Discoveries Raise Controversy Over Site of Dollard des Ormeaux Battle

Would Remove Associations of Epic Stand from Carillon to South of Ottawa River

(Special to The Watchman)

Ottawa — What may prove to be an interesting historical discovery has been made by the National Museum of Canada, according to a statement issued by the Hon. Robert H. Winters, Minister of Resources and Development. It concerns the actual site of the Battle of the Long Sault, where Adam Dollard des Ormeaux and his 16 companions, along with some Huron allies, defended an old Indian palisade against hundreds of Iroquois on their way to attack Montreal in 1660. Dollard and all his men were killed, but the losses they inflicted on the Iroquois were so great that Montreal was saved from attack.

A monument to Dollard and his companions stands at Carillon, on the north side of th river, but the actual site of the b.ttle has long been in doubt. A study of the records and of the country near the Long Sault leads to the conclusion that the fight took place higher up the river, some seven miles above Carillon, at the foot of the Long Sault.

At this point on the Ontario side of the river, near the canoe landing (just below the Little Rideau), recent excavations have revealed continuous postmolds and charcoal remains outlining what was once a circular palisade. These findings support local tradition that this is the actual site of the Dollard Battle. The excavation work was carried out by T. E. Lee, of the Archaeological Section of the National Museum staff. While not conclusive, the evidence so far obtained would seem to warrant further research work and the submission of the matter to the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada.

PAST DIS. GOVERNOR AT LIONS CLUB MEET, MEMBERSHIP NITE

A rousing meeting of Lachute Lions — the regular session, held Tuesday evening at Joly's Hotel — was attended by over 50 members and guests, with President Geo. Tattersfield in the chair.

Highlights of the evening were the induction of seven new members, and an inspiring talk by the immediate past-District Governor, Alf Cadman, of Montreal. Mr. Cadman was accompanied by past District Governor Bill Shields; Victor Houghton, president, and Eddie MacLean, past-president, of the Montreal Lions Club.

Welcomed into the club on this special occasion, Membership Night, were — Robt. M. Cairns, Edward G. Rowe, Dr. Florent Terriault, Rod Carreau, Robt. Dixon, Arthur F. Hanley and Roland Morin. Past-president Leopold Carriere chaired the induction proceedings, the members were introduced individually by their sponsors, and International Councillor J. S. Giles ably presented the address of welcome and initiation.

Committeeman Roger Regimbal gave an enthusiastic send-off to the ticket sales campaign for an approaching Barn Dance.

Mozart Carriere was feted as Lion of the Day, with Ian Gordon excelling once again as biographer.

Int. Councillor Alf Cadman, a restrained but convincing speaker, brought to his audience some down-to-earth observations on the "present trend" — anachronisms in such things as Education, Labor Values and Democracy, which we take for granted without question or scrutiny. In the questions he left with his listeners, the speaker gave an implication that all was not right with accepted routine. The moral of Lionism, the ethics and the fraternalism — were left with his audience as a fitting remedy for practical application.

The visiting speaker was introduced by Edward Jones and thanked by Dr. F. W. FitzGerald. Greetings from the Montreal branch, and good wishes, were extended by Victor Houghton.

DEAN OF DISTRICT MEDICAL FRATERNITY DIES AT AGE OF 82

Late Dr. Alex Rodrigue, M.D., C.M.

Another of Lachute's older residents passed away on Tuesday, February 5, at his home here, after a short illness of only two months — in the person of Dr. Alexandre Rodrigue, who was in his 83rd year.

Born at Ste. Scholastique, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Rodrigue, he came to Lachute in his infancy, at the age of two months. He first attended the English school here, and later went to Ste. Therese College, where he obtained his B.A. degree. Completion of his studies was made at the Montreal Section of Laval University, where he graduated as M.D., C.M., in 1895.

Mrs. Rodrigue, the former Dame Cecile Lortie, of Quebec, to whom he was married in 1898, predeceased him in 1933. From this union there were five children, Rodriguez (who died in 1921 at the age of 21); Juliette, who has resided here with her father; Jeanne Claire (deceased in 1918, aged 16 years); Henri, a notary in Montreal; and the Rev. Louis-Joseph, formerly of Ste. Therese but now of the Archbishop's Palace, Montreal.

The doctor was the last of a family of four, having two brothers, Edmund and Phileas Rodrigue, well known hotelkeepers here in the earlier days, and a sister, Mrs. C. A. Charlebois, all of Lachute.

Starting practice in this town, Dr. Rodrigue had his first office over the present Dominion Store, where he remained for two years. He then moved to Buckingham for a period of 10 years, during which time he gained valuable experience as an all-round "country doctor"; he served as district coroner, and was active in school and town activities. He also operated a pharmacy store. The next five years were spent at Beauport, Que., but the yearning for his home town brought him back in 1912 — since which time he has devoted himself to the care of the sick in Lachute and surrounding districts.

Dr. Rodrigue served as councillor and mayor of Lachute Town, and was keenly interested in all municipal affairs. He was a church warden and assisted greatly in the building of Ste. Anastasie Church. For 12 years he was president of the Catholic School Board, and during his term of office supervised two new buildings, St. Alexandre and St. Julien. He belonged to the Knights of Columbus; was one of the first members of the Catholic Order of Forresters, from which he received an honorary medal; was a member of Les Artisans C.F., L'Alliance Nationale, La Ligue du Sacré Coeur, Le Tiers Ordre, and was instrumental in the beautification of the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

The funeral rites will take place in Ste. Anastasie Parish Church, Lachute, on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Retired C-I-L Employee, W. McGibbon, Planned Original B'burg School

The current issue of C-I-L "Contact" adds an interesting note to the record of Brownsburg's recent school opening, which incidentally carries an excellent photograph of the platform group during ceremonies held in the auditorium of this newly enlarged school.

"In their capacity as school board members, Pat Reilly, chairman; Geoff Scudamore, secretary-treasurer; Bill Brown, Wes Mason, Hugh Morrison, and Jack Golphin were expanding the work of Wyman MacGibbon", says a paragraph in the "Contact" report, paying tribute to a Brownsburg C-I-L pensioner who is now resident in Lachute. Mr. McGibbon (it is stated in the article) originally designed the school and supervised its construction in 1926. At that time Mr. McGibbon was employed in the metallic department of Dominion Ammunition, now C-I-L, at Brownsburg.

Last Salute!

At Peace! . . Terminating an arduous reign through years of conflict and anxiety, devoted ever to the exacting duties of his station, His Majesty has passed to his reward. . . His people pay their last tribute of loyalty and affection.

King George VI died peacefully in his sleep yesterday, February 6, at Sandringham, England. The 56-year-old monarch underwent a serious lung operation three months ago. Although tired and haggard of appearance, his recovery seemed satisfactory, and he was reported in good health earlier this week. . . On his death, his 25-year-old daughter, Princess Elizabeth, immediately became Queen.

Watchman Subscription $3 Commencing March 1

Yearly subscription rate to The Lachute Watchman will be $3.00 in Canada, effective March 1. (Rate to the United States was advanced to $3.50 some time ago due to higher postage rate, but will be $4.00 after March 1, as each paper now requires a 2 cent stamp). These increases have been made necessary through rising cost of material, labor and postage, etc.

Readers wishing to take advantage of the present rate should renew their subscriptions before March 1.

Election Returns in West Ward Contest

In a West Ward contest for civic councillor, Réal Morrissette won a 171-vote majority over retiring Alderman Wilfrid Morissette. Voting was held last Friday in two polls at the former west-end post office. There was a high percentage of eligible voters, 597 having deposited their ballots, out of a total of 755 eligible. The result was:

|---|---|
| Réal Morrissette | 326 |
| Wilfrid Morissette | 155 |
| Majority | 171 |
| (spoiled ballots) | 11 |

Wilfrid Morissette, a veteran on the council, retires after six consecutive terms, 12 years in office.

Campaigners for New French-Language Newspaper

Subscription Drive Inaugurated

Since the decision to launch a French-language weekly newspaper in this district, plans have been formulated for the canvassing of both subscriptions and advertising.

With the exception of a larger inaugural issue, this newspaper will start out similar in size to The Watchman, with co-inciding advertising rates. The subscription price will be $3 a year, and The Watchman will also sell at the same rate, starting March 1. Single copies for each paper will be 7 cents.

A Popularity Contest is now in progress, and a subscription to the new journal will entitle subscribers to vote for the lady canvasser of their choice, and also to suggest a name for the paper. There are several parishes in Lachute and surrounding district, and these have appointed contestants, some of whom are pictured above, along with several members of the Catholic clergy and others interested in the new project.

To the English resident who wishes to learn French, and vice versa, there is no better aid than subscribing to both these newspapers and regular reading of the local news. Likewise the advertiser should use both mediums if he wishes to reach the greatest number of people in the trading area served by these publications. . . For the success of this new venture the co-operation of all is earnestly requested.

Need Better Organization For Farm Marketing

Opinion at Farm Forums

(Our District Correspondent)

Mabel — The Ogdensburg Farm Forum held its meeting at the Heatlie home, while Mabel members met at Mr. and Mrs. John Black's. The subject for discussion was, "What Sets Farm Prices?" Many farmers think they have very little control of the prices they receive for their farm produce. The fact that their produce is perishable, makes the problem of marketing different from most other industries, and it is agreed farmers need to become better organized to accomplish their aims.

Brownsb'g Mayor Throws Casting Vote For Disposal of Garbage by Contract

Village Purchases Tractor and Snow Loader; Debate on Supervision of Chlorinator

Brownsburg — The regular meeting of the Brownsburg Council was held Monday night; all members were present.

The secretary, Emile Hebert, read the minutes of the previous adjourned meeting, which were duly adopted.

Councillor Lavoie then moved to rescind a motion passed at the last meeting by which the removal of garbage was to be taken from the town employees and the work done by contract. Councillor Somers seconded the motion, stating he would like to discuss it further.

The secretary intervened to explain that the motion now before the meeting would declare the contract to Mr. Roy for collection of garbage null and void, and unless an amendment were submitted to the meeting to have the original motion stand, any member not voting would have to vacate his seat.

Councillor Ball enquired for what purpose the motion had been proposed.

The secretary read the contract document drawn up for signature between Council and the contractor, Mr. Roy.

Councillor Charbonneau felt that the contract method should be given a trial.

Councillor Somers had been very luke-warm towards the change in the first place; he was not in favor of it now, as he did not think it would show a saving.

Councillor Ball thought it had been established that a saving could be effected.

Councillor Lavoie maintained it was not established, and the present system was very satisfactory.

Councillor Ball admitted the present system is good, but maintained that the contract system may be good and show a saving too.

Councillor Somers was not satisfied that a saving could be made. The secretary might be asked to work out the figures comparing the present system with the proposed contract cost.

Secretary: "The contractor is not satisfied either; he does not like the hours as suggested in the contract. But when the Council's legal advisor was given the details, he must have misunderstood the hours. Roy wants the

KOREA IN INTIMATE GLIMPSES, DESCRIBED AT B'BURG ROTARY

Major Welbourn of the Salvation Army, who has recently returned from missionary service in the Far East, spoke on conditions in Korea, at last week's meeting of the Brownsburg Rotary Club.

Major Welbourn, who has spent over 20 years in Korea, told the gathering that we Occidentals must come to understand and appreciate the problems of the Orient in order to avert world disaster. He went on to explain that, although the Koreans have a low standard of living, they have a high ideal of the way of life, that they are not aggressive by nature. The Korean language contains no positives or assertives; indeed, they lean so far the other way that they are lackadaisical. Every attitude of their life is polite. As an example, they never sit at long tables because someone would have to sit at the head, and that would make the others feel inferior. They sit at round tables, so all will feel equal.

Even though so polite, the Koreans are a realistic people. They don't like to work, so regard work as degrading, something that the evil spirits have sent down to plague them. Hence their low standard of living.

The speaker pointed out that the native religion is Buddhism, a religion of demon and ancestor worship. On many of the houses there can be found poetry inscribed over the portals to the goddess of disease. It is their belief that if the goddess of disease visits such a house, she will leave it for one where the occupants are not so favorably inclined, and inflict them with the diseases she brings.

Reincarnation is another aspect of the Buddhist religion. The Korean private believes that if he dies fighting, he will return to earth as a sergeant-major.

Speaking of other religious customs, Major Welbourn explained the marriage and funeral ceremonies. When a boy is born in Korea, his parents go out in search of a baby girl to be his wife. Contracts are signed at that time, but the children do not know who their spouse will be till they are 16, at which age they are married. During the 16 years' interval — the girl's mother studies the boy's habits and preferences, so that her daughter will be better able to please him after they are married. Another interesting aspect of the

NEW LITERATURE, TOPIC DISCUSSED AT WOMEN'S INST.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lachute Women's Institute was held in the Legion Memorial Hall on Tuesday afternoon.

With Mrs. F. A. Brennian presiding, the members repeated the Club Woman's Creed.

All the ladies responsible for completion of the Red Cross quilt were thanked from the chair.

It was decided to ask for a course in Felt Work, also "Painting for Pleasure". The courses will be given by qualified instructors in the near future.

The Fair Work convener, Mrs. J. G. Lamontagne, announced that in future the handicraft exhibit at the County Fair held annually in June, would be open to the general public, as well as the W.I. Members are therefore urged to continue their work, as the list of exhibits will remain the same.

The Citizenship convener, Mrs. F. Legault, recommended for good reading the articles published in the Saturday Evening Post by Whittaker Chambers, a former member of the Communist Party.

The roll-call, "A new book just enjoyed", was well responded to — the list of books mentioned being handed to the librarian, Miss A. Smith, for future reference.

Mrs. S. Milnes then took over the meeting and gave a very interesting review of the following books — "Where Sits the Water Hen", by Gabrielle Roy; "Children of the Archbishop", by Norman Collins; "River and Empty Sea", by Louis Vaezek; "Cruel Sea", by Nicholas Montserrat.

The latter is a story of the North Atlantic, a war story, gripping in its intensity and a clear characterization of the men who patrol the Atlantic in times of war.

The speaker noted that Canadian authors are gradually coming into their own, with some very fine novels being published in recent years.

Mrs. A. Taylor thanked Mrs. Milnes for her interesting talk, voicing the pleasure of the audience in listening to someone who "always has her task so well done".

The ladies, escorted through the newly decorated Legion Hall, expressed pleasure at its fine appearance, and especially noted the new color scheme in the kitchen quarters.

At the next meeting in March, annual reports will be given; election of officers and payment of fees.

Legion Auxiliary Meeting

A meeting of the Legion Branch 70 Ladies' Auxiliary was held Monday at the Legion Hall. A card party sponsored by Mrs. J. Duncan and Mrs. P. Patterson was held after the close of the meeting. Prizes were won by Mrs. R. Gagné, Mrs. L. Morrow, Mrs. J. Pillage, Mrs. J. Martin and Mrs. Copeland. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Copeland.

Contributors to Prosperity – IV

Keystone of the prosperity of a large section of the Laurentian foothills is the thriving centre of Lachute — and keystone of the prosperity of Lachute are the industries which provide employment for hundreds of people and a market for the goods from the surrounding countryside.

The major manufacturer of Lachute is, of course, Ayers Limited, which provides employment for 625 people. From Ayers, pulp and paper supplies go to every province in Canada and as far afield as Mexico and South American countries. The blankets and cloth wear of Ayers find their way into homes across Canada and even to places like Hong Kong and Japan.

Another contributor to the prosperity of Lachute is the Dominion Shuttle Company Ltd. Employing 325 people in the manufacturing of shuttles, pole line materials, plywood cases, panels, veneers and doors, this company finds its markets across Canada and in the United States — drawing in money from many places to add to the progress of the community in which it operates.

Other industrial enterprises do a similar job — enterprises such as Canadian Industries Ltd., St. Andrews Woollen Mills Co., and Lachute Lumber and Millwork Ltd., as well as many other smaller but no less progressive organizations who draw their electricity from the Gatineau Power Company.

The products of the farm land around Lachute make possible a progressive dairy industry — an industry which in turn contributes to the prosperity of that farm land. Typical of such an industry is Lachute Creamery Limited, which produces butter, casein, skim-milk powder and whey powder for distribution throughout Canada and to the United States; and Vitalac Limited at St. Placide, which processes butter and casein for sale throughout Quebec Province.

In enterprises such as these — and in the low-cost electric power with which they operate — lies the secret of the development of Lachute and the countryside around it.

11-Million Acres Treated for Weeds

Vancouver (CP) — More than 11,000,000 acres in the four western provinces were treated chemically for weeds during the last year, H. E. Wood of Manitoba's "Weed Commission" told the fifth Western Canada Weed Control Conference here.

Saskatchewan led with 7,118,000 acres, most of which was done by aircraft. Alberta treated 2,317,000 acres, Manitoba 1,891,000 and British Columbia 32,000.

In a survey of results, 80 per cent of farmers said they were satisfied that grain yields increased three to five bushels per acre after the chemical treatment. Compounds used were mostly those of 2,4-D, which kills many leafy plants but does not harm grass.

Dairy Industry and Consumer Viewpoint

Toronto — There is a growing sympathy for the farmer generally, and for the dairy farmer in particular, said Mme H. E. Vautelet, Montreal, vice-president of the Canadian Association of Consumers, in a panel discussion, "Where is the Dairy Industry Heading?" during the Dairy Farmers of Canada annual meeting in Montreal recently. The discussion was one of the highlights of the convention.

Mme Vautelet thought the consumer had been too emotional about milk. She had not compared the food value received in a quart of milk with the food value received from any other food purchased for the same amount of money. There were two types of buyers, those who thought with their heads and those who thought with their emotions. Mme Vautelet was somewhat critical of Quebec dairy farmers for their efforts in keeping margarine outlawed in the province. The consumer could not understand why margarine should be kept out when he noted that not enough butter was being produced, and money was being sent out of the country to purchase sufficient butter. The consumer thought that margarine should be manufactured at home and help keep Canadians working. She declared there had never been anything but loss to an industry which was well protected, and she felt the dairy industry should not be above the laws of competition and the fair meeting of that competition.

Dr. E. C. Hope, of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, pointed to the great stability of the dairy production both from the standpoint of its ability to create balance and in the utilization of land. During the present period of decline in the dairy industry, the beef cattle and hog industry had held their own. He pointed out that climatic conditions of Canada did not foster a long time export market, but he predicted that the downward movement of beef cattle prices might encourage dairy production so that in a couple of years, Canada might again be on an export basis with dairy products. He suggested that the dairy farmer should stop fighting too much about margarine and endeavor to increase public demand for other products.

Mobile Unit Sells Chain Saws

A manufacturer of a chain-saw has developed a mobile unit program in many widely scattered districts that potential customers can easily attend. First step in the program was to secure a crew of competent chain-saw operators who knew their way around a timber stand, men who could take a chain-saw into the deep woods and notch and fell a tree in a matter of seconds. Second, travel time had to be held down, to reduce costs. The crew were able to end a demonstration one day, make a 400-mile overnight drive, and start another demonstration next day. A machine-shop-on-wheels which was virtually a small factory, was developed. Two vans toured 22 states, giving 2-day "package" shows at each stop to audiences averaging 75 to 100 saw owners and mechanics who service saws. First day was devoted to showing of films and the second to a down-to-earth demonstration in an outdoor setting. Basic education in notch cuts, bucking techniques, felling a tree uphill or downhill occupied the morning. In the afternoon, prospects got to trying the equipment for themselves. Good results have led to the addition of a third van.

Raymondale Wins Holstein Shield

The Raymondale Farm Holstein herd, until recently owned by Senator D. Raymond, Vaudreuil, Que., has qualified for a Master Breeder Shield, the highest honor that can be bestowed by the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada. To qualify for this honor the following animals were bred while the herd was still owned by Senator Raymond: 2 "XXX" bulls, 83 "XX" bulls, 10 "Gold Medal" cows, 7 "Very Good" cows, 44 "Good Plus" cows, 6 "Excellent" cows. All these females have met the exacting Master Breeder production requirements. In addition, nine "Very Good" and 61 "Good Plus" cows were bred at Raymondale that have not as yet fulfilled these production requirements.

The Master Breeder Shield was presented by J. A. Garner, Director of Extension for the Ontario Department of Agriculture, at the Annual Meeting of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada held January 30 in Toronto. The Shield was received on behalf of Senator Raymond by Clarence L. Goodhue, who for 30 years was manager of Raymondale Farm and who is now joint owner, together with W. A. Hodge.

PLANE IS BLESSED

Foleyet, Ont. (CP) — Rev. Father Lampron of Foleyet, missionary for the surrounding district, in ceremonies here performed benediction of the light airplane with which he was presented by sportsmen friends in Buffalo. Visitors from Buffalo, Quebec and Ottawa attended the banquet which followed in the parish hall.

Evolution of the Butter Industry

The original discoverer of the buttermaking process is unknown, but butter is believed to have existed before 2,000 B.C., and numerous references to butter occur in the Old Testament.

The uses to which butter was applied in the early days are numerous. It was used as a cosmetic, an external medication, for sacrifices in Hindu worship, an ointment for the skin, an ingredient for the bath, for smearing sheep, as oil for lamps, and in India it was even used as axle grease for bridal chariots. As a food, in the early times it was used more to enrich other foods than as a spread.

As an article of commerce, little is known of its position in ancient times. An early historian records that butter was shipped from India to ports on the Red Sea in the early centuries. In the 12th century, German wine was exchanged for Scandinavian butter, and in the 13th and 14th centuries butter was an item of export from Norway and Sweden. From records it would appear that the art of buttermaking in Europe was developed in the Scandinavian countries and was introduced to the rest of Europe, and later to North America.

In many countries a taste was developed for rancidity in butter. In Ireland and Scotland, before the 16th century, butter was packed and stored in peat bogs to ripen. The Romans are said to have kept their butter until a degree of rancidity was produced. From the 12th century on, butter became important in the export trade of Scandinavian countries, and as the taste for butter began boosting the demand, the buttermaking industry became progressively important to the dairying countries of Europe.

Up to, and including the early part of the 19th century, factory manufacture of butter was practically unknown, and buttermaking on the farms had grown into an extensive industry. However, the lack of uniformity in quality and flavor, coupled with the need for methods that would speed up production, led to the construction and use of creaming and buttermaking equipment.

In the later half of the last century much Canadian butter was exported to Great Britain. It is a matter of record that on several occasions the loss of the British market was imminent, chiefly because of poor packing, lack of uniform quality, and in one instance a charge that Canadian salt would not do in butter for the English market. This latter case was so serious that an agricultural commission investigated and found that the charges could not be substantiated. With the advent of the creamery, Canadian butter quality improved and became more uniform in every respect.

In the early 1920's, cream grading regulations came into effect in the Western provinces; Ontario followed in 1926, and the Maritimes and Quebec adopted grading shortly after. Butter standards are now uniform throughout Canada and the butter produced in this country is second to none in the world.

PRACTICAL PEOPLE

In one of his essays Emerson tells of his boyish difficulty with a Concord heifer calf, that has some bearing on the problems of our day-to-day life. . . Do what he would in the way of persuasion or punishment, the calf remained unconvinced by the efforts of the philosopher-to-be. It would not enter the barn. The Emerson serving maid, observing the difficulty, put her finger in the calf's mouth and led it in unprotesting. "I like people", Emerson wrote later of this incident, "who can do things". — Joe Rutledge

Tobacco, Fruit Exports

How will the new British austerity program hit Canadian exports? There is no certainty yet, cautions The Financial Post, but there is some worry among Canadian tobacco and fruit growers. The first named, especially, have a big stake in the U.K. market.

Health League Promotes "National Health Week"

"THE ONE instrument which is indispensable to all lay and professional associations working for the betterment of the health of Canadians is public education", asserts Dr. Gordon Bates, general director of the Health League of Canada. "Proof of this is the prominence given to educational work in the programs of every one of the country's major voluntary health organizations serving special fields. Whether it's diabetes or cancer, heart disease, arthritis, or any one of the others, the job of telling the public what the disease is, how to recognize it, and what to do about it is a fundamental part of each association's effort to reduce that special problem."

The story of the Health League of Canada, which has been at this job of informing the public since 1919, is a story of the willingness of responsible Canadian writers, editors, publishers and broadcasters to render a splendid public service — a service to which this newspaper is glad to contribute its humble part.

Canada's eighth annual National Health Week is being observed this week, February 3 to 9, in every part of the country. It is an effort to focus the thinking of all Canadians upon the desirability of positive good health, and upon what they as individuals may do to achieve and maintain it.

"National Health Week also serves to bring into focus in a single week the various phases of the Health League's 52-weeks-a-year program of disease prevention and health promotion", points out Dr. Bates.

Among other activities, the Health League stages National Immunization Week every Fall — a Canada-wide campaign which is credited by public health officials with materially assisting in the notable reduction in diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus since it was established in 1943.

It is also noteworthy that the Health League was asked in 1926 to form a voluntary committee on health in the Canadian Senate and House of Commons for the purpose of keeping members well informed on matters pertaining to health legislation. The general director of the League has been secretary of this committee since its inception.

The bi-monthly magazine of the League, "Health", contains helpful, illustrated articles by Canada's leading health authorities. Its purpose, like that of the League itself, is to help Canadians of every age to live healthier, happier, fuller lives.

Unions Go Too Far?

A DEBATE on the merits of trade and labor unions was scheduled among High School pupils here this week — the outcome of which has not reached us, at this writing.

There comes to our attention, however, an incident which might well sway the opinions of the debaters, who themselves only narrowly escaped a blow of disappointment from one of the least expected sources, the Union movement! But here's the story . . .

It happened at the "Voice of Youth" radio broadcast from Gault Institute, Valleyfield, two weeks ago. According to an editorial comment in The Huntingdon Gleaner: During the program there were several vocal numbers requiring piano accompaniment and we noticed that Mr. Petty (the producer) was having difficulty in deciding what should be done. Finally he stated that only the opening bars could be played for each of the numbers because of a ruling they had received notice of only that morning. On enquiring the nature of the trouble, we were informed that instrumental parts were banned from the program on account of orders received from Mr. Petrillo, head of the musicians' union.

Here were school children, with one of their number playing an accompaniment on the piano barred from having that accompaniment because of a union rule that they had no idea of, or we doubt if they even understood it. They were all thrilled that they were taking part in an actual broadcast that was going to be heard over the air. . . They were used to the piano accompaniment all the way through, but at the last minute, this was denied them. The performers were Grade I pupils; they were not being paid for their services; they were not aspiring to take the bread and butter out of the mouths of regular radio performers. To them it was a new adventure and the thrill of a lifetime. But Mr. Petrillo said No! The young girl playing the piano showed her disappointment, she was as anxious as the rest to be heard on the air. Later the school choir gave a number on the program and the teacher felt that they needed the piano. It was decided to move the choir over to the far side of the room away from the piano and the piano to be played very quietly except for the opening bars, in order that the microphone would not pick it up and to minimize its chances of being heard on the air.

All this last minute arranging had to be done because a union did not want its musicians displaced by non-members!

— Lachute High School instrumentalists had full sway, and gave a good account of themselves, in their broadcast just a week or two previously. But that was before Mr. Petrillo got wise to the hazard of these competitive elements!

Calories at Bedtime

A LARGE proportion of us have this matter quietly on our conscience. . . at least one contemporary strip-cartoonist returns frequently to the subject . . and now comes one of our favorite P.R. bulletins, The Printed Word, to philosophize in black and white.

Writing of "The Bedtime Snack", it says:

This is in many ways the outstanding meal of the day or night. There is no compulsion; nobody says you must come right now to the table and eat. You don't have to sit up straight. In fact you don't have to sit at all, but may wander around, as free and easy as at a stand-up tea, but with the advantage of not needing that engaging smile on your face and brilliant conversation on your lips. Your entire mouth may devote itself to eating, with no space cautiously reserved for chatting. Even if some other member of the household is foraging at the same time, she will likely be eating something different, having a separate little repast of her own, like an orange she found, and that you missed; and the tendency is for her to carry out her project by herself with little reference to you. At any rate, talk is no more compulsory than is the meal.

The meal may even be pleasantly against the rules and you may be planning definitely to break yourself of the habit, starting right after this one last time. The thing is bad for you, overeating and staying up so late! And you may be taking food from others in this preview of tomorrow's meals. Or, if you happen to be one to whom economy appeals more than sin, you can feel virtuous in disposing of left-over scraps. Looked at in this way it is not really a meal that you are eating. Certainly the Dominion Bureau would have a hard time classifying your odd assortment of Dagwood stuff. All you are really doing is browsing vaguely on the way to bed. You have achieved a rare thing in this age of increasing regimentation by drifting for a little space blissfully clear of set occasions.

THE average weekly newspaper reader may harbor the impression that the editor, while frequently very free at handing out advice on this and that to all and sundry, seldom gets (or takes notice of) any of that commodity himself. The editor gets advice from all corners . . and it is eternally to his credit that he tries to sift the kernels from the chaff — observes the Winkler (Man.) Progress.

"IF--"

If every one who drives a car could lie a month in bed
With broken bones and stitched-up wounds, or fractures of the head,
And there endure the agonies that many people do;
They'd never need preach safety any more to me or you.

If every one could stand beside the bed of a close friend,
And hear the doctor say "no hope" before that fatal end,
And see him there unconscious, never knowing what took place,
The laws and rules of traffic I am sure we'd soon embrace.

If every one could meet the wife and children left behind,
And step into the darkened home where once the sunlight shined,
And look upon the vacant chair where Daddy used to sit,
I'm sure each reckless driver would be forced to think a bit.

If every one would realize pedestrians on the street
Have just as much the right-of-way as those upon the seat,
And train their eyes for children who run recklessly at play,
This steady toll of human lives would drop from day to day.

If every one who drives a car would heed the danger signs,
Placed by highway engineers who also marked the lines,
To keep the traffic in the lane and give it proper place,
The accidents we read about could not have taken place.

AND last — if he who takes the wheel would say a little prayer,
And keep in mind those in the car dependent on his care,
And make a vow and pledge himself to never take a chance,
The great crusade for safety then would suddenly advance.

— Seymour Taylor, Traffic Consultant,
Salt Lake City, Utah, U.S.A.

A "FREAK of nature". That's what they called the silk-like rock from which asbestos comes when they first found it a century ago. Today, says The Financial Post, Canada is the world's leading producer: it's a $75-million-a-year industry with a $35-million expansion program.

Signs of Spring

The shortest day is over and the Spring is almost here. Just three more months of waiting now — a quarter of a year. It's something to look forward to — these harbingers of Spring. So here they are in order. First: the mailman's sure to bring the catalogs of Seeds and Bulbs and dump them in your hall, with their Giant Early Turnips and the Plants that Bloom till Fall. Then March comes in with icy storms, then milder days with rain. You find the cellar flooded and you can't unplug the drain. The prairie horned larks, headed North, and nesting in the snow are shortly followed by a black and optimistic crow. The stores exhibit Easter cards, and in the sugar bush the farmers are preparing for the maple sugar rush. The water flows from southern slopes of all the northern hills, the river overflows its banks, and you get doctor's bills. The poplar buds are swelling and the pussy-willows bloom. All nature seems to come to life and burst out from the tomb. The coal pile is exhausted and the Christmas tree is burned — but it's never really Springtime till the Robins have returned. When you see old Robin Redbreast pulling worms out on the lawn, when you hear this cheerful songster every morning just at dawn, then it's time to think of fishin' and white water running fast. For you cannot fool the Robin. When he comes, Spring's here at last!

Be seein' ya!

— Uncle Walt

Be Winter-Wise in Winter Driving

Despite less travel in winter, the mileage death rate is usually high during the month of February. For that reason, only winter-wise driving habits are good insurance against accidents. Failure of motorists to change their driving techniques for winter, as they change the oil in their cars, is the cause of most accidents. These tips "to avoid slips" are recommended by the Province of Quebec Safety League:

Get the feel of the road. Try your brakes gently while driving slowly and away from other cars to find out just how slippery the road is.

Slow down. Adjust your speed to road and weather conditions so that you have time to stop or manoeuvre safely.

Keep windshield clear of snow and frost so you can see danger. Keep your headlights, windshield wiper and defroster in good condition.

Use tire chains on snow and ice. They are the best bet for stop-and-go traction. Some of the new "winterized" tires give some margin of safety over conventional tires, but the improvement is not great enough to warrant less caution or the elimination of chains.

Pump your brakes to slow down or stop. Jamming them on will cause a skid.

Follow at a safe distance. It takes three to twelve times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry concrete.

Have You A Question ON UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. Why do I have to put in waiting days, and will I ever get paid for them?

A. Benefit is not payable for the period known as "waiting days". The waiting period is fundamental to a scheme of unemployment insurance and the loss of earnings during this short initial period may quite properly be absorbed by the individual. The elimination of the waiting period would increase the number of claims considerably and would unnecessarily increase the contribution rates, just as would the elimination from automobile collision insurance of the "$25. deductible" or "$50. deductible" found in most policies. It is to the advantage of a claimant to forego filing a claim for very short periods of unemployment in order to preserve his benefit rights for a longer period of unemployment when the need is greater.

Q. Why do some people get more benefit than I when we work at the same job?

A. The daily rate of benefit is related to the average daily contribution paid by an employed person and the rate of contribution rises as earnings increase. A person with a higher rate of earnings will thus draw a higher amount of benefit when unemployed. Also a married person or a person with a dependant will draw a higher rate than a single person, although they might have been working on the same job at the same rate of pay.

Q. Why is it that a farmer doesn't insure his help?

A. A farmer is not required to insure his help as agriculture is one of the non-insurable employments under the Act. It is excluded chiefly on account of the administrative difficulties which would be involved in the collection of contributions, the settlement of claims, the placement of unemployed persons and the inspection and audit of records.

At Brownsburg Council

time extended to nine o'oclock in summer". . . Councillor Somers was agreeable to change to a later hour.

The secretary said the cost of labor was $2,093 under the present system, the use of the truck being additional to that amount. The contract price is $2,500.

Councillor Lavoie: "It works out about even. We know the present system is good, why change it?"

Mayor Pariseau: "We could try it for a few weeks; we are not tied to it for ever."

Councillor Carriere: "We will have the use of our truck and employees for two extra days a week. Then we could get some work done".

Councillor Carriere moved an amendment, that the original motion to have the garbage removed by contract, now stand. Councillor Charbonneau seconded.

The Mayor called for a vote on the amendment — Councillors Carriere, Charbonneau and Ball voting for, Councillors Somers, Lavoie and Ouelette against.

The Mayor decided to use his casting vote in favor of the amendment, and that the original motion stand.

Councillor Charbonneau proposed, and Councillor Somers seconded, that the mayor and secretary sign the contract.

Chlorinator

Councillor Ball took exception to the haste in which a motion to increase the salary of Aldege Neveu, chlorinator caretaker, was rushed through at the previous meeting, and moved a motion that the previous motion be rescinded.

Councillor Charbonneau said he would also like to discuss the original motion, and seconded Councillor Ball.

Councillor Somers moved that the original motion stand. Councillor Lavoie seconded.

Councillor Ball was informed that Neveu did not want the job. He never came before Council to ask a raise, and the councillor felt the whole matter was incorrectly handled. The meeting had started off with a plea to change the operator and ended up by giving the old operator a $100 raise.

Councillor Somers: "This matter requires careful consideration. It affects the health of every child and adult in Brownsburg. The chlorinator building and machine were in a filthy, inoperative state, no one knows for how long. Chlorine to purify the water was admitted in spurts or none at all. To get away from that trouble, Neveu was appointed, and the water is analyzing 100% since. His rate was not examined carefully at the time, and he should get more, if we are to hold him."

Mr. Neveu, from the back of the Council chamber, said it was a 365-day-a-year job and if the Council could get any other man to do the job at $500 — to go ahead. He said he had not looked for the job. The Council sent a delegation to his house to ask him to take it, and now that they had had a trial, he didn't have to come to the Council to ask for fair pay.

The Mayor put the Somers amendment and it was unanimously passed — Councillor Ball voting against his own motion.

The rest of the business was something of an anti-climax.

It was decided to purchase a snow-loader and Ferguson tractor from Farmers' Supply Co., Lachute, at a cost of $2,418.50, with delivery in 15 days. The secretary read the financial statement, and a motion proposed by Councillor Somers to have copies distributed with the tax bills was passed.

(Some further discussions will be reported next week).

Many of the badminton fans attended a game between this school and Brownsburg last Saturday — all reporting an enjoyable time.

The school recently purchased some games to keep the children occupied on "rainy days". Among these is a mechanical hockey game for the older boys, and a dollhouse for the younger children. Thus far, these diversions have proved very popular.

Some of the Grade X pupils have been busy soliciting advertising for the Lachute "Lampada". We hope this venture will be successful.

A letter from Miss E. L. Howe, director of the Junior Red Cross, sent to the junior members recently, reads as follows:

"Dear Juniors: We do want to thank you for all the toys you made and sent to us. You did a wonderful job and certainly must have worked very hard on them. We thought the aeroplanes were especially nice. The cup cake sale must have been a booming success to raise $7 for the necessities for painting.

"Would you please extend our thanks and appreciation to the Grade VI class who sent in some lovely knitted and sewn garments and stuffed animals. We were certainly glad to receive these well-made garments, for we had many requests for clothing.

"We have kept a couple of toys and sewn pieces for our exhibit next fall. Thank you all once again. We hope you all have a happy 1952. — Yours sincerely, E. Lorraine Howe."

Not At the Theatre To Accept $100. Offer

Last Friday, Foto-Nite was presented for the first time at the Cinema Lachute and the name of Miss Isabelle Raymond, of St. Andrews East, was called, but unfortunately she was not at the theatre to accept the $100. offer. Had Miss Raymond been present, she would have been offered $100. for her photograph.

Foto-Nite is a new weekly feature at the Cinema Lachute, presented every Friday. Through co-operation of the audience and a special stage contest, a name is selected, and if the person whose name is called responds, he or she is offered a large cash amount for his or her photograph.

It is not necessary, however, to produce a photograph until one week after selection of the name. As it was explained from the stage, all a person has to do is register their name and be at the theatre on Foto-Nite. Anyone who has not registered, may do so in the lobby, or by telephoning the theatre.

Foto-Nite was presented in an efficient and entertaining manner; it was obvious to all present that the feature has been devised so as to insure honesty and fair play to all participating. The stage contest was well received, and Foto-Nite promises to be a popular weekly attraction.

In view of the fact that Miss Isabelle Raymond was not at the Cinema Lachute last Friday to accept the offer, the management announced that next Friday, February 8, somebody will be offered $110. for their photograph.

Controversy on Site of Epic Dollard Battle

This question, which may yet kindle an interprovincial controversy, has been raised by the announcement here of some important historical findings at a point on the Ontario side of the Ottawa about five miles downriver, that is, east of Hawkesbury.

Hitherto it has been widely accepted as fact that Dollard, his 16 French companions and a small group of Indians were slaughtered by the Iroquois at Carillon, Quebec. Carillon is about 11 miles down the Ottawa from Hawkesbury. . . .

Dollard's fight is one of the great stories of early Canadian history. Nowhere is his heroism more venerated than among the French-speaking people of Quebec and rightly so. For this reason, federal authorities are taking a cautious attitude toward some discoveries made this summer which, if the archaeologists are right, would move the shrine of Dollard's bravery from Quebec across the river to English-speaking Ontario.

Dollard and all but five of his men were killed and their rude forest fort was burned after a bitter two weeks' fight. But the fight was a turning point in the history of New France. Seven hundred Iroquois had been halted as they paddled down the Ottawa to fall on the infant settlements of Montreal, Three Rivers and Quebec.

Although the defenders were almost wiped out, they fought with such determination that the Iroquois lost heart. The marauding Indians learned a new respect for the weapons and the fighting qualities of the French settlers. For more than a year thereafter, the Iroquois remained in the wilderness and the 3,000 inhabitants of Canada or New France, as it was called, were given a respite to improve their defences, add somewhat to their numbers by immigration, and clear their land without the constant harassment of Iroquois raids.

For years the people of Hawkesbury district have disputed the claim that Dollard made his stand near Carillon. But the official assertion was (and is) that Carillon was the scene of the battle and the federal government has put a plaque on the site saying so. The site was said to be what is now an abandoned lime-kiln near this small Quebec village.

An Ottawa woman, Miss Anne F. Dewar, was the first to interest the proper federal authorities in Hawkesbury's claims. Miss Dewar was born and brought up in the Carillon area, but she was convinced that Hawkesbury was the scene of the battle. An active member of the Ottawa Women's Historical Society, she spent much time visiting historic sites in the Ottawa Valley and particularly in traversing the ground about Hawkesbury.

The reason for the confusion about the site is that none of the contemporary French chroniclers was specific about it.

Miss Dewar persuaded Dr. F. J. Alcock, curator of the National Museum here, to visit what she believed was the site of the battle. This was an area on what is known around Hawkesbury as the Old Ross Farm. It is a knoll close to the river and about 26 feet above the water level.

Dr. Alcock noted that this site was about one-third of a mile below the Little Rideau River, a stream that flows into the Ottawa and which would be an important line of defence against anyone coming down river as the Iroquois did.

It was clear that the ground had once been the site of some kind of structure. Also, at this point, the river is so quiet that driftwood gathers there, an indication that it would have afforded Dollard a good canoe landing. Further, Dr. Alcock saw that there are some small islands for some miles up river from the site. The channel between these islands and the Ontario bank of the river would seem the sensible route which the Iroquois or anyone else paddling downstream would take to avoid the furious rapids in the main part of the river.

Later Dr. Alcock inspected the site with Dr. Marius Barbeau who is one of the greatest living authorities on Canadian archaeology. Dr. Barbeau was also impressed. The result was that Dr. Alcock dispatched the national museum archaeologist, Thomas E. Lee, to dig and search the site.

Last summer Mr. Lee spent several weeks at work on the site. He found a hand-wrought hoop from a keg but no weapons, arrow heads or other such articles. His important discovery came after he had spent some time trenching the site. This was a series of post moulds, that is, circles of charcoal in the soil which are left when a post or stake has stood there and been burned.

These moulds will remain in the ground for as long as 1,000 years, archaeologists say. By careful digging, Mr. Lee found that the moulds formed a circle 195 feet in circumference. Other moulds were such as to indicate that burning stakes had fallen and had been consumed by fire while lying full length on the ground.

In a subsequent report to Dr. Alcock, Mr. Lee gave it as his opinion that a palisade had once stood on the site and that he believed it was the paliside which was burned by the Iroquois when they finally overcame Dollard and his band.

The Palisade, he said, was of a size in keeping with the number of men in Dollard's party. The site and its surroundings answered to a remarkable degree, he said, the description of the land and river features given by one of the few survivors and recorded in the letters of Marie de l'Incarnation, the Jesuit Relations and other contemporary authorities.

Mr. Lee wrote that the absence of old weapons was a fact of little weight.

Who was this Dollard whose death is now exciting this new interest among archeologists? He was the Sieur des Ormeaux, had been in the French Army before coming to Canada and at the time of his death was 25 years old.

Early in 1660, the French heard that the Iroquois were planning to attack Quebec, Three Rivers and Montreal, in that order. They were going to come down the Ottawa River, go straight to Quebec and after conquering it would return to Three Rivers and then Montreal. Dollard enlisted 16 other young men in Montreal and the group swore to stop the Iroquois, to fight to the death and give no quarter.

Having made their wills and received holy communion, they paddled up the Ottawa to the Long Sault Rapids, having been joined meanwhile by about 40 Huron and Algonquin Indians. Francis Parkman, the great authority on Canadian and American history, says that the party "passed with difficulty the swift current at Carillon and about the first of May reached the foot of the more formidable rapid called the Long Sault, where a tumult of waters, foaming among ledges and boulders, barred the onward way."

Because the Iroquois had to pass the Sault Rapids, it was decided to fight them at this point. They found a rough palisade fort which some Algonquins had built in the previous summer. They did not immediately set to strengthening it, which would have seemed the logical thing to do, but spent much time in prayer.

The Iroquois arrived in less than a week's time. They caught Dollard and his companions outside the palisade and the French had to run, leaving their kettles behind them over the fires they had built. The Iroquois then tried to parley with them, but the French instead began strengthening their defences.

In about a week, the first Iroquois party was joined by about 500 more warriors. For five days they attacked the palisade, trying to set fire to it. The French had practically no water, were short of food and could not sleep, the attacks were so incessant.

Nevertheless, they stood off the Iroquois so successfully that the latter were on the point of giving up. They decided to make one final assault. Attacking behind large wooden shields, they succeeded in reaching the palisade under the French fire. Dollard crammed a large musketoon with powder and tried to throw it over the palisade among the Indians. But it hit the top of the palisade and fell back killing, wounding and blinding many of the French. The Iroquois swarmed within and slaughtered the few French who remained.

During the fight many of Dollard's Huron Indians had gone over to the Iroquois. The Iroquois began to torture these. Five of them however, managed to escape and the accounts they gave of the fight when they reached Montreal form the basis of what is known of Dollard's stand.

N.S. Village School Paid for In Advance

Upper Rawdon, N.S. (CP) — This small Hants County village, with only 45 families, possesses the first school ever built in Nova Scotia to be free of debt before opening.

The modern $15,000 tile-brick structure was opened recently by Education Minister Henry Hicks.

Money for the school was raised in advance, with more than $13,000 coming from the 74 taxpayers in the district. Their total assessment is less than $42,000.

The balance was raised by donations and from pantry sales, dances and other community get-togethers in the old school.

Former women residents now living in other parts of Canada were asked to measure their waistlines and donate five cents for each inch.

Decision to build the school on a pay-before-its-opened basis was made last June. A levy of $29.50 for every $100 assessment was issued on each taxpayer.

The new site was donated by one family, special water rights were granted by another and George Fenton, one of the community's oldest residents, donated $1,000.

Saint Valentine's Day

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

Here comes St. Valentine's, February 14. There's a verse of a song by Robert Burns which would grace any Valentine —

"My love is like a red, red rose
That's newly sprung in June;
My love is like a melody
That's sweetly play'd in tune.
As fair art thou, my bonnie lass,
So deep in love am I:
And I will love thee still, my dear,
Till a' the seas gang dry."

Don't these lines make you think of Saint Valentine's Day? The winter may seem long and spring very far away — and then along comes Saint Valentine's Day! With a little planning you can make it a very pleasant break between Christmas and Easter.

Small boys and girls are full of questions and when they ask about "Saint Valentine" you can tell them that not one Saint, but several of them owned the name of "Valentine". The most famous of these Saint Valentines were two men who lived in the third century. One was a Roman priest and the other Bishop of Terni. They both met a martyr's death on February 14. The association of the Lover's Festival with their name was accidental.

During the old pagan festivals of Pan and Juno in February, young men and young women used to draw each other's names out of a box. There was much merriment over this rite. Gradually the ordinary folk continued this custom but carried it out on Saint Valentine's day.

Although the stores are full of pretty Valentines, and the books of Valentines to be cut out are a help to busy mothers, what about "home-made" ones? Pre-school children, especially, can spend many happy hours making valentines if mother will provide the necessary material. Spread out newspapers on the kitchen table and then assemble old magazines with colored pictures, paper doilies for borders, blunt scissors, paste and red carboard. Place a waste-paper basket nearby and have the children help clean up when they finish their handwork.

Even school age boys and girls can have a good time planning their own individual Valentines. They won't need help in making heart outlines, but they might like to have a little assistance in making up a rhyme. Here are two inexpensive books in the Pocket Book Series — "The Merriam-Webster Pocket Dictionary" and "Roget's Pocket Thesaurus"— which are useful in any home. Encourage your child to look up himself, the spelling or pronunciation of a word when in doubt. A thesaurus gives alternative words with similar ideas and helps a student distinguish different meanings.

Language is a tool and even in making up a verse for a Valentine, a child can grow in the skillful use of words. The same words get a bit monotonous when read a number of times such as —

"Roses are red, Violets and blue.
Honey's sweet and so are you."

Strive for a little originality in the versifying which goes on in your family. You may not have a real poet in your midst but you can have a lot of fun making up "I love you" verses!

LEADER IN RURAL PUBLICATION FIELD GETS RECORD MAIL

Over 156,000 Letters Received in 1951 by the Family Herald and Weekly Star

If the number of letters received by a magazine can be taken as evidence of popularity, then the Family Herald and Weekly Star stands high on the list of favorites. More than 156,000 letters addressed to service departments of the Family Herald were received during 1951.

Hundreds of these letters represent queries by farm readers to the Consultation Service, which gives Family Herald readers practical information on Farm Mechanics, Fur Farming, Veterinary advice, Horticulture, Field Crops, Feeding, Dairying and Poultry. More than 4,000 letters were addressed to these departments alone during 1951.

Letters of general interest covering hobbies, personal opinions, medical queries, requests for favorite songs on the "Old Favorite" page, and letters addressed to the "Observer" column, the "Voice of the Farm" page and to the editor accounted for another 8,000 letters. Letters to the woman's department were over 1,500, and requests for dress patterns, needlecraft and embroidery patterns appearing in the Family Herald, were responsible for 140,000 letters. The popular "Maple Leaf Club" page for pen pals and the "Just for Girls" page covering teen-age interests received almost 4,000 letters.

More than just mirroring the popularity of the Family Herald in over 400,000 rural Canadian homes, these letters are a sign of the confidence and reliance which readers have in this farm magazine, which has been a watchword on the Canadian rural scene for over 80 years.

Preventing Child Accidents

Accidents claim more young lives than any other listed cause of juvenile deaths in Canada. As a timely warning during National Health Week (February 3-9) the National Health League lists the following vital child safety rules for every parent to follow: —

1. Don't leave drugs and medicines within reach of children. Always keep them in a cupboard out of reach.
2. Don't leave cleaning fluids, insecticides, rat poisons and similar household articles within reach of children.
3. Don't leave a child alone in a room where there is boiling water or other hot fluid, even though you think he cannot reach it. Turn utensils containing such fluids so that the handles do not project beyond the stove or table.
4. Don't let the children play with matches or fire. Keep matches in a cupboard out of reach.
5. Don't leave scissors, knives, open tins, pins, razor blades, and other sharp instruments where children can get hold of them.
6. Don't make it easy for your child to fall and injure himself. Fasten such things as loose rugs, stair pads and loose edges on linoleum. Have protective screens on windows or fix them so that they cannot be opened too far.
7. Don't leave the wringer of the washing machine going for even a second while you are not watching it.
8. Don't have defective electric cords in the home or let the child handle electrical appliances.
9. Don't let infants play with or wear any ornaments small enough for them to swallow.
10. Don't leave fire-arms, even though unloaded, where a child can reach them.

Czech Immigrants Prove Initiative With Own Factory

Build Thriving Business As Shoe Manufacturers In Hamilton Suburb

Burlington, Ont. (CP) — A few years ago three young Czech immigrants pooled their meagre resources and began manufacturing shoes in an old parachute factory.

Today they run a $250,000 business that is pushing this Hamilton suburb near the top of the list of Canadian shoe-manufacturing centres.

The three came to Canada on the same ship 12 years ago. Tony Ronza 22, and Emil Svacina, 27, had a few dollars between them. Walter Sedlbauer, 18, was broke and hungry.

The three pooled their cash and helped one another out. For three years they worked in Canadian shoe factories.

To learn United States methods of shoe manufacturing Ronze worked for a while in the U.S. There he noticed big shipments of women's casual shoes labelled for Canada.

"Casual" means platform sole and wedge-heel shoe styles, largely for informal wear. Ronza and his two pals figured they could make the same type of shoe in Canada.

Lived in Factory

They made their headquarters in a wartime structure once used as a parachute factory. Sewing-machines were found to sew the leathers.

But they hadn't any money left. Homeless, they built living quarters in the factory. Their wives joined them in making the first pairs of shoes.

Today, the company is believed to be Canada's largest producer of casual shoes, turning out 500,000 pairs annually. A total of 150 persons are employed by the company, which has opened another plant at Hamilton.

The three families later moved from their factory living-quarters, bought one set of plans and built three identical houses in a Burlington sub-division. Husbands and wives worked with tradesmen to cut the cost of the $30,000 homes.

Canada is first in the world as a fish exporting country.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Annual Meeting of St. Simeon's Church

The annual Vestry meeting of St. Simeon's Church, Lachute, was held on Wednesday evening, January 30, and was well attended.

The report of the treasurer, Bories Arran, reflected a successful year, with all commitments met, the allotment to missions oversubscribed, and a good balance on hand.

The reports of the various organizations — of the Sunday School; the W.A., by Mrs. Morrow; the Ladies' Guild, by Miss Lulu Miller; the Altar Guild, by Miss Hampton; the Bowling Club, by Mr. A. G. Leggett — all showed progress and success.

The rector, the Rev. C. R. Lang, in his resumé and report, spoke of the considerable increase in the congregation during the past 15 years, particularly since 1942. He also drew attention to the serious fact that our English-speaking farm population is dwindling in numbers, and gave his opinion that this is a trend which ought to provoke serious thought.

The officers elected for the present year are:

Rector's warden, Bories Arran; people's warden, George Leggett; delegates to Synod — E. Barrie, A. Elliott; substitutes, A. Bothwell, A. Noble.

Select Vestry — David Brown, Arnold Parker, Wyman Strong, A. Bothwell, A. Stanley Holt, Gordon Silverson, Andrew Elliott, Bernard Hewitt, W. Shearsmith, D. R. Dorney.

Auditors — A. Bothwell, B. Jenkins and E. Barrie.

Special Preacher for Pentecostal Assembly

The Rev. W. B. Greenwood, of Belleville, Ont., District Superintendent for Eastern Ontario and Quebec of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada, will preach Sunday night, Feb. 17, at 7.30 o'clock at Brownsburg, addressing the Pentecostal Church, which holds its services in the Canadian Legion Hall. Mr. LaVerne Poirier, student-pastor of the congregation, will conduct the service.

Mr. Greenwood is a native of Markdale, Ontario. He received his theological education at the Western Bible College, Winnipeg, graduating in 1931. Before being elected to his present full-time administrative post in 1947 he served pastorates at Biggar and Moose Jaw, in Saskatchewan; Edwards, Kingston and Peterboro, in Ontario. His duties as district superintendent include the oversight of 90 churches in Eastern Ontario and Quebec which are affiliated with the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada, and the vice-presidency of the Eastern Pentecostal Bible College at Peterboro, Ont.

Year 1951 Reviewed at St. George's, Brownsburg

Brownsburg — The annual Vestry meeting of St. George's Church, Brownsburg, was held last week in the parish hall, under chairmanship of the Rev. C. R. Lang.

The financial statement for the year 1951, read by Sydney A. Seary, was the best in the history of this church. Mrs. N. D. Somers presented the report of the Ladies' Guild, which also showed a very successful record. The Guild had redecorated the parish hall during the past year.

Herbert Potter was appointed as rector's warden for the year, and G. H. Quinn was elected as people's warden.

Vestry Meetings Held In Northern Parish

The annual Vestry meeting of Christ Church, Mille Isles, was held on Monday evening, with the Rev. H. G. Baugh in the chair.

The financial report showed receipts of $697.88 during 1951 with expenses of $629.73. Balance on hand at the end of the year, $769.96. The church offerings had been higher than in any past year. It was agreed the Stipend Guarantee for 1952 should be raised from $450 to $600; and the Mission Budget $50. Gilbert Ryan was elected people's warden, and Russell Patterson was appointed rector's warden. Delegates to Synod — Col. G. M. Strong, Duncan Dawson. Sidesmen — Ronald Patterson, Albert Ward, Maxwell Ryan, Garnet Woods.

A vote of thanks was expressed to Mrs. N. Patterson for her loyal services as organist.

Extensive improvements to the church are planned in the near future.

The annual meeting of Trinity Church, Morin Heights, was held on January 21. The Rev. H. G. Baugh outlined the work during the past year, and noted that the state of the parish was a healthy one. During 1951 in the parish, 158 church services were held, of which 74 were in Morin Heights. Twenty baptisms, 6 marriages, 8 burials, 26 adults confirmed. Receipts $984.65, and expenditures $1,089.71, balance on hand, $522.60. Stipend Guarantee for 1952 is $350, Mission Budget $85.

Rector's warden, Mr. F. T. Watchorn, people's warden, Mr. J. Kennedy. Lay delegates to Synod — R. D. Mackenzie, F. T. Watchorn. The same vestrymen and sidesmen were elected as in 1951, adding the name of Peter Whalley.

The first annual Vestry meeting of the Church of St. Francis, in St. Sauveur, was held recently, and financial report showed receipts of $17,059.38, expenditures $17,058.80. The total debt on the new church and furnishings amounted to $10,000 at the end of the year. It was agreed to sign a Stipend Guarantee of $1,000 for 1952. This amount now makes the Parish of Morin Heights and Mille Isles practically self-supporting. Rector's warden is Commodore N. Bannatyne; people's warden, Mr. L. Fisher.

wedding is that the girl's eyelids are sealed for four days during her wedding, after which they are unstuck and she is permitted to see her husband.

The funeral ceremony is highlighted by a fight with the evil demons for possession of the spirit of the deceased. The belief is that these evil demons must pass through holes in order to obtain the spirit. To make it more difficult for them, paper money with holes in it is strewn along the way, while the corpse is carried swiftly up into the mountains for burial. The theory is that by the time the demons pass through all these holes, the body will be buried and the spirit safely on its way.

The Koreans have an inexpensive though somewhat barbarous approach to Old Age Pensions. When one of their number becomes senile, he is provided with five days' food and lowered into a pit. When the food is gone, he lies down and joins the skeletons of his senile friends who have gone before him.

Major Welbourn attempted to justify the recent atrocities committed by North Koreans, by explaining the Koreans as "blind, bewildered children, striking out in the dark". Recounting how the Koreans had been subjected to torture by the Japanese and Russians, the speaker feels that little better can be expected.

The speaker expressed admiration for the way the United States is "carrying the ball" at the present time in the Far East, but noted that their kind-hearted tolerance is interpreted as weakness by the Orientals. A strong supporter of General MacArthur, the speaker said that if the General had been allowed to go ahead as he wished, the Korean war would be over today.

However, Major Welbourn reassured the club members that there is no danger of China becoming Communist. It is too contrary to their way of life, and there are too many Chinese people to conquer.

The speaker was introduced by Keith Russell and thanked by Charles Moseley. Guests were Major Carswell, of the Salvation Army, Montreal, and George Y. Deacon, of Lachute. The meeting was chaired by the president, John Chalmers.

Resolution of Sympathy

At Lachute Town Council meeting, Wednesday evening, a vote of tribute and sympathy was expressed on the death of Dr. Alexandre Rodrigue, in his lifetime a former mayor, councillor and notable community figure in this town.

stationery and office supplies, a few gift items, papeteries, everyday greeting cards, and accessories. Since that time new lines have been added, and the business has grown steadily.

This company was appointed the representative for Royal Typewriter Co. Ltd., and its typewriter and adding machine service department now covers a territory extending from Ste. Agathe, south to the Ottawa River, and from Calumet and Hawkesbury, east to St. Eustache and Ste. Therese. In addition to typewriters and adding machines, various other office appliances are sold — filing cabinets, furniture and practically everything for the office.

A wide range of souvenirs is carried in the summertime to attract tourists. Definitely, this type of business supplying so many essential needs, deserves continued progress.

C-I-L Plant Expansion for New Type of Explosive

Lachute follows with keen interest any industrial and commercial expansion in Brownsburg. Progress in either of these two growing municipalities is reflected in mutual advantages to both.

We hear with pleasure that C-I-L is adding a large annex to its plant in Brownsburg, to be used for the making of a new and powerful explosive product, recently discovered and called "Seismocap". This innovation, which will likely require 200 to 300 employees before the end of the year, will no doubt improve the employment situation in this district.

This is another appreciable step in Industrial and Commercial Development, which is the aim and ideal of Lachute Chamber of Commerce.

Is Religion A Good Thing ?

Millions of sincere persons practice religion. These maintain that religion is beneficial and aids them to live and work for a better and happier life. Others assert that because of the vast number of religions on earth today, and the variety of viewpoints on the subject, many persons are confused and perplexed as to just what good religion has accomplished and thus are unable to determine whether it is worth having or not. Also, religion's part in world conditions, causes many to question religion's value today. Here, however, is an opportunity to find a satisfactory answer to a vital question. The 352-page book "What Has Religion Done for Mankind?" brings to the reader's attention an enlightening treatise on the world's leading religions. With the aid of this absorbing book you will be able to determine for yourself what religion has done and to decide which religion is good and true. Send for this book today, remitting 50 cents, and it will be mailed to you postpaid. . . Write The Watch Tower Publishing Co., 40 Irwin Avenue, Toronto.

Exciting Climax for President's Prize at Lachute Curling Club

Keen competition was witnessed Tuesday evening in the semi-finals of the President's Prize among the male curlers. Tallies were somewhat even on both sides at the last of the ninth end, with A. Ogilvie leading 10 to 8 against F. E. Earle. The last stones, however, settled the question, giving the former 2 points and a final 12-8. . . On the other ice the standing was — C. E. Richardson 8 and J. R. Charron 7 at the start of the 10th end, and with stones well guarded the former skip added 3, to finish at 11-7.

Finals on Wednesday night turned out a very close finish in one of the best played and most interesting games of the season. Both teams were right on their toes, and the misses were few and far between. Players were E. Pollock, R. Wyse, L. Brouillette, A. Ogilvie (skip) against S. Jones, H. Steele, S. McKyes, C. Richardson (skip). Outstanding were the shots by both skips, in their last stones, in switching the count from one side to the other. In the fourth end Richardson, with 4 against him, made a splendid play and lay 1 to the good. Each side won five ends, with the start of the 10th a tie. Ogilvie in his second play made a nice raise on his own stone, pushing back the blue and laying 2. It looked as though this was the end, but Richardson completely changed the picture, raised his opponent's stone onto the two counters and became winner by a single point, in a score of 11-10.

Those not present missed one of the best games of the season, and both sides are to be congratulated on excellent play.

Stackhouse Draw

Next in the competitions is play for the Stackhouse Cup, which commences tonight (Thursday); skips should consult the board and advise their teams.

Art and the Home

— By D. C. Muller

Color

Color is one of the most difficult and puzzling questions which has ever confronted the homemaker. Why this should be so, is very simple to explain. Let us say that you want to repaint that old bookcase in the corner. You go to the paint shop and there the trouble begins for he hands you a chart of colors and you look them over, then he hands you another, and another. Then you sit up and take notice of the stock he has to carry. Then you select one, and compare this to that other company's, and you notice a difference — as many manufacturers that he represents, he will have a different shade or blend, under pet names like "Sunset Orange", Crimson Orange", etc. What can be very exasperating is trying to match a color. Try it and you will see what I mean.

Colors generally fall into two categories — warm and cool colors. The warm colors are red, orange and yellow, together with their derivatives — yellow green, and red purple, to mention only two. The cold colors basically are blue and green — then they too have quite a list of relatives. In some ways it reminds me of a never-ending list of relatives which increases every time one gets married!

Many times when you see a color, you have a fair idea of what colors they blended to get that color — the paint companies themselves try to keep it secret, for just one portion too much will alter that shade and result in a different color. Sometimes what you think is just a simple blending and mixing is in reality a very complicated job. Therefore, stay close to a "true color" — standard color chart. Any paint shop will be glad to help you with your problem. For small things it doesn't matter too much. Larger jobs require much more care. Floors, for example, if you paint them, will get easily scuffed, and you have to keep at them. What a blow if you happen to run out of that shade and purchase one which is lighter in color.

Try to paint with colors which are sparkling and vivacious rather than those which are monotonous and dead. Break up the colors too so that your room is not all the same color and the same tone. Contrast the colors; this will also break up monotony. It is easy to achieve a monotonous result. . . Maroon, for example, goes very well with grey. If you were thinking of throwing out that old bookcase, try a coat of paint on it and see if you don't give it a new life. This will also be cheaper than buying a new one.

Next week I shall discuss Modern Colonial and Period homes.

Sunday Supper

By Betty Barclay

Sunday supper in many homes is a fairly light meal. Often it's served on trays, pick-up style, with the children gathered around the radio for the family's favorite programs.

This is the time to be informal and to enjoy informal food. But remember that young folks are likely to be hungry after an active outdoor afternoon. So, since meat has been the double-feature of the day — both at breakfast and at dinner — why not serve a cereal dish at supper, incorporating an adequate meat substitute, such as cheese? The recipe suggestion below offers both these nutritional items; and other attractions, too, not the least of which are the quick-and-easy directions for preparation:

Wheat Meal Supper Dish

¼ Teaspoon salt, 1¾ cups boiling water, ½ cup wheat meal, 1 cup grated cheese.

Add salt to boiling water in saucepan. Add cereal gradually, stirring constantly. Bring again to a boil and cook 3½ minutes, stirring constantly. Add cheese and mix well. Pour into 6 x 4 x 3-inch pan. Chill until firm. Cut into ½-inch slices. Dip slices in flour and sauté in small amount of fat, turning to brown both sides. Serve with buttered or creamed vegetables. Makes 6 servings.

Don't waste those left over egg yolks! Drop the yolks into boiling water and simmer for 15 minutes, then cool. They can be stored in the refrigerator until ready to use for sandwiches, salads, garnishes, canapes and so forth.—Consumer Section, Ottawa.

The Hen and the Chicken

There's a difference between chicken and fowl. Most people are familiar with young, tender chicken, which may be roasted, broiled or pan fried. On the other hand, the fowl, sometimes called "boiling" or "stewing" fowl, is usually cheaper but does not receive the attention it deserves.

Fowl are mature hens not producing enough eggs to pay their food bills, and surplus roosters culled from the flock. They are usually plump and meaty, because they have been turning their food into flesh. The dressed weight is from 3 to 6 pounds (feathers removed but head, feet and entrails intact). The home economists of the Consumer Section point out that roosters and old hens are good for canning and may be prepared in many ways to be served at the family dinner table. To can these birds, first cook them until they are partly tender. This shortens the processing time, which should always take place in a pressure canner.

Fowl should be cooked with moderate heat to be juicy, tender and evenly done to the bone. Full grown birds, past their prime for roasting, may be braised or served en casserole, but very old ones need long, slow cooking in water or steam to make them tender. These may be fricasseed, creamed, curried or used as the base for many dishes hot or cold. Stewing means several hours of slow simmering in water so do not boil. To steam a bird, lay it on a rack in a saucepan, with just enough water to the come to the level of the rack, but not to cover. Place a tight fitting lid on top and cook slowly. Liquid is added to maintain the same level.

To roast a fowl, it is necessary to first stew or steam it until tender. Then let it cool in the broth, breast down, for an hour or more, so that the juices will be reabsorbed, and stuff the bird with a favorite dressing. Rub the outside with melted fat, sprinkle with salt and brown in the oven. The remaining broth can become gravy or soup.

A fricassee is really a type of stew. To cook a fowl in this way, it is cut into individual serving pieces, then dipped in milk, coated with flour, salt and pepper, browned in fat and placed in a casserole dish. A sauce or gravy is made and poured over the chicken. It is covered and baked. An alternative method consists of stewing the pieces until tender, then brown in hot fat and return to the broth or a gravy.

A favorite dish on many dinner tables is chicken and dumplings. The fowl is prepared in the same way as fricasseed chicken and when the pieces are tender and the gravy thickened, the dumplings are dropped by spoonfuls on top, covered and returned to the oven. The dumplings will require about 15 minutes to cook and no peeking is allowed.

If the family appreciates a good, tangy sauce, a delicious Italian dish is Marengo. A fowl is cut into pieces and browned in hot fat. A gravy is made by blending flour with the fat, adding water and stirring until thick. To this gravy is added a cup of canned tomatoes, minced garlic, fried mushrooms, a cup of apple juice, chopped parsley and seasoning, stirred until blended. The browned chicken pieces are added and simmered in this sauce until tender; this takes about 2 hours.

For a chicken casserole, partially cook a fowl and remove meat from the bones. Arrange the chicken meat and vegetables in alternate layers in a casserole dish. Sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper. Add some broth, cover and bake until tender.

Stewed or creamed chicken may also be served in creamed dishes, salads or sandwiches. For these dishes, it is well to remember that a 4 to 5 pound bird usually yields 3 to 4 cups of chopped cooked meat. If the hen was plump and fat, the fat may be strained off the stock and used in cooking, the stock used for gravy, soup or broth. Many homemakers use the giblets in gravy. Chicken livers or giblets with mushrooms on toast are tasty combinations for main course dishes, the family are sure to love. An important point to remember about giblets is that, the gizzards and hearts need long, slow simmering, to make them tender. The livers on the other hand, are tender to begin with and so only need brief cooking.

Chicken or Turkey Curry

½ Cup finely chopped onion, ½ cup finely chopped celery, ¼ cup chicken or other fat, ⅓ cup flour, 2 cups chicken stock (fat removed), 1 cup tomato juice, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper to taste, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 3 cups diced cooked chicken or turkey.

Lightly brown onion and celery in fat. Add flour and blend. Add stock and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add tomato juice, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper, curry powder and chicken. Heat thoroughly. Serve in a green rice mould. Yield: six to eight servings.

Chicken Johnny Cake

2 Tablespoons chicken fat or other fat, 2 cups diced, cooked chicken, ¾ cup cornmeal, 1¼ cups sifted pastry flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg, ¾ cup milk, 1 teaspoon celery seed or celery salt, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, ¼ cup melted chicken fat or other fat.

Melt the two tablespoons fat in a 7 x 11 inch baking dish. Spread the chicken evenly over the bottom of the pan. Mix and sift together cornmeal, flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Combine beaten egg, milk, celery seed and parsley and add to sifted dry ingredients, stirring lightly. Quickly fold in the ¼ cup melted fat. Pour batter over chicken, spreading evenly. Bake in a very hot oven, 425°F., for 20 to 25 minutes. Unmould, inverted on platter or serve from baking dish. Garnish with parsley and pimiento. Serve immediately with chicken or giblet gravy or seasoned cream sauce made with part chicken stock. Yield: six servings.

Fricasseed Chicken with Sour Cream

1 Fowl (3½ to 4 lbs), 3 tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup fat, ⅓ cup chopped onion, ¼ cup chopped parsley or celery leaves, 1½ cups sour cream.

Cut fowl in pieces for serving. Rub fowl with vinegar and roll in mixture of flour, salt and pepper. Melt fat and brown meat on all sides in hot fat. Place browned chicken in a 6-cup casserole, add onion, parsley or celery leaves and cover with sour cream. Cook, covered, in a moderately slow oven, 325°F., until tender, about 2½ to 3 hours. Yield: six servings.

Canadian Hoedown A Hit on Tyneside

Newcastle, England (CP) —Canadian square dancing has hit this Tyneside area in a big way.

Early in the new year a Corn Cobbler's Club was formed for the teaching of Canadian square dancing, to raise funds in aid of the Poor Children's Holiday Association.

Dances were instantly a huge success and more than 700 would-be club members had to be turned away. Now a 400-member club is being formed at nearby Wallsend.

"We never expected such a crowd", said band-leader Spud Pickering. "Square dancing is one of the best things for making friends and we're going to grow even larger".

"War Orphans" Project Needs Public Support

Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, Executive of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, announced in Ottawa this week that a nation-wide search would be made during the month of February to find interested Canadians who would back the U.S.C.'s "War Orphans" Project. The energetic young director, who has devoted herself tirelessly for six and a half years to the needs of Europe's war victims, reminded Canadians that there are 13-million orphaned children in Europe who have been "missing" since world war two — "missing" what is every child's birthright — loving parents, their own home, the feeling of belonging in a family. The U.S.C. (an undenominational, voluntary relief oranization) has "adopted" thousands of these boys and girls and cares for them in Children's Homes in France, Austria, Italy and Greece, where they are not only fed and clothed, but are given a basic education and training in a craft or trade. Children who are "missing" arms and legs are fitted with artificial limbs. "Many of the children in our Homes", Dr. Hitschmanova stated, "have now reached the critical 12-year-old stage — perhaps the most crucial time of their lives. Now, as never before, they need to be assured that somebody cares."

Everyone interested in the welfare of these children may send their donations or write for further particulars to "War Orphans" Project, 48 Sparks Street, Ottawa.

Week-End Skiing

Pulling the iron-man feat in last week-end's skiing by entering two contests in two days, were two of Morin's star skiers, Grant Seale and Ross Gillingham. Seale, making his first appearance among the Class "A" Alpine skiers, joined Gillingham and Bob Baldwin to form Morin Heights' No. 1 team in Sunday's 30-kilometer relay race. For Saturday, Seale's run on the Nordik downhill was scheduled for 11.29; his 10-kilometer leg in the relay at 2 o'clock on Sunday. Eleven teams entered the Morin Heights relay race, including four units from the Viking Ski Club. With Father Jack Walberg on the No. 1 Viking team, and the two Walberg twins on the junior team and Les Gordon and Serge Varmala heading teams two and three. Morin Heights entered three teams, with two others representing McGill and the Red Birds. Military teams were Nos. 1 and 2 from the 6th Hussars.

News of Current SPORTS & Entertainment

Festival and Hockey Tilts At Brownsburg Arena

(Our District Correspondent)

Bouchard School Festival

The Christian Brothers who conduct the Bouchard Boys' School were very successful in their arrangements for the Festival which they organized at the local arena on Friday night.

The Rev. Fr. Bouchard, Mayor H. Pariseau, Alcide Larose, and the members of the Catholic School Commission, attended as representing the educational authorities, and a large paid admission witnessed the various events which made up an enjoyable evening.

Prizes were given to the winning pupils in the various events — skating, obstacle races, bicycle and tricycle races, blindfold ball events, novelty races of all kinds, and the highlight of the evening, the Adults versus Tots hockey game.

Lachute senior boys played Bouchard boys in a fast hockey encounter, which the latter won; and a feeling of good sportsmanship and fellowship, with plenty of laughs and all round enjoyment, provided a pleasant evening's entertainment. The score—Lachute St. V., 6; Brownsburg Bouchard, 4.

Brownsburg vs. L'Orignal

After a stormy and starry hockey game at the arena Saturday night in the Ontario-Quebec League, Brownsburg broke an overtime tie by scoring against themselves.

Bill Hewitt registered twice from close-in play — his first effort in the first two minutes of play. L'Orignal got the equalizer in fast wide-open hockey, which at times was rewarded with penalties when it became too torrid. Both teams tried hard to break the tie in the third session, but overtime play was called to force a conclusion. In the closing minutes Brownsburg withdrew its goal tender, but to no avail. L'Orignal were lucky when Harry Moseley scored for them in an exciting moment at his own goal.

The attendance was fair. The game was delayed to allow the ice to recover after the Lachute vs. Hudson boys' game earlier in the evening. A L'Orignal player suffered a broken arm in a joust with the boards.

Ste. Therese vs. B'burg Seniors

Brownsburg were lucky to tie a smart Ste. Therese squad at the arena on Sunday afternoon. The game opened with the locals attacking. The goalie was sound and lucky. On a breakaway Ste. Therese carried the puck rink-length and scored rather easily. Five minutes later Ste. Therese scored again while playing a man short. Two shots, two goals. Another score to Ste. Therese as the period ended.

Brownsburg registered in the first minute of the second stanza, during which play was loose and slow, till the closing minutes when Ste. Therese scored again.

As the play resumed, Brownsburg attacked but to no avail, till a long try from well-out beat the visitors. From the face-off Brownsburg again scored and some beautiful exchanges marked a very fast period. From a struggle around the visitors' goal Brownsburg again notched a marker, to tie the game, which ended with the locals trying desperately to put in the winning counter. . . An hour late and a tie game — 4-all.

Calumet's Lucky Win

The junior game at night was slow and desultory. Brownsburg were without the services of Brewer, Cumbers and Ouellette. Nevertheless, the local boys gave a good account of themselves.

In the first two periods the Brownsburg custodian was uncertain, letting in four markers, one of which was disallowed. Brownsburg replied with one in this period.

In the second, Calumet put two behind the Brownsburg net-minder, while the 'Burg again replied with one.

The third period was all Brownsburg's, scoring two goals and trying hard at the final whistle to tie it up.

John Duncan handled the game very efficiently, the play being never out of his control. Hewitt again entered the scoring columns and starred in the play. . . The game started on time.

New England Sled Dog Teams Visited Morin And Ste. Agathe

Staying with Col. and Mrs. J. W. Green, they left for Ottawa on Tuesday for the dog races there. Doctor Belford and Mr. Shearer, also of the New England Sled Dog Club, stayed at the Manor House in Ste. Agathe — also Mesrs. R. R. Lombard, W. Bellette, Tat Duval, Lieut. Lawrence of the American Army Air Force (with his team). After the races in Ottawa, these four teams were due to leave for Lake Placid, N.Y., and will return to Ste. Agathe for the races to be held there February 15, 16 and 17.

Sports and Activities At Lachute High School

By Anne Dwyer

Activities

Grade X is sponsoring an Ice Carnival this Friday evening in aid of the "Lampada". There is to be costume judging, fancy skating competition, races and, as a climax, a hockey game between the Grade X girls and their teachers. After these outdoor attractions, dancing and a box social will be held in the gym. Persons without a costume will be charged 40 cents; but for those wearing costume admission is only 20 cents. Ladies with boxes for the social will be admitted free.

Hockey

Wednesday night, January 30, the Lachute Seniors played against the French College, on the College rink. It was a bitter night — the real "winterish" weather which the team had hoped for. The final score was 8-2 for the College.

In the first period at 15.03 Jamison scored on a pass from Copeland, and a few seconds later Laframbroise tied the score, 1-1.

The second period showed a little more action. Legault scored and a few seconds later Morrow, confused by the manoeuvres of the opposing team, slid the puck into his own net, thus scoring for the French school. Jamison soon lifted the puck into the nets to try and make up for this misfortune. However, Joly tallied again for the French boys, in spite of every effort by the school team.

The third period started off with the College scoring again. Laframboise got two goals in quick succession, and Legault, on a pass from Giordin, scored the final goal of the game.

However, the Senior team ran true to form in winning the game last Saturday against Hudson. The final score was 7-2 for Lachute. Due to mild weather, the game was played in the Brownsburg arena.

The first period started off well, with McGibbon scoring from Thompson. At 16.35 Copeland relayed to Campbell, who shot the puck into the net.

In the second period Jamison, on a pass from Copeland and Campbell, tallied a point for Lachute. After this, Hudson woke up for a brief moment; the result was a score by Seguin, which ruined MacMartin's chance for a shut-out. At 12.20 McCrea skated up the ice and passed the puck to Campbell, who made the score 4-1 for Lachute.

The third period was quite exciting. Almost as soon as the game started Jamison picked up a pass from McCrea and tallied his second goal for this game. Later in possession of the puck again, he passed to Copeland, who scored in his own nifty way. By this time tempers were becoming heated and the boys were using their fists. After hostilities broke however, their tempers cooled and the game was resumed. The conflict seemed to have jarred Hudson and after a while Aubrey moved swiftly up the ice and confused the other players. He caught McMartin off balance and tallied the second goal for Hudson. Near the end of the period Copeland sent in the puck for Lachute again — this was the final tally.

L.H.S. Graduate Chosen Queen of Winter Carnival At Macdonald College

Macdonald College—The annual Macdonald College Winter Carnival is being held this week-end — from February 7 to 10. This carnival, which is a small scale model of the McGill Winter Carnival, is presented annually.

A Carnival Queen to reign over the week-end's events is elected by male students of the college two days previous to the Carnival opening. This year five candidates, including Miss Connie Dunn from Lachute, were nominated, and Connie, the winner, will be crowned on Thursday night.

Miss Dunn is a graduate of Lachute High School, now in her second year of the Home Economics at Macdonald College. She was named best actress of 1951 in the college's annual inter-class play competition, and has been very active in many other college activities since she came to Macdonald in 1950.

This year's Carnival features almost all imaginable sports, from swimming to skiing, and games from hockey to broomball. On Thursday the Carnival opens with the crowning of the Queen, a staff broomball game and tug-o'-war, inter-class skating races, figure-skating and the Carnival Ball. On Friday, Macdonald plays hockey against Loyola and on Saturday they play hockey against Carleton College of Ottawa, basketball against Queen's University, and the girls play basketball against Carleton, have a swim-meet with Carleton and McGill.

Waterworks Discussed and Committees Named at Two Busy Council Sessions

The regular meeting of Lachute Town Council was held on Wednesday, February 6, under presidency of the Mayor. All members were present, with the exception of Ald. Ernest Provost.

The secretary, Antonio Laurin, read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were duly adopted.

Two minutes of silence were observed in loyal tribute, on the death of His Majesty King George VI.

The secretary gave his report of the elections in West Ward.

The list of the town committees for this year was then adopted, as follows:

Roads and Streets—Ald. D. G. MacRae, chairman; Ald. Dr. Jules Lafleur and Ald. Ernest Provost.

Waterworks — Ald. Réal Morissette, chairman; Ald. Alcidas Laurin and Ald. D. G. MacRae.

Police — Ald. Stanley Holt, chairman; Ald. Alcidas Laurin and Ald. Ernest Provost.

Health and Hygiene — Ald. Dr. Jules Lafleur, chairman; Ald. W. S. MacKimmie and Ald. Ludger Gibeault.

Lights—Ald. Ludger Gibeault, chairman; Ald. Judes Charlebois and Ald. Dr. Jules Lafleur.

Finance — Ald. W. S. MacKimmie and the Council.

Reception and Embellishment — Ald. Judes Charlebois, chairman; Ald. Stanley Holt and Ald. Alcidas Laurin.

Auditorium — Ald. Ernest Provost, chairman; Ald. Judes Charlebois and Ald. Stanley Holt.

Assistance — Ald. Alcidas Laurin, chairman; Ald. Réal Morissette and Ald. W. S. MacKimmie.

The secretary was instructed to write a letter of condolence to the family of Dr. Alexandre Rodrigue, past-mayor of Lachute, who died recently.

Application was received from Edgar Jackson, caretaker of the chlorinator, for a raise in salary. This was left on the table.

Ald. Judes Charlebois was elected as pro-mayor, with authority to sign cheques when the mayor is absent.

Gerard Ampleman, of Central Taxi, requested that taxis in Lachute be obliged to carry insurance. The suggestion was tabled for further study.

A list of accounts for the amount of $11,086.99 was approved for payment.

The public meeting was then adjourned and the councillors assembled in camera. After due discussion the by-law to compel taxis to carry insurance was then passed in its first and second reading.

Antonio Laurin, secretary treasurer, was authorized to bid up to a certain amount on the property of the estate of the late John Blow, which is to be sold by Sheriff's auction on February 20.

A raise of $25 a month in the salary of Edgar Jackson, was then voted.

The meeting was then adjourned to Tuesday evening, February 12.

The Council meeting was resumed Tuesday evening, when a discussion took place on the project for increased water supply in Lachute. The question is still under study, whether the dam shall be deepened at the existing intake, or whether it would be better to extend the main to Sir John Lake.

The Council voted a motion to invite T. O. J. Lafrenière, of Montreal, chief engineer of the Quebec Department of Health, to visit Lachute and discuss the matter with the Council. In the event of Mr. Lafrenière being unable to make this inspection, the Mayor, Ald. Dr. Jules Lafleur (president of the Health Committee) and Paul Laliberté, town engineer, were authorized to see Mr. Lafrenière in Montreal and lay the matter before him.

Industry and Commerce in Lachute

Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

In Memoriam

It was with deep feeling that the population of Lachute, with the world at large, learned of the death of His Majesty King George VI. The Chamber of Commerce took immediate steps to have a printed photograph of His Majesty — with appropriate inscription as a loyal and affectionate tribute to the memory of our King — delivered to every store, restaurant, public place and school in Lachute, together with a letter from the Chamber president, asking each businessman to drape a window with flags, placing the printed photograph in the centre, as a demonstration that this community shares deeply in mourning the passing of our beloved monarch.

For the splendid co-operation extended in this gesture, the Chamber of Commerce is sincerely grateful.

Late Dr. Alex. Rodrigue, M.D.

The Chamber wishes to pay tribute to the "all-round country doctor" and one of Lachute's grand old residents, Dr. Alexandre Rodrigue, who recently passed away. Besides practicing his profession with pride and devotion, he was active in a large sphere of activities, particularly in school and town affairs, having served as councillor and mayor of Lachute Town, and as president of the Catholic School Board for 12 years, having supervised St. Alexandre and St. Julien schools during his term of office.

The memory of this worthy citizen will live long in the community.

Congratulations

— To Kilgour Hardie, Lachute, member of our Chamber, who has qualified among leading salesmen for Great-West Life Insurance Co. during the past year.

— To Walker McArthur, Lachute, also a member of the Chamber, and chairman of the Quebec branch of the National Association of Master Plumbers and Heating Contractors, who with three of his men, attended a week-long lecture series in Montreal. This course, called the "Wet-Heat School", teaches new and modern methods of installing hot-water and steam-heat systems, and ways of telling which type is best for various buildings.

Bon Voyage, Mr. President

Horace Lamarche, the energetic president of our Chamber of Commerce, left last Saturday for Chicago as a delegate of the Province of Quebec Milk and Powder Industry. He will be the host of the American Dry Milk Institute and Food Equipment Corporation in Chicago, and will also visit the States of Ohio, Iowa and Wisconsin, viewing recent improvements in milk powder manufacturing. There is no doubt that Mr. Lamarche will derive every benefit from this instructive trip, and will bring to his home-town new ideas to speed the pace of our Industrial and Commercial Development.

Second Monthly Industrial Tour

The second of our monthly industrial tours for members and friends of the Chamber of Commerce will be a visit to the Dominion Shuttle Co. Ltd., on Wednesday, February 27, at 3 p.m. This large and thoroughly modern plant, known throughout Canada, parts of the United States and foreign countries as a veneer and plywood industry, plays a very active part in Lachute's industrial picture. Let us keep this date open, for a visit that promises to be highly interesting.

The Chamber's monthly meeting will take place the following day, Thursday, February 28, at 7 p.m. in the Tessier Hotel, Lachute Mills. (Members will be notified by letter concerning these coming activities).

Support to Appeal Issued by Mayors

The Chamber of Commerce gives emphasis to an appeal on behalf of the unemployed, made in a letter signed by the Mayors of Lachute, Ayersville and Brownsburg — published in today's issue of The Watchman.

Many of us have various jobs to be done, and now is the time to do them—for later on it will be much harder to get the proper tradesmen, when the general spring activities are in full swing. . . Let us not forget — if we help the unemployed, we help ourselves.

"Concerts" Membership to Hear Youthful Pianist

Hungarian-Born Prodigy Has Notable Successes In Brief Career

Laszlo, 19-Year-Old Pianist

The Community Concerts Association has a treat in store, with the performance (next Monday, February 18) of youthful Ervin Laszlo, Hungarian-born pianist.

Ervin Laszlo, the young piano prodigy (now 19), displayed a desire, from the age of one, to play the piano — returning home from walks in Budapest and, still with his gloves on, trying to play. He received lessons from the age of five, first from his mother and then, after learning in six months as much as she could teach him, from the famous Dohnanyi. He practiced for five or six hours a day.

At five, for a fleeting instant, he thought of being a taxi-cab driver because he was and still is fascinated by automobiles, but after that impulse he never has wanted to do anything but play the piano.

At nine, Ervin made his first public appearance, as soloist with the Budapest Philharmonic Orchestra. He began a brilliant career, concertizing throughout Europe, until 1944, when the Nazis occupied Hungary.

At 14, he won the François Liszt prize and then the artist diploma from the Academy of Music where he studied.

Easter Seals Campaign Again Sponsored by Lachute Lions Club

The annual Easter Seals appeal, promoted in this area by Lachute Lions Club, will shortly be brought to the attention of the local public.

As in the past two years, some 35 Service Clubs in the Province, together with branches of the Canadian Legion and the Eastern Star, will co-operate in the Quebec Easter Seals campaign, aiding in the great task of helping cripples. Outside of Montreal, the sponsoring organization retains half of the proceeds raised in its district, for the care of crippled in that particular area. The remainder goes to the general fund of the Society for distribution where it will do the most good.

The Easter Seal this year depicts a little girl on crutches, gazing at a visionary picture of herself using a skipping rope. In the accompanying letter — with the sheet of 100 Easter Seals sent out in each envelope — the hope is expressed that through generous donations from the public the little girl will one day see her dream come true. "She has a broken leg — make sure she has not a broken heart". There are hundreds of other boys and girls and adults who look to the Quebec Easter Seal Society to help them overcome their handicaps and become useful members of society.

Medical care, provision of artificial limbs, vocational training and rehabilitation are some of the things that are made possible through grants given by the Society to schools that take care of crippled children, the Rehabilitation Society for Cripples and the Province of Quebec Society for Crippled Children.

All over the world the Easter Seal is the symbol of hope and help for the cripple. When the appeal goes out — the campaign is from March 20 to April 15 — it is hoped that the response will be such as to permit of a considerable expansion in the work being done.

REQUEST ON BARBERS' HOURS OF BUSINESS, AT B'BURG COUNCIL

"IN BROWNSBURG"
(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg —

A letter was received at the Council meeting from four of the five barbers practicing in the village, asking Council to alter the by-law governing hours of business so that they could remain open to a later hour, 9 o'clock, on Mondays and Thursdays, and close earlier on Saturdays.

The fifth barber, Mr. Parisien, objected to the earlier closing on Saturday evening.

Mr. Cousineau, one of the delegation favoring the change in hours, said that Saturday nights were not important nowadays and very little business came in.

Mr. Paquette explained the reason for the change was to facilitate the public; the present closing hour, 6 p.m., did not allow customers sufficient time after work, consequently there was a rush on Friday night when the shops were open till 9 o'clock.

Councillor Somers expressed the view of the meeting when he said that Council should not legislate for the barbers, but if they presented a unanimous request for a change of hours the Council would attempt to meet their wishes.

Auditor Changed

On a motion by Councillor Lavoie, seconded by Councillor Ouellette, it was decided to appoint Mr. Roland Morin, C.A., of Lachute, as auditor for the coming year.

Amusements

The local Legion branch applied for permission to remain open to 1 a.m. for a coming celebration. Permission was granted.

Mr. R. Gervais also applied for late closing permit on the occasion of a presentation to Ronald (Ronnie) Hebert, who was retiring from active participation in hockey with the Brownsburg Senior team after a term of 20 years as a playing member. This was also granted. Mr. Gervais thanked the

6 Months Jail Term for Attempted Safe Robbery

In connection with an attempted safe robbery at Ayers Limited two weeks ago, a resident of Lachute Mills was brought before the District Magistrate at St. Jerome last Friday. Pleading guilty, he received a sentence of six months in jail.

During a week-end exploit, the miscreant was foiled in an attempt to break open the Caisse Populaire safe, at the Ayers office. The intruder gained entrance to the offices from the river side of the building, then entered the bank quarters through an interior window. The handle and combination were found broken off but the safe had otherwise defied attempts to open it.

Provincial Police officers were notified and Det. Alfred Gagné, of Montreal, was assigned to the case.

The Welland Canal, short-cut around Niagara Falls for Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River ships, is 20 miles long.

LOCAL GAME OFFICERS BRING OFFENDERS TO JUSTICE, FINES LEVIED

Four cases of infraction of the game laws have been brought before the courts, and substantial fines imposed, through instrumenality of the Argenteuil game wardens.

The case of Georges Lebeau and François Baril of St. Michel de Wentworth, found by Game Wardens Gordon Cook and Fernando Lamarche to be in illegal possession of a deer almost a year ago, was settled just recently before the District Magistrate at St. Jerome. A fine of $50 and costs was imposed against each of the two offenders.

Arrested by Warden G. Cook last October in Terrebonne County, Dr. Dudley King, of Washington and Texas, faced a charge of killing a cow moose. Judgment was given in this case last Friday by the District Magistrate. The fine was $400; court costs, $463.

Paul-Emile and Léon Raymond, of Lac Marois, faced a charge at St. Jerome of killing two deer on February 4 in the Mille Isles district. Apprehended by Game Wardens G. Cook and L. Savard, their trial netted fines of $150 apiece.

This week before L. E. Dumais, J.P., of Lachute, P. Guimont of Brownsburg was fined $75 and costs, for killing a deer with a .22 rifle in the area north of Brownsburg. Wardens Leslie Bates and G. Cook made the investigation and found the incriminating evidence.

Scout Group Committee Plans Annual Appeal

New Chairman and Secretary Appointed

Members of the Lachute Scout Troop — Stanley Alexander, Ronald Armstrong, Bill Stansfield and Randolph Ellliott — passed their Second Class badges, at the regular Scout meeting in Lachute High School last Thursday evening.

Another successful paper drive was conducted by the Scouts recently, when almost three tons of paper was collected. The Scouts are grateful to the people of Lachute for their co-operation in this canvass, and also to Wilson Motors Ltd., Deacon Motor Sales and Pollock & Graves Motor Sales, for the use of their trucks for their paper collections.

Arrangements were completed for the local troop to attend a Junior hockey game at the Forum in Montreal on Tuesday evening.

Plans are also being made for the patrol leaders and troop leaders to attend a Patrol Leaders' Banquet in Montreal on Saturday, February 23.

The local Boy Scout Group Committee met last Thursday evening. Bernard Jenkins was nominated chairman, following the resignation of Linton Armstrong due to the latter's recent appointment as District Commissioner. Dr. W. M. Hooper also resigned as secretary, and Norman Lavis was appointed to fill this position. Preliminary plans were laid for the annual campaign for funds. A dinner meeting for Committee members and workers is to take place in the Legion Hall on Monday evening, February 25, to mark the opening of the campaign in this locality.

FOG, POOR VISIBILITY BLAMED FOR TRAGEDY AT STAYNV'L CROSSING

Jurymen Give Verdict Of Accidental Death; Recommend Signal

Inquest on the death of Paul Sharko, 32, of Hawkesbury, and Mrs. Jeanne Roy, 36, of Ville Marie, killed in a collision with a freight train at Staynerville in the early hours of Sunday, January 27, was held at the Court House here before a jury of Lachute citizens, with District Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur presiding. Evidence led to the jurors' verdict of accidental death — with a recommendation that an illuminated warning signal be erected at the crossing to indicate the approach of trains at this point.

Evidence given by two other occupants of the car, and by three trainmen, showed that mist hung heavily over the region, that the car driver had not seen the train (into which he crashed at the fourth freight car from the rear), nor had the train crew seen the lights of the car on the highway. The freight train had proceeded eastward on its run, the crew being unaware of the crash. One of the witnesses was a crewman on a snowplow train halted on a siding near the scene of the tragedy.

STORY OF PARACHUTES AND PARATROOPS IN ROTARY TOPIC

Paratroop Landings Used In Major Offensives Of World War II

Marcel Coté, guest speaker at last meeting of the Rotary Club, addressed the group on "The History and Use of the Parachute". Mr. Coté, who is superintendent of Agencies for the Phoenix Fidelity Insurance Co., Montreal, served as a paratroop officer in World War II.

Tracing the history of the parachute, Capt. Coté remarked that the first plans were drawn up by Michaelangelo, but the first parachute was made in France a century later. At that time, the French originated the use of balloons held aloft by hot air. The highly inflammable nature of these "aircraft" necessitated some means of escape. Crude parachutes were built, which were fastened to the bottom of the basket suspended beneath the balloon. If the balloon caught fire, the "pilot" was to climb out, into his parachute, and drift down to safety. There is no record, however, that these were ever used.

The first parachute drop on record was made in France in the 19th century. The parachutist descended from a height of 2,000 feet. He later repeated the stunt from 8,000 feet before royalty in London. An interesting note to this, is that the parachute oscillated so much that the man was almost thrown from his basket, and was so sick when he reached ground that he was unable to accept the plaudits of the royal observers and the watching crowds!

For the next 50 or 75 years parachute jumping became regarded as cheap entertainment, and was confined to circuses and fairs. Indeed, in England it was banned for many years.

Then came World War I, with the use of observation balloons and the formation of the Royal Flying Corps. These awkward balloons, and even the airplanes of that time, were veritable 'sitting ducks' for airborne enemy marksmen. During the first few months of the war the average life-span for a pilot was two months. Eventually a crude parachute was developed, and since that time they have been standard equipment.

Capt. Coté explained that the word "parachute" means "against fall". Between the two wars, aircraft progress was paralleled by progress in the construction of parachutes, so that by the time World War II started, the parachute had changed considerably from its earlier form.

The parachute is of three parts — the canopy, the shroud lines, and the banners. The canopy and shroud lines are made of raw silk, the harness of linen fabric. The canopy and lines are folded and are carried in a pack. Depending

Contributors to Prosperity -- V

Growing industrial centre of the Ottawa Valley is the City of Hull, where a plentiful supply of electricity at low cost has made possible the variety of industries which spell prosperity for any community.

The names of the E. B. Eddy Company and of Canadian International Paper Company at nearby Gatineau are household words throughout Canada. So too is the name of the Canada Cement Company, whose Hull plant produces a million barrels of cement each year. Less widely known and yet each making its own important contribution to the prosperity of the whole district are the numerous smaller industries which operate in the Hull area.

Hull is indeed a city whose varied products find their way to the markets of the world. So numerous are its activities that it is difficult to record them all, but a few can serve to give the general picture for the many.

There is, for instance, Lucerne Food Products Ltd., which ships processed cheese, mayonnaise and salad dressing to France and to the British West Indies as well as to every part of Canada. South Africa, the Indies and other provinces of Canada are the markets for Sterilized Wiper Towel Supply - Industrial Bag Company, which produces cotton wipers, polishing cloths, wool and cotton waste and a wide variety of bags used in many ways and in many places.

In an entirely different field, there is the Walters Axe Company turning out almost half a million axes a year for use in New Zealand, South Africa and South America as well as in the forests of Canada. In yet another line of activity, the S. E. Woods Mfg. concentrates largely on army supplies; and the company's shirts, breeches, parkas, jackets, tents, tarpaulins, pack-sacks and sleeping robes are to be found around the world in the equipment of the armed forces of the United States and Canada.

These industries and many like them are good customers of the Gatineau Power — and important citizens of a growing Hull.

Young Plowing Champs Now on Overseas Tour

London — Mr. Norman S. Tyndall, 24, and Mr. E. Eugene Timbers, 18, Ontario tractor and horse plowing champions, respectively, are in Britain to take part in the West of England Plowing Match at Newlyn East, and in the North of Ireland International Plowing Match at Belfast. They are the youngest team ever to represent Canada in these matches.

A New Spring Wheat For Eastern Canada

Ottawa — In the past six years there has been an increase of over 20 per cent in the spring wheat acreage in Eastern Canada. This may be attributed at least in part to the high cost of feed grains, and also to the introduction of better disease resistant varieties, such as Coronation, Regent and Cascade.

The Cereal Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, announces that another hard red spring wheat, called "Acadia", and suitable for Eastern Canada, has been licensed. This variety is a high yielding, bearded wheat. It has been tested in Eastern Canada for the past 10 years, and has been a consistently high yielder, having a better than 2-bushel lead over its nearest competitors, Huron and Coronation II. Acadia has a strong straw and is mid-season in maturity. In the field it presents a pleasing appearance with its good uniformity, good color, and ample tillering ability. It has a favorable disease reaction, being resistant to bunt and black chaff; moderately resistant to stem and leaf rust; semi-resistant to loose smut, and has also shown good resistance to some of the forms of root rot generally found in the east.

It should be born in mind that this new variety is only intended for use in Eastern Canada, as it is not equal to Marquis in quality, being slightly lower in protein and loaf volume. It is mainly intended for use as a feed wheat, but can be used satisfactorily for milling into flour and baking into bread when the need arises.

Seed of Acadia is being increased on most of the eastern Experimental Farms and Stations this year, and ample seed should be available for a general distribution to eastern farmers in 1953. It is expected that Acadia will be distributed, as far as seed permits, in two-bushel lots. Those interested in securing seed should write to the Superintendent at their nearest Experimental Farm or Station in their own province, to have their names listed to purchase seed when available. Orders will be filled in order of application. The price has not been set, but will be reasonable. There will be no seed available for general distribution this year.

members and invited them and their wives to the party, at the Flamingo Grill.

The amusement tax for the month of December amounted to $555.44 — this amount is being forwarded to Quebec. The secretary remarked that the skating arena provided a prolific source of revenue.

Among the items read by the secretary in the monthly vouchers was one for a sum of $69 to Maurice Lafleur for collecting garbage.

Councillor Somers protested very strongly at the introduction of this bill. He said his understanding was that Lafleur asked permission of the Mayor to make the round of the garbage route so that he would be in a position to submit a tender for the work. The matter was presented to the Council at last meeting by the Mayor just as a minor concession to Lafleur and at no cost to the Council.

Councillor Lavoie: "It was my impression that there was no cost, and Lafleur was just to do the route so he could estimate his tender."

The Mayor remained silent in face of the councillors' charges, but Mr. Lafleur said it would be a fool who would collect the garbage without being paid for it.

Councillor Somers: "We didn't ask to have it collected, our own truck was available and the Council gave no order to change it. At this price it would cost $4,000 a year to collect the garbage we just gave out on tender at $2,500. Is this the way the Mayor is going to effect all the savings he has promised us?"

Mr. Lafleur said he ruined a truck tire worth $175 at the dump because it became penetrated with plugs sent there by C-I-L.

Councillor Somers: "That's none of our business."

Councillor Lavoie: "How did C-I-L send plugs there, why not use their own dump?"

The town foreman said some children had scattered the plugs around there. They got into all four of Lafleur's tires, but he should have looked out for that.

Councillor Somers continued to protest the payment of this amount.

Payment of the vouchers was passed on the motion of Councillor Ball, seconded by Councillor Charbonneau.

Finance

The secretary's financial report showed that the total revenue of the municipality was $53,400.78, against an expenditure of $46,252.15, leaving a surplus of receipts over working expenses of $7,314.78 for the general fund, and a deficit of $166.15 on the waterworks operation.

Details of the auditor's report are to be printed and circulated among the taxpayers. Anyone desiring a copy may obtain same from the secretary, Emile Hebert. The report is too long for publication in this column.

Youthful Pianist

In September 1947, when he was 15, he entered the International Music Competition at Geneva in which 500 artists from 40 countries competed for the grand prize. With the age limit for the contest 35, Ervin was the youngest competitor. His greatest thrill, until coming to America for the first time, was winning this contest.

When the Nazis occupied Budapest and the rest of Hungary in 1944, Ervin, his mother, father and grandmother were driven out of their apartment. While Ervin and his mother were hidden through the intervention of the Swedish ambassador, Ervin's father, a lawyer and industrialist, was sent to Russia in a labor battalion made up of professional men.

Ervin and his mother found rooms on the third floor of a four-storey residence on the Pest side of the Danube. During eight weeks of day and night bombing, the first and fourth floors of the building were bombed but the third floor remained intact. . . It was a year after the Nazi occupation of Hungary before Ervin could resume practicing.

He looks like any young American youth, rather quiet but with a great deal of poise, who likes people and wants them to like him.

Now, there are two things Ervin is sure about — he loves everything about music and he loves everything about America. Since coming to the United States for his debut recital at New York's Town Hall in 1948, Ervin has taken sight-seeing tours of New York City, marvelled at Pike's Peak, which reminds him of the Alps of Switzerland, eaten sundaes — any kind and at every opportunity — and hot dogs, and made many young American friends.

The extraordinary success which Ervin Laszlo scored when he made his New York debut had such an electrifying effect upon the audience and music critics present that he was interviewed by Life, Time and Newsweek magazines. The news of his fame spread so quickly that he was at once engaged to appear with the Dallas, San Antonio, and Houston Symphony Orchestras under Dorati, Reiter, and Kurtz. Recital appearances in 20 American cities, large and small, confirmed the verdict of the New York press that here is a young, personable, modest and immensely gifted pianist who is "destined to make a big stir in the musical world for years to come."

KITTEN FROM WOODS TURNS OUT FIGHTER

North Bay, Ont. (CP)—The cookhouse cat at a lumber camp north of Timmins took a walk in the woods, and some time later, Brandy was born.

When lumberman Eric Skead turned the kitten over to his friend Bruce McEwen in nearby West Ferris, he confided that there was something peculiar about Brandy. The kitten looked and acted like a lynx.

Today Brandy is a 20-pound tomcat with shoulders like a boxer. He is the terror of every dog in town and refuses to be picked up and petted by anyone except the members of the McEwen family.

Edmonton (CP) — At an age when most men retire, 75-year-old Joseph Gibson is completing a seven-room house he built in Edmonton during the last three years.

Modern house-building is "different altogether from building log shacks on my homesteads", said the amateur carpenter, first trained as a gardener in England.

Gibson built his first homestead shack in the Leduc area south of Edmonton, with an axe. When it was completed he found it was on a neighbor's land. He later bought the land.

"It's nice to enjoy some comfort in the later years", said Gibson as he puttered around with a paint brush in his newest home.

God Rest the King!

ON THE EVE of a last, loyal tribute — a demonstration more sincere than that accorded to any public figure within our memory — the people of Canada bid adieu to their late monarch.

Even to the smaller settlements and far-flung outposts, thanks to modern communications that have bridged distinctions between high and lowly, the late King George VI was beloved in every loyal home. His life has been an example of sacrifice to the interests of his subjects; and the observance of public mourning is something far deeper than a formality — it is the expression of our individual gratitude, our sorrow and our sympathy.

The commonwealth countries are an aggregate of cities, towns and rural settlements. On the occasion of the Royal funeral tomorrow, Lachute will join, as one small centre, in the public expression of esteem — but none will join with deeper sincerity, as we bid farewell to a gracious and a noble King.

The Royal Title

A SOUTH African newspaper said Saturday that the British government may have violated a Commonwealth statute when it proclaimed Elizabeth II as "head of the commonwealth", rather than giving her the traditional title of ruler of the "dominions beyond the seas".

The pro-government newspaper Die Burger in Capetown said that at first glance it appeared the British proclamation violated the 1931 Statute of Westminster, which declared the parliments of the dominions were autonomous and that no change could be made in the British ruler's title without approval by both the British and Commonwealth parliaments.

A spokesman for the privy council at London however, said the proclamation itself was "only a method of describing" the new Queen, and has no effect on her official, legal titles.

The old phrase, ruler of "the dominions beyond the seas", was retained in Canada's official proclamation of the accession, but the Ottawa proclamation dropped the word "dominion" in direct reference to Canada. Ottawa officials welcomed the change in the British proclamation and said something of the sort had been expected because the new republic of India, while a member of the commonwealth, dislikes the title "dominion".

Canadian officials, like the London spokesman, explained that any change in the correct legal title for the British ruler must be approved at some time by all the parliaments of the commonwealth. . . But to the common folk of Canadian communities, who "met" Her Royal Highness and appreciated the grace and friendliness she displayed so tirelessly on her recent tour, these technicalities of her title are of little moment. To them she is "Elizabeth" — now our beloved Queen,

Verbal Surplus

L. HORE-BELISHA (renowned for his wartime traffic beacons, among other achievements) seems to shine also in the English language. Listen to this, in the London Times:

"I yield to none in my admiration for the generosity — not to say nobility, with which the American and Canadian peoples have approached our common war and postwar financial problems.

"But from my own experience in discussions in the United States, I have a strong impression that a clean-cut assumption of financial responsibility on the basis of relative incomes would come to be regarded as infinitely more salutary than the present eleemosynary relationship, so damaging to the giver and receiver alike, of recurrent doles to the deserving poor."

— We appreciate the sentiment — but give us the good old Churchillian simplicity.

Education Looks Healthy

ANYONE looking over the Canadian scene might well come to the conclusion that education is one of the healthiest institutions in the country, says Canadian Business in a February editorial. It is certainly true if self-criticism and the lack of complacency are measures of health and development.—And it may be noted that, in matters of self-scrutiny and constructive criticism, this area of Argenteuil-Two Mountains, displays a keen consciouness of educational needs.

There is scarcely a day in which some aspect of education is not under fire from an individual or group. This does not reflect any lack of appreciation for what has been accomplished, but a lively realization of what there is yet to do.

After pointing out some of the problems facing education authorities, the editorial suggests that while we study the problems objectively we might at the same time take a subjective look at our own educational progress. Did our education stop at the age of 15, 18 or 21? Or can we say like the poet: "I am a part of all that I have met!" Continued progress in educational matters will depend in large measure on the maturity and judgment of a truly educated adult people.

In the Animal World

ANIMALS are getting smarter and smarter in Ontario. Foxes climb trees and wolves keep an eye cocked for low-flying aircraft.

It seems that the grey fox, a rare type which usually prefers warm climates and scrubby desert land, is moving into the province — from Minnesota in the northwest and from New York State in the east. One was shot in Welland County recently.

That prompted the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests to do some research on grey foxes and in its weekly news release, "Conservation Corner", reports the result: They climb trees.

If chased by dogs, the department says, the grey fox tires quickly and retires to its den or takes to a tree. In fact, females have been known to raise litters of from three to five cubs in a hollow tree 25 feet above the ground.

So if anyone says you're crazy as a fox, tell him to go climb a tree!

Now about wolves vs. airplanes! . . In North Bay the other day, the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association was told by a trapper that wolves are teaching their young to be wary of aircraft. That was why, he said, hunters who use planes to kill the predators had indifferent success in the past year. The wolves were smartening up.

The whole thing raises the possibility of foxes falling out of trees all over Ontario and wolves being employed as plane-spotters in the event of another war.

ANCIENT PASTIME — Dice-playing has been traced back almost to the beginning of history and there were sharpies even in that era, because loaded dice have been unearthed in the ruins of Pompeii.

FORMER President Calvin Coolidge liked to tell of the four admonitions that built New England — "eat it up, wear it out, make it do, do without". Perhaps there is still some merit in these forgotten virtues. They might be worth a thought in an age whose most popular demand is security provided by someone else.

"The Music Goes Round and Round"

Once there was a farmer who raised corn, and a man who raised hens but no corn. The hens said "no corn, no eggs". So the man agreed to work for the farmer one day a week for $5 a day. And the farmer agreed to sell corn to the man for $1 a bushel.

They paid each other off every time with the "long green". The farmer paid the man $5 and the man paid the $5 back to the farmer for the five bushels of corn which he wheeled home in his wheelbarrow. After a while, the man said to the farmer, "Everything's gone up, and I regret intensely to inform you that I can't work for less than $6 a day."

The farmer said, "I understand. But you must understand that everything's going up with me too, and I regret intensely to inform you that I can't sell you my corn for less than $1.20 a bushel". The man said he understood. So, the man got $6 a day and at $1.20 a bushel paid the farmer the $6 for five bushels of corn. Both of them said, "Happy days are here again."

By and by the man said to the farmer, "Things have gone up still more, and I can't work for less than $7.50 a day". The farmer agreed that was fair, but told the man that things were going up still higher with him. He would have to get $1.50 a bushel for the corn. The man agreed that was fair, and both said, "Prosperity is here". After all, the man was getting $7.50 a day. The farmer was getting $1.50 a bushel for corn, and the hens were getting five bushels as always.

And so things went until the man was getting $10 a day and the farmer got $2 for a bushel and the man gave the farmer $10 for five bushels. And the hens kept right on laying, even on Thursdays, and the man told his wife, "Ain't it wonderful? . . $10 a day!"

And the farmer told his wife, "Ain't it wonderful . . . $2 a bushel." And the hens kept clucking away on five bushels of corn.

And the statisticians down Washington way said, "Ain't it wonderful? . . . National income at record levels". And the politicians said, "Ain't it wonderful", and bragged that they had done it. And everybody felt so good and prosperous that the man and the farmer voted for the politicians; and that is how it was "eggsactly".

The man got three times as much for the eggs, but paid three times as much for his shoes, "and the music went round and round."

"THINGS AN' STUFF"

— By —
WALTER HENRY JACKSON

This week we're going to have a few more Limericks, by request. You'd never guess who made the request. I did — for the simple reason that I can't think of anything else at the moment. So here they are:

There was an old lady from Britain
Who spent her time sitain and knitain.
She reached for her cat
And gave it a pat,
Saying, "That's what I raised from a kitain."

Said a clever young fellow from Guelph
Who was busy erecting a sheulph.
'I'm one of those fools
Who's so handy with tools
I can do the whole job by myseulph!"

There was a young man from Longueuil
Who went out in a boat for a saueil.
The boat got upset,
He was spilled in the wet,
And rode home on the taeuil of a whaeuil.

There was a young man from L'Epiphanie.
Who took little exercise, Iphanie,
And yet he could run
Like a son-of-a-gun
And next day he never felt stiphanie.

There was a young fellow from Sydney
Who drank till he ruined a kidney.
It shrivelled and shrank
While he sat there and drank.
But he had a good time at it, didney?

Said a fussy young fellow named Douglas:
"I prefer that my room should be rouglas,
And instead of a bed
I've a hard bench instead.
So my bedroom's entirely bouglas."

There was a young man named Zygmertowicz
Who wanted to — — Aw, never mind. That's enough for one week!

Be seein' ya!

MODERNIZE SCOUT TESTS

Eight new badges and modernization of the basic tests feature a new edition of the Boy Scouts Association "Policy, Organization and Rules" for Canada. Recently off the presses, the new "P.O. & R." represents the first major revision of the regulations in 10 years and necessitates the rewriting of most of Canada's Scouting textbooks.

Among the new Proficiency Badges are the Aircraft Modeller, Dog Handler, Hiker, Mountaineer, Rope Spinner, Stamp Collector, the Venturer and the Woodworker. Twenty-five thousand copies of this edition have been printed.

The success of their teamwork carried them triumphantly through Varsity into the Army Show in Canada and overseas. They realized a long deferred ambition when they got into radio shortly after being demobilized from World War II.

NOT ONE! NOT TWO!! BUT THREE!!

Cubmaster Owen Cook of the Fifth Brantford (Ont.) Wolf Cub Pack recently was privileged to invest three brothers, all the same age, as Tenderpad Cubs. ## Seasonal Campaign on Behalf of Unemployed

To Employers, Manufacturers, Trade and Business Establishments, and Domestic Householders:

We are launching an employment campaign on behalf of workers who could now be used by many with marked advantage.

We have carpenters, painters, paper-hangers and many semi-skilled workers who would appreciate having odd jobs to do during the slack months of the season.

We shall be pleased to receive requests from anyone having temporary work to offer — work of any nature.

Men who are now idle will be busy in a couple of months, and employers who have small jobs to do, might find it hard to get men available later on.

There are jobs that can be done during this period of seasonal unemployment, and such jobs should be undertaken immediately. Employers who give assistance to unemployed persons at this period, will at the same time be rendering themselves a good service.

—National Employment Service
415-A Main St., Lachute.

Appeal Endorsed by Mayors of Lachute, Ayersville, Brownsburg

Dear Fellow Citizens:

We are pleased, as Mayors of our respective communities, to fully endorse the present policy of the National Employment Service so far as a special winter-employment campaign is concerned.

Each winter Canada has to face the same seasonal unemployment problem, and our municipalities do not escape it.

This is not only an individual problem but one which affects all of us, collectively.

Let us remember that no locality can enjoy true prosperity unless all are working.

Have you any jobs to be done? Manufacturers, store-keepers, and establishments of all kinds, as well as domestic homes, who propose to have some repairs, some painting or paper-hanging, or any other small jobs done, would do well to use men who are available now due to the seasonal nature of our economy; and by using their services at present, employers and the community have much to gain. Later on, it will be difficult to obtain services of such men.

If you can help by offering some of the unemployed men any temporary work, please do not hesitate to communicate with the National Employment Service, at 415-A Main Street, Lachute (tel. 122), where experienced men, such as carpenters, painters or other kinds of workers, eager to work, are registered and at your disposal.

We thank you for your kind co-operation.

— James W. McGibbon,
Mayor of Lachute.

— Gilbert Ayers,
Mayor of Ayersville.

— Hector Pariseau,
Mayor Brownsburg.

FATE PROVES CRUEL TO PRAIRIE CENTRE

Regina (CP) — A notice in the current issue of the Saskatchewan Gazette records the reversion of Caron from a village to hamlet.

Five years ago a similar notice recorded its reversion from the status of town to that of village.

But once it was a different story. Even before Saskatchewan became a province, Caron — 19 miles west of Moose Jaw — was a thriving centre.

On January 11, 1904, it became a village. Two years later, with the required population of 500, it became a town — bigger at that time than many of the centres which later became cities and large towns.

But, with the passing of the 20s and the coming of the dry, dusty 30s, Caron had seen its best days. The light, sandy soil nearby needed rain to grow crops. And the rains came not.

When Caron gave up the ghost and became a village January 1, 1947, it had a population of 160. Today there are fewer than 120 and as a hamlet the community becomes part of a rural municipality.

Rouge River School Board Deeply Concerned With Welfare of Local Children

TO THE EDITOR

At a regular meeting of the Rouge River Board, with all members present and the chairman, J. Trineer, presiding, considerable discussion was given to the article in The Lachute Watchman of January 17. It was unanimously agreed that the Board should clarify some of the misleading statements contained in this article.

A petition was received indirectly by the Rouge Board containing 58 names. Of these names 26 are not ratepayers, leaving a total of 32 bona-fide signatures. The board welcomed this free expression of opinion on the part of 32 of our 225 ratepayers, but, does not hold that the minority rules.

The Rouge Board is building a six-room school at a central point of the school municipality which will not exceed a cost of about $75,000. The Central Board is of the opinion that a school costing over $180,000 should be built outside the municipality, at Kilmar, which we would be obliged to pay for.

At present the children from Avoca are being transported 29 miles each way every day, which many parents and children find too long a haul, as the children have to be ready for school at 7.15 a.m., returning home at about 5 p.m., which gives them a school day of at least 10 hours. The longest drive to the new school would be 13 miles.

The Rouge Board is deeply concerned with the absentee despotism that is trying to force this school municipality into tremendous expenditures, when it is the majority opinion that such expenditures are not necessary or in keeping with the taxpayers' ability to pay.

The Rouge Board is interested in keeping our community together as a whole, and feels that a central school would do duty not only as a school but as a community centre for our district, which is badly needed.

— J. M. Doherty,
Secretary-treasurer.

Brussels Perturbed By Many Car Thefts

Brussels (Reuters) — Car thefts in this Belgian capital have reached an all-time high, but only about one car in five is stolen by a professional thief for re-sale.

Bands of teen-aged delinquents are the biggest headache to police. Armed only with a set of skeleton keys, they "borrow" cars to take the girl friend for a ride or go on a jaunt with a bunch of pals. The cars are then dumped on the outskirts of the city.

There are not enough policemen on the beat to watch every car, an official said. The limited force is fully engaged in traffic control, administration and other routine duties.

"In any case", this official added, "policemen are not benevolent car park attendants".

Brownsburg Resident Was Veteran of Two Wars

Late Percy G. Nichols

Percy G. Nichols, of Brownsburg, passed away on Friday, February 1, at the Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital, after a lengthy illness. Born in Bristol, England, in 1884, he served with the Imperial Army in both the Boer War and World War I. Later coming to Canada to take up residence, he lived for some time in Metis, then moved to Verdun before coming to Brownsburg, where he made his home with his niece until being taken to hospital last fall.

His wife predeceased him some time ago. Besides two sons and one daughter, he leaves to mourn his loss three brothers.

The funeral was held Sunday, February 3, from his late residence in Brownsburg to the United Church, and thence to Brownsburg section of the Lachute Cemetery. Service was conducted by the Rev. S. J. Pike, minister of the Brownsburg United Church, where last tribute was paid by quite a number of friends and relatives, together with Comrades from Branch 71 of the Canadian Legion, of which the deceased was a member. Pall-bearers were six comrades from that Branch — Irwin Martin, Jack Seary, Dave MacCullough, Gordon Nixon, John and Donald Graham.

Sun Life of Canada Cuts Cost of Insurance by Policy Dividend Increase

Also Holds 1951 Canadian Company Record With $461 Million New Business

Announcement of a further increase in policyholders' dividends, reducing insurance costs; an all-time high in benefits paid; the largest volume of new life insurance issued by any Canadian company in 1951 — over $461 million; and a new record in volume of total assets which now stand at $1,666 million, are among the highlights of the 81st Annual Report of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada just released by Geo. W. Bourke, President.

In commenting on the continuing favorable trend in policyholders' dividends, Mr. Bourke said that any permanent improvement in interest earnings on the Company's assets brings about a reduction in the cost of insurance. The interest rate earned during 1951 was 3.70% as compared with 3.61% in 1950, 3.48% in 1949 and 3.30% in 1948.

The 1951 Report of Canada's leading life company reveals that over the twelve month period more than $1,800,000 of new business was received for each working day, the final total being an increase of more than $20 million over the previous year.

A SOCIAL INSTITUTION

Mr. Bourke described the Company as a social institution in its function of distributing payments to beneficiaries in the form of death benefits, or to living policyholders in the form of retirement benefits and annuities. In 1951, a total of $125 million was paid out for these purposes, including $35 million to beneficiaries of deceased policyholders, $16 million under annuity contracts, $36 million for maturing endowments, and the balance in dividends to policyholders, disability benefits, etc.

Since the first Sun Life policy was issued in 1871, total benefits paid to policyholders and beneficiaries have amounted to $2,486 million.

INSURANCE IN FORCE

The total Sun Life insurance in force at the close of 1951 was $4,801,000,000, an increase during the year of $340 million. Annuities now in force provide immediate or future payments to individuals or through Sun Life Group Pension plans to the amount of $104 million per annum. In discussing the continued progress of the Company, Mr. Bourke referred particularly to the ever-expanding services of its Group business, pointing out that the Sun Life was the first Canadian company to write Group insurance. He stressed the increasing importance attached to this form of collective protection by employers and employees alike, men and women in all walks of life, many of whom would not otherwise enjoy the benefits and security which life insurance provides.

Total Sun Life Group insurance in force now stands at $1,254 million, an increase of $168 million during 1951.

The assets of the Company increased over the twelve month period by $68 million, to reach a year-end total of $1,666 million, an all-time high figure.

NEED FOR LIFE INSURANCE

Mr. Bourke mentioned the advancement of medical science and its effect on improving the mortality rate but he emphasized the necessity for life insurance by pointing out that, in all companies, 30% of the death claims are paid on policies in force less than ten years, and 5% on policies less than one year in force. More than 50% of all deaths among Sun Life policyholders are due to heart disease, which is not necessarily a disease of old age. It kills and cripples thousands of children and tens of thousands of the young and middle-aged.

The key message of life insurance, said Mr. Bourke, is thrift. Life insurance combines protection with saving. Without the spirit of thrift and of self-reliance which life insurance has fostered over many decades, it would be difficult to imagine what the present state of our national economy would be.

A copy of the Sun Life's complete 1951 Annual Report to Policyholders, including the President's review of the year, will be sent to each policyholder or may be obtained from O. H. Lagarde, Local Representative.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

A Weekly Feature of Helpful Hints on Child Training

Failure at School!

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

The fine impact which Winston Churchill made on Canadians during his recent visit, should be an encouragement in every family where a child's failure at school hangs like a dark cloud over the home. Mothers and fathers of children who are not making a shining example of their school standing may be heartened as they recall that the British Prime Minister graced the bottom of the class as a boy at Harrow!

Twice he failed to pass his entrance examinations to Sandhurst. Not until he was twenty-one did he suddenly get the urge to read and study and make something of his life.

Chuchill is one of a large number of distinguished people in many walks of life who made low marks at school. That mathematical genius, Albert Einstein, whose discoveries have revolutionized much of our scientific knowledge, was considered a backward child. Thomas Edison's teacher declared he was "too stupid to learn". His mother undertook the task of teaching her boy at home.

Mothers in this twentieth century who have not been trained in modern teaching methods and who are unfamiliar with the present day curriculum, would have a perplexing time following Mrs. Edison's example! The law insists that children attend school until they are 16, except under very exceptional circumstances. Cutting off the family allowance is an effective check on absentees.

But being present in the body at school may not mean that a child is making progress at school. What are parents to do if school reports and conferences with teachers all point to the unwelcome fact that a child is failing at school?

There is no use being angry at the teacher or throwing scorn on the system of education. Nagging the poor scholar is worse than useless. Trying to spur him on by punishment or sarcasm is equally futile. Parents and scholar must face an unsatisfactory situation and attempt to find some reasons for it and ways to remedy it.

There may be one main cause for this or several complex ones. Sometimes the child's IQ is low. He may be doing the best he can with the mental ability he possesses. It is the realization of this which is the foundation for the new type of report cards used in some areas. These have banished definite marks or competitive standing in a grade, but show progress based on the child's capacity for learning.

Not infrequently there is a physical cause for low marks. The child may have poor hearing or only partial eyesight. He may be undernourished, or growing too quickly for his strength. A thorough physical examination by a competent doctor is one of the first things parents should plan for. The doctor's suggestions should be followed faithfully.

Parents should also consider the close relation between a child's mental health and his school standing and do what they can to improve conditions in this field. Sometimes a severe emotional upset will adversely affect a pupil's powers of concentration. Worriers are inefficient workers at anything, including school work.

Pupils who come from a home where the parents constantly bicker or are threatening to separate are poor "scholarship material". A mother's chronic ill health, a father losing his job or becoming a heavy drinker — family situations like these are likely to pull down a child's school standing.

A child's school work is bound to improve if home conditions become more satisfactory. He needs to go off to school, happy and secure in the knowledge that "things with Mum and Dad are O.K.!"

A child must have the desire within himself to study. Supervision of homework by parents, coaching in after school hours, may all be factors improving a child's school labors. But the drive to apply himself must come from within.

Not infrequently an adolescent boy or girl suddenly sees a direct connection between his class work and what he wants to do to earn his living. Sometimes under the enthusiastic direction of a really fine teacher, his interest in a certain subject may be kindled. Then, to his parents' delight, his failure at school may gradually turn into success.

Praise by parents of work well done is always worthwhile. Mothers and fathers must not be over-concerned about their child's rating at school. His low grades may just be a passing phase. He may "find himself" in time. Even if he is never a brilliant success at school it is quite possible that he may grow into a competent, happy successful adult working at the particular type of work for which he is best suited.

Sun Life Exceeds All Canadian Life Companies In New Business 1951

Montreal, Feb. 12 — New Life insurance business amounting to $461,700,000 was sold by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada during 1951, the largest amount reported by any Canadian life company. Benefits paid by Sun Life stand at an all-time high, $125 million, the equivalent of $490,000 for each working day. Total benefits paid since the first Sun Life policy was issued in 1871 now stand at $2,486 million. George W. Bourke, President, in the 81st annual report, also announced a further increase in policyholders' dividends arising out of improved interest earnings on the Company's investments — in 1951 3.70%, compared to 3.30% in 1948.

Assets of the Sun Life increased in 1951 by $68 million, total assets now standing at $1,666 million. Of this increase, the greater portion has been invested in industrial bonds and mortgages, the latter mainly home building.

Referring to the Government schemes for limited pensions in old age, Mr. Bourke said that a national security benefit of this kind need not interfere with the continuing progress of life insurance, but served to emphasize the desirability of thrift. However, he added that government business in competition with the life companies is not a proper function of government. The life companies have demonstrated their ability to serve the public well. It is not just chance that Canada leads the world in insurance in force as a percentage of national income — 110% in Canada, against 98% in the U.S.A. Mr. Bourke believes that following the introduction of an old age pension, it seems unnecessary for the Government to sell annuities, particularly on a basis which costs the taxpayers money.

Mr. Bourke, reviewing the favorable position of Canada in the world today, said the country is in the midst of a great expansion, with current output higher than at any time in its history. Canada is developing its natural resources, constructing new plants and providing new machinery at a rate not exceeded by any other industrial country. At home and abroad, confidence in Canada's future is unbounded. Many people living outside Canada have invested substantial funds in this country's prosperity. Last year alone, the amount may well have exceeded $600 million. However, over 85% of our capital expansion last year was financed within Canada, and in this respect, life insurance funds played a prominent part.

Sounding a warning note on the dangers of inflation, Mr. Bourke observed that increased production and increased savings are the two remedies most frequently urged. Other steps include restrictions of credit and unnecessary capital expenditures, and Government spendings being subjected to closer scrutiny.

Life insurance, concluded Mr. Bourke, has an important role in our national economy. Policyholders' funds are never idle. They are at work in every worthwhile type of industry, in agriculture, in national defence. It can be said that every life insurance policyholder is an investor in national well-being.

Watchman Subscription $3 Commencing March 1

Yearly subscription rate to The Lachute Watchman will be $3.00 in Canada, effective March 1. (Rate to the United States was advanced to $3.50 some time ago due to higher postage rate, but will be $4.00 after March 1, as each paper now requires a 2 cent stamp). These increases have been made necessary through rising cost of material, labor and postage, etc.

Readers wishing to take advantage of the present rate should renew their subscriptions before March 1.

MAKES COUGAR RUN

Zeballos, B.C. (CP) — A cougar that rushed five-year-old Holly Roche was scared off by her father, Paul Roche, before it could do any damage. The cougar had his front paws on the child's leg when Roche's shout frightened it off. Later the animal was rounded up and shot.

The Hen or the Egg?

In answer to the question, "Which came first, the hen or the egg?", a curator of birds at the United States National Museum in Washington, D.C., made the following comments:

"The question is one that appears, superficially, like a really fair thing to ask, but inasmuch as both are stages in the development of the same organism the question loses meaning. One might well ask: which came first, the child or the adult? The cases are quite comparable. It is only because from a purely human standpoint, based chiefly on experience with both at the dining table, that hens and eggs seem to us to be totally distinct and unrelated things."

Such an evasive answer is not satisfactory. A young skeptic said to an elderly lady: "I once believed there was a God, but now since studying philosophy and mathematics I am convinced that God is but an empty word."

"Well", said the lady, "I have not studied such things, but since you have, can you tell me from whence comes this egg?" "Why, of course, from a hen", was the reply. "And where does the hen come from?" "Why, from an egg". Then the lady inquired: "Which existed first, the hen or the egg?" "The hen, of course", rejoined the young man. "Oh, then a hen must have existed without having come from an egg?" "Oh, no, I should have said the egg was first."

"Then I suppose you mean that one egg existed without having come from a hen?" The young man hesitated: "Well, you see — that is — of course, well the hen was first!" "Very well", said she, "Who made that first hen from which all succeeding eggs and hens have come?"

"What do you mean by all this?" he asked. "Simply this, I say that He who created the first hen or egg is He who created the world. You can't explain the existence of a hen or egg without God, and yet you wish me to believe that you can explain the existence of the whole world without Him!"

"Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them."

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3: 16).

PLAN NAVAL DEPOT

Corner Brook, Nfld. (CP) — Rear Admiral Bidwell of the Canadian Navy, during his recent visit to Newfoundland disclosed plans are being considered for establishment of navy installations here. He said limited space at present prevented erection of a barracks and other buildings, but it was possible a frigate would be stationed here to serve in a similar fashion to the Cabot in St. John's.

New Pension Plan Inaugurated by C-I-L

Montreal — A revised non-contributory pension plan, effective January 1, 1952, has been announced by Canadian Industries Limited. The plan will apply to 8,300 employees at the company's various locations across Canada.

The revised plan integrates the company plan with the new government old age pension plan, and provides a level lifetime retirement income after age 65 for employees with at least 15 years' service. The amount of retirement income is determined by multiplying the number of years of pension service by one per cent of the average monthly earnings during the last 10 years of employment, plus $25 per month.

The entire amount will be paid by C-I-L until age 70, when the government will pay $40 a month and the company will pay the balance. Provisions for voluntary retirement at age 60 for employees with 30 years' service and for pensions for permanently disabled employees are continued in the revised plan. The minimum retirement income for an employee retiring at age 65 with 25 years' pension service will be $75 a month.

The pension plan, which was originally introduced in 1919, was designed to provide a non-contributory basic pension and left the employee free to make whatever supplementary arrangements he might choose. With the advent of the old age pension for all Canadians, the government took over the task of providing the basic retirement income. At the same time the legislation providing the means of financing the program included a new tax on corporate profits, which will greatly increase the cost of pensions to the company.

Blind Musician Refused Admittance

To the Editor.

Dear Sir:

Julian Lee, a blind musician and musical arranger, has been refused a visa to enter Canada. The Canadian Press reports that Lee and his wife wish to come here from New Zealand but that union regulations prevent him joining the Canadian Musicians Union or playing commercially here for 12 months and that, rather than risk having Lee face a year of idleness, our immigration authorities have refused him a visa. Perhaps there is more to this incident than is reported in the press but on the known facts it does not seem likely that the majority of Canadians would approve the principle of turning away a prospective new citizen because he may face hardship on arrival here.

Those Canadians who put pressure on the government to exclude immigrants who might compete with them for jobs, should recognize that if their kind of thinking had always controlled our government's policies they themselves might not be in Canada today. Most of our forefathers arrived here without visible means of support and survived to contribute to the country's progress and prosperity.

Most Canadians are satisfied to accept as one of the lesser, and normal, hazards of life competition in their jobs. Even those who work to exclude people in their own trades, professions or businesses would have to agree that as Canada's population has grown, Canada's standard of living has climbed, and that for our own continued prosperity we must strive to multiply the number of people living and working in Canada. But too often it is evident that Ottawa is susceptible to the pleas of people who do not want to face possible competition for work from new Canadians. Julian Lee may never get to Canada, but is it not probable that the loss will be ours rather than his?

— C. J. Harris, Secretary.
Canadian Unity Council.

FEWER CARS FOR CANADIANS

Approximately 267,000 passenger cars were sold to Canadian motorists in 1951, according to an estimate based on Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. This was 40,000 less than in 1950. Motor car dealers blame high taxes for the drop in sales.

Parachutes, Paratroops . .

on the airman's job, the pack is carried at the seat, on the back, or can be hooked on at the chest.

When the airman is forced to leave the plane, he pulls a mechanism called a ripcord. This is a handle attached to a steel rod. When this is removed, flaps covering the 'chute spring back, and the canopy fills with air.

During the war, it was found that the canopy could be made to unfold and fill faster by attaching a pilot 'chute to it, which opens immediately and pulls the main parachute out after it.

Speaking of paratroop operations during the war, the speaker reminded the group that paratroop landings were a part of all major offensives, both on the side of the Allies and of the Axis forces. Capt. Coté stated that greater effectiveness could have been achieved if the air forces could have dropped the troops more accurately. He said that, on D-Day, he was dropped 65 miles from where he was supposed to have landed. The speaker feels that aircraft used in paratroop operations should be under Army command.

Mr. Coté was introduced by Stewart Jones and thanked by John Belanger.

During the business session, it was decided that the Ice Carnival slated for this month will be withheld till next year.

Two new members were inducted into the Rotary Club; Donald Steen and Richard MacLean, of Lachute, became Rotarians during an induction ceremony conducted by past-President Linton Armstrong.

Edward Jones, of Lachute, was a guest at the meeting.

Congregations to Unite For Memorial Service At St. Andrews East

On Friday, February 15, at 8 p.m. the Protestant congregations are to hold a Memorial Service at Christ Church, St. Andrews East, in tribute to our late beloved King. All members of the various church choirs are asked to combine on this occasion.

Special Prayer for Queen's Reign

London (AP) — Church-going Britons commemorating the King's funeral will pray for a long and prosperous reign for their new Queen. Special forms of service have been issued "by Her Majesty's special command".

The Church of England said the services are to be used Friday, the day of the funeral, or when convenient afterward.

They included this prayer:

"Almighty God, who rulest over all kingdoms of the world, and disposest of them according to Thy pleasure, and who hast now called Thy servant our Sovereign lady, Queen Elizabeth, to the throne of this realm:

"Let Thy wisdom be her guide, and let Thine arm strengthen her, let justice, truth and holiness, let peace and love, and all those virtues that adorn the Christian profession, flourish in her days:

"Direct all her counsels and endeavors to Thy glory and the welfare of her people; and give us grace to obey her cheerfully and willingly for conscience sake: that neither our sinful passions, nor our private interests, may disappoint her cares for the public good:

"Let her always possess the hearts of her people, that they may never be wanting in honor to her person, and dutiful submission to her authority:

"Let her reign be long and prosperous and crown her with immortality in the life to come."

Morse - Robertson

The wedding of Miss Margaret Anne Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan H. Robertson, of St. Andrews East, to Mr. Arthur William Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morse, of Montreal, took place at noon on Wednesday, February 6, in Trinity Memorial Church, Montreal, the Rev. R. K. Naylor officiating. Pink carnations formed the floral decorations in the church.

The bride, given by her father in marriage, wore a ballerina length gown, with a crinoline skirt of accordion pleated nylon net, long sleeves, and a lace bodice with a Peter Pan collar, a lace Dutch cap holding her shoulder-length nylon veil. She carried a nosegay of white and pink roses and carnations.

Miss Enid Robertson was her sister's only attendant, in a bronze toned iridescent taffeta dress, with a gold feathered hat and gloves, and carrying a nosegay of Talisman and tea roses.

Dr. Norman Morse was best man for his brother.

Mrs. Robertson, mother of the bride, was in a dress of purple crepe, with a black felt hat, and a corsage of yellow carnations. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Morse, wore navy crepe with a hat of pink velvet leaves and a corsage of pink carnations.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents in Montreal, where white and pink carnations decorated the house. Later the couple left by airplane for New York prior to sailing by the Gripsholm for Sweden, where they will reside for a year. The bride travelled in a brown tailored suit, with dark green suede accessories, a hat of green velvet leaves and marten-toned muskrat coat, with a corsage of yellow carnations.

The bride's sister, Mrs. A. J. Lemieux, came east by plane from Winnipeg, to be present at the wedding.

Facts Concerning Parish of St. Jerusalem $150,000 Bond Issue

The purpose of floating this bond issue is to raise enough money to condition all main roads to the specifications of the Provincial Roads Department. When that has been accomplished, the Roads Department will be requested to take over these improved roads, thus relieving the Parish of a financial burden which has been mounting annually.

These bonds, which are now on sale, are particularly attractive to local investors, as they bear interest at 5% per annum, and a portion of these bonds mature annually up to 20 years. This is the first time that the Parish has floated a bond issue, and this represents a sound investment in a local community.

The fact that all issues of the 15-20 year series are now sold indicates, to some extent, the response received from the public, and also is a reminder that other investors should contact the Secretary-Treasurer (telephone Lachute 129) at an early date for information.

The Bank of Montreal, Lachute Branch, are handling the finances of the Parish.

Is Religion A Good Thing ?

Millions of sincere persons practice religion. These maintain that religion is beneficial and aids them to live and work for a better and happier life. Others assert that because of the vast number of religions on earth today, and the variety of viewpoints on the subject, many persons are confused and perplexed as to just what good religion has accomplished and thus are unable to determine whether it is worth having or not. Also, religion's part in world conditions, causes many to question religion's value today. Here, however, is an opportunity to find a satisfactory answer to a vital question. The 352-page book "What Has Religion Done for Mankind?" brings to the reader's attention an enlightening treatise on the world's leading religions. ## Golden Brown Pancakes

One of the first made dishes of man consisted of a mixture of meal and water, baked on hot rocks. This is believed to be the original pancakes, griddle cakes or flapjacks.

During the early Christian era, eggs, butter and milk were forbidden during Lent. Any of these foods that the housewife had on hand, had to be used up, and a special recipe was prescribed by the church in which flour was symbolic for the staff of life, milk for innocence, salt for wholesomeness and eggs for vitality. Hence, pancakes became the official meal of Shrove Tuesday, the last day before Lent. In many communities today, Shrove Tuesday is still pancake day.

Golden brown pancakes are not typical of any one country; they appear among the foods of all nations, in one form or another. In North America, corn meal was used by the Indians, but today pancakes are made with a variety of grain products, for example, white flour, buckwheat flour, bran, oatmeal, raw or cooked potatoes or bread crumbs.

An old English saying, "Pancakes on Shrove Tuesday keep you merry all day", should be reason enough to serve this delicious, economical dish to the family more often. Until recent years pancakes were considered a breakfast specialty, but today they may be featured at lunch, dinner or as snacks.

The home economists of the Consumer Section at Ottawa have passed along a few tips that should be kept in mind when golden brown, light, tasty pancakes are the order of the day:

1. Measure all ingredients carefully.
2. Add liquid all at once and stir lightly; small lumps will come out in the cooking.
3. Use a properly seasoned griddle or heavy frying pan.
4. Grease lightly with unsalted shortening each time before using, heat slowly.
5. Pour the batter for each pancake from a cup or jug, instead of spooning the batter on to the griddle, to insure even cooking.
6. Turn pancakes once, when the top is covered with little bubbles.
7. Serve hot.

These easy-to-make, old-fashioned pancakes may be made with fresh or sour milk. So, if there is sour milk in the refrigerator, here's the place where it may be used to give a tender texture and a nutty-rich taste.

Butter and pancakes belong together, especially at breakfast time when syrup, particularly maple syrup, is poured over them. Other combinations for morning enjoyment include pancakes with sausages or bacon.

For lunch and dinner, pancakes may be made any size, small or large, rolled like a jelly roll, folded in half with fillings or stacked for variation. For a quick special lunch serve potato or cheese pancakes with hot apple sauce.

The home economists have sent this recipe for cottage cheese pancakes: —

Cottage Cheese Pancakes

3 Eggs, 1 cup cottage cheese, ¼ cup sifted all-purpose flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons shortening, melted.

Beat eggs until light. Add cottage chese, flour and salt. Beat well. Add melted shortening. Cook on a hot, slightly greased griddle. This recipe yields 1 dozen thin 5-inch pancakes.

To win approval at dinner, serve pancakes with ham and honey; fill with left-over creamed meat; in place of pastry shells for chicken à la king; served plain with creole sauce or meat and mushroom sauce or filled with vegetables, such as asparagus, and served with a cheese sauce. A salad and a dessert will put the final touch to the meal.

To please the sweet-tooth members of the family, serve pancakes as a dessert or as a party snack after a skating or skiing party on cold winter evenings. For these occasions, fruit could be added to the batter or the pancakes may be served with fruit in the form of a shortcake. Pancakes could also be rolled or folded, with jelly or preserve filling and confectioner's sugar sprinkled on top.

FASHION HINT

A never-ending succession of handsome clothes designed for cosy at-home leisure helps to make winter a far more attractive season for many folk, especially chilly mortals. Pretty and novel as well as comfortable is this sleeveless jumper of quilted cotton in a glowing coral color. It can be worn with or without the black wool jersey turtle-neck pullover. It has a black leather belt to mark a slim waist. This is a boon to country cousins.

Styles in House Furnishings

It might well be said that the furniture we have matches the type and style of the house which it is displayed in. Let me show you what I mean. . .

In the southern part of the United States there are mansions which, in every sense of the word are elegant to behold. Such homes have as many as 25 rooms, and could hold a feast for 75 people — other rooms serve as library, music room, sewing room and calling room. Can you picture a living room with chairs of ultra-modern taste, or decorated in Chinese style? For each style of architecture, there is a type of furniture suitable for its design.

You might now ask, what are the major styles?

First, there is the simple, tasteful "Early American" or "Colonial", which descend from a line of ancestors of the Pilgrim Fathers or their equivalents. The wood is generally solid, as contrasted by "veneer"; maple and cherry was often used — today, maple, birch or cherry. Pine was also used, and is still being used today. Pine, though, is soft, whereas the others are harder.

Secondly, we come to "Traditional" furniture. The styles are between the "Period", which I shall later explain, and the "Colonial", both of which are at one end of a scale, and "Modernistic" on the other end. "Modernistic" I shall also explain. This comprises the largest group of furniture and is a good buy — provided it is well constructed and upholstered, if it warrants upholstery.

Thirdly, there is "Period" style. This is furniture which is generally called after the ruling houses when that type was used. Georgian, after George of England, of which there were three — Louis XIV of France — Queen Anne, after Anne of England — and so on. These may be antiques, or they may be copies of antique pieces. They can either be sturdy or flimsy, depending upon the care which was taken in their construction. Just because it is an antique is no guarantee that it is good or bad; you have to use common sense in your dealings.

Lastly, we come to "Modernistic" designs. This furniture is said to be made with the future in mind — when for a summer vacation we shall rocket to Mars or some dreamed-of diversion; and this makes you wonder whether that object on the table is a vase, pencil-sharpener or tumbler! Very few homes can take this and really do justice to its design. Homes that are built with space in mind can display these objects attractively. Everything must be surrounded by space, and then these objects take a new light and meaning.

Next week I shall take out the old feather duster and start shedding — or try to shed — some light on Period styles, and follow this with a group of articles on Antiques.

Meets Demand for Children's Books

"There is a great demand for children's books", said Mrs. A. Coates, East Angus, representative for the Quebec Women's Institutes on the McLennan Travelling Libraries, in a report recently released. Mrs. Coates went on to speak of the work of the bookmobile, now operating on a regular schedule in the Eastern Townships and Huntingdon areas. Several branches in these districts are sponsoring small community libraries and this service is proving of value in bringing fresh reading matter to their subscribers, as well as to other groups, schools and individual readers.

Branches in other sections of Quebec, not served by the van, were reminded of the collections of 50 books which can be loaned for the period of four months at a cost of only $5, with freight charges paid one way.

Mrs. Coates referred to the value of these services to the Q.W.I. and said, "I feel we can best show our appreciation by assisting with the replenishment of reading for our boys and girls", and concluded her report by recommending this action.

L'Association Sportive Elects Officers, Lays Plans for 1952 Baseball Season

The annual shareholders' meeting of "l'Association Sportive de la Jeunesse de Lachute" was held recently at the Tessier Hotel, when honorary and active executives were unanimously appointed, on recommendation of the nominating committee. The slate is as follows:

Honorary Officers
President, Gilbert E. Ayers; 1st vice-president, W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A.; 2nd vice-president, Philippe Valois, M.P.

Honorary Directors
Leonard Ayers, Richard Ayers, Thos. Ayers, Léopold Carrière, Rev. Curé Léo Clément, Horace Lamarche, Mayor Jas. W. McGibbon, Roger Régimbal, Gaetan Valois, N.P.

Active Officers
President, Lionel Laurin; 1st vice-president, Laurent Lamarche; 2nd vice-president, Oswald Carrière.

Active Directors
Romain Beaulne, Pat Carrière, Roland Huserreau, Marcel Laframboise, J. René Laurin, Roland Rinfret, Omer Tessier, Roger Lamarche, Raymond Laurin.

Finance Committee
Léopold Carrière, Oswald Carrière, Roger A. Dumais, Louis-Joseph Joly, Lionel Laurin, Roméo Legault, Bertrand L'Heureux, Roland Morin, Claude Tessier, Laurent Tessier.

Physician — Dr. Roger Lavigne.
Legal Advisor — Fernand Legault, K.C. (re-elected).
Auditor — Roland Morin, C.A.
Chaplain — Rev. Fr. Gougeon.

Both honorary and active officers have been appointed on the record of their support and contribution to the progress of this Association, and brief reference to the part played by each was recounted by the secretary, Gabriel Valois.

Commendation was voiced to several of the members who had attended 100 per cent of the Association's meetings, and it was urged that more shareholders might manifest their support in this way, by attending the business sessions, which are held every Tuesday evening with few exceptions throughout the year.

A satisfactory financial report was presented by Ted Vachon, treasurer.

Secretary Valois outlined the campaign for this year's membership, which will be launched March 15 with Pat Carriere as chairman. It is earnestly hoped there will be a sell-out of boxes, reserved seats and a full-house of general admissions throughout the coming season — for which the directors are scouting for a top-notch baseball line-up, to maintain competitive interest and to represent this community with credit in the year's league engagements.

Statisticians, reporting that sport fishing is big business in Canada, estimate it is worth $80,000,000 annually.

Lachute High School Sports and Activities

By Anne Dwyer

Vocational Topic

Thursday afternoon, February 7, Mr. K. G. Blackader, of MacDonald & Curry Co., Montreal, gave the high school grades a talk on chartered accountancy. After his discourse on the life of an accountant, he answered various questions put by the pupils. Before leaving, Mr. Blackader left the address of his firm in case anyone should care to enquire further about chartered accountancy. This talk was arranged by Mr. J. C. Hawes, vocational guidance leader of the school.

Memorial Service

An assembly was held Friday morning in memory of the late King George VI. The Rev. Dr. W. A. Reid led the group in prayer. The school will observe Friday as the day of mourning. Basketball games, for the present, have been cancelled.

Ice Carnival

Grade X sponsored an Ice Carnival last Friday evening, in aid of the "Lampada" funds, which realized more than $100 for this cause. King and Queen of the carnival were, respectively, Scott Taylor, dressed as an "English dandy", and Frances Laurin, clad in a majorette costume.

Best fancy-skater of the night was Constance Laurin, who displayed her talent very well. L. McGibbon was the best figure-skater in the boys' group. Patricia Mitchell won the prize in the Bunny Parade. All of the bunnies looked attractive as they skated past the judge.

There were two junior races, two senior races and a men's free-for-all. Joyce Davis and Ross Rogers captured first place in the junior races. Doreen Laurin placed first in the girls' senior race, and Kenneth MacTavish first in the boys' event. Ross Rogers also won the men's free-for-all.

To top the outdoor activities, there was an exhibition of hockey, Teachers vs. Girls, during which clowns, J. Watson and T. Jamison, put on an act. The snow was falling so fast it was impossible to distinguish players at the other end of the rink, and they in turn had a hard time skating and seeing the puck. The final score was 2-1 — all the points tallied by Mr. J. C. Hawes, the hockey coach. (Why he scored against his own team is still a mystery.)

The crowd afterwards adjourned to the gym for square dancing to the music of Edgar Jackson on the violin and Wayne Riddell at the piano. The calling was done by D. Jackson and F. MacLean. Master-of-ceremonies was Wilmer Andrews.

Linton Armstrong auctioned the boxes. The winning box was Florence Copeland's. Those not fortunate enough to get a box went to the cafeteria, where refreshments were served by the Grade X girls.

The Carnival proved a notable success, and a grand evening was enjoyed by all present.

Hockey

Saturday was tournament day at Lachute. Mr. John Hawes, chairman of the Athletic Committee of the Argenteuil - Two Mountains Teachers' Association, which sponsors these games, was the busy referee, ably assisted by G. McGibbon. The Lachute Juniors and Midgets played against Grenville Juniors and Midgets. The winners of these games played against two Brownsburg teams. Brownsburg Juniors and Grenville Midgets were the winners of the day.

The first game was held at 10 o'clock between the Lachute and Grenville Midgets. The final score was 2-0 for Grenville. All tallying was done in the first period, Ernest Mott and Lyman Page scoring. This game was a shut-out for the Grenville goaler, Everett Kennedy.

The next game was between the Junior teams. This contest was almost a shut-out for goaler Stanley Alexander. Grenville succeeded in scoring in the third period. The final score was 5-1. This game started off fast, with W. McCrea and K. MacTavish scoring within a few minutes of each other. The rest of the period was uneventful.

The only score in the second period was by G. Laurin, in an exciting moment. A few minutes after the third period commenced, S. Taylor scored another goal for Lachute. Then H. Hoare, for Grenville, shot the puck in when Alexander was off balance. R. Rowe quickly retaliated for Lachute.

The play-offs with Brownsburg were held in the afternoon. Grenville Midgets played against Brownsburg first. The final score was 2-1 for Grenville. Donald Cameron made the only tally in the first stanza for Grenville. In the second, Melvin Stuart evened up the score. However, later in the period Lyman Page (Grenville) broke the tie, with the final tally of the game.

The Lachute Juniors did not fare so well as they did in the morning — the final score being 5-0 for

Tournament Day at Lachute High School

Brownsburg. Ken Fletcher and M. Tomalty tallied in the first period. About the middle of the second period, Fletcher scored again. The third set-to was uneventful, until Tomalty scored, and near the end of the game he tallied again, making the score 5-0. The Brownsburg goalie was Ralph Nelson. This was the second shutout of the day.

Although the ice was a little ragged at this stage, the Lachute Seniors played against the past-graduates, the final score being 6-4 for the Seniors.

S. Gordon started off with a tally for the Grads. A few minutes later J. Campbell evened the score, which put more tension in the game.

Thompson stole the puck from the Grads in the second period, and passed to S. McGibbon, who shot it home. The Seniors were jubilant only for a few minutes until G. McGibbon tallied for Grads, which made the score 2-2.

Goals were rapped in right and left in the third stanza. C. Albright broke the tie in favor of Grads after a few minutes of play. B. Warwick tied it up again in a few minutes, making the joy of the Grads short-lived. Jamison received the puck and passed to MacCrea, who caught G. Riddell off-guard and scored. The count climbed even higher for the Seniors when on a pass from MacCrea, B. Morrow slid in the puck. G. McGibbon, in an attempt to even the score, tallied for the Grads once again. However, it was not to be. G. Albright skated the length of the rink in sole possession of the puck and shot it in the net. A few minutes after this spectacular play, the game ended.

BALLOONS SCATTER MESSAGES

A rubber company specializing in meteorological balloons used in forecasting weather, investigating cosmic rays, and other stratospheric research, has added another line. This is a dip-rubber product known as the "freedom" balloon designed to burst and scatter messages when it reaches an altitude of 30,000 feet. Numbers of these balloons are being floated over the Communist Iron Curtain. Each balloon carries 2,220 water-resistant, 4 x 6 message sheets for people of the satellite nations. The company is further extending its line by developing a balloon that will carry a 5-lb. load to an altitude of 150,000 feet or 30 miles, four miles higher than the present altitude record. — Marketing

B'burg Basket Squad Still Unbeaten

The Brownsburg entry in the L.O.V.B.A. has now played eight games without a defeat, and is enjoying a comfortable lead over the rest of the loop.

In recent weeks Brownsburg has defeated Hawkesbury, Alexandria and Lachute. Against Alexandria, Brownsburg ran up the highest score of the season with a lopsided 104-15 victory over the Ontario team.

Last Thursday night, in the best local game of the season, Brownsburg defeated Lachute by the score of 50-44. At one time the Brownsburg team held a 14-point lead, but Lachute was closing the gap rapidly at the end of the game. The leading scorer was B. Golphin, of the 'Burg, with 18 points. He was followed by R. Summers, also of Brownsburg, and R. Burton, of Lachute, with 16. A. Bond, of Lachute, dropped in 14 points.

This week Hawkesbury visits Brownsburg on Thursday, while Lachute travels to Alexandria on Friday evening.

The Roaring Game In Motion Picture

Devotees of the ancient Scottish art of curling come into their own — motion picture-wise — with the release of Associated Screen Studios' Canadian Cameo short subject, The Roaring Game.

This is the first time that a motion picture has been produced on curling and it appropriately features Ken Watson, of Winnipeg, one of the world's outstanding curlers, who has thrice skipped rinks to Canadian Curling Championships.

This old-world game has been adapted to the pace of the new, and today it is a fast-moving, exciting sport that has swept across the northern half of the North American continent. In western Canada, particularly, the craze has been greatest. Out on the prairies, they start curling at a very tender age, and Regina boasts of the largest juvenile curling group in the country, known as the "Jam-Tin League". This odd title derives from the fact that the young players make their own "stones" out of concrete-filled 5-pound jam tins. The picture mentions that the curling fraternity now numbers in the hundreds of thousands, which all adds up to the startling fact that there are more curlers than golfers in Canada!

A flashback in The Roaring Game shows quarrying operations in the isle of Ailsa Craig, the only spot in the world where suitable granite for curling stones is found. The pieces of blasted rock are chosen for their fine grain and uniform texture, their toughness and evenness of color, while techniques handed down from generation to generation produce each year over two thousand pairs of stones.

This motion picture had its world premiere in Winnipeg late in January during the playing of the Annual Manitoba Bonspiel.

Direction of the picture was handled by Gordon Sparling, while the script was written by Associated Screen Studio film director John McDougall, a curler of no mean repute himself. The musical score, which has a delightful Scottish motif, was written by Lucio Agostini, celebrated Canadian musician.

Lady Curlers Win Main Event at Sherbrooke 'Spiel Also Inter-Club Trophy

At the Sherbrooke Bonspiel last week, winners of the Young Trophy (main event) were Miss H. Bedard, Mrs. K. Campbell, Mrs. Jas. MacKimmie and Mrs. W. Cottingham (skip). This Lachute team won five games in all. Finals were against Mrs. Moore, of Lennoxville, and the score was 10-8.

Last year this event was played with irons; this year, however, granites were used. It is the first time in the history of this trophy that it has been won by any club twice in succession. . . The same rink were winners last year (with Mrs. F. Stein leading, instead of Miss Bedard).

Another Lachute team — Mrs. G. Calder, Mrs. R. McOuat, Mrs. A. Hills and Mrs. G. McGibbon (skip) — went as far as the semi-finals in the main event. They won three games but lost the fourth.

A foursome visited Hawkesbury Curling Club this week. The rink, skipped by Mrs. S. Campbell, included Miss F. Carriere, Mrs. Simon Wilson and Mrs. L. King.

Cottingham Inter-Club Trophy Won at Seigniory

The Inter-Club Trophy, which seemingly has been so hard to win, was brought back by two local teams with a 15-point margin. Mrs. L. Yorke, Mrs. J. MacKimmie, Mrs. F. A. Brennian, Mrs. W. M. Cottingham (skip) lost to Mrs. Campbell of Seigniory, 9 to 10, but Lachute's second team, Mrs. J. McIndoe, Mrs. F. Stein, Mrs. H. Rigg, Mrs. A. D. McGibbon (skip) were winners against Mrs. Chapman in an 18-2 score. These were double-rink games, and now the same rinks (with Mrs. J. K. Campbell replacing Mrs. Yorke), will enter the Tweedsmuir Contest, playing their first game at Outremont against Montreal West, on Monday.

In 1947 the ladies were runners-up in this contest, and are hoping to be the first team to bring the coveted trophy to Lachute. Finals will be played in Ottawa next Friday.

At Local Club

Last Thursday the finals of the Junior and Senior Doubles were played. The Junior winners were Mrs. G. Davidson and Mrs. F. Stein (skip), who defeated Mrs. E. Tomalty and Mrs. H. Kerr (skip). In the Senior event Mrs. A. Ogilvie and Mrs. W. MacKimmie (skip) won against Mrs. L. Yorke and Miss A. Riddell (skip).

Tea was served after the games, the joint-hostesses being Mrs. S. Campbell and Mrs. A. Bothwell.

In the Challenge game on Monday the holders of the Wilson Cup — Mrs. J. McIndoe, Mrs. F. Stein, Mrs. H. Rigg and Mrs. D. McGibbon (skip) — were the winners against Mrs. H. Kerr, Mrs. G. Muir, Mrs. C. Richardson and Mrs. F. E. Earle (skip), with a 12-1 score.

Finals for the Wilson Spoons will be played on Monday.

The next competition will be a Junior event for leads and seconds, and a Senior event for thirds and skips.

Winter Carnival This Week-End at Ste. Agathe

Ste. Agathe—One of the gayest events of the Laurentian season — the annual Ste. Agathe snow fiesta — opens here Saturday.

Theme of the carnival is a 1952 revival of the days of New France. Residents will dress themselves in the costumes of their forefathers — bright red "tuques" and multi-colored "ceintures flechées". Flags and banners float from every spot and thousands of lights decorate the town's main thoroughfare.

Festivities get under way Saturday morning when petite 19-year-old Denise Boyer is officially crowned "Queen of the Sled Dog Derby" by Laurentian Carnival Queen Micheline "Mimi" Thibaudeau of Ste. Adele.

Other events and attractions taking place Saturday morning are a junior hockey game and ski events for children. In the afternoon, the first lap of the three-day Laurentian International Sled Dog races will be held. A full program of events is planned for Sunday.

Play-Offs for Title, Industrial Teams

The first encounter of this series was won by the St. Andrews team, and the second game resulted in a tie. There is keen anticipation in the outcome of the third match, to be staged in the near future.

Authority Discusses Canada's Radio System, Progress in TV.

CBC Official Heard by Interested Audience at Lions Club Gathering

At a well attended meeting of the Lions Club, held Tuesday evening at the Joly Hotel, members and guests were given an insight into the operation and administration of the CBC — "an institution which has been subject to more controversy, with less true knowledge of the facts, than any other public venture", according to the speaker, Ron Fraser. Mr. Fraser, director of Press and Information for the CBC, at least had all the facts at his fingertips, and also answered many questions on Television, its possibilities and its administration in Canada.

The club, under chairmanship of President Geo. Tattersfield, observed one minute's silence in loyal tribute to the late King George VI. Lion Philippe Roy proposed the toast to the Queen, with fitting sentiment.

Nat Boyd was saluted as Lion of the Day — Police Chief D. Villeneuve (Tail Twister) producing a birthday cake in his honor, and Ian Gordon (Biographer) unfolding a Success Story which did considerable credit to Nat Boyd and the transport organization which carries his name.

Gerard Lefebvre, works engineer at Ayers Limited, was inducted into the club membership. Roger Regimbal, energetic committeeman for the Barn Dance this coming Friday, reported progress in enlisting the public support. André Lefebvre's review of attendance, and secretarial matters presented by Don Hay, completed the business of the meeting.

Record of the CBC

Ron Fraser, one of the youngest administrative officers of the CBC, described this organization as "a public corporation operated by a group of professional radio people". It is government controlled in a very broad sense, being responsible to parliament, not to a particular party in power. On its limited revenue from license fees and commercial income, the CBC has expanded its program service and, since 1936, has built up immence physical equipment — altogether a creditable progress, in view of the great territory it covers (the renting of transmission lines alone entails an outlay of $1-million a year), and the variety of regional interests it caters to.

Public radio in Canada was born between 1929 and 1932 on the study and recommendations of a royal commission and a party committee. Its first years provided a dubious experience, until the passing of the Canadian Broadcasting Act in 1936 which placed the CBC on its present basis. Its independence of administration, however, does not preclude it from the widest criticism and most thorough investigation. But despite charges that the CBC is "opposed to free enterprise" — that the CBC is a government manipulated "socialistic monster" — the organization has been able to withstand every scrutiny, according to Ron Fraser.

He compared the completely commercialized radio with the system under government control, and showed how public program schedules and private stations collaborate in Canada to supply the best for varied tastes. Some measure of success in this objective can be gathered from the fact that "people have come from different countries to study our system. . . Many say that the variety of our program fare is the best in the world"; it is safe to say that "we have a combination of public and private radio which today has made Canada the envy of the world."

"The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is based on two things — Dollars-and-Cents and Common Sense. . . If our program policy does not meet the future needs, we will probably change it", concluded Ron Fraser, in his assertion that experience has been the guide-post to greater service and efficiency in Canadian radio.

Quizzed by his listeners on the prospects for Canadian television, Mr. Fraser forecast that government stations would be in operation by next August. Lack of steel had been the delaying factor in construction. . . The characteristics of the television beam had bearing on reception; this, and the complexities of program production, as compared with radio, provided interesting sidelights in the brief question period.

The speaker was introduced by Lion W. M. Steeves and thanked by Lion Ernest Snadden.

Mr. Fraser was accompanied by Marcel Carter, an administrative associate of the CBC in Montreal. Among the numerous guests was Philippe Valois, M.P. for Argenteuil - Deux Montagnes.

ACTIVE CURLING ON LOCAL ICE AND AT DISTRICT CLUBS

The usual Saturday mixed curling was held last week. A number of those present played cards, while others tried their skill on the ice. There were 20 teams in the competition — 80 persons, participating in good healthy exercise (with the exception of skips, who very seldom sweep!). The results were as follows:

High-plus between two teams — Miss C. McKenzie, H. Watson, Mrs. J. Barbour, D. Campbell (skip) and Miss Burrows, L. Armstrong, Miss L. Miller, H. Morrison (skip). The toss of a coin was won by the former team.

Card-playing — Euchre, Miss Morrison and F. Stein held the high score, with G. Muir and R. Cairns winning at Bridge.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Cottingham defeated Mrs. McCrae, of Royal Montreal, 10-8, with Mrs. McGibbon losing to Mrs. Smith, 15-8.

Egypt Pictured as Country of Striking Economic Contrasts

TOPICAL SUBJECT AT ROTARY

Last Thursday the Brownsburg Rotary Club heard Mr. Trygue Lund speaking on current conditions in Egypt.

Mr. Lund pictured Egypt as a country of economic and social contrasts. In the cities great wealth and extreme poverty exist side by side. Most of the villages are mere collections of squalid, unsanitary hovels. The natives are almost all illiterate, living a ife of ease, and resisting anything new and modern. They are an excitable, fanatical people, given to bloody aggression through the dictates of their Islamic religion.

The internal security of Egypt is further fraught by the existence of distinct classes. Of these, the Pashas are the aristocrats, descendants of the Turks. The Effendi make up the middle class, below which are the Fellaheen, and at the bottom of the social ladder the Bedouins. The people of the lowest class are little better than slaves.

Speaking on the causes of the recent trouble in Egypt, Mr. Lund explained that Britain had done much to improve the economy, the agriculture, and the sanitation in Egypt. Notwithstanding these improvements, the Egyptians began to object to the British. In the face of this growth of nationalism, Britain granted self-government in Egypt in 1925. The Waft party was elected to power . . but apparently Egypt was not yet ready for self-government, because the experiment proved a failure.

By the time World War II had started, Britain had withdrawn to the Canal Zone, but the old irritations still existed with the Egyptians. The recent trouble in Iran led Egypt to think that Britain had become weak, so they, too, attempted to push her out.

The speaker stressed the importance of the Canal and maintained that Britain must remain in control, because the Egyptians are not able to protect either themselves or the Canal.

Mr. Lund pointed out that the recent riots have been led by paid agitators, and that the native police did nothing to try to stop the riots. Regardless of these terroristic tactics, the speaker believes that Egypt will not go to war. They always turn in the face of opposition, and now that Britain has shown her strength, actual warfare will be prevented.

Mr. Lund was introduced by Mac Walker and thanked by Sidney Stilwell. . . One guest, Mr. Mansel Wilson, attended the weekly meeting.

Twice Before Court In Quick Concession

Arrested recently for taking a car at Brownsburg, a local resident, Arthur Perron, was arraigned on a charge of stealing an automobile. The man was arrested, and the car was recovered here in Lachute by the local police. In leniency the charge was later reduced to "being in possession of an automobile without the owner's permission". Perron was taken before the District Magistrate at St. Jerome and sentenced to 15 days in jail.

About a week after his release from St. Jerome, Perron again ran afoul of the law, and after a drinking bout, was arrested last Saturday on two charges, of bodily assault against his brother-in-law and of indecency. He was turned over by the Lachute police to Det. A. Oggier, of the Morality Squad, Montreal headquarters, and was booked to appear before Judge Barrette at St. Jerome this week.

TURNING THE OTHER CHEEK

London — The U.K. Government has sent to Egypt, at the latter's request, six large trailer pumps and 12 small trailer pumps with all ancillary equipment to replace the fire-fighting equipment damaged or destroyed in the recent Cairo riots.

K.C.'s Are Now Q.C.'s

The customary title of K.C. undergoes a change with the accession of Queen Elizabeth to the throne — and it will take some getting used to, especially in the legal ranks. The King's Counsels of the bench are now the Queen's Counsels, their initials of rank, K.C., becoming Q.C. The French designation C.R. (Conseiller du Roi) still remains C.R. (Conseiller de la Règne).

DISTRICT CAMPSITE AN OBJECTIVE IN SCOUTS' CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

ANNUAL APPEAL TO OPEN HERE NEXT MONDAY

The Local Group Committee of the Boy Scouts Association have completed plans for their annual campaign for funds. This is to take place beginning the week of February 25. A dinner meeting is to be held on Monday evening in the Legion Hall. All Committee members, Scouters and workers, will be present. An innovation this year is that the Brownsburg Committee and their workers will also be present. A special speaker is to be on hand, in the person of C. J. Dendy, executive commissioner of the Quebec Provincial Council from Provincial Headquarters in Montreal.

It is reported that excellent progress has been made during the past year in Scout work throughout the area. Plans are almost complete for the purchase of a district campsite at Lake Tamaracouta and it is expected that the local boys will be able to attend camp this summer on their own property. Every assistance has been promised by Provincial Headquarters so that the local boys will have the advantages of many of the services at the existing camp.

YOUNG PIANIST THRILLS CAPACITY AUDIENCE AT COMMUNITY CONCERT

Stories of a teen-age artist "electrifying" the hard-boiled music critics of New York, and other awe-inspiring conquests, are apt to be discounted as so much press propaganda — but having heard Ervin Laszlo, the 19-year-old pianist, at the High School auditorium on Monday evening, we have to admit ourselves thoroughly "electrified"; and we have yet to see an audience as spellbound by any one-man performance of the Community Concerts series in Lachute.

Words can do scant justice to the mastery of this youthful pianist who, by more experienced listeners among the audience, was pronounced a "finished performer" far beyond others of wider repute and senior years. We take off our hats to this very human, unassuming, slightly shy young man. His inborn talent, so evidently developed through hard, assiduous work, merits a really brilliant future.

Certainly the composer Chopin (a favorite with young Laszlo) could have wished for no interpreter more comprehending or sympathetic. The "Valse Brillante" in E-Flat Major, was among familiar selections in the repertoire. Others were Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song"; a rhythmic melody in Liszt's piano version, and Schubert's powerful "Marche Militaire", to which Laszlo applies some keyboard manoeuvres of his own arrangement.

Prokofieff's "L'Amour Pour Trois Oranges" might be described as brief and startling in its daring harmonics, while in Lizst's "La Campanella" (The Bells), the pianist displayed a digital dexterity swifter than the eye could follow. Two "Arabesques" by Debussy were light and colorful — the whole repertoire covering a range of mood and tempo to hold the interest and whet the appetite for more. And young Laszlo responded generously with encores; his unlisted numbers were Chopin's "Butterfly" and "Danse Ecossaise", "Serenade" by Strauss, and "Legende" by Albeniz.

News-reporting demands impersonal appraisal, accurate perspective — but the reporter in this case (whose affinity is the piano first among musical instruments) offers no apology for his enthusiasm. We believe the performance of this young musician justifies all superlatives.

Ervin Laszlo loves his work; the fact is evident in his every interpretation. Hungarian-born, this was his first public appearance in Canada, if not his first acquaintance with the country. His mother — petite, modest, devoted to her son — accompanies him on his travels. Their next visit is to Val d'Or, then to the Maritime Provinces. Throughout their Canadian tour they may rest assured of a cordial reception.

Presentation to Hockey Stalwart At Brownburg

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — After the first period of a league game at Brownsburg Arena last Thursday night, an interesting interlude saw Ronnie Hebert presented with a beautiful trophy in recognition of his prolonged service to the Brownsburg hockey team extending over a period of 20 years.

Mr. W. M. Cottingham, M.L.A., in making the presentation took the opportunity of complimenting the citizens of Brownsburg in erecting the beautiful arena, which is now nearing completion, and in which the event was held. It showed the reward to be gained by initiative and enterprise and was a reflection of the splendid community spirit which characterized the Brownsburg people, and the amity and harmony in which the two great races lived. He complimented Ronnie Hebert on his sportsmanship and genial personal qualities, and wished him happy memories and long association with the national game of hockey.

Mr. Hebert suitably replied and was photographed receiving the trophy from Mr. Cottingham.

Mr. Harris Sherwood, president of the Arena Committee, joined in the felicitations and thanked Mr. Cottingham, on behalf of the committee and the people of Brownsburg, for procuring a generous grant to assist in the erection of the Arena structure. He wished Mr. Cottingham to convey their thanks to the proper department of the Provincial Government.

Mr. Philippe Valois, M.P., and Mayor H. Pariseau, with Councillor and Mrs. A. Carriere, and Emile Hebert, town secretary, and Mrs. Ron Hebert, were also on the platform during the presentation ceremonies — at the conclusion of which the whole party adjourned to the Flamingo Grill, where a further presentation of a purse of money was made to Ronnie Hebert, and a delightful repast was served to the guests.

(See report of league game on page 9).

VETERAN PRIEST

Bathurst, N.B. (CP) — Rev. Zoel Lambert, retired priest at the sanatorium of St. Joseph de St. Basile, observed the golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood. He was ordained in his native parish of St. Ferdinand, Megantic County, Que., and served at St. Basile and Beauceville before coming to New Brunswick.

Legion Collected 2,500 Books for Overseas

With Comrade L. Hamel, 1st vice-president, in the chair, the Lachute Branch of the Canadian Legion held their regular monthly meeting in the Memorial Hall last night.

Three candidates for membership were initiated and admitted into the Legion ranks.

In response to an appeal, 2,500 books were sent overseas to servicemen of the Canadian Forces. A letter of thanks was read acknowledging the generous contribution of this branch, and the quality of the books. Thanks are extended from the Legion to all who aided in this effort. The project was under chairmanship of Comrade Carl Demerse.

A donation of $20 was voted to the local Boy Scout Campaign, which commences in Lachute next Monday, February 25.

Plans are underway for a Giant Peanut Day to be held in town, winding up with a popularity contest for Queen of Lachute, on August 30.

Community Memorial Service at Morin Hts.

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — A community service in memory of the late sovereign, King George VI, was held in the auditorium on Friday afternoon, with Capt. the Rev. H. G. Baugh reading the lessons and the Rev. C. R. Wood preaching the sermon. Members of the W.I. marched in a body. The Morin Heights Branch of the Canadian Legion paraded from the village and were met by their chaplain, the Rev. Baugh, who accepted the standards from the standard-bearers, E. Holgate and A. Vaillancourt. Music and choir were under direction of Mrs. G. Watchorn, with Mrs. Simms as soloist.

Gatineau LINES

Contributors to Prosperity – VI

The area served by Gatineau Power Company has many industries, but one that always has and no doubt always will be of great importance is its agriculture. It is no surprise to find, therefore, that many of the commercial customers of Gatineau Power Company are business organizations working directly with farmers.

Organizations such as these contribute to the prosperity of the whole area in two ways, first through the employment they provide and second through the markets which they find for the products of the farm land.

High on the list of such organizations are the creameries and butter factories, such as Arundel Butter Factory, The Papineauville Lumber Company Limited, The Lachute Creamery, Vitalac Limited at St. Placide and the co-operatives at Bouchette, Gracefield, Maniwaki, Montcalm, St. Jacques, St. Lin, St. Alexis, St. Esprit and Farrelton.

At St. Andre a progressive co-operative grinds grain for the neighborhood as well as producing butter, while the Messines Co-operative grades and packs potatoes under government supervision. The co-operative at St. Jovite produces butter and also operates a thriving chick hatchery.

Speaking of hatcheries, Gatineau also serves the Quebec Government Hatchery at St. Faustin which turns out more than a million fish per year — "sowing" of a different kind which helps keep the lakes and rivers of Quebec well stocked.

Probably the biggest co-operative venture of all is La Societe Cooperative Agricole de Tabac which employs up to 250 people at St. Jacques in grading, processing and packing the Quebec tobacco crop ready for the manufacture of smoking materials for all Canada.

These, and many other enterprises like them, make a real contribution to the prosperity of the farms and of the towns and villages of the area served by Gatineau Power.

Seasonal FarmTopics

Check Machinery During Winter

It is not too soon to think of checking farm machinery and equipment after the long Winter lay-away. There is sometimes a delay in getting spare parts and a machine that won't work is no help in the Spring rush.

Only too often a part gives out or a casting breaks in the field. Generally these breakdowns could have been avoided by a Winter overhaul. Bolts and set-screws used in adjustments can be the cause of much delay if they are found to be inoperative at a busy time.

While the machine may have been working well the last time it was used it will work better after a thorough cleaning, checking and oiling during the off-season. It may save a breakdown at a busy time. It will certainly save wear and tear on the machine at any time.

Eliminate Cow "Pensioners"

Dairy farmers were urged to "audit" the milk output of their cows to find out which are "pensioners" instead of "producers", by Dr. H. L. Berard, director of St. Hyacinthe Dairy School at the closing session of the Quebec Society of Purebred Livestock Breeders.

He made other recommendations to bring down production costs, selective herds, and improved feeding methods for a more uniform milk output all year.

He claimed the old belief that only the fat content of milk has nutritive value is false. It was now known that fluid milk has high nutritive value, and he urged farmers to centre attention on it.

Something, he said, will have to be done to stimulate the dairy industry if Canada is to continue providing its own dairy requirements. A small margin would shift Canada into the column of nations that must import dairy products, he declared.

Efficient farm operation would bring down costs and enable the industry to resist competition from butter substitutes, according to Dr. Berard.

Cheap Ice Storage Sales and Service

Though the modern refrigerator using electricity or other means of energy, is replacing the ice-box in many rural areas, ice can still be used to advantage when a source of supply is readily available. And it can be stored without providing an elaborate ice-house.

An unoccupied corner of a shed will serve as a site for a rough-board enclosure. An enclosure ten feet square and eight feet high will hold enough ice to provide 50 pounds a day for 130 days, after allowing for a reasonable amount of wastage. The smaller the amount stored, the greater the amount of wastage.

The bottom of the enclosure should be covered with about one foot of sawdust. If the soil beneath is impervious clay it will be better if there are a few inches of gravel below the sawdust. In putting in the ice the boards can be taken away from one side and be replaced when the ice is in position. A space of one foot should be left between the stacked ice and the side boards, and this should be filled with sawdust. The ice should also be covered with sawdust.

It is the sawdust that keeps the ice from melting, and the drier the ice the longer it will keep.

International Conf'ce On Grasslands

The U.S. Departments of State and Agriculture and the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) jointly announce that the Sixth International Grassland Congress will be held August 7-23, 1952, at Pennsylvania State College, Pennsylvania, under the sponsorship of the United States Government and FAO.

The Sixth Grassland Congress will provide an opportunity for scientists and technicians from various parts of the world to exchange information concerning the production, improvement, management, and use of grassland. It is expected that, by focusing attention on grassland matters, the Congress will provide the participating countries with increased means for developing more balanced agricultural economies and will thereby lead to the more effective production of livestock products, especially meat and milk; other food supplies; higher levels of nutrition; and better methods for the conservation of land and water resources.

Watchman Subscription $3 Commencing March 1

Yearly subscription rate to The Lachute Watchman will be $3.00 in Canada, effective March 1. (Rate to the United States was advanced to $3.50 some time ago due to higher postage rate, but will be $4.00 after March 1, as each paper now requires a 2 cent stamp). These increases have been made necessary through rising cost of material, labor and postage, etc.

Readers wishing to take advantage of the present rate should renew their subscriptions before March 1.

New Elizabethan Era

By Lewis Milligan

Those of us who repeated the sudden news of the King's death did so with a catch in the throat. For he was indeed a gracious and kindly King. He bore the crown and sceptre with regal dignity, but there was no pride or condescension in his attitude or spoken word. If there be any greatness in humility, King George the Sixth will be remembered as one of the greatest of British monarchs. He came to the Throne when it was shaken to its moral foundations, and when the very existence of the British nation and Empire was threatened by the rise of an arrogant and powerful demagogue in Germany. A wave of blind pacifism had spread over the country, and Churchill's repeated warnings were as a voice crying in the wilderness. Prime Minister Baldwin was smoking his pipe of party peace, and the only thing to his credit was his wise and masterly negotiation of the abdication of the wayward Edward VIII.

No more suitable successor to the Throne at that time could be imagined than the then Duke of York, with his modest and charming wife and their two children. Here was a little Royal Family ready-made to step into the breach, and they filled it with a simplicity and homeliness that at once captivated the hearts of the people.

We have watched our new Queen grow up from infancy, when she lisped her way into the hearts of the people by calling herself "Lisbeth". There may be nothing in a mere name, but in this case it can be a source of inspiration since it is associated with a great historic period. The Elizabethan era was in so many respects the most glorious in the history of Britain. Yet when Elizabeth succeeded to the Throne in 1558, England was in much the same position as it is today. As one writer described it: "Elizabeth succeeded to the throne at a time when shaky finances, military failures, and internal strife placed England's fortunes at a low ebb. At her death England had passed through one of the greatest and most widely prosperous in her history; a period that produced Shakespeare, and Spenser, Bacon, Raleigh, Frobisher, Drake and other notable personages, a period which saw the beginnings of English colonization and the birth of England as a naval power." Elizabeth's share in that great growth, however, is said to have been confined "to the good effects of her tremendous personal popularity and her faculty for choosing the ablest and most competent ministers."

The entire world has undergone a vast change since those days, and in that change British leadership and enterprise have played the greatest part. British monarchs and statesmen have not always acted wisely, and the great Elizabeth herself was very human. But they must all be judged by the times in which they lived. Progress has its recessions as well as its advances, and a recession may provide an incentive and impulse for a new advance. When Queen Victoria came to the Throne at the age of 18, Britain had been relaxing from the tension of the Napoleonic period with its threat of invasion and rivalry as a world power. Young as she was, Victoria was self-confident and she at once asserted her independence of her mother's domination. She followed the example of Elizabeth in her choice of advisers in statecraft.

Queen Elizabeth the Second begins her reign with much more experience and a far wider knowledge of and personal acquaintauce with her people and their problems at home and abroad. Like her great namesake, she is tremendously popular, and in Prince Philip she has a manly and level-headed consort. Let us hope and pray that the histories of those two great reigns, when queens were on the Throne of England, will in the highest sense be repeated in the reign of Queen Elizabeth the Second. Long may she reign in peace.

I was taking my boss's young son on a trip through rural Louisiana, selling washing machines. After we finished a demonstration for a farmer and his wife they withdrew for consultation. We felt sure the sale was made, but when they came back we spent a fruitless hour trying to close it. Glumly we put the machine back on the truck, and I had started the engine when the farmer said, "Fellows, if I could sell one or two of them things, would you give me anything?"

"Sure", the dealer's son snapped. "We'll give you $20 for every one you sell, provided we only have to deliver."

"I bet I can sell my old lady one", said the farmer. As we stared, dumbstruck, he headed for the house. He returned in a moment with his wife — who paid cash, deducting $20 for her husband.

"Shucks", said the farmer as we silently unloaded the machine, "you fellows just don't know how to sell washing machines."

Farmer and Son

WHEN YOU hear a man speaking with approval of farm life in "the good old days" and criticizing the changes brought about by the increasing use of machinery during the present generation, you often find that his views on rural economics have changed but little since the invention of the automobile.

Generally, too, his recollections are tinged with nostalgia and softened by the golden mist of memory.

Into his talk of conditions on the concession line when he was a barefoot boy will come references to big stacks of hardwood in the woodshed, the old iron pump that needed priming when it froze in the winter, the cattle that had to be milked by hand day after day, the ease of finding and keeping good hired men, the toil of plowing many acres with team and plow and to the food prepared in abundance in the large farm kitchen.

These and other details he recalls as going to make up a way of life in which the work was hard but the rewards were relatively satisfying in a day when farm families were reasonably self-sufficient and low prices offset small cash returns.

But despite the regrets of the man who yearns for the old times, the arrival of the tractor and the power line on the farm scene touched off changes that went far beyond the lightening of farm tasks. One of these is a change in viewpoint recognized in a recent National Film Board motion picture, "The Son", which takes up the problem of arriving at a satisfactory financial arrangement between a farmer and his grown son.

The solution suggested by the film is a contract making the father and the son partners in the farm so that the son is given a sense of financial security and enabled to get married. There are probably others just as good.

The so-called "good old days" are gone, never to return. Now that power-driven machinery is lifting the burden of drudgery from farm life and city comforts are rapidly finding their way into rural dwellings, farmers are realizing that they must seek the best means of meeting entirely new situations arising from their modern way of life.

Nothing New? Just Look at This!

SO YOU THINK there's "nothing new under the sun"? . . A preview on the British Industies Fair seems to challenge this belief, as we read of such new-fangled devices as a "smellatorium", a "fish disgorger", a "robot baby", and a "cow tamer". These are among the more imaginative — or more imaginatively named — of the exhibits being shown at the Fair this year.

It will assert your faith in man's inventive genius to visit this Exhibition (which was our personal privilege two years ago). At the world's largest national industrial exhibition, from May 5 to 16, more than 3,000 U.K. manufacturers will display their products, in what is generally regarded as the shopwindow of British industry.

The "smellatorium" (in case you're interested) is a veritable library of odors, to overcome the difficulty experienced in exactly describing or recording smells. The "smellatorium" is used by perfumiers, chemists and manufacturers who cater to the public nose.

The "fish disgorger" should be particularly helpful to the novice fisherman or the fisherwoman — a device that will enable a person to take the hook out of the mouth of a captured fish without in any way messing up the hands. And the cow tamer, it is claimed, is guaranteed to automatically stop kicking and tail switching while milking is in progress.

The "robot baby" possesses face, mouth, lips, gums and throat, all made of rubber. Its exhibitor describes it as being part of a new milking machine designed to save nursing mothers pain and discomfort at the breast-feeding stage. The "robot" reproduces the actions of the "perfect child".

The Fair, has its share of the "biggest" and "smallest" of items. The world's smallest and narrowest piano, designed especially for small homes, and a one-ton "grand", said to be the world's largest. A liquor-proof and cigarette-proof piano for the canteen cowboys. A silent organ that 24 people can play at once — an electronic device with 24 keyboards with the players wearing headphones. The idea is to make teaching of large classes possible under any conditions. . . . There is a "photo doctor", that opens up a completely new field for heart research. An "electronic eye" that can detect flaws in a steel wall 20 feet thick. A "steel slicer" that can cut through a two-foot block of extra hard molybdenum-nickel steel like a hot knife going through butter; and a "foolproof car starter", which might specially interest Canadian motorists — an auxiliary electrical system designed to start an automobile even in the coldest of weather.

The Fair will even boast a zoo of embryo animals, including a two-inch-long crocodile that is only one ten-thousandth of an inch thick, yet perfect in every detail. The "zoo" will illustrate how new dyes are used to color tissues so that disease may be quickly detected.

The Broadcast

Brave, and pure-hearted, serving, and to die,
Of mystic state and greatness, and alone —
Always and always have men known this thing,
The passing of the King.

Around the great globe moved that slow cortege,
Its way climbed on one hill.
Yet listening peoples heard its footfalls near,
Heard click of hooves against a mighty silence.

Out of the centuries emerged the pageant,
The bowing heads of slow-footing horses,
The stern on-going of men that follow the dead.

As an earth tremor may be heard in coming,
Ominous out of far spaces,
So out of the grey past it came,
Out of the immemorial night of time,
Beating through all the single lives of men,
Into this present to shake us to the soul,
To shake our hearts with terror and with strangeness.

Always and always have men known this thing,
Older than tower and wall,
Older than throat of gun and tongue of bell;
Nor years nor leagues defeat its unison,
The peoples mourning for the dead great King,
For this our brother given to the ground,
Ashes to ashes, dust to dust,
In sure and certain hope of resurrection.

Out of the immemorial night of time,
Unto our moment in his state he came,
Into our tumult with his peace he came,
The dead great King.

Total Telephones Now 2,300 in Lachute

Year's Progress Reviewed by Bell Telephone Co.

While total revenues of The Bell Telephone Company of Canada were substantially higher during 1951, so were taxes, wages and other expenses, according to the company's 72nd annual report issued February 14.

Revenues totalled $160,781,058 of which nearly half — $78,066,254 — was paid out in wages. The total taxes levied on the company amounted to $22,693,000, equivalent to $2.91 per share of stock or $12.69 per telephone.

The company expended $72,600,000 in 1951 for new construction to improve and extend its facilities throughout Ontario and Quebec, which increased its total investment in plant to $582,048,747. In all, 113,424 telephones were added during the year, bringing the total number in service to 1,839,750 but leaving 76,000 unfilled orders at the year-end due to lack of facilities.

Commenting on this aspect of the report, L. W. Ball, Bell Telephone manager for this region, said that 300 telephones were added in Lachute during 1951, bringing the total to 2,300.

Other highlights of the report: net income for the year amounted to $2.08 per share, compared with $1.53 in 1950; earnings were sufficient to pay the usual $2 dividend, but failed by a wide margin to provide an appropriate addition to surplus; the daily average of local calls increased by 5.8 per cent; the volume of long distance calls was up 8 per cent; the number of employees at the year-end was 30,292, of whom 19,368 were women; shareholders increased to a record total of 83,551, of whom 97.8 per cent holding 87.3 per cent of the stock reside in Canada.

Fort Frances, Ont. (CP)—Award of three more contracts in construction of the highway from Atikokan to the Lake head was announced by W. G. Noden, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature. The contracts are for bush work along a 70-mile highway stretch.

EARLY ENTRANT

Rouyn, Que. (CP) — Summer fishing is still months away, but Lucien Cote has made the first entry in the Rouyn-Noranda Hunting and Fishing Association contest, which will run all year. He caught a northern pike, weighing 25 pounds and one ounce, fishing through the ice of Lake Evain.

Nip It In The Bud!

I have a housefly in my home who likes my bald defenceless dome, and evidently seems to think it's some new kind of skating-rink.

Just where he came from, I don't know. I'd like to tell him where to go — a place where warmth would be assured, if he would leave my bed and board. Whenever I sit down to eat he waits until I take my seat, and then I hear him whizzing by to rest upon my apple pie. And when to knock him out I strive, he goes into a power-dive, so when I think I have him felled, he's off as if he's jet-propelled.

He wasn't with me in November, nor any time throughout December, no sign of him in January, yet here he is in February! I cannot figure why the pest did not die-out like all the rest when that cold weather came last fall. And why did he show up at all?

I must do, every now and then, my duty as a citizen, and with a folded "Watchman" swat him, yelling triumphantly, "I got him!" Such is the power of the press. My wall may be a fearful mess, but he who swats a single fly prevents a million bye-and-bye, and he who fails a fly to swat, next summer will bemoan his lot.

Be seein' ya!

Teaching the Public A Lesson

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

It is easy to be sympathetic with groups who find that costs are overtaking income. It is so common an experience. But natural laws, given a chance, have a way of remedying difficulties that seem to be beyond our own correction. Little is ever gained by antagonizing a customer.

Therefore it is with regret that we read that President Charles E. Harkness of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association, and Chairman of the Cheese Marketing Board, had advocated the withholding of their product from market. "Perhaps then we can teach a lesson to the Canadian people", he said.

There is something rather disconcerting about an organization, however important, threatening to teach the whole people a lesson. In the specific case, and in many others also, the lesson learned by the public might be that they can get along without the product. The public is not the enemy to be lessened. The public is the friend who makes all things possible. It will be well for the progress of this country when primary producers and groups of workers come to recognize so simple a fact.

Says Old-Timers Convinced, Ontario Side of River Was Scene of Dollard Battle

TO THE EDITOR

Concord, New Hampshire, February 12, 1952.

Editor, Lachute Watchman.

Dear Sir:

I read with much interest and considerable pleasure the article concerning the site of the historic and famous encounter between the savage Iroquois and Dollard des Ormeaux supported by his little band of heroic French and Indians, as published in The Watchman of February 7, 1952.

I was born and "raised" on the banks of the Ottawa. The spot on the river shore which everyone in the district believed to be the scene of the battle was on the Ontario side of the river almost directly opposite my father's farm. There was no question as to its right location at that time, 60 or 70 years ago. In fact, it was tradition with the old rivermen and "habitants" that the exact spot was on the shore a short distance below the foot of the Long "Soo", and it was known as Kirby's Fishing Ground. Many arrow and tomahawk heads were known to have been found around there. These signs of battle were probably carried away and lost, which would account for the failure of recent searchers to find such authentic clues.

The claim of the residents down the river that the Carillon shore was the scene of the action has always seemed far-fetched and ridiculous. I hope the question will be decided in favor of what I am convinced is the proper opinion.

You may feel free to publish this letter if you think it will be of interest to those concerned.

Sincerely yours,

— Margaret Whelehan,

(Resident of the Ottawa River front for 85 years).

Response to Appeal For Winter Employment

We have pleasure in acknowledging the co-operation of some citizens who have given us their orders for men to do small jobs, so as to take advantage of the seasonal availability of workers.

We wish to thank the residents who have so kindly heeded this appeal.

However, as we wish this campaign to have the best possible results, we request employers to do themselves a good turn — by helping men who are now available but who may later by otherwise employed.

The way of a soldier with a telephone on a week-end furlough is something to watch. One Saturday morning a young GI changed a dollar in a crowded bus terminal, ranged the nickels in rows on the shelf to the left of the telephone in a booth, and placed a cup of coffee and a plate of doughnuts on the shelf to the right.

His first telephone call was lengthy, consisting on his side mainly of repetition of "Gee, honey", and "Sure thing, honey".

A middle-aged civilian waiting for a booth listened, looked over the array of nickels and finally went over to the lunch counter. He came back with a plate of spaghetti and rolls, opened the door of the booth and said kindly, "Here, sonny, you'll be needing dinner in here if all your girls are as big talkers as this one."

Brownsburg Boy Scouts' Appeal, Feb. 23 - March 8

"Scouting Develops Citizens"

Brownsburg — At a recent meeting of the Brownsburg Boy Scouts Group Committee, it was decided to make the annual canvass for funds in Brownsburg between February 23 and March 8.

A campsite is still one of the chief objectives of the Laurentian District of the Boy Scouts Association; and about $3,500. has been obtained for this purpose during the past two years. However, this amount is insufficient to cover the purchase of the land required.

The Brownsburg Group has been quite successful in raising funds in the two preceding annual campaigns, and the members responsible for organizing this year's campaign feel that residents will again extend their good will by contributing to this worthy cause when the canvasser calls.

All who participate in this campaign do so cheerfully with no thought of remuneration. The objective is "to build better boys".

GREAT-WEST LIFE NEW BUSINESS TOTALS $293,000,000

The Great-West Life Assurance Company placed more than $293,000,000 of new insurance and annuities during 1951, H. W. Manning, Vice-President and Managing Director, announced in his report to the 60th annual meeting in Winnipeg.

This record new business brought the total business in force to $1,891,000,000. The Company now administers more than $413,000,000 of assets on behalf of its 515,000 policyholders. In 1951, it paid $34,000,000 to its policyholders and beneficiaries.

"Mortality experience among the Company's policyholders was very favorable", Mr. Manning stated, "and the gross rate of interest earned rose to 3.82%."

Joseph Harris, in his presidential address, commented on the proposed extension of government annuities and said, in part, "The Canadian Government, operating in a field that is already well served by private enterprise, has been offering annuities to the general public which in no way reflect the true cost that is being incurred. Both the costs of administration and the substantial operating losses have been met from public funds. This in itself would suggest elimination of such a function, not extension. Increasing the limits available would aggravate this condition." . . . Mr. Harris welcomed the elimination of foreign exchange controls and said, "It indicates the growing financial stature of Canada and will do much to stimulate freer trade."

The Company's operations expanded in the United States and over 46% of new business was received from the 23 American branches.

Group operations showed a marked increase — up 22% over 1950 — and now form almost one-quarter of the total business in force. The Company administers the welfare plans of 1,500 organizations who, together, have more than 250,000 employees.

Assets increased $28,000,000 during the year; total $413,000,000. The Company's holdings of corporate securities increased $20,000,000 during the year; total $125,000,000. These investments were made after a careful screening to determine the degree to which they support our economy, increase production, or strengthen our defence industries. This policy, a voluntary one, is supported by other major financial groups and is aimed at combating inflation by strengthening our productive capacity.

In commenting on the rise in the general interest rate level, Mr. Manning stated, "This heartening rise comes after a long period of artificially depressed interest rates and is most welcome since it will, in time, have an important cumulative effect upon the cost of insurance to our policyholders."

The Great-West Life is represented in Lachute by G. Kilgour Hardie.

MANNERS MAKETH MAN

London — A group of American travel agents, after a recent visit to the U.K. prospecting for holidays for their clients, reported that service in Britain's hotels and restaurants is excellent and "far exceeds American service in courtesy, planning and prices". They added, "We may be a bit more modern in construction, but not any more comfortable."

Boy Scouts The World Over

IN HONOR OF BADEN-POWELL

Canadian Boy Scouts and Girl Guides will join with Scouts and Guides throughout the world in observing Scout-Guide Sunday on February 24 to honor the memory of the late Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Scout and Guide Movements.

WILL "FLY" TO JAMBOREE

A Canadian contingent of 50 Boy Scouts and eight leaders will fly to Kingston, Jamaica, to attend the First Caribbean Jamboree from March 5 to 17. In addition some 13 other Scout leaders and Rover Scouts will work on the Jamboree staff as "volunteers". Both Scouts and leaders are making the trip at their own expense.

TIMELY GOOD-TURN

Civil Defence and Traffic Control authorities will make full use of a large scale model of the City of Halifax, N.S., now being constructed by Boy Scouts and leaders under the direction of District Scout Commissioner Paul D. Silver, Halifax. The model will include scale reproductions of buildings, streets, highways, dock, rail and transportation facilities.

25,000-MILE TRIP

As Deputy Director of the International Bureau of the Boy Scouts Association, Major-General D. C. Spry, of Ottawa, will leave Canada on February 21 to begin a 25,000-mile flying tour of Latin America countries.

During the next two months General Spry is scheduled to visit Scouts and leaders in Mexico, Cuba, Jamaica, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Brazil, Trinidad, Venezuela and Haiti.

SCOUT CENSUS-TAKERS

Montreal Scouts of La Fédération des Scouts Catholiques did such a good job on their census of Montreal Catholic children in 1950 that the School Commission is considering having it taken regularly. The Scouts' census reported 191,905 Catholic children in Montreal from two to eighteen years of age.

A BROTHER SCOUT

"He is a brother Scout and we will care for him", said Scouts of the 37th Winnipeg Troop, when they heard that Michael Szadiak, 13, from north of the Pas, Manitoba, had come to Winnipeg Children's Hospital as a "polio" patient last fall. Scouts of St. Martin's in the Fields Troop have visited him regularly and recently made him a member of their Troop in a special investiture ceremony at the hospital.

Libya Becomes World's Newest Nation

Freedom is part of the fabric of peace, and last year saw important progress towards independence by Non-Self Governing territories. Independence came to Libya last December, the first nation to achieve sovereignty through direct action by the United Nations. Above (center) is the Amir of Cyrenaica (King Edris the First), who proclaimed the independence of the former Italian colony on 24 December 1951, one week ahead of the U.N. Assembly's schedule.

HOSPITALITY EXCHANGED FOR CHILDREN

London — Over the past four years more than 2,000 sick, mutilated or orphaned school children from five European countries have received free hospitality in the homes of British people. Conversely, nearly 2,000 children from the U.K. in need of sun and a holiday have been received with equal generosity into private homes in other countries.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE'S HOME IS HOSTEL FOR OLD FOLKS

London — Lea Hurst, near Matlock, England, childhood home of Florence Nightingale, has been acquired by Britain's Royal Surgical Aid Society as its first home for the aged. Lea Hurst was owned by the Nightingale family until 1940. House and grounds will be preserved, as far as possible, in their present state.

Listening Groups Report on Programs

What do members of the Quebec Women's Institutes think of current radio programs? "Too many announcers enunciate and pronounce words incorrectly for one thing", says Mrs. Earl Gardiner, Dundee, convener of Education, speaking of the first evaluations sent in by groups organized for radio listening. Other criticisms were the use of a "special voice" in some children's programs, which the children themselves found tiresome to listen to, announcers too eager to prompt and interrupt in impromptu interviews, and too much advertising. "This is getting more frequent, more tiresome, and more exaggerated each year".

On the credit side of the ledger we find such comments as music is improving, more and of better quality; the school programs are very good and most of those designed for women. The factual presentation of most news was commended.

These listening groups are formed under a plan suggested by the Canadian Radio Council for the critical listening and evaluation of all types of radio programs. The Federated Women's Institutes of Canada is a member of this Council and all provincial units were asked to co-operate in this project. Mrs. Gardiner, who is in charge of this work for the Q.W.I., is hopeful more groups will be formed. "Findings are sent in twice a year", she explains, "and should help producers in planning better types of programs."

TEACHERS BENEFIT

Golden, B.C. (CP) — The North Columbia local of the B.C. Teachers Federation reached agreement with the Golden district school board on a salary contract for 1952. The range is from $2,000 to $3,450 for elementary school teachers, and $2,800 to $4,425 for secondary school teachers, based on certification and experience.

Firs may be distinguished from other Canadian conifers by the fact their cones never hang down but stand erect on the branches.

Our Children and Today's World

— By NANCY CLEAVER — (Copyright)

"Look at that jet — see her move!" a small boy's voice from the backyard came floating in the open kitchen window.

"My dad says we'll be bombed for sure when the war comes!" his chum replied in a matter-of-fact tone.

The mother in the kitchen caught a glimpse of two boys craning their necks to see the vanishing plane. The sick feeling inside her was suddenly quieted by her son's words — "Maybe so — but my folks say we had better pitch in and get behind the church and the United Nations and everyone who is trying to keep the bombs from falling here."

The atmosphere of expectancy of another war is very catching. How often the concern of adults is reflected in the lives of boys and girls! A little six-year-old girl, after playing "fighting" with the "big kids" woke up in the night crying, "Mummy, Mummy, come fast — the Big Bomb is going to get me!"

We cannot hide from our children the suffering which accompanies war. Planes and bombs are part of today's world — their world as well as ours. In the papers, over the radio, in the movies, disturbing events in far places are continually coming to their attention.

But our children should not live in a state of anxiety. They should be able to look to their parents for reassurance. Not just in the darkness when a child wakens with a nightmare, but in the daytime when youngsters are troubled by the thought of war, they should know they can turn to their parents for comfort.

After a family listens to a news broadcast or reads the evening paper in sections, or sees a movie short on current events, they should take time to answer the children's questions about what they have heard or read, or the pictures they have seen. Some adults believe that children are too young to understand happenings in other parts of the world — but surely if a child is old enough to ask intelligent questions, he is mature enough to receive answers!

If the public library is near, do encourage the school age boys and girls to borrow books on other lands. Take an interest in the stories of children who live in other countries. Inquire if there are any books on the United Nations such as "Partners, United Nations and Youth Today" by Eleanor Roosevelt and Helen Ferris Tibbets. Discuss the point of view of books which present the perplexing issues in today's world. Attractive picture books of Far Places for younger children include; Susan Who Lives in Australia, by MacIntyre; Wee Gillis, (Scotland) by Leaf and Lawson; Raffy and the Honkebeest (Australia) by Kissin and Bracken; The Story About Ping, (China) by Flack and Wiese; Ala (Norway) by D'Aulaire and Edgar; Pelle's New Suit (Sweden) Beskow, Madeline (France) by Bemelmans. These are recommended by Boys and Girls House, Toronto Public Libraries.

Last year an estimated one hundred and fifty thousand immigrants entered Canada. Children of "displaced" parents and other immigrants quickly pick up the language of their school mates and Canadian ways. It means a lot if they are made to feel welcome. Parents, by being hospitable, and by giving their children a lead in kindliness to New Canadians, will make a fine contribution not only to these recent arrivals but to their own children's attitude to other peoples who have grown up in other parts of the world.

The Junior Red Cross at school, the Mission Band, and other youth groups in the church have an international emphasis and carry out worthy service projects. But parents should not think that their children's outlook on today's world is entirely up to teachers and religious leaders.

Boys and girls want to be reassured about the danger from bombs, they want to know about other lands and what is happening throughout the world, they enjoy becoming acquainted with people of other races, and their response to other people's need is quick and wholehearted.

The other day a little girl quickly turned over the page in the paper showing a Korean orphan with large sad eyes, dressed in ragged clothes, with his feet thrust into shoes many sizes too large for him — the only shoes he had ever owned. There were tears in her eyes as she said, "It would be horrid trying to walk in those awful boots — can't we send him a pair of ours?"

THE NEW OLDSMOBILE FOR 1952 is offered in two series — the Classic "98" and the Super "88". Both series are powered by the improved "Rocket" engine whose horsepower has been stepped up from 135 to 160 and which is equipped with the four-barrel Quadri-Jet carburetor. Hydra-Matic Drive, an option at extra cost on both series, has a new super range for increased performance. A new rear stabilizer improves car handling and minimizes side sway at high speeds. GM Power Steering is optional at extra cost on the "98" series. A total of eight models is available with new styling and more luxurious interiors. Shown here is the 1952 Oldsmobile Super "88" four-door sedan.

Canada Population Now Over 14 Million

Canada's population hit the 14,000,000 mark in time for the June, 1951, decennial census, with Ontario, Quebec and a surging British Columbia contributing 75 per cent of a record increase over 1941.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics said final tabulations of the census show there were 14,009,429 Canadians as of June, 1951, an increase of 2,502,774 or 21.8 per cent over the figure at the time of the 1941 census.

Of the 10-year increase — a record numerically but not in the percentage field — Newfoundland contributed 361,416 new Canadians, but the big increases came mainly from the two big central provinces backed by B.C.

B.C. far outstripped the other provinces in the percentage columns, adding 42.47 per cent to its 1941 population of 817,861 to become the third province to go beyond the million-mark with 1,165,210 people.

In sheer numbers Ontario topped the lists. She grew by 809,887 or 21.38 per cent in reaching a population of 4,597,542, compared to 3,787,655 in 1941.

Quebec reached 4,055,611 compared to 3,331,882, in increase of 723,799 or 21.72 per cent.

Among them, Ontario, Quebec and B.C. accounted for an increase of roughly 1,880,000 or three-quarters of the over-all national increase.

HATLESS BRIDES AND GLOVELESS MEN

While the hat manufacturers are making strenuous efforts to squelch the hatless bride, glove makers are bemoaning what is termed "the curse of the gloveless hand". "With the current trend toward the sloppily-dressed male, we're really worried", says one big manufacturer in Wall Street Journal. "Modern living has generally dispensed with dress gloves for utility purposes". The auto is named as the main cause for cutting down glove consumption. The National Glove Council has been formed to convert men into confirmed glove wearers the year round.

Deer Too Numerous For Food Supplies

Biologist Recommends Hunting If Animals Are to Survive

Toronto (CP) — Deer in the Lake of the Woods area have to be hunted to survive.

Dick Passmore, a 28-year-old biologist with the Ontario Lands Department, says that if hunters do not kill off many of the deer, the animals will increase too fast for the available food supply. When food runs low, many starve or become prey to wolves, drastically decreasing the population.

His conclusions were reached after an air and land deer census of the 6,500-square-mile area that took more than a year.

His facts and figures may settle an argument between the resort owners and Ontario hunters in the area. The hunters claimed that United States residents were killing off too many deer. The resort owners replied that the U.S. sportsmen had a right to under the law.

Mr. Passmore estimates that there are about seven deer to the square mile in the area. His advice is to keep on hunting.

The University of British Columbia has embarked on a long-term nutritional test of wild deer.

To run five years or more, the test is under the direction of Dr. I. McTaggart Cowan, zoologist, and Dr. Alex Wood, animal nutritionist.

"We can now grow them to 80 pounds at five months, against 40 or 50 pounds gained in the wild state", Dr. Cowan reports.

This does not mean, he said, supplemental feeding of free deer, but reducing the deer population to a level where there is adequate native feed.

"Increase in the allowable hunting rate in such cases would be the answer", he said.

HEAT WAS OFF

Kentville, N.S. (CP) — Magistrate H. B. Dickey and other court officials wore winter garb in court here. The heat was off for the prisoners and everybody else after the furnace of the court house was damaged by an explosion.

QUEENS PAST AND PRESENT

Canada, the British Isles, as well as all the other far flung dependencies of the British Commonworth of Nations have been in a state of mourning. They have lost their illustrious and beloved Monarch, His Majesty King George VI, who recently passed to his eternal rest. Thus came to an end a kingly reign whose motto was devotion to duty. It was he who in a message during the dark days of 1943 said, "We shall not rest from the task until it is nobly ended." Fitting words these and an inspiration to Elizabeth II, who begins her reign with every chance of being the happiest Queen in English history. Looking back several hundred years it can readily be seen that England's queens were not distinguished by their personal contentment in the past.

Mary I, who ascended the throne in 1553, had a troubled reign which lasted only five years. She was handicapped by the fact that her mother, Catharine of Aragon had been divorced by Henry VIII. Technically, Mary was an illegitimate child. Separated as she was from her mother in her childhood and menaced by Anne Boleyn her stepmother, her reign was far from tranquil. Mary was 37 when she became queen and was ill much of the time. She died miserable and childless.

Elizabeth I reigned for 45 brilliant years between 1558 and 1603 but her personal life was tragic. Her mother, Anne Boleyn, was beheaded when Elizabeth was only three years old. She herself was in the Tower threatened with death four years before she became queen.

Mary II, who was co-sovereign with her husband, William of Orange, between 1689 and 1694, quarrelled with her father, James II, whom she and her husband helped to depose and then succeed on the throne. A quiet, retiring woman who never made much impression on history, she too suffered the tragedy of being childless.

Her sister Queen Anne, who reigned for 12 years between 1702 and 1714, was a quiet tranquil woman and was happily married to a Danish Prince and her reign was a brilliant one for England. However, it is said she was a dull, obstinate person of small ability. Twenty-one children were born to her and none survived to raise an heir to the throne.

Queen Victoria's grandiose reign of 63 years, beginning in 1837 when she was only 18 years old, is a natural inspiration for our present Queen Elizabeth. Among all previous royal marriages Victoria's marriage to her cousin Prince Albert remains a classic one. However, her mother made her life miserable when she was a girl and she made her own and everybody else's life miserable after her husband's death.

Elizabeth II with a handsome husband and two fine children, has so far escaped the early misfortunes of the Queens who have preceded her. It is the fervent prayer and wish of Canadians and all her subjects wherever they may be found that she will continue to carry her good fortune with her during her coming reign.

60th ANNUAL REPORT

For sixty years, the Great-West Life has been helping family men provide financial protection for their loved ones. Through the Company's services, continued income can be assured even though death, disability, or old age stops the normal flow of income to the family.

The unique relationship between a policyholder and the company imposes upon the Great-West Life a high public trust. That this trust has been kept faithfully and well is revealed in the record of growth and service reported at the Great-West Life's sixtieth Annual Meeting.

Ever-growing public confidence in the Company is attested by the fact that its representatives arranged a record amount of new life insurance and annuities for over 50,000 people during the year. The figures which appear below indicate the extent of the Company's responsibility to its 515,000 policyholders.

Ski Week at Morin Heights

Saturday started the regular yearly Ski Week sponsored by the Morin Heights Ski Club and the hotels of the municipality. Many visitors were here for the week-end, and many American friends of previous years were again in evidence. A well planned program has been arranged, and it is hoped that all visitors to this Laurentian community will thoroughly enjoy the occasion.

Carnival at Ste. Agathe

Resplendent and in the holiday mood, Ste. Agathe staged one of the most picturesque carnivals ever held in the Laurentians. Its Ice Palace, and costumes of the ancient Canada, were to be seen wherever one walked. Floats depicting the Laurentians and their customs of earlier years were on parade. Sulky races, snow shoe races and skiing events were staged, and to bring this wonderful event to a close, the International Dog Derby was held, with 18 entrants, coming from the New England Sled Dog Club, the Ottawa Sled Dog Club, even as far as the Pas and the American Army Air Force team from Goose Bay. During the prize-giving, Mr. Lallemand, of the Provincial Government Tourist Bureau, gave a resumé of the efforts of the Provincial Government to foster tourism in Canada, and in the Province of Quebec particularly. He stated that last year the Tourist Bureau made an allotment of $9,000 to assist the carnival committee, and this year the allotment had been increased to $21,000, as it was felt to be a good investment for the Laurentians.

In the results of the Dog Derby, Basil Green, of Morin Heights and Center Sandwich, came first with an elapsed time for the two-day course of 3:13:43. Mr. Green, as the man with the fastest elapsed time, was presented with the Star Trophy, given each year. G. A. Sloan, Assistant Circulation Manager of the Star, presented the trophy in a ceremony at the Castel des Monts Hotel.

Bill Shearer, of Boston, Mass., was second — his time being 3:16:56, and Lyle Grant, of Hamilton, Mass., was third, with 3:38:58. There were eighteen entries. Several women competed in these races — Mrs. Lorna Demidoff being fastest on the distaff side, with a time of 4:03:10.

School Boys Initiated Into Art of Curling

Recently there took place what is hoped may be the start of a new venture for High School boys in Lachute. Six Grade XI and XII boys, along with two already initiated, gathered together to indulge in the old and honorable game of Curling.

It was but a short time before these boys caught on to the rudiments. Under the guidance of Mr. S. E. McKyes, they were shown the different accepted methods of delivering a stone, the old "out" and "in" turns, and the purpose of each.

Next the boys were shown the art of sweeping and the value of this practice was explained.

After a few trials by all the boys, two teams were picked and an eight-end was enjoyed — skipped by Jimmy Campbell and Johnny Watson.

We fill prescriptions with utmost care and accuracy.

Is Religion A Good Thing ?
Millions of sincere persons practice religion. These maintain that religion is beneficial and aids them to live and work for a better and happier life. Others assert that because of the vast number of religions on earth today, and the variety of viewpoints on the subject, many persons are confused and perplexed as to just what good religion has accomplished and thus are unable to determine whether it is worth having or not. Also, religion's part in world conditions, causes many to question religion's value today. Here, however, is an opportunity to find a satisfactory answer to a vital question. The 352-page book "What Has Religion Done for Mankind?" brings to the reader's attention an enlightening treatise on the world's leading religions. With the aid of this absorbing book you will be able to determine for yourself what religion has done and to decide which religion is good and true. ## Meatless Meal Planning

Meatless meal planning, a difficult problem anytime, always seems to be at its most bothersome in Lent. In most homes, meat is the hearty dish around which the main meal is built. The home economists at Ottawa state that the pinch-hitter for meat at any meal must be a food which "stays by you", appetizing and filling. There are numerous foods which can do yeoman service in this respect and any number of ways to serve them.

First of all look inside a shell; egg or nut. In either case or in either shell, you find a good meat substitute, rich in flavor, and like meat, high in protein.

Vegetables such as peas, beans and lentils give protein, too. The protein of dried vegetables isn't sufficient to fill the needs of the body if served continually in place of meat. However, if milk or cheese are added they are a suitable substitute. When we speak of "beans", we usually mean the dried bean, a popular stand-by in any home, East or West. To a Maritimer, Saturday night is "baked bean night"; to a Western cattleman, beans and bacon are as necessary as his horse. Although beans are a low-cost source of protein and other nutrients, Canadians are not eating as many as they should. Consumption should be high and the wise homemaker will take note. The beans grown in Canada for consumers are of three types: the familiar white navy bean or small pea bean; the yellow-eyed bean (a favorite with Maritimers) and the soldier or kidney type bean. A small acreage of lima and red kidney beans is grown in Canada but these crops are used mainly for canning purposes, thus the dried limas or red kidney beans offered for sale here are mainly imported.

Each homemaker may have her favorite in the bean department but there is no necessity to limit it to one dish. In the attractive folder, "White Navy Beans", prepared by the Consumer Section, there are wonderful recipes for such things as bean soup, bean and cheese casserole, and that popular dish, baked beans. This folder is available free of charge from the Department of Agriculture in Ottawa.

Lentils are not grown in Canada, but many people substitute Canadian-grown split peas. These dry peas are grown mainly in Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba, but they are available to all housewives.

One question which many people ask is "What do you do with left-overs?" The home economists reply "Always use them". The trick is to change the name, flavor and appearance. Left-over baked beans can be a joy to an enterprising cook. "Bean-using salads" are a welcome change. There are various combinations: baked beans, diced red apple, diced green pepper and mayonnaise: or baked beans, chopped sweet pickle, chopped cabbage and French dressing: or baked beans, diced cooked beets, chopped onion and mayonnaise. For a luncheon dish, a hot bean sandwich is a natural. Serve the baked beans on toast topped with catsup or chili sauce. If cold baked beans are seasoned with minced onion, pickle relish and mayonnaise, they make an ideal sandwich filling.

The "pastes" (macaroni, spaghetti, and noodles) are substitutes for meat. Every homemaker serves macaroni and cheese at some time or other. It can be varied by the addition of canned tomatoes or canned tomato soup or even a little chopped green pepper, onion and celery. If the family is particularly fond of cheese, various types may be used. For instance, try part Swiss and part Canadian Cheddar, or part skim milk cheese and part cheddar, or the same combinations using Process cheese instead of Cheddar. If a stronger flavor is desired, an Oka or Roquefort type cheese may be used in combination with Cheddar or Process. An interesting casserole is made by combining cooked noodles, chopped hard-cooked eggs and canned mushroom soup. Another is a noodle ring filled with vegetables in a cheese sauce. It is important to remember that pastes should be combined with a protein food as they are predominantly starch. Thus for meatless menus, cheese, eggs and fish are natural additions.

ANTIQUES

What Are Antiques; Why Do We Buy Them?

Before I start this group of articles on antiques, let's see what an antique really it. . . .

An antique can be of any size, shape or description, provided it is approximately 75 years old, at the minimum age. It can date back any number of years previous to that. For our purposes, they run in two types, Major and Minor groups. Major is reserved for chairs, tables and larger pieces of this description. Minor — for small items that can fit on shelves, pictures, and articles of that sort.

Let us see first why people buy them. Many things have to be taken into consideration in answering this statement, and with the help of a feather duster let me see if I can dust off some answers.

People can actually be attached to a certain article. This is one good reason. It has nice color or design, good solid fabrication, and time devoted to its construction. There is a lot in this argument. Or, a scale there is more craftsmanship poured out over a good antique, than many items which you see on display in the average store. Craftsmanship ran high. But one word of warning — if something was poor, then — it is three times poorer today.

Another answer is that you are looking for something attractive for a corner, or to decorate a room around. Antiques lend themselves nobly for that. For a centrepiece in a room, and harmonic in design, antiques take a slight preference. This does not mean that we should spurn modern things in order to go out of our way for an antique. There are many good china houses which are making antiques of the future; these too, for the most part, are not cheap, and today they are developing a richness of color that is surpassing the antiques.

My last consideration of the topic is that you get your dollar's worth. The money you put out for an antique is considered, by some, as an investment. Many times you can get more than you paid for the article, provided you can find a buyer for it. Good antiques are scarce and hard to get. They are also something to be proud of.

Human Guinea Pigs Get Paid Holidays

Salisbury, Wiltshire (CP) — Honeymoon couples or anyone else willing to contract a cold in the interests of medical science have been offered a holiday with pay and other inducements by the Harvard Hospital Research Laboratory here.

In its campaign to find a cure for the ravages of the common cold, the research unit in the past has counted on university students for its human guinea pigs. The flow of volunteers from this source, however, has dried up by pressure of studies and examinations.

"Honeymoon couples would definitely be welcome", a Ministry of Health spokesman said. "After all, we pay all travelling expenses, provide pocket-money for incidental expenses, facilities are offered for recreation and the rations are most liberal."

A desirable, though not essential qualification, is that a volunteer should bring a cold with him. A cold caught naturally and not from an artificially-induced virus, is just what the research workers are after.

PSYCHOLOGY FACTOR IN WOMEN'S HAIRDO

Montreal (CP) — Did you ever think that the woman across from you in the streetcar was mentally restyling your hair? That's what a well known Montreal hair-stylist, Mrs. Marion Binette, does all the time. But thinking of a new hair-do for a woman and getting her to try it is another matter.

"Be too persuasive in telling a customer she should try a new hair style", Mrs. Binette says, "and she will go somewhere else to get it done the way she wants". Mrs. Binette has spent 24 years enhancing milady's tresses.

Memorial Service Held

On Friday morning a memorial service was held in the Grace Anglican Church, the Rev. W. Busing officiating. The church was filled to capacity. Prayers were said in keeping with the occasion and a two-minute silence was observed. The late King's favorite hymns were sung, and the minister gave a poignant sermon on the passing of our beloved Sovereign.

Women's Institute

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the auditorium on February 13, with Mrs. F. Davis presiding.

In memory of His Majesty King George VI, the president opened the meeting with prayer and the members observed a two-minute silence.

During the evening, the new Nomination Committee for the next two annual meetings was appointed, as follows: Chairman, Mrs. Gordon Cooke; Mrs. Wenville Graham, Mrs. Percy Gordon. All slates to be submitted to the committee should be sent in by February 27.

Following the business, the president turned the meeting over to Mrs. Douglas Cooke, Educational convener (pro tem.) and a very enjoyable debate was put on by members of the Arundel School. The subject was "Resolved, that the place for women is in the home". Miss Joan Bennett and Maurice Rathwell upheld the affirmative side, while the negative was taken by Sandra Watters and Bobby Cooke.

Each team gave a very good argument, but the decision of the judges was in favor of the negative side. Judges for the evening were the Rev. W. Busing, Mrs. Percy Staniforth and Mr. E. Noall.

Bombers Badly Bombed At B'burg Arena

(Our District Correspondent)

Brownsburg — The second game of the play-offs between Brownsburg and Ste. Therese was staged at the local arena last Thursday night. The play was spotty and followed the pattern of most of the games during the season — close combination, well thought-out sorties, with a good finishing effort — contrasting with stylish individual but aimless and unproductive attempts around the goal. Ste. Therese scored twice in the first 10 minutes, in well-directed plays, beating the Brownsburg defence at will — and meeting excellent goaling, or the score would have been much higher. Towards the end of the period Brownsburg registered a marker in a surprise attack, to which Ste. Therese replied just before the whistle sounded.

It was 10.30 when the second session got under way. This period was a repeat of the previous encounter. Tempers became a bit frayed, and a determined effort by Brownsburg around the goal was rewarded by a tally just as the goaler got caught by a stray stick, leaving a slash across his scalp. He was replaced during the rest of the game — this period ending with Brownsburg attacking but two goals down on the play.

The final was fast and open. Ste. Therese held a long lead and played as winners who had no need to exert themselves in the closing stages. Brownsburg made individual tries, but were outclassed and beaten by a better team. — Ste. Therese 8, Brownsburg 4.

Semi-Finals in Long Sault League

Brownsburg — In the first game of the Long Sault Hockey League finals, Chute à Blondeau played Brownsburg Junior Bombers at Chute à Blondeau February 12. Chute à Blondeau were the winners, 5-0. Score was zero until near the end of the second period when Brewer pushed the puck into his own nets in trying to keep it out. Hewitt dashing up with the puck let drive and something happened, he lost his balance and went crashing into the boards with his knees and was unable to continue in the final period, which saw the Burg players playing up too much, with a sad result of four more goals for Chute à Blondeau. It might be noted here that the temperature and high winds left much to be desired on an outdoor rink, and attendance at the game was very poor.

Saturday night saw the second game, played in the Brownsburg arena, where a good crowd turned out. Play was good in this game, though a little rough at times, with Brownsburg taking three penalties. Chute à Blondeau again won, 7-3. Some nice plays by the Brownsburg Juniors just didn't seem to materialize in the nets. It was a hard-fought game. Hewitt was unable to play, due to his injury. Ouellette scored two goals and Racine one for the Burg. Replacing Hewitt on this line was little Red Charlebois.

Sunday night saw the Juniors again playing at Chute à Blondeau, under adverse weather conditions. Score, Brownsburg 5, Chute à Blondeau 4, after overtime.

With only two forward lines, two defence lines and Joly in the nets, the Juniors really turned on all they had, and the scoring began in the first period with a goal by Brewer. Two more goals for the Burg and one for Chute à Blondeau brought the score to 3-1 for Brownsburg at the end of the first period. In the second period, Chute à Blondeau moved up, and in the final, score was 4-4. In the 10-minute overtime period (first goal to end the game), the Juniors really tried all-out, and with many near-goals, finally Jacques Racine was able to shove the puck past the Chute à Blondeau goaler. A very jubilant bunch returned to Brownsburg. Bill Hewitt managed and coached the team in the absence of Bill Tessier, Hewitt still being out of the play due to his injury. Gerald Ouellette was injured in a regular game, and has found that his shoulder is not in good enough condition to finish out the season.

The final score was 29-26 for the Macdonald girls. In the first half, scores were made by J. Goldthorpe (4), M. Mitchell (3), B. Bradford (4) and E. Welden (2) for Lachute. The Macdonald scorers were Cornett (2), Watson (10) and Cole (4).

In the second half the scorers were J. Goldthorpe (2), M. Mitchell (2), B. Bradford (8), and E. Welden (1) for Lachute; Clusane (1), Watson (11) and Cole (2) for Macdonald.

The boys' game was a little closer. The final score was 47-46 for Macdonald. W. Steeves scored 5 points, Duncan 2, Golphin 6, and McMahon 4. The Macdonald scorers in the first half were Hamilton 2, Wier 6, Spicer 2, Wills 5, Duanne 2, Logan 2, and Adams 4.

In the second half Lachute stepped up to a tie, but Macdonald broke it with a foul shot. Lachute's scorers were Duncan 15, Golphin 8, McMahon 2 and Cooke 2. For Macdonald, Wier 2, Spicer 6, Wells 6 and Duanne 2.

L.H.S. Intermediates Win Hockey Pennant

shot it neatly in. Then he shot from the front blue line and scored on the opposing goaler. St. Viateur hopped into action. Leclair scored after a scramble in front of the nets. G. Albright, skating in behind his own nets, collided with one of his own players and broke his nose; this kept him off the ice for the rest of the game.

Leclair and Legault showed a sharp passing display which ended in two successive tallies. Grondin then got the puck and passed to Laframboise, who slipped it in the nets. Campbell followed with a tally for Lachute. Scoring in the third stanza was all by the College boys. Leclair scored, then Laframboise assisted in three goals, scored in quick succession by Legault, Grondin and Leclair.

Tournament Finals

Saturday saw the finals of the tournament. At ten o'clock Lachute Intermediates met Brownsburg Intermediates in a fast game. The final score was 7-5, with 10 minutes overtime.

Lachute started off well, Campbell scoring on a pass from Mason. Soon after, Cribb tied up the score. A few minutes later Cribb passed to W. MacAdam, who broke the tie for Brownsburg. However, B. Morrow tied the count once again.

The second period saw a few close calls, but McMartin stopped all but a shot from Cribb, of Brownsburg. Jamison surprised the Brownsburg goaler and tied the score once more. Copeland passed to Campbell, who beat the Brownsburg goalie again. Lachute kept up their good form, and Copeland scored from Jamison. Brownsburg then marked two scores — by MacAdam and Cribb. This evened up the standing for the fourth time.

Playing 10 minutes of overtime, Copeland assisted Jamison in another goal, and Copeland scored from Jamison and Campbell. This was the final goal of a tense game. It meant that later in the day Lachute would play for the pennant against Shawbridge Boys' Farm, who had won their section of the tournament the week before.

The play-off for the Junior pennant was held after dinner. Brownsburg played against Shawbridge Farm. The final score was 7-6 for Brownsburg.

The final in the Midget class was played between Arundel and Grenville, the score being 2-0 for Grenville — a second shut-out for Everett Kennedy in the tournament. Alvin Oswick tallied both goals — one in the first period, and one in the second.

The Lachute Intermediates won the pennant in a sensational game; score, 22-0. Lachute rapped in scores right and left. In the first stanza Copeland tallied a quick one on a pass from Jamison. Then Mason, off a pass scored from Warwick, and D. McRae followed suit. Copeland and Campbell scored two tallies, then McGibbon passed to Thompson for another goal. Campbell tallied for the second time in this period, and the last score was by G. Albright, from Copeland.

The second period was rather rough, but Lachute continued scoring serenely — J. Rogers, on a pass from B. Morrow; Jamison from J. Watson. Soon after this a stick accidentally hit Jamison in the mouth, breaking a tooth and cutting his lip; this put Jamison off the ice. Albright, Watson, Morrow (2) and Albright again, completed the scoring.

Albright sustained a hit in the mouth with a stick, which banished him early in the third period. R. Mason scored from Copeland, then registered three goals in a row, in the first two assisted by Campbell. R. Mason, on a pass from J. Rodgers, scored once again. A few minutes before the game ended Copeland stole the puck from Shawbridge and passed to Watson. The latter missed his chance, so skated around behind the nets and shot it to the waiting Campbell, who then scored the last and 22nd goal of the game.

When the stoker at Amherstburg, Ont., school failed, pupils were sent home for a half-holiday, and, comments the Echo editor, "This made a great hit with the children".

$130 Now Awaits Cinema Lachute Patron

Lucky but unlucky, was Mme Ernest Leseize of Chatham Street, Lachute Mills, whose name was called at the Cinema Lachute last Friday, "Foto-Nite". . . Had Mme Leseize been present at the theatre on that occasion, she would have received $120 for her photograph. . . . She was not among the audience, however.

The sum therefore is now increased to $130, for this week. Patrons who have registered their names (by phone or at the box office) will be eligible if they are present at the theatre this Friday, "Foto-Nite".

Church Bowling League Concludes Schedule

The Lachute United Church Bowling League concluded its regular schedule Tuesday evening, after a very interesting season. The league leadership was in doubt until the last evening's play, when the W.M.S. Blues, skipped by Mrs. H. Riddell, and The Raps, led by L. W. Hammond, were the only two teams in the running. The former team was defeated by Y.P.U., while the latter came from behind to win against the Ladies' Aid, thereby winning the league title by one point.

Play-Offs Start March 4

Elimination play-offs will commence on Tuesday, March 4; games to be announced next week.

Next week's games will be purely social, with the first games lined up as follows:

7.15 p.m. —
Y.W.A. vs. St. David's.
W.M.S. Reds vs. Thistles.
Ladies' Aid vs. Blue Bells.

Review of Junior Hockey In Brownsburg

Brownsburg — The Hockey season is nearing the final stages in Brownsburg, with both the Senior Bombers, in the Laurentian League, and the Junior Bombers, in the Long Sault League.

The Junior Bombers ended up last in their league standing, this does not discredit these young lads, for during the 11 games played they showed a promising brand of hockey, and being all from Brownsburg, if they stick together they will soon prove to be Brownsburg's own Senior team. It is the hope of the Community Rink to be able to get artificial ice for the 1952-53 season; this will do much for local hockey. With artificial ice the local lads can start skating much sooner than has been possible in the past, and the season will continue longer.

The Junior Bombers have 20 players signed up, managed by Bill Tessier. Gerry Izzard is treasurer; Bill Hewitt and Gerald Ouellette assist in the coaching.

This team consisting of boys in their 'teens, many still going to school, have done well entering in a Senior League with players much older and more experienced. Brownsburg replaced Hawkesbury in this League after the season had started. In entering a senior league such as this, it was decided to enlist three seniors; two of these lads are in their 'twenties and the other in his 'thirties. These senior players have added some weight and experience to the team.

Rainy Ouellette is the net-minder and he gains much experience with each game. Spare goaler is Joly. There are three lines. The first forward line consists of Racine, Ouellette and Hewitt, with Hewitt replaced by Levielle or Charlebois. Others on the Junior Bombers are—Defence, Moseley, Cumbers, Jarry, Lepine, Clement, Ouellette; Forwards — Legault, Cousineau, Robitaille, Brewer, Carriere, Goyette.

Mr. André Paquette, publisher of Le Carillon (Hawkesbury) has donated a trophy for the winner of the "most popular player" contest in the Long Sault League, with engraved gold and silver medals for second and third standings. To keep the trophy a player has to win it three years in succession. The vote is made by ballot published in the paper Le Carillon.

This contest is continuing until the final game, when the vote will be counted and the awards made by Mr. Paquette at the league's party, usually held in March.

Ch. of Commerce Group Views Plant of Dominion Shuttle Co.

Chamber's "Industry of the Month" — Tour of West-End Factory Provides Instructive Interest to Large Visiting Group

"Industry and Commerce in Lachute"
Contributed by Lachute Chamber of Commerce

Wood Working Operations Highly Diversified

Names are at times inadequate, if not utterly misleading. For instance, the name Dominion Shuttle Company Limited does not conjure up a picture of a large diversified industry producing millions of feet of Veneers and Plywoods; Wooden Pole Line Materials, such as Crossarms, Insulator Pins, Side Brackets and Pole Steps; Flushwood Doors; Moulded Plywood Parts, including Chair Seats and Backs; Plugs for Paper Rolls; and Lumber; along with Shuttles — yet that is just what a visit to this plant discloses. The activities of this concern date back to 1870, when the Lachute Shuttle Company Limited was formed. In 1925 the name was changed to Dominion Shuttle Company Limited, when this concern was acquired by the late E. F. Ayers, and moved to its present site. Then began the program of expansion which, in the intervening 26 years, has brought about this diversified industry giving employment to from 300 to 325 hands, exclusive of logging operations. Under the same management since its inception, still further strides are being made.

The Manufacture of Shuttles

Shuttles are still manufactured, and while an important part of their output, these are not the most impressive. At that, they are the only manufacturers of shuttles in Canada, supplying practically the entire requirements of the Canadian Weaving Industry. The manufacture of shuttles involves up to 70 operations, and they are produced on highly specialized machines.

Dogwood and Persimmon are the woods favored for shuttles, because of their fine, hard texture and freedom from any tendency to warp or twist when thoroughly seasoned. This material is purchased in the form of dimension squares. The operations involved include squaring up two faces by means of a special holding device mounted on a saw table. Then the other two sides are faced to exact size on a disc-head machine. Then follows centering and facing to length, on a machine resembling a lathe, after which the shuttle tips are inserted, followed by a series of boring and routing operations, the latter on special shuttle routers. Other operations include pointing, sanding and finishing. Pointing is accomplished by mounting the pieces between cup centres, to accommodate the steel tips, on a carriage set at the required angle and revolving them when in contact with a disc cutter head. Sanding is quite interesting. The faces are sanded by means of a disc sander while the sanding of rounded edges and points is accomplished by mounting the shuttle in a bow-like holder with cup centres which permits it to revolve while held in contact with a sand belt. The finished product is most attractive in its clear lacquer finish. By way of variety some shuttles are faced with fibre and phenolite.

Thoroughly Modern Plant, Variety of Wood Products

The Veneer and Plywood Division, housed in a large separate building, is most impressive, from its log storage pond to its shipping department. Facilities for the handling of logs in and out of the huge storage pond, and to the lathes, are the most efficient on the continent. This takes in a lot of territory, but when one sees this large artificial storage pond, 630 feet long and 70 feet wide, served its full length by a two-ton travelling crane, and in which 4,000,000 feet of logs can be

RALLY AND DINNER GIVES SEND-OFF TO SCOUTS' FUND APPEAL

In connection with the annual financial campaign by the Boy Scouts Association, a dinner was held in the Legion Hall, Lachute, last Monday evening with most of the members of the Lachute and Brownsburg Group Committees and canvassers present. The total attendance was 52.

The guest speaker was C. J. Dendy, Executive Provincial Commissioner, who was accompanied by L. C. Houldsworth, Assistant Executive Commissioner.

Following an excellent dinner served by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Lachute Branch of the Legion, Linton W. Armstrong, Commissioner of the Laurentian District, introduced the speaker, who recounted a number of his experiences in Scouting. He emphasized that, in Scouting, "boys learn to do by doing"; also that the object is always to teach the boys to be resourceful and of good character.

In closing, Mr. Dendy wished the Laurentian District every success in this year's campaign for funds.

C.E. RICHARDSON FETED ON C-I-L RETIREMENT, PAST WORKS MANAGER

Gathering Pays Tribute to Long Company Record and Community Service

Creighton Elliott Richardson, known far and wide as "Dick", former Works Manager of the Brownsburg Ammunition Works of Canadian Industries Limited, was honored at a stag party at the Brownsburg Legion Hall on Friday, February 22 — the occasion being his retirement from the company after 36 years of service. More than 150 of his friends from Ottawa, Montreal and points between, attended the gathering.

Highlight of the evening's entertainment was a candid review of Dick's life, illustrated by a series of skits presented by Gordon Elliott and Barney O'Connell, of Montreal. Sam Rose, Brownsburg, acted as master of ceremonies. Harris Sherwood presented Mr. Richardson with an engraved silver tray on behalf of the gathering.

C. E. Richardson was born in Montreal in 1886, and graduated from McGill in 1911 with a B.Sc. in Civil Engineering. He joined Canadian Industries Limited in 1915 when the company was known as Canadian Explosives Limited. In the First World War, Dick served as a gunner in the McGill Heavy Siege. He returned to his former company in 1919 and later that year was made Works Manager, a position he held for 20 years. In 1925 he married Miss Francis McGibbon, of Brownsburg.

In 1940 Mr. Richardson moved to Montreal as consultant to the Ammunition Division. From 1941 to 1945 he was consultant with Defence Industries Limited, assisting in the development of ammunition and shell-filling plants to the production stage. After the war he returned to the Ammunition Division, and in 1951 was loaned to the Nylon Division in connection with the construction of the new C-I-L Nylon Works at Maitland, Ontario, between Brockville and Prescott.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson have two daughters, both married, and two grandchildren.

Total population given for two neighboring constituencies is as follows: Papineau 64,040; Terrebonne 68,065.

Males exceed females in this electoral district and in Terrebonne. In Papineau, the females have a majority.

PAKISTAN DESCRIBED IN SERIES OF ROTARY INTERNATIONAL TALKS

In a continuance of what might be called an "international series" of speakers, last week the Rotary Club heard from Pakistan — in the person of Mr. Mian Ahmad.

Mr. Ahmad, a native of what is now Pakistan, is visiting this country to study industrial methods.

With the aid of a map, the speaker pointed out the geographic relation of Pakistan, and briefly described the condition of his country.

Pakistan has a warm climate, ranging in temperature from 40° to 120° Fahrenheit. The rainfall is very heavy, 100 inches a year along the coastal regions, but amounts to only 20 inches a year inland. The population is 82 million, which makes it the fifth largest nation in the world. It is also one of the most heavily populated areas in the world, there being 870 people per square mile.

The partition of India was based on religion. The population of Pakistan is predominantly Moslem, while in India the majority of the natives are Hindu. Mr. Ahmad explained that the Moslem religion is a peaceful one. The Moslems have no aggressive intentions; their one wish is to build their country and be at peace.

When India was partitioned, Pakistan was left as an agricultural nation with virtually no manufacturing industries. The cotton and jute of Pakistan were, and still are, processed in India. The government is building new industries in Pakistan, but progress is slow, and in the meantime their economy is at a low ebb.

Another factor hindering the development of the country is its strife with Hindu India. When the country was partitioned, the province of Kashmir, although Moslem, was ruled by Hindus. The India government sent in troops on the invitation of the Hindu ruler, and the trouble began. Although a cease-fire line has been established, the question is still awaiting solution.

Showing the inconsistency of the India government, Mr. Ahmad pointed out that in Hyderabad, the Indians came in, not at the request of the ruler, who wished to remain independent, but on behalf of the Hindu majority in that province.

Mr. Ahmad was introduced by Art Lapp and thanked by Wes Freeland. The guests, Leonard Wilson, Bill Halton, and Al Talbot, were introduced by Keith Rutherford. The regular singsong period was led by Jean Belanger.

LIONS' BARN DANCE REPLETE WITH RURAL COLOR AND SETTING

The "costumes campagnards" at the Lions Club barn dance last Friday resurrected high boots from the gay nineties, patched pants, habitant, Indian and rustic garb from many a dusty attic. The rural scene was replete with a live pony, while prizes of poultry, produce, a bag of potatoes and a ham, were in keeping with the spirit of the occasion. A good crowd enjoyed the event at Lachute Auditorium, where Mac Turner's orchestra, which recently performed for the Royal visitors at Rideau Hall, provided lively music, and George MacKenzie, aided by Jim Duncan, called the sets.

The costumes were judged by Wm. J. Deacon, Dr. Jules Lafleur, Alfred Williams and R. A. Giles. The winners were:

1st Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Underhill, 2nd Mr. and Mrs. Bud McGeorge, 3rd Mr. and Mrs. G. Ambeault, 4th Mr. and Mrs. W. Cousineau.

Howard Ward, Raymond Underhill, Mabel Bigrow, Harold Warwick, Ernest Bertrand, Jacques Paul, Jim Barbour, Gaetan Pilon, Erskine Rodger, Denise Belanger, Jas. Hay.

Considerable credit for the pleasure and success of this venture goes to Roger Regimbal, m.c. and committeemen, with his willing collaborators. The Lions Club, in turn, are grateful for the public support, which will give further impetus to their charitable works in the community.

LADY RESIDENT HURT IN HIGHWAY CRASH

Automobiles in Pile-Up East of St. Hermas, Much Damage

Mrs. R. A. Dumais, driving with her husband, Dr. Roger Dumais, on Route 8 towards Montreal, was injured in a head-on crash 3 miles east of St. Hermas last Thursday morning. Involved in the collision was Rodrigue Fauteux, of St. Benoit, coming eastward in the rear of a government snowplow, who stated that he had been blinded by snow flying from the plow and overstepped the centre of the road at a curve.

Mrs. Dumais, suffering severe lacerations of the face, was brought to Lachute and received medical treatment from Dr. Jules Lafleur, J. Romeo Charron, a passenger in the Dumais car, was struck in the chest, but not seriously injured. Dr. Dumais escaped unhurt.

To aggravate the danger and the damage, a car following the Lachute auto — driven by Dr. V. Meilleur, of Westmount — crashed into the rear of the battered car. Dr. Meilleur and his two passengers were unhurt.

Meanwhile a Provincial Transport bus, with three passengers aboard, was approaching eastward and the driver failed to see the accumulation of wrecks on the curve, until Dr. Dumais, waving frantically, attracted his attention. The driver then swerved into a snowbank to avoid the pile-up, and the bus suffered damage to the extent of a front tire and tube. All three passenger cars were badly damaged — Dr. Dumais' Cadillac more severely than the others.

Traffic Officer Howard Jones, of Lachute, was summoned to make the investigation.

Sentences Given in Two Local Cases

Arthur Perron, facing charges of bodily assault and indecency, was given a two-year penitentiary term on each count. The case was heard last Friday before Justice Herman Barrette at St. Jerome.

Also before the District Magistrate's Court was a case of reckless driving, arising out of an accident to a girl at the corner of Milway and Main Streets on September 29 last. Antonio Scarborough, the driver, was fined $50 and costs, and his driving permit was revoked for a period of nine months.

Quebec Rural Population Increasing Despite Industrial Growth

Family Life Holds Prime Place, Says Dep. Minister of Trade and Industry

Montreal — Despite its rapid industrialization in recent years, Quebec has not altered its attitude regarding fundamentals and the family retains its primordial place in the life of the province, Louis Coderre, Deputy Minister of the Quebec Department of Trade and Industry, said last Saturday, addressing a group of pulp and paper executives at the Mount Royal Hotel. Mr. Coderre reviewed Quebec's development during the past 15 years.

"Having reached a certain point, Quebec's development might well have become more or less stabilized — giving our fellow citizens at the same time a standard of living far above any they had known in the past. But the province's economy continues to soar without any sign of abatement", Mr. Coderre said.

Fears Groundless

"Alarm has been voiced in some quarters concerning the speed with which the Province of Quebec is becoming industrialized", he continued. "It was feared that agriculture would decline. Such fears have proved groundless: our countryside is not being deserted.

"On the contrary, the rural population continues to increase, though at a lesser rate than in the urban centres. Figures prove there is no basis for uneasiness: in 1941 the value of crops was $78,000,000 and that of livestock $106,000,000. This year's crops are valued at more than $205,000,000 and livestock at more than $312,000,000".

Mr. Coderre said that "the growing number of skilled workers and technicians, trained in the best institutions, are a guarantee that this vast wealth will be used to the best advantage for Quebec and for Canada."

Montrealer Dies While Shovelling Car from Drift

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights —

Mr. Wm. Descelles, of Montreal, died suddenly of a heart attack on Saturday afternoon while shovelling his car out of a snow bank on the Lake Anne road, about half a mile from this village.

District Coroner Dr. Jules Lafleur, of Lachute, inquired into the case and pronounced a verdict of natural death.

Meeting of District Teachers' Association

The third general meeting of the Argenteuil-Two Mountains Teachers' Association was held at the Brownsburg Consolidated School last Friday.

The meeting opened with the reading of the minutes of the last general meeting and executive meeting. The secretary then read a letter from the Central School Board concerning salaries.

It was announced from the chair that the executive had appointed Mrs. N. Rogers to act on the Nominating Committee.

The president read some material from the P.A.P.T. on regional councils, sample constitutions, automatic membership, etc. As it was impossible to come to any agreement on this matter, it was decided that each principal would send a report from his school to the delegates, within the next two weeks.

Nomination forms were distributed, filled in and returned to the secretary before the close of the meeting. These forms will be used by the Nominating Committee to help them select a new executive for the year 1952-53.

After this short business meeting, the teachers gathered in different classrooms for sectional discussions. The various groups were chaired by the following members:

Music — Mr. McKyes.
Noon Hour Amusements — Mr. McGerrigle.
Art (Grades V, VI, VII) — Mr. D. C. Muller.
Art (Grades I, II, III, IV) — Miss Findlay.
Intermediate Mathematics — Mrs. Rogers.

District Canvass Organized For Red Cross; $3,000 Quota

National Appeal Gets Underway March 1

With the annual Red Cross campaign about to commence in this district, canvassers have been organized to cover town and rural divisions in a house-to-house appeal. The Lachute district quota of $3,000 is unchanged from last year, when this objective was exceeded by generous public response. Joint chairmen of the drive are Mrs. K. Campbell and Mrs. G. Tattersfield, Lachute, with Mrs. F. E. Earle filling her now-customary role as treasurer.

The following statement of facts and figures is issued by the local committee — a story which might well stir enthusiasm in the public support:

Did you know — that in 1951 the Quebec Red Cross collected, analyzed, stored, delivered and gave without charge 47,000 bottles of blood. Nine new hospitals have been added to their list.

Did you know — that in 1951 more than 900 persons learned elementary nursing through Red Cross efforts.

Did you know — that 235 missing persons were located by the Red Cross Inquiry Bureau in Quebec.

Did you know — 12,000 cases were treated and 5,460 home visits were made by seven Red Cross outpost nurses in Gaspé district and Magdalen Islands.

Did you know — that four mobile medical and dental clinics, each staffed by two doctors, two dentists and two nurses, made 14,580 examinations, 21,000 tooth extractions and 680 operations in regions where it is usually impossible to find doctors or dentists.

Did you know — that 10,000 boys and girls were taught water safety and swimming by Red Cross instructors.

Did you know — that 7,000 sick room accessories were supplied free of charge to home patients by 21 Red Cross "loan cupboards".

Did you know — that 4,000 veterans received help over difficult post-war periods; 48,000 visits were made to some 15 hospitals, and cigarettes, chocolate bars and books handed out to patients. Two or three movie programs were presented each week in five military hospitals; 91,000 meals served to veterans and their visitors in the canteen of Red Cross Lodge at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, and 1,190 visitors accommodated for the night. . . A Red Cross lending library is maintained at the Veterans' Hospital. . . Some 7,000 articles have been made by veterans through the Red Cross Arts and Crafts program in three hospitals. . . Seven social workers have been sent to Japan by the Red Cross to help Canadian soldiers in leave-centres and hospitals. Three other Red Cross specialists are doing welfare work for American soldiers in Korea.

With this convincing record in mind, citizens of the district cannot fail in their support when the Red Cross canvasser calls at their door. A generous response will put the local campaign "over the top"!

Farm Forums See Instructive Films

The Farm Forums were guests of the firm of R. McArthur & Son at their "fourth night" social gathering Monday evening, held in McArthur's Hall.

Two educational films were presented for the interest of the members. Jerry Dixon, secretary-manager of the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating, showed a feature entitled "Water on Tap"; and Harry Potter, of Toronto, representing the Watts Regulator Company, Massachusetts, showed the film "Explosion", pertaining to safety valves on hot water tanks.

Heber Boyd, president of the Forums organization, was chairman. Thanks were voiced to the visitors for their instructive entertainment, and to Mr. W. K. McArthur for the hospitality extended.

Gatineau LINES

Contributors to Prosperity – VII

One of the secrets of the steadily growing development of that large section of Quebec Province which gets its electricity from Gatineau Power is the wide variety of its industries. This is a tribute not only to the varied assets of the territory but also to the ingenuity and adaptability of its people.

In previous weeks of this series we have talked about the wood products, the clothing products and some of the agricultural products of this great and growing area. This week we would like to mention a few more varied industries served by Gatineau Power.

There is, for instance, the plastics industry represented by Rogers Plastics at Rawdon, Lord Plastics at St. Jacques and Thermoset Plastics at Dorion which turn out a large volume of finished plastics. In the transportation field Corbeil Auto Body at St. Lin turns out truck, bus and utility bodies and school buses; while at St. Jerome, Douglas Aero Products Ltd. produces aeroplane, truck, railway and theatre seats as well as aircraft skis and accessories, hospital equipment and office equipment.

The metal industry is represented by a number of St. Jerome companies — the foundries of Viau & Fils Ltée and St. Jerome Industries Limited; Laurentide Metal Stamping, St. Jerome Precision Works Ltd., and J. H. Tinsley (Canada) Ltd.; the ornamental iron works of Usine d'Outillage Gauthier Enrg., and National Heating Products Ltd., which produces radiators.

Canadian Plague Co. Ltd. at Rigaud keeps 65 employees busy turning out paper bottle tops for distilleries; and at Vaudreuil Brown Press Co. Ltd. does all sorts of printing for customers across Canada. To the North C. E. Charbonneau & Co. at Labelle are dyers and cleaners doing business from Labelle to Montreal. St. Jerome has its abattoir, Salaison St. Jerome Ltée; its pipe, brick and tile industry represented by Laflamme & Bourassa and La Cie des Products de Ciment as well as Laurentian Art Pottery. Laurentian Textile Co. Ltd. produces knitted outwear and fabrics and Canadian Carborundum Co. Ltd. is noted for the excellence of its silica products. Finally, the Laurentians has its pharmaceutical industry represented by Robapharm and even its pre-fabricated house business represented by the Tower Co. Ltd., both at St. Jerome.

B'burg Memorial Service For His Late Majesty

Brownsburg — On Friday morning, February 15, in the Brownsburg Consolidated School, a memorial service was held in tribute to the late King George VI, in which all the churches in Brownsburg participated. The service was held under auspices of the Canadian Legion Branch 71, and was opened by the president, S. M. Istvanffy, followed by introductory remarks, in English and French, by the Rev. S. J. Pike and the Rev. Fr. Manseau respectively. Others taking part included the Revs. N. H. Brock, Geo. Hicks and M. Poirier, of Brownsburg, and the Revs. C. R. Lang and Dr. Reid, of Lachute, representing their congregations in Brownsburg. Hymns sung during the service were, "The King of Love my Shepherd Is" (a favorite of the late King) and "O God Our Help in Ages Past". The Last Post was sounded following the benediction, and two minutes' silence was observed. This was followed by the sounding of the Reveille, and this impressive service concluded with the singing of "God Save the Queen".

The service was held in the spacious auditorium of the school's new wing, and was attended by both English and French to its capacity.

Travel Precautions in Infected Farm Area

Ottawa, Feb. 26 (CP) — Farmers and other occupants of farms hit by the current outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in South Saskatchewan must disinfect their clothes and persons before they can travel, Federal veterinarians said yesterday.

The plan is that when teams of animal eradicators spot an infected farm, they will inform the farm occupants of the type of disinfectant required.

This is to halt spreading of the foot-and-mouth virus from farm to farm.

Tile Drainage

Ottawa — "Out of sight, out of mind", is often true of a tile drainage system, with the result that it does not get the maintenance it should, says D. J. Cooper, Agriculture Engineer, at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Periodic inspection is the best insurance against failures in the system. Though this involves some work, it is less costly than neglecting the system until a major repair is necessary. Inspection during spring run-off and following heavy rains will generally disclose failures in the system.

Blockages in tile lines usually cause washouts or cave-ins. When this occurs the line should be repaired at once, lest silting make it necessary to relay the line above the blockage. Wet spots remaining in the field for some time after a heavy rain indicate that the system is not working properly.

When tree roots block a tile line, the tiles should be dug up and cleaned out. Where it is not desirable or possible to remove the trees, the field tile within 50 to 75 feet of the trees should be replaced by bell tile cemented at the joints.

Outlets frequently require attention due to faulty construction. They must be properly supported and have free delivery into the discharge ditch. Open ditches are subject to silting and must be cleaned out periodically to provide a free delivery from the tile outlet. Screens should be provided on all outlets to keep out rodents.

New Machine Plants 1,000 Trees An Hour

Montreal (CP) — An automatic tree planter capable of planting 1,000 trees an hour and which is a model of simplicity has been invented by John Halpenny of Cornwall, Ont., according to the Canadian Forestry Association's official magazine, "Forest and Outdoors".

The new machine, which resembles a plough, a road grader, and some pre-historic beast, is currently being used to reforest treeless areas of eastern Ontario, the magazine says.

Operation of the machine is simple. The machine is lowered into the sod. It parts the earth, raises a furrow somewhat so that the operator can place the seedling trees. Then the furrow is flattened down and pressed into place by a rubber-tired wheel.

The inventor does not suggest by any means that his hydraulic planter is the final solution to reforestation problems, the magazine story says. It was designed with rock-bottom simplicity to do a job that was waiting for it. Several hundred thousand trees have been planted by its use.

The Value of Manure

Ottawa — At the Experimental Farm at Nappan, N.S., an experiment has been under way for 28 years in which manure has been applied for swedes in a four-year rotation of swedes, oats and two years of hay, at three rates, viz., 12, 16 and 20 tons per acre, compared with a rotation that did not receive manure.

In this experiment the 12 tons application has returned $3.34 per ton, the 16 tons $3.17, and the 20 tons application $2.93 per ton, or an average value of $3.15 per ton.

The yields and value at current market prices in each season were calculated and compiled. As all rotations were treated alike in every way except for the manurial treatments, it is quite reasonable to deduce that the value of any application of manure is the difference between the returns from the rotation receiving manure and the one that did not receive any.

When the value of the application is divided by the number of tons in the application, the value of a ton of manure can be arrived at.

However, when these data are re-examined, states E. T. Goring of the Nappan Farm staff, it is seen that while the return for the first 12 tons applied has been $3.34 per ton, the returns from an additional 4 tons (16 tons rate), has been 67 cents per ton; and from a further addition of 4 tons (20 tons rate), 50 cents per ton.

It is certain then, that, as far as these experiments go, the 12 tons rate of application has been by far the most profitable per ton of manure used.

In the light of these results, it is clear that with a fixed and usually limited supply of manure, the smaller application of 12 tons per acre spread over a larger area will give greater returns for the manure than the larger rates of 16 and 20 tons spread on smaller areas.

Undoubtedly, however, the most profitable use of manure is the lighter rate in combination with commercial fertilizer.

Grow All We Can — The World Needs It

Hundreds of millions of people are starving or on the verge of starvation.

Hundreds of millions of other people are getting less food than they need to nourish healthy bodies and minds.

Hundreds of millions of other people want more and better food than they are getting.

These three groups of people total almost two thousand million. They are all in this one world, in which Canada must produce and exchange as much as the health of our people permits if Canada is to survive as a free nation playing its part in promoting world well-being.

No Canadian is exempt from the duty of doing all that he or she can do within the limits of health to provide the needs of humanity.

In this dire extremity the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, encouraged by the Minister of Agriculture, is wondering whether Canadian farmers should engage in maximum production until the world-food-market mirage they are following becomes an oasis for them in the desert of economic destruction.

The hungry people of the world will pay every cent they can for food. They will deprive themselves of everything else that they can live without to get enough to eat for another day.

A free world market for food would bring Canadian farmers the last pittance in price that the world can pay for our production. A controlled world food market is an utter impossibility this side of the world government that would determine what everyone ought to have and what every man, woman and child would have to do to get it.

The alternatives to maximum production and exchange are horrifying. They involve a totalitarian Canadian economy in which the work, production and standard of living of every Canadian must be dictated by an all-wise bureaucracy.

The one world we are in, as it is, not as we might like it to be, is the world in which we must live, work and exchange our goods and services.

Our most urgent need is to cut our costs by more production per person per day and by better methods, and to reduce our prices accordingly. There is plenty of room in this direction to accomplish enough to keep our agriculture and industry thriving and play our part in averting disaster.

Death Calls Lifelong Resident of Mille Isles

The Late Wm. Maxwell

Mille Isles—The death occurred in Mille Isles on Monday, February 18, of William Maxwell, in his 88th year. Although confined to his home for some time, the deceased had been in comparatively good health until shortly before his death.

One of the oldest residents of the community, he had passed his entire life in Mille Isles district, and had won for himself a large number of friends. A farmer, and by trade a carpenter, he did much for the welfare of the district.

On Wednesday afternoon a brief service was held at the home, followed by service in the Mille Isles Presbyterian Church, conducted by the Rev. Capt. Horace G. Baugh. In his tribute to Mr. Maxwell, the minister referred to his long life, his activities, and the good name which he had passed on to his friends and survivors. His text, "It is appointed unto men once to die", emphasized the necessity of mankind preparing for this appointment, which could not be broken.

Interment took place in the adjoining Presbyterian Cemetery.

The late Mr. Maxwell, husband of the late Mary Elliott and of Ethel May Murdoch, also leaves to mourn his passing two daughters, Clara (Mrs. Gilbert Ryan), of Mille Isles, Ruth (Mrs. George Patterson), of Cowansville, Que. three sons, Walter, of Mille Isles, Gordon, of Shawbridge, and Arnold, of Lachute.

Chamber of Commerce 'Industry of the Month'

stored under water, one is inclined to reach such a conclusion. Kept under water, the veneer logs can be stored for a long period, in fact, almost indefinitely, without appreciable deterioration. However, 4,000,000 feet of logs does not constitute any more than a nine months' supply.

The travelling gantry crane serves to unload the logs from incoming cars, deposit them in the storage pond — and all logs are kept in the pond — then remove them and drop them on inclined skids leading into the plant. There they are picked up by a power-operated mono-rail crane and placed in the vats, where the logs are gently steamed with superheated steam for from eight to 12 hours — eight in summer and 12 in winter. There are 20 of these vats, which measure 8' x 8' x 12' long. As required the logs are removed from the vats, cut to lathe block lengths by a drag saw, and placed on a conveyor which carries them to the barking lathe.

Four Veneer Lathes are operated. No. 1 lathe (88" long) is used for cutting Box Veneer. No. 2 Lathe (77" long), No. 3 Lathe (120" long) and No. 4 Lathe (100" long) are used for cutting Commercial and Aircraft Veneers. All of these lathes are operated with multiple speed electric motors, 70 h.p., with the exception of No. 3, which is driven by a twin-cylinder steam engine. These are modern machines, with motorized power-operated adjustments.

One sees the complicated mechanism of the reeling and unreeling systems, which are synchronized to the speeds of the lathes. The Veneer then being unreeled to the automatic clippers for sizing.

Drying is accomplished by means of two huge "Dryads" (10' wide by 24' long) with five runs high, and the Proctor Dryer turning out about 750,000 feet of dry, flat Veneer. The super-heated steam provides a plate temperature of approximately 330°, and the moisture laden air is carrieed off by efficient ventilating systems immediately above each Dry.

Then there are the Moulding Press and Hot Plate Presses, which glue up these Veneers after they have been jointed and spliced, to be sent to the sizing and drum sanding machines.

Another subsidiary, which was organized in 1927, the B.C. Crossarm Company, New Westminster, B.C., manufactures Crossarms from B.C. Fir, and supplies the Lachute Mills plant with dimension stock for the Crossarms produced by them.

A complete Pressure Creosoting Plant is available for treating these Crossarms, Pins, Side Brackets, and Pole Steps.

This sketchy outline gives some idea of the scale on which the Dominion Shuttle Company Limited operates. The plant buildings are all modern and substantial. They are adequately heated and protected from fire. The latter protection is so comprehensive that an unusually low rate of insurance is enjoyed.

The Dominion Shuttle Company Limited is not the least of those enterprises that tend to fulfill Lachute's boast of being a live industrial centre, for in its large structures, which house all the most modern and up-to-date machines used in the manufacture of the varied commodities, may be seen a number of men and women fulfilling their task of converting logs and lumber from its raw state into the finished product which plays so active a part in the industrial life of our Dominion.

Efficient Personnel

The Chamber of Commerce, whose members and friends were enlightened on the operations of this plant through kind courtesy of the management, pay tribute to those who are conducting the industry at its present high efficiency. Key personnel of the Dominion Shuttle Company Limited, are:

Gilbert E. Ayers, president (and mayor of Ayersville Municipality).

Jean-Paul Roy, secretary-treasurer.

Our Historic Background

"THERE'S a great deal of indifferently mined gold in Canada's historical background". . . . We could think of no more appropriate reference to the Dollard epic, concerning which our records today are so indefinite — as revealed in the current controversy on the location of this incident. Nor can this County of Argenteuil disown the blame, for it is here, and hereabouts, that the tradition should have been more preciously preserved. The situation emphasizes our great debt to the late Cyrus Thomas, historian, the late Dr. Benjamin Wales and the late Dr. Maud Abbott, founders of our historical museum, who undertook to enshrine for posterity, before it was too late, the remnant memories of our early settlement.

The metaphor "indifferently mined gold" is applied, however, to a similar laxity elsewhere. An editorial in the Windsor Star refers to a situation analogous to the Dollard battle, which is now shrouded in uncertainty. Our readers may find interest in the following extracts:

The Grasshopper War

Most Canadians have heard of the War of Jenkins's Ear, and the Battle of Fallen Timbers, but how many of them know that their own country has been the battleground for the Grasshopper War?

According to story, or legend, it was waged long ago, after a Huron lad and a young Iroquois had a disagreement over a grasshopper on a stick. Never inclined to take opposition lightly, the Iroquois sent a force which swooped down on the Huron camp and liquidated it.

It all came out again the other day, when children prying around in a house excavation at Port Colborne, discovered bones, arrowheads, knives, and other relics of aboriginal life. The diggers had turned up a burial place of the Grasshopper War.

Undoubtedly, this was quite a serious experience for the Hurons involved. Yet, it is a part of our land's early history, and viewed down the years it offers "color", "story interest", or whatever one cares to call it.

Our young people of past generations hardly would have been ruined if they had learned of this incident in their readers, or their histories. Indeed, it would have been much more fascinating than some ancient wars whose details have been thrown at their unreceptive heads. Conceivably it would heighten their interest in their own country, which is never a bad thing.

There's a great deal of indifferently mined gold in Canada's historical background. The general lack of knowledge concerning the Grasshopper War is further proof of it.

Community Spirit in the Factories

AN INTERESTING statement quoted in the current Canadian Chamber of Commerce bulletin, deals with the decentralization policy of a large U.S. company which has located its plants in 20 communities in seven states, with an average of slightly more than 1,000 employees per plant. One object of the company is to have an operation that the local manager can handle on a somewhat personal basis, knowing by name most of the employees of the plant. With an operation of this size, it has been possible in many instances to place the company's plants in small communities.

According to the treasurer of this company, it has been found that this practice has advantages. "For one thing there is less social discrimination in small places between people of different income levels. People live closer together. When people go to the same church, and their children go to the same school, they get to know each other pretty well. We feel that when our managers can know their employees, and vice versa, our industrial relations will be on a better plane. Also, in small communities our plants become important in the local employment situation — sometimes the most important factor. Not only do our employees depend on us for their livelihood, but the whole economy of the community is wrapped up in our well-being. . . We do not want the responsibility of running any town in which we operate. That belongs to the people who live there. On the other hand, we feel that our people who work there have to do their share in making the place a good one in which to live."

At the other extreme of this "personal" relationship in a factory, there is one possible argument. We heard it only this week — the instance of a foreman whose supervision was now of doubtful efficiency, due to too many relatives employed in his department. You cannot regulate a rebellious mother-in-law in the domestic circle; and it seems equally true, you cannot effectively boss your wife's first cousin around the factory!

However, we are all for relaxing the barriers of rank and fostering neighborly attitudes, such as one finds among the industrial personnel of this and similar communities.

Bigger and Better Ulcers

THE OCCUPATIONAL ulcer, a product of 20th Century hypertension, takes a jump in prestige. It receives recognition almost as a badge of distinction. At least, that's the novel viewpoint we find in the profession of Advertising, which is not so far removed from Journalism.

Advertising men who do not suffer from occupational ulcers are inclined to be slightly proud of the fact that there is a high incidence of that malady in their group, said Dr. R. C. Dickson, speaking to members of the Advertising and Sales Club of Toronto. "There is some justification for that pride", he admitted, "because stomach ulcers are found only in high civilizations and never among primitive races."

Quoting further from the journal "Marketing": Any undue complacency created by these statements was tempered when the Doctor went on to say that, some years ago, it had been noticed that the trouble was very prevalent among London bus drivers, foremen and plant superintendents. "However", continued the speaker, "the Medical Society of Britain has established that no one occupation suffers more than another from this complaint."

Among the prime causes for ulcers, whether in advertising men or other groups, the Doctor named anxiety. The more responsible the position, the greater the anxiety and the bigger the ulcer. Demoting a sufferer to a less responsible position was not recommended as a method of giving relief because that meant less salary and less salary meant more worry and anxiety.

"The unfortunate thing about occupational ulcers is that once they develop they are difficult to get rid of", said Dr. Dickson, "but it is possible by adopting a wise way of life and a sound philosophy to live with them without undue suffering."

Three suggestions were offered sufferers:

(1) Eat frequently but in small quantities.

(2) Get a recreational hobby that can be shared with others and that will absorb the patient's entire attention for from 15 minutes to one hour daily.

(3) Get sufficient rest.

Rest, was the concluding advice, can do more than all other treatments combined, and it should include getting to bed early not less than three or four nights every week. "Attend to these three fundamentals and you will manage to get along perfectly well."

The King's Message

"At Christmas we feel that the old, simple things matter most. They do not change however much the world outside may seem to do so. . . . I wonder if we realize how precious is this spirit of friendliness and kindness. . . "

— His Majesty King George VI in his last Christmas message, Dec. 25, 1951.

"Three Kings of Orient brought to Him their gift
Of costly gold, of frankincense and myrrh."
In soft refrain the children's voices lift
Through hall and stairway sweet with scent of fir.

"Hush! The King's voice!" — His subjects pause again
To catch across the vibrant arcs of space
A sovereign's broadcast to his vast domain —
A message fitly clothed in simple phrase:

"At such a time — in years of change and strife
We prize that happiness that will not cloy,
The human values of our common life,
The ancient things that time cannot destroy;
Our homes, our kindred, peace and brotherhood,
The constant labor for the common good."

February 15, 1952

A brief month gone. . . the Royal voice is still,
The sceptre fallen from the King's sure hand;
His subjects throng from farm and shop and mill
To crowd the thousand churches of the land.

"Abide with me" . . . the human hymn he loved;
As one the people sing, their hearts subdued,
The barriers of clan and creed removed,
United in one sorrowing brotherhood.

"The darkness deepens . . . falls the eventide . . .
"O, Thou Who changest not, with me abide."
Treading the path that all his fathers trod,
The kingly crown and mantle laid aside,
He put his hand into the hand of God.

"THINGS AN' STUFF"

— By — WALTER HENRY JACKSON

It Pays to Advertise

Newspaper headlines and classified advertisements are not supposed to be funny. Yet some people, myself for instance, who have a dislocated sense of humor, will often get a laugh out of an ambiguously worded line. Only last week the following headline appeared in a Montreal paper: "MISSING PLANE FOUND IN MAN". I have often read of children swallowing safety-pins, but a plane in a man was really news. On reading further, however, I was disappointed to find that the man mentioned was merely an abbreviation for Manitoba.

The following classified ads also appeared at different times in the same Montreal newspaper: "BRIGHT COLORED BOY WANTED", and "MAN WANTED TO REPAIR BARRELS SUGAR AND APPLES".

In "The Billboard", a theatrical trade-journal, I found the next one: "AT LIBERTY. TENOR SAX PLAYER. YOUNG. GOOD HABITS AFTER JAN. 1". He was evidently going to turn over a new leaf.

Then there is one in a clipping in my album describing a storm of cyclonic proportions with devastating hail near Wetaskiwin, Alta., that states: "Chickens and ducks were killed by the huge stones, some of which measured six miles wide and forty-five miles long."

And speaking of chickens, these are from a farm journal: "Send from our free booklet, teaching you the art of raising chickens in a nutshell". The other: "200 year old chicks for sale". I remember eating a chicken like that once. Couldn't even stick a fork in the gravy.

From a prospectus issued by a farmer who took boarders, was the following: "As we have our own cows, visitors are assured of a fresh supply of milk, cream, butter and eggs and fresh spring water."

And this last one was from a small-town paper announcing a meeting of the Town Council. "Among the items on the agenda to be discussed at the next meeting are the questions of cows running loose on the street and delivering beer on bicycles."

Be seein' ya!

— Uncle Walt.

By the end of 1952 about 700,000 Canadians will be receiving federal old age pensions; this number combined with children in receipt of Family Allowances will bring number of Canadians receiving monthly Ottawa cheques to about five million.

Have You A Question

ON

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE OR EMPLOYMENT?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send your question to your district Unemployment Insurance office. We will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you: —

Q. The plant where I work has a pension plan. Can I draw unemployment insurance when I retire on pension?

A. Yes, provided you have made the required number of contributions and that you are able to work and are looking for work but unable to obtain it. Provided also that you are prepared to accept suitable employment. The fact that you are in receipt of a pension will not affect your benefit.

Q. If the factory shuts down for regular holidays and I do not receive vacation pay, why can't I draw benefits during the period I am off?

A. Regular holidays are not considered as days of unemployment because any unemployment caused thereby is a certainty. Unemployment insurance, like most other types of insurance, does not provide against occurrences that are certain to take place.

Canada has some 600,000 miles of highway.

DO YOU KNOW THE ANSWER TO THIS $40 QUESTION?

How does the universal old age pension at 70 affect your retirement plan?

The main consideration quickly realized by most people is that something must be done about the years between normal retirement age and age 70 when the Government Pension is payable.

The Great-West Life has the answer to this problem—a special new "Bridge the Gap" pension plan to enable you to enjoy adequate income beginning at the more desirable age of 60 or 65.

Without obligation you can find out how easy it is to tie in your personal plans with the new Government Pension at 70.

Couple Married at Grace Church, Arundel

Joint Celebration at Reception, 25th Wedding Anniversary of Bride's Parents

Trineer - Smith

The marriage of Nina Welden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, of Arundel, to Mr. Gerald Elwood Trineer, of Montreal, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Trineer, Sr., of Rivington, took place on Saturday evening, February 23, at seven o'clock in Grace Church, Arundel. The Rev. Paul Busing officiated and the organist was Miss Dora Trineer, of Calumet, aunt of the groom. White and pink carnations arranged with ferns were used to decorate the church.

The bride, given away by her father, was in a gown of brocaded satin with a fitted bodice and a portrait neckline which was made of nylon marquisette, and the sleeves were finger-tipped. The waist was fitted with panel pleats over the hips, which gave added fulness to the skirt. Her veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet, which was pearl-studded; she wore pearl earrings and necklace, and carried a white prayer book, which was covered with red roses and had streamers of lily-of-the-valley flowing from it.

The bride's sister, Miss Mary Smith, was her attendant, wearing a gown of Nile green taffeta with a fitted bodice and portrait neckline, made of nylon marquisette. The skirt was gathered very full and had a V-shaped pleat from middle back to the front. She wore green nylon marquisette mitts of the same hue, a bandeau of green leaves, a sterling silver heart-shaped locket and earrings, and she carried a nosegay of white roses bordered by pink and mauve sweet peas and hyacinths.

Mr. Thomas Shaw, of Montreal, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Harry Smith and Mr. James Trineer, Jr., brothers of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Smith, the bride's mother, wore a dress of green crepe with black accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Trineer, mother of the groom, wore a wine crepe dress with black accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Arundel auditorium. Here a double celebration took place, as the bride's parents were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. During the evening Dr. R. B. Henry presented Mr. and Mrs. Smith with a chest of silver, a silver service set and a set of dishes, from friends in the community and the immediate family. This was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Smith. The Rev. Paul Busing addressed the guests on behalf of the two "brides and grooms".

To Vacate Farm After 64 Years, Army Occupation

Housing Development Forces Oakville, Ont., Man From 123-Year-Old House

Oakville, Ont. (CP) — It took the army to move Arvid (Harvey) Skoog from his home near here, after living in it for 64 years.

When he moves off the 50-acre homestead in a few weeks, the army will start a $750,000 housing development — 75 houses for married personnel attached to the army's central command.

Mr. Skoog, although he has lived in the 123-year-old house since he was 10 years old, does not own the property. He's had a lifetime verbal lease with the owner, Mrs. Morse Ives of Fairhope, Alta., and its former owner, Murray Thomas.

"I tried to buy it once, but it wasn't for sale", he says. "I've had an understanding with Mr. Thomas and then with Mrs. Ives that we could stay as long as we wished."

Swedish-born Mr. Skoog, now a spry 74, will move into a new home not far away with his wife and daughter, Thelma, a schoolteacher in Oakville.

When he first moved into the house with his mother, the taxes were $50 a year. "Now they're about $300", he says.

Mr. and Mrs. Skoog celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary on January 20.

In Brownsburg

Specially contributed to The Watchman

Memorial Service

A joint religious and civil service to commemorate the memory of our late King George VI, which was held last week at the Brownsburg School, displayed a heartfelt sorrow for the passing of a great King. All classes and creeds knelt in humble supplication with a oneness of thought, a singleness of purpose — an "In Memoriam" for one who was above all things A King. One whose life was willingly immolated on the altar of service to his people, and whose simple dignity and example of duty provides a pattern for all the attributes and requirements of this exalted office. Others will follow — none can excell in kingship — our late King George VI.

"C. E. Richardson Night"

A number of co-workers and friends of Mr. C. E. Richardson, former works manager of Ammunition Division of C-I-L, had an enjoyable get-together at the Legion Hall last week to present the guest with an inscribed silver tray, and to celebrate the occasion by a dinner and party. It was an enjoyable affair, and a merry party with a renewal of old acquaintances; and the retelling of pleasant recollections featured the evening's entertainment.

Time's A-Going

"One by one the sands are flowing", and one by one the pioneers of Dominion Cartridge (now C-I-L Ammunition Division) are handing in their guns and moving from the front line towards the rear and homeward passage, after a lifetime of service in the company. Half a century ago the manufacture of ammunition at Brownsburg attracted a number of English and Scottish immigrants to this district. Some moved on to other pursuits, but a large number remained in faithful and useful service in the company. Today those men and women have reached the age of retirement. The allotted span is closing the gap of active participation in company affairs, their places are being filled by younger and more active members of the organization; and with nothing but experience, and lacking the physical capacity to employ it, they become relegated to the pensioners' life of tending gardens and fixing-up around the home. A life of ease, away from the strife and bustle of industrial operations, secure in the retirement which a lifetime of work awarded them. The most recent retirements include: John Connelly, John Roberts and William (Bill) King. We wish them long years of carefree happiness in their retirement.

The Years Ahead

Negotiations between C-I-L and its employees' union, the C.I.O., have been more protracted on this occasion than in former years. No progress has yet been reported on the 1952 contract. Failtng agreement in direct employer-employee relations, a conciliation officer sought to get both parties in agreement, without success. The matter has now advanced another step along the legal trail and an arbitrator is to hear the case. We have no doubt that a satisfactory solution, now as heretofore, will be arrived at.

Canada has one doctor to each 977 of population; the U.S.S.R. has about one doctor to every 10,000 population.

"FOR GALLANTRY" AN ELOQUENT EPITAPH; FEBRUARY AND ITS HUMOROUS SIDELIGHTS

"EXILE FROM SUNNYACRES"

— By Margaret Cook —

February, says the authority, is the month of aries, the ram. This did not seem to convey much to us except a frivolous and fleeting memory of the riddle, "What goes round a-buttin'?" (pronounced to sound like "round a button") the answer: "A goat". . . Excuse please, we were visited in the cradle by two bad fairies, Frivolity and Mimicry, of both of which we are conscious and try to suppress.

Valentine day came and went, leaving the usual drift of hearts on the mantle, 17 for Betty and three for the writer. It has been borne in upon the latter that, as regards valentines, the world has certainly improved in the last 30 years. Should a person wish to send a stinger (we hope the typesetter gets that "G" in correctly) to his dearest enemy, he would be hard put to it to find an appropriate sentiment. Having something of the sort in mind, we could only find the following quasi-insulting ditty:

"This card has no silly frills
It's just a simple valentine. . . "

And on the reverse page —

"Because you're simple, too."

To this, we added that "Simple things are best", and sent it on its way to a brash adolescent of our acquaintance. Anyway, sweet or acid, Valentines are now big business, ranking next to Christmas cards in popularity; this is not just a personal opinion but the result of research on the part of a local stationer.

The valentines were a welcome distraction in the widst of the prevailing gloom attendant on the death of the King. This column can hardly hope to add anything to all the tributes paid to our late Sovereign, but we should like to point out that he must, through most of his years, have lived a life of frustration. Kingship is not a position anyone should undertake without long and strenuous preparation, yet George VI had to assume it without preparation or, indeed, much warning. This entailed exposing to the public commiseration or ridicule the infirmity from which he suffered; that he won over that handicap, was, in itself, a major victory, an emblem of untold hours of suffering. The British Government's floral offering, inscribed "For Gallantry", expressed it all. Let those who lead lives of quiet desperation take heart from so fine an example.

Continuing with the theme of Royalty, the writer is intrigued with the parallel so often mentioned between the reign of our Elizabeth and that of Elizabeth Tudor. Had we been allowed to choose, we should certainly have been born in Tudor times. Our doctor neighbor has reminded us that life then would have entailed exposure to drafts, leaky roofs, baths annually rather than daily, no sugar, corsets and small-pox. To which we retort, it would also have entailed good architecture, with nary a picture window, thank heaven; good wine or beer; hearty laughter; much music, not from a varnished box; and, if one were lucky, an acquaintance with William Shakespeare. To those interested in Tudor times, let me recommend "The Tudor Wench", by Elswyth Thane, "Henry the Eighth", by Francis Hackett; "Sir Francis Drake", by E. F. Benson; "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets", by Bernard Shaw. Elizabeth Goudge also has a delightful story of Shakespeare in the "Goudge Reader". The name escapes me and the book is mislaid.

Turning from the book-worms to the chefs, how about a Shrimp Wiggle for supper? To make it, you first concoct your best cream sauce, seasoned to taste (I like a bit of dill), and to it add a can of shrimps and a half-can of peas, or, better still, a package of frozen mixed vegetables. Stir in a half-cup of grated cheese, put mixture in a casserole and consign to a slow oven under a blanket of buttered crumbs, until the crumbs lose that pallid look. We like hot tea-biscuits and a tossed green salad with this. If you add a fresh fruit mixture (don't forget to use up that ruby-colored liquid in the bottom of the maraschino-cherry bottle), cake, and your favorite beverage — you have a flavorful, colorful and dietetically correct lunch or supper. The The amount of Shrimp Wiggle indicated above should serve four. I suppose it could just as well be an Oyster Wiggle, or any other fish of a definite flavor. That should answer some housewifely wails of, "What shall I serve for supper?" Dinners are so much easier, although, with the high cost of meats, even that conventional meal is becoming a test of one's ingenuity. We serve fish twice a week; a pint of oysters, in this suburb, costs the same ($1.25) as a very small T-bone steak, and goes farther, also brings oohs and ahs of pleasure from the family. . . At the other end of the scale, one can buy a whole mackerel for only 30 cents. Stuffed with herbs and bread crumbs and baked in a tomato sauce, it is delicious and serves three amply. At 10 cents a plate, you can't lose.

Compensations of city life — a sign sticking out of a basket in front of a shop, "Cobs and Sossas — 25c". Subsequent investigation disclosed a collection of nicked and cracked Cups and Saucers!

OPERA BROADCAST

Bizet's "Carmen" will be offered on Le Théâtre Lyrique, sponsored by Molson's, on the night of March 3. Bokhari of Pakistan, the Security Council's President Jean Chauvel of France and Alexis Kyrou of Greece. They replace Ecuador, India and Yugoslavia.

"Rural Home" Subject of Biennial Essay Contest

"The Rural Home" is the subject of an international essay contest sponsored by the Associated Country Women of the World. Each constituent society may submit three entries and the results will be announced at the 1953 Triennial Conference in Toronto. A number of international prizes will be given.

As there is always an essay section in the Tweedsmuir Competitions, held every biennial term of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, the decision was made by this organization to use the same essays. All provinces will judge their own entries and the three best will compete on a national level. Those winning a prize there will be used for the international contest.

This competition is open to all Institute members and those in this province are reminded their entries must be in the Q.W.I. office, Macdonald College, by the first of March of this year.

Very practical details are being asked for, and the essays should give a wonderful survey of living conditions in many countries, with some photographs of the rural homes which are being described.

Salvage Drive for 1951 License Plates

First Quebec Markers Made of Aluminum

A drive to improve the aim of car owners when they throw away their 1951 license plates has been launched by the Canadian Legion, with the two-fold object of aiding national defence production and the Legion's welfare programs.

The 1951 plates were the first Quebec license plates to be made of aluminum. They are 99.5 per cent pure aluminum, and as such are valuable scrap for the defence program.

Boxes, barrels or other containers will be provided at most service stations and garages to catch the 1951 plates. They will be clearly marked with posters identifying them with the Legion's drive, which is being conducted by branches throughout the province.

Fleet owners as well as individual car-owners are asked to co-operate in the campaign, designed to salvage most if not all of the 1,250,738 license plates issued in Quebec last year.

K. L. Woolley, provincial managing secretary of the Legion, states that hearty support for the drive had been received in a letter from the Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce. "Aluminum is one of the most important non-ferrous metals needed in our defence program", Mr. Howe said. "The material to be salvaged represents a most desirable type of scrap, and the problems of reclaiming the aluminum content are at a minimum. I must commend the Canadian Legion for their effort, and hope that the campaign will be completely successful."

The second largest producer of silver and lead in the world is a mine near Mayo in Canada's Yukon.

Man-With-A-Mike

Bill Beatty of Toronto, one of the CBC's roving men-with-a-mike, whose interviews with people in the news and the man-in-the-street are heard regularly on CBC News Roundup, broadcast Monday to Friday at 10.15 p.m. on the CBC. From time to time he heads for the far north, the deep south, or for cities and villages across Canada, to do on-the-spot descriptions of special events, people and places for CBC feature broadcasts. He was one of the first Canadians to use tape-recordings successfully. His expert knowledge of tape cutting and editing was put to the test during the Royal Tour, when he edited Royal Tour Diary, a nightly CBC report on the day's travels of the Royal Couple.

W. Inst. Activities for February, Reports from All County Branches

Arundel W.I. reports attendance of 21 members at the February meeting on Education. After the usual routine, the program took the form of a debate between the pupils of Grades VIII and X of Arundel Intermediate School, the subject being, "Woman's place is in the home". The decision of the judges was in favor of the negative side.

Brownsburg had 35 members present, the meeting being held in the Consolidated School. Two minutes' silence was observed in memory of the King, and "God Save the Queen" was sung. It was decided to send $54 to the Service Fund, also one cent per member for the Peace Garden. Fruit and cards were sent to sick members. A food parcel was sent to England. A radio was purchased by the branch and donated to the school. A short sacred program was given by some of the members. A children's party was planned for later in the month. A "baby shower" was given on behalf of one of the members. The meeting closed with the singing of "O Canada", then refreshments were served in the form of a bean supper.

Frontier branch had 21 ladies present. A letter of thanks was read from the Red Cross, for a quilt, also from the Cancer Society, for a large donation of linens. The sum of $10 was voted to the Emergency Fund. Guest speaker at this meeting was Mr. J. S. Giles, who gave a very interesting address. Contest winners were Mrs. J. Heatlie and Mrs. L. Plummer.

Lachute reports 33 members in attendance. The roll-call was, "A book just enjoyed". A quilt was made by members of this branch and donated to the Red Cross. In future the County Fair, held annually in June, will be open for handicraft exhibits by the general public as well as W.I. members, the list of exhibits to remain the same. Mrs. S. Milnes gave an interesting review of several books — the speaker stating that some highly interesting novels had latterly been published by Canadian authors.

Six members were present at the meeting in Lakefield, answering the roll-call with "A Remedy for Burns". Letters were read in appreciation of a plant and fruit sent to members while in hospital. Arrangements were made to send a parcel overseas, also to send an Easter box to a needy person.

Mille Isles had eight ladies present — the members making a quilt for the Red Cross. Two minutes' silence was observed in memory of the late King George VI. A card of acknowledgment had been received for an overseas food parcel. Members paid one cent each to the Watt Memorial Fund.

Unique Shipment from Overseas

A model of the old Town Hall clock tower of Preston, England, was a unique shipment aboard the Empress of France when she docked at Saint John, N.B., recently. The model, which moved in the custody of Chief Bedroom Steward William C. Hartley (far right), a native of Preston, is now travelling throughout Canada and the United States, and is being displayed in the city halls of many of the major cities. With it is an illuminated scroll on which all ex-Prestonians are asked to sign their names. The clock tower, carved from the original timbers of the structure which was destroyed by fire in 1947, is a symbol of the Preston Guild celebrations which, with the exception of the war years, have been held every 20 years for the last 400 years. They will be held in Preston on September 1 this year, and the model of the tower carried an invitation to all old Prestonians to attend. In this picture taken the day the tour started in Liverpool aboard the Empress, are (left to right) Councillor J. W. Taylor, mayor of Preston; Preston's town clerk W. E. Lockley; D. B. Watson, general agent for the C.P.R. at Liverpool, and Mr. Hartley.

FOR PARENTS ONLY...

The Bright Face of Danger

(Copyright)

— By NANCY CLEAVER —

Robert Louis Stevenson in one of his essays spoke of "the bright face of danger". There is a certain fascination, particularly for boys and girls, in physical risk. They are eager to investigate and explore and they get a thrill out of new and exciting situations.

When parents come across an account in the press of a child being hurt, they immediately think of their own youngster. There is scarcely a single edition of a paper which does not bescribe a mishap to some boy or girl.

When parents are reading the news, it is a good idea to read aloud the report of an accident. Instead of moralizing, parents can ask their child —

"How did this happen?"

"How could it have been avoided?"

"Do you ever take a risk like this?"

"Do you think it is worth a broken leg (or whatever the damage is) to take chances like this?"

Fire is one major accident source. If a child's clothes catch fire, he should be taught never to run screaming for help. He should cry out and roll on the floor in order to put the flames out. If a grown-up is present, the adult should swiftly wrap a rug or coat or tablecloth around the child, placing him on the floor to keep the flames from his face.

During the winter months there are a number of tragic home fires reported in which children have been burned. These remind the parents to check on the possibilities of a fire in their own house from an overheated stove or pipes, poor chimney service, defective wiring, oily rags being left around or some other reason.

A home fire also underlines the fact that being a parent is a twenty-four hour a day job. When mother and dad go out in the evening they must leave a responsible person in charge. Young children are too immature to be left alone to cope with fire or serious danger in any form.

Even when mother is home she may be talking on the telephone when Junior reaches up and pulls a hot frying pan off the stove and burns himself, or Janey may quietly dump the contents of mother's talcum powder over her face and almost smother herself.

If there are small children in the house and only one busy mother to care for them, every effort must be made to provide a safe environment for their play. A play pen has saved many a toddler from an accident. When a child gets too big for a play pen, it is a splendid idea to have a small play space which is barricaded off from the rest of the house with a folding gate or partition.

A baby should never be left so he can roll off a table or bed. Windows must have guards so a child cannot fall out. Hallways should be well lighted, objects should never be left on the stairs. A child or a grown-up can easily have a serious fall by stepping on a toy and being thrown headlong down the steps.

Small safety pins, coins, buttons and other small objects a tiny child might swallow, should be kept out of sight. Mothers often remember to lock the medicine cabinet in the bathroom. But they frequently forget that cleaning fluid, insecticides and talcum powder may also cause a disastrous accident.

Children must be taught not to touch certain things such as electric equipment, irons, etc., and attachments. When the washing machine wringer is in action, keep the child occupied in another room. Check on the wall plugs, and make sure your child cannot receive a severe shock by putting a damp little finger into the outlet.

If the water in the tap gets very hot, train the child not to touch it for fear of scalding. Always test the temperature of bath water with the elbow, before a child jumps in to have his bath.

The kitchen is the scene of many home mishaps. Make a rule that your child cannot play near the stove when a meal is being prepared. Turn the pot handles in so little fingers cannot reach up and grasp them. Watch the steam from the kettle, because a steam burn can be very painful. Keep sharp knives, scissors, etc., out of reach or locked up. Every mother should see to it that her home is equipped with an adequate medicine cabinet. Mother and father should also know what to do in case of an accident.

Call the doctor if in doubt and follow his advice exactly. Have on hand a reliable booklet such as the Canadian Red Cross Society's "Health, Home Nursing and Emergencies" where you can find directions what to do if a child swallows poison, is asphyxiated, or chokes, etc.

"Safe at Home" has a good sound — but keeping active, small youngsters free from harm is no easy task. Providing a suitable home environment, and teaching children sensible precautions go hand in hand.

Some mishaps are bound to occur. But they should be as few as possible. Parents and children should both learn to keep cool and do the wise thing when an emergency arises.

Women's Institutes' Meetings for February

attended. For their roll-call, valentines were exchanged. Two minutes' silence was observed in memory of our beloved King, followed by the singing of the national anthem. Conveners gave a report of work done in their respective departments throughout the year. A plant was sent to a sick member. Two pictures were shown, "Sky Riders of the Air" and "Rotary Motion". Husbands accompanied the members to see these pictures. An auction sale netted $13 for the funds.

Pioneer branch had nine members present. Roll-call, "A First Aid Hint". Letters of thanks were read, for parcels sent to the Ste. Anne's Military Hospital, also to a sick member. Plans were made to send a box to England. An interesting paper prepared by Mrs. Kelly, nurse at Lachute High School, on "School Nursing", was read by the convener, Mrs. A. Parker. Plans to make a quilt were discussed, and a quilt-top was displayed.

At Jerusalem - Bethany branch, there was an attendance of 14. Tribute was paid to our late King, the members standing in one minute's silence. The roll-call was answered by a news item; most of these pertained to the Royal Family. A paper was read, an editorial on the passing of the King. A contest was held at this meeting.

Upper Lachute - East End reports 23 members present. A quilt has been completed, to be given to Red Cross, also another quilt pieced, to be raffled. A parcel was sent overseas. Two contests were held. Cheques had been received in this branch for pictures sent to Macdonald College Journal. The program for the following year was planned.

BOOST MINIMUM PRICE OF PARLOR CAR SEATS

Montreal — It is announced by J. A. Brass, chairman of the Canadian Passenger Association, that, on account of the increased cost of operation, the Canadian railways and the Pullman Company have found it necessary to increase the minimum fare for parlor car seats between stations in Canada.

Effective March 1, the minimum fare for a parlor car seat will be advanced from 75 cents to $1. In cases where the parlor car fare is now $1 or more, the fare will not be increased.

Control of Moths

Tests made by scientists of the Department of Agriculture show that the effectiveness of paradichlorobenzine in the control of clothes moths and carpet beetles in clothes closets depends largely on the rapid vaporization of the fumigant. Two methods using vacuum cleaners have given good results. In one, warm air from the blower rapidly supersaturates the closet; in the other, the air blast forces the crystals into the closet as a fine dust. Both methods have yielded full control of the insect pests within 24 hours.

St. Andrews East — The annual meeting of Christ Church, St. Andrews East, was held on Friday evening, January 25, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Burwash. The Rev. C. R. Lang presided, and presented his report for the past year.

The financial report of both the church and W.A. were very encouraging and the parish has met all calls made upon it in a most creditable manner.

The following wardens were appointed for the coming year: rector's warden, M. P. Burwash; and people's warden, Dawson Burwash. . . Fred Robertson retired as people's warden, after many years of faithful service to the church.

Mr. Parker and Peter McLaughlin were appointed delegates to the Synod, with Benj. Howell and Ewan Albright as substitutes.

The following were elected to the Select Vestry: Mr. Parker, Ewan Albright, Mrs. Entwistle, Miss Robertson, together with the wardens and vestry clerk.

W. Entwistle and L. York were appointed auditors for the coming year.

Special thanks of the meeting were voiced to the United Church for their work in connection with the joint Protestant Sunday School.

The congregation feel most fortunate in having the Rev. G. T. Spriggs to assist the Rev. Mr. Lang in looking after the spiritual needs of the parish.

Rectory Under Debate For Anglican Parish of Mille Isles, Morin Hts.

St. Sauveur — A special meeting called for the purpose of deciding whether to purchase or build a rectory for the Anglican Parish of Mille Isles and Morin Heights was held in St. Sauveur on Friday evening last, with the Rev. Capt. H. G. Baugh presiding.

Attending the meeting were Messrs. Gilbert Ryan and Russell Patterson, church wardens of Christ Church, Mille Isles, and Maxwell Ryan; Fred T. Watchorn and Jack Kennedy, church wardens of Trinity, Morin Heights; Commodore N. Bannatyne and Leonard Fisher, church wardens of the Church of Saint Francis, St. Sauveur; Mr. John H. Molson, Henry E. Dinsdale, the Rev. Harold Laws, Erwin Bamberger, architect, and Col. Garnet M. Strong.

A group of men offered to finance the project, if a suitable house or site were available.

Mr. Bamberger was authorized to inspect several buildings in Morin Heights, and to report to a special committee on Thursday, February 28, at a luncheon meeting to be held in the Mount Royal Club, Montreal. This committee consists of Col. G. M. Strong, Messrs. Molson and Dinsdale, with the rector as chairman.

Ministerial Association Holds Monthly Meeting

The Argenteuil Protestant Ministerial Association met in regular session Monday in the Maple Avenue Baptist Church, Brownsburg. The Rev. C. R. Lang, president, was in the chair.

The Rev. W. H. Britton gave an interesting report of the annual meeting of the Quebec Temperance League; it is expected that in the near future a secretary for the League may be appointed. Arrangements are being made for the annual fund campaign on behalf of this organization.

The Association is inviting the Rev. Dr. J. E. Purdie, of Winnipeg, to be guest speaker at the next meeting, in March.

Plans are being made for the annual joint meeting of the Association with the members of the Ontario East Ministerial Association, to be held sometime in May.

The Rev. N. H. Brock took the devotional period, basing his remarks on Joshuah 3.4. Reference was made to the many disappointments and failures of the past year, both from the world point of view and also in the spiritual life of the individual Christian; and though the future will have similar disappointments for us to face, the Christian must not be afraid nor dismayed, "for we have God with us to guide along the wonderful way of life, and He makes it a safe way".

NO VISITORS

Vancouver (CP) — There will be no $1 tours in Vancouver's nudist colony. Directors of the Van Tan Club, incorporated to conduct a camp in Lynn Valley, received numerous applications when it was first stated that visitors might take a conducted tour at a fee of $1. Now the directors say the only visitors allowed are members of other nudist clubs.

VERSATILE YOUNGSTER

Winnipeg (CP) — Twelve-year-old Ed Letinsky has some unusual hobbies. He spends his spare time sculpturing, painting and writing poetry. He also found time to build a model schooner from toothpicks and balsa wood.

Is Religion A Good Thing ?

Millions of sincere persons practice religion. These maintain that religion is beneficial and aids them to live and work for a better and happier life. Others assert that because of the vast number of religions on earth today, and the variety of viewpoints on the subject, many persons are confused and perplexed as to just what good religion has accomplished and thus are unable to determine whether it is worth having or not. Also, religion's part in world conditions, causes many to question religion's value today. Here, however, is an opportunity to find a satisfactory answer to a vital question. The 352-page book "What Has Religion Done for Mankind?" brings to the reader's attention an enlightening treatise on the world's leading religions. With the aid of this absorbing book you will be able to determine for yourself what religion has done and to decide which religion is good and true. Send for this book today, remitting 50 cents, and it will be mailed to you postpaid. . . Write The Watch Tower Publishing Co., 40 Irwin Avenue, Toronto.

That Temperamental Actress – the Egg

The key to successful egg cookery is personality. Not the cook, but the egg! Consider the egg as a temperamental actress — if it's handled right, it will give an appealing and brilliant performance; abuse it and the effect is sure to be colorless, sullen and droopy. The basic rule in cooking is to avoid using high temperatures regardless of whether the egg is being cooked in water, in a frying pan or in the oven. The egg refuses to be rushed, so should be cooked slowly over a low or moderate heat. There is that "tough customer" the "hard-boiled egg". Modern cookery has banished it forever and replaced it with the more tender, "hard-cooked egg". The basic rule is applied and the eggs are cooked slowly, rather than boiled, in water just below the boiling point for at least 30 minutes. The difference between the tough, rubbery boiled egg and the tender, slow cooked egg is well worth the extra cooking time.

Most cooked egg dishes demand your immediate attention, so humor them by serving at once. Omelettes and soufflés particularly, fall and lose the fine edge of their flavor if left for only a few minutes.

Of course, the quality of the egg is important but don't use the outside appearance as a guide. Beauty is only skin deep and so it doesn't make the least bit of difference whether the shell is white, brown or speckled. The best guide is to "buy by grade".

Here are some other tips from the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department one tablespoon at a time, beating that temperamental egg. Custards and other dishes in which hot milk is added to the egg sometimes curdle. To overcome this, add the sugar required in the recipe to the egg, not to the milk. Then add the hot liquids or mixtures to the beaten eggs — a little at a time, to heat the egg gradually. Do not overcook or use too high a temperature.

Egg whites should be folded rather than stirred. To do this, a light under and over motion should be used. For puffy omelettes and soufflés, fold the heavy mixture into the beaten egg whites, not the whites into the other mixture.

Incidentally, egg whites will beat up to greater volume if they are taken out of the refrigerator and warmed up to room temperature before beating them. In meringues, sometimes, the whites will beat up well until the sugar is added, then go down and get soft and liquid. The reason for this is probably that the sugar has been added too fast and it hasn't had a chance to dissolve. In making meringues, add the sugar slowly, of Agriculture, on how to handle well after each addition. Allow two tablespoons of sugar for each egg white for best results. Finish by beating until the whites pile up well.

Since eggs may be used as a meat substitute, most homemakers will want to take advantage of low egg prices and will serve them often. They may be stored in water-glass for later on, too. . . For a slightly different dish, the home economists suggest this recipe for Shirred Eggs in Bacon Rings.

Shirred Eggs in Bavon Rings

6 Slices bacon, 6 eggs, salt and pepper.

Cook bacon. Line six muffin tins with strips of bacon forming each slice into a ring around the edge of the tin. Pour a little of the bacon fat into the bottom of the tins. Break an egg into each bacon ring and bake in a moderately slow oven, 325°F., for 5 to 10 minutes depending on how well cooked the eggs are to be. Remove from tins and serve on toast. Yield: six servings.

A little butter goes a long way when added to cooked vegetables immediately after draining them. The secret is to put the lid back on the saucepan and steam the buttered vegetables for a minute or two.

ANTIQUES

What to Look for in Buying an Antique

"Madam, this chair is the most excellent example of colonial furniture of its kind in existence today".

Madam X looks it over, presents her cheque. The clerk delivers it. Hubby comes home, notices it, sits in it. . . End of one excellent colonial chair, and one husband sleeps in the doghouse.

I'm sorry to relate that this is all too true. Naturally there have been happier instances, too. One presents a poor buyer; and the other the average person, hearing antiques for the first time, from a suave salesman.

If an antique cannot be used, it is of little worth, anywhere, except in a museum, and then only if it is of extra special style. Naturally you have to take care of the piece, as with any good piece of material. Junior shouldn't take an axe to it and carve it up, when you want it to last. It should be able to last in solid construction, with the proper care, for a long time. If it is in a more or less decrepit state, consult a reliable upholsterer and see if it is worth while buying. You might find out that it will cost you more than you expect. The wood — the long parts, in many cases in good furniture, are carved out of one piece; run your fingers casually down the inside and outside, and make sure that it is smooth. If there is a ridge or break, then it is mended, and the repair fairly poor. A repair on an antique takes time, care and patience, above all the latter. Do not get a hurried job and expect it to be good. The two just don't seem to mix well together.

In chinaware, the article is usually bone-translucent, which means you can see light through it, if it is held up to a strong light. Hold it up and look for cracks, which will show up as lines through the china. Stay away from articles that are cracked, unless you know it when you buy them.

Early glassware is very hard to give any pointers on. Yet do not expect a clear crystal type to confront you at a counter. The early glass is very full of bubbles, small ones, but very prominent to the eye.

Naturally the foregoing is not all the information required to give you an excellent buy, but it will minimize the chance of going into isolation with the dog for a night!

Just one more piece of advice — get to know something about antiques before you go shopping. It will be well worth your while. Most dealers are in the business to make money. Unfortunate, but true.

Belated Blast from Brownsburg Bombers

But Brownb'g Drops Out Of Play-Offs After Brilliant Triumph

Brownsburg — In the fourth game of the play-offs with Brownsburg (three down in a best-of-seven series) against Ste. Therese at the Brownsburg arena last Wednesday night, a complete reversal of form was on display.

We have repeatedly referred to the stellar individual performance of the 'Burg players and its ineffective impact on the teamwork of their opponents. Wednesday night this brilliant solo work became a cohesive and compact pattern, where every effort became meshed in a bewildering and intricate design.

The machine started to "click"; passes went from stick to stick with amazing accuracy and rapidity, and were productive. In fact, when one got around to letting one's breath out, the "Bombers" were two goals up and the pace was, if possible, becoming more torrid. A few minutes later they had chalked up five markers. Ste. Therese was credited with a lone score, but how they secured it in this razzle-dazzle tapestry of shooting stars, even they don't know. The audience, which was large, was a bedlam of squealing, shouting, whistling excitement, gazing into a cauldron of speed. Amidst the free-wheeling click of puck and stick, Racine secured a doubtful possession and weaving, checking, losing, retrieving, sped the length of the rink to go in alone on the goaler. A feint and drive, and the light flashed on a beautiful solo effort.

The second session opened fast but was marred by penalties — little ones, but irritating. Ste. Therese, with two men off, defended valiantly but were beaten twice in quick succession. The pace slackened somewhat, and another score by the Bombers finished the period.

The final twenty saw Brownsburg with two men off, during which they yielded a goal, to regain it again a few minutes later. This finished the scoring. . . But the fireworks were about to start. A penalty to Ste. Therese ruffled tempers, and a 'Burg player, resenting a high stick, lashed out in retaliation. Others joined in the fray, and soon a general melée was in progress. Almost all the players got into the act, and even a spectator invited himself to partake of the fun. When the penalties were dished out, three players remained on each side! The tumult and the shouting died down before the final whistle called a halt to activities.

It was a much better game to watch than the lop-sided score would indicate — Brownsburg 9, Ste. Therese 2.

Brownsburg Bids Bye-Bye

The return tilt at Ste. Therese the following night saw the Bombers outclassed. Ste. Therese showed more speed and resourcefulness. Play was rough and not up to standard. Ste. Therese were easy victors — 8 to 6, to win the match and the series.

Ste. Therese now meets the winners of the Ste. Agathe vs. Terrebonne series.

SWAN DELAYS TRAFFIC

London (CP) — A swan delayed rush-hour rail traffic for 20 minutes when it tried to fly over a railway bridge and lost its tail beneath a passing train. Later the swan, braced by a warm salt bath, went back to its Thames river sanctuary.

Chute à Blondeau Wins Series Against Brownsburg

'Burg Juniors Eliminated In Play-Offs of Long Sault League

Brownsburg — At the Brownsburg arena on Sunday afternoon, Chute à Blondeau visited Brownsburg in the sixth game of the semi-final series of the Long Sault League. Chute à Blondeau opened the scoring and held their lead till well on in the first period. Cousineau was unlucky on a rasping shot, failing to secure the rebound, but made no mistake minutes later in tying the score.

The second period was slow and penalties did not help the grade of play. Chute à Blondeau again opened the scoring. Brownsburg replied with a lucky try from a face-off, and the visitors scored twice before the period finished.

The third session was poor. Brownsburg failed to last the pace and the Chute scored twice in as many minutes. Penalties marred the play, and with one man short the visitors again found the net, on a soft try. Two fights without much damage, and two more scores by Chute à Blondeau, featured the remainder of the period. Brownsburg had one score in this period, as in each of the others; Chute à Blondeau 9, Brownsburg 3.

Chute à Blondeau now meets the winners of the L'Orignal vs. Calumet series in the final. . . Both Brownsburg teams, junior and senior, are now eliminated.

Long Sault League Finals in Brownsburg

Brownsburg — The finals of the Quebec-Ontario League or Long Sault League, which has now become an all-Ontario contest, will be played at Brownsburg arena. The contending teams, Chute à Blondeau, which ousted Brownsburg, and L'Orignal, which subdued Calumet, are to meet in the best-of-seven final series.

The first game was staged Tuesday night, L'Orignal defeating Chute à Blondeau, 8-2, in a display of desultory hockey.

The second game is scheduled for tonight (Thursday) at 8.30, and the following Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with whatever arrangements may be necessary on Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday of the following week.

The finalists are strong, fast teams and a keen rivalry exsists to capture the championship honors. These games should be well worth seeing.

LACHUTE HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS AND ACTIVITIES
By Anne Dwyer

Saturday, February 24, Lachute Seniors played against Shawville on the Buckingham ice. The final score was 5-0 for Shawville. Lachute had quite a few shots at the goal, but goalie Glenn Carey kept them all out.

There were only two goals made in the first period. B. Manary stole the puck from Lachute and showed a sharp passing display when he shot it to E. Russel, who then passed to G. Carey. Carey caught McMartin off balance and shot the puck in the goal. At 14.46.1, Saunders put in the second goal of the period.

G. Carey put in two more tallies in the second period. There was only one score in the third stanza. This was made by R. Manary, with passes from E. Russel and G. Carey.

Since this was the quarter-finals showdown, the Lachute team is now eliminated. They extend their good luck wishes to Shawville in winning the cup.

The next game will be held on Lachute ice, with the St. Viateur College team.

Basketball

The next basketball game is to be held in the school gym — Lachute vs. Ste. Agathe.

Urge Parental Care In Child Training

Vancouver (CP) — Belief that many of today's parents cannot be taught to rear children properly was expressed in a panel discussion here.

The forum was called by the Family and Child Welfare division of the Community Chest to discuss how school teachers and welfare workers can work to interest parents in their children's development.

"Best thing we can do is to direct a program of positive mental health to the children in school and hope for better results in the next decade or so", said Russell MacKenzie, mental health co-ordinator in Vancouver schools.

"I agree", said Mrs. B. Mabee of the Family Welfare Bureau. "Parents are engrossed in their own troubles and don't pay attention to their children's problems.

Zone Titles and Heavy Ski Card In Laurentians

(Our District Correspondent)

Morin Heights — With perfect conditions prevailing, the Laurentians had a heavy ski week-end. Zone titles were at stake, so competition was keen.

Starting with last Thursday at Middlebury, Vt., a Morin girl racing under the colors of McGill made a clean sweep of the women's events; Doreen Elder piled up a 199.88 total score in the Slalom race and also won the Downhill with a time of 1:30.3.

The Laurentian Zone Slalom championships, held on the Cardy Hills, brought out the hottest rivalry. The Laurentian Zone Downhill championships were also held this past week-end. At Morin Heights, the Laurentian Zone Cross-Country championship event was held, and many top Cross-Country skiiers were present.

On Saturday Morin Heights Ski Club conducted this Zone championship race, and apart from the many other prizes, the Grattan Thompson Trophy was competed for by the Senior Men "A" — an 18-kilometer competition over the Clover Leaf Trail. The event was won by Grant Seale, of the Morin Heights Club, with a time of 1.27.21.0, beating such veteran runners as Jack Wahlberg of Vikings, who came in second with 1.28.45.3, and Kaare Olsen of Red Birds, who came third with 1.49.28.0.

Another Morin Heights boy and a coming skiier for the local club, took first honors in the Junior Men's 6-kilometer Cross-Country. Little Ernie Woods outdistanced those in his class to take the McDowell Trophy, 30.11.2. Gunnar Wahlberg was second with a time of 33.07.1; Jack Wahlberg, Jr., third, 33.23.4; and another Morin boy, John Goodfellow, fourth, 36.15.3.

On the Cardy Hills at Mont Rolland, over a fast and tricky course which saw many of the district's skiiers take time-costing spills, the Bell family of Morin Heights kept their name to the fore. In Class "B" Beverley Bell won the Junior "B" Ladies, 73.8 and 86.0, totalling 159.8; while Graham Bell won the Senior "B" Men's division, 62.4 and 58.0, totalling 120.4.

We Give Your Car A Hot Spark for Cold Starts!

Why run your Battery down and your Blood Pressure up on cold winter mornings!

Our electrical mechanics can check over your car's entire ignition system, from generator to spark plug — see that you get a crackling hot spark to start you quickly, and get most mileage out of each gallon of gas.

Can you drop in this week? We can help you really get a lot more use and more enjoyment out of your car this winter!
