Used to Combat Inflation

Mr. Labelle then recalled that in general there are two principal sources of monetary expansion leading to inflationary reaction: Governmental deficits and the growth of bank loans for purposes other than those of expanding production. Now, he continued, the efforts of the Government to avoid deficits are well-known; on the other hand, it can be seen why the authorities have appealed to the banks to control bank credit.

In normal times, the chartered banks ask for nothing better than to make their cash available to any serious businessman, with a view to helping him to realise profitable economic ventures. They have, however, understood that in the present state of affairs it would be useless to stimulate credit for purposes which might clash with the execution of the rearmament program.

Indispensable Conditions for the Success of an Anti-Inflationary Policy

Action on the part of the Government and of the banks, however, will have slight effect, observed Mr. Labelle, unless each individual—wage-earner or consumer, capitalist or entrepreneur—, should cultivate the same attitude of discipline and sense of responsibility.

After stressing the necessity of distinguishing between the political and economic aspects of the present situation, and consequently of assuming the proper attitude thereto, the President of the Bank drew attention to the fact that, in present circumstances, the lack of moderation in seeking the personal satisfactions might lead to the rise in prices and to exaggerated demands whether of salaries, social security or more leisure time.

On the part of production, the employer and the wage-earner, there is only one good answer to the present situation: it is that each should strive to give the best return from his labor in such a way as to increase the productive capacity of the economy.

Conclusion

In the final analysis, the present situation, concluded Mr. Labelle, more than ever requires submission to the obligation of working and a return to the practice of self-restraint. In spite of the difficulties of the hour, there is no need to take too gloomy a view of the situation facing us. We have witnessed in recent years a great industrial expansion which has enriched the economic productivity of the nation. And we have in the investments of foreign capital which recently have been pouring into our country a testimony of the confidence that is felt in the development of Canada. We must, faced with our present difficulties, practise that policy of prudence which will allow us, in better times, to take advantage to the utmost of the riches which the future of our country is holding in reserve.

Noticeable Increase in Total Assets and Deposits. Growing Importance of the Bank in the Field of Commercial Loans.

Address of the Vice-President and General Manager, Mr. J. U. Boyer.

Submitting to the shareholders the 51st annual report of the Bank for the fiscal year ending November 30th, 1951, the Vice-President and General Manager, Mr. J. U. Boyer, pointed out, at the beginning of his address, the noticeable increase in total assets and deposits and the growing importance of the Bank in the field of commercial loans.

Total assets have reached $185,647,409.58, being an increase of $6,490,215.45 over the preceding year. Cash assets have increased by $6,125,130.92 to reach $40,542,935.38. Securities held in the Bank's portfolio amounted to $75,646,682.11 and readily realisable assets stood at $119,345,333.62.

Loans of all kinds amounted to $65,290,942.06. The Bank having participated to a greater degree, in the economic activity of the country, commercial loans reached $58,254,634, being an increase of $5,631,267.71 over the previous year. During the course of the year, in a spirit of cooperation with the Bank of Canada, we have made an effort to restrict the credits which were not for essential purposes.

The total of deposits entrusted to the Bank, has reached a new high of $175,227,722.95, which is an increase of $6,081,436.91 over the year 1950. Non-interest bearing deposits from the public were $47,960,335.47, which is $4,928,155.21 more than last year, and savings deposits amounted to $123,541,704.17, which is an increase of $3,838,567.44. Deposits by the federal government and provincial governments at $3,725,683.31 showed a decrease of $2,685,285.74 from the previous year's figures of $6,410,969.05.

Gross profits for the year, after operating expenses, were $834,378.51, compared to $732,629.37, which is an increase of $101,749.14. The sum of $216,919.70 has been set aside for Dominion taxes as compared to $150,000. last year, while provision has also been made for the sum of $53,226.57 for provincial taxes and $158,207.71 for depreciation of bank premises. The Bank, again, for the fifth consecutive year, contributed $100,000. to the Staff Pension Fund.

The sum of $240,000. has been set apart for the payment of regular dividends and $40,000. for the distribution of a special dividend of 1%, for a total of $280,000., leaving a net profit of $26,024.53 to be added to Profit and Loss Account which stands at $584,538.92 at November 30th.

Mr. Boyer noted that the Bank has now 138 branches and 200 agencies in the provinces of Quebec, Ontario, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Precious Promises
FROM GOD'S BOOK, THE BIBLE

Peace is as sure as tomorrow's sunrise, and just as independent of men.

The Earth abideth forever. — Eccl. 1: 4.

The evildoers shall be cut off, but the meek shall inherit the earth, and delight themselves in the abundance of Peace. — Psalms 37: 9-11.

For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given. And the government shall be upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called Wonderful Councillor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and peace, there shall be no end. — Isaiah 9: 6-7.

We, according to God's promise, look for a new heaven and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness. — 2nd Peter, 3: 13.

Revelations 12, 10-11-12 are discussed in the book "Let God Be True" (pages 126, 248, 245, 52, 53 and 191).

EARL ROBERTS TROPHY WON BY CANADIAN TEAM

London — The annual rifle shooting competition for the Earl Roberts Imperial Cadet trophy, organized by the Imperial Cadet Association, has been won by No. 1195, Ecole Superieure St. Stanislas Cadet Corps, Canada, with a score of 312 out of a possible 320. The winners have maintained a high standard of shooting in this competition during recent years; they won in 1949 and were third in 1950. The winning cadet unit will hold the trophy for a year and each member of the team will receive a bronze medal. This is a service rifle competition carried out in four practices — five rounds deliberate (500 yards), five with movement (from 50 to 100 yards), five rounds rapid (200 yards), and five rounds snap-shooting (200 yards). It is open to two cadet teams from each military district throughout the Commonwealth.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Gratifying Report on Week of Prayer Services

The Universal Week of Prayer was observed in Lachute and Brownsburg, together with Watch-night services at both places. There were a considerable number of people from all the churches at these gatherings, and those who attended considered the services most helpful.

It is reported by the Argenteuil Ministerial Association that the offerings resulted as follows:

Lachute forwarded $14.74 to the Canadian Council of Churches; $14.73 to the World's Evangelical Alliance; and $14.74 to the Orange and Protestant Children's Home.

Brownsburg forwarded $19.58 to the British and Foreign Bible Society; $19.58 to the World's Evangelical Alliance; and $19.58 to the Orange and Protestant Children's Home.

Annual Reports and Installation of Officers at W.M.S. January Meeting

The January meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Lachute United Church was held last Thursday in the church hall. Annual reports showed that the year 1951 had been a very active one in all branches of W.M.S. work. The allocation was exceeded and the Community Friendship and Supply committees had spent a happy, busy year. Mrs. J. W. Scott, Supply secretary, reported that almost 300 pounds of clothing and bedding had been shipped to Korea, via Toronto, and that individual parcels totalling 96 pounds were mailed directly to Dr. Florence Murray and Miss Ada Sandell in Japan and Korea. These personal parcel shipments included a baby box, containing about 50 articles, sent to Nurse Sandell.

The members of the Auxiliary are deeply appreciative of the support given by the associate members and the younger groups.

On behalf of the Auxiliary, a life membership was presented to Miss L. Stalker, retiring president, by Mrs. S. J. McFaul.

Guest speaker was the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, who conducted the installation service and imparted a message of help and inspiration to members and officers alike.

The executive officers for 1952 include the following:

President, Mrs. Geo. Y. Deacon; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. Wm. Pollock; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. S. S. Campbell; 3rd vice-pres., Mrs. C. L. Duncan.

Secretary, Mrs. Wm. Pollock; treasurer, Mrs. W. K. McArthur; corr secretary, Mrs. E. Barker.

Expense & Flower Fund secretary, Mrs. Joan Gordon.

Associate Members' secretary, Mrs. H. Martin.

Soothing Angry Customers

Merchants of Logan, Utah, have an answer to the problem of angry customers caught with an overtime parking violation while shopping in the local stores. Businessmen collected a fund of $25 in nickels and turned it over to the police. When a policeman finds a car over-parked, he drops a nickel in the meter and sticks an envelope on the windshield. If the shopper returns the envelope and a nickel, the customary fine is omitted.

More interested in coaching langlanfers than beating them around the course, the 46-year-old chairman of Cross-Country for the Laurentian Zone still possesses about the smoothest runing style in the district. His twin sons, Gunnar and Jack Jr., were entered for the Viking Ski Club; Gunnar led the Juniors but Jack Jr., had trouble with his ski coming loose and had to lose a lot of valuable time. In this event Morin Heights' Ernie Woods placed second and Biggie Nymark third. Morin Heights runners led the Class B division by placing Bobby Baldwin on top of the group, with Grant Seale second, about 18 seconds behind him. In Class C, Ross Gillingham placed third.

PRE-FINISHED AMERWOOD is the new and beautiful wall panelling where the hard growth stands in bold relief. It has been stained, lacquered, baked in an infred oven (the same as your modern car bodies), waxed with a polish many times harder than the simonize you would apply to your car and then polished to a satin finish.

PRE-FINISHED AMERWOOD is 3/16" in thickness, comes in 6", 8", 10" widths and 8', 10', 12', 14', 16' in length. Packed 6 boards to the package and in three attractive colors, Amerwite, Ameroon, Amered.

When PRE-FINISHED AMERWOOD is applied and your last nail is driven the job is then complete, no paint, no fumes, no extra muss. It requires no extra tools, just hammer, saw and square. Drop in and see it at our yards.

Semi-Annual Meeting Of Q.W.I. Board

Reports covering the past six months of the extension courses offered by the Quebec Women's Institutes will be a feature of the semi-annual board meeting of that organization to be held Friday and Saturday, February 1-2, at the Queen's Hotel, Montreal. Much has been accomplished in this field in crafts and home economics by the technicians, Miss Ida R. Bruneau and Miss F. Elizabeth Campbell, and a course on "Painting for Pleasure" also proved most popular.

Suggestions for stimulating interest in junior work and recommendations made by conveners of the various departments, will also be discussed.

Projects undertaken in cooperation with the Montreal Council of Women will be a highlight of the session held Friday evening, when Mrs. R. G. Gilbride, president of the Council, and other members of her executive, will assist in studying the report of the recent joint conference of the two organizations.

Mrs. G. E. LeBaron, of North Hatley, Q.W.I. president, will preside at this meeting and all English-speaking sections of rural Quebec will be represented.

Grill Cookery

Here are some handy tips for the thousands who have to prepare meals on hot-plates or small electric grills.

Regardless of whether it is a business girl preparing her own meals or a wife feeding her husband, the home economists of the Department of Agriculture say that the minimum equipment for grill cookery should include a medium size double boiler, with a top part that will also fit into a tea kettle; frying pan with a lid; saucepan with a lid; small glass casserole to fit into the saucepan; coffee maker and tea pot. The miscellaneous equipment should include measuring spoons and cup, paring knives, vegetable peeler, grater, sieve, lemon squeezer, egg beater and mixing bowls.

Two most convenient pieces of equipment are a pressure cooker and a triple saucepan. The pressure cooker increases the variety of dishes that may be prepared on a grill. Stews, braised meats, baked beans, and steamed puddings can be cooked comparatively quickly under pressure. With a triple saucepan it is possible to cook three foods at one time, because it has three pans designed to fit together on a single burner.

The meals should be planned for several days at a time and the Canada Food Rules provide an excellent guide for knowing what to include in them. The meal plan should be kept flexible so that leftovers and foods in good supply may be used. Staple foods can be bought once a week if storage space is available, whereas perishables should be bought in small quantities when needed. Be sure to buy by grade and watch for good values for your money.

A collection of quick, easy, inexpensive recipes is a good idea. These are usually based on six servings, so, to reduce the ingredients for one or two servings, be sure to measure accurately. If imagination and initiative are used, practically all dishes that can be prepared with a stove can be made on a grill.

For steaming, use the sieve over a saucepan or kettle of boiling water, place the dish containing the food in it and cover with an inverted bowl or tight fitting lid. Oven poached dishes, such as custards and souffles, may be cooked in the top of the double boiler while vegetables or other foods are being cooked in the bottom part. Soup tins with tops evenly removed and baking powder tins make good containers for cooking puddings or breads, but be sure to cover the top with lid or waxed paper and set the tin directly in boiling water. To make the most of the facilities, use the window ledge to cool jellies, desserts and other things quickly. The radiator can keep foods hot.

As the main course for dinner there are always chops, sausages, liver and bacon, steaks, cut-up chicken and fish, with a pot-roast for Sunday. But other quick and easy-to-prepare suggestions are Spanish toast, made like French toast except that tomato juice is used in place of milk; vegetable or cheese rarebit; macaroni and cheese and spaghetti and tomato sauce. Canned soups are very handy for making delicious dishes with leftovers. For example, cream of mushroom soup may be mixed with just enough milk to give a cream sauce consistency, then combined with vegetables, hard-cooked eggs or leftover meats and served on toast.

With limited cooking space, it is important to cook foods quickly so that they may all be served hot. Vegetables may be prepared quickly by cutting them into small pieces and cooking them either in boiling water or in a pressure saucepan. Most desserts can be prepared the previous night and if to be eaten hot, can be reheated in the top of the double boiler. Pudding sauces can also be made ahead of time and reheated at the last minute. This relieves the situation of having to cook too much at one time.

Art and the Home

— By D. C. Muller

The Watchman is pleased to present a new series of articles entitled "Art and the Home", written by Donald C. Muller, who is on the staff of Lachute High School.

Mr. Muller has written for the Sherbrooke Daily Record, under the heading of "Your Home and Mine". He was a member of some prominent Art Associations in the United States, and has executed three murals for the Knabe Piano Corporation, located on Fifth Avenue, New York City.

In these articles he hopes to point out the relationship between Art and the Home, and some ideas on home furnishings.

Art? What is Art? . . That question has often been put to me, and just as often I too am puzzled, because of the tremendous scope of the word; yet we know what would happen if we did not have art. That space in the corner which has a picture, given to you when you were married, would not be there. The color on your walls would be darker, and the selection of colors limited. It could even be that the walls would be just cold, bare and bleak-looking. People of the Stone Age, who lived a long time ago, even before America was thought of as such, decorated their caves with drawings; thus proving the necessity of breaking the dismal atmosphere of their homes. These took on the characteristic shape of the things they knew—beasts which supplied them with food, and fur which would keep them warm during the cold winters.

Man's first desire is to provide for his family; and his wife's is to make their home, which is their castle, as comfortable as possible. In order to do this she will spend much time matching this color to this fabric, as every interior decorator knows, until she strikes one of her fancy. This is then purchased and arranged in its proper setting.

As our civilization becomes more complex, new ideas will be introduced which will shorten the working day, and more time will be spent in the home. Television, for example, has brought about many changes in areas where reception is good. Women here hurry to do their shopping, because at a definite time their husbands will come home, and friends will drop in to see a favorite show. A quiet evening at home will be spent looking at television. More and more women are looking for simple yet tasteful ideas which will bring a new light to their homes. To meet these demands new styles have been developed . . and so from time to time this column will feature these ideas.

If you have any questions or comments, I should be pleased to receive them. Just mail them to D. C. Muller, care of The Watchman, Lachute, Que.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

The Successful Birthday Party

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

No matter how carefully plans have been made for a party, there are two rather trying times at a small child's party — the beginning and the ending. There never was a party when some guests did not arrive a bit early and some come trailing along late!

Occasionally a mother chooses to have her child open each guest's present, after outdoor wraps are removed. This does keep the children occupied for a few minutes. But other parents prefer to keep to the usual "present-opening-time" at the end of the supper, immediately after the cake has been eaten. The guests are still seated at the table and each guest can be thanked for his gift after it is opened.

The first little visitor to arrive, or the first two or three, may be shy and ill at ease. Do make them feel at home by having something for the early arrivals to see or do.

Don't wait until everyone has come to begin the party games. A simple skill game like Bean Bags, or dropping Clothes Pegs into a quart bottle, can include the others as they appear. A very bashful youngster may be too self-conscious to want to participate in a game. Let him watch, rather than insist that he take his turn.

The end of the party is often difficult because some of the children are bound to be a bit fatigued and over-excited. A few of the guests may have eaten too much for comfort! Some of the parents may call early to take their child home — and it is not easy to look after parents and see to the conclusion of the party. If the child is a pre-school youngster, have the parents assist with their child's outdoor clothes. One way out of the awkward ending time is to give the guests a little inexpensive favor such as a balloon or a ginger-bread man, a gum-drop figure or a marshmallow snowman wrapped in wax paper, just as they leave.

The old-time favorite games such as Drop the Hanky, and Musical Chairs are good lively ones to use. Everyone knows them and so they don't need many directions. Then when the party is well "under-way" work in a few new games. There are excellent books on recreation at any public library. Copy out the directions for half a dozen fresh games which look interesting.

Have a few quieter games, alternating with more strenuous ones. Jot down more games than you will need so you have some extra ones in reserve to use in an emergency. Don't play any one game very long. Have small prizes for the winners, if you wish — but do leave out awards for the player with the lowest score! What child at a party wants to be embarrassed by being presented with a "Booby Prize"?

Food is important at every age — but especially to children at a party! Make it attractive and fun — and keep it simple enough to avoid upset digestions next day.

The cake deserves very special attention. Boil the ring, the other small trinkets and the coins, wrap carefully in wax paper, and if at all possible, slip one of these into each child's piece of cake. This can be accomplished by making small slits in the bottom of each piece after it is cut.

To the guest of honor, there are few times in the whole year which can compare with the moment when there is a hush, the cake with candles all ablaze is carried into the room while everyone else sings — "Happy Birthday to You!"

A party may be quite a task — and involve planning and some outlay of money and a big expenditure of patience — but a mother feels it worth-while as she catches a glimpse of a small son's or daughter's face as the candles are blown out!

GROW FINE LEMONS IN FOOTHILL CITY

Calgary (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. James Ross ordered a couple of plants from an Ontario seed house two years ago and two of them turned out to be lemons.

They know for sure now, because there are lemons growing on them.

One plant has two lemons on it about the size of small avocados. The other plant is crowned with just one lemon, larger than most usually seen in fruit stores.

The Ross's, proud of their lemon crop, now are waiting to see what's going to happen to the pineapple and strawberry plants in their greenhouse.

Two stuffed small chickens take less time to roast than one large bird. The birds will cook more evenly and rapidly in a shallow, uncovered pan with a rack or crossed skewers in the bottom than in one which does not give the air a good chance to circulate. — Consumer Section, Ottawa.

Morin Heights Council

differential, and while the brigade was willing to go with temporary equipment, the Fire Chief when consulted had advised that his crew could not be of any help in this instance as there were no hydrants to supply water. Regarding who had the authority to let the equipment go outside of the municipality, the Council decided that the present method adopted by resolution — giving the Mayor and the secretary-treasurer authority, either to allow the equipment outside the village, or to call in outside assistance — should stand as being the only safe method to protect this municipality. But the Council delegated Fire Commissioner Edwin Holgate and the Fire Chief H. Gillingham to contact the surrounding municipalities, and see if some better co-ordination could be worked out, and to report back at the February meeting. The matter of the siren was also placed in the hands of the Fire Commissioner and Fire Chief, to be reported upon. The Fire Chief mentioned in his report that there were too many willing helpers who in the long run only got in the way, and as a result the Fire Station throw-up door had been damaged. The Council decided that, while they appreciated help from those not in the Fire Brigade, they would be more appreciative if all fires were left in the hands of the Fire Chief and his men, who were all trained for their respective jobs.

The Council decided to approach the Quebec deputy, W. M. Cottingham, for the widening of the Lake Echo road this year. They also authorized the secretary and the Fire Commissioner to purchase a machine for thawing out hydrants. Permission was given to the Morin Heights Ski Club to place their sign board at the Municipal Building, and a parking place was arranged for, on a lot owned by Ed Watchorn in front of that building.

MacKimmie Competition Finals Staged Tuesday

An interesting game climaxed the bonspiel for the MacKimmie Memorial Trophy, which has been the recent attraction at Lachute Curling Club. Being a mixed 'spiel, it has contributed to the social aspects of the club, and keen interest has been shown in the various games.

Semi-finals were played Monday evening between skips S. McKyes and R. Muir, also D. McTavish and W. Pollock — the two former winning into the play-off. This took place Tuesday evening, with teams as follows: Miss C. McKenzie, E. Pollock, Mrs. L. York, S. McKyes (skip), and Miss Therriault, C. Drew, Mrs. G. McGibbon, D. McTavish (skip). The first team started out well, pulling up gradually in one-point stages in the first ends, but a win of 4 by McTavish changed the picture, resulting in triumph for his team with a score of 9 to 5.

Jas. MacKimmie made the presentation of the trophy, congratulating the winners, and also gave individual prizes. Refreshments were served by the donors of the trophy, and a pleasant hour was spent in dancing and cards.

Saturday Night Games

The week-end mixed bonspiel was well attended, the high-plus being won by Mrs. Woods, L. Brouillette, Mrs. S. Forbes and Major Forbes (skip).

Next on the schedule is play in the Dunany Competition, and plans are underway for the Spring Invitation Bonspiel, which has been a major drawing-card during the past years.

Cross-Country Sponsored By Morin Hts. Ski Club

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — Winter sports got away to a good start here on Sunday, when the Morin Heights Ski Club staged their first of a series of races which will continue throughout the season. The Club, which has an energetic executive under presidency of Paul Baumel, hopes to make this winter's skiing attractive to all serious-minded skiers. There were 42 entries for the Cross-Country race on the popular Clover Leaf Trail, which was in perfect condition. Among the many guests were noticed — Don Doherty, president of the Laurentian Zone, Frank Shaughnessy, Jack Walberg, and last but not least, the congenial sports writer, Chris Gribbin.

The local Ski Patrol were present, and also the St. John's Ambulance Brigade.

Among the skiers was a newcomer to this Club, Ted Pope, and from his performance it appears that things may be expected from him in the not distant future. We also have to mention the regular stand-bys for Morin, Bob Baldwin, Ross Gillingham and Grant Seale, who can always be relied upon when Morin needs representation at the ski races. Carmen Woods, another contender, was not in his usual good form, having just got up from a sick bed. There is also a bright prospect in a junior, Ernie Woods. With help to Morin's younger sports given by the local ski instructor, Bunny Basler, local talent should show a vast improvement.

First and second places are shown in the following results — space not permitting inclusion of the full list:

Junior Men — 1 Gunnar Walberg (Vikings) 33.17.1; 2 Ernie Woods (Morin) 34.12.0.

Senior Men (A) — 1 Owen Owens (McGill) 54.25.0; 2 Wes Blake (McGill) 56.21.4.

Senior Men (B) — 1 Bob Baldwin (Morin) 58.27.0; 2 Grant Seale (Morin) 58.43.3.

Senior Men (C) — 1 Mike Cromble (McGill) 1.00.12.0; 2 Eric Wang (McGill) 1.01.32.8.

Brownsb'g Juniors in Two League Hockey Games

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The local hockey Juniors put on a spirited display against a much superior team, Calumet, at the arena here Saturday night. John Duncan tooted the starting whistle right on time, 8.30 — which is a refreshing change from the exasperating delays of the past few weeks. Announcing a game for 8.30 which starts at 9.45 shows a callous disrespect for the paying public. The inevitable result is already becoming apparent—no customers. .

Anyway, the junior game was no delinquent, and there was no lack of enjoyment during the game. Whatever the juniors lack in playing ability and know-how, they fully compensate for in unbounded enthusiasm. In the Quebec-Ontario League they have stepped into deep water. This is a senior league, but it is the only opportunity available, and worth a try. Calumet has an experienced squad, and although they had few anxious moments, they had some.

In the opening minutes Calumet scored the only goal of the period. The second period saw them notch another goal, without any reply from Brownsburg. The final period found Calumet tiring — it was a torrid pace—and both sides scored twice. . . Calumet 4, Brownsburg 2.

Sunday night, the game between Brownsburg and Chute-à-Blondeau was also underway on the stroke of 8.30. In this encounter the locals met a far more powerful team than on the previous night. Nothing daunted, the juniors gave all they had, and threw a scare into the visitors when they flashed in three goals in the second period to draw level. A disheartening "muff" on the first goal against Brownsburg was due to inexperience. Lack of coaching guidance was evident at times; but in all, a good game was on display and the final score (Chute-à-Blondeau 7, Brownsburg 4) is more for the record than telling the story.

Lachute and B'burg Win League Basketball Tilts

The Quebec entries in the Lower Ottawa Valley Basketball League started the New Year right, with convincing wins over the Ontario teams last Thursday night.

At Lachute, the second-place Teachers' team chalked up a 48-22 victory over the Hawkesbury squad, while at Brownsburg the local team swamped Alexandria by a score of 90-30.

At Brownsburg, G. McCormack, the league's leading scorer, paced the home team with a 25-point effort. He was followed by R. Summers, with 14, and B. Kaulback and B. Cribb, each with 10 points. Laporte, with 14, and Peterson, with 6, led the Ontario attack.

The game was extremely clean and well played — the contest being much closer than the score would indicate.

In Lachute, A. Bond had 15 points to lead all players, and was closely followed by G. Jamieson, also of Lachute, with 12. The Hawkesbury scorers were led by G. Boone, 8, and F. Seversky, 7. The loss was Hawkesbury's fourth in four starts.

Lachute will meet Brownsburg tonight (Thursday) in what promises to be one of the better games of the season.

Gilbert E. Ayers Mayor of New Municipality

Voting Held Monday — Keen Public Interest Is Evidenced in New Council Representation

A high percentage of eligible voters turned out at the polls in Immaculate Conception school last Monday, to elect a brand-new mayor and council for Ayersville, the recently established municipality west of Lachute.

Keen interest was shown in the contests, which brought decisive victory to Gilbert E. Ayers as mayor over his opponent, Maurice Champagne — and for the six-man council, D. R. Bradford, Germain Poulain, Albert Lemay, Albert Seguin, Horace Deslauriers and Laurent Tessier. Defeated candidates were Rosario Leroux, Rolland Filion, Camille Brisson and Gaston Plamondon.

Following are the complete results as furnished by Gaetan Valois, election officer appointed by the Quebec Department of Municipal Affairs:

Mayor

Ayers	310
(Defeated) Champagne	192

Councillors

Bradford	322
Poulain	294
Lemay	290
Seguin	272
Deslauriers	275
Tessier	274
(Defeated)
Leroux	219
Filion	214
Brisson	213
Plamondon	140

Two polls were conducted on the school premises, with Mr. Valois and Sylvio Seguin acting as returning officers. Voting hours were from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., and keen public interest in the organizing of this new corporation is evident in the number who cast their ballots — 511 out of 691 eligible voters.

Date of the first council meeting has not been announced.

'Police Night' at Lachute Lions Club; Official Visit of Dis. Deputy Governor

George Tattersfield Takes Over Office of President

Owing to business duties which demanded his resignation from the Lions' presidency, Ralph Fitz-Gerald was succeeded by George Tattersfield at the club meeting on Tuesday, to preside for the remainder of the term. Lion Tattersfield expressed his appreciation of this honor and pledged his best efforts to the interests of the club.

Due to severe weather, the attendance showed a slight decline, but there was no lack of enthusiasm as the clubmen celebrated "Police Night", with Police Chief D. Villeneuve as Lion of the Day, his colleagues of the police force as guests, and two or three unofficial cops and sleuths ably assisting in the evening's amusement.

A highlight of this meeting was the official visit of District Deputy Governor Larry Sheasgreen, past-president of the St. Lambert Club, whose "pep talk" was one of sincere encouragement to the Lachute Lions, for their record of work well done, and also of inspiration to promote the Lions International aim for bigger and better achievements. Lachute, said the speaker, was leading all branches of the clubs in Zone 12 as regards attendance. "Any man sincere in Lionism must be a good attender", he asserted. District Governor Sheasgreen himself has an enviable record in this respect; this particular meeting finalized his sixth consecutive year of perfect attendance.

The guest speaker was introduced by Horace Lamarche, immediate past-president, and was thanked by Fernand Legault, who presented him with an Ayers travel-rug as a mark of esteem from the Lachute Lions.

Ian Gordon was biographer, paying tribute to the Lion of the Day. The guest of honor, Chief D. Villeneuve, had contributed notably to the success of this club since his enrolment; besides which he fills several important roles in the community — as Chief of Police since 1944, a Commissioner of the Superior Court, special constable for the C.P.R., and a director of the Quebec Police and Fire Chiefs' Association. He is also a member of the K. of C. and the Chamber of Commerce, and an all-round community worker.

A satisfactory financial report was given by Treasurer W. M. Steeves. Two fund-raising efforts on the season's program were outlined — the Lions' district golf tournament, by Ian Gordon; and a barn dance next month, by Jim Lowe. Secretary Don Hay read letters of appreciation for welfare grants, and an appeal for financial support, which was duly approved.

The secretary was instructed to send a message of good-will and good wishes to the council of the new neighboring municipality of Ayersville.

The meeting was held as usual in the dining room of the Joly Hotel.

In Canada and the United States are probably one million persons whose hearts have been damaged as a result of rheumatic fever.

Thermometer Rises, Subsides, at B'burg Special Council Session

CALLED FOR CONSIDERATION OF TENDERS

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — There was a special meeting of council, convened for the purpose of considering tenders called for the collecting of garbage and for a village foreman, a new appointment. Councillor Charbonneau was the only member absent. There were four tenders for the garbage disposal:

Romain Renaud $5,000 for one-year period; Ronald Lafleur $3,640; Romeo Massie $2,700; and Pierre Roy $2,500.

Councillor Ball enquired as to the purpose of the change from the present method of collecting by the municipality's own men, and how would the increase in expenditure be justified.

Mayor Pariseau observed: "We can dispense with one man from our payroll. At present we have three men two and a half days a week collecting garbage. We have not enough labor to look after our work."

Coun. Ball. "That means one man per week, which is about the cost of the lowest tender".

Coun. Ouellette: "It costs about $3,000 if we take the use of the truck into account".

Secretary Hebert: "$2,337 plus the truck, is the present cost".

Mayor: "When we want to do some work or plan some work, it is always garbage day — no truck, no men; it is most annoying. And almost all outside municipalities do the collecting by tender."

Councillor Lavoie wanted to accept the lowest tender for a period of six months, to be automatically renewed if both sides are satisfied.

Mayor: "Why six months? He might decide to quit."

Coun. Lavoie: "I am not too sure we have no kick at the present method."

Mr. Harold Smith was welcomed as a new member of the Group Committee.

One Dead, Another Injured in Crash

Young Montrealer Son of Prominent Sportsman

The lull in the local traffic toll received a drastic jolt with the death of Peter Shaughnessy, 30-year-old Montrealer, and serious injury to a companion, in a collision between a car and a truck, just west of St. Philippe on Tuesday evening.

Driver of the car in which Shaughnessy was a passenger, travelling east towards Lachute on Route 8, was Frank N. Dale, 38, also of Montreal, formerly of Pte. au Chene. The westbound truck, owned by Jean Paul Dubé and in charge of his nephew, Lucien, aged 34, was a 5-ton vehicle used for hauling lumber from the Dubé mill at Notre Dame de Salette, north of Buckingham, and was returning unloaded to that point.

Snow was drifting in a driving blizzard at the time of the accident. The crash occurred just west of Vachon's Corner, the car striking near the rear wheel of the truck with full force. The truck swung round completely and landed with one wheel in the ditch, as the driver attempted to avoid a collision.

Shaughnessy, seated beside the auto driver, received ghastly injuries as the car body ripped, and shattered his head. The driver was hurt in the chest and leg, and the car, a 1950 Studebaker sedan, was completely wrecked.

The crash occurred at 5 p.m., and the unconscious victim was brought to Lachute by ambulance and died at 6.30 o'clock in the Providence Hospital. Dr. Roger Lavigne was in attendance. Frank Dale was also hospitalized and X-ray examinations yesterday revealed his injuries to be extensive. He is suffering from a leg and knee-cap fracture, dislocated hip and several fractured ribs.

Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur empanelled a jury and adjourned the inquest until Frank Dale is able to appear, which will be at least 60 days hence, according to the physician's prediction.

Det. Philippe Therriault, of Lachute, and Traffic Officer Albt. Legault, of Brownsburg, made the investigation.

The late Peter Shaughnessy was well known in Montreal and the son of a prominent sports figure, Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International Baseball League. Peter served in the U.S. Navy during World War II. He is survived by his parents, a sister and seven brothers.

Past, Present and Future of Lachute Viewed in Talk by Argenteuil M.L.A.

W. M. Cottingham Speaker at January Meeting Chamber of Commerce, Enthusiastic Gathering

That Lachute Chamber of Commerce, with almost 200 members, is an active and growing body, was evidenced at its regular meeting and dinner held in the Legion Memorial Hall last Thursday evening. . . President Horace Lamarche, although a very busy man, finds time for interests of public welfare and is doing splendid work at the head of this energetic body. With him are numerous committees, all working for the benefit and advancement of the community.

Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon brought good wishes from Lachute Town and expressed gratification at the companionship of French and English-speaking citizens — a sign of true Canadian citizenship. He invited criticism and help from the Chamber, and stated that the Council would greatly appreciate their co-operation.

Philippe Valois, M.P., also spoke and wished the Chamber every success in its undertakings.

Numerous reports of activities were given, which have appeared in detail from week to week under special heading in The Watchman. Mention was made of the visit to the Ayers Limited plant the previous afternoon (reported elsewhere in this issue).

Mr. Thos. Ayers, on behalf of Ayers Limited, expressed his appreciation and pleasure in having such a large and interested representation to visit the plant.

The publication of a French-language weekly newspaper in the early future, was referred to, and members were asked to give their full co-operation in the purchase of advertising space and in subscriptions. The first issue will appear early in March.

W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A. — introduced by J. R. Charron — wished the Chamber success in the coming year and congratulated the members in having such an efficient and hard-working leader as their president, Mr. Lamarche.

Looking Back

In opening his address on "The Industrial and Commercial Development of Lachute", Mr. Cottingham referred to the arrival here in 1796 of Hezekiah Clarke, amid many hardships and privations. He was soon joined by others, named Hutchins and Lane. In 1798 there were three families; by 1800 there were 15; in 1801 a log schoolhouse was built, and by 1810 the population had grown with a representation of 211 children. Food was reasonable in those days with pork at $7, beef $4 a hundredweight, butter and cheese 25 cents a pound.

The Barrons took up residence in 1809, and then followed such familiar names as Meikle, Fish, McGillis, Creswell, Stewart, Giles, Boyce, Hay, Fraser, McOuat, Kerr, Boa, Bedard, Roby, Rodrigue, Lefebvre, Raymond, Valois, Charlebois, Lafleur, Paquette, Currie, Hope and many others.

After referring to the steady growth of business and manufacturing, from early grist mills, lumbering, tanneries, and shuttle, woollen and paper mills, Mr. Cottingham continued:

"We are told very often, that Lachute is not growing. Here is a comparison with 15 years ago. . .

Development of Lachute During Past 15 Years

"— In 1937, our three largest industries were employing little more than 50% of the labor they are employing today. Smaller industries have developed to be five and 10 times bigger than they were 15 years ago. Most of them have been rebuilt completely or enlarged and modernized.

Ayers Limited 'Industry of the Month' Visited by Ch. of Commerce Members

"Industry and Commerce in Lachute"

Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

Ayers Limited, considered one of the most important firms in the manufacture of felts, woollen cloths and blankets in America, welcomed over 150 members and guests of Lachute Chamber of Commerce on a visit to their beautiful and spacious plant last Wednesday.

The occasion — first in a series of monthly inspection tours — proved the instructive value of this idea initiated by the Chamber of Commerce, giving the visitors an opportunity to see various operations in the manufacture of the Ayers products.

Going back in the history of this company, established in Lachute in 1870. . . "under the pioneering efforts of Mr. Thomas Henry Ayers, who had the knack of invention and considerable initiative, machinery was adapted, by alterations and improvements, to the manufacture of felts for use in pulp and paper machines. These felts had previously been imported, and after a difficult and laborious stage of experimentation, Mr. Ayers finally succeeded in producing satisfactory felts, very ably aided by his wife (formerly Miss Olive Paquette of L'Orignal), a niece of Mr. Felix Hamelin, partner in this promising industry. In fact Mrs. Ayers, after painstaking efforts, discovered the intricate process of splicing the ends of the felts into endless felts; this art was formerly known only in England, and at a place in the United States where they had English textile help. . . "

Thus Hamelin and Ayers came to be pioneers in the manufacture of woollen felts in Canada, and after three generations the present Ayers plant is known as the largest producer of this special type of felts for the paper industry. Various products are also manufactured, such as mechanical cloths, cotton and asbestos dryer felts for pulp and paper mills, cotton transmission rope, nylon rope, finest woollen blankets and travel rugs, fine quality woollens for ladies' and men's wear. For all these products Ayers Ltd. have their principal market in Canada, from Coast to Coast, and they export felts to the principal paper making countries of the world.

Their sources of wool supply are all the wool producing countries, principally Australia and New Zealand; cotton yarns come from the Canadian cotton mills.

Supplying their own power from their most modern power plant, which develops over 6,000 h.p., the Ayers plant with its 438,378 square feet area, employs approximately 700 people — male employees 60% and female employees 40% — and has an annual payroll of over $1,500,000.

For the benefit of their employees, Ayers Ltd. has promoted the development of numerous social activities, such as the Industrial Co-operation Committee; life, hospital, sickness and surgical benefit insurance for employees and families on a contributory basis; welfare funds; the 25-Year Club; First Aid clinic with visiting doctor three days a week; Recreational Centre with swimming pool, bowling green, tennis courts, etc. Also a great asset to the community is the 45-piece Ayers Band, ably directed by Chas. Del-Vennes, and a recently organized girls' choir of 60 voices.

Also among community benefits, should be mentioned the Ayers contribution towards the Lachute Baseball Stadium with its powerful floodlight installation; the picturesque 18-hole Golf Course, and Lachute Golf and Country Club with its spacious and restful clubhouse — claimed from visitors' comments second to none in Canada.

Lachute citizens, and particularly the Lachute Chamber of Commerce, knowing the numerous benefactions of the Ayers family in this community, take this occasion to express their gratitude to Gilbert E. Ayers, president of the Company and recently-elected the first Mayor of the new Ayersville municipality; Thomas Ayers, chairman of Board of Directors; Leonard Ayers, vice-president; and Richard B. Ayers, a director in various activities. May we also mention the name of two other directors, C. E. Tremblay, O.B.E., secretary-treasurer, and T. Milnes, general superintendent, two important links between the founders and the present generation of the Ayers family. With the able co-operation and technical knowledge of Clarence Rodgers, superintendent of the Felt Division; Geo. Tattersfield, superintendent of the cloth and blanket division; Gerald Lefebvre, industrial engineer; and Roger Regimbal, director of personnel — the Ayers Ltd. enterprise, with all its loyal employees, is steadily progressing and aims at still greater success. . . We salute — "Ayers Limited, the Industry of the Month".

North River Gives Example Of Community Spirit

North River — For a number of years the Farm Forum broadcasts have been encouraging community spirit and leadership. The residents of North River farming community believe they have found the answer, under the leadership and unselfish initiative of the Lummis boys — Ainsley, Bud and Bill. A pond was made by these boys, by draining a creek on their farm. The pond is used as a swimming pool in summer and as a skating rink in winter, for which purpose it is now in use.

Having a rink, the community of course organized a hockey team. To date three games have been played and much interest has been shown by the people of this and adjoining districts.

In the first game, North River played hosts to Carillon and won by 7-6. . . The second game was played against a pick-up team of Lachute High School players. The school team won, 18-15. . . A third game was played with Mount Maple, North River winning by 11-9.

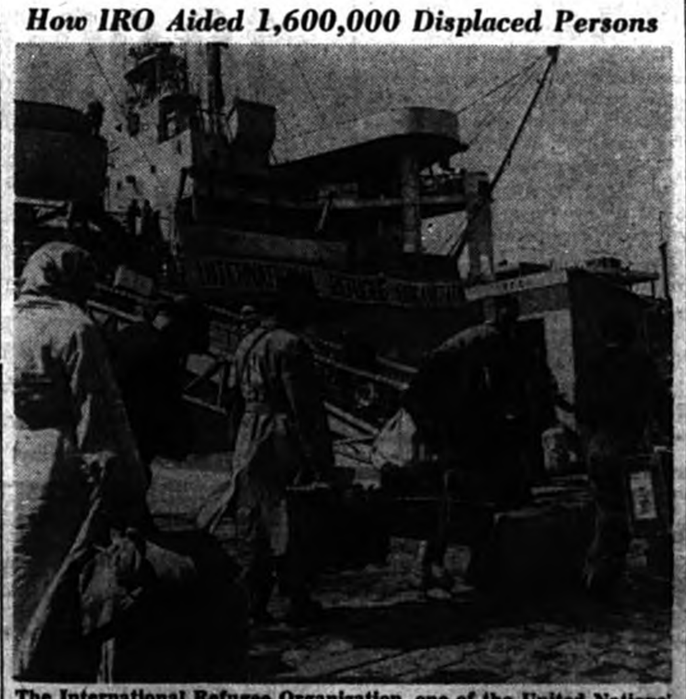

Members of the North River team are Ainsley, Bud and Bill Lummis, Don Fuller, Bob Morrow, Cecil and Melvin Graham, Rodgers and Floyd Bradford.

District residents wish to thank the teams assisting in this project, and the Lummis boys for their leadership in this sports venture.

Discretion in speech is more than eloquence; and to speak agreeably to him with whom we deal is more than to speak in good words or in good order.

Veteran of World War I Laid to Rest Wednesday

The Late Chas. Rapson

Charles E. Rapson, a veteran of World War I and a faithful employee of the firm of Ayers Limited for the past 22 years, passed away at his home on Main Street early Tuesday morning. He had been ill for several months, but during his sickness had maintained a cheery spirit, with never a complaint on his misfortune. He was a member of the Imperial Army and again offered his services in the Second World War, but on account of his age he had to remain in Canada, where he served with the Reserve Army.

Mr. Rapson was keenly interested in the Legion Branch, and also rendered efficient service with the local Boy Scouts Association. As a bowler with the United Church League he enjoyed many a game, one of the teams being named after him, "The Raps".

There was a large attendance of veterans from Argenteuil Branch No. 70, to pay respect to their former comrade, and many sympathizing friends also attended the funeral, which was held from his late residence on Wednesday afternoon. Comforting words were spoken by the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, who paid tribute to his friendliness and sterling character. The Rev. Dr. W. H. Reid, chaplain of the local Legion Branch, assisted with the service. Veterans paid their last tribute of respect by depositing a poppy in the casket of the deceased.

Left to mourn his passing are his loving wife, the former Doris Way, of Lachute, also three brothers, two sisters and his mother, all residing in England.

Pall-bearers were Comrades R. P. Fraser, E. M. Jones, C. Duncan, T. Stewart, F. E. Earle and R. A. Giles.

There were numerous wreaths from neighbors, friends and the societies in which he had held an active part.

Progress and Economic Outlook of Japan Discussed at Rotary

Brownsburg — "Oriental conservatism and Occidental modernism" was the theme of an address on conditions in Japan, given at the Brownsburg Rotary Club last week. The speaker, Mr. Katsushiro Narita, Overseas Representative of the Japanese Government, pointed out that, although outwardly Japan is a modern country, it has progressed slowly in the political sphere.

Tracing the development of his country, the speaker reminded his audience that until outside influence reached Japan at the end of the 19th century, she was indeed an ancient country. During the first part of the present century, however, Japan took on a modern outlook very rapidly. Her expanding industries led her in search of raw materials. This search, in turn, led her on several occasions into aggression with neighboring countries.

Mr. Narita stressed that a free Korea is essential to Japanese security, and pointed out that on four occasions Japan has fought for an independent Korea.

Dealing with modern conditions, the Japanese representative expressed gratitude concerning Canada's attitude toward the Japanese Peace Treaty. He showed how trade between Canada and Japan has grown in the past several years, and voiced the feeling that still closer co-operation is desirable.

Mr. Narita pointed out that Japan at present is in a state of economic instability. Her population is increasing by a million a year, the problem having been made more acute since her colonies were taken away from her. Besides the population problem, the lack of raw materials, the loss of her merchant fleet, and the crippled condition of her fishing fleet are all contributing to Japan's present economic plight.

The speaker reassured his audience that under the new educational system and the new constitution, there is little danger that the new Japan will fall into the hands of the military again. Mr. Narita is quite confident that his country will in the future experience better times, that the laborer will no longer be exploited, and that there will be a higher standard of living for all.

Installation of Officers, Annual Banquet Held By Morin Hts. Legion

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — The annual banquet and installation ceremony of Legion Branch 171, Morin Heights, took place at the Bellevue Hotel last week, when members and guests enjoyed a pleasant evening.

After the dinner, with Past-President E. J. Watchorn as chairman, toasts were pledged to "The King", by Comrade Carl Seale, and to "Our Guests", by Past-President E. W. Kneeland. Mayor Chas. D. Campbell, in replying to this toast, expressed the regrets of the Argenteuil M.L.A., Mr. W. M. Cottingham, who was unable to be present. Comrade Fred Muncey gave the toast to "Our Absent Comrades", which was honored in silence, and later he gave a resumé of the activities of the branch for the past year. The toast to "the Branch" was given by Comrade Edwin Holgate.

The chairman then introduced the installing officer, Comrade Alex Soloman, 1st vice-president of Provincial Command, and also the presenting officer, Comrade J. Gilbert, past-president of the St. Lambert Branch. At the installation, Comrade Soloman gave an inspiring address and then inducted the following officers for the ensuing year:

President, F. C. Cameron; 1st vice-president, E. W. Kneeland, 2nd vice-president, A. Basler.

Executive Committee — Comrades Kenneth Binns, P. Whalley, Fred Muncey, Edwin Holgate (who also represents the Trustees of the Branch).

Other members of the Committee were — Comrades J. W. Green, treasurer; A. Cooper, secretary; G. W. Seale, Sgt.-at-Arms; immediate past-president, E. J. Watchorn.

An innovation in these ceremonies was created with the installation of Mayor Chas. D. Campbell as the first Honorary Member of the Branch, and he was presented with his membership badge and card.

Comrade J. Gilbert then took over and among the items of entertainment was a Chinese Auction, which not only caused a great deal of amusement but netted an appreciable sum for the building fund. Dancing and other games occupied the remainder of the evening.

On Thursday the Legion hockey game with Shawbridge was a great success, and while the Morin Branch were losers to a better team, a very sporting event brought enjoyment to the good crowd that attended.

Gatineau LINES

Contributors to Prosperity – II

In a timbered area such as that served by Gatineau Power, it could be expected that many of the industries which developed in an expanding territory would be those which depend upon the forests for their major raw materials. Such is indeed the case, to a far greater extent than many who live right in the district realize.

The importance of big paper and pulp mills at Hull, Gatineau, St. Jerome and Mont Rolland is well known. Aside from them, scores of smaller industries which also depend upon Gatineau Power for their electricity employ hundreds of people and bring several millions of dollars a year into the district. Many of them have developed specialties which have won widespread markets.

There is, for instance, Val David Wood Products, manufacturing wooden pallets which are used with fork trucks for moving material in many parts of Canada. There is Modern Woodcraft Reg'd, at Rawdon, which does a big business in dimensional models and industrial patterns required in Montreal and Quebec. From Labelle, Walden Bobbins Ltd. ships spools and bobbins as far away as England and Mexico, while from St. Jovite Duro Lam & Co. send wallboard and table tops from coast to coast. Phaneuf Veneer and Plywood Reg'd sends a steady supply of veneer and boxes to the Montreal markets.

St. Jerome is another important centre of the wood products industry. Hardwood flooring from the Eagle Lumber Co. Ltd. goes to other parts of Canada, to Britain and to the United States. Wood mouldings from Laurentian Moulding go to all parts of Canada, as do the garden furniture, sash and doors of St. Jerome Furniture and Lumber. St. Jerome Woodcraft has established a reputation for toys and junior furniture, while all Canada is the market of the pulp mill of J. C. Wilson, and the sash and doors and building materials of Shawbridge Lumber.

Monaco Mfg. Co. Ltd. at St. Jerome manufactures wood furniture of high quality, and to the south Guild Furniture Inc. at Dorion turns out a complete range of home and office furniture which is later found in every part of Canada. Along the Ottawa River is the Singer Company at Thurso, while at Fassett, the saw, shim and dimension stock mill of R. L. Gale Forest Products is recognized as a fine example of a completely modern sawmill which ships much of its products to the United States.

These are only a few of the wood products enterprises in the thriving territory served by Gatineau Power. The full list would be long indeed, but the conclusion is clear. All are of considerable importance to the people they employ, to the community in which they operate, and to the power company of which they are good customers.

"— Many industries and commercial centres, now prosperous in our town, were not in existence 15 years ago.

"— 15 Years ago, in St. Jerusalem outside the limits of Lachute on the Montreal highway, there were very few buildings. Today, we see new streets, new and modern homes, garages, service stations and the finest golf and country club in Canada!

"— In 1937, Barron's field behind the Lachute High School on the North River shore, was only a pasture. Today, it is a good residential centre.

"—15 Years ago, Mountain View was not in existence. Today it is one of the most modern residential sections of our town.

"— In 1937 the space situated west of Hamford Street was known as Hammond's Farm. Today we have a new and prosperous parish called "Immaculée Conception" and the brand-new municipality of Ayersville; an attractive swimming pool, tennis courts, bowling greens, and an illuminated baseball park.

"— During the last 15 years, the number of stores in Lachute has nearly doubled. Many of them, mostly on Main Street, have been completely renovated.

"— 15 Years ago, we had only small, inadequate churches. Today, we have three new Catholic churches, a well known, well patronized shrine, and the Protestant churches have also been rebuilt and modernized.

"— In 1937 we had no hospital. Since that time, with the cooperation of the Ayers family, we have benefitted by a small but well equipped hospital. In the very near future, a new hospital, large and completely modern, will be offered to the people of Argenteuil.

"— 15 Years ago, we had only small, old-fashioned schools. Today, both French and English-speaking children benefit by the most modern schools that can be built, which will help to make our youngsters of today the well-educated professional, industrial and business men of tomorrow.

"— 15 Years ago, many of our welfare and social organizations were not in existence, or only about to start. Now we have the Lachute Chamber of Commerce (in existence five years); the Lions Club, the Lachute Legion branch (who built this beautiful hall), as well as many youth, recreational and sports organizations, doing their great share to make Lachute a better place in which to live.

Future Development

Lachute is very happily situated, half-way between Montreal and Ottawa, at the foothills of the Laurentians. It is traversed by the picturesque North River. This centre is an excellent spot for tourists and every effort should be made to bring more tourists to visit Lachute, our beautiful lakes and the historic village of Carillon, situated only a few miles from here.

Lachute has the widest and finest Main Street of any town in Canada — our Main Street has parking accommodation, without difficulty, for 240 cars. . . Even though we have a lot of space on Main Street, on week-ends, and especially Friday night, practically all available space is taken up. This is partially the fault of our local business men, and our Chief of Police has suggested that store owners place their cars or trucks in their own back yards, so as to leave as much parking space as possible for customers.

The good understanding of our mixed population is an example to the rest of the country, if not the rest of the world.

Industries

There is also space for new industries, and in this regard the Provincial Government will play its part in assisting you, in every way possible. There is also a Department of Trade and Commerce in Montreal and New York, where leads may be obtained, and information procured for new contacts.

Our electricity and power rates are lower than in many towns of the same population. Waterworks improvements are in hand. Land is available for new industries. Municipal taxes are easily comparable with other towns. Police and fire protection are very adequate. We have good railway and highway services . . and it is safe to say that our population could be doubled without difficulty.

Commerce

Lachute could easily develop its retail trade still further. Merchants should see that they do not sell at higher prices than other towns in the district. They should also have a good selection of merchandise. They should make sales at different times of the year, to avoid local consumers having to shop elsewhere and to bring shoppers from outside to Lachute.

Co-operation

Every professional, industrial and business man should co-operate with the governmental, municipal authorities and the Chamber of Commerce to help the future industrial and commercial development of Lachute.

Most of these suggestions were enlarged on by Mr. Cottingham, who convinced his audience that Lachute would grow and develop if every citizen would do his share in its progress.

The speaker was thanked by Gordon McOuat.

UNESCO Study of Farm Radio Forum

It's nothing new for National Farm Radio Forum to be recognized in other countries as a prototype for group activity to help the farmer with his problems. Now in its 12th season, the Forum has gained fame right around the world; and in recent years enquiries about it have been received from India, Sweden, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, Denmark, France, Argentina, Hong Kong and Switzerland — in some cases resulting in similar projects being launched abroad.

The latest developments promise to bring the Forum — the world's largest listening-group program of its kind—to the attention of adult educationists in many additional parts of the world. For one thing, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization has begun an intensive study of the Forum organization, with a view to extending it to other lands; for another, the Forum technique, as developed in Canada, is being publicized in Ceylon and may soon be used in South-east Asia as a means of implementing rehabilitation plans in that area.

Canada was given an unusual honor recently, at the last General Council meeting of UNESCO in Paris, when representatives of 30 nations approved a grant for studying Farm Forum. It is their hope that, through this project, the Canadian organization may become a model for educational work carried out with the help of radio in many countries. Visitors from 24 European and Asiatic countries have come to Canada recently to observe the Forum and the UNESCO study will eventually provide detailed information about it to interested people everywhere.

The study is expected to take 15 months. It will be carried out with the help of outstanding social scientists in Canada and the United States, who are currently being selected for the project.

Those Classroom Yardsticks

MODERN progress has its wonders, meaning the dictionary definition of wonder as "emotion excited by what surpasses expectation or experience or seems inexplicable." . . .

According to one of our Toronto observers, emotion was certainly aroused by the new style public school report cards which appeared in that city recently (subject of a recent commentary by our Watchman scribe, M. V. Trayers.)

This system has been in use previously in parts of Western Canada and the United States. On the report card, the pupil up to Grade VIII is marked merely one of three things — outstanding, satisfactory, or unsatisfactory — according to how the teacher regards the child's efforts to learn.

Percentage marks showing the pupil's standing in each subject are dropped, and with them go the long-cherished class standings. Toronto's public school superintendent, Z. S. Phimister, told school trustees the old cards were obsolete. The superior scholar with a mark of 70 might actually be loafing, while the poor kid with a mark of 40 might be working his head off.

After the mid-term examinations these new cards were taken home by unsuspecting children, provoking among parents something of the feeling you'd expect in a place where a bomb has been dropped and failed to go off. "O.S.U." quickly became as well known as U.N. or C.O.D.

The idea is to remove the spirit of competition in the lower grades. Mr. Phimister for instance said that urging a young child into active competition with another of his own age, but of greatly superior talent, was like urging a Clydesdale to take the jumps with a real steeplechaser.

Other proponents of the change argue that very young children should not be subjected to such direct competition; that little Mary or Johnny should not be saddled with the weight of woe that a low percentage mark brings to some children.

Those opposed to the new cards answer, what's wrong with competition anyway? No matter when they start, they all find out sooner or later that all life is a competition.

Question is, at what age should they have to start measuring their progress against others?

Wanted -- More People

THAT Canada needs more people, few will dispute. We have vast empty spaces, even vaster spaces sparsely settled, great natural resources as yet undeveloped, a way of life that is second to none. We have so much and there are so many millions of people in the world who have so little.

Last year the largest number of immigrants in years reached our shores. Contrary to dire predictions we have absorbed these new Canadians. There has been no increase in unemployment as a result of their coming. Native-born Canadians have not lost jobs to them except in isolated instances. Instead this flow of new people to Canada has helped to develop new jobs benefitting native and new Canadians alike.

More new Canadians mean a larger domestic market for our goods. More people with more skills and ideas will help us to develop our resources and to carry the burden of overhead necessary to run the country. We have roads and railways and government ample for a much larger population than the fourteen million Canadians who live in this great land.

We must bring more and more people, suitable people, to Canada and share with them all the benefits of our nation. We must, too, do what we can to make the newcomers good, loyal Canadians in the shortest possible time.

If Canada is to fulfill her destiny, more people are needed. We must open our gates a little wider to make it possible for them to come to dwell with us.

"Just A Line to Let You Know . . "

HOW THE news gets around! . , "To let you know we heard of your isolation", says a note scribbled on a clipping from a Toronto newspaper of November 8, 1951. The date is of recent memory, but strangely, the experience completely slips our recollection. . . . Here's the story:

> Montreal, Nov. 7 — All communications with Lachute, Que., 25 miles west of here, were down tonight. A report that Lachute residents were marooned by flood waters could not be confirmed. . . St. Hermas, 20 miles from Lachute, was the last point of contact. Attempts by amateur radio operators to bridge the gap from there failed. A Canadian Pacific Railway spokesman said that trains were still operating along the line, but no contact could be established with the station master. Train crews reported they knew nothing about the situation".

— Neither did we. If any reader heard about that flood, please let us know.

The Churchill Cigar

"LEGEND relates that Churchill is a glutton, and malice repeats that he drinks overmuch", observes Alastair Forbes, old friend of the Churchill family, in a Reader's Digest article condensed from New York Times Magazine. "But nothing could be further from the truth. He keeps a good table, nothing more. Champagne has long been his staple beverage. He once asked his statistician friend, Lord Cherwell, to figure how many carloads of champagne he had drunk in his lifetime and was quite disappointed to learn it could all be drawn by one locomotive.

"After a meal, Churchill, like most Europeans, likes to drink brandy. During the day he often has a Scotch and soda beside him. But they are the weakest Scotches ever poured off the stage, and Churchill sips them so slowly that he will often be nursing the same glass for hours. Teetotalers always come away shocked to see whisky where they expect to find tea. The fact is that Churchill is fond of teasing such people.

"His consumption of cigars is anything up to 15 a day. But he scarcely inhales at all. He may take half an hour to light one, using the often-struck matches and the cigar together to orchestrate the gestures of his conversation. He has a strong sense of duty toward his fans and whenever there is a sizeable crowd he will light a cigar because, as he says, 'they expect it'."

CAMROSE Canadian: We are being bombarded day by day with the argument that hunger will generate the ideology of Communism, as against that of democracy. But did you ever hear of the Communists feeding the starving millions of the world? . . . Even China got millions in relief from the democracies, then turned around, confiscated their property and kicked them out. It is good to hear of the Chinese getting educated under Stalin's rules.

Have You A Question
ON
UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. There is a ceiling of $4,800 for contribution purposes for salaried employees, but if a person is paid by the hour, he can go far beyond this and still be insurable. Why?

* * *

A. Persons paid at an hourly, daily, piece or mileage rate are insurable regardless of the amount of their earnings, while a ceiling of $4,800 applies to salaried employees. Generally speaking, employees on salary have employment of a more continuous and regular nature and are not subject to intermittent unemployment because of bad weather, shortage of materials, etc. Employees on fixed salaries exceeding $4,800 a year are considered to have little need of insurance against unemployment. Further, the earnings of hourly rated employees vary greatly due to overtime, broken time and other employment conditions and it is more difficult to predetermine what total annual earnings will be. This would apply, for example, to tradesmen in the building and construction industries. Their earnings might be abnormally high one year and low the next due to broken time, with the result that they would be moving in and out of the insured classes. It is thought that the only method of providing the best protection for this type of worker is to make them insurable regardless of the wage ceiling.

COMPLICATED PROBLEM

All this turmoil and commotion (about price-fixing) appears to indicate that nobody knows all the answers for sure and, obviously, that the practice must have good effects for some and evil for others. — Indian Head News

The Amateur Plumber

Why does a water-pipe burst without warning at 4.10 a.m. on a cold Sunday morning? It never could happen at noon on a Monday, but only at 4.10 a.m. on a Sunday. To shut off the water's the primary goal — the valve that controls it is under the coal, and when it's located you're pretty near drowned while stuff in the cellar starts floating around.

And why does a leak appear next to the wall, or some place where you cannot see it at all? I'd much rather have one that squirts in my face than one in a most inaccessible place — like inside the furnace — I had one last week and had to try somehow to plug up the leak. I fried my left arm from the fingers to forearm. (That's why I am walking around with a sore arm), I made the hole bigger and put out the fire. Thick clouds of live steam rose up higher and higher. I had it repaired by the following night. The house had cooled off and my clothes were a sight.

This happens in winter, but never in summer, and just at a time when you can't get a plumber. It wasn't on Tuesday, nor Friday, nor Monday, but 4.10 a.m. — yes, of course — on a Sunday!

Be seein' ya!

CHURCH LOOTING IN EGYPT

London — On January 4 a riotous mob attacked the main Coptic Church in the town of Suez. The church was looted and the interior almost completely destroyed. The caretaker was killed and his body was dragged through the streets and burned. Later a loudspeaker van toured the street claiming that the incident was "British inspired". British service authorities in the Canal Zone report that at no time were any British troops involved or anywhere near the scene of the incident, which is remote from the existing areas of disturbance.

Egyptian responsibility is, perhaps, admitted in that the Egyptian Cabinet has opened a credit of £5,000 ($15,000) to repair the church. Despite Egyptian attempts to suppress the whole story, the Coptic patriarch announced that all Christmas festivities by the Coptic community would be cancelled "in mourning for the event in the Canal Zone".

Big Expansion Program In Electric Blasting Cap Section of B'burg C-I-L

(Special to The Watchman)

Brownsburg, Jan. 23 — A $250-,000 expansion program in the Electric Blasting Cap section of the Brownsburg Works of Canadian Industries Limited has been announced by Harris M. Sherwood, Works Manager.

The program will mean the eventual employment of some 100 additional employees and more than double the present production capacity for Short-Period caps, and will make substantial increases to production capacity for other types. The equipment required is being installed in existing buildings.

The expansion has been made necessary by increased demand for Short-Period caps, which have gained wide acceptance among Canadian blasting engineers since they were introduced in 1949. Developed in Canada by C-I-L engineers working in Brownsburg, their use permits the application of a new blasting technique. This technique reduces concussion, vibration, backbreak and overbreak, and improves fragmentation and control of flyrock, enabling engineers to conduct blasting operations on a previously impossible scale in confined, built-up areas such as cities and towns.

Women's Institute Scholarship Awards

The annual awards given by the Quebec Women's Institutes at Macdonald College were presented at the College assembly last evening, January 23. The presentations were made by the provincial president, Mrs. G. E. LeBaron.

Two scholarships of $50 each are awarded in any one of the first three years of the B.Sc. (H.Ec.) course to students from rural districts of this province. The first of these, the Macfarlane Memorial, established many years ago in honor of the first Q.W.I. demonstrator, was won this year by Miss Marion I. Gilbert, Bishopton. Miss Margaret H. Dickson, Ormstown, was the first winner of the other scholarship, the newly formed Mrs. Alfred Watt Memorial, which perpetuates the memory of the Canadian woman who took the Institute to Great Britain and later became the first president of the Associated Country Women of the World. A bursary of $50 is also given to the student with highest standing in the first year of the Diploma Course in Agriculture who is the son of a farmer residing in Quebec. This was earned by Mr. K. R. Steinbach, Mansonville.

Mrs. LeBaron, in presenting the awards, congratulated these young people; she felt assured the qualifications which had won them these honors would ensure them continued success both in their school life and the larger field of service to follow.

400 Years Old, Curling Is 'Scotland's Ain Game'

"What have I done?" moaned the Minister.

"I'll tell ye what you've done, Doctor", answered his humble parishioner. "You've sent us all to the devil!"

In Scotland of all places, and three-quarters of a century ago, the idea of such a remark being shouted in a loud voice and in public to a clergyman may seem extraordinary, yet it actually was shouted to the Reverend Doctor John Cook of Bathgate. However, nobody took the slightest notice — because the scene was the curling rink, the parishioner was the 'skip' and the Minister was simply one of his men who had made a bad shot.

Curling is somewhat like an ice version of bowls, though such a description is hardly fair to curling. It bows to no game in its claims to antiquity and it is, in fact, known as 'Scotland's ain game'.

At first glance, this ice sport, which does not require skates, looks simple enough. But to play it well is quite another matter!

The aim is to slide large stones at a fixed tee which stands in a circle 38 yards away, and the curler delivers his shot from a 'crampit' — a narrow sheet of metal fixed to the ice — or from a 'back' — this being a smaller plate for the foot.

Teams are four-aside, each with a 'skip' and the skip's word is absolute law on all points relating to tactics. Players curl from each end of the rink in turn, a 'head' being completed when each men has delivered two stones. A game is decided either by so many heads or shots, or by the score within a certain time limit.

The 'brooms' or 'besoms' which figure so prominently in curling are very important. The sweeping or 'sooping' of the ice ahead of the running stone — without actually touching it — is done under the direction of the 'skip', and skilfully done it can add as much as eight yards to the run.

Many Changes

Nobody knows how curling originated, but it is probably at least 400 years old. About 150 years ago, when writing the first account of curling, the Reverend John Ramsay tried to prove that it was of Dutch or German origin. His theories were investigated, but no trace of any game sufficiently like curling could be found in any other country. So it can reasonably be regarded as certain that 'Scotland's ain game' is of pure Scottish descent.

There have been changes, of course, through the centuries, chiefly in the weight of the stones used. At first the stones were very light. Then they became heavier and heavier, until stones of 115 lbs. or over were being used, and the game had become simply a test of strength.

In 1838? however, curling acquired a real governing body with the formation of the Grand Caledonian Curling Club. Various regulations were drawn up, including the limiting of the stones to, first, 50 lbs. and later to 44 lbs. Nowadays, stones generally vary between 34 and 42 lbs.

The Grand Curling Club still exists, but today it is known as the Royal Club, and the story behind the change of name is interesting.

In 1842 Queen Victoria and Prince Albert were in Scotland and they watched a demonstration of curling, not on ice, but on the polished floor of the drawing-room of Scone Palace. The Prince Consort immediately became a patron of the club, which thereupon took the title of Royal.

This was not actually the first contact between curling and Royalty. Several Stuart kings, especially James IV, were curlers, as was the unfortunate Lord Darnley, husband of Mary Queen of Scots and father of James I of England.

Curling shared with golf and archery the distinction of being one of Scotland's three original sports; and it escaped the fate of golf and football when those games were banned by the Scottish Parliament of 1457 because they were 'unprofitable' and interfered with archery practice, so necessary for 'self-defence against the English'!

Clergymen have always been prominent in curling history. In 1638 George Graham, Bishop of Orkney, was charged before the General Assembly with 'being a curler on the ice on the Sabbath'. Incidentally, an old Scottish family, the Drummonds of Carlowrie, has a crest described at "a dexter hand holding a curling stone, with the motto 'have at all'."

Satisfying Review at Congregational Meeting Of B'burg United Church

Brownsburg — Reports presented at the United Church annual congregational meeting last week showed that the church had one of the best years in its history. The Stewards, with some additions, and other officers, were re-elected by unanimous decision, while the Session report given by the minister indicated a steady growth in membership and an increase in baptisms and marriages over the previous year. The individual givings of the people also showed a marked advance, while the co-operation and support of the various organizations received fitting recognition. The new organ fund was found to be well in hand, and the organ has proved a great asset in the church services.

With the Sunday School promotion exercises on Sunday morning, January 13, and the installation of officers of the various women's organizations last Sunday morning, the church launched upon another year of promise, anticipation and good will.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES — YEAR BOOK AND CALENDAR

During the year 1951, in 121 lands, over 442,000 persons engaged in the most important work on the face of the earth today — acting as ambassadors of the most high and almighty God, Jehovah. Their ministerial work of serving mankind with a message of hope from God's Word has been carried on among all kinds of men, rich and poor, and in every imaginable circumstance, from the huts of the jungles to the luxurious apartments of the great cities of the world. An account of this ministerial work and the good accomplished has been compiled, and is found in the 1952 "Yearbook of Jehovah's Witnesses". Included in this volume are Bible texts for every day in the year with appropriate comments on them taken from the "Watchtower" magazine. A 1952 Calendar, specially prepared for those interested in the spread and advancement of the knowledge of God's Word throughout the earth, is also available. The "Yearbook" will be sent on a contribution of 50 cents, and calendars are 25 cents each, or 20 cents each if 5 or more calendars are sent to one address. — Write 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto. -1c

Meditation on Annual Meetings and The Story of the Versatile Plumber

"EXILE FROM SUNNYACRES"
— By Margaret Cook —

As we write, January is bleeding its life away in watery drops; they course down the window-panes, leaving a path through the dust, to fall into the greyish fluff that passes for snow in the city.

Never a favorite with the writer, January has lived up to our dismal foreboding. This is the month when annual meetings are in full flower. Mrs. Brown's term is up and she is succeeded by Mrs. Black, who is visibly bursting with new ideas, but, lo, in a few months she, too, falls a victim to the "system" and we all settle back in our chairs to endure, as best we can, the familiar sessions. . We are not, the reader will perceive, a club-woman. Without being a Puritan, we feel that all problems are soluble in the light of and the application of Christian principles as expounded by the Founder, and very little organization is necessary for their execution. The solution of juvenile delinquency, for instance, lies not in more and better clubs, but in the home. "Bring up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it", still seems good and sensible advice.

So January departs with few happy memories for us—although there was the day when, from the kitchen window, we saw the great elm trees at the back limned in frost against the azure bowl of the sky, a gargantuan bit of Wedgewood. At such times we see, in the mind's eye, the grove behind the house at Sunnyacres and then "our heart with pleasure fills". . .

After this whimsical entry, let me tell you about Beauvais. We first met him in our bathroom, during the plumbing episode last Autumn. There he stood, young, ruddy and blue-eyed, a shock of red hair topping his beaming face. The general impression was Tudor; just such a man must have been the young Henry VIII. As a plumber he was a shock, not only in appearance but also in execution, for it soon became evident that he knew nothing of the mechanics of plumbing; but brawn and good-humor made up for lack of skill. The tedious moments of waiting for parts invariably left at the shop, were beguiled by domestic anecdotes. Thus, we learned that Beauvais was married and the father of a little girl of 20 months, whose arm had been broken during a playful half-hour with father; that he worked at a large suburban plant on the night shift; that he had a whole day and two nights free each week which he did not waste in sleep, but hired himself out as opportunity presented. Plumbing, we heard, was not his favorite avocation, but it paid well. Our feeling for this versatile worker grew from interested amusement to downright gratitude, when he volunteered to wash the kitchen floor one Saturday afternoon when the week's plumbing had left a fine, white dust over everything. We parted on excellent terms, but not forever. . . Let us digress here to say our weakness is taxis. Some women cannot resist chocolates, some are suckers for sales, others with the requisite physical attributes find men irresistible—but I, Margaret Cook, find my chief temptation in taxis. Fidelity being another facet of my nature, it is my custom to call the same taxi company when occasion demands transportation. Thus, in the dusk last week, I was not unduly surprised to be greeted by the driver with solicitous queries as to the state of my health, but when the questions turned to the state of the water-pipes, I was moved to look more carefully at the driver, and there, under the prescribed cap, was the glowing face of the Tudor plumber! This month, he had turned to driving. "One sits down on this job", he confided. "Also", he added, "this way, I make $125 a week". Again we parted on the best of terms and I, at least, feel it was not forever. Always now, I shall be peering under caps for Beauvais' beaming face.

That's the story. There is no moral, unless you care to invent one. But I shall venture to prophesy: In two or three years Beauvais will own a snug little home; five years after that, he will own another house and proceed to rent it. After that, the world will be his oyster, that is, as much of the world as he is interested in. . . I see that I have forgotten to mention that Beauvais is an accomplished cook, having served as chef to an officers' mess during the war.

Before we leave the subject of taxis, let us record that, in this suburb, the driver keeps 35% of the fare. At this rate, the drivers find that they must, once a week, work a continuous 36 hours in order to make a living. This plan insures one night's driving, always the most profitable time. As an aside, it pays — otherwise, not.

"A very dull article", we can hear Amos say. Here's a bit of agricultural logic for him and other farmers:

Small Boy to Farmer: "Why didn't you milk Daisy?"
Farmer: "She's dried up".
Small Boy: "When she's dried up, does she give Kilm?"

This isn't fiction, but fact, the logician being a small Westmounter of our acquaintance.

B'burg and Terrebonne Tie in Senior Hockey

L'ORIGNAL DEFEATS B'BURG IN QUE.-ONTARIO LEAGUE

Brownsburg Bombers were night flying without benefit of the Nordic bombsight for two periods and well on to the third and final session, Friday night at the local arena. There were a lot of near-misses but no score registered in their favor until an all-out effort in the last ten minutes saw them turn a three-goal deficit into a tie. Terrebonne had a well balanced team, staging well planned plays. Their sharpshooters found the net once in each session, but their persistent efforts were frustrated time and again by excellent goaling rather than a sound Brownsburg defence, which was spotty at times. At the other end, the Terrebonne goal-tender was brilliant, nullifying every effort to cross his line. Brownsburg had most shots on goal, but not until the closing minutes could they solve the problem of putting one in the net. The score stood at 3-0 when Brownsburg first scored. Two more tallies in quick succession tied up the count just as the game ended.

The game was called for 8.30 and got under way at 9.45. There was a good crowd in attendance, and there was a good game to watch; but if this league expects to foster the game and promote interest, it will have to learn a little more about punctuality. . . The final whistle at 11.45 — Terrebonne 3, Brownsburg 3.

Week's Schedule

The schedule for this league holds two engagements for the Brownsburg arena this coming week — Ste. Agathe playing here tomorrow (Friday) and Terrebonne, also on the local ice, Sunday, 27th. . . Brownsburg is due at Ste. Agathe next Wednesday.

Brownsburg vs. L'Orignal

Brownsburg Juniors, who moved into a senior loop to find competition worth their metal, found it in the Ontario-Quebec League. And in L'Orignal they found a team that was faster, heavier, and more experienced. Nevertheless the boys gave a good account of themselves.

There was a tendency to rough play. Possibly the exasperation due to such superior weight and play power, aroused tempers begotten of frustration. The remedy does not lie in this direction, and the boys would be well advised to take their medicine gracefully, and play hockey. Speed can overcome weight and no player can help his team by sitting in the penalty box. As usual when the kids are on the ice, they give all they have, and the play is interesting and at times exciting to watch. Lack of experience is at a discount and good coaching is needed, but a great improvement in play is becoming evident with each game.

Play was delayed slightly by an accident to Harry Moseley before the game got under way. He was absent from further play. In the final period Ouellette crashed into the boards and injured his shoulder. L'Orignal scored the first tally five minutes after the start, and three minutes later repeated. Brownsburg replied just as the session ended and there were no further scores, the final two periods being blank. John Duncan had charge of the whistle and was as usual competent and expeditious. — L'Orignal 2, Brownsburg 1.

B'burg Again Tops Lachute In Basketball Tilt

Showing the form which has placed them at the top of the local basketball circuit, Brownsburg galloped to a 50-27 victory over the second-place Lachute team in a rough, wide-open basketball game at Brownsburg last Thursday evening.

The 'Burg team showed superiority in almost every department of the game, and the Lachute Teachers could not cope with the potent Brownsburg attack.

Player-coach G. McCormack, of the 'Burg, again led all scorers with 17 points; next was A. Bond, of Lachute, with 12 points. B. Cribb and G. Towell each had 7 for the 'Burg, while R. Burton scored 5 for Lachute. The game was quite rough, and tempers threatened to flare on several occasions. Tonight's games will see Alexandria visiting Lachute, while Brownsburg plays host to Hawkesbury.

At Brownsburg Council

Councillor N. Somers said he was not sold on the change. . . "But we will never be satisfied till we try it. You can't count the use of our truck in to the cost, because we have to keep the truck working anyway."

On the motion of Councillor Carriere, seconded by Councillor Ball, the tender of Pierre Roy at $2,500 a year was accepted. It was decided to suspend the Monday business collection and to have the terms embodied in a legal contract, with adequate provisions for public liability insurance.

Caretaker at Chlorinator

Councillor Ouellette informed the meeting that Aldege Neveu, caretaker of the chlorinator, wanted a raise in salary of $10 per week.

Mayor: "We will give no raise; we can do that with our own men and save $500."

Coun. Lavoie: "What are we going to do with what we save? Reduce the taxes, or build something? We got caught with 'lowest tenders' and false economy before."

Mayor: "We can use a little money besides wasting it."

Coun. Somers: "If you think you can save by giving out the garbage collecting to tender, why not give out the chlorinator caretakership? Last week you wanted to give it to the Police Chief. I am not so sure he can do the job he has. We had a lot of trouble with our men doing this chlorinator work, and now when a person can take a drink of water in confidence that it is pure and germ-free, I am loath to make any experiments."

Mayor: "With the garbage out of the way, the men will have time to do this work, and a lot more work too. Give me the men and I'll see the work is done."

Coun. Lavoie: "'Give us the tools and we'll finish the job' — but you might run out of tools." At this stage sparks began to fly in a heated interchange among Councillors Lavoie, Carriere and the Mayor, with Councillor Somers recording a long contribution on the merits of a special caretaker handling the job, winding up with a motion to increase the caretaker's salary by $100 a year.

Mayor: "I'm not going to give him an increase."

Coun. Somers: "There is a motion before the meeting."

Coun. Ouellette: "And I'll second it."

The motion was carried and the incident closed. The matter of appointing a foreman was adjourned, with the meeting.

Like the Premier!

Councillor Ouellette produced a large photo of the Brownsburg Council in session, which had been taken at the last meeting. The picture was favorably commented upon — the Mayor remarking that Councillor Carriere bore a striking resemblance to Premier Duplessis —the other councillors concurring.

Chicken Gets 'New Look'

In these days of modernizing and streamlining, even the chicken gets the new look! The small chicken in the shops today has been raised on special feeds to produce the most tender and meaty bird in as short a time, and at as small a cost, as possible. These light-weights, most of them under 12 weeks of age, weigh an average of two and a quarter pounds eviscerated, and are available all year. They may be purchased either whole or cut-up. There are two ways of buying cut-up chicken — all the cuts of the bird together in one package, or each cut, such as the breast and legs, separately. This is ideal for a small family as they can buy just as much or as little as they need, and favorite parts may be selected. The breast and legs are naturally higher priced than the whole ready-to-cook bird, while the back, neck and wings sell for less per pound. The cheaper cuts are economical for fricassees and soup.

The light-weight chickens are dressed, eviscerated, and delivered to the market as quickly as possible to keep them fresh. The housewife should use the birds within a day or two after buying. They should be kept in the refrigerator until cooked.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, have tested cooking methods for these young birds, and find them a pleasant, tasty change from everyday meals. They recommend fried chicken as excellent party fare, or just as a special family treat. The whole eviscerated chicken may be bought and cut up in the home, or the ready-to-cook cut-ups may be used. Since sometimes parts of the lungs and windpipe may not be completely removed, the pieces should be thoroughly cleaned and wiped. If necessary, use scissors to cut through any parts not well divided. Coat the pieces with flour, salt, pepper and a little paprika. The paprika helps in the browning. An easy way to do this it to put the coating mixture in a bag and shake the chicken in it, several pieces at a time. Heat ½-inch of fat in a heavy frying pan. Never allow the fat to reach the smoking point — it is hot enough when a bread cube browns in 30 seconds. Carefully place the chicken pieces in the hot fat and brown on both sides, turning with tongs. Be extremely careful in turning the pieces, for the hot fat has a tendency to splatter, and may cause a bad burn. When the chicken is well browned, cover and cook for 25 to 30 minutes. The boney neck and back pieces, which do not require as much cooking, may be removed after about 20 minutes. If the chicken is not crisp enough, cook it uncovered for about five minutes. As an alternative method of cooking the chicken, after browning the pieces may be transferred to a shallow uncovered pan and baked in a moderate oven of 350°F., for 20 to 25 minutes.

An excellent way to prepare chicken cut-ups with a minimum of work is to bake them entirely in the oven. Cover the bottom of the pan with fat, then place the coated pieces in the pan, skin side up, and bake for one to one and a quarter hours at a temperature of 350°F. Baste every 15 minutes with melted fat. If the chicken is not well browned, the broiling unit may be turned on for a few minutes.

The home economists found that the whole chicken was deliciously tender when roasted. To prepare the bird for roasting, clean and wipe with a damp cloth, or wash thoroughly by allowing a strong stream of water to run through the body cavity. Dry well. Salt the inside of the bird, and stuff with a favorite dressing, preferably one that is not too highly seasoned. Allow about three cups of dressing for a two pound bird. Do not pack the bdy cavities too tightly, as the dressing will swell up when cooked, but fill the neck opening sufficiently to give the bird a plump appearance. Close the openings and truss. Rub melted fat on the skin of the chicken, and place breast side down on a rack or crossed skewers in an uncovered roasting pan. Add no water, but baste frequently. Roast at 375°F., a slightly higher temperature than is usually recommended for mature birds, allowing approximately 50 minutes per pound. Turn breast side up when half done. If birds are very small, two may be roasted together and served at once.

About Home Freezers

A suggestion that an industry-wide trade practice conference be instituted by U.S. Federal Trade Commission to develop some acceptable and well defined limitations on advertising claims for capacities and freezing abilities of home freezers, was recently made by Robert L. Madeira, executive secretary of the National Frozen Food Locker Institute.

Madeira offered the suggestion to Charles Sweeney, of the Division of Investigation, Bureau of Anti-Deceptive Practices, at Washington.

Today thousands of food locker plants are supplying food and services to hosts of new home-freezer owners. Many locker plants are actively promoting the sale of home freezers, and the industry is consequently concerned that the public should understand the capacity and capabilities of these devices.

"Many a consumer, disillusioned by his inability to enjoy the benefits that he expected as a result of this (misleading) advertising, has given up (on frozen foods) as a result", says a letter to the U.S. Federal Trade Commission from the Executive Secretary of the National Frozen Food Locker Institute — a letter which has the full support of the local locker operators (Food Lockers Ltd., of Lachute) and of the Quebec Frosted Food Locker Association.

"In discussing the matter recently with Charles Sweeney, of the Bureau of Anti-Deceptive Practices, the question was raised as to what is being done about it. . . . The suggestion was advanced that an Industry Trade Practice Conference be instituted by the commission for the purpose of developing some acceptable and well-defined limitations on the points in question.

"For example, a definite number of pounds of food per cubic foot should be agreed upon by the industry members participating in such a conference, which could then constitute the standard which each home freezer manufacturer could use as his guide in advertising his freezer storage capacity.

"The National Frozen Food Locker Institute will gladly do all in its power to assist in correcting these misunderstandings."

Art and the Home

— By D. C. Muller

What represents good value and getting the most for your money is a disputable point and one which will often lead to difficulties, as tastes vary from one person to another. Yet when the subject is things for the home, we will all agree that they should be the best that we can afford. This point too often leads the way toward disputes, because it depends upon the manufacturer which articles he will produce and which will net him a better income. This, too, depends upon the consumers, as to what they will buy and what they won't.

Last Autumn, the wholesale houses which supply the gift and furniture stores with their wares, held a convention at the Mount Royal Hotel. To this convention came most of the shop-owners, to look over the new merchandise and to plan their Christmas program, what they would carry, what they would sell, and to prepare their 1952 displays. It was a tremendous undertaking and both floors of exhibits were jammed. I browsed around from counter to counter, looking and making notes on the new designs. There was very little which was new, but there were a great many copies and replicas of somebody's original idea. Originality was definitely lacking. The percentage of Japanese imports was very high. The companies like to handle this because the cost is low and the profit high. This they crowd, or try to crowd, into gift shops so that your selections will be limited and you will be forced to buy these products. Advertisements do a lot of this, and announcements too. There is no representation for your money.

Let us compare a good quality figurine to a Japanese import, of the type featured. The one increases in value as the years go on, and if you ever want to sell it you will get something back — whereas in the other product, it wasn't worth anything to begin with. In the first, too, you have a quality of workmanship and an article to be proud of. These will form the antiques of the future — whereas the others show only a high profit to the importer.

In criticizing Japanese wares, however, let me qualify this a bit — some examples are really good, but they are rare and usually very highly priced. Japan has produced some very beautiful things and some are on exhibit in Art museums all over the world, but generally the products for export are made cheaply—they are cheap, and of little value, but have a high profit appeal.

Wit is the salt of conversation, not the food. — William Hazlitt

Discover the locker way of living! You, who have not used locker service, may have wondered at the remarkable enthusiasm of locker customers. They tell of savings up to 20% on meats — of the marvelous way quick-freezing retains the original color and nutrition of foods —of how easy it is to freeze fruits and vegetables—of how the locker plant processes meat for you cheapest and best—of the convenience of having a wide variety of frozen foods always on hand.

This same story is being told by six million American families who wouldn't be without locker service. You owe it to yourself and your family to investigate the blessing of a frozen food locker.

Feeding the Birds

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"The first pet I can remember was a blue jay", Jack Miner writes in his fascinating autobiography, "Jack Miner and the Birds". He was eager to keep his pet alive, but unfortunately he didn't follow the right diet. Although he stuffed him with fish worms, Jack Miner admitted that "the next morning the blue was there, but the jay was silent."

Countless boys and girls have tried to make a pet of a wild bird but most of them have had more success with feeding the grown birds and leaving the care of the fledglings to their parents.

Throughout the spring and summer when they sing in the early mornings with such abandon, and in the Autumn when many of them gather to migrate to the South, birds are a never ceasing source of interest.

"I'm glad to feed the birds in the winter time", one bird watcher said enthusiastically, "they give me so much happiness that I am just repaying a little of the debt I owe to them."

It is true that birds have existed for centuries without much help from man. Some species, such as the whooping crane, have become almost extinct because of the ruthless killing by hunters. But during the long winter months in a climate like ours, especially after a heavy snow fall or an ice storm which forms a glazed covering on the trees and the ground, birds are often kept alive by providing food for them. It is hunger and not cold which kills many of our songsters.

On snowy days birds search for weed seeds and bushes with berries. A sunflower head, a few rows of wheat or stalks of corn with cobs are real treasure to the hungry feathered folk.

There are quite a number of people who throw a few crumbs on the ground after a snow or ice storm. But if this is only a spasmodic gesture, the birds cannot depend on the food supply. Feeding the birds faithfully is a rewarding leisure-time family project.

A wooden plank fastened firmly to form an extended window-ledge shelf is often used. Additional shelter at one end from the prevailing winds and a slanting roof erected to keep the snow off the food. A branch or two of pine or spruce in front of the shelf also provides some shelter. The birds like to light on a limb before eating. A thin glass curtain prevents the birds flying away in alarm when someone comes to the window to watch.

Sometimes a square feeding box with glass on three sides (so that the birds have shelter from the wind and can also be observed) is swung by stout wires from a sturdy branch of a tree. This can also be placed on a wooden post. A deep metal band on the trunk of the tree or around the post will discourage cats. This can be shaped in the form of a funnel with the edge slanting downwards.

Avoid metal trays or dishes if you want to feed birds in zero weather. Sometimes the poor bird's wet feet will freeze to the wire mesh of a soap container as he struggles to remove the suet.

Keep the feeding place as rustic as possible. Shy birds are wary of brightly painted wood. Woodpeckers, nuthatches, and chickadees are all glad to work hard to obtain the suet rubbed on the rough bark of a tree. Holes can be bored in a stump with the bark on it and these filled with melted grease.

An empty dried half of a grapefruit skin makes a handy container for melted grease. A food hopper can be constructed by punching holes along the upper edge of an open can, filling it with corn or rye or oats, and then inverting over a large wooden dish. This can be arranged so that the food will gradually drop down and flow out of the holes. All kinds of scraps of food from the kitchen — crumbs, bits of cereal or fruit such as apple cores, bits of dried meat, nuts and scrapings of peanut butter, are quickly consumed.

Birds like drinking water in the winter. It quickly freezes and so it is well to put warm water out in a wooden bowl. In the summer time the birds can forage for food. But a little food and water supplied regularly at the feeding station attracts the feathered folk. The parent birds will sometimes be observed showing their young ones their feeding place in the mid-summer.

In the warmer months, the bucket or pail with a small hole in the bottom, filled with water and suspended over a large shallow dish such as the cover for a big garbage can, attracts the birds. Place gravel in the dish and watch how this running water acts as a magnet!

Events on Program for Morin Hts. Ski Club

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — At a regular meeting held on Friday night, preparations were made for the coming Cross-Country Relay ski race; the Morin Heights Ski Club officials are making every effort to see that this military relay race will be a success and that the trail from Sun Valley Farm to St. Jerome is in perfect condition. . . The Club is also sponsoring a sleigh ride and bean supper at the New Alpino Lodge this Friday, January 25.

The regular meeting nights have been changed from Fridays to Wednesdays.

Recently the Club received donations of trophies. One, given by Gratton Thompson, is for the Laurentian Zone Championship run on the Clover Leaf Trail; this trophy resembles the Stanley Cup, and it is felt that it will be one of the most coveted prizes in the Laurentian Zone. The McDowell Trophy, given by George McDowell, is allotted to the Junior section for Cross-Country competition on the Clover Leaf Trail, an encouraging emblem for Juniors at any time. These two trophies, which are perpetual, are now on display — one at the Bellevue Hotel and the other at New Alpino Lodge.

In competitions last week-end at Lac Beauport, the Morin Heights representation gave a good account of itself. . . Miss Beverley Bell (who apparently has acquired the nickname of "Little Curly Top") was the fastest girl in the Gaby Pleau Downhill. Posting two consistent clockings, this youngster easily led the Junior division, and was three-tenths faster than the first senior, Doone McMurtry of Penguins Club, thereby topping the field for the day. Beverley registered 61.1 for her first run and 61 flat for her second try — a 122.1 total, Montreal's Doone clocked 66.8 and 55.6, to take senior Class "A" honors. Beverley Bell's downhill time gave her a 10-second advantage over her junior rival, Gigi Seguin of Quebec, who had 132.4. In the Slalom she came fifth and in the combined Slalom and Downhill, she came fourth. . . Corinne Watchorn, another Morin Heights girl, racing under the colors of the Nordik Club, finished third in the Junior Slalom, with 66.4 and 63.3, and came third in the combined Junior Downhill and Slalom, with Beverley Bell fourth.

At St. Sauveur on Saturday, Morin Heights was ably represented by Grant Seale, Bob Baldwin and Ernie Woods. In Class "B", Grant Seale romped home in first place, covering the layout in 1:04:15, followed by his teammate Bob Baldwin, who finished the race in 1:06:05. Ernie Woods had the misfortune to break his skiis.

The Morin Heights Intermediate School races are to take place shortly; further news will be given as to the date, time and place.

Paul Baumel, president of the Ski Club, has contacted many of the business establishments of the municipality and many interesting prizes will be donated for the event.

The Ski Club recently made a donation to the Olympic fund and received a gracious acknowledgment from Lorne Lindsay. We hear that the Club officials have in mind the rebuilding of the jump on the Basler Hill, also further improvements such as a "T-Bar" and chair lift, upon a site which they have already selected; more news will be given later.

CURLING NEWS, PAGE FIVE; SPORTS ALSO ON PAGE SIX

Curling, 400 Years Old

Curling also has its literature, and is one of the few games to have attracted the poets, even the great Robbie Burns singing its praises. Sir Walter Scott refers to the game in 'Guy Mannering', and Scots painters, such as Sir William Allen, Sir George Harvey and Lees, all found in curling a fit subject for their art.

Rich Traditions

Any game as old as this must naturally be rich in traditions. As the Reverend Doctor Cook found out from his humble parishioner, the game has always been sternly democratic, the only rank recognized being 'brother'; and for many years there were elaborate initiation ceremonies before a new curler could learn the proper grip and become a brother in what has been called the 'Freemasonry of Curling'.

Though still mostly associated with Scotland, the game has now spread far and wide across the world. Scots are great travellers and golf and curling have steadily marked their progress. Today, curling can be seen in England, Ireland, Canada, New Zealand, the United States, Norway, Switzerland and Russia. Canada adopted it with particular zeal, though owing to the sharper frosts, the stones used are actually iron and weigh 60 or 70 lbs.

It was in Canada that the game was first played under cover, though it was in Scotland and England that the scarcity of natural ice made keen curlers look for some method that would permit regular play regardless of the weather. Two methods were found; covered artificial ice rinks, and tarmac 'ponds' which are covered with water in two or three degrees of frost.

The arrival of curling in England is sometimes credited to King William IV, but it actually appeared about 1840. An England vs. Scotland International match was instituted in 1895.

What is the fascination of this ancient game which has spread over much of the globe? Perhaps Lord Dufferin had the answer when opening the Toronto rink in 1877; he said, "Everyone who has attempted to play a stone generally felt all his cares and anxieties disappear". If that is so, then curling should gain many new recruits in the present difficult state of the world!

Sports and Activities At Lachute High School

By Anne Dwyer

Students' Council Activities

Last Saturday evening, the Students' Council held a High School party in the gym, chaperoned by Mr. J. Hawes and Mr. A. Bond. The master-of-ceremonies was Wilmer Andrews, who also operated the gramophone. Frank MacLean called the square dances, while the couples whirled to the music. The party broke up at midnight, with everyone in good spirits.

The Students' Council is planning to hold a bean supper on February 6, which will be open to the public. Admission will be 75 cents, the proceeds going to the "Lampada".

Basketball

On Saturday afternoon, the Buckingham basketball players were guests of Lachute.

The final score for the girls' game was 34-24 in favor of Buckingham. Only three Lachute girls scored points — Barbara Bradford (18), Marilyn Mitchell (2), and Joan Goldthorpe (1). Joyce MacEwan scored 24 points for Buckingham. Linda Bryant scored 6, Cornelia Meikle one basket and a foul shot, while Diane Gillis "split the mesh" only once.

The Buckingham boys won by a score of 42-18. This game was not exciting, as it was too obviously one-sided. Don Westfall, the top-notch Buckingham player, made 8 baskets and 2 foul shots, giving him a total of 18. Bill Johnson scored 10 points, while Stuart Living made 7 and Tony Dun 6. Bud Weed made a neat foul shot, giving Buckingham an extra point. The scorers for Lachute were Bob Duncan (8), Bill Steeves (6), Bernie Golphin one basket and a foul shot, and Trenton Boyd one foul shot.

This Saturday the Lachute basketball team will play against Morin Heights.

Hockey

Correction — The scores for the game between Lachute and Macdonald should have read as follows:

1st Period — Lachute, S. Thompson; Macdonald, Hamilton.
2nd Period — Lachute, T. Jamison.
3rd Period — Lachute, T. Jamison, Glen Copeland, Glen Copeland, J. Campbell; and Macdonald, Hamilton, Hamilton.

Thursday evening, January 17, Lachute Juniors played host to the Grenville juniors. The score was 5-1 for Lachute. The Grenville scorer was M. Moncrieff. W. MacCrea made two tallies, while Kenneth and Duncan MacTavish and G. Laurin each made one.

On Saturday last, the Lachute High puck-chasers racked up a second win in their section of the P.A.P.S.B. Hockey League. Final score was 5-3 for Lachute against Hudson.

Play started off fast, but due to mild weather, became ragged, with only flashes of speed in the second and third periods.

In the first stanza Jamison picked up a pass from Campbell and beat the Hudson goaler. Copeland sent the locals out ahead 2-0 two minutes later after a sharp passing display from Watson and Jamison. Campbell ended the Lachute scoring in this period after a scramble in front of the net. At 15.53 Bill Seguin ruined MacMartin's chance of a shutout, scoring a long shot, on passes from A. Simpson and J. Gaston.

The second period was a stalemate until Jamison sank the rubber on a pass from Copeland. L.H.S. was playing four men to five and after a ragging display which confused the opponents, a score resulted.

Lachute's final goal came in the third period, Campbell scoring on a pass from MacCrea. Hudson showed better form in the latter stages of the third period and Gaston tallied twice.

At times the play was rough and tempers flared, several penalties were handed out and boxing was left to its rightful place, the squared circle.

The next game will be with Macdonald — the latter playing hosts to Lachute.

Montreal Kinsmen Sponsoring All-Canadian "Coaster Classic"

Can Lachute or Brownsburg Build a Winner?

For the 11th consecutive year, the Montreal Kinsmen are sponsoring a Coaster Classic for boys 9 to 15 years of age. This year, their efforts are to be extended from coast to coast in a new All-Canadian Classic.

There are certain rules governing the entrants — such as, the car must be made completely by the boy himself, of regulation size and weight, with roller-bearing wheels. . . Entry forms and book of information may be had by writing to — P.O. Box 915, Place d'Armes, Montreal.

The tentative date set for this All-Canadian Coaster Classic is June 21, and all entries must be in a full month before that time. Several boys have already made application — one from Kelowna, B.C.

This venture is a non-profit enterprise, and has cost the Montreal Kinsmen from $1,000 to $1,500 annually for 10 years. This service club has always been deeply interested in boys' welfare, and has recently built a social club in Rosemount.

Once an entry is made to this classic, the Kinsmen immediately make efforts to contact a local sponsor, such as a service club, business firm, garage or any interested person. Building a coaster-car is a splendid hobby, and numerous prizes are offered by the largest business houses in Canada to the winners of this classic.

Two Dead in Collision With Midnight Freight

Grim Toll at Staynerville Railroad Crossing

Crashing into the side of an eastbound freight train at the Staynerville C.P.R. crossing during Saturday night, two persons met instant death and two escaped, one with severe shock and the other unhurt. The dead are —

Paul Sharko, 32, of Hawkesbury, driver of the car.

Mrs. Jeanne Roy, 36, of Ville Marie, passenger in the rear seat.

The crash occurred at 1.20 a.m. Sunday when the party of four were returning from Brownsburg to Hawkesbury. The automobile plowed into the fourth car from the rear of a long two-engined freight. The crew were unaware of the collision and the train continued on its way, carrying metal fragments from the auto which were found miles down the track.

A crewman on a snowplow train standing at the siding, became grimly conscious of the accident when he saw the body of Mrs. Roy hurled from the passing train into the centre of the track, about 300 feet east of the crossing.

The driver of the car, Paul Sharko, was found dead beneath the demolished auto, and it was necessary to lift the car before his body could be released.

Fernand Tremblay, of Ville Marie, seated in the rear, remained in the car unhurt. The other three occupants were hurled from the machine, including Mrs. Sharko, who was seated beside her husband; she suffered severe shock and was brought by ambulance to the Providence Hospital — later being removed to a Hawkesbury hospital.

Dr. Roger Lavigne was summoned from Lachute and pronounced the two victims dead. The bodies were also brought here, to the Roland Menard funeral home.

Traffic Officer Albt. Legault, of Brownsburg, was called to the scene, and Det. Philippe Therriault from Lachute. Det. Merle Lawton arrived Sunday to make investigation on behalf of the homicide squad, Montreal headquarters.

Inquest in the two deaths will be held at the Court House here February 5, under presidency of the district coroner, Dr. Jules Lafleur.

Paul Sharko was a barber at Hawkesbury in the evenings, being also employed at the Kilmar Mines during the daytime.

Provincial Commissioner Invests New "Scouter" Linton W. Armstrong

Last Saturday, Provincial Scout Commissioner Robley MacKay, of Montreal, invested Linton W. Armstrong, of Lachute, as Commissioner of the Laurentian District of the Boy Scouts Association.

The investiture took place at a regular annual meeting of the council, held at the town hall at St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac.

Also present was Provincial Field Commissioner John MacGregor, recently returned from a tour of the Caribbean at the request of the British Boy Scout Association.

In the investiture Mr. MacKay gave a brief outline of the executive and field organization of the Boy Scout Association in Canada, headed by His Excellency the Governor General.

A strong organization with men of energy and good character is necessary for sound progress, in spite of the fact that "Scouting" can be carried on by anybody who has Baden Powell's book "Scouting for Boys"—as did the speaker before Scouting was organized in Canada. "It is the aim and object of 'Headquarters' to weld each district into a strong team", he said.

Quoting a writer on education, Mr. MacKay stated that many Universities are striving for "First Rate". So it is, and should be, with Scouts and the Scout organization.

Scouting gives a little knowledge of a great many things. There are many courses, all voluntary, any one of which may open an avenue of permanent interest for the boy. Such courses are tied up in a program and a code — not too strict or confining, but which nevertheless influences the future citizen in a beneficial manner.

Life must be looked at with "bifocal lenses" so that both the forest and the trees may be seen, said the speaker. A boy must learn to take care of himself — so we give him a basic training, where he learns to provide food, clothing and shelter. He must also learn to give more than he takes from life — here we try to give him a simple code, primarily the basis of every religion.

Scouting is practiced by members of every religion. It has a general appeal, applicable to all ages. A Scout is just a decent fellow who helps others and generally gets along with the fellows he comes in contact with. Scouting is an approach to life rather than a plan of education.

In presenting the badge of office to Mr. Armstrong, Mr. MacKay pointed out that the Scout uniform was distinctive, being originally designed by Lord Baden Powell — not copied from any other. The Provincial Commissioner told Mr. Armstrong that he had, working with him in his district, good men who were well thought of, both by the district and headquarters, and wished him every success in further strengthening the district.

Mr. Armstrong accepted the honor humbly, admitting his inexperience but earnest desire to further this very worthwhile work among boys in the Laurentian District.

Publishing Associate Dies in Montreal

Sympathy is extended to the family of the late Frederick Wright, of Outremont, whose death occurred last Friday at the age of 77.

A noted authority on municipal affairs, Mr. Wright had long been associated with Giles Publishing House in the publication of "The Municipal Review of Canada", a product of The Watchman Press for many years past. He was associated with several municipal organizations, and an ardent advocate of the Borough System for Greater Montreal.

Mr. J. S. Giles attended the funeral of his colleague, held last Monday in Montreal.

Lachute Curling Team Victorious at Utica, N.Y., in Four-Day Bonspiel

It was a proud and happy team that returned victorious from one of the most noted bonspiels, held annually at Utica, N.Y., in competition for the Mitchell Trophy, a beautiful prize of great value and studded with diamonds.

The victors, Messrs. L. Bedard, D. McGibbon, G. Calder and D. MacTavish, advanced into the semi-finals with the following wins—Kingston No. 1 (last year's Mitchell winner) 9-8; Cobourg - Waverly, 16-3; Utica No. 1, 10-9; and Schenectady 11-7.

Then came the finals, and Del MacTavish's last shot of the match, good for two points, gave him an exciting 15-14 triumph over Kingston No. 2 rink. Lloyd Cross, his opposing skip, had played a little too heavy on his last shot, attempting to set up a second guard, and pushed a Lachute stone into the ring, leaving the alley open. MacTavish took advantage of this, sending his last stone into the break, gaining two points, enough for victory and hearty congratulations from the large gathering which witnessed this spectacular finish. Curlers here also join in the jubilation of this local rink.

Gold medals were presented to the boys as a momento of their hard-fought win.

Around Town

Brownsburg — Removal of snow from the streets this winter has, on the whole, been adequately done. There have been complaints, of course, and some have been justified. But the old bugaboo of parking is responsible for most of the difficulty of getting around town. On Sunday night the Provincial bus picked its way up Main between two rows of parked cars which left a narrow lane in the centre. Almost through the lane, the bus met a car face to face. Someone had to backpedal, but when the car attempted to do so there was another car directly behind. Both cars began to skid — and a half an hour later the bus with its load of passengers got through.

One time there was a parking by-law which allowed but one row of cars along Main. That was a long time ago, so most people have forgotten it.

And Around Again

— This time along the sidewalks, or where the sidewalks used to be. . . A woman wended her slippery way past Maitland's and, arriving at the corner of Oak, found her path blocked by four feet of snow. She painfully scrambled up and over onto the road. Most people go back again and find an opening to the roadway 40 yards back.

There were moving pictures of the various kinds of machinery for snow removal exhibited at the Council chamber early in the season, and a lot of fine words on the equipment which was to be obtained. People are beginning to wonder if a paid Town Manager would not be a better investment than our democratic municipal system.

Financial Statement

The yearly statement of St. Louis de France Church was read out on Sunday and contained some interesting facts. There are about 600 Catholic families in the parish, and a Catholic population of about 2,530; 270 non-Catholic families and a total population of approximately 4,000. There are 130 more Catholic families above the river than below. There were 75 births, 34 marriages, 30 burials — nine of which were adults registered at the church. There were some extraordinary expenses in the past year which totalled $15,000. The church was renovated and enlarged at very considerable expense and the present debt is almost $40,000. Yearly receipts amount to about $10,000. The assessment on the buildings and grounds amounts to $130,000.

The Arena

The question this hockey-conscious town keeps asking each week is not "What was the score?" but "What time did they start to play?" For the benefit of outsiders who are considering attending any of the Senior League games here, an allowance of at least one hour should be made for delays in starting. Of the other activities at the arena, promptness is the word; and in justice to the rink committee it should be mentioned that they have no control over hockey fixtures or responsibility for delays. Children are very well catered to in the matter of school hockey and skating, and in this connection Lachute school is granted the very same privileges and opportunities for practice or skating as the local school. This fact might be taken into account by Lachute contributors to this community effort when the next drive for building funds is put on by the committee. Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., was responsible for a most generous contribution towards this end during the past month. The committee are loud in their thanks for his generous assistance.

Industry and Commerce in Lachute

St. Jerusalem Bond Issue For Road Improvement

The Lachute Chamber of Commerce, in its purpose of working for the industrial and commercial development of the community, is pleased to note that the Parish of St. Jerusalem has made arrangements to float a bond issue of $150,000 which will provide for the financing of extensive repairs and improvements to all roads within the parish. This is a large undertaking which will be of great benefit, not only to the people of the municipality but also to residents of Lachute and vicinity. It is understood that, when the improvements have been completed, the roads will be taken over by the Provincial Department of Highways, thus relieving the municipality of considerable expense for their upkeep.

The bonds are issued on a serial basis, maturing from one to twenty years, bearing interest at the rate of 5% per annum. At present, the municipality has no debts, and this issue will be the first obligation against the parish. It is the hope of the officials that residents of this district will avail themselves of the opportunity of purchasing these bonds. It is believed it would be to the advantage of the ratepayers of this district to purchase whatever bonds they are able to afford, so that they will have income to assist in paying of taxes, and also have a real investment in their own municipality, and maintain the bond issue, to a great extent, within their own area. Anyone wishing further information, or who is desirous of investing, should contact the St. Jerusalem secretary-treasurer without delay (see advertisement in this issue) as the Lachute Chamber is informed that a fair amount of the bonds have already been disposed of.

This is another project which indicates the progress being made in the community.

Prominent Physician Had Residence Here

Dr. Henry P. Wright, distinguished physician who died Sunday in Montreal — with a record of medical service in the two World Wars and of fine achievement in the study and treatment of arthritis — had been long associated with these parts. He owned a farm on the North River at Hill Foot, which he purchased years ago from George Neill, and in leisure time between his duties he enjoyed a measure of relaxation in these surroundings, making extensive improvements to the residence. He was well liked among neighboring residents.

Dr. Wright disposed of the farm last fall to a medical colleague and neighbor, Dr. G. R. McCall.

Rotary Story Retold, Fellowship Meeting Held At Member's Residence

Last week's meeting of the Brownsburg Rotary Club took the form of a fellowship meeting at Rotarian Harris Sherwood's home.

During the business, plans for the forthcoming Ice Carnival were outlined by the Carnival committee. It was stated that the feature attraction of the Carnival will be an exhibition by members of Ottawa's Minto Skating Club. The Minto skaters are well known as the finest group of amateur figure-skaters in Eastern Canada. The Rotary Club feels that it is fortunate to have engaged them for this event. The remainder of the program is to be announced shortly.

Following this discussion Stewart Jones presented a short talk on the aims and principles of Rotary.

Reviewing the history of Rotary International, the speaker stated that the first Rotary Club met in Chicago on February 23, 1905. The idea started with Paul Harris, a young lawyer who had recently moved to Chicago, and who wanted to organize a club which would band together a group of representative business and professional men, a club where the members might recapture the friendliness, comradeship and understanding that many of them had known in the small towns from which they had come.

Originally, the meetings were held in rotation at the members' various places of business. Thus came the name "Rotary".

From these beginnings, the idea spread all over the world, till today over 350,000 Rotarians gather once a week in 83 countries and regions, and the number is increasing steadily.

Rotarian Jones explained that potential members are chosen on the basis of their professional or business representation, and on their ability and inclination to contribute to the community welfare.

During his talk the speaker outlined a four-way test adopted by Rotarians on which to base decisions and actions in their business life. The test is as follows:

1. Is it the truth?. 2. Is it fair to all concerned? 3. Will it build goodwill and better friendship? 4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

The remainder of the meeting was given over to the playing of bridge, chess, cribbage and other games. The evening concluded with the serving of refreshments.

Laszlo, Pianist, for Next Community Concert

Due to a change of engagements since the announcement of this season's Community Concerts, the next program will be presented by Ervin Laszlo, brilliant young pianist (instead of Miss Mildred Dilling, harpist, as previously announced. Miss Dilling will appear in the last concert of the series). Date of the Ervin Laszlo performance is February 18.

Central Unit 'Education Committee' Plans Co-ordinated School Activities

A meeting of the Education Committee of the Argenteuil and Two Mountains County Central School Board was held in Lachute High School on Saturday afternoon, under chairmanship of the County Supervisor, Mr. F. H. J. Royal. Decisions were reached on a number of topics which will be of prime interest to parents throughout the area.

This committee was formed in April, 1949, for the purpose of integrating the work of all schools within the County unit. Membership consists of the seven principals, Messrs. Andrew McGerrigle, of Grenville; Melvin Graham, Arundel; Marven Blakely, Morin Heights; Dennis Staniforth, St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac; Mrs. D. Swail, Kilmar; King Amos, Brownsburg; together with the Regional Inspector, Mr. L. J. King, and his helping teacher, Miss Blanche Stewart. Interest was expressed in the work of the committee by the Rev. Stanley A. Smith, Assistant Superintendent of the Boys' Farm and Training School at Shawbridge, and he was subsequentely invited into the committee's membership. Because of his rich background of experience in the field of educational work, his contribution to the aims of the committee has been significant.

At its frequent meetings held throughout the session, attention is focused on the development of judicious and efficient administrative policies; the interpretation of curricular stipulations; the provision of maximum learning and teaching opportunities; and organization of extra-curricular programs in the various fields of activity.

Decisions were reached regarding inter-school hockey tournaments. On February 9, nine elimination games for the midget and junior teams will be played at the Boys' Farm and Training School at Shawbridge, and at Lachute High School. On the following Saturday, February 16, play-off games will be held at Brownsburg and Lachute. Teams in this tournament will be drawn from the schools at Lachute, Brownsburg, Arundel, Grenville, Morin Heights and the Boys' Farm.

Plans were also made for a public speaking contest, with the result that on Friday evening, March 14, selected pupils from Grades VIII - XI throughout the County schools will meet in Lachute High School to take part in a competitive public speaking contest.

Education Week, March 2-8, will be recognized by each school organizing a program which will furnish parents with increased opportunities to familiarize themselves with the conduct and progress of educational work in their respective communities.

Some discussion took place regarding the school annual, "The Lampada". Prior to 1951 the contents of this magazine were restricted to activities of the pupils of Lachute High School. During the last session an invitation was extended to all schools within the Unit to contribute relevant material to its pages. An enthusiastic response was received to this appeal, with the result that "The Lampada" has now developed into a County production. Pupils throughout the schools are presently making preparations for the second issue of this magazine.

KITTEN FROM WOODS TURNS OUT FIGHTER

North Bay, Ont. (CP)—The cookhouse cat at a lumber camp north of Timmins took a walk in the woods, and some time later, Brandy was born.

When lumberman Eric Skead turned the kitten over to his friend Bruce McEwen in nearby West Ferris, he confided that there was something peculiar about Brandy. The kitten looked and acted like a lynx.

Today Brandy is a 20-pound tomcat with shoulders like a boxer. He is the terror of every dog in town and refuses to be picked up and petted by anyone except the members of the McEwen family.

Brandy's one animal friend is Petie the family dog.

January Meetings of County W.I. Branches

Arundel W.I. had an attendance of 27 members. Following the business session it was "members' night" to entertain. Two contests were held, that were a test of ability and skill, to observe a lot of things at a glance. There was a distribution of prizes to the best contestants, then refreshments were served. Everyone voted this event a very enjoyable evening.

Brownsburg had an attendance of 32, at the branch meeting held in the Consolidated School. Three films were shown, "The Opening of Parliament", "Great Day for the Irish" and "Our Canada". Linen and cotton were brought to the meeting for the Canadian Cancer Society. A Home Nursing course by Mrs. Istvanffy was announced to begin on January 21. Plans were made to have a children's Valentine party. Arrangements are being made to have courses on Weaving and also Painting for Pleasure.

Frontier branch had 24 members present. This was "secretary's meeting". Conveners read articles on their work. There was a contest on Jumbled Proverbs. A singsong was held, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. Blakely. Scrap books were brought, to be sent to the Children's Memorial Hospital. Also articles were brought in for the Cancer Society.

Gatineau LINES

Contributors to Prosperity – III

Last week, we talked about a few of the wood products enterprises which have helped make the section of Quebec served by Gatineau Power a growing industrial area. Now we would like to take a look at another industry which has scores of representative factories making their contribution to the progress of prosperity of the entire district — the clothing industry.

It is an important industry, and one which is found in every major section served by Gatineau Power, from the Hull area to Rawdon, and from the St. Lawrence northward. Its total output runs into millions of dollars a year, dollars which bring increased prosperity to everyone in the area. Like other industries, it gets the electricity that is so vital to it from Gatineau Power.

The Rawdon area is home to Laval Shoe Company which turns out large quantities of children's footwear and house slippers; for the Mirado Dress Mfg. Company of St. Lin which does a big business in sun suits, overalls and children's wear; and for the quality nylon stocking business of Meron Industries Limited at St. Jacques.

Regent Knitting Mills, employing more than 1100, are an important part of the economy of St. Jerome, but many other manufacturing places are there too. The W. Howick Mfg. Company and Wm. Atkins both specialize in children's wear; while La Diva Shoe Ltd., and Laurentide Footwear, both ship ladies' shoes to all Canada. And, of course, Dominion Rubber Co. Ltd., with its 1590 employees, supplies rubber footwear which can be found anywhere in the country.

In the Vaudreuil district, the clothing business flourishes too. There is Hudson Hosiery Company at Hudson Village, exporting some $450,000 of men's fancy hosiery each year to the U.S.A. and all parts of Canada. There is Cosmo Underwear Company, turning out a complete line of ladies' underwear totalling $375,000 a year; and there are a number of other enterprises making their own contribution to the progress of the area.

As in the case of the wood products firms, each of these progressive organizations gets its power from Gatineau, and so is important to Gatineau. Each is even more important to the area which it operates, providing employment, a market for raw materials, and the means by which additional money is circulated to the benefit of all.

Gatineau Power Company

Widows and children inheriting the savings of Canadian husbands have become a major group of the "shareholders" who own Canadian industry. In many Canadian corporations the individual women shareholders outnumber men by a considerable margin.

HORSES TO NEWFOUNDLAND

Middleton, N.S. (CP) — The last shipment of horses from this area recently brought the total shipped to Newfoundland in 1951 to 402. More than 1,500 Nova Scotia horses are being used in lumbering operations near Corner Brook.

Farm Visitation Day Held for Merchants

A two-part stunt dreamed up by the Hastings, Michigan (6,060) Chamber of Commerce had its fulfillment in the recent Merchants Farm Visitation Day when 20 merchants returned the visit that 47 farmers paid them last March. At that time, farmers, including 18 of their wives, were clerks-for-a-day in retail stores. From 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., store owners or managers explained their businesses — buying, display, taxes, insurance, hiring and training of personnel, and especially the mark-up of items. At noon the farmers were taken to lunch, and at 2.30 to a local coffee shop for a final round-table discussion. . The merchants were put to work when they visited the farms, though mostly they learned about modern methods of farming. They heard about equipment costs, taxes, subsidies, crop risks, soil conservation, planting and harvesting, and the farmers even showed their books and financial statements. At noon the farmers treated the merchants to a typical farm-cooked meal and took periodic time-outs for coffee and tall, cold glasses of buttermilk.

The results of both days were amazing, according to a report from the Chamber of Commerce manager, for it proved how very little farmer and merchant had known of each other's business. The farm women found out how to hang dresses properly for display purposes; the dress shop owner fed chickens on the farm; and these were only two of a number who felt an expanded program of the same type would be very worthwhile next year.

Pest Control Products Rigidly Supervised

The commercial value of the actual pesticides now sold in Canada approximates twenty million dollars yearly, and their value to Canadian agriculture could be estimated at many tens of millions of dollars annually, and there are approximately two thousand different pesticides now registered for sale in Canada, according to P. M. Overholt of the Plant Products Division, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Pest control products, which include insecticides, fungicides, weed killers, rat killers and worm remedies, are essential commodities in agriculture, and some of these are useful also in industry and households. The yield and quality of most farm and garden crops depend partly on the successful control of insects, plant diseases and other pests, and this fact emphasizes the value and importance of effective insecticides and other pest control products.

So extensive and important a trade as that of pesticides could be open to a number of abuses, such as the selling of useless or very inferior products and the sale of actually injurious materials, were it not subject to some legislative control.

Such control is exercised in Canada under the Pest Control Products Act, a Federal Act administered by the Plant Products Division, Department of Agriculture. This Act requires the registration of all pesticides and requires that all claims and directions for use be approved before the product is accepted for registration.

Re-registration of a pesticide can be denied if it is sold contrary to the terms of the registration, or should fail to provide the control claimed for it.

Penicillin Hinders Cheese Production

Sydney, Australia (CP)—Cheeses in some factories in the State of Victoria have recently been of poor quality. In some vats, the cheeses have even refused to make properly at all.

W. J. Park, Victorian government cheese expert, has just announced the reason. His discovery: Milk from cows being treated with penicillin has stopped the growth of cheese-starter bacteria.

Park said he had found traces of penicillin in milk from herds being treated with penicillin for mastitis. Pasteurization had not greatly affected this unfavorable development.

The remedy: Factories are asking farmers not to send milk from cows under such treatment.

Beneficial Birds

Studies by scientists of the Canada Department of Agriculture on natural control of insects, indicate that the predatory habits of birds may be the most important factor in the over-wintering larvae of the codling moth in Nova Scotia. In eight out of 39 orchards examined during November, birds had destroyed over half of the larvae.

Distance of the orchard from woodland where the birds are found, influences the amount of bird predation. In a direct comparison of 12 orchards, bird predation had increased from 23.2 per cent in 1950 to 30.2 per cent in 1951. The percentages of larvae attacked by parasites were about equal, 7 per cent in 1950 and 7.3 per cent in 1951. Death caused by fungus diseases in 1950 was 3.1 per cent and in 1951, 2.2 per cent.

Radio Veteran

One of the patriarchs of Canadian radio is E. V. Young, of Vancouver, whose smooth, deep voice is heard Thursday nights at 10.30 on the CBC Trans-Canada network in the program "Eventide". For nearly nine years he has brought comfort and inspiration to listeners with his readings from the rich heritage of Christian literature. He also reads extracts from religious works on the "Vesper Hour", broadcast in Western Canada on Sunday nights. He is frequently heard in CBC drama programs and is an active member of a Vancouver Little Theatre group.

Lachute Laundromat for Public Service

Another appreciable service in the growth of this town is the Lachute Laundromat, which progressed from a damp-wash service to a complete laundry service within a year.

For a long time there has been the need for an in-town laundry service and the growth of this business has proven the need — not only for the town itself but for the surrounding districts. In its first year of summer operation, Laundromat found that it was bringing trade to Lachute through having a laundry service available.

This choice of damp-dry service and finished service provides Lachute with benefits equal to any modern city, including a daily pick-up and delivery service.

Lachute Laundromat uses the most modern equipment available, employs a new method of laundering — the washing of each family's clothes separately, and the separation of clothes by color and fabric, thus ensuring longer life to clothes.

This laundry service is continually adding up-to-date equipment to keep up with the growing demand.

Lachute Chamber of Commerce extends good wishes to Don Bickerdike, the proprietor, for continued success in his enterprise.

To a mother and dad whose teen-age daughter wants a room of her own

A MOVABLE WALL! There's your answer. A large "Modernfold" door makes two rooms out of one—gives daughter a room of her own. When privacy is not required, the "Modernfold" door folds quietly against the wall.

SAVE SPACE, TOO! Use smaller "Modernfold" doors like the one on the left to save space for furniture—save about 8 square feet per door! "Modernfold" doors don't swing into the room ... they fold like an accordion.

AND SO EASY TO OWN! "Modernfold" doors have a common-sense price. Upkeep is almost nothing—crack-proof vinyl covering on a rigid steel frame washes with soap and water. Write or phone us today.

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Public Apathy?

WHAT, is this Lachute! . . In recent years we have been accustomed to a fair measure of enthusiasm in our council elections. There has generally been a gathering of curious citizens at the town hall for the announcement of nominations, and a creditable percentage of voters at the polls. We shall note the electoral response at tomorrow's voting in West Ward — but we are informed by the town secretary that there was absolutely nobody on hand last Friday at the closing of nominations, to rejoice upon or grumble about the results.

Lachute is a growing centre, and synonymous with its growth there are increasing problems of administration. The public cannot justifiably kick about the handling of these problems, and execution of civic affairs, if they display no concern whatever in the naming of their representatives.

We hope this circumstance is no real indication of public indifference. Lachute's civic councillors give much time and study to the town's welfare, and it is only fitting that the taxpayers should exercise and display a constructive interest.

A Revelation of Progress

THE CURRENT issue of "The Educational Record", circulated through the Quebec Protestant Committee of the Council of Education, is of particular interest to Lachute and vicinity, since many of its profuse illustrations present scenes in the local High School and other schools of the Argenteuil Two-Mountains Unit. Dr. W. P. Percival, editor of this publication and superintendent of Protestant schools, has reviewed the progress of Quebec Protestant education, and given a comprehensive picture of its modern facilities, in the Record's leading article.

The edition, however, is of far wider interest than to this immediate vicinity; it shows Quebec Province progressing in a big way to the highest possible standards in education — implying, conditions which provide not only for scholastic achievement but for all-round character building, the foundation of future citizenship. Those who regard education in terms of the cost — and there still is a segment in every community among whom this is the predominant factor — can have no conflict with this self-evident fact. Character formation is immeasurable in terms of the dollar, and present sacrifice demanded by higher tax rates, may be regarded as the soundest possible investment in Canada's future.

The present generation in Quebec are fortunate in the privileges available to their children, through progressive policies in education promoted by the Duplessis Government and the officials entrusted with their administration.

Easter Seals

PREPARATIONS are underway for the Easter Seals campaign, sponsored here by the Lachute Lions Club on behalf of the Quebec Easter Seal Society. Dr. F. W. FitzGerald is committee chairman for the annual appeal in this district.

The sum of $700 was raised in Lachute last year, in this effort for the aid and rehabilitation of cripples. The record of the Quebec organization is an inspiring story in the overcoming of human handicaps. Fifty per cent of the local proceeds are retained and administered by the Lachute Lions Club, which during the past year has spent this portion to give valuable aid to crippled citizens of this community.

The seals will be sent by mail, with accompanying letters, and the campaign is commended to the public's generous support.

IMPROVEMENT makes straight roads, but the crooked roads without improvement are roads of genius. — William Blake

A Social Paradox

THESE days the word "security" is on every lip and is popular with headline writers — it has come to mean protection against misfortune, insurance against old age.

Its evolution is interesting. In earlier days it had something to do with piggy banks and pennies put away for a rainy day. In time it meant sticking to one job because a rolling stone gathers no moss.

Then 10 years ago all the world heard about "social security" when Sir William Beveridge proposed his revolutionary plan for public welfare in Britain.

Today it is the favorite word of insurance companies. They claim the more insurance you buy, the more security for yourself — and for your family if your need for earthly security should come to an abrupt end.

Each individual looks on it from a different point of view.

The rich man sees security as a picture of himself clipping coupons and taking trips to Florida.

The working man thinks about it as the day when he makes the last payment on the mortgage and retires on pension to his flower-garden.

Such security is fine — as long as it remains a comfortable thing and doesn't become an endless quest for more material possessions.

But the man who, in the name of security, piles up dollar upon dollar for money's sake alone, is forgetting to live today. Before long he will discover that he has more faith in his money than in himself. That is when too much "security" results in a feeling of insecurity.

He may be a man who sticks forever to a dull job although adventure beckons in a distant land. But he dare not take a chance because he will forfeit what he regards as security.

He is the man with money who is afraid to invest in his country's development because he has lost the courage of his pioneer forefathers.

He is the farmer who won't grow a new kind of wheat because it might fail him.

Perhaps for real security the middle road is best. Naturally it's wise to prepare for the rainy day. But why be so busy anticipating a rainy tomorrow that we fail to see opportunity when it shines upon us?

Accidents Take Top Place in Child Mortality

SOME 1,500 Canadian children die each year as a result of accidents — more than the number lost through the 10 acute infectious diseases of childhood, points out the Health League of Canada in a message for National Health Week (February 3-9).

Medical science has been successful in reducing the number of deaths from diseases that only a few years ago took heavy toll; but accidents — which are preventable — continue unabated their murderous assault on the child population.

Back in the 1920's, accidents stood in seventh place among causes of children's deaths in Canada, points out Dr. C. Collins Williams, in his research work done for the Child and Maternal Health Division of the League. By 1946, the same age group (up to 15 years) saw accidents move up to fourth place on the list of killers. During the first year of life, they stand in eighth place, during the second year third, and during each year after infancy and up to 15, accidents claim more young Canadian lives than any other listed cause.

"This is a needless waste of lives, through traffic accidents, drowning, fire, poisoning, electric shock, falls, and the misuse of firearms", states the Health League. "Parents and other adults have it largely in their power to save these young lives by exercising care themselves, by good example, and by careful training of our youngsters very early in their lives."

A Fish Story

One of the best laughs I've had recently was from the following yarn. I'm passing it on in case you think it's funny too.

In a certain small village there lived a character who was too tired or too dignified to work. When his tobacco money ran out he would raise a little by catching a few fish and sell them to other residents of the village. One very hot morning he was seen going from door to door trying to peddle his fish, but without success. Nobody wanted any that day. And in the meantime, his string of fish were starting to wilt. But he had one customer left — an old man who lived by himself in a shack at the top of a high, rocky hill that had been burned over many years before. The fisherman hated to climb away up there on a hot day, but there was no alternative. At last he arrived at the shack, hot and breathless, and the fish by this time had a decidedly shop-worn appearance. The old man didn't want them, although they were offered at half price. "Got some meat to finish up", he explained. "No ice, fish wouldn't keep. Good-bye".

Reluctantly, the fishmonger retraced his steps towards the village. When he reached the bottom of the hill, he heard loud shouts behind him, and on turning around he saw the old man standing on his verandah wildly gesticulating and beckoning him to return. There was nothing to do but trudge all that way back again, uphill in the hot sun.

"So you want to buy my fish after all!" he puffed.

"No", said the old man, "but while you were here I forgot to tell you something. I don't want any tomorrow, either!"

Be seein' ya!

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. You say I have to have 60 days in order to get another claim. I have paid into the fund since 1941. Why can't I draw benefits?

A. A minimum period of employment of some recency is required as evidence that the claimant is still sufficiently attached to insurable employment to have, currently, an insurable interest in the fund. It is not sufficient to show that he had at some time been in insurable employment or that he had come into insurable employment the day before he became unemployed. Therefore on any claim he must have to his credit at least 180 contributions in the last two years, of which 60 must have been paid in the last year or else 45 in the last half-year. These qualifying periods may be extended if during them the claimant has been sick or working on his own account or employed in non-insurable employment.

* * *

Q. My son is in the sanatorium. Can he draw benefits? If not, why? Can I draw benefits for days I am sick?

A. Unemployment insurance benefit replaces in part the wages lost because work was not available for a person able to work, but unemployment insurance is not sickness insurance. One of the conditions precedent to entitlement to benefit which must be fulfilled in respect of each day for which benefit is claimed, is that the claimant is capable of and available for work. A person in a sanatorium cannot fulfil this condition and therefore is not entitled to draw benefits. For the same reason a person cannot draw benefits during periods of illness.

Super-Salesmanship

A salesman for a pet shop called several times on a prospect and finally persuaded him that he needed a watchdog. "What you need is a big man-killer to tackle burglars", said the salesman. The prospect agreed and bought a 200-pound Great Dane. A few days later, when the family arrived home late, they found that burglars had visited the house and cleaned it out. The big dog had slept through it all. The salesman was summoned to the scene, and before he left he sold his customer a small dog for $25 to wake up the big one.

Ladies' Auxiliary Held Meeting at Brownsburg

Brownsburg—The Ladies' Auxiliary of Legion Branch 71 held their first meeting for 1952 on January 17, with Mrs. Sally Cocksedge presiding.

Mrs. Dorothy Beaudry, Ways and Means convener, proposed that on February 6 the Auxiliary sponsor a movie at the Crown Theatre. The meeting was in favor, and it was decided that a sale of home-made candy be conducted in the lobby of the theatre.

As the movie selected is quite appropriate for children, special permission from the Mayor has been given to admit children under 16 years of age. This picture 'When I Grow Up', starring Bobby Driscoll, Robert Preston, Martha Scott and Charles Grapewin, won the Parents' Magazine Special Merit Award.

Wolf Cubs Graduate Into Scout Troop

The Brownsburg Wolf Cub Pack and Scout Troop held a "going up" ceremony on January 22, when Cubs Roddie Potter, Brent Connelly, Preston Roberts, Alan Johnstone, Jimmy Keatley and Alec MacGibbon graduated into the Scout Troop. The ceremony was held in the gymnasium of the school, with a number of parents and Group Committee members present.

A friendly game was staged, at which the Cubs beat the Scouts.

United Church Groups

At the United Church on Monday evening the Junior Woman's Association played host to the Y.P.U. Following the devotional period the Junior W.A. took over. Mr. F. Royal, principal of Lachute High School, had been invited to give his popular illustrated talk on his trip to the West Coast and United States, and delighted his audience with the beautiful colored slides and interesting comment. Mrs. G. Witham, president of the Junior W.A., thanked Mr. Royal on behalf of both groups. Refreshments were served and the evening concluded with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne".

The Senior Woman's Association held their regular monthly meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Clarence Hardie.

MORIN LEGION MEETING

The Morin Heights Branch 171 Canadian Legion met for their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night with a good attendance, and many important items for the welfare of the branch were discussed and settled.

$100.00 Offer at Cinema Lachute

IN NEW STAGE FEATURE

The new popular stage presentation entitled Foto-Nite is coming to Cinéma Lachute, starting Friday, February 1, and will continue to be a weekly feature of this theatre every Friday.

Foto-Nite is the occasion when, through co-operation of the audience and a special stage contest, a name is selected, and if the person whose name is called responds, he will be offered a large cash amount for his or her photograph.

Friday night's offer at the Cinéma Lachute is $100.

Georges-Etienne Marchand, the manager of the theatre, states that all a person has to do to participate is to register their name and be at the Cinéma Lachute on Foto-Nite. If you have not already registered your name, you may do so at any time in the lobby, or if you telephone the theatre, a member of the staff will gladly register your name for you; there is no charge to register for Foto-Nite.

Insofar as photographs are concerned, it is not necessary to bring them to the theatre until a name is selected, and then the person whose name is selected, is given a full week in which to produce an 8 x 10 photograph of himself.

Every Friday night a large amount of cash will be offered in connection with Photo-Nite, and this presentation, it was pointed out, is always in addition to the regular screen entertainment.

Special arrangements have been made to bring new and different stage contests to the Cinéma Lachute, on Fridays, with plenty of fun and excitement guaranteed, and it is the sincere wish of Mr. Marchand that he will have the opportunity of offering someone $100 on Friday night.

Offre de $100.00

ATTRACTION AU THEATRE LACHUTE

La populaire attraction "Foto-Nite" débutera vendredi, le 1er février, 1952, au Cinéma Lachute. Cette attraction se continuera toutes les semaines le vendredi soir.

"Foto-Nite" consiste, grâce à la collaboration de l'audience et par le moyen d'un concours spécial, à choisir un nom. Si la personne dont le nom est choisi répond à l'appel, on lui offrira une forte somme d'argent pour sa photographie.

Vendredi soir, le Cinéma Lachute offrira $100.

M. Georges-Etienne Marchand, gérant du Cinéma Lachute, a été interrogé à ce sujet et fit remarquer qu'une personne qui veut participer à l'attraction n'a qu'à se faire enregistrer et être au Cinéma Lachute le soir de Foto-Nite. Si vous n'avez pas encore donné votre nom, vous pouvez le faire en aucun temps au foyer du Cinéma Lachute. Vous pouvez aussi téléphoner et l'on se fera un plaisir d'enregistrer votre nom. Il n'y a aucune charge pour participer à Foto-Nite.

Il n'est pas nécessaire d'apporter sa photographie au cinéma car la direction accorde à toute personne dont le nom est choisi une semaine complète pour produire sa photographie (grandeur 8 x 10).

Chaque vendredi soir, une forte somme sera donc offerte à l'occasion de Foto-Nite et le programme régulier sera toujours à l'affiche.

Des mesures spéciales sont prises en vue d'avoir au Cinéma Lachute des concours attrayants chaque vendredi soir. C'est le souhait sincère de Monsieur Marchand de pouvoir offrir la somme de $100 vendredi soir prochain.

Did it ever strike you that for the first 20 years of a man's life his mother says, "Where are you going?" And the next 40 years his wife asks, "Where have you been?"

Good Morning, Mr. Mayor!

A Townsman Surveys the Industrial Scene

For a long time we had two Mayors for Lachute and outskirts. Just recently Mr. Gilbert Ayers has been elected to complete the Trinity of Mayors, and we are sure he will bring inspiration and action for the growth and benefit of our entire community.

The population of Ayersville chose this progressive industrialist as its first Mayor because his family, himself and his devoted collaborators are truly the founders of this new town, having built the industries which brought, and provided the livelihood for, the greater part of its population. Ayers Limited and Dominion Shuttle Co. are the outcome of progressive effort from three generations of courageous and enterprising men.

When, recently, with the Chamber of Commerce, I visited the various department of Ayers Limited, it revived in me my former interests as an industrial chemist; I was fascinated by the progress of wool, from its crude form and its odor of the sheep, to the giant felts, the comfortable blankets and fine cloths. I remarked, with the other visitors, that the spacious quarters were clean, hygienic and well equipped. I talked with many of the technicians. They love their work, and seem to be very satisfied. . . Mr. Filion, it appeared, could feel with his fingers the story of wool coming from New Zealand, South Africa and elsewhere; he informed me he had been testing and classifying it for about 15 years. . . Mr. Desrosiers told me that in the earlier days of the mill they tested thread-resistance only through hearing. . . And Mr. Desjardins, like the medieval artist, has weaved his piece daily for 38 years. . . We saw the manufacture of cotton dryer felts, and Mr. T. Newton exhibited a nylon rope, one inch thick, good to pull 15,000 pounds. As Uncle Joe would say, "Batéche, that's the cable for the hay-fork".

Looking over this impressive scene, I remembered the story my grandfather, an old farmer of St. Hermas, related many times in his later years — how, "early in the morning we hitched the red horse to the cart full of wool-bags, and with a little supply of oats and hay we went to the small carding mill operated by Hamelin and Ayers". — Brave old pioneers of the heroic times! If they could return today, what tremendous changes they would find!

As I have observed through the last two years, Mr. Ayers remembers the Gospel text, "There shall be asked much of the one who has received much". The Ayers policies are subject to both admiration and criticism. Every active man is under the spotlight, and it's a democratic privilege to think and talk about human activities from the angle we see them. The Latin mind loves discussion.

Do you know the story of Napoleon's Grognards? In days of relaxation these intrepid men grumbled all the time against their General, but on the battlefield they fought like lions for their chief.

Mr. Ayers has developed one of the most attractive golf clubs in this province, a recreation centre for the young and not-so-young, which fosters well-being and human understanding.

At Ayers Limited they have a Caisse Populaire, a Co-operative, and I believe also a social plan to promote home-ownership, which is the key of stability among workers' groups. A man who owns his piece of land, his home and his garden, will be a dependable man, firmly attached to his job, his home and his family. . .

When I visited your establishment, Mr. Ayers, an idea came to my head. Perhaps it's a pure illusion, but I pass it along. . . I thought that complementary industries would be useful to absorb a good proportion of your production here in Lachute, and to give regular work to a large number of workers. A dress or coat factory, for instance, would work in very well with your existing industry. When the waterworks (which Mr. Cottingham referred to) are completed, we will have all the convenience to accommodate new businesses.

As a method to bring new factories, Mayor H. Boivin of Granby suggested that the municipality acquire unoccupied lands around the city and let contractors build premises with 7,000 to 15,000 square feet of floor space — then to rent or sell these buildings to newcomers. Thus, with other conditions favorable, industrial men are induced to establish new plants. — This might be a practical idea. It's only a suggestion.

Not long ago I read, in a scientific report about Penicillin, that the famous Dr. Flemming who discovered this magic drug, was the son of a poor English farmer. He received his education and made his studies under the protection of Winston Churchill many years ago. In 1944, by means of his marvelous discovery he saved the life of his illustrious protector. I think here in Lachute a system of educational scholarships would permit a more complete development of talents now going to waste, and give full realization to one precious part of our human capital.

Jesus Christ, who was the greatest man of all times because he embodied the sciences, supervisions and virtues of divinity, invoked the love and the solicitation of man for his neighbors' well-being and happiness. "The good we do to others makes us happier than the good we receive", said the old proverb.

May the Lord, who is Light and Life, and to whose honor the Ayers have built a magnificent church in St. Julien, give you many years of health and prosperity — and the inspiration to bring more prosperity and happiness to the people of your community.

— L. E. Bertrand, Pharmicist.

Conference Next June For Social Workers

Three important conventions will be held in Quebec, from June 14 to 21, when the biennial meeting of the Canadian Conference on Social Work takes place. The annual meeting of the Canadian Council of Social Welfare will be held June 15 and representatives of all Canadian Federated Charities, chests and councils will take part.

June 16-17-18-19 will be devoted to the discussions of the Canadian Conference on Social Work — a meeting of special importance to Canadians since the program comprises sessions for English-speaking groups, others for French-speaking groups and general meetings that will be bilingual. A very large attendance is expected from Quebec Province.

The Canadian Conference on Social Work will be under honorary chairmanship of the Hon. Paul Sauvé, Quebec Minister of Youth and Social Welfare, and more than a thousand persons from all ten Canadian provinces will come to Quebec for the sessions.

Finally, June 20 will be devoted to the annual convention of the Canadian Association of Social Workers, which professional organization comprises some 1,500 members.

It can safely be predicted that these three interrelated conferences will succeed in their aim to bring together as many Canadians as possible for deliberations covering every phase of social welfare.

Quebec has been chosen for the conventions as this year Laval University is celebrating its centenary. Everyone sincerely interested in problems connected with social welfare is invited to take part in the deliberations.

Newcomer Welcomes Zero Temperatures

Ice Sculptor From Bavaria Plies Trade in Toronto

Toronto (CP) — Nothing makes Joseph Edlbauer happier than zero temperatures. That's because Joseph is an ice sculptor and when balmy breezes blow both his enthusiasm and sculptures melt.

Just arrived in Canada from his native Bavaria, Joseph Edlbauer was plenty worried over early December's mild weather, but now that the mercury has taken a dip, he can go job hunting. Ice sculptoring is the only profession he knows.

Unable to speak a word of English, Edlbauer has nevertheless obtained an exhibition site for his handiwork. Recently he has been plying his trade on the front lawn of a University of Toronto girls' residence facing busy Bloor street in the central section of the city.

Street cars slow down and passers by get a free show as Edlbauer and a couple of friends build a life-size team of four horses pulling a chariot bearing an angel of peace. It is his conception of 1952.

Canadians and Americans first met Edlbauer in 1936 at the winter Olympic Games in Germany. At that time the United States team members, thrilled with his work, urged him to come to the States. He did visit the United States the following year and sculptored at winter carnivals in St. Paul, Minn., and Milwaukee, Wis., but the war cut short any plans for permanent settlement.

Edlbauer considers his work real art, having studied in the Munich Academy of Art. Following graduation he toured Europe building icy figures at winter carnivals and exhibitions.

Edlbauer's work is hard too. It must be done in freezing temperatures with water-saturated snow. With bare hands he slaps the slush on the right places, paring here and there with a knife. It's slow and it's cold, but he loves it.

Joseph Edlbauer scorns businessmen's holidays too. Unlike some snow sculptors, he doesn't chase snow around the earth. When summer comes, he takes a holiday and soaks up the sun. When winter returns he's back at the coldest job on earth.

Canada's Unemployed Now Total 200,000

Many Factories Work on Four-day Week

More than 200,000 Canadians are now unemployed, according to the most recent figures of the National Employment Service. Most of the unemployment is due to cutbacks in industrial production caused, according to manufacturers, by increased buyer resistance to higher prices, particularly in stoves, cars, refrigerators, radios and textiles. The usual seasonal slump in agricultural employment has added to the total, but the government estimates that 20,000 additional farm workers will be admitted as immigrants from Europe in 1953.

Battle Over Comics

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"Where have my pile of comic books gone? I left them on my shelf and I can't see them anywhere! I wish other people wouldn't touch my things!" Eleven-year-old John sounds both alarmed and angry.

Mother hesitates for a moment before replying. She hates issues with her family, but she does wish John wouldn't "waste" his time reading so many comics.

"I tidied them away when I cleaned your room. Such a clutter!"

"I hope nothing happened to them. Where did you put them? Bill said he would trade me his last week's comics for mine."

"Why can't you and Bill go to the library and borrow some GOOD BOOKS?"

"GOOD BOOKS!" John yells, "Who wants to read good books? All of the kids read the comics. . . Where are MY comics? I bought them with my own money."

As mother reluctantly goes off to retrieve her son's comic books she hears him muttering something about "hiding my comics so they will be safe."

* * *

Mother is firmly convinced that her prejudice against comics is well founded. But she must try to see her child's side of the question. Is there not some middle ground on this controversy? There certainly must be something about comics to cast such a charm over John and countless other children.

John is at an age when he needs to feel secure in the approval of friends his own age. Reading comics is a popular pastime with all his chums. He would feel left out if he could not talk with the other boys about what is happening to the comic strip heroes. Bartering comic books is a regular practice in his "gang".

In the after school hours when John can do what he likes, he naturally chooses those activities which bring him satisfaction. He reads comics because he enjoys them. Here is escape into another world far more exciting than his every day life! The jokes are really funny to John. He is not troubled by a bit of crudeness or vulgarity. Nor does poor English worry John. He has not yet developed a critical attitude to the type of life portrayed in some of the comics.

What can John's mother or any other parent do about the comics? A flat banning of them seems highly unfair to the child. He will likely circumvent such a regulation by going off to a neighbor child's home where he can read comics without interruption. If parents absolutely outlaw comic reading it makes this "forbidden fruit" much too enticing.

A parent who is upset about his child's absorption should do a little research on the subject. How many comics does the child read in a week? How much time is spent on them? How much money a week goes into comics? What are some of the reasons why comics appeal to this child? What about the comics themselves . . what of the language, the art work, the ideas and ideals presented in them? If a mother or father will take the time to read the comic diet of his child for a week he is bound to be more understanding.

In Canada, after pressure from parents and responsible groups such as the Home and School, a study of the effect of comics on juvenile delinquency was made. This resulted in the Fulton amendment to the Criminal Code which was designed to put a check on Crime Comics. Bewildered mothers and fathers who observed the emphasis on sex in the romantic comics once the crime books were limited, sometimes wondered if the situation had been improved.

Every child is different and comics may be much more of a problem in some homes than in others. The highly-excitable, nervous boy may have difficulty sleeping after an evening spent devouring comics, while his more placid cousin tumbles into bed and quickly falls to sleep reegardless of his evening's activities.

Comics are not all bad. The villain usually gets his deserts and the hero comes out victorious. Some children who have been poor readers take a sudden spurt forward from the impetus of reading comics. Many new words will be added to the child's vocabulary if he discovers the meaning of unfamiliar words. Looking these up in a dictionary of his own is better than pestering a busy adult. Psychologists tell us that children rebel against the pressure of adult restrictions and direction. In comic reading many youngsters break loose from the restraints of their life.

Some comics are much better than others. One religious publication house has recently experimented in translating Bible stories into picture serial form. The True Hero Comics published by the Parents' Magazine can be heartily recommended.

It is comforting for the anxious parent to know that the comic absorption is a passing phase with most youngsters. When they enter collegiate and adolescent interests claim their attention, they read fewer comics. An enjoyment of other hobbies, and owning interesting books of their own is the best insurance against too much reading.

The best battle strategy in the comic warfare is the indirect approach. The normal youngster with hobbies and a number of outside interests is not likely to be injured by comic reading. Parents do well to remember that it is most unpleasant for a child to have his activities censored or under a cloud of disapproval. Don't make an enemy of your child over such a widespread infection as "comicitis"!

More than 1,700 blind Canadians are employed full time in industry and commerce.

Former Bank Manager Dies in Toronto

Late Garnet John Cheley

Garnet J. Cheley, who is favorably remembered here as a former manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Lachute branch, died last Thursday in a Toronto hospital. Seventy years of age, he had retired from active business.

Born at Morrisburg, he entered the Bank of Ottawa at Smiths Falls in 1902, and transferred to the Bank of Nova Scotia shortly after. He served in banks in Ontario and at Fort Coulonge, Que. He was also branch manager at Lachute.

Late Dr. H. H. Kirby Was in 70th Year

On Thursday, January 22, the funeral of the late Dr. H. H. Kirby was held at Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Hawkesbury. The late Dr. Kirby was a former mayor of that town and a prominent dentist; he died in his 70th year.

Service was conducted by the rector, Canon J. R. Meakin, assisted by Rev. John Harwood-Jones, of Montebello.

Dr. Kirby practiced dentistry in Hawkesbury for nearly half a century and was coroner for Prescott County during the last 40 years.

He was a member of the Hawkesbury Curling Club, the Seigniory Club, a past president of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club (Canadian branch), Hawkesbury Masonic Lodge No. 450 and Holy Trinity Church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Eleanor Higginson; four daughters, Mrs. W. Connor of Hamilton; Mrs. J. A. Copeman, Seigniory Club; Mrs. Gordon Higginson and Mrs. Fraser McLeod, both of Hawkesbury; two brothers, John and Daniel Kirby, both of Chute à Blondeau; a sister, Miss Maye Kirby, Seattle, Wash., and nine grandchildren.

"My boy", said the successful man, lecturing his son on the importance of thrift, "when I was your age I carried water for a gang of bricklayers."

"I'm proud of you, father", answered the boy. "If it hadn't been for your pluck and perserverance, I might have had to do something of that sort myself."

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Ministerial Association

The Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association met on Monday in the United Church hall at Lachute.

Encouraging reports were presented regarding the Watchnight and Universal Week of Prayer services held in Lachute and Brownsburg. The offerings at Brownsburg were very generous and showed an increase over those of 1951.

The Rev. W. H. Britton has been appointed by the Quebec Temperance League to the office of Regional Vice-President, with the approval of the Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association. Mr. Britton gave a very good report of the Temperance League's activities. It is hoped that in the near future the public will have an opportunity to contribute to the funds of the League. The annual meeting will be held on February 7 at 8 p.m. in St. Luke's United Church, Montreal.

The devotional period was led by the Rev. Britton, who took as his subject "The Second Coming of Christ". The speaker ably answered the question, "Where is the promise of His Coming?" by numerous references found in the Old and New Testaments. Attention was focused on the Christian's blessed hope and the encouragement received from expectation of the fulfilment of the promise.

The next meeting will be on February 25 in the Maple Avenue Baptist Church, Brownsburg, at 10 a.m. Speaker, the Rev. N. H. Brock.

Good Year Reported at Lachute United Church

C. R. Cunningham Resigns As Treasurer; Replaced by Herbert Graham

The annual congregational meeting was held in the Lachute United Church hall Tuesday evening, with one of the largest attendances in recent years, though sub-zero weather prevailed.

The meeting was under chairmanship of the Moderator, the Rev. W. B. Rosborough, who gave an encouraging report of the Session. Treasurer Cliff Cunningham tabled the Missionary and Maintenance report, stating that the $2,500 quota had been sent to Toronto headquarters; an additional 5% ($125) was voted to this amount.

All church organizations reported a healthy condition, both in interest shown and in financial returns.

Mr. Cunningham, the church treasurer, reported a sound financial year for 1951, with a balance of approximately $1,500 at close of the year. He stated that this balance must not be taken in a complacent manner, for in the summer months, financial "gymnastics" were necessary in order to meet obligations at that time. He urged church members to give their donations either during the spring or early summer, or regularly through the duplex envelope system.

The congregation voted their warm appreciation to Mr. Cunningham for his excellent work as treasurer for the past few years. The newly appointed treasurer is Mr. Herbert Graham, who has a fine record with Sunday School work and other church activity.

Mr. Linton Armstrong, who has served efficiently as congregational secretary for the past 15 years, voiced a desire to resign, but a unanimous vote in approval of his services, was passed with the hope that he reconsider his request. Once again he acquiesced, and will continue to serve in this office.

Mrs. Ken McOuat was again appointed as choir director and organist, and appreciation for her fine work was voiced at the meeting.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary were hosts to those present, and served refreshments.

Important Broadcasts

On Wednesday, February 6 (7.30 to 8 p.m.) the CBC will begin a series of six broadcasts on "Christianity in a Scientific Age" — with Dr. D. R. G. Owen of Trinity College, Toronto, as the first speaker. The dates are February 6, 13 and 20, March 12, 19 and 26.

This action on the part of the CBC is a result of comments and protests from the Canadian Council of Churches, and other church bodies, on the series of three broadcasts, (1) "Man's Last Enemy — Himself", by Dr. Brock Chisholm and his associates. (2) Bertrand Russell's broadcasts, and (3) Fred Hoyle's broadcasts on "The Nature of the Universe".

It is hoped that this series next month by distinguished Christian philosophers of Canada, the United States and Britain, will receive a wide radio audience.

Bishop Reports on Montreal Diocese

A letter from the Rt. Rev. John Dixon, Bishop of Montreal, reports on the work of the Montreal Anglican Diocese during the past year. Following are extracts from the letter:

"The contribution of our Mission Parishes to the stipend of their clergy was $48,150.94, an increase of $3,163.66 over $44,987.28 in 1950. Parish contributions to Budget $110,318.28 in 1950 were $116,918.19 in 1951, an increase of $6,599.91. Other individual contributions amounted to $7,202.00, making a total Budget of $124,-120.19, an increase of $9,481.40. . . The givings of our people increased $12,645.06.

"In addition we have so far received $4,802.36 in response to the Laymen's Emergency Appeal on behalf of the Missionary Society, in which this Diocese was asked for $11,797.42.

"Our Mission Parishes continue to increase their self-support and so justify the generous help given by the self-supporting parishes through the Budget.

"These results have enabled us to support the general work of our Church by $53,000 on an Apportionment of $51,090. We have also been able to distribute among the clergy in Mission Parishes and Minimum Rectories the sum of $7,516.52, which should cover all but $12 per month of the estimated cost of the motor car in their parochial ministry.

"The present level of Minimum Stipend is $2,508.00 per annum and free house, a record unsurpassed in the Canadian Church.

"While the response of the Diocese was about 97% of the objective, and enabled me to place two new men in the field, it is well to remember that it does not allow us to serve the rapidly expanding areas in and about this great city or make any increased response to the urgent appeal from General Synod for the pressing needs of our Church in Canada. Those needs in our rapidly expanding country present a great and growing challenge.

"It is quite clear that ever greater responsibilities will face us but I feel confident that the increase in devotion and vigor which is so evident in many parishes will enable us to meet them in worthy fashion."

The event was the first dance held by the Auxiliary this season.

United Church Bowlers Hold Social Evening

The usual mid-season break in the regular United Church bowling schedule was in the form of novelty contests last Monday evening. Each of the 12 teams was scheduled to play twice during the evening, with total points to count, including a secret (plus or minus) envelope to be opened at the close of the evening.

The first games were held in the normal manner, but in the second, players had to bowl with theis left hands, while the skips and leads reversed positions. The team scoring highest points was the Young Women's Auxiliary, skipped by Miss Beverly Laurin. The booby prize was awarded to the Bluebells, skipped by Miss Claire Mae Laurin, though final score for this dubious honor was decided by another secret envelope, as the St. David's team (Les Thompson) tied for the lowest points. Prizes were awarded for the highest and lowest scores.

There was much merriment and enthusiasm in this social diversion, and refreshments were served by the ladies of the league.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES — YEAR BOOK AND CALENDAR

During the year 1951, in 121 lands, over 442,000 persons engaged in the most important work on the face of the earth today — acting as ambassadors of the most high and almighty God, Jehovah. Their ministerial work of serving mankind with a message of hope from God's Word has been carried on among all kinds of men, rich and poor, and in every imaginable circumstance, from the huts of the jungles to the luxurious apartments of the great cities of the world. An account of this ministerial work and the good accomplished has been compiled, and is found in the 1952 "Yearbook of Jehovah's Witnesses". Included in this volume are Bible texts for every day in the year with appropriate comments on them taken from the "Watchtower" magazine. A 1952 Calendar, specially prepared for those interested in the spread and advancement of the knowledge of God's Word throughout the earth, is also available. The "Yearbook" will be sent on a contribution of 50 cents, and calendars are 25 cents each, or 20 cents each if 5 or more calendars are sent to one address. — Write 40 Irwin Ave., Toronto. -1c

Interesting Hockey in Senior and Junior Games at Brownsburg

Ste. Agathe Grounds Bombers

Brownsburg — The Brownsburg Bombers skated around in merry fashion Friday night at the local arena while Ste. Agathe initiated them into the art of hockey in three lessons — combination, tactics and scoring. The spectators were also treated to a run of the rule book; there were penalties for holding, tripping, slashing; a penalty shot which Ste. Agathe converted in a nice scoring play; and to complete the contents, a goal-tender got a penalty, which of course one of his mates served, and a player received a match penalty. . .

In all it was a hectic night. There was an attempt at a fight, beneath which one of the referees lay supine on the ice while players from both sides milled around and on top of him.

Ste. Agathe showed class. Brownsburg showed aimlessness. It was the old story of starry players being submerged by careful combination and well thought-out plays. Brownsburg put up a good fight and in the closing minutes went all-out, but were unable to dent the score sheet. The marker which saved them from a shut-out was from a scramble which lasted a considerable time about the goal mouth. In reply to this Ste. Agathe put on a beautiful scoring play which travelled rink-length to wind up in the nets after a delightful exchange of passing and clean play.

The Bombers play like a team having the general idea but no finesse. There are some grand puck-carriers among the bunch, good back-checkers, and individual players who display outstanding and sparkling solo efforts. Ste. Agathe on the other hand have a team, they play like a team that knows where it is going, and gets there. Penalties hampered the Brownsburg squad, two players being off at a time. And some of the players, notably forwards, appeared to be playing out of their usual position. From the spectators' point of view the game was exciting and interesting. The crowd was not too large, the arena was well laid out and the surface fast.

This game was called for 8.30. Brownsburg came on the ice at 8.45; Ste. Agathe came on at 9.10; and the referees at 9.15. At 9.23 Ste. Agathe scored the first marker, and notched a second at 9.25. Ste. Agathe's third register came at 9.36 and the first period ended with Brownsburg having two men off. A penalty shot in the second period put Ste. Agathe further ahead, and the period ended without further scoring. Brownsburg got their first score at 10.55, to which Ste. Agathe replied at 11. —Ste. Agathe 5, Brownsburg 1.

Brownsburg Juniors Outclass Chute à Blondeau

Saturday night the Juniors opened their league fixture against Chute à Blondeau with two fast scores, five minutes after John Duncan sounded the opening whistle — the old reliable Bill Hewitt accounting for both. In fact, it was a Bill Hewitt night, as Bill flashed the red five times and assisted in the other counter. Chute à Blondeau were short-handed in the first stanza, but picked up speed and strength towards the end of the session when reinforcement arrived. Ouellette was beaten for two scores just as the period ended.

The teams went into the second period tied — a period of scrappy, loose hockey with Chute à Blondeau putting on some dangerous scoring sprees on tap. The 'Burg custodian was particularly good and the defence disorganized for a time, but the Chute could not get through. Hewitt again changed the character of the play by a couple of neat scores, one being a solo effort well stopped but put through on the rebound. Chute à Blondeau snagged a loose puck after a scramble and sank it deep in the corner to end the scoring in that period.

Legault drove home a nice effort for Brownsburg as play tightened up again, and as the game finished Hewitt made it 6 for the 'Burg, Chute à Blondeau 3.

The crowd was fair and the officiating good.

Terrebonne and B'burg Tie

In a fast, free-wheeling, high-scoring tilt at the Brownsburg arena on Sunday afternoon, Terrebonne went all out to stave off defeat from a thrill-packed second period in which Brownsburg registered seven goals.

The game opened at a fast clip and Brownsburg scored in the first minutes of play. Terrebonne took advantage of penalties to the Brownsburg six, who had at this time become four, and replied with two quick goals. Back at full strength Brownsburg put on the pressure but were unlucky around the nets. From a break-away Terrebonne carried the puck from a face-off at the Brownsburg net to score in a neat passing play. Two minutes later, while one of its members was serving a penalty, Terrebonne again flashed the red light. Shortly after, the period ended with the visitors two goals up.

After resuming, Brownsburg attacked and a loose puck break-away gave Terrebonne relief to transfer the play to the other end. The Brownsburg goalie saved, but was beaten on the rebound. Terrebonne, playing a man short, was beaten by a soft goal. At full strength again, Terrebonne returned to the attack and scored twice without reply. Penalties again weakened the visitors and Brownsburg, taking advantage of the weak opposition, flashed in two goals and tied the score as the period ended.

A disputed goal put Brownsburg ahead in the last frame, and a brilliant piece of play sent them further ahead. At this stage play was very fast, and both ends were visited repeatedly. Wide-open hockey was a feature, Brownsburg being unlucky around the nets. With the score again tied Terrebonne fought hard to win, and moments after the siren sounded, had the puck in the net. The score was disallowed and the game ended — Brownsburg 10, Terrebonne 10.

There was a very large crowd to see the game, which was spotted with penalties and incipient rough play. The game was adequately handled by the referees and kept under tight control. The game, called for 2.30, started at five minutes to 4 o'clock. Some would-be customers left the arena during the delay.

Juniors

Brownsburg Juniors visited Calumet on Sunday to play a league tie, and were beaten 6 to 4 in a clean contest. The play was slow as the ice was not good, and Calumet's superior weight told heavily against the visitors.

Week's Schedule

The Brownsburg Seniors are booked to play against Ste. Therese this Sunday, February 3, here at the local arena, and at Ste. Therese on February 6.

Mrs. J. D. Williams returned home Saturday after spending a few days in Montreal as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Clifton.

On Saturday evening Mrs. Wm. Owen and Mrs. E. M. Schippel entertained jointly at the home of Mrs. Wm. Owen, at a "personal shower" in honor of Mrs. M. E. Diver, whose marriage will be taking place on Saturday.

Miss Doris White, of Montreal, spent the week-end as a guest at Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Trottier's.

Mrs. R. H. Welden had to be taken to the Montreal General Hospital, and is under observation for a few days. Her many friends hope that she will soon be well and able to return home.

Arundel

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Staniforth entertained a house party over the week-end. Guests were Mr. Curll Staniforth and the Misses Barbara Staniforth, Kaoru Goto, Jennie Ziobro and V. Marshall.

Mrs. Alvin Graham was in Montreal for a few days and reports that her daughter, Joyce, who is at present confined to hospital, is doing very well.

Mr. Jack Smith was in Montreal this week visiting with Mrs. J. Smith, who is confined to hospital at present but expects to be home shortly.

We would like to pay a little homage to Mr. Stanley Dobby, who is making such a good job of keeping the roads open. The last storm was a real test for anyone on that job, but Stanley came through with flying colors. The people of Arundel are duly appreciative.

Successful Ice Carnival

Under auspices of the Students' Council of Arundel School, a successful Ice Masquerade was held last Friday evening. The weather was on the chilly side, but there was a good turnout to see Miss Carol Rathwell crowned Queen. Competition was keen and we are proud of our local girl winning this honor. At the close of the evening the best costumes were judged, Mrs. Gordon Cooke and Mrs. Noall acting as judges. After the judging the Queen distributed the prizes, which were won by — Miss Carol Waters, Miss Daryl Rathwell, Messrs. Lynwood Jones and S. Rathwell. Refreshments sold during the evening were much appreciated by the participants and spectators.

The annual meeting of the United Church of Arundel will take place at 8 p.m. Saturday, February 2, in the church hall. Everybody associated with the church is expected to attend this important meeting.

Miss Lucille Dever was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cooke.

Mr. Lorne Bennett, of Sudbury, Ont., is visiting with his son, Gerry Bennett, at Maplewood Inn.

A 10-Point Plan to Save on Food Budget

At a time when many Canadian families are spending half their earnings on food and with the cost of living still going up, economist Sidney Margolius outlines a 10-point plan to save on food.

The Margolius budget plan, published in the January 15 issue of Maclean's Magazine, is calculated by its author to cut an average food budget by one-fifth at the same time entailing no loss in the nutritive value of the food bought.

Bad buying habits account for a sizeable portion of the money spent on food, he writes. The first thing to avoid is becoming emotional over food: "One frequent reason why families spend more than they need to on food is the insistence of various members of the household that they must eat this or can't eat that". In some cases Grade B foods, cheaper than Grade A, are more nutritive.

Other rules to follow include: unload your food prejudices — canned meat, he writes in Maclean's, is as nutritious as fresh. Beware of food fads: variety in the diet will make the buying of "health" foods unnecessary. Eat your meat and have it: the best three buys considering the price per pound, are tongue, frankfurter and hamburger — sirloin steak is one of the worst.

Mix your proteins: Your daily "meat" doesn't have to be meat itself; for a much lower cost, one egg will supply nourishment equivalent to five ounces of meat. Time your selections: some families buy only canned vegetables, for instance, others only fresh, others still, only frozen. There is a definite time of year when each of these is a "best buy".

These and other rules to eat as well on less money, writes Margolius, should enable "the average Canadian family to cut its food bill by one-fifth and get back to at least the $20 or so a week for food it spent in 1950 without sacrificing nourishment or palatability".

A Harmful Hobby

Are you a grievance collector?

It's a good question, asked in the current issue of The Reader's Digest, and if you can answer "No", you are fortunate. Most of us make something of a hobby of collecting grievances and we're even likely to guard them as jealously as if they were a collection of rare and valuable stamps.

In the Digest article, "Are You a Grievance Collector?" I. A. R. Wylie notes that collectors can be of any age but usually start young, with the primary urge being "a temperamental inclination to self-dramatization".

Admitting that she is something of a grienvance collector herself and thus can claim only partial reform, Miss Wylie writes: "I can still enjoy a good wrong. I can still persuade myself in self-indulgent moments that I have been snubbed, misunderstood or unappreciated. The only difference is that I am now, to some extent, wise to myself. I am also wise to my friends when, for no apparent reason, they retire to heights of gloomy aloofness".

One of the most common and well nourished grievances, says the author, is "a chronic grievance against what we call our 'luck'. It seems to me that people who complain they are 'unlucky' have some defect in themselves which contributes to their misfortunes. I have come to recognize that my own bad breaks are related to the bad spots in my capacity and character. That recognition is apt to cramp the style of any incipient grievance".

The article offers a cure: "Evaluate the grievance and then toss it out of court. Do not let it sink unresolved into your subconscious to breed like poisonous bacteria in your emotional bloodstream."

Grade A poultry represents the bulk of the supply of birds on the market today. If you buy this grade, you are ensured of complete satisfaction for all occasions and purposes. — Consumer Section, Ottawa.

January Meetings of County W.I. Branches

Lachute W.I. had an attendance of 41 members. The roll-call was an exchange of recipes. A Rug Making course offered by Macdonald College was discussed, also a First Aid course under the direction of Mr. T. Dwyer. Miss Janet McOuat, graduate of the Fanny Farmer School of Cookery, Boston, gave an excellent demonstration on Sandwich Making. (The W.I. wishes to thank all those who donated linen cloth to the Lachute Section of the Cancer Society).

At Morin Heights, the attendance was 19, answering the roll-call with a recipe for a typical Canadian dish. The sum of $25 was voted to the Canadian Legion towards upkeep of the public rink. A plant was sent to a sick member. Plans are under way for a course in Slipper and Glove Making. Articles were donated to the Health room at the school. A "military whist" was planned for January 30.

Pioneer branch reports 12 members present. A woollen quilt, patched during the past month, was tied at this meeting for the Red Cross. Fruit and juices were sent to a former member who is ill. It was planned to make another quilt in the near future.

Upper Lachute - East End had 23 members present. The Publicity convener had films on "Neighbors in Enterprise", and "Woollens Made Into Things of Beauty" shown by courtesy of Ayers Limited, Lachute. An auction sale of aprons was held. Linens were collected by this branch for the Cancer Society.

Design

If we could boil down the reasons for purchasing or not purchasing a certain commodity—it all depends upon the design which the merchandise has. Yet design itself takes a lot into consideration. What are these things?

The first is Utility. How is it going to be used? What is it going to be used for?

Secondly, Simplicity. Not too much elaborate ornamentation. Not to overcrowd a simple idea but to keep things in the simplest pattern. This word is very important because upon its meaning hinge many ideas. Do not work an idea to death, but keep it simple and fresh.

Thirdly, Originality. Perhaps this word ought to take the place of Utility, because too many industries are copying the ideas of another; they see that it sells, and so they too want to ride on the idea. This leads to much confusion, not only in industry, but also to the consumers, who are looking for the best.

Fourthly, Color. This idea is also very important. Many of us like new uses of color and look to see what colors are coming out. Think of a counter featuring many different things and you will see first many different colors, because it is more liable to separate it and pull it apart than tie it together.

Fifthly — all these should add up to Beauty, Charm or Grace.

How can you apply these things in the home? Build your home around you. You are the wheel and you are the judge. You are the one who is going to live in it, so keep to your own personality. If you like cold colors, then plan your home around them . . but more will be said on this topic later on. If you heed that five-point plan outlined above, I'm sure that you cannot go far wrong. The first point, Utility, is one of the most important. What good would a pipe be if there was no tobacco! Think of a glass and all the different designs which glasses come in. Each one is for a different manner of drinking. Small ones, tall ones, wine glasses — are only a few to mention. Each one, though, was designed for a new idea, a new purpose.

Next week my topic will be on Color.

Pickles Running Short? Make More Now

Remember last September when the wonderful smell of home-made pickles mingled with the air? Probably every housewife thought she was making an ample supply. However, because they are so good, in many homes the supply is beginning to run low. The home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa have four wonderful recipes for pickles and relishes that can be made now. It may seem a bit out of season, but the recipes will be a boon to any housewife. The first one is for Chili Sauce made with canned tomatoes, which of course are available now. The Quick-Corn Relish can be made at a moment's notice to serve with any meal. It may be that in some homes there just was not time enough to make Beet Relish. It can be prepared now, too. The Plum Sauce is wonderful with ham or pork and especially good with Chinese food.

Chili Sauce (canned tomatoes)

2 28-Ounce cans tomatoes (7 cups), 1 large onion (½ cup ground), 2 medium apples (1 cup ground), 1½ cups finely diced celery, 1 cup vinegar, ¾ to 1 cup sugar (depending on tartness of apples and tomatoes) 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon ground allspice, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper, 12 whole cloves (tied in cheesecloth bag).

Place tomatoes in a kettle. Put onions and apples through food chopper, using the fine blade. Dice celery in small pieces. Add onion, apple, vinegar, celery, sugar and seasonings to tomatoes, bring to boil until thick, about 1¼ hours, stirring frequently. Remove cloves, pour chili sauce into sterilized jars and seal. Store in a cool, dark place. Yield: about 7 cups.

Quick Corn Relish

1 14-Ounce can (1¾ cups) whole kernel corn, ⅔ cup chili sauce, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper (optional).

Drain liquid off corn. Add chili sauce, onion, butter and green pepper to corn. Simmer, covered, about 5 minutes to blend flavors. Serve with ham, tongue or other meat. Yield: 2¼ cups.

Beet Relish

4 Cups cooked finely chopped beets, 4 cups finely chopped cabbage, ½ cup grated horseradish, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/16 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup vinegar, 1 cup water.

Combine beets, cabbage, horseradish, salt, pepper and sugar. Heat vinegar and water to boiling point. Add to first mixture and mix thoroughtly. Pack into hot sterilized jars and seal. Yield: about 8 cups.

Plum Sauce

1 20-Ounce can greengage plums, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 teaspoons chopped pimento, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 teaspoons vinegar, ½ teaspoon chopped preserved ginger, minced garlic to taste (if desired).

Drain and sieve plums. Add sugar, pimento, Worcestershire sauce, vinegar, ginger and garlic, blending thoroughly. Allow to stand several hours. Yield: 1 cup.

Women's Institutes' Idea, "Exchange Programs"

"Would your group like to visit a meeting of a sister organization half the world away?" This is the question asked in a newsletter received at the office of the Quebec Women's Institutes from the international organization, the Associated Country Women of the World. The letter goes on to explain how this can be accomplished through a project entitled "Exchange Programs", and points out that if it can't be done literally it can at least be done in spirit.

This idea originated with Mrs. Carlton Smith, the American A.C.W.W. vice-president. It has met with a tremendous response in the United States, and affiliated groups in other countries, hearing of this plan, are now asking for particulars. The plan is simply this: Material used in programs is collected and sent to your "exchange". This can be made as individual as you wish. Photographs, maps, your annual programs, local newspapers, song sheets, recipes (even your eats can be in keeping), magazines, etc. These are used in preparing the exchange programs and at the end of the meetings both groups have gained a real insight into what others are doing.

If branches in this province wish to make this visit, "half a world away", details may be obtained by writing the Q.W.I. office at Macdonald College.

Here is a simple trick to soften butter in a hurry for sandwiches. Fill a small china bowl with boiling hot water and let stand until the bowl is really hot. Then pour out the water and invert the bowl over the butter. In a minute or two it will be just right for spreading. — Consumer Section, Ottawa.

Events Published for Morin Hts. "Ski Week"

HOCKEY GAMES STAGED ON MUNICIPAL RINK

Morin Heights' — The annual Ski Week sponsored by Morin Heights Ski Club, has been set for February 17-24, and an enjoyable week of sporting events and entertainment is arranged. Ski Week folders are now being mailed to outside communities and to the United States. The folder gives a short history of the Municipality of Morin Heights as well as interesting advertising from the local business people. (The program and times of events will be published next issue).

Hockey Event

Last Thursday, the Fire Brigade challenged the Morin Municipality (picked team), which included some of the Air Force boys stationed here, and an interesting and amusing game was enjoyed by the spectators. The game was played on the municipal rink, which is sponsored and operated by Legion Branch 171.

The team playing for the Firemen comprised — F. C. Cameron, A. Basler, C. Baumel, A. Vaillancourt, P. Whalley, Grant Seale, Ross Gillingham, Len McCambley, Bruce King, J. Shapcott. The score was 5 to 4 in favor of the Morin team.

Morin Heights vs. Shawbridge

On Saturday night a picked team of Morin youths played a team from Shawbridge. This was a good fast game and provided much interest. There were moments of rough-and-tumble play, but on the whole, good hockey was a feature of the game. Outstanding among the players was young Denis Baskin, only 14 years of age, who showed great promise and was a great help for Morin. The local team included — F. C. Cameron, J. P. St. Jacques, J. Shapcott, G. Corbeil, B. King, H. Bassinette, Denis Baskin. Final score, 6-6.

Sunday Ski Reports

The Taschereau Trail at Mont Tremblant was the scene of fast skiing last week-end, and a Christieville girl, Doreen Elder, was the star performer, as far as Morin was concerned, with Corinne Watchorn also outstanding in her class. Doreen skiis for the McGill Club, and Corinne for the Nordik. . . Doreen sped down the long course in 3.57.4 to easily top her field in the Junior (A) division, and beat all her senior sisters. Doreen went home with a shiny electric iron, her prize booty. In the Junior Ladies (B), Corinne Watchorn came third; time 4.20.4. Grant Seale and Ross Gillingham were the representatives from Morin Heights Club, and they were in the Senior (B) class of the Taschereau Downhill. Grant came in sixth with a time of 3.43.3, thereby gaining a promotion to Class "A" skiers. This will make him the first Class "A" skier for the Morin Heights Club. Ross Gillingham came 20th, with a time of 3.53.2.

Team at Locolle

On Wednesday W. K. McArthur, C. E. Richardson, G. Brennian and W. M. Steeves visited Lacolle, where they played in St. John's Rink against the local team, winning 9-8. They were then matched against Huntingdon, whom they defeated 11-5. Returning home, they had to return again on Saturday for the finals, but suffered defeat in their game with Beauharnois, 10-7.

Visited New Club

Two rinks visited the Montebello Granite Club over the week-end, taking part in the official opening ceremonies of this newly formed club. The two local rinks comprised — R. MacLean, R. Hadley, C. McOuat and L. Brouillette (skip); J. MacKimmie, O. Stevens, H. Tomalty and H. Morrison (skip).

After the curling, in which Lachute dropped both games, a buffet supper was served by the ladies of the club. The president, Dr. Biron, was in charge of this opening event.

On the Home Ice

The Dunany Cup finals were played off on Friday with an enthusiastic crowd in attendance. Messrs. J. Campbell, K. Fraser, S. McKyes and A. Ogilvie (skip) won over S. Jones, H. Steele, L. Brouillette and J. MacKimmie (skip) in a score of 16-5.

Play is now well on the way for the President's Prizes, and keen interest is being shown in this annual competition.

Improvements have been made in the ventilation of the clubroom, by installation of a new electric fan which keeps the atmosphere fresh and draws off all smoke. An outside light at the side of the rink also assists in the parking problem.

Saturday Events

Cards were played on Saturday evening, with the following winners — Euchre, Miss Eileen Morrison, Earle Tomalty; Bridge, G. Davidson, C. E. Richardson.

On the ice the high percentage score was held by Mrs. Stuart Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Kerr, J. McGibbon (skip).

For this coming Saturday the ladies will be in charge, and the usual good time can be expected during both afternoon and evening.

Activities

Last Friday evening Grade IX sponsored a sleigh ride. After the ride, which started at 8 o'clock, the guests had refreshments in the cafeteria. After they were warmed sufficiently, they adjourned to the gym to dance. Jean Ogilvie operated the gramophone while the couples danced until almost midnight. The proceeds of $32.25 go to "The Lampada" fund.

Basketball

Saturday afternoon, Lachute played host to Brownsburg. Both the girls' and boys' games proved very exciting. The final scores were 17-13 for the Lachute girls, and 21-20 for the Brownsburg boys.

Lachute had three main scorers in the girls' game, while Brownsburg had four. Barbara Bradford made a total of 11 points — 3 baskets and 5 foul shots. Marilyn Mitchell shot 2 balls into the basket and 1 foul shot. Joan Goldthorp made one foul shot at the beginning of the last quarter. The four main Brownsburg players were Marlene Trayers (2 points), Doreen Belle (2 baskets), Evelyn Stillwell, who shot the ball in once, and Doreen Ball who made 5 points (2 baskets and a foul).

The boys' game was very close — 21-20 for Brownsburg. R. Duncan scored most points for Lachute; he shot 5 baskets. B. Golphin made 6 points, while Bob MacMahon scored 3 points (a basket and a foul shot), and Bain Beers, one foul shot.

Lachute had a score of 12-9 at the end of the third quarter. Then Brownsburg put on their ace player, W. Cribb, who had a sore shoulder and was not expecting to play at all that afternoon. He shot in 4 baskets, which brought the score to a tie of 20-20 until the last second of play. Just before the final whistle C. Mosley threw in a neat foul shot which won the game for Brownsburg. Other scorers were C. Mott (1 basket), B. Mason (1 basket and a foul shot), D. Duncan (1 basket), and G. Mason (1 foul shot).

Hockey

Also last Saturday, Macdonald played host to the Lachute Senior and Junior hockey teams.

The final score in the Juniors was 4-0 for Macdonald. Their game started at 12 o'clock in the pouring rain. The ice was very poor and the play was slow. The first period was a stalemate, but in the second period the form was a little better. J. Coad and D. Little both scored for Macdonald.

In the third period the rain became worse. J. Coad scored again and Trigg also made a tally. Tempers flared in this period but after a few penalties were handed out, peace was restored again.

The Lachute Seniors fared much better than the Juniors. They won their game, 4-2. This was the third win in their section of the P.A.P.S.B. Hockey League.

It was still raining at 2 o'clock when the senior game commenced. After a few minutes' play Jamison picked up a pass from Campbell and scored for Lachute.

The second period was more exciting. Their were several pile-ups in front of the nets but MacMartin, the outstanding Lachute goaler, kept the puck out every time with one exception, when Catto scored on a pass from Duanne. However, Jamison broke the tie after scoring once more against Macdonald.

In the third period, after a skirmish at the side of the rink, Watson escaped with the puck and passed to Jamison, who beat the Macdonald goaler. Macdonald's final tally was made by Hamilton, scoring on a pass from the Yates brothers. A few minutes later R. Mason picked up a pass from MacCrea and broke away to tally Lachute's final score. This put Lachute in the playoffs.

This Saturday Lachute will play host to Hudson.
